Will Launch Plan to Assist Ailing Pontiac City Lines

A plan to aid Pontiac's financially stricken bus line will be launched Friday by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Details of the plan were spelled out last night to the City Commission, which endorsed it and proclaimed Friday Pontiac Bus Transportation Day.

"The bus company must be helped if Pontiac is to continue to have public transportation," William G. McLean, formulator of the plan, told the Commission.

He said about 30 merchants in downtown Pontiac have signed up to help Pontiac City Lines, Inc.

Distribution of free bus tokens to customers of the participating stores lies at the heart of the plan, McLean said.

"When a customer spends $2 or more in one of the participating stores, he'll get a free token," he explained.

The stores themselves will purchase the tokens in advance from the bus company, with the city's two main banks acting as distributors of the tokens, he said.

Names of the first 30 businesses that are joining the plan will be announced Friday in The Pontiac Press. "We hope many more merchants will join in as the plan gets rolling," McLean said.

"The extent to which the bus company will be aided is difficult to estimate before the plan gets rolling," he said, "but it should be sizable."

STEADILY DECLINING REVENUES

Pontiac City Lines, like other bus companies in Michigan, has reported steadily decreasing revenues in the past several years, forcing repeated cutbacks in service.

If accepted by the public, the plan would also have a salutary effect on business and tend to relieve parking and traffic congestion, McLean pointed out.

Urge Senate Cut Gas Tax for Bus Lines

LANSING (UPI) — Witnesses before a Senate hearing today told lawmakers privately operated bus lines in Michigan were worse off than a year ago and urged gas tax relief for the lines.

Sen. Clyde Geerlings (R-Holland, chairman of the Senate Tax Committee, said he ordinarily was against government help for private organizations of this type but said it appeared it was the only thing to do if the lines were to be saved.

He said the Senate had twice approved a similar measure but the House had failed to go along.

"The Senate knows the story of the bus lines' troubles," he said. "But we wanted to get the increasingly bad situation on record."

Two lines have gone out of business since last year, he said, and all lines have cut service.

"If private firms go out of business, the state loses the tax revenues and the same thing will happen if the firms become municipally owned," he said.

Geerlings said his committee probably would send the bill onto the Senate floor tomorrow.

The bill would allow bus operators to pay a $25 fee instead of gas taxes.

Hint Price War as Motive for Fatal Flint Fire

Three More Witnesses Are Called as Teamster Trial Enters 2nd Day

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

FLINT—A price war may have figured in the bungled arson job in which Frank H. Kierdorf supposedly suffered his fatal burns last summer.

Testimony hinting at this motive for the arson highlighted today's second day of testimony in the trial of Jack D. Thompson, Flint Teamster business agent accused of aiding Kierdorf in the arson.

On the stand was George W. Latreille, owner of the suburban Flint dry cleaning pickup station that was razed by flames last Aug. 3, a few hours before Kierdorf stumbled into Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with burns covering most of his body.

Latreille, whose retail prices were lower than most in the area, said he had been "advised" by persons in the trade that this was "unwise."

He said one of his employes, a sewing lady, had once been told the pickup station "might be blown up."

Latreille mentioned no names during this morning's testimony, but was expected to be back on the stand after lunch.

On the stand earlier was Kierdorf's son, Frank Jr., 31, salesman for a Detroit photo finishing firm.

Frank Jr. testified how he visited his dying father in the hospital, and said he doubted that Kierdorf knew he was dying.

"He kept saying, 'I'll be alright. I'm going to pull through this.'"

But the dying man never explained to his son how he suffered the burns, according to Frank Jr.'s testimony.

Kierdorf was a fellow business agent of Thompson at Flint Teamster Local 332.

Besides probing the motive for the arson, O'Rourke called witnesses to help place Kierdorf and Thompson at the scene.

First were four members of a Port Huron family, who testified they passed the cleaners as it went up in flames.

"I heard a bad scream," said Calvin Miller, a self-employed trucker.

Miller said he and his wife, daughter, son-in-law, and their two children were on their way home after visiting friends in Flint last Aug. 3 when they saw the Latreille Dry Cleaners go up in flames.

Miller's daughter, Mrs. Mary Jane McTaggart, testified she saw two men, and possibly a third, run from the cleaning shop after "I heard somebody screaming."

Miller testified that what he saw

Calls for Unity on Berlin After Canada Arrival

OTTAWA (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, on his way to talks with President Eisenhower, today urged the Western powers to frame a united policy on Germany based on "firm principles combined with a readiness to negotiate."

Macmillan arrived by plane from London. Before leaving for Washington Thursday, he will fill in Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and other Canadian officials on his Berlin crisis talks in Moscow with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Macmillan plans to see ailing U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at Walter Reed Army Hospital before he meets with Eisenhower.

Diefenbaker and other officials were on hand to greet Macmillan, who led off his remarks with a tribute to Canadian Foreign Secretary Sidney Smith, who died Tuesday.

Macmillan said it was generally accepted that East-West negotiations on Germany must take place this summer.

Speaking first in English and switching later to French, Macmillan said he went to Moscow to feel out the ground, and he believed he had attained success.

The British leader, accompanied by Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, hopes to convince Eisenhower that a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev can solve the explosive Berlin situation without shooting.

Officials in Washington expressed belief Eisenhower's speech Monday, conditionally endorsing a summit meeting, had greatly improved

Need 'Hard Cash,' He Says

Williams Scoffs at Scrip Idea

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Gov. G. Mennen Williams said today the state needs "hard cash," not scrip, to meet its cash crisis.

"Scrip is no substitute for hard cash," Williams said in commenting on a proposal made yesterday to issue scrip.

The proposal came as lawmakers considered ways of preparing for payless paydays but did nothing to completely prevent them.

Williams and legislative leaders were scheduled to meet later in the day to consider ways of finding real currency.

"This is no kidding. I'm serious about it," said Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) yesterday, author of a resolution to clear the way for issuance of emergency IOUs by public school authorities.

Scrip has not been seen in the state since the depression of the 1930s.

While Nichols made his move, spending policymakers yesterday nudged ahead a bill that would make it unnecessary—provided a big chunk of cash quickly is dumped into the treasury.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a general fund supplementation of school aid revenues that would drain the nearly dry general kitty of anywhere from 17 to 27 million dollars.

Because no money is in sight to pay the shot, the bill had languished in committee since its introduction in January.

"I think things are going to get better," Nichols told newsmen.

"I brought in a scrip resolution similar to this one 27 years ago and they laughed at me. It wasn't long before there were bank closings and property tax collections went to pot. Then everyone was for it."

As a result, he said, city and school employes in Detroit were paid in scrip for two or three years.

Scrip is a certificate of indebtedness that, in this case, would be issued by school authorities in lieu of government currency.

As the resolution was submitted, it would authorize local school districts and state universities to issue scrip to meet payrolls and other operating expenses. The state is constitutionally barred from doing this.

Standard Hikes Gas Prices 1.8 Cents

Standard Oil Co. raised its price of regular and premium gasoline to dealers in the Pontiac area another 1.8 cents a gallon today.

The boost followed a similar one several weeks ago.

Standard said individual dealers set the retail price but most of these normally pass on wholesale price changes.

Regular grade gasoline has been selling at 27.9 cents to 28.9 cents a gallon at retail.

Most Officers on City Force Back Eastman

Pontiac Police have let the City Commission know that George D. Eastman has majority backing as public safety director.

A petition favoring Eastman's policies was submitted to the City Commission last night, signed by 75 of the department's 103 regular police officers. It said, briefly:

"We are in full accord with the policies set forth to date by the Public Safety Director, George D. Eastman, for the betterment of the Police Department."

The petition did not deal with the fight between Eastman and suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, but referred only to improvements in the department brought about through implementation of the Public Administration Service report, said Sgt. Hugh T. Stimson, who circulated it.

Besides Stimson, who is president of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn., the petition was signed by James Lafnear, president of the pro-Straley Federation of Police, who noted that his approval was only for some of the policies.

The petition was not sponsored by the PPOA, an anti-Straley group, but was circulated on his own initiative "to show the city how we feel," said Stimson.

The Civil Service Commission hearing on Straley's suspension will resume at 7:30 p.m. today in City Hall.

Nation's Easter Trade 'Shaping Up Beautifully'

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Rising prosperity, a booming stock market and a return to fashions that flatter the female form are putting new life into the nation's Easter retail trade.

So say many of the merchants, bankers and Chamber of Commerce officials interviewed by The Associated Press in a coast-to-coast survey.

"Business is shaping up beautifully," says an executive of a big department store on Chicago's busy State Street. "Easter sales are far ahead of last year."

"People are spending with more confidence," said Richard H. Rich, president of Rich's in Atlanta.

"Consumers are more confident and seem to be spending more," observes Joseph Liebman, senior vice president of L. Bamberger & Co., Newark N.J. "The stock market is healthy and that always seems to be a good indicator."

Laurence Mallinckrodt, president of the Scruggs, Vandervoort, Barney in St. Louis said: "Sales are very good compared to last year and we still have a few selling days to go."

While optimism is the keynote, you'll find dissenters here and there. A New York department store executive complains that "women don't get excited about fashions when there's a half foot of snow on the ground."

Other localized deterrents to an unbounded shopping spree include: persistent pockets of unemployment in some industrial centers, scattered state and local tax increases, a printers' strike that closed daily newspapers in Columbus, Ohio, for two weeks and—in cities where winter has lingered on — the earlier Easter date.

Not all merchants regard the earlier Easter as a handicap. In some Southern and Western cities where the weather has been mild, it is considered an asset. That's the sentiment of merchants in Los Angeles where the mercury climbed into the high 80s while snow fell in New York. It's echoed by store officials in Miami, San Francisco, Dallas, Denver and Kansas City.

As usual, mom, sis and the younger kids take the lion's share of pop's Easter shopping dollar. Charles E. Boyd, secretary-treasurer of the Detroit Retail Merchants Assn., says: "Mom and the kids get first call on the new clothes budget and if there's anything left maybe pop gets a necktie."

Auto production is booming in Detroit, but there's still enough unemployment around to put a damper on Easter sales.

4 Teens Imprisoned for Robbery-Beating

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland sternly imposed prison sentences yesterday on four Waterford teenagers who beat and robbed a 52-year-old man of $55.

To be transported to Jackson State Prison tomorrow are Wendell Trager, 17, of 7220 Ida Ter.; Robert Wildey, 17, of 2068 Denby Dr.; Glenn Rabdeau, 18, of 4704 Riverview Dr.; and Dale Owen, 17, of 415 Manning St. Trager, Wildey and Rabdeau were given terms of 1½-18 years, Owen received a 1-18 year sentence.

All pleaded guilty to the unarmed robbery Jan. 31 of Herman Westpfahl of 5901 Cooley Lake Rd., White Lake Township, who was hospitalized six days because of the beating.

"I do not consider the sentences heavy," said Judge Holland, "in view of the fact that the victim almost died, and the charges might have been first-degree murder."

"In passing sentence," he told the youths, "the first duty of this court is to protect society from crimes like yours. That's why you are going to prison.

"That you may eventually be rehabilitated while serving your sentences is only a secondary consideration, which I hope comes to pass."

To aid in rehabilitation, the foursome may be transferred some day from the state prison to a reformatory, if they behave, the judge said.

Awaiting trial in connection with the beating is a fifth youth, Gregory R. Clover, 16, of 415 Manning St., Waterford Township, accused of luring Westpfahl to a dark spot off Old Orchard Lake road, where the beating took place in the early hours of the morning.

Lenten Guideposts: 'I Will Be I'

Be Different, but Gently

By ARTHUR GORDON
The Reflections of a Camper

When I was 11, my parents sent me to a summer camp run along semi-military lines. Part of each camper's uniform was supposed to be a Boy Scout hat, low-crowned, wide-brimmed, to be worn every afternoon when we lined up for formal inspection.

GORDON

But my parents, through some catastrophic oversight, send me off instead with one of those Army campaign hats, vintage of 1917. It was wide-brimmed, all right: when I put it on, I was practically in total darkness. As for the crown, it seemed to rise half a mile straight up in the air.

Whenever I wore this hat, instead of being an inconspicious and somewhat homesick small boy, I became a freak.

Or so I thought. Looking back now, across more than 30 years, I can smile at the memory. But believe me, it was no joke at the time. Why? Because I was different.

There must be a few of us who cannot recall some such childhood episode and fewer still who do not carry some of this deep-rooted fear into adult life.

But if we value leadership, and achievement, if we are concerned with our own painful struggle toward maturity, we have to learn to overcome this childish concern.

The rewards of differentness are easy enough to see. No matter what field you choose — the demand is for individuals whose performance is above average and therefore different. At any dinner party, the most attractive guest is the one whose ideas are stimulating because they are different.

I have no doubt that a man's earning power parallels almost exactly his capacity to produce new ideas, to show unusual persistence or energy, to take chances — in other words, to be different.

The fear of being different, like most fears, tends to diminish when you drag it into the light and take a good look at it. At the bottom of such fears lies an intense preoccupation with self.

That comical hat might have caused some momentary merriment or teasing, but the whole thing was too trivial to have lasted long. I was the one who kept it alive by agonizing about it. Like shyness, this sort of self-consciousness is a form of inverted egotism. The disapproval that you shrink from encountering is probably imaginary.

Another way to minimize the fear

U.S. Drafts German Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has prepared a tentative draft of a German peace treaty for possible use in a foreign ministers meeting with the Soviet Union.

By contrast with the Soviet peace treaty proposal of several weeks ago, the U. S. provisions would leave the way open for a sovereign all-German government to forge whatever links it wished with neighboring nations and other countries of the world.

The U. S. document—some officials say it is more a statement of principles than a tentative treaty draft—has been proposed to Britain, France and West Germany for discussion.

The Western European Allies were reported today to be cool to the idea of carrying forward plans for a German peace treaty at this time. They apparently feel the more urgent problems are those involved in reunifying Germany.

Present Western planning is based on the idea that the essential first step in solving the problems of Germany is some move toward reuniting the divided country and creating an all-German government.

To this end Western policy planners now meeting in Paris are talking about proposing to the Soviets the creation of a federation to bring East and West Germany under a single political roof.

Over a period of several years the powers of the central federal government would gradually be increased and the powers of the present East and West German regimes would correspondingly decrease.

One possible way to set up a central administration, now being considered, would be to base it on the German provinces or states, called laender. There are 10 of these in West Germany and traditionally five in East Germany where they are no longer recognized.

U. S. officials said the Western powers are not interested in the Soviet approach to a German confederation which would give equal authority to the East German administration with its 17 million and the West German government with its 53 million.

The highly tentative U. S. draft is understood to be based on the principle that when a peace treaty finally is signed, Germany should be given full control over its own affairs and should be free to choose its own course in international relations.

Hospital Chief Called in Trial

Kalamazoo Institution Head to Give Testimony in Flannery Case

HILLSDALE (UPI)—The medical superintendent of Kalamazoo State Hospital will testify today as a prosecution witness in the first degree murder trial of Patrick Flannery.

Hillsdale County Prosecutor Robert McIntyre said Dr. Clarence M. Shrier will take the stand this morning to give expert testimony on psychiatry.

McIntyre is calling Shrier as a rebuttal witness. Last week, the defense took testimony from a Detroit psychiatrist who termed the 18-year-old Flannery insane.

Flannery, a former honor student at Royal Oak Shrine High School, is on trial in the bludgeoning of his Hillsdale College roommate, Thomas Neitling, 20, Tecumseh.

Neitling was beaten to death as he slept at the College TAV where he and Flannery shared a room.

The slaying occurred early on the morning of Nov. 26.

Two youths who attended Shrine High School with Flannery testified yesterday that the defendant was always quiet.

Thomas Brown, 19, who lives three houses from Flannery in Berkley, said he noticed no change in the defendant in the past year.

Local Architect Talks on Modern Trends

BIRMINGHAM — Modern trends in architecture were discussed last night by Linn Smith, local architect, when he spoke to the Friends of the Library group at Baldwin Library Auditorium.

There is a far greater trend toward simplicity in building lines today than ever before, according to Smith. This leads easily into experimental construction and develops entirely new ideas in building shapes, he added.

Smith proposes the use of simple decorations to soften otherwise harsh building lines.

Another trend, he said, is the programming of construction — where the architect works closely with the client. This plan has been adopted to match client needs with constructural problems.

Smith, who has designed the proposed expansion of Baldwin Library, used it as an example of architect-client cooperation.

He illustrated his lecture with slides depicting the work of other area architects and answered questions from those attending.

The five-man Citizens Planning Committee named recently by Bloomfield Township Supervisor Arno Hulet will meet tonight in the township hall at 8 p.m.

Committee members are Burke Bartlett, John Osler, George Boule, George Booth and Edward Procter.

The group was appointed to assist township officials in over-all planning of the area.

Birmingham Newcomers Club will hold its regular luncheon meeting and program beginning at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Community House.

Dr. Robert S. Drew will speak on "The Role the Modern Woman Takes Today in Our Changing World."

Dr. Drew is president of the American Society of Group Psychotherapy and Psychodrama.

Congregational Church members here will hold the third of their Lenten programs beginning with a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the church hall.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Robert B. Pierce, D. D., minister of the Metropolitan Methodist Church of Detroit. His subject will be "Crosses Are in Style."

Two movies, one a tour of the United States in color and the other showing how movie film is manufactured, will be shown by Nicholas Scott, Eastman Kodak Co. representative, at the Senior Men's Club meeting Friday noon at the Community House.

U.S. Will Ship Grain Through New Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) says the U.S. Agriculture Department has informed him it will use St. Lawrence Seaway ports to ship surplus grain overseas.

Young said yesterday he had been informed that 80-grain-handling ships would be loaded at Great Lakes ports during April and May of this year, and that 60 of these would be on the American side.

The Seaway will be opened to traffic next month.

Solons Won't Applaud Yankus

'Sour Grapes Attitude' Leads to Legislature's Withdrawal of Praise

The House Rules and Resolutions Committee yesterday scrapped a resolution commending the Dowagiac area farmer for a "courageous and dramatic" battle against federal wheat acreage allotments.

Since 1954 he has paid nearly $5,000 in fines and costs for refusing to cut down production of crops for his own use.

Last month he announced plans to give up the fight and move to Australia.

"If Yankus hadn't displayed a 'sour grapes' attitude on this business, we might have sent the resolution to the House floor for a vote," said Willard I. Bowerman Jr. (R-Lansing) chairman of the House committee.

"We felt he showed the wrong attitude by announcing he planned to pull up stakes and move out rather than try to change existing federal laws," he said.

Yankus, who carried his case to a Congressional committee, won applause from state lawmakers in an appearance before the Legislature last week.

It's Family Affair at Fire Dept.

5 Mielkes to Carry on Tradition

By MAX E. SIMON

Otto Mielke has chased fires for 31 years.

Tomorrow, much to his regret, his days as a firefighter will be over.

His retirement, however, will create no shortage of Mielkes on the Pontiac Fire Department roster.

For five other members of 59-year-old Otto's family will still be answering fire alarms.

They are his brother Walter, 53; a son, Richard, 29; and three nephews, Robert, 32, Jean, 26, and Gerald, 28.

Jean and Gerald are Walter's sons.

Robert's father was also a fireman, although in the Detroit Fire Department. Besides Robert's father, two of Otto's brothers and two brothers-in-law were Detroit firemen.

One of 13 children on his father's farm in Warren Township, Otto became interested in the life of a fireman when his three older brothers became firefighters in Detroit.

"I saw the great life they led and thought I'd try it," Otto said. As a 19-year-old, he tried to join them in Detroit in 1919, but was turned down.

Various odd jobs failed to satisfy him because "the firefighting bug had bitten me," Otto said.

Finally he became a Pontiac fireman in March, 1928.

A cheerful, modest man, Otto believes his biggest accomplishments to be "always showing up for work on time", and "never getting into any mixups."

"I've never gotten my nose dirty —except in putting out fires," he declared.

Otto takes credit for persuading his son to join the Pontiac department. "When he came home from the Korean War, I told him of the advantages and he took my advice," Otto explined.

"Now he enjoys the work as much as I did."

Otto and his wife Ella have two children in addition to firefighter son Richard—another son, Milton, 39, and a married daughter, Mrs. Delores Scarlotti.

Milton is the "black sheep" of the Mielke clan—he didn't become a fireman.

"When he was a boy, he delivered milk and enjoyed it as much as the rest of the family did running to fires," Otto recalled.

He said Milton recently quit the life of a milkman to open a dry cleaning business in Walled Lake.

Will his grandchildren carry on the firefighting tradition?

Richard has two boys, Richard 8, and David, 5, but so far fires don't interest them.

"I think they have every toy in the world except a fire engine," Otto said.

The six Mielkes rarely see each other during working hours. Because of fire department regulations, no two members of the family work at the same station on the same shift.

"It takes a fire to bring us together," Otto said.

Otto is retiring at the advice of his doctors. He explains he suffered a stroke last October while partridge hunting in Lewiston, where he has a cabin.

He plans to sell his home at 3334 Loon Lake Shores, Waterford Township, and move to Lewiston.

"If it weren't for the doctors, I'd stay on," he said. "I'm too young to sit in the corner all day. I'm going to miss the fellows at the station and the atmosphere. It's something that grows on you."

One of the firefighters who will miss Otto is Delmo Chapdelaine. He joined the department the same day.

The two men laughed as they recalled a pledge they made their first day on the job:

Antipolio Clinic at Bethune Today

The third in a series of four antipolio clinics sponsored this week by the Pontiac Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will be held today at Bethune Elementary School.

The school, at 154 Lake St., will be open from 1 to 5 and 6 to 8 p.m. for county residents over the age of one year.

This week's clinics are follow-ups to the four held last month by the council.

Each polio immunization shot costs $1. Yesterday, 916 received shots at Wilson Elementary School bringing this week's total to 2,447. Last month, 8,100 received shots.

Tomorrow, the final clinic of the second series will be conducted at Owen Elementary School, 43 E. Columbia St., at the same hours.

was "a little bit of flame and that all of a sudden it went poof-f-f-f-f-f." He said the flames shot "higher than the trees." He said he saw two men running from the scene.

It was Mrs. McTaggart's husband, Vincent, a Port Huron gas station attendant, who gave the alarm, she said.

O'Rourke called Miller, his wife, Mabel, and the McTaggarts as he searched through a long list of 92 potential witnesses for the prosecution who might be inconvenienced should the trial possibly stretch past two or three weeks.

One subpoenaed witness — Pontiac patrolman Karl D. Kilmer — would have missed his wedding and a honeymoon in Florida.

With this in mind, Kilmer was placed on the stand first as O'Rourke showed he had very little to testify to, except that he and his partner, Fred A. Stormer, were called to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital around 1 a.m. Aug. 4 to view a critically burned Kierdorf.

Defense attorneys James E. Haggerty Sr. of Detroit and Joseph R. Joseph of Flint were satisfied Kilmer had little to add to the case.

So Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth who will preside over the trial, excused Kilmer with "good luck and happiness."

A sixth witness Tuesday was Robert N. Ferguson, who later was excused also. He said Thompson brought his Cadillac into his bump shop on the morning of Aug. 4 to have a minor bump job and a taillight repaired.

All of yesterday morning was spent choosing a jury from a panel of 42. After one hour and 50 minutes, during which 19 were excused from serving for numerous reasons, a jury of 11 women and three men was approved by the prosecution and defense.

Judge Roth himself dismissed 11, many of whom said they had already formed an opinion on Thompson's innocence or guilt after reading or hearing about the case.

Another woman and male juror —at Judge Roth's suggestion—will be dismissed when deliberations begin. They will substitute only if vacancies on the regular 12-juror panel occur.

Thompson, 42, looked like the well-to-do businessman in his blue-gray suit. He chatted often with newsmen and several members of his Flint Local 332.

O'Rourke in his opening statement to the jury said he would rely "primarily on circumstantial evidence" to show that Thompson "was a principal or an accessory" to the burning of Latreille's.

Thompson's fingerprints found on Kierdorf's station wagon the day after the fire will be part of this evidence, O'Rourke told the jurors.

Other evidence, he added, will hinge around a statement Thompson gave investigators Aug. 7, the day Kierdorf died at the Pontiac hospital.

"This statement will be used to show the inconsistency of his statements," declared the prosecutor after Haggerty raised an objection as to the admissibility of the statement. Judge Roth overruled the objection.

The sensational nature of the Kierdorf case last summer was not apparent at Tuesday's opening session as but a scattering of 20 persons, many of them Local 332 members, sat in on the trial. Judge Roth's courtroom can seat close to 65.

Decision on Oak Park Police Officer Due

A decision by Oak Park Mayor R. J. Alexander on the suspension of Police Lt. Joseph W. Roberts is expected within the next two weeks.

The officer was dismissed last December for allegedly firing his service revolver into a Detroit barroom jukebox. Hearings on his appeal ended yesterday after eight days of testimony in which Roberts adamantly denied firing the weapon at that time.

