Plan Mass Funeral for 87 Fire Victims

CHICAGO (AP)—Plans for a mass funeral for the 87 children who died in Chicago's worst school fire were announced today by church officials.

Twenty-five priests visited homes of the victims seeking approval for such a service and burial Friday.

Families were told they can make separate funeral and burial arrangements if they wish.

In the hospitals the fight for the living went on.

Seventy-five of the injured still required hospitalization. Two of them were nuns and one a school janitor. Eleven children were in critical condition.

Their battle was made easier by the overwhelming response to appeals for blood and even skin for grafts.

Calls from prospective blood donors across the country were so great that many were told to call later in the week and even after.

While anguished parents prepared to bury their children who died in the blaze, the puzzling cause of the fire still plagued investigators.

That it started in the base of a stairwell in the northeast corner of the brick Our Lady of Angels School was generally agreed upon. The why and the how were theories.

One police arson expert theorized a cigarette flipped carelessly into a pile of trash, a wastebasket or papers may have sparked the blaze. A schoolboy sneaking a smoke was one possibility, he said.

Flames might have smoldered for an hour, said Sgt. Drew Brown, and then whooshed up the staircase with horrifying speed.

He emphasized it only was theory.

Arson was discounted, but not ruled out.

"We always suspect arson where there is a loss of life and we cannot establish the cause of the fire," Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said.

Three nuns died in the fire along with the children.

The parents of three missing girls grimly maintained the dead were not their daughters.

Still missing were Bernice Cichocki, 12, Lucille Filipponio, 9, and Diane Stantangelo, 9.

Morgue officials said dental records of the three will be checked against dental characteristics of the dead.

According to Sgt. Brown, his

State Demands Law to Inspect Schools

LANSING (AP)—In the wake of the Chicago parochial school fire tragedy, state officials joined today in demanding a mandatory school inspection law for Michigan.

Gov. Williams and Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, both said they would try to push the measure through the 1959 legislature. Glenroy Walker, chief of the state fire marshal's division, was another asking passage of the law.

Bartlett estimated that there are 1,800 schools in Michigan of a combustible nature, most of them one room schools in rural areas.

"It would be tragically foolish to think what happened in Chicago couldn't happen here," Bartlett said.

In Detroit alone, he said, there are 38 schools rated combustible by municipal authorities "meaning these schools would most certainly burn if a fire starts."

Crowded classrooms, he said, compound the seriousness of the problem.

"It is an appalling thought in the face of the Chicago tragedy that Michigan has no requirement for state inspection of schools for fire hazards," Williams said.

A proposed measure would call for inspection of all public and private schools every three years by the state fire marshal and state health commissioner. Schools which failed to meet standards would be closed by July 1, 1961.

Similar legislation failed to pass the legislature during the past three sessions.

"We still have buildings that are as much a fire-trap as the one in Chicago," Bartlett said.

He noted that the fatalities come from the killing effect of smoke and gases and from panic as well as flames.

In addition to seeking the mandatory inspection bill, Bartlett said, he would immediately go ahead with his program. This will recommend that:

All superintendents and school boards have an immediate inspection of their buildings made by responsible fire department officials.

Every school district in the state, regardless of size, improve and step up its fire drill program.

Every school examine storage spaces and other areas for possible fire hazards.

Horrible Fire Not Likely in City Schools

By MAX E. SIMON

How safe are Pontiac's schools?

This question loomed large today as citizens, fire department officials and school administrators, shocked by the tragic fire at Our Lady of Angels School in Chicago, wondered: "Can it happen here?"

Because of an active fire prevention program, it's not likely, according to Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz.

No schools in the city can be considered firetraps, Metz said today.

In the past five years, precautions have been taken to prevent such a disaster, he said, and most buildings are in "good shape."

But, he warned, this is not "100 per cent true."

An emergency meeting to review the city's fire prevention program was hastily called this morning by John Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Attending were fire department officials, administrators from both public and parochial schools, and members of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Chamber's Safety Council.

"We want to make sure there are adequate safeguards against fires in the schools," Hirlinger said. "We hope to be able to reassure the public that the local program is satisfactory."

"If there are hazards, we will find out about them and take quick action," he promised.

Six of the city's older schools were called risks by Metz.

Gunaca Faces Extradition Here

UAW Organizer Stands Accused of Assaulting Pair in Wisconsin

John Gunaca, UAW union organizer arraigned today in Oakland County Circuit Court, decided not to fight extradition. Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty ordered him returned to Wisconsin authorities.

John Gunaca, a UAW organizer who has fought four years to escape assault charges in connection with the strife-torn Kohler Co. strike in Wisconsin, today was to be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court as the first step toward extradition.

Gunaca, accused of beating an elderly non-striker and his son during a picket line brawl at the beleaguered plant in Sheboygan, Wis., was today ordered returned to Wisconsin in a sudden move by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Until this morning, the governor has always refused extradition on grounds that Gunaca could not get a fair trial.

The 34-year-old union organizer was arrested on the Governor's warrant this morning at his home in Detroit and taken first to the Redford State Police Post for fingerprinting.

Lt. Howard Whaley said at noon

Sinclair Raises Gas Price 5.1

Firm Reverses Trend Started Last Week; Others Due to Follow

Reversing a trend it began last week, Sinclair Refining Co. today announced a 5.1 cent a gallon increase in the tankwagon cost of gasoline to Pontiac and Detroit dealers.

Other major refineries, which last week fell in line with Sinclair's 3.2 cent cut in prices, were expected to follow Sinclair in the latest increase.

The boost pushes the tankwagon price for Sinclair gas to 14.5 cents a gallon for regular and 18 for premium. This set the new base retail price for motorists at 29 cents for regular and 33 for premium.

Fluctuating all year, gasoline prices in Pontiac averaged 33.2 cents for regular and 36.2 for premium at the first of the year. On Nov. 1 they stood at 27.9 and 31.9.

Did It Pay Full Fare?

BURTON-ON-TRENT, England (UPI) — A local bus driver was perfectly justified in saying, "Well, I swan" yesterday. A swan waddled up from the river, joined a bus crowd, and got onto a bus. It rode to the next stop, got off, and returned to the river.

Urge State Income Tax of $220 Million a Year

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The Conlin Committee last night formally urged a 226-million-dollar-a-year graduated income tax as a key measure to right Michigan's topsy-turvy tax structure and stave off state bankruptcy.

About three-quarters of its impact would fall on higher income groups, particularly those in the $10,000-and-over brackets, with rates ranging from 3 to 8 per cent.

The personal income tax, now levied by 31 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia, was but one of a host of recommendations sweeping across the entire state tax spectrum.

Nearly all, including a novel $9-a-year per person sales tax on food rebate feature, were in accordance with advance notice.

Seventeen members of the blue ribbon Citizens Advisory Group to the legislative Tax Study Committee headed by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) supported the program, including chairman Frank Seidman of Grand Rapids.

They conditioned their approval on acceptance of the entire tax package by the legislature, or virtually all of it.

GAIN $138 MILLION

In a summary of program effects, the committee majority figured it would bring in 391 millions in new revenues and abandon 253 millions in existing revenue for a net gain of 138 million dollars a year.

The committee called prompt creation of a special study group on local government tax and revenue problems.

Harvey E. Brazer, committee executive secretary, guessed that under the income tax proposal more than 1,500,000 persons will have to file returns, but not necessarily to pay tax. Federal income tax returns filed in Michigan run about 2,750,000 a year.

Many, particularly in the low income brackets or those with large families, would find any tax liability wiped out by tax credits of $40 for each adult and dependent child in a family. The first $1,000 of income would be exempt.

Thus, for a married man with two dependents, there would be no income tax liability for the first $5,400 of wages or salary.

COUPLE

UNDER $4,000, NO TAX

Income	Net Cost
$ 4,000	$ 16
$ 6,000	$ 88
$ 8,000	$172
$10,000	$480

COUPLE, TWO DEPENDENTS

UNDER $5,400, NO TAX

Income	Net Cost
$ 6,000	$ 24
$ 8,000	$109
$10,000	$211

SINGLE

UNDER $2,000, NO TAX

Income	Net Cost
$ 4,000	$ 47
$ 6,000	$111
$ 8,000	$257
$10,000	$413
$15,000	$670

As to higher income brackets, the report said:

"Since the state tax is deductible from income for federal income tax purposes, the net cost to the taxpayer of the state levy, after giving effect to the federal 'offset,' in no case exceeds 3.5 per cent of adjusted gross income (notwithstanding the ceiling rate of 8 per cent)."

Snow Flurries, Cold Forecast for Tonight

Snow flurries and colder is the weatherman's forecast for tonight with the low dipping to a freezing 20.

Thursday is expected to be cloudy and cold with snow by late afternoon and a high near 26 degrees. Tonight and tomorrow, winds will be light and variable.

State Police this morning reported roads and highways in southern Lower Michigan as wet and slippery.

There were no reports of ice or snow on main highways but police said visibility was poor due to fog and mist.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 27 degrees. The thermometer registered 33 at 2 p.m.

Eight-Mile-Wide Flame Swath Peril Elsewhere

36 Homes Destroyed as 50 M.P.H. Winds Fan Roaring Blaze

MALIBU BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A wind-lashed fire has cut an eight-mile-wide swath from the mountains to the sea here but a massed battery of pumpers, virtually one to a house, today checked a threat to the famed film colony.

The blaze, driven by 50 m.p.h. winds, has destroyed an estimated 36 homes.

Hundreds of residents have fled the area.

The blaze, perhaps set by an arsonist, burst out Tuesday on the brush and oak-studded island slopes of the Santa Monica Mountains. The winds quickly whipped it over the crest of the hills and down canyons to the sea.

"The situation doesn't look too promising anywhere," John Barton, assistant county fire chief, said today.

The Pacific highway, U.S. 101, was blocked on either side of the fire zone. The highway, a main north-south route between Los Angeles and San Francisco, runs east and west along the coastline at this point.

The Malibu Beach film colony is on the ocean side of the highway.

The flames jumped across the highway but the intensive efforts of firemen and their pumpers and residents with garden hoses checked the threat.

Firemen battled to keep the blaze out of Malibu Canyon, but lost the fight just before dawn when flames 100 feet high roared over the top of the last ridge and bore down on the homes half a mile below.

In the path of the flames are a dozen homes, a Catholic church and school and an elementary school that is being used as fire fighting headquarters and an evacuation center.

The fire has already destroyed several expensive homes, among them the $50,000 hilltop house of actor Lew Ayres.

A barn on actor Ronald Reagan's ranch burned. Ranches owned by Bob Hope and Glenn Ford had to be abandoned. Ford trucked out several head of prize cattle.

Area Father Gets Fine, Court Ultimatum

Kept Girl, 12, Out of School 14 Months

Pontiac Press Photo

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Barbara will go to school or Daddy will go to jail, Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer told a West Bloomfield Township man yesterday.

Judge Beer, in upholding a justice court conviction, ordered Elwin Clapp of 34344 W. 14-Mile Rd. to have his 12-year-old daughter, Barbara, in school within 48 hours or spend 90 days in the county jail. Clapp was also fined $50.

Clapp, a Detroit factory machinist, unfolded a strange tale of how the girl had been kept out of Decker Elementary School in Walled Lake for more than 14 months because his wife and mother-in-law feared for the girl's safety "because of a certain neighbor" with whom the family had been having a long-standing feud.

Clapp was scolded by the judge for allowing his wife "to dictate to him a violation of the state law" which requires children between 6 and 16 to attend school.

"You should realize you are head of the family and should not surrender this position," Judge Beer lectured Clapp.

ATTENDED 4 DAYS

Cecil G. Scott, principal of the school, said Mrs. Clapp had enrolled Barbara in the sixth grade in September of 1957. He said she attended only four days and then a continued absence was noted.

Donald A. Milligan, attendance officer for the Walled Lake school district, was pressed into action. Milligan said he visited the Clapp home several times only to be repelled by a sign on the front door telling visitors to leave their calling cards and they would be contacted.

Milligan never was. Registered letters also were returned to him unclaimed.

"It is always our last resort," said Scott, "so we asked for the warrant against Clapp."

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle found Clapp guilty in January. Clapp immediately appealed to the Circuit Court where yesterday his conviction was upheld.

Army Unveils Juno, Huge Moon Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army unveiled its huge moon rocket — Juno II — Tuesday when the service tower was rolled back as part of the preparations for a launching expected within a week.

The powerful rocket, very similar in appearance to the Jupiter-C that fired three Explorer satellites into orbit, will be used for the Army's first attempt to probe far into outer space.

When the tower was rolled away the base of the Army's highly touted Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile was seen. The top of the rocket was covered, however.

For the moon shoot, the Jupiter will be used as a first-stage booster rocket in place of the smaller Redstone missile which gave the big lift to the Jupiter-C satellite vehicle.

'Stags and Does' Shop Separately in City Tonight

Men and women will get their chance to get out and do some "separate" shopping tonight as Pontiac merchants observe Stag and Doe Night.

Beside the stores already staying open evenings until Christmas, about 16 more shops will keep their doors open until 9 tonight.

The men's stores will offer their services exclusively to female patrons, while men only will be admitted to the women's shops. The same will be true department-wise in larger stores carrying both men's and women's furnishings.

Many of the stores will feature professional models showing the latest fashions. Other stores will offer special gift wrapping services and some will supply special personal guides for shoppers who possibly "don't know just what to get him or her."

Some stores will serve refreshments.

State Income Tax Urged by Group

tax, the committee proposed these other new or increased taxes:

A 5 per cent tax on corporate net income, 110 millions, with an offset of 45 millions through a halving of the corporation franchise tax rate and making it payable only as a minimum alternative to the income levy.

A 7 per cent tax on net income of banks, small loan companies, building and savings and loan associations and other financial institutions, increase over present structure of $11,500,000.

Business activities tax revision, including withdrawal of deductions for rent, interest and depreciation and bumping the rate applicable to public utilities to 6.5 mills, 5 millions gain.

Adjustments to taxes on insurance companies, 8 millions gain.

Impose sales and use tax on telephone, telegraph, leased wire and similar services, coupled with repeal of present exemptions under sales tax, 18 millions gain.

Twenty per cent tax on cigars, pipe tobacco and other tobacco products other than cigarettes, four millions gain.

Replace present $1.25 a barrel tax on beer with a tax of 7 per cent imposed on the price invoiced to the distributor, 4 millions gain.

ESTATE, GIFTS TAX

Impose estate and gift taxes ranging from 6 to 22 per cent in place of the existing inheritance tax, $7,500,000 gain.

Raise tax on "handle" at thoroughbred race tracks to 7 per cent and on harness racing to 4½ per cent, and discontinue state sharing of pari-mutuel tax with cities in exchange for granting cities admission tax authority, $2,200,000 gain. Existing rates are 6 per cent at thoroughbred tracks and 4 per cent at harness tracks.

Besides the 120 million dollar a year revenue loss from the personal property tax change and the 45 million loss in corporation franchise taxes, these tax repeals or reductions were proposed:

Intangibles tax repeal, reducing income 24 millions.

Nine dollar a person rebate on estimated sales tax paid annually on food, with state assuming a potential 63 million dollar obligation.

Chain store tax repeal, $500,000 a year loss.

Brazer observed that despite substantially increasing state revenues, the proposed tax package would reduce the burden of taxes borne by Michigan families with under $5,000 income.

"The increased load to be carried by the higher income groups ranges from ½ to 1 per cent of income for those in the $5,000 to $7,000 bracket to 2.75 per cent for those with incomes in excess of $10,000," he said.

But as the flames topped the ridge at the head of the canyon, many persons packed their belongings and started to leave.

Fire officials said the blaze may be worse than the mammoth Malibu fire two years ago that burned for five days, blackening 42,000 acres and destroying 99 homes.

Some of the same ground is being burned over now, but most of the fire is in the hills running down to the picturesque seashore about 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Eight firemen were burned when a sudden wind shift sent the blaze roaring back at them. They fought through to safety but were hospitalized with first-degree burns on their faces and hands.

Evacuation centers were set up in three schools along the ocean side of the hills. More than 150 persons were bedded down in them.

Street Lighting Experiment Creates Bright Glow in City

Shoppers and motorists in the downtown Pontiac area may be wondering what creates the bright glow at Saginaw and Oakland when viewing the intersection from a distance of several blocks.

The glow in this case is created by four experimental street lights. The four test lights were installed last Friday by Consumers Power Company in cooperation with the City of Pontiac.

The four fluorescent fixtures, using "power groove" lamps, are the first to be installed in Michigan and one of the first installations of their kind in the United States for street lighting purposes, according to Ed Karkau, Consumers Power district manager.

The immediate use of these new lamps is to highlight the new center-island recently constructed at the intersection. If the new lights prove to illuminate the intersection as efficiently as officials believe they will, more may be installed at other key city locations in the future.

The present downtown lighting system was installed in 1946. It makes use of 10,000-lumen lights and was considered a good lighting job at that time.

In December, 1955, Pontiac became one of the first cities in the state to install 30,000-lumen fluorescent lights around the new City Hall.

Another 71 of these lights were recently installed on Perry street to make it one of the safest streets for nighttime driving in Pontiac.

However, according to officials, the pedestrian traffic in the downtown area requires a higher level of illumination than arterial highways and suburban streets.

Thus, the four test lamps were set up, each lamp having an output of approximately 35,000 lumens.

This output is one and a half times that of the Perry street lights and three and a half times that of the present lighting on Saginaw street.

Gunaca Arraigned Here

he would bring Gunaca to Pontiac for arraignment on the warrant before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said Gunaca was coming here because it was in this county that the union organizer was originally arrested and arraigned in 1954, two months after the Kohler violence.

Gunaca, whose case has long been a bone of contention among anti-Williams factions, is accused of beating William Bersch Sr. and his son, William Jr., at a gas station in Sheboygan Falls on July 4, 1954.

The elder Bersch spent 18 days in the hospital after the beating and died a year later.

It was possible that Gunaca may delay extradition today by demanding habeus corpus proceedings to inquire into the legality of his arrest.

If that is the case, the hearings will take place in Oakland County Court.

Ziem, who will prosecute the Governor's warrant against Gunaca said at 1 p.m. that he expected him in court shortly.

The governor's decision marked the first break in a four-year attempt by Wisconsin authorities to bring the United Auto Workers Union member to trial.

It also marked a turning point in the long, and often bitter, campaign which Williams' opponents have waged against him on grounds the governor was favoring unions by protecting Gunaca.

In Oakland County, Williams' critics have frequently accused him of "coddling criminals" for the sake of votes.

Gunaca, then a resident of Macomb County, was sent by the UAW to help in the bitter Kohler battle.

A heavy, muscular man, Gunaca was accused of taking part in a fist-fight in which several men were beaten. But he slipped back to Michigan before he could be brought to trial.

Wisconsin authorities obtained a federal fugitive warrant, which Michigan authorities served on Gunaca in Farmington in September, 1954.

Judge Doty arraigned Gunaca on the charge Sept. 10, 1954, then freed him under $1,500 bond while Gunaca fought extradition. He has been at liberty under the bond for the past four years.

Williams steadfastly refused to order extradition proceedings until today, contending that strike tensions in Sheboygan might jeopardize Gunaca's right to a fair trial.

"I am not persuaded that conditions there are as calm as they are likely to be in the foreseeable future," Williams said, "but any fears the fugitive has on this score must yield to the right of our neighbors in Wisconsin to try him."

Williams said he came to his decision after consultation with "independent sources of information," which he declined to identify.

"The administration of justice in Wisconsin enjoys a fine reputation in this country," the governor said. "Had Wisconsin's law been equal to ours in protecting defendants through venue changes, John Gunaca would have extradited long ago."

The governor referred to failure of efforts to set Gunaca's trial in a court district away from Sheboygan. This, he always contended, was his main reason in refusing extradition.

"I trust that he (Gunaca) will now be dealt with like any other person brought before the bar of justice and that justice will be done him and the people of Wisconsin," Williams said.

Renewed hearings in the long Kohler-UAW labor dispute are scheduled to start before the National Labor Relations Board in Washington Dec. 16.

George A. Downing, NLRB trial examiner, said the date had been agreed upon by the company and union.

Downing recommended more than a year ago that the Kohler Co., a plumbing ware manufacturer, be held guilty of unfair labor practices based on the strike that started in April, 1954, and still is going on. Kohler has operated with returnees and non-union employes.

The strike often was punctuated with violence on the picket lines and elsewhere. The company and the union blamed each other for fomenting it.

The NLRB itself never has ruled on the UAW-Kohler case and recently ordered Downing to reopen it to develop testimony presented to the Senate Labor-Management Rackets Committee last spring.

Mass Funeral Is Planned for 87 School Fire Victims

theory on the start of the fire was borne out by these facts:

It was usual practice about 2:30 p.m. for boys to take waste paper to the basement to be burned in the boiler room later by janitors.

A boy's washroom is nearby. It is a good place for a boy to steal a smoke. Old examination papers also were stored near the area.

Brown said two boys were in the northeast part of the building as late as 2:40 p.m. Monday, emptying waste baskets. That was two minutes before the first alarm was sounded. The boys said they smelled something smoldering.

But, from his hospital bed James Raymond, 44, the janitor, insisted the area was clear of any refuse or stacks of papers as of last Thursday. He doubted anything was placed there Friday, a school holiday.

The FBI stood by in the case, saying "it is maintaining a liaison with Chicago officials to see if there is any way we can assist."

Examination of a steel 30-gallon can found near the wooden north east stairway failed to turn up any helpful clues. Raymond said he had seen such a can before, but didn't know why it was there.

EXPLAIN SPEED

While the causes of the blaze remained unknown, some fire experts came forth with explanations for the terrific speed of the blaze. So fast did it spread that dozens of children were trapped and killed in their classrooms.

Fire Commissioner Quinn said, "When a fire gets going it moves faster than you can run."

In Boston, the National Fire Protection Assn., said open doors appeared to be the major cause of death. Association engineers reported heavy wooden doors on the second floor were open, permitting fire and hot gases to spread quickly.

First floor doors were closed, the investigators were quoted as saying, protecting classrooms there. Some 1,300 students were in the U-shaped building when the fire broke out.

Defeat of Millage Increase Urged for Bloomfield Hills

BIRMINGHAM — Letters signed by Fred W. Graupner, of 6388 Dakota Circle, are being distributed to urge the defeat Monday of the Bloomfield Hills school district's proposed millage increase.

Arthur J. Picotte, chairman of the citizens' committee which Graupner represents, said a public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Bloomfield Township Hall for further discussion.

Picotte claims the board of education information is not giving the whole picture and says that actually the increase will be 7.3 mills rather than the 4 the board states.

Graupner, who will be the principal speaker, says the "equalized value" will increase the four mills asked by the board 1.8 times, or a total of 7.2 mills.

This, he said, plus a $14 increase for the bond proposal, will put a total tax of $86 on a $10,000 assessment.

He also criticizes the educators' "anticipation program" and claims the board is asking residents to "spend money now for something that may happen in the future."

Meanwhile, Parent Teacher Organization groups are solidly backing the educators. Members have signed a resolution stressing their faith in the board and stand firmly behind the entire issue.

Superintendent Eugene Johnson said the Hills does not have a "fancy" construction program but "stresses well-built schools staffed by the best teachers available."

The Birmingham Recreation Board yesterday made an error in the telephone number they told The Pontiac Press would be used to contact Santa Claus weekdays, Dec. 8 through 19, from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

The correct telephone number is MI 6-7222 not the number reported by the board yesterday in The Press.

