Dems to Battle on Nomination for Highway Job

Late Hours Session Brings No Results at Grand Rapids

By PETE LOCHBILER
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

GRAND RAPIDS — A battle loomed today as Michigan Democrats prepared to enter their spring nominating convention here. Top party leaders tried until the wee hours this morning to settle on a favorite for state highway commissioner.

At dawn, there was no clear decision. They were hoping to avoid a convention floor fight between five hopefuls, one of them an Oakland county man.

The main contest was shaping up between two contenders: Thede C. Banhagel, superintendent of a Kalamazoo construction company, and John G. Mackie, Genesee County surveyor.

There were rumors circulated but unproven, that Banhagel was favored by the black-topping interests. This Banhagel and his chief supporter, Murray D. Van Wagoner, vigorously denied.

The former governor and one-time state highway commissioner charged in turn that Mackie could not legally serve in the office. He claimed this because Mackie is not a registered engineer.

Mackie, defending his candidacy admitted he is not registered with the state. He said in reply that Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Cavanagh had considered that lack of registration was not a legal bar to his serving.

There was a possibility a compromise would be reached before the convention proper began at 11 a.m. At that time delegates were expected to adopt a platform backing Gov. Williams' educational and highway programs.

These were expected to emerge as big issues in the election campaign.

Delegates had also to nominate a slate of 10 candidates—three on the non-partisan ballot—to compete with the Republican ticket in the April 1st election.

As a convention prelude, several

Snow flurries and a high of 26 to 30 is the outlook for tomorrow.

Dock Strikers Back at Work

Huge Backlog of Cargo on Piers; Tugboat Men Remain Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Dock men went back to work today on piers in New York and other Northeastern seaboard ports, ending a costly 10-day strike.

Signals summoning longshore gangs sounded at 7:55 a.m. and a few minutes later the docks buzzed with activity once more.

The scene was repeated elsewhere along the coast from Maine to Virginia following the signing of new contracts between employers and the 45,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Assn., who load and unload ship cargoes in the ports.

The men had been ordered to resume their tasks at 8 a.m. at some points, technicalities delayed the actual return a few hours.

However, some 4,000 striking tugboat workers yesterday rejected a proposed six-year contract to end the port work stoppage, now in its 23rd day.

Asks for U. N. Sanctions

CHAMPIONS RESOLUTION — Lebanon's Foreign Minister Dr. Charles Malik addresses the 80-nation U. N. General Assembly as he presented yesterday's formal demand that the U. N. invoke sanctions against Israel.

Eban Arrives in U. S. Sunday With Message

U. N. Bloc Moves for Sanctions; U. S. Hoping to Avoid This Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration appeared firmly opposed today to any further U. S. concessions to get Israel to withdraw its troops from areas taken from Egypt.

Officials said Secretary of State Dulles, keeping close touch with President Eisenhower, is determined that Israel will have to modify its position. They said the U. S. position will not be altered.

After a stop at London, Eban is due in Washington Sunday to pick up his talks with Dulles and other U. S. officials

Eisenhower and Dulles are awaiting Eban's return reportedly with a new message from Ben-Gurion, before deciding on this country's next move on the question of sanctions against Israel.

AGAINST SANCTIONS

The Asian-African bloc yesterday moved formally in the United Nations for sanctions against Israel. The United States wants, if possible, to avoid such action.

Debate is scheduled to start in the U. N. Monday on the Asian-African proposal to condemn Israel and invoke economic and military measures against that country.

Dulles and Eban met last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Dulles failed then to win Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba. These are positions the Israelis took from Egypt in last fall's fighting.

U. S. MAKES OFFER

Israel has refused to relinquish them without firm guarantees against subsequent Egyptian harassment and blockade.

★ ★ ★

In a move to induce Israel to withdraw from the disputed areas, the United States has offered to declare its support of free navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba and to work for stationing of a U. N. force in the Gaza Strip to prevent Egyptian commando raids on Israel.

Ben-Gurion is under pressure from his cabinet to hang on to the disputed areas, come what may. He faces a confidence vote

Fear 25 Dead in Korea Crash

U. S. Plane Cracks Up on Han River Island; 5 Bodies Found

At least 134 of the 159 Americans aboard were saved, but 5 bodies were found and it was feared tonight the death toll might reach 25.

The pilot said an engine of the big C124 Globemaster ran wild, burst into flame and spewed chunks of metal into the two-story fuselage, tearing holes big enough for a man to walk through.

As the tide ebbed at the Han's mouth today, permitting resumption of the search for bodies at the crash scene, Air Force officials listed 20 persons missing and Army officials listed 17. An Air Force spokesman said:

"It is very doubtful if they will be found alive."

The Air Force listed 134 rescued and the Army 137.

The troop transport—the Air Force's largest-took off from Kimpo Airfield for Tokyo with 10 crewmen and 149 passengers, most of them servicemen looking forward to rest leaves in Japan.

LANDED ON BELLY

"We landed on our belly. The first impact was smooth, but the second was a lulu. The next thing I knew I was in the water.

"I crawled on an ice floe and I like to froze. People were pouring out of the plane and struggling onto a sand bar 50 yards from shore."

Is 'Highly Apologetic'

Wilson Stays Firm on Guard Training

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, sticking to his guns on the six months training program for the National Guard, last night carried his argument into the opposing camp.

He was the honor guest at a dinner of the Philadelphia City Troop, one of the oldest Guard units in the nation.

The blunt, white-haired defense chief stirred a storm of comment last month when he remarked that some young men joined the Guard to avoid the draft during the Korean War.

Wilson, in an interview before his talk at the dinner, said he did not come to Philadelphia to apologize for his remarks about the Guard.

He declared he came here at the special invitation of Maj. Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Pennsylvania's adjutant general, who has given his support to the Army—Wilson six months active duty plan. Numerous National Guard leaders favor only an 11-week program.

In his talk at the Philadelphia Guard unit's armory, Wilson departed from his prepared text and said he was "highly apologetic" for his comment on the Guard. That reference drew a burst of applause.

Wilson came to Philadelphia on a two-fold mission. He accepted in mid-afternoon an award given the Defense Department by the Freedoms Foundation in a ceremony held at Valley Forge Memorial Park.

Doctor Advises Women to Study for Widowhood

DENVER (AP)—Dr. C. H. Hardin Branch says middle-aged women ought to study for widowhood.

Dr. Branch is chief of psychiatry at the University of Utah Medical School. He made his proposal yesterday at a professional clinic sponsored by the Colorado Medical Society.

"It's an unpopular subject," he conceded, "but the plain fact is most women stand a very good chance of becoming widows and they have no training for it."

He suggested classes which would "broaden the approach to life . . . encourage an interest in anything . . . cultivate any asset."

Bait Is Mouse Effective

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—This Fresno man says positively he does not need a better mouse trap. William N. Campbell reported today he baited a trap in his motel cabin with a butler substitute two days in a row. Each morning there were two mice in the one trap.

Plan for Humans—Not for the Birds

Peace Through Pigeons?

TOKYO (AP) — For quarreling couples a 60-year-old Japanese bird fancier recommends pigeons — because "they are so intimate" and "represent a symbol of love and peace."

For frustrated housewives having trouble with playboy husbands he also recommends pigeons — because "they always come home to roost."

Yonosuka Itakura, director of the Japan Homing Pigeon Assn., has devoted more than 30 years to promoting the birds' care and welfare.

"Keep looking at a pigeon's eyes," he says with a smile, "and you're gradually carried away. The care of pigeons will cure a man who has a quick temper or has tendencies to resort to violence."

First Lady Receives Yearly Physical

WASHINGTON (INS) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower was scheduled to leave Walter Reed Army Hospital this morning after receiving what the White House described as her "yearly physical checkup."

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty said the 60-year-old First Lady went to the hospital late yesterday afternoon and planned to remain overnight.

Hagerty said Mrs. Eisenhower has undergone a medical checkup about once a year since she has been in the White House.

For Direct Distance Dial Apparatus

Bell to Enlarge Pontiac System

Plans to add a $1,450,000 fifth floor to its Pontiac central office building were announced today by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Scheduled for completion by September, the new floor will house direct distance dialing equipment and several offices. The building is located at 54 E. Huron St.

Installation of the new dialing apparatus will begin upon completion of the new addition, and will be in operation by March of 1958, according to R. H. Storm, Pontiac district manager.

The dialing equipment will make possible direct contact with 25 million telephones across the nation from exchanges in the Pontiac district, including Clarkston, Commerce, Drayton Plains, Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester and Walled Lake.

The additional floor will contain more space than presently required, but will be designed to allow for future expansion needs, Storm said.

Inauguration of the new service will allow telephone users to make direct contact with the 25 million other phones in the system by dialing 13 digits.

Storm explained that if a local subscriber wanted to call San Francisco, for example, he would first dial 112 which would connect him with the new switching equipment housed on the local fifth floor.

The code number for San Francisco (415) would then be dialed from the local unit, permitting the local caller to dial directly the desired seven-digit San Francisco number.

★ ★ ★

Besides the switching apparatus, the added floor will contain district and commercial sales offices. Construction will start next week.

Judge Defends 5th Amendment

Famed Jurist Medina Would Let Reds Go Free Rather Than Take Rights

NEW YORK (INS)—Judge Harold R. Medina, who presided at the 1949 trial of the 11 top Communists leaders, would rather see every Red go scot free than water down the protection of the fifth amendment.

Medina, now a member of the federal court of appeals was guest of honor at the Washington's birthday dinner of the Sons of the Revolution last night in New York. He was awarded the organization's gold medal in recognition for outstanding public achievements.

"The privilege against self-incrimination," he declared, "extends to Communists as well as others who may be charged with crimes, and their rights must be upheld no matter how mischievous or dangerous they may be.

"I would rather see every Communist go scot free than in any manner diminish the forces and vigor of a single one of our precious freedoms."

Thugs Pummel Lathrup Man

Victim Pistol-Whipped by Gas Station Bandits, Listed as Serious

Rasso Deininger, 45, of 19617 Coral Gables, was in critical condition when admitted to Receiving Hospital after the beating. His condition today is listed as serious.

Deininger said he was sitting at a desk when the two men entered the office of his station at 2450 E. Grand Blvd.

"They were both brandishing pistols," said Deininger. "First they told me to stand up from my desk, and then they told me to lay down on the floor. I guess I didn't move fast enough.

"They both began swinging at my head with their guns. One of the pistols accidently went off. That's the last thing I remember before passing out."

Police said Deininger's rear pocket had been ripped off, his wallet was missing and a safe had been rifled. The thugs, however, missed $200 in an inside pocket. It has not been determined how much was taken from Deininger's wallet and the safe.

Wilson Still Wants Training for Guard

phia to be met by the mounted First City Troop escort—on horses borrowed for the occasion from the City Mounted Police unit because the National Guard unit now employes only tanks—and was driven to the National Guard armory in downtown Philadelphia.

* * *

The troop members were clad in their historic buff and silver buttoned uniforms, dating back to 1840. The actual combat record of the unit goes to the Revolution.

Wilson, in a pre-address interview refused to say specifically that his visit was an effort to appease the National Guard.

In his speech he said:

"Never for one moment has the valor of the members of the National Guard, or the great traditions of its accomplishments on the battlefield, been questioned. But there is grave doubt as to the adequacy of their training and readiness for future emergencies."

At issue is the Army's order that starting April 1 all National Guard recruits will train with the Regular Army for six months. The Guard has advocated a training program of 15 weeks and some members of Congress have questioned the need of the entire program.

NO PRIOR SERVICE

Wilson recalled that the Army has ordered that effective April 1 all persons joining reserve components including the Guard, who do not have prior military service, must receive six months of active duty training.

He said he has approved that program, and said: "You are aware of the controversy which grew out of this decision in regard to the training of the National Guard and which has quite properly aroused such wide public interest. Actually, the area of difference is a very narrow one.

"The President, the Department of Defense, the National Guard Assn., and the Congress are in agreement that a minimum of six months of sound military training is highly desirable for the members of the Army National Guard, as well as the Army reserve."

Anderson Resigns Post as Waterford Supervisor

LLOYD ANDERSON

Lloyd Anderson presided over his last Waterford Township board meeting as supervisor last night. He submitted his resignation, effective immediately, which was accepted by the board.

Anderson was elected First District state representative last November and will devote his time to his new duties.

In his letter of resignation, terminating six years of service to the township, Anderson thanked his fellow board members for their cooperation and pledged his support to his successor.

The board delayed until its regular meeting Monday the naming of an acting supervisor to hold office until the April 1 election.

TRAFFIC REPORT

* * *

Surveys were made at Pontiac Watkins Subdivision and Lorraine Manor Subdivision for speed limits and stop signs. Recommendations called for "no parking at any time" signs to be posted at bridges over the Clinton River: Beachland, Crescent Lake road, and Pontiac Lake road.

A 40 m.p.h. speed limit was recommended for Pontiac Lake road from M59 to Airport road.

The recommendations were made pending final approval from Lansing.

No More Giving In to Israel, Says Ike

Monday with the issue somewhat in doubt.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is understood to be trying to get the Egyptians to retain legal control of Gaza, as provided for in the Palestine truce and the Israeli civil administration to stay, but with the U. N. police forces in actual control.

* * *

The effect would seem to be a victory for Israel which is dead set against returning Gaza to Egypt.

U. S. officials today viewed Egypt's acceptance of the proposed U. N. occupation of the Gaza Strip as a possible break in the deadlock over Israeli troops withdrawals.

These officials lauded the Egyptian move as "statesmanlike" and expressed hope that it will satisfy Israel's demands for guarantees against continued Egyptian guerrilla attacks.

Happy Birthday to You!

Dems Square Off for Highway Battle

hundred delegates gathered in the Hotel Pantlind ballroom to watch Williams cut birthday cake with a frosting depiction of the Mackinaw bridge. Today is his 46th birthday. Among candidates giving the three minute speeches afterwards were two who went into the convention with Oakland County backing:

Mrs. Murphy, sister-in-law of the late Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, seemed to have a clear road for nomination as University of Michigan regent.

She not only was the sole woman candidate for the post but also was the only woman seeking a place on the spring ticket.

Harvie last night was given a good chance, but only if the fight between the top candidates ended in deadlock. Both Harvie and Banhagel served on the State Highway Department under Van Wagoner.

Harvie also was a member of the Wayne County Road Commission for 10 years. Another candidate with Oakland County backing seemed sure of nomination. He is Lynn M. Bartlett of Grosse Pointe Woods, running unopposed for the nomination as superintendent of public instruction that he won two years ago.

* * *

The candidates for Supreme Court justice also were unopposed. They are incumbent Justices Talbet Smith and John D. Voelker as well as Cavanagh.

From Williams on down there was an emphasis on the non-partisan in which Democrats hoped to gain a substantial majority in the state's top court. There were more than a dozen candidates for other posts to be filled, including: Two members to the State Board of Agriculture: One member to the State Board of Education, and a second member to the regent's board.

The Oakland delegation elected four members to the state central committee; they are: Mrs. Harriett Phillips of Huntington Woods, Mrs. Leona Simmons of Pontiac, Leonard Bennett of South Lyon and Robert Boyer of Pontiac.

30 Hurt, 1 Dies in School Fire

400 Terrified Children Dash to Safety From Carolina Blaze

MOUNT AIRY, N. C. (AP) — All but one of more than 400 terrified youngsters scrambled out of windows or dashed through doors as a lightning-fast fire raged through their school here yesterday.

The toll stood today at one dead and about 30 injured. The school is a smoking ruin.

* * *

Many of the grade-school children teetered fearfully on window ledges of the one-story brick building and had to be helped or pushed out.

Several teachers suffered painful injuries as they herded their charges to safety. At least one was burned critically in the room where a boy's body was found.

A. P. Phillips, principal of the Flat Rock School, said, "We never dreamed anybody could get trapped with so many exits." There were four, two at both front and rear.

* * *

"It's unbelieveable how fast the flames and smoke filled the building," Phillips said.

Firemen said the building, erected about 1925, was destroyed in less than an hour after the fire started about 1:15 p.m.

Larry Adams, nine-year-old third grader, was the only one who didn't get out. His teacher, Mrs. Cora Beasley, was among five critically burned. Spectators said they assumed Mrs. Beasley had tried to the last to help Larry escape.

Four Killed in Wreck When Car Rams Bus

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Four persons were killed and four others injured today when a car collided head-on with a Greyhound bus on U.S. Highway 101.

Investigators said the identity of the dead, all riding in the auto, was not established immediately. They were believed to be two youths and two girls.

The injured were among 25 passengers on the bus, bound for San Diego. The California Highway Patrol listed them as Mrs. Marian Clark, 72, of Newport Beach, Calif. and three Marines, Donald C. Doud, 24, Parris Island, S.C.; Ralph Walter, 19, Camp Pendleton, Calif.; and William Morrison, 19, San Diego.

The bus driver, Jean Marino, 25, Long Beach, told patrolmen the car veered into the front of his bus. It was raining at the time, he said.

Coroner's deputies said it took wrecking crews more than an hour to pull the wreckage apart so they could remove the bodies.

Call 200 Police to Force Control of Rock 'n' Rollers

NEW YORK (INS) — Nearly 200 policemen, many of them mounted on horses, patrolled New York's Times Square before dawn today to prevent a repetition of yesterday's bedlam at the premiere of a rock 'n' roll movie and stage show.

By 4 a.m. there were already almost 200 teenagers lined up outside the Paramount Theater for today's performances.

* * *

Yesterday police were taken by surprise when more than 5,000 screaming youngsters showed up for the show, which features Alan Freed, a disc jockey who claims the distinction of having coined the phrase "Rock 'n' Roll."

The Times Square area was pandemonium for hours. Traffic was blocked and the theater's glass-enclosed ticket office was smashed.

Inside, barefoot girls and leather-jacketed boys danced in the aisles. The rhythmic pounding of feet actually caused the building to sway, and firemen became so alarmed they cleared out the second balcony as a precautionary measure.

* * *

To Freed, the whole thing was "delightful." To veteran police, it was the wildest demonstration of youth hysteria since the early days of Frank Sinatra nearly two decades ago.

County Schools Get $801,601 in Bell Tax

Oakland County school districts received a total of $801,601 from Michigan Bell Telephone Co.'s 1956 tax payment to the state Primary School Fund, the firm revealed today.

* * *

Pontiac school system netted $117,227 as its share based on a school census of 21,850. The total Oakland County school census was 149,274, according to Ray H. Storm, company manager here.

Michigan Bell said that its contribution in 1956 to the state school fund of $9,792,322 was the largest in the company's history and larger than any other firm's.

It came to $5.37 for each youngster in the state between the ages of five and 19.

400 Residents to Star in 1st Ice Show Sunday

BIRMINGHAM—About 400 skaters will take part in the first Birmingham Recreation Board-sponsored ice show at the Eton Rink at 7:30 tomorrow night.

Vivian Heard, program director, said so far as she knows, this is the first time such a show has been presented in the United States.

Performers have been chosen from among the rank and file of those participating in rink activities.

"Birmingham," Miss Heard said, "may be followed by other communities in this kind of a program, but it can rightfully be proud of being the first."

A group of 75 beginners in costume will bring several Mother Goose characters to life, as they take to the ice.

Another highlight of the show will be the skaters' square dance, with Don Parry as caller. There will be ballet, waltz and solo numbers.

Bloomfield Township residents are reminded of the Feb. 28 deadline for the payment of 1956 county and school taxes. Unpaid taxes will be returned, "deliquent," to the county treasurer's office in Pontiac, where a penalty will be assessed.

Feb. 28 will also be the final day for purchase of dog licenses at the township hall. The treasurer's office in Pontiac will handle sales after that date.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Estes will talk of their work at the Oakland County Convalescent Hospital when they are guests of the Altrusa Club at a 7 p.m. dinner Tuesday at the Community House.