Roberts was ordered off the force by Oak Park's Public Safety Director Glenford S. Leonard. The ousted officer testified that Leonard's action was the result of animosity between himself and the director.

Church Leader Sees Unity as Sign of Hope for World

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Church Editor, Pontiac Press

"The brightest sign of hope on the darkened horizon of a broken world is the growing unity of churches," Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches, declared last night at the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian.

Preaching at a special Lenten service on "Why I Believe in the Church" Dr. Dahlberg said:

"The real strength of our nation lies in the local church. There is no greater office than being a pastor or member of the church. It is in the local community that the battle of Jesus will be lost or won.

"I believe in the church because it gives me an eternal perspective, freedom of speech in the pulpit, and the closest fellowship with Christ."

Assisting the Rev. Edward D. Auchard, pastor, in the service were John Emmert, Mrs. Daniel Geisler and J. L. Richards.

At the close of the worship hour, a reception was held in the social hall for the distinguished speaker.

Dr. Dahlberg is speaking at the noon Lenten services in Central Methodist Church in Detroit each day this week through Friday.

President of the National Council for three years, 1957—1960, Dr. Dahlberg also is pastor of the Delmar Baptist Church in St. Louis, Mo. It was while the Orchard Lake pastor was preaching in St. Louis that the two became friends.

The National Council of Churches is the cooperative agency of 33 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox church bodies with combined memberships of 38,000,000 Americans.

Through the organization, the largest of its kind in America, the constituent communions carry out 71 different year-round programs that range from a ministry for migrant farm workers to teaching illiterate millions around the world how to read.

The Council consists of two governing bodies, the 700-member General Assembly which meets every three years and the 250-member General Board which meets three times a year.

The National Council of Churches was formed Nov. 20, 1950 with the merging of 13 former separate agencies.

The work of these agencies is conducted through the National Council's main divisions: Christian Education, Christian Life and Work, Foreign Missions and Home Missions.

There also are two general departments, United Church Men and United Church Women through which lay members carry on interdenominational services.

Millions of pounds of food, clothing and medicines are shipped to the sick and poverty stricken overseas through Church World Service.

Headquarters of the Council are at 297 Fourth Ave., New York City. Other offices are in Washington, D. C., and Atlanta, Ga.

At the end of the year the National Council will move into the new building, a 19-story Interchurch Center on Riverside drive in New York City. President Eisenhower laid the cornerstone last fall.

the atmosphere for the talks with Macmillan.

The President agreed to a top level meeting in the summer if a foreign ministers' conference on Germany proposed for mid-May gives promise that the government heads can agree on anything.

Macmillan's visit to Eisenhower will climax the series of conferences he has carried on with Khrushchev, French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

His aim is to work out a unified strategy and proposals with which to approach the Soviets at the foreign ministers meeting.

Macmillan had a busy itinerary for his one-day stay in Ottawa. After morning and afternoon talks with Diefenbaker and senior advisers, he was to dine tonight with Governor General Vincent Massey and stay overnight at Government House.

Guideposts: Why Be Ashamed of Comical Hat!

of being different is to remind yourself, if you really do run into resentment or ridicule, that you are in pretty good company. Very few of the great pioneers of thought or action escaped being laughed at.

Most of the great religious leaders of history have been non-conformists. Christ was the most striking and dramatic example.

It takes courage to be different, but there is also an art to it. It's a gentle, unobtrusive art, but it requires real skill. It's the art of not antagonizing people unnecessarily by your differentness.

The beginning of wisdom in this area is to realize that people don't object to differentness nearly so much as they object to the attitude of superiority that so often goes with it.

Some very rugged individualists never learn this lesson. Billy Mitchell's concept of air power was prophetic — and correct. Unfortunately, he could not conceal his conviction that anyone who disagreed with him was a fool.

The rule-of-thumb is very simple: be as different as you like, but try to be tolerant of the people who differ from you.

Actually, no two people are alike, and if we all granted to one another the right simply to be ourselves, we would be different enough.

When he was eight years old, someone asked Henry Thoreau what he was going to be when he grew up. "Why," said the boy, "I will be I!" He was, too. And what we remember best about him now is precisely his differentness.

So take a look at your life and check the areas where you are letting a foolish fear of "what people might say" hold you down. Then go ahead and do a few of these unorthodox things. The rewards may be much greater than you think.

U.S. to Fire Three Satellites at Once

Say Carson City Man Took Oldsters' Funds on False Pretenses

STANTON (AP)—George Wilson, 32 a Carson City laborer, has been jailed here in lieu of $3,000 bond on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense from an elderly Carson City brother and sister.

Detective Thomas Krusniak of the Ionia State Police post said Edward Gatcher, 77, and his sister, Maggie, 72, were victimized in a manner he described as "the shabbiest and most pitiful in my experience."

Krusniak said Wilson wiped out a joint $1,100 account the elderly pair had in the State Bank at Crystal by persuading Gatcher to sign a number of bank checks.

Wilson later filled in the checks and cashed them with local merchants, telling them they were for work he had done for Gatcher, the detective reported.

The money represented proceeds from the sale of a farm Gatcher owned until five years ago.

Krusniak said the pair have no other funds and may have to be placed in the Montcalm County Infirmary or a home for the aged.

Housed within beautiful Meadow Brook Hall, on the 1,600-acre Michigan State University Oakland campus, are some of the world's most famous paintings, rare books and valuable objets d'art.

Mr. Sekles has served Ahepa in local and district offices and nationally as a supreme treasurer of the fraternity.

Nevada Lifts 98-Year Interracial Wedding Ban

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) —Interracial marriages are now legal in Nevada after a 98-year ban dating back to territorial days.

A bill repealing the old statute was signed Tuesday by Gov. Grant Sawyer. The old law was held unconstitutional by Judge Taylor Wines in Reno last December when he granted a marriage license to San Francisco longshore leader Harry Bridges and his Nisei fiancee, Noriko Sawada.

Judge Wines observed that marriage was a right, not a privilege.

Budget Balance Tottering Again

Committee of Senate Taps Ike's Setup for World Bank Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, approving more U.S. funds for the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, has specified they are to come out of next year's budget.

The action, by unanimous vote Tuesday, would wreck President Eisenhower's hopes of a balanced budget for the year beginning July 1. The President had asked for the funds for the current fiscal year, and had included the spending in the deficit of nearly 13 billion dollars he forecast for the fiscal year ending June 30.

For the next year, Eisenhower submitted a budget precariously balanced on the assumption that Congress would provide increased gasoline taxes and postal revenues, actions that now seem unlikely.

But the Senate Committee, approving the proposed $1,375,000,000 increase in the U.S. subscription to the International Monetary Fund, specified it shall come out of the new budget.

A proposed increase of $3,175,000,000 in capital stock of the World Bank would not affect the budget directly.

Godliness with contentment is great gain.

Fete Secretaries of Area Schools

MILFORD — Oakland County school office secretaries had a "taste" of what Milford students are served every noon at a smorgasbord banquet held at the high school last night.

Reason for the culinary spread was that Erwin Johnson, assistant superintendent at Milford High, is the director of the Michigan State School Food Service and supervised the banquet.

He created a gigantic, four-foot horn of plenty out of bread dough which was baked in one of the six cavernous ovens in the new $2,500,000 high school.

Four times a year members of the Oakland Assn. of Educational Secretaries get together and compare notes on education, new office procedures—and food.

After dinner there were door prizes and the group retired to the Little Theater to see Roger Shively demonstrate new speed-writing techniques.

The OAES has a membership of more than 350 area school secretaries, according to President Kay Calandi of Southfield Township.

GLORIA JEAN CUNNINGHAM

A fall wedding is planned by Gloria Jean Cunningham and John N. Gazette. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cunningham of 4427 Windiate Dr., Waterford Township. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Thrush of 144 Nevada St., Rochester.

Warren Man Pleads Guilty to Robbery

TROY— Arraigned last night before Municipal Judge Charles Losey here on a robbery charge, William D. Nowicki, 24, of Warren pled guilty.

He is being held in the Oakland County Jail after failing to post a $2,000 bond and is scheduled to appear Monday in Circuit Court. Nowicki was identified by Mrs. Ann Krivens and her son, Dennis, 17, as the man who held up the Maple Lane Party Store where they are employed, at 1037 E. Maple Rd. Sunday night, escaping with $65.

Walled Lake PTA to Elect Three Officer Groups

WALLED LAKE — Three separate slates of officers will be elected when the Junior-Senior High PTA meets Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Three slates are being elected because beginning next fall, the senior high and each of the junior high schools will have its own PTA group.

Fall Proves Fatal to Ferndale Man

A Ferndale man was found dead yesterday at the rear of the Union Hotel in Blairsville, Pa., apparently the victim of a fall downstairs.

He was identified as George Schneider, 52, of 658 Laprairie St. A Blairsville deputy coroner said he suffered a skull fracture.

Schneider checked into the hotel Monday and apparently stumbled and fell down the stairs shortly after midnight, the coroner said.

Authorities said Schneider was unemployed and was in the area looking for work.

A small town called Icosium was once located on the site of what is now Algiers. It had a Christian bishop as late as the fifth century, but disappeared before the present city was founded in 944 A.D.

Pontiac Teacher Gets Post of Superintendent Replacing Hungerford

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—The Brandon Schools Board of Education has hired a new superintendent to succeed E. J. Hungerford, who asked that his contract not be renewed for the 1959-60 school year.

The new superintendent is Burl A. Glendenning, who is at present head of the driver education department at Pontiac Northern High School.

Glendenning, 33, is married and the father of four children. The family lives at 145 Grange Hall Rd., Ortonville.

A native of Pittsford, Glendenning received his bachelor of arts degree from Albion College and his master's degree in secondary administration from the University of Michigan in 1956. He has taught for eight years, five in the Brandon schools and three in the Pontiac school system.

Glendenning's background in education consists of teaching experience in mathematics and geography in junior high school, and health, physical education, general science, mathematics, world geography, conservation and driver education in senior high school.

Prior to becoming a teacher, Glendenning served two years in the Air Force in World War II and spent one year as a sporting goods salesman.

A resident of Ortonville for the past eight years, Glendenning is a member of the local Rotary Club, PTA, Boy Scout Committee, Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, Brandon Community Activities group and the Michigan Education Assn.

Hungerford, who is leaving the system after six years, has not disclosed his future plans, school officials said.

Hears Blacktopping Proposal

Walled Lake Council OKs $1,800 Salary for Justice

WALLED LAKE — An ordinance setting up a $1,800 annual salary for the justice of the peace was approved by the City Council at last night's meeting here.

The salary will become effective when the term of the present justice expires on July 4 next year.

A report from councilman Charles Riffenburg concerning the blacktopping of a portion of Walled Lake drive was heard. He said businessmen along the drive wish to participate in the project.

However, they did ask that the city pay for a certain portion of the project because of the width of the drive.

Suggestions for a new city hall were introduced. These were that either the Van Lewen Building or the present post office building be considered. (Walled Lake is slated to get a new post office later this year.)

In other action, the council voted to proceed with steps necessary to transfer the cemetery from the Walled Lake Cemetery Assn. to the city.

City Manager George Shaw reported that during Michigan Week the city would exchange mayors with Essexville, a village of 3,167 on Saginaw Bay near Bay City.

In the April 6 election, four seats on the City Council will be filled. The terms of Mayor William Nixon, Mayor Pro Tem Walter Proctor and councilmen Marshall Taylor and Charles Nelson will expire at that time. Nixon, Proctor and Taylor have filed for re-election.

Others who have filed include Harold M. Ackley, Francis B. Hill, Wendel G. Kellogg Jr., Else V. Mercer, George R. Sweet, Robert R. Williams, Robert L. Wiltse.

Suspect Nabbed by Oxford Police

OXFORD — A 21-year-old Oxford man who allegedly tried to hold up gas station owner Rex Hallock at gunpoint last night is in Oakland County Jail today, according to Oxford Police Chief Al Roberts.

Robert Greenwood of 177 Broadway St. approached Hallock's station at 53 S. Washington St. with a 22-caliber rifle, Roberts said.

Hallock told police he saw Greenwood coming, put his foot against the inside of the door and leaned sidewise to escape the possible line of fire.

Greenwood forced the barrel of the gun through the door, Hallock said. Then he grabbed it and the assailant released his hold.

The arresting officer Roscoe Zolman said Greenwood at first admitted he intended to rob Hallock. But, while en route to jail in Pontiac, Greenwood changed his story, claiming he was going to try to sell the rifle, according to Zolman.

Greenwood is being held today for investigation of armed robbery.

President Clarifies U.S. Stand

President EISENHOWER made it quite clear exactly what our stand is in the Berlin situation Monday night in his address to the people. When he said, "We will not retreat one inch from our duty . . . we will not be first to breach the peace," he was not mincing words.

The President has taken a firm stand and it must be assumed that he has the facts and figures at hand to substantiate his decision. We feel that the President of our country, who also happens to be a military expert, is much closer to the world crisis than some of the sideline critics.

Of late the Capitol has been somewhat divided on how to save Berlin from the Reds. We would not be living in a democracy if differences of opinion did not exist. Some will still disagree. That's their privilege, but we're of the opinion that a definite stand on the Berlin impasse was necessary.

When it comes to the principle of safeguarding the freedom of 2,200,000 people of West Berlin, for example, there can be no difference of opinion.

IKE feels, and we are inclined to agree with him, that the risk of war is minimized if we take a firm stand. As he emphasiszed, we cannot try to purchase peace by forsaking over two million free people of Berlin.

The President's hope is that by standing firm against Russian pressure and bluff and at the same time offering to reconsider the broad problems of Germany and European security, the West can force Mr. Khrushchev to modify those demands which have perilous consequences.

We are behind the President's willingness to attend a summit meeting providing the proper ground work and development justify such a meeting.

The EISENOWER talk did not minimize the potential danger in the situation and granting the inscrutability of Russian intentions, he took the stand that the United States wants to negotiate first, but is ready for war if it should come.

In pointing out our strength the President hit back at some of his severest critics when he said, "The assertions that I am more interested in a balanced budget than a strong military are simply not true!"

Since the illness of Secretary of State DULLES it has been obvious that our procedures involving the Berlin differences needed to be exemplified. The Russians have shown themselves to be unyielding in the past and it was now necessary to make our position understood.

The President was not pessimistic and he made it letter clear that our military strength was not in jeopardy along with our refusal to back track in the face of aggression.

Fleet of Big Tankers to Protect Oil Trade

Recently a ship weighing 104,520 tons started on a trial run at Kure, Japan. It was explained at the launching ceremony that a 100,000 ton ship was as much of a challenge to shipbuilders as penetrating the sound barrier was to airplane designers.

Built by National Bulk Carriers, Inc. the tanker, Universe Appolo, is 984 feet long, 135 feet wide and 67 feet deep. It is capable of carrying 1.021 million barrels of oil and will be used to transport crude from the Middle East to Japan.

This launching emphasizes two trends: since the Suez crisis tankers are getting bigger, two big for the Canal, and shipbuilding while lagging in the U.S. and Britain, is flourishing in Japan where labor is cheaper and newer methods are being used. Before Suez the range was from 20,000 to 30,000 tons.

The Greek shipping magnate STAVROS NIARCHOS has ordered a 106,500 ton tanker from the Bethlehem Steel Co. at Quincy, Mass. The U.S. Maritime Administration recently agreed to insure the mortgage on this $26 million vessel.

Any further trouble in the Suez area will not cause such hardship as in 1956. These giant tankers will keep Europe supplied with oil.

The Man About Town

Nothing Like It

In All the World; and It Is Right Here Amongst Us

Hairbrush: For training the hair; also the heir.

Everybody who knows about it is in absolute agreement with

Robert T. Hatt,

Director of its Institute of Science, when he says, "One may look in vain elsewhere in the world for something quite like Cranbrook."

So named in honor of the village in England from which his father had come, it is a gift to the world from the late

Mr. and Mrs. George Gough Booth, located in an ideal setting in our Bloomfield Hills.

Samuel Alexander,

on which it is located, which was settled by pioneer stock, but had also been occupied by a mill, potash factory, store —and distillery.

It is near Bloomfield Center, first known as "Bagley's," and which once fostered ambitions to have the state capital moved there from Detroit. It is in Bloomfield Township which contained a settlement known as "Piety Hill," but that name later was changed to Birmingham.

About the time the first land in that township was taken up from the government by

in 1819, who was a brother of

Franklin Pierce,

who later became President of the United States, three families located on the present site of Cranbrook.

On the whole, the title of Dr. Hatt's last Founders' Day sermon at Cranbrook seems to be eminently justified. It was of 3115 Alco Dr. were caught in the act with a flash camera. The filchers turned out to be a pair of rabbits, who on occasion brought another couple along for company.

"The Heritage of a Bounty."

Some nighttime interlopers at the feeding station of

A sign that amuses

of Keego Harbor is the one on a Gladstone, Mich., garbage truck which says, "Our business is picking up."

That wild turkeys are again coming to the Pontiac area is the opinion of

of Lake Orion, who asserts that a pair have been regular visitors to his premises at nesting time for several years. In early times wild turkeys were a plentiful game here, and made up a good part of the local food supply.

David Lawrence Asks:

West Use Nuclear Weapons First?

WASHINGTON—There's one point that is more important than anything else in the controversy over whether America has enough defense weapons and manpower.

LAWRENCE

It's the key to an understanding of President Eisenhower's speech to the nation Monday. The point is whether the next war is going to be a nuclear, all-out war or just a "limited war."

The controversy isn't something that has just arisen. It has played a dominant part in discussions of war strategy ever since the fateful decision was made five years ago to adopt the "new look" in military affairs.

In a sense, therefore, every one of the factions in the present controversy has logic behind its position. If, for example, the fighting isn't to be nuclear, then more ground troops than America has today would seem to be needed. For the Soviets now have many more divisions of troops than do the Western Allies.

If you ask anyone in the top level of military men here whether the United States will be fighting an all-out war or a "limited war," the answer given is that nobody can ever tell in advance what the enemy will choose to do.

It could be, for instance, that the Soviet military chiefs would avoid use of nuclear weapons altogether, thus putting the responsibility for their initial use on the Western governments.

What, therefore, would the position of the United States, Britain and France be if an attack came and the enemy didn't use nuclear weapons?

Up to now this question has always been answered by saying that in war the objective is victory and that, since nuclear warheads are used by ground armies, it would be difficult to keep from operating on a nuclear-weapon basis.

It will be recalled, on the other hand, that the Western governments didn't permit the use of nuclear weapons in Korea and for about three years fought a ground war there involving huge numbers of troops.

Would this happen again? Army men and some in the Navy, too, feel that the United States should be prepared for both a nuclear war and any "limited war" in which ground operations are paramount.

From a budget standpoint, this is impractical, since it would require many billions more than now are being provided.

Also it runs up against the thinking of the Air Force and missile advocates, who say that, if any more billions become available for defense purposes, the money should go toward air warfare and that the next war will see a military decision in a few days' time due to the decisive nature of air power today.

So, looking at the whole problem, the Army men are right if there's to be a "limited war."

So also are the Air Force and missile people right when they argue that, if there is a nuclear war, the only job left for ground armies is to mop up and preserve order after the war has been won.

But there's another unknown factor: What will the political decision be? Will the Western governments decide on a big nuclear war, or will they refrain from using nuclear weapons unless the enemy does so first?

Admittedly, public opinion would play a vital part in making a decision one way or the other.

The Army men think it is necessary to be realistic and that, because use of nuclear weapons or of missile bases might be vetoed by some members of the Western Alliance, it would be a good idea to have ground troops in substantial numbers available to carry on "limited war."

Eisenhower, as an Army man, knows fully the viewpoint of all the advocates of more ground troops, but he also knows what nuclear weapons can do.

He not only is committed to use to the fullest extent of their power all nuclear weapons but he has, in effect, notified the potential enemy on that point.

The President pointed to the half-million troops on our side in the area and compared this with the 175 divisions of Soviet strength and then asked: "Why in the world would we dream of fighting a ground war?"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Pledge Is Real Bulwark Against Teenage Drinking

"At the age of 11," writes H.J.E., "I was confirmed by the late Bishop Thomas J. Walsh. At the ceremony we all took a pledge of total abstinence until we were 21. I kept the pledge because it was a solemn vow. I am now 47 and still don't drink.

DR. BRADY

"I think it had a great influence on my life. I know I am not an isolated instance. Lots of boys and girls take the pledge at the time of Confirmation and keep it for life. (H.J.E.)"

My brothers and I took the pledge at the age of seven or eight, at mother's knee. Mother was a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, for which I thank God every day when I thank Him for my good parents.

My three brothers and I kept the pledge for life. Having done well enough without alchohol in our youth, we couldn't see the sense of resorting to the narcotic after we were grown up.

Alcohol addicts, that is, drinkers who have to have their liquor every day, sometimes argue that it is wrong to ask a boy or girl to take the pledge before the child is old enough to know what he or she wants to do. If a person is going to drink he will drink in spite of such an involuntary promise, they maintain.

By the same reasoning, if a person is going to lie, steal or kill he will do so in spite of any teaching that it is wrong to do so.

From pretty wide correspondence with American and Canadian newspaper readers over a period of many years, I have gotten the frightening impression that parents, pastors, teachers, doctors, coaches and others in a position of authority or with influence on growing children either do not believe in total abstinence or, if they think the temperance pledge might help young persons through the perilous teen years, they are too timid to say so.

Mind you, I understand why you are afraid to speak up. No doubt your job, your business, professional, social or political welfare takes precedence over character, honor, integrity and all that there stuff, just as my desire to continue teaching health makes me pull punches, at any rate somewhat.

Just the same it is saddening and a little frightening to realize how very few Bishop Thomas J. Walshes are left.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"Some folks keep making the same mistakes over and over because they haven't the courage to make the effort that would lead to new ones."

Voice of the People

'Who Needs Inducement to Take Job Like That?'

It's my understanding that Mr. Eastman was paid over $300 to come to Pontiac to be interviewed for the job of Safety Director and over $300 to move himself and belongings here. It amazed me that all those inducements had to be used to capture a recruit for a $12,000 a year job.

After looking over the unemployed at the factory gates, it makes one wonder what kind of values are placed on human beings today. The morale of the City Police department coincides with that of the lowest vote ever turned out in Oakland County, but there's an old saying that it's always quietest before the storm.

'America Becomes Part of Lenin Plan'

Mr. Bourque quotes Lenin. Since the 7th Century, Russia feared alien impact, so she has made threats and alliances, always with world domination in mind. Russian leaders today are Leninists as they have been since 1825. Their pattern of conquest is always the same: create confusion among the working class, divide and conquer.

Since 1930 America has become part of that pattern, with unemployment due to unionist movements, government controls, taxes, etc. This is what Lenin hoped would happen. What happened in Hungary, Poland and China must not happen here.

America is spending itself right into Leninist plans. We won't be bombed because a war of nerves and fear began with the Berlin blockade and Korea. Russia goes all out on science and America follows, while most educators despair because the humanities and other divisions of education are withering. We look to science as people in Moses' time looked to the Golden Calf. Perhaps FDR was right when he said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Answer Letter by Agnostica

In answer to Agnostica's statement that beginning the school day with prayer is incompatible with freedom, nobody can or wants to force a child to pray. Students don't even have to salute our flag, but that doesn't stop the majority who wishes to do so. Let's remember our founding fathers' dream of a free nation was inspired by religious principles and nothing can protect the individual's freedom and dignity as effectively as a God-centered nation, inspired through prayer and study.

Former Agnostic

Agnostica hasn't a leg to stand on. From the Declaration of Independence to the most recent acts of Congress, we've established this nation believes in God.

The Declaration says, ". . . and for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence . . ." The National Anthem says "In God is our trust." This is just a restatement of our motto which has appeared on our coins and was added to paper currency last year, "In God We Trust."

This proves Agnostica lives in a country that believe in God as a stated national policy and when his rights conflict with people who believe in God, his must give way.

'Let's Put Blame Where It Belongs'

Why do we try to dodge it further, for those bombs are responsible for all this bad weather and we might as well face it. There are enough of them in the world now to blow Russia and the U. S. to kingdom come, so why do we keep on making more and more? Let's stop all arms making of all kinds and have peace and let the weather go back to fair and warmer.

'Give Teachers Right to Punish'

I wonder if teachers are afraid to punish smarty and bad-acting school children? I think they should be advised by the top authorities that it is their right to preserve peace and manners in the school room. Any parents that are dumb enough to take the child's part against the teachers are too dumb to worry about. Children must be taught to mind and if the parents are a dud at home, at least give the schools a fair chance.

Income Tax Notes

TAXES

In itemizing your deductions on page 2 of Form 1040, you are allowed to deduct most non-Federal taxes paid by you.

You may only deduct taxes if they are imposed on you. Real estate taxes, for example, may only be deducted by the owner of the property.

Although there is no set formula for figuring your state sales tax deduction, there is a suggested method.

