Mother and Neighbors Feared David Sandahl

By MAX E. SIMON

Parents warned their children to stay away from him . . . doctors feared that he might someday kill . . . his mother was frightened when alone with him.

These were the symptoms of a tragedy — a tragedy which was to end in death.

It happened in California. A former Waterford Township youth, discharged from a mental hospital less than three months ago, Monday shot and killed his parents, former Waterford Township residents.

"I just couldn't take it any more. My father made me practice the accordion 8 or 10 hours a day."

That was David K. Sandahl's explanation of why he killed.

The tragedy which was to hit the Sandahls was sensed in the neighborhood where the family lived.

Across the street from the Sandahl home, at 6411 Harriett St. lives Mrs. Leo Hooper.

"I'd look out and see him walking around their house," said Mrs. Hooper, of 6415 Harriett St. "That's all he ever did. All of us neighbors were scared. Parents told their children to avoid him.

"Once in a while when he was walking, he'd suddenly start jumping up and down, mumbling to himself. Or he'd run. Nowhere in particular.

"His mother would sometimes come over and tell me she was scared to death of him. I had the feeling they moved around quite a bit, probably because of neighborhood talk."

"The only thing I ever knew him to do besides walk was to play the accordion."

Mrs. Hooper said the boy's mother was distraught because he threatened often to take his own life.

"He'd chew on his fingers all the time," Mrs. Hooper said. "It's a wonder he didn't eat them."

David's mother, ashamed of his odd actions, told Mrs. Hooper her son was acting that way because of nervousness.

"She put it this way: 'He had a high I.Q.,' " Mrs. Hooper recalled.

When the family moved to California in April, the neighbors breathed easier.

Before they left, Mrs. Sandahl had sought medical assistance for her son.

She took him to Dr. E. M. Gates, a Pontiac neurological surgeon.

"I was afraid something like this would happen," Dr. Gates said today. "I arranged personally for an appointment for him at Pontiac State Hospital—it was a serious mental case."

The appointment was kept, but nothing came of it because the family moved to California.

David entered a mental institution there in May, was released in November.

His release meant death for his parents—Ewald L. Sandahl, 52, and his wife, Elizabeth Mae, 55.

"They made me practice the accordion too much" was all Sandahl mumbled to police.

Accused Killer Closely Guarded

ENTERS COURT — Accused murderer Demitrios B. Tsermengas, with hands handcuffed behind his back, is led into the courthouse by three Oakland County sheriff's deputies. Tsermengas has been guarded by three deputies throughout the four days of his second-degree murder trial because of a record of attempted escapes in the past, a member of the Prosecutor's Office said.

Judge Set to Charge Jury

Tsermengas Verdict Due

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty was to charge a jury of six men and six women after a noon recess, as the prosecution and defense of Demitrios "Jimmy" Tsermengas this morning concluded final raguments.

Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr., in a 28-minute closing argument, charged Tsermengas with killing Texas tough-guy George Kean because "he became a pure menace and liability" to a robbery scheme.

"He (Kean) got so hot that he had to be disposed of," Barry told the jury.

During an hour-and-10 minute closing statement, Tsermengas' attorney, Clarence L. Smith, claimed the killing was accidental.

"Could this be the same man that saved two policemen one day, and was a murderer the next?" Smith said.

Smith, who admitted Tsermengas was "a cocky, conceited individual," was referring to testimony that Tsermengas had prevented Kean from killing two Collinsville, Ill., policemen, kidnaped by the gang the day before the murder.

During cross-examination by Barry, yesterday afternoon, Tsermengas often became angry and denied he and his two companions plotted to kill Kean because "he was too hot to travel with." Kean at the time was on the "most wanted" list in Texas.

Barry charged that while the two held Kean's arms, Tsermengas pumped a .45 caliber slug into his head.

"I did not," Tsermengas answered.

He stuck to his original story that the shooting was accidental as he tried to remove a "veritable arsenal" from the snoozing and drunk Kean.

Tsermengas said Kean had with him 12-gauge, 16-gauge, and double-barreled shotguns, an automatic rifle and two six-shooters. "He was vicious," Tsermengas remarked.

He said the shooting took place at the Commerce Township home of Donald E. Chandler, 1872 Point Dr., after he had just stopped Thomas D. Smith and Lowell E. McComb, the two Texas companions, from killing Kean.

Tsermengas quoted Kean as saying to the men, "I've just about come to a point where I don't need none of you guys." He also warned Tsermengas about "trying to take charge" of the gang.

The four had stopped off at Chandler's — who Tsermengas had met in prison — en route to Sault Ste. Marie to stage a robbery. After failing to secure policeman uniforms in Detroit, they moved to Commerce, from where Chandler and Tsermengas went into Pontiac to look for uniforms and a rifle with a scope, as Kean ordered.

They returned to the Chandler home, without rifle or uniforms, Tsermengas said. He gave this account of what happened:

"George was sitting on the sofa

Road Conditions Very Hazardous

Highways Slippery as Salting Crews Combat Continuous Snow

Road conditions throughout the Pontiac area were reported extremely hazardous today as old man winter moved back into Oakland County after an absence of several days.

Oakland County Road Commission trucks were fighting to keep ahead of a continuous snowfall since midnight with salting operations.

Cold and snow are expected to continue until Sunday. Today's forecast for the Pontiac area calls for mostly cloudy, windy and colder temperatures with a high near 20.

Snow flurries will gradually diminish tonight and Saturday. The low tonight is a predicted 7 in the city and lower in outlying areas. The high tomorrow again will be about 20.

Winds will be northwesterly 20-25 m.p.h. today diminishing somewhat tonight and tomorrow. The outlook for Sunday is for partly cloudy skies and a slow warming trend.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 12 degrees. The thermometer read 13 at 2 p.m.

Mikoyan, Dulles Probe Deadlock on Berlin Issue

Discuss German Unity as Hungarian Pickets Gather Outside

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles met today for talks on the East-West deadlock over German unification and the future of disputed Berlin.

Today's session—the second during Mikoyan's two-week visit to this country—was described by diplomats as strictly a probing operation, with each of the veteran antagonists of the cold war seeking to discover possible weaknesses or concessions in the policies of the other.

Mikoyan, No. 2 man in the Soviet Union, arrived at the State Department in a Soviet Embassy limousine with Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

A mixture of snow and rain was falling. But on a nearby corner half a dozen Hungarian pickets displayed their nation's flag with a black ribbon of mourning.

The leader of the pickets was Ferenc Nagy, Hungary's last non-Communist prime minister, who has been in exile since 1947. Nagy was holding the Hungarian flag.

As the two men met today, Dulles wanted to know primarily whether the Soviet government is prepared to enter into serious negotiations later this year looking toward an eventual German settlement.

Mikoyan presumably was anxious to find out whether the United States has any counter proposals to make to recent Soviet demands for withdrawal of Western forces from West Berlin and for an early start on writing a German peace treaty.

DAVID K. SANDAHL

Admits Slaying: 'Couldn't Stand Music Practice'

Boy, 20, Was Released Last Nov. 1 Following Mental Illness

A former Waterford Township youth has admitted shooting his parents to death 2½ months after his discharge from a mental institution, Sacramento (Calif.) police said today.

"They made me practice the accordion 8 or 10 hours a day," was the motive police attributed to slight, sandy-haired David K. Sandahl, 20.

The youth, who had a history with mental health authorities here, is held on two counts of suspicion of murder.

The family had moved to California last April from their Waterford Township home at 6411 Harriett St.

Sheriff's Capt. Harold Guerin said Sandahl admitted shooting his parents with a .22 revolver. He was discharged Nov. 1 from DeWitt State Hospital, a mental institution. He had entered the hospital in May.

The father, Ewald L. Sandahl, 52, was a production engineer employed at the Aero-Jet rocket plant and had worked on the atomic bomb at Oak Ridge, Tenn. His wife, Elizabeth Mae, was 55.

A traffic accident in which the son was involved led to discovery of the bodies Wednesday. Sandahl fled on foot after running his father's car into a ditch.

The highway patrol traced the car to the Sandahl residence, about 18 miles from Sacramento. The small frame cottage was

Cuba Delays Trial of 631 Prisoners

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

The revolutionary government postponed the start of "war crimes" trials for 631 Havana prisoners today, but other trials were resumed in Matanzas under new rules providing greater rights for accused Batista supporters.

At the same time the regime launched a campaign to publicize the "horrors" committed by ousted President Fulgencio Batista's army and secret police.

Capt. Jose Gonzalez Rigueral, aide to the commandant at Cabana Fortress in Havana, said the start of trials for 631 men imprisoned in the capital had been postponed for 24 to 48 hours.

Cuba was becoming increasingly sensitive to foreign criticism of the war crimes trials and executions. The newspaper El Mundo said the government should give fuller publicity to the "crimes of Batista agents" to offset it.

Meanwhile, ousted ex-president Fulgencio Batista says Fidel Castro will have to kill, or jail or exile more than half of Cuba's 6 million people if he means to carry out his "monstrous" threat to punish all Batista supporters.

In response to questions, Batista said his regime was supported by political parties which polled 2,800,000 votes in last year's election, labor unions with a membership of 1,600,000 and a "high number" of people from all walks of Cuban life.

Donner, Gordon Believe Car Market May Reach 5½ Million Units

CHICAGO (UPI)—The two top General Motors officials said yesterday retail passenger car sales in recent weeks "have been running at rates which support our outlook for the year."

GM Board Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President John F. Gordon said the auto market should improve this year to 5,500,000 passenger car sales.

"Consumer and business confidence is showing improvement. New car inventories are substantially below those of a year ago.

Donner and Gordon issued a statement in connection with the opening of the 51st Chicago Automobile Show.

Veterans Plan All-Out War on Trust Fund Diversion

By PETE LOCHBILER

Hotly opposed to Gov. Williams' plan to tap the $50,000,000 Veterans Trust Fund, Pontiac veterans groups were marshaling today for all-out war.

Plans were afoot to flood the Legislature with letters of protest against what some veterans leaders called "a violation of sacred trust" and what others branded "a grab."

"The veterans have fought long and hard for the benefits they've got," said Marshall F. Charter, commander of Chief Pontiac Post 377, American Legion.

"What we've gained over the years, we definitely intend to keep."

"If the state ever gets its fingers on the trust fund, we'll never get it back," said John L. Brown, commander of Pontiac Post 1370, VFW.

Brown urged all veterans, whether members of veterans groups or not, to oppose the plan through a barrage of letters to the Legislature.

James R. Cavalier, Amvets District 3 commander, said the money which voters set aside for veterans in 1944 was "a sacred trust."

NO SOLUTION

"Violating the trust won't do much to help the state out of its financial troubles," he commented.

Gov. Williams made the proposal yesterday as a means to tide the state over a cash shortage which he said might zoom to $135,000,000 by May 15.

He urged the Legislature to borrow the $50,000,000, then appropriate annually from general funds an amount equal to the yearly $1,110,000 interest to underwrite continuation of the indigent veter-

GOP Jumps on Williams' Plan for Funds

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Republican legislative leaders today jumped on Gov. Williams' plan to tap the 50-million-dollar Veterans Trust Fund and accused him of "lack of leadership" in solving the state's knotty tax problems.

A barrage of Republican criticism followed the Democratic governor's proposal yesterday to bail the state out of an imminent cash crisis by mortgaging the trust fund, set up to assist needy veterans.

Other GOP lawmakers declined to back it or condemn it before careful study and at least one, Rep. George Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), gave it an outright endorsement. Most insisted on ironclad assurance veterans would not be left in the cold if the plan is adopted.

"It should be remembered, however, that this is taxpayers' money, not veterans' money," said House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan).

The possibility of asking voters in the April 6 election to approve a one per cent hike in the state sales tax has been raised by Pears.

Pears said he "might possibly" push for the referendum as an alternate to the proposed tax package that includes an income tax.

"It's very likely the state might have to endure some payless paydays if a solution to the money woes is not found soon," Pears said.

Significantly, neither Republican nor Democratic leaders in either the House or Senate suggested an alternative proposal to meet a cash shortage Williams estimated would soar to 135 million dollars by May 15.

"Actually, there isn't any other solution that I can see," said Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House Taxation Committee.

Williams has invited leaders of eight state veterans organizations, including the American Legion, Amvets, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars, to talk over the proposal with him today.

Briefly, he proposed to turn over two-thirds of the securities in the fund to the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, currently in serious financial troubles. The schools would be authorized to put up the bonds as collateral for loans and apply interest from the bonds against borrowings.

He also proposed transfer of 16 million dollars in securities to the Public School Employes Retirement Fund, freeing the same amount for school aid income.

Finally, he recommended an annual $1,100,000 appropriation from the general fund to continue payments to veterans and gradual return of the mortgaged securities to the trust fund.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, branded it a scheme of robbing Peter to pay Paul.

. . . Ignores Dems' Angry Cries

LANSING (AP) — In a defiant mood, majority Republicans have cleared the decks for battle with Gov. Williams on strictly their own terms, turning a deaf ear to Democratic cries of "dictatorship" and "gag rule."

They laid an iron hand on all Senate machinery yesterday in adopting ground rules for the 1959 legislature.

Frustrated, outnumbered 22 to 12 and some of them hopping mad, Democrats tried to make up in words for votes they lacked. The resulting bitterness was likely to linger.

At one point, the charge "liar" was hurled by Sen. Basil W. Brown (D-Detroit) across the stately chamber at Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo).

To tighten its control, the GOP majority's main move was to boot one Democrat off each of 15 standing committees.

Openly, GOP senators said only they were asserting a majority's prerogative.

But privately, one of them said: "You watch. This is going to be the stormiest session you've seen. We're going to give Soapy a real working over."

Sen. L. Harve Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) said Republicans were merely practicing "practical politics," and congressional Democrats "have taken over in a way more dictatorial than anything here."

WSU Man to Study Effect of Tax Re-Shuffle on Area

Dr. Wilbur Thompson, a professor of economics at Wayne State University, has been hired to coordinate a study of what effect the proposed tax reorganization plan for Michigan would have on the southeastern six-county metropolitan area.

The announcement was made today by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee, which has engaged the professor for the study.

Thompson will meet Monday in Detroit with representatives of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties, plus an individual representative from Detroit, to launch the study.

Hamlin said, "The Inter-County Committee felt that, because of the tremendous possible effect this plan may have on our area, we should be protected and united in order to protect our financial future."

Representing Oakland County on the eight-member committee will be Norman R. Barnard, corporation counsel.

Hamlin stressed that the SICC has not taken a stand either favoring or opposing the so-called Conlin Tax Plan, which includes, among other things, a graduated tax on personal income.

However, several county officials have pointed out that, under this plan, industrial counties like those in southeastern Michigan would be hard hit as it has been recommended that all tangible personal property be exempt from taxation.

This could mean a potential loss of upwards to five million dollars to Oakland County, an official said.

Former Area Youth Kills Parents in West

locked but patrolmen saw the body of the father in the living room. They forced their way inside and found the body of Mrs. Sandahl in a bedroom. Each had been shot in the head.

A motorist, William Mabry, who lives near the Sandahl residence, heard a police radio report. Minutes later Mabry noticed David hitchhiking, gave the youth a lift and persuaded him to let him call police.

David waited, drinking coffee and smoking, at Mabry's home, until they arrived.

Asked why he killed, he replied "I just couldn't take any more from them. My father made me practice the accordion 8 or 10 hours a day.

"I couldn't get out of the house, go out with girls, play ball or anything else."

Dr. Thomas Harris, a psychiatrist, was asked to talk with the youth, who wears thick-lensed glasses and chewed gum incessantly.

Dr. Harris described him as a "case of extreme adolescent rebellion. He says he's 20 but he acts like 16 or less."

David had once been a patient at Glen Eden Hospital in Detroit.

In April of last year, Dr. Morris Golden, the hospital medical director, advised that the boy had suffered a relapse and should be committed to Pontiac State Hospital.

The previous January, the father had begun commitment papers on David in Oakland County Probate Court, but instead put his son in Glen Eden, court records showed.

Before moving in April, Sandahl renewed the Probate Court action then dropped it again because of the move to California.

A violent temper, especially towards his mother, was ascribed to David in his commitment papers.

"He had taken to collecting knives," the papers ominously stated.

with guns on either side of him. I knew he was very angry. I kept watching his eyes. Then I grabbed his elbow and told him he had lost his dignity. I told him let's go and he jumped up and said 'I'll kill all of you.'

"Then everything happened so fast: I struck at him. It was a big blur. I was in a daze. The gun went off and he fell back on the sofa with a hole in his head.

"I never meant to shoot the man. Only meant to strike him to get him out of the house. I hated this to happen the way it did, but there was nothing I could do about it then. The man was dead."

Tsermengas' attorney, Clarence L. Smith, called Mrs. Tsermengas as the last of three defense witnesses. Tsermengas was on the stand for five hours.

Mrs. Tsermengas, expecting their fourth child and dressed in a black maternity dress, told how rude and demanding Kean was at their home hours before the murder, and how he struck her when he discovered she had poured out a second bottle of whisky.

"Jimmy has been very good to his family," the soft-spoken woman said, nervously twisting a handkerchief. A necklace bearing a silver cross was around her neck.

Earlier, Tsermengas tried to dodge Barry's questions about a long criminal record dating back to when he was a juvenile. Several times he raised out of the witness chair. Three armed sheriff deputies have been guarding him closely.

He said Smith and McComb were "deathly scared" of the six-foot, stocky Kean. "You weren't?" inquired Barry. "I've faced fire before," Tsermengas answered.

ans benefit program, for which the fund was set up.

The mortgaged trust fund securities could be ransomed over a period of years through general fund appropriations, the Governor said.

"This proposal is like borrowing $10 to pay off a $50 debt," said Cavalier. "It wouldn't put the state on easy street. It's not a final answer to the financial crisis."

"The trust fund has proven its value over the years and the need for it is expected to increase in the future.

"The trust fund is already there, the people paid for it once. It would be poor business to ask the people to pay for it again, and pay for the interest, too, out of their own pockets."

AMVETS PROTEST

Norman Windiate, commander of Amvets Post 112, said his organization already had written letters of protest to Rep. Arthur J. Law, of Pontiac and other Oakland County legislators.

"We're definitely opposed to any plan that will endanger the trust fund.

"The state should find other sources from which to raise money."

"The money in the fund is for the vets," said Charter. "If it ever is pried loose, there's little chance it will be put back.

"The state has been trying to get its hands on the trust fund for quite a while. Veterans have got to stick together, flood the Legislature with letters to beat this latest raid."

CALLED 'ROTTEN DEAL'

"It's a rotten deal even to think of touching the trust fund," declared Brown. "All veterans in Michigan should fight to keep it.

"It's only a little fund, comparatively speaking. Yet the benefits veterans derive from it are wonderful.

"Gov. Williams says he wants to borrow the money, but as far as I'm concerned, he means to 'take it.'"

Cavalier recommended that the Legislature consider, instead of Williams' proposal, an Amvets suggestion that bingo and lotteries be legalized and taxes to provide a new source of state income.

Oakland County is the second largest spender of trust fund benefits in the state, said Floyd E. Cremer, chairman of the county trust fund committee.

In 1957, he said, $47,836 in benefits were paid out here, and last year the amount soared to a record $97,006, "because times were harder," he said.

Benefits were paid out to 6,848 different veterans last year and some of them, Cremer pointed out, received benefits more than once.

The trust fund is particularly handy, said Cremer, because it provides emergency help to tide veterans over until they can get help from other sources, such as welfare or the Veterans Administration.

"Many times, just a little help from the trust fund will meet a veteran's financial needs and keep him from going on welfare," said Cremer, who is also deputy director of the Oakland County Department of Veterans Affairs.

Disbursement of the funds is controlled by a four-member county committee appointed by the governor. Funds go for such items as house payments or grocery, fuel, hospital, medical and light bills.

Veterans who have served 90 days during time of war and have been residents of Michigan two years are eligible for benefits.

GM Tests New Device to Cut Smog

DETROIT (AP) — A program to develop a smog control device for use on cars and trucks has been launched by General Motors Corp.

GM described the program as "another of the contributions to the joint auto industry attack on the Los Angeles smog problem."

The auto firm said it planned to test "a technically feasible experimental exhaust control system in an attempt to develop a device that will be commercially acceptable for use on cars and trucks."

GM said the system was developed by Dr. Eugene J. Houdry and constructed by Oxy-Catalyst, Inc., of Wayne, Pa.

It said a 34,000 mile driving test of the system demonstrated "that the device promises major reductions in the emission of unburned hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and oxides of nitrogen."

It added that several manufacturers and engineering problems needed to be solved before a device would be developed that "will do the required job efficiently and at a reasonable cost to the user."

MSU Directors Take Dim View of Merger Plan

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Unofficially, the governing board of Michigan State University yesterday took a dim view of the proposed merger of governing groups of Wayne State and the University of Michigan.

MSU President John A. Hannah told the State Board of Agriculture that the proposed merger was "not a matter" the board "should become involved in at all," but that it would "take quite a lot of doing to accomplish what they (the proposers of the merger) want to do in the time allowed to do it."

Custody Verdict Called Warning

Regaining Abandoned Children Won't Be Easy After This Ruling

A recent ruling of the State Supreme Court should serve as a warning to parents who abandon or put their children up for adoption, and later try to regain custody, according to W. Cadman Prout, Oakland County Friend of the Court.

The case involves 9½-year-old Priscilla Noone, whose father and mother, formerly of Pontiac, back in 1950 couldn't care for Priscilla and asked a neighbor to care for her.

This neighbor in turn found she couldn't care for the little girl, as they already had several children. Neighbors of theirs, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Feldhauser, 2168 Wooddale Rd., Auburn Heights, were asked to care for the girl.

The Feldhausers consented and became very fond of Priscilla and two years ago decided to seek legal adoption. But at the same time Michael Noone Jr., who had divorced Priscilla's mother and remarried, decided he would like Priscilla back.

Feldhauser fought this move and Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland denied a court writ which would have returned the girl to Noone, now living in California.

