U.S. Destroyer Scraped Again by Soviet Ship

ONE COLOR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring warnings, a Soviet warship brushed against the U. S. Navy destroyer Walker early today in a second incident of confrontation between American and Russian ships on the high seas, the Pentagon said.

The Walker was scraped by another Soviet ship yesterday.

Today's incident occurred in the same general area of the Sea of Japan, about 300 nautical miles west-southwest of the Japanese island of Hokaido.

"The incident occurred when the Soviet destroyer turned into the Walker, despite the latter's warnings," a Pentagon statement said.

The Pentagon said the scraping occurred at 1:33 a. m. EDT.

As in yesterday's bumping together of destroyers, "there were no casualties and only light damage was reported," the Pentagon said.

The Soviet ship was not identified by name.

Pentagon spokesmen could offer no explanation for the second incident of harassment by Soviet ships in two days.

"I would direct that question to the Soviet attache," a spokesman said.

After yesterday's incident the State Department called in the top Soviet diplomat here and delivered an oral protest.

No response to the protest has come yet.

As of midmorning, Washington time, the State Department had not yet determined whether to summon a Soviet Embassy representative again today.

The Pentagon gave no details on how the second collision occurred.

The collision yesterday occurred as the Soviet destroyer Besslednyi tried to overtake and pass the Walker.

Under international rules of the road one vessel approaching another from the rear is responsible for avoiding a collision.

The Walker, along with two other destroyers and the aircraft carrier Hornet, have been undergoing antisubmarine warfare training maneuvers in the Sea of Japan.

The situation has taken on grave tones in view of the Vietnam war. Russia is a major supplier of war materials to North Vietnam.

U.S. officials said they would await details before trying to assess the significance of the collision yesterday in the Sea of Japan.

Fires Blamed on Arsonists

By MEL NEWMAN

Pontiac's fire equipment was taxed to the limit last night when arsonists started blazes in five locations within three hours.

A total of 10 alarms were called in from 6 p.m. yesterday to 1 a.m. today.

"I was considering calling in off-duty personnel when things really got bad," said Asst. Chief Lee Nye, commanding officer on last night's shift.

He said the department was down to a single engine company and rescue truck at one point.

Nye pointed out that the locations of the fires followed a rough pattern along railroad tracks from the South Jessie area to Bagley.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

Fire Marshal Charles Metz said he had no doubt arson was involved.

"You don't find five building fires on a traceable course in three hours unless they are set fires," he said.

Chronologically, the department was called to:

- Vacant house at 543 Highland at 6 p.m.
- House fire at 408 S. Jessie at 6:55 p.m.
- A false alarm at 283 Raeburn at 7:04 p.m.
- A shed attached to the rear of a former meat packing plant at 49 Turk at 7:28 p.m.
- A shack in an old coal yard at 142 Bagley at 7:43 p.m.
- An auto wreck (to flush gasoline) at 300 Branch at 8:06 p.m.
- Car fire at 339 Branch at 8:34 p.m.
- An abandoned house, no address, on Diston at 9:16 p. m.
- The shack at 142 Bagley which rekindled about 10:20 p. m.
- A false alarm at 120 Raeburn at 12:57 a. m.

No extensive loss was caused by any of the blazes, either because of fast action by firemen or because the buildings damaged were old and unused.

The home at 408 S. Jessie, a two-story frame, was the only occupied building involved and the fire was contained to the exterior of the house, authorities said.

Metz said he found no evidence that any materials aside from matches and paper and wood were used for ignition.

However, Charles Gale, Pontiac police chief of detectives, said a witness reported seeing a youth with a gasoline can at the scene of one blaze.

BUSY NIGHT — Pontiac firemen play a stream of water on a blaze in a coal yard at 142 Bagley as spectators watch the action. This was the department's second trip to the Bagley address in three hours—one of 10 alarms called in from 6 p.m. yesterday until 1 a.m. today. Fire officials said most of the blazes last night were unquestionably the work of arsonists.

DST Foes Get 2-Week Stay

LANSING (AP) — Nervous clock watchers can relax. There won't be a time change in Michigan for at least two weeks.

It looked for a while yesterday as if Michigan would zip ahead an hour — from Eastern Standard Time to Eastern Daylight Time.

The State Board of Canvassers stepped in with a slowdown, however.

The board refused to immediately certify petitions to put the Daylight Saving Time issue on the November 1968 election ballot.

★ ★ ★

Instead, the board decided to consider the issue May 24.

NULLIFY EXEMPTION

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley had argued that as soon as the petitions were stamped valid the state would go on Eastern Daylight Time. The action would nullify the state law exempting Michigan from daylight time, he said.

George Montgomery, state elections director, had alerted state officials that a fast time switch might be in the offing.

Kelley and Montgomery had even agreed on a time for the switch at midnight, which they said would result in the least amount of confusion.

State Civil Service Director Frank Dewald had already started figuring out new schedules for state workers who would be affected by the change.

U.S. Army Takes Control of Vietnam Pacification

SAIGON (AP) — The United States apparently has decided to assign more troops to help protect South Vietnam's embattled pacification program.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker announced today that U.S. participation in the program has been transferred from civilian to military control. Henceforth, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, will direct the American pacification effort as well.

Westmoreland, however, will have a civilian deputy heading up U.S. pacification work. He is Robert W. Komer, 44, special assistant to President Johnson, who is known to have recommended that the military take over.

Bunker, who celebrated his 73rd birthday today, succeeded Henry Cabot Lodge two weeks ago.

He said the change was ordered to bolster security for Vietnamese revolutionary development-pacification teams who are trying to supplant Vietcong influence in the countryside and because the greater part of the American advisory and logistics assets in South Vietnam belong to the military.

The South Vietnamese army has been primarily responsible for protecting the villages where some 20,000 pacification workers are stationed. But security has often been lax.

Nonmilitary Role Worries Romney

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney said today he thinks the United States may be on the brink of the "tragic error" of getting too deeply involved in the nonmilitary side of the Vietnam war.

He made clear his comments at a news conference were prompted by the announcement that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of military operations in Vietnam, also has been placed in charge of the Vietnamese pacification program.

Romney said "the shooting war" already has been "Americanized" despite original assurances by U.S. military personnel that their role was only to give advice and some support to troops of the government of South Vietnam.

Murder Suspect Stands Mute

A 20-year-old Metamora Township man stood mute on a charge of first-degree murder this morning in Monroe Justice Court. No bond was set and Dennis O'Dell, 20, was remanded to the Monroe County Jail to face a hearing at 2:30 p.m. May 29 before Judge Floyd Willett.

★ ★ ★

The body of O'Dell's wife, 19-year-old Mary Katherine O'Dell, was found yesterday morning on a lovers' lane 500 feet north of the Michigan-Ohio line in Monroe County, not far from the home of her parents.

An attempted reconciliation in the 18-month-old marriage had apparently ended in a shooting death, police said. The O'Dells had been estranged since February, according to police.

The Oxford Police Department where O'Dell turned himself in early yesterday reported that he said he had picked her up at her parents' home.

★ ★ ★

A resulting argument ended with O'Dell allegedly shooting his wife six times with a 22-caliber pistol, which he surrendered to officers, according to police.

★ ★ ★

Taken to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department by an uncle, Sgt. Ray Westphal of the Oxford department, he accompanied county authorities to Whiteford Township where the woman's body was discovered at 10:14 a.m.

Held on a charge of murder, O'Dell has reportedly made no statement to authorities there.

Youths Believed Lost in Caverns Near Twain Home

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—Three Hannibal boys are missing and may be lost in one of the several caves near this Mississippi River town. Searchers reentered the caves today looking for the youths.

★ ★ ★

Police said the boys failed to report for school today, indicating they were not just camping out in the area. Officers said the weather was not ideal for camping out during the night.

Missing are Joe Hoag, 13, and his brother, Bill, 11, and Edwin Craig Dowell, 14, all of Hannibal. They were last seen late yesterday.

Mrs. Mike Hoag, mother of two of the missing boys, said she felt they had gone cave exploring.

★ ★ ★

Hannibal, the boyhood home of Mark Twain, is located 100 miles north of St. Louis. Twain often referred to the Hannibal caves in his books.

SEEN ENTERING

The youngsters were last seen entering Murphy's Cave yesterday afternoon. Firemen at a nearby fire station said the boys were carrying a shovel and a flash light.

★ ★ ★

The Mark Twain Emergency Squad, a local search and rescue unit aided by a group of spelunkers from Quincy, Ill., probed some of the cave's passageways until around 3 a.m. today. They resumed the search this morning.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said Murphy's Cave, or portions of it, were only recently opened as a result of land clearance for a highway system.

Rain, Rain . . . (Won't) Go Away

Showers forecast for today will continue tonight with temperatures becoming a little cooler. A low of 40 to 45 is expected.

Partly cloudy with a chance of rain late in the day is the weatherman's prediction for tomorrow. Partly cloudy and continued cool is the outlook for Saturday.

★ ★ ★

East to northeast winds at 20 to 30 miles today will become northerly tonight.

★ ★ ★

Precipitation during the night totaled three-tenths of an inch in downtown Pontiac. The low temperature prior to 8 a.m. was 44. The mercury recorded 48 at 2 p.m.

THE ROCKEFELLER BROTHERS — Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York (right) and Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas chat at the first annual Brotherhood-in-Action dinner in New York last night. It is the first time they have appeared together since Winthrop was elected. Introducing Winthrop, Nelson quipped, "This is really brotherhood in action."

Woman, 79, Is Killed by Car in Waterford

A 79-year-old Walled Lake woman was injured fatally last night when she was struck by a car as she walked across Telegraph near Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

The victim was identified as Blanche I. Perry of 765 E. Walled Lake.

Driver of the car was William G. Serrin Jr., 28, of 3411 Wormer, Waterford Township.

He told Pontiac State Police he didn't see the pedestrian until impact.

Serrin was traveling northeast on Telegraph. He was not held.

Senator Asks Data on Deal for 493 Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan predicted today the Pentagon would pay up to $12 billion to get 1,300 F111 planes in the air — double the cost defense officials once estimated for 1,700 of the controversial aircraft.

The Arkansas Democrat coupled his prediction with a demand that the Air Force supply details of the $1.82 billion contract it signed Wednesday with General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., for 493 of the all-purpose planes, once known as the TFX.

McClellan, chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, said the Pentagon originally estimated it would cost $5 billion to $6 billion for 1,730 planes. "But I do know it is going to cost from $10 billion to $12 billion to get 1,300 planes in the air," he said in an interview.

The Air Force F111s will cost $3.7 million each but this does not include the engine, weapons control system or electronic navigation systems.

McNAMARA

The F111 was ordered developed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara as an all-purpose plane for the Air Force and Navy to help save on production costs.

The new contract calls for a fixed price incentive arrangement allowing General Dynamics a possible nine per cent profit if it meets a target cost of $1.67 billion.

This would permit a $15 million profit, with the company sharing in savings below the target cost and the government helping absorb any excess costs up to 15 per cent above the contract total.

The Air Force said the contract would cover 165 Air Force and Navy aircraft authorized by Congress in the fiscal year ending June 30. Australia would get 24 planes and Britain 50. The remainder of the 493 still lack congressional funding.

PROHIBITED

McClellan noted Congress prohibited the purchase of production models for the Navy in the year ending June 30.

"The Navy version is bogged down," he said. "They have no engine for it that will do the job and they can't test a new engine in the plane until next year."

★ ★ ★

The committee chairman said his over-all estimate of the final cost of the planes included research and development items running to about $1.3 billion. He said Air Force models will cost twice the original estimates and Navy models up to three times the first figures.

★ ★ ★

McClellan said he was glad the contract has been signed "because maybe now we will get some idea of the cost if we don't get the usual half-story from the Pentagon."

School Programs Will Be Expanded

Pontiac schools Community Action Programs (CAP) which received over $1.1 million in federal, state and foundation funds this year, are being expanded and modified.

The Pontiac Board of Education last night authorized the immediate addition of two new budgeted position titles in the program with the possible increase of two more in the future.

The title of Mrs. Pearlina Butler was also changed by the board from assistant director of elementary education to coordinator of preschool education.

One person will be hired for 1967-68 to devote half of his time each to the new positions of coordinator of elementary and secondary Community Action Programs.

Other new titles approved but not proposed for 1967-68 are assistant director of Community Action Programs and coordinator of Community School Programs.

Mrs. Butler's position and the two new and future titles are included in the school budget and costs of positions are written off against appropriate federal, state and outside agency programs.

Positions currently being held in the program are those of B. C. VanKoughnett, director, and William Robertson, coordinator of research and evaluation.

CAP for the past year has included School Community Action Programs, National Teacher Corps, breakfast program, Community School, reading under State Section 12 and those under the Elementary and Secondary Act.

★ ★ ★

"It seems likely that funds will continue to be available from federal, state and private foundations provided the school district has the capacity to make the necessary contacts, develop the proposals, make follow-up contacts on proposals and implement the program after funding," Asst. Supt. William Lacy told the board.

VanKoughnett reported to the board that he is still awaiting federal approval of funds for a $273,620 Head Start program for 420 deprived children this summer.

Police Rescue Kidnaped Girl

TORONTO (AP) —One of the most intensive kidnap hunts in Toronto history ended dramatically in front of the Hospital for Sick Children today when police recovered 6-year-old Mary Farncomb and arrested a man.

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Farncomb, disappeared with a man who led her along Duplex Avenue early today.

The parents received a call for $10,000 ransom shortly after.

The disappearance touched off frenzied police activity. Chief James Mackey left a Police Commission meeting to take personal charge of the search.

At 11:30 a.m. officers spotted a tall, fair-haired man amid some construction boarding in front of the Hospital for Sick Children.

A plain-clothes detective seized the crying girl while uniformed officers grappled with the man.

JAMES H. GALLAGHER

Pontiac Area Jaycees Elect

A Pontiac Township man, James H. Gallagher of 609 Provincetown, was elected president of the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce last night at the annual election meeting.

Others elected to Jaycee offices include James Peterson of 5022 Shoreline, Waterford Township, first vice president; John Rhoades of 2595 Woodbine, Waterford Township, second vice president; Richard Eldred of 330 W. Iroquois, treasurer; and David Ogg of 656 Lyndale, Rochester, secretary.

Four Jaycees were elected to the board of directors. They are Richard Fitzgerald of 1234 Lake Crescent, Bloomfield Township; Martin Haupt of 405 W. Iroquois; T. Gordon Scupholm of Royal Oak; and Edward Hunter of 6156 Waterfront, Waterford Township.

Charles Toby of 2384 St. Joseph, West Bloomfield Township was reelected to the board.

Board member terms are two years.

Gallagher, 34, was formerly internal vice president and is a past treasurer. He will take office as president July 1. He is a general agent at Halsted-Johnson Insurance Agency, Detroit.

School Vote Deadlines Near in City, Waterford

Deadlines for candidates to file nominating petitions and for unregistered voters to register for the June 12 board of education elections in Pontiac and Waterford Township are growing closer.

State law requires that school board candidates file nominating petitions by 4 p.m. Saturday and Monday is the last day for unregistered voters to register.

In Pontiac, candidates can file at the board of education office tomorrow during regular business hours and from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday. The office is in the Central Administration Building, 350 E. Wide Track.

In the Waterford Township district, candidates can file from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. tomorrow and 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Unregistered voters in Pontiac have until 8 p.m. Monday to register.

In the Waterford Township district and parts of the Pontiac district outside the city, the deadline is 5 p.m. Monday.

Persons already properly registered need not reregister, Vernon L. Schiller, Pontiac Schools business manager, advises.

To qualify as a school elector, a person must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, a resident of the State of Michigan for at least six months and a resident of the school district for at least 30 days prior to the election.

U.S. War Toll Ties Record

SAIGON (AP) — A total of 274 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week and 1,748 were wounded, the U. S. Command announced today. The number of dead equaled the record for the war, in the week that ended March 25.

Eighteen Americans were missing or captured, the command said, bringing the total casualties for the week to 2,040. This was 52 less than the record total of 2,092 during the week that ended March 18. The total included 211 killed, 1,874 wounded and seven missing or captured.

★ ★ ★

Enemy losses last week were reported at 1,903 killed, a marked increase from the 1,152 reported a week earlier.

School Bids $80,000 Under Estimates

BIRMINGHAM — Bids for the construction of the $2.6 million new junior high school came in $80,000 under estimates, the school board reports.

Muzzi and Vincente of Allen Park was the contract-winning firm.

Because of the apparent savings, the schools' architects, O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, recommended installation of air-conditioning of all academic areas, and this was approved by the board.

The school is expected to open in September 1968 on Inkster near Maple. At first it will house 750 students with future expansion planned to accommodate 1,000.

Academic areas will be built around the team-teaching concept, featuring a small amphitheater for group instruction.

Facilities for a complete physical education program will include a swimming pool.

Movable partitions between many rooms will make it possible for rearrangement of classroom spaces.

The annual spring concert of the award-winning Groves High School Band and Orchestra will be held at 8 tonight.

The group was recently rated "first division" at the state band and orchestra festival.

Tickets will be on sale at the door with proceeds to go for band equipment.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — William A. Prew of 2311 Tilbury, water safety chairman for the area Red Cross, announces an all-day aquatic conference will be held Saturday at Wayne State University in Detroit, starting at 9 a.m.

Topics to be covered are in all areas of swimming pool management.

State Dem: Adjourn, End 'Farce'

LANSING (AP) — "Let's adjourn, this session has been a farce," suggested Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, in the Senate Wednesday.

"Let all the bills die," said Brown. "They are nothing but a bunch of cats and dogs anyway."

Brown's idea was that the Legislature adjourn immediately.

"Then the governor could call us back into special session to work on just tax reform," Brown said.

Brown's notion was thrown in during a debate over a resolution to go along with the House in extending the deadline for reporting bills out of their house of origin by two weeks. Appropriations bills would be exempt from the deadline.

The Senate, on a 20-12 party line vote, agreed to allow the House to continue doing what it already is doing by the trick of labeling all bills as taxation bills.

The deadline for reporting out bills was extended from May 12 to May 26.

The 20 votes for the bill were all Republican. The 12 against all Democrats.

RAP ELAVATOR

"Even the elevator doesn't work any more under the Republican administration," said Brown, reporting he was stuck for 10 minutes in a Senate elevator.

"Next to nothing has been accomplished," complained Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn. "But we can't blame it all on the House. Some of the actions in the Senate have been more reprehensible than in the House."

★ ★ ★

"How can we reconcile that 'Romney Action Team' motto with the action we are being asked to take today," Craig asked. "We could stay here until doomsday and nothing would happen."

Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, noted that at least 13 bills passed by the Senate were introduced by Brown.

"Were these all junk?" he asked.

"I confess!" cried Brown, raising his hand.

Vander Laan asked sympathy for the House.

The Republican party, he said, wanted tax reform by April 1.

10 Pct. Leaving City Schools

Search On for Teacher Replacements

A search is on to replace 10 per cent of Pontiac's teachers who are leaving the school system, Asst. Supt. Richard Fell reported last night.

He announced that there will be 156 teaching vacancies this June compared to 119 last year.

Fell cautioned, however, that 58.5 new elementary and secondary positions are included in the 156 total.

Of the total teaching vacancies, 82.5 positions have been staffed for next year with 73.5 positions still to be filled. Half a teaching position is a part-time teacher.

★ ★ ★

"We have staffed twice as many teachers at this time compared to last year," he explained. "The available number of candidates has been good, so we have been pretty selective so far."

SPECIAL EDUCATION

A sufficient number of interested candidates, though, will probably not be available for certain vacancies such as in special education, Fell said.

Eighteen teachers of approximately 100 who are leaving the system are retiring. Sixteen new positions will be added on the secondary level and 42.5 in the elementary grades.

Pontiac is losing many good Negro teachers because of the shortage of housing for them, according to Fell.

★ ★ ★

He said he hopes to give a report within a month on a pilot program whereby the school district would own suitable housing.

MAYOR'S COMMITTEE

A committee appointed by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. of Pontiac is also studying housing for Negroes here.

Replacements for principals Francis W. Staley of Pontiac Central High and David Crawford of Wilson School are expected to be named in two weeks.

They Live With Flooded Street, Wait for Drainage

By JEAN SAILE

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Five grade school children stopped to spot a toad at the edge of floodwaters on Richwood Street yesterday after school.

★ ★ ★

Others were making their circuitous way around the inundated area.

"It's the kids," said Mrs. Jack McDowell, 2436 Richwood.

"Look at that. That water is 5 feet deep in the middle. One of these days somebody is going to drown."

Water is the problem!

MISUNDERSTANDINGS

Misunderstandings, the questionable use of past township authority, the legal cloud over a special road, ditch and drain fund, and the aversion of Richwood residents to any kind of open ditching has left the street closed.

Impassable because of a collection of runoff waters, which some people say includes raw sewage, the street which runs nearly a mile from Walton to Pontiac Road is effectively divided.

A special project, to be financed by a $20,000 fund granted to Supervisor Roy Wahl at the annual township meeting and consisting of a proposed drain to clear the area now appears doomed.

★ ★ ★

The residents don't like the water. However, they say they have lived with it on and off since 1960 and they can live with it again until they get the type of drainage they want.

OBJECTIONS

Objections to the currently proposed solution center around a 40-foot ditch, 5 feet deep, which the township engineering firm of McAlpine Engineering, Inc., of Birmingham has proposed in conjunction with two catch basins and two sections of enclosed 12-inch drain crock as the cheapest possible method of draining the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDowell have refused to sign for the right-of-way which would allow construction on part of their land.

"We were assured the drain would be all enclosed when we verbally agreed to give the right-of-way," said Mrs. McDowell.

★ ★ ★

"A 5-foot deep open ditch is no solution. We're worried about children around the water now, and it would be the same thing with the ditch."

'NOT LONG ENOUGH'

Mrs. McDowell also contends that such a ditch would not be long enough to drain the water from along the street; that it would have to be dug nearly the full 180-foot length of their lot to do the ultimate job.

She is agreed with in part by Bernard Feldhauser, secretary-treasurer of McAlpine, who said that "a depression" would have to be continued to the street.

"But not that deep a ditch," he said. "Near the road it would be only a shovel indentation."

Supervisor Wahl contends that even the 5-foot ditch with sloping banks would rarely carry more than 12 to 18 inches of water.

'NO BACK UP'

"With 12-inch crock catching the runoff, there'll be no back up," said Wahl.

Mrs. McDowell's point is further enhanced by an admission from Feldhauser that to enclose the drain right to Richwood would cost only another $500 or $600 on the already contracted cost of $2,980.

"They asked us to give the cheapest solution and this is it," said Feldhauser.

"A really acceptable solution would be the inclusion of the whole area from Pontiac Road to Walton and down to I-75 in a special assessment drainage district."

"This is what they may have to do," he said.

The whole area of perhaps 300 modest homes is plagued at times by standing runoff water.

It appears the township supervisor feels a need for economy because the special drain fund has been questioned, residents indicate.

Trustee John C. Richardson said at Monday night's meeting that he could find no provision for such a fund in township statutes.

As now proposed, the ditch would run back along the Lester F. Axford property at 2376 Richwood to a catch basin at the corner, then through 85 feet of enclosed crock to another catch basin at the back of the McDowell property and then 255 feet back through a vacant lot to Dexter Street where it would connect with an existing drain.

Walled Lake Eyes School Budget Cuts

By JANICE KLOUSER

WALLED LAKE — What does a school district do when its calculations show that during the coming school year expenditures will exceed income by some $180,000?

★ ★ ★

It does two things: It keeps its collective fingers crossed that more money will be forthcoming from state and county sources and it begins to consider what can be chopped out of the budget if it isn't.

Walled Lake is at this stage right now, as are many other districts this time of year, when educators must start thinking about what can be cut if necessary.

Walled Lake has already submitted a $5,276,326 budget to the County Tax Allocation Board. The only problem is, the budget contains a $180,000 deficit which has to be eliminated somehow, hopefully through additional income.

★ ★ ★

In the event there is no extra income, the board of education and the administration have started to consider what can be sent to the chopping block.

Items included in the budget which may have to be lopped off are:

- An additional elementary music teacher.
- An additional elementary physical education teacher.
- An additional elementary helping teacher.
- An audio-visual director.
- Three additional secretaries.
- A director of special projects.
- A head custodial supervisor.
- $20,000 in capital outlay for needed equipment.

Without these things in the budget, and with some extra income which is the result of additional growth and property reassessment, the deficit would stand at $47,451, according to Schools Supt. George Garver.

But he considers this a realistic budget and doesn't want to cut it if he can help it.

So, while he keeps the fingers of one hand crossed in anticipation of additional income, he keeps the scissors ready in his other hand — just in case.

Avon Cityhood Bid

Petitions to Be Aired

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board was informed last night that its petitions to incorporate as the City of Avon will be discussed by the boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

Supervisor Cyril Miller announced his intention to be present at the meeting.

The township incorporation bid grew out of the cityhood status schieved by the village of Rochester earlier this year.

The board delayed action on a new building permit fee schedule which would raise the price from a previous high of $29 for residential to a starting fee of $55.

★ ★ ★

Rewording to exclude minor repair jobs from the schedule was asked.

ADDITIONAL $1,000

The board voted an additional $1,000 to the Brooklands Fire Department bringing its yearly stipend to $3,700 which is split twice annually by volunteers.

★ ★ ★

Two porposed amendments to the fire ordinance prohibiting the bringing into the township of materials to be burned and placing smoke and debris violations under the jurisdiction of the health committee were discussed.

★ ★ ★

The board gave its approval to Metropolitan Club of America, Inc., Spirit 83, to sponsor a carnival May 23-29 at the corner of Crooks and Auburn roads.

$444,700 Quoted for School Addition

OXFORD — The Board of Education has been told by architects that the tentative cost for an addition to Clear Lake Elementary School is $444,700.

Included in the plans are a kindergarten room, six classrooms, a special education room, instructional center, activities room and enlargement of the multipurpose room and kitchen.

An interim report was also made by the architect on tentative plans for a new junior high school. The present school would be retained for Board of Education offices and as a buffer against increased enrollment, according to Schools Supt. Roger Oberg.

A contract in the amount of $17,890 was awarded to Kruchko Plumbing and Heating of Drayton Plains for replacement of the Junior High School boiler.

A new bus body from Ward Body of Michigan was approved at a cost of $7,100.

Arrangements for graduation including approval of the graduating list and engagement of Dr. David C. Smith of Michigan State University as commencement speaker were approved.

AMC Recalls 13,245 Autos

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp yesterday recalled 13,245 Canadian-built American Rebel 1967 model passenger cars for possible replacement of steering shafts.

AMC said the shafts may have been improperly assembled. AMC said 9,690 of the cars were built for sale in the United States.

★ ★ ★

The company indicated all of the cars were in customer hands. How the defects were discovered was not revealed, but no accidents, injuries or fatalities were reported as a result.

E. W. Bernitt, vice president —automotive safety and quality assurance, said:

'BINDING CONDITION'

"Steering shafts in some 1967 American and Rebel models cars may have a binding condition not noticeable to the owner, which might subject the steering shaft to abnormal stress under certain conditions and possibly cause a steering shaft failure."

School Bands at Avondale Slate Concert

The Avondale Junior High School Cadet and Concert Bands, in cooperation with the Mixed Chorus, will present a Spring Music Concert at 7:30 tonight in the gymnasium.

The program is being presented in conjunction with a Junior High PTA meeting.

The Cadet Band will feature "Lollytoodum" from the Appalachian Suite by Kinyon and "Bagatelle" by Beethoven. The bands are under the direction of Ronald Salow.

The chorus will vary its presentations with "Lenox," "Jamaica Farewell" and "Now The Day Is Over."

Cornet soloist Bruce Neil will highlight the Concert Band's performance with his interpretation of "Trumpet In The Night." Other selections include "Punch And Judy Overture" and a jazz-type composition entitled "School Room Blooz."

10-Year Resident

New Avon JP Is Appointed

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night appointed Arthur W. Kollin as justic of the peace, replacing Earl Dean whose residence in Rochester has disqualified him for the position.

Kollin, whose offices are in Pontiac, lives at 941 Dutton. He has been a township resident the past 10 years and is a past president of the Rochester Kiwanis Club.

Formerly assistant prosecuting attorney for Oakland County, he is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

The appointment of the 46-year-old attorney is to aid the handling of junk car violations in the township. Junk cars have been the object of a crackdown recently.

★ ★ ★

He joins Judge Harry J. Huber, who after Dean's resignation was the township's lone justice.

Trade Centers for Macomb Up to Voters

Macomb County School electors will be asked June 12 to approve 1.5 mills for the support of proposed occupational centers to train students for jobs immediately upon graduation.

Statistics have shown that less than 40 per cent of the county's grading seniors attend college. Many of the remainder have chosen to drop out of school, according to authorities, in the belief that high school offers them nothing.

The proposal, if approved, could cost country property owners $15 a year on a home assessed at $10,000 with a market value of $20,000.

Educators say the occupational centers would not duplicate the vocational programs in the high schools, but would extend and intensify the training on a basis too expensive for the individual schools to handle.

Training in the centers is suggested on a half-day basis, with all of the student's regular courses being taken at the local high school. Graduation would be from the local high school, educators point out.

Walled Lake OKs Rezoning

WALLED LAKE—Two parcels of land totaling 34.6 acres on the southwest side of the lake have been rezoned by the City Council from residential to multiple dwelling.

City Manager Royce Downey said a $7.2 million apartment project is planned for the 31-acre site and a $1.8 million project is planned for the 3.6-acre site.

They are, he said, the first portion of new development being made, possible by water and sewers coming into the city.

Their petition claims excessive smoke comes from Holly Spring Co., 400 Elm. The residents live east, or downwind of the firm.

The council promised to check with the company and with health authorities.

$1,000 Library Fund Check

AVON TOWNSHIP — Receipt of a check for $1,000 toward the Margaret C. Norton Children's Library Fund has been announced by Friends of the Woodward Memorial Public Library, Inc.

The check is a gift of former Rochester residents Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Taylor of Ann Arbor.

The fund was recently established in honor of Mrs. Bert C. Norton for her many years of community service.

Will Eye Present, Future

Romeo Council Forms Rec Committee

ROMEO — The first recreation committee in the history of the village has been named this week to study needs and ways of making maximum use of present facilities.

Named by Council President Merlin Kerr were Robert Randell, representing the Romeo Community Schools; George McKeough, Louis Berellen and R. J. Brainard of the Romeo Youth Center; Donald Mosher of the village; and Larry Randall and Daniel Barnable, members-at-large.

An ordinance forbidding emptying of downspouts into sanitary sewers has also been established by council action.

