Rocket Man for Sure!

MOTORIZED GI — Sgt. Richard A. Quinn climbs hill wearing rocket-powered jump belt, designed to give infantrymen more mobility. The belt is a small unit strapped to his waist under his field pack. The jump belt is designed to assist in landing operations and jumping over obstructions which could not be covered in normal manner.

WHAT A LEAP — Smoke envelops Ed Kurczewski in a demonstration leap with rocket-powered jump belt. He was able to leap a distance of 20 feet although he was carrying field equipment approximately 30 per cent of his own weight. The belt, now under tests, is expected to aid men in steep climbs and across rivers and streams. Power comes from small nozzles at soldiers' hips.

City Offers Township New Sewage Solution

Pontiac has offered to relax its demands for annexation of valuable Waterford Township supermarket property if the township is willing to sign a new sewage service agreement.

The offer culminates nearly two years of sparring over the status of a proposed shopping center at the northwest corner of Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads, where the market is located.

It would affect some 750 homes and businesses south of Elizabeth Lake road and east of Otter Lake in the southeast corner of the township, an area that has been tied into the Pontiac disposal system for more than 20 years.

The agreement, prepared for Pontiac by City Manager Walter K. Willman and City Attorney William A. Ewart, reflects the City Commission's new interest in providing municipal services to fringe areas without annexation.

Willman said that if the township accepts the agreement, a similar offer will be made to Sylvan Lake, which is also hooked into the Pontiac system. Supervisor Elmer Johnson said the township board may act on the agreement Monday.

It provides for separate negotiations to continue sewage service for the supermarket, which illegally tied into the Pontiac system in 1956, according to a Supreme Court ruling.

Since that time, the city has demanded either an end to the hookup or annexation of the market. The township, unwilling to lose valuable commercial taxes, has fought to prevent annexation.

The other part of the agreement has three main provisions governing future service to the area south of the market.

It calls for a new rate formula of 16 cents for every 1,000 cubic feet of flow entering the Pontiac system. The rate is to be measured by meters and the township billed on this basis rather than on a per-customer basis, as in the past.

Maine Senator Aided Goldfine

Says He Arranged for Attorney of Industrialist to Get SEC Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Maine) said today he arranged in early 1956 for an attorney for Bernard Goldfine to obtain information from the Securities & Exchange Commission. He said the information was about the status of a case involving one of Goldfine's companies.

Gifts by Goldfine, a wealthy Boston textile manufacturer and financier, to Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, have come under investigation by a House committee inquiring into possible pressure on government regulatory agencies.

Payne told a reporter he did not recall which of Goldfine's companies was involved. But he said that, as he remembers the case, it related to the failure of the company for several years to file reports required by the SEC.

He said an SEC lawyer told him the status of the case at a Capitol conference at which Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH) was present at Payne's invitation.

Cotton told a reporter in a separate interview that as he recalled, the conference was in the office of Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH). Cotton said Bridges was not present.

Their statements came after

Senate Passage of Tax Extension Appears Likely

Rejects Proposal to Cut Levies by $6 Billion as Economic Booster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appeared likely today to reject all tax cutting efforts and pass a bill to extend present corporation and major excise tax rates for another year.

That action would send the measure to President Eisenhower well in advance of the June 30 date the levies would drop automatically.

The House already has passed the bill.

The Senate defeated 65-23 yesterday the first floor amendment —a proposal of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) for a six-billion-dollar tax cut to stimulate business in the recession.

Before debate began yesterday, one amendment had appeared to have a chance of adoption—a proposal to eliminate the 3 per cent freight tax and the 10 per cent levy on passenger travel.

But sponsors of this amendment conceded it had lost considerable ground because of combined pressure from the Eisenhower administration and Democratic and Republican Senate leaders against it.

Before reaching it, the Senate considers an amendment by Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) to end the 10 per cent tax on automobile

Split on Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's two senators split last night as the Senate defeated a tax bill amendment by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) to reduce income, excise and small business taxes by $6 billion. Sen. Patrick McNamara (D-Mich) voted for the amendment. Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich) voted against.

Hearing Set Tonight on Urban Renewal

City officials expressed hopes today for a large turnout at tonight's public meeting on plans for Pontiac's first urban renewal project.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the City Commission's chambers at City Hall. Residents of the area affected by the renewal plan were especially urged to attend, said Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager.

"We want to familiarize as many people as possible with what the city has in mind," Stierer said. "The success of this project depends to a large degree upon public approval of it and cooperation."

Stierer said that plans will be outlined tonight by staff members of the City Planning Commission and Geer Associates, the city's planning consultants.

He estimated that the $4,030,372 federal-aid project will be in the planning stage for another 16 to 24 months. If the plans win federal approval, it may take another three to five years to accomplish the project, he estimated.

The area affected is bounded roughly by Pike street on the north, the Grand Trunk railroad on the west, Osmun street on the south and on the east by Paddock, Perkins and Parkhurst streets.

Push to Decide State Police Budget Figure

Senate, House Battle for $116,000 Difference in 11½ Million Program

LANSING (UPI) — The Legislature today began a special session designed to hammer out an agreement on a State Police budget.

The special session found the two houses still $116,000 apart as they were when the regular session ended last week.

Early arrivals among the Senate leaders were highly optimistic that the session might be concluded by tonight.

But they gave no indication of what magic formula would be used to reach an agreement that soon.

One of the first orders of business was expected to be a move in the House to oust Rep. Harry Phillips (R-Port Huron) from his seat on the House Appropriations Committee.

House Majority Floor Leader Allison Green (R-Kingston) said he would make the move to oust Phillips because of the "obstructionist, delaying and dilatory tactics" he used when the two houses were trying to reach an agreement in the dying hours of the regular session.

CHARGES 'DOUBLE-CROSS'

Green said Phillips, who was leader of a coalition of Republicans and Democrats which refused to budge from their original figure for the State Police budget, had "double-crossed the Republican majority in the House."

Meanwhile, Senate leaders were concentrating on working out an agreement, possibly a compromise.

"I'm highly hopeful that we may be out of here by 6 p.m.," said Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield.) "Some of us have been working on the problem and we think we have the answer."

Porter said he was sure the Senate would not budge from its final offer of $11,700,000 for the State Police before the regular session ended. But he also declined to say the figure would be any lower than that.

Phillips said the $116,000 difference between the Senate figure and the $11,816,000 the House was holding out for would mean State Po-

U.N. Meeting on Hungary Set

To Consider Situation Caused by Execution of Revolt's Leaders

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U. N. Special Committee on Hungary will meet tomorrow to consider the situation arising out of the executions of former Premier Imre Nagy and others who held power in the 1956 uprising.

One possibility is a new condemnation of both the Soviet Union and the Soviet-dominated Hungarian regime of Janos Kadar.

Acting under growing pressure from the United States and other countries, E. Ronald Walker of Australia, acting chairman of the five-member committee, disclosed today he had called a meeting of the group for tomorrow morning.

Walker told newsmen last night he had received several requests for a meeting and that one would be arranged as soon as practicable.

There was some talk that an emergency meeting of the 81-nation General Assembly might be called later to act on the report which the Special Committee will draft.

Composed of members from Denmark, Ceylon, Tunisia, Australia and Uruguay, the committee was established by the General Assembly in 1957.

It found the Soviet Union guilty of "massive repression" in putting down the 1956 revolt in Hungary.

At his news conference yesterday, President Eisenhower said the executions clearly show that the Russians plan to pursue a policy of terrorism and intimidation.

Given House Approval

Rivers and Harbors Bill Shorn of Padded Costs

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

WASHINGTON — A "clean" version of the vetoed omnibus Rivers and Harbors bill which passed the House late Wednesday was termed a "complete victory for fiscal responsibility" by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) today.

The bill passed the House by a 374-14 vote. A day earlier, the Senate approved a "porkfree" omnibus bill. The measure will now be sent to a conference committee.

Broomfield said the House version of the Rivers and Harbors bill eliminated 16 out of 18 objectionable projects, saving more than $300,000,000.

"We have assurances that remaining two projects will be revised to satisfy the Budget Bureau and Army engineers in the conference committee," said Broomfield.

President Eisenhower twice vetoed omnibus public works bills which contained a great number of projects which had not won prior approval of Army engineers or the Budget Bureau.

Broomfield and his fellow Republicans in the House Public Works Committee had bitterly opposed the original Omnibus bill as a "waste of taxpayers' money."

Included in the bill is authorization for a flood study of the Detroit area, including Oakland County.

The study will determine wheth-

We've Spoiled One Planet— Why the Moon?

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — A retired industrialist says he doesn't see much point in beating the Russians to the moon with a rocket other than to see "whether the moon's green cheese is any better than the blue cheese we have on earth."

K. T. Keller, retired chairman of the board of Chrysler Corp., told a meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers last night that:

"I hope if there are people up there, our scientists study them and bring what's good from their civilization back. We have spoiled one planet pretty well, let's not do it to another one."

Talks to GOP State Chairmen

Business Impoving---Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republican state chairmen today that there are very clear indications business conditions are improving.

He also was reported to have told the state leaders at a breakfast meeting that he strongly believes in maintaining the nation's security and solvency.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn, talking to reporters after the closed session at a downtown hotel, said the issue over Sherman Adams was not mentioned by either the President or the state chairmen.

Some of the party officials have been calling for the resignation of Adams, the President's chief aide, in the wake of disclosures of Adams' relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Alcorn said it was in answer to a query from one of the state chairmen that Eisenhower talked of indications of a business upswing.

The state leaders are here attending a three-day campaign school conducted by the GOP National Committee. Their sessions are closed to newsmen.

Alcorn said Eisenhower also stressed the importance of political organization at the voter level.

The President did not say whether he would take part in the coming campaign, Alcorn added.

About 43 of the state chairmen were present.

er present drainage on federal waterways is adequate. The Clinton River, outlet for the proposed Twelve-Town relief drain project in South Oakland will be one of the streams to be surveyed. Also included is the Rouge River.

Elimination of "pork barrel" projects was termed a "complete victory for the President and the Republican members of the House Public Works Committee," said Broomfield.

Passage of the Omnibus bill does not mean that the flood survey will start immediately. Money still must be appropriated to conduct the surveys, estimated to cost $30,000.

Broomfield said he will contact Michigan senators to seek their help in winning early approval of funds for the Detroit area flood study.

Broomfield said the new omnibus bill will authorize the construction of 157 new projects at a total cost of $1.5 billion.

Still on the books are $11.5 billion in projects authorized but not completed, said Broomfield.

Four in Toronto to Return Nurse

46-Year-Old Woman Charged With Kidnap of Montreal Boy

TORONTO (AP) — Three Montreal detectives and a policewoman were due here today with a warrant charging Mrs. Margarete Goede, 46-year-old German immigrant widow, with the kidnaping of 2½-year-old Joel Reitman.

The child, who disappeared with his nurse "Greta Goede" Saturday night, was recovered safe Tuesday.

Mrs. Goede was arrested yesterday in a westend Toronto boarding house and charged with attempting to extort money from a former employer, industrialist Arthur Cobham. She was charged with the Saturday kidnaping in Montreal.

Less than 24 hours before, the woman had been questioned and cleared by a detective who had been called in to check, a tip that the Mrs. Goede in the rooming house might be the Greta Goede sought in Montreal.

A comparison of notes sent Mr. and Mrs. Cobham, threatening to burn their home and kill their son if they didn't put $2,500 in a designated spot, with the ransom note left for Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Reitman led Inspector Walter Corson to make a further investigation.

Mrs. Goede first protested she had been in nearby Brampton when the kidnaping took place and suggested someone might be using her name.

But Inspector John Nimmo said Mrs. Goede "is the girl from Montreal."

Joel, grandson of a millionaire dry goods chain owner, was left Saturday in the car of the housemaid.

His parents returned from a dance to find both gone and a note demanding $10,000 be left in a bus depot washroom.

Police maintained a watch on the washroom but nobody showed up. A woman left Joel with taxi-driver Edward Royer in Ottawa Monday while she "did a little shopping" and never came back.

Kroger, Teamsters Sign New Contract

DETROIT (AP)—A labor dispute which led to the closing of 100 Kroger Co. supermarkets in eastern Michigan was settled today, with stores due to resume operating Monday.

Teamsters Local 337, representing 430 drivers and warehousemen and 400 bakery workers, announced it had signed a three-year contract with Kroger calling for pay raises ranging from 24 to 39 cents an hour over that period. Current pay scales were not disclosed.

The shutdown involved Kroger stores in Detroit, Flint, Port Huron, Pontiac, Saginaw, Owosso, Alpena and Midland. The firm's western Michigan stores remained open.

The various stores will be reopened as soon as a fresh supply of produce and other perishables can be trucked in.

Tax Extension OK Appears Likely

and halve a similar levy on trucks. Supporters held little hope it would be adopted.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), floor manager for the bill, said this could lead to an 18-billion-dollar federal deficit in the next year and require a boost in the debt limit to 300 billion dollars.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla), a chief backer of the transportation tax repealer, told newsmen that proposed amendment "is in grave danger."

Smathers said an effort might be made to separate the two parts of the amendment. In that case, he predicted the freight tax repealer would get the biggest vote.

The freight levy brings in about 470 millions of annual revenue, the passenger tax about 215 millions.

lice would be forced to lay off 20 troopers.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs refused to confirm this in a press conference in the governor's office yesterday, however.

"This difference is only one-117th of the State Police Budget," he said. "When you get down that far it is difficult to say what it will mean."

Asked where he could cut in his budget if not from trooper salaries, Childs said he could lay off 34 part-time janitors throughout the state and save about $82,000.

"But this would mean the troopers would have to do janitor work," he said. "This would probably mean about two hours per week per trooper."

Asked if he wouldn't rather lay off the part-time janitors than the troopers, Childs said he would but if he had a choice between laying off full-time janitors with families or troopers "it would be a difficult decision."

Asked if his statement did not contradict statements made by Phillips earlier, Childs shrugged and said he had made the same statement right along. He said the confusion arose because House members (Phillips) did their own arithmetic and came up with their own answers.

"I can't say I would have to lay off any men if the Senate figure was adopted," he said. "But I couldn't say I wouldn't either. With the House figure, I know I will not have to lay off any, although I still won't be able to fill some vacancies. But whatever is deducted from the budget has to come from somewhere."

The session will be limited to the State Police budget at the beginning at least.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who controls the scope of special sessions, said he had no other matters in mind and said the scope would be limited to the budget "at least until it is resolved."

Maine Senator Says He Aided Goldfine

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) said his House investigators have developed some very interesting new information from their first look at Goldfine's records.

Harris declined to say what the new information involves or how it will fit into his subcommittee's inquiry. The subcommittee is looking into whether Goldfine got preferential treatment from government agencies as a result of his friendship with Adams.

Payne, who won renomination last week for another Senate term, said that late in January of 1956 he received a call from a Boston lawyer named Brickley asking if he could check the status of the SEC case.

Payne said that he telephoned the SEC and was referred to the agency's general counsel, Thomas G. Meeker.

Payne said that various legal and technical matters were involved with which he was not familiar and he asked Meeker whether Brickley could phone Meeker.

Payne continued that Meeker said that Brickley was at liberty to call him about the case. Payne added that as he recalls the case later was taken into court in Boston and the company was fined.

Asked if this were before or after he was given a coat by Goldfine, Payne said that he received the coat several years before he came to Washington.

Payne also has acknowledged staying in Boston hotels as a guest of Goldfine.

The investigators are checking the data before resuming hearings next week.

Goldfine was quoted by the Boston Record as announcing his willingness to come before the subcommittee and tell all he knows.

Mrs. Goldfine arranged for newsmen to talk to her husband at their Brookline, Mass., home yesterday afternoon. When the hour arrived she called off the meeting.

Opening her front door a few inches, she told reporters Goldfine's lawyers had vetoed the interview.

Auto Dealer Resigns From Aviation Group

The Day in Birmingham

Chief of Detroit Libraries Hired to Advise Architects

BIRMINGHAM — Ralph Ulveling, director of the Detroit Public Library, has been hired by the Birmingham Library Board as a consultant to architects in planning a $75,000 addition to the Baldwin Public Library, Charles Kass, board president, announced yesterday.

Smith, Tarapata & MacMahon, Birmingham architectural firm, has been retained to make a study and draw up plans for the addition.

The City Commission at its meeting Monday had appropriated $3,000 to pay costs of planning the library's needs.

Miss Jeanne Lloyd, head librarian, said today the expansion will be based on the needs of Birmingham residents alone, not those outside the city limits who use the library's facilities.

Birmingham city commissioners Monday will be faced with the task of selecting a mayor.

Both Carl Ingraham and Harry Denyes, mayor and mayor pro tem, respectively, will be out of town.

The charter states that the remaining members "may select one of their number" to preside in such a case.

The Past Chiefs of Liberty Temple 44 will hold their final meeting of the year at 6:30 p.m. today at the home of Mrs. Howard Foot of Davis street, Birmingham. A Potluck supper will be served.

Four students from Birmingham were graduated from Denison University, Granville, Ohio, at the university's 127th commencement exercise.

They are Peggy Hampson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hampson, 1500 Cranbrook Rd.; Gerard Florez, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Florez, 1532 Tottenham Rd.; Thomas G. Hawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hawley, 378 S. Cranbrook Rd., and James J. Kraus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark R. Kraus, 700 Williamsbury Rd.

The Rev. Kenneth H. Gass of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham was granted the doctor of divinity degree by Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio. He also holds an A.B. degree from Kenyon's undergraduate school.

The Rev. Mr. Gass was cited at the college's 130th commencement for having served parishes in Michigan, Ohio and Minnesota. He was one of the few Americans present at the historic consecration of Bishop Santos Molina of the Spanish Reformed Church in Madrid.

Nine persons were injured last month in Birmingham traffic accidents, according to a report by Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley. This was an increase of three over last May and two more than were hurt on the city's streets in April.

There were 55 auto mishaps in May compared to 45 during the same period in 1957, he reported.

With schools closed for the summer, Moxley urged motorists to use more caution when driving on streets where children are playing.

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — Melvin Collins was in city jail on a drunk charge when a benefactor offered to pay his fine if he would paint a bathroom. Collins agreed, but soon was hauled back to jail. He found a bottle of shaving lotion in the bathroom and got too drunk to paint.

Stellato Launches Bid for Congress

DETROIT (AP) — Carl Stellato, president of United Auto Worker's Local 600, kicked off his congressional campaign last night before 600 guests at a $10 a plate dinner.

Stellato has challenged Rep. John Lesinski (D-Mich) for the congressman's 16th District seat.

Stellato told the gathering:

"I think there are a lot of weak sisters among the Democrats in Congress. I submit that the present representative from the 16th is among them. The 16th District is entitled to more than a representative who sits in his chair and says 'I voted right.'"

With Better Sterile Techniques

Hospitals Now Whipping 'Super Bugs'

NEW YORK (INS) — "Super bugs," on the attack in hospitals across the nation, are getting the fight knocked out of them by sterile techniques and improved housekeeping in at least one hospital.

The staphylococci bugs, which laugh off most antibiotics, have been blamed for sky-rocketing infection rates in surgical wounds, for skin infections in babies and nursing mothers, and for respiratory tract infections.

At Temple University Medical Center in Philadelphia, the infections caused by these mighty germs have been reduced dramatically. In a report to the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons meeting in New York, Drs. Howard H. Steel, Kenneth M. Schreck and H. Taylor Caswell said insistance on a return to "sterile techniques" in the operating room and about the hospital has been responsible for success in fighting the epidemic force infections.

The American Hospital Association is so concerned about the "super bugs" that it has appointed a special committee to study the problem and make recommendations for control.

The Philadelphia doctors reported:

"A hospital committee was appointed to deal with the problem of these sharply rising infections among patients and staff.

"Ten-minute scrub-ups before surgery were insisted on for surgeons. Nurses were required to cover all the hair on top of their heads, as well as on the sides and behind the ears. Hospital rounds in operating room attire was prohibited.

"These rules continue in force. Personnel with infections are removed from duty promptly, regardless of their indispensability.

"It was even discovened that blankets which had been in intimate contact with a patient were casually folded up and returned to the foot of the bed, regardless of any infectious complications on the discharged patient.

"This pernicious practice, which incidentally obtains in most hospitals and almost all hotels, should be eliminated by a sterilization technique."

The doctors said a further control measure involves keeping new surgical patients out of rooms occupied by patients who have known infections.

Even the laundry now is evaluated. Contaminated linen is put through a special steam bath before being mixed with regular laundry.

Routinely, mattresses, pillows, beds, springs, and night tables are given an antiseptic scrubbing once the patient who used them is discharged.

"As a result of the control measure, the incidence of infection decreased to a level that is 'acceptable but not perfect.'

"We should like to state that that problem of hospital infection with staphylococci is not a temporary one. It is a worldwide one and unquestionable is the major epidemic infectious complication in the world today.

"Successful control cannot be accomplished by the discovery of new antibiotic agents alone. It must be on strict aseptic techniques in all departments of the hospital and a return to basic surgical precepts in the operating room."

Historic Treats Await Visitors to 'Big Mac'

STRAITS OF MACKINAC BRIDGE (AP)—Some treats are in store for history-conscious visitors to the Mackinac Bridge dedication next week.

Not far from rocket and missile exhibits and where jet aircraft stunt teams will gyrate overhead artifacts from early Straits history will be laid out in renovated array.

A focus will be at Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island, built in 1780 as a defense wor': for Straits area, then an important center of the fur trade and a key passage of all East-West commerce.

A new museum has been set up in the barracks building of the fort, with murals and dioramas depicting events of the time.

The fort itself, commanding the harbor, is a monument to British fear of an assault by American colonists, supported by Indians and French, in an attempt to wrest away control of the strategic island.

A dozen rooms of artifacts and early Mackinania will be displayed in the Stone Quarters building of the fort.

Michigan's fine collection of old carriages will be shown off in the commissary building, which has been converted into a carriage house.

Innovations and improvements have been pressed forward by the Mackinac Island Park Commission at a cost of $50,000, not so much for the dedication itself, but in long run anticipation of rising tourist interest in the years ahead.

Ambitious plans for further changes costing $75,000 extend into 1959 and beyond.

At Fort Mackinac, push button tape recordings narrate its story and interesting features. A contingent of Boy Scouts is provided to help steer the curious.

The replacement value of the fort alone has been put at over one million dollars. Its scenic and historic value is priceless.

By 1959, it is planned to have a number of rooms done in period fashion, with manniquins in the dress of the time and authentic colonial furnishings provided to recreate the 18th Century atmosphere.

Also in that year, the commission hopes to open to the public a restored Biddle House, oldest building of its type in Michigan and perhaps in all the old Northwest Territory.

the latest in beach styles is TV actress Marie Wallace in New York. Under the semi-chemise coat is a matching swimsuit.

Steel Output Rising

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit area steel mills have scheduled operations at 67.1 per cent of capacity this week, up from 62.2 per cent last week, Iron Age magazine reports. In the same week a year ago mills operated at 103 per cent of capacity. Estimated steel production is 95,000 tons this week compared with 88,600 tons a week ago.

Arthritis Handicap Less

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A University of Michigan physician says rheumatoid arthritis is not the handicap to life and occupations as much as was once believed. Dr. Leonard F. Bender says that many arthritics keep at their jobs by fololwing special programs of medication, physical therapy, surgical treatment, rest and diet.

Gibraltar, a British naval base overlooking the strait between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic Ocean, has an area of two square miles.

Low Bid Is $10 Million

DETROIT (AP) — Hoyle-Newberry Construction Co. and Gus K. Newberg Construction Co. of Chicago jointly were apparent low bidders Tuesday on an air force contract for construction work at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base in Marquette. Their bid was $10,127,000 for the construction of airfield pavement, lighting and fuel facilities at the base.

About 8 per cent of the nation's men and only half of one per cent of the women are color-blind to some extent.

Twists Bread Faster

SAGINAW (AP) — A new bread-twisting machine which produces 45 completely twisted loaves of bread per minute has been developed by the food machinery division of Baker Perkins Inc., after 17 years of research.

American Espionage Agents Face Toughest Employment Obstacles

By JOHN SCALI
Last in series

WASHINGTON (AP) — The toughest employment hurdles in the United States government are those set up before applicants for jobs with the critically sensitive Central Intelligence Agency.

Only about 1 in 15 makes the grade.

A whole section of a CIA headquarters building is taken up by elaborate equipment designed to probe the thoughts, feelings, inhibitions and rationality of those who would become American espionage agents.

There's even a lie detector — and it's used as a matter of course.

The rigorous tests are set up to weed out the security risks who may range from infiltrating Soviet agents to just plain blabbermouths.

Rumors occasionally make the rounds to the effect that the CIA pries unnecessarily into the sex lives of its women employes. The agency denies that it asks questions about what is regarded as normal sex experience.

The only sex question asked, says the CIA, is: "Are you a homosexual?"

A second question, which might have bearing on sex, is: "Have you ever done anything for which you could be blackmailed?"

As far as can be learned, the CIA is the only government agency that employs the lie detector on a mass scale as a normal personnel practice.

An applicant can refuse to take the test and still be hired but it is extremely unlikely. And if he is hired, his chances of advancement to a more sensitive post are virtually nil.

Even after he lands a job, a CIA employe may be asked to take the test again. Some employes have taken second and third tests after being suspected of wrongdoing while on the job.

The lie detector was not introduced by CIA chief Allen Dulles, who has held the post 5½ years. He inherited it from his predecessor. But he has continued it without apology.

In this way, he differs from his older brother, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who has never asked State Department workers to take such a test as a condition of employment.

Have the Russians ever succeeded in planting an operative inside the CIA?

There has never been a direct public answer to that question. Some time ago Dulles was asked about it and he skirted a flat yes-or-no reply.

"I naturally assume," he said, "that the Soviets will attempt to penetrate the CIA. . . I don't think they are going to find it easy, (but) we are going to keep on our guard all the time."

The dangerous role of spy holds a strange attraction for many wealthy socialites and college graduates who could take it easy or strike it rich in other fields.

In fact, you might say the CIA's top leadership wears an Ivy League look.

Of the 20 highest officials, 17 are graduates of Eastern universities.

Dulles acknowledges that 5 of his top 20 are independently wealthy, earning as much from outside sources as they do from CIA. This includes Dulles himself, a Princeton grad, who makes $21,000 a year as director.

The CIA operates on the theory that a person's Ivy League background, social graces or wealth should not bar him from a spot in the nation's espionage network.

What is more important, says CIA, is a person's competence, his dedication and his willingness to accept the anonymity that necessarily goes with the job. Those who treat the work as a glamorous sideline don't last long.

This policy apparently is paying off. A newsman checking into CIA's record finds surprisingly little criticism, even from those who turn a fishy eye on almost everything the Eisenhower administration does.

"I won't knock them," says one former leader of the Truman administration. "I think most of this administration is lousy. But this is one outfit that knows its business, believe me."

Part of the reason CIA has escaped widespread criticism could be the above-average quality of its rank and file employes. This has been noted by congressional committees and study groups who looked into its personnel.

CIA salaries follow closely the regular civil service scales. But Dulles, who probably operates under less restrictions than any other government department head, is not required to abide by those rules.

Salaries for new CIA employes are sometimes low. Some recruits quit early to seek more lucrative rewards in private industry. Many remain.

What holds them?

Mostly it's the lure of an exciting cloak-and-dagger existence combined with a deep sense of patriotism that keeps them on, year after year, playing a deadly, undercover war of wits

Our Police Problems Small Next to Detroit

Pontiac may have its police problems, but they are minor in nature when compared with our good neighbor to the south. In all the wrangling and hassling, our City Police Department has not been found harboring crooks.

Just last week a Detroit police officer was arrested on charges of staging a series of store and loan office holdups. Now comes the report that the FBI has arrested two more Detroit patrolmen for a series of bank robberies which netted them $100,000.

This does not speak well for their municipal department. The people will lose confidence. The entire police force will be criticized for the acts of these three men.

Our police department has recently undergone a complete survey by a reputable concern that specializes in city government. The results indicate that we do not suffer from graft or crooks within the department.

The problem in Pontiac is organization and the methods used in operating. Certainly changes are in line and some reshuffling must come about.

But during all this controversial period nothing has come up which would indicate that the Pontiac Police Department is not completely trustworthy and honest.

Most Pastors Badly Underpaid–Is Yours?

A survey by the National Council of Churches indicates that Protestant ministers are badly underpaid.

Baptist Brethren
Congregational
Disciples of Christ
Episcopal Evangelical
Methodist
Presbyterian
United Lutheran

Without a doubt, most of the others plead equally guilty.

This is a sad state of affairs.

Probably most ministers were somewhat reconciled to a life of economic insufficiency when they embarked upon their careers. But that doesn't lessen the offense of the congregations one whit. Rather, it compounds the degree and amount of guilt.

By and large, there is no more loyal or dedicated group than the Men of God. They are sincere and conscientious and accept their insufficient remuneration without complaint. If some of their parsimonious parishioners spent an equal time in acquiring the necessary education, and then equal time in "doing for others" beyond the call of duty, their squawks and lamentations would be heard on the peaks of the highest mountains.

