Dock Strike Cripples Atlantic, Gulf Coast Ports

Hit 95 Per Cent of Goal

Extend '56 UF Campaign to Get Last $30,779

A 30-day extension to the Pontiac Area United Fund campaign was scheduled today at a noon victory luncheon climaxing the regular three week drive, as pledges and collections fell $30,779 short of the $612,202 for 54 community agencies.

Campaign chairman Walter K. Willman praised the work of the UF volunteers, and voiced confidence that the extra time would bring in the remaining five per cent of the goal.

After totaling pledges earlier today, UF leaders had found the three-week campaign had reached 95 per cent of the $612,202 goal.

The 95 per cent mark meant that volunteers had $581,423 pledged or received since the drive started Oct. 23.

Good news was reported by women of the Geographic Division, who had raised $19,965 in a door-to-door campaign, or 104 per cent of their quota.

Campaign chairman Walter K. Willman said this year's drive was waged in the face of an employment drop which threatened fewer and smaller contributions from industrial workers.

The employment situation was felt in the Industrial Division which solicited industrial employes and companies.

This morning, the division had reached 94 per cent, or $380,248, of its $414,000 goal, chairman Earl Maxwell announced.

Maxwell said company gifts from the Pontiac Manufacturers Assn. had reached $125,000, slightly over the goal of $124,819.

But employes in the association had reached only 91 per cent of their $255,248 goal.

Solicitation of manufacturing companies and employes not in the association reached $7,086, or 95 per cent of goal, he added.

The commercial division was four per cent short of its $158,086 goal, with $151,121 collected. The finance and public service groups had reached 101 and 104 per cent of quotas respectively.

* * *

Mrs. Ralph G. Bump, chairman of the women solicitors, particularly praised Waterford Township Torchlighters who raised $6,445, or 115 per cent of goal.

The $13,520 raised in Pontiac and Pontiac Townships was $12 over quota, she said.

In considering a time-extension if the campaign failed to reach goal, UF leaders remembered six such extensions in the past.

Last year's drive was the only one to meet goal by the official end of the drive.

With the help of extended campaigns, the UF has always reached its goal in past drives.

Maxwell believed that new hiring in industry during the next three weeks would allow his division to go over its quota.

The victory luncheon was sponsored by Consumers Power Company.

Does Industry Aid City?

Blackwood Cites Many Ways Help Is Given

By CONRAD N. CHURCH

"Industry, and particularly General Motors, has done so much for Pontiac and all its residents that I feel it is only fair that some of us rise up and tell the facts when someone else implies publicly that industry does nothing for the residents of the city."

So said Harold L. Blackwood when he read a report of Rep. Leslie H. Hudson's remarks at the City Commission meeting last Tuesday night. Hudson was quoted as saying:

"What has industry ever done to show us that they would get out and help us?"

"I can't remember all the things industry has done that has been of direct help to the people of Pontiac," said Blackwood. "But I am glad to suggest some of the things it has done which shows it is a tremendously important factor in making Pontiac a better place to live.

"These things show clearly to me that industry not only would get out and help us, but that it has done so repeatedly and on frequent occasions. Here are just some of the things they have done that have been helpful, directly or indirectly, to all of the rest of us. And, remember, some of these things they have done again and again.

"First of all, industry provides the jobs which support more than half the families in Pontiac. Industrial payrolls run into many millions of dollars each year.

"Industry pays more than half the city's taxes. On several occasions General Motors has paid its taxes in advance to help the city over a period when it needed money before the taxes were due. If General Motors had not done that, school services might have

Area Residents Shiver, Shake in Cold Wave

Residents braced themselves against strong and chilly gusts of wind which reached as high as 60 m.p.h. last night at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The longest duration of snow flurries yet blew in with the winds. The season's heaviest snowfall hit the northern sections of the Midwest including Northern Michigan.

A few trees were reported down in the county but very little damage was reported. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported 11 cases of cable trouble knocking out some 250 telephones for a brief period last night.

The U. S. Weather Bureau promises the first wintry blast will remain over the weekend. The mercury is expected to dip to a low of 21 to 25 degrees tonight with snow flurries to continue. Tomorrow's high is predicted at 45.

The mercury shivered to a low in Pontiac of 33 at 8 a.m., and remained at 33 at 2 p.m.

Shippers Face Loss of Million or More Daily

60,000 ILA Members Walk Off Their Jobs as Contract Expires

NEW YORK (AP)—A crippling strike by thousands of longshoremen hit New York and other ports along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts today.

Waterfront activity appeared to be at a virtual standstill from Maine to Texas—threatening a loss of a million dollars a day or more to shippers.

The International Longshoremens Assn., independent, with some 60,000 members, called the strike as of midnight when its old contract with the New York Shipping Assn. expired without agreement on a new pact.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called both sides and federal mediators into session here in an effort to effect an early settlement. He had pleaded against a stoppage in "this time of international crisis."

Union spokesmen said 54 ships were tied up in New York Harbor. Two incoming ships, the Italian liner Saturnia and the Panama liner Panama, managed to dock despite the walkout.

* * *

Baltimore's 3,500 to 4,000 regularly employed dockers walked out, halting cargo operations on about 30 ships.

Another 3,000 struck in the New England ports of Portland, Maine, Boston, New Bedford, Mass., and Providence, R. I.

Longshoremen set up picket lines in Galveston, Tex., where three general cargo ships were in port—two American and one British. They had been scheduled for loading today.

In Jacksonville, Fla., however, the longshoremen did not strike immediately.

* * *

Shippers have estimated that other waterfront strikes—usually not so widespread as this one—have cost the export-import industry a million dollars a day.

The Port of New York alone ordinarily handles cargoes with a total value of 20 million dollars each day along its 300 miles of pier-packed waterfront.

Strikes have hit the port frequently.

The last one was an eight-day walkout in September of last year in protest against policies of the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission.

* * *

Longshoremen in other ports joined, but, in some cases for brief periods as a token of sympathy, in contrast with the virtually united action in other ports this time.

There was a two-day strike in October, 1954, and only six months before that New York had a 29-day waterfront strike—the longest in the port's history.

The ILA formerly was affiliated with the AFL but was ousted on the ground that it harbored criminal elements. It has been the target of federal, state and city investigations.

The ILA has three times blocked the AFL or AFL-CIO in attempts to gain control of the port with a new union.

* * *

Only last month the ILA defeated the AFL - CIO International Brotherhood of Longshoremen in the latest of the bargaining elections.

Negotiations went on for a half hour after the strike started, but when they broke off an ILA spokesman said there still was disagreement on a wide range of issues.

Haircut Hearing Opens in Court

Romeo Youth Seeks Return to Classroom Without Trim

After the Romeo school board inspected 16-year-old Robert Phernetton's controversial haircut for the first time and said it was no go, the high school student went into Macomb County Circuit Court this morning to try to compel the board to admit him without another trim.

Robert, one of 45 "Romeos" ordered by the high school principal, Harold F. Barr, to shear their wavy locks before classes opened Oct. 31, was the only boy Barr declared unacceptable.

In a show-cause hearing this morning before Judge Alton H. Noe, school board attorney William Nunneley accused Robert's attorney, James B. Daner, of using the press to "magnify" the case.

Nunneley said the issue is whether Robert will conform to the board's edict, or "do as he pleases."

Daner claims the question is whether the boy has already complied with the rule. He has had two trims since the ruling, Daner says, and is now complying with the rule.

Robert's haircut this morning appeared moderately lengthy, and sported an upturned feather effect along the sides of the head.

Barr testified today Robert had four E's and a D in the first marking period this year, adding the group ordered to trim their hair averaged 6.9 half days absent as opposed to 2.9 half days for the other boys in the school.

Daner slammed this as "guilt by association," an attempt to imply the haircuts are in the same category as "hoodlums." The hearing continued this afternoon.

Wyatt Trial to Resume Tuesday

3 Testify in Child Cruelty Case

Legal wrangling took up most of the first day of the trial of Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt, Keego Harbor parents of 12 charged with child cruelty.

Only three prosecution witnesses were put on the stand before the trial was adjourned until next Tuesday by Judge George B. Hartrick.

Mrs. Joan Rice, a neighbor of the Wyatts, described from the stand, discovering seven-year-old Sherry Wilkinson, a daughter of Mrs. Wyatt by a previous marriage, tied to her upstairs bed while both parents were away from home.

Sherry was on her back in the bed, Mrs. Pace said, with both hands tied by pieces of cloth. Her hair was matted, and her left hand, reportedly burned two months previously, appeared infected.

Sherry, who will testify later in the case, is named as the target of alleged cruelty by the Wyatts. In the prosecution's opening statement, Assistant Prosecutor Walter T. Denison said yesterday he will prove Mrs. Wyatt held Sherry's hand over a gas burner.

The Wyatts did not provide a doctor's care for the burned hand, Denison said. He said he will also prove Mrs. Wyatt held Sherry to an oil stove, threw a knife at her, splitting her lip and permanently disfiguring her, kept her confined to the house and never sent her to school.

Doctors have said Sherry may regain partial use of her hand, atrophied by the burn, after "several years" of surgical treatment.

He told the four-man, eight-woman jury the treatment of the girl was "beyond my imagination and beyond your imagination."

Defense attorney Milton R. Henry, in his opening statement, said newspaper accounts of the case had "suggested" the Wyatts are "fiends of some kind," and that newspapers have "tried and convicted my clients."

Henry said the children will testify there were no continuous acts of cruelty. He said the charge is "probably somewhat revolting to most people," but said he will prove Wyatt has "worked constantly" to provide for his large family.

Air Tragedies Kill 27 Persons

Nicaragua Plane Crash Death Toll at 25; Jet Down in St. Clair

Twenty-seven persons were killed in three plane disasters. One craft en route to Mexico from Panama crashed in Nicaragua, killing 25. A jet Navy trainer went down in Lake St. Clair, carrying two men to their death. And a TWA airliner pancaked in the Nevada desert, but only six of the 38 passengers were injured.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Twenty-five persons, including one American and a Panamanian couple on their honeymoon, were killed yesterday in the crash of a Mexican airliner on the southwest coast of Nicaragua.

The plane of the Aerovias Guest Airline, en route from Panama to Mexico City, carried 20 passengers and a crew of five.

One of the dead was carried on the passenger list as Fed McNiel, identified in Panama as an American of about 50. His address was not known.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Thirty-eight persons escaped death when a twin-engine airliner, limping on one engine, pancaked into the desert yesterday.

The pilot of a TWA Martin 404 tried to wing back to McCarran Field when one power plant failed soon after takeoff on a flight to Los Angeles. He was forced to make a belly landing on the desert nearby.

Both engines broke from their mounts and the plane's fuselage cracked open. It did not catch fire.

NEW BALTIMORE (INS) — Search planes took off at dawn today to hunt the Anchor Bay area of Lake St. Clair for two Marine officers who crashed in a Navy jet trainer late yesterday.

Macomb County sheriff's officers searched the shore area around the bay where New Baltimore residents said they heard an explosion at the approximate time the jet was expected to run out of fuel.

Crippled Children to Get Best Seats at Annual Parade

Once again the call is out to crippled children seeking the best seats of the house for the 1956 edition of "Christmas - On - Wheels" parade scheduled for Dec. 1.

David R. Ewalt said those children not listed with the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society or the Orthopedic Service of the Pontiac Public Schools, should call the Parks and Recreation office in the City Hall for reservations for the parade.

Ewalt is in charge of providing window spaces through the courtesy of local merchants on Saginaw street so that each child won't miss a single float or band.

He said some 60 spaces will be made available again this year.

China-to-Pontiac Too Much for Stork

The Pontiac area's population jumped by two yesterday, and it caused an airliner to turn around.

The wife of Sun Wing Hong, 31, chef and part owner of the China City Restaurant on West Huron street, gave birth to an 8-pound, 7-ounce son in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Hong was en route from Hong Kong to Pontiac to join her husband, but junior wouldn't wait to arrive. Twenty minutes past Minneapolis, the pilot got the word that an arrival, non-scheduled, was imminent.

Hong hopped the first plane to his wife's side, and reported to area relatives last night that everything was fine.

Russia Supports Egypt's Stand

Demands Seized Land Be Returned as Dag Seeks Compromise

LONDON (AP) — Soviet demands that Egypt be restored her pre-invasion territory promptly today toughened the peace-keeping task facing U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold and the Middle East police force.

The renewed Russian backing was considered certain to stiffen Egypt's position regarding the role of the international force already directly counter to firm stands taken by Britain, France and Israel.

The secretary general flew to Egypt today from the U. N. troop-staging area near Naples for on-the-scene efforts to get the policing operation in action.

Already in the Suez Canal zone was the first U. N. contingent of 92 Danish and Norwegian troops. They were standing by in barracks at Abu Suweir airfield, behind the Egyptian battle lines, awaiting reinforcements and orders.

Russia's latest move in the Middle East crisis came in the form of notes from Premier Bulganin to the prime ministers of Britain, France and Israel.

The notes demanded that the three countries pull their troops out of Egypt immediately, that Egypt be paid by the three nations for material losses suffered in the invasion and that the U.N. police force be restricted to positions along the 1949 Israeli-Egyptian armistice lines. He said the police force should not be stationed in the Suez Canal zone.

U-M Sets Stage for State's First Atom Chain Reaction

By L. JAMES BINDER
News Editor, Pontiac Press

ANN ARBOR—Staffmen here at the North Campus call it "the swimming pool." The unawed groundskeeper who pointed out its location to visiting newsmen yesterday referred to it as "that new gizmo."

More accurately, the huge device is the Ford Nuclear Reactor, newest addition to the University of Michigan's program on the peaceful uses of atomic energy. The Phoenix Project.

Built at a cost of $1,000,000 (a gift from the Ford Motor Co. Fund), the huge reactor is the most powerful in the college field, according to Phoenix Project scientists who gathered on the campus today to observe "Atom Day."

"Pool" might strike the casual observer as an apt description as he looks down on the 21 feet of crystal clear water that stands at the top of the gigantic device. It looks as innocent as the depths of a mountain lake.

Weeks from now serious faced young men with notebooks will peer beneath that placid surface at one of the most amazing and mysterious phenomenons known to science—a nuclear chain reaction, the first in Michigan.

Giant steel rods, the claw-like ends as dextrous as human hands, will reach down for some three leagues to juggle the elements that at maximum capacity will send 10 billion neutrons flowing around each cubic centimeter of the grid-like core at the pool's bottom.

The reactor's potential contributions to research in the atomic field were hailed this afternoon by main speaker Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., who declared that the device "may lead to a major breakthrough in separating private peacetime atomic development from government monopoly."

Earlier in the day, visiting scientists inspected the deep pit whose 41,000 gallons of water will eventually enclose six pounds of uranium 235 suspended from a control tower in rods two feet long.

As soon as final adjustments are made and the reactor is approved by the Atomic Energy Commission, the uranium will be set in place in the presence of uncharged atomic particles called neutrons which will strike and split atoms in the fuel, releasing still other neutrons.

University engineers will have then initiated the state's first atomic chain reaction.

Close control of the reaction will be maintained by raising and low-

Ingle Criticizes Auditor General

President of Justices Assail Szymanski on Costs Statement

Farmington Township justice Allen C. Ingle, president of the Oakland County Judicial Association and vice president of the State Association of Justices of the Peace, today blasted back at Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski's criticisms of county justices.

Szymanski yesterday assailed what he called a "growing practice" in Oakland and Macomb counties of assessing exorbitant court costs in justice courts.

"Oakland County has benefited by more than $50,000 in the last year from costs assessed in excess of justices' legal fees," Szymanski said.

He added he will ask Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh whether the practice is legal.

Ingle said today Szymanski's statement was "nothing more than a deliberate attempt to mislead the people." He added:

"I suggest that he take time to read the laws before he makes public statements."

* * *

Kavanagh, he said, was asked by former Auditor General Victor M. Targonski to write an opinion on legality of the practice, and has consulted with justices over the problem.

The Supreme Court has ruled, Ingle said, that costs must bear "a reasonable relationship" to the actual cost of prosecution.

He added the question of what constitutes actual cost of prosecution has not been ruled on.

Ingle said the law provides fees for justices on a basis of the work they do in handling a case—usually $4.30 per case. A justice collects his fee whether or not the defendant is found guilty, he said.

* * *

The only difference between fines and costs, Ingle said, is that fines are turned over to the county library fund for school libraries, and costs go to the county's general fund, where they may be used to pay for law enforcement costs which would otherwise come from taxpayers.

Since county justices handled 35,000 cases last year, he said, a surplus of $50,000 after justices' fees were paid would mean an "excess" of only $1.50 per case.

"Any citizen can see the taxpayers of Oakland County are still paying for law enforcement," Ingle said.

Szymanski had said:

"Put yourself in the position of a county official worried over governmental expenses. What better way is there to pick up money than to get it from people who are not even residents of the county?"

Defending the practice, Ingle said, "Is it not only right that the taxpayers of Oakland County should have part of the cost of law enforcement defrayed by the penalties collected?"

He pointed out that Detroit, operating under city ordinances, keeps all money collected in fines.

Home-Bound Woman Purse Snatcher Victim

A homeward bound woman was robbed of her billfold and small change last night by a purse-snatcher on W. Huron street.

Billie Brooke, of 350 W. Huron St., said the man walked by and grabbed her purse as she passed Crofoot Elementary School.

He fled across the school playground, she told police.

been curtailed, and the city might have had to borrow money, thus costing all the taxpayers more money.

"Industry has contributed generously to the United Fund, to the construction of Pontiac General Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the Naval Training Station, Wisner Field, the Pontiac housing project, to the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. building projects, to the South Oakland Hospital, the Greater Detroit Hospital Fund, considerable of which money came back to Pontiac and Oakland County hospitals.

"Industry contributed to the building of the Pontiac Boys' Club, to Camp Oakland, to Junior Achievement, providing clubrooms for a year to this latter organization in addition to cash support. General Motors has provided safety pictures for the use of the Pontiac Police Department.

"Industry has provided meals for workers in the United Fund drive. General Motors has turned over use of its auditorium to many local organizations. It has provided seven or eight cars a year without charge to the schools' driver training program. It has provided decorations for many community events, putting them up and taking them down without charge.

"Through the Pontiac Manufacturers' Association industry has made a substantial contribution to the Chamber of Commerce, thus helping to bear the expense of seeking new industries for Pontiac, and otherwise serving all the people here.

"Individuals representing industry have served countless hours on boards and committees of local organizations. This service was given with the approval of industry, as another form of contribution for the community's good.

"General Motors has also cooperated with the schools on such events as B.I.E. Day, furnishing free buses for the transportation of teachers. Lest any newcomer or uninformed person be misled by irresponsible statements," said Blackwood, "I feel that this partial list of industry's contributions to the community should be made public."

and that Mrs. Wyatt has cared for them adequately.

NEVER SAW CHILD

Another neighborhood resident, Mrs. Ruth Pace, testified she has never seen Sherry, although the Wyatts have lived in the neighborhood over a year and she has seen all the other children.

Under cross examination, Mrs. Pace admitted Wyatt "worked seven days a week, as far as I know."

Earlier, Henry had introduced several legal motions. Judge Hartrick denied a motion challenging the county's jury panel and the entire Michigan jury law.

* * *

"I cannot say there has been improper selection of jurors," Judge Hartrick said.

But the judge left open Henry's demand that the prosecution select which of its three charges will go to the jury at close of trial.

* * *

He said the prosecutors might have to decide the question after testimony is concluded.

Lawrence, Pike to Be One-Way

Pontiac Experimenting to Relieve Congestion of Saginaw Traffic

Lawrence and Pike streets between Cass avenue and Perry street will be converted to one-way traffic effective Monday, City Manager Walter K. Willman has announced.

Lawrence will be made one-way eastbound while Pike will become one-way westbound.

* * *

The streets are being converted in order to relieve congestion of traffic along Saginaw street and on other downtown streets, which during rush hours, is reaching the stagnation point at various intersections, Willman said.

He said the city is asking for comments, including criticism if it develops, on how the driving public reacts to the change.

"If it doesn't help the situation, we will switch it back again," Willman said. "But we want to give it a fair trial."

Turn lanes have been provided on both streets at the Saginaw intersections to help facilitate turns without slowing through-traffic, the manager pointed out:

The conversion of Lawrence street is expected to aid Community National Bank's planned curb teller cages, previously approved by the city.

County Population Booms, Planning Group Reports

Oakland County is booming along in population growth, according to estimates of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission released yesterday from a survey of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

* * *

Oakland County added 185,999 persons, or 47 per cent, in the period of 1950 to 1956, the report shows.

Pontiac reported a 12 per cent increase over the last six years, with a gain of 8,819 persons.

Macomb county added 133,039 persons during the same period, for a jump of 71 per cent. Wayne County, excluding Detroit, increased by 274,333, for a 46.8 per cent boost.

On the bottom of the survey was Detroit's metropolitan area, which had only a 3.3 per cent increase in comparison to the total 50.9 per cent registered by the suburbs.

The city in the three-county area which upped its population the most in the past six years was also in Oakland County.

Oak Park reports a population jump of 5,267 to 29,800 or a 465.8 per cent increase.

Hungary Strike Not Yet Broken

Notes Thrown From Trains Tell Grim Story of Mass Deportations

VIENNA (INS)—Hungary remained today in the grip of a defiant anti-Soviet general strike despite a new barrage of Communist promises, appeals and threats.

Radio Budapest claimed the three-weeks-old strike was ending, but other reports reaching Vienna indicated millions of workers showed no signs of going to work while Russian troops occupy the country.

And, despite puppet premier Janos Kadar's statement to the contrary, the Russians apparently still are deporting trainloads of Hungarians.

Reports leaking through the Iron Curtain said notes thrown from a train yesterday south of Budapest told of 1,500 persons locked aboard and heading for the Soviet Union.

NAMES LISTED

One note listed 15 names. These were checked and all the persons listed were missing from their homes.

* * *

Ten thousand Budapest patriots marched on the parliment yesterday in protest against the deportations, but no incidents were reported.

The government radio broadcast appeals from a number of workers councils for a return to work and for volunteer labor to get Budapest's buses, trams and trains running.

Observers in Vienna noted that the workers councils actually were pure Communist bodies and not representative of the people.

New Atom Reactor Nears Completion

ering neutron-absorbing rods into the fuel assembly. These rods, operating from a control tower, will "steal" neutrons needed to continue the reaction.

Initially, the unit will operate at only a few watts, a fraction of the reactor's top power rating of 1 million watts, according to Henry J. Gomberg, assistant director of the Phoenix Project and the only staff-member presently licensed to operate the reactor.

Structurally, the atom-smasher is an imposing sight. Located in a windowless, gas-tight building four floors high, the reactor adjoins the $2 million Memorial Laboratory.

Over 30 miles of wiring connect the control room with the underwater fuel assembly; six and a half feet of concrete line the pool's walls; safety devices cover every conceivable situation.

The project's emphasis on safety is one of the reasons for the current delay in beginning operations, according to Prof. Gomberg. Protective devices, from the alarm that automatically seals every door in the building to thick shields of graphite, already conform to AEC standards.

"But we're not going to leave anything to chance, as remote as any chance of an 'incident' might be," said Director Ralph A. Sawyer.

Prof. Gomberg rules out any possibility that the unit could become an atom bomb, the explosion of which is caused by an instantaneous and complete chain reaction. The U-M reactor is governed to come up to full force gradually — if things get moving faster than they're supposed to, the reactor automatically shuts itself off.

Besides research into the effects of radiation, the reactor will also create radioisotopes for medical therapy and diagnosis, and one beam port (a station for the insertion and removal of matter exposed to radiation) has been assigned to university doctors for research on the bombardment of malignant tumors.

The unit may also be used for industrial research, "but only as a secondary function to research and teaching," Gomberg pointed out.

The number of graduate students enrolled in the school's atomic research, currently about 75, comprises the largest enrollment of its kind in the world, according to Sawyer.

With completion of the reactor, the University now possesses a complete atomic research unit, consisting of a cyclotron, synchroton, extensive laboratories and two machines for treating cancers and tumors with cesium and cobalt radiation.

Home Breakin Yields $62 in Bills, Pennies

Ransacking a bedroom yielded $62 in bills and an undetermined amount of pennies during a breakin Wednesday night of a home at 21 School St., Pontiac police said.

Entry was gained by prying open a kitchen window, they added.

Area School Will Have Rooms for Handicapped

A contract to add two rooms for mentally handicapped to a school in Birmingham was approved by the Oakland County Board of Education in a meeting yesterday.