The Supreme Court this week affirmed Judge Holland's ruling, which said, in effect, he didn't believe the father could provide a proper home for Priscilla.

"This could well be a lesson to other parents who fall in the same predicament," declared Prout.

PCH Debaters Win Saginaw Valley Title

Pontiac Central High School debaters are the winners of the Saginaw Valley Conference debate season of 1958-59.

The local orators won their title last night in the final tournament held at Flint Northern High School. Last year the school tied for first place with Flint Central.

In the past seven years, PCH has never placed below third.

PCH speakers won 9 of their 12 debates yesterday and finished the conference season with a total of 34 debates won and 14 lost.

Flint Central finished second and Flint Northern, third. Arthur Hill of Saginaw, Bay City and Saginaw High Schools placed fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

The 15 debaters, under the coaching of Walter R. Smith, will now compete in the state regional tournament next month. They also received the conference championship banner last night.

The national high school debate topic this year is: "Resolved, that the United States Should Adopt the Essential Features of the British System of Education."

Pontiac teachers judging at the tournament last night were Gertrude Overton, Donald McMillen, Herbert Sanford, Robert Rickard and Gilbert Gleason.

The Day in Birmingham

Primary Electors Must Register by Monday

BIRMINGHAM — Two deadlines for elections were announced by Birmingham City Clerk Irene Hanley today.

Petitions for city commission candidates must be filed by Feb. 28 and registration for the primary elections must be made before 8 p.m. Monday, she announced.

Three persons now serving on the city commission are circulating petitions for the necessary 25 to 50 registered voters' signatures.

Mayor Carl Ingraham will seek his second three-year term and former mayor Charles Renfrew is seeking his third term; William Burgum, appointed to succeed William Hutchinson who resigned from the commission last summer, is a candidate for the remaining year of the term.

The April 6 election will see the Emery brothers, John C. and Edward B., candidates for re-election as municipal judges.

The Feb. 16 primary, possibly the first ever held in Birmingham, is necessary because of the many people seeking the post of county judge. Four of the 14 would-be candidates must be eliminated prior to the spring election, Miss Hanley explained.

She said the city clerk's office would be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow for voters to register for the primary.

Meeting at 1 p.m. Monday in the Community House, members of the Birmingham League of Women Voters will vote on state issues of importance to indicate the action they desire the State League to take.

Mrs. Thomas Snelham, president of the local league, said the group will hear a report from the committee of six headed by Mrs. George Hilfinger on the revisions of Michigan's constitution. An analysis on how Birmingham and Oakland County voted on a proposed call for a constitutional convention also will be given.

Reservations for the annual Father-Son Banquet of the Emsbury Methodist Church are to be made by Monday with Mrs. Harold Hansen, 1065 Chapin St., or Mrs. William B. Terry, 3912 Elmhurst St., Royal Oak.

The banquet will be held in the church parlors at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 22, followed by a program of movies.

Mrs. John J. Wallbillich

Service for Mrs. John (Julia) J. Wallbillich, 32, of 171 Wendleton Rd., will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow from Christ Church Cranbrook. The place of burial has not yet been decided.

She died yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following a brief illness.

Glass Strike Forces Layoff at Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—More than 13,000 Chrysler Corp. workers at the Plymouth body and assembly are to be laid off at the end of work today because of a glass shortage from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. strike.

Nearly 2,000 Chrysler workers at a Twinsburg, Ohio, stamping plant and a Detroit parts and equipment plant were furloughed yesterday because of the strike. Some 12,000 United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union members struck the firm Oct. 5.

The company supplied about 90 per cent of the glass used in Chrysler cars before it was struck.

Burned Corpse May Be Nurse

Found Near Flaming Car, Body Thought That of Missing Woman

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Questions surrounding the flaming death of a woman, believed to be a Navy nurse, may be partly dispelled today by an autopsy.

Sheriff's investigators and Navy officers want to determine whether the burned body of a woman found Thursday eight feet from a blasted and burned car is that of Lt. (j.g.) Barbara Mitchell, 29, of Chicago.

The car was found near Livermore, which is 40 miles east of San Francisco.

Miss Mitchell, accompanied west by her aunt, was scheduled at 5 p.m. Thursday to board a flight for Guam from Travis Air Force Base. She did not show, nor was her luggage checked in. Her aunt, Mrs. Claire Carlson, has not been found.

Three sailors came upon the still burning corpse of a woman near a flaming car on busy U.S. Highway 50 earlier in the day.

Average annual wages of employes of Class I railroads of the United States rose to a new record of $5,434.12 in 1957, double the 1945 figure.

Ringleader 12 Years Old

3 Boys Held for Robbery

DETROIT (AP)—Archie McQuinn, 12, and his two alleged holdup accomplices — one 13, the other 16 — were held on formal felony charges today.

Archie, only four feet three inches tall, was named ringleader by police who say he held a .38 caliber revolver while the trio stole $100 in two store holdups.

In a third attempted holdup Archie fired the gun to scare a woman clerk who defied the boys and chased them off, police said.

The three boys, all from broken homes, appeared in probate (juvenile) court yesterday.

Judge Nathan J. Kaufman, in an unusual proceeding, ordered armed robbery charges against Archie and the other two, Douglas Burnette, 13, and Richard Moore, 16.

Ordinarily, Detroit courts do not permit such charges against juveniles.

Judge Kaufman retained jurisdiction. Before any action is taken under the charges, the three boys will be given psychiatric examinations.

Police said Archie, who has a record as a delinquent, admitted taking the revolver from the home of foster parents. All three have been wards of a Detroit couple.

17 Left Homeless as Fire Guts House

BAY CITY (UPI) — Seventeen persons were left homeless today by a fire which destroyed their two-story frame home last night.

Patrick and Rose Mitchell, owners of the burned-out dwelling, and their seven children escaped unhurt when an oil heater exploded in the Mitchell living room on the first floor.

Eli Neveau, his wife and six children also fled unhurt from the house which was destroyed by the explosion and fire.

Frozen rock-lobster tails are becoming an increasingly valuable export from South Africa to the United States.

BAY CITY PROJECT — The first of four guided missile launching destroyers being built for the U. S. Navy in the Defoe Shipbuilding Co. yards at Bay City is shown here. The ships are the largest deep draft type to be built at an inland port. Contracts for vessels such as these are made possible with the completion in 1959 of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Four Destroyers Built in Michigan

Will Be Set to Sail Out St. Lawrence Seaway After It Opens

BAY CITY (UPI) — Four ocean-going ships, costing $68,000,000 which couldn't get out of Lake Huron right now, are being built at shipyards in Bay City.

This was cited by the Michigan economic development department as an example of the economic impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway in providing new jobs and industry in the Great Lakes region.

Two of the ships, which are Navy guided missile launching destroyers, are already under construction at the sprawling Defoe Shipyards on the Saginaw River.

By the time the first of them is completed and fitted, in June, 1960, it will have ready access to the ocean, through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"This one contract alone," said the Michigan Economic Development Department "is providing steady employment for 1,450 workers and will keep them busy for nearly three more years.

The first of the big destroyers, to be named the Admiral Henry B. Wilson, actually will be launched next April, but will take another 14 months to be completely fitted. All four destroyers will measure 440 feet in length, have a displacement of 4,500 tons, and a 47-foot beam.

"Due to the scheduled opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway before the date set for completion of the first of these ships, we were able to bid for and obtain this important contract from the Navy," said Thomas J. Defoe, president of the shipbuilding company.

The seaway is scheduled for opening this year.

Girls, Alaska Has Men

Motel Manager Miffed as Menagerie Moves In

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — A motel owner didn't like what he found in one of his rooms and called police.

Officers saw three rabbits under a bed, a cat asleep in a chair, a large tank of goldfish, several parakeets, pigeons and lizards.

Ike Set to Defend Surplus in $77 Billion 1960 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today was reported ready to make forceful use of his veto power if necessary to maintain the scant surplus in the 77-billion-dollar budget he will send to Congress Monday.

The message for fiscal 1960, which starts July 1, is expected to urge bipartisan support for an anti-inflationary squeeze on federal spending and closing of tax loopholes.

Eisenhower's target, administration sources have hinted, is to cut outlays to a level slightly above 77 billion dollars. It is hoped that revenues will exceed that amount, although the margin may be only 100 million dollars or less.

There will also be some bad fiscal news in the message, officials conceded—a slightly higher deficit than was anticipated for the current budget year.

Spending this year is expected to mount fairly close to 81 billion dollars, instead of the $79,200,000,000 estimated officially in September. Much of the increase is attributed to the proposed $1,400,000,000 increase in this country's subscription to the International Monetary Fund, which Eisenhower recommended last week.

Revenues will have risen to more than 68 billion dollars instead of the 67 billion officially predicted. But when the government year ends next June 30 the deficit reportedly will exceed by several hundred million dollars the earlier estimate of $12,200,000,000.

Officials said mounting concern over the depreciation of the dollar, coupled with concern lest this country eventually price itself out of world markets, has reinforced the administration's decision to make a strong stand against deficit financing.

Don't Put Crumbs on Sill to Feed That Dove of Peace

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Somebody is always jumping up these days with the sudden perception of signs that Russia wants to ease East-West tensions.

Western officials are always "keeping the door open" and expressing willingness to reappraise their positions if the Reds will give concrete evidence of a desire for settlements.

But don't start putting crumbs on your windowsill to feed the Dove of Peace. They would get awfully stale before that bird arrives.

Secretary Dulles set off a wave of reappraisal talk at his news conference Tuesday with the statement that there might be other means of unifying Germany besides the free elections for which the West has always stood.

Certainly there are. But none to which both sides will agree. If the Western powers come up with new proposals it may appear to the non-committed world that they are being reasonable. But it won't make any change in the fundamental situation.

Here's why, and why the Communists want to keep tension eased, but not too much:

1. The Communists want and expect to take over the world.

2. They count on help from failure of the capitalist system—permanent depression.

3. They want to keep a sufficient tension so the capitalist nations will both waste their resources on armament, so contributing to economic collapse, and eventually use the arms among themselves in suicidal climax to economic competition.

4. They don't want the tension to get to the point where the West will unify in an attempt to wipe out Russia and international communism once and for all.

5. They also wish to appear reasonable before the neutrals, at the same time trying to convince them that the capitalist West is marching to its own doom while communism offers them the material progress they so desire.

It is, thereore, in the Communist interest to keep the West spending heavily on arms, thus limiting the resources it can apply to the economic warfare which Russia is now beginning, while maintaining a political level avoiding war.

Always in the background, of course, is the very real fear on both sides that when one appears to be on the verge of winning the cold war, the other will use its arms in one last violent and desperate effort to turn the tide.

That time of crisis may be a long time off. Dulles said Wednesday it might be generations. All that time the Reds can be expected to create tensions to keep the West under strain, then east them off to prevent an outbreak.

For the Reds believe that time is on their side. They are not interested in what the rest of the world calls peace.

When England's Queen Elizabeth I found that her own red hair was growing paler and thinner, she had some 80 wigs designed in shades of auburn, orange and gold, according to the National Geographic Magazine.

State Needs Long-Term Action

Michigan's opening Legislative sessions are meeting in what is probably one of the most troubled times since Michigan became a state back in 1837.

The State is short of money. There is an immediate cash shortage which must be dealt with very soon. The over-all financial picture of the State is not good.

Governor Williams has asked the joint session of the Senate-House meeting to mortgage the 50 million dollar Veterans Trust Fund. The money would be used to pay state payrolls which might otherwise be skipped. The bulk of the money, according to the Governor's proposal, would go to the University of Michigan and Michigan State University. Both institutions are in desperate need of funds.

Perhaps this is the only solution for the time being. If it is, we have no choice. But we must face the facts, grim as they may be, and admit that the future state fiscal prospects are not good.

New taxes are inevitable.

We will not attempt to solve the financial plight of the State. But on top of these troubles we continue to harass industry in no uncertain terms.

Being short of money is tough enough without kicking the goose that laid the golden egg. Hard on the heels of the first meeting of the Governor's hand-picked Committee on Michigan's Economic Future, the State Supreme Court comes out with its ruling on idle pay.

The decision as it stands means that the Michigan unemployment compensation fund now can be used as a strike fund against employers by the unions. The Legislature should really take a good long look at this ruling.

The words of WILLIAM T. GOSSETT, vice president and general counsel of Ford Motor Company, graphically explain our sorry plight when he says, "the January 12 decision of the Michigan Supreme Court in the PARKE case is a matter of deep concern to Ford Motor Company, as it must be to every Michigan employer or to any prospective employer considering locating a plant in Michigan."

The economic climate of Michigan must change. It is up to the elected lawmakers to grasp the situation and call a halt to this foolhardy nonsense that has been allowed to encompass our State.

The State Legislature, the Governor and other state officials face a problem that is not only financial, but will affect the welfare of our entire State.

Justice of Peace Wise in Taking Stern Action

Justice of the Peace JAMES N. CANHAM of Redford Township should be commended for not letting an irresponsible delinquent get off scot-free after committing a serious crime.

The PRESS has advocated for some time a "get tough" policy for youths that perpetrate costly or serious crimes. Certainly bomb scares in our schools fall in this category.

Justice Canham accepted the guilty plea of Douglas Hunter, an 18-year-old youth Tuesday night and immediately sentenced him to a 90-day jail term in the Detroit House of Correction.

Bomb scares are downright serious business in our schools. First of all, they are costly since there is a waste of food and teachers' salaries. In the winter it is risky since the children are forced to leave the schools in the cold weather without their outdoor clothing.

In the above incident, the young punk had quit school a year ago and said that he made the calls from a restaurant because "he wanted company" of his former classmates.

This type of foolishness, whether it be on a dare or just for "kicks" far exceeds normal youthful pranks. Apparently there is only one way to deal with these juvenile law breakers.

When they are caught and convicted as in this case, the punishment should fit the crime. A stern talking to, plus probation, is a weak solution for our growing youthful crime rate.

The Man About Town

Keep Them Home

Local Historical Matter to Have Place for Its Display

Michigan: What may have to take on the competition of Texas as a winter sports state.

Hardly a day passes that somebody does not offer some object quite incidental to Oakland County history which they would like to place where it could be exhibited and preserved for posterity.

These good people are urged to keep such things until the

Oakland County Historical Foundation is ready to open to the public the

Moses Wisner Home,

which it is hoped they can do quite soon. Do not send them to Lansing, as too many already have done. Keep them here where they belong, and it is hoped that this historical shrine (which cannot be matched in the entire state) will be in shape to properly receive them for display.

The best dual purpose suggestion of the winter comes from

of 1970 Emily Court. Carry a 5-pound bag of scratch feed (cost about 30c), in your car. When you get stuck, throw a little of it in front of your rear wheels, and the cracked corn and other ingredients in it will give you the best of traction and the hungry birds will clean it up.

The new president of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association, is a top man for the job. For several years he has been chief of police at Holly, where he was the prime mover in organizing its Teen Activities Club which has made juvenile delinquency unknown there, and whose system is being copied in many cities and villages throughout the nation.

James Parker,

Word comes from Flint that its

are to tour our Cranbrook in the near future.

A lively caterpillar was found on his sidewalk Wednesday by

of Auburn Heights, after that day's thaw. It was crawling—north.

Moving Target

David Lawrence Says:

Reds Hypocrites About Freedom

WASHINGTON — If anything were needed to expose the humbug and hypocrisy of the Moscow government, it has been fully demonstrated in the paradox of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan's tour of this country.

LAWRENCE

While he openly criticizes the government of the United States and its policies, no American, whether an official or an unofficial visitor, may do likewise inside the so-called "republics" of the Soviet Union.

Already "Tass," the official news agency of the Soviet government, is telling its readers and listeners that the people of the United States do not agree with the American government's policies and that Mikoyan is certainly winning converts to his cause.

Imagine some American official going to Russia and touring that country, making outspoken criticisms of the men in the Kremlin and trying to drive a wedge between the people and their government! This can be only a wild fancy. For nothing like it would be tolerated by the dictatorship which rules the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union has had some distinguished American visitors, including Senator Hubert Humphrey, one of the leaders of the opposition party in Congress and a high-ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But, though he spent eight hours in conference with Premier Khrushchev at the Kremlin, what the Senator said or later wrote in defense of American policies or in criticism of Soviet policies was suppressed, by order of the government, in all the newspapers of the Soviet Union.

How can there be mutual trust or the beginnings of a "peaceful co-existence" when the rules that apply inside the Soviet Union are so hostile to the concept of free interchange between peoples?

The Columbia Broadcasting System has, for example, been ordered to close its Moscow bureau, and accreditation has been withdrawn for its correspondent by the Soviet government. This was done to express Soviet disapproval of the televising over the CBS network in this country of a show about Stalin of the type found in historical novels. Similarly, a National Broadcasting Company representative in Moscow was denied use of broadcast facilities because of some phrasing in one of his broadcasts which the Soviet government didn't like. The Soviets, moreover, spend millions of dollars each year "jamming" American radio broadcasts to Russia and countries in eastern Europe.

Even more hypocritical is the Soviet government's attitude toward foreign newspapers and periodicals. It examines the policies of the publications and denies the admission of permanent correspondents representing any publication whose content the Soviets dislike. Yet the Congress of the United States admits to its press galleries persons from the Soviet Union in the guise of newsmen who are agents or employes of their own government in every sense of the word.

There is, in fact, no such thing today as reciprocity as between the Soviet government and our own government. It is the United States that gives constantly, while the Moscow government repeatedly says "no."

Yet Mr. Mikoyan tells American audiences it is time for America to stop saying "no" to the various proposals relating to the future of Germany and other world problems which have been under incessant discussion between Moscow and Washington these last few years.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

God forbid that I should justify you: till I die I will not remove mine integrity from me. — Job 27:5.

He that does as well in private between God and his own soul as in public, hath given himself a testimony that his purposes are full of honesty, nobleness, and integrity. — Jeremy Taylor.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Learn Value of Calcium and Stop the Bellyaching

From time to time, I try to teach you poor misguided customers the function of calcium in physiology, functional efficiency, health, vite, longevity and the prevention of disease. I seldom get any thanks for it. I seldom fail to be punished for it.

DR. BRADY

According to Wright's Applied Physiology calcium is:

(1) Essential for ossification of bone.

(2) Regulates excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centers.

(3) Necessary for adequate contraction of heart muscle.

(4) Necessary for clotting of blood.

(5) Diminishes permeability of capillary endothelium (we'll try to explain this one in a talk to follow).

Some persons are more sensitive to pain or discomfort than others. Some can stand pain or are less sensitive to pain or ache than others. The difference is not so much a matter of personality or character as it is a question of nutrition.

The individual whose daily intake of calcium is inadequate to maintain good calcium reserve (bone marrow is the storehouse of calcium) is hypersensitive to ache or pain. The individual who follows a high calcium diet (milk, eggs, cheese, greens, nuts, peanuts) and gets enough sunshine vitamin D daily to insure good assimilation and utilization of calcium, doesn't complain so much about aches, pains or discomforts.

SLOWER—BUT SURER

In a gentle, natural way, calcium, whether in food, food supplement or medicine, is, then an analgesic. It relieves ache, pain or other discomfort much the same as aspirin or acetanilide or the thousand and one trade combinations of these pain-killers do, only not so fast, fast, FAST. Before a few doses of calcium can relieve pain you will probably have forgotten just what you had been bellyaching about.

Nevertheless calcium is analgesic if you are not in such an all-fired hurry to stop the pain. Thousands of readers have reported that high calcium diet and-or an adequate daily ration of Ca and D (Vitamin D insures assimilation and utilization of calcium) gradually and steadily relieves neuralgia, headache, backache, joint pain. But the relief comes in weeks rather than in minutes, and the effect lasts indefinitely rather than an hour or less.

High calcium diet and-or calcium feeding not only "regulates excitability of nerves" but produces analgesia adagio. It is slow but safe. Far too slow for the ninnyhammer who takes aspirin, acetanilide, tranquilizer or barbiturate as readily as you or I take tea.

Woman Explains Reason Negro Votes Democratic

In reply to the editorial in Tuesday's paper and several letters in Voice of the People about why Negroes vote Democratic, neither party professes a great liking for the Negro race, although the Republicans are not so plain spoken as the Democrats.

Negroes vote for the Democratic party because it's supposed to be for the working class people. And that's just what Negroes are. Neither party goes out of its way to help the Negro.

My prayer is that Negroes will learn to read about the candidates and vote for the man and not the party.

In answer to the suggestion that all persons over 75 be denied the privilege of driving, he failed to go far enough, so I'll add that each county provide a stockade large enough to house such persons so they would be cut off from doing necessary errands, and above all, attending Sunday worship.

It's amazing how many elderly persons attend church now days and to take that privilege away would be terrible. The writer also failed to give his address so these persons could depend on him for transportation.

'Who Ever Thought of Such an Idea?'

Who ever thought of a nine-foot Oscar for Mike Todd? He would be enraged at the very idea. Hollywood will never, never grow up to adulthood. When we take in Hawaii, let's drop part of Los Angeles and all of Hollywood.

'You'd Be Centuries Ahead in That Case'

In three days I leave for Italy and I want to thank the U. S. and especially Oakland County for a fine time. Twenty years in New Jersey, 20 years in Italy, now 10 months here and I leave—probably for good.

You have more material things than any nation in the world. You have more and better food, clothing, entertainment, sports, houses, schools and travel than anyone on this globe.

You falter in religion, courtesy, lawlessness and stupidity. Your failure to hold inflation and the constant strikes and the demands of labor for more pay guarantees prices will go up and up and up.

You lack a government strong enough to face this openly and courageously and call a halt. If you continue all the plus factors and get rid of the minus, you will outdistance the whole world for centuries.

'He Took Dog Right Off Porch'

The other day a representative of the dog warden went right up on my neighbor's porch and took their dog to the pound. Last night when they went to get him, he was in a cage with several other dogs that were all practically foaming at the mouth, apparently for want of water, because our neighbor's dog just drank and drank so much when he got home and ate ravenous.