The Council indicated that the average cash salary of an American Protestant minister is $4,432 a year and this covers a "work week" that runs from 60 to 80 hours. And a large percentage of the wives have to find some kind of a job to augment the family income.

Church people should hang their heads in shame and humiliation. And the "poor attenders" and those that "never go at all" should hang theirs much further. The least these last two classes can do is lead the league in payments. (The word "contribution" is an insult and a misnomer.)

We earnestly trust the hundred church boards in Pontiac will review their own cases and face the facts squarely.

Are you ashamed of what you pay?
Hanging your head won't suffice.
FACE IT—AND DO SOMETHING.

THE slogan for a campaign to stimulate interest in learning is, "Learn and live." Most people, though, will continue to subscribe to the old rule, "Live and learn," and, as usual, do far more living than learning.

THE business that has profited most from the use of color printing is probably that of selling flower seeds by mail.

The Man About Town

Danger Is Remote

Rattlesnakes in the Pontiac Area Now Very Scarce

School: What when it's out our educational problems really hit home.

Another prime reason favoring the outdoor recreational spots in the Pontiac area is the almost total absence of venomous snakes. In this matter we have a big advantage over playground areas further south.

Our only poisonous snake is the rattler, and that is found here on only extremely rare occasions. Danger from its bite is practically nil, as it is a good sport. It always gives ample warning before it strikes. Do all humans do as well?

In a campaign to sell snake bite cures, an effort is being made to show that the rattlesnake is a great menace here. Such tommyrot is not helping make us one of the greatest recreational areas in the nation.

I know of no snake bite deaths in all of Oakland County's history. And quite probably the best antidote for such a thing still is that stuff made in Kentucky.

That Oakland County snakes are shrinking in size is shown by an item of 50 years ago that a Royal Oak farmer, killed a blue racer eight feet long, and had it on exhibition at his farm. We now have none of this harmless reptile that reach such a length—nor do we have many Royal Oak farmers.

Bradley Orson,

My old time fishing partner,

reports the catch of a bluegill in Davis Lake that weighed one ounce over two pounds. I'll stake Sam against the world on catching bluegills.

Proof that the old time community spirit still prevails is found in the fact that the frame of a hewed-timber barn on the farm of at 5550 Oakwood Road was recently put in place and finished the next day by neighbors in true friendship style. Mrs. Poll and daughters fed the bunch.

There's a new word in farming in the Pontiac area. It is "haylage," a companion of "silage" in storing stock feed. The new glass-lined silos, the first of which is on the farm of in Lapeer County keeps hay in its fresh condition for many months. The cows and the milking machines both hum better.

A ground hog on the premises of

Alex Rothfuss

just north of Rochester, came out of hibernation early in April, but goes back into its underground quarters for a snooze during every cold spell.

Vulnerable

David Lawrence Wonders:

Adams Case to Bring Some Good?

WASHINGTON — Utopia is here.

No longer will there be gifts or campaign contributions to members of Congress that will influence their votes in the slightest.

LAWRENCE

No longer will there be any telephone calls or letters from congressmen asking executive agencies to do favors for constituents.

No campaign contributions running as high as $5,000 or $10,000 or $50,000 — and certainly not $725,000, as in the case of a senator for whom a single labor union spent that big sum in a recent election—will be accepted hereafter from any source.

Also, no member of the Senate, when interrogating a nominee to an independent board or commission or court, will ever ask questions at a committee hearing that indicate even remotely what kind of decisions are expected of the nominee if he is confirmed. Such pressure will presumably be abandoned hereafter.

Everything seems to have changed as a result of the Sherman Adams case—except for one thing. Suspicion still seems to be widely accepted as proof, and innuendo as a substitute for evidence.

But maybe the emergence of the Adams case is an instance of an ill wind that does blow some good. For if all of official Washington now changes its practices, a tremendous gain for unpolitical government will have been achieved.

Sherman Adams says that what he did was "imprudent" but not dishonest. He is right on both counts, but he might also have added that the appearance of imprudence is hindsight.

Almost every public official in the elected offices of the Federal and state governments has been constantly subjected to pressures from friends to get some action taken to which the petitioner thinks he is entitled.

Even in the absence of any gift or campaign contribution, it's a kind of pressure the public knows little about. How would it all look now if the details of every case of pressure on officials in Washington were disclosed in the press?

One editorial in an Eastern newspaper said the other day that it is all right for senators and representatives to intercede for their "constituents," but that nobody in the White House has any constituents.

This is hardly realistic. Since the Democrats are in control of Congress, many a citizen who is of the opposite party thinks he can get justice only by going to the White House.

It is being said the Adams case will hurt the Republican politicians politically. This is a short-sighted view.

For if the coming campaign resolves itself into a debate about past favors bestowed or brings up the matter of bribes given, it will merely result in a full and comprehensive discussion of the cases of those Democrats who, in public office, defrauded the government and went to jail for it.

The Republicans may find this a rare opportunity next autumn to spread on the record again all the details of the scandals of the Truman administration which might otherwise have continued to be of little or no value as political ammunition.

Certainly the Sherman Adams testimony before the House committee and the statements issued since by the White House make it clear that there was no evidence of corruption.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Snobs Shun Rheumatiz--Only Arthritis Acceptable

The trouble with a lot of poor souls, who are still "trying" what they are led to believe is the very latest medicine or treatment for "chronic arthritis," is that they indignantly reject the suggestion that their disability may be physical degeneration of joint tissues, that is to say, the 'rheumatiz.

DR. BRADY

The very thought of degeneration is repugnant to $400 snobs, whereas a phony diagnosis of "arthritis" satisfies their curiosity as to what ails them. Rheumatiz is for poor washerwomen and day laborers. For snooty customers, chronic joint disability must be "arthritis"—if not, we'll change doctors!

If there is some confusion in your mind about joint disability of insidious onset and long duration, send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet, Chronic Joint Disability.

It does seem to me that doctors and patients who are still "trying" this or that medicine, therapy or treatment that purports to be good for "arthritis" must recognize, eventually if not now, the truth in the public bulletin issued by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, to wit:

"The principal shortcoming of modern drug therapy" (of arthritis and rheumatism) "is that while the results are more dramatic and immediate, they disappear when medication is discontinued. Besides, the various drugs in use today" (May 11, '54) "have not shown conclusively that they can alter the natural course of the disease or prevent crippling."

This confession of the truth about "arthritis" treatment doesn't deter the merchants of medicine, who continue to string along customers with chronic joint disability. Nor does it raise even a reasonable doubt in the mind of the average customer concerning the efficacy of treatment with the latest "miracle" medicine.

No medical authority today describes the pathology of insidious chronic joint disability (call it what you will) more clearly than Osler did (he called it chronic rheumatism) in his famous Practice. And what Osler described is physical degeneration of joint tissues. That's what I call rheumatiz.

In his description of the morbid anatomy, Osler referred to "inflammation" only once and that, from the context, was by inadvertance — speaking of the atrophy of muscles in the neighborhood of the joint he said "muscles adjacent to chronically inflamed joints."

If the medical student or physician will think it over, he or she will discover there is little foundation for the concept of chronic inflammation as a state at all different from ordinary acute inflammation. Inflammation is acute. It may take hours or days to develop, but not months. The insidious onset of rheumatiz should suggest degeneration, not inflammation.

The sooner we quit thinking of progressive joint disability as "arthr-itis" and regard it as what it is, degeneration of joint tissues, the better it will be for everybody concerned—including the American Rheumatism Association, the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Detroiter Praises Editorial on Injustices to Railroads

In your editorial, Bankruptcy Looms Ahead for Over 'Regulated' Railroads, you have brought to the public's attention the injustices under which the Rails are forced to operate.

Like Gulliver, the Railroads are tied to the ground by a maze of strings — regulatory strings. Prompt approval in Congress of S. 3778 and H. 12488 would release some of these strings and permit the industry to operate more like an independent enterprise.

A million railroad workers — another million in the railroad supply industry — are particularly grateful for efforts such as yours to avert the danger of nationalization. But anyone with any interest in our free enterprise system should be equally appreciative.

City Park Benches Bring Nostalgia

I noticed a very pleasant addition to Pontiac the other day. Several wooden benches have been placed in the park-like spot near the river across from the new City Hall. There are a few shade trees and it's a nice sight there with such a fine building as a backdrop. It's a pretty place for older, retired people to sit and talk, instead of being forced to stand around right downtown. It sort of brings back the feeling of country store gatherings and gives a small town atmosphere to our big factory town.

'Northerner Letter Height of Stupidity'

Rarely does one read anything so blind and stupid as the letter by Northerner. It's almost unbelievable that anyone could so far miss the point of the Little Rock situation. The fate of countless future U.S. citizens may depend on Little Rock, and he calls it an expensive educational program for nine children. It's things like that which make one wonder if freedom of speech is such a good idea.

'Double Standard Is Hypocrisy'

I'm not so sure the right to immorality is one that we should envy men, but I agree that the double standard is ridiculous. It seems to be coming back. Possibly this is due to the man shortage, and our psychologists have been very busy resurrecting this archaic rule. Just read Dr. Crane sometime.

Sins of men are regarded most casually, sometimes even admired. Proof of manhood, supposedly. While in a woman the same transgression is viewed with scorn and disdain.

This is hypocrisy. God made no stipulations with the Ten Commandments. Sin for one is sin for all, equally.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try These Tests for Sweethearts

Ned and Grace agreed to rate each other frankly and honestly on the "Tests for Sweethearts" that are outlined below. These tests are very helpful in picking out your future marriage partner. They stimulate animated discussion at social parties, too, so be sure you have a set on file. They also help prevent divorce by showing how to pick compatible suitors!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-340: Ned J., aged 22, is the disappointed lover mentioned yesterday whose blonde sweetheart kept postponing marriage.

DR. CRANE

"Grace has given no logical reason but just says we should postpone marriage 'because' and she refuses to say because why.

"So what can I do, Dr. Crane? I love Grace and I think she loves me."

TESTS FOR SWEETHEARTS

In order to help Grace voice her attitudes more definitely, I had Ned let her rate him on the "Test for Boy Friends," which contains the 50 commonest merits of boy friends and their 50 most frequent faults.

She agreed to be frank and honest in checking Ned's personality, if he would be equally frank in marking her score on the corresponding "Test for Girl Friends."

They both promised to cooperate fully, so I gave them 30 minutes to perform their mutual ratings.

Some of the common faults of young men, as per this test, are:

Failure to bathe or change socks often enough.

Use of profanity or the telling of vulgar stories.

Unduly suspicious and jealous.

Tells untruths—unreliable or unfaithful.

A "mama's" boy or spoiled "only" son.

Guilty of halitosis, dandruff or yellow teeth.

Frequently "sponges" off his friends or borrows money from girl friend.

No time sense. Stays too late, knowing girl must be up and at her job next morning. Indecisive. Can't make up his mind.

Wears flashy clothes. Toots auto horn in front of girl's home instead of coming to front door for her.

FAULTS OF GIRLS

Now let's shift to the demerits which engaged men listed about their girl friends:

Seams in her hose often crooked. She wears red nail polish and long claw-like fingernails.

Uses profanity. Smokes or drinks liquor.

Chews gum excessively. Fussy about her food at a restaurant.

Snobbish and affected in her speech. Sulks or pouts when she fails to get her own way.

Has "B.O.," halitosis, dirty nails, dandruff, etc.

The nagging or scolding type.

Takes a negative outlook on life. A pessimist. A "wet blanket" type instead of the "cheer leader" sort.

A two-timer. Lies and cheats.

Imagines people are trying to insult or belittle her. Has a persecution complex.

Lack of space prevents my listing the rest of the faults, as well as the many merits of engaged couples, so send for the complete "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Use them for helpful, as well as entertaining discussion material in your Young People's Societies at church, or for party entertainment.

They are constructive Rating Scales but cause a lot of giggling and animated discussion, too, so have great conversational value at parties.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Old School Tie Vital in Japan

West Forced to Take Back Seat on University Snobbishness

TOKYO (UPI)—Nowhere in the world does the old school tie mean a much as it does in Japan.

Harvard and Yale, Oxford and Cambridge, the Sorbonne and Heidelberg are strictly amateurish compared to university snobbishness in this nation.

And overshadowing all others is the fantastically influential Tokyo University, maker of prime ministers, cabinet members, company directors and supreme court judges.

This school of 12,000, the state-operated successor of the pre-war Tokyo Imperial University, draws the cream of Japan's students through a system of viciously competitive exams.

It turns these students into the ruling elite in a nation of 90 million persons.

Tokyo's 2,000 annual graduates find jobs with ease in a perpetually tight job market. Most of them wind up in government, law and politics. Within 25 years, they are virtually running the country.

When Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi (Tokyo '20) calls a cabinet meeting for example, it's like alumni homecoming week. The majority of Kishi's 18 ministers are Tokyo grads.

Since the war six of Japan's eight prime ministers have been Tokyo men. In pre-war days, it was almost impossible to find a cabinet member who wasn't a graduate of either Tokyo Imperial or Kyoto Imperial University.

Today the Japanese are convinced that only men from "the big five — Tokyo, Waseda, Kyoto, Keio and Hitotsubashi — can ever become government section chiefs. Check the government rosters and you'll find they're pretty nearly right.

These five schools, with Tokyo far in the lead, are the undisputed giants of Japan's 225 full-time universities. They exert a power over law, finance, business, politics and journalism far out of proportion to their size.

U. S. Mapmakers Face Many Dangers Working in Remote Indochina Jungles

SAIGON (INS) — Two Europeans crash-landed a crippled plane recently in the Annam Mountains 250 miles northeast of Saigon —only 25 miles from a road readily accessible to rescue parties.

The pair, both only slightly injured, waited desperatley for help. When rescue teams finally reached the scene a full 15 days later, they found the pair dead—stung to death by giant jungle ants.

The reason for the failure of what should have been a swift, simple rescue job was not hard to determine:

There exists no accurate, modern map of Indochina. This vast, potentially rich peninsula of the free world has remained a cartographical nonentity.

But not for much longer.

A 70-man American survey team, without regard for danger, is photographing this huge land area section by section, and piecing it together into a comprehensive map that will not only guide future rescue missions but provide the key to the economic development of this untapped region.

The team — dispatched by the Aero Service Corp. of Philadelphia and the Fairchild Aerial Service of Los Angeles—operates with the aid of two converted B-17s of World War II vintage and 11 radar stations.

The area the team is going to put on the map encompasses Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam.

Nerve-center for "Project Indochina" is a base set up at Tan Son Nhut Airport outside Saigon and from where project manager Lewis D. Bender supervises the daily operation.

After receiving weather reports from the 11 field stations, the two B-17s—a favorite of cartographers because if its roominess for accommodating bulky photographic and electronic equipment—take off for the day's mission.

Most of the aerial photography is done around 20,000 feet, and several hundreds of yards of negative are processed daily after the flights return.

Equally important to the success of the operation—and fraught with far more danger—is the function of the 11 radar stations that guide the B-17s on their course of flight.

Located in remote, inaccessible mountain country at altitudes ranging in the case of one station as high as 24,000 feet (at Ban Me Thout in central Vietnam's "elephant country"), they are easily subject to jungle elements — and bandits.

One radar station recently radioed for help when a herd of wild elephants went on a rampage nearby.

At another station, in northeast Thailand, a Californian was brutally murdered by bandits who raided the post for food.

American personnel have other problems too, such as fighting the heat and diseases like infectious jaundice, malaria, and dysentery.

The aerial photographs taken by the B-17s look alike to the layman —a mass of verdure, a limitless sea of treetops and mountains.

But with stereoscopic glasses relief begins to become apparent and the cartographers can piece out details, such as a hut-village of an unknown tribe clinging to a mountain slope.

Because the photographers must know exactly which location each picture was taken, they depend heavily on the electronic computations of the radar-geodesic stations.

Special cameras aboard the B-17 "Flying Fortresses" condense 1,924 square miles of terrain into a postcard-size photograph.

The maps produced under "Operation Indochina" will provide valuable leads to tapping the region for its natural resources.

They will for the first time enable the planning of long-distance communications and roads.

Agronomists will use the maps to help them plan new irrigation systems. They will open the way for the settlement of Vietnamese farmers on the fertile uplands.

For geologists, the maps are vital in prospecting for minerals in northern Laos. Lumber men in Cambodia will use them to help locate primeval forests along the desert gulf of Thailand.

Wife Divorces Cohen, Cites Torrid Temper

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen's red-haired wife divorced him on testimony that he had an ungovernable temper.

LaVonne Cohen, 41, told Superior Court yesterday: "He was continually berating me—seemed to take pleasure in doing it—and humiliating me."

She charged ex-gambler Cohen, 44, with cruelty.

The installation of new officers will take place at 7 p.m. at the Fox & Hounds Inn, 1560 N. Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills.

LeGros, Birmingham, director; Leonard G. Hendricks, Clawson, state director; and Frederick L. Lantz, Royal Oak alternate state director.

The courthouse at Eastville, on Virginia's Eastern Shore, contains some of the oldest continuous county court records in the United States. The documents date from 1632.

Students to Ring Bell

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) —A new custom has been established at the city's Willow Hill School. Officials say that each year the student with the highest grades will be allowed to ring the old school bell which has not been sounded for years.

For the first time since 1955, France last October sold more goods abroad than it imported. Exports exceeded imports by $5,200,000.

Straits' Area Residents Have Strong Feelings

Debate Use of Mackinac Ferry Docks

ST. IGNACE (UP) — Home folks of the Straits of Mackinac area have strong feelings over the future use of the Straits' ferryboat docks.

At least that much was evident today in a legislative inquiry.

The House State Affairs Committee, which heard a wide range of opinion from witnesses at Mackinaw City Monday, moved across the Straits to listen to more testimony.

One factor was plain — that community personal interest was sharp.

The 1959 Legislature must decide what to do about the ferry docks on the St. Ignace and Mackinaw City sides of the Straits.

Its State Affairs Committee, headed by Rep. Lloyd Gibbs (R-Portland), is on the locale itself to get all points of view. The committee is to make recommendations to the Legislature.

With the advent of the $100,000,000 Straits of Mackinac Bridge, the state-owned docks have become orphaned, in a sense. The state has abandoned its ferryboats.

Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island, the latter through the Island State Park Commission, were on the stand before the committee yesterday.

Approximately 70 obesrvers attended a two and a half hour session at the Mackinaw City High School.

City Attorney James Hathaway of the Straits' south shore city contended the docks on that side should be turned over to the city.

Whatever is done, Hathaway said, the state must make sure the best public interests were served. He said his city would be willing to approve sale or lease of the docks on such a basis only.

Pleading the city's case for the docks, Hathaway cited the state's abandonment to the city of four highway trunklines when the bridge was opened.

The ferry docks, Hathaway said, have been in the past and now are a part of the trunklines. These lines are US 31, US 23, and M 108.

W. Stewart Woodfill, chairman of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, cited a state $5,000,000 investment in the docks in arguing against their disposal.

Woodfill said the state should not sell or give the docks away. By doing so he said, the state would sacrifice a chance for a return on its investment.

The park commission chairman also said the state should retain control of the docks in event of any "disaster" to the straits bridge.

Woodfill, pointing up the island's economic interest in tourist traffic, proposed that the Mackinaw City docks and one or more of the St. Ignace docks be left open to all competitive private ferry services running to and from the island.

He said the island received 300,000 visitors last summer and predicted the figure would rise to 350,000 this summer.

The Arnold Lines, a private firm, operates passenger and freight ferries to the island from the state-owned docks at St. Ignace and from railroad docks at Mackinaw City. Woodfill said these facilities are inadequate. The Welch Line, a second firm, operates from private docks.

During Woodfill's testimony an unidentified member of the audience said the commissioner was considering seasonal use of the docks as distinguished from the city's interest in year-around use.

A committee member, Rep. Walter T. McMahon (D-Hazel Park), suggested at one point that a tri-city port authority be set up to have charge of the docks. He proposed an authority consisting of Mackinaw City, St. Ignace and Mackinac Island.

However, Woodfill opposed the McMahon suggestion. He insisted that the docks must be retained under the state.

STRAIGHT AND NARROW—the "swim-shift" is headed for the beach in the wake of the new chemise fashions. Created by Rose Marie Reid, the horizontally striped suit is relieved by vertical stripes at hip and edging of the square neckline.

Hoes Not Hooch for Alcoholics, Judge Suggests

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Municipal Judge William T. Caughey has suggested hoes instead of hooch for the county's chronic alcoholics.

Caughey said he will confer with Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers and Muskegon Heights Judge Harry Knudsen on the feasibility of a proposal to put jailed alcoholics to work on garden plots on county-owned land.

Caughey said vegetables raised on the gardens could be used at the County Convalescent Hospital and other local governmental agencies.

"I don't believe we can rehabilitate the chronic drunks, but there's the chance we might," he said.

"The fresh air, sunshine and physical exercise would be 100 times more beneficial for them (alcoholics) than languishing in jail," Caughey said.

Asks Integration at U. of Florida

See Split on Applying Court's Mandate to Graduate Schools

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Integration of University of Florida graduate schools next fall was ordered by a U. S. District Court yesterday and Gov. Leroy Collins said he expected no difficulty in complying with the decree.

State Sen. Randolph Hodges, started a move, however, to convene the Legislature in special session in an effort to find some way to block the order.

"I believe we have enough votes to call ourselves into special session," Hodges said. "I think we should do it, or we'll wake up some morning and find all our schools are integrated."

Collins rejected the idea of a special session. He said he saw nothing which could be accomplished.

The order by Federal Judge Dozier Devane broke the solid front of segregation in Florida. A case pending in U. S. District Court at Miami seeks to open public schools to Negroes.

Collins forecast that the Board of Control which supervises the university system will open the Florida State University graduate schools at Tallahassee to Negroes now that those at Florida have been ordered integrated.

DEMONSTRATES SKIN DIVING EQUIPMENT — Lee Hargreaves (left), a member of the Michigan Aqua Squadron, instructs a class at Pine Lake in proper use of tank and regulator for underwater breathing. This is the first phase of a water safety training program being conducted by the West Bloomfield Township Boys Club. Many of the trainees will become full-fledged skin divers.

Frogman Training Program Booms in West Bloomfield

By STAN BOK
Press Correspondent

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — An extensive frogman training program is gaining popularity in West Bloomfield Township.

Sponsored by the West Bloomfield Township Boys Club, the program is designed to teach boys 12 to 18 years old all phases of water safety and to produce trained skin divers for a rescue and recovery squad.

William J. Periard, member of the Executive Board of the Boys Club, is director of the course. Its increasing popularity is evidenced by the increasing number enrolling, he said.

This year there are more than three times the number participating, Periard said. One day this week there were 20 applications from boys who wanted to take the training.

Value of the program is recognized by the Keego Harbor, Sylvan Lake, West Bloomfield Township and Orchard Lake Village police departments. Members of those departments will complete the training course.

LASTS 6 TO 8 WEEKS

The course, which lasts from 6 to 8 weeks, offers a challenge to boys who aspire to become skin divers. Successful completion of the program qualifies them as junior and senior instructors.

Instructors are eligible for the rescue and recovery squad which stands by at all times for emergency duty.

Periard's rescue and recovery squad swung into action June 8 when two Detroit men drowned in Pine Lake. Within 20 minutes eight junior and senior istructors were searching for the bodies.

The program teaches the "Scuba" type of skin diving which is diving from the surface with self-contained breathing apparatus.

The club has all types of equipment to insure safety at all times.

Also, the "buddy system" is a must for boys who undergo training. No boy enters the water alone. Periard stresses this precaution to an extent that no boy forgets it.

HAS ASSISTANTS

Assisting Periard are senior instructors Dale Smith, Dudley Smith, Charles S. Neal, Henry Richman, Robert Builter, Dick Beckman, Lee Hargreaves, Dan Miller and Robert "Butch" Bentley.

Junior instructors are Mark Berg, Ron Clingaman, Bob Prosser, Barry Allen, Larry Martin and Charles Clevers.

Remove subject from water unassisted.

Recover 10-pound object in 10 feet of water.

Disrobe and remain afloat 5 minutes using trousers or shirt as a float.

Demonstrate artificial respiration for 5 minutes.

Throw life line 30 feet.

Throw ring buoy for a distance of 30 feet.

Swim crawl stroke for ½ mile.

Swim 200 yards fully dressed.

Swim 60 feet under water using fins.

Tread water for 3 to 10 minutes.

Classes are held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. each Monday and Thursday at Pine Lake Inn, Orchard Lake and Seminary roads in West Bloomfield Township.

Instructors are available for lectures and demonstrations to any group interested in water safety.

Invites Keego Residents to Fireworks Display

'REMEMBER THIS FLAG' — Bill Periard, director of the West Bloomfield Boys Club water safety training program, emphasizes importance of flag used to warn that a skin diver is down. Trainees, whether in a boat or swimming, must stay at least 100 feet from the flag, he says. Shown with Periard are instructors Lee Hargreaves (left) and Robert Builter.

It also calls for widening and resurfacing of three-fifths of a mile at the bridge approaches. These will be widened to 44 feet.

The Holloway Construction Co. of Livonia was the low bidder on the so-called Dundee-Sylvania expressway job which covers dual pavement and six bridges on an eight-mile stretch from the Ohio line north to Morocco road.

Tax Allocation Protest Made

Farmington Appealing Figure Decided Upon by County Board

Farmington Township has become the second Oakland County community to appeal its 1958 tax allocation to the Michigan State Tax Commission.

Frank J. Stephenson, township supervisor, claimed the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board, which handed down the final allocations June 2, had violated a law setting a minimum allocation to townships at one mill. Farmington received .86 of a mill.

"I'm looking for that other .14 which means several thousand more tax dollars to us," Stephenson said.

Farmington Township thus joins with Independence Township in protesting their allocations.

Stephenson's claim was disputed by William J. Emerson, chairman of the board. "The law says a minimum of one mill or the average over the last three years, whichever is less, can be set," he said.

This is only the second year in which Farmington Township has had to look to the county for tax allocation. In 1957, the same millage of .86 was allocated. The township did not appeal then, Stephenson said, "because we had asked one mill then and settled for the .14 difference."

However, Stephenson added, the difference this year between what the township received and what it needs to meet its budget is .91 of a mill. It asked 1.77.

"That means roughly a $26,000 loss," he said.

The State Tax Commission as yet has not announced dates at which the two township appeals will be heard.

Ford Given Contracts

Warrior, Prophet, Head of State

General De Gaulle Has Earned Place Alongside Giants in French History

By CHARLES STAFFORD
AP Feature Writer

Warrior, prophet, head of state.

In these occupations, often overlaping and intermingling, Charles de Gaulle has risen steadily to a place among famed Frenchmen.

WARNED FRANCE

Twice the stern, haughty De Gaulle has warned France of impending disaster. Twice he has been ignored.

Twice, also—with a characteristic "I told you so"—he has stepped forward to offer his services in the havoc wrought by that which he foresaw. Twice he has been accepted.

Charles de Gaulle labors now to end the franc-devouring war in Algeria, to rewrite a constitution that has permitted rule by political party to debilitate the French empire.

LOVES COUNTRY

De Gaulle loves France with a passion most men reserve for a woman; in blazing a trail to fame, he has never strayed far from her borders.

Charles de Gaulle was born Nov. 22, 1890, in the village of Lille, near the Belgian border. He went to Paris for his early education, then in 1909 entered Saint Cyr military academy—a legacy of Napoleon at Versailles. A gifted student, he was graduated two years later and commissioned a lieutenant.

In 1941—in the early days of World War I—De Gaulle was wounded in the fighting at Dinant, Belgium; in 1915 at Mesnil-les-Hurlus; in 1916 at Verdun. The wounded De Gaulle was taken prisoner but fought on within a German prisoner-of-war camp.

Five times he attempted escape. Once he was recaptured in a German uniform after digging his way to freedom with a nail file.

Freedom came with the armistice.

In the transitional years from one world war to the next, De Gaulle taught at Saint Cyr, studied at the War College in Paris, served on the staff of the Army of the Rhine, commanded an infantry battalion in Lebanon, traveled in Iraq, Persia and Egypt, and returned to Paris in 1932 as secretary general to the committee of national defense.

TURNED PROPHET

And he wrote and prophesied.

"Vers l'Armee de Metier," in which he predicted "the army of the future will move entirely on caterpillar tracks," was published in 1914. De Gaulle explained in detail the theory of a mobile tank army which strikes with lightning speed and overpowering force. He urged France to adopt the theory.

Another book in the same vein was published in 1939.

Neither impressed the French: But elsewhere the works were absorbed.

Adolf Huehnlein, commander of the Nazi panzer divisions, was later to describe De Gaulle as the "man who taught us everything." The De Gaulle blueprint conquered France.

When the conquest began in 1940, De Gaulle commanded the Fourth Armored Division. On May 30 at Laon and the next day at Abbeville, De Gaulle's force sent German columns reeling backward for rare French victories.

De Gaulle was promoted to brigadier general and called to Paris. He was named under-secretary for war and national defense and given the job of seeking closer cooperation with the British.

The general was in London when France capitulated. His tall figure bent with sorrow, De Gaulle spoke into a microphone on June 18, 1940 . . . and in his sorrow, he breathed life into a dying nation:

". . . Is all hope gone? Is the defeat final? No!

