Post Office to Suspend Saturday Mail

Highway Named as Initial Goal by New Group

Top goal of the new Downtown Pontiac Assn. will be the promotion of a proposed north-south limited access highway to run near the central business district.

This was point one in a six-point program approved yesterday afternoon during the official creation of the association, which will be affiliated with the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Attending the meeting were 148 business and professional men and downtown property owners, all of whom expressed interest in the rejuvenation of downtown Pontiac.

A 21-member board of directors of the association was approved by the men and women at the meeting in the City Hall.

The points listed in the new association's goals included:

1—A vigorous campaign to promote a new arterial limited access highway running through Pontiac near Saginaw street, and the urging that immediate action be taken by authorities to secure the road.

2—The clearing away of substandard stores, and the replacement of them with modern ones, with emphasis centered south of Pike street on Saginaw.

3—Improvement of present parking facilities and creating additional spaces.

4—Program of modernization of store fronts.

5—A hard - fisted promotional program for downtown Pontiac.

6—A program of traffic control to reduce congestion.

Monroe M. Osmun, a big spark behind the association's birth, cautioned those in attendance that the downtown area "would lose out to outlying areas" if such a program was not initiated.

SUPPORT ASSURED

The group was assured the support of the chamber by its president, Howard O. Powers.

Directors elected for a three-year term were A. C. Girard, Victor Hoerath, Leonard T. Lewis, Frank S. Lyndall, Harold J. Muldowney, Ronald Touscany and Howard Van Dusen.

Weatherman Retraces Steps, Predicts Snow

The weather man threw his hat in first before reporting the weather outlook today.

Squelching hopes for a fair weather trend, he predicted possible snow, sleet and freezing rain for most of today.

Tonight will be cloudy and warmer with rain changing to showers or thundershowers Friday, low 32 to 38 degrees. The high Friday will be 38 to 44.

Showers or snow flurries are expected Saturday with little temperature change.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 31. The mercury read 38 at 1 p.m.

Lack of Money Also Threatens Other Services

Curtailment Is Planned Unless Solons Restore Budget Slashes

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Post Office Department will drastically cut mail services effective Saturday unless Congress allots an extra 47 million dollars to the agency.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield scheduled a 10 a. m. (EST) news conference today to announce the suspension of Saturday mail deliveries and curtailment of other services if the money is not forthcoming.

Summerfield acted shortly after a House appropriations subcommittee late yesterday voted to give the department only 17 million dollars of its total request.

He told the lawmakers that unless he was granted 47 millions to run the department through June 30, he would have to stop Saturday deliveries this week.

In addition, Summerfield is expected to announce plans for closing the post office windows on Saturdays, suspending the postal money order system, slapping an embargo on third-class "junk" and canceling the leave for a half million postal employes, if the money is not appropriated.

At the same time Postal Employes Union leaders will be holding an extraordinary meeting to decide how to fight the threatened loss of jobs that reduced service would mean.

ANGRY SESSION

The economy-minded House subcommittee voted the Post Office Department only 17 million dollars instead of the 47 millions Summerfield requested after a table-thumping, four-hour session yesterday with the postmaster and his aides.

Summerfield told the lawmakers that he would have to suspend Saturday deliveries this week if he was not assured of 47 millions.

The cutback would probably be continued for another year beginning July 1 since Summerfield previously warned that Saturday deliveries would not be possible if House cuts in the 1958

French War Vet Held in Killing

Retired U.S. General and Wife Are Slain in St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (INS)—A French war hero was held in St. Petersburg today for the pistol slaying of Brig. Gen. Wilbur R. McReynolds (ret.) and his wife, Faye.

The couple was shot down in their luxurious Snell Isle home last night as they awaited dinner.

An hour after the shooting, police halted Maurice M. Cavigny, 40, of Paris as he raced through congested downtown St. Petersburg in the McReynolds' car.

McReynolds, 64, headed the army's quartermaster corps in 1940 where he developed the famed "C" and "K" rations used by combat troops during World War II and the Korean conflict. He retired in 1950.

Police said Chavigny, who had been a guest of the retired army officer, readily admitted the slaying, which he said, was the end of an argument.

A .22 caliber pistol was found in the front seat of the car but Chavigny offered no resistance after being cornered by five squad cars following a six-mile chase.

The body of McReynolds was found in the living room of his home with five .22 caliber bullets in the chest and abdomen. The body of his 60-year-old wife lay in the kitchen with two bullet wounds in the chest.

Ike to Defend School Project

Talk Tonight on Plan for Federal Building Aid to Be on Air

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower vigorously defends his school construction aid program tonight against economy-minded Congressional budget-cutters.

The President addresses the Washington dinner of the National Centennial Birthday Celebration of the National Education Association—one of more than 2,500 parties across the nation.

Eisenhower's address, (9 p.m. EST), will be carried to the nation by radio but will not be televised.

He apparently set the theme of his talk to the educators and school teachers at yesterday's news conference when he declared that he considers the proposed federal program to step up school construction a "necessity."

The chief executive added: "The longer it is neglected, the more we will suffer as a nation in the long run, because I believe with Franklin that freedom and free government depends upon an educated citizenry."

He also emphasized that he has always held that federal government has no "proper role in the operation and in the general maintenance of our public school system." This, he declared, "belongs to the localities and the states."

Enters 'No Contest' Plea in GI Home Loan Deal

The fourth man indicted Tuesday in the alleged government insured GI home loan racket entered a plea of "nolle contendre" when arraigned yesterday afternoon by Federal Judge Theodore Levin in Detroit.

Leroy Stein, 42, of Detroit will await sentence after his "no contest" plea. It indicates he neither denies or admits guilt in the plot.

Three others, including a former secretary - treasurer and business agent of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, yesterday stood mute before Judge Levin, who entered pleas of not guilty for the men.

No trial date has been set for the three who were freed under $1,000 personal bonds.

Indicted along with Stein were Louis C. Linteau, 42, of 615 E. Tennyson Ave., William N. Gilmore, 40, of 32035 Waltham St., Southfield Township, and Joe Pollina, 46, of 3540 Oakshire St., Waterford Township.

Linteau faces charges of making a false statement in 1953 to the Veterans Administration following an attempt to secure rights to a home in the Walton Ranch Homes, Inc. section in Waterford Township.

Gilmore, Pollina, and Stein were indicted for conspiring with veterans to have them file applications with the VA that they intended to occupy homes in the township section.

The indictments charge that the veterans did not own, live in, or make down payments on the homes.

The veterans were listed as co-conspirators in the federal indictments. They included five present members of Teamster Local 614 here and a former member.

The indictments followed a year - long investigation by the FBI regarding the purchase of homes constructed by the firm in 1951.

The Serviceman's Readjustment Act provides for mortgage loans insured by the VA at four per cent interest to veterans who intend to purchase and occupy their own homes.

Linteau is charged with being the "middle man" in the scheme by attempting to interest the union members with offers of $100 and better jobs for making the applications.

Gilmore was a salesman for the real estate company and is now in the building business. Pollina is maintenance superintendent for the Motorcar Transport Co. here.

Stein was former vice-president of the Walton firm and is now construction engineer for another building company.

The four face penalties up to a year in prison plus $1,000 fines if conficted.

The transactions in question ran from 1951 through 1953.

Oust Beck Move May Be Forming

Teamsters Will Have Showdown With Boss at Fall Conclave

From Our Wire Services

WASHINGTON—Informed sources said today that a strong movement to replace Dave Beck as president is developing in the Teamsters' Union.

They said a showdown will come at the union's convention next Sept. 30 in Miami, and no action against Beck is expected before then.

At that time, Beck and other officers will be up for reelection. The Teamsters hold conventions and elect officers only once every five years.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee set May 6 as the date

Beck's Tax Troubles on Page 19

for a hearing of corruption charges against the Teamsters Union if the union wants a hearing.

Al Hayes, committee chairman, served the notice on Dave Beck, Teamsters president, and John English, secretary-treasurer.