They charged these people $3.60. Sixty cents was for board. He was picked up about 11:30 a. m. and, as they were away, they couldn't retrieve him until 5:30. If you miss your dog, please look for him there and retrieve your faithful pal.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Peale and Crane Share Problem

Dr. Peale combines the zeal of ancient Elijah with the keen psychological insight of St. Paul. And he is a dynamo of energy as he tries to elevate mankind's spiritual morale. But he is unfairly accused, as the story below will indicate. So re-read this case and give us all a break!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-429: Dr. Norman Vincent Peale had lunch with me recently and we compared notes about our mutual psychological activities.

DR. CRANE

Dr. Peale preaches a powerful POSITIVE religion from the pulpit while I attempt to do the same as an educator and newspaper columnist.

"Dr. Peale," I began, "I want to clear up a misunderstanding that I feel is hampering me. I sometimes get so swamped with work and the extra drain of making these long speaking trips to offset the red ink, that I can hardly carry the load.

"A Michigan executive recently commented in the hearing of one of my sons, that he asked you if the proceeds from your dandy little GUIDEPOSTS MAGAZINE go to support your famous New York City church.

"And he said you replied, 'Are you kidding?', whereupon he has begun to tell people that you are personally making a fortune out of the magazine.

"Now I happen to know enough about publishing problems to realize that you simply can't be making a profit from a magazine that sells no advertising space and that is promoted for its inspirational value alone.

"So I thought you'd like to spike that rumor, since many people with no business gumption think I, too, am making a fortune out of the dimes that readers send in for my newspaper booklets."

DR. PEALE'S REPLY

Then Dr. Peale told me what I had already guessed, namely, that he travels all over America delivering speeches because he must make up deficits of close to $40,000.

In addition to the heavy load of preaching and writing, he thus must take long airplane trips for banquet addresses, the proceeds of which go to help keep his religious efforts solvent.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "I certainly appreciate your telling me about this misunderstanding by the Michigan executive.

"I sometimes get so swamped with work and the extra drain of making these long speaking trips to offset the red ink, that I can hardly carry the load.

"Yet I feel it is helpful to mankind to inspire their souls and uplift the morale of teenagers by GUIDEPOSTS. So I keep on, anyway.

"I'm sure you know what I am talking about, for your mail service must likewise be a deficit venture, isn't it?"

COSTLY EDUCATION

And I then informed Dr. Peale that I must likewise travel all over the country on burdensome speaking trips to raise between $15,000 and $20,000 each year to wipe out the deficit on this newspaper mail service.

Yet an occasional editor, like one in Minnesota recently, will taunt Maurice Williams, Sales Manager of the Syndicate that handles my column, with this challenge:

"How many millions of dollars has Dr. Crane banked as a result of the dimes my readers have sent to him?"

What gripes Dr. Peale and me most is not our hard work and then our overtime efforts in making speeches to wipe out the annual deficits, but to have supposedly intelligent people then accuse us of profiting from our purely philanthropic educational ventures.

It just goes to show how woefully uninformed people are about business matters.

For example, I donate my time to answer your personal queries. I waive all royalties from the booklets you order. Then I spend one full month of my time on coast-to-coast lecturing to wipe out the annual mail deficit!

And neither the newspaper syndicate nor your newspaper makes one red cent from this mail advisory service, either, for it is non-profit.

If you don't like Dr. Peale's or my efforts, at least don't malign us unfairly.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane, in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Angus went to do so wondering why there should be a faint feeling of distrust in his mind. The request was a simple one, and it was easy to believe that Mrs. Zoller wished to remove herself and her jewels from a room next to that in which a robbery had taken place. It sounded reasonable, but behind Mr. Zoller's apparent frankness, Angus had sensed something that made him vaguely uneasy.

He remembered Mr. Holt's advice, easy advice to follow, since it fell into line with his own inclinations. He wanted to do the job well, but he did not feel capable of solving the small mysteries that had irritated him in the course of the journey.

Maurice Tarrant was irresponsible, Mr. Holt enigmatic, Mr. Zoller secretive. Miss Seton showed little interest in the loss of the luggage and paled on learning of its recovery.

The admiral was apprehensive his sister was having visions. Things disappeared, things reappeared.

He longed, suddenly, for a sight of Angela. He wondered whether she would be in her room or whether she would already have gone out. He was about to put the matter to the test, when he almost ran into the admiral, who was coming out of his room.

'THINKING OF YOU'

"Ah. Funny thing, I was just thinking about you," said the old man. "Can you spare a moment?"

Angus would have liked to say that he could not, but the admiral was already ushering him into the room. Closing the door, he took a few paces to and fro with his hands clasped behind his back, apparently preparing his address; than he came to a halt before Angus.

"Tell you what," he said gruffly. "I've heard that that fellow's luggage has been found, and I've come to the conclusion that there's somebody among us who's either trying to harm us or trying to be funny. Either way, you've got to find out who he is and throw him out before he goes too far."

"Yes, sir," Angus hesitated. "But may I point out that so far, nothing that has happened has been very serious, and—"

"Look here," broke in the admiral. "There are ten of us on this trip. Our safety is in your hands, and in the driver's. Barring road accidents, we hope to arrive in Lisbon in good shape. There's no harm in jokes, even in practical jokes — though I think they're the resort of the mentally deficient — in the proper place. But among strangers, on a long cross-country journey, practical jokes are definitely out of place. Soon, this fellow'll be tinkering with the engine of the coach, or interfering with one of the women, making them look foolish, or something of that kind.

"I'm not going to expose my sister to a risk like that. The thing has gone far enough, and from now on, I'm going to be on the lookout. That's all I had to say."

"Thank you, sir. I'll be on the lookout, too."

"I don't like naming names, but my money's on Tarrant."

"Why would he take his own luggage?"

"To put us off the scent. You mark my words: it's that fellow. He's an exhibitionist, and as a rule chaps like that aren't burdened with a sense of proportion. I don't know what he's up to, but I know what he's going to get next time he tries to let off one of his squibs. Well, don't let me keep you. What time do we set off tomorrow?"

"About eleven, sir. Eleven fifteen, to be exact."

"Where are we bound? Oh, Salamanca."

CAN'T UNDERSTAND

"Yes. We go to Valladolid and then southwest to Zamora and—"

"Can't understand this zigzagging, myself. Why can't we set a straight course and stick to it? We've been tacking ever since we left Calais."

"You'd miss some interesting places, sir," he explained. There'll be time to do a bit of sight-seeing at Valladolid. Columbus died there and—"

"Well, we—"

"Tisn't where he died that's interesting, it's what he did while he was alive."

He stopped abruptly. The door had opened. His sister entered, saying "I warned you, Rodney, not to wait too long for dinner. I told you to order some food early, and—"

"I'd give my soul," said the admiral yearningly, "for a good pair of kippers."

Mrs. Denby-Warre gave him a despairing gaze, and then turned to Angus.

"I wonder, Mr. Graham, whether you could kindly order something brought upstairs now?"

"Something plain, for God's sake," implored the admiral. "You can keep your pie-ella and your squids in ink gravy. Just send me up a lamb chop, if they have got one, and some nice little new potatoes"—his voice had a yearning sound — "and some green peas fresh from the garden, or some tender green beans and a little bowl of junket with some fresh strawberries and a blob of cream on top and a bit of decent English Cheddar . . ."

There was silence. The room, with its rich hangings and huge bed and stiff painted wooden chairs receded and gave way to cream-washed walls, a plain, trim bed and a mahogany chest of drawers. Outside, the brown Spanish landscape seemed to have melted into the soft green tones of England. A faint smell of lavender hung in the air, and Mrs. Denby-Warre and Angus, withdrawing silently, left the admiral alone to enjoy it.

Hal Boyle Says:

Education's Boy Wonder 60, Still Growing

NEW YORK (AP) — "The biggest enemy of human progress is mental indolence," said Robert Maynard Hutchins, who will be 60 years old Saturday.

"As Aristotle said, 'Learning is accompanied by pain.' Too many people won't go through that pain," he said.

"The biggest mistake man makes is that he doesn't think through the question of just what is really worthwhile."

The onetime "boy wonder" of the educational world—he was secretary of Yale at 23, dean of its law school at 28, and president of the University of Chicago at 30—is still a figure of controversy as head of the Fund for the Republic.

At 60 he looks 50. His crew cut hair is graying, but his 6-foot-3 frame shows no sign of a paunch. Nor does his mind. He is as ready as ever to fight for his ideas, but still professes surprise that his ideas stir up so much controversy.

"It is remarkable to me that people think of a critic in an adverse sense," he observed. "Criticism to me means appraisal. To most people it seems to mean attack. But to lay the basis for improvement in any field you first have to point out that things are not already perfect."

Hutchins has been assailed as an iconoclast, a cynic and a pessimist. He regards himself as more of an optimist, feels the general level of the world today is better than it has ever been, and is strongly hopeful of human progress.

"Yes, I am hopeful," he esaid, smiling. "But if pressed for specific grounds for my optimism I might be at a loss to explain why.

"I don't believe, however, that things just get better and better by themselves eveery day. A tremndous exercise of human will and intelligence is necessary to achieve progress.

"And I think that everything that is called progress isn't necessarily real progress.

"I do feel, what many of my contemporaries don't feel, a sense of crisis—and it has very little to do with the Russians. If all the Russians were to disappear tomorrow—or become Republicans—everything wouldn't be fine. We must find our own standards and our own purposes, and not measure our own effort by the activities of people we deplore.

"The crisis I feel is a crisis about the whole American tradition. The question is whether our own democratic institutions can stand the strains and pressures of a large, heterogeneous, bureaucratic society—whether the individual can stay free."

Convinced that civilization cannot withstand another general war, Hutchins sees only final disaster in a continued armament race.

"The process of mutual intimidation can lead only to general bankruptcy," he said. "The world needs education, communication, organization, and law. If we put the same attention and spent the same money to these things that we do to arms—well, think what could be done with 40 billion dollars.

"Another great problem of the future for man may be what to do with himself when he works only 20 hours a week. Suicidal tendencies are associated with boredom, and leisure may destroy man unless education teaches him how to utilize it intelligently."

Hutchins still feeels American universities spend too much effort teaching students how to earn a living instead of developing their intellectual powers, still feels men will never learn to live reasonably until they first learn to reason better.

His own philosophy, he said, is summed up in this quotation attributed to both Charles the Bold and William the Silent:

"It is not necessary to hope in order to undertake, nor to succeed in order to persevere."

Village Smithy Busy

ROCHELLE, Ill. (AP)—Although the need for horseshoes has all but vanished, the village smithy still plies his trade.

Einar Schooning, who learned the blacksmith trade in Denmark before coming here in 1922 to join his brother William, in the shop across from city hall, still uses the old forge which is nearly 60 years old.

Right now is Schooning's busy season—what witih plow shares, farm machinery, lawn mowers and making handwrought iron work.

Crash! Another Window Smashed — but How?

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — "I'm so nervous I'm jumping out of my rocking chair at the slightest noise, expecting to hear more glass crash."

That is the reaction of Mrs. Charles Papineau, 80-year-old grandmother, at whose home 39 windows have been broken since a week ago Tuesday.

Police investigated, found no evidence of lawbreaking and withdrew.

John C. Parker, a self-styled authority on poltergeist — noisy ghosts—stepped in.

He said he wanted first to eliminate any possible scientific explanation.

He said he would install a recording thermometer in the bathroom of the 2½-story frame home.

Three windows have been broken in the bathroom. Parker said he wanted to check the possibility that temperature changes might have shattered the windows.

Mrs. Papineau and her 13-year-old grandson, Wayne, have both said they heard strange thumping noises just before windows crashed.

A glazier reported the windows all appeared to have been shattered by a force from outside. All the broken glass fell inside, he said.

Mrs. Papineau called in an insurance agent to try and collect for $93.00 for having windows repaired. The insurance agent was stumped. "How can I tell my office the windows were broken by poltergeists?—anyway there is no place for such on the damage claim forms."

James M. Herrmann of Seaford, N.Y., whose home on Long Island experienced some unexplained bottle-top poppings about a year ago, told the Springfield (Mass.) Union:

"The only thing to do is put your faith in God and try to go on. Don't be frightened that the things that are happening may not be explainable. Try as much as possible to control yourself and accept what is happening. Accept it as something being visited upon you."

TWO EYEFULS — Chicago Auto show visitors will get a first hand look at Pontiac's glamorous 1959 Bonneville Vista, and also the foot-splashing model. Finished in pearlescent acrylic lacquer, the car turns slowly over a water pool for a continuous exhibit of Pontiac's exterior and interior styling features, while a unique lighting system illuminates the colorful display.

Chicago Auto Show Draws Pontiacs

"From the lowest priced Catalina to the luxurious Bonneville, our entire line of 1959 Pontiacs is packed with unprecedented prestige," S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac, said today as his Division prepared to display for Chicago Auto Show visitors which began today and ends January 25.

In addition to Pontiac's numerous special exhibits will be a total of 11 1959 models for show visitors to inspect.

There will be a Bonneville convertible, a sports coupe and a Safari; a Star Chief Vista and a sedan and six models in the lower priced Catalina series; a nine-passenger Safari, a convertible, a sports sedan, a four-door Vista hardtop, a sports coupe and a four-door sedan.

Pontiac's import car, the Vauxhall Victor, will be represented by two four-door sedans and a four-door station wagon. Built in England by General Motors, the Vauxhalls have been successfully marketed in this country for more than a year by Pontiac dealers.

Attending the show in addition to Knudsen, are Frank V. Bridge, general sales manager; J. C. Jamieson, executive assistant to the general manager, for dealer relations; and R. W. Emerick, director of public relations.

"Our 14 completely new models in three series reflect ultra-modern design from every angle, inside and out," Knudsen asserted.

"The dramatic new appearance features a lower, wider body, roomier interiors, up to 37 per cent greater glass area, eye-pleasing, Magic Mirror acrylic lacquer exterior finishes, and clean-lined surfaces enhanced by a minimum of tastefully-applied ornamentation," he said.

Knudsen also served notice that Pontiac intends to retain its reputation as "America's Number One Road Car." "Pontiac owners will realize the very best in performance with added economy and safety," he declared.

"A new high performance engine, a track nearly five inches wider to increase stability, heavier, more durable brakes, and a stronger, more rigid frame, are but a few of our major engineering innovations in 1959," Knudsen added.

According to Knudsen, Pontiac will be shooting for fifth place in the industry and a wider segment of the market with a versatile line comprised of four Bonneville models, three Star Chiefs, and seven in the new Catalina series.

"Revolutionary styling changes and engineering innovations incorporated in Pontiac's exciting new 1959 line of automobiles are designed to satisfy a broad band of customer wants," according to Bridge.

"Although we are entering an era of fierce competition, we feel that our new line anticipates this period with aggressive and progressive new concepts of motoring, and we therefore look forward to a highly successful sales year in 1959," Bridge forecast.

Lawn Mower Sales Up

WASHINGTON — Lawn mowers provide by far the biggest single use for small gasoline engines. During 1957, mower sales totaled 3,300,000, an increase of 100,000 over 1956. From 1952 through 1957 more than 15,900,000 were sold in the United States; of these 13,000,000 are still in use.

Indian State Head Appeals to Moscow

MADRAS, India, (AP) — The Communist chief minister of Kerala state said today he will bypass Prime Minister Nehru's government and appeal to Nikita Khrushchev for economic aid for his state.

Nambudripad is going to Moscow for the 21st Congress of the Soviet Comunist party which opens Jan. 27.

Use of Handouts to Lure New Industry Deplored

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Growing use of what he termed financial handouts to lure new plants was criticized today by Robert L. Wolf, director of area development for the Ohio Power Co.

State government is helping in some regions, and perhaps federal aid will be forthcoming in the near future in areas of chronic high unemployment, Wolf told the Great Lakes State Industrial Development Council's seventh annual conference.

But he warned that some types of aid now given could be unwise.

Paul J. Pfister, an industrial realtor of Terre Haute, Ind., told the council that communities and their citizens should do as much or more to help existing industries as they do in trying to attract new industries.

If they do this, Pfister said, they will automatically create a favorable industrial climate that will attract new factories.

Wolf told some 200 fellow council members from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin:

"Our competition is formidable in the financing of plant location."

But, he continued, "Extraordinary tactics" employed by some states and comunities have produced questionable results.

$2,000,000 Is Due Laid Off Workers

DETROIT (AP)—An estimated two million dollars in retroactive supplemental unemployment benefits will be paid to certain laid off Chrysler Corp. workers soon.

The United Auto Workers union said yesterday the payments stem from the improved sub plan negotiated in the auto industry last year. The Chrysler plan has been approved by the U.S. Treasury Department.

Prior to last Christmas Ford began paying out an approximate similar sum in retroactive SUB.

A union spokesman said as many as 45,000 Chrysler workers may be eligible for the benefits. He said payments probably would start going out late this month or early next month.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school gymnasium.

On hand to answer questions concerning the proposed bond issue will be Dr. Lief Hougen, superintendent of the West Bloomfield School District; Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, principal of Roosevelt School; and members of the board of education.

Questions will be submitted from the floor or on sheets of paper with no signature.

PTA officers have extended an invitation to all persons in the school district to attend whether or not they are PTA members or parents.

The proposed bond issue will go before school district voters in a special election to be held Feb. 2.

Members of the Roosevelt School student council will discuss their schoolroom needs and suggest ways in which the school building may be made more serviceable.

Sudent council officers are Jan Paddy, president; Karole Hanes, vice president; Janice Heiron, secretary; and Michael Cady, treasurer.

The seventh grade chorus will appear on the program.

Boys Beat, Rob Priest in Bronx

He Suffers Concussion, Bruises After Offering Youths Lift to Subway

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Roman Catholic priest was reported in serious condition today as the result of a beating by two Bronx youths he met at a late hours restaurant.

The Rev. John O'Connell, 47, of St. Brendan's Church, the Bronx, staggered into a lunchroom shoeless and minus much of his clothing early yesterday morning to report the attack. From his description of the assailants, police arrested Patrick Murphy, 16, and Paul Hergan, 21.

According to Father O'Connell, who is under treatment at Misericordia Hospital for a brain concussion and multiple bruises, he met the youths at 4:30 a. m. at a restaurant and agreed to give them a lift to a nearby subway station. Police said the priest displayed a wallet containing $70 in bills when paying his check.

Father O'Connell told police the youths attacked him and left him unconscious on a street corner.

Test of Ordinance Nears End

High Court Decision Due in Port Huron Milk Case

LANSING (AP) — A case testing the validity of Port Huron's milk inspection ordinance finally has reached the decision stage in the Michigan Supreme Court.

It was taken under advisement yesterday after 13 months of preliminary skirmishing and arguments. An opinion is expected in March at the earliest.

Norman F. Knowlton, a St. St. Clair County distributor for the Twin Pines Dairy, has urged the high court to hold unconstitutional the section of the ordinance setting fees.

His attorney, Norman H. Magel of Detroit, argued that the section discriminates in favor of local dairies and placed an insupportable economic burden on outsiders to prevent competition.

Atty. James M. Kelley, representing the city, contended the issue was settled in a previous lower court case. Knowlton's suit was dismissed on this ground on a motion in St. Clair county circuit court.

The ordinance requires a $5 annual inspection fee for each producer's farm when the milk plant of an applicant for a local license is located more than five miles from the city hall.

Magel said that farms producing for Twin Pines number in excess of 13,000. He further told the court that the dairy's farms are subject to rigid inspection by the state and the city of Detroit.

"Can the ordinance really be for the protection of the health and safety of its people when the milk it seeks to bar has been heretofore inspected by another community just 40 or 50 miles away with standards just as high, if not higher than the city of Port Huron's?" Magel asked.

He cited a case involving the Dean Milk Company in which the United States Supreme Court struck down a local ordinance on grounds it attempted to interfere with interstate commerce rather than protect the health of local residents.

Head-On Crash Sends Orion Man to Hospital

A two-car head-on collision on Clarkston road just west of Sunset lane in Orion Township yesterday sent a Lake Orion man to Pontiac General Hospital with head injuries.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said James S. Williams, 21, of 210 S. Broadway St., lost control of his auto on slippery pavement and skidded into the other lane.

Williams was reported in satisfactory condition today. The other driver, Michael L. Wethy, 21, of 4423 Homesite St., was uninjured, deputies said.

Castro Arouses Ire of Congress

But U.S. Intervention to Halt Executions in Cuba Is Out

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Indignation mounted in Congress today against Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro's mass executions of followers of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista.

But State Department and congressional sources said flatly the United States would not intervene directly in the island republic to halt the killings.

Angry lawmakers called for a United Nations investigation, a trade embargo against Cuba and a ban on tourist travel to the Caribbean vacation spot.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States should use its "very best offices and offers of friendship" to persuade Castro to end the executions. But he added: "I don't think there is any direct action we should take."

Along this line, Castro said in Havana "200,000 gringos will die" if the United States sent Marines to Cuba to curb the killings.

Congressional pressures mounted for the prompt naming of a new U.S. ambassador to Cuba.

Demands for a new ambassador to replace Earl E. T. Smith who resigned last Saturday came as the Navy ordered a task group that includes 3,000 Marines diverted from an intended stop at Cuba "to avoid any misunderstanding."

Ejected 150 Feet Off Ground

Jet Pilot Lives to Tell It

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Lt. Cmdr. Ralph Fielding shot himself head first through the canopy of his jet training plane at only 150 feet altitude.

He accidentally had touched the ejection button. He escaped with a broken leg; no headache.

"It was quite a sensation," he said in Oak Knoll Navy Hospital. "They said I landed only six seconds after I touched the button. It's almost impossible to say how I really did feel. I was saved by my nylon elevator."

The 'chute opened automatically 1½ seconds after Fielding was shot not more than 50 feet above the plane—an altitude of only 200 feet.

REFRESHER FLIGHT

Fielding was taking a refresher instrument flight with Lt. John B. McDaniel. As he turned control over to McDaniel, Fielding accidentally touched the ejection button.

Up and out he shot, his head rest crashing through the ⅜ inch plexiglass canopy.