Take your income for the year and then subtract from it all amounts which were spent on items on which no sales tax was imposed.

The amounts to subtract from income includes: income tax withheld, house mortgage payments, loan payments, contributions, medical expenses and others. Multiply the ending figure by 3 per cent, which will give you the Michigan sales tax deduction.

Another problem is computing your deduction for Michigan state gasoline tax paid — which is six cents on every gallon purchased.

To easily figure your deduction for gasoline tax, determine the total miles traveled during the year divide by miles per gallon. The answer is gallons used, which multiplied by 6 cents will give the amount of this deduction.

Deductible taxes are listed in your Form 1040 instruction booklet; or if you have question, call the local office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Woo Husband to Win Back Love

Wives, re-read this case about Arthur for there are times when a man doesn't know what he is talking about. When males go beserk emotionally at about the age of 40, don't feel unduly hurt at their caustic remarks, for they are like a child, delirious with fever. They don't know what they are saying! But you can revive their love by the advice below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-481: Arthur G., aged 39, is the husband who developed an idealistic romance with a young school teacher.

DR. CRANE

He rudely affronted his wife by telling her he didn't love her but admired her just as a friend.

So I warned his wife not to let her hurt pride prevent her from following the proper psychological prescription.

"Arthur may rebuff your ardent advances, but don't let his jibes disturb you. For he is emotionally deranged even though we cannot send him to a sanatorium.

"And I promise you that within a few months you will have him as devoted as during your first year of marriage.

"But he is a slave to mankind's greatest terror and is hiding behind this supposed poetical romance as a camouflage.

"Throw off your natural feminine passivity and banish his fears, for such terrors in men are usually psychological."

PROGRESS REPORT

A week later, his wife tearfully informed me that she had tried to revive his ardor, but he had bluntly informed her:

"It wouldn't be fair to the other girl: I love her as an ethereal, divine mate."

So I warned his wife again that Arthur was figuratively "out of his head" like a child, delirious with high fever.

"He doesn't consciously know what is wrong with him. But you understand, for I have dissected him completely for you, so do as I say and disregard your hurt pride."

She agreed and two weeks later she reported that they were living as man and wife, though she was still taking the initiative in their boudoir.

Then she failed to report to me for two months. This usually indicates things are progressing fairly well, for patients come back to the doctor quickly when matters go wrong.

Then she came into my office one afternoon with this report:

"Dr. Crane, last night I was doing some sewing, seated in a chair in our living room. Arthur had been working on some school records. Finally, he came over and sat on the footstool beside me.

"And he told me he loved me more than anybody in this whole world: He said he didn't understand what ailed him when he had informed me earlier that he was in love with this teacher.

"For he said he never had loved her at all. He was simply confused and said he must have been crazy.

"Then he added that for a couple of years he had been worried, though he had never confessed it to me, lest he was going to be permanently a platonic husband.

"He said it scared him and he guessed he was just berserk when this teacher came on the faculty at his high school.

"Anyway, he took me in his arms and told me he loved me more than during our first year of marriage, and was happier now than as a bridegroom.

"Naturally, Dr. Crane, I cried and so did Arthur, but we are really more in love than ever in all of our marriage. So everything has worked out happily, after all."

If you are a wife, be sure you have the booklet, "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents (non-profit), for when a husband passes 35, he can go berserk, like Arthur.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Asian Nations Talk About Productivity

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi today opened Asia's first productivity conference and expressed hope the three-day meeting would help overcome poverty and contribute toward world peace.

Spring Truck Curbs Lifted in Upper Areas

LANSING (UP)—Truck weight restrictions imposed by the spring road breakup have been temporarily suspended on all state trunklines north of and including M55 on a line from Tawas City to Manistee.

The state Highway Department said weight restrictions will continue to be enforced on all trunklines south of M55 except those previously designated as all-season routes.

Hungarian Communists to Rehabilitate Red

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarian Communists are going to "rehabilitate" the memory of Bela Kun, leader of the short-lived Hungarian Soviet republic after World War I who died in Communist disgrace.

Kun went into exile in Soviet Russia in 1919 on the collapse of his five-month-old Red regime and later fell out of favor with Stalin. He died in the late 1930s.

Kun's widow, son and daughter have arrived here from the Soviet Union to attend a ceremony putting his memory back in good Communist standing at the 40th anniversary of Hungarian communism March 21.

C. B. DeMille's Widow to Get $5,000 Monthly

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cecil B. De Mille's 85-year-old widow gets a $5,000 monthly allowance from his estate under a court order issued Tuesday.

The award was made on request of De Mille's daughter, Mrs. Cecelia De Mille Harper, who recently was named guardian of her mother, Mrs. Constance De Mille.

Mrs. Harper is the chief beneficiary in De Mille's will. He died last Jan. 21 at age 77.

Bill Would Favor Michigan Products

LANSING (UP)—Seven Senators are asking that the state purchasing agent be required, in supplying state needs, to give preference to products made or grown in Michigan.

Michigan supplies and commodities would have to be purchased unless their cost, including transportation, was determined to be five per cent above that of th same or similar out-of-state products.

Sen. Raymond D. Dzendzel (D-Detroit), chief sponsor of the bill filed yesterday, said it was brought in primarily to help carpenters working at desk and cabinet production and sugar beet growers.

"This would help at least some small wood working plants from going broke or moving out of th state," he said.

Must Use Full Capacity

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — Amherst College students can be suspended for not working to full capacity as well as for failing their courses under a new school policy. It is expected to affect about a dozen students a year and is designed to make all students extend themselves as far as they can.

House Cuts Military Construction in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has cut $684,000 from a proposed $6,539,000 for Michigan projects in a bill authorizing $1,190,050,000 for military construction in the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The authorization bill, approved by the committee yesterday, is $109,247,000 less than President Eisenhower proposed in his budget message last January.

Committee changes included:

$35,000 from new facilities for K. I. Sawyer Municipal Airport at Marquette; $313,000 from maintenance facilities at Selfridge Air Force Base, Mount Clemens;

JUST SAY: "Charge It"

Bob Considine Says:

Our Lads Have What It Takes to Stop Reds

NEW YORK — If we get in a ground shoot to protect our access to Berlin, how will our lads do? How will a generation raised on rock 'n' roll and cradled in high horsepower buggies fare against musketry and cold steel if forced to clear a lane through resisting or attacking Reds?

We took those questions today to Brig. Gen. S. L. A. Marshall, Army historian and author of a dozen books, tracts and reports on major battles involving American troops in World War I and II and Korea.

The thoughtful students of U. S. fighting men said the best answer to those questions would be a review of how American boys conducted themselves in the last scrap in which the American flag was involved.

That was the bloody Battle of Pork Chop Hill in the closing hours of the Korean War nearly six years ago.

Gen. Marshall wrote a book about that almost forgotten but, to him, highly significant skirmish. It will soon be seen as a film produced by Cy ("12 O'clock High") Bartlett, starring Gregory Peck, the only truly authentic war picture ever filmed from a comprehensive battle study, the general assured us.

The nearly 200 troops who were sent against that obscure and worthless hill fought for it as if they were defending the Potomac or their home towns. They ranged from 19 to 25 years of age. They, too, were green and their lives had been soft, by the standards of the Red Chinese who opposed them. All but 35 were killed or badly wounded. But they held.

"These men went into battle knowing that the generals were meeting at Panmunjom and that a truce was about to be signed," Marshall told us. "Certain majors and captains had assured me that the fight had gone out of the men, with all the talk of the upcoming truce. Nobody wanted dangerous duty. Nobody wanted to get hit the day the war ended.

"But for two days and two nights these men fought with everything they had, led by young lieutenants who were determined to follow orders at any cost. The place itself was worthless, tactically. They knew that after winning it they probably would be told to withdraw because it was a fire trap. The rumors of peace were all around them. Matter of fact, Mark Clark told me on the day the men moved against the hill that things at Panmunjom would come to a head at any minute.

"Yet not one man dogged it in this battle. They showed more red raw courage at Pork Chop Hill than in any American group I've seen or studied since Soissons in 1918."

He believes the boys would fight along the Autobahn or in the Teirgarten just as valiantly as those who performed the last time we had to fight. Marshall further believes that this fact borders on the miraculous when consideration is taken of a military policy which he, as an old soldier, condemns. He says:

"Pork Chop Hill was saved finally only because average young Americans, given a task in the name of the country, a task which challenges their character and the profoundest instincts of their manhood, will respond today as wholly as at Gettysburg or the Alamo.

"Yet, at the top, too few people believe this. Major military policy is so written as to appeal to the cheapest instincts of Americans rather than to rally their basic strengths and to make firm a unified loyalty by putting a heavy demand upon it.

The general likes the way Lewis Milestone directed the film about the battle. He used only former combat veterans as film troops, made them wear their full gear including flak vests even during coffee breaks. The fire curtain was thinned down realistically. It is quieter than any previous battle film, and thus more honest.

"No troops could actually live through the average Hollywood battleground barrage" the general said critically. " 'Pork Chop Hill' hasn't made that mistake. The pounding is about the way it comes in battle — harassing, intermittent and now and then a real stonk."

'King and I' Wins Ovation at Opener

By CHRIS GAENSBAUER

The mountain may not customarily go to Mohammed, but the Broadway stage—or a reasonable facsimile—seems to have come to Pontiac.

"The King and I," by Rodgers and Hammerstein, produced by the combined vocal and dramatic departments of Pontiac Central High School, directed by Garth Errington and George Putnam, and starring Lynn Walker and Marilyn Vernon, is now playing at the Pontiac Northern auditorium and is a show well worth seeing.

The opening matinee performance on Tuesday met with enthusiastic audience approval for its smooth production, excellent singing and acting, and very effective staging and lighting.

BASED ON FACT

The book "The King and I" is based on the account of true experiences of Anna Leonowens, an English school teacher who, in 1860, was engaged by the king of Siam to teach the English language and Western ideas to his numerous wives and children.

Marilyn Vernon, as the firm-minded Anna who not only succeeds in educating the wives and children, but the king as well, was attractive and confident in her portrayal. She sang her delightful solos ("I Whistle a Happy Tune," "Hello, Young Lovers," "Shall We Dance?") with full and pleasing voice.

Lynn Walker brought to the demanding role of the King a maturity and dramatic insight surprising in a high school performer. His was a strong delineation in voice, bearing and mannerisms of this tyrannical, exuberant, obstinate but "scientific" monarch, and provided much comedy.

EXCELLENT CAST

Each member of the cast was excellent and provided memorable moments — Sally Warren as the gentle, dignified head wife; Lady Thiang singing "Something Wonderful"; tragic Tuptim (Sharon Pike) and her lover, Lun Tha, (Dennis Zimmerman) sharing "We Kiss in the Shadows."

Jim Baker as the oldest prince and heir gave a competent imitation of his "father" and was joined in a bright duet by Anna's son, Louis, well played by David Brien.

James McIntosh as Captain Orton of the ship bringing Anna to Siam, James Bank the interpreter, Kralahome (Clark Davis) Phra Alack, the prime minister (Carl Pappas) and the English ambassador Sir Edward Ramsay (Tom O'Brien) all gave convincing performances.

The several wives and captivating children added greatly to the color and charm of the production. Costumes were secured from New York for the entire cast, and are authentic and impressive. Equally impressive are the striking stage settings designed by Central's own Mrs. Jean Smith, assisted by Carol Olsen and Nancy Donaldson.

PLAY WITHIN PLAY

Comment must be made on the "play within a play" scene in which "The Small House of Uncle Tom" is enacted Siam-style in ballet sequences with a narrator and voice choir. It is an outstanding piece of choreography and staging with some excellent dancing by Sandra Wray and others. Gary Relyea at the piano and the orchestra also add to the musical enjoyment.

The first evening performance of "The King and I" will be given tonight at 8 o'clock and repeated Friday and Saturday evenings, with a matinee Thursday afternoon. Charlotte Osmun will replace Sally Warren as Lady Thiang Friday and Saturday.

Good seats are still available for tonight and Thursday, and a limited number for Friday. Saturday has only standing room available.

This production of "The King and I" represents worthwhile effort of many students and teachers and merits community support in addition to providing an opportunity to see and hear one of the most successful Broadway shows in recent years.

Symphony Shows Fine Musicianship in 4th Concert

By WILLIAM WALROD

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra presented its fourth concert of the season last night. Francesco Di Blasi shared the podium with Mrs. Celia Merrill Turner, who is the associate conductor, in this program of orchestral music.

Mrs. Turner, conducting the string section of the orchestra, opened the program with Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 in G Major. This short concerto is highly contrapuntal and technically difficult to perform. Mrs. Turner's fine musicianship was very evident in her interpretation of this Bach masterpiece and the performance was very satisfactory.

Haydn's "London" Symphony in D Major (No. 104) was his last symphonic work. Mrs. Turner and the orchestra did an excellent performance of this famous symphony; the tempos and phrasing were very characteristic of this 18th century musical giant. Particularly noticeable was the colorful ensemble blend achieved by the flutes and oboes in several sections of the symphony.

DRAMATIC CONTRAST

Following intermission and in stark contrast to Bach and Haydn, Mr. Di Blasi conducted the orchestra in Saint-Saens' "grotesque" Danse Macabre. This unusual Dance of Death has a highly emotional effect upon its listeners. Saint-Saens made excellent use of brass and percussion as well as solo violin, which was expertly played by Jack Boesen, who is also a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Di Blasi and the orchestra did an excellent work of portraying this intensely dramatic tone poem.

Lecuona's "Andalucia" is not quite so well known as his "Siboney" and his "Malaguena" but has nevertheless become one of his most popular works. The orchestra did a commendable job of accentuating the Spanish rhythms and giving this work that certain flavor which is so characteristic of Spain.

In the lighter vein, Mr. Di Blasi and the orchestra concluded the concert with selections from Rodgers and Hammerstein's 1951 musicale, "The King and I." This work was just what was needed to give the entire program that extra spice of variety which indeed it had. The brass and percussion sections were given prominence in a wonderful performance from this great musical hit.

PROGRESS EVIDENT

It was very pleasing to notice that Mr. Di Blasi did not refer to a score for any of the selections which he conducted; this is not common in civic orchestras. It is very gratifying to realize the manner in which the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra has grown in this season; the performance of the last three selections on this program would rank favorably with that of professional orchestras.

Pontiac can well be proud of its orchestra, which is doing an excellent job of promoting cultural interest and appreciation in the city.

Egyptian Queen Used Make-Up in 1300 B.C.

Queen Nefert-ete, the mother of King Tutankhamen, was the reigning beauty of ancient Egypt around 1300 B. C. She painted her nails red with henna, outlined her eyes with black and painted her eyebrows.

To avoid competition with other women, she forbade them to cut or curl their hair; then, promptly shaved her own head completely in the style of the royal kings.

She adorned her head with elaborate headdresses and avoided in every way possible the appearance of hair. Rumors of the time had it that in reality, the Queen was bald.

The scarves which you wear to protect the collar of your winter coat need frequent dry cleaning.

Have You Tried This?

Trio of Fruit Juices Blended in Dressing

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When we talked with Janet Postma's mother to set a time to get a pre-Rhubarb Festival picture, we asked her for a recipe. We thought she'd be interested in cooking if she had taught her daughter.

She is. The photographer brought back a whole sheaf of recipes from the Postmas. It's hard to know which one to print. This fruit salad dressing, made with three kinds of fruit juice, is our choice. Incidentally, Mrs. Postma is active in 4-H Club work.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING
By Mrs. John Postma

Boil together:
½ cup pineapple juice
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 tablespoons water

Beat 2 eggs and gradually add:
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Beat together well and add to first mixture. Boil until thick, stirring occasionally. Cool and just before serving add 1 cup whipped cream.

It Takes Know-How

Give Shoes Proper Care

With so many colors and varieties of leathers, fabrics and plastics featured in the shoe fashion picture for spring and summer, women should know that what preserves one type is ineffectual for another. A real spruce-up for patent leather is death on a plastic pump. Caring for reptile shoes is quite a different procedure from refurbishing smooth leathers.

After years of research on these problems, chemists and shoe experts have assembled some worthwhile suggestions to help the ladies keep their shoe wardrobes in good order and they're all quick and easy!

Number One admonition is this: Be sure that the polish or restorer you apply is intended for that particular shoe you are working on. For instance:

Patent leather which has lost its brightness needs a special application that lays down a completely new film to restore the original finish. Don't use any water to clean patent leather shoes. Don't use patent finish on heels because they are celluloid covered and can be cleaned easily with a cloth. The refinish that does a rejuvenating job on the patent can dissolve the celluloid.

DON'T SATURATE

To renew suede pumps, never saturate suede with the renewer. Spray it on evenly and lightly over the entire surface AFTER dust and lint have been brushed off. Be sure the shoes dry thoroughly before wearing them. For any glazed spots, use a little dry cleaner and, if sufficiently worn, rub the spots with sandpaper very gently.

When cleaning mesh footwear, cover inside of the shoe with a white cloth so that when mesh cleaner is put onto the shoe, the cloth helps absorb the dirt being removed by the cleaner.

For fabric shoes, apply the fabric cleaner, using cloth that comes with the package and work up a suds which helps remove dirt. Wipe off foam and dirt and allow the shoes to dry thoroughly before wearing.

The very nature of reptile leather makes it essential to treat the shoes gently. When reptile cleaner is applied with clean cloth rub entire surface and allow to dry. Then rub up with a soft dry cloth to restore the glossy finish.

Many women believe that because plastic shoes have a high gloss they may be treated like patent leather. Patent dressings won't do the job because the plastic shoes need a cleaner to replace plasticizers that keep the materials alive and flexible.

Keeping shoes of any leather or other material in order by proper care means better looking and longer lasting footwear.

Match ironing boards to kitchen decor by covering the board with printed or pastel cotton.

Don't Cherish Old Tarnished Jewelry

When pet pieces of costume jewelry begin to tarnish or otherwise fade, replace them no matter how beloved they are.

Wearing them only detracts from your costume. And there are so many beautiful pieces of costume jewelry with which to replace them.

Scissors in Kitchen

Scissors have many uses in a busy kitchen. They cut parsley, chives, mint, scallions and leeks without the bother of a knife and cutting board.

Prejudice, Male Traditions Are Obstacles

Road to Success Rough One for Women

Kay Clancy Metz, director of women's activities for a national breakfast food company, believes these statements are true, but also arrives at the painful conclusion that no one is pushing or is behind business or professional women. If they "arrive" at all, it is under their own power," she says.

Miss Metz points out that at the turn of the century, the only women who worked were those who couldn't find husbands or those who didn't have a male relative willing to support them.

Today, however, 9 out of 10 American women hold jobs at some time in their lives. There are almost 23 million working women today, and women are listed in all 446 job classifications issued by the U. S. Department of Labor.

ROUGH ROAD

"The road to success for a woman, though, is still cluttered with leftover prejudices, outmoded customs and male traditions," she says.

Miss Metz offers some advice to the ladies to help them along this rugged road.

"First," she says, "you must have a sense of humor about these prejudices. There is no better defense against misfortune and disappointment than a sense of humor."

If you are not happy in your work, "For heaven sakes change," says Miss Metz. No women (or anyone for that matter) can afford 250 days a year of misery.

Miss Metz goes on to say that it is important to help others (this will help you, too). If you expect to go on to bigger things, make sure your present job is in good hands.

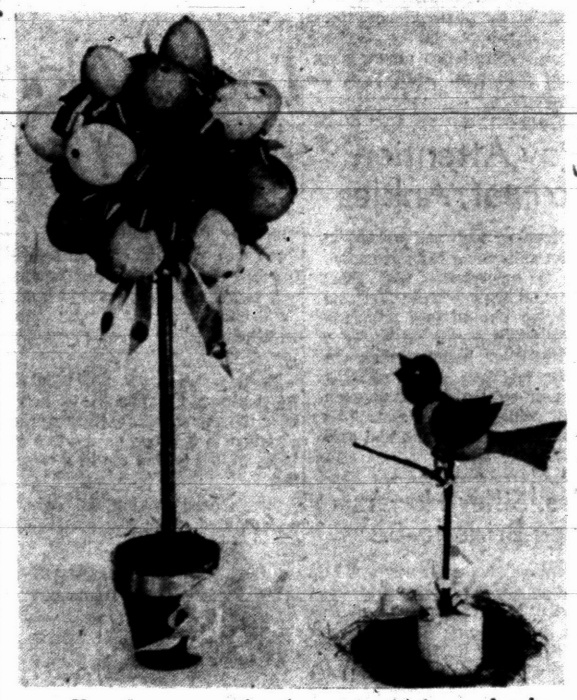
She concludes by saying that women must work hard to achieve success.

"A woman must work twice as hard as men for equal recognition on the road to success."

Above All—Don't Push Panic Button

Children will be curious, and accidents will happen. So, be ready for both by storing this tip with your emergency information: if your child eats or drinks anything poisonous, phone the doctor.

Then, instead of panicking, give the child several glasses of soapy water, mixed with baking soda or mustard. This serves as an antidote by helping to induce vomiting, thus eliminating the hazardous substance.



Here is a suggestion for an intriguing and colorful Easter time decoration. Both tree and small bird are made of dyed eggshells and, despite the professional look, are easy enough for youngsters to make.

A variation of the Empire look is created in this linen dress with its high fitting waistline without a belt. The front is accented with embroidery and lace. May be purchased locally.

Feuding Parents Cast Shadow — Abby

Bride-to-Be Fears Nuptial Gloom

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is my parents. After 27 years of fighting, my parents have decided to get a divorce. I plan to announce my engagement when my boy friend gets back from the service in July and we will be married in September.

ABBY

"I think it is a disgrace to have the divorce pending with all the publicity in the papers (my mother is naming a woman who works for my father) while I am being engaged and married. I know the parents of my fiance will be ashamed, also. Don't you think my parents could hold off their divorce for a few months until after I'm married and gone?"

DISGUSTED DAUGHTER

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your parents should definitely consider you and postpone their divorce. If they could stand each other for 27 years, another few months won't make any difference.

"DEAR ABBY: Last week our 12-year-old daughter took the name of the Lord in vain. Her father heard her and spanked her bare behind. I said she was practically a woman and was too old to be spanked by her father that way. He said that as long as she needed it he was going to spank her the only way it would bring results and being a woman made no difference. Do you think he is right?"

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: When a young woman needs to be punished—punish her—but I think you are asking her to bear too much.

"DEAR ABBY: I am graduating from High School in June. I have always wanted to join the WACS or WAVES or SPARS but my mother says she is not sure that nice girls join any of these services. How can I convince her that they do?"

INTERESTED IN THE SERVICE

DEAR INTERESTED: Your mother is mistaken. I will be glad to send her any first-hand letters I receive. In the meantime, visit your local recruiting office and don't be afraid to ask questions.

"DEAR ABBY: Our son is being played for a sucker by the little snip he married. He was out of work for a long time but at Christmas time she made him go deep into debt to buy her something she picked out for herself. She needed this gift like I need a hole in my head. Our son is so good-hearted she walks all over him. When they are short we pay their bills but it sure gripes me to see the way she uses him. Do we have a right to say something or not?"

JUST PLAIN IRKED

DEAR JUST: People who are frequently "short" and accept financial help from parents have no business spending their money for foolishness. Any man (including your son) who lets a woman walk all over him must enjoy the abuse. You have a right to say plenty.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SISSIE: Tell your "man of few words" that you are a woman of still fewer words . . . and the answer is "NO!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVE AT FIRST FLIGHT" AT TWA: Keep your feet on the ground, Honey. The only man who is really "out of this world" is the man in the moon.

Girls Resent Having Feelings Ignored

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

He was tall, good-looking and the big wheel on Betty's campus.

On their first date, he drove to a secluded lane, parked his car and demanded a kiss. She felt that he was rushing her and said so.

When he persisted, his disinterest in what she felt frightened her. Jumping out of the car, she got away from him.

Later, ashamed of himself, he called at her home. Making his apologies to her father, he said, "I've always expected girls to go along with what I want rather than lose me."

He was an actor playing the role of Jerry, Betty Anderson's new date in a recent TV episode of "Father Knows Best." In the soundproofed room where its producers had just screened it for some teen-agers and me, lights went on, and the youngsters were asked for comments.

"It's always up to girls to draw the line," a pretty pony-tailed girl said.

"Yeah, but it's always up to us to try and make them stretch it," called a boy from the back row.

"If a girl doesn't want to kiss a fellow on their first date," said the dark-haired girl beside me, "she can find other ways to show her interest in him."

A good-looking boy in the front row turned around to her. "A kiss should have some meaning," he said. "I certainly don't want to kiss just any girl to satisfy my ego."

I spoke up. "How many of you boys agree with Jerry's idea that a girl should go along with what you want — or lose you?"

No boy agreed. A girl said hotly, "If a boy dropped me because I wouldn't kiss him on a first date, I'd feel I was well rid of him."