". . . I tell you nothing is lost for France. The very same means that conquered us can be used to give us one day the victory.

FLAME BURNS

"For France is not alone. She is not alone. She is not alone. . .

"Whatever may come, the flame of French resistance must never be extinguished; and it will not be extinguished."

And it was not.

Though British and American leaders found De Gaulle a cantankerous, stubborn sort to deal with, they could not deny him. He organized a committee to manage the public affairs of Free France; in Algiers, he set up a French Committee of National Liberation.

The general made a triumphal entry into Paris on Aug. 25, 1944, to head the provisional government of France. Later he was elected president.

But he was never able to find the unity he desired among the many political parties. Warning that disunity would undermine the empire, he quit the government on Jan. 20, 1946. He said he would await a call to return on his own terms—a righting of the imbalance of power that permitted a disunified assembly to rule France . . . a government with balanced powers like that of the United States.

He retired to his home in the tiny village of Colombey-Les-Deux-Eglises. He waited. And waited. And waited.

In June 1958, the call finally came. And he answered it.

Build Radar Station Near Soviet Soil

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A super radar station capable of dehundreds of miles away is being built on Shemya Island about 300 miles from Soviet soil, says the Anchorage Times.

Shemya is about 1,500 miles west of here in the Aleutian chain and some 300 miles from the Soviet Union's Kamchatka Beninsula.

The Times reported 100 men have been flown to Shemya and 100 more will be airlifted there shortly for preliminary construction and advance planning.

A missile detector station at Shemya would be the second on the nation's northern defense rim. The first is under construction 50 miles southwest of Fairbanks at an estimated cost of 11 million dollars.

The Air Force and Defense Department have declined comment on the missile-spotting stations.

Actress Suzy Parker Expected to Recover

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The outlook for the total recovery of actress Suzy Parker from broken arms received in an auto-train crash June 7 is good, a hospital spokesman sid yesterday.

Her admission to the hospital was disclosed by her physician who asked that his name not be used. She was moved Sunday from the East Coast Hospital at St. Augustine where she had been since the accident which claimed the life of her father.

The hospital spokesman said Miss Parker probably would be eligible for release in about 10 days.

Find Missing Scientist Working at Race Track

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—One day six years ago Albert Clark Reed, a scientist at the California Institute of Technology, said goodby to his wife, patted his son's head, left home — and disappeared.

The FBI, police, family and friends were baffled. The trail led 50 miles east to San Bernardino, then grew cold.

Yesterday he was discovered working as a groom at Hollywood Park.

"I don't know why I left," he told newsmen. "I was — still am — hazy and confused.

"The day I left I sold my car, took a bus and went to Phoenix. I got a job handling freight."

Later he got a job handling horses and returned to California, working at various tracks. His identity was discovered through a routine fingerprint check. He was using the name Alfred C. Reese.

"I'm still stunned," he said, "but I'm getting to feel a gradual relief that I will no longer have to live with this secret."

He spoke of his wife: "Oh, we quarreled occasionally, but that couldn't be the reason I left.

"It's amazing. I can remember every detail of everything I have done for the last six years. But I can't tell you for sure why I left my wife and child."

Reed, a Caltech graduate and World War II test pilot, was working as an aeronautical consultant on a secret project when he disappeared. Police say there are no charges against him.

Will he return to scientific work?

"I don't know," he said. "I love horses, you know. They're wonderful, intelligent, sensible creatures. I enjoy working with them."

Reed, balding and 51, was told his son, Timonty, 12, has been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley B. Smith, Larchmont, N.Y. Smith, a patent attorney, is Mrs. Reed's cousin.

Reed chatted with the boy last night by phone.

Reed later had a tearful reunion with his mother, Mrs. Cora Reed, of nearby Glendale.

But his homecoming also was marked by sadness. He learned that his wife died in December 1955 of cancer.

Heirs of Late Actress Ask $950,000 Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eight heirs of the late Jeanne Eagles, Broadway and Hollywood actress, seek $950,000 damages for use of her name and likeness in a motion picture.

Defendants in a suit on file in superior court today are George Sidney Productions, Inc., and Columbia Pictures Corp., who produced and distributed the film, "The Jeanne Eagles Story."

The complaint by a sister, four nephews and three nieces of the actress charged the film depicted Miss Eagles as "a dissolute and immoral person."

Miss Eagles died at 35 in 1929 while at the peak of her career.

WATERFORD SPOOKS — When the Waterford Township Community Activities Fair gets under way Friday night, Mike Kaines, Rodney Wilson and David Sias will be somewhere in the "Spook House," doing their best to scare patrons of the annual event. Props include 'gorilla fur,' wet silk stockings, paper mache masks and horrible wire skeletons. The fair is slated for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at the C.A.I. building on Williams Lake Rd.

Gala Waterford Fair Opening for Weekend at C.A.I. Building

Officials of Waterford Township Community Activities Inc., have completed plans for their eleventh annual fair, and are set for the grand opening to be held at 6 p.m. Friday. The fair will continue through Saturday and Sunday.

Every inch of floor space in the C.A.I. building on Williams Lake Rd., has been sold to exhibitors, according to general chairman Donald Hickman.

Displays by local merchants will include commodities of every description. Valuable prizes including a color television set will be given to patrons of the fair.

There will be no admission charge and all proceeds from the various projects, will go for operation and maintenance of the C.A.I., Hickman said.

Something entirely different and of special interest to teenagers, will be 16 new type amusement rides, which will be operated outside of the building, along with smaller rides for the kiddies.

A spook house, country store, and all the festive events that make a fair successful, have been included in the over-all plans. Refreshments will be served by the Merri-Makers Square Dance club.

On the second floor of the building, the Civil Defense organization will display the 200-portable bed hospital, used in training civilians in disaster procedures. CD workers will also control the traffic flow outside the building.

There will also be an archery exhibit on the upper floor, with prizes for the most skillful archer. Other games of skill have been scheduled outdoors, Hickman added.

Climaxing the fair's activities will be the crowning of the queen by last year's queen, Carol Kaines, at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The queen will be given an all-expense trip for two to Gay El Rancho at Gaylord and will receive other gifts.

Eleven girls are competing for the queen's title, which will be awarded by votes.

Kansas City Star President Says:

Papers Must Be Daring

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Newspapers must show imagination and daring to keep pace with other media in informing the people, Roy A. Roberts, president of the Kansas City Star, said yesterday.

Roberts told more than 300 members of the International Circulation Managers Assn. that the era ahead will be the fastest moving, most exciting ever experienced.

"It will be a more fiercely competitive era, not so much competition within the industry as competition between media for the public's time, the very essential advertiser's dollar, and, I sincerely trust, competition in service to the pub-

46 Governors Can't Make 'Big Mac' Dedication

LANSING, (AP)—Governors of 46 states have declined invitations to attend the Straits of Mackinac Bridge Dedication next week, Lawrence A. Ferrell, executive secretary to Gov. Williams, said today.

Only Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, a Democrat like Williams, has indicated he may attend the formal dedication June 28, Farrell said.

"Most of the governors either had previous commitments or felt they would be unable to leave their states at that time," Farrell said.

LIGHT O'LOVE — An object that helped make the lovelight gleam in the eyes of many a romantic couple back in great-great-grandmother's day, this century-old sparking lamp is displayed by Linda Laughlin, in Sturbridge, Mass. The tiny sperm oil lamp made the word "sparking" synonymous with romance in the early 1800's. Miss Laughlin is a hostess at Old Sturbridge Village, the re-created New England country town of 150 years ago.

After Sudden Execution of Nagy

Future of Hungary's Kadar Uncertain

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — The execution of Imre Nagy raises the question of what will happen to his collaborator and successor, Janos Kadar, the current Communist boss of Hungary.

Nagy and Kadar were both considered Titoists, Communists who thought the local parties should be allowed to depart from Moscow's dictates to meet local conditions.

At the start of the 1956 revolt, they worked closely together. When Hungary's Communist party command reorganized in the midst of the crisis, Kadar became the party chief, a job he still holds. He was a member of Nagy's Cabinet and presumably backed its measures.

Kadar in speeches and interviews supported the revolt. Then he broke with Navy to collaborate with the Soviet forces which installed him in power.

After Nagy took refuge in the Yugoslav Embassy, Kadar gave him a safe-conduct and arrested Nagy when he left the embassy.

Many observers believe that Kadar had promised Yugoslav President Tito there would be no trial for Nagy. As recently as April 3 Kadar brushed off the whole question of Nagy in a talk with this correspondent, saying it was "not of current interest." He added that the ex-premier was at a health resort he had wanted to go to.

He implied the whole matter ought to be forgotten.

What happened to revive it?

Most observers here and in Belgrade believe the executions to be the result of the quarrel between Moscow and Tito. But what remains unclear is the wider picture of which this strike at Tito and Titoism is a part. Here are some of the questions being asked:

1. Was the trial of Nagy meant to show other Communist regimes the danger of Tito's independent ideas?

2. Why does the official Hungarian statement say comparatively little about "American capitalists" and instead emphasize charges that Nagy collaborated with British diplomats?

3. Where does the execution of Nagy fit into the war being waged throughout the Communist world between Khrushchev's supporters and his Stalinist enemies?

Kadar is Khrushchev's man in that fight. It may be significant that Kadar's name was not mentioned once in the long official recounting of Nagy's alleged sins.

The next act may be played this week. Hungary's Communist Parliament meets tomorrow. Kadar's demeanor there may indicate which way the wind is blowing.

Because of soot and dirt in the air, city fogs generally last longer and are more dense than those in open country.

Looting Pockets of Dead Man?

Four Wayne County Morgue Workers Slated for Further Questioning

DETROIT (AP)—Four Wayne County morgue employes were to be questioned again today about the alleged looting three years ago of a dead man's pockets.

Raymond J. Deryck, the Wayne County prosecutor's chief trial attorney, and Aloysius Suchy, an assistant prosecutor, questioned the morgue workers yesterday about a complaint that the dead man's pockets were looted of several hundred dollars.

Deryck said three of the employes told him the body was brought in and the contents of the pockets emptied by the fourth man who began dividing money into four piles.

Deryck said the three told the other man they did not want any part of such a dealing and left. He said they were agreed that the fourth man put the money in an envelope and stored it in his clothing locker.

Deryck said the man accused of counting out the money has denied doing so. He said the man took a lie detector test but "did not pass."

Deryck said he planned to further question the four employes today.

Officials began investigating the morgue recently when Dr. Edward S. Zawadzki, county medical examiner, threatened to resign because of the activities of certain employes in his office.

New Computer Plots Planes' Exact Position

Brass Band Greets Spelling Champion

MCPHERSON, Kan. (AP)—McPherson residents turned out with a brass band yesterday to welcome home Jolitta Schlehuber, 14, winner of the National Spelling Bee.

A seven-car caravan, escorted by police, rolled into town with Jolitta sitting in an open convertible with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schlehuber, and her younger brother and sister, Cameron and Vinnie.

Jolitta was welcomed by Bryan Holloway, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

"All I can say is thanks to everybody — I didn't expect this," Jolitta said.

Waterford School Board Names Officers Tonight

An election of officers tops the agenda for the Waterford Township Board of Education meeting at 8 p.m. tonight according to superintendent William Shunck.

Other business will include a report by Shunck on action taken by the Oakland County Tax Allocation board.

Shunck is also expected to present a report on petitions sent to the Oakland County Board of Education from Pontiac's school district for a land trade between the two districts.

The Pontiac Board of Education has asked that two acres of Waterford Township school district be exchanged for 10 acres of Pontiac's school district located in Waterford Township.

A hearing is scheduled for July 3rd at the Oakland County Board of Education offices on the proposal.

Board members will also consider a request to increase the size of the Eliza Leggett school parking facilities.

Board members will give further consideration to a future high school site for Waterford Township, Shunck concluded.

State GOP Leaders Divided on Adams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Latest comments by Michigan Republican leaders on the Sherman Adams incident have taken varying directions.

Sen. Charles E. Potter was critical of Adams again yesterday. In a radio interview, Potter said that if Adams is retained the Republicans will be saddled with "a critical political handicap in the 1958 campaign."

But Michigan GOP Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer disagreed insofar as Michigan was concerned.

Lindemer said the Adams case would not be important in Michigan, adding:

"We've got much greater issues here. We've got a sick economic atmosphere in Michigan which was created by the efforts or lack of efforts of Gov. Williams." Williams is a Democrat.

Lindemer made his remarks at the meeting of state chairmen. He said he had been in contact with Michigan people by telephone and there seemed less talk about the Adams matter than about the cloth gift to Williams from Bernard Goldfine at the governors' conference. (Williams has said he does not recall what he did with the cloth.)

2 GM Kansas City Plants Closed by 'Sabotage'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—General Motors' Chevrolet and Fisher Body assembly plants here were forced to close yesterday because of what the company described as "sabotage to painted automobile bodies."

Similar vandalism last March resulted in a complete plant shutdown.

The company statement said today that "employes unknown to management inflicted severe damages to painted surfaces of finished bodies, requiring long and costly repairs. The repair bottleneck made it necessary to shut down the production line, resulting in the loss of approximately 4,000 manhours of work. Operations are scheduled to resume at the regular times tomorrow morning."

Pooches Shun Comfort Station, Still Prefer Curbs

NEW YORK (AP)—A luxurious comfort station for dogs was opened here today, but the dogs seemed to prefer the city's street curbs.

The first 20 dogs led to the canine commode on leashes simply ignored it.

The city built the comfort station at 92nd St. and York Ave. at a cost of $500 in an experiment to see whether it would help solve the problem of nuisance on the streets and curbs. The city has a licensed dog population of 272,000.

It is a low, rectangular enclosure, 12 feet long and 4 feet wide, with a concrete base equipped with plumbing. It has two walks through which dog owners may lead their pets. Between the walks is a divider topped by a flower box with geraniums. No trees.

Boat, Motor Stolen From Lotus Lake

A boat and motor belonging to James Sposato, of 4059 Lotus Dr., Waterford Township, was stolen sometime last night, according to township police.

Sposato told police that the boat had been chained to the dock in front of his home on Lotus Lake. The chain had been cut by thieves, he said.

Nationalist Thunderjet Lost Over Red China

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalist Chinese air force today admitted an F84 Thunderjet is missing on a leaflet-dropping mission over the Communist Chinese mainland.

Peiping radio reported yesterday that the plane was shot down Monday by Red fighters while flying over Fukien province with another nationalist jet. The broadcast said the plane crashed into a mountain and the crew was killed.

Charmin Paper Workers to Vote on Bargaining

CHEBOYGAN (UPI)—About 55 production and maintenance employes of the Charmin Paper Products Co. were expected to vote today and tomorrow in a collective bargaining election ordered by the National Labor Relations Board.

The workers must decide whether or not they want to be represented by one of the three unions—the United Papermakers & Paperworkers, the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers or the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers (all AFL-CIO).

Dominican Congress Angry Over Trujillo Jr.

Asks Dropping of U. S. Aid Ties

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Stung by criticism in the American Congress of young Rafael Trujillo's playboy habits, the Dominican Congress has asked the government to pull out of all U. S. aid agreements.

Under one of the pacts the United States maintains a station in the Caribbean republic to track its guided missiles.

The Dominican Congress, a rubber stamp for Dictator-Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo Sr., made no mention of the fancy presents Lt. Gen. Trujillo Jr. gave to movie actresses Zsa Zsa Gabor and Kim Novak.

Instead in its resolution Congress said "the attacks that some (U. S.) congressmen have directed against the Dominican Republic in terms offensive to her national dignity would not have occurred" if U. S. aid had not been accepted.

The resolution forwarded to President Hector Trujillo, the generalissimo's brother, asked for an end to agreements providing U. S. military aid of $600,000 a year; technical assistance, and cooperation on peaceful uses of atomic energy.

If the Trujillos cancel the missile-tracking agreement, the United States could look next door to Haiti, which has offered to serve as a tracking base.

Young Trujillo at 29 is head of the Dominican air force and this week was made head of the combined chiefs of staff. U. S. congressmen first criticized him for his lavish expenditures in Hollywood when he was supposed to be attending the U. S. Army's Command and General Staff School in Leavenworth, Kan.

The Dominican government countered that Trujillo was a rich man and was spending his own money.

Things might have calmed down if Rep. Charles B. Brownson, an Indiana Republican, hadn't revealed last week that Trujillo Jr. wasn't graduating from Leavenworth because he hadn't finished the course. The generalissimo retaliated with an anti-U. S. blast, ordered 30 Dominican cadets and officers out of U. S. military schools, and summoned his Congress to act.

Young Trujillo, who is divorcing his wife, has returned to Hollywood. Zsa Zsa said she would try to find him a new spouse and would throw a party for him aboard his family yacht, which came to California to sail him home.

Report Soviet Reds Plan Drastic Anti-Tito Action

LONDON (UPI)—Leaders of the Soviet Communist Party were reported meeting in Moscow to plan drastic moves against Marshal Tito and any "deviationists" who might follow the path of executed Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy.

Execution of the leaders of Hungary's anti-Communist revolution brought new and angry repercussions throughout the world.

There were riots and protest marches in European cities, condemnation by free nations and shock in neutralist India.

Students in Bern Switzerland, staged a two-hour torchlight parade through the capital of neutral Sweden last night.

Norwegian students demonstrated in front of the Russian embassy and Hungarian legation in Oslo. The Hungarian Students union called for a protest march in London today.

It coupled this announcement with one of its most savage attacks yet on Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia—certain to be one of the main topics of discussion at the Moscow meeting of the Communist party central committee.

Authoritative reports reaching London said the execution of Nagy was closely connected with the Moscow-reported Communist meeting on Tito who has defied the Kremlin with his own brand of "independent communism."

Yugoslavia has denounced the Nagy execution as a gigantic doublecross.

There was no official announcement from Moscow on the meeting of the 150-member committee. Announcements on such meetings usually are made only after the meetings are completed.

The last time the committee met (in March) Nikolai Bulganin was ousted as premier and Nikita Khrushchev took over the job.

Then came the start of the anti-Tito campaign, touched off with an attack by a Chinese Communist newspaper.

Announcement of the death of Nagy and three copatriots in Hungary's abortive fight for freedom was generally believed to herald the revival of the Stalinist purges at their worst.

Doctor Claims Patient Is Better Off at Home

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK — "The hospital"—any hospital—"has reason to fear the consequences for the patient of some of its inadequacies," said the doctor who originated the first large-scale, workable method of taking the hospital to the patient in his home rather than taking the patient out of his home to the hospital.

Dr. E. M. Bluestone, of New York's famous Montefiore Hospital, was explaining to an audience of English physicians why this is a good idea for both patient and hospital in all cases where it is possible. His ideas have attracted interest in medical circles throughout the world.

The hospital—any hospital—"is too often short of staff and particularly of intelligent, considerate and helpful staff," he said. "It is often short of vital space.

"It deals with patients en masse, in open wards, and large numbers increase the chance of error. It deprives the patient of privacy and subordinates him to the needs of his neighbors in the same sickroom.

"It can seldom provide him with the food to which he is accustomed, or permit his relatives free entry to his bedside. It must too often deny him information about his condition, for lack of time when serving large numbers and not often because it does not know what to tell him."

All this is bad for the patient, Bluestone said, because "as health forsakes a man, the everyday fear associated with normal living is intensified. It makes a bad situation worse and the patient needs help in dealing with it."

No doctor "has the right to be offended by the presence of fear in his patient," he said. "Illness is a humiliating experience, and the more critical the patient's condition (up to and including the point of dying) the more it offends his dignity."

Therefore, hospital services must all be keyed to take this into account, the doctor contended, since "the only patient who is entirely free of fear is the unconscious patient. Helplessness, inability to manage one's own affairs, and the need to be babied during illness all have their depressing effect."

Fear, then, "is a serious hospital problem which must be identified early and solved for each patient. The problem in essence is how to give each patient the comforting feeling that he has little to fear because everything known to science and humanity has been mobilized for his special benefit."

Bluestone's contribution to the science of hospital care is an efficiently organized method of rendering hospital service to patients in their homes whenever the nature of the illness permits it. As he told his English audience, the method has to be supported by welfare funds in many cases but it is much better even so than "the impersonal, mechanical, routinized institution of collective care which is more likely to arouse fear than relieve it. And too often the fear is justified."

"We must remember," he said, "that every mother is a good nurse but not every nurse is a good mother. When a patient enters the hospital he faces the unknown. He is a stranger among strangers, exposed to them as they are to him, in all their weaknesses, demands, and variable requirements. In this case it is not true that 'misery loves company'."

Sofia radio said the defendants were criminal and depraved elements. It said two were trained as spies in Istanbul.

Expert on Outer Space

Won't Leave Earth

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — A man who has devoted much of his life to the study of outer space says he will not be a candidate when reservations are open for travel to Mars and Venus.

The man is Dr. Robert S. Richardson, California Institute of Technolngy astronomer since 1931, who spends the better part of his time peering into space through the telescopes at the Mount Wilson and Mount Palomar observatories.

He explained his feelings on the popular subject of space colonization in an interview thusly:

"I like it right here among people I know. Besides, when explorers reach the planets, what becomes of astronomers who have specialized in the study of them? We'll be out of jobs."

Turning to a more serious aspect of outer space travel, Dr. Richardson said:

"Most of the planets would be just miserable anyway. You'd need a special space suit every time you went outside and there's very little water on Mars. Also, it's extremely cold.

"As a matter of fact it would be just like a cold, high altitude desert. We don't want to live on a place like that here on earth. Why bother to go all the way to Mars?"

The noted astronomer added:

"And what happens to the manners and morals of the men who land on Mars or Venus? I believe that's a more interesting question than how they will get there, which apparently will be solved some day.

"What will be the effect on them when free of everything they have been taught in social behavior, and of being alone with nothing but their consciences to guide them?"

Dr. Richardson said that, being an astronomer rather than a psychologist, "I do not have the scientific answers but, in my opinion, it is certain that the men who go into what could be years of isolation on a planet must be extraordinary individuals.

"Then tensions of living for long periods in isolation will be terrific —sometimes we can't even stand each other when we're cooped up a few days together."

No Signals Picked Up From Third Explorer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second radio transmitter of Explorer III has gone dead and no signals have been picked up from the tiny satellite since Monday.

The other transmitter died out June 5. The Army's other satellite, Explorer I, stopped sending signals May 24. However, the transmitter of the Navy's Vanguard I still is functioning.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory estimated early this month that Explorer III, which has been steadily losing altitude, would plunge to earth before the end of June. The satellite was launched March 2.

Newspaper space used by advertisers last year amounted to 3,894,000 tons of newsprint — equal to almost 60 per cent of the entire Canadian newsprint industry's output.

Nobel Prize Winner Quits College Post

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Linus Pauling, a Nobel prize winner, has resigned as head of California Institute of Technology's department of chemistry and chemical engineering. He will remain as professor of chemistry.

Dr. Pauling, a leading foe of nuclear testing, said he quit the post he had held 21 years because he wanted to devote his entire time to research and teaching. He will be succeeded by Dr. Ernest H. Swift, a Caltech faculty member 38 years.

Beirut Hopeful as Dag Arrives

Lebanon Is Encouraged by Reputation of U.N. Chief as Mediator

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) —U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammerskjold arrived in Beirut today, bringing a glimmer of hope that he might end Lebanon's rebellion.

The international diplomat flew in at dawn from London and New York. His reputation in the Middle East for mediating ticklish quarrels gave Lebanese some hope he might succeed where others failed.

The crisis-ridden country has endured 41 days of fighting, bombing, shootings and strikes in an effort by opposition political factions to overthrow pro-Western President Camille Chamoun. The people are thoroughly fed up and are looking for any solution that will end the trouble.

Rebel leaders have promised a truce while Hammarskjold is here. A furious battle raged in Beirut yesterday, but government forces finally beat back the rebels and restored an uneasy quiet.

After a brief rest at his hotel, Hammarskjold began talks with Norwegian Maj. Gen. Odd Bull, former President Galo Plaza Lasvuof Ecuador and former Indian Ambassador to the U.N. Rejeswar Dayal — the three leaders of the U.N. observation team ordered by the Security Council to watch out for any aid to the rebels from the neighboring United Arab Republic.

Military experts here estimate that 5,000 troops would be needed to seal the rugged mountain border. Hammarskjold has sent out urgent requests to 14 small U.N. members for more observers but these still would be short of what the Lebanese government wants.

Engineers Ordered: 'Sail Ships or Get Off'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sign on and sail the ship or get off."

Shipowners, breaking off negotiations, presented that alternative to marine engineers yesterday as their strike continued without indication of an immediate settlement.

The strikers, members of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. have been staying aboard 294 passenger and dry-cargo ships on the East and Gulf coasts, maintaining machinery but refusing to sail.

Their four-day-old strike is against members of the American Merchant Marine Institute, but other shipowners also could be affected. The AMMI represents 23 companies with 294 ships. Other companies that follow the institute's contract pattern bring the total of ships involved to 480.

Ralph E. Casey, president of the AMMI, said a final offer had been made to the union and rejected.

The offer included increased pension, welfare, health and vacation benefits, but no wage increase. The union had demanded a substantial pay raise.

Use Truck to Haul Goods Woman Allegedly Stole

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Police needed a five-ton truck yesterday to haul to headquarters about $8,000 worth of goods a woman is accused of shoplifting.

The merchandise included eight fur coats—three of them mink—153 dresses, 80 skirts, 50 handbags 76 sweaters, 43 pairs of curtains, 88 silk blouses, stacks of men's clothing, sheets, towels, radios and clocks.

Detective Chief Charles Young said the goods were found in the home of Mrs. Saddy Mae Draper, 29, Negro. She was charged with grand larceny.

Lashed to Raft, Numbed Girl Didn't Know Help Near

Survives Perilous Hour on Wild Straits

ST. IGNACE (AP)— For an hour, 15-year-old Pamela Merriman rode out the heavy swells of the wind-blown Straits of Mackinac lashed to a small wood raft.

When rescuers reached her she was numb from cold and shock. She said she didn't know help was at hand until Ray Walker lifted her from the 5-foot-by 8-foot float and brought her back in his motorboat safely to shore.

"We've learned a lot from that terrible experience," said the girl's mother, Mrs. Dudley Merriman of suburban St. Ignace. "We're not talking too much about it, but we won't forget it for some time."

Sgt. Phil E. Paulson of the St. Ignace State Police post said it was mostly Pamela's clear thinking that saved her. He added the young girl had "lots of luck."

Pamela came to near disaster Saturday when she went down to the shore of the straits in front of her home to move a swimming float. The raft was tied to shore and was taking a pounding in the heavy breakers whipped up by the fresh straits winds.

She was fully dressed and was poling the raft to a sheltered spot when a gust of wind and an undertow swept the float out into the straits.

The homemade raft was a mile from shore and drifting fast when Walker of St. Ignace reached Pamela. She had had the foresight to lash herself to the raft with the tie rope after waves began washing over.

Pamela said she once tried to swim back to safety, but the high waves and powerful currents forced her to give up the plan.

Before she became drowsy from exhaustion and cold she yelled for help.

Her cries were heard by 13-year-old Lane Marie Fraser on shore. Lane ran to her nearby home and called State Police.

The troopers had just reached the shore near the area when they spotted Walker coming in from a ride. They asked him to head back out and directed him from a high point on land.

Man's Two Wives Meet, Both Burst Into Tears

IONIA (AP)—The two wives of Arthur Cosgrove met for the first time yesterday and burst into tears.

The women met at the Ionia State Police Post where Cosgrove, 32, a Grand Rapids salesman, was under arrest for a marriage too many. The meeting was the first either wife had known of the other.

Officers declined to identify the wives, one from Alma and the other from Lansing, because they were "innocent parties."

Police said Cosgrove has been on probation for polygamy since 1955 when a second marriage was annulled. They said he married the Alma woman, his third wife, last December while still wed to wife No. 1.

Auto Prices Probed

DETROIT (AP)—Allegations of car price irregularities by dealers and dealers' associations were investigated Wednesday by a special grand jury in the court of Federal Judge Frank A. Picard. The 23-man jury is headed by Edward J. Feeney, chief of the Detroit office of the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice.

Test Drying of Trees Before Cutting Them

NEW YORK (UPI) — North Woods researchers are testing a method of drying out trees before they are felled in a bid to cut handling costs.

The Newsprint Information Committee said that since demoisturized trees are lighter and therefore cheaper to ship by rail, standing trees are killed chemically, then left to lose up to 25 per cent of their weight by evaporation before being felled.

The committee said a solution of sodium arsenite is painted on the base of the tree where a two-inch strip of bark has been removed. The spring flow of sap carries the poison up through the tree and kills it in a few weeks.

Three to 12 months later the dead tree is thoroughly dried out and is felled and shipped to the mill.

Metal Cutting Studied

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A two-day clinic to explore new techniques of measurement and automatic control in metal cutting will be held on the University of Michigan campus, June 26-27.

Road Contract Lettings to Increase Next Year

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams says the volume of highway contract lettings in the fiscal year starting July 1 should hit 190 million dollars.

