Ex-Con Tells of Killing Friend in Area Cottage

An ex-convict from Texas confessed that he "accidentally" shot underworld character George Kean near Pontiac last December, in an oral statement made early today.

Demitrios B. Tsermengas, 39, told investigators that he killed Kean in a cottage "somewhere near Commerce road" and buried him near Alpena with the help of two companions.

Tsermengas was arrested by state troopers led by Detective Charles Leaf, of the Pontiac Post, in front of his home at 4549 Sixth St., in Ecorse, at about 8 last night.

He has refused to make a formal statement in the presence of a stenographer, but his story to police and Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem has filled in many missing links in the investigation.

Tsermengas was one of three hoodlums who accompanied Kean on a trip from Texas to Michigan last December, police said.

The ex-convict said the three, traveling in two cars, stopped "someplace along Telegraph Road near a drug store and Justice of the Peace office around last Dec. 15 or 16."

Ziem said today, "We think this was in the vicinity of Telegraph and 10-Mile roads."

Tsermengas said a State Police car was parked at the roadside and Kean wanted to see if there were any guns in it.

"I was scared to death," he continued. "Kean had killed five or six people in Texas and I thought he'd kill the trooper if he returned to the car while we were looking at it."

The men then went to a cottage believed to be in the Commerce Township or Walled Lake area. Tsermengas identified his companions only as "Tommy" and "Danny."

Authorities quoted Tsermengas as saying, "Kean told me to go out and get a police uniform someplace."

Police said Kean wanted the uniform to use in a robbery he planned to execute in the Saulte Ste. Marie area. Tsermengas said he returned later that day without finding a uniform.

He told police, "Kean had been drinking and had three guns on him. I was getting scared and thought we better get the guns away from him."

At this point the three men attempted to take the guns. Police said Kean had apparently dozed off in a chair.

"We got two and all of a sudden he came to," said Tsermengas. At that point, Tsermengas related, Kean shouted, "I'll kill you all."

Police said that Tsermengas told them he hit Kean over the head with a pistol "and the gun accidentally discharged shooting him through the head."

The men, allegedly, then put Kean in the trunk of one of the cars and started to drive north. While stopped at a gas station somewhere north of Bay City they noticed blood dripping from the trunk.

They stopped overnight at a hotel in Oscoda and when they came out in the morning noticed blood on the ground under the trunk again.

"We kicked snow over the spot and started north to find a spot to bury him," Tsermengas was quoted as saying.

According to Ziem, the trio bur-

Men Leave Work to Join Grim Search for Boy, 4

From Our Wire Services

IRON MOUNTAIN — With hope fading, every able-bodied man in the Iron Mountain region was asked today to join the grim search for a 4-year-old boy lost in bear-infested wilds since Sunday.

The Dickinson County Sheriff's Department issued the plea for help as hundreds tramped in brush and swamps in search of little Kenneth Scott.

One searcher said: "It's today or never. He couldn't make it here more than three days, if that long.

A chilly drizzle fell today and a temperature only two degrees above freezing was forecast tonight in Upper Michigan. The boy wore only a light jacket, blue jeans and sneakers when he vanished.

Kenneth wandered away from a hunting camp in the swampy wilderness 20 miles northeast of here.

More than 1,000 searchers combed the area yesterday until nightfall. They were aided by airplanes, helicopters and bloodhounds.

All volunteer civilians were ordered out of the woods for the night. A relief party of 185 police and conservation officers continued the search during the night.

A chilling rain fell yesterday over the area, which abounds with deer and bear.

Hundreds of volunteers joined the search today, State Police Trooper

Cloudy, Windy, Cool With Some Showers

The weatherman predicts tonight will be cloudy and rather windy with occasional showers. The low will be a cool 45 degrees.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and quite cool, the high near 56. The outlook for tomorrow night is clear and cool with the low near 38. Thursday will be warmer and partly cloudy.

Fifty-three was the lowest thermometer recording preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The reading at 2 p.m. was 56.

U.S. Will Give Planes, Ships to Nationalists

Flying Boxcars, LSDs En Route to Formosa as Aid to Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The United States plans to give the Chinese Nationalists C119 Flying Boxcars and big new landing ships to increase supplies to blockaded Quemoy.

A spokesman for the U.S. Taiwan Formosa Defense Command disclosed today that the equipment is on the way.

The ships are LSD landing ships, (dock), which can carry up to six times as much cargo as the LSTs landing ships (tank) which the Nationalists now are using.

With their present collection of equipment left over from World War II the Nationalists have not been able to get through to Quemoy the 350 tons of supplies needed daily on the besieged offshore islands.

U.S. military officials have been urging the Nationalists to step up supply efforts.

The Nationalist air force reported that Communist ground fire shot down one of its cargo planes parachuting supplies to Quemoy during the night.

This was the first cargo plane lost in 16 days of dropping high-priority supplies to big and Little Quemoy.

The Nationalists have been using old C46 transport planes for aerial drops so far and the most they have mustered on one night was 20. The C46 can carry up to 2½ tons of cargo.

The C119, newer but still obsolete by U.S. Air Force standards, can airdrop five tons and is better designed for such work than C46s.

BULLETIN

DETROIT (AP) — Circuit Judge Theodore J. Bohn today lifted his temporary injunction against closed circuit television for the Michigan-Michigan State Football game Oct. 4.

The action cleared the way for the showing of the game in Detroit, Toledo, Lansing, Saginaw, Flint and Grand Rapids.

The judge ordered a hearing at a later date on the merits of the case brought by Rep. John J. Fitzpatrick (D-Detroit).

Ford Displaying Cars This Week

Style and Engineering Changes Mark M-E-L Models for 1959

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co.'s Mercury, Edsel and Lincoln cars have been substantially restyled and have numerous engineering refinements for 1959.

The new cars, along with a broadened Continental series, were assembled at the Ford Engineering Center in Dearborn for a national press preview today. Ford Division cars will be previewed on Friday.

Full styling and engineering details were withheld pending later public presentation of the new models. Two new models, a town car and a limousine, have been added to the Continental line.

The Ford M-E-L Division was hard hit by the 1958 sales decline. Mercury delivered about 84,000 cars in this year's first seven months against 170,000 in the like 1957 period.

Edsel accounted for a disappointing 25,000 in this year's January-July period. Lincoln's sales through July this year numbered about 18,000 compared with 24,000 in the same period last year.

When Ford introduced its Edsel line a year ago it was with the hope of selling 200,000 units in the model's first year. Its five months sales last year numbered about 27,000 units.

Walker A. Williams, M-E-L general sales manager, said the new Mercury has a new chassis and body design, a wheelbase four inches longer, a compound windshield 61 per cent larger, and an instrument panel moved forward six inches providing more knee room.

Little Rock Gives Up Private School Plan

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The attempt to reopen the closed Little Rock high schools on a private, segregated basis was abandoned today.

A spokesman for a group which had planned to operate the schools blamed the federal government and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for the continued shutdown.

Dr. T. J. Raney, head of the corporation that leased the schools to operate them as private and segregated institutions, said:

"The Little Rock Private School Corp. made arrangements to open the senior high schools to offer educational facilities to all the high school students.

"Through the concerted efforts of the government of the United States and the NAACP, the Little Rock Private School Corp. has now been enjoined and prohibited from operating the high schools."

Only a few Negro employes of the high school and a few pupils showed up in the drizzling rain for school.

Apparently most of the pupils interpreted the terse statement of School Supt. Virgil Blossom Monday night, that the Little Rock board would comply with the court order and schools would remain closed.

"As unfair and unwarranted as we think this action is, we are now prohibited from using the buildings despite our sincere desire and strenuous efforts to give the 4,000 high school students of Little Rock an opportunity to con-

Reuther Turns His Attention to GM Parley

Chrysler Teams Tackle Final Details After 24-Hour Session

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther and Chrysler Corp. today failed in their second attempt in a week to reach a contract settlement at a marathon bargaining session.

Reuther, emerging from a meeting of almost 24 hours, said: "We have reached a meeting of the minds."

However, he said, problems concerning engineers, office workers and salaried employes still remain unresolved.

Reuther headed immediately for General Motors, the other member of the Big Three that still has not come to contract terms with the UAW.

Reuther said the remaining problems at Chrysler could be negotiated by the bargaining team headed by Jack Conway, his administrative assistant.

"They don't need me here now," Reuther said.

Reuther said "there is a meeting of the minds on the basic contract but we do have some side issues that are unsettled such as the problems of office and salaried workers, engineers and worker seniority."

John D. Leary, Chrysler vice president, told newsmen "No, it's not settled. We are very close and should reach agreement sometime today."

GM is under a Thursday morning strike deadline set by Reuther who wants bargaining gains from GM over and above those he got in the agreement reached with Ford Sept. 17.

The Ford agreement was expected to provide a broad basis for both GM and Chrysler settlements, but Reuther stressed that the latter two companies had local plant problems which required solution

State Medical Society Proposes Rules to Clarify Practice Within Hospitals

Partially as an outgrowth of controversies at Pontiac General Hospital, the Michigan State Medical Society has gone on record favoring establishment of "rules and regulations for the control of professional practice within hospitals."

The society's house of delegations adopted a resolution proposed at its meeting in Detroit last night by Dr. Harold A. Furlong, chief of obstetrics at Pontiac General.

Dr. Furlong, former Pontiac General chief of staff, said that if the society doesn't do something to clarify the situation, there is going to be a rash of suits all over the state."

He said that the troubles at Pontiac General have "statewide significance."

At present, four general practitioners are suing the hospital for the right to perform major surgery. Members of the hospital's junior staff, they say the hospital rules and regulations illegally reserve major surgical priviliges to senior staff members.

SAY RULES ILLEGAL

They argue that the rules and regulations in this instance interfere with their right to free practice under their license from the state. Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams is expected to announce a decision in the case soon.

The Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger controversy revolved around the same legal point. The hospital said its rules and regulations allowed it to bar the heart surgeon from its medical staff on grounds that he was a trouble-maker.

Dr. Sullenberger brought suit for reinstatement, contending that his right to practice medicine freely was being violated.

In April, Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn upheld the hospital and tossed the suit out of court on the technical grounds that Dr. Sullenberger had not exhausted the grievance procedure set up under the rules and regulations. Dr. Sullenberger is appealing the dismissal to the State Supreme Court.

Dr. Furlong helped lead the fight against Dr. Sullenberger, testifying against him at the Board of Trustees' hearing that led to the heart surgeon's permanent dismissal from the staff last month.

Neither court case has questioned the right of private hospitals to have rules and regulations.

$73,039 Goal Set

UF Launches Special Gifts Drive

The annual pre-campaign solicitations of the Special Gifts Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund moved into full swing today, after a rousing kick-off supper at the Waldron Hotel last evening.

Alfred C. Girard, special gifts chairman and supper host, urged his contingent of 40 volunteer solicitors to make their calls early and thereby surpass their quota in time for the official kickoff Oct. 21.

The Special Gifts goal has been set at $73,039.

"The Commercial Division intends to go over last year's quota therefore, each of us must do a little bit better," stated Judge Clark J. Adams, commercial division chairman.

"It's particularly important that we realize our potential. If this group of advance givers can go over its goal by October 21, it will set the pace for the entire campaign," Judge Adams added.

Traditionally the collections of the Special Gifts Division have amounted to about 40 per cent of the Commercial Division's total. The selected group of special givers represent individuals and firms who have donated $100 or more to the United Fund in past years.

W. E. McGovern, volunteer training director, stressed the importance of personal contacts in soliciting.

"The best way to use a telephone when soliciting funds is to completely ignore it, and writing letters is no substitute for a personal visit, either," said McGovern.

The Special Gifts buffet supper, sponsored by Community National Bank, marked the first pre-campaign kick-off for United Fund workers. Commercial Division Chairman Berkley Voss, Publicity and Promotion Chairman Bernard W. Crandell and Walter K. Willman, city manager, attended.

This year's 10th anniversary Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign officially opens Oct. 21 and closes Nov. 11.

Closed Circuit Hearing Today

Wayne Judge to Hear Suit Against Telecast of U. of M.-MSU Game

DETROIT (UPI) — A lawsuit against the closed circuit telecast of Saturday's Michigan-Michigan State football game gets fought out in court here today.

The hearing, originally set for Friday but moved up since the game is the next day, is set for 1 p.m. (EST). There may be a prompt decision by Judge Theodore R. Bohn of Wayne County Circuit Court.

Democratic State Rep. John J. Fitzpatrick of Detroit, in the past a foe of pay-as-you-see television, filed the suit on the ground the proposed telecast violates the law.

The Michigan-Michigan State game, at East Lansing, is a sellout.

The closed circuit telecast would bring the game to outlets in Detroit, Lansing, Saginaw, Flint, Grand Rapids, and Toledo, Ohio, at a $3 admission rate.

Previously, the National Collegiate Athletics Assn. (NCAA) rejected open televising of the game under its 90-mile radius rule. There are five small college games Saturday within that radius of Lansing. The NCAA rule protects against "appreciable damage" in attendance to such games from an open telecast.