Monkey Talks Children Into Stoning His Amor

There sat four-year-old "Dokdok," a handsome male specimen, chuckling to himself while ten youngsters tossed stones at an enraged "Amoora," queen of the females, in the cage next door.

It was true, the children insisted. Dokdok had actually directed them to throw the stones. They were only doing their bidding. The keepers took a second look as Dokdok went into his act. First, he pointed to a stone, then to the first child down front, then to the protesting Amoora.

It was plainly a case of frustrated monkey love, the zoo keepers finally concluded. This is how they said it all began:

For years the regal Amoora and first husband, also named Dokdok, shared their cage in marital bliss.

NEEDS NEW HUSBAND

The search began. The experts agreed that Dokdok No. 2 must, if possible, bear a strong resemblance to No. 1—age, intelligence, appearance, temperament, everything.

But the best they could do was a handsome, intelligent young male, nearly six years Amoor's junior. Anyway, they decided, it was worth a try.

With fanfare and ceremony they brought Dokdok No. 2 to Amoor's formal introductions, then withdrew a discreet distance to watch developments.

There were none. The haughty Amoora glanced only once in Dokdok's direction and turned her back. It was still turned by nightfall when the wedding party withdrew.

* * *

Three days later, Dokdok's shrieks of pain and shattered pride brought the whole contingent of zoo keepers on the run. They saved him from the enraged Amoora's teeth and claws and returned him to his own cage.

But there was no peace for Dokdok. His vanity was crushed. He was obviously in love with the proud widow who had rejected him. No food, no water. It was his turn to sulk.

It was that afternoon the keepers found Dokdok gleefully directing the stone-throwing, turning his frustration into carefully-calculated monkey revenge.

Any day now the zoo's masterminds are planning to give Dokdok another trip across the few feet to Amoora's cage. The stones wounded Amoora's pride, but she's suddenly taken new interest in Dokdok. After all, how could even a queen monkey ignore such amorous ingenuity?

No Coffee Breaks

PARIS (INS) — French Scientist Albert Ducroq says he has invented an "electronic stenographer" that will turn spoken words into typewritten text.

Agence France Presse said the machine will transcribe words at the speed of normal speech. Ducroq is the inventor of a number of robot devices based on photo-electric cells.

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Petroleum Institute today named 17 new directors as it would up its 36th annual meeting. The new directors included: Max Fisher, Aurora Gasoline Co., Detroit.

State Fruit Yield Up 5 Year Average

LANSING (AP) — The Harvest of Michigan's fruit crops totaled 480,000 tons this fall, 31 per cent more than last year and 18 per cent above the five-year average, The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

Near record crops of apples and pears and the largest grape crop since the mid-thirties were harvested. The sweet cherry crop was above the five-year average but the sour cherry, peach and plum yields all were below average.

A near record apple crop of 10,700,000 bushels was harvested in Michigan's 21 commercial counties. This was two-fifths larger than last year's crop and was one-third larger than the five-year average.

The grape crop of 60,000 tons was a fifth larger than any crop since the mid-thirties.

Billing of Wrestler Causes Court Case

DALLAS (AP)—Promoter Ed McLemore denied in court that he billed a wrestler as "mean, villainous, hard-hearted, merciless, cruel, cheating, sneaky, unsportsmanlike and cowardly."

J. W. Whitaker is suing McLemore for $54,600 on grounds the billing so enraged a spectator against the wrestler that the spectator threw a bottle.

Blames Sick Spell for Auto Accident

A Romeo man blamed a sick spell during which he apparently passed out at the wheel as the reason for a Thursday afternoon accident in Troy.

Earl Hatton, 35, of 241 W. St. Clair St., is in "good" condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he is being treated for a possible head injury.

He was hurt when his car went off the right side of the road and struck a fence at Rochester and 19 Mile roads. Hatton told police he could not remember anything that happened after he got sick.

Finds Jail Hole-some

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — Sheriff A. E. Rose calls his jail a hunk of "Swiss cheese." Two prisoners ripped out one of their cell window bars and dug a hole through the wall Wednesday. Rose said it was the fifth escape in 23 months.

Giant sequoias, earth's largest living things, sprout from seeds so small that one ounce, in theory, could produce 6,700 trees. Full grown, the largest trees probably weigh 2,000 tons, the displacement of a small steamship.

Governors May Decide Control of New Senate

Because Democrats have only a slender two seat edge in the new Senate, the Governors in several States are in a position to determine final control of that body.

In a few States like Wisconsin and Texas, a special election is necessary to fill a Senate vacancy. In the other States the Governor can appoint a successor until the next general election.

During the average Congress in recent years five Senators have died and two or three have resigned, thus giving the Governors a chance to fill vacancies. With the Senate Democrats holding a narrow 49-47 margin in the 85th Congress, one strategic Democratic vacancy would bring the count to 48-48 if a Republican were appointed to fill a vacancy.

Then, points out Congressional Quarterly, Vice President Nixon by breaking a tie on a vote to organize the Senate could shift control to the Republican party.

A pertinent fact uncovered by CQ is that never has control of either chamber of Congress been changed in mid-session after it once was organized. Experience points to seven or eight Senate vacancies during the two year life of the 85th Congress.

One vacancy already is in sight for 1957. Sen. Price Daniel, Democrat, will resign by January 15 to become Governor of Texas. The outcome of a special election to fill his seat may have a strong bearing on which party controls the Senate.

★ ★ ★

Regardless of how the Senate is organized January 15, the prospect is for a see saw battle for control. This is so because of the close division between Democrats and Republicans and the authority a governor of one party has to name the replacement for a Senator of the opposite party.

Postal Anniversary

Within the past week a very important branch of our postal service, Rural Free Delivery, celebrated its 60th anniversary.

Rural Free Delivery, the service that ended the isolation of rural America, began with four experimental routes around Charlestown, W. Va. in 1896. The next year it was expanded to 82 routes covering 1,843 miles. Today there are 32,076 carriers serving 35,000,000 people and covering 1,554,704 miles.

It is worth noting that a Michigan Congressman, James O'Donnell of Jackson, sponsored the first RFD bill in Congress in 1892. The measure was defeated but Rep. O'Donnell's idea came to life again four years later.

The new service was inugurated in Michigan in 1897. Starting with a route out of Climax, near Kalamazoo, it soon spread throughout the State. At present there are 1,100 routes serving 300,000 families.

In the words of Postmaster General Summerfield:

"Rural free delivery has stimulated development of parcel post and aided greatly in establishment of the American system of roads and highways. Moreover, its effect on commerce as a vital link between industry and the American farm family has been tremendous. It has a great cultural and social effect on American life, providing new vistas of communication for the rural family.

India's Kashmir Grab

Any thoughtful observer can find much to deplore in the circumstances under which the government of India has succeeded in absorbing the state of Kashmir.

The extent to which the popular will was ignored or defied in this action is indicated by the fact that just before it was taken several important members of the Assembly were put under arrest. These members had formed a group to urge a plebiscite in Kashmir instead of this unilateral action.

A disturbing factor of the situation is that at the beginning Prime Minister Nehru had declared he was in favor of a plebiscite. In our view the Prime Minister was right the first time. It is regrettable that he has departed from a position that still is valid.

Fortunately, the Kashmir issue still is before the United Nations. That body had committed itself not only to a cease fire but to a plebiscite externally supervised. Pakistan has accepted that solution but India has blocked it and now has attempted to circumvent it.

In these circumstances it is impossible to accept the Indian argument that the will of the Kashmiris has been freely expressed.

Oiling It Up!

David Lawrence Says:

Reporters Pretty Rough on Ike

WASHINGTON—Sometimes they come belatedly, but there is no gainsaying the effective rebuttals made by President Eisenhower in his press conferences as he faces a barrage of questions—many of them at times as hostile as if an opposition party spokesman had expressed them.

For months now the clinches and bromides of the Democrats have set forth these propositions:

First, that the administration has been "drifting" in the Middle East and has had no "Policies" to prevent the situation there from developing as it has.

Second, that the "Liberation" policy of the administration has not come to the rescue of nations in Eastern Europe.

Third, that the President has not exercised "Leadership" inside his own party and that there really is a serious cleavage as between "old guard" and "new Republicans."

With the unmistakable force that his sincerity gives to his public statements, President Eisenhower has refuted every one of these criticisms.

Thus, the President made it clear that never has United States policy advocated the use of our military force to secure the "Liberation" of the peoples of Eastern Europe. It is the critics who are hypocritical about this, because they know very well the American people will not sanction the sending of American troops to Hungary to decide a civil war there. Not a single spokesman for the opposition has ever had the temerity to advocate such a course, yet constantly there are barbs of sarcasm thrust at the administration for its failure to enforce "Liberation."

LIBERTY, FREEDOM

As the President says, the spirit of liberty and freedom is constantly encouraged by his administration. He might have added that it is discouraged only when anti-administration spokesmen like George Kennan say in speeches that the "status quo" in Eastern Europe has to be accepted with a certain sort of "finality."

One thing is clear—American military power will not be used to settle local wars or to "go it alone." It will be used only in defense against attack where our treaty obligations, as in NATO, require it or it will be used to back up the United Nations where the issue is clearly one that in the long run may endanger our own safety. It is primarily America's willingness to support the United Nations police force in the Suez area today which gives strength to that expedition.

Similarly, it is America's readiness to thwart the sending of Soviet "volunteers" to Egypt which stays the hand of the aggressors and the would-be aggressors of the Middle East. This is a policy of deterrence based on moral force plus military preparedness. The President traced the policy back for many months and rightly absolved the American government of any responsibility for Soviet plotting and Nasser's acceptance of Communist influence.

For months the Democrats and their allies in the press have been trying to promote discord inside the Republican party by crying out that the President doesn't exercise "strong leadership." It's another one of those vague phrases like "new ideas in foreign policy" which never are defined or made concrete. Mr. Eisenhower said frankly he doesn't believe in a type of "leadership" that tries to knock heads together.

NO BOSSING

He declared: "I am not one of the desk-pounding type that likes to stick out his jaw and look like he is bossing the show."

Instead, Mr. Eisenhower likes to try persuasion and reason. He has thus given an effective answer to those who forget that there are still 48 states and that the people in those states decide what kind of Republicans or Democrats they want to represent them in Washington.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Mother Relates Benefits of Natural Childbirth Plan

"This," writes Mrs. C. P. of—drat it, her fine letter bears no date line, "is a tribute of thanks to my mother who introduced me to you, to you who untroduced us to Dr. Grantly Dick Read and Adelle Davis, and to them, for giving me the joy of childbirth and the formula for a health, happy baby.

"Thanks to Dr. Read and his book Childbirth Without Fear, I carried out daily the exercises and relaxed my mind as well as my body. At the time of birth I had no fear at all. My own doctor became ill, so I had to call another.

"I knew my baby was coming breech first, yet I went at it with complete peace of mind, knowing all that was to come and how to work along with it.

"I received no anesthesia until the actual delivery and then only because it was a breech. During the final stage the anesthetist asked me who taught me how to breathe like that, and when I said I read Dr. Read's book his comment was 'Good old Dr. Read.' The anesthesia was saddle block.

FELT NO FEAR

"Through it all there were many moments of laughter mingled with more dramatic ones, but fear was completely out.

"I saw my baby born, heard her cry, watched as they held her for a moment upside down by the ankles and she cried—we both cried, I for sheer joy. I'll never forget her perfect little body lying beside me in her little basket.

She was all mine, and there could never be any mistake made, getting some one else's baby confused with mine. The girl in the next bed had either and didn't know she'd had a baby or what the baby looked like until 24 hours later."

* * *

So far Mrs. C. P.'s might be a composite of the scores of reports I have received from mothers who have experienced natural childbirth. But she adds two remarks which go to show what a stranglehold, so to speak, the 19th Century obstetricians, pediatricians, hospitals, and nurses till have on the baby business.

It shows also, I think, what—Oh, well, I don't want to make all expectant parents mad at me. I want to help them keep their dignity—it shows what happens to so many expectant parents in 19th Century hospitals at the hands of 19th Century obstetricians, pediatricians, hospital staff parasites, nurses, and attendants. Don't let it happen to you, kids.

HUSBAND SHUT OUT

"The only disappointment was that my husband, a few doors away, was not allowed to be close enough to hold my hand and share my joy."

The poor wishy-washy, namby-pamby innocent boy, butt of 19th Century magazine and newspaper humor, doesn't know what he missed.

The 19th Century hospital people push him around, patronize and ridicule him, shut him away in the monkey cage with the rest of the namby-pambies who like the role, for he is not sufficiently adult to share the joy—as this mother describes it—or the sorrow, if it so be.

NURSED BABY

"Jeanne is 5 months old now, and I have been able to nurse her right along, even though the pediatrician told me it was improbable."

Because the young mother had her baby right at her side constantly she could nurse the baby whenever she darn pleased and the hospital people couldn't very well stop her.

Voice of the People

Poor Overseas Newscasts Bring Reader's Complaint

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The other day I read a letter in the voice of the People which said to air our private gripes. I have one and I want it thoroughly aired.

I like newscasts from all around the world or all around the country but the broadcasting stations do a very poor job. Why can't the information be gathered in one spot and then broadcast clearly and distinctly?

As it is now, someone says, "Come in, London" and in a few seconds we hear a frightened voice that sounds as though the speaker had his head in a cistern. It echoes and re-echoes and in spots it's good, but mostly bad.

Then the home office will say "and now for a report from Paris." Well, in a few seconds some frog with a terrible accent starts speaking and he sounds as though he had a mouth full of mush. Furthermore, his voice will rise and fall and fade away and then get louder.

Then the home spot will say, "Thank you, Monsieur Pierre DuBloit and we will now hear from Rome."

The loud speaker creaks and groans and then we hear a noise as though the Atlantic ocean was cascading through the set. Finally a distant, squeaky voice begins to whisper and mumble. He says "This is Rrrrrumph---rjghk" and you're supposed to guess what he said in "Rome." After that there's a noise like a lot of cats scratching on a hot, tin roof and you're supposed to know that the eclipse was very plain along the raging Tiber. It was wonderful.

Why don't the broadcasting companies suffer that agony all by themselves and figure out what old DuBloit said and then repeat the reports in nice, clear intelligible English?

One of your readers ask for private gripes.

There's mine.

Hungary's Revolt Unique in History of Communism

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

* * *

This revolt was purely political. The riots in East Berlin and Poznan that preceded it erupted in part from economic troubles.

The Hungarians turned on their dummy "people's government" for the one goal never put down in any of the much revised five-year plans—real freedom.

As one of the patriot-held radio stations broadcast in the thick of the fighting: "Hungarians will fight to their last breath. Hungary was always the fortress of the West."

* * *

A strong religious fervor also ran through the great national outburst. One of the first actions of the patriot forces was to release Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and return him to Budapest.

SHELTERED BY U.S.

Now, with the Soviet double-cross of seeming to negotiate for withdrawal of their forces, then hitting with all their fury, the cardinal has been forced into asylum in the American Legation.

* * *

Hungary's revolt was a spontaneous uprising but the Red Propagandists have been trying to picture it as a long-prepared and well-organized "Fascist" conspiracy.

Actually, the incredible uprising in Hungary was perhaps the nearest thing to a spontaneous, nationwide movement which the world has witnessed. The revolt in 1848 was a slow, confused and politically complicated event compared to 1956.

This time 10 million Hungarians arose either actively in the street fighting or in sympathy. Only a small core of Hungarian Communists protected by Soviet guns opposed the great upsurge.

* * *

Premier Imre Nagy himself, before the Soviets arrested him and put Red Party Secretary Janos Kadar in his place, backed many of the patriots' demands even though he is a Communist. In other words, Nagy demanded Hungary's freedom to choose its own path.

The long-term gains of the revolt in which so many ill-armed thousands died fatalistically—and without a single bit of help from the Western powers — must be judged by history.

But one lesson for the Soviets is obvious. The youths who died under Soviet tank treads and guns were the same ones the Communists professed to think they had turned into young Marxists in 12 years of occupation and Red education.

Positive Parents Best for Teens

Parents, is Sally indicting you? Analyze your own behavior as parents and see if you are the negative type. Or do you praise your kids for their good deeds and equip them with the facts of life? Give them the second type of chaperone named below and you'll sleep more soundly on their date nights.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-323: Sally B., aged 14, is the high schooler described yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, why do parents always think their daughters are likely to become delinquents?" she added.

* * *

"Why do they imagine we may get into trouble with boys?

"My Daddy and Mom act as if they don't dare let me out of their sight lest I get involved in an affair with a boy.

"What is wrong with parents, anyway, that they seem to think such evil thoughts all the time?"

PARENTS, YOU ANSWER:

Sally has certainly put many modern American parents on the spot. Why do fathers show such anxiety when their daughters are out on a date?

Well, they have more experience with life and naturally can anticipate more complications than the average carefree high school coed does.

* * *

They fail to take the positive attitude and use compliments on their youngsters.

If the latter bring home a low mark in some school subject, then dad "jumps all over me" as many teen-agers have informed me.

But when the boy or girl brings home a "B" or an "A", their father may hardly grunt even a word of praise.

THIEF TO CATCH THIEF

There is an old adage that it takes a thief to catch a thief. This means that a person who has been immoral himself may be the first to suspect his innocent children of sexual wrong doing.

Furthermore, if you have not evaded your proper parental duty, but have thoroughly prepared your child by telling her the facts of life, then you don't need to fret unduly.

All young people need chaperones. But there are two types. In the first kind, you adults serve as this "detective" and must constantly be present to spy on your children.

That is a bad type of chaperonage. It even encourages the child to pass the buck and let you be solely responsible for the youngster's moral behavior.

* * *

It encourages children to be good only when a policeman is looking. If there is no law-enforcer present, then they feel free to do as they wish.

PROPER CHAPERONE

The proper way to chaperone your daughter is to teach her the full facts of life and do it early.

Indoctrinate her morally by taking her to Sunday school and church. Give her a well developed conscience to serve as her chaperone all her life.

Then you can sleep more soundly. You will not need to stay awake and be under a constant strain till she opens the front door after her date.

For she then carries a constant chaperone in her own skull. It will be on guard as long as she is away from you.

* * *

So train your youth to have a right knowledge of social and sexual matters. This plants a chaperone in each one's brain. Then relax and put your trust in God.

To help tutor a young person widely, send for the booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Hundreds of high schools and churches are using this booklet, but be sure your children have access to it. It is your parental duty to safeguard your children with facts.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Small Packing House Completely Ruined

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A small packing house containing 3,000 pounds of powder blew to bits last at an isolated plant site ofthe the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc. Two workers inside were killed.

* * *

The building, a three-story 20-by-20 foot timber and concrete structure for packing finished powder into kegs, was reduced to rubble. It was situated about eight miles from Scranton near Moosic.

Plant manager C. W. Brooks identified the dead as Willard Lake, 54, of nearby Peckville, and John Stankosky, 38, of nearby Winton. They were the only people in the building.

The blast was felt as far away as Stroudsburg, 45 miles from the scene.

* * *

One woman said she saw a "huge ball of fire" rise from the scene and then heard what "sounded like an earthquake."

Du Pont officials said they would begin searching today for the cause of the explosion.

Fire which followed the explosion was brought under control shortly after midnight.

Explain Right Pot-O-Gold Answers

The following are explanations for correct answers to Puzzle No. 23 which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press:

1. PAWN is the choice. It is certainly unwise, under any conditions, to keep working if you have a Pain. A pain should be no discredit to anyone, on the job or not. But having a pawn, either a pledge, or some person you control through fear, might be considered as discreditable enough to be kept quiet.

2. WAX is the correct word. A Lax figure would be that of a person or creature, and could not be pushed into different shapes, merely into different positions. The choice must be wax.

3. MOTEL is the better fit. It is impossible to judge a Hotel (as service, its charges, atmosphere, etc.) at first glance. A motel (tourist camp) is more readily distinguishable as a good or bad place by its appearance, grounds, and facilities, the accommodations being visible at a glance.

4. LUNA is the word to choose. Any fisherman would be grateful for Tuna, as tuna is a prize catch and quite valuable. The reference to the tide refers to the moon, figuratively known as luna, which exerts a pull on the ocean, forming the ebb and flow of the tides. A fisherman well aware of this fact could be grateful for the moon, as being responsible for a favorable tide.

5. LACK is correct. If people Calk a boat, they are most likely drydock workers or private owners. In either case, they can be perfectly happy at their work. If a boat needs an emergency calking job at sea, there will also be eager workers, even the sailors called on to do the job, for their safety would depend on it. Applicable to the "sadlooking lot" would be lack. Sailors who lack a boat would be out of work.

6. PLANE is right. Of course, every Panel (jury) has an exact number every time. A plane, in a specific case, say a certain bomber, has a specific man for each position, an exact crew complement.

7. CUT is right. If a beginning actor plays a role, there is no reason to assume that the actors who must give him his Cues are also beginners. There is every reason to suppose he will get the right cue, no matter how badly he handles it. But a beginner in any line may not get the right cut (reasonable share of the profit) because his performance may only warrant a lower rate of pay.

8. SHINE is right. A kindergarten teacher is certainly prepared to have almost any child Whine the very first day. It would be uncommon for a child to shine or excel in the usual confusion of the first day, even if he is smart and well-adjusted.

9. GOOD is correct. If a radio drama actually is tense, as the clue states, you can be sure it has Mood music. In fact, few radio dramas are presented without it. So what is needed is good music of this type.

10. TAXI is right. The word "could" implies the possibility of a taxi. An Exit is an absolute necessity in any case, and calls for the word "would" to make the best sense.

11. QUIRT is preferred. Quilt is not the choice because the word "many" rules it out. A Quilt is ordinarily in a bedroom. A bedroom is most commonly a private place, and even if the quilt were shown, it would not be seen by as many people as would see a quirt. A fancy riding whip would be used by a huntsman and horseman, and would certainly be shown at the club or riding academy, and elsewhere, where it would be much admired.

12. ALOFT is right. If a sailor has a rickety sloop and tries to make it Float, you can be sure he will do his best to see that it doesn't leak. He would give it a safe tryout, with no risk, by letting it stand overnight or for a period of time, to make sure it will Float. But if he tries to make it aloft, that is, to climb into the rigging, he runs the risk of falling.

13. ARMS is right. In the "Iliad" of Homer, it is stated that Mars (Ares, to the Greeks), the god of war, always sided with Aphrodite (Venus). And Venus definitely favored the Trojans. So we can't say that Mars aided the Greeks at all. Force of arms certainly did, as Achilles, the great Greek warrior, slew Hector in battle.

14. PUG is the word. Without more specific information about the Rug (it could be a small, plain rug), we can't be sure that any woman would be proud of it. But a pug, a pet dog, would certainly be a woman's pride if she took the trouble to get one.

15. LOAD is the better choice. Heavy Lead would be a redundant phrase, for lead is a heavy metal and its weight need not be specified.

16. BATTLE is right. A battle was always a matter of record. A Tablet is a means of recording a battle, or anything else, but in itself, is not worthy of any special note. It is not a matter of record any more than a stenographer's pad. What it records is a matter of record, something as important as a battle, for instance.

Psychology for Birds

Hoover Jr. Demonstrates Main Quality—Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — To Herbert Hoover Jr., there are three ingredients of a life worth living—the outdoors, far away places and mining engineering.

* * *

Friends say he would rather be back in Australia mining gold than serving in his present position as No. 2 man in the State Department.

At 53, "Young Herbie" retains no happy memories about the White House, where his father lived for four years as the 31st president. His fondest memories are of those far off places where he mined for gold and explored for oil.

Friends say that as a trained engineer, like his father, he wants to take a cautious second look at everything. And that includes public service which, because of the criticism heaped upon his father whom he reveres, he approaches as a chore to be done with quickly. Public office holds no glamor for him.

"I do not wish to be disrespectful," he said then, "but I have not the slightest interest in politics."

But politics has shown more than a slight interest in him. It took the Senate Foreign Relations Committee only a few minutes to approve his nomination as Undersecretary of State. And on Aug. 18, 1954, the full Senate confirmed it less than 24 hours after it had been submitted.

He got the job because of his knowledge of international oil problems and a display of "nice guy" diplomacy which impressed both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

Once in office, however, he became involved in four undiplomatic "bloopers" which have overshadowed his work in helping gain a settlement of the once-bitter Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

These miscues are said to have cooled Dulles off on him somewhat, although Eisenhower seemingly still holds him in undiminished regard. There were:

* * *

1. When Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai suggested in the spring of 1955 that his country and the United States discuss Far East problems, Hoover rejected it out of hand. He said there would be no such talks without Nationalist China present, a condition the Communists had to refuse.