Ford Motor Co. officials were present at a recent council session to discuss relocation of a village storm drain on their property and promised to present a plan in two weeks.

The council approved a Rawles Street paving project at a total cost of $19,700 to be spread on special assessment.

Permission was given the schools to create a parking area on Prospect between the street and sidewalk in front of the junior high school.

Auto Safety Check Deserves Support

The results of the area's first taste of the State's new selective auto check law were considerably less than gratifying.

Of the 45 cars waved into a "check lane" set up in Waterford Township during the first day of inspection, 33 failed to pass the 32-point check. Eighteen drivers were ticketed while 15 were given warnings.

Conducted by four-man units of the State Police, the spot check requires from seven to 10 minutes. Safety stickers are given drivers whose vehicles pass the test; those issued warnings have the privilege of correcting the defects and qualifying for a safety sticker at another inspection.

Although the law has been in effect but two months, there has been found much to support the opinion of authorities that the driver and condition of his vehicle are primary elements of highway safety.

★ ★ ★

The Press strongly endorses the present auto check law with the promise it holds for reduction of highway accidents. We are, however, hopeful that the beneficial results of this initial legislation will be expanded by enactment of an effective mandatory vehicle inspection law.

Congress Drags Feet in Pursuit of Crime Control

Crime is almost as compelling a conversational topic as the weather, perhaps because both are omnipresent and difficult to control.

Although law enforcement in this Country has always been regarded as a local responsibility, the magnitude of the crime problem points to action by the Federal government.

President JOHNSON, in a special message on crime in America, recommended on Feb. 6 that Congress approve the Safe Streets and Crime Control Act of 1967. The act would be administered by the director of the Office of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Assistance, to be established in the Justice Department. The proposed office would offer financial aid to local law enforcement agencies.

Despite the talk on Capitol Hill about crime, Congress seems in no hurry to accept or reject the President's proposal. Senate hearings on the safe streets bill, which began in March, were resumed Tuesday and will continue until the end of the month. House hearings on the bill — and all other crime legislation—have been indefinitely adjourned.

Thus, the "war against crime" remains to date a war of words. A new skirmish is scheduled for Saturday, when the Justice Department and the American Bar Association will hold an anti-crime conference in Washington. Police officers and prosecuting attorneys met at a similar conference in the capital in March.

★ ★ ★

Eventually, it is to be hoped, an effective course of action will be mapped out and implemented.

Workers Taking Wider Cut of Economic Pie

Americans whose incomes are in the form of wages and salaries pushed their share of the total national income to 71 per cent in 1966, reports the Family Economic Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

In actual dollars, workers collected a massive $433 billion. This was up $40.5 billion from 1965 and accounted for four-fifths of the total increase in the Country's $610-billion national income in 1966.

Such a huge share of the economic pie would have been unthinkable at the turn of the century, when "compensation of employes" represented only 51 per cent of the Nation's total income of a mere $17.5 billion.

Sharing the remainder of the national income in 1966 were businessmen, farmers, professional people, rental property owners and those who lent their savings—the "capitalists," large and small. Their share was 49 per cent in 1900 but only 29 per cent in 1966.

Together with "employes," these are the economic groups which produce the Nation's supply of goods and services each year. This mammoth output for which Americans earned $610 billion in 1966 sold for a final price of $740 billion in the market place.

★ ★ ★

This 29 per cent residue of national income after wages and salaries may be near the minimum necessary to provide rewards that will stimulate businesses, farmers and others to maintain a high growth rate for the economy and, consequently, a high employment rate for labor.

What Lies After War? A Larger Issue

MARLOW

A bit of the future was mentioned Tuesday by President Johnson.

He was at a luncheon honoring Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's right hand man on Formosa, C. K. Yen, vice president and premier of Nationalist China, with which this country has a mutual defense agreement.

Johnson said this country is committed to the defense of Formosa, which was just stating the obvious since this has been the case ever since the United States, after first wanting nothing to do with it, took Formosa under its wing during the Korean War.

"It is an alliance tested in time of war, tempered by our struggle against forces that would have destroyed us both," said Johnson, without mentioning Red China or communism.

STILL IN INFANCY

As a nation the Red Chinese are still in their infancy. They didn't take over mainland China until 1949, which is when Chiang, and such forces as he had left, fled to Formosa.

But the revolutionary fanatics, like Mao Tse-Tung, are still alive.

In the Soviet Union more moderate men took over after Stalin, although that was almost 40 years after their revolution, a period long enough for the Soviets to come out of primitiveness by industrializing and modernizing.

★ ★ ★

Red China, trying to modernize in a hurry, is still pretty much in its original primitive condition.

MAY DO THE SAME

In time some of the conservatism which overtook the Soviets may do the same to the Chinese, when the zealots like Mao are gone, and life and jobs are better.

But by that time they should be a heavily armed nation, with enough nuclear power to lay this country to waste. By then the Vietnamese war should be settled, with, perhaps, the Americans gone from Asia.

But will a new generation of Chinese, once they have the power to match this country's, sit still? Probably not, for then the United States must face a problem it doesn't encounter now in China's present weak condition.

★ ★ ★

It's this: When the Chinese are strong enough to devastate this country in a nuclear war, will this country be willing to risk its existence to save Formosa if the Red Chinese decide to seize it? They claim it as part of China.

BIG RISK

To carry the thought further would the United States be willing to risk everything, since it might mean nuclear war with China, to save Southeast Asia from a Communist take-over of one kind or another?

★ ★ ★

All this is in the future. The best this country can hope for is that if communism in Asia can be held back long enough, new generations there will be more moderate.

'At This Point It's A Little Hard To Tell Who's Leading!'

David Lawrence Says:

Political Fetes Warrant Scrutiny

WASHINGTON — In the scrutiny of "testimonial dinners" nowadays and their relation to politics, it may be assumed that there is a curiosity to learn just who paid $250 for a ticket of admission to hear President Johnson speak at a dinner here on Tuesday night.

LAWRENCE

Do they represent companies which have contracts with the government involving large sums? Are they what are sometimes called "lobbyists"?

Do they expect any favors from government, and do members of Congress who receive the funds in behalf of their campaigns feel under an obligation to give special treatment subsequently to the contributors?

These questions would normally not be asked but, in view of recent disclosures about "testimonial dinners," it is perhaps natural to inquire into such affairs and learn more about just what customs are being sanctioned now in present-day politics.

The Republicans for instance, charged $500 a ticket for a recent dinner, and they did not have such a celebrity as the President of the United States to deliver the principal address.

It is estimated that there were 3,000 persons at the Democratic dinner this week. At $250 a head, this amounts to $750,000. About one-fifth of this total goes for expenses, and the party is expected to net $600,000. This is a lot of money for a single night of political exercise.

The dinner was handled by two Democratic campaign committees — one for the House and one for the Senate — and the money will be divided evenly between the two. It is stated that none of the money goes to the presidential campaign fund.

The hotel ballroom where the dinner was held had no empty seats, and there were requests for more tickets than were available.

One man is believed to have bought at least 18 tickets, and at several tables there were extra purchases made.

All this would not have attracted any attention in previous years, because it has been well known that political contributions are made to the party in power and to the opposition party by many persons who have an ax to grind on controversial questions.

The principal objection raised in recent criticisms of "testimonial dinners" is related to the use of the money afterwards.

Contributors rarely are informed as to what happens to the money and as a rule are not interested. But they are anxious that those who are running for office know who the contributors were.

Undoubtedly all members of Congress or opposition candidates will be provided in due time with a list of those who contributed to Democratic and Republican campaign dinners — not only persons in their own districts, but those from other areas as well.

This certainly is not proof in itself that members of Congress are influenced by the contributions they receive from persons interested in pending legislation.

But it has been taken for granted that individuals who have been identified with the party in previous years and who consistently contribute to campaign funds are entitled to some special consideration when they come to the offices of members of Congress.

The big question that emerges from a discussion of campaign contributions is whether a system in which citizens pay money directly to help elect members of Congress and the president of the United States is as good a system as one in which no obligation, actual or implied, is involved.

If the government itself provides the funds, equal opportunity is afforded to individual candidates irrespective of their own financial resources.

Billboard Lobby Perils Pet Bill of Lady Bird's

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The billboard lobby is at it again, and Lady Bird is not amused.

Some 200 lobbyists are currently swarming around Capitol Hill, and wining and dining legislators at Washington's fanciest French restaurants in an attempt to have Mrs. Johnson's pet Beautification bill drastically watered down.

Ruth Montgomery

The matter seemed settled once and for all last session when Congress passed legislation that would outlaw one million highway billboards by 1973, most of them by 1970.

But activity recently flared anew when the bureau of roads sent to Congress a list of criteria for the 261,000 miles of interstate and primary roads, and the House is holding hearings on it.

★ ★ ★

With what conservationists regard as diabolical cleverness, lobbyists had already begun offering billboard space to various arms of the federal government, such as poverty's Job Corps and the U.S. Travel Agency's "Discover America" campaign.

Officials of such agencies were delighted at the opportunity to spread their message throughout America, forgetting that a billboard plugging recruiting drives on travel hides just as much of the rural landscape as one lauding toothpaste or cigarettes.

Soon protest mail began pouring into the distaff side of the White House, the tenor of which was: "The government is not consistent. It doesn't practice what it preaches."

It did not take Lady Bird's embarrassed staff long to determine that "Discover America" ads alone are occupying 4,500 billboards along the very roads that the First Lady is desperately trying to beautify so that people will want to discover America.

★ ★ ★

But Mrs. Johnson's one-woman campaign has been catching on with the people, to the chagrin of some legislators who were criticized by constituents for using billboard advertising in their re-election campaigns.

Now if the First Lady can only resell her busy husband on her favorite project, she may still be able to stem the despolation of her beloved countryside.

President Johnson has it in his power to order all federal agencies to cease and desist from using billboards to spread their message.

Unless he shows that much interest, however, it is unlikely that Congress will resist the pressure of the lobby, particularly after all the good food and cocktails.

Voice of the People:

Describes One Solution to Dilemma in Vietnam

We have gotten ourselves involved in a terrible mess in Vietnam. The "hawks" and the "doves" have opposite views on solving the problem. The solution to this dilemma is simple. Let all Americans, civilian and military, adopt the Muslim religion, declare themselves opposed to all violence, refuse to fight anyone, withdraw all our gallant troops from foreign lands and sit on our hands. Our war with the Vietcong would end—but not the bloodshed.

The Chinese hordes, along with the Japanese, would quickly overrun all of Southeast Asia, then the islands of the Pacific. The Soviets would do the same with Europe in spite of de Gaulle's desperate plea for us to come to his rescue for the third time. With Nasser's help, Africa would be next; then South America, with Castro's assistance, would succumb quickly.

Lastly, it would be our turn. With our adopted policy of "turning the other cheek" our great but powerless nation would be divided between the two conquerors. No doubt the Mississippi River would be the border between the Communist giants.

Writer Seeks Information About Ancestors

I am desirous of writing a family history and genealogy and need additional information from other descendants of my grandparents and great grandparents. My grandmother, Sarah Elizabeth Seaton, born about 1845 in Pontiac, had one brother, Joseph William Seaton, also born in Pontiac. Their parents were Joseph William Seaton and Caroline Judith Johnson. This couple supposedly drowned in the Mississippi River about 1856, leaving the two children. Elizabeth continued West with an aunt, Almedia Jane Johnson Platt. Joseph lived a few years with an uncle, Charles Johnson, in DuPage Co., Ill., returning later to Pontiac where he married.

Asks Questions of Local Union Members

GMC Truck & Coach Local 594, why the big wildcat strike in 1966? What was wrong with our shop committee? Do members have to lose a day's pay because of their do-nothing attitude? Why is our money being spent foolishly? What's wrong with our hall the past two years? I call on all the good members to help save our local union before it's too late.

Many Respond to Convictions of 'Cat Hater'

I wonder where "Cat Hater" obtained his knowledge on the nature and habits of cats, for it exactly fits the habits of dogs. If there were no cats our homes would be infested with mice and rats, which would create a dangerous health problem.

PURR-FURR CATS

Animals that are treated with kindness do not bite the hand that feeds them. People who hate cats are not to be trusted. Cats are God's animals and put here for a purpose.

ANOTHER CAT LOVER

In answer to "Cat Hater," it is quite right for you to hate a cat — any rodent does. Cats, like many children, follow the same customs they were brought up around. Many parents do not know how to train their children to be honest, respectable citizens. That is the reason we have so much corruption in these days.

★ ★ ★

A cat is a clean animal and has more intelligence than many so-called humans.

EARL TURNER

To "A Cat Hater," would you want to catch a dirty, old mouse in your mouth? Your letter brands you as being tempermental and mean. People who hate animals as much as you do are the odd people of the world. I have seen children and dogs dumping over garbage cans but never a cat. As for yowling over fences and fighting in alleys, humans top them all. By the way, a mother cat has her kittens potty trained in a few short weeks. How long did it take your mother to potty train you?

Bravo to Mrs. Karen Baldwin. I'd gladly trade every dog in my neighborhood for a cat.

'Drinking Drivers Cause Deaths on Highway'

The reason there are so many deaths on our highways is not faulty cars, but drunk drivers. Researchers are always telling how cigarettes cause cancer. There has not been a law passed or even anyone telling people to stop drinking to excess. If people want to hurt themselves by drinking too much that's their business, but when they kill innocent people that's our business.

★ ★ ★

Let's not blame the cars for being faulty but let's do something about the drunk behind the wheel.

Question and Answer

CURIOUS

REPLY

In the City of Pontiac, Arthur Heaton is in charge of the spotting observation. He is alerted immediately when a tornado watch is in effect. Then he or others from a group of about 25 volunteers watch from the top of City Hall. Mr. Heaton says many of the group are former members of the Ground Observers Corps. If a tornado is spotted, the police are notified to put it on the radio, and the siren on Community Bank is sounded. Outside the City, spotting procedures are less defined. Civil Defense issues alerts throughout the entire County, but organized groups of spotters are not a general practice.

DEBRIS SIFTED — A fireman pokes through the wreckage of a Ling-Temco-Vought tilt-wing experimental plane that crashed yesterday in a marshy area near Dallas, Tex. A company spokesman said all three men aboard were killed. The plane, known as the XC142A, was simulating an aviator rescue mission when it crashed and exploded.

Pilot Survives Crash of 'Flying Flatiron'

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Pilot Bruce A. Peterson survived the crash-landing of the experimental, wingless M2F2 at 200 miles an hour, but Wednesday's ill-fated mission will set back the new program, a space agency spokesman said.

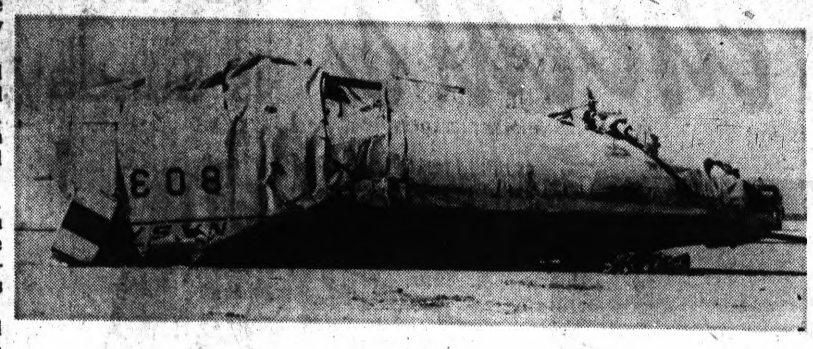
The 6,000-pound craft, shaped like a flatiron with a rounded bottom and a fairly flat top, rolled from side to side, then slammed into a dry lake bed and overturned several times.

Peterson, 33, a civilian flier, sustained serious injuries, but a doctor at March Air Force Base in Riverside Calif., said the outlook for the pilot's recovery was "encouraging."

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said the craft, called a lifting body because its shape gives it an aerodynamic lift usually provided by wings, did not have its landing gear fully extended when it landed. And there were roll control problems, they said.

The M2F2 and another lifting body, the HL10, were scheduled to be tested this summer. Rocket engines generating 8,000 pounds of thrust were to take them up to 80,000 feet at speeds of 1,100 miles per hour.

But air NASA official said Wednesday's crash will stall the program.



AP Wirephoto

This Is Wreckage Of NASA Experimental Craft

Lifting bodies are intended to be the forerunners of spacecraft that will carry men from orbit to earth landings.

The craft was dropped from a B52 bomber at 45,000 feet.

In his radio conversation with the control tower Peterson was calm but concerned about a rescue helicopter in the air.

A tape of the conversation showed he warned "get that chopper out of the way."

"He's all right," said a ground control officer. "Okay, you're clear. Watch your gear, Bruce."

"Okay, he landed without his gear," a second ground officer said.

Then the craft began to somersault. "Get the fire truck out," said the second officer. "Come on, get the fire truck out there immediately."

Plane Crash Kills 3 in Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A tilt-wing experimental airplane making a simulated rescue mission crashed near Dallas Wednesday, killing the three men aboard.

Investigators from the Federal Aviation Agency and the aircraft's builder, Ling-Temco-Vought Aerospace Corp., searched the charred wreckage today for a clue to the cause of the crash of the XC124A experimental craft.

★ ★ ★

The victims were Stuart G. Madison, 39, of Irving, Tex., John D. Omvig, 43, of Arlington, Tex., and Charles E. Jester, 34, also of Irving. All were veteran test pilots.

The boxlike airplane, designed to carry up to 32 battle-ready troops, was undergoing testing. Its wings swivel so that the engines thrust downward, enabling the craft to take off and hover like a helicopter.

EN ROUTE TO PARIS

Five of the airplanes have been built, with one en route now aboard a ship to the Paris Air Show.

★ ★ ★

A company spokesman said the Wednesday crash was the first for any of the five aircraft. The plane had been airborne only 29 minutes when it nosed over and plowed into a marshy area at Mountain Creek Lake. The sticky terrain and flames from the burning aircraft kept would-be rescuers at bay.

Witnesses said the ramjet-propeller driven plane appeared to nose over just before the crash.

Routine Training Flight in State Ends in Death of 3

LANSING (AP) — A routine training flight ended in the fiery deaths of three experienced pilots when their plane plummeted onto Capitol City Airport and exploded into flames late Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Killed were Marion B. Orchard, 35, of Roseville, and two licensed pilots to whom he was giving advanced instruction in night flying—Emil MacKelburg, 25, and Chris W. Ruble, 36, both of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Moments before the crash, the pilot radioed the Capitol City control tower that he wanted to practice an instrument landing approach.

★ ★ ★

The single-engine Beechcraft made the simulated run, the tower controller said.

STALLED OVER AIRPORT

Then the four-seat aircraft veered about in a 180-degree turn to prepare for a real landing and apparently stalled while about 300 feet over the airport.

It dropped onto the airfield just short of a runway and burst into flames.

★ ★ ★

"The plane was half destroyed by fire," said State Police Trooper Darwin Downey.

★ ★ ★

The body of one occupant was pulled from the fiery wreckage in a vain rescue attempt by an asbestos-suited fireman from the Lansing Fire Department Rescue Squad. Bodies of the others were retrieved after firemen extinguished the flames which engulfed the fuselage.

Authorities attempted today to determine the cause of the crash and whether Orchard or one of the other pilots was at the controls.

★ ★ ★

Orchard had rented the aircraft from Argus Flight Service Inc. of Detroit. Argus had leased the plane from Rolair Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

Ed Strotman, Argus owner and a friend of all three victims, said the trio had left Detroit City Airport earlier Wednesday on the instructional mission.

New Leader of PEA Tells Contract Goal

A goal of the new president of the Pontiac Education Association, Tom Everitt, is to give Pontiac's teachers one of Michigan's five best packages of salaries, fringe benefits and working conditions.

EVERITT

Other new officers of the association, which were announced at a banquet this week, are: James R. McCoy, first vice president; Vern Riemanschneidter, second vice president; Norma Pond, recording secretary; Mrs. Katherine Miller, corresponding secretary; and Ken Harger, treasurer.

Everitt, 36 Chippewa, a science and math teacher at Washington Junior High, takes over for outgoing president Larry Beamer.

In an acceptance speech, Everitt called for an 11-point program for the coming year, including hiring an executive secretary, opening a PEA office, increasing political action and raising money for the district.

★ ★ ★

"My goals are only a continuation of our previous program," Everitt told the banquet audience which honored retiring teachers.

'Plan Is Too Idealistic'

Preschool Format Hit

Pontiac's proposed preschool training program was critized as too "idealistic" last night by a group which at the same time called for starting some such program this fall.

The critics were the Pontiac School District Citizen's Study Committee on Human Relations, which had requested the Pontiac Board of Education to prepare a feasibility study.

Preschool public training for all Pontiac School District children was estimated to cost a maximum of $3.3 million an $1.8 million for the first year of operation.

In a letter, John T. Rogers, chairman of the human relations committee, suggested that the program be more economical by using churches and schools when available and volunteer help rather than paid professionals.

Pontiac Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer remarked that he doubted that any type of preschool program could begin in September.

CONCERN EXPRESSED

In other business last night, a communication was received from the Washington Irving Parent - Teachers Organization expressing concern over reported deteriorating building conditions at Central High. Dr. Whitmer gave this reply:

"The Board of Education is now deliberating on the proper solution to the PCH problem as well as the fact that additional senior high facilities will be required in 1969 because of continuous enrollment growth.

"It is expected that these decisions will be made within the next several months. If the decisions are to proceed on one or both (construction) projects (build a third high school and one to replace Central), it will be necessary to conduct a bond levy campaign to finance this construction.

"The school district does not have bonding authority to do this."

NEW PROCEDURES

Set up for Central by the board were supplementary readmission procedures for suspended students and a six-member faculty committee to serve in an advisory capacity to the principal on an experimental basis for 1967-68.

Asst. Supt. William J. Lacy said the new procedures were developed because of past misunderstandings and staff "unrest" concerning readmissions.

Europe Tour Still Open to High School Students

Selected high school students may still qualify for the sixth annual People-to-People Ambassador Program tour to 12 European countries, Mrs. Barbara Froelich of the Holly area schools said.

The 45-day trip starting in late June is sponsored in Michigan for the first time this year by the Department of Classroom Teachers of the Michigan Education Association.

Participants will live in the homes of foreign students. The cost is $1,300 per student.

Two groups of 15 students each are the goal for southern Michigan this year.

Mrs. Froelich, 110 E. First, Holly, and Bruce Fillmore of the Royal Oak school system are in charge of each group.

Busing Plan Rumors False —3 Officials

Rumors flying on Pontiac's West Side that the board of education intends to bus white pupils elsewhere to do away with de facto segregation are false, board members emphasized last night.

Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer and Monroe M. Osmun and Russell L. Brown, board president and vice president, respectively, refuted the rumors which they conceded could develop into an issue for the June 12 board of education election.

Brown and Whitmer told other board members that they have received several phone calls this week from protesting parents.

Whitmer said he suspected the idea germinated at Monday's human relations meeting where a subcommittee reportedly talked about shifting of school attendance boundaries for better racial balance.

Brown reported that the parents believe students from Whitfield and Irving elementary schools would be transported to other city schools this fall for purposes of integration.

"This was only a subcommittee progress report," Whitmer explained. "It was not a recommendation. The board has not taken these measures nor has it considered them."

"We are not going against the Neighborhood School Concept," Brown remarked. "You go to school where you live."

Post Writer Needs Help on Names

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to submit the following letter in competition for your book on etiquette. I am currently a college student and at the age where your book could do the best job of guiding my future actions. — J. J. Kohler

Okay, J.J., you win! A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to you. Here's Mr. Kohler's letter and my answer:

★ ★ ★

"I would like to know the rule on how to address people older than myself. I am 21 years old and have always been taught to address anyone older than myself as Mr., Mrs. or Miss.

Now that I am considered an adult, how am I to conduct myself intelligently in talking to office supervisors, older professional people and older coworkers? I'm confused as to when a person could, or should, be addressed on a first name basis and when it is mandatory that a person be addressed more formally."

★ ★ ★

Dear Mr. Kohler: In a large office where a certain amount of formality is maintained, continue your practice of calling older people "Mr.," "Mrs.," or "Miss" until they ask you to use their first names. Whether they are your supervisors or your coworkers, courtesy demands that it is up to them to make the suggestion.

In a smaller, less formal office, keep your ears open. If you hear everyone calling each other by first names you'd better go along, or you'll just end up being thought a terrible stuffed shirt.

Old History Is Theme at Dinner

When members of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society get together for their annual dinner, the occasion is more than just another meeting.

★ ★ ★

Most of the names prominent in area history are represented. For some, it is the only time they meet all year.

The sprinkling of younger participants does more listening than talking.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday evening's event at Central Methodist Church brought out about 200 people.

★ ★ ★

They came, not only to greet old friends, but to become acquainted with Marcia Starkey (Mrs. Richard), the new full-time curator of the Wisner Home, "Pine Grove."

★ ★ ★

Maurice Cole introduced a group of Bloomfield Hills High School students, "The Jacks" who presented a musical program.

★ ★ ★

Speaker for the evening was Robert G. Payne, social studies consultant for Oakland Schools, who spoke on "The Road to Freedom," a history of the Michigan Underground Railroad.

WANT MEMBERS

Membership in the Society is open to any interested individual and volunteers are sought to help with work at the Wisner Home. Mrs. M. H. Benter is membership chairman.

Oldsters' Workshops Set on Fridays

John A. Streit, Assistant Director of Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, reports an enthusiastic beginning last Friday of workshops for development of effective programs for senior citizens.

Further meetings will be held this Friday and May 26, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in Pontiac Library Auditorium.

★ ★ ★

The workshops have been organized under "Project Serve" by the Office of Community Services of Oakland Community College in cooperation with the City's Department of Parks and Recreation.

The effort is endorsed by the AFL - CIO Community Service Staff of the Pontiac Area United Fund, the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity and the United Auto Workers.

Topics scheduled are "Programs with Purpose and Imagination;" "Good and Bad Officers in Action;" and "Meeting the Needs of Seniors" and will conclude with an evaluation by participants entitled "Where Do We Go From Here."

The Workshop series is free to interested senior citizens.

New Mayor Is Woman

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UPI) — Mrs. Patricia Sheehan, an attractive 33-year-old widow, was still aflutter with excitement Wednesday after learning she had been elected Mayor of New Brunswick.

"This has been a wild day," said the mother of three.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Sheehan, a newcomer to politics, was swept into office Tuesday on the strength of 6,149 votes. Her vote total topped that of the "New Five," a slate of five political newcomers whose combined efforts ended the 27-year-reign of Chester W. Paulus and his four commissioners.

"It is awesome to think I will be mayor," Mrs. Sheehan said. "It's frightening. But we made a pledge to do a job and as mayor I'll do it."

Among those elected on Mrs. Sheehan's non-partisan ticket was Aldrage B. Copper Jr., the first Negro to be elected as commissioner in this city of about 45,000.

Women Give Donation to Mentally Ill

A five-hundred-dollar donation to the Foundation for Mentally Ill Children was made during a recent meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Oakland County Medical Society.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dale O. Miller, president of the foundation described the work of the group and discussed the need for volunteer assistance.

★ ★ ★

An additional $500 has been given to the American Medical Association Educational Research Fund.

★ ★ ★

A portion of this sum will benefit the state medical schools — Wayne State University, University of Michigan and Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

The remainder will benefit the Institute for Bio-Medical Research.

★ ★ ★

The auxiliary has offered three two-year nursing scholarships to Oakland Community College.

★ ★ ★

These will be an addition to the nine nursing scholarships already given to in various nursing schools.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Paul T. Lahti is president and Mrs. Richard C. Gause is nursing scholarship chairman.

Makes facial skin so much cleaner than it has ever been before, people will think the lovely, perfect effect must be make up. Prepare to be startled. 2 oz. bottle is $3.00.

Madam, if you're 50— so what?
You can trade your "50 look" for an "ageless look" and nobody'll even try to guess your age. Your skin will suddenly look disarmingly smoother so much so that any thought of your last birthday or your next just won't occur even to people who know you well. They'll just admire you, anew. Nightly applications of either 2nd Debut with CEF600 or CEF1200 and the "ageless look" comes over your face almost before you realize it. Just how 2nd Debut does so much for you in such a short time is our secret; the pleasure of it all, however, is yours. You'll not weep over the vanquished skin dryness either; you will find it definitely gone. Take home the 2nd Debut with CEF600 if you're under 40 or the 2nd Debut with CEF1200 if you're on your way to 50.

Colorado Abortion Law May Help First Patient

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 12-year-old Denver girl may be the first abortion patient in Colorado under the law enacted at the recent session of the legislature.

Dr. David Cowen, manager of Denver's Health and Hospitals Department, said the girl appears to fulfill all requirements.

★ ★ ★

Doctors described the girl as "mentally immature." Cowen said the girl's parents requested the operation on the grounds of statutory rape.

Rape is one of the grounds cited as the basis for abortion under the two-week-old law.

TESTS

The girl now is in Denver General Hospital for mental and physical tests.

Before the operation can be performed, the district attorney must notify the hospital that there are reasonable grounds the girl was raped.

Dist. Atty. Bert Keating said, "A rape has been committed and whether or not we know who did it doesn't make any difference.

"The law states definitely a girl of this age cannot give consent and any act of intercourse was definitely a rape."

Keating said the problem is to determine where the rape occurred.

He said the district attorney of the area where the incident occurred must notify the hospital in writing before the abortion can be carried out under the law.

★ ★ ★

Cowen said the girl is about two months pregnant and is within the 16 weeks gestation period provided in the law.

Keating said Denver police are working on the case but had not determined the location of the offense.

Lifesaving—Challenge in Viet

LAI KHE, Vietnam (AP) — When they wheeled him into the surgical suite, the Vietcong was no longer breathing. His pulse was stilled.

★ ★ ★

A large bomb fragment had torn a hole through his stomach, tearing away part of the iliac artery.

★ ★ ★

Capt. David J. Lagasse, the doctor on duty, reached through the gaping wound and placed his hand on the abdominal aorta, major vessel in the body. By every index the soldier, wounded in a battle with the U.S. Army's 1st Division in the Iron Triangle north of Saigon, was dead.

But for Lagasse and his medical team, it was just a beginning.

ON BATTLEFIELD

"It's the challenge," he explained. "Are you going to try to give a man back his life, or are you going to accept his medical death and move on to the next patient?"

The wounded man had been on the battlefield 16 hours awaiting treatment. The medics got to him after the last wounded Americans had been attended and evacuated. But there appeared to be a good chance this wounded Vietcong could be revived.

★ ★ ★

Lagasse and another doctor, Capt. Herbert F. Rest, assisted by four technicians, pumped adrenalin through the veins, then gave the patient 10 pints of blood.