Rep. Fitzpatrick, who got a restraining order that prevented a practice closed circuit telecast of the Michigan State-California game last week, charged the proposed showing violates a 1951 statute he helped to put on the law books. The law restricts state institutions, agencies or boards from participating in closed telecasts that charge a fee.

Fitzpatrick's suit was brought specifically against the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of MSU; the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, and the Detroit theaters that have contracted to be outlets for the circuit.

Bands to Be Honored

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — High school bands from Alpena, Charlevoix, Tawas, Boyne City and East Jordan will be honored Saturday at Central Michigan College's J Day. Some 300 high school musicians will perform with the Central Michigan marching band at the CMC - Illinois Normal University football game.

Autumn Lays Chilly Hands on Nation

By The Associated Press

Coolest weather of the season spread across the nation's midsection today but warmer air moved into areas east and south of the cool belt.

Brisk northwest winds fanned the chilly air from the Rockies eastward through the northern and central Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and into northwest Wisconsin. The cool weather was expected to envelop most of the Great Lakes region and extend southward into parts of Texas.

Light showers and some snow flurries fell in the cool belt and ahead of the advancing chilly air. Snow flurries were reported in the northern Rockies and parts of North Dakota, while showers sprinkled areas eastward to Lake Michigan and Illinois and southward into Arkansas.

Near freezing temperatures were reported in some Northern sections of the Midwest, with readings in the 40s near the southeastern edges of the cool belt.

Senator Morse Sees Williams for President

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams has "a good many potential delegates" in Oregon if he should try for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) told a Democratic rally yesterday.

Morse said Williams made a "great impression" on Oregon voters during a recent trip.

But Morse said at a press conference after the rally there were other "well qualified" presidential prospects in the party. He named Sens. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), John Kennedy (D-Mass), and Stuart Symington (D-Mo), and Adlai Stevenson, who got the nomination in 1956 and 1952.

Morse said he had no presidential ambitions himself.

Ex-Con Confesses Killing Pal in Area

ied Kean off highway U.S. 23 near Alpena.

"Tsermengas told us that his companions buried Kean while he stood off a distance and watched," Ziem said.

The men then went into the Upper Peninsula where they stayed for a short time and then broke up. Tsermengas said he remained in Michigan until January and then followed his companions back to Texas.

Since that time, Tsermengas returned and took up residence in Ecorse, police reported. He is a native of Galveston, Tex. Kean was also from Texas.

He was arrested on the basis of information provided by Texas Police and was held this morning by State Police at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of murder.

The hunt for Kean's body started when Capt. Jay Banks, of the Texas Rangers, came to Michigan last Saturday with information that Kean had been killed and was buried near an old hotel that had a gasoline station and a real estate office adjacent to it.

Acting on that information, authorities located the old Welcome Hotel, in Oscoda, and followed further directions to find the body in a swamp 200 yards off U.S. 23.

According to Capt. Banks, Kean had a long police record but served only one prison term, five years for a store burglary in Midland, Tex.

Banks said he had been known as a narcotics peddler and had been involved in several murders.

Local State Police detective Leaf said Tsermengas and Kean had argued because Tsermengas prevented Kean from shooting two policemen in Collinsville, Ill., last December.

It had been believed that the argument eventually resulted in Kean's death.

The men had kidnaped the officers and left them unharmed, handcuffed to a tree 90 minutes later, police said.

Little Rock Gives Up Private School Plan

tinue their education as soon as possible," Raney said.

"The closing of our senior high schools is now the full responsibility of the federal government and the NAACP. It is quite evident that they are ready to sacrifice the educational opportunity of 4,000 students to satisfy their consuming desire to mix the races in our school, public or private."

The dilemma was sparked by two federal judges in Omaha, Neb., when they issued a restraining order at the request of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, supported by the federal government.

The order instructed all persons connected with the private school plan not to take "further action to transfer possession, control or operation, directly or indirectly," of Little Rock schools.

It also forbade altering the "status quo of the senior high schools insofar as their integrated status is concerned."

The order came a few hours after the School Board has turned the four high school buildings over to the Little Rock Private School Corp. and plans were in the mill to open the schools today.

The judges made their ruling retroactive to last Thursday after Justice Department Atty. Donald MacGuineas said the school lease had been executed in haste to complete action before the hearing.

The retroactive clause apparently was aimed at nullifying any legal advantage sought by the quick transfer.

An official statement of the School Board said the board would comply with the court's order.

But Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation that leased the school facilities, said, "I don't have any idea what will be done."

He made the statement after hours of conferences and declined to say anything more.

Copies of the restraining order were served by federal marshals on teachers and others connected with the schools.

Marshals tried to serve a copy on Gov. Faubus. They were unable to get past guards at the gates of the governor's residence.

WHERE WERE YOU? — This meager turnout of about 80 persons (only 40 are shown here) at last night's Pontiac League of Women Voters' rally at Pontiac Central High School was described as "punk" by Miss Lillian H. Davidson, chairman of the program. Not showing also were some 15 candidates the League had invited to speak on their qualifications for office.

Broomfield Denies Charge of Teamster Union Support

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Congressional candidates William S. Broomfield and Leslie H. Hudson enlivened a political rally at Pontiac Central High last night when they squared off with a feud of their own over alleged Teamsters Union support.

The feud erupted when Broomfield, Republican incumbent for Oakland County's 18th District seat, strayed from discussing the nation's employment situation to labor racketeering.

"My opponent has implied that I have received a $1,000 check from the Teamsters," Broomfield injected into his talk suddenly.

"I'll tell you frankly and honestly that not one of my authorized representatives solicited or accepted one dime from that union," he told a group of 80 citizens. "I too have never accepted one dime from the Teamsters," Broomfield was quick to add.

Then he went on to ask some questions of his own of his Democratic opponent Hudson, who had just concluded his "vote for me" talk without touching on a $1,000 Teamsters check which he said earlier in the day landed in Broomfield's 1956 campaign kitty.

"Let my opponent tell the people of Oakland County where he got the photostat of the check," Broomfield demanded. "While he's at it, I'd like to know why this Dick Blake is working for him."

Hudson produced a photostatic copy of the check which he said was paid to Richard P. Blake, treasurer of a "Broomfield-For-Congress" committee, two years ago.

Hudson, who had exhausted his allotted 10 minutes as a speaker, asked Miss Lillian H. Davidson, chairman for the Pontiac League of Women Voters' rally, for extra time to answer his opponent. This was granted.

He said he requested a copy of the check, from James R. Hoffa's home Detroit Local 299, from the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington on Sept. 17.

"I believed that once this was submitted to the committee it became a matter of public evidence," Hudson explained.

With Miss Davidson reminding him his extra time was up, Hudson concluded by asking Broomfield to tell the county voters where the $1,000 went.

Then the Royal Oak Republican jumped back to the microphone and replied while Hudson was returning to his seat: "Your present campaign worker Mr. Blake should be able to tell you."

Blake, of 2730 Sylvan Shores, Waterford Township, has been unavailable for comment since news of the check broke yesterday morning.

The two-man squabble between the congressional hopefuls pumped the only life into what Miss Davidson described as a "punk" turnout for the League rally.

Around 80 persons applauded the 20 Democratic and Republican candidates who accepted invitations to speak on their qualifications for office. Thirty-five had been invited.

Besides the two congressional candidates, those for State Legislature seats and county offices, James M. Hare, Democratic incumbent for secretary of state, Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer Democratic incumbent, and Jason L. Honigman, Republican candidate for attorney general, spoke at the rally at Pontiac Central High School.

UAW-Chrysler Pact Is Believed Near before any full agreement could be reached.

Reuther expressed pleasure that about 40,000 striking GM workers had heeded his call of Sunday for them to return to their jobs so negotiations could continue without the overtone of hit-and-run strikes which the company charged were masterminded by the international UAW.

The union denied the allegation and recessed negotiations with GM for 48 hours until it could get the back-to-work directive before GM workers scattered across the nation.

The UAW said that workers at only two plants, the Detroit transmission plant in Ypsilanti employing 3,900 workers, and a Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant with 3,000 at Kansas City, Mo., had voted against a return to work today.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said the international union believed the accumulation of local grievances in those two plants were so large and of such long duration that they prompted the workers to remain on strike until their problems were settled.

He said the votes of the two locals did not represent a rejection of the international's back-to-work order.

Both Chrysler and General Motors offered the UAW three-year contracts almost identical with the Ford settlement. They provided increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour over the life of the contract and also carried increases in supplemental unemployment pay and the union's long sought severance pay plan for displaced workers.

Business Is Booming

Detroit Taxicab Driver Installs Phone in Hack

DETROIT (UPI)—Drive a cab? If so, here's one way to make an extra buck.

Put a phone in your hack. Yep, that's what Jim La Rowe of Detroit did. Brings him some extra cabbage, too.

La Rowe had serious financial problems until he installed a radiotelephone in his taxicab Aug. 4. Since then, the 54-year-old part-time cabbie says, business has boomed.

La Rowe's sister's family was burned out of their home and his brother-in-law couldn't find a job in unemployment-riddled Detroit last December. So, his sister, her husband and their four children moved in with La Rowe and his wife.

A full-time employe of United States Rubber Co. and a cab driver at night, La Rowe needed more than his total weekly income of $150.

He recalled that many of his passengers asked to stop at phone booths to make calls and doctors, attorneys and other professional men often fidgeted in the hack's back seat because they were out of touch with their offices.

Now, La Rowe drives the only cab in the city with a telephone in it. It costs him $32 a month, after the $50 installation fee, for 22 free calls. Extra calls cost 10 cents a minute, and La Rowe has found that his passengers are glad to pay the dime for urgent calls.

La Rowe's regular customers call him in the cab to tell him exactly when and where they want to be picked up.

Manager of Indians Denies 'Swap' Set

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Cleveland Indians general manager Frank Lane denied today that he had reached any agreement with the Detroit Tigers on a multi-player trade.

The colorful Cleveland chief did not deny, however, that he is negotiating with Detroit general manager John McHale in an effort to get Billy Martin and Harvey Kuenn.

It was reported that Lane and McHale were close to a deal which would bring Martin and Kuenn to Cleveland in exchange for Vic Wertz, Ray Narleski, Dick Brown and Larry Doby. It also was reported that a tentative agreement already had been made to swap Wertz for Martin.

Hospital Is Planning to Use Radioactive Material Here

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital plans to use radioactive materials to aid in the diagnosis of cancer and other disorders.

Hospital director Harry W. Whitlow announced today that a license has been granted the hospital by the Atomic Energy Commission, permitting the use of radioactive by-products under a training program set up by a national firm.

The initial cost to the hospital of from $15,000 to $20,000 for the first year includes the purchase price of radioactive sources, special instruments and installation of a diagnostic room that is shielded against outside radioactive interference, Whitlow said.

"We are very happy to be able to put in equipment such as this for the use of the general public," Whitlow said. "Medically speaking, this is a very progressive step for Pontiac."

Two hospital staff members have been licensed by the commission to handle the diagnostic program, Whitlow said. They are Dr. Harvey Bridenstien, hospital radiologist, and Dr. Lawrence Billodeau.

Alfred V. Mosier, a representative of the firm, estimated that in about a year the hospital may be ready to use radioactive materials in treatment as well as diagnosis.

"The amount of radioactivity used in treatment is thousands of times greater than that used in diagnosis," he said.

Diagnosis, he said, uses "very minute quantities" of radioactivity and is "very, very safe."

The by-products that Pontiac Osteopathic will initially use will be in the form of radioisotopes, or "atomic tracers," as they are sometimes called.

Mosier identified isotope as I-131, or radioactive iodine. Although iodine is frequently associated with treatment of thyroid disorders, the isotope is considered "basic" in diagnosis and is useful in exploring many areas of the body, he said.

Mosier explained that the first step in the diagnosis involves introducing the minute radioactive source into the patient orally.

The particles are then located within the body by means of a scintillating counter, similar to a Geiger counter, he said.

"It is the degree to which the particles do or don't congregate within particular areas of the body that is helpful in the diagnosis," Mosier said.

Behind this is the known affinity of certain chemicals, such as iodine, to certain parts of the body, congregating in them in regular amounts when they are functioning normally.

When the amounts are more or less than normal, it is an indication that the bodily organ in question is out of order, Mosier said.

Normal iodine would not emit the radioactive particles which the scintillating counter picks up. The radioactive isotope does emit these particles and that's why it is used, Mosier said.

The Day in Birmingham

Award Bids for Paving Streets and Sidewalks

BIRMINGHAM — Two bids for sidewalk and street paving projects costing a total of $43,092.50 were awarded last night by the Birmingham City Commission.

Approved were:

The low bid of $36,595 by Edward B. White of Berkley for paving Graefield road, Commerce and Cole streets.

And the J. J. Barney Co. of Detroit bid of $6,496.50 for installation of sidewalks in the southwestern section of the city.