2. Later Hoover issued a statement, since described as gratuitous, hailing West German Chancellor Adenauer's talk at Moscow as proof of the "bankruptcy" of Soviet policy toward West Germany.

3. When a shipment of U. S. tanks for Saudi Arabia was discovered on a New York dock, he ordered it held up, only to have to take back his order in the glare of bright publicity whipped up over the affair by Arab-Israeli animosities.

4. Last April it was disclosed he had told a Senate Subcommittee that Nationalist China was shipping "millions of dollars worth of goods every year" to Red China. Later he testified he was "in error," saying the State Department had "no evidence of direct commercial contact" between the two Chinas.

In each of these three cases, officials have said, somebody else wrote the statement which Hoover issued. Still, he was the acting Secretary of State and could have rejected or revised the wording.

In the China-trade situation, intimates have said it was Dulles, himself who advised Hoover to disclose the Formosa trade with the mainland. Even though Hoover later testified the trade was through Hong Kong, officials concerned with the area say private that the two Chinas are engaged in direct trade but, since the Nationalists provide the State Department with its only reports on such trade, Hoover was technically correct in saying he had no evidence of it.

Friends will tell you that Hoover demonstrated one of his chief qualities in each of the four instances. This, they say, is loyalty.

They dispute any criticisms, such as has appeared in newspapers and periodicals, that Hoover would impose a slowdown on any policies with which he disagreed.

GIRAFFE FOR A LAUGH — This sight at 1:00 a.m. is enough to unnerve anyone, including Cleveland, Ohio, Patrolman Nick Nicolan, who came upon it while soberly patrolling his beat. The 10-foot-high giraffe doesn't look stuffed at all when you come upon it suddenly in the dark. The German-made critter was a gift of Ed Buchanan and Dick Goodman, of "Flying Saucer" recording fame, to Patty Randle, daughter of disc jockey Bill Randle.

Hong Kong Keeps Place as Window to Red China

Rioting that roiled the Crown Colony of Hong Kong has once again demonstrated Hong Kong's position as middleman between Orient and Occident.

* * *

Only slightly larger in area than New York City, the colony includes several islands and an adjoining mainland peninsula.

The Asian land mass faces Hong Kong across a 17-mile frontier. From behind the barbed wire boundary have fled hundreds of thousands of refugees. The influx from Red China has made housing the most critically short commodity in the colony. Water supplies have also proved inadequate.

Ceded to the British in 1841, Hong Kong Island was a barren, rocky piece of land about the size of Manhattan, inhabited by a few farmers and pirates, says the National Geographic Society. Thriving on the world's trade with South China, the colony grew into a major seaport and transshipment center, a position it still holds. Its area was enlarged in 1860 by grants from China and again by 99-year lease signed in 1898.

MOSTLY CHINESE

In its 391 square miles live an estimated 2,400,000 persons, all except 20,000 of them Chinese. Most are concentrated in the capital, Victoria, on Hong Kong Island, and in Kowloon across the harbor. Squatters, unable to find housing, have built communities of shacks from oil drums and packing cases. A government program to build more suitable housing is under way.

With few import duties or restrictions, Hong Kong has become a vast mart for Paris dresses, German and Japanese cameras, Swiss watches, Italian glass, and thousands of items from the United States, all available at low prices. Tourists are lured by bargains and magnificent views which have earned Hong Kong the reputation of being among the most beautiful seaports in the world.

In these times of slackened trade with China, Hong Kong merchants have reached out for new markets in Malaya and Indonesia. Many of the refugees brought considerable sums of money with them into Hong Kong. The cash has gone into development of new industries, including the manufacture of plastics, textiles, flashlights, enamelware, and air conditioners.

Tailgate Tactics Won for Morton

Kentucky Son's Tour in New Station Wagon Gained Senate Seat

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—When the campaign for Kentucky's senatorial race began, Thurston Ballard Morton was faced with the problem of never having made a statewide race.

So the lanky, 49-year-old Republican bought a new station wagon last March and set out to sell his platform to the people.

By Nov. 6, he had put 21,000 miles on the car—and it paid off. He won his race against the Democratic incumbent, Earle C. Clements.

Morton got his first taste of politics at a very early age. He says one of the major influences in his life was his early association with Samuel Gomperh, father of the American Federation of Labor.

In 1914, Woodrow Wilson picked Morton's grandfather S. Thurston Ballard to serve with Gompers on an industrial relations commission. Young Morton, just 7, tagged along and said later he was highly impressed by what he saw and heard especially conversations between grandfather Ballard and Gompers.

• • •

Young Morton later went to Frankfort, capital of Kentucky, as an Assembly page when his grandfather became lieutenant governor in 1919.

Despite urgings from friends and relatives, he didn't enter his first political race until after serving a hitch as a naval officer in World War II.

When the war was over, he wanted to go back to the family business, Ballard Mills, with which he had been associated since graduating from Yale in 1929.

But Republican party leaders in Jefferson County had different ideas and Morton ran for Congress in 1946. He was elected.

Voters returned him in 1948 and 1950. Once again, in 1952, Morton decided to go back to Ballard Mills, and, again, he was urged to take another course.

He returned to Washington as assistant secretary of state. Until he resigned to make this year's senatorial race, he worked at winning congressional support for the administration's foreign aid program.

Politically, Morton has been described as something of a maverick Republican. He was strong for Wendell Willkie in 1940 and was the only Eisenhower man in the Kentucky delegation to the Republican National Convention in 1952.

Morton is married and has two sons, Thurston Ballard Jr., 24, and Clay, 20.

Fido Needs to Be Treated Like a Dog Again

Modern Pooch Acquires Man's Anxieties

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — There are few sights more touching to behold than that of a dog with a guilt complex.

• • •

He winces when he ought to wag, slinks as he thinks and is miserably inefficient at expressing his apologies. Whatever he has done, be it nip a human heel or inadvertently smash a Wedgewood vase, he has no way of clearing his conscience with confession.

In such a spot most puppies will nuzzle their masters tenderly, probably in an attempt to compensate for disobedience with a display of affection.

But later on in life, many a full-grown canine will fight conscience with aggression, just as humans do. Like their masters, who tend to cover up their complexes with a veil of arrogance, so dogs too often will follow up a bite with a bark instead of a repentant whine.

• • •

"The trouble is that dogs pattern their behavior after humans," says a veterinarian who is worried about the modern generation of canines. "And therefore dogs with anxiety neuroses, guilt complexes and other neurotic complaints are ever on the increase.

HUMAN TREATMENT

"Dogs are no longer treated like animals. They're treated like people." And when a dog begins to think and act like his master, he's in for a devil of a bad time . . .

• • •

Unlike the master whose erratic behavior patterns Old Tray is emulating, he has no couch-and-analyst outlet with which to bark over his troubles. Unless he's extremely gregarious, probably he doesn't even have an objective acquaintance to growl his story to.

"The only solution," says the vet, "is for people to begin treating dogs like dogs."

If a dog is made to understand he is just that and nothing more complex, he will once again return to the sane old days when a pat on the head or a spank on the tail were enough to clear his mind of doubts, and a rubber bone—rather than a sirloin steak and mink frock coat—was sufficient to give a dog peace of mind.

• • •

Never before in history has so much money been spent on pampering pets, making them into "little ladies and gentlemen," so to speak.

They now have houses with patios, they are fed "mood pills" and the latest wonder drugs, they are given the best cuts of meat and the finest low-calorie candies, and they are worried over with all the vehemence of a mother spoiling her first and last and only child.

ONE-MAN DOGS

The result is more "one-man" or "one-woman" dogs who look at the world beyond their immediate master as either a place to be frightened or snarled at.

If their masters are constantly watching and cooing and coddling, the dogs are certain to grow up with all the symptoms of an invalid with hypochondriac tendencies.

The problem pets of this generation, of course, are just off-shoots of the problem people. It's a world of insecurity, and to many human beings their pooches have become symbols of the companionship and well-being they have been unable to find in the land outside the home hearth.

Dogs, therefore, have acquired all of their bosses' fears, isolationistic tendencies, weaknesses, complexes, inhibitions and frustrations. They are living in a world they never made. They know not exactly what they are.

So if your dog takes up drinking, Buster, blame nobody but yourself!

Conference Committee Member Will Speak

The Rev. Versile D. Bentley, secretary of the endowment fund committee of the Detroit Methodist Conference, will speak at 10 a.m. Sunday in the First Methodist Church. His topic will be "What Our Religion Really Does for Us."

At the Sunday evening service scheduled for 7:30 the film, "Stranger in the House" will be shown. The public is invited.

State Auto Fatalities Lower Than in 1955

LANSING (INS) — State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said yesterday Michigan's traffic death toll has been cut by 220 this year compared with the same period in 1955.

The commissioner gave credit for the decrease to intensive safety campaigns and added:

"We are doing well, but the really dangerous period is just ahead and we still need every bit of precaution that we can find to keep the total down."

He said deaths in the first 10 months and 11 days of this year totaled 1,460.

Hal Boyle Says:

Actor Smashes Chairs to Whip Up Frenzy

NEW YORK (AP)—In the old days of silent movies, studios used to hire a violinist to play background music to pep up the actors for emotional scenes.

Andy Griffith, a bright new star in the entertainment sky, has found a quicker system. He tears apart chairs.

Andy has just completed his first film, "A Face in the Crowd," produced by Elia Kazan for Warner Brothers.

He plays the role of Lonesome Rhodes, a hillbilly vagrant who becomes a television king and then, corrupted by his own success, plots to gain national political power.

* * *

Griffith, who earlier had gained experience as a nightclub monologist and star of the Broadway play, "No Time for Sergeants," found movie work exciting — but also disturbing.

"In any other medium you work up to an emotional pitch gradually," he said. "But in making a movie you have to be able to turn your emotions on and off like tap water. I found that hard to do."

* * *

In a final scene in which his career comes down in ruins, the egotistical Lonesome Rhodes goes off his rocker. Andy did the exhausting scene three times, and each time it failed to come off. He couldn't key himself to a maniacal pitch of frenzy.

Then he asked them to bring him in some old chairs.

"I stomped on 'em, kicked 'em and tore 'em apart with my hands until my hands were raw and sore," he recalled.

Then, angry enough to snap at the camera lens, he made the scene a fourth time, and it went off like clockwork.

"You can't stir up your emotions all day, and then just drop them at night," he said. "Anyway, I can't. I've given my wife, Barbara, a fit the last three months. But I'm lucky she understands the problem."

ALWAYS UNDERSTANDS

She has understood all along, ever since their courting days at the University of North Carolina.

* * *

Griffith, who retains that charming air of innocent cunning not uncommon in the Tarheel country, leaned his 6-foot frame against a chair and said:

* * *

"Last year I made—let me see—more than $100,000. Now ain't that terrible?"

It seemed so to him when he found out that he'd end up with less than $20,000 of it.

As a hedge against the future he is buying an old house and 53 acres on an island off North Carolina.

"I'm gonna get me some crab nets, too," he said comfortably. "I can always fish for a living.

Red Scheme: Plant Arms, Incite War

One of the most distinguished authorities on the Middle East today, a man who spent more than a quarter of a century in that troubled area, is Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb known as Glubb Pasha. Until the Middle East turmoil forced his ouster in March, Glubb was commander of the Arab Legion. In the following article, Glubb analyses the increasing Russian military role in the Middle East—and tells how the Soviets have gained a foothold there.

By LT. GEN. JOHN B. GLUBB

LONDON (INS) — The crisis through which we are passing has shown up with remarkable vividness the new Soviet technique.

In former times, a power desirous of carrying out military operations overseas dispatched an army, complete with weapons and munitions, in a naval convoy.

This procedure has now, however, changed considerably.

Service personnel need no longer be sent by sea. Whole divisions of troops can be flown across sea and land in a matter of a few hours. But if the transport of personnel has become easy, the rapid transport of material has become vastly more difficult.

The bulk and weight of modern land armament—tanks, guns, vehicles, fuel and ammunition for them—made their dispatch to a foreign country a major operation of transportation and administration.

The ideal solution for a military commander must, therefore, be to pre-position his heavy military in a foreign country in peacetime.

This once done, troops to man the weapons can be flown out in a matter of hours.

These facts were justification for the British evacuation of the Suez Canal Zone. Heavy material was to be left on the site. Troops could be flown back to Egypt whenever a crisis seemed imminent.

Russia has now produced a new technique which is a variation of the same theme. It is the "sale" of heavy weapons to some small country. Under the guise of such an arms deal, heavy Russian war material can be pre-positioned in a foreign country.

A few weapons are actually issued to the army concerned. Russion experts can be placed to look after the material under the guise of instructors. But the real object is to store heavy weapons for use by the Russian army itself whenever an excuse can be found to fly personnel out.

All that remains to be done is to find an excuse. The present case of the Arab-Israel conflict has been chosen for the purpose.

Everything must be done by Russia to provoke hostilities between Israel on the one hand and Egypt, Syria and Jordan on the other.

When hostilities begin, Egypt or Syria (where Russian arms already are sited) appeal for foreign volunteers. The Russian army flies in—just as the Chinese "volunteers" intervened in Korea.

Within a few hours, a complete Soviet army with tanks, guns and aircraft has occupied another country in a vital strategic area.

Whether such an army would then turn and destroy Israel is a matter of opinion. Russia is indifferent to the Arab-Israel feud as such.

She has at times supported Israel, at other times the Arabs, as suited her interest at the moment.

Indeed the whole Arab-Israel conflict fades into insignificance. These moves are battles in the life and death struggle between Russia and the West.

Arab hostility to Israel is merely a pretext which may enable Russia to place a large Soviet army in Egypt and Arabia.

But one thing is certain. If the Russian army were to succeed in establishing itself in an Arab country the Arabs would never again get rid of it. Any subsequent Arab demands for independence would receive the same response as the aspirations of the people of Hungary.

It may well be that the Franco-British landings at Port Said have by a narrow margin anticipated such a move. If Col. Nasser had appealed for volunteers a few hours earlier the Allies might have been confronted with a fait accompli—a Russian army in Egypt.

Perhaps the number of weapons destroyed or captured from the Egyptians by France, Britain and Israel may have destroyed the whole plot. We don't know how many weapons were destroyed or how many are left.

A buildup of such heavy weapons requires time. Recent operations may have gained us a respite for several weeks—perhaps months.

Soviet aircraft can be flown in at any moment. An armored division cannot.

If indeed our action did anticipate such a plot by a matter of hours then the reason for the fury of the thwarted Russian leaders is evident.

In view of the cynical and sinister ruthlessness of Russian policy the indignation roused against Britain and France is terrifying.

It is terrifying because it reveals a complete lack of realization in the free world of what s really afoot.

Never was the unity of the British commonwealth more essential. Never was complete unity in planning between the NATO powers more vital.

We may have been on the verge of world war. We may have been within hours of a second Korea. Port Said may have gained us a respite but nothing more.

Russia will continue with her plans. At the moment, these seem to consist of provoking an Arab-Israel war, then flying Russian "volunteers" to help the Arabs. The Iron Curtain will then descend upon the Middle East. Upon Jews and Arabs alike.

What we do not know is whether there is still enough Russian war material in Syria and Egypt to make the operation possible in the immediate future.

Eden's Party Wins but Loses Majority

CHESTER, England (AP) — Prime Minister Eden's Conservative party has won its first parliamentary election since the invasion of Egypt but its majority was reduced 5 per cent.

The voting yesterday to fill the vacant House of Commons seat from the city of Chester had been watched closely for possible indications of public reaction to Eden's Middle East policy.

Neither the big outpouring of protest votes nor the mass swing away from the government which the Laborites hoped for developed. Only 71.03 per cent of the electorate voted, as compared with 77.8 per cent in the 1955 general election.

"When I say 'immediately' that does not mean immediately, either," confessed P. Buchan-Hepburn, Britian's Minister of Works.

Diet Denounces Military Actions

TOKYO (AP) — Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu blasted Britain, France and the Soviet Union today for their recent military actions.

Addressing the newly convened special session of the Diet (Parliament), Shigemitsu accused Britain and France of attacking Egypt "in utter disregard" of world abhorrence for the use of war as an instrument of policy.

He also accused the Soviet Union of violating the independence of Hungary.

But he told the Diet President Eisenhower's re-election was a "reassuring" sign in the world-wide quest for peace.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The majority of Los Angeles Protestant churches exclude Negroes and Orientals from their memberships says a report by the Church Federation of Los Angeles. Dispute Delays Opening of Road

Rail Argument Puts Off Completion of Highway Into Toledo

LANSING (AP) — The southern stretch of the Detroit-Toledo expressway probably will not be opened until early in December because of a bottleneck north of Rockwood, the State Highway Department said.

Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, said a cement strike held up paving on the project for three and a half weeks. The paving now is completed, however, he said.

* * *

The only thing holding up the opening now, Ziegler said, is a dispute with the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad over construction of a crossover about five miles north of Rockwood.

The expressway is paved right up to the crossover, Ziegler said. Two lanes of the crossover are paved but eventually it will be a four-lane, divided stretch of roadway.

* * *

The railroad has disputed its proposed share of the cost of the crossover and the matter will be aired at a Public Service Commission hearing Nov. 20.

Once the dispute is settled, Ziegler said, the crossover can be completed within 10 days or two weeks to permit the opening, probably early in December.

Two Men Rescued by Air Force Plane

MANILA (AP)—A U. S. Air Force search plane today rescued two American airmen whose jet trainer crashed yesterday in the South China Sea off Lubang Island, south of the entrance to Manila Bay.

The men, Capt. Fay D. Fulton, Chicago, Ill., and A.3.C. George W. Tuescher, Plattsville, Wis., were spotted on a beach in southeast Lubang.

DISCUSS AUTOMATION AND EDUCATION — With president Andrew E. Forster, of Birmingham (center above) are two speakers who addressed the Pontiac chapter, American Society of Tool Engineers, last night. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, left, Superintendent of Pontiac Schools, said a community college will provide more industrial engineers. Buel Starr, manager of general manufacturing at Pontiac Motor Division, said factory automation is increasing the need for graduate tool engineers.

Automation in Factories of Pontiac Boosts Need for Trained Engineers

By PETE LOCHBILER

Automation in Pontiac factories creates a need for more college trained engineers, which may partially be met by establishment of advanced education in this area, speakers last night told 100 engineers of the Pontiac chapter, American Society of Tool Engineers.

Referring to increasing demands for tool engineers in the automotive industry, Buel E. Starr, manager of general manufacturing at Pontiac Motor Division, said:

"If we are to stay in competitive business, we'll have to develop more trained men more quickly."

The second speaker was Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac schools. He called for a community college, saying it would attract talented young men into engineering positions here.

* * *

Starr and Whitmer addressed a special meeting at Devon Gables Inn to consider tool engineering and its relation to industry and education.

Starr said process manufacturing is becoming more and more accomplished by automatic machines.

Change-over to automation is continuing at Pontiac Motor, he said. The plant has had a nearly automatic production line for some time.

"Rapid tooling changes nowadays mean we need men trained as tool engineers—lots of them—in a big hurry," Starr said.

* * *

Starr mentioned as an example that at Pontiac Motor almost as many engine changes have been designed in the re-tooling stage during the past three years as in the previous 20 years.

Whitmer said a community college could supply local industry and business with personnel trained on an advanced level.

As a member of the county School Superintendents Assn., he has been in charge of a committee working for a 2-year college here.

Local advanced courses would attract youth with limited financial means, he said.

Two years of study on junior college level while living at home would cut expenses usual at universities, he said.

The college could provide 2-year courses of vocational-technical training for lower grade engineering jobs, he added.

Whitmer saw "a very real possibility" such a college will be located in the area.

The chapter's meeting was the local climax to a year-long national program calling attention to the increased importance of tool engineering today.

Industrial Output Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production climbed to a new record in September and October despite a slight sag in building activity, the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

Quit British Ship

ROTTERDAM (AP)—Eight Egyptian crewmen of the 3,297-ton Panamanian freighter Jennifer Jane quit their ship yesterday, saying they no longer wanted to serve under a British captain. They were replaced by Greek sailors.

Engineers Needed, MIT President Says

NEW YORK (INS) — Dr. James R. Killian Jr., president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, warned last night that the United States has delayed taking necessary action "in the face of its acute shortage of scientists and engineers."

Speaking at the annual dinner of the M.I.T. club in New York, the educator declared:

"There has been a Niagara of talk about how short the shortage is and why. There has been precious little remedial action. Many have been taking the patient's temperature; few have mobilized means to buy some medicine."

To help solve the problem, Dr. Killian called for better utilization of scientists and engineers engaged directly or indirectly in research and development for the federal government. He said, "the heaviest pressure on our scientific manpower at this time comes mainly from our massive and necessary defense program."

Peru will soon inaugurate 51 new public works, including schools and housing.

Ike's Stand on Middle East Could Mean Peace or War

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The kind of world leadership President Eisenhower asserts now may mean the difference between a new war and none and between the retention of Western influence in the Middle East or the loss of it to Russia.

Two main choices confronted him:

1. He could have taken a strong, individual position for the United States — even outside the United Nations — and even to the extent of warning the Russians of direct American intervention if they send their "volunteers" into Egypt.

* * *

2. Or he could — as he did — throw the weight of the United States behind the U.N. without any explicit warnings beyond saying this country would back up the world organization to keep peace in the Middle East by opposing "volunteers" in Egypt.

Only time will show whether this choice was the wiser one or whether, since Eisenhower left obscure how this country would back up the U.N., the Russians may interpret it as weakness and send in their "volunteers."

* * *

But if he had chosen No. 1 the Russians might have felt it necessary to chance war by defying him. To appear to back down under his direct warning would mean not only humiliation for them but loss of their influence in the Middle East.

By choosing to work through the U.N. and avoiding provocative statements Eisenhower achieves at least these three things:

* * *

He maintains this country's moral position; he strengthens the U.N., which was badly weakened by the Russian assault on Hungary and the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt; and he assures this country of allies if it gets into the fighting as a result of a U.N. demand for military action by its members in the Middle East.

* * *

Maybe Eisenhower's choice is the best way to go about it. Only the Russians know the answer to that. But neither the U. N. nor the Russians nor Americans know at this moment how far Eisenhower would go to back up the U. N.

* * *

The President has a habit of being vague at his news conferences. But his meeting yesterday with reporters — almost at the moment reports from Moscow said the Egyptians were requesting Russian "volunteers" — may have set a new record for obscurity.

He was asked what this country would do if the Russians sent "volunteers" into Egypt. His answer: "I believe . . . it would be the duty of the United Nations, which would include the United States, to oppose such an effort. . . ."

* * *

But oppose how: by making speeches, merely approving pious resolutions, or by force if necessary? He was asked what form "our opposition" would take. He said: "I don't know exactly what we would do. It would depend upon the circumstances."

And he added that the U. N. "is not by any manner of means limited to resolutions."

If this vagueness discourages the Russians from trying a military adventure in Egypt, or confuses them, or sounds like a go-ahead to them, at least Eisenhower indicated before his news conference started he might be vague.

He told the reporters in his preliminary statement he did not want to say anything which might upset the delicate efforts now being made by the U. N. to move into the Suez Canal area and assure an end to the fighting.

Expect Milk to Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says it expects both production and sales of milk by dairy farmers to reach record levels in 1957. Milk production is expected to be between 129 and 130 billion pounds next year, up about 2 billion from 1956.

Austrian Relief Roll Taxed by Refugees

VIENNA (AP)—With nearly 30,000 new Hungarian refugees on their hands within the past 10 days, Austria's state and private relief organizations are in trouble.

In urgent appeals to the nation broadcast repeatedly during the night, the Austrian government declared that unless more financial and material help was received immediately, the refugee aid program was endangered.

Nearly all the refugees, mostly women and children, have flooded over the open Austrian border since Nov. 4—the day Soviet tanks attacked Hungary's freedom fighters.

All free housing space in Austria's easternmost provinces of Burgenland and Lower Austria is packed with refugees, frequently possessing nothing but the clothes on their backs.

Believes Reds in Egypt

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Reruhan Ben-Dror, an assistant to Israel's minister of labor, told reporters yesterday he believes Russian "volunteers" already are in Egypt. He did not amplify the statement. Ben-Dror is on a speaking tour in the United States.

Sick Children Starts Milk Investigation

COLOMBO (AP)—The chief of the CARE program in Ceylon thinks American powdered milk is making some Ceylonese children sick because it's a new food for them.