"The next second I was out in the air stream," said Fielding, who is 38. "There was no airplane under me anymore. I took only two oscillations (side swings in the 'chute) and I hit the ground.

"I think that's when I broke my leg, but the Navy is investigating to see if it was broken in the ejection."

Numbing Cold Spreads

Biting Winds Sting East

By The Associated Press

Wintry weather, after a short rest, was back in business today, dealing arctic air and gusty winds across most of the eastern two-thirds of the country.

Stiff northerly winds, with gusts up to 40 m.p.h., swept across wide areas of the midcontinent, fanning the cold air southward into the western Gulf region and eastward across the Appalachians.

Sub-zero cold and biting winds stung northern Midwest regions. Most of the north central region shivered in near zero temperatures.

Temperatures of 15 degrees below zero and lower were reported in northern Minnesoto and eastern North Dakota, with similar marks indicated in parts of South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Temperatures dropped as much as 30 degrees in most of the area from the Ohio Valley southwestward into the southern plains. It was freezing in Arkansas and western Tennessee and near the 32 mark in parts of Mississippi.

Heavy snow accompanied the cold in parts of the upper Ohio Valley, western New York and northern New England, with three inches in several sections. Snow flurries fell throughout the Great Lakes region.

A mixture of snow and rain and some freezing rain slicked highways and streets in southern New York state and southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. Similar conditions were reported in New England and hazardous driving warnings were issued.

The mixture of snow or rain was expected to continue into the Middle Atlantic states, but changing to snow in most sections as colder air moves into the region.

Fairly mild weather prevailed in some areas east of the Appalachians, with temperatures in the upper 50s as far north as Washington.

Threat of Bomb at State Capitol Livens Up Day

LANSING (AP)—No bomb.

The State Capitol at Lansing wasn't blown up last yesterday or last night.

But a telephoned bomb threat caused a lot of scurrying around for a while and kept State Police busy.

A phone call from a man who described himself as a friend of "a mad veteran" touched off the bomb scare.

The caller said his friend was "mad" at the Veterans Trust Fund and was going to take a home-made bomb to the Capitol.

Mrs. Jeanne McCloud, the phone operator who received the call, immediately notified the office of John F. Gafner, state property manager.

State Police were called and within five minutes, shortly after 1 p.m., an emergency squad arrived at the Capitol.

The State Police fanned out to search for suspicious persons or packages. Nothing was found.

Success and Failure in 2 Missile Tests

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Eglin's first venture into the Bomarc guided missile field was pronounced a success by the Air Force.

In the first launching from the new multimillion-dollar test center, a Bomarc scored a direct hit on a jet drone flying 87 miles out over the Gulf of Mexico Thursday, officials said.

However, the Atlas missile fired from Cape Canaveral last night flew less than 200 miles, the Air Force announced today. It said there was trouble in the rocket engine system.

Russian Census Is First Taken in 20 Years

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has begun its first census in 20 years. Trud, the trade union newspaper, marked the occasion with a caustic attack on the United States census.

Trud said the purpose of the U. S. census is to assist monopolists in "increasing exploitation and stepping up the robbery of the working people."

The Soviet nose count, it added, is for the purpose of obtaining "important information necessary to achieve the majestic tasks set out by the seven-year plan."

"Of course, such a goal has nothing but the best interests of the workers," it said.

Unofficial estimates place the Soviet Union population at about 200 millions. The U. S. population is about 175½ million.

Disaster Holds Uncanny Spell for Mankind

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—There is a horrid fascination about watching disaster.

This is why a highway accident means a road block of spectators, why a squad of policemen must fence off a street when there is a fire, why a murder trial is greedily lapped up by the citizenry.

It must be the masochist in man. He can identify himself with the victims of disaster—even if his greatest tragedy in life has been an abscessed tooth. And, depending on his own state of mind, he either suffers WITH the man on the burning deck, or FOR him.

All this explains why "A Night To Remember"—the newest film about the old disaster of the Titantic—has been named one of the 10 best of the year, and is packing in the palpitating-hearted.

You know the fate of this 45,000-ton hotel, this "marine Ritz," as Joseph Conrad described it; you have seen it in other movies, on TV, in picture books and newspapers—but you just want to see it once more to remember what stark tragedy looks like. If only because, after the spectacle, you feel alive and lucky, as when emerging from church services on a sunny morning.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

Another reason for the immense success of endless revivals of the Titantic disaster is the air of mystery that still surrounds it.

The J. Arthur Rank organization, which made the latest film, uncovered some new, supernatural-type data that we hadn't heard of. For example.

In 1898, 14 years before the April night on which the "unsinkable" Titantic sank, an unknown short story writer named Morgan Robertson wrote a prophetic yarn.

It was called "Futility; or the Wreck of the Titan."

In it, he not only described the future fatal ship of the White Star Line with uncanny accuracy—but he told the dread story almost exactly as it later was to happen.

"Seventy-five thousand tons—deadweight—rushing through the fog at the rate of 50 feet a second," he wrote, "had hurled herself at an iceberg. . .

"Amid the roar of escaping steam, and the bee-like buzzing of nearly three thousand human voices, raised in agonized screamings and callings from within the inclosing walls . . . the 'Titan' moved slowly backward and launched herself into the sea . . . where she floated a dying monster, groaning with her death wound."

A 'FLOATING CITY'

Describing his fictitious ship as "a floating city," Robertson also detailed the payload, the speed, the weight and the route of the Titantic with prophetic accuracy.

Here are his statistics on his "Titan" (with the statistics on the actual "Titantic" in parentheses):

Number of persons aboard the "Titan," 3,000 ("Titantic," 2,340).

Lifeboats, 24 (20).

Speed at impact with iceberg, 25 knots (23 knots).

Displacement, 70,000 tons (66,000 tons).

Length of "Titan," 800 feet ("Titantic," 882.5).

Still another legend of the dramatic sinking revolves around the Titantic's heroic second officer, Charles Herbert Lightoller. He was said to be haunted by the curse of the Ancient Mariner since, in his early days at sea, he had killed a giant albatross.

Lightoller survived the Titantic sinking, which would seem to discount the myth. But two other ships, the Oceanic and the Falcon sank under him.

It is easy to understand, then, the parting words of his company manager when Lightoller retired from the White Star Line after 20 years.

"Oh, you are leaving us, are you?" he remarked. "Well, goodbye."

Conclusive Evidence

CINCINNATI (AP) — A housewife here bought a raffle ticket for 50 cents on an electric clock. Afterwards she noticed the drawing was set for Feb. 29. But that's a leap year date—and over a year away. She called police who arrested three men for investigation of a fake raffle swindle.

PHYLLIS W. SMITH

Pontiac Student-Star to Sing Here Sunday

Phyllis W. Smith, a 1956 graduate of Pontiac Central High School, will present a voice recital at 8 p.m. Sunday in the high school auditorium.

Gladys Manning will be accompanist.

A student at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, she appeared on television in 1957 with the Fred Waring Show. She also has sung at Statler Hilton Hotels in Detroit, Chicago and Boston.

On April 16, 1956, Miss Smith was selected as one of 12 girls representing Michigan, to sing in the Golden Anniversary High School Chorus at the 50th anniversary observance of the National Music Educators Conference in St. Louis, Mo.

She was a winner in the "Pontiac Stars of Tomorrow" program in 1955, and a finalist in the "Search for a Star" contest in Detroit.

During her high school years, she was a member of the Senior League of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale and the All-State Chorus at Interlochen.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. C. Smith of 219 Rapid St. and a member of Newman AME Church.

At Pontiac Northern High School Tomorrow

20 to Vie in Cherry Pie Contest

The aroma of cherry pies will fill the halls of Pontiac Northern High School Saturday when more than 20 Oakland County girls compete in the annual county baking contest.

The contest is sponsored by the Michigan Canners and Freezers Assn., the Michigan Cherry Producers Assn. and the Michigan Cherry Commission through the cooperation of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, Oakland County.

Girls 14 to 21 years old, representing high school homemaking departments or 4-H clubs, were eligible to enter the contest which begins at 9 a.m., according to Mrs. Jane Hoerath, County 4-H agent.

Since the school has six ovens, the contest will be conducted in shifts so that each girl may have her own oven.

Judges for the pies in the contest will be Barbara Hoy, home economics teacher at Norup Junior High School, Oak Park; Marguerite Hague, regional home economist for Lamb Institute, and Mary Walquist, Macomb County 4-H agent.

PERSONALITY COUNTS

Richard Meinweiser, president of the North Pontiac Kiwanis Club, and Edward Maier, president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, will judge the girls on personality, which represents one-fifth of the judging.

New Bridge Magnet for U.S. Tourists

LANSING (AP) — The Straits of Mackinac Bridge has a drawing power that reaches from coast to coast, the State Highway Department reported Thursday.

Traffic engineers have established that the bridge is a mighty big tourist magnet through a 24-hour origin and destination study.

"The tremendous drawing power of the bridge is probably best illustrated by the fact that cars from 40 of the 49 states crossed the bridge in the 24-hour period," John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, said.

Mackie said drivers of 91 per cent of the 9,439 vehicles crossing the bridge were interviewed. It was found that 25 per cent of those making the crossing came from outside of Michigan.

Mackie said that by 1962 the department will have completed an expressway from the southern border of Michigan to the bridge. He said he fully expected completion of the expressway to increase traffic in the Straits area by as much as 50 per cent.

Other findings in the study included:

1. 60 per cent of the out-of-state traffic came from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

2. Second largest area represented by out-of-state traffic, some 15 per cent, came from eastern Canada.

3. Two out of three vehicles crossing the bridge from out-of-state came through the Lower Peninsula of Michigan.

4. Every county in Michigan was represented by one or more motorist crossing the bridge. Top counties were Wayne with 1,011 trips, Kent with 227 and Genesee with 148.

5. There were 1,825 trips northbound for Sault Ste. Marie, but only 157 of these were headed into Canada.

6. There were 687 northbound trips planning on traveling the length of the Upper Peninsula into Wisconsin.

UAW-IH Group to Vote on Pact

International Harvester Union Council Will Send Decision to Locals

CHICAGO (AP) The UAW-International Harvester Co. Council meets today to approve or reject a proposed contract agreement to end a long and costly strike of 37,000 workers against the farm implement firm.

The council's recommendations, in turn, will be presented to each of the Harvester locals for final action.

The council, composed of a delelocals, meets amid reports of dissension among UAW negotiators concerning the pact, hammered out after weeks of bargaining.

Reversing a previous announcement, the UAW negotiating team Thursday said that after a majority vote by its members it will recommend rejection of the settlement.

It did not amplify the statement. The majority vote is binding.

But Duane (Pat) Greathouse, a UAW vice president and chief negotiator, said he will recommend acceptance of the terms although some of the negotiators were not satisfied.

Hospital Room Scene of Trial

87-Year-Old Woman, Crippled in Robbery, Faces Defendant

DETROIT (AP)—Court was held yesterday in the hospital room of 87-year-old Adele Groesbeck, crippled with two broken legs and fractured hip from a robbery assault.

Miss Groesbeck, sister of the late Gov. Alex Groesbeck, has been hospitalized, with her legs in traction, since her injuries Dec. 20.

With defendant James C. Gardiner, 21, a prison parolee, on the scene, Recorder's Judge W. Mc Kay Skillman held court in Miss Groesbeck's room at Holy Cross Hospital.

Gardiner has pleaded guilty. But police insisted on a formal examination in order to get Miss Groesbeck's testimony because her injuries were so severe.

From her bed Miss Groesbeck testified in a firm, strong voice. She was unable to identify Gardiner as her assailant, however.

She told of a man tapping on her kitchen window the night of Dec. 20, then entering, throwing her to the floor, and fleeing after stealing $190 from a table.

"He could have got the money if he had reached in his arm," Miss Groesbeck said.

Evangelist to Go Into Seclusion

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, ordinarily surrounded by thousands of people, will spend the next month in seclusion.

Mayo Clinic specialists have ordered a month of rest and medication to treat his ailing left eye. Associates said the 40-year-old Graham probably will rest somewhere enroute to Australia, where he is scheduled to begin a revival tour Feb. 15.

His personal physician, Dr. Ben Gieser, said "it is hoped he will be able to resume his activities on a somewhat reduced schedule" after the month's rest.

Dr. Gieser indicated there will be some permanent damage to Graham's vision, but said it was impossible to estimate how much.

Little Boy Told Remaining Eye May Be Saved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A San Francisco eye specialist give little Hugh Thornhill a present of hope on his seventh birthday.

Dr. William Ferguson told the boy from Natchez, Miss., yesterday that his remaining left eye does not have to be removed.

Ferguson also told Hugh he may be able to see well enough in a few months to get around by himself.

The boy now can just distinguish between light and dark.

Hugh is a victim of glaucoma, a disease that destroys sight through pressure inside the eyeball. He lost his right eye four years ago during one of the 10 operations he has undergone since he was an infant.

$7,000 Bed Shown in London

LONDON (UPI) — Do you lie awake nights? Do you toss and tumble? Worry about your jewels? Have you got $7,000 for a bed that will end all those problems?

Well, this new model bed put out by a London bed manufacturer may not help you with your insomnia but it will keep you from getting bored.

You can fiddle with separate heating units built into its two separate mattresses or brew a cup of tea in a tea maker. Or finger your jewels in a built in, velvet-lined jewel drawer. Or use the built in electric razor or tape recorder.

If that's too strenuous, you can lie quietly and run your fingers over the mink bedspread.

There is a gadget for raising or lowering the mattresses separately for eating, reading or watching television. It also will lie flat in case you want to sleep.

This was such an unusual bed it went on display in an unusual way—at a press conference.

Reporters gathered before a gaudy pink curtain. Slowly it was drawn back, disclosing the bed and two curvaceous occupants.

The girls smiled and ran their fingers over the mink before getting down to the more serious business of making tea and demonstrating a panel of switches controlling the bed, the television set and the bedroom curtains.

J. L. Seccombe, a director of Slumberland, which makes the bed, called it "the beginning of a new era in the bedroom" and said that his company was going all out to encourage people to spend more time in bed.

He quoted the $7,000 price tag and said the company planned to send a representative to Bahrein in the Middle East next week.

"We think it should interest the sheiks," he said.

Sherman Adams Not Unique; Lincoln Got Coat as Present

By JAMES BARR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams wasn't the first Republican in the White House to get a free overcoat. Abe Lincoln was.

A Boston textile manufacturer gave it to him on the eve of the Civil War.

Erwin Feldman, a New York labor lawyer and amateur Lincoln scholar, disclosed today he has found an unpublished "Thank You" note written by Lincoln for the coat. The letter was written from Lincoln's home in Springfield, Ill., Jan. 2, 1861 following his election as President.

So far congressional investigators have given no indication that they plan to look into the matter. Not even southern ones with long memories.

Adams resigned last fall after congressional investigators disclosed his relationship with gift-giving Boston textile tycoon Bernard Goldfine. Among other items, Goldfine gave Adams a vicuna overcoat.

Feldman said he has not been able to determine yet whether Lincoln's coat was lamb's wool or something fancier. But he said he is working on it.

The amateur Lincoln scholar, who professes to having both Republican and Democratic friends, said he discovered Lincoln's note while looking through old papers in the University of Chicago library.

Honest Abe, the nation's first Republican President, wrote:

"Dear Sir:

"Your note of the 1st inst. together with a very substantial and handsome overcoat which accompanied it by express were duly received by me and both would have been acknowledged sooner but for the multifarious demands upon my time and attion.

"Permit me now to thank you sincerely for your elegant and valuable New Year's gift and the many kind expressions of personal confidence and regard contained in your letter.

"Your obt. servt.,

"A. Lincoln"

Feldman said Lincoln sent the letter to Isaac Fenno, a Boston clothing manufacturer.

"The letter was written shortly before Lincoln left Springfield to begin his first term in the White House," he said.

"Pictures of Lincoln during the trip show him wearing a very long coat. He may have been wearing his gift when he arrived in Washington for the inauguration."

Britain, Egypt Agree on Pact

Financial Settlement of Suez Claims May Lead to Friendly Relations

CAIRO (UPI)—Britain and the United Arab Republic reached a financial agreement today that was expected to lead to resumption of diplomatic relations broken during the 1956 Suez invasion.

World Bank President Eugene Black told a news conference the agreement will be initialed later today and signed formally within a few days.

A half hour before, Black, British delegation leader Sir. Denis Rickett and U.A.R. Economics Minister Abul Moneim Kaissouny met in Kaissouny's office. It was believed Rickett informed the U.A.R. minister of London's approval of the draft agreement then.

Details of the agreement were not announced, but informed sources said Britain would release blocked Egyptian funds in London estimated at about 78 million dollars while Egypt will pay compensation for British businesses seized during the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion of Suez.

British claims for compensation for Britain's Suez Canal Zone military base and Egyptian claims for property damaged in the fighting were believed to have canceled each other out.

Kaissouny said the agreement was a "major step towards normalization of relations" between Britain and his country.

No Post Office Abbreviation for Ala. Is Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Take it from the Post Office department, you can't feasibly abbreviate Alaska. So spell it out.

The department's official directory of U.S. Post Offices for many years has carried under Alaska the notation: "Do not abbreviate." And officials said there is no plan to depart from this now that the territory has become the 49th state.

Alaska falls into a rather exclusive list of states which are never abbreviated by the Post Office. The others are Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Ohio and Utah.

The National Coal Board, one of Britain's largest employers, provides jobs for nearly 800,000 miners, administrators, technicians, and scientists.

Plane With 56 Aboard Lands Minus 1 Wheel

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A TWA Constellation airliner with 56 passengers landed at International Airport yesterday minus a landing wheel, but neither the pilot nor the passengers were aware of it.

The plane lost one of its dual wheels shortly after the pilot, Capt. William Barrett of Chicago, lowered the landing gear. The plane landed on the remaining wheels without mishap.

But Pontiac Editor Rallies to Report New Trends

Mouse Steals Style-Show Spotlight

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

NEW YORK—We got off to a rollicking start this morning when a tiny mouse scampered across the models' runway, throwing some 215 fashion editors into a near state of panic. With every designer so conscious of fashion piracy, even the mouse was suspected of spying.

MRS. CLEMENCE

Now that the loud roar of you men has caused designers to create sensibly, maybe you'll want to bellow again when you see some of the wigs worn here in New York. Some models even proudly give a little twist to the crown and let you peek at the "real" hair.

FOR BIRDS

We hope that before your wives take to wigs, there'll be some perfecting done. Those we've seen are for the birds—to nest in.

The true beauty of the Davidow tweed suits keeps that firm in the spotlight. The silhouette is mildly fitted or is the Chanel boxy cardigan.

Typical of the suits is a green and black rough-textured tweed with its own green silk overblouse. Added touches are brass buttons on four patch pockets.

Hannah Troy's silk shantung sheath, in navy with a giant-sized collar in white shantung, is one of the pretty designs of the collection. The large collar is a new fashion trend.

HEMLINE ACCENTED

Decorative hemlines of evening dresses, some longer in back, some harem draped, were pretty accents in the Herbert Sondheim showing.

Very pretty and feminine fabrics for evening were used for fragile, lady-like dresses from the "Your Serene Highness" group of Harvey Berin dresses. There are many with molded bodices and bouffant skirts to choose from.

Fashion showings over for the day, we're on our way to Idlewild Airport where we'll board the American Airlines Boeing 707 jet flagship. So, keep your hats on gals, we'll be seeing the world's first fashion show at 30,000 feet and at a speed of 660 miles per hour.

Davidow's green and black rough textured tweed suit has its own green silk overblouse. Brass buttons fasten down the flaps on four patch pockets.

An extravagant collar tops this silk shantung sheath by Hannah Troy. This is one of the trends in the spring collections of New York dress designers.

Sharing the Fare Is Best

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I attended a very large meeting in one of our big cities. After the meeting everyone left for home. Taxis were at a premium and after waiting for a very long time a man who was also at this meeting and his wife (both strangers to me) offered to share their taxi with me as we were all bound for the railroad station. When we arrived at the station the man paid the driver the amount that was on the meter.

"Should I have paid the driver too or should I have offered half of the fare to the man, or should I have just said thank you to him and left, which is what I did? This was an entirely new experience to me and I was at a loss as to the correct procedure to follow."

Answer: You should have offered half of the sum of the fare plus the tip to the man sharing the taxi with you. If he refused to accept your money you would not insist, but thank him for the ride and his kindness.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I'm going to be called upon to give the toast at a wedding reception. The bride is a young relative of mine whom I love dearly. I'd like very much to do this nicely and would appreciate your telling me exactly what my remarks should be on this occasion."

Answer: You are not supposed to make a speech. Merely get up and after attracting everyone's attention you propose that they drink to the happiness of YOUR beloved Alice and HER beloved John. Or any similar sentiment.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have received an invitation to the marriage of an acquaintance. There was no separate reception invitation enclosed although I understand there is to be one. Since it is to be a house wedding, do we take it for granted that we are to stay on after the ceremony?"

Answer: The invitation you have received includes the reception.

At a family dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. McKenzie of Cassopolis announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Kay, to D. Brant Cotterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Cotterman of West Iroquois road. Both are attending Michigan State University. An August wedding is planned.

Trained in High School for Feb. 3 Concert

4 Pontiac Students to Play in Symphony

Four Pontiac High school students will play in the string section of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra when it appears Feb. 3.

The students are Mary Mitchell, junior; Melvin Melzer, senior; and Mildred Melzer, senior; all of Pontiac Central High School and Nancy Adams, a junior at Pontiac Northern High School. All will play second violin.

FIRST 'PRODUCTS'

These students are the first products of Pontiac Central High School's String Program which was begun five years ago by Robert M. Peterson, orchestra instructor in the instrumental music department headed by Dale C. Harris at Pontiac Central.

This program has played an important part in preparing to advance to symphony work.

The orchestra always in need of new musical talent, recruits many of its musicians from the instrumental music departments of the local high schools.

In this way, students not only gain experience with the symphony, but have a chance to continue playing with the group after high school graduation.