The committee meeting scheduled for tomorrow night's discussion of the new Birmingham Teen Club will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the Community House. The public is invited.

Members of the Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian Church will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Clarence W. Blenman, 1381 Birmingham Blvd. for their annual Christmas program.

Members will bring cards and stamped envelopes which will be taken to adult patients at the Pontiac State Hospital for them to send.

Surviving are two sons, Richard of Ypsilanti and Andrew of Grand Rapids and five grandchildren.

The family requests memorial to the Detroit League for Planned Parenthood in lieu of flowers.

Mrs. K. C. Buckeye

Sputnik Carrier Due to Burn, Fall Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (P—The Pullman-car-sized rocket of Sputnik III was expected to burn up and fall to the earth today.

Scientists at Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory indications were it would fall somewhere between central Europe and the Middle East.

The rocket has been orbiting since it fired Sputnik III into orbit last May 15. Sputnik itself is expected to continue circling the globe for another year because its more compact shape offers less atmospheric drag.

Smithsonian scientists said probably very little would remain of the carrier rocket as it hit the earth since it would burn up through friction on entering the earth's atmosphere.

Retired Barkeeps Action Curbed by Royal Visit

LONDON (AP) — "No hard drinking during the ceremony" was the order Tuesday when Queen Mother Elizabeth opened a new bungalow colony for retired barkeeps.

Under a marquee she sipped tea with a jolly vintage of old pint pullers, each with more than 20 years' service at the bar, and their wives. Only occasionally did some of the men's eyes stray to a silk curtain directly behind the Queen Mother's chair.

★ ★ ★ ★

The silk curtain was pulled aside. Crate upon crate of hard liquor was revealed. And 100 pairs of practiced hands set to with corkscrew and bottle opener.

Tank-Car Derailment Starts Ammonia Blaze

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Railroad tank cars loaded with liquid ammonia touched off a spectacular fire Monday when 21 cars of a 118-car freight train derailed near here.

The tank cars burned for several hours before the fire was brought under control.

Dr. Eugene Wigner Wins AEC Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Hungarian-born citizen, Dr. Eugene P. Wigner, has been given the Atomic Energy Commission's Enrico Fermi award — $50,000 and a gold medal.

Wigner, Princeton University professor of theoretical physics, won the honor chiefly for his work in the development of nuclear reactors.

Wigner is the third man to receive the Fermi award. The award is given in the name of the man who is known as the father of atomic energy.

The American Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn., is operated for the Atomic Energy Commission by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. The museum conducts exhibits and educational programs throughout the nation.

Flasher Lights Must Be on School Buses—Adams

LANSING (UPI)—Attorney General Paul Adams has ruled buses used to transport school children, whether publicly owned or privately owned, must be equipped with flasher lights.

In answer to a request of Rep. Willard I. Bowerman Jr., (R-Lansing), Adams said the lights protect the children in the buses and give adequate warning to the motorists when the bus is stopping.

Reds Claim New 1st

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has more electrified railway line than any other country in the world, Radio Moscow claimed. The broadcast, without giving figures, said the Moscow-Far East main line, now being electrified, would be the largest electric line in the world, both in mileage and amount of freight carried.

Dominicans Start Plan

CIUDAD TRUJILLO — The Dominican Republic has launched a $650,000,000, five-year plan that aims at the elimination of illiteracy; electrification of rural areas; eradication of malaria; colonization of interior regions, with provision for homesteads, farm machinery, and agricultural training centers; and large-scale workers' housing developments and slum clearance.

Russians Create Problem in Germany

The pesky Russians are bent on standing forth as the worst international actors possible. This is an avowed policy and the current situation in Berlin is just another indication.

This top German city was entered in a military manner and taken over "by right of conquest." The U. S., France, Britain and Russia were the four countries that moved in at the close of the war. There have been no actual peace measures establishing "what's what." If the Russians pull out, as they threaten, it leaves East Berlin as an entity in itself with which the other three nations will have to deal.

There is no world recognition of East Berlin.

East Germany can say in effect: "O K, so now we're on our own. Therefore, you three deal with us or we'll block your entrance through our territory." If the three agree, then the chances of a unified Germany ultimately are set back tremendously. West Germany would be bitterly opposed to recognition of Russia's East Germany. It would precipitate a mess. That's what Russia wants—a mess.

Also, this step would look as though we were walking out on the Adenauer government.

What real stinkers the Russians are!

These Days You Just Can't Tell Who's Driving

"Man bites dog" is a bit on the whimsical side, but when a sheep drives a tractor and runs over a farmer, it is what you might say, "out of this world."

According to Australian News and Information Bureau, Lachlan Simpson, a farmer of Tottenham, New South Wales, might well go down in history as the first man ever injured in an accident with a tractor driven by a sheep — one of his own sheep at that.

The account explains that SIMPSON put the sheep in the bucket seat of the vehicle to return it to the homestead. He left the engine running and was engrossed in some minor adjustment when the animal he had befriended kicked the engine into gear and ran over his benefactor's arm, crushing it severely.

New Secret Diplomacy Really Is Secret

"Hush-hush" is on the increase.

Associated Press newsmen discovered this in Geneva as the organization itself illustrates with the following account in a bulletin to members:

"Secret diplomacy used to mean that diplomats didn't tell the people what they were up to. Today, they don't even tell each other. That's the way it is in Geneva at the twin talks on control of nuclear tests and prevention of surprise attacks.

"Newsmen gather hopefully twice each day outside the guarded meeting rooms. Invariably, delegates emerge in tight silence; A U.N. official reads a communique that offers little news except the date of the next meeting. It's the unofficial contacts that provide the few nuggets of news. As a sample of what happens, AP's Mike Goldsmith and Tom Ochiltree found Semyon Tsarapkin, the Soviet delegate to the nuclear talks, in an expansive mood over a glass of vodka at a Russian cocktail party. Tsarapkin gave them an authoritative rundown on Russia's position.

"Then, when the story came out the AP men found themselves bombarded with questions by American delegates, who had not attended the party. It's all part of the new brand of secret diplomacy."

With the whole world as closely knit as it is today by modern communications and modern travel, the question of secret diplomacy assumes new phases. Practically everything is touched some way by the pressure of the times—including diplomatic relationships.

"LET'S you and I be more careful to observe the rules of grammar," suggests a columnist. Yes, indeed—let we do so.

SOME of the most effective brainwashing is done by those who in the process use a lot of soft soap.

The Man About Town

A Sudden Winter

Found Local Residents Ill Prepared for Its Coming

Pontiac: A fair city, besmirched when Detroit papers run short of copy.

The sudden cold caught many growers in this area with potatoes, apples and other fruits and vegetables in storage places that were not frost proof, the intention being to move them to cellars or pits as the mercury dropped. But a nose dive was not anticipated.

It also halted all fall plowing among our farmers, but most of them had completed this work. This causes who recently moved from an adjoining county to Orion Township to phone that he remembers two winters that were so open that he did plowing every month in the year.

Likewise, it brought recollections to

of Pontiac Trail of times when he banked the cellar walls of his home each winter with manure from the cow barn, the spontaneous combustion helping to keep the house warm during the cold months.

'Twas a long and beautiful autumn—but not long enough for me. The sudden turn to winter caught me with 250 of my best tulip bulbs unplanted.

The most interesting reading in the current issue of that great magazine, Outdoor Life, is showing how hunters have been illegally slaughtering 250,000 wild ducks per year, laughing at the law until 94 of them were caught in one raid. It's from the fluent pen of

Ben East,

Oakland County's top outdoor writer. Much of the background is laid in Lake St. Clair.

Mr. and Mrs. John Seator

are deer hunters who get 'em. Back from the 640-acre tract which they own near Oscoda, both shot a buck. In fact, they have done this most of the time for several years. This time they had along a number of relatives, and each hunter got a buck, a total of seven. John says the does are very thin.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Fulcher

near Rochester. Their dog, "Sprite," jumped into the Clinton River to retrieve a ball thrown by one of the children, and was swept under the ice and drowned.

David Lawrence Asks:

Who's to Blame for School Plight?

WASHINGTON — Who is responsible for the plight of the 16,400 students in Arkansas and Virginia where certain public schools have been closed since September? An objective outline of what the loss in school hours during the last three months means to these students has just been given by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare in President Eisenhower's cabinet.

LAWRENCE

He doesn't attempt to fix the blame but expresses the hope that "decisions" will be made soon by the local communities "that will result in the schools being opened, under policies that will be in harmony with decisions of the courts."

That's a very large order and, granting the best of intentions and the maximum of sincerity, the leaders in the communities affected can hardly make the "decisions" that will reopen the schools.

For the Supreme Court of the United States, by its ruling on Sept. 29 last, has thrown into confusion the public school boards of several southern states.

The court struck down the gradual plan of the school board of Little Rock and ordered immediate integration irrespective of the conditions prevailing there.

Nobody really can be sure now exactly what the "law of the land" is today on integration in the public schools because the Supreme Court has issued contradictory rulings in the last few weeks.

Thus, only 13 out of 314,000 Negro pupils in the state of North Carolina have been accepted to attend "integrated" public schools — and all public schools are open. This is called obedience to the "law of the land."

In Arkansas, 76 Negroes out of 103,000 are attending "integrated" public schools which are attended also by approximately 4,700 white students. There are 33 Negroes enrolled at the graduate and undergraduate level in the eight state colleges in Arkansas which were formerly all white.

All but four of the state's high schools are open.

Yet Arkansas is being lambasted as not complying with the "law of the land," though its record on school desegregation is better than that of some other states in the South.

In Alabama they have not yet admitted any Negroes to white public schools, but the Supreme Court of the United States ruled on Nov. 24 that the state's pupil-assignment law is constitutional and that the school authorities may apply 17 different standards in determining qualifications.

Yet when the school board at Little Rock, admittedly operating in good faith, asked for more time to work out the problem by applying some of those same standards, the Supreme Court of the United States adamantly refused to grant any delay whatsoever.

Shouldn't the Supreme Court really have granted at least six months within which the Little Rock school board and the legislature of Arkansas might have tried the plan Alabama now is using?

Was there any good reason for ignoring the pleas for time made by the local school board at Little Rock, whose members the Supreme Court openly said were sincere and could be trusted?

The Country Parson

"You can't keep your actions from revealing your religion any more than you can keep your mind from thinking — unless you're asleep."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Hydramin 'Milk Shakes' Build Up Energy, Health

"In the very helpful booklet 'Examination Jitters and Stage Fright' (free if you provide me with a stamped, self-addressed envelope) I noticed your recommendation of hydramin powder, which I thought might appeal to my young son, as he doesn't like milk. (Mrs. W. H. M.)"

DR. BRADY

This is a newly developed nutritional supplement composed of proteins, especially the indispensable amino-acids, vitamins, minerals, etc. from soya, yeast, milk powder, with essential proportions of fat and carbohydrate for good nutrition, energy and health).

Mrs. W. H. M. continues: "We used the powder as directed, making it into a milk shake, and he loved it. He has a king size glass of it every day and says it is super. He looks so much better and his energy up, and we are so pleased.

"I was beginning to accumulate what you call slacker flesh. I found my son's 'milk shake' so good that I began substituting a glass of it for my lunch. Have lost four pounds painlessly. I am telling all my friends and hope you will tell all your readers . . . (Mrs. W. H. M.)"

In my repeated animadversions on the excessive consumption of pop, cheat-food, flavored, colored, carbonated sugar-water by growing children, I try to teach that it is wrong to cheat children out of the slim chance they have to enjoy good nutrition in these days of ultra-refined food.

Most youngsters who become finicky about drinking milk turn against it as a consequence of wheedling. Their elders make the mistake of coaxing them or commanding them or begging them to take their milk, or perhaps doctoring the milk with this and that flavor.

Any one, child or adult, who doesn't consume at least 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, etc., daily or the equivalent in cheese, meat, eggs, peas, beans, greens and nuts or peanuts, is practically certain to suffer from nutritional deficiency "disease" of one kind or another.

Orange juice, lemonade, fruit juice drinks and tomato or other vegetable juices have been the health beverages recommended in place of pop. Of course such beverages cannot build or maintain VIM as does milk. They haven't what it takes.

In the basic health diet of my booklet The 7 Keys to Vite, luncheon totes up 684 calories, 320 of which are derived from two glasses (a pint) of milk. Mrs. M's "milk shake" luncheon yields about 50 calories.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

'Compliment Club' Does Wonders

Myrna is a doctor's wife who disliked her snooty neighbor. Notice how quickly she applied Christ's advice about "loving your neighbor". These daily cases are actual patients of mine, not imaginary folks. And if you disbelieve the miracles I describe, follow the prescriptions given in this column and see for yourselves. I'll let you be the jury.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-393: Myrna M., aged 29, is an attractive wife of a doctor.

DR. CRANE

"My neighbor is a woman who seldom speaks and takes a superior attitude," she informed me recently when I addressed a medical convention.

"But, Dr. Crane, I had written for your Compliment Club booklet and had been paying compliments for 18 days. I still had 12 more to go to obtain my diploma.

"One afternoon I was walking past my neighbor's lawn and saw her working at a flower bed.

"Lacking my third compliment for the day, and remembering that you said we could compliment an enemy with all sincerity, I gritted my teeth and told her I had long admired her beautiful flowers.

"I even added that she was a great asset to our neighborhood because of her lovely garden.

"Well, Dr. Crane, that was true, although I didn't relish offering her this compliment for I didn't like her.

"She thanked me rather curtly, so I thought. But next day she brought over a dozen beautiful roses.

"Well, I felt conscience stricken and expressed my appreciation as best I could.

"And since then I have praised her many times and most sincerely. For I find she lost her husband and only son in an auto wreck ten years ago.

"The shock almost killed her. She withdrew from her clubs and devoted herself almost entirely to her garden and flowers.

"But what I didn't know was that she had been sending a large bouquet of roses twice per week for the past ten years to our hospital for crippled children.

"So she may have been doing far more good than the rest of us women in the neighborhood who had been criticizing her behind her back.

"Within a few weeks, she began to smile again and would even greet me before I could speak to her.

"Later, we had her over for dinner and have helped get her active in church once more.

"She is blossoming out like one of her lovely rosebuds. And I have altered my entire outlook, not only regarding her but people in general.

"When I finished the 30 days of the Compliment Club, you sent me a signed diploma, Dr. Crane, but I have kept up the habit ever since.

"And the more I think about it, the more I realize that sincere daily compliments are the most effective way to put the Golden Rule into action."

PSYCHOLOGY IS FUN

Some of you readers seem to think that these simplified experiments described herein are just for children or teenagers.

Don't kid yourself. They will produce miracles in your adult lives and transform middle aged or even elderly people, too, if you but try them.

Don't just nod your head in approval but then do nothing about it thereafter. Instead, get into action!

For I am giving you the cream of many lengthy psychiatric interviews when I urge you to join the Compliment Club or become prize contest addicts, or show you simple devices for making an interesting speech.

Even if you never finished high school, you can use the data in this column and often run circles around Ph.D college professors because of your skill at handling audiences or winning friends.

For this column stresses my specialty as a college teacher, which has been Applied Psychology. Don't procrastinate any longer. Get into gear!

Life is fun and zestful and you'll actually be healthier if you take the POSITIVE outlook and become a daily experimental psychologist.

'This Anecdote Illustrates Governor's Political Deceit'

Once upon a time there was a father who placed his small daughter on a high wall and commanded her to jump into his arms. When she did, he moved to one side and she fell hard on the ground. Through her tears she asked why he had moved after he said he'd catch her. Her father said he wanted to teach her she couldn't trust anyone, not even her father.

Once upon a time there was a Governor of a great State and when re-election time drew near, he traveled around telling citizens he'd been a great chief and had done a wonderful job for the people and that rumors they'd heard about how bad off the State was and how business was leaving the State were all lies.

He said the State was in good shape and if elected again, he'd keep it that way. The people smiled their appreciation and re-elected him. A few days later the truth came out. The State was broke, money couldn't even be sent to schools. Taxes have to be raised. Everyone would pay a State Income Tax. When the people turned with tears in their eyes and asked why the Governor didn't tell them the truth, he looked at them and said, "Politics, friends, just politics."

As the little girl must have felt it was a cruel world if she couldn't trust her own father, so citizens of that great State must have said, "We never realized the word 'Politics' meant deceitfulness and lies. What blind fools we were!"

2 Come to Defense of Pontiac Police

For two years I've followed our police department. I've talked with officers on both sides and I must come to the defense of Chief Straley. Being a resident of Pontiac more than 34 years, I can say there is less vice in the southern section of the city than 20 years ago.

Two years ago I contacted Chief Straley about the prostitutes and I can truthfully say he took action and there was a great change. A majority of these women are from other cities. We have white as well as Negro prostitutes in this section.

A statement says, "The men in charge of the vice detail were given this assignment as punishment and not because of merit." I don't believe this is true because one of those men that headed the detail several years ago was very efficient and did a wonderful job. The man to succeed him was also very efficient and did a very good job.

It is rumored you can buy narcotics in this city. I discussed this with an officer in charge of the vice detail and was told that Chief Straley had made arrangements for an agent to come to this city to live, work with and learn who these handlers and users were, only to have all plans ruined by being told the necessary funds to hire this man weren't available.

If there is a "floating card game" we can be thankful because 15 years ago there was one each night. If one would look hard enough he would find floating card games in all sections. The numbers racket is about 30 years old and is played less and less and it can be found in all parts of the city. I believe it flourishes in the entire city.

Much vice is caused by persons that live outside the southern section of the city. They are the customers. Arrest the buyers, too. Then you won't have any salespeople.

As far as I know, all our department heads and city officials are honest people. I notice the attack has turned from Chief Straley to our municipal judges. I wonder who will be next.

Citizen

Just a few words on the condition of our police department, the way the chief is being treated.

One would have thought the safety director would have waited to find out what's really happening, but instead he has lined up with the group against the chief and is doing everything possible to make the chief look bad. We who think know the condition of the department before the chief came. Much more would have been done if he had had the cooperation of the men. There were too many chiefs and not enough Indians.

Mr. Eastman is overlooking the men who are giving service. It would be wise if you would watch these guys you're drinking coffee with, and you might get warm.

'Oh, Well, Taxpayer Just Keeps Paying'

I saw a movie of a new school the other day and it had two escalators. The little children must have gotten so weak they can't walk up stairs, but it will not matter any as the taxpayers can cough up the money and give them and the teachers one more long free ride.

'Let's Have a Tax for County, Too'

Well, so we're going to have an income tax in Michigan. O K. Now let's have one in Oakland County and then in Pontiac and finally one on the east side. I might as well crumble away in pieces as the way I am.

Horrible Fire Unlikely in Pontiac's Schools

All are multiple-story buildings.

Metz and other fire department officials were out today checking the schools in the aftermath of the Chicago disaster.

The teams found stairwell doors open at two schools.

"It's this type of thing which causes trouble," Metz said.

"Fires break out on lower stories and mushroom up by means of the stairwells. Then flames spread down the corridors, and kids are killed."

"This problem is a matter of policing action by the school principals, teachers and maintenance men," Metz said. "Stairwell doors must be kept closed."

He did not name the schools where the violations occurred.

All city schools are checked at least twice a year—in fall and spring. "But after what happened in the past few days, we're making sure there are no serious hazards," Metz said.

"It's true that our schools seem to be okay, but that's what they said about the one in Chicago."

Two wooden staircases in the Wilson School constitute fire hazards and one staircase in McConnell, according to Metz.

Five years ago wooden staircases were prevalent, but they have been largely eliminated. All the stairways in Pontiac Central were wooden, but have been replaced by metal and concrete ones, Metz said.

This morning an oil burner was found next to an exit in a temporary building of McConnell School.

If fire broke out there, the exit of the classroom—used by kindergarten students—would be blocked off, according to the fire marshal.

The hazard will be quickly reported to the school system, Metz said.

Fire drills are held periodically in all schools, he said. Without warning, fire department officials go into the schools, pull the alarm, and time the evacuation of the students.

"If it takes two minutes or over, we're not satisfied," he said.

The fire marshal said that fire escapes are frowned upon as dangerous. He called enclosed staircases of steel and concrete the best protection against fire.

Fire escapes are located at Whitfield and LeBaron schools, and at Pontiac Central. They are not used in fire drills.

Dr. Dana E. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, said the Pontiac School District has gone "to considerable lengths" to make the city's older school buildings safe.

Fire doors of metal and glass have been installed in all schools, said Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent in charge of business.

At Pontiac Central, the fire alarm system was completely rewired last year.

There are at least two stairwells in each school, he said, so that if one is blocked the students can quickly leave the building by using the other.

All new schools are single-story structures. In case of fire, students can flee the buildings by simply climbing out their classroom window, he said.

U.S. Will Begin Launching Series of Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will begin firing a series of big satellites from the new Vanderberg Base in California in the next few weeks. Some of them will carry mice and monkeys.

The Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency announced today that the "project Discoverer" program will try to put up a 1,300-pound device in its first launching attempt "late this year or early next year."

At least a dozen satellite launchings will be attempted, as fast as one a month, Roy Johnson, ARPA director, told newsmen.

Johnson also said that an attempt will be made next year to recover a capsule from a satellite, bringing it back through the atmosphere.

Johnson said mice will be used and "we may, in one, use a primate."

He said that the program, for the present, does not include sending up a man.

More Food Than Loot

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Burglars who broke into the Mission Day Golf Course restaurant early yesterday gorged themselves on 12 cherry pies, a gallon of chocolate ice cream, a half gallon of orange juice, two quarts of milk, a pot of coffee, several sandwiches and two boxes of candy. Incidentally, they stole $6.41.

Only 10 per cent of China is suitable for farming.

2 Auto Victims Out of Danger

Two Others Reported Critical Today After Local Smashups

The two remaining victims hospitalized after suffering injuries in the Pontiac area's worst auto accident this year appeared out of danger today, while two other persons injured in crashes last weekend were not doing as well.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital reported this morning that Mrs. Rose Gewirtz, 62, of Chesaning, and Edward Frazer, 49, of Owosso were off the critical list and "progressing satisfactorally."

The two were critically injured in a Telegraph road smashup Nov. 22 which killed four persons, one of them Frazer's wife.

Robert Peoples, 43, of Detroit, who was admitted to the hospital Sunday morning in "poor" condition, is now listed in critical condition.

Peoples, a passenger in an auto driven by Al Matthews, 49, also of Detroit, suffered head and internal injuries in a two-car collision at West Maple and Middlebelt roads, West Bloomfield Township.

Karen Mach, 8, of 5570 John R. Rd., Troy, remained on the critical list. She was hospitalized Sunday after being injured in a Troy accident which took the life of her mother, Mrs. Marion R. Mach, 30; sister Claudia, 3, and brother Eric, 7.

Where Does Money Go?

NORTH HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (UPI) — The town board began eviction proceedings today against landlord John A. Jarrett, who allegedly owes $807.46 for school, town and county taxes. The board said Jarrett shares a one-family house with 20 tenants, from whom he receives $510 a month in rent.

Pigs, Chickens Killed in Fire

Blaze in Coop of Farm Near Armada Destroys 75 Fowl, 55 Hogs

ARMADA — Five brood sows, their litters of about 10 pigs each and 75 chickens were destroyed by fire last night when flames enveloped the chicken coop on the Michael J. Bamback farm, a mile south of here.

A passing motorist saw smoke billowing from the coop and alerted the Bamback family shortly before 11 p.m.

The firefighters succeeded in saving the large barn beside the coop and the house located at 70555 North Ave.