The local director of the American welfare organization, Donald Ostrander, also said instructions for preparation of the milk may not have been carried out properly. He explained that "delay in serving after preparation turns the milk sour."

The Ceylonese government ordered an investigation into the milk program this week after receiving reports that one child died and a number of others had become ill from the milk.

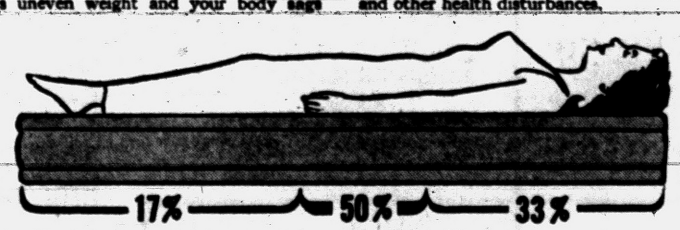
Ordinary Mattress. Tests with your body in a reclining position show more than half of the weight may be concentrated at the hips. The ordinary mattress sags under this uneven weight and your body sags with it. Instead of relaxing, your muscles fight the unnatural, uncomfortable position so you get "no rest." Sleepless night after sleepless night may cause backache and other health disturbances.



Serta "Perfect Sleeper." In the Serta "Perfect Sleeper," bands of spring steel link the deeper, more flexible, 6-turn coils so uneven body weight is evenly distributed over the entire mattress. Your shoulders, hips, legs are kept level—muscles relaxed—for perfect sleep. We call this vital improvement in mattress construction the Serta "Levelizer"! It's patented. Better Try It! Loot Growing for Pot-O-Gold

Here's another chance to empty Pot-O-Gold into your own pockets. If no winner is found for last week's puzzle, Puzzle No. 24 will be worth $600. To figure out the correct solution, check the clues below and be sure to read the rules carefully. Even a perfect answer is no good if it comes in late or is mailed incorrectly.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

"City Bred" is a distinctive Don Loper suit, with circular collar and three-quarter sleeve edged with a double row of silk fringe. The elongated, fitted jacket is self-buttoned above a slim skirt. Mr. Loper designed this inimitable fashion in Italian silk tweed, in three urban combinations — cognac, navy or black with white.

The costume captivates the resort and early spring scene. Spectator of California offers this design in down-soft wool jersey — a coat and dress with long flowing chiffon scarf, all in perfectly matching shades of aqua, beige or navy.

One of California's most famous designers, Marusia, shows this creation entitled "Social Butterfly." The short dinner sheath of black pure silk crepe has a softly draped skirt. The exotic white ruffled cape is of organdy.

Editors and Stars Mingle

Fashion Writers Attend 'The Ten Commandments'

More Showings of California Designs Vie With Premiere for Spotlight

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

LOS ANGELES—Anne Baxter was the only actress attending the Hollywood premiere of Cecil B. DeMille's production, "The Ten Commandments," whom we didn't recognize. She looks much younger off screen and much smaller.

Star studded as it was, it wasn't difficult to spot Mr. DeMille when he came in. As guests of Paramount Pictures, we mingled in and out of the theater with some of your favorite stars.

Clark Gable arrived with Mrs. Gable (Kay Spreckles) and was immediately pounced upon by an admiring female who said she had waited 20 years to get her hands on "The King." The 45-year-old matron was quickly subdued by studio policemen.

MORE STARS

Others we recognized were Yul Brynner, Alfred Hitchcock, Red Skelton (who busied himself with taking pictures of everyone) Charles Coburn, Walter Wanger with Joan Bennett's daughter, Melinda Markey, and Jimmy Durante and fiancee Margie Little.

* * *

Mrs. Clemence

After the production Art Linkletter interviewed Heston, DeMille and Miss Baxter outside Warners' Theater. Teenagers crying for autographs of Heston overlooked many of the other well-known stars.

It was a big night for Mr. DeMille, and he stood much longer signing autographs than did any of the stars of the picture.

We renewed an old acquaintance yesterday at fashion showings. Maruja, California's top model who had driven your reporter across town to several showings at a previous press week, has just finished a part in "Designing Woman." She's still the most beautiful model we've seen.

* * *

Hedy Lamarr sat through the press showing at Irene's yesterday looking for spring clothes from her favorite designer. In town to do a picture, she said she would return soon to her home in Houston.

SUBTLE EVOLUTION

Irene, long one of California's top designers, believes in subtle evolution and has lengthened skirts only according to the wearer. No longer lengths if these are not flattering.

* * *

Howard Greer made changes in his dress this year, saying "goodbye" to the Fair Lady theme. He does away with the empire waistline and the bloused look and has lowered the hemline.

He calls attention to the hemlines with special treatment, using scallops, bands and rhinestone buckles to distinguish them from plain hems.

A new feature is the shirt-tail hem and the use of three slits for walking ease. A beautiful dress of navy taffeta had a huge pouf at the hemline held by a band of lace.

Coats and suits have a softer feeling this year, with molded shoulder lines, and many have the added effect of a touch of chiffon about the neckline.

The blouson look is prominent in suits as are Dutch boy jackets. Capes and cape effects play an important role in the suit and coat picture, and are used in any length.

BATWING SLEEVES

Coats have bat wing sleeves to give this effect. Don Loper does one in confetti tweed which looks much like a great cape from the back view. Both suits and coats have belts and bows for added touches.

The capes were used in dinner dresses as well. Marusia showed a dinner sheath in black silk crepe which she topped with a frothy white organdy ruffled capelet.

In another she brought the cape to the floor for a great-coat look. The show ended with a complete collection of the dresses she designed for Rosalind Russell in the Broadway production, "Auntie Mame."

Medical Unit Entertains for Bosses

Oakland County Medical Assistants Society held its first annual Bosses Night Wednesday at Northwood Inn, with a cocktail party preceding dinner.

* * *

Dr. F. M. Sheridan served as toastmaster for the affair, with Bud Guest as the guest of honor.

Special recognition was given to Dr. George Raynale for having practiced the greatest length of time in Oakland County, to Dr. Joseph Chandler for having practiced the shortest length of time, and to Gertrude Siegt for having worked the greatest length of time for her employer.

Only those doctors whose assistants are members of the society were considered.

* * *

Three Speakers Explain Work to Owen PTA

The Rev. Theodore Allebach of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church gave the invocation at the Wednesday meeting of Owen PTA. The Fifth Grade Chorus under the direction of June Lannom sang several numbers.

"Special Education" was the theme of the meeting. Herman Kurth, visiting teacher; Josephine Bulla, school nurse, and LaZella Perry, speech correctionist, explained their work in the school system.

Mrs. Eugene Chisholm presided and called for a report on the fall festival from Mrs. Cleatus Garner. The attendance award was won by Mrs. James Scott's fourth grade room.

Mothers of fourth grade students planned the social hour. Those assisting were Mrs. Elmer Vick, Mrs. Wendell Muttersbaugh, Mrs. Dorothy Alexander, Mrs. Clyde White and Mrs. Roy Castor.

Mrs. Merrell Stephens and Mrs. James Scott presided at the tea table.

Peg-Board Useful

If you're planning to build a utility closet or cabinet to hold household cleaning equipment, consider peg-board. Walls constructed of it have a maze of little holes to hold many things in limited space.

Look for the Goodness in Others

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Unless you are a hermit, or maybe a lighthouse keeper, you are going to have to spend a certain amount of your time with people, some of them unpleasant ones.

Your happiness and your success in life are going to depend on how well you get along with them.

Fortunately, it's a skill you can improve with practice. I, myself, don't favor the external approach—the school of thought that urges happy smiles and endless compliments.

In the first place, a smile you don't feel and a compliment you don't mean are not apt to be very effective.

People are brighter than you think. They will know when you're being phony.

GENUINE APPROACH

It's much easier, really, to take the more genuine approach.

* * *

First, face the fact that there is some good and some bad in everybody.

No murderer that ever stalked the streets was entirely without some tiny bit of good in his character; no dowager customer, screaming and yelling at the clerks, but what has some good side to her; no tyrannical employer, brandishing his whip and breathing fire, but has some saving grace.

I don't pretend for a minute that it's easy to remember this when you are the victim of a person's bad side.

But I do know this: If you really believe there is some good in everybody, you'll find you attract that good. Treat the horrible customer as if she's a lady and you will bring out the lady in her.

Act as if the mean employer is nice and what little niceness he has will come out to you.

SAW IT HAPPEN

I saw this happen vividly in an office I worked in once.

* * *

The president was ghastly. His secretaries usually lasted about three weeks. Naturally, a legend grew up. When a new secretary came, she soon heard what a monster he was. She treated him like one and he obliged by being one.

Then a new girl came. She got along with him fine. Before long, he was acting like a perfect lamb.

After some six months of this, you could see she was going to stay for good. I asked her how she'd done it.

* * *

"Oh," she said, "when the girls started telling me what a horror he was, I paid no attention. In fact, I told them pleasantly that I'd just as soon find out what he was like for myself. That shut them up.

SHE PRETENDED

"I pretended to myself he was a nice guy and treated him as if he were. When he blew up, I acted as though I knew he didn't mean it. Pretty soon, he stopped blowing up. He turned into a real nice guy!"

If you need to brush up on your human relations, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of The Pontiac Press and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Invitations Only Partly Answered

Mom Giving Party May Telephone to Get Replies

By EMILY POST

"My wife sent out about 25 invitations to a party which she is giving for our daughter. She put 'Please reply' on the invitations but so far only about half of them answered.

"She had intended to buy rather nice favors for all of the children, but since she has not received word from the others who were invited, she does not know how many favors to buy. Is it to be assumed that no reply means they are coming, or not coming?

"Would it be proper for her to telephone those who did not reply, to ask whether or not the child is coming? We would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: It would be entirely proper to telephone the mothers—in fact, rather necessary.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my daughter's picture and the announcement of her engagement appeared in the newspaper. She received quite a few messages of good wishes from her friends and relatives. Will you please tell me if it is necessary for her to acknowledge these messages in any way?"

Answer: Certainly she must acknowledge these messages by telephone or notes of thanks.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day while downtown shopping with a friend I found a small change purse containing 25 dollars. It had evidently fallen out of someone's handbag. As there was no name in the purse I could not return it.

"I would like to know if I should give part of the money to the friend who was with me when I found it. My husband thinks that it is the only fair thing to do. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: Take the money and change purse to the police lost and found department.

If no one claims it, the police will return it to you and it will be legally yours. You can then either divide it with your friend or not as you please.

Mothers Should Protect Figures

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I hope you can help me. I am only 21 years old; my breasts sag very badly. I have two children, a year apart. I believe my trouble lies in failure to wear the proper bras while I was pregnant. Is it too late to do anything about it?"

A. I feel that this question is one which should be answered over and over again because few women realize that, in the question of the bustline, prevention is half the battle and much easier than correction.

My reader is correct. It is most important to wear brassieres designed especially for this time and for the weeks or months during which a woman nurses her baby. The bust is much heavier, not only during the nursing period, but during pregnancy.

I myself know women who have had several children, and nursed them, whose busts remained firm and youthful. Probably good health, good nutrition and good body tone were factors, but these women also took great care to support the bust properly during the time I have mentioned.

* * *

A woman should always lie down when she nurses her child, not only for the sake of her bustline, but because she can use these periods of rest herself.

DEVELOP MUSCLES

However, if you did not do these things, you can increase your bust measurement and lift the bust you have by developing the chest muscles. If any of you would like to have these exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7.

* * *

Q. "I have a terrible habit of biting my nails. I have tried almost everything in an effort to stop the habit. Have you some suggestions?"

A. I think the very best thing you could do is to go to a beauty salon and have a manicure. I know you will dread to go because of the way your nails look now, but go anyway. Tell your manicurist about your problems, and work together on it.

The first time she will be frustrated because she will have nothing to work on, but human nature is susceptible to a challenge and to enthusiasm, and she will become interested in your problem.

* * *

Your nails will look so much better after the first expert treatment that you will feel as though you are letting her down, and yourself, too, if you bite them again.

Share your problem with her and go once a week for a while. You will have someone else to consider besides yourself, and this is always a great decider.

Men Don't Belong in the Nursery

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Before her two children came, young Mrs. X. worked. With Mr. X. she shared the costs of marriage "50-50," helping him buy the car, the TV and other things they wanted.

They wanted their babies — but Mr. X. isn't going "50-50" on the costs of parenthood.

On late afternoons, his wife often feels resentment at having to bear the major costs alone. As she feeds the baby, trying to quiet young Rickey's fretful insistence that she fix his truck, her weariness under maternal burden is increased by her feeling that Mr. X's failure to share it is abusive and unfair.

She's not conscious that she expects "50-50" cooperation in care of their children from him; but she expresses it the moment he opens the door.

NOT CHILD CARE

A father's work is not child care. Though as an understanding person he may assist us with it during emergencies, his arena of action is the world, not the nursery.

* * *

Were Mrs. X. to accept this biological fact, her maternal burden would lighten. She could bring to it fresh energy she now expends in unconscious rebellion at it.

One of the great perils of women's sharing the male role of Provider is that we start expecting men to share our female work as Mother.

It is most unrealistic, bringing us into direct collision with biological reality. Only so long as we remain a childless wage-earner can we maintain the "50-50" business-luncheon deal with our husbands.

The minute we start functioning as a female by having a baby, the whole silly fantasy of sexual sameness blows up.

CANNOT MATCH IT

In shock and resentment, we discover that though we've matched every dollar our husband gave to the TV set, he cannot possibly match what we have to give to our children.

The fact that he doesn't possess our special bodily equipment for their nourishment and care has nothing to tell us. All we want is that he duplicate our parental effort as we duplicated his earning one.

In a recent article in Parents Magazine, Dr. Bruno Betteiheim puts it this way: "Though the completion of womanhood is largely motherhood, the fulfillment of manhood is not achieved through fatherhood.

"The relationship between father and child never was and cannot now be built around childcaring experience. It's built around men's function in society—moral, economic, political."

County Social Workers See Movie on Delinquency

Film Shown at Hospital on Thursday

Panel Discussion Takes Up Juvenile Problems

A film, "Crime in the Streets," was shown to members of Oakland County Chapter, National Association of Social Workers, at their Thursday evening meeting held at Pontiac State Hospital in the Chapel Auditorium.

Recognized as a powerful drama lesson in juvenile psychology, the film was loaned to the hospital by Allied Artists Pictures of Michigan, Inc.

Social agencies, educational and religious authorities lay much of the blame for juvenile delinquency on the home. The film illustrates this contention in the lead role, depicting the consequences to a boy lacking parental love.

* * *

They discussed the role of the social worker in the community, the various types of social work, and social workers' contributions to the community. The panel talk was followed by an open discussion form the audience.

Marguerite M. Parrish served as chairman, handling arrangements for the evening, and Mrs. Mary Mulvey was program chairman.

James Whitemore, who plays the role of the social worker in "Crime in the Streets," wrote to the NASW in care of Pontiac State Hospital, telling the association "The film is not a story planned to form any parents, or to cause wild youngsters to mend their ways," but he believes the showing of the film will give parents a better understanding of their children's problems.

Lewandowski of Ferndale, from the Pleasant Ridge Community Center; Mrs. Henry Michalak, visiting teacher from Ferndale; Ted Paneratos, case worker supervisor at Pontiac State Hospital, and Madeline Half, director of the Oakland County Child Guidance Center. The occasion was the showing of the film "Crime in the Streets" to NASW members and a discussion of events and consequences depicted in the movie. R. L. Arthaud served as panel chairman for the discussion held Thursday at Pontiac State Hospital Chapel Auditorium.

St. Benedict Is Setting for Wedding

Mary LeMarbe, Thomas V. Walker Speak Vows

Mary Margaret LeMarbe became the bride of Thomas Victor Walker in a 12 o'clock ceremony performed Saturday at St. Benedict Church.

Mrs. Ida Wilson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Marion McGill of Wyandotte were the bridal attendants. They were gowned alike in floor-length gowns of cotillion blue crystalette.

* * *

Their headpieces were sequin bands that held matching blue ostrich feathers. Mrs. McGill carried red roses and Mrs. Wilson carried bronze rosebuds.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Thomas, son of Mrs. Hilda Walker of Wyandotte and Thomas Walker of McKees Rocks, Pa., asked David H. LeMarbe, brother of the bride, to serve as best man. William LeMarbe performed the duties of usher.

* * *

A wedding breakfast was held immediately following the ceremony for members of the immediate families and the wedding party. The Robert LeMarbe home on Jonquil road was the setting for the reception held from 4 to 8 p. m.

The couple will reside on Summit avenue following a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.

Ava Refuses to Speak About Future Plans

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
International News Service

In Europe, where the local Lotharios are more dramatic than imaginative, Ava Gardner is referred to as the "goddess of love."

* * *

This title, after three smashed marriages and unnumbered impetuous romances, must amuse the small-town girl from North Carolina. She has developed a wry attitude about this love business.

"I carry the torch after all my marriages break up," she said recently. Her beautiful face, like that of a droll comedian, was deadpan. "Guess I get lonely without a guy around the house.

"But you can get over anything . . . even a toothache . . . in time."

* * *

Ava is a curious combination of realist and dreamer and, through the last 15 years of success, she has done more than her share of self-analyzing.

The result is that—to avoid driving herself insane with recriminations as she surveys the ruins of her attempts to settle down with one man—she gives herself two emotional "outs:"

CLEARS CONSCIENCE

Sometimes she verbally clears her own conscience ("I guess," she says, "you can put it down to my choice of husbands.") Her other defense against psychological disaster is surrounding herself with lively company who'll help her forget her past.

* * *

In thus pulling the curtain over the past, she lives at such a dizzy pace that there is not much time for surveying the future.

If Ava Gardner has any plans beyond living from dawn to dawn in the most agreeable fashion available, not even those favored few closest to her beck and call have any knowledge of it.

There are rumors that she plans to move from Madrid to Rome. Close friends say she'll shortly return to America to finalize her divorce from Frank Sinatra.

* * *

The Spanish say she can never roam far from the bullfight arenas she has come to consider a thrilling escape hatch for her irrepressible emotional drive.

NOT PREDICTING

Ava long ago grew weary of telling the world frankly what she thought — and living to regret the mistaken interpretations put upon her statements. So she simply isn't predicting anything.

* * *

Too often, for the blunt Miss Gardner, honesty has turned out to be an incriminating policy.

She learned to be blunt in Smithfield, N. C., where, she has proclaimed proudly, she didn't wear shoes till she was 14.

It was a broad step from Smithfield to the Hollywood Hills and when Ava made the sudden leap, she carried along all her North Carolina-bred requisites for confusion: An intense inferiority complex, a bewitching beauty she didn't quite know what to do with, and that explosive frankness.

* * *

"Maybe," she said much later, "I shouldn't have started wearing shoes. Makes it that much more uncomfortable when you put your foot in your mouth."

MATERNAL TYPE

From the start, Ava openly admitted she couldn't act: "I was much better equipped for having babies."

* * *

So she married the then-fabulously-successful Mickey Rooney. She married him because she thought marriage was expected of a girl and because he helped overcome the sense of inferiority that always had, and still does, surround her.

"I remember wondering what he could have seen in me," she has recalled. "He was the first guy I'd met that I didn't figure was laughing at me. But we were babies."

They were married in January 1942, after a six-month courtship. Their marriage lasted, less than twice that long. Mickey measured up exactly to Ava's dimpled chin, and friends of both said he made up in aggressiveness what he lacked in height. Ava walked out.

* * *

She was still an "unknown" in film circles when Artie Shaw discovered her two years later. The bandleader, a self-styled intellectual, had just the opposite effect upon Ava that Mickey had had.

Instead of soothing her sense of inferiority, he ballooned it. Friends insist he kept telling her how stupid she was, and insisting she read weighty books.

ANALYSIS NEXT

The befuddled Miss Gardner, after having her ego deflated and watching her weight drop from a curvy 126 to a skinny 106, entered psychoanalysis in the hope of saving her marriage. It didn't work and one year later she joined Artie's "who's who" of famous ex-wives.

* * *

Fame and overwhelming success kept Miss Gardner from devoting the proper time to get herself involved seriously with another prospective husband until 1951 when — after a long wait for his divorce from his first wife—she married crooner Sinatra.

This, she was sure, was true love. After all, she had matured. She was marrying for love, not to free herself of complexes or to build up ego or intellectual prowess.

Sinatra was down, financially and professionally, and Ava footed most of their bills, including a whopper for their Carribean honeymoon.

* * *

He was "sweet, grateful and kind," during that brief period; but then he was given a role in the film, "From Here to Eternity," and was once more in the chips and the spotlight.

GOES TO HIS HEAD

"Some people," Ava said ruefully, "get pleasant and affable with success. But Frank—you know how that affects him. There was no living with him. Success just seems to go to his head."

Their marriage became increasingly bitter. Sometimes, Ava recalls, during separations for either professional or personal reasons, he would call her up "just to hang up on me."

Their disputes became internationally renowned, since wherever she travels Ava is relentlessly reported on by her alleged "friends." In 1954, amid reports that she was still in love with Sinatra (these reports still exist, but monthly grow more hushed), Ava announced she would get a divorce.

Since then she has spent 95 per cent of her time in Spain and in location in Europe, kicking up her heels wherever she appears.

* * *

At least two men claim to believe Ava will marry them eventually: Walter Chiari, the Italian comedian, and Frank Silvestri, a Pittsburgh boy who was Ava's companion at the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier wedding in Monaco and believes that he—and it—put her in a potential marrying mood.

But if any mortal knows what Miss Gardner's plans are it is Miss Gardner alone.

And all she does is to mimic the rest of the world looking on at her amorous adventures—by raising an eyebrow.

Lotion Removes Annoying Scales

Your legs need creaming right after you've shaved them. For this purpose, keep a bottle of body lotion handy and use it generously. This is the best way to avoid that scaly look that plagues many women in the wintertime.

The plunging neckline and the strapless evening dress look their prettiest on young women. For mature women, there are many soft, cover-up versions of the evening gown.

Area Schools Plan Thanksgiving, Holiday Parties

* * *

Classes let out Wednesday for Thanksgiving and dances are scheduled throughout the area on Wednesday night as well as some tonight.

AT WALLED LAKE

Tickets will be available at the door. Prom time is 8:30 to midnight.

AT CLARKSTON

The Plymouth Rock, a Thanksgiving Dance, sponsored by Clarkston juniors will be held Wednesday. Open to the public the dance will begin at 8 p.m.

* * *

"Time Out for Ginger," a three-act comedy will be presented in the auditorium tomorrow night at 8. The play is directed by Katherine Bayer and sponsored by the senior class.

* * *

The 1957 Clarkston Hilltopper yearbook which the staff promises to be "the biggest and best" ever is on its way. The book will go on sale Wednesday, Nov. 28.

* * *

AT WEST BLOOMFIELD

This past week at West Bloomfield High School has been a rather hectic one as juniors busily finished plans for the one of their major dances of the year, the Starlight Ball.

* * *

Open to the public, the dance will be held from 8 to 11 tonight in the West Bloomfield gymnasium and will feature a Detroit name band.

* * *

Juniors and seniors held their annual magazine sale banquet last week. In the contest between the two classes, the seniors were top salesmen.

Future Teachers of West Bloomfield have made up a tax dollar exhibit which is displayed in the main hall.

* * *

AT LAKE ORION

Enrollment among the students dropped on Wednesday and Thursday because of the students hunting. The school excuses those who present their license and have made up their work.

Some are staying until the weekend because of the school play, a comedy called "Jeepers Creepers." Most of the members of the senior class are helping in some way to produce this play.

* * *

Open House on Tuesday night was a big success. Many parents in addition to visiting their children's rooms saw exhibits in the halls, and one of sterling silver and place settings in the home ec room; handicrafts and painting in the art room; and projects by the boys in woodwork classes.

The program of music was appreciated by the parents, and many stayed to sample the food prepared by the home ec girls. The Student Council guides and the Y teen hostesses also proved very efficient.

AT AVONDALE

Avondale High School junior class president Gerry Poynter reports that work on the Sadie Hawkins Dance is progressing very well. The dance, which will be held Nov. 30 in the school gym, is based on the Lil' Abner comic strip by Al Capp.

Avondale High School's debate team attended its first discussion Nov. 8, at Troy High School. Seniors Jackie Pyle and Bob Snyder took high honors on the team with 41 of a possible 50 points.

Future Nurses Club held a meeting at Joy Owen's house Tuesday night to meet their sponsor, Mrs. Ford Cobb.