The Union's 13-man general executive board, at a special meeting Monday, overwhelmingly rejected Beck's plan for a million dollar public relations campaign to attempt to clear Beck of charges made by the Senate Rackets Committee.

The interpretation placed on the board's action is that Beck has lost his grip on his own union, and that he will be vulnerable to an attempt to replace him.

The undercurrent of opposition to Beck for another term reportedly has gained considerable strength, with the result that his reelection is rated as highly questionable unless he can square himself with the membership between now and September.

City Post Office Hit by Worries

Can't Store Packages if Service Is Reduced, Says Local Official

The Postmaster General's threat to Congress to reduce mail service if supplementary appropriations of $40 million are not forthcoming has placed the Pontiac Post Office in a dilemma.

Acting Postmaster Leslie Dean said this morning he did not see how Saturday and extra weekday deliveries could be stopped here, on parcel post at least, without overtaxing storage facilities.

"We just don't have the space to hold packages over Saturday and Sunday. We have to move them as fast as possible during the week to make room for new shipments," he said.

Dean underlined the budget shortages that Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield has laid before Congress.

NO OVERTIME

"Because we are not allowed to pay overtime we hold our regular employes to a 40-hour week," he said, "which means we have to give them days off during the week to make up for their Saturday work. This, in turn, forces us to hire extra 'substitute' help to work on those days off."

"For some time we have been talking about eliminating the Saturday work, but we just can't do it unless we get more storage space," Dean added.

3-Day Weather Rampage Toll: 325 Dead or Injured; $5 Million Loss

Tornadoes Hit Tennessee, Demolish Homes, Hurt 4

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Weather Bureau here reported two tornadoes struck near the Jackson, Tenn., area about 2 a.m. today, damaging or destroying several houses.

There were no reports of fatalities or injuries, however.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol confirmed reports of severe damage at Selmer, Tenn., with several houses demolished or badly damaged. At Chesterfield, Tenn., just east of Lexington, at least two houses were badly damaged, the patrol said.

FOUR INJURED

Four persons were injured and two dozen buildings damaged last night when what the Weather Bureau called a "small tornado" swept through Nashville.

The twisters struck at Selmer and Chesterfield during a driving rainstorm which covered highways and left them impassable, police said.

Uprooted trees fell across telephone lines, snapping them and cutting off communications.

3-DAY TOLL MOUNTS

The death toll in the wake of the three-day weather rampage that shows no signs of abating mounted to 25 with the number of injured reaching 300 and the total estimate of damage running past the five million dollar mark.

Snow continued in the hard-hit Northern and Central Plains States where since noon yesterday Philip, S.D. received 14 inches of new snow and North Platte and Valentine, Neb., each reported six inches in the same period.

No relief from a flood is in sight for Harrison, Ark., a town of 5,500 population in the northwestern part of the state. Rain swelled Crooked Creek until the stream spilled over its levy and brought flood waters surging through the business district. Many families were evacuated from homes and severe property damage was reported.

Meanwhile, what the Weather Bureau described as "a miserable, messy mixture" of rain, sleet, and freezing rain or snow spread from Northern Illinois across the Upper Ohio Valley and into Western Pennsylvania, creating hazardous driving conditions.

The clash between the snow-storm and unseasonably mild temperatures in the 60s and 70s in the South touched off the tornadoes. The battle between hot and cold air also set up conditions for heavy snows.

The storm that is now centered in the Middle Mississippi Valley will bring precipitation to the Atlantic seaboard and New England later in the day.

BUSINESS AS USUAL — Seemingly unperturbed by the destruction around him, T. J. Smith, owner of a newly-opened Dallas air freight firm, placidly surveys damage to his office following this week's tornado.

Three Stores Burn in Downtown Caro

CARO (AP)—Three adjoining downtown Caro business firms caught fire today and three hours later still were burning, despite efforts of four fire departments to extinguish them.

A hardware store, dress shop and appliance store were aflame. Cause of the fire was not determined immediately. The blazes were discovered at 6:45 a.m.

Rejects Bid on Phones

East Berlin Won't Talk

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today rejected Western efforts to restore telephone communications between Allied-occupied West Berlin and Soviet-run East Berlin.

The rejection was announced by the Communist newspaper Berliner Zeitung, which said East German officials are not in favor of permitting restoration of telephone connections.

The connections were severed five years ago by the Communists, who claimed Western "spies" were using the telephone network.

West German Postal Minister Ernst Lemmer recently said he was hopeful the East Germans would be willing to negotiate the question of resuming phone service. Berliner Zeitung said telephone connections would not be restored until "the cold war is ended."

MEMO TO CAESAR

Pilate Awed by Wisdom

(Another in a Lenten Series)

Following closely upon his report to Caesar about Jesus' entry into Jerusalem, Pilate wrote to Livia Drusilla . . .

I can now add a little more to what Junius wrote you about the Navarene's beliefs. Claudia and I came by this from one of her servants who witnessed the event.

It seems there is a certain sect among the populace which does not believe in life after death. A group of these people sought out the Nazarene teacher and posed a problem for him.

They put it something like this: If there were seven brothers and the first died childless and his widow married the second brother and the same thing happened again until she had been wed to all of the brothers which of the men would be her husband in the after-life?

Jesus answered that the children of this world marry but that those who are worthy of ressurection after death do not.

I wonder how your Roman sages would have answered the same question. As you can see, it was a tricky one and I feel sure Jesus recognized that his questioners were only trying to embarrass him.

Perhaps it angered him a little. I do not know. But the servants said he went on to declare that the one God whom he worships is not a God of the dead, but of the living.

Then he commenced lashing out at the "scribes," a rather highly placed group of people who interpret the local laws and serve occasionally as public clerks and minor judges.

He condemned these people for their love of fine clothes and public attention and for "devouring widows' houses" while they make a show of long prayers.

The man has courage, but I wonder if he is wise to publicly attack such powerful people as he does.

Sometimes I think he lives with a sense of destiny . . . as though what he says and does had been foretold and he has no choice of doing and saying otherwise.

What do you make of it all?

(Signed) Pilate

Aurora Settles With Oil Union

One-Year Agreement Marks First Break in Month-Long Strike

The first break in the month-long Detroit gasoline strike came yesterday when the Aurora Gasoline Co. reached agreement on a one-year contract with the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

There was no immediate indication, however, the settlement would spread to seven other struck companies.

B. E. Henson, international representative of the union, said the settlement provides wage increases amounting to about 15 cents an hour for 350 Aurora refinery workers.

The union has been holding out for a 25-cent boost. Henson said the best offer from any of the seven struck firms was 12 cents.

The wage boost for Aurora, retroactive to Feb. 1, brings the average wage to just under $3 an hour. Fringe benefits gained in the new pact are worth an additional thre cents an hour, Henson said.

He indicated the union would be willing to settle on a 15-cent basis with the other firms. Some 700 oil workers are idle at Standard, Shell, Socony Mobil, Pure, Gulf, Texaco and Sinclair in wage disputes in new contracts.

Stations in the Pontiac and Detroit areas have not been seriously affected by the strike. They are securing gasoline from independent suppliers.

House Budget Cuts Subject to 17 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House faced the wearing prospect today of 17 roll-call votes to determine whether it wants to make official one of its sharpest budget-cutting drives in years.

The votes are scheduled on 17 separate amendments which trimmed $68,647,300 from new appropriations for the Departments of Labor and Welfare and the National Labor Relations Board.

If the House stands fast, it will boost to almost one billion dollars its total cuts on new appropriations for the year starting July 1.

The Senate, which frequently restores many House-voted cuts, has not acted on any appropriation bills.

Behind the House drive to cut the money bills was the hope of many members that the reductions might make possible a cut in taxes next year, a congressional year.

Warren to Oppose Proposed Airport

DETROIT (AP)—Warren City officials say they'll fight Detroit's proposed compromise site for a northeast airport.

Dr. Paul Cousino, superintendent of the suburb's consolidated school district, said the compromise site would be "worse than the original location."