Mr. Peterson, who has been playing viola with the symphony group for six years, was educated at the University of Minnesota and Columbia University.

WORK HARD

He meets with these students at his home for further work. In addition to this and their regular music classes, the students rehearse every Tuesday evening at the regular symphony rehearsals.

Altogether each student puts in more than six hours a week of studying symphony material — in addition to the regular school work.

At the Feb. 3 concert, to be held at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Pontiac Northern High School, the orchestra will be directed by Francesco DiBlasi. It will feature selections from Strauss, Barber, Stravinsky and Frescobaldi-Kindler. Ruth Meckler, winner of the 1957 Grinnell Foundation piano award, will be guest artist.

Dear Abby . . .

Give It to Them Straight, or Wind Up in Strait Jacket

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My husband died leaving me with four children. Three months ago my daughter and her husband moved in for a vacation. Now I ask you how long is a vacation. They push my things aside and bring out their own. My house is beginning to look more like theirs and less like mine every day.

ABBY

"I love my daughter, but I can't take much more of this. Her husband bosses my kids around. My privacy is gone and my grocery bill is running wild. I feel I am being used, but how can I get rid of them before I crack up?"

USED MOTHER

DEAR USED: Tell your daughter THEIR "vacation" is over and now YOU'D like one. Alone. Either give it to them STRAIGHT or expect to wind up in a jacket by the same name.

"DEAR ABBY: My boy friend says we are "going steady." I expected a ring, or a bracelet, but all he says, is, 'I LOVE YOU.' Is this enough to 'go steady' on or should I insist on something I can show my friends?"

GOING STEADY

DEAR GOING: Don't "insist" on anything. Your friends will just have to take your word for it.

"DEAR ABBY: The widow of a professional man sent out 'thank you' notes unsealed, thus saving one cent on each card sent. These 'thank you' notes were to friends and neighbors who were thoughtful enough to remember her deceased husband. I think this was a very cheap thing to do. What do you think?"

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: It's not for us to judge who should save pennies and how. If the "thank you" note was sincere and prompt, who cares how much it cost to get there?

"DEAR ABBY: My daughter, age 11, has an adorable little girl friend her own age who keeps asking her to spend the weekend at her house. My child is an only child and I want her to have friends but here is our problem. The girl friend's parents run around on each other and I'm afraid if I let my child go there the children might be left alone all night.

"I can't tell my child the real reason I won't let her go, can I? I hate to hurt an innocent child for she is not to blame for what her parents do. What should I do?" DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: When your daughter is invited to her friend's home, simply reverse the invitation and insist that the friend stay with you. No need for any explanations.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MAC": With your kind of luck I recommend that you wear suspenders, a belt and carry two safety pins. Good luck!

Glorifying Child Blinds Him to Reality

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When I knew her she'd just divorced her husband. At first you were charmed by her good looks, her flawless grooming. Then you began to notice that she couldn't sit in your living room without recommending new furniture arrangements.

If you mentioned your family, she at once obliged to remind you that her father had been a British general. If you spoke of religion, you immediately learned that hers was better than yours because it studied all religions. When her alimony was late she'd say intensely of her son, "I always tell Eddie I'm his only real friend."

And on those occasions when she wasn't letting you know that her background and tastes were superior to yours, she expounded endlessly on Eddie's superior brains, wit and prospects.

So when Eddie got bounced out of prep school for insubordination, she said, "He just couldn't take the type of boys he was forced to associate with."

Her need to glorify herself was so compelling that Eddie was spared all contact with reality.

Recently, a mutual acquaintance met Eddie stumbling out of a cheap bar, a shabby, middleaged man lost in the alcoholic daze he obviously needs to tranquilize the pain of many other humiliations and restore his mother's image of his grandness.

I have a letter from a mother who may be in danger of straitjacketing her child in another kind of parent-glorifying image.

She writes, "Last year in a school play my 13-year-old girl acted the lead so brilliantly that our local paper mentioned her. This year she's been given one line to speak in another play. I've advised her to turn it down. Don't you agree that this is the self-respecting thing for her to do?

No, I just think it's a self-glorifying thing for her mother to tell her to do.

Your daughter's school, madam, has faced you with the possibility that her dramatic talent is ordinary, not superior. Why is this so objectional to you? Why can't you just let your daughter twinkle modestly in her school play instead of blazing above everybody else?

Why is your child only self-respecting when she demonstrates her superiority to other people's children?

This Woman Rejects 'Togetherness'

By RUTH MILLETT

"Thanks a million for your article ripping apart togetherness," writes a young wife.

"Eight years ago I married a big, strong he-man. And I aim to keep him the kind of man I can look up to, instead of changing him into a Mama's little helper.

"In our house Papa wears the pants and I wear the apron. I like it that way—and so does Papa.

"When his day's work is done he knows he doesn't have to stop off at the supermarket to buy the makings of the evening meal.

"Dinner will be ready to go on the table when the man of the family walks through the door. If it isn't quite ready, the head of our house is handed the evening paper and told to take it easy in his favorite chair until dinner is set.

"After dinner he watches TV or works on reports or hammers away in his workshop, or oils his guns while I do the dinner dishes—alone.

"And I don't feel put upon, either. In fact, I am so happy to have a real man around the house, I sing while I scrub the pots and pans and enjoy every moment of bathing the kids and getting them ready for bed.

"When they are ready their Dad comes in and tells them a story or reads from their favorite books.

"If they are suffering because their father doesn't share equally with me in their physical care, they don't show it. They think their Dad is something special. Because he isn't Mama's little helper, his word is law to them.

"It doesn't even seem to hurt them when they are sometimes told, 'Your Dad is tired because he has been working all day, so you play quietly and don't disturb him.'

"Some of my friends, whose husbands even help with the laundry, have hinted that I spoil my husband. I don't think I spoil him. I just treat him like a man."

Any comment, ladies?

Whole Wheat Biscuits Just a Little Different

Cooking and gardening are two occupations Mrs. Eddy enjoys. One hint she gave us was to keep whole wheat flour in the freezer; it keeps perfectly.

½ teaspoon salt

Posture, Not Weight Is Problem

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am fourteen years old. I know I am not overweight but my problem is my stomach. It is too large and I am embarrassed when I wear tight skirts."

A. You probably have poor posture. Remember to hold your abdomen in. Pull it back toward your backbone. Also take abdominal exercises. If you or any of my readers would like to have these, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to me in care of this newspaper.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet and 7 inches tall and weigh 131 pounds. My friends are always saying that I am too fat. Please tell me what you think."

A. Your friends are wrong. You are just exactly the correct weight.

Q. "My friend and I would like to know the correct weight for medium-framed girls 5 feet and 2½ inches tall and 14 years old. My friend weighs 108½ and I weigh 97 pounds."

A. The correct weight is about 110 pounds. Your friend is just about right but you should gain some weight.

Q. "My left hip is smaller than my right one. This is very noticeable in a bathing suit. What causes this and can you tell me how to reduce the large one? I am not fat."

A. It may be that your right hip is higher rather than larger. This could come from a spinal curvature. If so, corrective exercises are indicated but these must be done under the supervision of a highly trained individual. I suggest that you see an orthopedic physician and get his opinion.

Q. "I am 5 feet tall, small boned and 30 years old. I have four children. My skin is firm and I weigh 115 pounds. My measurements are bust 35, waist 25, hips 35 inches. I would like to know if I am overweight or if I just need waist reducing exercises."

A. Your weight and your measurements indicate that there is nothing wrong with your figure. Your waist is in perfect ratio to your hips and bust measurements.

Q. "A friend told me that the continuous use of a beauty mask will eventually cause lines and wrinkles. Is this true?"

A. Of course, it depends on the kind of mask. One reason for using a mask is to stir up circulation. I do not advise the daily use of masks. If the mask you use is very drying or stretches the skin, I suppose it could have this effect if used too often.

If you would like to have Josephine Lowman's abdominal exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to her in care of this paper.

Wrist Flattery

New watchbands get the glamor treatment. Links are more slender and "pinch proof." One band has lizard insets. Another has curved ends to match the shape of the watch.

Sometimes Need Pretreatment

Even though the new automatic washing machines are truly wash day wonders, some pretreatment is still necessary before placing certain clothes in the washer.

For instance, by rubbing a paste made of water and soap or detergent on heavily soiled areas, you'll get the best possible results from machine laundering.

Payrolls, Output Up in December

More Housing Started, but Personal Income Shows Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has reported increases in the nation's payrolls, industrial production and housing starts.

Although payrolls climbed last month, the annual rate of personal income—a measure of consumer buying power—fell more than a billion dollars for December. A cut in yearend dividend payments by corporations accounted for most of the drop.

The Commerce Department reported yesterday that December personal income was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $359,300,000,000. November's record level was $360,400,000,000.

Personal income for all of 1958 was $353,400,000,000, a record high. The total was up 5½ billion dollars from 1957 and topped by 1½ billion the estimate on which the government based predictions of federal tax revenues.

The Federal Reserve Board said its seasonally adjusted index of industrial output rose one point in December to 142 per cent of the 1947-48 average. The recession low was 126 per cent last April, the record high was 146 per cent in December 1956.

All of the production increase last month was in non-durable goods.

Industrial production for all of 1958 averaged 134 per cent, down from 143 per cent in 1957.

On the housing front, more new units were started last year than in any other year except 1954 and 1955. The 1,197,700 units started last year reversed a two-year housing downtrend.

Home construction in 1958 was 15 per cent above that of 1957. The 91,000 units started in December was a seven-year high for that month.

Most of 1958's increase came in the latter half of the year, indicating continued high home building activity this year.

83-Year-Old Pedestrian Killed by Car in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Anton Steffler, 83, was injured fatally last night when he was struck by a car at a Detroit intersection.

Chester A. Krawczak, 27, of Lincoln Park, was not held. He said he did not see the pedestrian in time to avoid the accident.

Woman, 48, Strangled

DETROIT (AP)—Ruth Halley, 48, of Detroit, was found strangled in her apartment Thursday. Police said the woman's body was found lying on the living room floor. They said the apartment had been ransacked.

A total of 28,629 flights were flown by airlines of 14 nations across the North Atlantic in 1957.

Charge Husband With Murder

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A first-degree murder warrant has been issued against Charles E. Montague on the basis of a photograph made of his wife at a sorority party the night of Jan. 6.

The color photograph snapped by an amateur who was concentrating on another subject, showed a profile of Mrs. Ruth Ann Montague, 32, mother of two. She was wearing a large golden earring.

Thirteen hours after Mrs. Montague left the party, her body was found in her car, parked across the street from the apartment house where the party was held. She had been strangled. Her body had been mutilated. No earrings were found on her body or at the scene.

Montague was arrested Tuesday for further questioning. Officers said they found on him a pair of earrings which match the one shown in the photograph. They said Montague told them he found the earrings in his apartment.

Begin Holly Yearbook Campaign

By FREDRICA WHITE

The biggest activity this week at Holly Area High School is the yearbook sales campaign.

The Tell Tale staff kicked off its campaign with a two-act comedy skit, "Tell Tale Tears." Nine staff members and six cheerleaders participated in the program.

The staff hopes to sell all of the 450 copies it has ordered. The high school drive ends today and the junior high's sale next Friday.

SELL CUSHIONS

The Varsity Club is also on a selling spree. It has gray seat cushions decorated with the red letter "H" and the team's nickname "Bronchos" written on them in red. The cushions, being sold for $1, are used on the bleachers for the spectator sports.

The seniors are planning a variety show, "Opus 59," to be presented in March. Fredrica White is chairman of the planning committee.

Jessica Wycoff and John Bendle are writing the script and directing the production.

Varsity cheerleaders are sporting new outfits for the basketball season. Karen Bradsher, Judy Thompson, Bette Adams, Pat Rouleau, Sharon Lynch and Sharlene Taylor now wear short red pleated skirts with matching chemise-type jerkins. Short-sleeved white sweaters are worn under the jerkins.

The drive, sponsored by the Conditioning Club, ended this week. A total of $70 in pennies was collected.

A senior homeroom turned in the largest sum, $15.65. It was headed by Beryl Roush. The room received a stuffed skunk toy named "De-stink-shun" and red clothes pins marked with an "N."

A huge red "N" was located in the school with a plastic bag for each homeroom attached to it for the pennies.

The decision as to the accreditation is expected sometime in March. The group also will study the school plant, layout and facilities.

Examinations for the semester will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday and Friday no school will be held and students will return Monday, Jan 26, for report cards.

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

SAUNDERS

FIVE ACES: The winning hand this week according to sales reports from area record dealers is headed by "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" (The Platters). "Donna" (Richie Valens) is in second place.

Third spot goes to "Stagger Lee" (Lloyd Price), just edging "16 Candles" (The Crests) into fourth.

Rounding out the five top sellers is "Lonely Teardrops" (Jackie Wilson) in fifth. Coming close were "All American Boy" (Bill Parsons) and "My Happiness (Connie Francis).

Jazz trombonist and TV actor Conrad Janis was quoted last week as saying he would make no more records with his Dixie outfit because "you record in a club and the sound isn't so good; you record in a studio and the sound is fine, but the atmosphere is so antiseptic that you don't have the right feel.

"So you either get the right feel or the right sound—not both."

This brings out a point that has mystified me for several years. It is logical to a jazz fan such as myself to say, "to blazes with hi-fi & stereo then, the feeling is the thing, and jazz should never lower itself to being ruled by audio engineers."

The mystery is that jazz, or most any type of recorded music, has always bowed to recording engineers. This is nothing new.

In the acoustical days of recording, drummers made wide use of wood blocks and such, xylophones were prominent, tubas were used almost exclusively along with the bass sax, clarinets were more popular than saxes, it was always a banjo & never a guitar, and the piano, which was hardest of all to faithfully record, was one of the few instruments that escaped because there was no suitable substitute.

Why all this? Simply because acoustical recording apparatus could pick up the sounds made by these instruments easily. With the advent of electrical recordings around 1925, things began to happen. Tubas were still popular for years, but the string bass began taking over.

Guitars replaced banjos, the saxaphone came into its glory, drummers were allowed more freedom, and after several years of improvements in technique, vibes began creeping into the scene, pushing xylophones into obscurity.

Thus, the parade has been constant through the years and is still continuing with odd instruments dominating many jazz records as experiments in sound.

The crazy part of it is that many of the greatest jazz recordings ever made were cut before 1930 and even prior to 1925. They were all made in a studio.

Studios then weren't as "antiseptic" as Mr. Janis puts it, but the limitations on musicians were far greater.

Could it be that today's generation of jazzmen just aren't quite as good as those of 30 years ago?

The story concerns two people in heaven who are standing on a China plate and come down to earth to tell their love story.

DANCE TONIGHT

The debate team and Forensic Club will sponsor a dance tonight in the school cafeteria following the Clarkston-Holly game. All game spectators are welcome.

Teens 'Talk Up' Traffic Problems, Solutions

By SYLVIA POLE
School Editor

Pontiac area teen-agers from 16 high schools today are "passing the word" to their fellow students about the ways they think many traffic problems can be solved or at least lessened.

They are "talking up" 19 resolutions the 118 students adopted this week at the first Pontiac Area Teen-age Traffic Safety Conference.

The conclusions of the group are also being examined by the Michigan State Safety Commission. They want new ideas and to know what the kids in the Pontiac area think can aid in solving traffic problems.

The conference, held at Pontiac Northern High School, was sponsored by the Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

LISTS RESOLUTIONS

Here's the list of what the teens recommended after hearing 10 experts in traffic studies and laws speak to them and then discussing the situations.

Teens think a sanctioned, approved and regulated drag strip should be allowed and constructed in the area.

The discussion group on this topic, one of six covered at the meeting, gave six reasons for its approval of the drag strip.

The group thought strips allow teens with mechanical ability to try out their theories; serve as an emotional outlet for those who have a competitive spirit and would create a better understanding between the public and the "true hot rodder."

Other reasons for allowing strips were: they teach respect for authority; provide entertainment and encourage safe construction of automobiles.

On the topic of teenage drinking and driving this group resolved that:

1. More severe penalties should be given to adults who sell or make liquor easy to obtain for teens.

2. Better alcohol education on radio, television and newspapers should be written. School assemblies should also be conducted to tell teens the effects of alcohol on the body.

3. Police should enforce the penalties against parents who allow teens to drink at parties, at their home or supply them with liquor from their own home cabinet.

4. The Legislature should require the courts to recognize alcohol blood, urine or breath tests which indicate 1,500 of one per cent alcohol in the body.

5. More publicity should be given to the penalties of persons who drink and drive so that a "fear" will be instilled in them.

The following recommendations were made concerning raising license requirements and the probationary period for first year drivers.

1. More driver's digest should be made available to the public.

2. Aptitude tests should be given to driver's license applicants and the written tests should be strengthened.

3. When renewing a license, a complete test, written, oral and practical, should be given every three years.

4. A driver's training course should be established for scooter licenses and more tests should be required for such a license.

In their discussion of "The Effect of Speed Violations and Should Traffic Laws be Enforced," the teen-agers made these resolutions:

1. Traffic laws should be enforced and interperated at the discretion of a trained, qualified officer and municipalities should provide training for these officers.

2. Police should provide facilities for the study of accident areas and also for the prevention of accidents such as engineering improvements, education and enforcement instead of just apprehension.

3. More communities should base their speed limits on the average of speed studies.

WATCH SPEED TRAPS

4. The state should control traffic laws to prevent small communities from taking advantage of the motorist.

The group also recommended the requirements of driver education teachers be increased from two credits to a minor in the subject. They thought teens should be allowed to drive with their parents during the time they are enrolled in a drivers' education course.

Finally, the group recommended that all communities conduct a voluntary safety check which could be sponsored by the student council or a community civic or service club.

The program was organized by a committee of nine teenagers under the chairmanship of Michael Flynn of St. Michael's High School.

Students from St. Michael's, St. Frederick's, Waterford Township, Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern, Walled Lake, Oxford, Milford, Holly, Brandon, Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills, Troy, Rochester, West Bloomfield Township and Avondale high schools attended.

Robert Flynn and George Stewart were co-chairmen of the project representing the chamber's committee.

Gordon H. Sheehe, director of the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center, was the guest speaker.

Anybody Seen Rep. Halpern?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Just about everybody in Queens, N.Y., knows Seymour Halpern. Unfortunately, nobody much can find him now that he's been sworn in as a new member of Congress.

Halpern came to Congress, at 45, an experienced lawmaker, an honored civic leader, a passable amateur painter of portraits, and with other accomplishments too numerous to mention even in the Congressional Directory.

The New York Republican confirmed somewhat sadly today that he now has added a unique distinction to his long list of attainments—he is the only one of 82 freshmen House members still lacking an office.

Halpern was low man in a drawing for office space. That means he is last to be accommodated. While the other 435 House members are settling themselves into office suites ranging from mighty nice to downright deluxe, Halpern has been installed—temporarily—in a hollow wall of the House office building.

Halpern's hideaway, as it has come to be known, is so well hidden most of the building guards don't even know it's there. Its principal accouterments comprise a window, a desk and phone, a wash basin, a junior refrigerator, and a black leather couch.

Halpern's hideaway exists because the outside of the office building was cut square while the front foyer inside was made round. This left a couple of crannies between inner and outer walls. One was numbered 360 and turned over to Halpern.

It apparently was this or go home to Queens until somebody comes up with some space. Halpern got a desk and a phone and moved in.

Each House member is entitled to a staff of eight helpers. Halpern can't hire a staff though because there is no place to put them. Hopefuls who might want to apply mostly can't locate him anyway, and even when they do there is scarcely any room to sit down.

Halpern is a patient man who in 14 years jockeyed through the New York Senate 279 laws, including some on housing. Up to now he has taken a tolerant view of the congressional space problem.

He does wish, though that Speaker Sam Rayburn would make up his mind on which senior lawmaker is to be installed in a choice office suite which the speaker so far has held out from the biennial game of congressional musical chairs.

Once Rayburn gives the word, and the seniority system has run its course, one suite after another may be vacated, and an office eventually will be found for Halpern. It could even be a good one.

From Floe in Straits 3 Skaters Rescued

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP)—A skating party on the Straits of Mackinac turned into an hour of terror yesterday for three young men.

Charles Latour, 22, of St. Ignace, Allen Green, 19, and Carl Pazinaw, 21, both of Mackinac Island, decided to skate across the Straits to the island almost four miles away.

They said they were well out on the ice when they ran into open water. They turned back and almost were to shore when the section of ice on which they were standing broke loose and became a floating island.

The trio were trapped on the floe for about an hour before they were plucked from the ice by Merle Utter, of St. Ignace, who rescued them in a small boat.

Sterling Hayden Wins Custody of 4 Children

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden will retain custody of his four children but he can't take them on a world cruise.

The court's rulings Thursday ended a bitter custody fight between the actor and his divorced wife, Betty Ann DeNoon.

Superior Judge Emil Gumpert ruled Mrs. Hayden, 36, is not a fit person to have custody, but held the children are too young—they range from 10 to 6—to sail around the world in their father's ancient yacht.

'Murderers' Don't Even Hide Bodies

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Four human feet dangled from the trunk of an old sports car rattling through Frankfurt's deserted streets long after midnight.

"Murder," muttered two policemen off duty and gave chase.

They overtook the car and motioned the driver to stop. He rattled on. At a traffic light, one policeman got out and shouted "Halt—police." He reached inside to grab the ignition key when the light switched to green. Off went both cars again.

One policeman jumped on a fender of the "murder" car and a fight started with the driver. A few moments later the car crashed into a tree. The daredevil policeman and the "murderer" were knocked unconscious.

The two bodies climbed out of the trunk as the second policeman came over and stopped.

"We'd been celebrating a soccer victory and were bringing two buddies home," the driver told a court. "There were only two seats in my car, so my friends got into the trunk."

The court acquitted him of charges of resisting arrest, accepting his defense that he thought the two policemen were bandits.

Bob Considine Says:

Mikoyan Will Discover Ike Tough as Nails

NEW YORK—Comrade Mikoyan might be in for a jolt when he meets President Eisenhower Saturday. He has been paid considerable deference in most official circles up to now. He'll find Ike as tough as nails.