Confirmation of the Brookside alley assessment role was held over for two weeks for redistribution of costs. Residents have asked an equal payment for all, rather than pay on the usual footage basis.

Refunds were ordered on three completed street paving projects. High estimates have left $1,237.36 on the Adams road widening project; $1,166.80 on Pine street, and $221.43 on the Midland street surfacing.

On the Lakepark street paving, the five property owners will be asked to share a $55.39 deficit on their project.

Commissioners approved the Police Department recommendation for the installation of a pedestrian traffic light at Woodward avenue and Willits street. A light no longer needed at Maple avenue and Chesterfield road will be moved to the new location at a cost of $50.

The October meeting of the Metropolitan Club, Spirit No. 9, will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Lambert residence, 1705 E. 14-Mile Rd. Hostesses will be Mrs. E. W. Kurth, Mrs. Willie Mae Dunn, Mrs. Howard Hatt, Mrs. Jean Carr, Mrs. V. Newman and Miss Winona Singers.

Fashion shows are being planned by several area churches this week.

The Sarah Hunter Guild of the First Presbyterian Church will hold one at the church social hall at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow. Dresses, shoes and hair styling will be featured.

The Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church has scheduled its show for 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Birmingham Country Club. Alvins of Pontiac will present the styles.

YMCA Drive for Members Adds 149 Here

A two-week membership campaign at the Pontiac YMCA concluded last evening with the announcement by John Benson, chairman of the drive, that 149 new members have been added to the roster.

Benson also announced that the drive for funds exceeded the goal of $21,500. A total of $22,892 was pledged, he said.

Ted Slosson, general secretary for the YMCA, said the 149 new members brought the membership in the adult division up to 777. A goal of 200 was set in the membership drive which began Sept. 15.

Slosson also announced that the fall program at the YMCA for men, women, boys and girls was now under way.

U.S. and Britain Agree on Troops

Plans for Withdrawal From Lebanon, Jordan Reported by 'Dag'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced today that the United States and Britain had agreed conditionally to withdraw their troops from Lebanon and Jordan.

He said the United States had promised to complete the withdrawal from Lebanon by the end of October if the situation improves sufficiently. He said Britain would begin pulling out of Jordan in October and would complete the withdrawal as early as the situation allows.

Hammarskjold made his announcement in a 30-page report to the General Assembly on his recent Middle East peace mission.

He said he had appointed a special representative to work out arrangements to facilitate the troops withdrawals and that the representative, Pier P. Spinelli, a U.N. undersecretary, is now in Amman.

Hammarskjold said complete mutual confidence among the Arab countries has not yet been restored. But he expressed the belief "the implementation of the good - neighbor policy will meet with growing success."

Princess Pays Visit to Night Life Spot

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Britain's Princess Margaret shoved protocol aside last night and took in "Merrie Belgium," a feature of the World's Fair that contains taverns and music halls.

The Princess, visiting the city where Peter Townsend spent five years in exile, cut short an official banquet in her honor given by the fair's commissioner-general and drove to the village.

The village is a reproduction of a medieval Flemish town on a 15-acre site at the edge of the fairgrounds. It contains 40 taverns and a number of music halls and dance halls.

She drove straight to a night club recommended by the commissioner-general and where 30 places had been reserved. But she sat down for only five minutes and refused the champagne offered her.

It was obvious she was not having anything arranged. But she did accept an invitation by Burgomaster Jean de Ronchere of the Merrie Belgium village and visited the village hall.

Seek to Limit Gas Stations

Planning Group Sees Too Many Spring Up Within Pontiac

The City Planning Commission will ask the city tonight to take steps to control the boom in gas station construction in Pontiac.

To be laid before the city commission is a recommendation for a charter amendment adopting a new state law controlling the number and location of new gas stations.

The law, passed this spring, is permissive and can be adopted by any city that desires it. But in Pontiac, to change the charter would require a public vote.

City Planner Henry C. Smith said the plan commission believes there are too many new gas stations springing up in Pontiac.

Although the commission did not have a full statistical report, Smith said he personally counted 19 gas stations within one half-mile area in Pontiac.

City inspection department records show that six new gas stations have been constructed so far this year. There were four building permits issued last year, two in 1956; six in 1955 and four in 1944.

From 1949 to 1956 there were 50 permits issued, while from 1941 to 1948 there were 27.

While not attempting to interpret these figures, Building Inspector Carl F. Alt pointed out the increase in gas station construction was accompanied by an increase in cars and highways. Some of the new stations have replaced older ones, he pointed out, and some older stations have closed down without being replaced.

Commissioners, in other business have two public hearings scheduled. One is on intention to construct combined sewers on both sides of Walton boulevard from Baldwin avenue to the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad. The other is on intention to extend the Featherstone road water main from Kenilworth road to the Jordan road line.

Up for adoption is the rezoning of 23 lots along the south side of Montcalm street between Baldwin and the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad to commercial 2. An ordinance will be introduced to rezone the northeast corner of South boulevard and Motor street to personal service.

Assessment rolls on six neighborhood projects are scheduled for confirmation. One set of rolls covers the Perry street widening program, another the Opdyke road improvement.

Mass Hunt for Boy Continues in UP

Charles Felhauser said the search would not be called off until Kenneth was found.

Hopes were raised for a time yesterday when the boy's trail was found about 45 minutes before sundown. Bloodhounds tried to follow the tiny tracks through the thick underbrush.

But a light rain had "raised havoc with the scent," police said, and the bloodhounds were unable to follow the trail.

Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scott of Kingsford, became lost Sunday afternoon when he followed two older brothers out of a hunting camp his parents were visiting.

The boys told police they saw Kenneth coming behind them and told him to return to the camp. Kenneth apparently got lost on his way back.

Industries in the Iron Mountain area closed down yesterday and workers joined in the search for Kenneth. High school students helped state troopers from every Upper Michigan post.

The Salvation Army provided food for searchers in the community-wide effort to find the boy.

The crash also claimed the lives of two of her companions and seriously injured another. They were returning from an outing at Emmanuel Missionary College in Berrien Springs, Mich., when their small foreign car was struck by a freight train.

Western Electric Strike Threatens in 33 Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten thousand repairmen and other workers in 33 cities will strike against the Western Electric Co. at midnight tonight unless their contract dispute is settled by then, their union chief says.

Possibility of a strike against Western Electric, the manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone System, was declared yesterday by Joseph A. Beirne, President of the Communications Workers of America.

The workers involved handle switchboards and other heavy equipment.

Two important B vitamins are found in eggs — thiamine and riboflavin.

Blonde Decides Husband Beats Mere Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — Shirley Klein, a 21-year-old blonde secretary, has decided she'll forego $2,500 in favor of James A. Halloran, 24, Woodbury, N.J.

The couple were in a traffic accident last May in West Virginia. She claimed she received injuries and filed civil action against Halloran. Then she became engaged to him.

Last week Miss Halloran won a $2,500 court verdict against her husband-to-be. The money would come from an insurance company, not out of his pocket.

Miss Klein might still get the $2,500 by delaying her marriage, scheduled Saturday, and waiting out an appeal which the insurance company has filed. But that could take months.

A West Virginia statute provides that a woman who obtains a judgment against her husband-to-be and then marries him prior to the appellate court action, forfeits any further contest of the case.

Potter Accuses UAW of Impeding Progress

MONROE (AP) — Labor officials are trying to kill a private atomic power project that would offer more employment, prosperity and a higher standard of living in Michigan, Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) said last night.

Potter addressed a Republican-sponsored dinner at Monroe near the site of a nuclear electric plant now under construction.

He noted United Auto Workers leaders have questioned the safety of the plant being built by the Power Reactor Development Co. (PRDC)

"The Atomic Energy Commission enforces rigorous safety standards," Potter said, "but the labor bosses, of course, will stop at nothing to discredit PRDC, even if it kills off their own members' livelihood."

Deaths Elsewhere

LANSING (AP)—Fred Walker, 55, of Carson City, a prominent Michigan dairy executive, died here yesterday in Sparrow Hospital. Walker had served as past president of the American Dairy Assn. of Michigan, and was vice president of the Midwest Producers Creameries, Inc., a milk cooperative. He is surivived by his widow, Rosalind, a son and a daughter.

ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Lawrence J. Bolton, 60, featured actor in New York's off-Broadway comedy "Comic Strip," died Sunday of a heart attack. His theatrical career covered 37 years of acting, singing, stage managing, directing, producing and writing.

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Mrs. Mable Wolfe Wheaton, 68, sister of novelist Thomas Wolfe, died Monday after a brief illness. She had suffered from diabetes.

MIAMI (UPI) — William Edmond (Dick) Breese, news editor of Pan American World Airways and former city editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal died today after a long illness. The 58-year-old Mr. Breese had been ill for the last two years.

British to Consider New Cyprus Plan

ATHENS (AP) — British Prime Minister Macmillan told Archbishop Makarios today Britain is willing to consider his independence plan as part of a final settlement of the Cyprus dispute.

But Macmillan said the independence proposal falls outside the scope of the immediate problem of setting up an interim arrangement for restoring order and developing representative institutions.

Makarios, exiled Cypriot leader, sent a personal message to Macmillan Sept. 27 saying "Cypriots would accept as a solution to the Cyprus issue a constitution of self-government for an agreed period after which a status of independence would be given the island."

The independence plan reversed the stand of Greek-speaking Cypriots that Cyprus must be permitted to unite with Greece. It was accepted Monday by Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis.

Facts on Social Security

Non-Profit Changes Made

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Several hundred thousand people working for non-profit organizations like churches and charitable groups can benefit from a change just made in Social Security.

They can if they're working for such an organization which has come under Social Security since Jan. 1, 1956, or comes under it in the future.

Here's how:

Religious, charitable and similar non-profit organizations are exempt by federal law from paying the usual taxes of a business. This means they're also exempt from paying Social Security tax for their employes who, therefore, aren't considered by Social Security.

But, the Social Security law says employes of these organizations can be covered by Social Security if, by a two-thirds vote, they decide they want to be.

If they do, the organization must request to have its tax exempt status set aside for Social Security purposes.

Until now, employes who voted to be covered by Social Security came under it (1) the first day of the calendar quarter in which the tax exempt request was filed or (2) the first day of the next calendar quarter.

But now, because of a change in the law this year:

—Non-profit organizations which have come under Social Security since 1956 may ask for coverage back to Jan. 1, 1956. They must do so before Jan. 1, 1960.

—Non-profit organizations not now under Social Security but ask to be before Jan. 1, 1960 may get coverage back to Jan. 1, 1956.

—Any non-profit organization asking for Social Security coverage after Jan. 1, 1960 may get it back one year.

Take Social Security disability payments:

To get disability payments you must have worked in a job covered by Social Security for five of the last ten years.

Suppose you work for a non-profit organization and it wasn't brought under Social Security until Jan. 1, 1958.

Unless you worked in a previous job under Social Security, you wouldn't get disability payments—under any circumstances—unless you were disabled after Jan. 1, 1963. You wouldn't have the required five years of work under Social Security until then.

This means you can go back and pick up the two years between Jan. 1, 1956 and Jan. 1, 1958 and be that much nearer to meeting the five years of required coverage.

The additional time also could make a considerable difference in the size of your retirement payments or payments to your family should you die. It might mean the difference between the eligibility of you and your family for payments or not being eligible.

But—to get the back coverage, you and your employer will have to pay the Social Security on your taxable earnings for the period.

Your organization could pay the amount of your tax and its own portion. That's up to the organization.

Just in case your organization's officials haven't heard about this change you may want to bring it to their attention.

Detroiters Jam Clinics for Salk Polio Vaccine

DETROIT (AP)—Some 5,600 Detroiters, fearful of contracting polio during the current epidemic, jammed nine emergency clinics Monday to receive protective Salk vaccine inoculations.

Health authorities have arranged for inoculations at $1 a shot. However, no one will be turned away.

There have been 482 reported cases with 16 deaths in the Detroit area so far this year. During the same period last year, 167 cases and two deaths were reported.

None of the polio fatalities had received Salk vaccine, health authorities said.

Predicts World TV by Way of Sputnik

LONDON (AP) — A Russian radio commentator today predicted a worldwide television hookup by means of Sputnik transmitting stations.

The Sputniks would have to be motionless in relation to the earth but this could be achieved if they made one revolution of the globe every 24 hours.

Nikolai Potisayev said a satellite 21,000 miles out in space would view nearly a third of the earth's surface. Three such satellites at equal distances would cover the whole world.

Estimate 468 Million Catholics in Free World

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials estimate there are 468,314,858 Roman Catholics in the world outside the Iron Curtain. There are 381,216 priests.

The country with the largest percentage of Catholics remains Italy. Of a total population of slightly more than 50 million, 46,424,805 are Catholics.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce gave a welcoming luncheon for the city's 94 new teachers. Beside each plate was a shiny apple.

50 Parakeets Missing

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP)—Irad Arnold, who raises parakeets, told police 50 of his birds have disappeared. Only the yellow and white parakeets were taken. Arnold says others were untouched. He estimates his loss at about $400.