Mayor Arthur Miller said Mayor Albert Cobo of Detroit had been "misled by a rabid aviation commission that wants to push the northeast airport regardless of inconvenience, expense or danger."

Warren officials and Col. C. V. Burnett, director of the City Aviation Commission, met Tuesday to discuss the compromise site.

The original site is between Twelve and Fourteen Mile Roads, Ryan and Dequindre.

Mystery Man Hunted in Death

Police Seek One Who Had Appointment With Slain Flint Hoodlum

DETROIT (AP) — Police hunted a mystery man today for questioning in the slaying of Flint hoodlum Joseph A. Cicalo.

Sought was a man Cicalo had an appointment with a week ago Tuesday—the day he disappeared.

The body of the 43-year-old underworld character was found Tuesday night in the trunk of his abandoned car. He had been pistol-whipped and then strangled.

Cicalo, a native of Flint, was living in Detroit. He had a police record that included a 10-year federal prison sentence for counterfeiting.

He had appeared recently as a witness before a one-man grand jury investigating allegations of gambling and graft in Flint. Circuit Judge Michael Carland, the grand juror, declined comment on what transpired.

Cicalo's wife, Marguerite, 34, who reported her husband missing last Saturday, could offer police little assistance.

Officers are investigating a possible tie-in between Cicalo and numbers racketeers operating between Detroit and Flint.

Egypt Break-Off Reported Near

U.S. Diplomat Attempts Final Bid to Soften Up Nasser's Terms

WASHINGTON (INS) — Authoritative sources said today that the U. S. is about to break off negotiations with Egypt over Suez Canal operations because Cairo shows no real willingness to compromise.

These officials said there was just one chance in 10 million that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser would soften his insistence on running the strategic waterway singlehandedly.

Meanwhile, six senators introduced a resolution urging that the U. S. consult with major users of the canal "for the purpose of considering collective action to establish and internationalize alternate means" for traffic through the waterway.

Such consultations already have been begun by the State Department to consider whether larger tankers and pipelines could be used to reduce western Europe's dependence on the canal for movement of oil. Petroleum supplies for free Europe represent about 60 per cent of the canal's traffic.

AWAIT REPLY

State Department officials were waiting anxiously to hear from U. S. Ambassador Raymond A. Hare who made a last ditch appeal to Nasser last night.

Hare reportedly pressed the Egyptian soldier-president to accept American suggestions which would protect the interest of canal users.

But diplomatic sources said Egypt's reply, which was sent to the State Department Tuesday night was unsatisfactory.

The sources predicted Nasser will announce within 24 to 36 hours that he is running the canal under his own rules.

Meanwhile, Egypt, hard-pressed for foreign exchange, is accepting currencies from 13 nations for Suez passage, but refuses to let ships pay their way through the canal with Russian rubles.

Despite Egypt's friendship with the Communist bloc, none of the Iron Curtain currencies is worth a nickel when it comes to getting through the canal.

Troops Check Santiago Disorders

Peace Restored in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Troops enforced a nervous peace in Chile's capital early today after dispersing bands of anti-inflation demonstrators and looters with machine-gun fire.

At least four more persons were reported killed and hundreds rounded up in a new outbreak last night in the capital. The vilent disorders have swept Santiago for two days.

A large detachment of troops routed about 150 persons atop a small hill in the center of the city. The authorities said this group was a band of looters who had hidden while waiting for nightfall to cover their depredations

Earlier the troops routed another band of demonstrators from a downtown building.

Daylight yesterday brought a resumption of the demonstrations that have plagued Chile more than a week in protest against skyrocketing living costs. Police and troops clashed repeatedly as mobs surged through the streets.

AT LEAST 44 DEAD

Reports of the number of casualties conflicted. Reliable non-official sources estimated at least 44 persons had been killed and from 165 to 350 injured. Property damage was put at more than two million dollars.

A state of siege was declared over the entire country Tuesday night by President Carlos Ibanez's government, but the rioters defied the emergency military law to continue their protests.

Truckloads of demonstrators poured in from the outlying poorer sections of Santiago to join in yesterday.

A crowd of about 1,000 attacked police and army troops.

Fake Heiress Gets Jail Term

Woman, 65, Swindled Residents in Northville of Possible $80,000

Mrs. Yvonne Chauvin, who once posed as a Northville heiress, was branded a "career swindler" by Wayne County Circuit Judge Robert M. Thoms and sentenced yesterday to a 5-10 year term in the Detroit House of Correction.

The 65-year-old domestic servant had admitted swindling a Northville drugstore clerk of $2,500. Police said Mrs. Chauvin may have cheated Northville business men of as much as $80,000.

"For 20 years you have made no effort to live within the law," Judge Thoms said. "You have shown no redeeming characteristics, either."

Mrs. Chauvin, arrested last December, admitted setting herself up in Northville as an elderly matron with a chauffeur and housekeeper. Spreading the word that she was heiress to $500,000, she borrowed sums of money on the pretext her inheritance was tied up.

PROMISED CUT

In return for a "loan" to pay attorney's fees, she promised a cut from the non-existent inheritance.

After bilking a large number of persons, police said, the woman fled Northville. She was arrested seveal days later in Cleveland, posing as a housekeeper.

Her employers had become suspicious because of the woman's habit of wiping her fingerprints off of dishes and glassware.

HAS 15 ALIASES

Returned to Detroit, police discovered she had 15 aliases and a police record dating to 1934 for larceny by trick, forgery, parole violation, as a habitual offender and for engaging in a confidence game.

She had apparently started the Northville swindle following her release from the Detroit House of Correction last April, after serving part of a 6-20 year term for writing bad checks.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Pentagon announced today that Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the strategic air command, will become vice chief of staff of the Air Force. The announcement came shortly after the Army confirmed reports that Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, commander-in-chief for the Far East, will become vice chief of staff of the Army.

A British firm is offering arrangements for the use in America of its newly developed process for spraying aerated concrete.

The Day in Birmingham

Begin Special Campaign for Downtown Shopping

BIRMINGHAM — Local merchants will launch their special campaign to encourage their Friday evening shopping tomorrow. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the program is planned to enable stores here to better meet the strong competition of centralized shopping areas.

Tomorrow night will mark the first in a series of four intensive promotional plans. This particular program will continue for nine weeks.

Tickets will be issued from 6 to 9 p.m. to be signed and deposited in boxes in each participating store. Drawings on Monday will determine winners who will receive gift certificates in the amount of $100.

Merchants are showing a keen interest in the idea and several have said they feel it will serve to stimulate local Friday evening shopping.

It has been pointed out that with the several city operated downtown parking lots no shopper will need to walk an excessive distance from car to store.

Charles Mortensen, Chamber of Commerce Secretary, urges Birmingham residents to take advantage of the special services local stores are offering.

James Kilpatrick, manager of Himelhoch's local shop and chairman of the program, said special prices of selected items will be offered by several local merchants.

CO-OPERATIVE PROGRAM

"This is a co-operative program," he said, "to step up local shopping. Merchants, however, are not adopting a set plan of price reduction or stylized promotion. It will be up to the individual. Currently many like our own shop, are planning special showings of spring styles."

Adams Trial in 14th Day, Longest in British History

LONDON (INS) — The marathon murder trial of Dr. John Bodkin Adams entered a record-breaking 14th day today with interest centered on the defense team's supporting cast of witnesses.

Chief defense attorney Geoffrey Lawrence was expected to spring more surprises in the trial that today became the longest in British criminal history.

The polished performance of the first defense witness, Dr. John Harman, was indicative of the painstaking care and attention Lawrence paid to this part of the defense of Dr. Adams.

Some old hands in the legal profession were astounded but nodded appreciatively when Harman revealed that for the testimony he gave he had studied medical literature dating from 1800, including some statistics from the U.S. Health Department.

The prosecution clearly was impressed with the wealth of detail Dr. Harman gave in his attempt to show that Mrs. Edith Morrell, the wealthy widow Dr. Adams is accused of killing with overdoses of narcotics, died a natural death.

Harman whose testimony contradicted that of two medical experts for the prosecution, startled judge and jury when he proceeded to show how a patient would look in a morphine convulsion.