A tube was put into the lung to supply pure oxygen. His heart was massaged. Lagasse and a medic tied up the iliac artery. They gave more drugs.

SLIGHT TICK

After eight minutes, Lagasse, his hand on the aorta, felt a slight tick.

"We're getting there," he muttered to his assistants. The pulsation was irregular but it gathered speed. After 15 minutes the patient was breathing again, and a pressure bandage was applied to his gaping stomach wound.

★ ★ ★

The patient began to waken after 25 minutes. Lagasse sewed up the wound. A U.S. Army intelligence officer was waiting and the Vietcong was coherent enough to give his name, rank and serial number.

The elation at bringing the Vietcong back was short-lived. The medical outpost lacked elaborate apparatus needed to keep the patient alive. He died four hours later while being taken on a helicopter to a larger hospital at Bien Hoa.

This attempt to save a life in battlefield conditions is an indication of the increasing sophistication of Army field medical care.

★ ★ ★

Lagasse, who is from Bloomfield, N.J., had a one-year surgical internship at Cornell Medical School and a one-year surgical residency at Vanderbilt Hospital, Nashville, Tenn. Capt. Rest is from Cherry Hill, N.J.

★ ★ ★

The team brought back to life in January a man who "died" from a bullet in the base of his brain. They also restored the heartbeat of an American soldier who had lost his leg in a traumatic amputation and who had bled out, only to have him die later because of complications.

★ ★ ★

Lagasse exhorts company medics and soldiers to do everything possible to save a man's life. He has regular lectures titled "How to Save Your Buddy's Life," and makes three main points.

RESUSCITATION

The first is to clear a wounded man's airway, then undertake mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

The second point is to stop the flow of blood — "If an artery is broken, stick your fist in the artery. Your fist is stronger than the flow of blood."

★ ★ ★

The third point is that in chest wounds, fairly common on the battlefield, immediate steps must be made to close the wound.

"Forget about infection, we can cure that if the man is delivered to us alive. Put a piece of poncho over the wound, anything," he says.

A final point Lagasse adds is, "Don't get scared. Be bold when treating your buddy. You can save his life."

Twenty-five per cent of the rural population of Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria suffers from a mysterious kidney disease, its cause still unknown after four years of research. It is almost unknown in any other region.

Junior Editors Quiz on BATS

QUESTION: Since bats are blind, what keeps them from bumping into objects?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Bats are the only mammals (warm-blooded animals that nurse their young with milk) which can fly. They are completely at home in the air.

On land, they are much more helpless and clumsy than the average bird. They fly when it begins to get dark and they live by catching insects in the air.

People often use the incorrect phase "blind as a bat." Bats are not blind. They do have eyes, as our illustration shows, and they can see with them.

However, a bat's eyesight is not the reason it can fly so well in the dark. Experiments show that a bat with covered eyes can still avoid obstacles. If his ears are plugged, it's different. Then he is almost helpless.

Many experts say that the squeaking, high-pitched sounds made by bats enable them to tell when something is in the way by hearing the echoes as they come back.

It is also thought bats may hear vibrations in the air caused by air currents, these in turn having been changed by objects or flying insects. Bats are very useful to mankind because they eat huge quantities of annoying insects.

Camera Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

I'm a great believer in marking personal photo prints — —whether in your wallet or at home in envelopes, boxes or albums — with essential facts which, in journalism, is called the "who, what, when and where."

★ ★ ★

Even if your prints are never shown to anyone, it would still not be wasted effort . . . if you look at them yourself occasionally.

In time, one's memory fades away and eventually we forget exactly when or where specific events took place.

Sometimes even the names of people become hazy.

Invariably when people are browsing through pictures, they stop at those which catch their attention and turn a print over to see a name or when or where it was photographed.

When the back of the print is blank, there's likely to be a let-down feeling. Maybe it's due to our everyday habit of reading newspapers and magazines with their on-the-spot identifications.

In any event, when facts are written down and we read them, there's a deeper, more permanent impression than hearing the same information verbally. It's another facet of textbook learning that we grew up with.

These thoughts were the basis of a discussion with avid amateur photographer Kevin McCarthy, better known as a talented professional actor who has starred on stage, screen and television.

Currently he is seen as the ruthless hotel tycoon in Warner Brothers' "Hotel" the screen adaptation of Arthur Hailey's best-selling novel.

CONSTANT COMPANION

His 35mm Nikon F outfit with accessory wide-angle and telephoto lenses, is a constant companion on Kevin McCarthy's frequent trips between acting assignments in Hollywood and New York where he maintains a Manhattan apartment.

I was leafing through, and enjoying, a large stack of his pictures. They were 3½x5 inch "jumbo" enlargements of his 35mm negatives, some of them colorful Kodacolor prints, but mostly black-and-white.

None of the pictures was identified. "But I know them all!" Kevin McCarthy explained.

ADJUSTABLE DIAL

"You may, but I don't," I countered. "And I'm looking at them now. And I'd like to know if they were taken last week, last month or last year."

"Now there's a point I think camera manufacturers can easily fix and it wouldn't require electronic wizardry," the actor said.

"Even with fully automatic cameras, there are some things the photographer must set when he starts a roll of film . . . like the ASA speed of the film he is using.

"Why can't he adjust a dial to indicate the month, day and year so it will be recorded on the negative? Then it'll be a permanent record, printed not too conspicuously, whenever a print is made."

GM Accedes to Order on Local Worker

DETROIT (UPI) — The Michigan Civil Rights Commission ordered General Motors Corp. yesterday to make amends to a veteran employe who claimed he was harassed, suspended and refused promotion because he is Jewish.

The commission said GM agreed to sponge "any indication of disciplinary actions" from the personnel records of the employe, Philip Marlowe; give him "reasonable and equal opportunities for transferring and upgrading;" pay him $307.32, the wages he lost during suspensions; and clamp down on his supervisors and colleagues to make sure "harrassment and discrimination" stop.

★ ★ ★

Marlowe, 51, a30-year GM employe with a skilled workman's job at a Fisher Body plant in Pontiac, complained to the commission that GM refused him an opportunity for promotion, suspended him several times without good cause and subjected him to "harassment, including use of discriminatory language relating to his religion, by fellow employes and supervisory personnel."

No hearing was held on the complaint because GMC agreed to sign an order consenting to the commission's findings. The commission said it drew up the order after determining "there were sufficient grounds to credit the charges" made by Marlowe.

★ ★ ★

GM maintained, however, that there was no discrimination against Marlowe, the commission said. Marlowe lives in Detroit.

Astronauts Urge End to Criticism

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — The astronauts said, "Let's stop criticizing and get on with the job."

But outside, in the huge shop where the replacement for America's first, ill-fated moonship is being built, workers were wondering how long the job would last.

The scene was North American Aviation's space systems division, where the three astronauts chosen to make the first Apollo space flight held a news conference Wednesday.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., who will command the earth-orbit practice mission now set for early 1968, sad, "It is time for self-recrimination to end. We have a job to do."

'ORDERLY HASTE'

That task — to send men to the moon and back, hopefully before 1970 — "will proceed with orderly haste," Schirra said.

The program was interrupted Jan. 27 when a launch pad fire killed three astronauts, Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

★ ★ ★

The House Science and Astronautics Committee concluded a lengthy hearing on the Apollo space program in Washington Wednesday and its chairman called on all involved to "go forward and get on with this job."

Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., said he was satisfied after hearing officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration tell of new safety precautions, and that "we — the committee as well as NASA — were the victims of overconfidence because of past successes."

MOVE AHEAD

"The best thing we can do now," said Miller, is turn from past mistakes and move ahead.

The astronauts' news conference was called to introduce the new flight teams announced Tuesday and to disclose several changes made to forestall another cabin blaze. With Schirra were Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter R. Cunningham, a civilian.

★ ★ ★

They demonstrated, with the aid of a full-scale mock-up of an Apollo capsule, a new hatch designed to open faster in emergencies and they showed how inflammable materials had been eliminated or enclosed.

Schirra, the veteran space pilot who several months before the fatal accident had been highly critical of the original spacecraft, said he is confident the new capsule will be safe. He's going to spend the next several months here studying the craft and said he will not fly it until he is satisfied of its safety.

ASSEMBLING MOONSHIPS

As he spoke, workmen in other parts of the plant were assembling moon-ships that Schirra and astronauts after him will use.

Workers selected at random in a section where the conical hulls are built seemed depressed, and some were angry.

★ ★ ★

"There have been rumors that the contractor might be changed, that the space agency might give the Apollo job to someone other than North American," said Barbara McIsaac, a production control clerk.

"I've been with the company 14 years, but I could get caught if they reduce the work force."

SHARED RESPONSIBILITY

"I felt terrible when the accident happened. Everybody did, we all felt a sense of responsibility, even though we take pride in doing the best job we can," she said.

"We're trying harder now. We want to prove to the world that we are better than they thought."

Welding inspector Keith Angus, 34, said that at first everyone in the plant felt that fingers of suspicion were pointed at them and they resented it.

"We felt we didn't deserve it," he said.

"We were depressed. Nobody likes to see something they have put years of their life into become a failure."

OUT IN OPEN

"But I like the way things are being brought out in the open here lately. I like being able to read what is going on during the investigation of the accident. It helps, because we don't know if we're going to have a job tomorrow, we don't know who's going to be laid off if they have to reduce the force or stretch out the contract because of delays."

In the news conference, Schirra declined to discuss contract questions, saying only that he thought the contractor "should take his lumps along with the rest of us."

Park Ban Urged

DETROIT (AP) — Motorcyclists and young beer drinkers will be banned from two Wayne County parks in Trenton and Ecorse if the board of supervisors approves a request of Sheriff Peter L. Buback and the county parks and recreation committee.

NEW APOLLO HATCH — The crew of the first Apollo moon-craft mission describe the operation of a new quick-escape hatch on a mock-up of the spacecraft in Downey, Calif., yesterday. They are (from left) Walter Cunningham, a civilian; Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele; and Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., the commander. The hatch opens outward rather than inward — a change designed to help prevent tragedies such as the one at Cape Kennedy early this year in which three other astronauts died.

Hart Seeks to Ban Federal Executions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and former Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle moved yesterday to stir up support for Hart's bill to abolish the death penalty for federal crimes.

Twelve senators have added their names to the measure.

DiSalle is chairman of the newly formed National Committee to Abolish the Federal Death Penalty, composed of 15 national organizations.

He said the committee hopes "that once this sensible and civilized reform is taken by our national government, as it has by 72 governments around the world, our states will follow."

★ ★ ★

Thirteen states already have abolished capital punishment.

THREAT OF EXECUTION

DiSalle and Hart argued at a joint news conference that statistics prove the threat of execution never has deterred murders.

The murder rate in Michigan, where the penalty was abolished in 1848, parallels that of Indiana and Illinois, Hart said, while the abolitionist state of Wisconsin has a rate significantly lower than Michigan's.

Alabama, with the biggest homicide rate in the country, also records the largest number of executions, DiSalle said.

★ ★ ★

They said wealthy men and the elite of the underworld never are found in a prison's death row. Only those too poor to afford good lawyers, "the insignificant little men," are required to give up their lives, DiSalle said, and some later have been proved innocent.

OFFICIALS ARE BOUND

DiSalle said that as long as law provides for execution, public officials are bound to seek and impose the death penalty.

STOWAWAY, BEAU IN MOVIE—Sandra Hilder, (left), love-smitten Australian girl who tried to reach the U.S. via an American warship, enjoys a joke in Hollywood yesterday as she and her Coast Guardsman boyfriend, Bernard (Bud) Brewer, appeared in a motion picture with comedy star Phyllis Diller. Universal Studio hired them for a brief appearance, portraying a sailor and his sweetheart in the year 1910. Sandra was found hiding under the admiral's bed aboard ship in Sydney harbor.

Book Looks Inside Air Hero of Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Said veteran movie flier Paul Mantz: "I'm supposed to be a devil-may-care aviator in helmet and goggles, white scarf whipping back, roaring under bridges, flying through open hangars, deliberately crashing planes into splinters, diving through narrow canyons in search of more and more thrills.

THOMAS

"I've done all that, sure. But I am not a stunt pilot. I'm a precision flier, and I'm alive today to prove it."

Indeed Paul Mantz was a precision flier, and during his lifetime he provided the screen with more aerial thrills than any other pilot. He walked away from a hundred crashes that could have killed.

★ ★ ★

But his usually canny calculation of risk and danger failed him on July 8, 1965. That was the day he went up in a rickety hand-made plane for "Flight of the Phoenix." His partner, Frank Tallman, was scheduled to fly the Phoenix. But Tallman had broken his leg in a freak home accident — and would later lose the leg.

So Mantz, doubling for James Stewart, flew the plane in the 140-degree heat of Arizona's Buttercup Valley. Hanging onto a wing was stunt man Bobby Rose. Both were in their 60s and pushing their luck after a lifetime of danger.

NEW BOOK

Rose's luck held firm. Mantz was killed.

The life of Paul Mantz is chronicled in an arresting new book with the prosaic title of "Hollywood Pilot" (Doubleday, $6.50). The author is Don Dwiggins, a flying aficionado and former aviation editor of the Los Angeles Mirror-News.

★ ★ ★

Dwiggins faced a challenging assignment in penetrating the exterior of Paul Mantz. Like many men who face danger on a day-to-day basis, Mantz shielded his feelings. He could seem aloof, but only because he did not allow himself to display any emotion. Yet there was no mistaking the inner turmoil.

Said writer Beirne Lay Jr.: "He (Mantz) is essentially a man of violent emotions. He has kept them for the most part under control. One of these emotions is a passionate urge toward excellence in anything he undertakes, matched with anger toward slovenly performance.

'A SAD MAN'

"He is a sad man, who paces in the small hours of the night, seeking the answer to the question men have asked since Socrates — why? He has a capacity for love, which he cannot express in spoken words, but which finds expression in his hand on the controls of an honest airplane.

"He is a brave man."

His bravery exceeded that of many of the famed fliers of reality and fiction whom he portrayed on the screen. He flew under the Brooklyn Bridge for "Blaze of Noon." He sheared off both wings of a biplane by landing between two trees in "When Willy Comes Marching Home."

He filmed the great hedge-hopping scenes in the beginning of "Best Years of Our Lives" and brought the wonders of the United States close-up for the aerial tour in Cinerama. One of his last jobs was to capture inspiring cloud scenes to portray Jesus' ascension in "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

★ ★ ★

"I've cheated death often — I think sometimes death has ridden copilot with me on every flight, waiting for me to make a mistake," said Mantz in 1965. "I don't make mistakes." But finally he made one.

State Police Post to Hold Open House

An open house will be held at the Pontiac State Police post May 24, Sgt. Raymond Hoopengarner, commanding officer, said today.

Other posts throughout the state also will hold open houses the same date which has been designated Hospitality Day of Michigan Week.

The occasion is especially significant this year since the organization is observing its golden anniversary.

Visiting hours at the Pontiac post will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The post is located at 1295 N. Telegraph, Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Visitiors will be escorted on tours of the building and will be shown an exhibit of equipment and facilities, said Hoopengarner.

ALWAYS WELCOME

"Visitors are always welcome at a State Police post," Hoopengarner said. "But this is a special reception and a fine opportunity to see how a post operates and learn about the many activities of the department."

★ ★ ★

The Michigan state and American flags will be flown at the post each day of Michigan Week, May 21-May 27.

Parents Tardy for School Vote

BAY CITY (AP) — Nearly 40 per cent of parents with children in public and parochial schools are not registered to vote, a school citizen's group reported Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The group is working for approval of a proposed 2.5 mill tax hike in an election June 12. High school students face half-day sessions unless it is approved, according to the Bay City Board of Education.

Researchers Dispel Myths Insuring 'Good' LSD Trips

DETROIT (AP) — There is no guarantee against a bad trip for the person who takes an LSD ride through the contorted scenery of his own eyes and mind, psychiatrists reported today.

Bad reactions are characterized by continuing hallucinations, anxiety and panic, depression with suicidal tendencies, and by confusion.

The wayward LSD user usually shows up at a hospital in trouble, the researchers told a meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

There are some increasingly believed myths about ways to insure a "good" trip on LSD, said Drs. J. Thomas Ungerleider and Duke D. Fisher of UCLA's Neuropsychiatric Institute.

COMMON MYTHS

Among the myths:

Stay in a calm frame of mind. Have one or two good friends, or an experienced sitter or guide handy.

Take the trip in a room with soft lighting and a thick carpet or mattress to sit on.

Listen to Indian music and phrases from the "Tibetan Book of the Dead" or have a powerful tranquilizer on hand.

Unfortunately, said the UCLA researchers, people who take these precautions still end up in hospitals with bad LSD reactions.

The UCLA team compared the experiences of a group of patients in the hospital with an outside group that also took LSD for religious purposes. The outside group which met in suburban Los Angeles called themselves "The Disciples."

UNLIMITED USE

They were trying to sell the idea that the unlimited use of LSD was a good thing. They said they were all a "bunch of ex-convicts and criminals" before they began using LSD.

The hospitalized patients included some who had used the drug up to 100 times before having an adverse reaction. It included people who took the drug at parties and those who took it alone.

★ ★ ★

One of the Disciple group had claimed at an initial interview to have had nothing but benefit from LSD. But 10 months later his wife told psychiatrists that he had quit his job, was staying away from home, refused to eat anything colored red, and threw everything red out of his home.

Nursing Home Aid Predicted

BOYNE FALLS (AP)—Federal and state aid will meet the increasing demand for nursing home patient care, delegates to the Michigan Nursing Home Association annual conference were told Wednesday.

Joseph Mash, president of the group, predicted that more than $71 million annually will be granted under Medicaid for patients in nursing homes.

WINDOW CHECK — A smashed window is checked at a Philadelphia art gallery yesterday by Richard Frey after objectors to the display, part of the "Week of Angry Arts" in the city, threw a baseball through the window for the second time in several days. The program, which includes poetry readings, art shows, folk concerts and discussion programs, is aimed at protesting the war in Vietnam.

VP to Discuss Youth Plan in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will bring to Michigan Friday the Johnson Administration's program to provide up to two million extra jobs for youths this summer.

Humphrey was to have been here today, but postponed his visit for a day because of what a spokesman described as the pressure of executive and legislative business in Washington.

Still on tap is a noon luncheon with top executives of the auto industry, where the conversation is expected to deal primarily with automotive safety and pollution control, but may also dip into the prospects of a strike developing in new contract bargaining with the United Auto Workers union.

Humphrey, however, will meet first with some 40 Detroit metropolitan area government and community leaders.

"TO SHARE PLANS"

They were told in invitations by the vice president that as chairman of the President's Council on Youth Opportunity, "I want to share with you our plans and learn from you how we can work together to make this a summer full of opportunity for all young people."

Backed by a presidential order and plans to use more than $600 million in federal funds, the vice president told more than 150 organization leaders Wednesday in Washington there are many programs for keeping underprivileged youths occupied and happy this summer.

House OKs, Sends to Senate 2 Bills on Antidiscrimination

LANSING (AP)—A bill to outlaw discrimination by real estate agents was passed 68-30 Wednesday by the Michigan House.

The measure sent to the Senate would make it a misdemeanor for any real estate broker or salesman to refuse on the basis of race, creed, color or national origin to show listed property to a prospective customer or to relay his bona fide offer to the owner.

★ ★ ★

A companion bill, also sponsored by Rep. James Del Rio, D-Detroit, would forbid a nonprofit hospital service corporation to contract to provide services to any hospital which is biased in its admissions policies.

Also sent to the Senate was a bill to lower the legal smoking age from 21 to 18 and to do away with the jail sentence and fine which now could face a minor arrested for smoking in public.

The House passed and gave immediate effect, meanwhile, to a Senate measure requiring school districts to carry a larger share of the responsibility for repaying their bonds.

The bond loan measure, which the governor was expected to sign quickly, was designed to ease what the State Municipal Finance Commission said is "a dire threat to the credit of the state."

★ ★ ★

Other bills approved by the House Wednesday would:

—Help a fast-growing city, county or school district by permitting it to conduct a special census to determine its share of per capita rebates from state tax collections.

—Permit use of electronic voting devices.

—Require local health officers to test the quality of water at bathing beaches.

—Allow issuance of full-time work permits to 17-year-olds.

The measure regulating real estate brokers kicked off a debate involving civil rights, property rights and whether the state has a right to pass such a law.

Proponents said the state had the power and responsibility to forbid discrimination by real estate brokers because they are licensed by the state and their actions are thus supported by the power of the state.

Rep. E.D. O'Brien, who earlier had offered a facetious amendment to forbid limiting a public toilet to members of one sex, urged House members to consider not only civil rights but also "the human right to own property."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heights, who voted for the bill, predicted it would not help nonwhites find homes in predominantly white areas because property owners could continue to refuse to sell them.

Get the "Ageless Look"

You can trade your "over 40 look" for an "ageless look" and nobody'll even try to guess your age. Your skin will suddenly look so disarmingly smoother that any thought of your last birthday or your next just won't occur even to people who know you well. They'll just admire you, anew. Nightly application of 2nd Debut and the "ageless look" comes over your face almost before you realize it. Just how 2nd Debut does so much for you in such a short time is our secret; the pleasure of it all, however, is yours. You'll not weep over vanquished skin dryness either. 2nd Debut (with CEF 600) if you're under 40 ($3.00) or 2nd Debut (with CEF 1200) if you're on your way to 50 ($5.00). Money Back Guarantee. PEASANTS FLEE—Vietnamese peasants in southern Quang Ngai province stream toward a helicopter that will take them to a refugee village center near Quang Ngai. Their village was destroyed by a U.S. air strike which killed 35 Vietcong. The smoke grenade signals a landing zone for the helicopter. The peasants were forced by Vietcong to collect rice and carry it to enemy hideouts.

Hit 4 Times, Marine Still Full of Fight

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Marines were telling the story of Steve Lopez today.

He is an 18-year-old private, from Silver Spring, Md., a member of a reconnaissance team.

★ ★ ★

He was hit four times in five hours in a brisk exchange with North Vietnamese but was the only man of eight in this team able to carry on the fight.

Lopez and the seven others were sent in a helicopter Tuesday to observe trails in the hills overlooking Khe Sanh, recently the scene of 12 days of some of the most vicious fighting in the war.

The Marines found several empty bunkers, then moved to the crest of a hill for a better vantage point. At midnight, the team came under heavy fire. They were surrounded by a company of North Vietnamese regulars, about 150 men.

Lopez said he was hit in the head as soon as the firing started.

★ ★ ★

"I then was hit in the chest, leg and head again," he said. "The enemy was about two feet from us at times. They walked right up to us.

"I shot the first one and the last one. One of the ones I shot looked very young, like 17. He walked right up to me. I looked at him and knew that if I didn't shoot him, he would shoot me.

'ALL OVER THE PLACE'

"I was lying down on the ground and he didn't see me until he was right on top of me.

"They were all over the place. I saw at least 15 dead in front of our position."

Lopez kept continual radio contact with his outfit, the 3rd Reconnaissance Battalion, and directed air and artillery strikes. Four of his team members were killed and the others were so seriously wounded that Lopez reported he could see only that they were breathing.

★ ★ ★

In the darkness, his superiors said, Lopez kept calling for the artillery to "drop it closer, drop it closer."

★ ★ ★

A Marine captain, who talked with Lopez most of the time by radio, said: "The kid was fantastic. Back here, we were actually scared to drop them closer. He never once mentioned that he had been hit. He kept saying 'I'm all right.'"

COPTER HIT

A helicopter making a rescue attempt took heavy fire. Two crew members were wounded and the pilot was killed. Another helicopter was shot up in another rescue attempt.

Helicopter gunships fired at the bunkers in the darkness between artillery barrages.

With dawn, jet fighters were called in. Contact was broken and a helicopter picked up the survivors.

Lopez said: "Check my camera. I took some good flicks out there and I aim to get them developed."

He is in satisfactory condition at Navy hospital in Da Nang.

Funds for Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Guard Bureau will receive $380,000 to build training facilities and $370,000 for field training equipment and site preparation for Camp Grayling, Mich., Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announced Wednesday.

Shouldn't You Be in Jail?

Screwball Laws Leave Few Innocents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you are above 18 years of age and do the normal amount of traveling around the United States, you probably should be in jail. It is almost impossible for you to have avoided breaking at least one of the hundreds of screwball statutes of the 50 states.

★ ★ ★

Have you ever shaved on Sunday in Connecticut? Then you are a fugitive from justice. Have you ever taken a drink on a railroad train while passing through Illinois? Then you are a bush-league Al Capone. Have you ever slept in a North Carolina motel where the twin beds are less than three feet apart? Shame on you, you lawbreaker.

Have you ever given a toy pistol to someone under the age of 18 in the state of Washington? Then you are menacing the public safety. Have you ever appeared on the street wearing a dress that exposes any part of your arm? Then Connecticut says you are a scarlet woman or something like that.

It is a principle of jurisprudence that ignorance of the law is no defense. Fortunately, ignorance is a two-way street and most of the law enforcement officers in most of the states are not aware of the odd things they are supposed to be enforcing. Otherwise, the jail walls would bulge and break.

These laws seem ridiculous today, but in almost every case there was a sound reason for them at the time they were passed. Dueling, for instance, once was a formidable problem for law enforcement agencies. So they tried to handle it this way:

In Idaho fighting a duel is illegal, but you can get in trouble even if you don't fight. It's a misdemeanor to attempt to provoke a person, orally or in print, to fight a duel. Maryland says it is all right for everybody to fight duels except members of the state legislature.

If you fight a duel in Oregon, you automatically become ineligible for "any office of trust." In Rhode Island you can get up to seven years in prison for dueling and in Wyoming the punishment is a $100 fine and six months in jail.

California only punishes people for fighting, but it makes it illegal for a person to be a second in a duel. Oklahoma is the toughest of all — you can get seven years in prison for even challenging a person to a duel and 10 years if the fight takes place.

A sampling of some odd laws around the nation:

LOUISIANA — When a motorist approaches a railroad crossing, he must get out of his car and wave so the locomotive engineer can see him.

HOUSE CAT

IDAHO — Educators must instruct children on the destructiveness of "the common house cat to bird life."

NEW YORK — The state is empowered to seize wampum belonging to the Onondaga Indians. It already had seized some and has it locked in a vault in the state education building.

NEW JERSEY — It is against the law not to work no matter if you are a millionaire. The law was passed during World War II in an attempt to compensate for the labor shortage.

★ ★ ★

NEW HAMPSHIRE — This year there was repealed a law making it mandatory for town officials to put snow on the floor of covered bridges — so the sleigh riders would not be interrupted.

GEORGIA — All hotels on the seacoast must keep a lifeboat in full view during the swimming season.

MISSOURI — You are liable to arrest if you lead an uncaged bear down any street or highway.

MARKET FALLING FLAT? — British fashion model Twiggy, on her arrival in New York recently, shows one of her Mod styles for which she is known. One British authority on style thinks perhaps the teen-age fashion bubble is about to burst. Mod fashions have been earning millions for Britain and quite a bit for models such as 17-year-old Twiggy.

Britain's Mod, Mod World ---Is It Getting Threadbare?

LONDON (AP) — This old city's young designers—trend-setters for much of the teen-age world—are showing signs of designing themselves off the fashion map.

They've earned millions for Britain's vital overseas trade, as well as a lot for themselves, but one authority on style is wondering if the teen-age bubble is about to burst. He is editor of Savile row's authoritative magazine, The Tailor and Cutter.

★ ★ ★

"Are teen-age designers' ideas becoming stultified by the inbreeding which results from their feeding upon one another rather than upon the wider experiences offered by adaptation of older and foreign designers?" he asks.

"Designers at the teen-age market level seem incapable of producing much which does not derive its impact from a simple nose-thumbing at convention," he says.

SIGNS OF DISTRESS

Twiggy, 17, veteran of one year in the London fashion business, is earning as much as $225 an hour. She and Kathy McGowan, 24, a veteran of more than three years in show business and clothes-making, are cresting a high wave of popularity and financial success. Some others who once rode high are showing signs of distress in the choppy seas of mod fashions.

One youthful designer, who emerged via a dark backroom or Carnaby Street to a glass and chrome emporium in London's stylish West End, is in financial trouble. Gossip says others are, too.

Several recent fashion shows by adolescent creators of London fashion looked very much like one another, and for originality, only harked back to the past.

"We've had teen-age Edwardian looks, teen-age Regency looks, teen-age 20 looks, teen-age 30 looks" says Taylor. "The inspiration seems to have come from a simple looking through of old prints and old fashion plates."

ORIGINAL THINKER

Among all of the youthful designers, one seems destined to keep going for a long time. She is Mary Quant, a truly original style thinker. Her clothes, while ultramod, are practical and pretty.

Swinging London began gyrating on Carnaby Street, but the center of its gravity appears to have shifted to the old King's Road in once Bohemian Chelsea.

Dozens of boutiques, which have mushroomed from the elegance of Slane Square at one end of King's Road to the tattier environs of Fulham, are doing a tremendous cash business. Real estate along the road has skyrocketed.

Has Carnaby Street gone too far? Has King's Road outdone Carnaby Street? The buying public will supply the answer, but Tailor and Cutter says: "In certain firms and organizations the nice balance between novelty and wearability is already being molded into acceptable form—and it is in such organizations that the real future of the British clothing industry is going to lie."

DRESSED FOR 'TRIP' — Salli Sachse, 22, models an outfit she wears for her co-starring role in American International's new movie, "The Trip." Salli got started acting in the AI "beach" films, but this is her first starring role. She's a native of La-Jolla, Calif., and a former student at San Diego State College.

New County Road Clerk Will Leave Sturgis Post

The Oakland County Board of Road Commissioners today announced the appointment of R. G. (Skip) Worland as the secretary-clerk of the board.

★ ★ ★

The city clerk of Sturgis for the last seven years, Worland, 40, will join the road commission staff Monday.

He succeeds Irwin P. Nichols, who resigned after eight years with the department to take another position.

A native of Indianapolis, Ind., and a graduate of Hanover (Ind.) College, Worland is married and has four children.

★ ★ ★

Two other promotions within the commission also were announced.

PERSONNEL DIRECTOR

Willard L. McRae, 3365 Watkins Lake, Waterford Township, was named director of personnel; and Lester J. Smith, 10649 ship, was named safety supervisor.

The posts had been held by Ira J. Davis, now with the Oakland-Pontiac Airport.

McRae joined the personnel department four years ago, after 20 years with American Forging & Socket Co. where he was personnel director.

Smith has been employed with the road commission for 18 years, the last two as a maintenance foreman.