Norfolk Closes 6 High Schools

Governor Issues Order After Board Re-Enrolls 17 Negro Children

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Restless students, police patrols, canceled football games and closed door emergency sessions of city and state officials marked a tense beginning to the closing of six Norfolk schools.

The six, three senior high and three junior high facilities with an enrollment of 10,000, were ordered shut down by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. while he considers possible ways of restoring their operation on a segregated basis.

Almond acted within the authority of the state's massive resistance to recall integration statutes. The showdown came after the City School Board renrolled 17 Negro children in compliance with a federal court order.

No major disturbances were reported. Police kept students from gathering on Granby High School grounds during the afternoon.

City fathers, school trustees and legislators representing the city huddled for 90 minutes behind closed doors. They broke up without comment.

Later, after a separate, 45-minute meeting of the School Board, School Supt. J. J. Brewbaker served notice the three senior high schools had suspended fall football programs indefinitely.

He said it would be up to Almond to resume the suspended activities.

Nighttime classes for adults in the three high school buildings also were terminated.

Actually the six schools had never opened. The new school year had been postponed until Monday while state and local attorneys pursued legal efforts to stall the effect of the integration decree for at last one more year.

Similiar closings by the governor affected 2,700 students in two white schools at Charlottesville and a white high school at Front Royal in northern Virginia. Makeshift private schooling programs are in progress at Charlottesville to accommodate the displaced children.

The State Corporation Commission granted a charter to the Warren County Educational Foundation at Front Royal.

As for a private program in Norfolk, the Tidewater Educational Foundation said it had obtained enough facilities to house 7,000 children. The segregationist organization said some 2,300 pupils have signed up for classes.

Private instruction could begin next Monday, a spokesman said, if the School Board will release teachers idled by the closure.

Peace Warrant Fails, Neighbor Tries Force

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — C. W. Smith sought a peace warrant last spring against a neighbor he accused of cursing his wife and children.

General Sessions Judge John Draper told Smith he ought to take care of such matters himself.

Smith was haled before the same judge Monday by the neighbor, Walker Ballard, on a charge of assault and battery.

"Not guilty," said the judge.

Navy Cruiser Fires Missile

Launching of Regulus I Called Success After Perfect Landing

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP)—As more than 300 guests of the Navy watched, a guided missile roared from the deck of a heavy cruiser far at sea.

A short time later the missile —a Regulus I—glided to a perfect landing at the Brunswick Naval Air Station 100 miles away. The Navy called the firing a complete success.

The launching was from the USS Macon, which was on a Dependents' Day cruise 50 miles off Boston. Wives, children and other relatives of the crew heard the Macon's chaplain, Lt. Cmdr. Ralph W. Below, give a running commentary as the Regulus was prepared for launching.

Then, with a deafening roar, the 30-foot missile lifted into the air from a boiling cloud of white smoke. With two jet planes guiding it, the Regulus picked up a course due north for Brunswick.

The Navy said similar ship-to-shore firings have been made elsewhere, but this was the first in this area.

The Regulus I, now outdated by Regulus II, is a stubbywinged missile that resembles a conventional jet plane. Its range is about 500 miles; its speed in excess of 735 m.p.h.

Bob Considine Quotes:

Who Gets Adams' World Series Tickets?

NEW YORK — Nobody yet has answered Jackie Farrell's question:

"Who gets Sherman Adams' World Series tickets?"

This might be called the death of a good story. A friend from Cleveland buzzed me the other day to give me the latest word on Dr. Sam Sheppard. Seems that he was roused late on night in his cell at Ohio State Penitentiary and told that a fellow inmate was in desperate shape. Dr. Sam was admitted to the man's cell, after unsuccessfully trying to work on him through the bars, and diagnosed the trouble as a ruptured appendix.

"Take this man to the operating room at once," the convicted slayer of Marilyn Sheppard barked.

Well, the story continued, Dr. Sam performed an emergency operation, saved the man's life, and then was given 30 days in solitary, on starvation rations, for practicing surgery without a license. He lost his license upon conviction.

So-o-o-o, I checked with colorful old Bill Corrigan, who handled Sheppard's trial and conducts his continuing appeal. Bill said it was a nice story, but it didn't happen quite that way. He said:

"Seems that a fellow named John McCormick, a Pittsburgher serving life for murder, came down some time back with appendicitis. Dr. Sam was a nurse in the operating room—his regular prison assignment. A routine operation was performed and the surgeon left the room. Dr. Sam was attending McCormick as he came out of the anesthetic. Suddenly the man choked and vomited.

"Something caught in his throat and he stopped breathing. He had no pulse.

"According to others present at the time, Dr. Sam put his fingers down the man's throat and cleared the obstruction. He then pounded and massaged the man's chest until the heart action was resumed. Today, McCormick is completely recovered. The story is known throughout the penitentiary. Dr. Sam was not punished for his act. He is still assigned as surgery nurse."

Bill had some more news on the appeals picture. The next appeal will be against a recent decision by an Ohio court that the doctor was "regularly convicted." It will be made on the ground that the court refused to hear Corrigan's evidence that the conviction was irregular. Also in prospect is an appeal based on Corrigan's charge that Cleveland Police officials secreted evidence which the doctor might have used in his defense. When and if all appeals are rejected in Ohio, Bill will take the matter elsewhere.

"You know, the Supreme Court has never passed on publicity and its effect on court cases," he mused. Sounded like a hint of things to come.

To many people, the amazing thing about the recent death of Robert W. Service was he had been alive all these recent years. Harry Martin, of the American Red Cross, fills in another little-known fact of the Englishman who captivated the world with the Spell of The Yukon.

Service drove an ambulance for the American Red Cross in World War I prior to our military entrance into that conflict. Later he served as an intelligence officer with the Canadian forces.

The ambulance days touched him deeply, and out of the emotion came a forgotten book he called "Rhymes of a Red Cross Man." He wrote:

I looked into the aching womb of night;
I look across the mist that masks the dead;
The moon is tired and gives but little light,
The stars have gone to bed . . .
Nay, I but dream. The sky is all forlorn,
And there's the plain of battle writhing red;
God pity them, the women-folk who mourn!
How happy are the dead!

Police in Tokyo Guard Paintings by Van Gogh

TOKYO (AP)—Some 150 policemen kept close guard today while eight cases of paintings and drawings by Vincent Van Gogh were unloaded at Tokyo Airport after a flight over the North Pole from Amsterdam.

The paintings were placed aboard a truck and escorted by screaming police motorcycles on a nine-mile trip to the National Museum at Ueno Park. They will be exhibited with 104 other works by the late Dutch master in a mammoth show beginning Oct. 15.

The precious cargo was insured for more than four million dollars.

Reds Reject Protest

TOKYO (AP) — Red China today rejected a British protest on a 12-mile territorial waters limit proclaimed by the Communist regime. It said the note was an "unreasonable intervention" in China's sovereignty.

Find 6 People Dead in Two-Car Collision

GRAYSLAKE, Ill. (AP) — Six persons, five men and one woman, were killed last night in the head-on collision of two cars on a highway at the top of a knoll near Grayslake.

Investigating officials found both automobiles strewn on the highway, one crumpled victim inside one car and five others dead in the second machine.

A witness said the driver of one car, alone and traveling about 65 miles an hour, was trying to pass another northbound car just before colliding with the car carrying four men and a woman. The five were members of a car pool, by which they commuted to their jobs in Chicago, about 30 miles southwest of Grayslake.

Helene Touches Island, Hustles Away to Sea

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP) — Hurricane Helene hustled out to sea and away from Newfoundland last night after visiting Cape Breton Island with 90-mile-an-hour winds.

The weather office said Helene was gradually losing her punch. It appeared Newfoundland would escape virtually unscathed.

Cape Breton residents were assessing damage expected to reach hundreds of thousands of dollars but there were no deaths.

Traffic in Sydney came to standstill as winds knocked dozens of trees and power poles, smashed store windows and crushed homes.

A 15-foot police cutter, the Fort Walsh, was driven ashore on Scatarie Island, N.S., but her 16 crew members scrambled ashore.

A large brick warehouse in Syndey was crumpled a few minutes after 20 employes darted to safety.

Harold L. Blackwood

This area loses a studious and unusual citizen in the death of HAROLD L. BLACKWOOD.

Few men spent as much time in searching analyses of current conditions and few gave greater thought to the implications of new trends. With it all, Mr. BLACKWOOD was quiet, observing and perhaps the greatest "one man listening post" in Oakland County. Few made as much effort to sound out their compatriots. And this doesn't refer to his personal associates. HAROLD BLACKWOOD had an "ear to the ground" wherever he went. He listened and probed among the butchers, bakers and candlestick makers.

He was one of Pontiac's most patriotic citizens and during his earlier years he served his fellow men in too many capacities to enumerate here. He was a willing, conscientious and capable public servant.

His loss is a loss to sober thinking and earnest contemplation. At times he was a "lone wolf" and traveled by himself. All in all Mr. Blackwood was a great credit to his community and a positive, constructive force. Pontiac people have benefited immeasurably because of his life and because of his contributions to their betterment and advancement through manifold civic activities.

Entire World Can Cheer De Gaulle's Victory

Premier CHARLES DE GAULLE won a smashing victory in Sunday's elections in France.

This is a good thing for the French. In fact, it's a good thing for the world in general.

France has been operating under a messy form of government for years. The division that corresponds to our Congress is composed of a large number of parties that see eye to eye on practically nothing at all. In addition, the Premier has been shorn of power until he stood as a political scarecrow, flapping empty sleeved and weaving about in the breeze.

"If you want me," said De Gaulle in effect, "we're going to play under a new set of rules. The code you have now for the Fourth Republic is impossible and I refuse to take over as long as the system remains. We'll end this silly business and start a Fifth Republic and under that constitution I'll have real power and the right to exercise it."

The French were weary of fiascos.

They said "yes."

And so, France faces the world today better equipped to handle her own internal and external problems than ever before. DE GAULLE will have more authority "than any leader since NAPOLEON." The overall result is a belt in the tummy for the Communists who have been a disturbing factor for many years.

De Gaulle is expected to knock out the great horde of tiny political entities which have been asserting themselves at every opportunity and figuring as private and public nuisances. "Simple pluralities will prevail."

The French are cheering.

The world can, too.

County Poet Dedicates Verses to Matthaei

On Saturday, The PRESS carried an editorial reference to FRED C. MATTHEI and now we receive a poem from J. FRED LAWTON, well known Michigan alumnus and a long time Oakland County resident.

Fred mails us verses which he wrote sometime back and dedicated to Matthaei in recognition of Fred's great interest in the athletic teams at the University of Michigan.

Here it is:

ANN ARBOR

I've seen the King review the troops,
—the changing of the Guard
I've seen and heard the big parades, on Paris' Boulevard
I've seen New Orleans' Mardi Gras,— but the sight that lures my eye
Is State Street, in Ann Arbor, when the band goes marching by!

I've seen a Western Rodeo, the Rose
Bowl's classic game
The great Kentucky Derby, where the thoroughbreds bring fame
But I would trade them all to sit beneath the Michigan shield
In old Ann Arbor's Stadium, when the teams are on the field!

When Autumn's in the offing, and the Huron's flowing free
That feelin' for Ann Arbor comes a-stealin' over me
At first a warm sensation,—then I hear a thumpin' start
I don't know how to say it,—I just feel it in my heart!

The Man About Town

Only $19 a Year

So Local Postmaster Gave Job to a Volunteer Worker

Yankees: Who were not Brave enough last year.

The dedication of our new $850,000 post office brings to mind some early historical facts. Soon after the first post office was established in the wilderness here 138 years ago, accepted the job of postmaster. He was very busy in his profession, but took the position as a civic gesture.

Dr. Olmstead Chamberlain

History records that he carried the mail in his top hat as a service to his patrons. But his income from the post office his first year was only $19, and he persuaded Pontiac's founder, to deputize one of his sons,

Colonel Stephen Mack,

Almon Mack,

for the place, and he maintained it in his store. The Macks didn't want the office discontinued, and kept it alive, regardless of its small recompense.

When the settlement grew large enough for the job to be a political plum, was named as postmaster, and later built the Hodges House, then Michigan's finest hotel, at the southwest corner of Saginaw and Pike Streets.

Schuyler Hodges

There may be nothing in a name, but

Mr. and Mrs. George Bass of Baldwin Road are flying to Venezuela —on a fishing trip.

First frost report of the season came Monday morning from of Lake Orion, who thought her tomato vines were drooping. But she called up a little later to say they were OK. "That shows what a keen imagination can do," she concluded.

My Almont scout sends word that will receive an award this week from the Michigan Bar Association in recognition of a half-century in that profession.

David Lawrence Says:

Supreme Court Is Out of Order

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States has just astonished many of the lawyers of the nation by breaking three historic precedents in judicial procedure:

LAWRENCE

1. The court has decided in advance a case not yet argued before it and which still is in process of being contested in a lower court.