He contorted his face, his eyes stared, his mouth drooped slackly and he sank backwards in the witness box until he disappeared from view of the spectators out front.

Finally, Harman rose slowly into view again, remarking:

"Then the person comes back again."

Marines to Exhibit Medals in City Store

MAKE CLEAN PAGES

How and What to Dust

The government has issued a film strip to educate its janitors and janitresses in the proper method of cleaning a room. It is said that it shows the proper way of dusting and what to dust. The Vacuum Cleaner Manufacturers' Association makes the broad statement that everything in the house should be dusted, not simply certain articles, and that the vacuum cleaner and its handy tools are the proper method to use to ensure a fresh, clean home.

Yarborough Victory Sweeter After Losing 4 Times

WASHINGTON (INS) — Democrats, assured of retaining control of the Senate, are jubilant at the election of Ralph Yarborough as the new U. S. Senator from Texas.

Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla), chairman of the party's senatorial campaign committee, said he was "highly gratified" over Yarborough's victory.

Smathers declared: "It demonstrates again that the Democratic party as such is always the party of great strength. As we said in 1956, we were beaten (in the presidential election) by a man and not a party.

"This victory, of course, is good for the country because it maintains the leadership of Lyndon Johnson in the Senate and keeps the committee chairmanships Democratic, thereby availing us of more experienced members of the Senate in those positions of influence and importance."

Democratic spokesman noted that both President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon strongly endorsed the Republican candidate, Thad Hutcheson, who trailed Yarborough and Rep. Martin Dies (D) in the Texas race.

They also pointed out that the vote was split by three major Democratic contenders besides Yarborough and Dies.

Smathers commented: "While it looked two weeks ago as though the division among the Democrats might improve the Republicans' chances to win, we were pleased to see that most Democrats in these past two weeks rallied behind Yarborough and Dies."

The Senator said the results of the senatorial election indicate that Texas, which went for Eisenhower and Nixon in 1952 and 1956, "may go back in the Democratic column, where she properly belongs" in the 1960 presidential race.

5TH ATTEMPT

Ralph Yarborough is a living testimonial to the old maxim that "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

The 52-year-old Democrat has now run for high office in Texas in five elections. On each occasion, he collected more votes than the time before. He finally went over the top—being chosen U. S. Senator.

In doing so, he also cracked a modern-day tradition in Texas politics that a liberal cannot win a major race.

He first ran for office—unsuccessfully—in 1938, when he sought the post of state attorney general.

In 1952, the stocky, smiling lawyer who had once served as a district judge in Austin jumped into the governor's race and was roundly defeated by Allan Shivers in a bitter Liberal-Conservative race.

Undaunted, the champion of the loyal Democrats carried their banner again in 1954 and lost to Shivers and his Conservatives—but by a smaller margin.

Two years later, he ran unsuccessfully for governor against Price Daniel, whose vacated seat in the Senate Yarborough has now taken over.

Yarborough worked his way to Europe on a cattle boat when he was 18 and spent a year roaming the continent. He later taught school in the rural areas of Texas, harvested wheat in Oklahoma, and roughnecked in the oil fields of West Texas.

He worked his way through the University of Texas Law School and was graduated with highest honors in 1927. He practiced law in El Paso for three years and was called to Austin as an assistant attorney general in 1931 by Attorney General James V. Allred. There he became an expert on land law.

Yarborough served as district judge of the 3rd district court in Austin for five years prior to World War II. For three years of that time he was presiding judge over a judicial district that included 33 central Texas counties.

In World War II, he volunteered for the Army and served three and a half years, in both the European and Pacific theaters.

Yarborough and his wife have one grown son, Richard Warren Yarborough — who as yet has shown no personal interest in politics other than helping his father with his campaigns.

A crocodile wrecked the garden of Dudley Sherrard and carried off his dog, near Mitubatuba, South Africa.

Drop-Out Students in Need of Counsel

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit school board attendance official Eugene Toomer says the child most apt to drop out of school can be spotted ahead of time.

Toomer says those most likely to quit are "bored, restless, emotionally unstable, poor readers, have family problems and show dislike of certain subjects."

He warns that "a lot of children are forced out of school by unsympathetic teachers and counselors.

"Potential drop-outs need sympathetic counseling and unfortunately, it's difficult for a teacher with 40 new pupils every 45 minutes to give them that kind of attention."

Mountain Tunnel Links India, Kashmir Area

SRINAGAR, Kashmir — The first of the two tubes of the new Banihal tunnel, which will provide an all-weather link between Kashmir and the rest of India, has been opened. It is more than 1½ miles long.

When completed at a cost of $6,300,000 the new tunnel, 2,000 feet lower than the old tunnel, which is usually snowbound four months a year, will cut 18 miles of difficult mountain driving off the road over the Pir Panjal range on the Jammu-Srinagar route.

Planet Named 'Geographos'

Small Celestial Object to Come Close to Earth in Year 1969

PASADENA, Calif., — Palomar Observatory astronomers have named a recently discovered small planet "Geographos," the geographer, in honor of the National Geographic Society, Dr. Ira Sprague Bowen, director of the Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories has announced.

Geographos is of great interest to science because, with the exception of the moon, it comes closer to Earth than any other celestial object having a known orbit, Dr. Bowen said.

Geographos' eliptical orbit around the sun actually cuts across the Earth's orbit, and in 1969 the little planet or asteroid will be less than four million miles away.

"The name is especially appropriate for two reasons," Dr. Bowen explained. "First, Geographos was discovered on photographic plates made through Palomar's Big Schmidt telescope during production of the society's Palomar Observatory sky survey. The survey, now completed after seven years of work, maps the sky visible from Palomar out to approximately one billion light years.

"Secondly, Geographos, coming as close to the Earth as it does, undoubtedly will be an important help to astronomers and mapmakers in charting distances in the solar system. It may well be a primary tool in pursuing the cartography of the sky."

Geographos was discovered on the night of Aug. 31, 1951, by Dr. Rudolph Minkowski and Dr. Albert G. Wilson. Dr. Minowski, then as now, was in over-all charge of the Palomar sky survey.

Dr. Wilson, then chief astronomical observer for the survey, has since become director of the Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz.

As discoverers, they were privileged to choose the planet's name and they chose Geographos with, as Dr. Bowen remarked, "the approbation of the Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories."

The Government debt of Hong Kong, now prosperous, is less than two months' income.

Horseless Carriage Gasless

Even Oldest Gray Mare Sees Service in England

LONDON (INS) — The old gray mare is coming back into her own in Britain today.

With gasoline rationed to restrict motorists to 200 miles of traveling a month and selling at upwards of 84 cents a gallon the horse is ousting the dog from its traditional role as "man's best friend" in this tight little isle.

Now that the horseless carriage is panting with thirst the clatter of horseshoes is returning to the highways and byways of Britain.

Business men as far apart as London, Birmingham and Edinburgh are riding to work on their favorite grey mares and chestnut geldings.

BRITONS MOUNT UP

Take Lt. Col. Eric Trevor, 52-year-old estate agent, who lives in the London suburbs of Rochhampton. Nowadays, dressed in bowler hat and jodphurs and with stirrups equipped with red warning lights, the colonel clip-clops to his Mayfair office on his six-year-old mare, "Dawn."

The journey takes an hour and a quarter but Dawn, according to the colonel, "is a much better proposition than my 28-horse-power car.

"A horse is cheaper to run than a car," he added.

The big breweries of Britain, which wisely clung to horse-drawn drays for advertising or prestige purposes, are thanking their lucky stars.

DELIVER FREIGHT

There are no prouder men in the nation today than the British Railways carters who deliver freight from station to door in horse-drawn cars with an "I told you so" expression.

Farmers who only yetsterday were boasting of their mammoth new tractors are glumly silent today and envying their short-sighted neighbors who failed to succumb to mechanization. The horse consumes no gasoline and what's more is free from the heavy sales tax. But there are horse power problems.