Boy's basketball practices were held for the first time this week. Coach Dick Bye is busy getting his boys ready for the first game Dec. 12, with Fitzgerald on the home floor.

The concert band under the direction of John Neztec and the choral groups under the supervision of Barbara LeBeau are preparing their annual Christmas concert to be presented Dec. 19, in the High School gym.

Turkey Day Plans Sprout at Pontiac High

By JACK HENDRICKSON

Thanksgiving is in the air, as plans for the big holiday and days off from school, occupy students at Pontiac High.

* * *

One Pontiac High School homemaking class has just finished its work in the culinary arts.

* * *

Girls taking homemaking study it for a whole year under the instruction of Elizabeth Rodgers, Mrs. Ann Hagenbush and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller. The class that "graduated" from cooking prepared a full dinner for some of the teachers.

During this full year of homemaking, the girls have ten weeks of each of the phases of housework. Child care, cooking, clothing and house care make up this program.

January seniors, numbering 132, were hustling this week to get their senior picture proofs in by Wednesday, the deadline for the people who wanted their pictures back before Christmas.

Seven Pontiac High School students will accompany John N. Youngpeter to New York next week for a science trip.

* * *

They will visit the Bronx Zoo, Botanical Gardens and Radio City, Thursday.

Tours of the United Nations Building, Statue of Liberty, and the Empire State Building will occupy most of Friday. Then they will meet Libby H. Hyman, acclaimed the greatest woman biologist in the world at the American Museum of Natural History Building. That evening they will attend a television show.

* * *

Saturday will be quite mild, though. The boys and Youngpeter will tour an ocean liner, then do some collecting by the Atlantic Ocean.

About 20 members of the Biology Club, organized by Youngpeter, took a trip to view the Telenews Documentary "Secrets of the Reef," in Detroit, Wednesday.

The Social Workers Club was organized this Tuesday. It is a new club similar to the Future Nurses and Future Teachers clubs and encourages young people, who plan to take up social work after they get that diploma.

The club will visit hospitals, clinics, and psychoanalysts when it gets fully organized.

Eastern Council Uses PA System for Talks

The Student Council at Eastern Junior High School puts on a program over the public address system in the school every other Monday.

* * *

Purpose of the program is to give information to students on various committees and organizations in the school. The local broadcasts mention outstanding workers in certain activities and features Student Council representatives and adviser Helen Lapisch.

American Education Week Open Houses in the junior highs brought a lot of parent visitors to the schools.

AT WASHINGTON

Washington's Open House Tuesday attracted more than 600 parents. The Girls' Ensemble under the direction of Faith Cook sang several numbers and parents met to discuss with Principal Norman H. Kuijala a type of organization for the school.

Unanimous choice was PTSA. Committees were appointed among the parents to form the organization.

The first in the series of dances sponsored for students was held Wednesday. The dances are in cooperation with the City Recreation program.

AT MADISON

Madison magazine salesmen went over the top in their $4,200 sales quota. A total of $5,000 made the sale a big success. Top homeroom honors went to A-6, an eight grade homeroom sponsored by Thomas Shara.

Over 200 students will make a trip to Detroit to see Cinerama in payment for their sales efforts.

A new TV set and scoreboard have been purchased for the school from the funds.

AT WALLED LAKE

The Atwas club of Walled Lake Junior High will present its final performance of Great Caesar's Ghost, a hilarious mystery in three acts at 8 tonight in the Junior High auditorium.

Sponsors of the club and directing the play are Mrs. Mary Lott, John Williams, Joseph Neff, and W. D. Smith. This first offering of the school year was also presented last night. The public is invited to attend and may purchase tickets at the door.

All proceeds will be used to purchase additional stage equipment.

Seniors Get Cherished Class Rings

School Paper Strains to Reach SMH Deadline

By JUDY NIEDJELSKI

Artists, reporters, and typists have been working extra hard in order to get the first edition of the school paper, "The Michaelite" in circulation before Thanksgiving vacation.

Quarterly reports were distributed by our Pastor, the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly Monday morning.

On Wednesday evening the parents and teachers met to discuss the problems and difficulties which have arisen since the opening of school and to suggest ways and means for the betterment of those concerned.

Within the next few days student librarians will have an opportunity to show their skill in librarianship by helping to process many new books received for the high school library.

By SANDY WHITE

"Bermuda Bounce" is the theme the Waterford Township High School juniors have chosen for their first dance of the season next Wednesday.

* * *

A well-known disc jockey will be here to spin the records from 8 to 11 p.m. His name will not be revealed until dance time.

Heading committees for dance preparation are: Bill Cole, general chairman; Stephinie Hill, entertainment; Sandy Stockton, publicity; Jackie Winters, decorations; Fredia Ernst, tickets; and Johnny Keating, clean-up.

Plans for the Thanksgiving program, slated next Wednesday preceding the Thanksgiving vacation, are being made by the assembly planning committee, under the direction of Patty Looman.

This past week seniors have been working hard selling candy as their second big project toward their senior trip. The trip will be taken on the weekend of May 24, 1957.

Last year, when this year's seniors were juniors, they tackled their first big project of selling magazine subscriptions. Students receive a certain percentage of what they sell and that credit goes on their record towards the finances they would otherwise have to pay outright for the trip.

Preparations for the "Faculty vs. Alumni Basketball Game," set for Nov. 30 and sponsored by the seniors, are under way with Diana Craig acting as chairman.

By popular vote the King and Queen were chosen for Homecoming last Friday. They are Marlene Lazenby, queen and Lyndie Salathiel, king. They and members of the court reigned over Homecoming weekend festivities.

Administrators in Waterford Attend Meetings

Waterford administrators have visited colleges and conferences in connection with their positions over the past weeks.

Attending the Michigan Counselors Conference in Lansing were counselors Byron Merritt, Suzanne Houghton and Mrs. Lela Long.

Bob Considine Says:

Are Short Pants Legally Shorts or Pants?

NEW YORK (INS) — Are short pants shorts or pants? Will there be a round-up of those brave young men who come in from Greenwich on hot summer days and go to their Wall street offices in abbreviated Bermuda bloomers?

* * *

The whole question of man's liberation from the iron-clad restrictions on just how much clothing he must wear, and on what parts of his body, is coming to a head in Arizona.

The Arizona law says quite clearly that a man must wear pants when he shows himself to fellow natives.

The law was put in during territory days and was aimed chiefly at Indians who were wont to stroll into town naked as jaybirds to gape at the strange critters in their hot pants, coats, hats, corsets, dresses and the hard animal hides they wore on their feet.

* * *

The word "leg" was never mentioned by good women. It was, at most, "lower limb." The sight of a man's leg would causes horses to shy and the dear ladies of the frontier to fall into dead faints. Hence this ancient doggerel:

You can live without lit'rachur,
You can live without art,
You can live without conscience,
You can live without heart,
You can live without relatives,
Without uncles or aunts,
But civilized man cannot live without pants.

BEFORE SHORTS

A commendable thought, to be sure. But the Arizona law and its poet laureate pre-dated Bermuda shorts. Not long ago a brave soul sauntered on to one of the state's broad avenues dressed in the latest abbreviated flannels from Front street, Hamilton, queen city of all the Bermudas.

* * *

A lady complained. He was arrested. The American Bar Association Journal asked Leslie Parry, esteemed Phoenix attorney, for a White Paper on this tense matter.

He spoofs it beautifully, almost in the academic manner of Benchley discussing the love life of the newt.

"Times have changed and so have fashions and customs," he notes. "The girls traverse the streets wearing little more than the Indians wore in that day and nobody squawks or even lifts an eyebrow. In fact, some are in favor of it, including mayhap, the judge.

BIBLICAL VIEWPOINT

"Thou shalt make them breeches to cover their nakedness; from the loins even unto the thighs they shall reach."

* * *

The accused's lawyer has argued that no man wearing shorts could be punished just for that act.

The DA, quoting the dictionary like William Jennings Bryan brandished Scripture at the monkey trial, says pants are "a garment extending from the waist to the ankles and covering each leg separately."

Parry writes:

"The Indians . . . bought a few pairs of Levis and cached them in the bushes outside the town, put them on when approaching the town, and when leaving cached them in the bushes again for use of the next contingent of savages to visit civilization.

* * *

"In such human manner is the law frequently satisfied. The Indian, however, did not require the white man to take off his pants on the reservation.

"He had not the power or the wish to impose his notions on others. The Indian minds his own business and expects others to do the same."

If we hear anything more on this, you'll be the first to know.

Zoo Has Rare Possum

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A rare albino possum has been added to the Fort Worth Zoo. It was donated by a resident of Florida. Zoo Director Lawrence Curtis said it was the first he had ever seen. Most albinos, he said, are killed when very young because they have no natural camouflage against enemies.

Young Girl Victim of Three Holdups

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A St. Louis radio-television repairman was arrested today just outside a savings bank after a $2,847 holdup of the same teller for the third time this year.

Barbara Stewart, 20, told police she recognized Cletus W. Stone, 46, as the man who had forced her to sack up almost $14,000 in two holdups last winter at the North Side Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

Hungarian Refugees Tell Senate Group of Red Atrocities, Plead for Nations' Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man who said he is fresh from "the thick of the fighting" in Hungary's revolution told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee yesterday, "I beg the help of every nation and creed" for his oppressed nation.

"Let my documentary writing be also the SOS call of my nation," he said in a statement prepared for an afternoon public hearing. The subcommittee said he also had photographs of Soviet atrocities.

* * *

The witness used the assumed name "Arpad Hazafi," lest disclosure of his true name draw Soviet reprisal on relatives in Hungary.

"I am no coward but I am filled with fear" for them, his statement said.

* * *

The subcommittee released only the preface of his statement. This gave no details of the fighting but subcommittee aides said he would deal with these in the hearing.

The man will be masked when he takes the witness stand, as was another Hungarian refugee who testified yesterday about torture chambers of the Soviet-led Hungarian secret police. Yesterday's witness, using the assumed name "Istvan Laszlo," said many Russian troops in Hungary when the revolt flared refused to fight the rebels, but that fresh and tougher Soviet divisions were sent in and cracked down ruthlessly.

* * *

Hazafi gave a grim account of conditions in Hungary which he said led up to the revolution. He said the Soviets looted the economy and left "the barest minimum" for the Hungarian people. He said an entire family could expect to earn the equivalent of not more than $35 or $45 a month in buying power. $50 if family members had high positions. He said the Russians imposed a piecework system in which the rates were changed from time to time so that the workers' wages could not rise.

* * *

Under the secret police, he said, the "slightest disapproval" of the regime, correspondence with Western relatives or friends, sometimes baseless accusation, was sufficient to cause arrest, torture or even death for the people without court trial or verdict. They were imprisoned most times for years.

"In May and June, 1951, from Budapest alone about 60,000 people were deported to the countryside regardless of age and religion," he said.

"Life in Hungary became a hopeless treadmill."

Kidnaper Search Ended by Chance

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A detective says a ruse caused Angelo LaMarca to link himself with the Peter Weinberger kidnaping.

* * *

Detective Sgt. Edward F. Curran, testifying yesterday in the kidnap-murder trial of 31-year-old LaMarca, first told of the painstaking search of 2½ million handwriting specimens examined by local authorities and the FBI which led them to the defendant.

Curran said LaMarca steadfastly denied any connection with the case until the detective told LaMarca his fingerprints had been found on 32-day-old Peter's carriage.

* * *

Actually, Curran said, no fingerprints had been found on the infant's carriage.

* * *

Later, Curran testified, LaMarca completely broke down and confessed the kidnaping when confronted by his weeping wife at their Plainview, N.Y., home on Long Island, about 10 miles from the Westbury residence of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger.

Drownings are second only to motor vehicles as a cause of accidental death.

Refugee Describes Torture of Mindszenty

(The following report on the Communist torture of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who has taken refuge at the U S legation in Budapest, was given by escaped Hungarian Priest Bela Ispanky to the countess of Listowel, noted lecturer, author and publisher who has just arriveid in the U S from Vienna.)

By JUDITH LISTOWEL

"I give you," their prosecutor said, "45 minutes to prepare a realistic defense or else I will have you beaten to a pulp."

The Rev. Bela Ispanky, who was one of the co-defendants in the Communist trial of Cardinal Mindszenty on charges of spying, told in Austria of the pre-trial tortures.

He and the cardinal were rescued by freedom fighters before massive Soviet armor crushed the Hungarian insurgents.

Fr. Ispanky said that the words "realistic defense" in Soviet parlance mean either a virtual plea of guilty or a plea that cannot in any way embarrass the regime.

He said:

"Our treatment varied from unadulterated brutality to the administration of drugs to some, both by the needle and in powder form.

"In the Cardinal's case it was electric shock treatment primarily, as far as I know.

* * *

"When we came face to face in court, he was not even able to recognize me. But others such as Erno Totosi, whose food was dusted with some drug, nearly went mad after the ordeal."

Fr. Ispanky said the guards occasionally and "subtly brought tantilizing food into the next cell, telling us there are two ways of getting such food—either have it the night before an execution or turn traitor.

"This consisted of sending us on errands to deliver messages often blasphemous or obscene, with threats of hanging if we did not deliver them word perfect.

"On other occasions, while filing out from our cells on legitimate exercise, they pounced on us saying that we were trying to make a break, and beat us.

"The more subtle side of the treatment was no better.

"Later in January, on the eve of the trial, we each were taken before the notorious Vilmos Olty president of the 'Peoples' court to be handed copies of the charges.

"He minced no words and made it clear that our fate was a foregone conclusion, heads I win and tails you lose. He declared he had two sets of charge sheets already drawn up, one to be used in the event we prepared to plead guilty with a 'realistic' defense, and the other if we insisted on making a defense.

"The alternative was trial by military tribunal. He told us, 'We will try you in secret and hang you before anyone finds out.'

"They did make an attempt to permit a gesture that we could appoint counsel to defend us, but any sugestion for reputable legal representation resulted in abuse, coercion and threats."

The priest did not meet his court appointed counsel until two days before the trial. He said:

"I was led into the room by one of the prosecutors. My attorney was told, 'I give you 45 minutes to frame a realistic defense.'

"Subsequently my counsel asked me, 'Do the authorities have any incriminating data against you?'

"When I replied 'No they do not and if they had they couldn't afford to publish it for their own

Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty

sakes,' my session with my counsel was abruptly terminated.'

"Through the grapevine I subsequently heard the attorney was threatened with jail unless he could assure that I confessed."

Under this pressure Fr. Ispanky decided it was best to plead guilty and reserve his defense until the trial, when at least he would have the opportunity to speak in the presence of foreign observers.

Indications that such observers would be present became evident to the accused a few days before the trial. Fr. Ispanky said:

"Suddenly they took our clothes away and returned them pressed, but retained the trousers so as to keep the crease perfect. For a day and a night we shivered in our underclothes.

"On the morning of the trial, after a haircut, a shave and repeated inspections to make sure our boots were highly polished, we were were ready for the show. We were put into luxury sedans.

"We were driven to the court house in the Marko Street jail through the crowds—with secret police along sidewalk positions as a precaution against incidents.

"From here on we were given the fatted calf treatment and waited upon hand and foot by detectives. We were well fed, even to the point of what appeared luxurious meals served on luxury porcelain. This was the only time we slept in heated rooms."

American Refuge Sought by Seamen

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Six young Hungarian seamen jumped ship here last night and asked the American Embassy for admission to the United States.

Their spokesman said they did not want to "return to a country which again has lost its liberty."

Eleven other Hungarian sailors quit the freighter Debrecen here last Saturday to ask for American protection. The Hungarian legation in Damascus sent a representative to urge them to reconsider but "he went away rejected," American Embassy officials said.

The latest group was from the small freighter Szeged, out of Budapest.

Ether was first used as an anaesthetic in surgery in a Boston hospital and the date was October 15, 1846.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FAMOUS BOOK FRIENDS — 5

Jim Hawkins was the little English boy who had such exciting adventures in Robert Louis Stevenson's story of hidden treasure and piracy in the South Seas — "Treasure Island."

Here is Jim with Long John Silver, the rascally old one-legged sailor who served as cook on the voyage to the island. Between them is Long John's pet parrot. Captain Flint, Jim and his friends had many disasters and mutinies to deal with before their mission was successful.

Color this picture with your crayons and paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the pieces carefully. Fold the picture forward on the dotted line so the figures will stand. Cut a slit along Long John's left hand and on his shoulder, as indicated. Then, by inserting the tab at the parrot's feet, the bird can perch in either place.

(Sharon Le Tourneau, Flint, Mich., first contributed this idea. If you have a suggestion for Junior Editors send it in care of this newspaper and it may be worth $10 to you. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

UF Funds Aid Camp Fire Girl Training

The little boy next door may scoff as dainty little Campfire Girls troop into their monthly meeting, but someday he'll change his tune.

• • •

On his wedding day, however, he'll be lucky if the girl he loves was once a diligent Campfire Girl.

At least that's what the Campfire Girl program has in mind.

The program here is directed by the Pontiac council and supported by your Pontiac Area United Fund contribution.

The council is asking $14,870 from the UF to maintain next year's program for 600 to 700 girls, age 7 to 17, says executive director Mary Ellen Wyngarden.

Homemaking skills for the future wife and mother are the most important part of the girls' training, she said.

"We give a girl the sense of belonging to a group," Miss Wyngarden explained, "stressing give-and-take and mixing well with others."

At monthly meetings held at homes of volunteer group leaders—usually mothers, beginners practice sewing buttons, making aprons and serving tea.

Later they begin earning honors, symbolized by the beads sewn on their uniform jackets. Each bead represents an honor earned.

• • •

First honors for beginning seven-year-olds may be for keeping dresser drawers tidy for two months in a row. Tasks get harder as the girls get older. Girls graduate from the organization at 18.

Honors can be earned in seven fields: Homemaking, creative arts, citizenship, sports and games, business, outdoors and a field called frontiers.

Camping is a Campfire activity independent of UF support. The council itself is raising another $14,000 for day and summer camp visits. It hopes to establish a resident camp near Clarkston soon.

Publicist Peggy Lloyd, Actor Patten Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publicist Peggy Lloyd, 30, daughter of former actor Harold Lloyd, has won a divorce on testimony that her husband "suggested a breakup two weeks after our marriage."

Actor Robert Patten, she said, left her Aug. 20 in Seattle after five months. Mrs. Betty Plant, a friend of the publicist, testified at the trial yesterday:

"Three weeks after they were married he told me he hated her—that she was such a good wife he couldn't stand it."

Look how much the Big M has grown for 1957—in size, power, weight—in everything that counts in a car!

NEW WIDTH—Notice how THE BIG M's new breadth is dramatized by a massive new Jet-Flo Bumper. The oval shape of this graceful new bumper design is as functional as it is beautiful. It acts as a double bumper—provides both high and low protection. Notice the matching "twin"-styled rear bumper (right).

NEW OVERSIZED INTERIORS—There's more comfort in the front and back seats of the new BIG M. There's new hip room and leg room. As much shoulder room, for example, as in many of the most expensive cars. The floor is now recessed between the frame. The result: more headroom than ever before.

NEW LENGTH, NEW WHEELBASE—CLOSE TO TWO-TONS BIG. Every important dimension is bigger. In addition to the new length, wheelbase is a big 122 inches. And the 1957 Mercurys are up to 225 pounds heavier, too. A far lower center of gravity gives you an amazing sense of "nailed-down" stability on curves and corners.

NEW POWER—UP TO 290 HP

A 255-hp Safety-Surge engine is standard. A 290-hp Turnpike Cruiser V-8 is optional. And there are two Mercury engine "firsts." A Thermo-matic Carburetor controls the temperature of air the engine breathes. The results: extra power and economy. And, in the Montclair series, a Power-Booster Fan coasts when not needed for cooling—saves horsepower.

NEW DREAM-CAR DESIGN

1957's most advanced styling—a clean-cut, dynamic look that makes other cars look old-fashioned. The roof is gracefully slender—sweeps back out over the rear window to provide extra headroom. The tail-lights have an imaginative V-angle slant. Here's America's first production dream car—styling that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

DRAMATIC NEW FEATURES

Everywhere you look there's a new idea: an exclusive 7-position Keyboard Control that outdates ordinary, push-button transmissions, an exclusive Floating Ride with a cushioning action you have to feel to believe. You can even get a power seat that "remembers"—turn a dial and it finds your favorite seat position. But see everything. Stop in today.

We invite you to see this straight-out-of-tomorrow car today at our showroom.

State Road Plan Complicates City Parking Problem

Keego C. of C. to Discuss Orchard Lake Widening

KEEGO HARBOR — Worry that widening of Orchard Lake road in the near future will eliminate much downtown parking has set Keego Harbor businessmen to making plans.

Main topic for the Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting next Monday at 7 p.m. at Rotunda Inn is slated to be the parking problem, according to Leon Windsor, proprietor of the Green Thumb Florist.

"The parallel parking on the north side of the street is to be taken," Windsor says, "but the south side black-topped strip is privately owned."

He referred to the wide strip where vertical parking provides parking from Cass Lake road west for about a block and one half.

Ideas of how to replace the lost parking will be welcomed at the meeting.

Suggestions the C. of C. has already received, Windsor says, include the frequent state request that south-side parking be on an ugle rather than vertical. Cars entering from the southbound lane tie up traffic at the Cass Lake road light, he points out, and cars backing out of the strip and wanting to go south, often block both lanes.

Following dinner at 7 p.m., a business meeting is slated for 8 p.m.

In the parking discussion, new Chief of Police Richard Hurtubise, who is also the city's traffic engineer, will be on hand to answer questions.

Discussion of a parking lot in the downtown area is expected. Windsor says, "but the community does not have the money for such a project," he adds.

Defense Rules Sent to Citizens via Water Bills

Enclosed in some 20,000 city water bills now in the mail are wallet-size cards bearing Civil Defense safety rules in case of tornado and air raid instructions.

Three cards will be enclosed in each bill, providing plenty for the family.

School Lacking Funds

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—A $25 gift from the Lions Club will keep the Gil Hanke School for retarded children open for at least another week. Lack of funds has threatened to close the school, which was established by a group of parents. It is not eligible for state aid because its 18 pupils are not classified as "educable." The $10,000 annual operating cost has come from service clubs, civic groups and private donors.

Brandon Hires Firms

To Build Classrooms

ORTONVILLE—Contracts for a new 21-classroom high school building that will cost about $452,000 have been let by the Brandon Township board of education.

At a special meeting this week the board contracted for the building on a 53-acre site, which is also the location of the Brandon Schools elementary building. The new high school will adjoin the Brandon gym.

The school plans may be subject to changes that may be recommended by architects, Smith and Smith of Birmingham.

Contractors are Smith Andrews of Oak Park, architectural work, Steve Kruchko, of Drayton Plains, mechanical, sewers and water, and Fred W. Moote, Inc., of Pontiac, electrical.

According to Supt. E. J. Hungerford, the building will include home economics, industrial arts, science, commercial and music rooms.

With the building of the Belle-Ann four-room elementary building which is almost complete and stands west of Kearsley Creek and north of East Glass road, about a mile south of Ortonville, cost to the taxpayers will be eight dollars per $1,000 on property valuation on an equalized basis.

Cost of the present bond, issued in 1954, is six dollars per $1,000, making a total cost of $14 per $1,000 of property valuation.

The length of the bond issue, which was voted on last March for the new buildings and is for $650,000, is over a period of 25 years.

Manslaughter Charge Jails Local Man

John A. Killen, 24, of 986 Durant St., was bound over to the Oakland County Circuit Court following an examination on a manslaughter charge before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy Thursday.

He was remanded to the county jail under a reduced bond of $1,500 following the hearing to await the Circuit Court appearance Nov. 26.

An elderly Ortonville couple died as a result of injuries suffered Nov. 3 when their car was allegedly struck from behind and forced off the road into a tree by a vehicle driven by Killen.

Mrs. Allie Mitchell, 72, of 4605 Groveland Rd., was dead on arrival at Goodrich Hospital following the crash at M15 and Oakhill roads in Brandon Township. Her husband, Ernest Z., 74, died there several days later. Killen has told police he did not see the Mitchell car ahead of him before ramming into it.

Prefers Township Incorporation

Supervisor Sees Avon as City

Rochester's growth is not confined to its village limits. In fact the area immediately surrounding Rochester has grown even faster in the past few years than has the village. Supervisor Cyril E. Miller of Avon Township estimates that the township will double in population by 1960.