2. The court now asserts that it made a certain statement in its 1954 decision about desegregation, but no such statement can be found by examining the text of the original decision.

3. The court has, in effect, affixed the signature of three justices to an opinion rendered in 1954 the argument of which these new justices never themselves heard and which had never been officially before them for decision. The opinion handed down on Monday says that since the 1954 opinion "three new justices have come to the court" and that they now "reaffirm" it. This is an extraordinary announcement.

What the Supreme Court did this week was to decide in advance that, when a state leases public school buildings to private corporations for their operation as private schools, this is an evasion.

The high court claims it made a statement covering this very point in its original 1954 decision. Here is what the court now says:

"Specifically (this case) involves actions by the governor and legislature of Arkansas upon the premise that they are not bound by our holding in Brown v. Board of Education. That holding was that the Fourteenth Amendment forbids states to use their governmental powers to bar children on racial grounds from attending schools where there is state participation through any arrangement, management, funds or property."

There is nothing at all in the Brown v. Board of Education case, decided May 17, 1954, about "any arrangement, management, funds or property." This is an issue being argued in the lower courts now, and the case hasn't reached the Supreme Court of the United States as yet.

What is even more amazing is that, where a citation of a previous case is given to support the new doctrine, there has actually been a circumvention in that same case with the approval of the Supreme Court itself. The court's opinion this week says:

"Thus the prohibitions of the Fourteenth Amendment extend to all action of the state denying equal protection of the laws; whatever the agency of the state taking the action."

The court went on to declare that the constitutional rights of children not to be discriminated against cannot be "nullified" directly or indirectly "through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted 'ingeniously or ingenuously'."

But in support of this, the court cited its own decision in the Girard College case of 1957, wherein desegregation was ordered because the city of Philadelphia—a state agency—was the trustee under an old will providing that only white male orphans should be admitted.

To get around the decision, a city court in Philadelphia afterwards appointed private trustees and the college continues now on a segregated basis.

This was, of course, a circumvention and Pennsylvania's highest court rightly approved it in 1958. Last June the Supreme Court of the United States refused to grant a writ to permit any review of this second case.

(Copyright 1958)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Rolls Before Breakfast Booster for Circulation

A good many otherwise sensible men and women have, of their own initiative, written to tell me that daily forward rolls, six every morning, somersaults as I call 'em, have corrected what they call sick headache, migraine, the blues, poor circulation, indigestion, flatulence, constipation, autointoxication, intestinal stasis, cold hands, cold feet, menstrual difficulties or sallow complexion.

DR BRADY

Makes me wonder how much ill health one may rightly ascribe to stagnation of blood in the splanchnic pool, the vast network of veins in the abdomen, and just how much influence this has on longevity.

"When I was around 50," says Mrs. G. E. L., "a doctor told my husband that somersaulting was dangerous for a person of my age. But I believed they keep me free from infirmities which many women of 50 suffer. So I kept on doing six every morning and six every evening, and now, at 70, I'm still rolling 'em every day and feeling just fine."

And yet a good many men and women under 50 have already become so stiff that they dare not try to somersault or are apt to suffer some injury if they do. Some of these poor souls with ante-mortem rigor have written me threatening to sue me — but no one has actually done so, for in my pamphlet, Invitation to the Somersaultauqua (sent free if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope), you will find, if you read the fine print, this clause:

OLD TIMERS BEWARE

"Mind, now, old timers, I do not prescribe, advise or even recommend somersaults for you or for any individual specifically. If you roll 'em at all you must do so at your own peril."

As exercise six somersaults would be the equivalent of a brisk walk around the block, I should say. I believe, however, that rolls before breakfast will put slacker blood, idling in the splanchnic pool, back into circulation more effectively than any exercise one can take in so little time.

It takes 10 or 15 seconds to do half a dozen somersaults every morning and that makes the best substitute for one who doesn't get sufficient general exercise to maintain good circulation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"Had a growth on my eyelid. Doctor wanted me to go to an eye surgeon to have it removed. Instead I applied castor oil every night, as you advise for warts, and after three weeks the growth has disappeared. Have you any suggestions for the use of wheat in the diet? (J. A. M.)"

Answer — The castor oil can do no harm, but I suggest it only for warts. For the FREE pamphlet, Wheat to Eat, send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"My husband has been using your dandruff control for several years. It is the only remedy he ever found that gives results. Before that I think he tried everything they had in the drugstores and barber shops, without relief . . . (Mrs. J. M.)"

Answer — Thank you, ma'am. Instructions in booklet The Hair and Scalp, for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Free Polio Shot Reduction May Prove Costly to State'

One thing I've always praised the Health Clinic for is giving free polio shots. Now I understand they are given free only to people on welfare. I know lots of people who aren't on welfare, but can't afford $5 for each polio shot.

If someone gets polio and hasn't any security, doesn't the State pay for the care? Just think how many shots could be given for just the cost of one case.

I don't believe in free handouts, but I still believe it was a wonderful thing to give them free.

Offers Another Bid for Fire Station

Having been a resident of the north side for 30 years, I've seen the population growth and expansion in this section. I've seen Baldwin avenue blocked hundreds of times by trains for as long as 25 minutes. With the new switch yards near this crossing, it has been more recurrent.

We should have, for the benefit of several hundred citizens who live north of this railroad, fire protection and better police protection. A new fire station north of Walton could save thousands of dollars as well as lives.

Our taxes are spent for this service and we should be entitled to the same service as other sections of this city.

'Those Responsible Should Have to Pay'

Union officials suggested earlier the epidemic of wildcat strikes was strictly "legitimate" and they did it with a straight face. This time Reuther tells them all to cut it out and get on the job.

That must mean these aren't "legitimate." Then why aren't the unions that struck now called to account in court or faced with action for financial damages? My husband's business has been damaged by these illegitimate strikes and I think those responsible should pay.

'Remove the Light and We're Stuck'

About the traffic light at Raeburn and Saginaw, for pity's sake, don't take that light out or we'd never be able to get out. The town traffic goes to and fro, shop workers and plain workers, plus the traffic at night—there's plenty to cope with. If it weren't for that light, we'd sit an hour at that corner.

'We Need More Men Like Adams'

If we had more men like Sherman Adams to place their ideas before the public in such plain terms, with the force of a life back of him, and also more writers such as David Lawrence, America would live on a much higher level both as to political morals and social unity, and life would be much more as God intended it.

Bird Club Member Tells of Starlings

As a member of the Pontiac Audubon Club, I'd like to give a thumbnail sketch of the starling. It was brought to America about 1890 from Europe, some several hundred pairs, and released in New York City, Pennsylvania and at one other place. Because of their great strength and intelligence they soon prospered and by 1936 the first was seen in Minnesota. This summer I saw them in the Yukon territory. They have succeeded all too well.

They will migrate if necessary, but will stay all winter if food is available. As for their food, they much prefer insects and soft snails of the lawns and meadows where they're most often seen. I don't believe the food habits of starlings are bad at all, as they descended on my grape vines and corn, but ate very little of either. They seemed busy looking for insects.

I'm sorry we have them, but they're here to stay. Their greatest crime is that they congregate in our cities in fall and appropriate nesting places of our native bluebirds, fast approaching extinction. It would seem education is the only hope we have of either learning to live with starlings or using some systematic method of exterminating them.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Is Your Pet Peeve Among These?

Milly's question is unusual, so scrapbook this problem and see if you care to add any of your own gripes to those presented below. I have listed a number of unrelated "pet peeves" which you can use as starting points for your own discussion.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-332: Milly D., aged 32, presided at a PTA group I addressed.

"Dr. Crane," she began during our luncheon chat, "you get a huge mail I am told.

DR. CRANE

"Do readers ever tell you of their pet peeves or gripes? For example, my husband complains about a lot of modern merchandise, which he says is poorly designed?"

Apropos of Milly's suggestion, I'll list a few of the gripes which have reached me via you readers:

"Push button" windows are the pet peeve of many men. They are fine when they work, but leave you in a jam when the window fails to close during icy weather.

Other men grumble about all the needless chrome on cars, which simply corrodes and also complicates washing of the automobiles.

"I wish these salesmen had to eat some of their gadgets," such irate husbands may grumble.

"They glamorize a nitwit gadget to help sell our wives, when the doggone thing is really a liability in the long run."

Men also gripe about their undershirts, arguing that modern armholes are so spacious that a man can fall through one.

"Look at these lousy undershirts," grumbled a friend of mine recently when we shared a hotel room.

"With all the cotton surplus, wouldn't you think they'd quit being so skimpy? Notice that this armhole reaches almost to my belt, leaving my entire side bare! Yet undershirts are supposed to cover the skin and absorb sweat, aren't they?"

WOMEN'S COMPLAINTS

Women complain that modern thread breaks too easily, which explains why buttons fall off and clothes come apart at the seams.

"It isn't our failure to sew them properly, but the thread is rotten nowadays. They don't make good thread anymore."

Other women complain about the entire thoughtlessness of their own sex, as well as of men smokers.

"Smokers have lost all concern for anybody but themselves. If we visit a restaurant and are being served our soup course, a man or woman at the next table who has finished dessert, will then light up a cigaret and blow the tobacco smoke into our soup, thus fouling its taste."

Some women complain that garage men leave grease on the steering wheel.

Others gripe about the lack of originality in the commercials on TV and radio.

"The sponsors spend big money to get a novel show; then bore us with trite, overworked commercials."

CLERGY CRITICIZED

"Our clergymen should notify us before they make a house call," some women will exclaim, "instead of catching us with a messy house and the laundry in the tub."

Some of the men dislike the tendency of clergymen to drag out the service with excessive ritual and red tape.

"Let's have a snappy service, with a few familiar hymns that have rhythm, plus a corking good 20-minute sermon," they add.

"Doddering clergymen who lean on ritual give a sissy effect to religion."

And both sexes criticize politicians for failing to cut taxes and live up to pre-election promises.

"The only way to cut taxes is to cut them," is a common remark, "so let's see more action and less talk on Capitol Hill."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Question Squillante on Gangland Murder

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent Squillante, onetime boss of New York's multimillion-dollar private garbage disposal industry, was picked up Monday night by police for questioning about the murder of mobster Albert Anastasia.

He refused to talk.

"I take the Fifth Amendment," he said over and over.

Police charged the 41-year-old Squillante with vagrancy after the interrogation. He gave his address as Yonkers, N.Y.

Squillante was released Saturday from the U.S. penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where he served 10 months of a one-year term for violation of probation on an income tax evasion conviction.

Detectives waiting near his mother's home in the Bronx took him into custody. He is one of hundreds of persons questioned in the unsolved Anastasia case.

Anastasia, who served as chief executioner for the old Murder, Inc., gang, was shot to death as he sat in a barber's chair in the Park Sheraton Hotel last Oct. 25.

Squillante proudly claimed Anastasia as his godfather.

A witness before a Senate investigating committee once described the 5-foot-1 Squillante as boss of New York's 50 million dollar a year private carting industry.

Hauls Husband Into Court for Pizza Clobbering

DETROIT (AP)—In court on an assault and battery charge, Benjamin Bezdziecki, 25, testified that his wife kept telling him what a good pizza she was eating the night of Sept. 20.

"I told her, 'If you say it's a good pizza one more time, I'll stick it in your face.'

"She did, and I did."

The judge gave him a year's probation.

Road Signs Have Language All Their Own

NEW YORK (AP)—If I live to be 100, I doubt if I'll ever fully comprehend the highway signs erected in our so-called English-speaking country.

Who writes them, anyway? Gertrude Stein? Casey Stengel in the off season? Sam Goldwyn's old English teacher?

I've tried. Honest, officer, I've tried, but I just don't get the roadside message. The argot of the asphalt escapes me completely. "Fallen rock zone," for instance. How does one recently comport one's self in a fallen rock zone?

Look up, then duck? Look down and cringe? "Drive slow"—it should be slowly but the roads' scholars decree otherwise—and give the fallen rock a sporting chance to conk me? Should I "resume speed" to avoid pulverization or hie to the nearest "roadside rest" until the rocks have had their fill of falling?

Nonsense. Let the rocks fall where they may, this sign has no place in a free society. Why should a fallen rock, which pays no taxes, much less gathers any moss, be given the right of way over a sober, properly licensed, law-abiding, sign-watching, meter-feeding, tax-paying motorist?

And "end speed zone," what does that mean? Do I start to stop speeding or start to speed to stop from stopping?

Man and hot rodder, I've been tooling along the nation's highways and byways, up "hill" and down "grade," through "thickly populated" one barn, two sheds and "densely populated" one house, two barns, three chickens areas for close to 15 years now and I have yet to encounter the stag at eve or at any other time at a "deer crossing" and wouldn't have the vaguest notion of what to do if I did.

Do the rules differ in season and out of season? What is the bag limit for a breech-loading 1953 Ford?