The number of horses bred in Britain has declined steadily since the introduction of the motor car. During and after the last war the meat market cut heavily into their numbers.

QUADRUPEDS COST

Naturally, a sudden demand for horses inflates prices. Modern automobile factories can through automation boost output the fantastic heights but this philosophy or technique is alien to a stable.

Today in Britain a good hunter costs as much as $500 and a farm horse about $300, although ponies can be picked up for a little as $70 and donkeys for even less.

Then there's the question of food which, is both expensive and scarce, although not quite as dear and rare as gasoline. The poor harvest this year put up the price of hay to $56 a ton and the price of oats to $98 a ton.

Carters estimate that it costs at least $8-$9 a week to feed a healthy horse that pulls a load, and that this horse cannot be expected to cover more than 100-125 miles a week.

MEET 'JOHN' — It's a heavy armload for two-year-old Duane Meier as he introduces his pet, a month-old St. Bernard pup named John. Duane, who lives in Monroe, Wis., wears a 1920-vintage hat that looks like some of 1957's Easter bonnets.

Park Looks Like Rainbow

Sulphur Dell baseball park, in Nashville, Tennessee has livened up its grandstand and superstructure. Painting the seating sections in orange, red, grey, green, yellow and blue gives an atmosphere of happy festivity to the park and, incidentally, makes the seating of fans an easy proposition. Section red straight ahead, sir.

State Newspapers to Back Drive for Traffic Safety

LANSING (AP) — Michigan newspapers will throw their weight behind a drive to cut down the 1957 traffic death toll through safety education.

Representatives of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association met Tuesday with the Michigan State Safety Commission to outline the MPA plans for safety promotion.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs told the group that Michigan is running 102 traffic deaths behind the number killed during the first three months of last year.

"We're off to a pretty good start," Childs said, "but the heavy traffic months are just ahead."

ROUGH PROSPECTS

"Things are going to be rough from now on in as far as holding down the traffic deaths are concerned," agreed Secretary of State James M. Hare. "Now is when we need to win the cooperation of the general citizenry through the newspapers."

F. Granger Well, executive vice president of the Port Huron Times Herald, chairman of the MPA Traffic Safety Committee, outlined a proposed safety promotion program for the immediate future.

He said the state's daily and weekly newspapers would be asked to:

BACK TESTS

1. Back legalization of chemical tests for drunk driving, now proposed in the Legislature.

2. Support a drive to help establish local safety councils.

3. Join in carrying a series of articles explaining the statewide safety program, including the driver training program and tightened licensing procedures.

4. Support present stricter policies on revoking and suspending the licenses of unfit drivers.

Well said the committee also suggested that statistics be gathered to find out more about the background of unfit drivers whose licenses were suspended or revoked.

Ike Names Woman as Press Assistant

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today appointed a woman—Mrs. Anne Wheaton—to replace Murray Snyder as an assistant press secretary in the White House.

The surprise move was announced by the President in a speech before some 1,500 applauding women at the 5th annual Republican Womens Conference.

Mrs. Wheaton, director of women's publicity for the Republican National Committee, said the appointment came as "a complete surprise" and she got the word just an hour and a half earlier from her new boss, James Hagerty, White House press secretary.

The appointment is unusual because for the first time it brings a woman official to a top White House press post.

Mrs. Wheaton, who says she is over 60 years old, is a native of Utica, N. Y., and onetime newspaper woman. She has served with the GOP National Committee since 1939.

'I Must . . . in Case of Blunder,' Secretary Explains

Newsmen Unsure of What Dulles Says Until He Edits Transcript of Remarks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best way for a newsman to be sure he knows what Secretary of State Dulles means to say is to get it in writing.

Dulles' stenographers take down every word he says at a news conference, type it, and give him a copy. He then edits and changes his words to suit himself.

Thus newsmen who heard him say one thing sometimes read, in the transcript of his remarks, that he said something else. This happened again at yesterday's conference.

He told newsmen Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary general, had made substantial progress in his talks with Egyptian President Nasser.

For some reason Dulles had second thoughts and decided to soft-pedal the progress angle. In the transcript he changed substantial progress to "some progress."

This practice brought him into stiff argument with newsmen last fall when, at his Oct. 2, 1956, news conference, he was asked about a reported split between the United States and its British and French allies.

He said "there is some difference." This language put the difference in the present tense, giving it the appearance of something still going on.

But he edited to put the difference in the past tense by knocking out the verb "is" and saying "there has been some difference."

He also spoke of some differences on "fundamental things" but in the transcript changed this to have him saying "our approach is not always identical."

At his next conference, Oct. 16, newsmen objected to this editing job, asked him to let the transcript quote him on the language he had actually used.

He said: "No . . . I must reserve the right in case I make a blunder inadvertently which does damage to international relations to correct those blunders. . . "

Reporters who get exclusive interviews with Dulles — such as two reporters from Time and Life magazines have had in the past 16 months — might have less worry about corrections later if they had Dulles read and correct their copy before they publish it.

Broomfield Reports OK by Brucker on Survey of 3 Counties

Favorable action by the Secretary of the Army is expected to speed a flood survey for Oakland, Wayne and Macomb Counties, Congressman William S. Broomfield, of Royal Oak, said in Washington, D.C. today.

Bloomfield's report came after his introduction of a bill calling for a survey of streams and rivers flowing into Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River.

The Army estimates it would cost about $50,000 to determine if rivers and streams are adequate to handle storm water once proposed rainage networks are build," Broomfield said.

In a preliminary report, Broomfield said, Army secretary Wilber M. Brucker stated local drainage problems and some "serious damage" have been created in many urban areas "because of a marked increase in land development."

Broomfield believed that survey results could profitably be incorporated in future planning of the Detroit Metropolittan Area.

SPRING IS HERE
4. Three Little Kittens

Sometimes piles of snow linger in shady corners in the northern states and spring seems very slow in coming.

But long before all the snow has melted, a sure sign of spring appears along the banks of streams and rivers. The buds we call "pussy willows" burst out of their brown winter coats and are ranged along the leafless twigs of pussy willow bushes like rows of soft little gray kittens. Under that soft gray fur are the pussy willow seeds.

Here are three "pussy willow kittens" for you. Color the picture and paste it on cardboard. Cut around the dotted edges of the three bud caps. Punch holes at the top of the panel and hang it up by putting a string through the holes. Cut out the kittens at the right and slip them into the cut out bud caps.

Then you'll have three little kittens growing on the branch.

German Leads Allied Forces

Speidel Takes Charge of NATO Land Units in Central Europe

The first top member of the old Nazi Wehrmacht to take a top NATO command, Speidel was installed in a brief ceremony in a courtyard of Fontainebleau Palace, headquarters of the West European command.

Speidel and French Gen. Jean-Etienne Valluy, commander in chief of Allied forces in Central Europe, reviewed an honor guard after a French army band played the West German national anthem and then the French anthem.

When photographers asked the two commanders to pose shaking hands, Valluy declined, saying, "Oh, you've had enough pictures.' Speidel said nothing.

Speidel's appointment caused a minor flurry of protest in France. The French government was said to have approved the action chiefly because of its own diminished forces in Central Europe and because Speidel's record in Hitler's army was mainly that of a military thinker and planner.

Speidel, 59, made no statement during today's ceremony.

His command is made up of forces from West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, Canada, France, Holland, Britain and the United States. He succeeds French Gen. Marcel Carpentier, who resigned last year.

The quiet, bespectacled German general served as chief of staff to Field Marshal Erwin Rommel in the World War II days of the Normandy invasion. Although linked with the bomb plot against Hitler in July 1944, he denied any participation. He was arrested by the Gestapo in September 1944 and spent the last months of the war in a Nazi jail. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer named him the senior German military representative at Supreme Allied Headquarters when West Germany was admitted to NATO.

If Diet Must Be Fat Free, Use New Cookbook

By JANET ODEAL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Since a member of our family has been put on a low-fat diet we have changed our method of meal preparation rather drastically. Now, when we serve vegetables, we put them on the table seasoned only with salt. Those members of the family who eat butter put it on for themselves. We broil most of the meat we eat.