They are expected to total about 140 million dollars for the year ending June 30, he said yesterday in a talk dedicating a new building put up by the Michigan Road Builders' Assn.

Williams praised as "marvelous" the record of road builders in building well and at low cost in the past, and said he trusted the record would remain good in the expanded construction activity ahead.

Federal, state and Indian reservation lands account for about 82 per cent of the total domain of Arizona.

You're the President:

Would You Accept Gifts?

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Feature Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Suppose you were president of the United States. Suppose you—or one of your top assistants—were handed a gift.

What should you do? Keep it? See that it was sent back? Try to work out an ethical scale whereby the little ones would be kept and the big ones returned?

MAY BE EXPENSIVE

Remember, the gift may be expensive. President Eisenhower has been given a $4,000 tractor.

Or it can be slightly ridiculous. During Harry Truman's time, someone sent the White House a gold plated toilet seat.

Or it can be, and often is, highly impractical. Eisenhower has been given a Bible written in the Swahili language of East Africa.

Each president, beginning with Washington, has struggled with the problem, or ignored it, in his own way. And it's interesting to note that, as of 10:02 a.m. Wednesday, no firm answer had been found.

Eisenhower was defending his No. 1 assistant, Sherman Adams, who has accepted gifts from a friend who was having rules-and-regulations trouble with the government.

"A gift is not necessarily a bribe," Eisenhower told his news conference. "One is evil; the other is a tangible expression of friendship."

True enough. But where does one draw the line?

Eisenhower called for "the utmost prudence" and said, "Carelessness must be avoided." But he, like many presidents before him, never answered the question.

TOUGH TO ANSWER

Obviously it's a tough one. The Library of Congress, at the request of Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis), has prepared a rundown on what other presidents have done about gifts.

Washington didn't have any problem of a gift of Vicuna wool, as faced Eisenhower and Adams.

But he did have to make a decision on what to do with a piece of silk woven and sent to him by a Mrs. Matthew Anderson.

"Contrary as it is to an established maxim of mine," Washington wrote Mrs. A., "not to accept a present from anyone, yet, considering this as a mark of your peculiar attention to me and as evidence of what our climate, aided by industry, is capable of yielding, I receive and thank you for this effort of your skill."

Jackson got so m'any gifts he didnt know what to do with them. What would you do about a lion didn't know what to do with them. What would you do about a lion and two horses given you by the emperor of Morocco?

John Quincy Adams was so strict he worried about taking a gift of soap. Polk wouldn't take anything more valuable than a book or a cane. Buchanan turned down all gifts of value, even from his intimate friends.

Lincoln has a choice spot in our history; Andrew Johnson has a poor one (undeservedly so, some historians think). Yet Lincoln took gifts freely whereas Johnson usually turned them down.

Jefferson apparently had the toughest code of all.

"When a man considers himself a public trust," Jefferson said, "he should consider himself as a public property."

And so, although he was having trouble making ends meet, and could have used the boodle, Jefferson turned down almost everything.

Final OK Near on Compromise

$3 Billion Foreign Aid Program to Be Called for House Vote in Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise $3,675,400,000 foreign aid program is ready for final congressional action.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said today he will call up the authorization bill for a vote early next week. Pssage there, and by the Senate later, would clear the way for action on a separate money bill to finance the spending for which the authorization bill sets terms and ceilings.

The program recommended yesterday by Senate and House conferees is 266½ million dollars below President Eisenhower's request for military and economic help to friendly nations.

Before finishing work on the authorization measure, the conferees dropped a Senate amendment aimed at halting use of nonmilitary aid funds for purchase abroad of Japanese textiles and other commodities in competition with American business.

The conferees also eliminated a Senate provision which would have required publication of itemized expense accounts of every senator or representative spending U.S.-owned foreign currencies on official travels abroad.

They left in language requiring each committee member or employe who uses foreign currencies—obtained in the sale of surplus agricultural commodities abroad to make an itemized report to his committee chairman. This report would show the dollar equivalents of foreign currency spent. The chairman would be required to publish consolidated reports showing the total itemized expenditures of the committee as a whole.

The bill provides $1,605,000,000 for military assistance (planes and other hardware) to allies, for which Eisenhower sought $1,800,000,000.

It also carries 810 million dollars of the 835 millions the President asked for defense supports. This is economic aid for allied countries to enable them to support adequate military forces.

Texans Prepare to Cross Atlantic in Motor Boat

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) —An admiral in the Texas navy headed for Boston today with an outboard motor boat in which he plans to try to cross the Atlantic.

"With a lot of luck and the right kind of weather, we might make it," says James Pirtle, 30.

Roy Sutter of the nearby Lindberg community will meet Sutter in Boston and make the trip with him. If and when they get to England, Sutter hopes to swim the English Channel.

They are using an 18-foot outboard motor cruiser powered by two engines. It was been equipped with special tanks to carry 300 gallons of fuel.

Pirtle said no one has ever tried it before "and I guess I want to be in on something that's never been done before."

Pirtle served three years with the Navy in World War II.

He hopes to arrange sponsors for navigational equipment and fuel. He has a book on small boat seamanship.

Pirtle said he hopes to leave about July 1.

"We have a tentative route that will take us by way of Newfoundland, Greenland, Iceland, Scotland and on to London," he said.

Pirtle operates a landscaping and trucking business. He has a wife and a boy, 4. Last week he and Sutter were presented commissions as admirals in the Texas navy by Gov. Price Daniel.

More than one million acres of land in Oregon are now under lease for oil and gas exploration surveys.

Wealthy Cereal Heiress Wed to Industrialist

WOODBINE, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post, wealthy heiress to the Post cereal fortune, married Pittsburgh industrialist Herbert A. May yesterday.

The bride is 71. May will be 66 or June 27.

The quiet wedding took place in the home of the bride's eldest daughter, Mrs. Augustus Riggs IV with only the children and grandchildren present.

The couple departed on a brief honeymoon. They plan to give a reception in Pittsburgh June 23 at May's home. Another reception will follow at Mrs. May's Washington home June 26. A few days later the couple will leave on a cruise.

The bride is the daughter of Charles William Post, founder of the cereal firm, and reportedly is worth more than 250 million dollars. May is a senior vice president of Westinghouse Air Brake Co.

They were married by the Rev. T. A. Little Jr., of the Sykesville, Md., Presbyterian church.

The bride was given in marriage by her son-in-law, Stanley Rumbough Jr. of New York and attended by Mrs. Riggs. Herbert A. May Jr. was best man for his father.

May has a daughter and three sons.

Mrs. May was married before to the late Joseph E. Davies, former United States ambassador to Russia; Edward B. Close, a New York attorney, and Edward Hutton, of New York.

Says Southern Utah Gets Too Much Fallout

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — A Utah chemist says some 10,000 persons living in southern Utah not far from the Nevada atomic bomb test site may have absorbed about 30 times as much gamma ray irradiation as other persons in the United States.

Dr. Norman Bauer, Utah State University professor, told the Pacific Division of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here that, depending on dietary habits of the residents, "this amount of local fallout would result in a more or less serious accumulation of strontium 90 in the bones within a decade or two."

Two-thirds of the peppermint and spearmint oil produced in the United States is said to come from Indiana.

Nat 'King' Cole Lauds Film Composers

Calls Hollywood World Music Center

By NAT "KING" COLE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Hollywood has become a world cultural center second to none. Some of the finest music being created in our generation is composed here, by great musicians drawn to the West Coast by the motion picture and television industry.

Their musical scores contribute a great deal to the full enjoyment of a movie or TV production, and the moods they set through music have the power of lifting good pictures into the category of great productions.

Two such movies which come to mind are "High Noon" and "The High and the Mighty." Both were top stories, convincingly told and well-acted, but Dimitri Tiomkin's music—he won an Oscar for best dramatic scoring for "The High and the Mighty"—made them even better. These pictures also indicate that if a score is outstanding, it will outlive the movie and become a standard.

Pursuing this theme further, I think we can safely predict that Victor Young's "Around the World," written for Mike Todd's film, will be played long after the movie exhausts its run.

I am proud of my association with Nelson Riddle, one of Hollywood's leading musicians. A triple-threat man in his field, Riddle scored my Paramount film, "St. Louis Blues," which is based upon the life story and music of the late Will C. Handy. He also conducts and arranges both my nightclub acts and Capitol recording sessions.

Every motion picture studio has made its contribution to good music. Although no longer at MGM, Johnny Green cannot be divorced from the fine music that came out of the Culver City lot during his tenure there, including his academy-award winning "Easter Parade's" and "American in Paris" scores.

No musician is held in higher esteem by his peers than Alfred Newman at 20th Century-Fox, with over 30 Academy Award nominations and five Oscars—for "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Song of Bernadette," "Mother Wore Tights," "With a Song in My Heart" and "Call Me Madam."

Also eminent in their field are Warner Brothers' Max Steiner (with more than 25 nominations and three Oscars to his credit) and Ray Heindorf; Columbia's Morris Stoloff, and others like Elmer ("On the Waterfront") Bernstein, James Van Heusen and Sammy Cahn, composers of this year's award-winning original song, "All The Way;"

Ray Evans and Jay Livingston, whose memorable tunes include two Oscar winners, "Buttons and Bows," from the Bob Hope picture, "Paleface," and "Que Sera Sera," from "The Man Who Knew Too Much." Nor can you overlook Vernon Duke, composer of pop tunes like "April in Paris," and longhair music, and who writes for every medium.

Duke and Tiomkin are Russian born, Steiner Viennese, the others native Americans. All have brought honor to Hollywood.

County Firemen Plan Field Day

Agree on Oct. 4 Event, to Be First Held Here, at Meeting in Pontiac

Several Oakland County fire departments met Tuesday in Pontiac to plan the first county-wide firemen's field day ever held.

The host was Chief John Schroeder, of the Pontiac Dept., and the meeting was in Fire Hall 5.

On hand were representatives of the departments from Franklin Village, Brooklands in Avon Township, Commerce and Waterford Townships and Oxford.

They agreed to hold the field day on Saturday, Oct. 4, in the afternoon following Pontiac's Fire Prevention Week parade.

Each representative agreed to contact neighboring fire departments to enlist their participation in the field day. They will meet again on July 9 to work on details.

The Field Day Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce was also represented at the meeting and a member, James B. Forman, of Pontiac Motors Division, will be chairman for the field day.

Pacific Area Closed to Ships

U.S. Holding Nuclear Tests Northwest of Marshall Islands

WASHINGTON—A huge swath of the Pacific is again off limits to world shipping.

United States nuclear tests at its Pacific proving grounds put an invisible barrier of warnings—"Danger, No Trespassing"—around 390,000 square miles northwest of the Marshall Islands.

The rectangular forbidden zone reaches far across the open sea to allow for the patterns of prevailing winds. It lies in the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands and is uninhabited.

Eniwetok and Bikini Atolls, formerly occupied but now the site of actual bomb tests, stand near the southern boundary of the zone.

The proving grounds occupy a lonely place in the wide, lonely, blue-green wilderness, the National Geographic Society says. Though seemingly dotted with islands, the Pacific's immense distances are suggested by Magellan's experience.

He managed to sight only two small islands in his 9,000 - mile odyssey from the tip of South America to Guam in the Marianas.

Magellan missed the Marshalls altogether. But trade winds brought Spanish galleons to the archipelago in the 16th century. The record indicates that Spaniards made no regular stops there and took little if any interest in the double chain of 34 low-lying, spray-lashed coral atolls.

That part of the Pacific was almost empty of ships in the 17th and 18th centuries. For some time a Spanish galleon sailed each year from the Mexican port of Acapulco to Manila, but followed a route north of the Marshalls. European traders seemed to have no compelling reason for visiting the land-poor atolls, and quite likely, none did.

Now the United States, by agreement of the United Nations Security Council and approval of Congress, governs all of Micronesia. The Trust Territory covers the Marshalls, the Marianas far to the northwest, and Carolines to the west—all told, some 2,000 islands dotting 3,500,000 square miles of sea.

Operation Crossroads in 1946 brought the atomic era to the Marshalls. Bikini's 167 inhabitants were transferred to another atoll. When the Atomic Energy Commission expanded the proving grounds for hydrogen bomb tests two years later, it chose Eniwetok because of its remoteness from other islands and the relatively few people, 138, who would have to be moved.

City Offers Solution to Sewage Problem

sion. This provision would prevent increased use of the lines and subsequent increased burdens on Pontiac's sewage treatment plant, which city officials say has been operating at capacity for many months.

Under the third provision, township officials promise to use their influence to improve cer- privately-owned lines, which Pontiac officials say are causing pollution of Sylvan Lake and the Clinton River.

The agreement provides for township cooperation in any legal action the city might take if the pollution "becomes serious."

6 Communities Win Reprieve

State Supreme Court to Hear County Public Works Unit Appeal

Six Oakland County communities received a reprieve yesterday from Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland until an appeal testing the authority of the county's Department of Public Works is heard by the Michigan Supreme Court.

The State Water Resources Commission sought court action against the six for failure to meet a deadline to stop their pollution of the Rouge River.

The commission held the court decree against the cities of Lathrup Village, Southfield, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Southfield and Bloomfield Townships.

The court had ordered steps be taken by Dec. 31, 1957 to prevent further pollution of the river by the six areas. Attorneys for the areas appeared before Judge Holland Wednesday to to show why they had not complied.

Harold K. Schone, DPW director, explained that the planned Evergreen interceptor sewer project, of which the six would be a part, could not proceed until the test case had been heard. The Evergreen project is planned to aid in stopping the pollution.

Waiting to be heard before the high court is the appeal of Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick's ruling in April favoring the DPW and its construction of the $4,900,000 Farmington sewage disposal system.

It is being appealed by attorney Irwin I. Cohn, of West Bloomfield Township, who charges provisions of the act under which the project was created are unconstitutional.

Schone said he expected a decision from the Supreme Court sometime between July 15 and Oct. 1. Judge Holland said he would wait until 10 days after it is handed down to take further action.

How Rumors Grow

WEST PATERSON, N.J. (UPI) —Neighbors and reporters called the home of John Katz, 10, yesterday to check reports that he had caught a "five-foot" frog. John's mother, Mrs. Harry Katz, said the report was erroneous. Her son's catch, she said, was a five-footed frog, not a five-foot frog.

Spread of Rain Fills Two Slices of U.S. Sunshine

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather today shaped up like a sandwich of two thin slices of sunshine filled with a gargantuan spread of rain.

Sunny skies were in store for Pacific and Atlantic coastal regions.

The vast area between found the weather menu confined largely to rain, showers, thunderstorms, cloudy skies and below season temperatures.

A shipment of cool Canadian air entered the plains region and was expected to keep temperatures from making any significant rises. However, the outlook was for some warming in the area from the lower Great Lakes and Ohio Valley into much of New England.

There were storms aplenty Wednesday night, from the Rockies eastward to southern New England and into North Carolina and Virginia.

The whirling funnels of tornadic winds were seen in Lenora and Hill City, Kan., and near the central border sections of North Carolina and Virginia.

Philippine President Winds Up Aid Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia winds up his drive for major U. S. economic help today, hopeful some agreements will be reached.

The third day of his state visit includes a speech to the National Press Club and talks with Secretary of State Dulles and congressional leaders.

Tonight President and Mrs. Garcia will give a farewell state dinner at the Philippine Embassy for President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Both Philippine and American financial experts were working on details of a program for Philippine economic development. Garcia has labeled the program urgent and imperative.

A formal statement is to be issued tomorrow.

Shown in Press Tour of Firm's New Glass Plant

Windshields on New Fords to Wander

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Windshields that sweep around the sides and into the roof will be a styling feature of Ford Motor Co.'s 1959 cars.

This was disclosed Wednesday at the company's new safety glass plant here as representatives of newspapers, radio and television stations and industrial publications were shown the largest complete glass-producing facility under one roof.

The plant, completed last fall, has capacity to produce about 400 tons of plate and sheet glass daily.

It processes glass into more than 40 shapes and sizes for use in Ford, Edsel and Mercury passenger cars and Ford trucks.

Irving A. Duffy, company vice president, showed newsmen the compound-curved windshields which will be used in 1959 Mercury cars. They are 61 per cent larger than those used in the 1958 models.

Duffy said also that the glass area in the 1959 Ford windshield will be increased 277.9 inches over the current model and that the rear glass area in forthcoming Ford station wagon models will be increased 285.8 square inches.

Duffy said also that studies are being made with a process for making tinted glass by using colored vinyl as the middle layer of laminated safety glass.

Also being tested, he said, is a vinyl containing an ultra-violet absorber to reduce sun rays which cause upholstery to fade.

Wasting Time Costly to Spain

Lack of Punctuality Adds to Yearly Loss of $900 Million

MADRID (UPI) — To fix an appointment with a Spaniard is a very hard job.

"We can meet tomorrow at the cafe after lunch," the Spaniard might say.

Then, if you try to set the exact time, he might add: "Well, let's say between 3:30 and 4, or maybe quarter past four."

"All right, let's say at 4 p.m."

But then, when you arrive in the cafe, you have time to order your coffee, drink it and smoke a cigar before the Spaniard would arrive, for you could be pretty sure he would never arrive before 4:30.

This practice applies not only to personal and private engagements, but to business and official appointments as well.

EVERYBODY WAITS

So it is quite common to see 10, 15 or more persons sitting for hours, waiting to be received. An hour's wait is the average if the person you want to see is not a too important one. But three or four hours waiting does not surprise anybody accustomed to dealing with really important Spaniards. Sometimes, you have to wait for days, weeks or even months just to get the appointment.

The result of all this waste of time does not do the country any good, according to statistics.

The Spanish magazine SP said recently that lack of punctuality of Spaniards costs the country some 43 billion pesetas yearly (about $900 million).

"Twelve million working - hours are daily lost by Spaniards because of their unpunctuality," the magazine reported. "Since the average wage per working-hour is 10 pesetas this means that 120 million pesetas are lost daily."

The magazine arrived at the conclusion that most of the economic problems of Spain come from this waste of time.

Pacific Travel Booms

LOS ANGELES—Pleasure travel to the Pacific Ocean area has been increasing by about 30 per cent a year in recent years. In 1952 the whole area drew 100,000 tourists from all over the world. Last year nearly 300,000 Americans alone traveled in the Pacific — almost half as many as went to Europe—and spent approximately $160,000,000.

His Conscience Puts the Brakes on Bank Holdup

DETROIT (AP) —Young Thomas E. Davis wrestled with his conscience yesterday. His conscience won. The 21-year-old Jacksboro, Tex., native now faces a charge of attempted bank robbery.

Davis, worried over a debt, held up a bank on impulse, police said, but threw his $1,000 loot on the floor saying "I can't do it. I can't do it." Then he fled only to be quickly captured.

U.S. Dist. Court ordered him held in $50,000 bond for examination July 8.

At a branch of the National Bank of Detroit, Davis handed Mrs. Alma J. Hadley, 39, a teller, a note threatening her life unless she gave him money.

Mrs. Hadley was counting $20 bills. She gave him a batch. Their eyes met. Then she said he threw the money to the floor and ran out. Police caught him a few blocks away.

Davis, discharged from the Army last February, said he wanted money to pay college bills and for a trip to Texas with his wife, Coe, 21. Mrs. Davis is a recent University of Michigan graduate.

No Speedup Signs in Auto Negotiations

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto contract negotiations today showed no signs of speeding up despite Walter P. Reuther's prediction contracts will be signed peaceably before 1959 models roll.

The UAW president made his prediction in New York at an AFL-CIO conference but negotiators reported nothing new after brief meetings at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler yesterday.

They met again today at 9:30 a.m. at GM, 10 a.m. at Ford and 1:30 p.m. at Chrysler.

A half-million auto workers at the big three firms have been working without contracts since May 29-June 1.

When the old contracts ran out, the companies were offering two-year extensions and the union was demanding improvements chiefly in the field of unemployment benefits, pensions and job security.

Floods Ravage Indiana, Illinois

Wabash Swirls Across Thousands of Acres, Threatens Vincennes

VINCENNES, Ind. (UPI) — The crest of the flooded Wabash river swirled towards this city today leaving in its wake thousands of acres of inundated Indiana and Illinois farmland.

Farmers downstream to the south worked around the clock to reap an early wheat harvest before the rapidly rising river overflowed into their fields.

Vincennes residents put their faith in the city's massive flood walls which have held back surging Wabash waters as high as 13 feet above flood stage.

Floodworkers across the river in Illinois joined in the bolding operation. Mount Carmel, Palestine and Russellville all faced flood threats. The river was four feet above flood stage at Mount Carmel and still rising, while the river had risen to within 15 inches of the top of the levee.

Five major breaks were reported in the 60-mile span between Terre Haute, Ind., and Vincennes, with the first and most disastrous flooding 40 per cent of West Terre Haute.

Other breakthroughs were reported along the line at Emison, Prairieton and Oakton, chasing at least 35 families from their homes.

National Guardsmen and Civil Defense volunteers worked both sides of the river.

In Washington, the Small Business Administration declared 11 Indiana counties as disaster areas following the 11-day floods that left at least 700,000 acres of rich farm country awash.

Her Pet Rat Dies, She Stuffs It for Hobby

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Judie DeGroote isn't a bit squeamish about her hobbies — raising white rats and taxidermy.

The 16-year-old ventured into the world of natural science last fall when she obtained two albino rats —one male and one female.

When one of the baby rats died, she consulted a couple of books on taxidermy and stuffed it. When she stumbled on a dead screech owl she prepared it and entered it in the DeKalb science fair.

Faeroe Islands Steam Ahead

Hardy Populace Now Sells Products Abroad, Adopts Modern Ways

WASHINGTON — The Faeroe Islands jut from the North Atlantic like a convoy of immovable ships, but are steaming full speed into the 20th century.

Once the hardy islanders fed on wild birds and passing whales, took small catches of fish in shallow waters, and worked hard-scrabble farms.

Now commercial deep-sea fishing and the sale of the products abroad have developed a new money economy, the National Geographic Society reports. New and larger trawlers are found in the Faeroese fjords. Electricity lights homes that once consisted chiefly of a family roykstova or smoke room. This communal room held an open fire with only a hole in the roof to let out the smoke.

Although modern ways are taking hold, some customs date from about A.D. 1000 when Vikings settled the islands: Ancestral language and folkways that have been forgotten in Scandinavia flourish on the Faeroes.

The chain includes 17 inhabited islands and sundry islets and rocks. They are an above-water section of the submarine ridge that runs between Iceland and Scotland, separating the Atlantic and the Arctic Ocean basins. Although they are 675 miles from the Danish mainland, the Faeroes are a self-governing province of Denmark.

Approaching from the west, a visitor sees sheer cliffs towering above the water as much as 2,000 feet. Smashing, flailing surf is grinding the cliffs away. Much land has disappeared in the memory of living men, leaving an area of about 540 square miles.

The warm North Atlantic Current, a branch of the Gulf Stream, moderates the harsh climate of the high latitudes, and makes it possible for islanders to raise sheep and some vegetable crops on the small patches of rocky farmland.

Pontiac Man Arrested, Charged With Larceny

An employe of Acme Fast Freight, 40 Jackson St., was arrested yesterday by the FBI and charged with larceny from an interstate shipment.

Pontiac detectives had arrested Harry Young, 44, of 27 Whittemore St., for allegedly stealing several electric fans from the firm and then reporting that burglars had taken them.

When the firm declined to prosecute Young locally, he was turned over to the federal agents.

Seaway Tolls Agreed Upon

U.S., Canadian Groups Announce Proposals to Both Governments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed tolls for ships using the St. Lawrence Seaway, opening next April, were made public today.

The proposals, said the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., may form the basis of recommendations that it will submit for approval by the U.S. government.

Similar action, the corporation said, will be taken by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada. The two agencies are constructing and will administer the operation of the 27-foot-deep international waterway.

The recommendations made public today were submitted to the two agencies by the U.S. and Canadian tolls committees. The two, the corporation said, are in complete agreement.

Main features of the proposed toll structure are:

For each passage through the entire seaway — Montreal to Lake Erie — vessels will be charged six cents for each gross registered ton of the ship; and, in addition, 42 cents a ton for bulk cargo and 95 cents a ton for general cargo.

(Bulk cargo includes such commodities as grain and grain products loose or in sack, ores and minerals, liquids in ships' tanks, plupwood, poles and logs, woodpulp, waste paper, iron and steel, scrap and pig iron. Domestic package freight of each country will also take the bulk cargo rate.

"All commodities not included in the definition of bulk cargo will be classified as general cargo).

For each passage, Montreal to or from Lake Ontario only, ships will be charged four cents for each gross registered ton of the ship; and, in addition, 40 cents a ton for bulk cargo and 90 cents a ton for general cargo.

Final '57-'58 School Aid Sent Out by Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski says the last school aid payment of the 1957-58 fiscal year—$25,439,000—is on its way to school districts through the state.

The payment was delayed from May 15 because of a fund shortage in the state treasury.

Szymanski said $231,057,088 in state-collected taxes was distributed to schools through the fiscal year. The total included $180,578,000 in school aid and $50,478,000 in primary school interest funds.

Hal Boyle Says:

Sophia Shows America an Unfrozen Face

NEW YORK (AP)—Many lifelong scholars of the great American frozen female face have thought it could be improved.

STARR AND CAST — Song stress Kay Starr shows the audience her "supporting cast" while performing at the Sahara night club in Las Vegas. It was the first stage appearance for Kay since she fractured her leg in a skiing mishap several months ago. She'll be wearing the cast for another two months. Meanwhile: the show goes on.

Their varying approach to the problem probably measures their age and optimism.

Being older and perhaps therefore more cynical, I leaned to the theory that it was better to get along with life than fight it—and I came to accept the great American frozen female face as inevitable.

I came to feel it was natural to shake womanhood by her lifted nose rather than her withheld hand.

American girls!

Then I met Sophia Loren. A living bonfire. A tawny surprise. A girl with an unfrozen face, a tall-stemmed girl. As she walked away with a rearward muscular schizephrenia, some muscles went clockwise, some counter-clockwise.

A male human heart could only extend sympathy to her in her handicap.

Her walk, though, had a mixture of cruelness and kindness—half-panther, half-gazelle. It was all the are of Italy, ambulant.

She had the presence and security of a sunrise. Her expression from moment to moment was a race of rainbows.

"I am still young," she said. "Life is always exciting to me. I am never bored.

"I have worked since I was 15. I have worked hard. I have made 26 pictures.

"I don't know what it means to have a holiday. I don't know whether I want one. But yes, now that I am married, I want a holiday."

Unlike most American women, whose conduct is ruled strictly from a cerebral level (as every feller knows), Sophia moves as the amoeba does.

"I never took a lesson in acting," she said. "I am very instinctive.

"If I feel something, I can do it. If I don't feel it, it is very difficult for me.

"But everything is still new to me. It is nice when you can learn something new every day. I have just started life. I haven't lived yet."

As she talked, Sophia ripped fragments of bread with long slender fingers and stoked herself with them, these crusts of familiarity in the hour with the stranger.

"I eat everything and anything," she said. "But the only American food I like is cottage cheese and fruit salad."

The only thing she admits to hating in her life is to be an amateur.

"Nothing bores me. Acting is an excitement to me. I want to do more, not because of ambition, but because it is a pleasure to me, a release," she said.

Her honey-warm eyes widened. There was this sudden indefinite feeling, the eternal tug of awe and surrender that a man feels in facing a leopard, a leopard suddenly intellectual and without claws.

There is something vital and alive and warm and human and near about the face of Sophia Loren.

And there is only one difference between it and the great set frozen American female face you can see every day on any street.

Indulge in Strawberries Now

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Those beautiful, delicious scarlet berries are back! June would be worth waiting for if it were famous only for strawberries (June brides will probably disagree!). The local berries are now appearing and it's time to plan lots of strawberry dishes.

Topping them all is probably strawberry shortcake. It is a typically American dish. We were reminded of that recently when we entertained a school friend of Miss Teenager, an exchange student from England.

Last fall, the first time Elizabeth came to our house, we fed her strawberry shortcake with frozen berries. She loved it, so we repeated the dessert, this time with berries from our patch. She said she never had any dish like it at home.

When Miss Teenager asked her if they didn't have baking powder biscuits in England, we really got into a tangle. As you know, biscuits in England are cookies to us. Well, it all ended with our giving Elizabeth an American cookbook to take home with the recipe for strawberry shortcake plainly marked.

Old-Fashioned Shortcake

4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
⅔ cup butter or margarine
2 large eggs, beaten
1 cup milk (about)
3 pints fresh strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 pint heavy cream, whipped

Sift the first 4 ingredients together into a mixing bowl. Add butter or margarine and cut it in with a pastry blender or two knives until the mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Pour beaten eggs into a measuring cup, add milk to make 1½ cups. Gradually stir into the flour mixture.

Knead about 20 seconds on a lightly floured board. Pat dough in 3 greased, round, 9-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a preheated very hot oven 450 degrees) 15 minutes or until done. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire racks to finish cooling.

Wash, remove caps from strawberries and slice, saving 3 or 4 whole berries to garnish center top of cake. Mix with the ½ cup sugar and let stand 30 minutes. Spread whipped cream and sliced berries between layers and over the top.