GM Will Offer Child's Seat

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. yesterday announced it will offer a special safety seat for children in its 1968 model cars.

The device, which will also be offered as an accessory on all older GM cars, is the first child seat to be made by one of the auto companies. Other seats have been available through independent manufacturers.

The seat will be held in place by a seat belt extending from the regular adult seat belts.

GM said it developed the device after "intensive" research prompted by the new National Traffic Safety Bureau. The agency had asked the auto industry three months ago to find a way to protect the "unrestrained child" in a collision.

A GM spokesman said the seat "will have a fairly good reception because it will be simple enough to use and will be available at a cost as low as possible."

Ex-Senator Dies

FENNVILLE (AP) — Former legislator Frank R. Moiser, 92, died Wednesday at a Holland hospital. He served in the House from 1919-1922 and in the Senate for the 1922-23 term.

New Group Will Tackle Problems in Education

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

A major organization for the improvement of education has been formed. It is the "Education Commission of the states." The purpose—a source of information and research for the solution of educational problems.

The commission is not intended to control the decisions of individual states or school systems. It will attempt to make available the solution, decisions and results, found in other states.

One method of approach will be a task force to study particular concerns. On the agenda is one of the major problems currently facing education — paying the bills. The method by which public schools and colleges will meet their financial requirements is a most serious problem.

Only last week Nassau County on Long Island, N.Y., saw more than 20 of its 57 school budgets defeated by the voters. This is one of the most affluent counties in the nation.

What are the schools to do when irate citizens vote against financing the schools because taxes are reaching unbearable proportions?

College costs are rising beyond the reach of the average family. We all recognize the value of education, but there must be a realistic approach to paying the cost.

The commission can serve a most important purpose if through its studies a solution to the problem can be identified. Each state can then apply the solution or series of solutions to its own particular needs.

The commission has the potential to become a major influence on the educational scene. It is supported by the membership of a majority of the states with anticipation of full membership in the reasonable future.

Where did the idea originate? It is basically a result of the work of Dr. James Bryant Conant who combined forces with Richard Hughes, Nelson Rockefeller and a number of other governors, legislators and national leaders in government as well as education.

What was the idea? A partnership was to be developed between the educational leadership and the political leadership for the advancement of education. The first step was a compact for education agreed to by the many states.

Space Law Questions Reach to Moon

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — If a United States space team makes it to the moon and stakes out the flag to prove it, the astronauts probably will be breaking the law.

If the U.S. moon team is civilian, and one kills another in the grips of "moon fever," there isn't a court in the nation that could try the killer.

While the nuclear test ban treaty forbids nuclear blasts anywhere except underground, and the space treaty forbids them in space, it may be legal to set off nuclear explosions underground on the moon.

These and other conclusions were reached by most of the men and women who are the world's only experts in the new field of space law during the fifth International Space Law Symposium.

★ ★ ★

The conference met at this historic colonial town May 5 and meets here again next year. Its members, including experts such as Paul G. Dmebling, general counsel for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, hope by then to have some of these problems solved.

NEARLY NONEXISTENT

The international space treaty signed this year by the United sttes, Russia and scores of other nationa, while hailed as a milestone, also emphasized that laws governing the ordinary functions of men and nations in the extradordinary atmosphere of space are nearly nonexistent.

There are three main areas the experts at the symposium say are the next to be covered. The first, outlined by James Henderson, general counsel of the Federal Trade Commission, will be interplanetary trade.

The space treaty prohibits nations from such things as mining for uranium on the moon, if it exists there. It also makes nations responsible for what their private industry does.

★ ★ ★

But it does not deny private industry the right to prospect, mine or even set up tourist spas on the moon. Nor does it prevent rival companies from resorting to claim jumpers for a nice, high moon site.

MUST PERSUADE RUSSIA

Henderson says that before such technicalities can be solved, the Russians must be persuaded to withdraw their objections to any private enterprise use of space and the moon.

The Soviet Union feels only governments should be allowed to operate in space, that space is not an asset to be turned into profits in the manner of the Oklahoma land rush.

Henderson and nearly every other member of the symposium believes Russian objections will dissolve within 20 years or less, well before private industry makes large-scale use of space resources.

★ ★ ★

The second problem facing the space lawyers is at least partly responsible for the refusal of France and some other European nations to sign the space treaty.

WHERE WILL IT END?

Exactly where, France wants to know, will earth law end and space law begin? Some small nations, France points out, already are claiming territorial rights 200 miles high.

Since the space treaty bans the use of the moon for military purposes, and U.S. astronauts are military personnel, it would presumably be illegal for them to stake out a claim on the moon.

To the U.S. military, the end of earth and beginning of space law presents no problem. The uniform code of military justice goes everywhere the military man does, including outer space.

The military hopes civilian law will follow its example with a congressional extension of all federal laws to all of space, says Brig. Gen. Martin Menter, the Air Force's space law expert.

To Menter it is not space law but aerospace law, meaning the law begins at the ground and goes up without end. He sees no need for a space law boundary.

Menter cites the X15 experimental plane, saying it has reached 67 miles. Its pilots get astronaut wings for flying 50 miles high. The craft is neither all plane nor all spaceship.

Menter says that orbiting nuclear rockets in space are just as illegal under the space treaty and nuclear test ban at 20 miles out as they are at 200 miles.

AN ODD NOTE — Gaylene Ford, 13, found this battered piece of sheet music in the yard of her Grand Rapids home this week. It came from her church, South Congregational, which is two miles away. The church was hit by a tornado last month. The odd note? The song title is "All in the April Evening."

Egyptians Want Venice to Return Body of St. Mark

ROME (AP) — First the Greeks wanted Venice to give back the marble Lion of St. Mark. Now the Egyptians want the body of the martyred apostle himself.

Venice would just about as soon give away one of its canals.

Patriarch Kyrollos VI, religious leader of Egypt's Orthodox Copts, was reported in Cairo to have written Pope Paul VI asking that St. Mark's body be returned to Alexandria whence Venetian sailors whisked it away in the year 815.

The patriarch wrote that it was improper for the body to be kept separated from the apostle's head. The head is in Alexandria Cathedral.

VATICAN REPORT

A spokesman for the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity said that if Pope Paul had received such a letter, he had passed on no instruction about it to the secretariat.

But when word first circulated some weeks ago that the Egyptian Copts might request the body, Giovanni Cardinal Urbani of Venice said: "The body of St. Mark is so closely linked to Venice that it can never be taken away from the city permanently."

Venice had already come up with a fast dodge to avoid sending back to Greece a nine-foot marble lion statue that was taken from the port city of Piraeus.

When Piraeus asked for it back last month, city officials said: "So sorry. It's no longer ours to give."

'STATE PROPERTY'

The statue stands in front of the ancient shipyard of the Republic of Venice. Now that Venice is no longer a republic, the shipyard and the statue have become state property, Venetian officials say.

"It would require a bilateral accord between Italy and Greece to allow the Lion to be sent back to Piraeus," the officials said.

The Italian government is not considering any such deal.

Current Books

I'LL TRADE YOU AN ELK. By Charles A. Goodrum. Funk & Wagnalls. $4.95.

This is the funniest book in years.

It begins, back there in the late '30s, with a nonplussed pelican. Having made several navigational errors, it came down kerplunk on a Kansas highway.

A farmer rescued it and turned it over to Bernie Goodrum, who had become recreational director in the parks department of Wichita, where there was a very small zoo.

★ ★ ★

Back in the Depression days there was barely enough money to feed the zoo's pitifully small collection, but Bernie was determined to create a big zoo. He did it by becoming a scrounger and a swapper.

The story of Bernie Goodrum's adventures with his zoo is a delightfully crazy romp, full of slapstick emergencies and droll situations.

The author has a natural gift for humor, and his chronicle of his father's exuberant career as a zoo-maker contains a chuckle quotient that's hard to match. It is one of those very rare books you wish hadn't come to an end.

Miles A. Smith

THE THOUSAND HOUR DAY. By W. S. Kuniczak. Dial. $7.95.

The thousand hours are the approximate length of the German blitzkrieg, accompanied by a Russian invasion from the East, which crushed Poland in September 1939.

This huge (628-page) novel is a searingly vivid account of the chaos, pain, confusion, bitterness, fear, fatigue, agony, hunger, frustration, treachery, desperation and brutality of warfare.

As a war novel, this will stand comparison with many of the monumental ones, but it carries a theme beyond that of warfare alone. What Kuniczak is chronicling here is the transition from the 19th Century, when principles, honor and chivalry still were to be found, to the 20th Century's bestial disregard for human values.

★ ★ ★

Here is a book in which death and destruction form the background for a memorable story.

THE POPE'S BACKYARD. By Curtis G. Pepper. Farrar, Straus & Giroux. $4.50.

For those who have visited the Vatican or hope to, Curtis Pepper has written an engaging book, lavishly illustrated with his own photos. The style intentionally is simple and this reviewer found a fascinated audience when he read the book aloud to his children. Odd facts, anecdotes and incident make for an intriguing inside look at the unique Vatican city state.

★ ★ ★

Few people know Rome as well as Pepper, a University of Illinois graduate who has lived there for more than 20 years.

A plus for travelers is an appendix telling how to arrange a Papal audience and how to secure admission to the Vatican gardens.

Cost of F111 Jets Is a Question

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — If anyone knows what the Pentagon is really paying for the controversial F111 all-purpose aircraft, once called the TFX, will he please stand up?

The Pentagon said Wednesday it had signed a $1.82 billion contract with General Dynamics Corp., of Fort Worth, Tex., for 493 of the swing wing F111s.

★ ★ ★

That figures out to $3.7 million each, but it doesn't include such things as an engine, weapons control system or electronic navigation systems.

The contract also doesn't cover what the Pentagon calls certain modifications.

MODIFICATIONS

In the Navy version, certain modifications mean redesigning the nose and pilot capsule, moving the landing gear eight inches, building high lift wings and redesigning the tail.

★ ★ ★

Air Force Secretary Harold Brown told the House subcommittee on defense appropriations the flyaway cost of the tactical Air Force's F111A would be about $5 million each — not counting the cost of a new engine and new electronic gear.

★ ★ ★

As for the Navy's F111B, Brown said in March 13 testimony released May 4 that each would cost somewhere around $8 million, while the Strategic Air Command's FB111s would cost $5.2 million each.

The Pentagon contract announcement said 331 of the F111s were for the tactical Air Force, 64 for the Strategic Air Command, 24 for the Navy, 50 for the United Kingdom and 24 for Australia.

BASIC COST

That multiplies out to about $2.6 billion plus the cost of all those other things.

A Pentagon so-called fact sheet declared "commonality between the Air Force and Navy versions continues to run from 70 to 80 per cent."

★ ★ ★

Commonality doesn't necessarily mean identical. Back in 1962 Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said he could save $1 billion by building an airplane for joint Air Force and Navy use.

The airplanes were going to have some interchangeable parts just like automobiles of the same make but different model.

The Air Force and Navy versions have different noses, tails, wings, missiles, pilot compartments, navigation systems, fire control systems and landing gears. Otherwise they have commonality.

★ ★ ★

The fact sheet asked and answered the question: "Does the F111 meet the needs of the services?"

★ ★ ★

On behalf of the Air Force, it said, yes. It hedged a bit on the Navy's version saying: "The Navy estimates that while not all of its early expectations will be met, no other weapons system existing or proposed is as cost effective in the fleet defense role for the early 1970s as the F111B."

News Analysis

★ ★ ★

Adm. David L. McDonald told the House Appropriations subcommittee that he wasn't around in 1962 when McNamara was making that F111 decision — and if he had been, he might not be present now.

McDonald said he would have insisted on a different airplane if the Navy had to go through it all again.

★ ★ ★

The admiral, who is chief of naval operations, said that the F111-B was good only for defending the fleet against high flying bombers and that in a dogfight the Navy would need something better.

★ ★ ★

And the F111B still weighs, the admiral said, a good deal more than the 55,000 pounds the Navy originally proposed.

Public-Employe House Bill Opposed

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education said Wednesday it opposes proposed changes in the Public Employment Relations Act of 1965.

The House has a bill designed to forbid public employes from affiliating with or joining unions which assert the right to strike against government.

★ ★ ★

It also would force circuit judges to stop such strikes by public employes, and prevent such strikes if they are threatened.

Pentagon Evicts 18 Protesters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war protesters were banned from spending another night in the Pentagon after announcing plans for an indefinite live-in.

Security officers carried 18 youthful men and women from the building — the women on stretchers — when the demonstrators refused to leave on their own Wednesday.

A spokesman for the group said the demonstrators would attempt to reenter the Pentagon this morning. Pentagon officials indicated they would be allowed in so long as they did not violate building regulations.

The demonstrators had been allowed to stay in the Pentagon from Tuesday afternoon until their Wednesday afternoon eviction. They slept outside the offices of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs, from which they were barred.

Officials said the protesters broke the rules Wednesday by distributing leaflets and handbills, thousands of which were pressed on members of the Pentagon's 33,000-man work force.

The demonstration drew the attention of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who upbraided the nation's news media for publicizing the protest. "Any band of screwballs" can come in and sit-in and get news coverage, Thurmond complained on the Senate floor.

"It is way past time for some responsibility to be shown by executives" of news media in reporting such events, he added.

Britain's population is expected to reach 61,500,000 by 1981, an increase of 7,500 in the 17 years from 1964.

Enriched With Milk

Fresh Green Onions Superb in Soup

Patterned after the popular French onion soup is this springtime version which takes but moments to prepare. Heaps of tender green onions, tops and all, sliced thin and simmered in butter add the underlying onion savor.

★ ★ ★

The hearty beef flavor comes convenience-ready in a can of beef bouillon.

★ ★ ★

Convenience-ready, too, are the cans of evaporated milk which blend the ingredients into a rich creaminess in the final heat-and-serve phase.

Like its French cousin, this onion soup sports a topping of French bread toasted with Parmesan cheese.

Incidentally, extra slices of this flavorful cheese toast are great for munching along with the soup. Hearty and delicious, onion soup spring-style is a good mainstay for lunch or supper on busy days.

Onion Soup Spring-style

2 cups thinly sliced green onions
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (10½ oz.) beef bouillon plus water to make 2 cups
2 tall cans evaporated milk (3⅓ cups)
Dash of pepper
Salt to taste
6 slices French bread
Butter
⅓ cup shredded Parmesan cheese

★ ★ ★

Two small bunches green onions yield about 2 cups sliced. Wash and clean onions; then cut crosswise into thin slices, using crisp green tops also.

Melt butter in soup kettle. Add onions and simmer, stirring constantly, until partially cooked. Do not let onions brown. Blend in flour.

Add bouillon and water; continue simmering until onions are tender, 5 to 8 minutes longer. When ready to serve, add evaporated milk and heat to serving temperature. Add pepper, and salt to taste.

While soup is heating, toast bread slices lightly on one side under broiler. Turn and butter untoasted side, then sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Broil until cheese is lightly browned.

Ladle soup into bowls; place slice of toasted bread, cheese side up, on top of each serving. Sprinkle on additional Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes 5½ cups (6 servings).

ONION SOUP SPRING-STYLE — Made with tender green onions and a beef flavored cream soup base, this springtime version of French onion soup is delicious and quick to prepare.

Macaroni Fruit Salad a Contrast in Tastes

Hot or cold, a macaroni dish is marvelous fare for a party. In spite of its economy macaroni can hobnob with any of the more expensive foods to make them go a little farther.

The National Macaroni Institute suggests a Macaroni Fruit Buffet Salad for serving on a warm evening.

Sunny looking orange sections, apricots and pineapple make it a refreshing salad. The macaroni with cottage cheese and sour cream give it enough substance to satisfy appetites.

Macaroni Fruit Buffet Salad

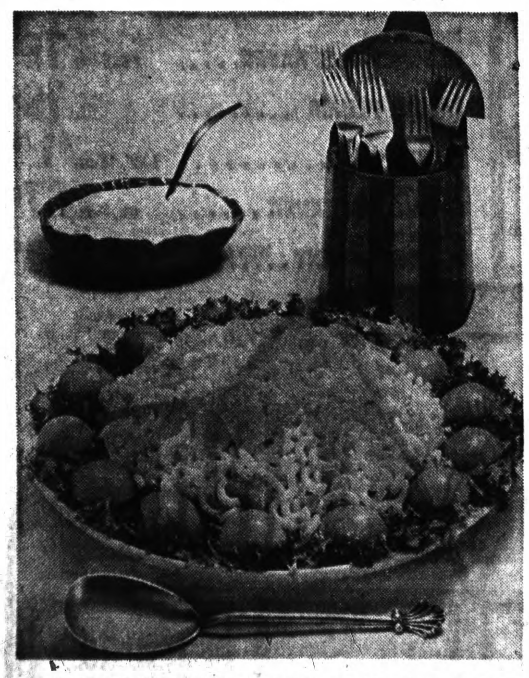
2 tablespoons salt
4 to 6 quarts boiling wter
4 cups elbow macaroni (1 pound)
2 cups dairy sour cream
2 cups creamed cottage cheese
¼ cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups orange sections
2 cans (1 pound, 4½ ounces each) pineapple chunks, drained
Crisp salad greens
2 cans (1 pound, 14 ounces each) apricot halves, drained

Add 2 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender.

Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again.

Mix together macaroni, sour cream, cottage cheese, nuts, 1 teaspoon salt and cinnamon. Add orange sections, pineapple and 3 tablespoons of the pineapple syrup. Toss lightly and chill.

Mound on salad greens; surround with apricots. Sprinkle with paprika. Garnish with cinnamon, if desired. Serve with additional sour cream, if desired.



MACARONI FRUIT BUFFET SALAD—Sunny colored oranges, apricots and pineapple are refreshing ingredients in this summer salad of elbow macaroni and cottage cheese. The recipe makes twelve servings; it's a fine dish for buffet service when you entertain.

Sesame Adds Nutlike Flavor

An aromatic East Indian herb contributes nutlike flavor to a cooky which already has two favorite ingredients in it, peanut butter and chocolate.

Sesame is the herb which furnishes small, cream colored flat seeds with a somewhat pungent flavor.

★ ★ ★

These cookies use lard as the fat because it gives a tender, nutritious product, advises Reba Staggs, home economist.

It will also cream readily with peanut butter which is used in the same proportion as the lard.

Cooky Jar Special

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 package (2½ ounces) sesame seeds, toasted
½ cup lard
½ cup peanut butter
1½ cups sugar
2 squares (1 ounce each) baking chocolate, melted
2 eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla
1-3 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Toast sesame seeds in a moderate oven (375 degrees) until lightly browned, about 8 to 10 minutes.

Cream lard and peanut butter. Gradually add sugar, creaming well. Add melted chocolate, which has been slightly cooled. Add eggs and vanilla. Mix well.

Add sifted ingredients alternately with milk. Add toasted sesame seeds and mix well.

Drop by teaspoonsful onto ungreased cooky sheet and press with tines of a fork to flatten, making a lattice design.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: 4½ dozen.

Liver Seasoning

When braising liver, a good liquid to use is beef bouillon. For a pound of liver, one-fourth cup is a good measurement to use. Marjoram and rosemary are excellent herbs with this variety meat.

TWO BEEF DISHES — Canned mushroom gravy and canned beef gravy are the bases for two different and delicious beef dishes. And, one cut of beef provides the two distinctive main course treats, when you shop wisely.

Such Crust! Two-Timing Trick With Roast Beef

That favorite man of yours won't mind a bit of two-timing . . . if it's two-timing with tender, tasty beef. The idea is to plan two dinner menus at once, though not necessarily served one after the other.

★ ★ ★

Start with a 4 to 5 pound boneless rump roast. The first time 'round roast in the usual way following the directions below. When the beef is barely done to your liking, remove from oven and overlap packaged refrigerated dinner roll dough over top and sides of the roast. Return to a hot oven and bake until the roll blanket is a golden brown.

GRAVY

To serve, slice through tender crust and beef. Over all, spoon ready-to-eat canned mushroom gravy dressed up for the occasion with chopped onions, parsley, and a little red wine.

★ ★ ★

Accompany this elegant dish with buttered noodles laced with chopped chives, sweet'n sour beets, avocado, cucumber and lettuce salad tossed with a bottled dressing. Strawberry ice cream and cookies will end things on a happy note.

Rump Roast of Beef in Blanket

- 4 to 5 pound boneless rump roast of beef
- Salt and pepper
- 1 package (8 ounces) refrigerated dinner roll dough
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 can (19½ ounces) mushroom gravy
- 2 tablespoons Burgundy or other dry red wine
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

METHOD

Remove fat from roast. Roast at 325 degrees F. (20 to 20 minutes per pound for rare; 25 to 30 minutes for medium). Season with salt and pepper.

Unroll and separate rolls. Place dough crosswise over top and down sides of meat, overlapping and covering the entire roast. Return to a 375 degree F. oven; bake 10 to 15 minutes more.

Meanwhile, in saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat, stir now and then. Serve with roast. Makes 4 to 5 servings, with enough left over for second meal.

Note: Eye roast: Substitute 4 to 6 pound eye of the round roast for rump; follow procedures as in the above recipe.

★ ★ ★

Now, for an equally tasty and easy second day dinner: Cube and brown the remaining beef. Add green pepper strips, tomatoes, and other seasonings. Blend it all together with a can of marvelously seasoned beef gravy. Heat until bubbly and serve over rice.

MENU

Round out the menu with buttered spinach, pineapple and cottage cheese salad, lemon pudding with cookies.

Your family will love this two-timing. And you will discover that in addition to providing two deliciously different meals from one meat purchase, this kind of planning will save you kitchen time.

Beef and Rice Skillet

- 1½ cups cubed cooked beef
- ⅓ cup green pepper strips
- ¼ teaspoon oregano, crushed
- Generous dash leaf thyme, crushed
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 can (10¾ ounces) beef gravy
- ⅓ cup chopped canned tomatoes
- Cooked rice

In saucepan, brown meat and cook green pepper with seasonings in butter until tender. Add gravy and tomatoes. Heat; stir now and then. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

Candy Treat Cereal Style

To make cereal candy bars, heat 6 cups of puffed rice in preheated 350-degree oven for 10 minutes. Pour into large greased bowl.

Add a mixture of 3 cups of miniature marshmallows melted with ¼ cup of butter over low heat. Stir to coat cereal evenly. Press firmly into greased 7 by 11-inch baking pan.

Sprinkle top evenly with 1 cup (6-ounce package) of semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Place in oven to soften; spread over candy. Makes 24 bars.

CHOCOLATE-CARAMEL POPCORN INJUN — Melt one 14-oz. package caramels and one 6-oz. package semi-sweet chocolate morsels with one-fourth cup water in double boiler or in saucepan over low heat. Stir occasionally until sauce is smooth. Pour over 4 quarts popped corn, salted; toss until well coated. Moisten hands with cold water, shape popcorn into 12 balls. Use 2 balls for each injun, stacking one atop another; secure with toothpicks. Cut out paper arms and face; press gently in place. Fashion headband from strip of paper or foil, and decorate with a real or paper feather.

Cereal Rings Are High in Protein

Food at a birthday party is most important. But it should contribute something other than sweets to the children's diet.

Peanut Butter Ice Cream Rings served with scoops of ice cream do just that; they're full of protein.

Peanut Butter Ice Cream Rings

- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ pound marshmallows
- ¼ cup crunchy peanut butter
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla flavoring
- 2 cups Special K
- ¼ cup shredded coconut

Combine corn syrup, butter, marshmallows and peanut butter in medium-sized saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until marshmallows are melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla.

Add cereal and coconut, stirring until well-coated with syrup. Cool slightly. Shape by hand into thin rings about 3 inches in diameter. Let stand until cool.

Just before serving, fill with ice cream and serve with sundae sauce, if desired.

Yield: 10 rings, about 3 inches in diameter.

Mother Deserves a Break From Cooking

BAKED LEMON CHICKEN

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Maybe some mothers are taken out for dinner on Mother's Day. On the other hand, thousands of Moms have to do the cooking that day the same as any other.

If any young daughters are reading this page, they might offer to prepare Sunday dinner. How about it, girls?

★ ★ ★

Baked chicken is an easy dish to prepare. This recipe calls for lemon and mint for a unique flavor. Serve it with rice.

BAKED LEMON CHICKEN

1 envelope seasoned coating mix for fish
1 lemon
2½ pounds (about) frying chicken pieces
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 sprigs fresh mint, chopped
1 lemon, thinly sliced
⅓ cup chicken broth

★ ★ ★

Empty the seasoned coating mix into the plastic shaker bag. Grate the peel from 1 lemon and set aside; cut lemon in half and squeeze the juice.

Moisten chicken pieces in lemon juice; shake off excess. Shake 2 or 3 chicken pieces at a time in the bag until evenly coated.

Arrange chicken in a single layer in an ungreased shallow baking pan. Sprinkle grated lemon peel over the chicken. Top with the brown sugar and mint; then cover with sliced lemon.

Cover and bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Add the chicken broth to the bottom of pan and bake for about 25 minutes longer, uncovered, or until tender.

If desired, garnish with additional lemon and mint leaves. Makes 6 servings.

Salad that stars canned pears will go well with the chicken. Grated carrots are a surprise ingredient.

PEAR SUNSHINE SALAD

2 (1 lb.) cans Bartlett pear halves
¼ cup lemon juice
2 cups grated carrots
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 cup red grapes
2 to 3 tablespoons honey
1 cup dairy sour cream
Salad greens

★ ★ ★

Chill and drain pear halves. Add lemon juice to grated carrots. Let stand in refrigerator for half hour. Add marshmallows and grapes. Combine honey with sour cream. Toss together dressing and carrot mixture.

Mound on salad plates lined with crisp greens and encircle with pear halves. Makes 4 large salads.

Dessert can be fixed early and kept in the freezer. Choose another flavor of ice cream if Mom prefers it to vanilla.

BRANDIED ALMOND BALLS

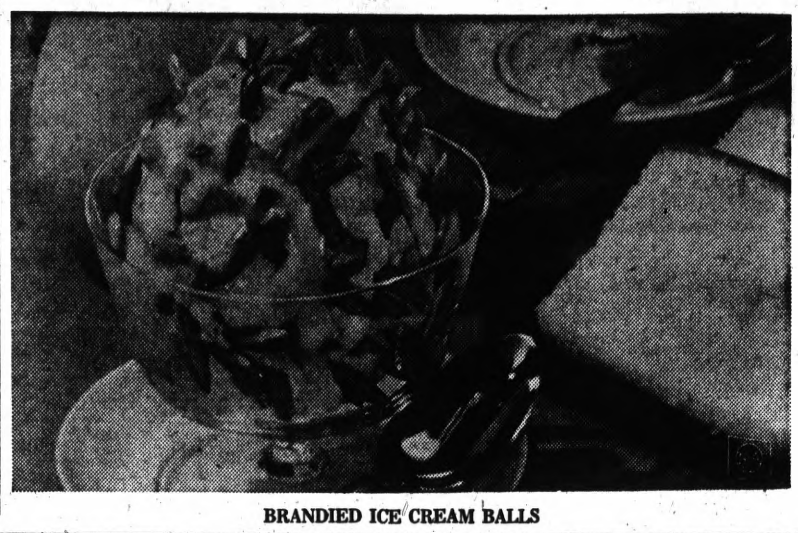
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 cup toasted sliced almonds
2 eggs
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup half and half, scalded
2 tablespoons brandy or brandy flavoring
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Scoop 6 large balls of ice cream. Roll balls in toasted almonds and place in freezer to harden.

To make sauce beat eggs well in heavy saucepan. Add sugar and continue beating until very light and fluffy. Gradually add scalded half and half.

Cook slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens slightly. Cool slightly; stir in nuts, brandy and vanilla. Makes 2 cups sauce. Cool.

Serve over almond balls. Makes 6 servings.



BRANDIED ICE CREAM BALLS

Quick Honey Date Loaf Tastes Almost Like Cake

Like to invite the neighborhood ladies in at the spur of the moment for Fancy-Dan luncheons? Well, try this elegant Honey Date Bread if you do.

Prettied up with a topknot of icing, it's a delicious partner for fruit, vegetable or seafood luncheon salads.

This is a moist bread, thanks to the delicate sweet-tasting honey that goes into it. It's rich, too, with the honey, walnuts and dark pieces of dates. And, does it taste good!

Even if making bread is new to you, don't hold back from attempting this honey loaf.

It is a quick bread that goes together in no time at all, and what satisfaction you'll feel when the loaf is taken, fragrant and piping hot, from the oven.

While the bread is baking, you can be readying a salad for your guests.

A crisp bed of lettuce topped with fresh fruits, or, perhaps, a colorful array of vegetables marinated in tasty sauces might be the answer.

Or serve bowls of bite-sized pieces of lettuce, shrimp, hard-cooked egg, tomato and artichoke tossed in a zesty dressing.

Honey Date Bread

1½ cups chopped dates (½ pound)
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup honey
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup boiling water
3 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 beaten egg
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine first 5 ingredients; cool thoroughly. Sift together the dry ingredients.

Add egg to cooled mixture.

Stir in dry ingredients only enough to mix well. Stir in walnuts.

Bake in a well-greased 9½x5x3-inch load pan at 350 degrees for 55 to 60 minutes or until loaf tests done. Remove from pan onto a wire rack.

Spoon Honey Icing down center of bread and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons grated orange rind. Makes 1 loaf.

Honey Icing: Blend ¼ cup confectioners' sugar with 2 tablespoons honey.

HONEY DATE BREAD — Honey helps add that special taste to foods and is a help in keeping baked goods moist. This quick loaf is delicious with salad for luncheon or as a simple dessert at the family dinner. Make two loaves while you're at it.

Jelly Dressing Top for Fruit

This salad adds exotic flair to spring menus.

Line 4 rice bowls with cup-like leaves of crisp western iceberg lettuce. Assemble a sliced banana, a small can of drained mandarin orange segments, a cupful of finely chopped lettuce and some chopped pecans.

★ ★ ★

Toss with a dressing made of 2 tablespoons mint jelly, broken up with a fork and combined with 2 tablespoons corn oil, ½ tablespoon lime juice, ½ teaspoon lime rind and salt and pepper to taste. Heap into cups and garnish with whole pecans.

PEAR SUNSHINE SALAD

Salad Dressings Add Zesty Taste

Fresh-from-the-sea flavor of fish is ours even in land-locked cities, thanks to modern methods of freezing and distribution. Stuffing o'er Sole Fillets, a dish worthy of the cuisine of an accomplished chef in a New Orleans restaurant, can be created right in your own kitchen.

★ ★ ★

For nine guests you will need as many fillets. Arrange these in a large, greased oblong baking dish. Sprinkle salt on each fillet; then brush with creamy French dressing.