Furthermore, we have to consult a food chart almost daily to check how much fat (visible or invisible) is in the prepared foods we use. It's that invisible fat that has to be watched.

We may as well admit that this diet is ruining some of our carefully learned lessons about nutrition. We've been rather insistent about eggs several times a week for breakfast. Unless the fat content of the foods eaten during the rest is the day is cut down, the 45 fat calories in an egg are too much for breakfast. We have to settle for the fruit-cereal-toast routine.

Help in the form of a cookbook entitled "Low-Fat Cookery" by Evelyn S. Stead and Gloria K. Warren (McGraw-Hill, New York, $3.95) came to our desk just this week. We had heard about this book and had requested a review copy from the publishers.

All you readers who are faced with the same menu-planning problem as we are will appreciate this special cookbook. Not only does it give menus and recipes, but it lists many prepared foods by brand name, giving the fat content of each.

This fat content is given in the form of grams. If your doctor has said to eat so many calories of fat per day, just remember that there are nine fat calories in each gram. It's simple multiplication.

When you pan brown meat, you must not add any fat. Sprinkle salt lightly on the hot pan or rub with a salt bag. You'll be surprised how well the meat browns. Try this beef and vegetable recipe.

BEEF CHUNKS WITH VEGETABLES

1¼ pounds top round steak cut in cubes
1 (No. 2) can tomatoes, drained
1 (No. 1) can whole kernel corn
¼ teaspoon basil
Pinch nutmeg
Salt and pepper

Pan brown meat. Place in casserole with tomatoes, corn and seasonings. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes. Serves four. Fat content per serving 16 grams, or 145 calories.

Salad dressings have to be made differently, of course. This book suggests half a dozen of them. Here's the recipe for a French-type dressing.

FRENCH DRESSING (WITH PECTIN)

2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons powdered pectin
½ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
Paprika
1-2 cloves garlic, peeled

Place all ingredients in jar and shake well. Allow to stand so that some of garlic flavor will be absorbed into dressing. Fat content of recipe—none.

Many of the prepared pudding mixes contain little or no fat. If made with skim milk, they are permissible. The instant puddings make good dessert sauces.

For chocolate sauce add 1 cup light corn syrup and ⅓ cup water to a package of instant chocolate pudding. Stir together until blended. Do not cook. This thick, rich sauce is negligible in its fat content. There are only 20-30 fat calories in the entire recipe.

If the thought of giving up strawberry shortcake because of your diet limitation bothers you, forget it. Use this recipe for drop biscuits, put your strawberries on one biscuit, and you'll have your cake and eat it too.

DROP BISCUITS

2 egg yolks
¾ cup liquified nonfat milk
1 cup flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

Beat together egg yolks and salt. Stir in ⅓ cup milk. Sift together flour and baking powder. Stir dry ingredients into milk and egg mixture. Add remaining milk and stir until batter is well blended.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes in 375-degree oven. Makes 20 biscuits. Fat content per biscuit 0.6 fat grams or 5.4 fat calories.

This is a cookbook you will use over and over again. It is a welcome addition to the shelf of special cookbooks.

Try Chopped Apple Passover Dessert

By International News Service

Passover, the Jewish Festival of Redemption, is a time for unusual recipes since it requires cooking without leaven.

The holiday, which falls this year from April 15-23, commemorates the Exodus of the Children of Israel from Egyptian bondage, led by Moses.

Here's an example of a typical Passover dish, called Charoses:

1 apple, chopped
½ cup ground nuts
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon sugar or honey
2 tablespoons red wine

Pare and core apple, then chop or grate coarsely. Mix thoroughly with the remainder of the ingredients and serve.

Try Sour Cream on Salmon Steak

The sour cream sauce adds an unusual flavor to this stimulating dish. It also adds important vitamins. The lightly browned steaks make a colorful contrast to the tender green lima beans and onion rings. Another interesting combination of vegetables you may prefer is asparagus and onion rings or green peas and small boiled onions topped with the sauce.

Broiled Salmon Steaks

1½ pounds salmon steak cut into 4 serving pieces
¼ cup butter
2 medium sized sliced, cooked potatoes
1 medium sized sliced, cooked onion
1 package frozen lima beans, cooked
1 cup sour cream
½ cup salad dressing
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup cream
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute salmon in 3 tablespoons melted butter until lightly browned. Season with salt and pepper. Brown potatoes in remaining butter. Season potatoes and other cooked vegetables. Blend together sour cream, salad dressing, lemon juice and cream. Heat thoroughly and pour over salmon and vegetables on large serving tray or platter. Makes 4 servings.

SALMON WITH SOUR CREAM — Salmon steaks served with a sour cream sauce makes this a tasty combination for Lenten menus when interesting main dishes are especially welcome. Serve with a variety of vegetables to add to the completeness of the meal.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Brisket.

Q. What does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the brisket and contains the breast bone or part of the breast bone with short sections of the rib bones attached. It contains an outer covering of fat. This cut is also cured and sold as corned beef brisket.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. Fresh brisket is cooked slowly by braising or in liquid. Corned brisket is cooked in liquid. To braise, simmer in a small amount of water. To cook in liquid, cook covered with water. Allow 3 to 4 hours for a piece weighing 4 to 6 pounds.

Pour Over Biscuits Cream Shrimp, Eggs;

No baking is required for Creamed Eggs and Mushrooms in Shrimp Sauce. The eggs and mushrooms are combined in a shrimp cream sauce and served on split shredded wheat biscuits. The dish is nutritious, has a pleasing color and texture contrast, and is well seasoned to tempting tastiness.

Creamed Eggs and Mushrooms in Shrimp Sauce

¼ cup button mushrooms
4 shredded wheat biscuits
1 10½-ounce can cream of shrimp soup
¾ cup light cream
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 hard-cooked eggs

MRS. LAWYER — Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent of Oakland County, will conduct a six-weeks' course on food buying at the YWCA, 22 Franklin boulevard. The course which begins April 10 at 10:00 a.m. is entitled, "Marketing With Dollars and Sense." Avoid Scratches, Stains From Tea on Plastic Plates

Even non-breakable plastic dinnerware needs care if it is to last its full life and retain its beauty. Harsh abrasives will scratch plastic just as it will silverware, so avoid using them.

Don't cook or warm foods in plastic dinnerware or expose it directly to flames. Very hot or very cold foods, however, may be served safely on it since plasticware helps retain warmth or chill in foods.

Coffee and tea will stain plastic so don't leave these liquids standing for too long. Any stains that do form may be removed by rubbing the cups briskly with a dishcloth and soap, or by using a safe cleansing product.

Kennedy Starts Personal Probe

To Investigate Alleged Union Corruption in New York, Chicago

WASHINGTON (INS)—Robert F. Kennedy, whose persistent probing already has exposed racketeering in the massive Teamsters Union, has launched a personal investigative look into alleged union corruption in New York City, Chicago and possibly Seattle.

The young counsel for the headline-making Senate rackets committee told newsmen as he left Washington he also expects to burrow more deeply into the activities of embattled Teamsters boss Dave Beck and Beck's Chicago pal, Nathan Shefferman.

Kennedy, confined in Washington during five hectic and spectacular weeks of open hearings into the financial dealings of Teamsters big and little shots, said in explaining his trip:

"It is my practice to go out when I can and talk to witnesses."

The individuals he plans to interview, Kennedy said, will testify in public session within three weeks to one month from now.

Kennedy, who conferred with Teamsters leaders at the union's lavish Washington headquarters Tuesday, said he will continue the investigation of Beck, who has been suspended as an AFL-CIO vice president for refusing to tell the committee last week whether he took $322,000 from the Teamsters' coffers.

In addition, he said, the Chicago journey will lead him into a further study of Shefferman, who admitted buying $85,000 worth of merchandise for Beck, but vowed he "did not know it was union money."

Shefferman also told the committee he gave money to Beck because they were good friends and the union boss had done favors for him in the past.

Kennedy declined to specify what was discussed at Teamsters headquarters other than to state that the session spotlighted "matters dealing with the investigation."