ANOTHER QUESTION

"I have another question," I said. "How do you girls feel about Betty's father taking Jerry's apologies for her instead of calling her and letting her do what she wanted to with them?"

They all turned to stare at me. "I'd be wild if my parents did that to me!" a girl exclaimed.

"Then boys who think they know best when they insist on kisses are not so different from parents who always know best?" I asked.

They were bright young people. The girl beside me said slowly, "Maybe that's what this discussion is really about. Maybe we girls just don't like people who ignore our right to have feelings of our own."

TV Westerns have invaded the realm of the Easter Bunny. All you need to make these wild westerners is easter egg dye, bright construction paper and sticky tape — and your best imagination. To make your creations stand up, just stick on some cardboard feet. The horse is made of an empty eggshell and matchsticks.

African Treasures Enhance Unique Room for Legislator

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON—A few treasured possessions can transform a run-of-the-mill room into the most popular part of a house.

This, at least, is the experience of Rep. Frances P. Bolton, (R-Ohio), who has made an "African room" out of an unused upstairs sitting room of her big Washington home.

The room contains the prized gifts — and some purchases — that she brought home from a 20,000-mile tour of 24 countries of Africa. She made the trip for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, on which she now holds the second top GOP post.

Although her trip was made in 1955, it was only recently that Mrs. Bolton assembled her African possessions in one room. As she told a staff member of the National Association of Home Buidlers:

"I had this upstairs sitting room that I had never used. Now I find I am using it all the time."

It is the room to which she instinctively turns when she comes home from "The Hill." Although she has an inviting library on the first floor, the little sitting room upstairs is where she relaxes with newspapers at the end of the day. She has an easy chair beside the fireplace and she props up her feet on one of her fine wooden stools from Africa.

African trophies usually run to animal skins and other jungle reminders. But Mrs. Bolton's African room reflects, instead, the art work of the people she met in the various countries.

CHEERFUL TONE

The cheerful tone of the room is set by a painting of a "camel fair" over the mantel. About three-fourths of the upper part of the picture is of interesting desert sky in subtle colors. Red and white-robed men and their camels splash the lower part of the picture with vivid color.

Mrs. Bolton has a number of carved wooden figures and heads from the various countries she visited. She has placed her treasures in and about the Queen Anne cabinets and other traditional furniture in such a way as to avoid any overpowering effect. A guest in the room only gradually "discovers" many of the art works.

But each piece has a story for Mrs. Bolton. A carved wooden tray with two wooden wine cups on it recalls a special visit she made to Eastern Nigeria.

About a year before she went to Africa, she befriended a Nigerian student in this country. When he heard she was going to visit his part of the world, he begged her to see his father, the head man of the village, and his mother.

She did, although the visit meant a three-hour plane and two-hour car ride she would not otherwise have taken. But she remembers the day well. The older children staged tribal dances for her.

A tree to the side of the dancing was, she said, "literally filled with little boys—and at the end of the program, the tree split in the middle from the weight of the boys and came down slowly." Luckily, no one was injured.

Mrs. Bolton has a spacious living room for formal entertaining. But what guests remember is going upstairs to see startling colors—the reds, ochres, and browns of Africa and the tables and stools of the beautiful African wood.

Pay Attention to Feet, Ankles

Keeping feet and ankles in trim calls for a little attention. It is unfortunate that most women neglect their feet and develop painful foot problems as a result.

Whenever bathing, massage your feet and use a soothing cream on them. Rotate each foot while sitting down. This stimulates circulation and also trims the ankles.

Mrs. Siller Honors Area Bride-to-Be

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wavell Hilborn, Mrs. Marvin McVicar and Mrs. Janet Landrum.

Looks Alone Won't Make You Popular

By RUTH MILLETT

He was walking on air before his first date with the best-looking girl in his school. He wasn't quite as excited over his second date with her. And he never asked her for a third.

She'll never know why. But I do, because I happened to overhear the young man explaining the situation to a friend as the two of them waited behind me in a ticket line.

"She's good looking, all right," he admitted. "But she spends all of her time trying to impress you, and it sure does get tiresome."

No matter how attractive a girl is she isn't going to get asked for the third date unless she is smart enough to know that a boy wants to impress a girl, not vice versa.

A boy can see that a girl is pretty. If she is popular he knows that, too. If her family has money or social position, that won't be any secret to him.

So why should she try so hard to impress him that she bores him to death?

Why doesn't she just relax and have a good time, seeing that he has a good time? Why doesn't she give him the impression that she thinks he is pretty special instead of giving him the idea that she thinks she is?

When it comes to trying to impress boys, pretty girls are usually worse offenders than not-so-pretty girls. Because a girl who isn't impressed with her own beauty doesn't feel called upon to try to impress boys with how lucky they are to have a date with her.

Instead, the plain girl tries to see that the boy enjoys her company so much he'll want another date with her because she's fun to be with, and because she has given him a chance to impress her a little.

So pretty girls, take warning.

You Might Draw for Aisle Seat

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Every once in a while I go to the theater with a group of women friends (six to be exact). We play cards together and put aside a certain amount each week for this purpose. One of the women usually takes charge of the tickets.

"There is one woman in the group who always manages to be the first one to the seats and promptly sits herself down on the aisle seat, forcing the others to walk in front of her and take the seats beyond. I think this is not only very bad manners on her part but selfish as well. When I casually mentioned this to her, her reply was "First come, first served."

"Don't you agree, Mrs. Post, that this is very rude and that the first person should take the the farthest seat in and the others follow as they happen to come, the last person seated, taking the aisle seat?"

Answer: You are right except in one case, namely, when the first to arrive in a pew for a wedding has the right to the aisle seat.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine tells me that it is not really proper to take or send a present to a hostess after staying with her for a weekend as it implies "payment for hospitality." Will you please tell me if this is true?"

Answer: A bread and butter letter is an exaction of etiquette, but the presents we take or send to our hostess depend entirely upon our own feeling. Certainly it is proper to give them but not necessary.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When addressing wedding invitations, may the name of the state be abbreviated (for example, Pa. for Pennsylvania) or must it be written out in full?"

Story of Japan's Next Empress Is a Fairy Tale Come True

(This is the first of three dispatches about the next Empress of Japan. Michiko Shoda, the first 'commoner' in 26 centuries to share the Japanese throne.)

By RONALD P. KRISS

TOKYO (UPI) — The next Empress of Japan will be a girl who never could have hoped to be — except for a change in an ancient tradition.

She is Michiko Shoda, a commoner, and for 26 centuries no commoner ever has shared the ultra-exclusive throne of Japan.

Who is this girl whose poise, intelligence and good looks prompted the Crown Prince Akihito to upset 2,618 years of tradition?

Michiko Shoda was born in Tokyo University Hospital, Oct. 20, 1934; she is only 10 months younger than her future husband.

Her childhood was spent in an atmosphere of wealth and ease. There were summers in the mountains of Karuizawa or on the beaches of Hayama, and winters in Tokyo.

Her well-to-do parents, Hidesaburo and Fumi Shoda, were an accomplished, widely traveled couple. They traced their ancestry to successful rice merchants and scholars.

ERUDITE BACKGROUND

The financial brain of the family was Michiko's grandfather, Teiichiro Shoda, now at 88 patriarch of the clan. He started in business with a soy sauce factory and wound up with the multi-million dollar Nisshin flour mill, which he eventually turned over to Michiko's father.

From a healthy baby, Michiko developed into a sickly child, bothered with tympanitis, a chronic inflammation of the middle ear which made her susceptible to many colds.

Her doctors prescribed a lot of exercise, and so the girl began the athletic career which finally led to her first meeting with the Crown Prince.

By the time she was nine, the doctor's prescription had paid off—she rarely was ill and her athletic skill earned her the nickname "Little Antelope" from her schoolmates.

With World War II, and eventually the American bombers over Tokyo, Japanese officials decided to evacuate school children to the countryside. In the next three years, Michiko moved five times—but spent much of the time in Tatebayashi City, ancestral home of the Shoda family, north of Tokyo.

Life returned to normal in 1947 and the Shodas resettled in Tokyo. Michiko entered the Catholic Sacred Heart school, although she is not a Catholic, and attended through college.

The Shodas reversed the traditional Japanese pattern of spoiling children — when study time came, Mrs. Shoda sent Michiko into her room to work, even if it meant breaking up a game with friends. The child's allowance never was much more than 1,000 yen ($2.78) a month.

Michiko sailed through Sacred Heart as honor student (her four-year average was an impressive 90 per cent), campus leader and top athlete.

When she was graduated in 1957, she delivered the Valedictory address. In her senior yearbook, her classmates wrote, "she has won her way into all our hearts."

TENNIS FAN

After graduation, Michiko spent most of her time in the family home at Gotanda, a quiet residential area in the capital. But her love of tennis drew her to Karuizawa during the summer, where the weather was crisp and the court good.

It was in 1956 that Akihito first noticed her. The Crown Prince nudged a companion and pointing to Michiko, said, "Look at the pretty girl over there."

By this time, Michiko was five feet, three and ½ inches tall, weighed 114 pounds and had a 32-23-36 figure.

But formal meeting with her future husband wasn't until a year later, in 1957, when she and a young American boy trounced the Crown Prince in a mixed doubles tennis match.

The first academic building at Michigan State University Oakland will contain 39 classrooms, 4 elementary and advanced physics and chemistry laboratories, 2 large lecture rooms, a library and faculty offices.

Surgeon Creates Bladder in Two-Stage Operation

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The successful creation of a urinary bladder from a segment of the small intestine was reported Monday by the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dallas.

The operation was developed by Dr. Charles L. Reynolds, 31. It holds hope for patients where cancer, other disease or injury necessitates removal of the bladder, the VA said.

Dr. Reynolds' operation has been described in papers read before the American College of Surgeons and the Mexican Surgical Society.

The new two-stage operation involves removing the bladder completely. Then a piece of small intestine 8 to 10 inches long is cut and the segment is then swung down in the abdomen and attached to the urethra at about a midway point in an approximate T shape, and one end of the segment is closed. Tubes from the kidneys (ureters) are then attached to the segment. The open end of the segment is attached to the skin to drain outside of the body.

Five to six weeks later in the second operation, the open end of the segment is tied off and the artificial bladder is enclosed in the body.

Two patients, both veterans, have undergone the operation, the Dallas Morning News reported.

The first, a 38-year-old man, volunteered for the operation 18 months ago. Dr. Reynolds said the operation was successful.

He said that the second man's operation, performed last December, will also prove successful, but not enough time has elapsed to permit a definite conclusion.

Dr. Reynolds' technique is described as similar to surgery by Dr. L. N. Pyrah at Leeds University in England and by Dr. Sidney Weinburg of New York University. The three surgeons have consulted.

Industry Promotion to Cost State $2,940

LANSING (AP) — The State Economic Development Commission has been authorized by the State Administrative Board to spend $2,940 on industry promotion signs rather than lose free billboard space.

Robert Nicholson, assistant to the director, said the State Outdoor Advertisers Assn. had donated 508 billboard spots for placement of eight by 19-foot color posters with the legend:

"Michigan — a good place to locate your industry."

Nicholson said the gift was valued at from $30,000 to $50,000.

He said the plan was to erect the posters along tourist routes for the effect they might have on vacationing business executives from other states.

He said the commission in the past year had been the beneficiary of nearly $250,000 of free newspaper space in a somewhat similar program.

Soviet Baptists Shun 'Prophet' From West

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Literary Gazette says a Baptist congregation in the Soviet border city of Brest wants no more of such "Western prophets" as Martin A. Nordfors, an American.

The paper said tourist Nordfors distributed 200 Russian-language Bibles in Brest in 1956. It said he returned last year by car with more Bibles and 215 copies of an anti-Socialist tract requesting contributions for missionary work in Africa.

Shelley Winters Puts Hollywood on the Spot

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The trouble with Shelley Winters, in this world of social amenities and conformity, is she says exactly what she thinks. This, in principle, is admirable; but it wounds that large section of society which prefers compliments to honesties.

For instance:

"It's usually difficult to be married, but in Hollywood it's almost impossible. See, what happens there is everybody talks shop and the only people you can see are people who are doing just what you're doing and making the same money as you do. It gives you a very little — a very distorted — view of this world."

Shelley sits on a hassock in her New York apartment. She's convalescing from a bout with flu, but still looks all TNT with a sizzling fuse.

"People become competitive in their marriages," she goes on. "Now you know in all careers, and all marriages, there are up and down periods, but you have a fight and in two days you get over it.

"Well, in two days in Hollywood — whew, you're all over the front page. I don't blame anybody. All those columnists have to fill up all those columns — but that's why we want to live in New York, where movie gossip is just a small section of the papers."

For a girl from Missouri who's made her living in movies, that's fairly frank stuff. But of course it's no secret that Shelley, particularly in earlier, earthier days, was somewhat the hoyden of Hollywood and scarcely the pet of many a sacred cow in California.

She was referred to in 1952, by a magazine, as "Hollywood's blonde pop-off." But she's "matured and sort of broadened my scope as an actress — as a person too, I hope."

"Back at the beginning, I was supposed to be a so-called 'sexy movie star,' and this is a very destroying and limiting thing.

"There's a certain thing they do to you — where you get to believe that it's the makeup department and the publicity department and the smart cracks you make that are important in making money. I didn't think I fitted into the mold of the glamor girl. — I didn't like posing in a bathing suit — success on that level was not conducive to good acting.

"Then three years ago I came to New York, and saw I had four pictures on Broadway at one time. Crazy! I wasn't making any money. The government took it. So I decided to stay, and try to find some personal security on Broadway. You need that live audience to develope you."

She was right. The acclaim she won in "A Hatful of Rain" and "Girls of Summer" gave her new stature as an actress, and a new feeling of wellbeing as a person.

Shelley returns to the movies later this month as a middle-aged Dutch housewife in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

For the role, she gladly forsook vanity — what other Hollywood queen would do this? — and gained 22 pounds. ("I make spaghetti and clam sauce better'n anybody in the world, and I ate up a storm four times a week!")

Now, in New York, she is filming a movie, "Odds Against Tomorrow," in which she plays a pretty beautician. She's dropped 20 pounds in four months, is back from a size 16 to a 12. ("I went on a thing of tomatoes and vinegar, which reminds me did I take my iron and vitamins today? I got myself anemic.")

It seemed a large secrifice to make for one's art; but Shelley is used to it. When she was under contract to Universal, the studio wanted her to play a flimsy role in a movie called "Little Egypt." At the same time, John Garfield wanted to get her on loan to co-star in "He Ran All the Way."

"I gained 12 pounds in a week, so that when I auditioned for 'Little Egypt' they'd say, good lord, let Garfield have her," she grins. "Then I sat in a steam room for three days to take it off so I could work in the picture I wanted. I don't know how my heart took it . . . " Staunch, obviously.

Russian Exchange Student Is Impressed by Friendly Reception

(Oleg Kalugin, a 24-year-old graduate of the University of Leningrad, is in the United States studying at the Columbia University School of Journalism as part of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program. He arrived in New York three months ago and will remain until the fall. In the following dispatch, he gives his impressions of American life and Americans as he has found them.)

By OLEG KALUGIN

NEW YORK (UPI)—In a spacious, brightly-lighted room of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow a bland good-humored consular official was talking to a group of Soviet students who were going to study in American universities in accordance with the Soviet-American cultural agreement of 1958.

The atmosphere was friendly and warm and somehow it toned down discontent and chagrin catsed by the two months' delay in issuing visas.

Fortunately, this atmosphere of friendliness has become a characteristic feature of our stay here, and when asked about their impressions of this country, the Soviet students, in all likelihood, will be inclined to single out this hospitable, really friendly reception they got in the U.S. from both officials responsible for the exchange program and ordinary American citizens.

Actually, hardly a single day passes without all sorts of visits, invitations and discussions. At times we are so overwhelmed by them that we cannot devote due time to our studies.

It is very gratifying to see that despite the cold war and rather strained relations between the Soviet Union and the United States, the Soviet students have been greeted here with warmth and cordiality.

We all hope that the time will come when friendliness and mutual respect now existent in our relationships with American students will become part and parcel of Soviet-American relations.

Three months' stay is too short a period to judge so big a country as the U.S.A., and the impressions we have to date may appear conflicting and superficial. However we have been particularly impressed by the interest in the Soviet Union.

Many Americans have very little if any knowledge of the Soviet Union and its policies. Still others have quite a fantastic picture of the country but all of them want to know more.

This is really important, for with accurate knowledge of each other we can better understand our goals and aspirations.

Four Soviet students studying at Columbia University were pleased to find New Yorkers helpful and considerate. New York itself is, of course, a tremendous city with a lot of things to see.

I personally liked very much some pieces of modern architecture in New York, especially those magnificent buildings made of aluminum, concrete and glass which are located at Park and Madison avenues.

We have also been struck by a sharp difference between the spick-and-span look of the 5th avenue area and heavily littered streets in other parts of the city.

Some of us visited places outside New York City and I, for instance, found the American countryside immensely attractive, though perhaps too urbanized.

We have discovered that American students are very industrious and enterprising, and like all students are fond of jokes and side-splitting humor.

However we have been astounded by the high cost of education here which, in our opinion, makes it difficult for a certain number of young people to get adequate training and instruction.

Among other things, we have been favorably impressed by the high level of mechanization and efficiency in various fields of everyday life here.

Supermarkets, kitchen appliances, vending machines were very engaging indeed, whereas the highways and the motels proved to be most fascinating.

We believe that the exchange program is useful to us as individuals since it broadens our knowledge of the world and enables us to better understand the American people.

We also believe that this exchange will be equally useful to our American counterparts in the Soviet Union.

What is far more important, however, is that such exchanges help create a new atmosphere in the relations between our two countries—the atmosphere of mutual confidence and peaceful cooperation.

About the Author

Oleg Kalugin was selected as a student in the U.S.-Soviet exchange program because he knows English, was a bright student and enjoyed a good reputation.

Until last June, young Kalugin told UPI, he thought he would be an English teacher. That's what he graduated as last June from the University of Leningrad.

But the Soviet Ministry for Higher Education asked if he'd like to study journalism, believing him to be well-qualified. He said yes.

At home, he lives in a three-room Leningrad apartment with his parents, his wife, Ludmilla, who is studying to be a teacher, and their three-year-old daughter, Svetlana.

He is five-eight, 24 years old, has blond hair and is fair skinned.

His hobby at home is listening to classical music from his library of 200 records, but he also has a short-wave receiver and says he has spent many hours listening to the English-language Voice of America broadcasts and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Hal Boyle Says:

Actress Nan Martin Is No Sudden Cinderella

NEW YORK (AP)—People tell Nan Martin, hailed by some as Broadway's actress of the year, she's lucky.

In reply Nan likes to quote a line from the play she currently is starred in: "It isn't luck when God is good to you."

"Nothing wonderful ever happens to you overnight," she said soberly. "There is a long process of hard work before you take the long stride, the big step.

"I've always wondered what makes people stay in the theater. It's a cruel business. It's a brutal business. You have to work very hard to get by in it, and you have to love it very much to stay in it."

Nan first tried for a footlight career here at the age of 17, shortly after graduating from a Santa Monica, Calif., high school, where she was the only girl student president in the school's history.

Although she earlier had started studying drama with Max Reinhardt at 12, she first won attention here as a fashion model, and was featured on half a dozen magazine covers.

A role in "The Constant Wife" with Katharine Cornell launched her on her way, but then she married Robert Emmett Dolan, a young producer, and she quit to become "a full-time wife." They moved to the West Coast.

"It was a wonderful life," she said. "We had a house by the ocean. I painted, and learned to cook, and had a son. I was very domestic. I even made slippers in needlepoint for everyone I loved.

"Then one day I found I had to go back to the theater. It was burning inside me. So back I came."

"When you leave a thing and try to come back," said Nan, "you find it hard to catch up with the parade. It has passed you by."

Starting all over, Nan took any kind of theatrical job she could find.

She caught the eye of director Elia Kazan. The phone call from him led her to stardom, as it has many others.

"They say this is a throat-cutting business," she said. "But it hasn't been that way with me. People have gone out of their way to open doors for me.

"The theater is honest. All that really counts is how well you can do your job—and do do it. Nothing else matters.

Bradley Line Drops Its Settlement Offer

ROGERS CITY (AP)—The Bradley Transportation Line has withdrawn its offer of settlement to families of the 33 seamen who lost their lives in the sinking of the freighter Carl D. Bradley in Lake Michigan last Nov. 18. It said it had no choice but to proceed with litigation.

The company informed representatives of the families it was withdrawing the offer because of the multimillion dollar damage suits filed against it in federal court. It said 10 suits have been filed to date.

The company said its offer Jan. 31 was made on the condition "that the number of acceptances would be sufficient in the opinion of the company to make it desirable and equitable to proceed with the settlement."

Jersey Pike Workers Strike

Right to Wear Union Buttons on Uniforms Bone of Contention

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —Toll booths along the 188 miles of the New Jersey Turnpike were manned by inexperienced emergency help today as a strike of toll collectors and maintenance men entered its second day.

The striking union was sharply critical when it heard that some Rutgers University students had been hired as toll collectors at $1.60 an hour.

But the sleek superhighway remained open, and the Turnpike Authority warned it would suspend all striking toll collectors and maintenance workers unless they reported back on their regular shifts.

The walkout started Tuesday morning, because among other things, the men wanted the authority officially to acknowledge their right to wear union buttons on their uniforms.

But there were other grievances and the union proposed to the authority that an arbitration clause be attached to its present three-year contract.

"This counterproposal would in considerable measure constitute a renegotiation of a contract entered into in good faith by both parties and with still nearly two years to run," said Oliver K. Compton Jr., assistant to the executive director of the authority.

He told Preston Thomas, of Local 1511 of the County to Municipal Employes Union: "In striking the turnpike, your union has already violated that contract."

Hart and McNamara Jobless Bill Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart were among the 18 Democratic senators who yesterday called the House jobless pay extension bill "almost inadequate."

The two Michigan senators were signatories to the letter of protest sent Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Byrd has said his committee will consider the measure Friday.

The 18 senators told Byrd latest official figures show 4,749,000 unemployed, and that there is little prospect for improvement. They said the recession, as measured by unemployment, is continuing.

Turns Down Dem Bid

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic party leaders sent out invitations to Midwestern governors of nine states to attend a conference planned here in March. They got back one quick reply. It was from Gov. John E. Davis of North Dekota. He turned down the invitation. He's a Republican.

2 Weekend Teen Dances

Two top-notch dances will highlight the weekend for teenagers in the Pontiac area.

Friday night at 7:30 the Pontiac Bandstand will rock the National Guard Armory, 57 Water St., with the second of a series of weekly dances.

Sunday afternoon the Elks Temple will be the scene of the "Bunny Hop," sponsored by the National Teen Clubs.

The Friday night dance, inaugurated last week with a lineup including the Ski Brothers, Jackie Carbone, The Ferros, and Nick and His Jaguars, will again feature local and national recording artists.

Last week's crowd was estimated at 290. This week a larger crowd is expected. The dance will be supervised by parents from various Pontiac area school organizations.

Among new acts added to the bill will be The Citations. A trophy will be handed out to the best dancers. The weekly dances are sponsored by the Federation of Teenagers.

The Sunday dance will begin at 3 p.m. and marks the first appearance of Detroit Bandstand's Dale Young and his regular company heading the show.

About a half-dozen live acts will highlight the dance. Doors will be open at 2:30 to accomodate an expected larger crowd. Teens have been asked to wear appropriate dress, but ties are not necessary.

All proceeds will be donated to the National Foundation for Afflicted Infants.

Tuition and fees at Michigan State University Oakland, scheduled to open next fall, will be $255 annually.

Newspapers Ask for It, Readers Dish It Out

BRISTOL, Tenn.—(UPI)—The local newspapers asked for it, and they got it.

The Herald Courier and the Virginia-Tennessean, which provide news to this mountainous Tennessee-Virginia border area, asked their 15,000 readers to write in their opinions of the service.

Among the answers were these:

"The only reason we take the Virginia-Tennessean is because the carrier is nice and we don't want to hurt his feeling."

"More columns that would be of interest to women. How can I clean a sticky pot?"

"There is too much space given to stories about movie actresses and naked women."

"I find my paper in the bushes."

"Get a proofreader to check the proofreader."

"Less about Harry Truman, please."

"I have read your paper for 40 years and like it . . . but there have been a lot of typographical errors in recent months. We thought perhaps the linotype man was drunk, the proofreader blind, the editor on vacation and the publisher out playing golf."

—"Don't be too Republican."

—"Don't be too Democratic."

The most pleasing answer, though, was this one:

"I think your papers are good. I have taken a lot of newspapers in my life and I like yours best."

NEW FROM ALLSTATE... the company founded by Sears

Sickness, Accident and Hospital Insurance

—to protect you against today's inflated cost of medical care

—to help replace income you lose because you're sick or hurt

—to help provide for your family if you're killed in an accident

New Selector Plan lets you choose the exact type and amount of protection that's right for your needs—and your budget!