"Avon Township, including Rochester, had a population of 13,182 in the federal census of 1950," he pointed out. Rochester's 4,279 was included in this total. "I would estimate that our present total population today is between 17,000 and 18,000. By 1960 it should be at least 25,000.

"It would be higher," he added, "were it not for the fact that we are being more particular today in approving new subdivisions. In 1953 we established the present minimum size for a residential lot at 20,000 square feet. Subdivisions with somewhat smaller lots will be approved only if the subdividers provide their own sewer and water systems.

"Now every request for approval of a suggested subdivision plat or for an individual building permit has to be accompanied by a soil percolation test showing it will provide a suitable drainage field for septic tanks. On Sept. 1 this rule was adopted countywide and it is a good move.

* * *

"Our township zoning commission also is helping us a lot, as is our area planning group. However, the work of the latter is being held up by the move to incorporate Rochester as a city and taking in a much larger area.

TOWNSHIP INCORPORATION

"Personally I would prefer to see the whole township incorporated as a city than to see three or four smaller cities formed out of the township. It would produce better government than a hodge podge of smaller cities wthin so small an area.

"Our township already maintains two fire departments, Avondale and Brooklands. We look forward to the establishment of a third department at Adams and Walton. We are hopeful that such a site may be made available. If this occurs, we will name this our Meadowbrook Department.

"We have one of the finest areas in Oakland County for development, and we plan to see that it is developed so that the whole area will continue to be an attractive community in which to live."

A few other figures provided by Avon Township officers show the growth in population. Building permits in the township outside of Rochester for the year to date total $5,953,844. This includes permits for 375 homes, in addition to commercial buildings, additions, garages, etc. The biggest single permit was $680,000 for the North Hill Shopping Center which will include a whole group of stores.

Assessed valuation figures likewise show swift growth. Five years ago total assessed valuation of the township outside of Rochester was $9,290,850. This year this has climbed to $14,039,650.

Voters' registrations also show a big increase. Total registrations for the whole township, including Rochester, in 1952, were 6,683. This year registrations hit 8,629, a gain of almost one-third.

* * *

The township recently acquired its first water system in the area bounded by Auburn, Rochester and Livernois Roads.

It maintains the Avon Township Library, Avon Township Park and Avon Township Cemetery. All these are financed by the township share of the state sales tax.

The annual report shows that township taxes bring in $32,000, state tax money accounts for $40,000, and fees and other income $18,000.

The township clerk has complete township records from 1835 to date of all town meetings and assessment rolls. The first roll contained 14 pages, with only about 18 entries to the page, written in longhand. Today the annual roll fills six large typewritten volumes.

* * *

Avon at present maintains no township surface drains or sewers. It hires police protection from the sheriff's department, which provides four deputies.

In addition to Supervisor Miller, Avon Township officers include Frances O. Covert, clerk; Helen V. Allen, treasurer; Luther C. Green and William G. Warren, justices; and Earl Dean and Elmer LeBlond, trustees.

Joe Schmidt Proves Key in Lions' Surge to Top

DETROIT (AP) — Joltin' Joe Schmidt may be a little pint-sized when you stack him up against other linebackers in the National Football League.

But the 218-pound middle linebacker for the Detroit Lions is the talk of the league with his devastating defensive work in the first seven games.

'He's one of the big reasons why we've won six games," says coach Buddy Parker, whose club won only three games in 1955.

Schmidt played his college ball at the University of Pittsburgh and is captain of the Lions in this, his fourth year with the club. He led the NFL in fumble recoveries last season and was named his team's most valuable player.

Defensive coach Buster Ramsey calls Schmidt "the best man in the league at his position, and by far the finest tackler in the league."

The Lions use a four-man line with three linebackers. As the middle man backing up, the 24-year-old Schmidt uses his quickness along with a quick diagnosis of opponents' plays to get a hand in on about 60 per cent of the Detroit tackles.

"He thinks quickly and reacts better than any linebacker I've ever seen," said Ramsey. "He's a smart player and we've had good success with Joe calling defensive signals."

* * *

The Lions will have the rugged Schmidt back at his familiar post when the vengeful Baltimore Colts visit Briggs Stadium Sunday.

Earlier in the season Detroit trimmed the Colts, 31-14, and Sunday's game is a must for the Lions in order to stay in a deadlock with the Chicago Bears who meet the LA Rams in the Windy City.

Both teams are 6-1, and could very well hold the deadlock until their December 2nd meeting in Detroit.

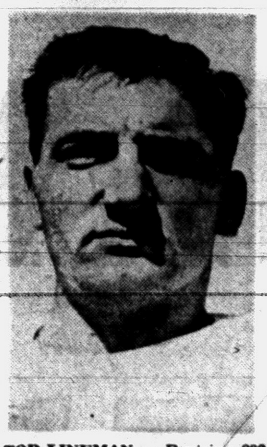
* * *

The Lions have a somewhat stronger offense than a year ago, but Parker says four moves in the defense brought on the biggest improvement in the club.

Gil Mains was moved from defensive tackle to defensive end; Ray Krouse was obtained in a trade and inserted as a defensive tackle; Bob Long was shifted from defensive end to a linebacking job, and Schmidt was moved to the middle linebacking post. Then there was the return of defensive halfback Yale Lary from service.

Rookie Gene Cronin of the College of the Pacific has been filling in since Mains was hurt a couple of weeks ago.

"Schmidt is the big difference though," Parker asserted, "I haven't got time now, but when the season is over I'm going to take a look at all the films to see just how much tackling he's been doing. Every game I'm a little more amazed at him."



TOP LINEMAN — Bruising 232 pound Oregon State tackle, John Witte, was the Associated Press Lineman-of-the-Week this week after his performance against Stanford last Saturday. By winning, Oregon State has just about cinched the Rose Bowl slot.

Watch for All-State Teams

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's sports writers met this week in Lansing to select the Associated Press all-state high school football teams.

Bruins Win 7th Straight Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's easy to see why the Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings are running one-two in the National Hockey League today.

The Red Wings can't lose a game on home ice and the Bruins, at least during the past two weeks, just can't lose . . . period.

Both won last night. Boston beat the Black Hawks 5-3 at Chicago for its seventh straight to retain its one-point first place lead over Detroit.

The other teams were idle.

Don McKenney fired two goals and assisted in a third as the Bruins buried the Black Hawks deeper in the cellar. Ed Litzenberger had a hand in all Chicago's scoring, netting two goals and assisting in the other score. The Black Hawks have won but two of their 15 games.

Gabe Paul's publicized offer of $300,000 for Don Newcombe was good publicity (for the Reds) even though the offer was turned down.

It also makes it tough for rival clubs to impress their prospective season-ticket purchasers.

Any club that tries to look big, waving $100,000 around in a budget for new players, is going to look like mighty small potatoes now.

Still Hopes for Bowl Bid

'M' Faces Hoosier Aerials

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's sputtering Wolverines, cautiously hopeful of a back-door bid to the Rose Bowl, tangle tomorrow with an Indiana team whose chief distinction is a loss to Notre Dame.

The Hoosiers, victims in Notre Dame's only win of the season, are plagued by defensive leaks and Michigan is a heavy favorite in this Big Ten tussle.

A win for Michigan, coupled with an Iowa loss to Ohio State and a Minnesota defeat by Michigan State, would leave the Wolverines in a contending spot for the Pasadena classic. The bowl picture then would have to await the outcome of the Ohio State-Michigan game in Columbus Nov. 24 to clear up.

"We have four backs who can do a good job of passing," said a Hoosier spokesman. "We don't anticipate good success against that Michigan line."

Coach Bernie Crimmins said earlier Indiana would "do just as well as our defense does." But the defense yielded a record 465 yards to Ohio State a week ago and has shown little sign of strength in three other conference games. The Hoosiers are 1-3 in the Big Ten and 3-4 overall.

The Wolverines, who have been beaten twice while winning three times in the conference, aren't talking about post-season action. They have learned—the hard way—that it doesn't pay to get too optimistic about Big Ten titles and Rose Bowl invitations.

Just two seasons ago the Hoosiers, directed by Florian Helinski, whacked the heavily-favored Michigan crew 13-9 and it was one of just two league defeats administered to the Wolverines.

Michigan avenged that one with a 30-0 victory last season and holds a 17-5 edge in the series dating back to 1900.

There are no serious injuries on either squad, although Michigan halfback Terry Barr will not be at full strength. The senior back, best defensive back on the club, has been on a limited-action basis for nearly a month because of a knee injury then an ankle hurt.

Giardello Batters Cotton in Comeback

MILWAUKEE (INS) — Middleweight Joey Giardello tidied up his comeback record last night with a convincing decision over veteran Charley Cotton in a 10-round bout at Milwaukee.

Cotton had won decisions over Giardello in two televised fights, somewhat delaying the Philadelphia boxer's climb back to a contending position for the championship.

Giardello enjoyed a seven pound weight pull, weighing in at 159¼ pounds to 152 for his opponent from Toledo, O. A crowd of 5,218 paid $16,202 to see the fight.

Hunters Told to Tote Deer on Auto Tops

Tieing 'em on Hood May Spoil Meat by Heat of Engine

Prof. Warren W. Chase says hunters who drive today's fenderless cars up north may run into trouble toting their kill of deer home.

Some of them, he says, will tie the deer to the hoods of their cars, running the risk that engine heat may spoil both meat and hide. To be safe, he suggests, tie the deer to the roof of the car.

In other matches, Capitol Barber defeated General Conveyor, 4-2; Newberry Market downed Bethany Baptist, 4-2, and Fleet Carrier trimmed Frayer's, 4-2.

New Faces on Spartan 38-Man Travel Roster

EAST LANSING (AP)—There were a lot of new faces among a 38-man traveling roster today as the Michigan State football squad took off for its battle for survival Saturday with Minnesota in the Big Ten title race.

The MSU squad and coaches flew by chartered plane to Minneapolis this morning in time for an afternoon workout in Memorial Stadium.

On paper, the Spartans, with a loss only to Illinois this season, should be the favorite. Michigan State is rated third in the nation and Minnesota, with a 4-1-1 record, is 17th.

But injuries have made the power of Michigan State's reserves a crucial point in any point-swapping in bets on the game.

* * *

Ends Tony Kolodziej and Dave Kaiser plus center and team captain John Matsko are doubtful starters because of leg hurts.

A half dozen other players may not be operating at their full potential because of nagging minor injuries.

* * *

State's chances for an undisputed Big Ten title rest on the slender hope that Iowa and Ohio State will play to a tie and that Michigan then will beat the Buckeyes. It's more likely that the Spartans might tie for the championship with either Ohio State or Iowa.

Minnesota must win to remain in the race for the Rose Bowl bid —but automatically loses if Iowa knocks off Ohio State.

In the Big Ten statistics, State rates first defensively and third in offense. The Gophers are second in defense and fourth in Big Ten offense.

* * *

The MSU squad was forced indoors by rain last night in its last home practice before the game. The practice was cut to shortly more than an hour of signal drill inside Jenison Fieldhouse.

A sellout Dad's Day crowd of 63,000 will turn out for the game in the horseshoe-shaped Minnesota Memorial Stadium.

Dozen Seniors Play Last Time for Wolverines

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A dozen Michigan seniors will step onto the turf of Michigan stadium for the last time Saturday when the Wolverines play Indiana.

Three Area Prep 11's Keep Titles

It was a bad year for defending league champions in Oakland County area prep football ranks.

Only three defending titleholders were able to repeat out of eight league races conducted throughout the area this season.

The three successful high schools were Orchard Lake St. Mary, Imlay City and New Haven.

Despite being upended by Highland Park St. Benedict in their last game of the season, the St. Mary Eaglets still managed to win their 2nd straight Suburban Catholic League crown.

Imlay City was heavily favored to retain the South Central Conference title and the Spartans didn't disappoint by mowing down all league foes with ease.

New Haven, defending titlist in the Southern Thumb League, succeeded in keeping the diadem, but the Rockets were forced to share honors with strong Almont. Each team finished with a 5-0-1 record.

New champions were crowned in all other area conferences.

Walled Lake in the Inter-Lakes Conference, East Detroit in the Eastern Michigan League, Clawson in the Oakland B, Northville in the Wayne-Oakland and Lake Shore in the Bi-County were all newcomers to the throne.

Those schools that failed to repeat did so with a grand flop. Birmingham, Madison, Clarenceville, and Center Line each finished in the bottom half of the final standings. Inter-Lakes defender Van Dyke had the best luck with a 3rd place finish.

Cranbrook, defending Inter-State League champion, suffered through a dismal season and wound up in a tie for the cellar with Shady Side of Pittsburgh.

The Saginaw Valley champion will not be officially decided until Thanksgiving Day when Flint Central tangles with unbeaten Flint Northern. A Central win would force the Vikings to divide the crown with Bay City.

Vols May Be Next

Many Jinxed by Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tennessee's unbeaten Volunteers find out tomorrow whether their spanking-new No. 1 national ranking is a genuine vote of confidence or just a kiss of death — as it has been for Michigan State, UCLA, Michigan and Notre Dame in recent years.

The Vols, with All-American prospect Johnny Majors calling the turn for their steady single-wing attack, meet in-and-out Mississippi while trying to elude the jinx only Oklahoma, Maryland and Ohio State have escaped since 1953.

* * *

Tennessee, closing in on the Southeastern Conference crown and a bid to either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl, gained the top spot in this week's Associated Press poll after defeating Georgia Tech 7-0. But the Vols took possession from Oklahoma by only two points.

* * *

The last team to oust Oklahoma was Michigan State. That was three weeks ago — and the then unbeaten Spartans were upset on the spot by Illinois 20-13.

A year ago, UCLA led the poll after one game — and on the second weekend of the season lost to Maryland 7-0. Three weeks later, Michigan replaced Maryland as No. 1 — only to run into a 14-13 scare by Minnesota, that proved a review to a 25-6 upset by Illinois two weeks later.

* * *

In 1954, Notre Dame held the top spot in the second week of the season — and was promptly bopped by Purdue 27-14.

Delay Hearing on 'Any-Deer'

Circuit Court Session on Cancellation Order Indefinitely Postponed

LANSING (AP) — A circuit court hearing on an order asking for cancelation of the special any-deer season was indefinitely postponed yesterday.

The petition, asking the state conservation commission to show cause why the season should not be stopped, was scheduled for hearing Wednesday in Ingham County Circuit Court.

A jam-up of jury cases and the illness of one of the circuit court judges forced the postponement. The case now is tentatively scheduled for early next week.

Lloyd McKim, operator of a Lansing sporting goods store, asked for the order, contending he was discriminated against in the issuance of special season licenses.

* * *

McKim specified in his petition that he wanted to stop the Dec. 1-2 special season, when most of the hunting permits will be issued.

He did not mention the special seasons starting today in portions of Lake, Newaygo, Manistee, Mason, Wexford and Osceola counties and on Bois Blanc Island.

Collins Two-Sport Star

STAR IN ACTION — Rick Casares (35) who leads the National Football League in total offense, demonstrates some finger-tip control in hauling down a pass against the 49ers recently. Casares has been one of the big reasons for the Chicago Bears' string of six straight since losing the opening game.

No Big Deals for Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Frank Lane, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, says the club isn't good enough to stand pat on for next season but he indicates he won't make a large number of deals.

* * *

"I do think our present list has a greater degree of permanency," Lane said yesterday.

Only 12 of the 41 players on the Cards' 1957 roster started and finished the 1956 season with the club but Lane said "you don't do that every year." The Cards finished fourth.

* * *

"For one thing," he said, "I believe such players as Ken Boyer, Don Blasingame, Stan Musial, Hal Smith and Wally Moon are well fixed in their positions and we just might be able to stabilize our outfield situation and pitching with men we already have."

Lane is still talking with Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh about possible trades.

Miami Favored to End Clemson Bowl Bid Hopes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Clemson College Tigers, stalking a post-season Orange Bowl date, and University of Miami match undefeated teams tonight on the gridiron Clemson hopes to revisit.

* * *

A victory for Clemson, leader of the Atlantic Coast Conference, would bolster the Tigers' bid as New Year's Day Orange Bowl opponents of Colorado.

Miami was rated a seven-point favorite in tonight's clash. Advance ticket sales indicated about 50,000 persons, the season's top Orange Bowl crowd to date, would be on hand for the kickoff at 8:15 p.m. EST.

All-Star Bowling to Open Nov. 30

CHICAGO (AP)—The 16th annual All-Star bowling tournament, with a field of 224 men and women, will be held at the Chicago Coliseum Nov. 30-Dec. 9.

No Fishing This Year

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — The saddest words of rod and reel men among members of the Big Lake Hunting and Fishing Club are that the lake is dry and thousands of fish perished.

The drought turned the 105-acre basin into a baked mud puddle. Sid E. Weseman, secretary of the club, says only once before in the 60-year history of the organization has the lake been dry.

ON SCORING SPREE — Norm Ullman, who was moved into the line with Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, blasted his 4th and 5th goals of the season as the Red Wings defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-2 on Detroit ice last night.

Wings Whip Maple Leafs, 4-2

DETROIT (AP) — Promoting Norm Ullman to the Red Wing production line with Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe has paid off for the Detroit National Hockey League club.

Ullman blasted in a pair of goals last night as the Wings defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2. They were the stocky center's 4th and 5th tallies of the season.

Last night's victory wasn't enough to put Detroit at the top of the NHL standings. The Boston Bruins kept their one-point edge by whipping the Black Hawks 5-3 at Chicago.

In four meetings with the Wings this year, Toronto has salvaged only a tie. The youthful and eager Leafs have frequently sprayed rubber all over the Detroit zone only to slacken off in the final period. That's what happened last night.

They forced Detroit goalie Glenn Hall to make 29 stops while the Wings touched Chadwick for only 20. Gerry James made it a tie game slipping in to deflect Billy Harris' airborne pass just 56 seconds after the final period opened.

* * *

Up to then the teams had been evenly matched. After a scoreless first period, Dea broke the ice midway in the second with a blazing 25-footer after Dutch Reibel had dug the puck away from a pair of Leafs.

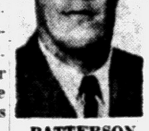
Area Hunters Slowed Up by Persistent Rainfall

By JACK PATTERSON
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

CURRAN—Yesterday we promised a blow by blow description of opening day activities of the Sleepy Hollow group. A splash by splash description would be more accurate. It rained so hard Thursday that by nightfall the water was over the cabin's pimsoll mark (winter). After breakfast the downpour was such that the intrepid Hollowers, who must remain anonymous, dared not sally forth. Desultory firing around our perimiter finally made us too itchy to sit still and with morbid visions of aging early birds getting all the worms we hastily grouped forces and took the field.



PATTERSON

We'd have been far better off staying in bed until noon, or for that matter, until 4 o'clock. It took until then for a member of long standing to stumble in front of an eight-pointer and with a quick and lucky shot through the persistant drizzle, tumble him to the ground.

There has been some criticism of the writer for not getting an easy limit on opening day but we answer all charges with the assertion that we shoot nothing by dry deer.

* * *

Thursday aside from the rain would have been a perfect still-hunting day had the fickle breeze steadied down to one direction. The advantages of quiet conditions underfoot was largely cancelled by heavy, still air.

Snow was promised for last night asd should help a great deal, not because snow improves tracking but because deer, which are mainly nocturnal feeders, will feed throughout the day if it's snowing. Hence more opportunity to clobber them during legal daylight hours.

Local hunters report varying results. Deer aren't moving too much and successful hunters are fewer than recent openings would average. Rain or no rain, though, our local citizens continue to fill up the woods.

A random check would turn up many a group like that near Red Oak that consists of Dr. H. A. Miller, Charles Manz, Carrol Braid Tom Hruska, Bob Bradely and Buhl Burt. Other waterproof deer slayers in the party include Augie Johnson Glenn Hickson, Harry Setter, Bud Seiser, Al Miller, Ron Smith and Leon Bigger.

We haven't any last minute reports on how this party is faring in this year of the big rains.

Just give us a bit of snow and we'll really get into action. Our one successful hunter is getting mighty hard to live with. We'll have to shoot at least a ten-pointer today or drown him in the creek.

Fry Plays Gibson in Tennis Finals

SYDNEY (AP)—Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Althea Gibson of New York made it an All-American final by winning their semifinal matches today in the New South Wales women's tennis championship.

In blistering heat of more than 92 degrees Miss Fry staved off two match points and rallied to defeat Beryl Penrose of New South Wales 5-7, 8-6, 6-1. Miss Gibson beat Mary Carter, also of New South Wales, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 in a rain-interrupted match.

One Mount Is Enough

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Erb had one mount at Jamaica but that was enough the day he won the Gallant Fox Handicap with Summer Tan. The 4-year-old colt earned $57,600, with 10 per cent of the winner's share going to the veteran jockey who piloted Needles to victory in the Kentucky Derby last spring.

Michigan State cross-country runner Henry Kennedy lowered the Penn State five-mile course record in 1956 by almost one minute. He was timed in 25:20.2 in a dual meet.

Morrall Given Draft Respite

MUSKEGON (AP) — The Muskegon County draft board today approved a deferment for San Francisco 49er football star Earl Morrall on grounds that he and his wife are expecting a child.

Walter F. Moessner, head of the board, reported the decision after a special meeting. He said the deferment, under the classification 1A-fathers, cancels Morrall's notice to report for induction.

Morrall, former Michigan State University quarterback from Muskegon, now is first string quarterback for the 49ers of the National Football League. He had received notice last week to report for induction Dec. 10 but asked a deferment on grounds that his wife is expecting a child.

Morrall also listed plans to return to school for an engineering degree.

Title, Rose Bowl Trip

Iowa Hopes Rest on Beating OSU

* * *

* * *

For most of their 67 years of intercollegiate football, the Iowa Hawkeyes have been a second division team in the Western Conference.

In November of Evy's fifth season at Iowa, the Hawkeyes are just one game away from sharing, and possibly winning outright, their first conference championship since 1921. They shared the title with Michigan in 1922.

* * *

Blocking Iowa's path tomorrow in its final Big Ten game of the season is the might of Ohio State. The Buckeyes, undefeated in four Big Ten games this year and with a 17-game conference winning streak, are bidding for an unprecedented third successive title.

An Iowa victory would have further compensation in the Hawkeyes' first Rose Bowl engagement. Even in defeat Iowa could be the Rose Bowl nominee if the results of other conference games are favorable.

The 1956 Hawkeyes, with a 4-1 record, are no match in depth or manpower for Ohio State, No. 2 team in the nation in rushing offense with an average of 305 yards per game. But Iowa has shown an awesome will-to-win in conquering six of seven opponents. Often heroic on defense and ranking seventh in rushing defense, Iowa will need all its finesse and power to keep Buckeye backs Don Clark, Jim Roseboro and Galen Cisco in check.

The line play will be as ferocious as any seen in football. Ohio's starting line, fortified by 251-pound guard Jim Parker, will average 210 pounds. Led by such huskies as 235-pound Alex Karras and 250-pound Dick Klein, Iowa's will average two pounds less.

As 58,400 persons jam Iowa Stadium, the memory of Oct. 25, 1952, here will return to many. It was on that date that Evashevski, in his freshman season as Iowa coach, produced his first of many surprises. The Hawkeyes stunned Ohio State, 8-0.

If he has a surprise planned for the invading Buckeyes, he isn't letting on. But the 38-year-old coach has rightfully earned the title of "master of the unexpected."

'Jumpers' Paradise

Tracks in Maryland Pay Off on Low Odds

BALTIMORE (AP) — The "bridge jumpers" have found paradise at Pimlico.

"Bridge jumpers" are heavy gamblers shooting for a profit of 10 cents on a dollar. They get their nickname from an old story that some heavy plungers committed suicide by jumping off bridges after shooting their bankroll on a "sure thing."

* * *

The way they operate is to wait for a hot favorite and bet as much as they can scrape on it—not to win, but for third.

* * *

Regardless of how low the odds, the tracks in Maryland are required by law to pay off 10 cents for each dollar. This, the big sports say, is bigger and quicker than buying stocks.

Sometimes the amount of money in the till isn't sufficient to pay off the legal rate of 10 cents. In that case, the track must come up with the money on its own and it is known as a minus pool.

* * *

Pimlico has been stuck with four such pools in three days, an almost unheard of rate. It has cost the track a total of $12,529.

The 10-cent percentage boys ran into a ripe situation on opening day. There were six horses in a race and one of the better starters was part of a triple entry, or half the field.

It cost Pimlico $1,280.