"The tin roof on the barn and the cement block wall between it and the chicken coop were all that saved us from losing all our pigs," Bamback said.

He, his son Jerry, 16, and neighbors pulled all the barriers down in the main barn allowing between 150 and 200 pigs escape to safety in nearby fields at the height of the blaze.

Cause of the blaze and the amount of damage has not yet been determined, Romeo State Police said today.

Death rate in the U. S. in 1954 was among the lowest on record, estimated at only 9.2 per 1,000 persons.

Rochester Sponsors Plan Bright Christmas Parade

ROCHESTER — The eighth annual Christmas parade to be staged Saturday afternoon on Rochester's Main street will be "second only to the J. L. Hudson Company parade" in Detroit, its sponsors said today.

The Rochester Rotary and Lions Clubs have joined forces to plan the annual event with Rotarian Thor Ulseth and Lion Roy Rewald, acting as cochairmen.

They said 40 entries have already been registered with more expected before the parade starts at 2 p.m. in front of North Hill Plaza.

Participants will include bands from Rochester, Avondale and Troy high schools and floats entered by area service clubs, Leader Dogs for the Blind, the Rochester Chamber of Commerce and a number of local merchants.

A Nike missile from the installation in Auburn Heights is expected to draw "ohs" and "ahs" from youngsters and oldsters alike, Ulseth said.

Climax of the parade will be when Santa Claus appears in a decorated cart drawn by John F. Ivory ponies.

The parade will proceed down Rochester road from North Hill Plaza to Third street, then up Walnut to the American Legion Hall where it will disband.

Coffee and hot chocolate will be served to all participants in the hall after the parade.

Council to Eliminate All but 4 or 5

Twenty Seeking Milford Manager Post

MILFORD — The village council has received 20 applications for village manager, according to president Joseph M. Gerrard.

An appraisal sheet has been given to each councilman and the 20 applications will be reviewed individually, then officials will tabulate their opinions, he added.

The group will present their appraisal sheets at next week's council meeting, Monday night, and all but four or five names will be eliminated, Gerrard said.

Milford registered voters approved a home-rule type of government at the August election in order to hire a full-time manager whose annual salary has been set at $6,500.

Council members felt that the town's rapid population growth necessitated a full time manager. They feel he could operate the government more economically and efficiently than a council that meets once a week.

Gerrard added that in all probability, the council would meet bimonthly after a manager has been hired.

Lathrup Votes on Franchise for Gas Today

LATHRUP — Residents will go to the polls here today to vote on a utility franchise with the Consumers Power Co.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. tonight. The Consumers Power Co. will pay for today's special election.

The amount of damage had not yet been determined.

Chorus to Present Annual Concert at Romeo Church

ROMEO — The 35-voice Community Chorus will present its annual Christmas concert 8 p.m. Sunday at First Methodist Church here.

The choral program will feature Bach's "For Unto Us A Child Is Born" and two groups of traditional Christmas carols and folk tunes.

This is the first year since it was organized 10 years ago that the chorus will depart from its customary practice of presenting Handel's "Messiah" during the holiday season.

Portable Reactor Put to Use Immediately

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—A new type portable atomic reactor was dedicated at the National Reactor Testing Station Tuesday. Officials promptly put it to practical use, substituting atomic power for the commercial electricity that had lighted the building housing the new reactor.

Known as the Argonne Low Power Reactor, the new atomic plant is the first working model of a prototype designed for easy shipment by air to remote areas. Its dedication marked the 16th anniversary of the world's first controlled nuclear chain reaction, which occurred Dec. 2, 1942, at the University of Chicago Stadium.

Contrary to their name, dry cells need moisture to produce current.

'I'm Too Short!' Is Comment of Rose Queen

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A green-eyed blonde with a winning smile and a yen to become a social worker today was named queen of the 70th annual Tournament of Roses.

"But I'm too short to be queen," said 19-year-old Pamela Elaine Prather when she learned she had won.

She told newsmen she was sure when she entered the contest for queen of the New Year's Day Rose Parade and the Rose Bowl football classic that her 5 feet 2½ inches was much too short.

Pamela, born in Pasadena, lives in nearby San Marino with her parents. Her father, William, is senior attorney for the California Real Estate Commission. She has a 24-year-old brother, William Jr., in the Air Force at Webb AFB, Tex.

Pamela was chosen yesterday from seven finalists among 1,900 coeds who sought to be queen. She attends Pasadena City College and plans to complete her education at San Jose State College.

She likes sailing, swimming, cooking and puttering around the yard. Social work with children is her academic aim, but marriage is her ultimate goal. She has no steady beau now.

Ends 1st Phase of Sinking Probe

Coast Guard Board Hears Final Testimony on Ill-Fated Bradley

ROGERS CITY (AP) — The Coast Guard has finished the first phase of its investigation into the sinking of the freighter Carl D. Bradley which sank in a Lake Michigan storm Nov. 18 with a loss of 33 lives.

A board of inquiry adjourned indefinitely after taking testimony here yesterday. A spokesman said future testimony may be taken from ship architects and other experts.

One of the participants yesterday, over protests of the Bradley Transportation Co., owners of the ill-fated ship, was a Detroit attorney representing estates of four dead seamen.

The attorney, Victor G. Hanson, was permitted to take part by Rear Adm. Joseph A. Kerrins, in charge of the inquiry. However Kerrins said he would consult with the Coast Guard in Washington before deciding whether to let Hanson become a party at interest with the right to cross-examine and call witnesses.

Among the several witnesses here was Earl Fleming, one of the two survivors and first mate of the Bradley.

Fleming told of damage to the Bradley in two incidents months before the sinking. One, the ship's stern brushed bottom. The other time plates were damaged.

The stern brushed bottom on an early voyage and took some water, but the damage was repaired, Fleming said. He said the point where the freighter broke in two at her sinking was 250 feet forward from that particular part of the stern.

Fleming said plates were damaged in a collision in the St. Clair River in May, 1957, and were replaced in drydock.

Other witnesses were Michael Idalski, second assistant engineer of the Bradley Co. and Sylvester Sobeck, a chief engineer who had sailed on the Bradley.

The freighter's cargo holds were in good condition although showing signs of wear, Idalski said. He said that last winter he supervised the locating and replacing of defective rivets in the cargo holds.

Give Arab Pilgrims Stricter Screening

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli official today said Arab Christians applying to make the Christmas pilgrimage to Bethlehem are getting a stricter screening this year.

The official said this is because in past years "certain Arabs" living in Israel had made the pilgrimage to contact intelligence agents of the United Arab Republic. Bethlehem and the other Christian shrines are in the Jordan-administered part of Palestine.

The official would not say how many applications had been refused this year. But he said about 3,500 Christians, most of them Arabs, would be allowed to cross into Old Jerusalem.

The applications now are being screened by the Jordan authorities. In past year they have usually refused about 10 per cent as undesirable.

Michigan State to Confer Degrees on 674 Students

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan State President Dr. John A. Hannah will confer degrees on an estimated 674 students at the school's fall term commencement exercises the night of Dec. 9.

The group includes 47 candidates for doctoral degrees and 162 for master's degrees.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan College, will deliver the commencement address at the university auditorium.

Curley's Will Filed, Money Almost Gone

BOSTON (UPI)—The will of the late Gov. James Michael Curley was filed yesterday but his family said there was no money to fulfill most of the bequests.

The will listed $50,000 in bequests, $10,000 to charity and $40,000 of a personal nature.

"Because of the heavy financial drain caused by medical bills over the past year, none of the charitable bequests contained therein can be fulfilled and virtually none of the $40,000 in personal bequests will be made," a family statement issued by Atty. Richard H. Nolan said.

Curley, who had also been mayor of Boston and a Congressman, died Nov. 12 at Boston City Hospital shortly after an operation.

A Third of Steel Lost

CLEVELAND — About 35 per cent of all iron and steel, according to one estimate, is irretrievably lost through rusting or burial, or is abanadoned as worthless. The other 65 per cent returns to the steel mills for remelting and reuse—20 to 25 per cent in a short time, the rest in 30 years or more.

Ohio School Fire in 1908 Worst

175 Children, Teachers Died, Leading to Start of Regular Drills

By United Press International

The worst school fire recorded in the United States killed 175 children and teachers in the Lakeview School at Collingwood, Ohio, March 4, 1908, a tragedy which is credited with bringing about the regular institution of fire drills in schools.

Children were among the major casualties in two other of the nation's most disastrous fires —the blaze which sank the church picnic steamer General Slocum in New York's East River, June 15, 1904, with a loss of 1,030 lives; and the Ringling Circus tent blaze that killed 168 at Hartford, Conn., July 6, 1944.

Seventy-seven children and teachers died in another school fire at Beaulah, S.C., May 17, 1923.

The nation's greatest recorded fire tragedy took 1,152 lives in and around Peshtigo, Wis., on Oct. 8, 1871, the same day on which the "Great Chicago Fire" killed an estimated 250 persons.

Other disastrous fires of this century included:

—207 dead, Rhythm Club Dance Hall, Natchez, Miss., April 23, 1940.

—125 dead, Cleveland Clinic Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, May 15, 1929.

JEREMY CHRISTMAS — A Yuletide Story — BY WALT SCOTT

Actually, He Makes Poor Domestic Servant

U.S. Male Losing Grip?

EAST LANSING (AP)—Is the American male losing his dominance in the home and destined to become the 20th Century answer to the maid shortage?

Mrs. Myrtle Reul, assistant professor of social work at Michigan State University, indicated such a trend is under way in a broadcast over the school's radio station.

But the idea seemed far-fetched to Robin Drews of the Social Science Department.

"Frightening as the prospect of male slavery is," Drews said, "anyone knowing the American husband would use great caution in employing him permanently as a domestic servant.

"After all, he is irascible around the house, unable to accomplish the delicate operations with his big, flabby hands that women perform so easily. Besides, he is so frail psychologically and physically that he tends to become incapacitated before he can be adequately trained."

Mrs. Ruel said the American male has become ridden with anxieties and easily dominated.

"Men," she added, "are trained to believe that it is unmanly to be vocal about their feelings so they bury them and sometimes bury themselves as a result."

Drews agreed that scientific surveys have made the old idea of feminine inferiority unacceptable.

"But," he said, "there is no evidence that women are superseding men at a rapid pace in our society."

"Of course," he added, "they do continue to monopolize some areas—especially that of having babies."

Ike Names Detroiter to Security Group

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Joseph M. Dodge, Detroit Banker and former Federal Budget Director, was named yesterday by President Eisenhower as an additional member of the special committee established recently to revalue the relative merits of military assistance and economic foreign aid.

Dodge, chairman of the board of the Detroit Bank, was named as the ninth member of a committee serving under chairman William H. Draper Jr., who conferred here Nov. 24 with the President.

The committee will begin submitting recommendations to the chief executive early next year, preparatory to his new mutual security program for Congress.

Dodge, a 68-year-old Republican, was Eisenhower's first budget director, serving in 1953 and 1954. He then became special assistant to the President and chairman of the Council of Foreign Economic Policy, serving until 1956 when he returned to private business.

Cyprus, Atom, Hungary Issues Left

U. N. Strives to End Session in 10 Days

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Assembly today dragged into the home stretch of one of the least eventful sessions in its 13-year history. There appeared little to stop the world body from winding up on schedule Dec. 12.

The 81-nation main Political Committee pressed to conclude debate on the Cyprus issue by midweek. That would leave the Assembly with only three main items to discuss — atomic radiation, Algeria and Hungary.

The Cyprus question appeared headed for a deadlock. The committee neared a vote on half a dozen rival resolutions. None appeared to have enough support to get the two-thirds majority needed for Assembly approval.

A compromise resolution entered Monday night by India and eight other nations called on Britain to continue negotiations to promote self-government for its crown colony. The British said the proposal was not acceptable, virtually dooming prospects for passage.

The radiation issue was expected to be disposed of quickly. Twelve nations represented on the U.N. Scientific Comittee on Atomic Radiation have put in a resolution proposing that the agency continue its work. It was expected to be approved without serious opposition.

The Algerian discussion promised to be a heated but one-sided affair.

The French have served notice they will not take part in the debate on grounds the future of the North African territory is a French internal matter. Most of the 28 Asian-African nations and the Soviet bloc are expected to speak fully on the colonial issue, however.

Informed sources said India was working on a resolution whereby the Assembly would call for negotiations to settle Algeria's future but it had a doubtful future.

The Hungarian question, which is expected to generate considerable East-West heat, goes directly to the General Assembly.

The West is expected to concentrate its fire on the executions of former Premier Imre Nagy, Gen. Pal Maleter and others who led the abortive 1956 rebellion.

The Assembly's special committee on Hungary has issued a communique deploring the executions and later put out a special report outlining other sentences against Hungarian freedom fighters.

Average temperatures in Canada are rising at a rate of about three degrees within 70-year cycles.

Breech Reports on Industrial Rise

Europe's Economy Amazingly Strong

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Europe's economy has shown tremendous new strength and growth, Ernest R. Breech, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said Monday.

In an address at the annual Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce dinner, Breech said that he had just returned from a six weeks' tour of Europe, adding:

"More countries are enjoying greater national solvency than in decades. There is substantially higher employment everywhere. Living standards are climbing sharply, a great single mass market is developing and European industry is furiously mobilizing to meet it."

Breech said that since 1950 Europe's economy, particularly its industry, has been overtaking us at an accelerating pace.

"In the period 1950 through 1957, for example," Breech pointed out, "Europe's gross national product increased 88 per cent compared to our 49 per cent."

Breech said he was most impressed by what he called the really striking improvement throughout Europe in the design, manufacturing and merchandising of automobiles and consumer durable goods. He added:

"You find single automobile plants producing as many as 2,500 engines and 2,000 or more bodies daily—levels of production that compare favorably with operations here in the United States.

"Moreover these countries are fast adopting modern managerial organization and practices. They spending it freely on vstly impspending it freely on vstly improved plants and equipment."

Breech declared that European countries are innovating at a tremendous pace and important new developments and processes appear every day in mining and steel production and manufacturing. He added:

"As a result of these developments according to our own projection from the period 1957-1965, western Europe's gross national product will increase from 226 billion dollars to nearly 300 billion dollars.

"Steel will increase from 96 million to 130 million short tons—that exceeds our own 1957 production; coal from 544 million to 575 million tons; and electricity from 418 billion to 650 billion kilowatt hours — almost equaling our own domestic production.

"Production of cars and commercial vehicles will increase from about 4¼ million units this year to 5½ million or more in 1965. In 1958 alone Europe is producing about 3½ million passenger cars compared to our estimated 4,300,000."

Senator Talks to Khrushchev

8-Hour Chat Leaves Humphrey Aware of Differences in Policy

MOSCOW (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) said today an eight-hour interview with Premier Nikita Khrushchev left him convinced "the areas of disagreement between our respective foreign policies remain broad and deep."

"It does not appear that for a considerable time these differences will be resolved," the senator told newsmen.

Humphrey said Khrushchev gave him enthusiastic approval on his proposal for expansion of the international medical research program.

He decided not to comment publicly on other phases of Khrushchev's remarks "since I believe in always beginning with areas of agreement rather than discord."

He told correspondents he made this decision after consultation with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., about his long talk with Khrushchev. He wishes to present the details first to "the secretary of state or the President or whomever wants to talk with me in Washington," he said.

Humphrey said he visited Khrushchev's office Monday for what he expected to be a routine conversation.

But the long discussion covered many things from Berlin through the Middle East to Formosa and through the subjects of agriculture and foreign trade. The senator stayed on for dinner with Khrushchev and Dep. Premier A. I. Mikoyan.

Humphrey said Khrushchev endorsed a five-point proposal for Soviet-American cooperation on health that the senator had presented earlier to the Soviet Health Ministry and the Soviet Academy of Medicine.

That program:

1. Implementation and broadening of medical exchange;
2. An additional two-way flow of medical data;
3. A wide increase in personal contacts between medical scientists;
4. Speedy planning for an international public health and medical research year, probably in 1961, and
5. U.S.-Soviet collaboration on a campaign for intensified prenatal research.

Eleven Hurt as Bus Rams Power Pole

AURORA, Ore. (AP)—A Greyhound bus veered off a highway and ran into a power pole Tuesday night near this western Oregon town.

State police said 11 persons were injured. They were taken to Oregon City and Portland hospitals. None of them appeared seriously hurt, police said.

Police said the bus failed to negotiate a turn on Highway 99E, hit the pole and then came to rest against an embankment.

The bus was en route north to Portland.

Mackinac Ferry Sold as Giant Potato Bin

LANSING (UPI) — One of the Mackinac Straits ferries was sold yesterday as a storage bin for potatoes.

The State Administrative Board approved sale of The City of Cheboygan to the Edward H. Anderson Co., Chicago, for $25,000.

Deputy Highway Commissioner Sidney H. Woolner, who recommended acceptance of the bid, said it was not immediately known where the ship would be docked. He said the bid was about two and a half times higher than the top bid on the ferries last May.

"We have several proposals for disposition of the other ferries but none is concrete enough to talk about at this stage," Woolner said.

Prince Pignatelli Hurt by Motorcycle in Italy

ROME (UPI) — Prince Antonio Argagona Pignatelli, 66, husband of Texas-born Beatrice Molyneaux, was run over by a motorcycle Monday and seriously injured.

Pignatelli is head of one of the most prominent noble families of Italy. He was rushed to Polyclinic Hospital where doctors said his condition was serious.

15 Prisoners Escape in Football Smoke

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The hunt was on today for 15 Irish political prisoners who escaped through a smoke screen set during a prison football game.

Authorities suspected the missing men were being sheltered by persons sympathetic to the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which wages a guerrilla campaign to unite British Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic.

The break was made Tuesday 25 miles south of Dublin at Curragh prison camp, where IRA men captured by the Irish government are held.

Sixteen of the prisoners broke through the barbed wire fence around the camp and were swallowed up in a mist hanging over the flat Curragh plain. One was recaptured later and two other men were wounded by tear gas grenades.

Arsenic in Cigarettes May Be Causing Lung Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of scientists said today that an increase in deaths resulting from lung cancer may be traceable in part to the increased content of arsenic in cigarettes.

They said cigarettes have been found to contain arsenic well in excess of the amount permitted in food.

The findings of the scientists—a research group of the medical research and radioisotope units of the Veterans Administration Hospital and the Department of Surgery, Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas—were reported in the current issue of Cancer, a journal of the American Cancer Society. The study was supported by the National Cancer Institute.

The Texas scientists said that in the last 25 years the arsenic content of American cigarette tobaccos has increased between 200 and 600 per cent.

"The coincident increase in lung cancer deaths during this period suggests a casual relationship," they said. "However, this analogy remains to be proved by further laboratory and clinical research."

The scientists said that in a study of five regular-sized, unfiltered leading-brand cigarettes they found the arsenic concentration ranging from 42.5 to 52 parts per million. They noted that three parts of arsenic trioxide per million is the maximum permitted in food products. Since cigarettes are not regarded as a food or drug, they are not regulated in this respect, the scientists said.

Most of the arsenic found in cigarettes is believed to come from insecticides used to spray tobacco plants, they said.

Of the 45 micrograms of arsenic found in the average cigarette, the scientists said, roughly one-third remains in the butt, the second third is in the ashes and the remaining third goes into the smoke.

Filters have proven less than 30 per cent effective as a protection against arsenic, they said.

The scientists said that some experts believed that the amount of arsenic in cigarettes was too small to cause lung cancer, while others felt that it might be a contributing factor.

As for themselves, the Texas scientists said they believed the inhalation of arsenic in minute doses might lead to changes which ultimately could result in cancer.

As Rightists Sweep Elections

Sees Fear for Future of Democracy in France

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Fears for the future of the democracy in France are now being more widely expressed than ever because of the number of rightists elected to parliament after bundling themselves in Charles de Gaulle's coattails.

The leader himself, whose election to the presidency is expected to be little more than a formality, is depicted as embarrassed.

His gerrymandering of election districts and voting regulations designed to wipe out the Communists not only accomplished his purpose, but also wiped out many moderates and socialists who are among the natural leaders of France.

Jacques Soustelle, propelled into the leading role in parliament through his leadership of a wide variety of rightist elements who voluntarily grouped themselves around him and tried to assume the aura of De Gaulle, was known during the Fourth Republic as a wrecker of parliaments.

While Soustelle himself is not rabid, and while no one is expected to offer a frontal challenge to De Gaulle, many of those who wrapped themselves in the Soustelle-De Gaulle banner are extremists.

In particular, many of them stand for imposition of complete integration on Algeria as against De Gaulle's own desire to devise a workable association with the Arabs.

Thus the majority bloc is itself divided, a situation which has become a commonplace in French politics. The question is how much this will affect the stability toward which De Gaulle is directing his efforts. The rightist bloc can hardly be called a party, and any program it may have is yet to develop.

Some are expressing the fear that it will be capable of interfering with civil liberties — especially strikes — and with freedom of the press in the name of stability, if a sufficient crisis arises.

De Gaulle, of course, will have the power no other president has had to rule parliament under the threat of dissolution. If he did not already have it under the new constitution, his popularity would give it to him.

But there is wonderment as to how many of the new rightist deputies, having proclaimed their fealty to De Gaulle in order to be elected, will not live up to it.

There also is wonderment as to the undercover pressures which may be built up by the fact that one-fifth of the nation's voters — some Communists and the rest protest voters who chose the Communist ticket as their means of expression — will have only one fifty-fourth of the seats in parliament.

Dormitory Has Fire

HOLLAND (AP) — Durfee Hall, a women's dormitory at Hope College, was evacuated Tuesday while firemen put out a blaze which caused $500 damage to a third-floor room. School officials said the fire started in an electric hotplate. Firemen were alerted by passing students who noticed smoke coming from the room whose two occupants were away.

New Contract Gives Coal Miners a Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new soft coal industry labor contract will give 180,000 miners a two-stage $2 per day pay boost next year.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, reached agreement on the pact Tuesday with the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., the industry's largest labor bargaining group. It may be signed formally today.

Details were withheld pending the signing but it was learned the agreement provides for a $1.20 per day boost for miners Jan. 1 and another 80-cent increase next April 1. The miners' basic wage has been $22.25 daily. A boost from $180 to $200 in annual vacation pay was also provided.

The big news of the industry agreement was that separate pacts will be signed by owners of commercial mines and captive mines. The captives are mines operated for fuel for steel mills and utility plants.

Parts Shortage Grounds Navy

Average 8 Per Cent of Military's Aircraft Idled by Repair Inability

WASHINGTON (AP)—An average of 8 per cent of the Navy's airplanes were grounded for lack of spare parts last September.

The General Aecounting Office, reporting this today, noted at the same time that hundreds of million dollars worth of parts were being declared surplus for disposal purposes.

The GAO reported to House Speaker Sam Rayburn on an examination it recently completed of the aviation segment of the Navy supply system.

It made a series of recommendations to improve the sistuation, and said the Navy has accepted most of them.

For some first-line aircraft, the GAO reported, the number of planes unable to fly because of a shortage of parts exceeded 8 per cent during the September examination period.

The Navy's supply system, the GAO said, has "serious deficiencies in several critical areas," fails to meet aircraft spare parts requirements of the fleet, and results in "the accumulation of substantial quantities of excess material."

During the fiscal years 1955 through 1958, the GAO said, material valued at approximately 823 million dollars was declared excess for disposal purposes.

And, it added, the Navy estimates that an additional 274 million dollars worth of aeronautical material will be declared excess in the near future.