HOW WOULD YOU MAKE OUT? If you're like most people, your present insurance would cover only one-third of your expenses, should sickness or accident strike.

In the few minutes it takes to read this important message, sickness or accident will disable 600 people. Of these, 180 will be admitted to the hospital. Each will face a daily charge averaging $25 for basic care alone.

Even more shocking: while more than half our people have some form of health insurance, on the average it has paid only 30 cents of every dollar of their sickness and accident bills.

Most families are not aware how inflation has watered down the value of the policies they now have. Too many take for granted that having "some insurance" or workmen's compensation is all the protection they need. It is a tragic fact that today only 1 family in 10 is financially protected against the ruinous costs of lingering illness or serious accident.

Too many people risk going along with what they have because they assume that rising costs have priced adequate coverage beyond their reach.

But now Allstate's Accident and Sickness Insurance helps you solve these problems—at a cost you can afford.

WHAT THIS NEW POLICY BRINGS YOU

Here, in one flexible policy, you will find a broad selection of top-value coverages. You can select exactly the protection you need to close the gaps in your present insurance—at surprisingly little cost. This sensible plan lets you buy only what you need, without waste or duplication—pays in addition to any insurance you may now have. Or if you have no protection, it can be used as a sound basic plan.

Here Are A Few Of The Ways Allstate's New Plan Could Fit Your Needs:

YOU MAY NOW HAVE An employer or group plan that would pay you only for a few months after accident or sickness disables you.

YOU SHOULD HAVE An Allstate coverage that will pay you a monthly, tax-free income so you can provide for your family's living expenses while you are disabled. (Maximum: 5 years if totally disabled from sickness; for life if totally disabled from accident; 6-month limit for partial disability.) You can select the amount of income protection you want up to $400 a month for total disability—up to $200 a month for partial disability.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE A basic hospitalization plan which may pay you for only a few weeks.

YOU SHOULD HAVE An Allstate coverage that will begin paying after your present policy stops, to give you protection against in-hospital expenses of serious, drawn-out illness or disability . . . that pays 75% of hospital expenses for as long as 2 years for each accident or illness for each member of your family. (Maximum payment: $5,000 per person.) Or you can strengthen your basic hospitalization plan with an Allstate coverage that will pay daily hospital expenses in addition to the protection you now have.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE Insurance with relatively few benefits—that pays only a small part of the actual costs of a long, lingering disability.

YOU SHOULD HAVE An Allstate coverage to help you with the major expenses of doctor, surgeon (including specialist) care, nursing costs and many other medical services.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE Savings that could keep your family going for 6 months or a year if you were killed in an accident.

YOU SHOULD HAVE An Allstate coverage that pays $15,000 cash if you are killed in practically any type of accident. Pays in addition to any other payments made by this policy.

Allstate's modern approach to today's most needed, least understood kind of insurance brings you these special advantages:

1. New sensible "Selector Plan." Allstate fits the insurance to your needs. You buy what you need, without waste or duplication. Your Allstate Agent is a thoroughly trained, licensed, professional insurance man who will help you choose the protection that is exactly right for your needs.
2. Sears kind of value—Allstate was founded by Sears and won more than 4 million friends with the same big-volume, low-overhead, quality-for-less way of doing business that made Sears famous.
3. Proven dependability—Allstate revolutionized auto insurance by cutting red tape, and settling claims fast, the modern efficient way. Allstate's Accident and Sickness Insurance is backed by the same considerate approach to claims service.

It's human nature to put it off . . . but don't! The average man is disabled 17 times during his lifetime. Facing odds like these, you owe it to yourself to get the facts.

Patrols Boosted in Coal Violence

Kentucky Police Patrol Hills Where Strikes Idle Over 7,000

HAZARD, Ky. (AP) — Reinforced state police units patrolled the hills of eastern Kentucky today in the wake of two outbursts of force in coal strikes which have idled more than 7,000 men.

A massive crowd of strikers swarmed over a coal tipple in nearby Letcher County Tuesday injuring at least four men, and state police in Pike County broke up a bumper-riding demonstration.

The strikes, called by the United Mine Workers of America in its demand for a $2 a day basic pay raise to $24.25, began March 9. They have spread as contracts expired.

Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill said extra state police units would work the Pike County area and Maj. Charles Crutchfield, state police director, said extra patrols would be in Letcher County.

Roland P. Price, president of the Gem-Elkhorn Coal Co. at Rockhouse Creek, said he would not resume operations immediately.

Price said nearly 1,500 men swarmed over his tipple, throwing company workers to the ground and stoning them. He said one of his men, George Lowe, suffered a fractured neck and was hospitalized.

Price said another tipple worker, George Sexton, was found in a field, dazed by stones thrown at him.

Price's contract with the UMW had expired.

Crutchfield said troopers estimated at least 200 or 225 cars in a caravan brought demonstrators to the scene.

There were only three troopers near the tipple when the crowd arrived. An additional 12 troopers were rushed in.

Price said the crowd also slashed tires and tried to overturn his coal trucks. About 12 or 14 men work at his tipple.

They jumped onto the bumpers of loaded coal trucks before state police ordered them off.

Both sides are disputing the number of mines which have been closed, the number of holdouts and how many have signed the new UMW contract.

Many mines in Harlan, Bell and Perry counties have shut down in the face of orderly picketing.

Confidence in County

KALISPELL, Mont., (AP) — Engle J. Olson has confidence in Flathead County government. He cashed an 82-cent county warrant Tuesday, a refund issued on Dec. 27, 1940.

Pride of Chilean Navy Headed for Scrap Heap

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Chilean navy's 32,000-ton Almirante Latorre, once the most powerful warship in Latin America, is headed for a Japanese scrapheap.

The British-built battleship, which took part in the World War I Battle of Jutland, was sold for $881,000 to be broken up into scrap metal.

Red Balloons Preferred

INMAN, S. C. (AP) — Youngsters seem to like red balloons best of all. A balloon factory near here turns out half a million red ones each week, half of the weekly production.

Florida Trip Winner Angry Over Welfare

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — A mother and her six children got an expense-paid winter trip to Florida, but weren't at all happy about it.

Erie County Welfare Commissioner Paul F. Burke said the woman objected to being sent home to Florida because she could draw only $81 a month in welfare payments there as opposed to $241 a month here.

Police Detective Takes Thief for Second Time

CINCINNATI (UPI) — In 1946, Fred J. Mayer was trying to escape in a stolen car when patrolman George Rees shot him in the right side.

Recently, Mayer, who was suspected of cracking several safes, once again tried to escape in a stolen car. Once again it was Rees, now a detective, who tried to stop him. Rees' bullets missed their mark, but Mayer was captured when the car crashed.

'The Babe and I'

By MRS. BABE RUTH with Bill Slocum

On Jan. 3, 1920, the New York Yankees bought Babe Ruth.

It was a marriage that proved fruitful beyond the wildest dreams of either party. If it was doomed to dwindle into cold divorce in less than 15 years it, nevertheless, had moments of rich fulfillment for all concerned.

There was, as they say, never a dull moment.

The Yankees had never won a pennant; had never amounted to anything but a poor relation to the glorious and beloved first team of New York City, the fabulous Giants. The Yankees were to eventually chase those entrenched Giants right out of town.

'ONE OF THE BOYS'

Ruppert was austere aristocratic, every inch the wealthy New Yorker. Houston was not without means but was "one of the boys"—gregarious, locquacious and well beloved.

The two Colonels had put more than $1,000,000 into the Yanks without any artistic or financial success.

Their manager, Miller Huggins, like everybody else in baseball, knew that Boston owner Harry Frazee was in serious financial trouble.

Frazee was basically a theatrical man, and the success of his ball club had not earned him enough to stand off the failures of his first love.

Ruppert and Houston asked their manager for advice on what could be done to improve the Yankees' third place finish of 1919.

Daniel M. Daniel, in a life story he did on the Babe, tells of a meeting Dan had with Colonel Ruppert in 1938. The Colonel told this story of the purchase of Babe:

"In October, 1919, I, (Col. Ruppert) asked Miller what we could do to win? Miller said, 'Get this man Ruth from Boston. Frazee needs money. Ruth hit 29 home runs last season. Bring him into the Polo Grounds and he will make 35, at least.

"I told Huggins to see Frazee and a week later Miller brought me word that Frazee would begin talking business if I recognized $100,000 as a fair price for Ruth.

"I exclaimed, 'Huggins, you are crazy and this man Frazee is even crazier. Who ever heard of a ball player being worth $100,000 in cash? I could have bought both Eddie Collins and Tris Speaker for that!

"Huggins laughed and said, 'Buy Ruth, Frazee's crazy, he's crazy to let you have Babe for so little'."

COST YANKS $100,000

It cost the Yankees the $100,000 and Frazee further forced Ruppert to take a $350,000 mortgage on his ball park as part of the biggest deal ever made in baseball before or since. In 1920, $100,000 and $350,000 added up to 450,000 dollars, each worth 100 cents.

The Babe was in California when he learned about the deal. Miller Huggins broke the news, in person, accompanying it with a little lecture on the evils and temptations of New York.

He further reminded Babe that Babe was known far and wide for misbehaving and the Yankees would have none of it.

It was rather a touching sort of a meeting between a new employe and the boss, Babe fell right into the spirit of the thing by demanding more than the $10,000 the Red Sox had him signed for. He got his salary doubled to $20,000 and was off to the Big Town.

Many ballplayers contemptuously call New York City "The Brickyard" and Babe, in 1920, was no different.

His home was Boston where he was liked and where he liked the people. If you asked Babe what he thought of New York in 1920 he would have given a typical ballplayer's answer:

"They got a nice, short right field fence in the ballpark. And real good beer across the river in a place called Hoboken or something."

In time he and New York fell wildly in love and it became the scene of his happiest and saddest moments.

IMMORTAL 60th HOMER IN 1927

It took Babe no time at all to capture New York City and he never lost the hold he had on the people of that fickle town. They adored him in triumph and disaster, sickness and health.

FORGIVE QUICKLY

They were far faster to forgive him his mistakes than were the men who grew famous and rich from the patronage of the all-forgiving, frequently rewarded Babe Ruth fans.

Babe, as they say in baseball, couldn't buy a hit his first two weeks in a Yankee uniform. Ruppert thought of his cash in Boston and groaned.

Then, on May 1, 1920, my husband hit his first homer as a Yankee. By the middle of July he had tied his own record of 29. By season's end he had hit 54 homers and batted .376.

The Babe was the toast of Broadway. And he was returning toast for toast.

Railroads Still Full of Steam

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Fire sirens are no good for tornado warnings.

That was the concensus of officials from 10 Kansas City suburban communities at a meeting in Johnson County, Kan., Tuesday.

Sirens would only arouse 200 volunteer firemen who would clog telephone lines trying to learn what was going on.

So the 10 mayors will meet March 28 to hear a demonstration of an idea of W. G. Moore, mayor of Roeland Park, Kan. He is going to connect old railroad steam engine whistles to air compressors at four filling stations.

"When we get all four of those whistles going at the same time," Moore said, "we'll blow 'em out of bed."

With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.

Senator Cuts Daughter's Pay Down to $10,500

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo) reports the salary of his daughter-aide, Daane, has been reduced to $10,500 a year.

He told a newsman the cut from $12,500 for his 27-year-old daughter was the result of a compromise on whether she should continue law studies at Georgetown University.

"I could not convince her she should leave the school, where she was taking a full course in addition to her office work," Carroll said.

"I offered her the $12,500 as an inducement to drop the course. Had I been able to convince her to stay with me full time she would have continued to receive the $12,500.

"I could not convince her. However, she has modified her school hours. As a compromise I returned to her original $10,500 salary."

Mate's Suit Smear —Frances Farmer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Frances Farmer, former film star, said through a spokesman Tuesday that her agent-husband's suit for $250,000 in fees is a smear.

Miss Farmer, who does a film commentary on an Indianapolis television show, said she and her husband, Leland Mikesell, 51, have separated and she plans to file suit for divorce.

Mikesell said in his suit that the actress signed a contract in 1957, before they were married, to pay him half her salary. He estimated her present earnings at $10,000 a year but said she may earn $500,000 in the next two years.

Elderly Woman Beating Victim

Brought to Pontiac for Brain Surgery; Hunt Assailant

An 85-year-old Mount Clemens widow underwent brain surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital last night and is described in "very critical" condition today from injuries inflicted by a mysterious attacker late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Douglas was found in an apartment house at 20 Union St., Mount Clemens, at 6:20 p.m. She was first taken to St. Joseph Hospital there and then transferred to Pontiac for the delicate brain operation.

Mount Clemens police were mystified over the motive for the brutal attack. They ruled out robbery since money was found near the woman.

She was discovered in the room of a man identified only as John Dubois, who lives in the apartment building where she was housekeeper.

Doctors, who removed a blood clot from the brain, said she has a 50-50 chance to survive. She was found in a semiconscious state and reportedly told police she was beaten by a "young white man."

Mrs. Douglas was severely beaten about the head and bloodstains were found throughout the room.

Pontiac City Affairs

Work on 24 City Streets

Twenty-four streets were slated for paving or blacktopping this year as the City Commission continued to schedule the 1959 public improvement program last night.

Included were blacktopping of streets around Pontiac Northern High School and more widening of Huron street.

Scheduled for paving or recapping were E. Huron street, Mill to Parke; Joslyn avenue extension, Grandview to Mt. Clemens; Edison street, Rundell to Montcalm; East Boulevard, Mt. Clemens to Michigan; Madison avenue, Perry to Bartell; and N. Cass avenue, Oakland to Wisner Stadium.

Scheduled for curbs, gutters and blacktopping were:

Victory drive, Mt. Clemens to Pontiac Knolls subdivision; Court drive, Mt. Clemens to Grandview; W. Howard street, Johnson to Adelaide; Harriett street, Adelaide to Baldwin; Jefferson avenue, Blaine to Summit; Lehigh street, Baldwin to University; Carlisle avenue, Walton to Chicago; W. Tennyson avenue, Hollywood to Bonnie Briar Bush subdivision; Myra avenue, Voorheis to Sylvan; Jessie street, Prospect to Raeburn; W. New York avenue, Baldwin to Walton; W. Colgate avenue, Baldwin to Carlisle; Carlisle avenue, Columbia to Sheffield; Ivy street, Montcalm to Kennett; N. Kennett; N. Tasmania avenue, Maines to Riverside; Dellwood avenue, Earlmoore to Howland; Carr street, Mt. Clemens to Pontiac Knolls subdivision; Arlene avenue, Madison to Second; and Stanley avenue, Kennett to Columbia.

Cost estimates were requested from the Engineering Department preliminary to public hearings on all 24 streets.

Commissionners also asked for costs of a sanitary sewer on Court drive, Mt. Clemens to Grandview, after a petition for sewers was accepted and the project declared a public necessity.

Adopted was an ordinance rezoning 10 lots on the south side of W. Huron street between Palmer and Green streets from residential 2 to public service. No objections were raised at a public hearing on the change.

Commissioners voted to vacate the alley next to the Glenwood avenue extension, constructed in connection with the Perry street widening.

Given an initial airing was an ordinance rezoning 169 lots in the Glenwood Estates subdivision from manufacturing to residential. The nearby Jaycee Park and Malkim School grounds are to be rezoned, also.

Commissioners approved requests to transfer ownership of SDD and SDM licenses at 532 Franklin Rd. from Mary P. Mayer to Ellis Weaver Sr., and of a tavern license at 54-58 S. Saginaw St. from Nicanor DeLeon Jr. and Ruth DeLean to James R. Kirkwood.

City Commission Pays Tribute to Judge Gillespie

The late Glenn C. Gillespie, Pontiac city attorney in 1920, was honored in a memorial resolution adopted last night by the City Commission.

Gillespie, a former Oakland county circuit judge, was killed in an auto crash in Oklahoma a week ago.

The resolution cited the many services to city, county and state rendered by the 73-year-old Pontiac attorney, who practiced here for almost half a century.

At the time of his death, Gillespie was serving as chairman of a special Mayor's Committee to revise rules and procedures for the city's Police Trial Board, should it be called back into action by repeal of police civil service at the polls April 6.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston named another attorney, John Wilson, to replace Gillespie on the committee.

Drayton Plains to Get New Building Soon, Says Rep. Broomfield

Contracts for construction of a new Drayton Plains Post Office have been awarded and work is expected to begin within the next two months, Congressman William S. Broomfield (R.-Oakland County) reported today.

Nine bids were submitted and the Northland Construction Co., of Detroit, was notified today of the Post Office Department's approval of the contract. John and Ralph Leo are the company owners.

To be located directly across from the present post office, 4411 Dixie Highway, the building will be leased for 10 years with two five-year renewal options. Rental will amount to approximately $500 a month for the estimated $55,000 building, John Leo said.

There will be ample off-street parking space in the front, side and back of the new post office, 40 feet from Dixie Highway.

The 10-year lease on the present post office building will expire this year, according to Postmaster Kenneth Oaks. It is expected that the new building will be completed for occupancy by Oct. 1.

Radical Changes Don't Meet Acceptance

Auto Evolution Must Be Gradual

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry may be moving toward major design changes but sudden and revolutionary changes are not part of its program.

The industry has learned by costly experience that the car owner is reluctant to invest in a new automobile with startling styling or engineering changes. Competition is so keen among the automakers that none can afford to gamble on radical changes.

An over-all model change for the industry runs into an outlay of approximately 1½ billion dollars. Even for the multibillion dollar auto industry that is not a casual outlay.

It is fairly certain that General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will have smaller models in 1960. It is also certain that efforts will be made to utilize more aluminum to reduce over-all weight.

The trend toward more moderate sized automobiles has been evident to U.S. automakers for the last couple of years. So, too, has the mounting penetration of small foreign-made vehicles in the U.S. market, and the clamor about low mileage potentials of many standard size U.S. cars.

The entry of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler into the smaller car market involves an investment running into many millions of dollars. Apparently these major U.S. producers now are satisfied of its profit potential.

A substantial demand will be required, however, to enable them to regain the investment.

Today's sleek, low-silhouette passenger cars would have been a total loss a decade ago, the stylists say. But it presents the natural evolution of the automobile from the high-top and high-wheeled vehicle of earlier days.

The stylists hasten to add that this does not mean cars of the future will be even lower than today's models. There is more than a little doubt that even the elimination of the transmission hump through the center of the car will bring a further lowering of the car height.

The disappearance of the hump or tunnel as it sometimes is called is a near-term certainty. That is a major project in the engineering laboratories of all the automakers.

One or two automakers tried to popularize streamlined styling in the pre-World War II days. The styling was anything but successful at that time. Today it is basic in all car design.

More recent costly and unsuccessful experimental innovations include fuel injection and air suspension. Probably both would be more successful but for the extra cost to the car buyer.

Car owners apparently do not want to pay extra to popularize them.

GE Says Strikers Not 'Hotel Guests'

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Serving notice that "we are not obliged to treat trespassers as hotel guests," General Electric officials Tuesday fired the last two sit-in strikers at the GE plant here.

Union officials said the company dispatched a man who cut the rope being used to hoist food to the men on the third floor of the plant.

The two were fired after the union decided to replace the rope with a crane, which was supplied by Peter Weber, business manager of Local 825 of the Operating Engineers Union.

Al Hartnett, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Electrical Workers called General Electric's policy dictatorial.

GE maintained the men were fired for "gross insubordination."

The two men were among nearly a score of sit-in strikers who began a protest last Friday of General Electric's decision to close the plant.

Steamers Taken Off Ontario Lake Run

GRAVENHURST, Ont. (AP)—Three aging steamboats — the Sagamo, Cherokee and Segwun — will no longer puff about the waters of the Muskoka Lakes.

Long used to carry passengers, mail and supplies to cottages and resorts on the lakes, the steamers are included in the sale of Gravenhurst Steamships Limited by M. C. Penhorwood of Willowdale to George Morrison and Jack Vincent of Gravenhurst.

The new owners plan to sell two of the boats and retain a third as a showpiece. Smaller and faster vessels will be substituted for the steamers.

Defeated Reds Riot in French Port City

LE HAVRE, France (AP) — Communist rioters fought with police Tuesday night after losing control of the city administration in this big Atlantic port where they have governed for six years.

Non-Communist councilmen banded to elect Socialist Robert Monguillon mayor by a one-vote margin—giving him 19 votes to 18 for Communist incumbent Rene Cance.

The Communists, sensing defeat, first sought to block the election by sending 250 fanatics storming into the City Hall chamber where the voting was taking place.

Police threw the hecklers out and the fighting spread to the street with 1,000 demonstrators milling about. Four policemen were hurt. Windows were broken in several stores.

Asks Double Reverse on His Sardine Name

Enidras, a chef at a prep school here, was born Roger Sardine in Diette, France. He became a U.S. citizen in 1938. Since sardine is a word often taken lightly here, Roger turned it around and named himself Enidras.

Now he's planning a trip back to France. He asked a judge to allow him to reverse his name to Sardine, so the home folks will remember him.

Cites Increase in Demand for College Talent

EAST LANSING (AP) — A stepped-up demand for college talent indicates an improved business climate, John R. Kinney, Michigan State University student placement director, reported today.

Kinney estimated some 900 firms will interview MSU graduates this year before graduation — up about 200 from last year.

He said he expected all June graduates to get jobs at higher salaries than the average for last year.

Biggest demand, Kinney said, is for electrical and mechanical engineers versed in electronics, and for science, mathematics and elementary teachers.

Top beginning wages are being offered in the electronics field, about $6,400 a year, he reported. Other engineers will start at $6,000 to $6,200.

First-year teachers with bachelor degrees will receive an average starting salary of $4,400, liberal arts majors about $4,800 and business majors about $5,100, he reported.

Michigan State University Oakland is located between Pontiac and Rochester in southeastern Michigan — midway between the west boundary of Oakland County and the east boundary of Macomb County.

Mother Saves 3 Others

4 Children Perish in Fire

SALMANCA, N.Y. (AP)—Four children perished Tuesday night when flames ripped through their rural home as they slept.

Their mother, hands and face badly charred, saved three other children and drove them in a pickup truck to a neighbor's house for help. The survivors were rushed to a hospital in nearby Olean.

The dead were identified as Barbara Heckler, 14, her brother, William, 10, and two sisters, Holly 13, and Joan 2.

Mrs. William Heckler and a daughter, Christine, 9, were reported in critical condition. The other two, Jacqueline, 12, and Loretta, 6 months, were in fair condition.

Firemen arrived to find the two-story wooden farmhouse burned to the ground.

Mrs. Heckler's husband was away at his factory job in Buffalo.

Sheriff Has His Reasons to Catch This Thief

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — Sheriff Norman F. Walker of Somerset County has a special reason for wanting to catch a license plate thief.

The license plate was taken Tuesday from his auto, parked in the county garage near the jail.

Altogether, there are more than 5,000 individual paper products.

Withdraws Petition for Bus Fare Hike

LANSING (AP)—The Great Lakes Transit Co. has withdrawn a petition for a five-cent bus fare increase from suburban Detroit to Mt. Clemens.

The Motor Transit Division of the State Public Service Commission reported the rate hike application was withdrawn after the Mt. Clemens City Council announced intention of contesting the proposal.

The division said restrictions probably will be eased on operation of North Star Bus Lines between rural Fruit Ridge Rd. and Grand Rapids.

There was no opposition to a bus line proposal to issue its own tickets for the route. It previously was allowed only to pick up passengers on the route holding Greyhound Bus Lines tickets.

Truman Declines Chance to Be Editor for Day

BOSTON (AP) — Former President Harry Truman has turned down an offer to be a newspaper editor for a day.

The job was offered him by the Boston Globe after Truman told the University of Missouri School of Journalism that he wished he could be a newspaper editor for a while.

The Globe said it received a letter from Truman Tuesday in which he refused the offer, and said: "You see, the difference between your profession and mine is that the editors know all about how another man's business ought to be run, while I do not pretend to know the mechanics of yours."

Innocent Plea Entered in Armed Robbery Case

Standing mute to a charge of armed robbery, Robert J. Sox, 20, of 136 Main St., Rochester, was ordered held yesterday under $5,000 bond until trial.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland entered a plea of innocent for Sox, who is charged with robbing a Madison Heights driver of $186 and threatening him with a knife after hitchhiking a ride home in his car.

Prophet Jones Victor in Case

Doctors' Group, Woman Charged He Pretended 'to Tell Destinies'

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Prophet James F. Jones, flamboyant Detroit leader of the Universal Mission Church which claims one million members, was acquitted yesterday of "pretending to tell destinies."

But the Negro preacher was warned by Magistrate Harry Hazelwood to "assiduously adhere to and comply with our ordinances and statutes."

Jones, 51, dressed for St. Patrick's Day in a green suit and green tie, thanked the court. Twenty of his followers were on hand. The charge against the Negro revivalist was based on a complaint of the Essex County Medical Society and Mrs. Dolores Robinson of Newark.