★ ★ ★

For the stuffing: Combine ⅓ cup chopped green pepper, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, 1 quart toasted, coarse bread crumbs with ¼ cup each of creamy French dressing, Thousand Island dressing, chopped onion, and tomato sauce.

★ ★ ★

Place about ⅓ cup stuffing over each fillet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 15 minutes.

Apple Cake Good Warm

This dessert is often served at club meetings in Schuylkill Haven, Pennsylvania, from where the recipe came.

KNOBBY APPLE CAKE

1 cup sifted regular flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups diced pared apple (chop very fine after measuring)
½ cup chopped walnuts

★ ★ ★

On waxpaper sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in the egg and vanilla. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients, apple and walnuts.

★ ★ ★

Turn into a greased and floured 9-inch square cake pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Cut in squares and serve warm with whipped cream.

GIs Call Him the 'Rat Chaser'

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOBO WOODS, Vietnam—The men in his outfit call him the rat chaser. And the title especially fits Sgt. Ron Payne.

He's a tunnel expert here.

His war is underground.

And the rats he chases are human.

Payne, 21, from Atlanta, Ga., has a ghastly job. He spends much of his time grubbing through the foul-smelling tunnel systems which are both shelter and sanctuary for Vietcong guerrillas.

The tunnels are over-stocked with all manner of dreads, chief among which are the cornered enemy soldiers who sit quietly, guns in hand and dare intruders to trespass.

★ ★ ★

Payne accepts the dare. Has for months. And in the course has risked his life as often and as obviously as a man can in this war.

AROUND BUNKER

Take the other day, as example.

Payne was with a mechanized infantry unit and engaged in a jungle-located search-and-destroy operation.

His particular element was mixed up in a firefight which centered around a VC bunker.

During the shooting, a guerrilla soldier was observed retreating into the bunker, which camouflaged a large tunnel entrance, and young Sgt. Payne was given the order to follow him.

★ ★ ★

The GI's reaction was habit. He slipped out of his shirt, stripped his field gear off, slapped a clip into a 45-caliber pistol, tested his flashlight . . . and lowered himself into the enemy hole.

INSTANTLY DARK

It was instantly dark.

Payne grunted.

"I'll yell if I need help."

His outfit agreed.

Payne moved on slowly. Experience has tutored him caution.

Scrambling guerrillas would invariably leave bobby traps in their wake . . . and each would have to be painfully picked out and disengaged.

★ ★ ★

The tunnel was of the shape and size of a reservoir water duct. It was dank and the earth was cool.

EYES WATERED

It was also dusty in places and the sergeant's eyes watered in the fog of foreign particles.

His flashlight picked up moving shadows and from time to time Payne used the butt of his pistol to crack the life out of a creeping scorpion.

The scorpions, about two to three inches long, are not necessarily poisonous, but carry a paralyzing sting.

★ ★ ★

Then there were the spiders. Enormous, bloat-bellied creatures which feed on the blood of their fellows.

CLING TO WALLS

They clung to the tunnel walls with sticky legs that often measure three inches in length.

There were other things, also — centipedes, beetles, roaches and whole colonies of active ants.

Payne had run into coiled snakes in his time, big ones, and even an occasional snarling animal.

★ ★ ★

But such were minor irritations. The prime worry was the chase itself.

THOUGHTS FIXED

And while on it the sergeant's thoughts fixed solely on the sight or the sound of the fleeing, frightened enemy rat.

Then, ahead, he heard him.

His light caught an outline.

"Here he is!" Payne yelled.

The VC stopped.

"Hurry up and help me!"

At the sound the VC guerrilla fired one round at Payne. He missed. Payne returned in kind. He missed also.

The guerrilla fumbled in the darkness and Payne flattened himself and tried to get a steady shot.

★ ★ ★

Then he heard a thud.

BOUNCING OBJECT

His light glinted on a small object bouncing toward him. It dribbled and rolled. A hand grenade!

Payne, unable to move, braced himself for the blast.

It never came. Payne stared at the grenade in utter disbelief. It was a dud. It lay there harmless as a giant dead bug.

"God," Payne sighed.

★ ★ ★

He wiped his face . . . and shook.

Then, swatting the dud away with his arm, he raised himself and crawled into the darkness after his rat.

Cherry Growers Nix Market Plan

LANSING (AP) — Michigan cherry growers have defeated a proposal to establish a cherry marketing program under state law, the Michigan Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

The proposed program would have eliminated the Michigan Cherry Commission and would have provided more money for market development and research by increasing assessments on production.

Wheat Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department forecast Michigan's winter wheat crop Wednesday at 42.3 million bushels. The department expects that 1.1 million acres of wheat will be harvested with a yield of 38 bushels to the acre.

Partial Control of Rain by Man Possible by '85

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Rainfall over the entire United States may be at least partially under man's control by 1985.

By 1972, Interior Department scientists hope to be able to contribute up to 1.5 million acre-feet of water a year to the Colorado River by tapping atmospheric water resources.

"Tapping of the rivers of the sky is no longer in the realm of fantasy," according to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, "but is distinctly possible."

His department, he told the Senate subcommittee on Water and Power, has been looking into the possibilities of weather modification since 1961 with a view of supplementing and conserving the nation's water resources.

Now, he reported, it seems possible that a 10 to 20 percent increase in precipitation can be induced artificially over areas as large as 1,000 square miles.

'NEED NOT CONFINED'

While the first applications of such a capability would be in the water-starved Colorado River Basin, Udall said, ". . . the country's need for increased and dependable supplies of usable water is in no sense confined to the arid West."

"We have only to remember the plight of the drought-stricken East in 1965 to realize that," the secretary observed.

Essentially, such weather modification efforts would use presently-known cloud-seeding materials such as silver iodide or dry ice. But newly developed methods of distributing them in clouds would be employed.

★ ★ ★

These methods include silver iodide bombs developed by the Naval Ordnance Test Station, Pasadena, Calif., that would go off inside a cloud after being dropped from an airplane and remote-controlled silver iodide generators spotted over the area where more rain is desired.

Secretary Udall urged the subcommittee to support the entire five million dollar budget request for the Interior Department weather modification program in fiscal year 1968 and broadly hinted that considerably more money would help bring the benefits of weather control to the nation as soon as possible.

Breeding Superior Race Not Likely, Doctor Says

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A world peopled by geniuses, all fathered by a few select and talented men, is every bit as impossible as it sounds.

Geneticists have long hoped to fertilize women with sperm preserved from exceptional men in order to breed particular qualities into the human race.

This dream will probably never materialize, according to Dr. Glen W. Salisbury of the University of Illinois, Urbana, who has found that sperm and egg cells are damaged even under the conditions of extreme cold that supposedly permit storage without change.

Sperm cells kept in an artificial environment, event at minus 321 degrees F., continue to mature even though their growth may be considerably slowed, his studies show.

Dr. Salisbury, who has studied reproductive physiology in cows and other domestic animals for 30 years, says that even though two-year-old sperm will fertilize an egg, 30 per cent of the cows inseminated with such aged sperm had spontaneous abortions during the first three months of pregnancy.

The gestation period for cows, like that of women, is nine months.

Sperm from humans is usually given to females within a week of the time it is taken. If aged, and perhaps deficient sperm, were used, chances are women would also abort, rather than carry a deformed child to term, Dr. Salisbury declares.

Migrants' School Is Harassed

SHELBY (AP) — The supervisor of a day care school for children of migrant workers charged today that water has been cut off to the school, there has been "petty harassment" and "there is an air of hostility in the community."

Mrs. Jane Moog, the supervisor, said she and the teachers have to haul drinking water in pails, buckets and plastic containers three miles from the village of Shelby in which the school is located. The school, financed by federal antipoverty funds, is in its first season of operation.

★ ★ ★

"People has harassed us over the telephone," Mrs. Moog said. "The locks on the doors have been broken twice. A lot of our outdoor play equipment has been knocked over."

Shelby is in Oceana County in the heart of the western Michigan cherry-producing area. It is a quiet farm center dependent on migrant labor during the summer months.

STRONG OPPOSITION

"Local opinion is running real strong against it (the migrant school)," said Elwood Huggard, a school board member and managing editor of the Oceana Herald, the county weekly.

"Part of it is personal and part of it is that some of the local people think the people running it got into the program through the patronage system," Huggard said.

★ ★ ★

Huggard said he checked and found children other than those of migrant workers enrolled at the school. One was the child of a school teacher and another the child of a local businesswoman, he said.

Some 37 children are cared for at the Blooming Valley School and another 20 at the Shelby Center School, both owned by the Shelby school system on the same basis as Project Head Start.

The program is operated by West Michigan Opportunity Inc. of Grand Rapids under a federal grant.

★ ★ ★

"We take the children of migrant or ex-migrant mothers and take care of them on the same basis as (Project) Head Start," Mrs. Moog explained.

She said the children are picked up and returned to their homes by bus. They are served two hot meals a day plus snacks.

★ ★ ★

"There is a hostility due to misinformation about just what we are doing," Mrs. Moog said. "They think we are operating an expensive baby sitting service with their tax dollars."

ALLEGED ART SWINDLE — "La Reception," this 22x29½-inch gouache, owned by Algur H. Meadows, was not painted by Raoul Dufy, according to the Art Dealers Association of America. Meadows, chairman of the General American Oil Co. of Texas, said in New York that he is not buying the association's judgment alone. The dealers told him he is the victim of one of the art world's greatest swindles.

Teacher Certification Code Stalled on 90-Day Permits

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education will seek more information before finally approving Michigan's new Teacher Certification Code.

The board, meeting Wednesday, decided to delay the final stamp of approval until its next meeting May 23-24.

Special 90-day permits for teachers have been under fire by the Michigan Education Association, which wants to do away with them.

Board member Charles Morton said he wanted a report on the educational level of the teachers with the special permits.

QUIZ LEADERS

Marilyn Jean Keller, board vice president, said she thought it would be a good idea if superintendents of schools were quizzed on exactly how they go about finding qualified teachers.

Carmen Delliquadri said he thought there had been too much emphasis on the number of hours of educational courses required of a prospective teacher.

"Until teachers take better courses, we're not improving quality," he said.

★ ★ ★

The board said it wanted to gradually tighten up requirements for teachers over a 20-year period. One goal set was the elimination of the teaching permit requiring the least number of hours of study by July of 1970.

Another goal was mandatory adoption of the code by the state's teacher education institutions by the same date.

SANDS OF VIETNAM — A soldier leaves a trail of deep footprints as he walks down a sand dune in Quang Ngai Province, South Vietnam. The beaches in the coastal area contrast with jungles of the central Vietnamese highlands. The 3rd Brigade of the 25th Division has set up a base camp, called "Landing Zone Guadalcanal," near Duc Pho on the Quang Ngai beach.

Great Lakes Water Quality Study Is Launched

By Science Service

TORONTO — An intensive study of water quality in the Great Lakes has been launched by the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

★ ★ ★

Detailed sampling will be carried out on Lakes Superior and Huron and the interconnecting channels with the aid of a new 80-foot vessel, the Atomic.

Purpose of the program is to tabulate the quantity and type of industrial, domestic and surface pollution from Ontario which reaches the Great Lakes, and to determine the effects of these discharges.

The program is being carried out in cooperation with other Canadian and U.S. government agencies involved in similar studies under reference from the International Joint Commission on the Great Lakes.

★ ★ ★

The scope of the vessel-based operations has been expanded to include biological sampling and observation at selected points in Lakes Erie, Ontario, Huron and Superior.

WILL CONTINUE

Land-based observations of the quality and quantity of waste water reaching the Lakes from Ontario will continue.

A refinement of the program is the use of carbon absorption filters at three selected locations including Sarnia, Ont., opposite Port Huron, Mich.

Complex organic trace elements in the water are picked up by these units.

Explanations Set on Appeals

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's local draft boards yesterday were instructed to inform all men eligible for service in the armed forces how they may make a personal appearance before the board to appeal their draft classification.

Col. Arthur Holmes, State Selective Service director, said this is in accordance with an executive order issued by President Johnson May 3.

Holmes said the time in which a personal appearance or other appeal is allowed has been extended from 10 to 30 days after the date of classification.

Local boards will be required to mail out information to all men eligible for the draft on how they may go about appealing.

19,900-Man Call for July Highest of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Wednesday issued a July draft call for induction of 19,900 young men to serve with the Army. It is the highest draft call this year.

The July quota is slightly higher than the 19,800 for June, and the 18,000 for May.

Defense officials have said that draft calls will begin to rise about midyear to replace young men who were inducted under the sharply increased Vietnam buildup which began in the late summer of 1965.

Dems in 90th Congress Resemble Pilotless Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If the Democratic party is in trouble, it may need to look beyond Vietnam and LBJ's personality and worry a little about the strength of its leadership in Congress.

It is a common springtime complaint to speak of Congress as a do-nothing institution because most of its visible output comes in the summer and fall after bills are shaped, remodeled and rewritten in committees. But no recent Congress has looked so much like a ship without a pilot as the one now in session.

The 90th Congress contrasts sharply with those of the 1950s led by the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, an astute manager of the House, and Lyndon B. Johnson, a restless, aggressive leader always dragging the Senate as far as he thought it would go.

Johnson's successor as Senate Democratic leader is Mike Mansfield of Montana, one of the most loved and respected men in Congress. But the mild-mannered former professor seems more scholar than leader and one who leads reluctantly until he knows where his troops want to go.

★ ★ ★

The Senate is composed of 99 men and one woman, most of them independent-minded. After six years of the "Johnson treatment," Mansfield's gentle handling at first seemed like an overdue respite. But the pendulum seems to have swung too far.

Mansfield's deputy is Sen. Russel B. Long of Louisiana, the volatile and unpredictable son of the late Sen. Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, a stormy figure in the early 1930s.

The near-breakdown in the Senate Democratic leadership was underscored last month when Long started a public row with Mansfield on the Senate floor before professing his great love for the majority leader. It was no demonstration of teamwork.

The row grew out of a dispute over a relatively minor business tax incentive bill. The bill became the center of a major battle because of Long's efforts to save the presidential campaign financing law he sired last year.

Long, 48, has probably lost friends and influence by his management of the bill. He was elected party whip in 1965 when the job was vacated by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

He rounded up Southern conservative and Northern liberal support for his election by the Democratic caucus before other poetntial candidate realized what was going on.

SEN. BYRD

Third in the Democratic chain of command in the Senate is Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia by virtue of his job as secretary of the Democratic caucus. He was chosen from relative obscurity over Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, whose criticism of the Senate "establishment" offended many of the members.

Mansfield sits across the center aisle of the chamber from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen. Dirksen's shrewd leadership of his small band of Republicans gives him a voice in Senate affairs equal to or greater than any Democrat.

Across the Capitol, the Democratic majority of the House is led by Speaker John W. McCormack, who has been elected and reelected since 1928 from a safe Democratic constituency in south Boston. Now 75, McCormack stood in Rayburn's shadow for more than 20 years before he was elected to the speakership.

★ ★ ★

Although he is bathed with tributes in response to any public criticism, some of the younger liberal House Democrats privately are unhappy over McCormack's leadership.

The Democratic floor leader in the House is Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who was slowed by a heart attack last year. In planning any legislative strategy he must defer to the speaker.

FACE TRIAL — Long-haired Mick Jagger (left center, holding cigarette) and Keith Richard (right, smoking cigarette) leave court in Chichester, England, yesterday after electing to be tried by jury on drug possession charges. Both are members of the Rolling Stones rock 'n' roll group. A third member of the group was hauled into a London court today along with Swiss pop singer Prince Stanislas Klossowski de Rowla. The two were charged with possessing marijuana at their apartment. Both were released on bail.

U.S. Approach to Bombing N. Viet Airfields Criticized

SAIGON (AP) — The piecemeal bombing of MIG airfields in North Vietnam is causing a good bit of anguish among some U.S. Air Force strategists in Vietnam.

The stated purpose of the raids is to destroy the Red jets on the ground.

★ ★ ★

But critics of the piecemeal approach dictated by Washington say it gives the North Vietnamese air force the opportunity to escape to other unbombed bases or to Red China.

There are four main MIG bases and two secondary ones in the Hanoi-Haiphong area. Since April 24 U.S. warplanes have made eight raids on three of the fields.

ALL IN ONE DAY

But waiting for the proper weather, responsible officers say, the United States could have hit all six fields on one day. U.S. forces have enough planes in Vietnam to hit the MIGs with one killing blow, these sources say.

"Most people would agree that we are not exactly taking a military approach to bombing the airfields," one authority admitted. "But then, this is not precisely a military situation."

★ ★ ★

"It's not exactly the way I would run an air force," he said.

The raids thus far have destroyed from nine to 15 planes on the ground. It was estimated when the raids began that the North Vietnames air force numbered possibly as many as 120 jets — mostly MIG15s and 17s with about 20 or so speedier MIG21s.

CAMOUFLAGED REVETMENTS

After the first raids April 24 on the fields at Kep and Hoa Lac, the Communists immediately scattered their MIGs and moved them to camouflaged revetments some distance from the fields.

They had evidently been prepared for such raids for a long time. However, there doesn't appear to be evidence yet that they have started to take sanctuary at bases in Red China.

★ ★ ★

In subsequent raids on the Hoa Lac and Kien An bases the MIGs were hard to find.

"They are scarce on the fields now," one officer said. "They'll probably be even harder to find in the future."

QUICKLY REPAIRED

Just bombing the fields does not put the North Vietnamese air force out of action. The North Vietnamese use handy materials to resurface the runways, and bomb craters can be repaired overnight.

Only the Hoa Lac field — bombed five times — has been reported out of action, and it probably is usable again.

★ ★ ★

However, the raids have thrown the North Vietnamese air force off balance. It has no way of knowing which base will be hit next, or when.

Such indecision makes it difficult to prepare planes for interception missions or to schedule necessary training flights.

State GOP Exec at Two Seminars

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Republican Central Committee will be the only state GOP organization represented on two nationwide political public relations seminars next week.

Hugh Humphrey, Michigan director of public relations for the party, will speak at a conference in Washington May 16 and again in Denver May 20. Both are sponsored by the Republican National Committee.

LeMay Speaks Out on Viet War but Not on Senatorial Race

By RALPH DIGHTON

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP) — The not-so-happy warrior, retired from one theater of tumult but contemplating invasion of another, sat scowling and chewing a black cigar.

"What's so different about being a military man?" demanded Curtis Emerson LeMay.

"People say, 'Oh, but you have a different viewpoint,' and their meaning is derogatory—except when there is a war going on. But there really is no diference, except maybe we love our country a little bit more, and work for less money."

The defense of his beloved life-long military profession came in an interview when LeMay, former Air Force chief of staff and four-star general who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate was asked if he felt his military background would help him in politics.

MORE INTEGRITY

Snapped LeMay: "There is more integrity, less skullduggery and less thievery among military men than among all the rest of the citizens."

LeMay, a registered Republican, has never said he was interested in running for office, nor did he this time. But he has made several public speeches on military policy and has disclosed that he has been approached about opposing Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., next year for the GOP nomination.

★ ★ ★

Kuchel recently was criticized by the conservative California Republican Assembly for failing to support Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., in their general election campaigns.

Both LeMay and the state school superintendent, Max Rafferty, have been suggested as possible opponents of Kuchel.

NOT LOOKING

But, says LeMay, "I'm having fun in what I'm doing and I'm not looking for another job. Until there's some real organization behind this sort of thing I will not give it any real thought."

LeMay, 61, retired two years ago into the post of chairman of the board of Networks Electronic Corp., a rambling one-story structure in a cluster of electronic plants in this San Fernando Valley suburb of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

His firm makes high-precision bearings and electronic parts for military equipment, and he also has an interest in Executive Jet Aviation of Columbus, Ohio, a contract charter service which recently acquired two four-engine Boeing 707s and two smaller 727s.

He's obviously not in need of a job.

KIBBITZ, ADVISE

"I've had enough of 16-hour days," says LeMay. "Here I just kibbitz and advise, and I like it that way."

As a business executive, however, LeMay has no forum, and he is accustomed to sounding off whenever he feels national policy—especially military policy—is in error. As a senator, his views would have more effect.

★ ★ ★

Whether he has that in mind must remain a strategic mystery until his decision is made, but in the meantime he is not bashful about expressing his conviction that current policy in Vietnam is no way to run a war.

"You can't be half pregnant," he says, "and you can't be half at war."

SAC BOSS

One of the prime movers in the establishment of the Strategic Air Command after World War II, he became its boss in 1948 and in the next 10 years hammered out a reputation as a hard-driving manager of men and technical systems, including the then new and incredibly complex intercontinental missiles.

He is a loud advocate of brute force—and he believes this is the only ay to bring North Vietnam to the conference table.

Asked if escalation might not force the Soviet Union and Red China to take an active part in Vietnam, LeMay said: "The Russians have always backed off anytime we came eyeball to eyeball with them — in Berlin, in Lebanon, in Cuba. The Chinese make lots of noise but they don't have the strength to wage a major war."

LeMay challenged claims of numerous scientists that use of nuclear weapons will cause irreparable damage to the human race.

CONTRARY TO FACTS

"This is wildly exaggerated and contrary to the facts," LeMay said. "We've dropped 16 weapons on Bikini, and according to some of these people, just one was supposed to extinguish all life.

"So what do we find on Bikini today? The vegetation is back, the birds and the fish are back, and the roots are bigger and fatter than ever."

★ ★ ★

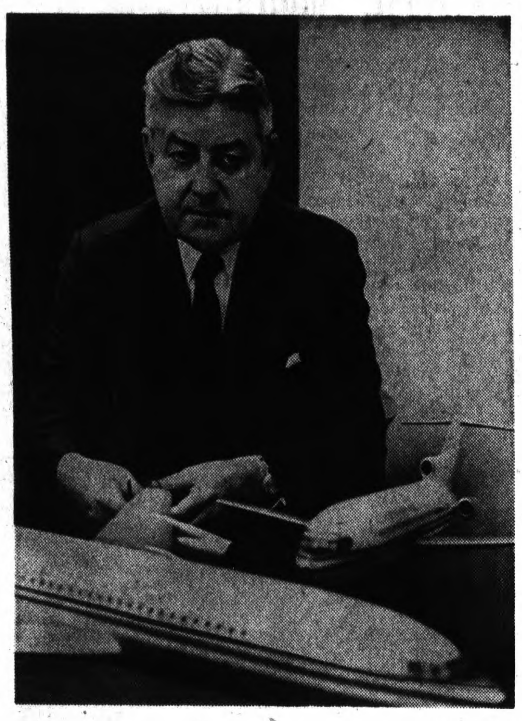
LeMay said military leaders "have never believed that nuclear weapons would make life impossible. The Red Chinese say they could survive a nuclear war and maybe they're right.

"But we've listened to pinko-type scientists so long we seem to have developed a phobia. They'll roll over and play dead for anybody, and that just is not rational when so much is at stake."

LeMay said he believes the United States "ought to use atomic weapons — judiciously — if the Red Chinese move into North or South Vietnam, if they actively join the war. I don't mean shoot every atomic weapon we have, but we should use what's necessary, to stop the war right now."

Military policy is, of course, only part of a U.S. senator's job. Does LeMay have views on national and state affairs?

"I'm not going to tell you that," he said. "That would be pretty silly, when I haven't even made up my mind."



AP Wirephoto

CONTEMPLATES ACTION — Curtis LeMay, former Air Force chief of staff and four-star general, sits amid model jetliners in his office in Chatsworth, Calif., where he is board chairman of an electronics concern. Now 61, he has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate. He is outspoken on political issues but gives no indication of running for office.

Decline of Deep Sleep Eyed as Factor in Aging

By Science Service

DETROIT — Elderly persons not only sleep less, but get less good out of their few hours each night. This may be a factor in lessening their mental activity.

Normal elderly people tested in the laboratory show a marked decline and sometimes total absence of "stage 4 sleep."

This stage is thought to be the most effective and the most necessary physiologically, therefore its decline and absence in people 60 and older is a cause of considerable current speculation about the relationship between aging and sleep.

Several investigators at the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association here reported sleep changes in the elderly.

Besides a decline in deep sleep, they also noted a decline in the total amount of sleeping time and a slight decrease in dreaming time.

STUDY REPORTED

Dr. Anthony Kales from the department of psychiatry at the University of California at Los Angeles reported that his 10 elderly subjects slept deeply 1.4 per cent of the night compared to 11 per cent in young adults. All the subjects were in good health and active for their age.

Dr. Eugene Aserinsky, a physiologist from Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, who pioneered sleep studies, commented: "One wonders whether the purpose of sleep has to do with intellectual functioning."

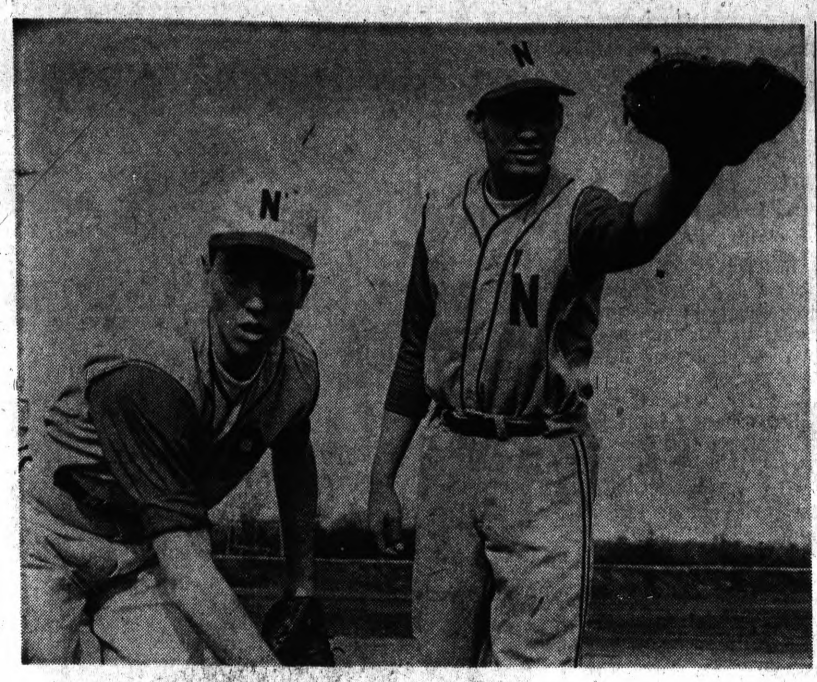
Willie's Wallop Sparks Tiger Victory



Pontiac Press Photo

TWO-HIT HUSKIES — Pontiac Northern moundsmen junior Mike Clancy (left) and Gerry McKeever each spun two-hitters yesterday at Flint Northwestern. McKeever emerged with a 5-4 victory in the opener of the make-up doubleheader, but Clancy was held to a 4-4 tie as a shaky defense allowed four unearned runs to the Wildcats. The second game was called because of darkness after eight innings.

A's Bonus Baby Stars

Green Fits Monday

By the Associated Press

Olive drab isn't Rick Monday's best color but he fits into green and gold just fine, thank you.

Monday is the young outfielder who pocketed $104,000 of Charles Finley's pin money in baseball's first free agent draft two summers ago and now looks ready to pay off the dividend for Kansas City's flashily dressed Athletics.

He belted a homer and drove in three runs for the A's Wednesday night in a 7-4 victory over Boston.

One month ago, with the season about to open, Monday was just finishing an active duty stint with the United States Marine Reserves. He shifted from fatigues to flannels fairly easily and has just about clinched a regular job in Manager Al Dark's outfield.

Marine duties being what they are, Monday stayed in shape and returned ready to go. His six extra base hits and .254 batting average have Dark wondering whether boot camp might not benefit some of the other Athletics.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday night, Tommy John hurled a six-hitter and Chicago smashed four home runs in a 13-1 romp over Baltimore, Detroit dropped Cleveland 4-2 and California edged New York 3-2.

TWO RUNS

Monday drove in two runs with a single in the third inning as Kansas City wiped out an early three-run Red Sox lead.

★ ★ ★

Then, after the A's had taken the lead in the seventh on singles by Danny Cater and Dick Green, Monday boomed his second homer of the season.

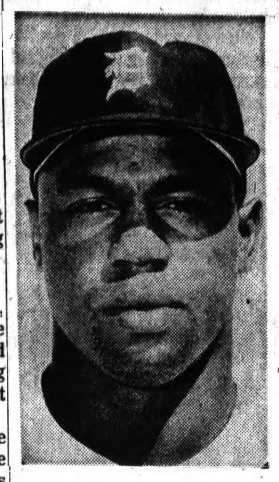
The streaking White Sox won their sixth straight with a 15-hit attack highlighted by the long ball.

★ ★ ★

Tom McCraw, Pete Ward, Dick Kenworthy and Tommie Agee smacked the homers and John scattered six hits, losing his shutout in the ninth on Curt Blefary's homer.

Jose Cardenal opened the ninth inning with a triple for the Angels and after the Yankees walked Jim Fregosi and Jimmie Hall intentionally to set up a force play, Rick Reichardt delivered the game-winning single.

It was Reichardt's third hit of the night and his second RBI.



FIRST HOMER—Willie Horton hit his first home run of the season last night to pace the Detroit Tigers to a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians. It was Detroit's fifth straight win.

Lolich Pitches Detroiters Past Cleveland, 4-2

Mickey Gains Fourth Victory; Horton Hits Two-Run Homer

CLEVELAND (AP)— Willie Horton said he doesn't know what kind of a pitch he hit for his first home run of the season.

It didn't matter. The blast enabled the Detroit Tigers to whip the Cleveland Indians 4-2 Wednesday night, extending their winning streak to five games.

The two-run homer gave Horton his first two RBI of the season. He missed 15 games with an injured left leg and Achilles tendon.

"I don't know what kind of a pitch it was," said the stocky Horton. "He threw it to me before so I made up my mind not to pull it and hit straight away."

The ball landed in dead center field, 407 feet from the plate.

Horton also demonstrated that his bad leg was in good shape, scoring from second on a single by Norm Cash in the fourth.

STILL HURTS

"I was hoping Norm would get a hit because I wanted to test the leg," said Horton. "It feels all right once I get it warmed up but it still hurts. I just wanted to make sure it would hold up when I ran hard. And it felt good."

★ ★ ★

While Mickey Lolich, with relief help from Fred Gladding, held the Indians at bay, the Tigers pounced on Cleveland starter Sonny Siebert for two runs on four hits in the fourth inning. Cash and Jim Northrup got the RBIs with base hits.

★ ★ ★

Cleveland scored a run in the third on Larry Brown's homer off Lolich.

Horton's two-run blast in the sixth followed a walk to Al Kaline and gave Detroit a 4-1 lead.