Johansen Seeks Kidnap Probe

Says U.S. Laxity Helps Encourage Repetition of Red Captures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. August E. Johansen (R-Mich) said he will ask for a House investigation of the circumstances surrounding Communist kidnapings of U.S. citizens.

"It seems to me we have been awfully casual about the whole thing," Johansen said in an interview. "That attitude is just an invitation to a repetition of the crime."

Johansen introduced a resolution in the last session of Congress to direct the House Foreign Affairs Committee to investigate the situation, but it was not acted on.

This time, Johansen said, he is thinking of asking that a special committee, "sort of an anti-American affairs committee," he created to look into the matter.

"I think an accumulated public record of the experiences of American citizens who have been subjected to this treatment could be a very valuable one," Johansen said, adding:

"I also want to know what sort of indoctrination or briefing is being given by the military and the State Department to citizens who risk falling into Communist hands."

He said such a committee should compile a resume of "the many missing Americans supposed to be in the hands of the Reds now, but about whom we hear nothing."

Johansen noted that an Ann Arbor, Mich., salesman, George S. Milroy, recently was released by the East German regime after being arrested there on a trumped-up charge.

Michigan Pilot Lands Plane Safely in Pasture

CHILLICOTHE, Ill. (AP)—A Michigan pilot escaped serious injury yesterday when he set down his crippled four-seat Cessna in a pasture.

Donald Embroden, 35, of Reed City, Mich., told state troopers his oil pressure rose alarmingly, so he decided to land. The plane's wheels struck a patch of gravel, collapsing the landing gear. Embroden's knee was injured.

The pilot, an employe of the Wolverine Wood Corp., Big Rapids, Mich., was carrying merchandise to Galesburg, Ill.

Terrible Shock, Torn Memories All That's Left

That is all they had now, these weeping parents of 87 grade school fire victims.

As the city mourned and the condolences poured in and the bitter task of making burial plans began, newsmen shuffled into their homes and listened to the outpourings of their hearts.

"She wanted to be a nun," sobbed Mrs. Yolanda Kucan to one reporter.

She was speaking of her daughter, Margaret, 10, a fifth grade student who died in the fire at the Our Lady of the Angels Roman Catholic School.

"She was an adopted child, but I loved her as much as I could have possibly loved anyone."

The memory of what might have been:

Nancy DeSanto, 9, affectionately known as "Peanuts," broke open her piggy bank Sunday and found $15. For the first time in her short life she would buy Christmas presents on her own.

She never returned from school Monday.

Her father Jasper fondled a ukelele the girl was learning to play.

"Who's going to play her little guitar now?" he asked.

In his home, Salvator Cangelosi, 36, a shipping clerk, could speak only in a whisper. His son Peter, 9, "had been so looking forward to Christmas and Santa Claus and gifts."

Now there was only his 6-month-old daughter Marianne.

Tragedy even reached behind the walls of Stateville Penitentiary in Joliet.

There, Michael Moretti, convicted of killing two youths in 1951, heard the news that his daughter Mary Ellen, 12, was dead.

"I'll bear my own grief," a guard quoted him as saying. "A man learns to do that in prison."

In another house the Stanley Dsrzymala family recalled the last words of Patricia Ann, 12, to her mother as she raced off to school after lunch.

"I'll be a little late tonight, Mom," was what she said.

Stanley Dsrzmala, Patricia Ann's father, spoke out: "I can remember how she liked to dance, and laugh and how popular she was."

Two priests were visiting the family.

Detroit Lawyer Running for Wayne Board Job

LANSING (AP) — Detroit Attorney George M. Maurer Jr. has announced as a candidate for one of the six Democratic nominations to be chosen for Wayne State University board of governors at the party's state convention in February.

An entire new state board will be elected for Wayne in April, the first permanent governing body of the institution after three years' control by a temporary agency set up to guide its transition from a Detroit to a state institution.

Post Office Asks for Parcel Post Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department has formally asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve a 17.1 per cent increase in parcel post rates, designed to put fourth class mail service on a self-sustaining basis.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced the proposed advance in early October. He estimated the department was handling parcel post at a loss of 88 million dollars a year.

Postal officials said the proposals submitted today would bring in about $88.8 million more annually.

Postal laws require that parcel post service pay for itself, since it competes with privately operated express services.

Dynamite Case Trial Continues

State Hopes to Prove Defendant Present at Temple Blast

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The state says it intends to prove that George Allen Bright "not only participated in the planning but that he was there at the time" the Jewish temple was dynamited in Atlanta.

The statement by Tom Luck, assistant prosecutor, highlighted the second day of the trial of Bright, one of five defendants in the bombing case. The others will be tried later.

Luck told the Superior Court jury in his opening statement Tuesday the state expected to show that the 31-year-old Bright was a member of a group of people who had violent anti-Semitic feelings and formed an organization to create unrest.

The assistant prosecutor said he intended to show that Bright participated in a conspiracy which planned violent acts and that these acts culminated in the dynamiting of the temple Oct. 12.

Luck also said the state planned to prove that Bright possessed violently anti-Semitic literature and exhibited anti-Semitic feelings against Rabbi Jacob M. Rothschild, head of the temple.

Rothschild testified that he spoke on Judaism at a Baptist church May 28 at the invitation of the church. At the end of the meeting he invited questions from listeners.

He said Bright was in the audience and asked him to give the number of Jews in the world. He told Bright there were about 13 million. Bright contended there were several million more. Rothschild said he commented that Hitler had killed six million Jews in Europe and that Bright objected to that statement.

Bond Drive Opened by Drive-In Banks

It's being launched with the sale of a U.S. savings bond to Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) by Miss Marian Polk of Rock Hill, S.C. The campaign is backed by the U.S. Treasury.

Mechanical Heart-Lung Aids 9-Year-Old Girl

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Sandra Husted, a pretty 9-year-old Palo, Mich., girl who underwent delicate heart surgery in Grand Rapids last Tuesday was sitting up perkily today facing a bright new life.

Surgery involving the use of a mechanical heart-lung developed at Blodgett Memorial Hospital through the National John A. Hartford Foundation erased the threat of early failure for the little girl.

It is the only mechanical heart device in Michigan outside Detroit and Ann Arbor.

Ronald Yaw, director of the hospital, said Sandra was "coming along beautifully." Doctors expect her to go home in a week or two and estimate she will return to school in another month.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Husted. She was born with three separate chambers in the right side of her heart instead of the normal two. An extra muscle partition in the right ventricle obstructed the flow of blood through her heart.

It resulted in extreme blood pressure on the affected side and threatened enlargement of the heart and eventual heart failure.

When the heart was opened, surgeons also found that valve hinges on the right side were attached to the muscle partition. The hinges were moved and re-attached to the heart wall in their proper location.

A team of 15 specially trained persons took part in the operation. Sandra was in surgery four hours, including 24 minutes in which the mechanical device took over her normal heart functions.

The heart-lung machine requires from 10 to 20 pints of blood from donors of the proper blood type. A major portion of the donated blood is used, physicians explain, with some kept in reserve as a safety factor.

Steel Output Steady

DETROIT (AP) — Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said Tuesday the operating rate of Detroit area steel mills remains steady this week at 94 per cent capacity, the same as last week. Production last week was 140,000 tons as against 113,100 tons at 87 per cent capacity for the corresponding week last year.

Probe Payoff to Contractors

Union Boss Testifies He Did Not Take Any Money for Favors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee called more Chicago area contractors today for questioning about alleged payoffs for labor union favors.

Arthur H. Cronin, Midwest boss of the International Sheet Metal Workers Union, denied Tuesday that he had accepted any such payments. He is an international vice president of the union.

Cronin swore he was the victim of false testimony from employers who told the committee they had given him amounts ranging from $250 to $27,000 over a period of years up to 1956.

Cronin has denied that he was involved in any conniving with contractors to fix the amounts of bids for various Chicago area contracts to install heating, air conditioning and ventilating equipment.

The committee heard testimony that officials of the Coleman Co., Wichita, Kan., manufacturers of heating and other equipment, paid Cronin $27,000 as his price for labor peace for their firm. Of that amount, they said, Cronin returned $5,000.

Cronin denied receiving more than the $5,000 he returned, and Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) demanded that the Justice Department investigate the conflict between his testimony and that of Carl L. Burrows, Midwest division manager for Coleman. The committee itself has no authority to prosecute.

The heads of three small Chicago area sheet metal firms then testified about payments to a purported union fund for needy retired unionists. McClellan said these were payoffs to Cronin and his subordinates as the price of entering business and negotiating with Cronin's union.

Society of Believers Left Without a Male Member

HANCOCK, Mass. (AP) — The death of Ricardo Belden, 89, has left no male member of the local colony of the United Society of Believers, a celibate sect.

Residents of the area said only about seven women remain in the local group as a result of Belden's death Tuesday.

The sect, once numerous, originated in New York State and extended through New England. Now membership is down to a scattered and aging few.

Japan's imports jumped to $4,280,000,000 in 1957, a rise of 33 per cent over 1956. During the first half of the year they shot 56 per cent above the figure for the same period in 1956.

Pontiac Post Office Busy

Christmas Mail to Set Record

This year's Christmas mail will break Pontiac's 1957 record of 7,260,344 pieces of mail handled during the pre-holiday season, Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster, predicted today.

So far, there was an excellent response to his "mail early" appeal for Christmas parcels and greeting cards, he said. But he warned unless residents continue and step up their mailings, there will not be enough time for processing and delivering before Christmas.

Miller advised all mailers have their return address on all labels and envelopes. He also suggested the use of zone numbers.

"It's a good idea to include an extra addressed label inside your packages and place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the addressed portion of the label on the packages to prevent defacing in transit," he added.

Other suggestions by Miller are:

1. Check the parcel post size and weight limitations as they vary according to destination.

2. Use four cent stamps on all cards for prompt service. Three cents, the third-class rate, only allows a signature and no sealing.

3. Separate cards into two bundles, one for "all for local delivery" and the other, "all for out-town delivery." Labels with these notices can be obtained at the Post Office free of charge.

4. Mail out-of-town cards first.

5. Mail gift packages between Dec. 10 and Dec. 15.

6. Use corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of brown wrapping paper and strong cord.

7. Bring your mailing lists up to date first including changed addresses.

Beginning Dec. 12, service windows at both the main office at 735 W. Huron St. and the federal station on E. Huron will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, both offices will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Dec. 8 through 11 one window will be open until 7 p.m. at the main building.

Miller suggested residents mail packages and buy stamps before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. to avoid standing in line during the rush hours.

State Grants Approval

Workers' Insurance Rates Going Up Nearly 26 Pct.

LANSING (AP) — One hundred and fifty-five firms writing workmen's compensation insurance have been granted rate increases averaging nearly 26 per cent, state Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre states.

About 50 million dollars in gross premiums were paid annually under the old rate structure by 112,000 employers for coverage of about 2½ million workers.

Navarre said more than half the increase, effective yesterday, is attributed to recent Supreme Court decisions more liberally construing circumstances under which covered employes are entitled to benefits.

The big increase does not directly affect coverage of employes for Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and many other major employers in the state who as "self insurers" undertake to underwrite their own risks.

The higher rates are effective on new and renewal policies only. The customary term for this type of insurance is one year.

A. S. Cowlin, general manager of the Michigan Workmen's Compensation Rating Bureau, said a little less than one half of the increase is based on increased loss experience in the last year.

Cowlin's bureau represents all the companies writing workmen's compensation insurance in the state.

Cowlin said Workmen's Compensation Underwriters experienced a loss over 5½ million dollars in Michigan during the first half of 1958.

The increases have no immediate effect on outstanding policies.

Navarre and Cowlin said that aside from Supreme Court opinions these factors were mainly accountable for the poor loss experience of the companies involved in the first half of 1958:

Inflationary forces, chiefly affecting hospitalization and medical care costs; the business recession leading to reopening of old cases and a reduction of premiums actually paid by employers (these are based on the number of employes on the payroll); an increase in occupational diseases claims.

Hoot Gibson Rides Again in New Movie

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SHREVEPORT, La. — Hoot Gibson, once the most magnificent cowboy of them all, is riding again.

It's a slow, sometimes painful ride. They have to lift him onto the horse, because of a broken hip and crippled back and sundry smaller crimps to his great style, but he hides whatever he feels behind a wry sort of smile.

"Honey," he says, "this is what I was born to."

What Hoot earned, in his heyday, was not hay. He is said to have done away with more than $9,000,000 in generosities and bad investments.

Now, at the age of 65 or thereabouts, he looks like le petite Santa Claus in a dusty blue uniform as he sits in a Louisiana field waiting to be hoisted on a horse and called before the cameras for the film, "The Horse Soldiers."

"I've had a wonderful life and still have," he says, "although I'm broken up a little now. Did that in a plane, not on a horse. I crashed in the first International Air Race in 1933. They had to take the plane away in a barrel."

Earlier, much earlier, as a Nebraska schoolboy escaped from school he had run wild horses to California. This had led to his being elected the first "all around cowboy champion of the world" at Pendleton, Ore., in 1912.

Seven years later, he was the top paid movie hero in Hollywood sielnt films.

"I was making eight pictures a year, gettin' $150,000 a picture, and you know what the tax was—4 per cent.

"But I can't complain. My friends were all jumpin' out of windows. I still had a movie contract."

Hoot kept on in the movie business, his parts getting more and more minor, until 1945. But he doesn't call it acting.

"Naaah—I can't act. I just ride and follow orders."

When finally he retired, he says he told his wife, "Let's go find someplace out of this crazy town." So saying, they left Hollywood for a town of moot sanity called Las Vegas.

"We love it," he says. "My wife can play bingo and I play keeno. We don't like to gamble much."

They have a small home near Vegas, and Hoot claims to be completely happy away from the movie and TV business, which he laughingly told upon departing, "You people are all nuts and I don't want to have anything to do with it."

Last spring, however, famed film director John Ford came to the Golden Nugget, a gambling palace in Las Vegas. He asked to see "that old so and so, Hoot Gibson." Hoot just happened to be in another room.

"I used to room with Jack Ford," Hoot recalls, "back in the days before the war." That would be the first world war. "And he directed my first starring picture. I hadn't seen him for maybe 15 years.

"Anyway, he asked me if I could still ride.

"I said, are you kiddin'? I'm all smashed up."

Ford asked if Hoot could ride when lifted to a saddle . . .

"That's a deal," Hoot said.

So now he's back, Nebraska's wonder boy; he made millions and lost millions and now all he's interested in is a little keeno money for the day when he might possibly feel older.

Use of prescription-type drugs in the U. S. has increased to an estimated 70 million pounds today.

16 Americans Reported Held by Cuban Rebels

HAVANA (UPI) — Reports from eastern Cuba said today 16 Americans are in rebel hands and upwards of 60 others have been deprived of water and milk supplies by insurgent action.

None of the Americans was believed to be in serious danger.

The United Fruit Company reported that 14 Americans at its agricultural station in Guara fell into rebel hands 10 days ago when the village was captured by a rebel band which has since cut off water and milk supplies from the company's Preston sugar mill.

United Fruit officials said, however, that it is not yet thought necessary to evacuate 30 American families from the Preston Mill, which also is the home of about 6,000 Cubans.

At the same time, the rebel radio called on the U. S. Embassy and the Inter-American Press Assn. for help in getting an American reporter-photographer team back to civilization. One of the newsmen was identified as Pat Farley Zopane, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The insurgent broadcast said the two Americans cannot leave the rebel-held hills "because their arrest has been ordered." The report was denied by police in Cienfuegos, the city through which the Americans entered the hills.

"They can come down anytime they want, just the way they went up," a police spokesman said.

Earlier, the rebel radio had launched a bitter attack on the United States, accusing Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith of "meddling" in Cuban affairs.

"Enough is enough," a rebel announcer said. "We are tired of being branded as Communists by the American State Department . . . If any (U. S) Marines land on Cuban soil, they will be fought the same as (President Fulgencio) Batista's soldiers."

Batista had at least temporarily moved his headquarters from Cuba's "white house" to Camp Columbia, chief base of the Havana garrison, apparently as a result of Friday's abortive revolt.

Unofficial sources said 30 to 50 persons have been arrested as a result of the frustrated uprising, including two civilians suspected of serving as liaison between disgruntled officers and the rebels.

Iron Holds Key to Russian Plan

MOSCOW (AP)—Iron is a key—and a formidable problem—in the new Soviet master plan to outproduce the United States.

Where it once was available, iron ore now is in short supply.

While the shortage is speeding the Soviet Union's approach to the age of plastics, iron ore still occupies a dominant role in the seven-year-plan.

Laying down the terms of this plan for Soviet industrial expansion, Premier Nikita Khrushchev stressed to the Communist Party Central Committee that the iron industry—"especially its iron ore base" — ranked first among the tasks ahead.

The iron content in the ores of Krivoi Rog in the Ukraine and of the Urals, once the backbone of Soviet heavy industry, has been dwindling steadily. Articles in Soviet scientific journals have spoken of this as an iron brake on Soviet industrial expansion.

Mining Journal, a periodical for the industry, has pointed out that Soviet industry has been long suffering from an acute shortage of iron ore.

"The quality of (Krivoi Rog) ores poses an acute problem," the Journal said, "since the iron content of commercial ore has dropped from 60.3 per cent in 1933 to 55.3 per cent in 1956."

Discussing the same area, an Academy of Sciences journal called Questions of Economics reported early this year that in the first six months of 1957, the iron content of these ores was reduced by 0.70 to 0.75 per cent as compared with 1956.

The magazine added that as for the Urals ores, which never were of superior quality, the iron content dwindled even faster.

The government has conducted nationwide campaigns for scrap iron collection on a scale unparalleled since the war.

The iron ore shortage may be temporary, but a mighty effort will be required to cope with what Soviet economists describe as a bottleneck for further industrial expansion.

Soviet planners apparently feel they must take advantage of new deposits discovered in Siberia and Kazakhstan, suitable to fast open-pit mining, even though far from industrial centers of European Russia.

Under the seven-year-plan, new deposits will form the base for large industrial combines in an eastern Soviet industrial area. The plan earmarks 40 per cent of its total investment for development of these areas, where iron will play a leading role in the attempt to bring the plan to fruition.

Will Support Try to Ease Filibuster

Illinois Sen. Dirksen Favors Rules Change at Start of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) announced today he will support efforts to modify the Senate's filibuster rule.

The rule now requires the votes of 64 senators to shut off debate, and the number rises to 66 when Alaska's two senators are seated. Some senators are demanding a rules change to make it easier to end filibusters.

Dirksen, who is in line to become the Senate's new Republican leader, said in an interview that he has changed his mind since he voted in 1957 against opening the Senate's rules to changes.

He now has come to the conclusion, Dirksen said, that Vice President Nixon had "logic on his side" in holding informally then that new rules can be adopted by majority vote at the beginning of each Congress.

"A change in the rules is in the wind," Dirksen said. "The situation has been altered since 1957 because the Rules Committee subsequently has considered the matter and formal reports have been filed. I will support some modification of the present requirements."

His change of position lent added weight to a drive by Senate liberals to alter the filibuster provision.

Find Slain Girl at Cliff Bottom; Hunt Boy Friend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police are looking for the boy friend of a blonde, 19-year-old model whose body was apparently thrown off a steep mountain road.

The girl, Charlotte Trosper, was apparently stabbed before she was pushed off a precipice in the San Gabriel Mountains north of Los Angeles.

She had been reported missing when she failed to show up at her modeling job at a photo studio Tuesday morning. Her employer Emmett Hubbarth went to her apartment and notified police when he found she wasn't there.

Hubbarth told the officers Miss Trosper had been having "difficulties" with a boy friend. Investigators learned that the boy friend had been at the apartment Monday night.

The girl's body was fully clothed except for shoes and stockings. One shoe was found along the road 50 feet from the parking area.

She had been stabbed in the chest and there were cuts on her hand as if she had tried to ward off a knife blow, the police said.

DPW Shift Hits Possible Snag

High Court's Refusal to Clarify Sewage Case Hinders Plans

Refusal of the Michigan Supreme Court to clarify a 4 to 4 vote on the appeal of the Farmington sewage disposal system case might block Oakland County plans to consolidate the Drain Commission Office with the Department of Public Works.

This was the opinion of Harold K. Schone, department director, last night as he addressed 19 county legislators and officials at a dinner meeting in Berkley.

"These plans," said Schone, "have to be tempered until the Supreme Court looks favorably upon the constitutionality of the DPW act."

"If this is not done," he added, "the consolidation proposal we have made for you has gone for naught."

Schone and the Board of Public Works had asked the high court to clarify its split decision of October, by which, because of a rule of "affirmation by equal division," it upheld the late Judge George B. Hartrick's ruling that townships could tax over the 15-mill taxing limitation when matters of public health were involved.

Although this ruling from the Supreme Court supposedly gave the green light to the $4,900,000 proposed sewer system, county officials were leery about the legal strength of the split opinion.

In it, four justices sided with Judge Hartrick, while four others did not answer this particular question in the appeal.

"The reason for our re-hearing request was to have them answer this one question which will have such a great effect on the sale of bonds for other DPW projects," Schone said.

County officials today were awaiting a written decree from Lansing, while Claude H. Stevens, the county's bond attorney, was reanalyzing the 4-4 decision to see what effect it will have on these projects.

The consolidation proposal, already approved by the Board of Supervisors, tops the list of legislation which county lawmakers will strive for during the session opening in Lansing Jan. 14.

The Legislative Committee of the Board treated legislators to a steak dinner last evening during a get-acquainted affair and study of the county's 1959 legislative program.

Only legislators in attendance at the Northwood Inn were State Senator L. Harvey Lodge and representatives-elect Arthur J. Law (District 2-Pontiac), James Clarkson (District 4), and William Hayward (District 5). The county's representative in the U.S. House of Representatives, William S. Broomfield, attended the meeting, also.

Jefferson Selleck Play Appeals to Henry Fonda

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Hot or cold, sunshine or rain, Henry Fonda and his wife, the former countess Afdera Franchetti, will spend Christmas in New York. Hank has made up his mind that next on the list for him will be "Jefferson Selleck," which Joe Mankiewicz is bringing to the stage.

Hanks wants to do this play above everything else because it's about actual people his family knew in his hometown of Omaha, Neb. MGM owns the screen rights to the Carl Jonas novel, "Jefferson Selleck."

Hank is just finishing "Warlock" at 20th and I look to see MGM come after him when they bring "Jefferson" to the screen.

As for our girl, Dinah, this is the very first time a TV star has beaten out all screen actresses for the top spot. They tell me that both Tony and Dinah won by a mile. Glass Brick May Aid Disposal of A-Waste

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (AP) — Glass bricks coated with a protective glaze may provide the key to disposal of radioactive wastes.

So far this method has proved satisfactory at Canada's big atomic plant here. A better way must be found, however, for these tanks will not last indefinitely.

Cliburn No Rival to Presley, He Tells Children

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — "Our product is rather different," pianist Van Cliburn grinned and said after somebody suggested he is a rival of rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley.

Cliburn, 23, said he isn't very good at rock 'n' roll but has "invested many nickels in juke boxes to listen to it."

This confession came after he received a long and loud ovation from an audience of children for his performance of the long Rachmaninov Third Piano Concerto.

Cliburn said he inaugurated his concerts for children because he thought of himself as a boy.

"I wanted to play for my own contemporaries and convince them that my interpretation of classical music is good too," he said.

Cliburn played two concerts, was acclaimed by speaker after speaker and honored at "Van Cliburn Day in Texas."