Mrs. Estes will talk on the social program and rehabilitation work at the hospital. Estes' topic will be "Facts about Michigan's Senior Citizens."

* * *

The Ruth Shain International Relations Class, meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Community House, will hear Mrs. Samuel Duncan present a survey on "Our Program in the Near East."

The group also will discuss what President Eisenhower wants as a foreign relief policy. Six members who heard Barbara Ward, associate editor of the London, England, Economist, speak on "The Necessity of Unity and Understanding in a Free World" at Ann Arbor recently, will report on her address.

Inquiry Asked of Oil Interests

O'Mahoney Tells Senate Big Petroleum Firms Influence Mideast Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) has urged a Senate inquiry into what he said is a connection between private oil interests and the formation of U.S. policies in the Middle East.

* * *

In a Senate speech — he said such a probe should be held before the Senate votes on President Eisenhower's request for special economic-military powers to block Communist expansion in the Middle East.

The resolution, already passed by the House, is being debated in the Senate. A vote may come late next week.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he also favors an inquiry.

* * *

O'Mahoney, who heads two subcommittees which are studying the government - sponsored emergency program to supply Europe with oil, said he has documents indicating major oil firms "have more information than the Congress of the United States about our policies in the Middle East."

He said the documents indicate U.S. policy was to "protect the concessions" of oil companies in the Middle East.

* * *

O'Mahoney has been a critic of the oil-to-Europe program, administered by 15 big oil companies cooperating through the Middle East Emergency Committee. He also has lambasted petroleum producers for recent domestic price hikes. The companies say the increases resulted from higher costs and were not connected with the Middle East crisis.

O'Mahoney said the subpoenaed records show Secretary of State Dulles met last Aug. 13 with representatives of major oil companies. Invitations to the session were marked "no publicity authorized," he added. On Aug. 14, the government announced formation of the emergency committee.

* * *

The Wyoming lawmaker said the documents quote Dulles as saying any nationalization of oil facilities in the Middle East "should call for international intervention." O'Mahoney said he interpreted Dulles' remarks as indicating "our policy in the Middle East will be to protect the concessions" of major oil companies.

Reject Knight's Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A committee of municipal judges rejected Gov. Goodwin Knight's suggestion that all drunk drivers be jailed. "Taking the offender's driver's license away is a greater deterrent than sending him to jail," said Judge Carl H. Allen. "Besides, drunk drivers don't cause as many accidents as speedsters."

Youth Critical Following Crash

A 14-year-old boy, involved in a head-on collision that killed his mother and one other person on U.S. 16 near Martindale road in Lyon Township yesterday, remains critical today in Mellus Hospital, Brighton.

Doctors say that James Brown is in "a very precarious position."

James was injured yesterday when the car in which he was riding, driven by William Jackson, 49, of 676 Farnsworth St., swerved off the road and then met an oncoming tractor-trailer truck head-on.

James' mother, Mrs. Dorothy Brown, 32, of 1334 Brooklyn St., and Jackson were killed instantly. Driver of the truck, Merle Linder, 35, of Palo, was not injured.

U. S. Offers to Pay Half

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) —The U. S. offered today to pay half of the additional $6,500,000 cost of the U. N. force in Egypt, provided other member states voluntarily contributed the other $3,250,000.

Your Income Tax

"1040" FILERS

Is your income $5,000 or more? Do you as husband and wife filing a joint return have combined incomes of $5,000 or more? Is your income from interest or dividends in excess of $100? Do you have gross income of any amount from other sources such as rents, annuities, sale of stock investments, etc.? Are your itemized deductions such as contributions, interest, taxes, in excess of 10 per cent of your income, regardless of the amount of income? Then you use Form 1040.

Are you claiming the status of head of household or surviving spouse? Are you claiming the dividends received credit or retirement income credit?

Are you claiming overpayment of F. I. C. A. (social security) employe tax? Are you claiming deductions for travel, transportation, or "outside salesmen" expense? For them you use Form 1040.

Human Test of Drug to Curb Cholesterol Marks Dramatic Step at Heart Institute

BETHESDA, Md. (NEA) — From a rat's cage in a laboratory to a patients' ward several corridors away—that's the dramatic step they're taking here to try to curb America's number one killer, heart disease.

It's the final advance science must take where the health of humans is at stake. And it goes on every day on numerous medical fronts.

TESTING DRUG

Cholesterol is a fatty substance which accumulates in the human arteries. It's thought to be one of the key causes of heart attacks.

Delta-4-cholestenone succeeded in interfering with the natural process that makes cholesterol in rats.

"But there's a big difference between giving it to rats and giving it to people," says Dr. Daniel Steinberg who came up with the cholesterol findings along with Dr. Donald Frederickson.

A bio-chemist and MD at the National Heart Institute, Steinberg is now starting to give minute quantities to three heart patients.

As he administers from one to three and a half grams a day to each patient, Steinberg will carefully check to see if the large amount of cholesterol in their blood goes down.

"We don't know whether the body will find a way to overcome the effect of the drug," he says. "But if it does, the drug will be of no use to us."

He points out, however, that it was effective with rats for periods as long as eight weeks.

* * *

"Because we're not sure how it will act on people versus animals, we'll be taking more precautions than are actually necessary," explains Steinberg. He says it'll be six months before he can judge the value of the drug.

The fact that he has reached this dramatic stage would never have been possible without prior advances in basis research by other scientists, according to Steinberg.

HAS MORE KNOWLEDGE

"It's just recently that we learned so much about how the body produces cholesterol," he says. "And without that knowledge I couldn't do anything."

This is a point dedicated scientists hammer home again and again. They say it's the dull, undramatic basic research that lays the ground-work for headline making experiments.

It is essentially this groundwork that feeds the life line of progress and discovery at the National Heart Institute where millions of dollars are being spent to crack the mystery of heart diseases.

Attention has particularly been focused on this effort during February, American Heart Month.

"We're shooting for treatment, but we're also shooting for the underlying causes," says Dr. James Watt, Director of the National Heart Institute. "We support people like Steinberg who have good clues, and we help them unravel the mystery. Then they present their findings to the scientific community for verification."

A recent Public Health Service study showed that coronary disease caused about a third of all deaths among white males in the age group 45 to 47, and about a fifth among men 35 to 44. The rates among white females were somewhat lower.

SEX HORMONES

That's one of the reasons, according to Watt, why studies are being made on hormones.

There's a possibility that the female sex hormones help prevent heart disease because women seem to have less heart difficulty before change of life.

"Here's where your basic research comes in," says Watt. "To the average person hormones might not seem related to heart disease, but more knowledge about them could mean an important help ahead."

India to Discuss Kashmir Policy

Jarring Seeks Solution to Old Problem; Nehru Bans U.N. Troops

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An official spokesman said today the Indian government is ready to discuss the Kashmir problem with the U.N. Security Council president.

He emphasized that does not mean India approves of the U.S.-sponsored resolution sending the council president to India and Pakistan.

The council yesterday voted 10-0—with the Soviet Union abstaining — to send its president for February, Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, to India to seek a settlement of the Kashmir dispute through "any proposals."

Russia the day before had vetoed another Western proposal to send Jarring to India and Pakistan with the suggestion he investigate the possibility of stationing U.N. troops in Kashmir. India has opposed any U.N. intervention in Kashmir, claiming the Hindu maharajah in 1947 joined the Himalayan state to India.

India and Pakistan have been quarreling since then over which will get the state. Both have troops there and India recently announced the annexation of the richer eastern half her forces occupy.

The Indian government spokesman said the Foreign Ministry is giving envoys of all U. N. countries represented here a "full explanation" of India's stand on Kashmir. Some 35 diplomats have been briefed this week, he said.

★ ★ ★

Prime Minister Nehru, on an election tour in central India, emphasized in a speech yesterday that Jarring would get no agreement to any proposal to replace Indian troops in Kashmir with U.N. forces.

Washington's Great Decisions
6. Not to Be King

After the colonies had gained their freedom and became the United States, many people thought that democracy was a weak and disorganized form of government.

They thought it would be better to have the same kind of government as the British. The idea began to spread, especially in the army, which had not been paid for a long time because there was no money for pay.

An army officer, Col. Nicola, who commanded a Pennsylvania regiment, wrote to George Washington and proposed that Washington become king of the United States.

Washington rebuked him saying: "If I am not deceived in the knowledge of myself, you could not have found a person to whom your schemes are more disagreeable."

But his country had one more honor for its great military leader. In 1789, he was elected the first president of the United States. No one but Washington was considered for the honor.

He was elected for a second term and then, rejecting a third term, he retired to his beloved Mt. Vernon where he died in 1799.

Wants to Permit Women in Texas' State Militia

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A bill has been introduced in the state legislature to allow women in the Texas militia.

The sponsor, Rep. Bill Hollowel, said the effect of the measure will be to allow female nurses and other authorized female personnel between 18 and 41 to enlist in the Texas National Guard.

A society to restore kilts to popularity has been started in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Merrily We Grow Patch Upon Patch

Dearborn's Mayor Orville Hubbard has come up with a King Size idea. He would like to annex 15 western Wayne County Townships (375 square miles) to Dearborn's 25 square miles.

The result would be a city almost three times as large as Detroit, almost twice the area of Chicago and bigger than New York in area.

But we do like some of the reasons he presents in favor of such a move. He points out:

"There are now 44 different independent local governments in Wayne County, and townships are continually being sliced up to make even more costly and unnecessary communities.

"The rabbit-like births of independent local governments keep the people in a constant and complete state of turmoil and confusion over jurisdiction and the source of their services.

"The costly multiciplicity of governments actually hinders solutions to the big problems common to all communities . . . schools, water, sewer, garbage and rubbish disposal, etc . . ."

With these observations we are inclined to agree.

The problem of too many governments has not as yet been especially bothersome in Oakland County, with the possible exception of the Royal Oak Township area where a dozen or more cities are crowded into the area of the single township.

But lately there is a trend toward patch-work incorporation; and some formerly suburban areas suddenly find themselves strictly metropolitan in population and problems . . . if not in solutions.

Some must eventually incorporate within present boundaries, or join with neighbors in larger corporate units.

The course they choose will influence the welfare of the areas and their people for years to come.

The problem deserves most careful study.

We are reminded of the Sorcerer's Apprentice who commanded his master's magic broom to carry water for him. But he forgot how to stop it. When he broke it in two, both halves carried water and when he smashed the halves all the splinters started to carry water until he was thoroughly innundated. Only the return of the Sorcerer with the magic words to stop the nonsense saved him.

Anyone got a magic wand?
May be time to use it!

Americans Become Prolific Readers

Americans are prolific readers, and the task of satisfying their prodigious appetite for the printed word through newspapers, magazines and books adds up to a more than five and a half billion dollar order each year.

The Bureau of the Census has just issued a preliminary report on the nation's publishing industry, compiled from the 1954 census of manufacturers.

Newspapers accounted for more than half of this important segment of American industry. There were 8,646 firms engaged in publishing newspapers, employing 281,799 persons with payrolls totaling more than a billion and a quarter dollars. Value of all newspapers produced in a year was set at $3,091,027,000.

The year's output of the magazine publishers was valued at $1,421 billion, but this business required but 62,428 employes as against the much larger needed for newspaper publishing. There were 2,045 magazine publishing firms.

Third big section of the publishing industry, firms which are book publishers, book printers and miscellaneous publishers, numbered 2,385 firms, gave employment to about 75,000 men and women, and produced books valued at $1,117,802,000.

★ ★ ★

Whether we read to satisfy our thirst for information, whether for entertainment, or whether to guide our purchases, all of us turn many times a day to the printed page.

★ ★ ★

Ike's Economy

Budget Policies Becoming Confusing to His Backers

By PAUL MILLER
in the
Rochester (N. Y.) Times-Union

The economic policies of the Eisenhower administration look more and more like those of Truman and Roosevelt.

The President's talk of some sort of controls to combat inflation just about closed whatever gap remained. It was an old record scratching away again.

★ ★ ★

It is clear that growing numbers of Republicans, and Eisenhower Democrats as well, are a little less bewitched—and increasingly bothered and bewildered—to misquote the popular song of some years back.

★ ★ ★

Many who voted for more stability and an end to at least some of the gimme programs now feel cut adrift by what they have seen, heard, felt and paid for. Many who still hold loyally to some hope were shaken anew when President Eisenhower declared, discussing his $71.8 billion budget:—

"As long as the American people demand and, in my opinion, deserve the kind of services that this budget provides, we have got to spend this kind of money."

So saying, he invited Congress to cut the budget—but offered no suggestions himself.

If no real leadership for economies is to come from the President of the United States, who was elected in part by those who believed he would try to put an end to wasteful spending, then there very likely will be no effective leadership at all.

The unhappy truth seems to be that the administration is talking economy and anti-inflation while practicing something else.

Only Secretary Humphrey speaks up. And he offers no specific proposals for cutting the spending.

Apparently nothing will be done as long as whatever party is in power thinks spending is popular. Most people still are sold on the idea that we can somehow get something for nothing from the government.

We need dramatic and determined leadership at the highest level, supported powerfully all up and down the line, to make any effective cut.

With President Eisenhower offering no such leadership, nothing will be done by this administration barring a change that only great popular demand could bring.

You don't like all this?
Neither do I, but facts are facts.

Divine Requisite

Days of All Faiths

Pre-Lenten Season Under Way

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, Feb. 24, called Sexagesima, is the middle Sunday of the pre-Lent season. Last Sunday was Septuagesima; next Sunday is Quinquagesima. These ponderous Latin words mean, respectively, sixty, seventy and fifty — the figures refer to the number of days from each of these Sundays until Easter.

Since the Sundays are only seven days apart, the arithmetic is obviously off. Quinquagesima is exactly right—it is just 50 days before Easter—but the other two are only approximate. People didn't worry about such matters in the old days.

12TH APOSTLE

Monday is St. Matthias' day. It should have been yesterday, but Sexagesima Sunday took precedence over it and crowded it over to today.

St. Matthias is not mentioned in any of the Gospels, but in the first chapter of Acts, verses 15 to 26, the story is told of how he was selected to fill the place left vacant by the traitor Judas Iscariot.

In spite of Matthias' previous obscurity, it is certain he had been a follower of Jesus since the beginning of the Lord's ministry. St. Peter, in his speech advocating the vacancy be filled, made it clear the new Apostle must be chosen from among the "men which have companied with us all the time that the Lord went in and out among us."

Two were nominated: Matthias and a man named Joseph. After prayer, the 11 eligible voters cast lots, "and the lot fell upon Matthias and he was numbered with the eleven Apostles." The casting of lots, after prayer, was a common way of settling such matters among the Jews They felt it really gave God the chance to make the choice.

It is not clear why St. Peter and the others felt so strongly their number must be maintained at 12. It may quite possibly have been because they expected the Second Coming of Christ to take place immediately and they must provide someone for each of the thrones on which Jesus had stated they would sit, "judging the twelve tribes of Israel." (St. Luke, chapter 22, verse 30.)

MEDICAL MISSIONARY

If the Anglican church had not, at least unofficially, given up the custom of canonizing new saints nearly three centuries ago, it is not unlikely Sir Wilfred Grenfell would someday be St. Wilfred.

Grenfell, who was born on Feb. 28, 1865, was certainly the greatest medical missionary the Church of England ever produced, comparable in his time to the present famous Albert Schweitzer.

Son of an English schoolmaster, Grenfell studied medicine and upon graduation in 1889 immediately joined the Royal National Mission for Deep Sea Fishermen, with which organization he cruised the North Sea for three years, establishing homes for fishermen on land and mission vessels for them at sea. Then for the next 40 years he worked, as a doctor with missionary zeal, in the remotest villages of Labrador and Newfoundland.

For all his medical training, he was at heart first of all an evangelist, but he never failed to work for the physical, economic and social improvement of his people. In both Labrador and Newfoundland he established hospitals, cooperative stores, factories and schools.

His common-sense, practical approach to the problems of the people for whose souls he was primarily concerned captured the imagination and won the support of the world a generation ago, just as Schweitzer's work has done in these times.

Grenfell died in 1940.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Cure Puts Halter on Running Ear

"Used your remedy for chronic running ear. Cured it. I had had it for 25 years." (Mrs. S. C. H.)

Answer—Mrs. H. refers to the ear drops I recommend for running ear. Do not keep ear plugged with cotton or other material. Leave it open for free ventilation. Drop in ear each night and morning two drops of a solution of ten grains of boric acid powder — as much as you can take up on a dime — in one fluid-ounce (two tablespoonfuls) of alcohol. If your druggist will not supply the alcohol without prescription perhaps your family physician will oblige.

BRADY

"Male relative started drinking while in the service at 28. Now at 44 he is still drinking heavily, can't eat any breakfast, unless a tumbler of wine . . . same for lunch or several beers . . . occasionally a hamburger . . . one meal a day, supper . . . one to two quarts of wine daily, a half-gallon over weekend . . . can't sleep, keeps a bottle near bedside . . . gets angry when accused of being alcoholic . . . says he likes drinking and will keep it up to his dying day . . . smokes incessantly . . . your frank comments to read to him . . ." (Mrs. K. S.)

Answer—that would only make matters worse. The best hope is to persuade the man to go to Alcoholics Anonymous. A. A. will not come to him.

"I don't know just what the guy meant who said he gets up a few times every night but no longer "has to run up the garden path." Anyway, please send me your pamphlet on 'Prostatic Obstruction.' (E. J. C.)

Answer — I do not recall the item, but I suppose the guy has installed interior plumbing. The garden path gets pretty rugged in the winter time, I can tell you. For the pamphlet on bladder trouble in elderly men send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Son, age 4, has a Baker's cyst behind the knee. Doctors can't be sure it is sealed off from knee joint . . . Druggists here seem to like you. They have a Dr. Brady shelf." (C. M.)

Answer—Named for a physician who described it—Baker's cyst is a swelling back of the knee, due to escape of synovial fluid from the joint, inclosed in a sac or membrane. If it causes trouble, it may be removed, and the joint sealed off if necessary. The druggists there are like dairymen everywhere, they like me. But, the dentists—they do not like me very well. But then, as nearly as I can judge almost nobody who is anybody does—I mean professional people—teachers, nurses, clergymen. Come to think of it, sometimes I'm saddened when I realize how unpopular I am. But not for long, for there's always the bowling green and I believe God loves me.

"Had hives for years and never found any relief until I began taking Ca and D. For the first time I have had no hives to speak of in over four months. My son has a bad allergy. Would calcium be good for him too?" (Mrs. E. C.)

Answer — Probably, yes. Anyway it can do no harm to try. Send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlets (1) "Hives" and (2) "Relief for Allergy."

"Last year every time our 15-year-old daughter had a test coming up in high school, she would get dressed and ready for school but would be unable to eat any breakfast, would then cry . . . took her to two doctors who said they could find nothing wrong . . . Missed 39 days at school and the most a pupil can miss and still pass in June is 40 days . . ." (S. L. R.)

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet "Examination Jitters and Stage Fright."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Religious Influence Is Positive

It is our job as moralists to make this world as much like Heaven as possible. We are not to shun contacts with Earth. Christ urged us to go forth into life and exert a positive constructive influence on this planet. Some day Earth may become so much like Heaven that only a slight gap will intervene. Maybe we can then step back and forth at will.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-312: Clarence Q., aged 20, is the avowed atheist mentioned yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, in the Middle Ages, theologians preached that this world was a sinful, wicked place.

"So they often hid away from society and tried to keep from becoming contaminated by worldly contacts.

"As an atheist, I certainly think they were wrong. They shouldn't have been so selfishly concerned with their own future welfare.

"Why didn't they pitch in and help make this world better?"