Come to think of it, I've never seen any eggs on the road in a "bird nesting area" or any cows at a "cattle crossing" or any backward moppets in a "slow children" sector, although several did seem a bit unstrung farther up the pike and a subsequent "slow school" sign informed me that their deficiencies were being remedied.

And please don't ask me to "beware low flying aircraft," because the old buggy doesn't have an ejection seat, or to "watch low trees," no matter how pretty in autumn, when I should be watching the road: or to "drive off bridge in event of enemy attack," as a sign on the George Washington bridge so boldly bids me. Fellows, it's a 136-foot drop into the Hudson. Let the enemy watch out for itself.

I'll "merge," I'll "yield," I'll even "squeeze," though it always makes me blush in mixed company, but I'll be darned if I'll "bump" just because a sign says so. The guy up front might be from out of state and not appreciate this legalized horseplay.

There are signs like "court quiet" and "alternate feed" which confuse and amuse me; signs like "road closed, proceed at own risk" which terrify and demoralize me, but of all sad signs that try my soul, the saddest are these:

"One mile, pay toll."

Reds Explain Loss of Planes

Claim Foe Using Guided Missiles

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claimed today the Nationalist Chinese were using U.S. Sidewinder guided missiles to shoot down its fighting planes.

Peiping charged this was "a premeditated step in the U.S. plan of a war of aggression," and threatened "punitive blows on Chiang Kai-shek's air force for this criminal action."

An article in the People's Daily, voice of the Communist regime, declared the use of the guided missile "is a military provocation of the utmost gravity."

"This is the first time in the annals of war throughout the world that guided missiles have been employed," the article declared.

"U.S. imperialism has now confronted mankind with the danger of guided-missile and nuclear warfare."

A Peiping broadcast of a Defense Ministry statement claimed that one of its planes was shot down by a Sidewinder launched from a Nationalist plane during an air battle Sept. 24. It said parts of the missile, including the nose, were found near Wenchow on the mainland, and had been put on exhibit in Peiping.

The Communists said five Sidewinders were fired during 143 Nationalist sorties over Chekiang and Kwangtung provinces on that day.

The Sidewinder, a U.S. Navy-developed missile named for a desert rattlesnake, finds and destroys target by homing on a source of heat—the jet engine in the case of an airplane. It has a warhead of conventional explosives and a speed greater than sound. It can follow its target despite evasive turns and twists.

The weapon has been standard equipment in the U.S. 7th Fleet in Formosa Strait for two years and has been produced in thousands for the U.S. Air Force.

In Washington, the Pentagon would not say yes or no as to whether the Communist claim was true.

The Peiping broadcast came after reports had circulated in Taipei, the Formosa capital, that the Nationalist air force was equipped with the air-to-air Sidewinders.

Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, Nationalist military spokesman in Taipei, denied the reports.

Nationalist air force officials have claimed, however, that 29 Red Chinese MIG fighters have been shot down in combat without the loss of a single Nationalist fighter.

Cattle Take Happy Pills

CHICAGO (UPI) — Human beings have no monopoly on tranquilizers. Livestock marketers are using a potent version of the so-called "happy pills" to calm the nerves of cattle during shipment and thus cut down on the rate of weight loss occurring in the animals.

Jackson Girl Slayer Sentenced for Life

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — John Hixon, 17, has been sentenced to life in prison for the Labor Day slaying of his girl friend Carilyn Waldron, 16.

He admitted shooting Carilyn when she said she wanted to break off keeping company with him. In Circuit Court, he pleaded guilty to second-degree murder.

Hixon, a high school graduate of last June, is eligible for parole in 10 years under Michigan's second-degree murder conviction law.

Curtains Admit Light

NEW YORK (UPI) — Curtains made out of fiberglas fabric are recommended during the winter for windows with house plants on the sill since plenty of light still comes through when the curtains are drawn to keep the room warmer.

Notorious 20-Year-Old Munich Pact Still Symbol of Appeasement

(During his recent speech to the nation on the Formosa crisis, President Eisenhower cited the Munich Agreement of 1938 in warning against appeasement of Red China. Today marks the 20th anniversary of that fruitless attempt to avert World War II. The following dispatch recounts the tragic events that led up to and followed "Munich").

LONDON (UPI) — "This is peace in our time," cried the old man with the umbrella, waving a scrap of paper.

"Peace," roared back the crowd jamming the sidewalks outside 10 Downing St. Then it burst into a frantic cheering.

The date was Sept. 30, 1938.

Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister of Britain, a "man of peace to the depths of my soul," had just flown back to London from Munich. There, only a few hours earlier, along with Adolf Hitler of Germany, Benito Mussolini of Italy and Edouard Daladier of France, he had signed the Munich Agreement, carving up little Czechoslovakia.

With him, Chamberlain also brought back a document to which he and Hitler had signed their names only that morning, pledging "the desire of our two people never to go to war with one another again."

That warm, muggy September night in 1938, Neville Chamberlain, the "man of peace," the man who had won "peace in our time," was a national hero.

PLEDGES BROKEN

But a year later, Britain and France were locked in World War II with a Nazi Germany which had broken every pledge made to Chamberlain. The very name of Munich had become for all time the symbol of appeasement, defeat and sell-out. Two years later, Chamberlain, chased from office a broken and discredited man, was dead.

But on Sept. 30, 1938, Britain felt only immense national relief at being rescued from the brink of the abyss.

The Czechoslovak crisis had been boiling up for a year and a half—in fact, ever since Hitler grabbed Austria in the spring of 1938.

Nearly 3,000,000 of Czechoslovakia's 14,700,000 population were German-speaking. Most of them lived in the Sudetenland, the strip of territory bordering Czechoslovakia's frontiers with the Reich.

TROOPS MOVED

Within days after the Austrian Anshluss, the Sudeten Germans began agitating for an Anschluss of their own. To back their demands, Hitler moved troops toward the Czech border.

The government of President Edouard Benes in Prague offered negotiations and concessions. But the only answer of Sudeten bosses Konrad Henlein and Karl-Herman Frank, both Nazi henchmen of Hitler, was to increase their demands. With Hitler's army and Luftwaffe massing menacingly, tension mounted. The Chamberlain government sent Lord Runciman to Prague as mediator in the hope of avoiding a conflict.

Benes offered new concessions, including virtual autonomy for the Sudeten—everything they wanted, in fact, short of handing the territory over to Nazi Germany.

On Sept. 12, in a speech to the Nazi party's annual congress at Nuremberg, Hitler upped his demands and called for "the right of self-determination" for the Sudetens. At the same time, he ordered his general staff to prepare for "Operation Green"—the invasion of Czechoslovakia. Now he would be satisfied with nothing short of outright annexation of the Sudetenland.

On Sept. 15 Chamberlain himself flew to Berchtesgaden on the first of three "peace" missions he was to make during the Czechoslovak crisis. He returned a worried and shaken man after Hitler told him in a three-hour harangue that he was willing to risk a world war to obtain the Sudetenland.

Chamberlain consulted with the British cabinet and on Sept. 19 he urged Benes to surrender the predominantly German areas of the Sudetenland in exchange for "general guarantees" against unprovoked aggression.

The Czechs accepted — reluctantly—in order to save themselves from isolation. On Sept. 22 Chamberlain flew to see Hitler again, this time at Bad Godesberg on the Rhine, to tell him Benes had agreed to give up the Sudetenland.

But once again Hitler upped his ante.

He told a shocked and angered Chamberlain that it now was too late for the terms the Prime Minister had pressured Benes into accepting. He demanded nothing short of immediate Czech withdrawal from the Sudetenland and completion of the handover by Oct. 1, failing which Hitler would destroy Czechoslovakia by force.

On Sept. 23 the Czechs mobilized. Next day Chamberlain returned to London. France, bound by treaty to come to Czechoslovakia's aid, mobilized 500,000 men. The British government distributed gas masks and began digging air raid shelters in London's parks.

With war clouds rolling up fast, Chamberlain made still another desperate attempt to save the peace.

He dispatched his close advisor, Sir Horace Wilson, to Berlin with a final appeal to Hitler to agree to an "orderly settlement" by an international conference. That same night, Sept. 26, in a speech at Berlin's Sportpalast, Hitler delivered an ultimatum demanding that the Sudetenland be surrendered by Oct. 1. Once this was done, he declared, "I shall have no further territorial claims in Europe."

Twice in the next 24 hours, President Roosevelt appealed to Hitler to avoid war. Hitler's reply was to give orders for "Operation Green" to begin Sept. 30.

The night of Sept. 27 Chamberlain broadcast a pathetic message to the British people speaking of "a quarrel in a far-away country between peoples of whom we know nothing."

Next day, Mussolini urged Hitler to avoid force. As Chamberlain addressed the House of Commons on the afternoon of Sept. 28, he was brought a message announcing that Hitler had agreed to a four-power meeting at Munich next day.

"I shall, of course, go," Chamberlain told the wildly cheering House.

On Sept. 29, Chamberlain, Hitler, Mussolini and Daladier met at the "Fuehrerhaus" in Munich. At 2 a. m. on the morning of Sept. 30 they put their names to the Munich agreement.

It provided that the Czechs should begin evacuating the Sudetenland on Oct. 1 and that the surrender should be completed by Oct. 10. An international commission was to supervise a plebiscite in the areas without an overwhelming German population.

Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakia's Foreign Minister, described the agreement as "a sentence without right of appeal."

Later that morning Chamberlain visited Hitler again before returning to London and signed with him the document pledging the desire of both peoples "never to go to war with one another again."

Six months later, Hitler invaded Czechoslovakia and a year later the world was plunged into the greatest conflict in its history. Even that was not the end.

China, Korea, Indochina, Malaya, Suez, Algeria, Cyprus—hardly for a day have the guns been silent.

"Peace in our time . . ."

Street Lighting District OK'd

Only Three Protests Heard at Waterford Board Meeting

There will be a special street lighting district established in several Waterford Township subdivisions on Highland road near Crescent Lake road as the result of township board action at a hearing held last night.

Only three persons were present at the hearing, mildly protesting the move to have 140 lots assessed $6.64 annually for street lighting service. The township assumes 10 per cent of the total charge of $1,098 or $108 yearly.

The Detroit Edison Co. will pay the installation costs of four 6,000-watt illuminous overhead lights, two to be installed on Crescent Lake road, and two on Highland road.

The company will also install 31 more 2,500-watt street lights throughout the seven subdivisions involved in the new district.

In other business, several residents were present inquiring about progress made regarding an open ditch on Airport road near M59. They pointed out that there was considerable more water flowing through the ditch from a new subdivision in that area during the last rainstorm.

Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson has been conferring with engineers on the matter. However, he was unable to make a report as he is attending a two-day assessors conference in Lansing. Treasurer Dorothy Olson was chairman of last night's meeting.

Eight insurance bids covering $60,000 worth of township-owned equipment were opened and referred to the township attorney and clerk for study.

Low bidder for the Fleet Vehicles Insurance policy was Clinton Leffler, of Nationwide Mutual of Pontiac, with a bid of $1,359.

Due to the absence of Johnson, board members tabled action of establishing the number of constables to be elected in the spring election.

A request to transfer a liquor license from the owners of Manny's Showbar at M59 and Elizabeth Lake roads, to Marcey Inc. was also tabled until a full board can act on the request.

Pickles were used in more than one-third of the homes covered during a week-long survey conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Bachelor With Baby Seeks Lost Parents

ELY, Nev. (AP) — Bachelor James Shelton, armed with plenty of formula and diapers, was headed for Reno today, hoping to find the parents of a 2-month-old premature infant.

Shelton became separated from the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Williams of Slick Rock, Colo., Sunday night near Eureka, Utah.

Monday morning he faced the frightening job of feeding the crying baby, which needed a special formula, and the problem of changing diapers.

The infant's plight turned into a three-state alarm when Shelton walked into a Eureka cafe. A quick call was put in to the Cortez, Colo., hospital for the formula—a special meat base preparation. The child had been released from the hospital only two days earlier.

After feeding and changing the baby, Shelton waited 15 hours in Eureka for the Williams to return. They had been in a two-car caravan and gave Shelton the baby, he said, because their car was loaded with household goods.

Shelton arrived here last night and told Pine County Deputy Sheriff Del Hofhines he intended to look for the parents in Reno. If they weren't there, he planned to leave for Lakeview, Ore., and leave the child with unidentified relatives of the Williams.

Officers said Shelton and Williams were both miners and planned to seek work in Lakeview.

Flint Slayer Sent to Mental Hospital

FLINT (AP) — A teenager who said he killed his mother and sister because the devil told him they would be better off dead was committed to a state mental hospital today.

Two psychiatrists told Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth that Roger St. Pierre, 15, of Flint is insane and probably has been for 10 years. Dr. A. T. Rehn of Lapeer and Dr. Raymond A. Jaarsma said the boy has extreme homicidal tendencies and very little control over them.

Roger's mother, Mrs. Martha St. Pierre, 44, and 19-year-old sister Donna were shot to death last month.

Judge Roth ordered Roger to Ionia State Hospital. The boy had been held for murder.