Mrs. Robinson said she paid $10 for a private audience with Jones on Feb. 7, and that he had warned her against a breast operation advised by her physician.

"Do not take the operation," she said Jones told her. "If you do, you will not come out from under it."

Mrs. Robinson subsequently underwent surgery and her doctor called it successful.

Hazelwood said Mrs. Robinson's testimony was "far short of satisfying the . . . proof necessary under the law." The judge added:

"Mrs. Robinson . . . freely admitted that she did not recall whether the defendant said concerning the tumor, 'God put it there, and God will remove it.' "

Area Youths Sent to Jackson Prison

Two Pontiac youths and one from Detroit, who admitted a string of 21 break-ins, were sentenced by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday to 1½-15 years each in Jackson State Prison.

Sentenced were Timothy A. Pettingill, 17, of 296 Leota St., Waterford Township; James C. Jenkins, 17, of 8882 Arlington St., White Lake Township; and Armband L. Inkel, a Detroiter who once lived in Waterford Township.

The three pleaded guilty to breaking into a gas station at the corner of Andersonville and Airport roads and confessed 20 other break-ins in Waterford Township.

Judy Garland to Sing in Benefit at Met

NEW YORK (AP) — Judy Garland will star at the Metropolitan Opera House starting May 11 when her musical variety show opens a week's engagement to benefit the Children's Asthma Research Institute at Denver.

A Metropolitan spokesman said he could recall no previous occasion when a singer of popular music starred in a performance at the Met.

Dick Powells Go Home From Hospital Together

Hollywood Headlines

Brooks West in Debut on Screen in 'Anatomy'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—Brooks West, Eve Arden's husband, is making his screen debut in "Anatomy Of a Murder"—he's been in so many plays on and off Broadway I thought surely he had made a picture some place along the line.

But no—when he dons makeup for the part of the district attorney, Brooks will be stepping in front of the cameras for the first time.

Oh, oh, oh, this comes as surprising news. I have been reliably informed that Warner Bros. have been discussing a deal for "Lolita," with producers James Kubrick and James Harris. But unless the boys can come up with a script that passes the Johnston office, it's no soap.

Martin Manulis picked his star for 20th's new TV series, "Adventures in Paradise," in which the hero is a skipper in the South Seas, right out of close-by Newport harbor.

Big (6-foot, 5-inch) Gardner McKay has been signed as the hero of the James Michener tales and he was lolling around on the deck of his own boat when the message came.

Anne Douglas told me an amusing story about Kirk. She said Kirk was dead tired and when he had a chance to rest in Palm Springs, he asked the studio to get him a car and chauffeur to drive him.

He slept all the way to Redlands and when they stopped there for gasoline, the driver told Kirk he was going to the rest room.

Kirk got out of the car, crossed the street to a bar and had himself a beer. Then he came back, and not being able to get into the rest room, found another rest room close by.

The driver got in the car and never dreaming Kirk wasn't in the back seat asleep, drove on to Palm Springs, pulled up to the house, opened the car door, and no Kirk.

Meanwhile, with the car gone, Kirk had to thumb his way to the Springs.

I missed something in not knowing Lilli Palmer better. She was so interesting at the small dinner the William Perlbergs gave for her at Romanoff's on the rocks.

Lilli was saying that everyone comes to her home in Portofino to visit. "One time the Duchess of Windsor and Garbo were my guests at the same time," she said. The two women were absolutely fascinated with each other.

"The Duchess said, 'I suppose some day they'll do my life on the screen and I hope they get someone with the talent of Miss Garbo. But I'll have nothing to say—maybe it will be made after I'm dead and they'll cast a completely unknown.' "

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jack Benny has pulled a real coup. On his May 23 TV spectacular he has signed Julie Andrews, who is in London doing "My Fair Lady" with Rex Harrison.

She'll get two weeks vacation to fly over the pole for the Benny show. Tomorrow night Jack has Bob Hope and Mitzi Gaynor on his spec.

Tonight's Cage Menu: PCH vs Fordson, Holly vs Romeo

ZERO HOUR — Pontiac Central faces zero-hour tonight in its bid for the semi-finals of the state basketball tournament by meeting Dearborn Fordson in the quarter-finals at U. of D. Memorial fieldhouse. The zero hour is denoted on the jerseys of these five Chiefs (left to right), John Bandy (10), Phil Rabaja (20), Dick McCauley (30), Bill Hayward (40), and Harrison Munson (50). PCH plays the second game of a doubleheader tonight, following the East Detroit-Hamtramck in the opening session. The winners tonight will meet each other at Jenison fieldhouse in East Lansing Friday night. The state Class A finals will take place in the same fieldhouse Saturday night. Pontiac Central reached the semi-finals only once in history. That was in the 1940-41 season under coach Harvey Norris. The Chiefs lost that year to Benton Harbor, 29-26.

'B' Teams Play at Birmingham in Big Contest

Winner Gains Semifinal Berth at East Lansing Friday Night

By CHUCK ABAIR

One thing certain when basketball's "sweet sixteen" teams assemble at Lansing this weekend is that the Oakland County area will be represented in the race for the Class B high school championship left vacant by the regional elimination of East Lansing.

The big question is which of this sector's two powerhouses will it be—Holly or Romeo?

It should be settled tonight by about 9:15 following an expected thriller between the schools. The tipoff time is set for 7:30 on the Birmingham High court.

The winner will gain a semifinal berth opposite tonight's Ludington-Sault Ste. Marie victor at Grayling on Friday at 4:30 p.m. in MSU's Jenison Fieldhouse.

River Rouge faces Detroit Holy Redeemer, and Sturgis meets Plainwell in other "B" quarter-finals to decide Friday's 3 p.m. semifinal bracket.

There is little to go on in attempting to compare Holly and Romeo. They did not play each other during the regular season and had no common rivals.

Holly divided its first four starts losing to Fenton by four and Brighton by three and since has won 17 straight. Romeo had only a .500 percentage after six games but the Bulldogs have now dumped 13 straight foes. The losses were to Troy in overtime, Utica by 12 and Rochester by eight.

The Broncos have the top point-getter and biggest man on either squad in 6-6 senior George McDaniel who is finishing an outstanding career. He tallied 391 points in 16 regular season starts to pace Oakland County with a 25 average and added 121 in five tourney games for 24.2.

Sophomore Ron Morlan has been his most steady aide in scoring. He hit 14.3 for the year and 11.2 in tourney play.

Romeo's individual figures have not been as impressive but the Red and White speedsters have had a variety of sparkplugs led by little guard Reid Olszak. He had a 14.5 season mark and 19 in the playoffs. Any of the others on either team are capable of big efforts.

Romeo's chances for victory were dealt a severe blow yesterday when starting forward Jim Black sprained his ankle in a practice session.

Black received special treatment today in Utica. Although he is expected to dress for the game, his ankle will be heavily taped and he is figured to see little or no action against Holly.

Holly had the better scoring record during the regular season going over 70 seven times and topping 80 on three of those occasions but Romeo held the edge in district and regional play with four comparatively easy triumphs while Holly was working hard for its two trophies.

It should be interesting any way you look at it. Holly started its unbeaten surge by sweeping three teams, including Fenton and Brighton in a holiday meet, although winding up 2nd in the Wayne-Oakland. Romeo won the Tri-County championship, beating out Class A rivals Rochester and Lapeer.

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Central's high-flying basketball squad tonight bids for a spot in the semifinals of the 1959 Michigan high school basketball tournament.

The Chiefs, voted the state's No. 1 team in the season's final AP and UPI news service polls, square off against "dark horse" Dearborn Fordson this evening at 8:30 in the nightcap of an all-Class A doubleheader at University of Detroit Memorial Building.

Hamtramck, which pushed PCH for the top ranking throughout the season, battles surprising East Detroit at 7 o'clock in the opening game of the U-D quarter-final twin bill.

This marks Pontiac's first trip to the state quarter-finals since 1956 when the Chiefs fell before Detroit Catholic Central in the Livonia Bentley gym.

The Chiefs were eliminated in the regional final two years ago and again last year. The last time a PCH quintet reached the semis was in 1941 when the Chiefs bowed to Benton Harbor.

Harvey Norris coached the Chiefs at that time and they defeated Bay City in the quarter-final round before bowing to the Benton Harbor cagers in semifinal action.

Art Van Ryzin, now serving his 13th season as Pontiac's head coach, and his Saginaw Valley champs make another effort to reach the semis against a club with a mediocre record, but a winning tournament habit.

The Tractors from Fordson won eight of 15 during the regular schedule and wound up 4th in the six-team Border Cities League. Their overall record now is 12-7 following four tourney victories through district and regional play.

Central carries a proud 17-1 mark into tonight's contest and the Chiefs hope to keep proving their right to the No. 1 rating that has been heaped upon them.

Central's defense, which has been a huge factor in the team's success so far, will have to stop the hook shots and rebounding of Dave Scott, Fordson's 6-foot-6 center, and the outside shooting of Joe Hamood, Roger Oberg and Larry Montre.

Hamtramck handed East Detroit an 80-55 shellacking during the season, but that score will have to be thrown out in view of the Shamrocks' impressive work in district and regional activity. Among East Detroit's tourney victims was Austin Catholic, Michigan's defending Class A champ.

Norman Surveys Power-Poor Tigers

Osborne Given Trial at Three Different Jobs

Husky Slugger Works in Outfield, 1st Base and Third Base

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The longer Bill Norman looks at his power-poor Detroit Tigers, the stronger become Larry Osborne's chances of making the big leagues in 1959.

Norman has switched the husky youngster to third base for a thorough look. While the 23-year-old slugger has divided his time between first base and left field in six pro seasons, he also has had limited work at third base.

"Depth is just as much of a problem on this club as is the lack of power," said the manager as he sat around Henley Field and waited for the word that finally came—both the game at Sarasota against Los Angeles and the "B" game at Tampa against the Chicago White Sox had been washed out by heavy rains that have pelted much of Florida for three days.

Norman doubts that third baseman Eddie Yost, shortstop Rocky Bridges or second baseman Frank Bolling will be able to bear up under the 154-game grind. Though Bolling did it last year—he was the only Tiger to play all the games—the lean infielder surely would be more effective in the late stages of the campaign if he could be rested for a few games.

The trouble is, the Tigers have not had adequate replacements in recent seasons and they have been left with two choices: play tired, sometimes injured and aching regulars, or put in someone else and pray for rain.

"I look around me on the bench and what do I have?" Norman asked. "Maybe we can fiddle around this spring and come up with some guys who can go in there and give the club a life."

Osborne has given every indication he is about ready for big league pitching. At Charleston last season he drove in 97 runs and batted .287, leading the American Assn. in several hitting departments although he missed five weeks of the season. He also did well in winter ball.

Main thing in his favor is that he is a left handed hitter with some power—he hit 19 home runs and 31 doubles—and the right field fence at Briggs Stadium is a scant 325 feet from home plate.

Ossie Alvarez, looks like a sure bet to stick as a utility infielder. He has been playing three infield positions in Grapefruit League games.

Norman planned an intrasquad game for the regulars today while the B team was meeting Philadelphia at Clearwater. Outfielder Charlie Maxwell received treatment yesterday for another flareup of boils.

ROMEO WANTS MORE—Romeo has already reached the school's highest peak in basketball history by gaining a regional crown but the Bulldogs want more. They will be out to make Holly their 14th straight victim in a big quarter-final duel at Birmingham High tonight at 7:30. Coach Bud Brotebeck is shown with the squad. Standout forward Charley Peterson holds the regional trophy.

Tito Francona Asks Tigers to Deal Him Away

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Tito Francona is tired of warming the bench and wants the Detroit Tigers to trade him.

The 25-year-old outfielder-first baseman feels he is at the cross roads of his baseball career and says the Detroit club has not given him a fair shake.

"I guess I'm a victim of circumstances," he said. "But everywhere I look around here I see another left fielder. I'm smart enough to know I can't beat Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn out of their jobs in right and center."

Francona has played sparingly this spring. Like last season, he has been used mostly as a pinch hitter. A year ago he batted only 69 times in 45 games and hit .246.

Delany Pulls Out of Meet

Decision to 'Hit the Books' Stirs Protest From Cleveland K.C.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Ron Delany, the speedy scholar from Ireland, will hit the books and not the boards of Friday's indoor track meet at Cleveland.

The champion miler's cancellation drew angry protests from the meet sponsors but got support from an Amateur Athletic Union official.

Either way, Delany let it be known last night "he's sticking by his withdrawal from the Cleveland K. of C. meet because of 'study' commitments."

Asked if his cancellation would make him liable to suspension, Delany said "I don't know. If the Cleveland AAU doesn't consider it a justifiable reason, I can't help it."

Delany won with ease last night over Peter Close of St. Johns University, Tom Riordan of Idaho State and Laszlo Tabri of Santa Clara, in 4:07.8.

Howard Emhke of '29 Series Fame Is Dead

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Former Philadelphia Athletics pitcher Howard Emhke, whose record of 13 strikeouts as a surprise starter in the opening game of the 1929 World Series stood for 24 years, died suddenly in a hospital yesterday at the age of 64.

Private funeral services will be held on Friday for the tall right-hander, who was in the fading years of an outstanding 15-year American League career when he made baseball history against the Chicago Cubs for Connie Mack's Athletics.

Emhke had a season record of 7-2 and had appeared in only 55 innings when Mack named him to open the World Series in Chicago to the astonishment of the baseball world and even his teammates.

Arizona Coach Blasts Indians

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The signing of Gene Leek, the bonus player from the University of Arizona, by the Cleveland Indians has brought a blast from Arizona baseball coach Frank Sancet.

Sancet said yesterday he would do everything he could "to keep the Indians from getting any more of our players."

"They never advised us of their intentions," he said. "I went ahead and assembled this team with the belief everyone would be with us all season. Now this happens."

Top Drivers Compete

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The 1958 spring car champions head a field of top drivers competing for $6,000 when the U.S. Automobile Club opens its racing season here Sunday.

Coaches in NCAA Finals Give Louisville 2-1 Nod

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The four coaches whose basketball teams will compete in the NCAA finals here this weekend undoubtedly are in better spirits today.

For 28 minutes yesterday they took turns consoling one another in a session best described as an electronic seance.

Reporters at Louisville's elaborate Freedom Hall where the tournament will be played undertook to interview the coaches over a four-way telephone hookup.

Voices of the coaches—Freddie Schaus of West Virginia, George Smith of Cincinnati, Pete Newell of California and Peck Hickman of Louisville—were piped in.

The coaches' opinions of their opening round opponents left no doubt history's four greatest teams will compete.

Then they in turn discussed their own teams and thoroughly shattered the illusion.

The only thing that can be deduced logically from their discussions is that each is firm on two points:

1. My team will not win.
2. I don't think my team will lose, either.

Then the reporters asked: Just whom do each of you think will win?

And with the men who know their teams the best, it was Louisville two to one.

Smith and Schaus picked Louisville because of its home floor advantage.

Newell and Hickman picked Cincinnati and West Virginia, respectively, because those happen to be the teams they play in Friday's opening round.

The Friday schedule has Louisville and West Virginia in the opener and Cincinnati and California in the nightcap.

Newell moaned over Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati junior who averages 52 per cent of his field goal attempts, has won the national scoring title two years in a row, and has set two NCAA tournament scoring records.

The electronic press conference ended with all who took part well pleased:

The coaches who got an opportunity to cheer one another up;

The reporters who got their stories;

Unseeded Five Trips St. Louis

NEW YORK (AP) — Providence College polished off St. Louis, 75-72, in a double overtime, and New York University roared to a 63-48 victory over Oklahoma City in quarter-finals games of the National Invitation Tournament Tuesday night in Madison Square Garden.

Providence, an unseeded outsider, meets St. John's of New York and NYU goes against Bradley in the semifinals of the annual post-season basketball tournament Thursday night.

St. Louis had been seeded second and Oklahoma City fourth. Top-seeded Bradley is the only survivor from the four teams given first round byes.

Boys' Club to Hold State Hoop Tourney

The Pontiac Boys' Club will be host to the State Intermediate Basketball tournament to be held Friday and Saturday.

Seven teams are already set for the event. Another will be determined tonight when the Philadelphia Club of Detroit and Highland Park play off. Intermediates are boys 15 and under.

Friday night contests will pit Southern Oakland of Royal Oak against Adam H. Sarver of Detroit at 6:30, Pontiac vs. Ypsilanti at 7:30, Bloomer vs. Edgar A. Guest in a Detroit battle at 8:30, and the playoff survivor will meet Dearborn at 9:30.

K-State's Tex Winters Interviewed by Badgers

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ivy Williamson, University Wisconsin athletic director, said Tuesday night that Tex Winter, Kansas State basketball coach, had been contacted concerning the vacant Badger basketball job.

Williamson said he had talked with Winter by telephone and invited him to Madison for an interview.

Ben Carnevale, Navy coach, said earlier Wednesday at Annapolis that he was not interested in the Wisconsin job.

Henry Ford College Passes First Test

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Henry Ford College of Dearborn, Mich., has passed its first test in the National Junior College basketball tournament.

Henry Ford, headed by Jim McIntyre with 21 points, easily took the measure of Eagle Grove of Iowa in the opening round yesterday 79-70. The Michigan team had a 19-point lead in the last half.

Wings Cling to Hopes, 2-0

AP Wirephoto

WING STRONGMAN — Forward Johnny Wilson of the Detroit Red Wings skates in his 508th straight game to tie an all-time NHL record yesterday as the Wings defeated the Chicago Black Hawks, 2-0, at the Olympia to keep their playoff hopes alive.

Sawchuk Gains Fifth Shutout Against Hawks

DETROIT (AP) — Johnny Wilson bears no resemblance to an iron man in hockey, regarded the roughest, fastest sport of all.

Yet last night Wilson equalled a record of durability set 22 years before as his Detroit Red Wings kept their dim Stanley Cup playoff hopes alive, blanking the Chicago Black Hawks 2-0.

Wilson played in his 508th consecutive National Hockey League game.

"I had to be pretty lucky to do it," said Wilson. "I've had lots of injuries, charley horses and bangs in the head.

"But I was lucky last year when I got hit in the eye with a puck and the eye closed right up. We play a lot of games on Thursday. But that week we didn't, and the eye opened enough to let me play Saturday.

"If we had played a game of Thursday, there'd be no record."

Wilson gets his chance to break the record he now shares with Murray Murdoch Saturday against the New York Rangers, Murdoch's old team. Murdoch, still active in hockey as coach at Yale, set his iron man skein by playing in every Ranger game from 1926-27 through 1936-37.

The 29-year-old Wilson's streak began Feb. 10, 1951. He started with the Red Wings, played two full seasons with Chicago and returned to Detroit before last season.

Detroit's victory in last night's only NHL game lifted the Wings to within four points of the fourth-place New York Rangers in the fight for the final playoff berth. The Red Wings would have been eliminated for the first time in 21 years if they had tied or lost. They have two games left.

The Boston Bruins play New York in tonight's only game. A Bruin victory in one of their three remaining games will clinch the runnerup spot. A Ranger tie or triumph tonight will knock Detroit out of the playoffs.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk turned in his fifth shutout of the season against the Black Hawks. He made 22 saves, including a brilliant foil of ex-teammate Ted Lindsay on a second-period breakaway.

After Ullmans' power-play goal at 3:14 of the first stanza, the Wings applied most of the pressure. But they didn't score until 42 minutes later when defenseman Warren Godfrey slashed a 55-foot screen shot past Glenn Hall. Hall was called upon to make 31 stops in the Chicago nets, 17 in the last period.

For the Red Wings to make the playoffs, they need outside assistance. Boston must beat New York tonight. Toronto must lose to Montreal tomorrow or Chicago Saturday or do not better than earn two points with a pair of ties. And Detroit must beat New York Saturday and Toronto Sunday.

11th Frame

By CHUCK ABAIR

A few scattered leagues have concluded operations for the season but there still is plenty of topflight bowling remaining in this area.

The City Women's tourney closes this weekend. Coming up soon will be the Elks Mixed doubles, a Royal Oak open event and a Kiwanis district at Beulah, Mich., among others.

Another keg feature in the near future will be the final of the "Beat the Pro" series at Lakewood Lanes with the women getting a shot at Marion Ladewig. Two men have beaten pros in single games thus far but none in series.

Speaking of tournaments, former Pontiac star Mildred Molter recently rolled a 276 game in a 651 series to lead her team into 1st place at a Roscommon event. She is now an instructor at Alpena.

John Helisek and Ray Powell had 159 and 168 triplicates in the recent GMC doubles tourney at Motor Inn. Jim Hartsoe, who owns a 253 game this year, had a 137 trio at Pontiac Recreation the other night. Mrs. Leland had successive 136s Monday at Montcalm.

Another big contest which will likely attract many local keg participants will be the Greater Detroit Bowling Association playoffs.

HERE 'N' THERE—Norm Jennings' 743 has topped all previous scores at Dixie Recreation. . . . Bowling prices were raised to 50 cents a line for automatics and 45 for alleys using pin boys. . . . After the 1st 24 weeks, the West Side Classic had a mean average of 187 for 84 men.

Add Scores: Jean Cartier 225-669 and Dick Keller 249-654 (Land-O-Lakes); W. Ohst 262, R. McClendon 634, Whit Murphy 254, Walt Treitsch 641 (Montcalm); B. Smart 242, E. Bryant 666, R. Zolman and J. Gruber 247 and D. Smiley 638 (Dixie); and Gale Joyner 240, Carolyn Newcomb 256-640 (Lakewood); J. Katona 247 (Maple Lanes); Ron Cortner 758, Ted Smith 689 and Fred Menke Jr. 683 (Farmington Lanes).

Cooley Lanes has 82 boys and girls from 8 to 16 years of age rolling in a junior league organized for all sports by Union Lake parents. There are two separate divisions according to ages. Each participant will receive a trophy at a post-season banquet. In a similar loop at Romeo, Peggy Ashland, 10, fired a 167 game to earn a national patch award.

Foul judges (executive directors) of Pontiac's new 700 chapter are Sam Perna, Art Grissom, Monroe Moore and Paul George. Moore, Perna, George, Joe Foster, Jim Walker, George Chicovsky and Bill Bull, who has about 20 by now, have all rolled 700s since joining the chapter.

Irish Will See Trotters Play

Pro Harlem Cagers to Appear on 'Old Sod' in May; Russia Later

CHICAGO (AP)—Abe Saperstein, owner-coach of the Harlem Globetrotters, presided at a St. Patrick's Day news conference Tuesday and touched upon Ireland, as well as the Iron Curtain and problems of a basketball team in constant orbit.

Saperstein disclosed his professional Negro cage troupe will play on Irish sod May 30-31 for the first time during the Trotters' 10th annual tour of Europe this spring and summer. The Trotters will appear in Belfast May 30 and in Dublin May 31.

Saperstein also disclosed that the Globetrotters will go behind the Iron Curtain for the first time next summer.

The Trotters will play in Poland, at Warsaw July 5-6 and Krakow July 6-8, with Saperstein taking his booty in Polish commodities rather than cash which cannot be taken from the country.

Saperstein said he is holding seven summer dates open on the tour, assuming that Russia may take five dates. He said negotiations almost were completed for a visit to Russia. He also hopes to play the Trotters in Czechoslovakia.

Griff's Ousted From Tourney

Griff's Grill, Pontiac's Class B City League basketball champion, bowed out of the single-elimination Inter-Cities cage tournament last night at Kronk Fieldhouse in Detroit.

Handicapped by the absence of several key players due to previous commitments, the Grill quintet lost a 52-47 decision to Hazel Park Griff's had only seven players in uniform at game time.

The Grill cagers trailed all the way and their halftime deficit was 29-22. Jerry Hill scored 16 points and Don Harding made 15 to lead Griff's losing cause.

Lakeside Royals, the city's Class D champs, enter the Inter-Cities tourney in their division tonight on the same Kronk Fieldhouse court. The Royals meet Dearborn at 6:45 p.m.

TUESDAY'S BIGUTS

Kenosha Kegler Gains 4th Spot in ABC Singles

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robert Orth of Kenosha, Wis., made the only change in the top 10 standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday when he took fourth place in the singles.

Orth rolled a 717 series, including a center game of 289, highest single game score of the tournament.

Ed Lubanski of Detroit leads the singles with the 764 he rolled Feb. 26. Lubanski captained the Pfeiffers of Detroit team which leads the open team division with 3,243. He also is the leader of the all-events division.

Best score in the open team division yesterday was a 2,976 posted by Mando Photo of St. Paul, Minn. The score wasn't good enough to earn a place among the leaders.

Beers' 27 Points Can't Save R-D 5

Ron & Don Service was eliminated from the Waterford League Class B basketball playoffs last night, despite a 27-point scoring effort by Clarence Beers. Van Welt's Auto Sales won the battle, 50-42, with Ray Oates leading the way on 18 points.