ERRORS OF MANKIND

Clarence has a valid point there which modern Christians of all all denominations generally admit.

★ ★ ★

Alas, the history of progress is studded wth glaring mistakes that some of our leaders have made.

Medicine, for example, is likewise guilty of similar errors. George Washington was probably killed by his doctors who bled him excessively when we modern medics would have recommended a blood transfusion for him.

But those medics in his day were acting according to the accepted belief of the age. And so were many clerics of the Middle Ages who tried to flee from earthly contamination.

★ ★ ★

Jesus didn't do this. Instead, He rushed out to meet life in all of its phases.

And He definitely urged His followers to go into all nations, baptizing, healing the sick, feeding the hungry, cheering up the discouraged, and even visiting those in prison.

Christ advocated an extroverting, positive gospel. He certainly didn't believe in our hiding away and letting the world go to perdition.

LOVED LIFE

Jesus has erroneously been depicted as a Man of Sorrows.

★ ★ ★

He wasn't. He was a Man of Joy. For He delighted in weekend house parties at the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus.

He attended wedding feasts and dinner parties and even started the first church picnic when He fed the 5,000.

He also launched the Easter breakfast when He served broiled fish and bread at dawn to the hungry fishermen who had labored all night in vain.

★ ★ ★

At Gethsemane, Christ asked God to exempt Him, if possible, from the pain and humiliation that were ahead.

And it wasn't just because Jesus wished to shun the pain of crucifixion. He undoubtedly was sad at bidding his close friends farewell.

Indeed, He took them with him into Gethsemane so that in His supreme hour of trial, His earthly friends could be close at hand. And He seemed very disheartened to think they were asleep at His hour of decision.

MAKE EARTH HEAVEN

It is the job of true moralists to try to convert this Earth into a semblance of Heaven.

We are not to avoid life but to modify life around us in line with the Golden Rule and other ethical laws.

As Earth rises toward a more heavenly plane, there will then be far less of a gap between the two.

Even now I personally feel that if our departed loved ones are ever given a brief glimpse backwards, they will be permitted to see us only in our moments of greatest nobility and unselfishness, which is usually at church.

I teach two Bible Classes each Sunday and would do so, even if I thought there were no Heaven beyond this life.

But I firmly believe there is a heaven. And I have a hunch that the noble souls of the past may get a chance to look down at us on such occasions.

So I am in church, rain or shine, not just to set a positive example to the young folks of today, but also to salute the children and adults who may be figuratively waving down to me from Up Yonder.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Doesn't Want Boys to Fight for UN as Now Constituted

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I agree with Senator Fulbright in his opposition to the extension of the Monroe Doctrine, but for entirely different reasons. Are you readers aware that the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Near East would put our armed services under the control of the President of the United States subject to the whims of the United Nations?

The language is clear . . . "the authority herein granted shall be carried out to the greatest extent deemed practicable by the President through the United Nations, and that such employment shall be consonant with the treaty obligations of the United States and with the charter of the United Nations."

Have we forgotten Korea, where the enemy knew our war strategy because it was a United Nations action? I don't want my boys fighting for the U.N. as it is presently constituted, and I don't believe that your other readers are anxious for that either.

'Foreign Aid Fine but What of Us?'

Talk about being taxed up to the limit, I just noticed a report from Istanbul, Turkey, that she opened 88 bridges, totaling 15,528 feet in length in 1956. That's really making progress. Also, Germany is all elaborately rebuilt, plus other nations that we, the taxpayers, helped to put elegantly on their feet.

This is good and well. We are big hearted, but when do we begin to help ourselves by diverting the tax money for our own benefit, for schools, more teachers, more roads, etc.?

Just heard a news report that Detroit pays only $4,300 for their librarian with a masters degree. All one can say is "shame." The time has come for deep thought and reflection.

'We Should Offer Helping Hands'

In regards to the expressed opinion about Mrs. Wyatt, please read St. Matthew, chapter seven. And do you have children of your own? How would you like to be judged by the public opinions when Mrs. Wyatt took two lie tests and neither one was used? Why take the test if it isn't going to be used?

If all our church-going people were good Christians, there would be helping hands that try to place these people on solid rock in place of pushing them deeper. They love their children the same as you or I. Now is the time to help. May God bless all who have judged. Let the Lord be thy judge.

WORRY, WRECKS!

J. L. VOORHEES

Worry, is a force, a negative one that repels, that wrecks. Someone said: "For worry never robs tomorrow of its sorrow, it only saps today of its strength." To arrive at a destination one uses a force that propels.

There are times when worry seems a logical way to solve a problem; it isn't. Damon Runyon, one of the most lucid authors of our time, had but a few months to live. Just as he made his hero surmount difficulties, he made himself live outside of his illness, directed his thoughts to happy, constructive channels, lived in his tomorrows, serene to the end. Worry would only have sapped his strength, made him more miserable.

M. E. SIPLE

Mortals are motivated by either a negative or positive force; one pulls us down while the other lifts us up. We cannot use both at the same time; it is our privilege to choose. To enjoy this life, remove the sting of vicissitudes, be constructive, positive in your thinking and bask in the sun of creation.

Ike Puts Trust in Army Doctor

By INS SERVICE

Maj. Gen. Howard McCrum Snyder may not have convinced President Eisenhower to seek a second term, but he almost certainly could have forced the GOP to find another 1956 nominee.

There is little question that if his trusted friend and personal physician had warned him to step aside, Eisenhower would have done so.

The President's confidence in the tall, white-haired Army doctor has been built up through 11 years of constant association. It was confirmed again yesterday when the Chief Executive followed his advice and entered Walter Reed Army Hospital briefly for X-rays and blood tests.

The tests showed no signs of ill health, but Snyder was taking no chances with a patient whose slightest cough is front page news.

It was the ramrod-straight doctor, now 76, who was called by the First Lady in the early morning of Sept. 24, 1955, in Denver and told that the President was suffering from "indigestion."

MADE DIAGNOSIS

Snyder diagnosed it as the symptom of a heart attack, ordered Eisenhower to Fitzsimons Army Hospital and was in almost constant attendance during the recovery.

Again, last May, it was Snyder who had the President taken to Walter Reed, where another stomach disorder was found to be ileitis.

Snyder joined the Army in 1907 and brings a no-nonsense military thoroughness to his practice.

He has insisted on regular electrocardiograms and blood chemistries for the President throughout the last 10 years. He often urges his patient to play more golf but admits that in tense times his advice is not needed.

A typical day for Snyder begins at 9 a.m., when het gives the Chief Executive a careful visual examination. There is another quick checkup at noon and sometimes a third in the evening.

Snyder was graduated from Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia in 1905 and learned to like Army life when he served as a civilian doctor at Fort Douglas, Utah. Technically "retired" in 1945, he is as active as ever.

The doctor himself expresses his idea of a fitting reward for his work when he says, "There is no compensation in medicine in my opinion that equals the appreciation of a patient."

A modern guy's the kind who says to his girl, "Darling, we've been going together five years now—don't you think it's about time we broke up?" . . . We heard about a night club so empty the m.c. said, "Good evening, waiters and tables." — Earl Wilson.

Filing Income Taxes Brings Out Unusual Quirks--and Chuckles

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (NS) — A confused taxpayer who needed help in preparing his return went to the local federal building but got off the elevator on the wrong floor. Seeing people sitting in a room, he took a chair among them and waited.

In a little while, the taxpayer was given some papers to fill out. Like the others in the room, he did so. Puzzled after sitting silently for a few more hours, he asked the man who gave him the papers when he would learn what his tax was.

"Tax?" was the reply. "You just took a civil service examination for federal building guard. And what's more, you passed."

This is one of a bundle of actual incidents which the Internal Revenue Service is citing to show that tax collecting has a lighter side and is not always as coldly impersonal as it seems.

The cases, all from the 1956-57 tax-filing seasons, were compiled and sent to district offices where agents will help taxpayers fill out their returns. The theory is that a chuckle might be harder to get than their money.

Some of the better stories:

An elderly taxpayer entered the Wichita, Kans., tax office this year and asked for forms for the last 40 years. He said he wanted to pay what he owed since 1916 to establish a basis for his social security claim.

SURPRISING SIGNATURE

"Well," the old man replied, "when I was a young feller and had to write it to get a job I couldn't, and the foreman wrote it for me and told me to go home that night and copy it. But I didn't watch him do it too good, and the best way I could do it was like this."

An earlier tale involving a change of address from a regular house number to a state penitentiary was topped by this communication:

"Dear Sir:

"About March 26, 1956, I filed my income tax from the county jail at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

"This letter is to inform you as to the change of my address.

★ ★ ★

"Since that time I have been sentenced to the U. S. Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.

"Very truly yours,"

A woman paid $6,000 for a piece of property, sold it for $12,000 and claimed a $2,000 loss on her tax return. The IRS district director asked her to explain and she contended: "The dollar is worth only 33 and one-third cents compared to when I bought this property."

She had to pay a tax on her profit.

NEW MEDICINE!

Another woman claimed the cost and care of her pet Chihuahua dog as a medical expense. Challenged by a southern district office, she said she had read an article claiming that some asthma sufferers had obtained relief on acquiring Chihuahuas as house pets.

She claimed that her pup had relieved her own case but agents told her the deduction could not be allowed.

Another dog story, which was not included in the list sent to field offices but which is a favorite at IRS headquarters in Washington, involves a taxpayer who claimed his mother-in-law and pet dog as dependents.

Advised that he could claim his mother-in-law but not the dog, he indignantly responded: "This is ridiculous. I spend much more on the dog than I do on my mother-in-law."

Williams Asks for Profits Tax

Sees 6 Pct. Assessment as Alternative to State Income Levy

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams today urged a six per cent tax on corporation profits to pay for proposed steep increases in state spending on local schools, higher education and mental health.

Of all major sources of extra revenue, he said, such a tax makes most sense. Additional consumer taxes and a state levy on personal incomes were among alternatives considered and rejected, the Governor said.

In a special 8,000 work message to the Legislature, Williams said the profits tax, coupled with two other recommended changes in the state's revenue structure, would net 76 million dollars and barely balance his 411 million dollar 1957-58 budget.

He previously called for spending of 411 million dollars, an increase of 80.6 millions over estimated general fund outlays for 1956-57 and 75 millions above anticipated resources for the fiscal year starting July 1.

★ ★ ★

DIFFICULT PROBLEM

"The people, I am sure, understand the problem is a difficult one, and no solution can be found which will please everyone.

"Please be assured of my continued desire to be helpful, my willingness to consult with you at any time, to waive my own opinions if better ideas are brought forth, and to share the hard decisions."

The second and third specific proposals called for forgiveness of the first $50 liability under the business activities tax and repeal of the corporation franchise tax, which covers somewhat the same field as the profits tax but on a different basis — that of net worth.

Here is the mathematics of it:

Conservatively, the Governor said, the corporation profits tax can be figured to produce 22 million dollars annually for each per cent, or a total of 132 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Partly offsetting this would be an estimated 52½ million dollars lost through repeal of the corporation franchise tax and 3½ million lost through the business activities tax forgiveness feature.

★ ★ ★

Subtracting 56 million in offsetting tax reductions from the gross gain of 132 million dollars would leave a net gain of 76 million.

Poison, Fags, Soap, Oil 'Gourmet Fare' for Tot

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Spinach should be no trouble now for 12-month - old Noia Hollingsworth. This is what they pumped out of the tot's stomach at the county hospital:

Roach poison, cigarette butts, washing powder and bathing oil.

His parents, not waiting for their gourmet son's verdict, took him to the hospital yesterday after finding him playing "in a mess of stuff" in a drawer. Doctors didn't recommend Noia's "snack" as a steady diet, but said he will be all right.

THE REAL STORY — Columbia Pictures brings to the screen the story behind the rock 'n' roll headlines in "Don't Knock the Rock." The movie, starring Bill Haley and his Comets, is now playing at the Strand Theater. Singer Alan Dale makes film debut.

Summerfield Favors Cleary for Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — If asked to recommend an appointee for federal judge in Michigan's Eastern (Detroit) District, Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield said he would reply: "In my opinion, Owen J. Cleary is exceptionally well qualified."

Summerfield, however, pointed out there now is no vacancy on the federal bench in Michigan and termed appointee speculation "somewhat premature." But Judge Arthur Kocinski will retire at age 70 on April 1.

Appointments to federal benches are made by the President on recommendation of the Attorney General. They are subject to Senate confirmation.

'Gay Times' Members Find Bowling Exciting

Pontiac Press Photos by Jim Maher

Captains Mrs. James Hamman (left) of Birmingham and Mrs. Don Breen of Berwick boulevard add up the scores after a game. High scorers were plentiful this day, and we don't even mention gutter balls—the girls insist there weren't any!

Mrs. A. A. Dodd of Drayton Plains was happy about her score at the time Mrs. Morton Bacon of Chippewa road was caught at the "polisher." The group of friends gathers each Thursday afternoon at Huron Bowling Center.

It's a sure strike for Mrs. M. G. Prosser of Orangegrove avenue. She bowled a 203 game the day the photographer visited, and she holds the highest single score in the league, a 233. Her average is 164.

Dieting Cannot Change Your Build

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When figure problems are due to fatty deposits or to poor muscle development, the situation can be improved with diet and exercise, but when bone structure is the cause it is a different story.

There are so many factors which enter into how much a woman should weigh and what her measurements should be. First there is inheritance. If you come from a family with a string-bean build, you are apt to be the same way. If your ancestors have a stocky, heavy frame, the chances are that you will have one, too.

Many women attempt to reach measurements impossible for them. You may not have an ounce of overweight on you, but if your build is stocky and heavy you will not have a waistline perfect for your figure.

Speaking of inheritance, many women say that overweight runs in their family. More often eating habits are inherited rather than overweight. And children usually carry the eating habits of their childhood through life with them.

It is possible but not likely that the inherited glandular setup causes the overweight in your family, but more likely overweight is due to habits in eating.

Sometimes poor muscle development causes figure faults. For instance, a woman who is not blow-legged at all may appear so if she is thin and if the muscles of the upper inner leg are not well developed.

This girl knows that if you have too many pounds of fat, you will have to diet and count calories in order to lose them. She is scanning Josephine Lowman's calorie chart. If you would like to have the chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The degree of development of the chest muscles can make the bust measurement larger or smaller. Very large muscles in the thighs will make them look out of proportion, and so forth.

If you simply have too many pounds of fat, of course you will have to diet and count calories in order to lose them.

Most charts give average weights, not ideal weights. Most women gain as they grow older and this shou'd be taken into consideration. Therefore, if you are looking at an average wo'ght chart you will have to subtract from 5 to 10 pounds.

The best charts to use are those which list ideal weight and weights and heights for small, medium and large frames.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my calorie chart send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

A cluster of white camellias, stephanotis and white freezia comprised her bridal bouquet.

Beatrice Brewster, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. Mrs. Robert G. Russell, sister of the bridegroom; Ann Ward, Chloe Dandison of Greenwich, Conn., Mary Cross of Grand Rapids and Bonnie Bergland of St. Charles, Ill, also attended the bride.

The reception was held at Orchard Lake Country Club. Mrs. Brewster wore champagne-colored silk with a nasturtium pink hat and a corsage of bronze orchids.

The new Mrs. Jones changed to a gray and blue silk tweed suit with gray accessories for traveling to the Bahamas. The newlyweds will make their home at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. on their return.

Marjorie Thomson Wed

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A gown of ivory satin was worn by Marjorie Ruth Thomson for her marriage this morning to H. William Saffell. The princess-style gown was accented by heirloom Rose Pointe lace. The full skirt extended into a cathedral train.

You'll Succeed in Work You Love

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"What field offers the best opportunity for retired people?"

That question comes up a lot. It's a good deal like asking, "What color is the most becoming?" It depends on you and your own individual qualities, what you like and what you know.

The restaurant field, for example, is known to be nearly impossible for the amateur to succeed in; but I've known a couple to succeed in it, simply because they adored it, had enormous ability and warm personalities.

I've known plenty of other people to fail in it even though they had years of experience behind them.

If you are thinking of a paying project for after your retirement, don't overlook the little matter of personal interest.

I talked this over with Mr. and Mrs. T., the couple I mentioned who are such a success.

"We love people," Mrs. T. told me. "Bob is a whiz at figures, purchasing and record-keeping. And I'm a good cook—if I say so myself.

"Also," Mr. T. put in, "we began in a small way. We had saved some money and about eight years before I retired, we bought a house on a widely traveled road in the country — a state highway, as a matter of fact.

"We lived there during vacations and weekends and got acquainted with the neighbors.

"After I finally did retire, at 60, we laid our plans carefully. We began with just sandwiches and coffee, during the summer.

★ ★ ★

"We had hundreds and hundreds of customers daily, during the hot months. Then it tapered off, with just a dozen or so regulars during the first winter."

MENU GROWS

"Then I added soup and one hot dish to the menu," Mrs. T. said. "I figured it was better to have limited choice but have every dish really good.

"Little by little business picked up during the winter and local families would come for dinner. We took on some help and now have a full-fledged restaurant! Can you imagine?"

★ ★ ★

Yes, I can imagine. When people really love what they're doing, and make haste slowly, they can't lose!

Confident Living

Put Your Religion to Work to Get Along With Others

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Some months ago, a man came in a very agitated frame of mind to tell me he was going to quit his job. It was a good job, but he "just couldn't stand the man he was supposed to report to." He told me that his superior "didn't know anything about the business, that he wasn't a gentleman and that he was rough, tough, noisy, uncouth and threw his weight around too much."

DR. PEALE

After thinking this over, I asked him, "Do you believe in the strategic power of spiritual techniques in human relationships?"

"Yes," he said, "I do. I believe spiritual principles work, that is, they work for other people, but probably not for me."

★ ★ ★

"That's queer," I remarked. "What's so different about you?"

"Oh," he answered, "it's not me. You should meet this other guy."

"I don't have to," I responded. "He's a human being. He eats with his mouth, sees with his eyes, hears with his ears and walks with his feet. There's nothing different about him. Now, let's talk about you. Do you go to church?"

"Seldom," he admitted. "I don't like the minister in our church."

"Do you give any money to the church?"

"Why, yes," he boasted, "when I go, I leave a quarter in the plate."

"Do you ever pray?"

He hesitated. "Only when I get into a jam."

NEW PRESCRIPTION

"Well," I told him, "you're in a jam now. So, since you have asked my advice, I'm going to write out a 'prescription' for you that I think can keep you in your job. But you must promise to take it.

"First, go to church every Sunday for three months, sit in your pew and practice liking the minister. Listen, and put the sermons into practice.

"Second," I continued, "give your church ten per cent of your salary each week. That is a minimum tithe.

"Third, you and your wife adopt the habit of praying together every night. This practice will fill your home with faith and joy.

"Next, and most important, every morning have a private session of prayer for that man you don't like. Try to understand and love that apparently unhappy personality of his. Pray positively that you may learn to work with him."

My visitor shook his head and negatively as I made each point, and it took some persuading to convince him to try my plan. Finally, he said he'd try it. He is the kind of man who once having decided upon a course of action really follows through.

It's been six or seven months now and he came to see me again quite recently. He reported that he had missed church only once in that whole period. His church going was really taking, for he made the surprising assertion that he actually enjoyed giving more money to the church and that the minister wasn't so bad after all.

And, best of all, the more he tried to understand that other man, the better he got along with him. "You know," he told me, "there are moments when I actually like that man. He still annoys me sometimes, but there are moments when I feel close to him, and I think we'll eventually get to be friends."

All of us read and talk a lot these days about the problem of nations getting along together. But how can we expect nations to do that unless individual human beings practice it, for nations are only composites of individuals. There will always be discouragements, but if you go at personal relationship problems with the knowledge that God intended men to dwell in good will with one another and that He will help them, you can be certain that ultimately you will achieve success in getting along with people.