Texas House Votes to Legalize 'Bragging' Fund

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—They're not so worried about carpetbaggers down here now and the Texas House has passed a bill to make legal use of state funds for bragging.

The proposed constitutional amendment, passed 117-21 by the lower house yesterday, would allo wTexas to use state funds to advertise its educational, recreational, industrial and natural advantages to people in other states.

Tis has been going on for quite some time, however, on a sort of private enterprise basis. Why, hardly anyone doesn't know Texas is the greatest of all states.

But after the Civil —er, War for the Southern Confederacy, the state's constitutional writers were concerned over the invasion by Yankee carpetbaggers. So they included a section to ban spending of public funds "for the purpose of bringing immigrants into Texas."

The Texas Senate has passed a similar bill and if the two houses can get together on some minor points, the measure will go to the people for a vote in November 1958.

4 Children Perish in Blazing House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) —Investigators today tried to find the cause of a fire that killed four children at a nearby Jackson Township home last night.

They said Mr. and Mrs. Denver Triplett, the parents, were apparently in Columbus when fire destroyed their partly completed home and killed Sandra, 7; Mike, 5; Mark, 19 months; and Sue, 2 months.

Authorities said Triplett, 32, told them he left the house about 9:45 p.m. to pick up his wife Virginia, 30, at a drugstore where she works. His wife then drove him to his factory job at the western edge of Columbus, he said.

A neighbor, Mrs. Albert Shoaf, said she saw flames from the window of her home, about a quarter-mile from the Triplett house. Her husband and Lawrence Hofius, another neighbor, investigated. They told police the heat was too intense for them to enter the burning house.

Firemen found the four bodies lying side by side in one bedroom.

The coroner and sheriff's deputies questioned both parents.

Musician to Get Retrial in Drunk Driver Charge

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A municipal judge has ordered a retrial of bandleader Freddy Slack on misdemeanor drunk driving charges.

Slack's two-day trial ended yesterday in a mistrial when the jury deadlocked 11-1 for conviction.

Police said Slack, 46, was drunk when they stopped his car in Hollywood last February. Slack testified, however, that he couldn't pick up pennies from the sidewalk in a sobriety test because "I had to keep my fingernails real short for my piano playing."

It Happens in England: Buck Teeth Insured

BIRMINGHAM, England (UP) — Insurance broker Arthur Harrison said today he has agreed to insure a TV comedian's buck teeth for 10,000 pounds — $28,000.

The teeth belong to Ken Dodd, who credits their unusual appearnace for many of his laughs. He will pay a premium of 25 pounds ($70) a year.

The policy requires Dodd to clean his buck teeth three times a day with a standard brand of toothpaste.

Refuses Parole to Help Inmates

Convict Prefers to Aid Prisoners in Learning to Make Living

SANTA FE, N. M. (UP)— A young convict has refused parole from the state prison because he says he feels it is his mission to help 34 other convicts to a fair chance at a decent life.

John Corpier, sentenced for forgery, could have returned to a good job in his home town of Las Cruces two months ago. But he turned down freedom to remain behind bars and continue teaching radio and television electronics to a group of inmates.

"These men wouldn't be here if they had ever had a chance to get an education and make a decent living," Corpier said, waving a hand at his class. "If they can learn this electronics trade and get a class-8 license from the Federal Communications Commission it means they will have their chance for the first time. And they won't be back here again."

"I'm one of the lucky ones," the convict-teacher added. "I've got a job waiting for me in Las Cruces. But there are more than 50 men in here right now with paroles waiting for them who can not get out because they can't find a job.

"It's pretty hopeless for them if no one is willing to help. How can a man go straight if he can't find work?"

He said he doesn't want to leave the prison until his electronics course is organized

THIS "GRADE A" BLENDED WHISKEY HAS NOT GONE UP IN PRICE...STILL $3.65 A FIFTH!

Do you know the A-B-C's of judging blended whiskey?

A means a "Grade A" blend...whiskies with the highest proportion of aged whiskies and less neutral grain spirits. Three Feathers is a "Grade A" blend, skillfully made with older and finer whiskies to give you a smoother, mellower drink.

B means a "Grade B" whiskey which contains a smaller amount of aged whiskies and more neutral spirits. Three Feathers is not a "B" blend.

C means cost. Practically all "Grade A" blends have recently gone up in price. Three Feathers has not. It still costs the same as most "Grade B" whiskies.

This is the evidence...you can check it yourself any time at your liquor store. Your verdict has to be: Three Feathers is America's Greatest Blended Whiskey Value! Try a drink at your friendly tavern or buy a bottle today!

Hope to Reopen Polio Clinics

County Awaits Release of Salk Vaccine Supply Received at Lansing

The Oakland County Health Department has hopes of reopening its free polio clinic for youngsters in the 1-14 age group and pregnant women.

Its hopes are based on news from Lansing that the State Health Department has received 82,800 doses of Salk vaccine.

"If we get our usual share, 10 per cent," Dr. John D. Monroe, county health commissioner, said, "we would have enough vaccine to operate for two weeks."

The clinic is presently closed for lack of vaccine. In Lansing, Dr. Albert Heustis, state health commissioner, said 1,235,612 more doses are needed to continue the program through June 30.

FUNDS TO BE VOTED

He said he had been assured that supplemental funds will be voted by the Legislature for this purpose.

The 82,800 doses just received are the first since March 15 when state funds were exhausted. Dr. Heustis said there is no money on hand at present to pay for the shipment.

What to do after June 30, is also a headache as the Legislature has given no indication it will appropriate money for the program past that date.

Dr. Monroe said he has not decided what to do if the program ends June 30. "I don't know whether we will seek to give as many as possible their first shots, or try to give those who have had first ones, their second or maybe just give third shots to those who have had two."

Dr. Monroe said he would consult with state health authorities today to find out when he will get Oakland's share of the available vaccine and decide when to reopen the free clinic.

States Seeking to Cut Car Toll

40,000 Fatalities in '56 Spur 6 Types of Action Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's highways yielded 40,000 traffic fatalities in 1956 and this April finds state legislatures studying proposed legislation in at least six fields to try to reduce the number.

An Associated Press survey showed nearly two thirds of the state governments casting about for new laws to help solve the accident problem.

Action to date ranges from the recommendation stage to newly signed statutes.

Legislation includes bills or requests to enlarge state police and law enforcement agencies, set down absolute speed limits, tighten driver licensing procedures, dole out stiffer penalties for drunken drivers, institute state sponsored and financed driver education programs, install statewide motor vehicle testing procedures, and make liability insurance compulsory.

The survey showed 29 states considering legislation to put more state police on the highways. The Washington State Legislature was considering a six-million-dollar annual budget for its state patrol. With it, Acting Chief Roy Carlson proposed to add 159 commissioned officers to the patrol's present staff of 284.

In Illinois, fourth highest in the nation with 2,135 highway deaths last year, Gov. William G. Stratton asked for a doubling of the state police force of 600.

"Our automobiles are safer, our roads are better," he said. "Unfortunately our driving has not improved at the same pace."

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California — where a record traffic death toll of 3,805, the worst in the nation, was counted in 1956 — asked for and got an additional 110 highway patrolmen on an urgency basis during January. The lawmakers were considering a budget which would add 270 more.

In other states with the bloodiest pavements, the picture was similar. Texas was considering measures to add 200 more state police and increase their salaries. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York requested a 12 per cent step-up in strength of the state's 1,200-man field force. And in Michigan, Gov. G. Mennen Williams asked 95 additional patrolmen to bring their strength to 1,250.

Post Office to Halt Saturday Services

budget are not restored by the Senate.

The developments brought loud cries of protest from the Postal Employes Union, postmasters and postal supervisors. All said suspension of Saturday deliveries would have a "disastrous effect."

William C. Doherty, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, declared the suspension is a catastrophe and will mean "drastic reductions" in the 508,000 man post office working force.

TO HIT SUBSTITUTES

He said the first ones to be affected "undoubtedly will be substitutes" who are working overtime to keep up with the mail volume.