It has been three and a half years since Eisenhower faced a top Russian. At the summit conference in Geneva he completely unnerved comrades Bulganin, Khrushchev, Zhukov and Molotov with his "open skies" mutual inspection proposal, which he dropped in their their laps without warning.

Over a drink after one day's session he took Bulganin aside and asked through the interpreter if the Russian was aware of the fact that the prevailing winds of the world blow across the U.S., the Atlantic, Europe and then into Russia.

Bulganin was puzzled at first, then startled to comprehend that Eisenhower was saying, in effect, that Russia could be destroyed by radioactive clouds from either Allied A-and H-bombs or even such atomic weapons as they directed against Europe. The latter stuff would blow back on them.

Searching for a proper reply, Bulganin in time answered that the same winds in time blow across Russia, over Asia, the Pacific and then the U.S.

"Precisely," Eisenhower snapped, according to an American ambassador who was there. "We have it in our power to destroy each other. But you must know that if we do that the untouched part of the world, below the equator, is free and democratic and will inherit the world."

After a pause, Bulganin said thoughtfully in Russian, "we must do something."

Comrade M. has been pictured by some of the pundits as ready to drop a haymaker of a proposal on Ike. Chances are the President, who can get tart and severely to the point for all his cheerful mien, will hit him with a couple before he starts cranking up.

A. Wildred May, editor and economist who has just returned from an extensive trip through the Far East, sheds light on several revealing facets of Red China's all-out "face"-making economic effort.

All through the east, now, goods produced in China are being sold cheaper than the other eastern nations can manage. Whatever the price, China underprices.

Hong Kong now has 10 department stores and about 100 food shops which sell only Red China products—much of the stuff handsomely packaged and displayed. Items range all the way from ivory carvings to radios, hi-fi players and ballpoint pens. These latter articles are imported into China from Czechoslovakia or other industrialized Iron Curtain countries, relabeled, and sold proudly as Chinese at ridiculous prices.

May saw large "Chinese-made" electric fans priced at $2.50. All kinds of food products are being similiarly dumped, for prestige purposes.

At present, China gains hard money, sterling, from only two of her customers — Hong Kong and Singapore. The rest is by barter. There have been some spectacular cases of welching, notably in the case of poor rice exchanged with Ceylon for good rubber.

Still, China is subtly influencing millions of bargain-hunters and the poverty-stricken, at God knows what cost to the teeming, silent Chinese slaves who produce the goods.

Dr. Castro's people in Havana have invited the "world press" to cover the impending military trials of former Batista cohorts "and the executions which follow." Sounds like the Old West—"The varmint was given a fair trial and hung." Castro has told his old confessor, a Cuban Jesuit, that the revolution has touched off a new wave of religious fervor. If that is so, and the executions continue, it will subside into prayers for survival.

U. S. sympathies for refugees from Communist terror are too well known to bear restating. Still, there is a growing impatience with some of them who would involve America in a desperate crisis with the Soviet Union by inflicting bodily harm on Mikoyan during his visit here. The judge who fined those who atacked the Russian in San Francisco observed sharply that "this isn't Russia." It seems to me that if one of our own people was treated in Russia as Mikoyan has been here, we'd all be hopping mad.

No Sunday Deaths So Far

'59 Traffic Toll Is Low

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan has yet to record a Sunday traffic death this year—and State police say it would be a "tremendous thing" if the mark could be stretched another week.

"We had four highway deaths the first weekend of the year and four last weekend," said State Police safety specialist Orin Lucas. "It will be a real challenge to keep it up."

The 1959 highway death toll through Wednesday was 31, down 11 from the figure of 42 for a similar period last year.

There were 17 deaths on the 1958 weekend comparable with this one.

Is Garbage Property? Yes, Says Legal Head

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Is garbage property? Yes, says Arizona Atty. Gen. Robert Morrison.

Garbage companies claimed they should not be under jurisdiction of the state's Corporation Commission because they were not common carriers of property.

But Morrison said in a formal opinion that the word "property" is broad enough to include garbage and refuse—and, therefore, the companies are considered subject to commission regulation.

Polish Government Jails Priest-Editor

WARSAW (AP) — One of Poland's most prominent Roman Catholic priests and editors has been arrested on charges of illegal publishing, corruption of officials and black market money dealings.

Officials said the trial of the Rev. Mario Pirozynski and 17 co-defendants will start Jan. 19. News of the arrest has not been published in Poland.

Father Piroszynski is director of the Catholic magazine Homo Dei, published twice a month primarily for the clergy.

The Communist government is carrying on a new campaign against the Catholic Church. About 93 per cent of the Polish population is Catholic.

Public Opinion Forces Actress to Give Up Sack

SAO PAOLO, Brazil (UPI)—The low cut sack dress is definitely out for shapely Brazilian actress Norma Benguelle. She was mobbed Wednesday by a group of teenaged hoodlums and stripped naked in the street.

The teenagers followed her along the street commenting on her figure and on the sack dress. Suddenly one youth snatched at the dress and others followed suit. In a matter of seconds she stood nude and screaming in protest.

Miss Benguelle fled to the safety of a clothing store where she was followed by the teenagers. A crowd of bystanders called police and five squad cars of patrolmen restored order after a half hour battle.

Airplane experts say the time is near when a plane will leave New York at noon and arrive in Los Angeles at noon the same day.

Detroit's Prize Rookie Gets 'Red Carpet' Treatment

Lions Welcome Pietrosante

DETROIT (UPI) — The joy in the Detroit Lions' office yesterday was understandable. The Lions, who hadn't known many happy days last season, were rolling out the red carpet for their number one draft choice, Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame.

"There hasn't been this much excitement around here since Hopalong Cassady first signed," said a secretary.

It's rare for a professional team to call a news conference when a rookie is signed. Usually that's handled by a form news release. But to the Lions, Pietrosante is THE rookie.

Coach George Wilson cracked quips as he posed with the 6 foot, 2 inch, 225 pound fullback and Lion president Edwin J. Anderson for newspaper and television cameramen.

The assistant coaches, Ray (Scooter) MacLean, Buster Ramsey, Bob Dove and Bob Nussbaumer all came in for a handshake.

The object of all the attention is regarded as a prime factor in the Lions' comeback hopes.

From champions in 1957, the Lions skidded to 5th place in the Western Division last season. The downfall was traceable to one source — more crippling injuries than any year in the club's history. One of those was to fullback John Henry Johnson who played hardly at all.

Johnson is the man Pietronsante will have to beat out. John Henry led Lion rushers in 1957 and was a vital cog in the passing game with his blocking for the Detroit quarterbacks. Last season the Lion passers were easy prey in most games to enemy linemen.

Pietrosante could fill the bill on both counts. Not only was he a crushing power runner for Notre Dame, he also drew praise from professional scouts for his blocking and linebacking abilities.

"We used mainly a split-T at Notre Dame and so I had to do a lot of blocking, especially on the ends," Pietrosante said.

Suitably, Pietronsante's two professional favorites were Andy Robustelli of the New York Giants and Doak Walker, formerly with the Lions — one a star on defense and the other on offense.

Although slowed down by a bruised rib and Charley horse last season, Pietrosante who gained 556 yards in 117 carries for a 4.8 average, was named the most valuable player of the East-West Shrine game and starred in the Hula Bowl against a team of professionals.

Pietrosante said he signed a one-year contract but the terms were not disclosed. He said he had decided on playing American football even before the draft.

"I listened to Canadian offers, but I already had my mind made up to play in the United States," he said.

That Pietrosante already was considered a Lion by one fan was evident when he walked into the office for the first time and was handed a letter — his first piece of fan mail in Detroit.

Series Slated

Chance to 'Beat the Pro'

Plans are nearing completion for a "Beat the Pro" series slated to start soon at Lakewood Lanes.

A monthly program will enable area keglers to compete for a pyramid of prizes against such famous stars as Buzz Fazio, Marion Ladewig, Don Carter and Tom Hennessy during the series.

Proprietor Bill Kuklinski is keeping records on the top series being bowled at Lakewood in both league and open bowling. The contestants who head these lists will be matched against the visiting stars.

Anyone is eligible to participate with no entry fee to worry about. Separate lists will be posted for open and league contestants.

Several merchants in this area have already volunteered to contribute prizes. Kuklinski also will donate awards and will pay $300 to any sanctioned bowler who should hit a 300 game against a pro.

The battle for prizes actually will be between the local bowlers since the order of prize presentations will be determined by the order of finishes against the "name" stars.

Many extra prizes will be given. They will be for the high single and most strikes.

Windows Open 6:00 p.m.

Tickets Grow Scarce for Tonight's Game

The few reserved seat tickets floating around this morning for the Pontiac Central-Flint Northern game tonight were at a premium by noon today, therefore basketball fans are warned to get to the ticket windows early tonight for the available general admission seats.

The window at the PCH gym will open at 6:00 p.m. and indications point to the largest crowd in history of the school.

Ticket manager Herb Sanford said additional seats have been set up in all available places in the gym.

Flint Northern did not get an allotment of tickets, therefore it is expected that a large caravan of Flint fans will flood the ticket windows when they open.

Osmun's ticket agency downtown reported a great demand for tickets but there were still some advance general admission seats to be had.

The largest home crowd ever to see a basketball game was at the Pontiac Central-Highland Park game two years ago when the doors were closed at 7:00 p.m.

Seating capacity in the PCH gym is 2,300. Additional seating on the floor and limited standing room can put the maximum at 2,500.

Jayvees start at 6:30 with the varsity slated for 8:00 p.m.

TOPS IN SVC — John Gillian is the one Pontiac Central will have to watch tonight in the big game at PCH. Gillian of Flint Northern is the Saginaw Valley's top scorer and one of the leading rebounders in the league.

Two Unbeatens Tangle in Key Game in State

Victory Stakes Run High as Chiefs Hope to Keep Ranking

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Stakes will run as high and as heavy as the noise in the PCH gym when the top ranked powers in Michigan prep circles, Pontiac Central and Flint Northern, tangle tonight.

This is the "Blue Plate Special" game in the state and to the winner goes three big stakes:

1. The top ranking in Class A circles.

2. The lead in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

3. Keeping the unbeaten streak intact.

Because of the home court advantage, Pontiac Central is a slight favorite tonight, but statistically both teams will put near-identical marks on the line.

Offensively each has averaged 60 points per game and defensively each has given up 50 points per opponent.

Rebounding, where the ultimate tale of the game may be told, Flint Northern has the advantage with 6-4 Bob Hamilton, 6-2 Pat Manley and 6-1 John Gillian who is considered one of the best board men for his size in the SVC.

Coach Jack Marlette often goes along with his five starters for most of the game as the Vikings are somewhat shy in depth.

Charley Jones and Jesse Johnson, both 5-11, complete the starting lineup with Hamilton, Manley and Gillian. Monk Collins, 5-6, is the number six man.

Gillian, who dumped in 23 points Tuesday against Flint Central, is the leading pointmaker in the SVC with 116 in six game, however, on the basis of average scoring, Pontiac's Charley Barge is tops with 20 per game.

PCH coach Art Van Ryzin will go along with 5-6 Phil Rabaja with Barge at the guard posts, and Bill Hayward (6-2) and John Bandy (6-3), at the forward slots.

Harrison Munson is expected to start at center, but Van Ryzin may pull a switch and start Bill Pritchett, a 6-3 sophomore, to go against Northern's Hamilton.

Last year the two teams played a couple thrillers. Pontiac Central won its home game 52-51 and Northern took a 49-47 decision in Flint.

The rivalry has always been keen between PCH and the Vikings. Two years ago in walking off with the SVC title with an unbeaten record, Pontiac Central was knocked out of the regionals by Flint Northern.

This was a reversal of what happened three years ago. Flint Northern whipped the Chiefs twice in regular season and in tournament play PCH eliminated the Vikings.

"I love to beat Van Ryzin," said Marlette, Northern coach, "but I know the feeling is mutual with Art."

A packed house, probably the largest in PCH history, is expected for the contest. Varsity game time is 8:00 p.m., but doors will open at 6:00 p.m.

Tigers Sign Vet Scout Mathes to Seek Talent

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Mathes, the man who helped build the St. Louis Cardinal scouting system and was one of the club's all-time scouting greats, has been signed as a scout by the Detroit Tigers.

Mathes will serve in the St. Louis and Missouri Valley area for the Tigers and also will be on a special assignment for general manager John J. McHale, scouting the National League.

Mathes, 65, is in his 50th year in baseball. During his long career he has been a player, manager, scout, business manager and coach.

Among his many achievements was helping to build the Cardinal scouting system for Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey.

Ed. Katalinas, Tiger director of scouts, announced the signing of Mathes yesterday.

Booth, T&C Cagers Hike League Leads

Booth Homes in Class B and Towne & Country in Class C strengthened their grips on 1st place Thursday night with important City League basketball victories at Pontiac Central.

The Booth cagers boosted their record to 6-1 with a 62-47 win over Glenn's Motor Sales behind the 16-point scoring effort of Dean Hess. John Womack led Glenn's losing cause with 14.

T & C upped its season mark to 5-1 with a 43-25 triumph over Winglemire's of Holly. T&C's Roger Reynolds was almost a one-man show as he collected 25 points. Holly's Tim Courtney tallied 10 in defeat.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS

BOSTON — Billy Ryan, 171½, Lowell, Mass. knocked out Bad Willie Gray, 175, Boston, 1.

MILAN, Italy — Horacio Accavallo, 114¾, Argentina, outpointed Angelo Rampin, 112¾, Italy, 8.

ELKS' HEADLINERS — Nick Kerbawy, left, general manager of the Pistons, former baseball executive Bill Veeck, center, and Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty were among the many celebrities at the annual Elks Father & Son banquet last night at Lodge 810.

Boros, Maxwell Pace Crosby Field

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Julius Boros and Billy Maxwell, who both know well the way to golf's pay window, paced a jam packed field into today's second round of Bing Crosby's $50,000 merry mixup.

Boros, a former National Open champ, and ex-amateur king Maxwell both caught fire with a string of birdies on the second nine holes of yesterday's opening round to shoot five-under-par scores of 67.

That gave them a one-stroke advantage over U.S. Open champion Tommy Bolt and fast rising young star John McMullin. Nine others were deadlocked at 69. On that list came Art Wall, Dow Finsterwald, Howie Johnson, Bob Goalby, Arnold Palmer, Frank Stranahan, Bo Wininger, Doug Sanders and Paul O'Leary.

Walter Burkemo, of Franklin Hills, Mich., former National PGA champion, finished among the first round leaders with 35-35—70.

Except for Wall and Palmer, all the leaders played the Monterrey Peninsula Country Club course, easier than the other two used in this tournament — Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

So the job of staying ahead loomed tougher for Boros, Maxwell and the others who today tackled Pebble Beach in this 18th national pro-amateur tournament. Each golfer will play all three courses before Sunday's final in this 72-hole event.

Each of the 150 pros competing for the $4,000 top prize, also is teamed with an amateur in a best ball event with $2,000 awaiting the pro on the winning team.

Maxwell, a Texan from Odessa, and his partner, Dr. Robert Knutson of San Francisco, led that category with a best-ball score of 61. Bolt with singer Don Cherry and Mike Souchak with Phoenix department store executive Bob Goldwater were tied at 62. Boros, of Mid Pines, N.C., and his partner from Las Vegas, Moe Dahlitz, carded a best ball 66.

Livonia's Hitt Leads All-Star

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Three St. Louis bowlers were chasing newcomer Bob Hitt of Livonia, Mich., today in the championship flight of the All-Star Bowling Classic.

Hitt, who finished 17th in his debut in this tournament last year, got off to a flying start in the final round last night by winning 11 of 16 games against Bill Bunetta of Chicago. Hitt had a total pinfall of 3,551 and garnered 82-01 points under the intricate Petersen scoring system.

Pressing the 37-year-old Hitt for the lead were Ray Bluth, Billy Welu and Bill Lillard—all of St. Louis.

Bluth, who finished first in the qualifying round with a record-high total, totaled 3,485 pins and 79-35 points. Welu also won 11 games as he totaled 3,421 pins and 79-21 points while Lillard was fourth with 3,436 pins and 78-36 points.

Bunetta, cursing the luck of the draw that pitted him against Hitt in the opening games, was 14th in the field of 16 qualifiers with 3,245 pins and 69-45 points.

In the women's division, Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., won six of her first eight games to take the lead with 1,717 pins and 40-17 points.

Simmons Stars in 3-0 Bruin Win at Boston

Teams Now Share 4th Place; Detroit Has 1 Victory in 13 Games

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Bruins have their first victory in five starts and a share of fourth place in the National Hockey League, thanks to the Detroit Red Wings.

The Bruins whipped the Red Wings 3-0 last night to give Boston goalie Don Simmons his third shutout of the season and hand the Wings another loss in a string which has seen the club win only one out of its last 13.

This is the worst Red Wing slump in years—so bad in fact that the club doesn't even want to dig back into the old records and find out just how bad.

Johnny Bucyk, Don McKenney and Jim Morrison scored Boston's goals, but Simmons was a major factor in the victory.

The Bruin goalie made 28 sparkling saves in his whitewash job.

Detroit and Boston now are tied for fourth in the NFL standings with 38 points each. Each club has won 16 games, compared with 24 wins for league leading Montreal which is far out in front of the competition with 56 points.

Terry Sawchuk made several good stops but missed the one that gave Boston its first goal when Bucyk drove a 15-footer into the right corner of the Detroit net for his 14th tally at 9:29.

The Bruins scored their final two goals in the third period with Detroit defenseman Pete Goegan off the ice. Goegan was sitting out a hooking penalty when McKenney got his 23rd goal at 4:31 on a 25-foot slap shot.

Goegan was out again on a tripping penalty when Morrison clicked on a screened 5-footer at 15:41.

Papazian Rolls 259 Game, 720 Series

Led by Al Papazian on games of 258-203-259 for a total of 720 pins the West Side Classic boys enjoyed another of their high scoring nights. Along with Al in the super pin spilling was Moe Moore with 224-253-234 in 711 to top all bowlers for the evening.

One-third of all games rolled were over 200 with a total of 80 games over this mark and a total of 22 series over 600 topped by the two 700 series.

Among the high team games was the Coca Cola team with 1111 as high game for the night. The Blue Cleaners boys walked off with high team series honors on games of 1039-1068-1041 for a good 3148 series.

Detroit Pro Smith Injured to Miss PGA Seniors

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit golf professional Horton Smith won't be able to make his debut in the PGA Seniors golf tournament at Dunedin, Fla., this year.

Smith broke his left arm in a fall at his home. The two-time winner of the Masters said the arm would be in a cast for at least three weeks.

To play in the Seniors a golfer must be at least 50. Smith turned 50 last May and had planned to play in the 1959 Seniors event.

"I'll have to miss that one," he said, "but I still plan to play in the Masters."

Smith, the only golfer to play in all 22 Masters tourneys, won the event in 1934 and 1936.

Bucky Harris Boston GM

Former Tiger Skipper Named to Replace Cronin

BOSTON (AP) — Bucky Harris has reached what he believes is the goal of every baseball man—a major league general manager's job.

Harris, 62, who was succeeded by Joe Cronin as Boston field boss in 1934, yesterday was named to follow Joe as head of the Red Sox.

After 13 years as a major league infielder and 29 as a manager, Bucky spent the last two seasons as a special assistant to Cronin.

"Everyone in baseball wants to become a general manager some day," Harris said. "I had an opportunity for the job with Detroit while I was managing the New York Yankees. I didn't take it because I had promised Larry MacPhail I wouldn't run out on him. When he went, I went."

Harris learned of his promotion in a phone call from Cronin in Chicago where Joe had just been approved for the American League presidency.

Easy Waterford Wins for Druggists, Swan

Drayton Drug and White Swan were easy winners last night in Class A Waterford League basketball games at Isaac Crary Junior High.

Morey Larson scored 15 points and Lynus Grant and Bob Pickett caged 12 apiece as the Druggists defeated Lytell & Colegrove, 60-47. Chuck Gillis of L&C took game scoring honors with 23 points.

The Swan quintet routed Rocco's Restaurant, 83-45, behind a 26-point spree by Dennis McConkey. Ron Kind tallied 11 for the losers.

Veeck Guest Speaker

Celebrities Galore at Elks

A host of sports celebrities highlighted by the appearance of guest speaker Bill Veeck attended the 21st annual Father and Son banquet last night at the Elks Temple.

More than 650 were in attendance for the affair which featured such sports figures as Duffy Daugherty, Dizzy Trout, Don Lund, Nick Kerbawy, Art Houtteman, Joe Ginsberg, Hal Newhouser, Chuck Davey, Lou Creekmur, and area personalities Gene Wright, Jim Niebauer, Godloe Rogers and Jesse MacLeay.

Kerbawy, the master of ceremonies who is now the general manager of the Detroit Pistons, opened the ceremonies with a laugh when he commented, "It's good to be back in a crowd again."

The personable Kerbawy introduced Daugherty, MSU head football coach whose short speech to the youngsters in the crowd concentrated on the essence of the values to excel in athletics.

Lund, former Tiger assistant who is now head baseball coach at the University of Michigan, also was brief in his talk, but he accented the values of participating in athletics and urged the youngsters to take part in sports with "desire" as the utmost characteristic.

Veeck capticated the audience with his humor, and in his attempt to gain a share in the Chicago White Sox he hinted that soon he hoped to be back in baseball.

He did not refer to the White Sox specifically but it has been common knowledge that he has been attempting to acquire the stock of Dorothy Rigney in the Chicago franchise.

Elks' officials said it was the most successful Father and Son banquet in several years. Prizes were awarded to numerous youngsters in the audience.

Mild Weather Halts Skaters

Poor Ice Causes More Delay in City Junior Hockey Tourney

Poor ice brought about by unseasonably mild temperatures is slowing down the progress of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's City Junior hockey tournament.

Thursday, for the 2nd straight evening, unfavorable weather conditions and subsequent bad skating surfaces caused another delay in the double elimination tourney at Northside Park.