* * *

On Wednesday, the "bridge jumpers" went to the well twice. They picked out a horse which would have returned only 70 cents on the dollar if it won, which it did, and bet it third. That put the track in the hole for $3,008. On another race, they settled on a horse going off at the same odds and collected on him for third. Pimlico got off for only $459.

* * *

Yesterday, a horse offering $3 for $2 to win on the board was the tempter. There was so much betting on him for third that the track found itself $7,682.18 short.

Pimlico has 26 more days to go and the bridge jumpers are sending out the word: "Come on, the water's fine."

Looks Like a Rivalry

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Coach George France, whose Huntington Douglass high school football team downed Buffalo of Accoville, 45-0, said: "I just couldn't get the boys up for this one. When you play a ball club with such a poor record as Buffalo's, it's hard to get the boys in the right spirit," he explained.

Buffalo coach Knute Burrows, whose team hadn't won a game this year, had some things to say about undefeated Douglass, too.

"We have played a lot better teams," he answered. "Up where we play, the teams hit a lot harder."

Camera Shy Fillies

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — In 19 runnings of the Delaware Park Handicap, a $150,000 race for fillies and mares, the camera has been called on to decide only three winners. Plucky Maude was the easiest winner in 1945, romping home by eight lengths.

'Whales Offer Big Show

The show by hammer throwing whales in the Olympic Games is certain to be one of the classic battles of the 16th Olympiad.

* * *

Two American whales, Harold Connolly and Cliff Blair, are expected to lock hammers with the Soviet Union's Mikhail Krivonosov with everyone else standing back to give the behemoths room.

* * *

Each of the three has held the world hammer record at least once. Each is a big bruiser and a fierce competitor who thinks the silly looking practice of throwing a ball and chain is the most important thing on earth.

* * *

Both Connolly and Blair are from Boston or nearby. The New England corner of the United States is the only place where hammer throwing is very popular.

* * *

The hammer event will be Nov. 24 and nearly everyone's favorite right now is Connolly, a 220-pounder. Connolly has an afflicted left arm, but that has bothered him not at all.

* * *

He recently bettered Krivonosov's world mark. The Bostonian hung the ball and chain on the moon with a 224 foot 10½ inch heave.

"Connolly is a great thrower, of course," said Russian track and field Coach Gabriel Korobkov, "but we think Rkivonosov is the world's best. He is most consistent.

* * *

"Three times Americans have taken Krivonosov's world records from him and each time he has come back to take the record again. Both Russians and Americans admire that kind of fighter."

* * *

The accepted world mark of 211½ belongs to Krivonosov who also has done 220-10¾.

Blair, the biggest man of the three at 6-4 and 220 pounds, held the world mark once with a 216-4½ throw. Blair's home is at Hingham, Mass.

Russia's second thrower is Anatoly Samotsvetov, but neither he nor Albert Hall of Hoboken, N.J., is thought to be quite in a class with the big three.

SNOW CENTERS GETTING READY—Here is a typical scene around Michigan when the ski season gets under way. Centers all over Michigan are now ready for action. This is "tournament hill" at Caberfae Ski area in Cadillac which last year hosted 47,000 people to its 27 runs and 27 tows. During the past summer more than $60,000 was spent for improving the area. Caberfae is a non-profit corporation operating on National Forest Land. There are 21 sports centers in the state which are now preparing for the winter season.

Winter Centers Set to Go

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn. reports a total of 21 winter sports centers—one with its own snow-making machine and another offering baby sitting service—preparing for operations this season.

Citing increased popularity in winter sports, the report also noted four new recreational areas included in the West Michigan total.

The new areas are Harbor Highlands, three miles north of Harbor Springs; Ward Hills, between Ludington and Baldwin; Brady's Hill, between Lakeview and Amble, and Mt. McSauba, one mile north of Charlevoix.

The snow machine is being installed at Boyne Mountain, completing expansions and improvements to continue its rating as one of the top 10 ski resorts in the nation.

Caberfae, near Cadillac, recently announced completion of a $60,000 improvement program. It expects to attract more than the record number of 47,000 skiers who used its facilities last season.

Mt. Mancelona, formerly operated by the Mancelona Chamber of Commerce has been purchased by private interests and has been remodeled in anticipation of more patrons.

Mainistee ski area offers baby sitting service in an effort to stimulate family skiing in that area, located 16 miles east of the city in the Udell Hills of the Manistee National Forest.

Near the luxurious Boyne Mountain resort is Avalanche, a municipally operated ski area within the boundaries of Boyne City.

* * *

Others, dotted throughout West Michigan, are:

Briar Hill near Mesick; Newaygo County Sports Park; Petoskey Winter Sports Park; Lake Valley Resort near Kalkaska; Missaukee Mountain near Lake City; Glacier Hills at Bellaire; Elberta Mountain at Elberta; Brock County Park near Ionia and Echo Valley, midway between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

Many of the areas are lighted for night skiing, tobagganing or ice skating. Most of the resorts offer food and lounge facilities for the convenience of patrons taking a timeout from their outdoors sports pursuits.

Turner Wins Decision Over Ruben Hernandez

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nick Turner, Columbus, Ohio, 169½, gained a unanimous decision over Ruben Hernandez, San Francisco, 167, in a 10-rounder last night at the Olympic Auditorium.

Hernandez had scored 20 knockouts in 26 professional fights and he tried desperately in the late rounds to put Turner away, but couldn't land the clincher.

Two Coaches Also Skate

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jackie Gordon of the Cleveland Barons and Frank Mathers of the Hershey Bears are both playing coaches in the American Hockey League. And both hold scoring records. Gordon started the season as a freshman coach with a total of 564 points, high for active players in the league. Mathers opened the season with 314 points, high for a defenseman.

Patterson Trains on Muddy Track

CHICAGO (AP)—Floyd Patterson, who at 21 aspires to become the youngest world heavyweight boxing champion in history, is proving to be quite a "mudder."

Rain turned Sportsman's Park horse racing oval into mud yesterday but Patterson found it to his liking. He jogged around the track for 2½ miles for his road work.

Patterson is in training for his heavyweight title shot against Archie Moore in Chicago Stadium Nov. 30. Moore, the light, heavyweight king, remains a steady 8-5 favorite.

Full-Scale Tuneup

U. S. Tops Bendigo Entries

MELBOURNE (AP) — Jim Kelly, head coach of the U.S. Olympic track and field forces, set off grumbling among some squad members today by posting a list of entries for almost every event in tomorrow's third preview meet.

While none of the U.S. athletes would say so publicly, some were not happy over the prospect of the full day's outing to Bendigo.

One American star, a prospective gold medal winner, declined use of his name, but said "I think it's silly to send the kids out just before the games."

The Olympics open officially Thursday.

The U.S. entry at Bendigo, some 90 miles northwest of Melbourne, will be the largest, with most nations deciding on only a token team because of the cold, rainy weather which has thus far held workouts to a minimum.

Russia, which originally had entered a number of athletes for the warmup meet, withdrew its team, and Gabriel Korobkov, the Soviet's top coach, said the Russians will not take part in any international competition until the Games get under way.

The United States did not enter the first of the trial meets, arriving just a day or so before it was scheduled. The Americans were on hand at Geelong Wednesday night, however, and dominated the competition—which Russia skipped.

Kelly has designated entries for all but the discus, hammer, walking, steeplechase and marathon with the 800-meters likely to be the highlight event of the meet.

That one sends Tom Courtney, Arnie Sowell and Lon Supurrier of the United States against Norway's brilliant Audun Boysen. The Australian record is 1:50.4 set by John Landy. But that mark should be bettered by about two seconds.

Girls Will Be Girls Even at Olympic Games

Carin Cone, cute blonde teenager from Ridgewood, N.J., and England's Judy Grinham, two of the leading contenders for the women's 100-meter Olympic backstroke swimming gold medal, met for the first time today and what do you think they talked about? Clothes, natch.

"No kidding," said 16-year-old Carin. "that's all we talked about. We didn't say a word about swimming."

Carin, American champion and U.S. record-holder for the century backstroke of 1:14.5 and world record-holder at 200-meters with 2:43.8, hasn't lost a race since the U.S. National in April of 1955. She won't predict victory in the Olympics but said. "I'm not scared of anyone and will give it all I've got."

Owens Believes Records Are Made to Be Broken

MELBOURNE (AP)—Jesse Owens, America's one-man gang at the 1936 Olympics, said today he believes records are made to be broken — "and I don't care what country a boy represents because a broken record means progress in athletics."

Owens, here as one of several personal representatives of President Eisenhower, received the warmest and longest ovation yet extended a guest at the daily press conference.

* * *

It followed his remarks concerning the 1936 Games in Berlin.

"I didn't go to Berlin to shake hands with Hitler," the American Negro said who was snubbed by the German dictator.

* * *

"I went there to run and run I did and I had a wonderful time. I'm sorry if Hitler didn't. But thanks to the Olympics I am here today — where he is, I don't know."

Owens still owns the world broad jump record and a share of the 100-meter dash mark.

* * *

In closing, Owens said he wouldn't mind if someone broad jumps 26 feet 4½ inches — "but not 26 5⅜".

That's his Olympic record.

Plan U.S.-Soviet Track Meet

MELBOURNE (AP) — American and Russian athletic chiefs, pausing in their discussions to down seven vodka toasts, today completed tentative plans for a series of home-and-home dual track meets between the two countries beginning next August in Moscow.

The first meet in the United States, possibly in July 1958, probably would be held in Los Angeles or New York.

The United States-Soviet plan, introduced by the Russians, was believed by track veterans here to be unprecedented between the two nations.

It was the major development of yet another dreary, rainy day that found the weather shortening and in some cases shelving workouts by Olympic athletes with the Games only five days away.

* * *

Because of the weather, most of the nations entered in tomorrow's warmup meet at Bendigo decided to enter only token teams. But the United States, which dominated the preview competitions at Geelong Wednesday night, will have entries in all events except the discus, hammer, walking, steeplechase and marathon.

Russia again has decided to pass up the warmup competition, as it did at Geelong. The Soviets have announced they will not take part in any international competition until the Games.

* * *

The Soviets, who have come out of their shell on a man-to-man basis, sent U.S. officials an invitation for an informal talk on the dual meet series this morning, and the Americans accepted, strolling to Russian headquarters two blocks away in the Olympic Village.

* * *

The U.S. officials, headed by Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the American Amateur Athletic Union, were ushered to an upstairs room for the meeting. The discussion, which grew warmer with each toast, lasted a half hour.

Afterward, Ferris said "we are viewing the idea favorably. I think there is a good chance of working it out."

Constantine Kupi, Ferris' Soviet counterpart, said "we are most anxious to arrange this series of meets which we think would be a great thing for sportsmen of both countries."

* * *

Track and field director Leonid Khomenkov and coaches Gabriel Korobkov and Dmitri Markov were on hand for the Russians.

NBA's Strength in West's Fives

Pistons and Lakes Win While Syracuse Bows to Warriors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Basketball Assn. season has a long way to go yet but early indications are that most of the strength this year lies in the West.

* * *

In the three intersectional games played last night, the Western teams won two. The night before, the West took two out of two.

* * *

Ft. Wayne beat the Boston Celtics 98-95. The Pistons are last in the Western Division and the Celtics are first in the East.

* * *

The Minneapolis Lakers, another Western club, squelched a late Syracuse rally to defeat the Nationals 103-96 for the second straight conquest of an Eastern team. The Lakers whipped Boston Wednesday night.

* * *

Philadelphia, the lone Eastern winner, had to come from behind to conquer the Rochester Royals 92-83 in a game played at Hershey, Pa. Trailing 67-61 at the start of the fourth quarter, the Warriors rolled up 31 points to win.

Johnson Gets Break in Bout With Carter

* * *

A Garden main event and a national radio-television shot (NBC at 10 p.m. EST) gives Johnson a great opportunity. However they are doing him no favors in giving him Carter as an opponent.

* * *

Carter, 22, is one of the few young men of promise in the heavyweight class. Although he fought only 24 bouts for a 20-2-2 record, he already is ranked high in the division. The National Boxing Assn. rates him No. 7 and Ring Magazine makes him No. 6.

Tigers Need Victory to Aid Bowl Hopes

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Missouri meets the powerful Oklahoma Sooners in a game here Saturday that could, conceivably, rekindle the Tigers' Orange Bowl hopes and redeem the final season of Coach Don Faurot.

* * *

Only by knocking the No. 2 ranked Sooners from their seemingly permanent perch atop the Big Seven Conference can the gasping Tigers keep alive their bowl chances.

* * *

Colorado, which tied the Tigers 14-14 last week, ended conference play with a 4-1-1 mark and will finish second to undefeated Oklahoma—good for the Orange Bowl bid—unless Missouri should upset the Sooners.

Weill Waiting to See Prospect

MONTREAL (AP)—Al Weill, who managed Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight boxing championship, arrived in Montreal last night to meet a new heavyweight prospect.

The youngster is 20-year-old Dave Rent of Bootle, England, near Liverpool.

"All I've seen is a picture of him," said Weill. "But he's the amateur heavyweight champion of Great Britain. He's been boxing since he was 13."

Great Lakes Shoreline Cluttered

Law Works Overtime to Stop Fish Tents

By GEORGE L. WALKER
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP)—A 57-year-old law is working overtime these days to keep civilization from pitching its tents along the Great Lakes shoreline.

* * *

The law, enacted in 1899, set aside Great Lakes submerged land as a public hunting and fishing trust. It applies to land from the shoreline to the international boundaries out in the middle of the lakes.

State officials came to the alarming realization a couple of years ago that, while nobody was looking, civilization had managed to make a hundred ugly dents along the Great Lakes shoreline.

Cottage owners had filled in land, cities had built parks out into the water, men had erected duck blinds, permanently fixed to the bottom of Saginaw Bay.

* * *

So the state dusted off the law, called out the lawyers and barraged the courts with lawsuits to get man off nature's back.

* * *

Now the problem is getting complicated. Lawyers are asking each other:

"Where does submerged land begin?"

"What do we do with the dozens of cases where cottage owners have filled in land, built boat houses or made other improvements?"

"Is a ship permanently tied to a pier in violation of the law?"

* * *

All these questions and more are finding their way to the desk of Wayland S. Osgood, deputy director of the State Conservation Department and the man who guides the battle against violators.

"The problem is simply that we have a lot more people than we used to have," Osgood says. "The state is going to be under increasing pressure to make exceptions to the law."

Last spring, the Legislature tried to clear up the situation by passing a law which allows the department to sell state owned lands that have been filled in by private owners, but only under certain conditions.

Ball Park Study Approved in LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A study that may lead to construction of a baseball park designed to lure a major league team to Los Angeles has been authorized by Mayor Poulson.

* * *

The mayor set a "blue ribbon" citizens' committee to work yesterday on a comprehensive study of the city's long-range park and recreation needs.

Included in the items to be scrutinized by the committee is a suggestion that several hundred acres of city-owned land be cleared and graded for construction of a privately-financed big league ball park.

* * *

If the committee finds the project feasible, a measure providing for a bond issue to cover the cost of grading can be voted on in next April's municipal election.

Three-Year-Old on Ice

Debbie Is Going to Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three-year-old Debbie Williams is going to work next month.

She's been skating since she was two, and nobody taught her. She just picked it up.

Her parents, Johnny and Pat Williams, professional skaters who make their home here off season, couldn't afford a baby-sitter while they rehearsed so they had to bring Debbie along.

"We just put her on skates and ignored her," explained Johnny. "She played around and pretty soon she was copying us and other skaters."

* * *

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

Chapter 19

While Steve set up the recording machine, I went into the kitchen and got something to eat. I had forgotten what a good idea food and drink was. Then I poured a beer for Steve, more milk for me. I was stepping back into the living room just as Steve said he was ready.

He flipped a switch.

There was music, soft, sweet music; it was playing a gentle accompaniment of a husky, vibrant, but very female voice.

Steve said, "That's Anita . . ."

Anita: . . . take it easy, Kippy darling, don't be impetuous . . .

I said, "Kippy! That's Wendell Kipp."

Kippy: Anita . . .

Anita: Your hands, Kip! Stop it now. You're like a high school kid on Saturday night.

Kippy: (Angrily) Oh, for God's sake . . . is that why you let me come home with you? To talk?

Anita: Were you expecting something else, darling?

Kippy: I was expecting what you made me expect. That wasn't dancing you were teaching me tonight.

Anita: Why, Kippy!

Kippy: Then make me want to stay.

Anita: Kippy, you know, I'm a little surprised at you. I thought you were a happily married man.

Anita: But not where and when you want her to be all right?

Kippy: Is it any wonder that when I meet a gorgeous hunk of woman like you . . .

* * *

"So that's it," I said. "Blackmail."

"Sure, blackmail," Steve said. "If Anita ever played that for Kipp's wife she might not just divorce him. She might tear him to pieces."

"Yes. What do you mean?"

"Kipp was still taking lessons from Anita even while he was paying her blackmail. He must have still been trying to make the grade with her."

"That Anita," I said. "She was something, wasn't she? Did you think so, Steve?"

"How better?"

"Looking," Steve said emphatically. "Looking. That's the only comparison I can make. You are better looking."

"I went there to learn to dance. I'm not a Kippy-boy."

"Excuse it. Shall we play some more tape?"

* * *

There was no music this time, just Anita and a man talking a duet, The man was a slightly elderly-sounding tenor.

Man: . . . please, I want you to have it.

Anita: But you really shouldn't have.

Man: Tell me, do you like it?

Anita: Do I like it? Why, Mrs. Tiffany herself would adore it. How can I ever thank you?

Man: Well, now . . .

There was a sharp sound in the distance.

Man: What was that?

Anita: Oh, damn, the buzzer.

Man: (Annoyed) You said we'd be alone.

Anita: I wasn't expecting anyone.

Man: Don't answer it.

Anita: Don't be silly. Of course I'll answer it.

Man: Who is it?

Anita: I've no idea.

Man: You expect me to believe that! You know who it is! So you still see him!

Man: You said you told him to stay away from you!

Anita: I made it a lot stronger than that! I practically threatened to call the police. Honestly, that boy's ardor is frightening. He even wants to marry me. Isn't that sweet? He says he can't live without me, he'll do something desperate.

* * *

The buzzer sounded again, Anita's voice drifted away, and that was all there was to that duet. It was all there was to that spool.

Steve said, "I wonder if Anita managed to keep those two jealous lovers of her from each others throats that night."

"Steve," I said, "she named one of them . . . the one coming up the stairs. Obie, wasn't it?"

"That's what I heard. Obie, Junior." He spelled it out, "O-B-I-E."

I got out the Crescent School Register and went through it carefully. But it was just wasted motion. Out of no name in the book, of pupil or teacher, could we make an Obie, Junior.

Steve put another spool on the machine and set it spinning. I recognized the man's voice the moment I heard it. It was Jack Walston and he sounded annoyed.

Jack: . . . love her, of course, I do.

Anita: If she knew you were here with me . . .

Jack: She wouldn't care.

Anita: She loves you too, Jack. That's a two-way romance if ever I saw one.

Jack: Then why is she being so damn stubborn? Look, we're talking about you and me. Anita, I didn't write this telegram. This is a real offer.

Anita: Of course it is. But, Jack, I've never done any dancing except . . .

Anita: That's sweet of you.

Jack: I mean it. This Miami engagement will be a springboard for us. Anita, we'll wind up at the Palladium.

Anita: Aren't you the dreamer, though?

Jack: We could go places, you and I.

Anita: I couldn't do it, Jack.

Jack: Think it over.

Anita: You talk to Dottie again. Jack. It's no use. I've written her off. If she wants to spend the rest of her life teaching in some lousy dancing school . . .

Anita: But you love her.

* * *

Jack: It's just occurring to me . . . maybe I don't. She wants me to settle down, for God's sake! Settle down! What kind of talk is that when you're our age? Does she want me to end up like that mousey brother-in-law of hers . . . in a crumby little stationery store? Is that living? Listen, Anita, you've got to team up with me . . .

It ended there. Anita evidently had got all of Jack Walston that she wanted on tape. The rendezvous apparently hadn't turned out the way she had expected. But still she hadn't erased the tape. She had kept the recording.

"Steve," I said, "why would Jack Walston want that tape? How could Anita possibly blackmail him for anything he said there?"

"It could make Dottie sore."

"But Dottie knows all about it. She knows that he went to Anita's apartment to try to find the tape."

"Maybe," Steve said, "there could have been another recording in the other lamp that he wanted . . . Something really incriminating."

"Maybe."

Suddenly, voices played from the machine again. Anita was having a tete-a-tete with still another man and this man's voice was strangely familiar.

Man: . . . got to be going, really I do.

I yelled, "Steve! You!"

Mexico Puts Imports on Cotton Standard

MEXICO CITY — Mexico has informed representatives of the Ford, General Motors, and Chrysler assembly plants in this country it is planning to require them to pay for all their future imports of automotive parts with Mexican cotton. It is estimated this will involve $60,000,000 a year, or roughly 30 per cent of the estimated 1956-57 crop-year cotton production.

Says Industrial H-Power Has Far to Go

WASHINGTON (AP)—The director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies has advised against expecting practical thermonuclear power—based on the same principle as the hydrogen bomb—"in our lifetime."

William G. Pollard said, "It may well lie one or more generations away from us."

* * *

"Still," Pollard said in a speech prepared for the American Assn. of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities, "the project represents a substantial new development in the nuclear energy field and one of real ultimate promise."

* * *

Pollard said "technological difficulties of fantastic proportions" make development of thermonuclear power much more difficult than development of atomic power.

"It seems clear that many developmental steps . . . will be required before anything approaching an actual design of a thermonuclear power plant can be attempted," he said.

"It seems likely that the final machine will have to be of very great size and that in any event its construction would represent a capital investment of enormous magnitude. It is likely that none of us will see such a machine built in our lifetime."

* * *

Another speaker, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, said that if the trend toward concentration of governmental authority at the federal level continues the states may be left hollow shells.

"The typical American is inherently a state's righter by inclination and sentiment," he said. "Deep in their hearts the American people instinctively know that great concentration of power is an evil and a dangerous thing."

MSU Lends Hand to Hungary Students

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Student Government at Michigan State University has voted to send assistance to university students in Hungary who helped spark a revolt against Russian occupation.

MSU students will raise money and collect clothing for Hungarian relief. Distribution of the gifts will be handled by the World University Service, an international student welfare organization.

'Listen My Children and You Shall Hear'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 40-year-old woman accused of serving as a Paul Revere for dogs was fined $10 in municipal court for interfering with a city dogcatcher.

Court testimony said Mrs. Beatrice Alfred ran through one of the city's neighborhoods, rapping at doors and shouting, "the dogcatchers are here! Call in our dogs."

Mink Saunters Out

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police are searching for a woman who took a $1,000 stroll. She walked into a swanky fur store and tried on a $1,000 white mink cape. She strolled about, admiring the cape in the mirrors. And, as a saleswoman turned her back, the lady strolled out the front door and disappeared.

John Jacob Astor Asks 'Who's My Legal Wife?'

NEW YORK (AP)—Wealthy socialite John Jacob Astor, thrice married, has asked a court to decide which of his last two wives is his legal spouse.

Astor married wife No. 2, Gertrude Gretsch Astor, in 1944 and they separated in June 1954. He immediately filed for divorce in Juarez, Mexico, and got his final decree a month later.

* * *

On Aug. 6, 1954, he married Dolores (Dolly) Fullman Astor in Arlington, Va. The third Mrs. Astor was a Miami Beach, Fla., divorcee.

Gertrude Astor, contending Astor's Mexican divorce was invalid, went into court to obtain a legal separation. Last March, New York Supreme Court Justice Owen McGivern upheld Gertrude's contention, said she was Astor's legal wife and granted her a separation.

* * *

Meanwhile, a Florida Court, refusing to discuss the validity of the Mexican divorce, in effect declared Dolores Astor to be Astor's legal wife and awarded her $250 weekly support. She had sued for a separation.

Naming both wives as defendants in his action, filed in State Supreme Court yesterday, attorneys for Astor said:

* * *

"Under the laws of this state and of the State of Florida, the question which of the defendants enjoys the status of the plaintiff's lawful wife creates doubt as to certain rights and interest in my property and estate."

The wives have 20 days in which to file a reply.

Negligence Ruled in Deaths of Workers

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Sharlene Duncan, 26, of Detroit, whose car struck and killed two Wayne County road workers, has been ordered to pay $75,000 damages to their families.

Miss Duncan pleaded guilty to negligent homicide in the deaths of Lorraine C. Smith, 26, and Loyse M. Huffman, 29, of Belleville, on the Willow Run expressway last March 26.