In Class A playoff action, White Swan gained a closely contested 58-55 verdict over Lakeland Pharmacy and Johnson & Anderson defeated Lytell & Colegrove, 56-42.

Chuck Gillis bagged 23 points in a losing cause for L & C and teammate Joe Umphrey added 14. Doug Treals tallied 14 for the J & A cagers. Dennis McConkey's 19 points sparked Swan's win while Gene Wright made 19 and Al Serra had 18 for the Lakeland quintet.

Hoad Widens Lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lew Hoad widened his lead in the world's professional round robin tennis tour Tuesday night, downing Pancho Gonzales 6-4, 6-4 before 1,500 persons.

Star Gal Swingers in N-S Amateur Test

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — A classy collection of former Curtis Cup players, state champions and low handicap performers was on hand today for the 18-hole qualifying play in the North and South Women's amateur golf championship.

The low 32 scorers in the field of about 50 will move into match play tomorrow. One 18-hole round daily winds up with the finals on Monday.

Still Want Hyde from Senators

Yankees Sit at Trade Tables

By The Associated Press

Flushed with success but apprehensive about the quality of their pitching staff, the world champion New York Yankees today prepared to sit down at the bargaining table.

OBJECT: A trade with Washington.

SUBJECT: Relief specialist Dick Hyde.

PRICE: Unknown, but expected to include at least a trio of Yankee rookies and/or bench-warmers.

Hyde, who pitches under-handed, compiled a 10-3 won-lost record and a brilliant 1.75 earned run average while saving a host of games for the last-place Senators last year.

Washington owner Calvin Griffith, apparently willing to part with his bullpen ace in order to bolster other areas that need improvement, has been holding out for a better offer from Yankee general manager George Weiss.

So far the Yanks have offered shortstop Fritz Brickell (.306 at Denver last year) and outfielder John Reed (.309 at New Orleans), both rookies. Weiss is expected to add first baseman Frank Leja (.263 at New Orleans) to the bundle when the two executives meet at St. Petersburg, Fla. today.

With Don Larsen sidelined with a shoulder injury and an unknown quantity when he returns, the Yankees are left with only two surefire starters — Whitey Ford and Bob Turley.

The Senators defeated Pittsburgh 4-1 yesterday in one of the three exhibition games played as rain idled most of the clubs for the second day in succession. In other games, Boston beat San Francisco 6-1 and Cleveland thumped Chicago's Cubs 10-5.

Hyde allowed the Pirates only run but pitched strongly in relief of Chuck Stobbs, who blanked Pittsburgh for the first five innings. Roy Sievers gave Washington all the runs it needed with a two-run homer in the first.

Frank Sullivan, who pitched six innings, and reliefer Herb Moford limited the hard-hitting Giants to four hits. Ted Lepcio homered for the Red Sox, who boosted their exhibition record to 3-1, best in both leagues.

Cleveland's 13-hit attack including Woody Held's homer, was too much for the Cubs, who got home runs from Ernie Banks, Lee Walls and Bobby Thomson. Five runs in the last two innings won it for the Indians.

Besides the Yanks, Cincinnati also is in the market for pitching help to bolster a weak staff. Reds' GM Gabe Paul said he would meet with Bing Devine of St. Louis Thursday to try and swing a deal.

The National League champion Milwaukee Braves also are having trouble according to manager Fred Hane, who advocated a five-day week for exhibition games. Said the Braves' boss:

"We've got so many games that we don't have enough time for instruction. All we can do is talk about the mistakes and that doesn't often do any good."

Featherweight Title Bout

Bassey Slight Favorite

The site is the Olympic Auditorium, the time 10 p.m., EST and fight fans across the nation, barring the southern California region, can see it over the ABC-TV network.

It is Bassey's second defense of the crown and it certainly should be tougher and more exciting than the first. That was last April when the little tiger from Nigeria belted out Ricardo (Pajarito) Moreno in Los Angeles' Wrigley Field in three rounds.

Bassey and his English manager, George Biddles, concede that Moore, the No. 1 ranked contender, poses a threat. Biddles says the hard hitting young man from Springfield, Ohio, is the best Bassey has met in America.

That would include ex-champion Willie Pep, whom he stopped in nine brawling rounds in Boston last September; Carmelo Costa, Ernesto Parra and Miguel Berrios, as well as Moreno.

But Biddles maintains that some of Hogan the Kid's European victims were better fighters than the Yankee crop, Moore inluded.

It's true that Moore cinched the title fight by also stopping Moreno —he did it in one round—but his calibre of opponents isn't too impressive.

By the same token, the class of Bassey's vanquished rivals isn't known on this side of the ocean, either.

In any event, Los Angeles fans have seen both in action, and off these performances, tonight's affair should be spectacular.

Scoring will be by a referee and two judges, using the 10-point per round system—10 to the winner, nine or less to the loser.

I-L Player Assn. Asks Court Test Over Contracts

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Globe and Mail said today that summonses have been served on the Rochester Red Wings, the Buffalo Bisons, Ford Frick, George Trautman, the New York Yankees "and all other clubs in the International League" on behalf of the League Players' Assn.

The story says the summonses were brought by players' representatives Eddie Blake of the Toronto Maple Leafs and Bob Lennon of the Montreal Royals.

Frank Horton, president of the Red Wings, said in Rochester yesterday that he figured the summons was a test case against baseball's standard contract.

Under U.S. Federal law, baseball contracts are exempt from anti-trust laws but if a state court should rule otherwise, the federal courts would have to take another look.

Interpretative Program to Aid Parks Enjoyment

By The Press Outdoors Editor

Something that has long been needed to extend the maximum enjoyment of Michigan's splendid state parks and recreation areas is the current move for an interpretative program. Conservation department, Michigan State University and the National Park service are now building such a program, adapted from the highly efficient national parks system.

Basic purpose is to provide information for benefit of the public regarding recreational, educational and other values of each park or area.

Historical background of the park, its natural features and other attractions would be posted for visitors to see and read, along with maps of the grounds, and direction signs. National Park Service has done a splendid job along these lines, as this observer noted during a recent western vacation.

One of Oakland county's many fine state parks has been selected as one of four to be used as experimental sites for a "pilot" plan. This plan would be a direction-finder for the overall master state plan.

SELECT PROUD LAKE AS A 'PILOT' AREA

Proud Lake area, under extensive development during the last several years, is one of the "pilots." It has grown tremendously in popularity with Oakland county and Metropolitan Area residents. It is near both the splendid Highland Recreational Area and the Kensington Park System.

Regarding historical backgrounds, probably few area persons know that Cass-Dodge park, one of the most heavily used parks in the state, once had a huge elm, known as the Governor Cass Elm. Beneath this tree, long since destroyed in a great storm some 20 years ago, Gov. Cass conducted a conference of some significance. The tree was more than six feet in diameter.

TIMELY TIPS FOR THE ANGLING BEGINNER

One of the big outboard motor makers has just come out with an interesting, informative booklet entitled—naturally—"Fishing With an Outboard." It contains all finds of information on the nation's greatest participation pastime, with some particularly pertinent paragraphs aimed at the beginner (it's free at Mercury dealers).

If one is a beginner, he (or she) is advised they will probably have as much fun as the fellow who has been at it for years—but the tyro will not, generally, get as many fish.

Here are some tips:

1—Buy the right tackle; do some reading on the subject; ask questions; browse about the tackle shops.

2—Practice casting. Maybe neighbors may smile, but do it anyway—try heaving lures at a bucket in the backyard.

3—Talk like a fisherman! Learn the correct terms for your tackle, use them.

4—Learn about fish—talk to experienced anglers, read a lot more!

7—Keep the lures in the water!—can't take fish with them in the boat, or tackle box. Keep trying.

FOX HUNTING TOUGH ON HUNTERS!

Oakland county's fox population hasn't been reduced very materially by the several "mass" hunts conducted during the winter by Oakland County's Sportsmen's club shotgunners, and others. Probably not more than a half dozen Reynards have been taken by these hunters, the latest being one female, and maybe two others, last weekend.

"This one," Lew Wrenn, OCSC hunt chairman said, "is the last for the winter. Spring is coming on fast, and farmers' crops will be coming up soon, so we'll quit now." Area farmers have been very cooperative, says Wrenn, who added "we want to keep these fine relations, so we respect his situation, and stay out of his spring fields."

The hunt ended last weekend, when heavy winds made it dangerous to continue in wooded areas, where the gale tore branches from many trees.

Hope to Restore G. L. Trout

Restocking Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Great Lakes Fishery Commission has plans for eventual restocking of lake trout in the Great Lakes.

Donald L. McKernan, director of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, told a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public recently that a program of control of the sea lamprey is now well under way.

The sea lamprey, an eel-like creature which attaches itself to trout and other gamefish has practically eliminated Lake trout from Lake Michigan and caused lesser harm in lakes Superior and Huron.

As a follow up to the sea lamprey control program, McKernan said, the Great Lakes Fishery Commission is planning a program for the rehabilitation of lake trout in the Great Lakes. However, funds are needed to hire biologists to proceed with the work.

McKernan said that since the disappearance of lake trout in Lakes Michigan and Huron due to sea lamprey depredations, fishermen are being forced to turn to shallow-water fishing for other types of fish. He said studies in this field also are required.

"Under the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission, with Canada, we are, I think, achieving great success in eliminating the lamprey from Lake Superior, but meantime the commercial fishermen in the Great Lakes, who actually harvest between 80 and 100 million pounds from the Great Lakes each year, are having a great deal of difficulty economically," McKernan said.

The latest in boating, sports and travel merchandise will be placed on display in what is called the most extensive exhibition of the winter for the Pontiac area, beginning next week (March 24), and continuing for a six-day stand.

E. H. Buchner is in charge of arrangements and says that 50 or more exhibitors will have displays of outdoor and indoor recreation equipment, and the scads of gadgets and accessories that go along with boating, skiing, hunting, fishing and many other sports.

A stage presentation will be a program feature twice daily. Highlighted attraction will be the highly-trained palomino, Melody Lady, with her owner-handler Frances DuBay. Art Mee "clown prince of musical nonsense;" State Police Lieut. Lester Coykendall in pistol shooting and gun handling demonstrations; motion pictures of conservation subjects, films of hunting and other outdoors activities, shown continuously, are other items of interest.

Persons interested in boating will find the exhibit of water rescue team equipment, and demonstrations by the county's rescue squad from the sheriff's department worth a stop. Deputy Bill Jackson is in charge. The exhibit includes both boat and equipment.

Show will be open afternoons and evenings.

Carolina Carp Go for Sweets

Recently Herbert Roe Jr. of Columbia concocted his own special bait, consisting of corn meal and flour with a pinch of sugar.

Using only this bait he caught 126 pounds of carp in one fishing outing.

Girl Shooter Top-Rated

Oakland County Sportsmen's Club Junior Rifle course has completed its 4th period of class work for the year, and a fine young shooter, Lois Saylor, 15, of 1535 Island Dr., Bloomfield Hills, set the pace with a 154x200 mark for marksmanship. She was one of 48 who received their certificates last night.

The next group begins its work March 31. All stress basic gun safety and marksmanship. They provide fine training for going afield in shooting seasons. Anyone interested should contact Don Bennett (UL 2-2076), Kyle Wharff (FE 4-6474) or Ken Farnum (FE 5-8826).

Lois received a trophy certifying her championship.

Others in the class included Alan R. Auigur, 12, Clarkston; Betty Ann Barnes, 12, Drayton Plains; Sharon Barnes, 12, Oak Park; Barry Blackstone, 14, Drayton Plains; Ken Bonnett, 12, Birmingham; James Chapman, 12, Clarkston; David DeLongchamp, 13, Clarkston; Paul F. Virginian Sets Pace for Pistol Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Big-bore shooting began today among Flamingo Pistol Championship aspirants who warmed up on .22 caliber competition.

Leader after the .22 session was Joseph C. White of Alexandria, Va., a U.S. Border patrolman. He scored 855 with 31 shoots in the bullseye's dead-center "X" ring.

T. Sgt. William R. Mellon, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., was in second place with 881-44X and William C. Joyner of Yuma, Ariz., another Border patrolman, was third at 881-44X.

Solunar Tables

Enjoy Better Season

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — After a poor opening, hunters were reporting partridges more plentiful as compared with last season. Reports to the government indicated at least 20 per cent more success than last year.

Styling and Livability Keynote New Inboards

Modern styling, greater "livability" and increased seaworthiness are keynotes of the 1959 inboard powered cruisers.

From the big boats such as the 46-foot Richardson "Golden Anniversary" motor yacht down to the small 22-footers, the inboard cruiser fleet presents a complete variety of more than 50 craft to suit every purpose, taste and pocketbook.

Topped priced boats at $53,000 include the double cabin 42-foot Matthews while the smallest inboards with sleeping, cooking and toilet facilities—three criteria necessary to differentiate a cruiser from a runabout—retail for as low as $4,000.

Many models are featuring special one-level cabin and cockpit space to permit freedom and ease of movement from place to place.

One of these, the Richardson 46-footer puts both the galley and dining area on the same level as the main salon.

Others with this "ranch style" one-floor convenience include the Richardson 40-foot sedan, the Colonial 40-foot flying bridge cruiser and the Cruis Along Bluewater 31-footer.

Matthews, which builds five basic models on a single 42-foot hull, formerly offered its boats in both narrow and wide-beamed versions. This year, however, the Port Clinton, Ohio, builder has concentrated on the wider boats for greater living room aboard and more seaworthiness in the riding qualities.

The 42-foot double cabin flying bridge model boasts new interior appointments, new fabrics and new materials to increase the appeal to the feminine eye and make for greater livability.

Two large picture windows have been added to the owner's stateroom to let in additional light as well as providing a view aft when under way.

Completely new this year is a 40-foot Pacemaker convertible sedan with flying bridge, offered by C. P. Leek and Sons, builders of the 29 and 33-foot offshore fishing cruisers that have been so popular in recent years.

This is the largest, most luxurious craft ever built in Leek's 23-year history and is right in the mode of livability with 152-square-foot, flush-deck living-room size cockpit that measures 17 feet long when the cabin doors are opened.

The modern galley has a pressure water system, and eight cubic foot refrigerator. The upholstery in the cabin is Naugahyde.

The Christ-Craft Corp. is featuring improved quality, comfort and performance with many models actually priced lower than ones they supercede. The 35-foot Constellation will have a spacious L-shaped galley and commodious living quarters for six or eight with plenty of beam for good riding.

Owens, which last year had Raymond Loewy do the deck house and interior design for its 25-footer, has this year adapted the same general precepts for greater living room aboard to its whole line of cruisers.

The 35-foot model Flagship, termed "the crowning achievement of Owens' revolution in boat building," has a bright, airy, partitioned cabin that sleeps up to eight persons, provides complete galley, dinette and ingenious full-size dressing room with shower.

The use of fiber glass reinforced plastic construction in inboard cruisers is much more evident for 1959 than previously.

Crosby Aeromarine, which up to now has concentrated on outboard boats, this year showed its new 25-foot Antigua inboard, a highly styled model sleeping four with all electrical wiring molded right into the hull or deck.

The anchorage has a fiber glass 29-footer made with a special process called Dyeresin, while Sumner Boat Company's Compoglas 24 and 28-footers are of a synthesis of wood and glass.

The seaworthy qualities of lapstrake wooden construction have captivated the fancy of many cruiser owners and this year builders are offering more such boats than before.

Both Owens and Trojan, leaders in the field of small to medium sized inboards, are adding lapstrake models to their full lines.

Gauging Speed on Water Harder Than on Land

Gauging speed on the water is more difficult than on land.

On a straight shoreline, set up two checkpoints a measured distance apart, time your boat between these points and convert to MPH.

After timing yourself a few times at different speeds, you will be able to tell from the sound of the motor and the feel of the boat your approximate speed.

Clothing Stowage Tip

If clothing stowage is a problem there is usually room beneath the bunk mattress. Skirts, shirts, trousers and linens can be thusly stowed. They will retain their crease if carefully placed and help make the bunk softer.

WATER SKIING is a thrilling sport for all ages and a good reason why boating is America's fastest growing sport.

Docking Motorboat Takes Practice

Docking a motorboat is easy to master with practice.

Before attempting to dock, check wind and current. Always approach at slow speed and head into the wind or current which ever is the stronger, in order to have the greatest control over your boat.

As you near the pier shift into neutral, let the engine idle so you may shift into reverse should you have misjudged your speed.

To lose momentum short of the pier is no disaster and can easily be remedied with a little extra throttle. But if you overshoot, you can be in trouble.

Bring your boat in to a few feet from the pier and parallel to the planned mooring location. Turn your helm away from the pier, shift to reverse at slow throttle and the boat will move right alongside for a feather light landing.

Fiber Glass, Lapstrake Used More in Construction

Broader beam, less stylized hull design and the growing use of fiber glass and lapstrake wooden construction mark the new outboard runabouts and utilities.

An interesting new design is the Keller Kraft Satellite II, billed as a "hydrabout." This craft is basically a 17-foot runabout with hydroplane-type sponsons built right into both chines.

When the boat gets under way, she comes up out of the water and rides on these two outer sponsons, attaining speeds up to 60 mph, according to the builder.

Another novel outboard craft is Custom Craft's new four-point Manta Ray runabout, a radical fiber glass craft that has a catamaran-type sea-sled hull.

Fiber glass reinforced plastic continues to grow by giant steps as a favored material for building these craft that vary generally from 12 to 19 feet in size.

Playing the only strong counter point to this swing toward glass is the similar growth of lapstrake-planked wood as a favored hull material, particularly for rougher water.

Many builders of wooden or aluminum boats are this year adding fiber glass lines to meet this growing demand.

One of the most notable in this category is the Wagemaker Co. which is introducing an Empire line of glass boats to supplement its Wolverine wooden boats and Cadillac aluminum craft.

To carry the more powerful outboard motors on the market today and to provide added stability and versatility, many outboard boat manufacturers offerings for this year have greater beam than previously.

With the varied and increased use that today's outboard boats are experiencing, this development logically follows the general build-up in the average boat lengths notable over recent years.

Another trend evident in the outboard world is that manufacturers are now including as standard equipment what used to be "extra" items, such as windshields, steering wheels and cables, deck hardware and in many cases upholstered seats.

The automobive hull styling, particularly tail fins, that was widely featured in the past several years on outboard runabouts has in many cases been abandoned in favor of more simple design geared to actual usage rather than to visual appeal.

However, manufacturers are making wider use of color both in hull and deck combinations and in upholstery and interiors.

Taking note of the growing popularity for group cruising in outboard boats with overnight stops along the way, many manufacturers are offering utility models with after cockpits spacious enough for two or three persons to sleep on air mattresses. To provide shelter these craft have either convertible or permanent hard tops.

Owens Yacht Co., whose boats range from 15 to 35 feet, is concentrating its outboard production in fiber glass and wooden lapstrake planking, the latter an innovation for the Baltimore firm.

Another old line boat builder, Pen Yan, is also making a bid for a share of the bigger-sized outboard boat market by introducing a line of five wooden lapstrake craft from 14 to 19 feet long.

Many Small Craft Made for Hunters or for Fishermen

The huge armada of pleasure craft this year include a complete selection of small dinghies, prams, canoes, folding boats and car-toppers to appeal to the hunter, the fisherman or owner of a larger craft looking for a tender.

Among the smallest boats is a two-man, 45-pound fiber glass dink, shown by Aero Nautical Boat Shop. It measures just under seven feet long.

Among least expensive of all finished models is the seven-foot, nine-inch Hamann rowing pram, made of plywood and selling for $78.50, with three seats and oarlocks.

Aluminum dinghies and prams are featured by Grumann and Duratech, while Penn Yan, American Boatbuilding, Marscot and Cape Cod have fiber glass small craft.

Boat Should Be Cleaned, Fixed Before Trading

In the fall, after a good season of boating, many of the nation's small boat skippers get the urge to take their craft to the nearest boat dealer and try their hand at bartering around for a bigger boat for coming season.

However, many of these boatmen don't take the time, or the trouble, to prepare their boats for the trip to the dealer.

Some boats arrive grimy, with nicks and scrapes, the burnished paint, green fittings and motors that need a doctor more than a trade-in.

Here are a few tips offered by the National Assn. of Engine and Boat Manufacturers on preparing an outboard boat for sale or trade-in.

Remember, a good looking, well-kept craft will bring more money on a sale, or a better deal on trade-in.

1. Check the steering. Tighten steering column bolts and bolt-on accessories. Adjust tiller rope pulleys until steering is firm and accurate.

2. Check remote control unit for slack in cables. Clean out dirt and debris with paint thinner. Lubricate rack and pinion steering.

3. Make sure battery is at peak strength for fast starts. Clean terminals with baking soda, water and brush. If necessary, charge the battery. Check out fuel lines and tank.

Clean water and debris from tank and inspect sediment bowl for water and sand. Make sure fuel and air mix dials are set at proper reading for smooth running.

4. If prop is in bad shape, have it redressed and shape on a prop block. A bent prop can cause engine vibrations which are often mistaken for powerhead trouble.

5. On fiberglas boats, fill in scratches and hair-line cracks next to the keel and transom with resin paste. Sand smooth.

6. On aluminum boats, fill in minor leaks along seams and bilges with aluminum putty. Replace sprung rivets. Steel wool will remove corrosion pits on hull.

7. A dirty boat will knock a dealer's offer down. Clean it up before selling. Sand off deck plates, seats and the dashboard, and apply two coats of new varnish.

Use a little touch-up paint where necessary on the hull. Thinner or a solvent will remove grease spots. To remove musty odors below deck, pour in water and soap powder or a bilge cleaner and swish around with a short-handled mop. Sponge out the water immediately afterwards.

Rules Are Vital in Safe Boating

Always Keep to Right, Don't Speed Near Shore Included in Basics

Owners of all types of boats must know the rules and regulations governing their craft on the different waters and within certain instances which might occur.

Here are six basic rules suggested by the National Assn. of Engine and Boat Manufacturers for motorboat owners:

1. Always keep to the right.

2. Rowboats, canoes and sail boats, except when overtaking another craft, always have the right of way; as does any craft approaching from the right.

3. When operating on the waters under the jurisdiction of the federal government, or the various states, always have full knowledge of the rules or regulations governing those waters and the equipment required for your boat.

4. Remember that some states prohibit trolling or shooting from any boat powered with a motor.

5. It is dangerous to speed too close to shore. You will endanger the lives of bathers or fishermen.

St. Lawrence Project Mammoth Venture

Seaway to Change World Geography

WASHINGTON — The opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Projects will start a major reshaping not only of America's but of the world's geography, and of its economy as well, senior editor Andrew H. Brown reports in the March National Geographic Magazine.

The most ambitious construction venture man has attempted since the Panama Canal, the Seaway will open in April.

For deepwater ships out of world seaports like Liverpool and Hamburg, completion of the Seaway means that Cleveland is suddenly closer than Baltimore; Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Duluth are now as handy to Europe as Miami and New Orleans.

To shippers and manufacturers in the United States and Canada, it means the sudden addition of 8,300 miles of coast accessible to large ocean vessels — a stretch longer than the whole U. S. Atlantic seaboard.

Together, Canada and the United States poured more than a billion dollars into the four-year undertaking. At peak effort, 22,000 men worked on the venture.

Men marshaled along the river the most fantastic array of excavating, hauling, and construction equipment ever brought together for a peaceful enterprise. With $70 million worth of machines, they cut canyons through earth and rock, and moved whole villages to make way for a broad new lake.

They dredged mountains of muck and glacial till, and pumped dry the raging Long Sault Rapids that have been the scourge of the St. Lawrence since colonial times. One 19th-century visitor remarked that he "would rather cross the Atlantic thrice than travel . . . the rapids."

In addition to making the St. Lawrence navigable for big ships, the river has been harnessed for electric power. The energy comes from 246,000 cubic feet of water which flows out to sea each second through the St. Lawrence. That is enough water to give every man, woman, and child in the United States 61 large baths a day.

The Moses-Saunders Powerdam below Long Sault — a single structure built half by the United States and half by Canada — is already delivering about 50 per cent of its total planned output of power. When all generating units are installed, it will normally drop the whole flow of the St. Lawrence through 32 turbines and develop up to 1,880,000 kilowatts of electricity.

Changing the course of a great river means inevitably changing the course of life along its banks, Mr. Brown writes. The impact of the Seaway on the people who live near it has scarcely begun to be felt. The growth from a peaceful pastoral valley to an industrial complex will require years; abundant electric power and easy access to world shipping assure the long-term change. But part of the impact was immediate. In all 6,500 people and 525 homes had to be moved. Graveyards were dug up and removed to new consolidated cemeteries.

In June a gleaming yacht will lead a procession of ships into the new waterway at Montreal. Aboard Britannia will be Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, on their way to the international section of the St. Lawrence. Rental Service in Art Popular

CHICAGO (UPI) — A secretary appealed to the rental gallery of the Chicago Art Institute for a "very soothing picture" to be hung across from her boss' desk.