Three scheduled Class B games were postponed Wednesday. Last night the same number of scheduled Class A contests also had to be called off.

It the weatherman becomes cooperative, the tournament will resume tonight with the three "B" games delayed from Wednesday. Starting times are 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 on the Northside softball field.

Yesterday's postponed "A" tussles have been set for Saturday morning, also on the softball diamond, with game times at 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30. Two Class B scraps will be held Saturday at Northside Community ice rink at 9 and 10 a.m.

Buchholz Loses Listless Match; May Take Rest

ADELAIDE (AP)—Earl Buchholz, of St. Louis, acclaimed the worlds' outstanding junior, became the first major casualty of the Australian National Tennis Championship today. And then in a fit of depression said he may quit the game.

Later, after cooling off a bit, he amended the threat to say "I would like to knock off for six months and get back in the right frame of mind."

The unpredictable 18-year-old Missourian, listless and lacking in fire, fell before Neil Gibson, unranked little known Australian in a second round match on the Memorial Drive Courts. The score was 8-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1.

Lewis King stole 65 bases for Danville, Va., in 1945.

All Prep Loops in Full Swing Tonight

By BILL CORNWELL

League activity steals the show tonight in a jam-packed schedule on the Oakland County area high school basketball front.

All area conferences will be in action this evening with key games on the docket in several circuits.

Walled Lake's Inter-Lakes battle with Berkley, Clarkston's Wayne-Oakland scrap with Holly, an Oakland B tussle between Lake Orion and Fitzgerald and Rochester's Tri-County fight against Romeo highlight the program.

INTER-LAKES

Walled Lake tries to break a two-game losing streak and at the same time move into a 1st place tie with Berkley by toppling the undefeated Bears tonight at Walled Lake.

Berkley has a 3-0 league record while Walled Lake stands 2-1. Southfield, also 2-1, would create a triple tie for the lead by downing Farmington on the latter's court if the Vikings come through against Berkley. Waterford goes to Van Dyke Lincoln in the remaining I-L contest.

WAYNE-OAKLAND

Holly, Clarkston, West Bloomfield and Clarenceville, all 2-1 in the W-O, hope to survive their league tests tonight while keeping an eye peeled toward Northville where the Mustangs play host to Brighton, unbeaten in three conference starts.

Defending champion Clarkston invades Holly in the feature attraction with victory a "must" for each school. Clarenceville and West Bloomfield meet at Clarenceville facing the same crucial situation while winless Milford visits Bloomfield Hills to round out the slate.

OAKLAND B

Lake Orion is involved in a key game at home against Fitzgerald. The Spartans are tied for 1st place with Troy on a 3-0 record while Orion is 2-1. The Dragons can become serious contenders for the Oakland B crown with a win over Fitzgerald.

Avondale, trying desperately to find a winning formula, takes to the road again for a struggle with Madison and Troy goes to Clawson in the other loop games.

TRI-COUNTY

Rochester swings into action for the 1st time since before the holidays when the Falcons open their Tri-County campaign against dangerous Romeo. The Falcons are unbeaten in five starts compared to Romeo's 3-2 mark. Lapeer entertains L'Anse Creuse in the other loop outing.

SOUTH CENTRAL

Oxford faces the unpleasant task of colliding with unbeaten Imlay City, currently ranked Michigan's No. 3 Class C outfit, in the South Central headliner at Imlay. Ortonville completes the loop card at North Branch.

SOUTHERN THUMB

Almont's chances of successfully defending its Southern Thumb title will hinge greatly on the outcome of tonight's battle with undefeated Anchor Bay on the latter's court. Anchor Bay stands 4-0 in the league while Almont is 3-1 after last Friday's surprising loss to Dryden.

Dryden at Capac, New Haven at Armada and Brown City at Memphis complete the conference schedule.

EASTERN MICHIGAN

Activity in the EML is light. Winless Royal Oak Kimball is a heavy underdog at East Detroit and Port Huron is favored at Mt. Clemens. Birmingham is idle and league-leading Ferndale defeated lowly Hazel Park last night.

Royal Oak Dondero plays host to Dearborn Fordson in a Border Cities tilt and South Lyon welcomes Dexter for a League of the Lakes contest. Other games are Country Day at Harper Woods, Lamphere at Clintondale and Millington at Frankenmuth.

STILL HOPING — Jump shot specialist Terry Hoy and his mates will be still hoping to come up with their 1st win at Bloomfield Hills tonight. He leads the team in scoring with 80 points in seven games.

Holly's McDaniels Moves Up

Gallup Still Leads Scoring

By CHUCK ABAIR

Birmingham's jump shot artist Merv Gallup appears to get better as he goes along in the Oakland County individual scoring race.

The transfer from Ferndale has totaled 56 points in two games since the last list of leaders was printed to increase his average to 26 for five contests thus far with the Maples.

He has plenty of tough opposition but has shown no sign yet of giving ground to such talented point-getters as Doug Stott of Oxford, big George McDaniels of Holly and Madison sharpshooter Rick Moos.

Stott ranks 2nd averaging 22, McDaniels, who has moved up from 6th, is 3rd at 21.9 followed by Moos' 21.4.

Pontiac Central sparkplug Charley Barge is a close 5th with an even 100 points for five games for a 20 mark but he will be graduating after only two more games.

McDaniels continues to hold the edge in total digits with 175 but has played more games than the majority of his rivals.

Jerry Williams of Cranbrook, Kirk Evans, Walled Lake, West Bloomfield ace John Lucadam, steady Barry Campbell of Waterford, Barge's running mate John Bandy and Chet Wlodkowski of Orchard Lake St. Mary are among the other leaders.

Newcomers to the top 25 in the county are smooth Pontiac Northern forward Mike Fedynik, Bill Smith of Walled Lake and Bob McLaughlin of Royal Oak Shrine. The latter has scored 57 points in his last two outings.

There has been a few changes among the area pacesetters but Don Petroff of East Detroit at 25 and Terry Wills of Armada still head the pack. Brighton star Sean Lavan and Pete Brabb of Imlay City are new in the top 15 in that list.

Rams Host St. Clement Tonight

6th Straight Win Target for Eaglets

By H. GUY MOATS

While St. Michael takes a respite tonight from Suburban Catholic League basketball competition, the other two Pontiac area prochial quintets will be busy on the home floors.

Gene Wright's St. Frederick club with a single blemish on its season's record, will be favored in St. Thomas hall over St. Clement of Center Line.

Orchard Lake St. Mary, coached by former Eaglet star Rev. John Rakoczy, has its sights set on its 6th straight victory. Eaglets' "target for tonight" is the unpredictable, but potentially dangerous St. James club from Ferndale. Orchard Lakers are the league's only undefeated club and were well favored to stay that way, tonight on their own floor.

In each instance, the home club holds a formidable advantage in individual and all-around effectiveness. Where the Center Line squad has Bob Weber and George Meyernik, frequent double-figure shooters, the Rams can point to Tom Derocher, Steve Pocs, Phil Bieri or Joe Keller in the same category.

However, the Rams, still smarting from their only loss, will field two new faces tonight. One will be a starter in his first appearance with the varsity. Coach Wright yesterday moved Mike Reed up to the first string and named him a starting guard. Mike is not very big, but an aggressive, fast defender. Ted Dobski, a 6-1 center, also was moved up, and is sure to see action, Wright said this morning. He will be used down-court. Both boys are sophomores.

Eaglets parade an all-around corps of sharpshooters against the Ferndale club. High-scoring Chet Wlodkowski (21 on Tuesday against St. Rita) and Glenn Hass (24 in the same game) lead the Orchard Lakers' point-making contingent. However, almost every other Eaglet is capable of hitting well.

Dick Christie, Ed McGown and Bob Kernan have been St. James mainstays, with Christie the leading man. Larry Yezak's return to action after a long layoff due to an injury, has bolstered the Ferndale club both defensively and offensively. He was one of the St. James big guns a year ago.

Ferndale Quint Rallies to Beat Parkers, 63-57

Highly favored Ferndale trailed Hazel Park for three quarters, then rallied behind sharp shooting Toy Palmer to gain a 63-57 victory last night in an Eastern Michigan League basketball game at Hazel Park.

The stubborn Parkers held period leads of 15-8, 28-25 and 46-45 before the Dales seized the lead for keeps early in the 4th quarter. Palmer rifled 27 points for Ferndale while big Bill Jankowski topped the Parkers with 18.

It was the 3rd EML win for the league-leading Dales and evened their overall record at 3-3. Hazel Park now stands 1-3 in the loop and 1-5 altogether.

Cranes Victors, 8-1, Over Benedictine Six

Playing an unofficial contest with Detroit Benedictine puck squad yesterday on home ice, Cranbrook's sextet won easily, 9-1. Cranes are considering membership in the International High School Hockey League, with which the Benedictines are affiliated.

Three Cranes hit for two goals each. They were Jon Plew, Andy Billedson and Larry DeWitt. Others who scored were John Cudlip, John Waters and Don LeMessurier. Ray DeBrincate got Benedictine's only counter.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac as a sports town goes on trial tonight. The court room is the PCH gymnasium and unbeaten basketball teams from Pontiac Central and Flint Northern high schools will be the judge and jury.

Pontiac Central, ranked the No. 1 Class A team in the state of Michigan, and Flint Northern, ranked No. 2, are colliding this evening with their lofty ratings and the Saginaw Valley Conference lead both at stake.

This game is a "natural" in every respect. The Flint Vikings are undefeated in six games and the Chiefs have not lost in five starts. The two squads will be resuming their bids for titles in what is generally considered the mightiest "A" league in Michigan prep circles.

Central's clash with Northern is tonight's top cage attraction in the state. It offers everything that a true basketball fan could desire in the way of sports entertainment for one evening.

Sellouts at Pontiac Central High School, even for top-rated contests, have been few and far between over the years. If ever there was a time for a sellout — this is it.

Very conveniently for this occasion, new Pontiac Northern is not scheduled, which leaves the way clear for the local citizenry to beat a path to the PCH gym door.

There is no reason why the PCH gym should not be jammed to the rafters for a cage rivalry of such high caliber. Each squad has height, balance and scoring power and the Chiefs and Vikings are soundly coached by their respective mentors, Art Van Ryzin and Jack Marlette.

St. Frederick fans are excused. The Rams also play at home tonight in a Suburban Catholic League game against Center Line St. Clement and nobody expects St. Fred followers to desert the Rams who are making a strong title bid in their own conference.

Pontiac Central rooters have an obligation, however. It's a safe bet that Northern will get plenty of support and PCH fans owe the same kind of loyalty to the Chiefs.

For the first time in history, a Pontiac Central basketball team has been voted Michigan's best. That in itself is recommendation enough to fill the school gym to overflowing.

When a team is cursed with a losing habit like the Chiefs have been for several seasons on the football field, the argument in favor of staying at home is harder to refute. But the PCH cagers are winning and the argument is no longer valid.

If the citizens here are truly sports-minded, they'll pack the place. Tonight the PCH gymnasium is the proving ground for this city's athletic appetite. Will Pontiac pass the test?

OCSC Shooters Win Both Ends of Match

Shooting against a team of riflemen representing the Detroit Edison Club, Oakland County Sportsmen's Club marksmen last night captured both ends of the match with 942-1013 scores. Edison compiled 898 for actual, 971 for the handicap portion.

Nancy Newman's 191 actual was tops for that division, with Ken Farnum's 203 best handicap total.

For OCSC—Cash Bond, 188-200; Bob Waggoner, 186 (actual); Ken Farnum, 189-203; Kjell Danielson, 188-200; Nancy Newman, 191-199; D. Bennett, 211 (handicap).

For Detroit—Susan James, 177-195; Tom James, 175-199; Patricia Tungate, 175-183; John Benedict, 188-200; John Shields, 187-194.

New York—Don Maynard, pro New York Giant rookie halfback, was timed at 5.5 seconds for the 50-yard-dash—and he was in football togs at the time.

Nats Gain on New York

By The Associated Press

The Syracuse Nationals were breathing down the necks of the in their duel for second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

Coupling their 111-105 decision over Minneapolis with a 95-91 defeat of New York by Philadelphia in Syracuse last night, the Nats reduced the Knicks' second place margin to two games.

In racking up their fifth straight victory, the Nats built a 15-point early lead, saw it drop to eight at the three-quarter mark and three with 42 seconds remaining. Then Larry Costello and Dolph Schayes rallied the home forces and they won going away.

Schayes and rookie Hal Greer each scored 21 points in pacing the Nats to their third triumph in seven meetings with the Lakers.

The Warriors played much the same type of game against the Knicks. They held a 14-point lead in the second period and 13 in the third before the New Yorkers pulled even at 78 with a little more than 10 minutes to go.

Then Paul Arizin, who topped all scorers with 30 points, and Woody Sauldsberry, who had 21, hit successive field goals and the Warriors never were headed.

Dixie Solon Upset by Yank Bees

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A South Carolina legislator wants to clamp down on Yankee bees.

Annual invasion by Northern bees, says Rep. Lloyd B. Bell, is affecting the welfare and economy of his county.

Bell told the General Assembly that Northern beekeepers make a practice of transporting their bees southward each winter.

When the honey-making hordes reach the balmy Southern climes, Bell explained, they think it's spring and start buzzing about looking for flowers. He says they settle for humans in Horry County.

Just recently some bees — Bell maintains they were from Connecticut — swarmed into a Horry service station and stung an elderly man near death.

Bell said the same bees then attacked a farmer on a tractor.

Bell asked his fellow legislators approve a bill that would make it a misdemeanor punishable by a $100 fine or 30 days in jail to transport bees through South Carolina in an open truck or with hives unfastened.

Snuff was once used so widely by churchmen it was known as "The Holy Herbe."

Judge's Hearing Set for Jan. 26

Wallace Must Appear in Alabama Court on Contempt Charge

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An Alabama jurist must appear in court Jan. 26 to show cause why he should not be punished for refusing to turn over voter records to agents of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

Federal attorneys filed criminal contempt proceedings Thursday against Circuit Judge George C. Wallace, 39, for failure to comply with a court order to produce the registration files.

Commission agents, inquiring into alleged denial of Negro voting rights, ultimately had given the records to hurriedly called grand juries in rural Bullock and Barbour counties.

He had refused to show the records to agents on grounds he was holding them for grand jury investigation on complaints of voting irregularities. He impounded the files before the commission's inquiry began in the two counties.

Although the grand juries made the records available for examination, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. ordered the Alabama judge tried for contempt for not producing the files for agents as he demanded.

The federal judge made it clear Wallace will be punished if he fails to convince him that he wasn't in contempt.

It was not disclosed whether Wallace will be prosecuted under the Civil Rights Act or under the general laws on contempt.

The Alabama judge, who leaves office Monday, could be sentenced to six months in jail and fined $1,000 on a jury trial or 45 days and $300 without a jury if convicted of contempt under the civil rights law.

Blood Donors Try to Save Little Boy

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — From time to time as Mike plays with his toys, the pain comes in his chest.

He knows, then, that it's time to go sit in a corner and wait for it to happen.

It always does.

Mike faints.

When he wakes up, he rests until he is strong enough to play again.

This will go on, physicians say, for perhaps another three years. Then Mike, now 4, will die. Unless he has an operation.

Mike has heart trouble. There is a hole between two of the chambers of his heart. This makes his heart work too hard. When it slows down Mike turns blue.

Doctors at St. Vincent's Hospital in Los Angeles are going to patch up Mike's heart March 27. To do this, they'll need at least 60 pints of blood.

The going rate is $25 a pint. The hospital will accept blood in trade at the rate of two pints for each pint the boy needs.

The Santa Maria Times, after an appeal for blood donors, announced Thursday that 200 pints have been offered.

Most of the volunteers are men at nearby Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Maj. Francis L. Manning, whose 392nd Field Maintenance Squadron offered 82 pints, told the paper: "Count on us for all the blood that boy needs."

Other Air Force units and other civic and religious groups swelled the total to 200 pints. The pledges are still coming in.

The cost of the operation will be borne partly by the Crippled Children's Society, San Luis Obispo County. The rest is being raised.

Mike's mother, Mrs. Lynne Pappas, is divorced. She and the boy are living with her parents in nearby Arroyo Grande. She had to quit her job to take care of Mike.

Now a whole community has pitched in to help her.

134,033 Cars to Roll Off Lines This Week

DETROIT (AP)—Automotive News said Thursday the U.S. auto industry will turn out an estimated 134,033 passenger cars this week, compared with 133,489 cars produced last week and 109,761 for the comparable week of 1957.

Automotive News said a return to six-day operations by American Motors' Rambler Division and a boost at General Motors was responsible for the slight increase over last week's total.

Truck production this week is estimated at 22,154 units, the same figure realized last week and compared to 18,607 trucks during the comparable 1957 week.

Compensation Available to Philippine Nationals

Chapter officials said the international committee has funds on hand to make payments.

Huck and UAW Approve New 3-Year Contract

DETROIT (AP)—A new three-year contract which covers 300 hourly rated workers has been agreed on by Huck Manufacturing Co. and United Auto Workers Local 212.

Taxes Make Up 25 Pct. Car Cost

Ford Researcher Says $600 of $2,500 Auto Goes for Levies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Taxes represent almost one-fourth of the cost a consumer pays for the average low-priced car, a Ford Motor Co. marketing specialist said Thursday.

Robert J. Eggert, Ford's marketing research manager, told members of the Chicago Association of Executives Forum that the customer spending $2,500 for a low-priced car is paying $600 in taxes.

Eggert said the biggest single tax was the "present discriminary excise tax of 10 per cent," which represents $200 of the $2,500 purchase price.

"Property, income and other miscellaneous taxes on the manufacturer add $150, and taxes in the price of purchased materials and parts add another $140," he said. "At the dealer level, property, income and miscellaneous taxes add $20, and then the consumer pays $90 for state sales tax, license and title fees."

Bob Hope Must Pass Up Golf Tourney This Year

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — For the first time since Bing Crosby started his annual charity golf tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., Bob Hope will be among the missing. Robin's M.D. has told him to slow up and not appear at every charity function, and to let someone else do the job. So with Dolores insisting that Bob obey, he is trying to be a good boy.

When Bob was in Spain he met and talked with Gina Lollobrigida, who will co-star with him in "The Lady is Missing" this summer. She is having a baby this spring and she finishes "Solomon and Sheba" in a short time.

She's eager to co-star with Bob in this mystery melodrama, written by Morte Lackman and Bill Larkin, authors of "Alias Jesse James," which Bob has owned for some time. Gina will guest his show tomorrow night, and Bob is very enthusiastic over her ability as an actress, as are all the actors who work with her.

The Robert Montgomerys are in our midst and staying at the Bel Air Hotel. Bob is here to talk with United Artists about "The Bull Halsey Story" which he will produce with James Cagney playing the famous admiral.

Bob's old friends are delighted to see him again, and it's hard to realize so many years have passed since Bob played some of the top juvenile leading roles at MGM.

Michael Rennie, who has been separated from his wife Maggie for about four years, tells me they've now decided on a divorce. "I'm old-fashioned — and I'd like Maggie to get it in England," he told me. "But if that isn't possible because of stringent divorce laws in England, I'll get it myself."

I had heard that Maggie has a new romance but Mike says he knows nothing of this. He wishes her happiness anyway—she was crushed emotionally following the brutal murder of her mother several years ago. Their son, David, age 5, lives with Maggie in London.

Mike tells me he hopes to become an American citizen even though his new TV series, "The Third Man," will shoot 20 chapters in London and 20 in the U. S. A.

When Jerry Lewis makes up his mind, something always happens. He leaves tomorrow night for New York to confer with Josh Logan, Howard Dietz, Arthur Schwartz and George Axelrod.

Jerry is wanted for a Broadway play in which he'll play twins. Axelrod is writing the the play, Dietz and Schwartz are composers, and Logan will produce. Jerry's deal is that he gets the motion picture rights, and he'll bring it to the screen after its run on Broadway.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Is Marlon Brando really trying to woo Anna Kashfi back? He ordered her a beautiful dress for Christmas, and she's wearing a new diamond ring, bracelet and earrings!

Tony Martin has been quite sick ever since he came back from Lake Tahoe. The temperature was below freezing and the contrast between the cold and the heat of Florida gave him a bad virus.

Jimmy and Gloria Stewart arrive in Calcutta tomorrow for a tiger shoot. They will be the guests of the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar. They won't return until Jimmy is ready for "Anatomy of a Murder" on Feb. 20.

Johnny Mathis has signed a contract with Jack Entratter to go into the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas on March 11. He'll play a return engagement in July.

No sooner had Diana Dors given out an interview at the Harwyn Club in New York that she stays healthier when she wears less, than she came down with virus which caused her to cancel a TV guest shot.

The top favorite to play Ethel Waters' biography, "His Eye Is On the Sparrow," is Pearl Bailey, and I hope she'll do it.

Actress Wants Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifteen separations in two years of marriage are ridiculous, says actress Mara Corday.

She said Thursday she will sue actor-director Richard Long for divorce.

They were married Jan. 26, 1957, in Las Vegas. Miss Corday said both have been consulting a psychiatrist.

"I Have a Pain in My Soul"

Sees Cuban Executions

(Luis de Cabo Garcia, 25, a mechanic for Autobuses Modelo a Santiago, a bus company in the Cuban provincial capitol of Santiago in eastern Cuba, was one of the few civilians who witnessed the mass execution Monday of 71 "war criminals" by Fidel Castro men. His account, obtained by UPI correspondent Charles Schuman, follows.)

By LUIS DE CABO GARCIA
Written for UPI

SANTIAGO DE CUBA—The shots from the firing squad rang out all morning and I heard an officer say, "Let's get this over with quick; I have a pain in my soul."

I felt the same way. I knew these men were murderers and deserved to be shot, but I couldn't help shuddering and identifying myself with them every time the volley sounded.

It began for me early Monday morning when I was in the garage working on a motor. Army headquarters telephoned to send a bus to La Carcel de Boniato Prison. There was no bus driver around so I went myself.