Garnish with whole uncapped berries saved for that purpose. Let stand about 20 minutes before serving. Cut into wedges. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

For a fancy party dessert make a strawberry flavored cheese pie. This will have the consistency of cheese cake and will be a beautiful pink.

Strawberry Cheese Cake Pie

1 9-inch pie shell
4 3-ounce packages cream cheese
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup drained fresh or frozen strawberries
12 whole strawberries
1 cup cultured sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 14-inch square quilted broiling foil

Roll out dough for pie shell on a 14-inch square of heavy-weight quilted broiling foil. Lift dough with foil attached and place in 9-inch pie pan. Trim foil into circle around pastry leaving an extra inch to protect the filling while baking and to give a dressed up party look.

Whip cream cheese until soft. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff, and gradually beat in ½ cup sugar. Fold in ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup strawberries and whipped cream cheese.

Pour into pie shell and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes. Combine sour cream, 2 tablespoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Spread over top of cake. Return to oven and bake at 475 degrees for 5 minutes.

To dress the cake up, decorate the top with fresh strawberries either whole or sliced in half.

If you like clear jelly to serve during the winter, make up a batch of strawberry jelly. With powdered pectin it's amazingly easy to do.

Crush 2½ quarts fresh strawberries and put through a jelly bag, to squeeze out all the juice. There should be about 3½ cups juice. (Squeeze out again, adding a little water to the pulp, if more juice is necessary.) Mix a 2½-ounce package powdered pectin with juice and bring to a rapid boil.

Add dash salt, 5 cups sugar and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim off foam. Pour into hot, sterilized jars, leaving ½-inch headroom. Seal. Makes 6½ pints.

OLD-FASHIONED STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE—Summertime means strawberries always and all ways—but especially in strawberry shortcake. This old-fashioned shortcake heaps the luscious red berries on and between layers of golden browned biscuit-dough crust and leaves them with whipped cream.

Hash Circles Go With Stuffed Tomatoes

It's not quite possible yet to bring forth a fine meal with the wave of a wand, but with careful planning you can turn out a delicious dinner in a half hour's time.

Canned Corned Beef Hash is the perfect answer to hurry-up meals, and has a special place in spring's easy living pattern. Quick as a flash, it can be turned into satisfying eating, whether for a picnic style supper on the patio or company dinner when unexpected guests arrive.

Time-saving Corned Beef Hash is not only delicious to eat, it is easy on the food budget as well; for there is absolutely no waste. Made from lean corned beef blended with chopped firm potatoes and seasonings, corned beef hash is nutritious and versatile, too.

Pan-fry hash circles and top with poached eggs, or bake individual casseroles of Corned Beef Hash centered with deviled egg halves. For an extra-quick meal, pan-fry hash slices and add a canned green vegetable (drained) to the skillet for the last few minutes of cooking time. Top each hash slice with prepared mustard and pickle relish.

Remove Corned Beef Hash from the can the easy way — open both ends of the can and remove the circles of tim. Push contents out whole onto a cutting board. Cut the hash into slices.

For an oven-easy meal, serve Corned Beef Hash with fresh tomatoes, stuffed with corn, cucumber salad with sour cream dressing bread stocks, fresh fruit and coffee.

Corned Beef Hash and Stuffed Tomatoes

2 (1-pound) cans corned beef hash
6 firm, medium-sized tomatoes, unpeeled
1 cup whole kernel corn
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Open both ends of the cans of corned beef hash and slide contents out whole. Cut each into 3 slices. Place slices in shallow baking dish, top with butter, and bake in a 375 degrees oven for 20 minutes.

To make the stuffed tomatoes, cut a slice from top of tomato and scoop out centers. Combine corn, green pepper, butter and seasonings. Fill tomatoes with corn mixture and bake with hash slices. Makes 6 servings.

Cheeseburger Mix Stuffs Hard Rolls

Here's a king-size idea for Dad, if he's the outdoor cook of the family. It's suggested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for summer time, but it will make mouths water any month of the year.

It's called French Cheeseburger. Slice a French hard roll lengthwise, and spread both sides of each slice with processed cheddar cheese. Brown some loose hamburger in a frying pan and add some sliced green onions and other flavorings, such as salt, pepper, and possibly some sauteed mushrooms.

Spread this mixture on one slice of each roll, put the other slice on top, and then wrap each roll tightly in aluminum foil. Place the wrapped sandwiches over hot coals for about 15 minutes and serve immediately.

For indoor cooking and eating, you can omit the aluminum foil and bake in a 450 degree oven for about five minutes.

It's a Whole Meal

Bake fish fillets or steaks on an oven-proof platter, basting with butter or margarine. Then swirl an edging of mashed potato around them and brown under the broiler. Drained cooked green peas may then be added to the platter, along with lemon wedges, and you'll have a main course in one dish.

Lemon Top Rolls Cluster Baked

Lemon Drop Rolls served with tea make for a pleasant spring afternoon interlude:

Lemon Drop Rolls

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2½ cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg

Lemon Sugar

1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup sugar

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup flour. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and, let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). Punch down. Let rest 10 minutes.

Divide dough into 4 equal parts. Roll each part under palms of hands to form long smooth rolls about ¾ inch thick. With scissors, cut in pieces about ¾ inch long. Shape pieces into balls and roll in Lemon Sugar. Place 5 pieces in well-greased muffin pans.

Sprinkle remaining Lemon Sugar over tops of rolls. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes. Makes about 2 dozen 2½-inch rolls.

Creamy Cake Topping

For a new topping on chocolate cup cakes, try putting two marshmallows, cut in half, on top of each cake. Set under the broiler, using low heat, until the marshmallows are puffy and golden-brown and serve while still warm.

Pin Party Food Hopes on Clothespin Scrolls

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Want to have some fun? Make up a batch of our yeast dough and get yourself some clean non-spring clothespins. Wind strips of the rolled-out dough around the pins and bake.

Pull the pins out and fill the "scrolls" with a savory cheese mixture, then reheat and serve with tomato juice or some other cold drink for an unusual party snack.

We kept some of these scrolls in a tightly-covered container for about a week, and although they hardened we filled them with the cheese mixture and heated them. We liked them just as well then as we did when they were fresh because they were so crisp.

Clothespin Scrolls

¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons salt
4½ teaspoons shortening
¾ cup warm (near 105 degrees) water
1 package active dry yeast
4½ (about) cups sifted flour

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture.

Stir in about half the flour; with spoon, beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic.

Place in greased bowl; brush top of dough with shortening. Cover with clean towel; let rise in warm place (about 85 degrees) free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1 hour. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board.

Roll dough to ¼-inch thickness. Cut in strips 1/3 inch by 6 inches. Wind each strip around a greased wooden non-spring clothespin (round or square).

Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 12 minutes. Pull out clothespins gently. Makes about 60 scrolls.

Foil Wrapped Steak Layered With Soup Mix

Here is the easiest Swiss Steak in the world. It has been carefully worked out by the home economists of a test kitchen and makes use of aluminum foil and dehydrated onion soup mix. The results are so delicious and the made-in-the-package sauce so flavorful, it will surely evoke lip-smacking appreciation from hungry husbands and families.

All you do —

Dot the center of 2½ feet of heavy duty aluminum foil with 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Shake half the contents of 1 envelope onion soup mix on the foil. (Use the soup mix dry and mix the ingredients so the concentrated bouillon and dehydrated vegetables will be evenly blended.)

Over this place 1½ pounds chuck steak, without bone, cut 1 inch thick. Top steak with remaining soup mix and 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add ½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced around steak.

Bring foil up over meat and double fold edges to seal tightly. Place in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 1 hour.

Old-Fashioned Tipsy Cake Ideal Summer Dessert

The time-honored Tipsy-Cake—which has enlivened the atmosphere of many antimacassared parlors—becomes as modern as remote-control TV in this new version called "Tipsy-Trifle."

It's a colorful and different summer-time dessert which combines fresh fruits, sponge cake and delicately flavored custard.

The heart of the dessert is the base. Prepare the soft custard in advance and then add sufficient rum or sherry or flavoring extracts of these to taste. (If children are to be served, vanilla or lemon extracts may be substituted:)

Make finger sandwiches of sponge cake and jelly or preserves and arrange around the sides and bottom of dessert dishes. In the center, sliced fresh strawberries are added. Pour in the "fortified" custard base. As simple as that!

It's an unusual dessert, colorful, individual and delicious . . . a winner's choice for summer meals. It can and should be prepared several hours in advance of service to blend the flavors . . . refrigerated, of course.

Tipsy-Trifle

Soft Custard:
6 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons all-purpose flour
2 cups scalded milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ cup rum or sherry (optional)
Sponge Cake — 12 thin slices cut scant ½-inch thick
⅓ to ½ cup jelly or preserves
1 cup strawberries, sliced and lightly sweetened
6 whole berries for garnish

Prepare Custard: Beat egg yolks, sugar, salt and flour to blend thoroughly. Pour scalded milk slowly into this mixture, stirring constantly. Set over simmering water in double boiler. (Water should not touch upper pan holding custard mixture.) Or, cook over low heat in a heavy saucepan.

Stir constantly until mixture coats spoon thinly. Cool quickly by pouring custard into chilled bowl and place in refrigerator or set pan with custard into pan of cold water. (Immediate cooling of the custard is important to prevent curdling.) After custard is cool, blend in vanilla, and sherry or rum, if used.

Prepare Tipsy-Trifle: Prepare 6 sponge cake sandwiches using 2 slices of cake and about 1 tablespoon jelly or preserves for the filling. Cut each sandwich into ¾-inch strips.

Prepare each Tipsy-Trifle serving as follows: Place into each dessert dish a layer of the sliced strawberries and sandwich strips around sides and over strawberry layer. Fill dishes (about half full) with the custard. Let stand about 10 minutes to allow some of the custard to be absorbed by the cake. Then add remaining custard and if desired, any remaining strawberries.

Chill several hours or overnight. Garnish each serving with strawberries reserved for this purpose. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet Sour Veal Cutlets Served over Hot Rice

Perhaps last winter Breaded Veal Cutlet was one of your favorite main courses. But come spring with its more plentiful supplies of veal, you may welcome this recipe. It's borrowed from the Chinese cuisine and is as colorful and refreshing as spring itself.

Combine both fruit and fresh vegetables with the meat and it needs only hot pre-cooked packaged rice as an accompaniment. Try it once on your family, then use it also as a company main course. To make last minute preparation simple, you can cut the vegetables and drain the fruit ahead of time.

Veal Cutlets Sweet and Pungent
4 veal cutlets, ½ inch thick, about 1¼ pounds
2 teaspoons kitched bouquet
1 tablespoon fat
8-ounce can pineapple tidbits
¾ cup pineapple syrup and water
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup raw carrot, sliced on diagonal
1 green pepper, ¾-inch cubes
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup cold water

Have butcher cut 4 boneless veal cutlets about 1/3 inch thick. Brush on both sides with kitchen bouquet. Melt fat in skillet over moderate heat and brown cutlets.

Drain pineapple syrup into 1-cup measure and add enough water to make ¾ cup. Add pineapple syrup, vinegar, bouillon cube, brown sugar, mustard and ginger to skillet. Bring to boil and cook, covered, about 20 minutes. Add sliced carrot and cook 10 minutes longer.

Add pineapple tidbits and green pepper, cover and heat thoroughly, about 5 minutes. Combine cornstarch and cold water and stir into contents of skillet. Bring to boil, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Serve immediately with hot pre-cooked packaged rice. Makes 4 servings.

Cream Dresses Lettuce Salad

Just as a good musician must double on several instruments . . . a lemon doubles in varied uses around the kitchen. In this Farmers' Style Lettuce Salad, the fresh lemon juice picks up and enhances the flavor of all the other ingredients, giving it that "just right touch."

Celery seed is the surprise taste teaser; cheddar cheese cut shoestring style makes it hearty enough for a luncheon salad.

To add a dash of the unusual to a tossed salad, give yourself a free hand in choosing the greens. Contrast the lettuce leaves with some curly endive, red leaf or Boston lettuce. Add snips of perky-flavored parsley or water cress, and thinly sliced green onions . . . now you've got a salad!

Farmers' Style Lettuce Salad
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
½ cup light cream or milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon celery seed
1 medium head iceberg lettuce or other greens (3 quarts)
⅓ cup sliced green onions
6 ounces cheddar cheese, cut shoestring style or cubed
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
Freshly ground black pepper, to taste

Combine fresh lemon juice, sugar, cream, salt and celery seed in salad bowl. To this dressing add lettuce torn into fork-size pieces, sliced onions, cheddar cheese and chopped parsley; toss salad lightly. Grind black pepper over all. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

TABASCO KABOBS — Cubes of meat, tomato, onion and green pepper, flavored in a Tabasco marinade, are delicious when threaded on skewers and broiled.

Hearty Kabobs Excellent Cooked on Outdoor Fire

One of the most delightful influences on our modern American cuisine is skewer cookery which originated in the Near East. On swords or lightweight fancy skewers, food broiled over an open fire is incomparable in flavor. Table-size braziers or grills are particularly useful for this purpose and it is fun to thread the skewers and tend to the cooking yourself.

Beef or lamb cubes are delicious prepared this way but because the method of cooking is so fast it is best to marinate the meat beforehand to be sure it's tender and flavorful. Oil and vinegar are the basic marinade ingredients although wine, beer, or lime juice are popular substitutes for vinegar.

The marinade must be well-seasoned and a liquid pepper, such as Tabasco, is ideal because it blends smoothly with the other ingredients, leaving no unseasoned areas. Tabasco, an American product, is now internationally famous so we have returned a favor to our foreign friends who have taught us so much about fine food.

For fun and good eating, alternate cubes of meat, onions, green pepper and tomato. Here's how to prepare and cook kabobs.

Tabasco Kabobs
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup lime or lemon juice
¼ cup red wine, optional
1 tablespoon onion juice
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon basil
2 pounds boneless lamb shoulder or beef chuck, cut in 1½ inch cubes
1 green pepper, cut in 1-inch pieces
3 tomatoes quartered
12 small whole onions

Blend Tabasco, salad oil, lime juice, wine and onion juice in bowl. Add dry mustard, salt and basil. Add meat cubes. If chuck is used, sprinkle with unseasoned meat tenderizer according to label directions. Let stand 5 hours or overnight.

Alternate meat and vegetables on skewers. Place in pre-heated broiler or on grill about 4 inches from heat. Broil approximately 10 minutes on each side. Yield: 6 servings.

Thinly Sliced Loaf Stars at Supper

A savory tasting meat loaf that is delicious cold.

Cold Beef and Sausage Loaf
1 pound ground chuck beef
1 pound bulk sausage meat
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small onion (medium grated)
1 small garlic clove (crushed)
2 eggs
Paprika

Mix together thoroughly the beef, sausage, bread crumbs, pepper, onion, garlic, eggs and milk. Rinse a loaf pan (8¼ by 4½ by 2¾ inches) with cold water; pack meat into pan making sure there are no air spaces. Run spatula around edges; turn out on shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour; cool; remove loaf from pan with 2 wide spatulas; refrigerate in covered container overnight. Slice thin and serve cold. Usually sausage meat is salty enough without adding extra salt to this recipe.

And no wonder! Here's the only dessert with the magic rennet enzyme in it. It's a light, refreshing, milk dessert that's even easier to digest than milk itself—thanks to magic rennet. Comes in 7 delicious flavors that delight the young and old.

Sherried Mushrooms Add Zest to Chicken

Make a new house rule right now: Every two weeks you and your husband are entitled to have dinner alone! Feed the children at the regular hour, give your husband a small snack to tide him over, then disappear for a while to put on your best dress and all fresh makeup. Your return is the signal for the children to do a vanishing act. Explain to them that this is your "date night" and it can only be successful with their cooperation. They'll love the idea of Mom and Pop still having dates.

Here's a meal that looks and tastes as gourmet as can be, but in reality takes very little time or effort: Small broilers served with sherried canned mushrooms as your vegetable.

One of its beauties is that you can make a large batch of the mushrooms in advance, (adding the sherry later for yourselves) and for the children's meal mix in canned chickken. This way no one feels left out.

Sherried Mushrooms
1 cup minced onions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
⅓ cup juices drained from canned mushrooms
¼ cup sherry
1 bouillon cube
1 four-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained

In heavy skillet saute onions until golden, in butter or margarine. Stir in flour to make smooth paste. Cook until flour is tinged with brown. Combine mushroom liquid and sherry. Stir liquid and bouillon into flour mixture. Cook, stirring until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add mushrooms and heat through.

Have a tender broiler for each of you, cooked on the rotisserie, broiled or oven-roasted.

Hard Candies Used to Coat Popcorn

Candy's special when it's served as a dessert or refreshment. But, have you tried it as an ingredient —a special taste treat that makes other foods even better?

Here, for instance, is a recipe that uses hard butterscotch candies to make some of the most luscious candy-coated popcorn or popcorn balls you ever tasted!

Candy-Coated Popcorn

Melt 1 pound hard butterscotch candies and ½ cup butter in ½ cup water over low heat. Stir often. When the candy is melted, cook until sirup reaches light crack stage (280 to 290 degrees). Remove from heat and stir in ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Drizzle the sirup over 4 quarts heated, salted popcorn. Stir gently until corn is coated. The popcorn can also be shaped into balls.

Lime Gelatin Base of Sherbet

Limeade Sherbet
½ cup sugar
1 package lime flavored gelatin
2 cups hot water
6 oz. can frozen limeade (undiluted)
2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Add sugar and lime flavored gelatin to hot water and stir until dissolved. Cool slightly, then stir in frozen limeade, undiluted. Pour into trays and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator.

When mixture is partially frozen, turn into mixing bowl and break with fork. Whip with rotary beater, but do not let it reliquefy. Carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour back in trays and place in freezing compartment. To serve: Put scoops of sherbet on chopped ice. Serve with pineapple sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Baked Bean Sandwich

Hearty sandwiches: top buttered bread with canned baked beans and sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese. Criss-cross partially-cooked half-slices of bacon over the cheese and bake in a hot oven or broil.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Heel of Round.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is a boneless wedge-shaped cut from lower part of round and contains very little fat, except for a thin layer of fat on the face. It is the least tender cut of the round.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. Being less tender, it is cooked slowly by moist heat, namely braising. It also can be cooked in liquid. This meat cut requires 3½ to 4½ hours cooking time.

Fish Fondue Foolproof to Make, Delicious to Eat

Want a fondue recipe which is foolproof everytime you make it. This one fills the bill, and will become a family favorite.

Beat four egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat the egg yolks until thick. Combine yolks with one cup shredded cheese, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, one can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup, one cup flaked cooked lobster (5-ounce can drained) and two cups small bread cubes. Gently fold in egg whites. Bake in a 1½-quart serole in a slow oven (325 degrees) about one hour. Serve proudly to six.

Rib Sticking Soup Dotted With Franks

Yellow Split Pea Soup With Franks
1½ cups yellow split peas
Water
1 medium-sized onion (cut in thin strips)
1 carrot (sliced)
Leafy tops of 3 celery ribs (chopped)
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon peppercorns
2 whole cloves
2 whole allspice
1 bay leaf
½ pound frankfurters

Wash split peas in cold water and drain; cover with 1 quart cold water and soak overnight. Next day drain and add enough water to soaking liquid to make 1½ pints (6 cups).

Put water, split peas, onion, carrot, celery, salt, peppercorns, cloves, allspice and bay leaf in a kettle. Bring to a boil; simmer 1½ hours. Put through a food mill or press through strainer.

Slice frankfurters into rounds; add to soup. Simmer about 10 minutes to blend flavors and heat franks. Soup will be thin. If thicker soup is liked, refrigerate overnight and reheat next day. Makes 6 generous servings.

More salt may be needed but do not add until franks have been simmered in soup because they add seasoning.

MSG Increases Flavor of Meat Dish

You may be missing a whole new world of culinary adventure by confining your Oriental repertoire to a few old standbys like chow mein and chop suey which are not really authentic at all. It's not necessary to go to the extreme of sharks' fins, birds' nests or ancient eggs, but there are wonderful meat and vegetables combination dishes which are as pleasing to American palates as they are to our Far Eastern neighbors.

There are a few simple techniques in Oriental cookery such as cooking vegetables only briefly to the tender crisp stage, and incorporating them right into the main dish. But the big secret is flavor—delicate and perfectly balanced.

The key to this flavor blending is monosodium glutamate, which actually had its origins centuries ago in the Orient, where chefs avail themselves of the "magic white powder" to improve the flavor of their diet of rice and fish.

Today, this "magic white powder" is available right in our local supermarkets — we simply buy a package of MSG and shake it liberally on meat and vegetable dishes to bring out their full flavor.

Oriental Pepper Steak offers a real menu change, but it is simple, easy on the budget, and requires no treasure hunt to find the ingredients, since you can buy them all in your local food store. It's perfect top-of-the-range main dish to serve at your next summer buffet party. Team it with rice, a mixed green salad, hot rolls, pots of steaming tea and a fruit dessert.

Oriental Pepper Steak

1½ pounds beef (sirloin or rib) cut in thin strips
1½ teaspoons MSG, divided
¼ cup salad oil
1 cup bouillon
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon soy sauce
2 green peppers, cut into strips
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tomatoes, peeled and cut into wedges
2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons water

Sprinkle beef with 1 teaspoon of the MSG. Brown beef in hot oil in skillet. Add bouillon, sugar, ginger and soy sauce. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Add vegetables; sprinkle with remaining ½ teaspoon MSG, cook 5 minutes longer.

Combine cornstarch and water; stir until smooth. Gradually add to beef mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Serve with hot pre-cooked packaged rice. Yield: 6 servings.

Broil Mint Meringues to Accompany Lamb

As an unusual accompaniment for a leg of lamb roast, use mint meringue peaches. To prepare, beat 2 egg whites until stiff. Add ½ cup mint jelly and continue beating until well mixed.

Place a large spoonful of the mint meringue in each of 8 or 10 peach halves and place in the oven or under the broiler just long enough for the meringue to become lightly browned. Serve hot.

Overnight Stay in Refrigerator Betters Flavor

This main dish improves after a stay in the refrigerator.

More Beans Than Meat

1 pound (2 cups) red kidney beans
3 tablespoons fat
1 pound lean chuck beef (cubed)
2 medium-sized onions (chopped)
1 green pepper (chopped)
2 cloves garlic (crushed)
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
Salt, pepper
Chili powder
Sugar
Ground cumin (if desired)

Soak and cook beans (without salt) according to standard directions; reserve bean cooking liquid.

Melt fat in large skillet or Dutch oven; add beef, onion, green pepper and garlic; brown fast. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper, chili powder, sugar, cumin (if used) to taste. Simmer, covered, until beef is tender — about 1 hour.

Add drained beans and 1½ cups bean liquid or part water. Add more seasonings, if needed. Simmer ½ hour, uncovered and stirring gently several times.

Refrigerate overnight and reheat slowly, adding a little stock or water if necessary. Makes 6 to 8 servings. (We like at least 3 tablespoons chili powder added to the meat and beans for a somewhat "hot" flavor.)

Kitchen tongs are handy tools to use for turning broiled steaks and chops to prevent escape of meat juices.

Shrimp Triangles Good With Salad

Shrimp Toast

1 can (5 ounces) shrimp
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons catchup
½ teaspoon curry powder
Protein or gluten bread
Butter

Rinse shrimp in cold water and drain; mash fine with mayonnaise, lemon juice catsup and curry powder. (Makes about ¾ cup.) Toast bread lightly and butter generously; keep warm in low oven if necessary.

Cut toast into small triangles and spread with shrimp mixture. Serve at once.

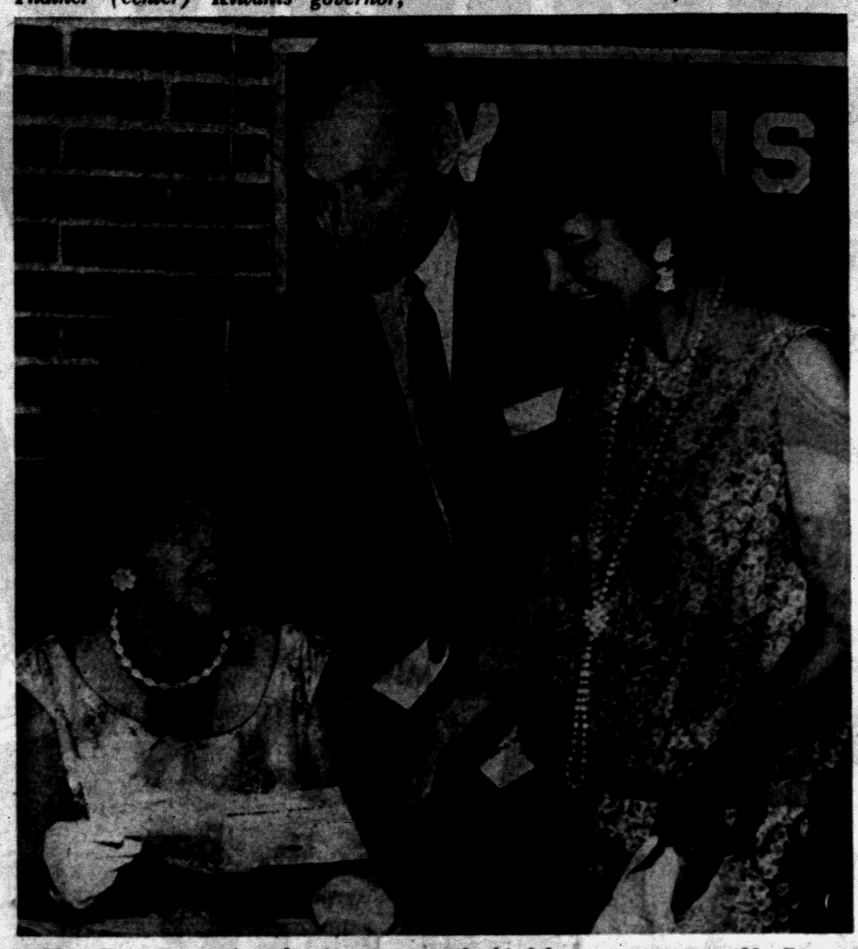
Kiwanis Holds Anniversary Party

Pontiac Press Photos

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Pontiac North celebrated their fourth annual birthday party at Edgewood Country Club Wednesday evening. Richard Mineweaser, cochairman for the affair, was on hand to greet Mrs. James Mann (left) and Mrs. William J. Dunseith as they arrived for the party.

A pin for four years of perfect attendance at Kiwanis meetings was presented to Bill McGlashen, president of the club, at Wednesday's party. R. F. Thalner (center) Kiwanis governor, offered remarks and presented the pins. Horace H. Hatfield, lieutenant governor of Division 5, looks on as Mr. McGlashen is honored.



Mrs. Tom Reese (standing) points out to Mrs. Richard Mineweaser that dancing will begin at 9 p.m. as the two are photographed while looking over the birthday party program. Mr. Reese, who also was cochairman of the event, joined the ladies.

No Need to Feel Hurt!

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it not bad manners for a gentleman to leave one lady in the party sitting alone at a restaurant table? The other evening my husband was dancing with an unescorted member of our group and there were several of our friends sitting with me when he left the table to dance. In a little while, however, these others drifted out on the dance floor and I found myself alone and felt like a "bump on a log."

Answer: Although it is true that those who dance last might — and even should — have waited for one couple to come back instead of leaving you alone, there is nothing unusual or conspicuous in the appearance of a woman sitting for a short while alone at a table. This should not have been embarrassing to you, unless the very few minutes turned into many.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it unsuitable to go on a public conveyance such as a train or bus, when dressed in evening clothes? My husband and I have been invited to a large evening wedding reception at a country club which is quite some distance from our house. We have no car and to taxi all the way out is more than our budget will allow."

Answer: Men and women dressed in evening clothes quite correctly take a public conveyance whenever they have no other way of getting to the party.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When eating prunes, should the fruit be cut from the pit in the dish or may the whole prune be taken into the mouth and then the pit removed to the saucer with the spoon?"

Answer: If the prune is enormous, then cut it in half and at the same time take the pit out. If the prune is fairly small, you can put it in your mouth and afterwards drop the pit into the spoon with which you are eating.

With Honorable Intentions—Abby

It Was Romance, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I'm 12 years old and want to ask you a question. A lady was standing in the park and a man came up to her and said, "You look so pretty I want to take your picture," and she let him. Then she had to give him her name and address so he could bring it over to her house when the picture came out, and that is how they fell in love and got married.

ABBY

"Abby, would you say that he picked her up or not? I have to know because this lady is my mother and the man is my father. Thank you."

JOY

DEAR JOY: I would say this was a very romantic chance meeting. Obviously his intentions were honorable — he married the girl!

"DEAR ABBY: How old is "too old" to learn? I am 38 and my children are practically grown and do not require the attention they did when they were little. I gave them all piano lessons but none of them cared enough to continue with the lessons.

"Now that I can afford lessons, have the time to practice and own a piano, do you think people would laugh at me if I started taking piano lessons? I have heard that after 30 it is very hard to learn anything. Please advise me before I make a fool of myself."