★ ★ ★

Why not use the prescription I gave the man who wanted to leave his job? To repeat its chief elements: 1. Practice your religion faithfully so that you can be a better person. 2. Establish habits of prayer that will fill you and your home with an atmosphere of faith. 3. Pray for people you do not like and for an increased understanding of their problems.

Do these things, and you'll get along very well with people.

Refugees Learn English Eagerly at Camp Kilmer

In a small barracks room every morning and afternoon at Camp Kilmer, N. J., a group of Hungarian refugees sits intently following a young American soldier's instructions. "A room, a room," he says. And the class echoes back, "A room, a room."

In learning to communicate freely with their future American neighbors, these new arrivals are being aided by a booklet in beginning English written, printed and distributed through the cooperation of two committees of the National Council of Churches.

The soldier is one of two newly inducted men—teachers in private life—who are helping these classes learn English. The new booklet was prepared by Mrs. Elizabeth G. Mitchell, a former missionary to Japan, whom the Council's Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature engaged to write it and to instruct the civilian teaching staff at the Kilmer reception center. On the inside cover, a message in Hungarian greets the new students and explains how to use the simple picture-lessons inside.

"These wonderful people have impressed me by their eagerness to learn," Mrs. Mitchell said. "It is really exciting to work with them." The lessons are not intended to be more than an introduction to the language, she explained, but at the end of the short course a student should know about 200 useful English words and phrases and some 25 items of grammar—"a good start."

★ ★ ★

To enable Americans who have no experience in teaching to help newly arrived Hungarians in their communities speak English, Mrs. Mitchell has also prepared an instruction sheet, "How to Help Others Learn English." The lesson books are being distributed to communities receiving Hungarian families by Church World Service, a central department of the National Council.

FIRST UNITED MISSIONARY CHURCH

CELEBRATING BIRTHDAY — Members of the First Presbyterian Church are observing the 133rd anniversary of their church Sunday. The present church (left) was constructed in 1924 after a fire nearly destroyed the former church (right), which was built in 1871 on the present site. The first church was erected on a plot of ground given by the City of Pontiac at the northwest corner of North Saginaw and Huron streets.

13 Years Older Than State of Michigan

1st Presbyterian Fetes 133 Years' Service

First Presbyterian Church observes its 133rd anniversary Sunday with special services and the presentation of a "Birthday Anniversary Gift" from each member.

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will preach on "Understanding the Church" at 9:30 a.m and Dr. William H. Marbach will speak on "The Living Lord of the Church" at the 11 o'clock morning worship.

At the youth meetings in the evening, special attention will be given to "The Meaning of Church Membership."

In the little log cabin home of John and Mary Voorheis, the First Presbyterian Church was organized on Feb. 26, 1824. The house is still standing on Opdyke Rd. at the Grand Trunk tracks.

The original members were Samuel Martin, John Voorheis and his wife Mary, Ephraim Burge, Elijah Fish and his wife, Fanny, Marty Church, Elisheba Dort, Elianer Ferguson, Harriet Hoskins, Lucina Williams, Julia Williams and Roxa Bartlett.

The church was established 13 year before Michigan become a state while Governor Cass was in charge of the territory; and six years after the first settlers arrived in Pontiac in 1818.

In 1820 the population of Oakland County was 330. Ten years later it was near 5,000.

PONTIAC GIVES GROUND

After worshiping in homes for the earlier years, the congregation was given a plot of ground by the City of Pontiac at the corner of Saginaw and Huron Streets where a small brick building was erected in 1842.

In 1871 a larger building was constructed on the present site but it was damaged by fire in 1914. Little was saved from the fire except the old church bell, which was kept intact for 10 years and later installed in one of the towers of the present building.

In 1924 the First Presbyterian Church as it now stands was built. Twenty-six pastors have served the church, including Dr. Marbach who has been here 26 years.

From the 13 members who paid a total of $25 per year toward the support of the early mission, the church has grown to a membership of 1306 persons. Last year they contributed a total of $118,107 for current expenses and benevolences.

This church together with the First Protestant Society of Detroit and the Farmington Presbyterian Church organized the Presbytery of Detroit which today includes 85 Presbyterian churches.

First Presbyterian has been the mother of a number of churches and the financial supporter of almost every church in Detroit Presbytery.

Included in the program of this week will be the Couples Co-operative Dinner Wednesday. Miss Sara Perkins, former superintendent of nurses, at a hospital in Peiping, China, will be the speaker and show moving pictures of her experiences.

IN PRISON CAMP

A missionary to China for many years, Miss Perkins was recently released from a Communist prison camp in China.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Grothe, the William Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scarce will be hosts for the affair.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Winnifred Larson of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Detroit, will present a discussion on "Better Church School Children's Music" at the Church School Staff Meeting.

Mrs. Bruce Fleming, president of the Michigan Synodical Presbyterian Women's Association will be the speaker at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Women's Group. The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will teach the 10 a.m. Bible Study Class.

Christian Church Observes Goals

Emphasizes Traditional 'Week of Compassion' Opening Sunday

NEW YORK — The Disciples of Christ "Week of Compassion" — traditional period of emphasis on the ministry of relief and rehabilitation among needy and destitute overseas—opened this week in the denomination's more than 80,000 churches throughout the United States.

Primary goal of the 1957 Week of Compassion observance is $499,181,000, it was announced today by Dr. C. O. Hawley, executive secretary of the Disciples of Christ United Promotion.

The major portion of this fund, Dr. Hawley said, is earmarked for assistance to needy persons overseas.

In addition to this appeal, an added $150,000 is being sought for a special housing project to aid six Puerto Rican churches in New York City, organized by members of Disciples of Christ missions congregations in Puerto Rico who have come to New York.

Overall theme of the Week of Compassion will be "This Week We Share."

Among special services and programs will be the Day of Learning tomorrow (Sunday, February 17), the Brotherhood Dinner at midweek and the "Day of Sharing" on Sunday, February 24.

City of Utica to Skip March Election

Shelby, Sterling Vote April 1

Voters of Shelby and Sterling Townships, as well as Utica City voters will go to the polls April 1 to name their officials.

Utica citizens, who customarily go to the polls for a primary election on March 2, will not do so this year, voting only on the April 1 date. The primary vote is being eliminated because only 11 Utica candidates filed for office, seven of whom will be elected.

Shelby Township

In Shelby, voters named both Republican and Democratic candidates for the April 1 vote, in last Monday's primaries there.

Democrats received a higher tabulation of votes for their ticket of officials: Supervisor, Steve Skula 768; clerk, Lorin Evans 719; treasurer, Patrick Earles 355; trustees (two) Joseph Boardman 500 and Frank Flowers 411; constables (four) Joseph Moore 545, Alfred Morrison 485, Howard Parrott 483, Louis Resner 401; justice of the peace, Jack Millard 677; board of review, Victor Massure 567; highway commissioner, Charles Wallace 310.

Shelby's Republican ticket follows: Supervisor: Fred LaGodna 522; clerk, George Kullman 453; treasurer, Dewitt Helferich 501; trustees (two) Harry Conwell 411, Louis Malo 398; constables (four) Donald Miller 326, Friel Combs 259, Arthur Robinson 232, Robert Toynter, 227; justice of the peace, Clyde Lemke 447; board of review, Walter Flickinger 447 and highway commissioner, Guy Nightingale 472.

A proposal to use $25,000 to erect a new fire hall was defeated, 651 to 488, by Shelby voters.

Sterling Township.

Supervisor, Arthur Priehs 686; treasurer, William Kerner 626; clerk, Dorothy Tolley 665; trustees (four) Lawrence Baumgartner 699, Louis Schoenherr 690, Clayton Pohley 517, August Swirtz 457; constables (four) Leonard Malburg 1 068, Leroy Reiterman 854, Anthony Swartz 680, Clarence Fulk 557; justice of the peace, George Bunker 534, board of review, Albert Saal 719.

Name Woman Orchard Lake Postmaster

ORCHARD LAKE — Mrs. Jean Wahlberg, 3850 Green Lake Rd., was sworn in yesterday as acting postmaster of Orchard Lake Post Office by Postal Inspector D. F. Woodward.

Mary Lee Hawkes, who has been in the post office for the past 10 years, and postmaster for five years, asked to be relieved of the job because of mounting responsibilities.

After a two weeks vacation, Miss Hawkes says she will take a less responsible job, in rural services out of the Orchard Lake office.

'Confidential' Officer to Be Called in Probe

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Death threats and evidence that Hollywood stars have been shaken down for big money to keep their names out of scandal magazines became ingredients today in the sensation-packed "Private Eye" probe set for next week.

Still another development was a report that the "inside story" of the strange and never fully explained Marie McDonald kidnaping has been offered for sale to the highest bidder among the expose publications.

Fred Otash, private detective who checks information on Hollywood personalities for Confidential, the best known of the scandal sheets, told International News Service that his life has been threatened since it became known that he faces quizzing about his work.

Otash is one of 30 to 40 witnesses to be heard by a state senate committee headed by Senator Fred Kraft's committee investigating private detective and collection agencies and the expose magazines.

Deer Prefers Dixie Highway to Rough Fields

A traveling deer, who apparently prefers the smooth, straight highway to the rough countryside, astonished motorists on Dixie Highway early this morning.

Perry Banghart, night attendant, at the Square Deal Garage, Drayton Plains, was just going off duty at 7:45 a.m. when he spotted the animal loping north on the highway shoulder right through the heart of town.

As he watched, the deer swerved out into traffic causing several drivers to hit there brakes. But, the animal leaped back to safety and was last seen still heading north on the highway shoulder.

More Union Records in Disappearing Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee official has asked teamster union lawyers to explain what happened to a second batch of the union's financial records sought in its investigation of alleged racketeering in labor and industry.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the special Senate committee conducting the inquiry, said yesterday staff investigators have been unable to locate the records which they sought to subpoena from union files in Portland, Ore.

Starting Tuesday, the special committee will hold hearings on alleged tieups between teamster union officials and gangster elements in Portland. The inquiry was requested by the Portland City Council.

The committee said Thursday it had learned the Seattle documents—which also were sought for study — had been destroyed.

1-Cent Autos? They Had 'em at Annual Sale

WASHINGTON (INS) — Bargain-hungry shoppers by the thousands jammed the nation's capital yesterday in a markdown, carry-out Washington birthday sale bonanza.

Scores of extra police could scarcely cope with the hordes of government workers on a holiday shopping spree for everything from cut-rate minks to a two-for-a-penny sedans.

Lines began forming long before midnight for the once-in-a-year bargains as merchants anxious to clear their stocks were besieged by eager pocketbook clutchers ready to oblige.

Nearly 300 persons swarmed over a downtown auto lot where late model cars—your choice—were available at prices ranging down to two cents each.

To the early and nimble went the spoils. One suburban chamber of commerce even supplied free coffee and doughnuts to patient shoppers.

Expect Penny Cut on Milk in Detroit

EAST LANSING (AP) — A milk price drop of a penny a quart was in prospective today for Detroit area householders.

The cut was predicted after dairy farmers supplying the Detroit milk shed area agreed to slash prices to be asked for wholesale milk in new contracts.

Detroit sets the milk price pattern for the state. If Detroit dairies cut prices, out-state areas are expected to follow.

Delegates to the price - setting meeting of the Michigan Milk Producers Association yesterday approved the lower prices after bitter debate and three hours of wrangling.

The association represents 16,500 dairy farmers. Delegates representing some 10,500 farmers supplying the Detroit area voted 185 to 126 to accept recommendations of their Detroit market sales committee.

★ ★ ★

The association will ask for $4.90 per hundredweight for drinking milk during March and April and $4.65 per hundredweight during May, June and July.

The present price is $5.35 per hundredweight. A hundredweight contains about 46 quarts of milk.

Joan and Hubby Seem Happy as Newlyweds

By EARL WILSON

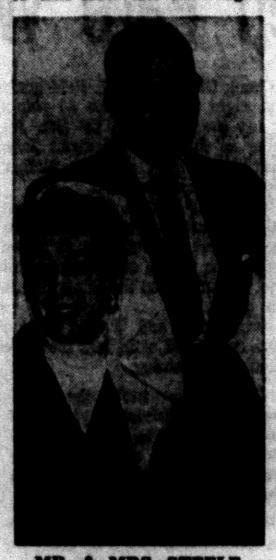
NEW YORK—"This is my no-makeup day," Joan Crawford announced on a recent Saturday afternoon. "My husband hates makeup. He likes my well-scrubbed look."

★ ★ ★

Al Steele nodded. "I think without makeup she looks younger and prettier," he said.

They were having a quiet Saturday afternoon in the Sutton Place apartment they're occupying until their new triplex in the East 70's is ready. Joan's hair was drawn back tightly in a bun and she wore a yellow satin coolie coat, black Jamaican pants and black hand-crocheted shoes with rhinestones. Three French poodles rolled around on the divan contesting for her attention.

It would have been absurd to ask how the marriage is going. The answer was right there to see — and it'll be two years in May.



MR. & MRS. STEELE

"I just have my suitcases ready to go when Al wants to shove off for somewhere," she said. "With me it's 'Go, girl, go!'"

★ ★ ★

Her husband hoarded all his not-too-pressing European business until last August; then he accompanied her to England where she made the film, "The Golden Virgin," with Rossano Brazzi.

"I've put my Hollywood house up for sale," Joan offered.

"I adore Hollywood. But in the future I'll only make pictures there when Al can be there. Other times I'll just live right here in his lap. A three-week separation in Europe was enough."

Al wondered if it would be all right if he brought out a scrapbook of Joan's press clippings which accumulated while she was in England.

It's interesting because, with all the other American people getting their brains beat out, my bride didn't get one bad story," he explained.

Just now there are trips to the Philippines and to South Africa in mind.

"I just go along as Mrs. Steele," Joan said.

Joan even goes to conventions with her husband, and this has led some people to say they thought conventions were meetings at which husbands get away from their wives.

"SOME husbands!" shrilled Joan.

Hollywood Headlines

Bette Acts in Movieland but Her Heart's in Maine

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bette Davis is back in town, but only to knock off a few acting chores and then she's hustling back to her Portland, Maine, home.

One of Hollywood's most distinguished expatriates (she's a two-time Oscar winner), Bette gave up Sunshineville six years ago for the New England life. She was born a Yankee in Lowell, Mass., and she and husband Gary Merrill find life more invigorating back there for themselves and their brood.

"Sure, it's been cold this winter,' she admitted. "We had a couple of weeks of 20 below weather. But it's not bad if you live in the country and don't have to go out a lot. It's a little tough on the kids when they have to go to school, but they dress for the weather and so do we."

Bette is here for her annual visit — "I have to work sometimes, you know." She explained that Gary comes out more often on flying visits to do film and TV chores. But she dislikes flying and makes the trip by train. Because of this, she likes to accomplish as much as she can in one visit.

This time she's making her debut as a TV actress, appearing in filmed shows for Playhouse of Stars, G.E. Theater and perhaps another series.

"I must say it's quite a new experience,' she commented in her dressing room. "You work hard for three days and then you're through. It's tough work, but at least you can do a variety of things. It's like the old repertory."

She said there was nothing in the feature film line for her at the moment, but she is mulling an offer which she thinks has "rare possibilities."

SAXTON HITS CANVAS—Carmen Basilio, still the welterweight champion, watches ex-champ Johnny Saxton land on the canvas after delivering the left hook that knocked out Saxton in their title fight at Cleveland Arena last night. The heavy-hitting Basilio, who kayoed Saxton at 2:42 of the second round, said he threw more punches in those two rounds than "I sometimes do in a whole fight." The third title match between Basilio and Saxton, the fight had been scheduled for 15 rounds.

John Landy, Says He's Quit Racing

MELBOURNE (INS) — John Landy, who has run the mile faster than any who ever lived, ran second today in a minor half-mile race and immediately announced, "I've had it!"

The three-minute, 58-second miler explained that the statement was an official announcement of his retirement.

The 26-year-old Landy added:

Gene Bone Leads at Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Several pre-tournament favorites were missing today as Gene Bone, young pro from Pontiac, Mich., sought to protect a one-stroke lead over Doug Ford in the third round of the $36,000 Houston Open.

★ ★ ★

The 25-year-old Bone all but danced off the 18th green yesterday after sinking a 15-foot birdie putt that gave him a surprising 67-67—136 — eight under par — to lead the winter tour's richest tournament after 36 holes.

Ford, former PGA champion and the 1957 tour's leading money-winner, had the only other pair of scores that knocked three or more strokes off par. His 68-69—137 for the 7,200-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course left him two strokes ahead of Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and amateur Phil Rodgers, University of Houston freshman from Lo Jolla, Calif.

Today's third round had a reduced field of 90 pros and eight amateurs. The 36-hole cutoff point was 149, five over par. The 60 players eliminated including such stars as Cary Middlecoff, Jack Burke Jr., Jim Turnesa, Shelley Mayfield, Henry Ransom, and Sam Urzetta.

Middlecoff, the only two-time winner here, was eliminated with a 74-78—152 that included only one birdie. Burke, the 1952 winner here and the golfer of the year for 1956, disappointed his hometown fans by bowing out with a 73-77—150.

The field will be cut again to the 60 low scores, plus ties, for the final round tomorrow.

Palmer led the first round with a 67 but slipped to a par 72. Rodgers pulled even with rounds of 68 and 71.

Both Bone and Ford entered the third round with only one bogie in 36-holes. Bone, a Pontiac native who has won only $33.34 this year, took the lead by rescuing a par score with a 10-foot putt on the 17th green and then sinking his 12-footer on 18.

According to the young Pontiac pro, he started the circuit with a $1,000 bankroll, given him by the Tam O'Shanter club (Pontiac) members. The fund became nonexistent last weekend after the Texas Open and an automobile accident.

A gift of $200 from the Michigan club came along Monday and Gene was in business again.

Friday he dropped five birdie putts for an "out" 32, sunk a 12-footer on the 18th for 35 going back to take the lead.

Bone has been a pro four season, has won, he says, only $33.34 so far on this swing.

LEADER—Pontiac's Gene Bone, modest, soft-spoken assistant pro at Tam O'Shanter CC here, today went into the 3rd round of the Houston Tex. Open golf tourney leading the pack with a fine 8-under-par 136. He was one stroke under Doug Ford. Play was Bone's finest of the winter tour, his first swing with the pros.

Waterford Routs Jays, 80-58

Vikings Keep Pace With Berkley

Walled Lake had its troubles for a spell, but a fired-up Farmington basketball team still couldn't derail the Viking express.

Larry Hughes established a new single game scoring record at Walled Lake as the Vikings defeated Farmington, 72-66, in Inter-Lakes Conference play last night on the Farmington court.

Hughes fired 35 points to spark the Vikings to their 8th Inter-Lakes win in nine games, to keep pace with co-leader Berkley, which walloped Van Dyke, 64-38.

Meanwhile, Waterford's single game scoring mark went by the boards as the Skippers thrashed Southfield, 80-58, on the Southfield floor.

Chuck Gillis netted 11 field goals and eight foul shots for 30 points to top the 29 posted by Bob Jacober in the 1953-54 season. John Herrington threw in 24 to further aid the Skipper cause.

Waterford held a 30-26 lead at halftime, but completely routed the Jays after intermission to more than atone for an earlier one-point loss. Victory lifted the Slippers into 4th place.

Farmington and Walled Lake were tied, 66-66, with less than two minutes remaining.

John Walker broke the deadlock with a driving layup, then Hughes tipped in one of his 15 field goals and added two free throws and the Falcons were doomed.

Walker tallied 16 points and Dennis McClelland, called up from the reserves, contributed 11. Bud Jones bagged 26 points for Farmington.