A housewife requested a work of art to appeal to her fisherman-husband—"something with a rainbow trout and a walleye pike," she specified.

And a woman who said she knew nothing about art asked volunteer workers in the rental service to select something appropriate for a sick friend who "shouldn't have to look at a blank wall all day."

The Institute has rented about 2,500 original paintings by Chicago area artists since the program was begun five years ago.

Most customers select their own, but the rental gallery handles a number of orders from persons in distant states who have heard of the program.

A "jury" of experts selects the paintings from entries ranging in prices from $50 to $600. Rentals vary from $5 to $25, depending on the value of the painting, for a two-month period.

The rental may be renewed for one additional period, and the renter may apply the charge to the purchase price if he decides to buy the picture.

Representational art—pictures of subjects that look like what they are—are most popular.

Few persons will venture to try an abstract on their first rental, and a few long-time renters who finally decided to take the plunge returns the pictures after a couple of days.

"My husband doesn't like it," is the usual explanation."

Canada Ford May Make Smaller Cars

TORONTO (AP)—Shareholders of Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. were told yesterday the company has made preliminary moves towards possible production of a smaller-sized economy car in Canada.

President Rhys M. Sale told the annual meeting the move would depend on whether and when "such a car is placed in production by Ford Motor Co. in the United States and providing market conditions and other circumstances at that time justify production in Canada."

The U.S. company announced plans last week to introduce a small economy car during the 1960 model year, barring changes in the market or other circumstances.

Sees More Layoffs in Auto Industry Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers Union, says he anticipates more layoffs in the auto industry by April.

Mazey made the statement to newsmen last night following a union rally here to work out plans for a march by the jobless on Washington April 8 to dramatize the nation's unemployment problem.

The meeting was closed to reporters but UAW President Walter P. Reuther was reported to have appealed for support of the Washington demonstration "to shatter White House complacency."

Reuther was quoted as saying lack of leadership on the part of President Eisenhower was to blame for what Reuther called an unemployment crisis.

DETROIT (AP) — The Ernst Kern Co., one of Detroit's oldest department stores, was sold today to Benjamin Goldstein of Detroit, a minority stockholder.

Grain Futures Trade Slows

CHICAGO (AP)—There were a few scattered steady to firm spots in a generally weak grain futures market today. Dealings on the Board of Trade were slow and lacking any significant influences.

Nearby rye contracts had the best support which dealers said appeared to be reinstatement of long positions liquidated during yesterday's profit-taking.

In the absence of export business and with domestic demand very slow, brokers said the trade appeared mainly to be standing pat in present positions and awaiting a government report after the close of trading today on farmer planting intentions this year.

Wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ¼ lower, near the end of the first hour, March $2.08¼; corn unchanged to ⅛ lower, March old type contract $1.17⅞; oats ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, March 65½; rye ¼ to 1 cent higher, Marech $1.45¾; soybeans ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, March $2.21⅝.

Teamster Officials Quizzed on Deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators summoned two Teamster Union officials today in an effort to learn whether they were secret partners in a Chicago insurance agency which assertedly overcharged labor unions for insurance.

The Labor-Management Committee also hoped to get to the bottom of charges that the firm, the Dearborn Insurance Agency, collected nearly $500,000 in inflated commissions in the process.

Scheduled as witnesses were the two unionists, John T. (Sandy) O'Brien, second international vice president of the Teamsters, and Frank Brown, president emeritus of Chicago Teamsters Local 710.

The committee produced documentary evidence Tuesday listing Brown as a Dearborn director. One document mentioned a proposed deal to issue 40 shares of stock in the agency to be split secretly between Brown and "John."

Committee investigator Alphonse Calabrese said he believed "John" is O'Brien.

Million Watch 130,000 March for St. Patrick

NEW YORK (AP)—Police estimate 130,000 persons marched in the St. Patrick's Day parade Tuesday and that there were a million spectators.

It took an hour and six minutes to follow the green center stripe on Fifth Avenue from 44th St. to 96th St.

Skies were clear and blue and the weather was balmy—about 45 degrees—when the parade started.

The mercury gradually dropped to 37 degrees, and brisk winds buffeted the marchers as the parade wore on. Late in the afternoon a sudden series of snow flurries swept the line of march.

At 5:35 p.m., five hours and 31 minutes after the parade began, the last of the marchers, damp but undaunted, passed the reviewing stand.

U.S. Stock Plan for GM Rapped

Du Pont Stockholders Tell Court It Would Cost Them Dearly

CHICAGO (AP) — Some representative Du Pont stockholders say they would suffer severe penalties if the government plan for divesting E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. of its 23 per cent stock ownership in General Motors is adopted.

The stockholders testified to that effect yesterday in U. S. district court. The U.S. Supreme Court has directed Judge Walter J. La Buy to work out a plan for such divestment after ruling that Du Pont's ownership of 63 million GM shares, valued at around 3 billion dollars, tended toward monopoly.

The Justice Department has proposed that Du Pont distribute 43 million shares of its GM stock to Du Pont shareholders and sell the remaining 20 million shares on the open market. Both Du Pont and GM have contended the government plan would adversely affect the stock market and penalize stockholders of both firms.

Four of the stockholders testified yesterday they would sell any shares of GM stock they would receive under the government plan. Four others testified they would keep the stock and another witness said he was undecided what he would do.

Found Slumped Over in His Car

Tunnel Worker Gets Bends

The victim, Jacob Kutachi, 42, of 900 Long Lake Rd., was rushed to a decompression chamber when discovered slumped over in his parked car on Telegraph road.

An employe of the G.F.S. Associates, 6500 E. 11-Mile Rd., Center Line, Kutachi had been working 55 feet below ground in a Wayne County water tunnel in Lincoln Park.

The "bends" is a severe reaction of the blood stream caused by extreme changes in air pressure. It results in painful cramps and often leaves the sufferer completely helpless.

Kutachi was found by a passerby on Telegraph road near Dehener street in Detroit who summoned police.

They followed instructions on a tag Kutachi was wearing and took him to the decompression chamber at the tunnel site. The chamber relieves the "bends" by slowly bringing the air pressure to normal.

Hospital Building Project to Start After Long Delay

Halted seven months, the Pontiac General Hospital expansion program was almost under way again today.

Contractors' skeleton crews were at the hospital, planning construction that may begin by the end of the week, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

The hospital issued its first work orders Monday, Euler said, for local contractors to get started on the unexpected repairs that stalled further construction last September and to complete remodeling of the east wing.

Immediate aim will be renovation of all plumbing in the east wing, said Euler, then remodeling of the third and fourth floors into a 30-bed patient area to end deficit operations at the hospital.

If all goes well, the entire expansion program may be finished in eight months, he said, with the east wing turned into a 115-patient area supplementing the addition that was completed last summer.

Undertaking the repairs on a time-and-material basis are J. A. Fredman, Inc., Eames & Brown and Fred W. Moote, Electrical, Inc., selected by the city after original contracts were canceled for lack of extra funds.

Under rules set down by the City Commission last week, the contractors will work under work orders issued every two weeks, with working agreements subject to cancellation on two-weeks notice.

Initial expenses are being met out of $200,000 in equipment funds for the east wing, which the city has promised to reimburse by early next year.

The construction halted when it was discovered that old heating, plumbing and wiring in the east wing had to be replaced. Original contractors estimated it would cost a half a million dollars to replace the systems in their entirety, but the city hopes to trim that figure by proceeding on a time-and-material basis, saving whatever portion of the installations that is salvable.

Even so, the extra costs may amount to $350,000-$400,000, it is estimated.

Mrs. Louis was admitted to the California bar in 1943 after being graduated from Southwestern Law School.

Van Breaks on Alaska Hwy.

59ers in Double Trouble

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

FORT NELSON, B.C. — Detroit's Alaska-bound 59ers were bogged down today under new misfortunes of bad weather and mechanical breakdowns.

"The monstrosity" — the big 1934 moving van carrying equipment and foodstuffs for the group, headed for homesteading in the Kenai Peninsula, broke down under the weight of its load and the rugged traveling conditions. Its transmission and brakes gave out, and the frame was cracked.

A heavy snowfall made travel on the twisting gravel road of the Alaska Highway treacherous. One car and trailer jackniifed into a snowbank and had to be pulled out. The group has made slow progress during the past two days—about 300 miles.

One member of the caravan, Lewis Hoffman, traveling in an automobile without a trailer, voiced his discontent with what he said was lack of leadership, and said he might leave the group and push on ahead unless leaders made firm decisions on what to do.

On the Alaska Highway the traveler finds virtually no modern conveniences.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol the highway. But gasoline stations are from 30 to 50 miles apart and with next-to-nothing in between.

Airs Lurid Past of Mrs. Duncan

Prosecutor Asks Death Penalty in California Murder Trial

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — A prosecutor seeking the death penalty for Elizabeth Duncan says a lurid past is one of the reasons she deserves no mercy.

Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson told a jury Tuesday that Mrs. Duncan's hiring of two men to strangle her son's wife was preceded by 11 marriages and that she once operated a house of ill fame.

The jury, which convicted her Monday of arranging the murder of Olga Duncan, 30, last November, now has the task of deciding her penalty—death or life imprisonment.

Two vice officers testified Tuesday that they raided a San Francisco massage parlor May 11, 1953, and arrested Mrs. Duncan, 54, on the prostitution charge. She served six days in jail.

Defense objections that such material was irrelevant to the issue of penalty in a murder case were overruled.

Mrs. Duncan's last husband, Leonard Joseph Sollenne, testified that she proposed to him Aug. 11, 1957. She told him her late husband's will specified she must remarry if she was to inherit $196,000.

The Carpinteria, Calif., truck driver and hod carrier said Mrs. Duncan called the marriage a "business proposition" and promised to split the money with him. They married the next day. He got no money and several months later had the marriage annulled.

Regardless of what punishment the jury decrees, it won't take effect until Mrs. Duncan's secondary plea—innocent by reason of insanity—is decided.

Soviets Hurl Charge at Ike

Say Berlin Speech Means Indefinite Stay of U.S. Troops in City

LONDON (AP)—The official Soviet new agency Tass charged last night that President Eisenhower's speech on Berlin reflected U. S. determination to keep troops in West Berlin indefinitely.

Western Europe and Britain approved Eisenhower's declaration of willingness to attend a summit conference if adequate preparation was made by a foreign ministers meeting.

West Germany and West Berlin applauded Eisenhower's assurance that the United States will stand by its commitments in Germany.

But Tass said Eisenhower's main intent was "to convince American public opinion of the legality of the stay of American troops in Western Berlin 14 years after the end of the war."

"The whole spirit of the speech conveys the U. S. government's wish to prolong the occupation of Berlin for an indefinite time," Tass added.

British officials called the speech excellent and a French foreign ministry spokesman said it was well received.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer praised Eisenhower's speech. He told a meeting of his Christian Democratic Party Eisenhower "made it very clear how important the United States regards the situation in Berlin today."

Eisenhower, Adenauer said, "also made very clear what the consequences would be for the West if it gave in to the Russians on Berlin."

GM BUILDS FIRST SPACE AGE INSPIRED CAR — Here is the new General Motors experimental Firebird III, the first car ever designed around a single stick control system which eliminates the conventional steering wheel, brake pedal and accelerator. Tools of the space age—electronics, transistors and computors—are used to guide the car automatically and control passenger comfort. GM President John F. Gordon declares that the car has "more new design and engineering ideas than either of its GM predecessors, Firebird I and Firebird II." The new car, shown here under test at the GM Proving Ground at Mesa, Ariz., has two engines. One is an improved gas turbine located at the rear to drive the wheels, and the other is a 10 horsepower piston engine in the nose to power the car's accessories. The car was recently introduced as the star of the GM Motorama of 1959.

Waterford Board to Consider Fund Issue of Future Levies

The Waterford Township Board of Education at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow will consider a resolution dealing with the sale of $500,000 in tax anticipation notes according to Supt. William Shunck.

In other business, the board will review the township's recreation budget. The supporting funds for this department are appropriated mainly by the Township Board and the Board of Education.

It is expected that the building committee will present recommended Board of Education policies in connection with acquisition of school sites, Shunck said.

A suggested meeting schedule for the board's study of a compiled "Policy Statement" also will be discussed, and Shunck will report on rates for specific architectual services. He also will make recommendations regarding teachers contracts for the current year.

Safety Will Play Part in Road Bid Awards

LANSING (AP)—Bidders who meet safety standards will improve their eligibility for state highway construction jobs starting in June, the State Highway Department said today.

John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, said a new manual of general safety requirements will be included in the department's future standard specifications.

Future bidding privileges will be determined, in part, on how well the contractor complies with the new safety program, Mackie added.

Mackie said highway construction accidents aside from human suffering cost an average of $31,000 per one million dollars worth of construction.

Just a 10 per cent accident reduction, he said, would save 2½ million dollars on the state's five-year, 800 million dollar construction program.

Bay City Holds Parade for Irish Despite Cold

BAY CITY (AP) — Despite snow and cold, Bay City held its traditional St. Patrick's Day parade yesterday.

A thousand marchers in green ties and hats paraded in 30-degree weather as blanketed spectators applauded.

Gov. Williams, wearing a green and white polka dot tie, came by plane from Lansing to put in his official appearance.

An English setter also was present. The dog's antecedence might not have been in tune with the occasion. However, its color was in the best form. The dog's coat was dyed green.

The U.S. Army piers in Alaska ports are protected from damage from floating ice packs by a solid ice mass which forms around the piers' underpinnings and serves as "bumpers" to push away the floating packs.

Flow of Protesting Letters Will Likely Shift to ABC

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — The curtain rang down for a couple of performers last night — NBC-TV's Eddie Fisher and John McIntire of ABC-TV's Naked City.

Fisher put back the zing in his hour, closed down his season and I guess all those protesting letters to NBC-TV can stop now. McIntire, one of the two leading characters on Naked City since it started last September, was killed off last night and I guess all the protesting letters to ABC-TV can start now.

Fisher seems to have amused himself considerably offstage this season, but he has not provided much entertainment in his professional capacity.

Last night, however, there were sections of the Fisher hour that had some wallop.

As for Naked City, it was inevitable, I suppose, that some show would get around to killing off one of its principal players.

Villains are being knocked off with such profuse regularity on TV that it's simply no fun anymore to watch one of them being carted away.

McIntire, who played Det. Dan Muldoon in the series, had notified the producer of Naked City that he wished to retire to his Montana ranch and the show solved his retirement fairly neatly last night by simply having a hood murder him with an automobile, a neat trick in itself.

McIntire played a gentle cop in the series and he will be replaced by Horace McMahon, who's going to be a tough cop.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Betty Field has joined Helen Hayes, Lloyd Nolan and Burgess Meredith in the cast of NBC-TV's "Ah, Wilderness" special which will be seen April 28 . . . Bob Hope, Laurence Olivier, Mort Sahl, Jerry Lewis and David Niven will emcee the Motion Picture Academy awards show on NBC-TV April 6.

Ireland's Chief Tells of Aims

O'Kelly Will Work to Ease Suspicion Among Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Sean T. O'Kelly of Ireland told a joint session of Congress today Ireland will work to dissipate unnecessary suspicions among nations of the world.

The 76-year-old Irish President is the first to make an official U.S. visit.

"One of the dangers that confront mankind is an exacerbated antagonism between the so-called colonial and anti-colonial countries," he said in his prepared address.

"As well as being a European country, Ireland is also a country with a long and a well-known history of stubborn resistance to foreign rule.

"In that position, Ireland can hope to play in the United Nations and elsewhere a useful part, by helping to dissipate unnecessary suspicions, and seeking to create a better climate for international understanding."

O'Kelly, whom President Eisenhower greeted Tuesday as "the president of all of us," said his appearance before Congress is among the proudest experiences of his life."

He recalled that Charles Stewart Parnell, the Irish patriot, addressed Congress in 1880. He said Parnell took back to Ireland the knowledge that "America as a whole, represented in Congress, looked with sympathy on Ireland's struggle for freedom."

O'Kelly said Ireland still faces "the great and challenging problem of partition," with six Northern counties loyal to Britain.

Ireland has become "one of the best-fed nations in the world," and in the arts "there is vigor and movement," he said.

He beamed his way, flashing Irish charm and wit, through a busy day.

O'Kelly and his wife will leave Washington Thursday afternoon for New York City, New England, the Midwest and East before returning to Ireland March 31.

Push Self-Defense in Teel Murder Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Attorneys for Connie Nicholas are expected to try to prove the pistol slaying of her married and socially prominent sweetheart was the accidental result of an act of self-defense.

The defense lawyers' strategy emerged from their questioning of prospective jurors Tuesday in the second day of the jilted divorcee's trial for first-degree murder in the death of wealthy Forrest Teel, 54, last July 31.

Each prospective juror was asked whether he would have any hesitation in voting for acquittal if the state failed to prove the death of Teel was not accidental.

Another question the defense asked was whether a person has the right to defend himself against personal injury.

Mrs. Nicholas contends Teel struck her and twisted her arm when he found her waiting for him after he left the apartment of Miss Laura Mowrer.

Prosecutor Phillip L. Bayt and his deputies say they can produce evidence Teel did not injure Mrs. Nicholas. They contend the paralysis which forces her to wear braces on her hands resulted from an overdose of sleeping pills she swallowed in a suicide attempt after the shooting.

Nurses to Take Course on Duties During Disasters

A pre-disaster workshop for all Oakland County graduate nurses will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the second floor auditorium of the Birmingham Library, 351 Martin St.

The lectures and discussions have been recommended by the District Nursing Assn., said Mrs. Marie Rodriguez, Oakland County director of training for medical emergencies.

"The workshop will concentrate on information that is not offered to nurses elsewhere," said Mrs. Rodriguez.

One important topic will be the responsibilities of nurses in welfare centers in emergencies. Under civil defense plans, nurses will take charge of centers for displaced persons.

"Many nurses are not aware of what their duties would be in such centers," Mrs. Rodriguez said.

The workshop will also delve into such other subjects as disaster sanitation, radiation and emergency use of airwaves.

Sammy Sees Hope in Rift With Sinatra

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sammy Davis Jr., at his sensational opening—which had ringsiders Lucille Ball, Charlton Heston, Red Buttons and Keely Smith cheering — soft-pedaled Frank Sinatra's feud with him.

It stemmed from remarks Sammy made on Chicago disk jockey Jack Eigen's show. Some people construed them as being unkind to Frank, and Sinatra has refused to speak to Sammy since, despite Sammy's desire to renew the friendship.

WILSON

Introducing his impersonation of Sinatra, Davis said, "He's the number one man of show business—and in this moment of controversy I want to say he has always been, and will always be, my idol. Later Sammy mentioned to friends he'd heard from Sinatra, "through intermediaries."

"He said, 'Tell Charlie not to worry,'" Sammy related. "When Frank calls me Charlie, things are OK. When he calls me Sam he's sore."

Ike Calls Meet on Jobless Pay

Invites Governors to Talk Over Ways of Strengthening Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors of eight states and Hawaii have been invited to meet with President Eisenhower Monday to discuss jobless pay.

In announcing the invitations Tuesday, the White House said the purpose of the meeting is to explore "ways to strengthen the regular federal-state unemployment compensation program."

In addition to Hawaii's governor, the invitations went to the chief executives of Florida, Illinois, Mississippi, New Jersey, West Virginia, North Dakota, Utah and Colorado. All nine are members of the executive committee of the National Governors Conference.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, 18 Democratic senators described the jobless pay extension bill passed by the House Monday as "almost totally inadequate."

In a letter to Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee they called for committee hearings on ways to do more for the unemployed.

Byrd has set Friday for consideration of the House bill. There are indications his committee will send it to the floor promptly, probably without public hearings.

Unless the bill is passed before Congress begins its Easter recess late next week, the temporary program will have expired before the Senate can act to extend it. Congress reconvenes April 6.

The House bill would extend the temporary federal program of extra jobless benefits for three months to next June 30.

In their letter to Byrd, the 18 senators said latest official figures show 4,749,000 persons unemployed and they said there is little prospect for improvement.

The House bill, they said, "would force tens of thousands of self-respecting workers and their families to suffer the humiliation of going on the relief rolls."

Dulles Planning to Take a Rest in 'Sunny Place'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made plans today to go soon to some "warm, sunny place" to rest from his cancer treatments.

The 71-year old official was to have his 19th massive radiation exposure. It was one of the last treatments he will receive at Walter Reed Army Hospital, which he entered early last month for a hernia operation that disclosed a recurrence of abdominal cancer.

Dulles was expected to leave his hospital suite within a week and decide whether to continue in office by April 6. State Department sources said the secretary would relax and regain his strength for about two weeks in some temperate spot before making the decision.

State Department press officer Lincoln White reported yesterday that the secretary weighed 177 pounds, about eight pounds less than his normal weight.

New Contract Means Natural Gas for UP

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. today announced signing of a contract which will link Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. with vast new gas fields of Western Canada and provide natural gas for the Upper Peninsula.

The announcement was made in the office of Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who said availability of natural gas for the UP "can mean one of the most significant industrial developments of recent years in Michigan."

Service of about 30 million cubic feet of gas a day to the Upper Peninsula could start as early as the fall of 1960 if the Federal Power Commission approves the contract.

Detroit Gets Approval to Borrow $5 Million

LANSING (AP)—A five million dollar borrowing by Detroit to meet current operating expenses has been approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

Detroit authorities said the money was needed because Wayne County failed to pay hospital charges due the city. The money will be borrowed through tax anticipation notes at a maximum interest of three per cent.

Committee OKs Ike's Fund Bill

Only 1 Pct. Cut Made in Treasury-Post Office $4.6 Billion Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today made a nominal cut of slightly more than one per cent in the first big money bill affecting President Eisenhower's 1960 budget.

It recommended, subject to later House action, total new funds of $4,628,097,000 to operate the Treasury and Post Office departments and the Tax Court for the fiscal year starting July 1.

This is $60,230,000 less than the President requested but $518,339,000 more than current year appropriations. Most of the boost was attributed to pay raises Congress voted last summer.

The Treasury's share of the total is $779,402,000. It sought $787,712,000. The Post Office Department was allotted $3,847,160,000, a reduction of $51,920,000 from its request. The Tax Court was given all the $1,535,000 it requested.

Over-all effect of the committee's action is to provide employment in the three agencies for 661,000 instead of the 667,000 requested. Current average employment is 648,000.

There was no reduction in funds requested by the Secret Service.

Injured Woman Drags Herself to Get Help

An elderly Lake Orion woman was in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital after literally dragging herself to a telephone Tuesday afternoon after falling and breaking her hip.

Mrs. Martha A. McArthur, 71, of 673 Beardsley St., slipped on ice in front of her home about 3:30 p.m. Fifteen minutes later Oakland County sheriff's deputies were notified by a telephone operator that there was a woman in trouble at that address.

"When I arrived at the house I found Mrs. McArthur lying on the living room floor," said Deputy Henry I. Hanson.

Mrs. McArthur, who lives alone, told Hanson she had crawled and dragged herself into the house where she knocked the phone from a table and told an operator she needed help.

U.S. Lending Back India Food Payment

NEW DELHI (AP) — The United States is lending back to India nearly a billion rupees which India had paid for U.S. wheat and other surplus commodities over the past several years. That amounts to about 200 million dollars.

The money is to be used for river valley development projects under an agreement signed in New Delhi today. The agreement provides for a 40-year loan. India has the option to repay the dollars at 3 per cent interest or in rupees at 4 per cent.

Wallis Takes Oath as Price Stabilizer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allen Wallis, Chicago economist, was sworn in at the White House today as executive chief of a cabinet committee on price stability.

"Now you can start to fight inflation," President Eisenhower told him at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Wallis has been dean of the school of business at the University of Chicago since 1956. He will give full time to the committee, headed by Vice President Richard Nixon.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—When service station attendants discovered 1,740 gallons of gasoline had unaccountably vanished from a storage tank, authorities were called in. Their conclusion: the tank leaked.

Ike Signs Bill to Make Hawaii Fiftieth State

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the bill to make Hawaii the 50th state.

With the bill's signing, Hawaii could, by taking fast action, get officially into the Union by next July.

This would be in time to send members to the present session of Congress. October is more likely, however. It took six months to add Alaska's 49th star to the flag.

Eisenhower's proclamation making Hawaii the 50th state will come after their election results are officially certified.

Eisenhower got the bill March 18 but used only four of the 10 days he had for signing or vetoing. Sunday don't count.

State Employes Fund for Benefits Dries Up

LANSING (AP)—The fund providing sick leave and longevity benefits to state employes on death or retirement has been exhausted.

James W. Miller, state controller, told agency heads yesterday no supplemental appropriation has been made although the legislature was notified Jan. 22 the money would run out.

Applications for payments will be held on file until fresh funds are available, Miller added.

So far this fiscal year, $2,001,000 in benefits have been paid to state employes. Vouchers totaling $36,000 are being held up and the legislature is being asked for $200,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year.