The lanky pianist was toasted in his home town here the first time formally since he won the Tschaikovsky piano competition in Moscow last April and became perhaps the most famous young musician of two continents.

Freak Mishap Injures Avon Truck Driver

An Avon Township man, John Pellerito, 42, was treated at Pontica General Hospital and released yesterday after being injured when his pickup truck pinned him against a steel gate.

Pellerito, of 471 Maplehill Rd., told sheriff's deputies he had just driven his truck through an open gate at the Parke Davis Co. on Parkdale road in Avon Township.

He stopped and got out to close the gate, he said. Suddenly the truck rolled backward pinning him between it and the gate.

Reds Wanted Him Stoned

Dulles Escapes Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican authorities were reported today to have thwarted a Communist plot to stone Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at Mexico City this week.

Dulles was there Sunday, Monday and Tuesday as head of the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. He flew Tuesday night to Palm Springs, Calif., for a rest before addressing the California Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco Thursday. He returns to Washington Friday.

Advices reaching Washington said Mexican police were alerted last week to clandestine plans for an anti-Dulles campaign along these lines:

1. Stone-throwing by students of the University of Mexico, at the instigation of the Communist youth movement.

2. Wearing of black ties, a symbol of death, by demonstrators.

3. Whistling, a traditional Latin-American insult.

4. Distribution of 50,000 anti-Dulles leaflets and telephone calls to the U.S. Embassy saying, "Dulles, get out."

5. Painting of big red circles on the sidewalk as a Communist symbol.

U.S. Ambassador Robert C. Hill was reported gravely concerned. Memories are still fresh of the rough treatment accorded Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon in Venezuela last May. Hill consulted with Mexican officials last week and, it was said, these steps followed:

1. Outgoing President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines offered known Communists and agitators an alternative — get out of town during Dulles' visit or go to jail.

2. Police rounded up and jailed potential trouble makers still around.

3. Student leaders at the university were asked to keep their classmates in line. They apparently did, for no stone throwing was reported.

4. Demonstrators were dispersed as quickly as they assembled, and the whistling, black ties and red circles never materialized.

5. A print shop was raided and leaflets confiscated, although about 10,000 of them apparently got out on the street over the weekend.

High Court Affirms Murder Conviction

The Michigan Supreme Court has affirmed the first-degree murder conviction of one of four Detroiters sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1952 holdup slaying of a Ferndale gas station attendant.

Appealing was Robert G. Hearn, 23, who claimed Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty erred in instructing the jury on the posthey might have found Hearn and the others guilty.

"There was a total absence of evidence that the defendant (Hearn) was guilty of included offenses rather than murder in the first-degree," the high court said in upholding Judge Doty's handling of the case.

Sentenced along with Hearn were Frank O. Baker, then 23, Basil Dupius, 22, and Peter Imbimbo, 23.

Vandals Cause $3,000 Damage to New House

Vandals caused more than $3,000 damage to a new house in the Jayno Adams Subdivision sometime yesterday or last night, according to Waterford Township Police.

All of the light fixtures in a house at 2990 Shawnee Ave. were smashed. Plumbing was ripped out and holes were kicked in the newly-plastered walls. Electric store units and a double sink were stolen.

The vandals entered an unlocked door in the basement, police said.

Picking Up Signals of Mystery Missile

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists at the Lockheed Missile Tracking Station here disclosed last night that they have picked up mysterious new man-made signals from outer space.

The scientists said the new "unexplained" signal was picked up for more than 10 minutes beginning at 2:35 p.m. (5:35 p.m. EST) Nov. 26. It was "very similar but not the same as the telemeter signal from Sputnik I," the scientists said.

Lockheed said the signal was definitely from a man-made instrument in outer space, rather than a signal caused by natural phenomena such as have often been heard at the tracking station. It was a three-step telemeter tone received on a frequency of 20.003 megacycles.

Belding Girl, 19, Chosen Michigan Apple Queen

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Suzanne Davis, 19-year-old daughter of a Belding orchardist, will rule for the coming year as Michigan apple queen.

The brown-haired, hazel-eyed University of Michigan junior was crowned last night in special ceremonies as part of the annual Michigan State Horticultural Society convention under way in Grand Rapids.

Miss Davis represented Ionia and Montcalm counties. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Davis, she was one of eight candidates for the honor of representing Michigan's apple industry throughout the United States.

Blaze in Big Rapids Destroys 2 Firms

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — A fire, which for a time threatened an entire block on Big Rapids' main business street, destroyed two small business establishments yesterday.

The blaze swept through a two-story frame building which housed a cleaning establishment (Band Box) and an appliance store (Household.)

Firemen extinguished the blaze some 3½ hours after it broke out. No one was injured. Fire equipment from Reed City, Morley, Rogers Heights and Stanwood aided Big Rapids firemen in preventing the flames from spreading to other buildings in the block.

Damage was estimated by an insurance adjuster at between $25,000 and $20,000.

Iowa Man Gets Doctor Award

Family Physician, 68, Picked by Medical Assn. for Devoted Service

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A Iowa doctor who delivered 2,000 babies in their own homes has been chosen the nation's outstanding family physician of the year.

Dr. Lonnie A. Coffin, 68, Farmington, was awarded the honor by the House of Delegates of the American Medical Assn.

The award is given each year to the doctor who typifies the thousands of general practitioners throughout the country who have dedicated their lives to the practice of medicine and who have given exceptional service to their communities.

Dr. Coffin becomes the first Iowan to win the honor. Dr. Cecil W. Clark of Cameron, La., who won fame during Hurricane Audrey, was last year's winner.

He was instrumental in getting and developing Indian Lake, a 200-acre park which has made boating, fishing and picnicking available to the surrounding area.

The doctor bought basketball tournament tickets for high school students who couldn't pay their own way.

He also bought graduation clothes for students who couldn't afford them.

ATOMIC POWERED BOMBER? — This is a Lockheed Aircraft Corp. artist's conception of a possible American atomic-powered bomber. Lockheed is working on the overall design of a possible U. S. A-plane, but it has not been built or even started, company officials pointed out. An aviation magazine story about Russians flying an atomic-powered plane started controversy in the United States about whether the nation is behind on a similar project. The drawing below shows that the crew qaurters in the nose of the plane is widely separated from the reactor.

Will Conduct Animal, Plant, Bacteria Experiments

Launch Extensive Study of the Effect Auto Exhaust Pollution Has on Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — As never before, this country is now in a position to conduct studies of auto exhaust air pollution and its effect or health.

That word came from Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming.

He said, for example, that by the end of the year and for the first time, animal experiments will be under way on the effect of auto exhausts on health. There will also be studies on plants and on bacteria.

The research will center at the Public Health Service's Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center in Cincinnati. About $100,000 worth of the latest and best research instruments have been installed there.

This week a key piece in the complex research installation, a machine for analyzing gaseous mixtures, will be delivered.

"In short, it now becomes possible to conduct auto exhaust studies of a type and on a scale never before attempted," Flemming said in a statement at a news conference.

He praised accomplishments of the recent National Conference on Air Pollution and said the recommendation relating to more research on pollution from auto exhausts seemed particularly important.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney brought out that there is circumstantial evidence that air pollutants are related to development of cancer and acute bronchitis. He said the problem will become even more acute as suburbanization and industrialization increase.

V. G. Mackenzie, in charge of the service's air pollution engineering work, said the automobile industry is working on two kinds of gadgets designed to reduce pollution from auto gases.

He said neither is at the stage where it is practical for general use. He estimated the cost will be between $100 and $300 for such an attachment if present studies are borne out.

But he said both he and Burney had real hope the auto industry will intensify its activities and added "we believe it should."

One of the more pressing research needs was described as development of more knowledge on the action of sunlight on auto exhausts as a basis for determining the health effects of these irradiated gases.

As a part of the study, two large irradiation chambers have been built at the Taft Center which can reproduce solar irradiation effects on diluted auto-exhaust gases.

In the animal experiments the animals will be exposed to auto exhausts under conditions that duplicate varying climatic conditions.

Wakes to Sad Reality

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Oralia Delgado told police she woke up screaming, thinking she felt a hand on her face. She dismissed it as a bad dream and went back to sleep. In th morning she found burglars had ripped out a screen and made off with a purse from near her bed.

Sound waves do not travel in a true vacuum.

Little Luxuries Come Late to Widower, 87

LONDON (AP)—Frederick William Tuttle went without a lot of the little things in life. His second wife said they couldn't afford them. Little things like a pint of beer or keeping a dog.

But Tuttle, now 87, learned today he'll be able to have the things he missed after all. His wife, Catherine Ann, left a fortune he never knew about—nearly half a million dollars.

A Chancery Court justice said that, considering Tuttle's age, he should be given enough money from his wife's fortune to enjoy reasonable luxury in his remaining years.

Tuttle, stroking his bushy moustache, told the court he didn't know anything about his second wife's finances. When he married her in 1944 all he had was a house and 300 pounds—$840. They went to live in his house, which was left him by his first wife, and he spent his money on the upkeep of th home.

Tuttle's lawyer told the court that the retired paint-maker and his second wife lived in perfect harmony, but in very humble circumstances.

Tuttle explained just how humble. He gave his wife most of his weekly pension of $5.60 to help with the housekeeping. He puttered around the house and garden because she said they couldn't afford to pay for help.

"I used to have several dogs," he said, "but she said we couldn't afford to keep them all. So I had to get rid of them.

"I like a pint of beer, but she never treated me to any of that."

When his wife's will was published, he said, he was surprised to find she had left 159,739 pounds —$447,269. Death duties took a big slice, but there was still about $280,000 left.

Tuttle went to court and claimed it wasn't enough.

The judge agreed. He ordered that Tuttle should receive an extra $56 a week, less tax. That represents a third of the income from his wife's estate.

Soviet Orders Japan to Break U.S. Pact

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union has warned Japan to break its military assistance treaty with the United States in order to avoid the danger of nuclear war in the Far East.

The United States and Japan are now negotiating in Tokyo for revision of their 1951 defense treaty which permits stationing of American forces in Japan. The Kremlin asserted that "Japan's relations with the United States are increasingly assuming the form of an aggressive military bloc directed by the United States." It advised Tokyo to break of the talks and send the Americans packing.

Tito Begins Sailing Tour of Asia, Africa on Yacht

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) —President Tito sailed aboard his yacht for a trip to Indonesia and several other Asian and African countries.

Tito is to return a state visit to Indonesia. Informed sources said he also would visit Burma, Ethiopia, India, Egypt and perhaps Sudan, Ceylon and Thailand.

Symphony Presentation Wins Rousing Applause

By WILLIAM WALROD

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Francesco Di Blasi, presented its second concert of the 1958-59 season last night, and its first concert in its new home, the beautiful auditorium of Pontiac's new Northern High School.

The orchestra was blessed with a large audience, the acoustics were very good, and the music featured was both varied and pleasurable.

Guest artist at the concert was the talented soprano of radio and television, Maria Roumell, who offered three operatic selections and two numbers from popular operettas.

Miss Roumell's operatic selections included "Il Est Doux, Il Est Bon" (He Is Kind, He Is Good) from Massenet's Herodiade, based upon the Biblical story of Herod, Salome and John the Baptist.

Her second aria was the beloved "Visi d'Arte" from Puccini's Tosca, which was done with superb feeling and understanding. "Je Veux Vivre," the waltz song from Gounod's Romeo and Juliet, completed Miss Roumell's operatic group.

APPLAUSE THUNDEROUS

On the lighter side, our guest artist rendered "Romance" from Romberg's The Desert Song and the "Italian Street Song" from Victor Herbert's Naughty Marietta, which was followed by a thunderous applause to indicate how well the audience appreciated and enjoyed Miss Roumell's truly superior singing.

After playing our National Anthem, the orchestra opened the program with the Overture to Hansel and Gretel, Humperdinck's opera based upon a beloved children's story, which is particularly appropriate for the coming holiday season.

The longest selection of the program was Mozart's Symphony No. 38 (the "Prague"), which was written especially for the people of the city which so greatly honored Mozart after Vienna had dishonored him. The "Prague" is a typical Mozartian symphony in many respects, but the familiar minuet was omitted by the composer, leaving three movements, a drastic break in 18th century tradition.

SKATERS WALTZ

After intermission the orchestra refreshed its audience by rendering "The Skaters' Waltz" by Waldteufel, which is a characteristic and excellent example of the type of music which we might have danced to had we lived in Vienna a hundred years ago.

Mr. Di Blasi and the orchestra are to be particularly commended for their inspiring performance of "Finlandia," Sibelius' great masterpiece which so well portrays the spirit of Finland. It is gratifying to know that the Pontiac Symphony is not ignorant of the music of one of the greatest musical giants of our century, a man who is often forgotten by many orchestras, Jean Sibelius.

The "Rakoczy March" by Berlioz was a brilliant and fitting conclusion to a very successful concert. Berlioz's arrangement of this popular Hungarian work is typical of his genius, that of using the orchestra to its fullest—first by simply and rather quietly stating the theme, then developing it, and finally utilizing the full orchestra (which must be large) to bring it to a roaring and thunderous climax.

She's Talking Turkey to Husband and Inviting Relatives to Eat Crow

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas my husband asked me if I'd fix Christmas dinner for his family. His family includes a mother, his sister and her husband, two brothers and their wives and four teenaged children. We asked them five weeks ahead of time. I started dinner at 7:30 a.m. Christmas Day and invited them to come at twelve o'clock noon.

"They showed up at 11:30 a.m. and his sister rushed me something terrible. My bread wasn't even out of the oven, but she insisted I serve dinner because everyone was starved. We sat down at 12 sharp, and by 12:45 everyone was through and out of the house. I was hurt, but didn't say anything. My husband said, "Let's go for a ride," so we drove around and stopped in to say hello to his brother's "in-laws" (the one who was at our house,) and when we walked in at 2 p.m. there were all MY dinner guests eating another Christmas dinner!

"I told my husband right there that I would never fix them another meal. Was I wrong?"

HURT

DEAR HURT: You were right! They deserve to eat crow With humble pie for desert.

"DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what some people have against HILLBILLIES? Just because they marry young is no reason for others to make fun of them. Why is it that you rarely hear of HILLBILLIES getting divorced?"

FOR HILLBILLIES

DEAR FOR: Maybe it is because the kinfolk are such straight shooters.

DEAR ABBY: I was married too young and had a baby. The marriage didn't work out, so I got a divorce. I was looked down on because I was a divorcee, so I moved out of the state, and told everyone my husband was killed in the war. I know it was wrong, but I got tired of fighting off the men who thought a divorcee had nothing to lose. I'm going with a man who wants to marry me, but I am afraid if I tell him the truth he won't marry me. What should I do?"

A DIVORCEE

DEAR DIVORCEE: Skeletons in the closet can become bones of contention. Tell him the truth.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a grown man of 33 and have a good job selling. I never write letters because I don't know how to spell, but no one would ever know it by talking to me because I have a good vocabulary (or maybe you'd call it a 'gift gab.') Here is my problem. I have honestly tried to look up words in the dictionary, but if you can't spell a word, how can you find it in the dictionary, and if you CAN spell it, why look it up? I hope this question won't be regarded as too stupid to answer."

POOR SPELLER

DEAR POOR: No question asked in sincerity is too "stupid" to answer. Look up the word the way you THINK it is spelled . . . and keep looking. If you still can't find it, look up a synonym (a word that means the same thing) and you could find it there. If you strike out, ask somebody.

Remind the Lady Politely

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last evening some friends of ours stopped in for a visit. My husband served highballs. I put coasters out so that the glasses could be put down on them. The woman guest, after taking a drink from the glass, put it down on the table instead of on the coaster. I was seated alongside of her and so I reached out and put the glass on the coaster.

"My husband thinks I was very rude to do this and that I had embarrassed our guest. Will you please tell me if I was right to do this or should I have left it where it was even at the risk of marking my table?"

Answer: It would have been better to have said to your guest, "The finish on that table mars very easily. Would you mind putting your glass on that coaster?"

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have no father and would like my brother to give me away at my wedding. The catch is that he is the second of three brothers. Mother thinks the oldest brother should act as head of the family, whereas I feel that feelings should have some bearing on the whole thing. My middle brother and I have been inseparable companions because he's just a little older than I am."

Answer: Choosing your second brother merely announces what is evidently the truth, that he is dearer to you. If your older brother will not be hurt by this evidence of preference, there is no further objection.

Diet for Teenagers

Basic 4 Plan Builds Muscles, Vitality, Good Looks

By RUTH WEST

There are four basic food groups which provide what your bodily machinery needs to run smoothly.

As you will see by the minimum calorie counts given, you can get the works for under 1,300 calories a day: all the vitamins and minerals—all 65 of these vital nutrients—and a thumping 126.8 grams of protein—the construction material your body needs in this period when your bone and muscular strength is being built.

SOME LEEWAY

I am assuming that you are going to add some low-calorie sweets to these "ideal" menus, not to mention having a soda while you are out with friends; also an occasional scoop of drug-store ice cream; also a hamburger or frank (on half a roll!); also, a couple of times a week you are going to share a pizza with a pal — 600 calories for your half!

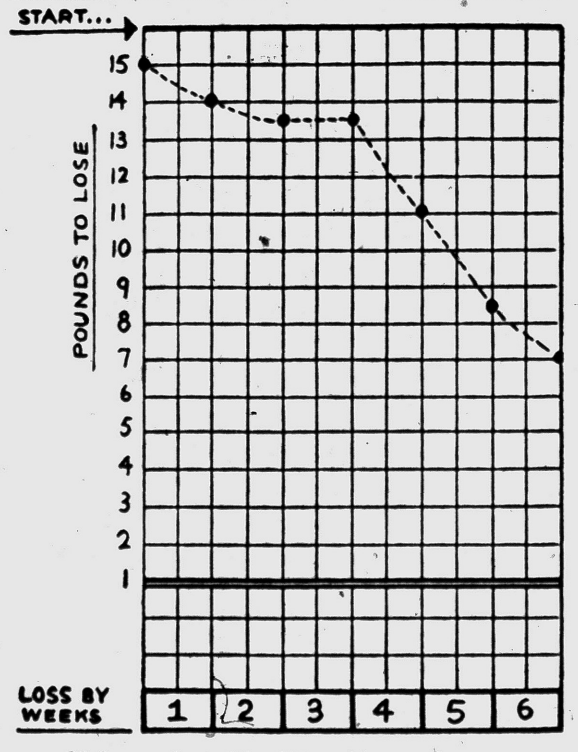
Plan on being human, part of the crowd. If you don't, you won't get slim and stay slim because you won't be facing the facts of life. Plan, also, on the fact that every now and then you're going to behave most unreasonably — make a batch of brownies and eat them all up, sit and nibble on potato chips and salted peanuts all evening. For this, too, is part of facing the facts of life. Everyone has the urge to gorge —and gives in to it, occasionally.

Plot Your Weight Trend



Make a chart like this with graph paper, or rule it yourself. Mark your progress once a week, but remember it may not always be progress, so keep calm when you level off or lose ground. Don't waste energy being mad at yourself.

Even so, you can get slim and stay slim, clear up your skin, double your energy and alertness, if you will stick with this basic daily eating pattern most of the time.

If you follow this basic eating plan with minimum calorie counts for one week, you will shed three to five pounds, for sure.

Group 1: Chiefly for calcium, for protein, also for the vitamin riboflavin.

You want a fat-free equivalent of 4 cups of Vitamin-D milk. That means you can drink 4 cups of Vitamin-D skim milk or buttermilk, and/or you can get your milk, and take a Vitamin-D tablet — essential to your body's utilization of calcium. You can get your 34.2 gms. of protein this way for as little as 350 calories.

Group 2: Chiefly for protein, also for the iron and phosphorus, and the vitamins, thiamine and niacin.

According to the Food and Nutrition Board:

Teenage girls require 2,500 calories daily.

Boys 13 to 15 require 3,200 calories daily.

Boys 16 to 20 require 3,800 calories daily.

You want three servings a day of chicken, lean meat, fish or eggs. For instance: for breakfast, two eggs (12.2 gms. protein); for lunch, 4 ounces of lean round steak (31 gms. of protein); for dinner, half a broiler — 8 ounces with bone out (44.4 gms. of protein). You can get this 87.6 gms. of protein for as little as 600 calories.

Group 3: Chiefly for Vitamin C, Vitamin A, also for iron, trace minerals, thiamine, and bulk.

You want an orange, or half a grapefruit — plus 8 ounces of tomato juice some time during the day. In addition: at least one big serving each of a dark green vegetable and a deep yellow vegetable. For all this allow 250 calories.

Group 4: For thiamine, niacin, riboflavin, and iron, as well as some protein.

You want a baked potato with skin. Or eight whole-rye single wafers. Or two tablespoons of wheat germ a day. For under 80 calories, any of these will give you the equivalent in nutrition of four slices of bread—260 calories.

Working Mom Question Is Individual

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Whether or not a mother should work outside her home long has been a controversial subject.

I believe that it is far from ideal if the children are of preschool age and that it is just about as important, if not more so, for the mother to be at home when her teenage children return from school.

Of course there are situations in which outside work is essential for financial reasons. There are also certain temperaments which make it impossible for a woman to "take" the wear and tear of constant child care without unfortunate repercussions in her personality and disposition. Both of these factors must be taken into consideration.

As Dr. R. T. Quatember of the Psychological Neurological Clinic in Vienna, Austria, said to me when I discussed this question with him, "It is the quality of companionship between a mother and her children which counts, not the length of time she spends with them."

If a working mother can give herself over to real companionship with her offspring when she is with them, for fun, talk and listening, the quality of her relationship with them may be superior to that of the mother who is with her children all day long. However, unless the mother has just a part-time job this is almost impossible to achieve.

I also discussed this problem with Professor Dr. Hans Hoff, famous professor of neurology and psychiatry in Vienna, and new president of the World Federation for Mental Health. He told me that depression and neurosis have increased. He mentioned several factors which he feels have led to this increase, among them the following one:

If a working mother can give herself over to real companionship with her offspring when she is with them, for fun, talk and listening, the quality of her relationship with them may be superior to that of the mother who is with her children all day long.

A deterioration in the mother-child relationship, due mainly to the fact that so many mothers now work outside their homes; about 30 per cent in Austria. He feels that it is impossible for a woman to work at an outside job all day long and then give her children the sort of companionship they so desperately need.

Both the husband and wife are tired when they return home. They are simply not up to being responsive and understanding. Also the evenings are the only time they have for social life together.

So when the mother is away from home all day long the child has a terrific lack in vital emotional nourishment.

Professor Hoff gave me an example out of his own experience, not about a working mother but about a child's need for a certain type of rapport with at least one parent.

It seems that the very young daughter of a couple ran away from home. She was not located for some time and the devoted parents were desperate. They loved the child very much and had given her the best possible care, they thought. She had every advantage in home, food, clothes, toys.

After the little one was found the parents came to Professor Hoff to ask him why in the world their child had wanted to leave home. They were bewildered! Professor Hoff asked the mother, "Do you ever play with her?" The mother thought and then said, "Well, no, I guess I haven't."

The working mother is a difficult question to evaluate and every family must do it for themselves.

Fruit Filled Dough Balls Fried Brown in Deep Fat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Mrs. Thomas Riley's parents come from The Netherlands. From her mother she has gotten this recipe for a Christmas treat, Olie Bollen. Small balls of fruit-filled yeast dough are deep fat fried. They're wonderful with coffee.