Dave Neiger's 17 points paced Berkley to its easy triumph over visiting Van Dyke. Bill Rzeszut and Tom Thorpe each made a dozen for the Abes.

Basilio Eyeing Fullmer Crown

CLEVELAND (INS)—Hard-fisted little Carmen Basilio, firmly ensconced on his welterwtight throne, trained his thoughts today on a new vista—the middleweight empire of Gene Fullmer.

The 29-year-old ex-onion farmer from Canastota, N. Y., needed less than two rounds last night at the Cleveland arena to end a personal feud with a knockout of two-time former welter king Johnny Saxton.

The time was 2-42 of the second when Saxton, knocked flat on his back by Basilio's ceaseless barrage, staggered glassy-eyed to his feet and into the protective arms of referee Tony Labranch just as the count of ten was tolled.

A few minutes later, Basilio, serene, unmarked and agreeably surprised by the brevity of his chores, acknowledged a $75,000 offer to meet the winner of next Tuesday's Kid Gavilan-Vince Martinez bout —probably in the Jersey City ball park this summer.

Milford Keg Champions Decided This Weekend

A final list of 90 teams will complete the action in the month-long Huron Valley Bowling Tournament at the Fairgrounds alleys in Milford this weekend.

A five-man Land-O-Lakes group set the new high for the team event last week as Lee Miller Jr., Frank Pavlinac, Bill Wiggins, Roy Ainsworth and R. Armstrong all rolled 500 series for a combined 3107 with handicap. They also took the lead in actual pins over average with 254.

The Commerce Stars, former leaders, are 2nd in team play. Individual stars have been H. Bergeron of Detroit with the top series of 658 and Farmington's D. Oldenburg who hit the best actual game of 254.

Some 201 area teams have already bowled in the 5th annual tourney which has a record entry of 1,455 keglers this year.

Champions will be determined following the Sunday bowling with a total of $3,201 to be awarded in prize money. The winning team will receive $300 with the next 64 finishers all finishing in the money.

Trophies will also be presented for the 1st five teams as well as the high individual series and game.

Saturday bowling gets underway at 1:30 p.m. Sunday's starting time is 11 a.m. with all 10 alleys to be used. Alley proprietor Mel Moore is directing the tournament.

Wings Host to Leafs Sunday

Redshirts Seeking 9th Victory Over Toronto in Olympia Clash

Already assured of a playoff position, the Detroit Red Wings will make their lone Sunday night appearance in a three-week span Feb. 24th when they face the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Sunday's clash will be the 11th of the season between Detroit and Toronto. Thus far, the Redshirts have dominated the series, winning eight games and tying two.

At Olympia the Wings have won four games in six starts, drawing the other pair, while in Maple Leaf Gardens Detroit has gleaned five victories in six appearances for their best all-time record in that arena.

In handling the Leafs quite summarily thus far the Detroit defense has been the dominant feature. The Leafs have scored only 17 goals in 11 games, the fewest of any Detroit opponent.

Only left wing Dickie Duff, who has fired home five counters, has enjoyed a great measure of success. Duff's total equals the best individual scoring of any Wing opponent, and is tops for left wings gainst Detroit this season.

The Wings have tallied 29 goals in their own behalf, with Norm Ullman the leader. Ullman has netted five times.

First Batting Workout Given Tiger Rookies

Paul Foytack Served 'Em Up During Friday Drill at Lakeland

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The first hitting practice of the season got under way at Tigertown yesterday with Paul Foytack doing the hurling.

Yesterday was the first day since the Detroit Tigers' rookie camp opened that the weather was suitable for baseball. After a chilly morning, skies cleared and temperatures went up to around 75 degrees.

Foytack, Detroit's 15 - game winner last season, was followed on the mound by Don Lee, son of Thornton Lee, long-time American League pitching star.

About a mile away, at Henley Field, Al Kaline joined Harvey Kuenn, Frank House, Jim Finigan and Bill Tuttle in an impromptu workout.

None of the five was invited to take part in the regular drills but are working out on their own.

Manager Jack Tighe, however, changed the rules.

"If those players want to use the regular field, let them use it," he ordered. "Who cares if they tear up the grass a little bit. I'm not concerned with scenery."

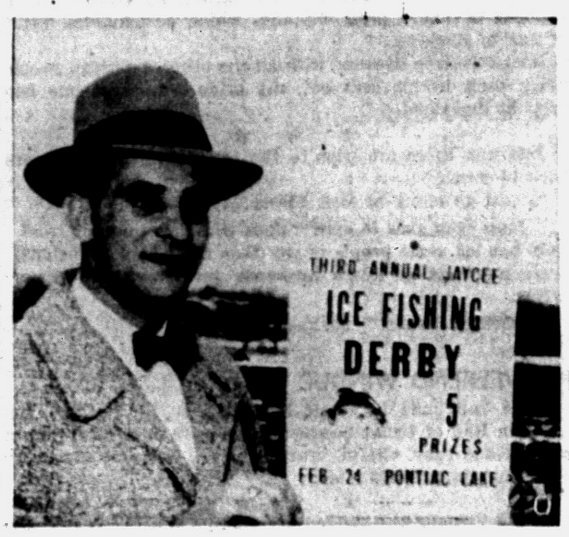
Asked about the Tigers' chances of overtaking the Yankees in the American League pennant race this year, Kaline replied: "We know it's a tough job, but we figure that if enough of us can have a real good year we should be able to do it . . . or come close."



MARKING FISHING ROUTE — All roads will lead to the Pontiac Recreation area Sunday as the Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce holds its 3rd annual Ice Fishing Derby. Jaycee official George Scantland is shown erecting a route sign to the site. The event is open to all residents of the Recreation area and will be held from 9 a.m. to dark with several prizes to be awarded.

Globetrotters Here Sunday

Those dizzy, daffy and talented Harlem Globetrotters move into the Pontiac High School gymnasium Sunday night to headline an all-star show.

Abe Saperstein's amazing collection of basketball magicians, now in their 39th year of world-wide travels, play the famous Philadelphia Sphas in an exhibition sponsored by the Pontiac Lions Club.

This marks the 2nd straight visit here for the Trotters, who have won 5,395 games during their lengthy tours while losing only 363.

Meadow Lemon, the hilarious successor to Reese (Goose) Tatum, had last year's sellout crowd in an uproar and the daffiest Trotter of the bunch will be back to do it again.

The 1st act of the evening will be an exhibition workout between the PRM's and the VIP's, an assemblage of basketball has-beens.

Tickets for tomorrow night's show are still available from any member of the Lions Club and at the Calbi Music Co., 119 N. Saginaw St. Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

Shamrocks Drop 53-49 Tilt to MC St. Mary

A sudden failure at the foul line in the final minute of play cost St. Michael a chance for a victory last night as the Shamrocks dropped a 53-49 decision to strong Mt. Clemens St. Mary at the Pontiac High gym.

The Mikemen put on a spirited rally in the last quarter and trailed by only 51-49 when three successive charity tosses missed the mark ruining the home club's chances of going ahead or at least gaining a tie. St. Mary iced the verdict with two fouls of its own just before the final whistle.

Versatile scoring ace Barney Peltier, who hit 22, paced Mt. Clemens to a 29-26 halftime lead. The host Shamrocks pulled even in the 3rd and later trailed again by five before rallying again—in vain.

It was ironical that the locals should falter on the foul line after hitting a fine 15-for-19 in the 1st 31 minutes of action to keep pace with the sharpshooting visitors.

Chuck Brown was the sparkplug of the losing cause with 15 points. Not far behind were lefty Ken Halpin and Dan Dropps with 12 and 11 respectively. St. Michael now has an 8-5 record with two games to play.

Leagues Oppose Recruit Rule

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Ivy League and the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Assn. are at loggerheads with the NCAA over the latter's new recruitment rule.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Gaylord Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania and chairman of the president's Ivy policy committee, pointed out last night that the NCAA regulation is directly opposite the Ivy and ECAC policy on the subject.

★ ★ ★

The NCAA, in convention at St. Louis last month, passed an amendment which said a college is expected to be responsible for payment of transportation and entertainment costs of any prospective athlete visiting a campus.

The NCAA objective is to curb over-anxious booster clubs and alumni groups interested in recruiting athletes for colleges.

Murchison Ties MSU Mark in Dual Test

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State outran Western Michigan 108-33 in a dual track meet yesterday that resulted in two good records despite the lopsided score.

Ira Murchison, 50-yard dash star for Western Michigan, had a time of :06.2 in his specialty for the losers, tying the field house record set by Ed Brabham of MSU in 1955.

In the 600-yard run, Dave Lean of Michigan State set a new field house record of 1/11.2 bettering the old time of 1:11.3 by Kevan Gosper of Michigan State in 1955.

SCL Scoring Hits Peak

High individual scoring efforts prevailed throughout the area last night but three performances in the South Central League topped them all.

Ortonville's Bob Hutchings and Larry Dorow of Imlay City staged the biggest local two-man battle of the season as the champion Imlay gang extended its win streak to 15 with an 81-75 triumph. Hutchings won out by one, 39-38, featuring 15 field goals.

The upset-hungry Blackhawks led 41-39 at halftime but the roof fell in on them in the 3rd canto with Dorow and Jack Hoeksema applying the pressure. Both teams did some outstanding shooting from the floor and foul line.

John Ribner stole the show for North Branch for the 2nd straight game tallying 40 points to give him 89 in two tilts. But more important he came through with the tieing and winning points in the final 45 seconds in a 71-69 squeaker over Millington. George Kish meshed 28 for the losers.

Royal Oak Cagers Bow

Undefeated Highland Park chalked up victory No. 13 last night with a 56-32 decision over Royal Oak in a Border Cities League basketball tilt at Royal Oak. Gene Lawson tallied 19 points for the Parkers while eight by Fred Wasen was the best the Acorns could offer.

Romeo Slams Oxford Five

Oxford seems to make a habit of pacing the 1st quarter of its ball games and then falling apart. The Wildcats did it again last night in suffering a 63-37 pounding by Romeo.

The home club held a 9-8 lead following the initial stanza but was never in the thick of things the rest of the way as Romeo tallied at least 16 in each of the final three sessions.

Dave Proper was the siege gun in the Bulldog scoring barrage with 20 points followed by Don Fowler's 16. Carl Roland was the only dependable OHS scorer with 13.

A wide edge on foul shooting helped the Romeo cause considerably as Oxford missed 14 of 21 attempts. It was the 7th straight defeat for the Wildcats who are now 2-12 for the year.

Big 10 OKs Aid Program

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten Conference approved a new financial aid program for athletes yesterday and, without saying as much, hoped that other major conferences would follow suit.

★ ★ ★

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, conference commissioner, would not say that he hoped other conferences would adopt a similar program but added:

"The Pacific Coast Conference, I understand, is at the same stage we were several months ago in studying the plan. And it is encouraging to note we have received letters from numerous college presidents asking us for details of the program."

The plan provides an athlete with room, board, books, tuition and fees based upon his need. To determine a youth's need, his parents must file a financial statement with the Big Ten.

Through this statement, a separate agency, the Intercollegiate (Big Ten) Conference financial aid service, will determine how much money — if any — a family will contribute towards an athlete's education.

Pontiac Pointer Tries for Mark

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. (AP)—A fresh crew of pointers were called up yesterday for a whack at the National Bird Dog Championship with a big 19-bevy quail hunt as the mark to beat.

The afternoon brace paired the Habadasher, owned by C. H. Edwards of Chatham, Ala., and Stanton' Vintory, owned by C. F. Mueller of Helena, Mont.

By gallery figures, not always accurate, Wayriel's Allegheny Sport, a 5-year-old owned by R. W. Riggins and Dr. J. A. Bays of Knoxville, Tenn., remained the top favorite. A winner won't be named until next week.

New Haven Wins Title

New Haven stowed away the Southern Thumb League basketball championship Friday night with a 68-52 victory over Armada on the Armada court.

Armada fell behind at halftime, 37-21, and was never in contention after that. It was the 11th league triumph in 12 starts for New Haven and removed runner-up Almont's last hope for a split of honors.

Dick Johnson sparked the New Haven attack with 18 points. Terry Wills netted 15 for Armada.

In other Southern Thumb attractions, Dryden evened its league record at 5-5 with a 44-33 decision over Capac and Memphis sailed past Brown City, 51-37.

Herb Sawgle and Norm Soroka led Dryden with 17 points apiece while John Kersten made 15 for Capac. Ben Burns topped the Memphis quintet with 19 points and Brown City's Jim Koyl had 11.

Seek to Block Georgia Bill

ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia House yesterday shelved a bill to ban interracial sports and social activities, handing the segregation-minded administration of Gov. Marvin Griffin a sharp setback.

Foes of the measure, aimed primarily at baseball's South Atlantic League, prevented a vote by a series of parliamentary moves in the closing hours of the 1957 session.

Some baseball men feared the bill would strangle the sport in Georgia by causing major league clubs to cancel their working agreements. But legislative opponents, some of them advocates of segregation in sports, heaped their scorn on the "social activities" section of the measure.

Rep. Charles Gowen of Glynn County, defeated by Griffin in the 1954 governor's race, said "it would make a criminal out of every white person in Georgia if enforced." He chided sponsors of the bill, saying "they have not the slightest idea what it does."

Griffin remained aloof from the wrangle over the bill until mid-week. The proposal languished in committee until he ordered it out Wednesday. When it reached the House floor yesterday, it touched off the most spirited battle of an otherwise dull session. A similar bill died in the House last year.

★ ★ ★

The governor publicly endorsed the measure Thursday after conferring with Earl Mann, president of the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Assn. Griffin said he didn't think white persons and Negroes should play together. Mann later commented that "should the bill pass, it will surely sound the death knell of the South Atlantic League and put 160 players out of a job, the overwhelming majority of them white."

Had the measure passed, it would have caused removal of Negroes from South Atlantic League rosters.

Big First Period Decides Bitter Contest 55 to 51

By H. GUY MOATS

FLINT—By the grace of a terrible first quarter's scoring spree and a brief final period rally, Pontiac High School's Valley champions last night kept their SVC record clean. A 22-point count against a cold seven for Flint Northern basketball crew eventually proved the deciding factor in the 55-51 victory in Vikings' Wildanger field house here.

Pontiac won its 9th straight Valley game and its 12th overall against a single loss. But the Chiefs were lucky to win. They were outscored in all but that opening round. Usually Pontiac has been a slow starter, a condition that would have been fatal last night.

Art Van Ryzin's club started to slip in the 2nd period, counting only 8 points, including a single pair of buckets by Hudson Ray and Jim Skinner. Jim dunked his basket seconds after he entered the game. Vikings collected 12, but the count was still 30-19 for Chiefs at halftime.

Something happened to Northern during the intermission for they roared back on the court to run up nine points before Ray tipped in a shot off the rim by Peet. Cliff Carr pulled Vikings within two points at 34-32 with a bucket and gift toss. Whitmer connected to make the count 35-32 but Chuck Tillman hit two free shots to leave Chiefs only a single point in front.

From there on to the very end it was a wild battle, with Vikings threatening several times, and Chief coming through in the nick of time to retain the lead.

Big Jim Reese and his hook shots featured the last quarter action, along with Maurie Woodson, the pair accounting for 13 of the 17 points. Reese's 19 was tops for the game.

Dave Diehm, blanked in the low point 2nd period sparked the Pontiac scoring in the finale with 10 of the team's 16 tallies. Dave got 18, Ray 14.

Chiefs have one more test to handle in their quest for a perfect SVC season, traveling to Saginaw next Friday to wind up the regular season. Next Tuesday they play at Royal Oak.

Coach Fred Zittle's Little Chiefs managed a last minute win over Viking juniors, 52-50 with Roosevelt Alexander's tipin in the last 8 seconds the winning bucket.

Deb Blondin's basket in the final seconds gave Saginaw a 65-63 win over Flint Central, and Bay City beat Arthur Hill 59-42 in other league contests.

SCRAMBLE — Birmingham's Bob Stephenson was surrounded by the enemy as he went for a rebound in the game against Ferndale last night. Railsplitter center Toy Palmer (32) came down with the ball as Stephenson stood by helplessly. Ferndale went on to win 58-44.

Lake Orion's Upset Win Brings Glory to Jackets

By BILL CORNWELL

A week ago the Jackets had no kind words for Orion. But that's all forgotten now after Friday night's happy results.

Half of the Oakland B League basketball championship belongs to Avondale and the Dragons deserve much of the credit.

Avon's right to a share of the crown was accomplished the only way it could be—a Jacket victory over Clawson coupled with a Lake Orion win over league-leading Troy.

Dragons handed Troy a 66-61 setback while Avondale was racing past Clawson, 74-63, to throw the two schools together with 9-3 records and an automatic co-title.

Orion trailed at halftime, 32-29, but fought back to take a 49-47 lead going into the 4th quarter. The Dragons then netted 11 straight points and the Colts were out of the running. It was Orion's 5th win in a row.

Nick Niera's 24 points and 19 by Dave Golladay paced Orion's best team effort of the season. Sim Acton topped Troy with 15.

Avondale was in front of Clawson all the way. The Jackets led by only three points at intermission, 35-32, but a healthy 3rd period swung the tide.

In yesterday's other Oakland B game, Duane Hussey collected 26 points to pace Roseville's 60-46 romp over Madison. Joe Fornaresio notched 14 for the Eagles.

9th in Row for Lapeer

Tom Wilson scored 22 points to lead Lapeer's basketball team to an easy 60-36 triumph over Owosso last night at Lapeer. It was the 9th straight win for the Panthers and their 12th in 15 games.

Ferndale Star Bags 38

Maples Felled by McNeal

Earl McNeal put on a one-man show last night as Ferndale whipped Birmingham, 58-44, in an Eastern Michigan League basketball game at Birmingham.

But Ferndale rallied to tie the score at 40-40 entering the 4th period. Then Maples had a frigid four-point quarter while Ferndale was making 18 and all hopes for an upset were gone.

Falcons Romp to 13th Win

A complete domination of the 1st quarter sent Rochester's high-riding Falcons off and running to their 13th victory in 15 starts over Fitzgerald last night.

The local Class B power coasted along after starting with a 13-2 advantage to triumph, 51-35. Fitzgerald held the scoring edge in two periods but could never get back in the ball game.

Steady scoring leaders Dave Peters and Jim Van Nocker rung up 16 and 14 in that order to almost match the losers' total between them. Bob Bush tallied 14 and Ralph Brunk 11 for the Spartans.

The setback left Fitzgerald at 4-10 for the season. A wide edge in the field goal department made the edge for Rochester as the schools matched free throws.

This was made possible last night when the Wolves turned in their 2nd successive big clutch victory whipping Holly by a 65-51 count in their finale of the regular season. Clarkston now paces Northville, which led all season, by one-half game but the Mustangs can match the 10-2 CHS record by downing last place West Bloomfield next week.

Northville warmed up for the big tussle by nipping independent Thurston 61-59, as Dick Biery hit 23 points in his 1st game since suffering a thumb injury. Improving Milford walloped West Bloomfield 63-48 in the other loop tilt.

Clarkston's steady play towards the top came to a climax with the triumph over Holly, the team which had been the 1st to beat Northville.

* * *

Parks counted 25 points, Lang 18 and Lippert 12. The latter excelled on the backboards and held opposing 6-5 pivot ace George McDaniel to two field goals. Hal Haddon and Amos Bradsher hooped 10 apiece for the Broncos.

Everybody got in the act at Milford as the Redskins took command early and were never threatened. Bob Bedford topped 11 Milford point-getters with 13, while two Keego Harbor boys finished higher. John Lucadam rung up 20 and Ray LaPratt had 15.

South Lyon Triumphs

Bill Peavyhouse and Wally Duncan combined for four points in overtime to give South Lyon's basketball team a 46-44 victory over Boysville last night at South Lyon. Dave Wren made 14 points for the winners, who finished 2nd in the League of the Lakes.