Duck Season Gets Under Way Early Tomorrow

Michigan's waterfowl shooting season gets under way tomorrow, at a half-hour before sunrise, and area hunters weren't too optimistic today over success in the local spots.

Better weather for football than duck hunting is the outlook, with temperatures in the low 60s and partly cloudy skies. Windy, drizzle or stormy conditions are usually regarded as ideal waterfowl weather. However, it's certain there will be many Pontiac and Oakland County shotgunners out bright and early in hopes of getting that first duck of the season.

Lack of sufficient rainfall during the late summer has permitted most area potholes and small ponds to dry up, cutting down the available hunting spots.

For the first time daily bag limits include only two redheads or two canvasbacks, or one of each. Wood ducks are protected. Mallards and teal can help boost the daily bag to four (8 in possession). There are quite a few of these local ducks, despite the dry weather. Geese are also legal game, starting Wednesday, for the 70-day season.

Fire Prevention Committee's Full-Year Plans Explained

As plans for Fire Prevention Week were put into high gear here today, the new year-'round activities of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Fire Prevention Committee were explained by its chairman, Sherwin M. Birnkrant.

To call attention to the national fire prevention observance, Oct. 5-11, the committee plans a big downtown Pontiac parade and field day Saturday.

"It undoubtedly will be the biggest activity ever of its kind, either here or in any other city of comparable size in the country," predicted Birnkrant.

Twenty fire departments will participate in the parade, contributing about 65 pieces of firefighting equipment, as compared to about 40 pieces in last year's parade, Birnkrant said.

Four high school bands are expected to furnish music, compared with two bands last year.

In addition, the Army is taking part this year and so is industry, Birnkrant said.

The Auburn Heights Nike base is displaying a Hercules guided missile, while Pontiac Motor Division will add some of its industrial firefighting equipment to the parade.

Birnkrant said industrial participation marks a new achievement by the fire prevention committee, which is a subdivision of the Chamber's safety committee.

He said there is now a permanent industrial fire prevention subcommittee, made up of representatives from local General Motors Corp. plants, with Asst. Pontiac Fire Chief James White as adviser.

"It is our hope that this committee will be able to help smaller industries improve their fire prevention programs on a year-'round basis," said Birnkrant.

Even the field day events have a 365-day-a-year impact for the Pontiac area, Birnkrant said.

GAIN EXPERIENCE

In practicing for the competition, the nine volunteer fire departments participating this year have gained experience in overcoming many of the obstacles that are met during actual fires, Birnkrant pointed out.

In addition, he believed the field day has brought about a spirit of increased cooperation among area fire departments—something that's important when one area experiences a fire that's too big for it to handle alone.

"Practice training and increased cooperation are definitely two of the most important results of our stepped-up fire prevention program," said the fire prevention chairman.

The committee also sponsors the Junior Fire Marshal program that takes place in the public schools in the spring semester. The program is designed to make youngsters and their parents more aware of home fire prevention.

And the committee is contemplating an Oakland County firefighting school for volunteer departments this summer, Birnkrant said.

Just a few years ago, Birnkrant recalled, the committee limited itself to promotion of national fire prevention week every fall. In the last couple years, it has developed a more ambitious program, he said, with the biggest changes coming in the past 12 months.

"It is gratifying that as the activities of our 15-member committee have multiplied, cooperation of other public agencies has increased," Birnkrant asknowledged.

For instance, he said, Girl Scouts are helping distribute posters for fire prevention week, the schools have agreed to show special movies during that period, and Pontiac fire department and city hall personnel have contributed time and materials to prepare Northside Field for Saturday's field events.

"With the help of spontaneous interest on the part of many groups and organizations in the Pontiac area, our program has changed from a once-a-year to a year-'round, continuous campaign," Birnkrant said.

Traffic Deaths at Record Low

Nation May Cut Toll by 2,000 Lives This Year if Improvement Holds

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic death toll for 1958, the National Safety Council said today, may be 2,000 less than last year and the lowest since 1954.

But, the council warned, that goal could be reached only if the same rate of improvement in cutting the traffic toll is maintained in the last quarter of the year.

The council said there were 22,880 deaths on the highways in the first eight months this year, 6 per cent below the same period last year and representing a saving of 1,560 lives.

"If the same rate of improvement can be maintained the rest of the year," the council said, "the highway death toll for 1958 will be at least 2,000 below the 1957 total of 38,500.

"But it won't be easy. The most hazardous months of the year are ahead, months of added darkness and of treacherous road and weather conditions.

"The goal can be achieved, however, if drivers are willing to put forth a little extra effort to drive as they would like others to drive, carefully, courteously, skillfully."

The 36,500 traffic death toll would be the lowest since 1954 when the total was 35,586. The record toll was 39,969 in 1941. The 1956 total was the third largest, 39,628, only 15 less than the second highest toll, 39,643 in 1937.

Pilgrims Reach Naples

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Seven hundred American pilgrims, led by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, arrived in Naples today on the Greek liner Olympia. The pilgrims visited the ruins at Pompei and the resort of Sorrento. They will leave by train tonight for Rome.

Fears Worst Is Yet to Come

Texas Valley Swept by 20½-Ft. Crest of Rio Flood Waters

By FRANK MANITZAS

PRESIDIO, Tex. (AP) — A muddy crest, loaded with debris from its rampage through the Presidio Valley, swept down the Rio Grande today toward populous border points to the south and east.

But at Presidio, Border Patrol Inspector Raymond Morris said he feared the record 20½-foot flood at this southwest Texas city of 1,000 was just a beginning.

More floodwaters from the Rio Conchos, which flows from Mexico into the Rio Grande, and from the El Paso area at the western tip of Texas were still expected.

The river, after falling for a time, rose again Monday night.

W. E. Walker, chief hydrologist of the International Boundary and Water Commission, said the Rio Grande "seemed to be taming down."

"But," he said, "there are a couple of sections that we don't know anything about." These were listed as the Rio Conchos and a long canyon through the Big Bend National Park below Presidio.

The flood, which started Sunday, engulfed farms and homes. The crest closed the international bridge here, washed out rail lines to Mexico, isolated the city of Ojinaga, Mexico, ruined valuable cotton land and washed away homes.

Two drownings were reported at Ojinaga, a city of 6,000 across from here.

No complete damage estimate was available.

The week of rain which touched off the flooding were considered a boon to many, however, by improving grass and croplands.

To produce one carat of diamonds, ordinarily about 3 tons of worthless rock must be processed.

Three PTAs in Waterford Set Meetings

Three Waterford Township Parent-Teacher Associations have scheduled meetings for Thursday night.

A 45-minute open house will be held from 8 to 8:45 p. m. at the Stringham School. Following refreshments in the auditorium, there will be a parade of children, advertising the various booths and activities that will be at the annual fair, to be held from 3 to 7 p. m. Saturday.

The parade will be pantomimed, and accompanied by the voice of a "barker" with various sound effects.

Beginning at 7:45 p. m., the first PTA meeting of the McVittie School year will get under way, to be followed by introduction of the school staff.

Guest speaker Lewis Jarrendt director of Oakland County civil defense, will speak on "Civil Defense in the Home and School." A membership drive is in full swing and parents have been urged to attend the meeting and become new members.

"Reporting to Parents" is the subject that Supt. of Schools William Shunck will present at the 8 p. m. meeting at the William Austin Burt School on Winding drive.

PTA president Frank Rudlaff has announced that a special board meeting will be held Oct. 7.

RAMBLER CUSTOM SEDAN — Built on a 108-inch wheelbase, the Rambler is designed to accommodate six passengers. The car is 18 inches shorter than other lower priced cars. Shown above is the Rambler Custom sedan.

American Motors '59 Cars in Showrooms on Oct. 8

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors will introduce its 1959 line of cars on Oct. 8 with numerous styling and engineering advances and continuing emphasis on compactness of design.

Details of the 108-inch wheelbase Rambler Six and Rebel V-8 were announced yesterday. Specification of the Ambassador V-8 and 100-inch Rambler American will be announced later.

The 108-inch Rambler line will include 11 models, all four-door vehicles. A new die-cast grille is made in two pieces. Front and rear bumpers are heavier with recessed areas for license plates. A missile-like spear extends the full length of the car.

Mufflers have aluminized coating on internal tubes, zinc coating on outer shells and heavier tail pipes, also have aluminized coating.

Optional items include: A dual throat carburetor for the Rambler Six; separate and individually adjustable front reclining seats. Head rests for the front seats, adjustable to 10 positions or removable if desired. Self-adjusting brakes on six cylinder models as well as on the V8s.

The non-slip differential is an extra cost option on the V-8 series.

A modification of pushbutton controls on automatic transmissions is a combined starter and neutral control button. This eliminates the key-start.

Appeal Is Hinted in Wilson Case

Man Spared by Folsom May Seek Reduction of Life Sentence

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Jimmy Wilson case may not be ended, although the 55-year-old Negro's death sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment.

An attorney for Wilson has hinted at new legal moves to attempt to change the life sentence.

"I still feel that the life imprisonment is extreme and harsh punishment for what Jimmy Wilson did," said Fred Gray, a Montgomery Negro attorney who represented Wilson.

Wilson had been sentenced to die in the electric chair for robbing an 82-year-old white woman.

Gray said he was gratified at the Governor's commutation Monday of Wilson's death sentence. But the attorney added, "I will do everything possible to help him (Wilson). If I feel that it is possible to do something about this excessive punishment by going further, then I certainly will do so."

The attorney declined to say what action he might take. He had said previously he might appeal the case to the federal courts.

At a news conference following Folsom's action in the case, the Governor said he had authority to rduce Wilson's sentence only to life imprisonment.

He added "I have given him clemency and it will be up to the Pardon-Parole Board to see how long he has to serve." Wilson would have to serve 15 years in prison before he would be eligible for parole from a life sentence.

Wilson, who had served two previous sentences for grand larceny, was condemned for robbing Mrs. Estelle Barker of $1.95 at her home at Marion, Ala. The elderly white widow testified the Negro attempted to rape her.

Reporter Tries It—Finds It Works

Will Hypnotism Cure Smoking Habit?

TOURQUAY, England — English hypnotist Henry Blythe did not cure a Minnesota man of the smoking habit as scheduled. But he cured me.

I went to Blythe's offices last night to report on his attempt to hypnotize Harold W. Scott, of Austin, Minn., by transatlantic telephone call, and make him give up smoking. However Scott became ill and the call did not go through and I decided to test Blythe's methods on myself.

Since the call to Scott was canceled, I realized this was a good chance to rid myself of the tobacco habit.

Blythe, 60, is a well known hypnotist, tall, with white hair and pale blue, penetrating eyes which never look at you—just through you.

He runs a successful practice here, and during the past eight years or so, has cured thousands of unwanted habits by means of hypnotism.

So I asked him to cure me.

We went into his consulting room. He stood very close to me and ordered me to stare at a point on the bridge of his nose. Then he made me tilt back my head, and he eased me into a comfortable chair.

He told me to relax—(which I did)—and to go to sleep (which I didn't).

At least I don't think I did.

HEARD EVERY WORD

I can remember everything that happened, every word he said. And I remember thinking that I was not hypnotized and that I could get up and walk out of the room any time I liked.

But I also remember that I could not bring myself to make the effort.

My eyes were closed, I was completely relaxed and quite willing to let Blythe drone on and on about the evils of smoking.

"You will not wish to smoke," he said. "When you find your pocket you will snatch it away without letting your fingertips touch the cigarettes."

I opened my eyes when Blythe told me to. I felt exactly the same, apart from a slight numbness in my fingertips. Blythe told me I had been in a state of light hypnosis and could have brought myself round any time I wished.

He gave me a long-playing record he has made, called "stop smoking." I must play this and look at his picture any time I feel I am weakening.

I don't know whether I'm cured of smoking or whether the fact that I have not smoked since being "hypnotized" is just because I feel obliged not to.

It was midnight and it was dark when I climbed aboard the train for London. I settled in a corner seat and reached for my cigarettes.

Something told me I shouldn't smoke . . . I looked up, and on the window was a little triangular sign which said:

"No Smoking."

Adenauer Goes to Berlin With Parliament

BERLIN (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived in Berlin today for a meeting of the West German Parliament behind the Iron Curtain.

The West German Parliament moves to Berlin once or twice a year for its sessions to give moral support to West Berliners living 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Adenauer was met at the airport by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt.

Adenauer told the welcoming party he hoped the Bundestag session in Berlin would illustrate the determination of Germans to reunited their country.