Gladding took over in the ninth when Lolich got into trouble. With one out, Joe Azcue singled and moved to third on Chico Salmon's double. Gladding came in and got pinch-hitter Fred Whitfield on an infield grounder, with Azcue scoring. Then he fanned Duke Sims to wrap up Lolich's fourth victory in five decisions.

CALLED STRIKE

"He (Sims) was still looking at the first curve I threw him so I decided to give him another," said Gladding.

Sims took it on a 3-2 count for a game-ending third strike.

The save was Gladding's fourth of the season and his his second in two days.

Detroit got down to the American League's 25-player limit after the game by releasing catcher Chris Cannizzaro outright to Toledo of the international League and asking waivers on pitcher Bill Monbouquette.

Monbouquette was asked to go down to the minors at Toledo, but he refused to report to the Mud Hens. If Monbouquette is not claimed by another major league club within three days, he will become a free agent.

★ ★ ★

The 30-year-old right-hander was obtained from the Boston Red Sox in a 1965 trade which gave Boston reserve infielder George Smith and outfielder George Thomas.

At the time, Detroit was considered to have pulled off a major coup, but Monbouquette faltered badly last year, winning seven and losing 8. He saw only limited action this season.

Waterford's Skippers Go to Bat for Rival

By JERE CRAIG

Waterford gave arch-rival Kettering a big boost Wednesday in the Captains' bid for the No. 1 ranking among Oakland County area prep baseball teams.

The Skippers upset Southfield, the top-rated nine, 5-4, while WKHS was pounding third-ranked Clarkston, 11-4. No. 9 Pontiac Northern won and tied at Flint Northwestern.

★ ★ ★

The PNH Huskies (6-3-1) held off the host Wildcats 5-4 in the opener, but the nightcap ran into darkness and was halted at 4-4 after eight innings. The twin bill was a makeup of an earlier postponement.

Junior hurlers Mike Vidor and Rod Kennedy stopped Southfield (9-2) on four hits, with southpaw Kennedy relieving winner Vidor (2-1) in the last inning.

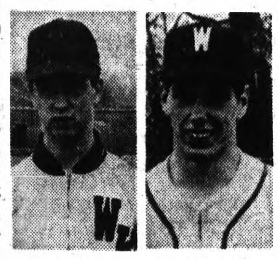
Kennedy halted the Blue Jays with the tying run on third and the winning run on second base. Waterford (8-5) scored four times in the first inning on a bases-loaded walk, a two-run single by Paul Thomas and Mike Murphy's run-producing single, all with one out.

Bill Hill singled home what proved to be the winning run after two were out in the fourth. Ted Simmons cracked a tape-measure home run to deep center field in the first inning for Southfield.

CONSISTENT

Kettering pounded 10 hits at Clarkston and scored in every inning but one. Sophomore Bob Earl led the assault with a single, double, triple, one RBI and two runs scored.

Dick Miceli laid down a two-run squeeze bunt in the first inning and later added an RBI-triple. Jerry Harkey hit a solo homer for the Captains, whose 12 wins in 14 starts make them the top winning team in the area.



EARL THOMAS

Jack McCloud scattered five hits and six walks while fanning 15. Clarkston is now 8-4 and meets West Bloomfield in a key Wayne-Oakland League showdown today. WKHS can clinch the Tri-County crown at Lapeer.

STRONG SHOWING

Northern received two-hit pitching from both Gerry McKeever (2-0) and Mike Clancy (0-1). McKeever had a no-hitter until Flint NW combined two walks with two singles in the sixth inning of the opener.

But the Wildcats three runs couldn't overcome a similar rally by PNH an inning earlier. Craig Deaton had an RBI-double and Jim Whitehead a two-run single for the winners.

Clancy whiffed 13 and didn't allow a hit after the second inning in the nightcap, though being touched for four unearned runs. An outstanding catch by center fielder Rick Rhoney on Flint's lead-off hitter in the seventh inning prevented trouble.

Reserve Dennis McLaughlin ripped a two-run single for the Huskie's biggest blow in the second contest.

Volunteer Army of Workers Aid Pan-Am Games

WINNIPEG (AP) — The final push is on as an army of volunteers and staff workers prepare for the July 23 opening of the Pan-American Games, Canada's biggest-ever sports spectacle.

Finishing touches are being placed on stadiums, arenas and waterways throughout this city of 500,000 for the two-week event which will draw more than 3,000 athletes from 17 Western Hemisphere nations.

Some facilities have been completed, but two possible trouble spots are looming.

There is some concern about progress on the Pan-American pool, the $3 million showpiece of the Games, and in the ticket office where a pile-up of orders has forced a shutdown of over-the-counter sales for at least a week.

Japanese Boxer Keeps Ring Title

TOKYO (UPI) — Musashi Nakano successfully defended his Orient welterweight title Wednesday by stopping Filipino Ravalo in the eighth round of a scheduled 12-round bout.

Nakano, who weighed 146¾, a half a pound heavier than the challenger, punished Ravalo throughout the fight and dropped him three times in the final round before the referee stopped the bout at 2:35.

Flint Woman Leads Keglers

Mrs. Robinson Sharp in WIBC Tournament

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A 37-year-old mother of four from Flint shot a final game of 278 Wednesday to take the lead in the opening four-game block of the Women's International Bowling Congress Queens Tournament.

Mrs. Jeanette Robinson rolled a 194-211-206-278—889 to go three pins up on second-place Mrs. Myrt De Fily of San Antonio, who also turned in a 278 final game.

★ ★ ★

Another four-game block Thursday will mark the end of the qualifying rounds for 400 entrants in the Queens competition.

Match play begins Thursday night with 61 qualifiers, plus three seeded players, shooting for he top spot that will be decided Sunday night.

NINE STRIKES

Mrs. Robinson, a bowling instructress and president of the Professional Women's Bowler' Association, reeled off nine strikes, left a three pin in the 10th, spared it and again broke for nine in her windup game.

The 278 was her highest single game in her 14 years of bowling.

Doug Ford Hoping Slump End at Hand

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Doug Ford, almost a name from the past in golf although he's won two of the major championships — the PGA and Masters — thinks he's just about over the first big slump of his long career on the fairways.

The 44-year-old pro, winner of less than $2,500 this year, carded a sizzling six-under-par 66 in the pro-am to set the stage for today's first round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tourney.

★ ★ ★

Ford ranks ninth on the modern era money list but he hasn't won enough in the past 18 months to pay his expenses on the tour. His 66 was one of the best rounds he's had in a long time and he shared first place in the pro-am with young Kermit Zarley, the onetime NCAA titlist who has yet to win a tournament.

Ford discussed Jack Nicklaus, who's entered here, and then turned to his own game.

MORE PRESSURE

"Usually when you drive badly you putt badly," said Ford. "Of course, you put a lot of pressure on your putter to make up. You are usually missing the green when you drive poorly and then you are chipping up and leaving yourself five or six feet and you're putting a lot more pressure on your putts."

Ford, who hasn't tasted victory since the 1962 Canadian Open, said he's been having the same problem as Nicklaus.

"If I drive well, I play well," he said. "I went back to a putter that I haven't used in over a year and a half and it felt good. You just never know. You know a little thing like that — a putter — can change your outlook and you feel good about scoring."

M-MSU 9's Obstacle for Gophers

By the Associated Press

Minnesota leads in three major team statistic categories to back up its apparent stampede to the Big Ten baseball title.

The Gophers, 8-1, are at Michigan State, 7-5, for a doubleheader Friday and then move on to Michigan, 5-3, for another twin bill Saturday.

Other Friday doubleheaders send Illinois (2-6) to Ohio State (6-4), Iowa (4-5) to Michigan, and Purdue (3-5) to Indiana (4-6). Wisconsin (7-4) is at Northwestern (2-9) in a single game.

Saturday's double round has Illinois at Indiana, Iowa at MSU, and Purdue at Ohio State while Wisconsin is at Northwestern for a solo.

LOW ERA

Minnesota is tops in team batting with .311 followed by MSU with .283. The Gophers also lead in team pitching with a 1.77 earned run average with Wisconsin next at 2.57, and team slugging with .459 with MSU second at .405.

Ohio State heads team fielding with .962 with Iowa second at .954. Minnesota is sixth with .942.

★ ★ ★

Individual leaders include:

Batting - Andy Fischer, Michigan, .476; Ed Chartraw, Wisconsin, .471; Jim Lee, Indiana, .455; Dennis Zacho, Minnesota, .441; John Walters, MSU, .412; Mike Sadek, Minnesota, .400.

Pitching - Keith Stilwell, Ohio State, 1-0, 14 1-3 innings, ERA 0.00; Geoff Zahn, Michigan, 3-0, 21 innings, ERA 1.29.

Cocaptains Named for '67 Spartan 11

A player who blossomed as a prep under the watchful eye of a new Pontiac Catholic High coach Mel Larsen was named a cocaptain of the Michigan State University football team yesterday.

He's 5-foot-10 Tony Conti, a chunky 225-pounder, who starred under Larsen at Mount Clemens St. Mary.

Conti was a first string offensive guard last year, and he'll handle the duties as captain along with defensive halfback Drake Garrett.

Garrett, 5-8 and 185 pounds, has won two letters as a defensive back. He is from Dayton, O.

Hurler Loses 1-Hitter

Ted Pearson tossed a one-hitter but it went for naught as Oxford dropped a 4-1 decision to L'Anse Creuse yesterday. Roger Miller paced the losers (1-5) with two hits.

Pink Slips at Cutdown

Bright Oriole Rookie Is Cut

Many Vets Among Released Players

By the Associated Press

Veteran pitchers hurling shutout baseball and veteran hitters batting over .300 were among the cut-down casualties, but the biggest sparks may fly from the optioning of a rookie hitting .194.

He is first baseman Mike Epstein, touted as a future superstar, optioned by Baltimore to their Rochester farm club before Wednesday night's major league deadline to reach the 25-player limit.

★ ★ ★

"Mike said he was very disappointed and might not report to Rochester," said Oriole Manager Hank Bauer.

Epstein, 24, the minor league player of the year at Rochester last season, declined comment after meeting with Bauer and Harry Dalton, Baltimore director of player personnel.

"I pointed out the opportunities to him," Dalton said, "but it's his career and it's his decision."

PINK SLIPS

Among those once highly publicized veterans to get pink slips were Ralph Terry, Bill Monbouquette, Gordy Coleman, Manny Jimenez and Bob Buhl.

Atlanta hospitalized ace right-hander Tony Cloninger, 1-1, for an indefinite period. The former 20-game winner, who has not pitched since April 26 because of a pulled back muscle and a virus infection, is suffering from an eye problem.

The Los Angeles Dodgers traded infielder John Werhas to the California Angels for outfielder Len Gabrielson and the New York Mets purchased third baseman Ed Charles from Kansas City for $60,000 and minor league outfielder Larry Elliot. The Mets also bought utility infielder Bob Johnson and pitcher John Miller from Baltimore.

Epstein was unable to beat out Boog Powell at first base with KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee's All-America linebacker Paul Naumoff has signed a professional contract with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

"It wasn't as big as I like but it's a good contract, considering what a lot of other college players got this year, he said.

Mechanic Puts Spark in Andretti's Racer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Clint Brawner, who draws blueprints in his head and then converts them into ultra rapid race cars, probably will push Mario Andretti out of the pits to set a new Indianapolis Motor Speedway record Saturday.

The Italian-born Andretti turned an unofficial lap at 167.9 miles per hour Wednesday, compared to the official one-lap record of 166.328 he set last year in an almost identical Brawner car.

None of the other 83 cars at the old track has approached that speed in practice for Saturday's qualifying runs for the 51st 500-mile race May 30.

Brawner crew-chiefed the cars in which Eddie Sachs won the pole position in 1961 and 1962, and Andretti took it last year.

The Phoenix, Ariz., "practical mechanic," as he calls himself, was chief for three drivers who spent less actual time on the track than the 500 winners — Bobby Ball in 1951, Jimmy Bryan in 1954 and Sachs in 1962 — but he has yet to produce a winner. Extra pit stops kept all three drivers out of the winner's circle.

Andretti led last year until valve trouble stopped his engine. He went on to win eight other major U. S. Auto Club events.

Brawner builds cars for Al Dean, the big van man of Long Beach, Calif., with the help of Tony Buffone, ex-Bostonian Jim McGee, and Dave Ellis, who manufactures the Caribbean boat, and Arnie Johnson.

A soft touch around the greens enabled Mrs. George Schade of Detroit to overcome some shaky fairway play in taking the weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association outing at Bob O'Link Golf Course in Novi.

Mrs Schade carded a 42-43-85 for a one-stroke victory over Mrs. Phillip DeGuere (43-43—86) of Birmingham and Mrs. G. F. Langford (41-45—86) of Dearborn Heights.

Rochester Thinclads Post 6th Win

A change of scenery didn't affect Rochester's Falcons Wednesday, while Avondale came within one baton handoff of claiming its initial track win of the spring in Oakland A action.

Rochester competed in a duel meet away from home for the first time but upped its record to 6-1 with a 64½-53½ conquest at Warren Cousino.

Troy edged Avondale, 60-58, helped considerably when the Yellow Jackets fumbled a baton switch while leading the 880-yard relay which Troy rallied to win.

Rochester's Laurey Kesel won both hurdle events, Bob Woodroof captured both dashes, and they both teamed with Dave Marr (440 winner) and Mike Phillips to win the 880 relay.

The Falcons also swept the shot put led by Alex McKinnon.

INVITATIONAL

The meet served as a final prep for Woodroof who is unbeaten in the 100 and 220-yard events this spring. He'll meet speedy Tim Kelley of Oxford Saturday in one of the highlights of the annual Oxford invitational Meet.

Kesel, also, will duel Bloomfield Hills' Greg Myhra and Kettering's Bill Penoza in what are expected to be outstanding hurdle races.

Several track records were set on the new Troy track. Karl Rykert of Avondale set a school standard of :52.9 in the 440 dash, and Troy's Lynn Qualman tied the existing track and school marks with a :15.7 high hurdles sprint.

Qualman, Mickey Holder and Jim Uzelac were double winners for the Colts (2-4).

GOLF'S A BLAST — Kettering golfer Dan Larkin blasts out of a fairway trap on the sixth hole en route to a 39 over the par-36 Pontiac Country Club first nine yesterday. Larkin and his teammates trimmed township rival Waterford, 202-208.

Kettering Avenges Golf Loss

Kettering stayed alive in its annual All Sports Trophy war with Waterford by avenging yesterday its only links loss in a 10-1 spring, beating the Skippers 202-208.

★ ★ ★

Rod Skelton of WTHS led all the scoring with a one-over-par 37 but the victorious Captains had Dave Moilanen at 38, plus Dan Larkin and Jim Richardson at 39.

★ ★ ★

The win is Kettering's sixth straight since dropping a 189-200 decision to Waterford (16-3) on the same Pontiac Country Club course.

GAIN POINTS

It also gives WKHS 250 points to the Skippers' 350 in the All Sports race. The Township school needs only one more win in any spring duel with the Captains to clinch at least a share of the trophy.

Clarkston, despite a juggled lineup, rolled to its 10th tennis win in a row, while Waterford made it six straight and avenged an earlier loss in court action Wednesday.

The unbeaten Wolves switched their No. 1 doubles players with their top two singles players and lost only one match in five duels with Holly.

★ ★ ★

Duane Addis of the Broncos topped Tom Bullard in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, in the first singles. But Clarkston still clinched first place in the Wayne-Oakland League duel matches.

★ ★ ★

Waterford was a 5-2 loser to Rochester earlier but nipped the Falcons, 3-2, by winning two of the singles and the final doubles match. The skippers are now 6-3.

Negro School on Miami '68 Basketball Schedule

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—University of Miami officials took the biggest step toward athletic integration in southern history Wednesday.

Negotiations were completed for a basketball game with Florida A&M, the Negro institution at Tallahassee.

★ ★ ★

The contest, to be played Feb. 10 at Miami Beach Auditorium, will be the first regularly scheduled sports event between a big southern university and a Negro school.

Athletic directors Andy Gustafson of Miami and Jake Gaither of Florida A&M agreed to the game late Wednesday after receiving approval from their respective presidents.

Both athletic directors were enthusiastic about the future of sports rivalry between the schools.

HIGH POINT

"The status of Florida A&M's athletic program has reached a high point in American college sports," Gustafson said. "We feel they'll be a very worthy opponent and will be an attractive team on our basketball schedule."

Gaither said, "we're very pleased to start this athletic relationship with the University of Miami. We're looking forward to continuing the competition with Miami in future years."

University of Miami President Dr. Henry King Stanford said he was not anxious for the game with the Rattlers to be built up as a controversial "first."

"I am happy that the schedules of both institutions permit the beginning of what I hope will be an interesting series for both of us," he said.

Salmon Stock to Aid State Sports Fishing

LANSING (AP) — Planting of Chinook salmon, expected to provide spectacular sports fishing in Michigan, was started Wednesday by the State Conservation Commission.

The planting of 850,000 Chinooks will be completed by the end of the week.

The Salmon were raised from eggs obtained from Oregon at the Oden Hatchery in the northern Lower Peninsula.

The Chinook salmon are expected to grow as large as from 15 to 40 pounds when they reach maturity. Fishing for them will provide excellent sport, said Wayne Tody, chief of the Conservation Department fish division.

Previous plantings of Coho salmon have shown that the new species grow fat on alewives swarming in the Great Lakes.

BELOW CROTON

Some 300,000 fingerlings about three inches long were released Wednesday in the Muskegon River, just below Croton.

★ ★ ★

About 500,000 small salmon will be released later this week in the Little Manistee River, at Six Mile Bridge north of Stronach.

Both rivers connect with Lake Michigan.

The remaining 50,000 salmon will be planted this weekend in the Big Huron River, east of Skanee. The Big Huron connects with Lake Superior.

★ ★ ★

A few of the Chinook are expected to return to their rivers of origin in the fall of 1968. Some large adults can be expected in the rivers by 1969.

The main spawning runs are not expected until 1970 when the salmon reach maturity.

The State Conservation Department plans to ban commercial fishing for the Chinook, as it did for Coho salmon.

★ ★ ★

Sports fishing for the salmon will be allowed. Tentative plans are to make seven inches the legal limit for the salmon in streams and set a 10 inch limit on lake salmon.

Wild Pitch Produces Win for Waterford Rec Squad

Landon Morris scored on a wild pitch in the sixth inning last night to give Clyde's Wheel & Frame a 2-1 victory over McAnnally's Auto Sales (1-1) in Waterford Township softball action.

The speedy Morris scored the winner's first run in the second on a single, a steal of second, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly.

★ ★ ★

He walked in the sixth, stole second, went to third on a past ball and came home on Ted Wharry's wild pitch.

Bob Frasier went the distance for the winners (1-0) and hurled a three-hitter, and the fast-baller delivered the fly ball that brought Morris home in the second.

In a second game, Ken Morris collected three hits as Midget Bar (1-1) rolled past Waterford Merchants (0-1), 10-2.

A six-run uprising in the second featuring a two-run single by Duane Delling sewed up the decision. Gordon Hoeksma picked up three of the losers five hits.

★ ★ ★

Rain washed out tonight's action and the games will be played Sunday. Spencer Floor meets Buckner Finance at 5 p.m. and Day's Sanitary Service takes on Clarkston Appliance at 8:30.

Torres Looks for Knockout

NEW HOUSE (AP) — Jose Torres says he's "psychologically up" for his title fight with Dick Tiger and predicts he will knock out the Nigerian "within 10 rounds" next Tuesday night.

That's when the two veterans will meet in a return 15-rounder for the light heavyweight crown at Madison Square Garden.

Tiger, a 3-1 underdog, lifted the crown from the listless defender on a unanimous decision at the Garden, Dec. 16.

Despite the defeat, the 31-year-old Puerto Rican-born Torres has been made a 9-5 favorite over the 37-year-old Nigerian.

REPAIR SERVICE — San Francisco Giants' pitcher Gaylor Perry (36) points to a hole on the mound to a groundskeeper at Wrigley Field in Chicago where the Cubs won a 5-4 game. The umpire Tom Gorman asked for the crew to repair the hole, but the complaint did not help the Giants win the game.

Ralph Terry Among Cuts at Deadline

the Orioles and Curt Blefary in the outfield, and Baltimore was unable to trade him when other teams would not meet its price. He had only two singles in 13 at bats.

"If he fails to report," Dalton said, "He'll be placed on the inactive list."

★ ★ ★

Terry, 31, a 10-year veteran who starred for the New York Yankees in the 1962 World Series, was given his unconditional release by the New York Mets although he did not allow a run in two relief appearances of 3 1-3 innings.

Coleman, 32, a first baseman, was optioned to Buffalo after seven years with Cincinnati. He helped the Reds to the pennant in 1961 when he hit .287, had 26 homers and 87 runs batted in.

Jiminez, 28, a sensation with Kansas City in 1962 when he led the league part of the season, was returned to the minors by Pittsburgh despite his homer and double in six at-bats.

Buhl, 38, with 166 major league victories after a 6-8 season in 1966, was placed on waivers by Philadelphia in order to give him his release.

Here is a list of the cut-downs in the major leagues Wednesday:

National League

Cincinnati—Gordy Coleman, optioned to Buffalo; Aurelio Monteagudo conditionally sold to Indianapolis.

San Francisco—Cesar Gutierrez and Bob Barton optioned to Phoenix.

Philadelphia—Bob Buhl placed on waivers; Gary Wagner optioned to San Diego.

New York—Ralph Terry given unconditional release; Larry Stahl, Greg Goodsen and Jerry Kossman optioned to Jacksonville.

Pittsburgh—Manny Jimenez and Bill Short optioned to Columbus.

St. Louis—Ted Savage and Jim Cosman optioned to Tulsa.

American League

Cleveland—Vicente Romo, Buddy Booker and Willie Smith optioned to Portland. Jose Vidal recalled from Portland.

Detroit—Bill Monbouquette placed on waivers; Chris Cannizzaro optioned to Toledo.

Kansas City—Ed Charles traded to the Mets; Bob Duliba optioned to Vancouver; Wes Stock made a coach; Roberto Rodrigues and Sal Bando recalled from Vancouver.

New York—Bill Bryan sent outright to Syracuse; Lou Clinton sent outright to San Diego.

Baltimore—Mike Epstein optioned to Rochester; Bob Johnson sold to the Mets; John Miller sold to the Mets' Jacksonville club.

Boston—Russ Gibson released to Pittsfield; George Thomas placed on disabled list.

Washington—Casey Cox, Bob Chance and Jim French optioned to Hawaii.

Ex-Champ Gets Top Seed in N.C. Tennis Tourney

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Defending champion Ron Holmberg of Dallas, Tex., has been awarded the top seed in the third annual Charlotte Invitation Tennis Tournament, starting Thursday.

Holmberg rules as a slight favorite over an impressive field including last year's runner-up, Frank Froehling, and two former top-ranked players, Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson.

★ ★ ★

Wimbledon champion Billie Jean Moffitt King is the heavy favorite in the women's field which includes seven of the top 10 ranked players in the nation.

Eighteen-year-old Peaches Bartkowicz is seeded second, followed by defending champion Mary Ann Eisel and last year's runner-up, Donna Floyd Fales. Bartkowicz, Eisel and Fales are nationally ranked 5-6-7.

Discuss Playoff

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A possible playoff between the champions of the International Hockey League and the Eastern Hockey League next season will be discussed at the IHL meeting in Colorado Springs, Colo., opening today.

Advance Ducats on Sale in Area for Buick Open

Advance tickets are on sale at several volunteer agencies in the Pontiac area for the $100,000 Buick Open, Michigan's only major golf tournament this year.

The Open is June 8-11 over the redesigned course at Warwick Hills Golf & Country Club.

Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif., is reigning champion and will defend his 1966 title against the best of the pros on the PGA tour, with heavy competition from other past Buick Open champions such as Billy Casper ('58); Art Wall ('59); Mike Souchak ('60), Oakland Hills' new professional; Jack Burke Jr. ('61); Bill Collins ('62); and Julius Boros ('63).

The lare Tony Lema with back-to-back victories in 1964 and 1965 was the Open's only double champion.

The Open is a full week of PGA golf at Warwick Hills, with official practice rounds Monday and Tuesday, (June 5-6); the annual Pro-Am Wednesday (June 7), with $5,000 added purse for pros; and the $100,000 tournament Thursday through Sunday.

Advance tickets are printed in only $1 denomination with five to a book and fans will need one for admission Monday through Friday and two for Saturday and Sunday.

FREE PARKING

All admission prices include free parking.

The ducats are on sale locally at:

Pine Lake Country Club, Carl's Driving Range, Glenhurst Golf Couse, Community National Bank, Forest Lake Country Club, Royal Oak Golf Club, Waterford Hills Golf Club, Salem Hills Golf Course, Birmingham Country Club, North Hills Golf Course, Twin Beach Golf Course Lancaster Hills Golf Club, Highland Hills Golf Club, Pontiac Municipal Golf Club, Don Soper Driving Range (Royal Oak) and Pontiac Country Club.

Golf Event Is Cancelled

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ladies Professional Golf Association Wednesday announced cancellation of the $18,500 Glass City Classic tournament, scheduled for Aug. 11-13 in Toledo.

The LPGA said the event was canceled because a suitable course could not be obtained.

There was no word as to whether the tournament might be played in another city.

Atlanta, Los Angeles Boot Second Division Teams

By The Associated Press

Atlanta and Los Angeles jumped on last place Toronto and New York in the National Professional Soccer League and landed in second place in each division.

Right fullback Howard Mwikuta's goal broke a tie for Atlanta's 3-2 victory over Toronto Wednesday night and boosted the Chiefs into a tie for the runner-up spot in the East with Philadelphia with 23 points.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs started the night in fourth, but their victory moved them one point ahead of Baltimore and seven behind division-leading Pittsburgh.

Los Angeles stopped the New York Generals 2-0 before 4,830 in New York and moved ahead of California with 31 points, 16 behind St. Louis.

Mwikuta's 28-yard kick with 11:20 left broke a 2-2 deadlock before 3,560 fans in Atlanta, and his brilliant save seconds later preserved the triumph.

Toronto, 1-5, in last place in the West, took a 1-0 leadon Yanko Daucik's first-half goal, but Atlanta tied it minutes later on Emment Kapengwe's talley. Graham Newton and Daucik traded goals in the second half before Mwikuta connected.

Eli Durante and David Coskun scored for the Tors as they sank New York deeper into the East cellar with a 1-4 record. Blagoje Vidimic stopped the Generals with an outstanding performance in the goal.

Highland Lakes Ends Athletic Season

Highland Lakes campus of Oakland Community College completes its first full school year of inter-collegiate athletics today against Henry Ford CC at Dearborn.

The Highlanders Wednesday afternoon posted their first tennis win against outside opposition, topping Schoolcraft CC, 4-3, to end a four-match losing streak.

Highland Lakes (2-4) won three of the five singles matches, including a key 7-5, 7-9, 6-4 marathon victory by Gary Pachal of Walled Lake over Rich Maciejewski.

The two men also were involved in a three-set doubles duel that Schoolcraft captured. The Highlanders' other win this spring came against OCC's Auburn Hills campus in the opening match.

Expectant Wife Faints at Service for Italian Racer

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Mrs. Lorenzo Bandini collapsed momentarily over the coffin of her husband today as she attended a mass at the Princess Grace Hospital chapel.

Mrs. Bandini, who is expecting a child, went from her room in the hospital to the chapel for the mass, said by the Rev. Pietro Raggi.

At the end of the service, she went to the casket and embraced it, sobbing. Despite offers of aid, she raised herself up and walked from the chapel unaided.

Bandini, top driver for the Ferrari works, died Wednesday from effects of an accident Sunday during the Monaco Grand Prix. His car overturned and caught fire.

FIGHT RESULTS

BIRMINGHAM, England — Walter McGowan, Britain, outpointed Giancarlo Centa, France (8).

TOKYO — Musashi Nakano, 146¾, Japan, stopped Filipino Ravalo, 146¼, Philippines (8).

NEW YORK — Marcel Bizien, 148, Jersey City., N.J., outpointed Mike Cruz, 146, Puerto Rico (8).

Brother Rice Ousts Leader

Birmingham Squad Posts 5-0 Victory

Birmingham Brother Rice ousted University of Detroit High School from the First Division Central league lead Wednesday with a strong 5-0 blanking behind Mel Boomer.

The Warriors, now 5-3, received strong hitting for one of few times this season and catcher Dave Baughman figured in four of the five runs for the winners.

He doubled home Greg Gromek, who had singled, for the game's first run, then scored on all-county outfielder Mike Bowen's triple.

Baughman singled home Gromek (after his second single) in the fifth frame, then scored the Warriors' fifth run following a walk in the seventh.

Bowen had a single in the last inning rally, and Bill Tucker drove in the fourth run with a basehit. Boomer fanned five and scattered five in evening his record at 2-2.

CATCHER CONNECTS — Brother Rice backstop Dave Baughman ended batterymate Mel Boomer's frustration with a walk, single and double yesterday to account for four runs in a 5-0 victory. The win was just the second in four decisions for hurler Boomer who has only allowed four runs in tossing four complete games.

Cranbrook Victors in 2 Sports Events

Cranbrook won two of three sports outings Wednesday with only the Cranes' baseball squad having a rough time.

Cranbrook trimmed Grosse Pointe University School, 6-1, in tennis; the Cranes outran University of Detroit High, 65-52, in track; but Catholic Central Cranes (6-2) coasted through the GPUS's Rick Ferman, but the tral posted a 10-4 diamond win.

No. 1 singles player Jeff Dearth was beaten, 6-1, 6-2, by other visiting netters.

★ ★ ★

Cranbrook swept the 120-yard high hurdles behind Ralph Margulis' :15.7 clocking, and also had Kip Craig place first in the 180-lows in 14 seconds even. As usual, Ed Randle, the defending state Class B dash champ, took the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

BEST RELAY

Randle ran the 100 in :10.2 and the 220 in :23.4, plus anchored the winning 880-yard relay unit. Jim Longley, Craig, Bob Snyder and Randle had a 1:31.6 effort, their season's best. Mile runner Mike Koerner set a track record with a 4:26.2 timing.

The other first for Cranbrook was John Wallace's 46-2 shot put.

In baseball, two errors, a walk and two singles (including a run-producing safety by Sandy Heavenrich) boosted Cranbrook (3-9) into a three-run lead after one inning.

But Dan Mulvihill, with a double and a triple, and Dave Johnson, with three singles, paced a 14-hit attack that combined with five errors by the Cranes to produce nine runs in the last four innings.