Mrs. Riley is the young mother of one small boy. She is a member of the Mary Lyon group of her church. Her hobbies are bowling, sewing and gardening.

OLIE BOLLEN
By Mrs. Thomas Riley

3 cups lukewarm potato water
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup candied fruit
2 cups raisins
1 egg, beaten
2 packages dry yeast
7 cups sifted flour

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add sugar, salt and butter or margarine. Add beaten egg. After some of the flour has been added, add the fruit and raisins. Knead into a smooth dough.

Place in a greased bowl. Let rise in a warm place for 2 hours. Form into small balls, using about a tablespoon of dough for each.

Fry in deep fat until brown. Balls will turn over by themselves. Dust with powdered sugar to serve.

HOLIDAY TIPS

It's the season to be just a bit daring. Try something new in eye make-up. Shape your brows, of course, and use color mascara (midnight blue or green). Now with your eyebrow pencil put a dash on the outside corners of your eyes to make them appear larger. Another trick to put in your holiday bag: Make your make-up job last the length of the party by spending twice the time as usual on blending your tinted base. When all is completed, wrap an ice cube in your face cloth and "set" your makeup by pressing it gently over all (including your lips). This will keep your beauty from fading before the party is over!

Parents Must Have Youngsters' Trust

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Foreign correspondents who've worked the Moscow beat are not sentimental people. I've known several. All have been tough-minded men with a special fierce respect for their own experience of facts and an astringent skepticism toward what the other fellow tells them.

The New York Times' Harrison Salisbury is such a reporter. Some time ago he quit experiencing life in the Soviet Union to start experiencing it among the violence-loving Black Dragons, Red Knights and other self-glorifying, inglorious youngsters who compose the teenage gangs in big cities.

He's written a book about them which he calls "The Shook-Up Generation."

I like it because it makes the people who shout about our need for more cops, tougher crackdowns, return to the woodshed discipline of strap and whip sound like just what they are — simple-minded.

As simple-minded as the Stalinist commissars who also tried to solve the problem of inconvenient protest by liquidating the critics.

But this column is not about simple-minded people.

I said to Harrison Salisbury, "What was the hardest thing about writing this book?"

"Getting the kids' trust," he said.

"How did you get it?" I asked.

"I waited for them to give it to me," he said. "I gave them time. I stayed around. When I'd stayed around long enough, they started talking. They gave me the book."

"Why do you suppose your persistence won their confidence?" I queried.

He regarded me thoughtfully across the narrow table in his newspaper's city room before saying slowly, "Because my approach indicated I knew the kids and I had something to exchange."

"Could parents whose kids have closed up on them use this kind of undemanding persistence to open them up?" I asked.

"I'd say so," he said. "Apparently, it's not just the being around angry kids that counts but the way you're around.

"It's the kind of activity that goes on in you that's often the problem. To be able to exchange with an angry child, parents have to know they have something to offer."

Launder Knits Gently; Drying Without Heat

Have you seen those wonderful new sweaters and sweater dresses that go to all lengths to be high-fashion?

Some come in three-piece costumes knit of the finest cashmere. Others, knit of fine wool, are hip-length numbers with a chemise or Empire line.

Such sweaters are really luxurious and should be treated as such—by hand-washing them gently in warm soap or detergent suds, then drying them flat away from heat. With proper daily care and washtub treatment, fine knitwear will last for years.

Successful Man Can't Have Laggard Wife

By RUTH MILLETT

Some marriages go on the rocks because a wife doesn't make the effort to "live up" to her husband's success and to assume the responsibilities that go with being the wife of a successful man.

If your husband is moving up the success ladder and you don't want him to leave you behind, look for these danger signals:

You make excuses for not entertaining enough to keep up with your social obligations.

You don't like the wives of your husband's business associates and tell your husband so instead of making an effort to get along with them.

You aren't a good enough housekeeper so that your husband can ever feel free to bring home an unexpected guest.

You resent the time your husband has to spend away from home in addition to his working day, and let him know it.

You aren't in the least concerned about your looks, and don't even bother to buy a new dress when your husband tries to get you to.

You resent women who have more education than you do—instead of realizing that any woman can educate herself through reading and study, going to art exhibits, and listening to good music.

You aren't satisfied with the way your house looks, but you have made no effort to learn how to make a room seem comfortable and pleasant—instead of just ordinary.

You refuse to go on business trips with your husband on the grounds that you can't leave the children — when you honestly could find someone competent to look after them for a few days.

All of these are signs that you are dragging your heels instead of keeping in step with your husband—and they may be more dangerous signs than you realize.

Glasses Need Daily Sudsing

For a safe and clean outlook, a vision institute advises giving your spectacles a sudsy washing at least once a day.

Never put them into a purse or pocket without a protective case. And keep your glasses in good condition by using both hands to remove and put them on.

Civil Rights Group Faces New Barriers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — New obstacles foreshadowing a possible clash between state and federal courts stood in the path of the Civil Rights Commission today as it sought access to registration records for next week's hearing on Negro voting.

Subpoenas demanding all available voter registration files dating back to Jan. 1, 1955, have been served on officials in at least three south Alabama counties.

Resistance in one form or another threatened, meanwhile, to keep the contested voter registration files out of the commission's hands unless it gets a federal court order to produce them.

In two of the three counties, a federal judge, if asked to order local officials to surrender the voting records, would find his authority challenged by that of a state court.

President Asked to Grant Pardon to Dead Author

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower has been asked to write a happy ending to the life story of author O. Henry, who served a prison term for embezzlement.

The Texas Heritage Foundation appealed to the President Tuesday to grant a full pardon for the famed short story writer.

O. Henry, whose real name was William Sydney Porter, served a five-year sentence after being convicted 60 years ago of embezzling $854.08 from an Austin bank. He died in 1910 at the age of 48.

Paul Wakefield, foundation president, said in a telegram to Eisenhower: "While he stands convicted under the records of federal court 60 years ago, there exists today abundant proof of his innocence and of his conviction purely on circumstantial evidence."

Hiroshima Bomb Still Affecting Jap People

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Japan still has many sick people as a result of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945, a Japanese scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Takeo Nagamiya, professor of physics at Osaka University, told reporters that nuclear radiation from the A-bomb still is claiming lives. Nagamiya is here for a chemical research conference.

Fear for Six Children Leads Couple to Care for Fugitive Convict 42 Days

PARSONS, Kan. (AP) — "You just don't take chances with six kids depending on you," said Wilbur March.

Thus the 41-year-old Parsons laborer explained why he kept silent while an escaped convict shared his home as an unwelcome guest for 42 days.

Acting on a tip from Mrs. March police Tuesday arrested Richard Lee Aligaier, 28, a St. Louis robber who escaped Oct. 18 from the Missouri Penitentiary. Aligaier was picked up while sipping beer in a Parsons tavern. He was unarmed and didn't resist.

Police also charged March with harboring a criminal after he signed a statement saying Aligaier made no direct threats to him. But the charge was dropped.

March said Aligaier did threaten him.

"He told me that if he got picked up he would know what had happened and he had lots of friends," said March, an employe of a mausoleum firm.

Why did he sign the statement?

"There was just too many officers around asking questions and I didn't know what else to do."

Aligaier, who said he walked the 200-odd miles between the prison and Parsons, showed up at the March home Oct. 22, four days after he escaped.

"We first took him in because he was sick and hungry," said Mrs. March, prematurely gray at 33. "We have always helped people like that."

A week later, Aligaier told them he was a fugitive.

"From then on he always had one of us with him," she said, weeping as she recalled the experience.

"When my husband went to work (he didn't miss a day) Aligaier was home with me and the children. If he went out he always had one of us with him."

Mrs. March said Aligaier once threatened to kill her husband. But he wasn't trying to frighten them into silence, she said.

"He just didn't like Wilbur."

Aligaier, however, was a likable fellow, and there wasn't any trouble between the fugitive and her husband. She said Aligaier often helped her with the children, ranging in age from 6 months to 12 years.

Aligaier decided to leave Parsons Monday night. He borrowed March's car and $15. A few miles out of town, the car plunged into a ditch. Back to Parsons and the March home came Aligaier. That was enough for Mrs. March. When Aligaier stepped out for a beer, she called police.

Aligaier will be returned to Missouri, where he still has two years to go on a three-year sentence for a St. Louis robbery.

Interviewed in jail, he said the Marches treated him well. He denied that he threatened them, saying: "They were just trying to help somebody out."

Homemade Grenade Found on School Bus

Homicide Capt. W. R. Waycott said the tube was about an inch and a half long and as big around as half a dollar, and held buckshot, wadded notebook paper and an unidentified sticky substance.

Waycott said one end of the tube appeared charred and indicated an effort to explode it.

Houston's public schools are segregated. There was no indication this had anything to do with the gadget, police said.

Urges Lawyers Foster Respect for U.S. Courts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of the Federal Bar Association says the nation's lawyers should assume the responsibility for communicating to the public their respect for the law and the judges who administer it.

Earl N. Kintner, in a statement prepared for delivery at an association luncheon in honor of newly appointed Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart, said it was the paramount responsibility of lawyers "to preserve the primacy of law and due process under our representative form of government, to insure respect for all courts, including the Supreme Court, the highest of all."

School Tragedy Could Happen in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — It could happen here, state fire safety and school officials agree, referring to the Chicago school fire disaster.

"Such a school disaster could happen in Michigan," said Glenroy Walker, chief of the State Police Fire Marshal Division. "Our school fire record is very good, but we've been lucky more than anything else."

Lloyd E. Fales, consultant on plant construction for the State Department of Public Instruction, echoed the warning.

Fales said there is no up to date survey on the fire safety status of the more than 8,000 school buildings in Michigan. A survey currently is being conducted to determine the state's classroom needs in the face of swelling enrollments, he said.

This survey, expected to be completed by the end of the fiscal year, also will include the fire safety rating of the schools.

"There is no state law or regulation making periodic fire safety inspections of the schools mandatory," Walker said.

"We make as many checks as possible and communities with organized fire departments do make routine inspections of the schools. But there is nothing on the books to make a regular inspection mandatory for every school in the state.

"We have many combustible buildings with a large occupancy," Walker said. "I'd hate to think of what would happen here in a similar situation."

Walker said statutes provide that all new school construction must be tailored to modern fire safety regulations. But the older buildings are the potential firetraps, he said.

Fales said the Department of Public Instruction has sponsored legislation in the last three sessions of the legislature providing for periodic safety inspections. The proposed legislation has failed to pass each time, he said.

"It could conceivably happen here," he said. "The old, multistory buildings are often at best semicombustible. Some still have boilers located in the basement or under a portion of the school building."

There also are some 1,500 one-room schools in Michigan, many with space heaters located in or near classroom areas, Fales said. These also represent a fire hazard, although not to as many pupils, he said.

French Coal Output Up

PARIS (UPI) — French coal production climbed 9 per cent in 1957 over the previous year, a government report said today. The report showed that 59.1 million tons of coal were mined in 1957 against 57.4 million in 1956.

First execution in an electric chair occurred in New York in 1890.

Report Reds Tapping U.S. Military Cables

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Two Hamburg newspapers said today Communist East Germany is tapping British and American military cables linking West Germany and isolated West Berlin.

The independent Die Welt and Bild Zeitung reported private telephone and teletype lines connecting West Berlin and West Germany are also involved.

The lines run through East German territory.

War-Damage Claims for Buildings Speeded

PARIS — The French Minister of Construction reports that since 1946 about 350,000 war-destroyed buildings have been rebuilt, 800,000 less badly damaged ones have been repaired, and 1,367,000 new dwellings have been constructed.

The report says a greater building effort and a long-term policy are still needed to rectify a situation resulting "from the neglect of the last 40 years." To stimulate construction, the Government intends to speed the liquidation of 150,000 war-damage claims still under study.

Pipe Line Rate Hike Approved by Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A power commission examiner has held Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co., Detroit, should be allowed a proposed five million dollar annual wholesale gas rate increase.

The increase was collected, subject to refund, from Nov. 15, 1956, until Sept. 15, 1957, when a further increase became effective, also subject to refund. The ruling by Examiner William J. Costello Monday will become a final commission order if no review is initiated within 30 days.

Technically, Costello's ruling was a supplemental decision in which he held that the increase is "just and reasonable."

Hal Boyle Writing:

Be True to Yourself, Says Mickey Rooney

NEW YORK (AP)—"You have to be true to yourself," said Mickey Rooney, whose fourth divorce is in the mill.

"You have to learn to understand your own faults. You can progress then—if you learn to understand yourself first."

It was 4:30 in the afternoon, breakfast time for Rooney, who is in the middle of a four-week engagement at his first night club appearance here.

Glancing down at the ruins of a plate of steak and potatoes in his hotel suite, Mickey remarked: "It looks like a four-car collision."

At 38, Hollywood's ageless Puck is as bouncy and full of self-confidence as ever, but an air of friendliness has replaced the conceit that annoyed his earlier critics.

Mickey really never has been offstage since he crawled out before the footlights and got his first laugh when he was less than a year old. At 4 he played his first adult role—a midget—and he was the nation's top-drawing film star before he could vote.

"I guess I've been in at least 150 pictures," said Mickey. "But I like all mediums—night clubs, radio, television, movies. They all come under one tent: Show business."

"I don't feel any limitations, and there's nothing I wouldn't love to play—if I was tall enough. But I never have felt my height"—he's 5 feet 3—"has been a handicap professionally."

Rooney's outside interests at present are concentrated on golf, matrimony, and music — but not necessarily in that order.

He has done the musical scores for a couple of films, he plays the piano now instead of the drums, and he likes to write semi-folk songs. He's a member of ASCAP.

Mickey is quite willing—up to a point—to discuss his marital problems, and if his repeated matrimonial strikeouts have hurt him he hides the scars well.

"I've had five wives," he said.

"Four," broke in a member of his entourage.

"Well, so I'm a liar for one? I'm being divorced again now. But I'm still interested in getting married again.

Mickey remains a perennial optimist.

"I get a kick out of everything," he said. "There are no problems that can't be solved.

"Happiness is inevitable, I believe. You just have to seek it. But if you do, you'll find it somewhere along the line.

"I have great faith in people. I never judge anybody at the first meeting—or the second meeting. It isn't fair.

"We can see you—but you can't see yourself."

Clergymen to Visit GIs for Christmas

Francis Cardinal Spellman will fly to Rome for consistory ceremonies Dec. 15 and then will visit Germany, Iceland and Greenland. The cardinal, military vicar of Catholics in the armed services of the United States, makes a custom of spending Christmas overseas with the troops.

Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., will leave Dec. 18 to spend the Christmas season with American servicemen in Spain and North Africa.

What a Job This Is!

LONDON (UPI) — Census-takers traveling via airplanes and reindeer-drawn sleighs are counting heads in the Nenets area of the Soviet Union, according to Moscow radio. Moscow said it would take a month to complete the job in the vast territory north of the Arctic Circle.

To Avoid Holiday Rush?

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI) — A burglar who broke into a shoe store here ignored hundreds of pairs of shoes and stole four boxes of Christmas cards instead.

Supply Convoy Gets Through to Quemoy

TAIPEI (AP) — Another convoy of Nationalist supply vessels has reached Quemoy and unloaded cargo without challenge from Communist guns.

The Communists observed their even-day silence. The official Nationalist Central News Agency described the convoy as large but did not specify the number of vessels or the type of cargo.

The Nationalists have been shipping in big quantities of steel rods and cement for underground civilian and military shelters as well as emergency supplies of rice, other food and medicine for the 40,000 civilians on Quemoy.

PCH Wins, 69-60; PNH Falls in Debut

Barge, Bandy Lead Triumph at Edsel Ford

Central Cagers Rally in 2nd Half to Take Decision Handily

By BILL CORNWELL

DEARBORN — It took a little time to get the kinks out, but once the Pontiac Central basketball team found itself, Edsel Ford's hopes for an upset were doomed.

After trailing throughout the 1st half, the Chiefs turned on the steam in the 3rd and 4th quarters for a convincing 69-60 victory over Edsel Ford here Tuesday night in their opening game of the 1958-59 season.

The Dearborn school already had one game under its belt, a 54-52 overtime loss to Ecorse last Friday, and the experience gained in that contest helped the Thunderbirds to outplay PCH during the 1st and 2nd periods.

Apparently the 1st half session was all the Chiefs needed to get the feel of things because it was an entirely different story following the rest period.

The Chiefs returned to the court and jumped into a 37-33 lead on successive baskets by Bill Hayward, John Bandy and Phil Rabaja and they never relinquished their advantage.

Edsel Ford pulled within two points a moment later, but the Chiefs, paced by the shooting of Bandy and Charlie Barge, kept up the pressure and moved steadily away, building their margin to 67-50 late in the 4th quarter before coach Art Van Ryzin emptied his bench.

Four Central players hit double figures in the scoring column. Bandy and Barge, connecting consistently on jump shots from the pivot, took point-making honors with 20 apiece, while Munson bagged 12 and Hayward 11.

The Dearborn cagers had three boys in double figures. Neil Hadley paced the Thunderbirds with 18 points, followed by Joe Penrod who tallied 15 and Doug Lucas with 11.

Central's junior varsity, coached by Fred Zittel, made it an all-victorious evening by trouncing the Edsel Ford reserves 57-45. Booker Hurner scored 15 points and Vern Ellis 11 to lead the Little Chiefs.

Northern Quint Falls 48-42 on Orion Court

Soph-Laden Huskies Play in First Varsity Athletic Event

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Pontiac Northern made an unsuccessful debut into interscholastic athletic competition last night well aware that "experience is the world's best teacher."

The Northern basketball team, which suffered a 48-42 setback at the hands of the Lake Orion Dragons on the Orion court, was high in hopes but shy in know-how.

Lake Orion, which is not expected to go very far in the Oakland-B race, had just enough to become the first athletic conquerer of the new Pontiac school.

The scrappy sophomore-laden Huskies from Northern never had the lead in the game but they never lost the desire in trying to gain it.

Orion led 11-10 midway in the first quarter and 17-14 at the end of the stanza. At halftime it was 22-18.

It took more than three periods for the baptismal jitters to leave the Northern squad. The Huskies finally made their surge in the final minutes but it was too late.

They closed a 12-point margin to four points with 50 seconds to go but Jim Recknagel dropped in the final Orion basket to end the threat.

PNH had a squad made up of all sophomores except Dick Eley and Jim Dempsey, a pair of seniors who never competed scholastically.

The free throw line was disastrous for Northern. The Huskies hit on only eight of 26 charity tosses, while Orion got 12 of 15.

Pontiac Northern's reserve team, which is also an all-sophomore squad, scored a 52-16 victory over the Orion jayvees.

"We may not have the experience or the height, but these kids never quit hustling and they'll improve," said coach Dick Hall of Northern.

Friday night the Huskies play at Rochester, while Lake Orion travels to Oxford. Pontiac Northern will not play in its new gym until January 9th against Detroit Thurston.

Oak Park in Breeze

Breezing to a 14-0 1st period lead, Oak Park coasted to a 43-23 victory at Country Day last night for its initial triumph against one loss. Mike Detmer paced the attack with 17 points. Tom Derleth's 7 digits topped Country Day.

Shaky Win for Rams
St. Fred Triumphs, 42-32

By H. GUY MOATS

Plagued by inability to hit the hoops, in their season's cage opener, last night, St. Frederick struggled along to a shaky 42-32 win over Detroit St. Elizabeth.

In the only other contest, Tuesday night, involving a Suburban Catholic League club, Royal Oak St. Mary dropped a sizzler, 61-58, to its Madison.

An indication of what the Rams were up against in their cold shooting was the goal output of captain Tom Derocher. Tom fired some 14 times, wound up with three baskets. He converted only four of 12 free tries. Freds, as a whole converted only 10 of 28 foul shots.

Rams were not alone in poor shooting, or foul conversions. The Sabres managed only six in 23 tries at the foul line.

Joe Keller was the leading Ram, with 12 points. Derocher had 1 and Sabres' best was slim Jim Stephenson with 12 points.

St. Frederick never trailed, but had to break three early 1st period knots. After a 13-10 first period there was never any question as to the eventual winner.

Ram Jayvees took the preliminary, 57-20.

The Madison-ROSM tilt was a tight battle all the way.

Top scorer was ROSM's Jim McGrath with 23. Richard Moos led winners with 19.

Walled Lake Nips Cranes

Vikings Top Cranbrook, 54-53, With Jump Shot in Waning Seconds

Walled Lake opened its 1958-59 basketball season on a winning note last night at Walled Lake, but Cranbrook almost made it a sour beginning for the Vikings.

Bill Allen's 15-foot jump shot in the final 25 seconds of the game handed Walled Lake an exciting 54-53 triumph over the Cranes in the season opener for both schools.

The Vikings trailed at the half, 21-17, and Cranbrook maintained a slight lead most of the time after intermission until Walled Lake narrowed the deficit to 53-52 to set the stage for Allen's game-winning shot.

Kirk Evans paced the Walled Lake attack with 18 points and Allen netted 10. Tom Bray and Jerry Williams led the Cranes with 17 and 16, respectively.

Berkley, trailing by a 21-20 margin at halftime, completely outplayed Fordson in the 3rd and 4th quarters for a 49-36 win over the Tractors at Dearborn. Dave Burris tallied 14 points to spark the Berkley victory.

Brighton Opens on Happy Notes

A strong 1st half offensive showing and good overall defensive play led Wayne-Oakland favorite to 48-25 opening night triumph over Howell last night.

Paced by Jim Lauriden's 10 points, the Bulldogs romped to 32-12 intermission edge. Lauridsen and teammate Don Appleton finished with 15 apiece to outscore the losers with their combined total.

Troy Nips Romeo, 47-46
Rochester Beats Milford, 47-34

By CHUCK ABAIR

Rochester parlayed a big early lead and Milford's failure to make a foul shot in 14 tries into a 47-34 triumph in the season opener for both schools at Rochester last night.

Troy nipped Romeo 47-46 in an overtime thriller at Troy giving the Colts two straight successes in the young season.

Although never able to get very close in score, Milford held the overall playing edge throughout the last half after trailing 29-12.

Rochester also had a rough night on the foul line but the Falcons' nine conversions in 24 attempts helped make the difference.

Anderson finished with 16 going scoreless in the last nine minutes. The southpaw sharpshooter made six straight field goal attempts in one streak. Newcomer Bob Roselle turned in a good performance in his first varsity game scoring 10 — six in the final period. He looked good in spots as a rebounder and ballhandler.

Bruce Ennis and Gene Lothery were the key boys who kept Rochester far ahead. Each swished 15 points. Ennis made 5-for-10 floor shots and 5-for-7 fouls as the winner's only real consistent shooter.

A foul conversion with eight seconds left in the overtime by Bob Harris provided the Troy margin of victory after the Colts came from behind twice in the extra period.

The regulation game ended 42-42 when Troy's little Don Harned sank a crucial basket with 20 seconds left.

Troy raced to a 12-3 lead in the opening quarter and had other advantages of seven and six but Romeo kept coming back. Then the Bulldogs started setting the pace and the victors had to rally.

The Colts led by one point after each of the 1st two quarters and held a 34-29 edge going into the final eight minutes. Harned, who had a big goal in the overtime, topped both teams with 20. Bob Acton added 13 and the other overtime two-pointer.

Royal Oak Ace Is Named for Prized Honor

Former Cranbrook Star 'Flabbergasted' Over National Acclaim

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — "Flabbergasted!"

That was the comment today of the first captain and brigade commander of the Corps of Cadets the president of the first senior class, and the captain of the Army football team on the selection of Pete Dawkins as winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1958.