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Many adults begin music lessons in their 40's and even in their 50's. Don't you fret about a young 38. Get yourself lined up with a teacher and amaze (and entertain) your friends.

"DEAR ABBY: I dated a married man for six months and all of a sudden we found ourselves in love. We tried to stop seeing each other, but we always get back together again somehow. Now he says he wants to turn our love affair into a friendship, but it has gone too far. Can a love affair ever be turned into a friendship? If any of your readers know from experience, I wish they'd let me know."

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Many friendships have been turned into love affairs, but very few love affairs have ever turned into friendships. Love affairs breed familiarity—and familiarity breeds contempt.

"DEAR ABBY: I am not in the habit of writing to advice columns, but I have to write this letter. For my birthday, a friend of mine gave me your book, called Dear Abby. The last chapter, entitled "All Kidding Aside," hit me like a ton of bricks. If I had read that chapter six years ago, it could have saved my marriage."

C. W. D.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MY DREAMS ARE GETTING BETTER ALL THE TIME": I am not qualified to analyze dreams. If you want to know what they signify, see your friendly neighborhood psychiatrist.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FASHIONABLE": To each his own, but here is a little ditty I learned from my sainted grandmother:

ARE SHUNNED LIKE DISEASES.

Planning Trip to Orient

TOKYO (UPI) — Here's a tip that may save tourists in the mysterious Orient a lot of embarrassment:

Try doing things backwards.

Any Tokyo straphanger who has watched a tired old lady give her subway seat to a sturdy young boy will tell you this advice is sound.

LADIES LAST!

For example, nearly everybody is familiar with that old Asian Axiom, "ladies last."

Post-war constitutional changes are beginning to uproot the doctrine, but in tearooms from Taipeh to Tokyo you're still likely to see the lady help herself — and her boyfriend — on with their coats, then follow him out the door at a respectful distance.

Of course, everybody drives on the wrong side of the street — the left — in autos whose steering wheels somehow have crept over to the right side.

And when the sun shines brightest an umbrella is the thing as a parasol.

NAMES BACKWARD

When you introduce yourself, at least in Japan, it's Doe, John — not the other way around. Japanese use their last names first, and vcie versa.

When you want to call somebody over, don't swing your hand in towards your body. He'll think you're snubbing him. The proper method is to wave your hand violently at him as if you were shooing him off.

If you're going to wrap your auto around a telephone pole, by all means tell the judge you were blind drunk. You'll likely to go off scot-free, for Japanese law looks with beaming benevolence on those who have had one too many.

Farris-Cattell Wedding Solemnized in Hills Rite

Virginia Margaret Cattell and John Collins Farris were married Saturday morning at a Nuptial High Mass in St. Hugo of the Hills Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schafer of Rutherford road and Mr. and Mrs. Alec Farris of Birmingham.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Albert Cattell, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie. The princess style gown featured a chapel-length train. The bodice was of Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls.

Her fingertip veil of imported Venetian lace was held by a coronet headpiece and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white shattered carnations.

ATTEND BRIDE

Matron of honor was Mrs. Albert Cattell, sister-in-law of the bride, and bridesmaids were Colette and Linda Schafer, sisters of the bride. Cynthia Cattell, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The attendants wore cocktail-length gowns of satin embroidered cotton with modified bateau necklines and small sleeves. The maid of honor wore a yellow embroidered headband and the bridesmaids wore pink and blue headbands. They carried semi-cascades of Hibbard roses.

The flower girl wore a dress of white re-embroidered cotton with a small hat.

Best man was the bridegroom's uncle, John Murphy of Detroit. Ushers were Martin Behr of Birmingham, James Holden of West Bloomfield, Charles and Thomas Schafer, brothers of the bride, were junior ushers.

For the wedding, the bride's mother wore a blue brocade sheath dress with matching accessories and corsage of white shattered carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue voile full-skirted dress with satin accents on the bodice and matching accessories and a corsage of pink tea roses and white carnations.

A breakfast was held for members of the wedding party and relatives immediately following the ceremony at Devon Gables. A lawn reception for friends was held at the home of the bride in the afternoon.

Following a honeymoon in Bermuda, the couple will live in Birmingham.

BONNIE LOU BUTLER

A graduate of Eastern Michigan College, Bonnie Lou Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Butler of South Anderson street received a B.S. degree in education and a teachers certificate. She is a member of Sigma Nu Phi sorority.

PTA Honors Two

Honored at the Last Day Luncheon given by the PTA at Herrington School were Adeline Hook, supervising principal for the past year, and Delores West, fourth grade teacher who is leaving. Co-chairmen for the Thursday luncheon were Mrs. Fred Brom and Mrs. Howard Malwitz.

This Can Hurt

Sometimes an implied criticism hurts just as much as an outspoken one. For instance, the person who says, "You look a hundred per cent better with your hair short," isn't just telling you she likes your hair short. She is saying that you looked pretty awful with it long.

Yards of Sheer Fabrics Make Up Bridal Gowns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Brides of 1958 will float to the altar on yards and yards of sheer weightless fabrics — billowing lace, misty organza, frothy tulle.

Romantic designs in San Francisco shops emphasize dipping, trailing and draping hemlines, lower and more open necklines, and cap or elbow sleeves.

One full white organdy embroidered in tulips has a sweeping skirt with instep length in front that gradually lengthens to a short train in back. Another peacock train begins slender and fans out as it lengthens.

MANY BELL SKIRTS

Although most skirts are bell or dome shaped, there are some slim sheath lines — one with a bustle back.

For an informal wedding, one bridal consultant suggests a short lace sheath (to be worn alone later to parties) with full taffeta overskirt that ties with a bow in front. A short white veil covers the pillbox hat.

For the girl planning a second marriage, there is a chemise dress in fern green silk chiffon over taffeta. The slim silhouette is enhanced by two loose back panels from shoulder to hem. The tiny chapeau is covered with chiffon roses.

Give Up Snacks to Lose Weight

It is healthier to cut out between-meal snacks of gooey desserts than to stop eating meals when trying to lose or maintain weight. Teenagers, especially, need basic foods for future health and happiness.

To maintain energy between meals drink a glass of milk or fruit juice.

Eat adequate breakfast, lunch and dinner and avoid snacks.

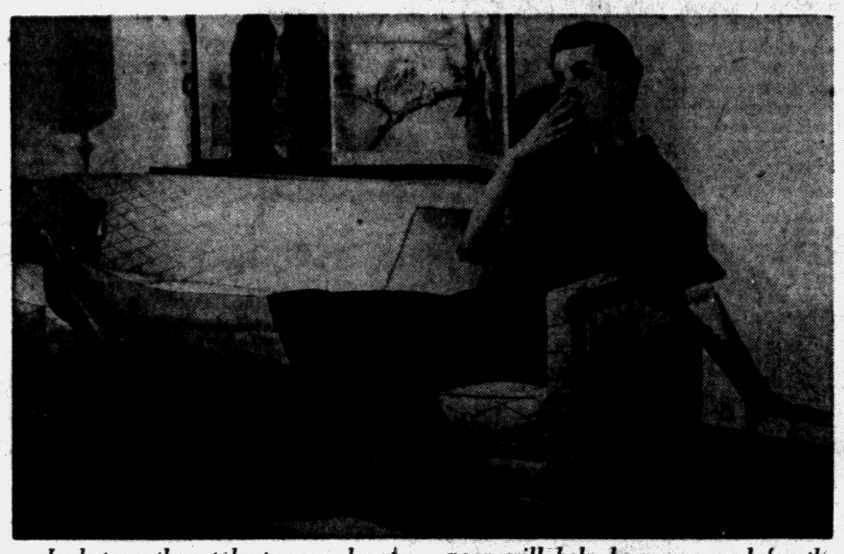
Really Let Down

Adopt Tropical Habits in Summer

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hot weather has varying effects on different people. It sends some of them scurrying for sunshine to roast to a deep tan while others hover in the shower or an air-conditioned room.

This is to some extent physiological. Some of us are constituted physically so that hot weather is a burden while others are miserable in cold weather. In some cases the reaction to heat or cold is so severe that it must be considered a health problem.



In hot weather, take to your heart the habit of the siesta. Relaxing at noon will help keep you cool for the rest of the day.

However, there is one thing most of us have in common. We all let down and move at a slower pace in warm weather. This is one of the advantages of summer. Even when we are not on vacation we are apt to walk more slowly, to get outdoors more and to live generally in a more relaxed manner.

In summer we should adopt the habits of those who are experts at beating the heat; those who live in the tropics. I lived there for three years a long time ago and have never forgotten the lessons I learned in cutting corners for comfort.

One of the things to remember is to do your shopping or errands early in the morning before the heat mounts. Also do the hard ground work of your household chores early in the day. Also indulge in any sport, unless it is swimming, early in the morning or in the late afternoon.

Take to your heart the habit of the siesta if it is possible for you. Draw the blinds, be comfortable, relax for a while. Dashing about in the middle of the day makes you hot for the rest of the day. Let the fans hum at noon.

It also helps a lot if we simplify housekeeping. Why not use paper napkins, paper hand towels and even paper cups and plates if you wish? Even if you are much more formal the rest of the year, "go native" for a few weeks.

We have outdone the tropics when it comes to comfortable summer clothing. With all of the play-clothes and the lightweight materials we have a great advantage. Stockings are the hottest things on earth, and white legs are the homeliest, in summertime. Use one of the leg make-ups when you do not wish to wear stockings and if you have not tanned your legs.

Of course I never have any trouble relaxing. I can relax all over the place, given half a chance, but summer is a good excuse. Don't miss it!

Raincoats Blossom Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — This year, the new rainwear looks as pretty as a posy. Flowers decorate the newest raincoats in all forms and colors. You can have pretty sprigs of pink blooming on the old-fashioned slicker, or all-over prints of such exotic blossoms as blue roses.

If you prefer to let nature handle the flowers, there are raincoats with stripes, raincoats with dots, and plain raincoats with fancy linings.

Umbrellas, too, are prettier. White umbrellas, plain or with black polka dots, are especially effective — they have the feminine air of a summer parasol. You can alos have floral umbrellas, plaids, prints and the usual solid colors — plain or decked with embroidery and scalloped edges.

One smart way to meet showers is with matching raincoat and umbrella. You can even have rainhats in the same fabric as raincoats; many are sold with the coats.

Dry Skin Requires Extra Lubrication

Dry skin requires more lubricating than any other type. It is well to leave a little cream on the face under the foundation when applying morning makeup.

However, avoid an oily look near the nostrils, chin and corner of the mouth by removing cream from these areas.

It's Not Smart!

For one woman to make a catty remark about another as soon as she leaves a group is not only unkind, it gives the other women present the uncomfortable conviction that, if they should leave, the same woman would have something critical to say of them.

Back View Is Important

The more backless fashions you wear, the more urgent it is to get yourself in good shape — in shape to turn your back on the man in your life, and let him enjoy the view.

A nice well-scrubbed back with clear skin and a healthy glow is soothing scenery.

The way to have a good-looking back is simply to scrub it — with generous warm soapsuds and a long-handled back brush. Daily scrubbing helps to make and keep the skin soft and smooth.

Find Time to Write

Don't tell yourself you haven't time to answer letters or write the thank-you notes you should. By using spare moments you can. So if you think you are too busy to write letters, keep writing material handy and when you have 5 or 10 minutes, write a letter.

Proves Useful Shirt Cardboard Around House

Household hints by the thousands come to Mrs. Homemaker's Forum, a non-profit organization that invites housewives to send them their best household ideas, which they discovered for themselves.

Every once in a while, numerous hints arrive on one subject. Recently, quite a few were received on finding different uses for the cardboard which comes with men's shirts when done by a commercial laundry.

Here are some of the ingenious ideas:

Cover cardboard with silver foil and use as a mat for hot dishes.

When driving a nail into the wall, to prevent hitting the thumb, put nail through cardboard first and hold cardboard while hammering.

On a rainy day, encourage children to paint on the cardboards. If dipped in a light solution of starch first and allowed to dry, it will make an ideal "canvas."

PROTECT THE FLOOR

When painting around the house, glue the paint can to a cardboard. Then when the brush drips, it will not go on the floor.

Wind scarves around cardboard when storing in drawer. They will lie smoother, and make for a neater drawer.

To keep children busy, have them cut out attractive pictures from magazines and paste them on cardboard. They can be used for placemats at the children's dinner table.

When painting moldings, place cardboard right above it to prevent splattering walls.

When packing for traveling, place neckties between two cardboards and fasten wih rubber band or paper clips. Ties will not be wrinkled at the end of the trip.

Swim 'n' Play Beach-Mates Are Style News

Easy-care fabrics in dressmaker swimsuits and beach costumes make practical pleated yokes on shirts, knife-pleated skirts on swimsuits.

Terry beach blotters take new shapes as they provide cover for swimsuits. Among them are elongated balloon shapes, chemise playsuits, over-blouses, street-length "sandwichboard" tunics and knee-length "beach nighties."

Playsuit plus swimsuit is a new beach duo—one-piece cotton swimsuit is veiled by a sheer cotton plaid chemise playsuit. New beachmates for sun and surf are terry cloth beach jackets with matching turbans. Bathing caps, color mated to elasticized swimsuits, are another expression.

Apron-length skirts are a new facet of the cotton swimsuit ensemble. Posed 5 inches above the knee, these unpressed pleated skirts tie in front or back and double for beach or patio.

This is a summer when the full figure can breathe more easily, look cooler and less revealing in the easier silhouette.

Ample proportions have always loomed larger in swimsuits that were skin-tight. To fool the eye, choose the new cover-up look that skips the waist and so does not outline the full figure too definitely.

Marilyn Anne Ashby of Auburn Heights acted as maid of honor.

Raymond E. Montry of Carleton was best man. Ushers were Leonard Biallas and Robert Biallas, uncles of the bride. Randy Biallas, the bride's cousin, was ringbearer.

At a reception held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Biallas of Dill drive, Mrs. Dean wore a dove blue silk dress with matching hat, white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Moses chose a navy linen dress with white accessories and matching hat, and wore pink roses.

The couple will live in Ypsilanti. The bride was an airline hostess before her marriage. The bridegroom attended the University of Toledo and Eastern Michigan College.

Oatmeal Fortifies Meat, Makes It Go Farther

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Meat loaf is such a wonderful way to make ground beef stretch to feed a number of people. When you add oatmeal to the mixture, you are adding good nutrition to your family's diet. Mrs. Thomas McPeters of Rochester believes in doing it that way.

As the mother of three small youngsters, including four-year-old twins, Mrs. McPeters has busy days. She is interested in interior decorating, loves to sew and dabbles in painting.

FORTIFIED MEAT LOAF

¾ cup rolled oats
1 cup condensed tomato soup
1 small onion, minced
1 egg
Salt and pepper

Mix all together and press into loaf shape. Cover top with catsup. Bake one hour at 350 degrees. Serves four to six.

Flower Hat Conceals Hair, Puts Focus on Eye-Allure

NEW YORK (UPI)—The latest thing to put on your head this season is a "cap of cowslips."

No moo, ma'am. Just the name Sally Victor has given her newest wig-type hat.

It's a close fitting, hair-hiding cap of pretty fabric flowers shaped like cowslips (which are something like primroses). Mrs. Victor makes it in shades of white, pink, pale blue, yellow and rose.

She's also making "wigs" of other field flowers—everything from asters to daisies to forget-me-nots.

"If you cover the head from the hairline to the tips of the earlobes," says the noted milliner, "it emphasizes the face and eyes."

The focus on eyes also is responsible for what Mrs. Victor calls her "mysterious mist" hats. These are black evening concoctions of veiling and sheers that make a girl look like two big eyes peeping out of a dark fog. All are gauzy— "for romance" — and big—"for mystery." Some use as much as 30 yards of veiling piled into a hair-concealing mass.

A grizzly bear rarely attacks a human being unless surprised or molested.

She'll Vie for Title of Will-Power Queen

Mrs. Archie Hunt will be entered in the Queen of the Will Power Contest to be held June 26.

She is the choice of the Pontiac Fashion Your Figure Club, based on weight loss, appearance and attendance since Jan. 7.

Teenage Girls Scuttle Dating Traditions

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

When it comes to landing a steady, a sizeable proportion of young American females is all for chucking traditional feminine wiles into the ash can.

These modern girls prefer a more direct "me Jane, you Tarzan" type of approach.

For a long, long time, it has been an accepted standard of romance that the boy must take the initiative. When it came question-popping time, he did the popping.

The shy old-fashioned girl, if she were anxious, might lead him in some devious way to get on with it. But she would never think of asking the question herself.

GALS TAKE INITIATIVE

Today, many girls think the old-fashioned question-popping method unsound in the 20th Century, and some of the fellows agree.

A full 20 per cent of the 682 teenagers we questioned about the matter felt it quite all right for a girl to ask a boy to go steady.

More girls (24 per cent) than boys (16 per cent) felt this way. Still, only 4 per cent of the girls had acted on their convictions.

These figures may not seem too imposing, but when one considers the many barriers of custom, reserve and established standards of good breeding, they are significant.

Is this the whisking away of a false and arbitrary standard which deserved to go, or is it evidence of some greater change in the personality of our young women?

'CAN'T WAIT FOREVER'

Lisa Skelly, 17, of San Antonio, Tex., voiced a modern version of an opinion shared by women down through the ages—the same one Grandma used to excuse her less direct methods. Said Lisa:

"Sure I asked him. If I had waited for him to get around to it, I'd still be waiting. A man doesn't know his own mind."

For Alicia Felsen, 18, of Chicago, such a step involves a great deal of soul searching. "It's not wrong for a girl to ask a fellow for a date, but going steady is another thing," she said. "It's much more serious.

"But then, if girls always took the back seat where would civilization be? Why should we always have to wait, wait, wait? We have as much right to ask and get what we want as anyone."

The boys who granted this right to the girls were quite philosophical about their shrinking male role.

Joe Sherman, 18, of Baltimore, said, "Look, the women have always gotten the men to do the proposing. My mother tells me she practically put the words in my father's mouth. I guess some of them want to save time now."

TRADITIONALISTS SPEAK

But there were some oldline lads. Ralph DeMarco, 18, of Fresno, Calif., was one of these.

"Sure a girl should have equal rights as a boy," he said. "But it just doesn't seem feminine for a girl to be so forward. Maybe I'm old-fashioned."

There were girls, too, who shared this philosophy.

"I could never bring myself to ask a boy to go steady," said Gloria Moran, 16, of Boston. "If he really likes me, he'll ask. If not, then my asking him wouldn't do any good. Anyway, I wouldn't want a boy I could lead around by the nose."

The parents apparently remain conservative—95 per cent of the teenagers interviewed said their parents would vigorously veto a going steady proposal made by a girl.

Beulah Edwards, 17, of Atlanta, said: "My parents think teenagers are too young to go steady. If they even thought the girl made the first proposal she'd be immediately marked as a scarlet woman."

Just as unanimously, the teenagers agreed that going steady is here to stay. Half said they already do.

But not George Granit, 17, of Dallas. "Teenagers who have been well brought up know what's right and wrong, and that applies to going steady," said George. "If they have to take a course, it's too late."

Mary L. Bashore Becomes Bride of Harold Hudson

Mary Lou Bashore and Harold Hudson were married Saturday morning at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church. The Rev. Thompson Marcero officiated at the 9 o'clock ceremony before 100 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Noble Bashore of Cadillac avenue and the Robert Hudsons of Marshall street.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of tiered Chantilly lace and white tulle featuring long tapering sleeves and a mandarin neckline. The fitted bodice was accented with a yoke of embroidered lace. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered by pink rosebuds.

Maid of honor was Eva McKee. She wore a pink taffeta and tulle dress and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Bridesmaids Bettie Lou Houck and Sandra Brooks wore dresses of blue taffeta and tulle. Roberta Ann Hudson, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a blue nylon organza dress. The bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Robert Hudson, brother of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were William Houck, the bridegroom's uncle, and Jack and Robert Rabideau.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served to the wedding party, and 25 guests at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

To receive guests, the bride's mother wore a blue linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a white nylon organza dress accented with blue and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride left the evening reception wearing a pink linen suit with white accessories. The couple will live on Judson court.

Lady, Take Your Cue From Plant World

By RUTH MILLETT

"I don't know anyone in this town and nobody seems very interested in knowing me," writes a young wife.

After living all of her life in one place, her husband's company offered him a better job at the price of a move to a distant community.

The husband is getting along fine in his new job—but his wife is miserable because she feels like an outsider. In fact, she is so miserable she is thinking of asking her husband to go back to her home town and look for a job with some other company.

Don't do it, lady.

Are you a gardener? If you are, you have probably had this experience. You've seen beautiful flowering shrubs all over town and, wanting one of your own, you have gone to a nursery and bought one in a pot and planted it in the spot you chose for it.

What happened? Did you right away have a plant as large, as healthy, as full of blossoms as shrubs of the same kind blooming their heads off all over town?

Of course not. The first year the plant struggled to get a start. The heat made its leaves droop. Insects chewed on it. All in all it was a pretty bedraggled little bush.

But when a second spring rolled around you saw that something had happened. Your shrub suddenly didn't look like a weak, transplanted little thing, but like a bush that had sprung from the soil and belonged exactly where it was. While you were worrying about it it had been putting down roots.

That is all you have to do—ignore your loneliness and your feeling of not belonging and start putting down roots.

HELP SELF

Join a church. Look around for a community job you can handle. Make friends with your neighbors. Get acquainted with wives of your husband's associates. Make the house or apartment you are living in — even though it may be temporary — as attractive as possible.

And then, almost as quickly as the transplanted shrub, you will begin to be at home—to feel that you belong where you are, not where you came from.

Lake Superior is the world's largest fresh-water lake. It is 603 feet above sea level. Its waters drain into the Atlantic through Lakes Huron, Erie, and Ontario, and the St. Lawrence River.

Goldfine Holds the Ear of Many Other Officials

BOSTON (AP)—Friend of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, and little known to the public, fabulously wealthy Bernard Goldfine has been on familiar terms for years with governors, members of Congress and mayors.

The Russian immigrant son of an itinerant needle peddler, he was a boy prodigy who dropped out of high school after one year. A death in the family ended plans for higher education after he won four double promotions in school. He had been a newsboy. With his first two dollars he opened a bank account.

When he sought a job Goldfine spent eight solid hours canvassing merchants, lawyers, doctors, jewelers, tailors, newspapers. When a hatter learned why Goldfine walked in at the end of the day looking for work, he said "You're hired." As errand boy, he got $3 a week.

Goldfine gravitated toward big men in Boston's finance and market district. At 19 he had a contract with a Maine textile tycoon to sell remnants from four mills. Peddling to tailors and hatmakers, he made almost 100 per cent profit.

Taking two brothers into business, he hired desk space. Thus he founded the Goldfine business empire including eight New England textile companies, several real estate corporations, and offices in Boston, New York and San Francisco.

Now 67, Goldfine has his two Dartmouth-educated sons, Solomon and Horace, in business with him. Daughters Gwendolyn and Cynthia are graduates of Mount Holyoke and Colby, respectively.

An asset since she married him when he was 26 is his wife, the former Charlotte Goldblatt, who presides over the beautiful Goldfine home at sedate Chestnut Hill in suburban Brookline. Goldfine is dynamic, quick to react, quick of tongue. She is quiet and calm.

On the telephone, Mrs. Goldfine proves a gentle barrier between newsmen and her husband. A secretarial staff is similarly efficient in his offices. One newspaper sought him 36 days for a statement.

But the callers are more likely to be political figures, toward whom Goldfine has gravitated as he did to men of stature in finance and marketing. One friend quipped, "B. G. collects public officials almost like a hobby, especially governors."

So Mrs. Goldfine may be hostess to a California industrialist, a senator from Washington, or the wife, or sister, of a governor. Goldfine once summoned New England governors to an anti-hard times conference. His hotel entertainment is likely to be lavish.

Goldfine has a penchant for picking up tabs. Even to strangers he may be a generous giver. Once he shook hands into a business friend's restaurant party, discovered it was a wedding party for the friend's secretary. Departing, Goldfine presented the girl he had never met before with $100 in new bills.

Ship Magnate Called to Testify

House Marine Group Set to Quiz Onassis on His Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) —Aristotle Socrates Onassis, wealthy Greek ship operator, goes before a House subcommittee today for questioning on ship contracts and who controls two firms in which he has interests.

Onassis told a reporter he was going to answer all questions "if I don't lose my voice."

For two days the ship magnate has been an attentive front row spectator at a special House Merchant Marine subcommittee hearing on a contract involving his interests.

The Justice Department filed suit in New York last seek charging Onassis companies broke an agreement with the U.S. government to build three tankers worth some 50 million dollars for American flag operations.

The suit named the Alexander S. Onassis Corp., Victory Carriers Inc., and the Grace National Bank of New York, trustee of Onassis interests in the two corporations.

The shipbuilding agreement was part of the terms of settlement of an earlier dispute over the right of Onassis interests to buy surplus vessels after World War II. These were restricted to firms controlled by U.S. citizens.

The subcommittee has asked detailed questions of previous witnesses as to who controls the two companies which were set up as controlled by U.S. citizens. Onassis is not an American citizen.

Capt. Granville Conway, president of Victory Carriers, testified yesterday that a recent letter regarded as default on construction of the three ships was not intended as such.

Instead, Conway said, the letter to the government was intended to bring about a congressional hearing in hopes of modifying the contract to provide for construction of two tankers instead of three.

Burglar Alarm Scares Away Safecrackers

Safecrackers hit two business places next door to each other last night but got only $50.

The thieves first broke open the safe at the H. H. Smith Shell Oil Co., 590 S. Paddock St., where they found the $50.

Munitions Plant Blast Kills 2

3 Injured When Shell Apparently Explodes at Army Ordnance Site

BURLINGTON, Iowa (UPI) — A muffled explosion killed two workers and injured three others on an assembly line at an Army Ordnance Corps munitions plant here late yesterday.

Officials said an artillery shell apparently exploded.

The blast occurred in a 19-foot square room where workers complete 106-millimeter shells on a mile-long assembly line. The damage, estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000, was restricted to that one small room.

The blast blew part of the roof off of the one-story concrete building and blew out some windows. There was no fire.

One of the dead workers was Dolores Marlett, 40, Fort Madison.

Officials withheld the name of the other victim until relatives were notified.

Donald Scott, 22, Mount Pleasant, and Roy Barrow, 28, New London, were hospitalized in critical condition. Carroll Cosby, 26, Burlington, was injured less seriously.

The explosion occurred at the Iowa Ordnance Plant of the Army Ordnance Corps. It is located on U.S. 34 about 10 miles west of here.

Russian Babies All Wound Up—in Cloth

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—In America, when a parent says his child is "wound up," it means you can look for loud noises, tinker toys in the shin and possibly a small but solid fist in the eye.

In Russia, we learned today, it's different. A wound up child in Soviet circles is a docile one. He has been wound in white cloth strips—swaddled at birth.

Obviously, the Russians are backward about babies. They haven't learned that kicking and squirming babies are "progressive." The result is that they have children who are backward to the point of being manageable and docile—who are rarely seen to misbehave in public.

"There is something rather creepy about it," says Santha Rama Rau, a recent resident of Moscow, "seeing a nurse in a Russian maternity ward carrying two or three swaddled babies—handling each rigid little form as casually as if it were a log of wood."

But every newborn child is snugly wrapped from his neck to his toes, till he resembles a miniature mummy.

Miss Rau reports that Russian doctors claim no physical damage can result to the child.

And the psychological advantages of swaddling are obvious, when after 10 days in the hospital—mothers always remain 10 days, without visitors, even their husbands — the children are taken home for "de-swathing."

The poor little creatures, upon being unbound, start yelling. This is their first taste of freedom, and they don't like it. They feel insecure. Often a Russian babe will scream for hours, until he is bound up again.

The usual procedure, then, is to unswaddle the child in very gradual stages—giving him freedom for only a few minutes a day at first.

It is believed that in his swaddling clothes he gets a feeling of safety and love—a feeling he may well need firmly buried in his libido when he gets out into the cold Siberian world.

It is an ancient custom. And in a country where self-discipline is necessary to retain the rigid system, it is ideal.

Americans prefer to accent the breast-feeding of, and the cooing to infants—and letting them flex their muscles as much as they like.

It may be more trouble than carrying your stiff and silent child around like a papoose, and it may lead to more back-talk when the kiddies get to the sassy age. But that's the way we like our youngsters—fiery enough to deserve an occasional spanking. It's the new tradition.

Besides, when we yell "Mummy," we want the mother to answer. Not the child.

Georgia is the largest state east of the Mississippi river.

Allan Jones' Ex-Wife Complains Alimony Lags

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Irene Hervey says her divorced husband, singer Allan Jones, is $3,850 behind in alimony payments.

Miss Hervey and Jones two months ago obtained California recognition ot a Nevada divorce. Jones agreed to pay $1,500 monthly alimony. He later petitioned the court to reduce the alimony to $1 a month.

Jones did not appear in Domestic Relations Court yesterday because of illness and the matter was postponed. Jones now is married to Mary Florsheim Picking, heiress to a shoe fortune.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Like the king whose touch turned everything to gold, Nick Kerbawy is the "Midas" of Detroit.