* * *

Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr. yesterday placed Miss Duncan on five years probation and ordered her to pay $250 in fine and costs.

Widows of the victims had sued for $344,000 but a settlement was reached providing $37,500 for each family. The men had been making road repairs when Miss Duncan's car pinned them against a county road commission truck.

Industry Shows Gain

CHICAGO — In the past 25 years the truck-leasing industry has climbed from a little-known experiment having about 1,500 trucks with full-service contracts to a $275,000,000-a-year business. Today there are more than 1,400 companies offering full-service leases on some 110,000 trucks.

More Pay to Hunt

CHICAGO—Since World War II the number of privately owned and operated game-shooting grounds, where hunters pay a fee—usually to hunt birds—has grown steadily. At present 27 States sanction this form of the sport.

Presley Swaps With Liberace for Jam Session

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Liberace and Elvis Presley, two of the show world's highest paid entertainers, staged an impromptu act for nothing yesterday after Liberace's night club appearance.

Presley was in the audience at the Riviera Hotel as the piano-playing television idol went through his performance and after the last show ended he went back to Liberace's dressing room.

With only a slight amount of urging from photographers and publicists, Liberace exchanged his gold-sequinned jacket for Presley's striped sports coat and from there it was only a short step to an exchange of musical instruments.

Elvis sat down at the piano and Liberace picked up a guitar and in no time at all a rock 'n' roll session was under way. It lasted about 30 minutes, with some 200 persons jammed around the pair as they performed.

Said one observer: "Elvis played a mean piano, but Liberace said he was an amateur on the guitar—and he sounded like one."

Said Liberace: "Elvis and I may be characters—he with his sideburns and me with my gold jackets—but we can afford to be."

'A Hatful of Rain' Lures Eva Marie to Make Deal

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Every studio in the business offered Eve Marie Saint a contract but she turned them all down. It was Buddy Adler who finally persuaded her to sign a three-picture deal, non-exclusive, with 20th.

The bait Buddy held out was "A Hatful of Rain," the Michael Gazzo play which starred Shelley Winters and Ben Gazzaro on Broadway.

Eve Marie will play the Shelley role, of course, and she will have Fred Zinnemann as her director. Eve Marie will be very good as the wife, so torn and so unhappy over her husband's addiction to narcotics.

The husband will be portrayed by Don Murray, who made his debut with Marilyn Monroe in "Bus Stop." He's one of the hottest properties on the 20th lot.

Tomorrow Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer fly from Paris to London for the premiere of "War and Peace." They accepted with the stipulation that they can personally take up a collection from the audience at intermission to aid the Hungarian war relief and Hungarian Red Cross.

Mel contacted the Lord Mayor of London, who will appear on the stage during the picture's break and make an appeal for funds before Audrey and Mel walk through the audience and collect donations.

"Love in the Afternoon" won't wind up until early December Since a member of the company was killed, Audrey goes from the studio to her hotel with guards, and Allied Artists is taking a daily quota of plane reservations to evacuate personnel to the U.S.A. if the threatening war situation becomes worse.

ROLE FOR FELICIA

Felicia Farr is such a knockout in looks (and talent) I was beginning to wonder why Columbia was loaning her out so often, for instance to 20th for "The Last Wagon," and to other studios.

But Felicia comes home, and I bet to stay, as Glenn Ford's leading lady in "Three-Ten to Yuma."

This is something in the nature of a reunion for Glenn, Felicia and director Delmar Daves as Felicia's first important role was with Ford in "Jubal" with Daves directing.

As the new year approaches and the time for production is nigh, I'd like to jump the gun and predict that 1957 will be a Felicia Farr year. This girl is going places in a big way.

The flattering wire Red Skelton received from Clark Gable after Red's appearance in a straight dramatic role in "The Big Slide" on Playhouse 90 is practically worn out. Red is so delighted at Clark's praise that he shows the wire to everyone he meets.

Red was really excellent in this serious role of the rise and fall of a movie comedian. He's now listening to an offer from Batjac, the John Wayne company, to make a motion picture of "The Big Slide."

DATE WITH STORK

Pier Angeli and Vic Damone have a date with the stork. This will be their second child.

Natalie Wood, so hoarse she could hardly speak, called to say she was at the Santa Ynez Inn with Bob Vaughn, young actor, and Dennis Hopper brought John Ireland over and introduced her. And that's all there ever was, or ever will be, to her going out with Ireland.

There was a big turnout for Sarah Vaughan's opening at the Mocambo with one of the biggest parties given by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stoloff.

Oscar Homolka, who is so sensational as the Russian general in "War and Peace," is in town for a few days. He's had two or three movie offers but he hasn't made up his mind.

Perc Westmore, who was in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital for a checkup, comes home tomorrow. Mrs. Westmore (Ola Carroll) has opened a boutique in their beauty salon and it's the last gasp.

Bride Accused of Embezzling

Quit Job to Wed Boss; Jailed When Audit Set Shortage at $140,000

CLARK TOWNSHIP, N. J. (AP)—A 35-year-old bride has admitted embezzling $140,000 from her husband's electronics firm over a three-year period.

A plea of innocent was entered in court to the charge, however.

Mrs. Conrad Miller, married for only two weeks, was in Union County Jail without bail today after her tearful arraignment last night before Magistrate Edward E. Reider.

Detective Arthur Mishkin arrested her in nearby Metuchen at the home she had purchased while working as office manager for the Fugle-Miller Laboratories, Inc., here.

He said Mrs. Miller, the former Virginia Cook, admitted spending $40,000 to $50,000 of the missing money to buy that home and an undetermined sum to help her family.

Her husband, 38, is secretary-treasurer of the firm he started nine years ago with Frank L. Fugle, a friend since childhood.

When they were married, Mrs. Miller was required to give up her job under a company rule which bars the employment of executives' wives.

According to police, Miller called his wife at their home in Plainfield and she admitted the embezzlement. She then moved away to her Metuchen house.

Michael A. Paticchio of Plainfield, attorney for the firm, said the payroll apparently was padded but he has no idea how it was done. The payroll has ranged from $2,800 to $6,000 a week.

Small Businesses Must Get Tax Relief

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Small businesses earning up to $150,000 a year must get substantial tax relief if they are to expand and modernize, the National Tax Assn. convention has been told.

Joseph D. Noonan, Executive Secretary of the Small Business Assn. of New England, told delegates: "It is vital to our country to keep this middle business class in our economy.

John F. Costello, Tax Director of the Radio Corp. of America, took an opposing view, saying the fiscal problems of small businesses can best be handled by lowering individual tax rates.

Costello predicted that the administration's proposed tax relief program for small businesses would cost the government approximately 600 million dollars in revenue the first year.

"People are beginning to complain about progressive rates so steep that a man earning $20,000 a year does not only pay five times as much as a $4,000 earner, but almost 10 times as much," he said.

Major Health Problem in Michigan Is Still TB

In a statement issued on the opening day of the 50th annual sale of seals, Williams said:

"Tuberculosis is still a major public health problem in Michigan. The year-around work of Christmas seals is more important than ever. Every Michigan citizen is urged to continue and to step up the fight against tuberculosis by buying and using Christmas seals."

Bing OK'd by Parents to Date 23-Year-Old

By EARL WILSON

He just had a date with cute, shapely little Mary Ellen Terry, an outstanding red-haired dancer and actress in "Shoestring '57."

★ ★ ★

Personally, I approve. I had an identical idea when I saw Mary Ellen in the show, but my wife couldn't see the wisdom of it.

Bing saw the show—solo— on a Saturday afternoon. He sent Mary Ellen a wire. When she opened it, she let out a shriek heard by the entire company.

★ ★ ★

Curses! She already had a date—with a nice, well-to-do young man.

"I think I can break it," Mary Ellen said. The young man, an understanding type, yielded gracefully.

I phoned Mary Ellen about it. "She's in the tub," her mother, Mrs. Alfred E. Terry, wife of an insurance broker said. "But wait———."

MARY ELLEN

★ ★ ★

Mary Ellen's parents wanted to meet The Groaner. So when he arrived in a chauffeured limousine, he went to their midtown duplex.

"What do you think of an old bachelor like me going out with a gorgeous young girl?" Der Bingle asked Mary Ellen's father—who congratulated him on his own youthful look.

So off they rode in their formal finery to a party for Oleg Cassini and then wound up with Judy Garland and Sid Luft. Mary Ellen's mother was herself pretty thrilled.

"I sort of wished I was 30 years younger," she said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Dorothy Lamour talked John Hopkins medics into allowing her husband, Bill Howard, out to attend her opening . . . Sophie Tucker's son Bert is in Doctors Hospital—pneumonia . . . Dancer Gene Nelson will do a straight dramatic role in Paul Gregory's next B'way show . . . Eddie Fisher's next café chore may be opening in Las Vegas next month.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Television," notes Walter Slezak, "is a killing business—it's killing movies, night clubs and sports events."

5 Hungry Cats Await Payment of 'Alleymony'

CHICAGO (INS) — Mrs. Eleanor Lauritsen, 40, of Suburban Berwyn, says her five cats need their "alleymony" from her estranged husband, James, 42, a printer who lives in Oak Park.

He was ordered by Superior Court Judge Harry G. Hershenson last May to pay $35 weekly to her and $10 weekly to fed her cats.

She told the judge yesterday that because James fell behind in his "catamony" one of the felines, Mimi, became so distressed she bit Mrs. Lauritsen.

* * *

Lauritsen says he also is sick—of feeding the kitty and because his offer of a $2,000 lump payment for a divorce from his estranged wife and her cats was vetoed.

The judge gave Lauritsen until Nov. 21 to explain why he should not be cited for contempt for failing to pay $235 in separate maintenance.

Convict Norman in Cruelty Case

Charged With Hitting 10-Month-Old Child, Inflicting Injuries

A four-man, eight-woman jury yesterday deliberated only 20 minutes before convicting 24-year-old William R. Norman, 39 Mechanic St., of child cruelty in the third cruelty case in two days in Oakland County Circuit Court.

* * *

Norman, who was charged with striking the face of 10-month-old Janice Bishop, severely bruising it, took the stand himself yesterday to deny the act.

He said he had admitted the crime in a statement to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem because police were "badgering" him.

The child's mother, Mrs. Judy Bishop, also of 39 Mechanic St., who had been expected to testify she saw Norman striking the child, said on the stand yesterday she didn't remember. She said Janice may have hurt herself in a fall.

* * *

Dr. A. F. Cefai, Pontiac General Hospital staff physician who examined Janice, testified she had both new and old bruises, and in his opinion the bruises could not have been caused by a fall.

Safe Bounces Out on Railroad Track

Richard C. Brogan, 29, who waived examination on a breaking and entering charge, is accused as one of four men who stole a safe from the old Vernor's Ginger Ale Company warehouse, 490 S. Telegraph Rd. in June last year.

His alleged partners were arrested and convicted of the crime, Sgt. John DePauw said. The men drove the safe off in a truck, but ironically, DePauw said, the safe bounced out when the truck crossed a railroad track.

Brogan was remanded to jail under $300 bond set by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum. He will be arraigned Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Brogan was turned over to Pontiac police after serving 18 months in the Willmington, Del. Workhouse for larceny.

Note Profit From Dinner and Plan 2nd WSCS Event

KEEGO HARBOR—A profit of $208 at the Trinity Methodist Church Harvest Dinner was noted and a bazaar and festival planned for Dec. 8 when the church's WSCS met recently at Mrs. W. C. Draper's home.

Besides the dinner's income, the society received $19.35 during a missionary-prayer week.

The bazaar and festival is being planned by Mrs. Harold Grove and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman. Other committeeewomen are planning an apron and fancy work booth, a baked goods sale, refreshments counters, and posters announcing the event.

"A luncheon is served" date has been set for Jan. 22.

As Yuletime project, members will collect gifts of clothing for children up to two years of age, under the care of the Michigan Children's Aid Society.

Auto Sales to Rise During Last Quarter

DETROIT (AP) — Retail new car sales in the year's fourth quarter are likely to top the 1,326,000 of the July-August-September period by perhaps 100,000 units, Ward's Automotive Reports said yesterday.

The agency added that because of "slow motion" factory output some car makers may fall behind their third quarter sales.

Ward's said the auto makers entered November with a new car inventory of 350,000 units, compared with 436,000 at the same time in 1955. It added that of this year's Nov. 1 inventory only 90,000 units were 1956 models.

* * *

Production of 1957 model cars has been hampered by parts shortages, unfamiliarity of workers with new tooling and assembly processes and other difficulties frequently encountered in new model changeovers. Ward's said normal production may not be reached at several producers for another three weeks.

Convalescent Home Open for Inspection

Grovecrest Manor Convalescent Home at 161 State St. will be open for public inspection on Sunday, November 18. This new convalescent home is licensed to care for thirty-three patients.

Private rooms and rooms for two, three or four persons are available. Mrs. Gertrude Peck is the supervisor with nine employes under her direction.

Earnings

BETHPAGE, N.Y. (INS)—Grumman Aircraft Engineering Co. reports that its sale and earnings in the first nine months of 1956 dropped below the 1955 level. Sales dropped $19 million to $140,405,243 and net income to $6,037,977, or $2.74 per common share, compared with $7,280,340, or $3.31 a share, a year ago. Backlog of orders on Sept 30 amounted to $357,000,000.

Ask Auxiliary to Head Drive

Will Seek $1 Million to Equip New Wing of City Hospital

Pontiac General Hospital's Board of Trustees last night issued an offer to the Hospital Women's Auxiliary to spearhead a drive to raise $1 million to equip the new addition at the city hospital.

* * *

Mrs. P. Eugene Miller, Auxiliary president, said this morning the offer would be accepted. "The Auxiliary is working for the good of the hospital and we feel there is a dire need to raise this money," she said.

The offer followed two meetings between Mrs. Miller, board members, and civic leaders on how this money could be raised.

Miss Lauretta Paul, director, outlined to the Board last night that of the $1,017,588 needed, purchase orders have already been issued for $436,403 worth of equipment.

The need arose for additional funds when construction bids jumped well above the $3 million bond issue approved by voters in 1954 to build and equip the hospital.

A committee is expected to be appointed to coordinate the drive with the Auxiliary who will act as the agent to accept contributions and promote the campaign.

Trip Shot—Not by Gun

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Robert Guard of Zanesville always heard that a lot of hunters are hurt trying to get over fences while carrying shotguns. He carefully placed his gun over a fence, jumped the fence — and broke his ankle.

Market Goes Up —Steels in Van

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels were in the forefront as the market moved higher in early trading today.

Pivotal issues advanced from fractions to around a point. Some of the best early gains faded, however.

* * *

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown gained, continuing their drive of yesterday. Earlier gains of a point or more were sliced to fractions, however.

* * *

Fast-stepping Lukens Steel was up 4 at 140 on 1,000 shares. It gained 22½ earlier this week.

The performance followed the cue of the London market where oils rose on more encouraging signs from the Middle East and the market rallied generally.

* * *

Royal Dutch and Gulf Oil rose a point or more, then pared their advances. Amerada was up around 2. Standard oil (New Jersey) wiped out a fractional gain.

General Motors and Studebaker-Packard were firm.

* * *

Among the opening blocks were U. S. Steel up 1 at 71½ on 4,000 shares, Royal Dutch up ⅞ at 99 on 1,000 and Chrysler up ¾ at 71¾.

Report Three Hunters Dead

One Teenager, 2 Men Become Fatalities on Opening Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deer hunters faced blizzard snows in parts of Michigan Friday, but even more of a bad omen were the three hunting deaths reported on opening day.

Ten hunters were killed in the 16-day season last year.

Reports were that the hunting was good, however, and large numbers of hunters—an estimated 400,000—were out to get their bucks.

Scores of deer were killed. But the heavy weather, sweeping out of stormy Lake Superior late Thursday may put a damper on activity.

More than a foot of snow was reported in Houghton County where two hunters are missing. Still unreported by mid-morning were Francis Suski, 32, and his brother James, 17, both of Ironwood.

Another missing hunter, Curtis Hamilton, 16, was found about midnight Thursday by a search party. He had found a camp while wandering lost in the woods near his home in the Porcupine Mountains area of Ontonagon.

Dead after Thursday's shooting were Lloyd Westeen, 52, of Ironwood; Ronald Clegg, 14, of Stirlingville in Chippewa County and Leo G. Bailey, 57, of Traverse City.

At least three other men died of heart attacks—Gerald Ducap, 59, of Flint; Noel H. Carl, 36, of Kingsford and Judson E. Baldwin of Grand Rapids.

Expect Space Ships to Be Commonplace

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—E. V. Rickenbacker, chairman of the board of Eastern Air Lines, told aviation leaders of the two Americas today that within 50 years "space ships may become commonplace for inter-planetary travel."

"With luxurious accommodations for 1,500 to 2,000 passengers they will use atomic power to develop speeds up to 3,000 miles an hour or better, and will have a practically unlimited range," Rickenbacker said.

"In fact, space ships in the year 2006 will be semi self-sustaining planets in themselves."

Rickenbacker added, in a paper prepared for delivery at a Latin sponsored by the U.S. Aircraft Industries Assn. (AIA), that as early as 1960 airline transports will be flying "in the speed band of sound, or about 600 miles an hour," and with further development of jet power will advance these speeds to 2,500 miles an hour.

Hospital Board Plan Outlined

City Hears 4-Point Plan to Improve Government of Pontiac General

The Board of Trustees of Pontiac General Hospital laid out a four - point survey - recommended plan to the City Commission during a joint meeting held last night at the hospital.

The four recommendations came from the management study of the city hospital which was completed in June. All require City Commission action if the changes are to be made.

The survey recommended Board membership be raised from the present 7 to at least 11 and preferably 15.

The Board has suggested the hike to 11 with two new members appointed now, and two more next July.

In line with the study, the board suggests that the new members be "professional (non-medical) persons and persons with large scale business, industrial, financial and legal experience."

The second recommendation is that the Commission "continue to pursue a strictly non-partisan policy" in the selection of Board members.

The third suggestion is that the president of the Women's Auxiliary be appointed to the Board as an ex-officio member without a vote. Part of this recommendation was that ex-officio membership of Miss Lauretta Paul, director, be terminated.

The final suggestion heard by the commissioners was that they impose a limit of not more than two consecutive terms, or eight years, that a Board member may serve.

At present there is no limitation as to how long a member may serve.

A stipulation to the last point was that a member may be reappointed after serving eight years only after a three-year period has elapsed.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the four recommendations would be discussed at the next informal meeting of the commission.

Rabid Bat Strikes— First Case in State

VICKSBURG (AP)—Doctors say 9-year-old Steven Bishop has earned a niche in Michigan Medical history—he's being treated for the bite of a rabid bat.

Steven found the bat last month and was bringing it home for a pet when it nipped his left thumb. The bat died and was sent to the State Health Department in Lansing. Tests showed it had rabies.

Dr. Merle R. French, director of the Kalamazoo city-County Health Department, said it is the first such case in Michigan history. Steven has shown no symptoms of illness but he is receiving anti-rabies treatments.

Council Foresees Turn Toward 1960 Battle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—California's Democratic Council president says this state will be one of the hottest battlegrounds in the next four years for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Alan Cranston told the Democratic Luncheon Club yesterday:

"Vice President Nixon will agree with everything President Eisenhower says and does because this is his best chance of getting the nomination. U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland will seek to build his candidacy by disagreeing with the President whenever and wherever and as violently as he can.

Como Defeats Gleason Again

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Andy Williams' popularity on the Steve Allen "Tonight" show brought him the "Most Promising New Singer" award by deejays of America in a Billboard magazine poll.

Andy has another hot record, "Baby Doll," to follow his "Canadian Sunset" hit, and on Friday he gets a Walter Winchell Show paycheck.

Como trendexed Gleason again 25.2 to 23.8 . . . Loretta Young finally got even, and then some, with "The $64,000 Challenge"—22.4 to 21.5 Trendex noted.

Hal March's wife Candy hasn't been seeing much of him since he started rehearsing the script for "High Button Shoes," and complained: "Why, even the world was created in only six days" . . . Hal replied: "Yes, but no one had to learn lines for it."

LIFE OF WINCHELL

Walter Winchell and Darryl Zanuck shook hands in El Morocco over a "Walter Winchell Story" movie deal . . .

Jane Powell was signed for TV's "Ruggles of Red Gap" version at one of TV's fanciest fees—$25,000.

NBC-TV cleared away two full hours Sunday for its NBC Opera Co. English version of "La Boheme."

Odd and disheartening to see famous Fibber McGee and Molly doing commercials on "Wide Wide World" . . .

NBC-TV 7:45 p.m. news used to be sponsored every night with John Cameron Swayze, but Monday's Huntley - Brinkley pairing wasn't . . .

JOHNNY REFUSES

Jim Lowe has moved from his radio CBS deejay job to fill in on TV this week for Will Rogers Jr. in the "Good Morning Show," on which Henny Youngman is the new weather girl . . .

Polly Bergen's TV shows have put her in contention for the Helen Morgan biofilm . . .

Bill (CBS) Leonard leaves Doctors Hospital next week for a South Seas vacation. He'll be back on radio and TV some time in January.

Duke Shoots Croc Right Between Eyes

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — The Duke of Edinburgh shot his first crocodile early today — smack between the eyes as it wallowed in Darwin Harbor Estuary.

It was the only croc bagged in a night hunt in which four brothers — Michael, Nigel, George and Jack Haritos — took the duke to the hunting ground in a Royal Australian Air Force crash boat. The brothers are former crocodile hunting champions of the Northern Territory.

Fire Cheerleaders—Too Much of a Show

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Booker, cheerleader squad director at Wheatley High, said six girls have been released from the squad.

Passed Laws By-Passed

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Hundreds of new laws passed by the 118th General Assembly of Delaware will require two volumes when printed. But somebody goofed. A $10,000 appropriation for the printing never itself became law. The bill was never sent up for the governor's signature. This means the 119th legislature likely will get a deficiency bill.

Convict Renton on Two Charges

Admits Forced Marines to Suspend Themselves Over Naked Bayonets

A 10-member general court-martial yesterday convicted Pfc. Frederick A. Renton, 19, of New York City, of 2 of 14 charges of maltreatment. At the opening of the court-martial, Renton pleaded guilty to two charges of forcing the men to suspend themselves over the naked bayonets.

Renton admitted making two recruits, Privates Robert J. Palaisa and Clement R. Ploof Jr., bridge themselves by elbows and toes, while pointed bayonets were placed under their stomachs for 5 to 10 minutes. Both youths, Renton said, had violated drill instructions.

The court-martial found Renton guilty of punching Pvt. Bradford S. Howe in the stomach and violating a depot order prohibiting instructors from touching recruits unless connected with training.

Says Acid-Hurler Shot for Demanding More Money Than Paid

NEW YORK (AP)— Abe Telvi, slain in gangland style after blinding Victor Riesel, assertedly began demanding big pay from "the higher-ups" when he learned who his victim was.

* * *

Ex-convict Joseph Peter (Joe Peelo) Carlino, 43, a confessed conspirator in the acid assault on the labor columnist, was on the witness stand yesterday in the federal court trial of three other alleged conspirators. They are Gondolfo (Shickie) Miranti, 38; Domenico (Nicky) Bando, 47; and Leo Telvi, 26, brother of Abe.

Carlino testified that Abe Telvi received a total of $1,175 for attacking Riesel last Apr. 5 outside a Broadway restaurant. But, Carlino said, neither he, Abe nor the three defendants knew the identity of the victim.

* * *

After learning of Riesel's importance, the witness said, Telvi wanted more money, and Bando felt the job should "be worth $20,000."

Truck-Train Collision Thanksgiving for Indians

The three engines of the train were damaged as well as splashed with chocolate syrup. The van was destroyed. There were no injuries.

Goose, Plane Tangle

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Pilot Jack Miller, flying from Detroit in a plane owned by the Gardner-Denver Corp., said the craft hit a goose over Lowell and suffered about $500 damages. The bird, encountered at 4,000 feet, struck the win-engine plane's right wing, Miller said.

About one quart of milk weighing 2.15 pounds is required to make one pound of evaporated milk.

Ionia Fair Nets $11,151

IONIA (AP)—Officials have reported a net profit of $11,151 for the 1956 run of the Ionia Free Fair, Michigan's second largest fair. The profit was compared with one of $8,344 for the previous year. The 40-year history of the Ionia fair shows only five deficit years.

Higher cinema ticket prices and civic unrest and disorder are blamed for a falling off in movie attendance in Argentina in 1955, Buenos Aires reports.