Just in case you think they stifle individual expression at the Academy, the comment was made by one man who holds all of those honors on the plains — Pete Dawkins. He also sings and will travel. He wants to join the Air Force when commissioned in June.

"Flabbergasted" was Pete Dawkins but no one else at this gray fortress on the Hudson where the cheers still echo from Army's great undefeated season and resounding victory over Navy.

"He is an inspirational leader and well deserving of the award," said Colonel Earl "Red" Blaik, the Army coach.

"It's wonderful to hear about it," said Dawkins. "I want to thank everyone concerned and specially to a great gang of fellows on our team and Colonel Blaik for making it all possible."

The versatile, 20-year-old halfback from Royal Oak, Mich., won the Heisman Trophy by a substantial margin in the voting by 1,191 sports writers and sportscasters. The nationwide poll was conducted by the Downtown AC.

He will receive his trophy at the club's annual dinner at the Downtown AC Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Dawkins received 296 first-place votes and 1,394 points in the balloting. Randy Duncan, quarterback of Iowa's Big Ten champions, was second 194 and 1,021 and Billy Cannon, halfback of Louisiana State's No. 1 team, third 198 and 975.

A polio victim when in the seventh grade, Dawkins has made an inspirational comeback. He is 6-1, 197 pounds, and starred in hockey and baseball too.

Only two years ago he failed to win a football letter because of poor blocking and tackling. Today he tops them all.

How does it feel with football all finished?

"Kind of let down," he replied. "All season the pressure has been building. Everything blew off when we beat Navy.

"I'm playing hockey, he stars on defense, now and I'm sore all over. It felt stiff to get back on skates again. But it's kind of relaxing to play hockey. Not that hockey isn't tough. It is. But the pressure isn't there. Not from the spectator standpoint. We want to win in hockey just like in football but it's more relaxing."

AP All-State Next Week

DETROIT (AP)—The Associated Press' 18th annual All-State high school football teams will be announced Dec. 9-10-11-12.

Ballots were sent to the nearly-600 high school coaches in every sector of the state, and to more than 150 sports writers, broadcasters and officials. The voting was the heaviest in the long history of the All-State teams.

The AP selected all-state teams in all four classes. The Class D honor team will be made public on Tuesday, Dec. 9.

First and second teams in Class C will be announced the following day. The Class B teams will be announced Thursday Dec. 11 and the climax of the balloting—the All-State Class A squad, will be made public on Friday, Dec. 12.

Tigers Acquire Berberet From Red Sox

Bengals Trade Moford to Get Bosox Catcher

Cleveland Sends Wertz and Geiger to Boston for Jim Piersall

Within the space of a few hours yesterday he (1) shipped first baseman Vic Wertz and outfielder Gary Geiger to Boston for centerfielder Jimmy Piersall and (2) sent infielder Bobby Avila to Baltimore for pitcher Russ Heman and a reported $30,000 in cash.

Avila may wind up at second base for the Orioles because Billy Gardner had an off season in 1958.

Wertz, 33, will be the Boston first baseman, perhaps alternating with Dick Gernert, a righthanded batter. Geiger will battle with Marty Keough and Gene Stephens for the center field job with the Red Sox.

Joe Gordon, Cleveland manager, said Piersall will be his center fielder, a job split among Larry Doby, Woody Held and Geiger last season.

Detroit kept the trade mill busy by sending pitcher Herb Moford, a righthander, to Boston for catcher Lou Berberet.

The Tigers were hurting for catching last season. They believe they have come up with a solid lefthanded-hitting catcher in Berberet to give Red Wilson a lift. Berberet, traded to Boston from Washington last May, hit .210 for the Red Sox. He shared the work with Sam White and Pete Daley.

Moford, 29, was brought up from the Charleston, W. Va., farm of the American Assn. in June and managed a 4-9 record with the Tigers.

Olivet Football Coach Honored

MARSHALL (AP) — Henry Paul, whose Olivet College football team broke the nation's longest losing streak this season, has been named Michigan Small College Coach-of-the-Year.

Paul was honored yesterday at the third annual Associated Press state college football luncheon. The AP also honored 22 players.

American League Prexy Will Harridge Resigns

Harridge, who headed the league since 1931, made his decision known this morning after meeting with the club owners.

1,689 See Piston Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Two field goals by Walter Dukes in the last 22 seconds carried the Detroit Pistons to a 95-91 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors in a National Basketball Assn. game last night.

The last second victory, to which George Yardley contributed his season's high of 37 points, also boosted the Pistons into a .500 record at 10-10.

Dukes, who totaled 12 points, scored the first of his two vital baskets on a 10-foot jump shot to break a 91-91 tie and the second on a tip-in of teammate Joe Holup's missed free throw with eight seconds to go.

Yardley sank 15 field goals and 7 of 10 free throws. Woody Sauldsberry and Paul Arizin led the Warriors with 21 and 20 points, respectively.

In other NBA games last night, the St. Louis Hawks spoiled the coaching debut of Tom Marshall with a 105-81 victory over the Cincinnati Royals and the Boston Celtics whipped the New York Knickerbockers 109-90.

Opinion Split on Hiring of Big Name Coach at U-D

Titan Grid Policy Divided

DETROIT (AP) — Will the University of Detroit go after a big name coach—the likes of Frank Leahy, for example—in its bid for national football prominence?

Wally Fromhart, elevated from backfield coach to the top job five years ago, was fired yesterday because of his disappointing 4-4-1 season.

Roughly, the field of possible successors is divided into two categories—(1) a big name coach with the inevitable big price tag, and (2) a younger man, possibly an assistant coach with bright prospects or a successful high school or small college coach.

John R. Mulroy, vice president in charge of athletics, says there "is a complete split right now on whether to seek a big name coach or a man with more of a local background."

One booster prominent in the Gus Dorais Foundation summed up his feeling this way:

"The schedule is getting tougher all the time. We have to sell tickets. It's logical that we need somebody the people have faith in."

He added:

"This is our last shot at the big-time. If we fail this time, well, I'd say we have run our course."

He said his first choice for the job is Otto Graham, former Cleveland Browns quarterback.

Another man close to the U. of D. athletic situation said:

"If Detroit is going to go big-time, a big name certainly would be a help."

Big name coaches cost money. The University of Detroit never has said what it paid Fromhart or what it intends to pay his successor. But undoubtedly Fromhart's salary was less than the $20,000 or so it takes to hire a Big Ten coach.

As for a big name coach's ability to pull big crowds, the U. of D. quickly reaches a point of diminishing returns. Its stadium on the campus seats only 25,000.

One source said the faculty athletic committee's decision to name line coach John Ray as interim football director may be an indication Ray has the inside track for the job.

Ray, 34, is a former Notre Dame and Olivet College lineman. He joined the U. of D. staff four years ago as freshman coach and last year moved up to take over the coaching of the line.

He fills the bill of "local background" mentioned by Mulroy—familiarity with the university, its neighboring high schools, and the Titans' football squad.

Other names that cropped up in early discussion of possible small name coaches were John Shada, 42-year-old Titan backfield coach; Dan Boisture, coach at Redford St. Mary High School; Tom Connell of Lourdes High School, Denny McCotter of St. Theresa and Jack Simmons of Holy Redeemer.

Player Demands Run Into United Front

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball magnates today formed an angry, united front against the major league players' bid for a cut of the owners' income and minor leaguers' demands for a pension plan.

The big league players, already bulwarked by a pension plan supported by World Series radio and television money, jolted their employers yesterday with a salary proposal calling for 20 per cent of each club's gross revenue.

At the same time, International League executives were shocked by the threat of a strike by their players following the officials' refusal to buckle to an ultimatum by the athletes' lawyer.

"You will accept the pension plan or you will not have International League baseball," attorney James Durante was reported as saying.

Frank Horton, president of the Rochester club, who reported Durante's words, said the directors "could find no way, within the economic framework of the league, to raise the more than a quarter of a million dollars to underwrite a pension plan.

Durante had informed the International League the players had resolved not to sign 1959 contracts nor to report to spring training until the pension plan was accepted.

Horton's reply was: "We intend to operate the league and play baseball in the 1959 season. But we cannot agree to a pension plan."

No strike threat hovered over the heads of the major league magnates but they were seething over what they called "unthinkable and unreasonable demands" by the players.

Earlier, the players withdrew their original request for 25 per cent of the regular season radio and television receipts of the two leagues.

Haves, Have-Nots Square Off

Bonus Fight Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP)—A battle between the haves and have-nots over baseball's bonus and draft practices built up to its first showdown at the major-minor league meetings today.

The minors scheduled a vote on three proposals designed in different fashion to reduce what Commissioner Ford Frick has described as crazy handouts of thousands of dollars in bonuses to young players.

Major league clubs will pass the final word later this week when the issue reaches them. And they will exert influence over the action of their minor affiliates at today's session.

The clubs that have—those with well stocked treasuries and farm systems—want to limit the draft. The clubs that haven't want more of a chance to pick up promising players from leagues of lower classification.

Proposals up for decision by the 24 minor leagues would:

1. Expose all minor league players to the draft forever after their first year in organized baseball.

2. Expose them after the first year, but if not chosen at that time keep them off the eligible list until they have played four years.

3. Restore a modified version of the old bonus rule which would require major league clubs to retain for two full seasons any player signed for a bonus of more than $5,000.

The New York Yankees submitted this last proposition in an effort to minimize bonus payments but block what they consider grave threats to farm systems and support of minor league teams and capable youngsters. The Yankees say either of the other plans would create just such a threat.

Support mounted for the second proposal, entered by the Los Angeles Dodgers, for a first-year draft and then a layoff through three seasons. The triple-A International League and American Assn. were among those favoring this compromise settlement.

Montcalm Team New Huron Pin Contender

Hottest item in the Huron Bowl Classic is the upsurge of the recently shuffled Montcalm Centre team. Now sporting a formidable 1030 average, these five 200 plus bowlers have climbed from the bottom of the league into a contending sixth position.

Last time out, Montcalm swamped West Side Mobil 3201-3102, winning three points. Their games of 1041, 1063 and 1097 were among the season's best. George Chicovsky posted a 215-223-245, 683, while Lee Putti racked up a 289 in a 676 series. Clark Balch hit 718 on games of 268, 212, 238, and Monroe Moore 224-238-213, 675 for the losers.

Pat Sweeney fired a 652 as did Paul George in other games, as twenty-five of the 60 bowlers exceeded 600. The team battle for first place is becoming a scramble among four strong teams.

Red Wings Defeat Serious MSU, 11-3

EAST LANSING (AP) — Detroit's Nick Mickoski scored the hat trick as the pro Red Wings overpowered the Michigan State University hockey team 11-3 in an exhibition game last night.

The skating Spartans, taking the exhibition seriously, even got into a mild brawl with the pros in the third period. Michigan State opens its season against North Dakota here Friday night.

A pair of sophomore imports from Ontario scored the three MSU goals. Jim Attack of Niagara Falls made two and Herb Brodsky of Toronto scored the other. Alex Delvecchio was a double scorer for the Red Wings.

A brief dispute on the ice in the third period was broken up by officials.

Pointers Snap Maples' String

A victory in the final event of last night's swim meet for host club, Grosse Pte., cost Birmingham high its first dual-meet loss since the 1956-57 season.

Pointers took the event, opening test for both squads, 49-47, when they won the 160-yard free-style relay. Winning team was John Nicholson, Cy Judson, Bill Pattee and Mark Gregory.

Loss was Maples' first in 23 dual meets.

Dave Smith, veteran letterman and Maples' all-around ace, turned in the meet's only double victory. Dave won the 200-yard freestyle and the 120-yard individual medley.

Wertz Glad He's With, Not Against Bosox's Williams

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — When a reporter told Cleveland first baseman Vic Wertz he had been traded to the Boston Red Sox yesterday, Wertz answered "Aw, you're kidding."

Wertz was in suburban Gates, guest of honor at a little league banquet.

When he realized the story was true, he said he was sorry to be leaving Cleveland but added:

"I'm glad to go with Boston. I hit real well in that town and besides it will mean I won't have to field any more of Ted Williams line drives."

Albion End Tom Taylor Put on Small College Honor Team by AP

NEW YORK (AP)— From 11 schools which lost only a total of 20 football games comes the Associated Press Little All-America for 1958.

Ten of the first team are seniors. The lone junior is Carlos Gonzales, whose play at guard was a big factor in California Poly's 8-1-0 record.

Forming the backfield are John Green of Chattanooga; Sam McCord of East Texas State; Robert Webb of St. Ambrose and Edward Meador of Arkansas Tech.

Duke's Murray Offers Radical Grid Shakeup

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Everything has changed in modern football except the seven-man line and four-man backfield.

His proposal—which makes such innovations as the forward pass and lonesome end look conservative by comparison: A five-man line fronting a six-man backfield.

Murray is convinced the offensive phase of the game is heading for a deadend under the present setup. "The defense," he said here today, "has caught up with offense and the scoring has been lower and lower.

"We're seen scores of new offensive variations this year but they generally proved that the defense is superior."

Murray said he has submitted his proposal to the NCAA rules committee backed up with these reasons:

"It would eliminate all pre-conceived defensive measures.

"It would make a place for more boys with speed and less size as a result of fewer linemen.

It would tend to alleviate some of the problems of recruiting since it would take some of the big men out of football, who are the hardest to find.

"And it would provide more offense and more interest for the spectators."

Murray maintains that if "college football is to be kept in a healthy condition, we will have to open up the game and that means offense."

"As a resut, the defense would never be certain in its job."

The Atlantic Coast Conference coach pointed out that "we in the South play defensive football, probably due to the influence of Gen. Bob Neyland of Tennessee."

The proposal for a revamped alignment is all the more startling since it comes from a man whose teams have long been associated with a conservative style of football.

Murray maintains, however, that "this idea has been highly overstated. We probably ran from more different formations this year including the lonesome end than any other team in the area."

Husky Entry From UP Is Press 'Derby' Winner

Storeman Clyde Hazen Bags 8-Point Trophy on Drummond Island

By H. GUY MOATS

A fine, 8-point buck that tipped the scales at 235-pounds, dresesd out, today had brought a $150 reward to the hunter who downed it.

At expiration of the two-day extension, following the state's deer season windup, no new entry had appeared to challenge Clyde Hazen's big one for top honor in The Press' 1958 deer contest. County hunters were allowed the extra time to get back from northern areas after the gun season closed last weekend.

Hazen will shortly receive $150 in U.S. Savings Bonds as his reward. He resides at 1214 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, and operates a Walled Lake store. Hazen is a veteran hunter, usually does his hunting in the Upper Peninsula.

The winning entry came along after several "knots" had been tied in the race for the leadership. First big buck was a 207-pounder, which didn't hold on very long. Then, in quick succession came three 220-pounders. After a few days more, a 227-pounder eliminated the previous leaders, to take over for a few days.

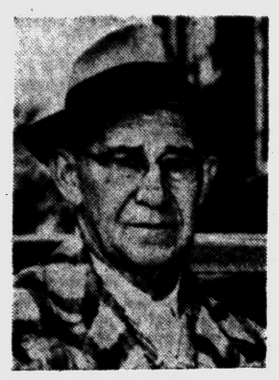
An interesting angle of the contest was the lack of big deer, or for that matter, any entries taken in county areas. In the past one of the biggest winners in The Press contests was taken in the Highland recreation area.



Pontiac Press Photo

THE WINNERS — Here's the buck and here's the hunter who got the 1958 Press' contest winner's award of $150. Clyde Hazen dropped his 235-pounder in the Upper Peninsula, on Drummond Island, off the eastern tip of the peninsula. Contest closed on Sunday, Nov. 30, when the state's regular gun season wound up. Noon, Tuesday, was the final time for turning in entries. More than the usual number of big deer were listed for this year's "big deer Derby."

Longer Season for Deer Would Cut Winter Loss

By JACK PATTERSON

At the end of any deer season there are two figures that pretty well tell the story of that 15 day period of feverish activity in the woods. One is the number of deer killed. The other is the number of hunters shot. Of the two the latter is more easily tallied, both because of the daily count and the small number involved. While the number of hunting fatalities in the season just past (11) is nothing to inspire smugness, it is surprisingly low in view of crowded conditions on some public hunting grounds and in view of the fact that anybody with five bucks is entitled to a deer license.

PATTERSON

As far as the deer kill is concerned any figure is at best an educated guess. Not enough time has elapsed to permit the estimators to pick a figure, although every indication points toward a heavy legal kill.

Whatever they come up with as the legal kill should be doubled to include deer illegally shot throughout the year. That latter figure should come somewhere near the true total.

But whatever picture is revealed one thing is sure. Too many deer have survived. A mild winter like last year's probably would see most survivors last it out until the new growth of spring. But signs and portents indicate anything but a mild winter. Heavy snows that prevent deer from feeding in the uplands will result in a starvation loss measured in tens of thousands.

Now there is no human agency that can prevent a heavy starvation loss under the conditions outlined above, save one, the man with the rifle. The deer are going to die. The only question is, how.

One possible way to limit starvation would be to authorize an additional deer season running, say, from the middle to the end of December. Number of any-deer permits could be made available on a first-come basis for areas where threatened large-scale starvation seems likely.

Such a season might not be necessary every year, but there will certainly be years to come when such a move would prevent a useless waste of harvestable deer.

Bags Fine 10-Pointer

His first deer, taken during his first deer-hunting expedition to the Upper Peninsula, also was the only one bagged by the family group of Joe Claus, 800 Highview, Lake Orion. Joe's buck was a 10-pointer that dressed out at 200 pounds. Joe hunted with his dad, Everett, and brothers Bob and Mack.

The party was snowed in for five days, Joe reported, and with food supplies low, used one hind quarter of the buck for its meat supply.

Moose-Nose Dish!

TEACHES NEW SYSTEM—Personable Gerry Monod (above), veteran skier and ski teacher who has just signed on as professional at Grampian Mt. Club, near Oxford, is teaching a new system. Monod will conduct a school daily at the area, featuring the new Wedln method. It covers the downhill slalom, in which emphasis is put on using merely the shoulders for in-and-out turns, rather than the hips and midsection.

Record Harvest of Deer in U.P.

ST. IGNACE (UP) — A record number of deer killed in Michigan's Upper Peninsula have been carried south across the Straits of Mackinac, the Mackinac Bridge Authority reports. And the count still has a day to go.

At 7 a.m. Tuesday, hunters had taken 12,976 deer south across the Straits, compared with a previous record 11,393 in 1947.

The bridge authority said a survey showed 61,030 hunters crossed to the Upper Peninsula for the deer season which closed Sunday. It estimated 56,000 crossed the then brand-new Mackinac bridge in the 1957 deer season.

Hunters Report Fox Population 'Up' This Year

Reports from area fox hunters indicate the fox population may be "up" for this winter.

Fred Baucom, Harry Nichols and Paul Brazie of the Lapeer area have been running the reynards for several weeks, say they have seen many, but have taken only one.

The lone trophy was bagged Monday. It was a fat female.

"We saw lots of tracks and many fox, but had to run that fast female for six hours before bringing her to bay," Baucom says.

Dozen Schools, 1,000 Pupils Expected

Program for Prep Skiers

After several months of "spade work", in contacting high school authorities in the Oakland county area, announcement was made today by Hal McInnes of Grampian Mt. ski area of the organization of a winter-long prep ski program.

The program is scheduled to go into action next Monday afternoon. It involves the study of equipment, beginning lessons in the essentials of the sport, and will run for about 12 or 14 weeks.

McInnes says there are 12 area schools enrolled for the school, with the new Grampian Mt. pro, Swiss-born and trained Gerry Monod the instructor. Lesson periods will be held every school day, after the regular school work. Where the school groups are large, like that from Birmingham (250) each holds one afternoon for itself.

About 1,000 young hopefuls will take part in the schcool, McInnes says.

Besides Birmingham, schools listed now include both Pontiac Northern, with about 100, Pontiac Central with 50. Bloomfield Hills, Lake Orion, Oxford, Waterford (whose Dave Freeman, handling the group, is a former Olympic ski competitor), Rochester, Romeo, and Grosse Pte., Troy, Avondale.

Where necessary equipment will be furnished for the young skiers.

Basic plan for the school was the formation of a ski club in each school, with a faculty member in charge. Each club is conducted by its own officers.

The course consists of 15 lessons with an additional program that will take in advanced students. The latter group will get instruction in the swing turn, the Wedeln system of salom skiing and the technique of slalom racing. The school is the first of its kind in this section of Michigan, Grampian Mt. officials believe.

Little Reward in Trapping

Fur Prices at Low Mark

"I think I'm going to get out of this business of trapping," Jim Hanes, golfer-trapper, declared today.

Hanes explained that current payment for raw furs is at its lowest point in 22 years. Jim has been trapping muskrats for that many years, says that extra-large pelts of prime fur now bring only a half dollar, where during the 1947 season similar 'rat pelts brought $3.50 on the raw fur market.

"There are few 'rats with the 'extra' requirements left in this section," Hanes declared. "Trapping is hard work, and for the price the pelts are bringing now, it isn't worth the time and effort."

Hanes, Stan Tominsky and Stan's father, Stan Sr., of Elizabeth Lake road took 1,300 in the area's waters during the 1957-58 season. They received 73 cents a pelt, Hanes says. Hanes plans to get his father, Harry, of Keego Harbor, started at the trapping business, then quit it, himself.

Little Stories About Outdoors

Deer hunters usually hold the upper hand in contacts with the state's most-sought-after game animals. It's a surprising bit of news when the tables are turned, like the experience reported this week by Davisburg's Dennis Barry. Barry was hunting near McBain in Missaukee county.

Here's what happened:

Barry was just taking aim at a buck, part of a small group of deer, when the entire group suddenly turned on him, knocked him down and trampled him. Barry was treated for scratches and bruises at a hospital. "I never had a chance to fire a shot," he said.

Clever dogs, these great Danes. Hank Roberts' (Raven Hill's kennels, Clarkston) Tiny, sleeps on her personal couch, but when she's thirsty trots down the hall to the bathroom, turns on the washbasin faucet. Tiny, otherwise "Thunderbird," got her kennel name by crashing into the family television screen, after a pictured big bird with flapping wings. The bird was part of a commercial for a well-known wine.

A new class in basic rifle marksmanship was started on its way last night at OCSC. The course is for juniors interested in learning how to handle and fire rifles along approved lines that stress safety, and a good working knowledge of the weapons. Sixteen received their certificates a short time ago, and the new class was filled right at the start.

A pair of Michigan brothers, Joe and George Kelly of Pickford, have come up with a gadget to solve the problem of cold feet on the deer runways. A metal container in which a small oil heater is attached, is being marketed by the brothers. It works as well for duck blinds, tents, trailers, ice shanties and small cabins.

Identical bucks, as far as racks were concerned, were taken last week by a Pontiac area father-son hunting combination. James Sr. (Jim) and James Jr. (Jimmy) Horton, 3044 Bessie, Auburn Heights, downed the deer at Big Bay in the UP. Each rack was a 9-pointer, with five points on the left side. Jim's buck weighed 175, Jimmy's 185.

Jimmy captured the 1954 "big buck derby" held annually by The Press. He listed a 235-pounder to take the contest. He and his father have hunted each year for many years, at the same area near Marquette, usually are successful. —MOATS

Completing 4 Years' Work on 135-Mile Locks Chain

Canadian Seaway Ready in April

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—Canadian seaway officials believe the St. Lawrence Seaway will be ready for deep-draft ships next April — as promised four years ago.