Bloomfield Hills Wallops Country Day Five, 65-30

The best team scoring display of the season and the discovery of a new individual standout led Bloomfield Hills to an easy 65-30 triumph over Detroit Country Day in the Motor City last night.

Eleven different Barons made the point column as the victors copped their 2nd straight and 6th win against nine defeats. John Risk had his best night of the season with 17 and Bob Elston added 11. Blake Noyer swished 11 for Country Day.

Center Line Shades Utica Quint, 48-46

Defending Bi-County League champion Utica suffered a 48-46 setback at the hands of Center Line last night and dropped to 3rd place in the standings with a 6-2 record.

The Chieftains held a 23-22 halftime edge, but Center Line's 17-11 bulge in the 3rd quarter was more than they could overcome. Utica's overall record is now 10 wins against three losses.

Security For You

Separated, but Each Still Gets Payments

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

From Mrs. G. H. of Fredricksburg, Va.: "I'm drawing Social Security old-age payments based on my husband's work under Social Security. He's also drawing his own payments. If we should separate, but not be divorced, will my payments continue?"

Yes. The payments aren't stopped as long as you started receiving them before you were separated.

From P. L. K. of New York City: "In a recent column, you noted that disability payments under the Social Security law could not start until July 1. I assume there was some reason for this. Can you tell me why?"

As you no doubt realize, the Social Security disability payment program is entirely new. In setting up the program, Congress provided for a special Social Security disability tax starting Jan. 1 and that the tax would go into a special disability fund. From this fund would come the money to pay the disability payments. Congress decided that the disability payments shouldn't start until July 1 when there is fund to make the payments.

From R. R. of Council Bluffs, Iowa: "Do I have to pay federal income tax on my Social Security payments?"

No, they are exempt. If you have enough taxable income so that you have to file a federal income tax return, you don't even have to enter your payments on the return.

From E. W. of Parsons, Kans.: "Until reading one of your columns two weeks ago, I've never given much thought to being eligible for a World War I veteran's pension. I'm a World War I veteran, but served only 78 days. I was called up shortly before the war ended and was mustered out shortly after it ended. Would such a short period of service meet the service requirements to be eligible for a pension?

★ ★ ★

To be eligible for a pension, you must have had at least 90 days of active duty—some part of it during World War I—unless you were discharged earlier due to a disability you received in service.

★ ★ ★

From W. R. T. of Chico, Calif.: "My wife was drawing Social Security payments because of my work. She died last month and I've received her Social Security payment for last month. May I keep it or must I return it?"

You should return last month's payment. Entitlement to Social Security payments stopped for the month in which your wife died.

From Mrs. E. C. of Lewiston, Me.: "I believe I'm eligible for Old-Age Assistance because I don't have enough money to live on. How does the government decide whether people 65 or over are eligible?"

★ ★ ★

On the basis of need. Need is defined differently in different states. Each state decides what things its people must have to live at a minimum living standard. People are considered needy if all the income they have or can get is less than the cost of the minimum living standard set by their state.

Your Neighbors House

Pontiac Has First New Apartments Since 1929

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's been many a long year since any multi-unit apartment houses were built in Pontiac. There have been terrace apartments, four-family units, public housing and duplexes. But not since the Casa Del Rey was completed in 1929 have there been any new large apartment houses constructed.

★ ★ ★

Now, within the past six months, two apartment houses have been finished and are beginning to fill with tenants. The newest building is Bel Aire Manor on Seminole avenue, between Algonquin and Menominee.

Last week we called on Harry Zering who was one of the first tenants to move in. We've known Harry since our pre-Press days when we taught school.

Harry is a young bachelor whose single days are numbered. On March 2 he will marry Audrey Faulman. After their honeymoon the young couple will return to live in Harry's apartment. He has definite ideas about home decorating, but he is bowing to Audrey's wishes in several respects.

All the furniture that Harry bought for his living room was chosen with the idea that it could be used in a den of any house he might have in the future. There is a comfortable sofa covered in a faint plaid cotton material with a nubby finish. Bright pillows are heaped at one end.

On the opposite wall is a huge mahogany television set. Beside it is a standing brass lamp and a large wing chair that's deep enough for Harry's long legs. An old fashioned coach scene is depicted on the upholstery. At one end of the sofa is a maple table with a brass lamp on it.

The living room walls are pale green; the ceiling is white. The floor is covered with green wool carpeting in a Highland tweed pattern. The floor length draperies have a linen look to them, are oyster white in color.

Because the apartment house has a master antenna on the roof all the tenants have to do is to run their antenna wire around the wall and plug it in. There is an eight-foot coat closet just inside the front door. Like all the other doors in the apartment, this one is flush birch. Floors are oak.

The kitchenette is separated from the front door by a half wall and vertical birch louvers. In the corner these louvers give way to a built-in buffet.

Remember the Murphy bed? Well, the people who manufactured that bed now make a kitchen unit especially for apartment kitchens. It contains a three-burner stove with an oven and a broiler; a sink and a six-cubic foot refrigerator. Above this compact unit there are birch cupboards. Harry installed a long fluorescent light over the sink.

Like the living room it adjoins, the kitchen is painted green. The floor is covered in mottled linoleum. On one wall there is a set of shelves and what looks like a cupboard with louvered doors below. This last drops down to provide a shelf for the miniature bar. The small maple dropleaf table can be extended with four ten-inch leaves.

Four different colors of ceramic tile have been used in the twelve apartments. Harry drew blue for his bathroom. Above the tile there is wallpaper with a black background and gold and blue sea gull designs on it. Curtains are yellow. Below the built-in vanity there is a cupboard and a clothes hamper.

In the hallway there is a linen closet, a utility closet and a wall shelf for the telephone. The building is heated by steam and each room has its own thermostat.

Harry's apartment is a corner one, and his bedroom has corner windows. All the sills are marble. This room has green throw rugs on the oak floor. There is a good-sized sliding door closet.

The furniture in here is Willett cherry. In addition to the double bed there is a night table, and two chests of drawers. Hardware is brass. Walls are satinwood color which is a sort of sand shade.

The bedspread is gold, rust and green striped satin. Curtains match those in the living room. Four shadow box pictures are striking features of this room. Matted with burlap, these prints are unusual and interesting.

Robert Serota of Royal Oak was the architect for Bel Aire Manor. Building was done by Joseph W. Rattner of Birmingham.

When the Orchard Court apartments on Salmer avenue, just south of Orchard Lake avenue, were completed, we ran a picture of the exterior and described the buildings. Two units have a total of thirty-two apartments. They are balcony type with an individual door for each apartment.

The interior picture we took here was in the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner. They live on the ground floor in the middle of the open square, with a western exposure for their front windows.

Their living room is large with an alcove at one end. Here they have a studio bed to use for overnight guests. The walls are beige. Flush doors are birch.

Opposite the alcove is a red sectional sofa. In the corner and at each end there are blonde tables. The television set is also blonde. There is a green leather lounge chair.

Out in the hall that leads to the bedroom and the kitchen there are twin closets flanking the door to the bathroom. Floors are all oak. The bath has green ceramic tile.

The bedroom is a large room, large enough for a double bed, a chest of drawers, a vanity and a desk. It has a double door wardrobe closet. Walls are sand colored; draperies are white with a pink, brown and gold design.

The kitchen has the work unit concentrated at one end and under the window. At the other end there is a black and white dinette table with matching chairs. Floor and walls are green. The sink is surrounded by green counters. Overhead cabinets are birch.

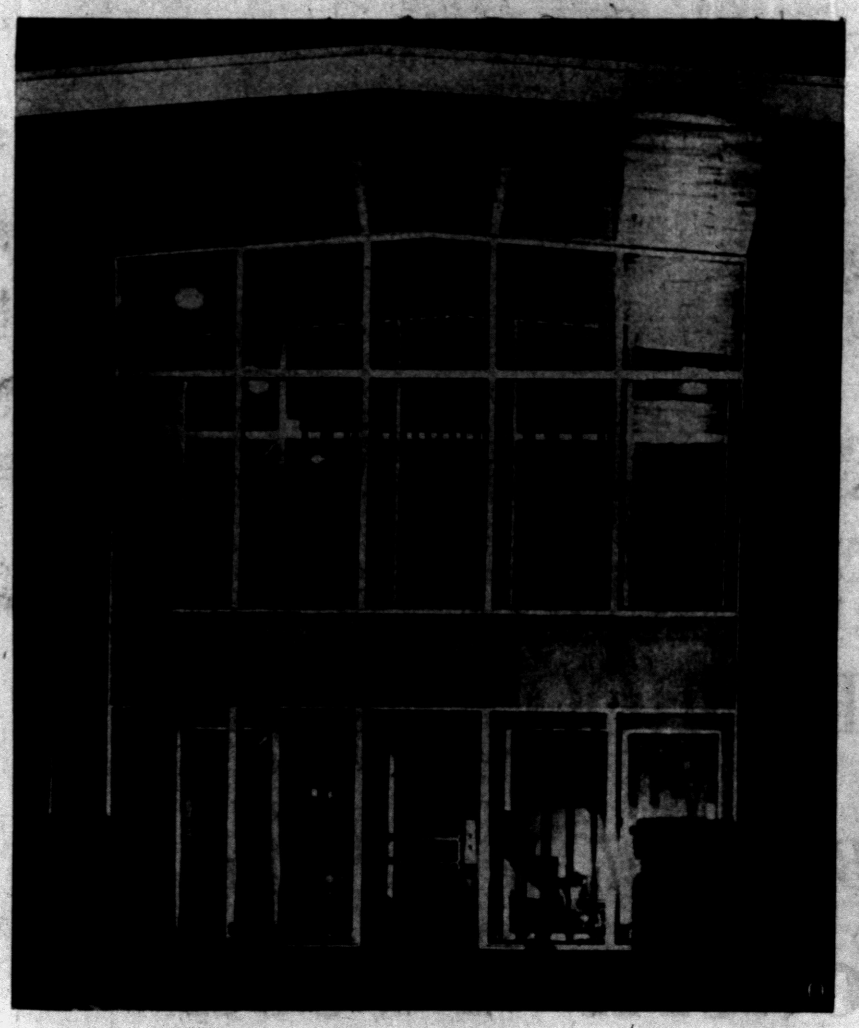
Couples just starting out, single men and women and older folks whose need for a large house has passed will be pleased that once again new apartments are available.

Building Volume to Rise 5 Pct. Over Last Year

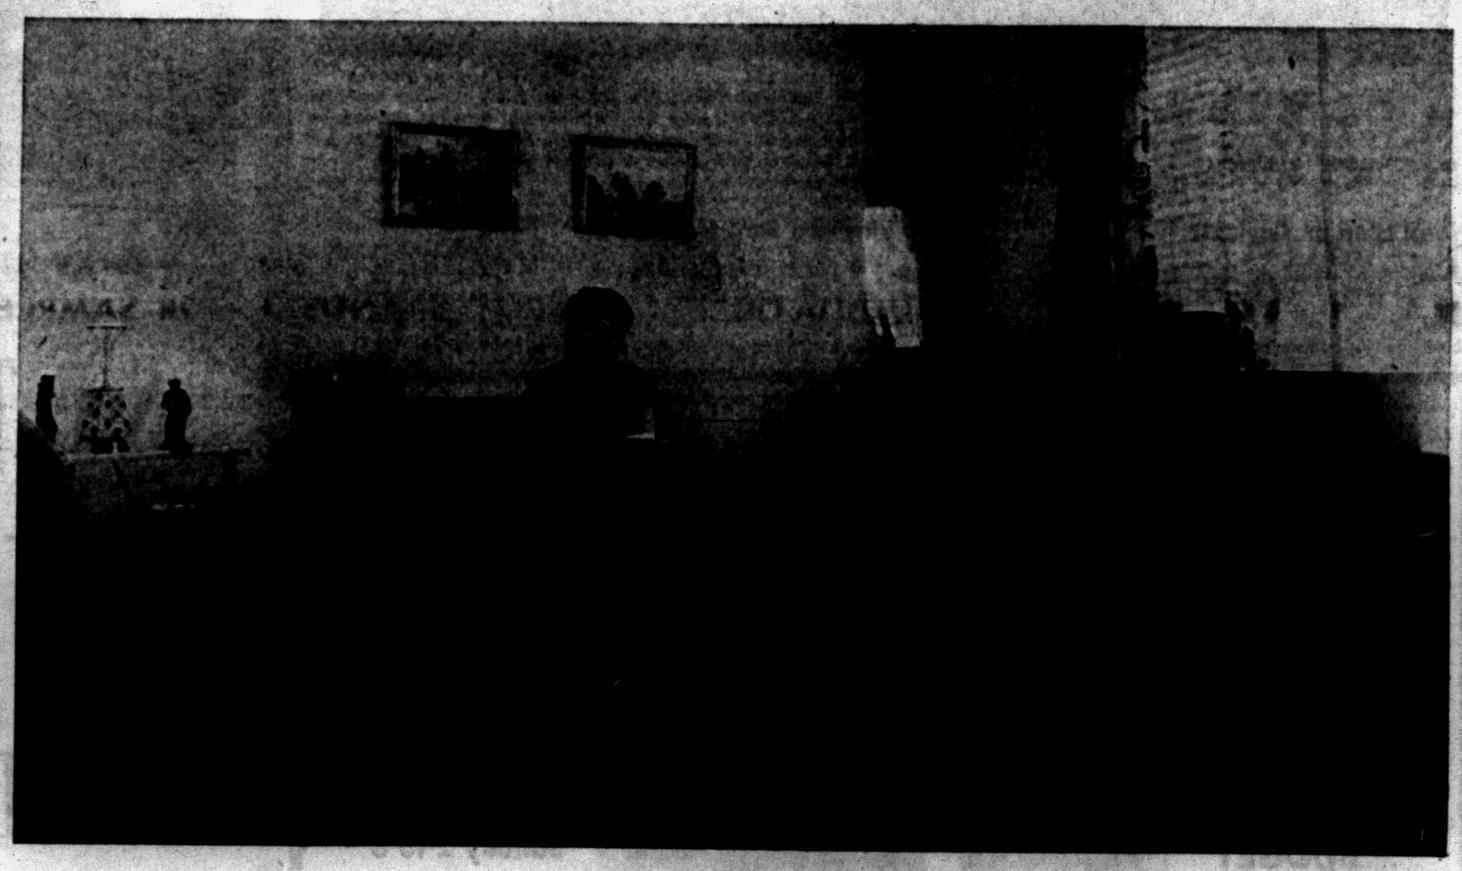
Total dollar volume of new construction in 1957 is expected to be about $46,500,000,000—a 5 per cent gain over 1956.

Commercial, industrial, institutional, and public construction are expected to show the largest gains. Farm biulding also probably will rise.

DON'T BE FOOLED — Don't let this picture fool you. Harry Zering isn't getting a meal or washing the dishes. He lives in this brand new apartment, but he's waiting for his bride to move in and do the kitchen work. He eats out. This kitchenette has a wall unit consisting of stove, sink and refrigerator. Above it are storage cupboards. Beyond the maple drop leaf table is a built-in buffet. Vertical wooden louvers separate this room from the entrance hall.

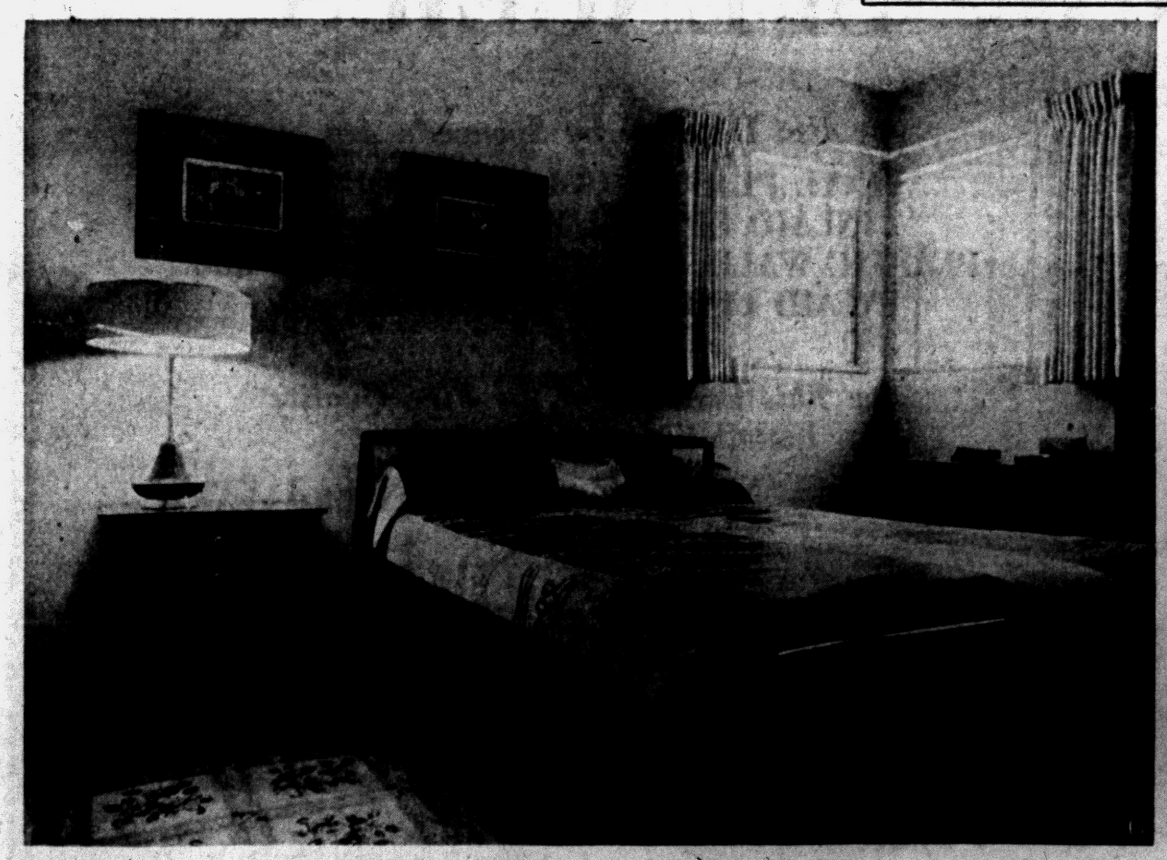


ON SEMINOLE AVENUE — Recently completed the Bel Aire Manor apartment on Seminole avenue has twelve units. This picture, taken at night, shows the entrance hall and the stairs leading to the second floor. Apartments in the rear all have their individual outside doors. Between the two parts of the building there is a patio that is to be landscaped for summer living.