Kerbawy's success story is short and fruitful. In 15 years he moved from a teacher's salary of less than $5,000 to a $25,000 job with the Lions and now to a long-term million dollar contract with the Detroit Pistons.

This figures to be about $50,000 a year, but more important it assures Nick of security which very few men in the sports world can equal.

Regardless of what the Pistons do in the way of competition in the NBA the contract is binding and if anyone decides Nick should be relieved then it would cost industrialist Fred Zollner quite a chunk of cash.

We doubt that Kerbawy would ever have taken the job on any other terms.

Ball players and managers may draw far more in yearly salaries but how many at the age of 45 can say they have that security until they are 65?

The task for Kerbawy won't be an easy one. Zollner wants Nick to do for the Pistons what he did for the Lions and if anyone cares to look through the past decade, the most successful in history for Detroit's pro football team, then it is obvious to see what Zollner means.

PERSONALITY PLUS

Always wearing a welcoming grim and offering a hearty handshake, Nick has been pro football's outstanding public relations asset.

Some disliked him. But that goes with success. It seems everyone knew him however.

Go down to Birmingham, Alabama and the hotel elevator boy would say, "Hi, Nick." Go to Buffalo and everyone knew Nick. Get off the plane and some long lost friend was there to greet him. Stop in Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and someone was sure to say, "Give our regards to Nick."

Even a phone call from Stuttgart, Germany, at a confab recently and the party on the other end asked amid his talk of business. "How's Nick Kerbawy doing?"

We were there when the call was made and right now the obvious answer we could give, "He's doing right well."

Recognized as one of the best in the field, Zollner is paying the personable Kerbawy to keep on shaking hands and make more friends, plus a few other incidental jobs in administration of the corporation.

LIBERAL TV ADVOCATE

One thing Kerbawy has always advocated is to stay on peace terms with television.

While many officials in college and pro ranks have attempted to put limitations on televising athletic events, Nick has kept a more liberal attitude with TV cameras.

He was one of the boosters of pro football's sound TV policy and now pro basketball may get some of the same.

Edwin J. Anderson Is Best Guess for General Manager

Who Will Be Lions' Top Man Now?

The best guess was Edwin J. Anderson, president of pro football's world champions and a local brewery, would take over the Lions' affairs himself. Such a doubling up would be nothing new in National Football League annals and it usually accompanies success.

George Halas has been president, head coach and complete overlord of the Chicago Bears for most of their existence. Paul Brown has doubled up as coach and general manager of Cleveland ever since the team was established in 1946.

Kerbawy, meanwhile, was getting busy today on his ironclad million-dollar job with Zollner Corp. and the Detroit Pistons. He signed a long-term pact yesterday with multi-millionaire Fred Zollner.

The agreement calls for the dapper Kerbawy to earn a reported $50,000 a year as administrative assistant to Zollner; vice president, general manager and director of the National Basketball Assn. Pistons and a director of the Zollner Corp.

"This should be the only job Nick will need the rest of his life," Zollner said, adding it should mean a cool million dollars to the 45-year-old Kerbawy.

His switch from the highly successful Lions to the year-old, troubled Pistons was a surprise. Kerbawy submitted his resignation to Anderson Sunday night.

Next day Zollner met with his directors and told them of his plan to hire Kerbawy.

"We had no idea what was up until Zollner walked in and laid it on the table," said Piston director Herm Fishman, a former University of Michigan athlete. "All eight of us went for it right away."

Kerbawy should give the Pistons a quick shot in the arm. Their first season in Detroit after moving here from Fort Wayne, Ind., was not distinguished. Zollner lost an estimated $100,000 as attendance was poor and the Pistons were not impressive.

The glib, former Lion general manager was one of the leading lights behind the football team's success in the last 10 years. Taking over his job after serving the Lions in lesser capacities, Kerbawy helped build the Lions into a solid franchise. Under his managerial guidance the Lions became huge money makers, selling close to 40,000 season tickets annually.

Now Kerbawy is faced with the same building problems with the Pistons.

"My job right now is selling basketball and promoting it in Detroit and Michigan," he said. "I can remember when the Lions played before 50,000 empty seats and now they have standing-room-only crowds.

"Detroit is a fantastically splendid sports town and I'm certain big league basketball will sell here."

Kerbawy succeeds Fred Delano, who resigned after one season as Piston general manager.

MILLION DOLLAR SMILE — The Lions may have accepted Nick Kerbawy's resignation "with regret" but there appears to be no regret in the smile of ex-Lions' general manager who yesterday signed a long term contract which would bring him a million dollars at about $50,000 a year. Edwin J. Anderson, Lions' president is in the background.

GOOD BLOCK — Luis Aparicio (11) blocks an attempted throw to first base by Boston second baseman Pete Runnels. The play started when Earl Battey hit to shortstop Don Buddin forcing Aparicio. The Red Sox beat the White Sox, 13-9.

NEW BOLT — The new Tommy Bolt, who won the National Open title last week in Tulsa was greeted with a picture of the "Old" Bolt when he arrived at Warwick Hills for the Flint Open. The picture is a club-throwing shot which cost him a $100 fine dufing the 1957 tournament in Flint.

145 Top Golfers Are Par-Hunting at Warwick Hills

Winter Rules Will Be Permitted as 72-Hole Event Gets Started

By BILL CORNWELL

GRAND BLANC—An official total of 145 players started leaving the first tee this morning in the first 18-hole round of the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament at giant Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club.

Warwick Hills, a 320-acre tract of meadowland just 24 months ago, is expected to offer the nation's greatest golfers an exacting test of skill before the four-day 72-hole tourney comes to an end Sunday.

The longest course in Michigan and the 2nd longest in the country, Warwick stretches 7,280 yards from the championship tees with a par of 36-36—72.

Now in its first full year of operation, the newly-constructed layout has dense rough, frequent timber hazards and trap-infested greens. But above all, this course has length — almost overwhelming length.

It is unusual for a course so young to receive a tournament of such stature. The Flint Open is now the richest tourney on the professional circuit with $9,000 in prize money destined for the winner.

Because of cracking in the clay base of seven fairways, the tourney committee has decided to permit winter rules during this event. The fairways are not at their best for an event of this kind and winter rules will allow the golfers to improve their lies.

A couple of practice rounds have indicated that the pros may be able to crack the long layout before the tourney is finished.

Billy Casper, who shot a 71 at Warwick earlier this year to record its first sub-par score, breezed around in 67 strokes yesterday, featured by a 40-foot chip for an eagle three on the 604-yard par five 16th hole.

Sam Snead, who had such a miserable time in the National Open last week at Tulsa, Okla., fired an unofficial 69 yesterday.

Among the early favorites today were South African Gary Player, Julius Boros and hard-hitting George Bayer. Tommy Bolt, newly-crowned U. S. Open champion, was not given much chance of winning again here.

The official entry list when play began today showed 134 pros and 11 amateurs. Nearly every top-ranking pro was present and even withdrawal due to a hand injury failed to dim the luster of the star-studded field.

An admission fee of $1 will be charged daily and all parking is free. Warwick Hills is located on U.S. 10 three miles south of Grand Blanc.

Casey Hires Old Hands, Yanks Beat Tribe Again

By The Associated Press

Poor old Casey Stengel. His New York Yankee pitching staff was so thin he had to get some help with a trade. So what happens? A couple of old hands give up only six hits bxetween them and he's won two in a row again.

It was southpaw Whitey Ford who spun a three-hit shutout at Cleveland Tuesday. Then Case hauled Art Ditmar out of the bullpen last night and the right-hander pitched a no-hitter for 5 1-3 innings in his first start before getting reliever Ryne Duren's help for a 3-2 success over the Indians.

All of which leaves Duke Maas and Virgil Trucks, picked up in a deal with Kansas City, and Zack Monroe, recalled from Denver, still sittin' on their pinstripes.

Second place Boston, eight games back, blasted a 33-inning shutout string by Chicago pitching, hammering five home runs in a 13-9 victory over the White Sox. Baltimore defeated Kansas City 5-3. Detroit and Washington were idled by rain, but the Tigers moved into a third place tie with Kansas City.

Ditmar, without a decision while working 28 relief innings this season, was breezing with a 3-0 lead, on first-inning homers by Hank Bauer and Elston Howard. Then an error and singles by Minnie Minoso and Mickey Vernon cracked his no-hit spell and scored two unearned runs in the sixth. When he gave up a double by loser Jim "Mudcat" Grant in the seventh, Casey decided Ditmar was tiring and brought in Duren. The rookie right-hander fanned two in a hitless 2 1-3 innings of relief.

Mudcat (5-4) allowed only six hits, blanking the Yankees on three over the last eight innings. A walk came ahead of the clinching home run by Howard, who was behind the plate instead of Yogi Berra, who had an eye test in effort to explain his .211 average.

Vic Power and Woody Held, late of the A's, played their first game for the Indians. Both were hitless, with Power's hitting streak ended at 22 games, longest in the majors this season.

Young Milt Pappas (4-1) gave up only five hits and two runs in his seven innings and produced the lead run with a double for the Orioles. A two-run homer by Gus Triandos, his 14th, triggered a three-run Baltimore sixth, junking Murry Dickson's shutout bid. Dickson now is 5-3.

Marty Keough, hitting his first in the majors, Don Buddin, Jackie Jensen, Ted Williams and Frank Malzone homered for the Red Sox, with Jensen's tying Bob Cerv of the A's for the AL lead at 17. Williams and Malzone homered in a six-run eighth off losing reliever Jerry Staley (1-5) that over-hauled an 8-7, Chicago lead. Ike Delock (4-0) won it in relief of Tom Brewer, who blew a 5-1 lead. Ex-Tiger Ray Boone hit a three-run homer as the Sox scored four in the seventh.

Jewelers Keep Winning, 6-2

Continue City Baseball Drive as Picman Stops Union Team

Shaw's Jewelers continued their resurgence to power in the Class A City Baseball League with a 6-2 triumph over CIO Local 594 Wednesday at Wisner Field.

The defending city champion piled up a 3-0 lead after two innings and coasted to victory behind the steady four-hit pitching of Don Picman, Michigan State sophomore hurler working for the Jewelers this summer.

Picman, a Birmingham product, had a shutout until the 5th inning when the CIO tallied both of its runs on successive singles by Kim Conroy, Chet Woodmore and Bud Hayward. Picman didn't walk anyone and he struck out eight.

Shaw's drove starting pitcher Terry Zellhart from the mound with three runs in the 4th stanza. Jim Wagner relieved Zellhart and finished on the hill for the Union. Zellhart was tagged with the defeat.

Patty Seeks 7th Western Crown

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Patty Berg goes after her seventh Women's Western Open invitation golf championship today at the 6,370-yard Kahkwa Club course.

The course, with a woman's par of 37-36—73, is considered a fair but tough test. It has small greens and narrow fairways.

Miss Berg, who captured the title last year at Montgomery, Ala., heads a field of women professionals who will be competing for $5,000 in prizes in the 29th open.

X-Ray Mantle's Shoulder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mickey Mantle, New York Yankee center fielder, received X-ray treatment for his injured right shoulder at Evangelical Deaconess Hospital yesterday.

It was learned this was the second in a series of three treatments for the Yankee slugger, who has been ailing since spring training. He will receive further treatment in Detroit tomorrow.

Yanks in Town Tomorrow

Nats Face Foytack

DETROIT (AP) — This fellow Bill Norman may be quite a prophet. Just night before last he said "you win some, you lose some, and some days it rains."

And lo, yesterday it did rain.

The hour-long shower washed out the Detroit Tiger-Washington Senator baseball game at Briggs Stadium and it likely will be played as part of a doubleheader in July. Chances are better than even the rainout came at an opportune time for the Tigers.

They were trailing the Senators 3-2 with Washington at bat in the top of the fourth inning. Neil Chrisley's sixth home run behind Herb Plews' single brought in two runs in the first inning. In the third Roy Sievers led off with a single and Clint Courtney drove him home with a double to left.

The rain also washed out two Tiger runs in the second inning on Jim Hegan's single, a walk to pitcher George Susce and Frank Bolling's double high off the left field screen.

The two teams close out the series today at Briggs Stadium and Paul Foytack was scheduled to oppose Russ Kemmerer in a battle of right-handers. Then the New York Yankees seek their revenge and Norman has nominated either Frank Lary—who has two straight shutouts to his credit—or Jim Bunning to open the vital Yankee set.

Although the two teams waited about 63 minutes before the umpir decided to call it quits, Norman still imposed his 15-minute clubhouse ban on newsmen. He calls it a "cooling off" period and it might be interesting to learn just how long it takes the average major league baseball player to cool off.

The rainout "saved" Al Kaline's 15-game hitting streak and kept Bolling's at 11 games. Ozzie Virgirl, who has hit safely in 10 of 12 games he's played, grounded out in his only two appearances.

The Tigers have a chance today to extend their winning streak to six games—and that would be the team's longest of the season. The club had a seven-game streak in September 1956.

In NCAA Tournament

Michigan Netters Bow

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Tulane's Ron Holmberg got a chance today to live up to his pre-tournament ranking of No. 1 in the National Collegiate Tennis Championships at the Naval Academy.

The Tulane ace drew seventh-seeded Jack Douglas of Stanford for a quarter-finals opponent—the first ranking player he has met in the tournament which started Monday.

Douglas, Stanford's football quarterback and one of the top college tennis players in the country, reached the quarter-finals with a 6-2, 6-1 victory yesterday over Jon Erickson of Michigan. Erickson was rated among the first 16 players in the meet.

Holmberg whipped John Cook of Western Michigan, 6-0, 6-2 for his fourth straight victory.

Robert Sasson of Michigan and Leslie Dodson of Western Michigan were victors in the first round consolations. Sasson won from Dave Hewitson of Rollins, 6-4, 6-1. Dodson defeated James Berry of Florida State, 6-2, 6-2.

50 Boys Attend Tiger Tryouts

Squads Play Regulation Game Friday to Windup Two-Day School

Eleven pitchers were among 50 boys, ages 17-24, who turned out at Wisner Stadium for the Tiger tryouts this morning.

The two-day camp is being conducted by former Tiger Pat Mullin with his assistant, Jimmy Briggs.

Morning workouts consisted of base running, throwing, batting and other fundamentals.

Tomorrow two squads will be selected and the teams will play ball in regulation style until all boys present have the chance to field and hit.

Wednesday, at the tryouts held in Battle Creek, the intra-squad game started at 10:00 a.m. and continued until 3:00 p.m.

Del Crandall Sidelined

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Catcher Del Crandall has been sidelined by a knee injury and was replaced in the Milwaukee line-up by Del Rice as the Braves played the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night.

NCAA Golf Meet Will Start Sunday

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP)—Numerous late entries have increased the field to 302 and forced extension of dates for the 61st NCAA Golf Championships opening Sunday at Williams College.

The tournament committee Wednesday announced after a ruling by NCAA Chairman Ted Paysuer of Northwestern University that there will be three days of qualifying rounds instead of the original two. As a result, the event will run through June 29 instead of June 28.

Golfers will compete from 79 colleges and universities including 41 full teams.

Nels Potter, former major league pitcher, operates a bowling establishment in partnership with a cousin, Henry Thomas, in Mount Morris, Ill.

Newcombe Wins Redleg Debut; Youngsters Shine

Hurlers Dominate NL Games

The Associated Press

Big Newk still can hum that pea.

The winless Don Newcombe whom the Los Angeles Dodgers gave up on last Sunday, became a winner again last night for Cincinnati, shrugging off a first-inning home run by Stan Musial and blanking St. Louis on five hits the rest of the way for a 6-1 victory.

It was Newk's first pitching appearance for the Redlegs, who climbed back into third place in the National League with the big right-hander's first victory in seven decisions this year. It also was his first complete game victory since last August 21—when he shut out Cincinnati, incidentally — and his first victory since September 4. He had lost seven straight.

It was a night for good pitching in the NL. Second place San Francisco defeated Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings on the four-hit pitching of young Paul Giel and the clutch relief of veteran Marv Grissom. And rookie Stan Williams gained his second major league victory and shutout with a four-hitter as Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia 3-0.

Rain idled Milwaukee and the Chicago Cubs, with the Braves leading 1-0 in the second inning. That cut Milwaukee's lead over San Francisco to two games.

Newcombe, the best pitcher in baseball when he won 27 in 1956, but able to show only a 12-18 record since, had a three-hitter until the ninth, when three singles loaded the bases with one out. He worked out of it by getting pinch-hitter Irv Noren on a pop up and pinch-hitter Hobie Landrith on a ground ball.

The Redlegs, now 4½ games behind after leap-frogging the Cards and Pirates, gave Newk a tie in the first when Gus Bell's fifth They won it with twoin the third the first when Gus Bell's fifth homer matched Musial's 12th.

The Giants, benching the slumping Willie Mays for the first time this season, made it on singles by Bob Schmidt and Whitey Lockman that sandwiched a walk by Bob Friend, who had pitched shut out ball after giving up a first inning run on a balk. Friend, losing two in a row for the first time this season, now is 9-6.

Giel, 25, whose only other decision was a 2-1 loss to Pittsburgh last week when two unearned runs spoiled his three-hit job, gave up three singles and the tying run in the third last night. Then he blanked the Bucs without a hit, retiring 16 in order, before giving up a single in the 10th. Grissom, 40, saved it without difficulty.

Mays, 5-for-40 after grounding out as a pinch-hitter, still leads the NL with a .382 average. Musial, the runnerup, has .376.

Williams, 21, pitched no-hit ball after the fourth at Philadelphia and won it on Joe Pignatano's first home run in the majors. It was a two-run shot in the fifth that set off a barrage of beer cans from the fans, who thought it a foul ball. They didn't calm down until threatened by a forfeiture by the umps. Robin Roberts lost his third in a row for a 5-8 record.

Jones in AAU Meet Tomorrow

Pontiac Whiz Seeks Big Trip to Europe in California Event

Pontiac's Hayes Jones is in Bakersfield, Calif., where he will compete in the National AAU championships Friday and Saturday.

The Eastern Michigan College star will be shooting for more Olympic prestige and a chance to make an American team which will tour Europe with a big meet in Russia this summer.

Hayes can gain a place on the all-star unit by finishing in the 1st three in the 120-yard high hurdles, the only event he will be taking part in. He traveled to the West Coast by plane yesterday.

Famed milers Herb Elliott, Merv Lincoln and Don Bowdin and world record 440 holder Glenn Davis are among the big names entered in the big meet.

Ump Overruled Trying to Levy Beanball Fine

Rommel Used Wrong Procedure in Tiger Game Incident

DETROIT (AP) — Pedro Ramos of the Washington Senators narrowly escaped a $50 bean ball fine.

Umpire Ed Rommel attempted to levy the penalty against him during the Tigers' 9-2 victory Wednesday night but was overruled by league President Will Harridge. Harridge ruled that Rommel did not follow proper procedure as outlined by league officials 10 days ago.

When Ramos sent Frank Bolling to the dirt with a close pitch, Rommel stepped in front of the plate and told the slender Cuban righthander that he was being fined.

Harridge said Rommel should have called Washington Manager Cookie Lavagetto from the dugout and notified Ramos and his manager of the fine simultaneously.

Baseball and softball are going full force in most areas while others are nearing a starting date for a full summer action in what will probably be the biggest sports program in history.

Babe Ruth, Pee Wee, Small Fry, Jr. Legion and various loops sponsored by the city's Parks and Recreation Department are active on the baseball level while there are also softball leagues for men, women and youngsters around the area.

Anyone interested in such leagues is invited to send along information of feature nature for use in this space. The Press will print all standings of leagues received on Thursdays. All must be in Wednesday or early Thursday and be up-to-date to be used.

HITS AND BITS—Pontiac boys' leagues playing practice games . . . Avondale Church softball loop will hold a special meeting at United Presbyterian Church Thursday at 7 . . . Part of pre-meeting discussion will likely concern Avondale's having to forfeit a game Monday when its bus ran out of gas on the way to Lake Orion . . . Some of the area high school coaches keeping active during vacation coaching or umpiring.

Oxford has three teams in a league similar to a Babe Ruth setup with Lake Orion, Dryden and Leonard completing a six-team setup . . . Bruce Yuille of the West Side Pee Wee League has swated four home runs in five games . . . Many high school baseballers in county baseball and softball leagues.

Jr. Legion directors have been fuming about a group of Waterford boys who switched from the Township's entry in the Legion baseball league to a softball team. It caused a forfeit when only five players turned out opening day.

Walled Lake fans high on Babe Ruth hurler Charlie Leneschmidt. The 15-year-old Union Lake pitcher reportedly "throws real hard." . . . Good indication of the value of kids leagues is shown in case of Kenosha, Wis., Little League where six graduates have been signed by pro scouts . . . Clarkston hoping to have some summer leagues.

College Champ Decided Tonight

OMAHA (AP)—Bruce Gardner, ace left-hander of the Southern California pitching staff, will go against Elmer Harbin, Missouri right-hander who sat out most of the season with a sore arm, in the finale of the NCAA College Baseball World Series tonight.

Both teams are 4 and 1 in the double elimination series after a 7-0 Southern California win last night.

Gardner takes a 13-1 record to the mound and will be seeking his third series win. Harbin is a 4-1 for the season and has one series win.

If Southern California wins the Trojans will become the second team in series history to drop its opening game and then come on to take the championship. Texas did it in 1950.

Hamtramck Netter Faces Florida Boy for Crown

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) —Ray Senkowski of Hamtramck, Mich., High School and Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., high meet today for the singles title of the National Interscholastic tennis tournament.

In doubles play, Senkowski teamed with schoolmate Francisco Castillo to take a quarter-final match from John Evans and Jim Spencer of St. Xavier High, Louisville, Ky., 6-3, 6-1.

Little League Shutout

Ellioitt Furniture blanked Sybil's Draperies, 9-0, in a Waterford Little League softball game yesterday. Lakeland Pharmacy trounced Rogers Electric, 9-5, in Junior League activity.

Late Rallies Result in 4-3 'B' Decision

Kuhlman Electric rallied with four runs in the last two innings for a 4-3 victory over Pontiac Business Institute in Wednesday's Class B City League baseball action at Jaycee Park.

Pitcher Greg Meadows had a shutout working for him until the 6th stanza when Kuhlman's broke the ice with two runs on three singles and a walk. Leroy Nicholas relieved Meadows in the 7th when two singles and Clyde Conner's double furnished Kuhlman's margin of victory.

PBI scored once in the 4th and held its 1-0 lead until the 6th. The losers fought back with two runs in the bottom of the 7th, but the tying marker died on 2nd base. Jim Rambus hurled the distance for Kuhlman's while Meadows absorbed the defeat.

HIGH INCOME BRACKET — Crescent Goldust, a 9-year-old Shetland pony stallion whose potential income is double the salary of Vice Pres. Nixon, is proof that ponies nowadays are more than pets. The pony, recently purchased by four Missourians for $60,000 will command a stud fee of $2,500. His owners expect to breed him to 30 of their own mares and about five "outside" mares this year.

Prospects 'Fairly Good' for Anglers

LANSING (UPI)—Prospects are expected to be "fairly good" for the bass season opener Saturday—the day when it becomes legal to fish for nearly all species in Michigan waters.

State conservation officials were optimistic about the lake and stream conditions for the bass opener—but they were somewhat fearful the 1958 season may be marked in some areas by too many fish and not enough fishermen.

"The fish need to be thinned out in some of the inland lakes that are overpopulated," said Deputy Conservation Director Gaylord A. Walker.

The conservation department has been forced to cut back on many of its fisheries operations because of declining revenues from license sales.

"We'll soon be able to tell how much effect the recession is going to have on fishing this summer," Walker said.

Trout stamp sales for the first four months of the year were down about 14 per cent from sales last year. However, Walker emphasized it was still too early to get a trend.

Walker said he was hopeful the recession would not cut very far into the ranks of the state's half-million bass fishermen.

"You don't have to go far and you don't have to spend much money to catch bass," Walker said.

Conservation department field reports indicated interest in fishing is picking up and that many anglers have been waiting for the bass season to open before trying for panfish, pike and other fish that share the same waters.

Fred A. Westerman, chief of the department's fish division, said some bass still are on spawning beds but he said conditions otherwise were "fairly good."

Only the sturgeon will remain protected by a closed season when largemouth and smallmouth bass become legal prey Saturday. Rock bass are considered panfish and do not rate closed seasons.

The bass season remains open until Sept. 14 in trout lakes and streams, and to Dec. 31 in all other waters.

Ten inches is the minimum size limit for both largemouths and smallmouths. Five is the possession limit.

There are six exceptions to the size limits. The minimum size is 16 inches on three experimental lakes, Fife Lake, Grand Traverse County; Minnewaukon Lake, St. Joseph County, and Sugarloaf Lake, Washtenaw County. There is no minimum size limit in Fine Lake, Barry County; Duck Lake, Calhoun County, and Big Portage Lake, Jackson County.

Fishing for the bronze-backed smallmouth is at its best among the rocks of the Great Lakes' reefs and large inland lakes. The largemouth is more likely to be found in a weedy habitat.

Lake St. Clair and Lake Huron were expected to get heavy pressure from Detroit-area anglers. Saginaw Bay, Grand Traverse Bay and the Lake Michigan shoreline near the Wilderness State Park are other favorites.

Reynolds Misses No-Hitter

Roger Reynolds came within two outs of pitching a perfect no-hitter last night as Birmingham blanked the Elks, 3-0, to spotlight the four-game City League softball program at Beaudette and North Side parks.

Reynolds retired the first 19 batters in order. With one man out in the top of the 7th inning, Gerry Ganzel doubled to ruin the no-hitter and the perfect game. Reynolds retired the next two hitters to preserve a one-hit shutout. He fanned 10.

Jim Murphy's single in the bottom of the 9th scored Leroy Parks with the deciding run as International Autos nosed out Griff's Grill, 2-1, in an extra-inning battle. Murphy's hit broke up a tight mound duel between the winner's Ed Rondo and Griff's Algie Black. Rondo allowed only two hits.

The Lakeside Royals tallied three runs in the 5th stanza for a 5-4 decision over the Sports Shop. Jim Bird homered in defeat as Shaw's Jewelers downed Stadium Inn, 9-4.

The Philadelphia Phils have signed Lancaster, Ohio catcher Larry Baughman to a bonus contract said to be over $40,000 and 3rd baseman Joe Balling of Dayton, Ohio, to a minor league pact.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Never Close From Sand Traps.

DIAGNOSIS: Rare Opportunities Lost.

Treatment: There's one trap shot that the novice can play almost as well as the expert — provided he goes about its the right way. That is the shot with the putter from a sand trap.

Mind you now, the opportunity to play this shot doesn't come often. You need a good clean lie, a flat and relatively shallow trap, and a gradually sloping band leading from trap to green. If any of these are absent, the putt from the trap is NOT the shot.

Once you've determined that conditions are right and you mean to play this shot, concentrate first on hitting the ball solid.

You must hit the ball so it'll roll along the top of the sand. If you hit it too much on top, you'll drive the ball into the sand and lose distance; hit too much on the bottom side and the ball will be lofted and stick in the sand when it lands.

And don't forget that you must hit this shot firmly and resolutely.

Forest Lake Gets Ready for Large Field

Women's Open to Bring Top Pros to Area

Bloomfield Hills Layout Becomes Favorite Site for Lady Golfers

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

One of the largest fields in the six-year history of the Women's Open Golf Championship will be on hand at Forest Lake Country Club next week June 26-29.

The handsome layout near Square Lake road in Bloomfield Township has become a favorite site for the lady linksters. The Wolverine Invitational Open in 1955 and the LPGA in 1956 proved to be highly successful in bringing prestige to Forest Lake.

Two 18-hole rounds will be played next Thursday and Friday, after which the field will be cut to the low 40 and ties for Saturday and Sunday rounds.

Last year the Women's Open at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y. drew a high of 90 entries, mostly amateurs, with pro Betsy Rawls taking the championship.

Thus far 57 top lady pros and amateurs are entered for next week's tourney, and according to publicity director Art Hagan many others will probably still be included.

All of the past champions are entered except the late Babe Zaharias.

Rawls won the tournament in 1953 and 1957, Fay Crocker won it in 1955, Kathy Cornelius in 1956 along with Patty Berg and Louise Suggs.

Among the top amateurs entered are Barbara Romack, U.S. Women's amateur champion; Barbara McIntire who lost the 1956 Open in a playoff and Ann Quast of Seattle.

Many of the entries are expected to start arriving over the weekend, with practice rounds slated for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Hyde Calls Them 'Bolos'

Senators' Relief Ace Has Unnatural Pitches

DETROIT (AP) — The opposition may not believe it, but the Washington Senators' Dick Hyde says his bolo pitch "isn't quite natural."

Hyde's submarine motion seems as natural as could be for him. But what it does to the ball seems as unnatural as could be for the batters who face him.

Hyde ranks with Ryne Duren of the New York Yankees as the American League's standout reliever this season.

The 28-year-old right-hander has worked 50 innings in 18 games, winning four decisions and losing one. He has fanned 21, walked 19, been touched for 33 hits and 12 runs—only 10 of them earned for an earned run average of 1.80.