Catholic Central	010 312 3—10	14 2
Cranbrook	300 001 0— 4	5 5

TARGOSS, Carol (5), HORNIAK (7) and Mulvihill; GOLDSMITH, Kangas (5) and Meier.

State Man Wins Shooting Contest

RENO, Nev. (AP) — L. F. Louchs of Charlotte, Mich., won the first day Class AA singles event of the Golden West Grand American Trap-shooting Tournament with a perfect string of shattered clay pigeons, despite poor shooting conditions.

Chilly wind gusts to 30 miles an hour marked the start of the 16th annual shoot for $1,500 in prizes.

Southfield Picked

DETROIT (AP) — Southfield has been selected as the site for the Northern Regional Little League Tournament in 1968, the suburb's mayor, James Clarkson, said Wednesday. Clarkson will serve as director for the 14-state tournament in late August.

Atlanta-Phils Split

3 Homers for Braves' Catcher

By The Associated Press

Joe Torre, whose home run output once went up with his weight, has found he didn't need the extra pounds after all.

The big Atlanta catcher slimmed down over the winter to around 205 pounds, about 10 below the weight he carried when he rose to National League stardom.

★ ★ ★

With three homers in the Braves' doubleheader split with the Phillies Wednesday, Torre showed that the streamlining hadn't hurt him a bit.

Torre knocked one over the leftfield stands in the first game, which Philadelphia won 4-3. He added two more in the nightcap won by the Braves 7-2. Hank Aaron also homered in each game.

★ ★ ★

When Torre first came up to In[illegible]er National League games Wednesday, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 2-1, Los Angeles the majors he weighed in at around 205 and not until he went up to 215 three years ago, did he really break loose in the home-run and batting average department.

Still, Torre's managers nagged at him to lose a few pounds and this winter he finally did it. Now with a total of seven homers, 18 runs batted in and a batting average of .277 and rising, he can forget about going off that diet.

Accent on Youth in Women's Golf

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — There is definitely a youthful look among the eight players still in competition today for the championship of the 52nd annual Women's Southern Golf Association Tournament.

A pair of the youngsters, 18-year-old Judy Jehle of Montgomery and Alabama state champion, Kathy Farrer of Decatur, a college student herself, will clash today. Miss Jehle eliminated defending titlist Nancy Roth Syms Tuesday.

Another match today sends the tournament's youngest player, 16-year-old Kaye Beard of Campbellsville, Ky., against former champion Mrs. Scott Probasco Jr. of Chattanooga, Tenn. Connie Day of Cleveland, Tenn., just 24 herself, meets another collegian, 20-year-old Jeanie Butler, of Harlingen Tex.

Slated Bout Is Postponed

GLACE BAY, N. S. (AP) — The Canadian middleweight title fight between champion Blair Richardson of South Bar, N. S. and challenger Jimmy Meilleur of Windsor, Ont., scheduled for Saturday night, was postponed indefinitely Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Promoter Gussie MacLellan said Richardson had suffered an attack of influenza.

topped Houston 5-1, in 10 innings, Cincinnati beat New York 7-4 and Chicago edged San Francisco 5-4.

★ ★ ★

Bob Veale went 8 2-3 innings for the Pirates and set the Cards down on just five hits. But the big right-hander walked two men in the ninth and needed Elroy Face to register the final out. Willie Stargell hit a two-run homer for the Bucs.

The Dodgers and Astros were knotted 1-1 in the 10th when with two out Willie Davis singled, stole second, came in on Ron Hunt's single and the rush was on. The other Dodger runs came in on Jim Lefebvre's double, a balk and a single by John Roseboro.

THIRD WIN

Floyd Robinson, John Edwards and Tony Perez each knocked in two runs as Milt Pappas won his third game for the Reds. Ken Boyer got his 2,000th career hit and Ed Kranepool and Al Luplow homered for the Mets.

Billy Williams' two-run homer made the difference for the Cubs and Kenny Holtzman picked up his third victory against no defeats, though he needed relief help from Dick Radatz. Ken Henderson and Jack Hiatt homered for the Giants.

Robin Roberts Beats Bushes for New Chance in Majors

READING, Pa. (NEA)—Robin Roberts is in the Eastern League, with its bus jumps to Williamsport and Waterbury and Pawtucket and its $4 a day meal money.

Last year, he pitched the opening game for Houston in the Astrodome. The Astros released him in mid-season and he caught on with the Chicago Cubs, who released him when the season was over.

At the age of 40, Roberts has exiled himself to the middle minors in an effort to prove to others what he says he knows—that he can still pitch in the big leagues. It is an obsession with him.

He wrote letters to seven clubs over the winter—"I picked first-division clubs," he says. "I figured the others had to go with young pitchers"—and none were interested. Richie Ashburn, his old Phillies Whiz Kid playmate, now a telecaster, talked it up for him around the Florida training camps, but struck out.

"Anybody who gets cut by clubs like the Astros and the Cubs in one season has to be in trouble — I can understand that," Roberts said.

"Paul Richards mentioned to Ashburn that if I am that convinced I can pitch, I should prove it in the minors. So I went to Bob Carpenter, my old boss, as a last resort. I said I was willing to pitch anywhere. He was good enough to make this spot for me in Reading. I have no other 'deal' with the Phillies."

So now it's the Reading Phillies for Roberts, after 19 seasons in the big show. The only other time he pitched in the minors was when he broke in with Wilmington in 1948. After 11 games, the Phillies promoted him.

He doesn't need the money and the few victories he needs to reach 300 in the big leagues aren't on his mind, he says. Roberts was a $50,000-a-year man at his Philadelphia peak. Now he is working for $900 a month.

CONFIDENT

"I just know I still have a big league arm," he says, with almost maddening confidence.

"Last season, I was fresh off an operation for bone chips in my right elbow. Howie Pollet and other baseball guys told me it would take a year for the arm to regain its strength. I didn't believe them; now I know they were right. Whitey Ford is finding this out. I found it out just by working out over the winter.

"I haven't thrown this well in years. I need a certain wrist action — sort of a flip — to make my fast ball effective. It makes the ball tail, in or out or down. Even I don't know how it will go, but I do know it's tough to get a bat on. I lost it somewhere along the line, until a couple of years ago with Baltimore when I pitched four straight complete games. Then the wrist action disappeared again — I guess it was the bone-chip thing forming. Anyhow, the old flip is back."

The old automatic 20-game Philadelphia winner doesn't intend to tarry long in Class AA.

"I'll give it 5-10 starts," he said. "Then if the majors aren't interested, I'll pack it in. I'm no minor league pitcher and I'm no Japanese League pitcher. I'm a big league pitcher with a big league arm when it's right. And it's right."

★ ★ ★

Roberts has adjusted well to the bumps of Eastern League traveling and infields.

"He fits in like the pro he is — no problem," commented Frank Lucchesi, the five o'clock-shadowed little guy who manages Reading.

"He joined us in Florida only two weeks before our opener. He asked four or five days to train by himself, then said he was ready to join the gang and do everything they did.

Seventh Stop on LPGA Tour

DALLAS (AP) — The Ladies Professional Golf Association tour makes it seventh stop of the season at the $16,000 Dallas Civitan Open today and the winner could be any one of a dozen girls.

Time was — and that was around a decade ago — when the tour winners for a year totaled less than half that number, notable Patty Berg, Baby Zaharias, Louise Suggs, Patty Jameson and Betsy Rawls.

★ ★ ★

In the six tournaments this year there have been five different winners. Kathy Whitworth has won two, but is only the fourth leading money winner.

The 72-hole Civitan opens over the par 71, 6,177-yard Glen Lakes Country Club course with 49 professionals entered, although one, Carol Mann, is doubtful.

The field includes a 10-year-old girl, Beverly Klass of Woodland Hills, Calif., making her professional debut. She won her first money, $31.25, when her team tied for fourth place in the pro-amateur. She shot a 92.

Five Pros Added to Net Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five of the world's best professional tennis players have been added to the field for the $25,000 Madison Square Garden invitation tournament to be held June 7-10, it was announced Wednesday.

Scheduled to appear are Earl Butch Buchholz of St. Louis, Mike Davies of Wales, Pierre Barthes of France, Andres Gimeno of Spain and Luis Ayala of Chile.

Workouts Scheduled

Teamsters Local 614 Class A baseball team will hold workouts Saturday and Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The squad will practice at Jaycee Field No. 1 from 10 a.m. until noon Saturday and at Pontiac Northern from noon until 2 p.m. Sunday.

Bill Being 'Hodagged,' Dem Laments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief House sponsor of the Senate-passed congressional reorganization bill suspects someone is trying to "hodag" his pet project.

Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., expressed misgivings to the House Rules Committee as it started considering a proposal for a mandatory annual recess of Congress during August.

★ ★ ★

"I suspect," he told his rules committee colleagues Wednesday, "that someone is trying to hodag the reorganization bill."

"To what?" asked Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss.

★ ★ ★

"To hodag it — pilfer its more attractive provisions and drop the others," Madden replied. He added that Colmer, as a Mississippian, ought to know what hodag means.

NEW WORD

Colmer never heard of the word, nor, apparently, had anyone else present.

★ ★ ★

A hodag, Webster's dictionary says, is "a mythical animal reported chiefly from Wisconsin and Minnesota, noted for its ugliness, lateral horns and hooked tail and reputed to be outstanding in both ferocity and melancholy."

★ ★ ★

Madden suspects, he said later, that the reorganization bill may resemble a hodag before Congress gets through with it, although it presumably would lose much of its ferocity in the legislative melting pot.

The House already has enacted separate legislation creating a committee on standards of official conduct for House members, officials and employes. That was one major provision of the Senate-passed reorganization bill.

The proposed August recess called for in a separate bill was lifted bodily from the reorganization measure.

★ ★ ★

"Apparently," Madden said in an interview Wednesday, "they are going to act on the bonanzas and goodies in the over-all bill and let the rest of it die."

Some of the bonanzas still in the bill call for additional employes for members of Congress and additional money allowances for congressional travel.

★ ★ ★

Not so attractive to many members is a provision taking the power to appoint postmasters out of the hands of congressmen and giving it to the postmaster general. The President formally nominates the postmasters but the congressmen have the big say in who gets the jobs. There have been several hearings but no sign of action.

House Resolves to Play Senators

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — It was sunny outdoors and the North Carolina House of Representatives passed a resolution challenging state senators to a softball game the night of May 24.

The House resolution claimed the senators "were out of condition."

Goats Are Sent to Ease Hunger

OMAK, Wash. (AP) — An Omak minister is attempting to help ease the world's hunger with a herd of goats.

The Rev. Paul Ashbrook of Omak Methodist Church has begun a program to send young goats to countries where their milk and protein are needed by children.

"A goat will live in places where a cow will starve to death," he said.

GOATS SENT

The minister has sent goats to Korea, Mexico and India and is preparing to send four kids to Korea on an experimental flight to see how the animals react to an air lift.

Wednesday's State Capital Happenings

By The Associated Press

THE GOVERNOR

Appointed Frank Padzieski of Dearborn to the State Employment Security Commission to succeed George N. Higgins of Ferndale, whose term expired.

THE STATE BOARD OF CANVASSERS

Delayed certification of petitions to put the Daylight Saving Time issue on the November 1968 election ballot until at least May 24.

THE SENATE

Approved moving up the House deadline for floor action on most bills in their house of origin from May 12 to May 26.

THE HOUSE

Passed:

HB2178, Smit. Permit local government to take special census to determine its share of state tax rebates.

HB3035, Cawthorne. Delete requirement carnival ride inspector must be engineer.

HB2565, Faxon. Lower legal smoking age to 18.

HB3009, Allen. Permit full-time work permits for 17-year-olds.

HB3000, Strange. Permit electronic voting devices.

HB2104, Del Rio. Forbid non profit hospital service corporations to enter contracts with hospitals which discriminate.

HB2105, Del Rio. Make it a misdemeanor for realtor to refuse to show listed property because of race, creed, color or national origin.

HB2156, Jewett. Require local health officer to test water quality at bathing beaches; empower him to ask circuit court for injunction closing a beach.

SB425, Beadle. Require a school district to levy more than seven mills before borrowing from the state to repay its qualified bonds.

Sales, Use Tax Receipts Drop

LANSING (AP) — Slumping 1966 auto sales caused a drop in sales and use tax receipts for the year, Secretary of State James Hare said Wednesday.

He said receipts dipped from $106.5 million to $97.6 million.

Hare said total revenue to his department for 1966 topped $205 million.

Revenue from vehicle licensing jumped more than $4 million last year, Hare reported, with commercial licensing revenue up more than $2 million and trailers up $1.5 million. Funds from motorcycle plates rose from $265,000 in 1965 to $356,000 last year.

★ ★ ★

Tax revenues collected by the department are used for construction and maintenance of roads. The state's general and school aid funds receive some of this revenue.

Bodyguard Is Promoted

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's chauffeur-bodyguard was promoted Wednesday to lieutenant by the Detroit Police Department.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. John Darnell was suspended for two weeks last September and passed over for promotion when his name was found in the "little black book" of a restaurant owner accused of attempting to bribe police.

★ ★ ★

Darnell was one of 34 officers whose promotions were announced by Police Commissioner Ray Girardin.

HEW Merges Rights Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration has taken enforcement of federal desegregation guidelines for schools out of the hands of the Office of Education, the target of heavy criticism from Southern lawmakers.

But Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare told a news conference Wednesday that the change — asked by Congress a year ago — will not affect prosecution of the Civil Rights Act in either schools or hospitals.

"We will continue to go just as fast as we have," Gardner told newsmen. "We're already doing as much as we can."

The consolidation calls for all civil rights enforcement to stem from a newly created division inside HEW and directly responsible to Gardner. About 278 enforcement personnel now scattered around five agencies inside the huge Cabinet department will be transferred.

HEADS NEW OFFICE

Gardner named F. Peter Libassi, his special assistant for civil rights, to head the new office and took special pains to praise Harold Howe II, U. S. commissioner of education, a frequent target for congressional complaints during the past year.

The consolidation move is in no way "a reflection on his performance," Gardner said of Howe. "He has my complete confidence."

Howe, who attended the news conference, said his agency now would concentrate on other education issues facing the nation.

A House Appropriations subcommittee issued the call for consolidation last spring, arguing the move would result in more economic use of available funds.

But Gardner and other officials acknowledged Wednesday that the reorganization, to go into effect by the end of summer, would not save money. In fact, the HEW secretary said, civil rights enforcement units are seeking $5.43 million from Congress this year, up $2 million from last year.

Howe estimated Wednesday that $25 million in federal funds has been denied thus far to noncomplying school districts in the South.

Gardner and others refused to say whether the organization was aimed at reducing pressure from Capitol Hill and perhaps ensuring passage of the heavier budget request.

Libassi recently told Congress he objected, in part, to the reorganization because "the question of the termination of federal funds, that initial decision, is the one on which we felt we need the expertise of the educators and the health people."

Honors Planned for Tourist Group

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Members of the West Michigan Tourist Association, which is 50 years old this year, will be honored by the Grand Rapids Lions Club May 23.

John C. Beukema of Muskegon, the only surviving charter member of the association, will be among the guests.

The association was formed in April 1917 at Grand Rapids as the first organized tourist promotion agency in the United States.

Soviet Agent Muffs Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet citizen Vadim Isakov, allegedly on a mission in the United States to buy scientific equipment for his country, apparently returned to Moscow with a red face and mission decidedly unaccomplished.

According to testimony Wednesday before a House subcommittee on Un-American Activities, Isakov was versed in the secret agent's world of big cash offers and clandestine meetings with his contacts. But when it came to getting the goods, he ran into difficulty.

Leonard I. Epstein, vice president of Trans-American Machinery & Equipment Corp. of Paterson, N.J., told the subcommittee Isakov tried in October 1965 to buy accelerometers from his firm. They measure the pull of gravity on a vehicle.

The devices could be of help to Soviet scientists trying to make soft landings on the moon.

Epstein says Isakov referred mysteriously to a customer in Europe. Cash was no problem, the Soviet reportedly said, as he organized secret meetings with Epstein in a car and a store in a big shopping center to discuss the purchase of the accelerometers and other equipment costing up to $300,000.

But Epstein said he got suspicious, calling the FBI and was told to play along.

Then the secret got out. In January 1966 a New York newspaper reported that Isakov tried to buy restricted equipment.

Fires Decline in Waterford

Thirty-four of the 51 fires extinguished by the Waterford Township Fire Department last month were of the brush and grass variety, according to a report revealed yesterday.

Township fire fighters also were called on to quench seven building blazes and three motor vehicle fires. Seven fires were classified miscellaneous.

Last month's 51 fires were four less than the number reported the previous April, but 11 more than were responded to in March of this year.

Through four months this year, township firemen have responded to 144 fires compared with 156 for the same period of 1966.

★ ★ ★

Counting fires, rescue and emergency runs, false alarms, miscellaneous and investigations, township fire fighters responded to 73 alarms last month. This compares with 82 alarms the previous April and 64 in March of this year.

LOWER TOTAL

Number of calls responded to the first four months this year was 235, compared with 257 for the same period last year.

★ ★ ★

Direct fire damage last month totaled $48,100, raising the amount to $80,058 for the first four months of 1967. Fire damage last year after four months stood at $69,620.

U.S. Artist in Russia to Accept Prize

MOSCOW (AP) — Rockwell Kent, the American artist, arrived in the Soviet Union today to receive a Lenin Peace Prize. Pravda saluted him for "his demonstrations against the dirty U. S. war in Vietnam."

Kent and his wife arrived in Leningrad on the Soviet liner Alexander Pushkin.

★ ★ ★

They were welcomed by Vladimir S. Kemenev, vice president of the Soviet Academy of Arts, and representatives of the Lenin peace committee.

The Kents are to come to Moscow for the presentation of the prize. Soviet authorities declined to say when this would be made.

RED APPROVED

The winners of the annual Lenin Peace Prizes were announced April 30. They are given for actions and attitudes approved by the Soviet Communist party.

Other winners this year included Pastro Martin Niemoeller, a West German religious leader, and Mexican artist David Alfaro Siqueiros.

The prize consists of a diploma, a gold medal with a portrait of Lenin and 25,000 rubles —$27,775.

Kent was praised in the Communist party newspaper Pravda as an "eminent American artist and public figure, an artist whose message is always addressed to people, demonstrating great warmth and respect for man as worker and fighter."

Touring Reds Hit Svetlana Defection

DETROIT (UPI) — The defection of Mrs. Svetlana Stalin, daughter of the late Soviet premier, to the United States had a 'certain element of treason in it," a group of visiting Russian authors said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The group of three authors, touring this country as part of the International Visitors Program, said Mrs. Stalin's defection has had a definite negative impression in the Soviet Union.

"She is an unfortunate woman and I feel sorry for her," said Viktor Sergeyevich Rozov, a writer from Moscow.

"In her interview in this country she said she wanted to express herself," Rozov said through an interpreter. "She could have written as well in the Soviet Union."

★ ★ ★

Accompanying Rozov were Miss Frida Lurye, a consultant on contemporary American literature, and Danill Cranin, a writer from Leningrad. They have been touring this country since April 26, gathering impressions and meeting with their American counterparts.

SPIRITUAL CRISIS

Rozov said he knew nothing of Mrs. Stalin's literary talents because she had never tried to have anything published in the Sovie Union.

Being the daughter of the late dictator, "as she grew older, she experienced a spiritual crisis," Rozov said. "The press will make a great deal of noise about her. But, she will not change anything in the world."

The three were pressed about American-Soviet relations because of the Vietnamese war but were reluctant to express a strictly literary viewpoint.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot speak only as literary people." said Miss Lyre, the lone member of the group able to speak English.

U.S. AGGRESSOR

"In general, people of the Soviet Union consider the United States in the position of an aggressor," Rozov said.

Teamster Chief Is Back in Jail

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa was back in Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary today after a judge denied his fourth appeal for a new trial on a jury tampering charge.

★ ★ ★

U.S. District Judge Frank W. Wilson denied in Chattanooga, Tenn., Wednesday the appeal which had been based on an allegation by Hoffa and three codefendants that the federal government used electronic eavesdropping and wiretapping during their trials at Chattanooga in 1964.

Tart Watcher Provokes Strike

SMETHWICK, England (AP) — Supplies of pies to shops throughout the English Midlands were threatened today because Susan Phillips is tired of watching the tarts go by.

More than 750 workers went on strike in sympathy with Susan and stopped production at one of Britain's biggest bakeries.

For three years Mrs. Phillips has kept an eye on 90,000 jam tarts an hour moving along a conveyor belt. Her job was to spot below-standard tarts before they reached the ovens.

After three years of constant tart-watching, Mrs. Phillips complained of headaches and asked for a transfer to another department. The management refused. Thus the strike.

"These tarts come at me on 120 trays a minute," said Mrs. Phillips, 46. "The strain on my eyes is terrible."

★ ★ ★

The manager of Scribbans Kemp Bakery, which turns out 1.5 million cakes, tarts and confections a day, refused to negotiate until the strikers return to work.

Murder Trial Begins in State

HILLSDALE (UPI) — Hillsdale County Prosecutor James Parker yesterday termed the slaying of Mrs. Maude Bonsteel, 83, "the most heinous crime ever committed in the history of the city of Hillsdale."

Parker made the statement in opening remarks at the trial of Wilfred Gary Rodgers, 20, charged with first-degree murder in the death of Mrs. Bonsteel, his great-aunt.

The woman was found Jan. 22, her head crushed with a blunt instrument and a three-pring fork stuck in her abdomen.

"She was a poor unfortunate old woman who was the victim of a savage and vicious attack that was the most henious crime ever committed in the history of the city of Hillsdale," Parker told the Circuit Court jury.

"And I intend to prove that the murder was perpetrated by Wilfred Gary Rodgers," he said.

Rifle Proven in Viet Joins Army Array

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lightweight M16 rifle, battle-proven in Vietnam, has been designated a full-fledged member of the Army's weaponry array.

"Lightweight, fast-firing rugged and hard-hitting, it has demonstrated its versatility and effectiveness in combat," the Pentagon said Wednesday in announcing the M16 has been named a standard service weapon.

★ ★ ★

The heavier M14, which replaced the World War II M1, will remain the standard weapon for troops stationed in Europe. Weighing just over eight pounds—two more than the M16—the M14 fires the standard 7.62mm cartridge of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A two-year study showed that while the M14 excels at distances of 300 meters or more, the M16 is "equal or superior at shorter ranges where targets are usually engaged," the Pentagon said.

The M16, which has been tested in Vietnam combat the past two years, fires a 5.56mm round similar to a 22-caliber slug. About 300,000 M16s already are used by Army troops, mostly in Vietnam.

Pupils Get Schooling in Justice

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Judge Temple Morgett of Magistrate Court looked down from his bench sternly. "Forty cents and five days in jail," he pronounced.

The defendant, Ronnie Shaw, didn't blink an eye. The courtroom of his peers gasped at the severity of the sentence.

"If you please, your honor," defense attorney Robert Hines pleaded, "the defendant had been looking at a pretty girl and was under the influence of a bottle of soda pop.

"I know the charge is serious, judge, but he's a pretty good boy; and he makes very good grades."

RELEASED

The judge relented, and released Ronnie "on good behavior" from the charge of exceeding the speed limit-for tricycles.

Ronnie is 11, and the trial was all in fun to give fourth and fifth grade classes at Benton School a demonstration in court procedure.

Watts Self-Help Project Hailed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twice a week, 30 Negro high school seniors from Watts gather in a laboratory at the University of California at Los Angeles to work on a $1-million business.

It could keep them busy the rest of their lives.

★ ★ ★

The teen-agers have joined a UCLA engineering class in a unique self-help project quietly hailed as the first to capture the Watts area's imagination since the summer rioting of 1965.

A scale model of their dream — a 7½-acre community amusement center — is taking shape in the laboratory.

DO OWN DESIGNING

The youngsters, working with the student engineers, has designed and planned the center. They will help build and operate it, and will even be stockholders.

Called the Watts Amusement Center, Inc., the project was inspired by Dr. Morris Asimow, UCLA engineering professor, who feels pragmatic capitalism can bring economic independence and dignity to depressed areas more effectively than sympathy and handouts.

★ ★ ★

Few physical scars remain in Watts as reminders of the bloody rioting of August 1965. With government help, the neighborhood business centers have been rebuilt. Damaged homes have been repaired and painted. A beautification committee donated 1,000 trees.

But most civil rights leaders complain the government largesse did little to remove the racial resentment and hurt.

SHOULD WORK

Asimow, 61, wants to deal with this. He has been able to turn sharecroppers into shareholders in the backward reaches of New Guinea and Brazil and sees no reason why it cannot be done in Watts.

"Anywhere there is a town there are merchants," he says, "and that means local capital. The idea is to make visible the opportunities for investment and provide the technical know-how."

AP Wirephoto

CROSS-COUNTRY PEDDLER — Realization of a 30-year dream is near for Vernon L. Leifheit, 48, of Hamilton, Ohio, who will leave San Diego, Calif. May 14 on a 2,900-mile trip to Atlantic City, N. J. The Hamilton toolmaker, who has been in training for eight months, says it will take him 30-35 days, averaging 100 miles a day, on his 10-speed super sport bicycle.

★ ★ ★

Each year, Asimow gives his senior students a practical introduction to the workaday world of engineering by assigning them the job of planning homes, factories and other building projects.

On one of his forays into Latin America, his students helped plan and design six factories for Brazil.

SOMETHING LASTING

It was while casting about for such class homework last year that Asimow decided to build something lasting for Watts. He had recently gained a summer grant for one of his top graduate students, Fred Slaughter, a lifelong resident of Watts and former captain of the UCLA basketball team.

Slaughter, 25, did much of the groundwork on the project before leaving to work for a law degree at Columbia University in New York.

They met with various business and youth groups in the Negro community to discuss possible enterprises.

Guy Miller, one of the nation's top Negro sculptors, was among the leaders contacted. He is a director of one of the 18 teen posts in Watts set up through the Office of Economic Opportunity after the 1965 riots.

IT CAUGHT

"We described our program to him and it caught," said Asimow.

Miller, 57, had criticized previous efforts to salve the sores of racial unrest in Watts.

★ ★ ★

Now Miller had a ready store of youthful talent and enthusiasm at his Studio 103 teen post, so-called because his programs mostly dwelt on art, drama and photography.

★ ★ ★

Teen-agers from four high schools set up committees to conceive a project for Asimow and his student engineers.

AUTO WONDERLAND

They came up with an automotive wonderland, bristling with midget car race-tracks and drag strips, a build-it-yourself go-cart shop and including a swimming pool, canopied dance pavilion, skating rink and hot dog stands.

Said Miller: "The amusement center is the first project brought into Watts from the outer community to be warmly received.

★ ★ ★

Talks are under way with a railroad to buy the necessary land. Asimow hopes supplies and materials will be donated.

"If we get 50 or 60 businessmen to clear their warehouses of unneeded materials," he says, "that alone will put it over."

SHARES WILL BE SOLD

To raise money, shares in the corporation will be sold throughout southeast Los Angeles. Loans will be floated through commercial banks and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

★ ★ ★

And Asimow has hopes of getting a $200,000 grant from the federal government, should Congress approve the $75 million President Johnson wants funneled into the nation's big cities to provide jobs for teenagers this summer.

Opening lead—♣K

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

With a combined age of just over 50, Mike Lawrence and Lew Stansby are the youngest top pair playing bridge. They won the Open Team of Four in San Francisco in 1965 so this year's Vanderbilt win was their second national title.

JACOBY

Like the rest of their team they are aggressive bidders as may be evidenced by this slam reached in one of the early matches.

Mike's jump to two no-trump was a very slight overbid and Lew never stopped until he had Mike in six diamonds.

The contract is a good one. Without a club lead it is almost a sure thing. Even with the club lead it makes easily if the trump finesse works. As you can see the trump finesse isn't going to work but Mike found another line of play to bring home the bacon.

He won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Then he studied the hand for quite awhile. There is no extra bonus for making a slam quickly.

His next play was a diamond to his ace. It looked as if West would have all missing high cards and maybe that king of diamonds would be a singleton.

When the king of diamonds failed to drop Mike went after the spade suit. He played his king of spades, led the ten of spades and finessed dummy's jack. The jack held and the ace provided a discard of the losing club.

Of course, this line of play had risked a two trick set but it is a pretty good principle of play to go all out to make a slam any time you have bid it.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Clear communication lines. Be sure of directions, messages. Tendency toward confusion today does exist. Know this — take proper precautions. Then you save time, tempers, money.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Not wise to mix money matters and emotions today. Argument could ensue unless you check tendency to act on impulse. Analyze actions, motives. Be especially considerate of young persons.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Family friction likely unless you are diplomatic. Some information you receive is less than accurate. Know this and withhold final judgment. Circumstances due to turn in your favor.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Indirect approach gets results. No time to force issues. Obtain valid hint from GEMINI message. Study meanings, indications. Read between the lines. Hidden factors important.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Friends may not be too practical concerning money affairs. Rely upon your own judgment. Some today encourage extravagance — with your possessions. Be realistic. Tighten reins!

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Strive for greater independence of thought, action. You recently had burden lifted. Now you have greater freedom. Use it wisely! Agreement with one in authority favored in evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): No day to battle those who command heavy weapons. You get your way through diplomacy rather than force. One who taught you in past could make reappearance. Be grateful!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Some of your beliefs may be shaken. Turn this into opportunity to be creative. Changes are not necessarily adverse. It will do you good to move out of pattern or rut. Celebrate occasion wisely!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Don't sign agreements unless green light is given. Means don't exceed actual authority. If you take things for granted there may be difficulty. Show proper respect for superiors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Day features opportunity for CREATIVE THINKING. Involves revision of some pet theories. Obtain hint from SCORPIO message. Member of opposite sex requires PERSONAL ATTENTION.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Emotions appear to dominate logic. Avoid basing actions on impulse. Accent the positive. Those close to you are puzzled by some of your attitudes. Elucidate . . . make yourself clear.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Straighten out disputes, legal contradictions in connection with home, property, pet projects. Be sure. Obtain sense of security by checking, consulting experts. Be thorough!

★ ★ ★

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are versatile, have sense of humor . . . and current cycle promises chance to show off basic abilities. Check details before making radical changes.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for GEMINI, CANCER, LEO. Special word to AQUARIUS: If you understand yourself . . . others will follow suit.

Ask the Draft Board About Score on Test

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON — Many of you young men who took the Selective Service qualification test for draft deferment to attend college, are puzzled, I find, about how you did and what the results mean.

This test, given periodically at 500 testing centers across the country, is designed to predict a student's ability to do college work.