At La Carcel, 12 of the convicted ones, their hands tied in front of them with rope, were waiting. Six July 26th rebel guards were with them.

They climbed into the bus, and I was told to go to the city jail where I picked up 11 more prisoners. Then one guard told me to drive to El Campo de Tiro, a firing range near San Juan Hill.

I knew what was up. It was common talk in town during the past few days that there would be executions.

Dawn was beginning to break as we arrived at the range. A volley of shots broke out as we stopped, and my passengers, who had been chatting en route, suddenly became silent.

3 BUS LOADS

They were ordered to debark and they got off, awkwardly, their bound hands somewhat of a hindrance. They broke up into little groups of three, four and five.

There were two buses and an army truck parked to one side when I got there. Mine was the last load. Later, I learned that shootings had begun at 4 a.m. When I got there it was about 5:30 and one of the July 26th officers told me 22 had already been shot.

I looked at the clusters of prisoners. Some were crying; some chatting; some nervously shifting their feet; some silent.

An army officer beckoned, and two prisoners advanced to a large trench at the end of the range. They stood in front of the trench as the firing squad got ready. An officer gave the word and six shots rang out.

The two bodies fell back into the grave, and a lieutenant peered in, pistol in hand, ready to give the coup de grace, if necessary.

I didn't feel well.

Two more prisoners moved up to their grave. Again, six shots rang out and their bodies toppled back. Then two more and two more.

About 10 to 15 minutes separated each execution. A priest accompanied each pair of prisoners on the last march.

There were about 60 to 70 July 26th soldiers and about eight civilians, including myself and two other bus drivers.

SPOKE IN WHISPERS

It was cold. I stayed close to the other bus drivers whom I knew. We didn't talk much, but when we did, we spoke in whispers. I don't know why. It certainly wasn't necessary.

About 8 o'clock or so, one of the lieutenants told me that by this time 52 had been executed. This was when I heard the officer say "I have a pain in my soul."

I saw one man, Lt. Despaigne, chief of army prowl cars in Santiago and a well known murderer, go to his death like a hero. He was convicted of having killed 31 persons and I'm sure he killed many more. Everyone in Santiago hated and feared him.

He was a regular army man. He asked permission to direct his own execution and it was granted. He was the only man who went alone; all the others were in pairs.

He marched to the grave, faced the firing squad, called "Attention! Ready! Aim! Fire" and fell dead into the grave.

About three or four blocks away, a higher hill overlooks the firing range. When daylight came, a crowd of perhaps hundreds gathered on this hill shouting "Kill them! Kill them!" and cheering every time shots rang out.

I remained until it was all over at 11:25. I had six hours of it. By that time 71 had been killed and I had witnessed about 50 of the executions. The bodies were all in this huge grave about 20 feet deep by 20 feet wide, and a bulldozer began covering it.

When it was all over I had to drive some soldiers to town, then I put the bus away and went home. I had been up all night.

Mother wanted to feed me but I couldn't eat. I went to bed but couldn't sleep. I kept hearing shots.

Fellner Named Medical Chief

Will Replace Fulton as Director of Services at GM in Detroit

Appointment of Dr. William A. Fellner as medical director of General Motors Central Office, effective Feb. 1, was announced today by Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president in charge of Personnel Staff.

DR. FELLNER

Dr. Fellner will be in charge of the staff and facilities which furnish medical service to the employes of the Central Office and divisions located in the General Motors Building and Argonaut Building in Detroit.

He replaces Dr. William J. Fulton, who is retiring Feb. 1 under the provisions of the General Motors retirement program.

Dr. Fellner has been medical director of the Fisher Body Division plant in Pontiac.

A native of Benton Harbor Dr. Fellner was graduated from the University of Michigan Medical School in 1953.

DR. FULTON

Dr. Fulton has been with General Motors for 23 years. He became Medical Director of Central Office in 1946.

Prior to joining General Motors, he spent 13 years in private medical practice in Baltimore.

Continental Profits Off

DETROIT (AP)—Continental Motors Corp. says the net earnings of it and its Consolidated subsidiaries for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1958, totaled $3,536,528 on net sales of $131,415,279. Continental said the figures compared with $3,583,301 net earnings on $135,610,890 net sales in the preceding fiscal year.

All 14 Petitions for County Bench Are Ruled Valid

All 14 candidates seeking nomination to five positions on the Oakland County Circuit Court bench have been certified as having submitted sufficient and valid petitions, according to the State Board of Canvassers.

At the same time, Oakland County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. announced that he has been informed that only the five full six-year judgeships will be on the primary ballot Feb. 16.

The other two contests — two short terms, one to fill out an unexpired term of the late Judge George B. Hartrick and the other a preliminary six-months term for the new fifth judgeship — have two or less candidates, thus eliminating the necessity for a run-off.

Purpose of the Feb. 16 primary will be to cut the number of candidates down from 14 to 10, or to two seeking each of the five full judgeships.

Then in the April 6 general election, the 10 will be cut to the five elected judges, those receiving the highest number of votes.

Beans, Wheat Are Most Active

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean and old crop wheat contracts attracted moderate buying today in early activity on the Board of Trade but all other contracts held barely steady or eased a bit.

A major commission house which usually represents processor was the most active bean buyer while speculative dealers bought March and May wheat.

Trade generally was slow, however, with mills and exporters still on the sidelines. Yugoslavia bought one cargo, about 350,000 bushels, of red wheat overnight.

Near the end of the first hour, however, wheat was ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, March $1.95¾; corn ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, March old type contract $1.14⅛; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, March 66½; rye ⅛ to ⅜ lower, March $1.35¼; soybeans ⅝ to ⅞ higher, January $2.15¾.

Heavy Trading in Mixed Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A few selected issues responded to special news in an otherwise mixed stock market early today. Trading was heavy.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

Inland Steel spurted more than 2 points on news of its proposed 3-for-1 stock split.

American Metal Climax continued to gain on news government scientists have achieved a breakthrough in the space and missile program by making the first casting of molybdenum. The firm is the major producer of this metal.

American Metal Climax took opening block honors with a trade of 20,000 shares, the price rising 2⅞ to 34½.

Raytheon, after continuing yesterday's slide with a drop of more than a point, recouped the loss and traded about unchanged. It was among stocks adversely affected by fears of stretchouts in defense programs. Another such issue was North American Aviation which stemmed a recent decline and rose fractionally.

Jones & Laughlin advanced about 2 and Lorillard around a point.

At AFL-CIO Parley Here

Locals to Vote on Merger

Oakland County AFL and CIO locals will be asked to ratify a merger agreement at a convention Jan. 24 in UAW Local 653 Hall.

A proposed constitution will also be put to a vote of delegates representing both UAW and non-UAW locals presently affiliated with the Oakland County CIO Council and AFL locals affiliated with the Oakland County Federation of Labor.

Under the merger terms, which the convention will be asked to ratify, the CIO would get 15 seats on the proposed 21-seat executive board and the smaller AFL, would get six.

A breakdown calls for 10 officerships, of which the CIO would hold seven and the AFL three, and 11 additional executive board seats, of which the CIO would fill eight and the AFL three.

County mergers throughout the nation were ordered at the national merger convention of the AFL and CIO in New York in 1955.

The Oakland County merger plan, prepared by special committees from each union, comes about as a result of that order.

The plan, drawn up by Southfield Planning Consultant Albe Munson, has been requested by the council, Flannery said, in an effort to plan traffic routes that would not conflict with any major arteries that the State Highway Dept. may be planning for the future.

See Certain Approval of Milk Zone Area

LANSING (UPI) — Hearings on prospects of establishing a milk marketing area in South Central Michigan were expected to be concluded today with the federal area almost certain to be approved.

Hearings conducted by U.S. Dept. of Agriculture officials produced testimony supporting establishment of the federal order area. Witnesses included farmers and milk processors.

If an area were set up, it would probably be done by mid-summer. There are now milk marketing areas established around Detroit, Benton Harbor and Muskegon in the southern part of the state.

The actress filed papers with French lawyer Rene Floriot, who will bring the case before the courts next Monday or Tuesday.

Such a move, if successful, would nullify a similar action Rossellini is bringing in Rome. Miss Bergman, now married to Swedish theatrical producer Lars Schmidt, has custody of the children in France.

To Display New Propulsion Idea

CHICAGO (AP)—An "idea" car with a wholly new concept of propulsion will be shown by Chrysler's De Soto Division at the Chicago Auto Show. The show opens a nine-day run at the international amphitheatre on Friday.

A three-eighths scale model of the projected can is to be shown. As conceived by De Soto engineers, the car would be driven by four high-speed electric motors receiving their energy from a fuel cell into which hydrogen and oxygen fuels would be fed from the outside. A motor would be geared to each wheel.

By storing the electrochemical fuel outside the cell, the cell components are not consumed.

A. E. Kimberly, De Soto chief engineer, likened the conversion of hydrogen and oxygen gases into electrical energy as similar in principle to the operation of a present-day dry-charge battery.

He said a fuel cell already is in development to make practical the concept that sufficient power would be produced to be comparable to that of present day cars.

De Soto calls the vehicle De Soto Cella I.

Kimberly said development of an experimental research car employing the new power system would depend upon three major factors: development of a high output, lightweight fuel cell; new technology to store and supply hydrogen and oxygen gases to the fuel cell, and development of a high capacity, lightweight battery.

The scale model shown presents a low, vehicle with a canopy type roof and vertical fin stabilizers to give directional stability.

NBA Dropping Defense Rule

Sugar Ray, Patterson Assure Group They Will Fight This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Big money-making champions don't have to worry any more about the six months title defense rule. The National Boxing Assn. today just about gave the boot to the often disregarded regulation.

Not many of the boxing champs had paid much attention to the rule anyway.

The NBA's executive committee said heavy taxation had made it virtually impossible for the major attractions like middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and heavyweight king Floyd Patterson to hold strictly to the code.

It made the point at a meeting yesterday in which it accepted assurances from both Robinson and Patterson that they intended to defend their crowns this year.

Robinson said he would by May or June (probably against Carmen Basilio). Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato, said Floyd would defend against a yet unnamed opponent "within a reasonable time."

At the same time the committee warned bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi to defend his crown by April 15 or face loss of the title. He hasn't had a title fight since Nov. 6, 1957.

FBI Foils Plot to Extort Sum From MGM VP

LOS ANGELES (AP) — FBI agents have foiled a $100,000 extortion attempt against the production chief of MGM Studio.

They arrested Herbert Strauch, 34, Thursday as he sat in a telephone booth near the studio in Culver City and arranged to collect $100,000 from Sol Siegel, studio vice president.

Siegel said the man had threatened his life and that of his wife, Ruth, if he did not furnish the money in $100 bills.

Detroit Meets Nick Pietrosante

Top Lion Draft Pick Rated Strong Choice for No. 1 Fullback

DETROIT (AP)—The door is wide open for Nick Pietrosante to become the No. 1 fullback of the Detroit Lions.

The club gave the big fellow from Notre Dame the red carpet treatment yesterday when he flew in from South Bend, Ind. There was a news conference complete with flashbulbs and television interviews.

Pietrosante, the club's No. 1 draft choice, actually signed a two-year contract several weeks ago, but the big ceremony was delayed so he could get the treatment that goes with being the top choice.

The sub-par performance the Detroit club got in 1958 from John Henry Johnson paves the way for Pietrosante to become an important cog in the club's 1959 offense.

"As of now, we don't have a No. 1 fullback," said Wilson. "That job, like some others, is wide open and will be open when we go to camp."

About 25,000 Chinese students have studied in universities in the United States since 1870.

Right behind Miss Berg with 74s were Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., and Ruth Jessen of Seattle, Wash.

REGISTRATION NOTICE FOR Bloomfield Township Primary Election Monday, Feb. 16, 1959.

To the Qualified Electors of the Township of Bloomfield, County of Oakland, State of Michigan.

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law" I, the undersigned Clerk, will, upon any day, except Saturday, Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Thirtieth day before any regular, special or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby given that I will be at the Bloomfield Township Office, 4200 Telegraph Road, on Saturday, Jan. 17, 1959 from 9:00 o'clock to 12:00 o'clock noon and on Monday, Jan. 19, 1959, the last day for registration, from 9:00 o'clock a.m. until 8:00 o'clock p.m. on the last day the Thirtieth day preceding said Election, (as provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954,) for the purpose of reviewing the registration and registering such of the qualified electors in said Township, City or Village as shall properly apply therefor.

The name of no person but an actual resident of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Elector unable to make personal application, procedure.

Section 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

Unregistered persons not entitled to vote.

Section 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P.A. 1954).

Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made within the (30) days next preceding any election or primary election, (unless such 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working-day,) provided that no such transfer shall permit any person to vote in any Township, City or Village in which he had not resided (30) days next preceding any election or primary election.

Transfer of registration on election day.

Section 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village shall have the right to make application to have his registration transferred on any election or primary election day by executing a request over his or her signature for such transfer and presenting the same to the election board in the precinct in which he is registered. Upon receiving such request the inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and if the signatures correspond then the inspector shall certify such fact upon said request and the applicant for transfer shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City, or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

'Speak-No-Evil' Drive Gets Off to Flying Start

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I've been reading my Bible lately (how's that for a shocking beginning?)—and decided to see whether a columnist can write only good things about people for a whole week.

WILSON

It seems that I made a threat to do this a few weeks ago while being interviewed on a radio show. "Come on, let's see you do it—I dare you!" some of my readers have been heckling me.

So now I launch "Be Kind to People Week."

Please observe how stealthily I sneak in my insinuations that somebody is a nice person. Well, here we go:

Don't look now, but Ed Sullivan continues to be sickeningly popular with Broadwayites—and is one guy whom nobody in the newspaper business hates because he succeeded in TV. Furthermore (let him explain this!) he's around town constantly with a dark-haired woman (his wife, Sylvia).

That one was hard! Well . . .

It will be denied, but Zsa Zsa Gabor's intimates, Kathryn Grayson and Yvonne De Carlo, confide to me that despite how naughty she may seem on Jack Paar's show, Zsa Zsa is a loyal friend, a good mother—and also buys her own diamonds and furs. (So, all right, Zsa Zsa, sue me!)

I'll probably never be able to keep this up for a week. Anyway:

FLASH! Walter Winchell (so you want to fight dirty, huh?) is very helpful to newcomers—and when I was starting, he even threw me some surplus items. My B.W. remarked at the time, "Winchell is a doll." (So what did he do for me lately?)

BRIGITTE

Hear the real juicy scuttlebutt about Milton Berle? He financed Lillian Roth's comeback from alcoholism a few years ago and now he's slipping help to a couple of other talented people but trying to suppress it from the press.

Wonder if Steve Allen thought he was fooling people when he bolted into that building on Park Avenue the other Sunday morning? I knew all the time he was late for church.

Publicity-grabber Brigitte Bardot's supposed to do anything for newspaper mention. But she constantly turns down interviews and photo sessions. When I saw her in Paris she put a screen around her while having lunch so I couldn't photograph her. (Somebody said she didn't want any photos because she was fully dressed, but I had the feeling she wanted privacy.)

Whew! I wonder if I can really keep up this pace!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . . .

Linda Christian fired her children's nurse, because "there's no money" from the Tyrone Power estate . . . Comic Alan King's trying to get Robert Benchley's material for a TV series . . . Sammy Davis Jr.'s dating his estranged wife . . . Charles Laughton will join the Shakespearean Festival at Stratford-on-Avon . . . Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford joined a stock brokerage firm as a customer's man.

Ill Mother Loses Boys, Girl in Blaze

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — While their mother lay critically ill in a hospital here, three Indian children burned to death on the Cocopah Indian Reservation Thursday night.

Hospital authorities are trying to keep news from pretty Mrs. Elaine Jim, 23. In a two-month battle against cancer she has constantly said, "I want to live for my children."

Her children — Sherrill, 5½, Frederick, 3, and Alfred Jr., 19 months — were trapped when flames engulfed the adobe home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Jim. The grandparents escaped.

Deputy O. D. Jones of Yuma County said children were left with the grandparents when Mrs. Jim was taken to the hospital.

The father received word of the deaths in the Phoenix city jail where he had been serving a sentence for being drunk. Lawmen arranged for his release.

Marlon Brando Overdoes Realism Bit, Gets Hurt

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor-director Marlon Brando wanted realism in his jailbreak movie scene. He got it.

Slim Pickens, who plays a deputy sheriff in the film "One-Eyed Jacks", swung a rifle butt at the escaping Brando and connected. Brando suffered a deep gash over his right eye.

'The Stone' Tells Shepherd Plight

Sunday Dramatization Features Rita Moreno on the GE Theater

Tony Curtis stars as the biblical hero David in a moving account of the events leading to the momentous meeting with Goliath, in "The Stone," a presentation of General Electric Theater Sunday (9:00 p.m. Channel 2).

When the young shepherd David arrives with a gift of food at the military camp site of his three brothers, he is appalled to learn of the unmet challenge hurled at the troops of King Saul by Goliath, the towering champion of the rival Philistine forces.

David forces his way into the quarters of Saul (John Baragrey) and is dismayed to learn of the once-proud warrior's despair over his failure to cope with Goliath's demoralizing of the Israelite troops. In the face of the troubled leader's scorn and the derision of Saul's daughter Michal (Rita Moreno), David begs to be allowed to face the giant's challenge and cease his mockery of Jehovah.

Braving the laughter of the soldiers and the taunting of Michal, David retires to pray for guidance and courage. The king is moved by the evident power in the youth's determination, and finally relents to David's request. In his solitude, David gains the strength of faith, the blessing of a now-understanding Michal, and he prepares to face Goliath with the protective weapon of the shepherd—a sling and stone.

Also featured in the drama are Pernell Roberts, Charles Aidman, Kem Dibbs and David Armstrong.

Ronald Reagan is host of the GE Theater.

TV News and Reviews

Playhouse 90's Offering an Arresting Bit of Work

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Playhouse 90 tried to carve a whale with a knife and fork last night and strangely enough, it succeeded pretty well.

The CBS-TV drama show proffered a police piece, "The Blue Men," and if I may be permitted to say so, it was arresting. Aside from some awkward preachiness near the close, the play's blemishes were few and they, in the main, stemmed from over-ambition.

For a TV play, The Blue Men tried to attack along too many fronts—it dealt with a good cop accused of misconduct; a bad cop lying in wait for a killer; the relationship between the good cop and his fiancee whose first husband, a cop, had died; the relationship between the good cop and his son, also a cop; of a lawyer who fought for the good cop; and of . . . well, of just about the whole range of experience within a police station.

But despite this tangle, the Alvin Boretz script was compelling. It was rattled alive by some snappish performances contributed by Edmond O'Brien, Jack Warden, Eileen Heckart, Cameron Prud'homme and James Westerfield. And it was given fluidity and drive by director John Frankenheimer.

SHORT SHOTS: If you were bewildered by Ginger Rogers' quick change of dresses on last night's ABC-TV Pat Boone show, it was done with the aid of a new technical process which permits live and taped shots to be spliced together without any hitches—Miss Rogers' dress bits were on tape . . . CBS-TV's December Bride was stuffed with comedy cliches last night, but somehow it remained pretty fair fun—credit it to Harry Morgan, a fine hand with a comedy line.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: ABC-TV will replace Man With a Camera with Tombstone Territory on March 13 . . . a David Niven anthology series looks like the replacement for NBC-TV's the Californians on April 7—the latter show probably will be moved to a new time spot.

100 Firms Get Defense Plums

Agitation in Congress as List Shows Moguls Cop 75 Pct. Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP)—About three-fourths of the total spending on defense contracts went to 100 prime contractors and organizations during the 12 months ending last June 30.

A periodic list of major defense contractors, issued by the Pentagon today, noted also that compared with the previous 12 months the top 100 firms received a larger share of military money.

Total spending on such contracts in the last fiscal year was listed as $21,794,000,000 of which $16,164,000,000 went to the top 100 prime contractors.

The report was issued at a time when there is agitation in Congress over concentration of defense contracts.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee called yesterday for an investigation of what he termed possible favoritism in the award of contracts.

CHARGES FAVORITISM

Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind) said it appeared the department favored "a few large mogul corporations" to the detriment of small businesses.

In releasing the new report, the Defense Department said a very substantial portion of prime contracts was subcontracted to other businesses, large and small.

For the fiscal year ending last June 30, it said, the major contractors reported letting out to other firms work costing 54 per cent of the total paid them by the government. It said more than one-third of the subcontracted amount went to small business firms.

The Pentagon said that one-half of all prime contracts awarded in the last fiscal year covered work on aircraft and guided missiles. In the previous year, aircraft and missile contracts amounted to 39 per cent of the total.

The company getting the largest dollar value of contracts last fiscal year was Boeing, builders of the B52 jet bomber, jet tankers and Bomarc long-range antiaircraft missiles. The figure: $2,131,000,000.

Ranking second was General Dynamics Corp., makers of missiles, submarines and a variety of military equipment, with $1,382,000,000.

The ranking among the other major contractors was:

General Electric $783,000,000, Lockheed Aircraft $700,000,000, United Aircraft $661,000,000, American Telephone & Telegraph $659,000,000, North American Aviation $647,000,000, Douglas Aircraft $513,000,000, Hughes Aircraft $472,000,000, and the Martin Co. $400,000,000.

Less than 20 per cent of American workmen employed in manufacturing industries are in plants that have more than 2,500 on their payrolls.

Dinosaur Fossil Site to Call Many Tourists

VERNAL, Utah (AP)—Even in the space age, people are fascinated by the past. The National Park Service has completed a new $310,000 visitors center at Dinosaur National Monument here, site of the nations finest collection of Dinosaur fossils.

Asst. Interior Secretary Roger Ernst estimates that by 1966, the monument will attract 350,000 visitors a year.

10 Hungarian Frogmen to Search Ancient Ruins

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary has organized its first group of 10 frogmen — including two frogwomen.

They will look into such matters as an ancient forestin the River Tisza, a Turkish fortress under the surface of the Danube near Paks in Southern Hungary, and the possibility that Roman relics may remain on the bottom of Lake Balaton.