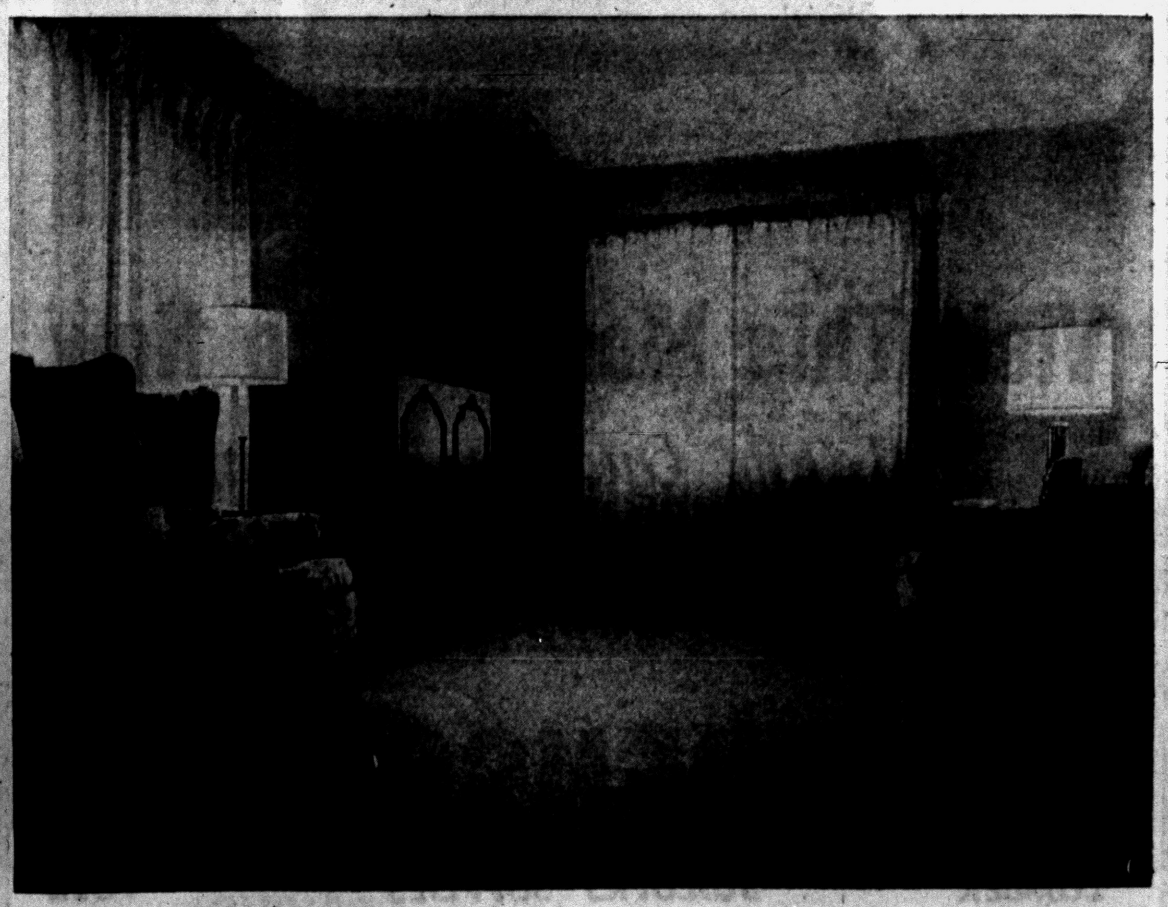


GENEROUS LIVING ROOM — Mrs. Robert Gardner takes it easy in the afternoon when her housework is done. She lives in the new Orchard Court apartments on Salmer avenue. This living room has beige walls. The sectional sofa is red, while tables and the television set are light wood. The rug is green figured. Mr. Gardner has his lounge chair, partially shown at the right; it's covered in green leather.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp

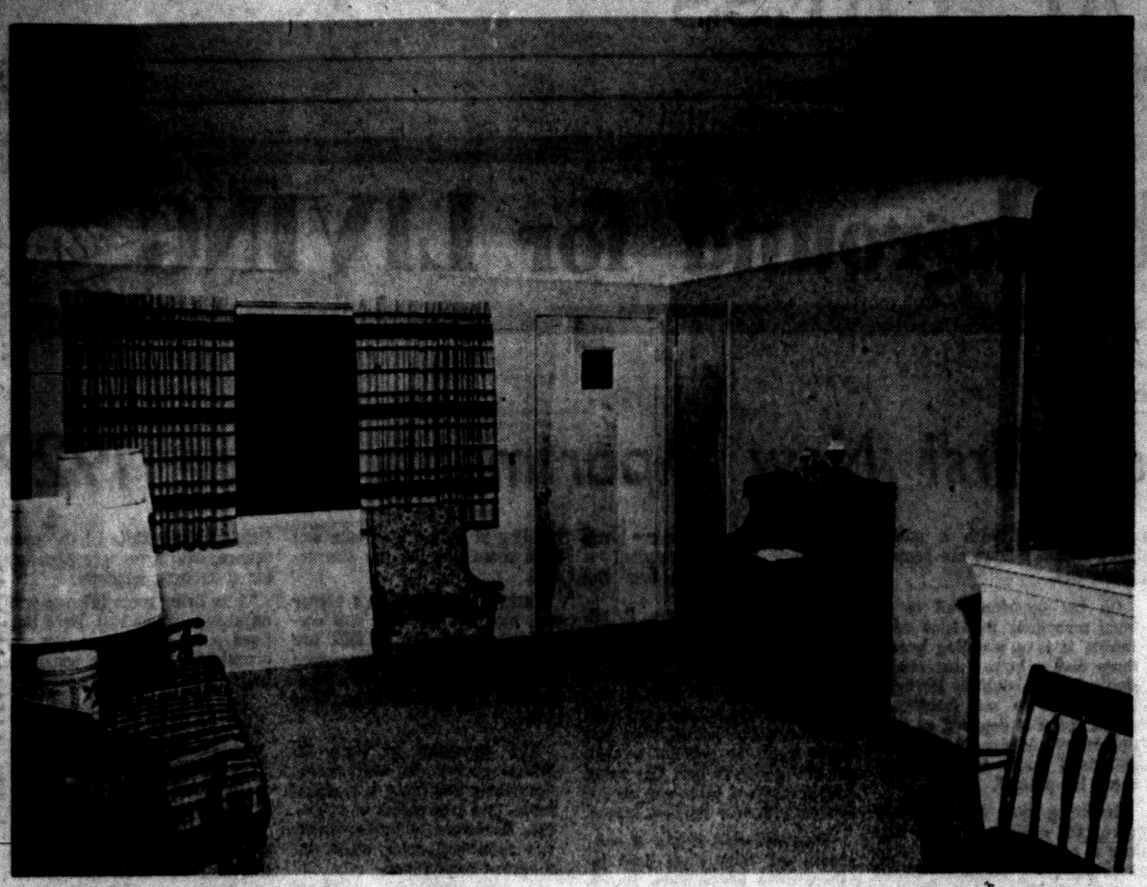


FURNISHED IN CHERRY — For his bedroom Harry Zering chose Willett cherry furniture. Walls in this room are almost a sand color. Curtains match the ones in the living room. The bedspread is striped satin in shades of gold, rust and green. Those prints above the bed are matted with burlap and recessed into an inner frame.



SIMPLE AND COLORFUL — A minimum amount of furniture makes this living room look spacious. Against the green walls and oyster white draperies the plaid upholstery of the sofa and the brilliant colors of the wing chair stand out. The rug is green tweed. Lamps are brass with white shades.

Two Local Companies Build and Furnish Model Home



HOMEY LIVING ROOM — The living room of the model house furnished by Wiggs has brown tweed carpeting on the floor. The draperies are brown and tan striped. Walls are sand color. Doors are flush birch. Maple furniture in early American style is scaled to fit the size of the room. The little hutch cabinet can be used to store linens if desired. At the end of the room where the camera stood is a drop leaf table.

Two Pontiac concerns—Bateman and Kampsen Realty Company and Wiggs—have worked together to build and furnish a model house that opens to the public tomorrow, February 24.

The cedar shakes, three-bedroom house with a full poured basement was built on North Cass Lake road, north of Pontiac Lake road. It sells for $9,975 without the lot.

The flush front door opens directly into the 13x20 foot living room. At the back of this room stairs go down to the basement. Instead of a solid wall between the stairs and living room there is a half wall with dowels extending to the ceiling. A window in the rear wall lets more light into the living room.

To further this open look the wall between the living room and the kitchen is also a half wall. Just inside the front door is a coat closet. Behind this closet and opening into the hallway is a utility closet.

Living walls are sand. The cove ceiling is white. The sliding windows are aluminum. Draw draperies are tan and brown striped. The tweed carpeting is brown.

Brown and aqua plaid upholstery covers the maple sofa. At each end is a maple step table with matching lamps whose bases repeat the aqua in the sofa. An upholstered arm chair and a black Boston rocker contribute to the homey atmosphere of the room.

On the kitchen wall there is a maple deacon's bench. Against the stair wall is a drop leaf table and near it in the corner is the television set. Storage and decoration are both taken care of in the maple hutch cabinet with its dry sink.

The linoleum in the kitchen determined the color scheme of the house. It is spatter type, in pink, aqua and beige. Above the sink the splashboard is pink linoleum. Walls here and throughout the house are plastered.

The bedroom nearest the living room is furnished as a den. Walls are aqua. For furniture, a beige armchair and a studio bed are used. There are scatter rugs on the oak floor.

The master bedroom is large enough for twin beds. Made of maple, these have a bookcase headboard with reading lamps placed on each end. A double chest of drawers fills the opposite wall. Curtains are white. Walls are pink.

In the back bedroom the walls are yellow. The double bed and other furniture are maple. Gold and silver flowers are scattered on the white curtains. Spencer Floor Covering chose and installed all rugs and curtains.

In the basement the utilities are concentrated on one side, leaving an area 12x37 feet for recreation space. The walls down here have been painted. Heat for the house is provided by an oil furnace.

After Sunday the model home will be open daily from 5 to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 2 to 8 on Saturday and Sunday.

ON NORTH CASS LAKE ROAD — This three-bedroom house at 1266 North Cass Lake road has been built by Bateman and Kampsen and furnished by Wiggs. The exterior is covered with cedar shakes. Windows which comprise fifteen per cent of the wall area are aluminum sliding type. The house has a complete basement with a 12x37 foot area free for recreation purposes. On your lot the house will be duplicated for $9,975. The public is invited to view the house on Sunday after two o'clock and daily thereafter.

Bleach Unfinished Wood to Get Blonde Effect

If you admire the popular blonde furniture, you can get the same effect with an unfinished piece, provided the wood is even in coloring. Plan to bleach the article with a commercial chemical solution from your paint dealer. Put on your paint togs, don your rubber gloves and apply the bleach to the wood with a rubber sponge, wetting the surface evenly.

Bleaches with a hydrogen peroxide base leave nothing in the wood to harm the finishing coats. After the wood is dry, sand it smooth and finish with white shellac. Wax may then be applied, if desired.

Ends Bending at Bowl

Tall people no longer must bend over a lavatory to wash. Short ones don't need to tiptoe. Many lavatories are now produced with adjustable legs or wall supports so they can be installed at desired heights, reports the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

Wood Used on Ceilings

A new trend toward the use of wood for paneling ceilings is reported by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. One method involves the use of 16-inch by 32-inch hardwood plywood panels, one-eighth or one-quarter inch thick. The panels are attached to a furring strip framework with either nails or contact cement.

Remove Burn Marks

A few drops of camphorated oil on a soft cloth usually will remove white marks caused by placing hot objects on furniture tops. Rub lightly, then remove oil with a soft, dry cloth and wax liberally.

Painting day to day? Wrap wet brush temporarily in saran between painting jobs.

CENTER HALL — Privacy for living and fun are provided by a center hall. But guests cannot see into any of the bedrooms from this hall. Plumbing is concentrated for economy. Fit Luxury to Your Budget

Fitting such an area into a house that could be built by a family of moderate income — and yet retaining the features that recent surveys have shown to be most popular — was the aim of noted architect Lester Cohen in designing HW-37 for The House Of The Week. How well he succeeded is shown by a study of the floor plan for what we like to call Hospitality House.

This is a three-bedroom, one-story house with a true center hall that is simple yet practical. Designed to provide maximum ventilation and privacy, the hall has a feature that the lady of the house especially will appreciate.

In looking down the hall, whether from the front door entrance or at the turn, it is impossible to see directly into any of the three bedrooms — even when the doors are open. Only the ladies know what this means when guests drop in unexpectedly and the bedroom furnishings aren't all set for visitors.

MASTER BEDROOM

The mastor bedroom has a lavatory adjacent to a walk-in clothes closet, cleverly designed so that, if preferred, the lavatory can become a full-size bathroom by cutting down slightly on the spaciousness of the closet. The regular bathroom, of the modern divided type, is on the other side of lavatory wall next to the kitchen, plumbing so necessary for economy.

The kitchen is an ample 13 feet 8 inches by 11 feet, 2 inches and is combined with a dinette for eating convenience when it isn't practical to set the table in the dining room.

Design HW-37 calls for a two-way fireplace, costing only a little more than a conventional fireplace, yet serving both the den and the living room and acting as a decorative divider.

There is a door from the sun room to a terrace at the rear of the house, with another back door accessible from either the dining room or the kitchen. This second door could be used as the entrance to another terrace if there were any need or desire for it at some future time.

NOT ONE OFFSET

While we're on the subject of the rear of the house, note that it does not have a single offset in the foundation . . . a straight-line design geared for economy in construction.

A breezeway at the side of the house leads to an underground two-car garage in a basement carefully laid out for a laundry room, a recreation room and a workshop large enough to accommodate stationary power tools.

WITHOUT BASEMENT

But the house can be made without a basement by placing the garage at the end of the breezeway and fitting the heating equipment between the kitchen and the dining room where the stairs to the basement are now located.

All in all, this is a home for gracious living, with enough flexibility in the basic plan to satisfy any need,. The sun room, for instance, might be a children's playroom with no alteration in design. It is truly a house that can grow with your family.

Wood Resists Dents

Floors of hard maple resist the indenting action of chair and table legs and furniture casters. Heavy objects resting on maple will not indent it, even if unmoved for a considerable length or time.

Problem for 1960

Savings and loan associations are already worried about the huge demand for home financing expected in the 1960s, when World War II babies will begin to need houses of their own.

'Hacksaw Harry' Takes a Whack at Sack Caddy

Old sacks are handy in any household. Keep them in a homemade "sack caddy" which may be attached to a wall or kept on a shelf or countertop.

Select a board 1" thick, about 8" wide and 12" to 15" long. A half inch from each long edge cut a channel ⅛" wide and ⅜" deep, using a power saw.

★ ★ ★

Prime the device and finish it with two coats of paint or enamel. Other methods of finishing include covering with a pretty wallpaper, decorating the raw or painted sides with decalcomania, or simply varnishing the unpainted materials.

Dingy Floor Cleaned

A complete refinishing is not always necessary when limited areas of floors become dingy. Often the smudge is caused by dirt imbedded in the wax. The floor boards may be in good shape.

In this case, the wax and dirt can be removed by a petroleum base solvent. A fresh coat of wax will be needed after cleaning.

More Bedrooms, Baths, Cedar Closets Sought; Many Built-In Features

Quality is more apparent in new home construction this year than in the past. Surveys by leading home builders show that many families are now ready to move out of their first homes and into bigger and beter dwellings.

Growing families with rising incomes are sparking the market for homes with at least three bedrooms, large kitchens, plenty of closets and at least two baths.

If they can afford it, these young families also want larger living rooms equipped with fireplaces, kitchens decked out with built-in appliances and a wide variety of other so-called luxuries which soon may be regarded as necessities in the modern American home.

A quality feature that is fast gaining popularity is the cedar-lined closet. Many builders across the country are lining all of their closets with aromatic red cedar closet lining. Women are attracted to the beauty of this wood and its ability to repel moths.

Actually, cedar closets are no longer luxuries, for when installed as part of original construction, these closets cost little if any more than closets with plastered walls.

Kitchens, of course, generally receive first attention when the family is house hunting. The mother knows that, as in days of old, family life still centers around the kitchen. With youngsters and friendly neighbors about, she wants a kitchen large enough to serve as a social center, as well as the place where meals are prepared.

Kitchen Cabinets Wood in 88 Pct. of Homes

Wood kitchen cabinets—many in ponderosa pine—were installed in 88 per cent of all new homes built during the first quarter of 1956, according to a survey by the Bureau of Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor.

One of the chief reasons for this is a growing preference by women for soft, natural wood tones in the kitchen. Clar ponderosa pine is ideal for kitchens since it stains readily in any light or dark finish. It can also be easily painted.

Refinishing Furniture

If you are mending or refinishing furniture, keep the household vacuum cleaner at your side. It is invaluable for removing dust, fibers, scrapings and the like, created in the course of there renovation. All such surfaces must be kept thoroughly clean or they cannot be finished properly.

NEWS VIEWS

By Realtor Partridge

If you happen to be troubled with snorers in your house you'll probably be interested in a gadget invented by a handy hobbyist in Chicago. He claims he can make people who sleep out loud become as quiet as a deserted library. I don't know just what the Windy City man has in mind, but if he is right the snore will soon be a lost sound effect.

Folks who keep track of those things claim there are forty million snore artists in the U. S. That's a lot of noise. Unfortunately, the lad who does the snoring isn't the one who stays awake. The only time that happens is when two snorers bunk in the same room . . . and one gets to sleep first. Let's hope the gadget works. What this country needs is a good night's rest.

I see that our famous Pontiac car has established some new speed records at Daytona Beach. Our congratulations goes to everyone at Pontiac Motor for this outstanding achievement.

The local philosopher says we'd all be happier if we lived up to the high standards we set for other folks . . . Well, one of our high standards is to help others live up to their own high standards. Located just east of Middlebelt road, on Bayou, between West Square Lake road and West Long Lake road, the house is ranch type brick. In pre-depression days this particular subdivision was laid out but never fully developed. Now, over a quarter of a century later, houses are being built and roads are going in. Austin Building Company of Birmingham built the house. See other picture, page 23.

Located in an area conspicuous for its lakes, wooded valleys and winding streams, the development lies just east of Middlebelt road between West Long Lake road and Square Lake road.

The model, fully furnished and now opened to the public, is on the western boundary line of the development, facing Middlbelt, on Bayou Drive. It is within easy walking distance of both Upper Long Lake which connects with the development and Pine Lake to the west.

The area for work and relaxation consists of kitchen, family room and laundry room. Grouped together in one end of the model, this area has many startling features to command the attention of viewers.

Particularly significant is the kitchen with its electronic range-oven. This is the miracle appliance that cooks in seconds what usually takes minutes and in minutes what usually requires hours. A conventional electric oven and range are also present.

One of the first installations of its kind in a residential home is a hot food server. This appliance holds cooked foods hot and oven-fresh for hours without drying out. The freezer has been brought out of hiding and is conveniently located below the refrigerator as a built-in.

Other features of the kitchen include a food preparation center combining food mixer, blender, and meat grinder—completely recessed; and automatic dishwasher. Housing this array of modern appliances are custom fitted cabinets of maple stained birch, polished to a high luster finish.

Adjacent to the kitchen and separated by a raised fireplace is the family room. Here the family life will center during winter evenings and weekends. Warmth is secured by a wainscot of maple stained birch paneling while a glistening white ceiling is framed by wooden beams.

Next to the family room is the laundry area. At the homemaker's option, this room can be integrated with the family room or isolated behind closed doors.

Next to the laundry area and only a few steps away from the side entrance is the second lavatory. Located to service the family room and kitchen, it will also serve to minimize tracking in of mud and snow by the children.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

A mahogany paneled wall framing another fireplace provides the focal point of the living room. Screened from the entrance by a shelved wooden partition, the living room is further distinguished by a built-in hi-fi unit, also located in the paneled wall.

Well away from the daylight activity area is the third living zone—three master-size bedrooms and the main bath. Each bedroom has generous windows and all have floor-to-ceiling wardrobe closets with double louvered doors.

The bath is highlighted by colored fixtures and a double sink vanity with mirror extending almost the entire length of one walls. To offset the coldness of metal and porcelain, a planter box is positioned at the foot of the tub.

The oversized two-car attached garage has enough room in it to take care of both cars and items that must be stored.

The model and a variety of other custom homes will be duplicated on the lots in the development which average one-half acre in size and are priced from $5,000 to $12,000. Homes to be constructed in the development will be in the $25,000 and up price class.

New Window Resists Soot, Insulates, Cleans Easily

CHICAGO — Note to homemakers: You asked for it, now here it is—a prime window that's easy to clean and turns away soot with dramatic effectiveness.