Workers have been toiling for four years to complete the 135-mile system of seven locks, four canals and other deep channels.

Bennett J. Roberts, seaway president, emphasizes the seaway won't be fully finished by April.

Remaining work includes dredging to widen channels along the new route and completion of a turning basin at the seaway entrance in Montreal Harbor. But Roberts said the unfinished work will not create any bottlenecks once the seaway is opened.

"Barring unforeseen events," he added, "there will be a 27-foot channel from Montreal to Lake Ontario."

Three locks in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence, 65 miles west of Montreal, have been operating since July 4 for 14-foot navigation. All three, Canada's Iroquois lock, and the two United States locks near Massena, N. Y., are ready for 27-foot draft ships.

Four other locks, all within 30 miles of Montreal, have been completed and tests of mechanism started this fall.

Ten new bridges for railway and road traffic crossing the seaway route are almost finished. Tenders are to be asked next year for construction of a six-million-dollar high-level bridge at Cornwall, Ont., to link with a new bridge already built from Cornwall Island to the U.S. mainland.

Talks are under way to write a formal agreement on toll schedules, which need to be ratified by the Canadian Cabinet and approved by President Eisenhower before going into effect. Preliminary toll levels announced this summer call for 6 cents a ton on the gross registered tonnage of ships, plus 42 cents a ton for bulk cargo and 95 cents a ton for general cargo. This toll applies to ships using the seaway and the Welland Canal; there are partial tolls for partial transit.

The seaway, with its 800-foot locks, will be capable of handling almost 75 per cent of the world's present cargo ships. Most are barricaded from the Great Lakes by the old locks, only 260 feet long.

But shipping experts say the most significant impact of the seaway will not be on ocean vessels but on lake carriers with a carrying capacity of 25,000 tons. These ships have space for eight times as much cargo as present canal users. They will expedite movement of iron ore from Labrador and Ungava to Great Lakes steel mills, and shipment of Western grain to upper St. Lawrence elevators for ocean trans-shipment.

Mummy Found in France

BOURG, France (UPI) — A sarcophagus buried 20 feet below the earth has been found by workmen digging on the site of a new reservoir in this southwestern French town. Archeologists said it appeared to be that of a noble Roman dating back to the second or third century.

Grain Futures a Bit Weaker

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market was slightly weaker today in early transactions on the board of trade although there was a fairly good demand for wheat.

Traders said some bakery interests still were buying rather aggressively, but that somewhat more liberal selling by producers in the southwest had exerted a bearish influence.

It caused a moderate volume of hedge selling and appeared to assure an adequate commercial supply for all current needs.

Receipts of cash grain again were very small.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was unchanged to ½ cent a bushel lower, December 1.95¼; corn ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, December old type contract $1.15; Oats ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, December 65; rye ¼ higher to ⅜ lower, December $1.32¼; soybeans ⅝ to ¾ lower, January $2.14¼.

"There will never be any specific number of men assigned to the vice squad," Eastman said. "If the situation demands it, we'll add men. If vice is under control, some will be taken off."

Market Shows No Clear Trend

One of the few groups to make a positive movement was metals. They went down. Anaconda lost 1 point, Magma 2¼, International Nickel ⅞ and Kennecott 1.

Weakness in these shares followed a cut in the domestic price of copper by a leading custom smelter, which in turn followed weakness of the red metal in London yesterday.

American Motors featured the autos, up nearly 1 point. The other motors couldn't follow. U.S. Steel weakened nearly 1 point. Bethlehem started out higher and then dipped under the previous close.

Texas Co. was a firm spot in oils, up a fraction. Du Pont dropped 1 point in the chemical list.

Gaming Examination Delayed for 1 Week

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George J. Taylor yesterday was granted a week's postponement to prepare arguments showing why five persons accused of operating a horse-bet ring in Pontiac should be bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum granted the adjournment of the examination until Dec. 9.

In the arguments presented for two hours yesterday, three attorneys for the defendants claimed their clients should not be bound over for trial because search warrants used by members of the State Police Rackets Squad were invalid, thus making exhibits gathered in an Aug. 29 raid inadmissible into evidence against the five.

Charged with violating of state gambling laws are LaRue E. Gullett, 41, of 301 Dick Ave., former Pontiac deputy city treasurer, his wife, Gladys J., 35, James "Chinaboy" Pruzor, 54, of 4 S. Saginaw St., Basil W. Burke, 59, of 29 Salmer Ave., and Charles D. Apley, 44, of 29 Salmer Ave.

Strike at Dodge May Idle 50,000

7,000 Walk Out at Plant Which Is Key Supplier of All Chrysler Divisions

DETROIT (AP)—A strike of 7,000 United Auto Workers in a key Chrysler Corp. plant threatened today to idle 50,000 Chrysler workers in the Detroit area within a week.

UAW Local 3 struck Chrysler's Dodge Main plant at 10 a.m. yesterday. Dodge Main supplies parts for all Chrysler divisions.

The union charged Chrysler with a speedup. Company spokesmen denied the charge and said its production standards were comparable to those of its competitors.

Truck drivers who transfer parts and auto bodies between Detroit area Chrysler plants are Local 3 members, but did not strike immediately. A union spokesman said they had been instructed to stay on the job "for the next day or two."

Five thousand walked off the Dodge assembly line when the 10 a.m. strike deadline passed without settlement of the dispute. Two thousand others walked out later from a stamping plant unit and foundry, closing production.

Negotiators were to resume settlement talks today. Negotiations broke up at the strike deadline yesterday after an almost 24 hour meeting between union and company representatives.

Both the company and union agreed the strike if continued for a week could halt production at other company plants.

Chrysler said the issues revolve around 400 employes in a body department. It said the UAW was demanding more relief time for them than for employes doing the same work in other Chrysler or competitor plants.

Chrysler also termed the strike "not lawful" under its new, three-year notional contract with the UAW.

Heating Rules Being Prepared

Time Needed to Put Waterford Ordinance Into Operation

Although a new heating ordinance has been adopted in Waterford Township, it will be some time before it actually is put into operation, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

All of the intricate details that go into preparing an ordinance for effective operation are being taken care of, Seeterlin added.

By the end of January, local heating contractors will be able to work outside of the township without paying a $25 license fee, and contractors from surrounding cities and townships may operate in Waterford Township by paying only a $10 registration fee, he said.

At the present time, the township has no control over heating installations, collects no license fees, and local heating contractors are required to pay a $25 fee in every community in which they work outside the area.

In order to overcome the high license fees, it was necessary for Waterford Township to adopt the new heating ordinance drawn up by the Detroit Heating Reciprocal Council.

Applications are now being considered for heating board posts, which will include two representatives from the township government, two heating contractors and one citizen at large who is a mechanical engineer.

Approximately $900 Stolen From Bar

Approximately $900 in cash was stolen last night from the Five Spot Bar, 2585 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, according to township police.

Owner, Richard Mason, told police he discovered the theft when he arrived to open the bar at 9 a.m. and found the glass in the front door smashed.

Police said, however, entrance and exit was made by smashing a window on the north side of the building as footprints in the snow led to and from the building at that point.

Mason told police the money was in a cash register.

Major Cities Would Be Prime H-Bomb Targets

U.S. Should Scatter Vital Industry

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — In case of another World War, it seems to be a foregone conclusion that our major cities will get hit—and hit hard.

How much of the nation's population would be wiped out? A recent Congressional report said nearly 160 million persons would be killed in H-bomb attacks on 150 cities. That's nearly all of us.

How much of the nation's industrial defense potential would be knocked out? All of it, according to Leonard C. Yaseen, a leading industrial consultant. "America's entire defense potential is vulnerable to destruction by a relatively small number of H-bombs because we are still concentrating all our vital war industries in major cities," said Yaseen.

After the war, if it should come, it will be imperative for the nation to put together as rapidly as possible a significant industrial machine to provide for our immediate and future needs, he added.

Yaseen, author of the textbook "Plant Location" and senior partner of the Fantus Factory Locating Service, has a special knowledge of our industrial concentrations. It's his bread and butter.

While his firm moves its clients to locations that the clients feel are best, he feels the entire pattern of our industrial concentration should be turned inside out.

KEY AREAS

"Almost all our important industry is concentrated in 19 key industrial areas around major cities," said Yaseen. "Russia's industry is spread widely throughout its nine million square miles. Soviet law actually forbids building new industrial plants around the industrialized Moscow and Leningrad areas.

"Our Federal government must do more to help scatter the nation's productive capacity," Yaseen added. "Yet, while the subject of decentralization seems to be non-political, it becomes political because politicians shy away from it. They fear if they advocate decentralization, they'll cut themselves off from the 'big city vote.' And our cities don't help matters by continually competing to bring in more business."

Yaseen differentiates between dispersal and decentralization. Dispersal, he said, means moving a plant to the outskirts of a city. "But the plant still depends on the city for labor, power, gas and water. If the city is knocked out, the peripheral plants are knocked out, too," he explained.

To launch such a program of decentralization, Yaseen offers the following program:

—Federal law should forbid any plant with vital military significance from being built in communities of more than 50,000 population.

—To develop skilled labor pools, the Federal government, if necessary, should establish training schools in rural and semi-urban areas.

—The Federal government also should subsidize existing colleges and universities to assure more numerous first-rate technical departments across the nation.

—The Federal government should build small-scale pilot plants in rural areas so they can be operated if vital urban-located plants are destroyed.

—Fast write-off certificates should be limited by the government to manufacturers who agree to relocate far outside large cities in non-target areas.

—Community forums should be organized to discuss the problem of decentralization.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Weary negotiators reached a tentative settlement early today of the machinists' strike which has stopped operations of Trans World Airlines since Nov. 21.

Shortly after 2 a.m., the negotiators trudged out of their hotel room and said they had reached an agreement subject to ratification by members and approval by officers of the International Assn. of Machinists.

In a statement, TWA President Charles Thomas said the agreement "was at the same rate as had already been agreed to by Capitol, National and Northeast airlines and includes for TWA a satisfactory agreement on other issues."

Union sources had no comment.

The agreement, if approved, would end the 13-day strike by 6,700 IAM members against TWA, the nation's fourth largest airline. All TWA planes, including those in foreign service, have been grounded. The company laid off 19,000 employes because of the strike.

And in New York, a federal judge extended a temporary ban on a strike by the Air Line Pilots Assn. against American Airlines.

There were no developments in the dispute between the Transport Workers Union and Pan American World Airways. The union promised Monday that it would not interfere with Pan American operations pending mediation of its demands.

For Pontiac, 4 Other Districts

State OKs School Loans

The State Munincipal Finance Commission has approved a $2 million general obligation bond issue to finance the 1959 Pontiac school construction program.

Borrowings by four other area school districts against anticipated 1958-59 state aid also won approval, as did a bid by the new Village of Novi for its first loan.

The Pontiac bond issue will be the first long-term loan made by Pontiac schools since voters approved extra millage for school construction and operation in 1954.

Running for 25 years, the bonds will be paid off through the extra millage until 1964, when the millage ends. No plans are formulated for financing after that.

Pontiac applied for permission to issue the bonds under a provision that allows third-class school districts to borrow up to 2 per cent of their valuation without a public vote.

Bids will be taken Dec. 15, said Vernon L. Schiller, school board treasurer.

Next year's building program includes a new elementary school on Square Lake road in Bloomfield Township, and additions to Northern High School, Madison Junior High School, Washington Junior High School and Bagley School.

Avondale, Lyon Township and Hazel Park school districts won approval to borrow $50,000 apiece for operating expenses, while Romeo Community Schools was authorized to borrow $34,500.

School aid payments have been coming in late this fall, running only about 75 per cent of the amount anticipated.

The new Village of Novi was authorized to borrow $25,000 in anticipation of next year's taxes. The money represents the village's first official funds since its Sept. 22 incorporation and, with the aid of state tax distributions beginning in January, will cover operating expenses until July 1.

Christmas Spirit Should Endure Throughout Year

By DR. EDWIN T. DAHLBERG

The United States has welcomed into its fellowship what might be called our Christmas state—Alaska.

It was my good fortune last year to enjoy the Alaskan Christmas while on a Christmas mission to the armed forces of the Alaskan Command. It was like a visit to a winter fairyland. Every tree was a frosted Christmas tree — every bush a crash of jewels. Even the telephone wires and electric cables were like ropes of silver tinsel strung from pole to pole.

Nor was it an illusion. For the Christmas carols, the worship services in the churches and the military chapels, the Christmas lights in the windows, all made clear that Christ—the One who is the heart of Christmas — was not forgotten. With what a sense of exaltation did we sing amidst the Alaskan snows, thousands of miles away from Bethlehem, the immortal words:

"Joy to the world,
The Lord is come!"

Christmas is such a meaningful season that certainly its spirit should not be confined to the 25th of December.

There are simple outward ways by which we can celebrate Christmas all the 365 days of the year.

I know a woman, for instance, who some months ago decided to make every shopping trip an experience of Christmas friendliness, regardless of seasons. Especially does she try to find some good girl for the most ordinary service.

The whole year has been a very happy one for this Christmas experimenter. Planning ahead, she does much of her Christmas shopping during the summer vacation period in the gift shops along the highway. With the help of her deep freeze, she makes her Christmas cookies long weeks ahead, so that she has more time to think of the real meaning of Christmas.

In the larger areas of life we should be able to expand the Christmas season in every direction.

This is particularly true in the field of race relations. How many people there are who like Joseph and Mary can find no room at the inn, not because there is no room, but because restaurants, hotels, and motels all over the land refuse to open their doors to people of other color.

A hotel clerk in a northern community even called the police when one of my Negro friends, a distinguished Christian educator, inquired at the desk late one evening for a room. What a long way to Christmas! And yet how near, when the spirit of Christ is re-born in the human heart.

A major Christmas enterprise the year around should certainly be an all-out effort for world peace also.

It is good to see the rear windows of many cars on the highways the little sign, "Pray for Peace." But it is not enough to pray for peace. We must work for peace, too. For thousands of years we have prayed to the God of Jesus Christ for peace, but through all that time we have worked for the god of war, building our whole economy around military preparations.

Instead of being content with Christmas rehearsals of peace, with shepherds kneeling at the manger of Bethlehem, wise men bringing their gifts, and radiant young angels singing "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace, good will to men," is it not time that we should begin answering our own prayers by an actual performance of peace?

We can not continue armament races, bomb tests, and programs of massive retaliation and expect to have peace at the same time. History has given that kind of double-talk Christmas the lie.

We need a new kind of inter-continental Christmas missile: loaves of bread for the hungry, hope for the poor, work for the jobless, medical care for the sick, education for the illiterate, release for the prisoner, compassion for the broken-hearted. Above all, the gospel of Jesus Christ for the lost —the good news of a God who loves us and wants us for His own.

"A merry heart," said the ancient Hebrew writer in Proverbs 17:22, "doeth good like a medicine." What better medicine for the world than to develop the equivalent of a Merry Christmas greeting for every morning of 1959?

HE'S ON DIET — A HEAVY ONE — Bertie, a 1,200-pound hippo, gets bread sandwich from keeper Luke McCabe at New York's Central Park Zoo. The animal's daily diet now consists of 35 pounds of hay, 15 pounds of bread and sundry vegetables.

Veteran Actor Starring on TV

69-Year-Old Regular on Ann Sothern's Series Monday Nights

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — There's the little man who is never there, of course, and then there's the little man who is ALWAYS there. That's Ernest Truex, of course. He's always where? Well, he was a teen-age cast member when famed Lillian Russell starred on Broadway in "Wildfire."

He was there as an unimpressed Broadway star when movies were born in a New York nickelodeon owned by Adolph Zukor and Marcus Loew. He was there as Mary Pickford's leading man in 1912 when Zukor made his first feature movie, "A Good Little Devil."

He was there as an imported Broadway star when "talkies" came to Hollywood. He was there as an actor when TV was born in New York. And he was there as a regular cast member when cameras turned on Ann Sothern's new Monday night, CBS-TV telefilm series.

From gas jets in the footlights to television — that's the amazing show business saga of 69-year-old Ernest Truex, actor for 63 years and Uncle Sam's answer to France's 70-year-old Maurice Chevalier.

Today, watching Ernest Truex walk with nimble step and clear bright eyes into a scene with Ann — hearing him leap to dialog cues and reel off long passages — talking to him about his life as an actor since he played Hamlet in a kiddie show at the age of 6 — you marvel at this 5-foot, 3-inch little man always there at the planting of show business milestones.

You marvel at his career—63 years of acting with 48 opening nights on Broadway and 10 in London. A long list of silent movies and modern films. Two hundred live TV show performances—and now a weekly series.

Yet you hear him laugh:

"I'm not a ham: I was never stage-struck. I don't consider acting a form of expressing myself—something I need. Acting is just my job in life — and I've led a sane life.

"My family always has been my greatest interest. I have three sons and a daughter and three grandchildren. They have been my life.

"I don't miss the theater. I have no zest for it now. I don't miss live audiences, either, because by now I know what they'll laugh at.

"And I don't have to live down any past notices," he chuckles, "because I've outlived the critics. You might say I'm now breaking in a new set of critics."

Home to Ernest Truex in 63 years of acting has been New Jersey, New York, Long Island and California when he won film stardom and now California again. And California it will be from now on because:

"I've always loved the bloody place. And now I don't worry about a Hollywood story I once heard.

"It was about a young Broadway actor who came to Hollywood to make a couple of movies. He made them and then he sat down in his patio and looked at the scenery. Finally he got up to go into the house and he was 60 years old."

With his second wife of 17 years — actress Sylvia Field — soft-spoken, Kansas City-born Truex lives in a home beside the Pacific Ocean because he loves "the tang of the salt air" which, he adds, "is wonderful for the begonias I like to raise."

It's strange, after all his years of Broadway and movie stardom, but TV, in 1948, permitted little Ernest Truex to escape type-casting.

All his life he played the wispy, henpecked husband or newlywed. But producers of New York's live TV shows let him play what he calls "strange, weird old guys" and he remembers it as a lot of fun.

Now, as hotel manager Jason Macauley on Ann Sothern's show, he's back to the wispy, henpecked husband role but he's happy "because I guess it is what I play best."

REAL OLD-TIMER — From acting with Lillian Russell to the Ann Sothern Show on TV is the acting-longevity record of 69-year-old Ernest Truex. His career encompasses 63 years, with 48 opening nights on Broadway and 10 in London, scores of silent and talkie films and 200 live TV performances. Now, with Ann Sothern, he's back in the type of role that made him famous — the wispy, henpecked husband.

Clark Is Rockefeller of the Television Set

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I suppose some evil-minded people are going to suggest that I had an ulterior motive in inviting Dick Clark to dinner.

"You're a song writer—and Dick can turn records into hits on his 'American Bandstand' TV show . . . these people are going to say.

Why, it NEVER occurred to me!

WILSON

"I happen to think Dick Clark is so handsome he ought to be in the movies playing young Clark Gable parts," I said to my wife.

I didn't even mention to him that I had a song. (If the wife happened to mention it 10 or 12 times, I can hardly be blamed.)

When Dick started with the minestrone, I observed his wonderful manners. I don't know whom Ike has in mind for Secretary of State when Dulles leaves, but, well anyway . . .

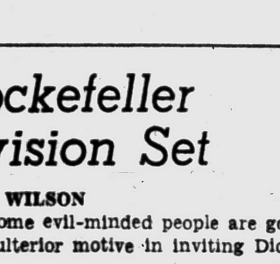
As each little girl came over, from three up, for his autograph, he would smilingly ask her name. If she happened to say Cheryl, he would say:

"You're about 15, aren't you?"

"How did you know?" she would squeal, and he would say:

"Because Lana Turner had a daughter named Cheryl about that long ago and that's where a lot of parents got the name."



CLARK

Dick's not even 28 yet but he's so brainy. (Kind of a young Einstein, that's what he is, as Herb Shriner would say.)

"Why is it that song writers no longer send written music into publishing companies but send 'demo' records instead?" I asked.

"Because most people in the music business can't read music."

Dick tries to listen to 150 records a week in his little madhouse Philadelphia office, but what I like about him is his honesty. (He's a young Abe Lincoln.)

For example, I said, "Do you ever miss picking any good records?" and he said, "Have to. Because some records you never get to hear. You get through half of them."

Dick, though rich, is still a man of the people (kind of a young Nelson Rockefeller) and finds the quickest way to get from his Philadelphia home to New York is by bus.

"I swear this is true," he said. "One trip I came in on, a girl was going to interview me on the bus. As we were leaving Philadelphia, the dispatcher said, 'Dick do me a favor. This driver is up from West Virginia and has never been to New York before. Show him the way!"

Any all around genius like that is not going to plug a song for merit and there's no flattering him. I wouldn't even mention the name of my song to him.

When did I see Dick?

"It happened last night."

De Gaulle Flying to Algeria Scene

Expected to Remove Salan From Control of Local Government

ALGIERS (AP) — Charles de Gaulle eft France by plane for Algeria today to try to speed up his program for halting the nationalist rebellion. It is his fifth trip to the North African territory since becoming premier.

During the five-day visit he was expected to remove Gen. Raoul Salan from control of civil administration in Algeria and to return government control to civilians.

Salan, the French military commander for Algeria, has been in charge of the civil administration as well since the May 13 uprising of right-wing European settlers and army officers that brought De Gaulle to power.

Unofficial reports say De Gaulle will give civil control to Paul Delouvrier, a veteran economist. Salan's aide, Gen. Maurice Challes, reportedly will assume military command.

Duties of the post were not announced.

Salan will accompany De Gaulle on his Algerian tour, which begins today at Bone, near the Tunisian border. De Gaulle will inspect the Tunisian frontier region through which rebels slip arms.

Los Angeles Will Bid for Dem Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A formal bid to the Democratic party to hold its 1960 convention in Los Angeles will be made in Washington this weekend.

Representatives of the city are flying to Washington today to present their case to the party's Convention Site Committee. The Democratic National Committee is expected to make a decision Saturday.

Oilman Edwin W. Pauley, chairman of a citizens' committee to bring the convention to Los Angeles, said $300,000 had been raised toward a $350,000 guarantee asked by the Democrats. He said he hopes to have the rest by the meets.

Los Angeles has never been host to a national party convention. It is jumping into the competition this year on the strength of a 19,000-seat sports-and-convention arena now being built.

Mood Music Accompanies $9,110 Holdup of Family

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — David Gottlieb and his family were robbed of $9,110 in jewelry, furs and cash Tuesday night by two bandits who left them bound on the living room floor.

The Gottliebs freed themselves. Gottlieb said that while the men were tying him up, the television set remained on.

"And what should come on," he said, "but that Dragnet song. You know, dum de dumm dum."

Russia Claims Most Electric Railway Lines

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has more electrified railway line than any other country in the world, a Moscow broadcast claims. The broadcast gave no figures.

It said, however, that the Moscow-Far East main line, now being electrified, would be the longest electric line in the world, in point of distance covered and freight carried.

Debbie Near Settling Finances With Eddie

"Of course, these things are never definite until signed," said Frank Belcher. "If a settlement is reached, it naturally follows that Miss Reynolds will file a California suit for divorce."

The rift between the Fishers started last Sept. 9 when he returned home after touring New York night spots with Elizabeth Taylor, widow of Mike Todd.

Drug Fountains Fading

NEW YORK — There were some 53,700 drugstores in operation in the United States at the start of 1953. About 29,000 of them had ice-cream fountains, about 5,000 fewer than five years before.