It contains 150 multiple-choice questions, to measure a student's reading comprehension, the range of his vocabulary and his ability to interpret data in the forms of charts, graphs and tables. Also, it includes short mathematical problems.

To qualify for undergraduate study deferment you must grade at least 70; about 80 per cent of those who take the test do so. To qualify for deferment as a graduate student a score of 80 is required.

★ ★ ★

To find out what your score was, ask your draft board, after about six weeks.

NOT AUTOMATIC

A good score doesn't mean automatic deferment. In classifying you, your draft board uses this data in connection with other information. Also, the board must measure you against other eligibles.

For those of you in college, your standing in school is a factor. It's up to you to ask your college to send this information to your draft board. Some colleges refuse to do so, and that may handicap the student.

Any deferment is good only for one year, so a person's classification may change many times.

★ ★ ★

There is strong sentiment in Congress to do away both with the qualification test and with asking the colleges to provide class standings. Proposals range from deferring all students in good standing to deferring none.

HOLDING OFF TESTS

Selective Service is holding off on further tests, waiting to see what Congress will decide. Chances are the big decision won't be nailed down in time to affect those going to college next fall.

Another puzzle is what to do when the local board gives 1A to somebody who figures he has a 4F disability.

There is the appeal process — a man has 30 days in which to appeal to the local board. Then there are higher appeals. If there is new evidence of disability, a man can ask his draft board to reconsider his classification.

★ ★ ★

The physical standards set by the Army, the only service now using the draft, have been lowered in recent months. But even after a draft board gives a man a passing physical mark, the Army gives him a final physical, and the rejection rate is still running high.

AFTER SIX-STORY FALL — Thirteen-month-old Michael Conlan Jr., his arm in a cast and his back elevated with a sling, is caressed by Mrs. Conlan, his mother, in Philadelphia's Children's Hospital yesterday where he appeared headed for recovery after a six-floor tumble from a midtown apartment last Saturday. Police said the boy toddled from his living room, squeezed through an iron railing and fell to wooden steps below.

It Even Has Subtitles

Latest Thing in Gaps---the 'Space Gap'

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The latest "gap" announced by the State Department to join the ranks of the missile, weapons and credibility gaps is the "space gap."

What's more, according to Robert F. Packard, director of the State Department's Office of outer Space Affairs, the space gap even has a couple of subgaps.

One of these, obviously, is the technology gap. A country such as Chad, for example, is hardly capable of sending its own astronauts to the moon.

The other subgap is the "awareness gap," which simply means that a country whose technology has not been scurrying along with the kick from a moon race doesn't know what it's missing.

Closing these gaps is important to international cooperation, Packard told several hundred space scientists at the Goddard Memorial Symposium here, but it is not always the best choice.

"We must resist the temptation," he warned, "to encourage an undue involvement in space activities by countries whose greater needs lie elsewhere."

Packard compared the exploration with space today with the voyages of Christopher Columbus to the New World and of Henry the Navigator's sea captains around the Cape of Good Hope and into the Indian Ocean.

These voyages "enhanced the prestige and authority of the countries involved," he said and produced "changes which could not conceivably have been imagined by the decision-makers who launched them." But, "they also led to three centuries of bitter international conflict from which we are emerging only now."

★ ★ ★

"Less of an interest in competitive spectaculars" may follow the initial lunar landings, Packard speculated, adding that the space gap will probably begin to close when more countries get involved in space research.

"Surely," he said "there will be an increase in the number of countries engaged in space and space-related programs, with a parallel increase in the interdependence of their efforts."

Spring Snowed In

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — "It was a short spring," a Helena resident said Wednesday, standing in eight inches of snow. "And what happened to summer?"

Jazz Comes of Age in the Soviet Union

TALLIN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Five years ago the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda denounced jazz as "screeched out hysterical notes" sounding like "a streetcar racing around corners."

Four years ago, Nikita Khrushchev said jazz was "the kind of music that gives you a feeling of nausea and a pain in the stomach."

★ ★ ★

Three years ago denunciations of jazz as a corrupting, bourgeois influence were still heard. But Soviet youths kept playing it anyway, often in secret.

Two years ago they finally won official approval of jazz.

Tonight, Soviet jazz comes of age with the opening of "the first world jazz festival in the Soviet Union" — as the Soviet press describes it — in this capital of Soviet Estonia on the Baltic Sea.

U.S. MUSICIANS

It is expected to run four days and to include performances by jazz combos from the United States, Britain, Sweden, Finland, Eastern Europe and cities throughout the Soviet Union.

Although the program is still unpublished, the Charles Lloyd quartet from the United States and Monty Sunshine's combo from Britain are among those expected to perform.

Also expected is Willis Conover, heard here for a decade on the Voice of America introducing jazz numbers on his "Music USA" program.

It was largely from the Voice of America and the British Broadcasting Corp. that Soviet jazz buffs got their start. With Western jazz records, sheet music and technique books unavailable in the Soviet Union, Russian jazz musicians taped foreign short-wave broadcasts. The tapes were replayed until the arrangements were transcribed for the musicians to practice.

American jazz musicians who have toured the Soviet Union and joined with Russians in informal jam sessions have expressed respect for the self-taught Soviet performers.

Soviet authorities have been trying to foster a home-grown variety of jazz. But what is called "Soviet-style jazz" resembles swing and the big-band sound of the 1930s and 1940s in America.

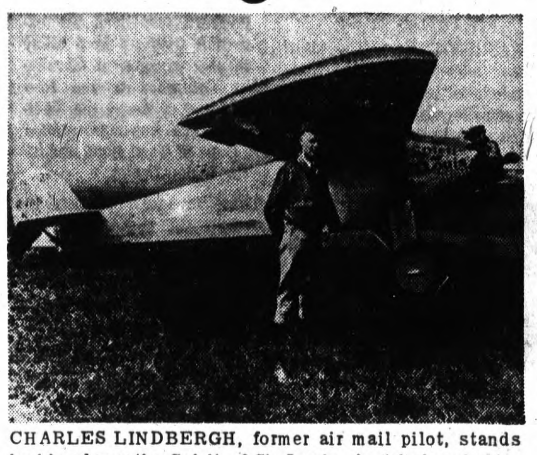
After 40 Years

The 'Lone Eagle' Still Active, Silent

FORTY years ago, on May 20, 1927, Charles A. Lindbergh, in his plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, became the first aviator to fly solo, nonstop across the Atlantic. The trip, from Curtiss Field, Long Island, New York, to Le Bourget Airport near Paris took 33½ hours, and made Lindbergh a national hero, affectionately called "Lucky Lindy" and "the Lone Eagle."

After the kidnaping and murder of his young son, Lindbergh largely retreated from public invasion of his private life. He continues to lead an active life, but guards the anonymity he now has achieved.



CHARLES LINDBERGH, former air mail pilot, stands by his plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, just before beginning his historic, 33½-hours-in-the-air flight from Curtiss Field, N.Y., to Le Bourget Airport, France, the first solo crossing of the Atlantic from west to east.

THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS takes off and Lindbergh recalls, "The wheels leave the ground — full flying speed — the controls taut, alive straining. Now I have to make it — there's no alternative. It'll be close but the margin has shifted to my side." When he arrived in France, Lindbergh said, "Well, I made it."

VICTIM — Curly haired Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., shortly before he was kidnapped March 1, 1932, from his parents' home at Hopewell, N.J. On May 12, the body of the 19-month-old baby was found in a shallow grave five miles away. Four years later, April 3, 1936, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was executed for the crime.

SPEAKER — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh went before major radio network microphones in Washington Sept. 15, 1939, to urge Americans to keep out of the war in Europe.

PROMOTED — Charles A. Lindbergh, left, takes the oath for his new rank, brigadier general, from Army Secretary Harold Talbott at the Pentagon on April 7, 1954.

CONSULTANT — Charles A. Lindbergh, in dark suit, stands with a Douglas Aircraft official near a "Thor" intermediate range ballistic missile prior to a test launch Oct. 3, 1957. Lindbergh often is consulted on the missile program.

Bonanza for Public? Not Government TV

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Senate Commerce Committee recently held a series of hearings on a bill to create a "public television corporation."

If and when the measure is enacted, and if and when somebody figures out how to finance it, the corporation theoretically will produce highclass TV shows independent of commercial sponsorship.

WEST

One of the main concerns expressed during the hearings was whether the bill had adequate safeguards to prevent governmental ocntrol of the programs.

This started me thinking what it might be like if the government did have its own television network.

I have even gone so far as to draw up a daily schedule of the shows we might be seeing.

1 p.m. — "Truth or Credibility Gap"—Spokesmen for the White House, State Department and Pentagon read statements. A panel of veteran newsmen tries to guess which one represents the administration's position.

2 p.m. — "The Dean Rusk Show" — A telephone interview program with a new twist. Viewers call in and ask the secretary of state questions about Vietnam. The answers have all been prerecorded.

3 p.m. — "The Fugitives" —

'THE FUGITIVES'

Program has five co-stars: Dick Nixon, George Romney, Charles Percy, Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller. They are always running.

4 p.m. — "Wild, Wild West"—Former Gov. George Wallace visits Berkeley, Calif.

5 p.m. — "The Avengers"—A team of White House investigators tries to determine who leaked the President's latest Cabinet appointment before he was ready to announce it.

6 p.m.—"Mission Impossible" — Averell Harriman is sent to Warsaw to try to persuade Poland to bring pressure on Russia to bring pressure on Red China to bring pressure on North Vietnam to stop making trouble.

7 p.m.—"Leave It to Bobby" — A New York junior senator goes sight-seeing in Paris and while he's looking up at the Eiffel Tower, somebody slips a peace feeler in his pocket. Popular with children.

8 p.m.—"I Love Lyndon"—A blunt, pull-no-punches appraisal of the President by former White House aide Jack Valenti.

Fact-Full Females Threaten Egypt Guide Trade

CAIRO (AP) — Turbaned, illiterate guides who for years have entertained tourists around Egypt's pyramids and museums are facing competition from girls hired by the government's Tourist Administratio.

The girls speak at least three languages, dress in the latest fashions and are well versed in the history of Egypt. Reciting information about Egyptian antiquities is not all. The girls can advise a tourist where to get a good cheap meal, where to watch a belly dance, or how to avoid being cheated at Cairo's bazaars. To statesmen and businessmen they can supply statistics on the country's balance of payments, standard of living and development schemes.

The male guides who dress in flowing robes out of the Arabian Nights say tourists don't come all the way to Egypt to "listen to walking encyclopedias, no matter how pretty they may be."

"These college girls are more harmful than useful," says one guide who has been on the job more than 30 years.

'SICK OF ENGLISH'

"Tourists don't want to know politics," he adds in Arabic. "They are sick of this perfect English they are used to at home. They come to us, sons of the desert, and love our English — English of the desert."

Lamei Ghoneim, a camelman who inherted his job from his father and grandfather, says: "Intelligent, pretty girls do not attract tourists. They can be seen in London, Paris or New York."

Like many other camel men, Ghomein has two wives. He claims tourists love to meet men of his type and to discuss problems completely strange to their societies.

"Tourists become my friends in no time," he observes. "They come to my house to see how I live. When they go away they keep writing to me and they send me presents on Christmas."

Samira Lutfi, a 21-year-old tourist hostess, says the camelmen guides are "backward elements, ignorant of the socialist progress being realized all over Egypt."

"What we need is a guide who can link the fabulous past with the glorious present, thus serving both tourists and his own country," she asserts.

The "sons of the desert" claim they are winning — that tourists shy away from the girls and come to them.

427 High School Students Vie at Global Science Fair

By Science Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Teen-age biologists and physicists, mathematicians and computer specialists from across the nation and from eight other countries today are setting up displays here.

The high school scientists — 427 of them — are competing in the 18th International Science Fair with such projects as a computerized canal lock from Canada, an ideal urban center from Switzerland, and an experimental test of a theory of interstellar polarization from Sweden.

They will be judged by a panel even larger than the number of entrants. The 491 judges include three winners of the Nobel Prize. Each entrant is assessed by five judges, whose decisions on the winners will be announced Friday night.

In addition to the Fair's own prizes, some 28 scientific societies and four medical organizations offer awards.

Exhibits span the biological and physical sciences, sophisticated work on enzymes, computers, missiles, satellites, butterflies, viruses and insects.

8 FOREIGN NATIONS

The youngsters represent 46 states and eight foreign nations: Canada, Germany, Portugal, Nicaragua, Sweden, Switzerland, Japan and Turkey.

Gainers Top Losers

Stock Market Turns Upward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market reversed its downward course of the two previous sessions and moved up early Thursday afternoon.

Gainers outnumbered losers by more than 2 to 1.

Trading was active.

★ ★ ★

Brokers said they were pleased by the mildness of the recent corrective reaction. They expressed hope that the 875 level on the Dow Jones industrial average would hold.

Analysts noted that news that business inventories continued to increase in March and that April retail sales eased did not accelerate offerings as they might well have done to an unstable market.

Gains by key issues ranged from fractions to a point or more.

AVERAGES GAIN

Steels, motors, aircrafts, electronics and airlines led the advance.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained .7 to 328.6 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .6 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 1.89 at 895.99.

After Montgomery Ward announced it will acquire MSL Industries, Montgomery Ward fell 3⅜ to 28¼ and MSL dropped 2¾ to 43¾.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Zapata moved up nearly 4 points. Valley Metallurgical and Lundy Electronics gained more than a point. Fractional advances were posted by Signal Oil, Technicol and Seven Arts.

51 Employes Get Hospital Service Pins

More than 200 persons attended Pontiac General Hospital's annual employes award dinner last night at Devon Gables, Bloomfield Township.

Guest speaker was Mrs. B. B. Roush, secretary of the 11-member board of trustees.

Service award pins were presented 51 employes at the annual dinner by Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

Four employes were honored for 20-years' service. These were Mrs. George Papazian, housekeeping department; Mrs. Ivan Riggs, dietary; Mrs. Grover Holser, central supply room; and Mrs. Elbert McVay, social service department.

Pins for 15 years' service were awarded 14 employes, while 10-year pins went to 33 employes.

★ ★ ★

Title of Mrs. Roush's speech was "Your Hospital — City of Care," which is also the theme for National Hospital Week which ends Saturday.

Area Motorcyclist Injured in Collision

A 16-year-old Independence Township motorcyclist was injured last night when his vehicle and a car collided on Clintonville at Pine Knob Road in the township.

Listed in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital is Charles R. Johnson of 5231 Westview.

For Pontiac Schools

Data Processing Dept. Expansion OK'd

Plans for expansion of the Pontiac School District department of data processing, including the addition of a new manager post, were approved by the board of education last night.

★ ★ ★

Needs of the department totaling at least $26,000 more than currently provided in a preliminary 1967-68 budget were presented by Melvyn Staebler, director of data processing, and were in effect sanctioned by the board.

Staebler estimated that Pontiac would have to spend $109,738 in the next fiscal year on equipment, supplies and personnel to prepare for a new concept of teleprocessing being developed at Oakland Schools Data Processing Center.

What the board specifically approved was the addition of a manager of data processing at a salary of $8,000 to $10,000 and a secretary at $4,500.

★ ★ ★

Staebler said he is now essentially performing the duties of a manager, who would be concerned with operation. As director of information services. Staebler would deal with systems development.

MORE EQUIPMENT

Staebler's other proposals were to increase the rental of equipment at Oakland Schools from three to four hours a day, up-date and add local equipment and supplies.

It is anticipated that Pontiac will receive a $12,000 refund from federal funds to help pay added costs, according to Staebler.

Pontiac's two-year-old data processing department is the largest single user and pioneer in use of Oakland Schools data processing services.

Some data being stored electronically by Pontiac are students' scheduling, grades and attendance.

★ ★ ★

"Today very few school districts (including those with over 100,000 student populations) in the United States can equal the services available at the Oakland Schools Data Processing Center," Staebler told the school board.

COUNTRY'S BEST

Board President Monroe M. Osmun, who is also on the Oakland Schools Board of Education, remarked that Oakland Schools data services will "be the best in the country" with the coming of teleprocessing and a new Oakland Schools building.

A year ago Pontiac was a charter member of a group of school districts to commit themselves to the development of teleprocessing (data processing by telephone) within Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Staebler said the federal government recently funded $600,000 under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 to operate the teleprocessing system with Macomb and Wayne counties and Detroit.

GOP's Dixie Plans Peril LBJ, Says Ford

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — House Minority Leader Gerald Ford says that Republican "southern strategy" may help drive President Johnson out of the White House in 1968.

Speaking before a crowd of 500 attending the opening of "Greek Week" ceremonies at Bowling Green State University Wednesday night, the Michigan Republican also said it could help the GOP take over control of the House of Representatives.

★ ★ ★

"The strategy is to drive southern Democrats in the House into the arms of the administration on votes that will hurt them in their home districts," Ford said.

He also charged that "backpedaling" and contradictory statements have left many Americans without confidence in the Johnson Administration.

★ ★ ★

"I firmly believe that the American people are looking for a change of direction," Ford added.

Failure of the administration's Vietnam policy, a credibility gap and a sag in the country's economy are the best reasons the Republican party should make headway in 1968, he concluded.

2nd Vandalism Meeting Set

McConnell Parents, Police Eye Action

Parents and McConnell Elementary School authorities are scheduled to meet tonight with Acting Pontiac Police Chief Harry Nye a second time regarding outbreaks of youthful vandalism on the city's near east side.

An afternoon conference held Tuesday at the request of community school director Fred Carter and attended by some 100 McConnell parents produced two police commitments.

Nye told the group that the school would be checked every 30 minutes by patrol units and that the city's youth curfew ordinance would be strictly enforced.

He indicated today, however, that the patrol frequency would probably be cut to every hour, noting that similar tactics had been successful in combating a similar situation at McConnell two years ago.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday's meeting at the police department, one day after the school's basement had been broken into and vandalized, was termed "satisfying" by Carter.

'NOT HOPELESS'

"I think the conference proved it's not hopeless to go to 'city hall' with legitimate concerns," Carter said. "Capt. Nye did not duck the issues and spoke directly to the parents."

In addition, Carter commented parents were interested not only in what police were willing to do, but in what kind of action parents themselves could take.

★ ★ ★

Caret indicated a representative of Oakland County juvenile court might also attend tonight's discussion, scheduled as part of the monthly PTA meeting at the school, 245 S. Paddock.

New Trials Denied Pair in Bribe Case

Two men convicted last summer in a bribery case involving an undercover Pontiac police officer were refused new trials yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

The Michigan Court of Appeals will now be asked to overturn the decision against Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi, 38, of Detroit, and Odus Tincher, 49, of St. Clair Shores.

Lombardi was found guilty by a jury of conspiring to bribe and the actual bribery, while Tincher was found guilty of conspiracy only.

Both received prison sentences but are free on bond pending ther appeals.

★ ★ ★

Lombardi is still awaiting trial on a gambling charge stemming from a raid on the now defunct Seaway Civic and Social Club in Pontiac.

MONTHS OF WORK

The raid climaxed months of undercover work by Capt. Raymond Meggitt, during which time he accepted bribes on the order of Police Chief William K. Hanger. Meggitt was paid to inform the operators of the club of any raids.

★ ★ ★

Lombardi's gambling trial had been scheduled for May 31 before Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts, but has been adjourned without date.

His attorney, Carlton Roeser of Pontiac, said the postponement was granted because Lombardi is recuperating from a heart attack he suffered in December.

Local Suspect Is Bound Over

A youth accused of shooting a 17-year-old Pontiac boy April 22 was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

David M. Leonard, 20, of 470 Fildew is charged with wounding David Bradley, son of Donald Bradley of 4621 Fiddle, while Bradley waited in his car at the GMC Truck and Coach Division plant for his father to leave work.

★ ★ ★

Leonard failed to meet the $20,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum and was remanded to Oakland County Jail.

He faces arraignment May 18.

District GOP Meeting Set

A 62nd Republican Legislative District organizational meeting will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Supervisors' Auditorium at the Oakland County Courthouse.

The district includes most of the city of Pontiac.

All area Republicans are invited, according to Roland W. Folk, district codirector.

Press Honors Sheriff's Aide

Herbert Radunz, who retired as chief of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department civil division May 1, was honored by The Pontiac Press at the Pontiac Lions Club meeting yesterday at the Waldron Hotel.

★ ★ ★

He was presented with a framed portrait bearing a plaque which read: "Herb Radunz — 32 Years of Community Service — The Pontiac Press."

Police Action

Pontiac police were called to investigate some 40 major incidents, including both criminal activity and accidents, in the past 24 hours.

A breakdown of causes for police action:

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO EXTEND OUR thanks and appreciation to the many friends and relatives for their sympathy and kindness in the loss of our loved one, our son John Terry Springer. Special thanks to our neighbors and Dr. Tom Malone.
—The John O. Springer Family.

WE WISH TO THANK OUR friends, neighbors and relatives for their many acts of kindness and floral offerings during the recent loss of our loved one. Also Rev. F. William Palmer and the Harold R. Davis Funeral Home.
—The Family of Joe A. Prins.

In Memoriam 2

THANKSGIVING TO OUR MOTHER of Perpetual Help and St. Jude. FHG.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF TOMMY R. Auger who left us May 11, 1966.
God has taken you my son,
To his garden in the sky;
And thee shall find peace.
—Sadly missed by Dad, Thomas E. Auger.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF IDA D. Gaff who passed away 3 years ago May 11, 1694.
Your presence is ever near us,
Your love remains with us yet;
You were the kind of friend,
Your loved ones would never forget.
—Sadly missed by Donald R. Bennett Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF IDA D. Gaff who passed away 3 years ago May 11, 1964:
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad and weary the way;
Life has not been the same,
Since you were called away.
—Sadly missed by husband, Frederick J. Gaff and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY grandson, Tommy R. Auger, who was killed in an auto accident May 11, 1966.
There is not a day that goes by that you are not sadly missed by your Grandmother, Inez Twaddle.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF SON and brother, Thomas R. Auger, who was ruthlessly killed May 11, 1966.
I do not need a special day,
To bring you to my mind;
For the day I do not think of you,
Is very hard to find.
If all this world were mine to give,
I'd give it, yes, and more;
To see the face of my Dear Son,
Come smiling through the door.
Since this cannot be,
I know God has you in his keeping;
But I have you in my heart.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they so little know the sorrow,
That is in my heart concealed;
And your memory is a keepsake,
By which I'll never part.
—Sadly missed by Mother and sister, Gina Marie.

Women Use Language to Keep You Guessing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Science has made considerable progress lately in learning the languages of such birds as the crow and such beasties as the dolphin.

BOYLE

What it should set out to decipher next is the language of women. That would really do civilization a favor.

However, it is unlikely that science will ever accomplish this feat. Women don't want anyone to solve their language. It is the real secret of the legendary mystery of their sex.

There is a fundamental and inescapable difference in the employment of language by man and woman.

MEANS OF EVASION

A man uses language to say what's on his mind. To a woman, this is incredibly naive. She uses language to say what isn't on her mind.

To a man language is a means of communication. To a woman language is a means of evading communication. If she really has something on her mind, it is up to you to guess what it is.

★ ★ ★

Except when she loses her temper and thereby reveals herself inadvertently, a woman opens her mouth only to plead the Fifth Amendment. Her conversation is a camouflage to protect herself and her motives.

This is why two women can talk for an hour on the telephone contentedly without saying anything. Each of them, after putting down the phone, has a feeling of total victory. Neither of them gave herself away, and neither wanted to.

IT'S MYSTIFYING

This mystifies most men. The only men who can talk for an hour without saying anything are politicians.

Nothing about his wife puzzles a new husband more than her enigmatic use of language. The marriage really begins to succeed only when he begins dimly to perceive that she rarely says what she means and rarely means what she says.

★ ★ ★

Once that happens he can usually manage to get along with her very well.

He knows that when she asks him if he feels chilly she really means, "Go close the window, Dopey; I'm cold."

'PASS THE PLATTER'

He knows that when she asks, "Do you care for any more meat?" what she really means is, "Pass the platter, Buster; can't you see I'm starving?"

Even a veteran husband, no matter how accustomed he gets to a wife's upside down use of language, can't quite adjust himself to her use of the words "never" and "always."

★ ★ ★

For example, if he hasn't taken her out for a week, she tells him, "You never take me out anymore." If he forgets an anniversary once, she tells him forever after, "You never remember our anniversary."

A situation that befell a friend of mine may serve to illustrate the wifely use of the word "always."

TROUBLESPOT

In 1935, as he was turning at an intersection, another car brushed against his and dented his fender.

"For 32 years since then," he told me mournfully, "every time we have approached that intersection my wife has grabbed me by the sleeve and said, 'Be careful. Remember, you always have an accident here."

★ ★ ★

There are some more things I could tell you about how wives use language. But why should I? In this field every husband has to learn how to interpret his own babbling brook.

Florida to OK Disney World

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — After 19 months of conversation, Disney World in Florida will become a reality Friday.

Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr.'s office announced today that package of enabling bills for the proposed $600-million complex near Orlando will be signed into law in a patio ceremony at the governor's mansion Friday.

★ ★ ★

Roy Disney, brother of the late Walt Disney, will attend the ceremony with state House and Senate leaders, the announcement said.

The project will include built-to-order cities in a self-governing 27,400-acre enclave, ringed by swamps.

★ ★ ★

Khan's uncle, Zakir Husain, 70, has just been elected first Moslem president in the predominantly Hindu country.

★ ★ ★

Khan, also a Moslem, will leave California State College at Los Angeles at the end of the present semester.

He said he hopes to improve the teaching of United State's history in India.

Ball Team Ready for Any Emergency

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The New York Metropolitan Opera's softball team lost 8-5 to a team from the University of Tennessee medical unit and one team member figured the Mets couldn't have lost under better circumstances.

★ ★ ★

"I think their lineup is great," commented Paul DePaola, chorister-catcher. "If you lose a tooth, there's a dentist. If you break a bone, there's a doctor. If you get killed, they even have a preacher on the team for the last rites."

The Mets took time out for the game while in Memphis on their spring opera tour.

Son Awaits Murder Trial

DETROIT (AP) — An ex-convict, charged with slaying his mother and carrying her body to Tennessee where he allegedly tried to burn it in the trunk of a car, was bound over for trial Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

William Larry Campbell, 24, of Detroit was ordered held without bond for first degree murder by Detroit Recorder's (Criminal) Court Judge George W. Crockett Jr. No trial date was set.

'Calories Don't Count' but Jail Sentence Will

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. District Court jury has convicted Dr. Herman Taller, author of the onetime best-seller "Calories Don't Count," on 12 counts of mail fraud, conspiracy and violations of the Food and Drug Act.

Judge John F. Dooling Jr. set June 23 for sentencing Taller, 56, a specialist in obesity. The charges on which Taller was found guilty carry a total maximum penalty of 50 years in prison and $71,000 in fines.

★ ★ ★

The jury in Brooklyn brought in its verdict Wednesday after deliberating 14 hours. Taller was acquitted on 37 of the 49 counts against him.

The judge allowed him to continue free in his own custody.

SAFFLOWER OIL

Taller's book, which sold two million copies in 1961-62, recommended the use of safflower oil capsules for weight reduction.

The government contended that Taller's system was a "worthless fraud."

★ ★ ★

The defense argued that Taller was a "fool" but an innocent one. A score of former patients who testified for the defense during the five-week trial praised Taller's treatment.

Judy Seen Up to Par Again; Stars on Jack Paar Special

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Judy Garland staged one more truly brilliant comeback the other night when she taped a Jack Paar special—to be seen next Sunday. I was privileged to sit in on the taping up at 6B at NBC.

WILSON

Judy wasn't permitted to sing . . . not even to have entrance music—because of some money owed to a drummer whose union cracked down. But she was a tremendous interviewee.

Wearing a brown chiffon very short skirt, slender little Judy seemed to have forgotten the tears of last week when she was fired from "Valley of the Dolls." She reminisced about Hollywood enchantingly, tossing some jabs at Marlene Dietrich and Liz Taylor. When she finished. Paar told her, "Now you go home!" Judy flung back, "No, YOU go home!" She made it rather clear that with two escorts—her ex-husband Sid Luft, and young Tom Greene—she intended to go out.

"Would you be interested in working at El Morocco?" I asked Judy who is known to need employment. "Certainly," she said. "Let's give them a price. What about $10,000 a minute?"

Paar's special, "A Funny Thing Happened To Me On The Way to Hollywood," has a quote from the late Fred Allen as the central idea. Fred once said: "You can take all of the sincerity in Hollywood, stuff it in a flea's navel, and have room left over for four caraway seeds and an agent's heart."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joseph R. Levine returned from a 10,000-mile trip and stopped at the Plaza at his wife Rosalie's charity ball for the Lila Motley Cancer Foundation. He drew the door prize. One prize he drew went to himself. It was a $750 trip.

Bob Hope introduced Chicago agent Charles Hogan at the Catholic Atcors Guild salute to Horace McMahon, saying "He used to book me for $25, now he books me for $25,000. He booked me in some marvelous places in Cicero. They didn't applaud you—they let you live. They had intermission to let everybody reload."

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jackie Vernon recalls he once lived in a town so small that one alarm clock woke everybody up.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A good memory is what keeps a good chaperone awake.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Nothing holds a modern family together like good behavior on the part of the parents."—O.A. Battista, Dictionary of Quotoons.

EARL'S PEARLS: The hardest job of a girl's life is to prove to a man that his intentions are honorable.

Concert musician Ray Lev explains why some parents want their kids to play the piano instead of the violin: "It's harder to lose a piano." That's earl, brother.

Students Turn Panty Raid Into Campus Protest

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) —A springtime panty raid early today at the University of Southern Mississippi turned into a spontaneous demonstration against the school administration.

Another antiadministration demonstration was planned for tonight.

A crowd estimated by police at between 200 and 300 male students ran up and down for about 2½ hours.

A student leader said the protest tonight would include complaints about food, overcrowding in dormitories, and censorship of the student newspaper.

The university has about 7,400 students.

State Collegians Compete at Litter-In TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Students at Northwestern Michigan College staged a litter-in yesterday and claimed, or rather picked up, the world's championship in the field.

★ ★ ★

In a two hour and 15-minute session on highways in Grand Traverse County, 150 students picked up 17,798 cans and bottles. They buried last year's cleanup record by more than 6,000 containers.

The winning six-member team walked off with the prized trophy—a giant beer can mounted on a plaque.

Building Down

DETROIT (AP) — Contracts for construction in Michigan totaled $145,000 in March, 33 per cent down from the same month last year. For the year to date, total construction contracts were 18 per cent behind last year's figures, reports the F. W. Dodge Co., marketing and information specialists.

In 1966, Germany shipped to the United States $1.8 billion dollars worth of products.