This new development called the Protex Louvre Window, is now in production here. Independent laboratory tests show it has as much as six times the air and soot infiltration resistance of other windows now on the market.

Ease of cleaning and resistance to dust and dirt infiltration are the main features desired in windows by homemakers who participated in last April's First Women's Congress on Housing at Washington, D. C. Their expressed wants concerning the modern home are contained in a recently issued 82-page report by the government's Housing and Home Finance Agency, which sponsored the Congress.

Delegates representing a ten-state area specifically appealed for "windows that fit tight and are easy to clean." They added that on these points the conventional double-hung window is unacceptable.

This window's phenomenal insulation is explained in part by the tongue-in-groove fit of the framed glass panes when shut. Naked glass panes in other windows normally overlap and inherently do not afford tight air resistance. Further, these frame grooves are coated with a liquid rubber just before the pane is inserted. When solidified, the rubber allows for expansion and contraction of the glass from temperature extremes without affecting the constancy of insulation.

A removable lever, which engages a set of gears hidden in the bottom frame of the window, controls the opening and closing of the panes, which open to a full horizontal position for easy and quick washing—entirely from the inside.

Because of the tongue-in-groove application, the panes are virtually air-tight when closed. Also, the gears themselves are designed and constructed to withstand more pressure than has heretofore been the case in window gears. There is no danger of stripping, and, when not activated, the gears maintain a rigid position.

Also contributing to the window's insulation are aluminum weather strips running the length of each side. Hidden behind the strips are a series of stainless steel springs which give the strips a resiliency enabling them to adhere tightly to the window despite expansion or contraction.

Besides a full range of sizes (the windows can be tailored to practically any height or width), the manufacturer also offers every conceivable combination of vertical and horizontal picture window. In these, for example, the ventilating panes might be incorporated at either or both sides of the window, or across the top or bottom.

Use Portable Car Bed for Children on Trips

A useful accessory for the family car is a portable car bed. One that will be the envy of those who do not own one can be easily constructed by the home craftsman. Trips with the youngsters can be more relaxing when they have room to stretch out. The car bed can be folded for storing when not in use. The dimensions shown are for a medium sized car.

The top consists of two pairs of boards poined together with dowel rods and hinged at the center. Cut four pieces of 1 by 8-inch lumber each 50 inches long. A miter box should be used so that the ends will be perfestly square. Join the boards in (B) and (C) as shown in the diagram.

Clamp the individual pairs together so that in making the dowel holes they will be perfectly aligned. Bore holes 2 inches deep using a No. 6 auger bit. At least six evenly-spaced holes should be made starting 2½ inches in from each end and then spaced at 9-inch intervals.

The ⅜-inch dowel rods are cut 3½ inches long and rounded or chamfered on the ends to prevent binding when forced in place. Groove the dowel to permit the escape of excess glue and for a tighter joint.

The sides are made from two boards of 1 by 8-inch lumber, 14½ inches long, dowel-jointed together. The construction details are the same as for the top except that only three dowel joints are used: one in the center, and one 2inches from each end. Hand holes may be made, if desired, 1 inch wide and 4 inches long, by first boring two 1-inch holes and cutting out between them with a key-hole saw.

The narrow side board, part (A) in the diagram, is a 50 inch piece of 1 by 4-inch lumber.

The car bed is assembled with 3-inch butt hinges. The top hinges are placed 2 inches in from the ends and in the center; those for the sides, 1 inch in; and those for part (A), 4 inches in. All hinges are recessed. When fastening the hinges be sure to remember that the end boards and the narrow side board fold inward while the top board folds upward as shown by the arrows.

Round all sharp edges and sand the car bed smooth. Paint, or stain and varnish. A foam rubber pad or other covering for a matress completes the project. Small luggage and boxes can be stored under the bed.

Paint Resembles Natural Wood

Tests Prove It Durable; Lasts Just as Long as Ordinary Surface

A new finish for home exteriors which combines high weatherproofing abilities with the beauty of natural wood grain has been developed by the Forest Products Laboratory in Madison, Wis.

The new finish, described in a light-construction industry magazine, is applied in one coat, needs no varnish and will last at least four years, the life of an average paint job.

It can be made in a variety of reds and browns, including cedar and redwood shades, ideal for the popular modern finishes on siding, doors and windows of ponderosa pine, and trim. The finish wears away without cracking, chipping or peeling, leaving an easy surface to refinish.

On smooth, new wood, such as on the exterior surface of doors and windows of ponderosa pine, a single application is recommended. This brings out the rich, full grain of the pine, giving it a soft, long-lasting sheen.

THE FORMULA

Raw linseed oil	3 qts.
Burnt sienna color-in-oil	1 oz.
Paraffin wax	¼ lb.
Pentachlorophenol concentrate	1 pt.
Zinc stearate	½ oz.

Heat the paraffin and zinc stearate until it mixes uniformly. Pour the mineral spirits into a separate 2-gallon can, then add the mixture to it, stirring vigorously.

(CAUTION: There should be no open flame in the room when the paraffin mixture is added to the mineral spirits.)

Allow the solution to cool to room temperature, then add the pentachlorophenol concentrate and follow with the linseed oil. Stir in the color-in-oil a little at a time.

Trees Good Investment

The growing of trees is one of the best investments available today, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. The association suggests tree growing as an excellent hedge against inflation, since the trees and the land on which they stand are likely to appreciate in value as the economy expands.

Wisdom Saves Forests

Forest conservation means use of the forests and the growing of successive crops of trees on the same land, points out the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. This requires harvesting of mature trees before they fall prey to insects and disease, thinking of young stands to increase their growth and quality, and reforestation by planting or natural means.

Roof Takes Beating in Every Season

In all seasons, the roof takes more punishment than any other exterior surface of a house. In summer, the hot sun gives the roof a beating. In spring and fall, heavy rains pummel it, and in winter, sleet, snow and ice grind away at the roofing material.

To give roofs the greatest protection possible from the weather, asphalt shingle manufacturers combine two natural materials which strongly resist the weather —asphalt and stone.

Even in the present atomic age, science has failed to find a better waterproofing agent than asphalt, which is the basic ingredient of asphalt shingles.

Stone, which is applied to the surface of the shingles in tough granules colored by a ceramics process, is nature's most wear-resistant material. Besides guarding against undue wear from the impact of rain, sleet, snow and ice, the rock particles are opaque, keeping the sun's rays out of the asphalt.

Ike to Use Private 'Copter — White House to Airport

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower expects soon to be flying in the first Presidential helicopter in the nation's history.

The White House said that the President, probably "in a couple of months," will be using a helicopter to fly between the White House and the national airport to "avoid traffic jams."

White House News Secretary James Hagerty said the President "has wanted a helicopter for a long time."

★ ★ ★

Hagerty said the Air Force has been conducting tests for several months to find the most suitable type of helicopter to be put into private presidential service.

STOPS ALL TRAFFIC

When the President motors from the White House to the national airport—a ride of about 25 minutes—motorcycle police are used to stop all traffic along the route for a few minutes before and after the President's car passes.

Hagerty said a helicopter could avoid creating such traffic jams.

Hagerty called the use of a helicopter by the President as simply a means of "keeping in step with progress." He said "they've developed them now to the point where they are just another means of transportation."

Until about three years ago, no President had ever flown in anything but a multi-motored airplane. President Roosevelt was the first to use an airplane while in office. President Truman then flew many thousands of miles both in this country and abroad.

Then about three years ago, the Air Force produced a small two engine airplane after considerable testing, for the President's use, and Eisenhower became the first President to use a two-engine plane. He has used this craft almost exclusively for trips to and from his Getysburg farm.

Use More Feed Per Egg

OMAHA — Eggs are unique among livestock products in that more feed is required to produce a dozen eggs now than in 1920-24. Farmers are using about 7 per cent more feed for this purpose.

A check for about $1,500 sent from New York will help build a church at Clonkeen, Erie, in County Kerry. A committee of exiles from the parish raised the funds in America.

Hoping Recent Rain, Snow May Halt Western Drought

WASHINGTON (INS)—The nation's top federal weathermen voiced guarded hope today that increasing rain and snow will break the current record-breaking western drought.

In answer to an International News Service survey of key points in the stricken region, experts pointed to recent rain and snow in the southwest as signs that dust-bowl conditions may be on the way out.

They also predicted that precipitation in the plains states during the next 30 days will be at the "normal" levels which prevailed before 1950, when the drought began.

From Amarillo, Texas came reports that ranchers are buying more cattle for restocking purposes—a sign of confidence that they can rebuild their scrawny herds.

Despite the easing of the drought in parts of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and southern California since President Eisenhower's Jan. 13-15 drought inspection trip, they agreed that it's too early to predict an end of the hot, dry cycle.

"If we have substantial rains through the spring and early summer—the critical period—that will break the drought for 1957.

"But that would be no absolute guarantee that the drought wouldn't return in 1958.

"However, if we do get substantial rain the probability is that the current long-period drought will end this year."

At the Agriculture Department, a member of the National Drought Committee said that Texas rainfall has resulted in at least a two-cent per pound increase in cattle prices. He added:

★ ★ ★

Tot Suffocates, Tails Granddad Back Into Blaze

FORNEY (AP)—Two-year-old Helmuth Haug followed his grandfather back into a blazing house and died of suffocation.

The child and his brother, Gotfried Haug, 3, were being cared for by their grandfather, Sebastian Stikl, while their parents were at work.

When the fire broke out Stikl got the children out of the house and then went back, apparently to get some furnishings. He was struck by a falling timber and retreated outside.

He was unaware that the smaller boy had followed him back into the house.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Haug, who came to Forney last September from Bissingen, Germany.

Suspect Denies Plot to Extort $25,000

DETROIT (INS)—A 31-year-old Detroit, who reportedly admitted a $25,000 extortion plot, denied the charge yesterday when arraigned before Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle.

Webster P. McClain Jr. was held under $5,000 bond for using the mails in an attempt to extort the money from John E. Lurie, executive vice president and co-owner of Wrigley supermarkets. Examination was set for March 6.

Lurie was contacted by letter and told that explosives would be used to bomb Wrigley stores unless $25,000 was paid through an elaborate scheme outlined in the letter.

The threatening note was mailed in Detroit Feb. 13 and was the basis for calling the FBI into the case.

McClain, the father of four and a World War II Marine Corps veteran who served overseas, was described by relatives and neighbors as a "wonderful father and good churchman."

3 Juveniles Caught After Taking Money

Three 16-year-old Pontiac boys were taken to the Oakland County Juvenile Home Friday pending appearance in Juvenile Court Monday on a charge of stealing a polio contribution cylinder containing nine dollars, from a local restaurant.

Detectives Herbert Cooley and Richard Evans apprehended the youths on Voorheis Rd. near Ruth St. A portion of the money was recovered after officers saw three other youths in the vicinity digging up the dimes from the snow bank.

Should Have Destroyed Itself

Device Failed on Missile

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP)—The commanding officer of the Holloman Air Development Center says the escape of a Matador guided missile Thursday was due to the failure of two electronic self-destruction systems.

The unarmed missile escaped from White Sands Proving Ground and soared at an altitude of 35,000 feet toward the Rocky Mountains, about 700 miles northwest. The $100,000 weapon has not been found and the search for it has been called off.

Maj. Gen. L. I. Davis, Holloman commander, told a news conference yesterday the two self-destruction systems were checked and approved by the Army before the missile was fired. He said missile safety was the Army's responsibility.

★ ★ ★

Davis said he was not attempting to place the blame on the Army, but was merely offering assurance that every precaution had been taken.

The self-destruction systems were designed to destroy the Matador in flight if it should go astray.

Scattered reports from four states that the missile had been seen or heard were mainly discounted as the result of high-flying jets or local dynamite blasting. The more promising reports were still being checked out.

Heavy snow over much of the Rockies may be hiding the spot where it hit, Davis said.

He said the recent escape of a snark missile from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., and the Matador Thursday were the only recent instances in which Air Force missiles have gone far astray.

Boy, 5, Knows How to Finish What He Starts

TEMPERANCE (Mich.) — When 5-year-old Mark Green somehow set fire to a wastebasket in his kitchen Thursday, he knew just what to do.

Fortunately Mrs. Haise knew who Mark was.

Mark's mother, Mrs. Samuel Green, who had been napping with two other children, awoke to find the house full of firemen.

Report Jews Leaving Poland

Mass Exodus Said Due to Nationwide Wave of Anti-Semitism

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Jewish institute in Warsaw says 12,000 Jews have fled from Poland in the past few months. There are 18,000 Jews still formally registered — but the total number is probably several times as large. Best estimates put the total well under 100,000, compared with a Jewish community of 3½ million before World War II.

The Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy, discussing the problem of anti-Semitism, reported this week that in the industrial district of Lower Silesia there are "mass applications for emigration" of Jews. The paper recounted conversations in which Jews cited instances of intolerance by other Poles.

Some Poles claim the anti-Semitic wave is receding — that Wladyslaw Gomulka, the "Nationalist" Communist leader of the country, and his supporters have been actively combating anti-Semitic tendencies for months past. Polish courts have sentenced several persons to prison for flagrant anti-Semitic acts.

The other side of the picture: The active Stalinist anti-Gomulka faction among the Polish Communists is spreading anti-Semitic propaganda — trying to shift responsibility for evils of the Stalinist past from themselves to the Jews.

Immigrant Visits Home in Sweden in High Style

CHICAGO (AP)—Ragnar Benson, who as a teenage boy from Sweden started working in 1915 for $5 a week, plans to return to his homeland in style and with plenty of company.

Benson, now a wealthy Chicago contractor, has chartered a Scandinavian Airlines plane and will take 72 relatives with him on the trip of some 9,000 miles. It will cost him an estimated $40,000.

The 56-year-old contractor, who is proud of his American citizenship, will take a letter of greeting from Mayor Richard J. Daley to the mayor of Malmo, one of Sweden's principal cities, which is about 75 miles from Benson's birthplace, Almhult. He is scheduled to leave here April 14 and return May 6.

Nehru Takes Vote Into Small State

NEW DELHI (AP) — In the small South Indian state of Kerala, Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party is facing perhaps its toughest baffle in the Indian general election.

Kerala, where polling begins next Thursday, is the one state in India where the Congress party appears to be fighting an uphill battle against the Communists and Praja — Peoples' — Socialists. It is the only state that has ever failed to give the Congress party a legislative majority.

The Congress position in Kerala led Prime Minister Nehru to schedule campaign tours through this state tomorrow when voting is to start elsewhere in India.

For a time — and with Congress tolerance — Kerala had a Praja Socialist government, the only non-Congress regime in India. But Congress and the Socialists broke, no party had a majority, and instability resulted. A form of emergency was declared and since last March Nehru's government has ruled the state directly.

Petitions seeking a post office substation in Pontiac's north side, were presented to Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean this morning.

The petitions, containing more than 2,000 signatures, were circulated by members of the Wever-Owen-Hawthorne Community Club.

"We feel that the post office is very definitely needed in our area because of increased population," Mrs. George W. Gray, club president, said.

Godfrey Off on 'Safari'

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey is bound for French Equatorial Africa to make a series of radio broadcasts back to America. The radio and TV entertainer left by plane for Paris, the first stop on what he calls his "safari." He is accompanied by his wife, Mary. Godfrey expects to be gone four weeks. He recently received permission from the Federal Communications Committee to make the broadcasts.

Infant Smoke Screen

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Teenage assemblymen of the YMCA model legislature voted against lowering the legal age for buying tobacco after 17-year-old Winfield Crowther commented: "The next thing you know the new father will be handing the baby a cigar."

George's Portrait Either Too Stern — or Too Steep

LONDON (AP) — The unsmiling face of George Washington looked down on a London auction room today on the 225th anniversary of his birthday.

More than 250 bidders stared back coldly.

"This, as you know, is Washington's birthday," he coaxed.

★ ★ ★

Sir Alec explained that the figure was under the minimum acceptable to the owner. He would not say what the owner wanted.

The portrait was listed in the catalogue as the property of Mrs. J. Woods, from the collection of Dr. J. M. McDonnell.

Month of March to Keep Jo Stafford on the Move

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Jo Stafford's March plans come in like a lion: March 2, the Como show; March 10, the Woolworth Hour; March 13, "The Jo Stafford Show," subbing for Godfrey; March 28, the Tennessee Ernie Show; March 30, moves into her huge Hollywood home . . .

Perry Como's guest tonight will be Ernie Kovacs and Tony Bennet. Ernie collapsed the crew at rehearsals — he showed up in an overcoat with a gold lining . . .

Andy Williams turned down a "Hit Parade" job and Tommy Leonetti took it . . . Jill Corey and Virginia Gibson (of "Happy Hunting") are other new Hit Paraders . . .

Girles — the very practical Charles Van Doren just learned he'll keep $17,000 more after taxes if he gets wed this year . . . Meanwhile, he hasn't received a cent so far . . .

DeMILLE TO APPEAR

Cecil B. De Mille was kept off the Ed Sullivan Show because of an old union hassle but he'll be on Dean Pike's ABC-TV show Sunday . . .

Jackie Gleason's impact in "The Honeymooners" has changed, although we can't call it a subtle shift . . . The continuity now has Gleason more straight man than clown, for Art Carney seems to have most of the funny lines.

A new West Coast version of Mike Wallace's "Nightbeat," called "Eye-to-Eye," had ex-convict Mickey Cohen as its guest and caused a coast uproar — Cohen called one police unit the "stupid squad," and the cops are mad at everyone from Mickey to the road company Wallace, one Bill Stout.

Builder Seals Cat's Fate

MONROE, La., Feb. 23 (AP) — There's been very little sleep for the Cliff Ferguson family since a contractor added a room 19 days ago and unwittingly closed a strange cat in the ceiling. The cat sleeps during the day, meows during the night and shows no inclination to leave. A "salmon-milk float," has become his nightly fare — left for him by the family.

About 10,000 persons lose their lives every year in fires in the U.S.

Blast Kills One in Texas Plant

7 Hurt in Explosion; Huge Soda Tanks Burst at Papermaking Firm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a paper manufacturing plant near here yesterday killing one man, injuring at least seven and causing a fire that could be seen for miles.

Officials of the Champion Paper and Fibre Co. were unable to determine the cause of yesterday's explosion which sprung two 125,000-gallon tanks in which liquid caustic soda was stored. The soda leaked to the ground and more than 20 persons suffered light burns when they walked through the liquid. The chemical is used in refining wood pulp.

Lee R. Clements, 43, was found under a tank. He died later of burns. A pipefitter, he was working atop a tank when the explosion occurred.

Rescue vehicles clogged streets leading to the plant which is located on the ship cannel at Pasadena, about 10 miles from downtown Houston in a vast petrochemical industrial area. About 1,800 persons were employed there. The plant will be shut down a few days.

Waikiki Hotel to Rest Business Executives

HONOLULU (AP)—A spokesman for Henry J. Kaiser announced yesterday the industrialist plans a million - dollar health center here for tired U.S. business executives.

The seven-story hospital-hotel on Waikiki Beach will have diagnostic, medical and surgical facilities.

"It would meet the needs of countless leaders whose health is of vital importance to the nation," the spokesman said.

MISSING SOMETHING
You may be missing real top-notch performance from your TV set if your antenna is not in good condition. There is no real substitute for a well engineered and properly balanced TV antenna system. Regardless of the many stories circulated about coat hangers, lamp cords, light bulbs, etc., serving as an antenna, the fact remains that a good antenna is necessary for any make or model TV set. Common annoyances from improper antennas are ghosts, double images, flickering pictures, flashes across the screen, and snow. Also, even if you have the proper type of antenna, if may need repair. Tests have proven that TV lead-in wire decreases in efficiency an average 25% in a normal two year period of use. Consult your neighborhood County Electronics Association Member for competent advice concerning your antenna problems.