Hyde used a three-quarter delivery — between overhand and sidearm—when he joined the Senators' organization in 1949 after a year at the University of Illinois in Champaign, his home town.

Several years later the bespectacled young man reached two conclusions: 1. He lacked the stamina to pitch effectively for more than a few innings at a time. 2. The way things were going, on Concord and Charlotte, N. C., farm teams, he wasn't about to jeopardize Walter Johnson's standing among Washington immortals.

So he developed the submarine pitch.

But it's still not quite as natural as a three-quarter motion.

"Every spring I've got to work at that sort of delivery again," Hyde says. "As I get along in training I dip farther and farther down until I'm almost scraping the ground with my knuckles. It becomes natural after a while."

Hyde, who also admits "I thought I was a real dud once," now likes his job of getting the Senators out of emergencies. He has developed control, a screw ball to bamboozle left-handed hitters and confidence in himself.

Teammates noticed the change one night last summer in Yankee Stadium. Manager Cookie Lavagetto rang the alarm and Hyde marched in with the bases loaded. He proceeded to strike out Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra and thereby became the Senators' No. 1 fire extinguisher.

No Date Yet for Lane

NEW YORK (UPI)—Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club has been kept busy all week answering questions about the date of the Joe Brown-Kenny Lane lightweight title fight. His reply to all was: "No date or site has been set because the match hasn't been made yet."

DUKE IN NEW YORK — Duke Maas, of Utica, recently traded to the New York Yankees by the Kansas City Athletics, listens to manager Casey Stengel the "ole professor." The Yanks will be in town tomorrow for a weekend series.

No Hitter on Tiger Farm

DETROIT (UPI)—Cubert Smith was the top star in the Detroit Tigers' Minor League farm system last week as he pitched a no-hitter for Steve Gromek's sixth-place Erie Sailors in the New York-Pennsylvania League.

The 21-year-old right hander from St. Albans, W. Va., was the fourth Bengal farmhand to throw a no-hitter. Erie won the game, 1-0, over Auburn, N.Y., a New York Yankee farm club.

The Sailors picked right up from the parent club which took a doubleheader from the Yankees Sunday by winning the nightcap from Auburn, 14-4.

Charleston, with Lou Skisas finally reporting a week late and hitting a home run in his first game, remained in second place in the American Association as Jerry Davie winning seven without a setback.

Art Houtteman, after a good start, had a 2-6 record in 67 innings.

The Tigers' greatest hope for future Briggs Stadium tenants from Charleston is in the pitching staff since nearly every regular is a Major League reject.

Southpaw Joe Grzenda, another 21-year-old hurler, paced the Class AA Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association with a 6-1 record but Augusta, Ga., South Atlantic League champions the past two seasons, slipped to second place for the first time this year.

Of the Tigers' seven other minor clubs, only Lancaster and Valdosta were in the first division, both holding down first place.

American Hockey Loop Refuses to Add Entry

MANCHESTER, Vt. (AP) — The American Hockey League yesterday turned down an application for a franchise from Ottawa, Ontario, and voted not to enlarge the league for the 1958-59 season.

At the first session of the three-day annual meeting, the league also re-elected Richard F. Canning of Providence as president. John D. Chick, Windsor, Ont., was renamed vice president and Jim Ellery, New York, secretary-treasurer.

Clawson Jr. Legion Defeats Milford, 6-2

Clawson dropped Milford from 1st to 3rd and handed Southfield the lead by beating the former 1st place team 6-2 in the only Jr. Legion baseball game played last night. All others were rained out.

Dave Lequier flipped a 3-hitter and struck out 17 as Clawson led all the way. Both Milford runs were unearned.

Gary Ahlfield and Bill O'Dell each had three hits with Ahlfeld batting in four runs as Clawson took over 2nd.

The Birmingham at Berkley game will be played tomorrow night, Rochester will travel to Waterford Monday and the Royal Oak-Southfield contest has been rescheduled for June 27.

Colts Sign Rookie

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob McKee an end at Monmouth College in Illinois, signed his contract today with the Baltimore Colts who are interested in him as a punter as well as pass catcher. McKee averaged more than 41 yards on 41 kicks last football season. He caught 25 passes and was strong on defense.

Women's Finals at Spring Lake

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Championship finals of the 37th annual Spring Lake Women's Open Golf tournament today matched a top-ranked Grand Rapids golfer and a Flint Country Club champion.

Mrs. Jack Scripsema of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Victor Ryden of Flint compete over the 6,049-yard ladies par 74 Spring Lake Country Club course.

A veteran of four previous championship flights but never a winner of the Spring Lake event, Mrs. Scripsema scored a 4 and 3 semifinals victory yesterday over Miss Betty Houran, a fellow Grand Rapids contender.

Mrs. Ryden was forced to play an extra hole to take a 1-up victory over Mrs. Dwight Anneau of South Bend, Ind., after they were tied at the end of 18 in their semi-finals match.

Bahama Unanimous Victor Over Gavilan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Young Yama Bahama considered a campaign in the welterweight boxing ranks today after belting out a solid victory over the former king of that division, Kid Gavilan.

Bahama, a 25-year-old former fishing guide from Bimini, took a quick early lead over Gavilan in their televised fight last night in the Miami Beach Auditorium and the Cuban hawk, a slowed-down battler at 32, had nothing with which to rally.

Racing Star Retired

Favorites Off to Fast Start in Trans-Miss.

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Defending champion Rex Baxter and most of the other favorites won first round matches yesterday in the annual Trans-Mississippi Amateur golf tournament.

Playing in the rain over Prairie Dunes 6,526 yards, Baxter, of Amarillo, Tex., defeated Emerson Carey III of Denver 4 and 3.

Lopsided Softball Wins in Waterford League

Hubert Wall's Service scored seven runs in the 1st inning on only two hits and seven walks, then coasted to a 12-7 victory over the Eagles in Waterford League softball play last night at Drayton Plains. Merlin Welch and Harry Diehl each made two hits for the winners.

Baker hurled a five-inning one-hit shutout as the Arrows trounced Jim Wall's Service, 10-0. The 10-run rule halted play in the top of the 6th. Pete Secord collected three-for-three for the victors, who tallied eight runs in the 1st stanza.

Finisterre Wins Second Straight Bermuda Race

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—In a finish as dramatic as 1956, the last time the race was held, Carleton Mitchell's Finisterre won the 650-mile Newport to Bermuda ocean yacht race today for the second straight time, a modern record.

The silver-gray hulled 38½-foot yawl from Annapolis, Md. thus snatched the Bermuda Trophy away from Jack Hedden's California-owned Good News, the first craft to finish, in much the same manner it swept away the trophy from Figaro in the 1956 race.

The Finisterre was unspotted after the first day at sea, but turned up unexpectedly at 11:20 p.m. EST last night as the 31st boat and the first of the Class D yachts to finish. This was some four hours after the Good News had checked in at 7:24 p.m.

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI)—Michigan high school swimmers have taken second to California in the number of places they won on the annual All-American prep tank squad.

Two Cleveland Farmhands Killed in Auto Accident

PIERRE, S. D. (AP)—Two baseball players, released by Minot, N. D., of the Northern League and enroute to join a club at North Platte, Neb., were killed Wednesday night in a collision on U. S. 14 about 15 miles east of here.

They were Rolland H. Anastasia, 22, Port Chester, N. Y., identified by the South Dakota motor patrol as driver of the car, and Keith Emery Freind, 18, Hermiston, Ore. Officers said the Anastasia car collided with a pick-up truck at a highway rise when the vehicle turned out to pass a trailer.

Both Anastasia and Freind were members of the Cleveland Indians farm system.

Britons in Lebanon Advised to Leave

LONDON (AP) — The Foreign Office said today nearly 3,000 British subjects and their families have been advised officially to consider leaving Lebanon because that country's troubles show no signs of subsiding.

A spokesman told a news conference the advice has been extended to wives and families of British diplomats and British subjects who work in Lebanon.

The spokesman shed no light on a general assumption here that British forces are ready to intervene in Lebanon if Britain is asked to do so by the United Nations or by the Lebanese government.

The Passport Office of the State Department issues and renews some 560,000 passports a year to Americans going abroad.

Lee Remick Gets Tired of Playing Sexy Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For a girl who is fairly proper Bostonian, Lee Remick certainly has gotten herself into a lot of sexy roles.

"First came "A Face in the Crowd," in which she played a hip-swinging baton twirler with an eye for Andy Griffith and various other males. Then in "Long, Hot Summer," she was a sultry Southern belle whose prime interest was sex.

Her third picture is "These Thousand Hills," a Western. And does she get to play a valiant pioneer gal? Nope. She's a lady of the evening.

"I can't understand how I got typed," she complained mildly "It's gotta stop."

I've got news for her. This sort of thing can't be stopped. Once a newcomer gets typed, especially in sexy roles, it sticks.

The strange part of it is that Lee seems more like the Debbie Reynolds type in person than the Marilyn Monroe variety. She's a refreshing, wholesome girl who seeks no undue notice of her obvious physical merits.

Matter of fact, the girl won't even pose for cheesecake.

"They asked me to at Warners once," she recalled. "I told them absolutely no. What I want out of acting has nothing whatsoever to do with cheesecake."

See what I mean about this girl? She admits to being "fairly proper" and her Bostonian background extended only from birth until she was 6. Then she moved to New York.

She started acting at an early age, appearing in summer theaters and road companies. She dipped into television in those golden days when the New York dramatic shows were producing exciting new talent.

Elia Kazan first saw her as a sexy doll. He provided her film debut in "A Face in the Crowd." He predicted top stardom and signed her for a number of pictures which she expects never will be made.

Twentieth Century-Fox also noted her potentialities and gave her a one-picture-a-year contract. You can bet the studio will exercise its options.

Lee has alrady done some selling for the studio; she and her husband, TV director William Colleran, attended the Cannes Film Festival, where "Long, Hot Summer" was shown. She was frank in her reaction to the affair.

"The whole atmosphere was kinda crummy," she declared. "The hotel lobby was filled with starlets parading through in their Bikinis, hoping to be discovered. And there I was, without my Bikini. In fact, I don't even own one."

Betty Hutton Decides Against Getting Divorce

Electric Fence Held Preacher's Father Captive

STAYTON, Ore. (AP) — Police yesterday arrested a part-time preacher they said kept his 88-year-old father captive within an electric fence.

Sheriff's deputy Charles Thornton said Daniel George Cole, a husky 60-year-old, was taken into custody after police saw him kicking his elderly father. Cole was charged with assault and battery.

Thornton said the elder Cole was kept captive in a triangular enclosure at the rear of his son's modest home.

Around the enclosure ran a two-strand electric fence that carried a stiff current. Thornton said the old man lived in an old, filthy, 16-foot trailer house within the fence.

Deputies launched an investigation after reports a man had been heard screaming near the Cole house for several days.

Thornton and other deputies hid in bushes near the enclosure and saw the elder Cole lying on the ground.

The son was kicking the old man, Thornton said, and pouring water on him. The arrest followed.

Thornton quoted the younger Cole as saying the treatment was necessary discipline to make his father take care of himself.

Industrialist's Tax Returns Key to Answer

Were Goldfine Gifts Business Expense?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just how much friendship was involved—in Sherman Adams' free-loading at the expense of Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine—should come to light in Goldfine's income tax returns.

Adams, President Eisenhower's right-hand man, calls Goldfine, a textile manufacturer, an old-time family friend. But a key question is this:

When Goldfine paid the more than $2,000 in hotel bills which Adams charged to him, did he do it as a friend or did he deduct the money from his income tax as a business expense?

Adams—in the picture emerging from a House subcommittee's inquiry into the Adams-Goldfine relationship—does not appear as a fast man with a buck.

A subcommittee investigator reported that Adams, while staying in Goldfine's hotel suite at Goldfine's expense, not only charged to Goldfine one dollar for a bowl of ice but a 25-cent tip for the bellboy who brought it.

Adams told the subcommittee this week that Goldfine had invited him to use without cost hotel suites in Boston, New York and Plymouth, Mass. and Adams did.

Friend or not, Goldfine in turn used Adams—who cooperated in being used—to obtain from the Federal Trade Commission information which the subcommittee counsel says should not, by FTC rule and by federal law, be revealed.

When Goldfine got in trouble with the FTC—for allegedly mislabeling a fabric—instead of going to the agency to find out what it was all about he went to Adams and asked him.

Adams asked the FTC for information, got it, and turned it over to Goldfine. Subcommittee counsel Robert Lishman says FTC rules and law forbid giving out this information. It contained the name of the company complaining against Goldfine.

Goldfine is supposed to be called before the subcommittee. Lishman then will be in a position to ask him whether he deducted Adams' hotel bills as a business expense.

The Internal Revenue Service will not reveal this kind of information to newsmen. Sometimes this information is given to a congressional committee, but only with presidential consent.

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower was asked if he would order the Internal Revenue Service to release the Goldfine income tax returns. He avoided a direct answer.

Adams denied he knew he was violating either an FTC rule or federal law in giving the FTC information to Goldfine. He pleaded inexperience, although he's the one Eisenhower depends on most in running the government.

Eisenhower let it be known yesterday he would not fire Adams. He said his No. 1 assistant might be imprudent but he was honest and besides, Eisenhower said, "I need him."

It's still questionable how long Adams will stay. Republicans running for re-election to Congress this year will have the Adams-Goldfine case wrapped around their necks by the Democrats. They're not happy at the prospect.

Goldfine appears to be a man who not only does a lot of talking but brags about his relationship with public officials and the gifts he gives them. It remains to be seen what the subcommittee gets out of him.

U.S.-Russian Relations Eyed

Both Ike, Dulles Feel Khrushchev Following Much Tougher Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have started a new appraisal of U. S.-Soviet relations.

They seek to determine whether current negotiations over such issues as a summit conference offer any real hope of producing agreements.

Both men appear convinced that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is following much tougher policies, but they are not sure why.

State Department experts looking for an answer admittedly do not have all the necessary facts. For example, they are not sure why Soviet ambassadors from the United States and other key Western countries were called back to Moscow this week for urgent consultation.

One speculation is that Khrushchev may be planning some new maneuver in foreign affairs with respect to a summit conference or possibly Soviet trade with the Western industrial countries. Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday he was unable to say whether it would be worth while to continue his long and voluminous exchange of letters with Khrushchev in the light of such incidents as the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary.

He said that the execution of Nagy, who was premier at the time of the Hungarian revolt against Soviet communism in late 1956, showed that the Soviets are following "policies of terror and intimidation . . . to bring about complete subservience to their will."

He added that this incident should alert the entire free world to "the lack of confidence that we are compelled to feel in the words and actions of these Communist imperialists."

His hopes for coming to workable agreements with the Soviets, he added, have suffered "a very great setback."

The Soviet high command has taken in recent weeks a series of actions bound to cost Russia good will and prestige, but it appears not to be bothered by this cost.

$720,000 Medical Center Honors Surgical Orderly

RENO (AP) — Washoe Medical Center's new $720,000 diagnostic and treatment facility was dedicated to a surgical orderly.

The honor came to Chris Kakoris, 67, a native of Greece, as he completed 27 years to become the hospital's longest employe.

Administrator Clyde Fox estimated that Kakoris has wheeled more than 25,000 patients to surgery.

Sprays Yacht Hull With Stainless Steel

MANITOWAC, Wis. (UPI) — A new use has been found for liquid stainless steel that has been successful in coating water tanks, dairy machinery and oil tankers. A local boat company used it to coat the hull of a steel pleasure yacht.

Microscopically fine flakes of stainless steel with a resin plastic binder were sprayed on the surface of a 90-foot steel diesel yacht built for Charles F. Johnson of West Palm Beach, Fla.

The coating makes the hull better able to withstand chemical erosion, corrosion, rust and abrasion.

Average yield of corn on U. S. land is 33 bushels to an acre, but yields of 140 bushels to the acre are not uncommon and there are reports of yields as high as 225 bushels an acre.

Grains Steady in Early Deals

CHICAGO (AP) — Major influences in grain futures were absent today and prices on the board of trade generally were within a steady range in early dealings.

Wheat and corn shifted mostly within minor fractions both above and below previous closes while soybeans trended toward firmness and rye toward weakness.

Near the end of the first hour wheat and corn had lost their small gains. Wheat was unchanged to ⅝ lower, July $1.85, corn unchanged to ¼ lower, July $1.31¼, oats ¼ to ½ higher, July 62⅞, rye unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.27¼, soybeans unchanged to ⅜ higher, July $2.23½, and lard was 8 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $12.40.

The Department of Agriculture said it has accepted more subsidy bids on corn exports. The bids ranged from 11 to 22 cents and involved 790,000 bushels, some of which will not be shipped until November.

Bank Interest Rate Reduced in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Britain today reduced its official bank interest rate to 5 per cent—the level of 1957.

It was an optimistic move opening another notch on the tight control valve holding back the nation's spending.

Today's reduction was ½ per cent.

It was the third cautious cut since the rate was thrown up to a 36-year high of 7 per cent last September to help fight the crisis caused by the plunging value of British currency.

The rate is set by the government-controlled Bank of England. It fixes the price at which the Bank of England makes money available to other banks and sets the pattern for the general flow of funds throughout the nation and the worldwide sterling bloc.

His Liking for Rides Leads to Boy's Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Roccisano, 7, was treated to three rides on a small merry-go-round mounted on a truck parked near his home yesterday.

It was great fun. Michael didn't want to quit.

He leaped on the rear of the truck as the merry-go-round operator started to pull away from the curb.

His hands slipped and he was crushed to death by a rear wheel.

Bank Slashing Interest-Rates to Back Spending

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—To encourage consumers in making major instalment purchases, the Lake County National Bank will issue loans for that purpose next week at one-half the usual rate, Glick Shultz, president, said last night.

The half-rate interest will apply to loans for purchases made in Lake County such as boats, automobiles, major appliances, and home improvements.

The bank said a customer who made a $2,500 loan over 30 months to buy a new car would save $200 in interest by borrowing within the June 23-28 period.

Rates vary depending upon what the loan is used for. But the interest rate on a new car, for instance, is around 6 per cent. That would be chopped in half under the bank's plan.

Which Industry to Halt Slump?

Spokesmen for Many Lines Expect to Lead Nation Into Boom

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Next to guessing when the nation's new business boom will be born, the most popular pastime today is naming the industry that will be the proud papa.

This week spokesmen for various lines have predicted their industry is destined to lead the nation out of the recession.

A farm equipment maker says sales are so much better this year that a revival in production of this mchinery can set the pace, not only by paring unemployment rolls in that industry but by giving the metals companies welcome orders.

Tied in with this is the belief throughout the farm belt that the rise in farm income has both thwarted the recession in those states and set the stage for the next big push upward for the entire economy.

A spokesman for the construction industry says the mantle of new leadership clearly is falling upon its shoulders. Another, speaking for the housing segment of the industry, says that the first stirrings of better days ahead in that field show clearly that more home building is already charting the course for a general advance.

Another construction division, highway building, holds that the big spending of public money just ahead will start things rolling for everybody.

In Detroit where optimism about the sales allure of forthcoming models is always a standard commodity, the cause for and the timing of the next big advance is considered to be the unveiling of 1959 models and the expected crush of buyers.

Air conditioner makers say all that this country really needs is a series of heat waves. They and all their brethern building household appliances see the signs of a home building revival as pointing the way to good times.

A stock exchange leader says that what's needed is a reform of the tax structure so that people would have more money to buy securities, thus generating enough public confidence to pull the economy up by its bootstraps.

Some old sobersides continue to think that consumers in general will date the upturn. Let them start in large numbers to spend more and save less, and factories will run full speed again. The fact that consumer spending was cut back only slightly has kept the slump from snowballing, it's true. A new buying spree would gladden many hearts.

Lions Club Reports on Year's Activities

Pontiac Lions club installed new officers for the coming year at a dinner and program at Sylvan Lake Boat Club last night. New president is Dr. George Harkless, who succeeds Larry Logsdon.

Annual reports of the club's service projects were made. Major work of the club is concerned with sightless people and children with defective vision. During the past year the club spent in excess of $2,000 to assist children who needed financial aid. Supplying of white canes to blind people, assisting the League for the Blind and aid to the Leader Dog Foundation at Rochester were also included in the year's work.

Target Tossing Varies

DETROIT — With practice a hand-trap thrower of clay pigeons can vary his tosses to afford shots very similar to the close-to-the-ground rabbit shot, the still higher but straight-flying pheasant shot, and the high-flying duck or goose shot.

S-P Considers Financial Plan

May Ask Creditors to Take Preferred Stock for Long-Term Loans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A plan to ask creditors to accept preferred stock in exchange for 55 million dollars in long-term loans is reported under consideration by Studebaker-Packard Corp.

The South Bend Tribune yesterday said "reliable sources" report that a July 1 deadline is being sought in the stock exchange plan for 20 banks and three insurance companies who hold S-P loans.

A stock exchange for only half the debt would wipe out the auto firm's March 31 deficit and put operations back in the black.

Any such stock exchange would require approval of common shareholders. S-P now has no preferred stock outstanding.

Reports of the financing plan came a 30 South Bend civic leaders formed a Citizens for Studebaker Inc. pledging purchase of at least one share of stock each. The 30 are to meet again next Tuesday, bringing 30 more citizens with them in a pyramiding community aid plan.

The purchases will be at the going price of about $5.50 a share. The intent is not to give an immediate financial boost to the firm but to spread ownership among a large number of persons who will be inclined to buy Studebakers and "talk up" the car.

The Tribune said there have been no indications whether the preferred stock proposal would have any effect on an option held by Curtis-Wright Corp. to buy five million shares of common stock at $5 a share. The option expires in November.

Named Sales Manager

DETROIT (AP) — Norman Sobol, 34, has been appointed sales manager of a new department of C. M. Hall Lamp Co., manufacturer of lighting and other equipment for auto makers.

If Your Car's Burning, Just Get a Bottle of Beer

OWOSSO (AP) — When Dewey Campbell of Owosso started his car the other day the carburetor caught fire.

Campbell dashed into a nearby saloon, grabbed a bottle of beer, snapped off the cap, shook the bottle and let fly at the flaming carburetor. That put out the blaze.

Won't Discuss Record as Red

Un-American Activities Group Launches Probe of Show Business

NEW YORK (AP) — The director of the televised quiz show "Twenty-one" was out of a job today. He was fired after refusing to tell the House Un-American Activities Committee whether he has a past Communist record.

The director, Charles S. Dubin, was questioned yesterday as the committee opened public hearings into communism in show business. Nine persons in the industry were questioned.

Another questioned was Arthur Lief, American guest conductor of the Moiseyev Russian ballet, now touring this country and playing to packed houses. Lief refused to say if he is presently a Communist party member.

Dubin told the committee he is not now a member of the party, but said he would invoke the Fifth Amendment if asked about past associations.

The National Broadcasting Co immediately barred Dubin from its facilities. The producers of the quiz show, Jack Barry and Dan Enright, followed suit by firing Dubin.

NBC said "persons who refuse to testify as to their present or past affiliation with the Communist party render themselves unacceptable as . . . employes on NBC programs."

Dubin, a free-lancer, also has directed or helped to direct "The Investigator" and parts of the "Omnibus" program.

NBC's action also apparently meant that Dubin will not get the job of producer-director of the Dinah Shore show next season—a position paying $3,200 a week. Dubin confirmed reports that he had been considered for the job.

Lief said he got the job as guest conductor with the Moiseyev troupe by applying to Sol Hurok, the impressario who brought the sensationally successful dance group to this country.

The conductor refused to say if he had discussed his political views with Hurok or whether any Communists had helped him get the job.

Lief also would not answer when asked if any of the more than 20 Americans in the orchestra for the Moiseyev American tour are Communists.

He invoked the First — free speech — Amendment and the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination.

Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo), chairman of the committee, presided. With him were Rep. Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio) and Rep. William Tuck (D-Va).

Executives Slim Down for Health, Survey Reveals

CHICAGO (UPI) — Executives are slimming down.

According to a survey conducted by the Life Extension Examiners, the number of over-weight executives has been reduced a third in the last 15 years.

Dr. Harry Johnson, medical director of Extension Examiners, said that the primary reason for the change is that executives realize the importance of keeping their weight down as part of total personal health.

Business and industry-sponsored health programs have promoted attention on this help-yourself phase of staying well, he added.

"Overweight is the plague of the 20th century," he continued, "and it is the outstanding health hazard in America today. Too much fat destroys people as surely as disease."

Johnson said by keeping weight down, the executive has made himself less vulunerable to such over 40 killers as heart disease, diabetes and high blood pressure.

"Today, only 15.2 per cent of executives are more than 10 per cent above normal weight," he said. "This is a big improvement over 15 years ago when 29 per cent were too heavy.

Of the 5,000 executives examined for the study, 58.9 were healthy without evidence of significant organic disease, he said.

"This is a high level of health that the general public does not surpass," he said.

Gleason Signs Hackett

NEW YORK (AP)—Buddy Hackett, a comedian who played the title role on "Stanley," televised by NBC last season, has been signed for Jackie Gleason's new show. The Gleason series will begin Oct. 3 over CBS.

The cement industry often uses almost one-third of a ton of coal for every ton of cement produced.

Plan Vacation School for Waterford Church

Sinatra Is Becoming International Romeo

By EARL WILSON

MONTE CARLO—Frank Sinatra's romantic reputation has become international. The French-Polish actress, Bella Darvi, tried to latch onto him here but got such a brushoff, even before The Kings Go Forth premiere for Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier, that she fled to Paris.

WILSON

His big weekend date — beautiful blonde Carol McDaniels of South Carolina who became the Marquesa de la Portago—wore the biggest emeralds and diamonds seen hereabouts. But at a party in Frank's suite afterward (which lasted until sunrise) the Marquesa got out of her jewels and gown into toreador pants. Frank got friendly with Carol recently in Rome and he stashed her at a table with the Peter Lawfords while he sat with Grace and Mrs. Tina Onassis at the party.

CAROL McDANIELS

So you want to be a movie star? Just when lovely Erin O'Brien was getting a terrific reception in Paris, she learned that Warner Bros. probably wasn't picking up her option in Hollywood because it called for a $200-a-week salary raise.

Her agents told her the company wanted to continue her at the same salary—and advised her to refuse.

"Not only that, but my two children have the chicken pox at home and I haven't been there since late in March," she groaned.

Her husband, singer Jimmy Fitzgerald, was summoned by Sammy Davis to join his show at Los Angeles. "He's been baby-sitting," Erin said, "and he'll be glad to be singing again and will be—providing he doesn't have the chicken pox by now."

Erin — who's been in Spain making the picture "John Paul Jones" — oges back for the Steve Allen TV show shortly. She was wise to come to France for exploitation because one American I talked to here was under the impression, when he heard the name being discussed, that they were speaking of a male actor named "Aaron O'Brien."

Anti-Khrushchev Forces Ganging Up on Nikita?

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Kremlin has shifted to a tough line, and Nikita Khrushchev is apparently having a hard time with his enemies in the Soviet Communist party.

These two developments are related. American foreign policy toward a summit meeting may have contributed to both, wittingly or unwittingly.

Seemingly well-founded reports say that the anti-Khrushchev forces may have ganged up in a determined effort to clip the Russian chief's wings at the meeting of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee now under way in Moscow.

Since Stalin died in 1953 there has been a succession of crises of Soviet political leadership, each closely connected with internal and foreign policies. Out of each of them Khrushchev has emerged with increased power.

But these successes have not destroyed opposition. In fact there are indications it may be increasing.

One likely leader of anti-Khrushchev forces is the Central Committee secretary, Mikhail Suslov, a dogmatic Stalinist. Apparently Khrushchev has recently been moving in on Suslov — demoting him from some of his established functions and preparing for the kill.

Khrushchev is a ruthless opportunist. He has been engaged in a vast reform of the Soviet system, including a reorganization of industry, agriculture and education. The changes he has espoused, particularly those in agriculture, have aroused bitter opposition in the Soviet bureaucracy. These opponents have been watchfully waiting for some resounding failure by Khrushchev.

They now have this failure—on the summit conference question. Apparently Khrushchev promised to come through this year with such a meeting and then used the prospect as a political weapon against the opposition. But he failed to produce the conference.

American diplomacy may have helped to produce this situation by taking a thoroughly negative attitude toward a summit meeting.

The new Soviet hard policy in foreign affairs is evidenced by the bitter Soviet assault on Yugoslavia, the execution of Imre Nagy and other developments increasing international tension. Quite possibly Khrushchev is trying a radical flanking maneuver to undermine his enemies by taking over much of their Stalinist program.

Ferry Morse Division Will Move to Kentucky

DETROIT (UPI) — Ferry Morse Seed Co.'s Packet Division will be transferred from Detroit to Fulton, Ky., probably this fall, according to President Stephen Beale.

High costs resulting from the division's obsolete buildings in Detroit are causing the transfer, Beale said. He said the company also wants to locate closer to the geographical center of its market.

About 200 persons are employed by the Packet Division, 60 per cent on a seasonal basis. Beale said all employes who want to transfer to Fulton will have a chance to do so.