Doherty said Summerfield is in a position similar to his predecessor, Jesse M. Donaldson, who had to reduce residential deliveries to one a day in 1952 because of lack of funds. This service never was restored and an estimated 10,000 jobs were lost.

Charles E. Puskar, secretary of the National Association of Postmasters, and John D. Swygert, secretary of the National Association of Postal Supervisors, deplored the fact that the action will come "at a time of unprecedented prosperity . . . when the post office is delivering the largest volume of mail in its history more efficiently and with less employes than in 1952."

Break Ground at Adrian

ADRIAN (AP)—Ground was broken Tuesday for two new buildings on the Adrian College campus—a student center and a new dining hall, given by an anonymous donor. Two new dormitories also under construction are scheduled for completion in June.

Mixed Trends Rule Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Mixed trends ruled in the stock market during early trading today.

After a burst of activity at the start the market quickly quieted. Gains and losses were about evenly matched and did not amount to much in either case.

Aircrafts stood out with uniformly small gains while motors had a slightly weaker trend. Television shares gained.

Scattered gains and losses were recorded by steels, chemicals, oils, utilities and railroads.

An opening block of 2,500 shares sent Lukens Steel to a new 1957 high at 73⅜, up ⅜, but the stock quickly lost all this gain.

Youngstown and Bethlehem showed little response to news the government will attempt a short cut in its suit to block merger of the firms. Bethlehem held unchanged while Youngstown advanced.

Aircraft issues were paced higher by United Aircraft with General Dynamics, Douglas and Boeing scoring fractional gains.

Dismiss Suit Against Studebaker-Packard

DETROIT (AP) — A stockholders' suit filed against Studebaker-Packard Corp. last October in a move to upset a working agreement with Curtiss-Wright Corp. has been dismissed in Federal Court.

Chief Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle ordered the suit and a proposed amendment complaint dismissed because they did not contain a "short and plain" statement of claims showing the plaintiffs were entitled to relief.

The suit was filed by Sol A. Dann, Detroit attorney; John H. Neville, of New York, and Mrs. Louise A. Turek, of Chicago.

Named as defendants were three top Studebaker - Packard officers and directors.

Dann and the others charged the company made "false and misleading" statements in soliciting proxy votes of shareholders.

Pennsy Crash Kills 1, Hurts 25

Passenger Train Rams Eight Empty Mail Cars at Secaucus, N. J.

SECAUCUS, N. J. (AP)—A Pennsylvania Rail Road passenger train smashed into a row of eight empty mail cars here last night, killing the train's engineer and injuring more than 25 passengers.

The dead engineer was identified as Clair E. Cochran, 58, of Islin. The injured, including two trainmen, were taken to New York hospitals.

The accident occurred at about 11 p.m. shortly after the six-car passenger train emerged from the Hudson River Tunnel. The electrically powered train was bound from New York City to New Brunswick with 156 passengers aboard.

The eight-car "deadhead" was struck by the train and two of its cars derailed.

Soon after the original accident, the 11:15 p.m. evening Keystone bound from Washington to New York roared past the scene and brushed against one of the derailed mail cars.

Although there were no injuries reported, the Keystone was brought to an emergency stop and its seven coaches towed back to Newark while its one Pullman car continued on to New York.

Five cars of the electric train were towed back to New York with the injured as wrecking crews began clearing the tracks.

Three passengers were hospitalized in New York. Others were treated and released.

of the French Foreign Legion and who also served with the United Nations' Army in Korea, told police he had been with the couple since last Thanksgiving.

He said he and the general had an argument early in the evening and that he went to a store and bought the revolver. On returning, the argument continued.

Mrs. McReynolds rushed toward him when he pulled the pistol, Chavigny told police, and added that during a struggle he accidentally shot her twice.

The Frenchman said McReynolds then rushed toward him and he shot him down with a series of blasts.

A neighbor, Lawrence S. Meredith, heard the shots and called police, who arrived as Chavigny fled the scene in the general's car. He ignored an order to halt and sped away in a hail of police gunfire.

An hour later Chavigny was stopped and arrested.

Japan's Goods Offered Reds?

Trade Official Denies Products Will Be Sold to Communist China

TOKYO (AP)—Top-grade Japanese industrial and medical equipment worth $367,000 today was reported up for sale to Communist China.

Much of the equipment is on the list of strategic goods whose shipment to Red China is banned by Japan, the United States and other U. N. members as a result of the Korean War.

Eiichi Shukutani, director of the Japanese trade exhibit sent recently to Peiping and Shanghai, reported that the equipment is for sale but such a transaction would require approval of the Japanese International Trade and Industry Ministry because of its strategic items.

A ministry spokesman said no request has been made for approval of the sale to Red China. He said final approval would have to come from a higher source and added that the exhibit was sent to China on the understanding it would return to Japan complete.

During exhibitions in Shanghai and Peiping, the Chinese Communists made several bids to purchase the equipment and have since repeated their requests.

The merchandise, which includes measuring instruments, machine tools, spinning machines, farm implements and medical equipment, now is in Shanghai, site of the last exhibition.

VA to Continue Medical Care

Official Snuffs Rumor of Canceling Program in Eight States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) said today it is not abandoning its hometown medical care program in Michigan or in any other state.

Dr. William S. Middleton, VA's chief medical director, said he wants to correct reports that the VA intends to cancel the hometown care program in eight states.

He said the reports apparently arose from a misunderstanding of VA contract provisions under negotiation in eight states and Hawaii to speed hometown medical care to eligible veterans and to eliminate duplication of work. The states are California, Colorado, Michigan, North Carolina, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin.

He said new contracts in seven of those states and in Hawaii will be with Blue Cross - Blue Shield organizations that serve as intermediaries between the VA and state medical societies in providing hometown care for eligible veterans by private physicians.

In South Dakota the contract will be with the state medical association.

CONTRACTS EXPIRE

He said existing contracts in the eight states and Hawaii expire June 30 and the effective dates of the new contracts will be July 1.

He added that no reduction is planned in the hometown medical care service to veterans with service-connected disabilities.

In states other than the eight in which contracts are being negotiated, VA has direct agreements with state medical societies under which the societies render certain services for the hometown program without charge.

Ducks Crazy or Just Product of Space Age?

LONDON (AP)—Hyde Park's keeper of the birds reported nervously today he has a pair of crazy, mixed-up ducks on his hands. The ducks, a mallard drake and hen, are nesting with six eggs 40 feet up a tree.

Why is this crazy? It is crazy because, as all duck-lovers and most ducks know, baby ducks waddle out of the nest and go swimming before they learn to fly. That is why normal mallards nest on the ground.

The six Hyde Park babies will waddle straight into 40 feet of space.

Birdkeeper Alexander Thompson is playing it as calmly as he can.

"After all," he told a reporter, "the eggs haven't hatched yet.

"The immediate problem is the people who look up and see a duck nesting in a tree.

"They run to a telephone in a state of shock, and call me up and insist on my doing something about it.

"Nothing can be done about it, of course. If we were to move the nest to the ground, where it belongs, the ducks would abandon the eggs."

Casting aside as impractical the suggestion that the ducklings be equipped upon hatching with small parachutes, Thompson said hopefully:

"People forget that ducklings are very light and well-covered with down. They may not fall as fast as people think. Also there is plenty of soft grass under the tree, and I have every hope that the casualty rate will be low."

White House Sticks to Secrecy Order

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has refused to withdraw an order by President Eisenhower fixing secrecy standards for government information.

Gerald D. Morgan, special counsel to the President, said in letters to two editors, made public today, that the 1953 directive gives "the minimum protection necessary to the defense interests of the nation."

Morgan was replying to a resolution adopted by the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. which urged rescinding of the order on the ground it is being invoked increasingly to withhold information to which, the association contends, the public is entitled.

The Eisenhower order authorizes certain officials to classify information as top secret, or confidential, depending on the degree to which they find its disclosure would hurt national security. Another security classification, "restricted," was eliminated by the 1953 order.