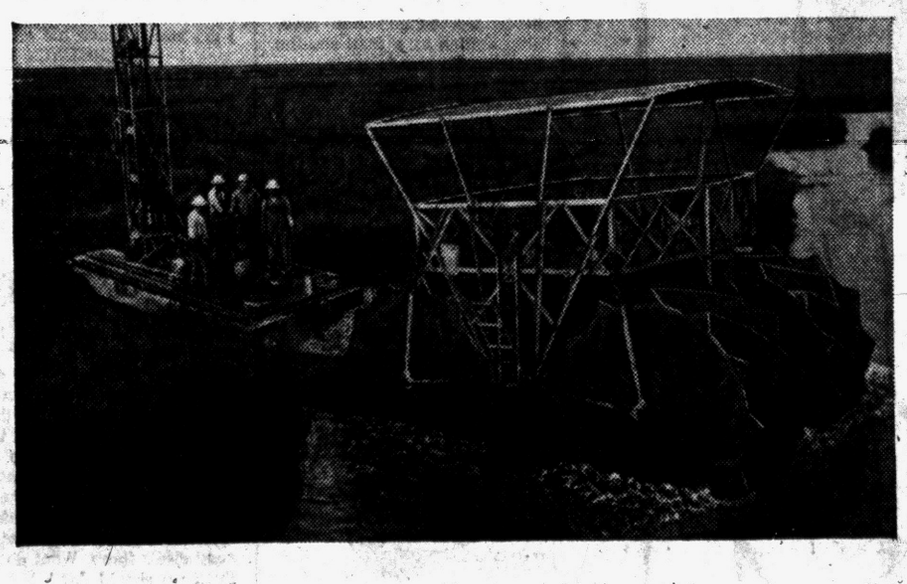
JUST "SHRINKING" PILES ISN'T THE ANSWER!
NO SURGERY NEEDED TO HEAL SWOLLEN PILE TISSUES while you shrink them!
To stop nagging discomfort of swollen piles in minutes, thousands use Stainless Pazo®. Not only reduces tissue swelling but stops pain at once, promotes healing of inflamed tissues too—all without surgery! Preparations that just act to "shrink" piles can't offer complete symptomatic relief. For real comfort, fast, you need this more complete medication.
In doctors' tests, patients had immediate relief. That's because Stainless Pazo combines the most effective ingredients known for piles. Thus works 3 ways at once: (1) stops pain, itching in minutes; (2) shrinks tissue swelling, congestion; (3) promotes healing of raw tissues. You get immediate new comfort while Nature's own healing magic goes to work!
Don't suffer needlessly. Get Stainless Pazo Suppositories or Ointment at druggists. Get relief without surgery or money back!

WHAT CAN A FISH BOWL TELL? The tiny plants and animals that grow in this "fish bowl" will be similar to those that grew in oceans fifty million years ago and more. The aim of this experiment is to add to man's knowledge of where to look for oil deposits. Pictured is Dr. F. G. Stehli.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS may be interested to know that pollen is helpful—in the search for oil, that is. Here Dr. A. T. Cross studies traces of pollen in rock millions of years old to interpret underground formations. A comparatively new science, this study of ancient pollen opens previously explored areas to new examination.

THE SEARCH FOR OIL goes on in some of the most inaccessible regions in the world. And expensive, specially-built equipment like this "swamp buggy" is needed to overcome the obstacles of nature and to find more new oil every year than is taken out of the ground.



Time turned back 50 million years; Scientists seek new clues to oil!

Tiny marine plants and animals, very like those living when dinosaurs roamed the earth, are being grown today in a research laboratory.

In glass containers similar to fish bowls, scientists of Pan American Petroleum Corporation, a Standard Oil affiliate, have transplanted sand and sea water from an ocean shore line. Then, by controlling temperature, pressure and salt content, they have simulated the environment of plants and animals that grew 50 to 300 million years ago.

The chemical composition of the microscopic life that grows in the laboratory will offer more positive clues to the type of environment of ancient fossils; that is, whether the tiny animals lived and died in deep, shallow, or protected water.

This knowledge will help scientists to map ancient seas with greater accuracy, to pinpoint the location of prehistoric shore lines and barrier reefs where conditions were ideal for oil to form. Such knowledge will improve our ability to find oil in sufficient quantities to meet today's steadily increasing needs.

This is another example of the way research works at Standard and its affiliates to discover quicker, surer methods of finding oil, to keep the supply up and the price down.

As the result of such trail-blazing research work as the fish bowl project, America's proved underground reserves have grown larger, prices have remained reasonable, and America has been assured of an adequate supply to keep its defenses strong.

What makes a company a good citizen? One measure is a company's concern for the welfare of future generations. In our business, a "let-tomorrow-take-care-of-itself" attitude would be disastrous. Through research, we at Standard are working to make life more comfortable and secure for all—today and for the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Furman Stewart of Clarkston were the attendants.

Pontiac Symphony Truly Representative

By DORA DAWSON

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, whose 1958-1959 season opens Oct. 14 is truly a community orchestra, for among its players are members from Bloomfield Hills, Orchard Lake, Waterford, Drayton Plains, Birmingham, Clarkston, Rochester, Keego Harbor, Lake Orion, Milford and Walled Lake. At times other players are needed from the Detroit area.

The orchestra has been a good training ground, where valued experience has been gained.

Donald Roth of Ferndale, who plays the French horn, has been with the Pontiac Orchestra for three years and will be in the ranks of the Detroit Symphony. Isadore Soslev, violinist, has been with the Orchestra four years and has also played in the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Barbara Wilson of Ferndale, who has played string bass for the past three years with Pontiac has signed with the Houston Symphony Orchestra.

MANY ADVANTAGES

There are several interesting things to consider about a community orchestra where local people are the players.

Their being a part of the orchestra reaches the hearts of the audience and a warm informal feeling in listening is enjoyed.

Soloists add luster to programs, but the feeling that "our" orchestra is making good, helps a community.

According to the American Symphony Orchestra League, the number of orchestras has doubled in the last 10 years, also attendance has doubled, and American taste is not satisfied with hackneyed music nor does it wish to be played down to.

In looking over the last four years' programs of the Pontiac Symphony, under the direction of Francesco DiBlasi, there has not been so-called 'long haired' boring music.

People who had anticipated this, have been surprised at the verve and unity of harmonized tone that has given listening pleasure.

DIVERSITY OF MUSIC

There has always been a diversity of types of music, ranging from moderate classical to excerpts from the best light operas and a few delightfully musical modern compositions which have called for repeats.

The aim has been to have a balanced, complete and short program with definite good-music appeal.

The coming season offers another well planned series of five concerts with violin soloist Mischa Mischakoff, concertmeister of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, appearing at the first concert at Lincoln Junior High School.

Francesco DiBlasi, who has proven himself to be a talented conductor, will continue as director of the Pontiac Orchestra.

Queen Mary Unit Holds Luncheon

Queen Mary Section of the Needlework Guild met with the group president, Mrs. Charles Clarke for a luncheon meeting. Mrs. Walter Spurrier assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Harvie Little reported on the number of garments purchased by the group for the annual ingathering. Mrs. Clarke displayed girls' dresses she has made for the ingathering at the Thursday luncheon.

Mrs. Charles Shearer will open her home on West Longfellow avenue for the Oct. 9 meeting.

Vera Maxwell to Appear Here

New York dress designer Vera Maxwell will be on hand to answer questions about the new look and the new hemlines Wednesday when she presents her fall collection of dresses, suits and coats at Kingsley Inn.

The showing will be held following the 12:30 p.m. luncheon.

Dear Abby...

Truly Mournful Situation

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I recently buried my husband after twenty-three years of a happy marriage. All of a sudden his ex-wife appears on the scene dressed like a widow in mourning. She screamed and carried on at the funeral like he was still her husband and I had to go some to keep every body from thinking she was taking it harder than me. As far as I know he was good and finished with her years before I met him. I hear she goes out to his grave every day in her widow's outfit and cries and prays. Can I have her locked up?" REAL WIDOW

ABBY

DEAR REAL: It must be obvious to everyone that this poor creature is sick. Let her live with her memories and pay no attention to her.

"DEAR ABBY: Recently, while at my employment as a secretary, a prominent businessman of this city picked up the newspaper, glanced at your column and stated that he believed the column was probably written by a man and the letters were 'made up.'

"If there are other 'Doubting Thomas' readers may I say that about a year ago I wrote to you asking for advice about my engagement. You told me to break it, and wait. I didn't take your advice, but got married anyway. The marriage lasted four months and now we are separated. I hope and pray that other advice-seekers will benefit by my experience and heed good advice when they get it. Very truly yours. C. J. P.

"DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument that has been going on for four years? How often should a grown man change his socks?"

FIGHTING MAD

DEAR FIGHTING: Every day—if he wants to put his best foot forward, that is.

"DEAR ABBY: I was called away from home to be with my ailing mother. Every night my husband calls me long-distance and asks me when I'm coming home. I can't tell him because I don't know how much longer my mother will last.

"When I left I intended to stay till the end, but nobody knows how long that will be. Only the Lord knows, I left enough frozen dinners in the freezer to last till Christmas and he can send his laundry out. We have no small children to worry about. How can I get him to leave me alone?"

EMERGENCY TRIP

DEAR EMERGENCY: After three months of eating "frozen dinners" you could return to find a pretty cold husband. Your mother's doctor should be able to tell you approximately how much longer your presence is required with your mother.

"DEAR ABBY: Our tax collector is 79 years old and last week she went on a two-week vacation trip with her boy friend who is also 79. Now this lady goes to our church every Sunday, but do you think it is all right for her to take off on a trip with a man and then brag to everybody about it? Her own daughter can't tell her anything. This lady is the first one to point out somebody else's flaws. What do you think we should do?"

HER FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: This "lady" and her "boy friend" don't need their parents' consent to go on a trip together. Unconventional behavior is deductible from the reputation. There is nothing you can do.

Tables Turned

Men Now Look Older Than Wives

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In the past when a husband and wife were the same age, the wife often looked much older than the husband from middle age on. However, today the tables are turned and the man in the family may look like her father or older brother.

This is due to many factors. In the first place, the economic struggle to provide adequately for a family is much greater today than it was in the past. Also, families seem to expect more. They take for granted an electric washing machine, vacuum cleaner, refrigerator, and at least one car.

The children must have music lessons, speech lessons, dancing lessons, tennis lessons. Tooth-straightening and allergies have made their appearance to further harass the budget.

Also, women always have been more health-conscious than men, or perhaps what I really mean is figure-conscious. It works out the same. Along with woman's interest in calorie-counting, she acquired a knowledge of good nutrition.

Until recently man somewhat shunned weight control since he considered it vain. Today, of course one knows that it is a question of that attitude has changed. Every- health.

Women seem to be more prone to overweight than men. One reason is that she samples while she cooks.

Women seem to be more prone to overweight than men. Perhaps one reason is that the average woman is less sports-minded and she also samples while she cooks. In addition, the skin is thinner and lines more easily. She was very apt to gain weight and keep it after her first pregnancy. For these reasons a woman often looked older than her husband but that was yesterday.

When things became harder for father, they became easier for mother. Modern woman now has so very many household appliances which give her much more leisure time. She also knows many more tricks about hair-styling, makeup, figure-molding and individuality in dress.

If the modern man does not want this little woman to look like his daughter, he should heed the handwriting on the wall.

Three Is a Crowd at Times

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I meet a girl friend on the subway station and we ride to work together. The other morning when I arrived at the station she was already there and was talking to another young woman—a stranger to me. When I saw this, I did not go over to her as usual, but stood a distance from them.

"When I saw this friend the next day she accused me of being 'high hat.' Will you please tell me whether or not it is proper when two people are talking together for a third person to join them? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: If they seemed absorbed in their conversation, I think it was better not to join them unless she made some sign to you to come over. If, on the other hand, they didn't seem especially interested in what they were saying, it would have been quite all right to join them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently, my supervisor gave me three tickets to a symphony which he was unable to use. I invited two of my friends to go with me. Although I thanked him for the tickets myself, I also thought my friends should send him a note of thanks. May I have your opinion on this?"

Answer: Your thanks for the tickets was sufficient. The persons you invited to use the tickets owe their thanks to you, not to your supervisor.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon for the second time. I am a widow. I would like to know if, after my marriage, I should retain my middle name or my maiden name?"

Answer: You discard your first husband's name and retain your maiden name.

Married Saturday morning at St. Michael Church were Patricia Kay Sutton and Donald Eugene Kleindl. Parents of the couple are Mrs. William Sutton and the late Mr. Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kleindl.

MR. and MRS. DONALD E. KLEINDL

Patricia Kay Sutton Wed to Donald Eugene Kleindl

Patricia Kay Sutton and Donald Eugene Kleindl were married Saturday morning at St. Michael Church. The Rev. Norman Thomas officiated at the ceremony before 150 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. William Sutton of Tacoma court and the late Mr. Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kleindl of Westbrook street.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin featuring a Sabrina neckline of scalloped lace and fitted bodice. Her fingertip veil fell from a headpiece of seed pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donna Mae Naugle, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore an Autumn gold crystallette princess style gown with a matching headpiece and carried a basket of gold chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Constance J. Ladd and Jeanette L. Ball. They wore matching princess style gowns of crystallette with bustle back bouffant skirts. Their headpieces matched their gowns and they both carried baskets of rose colored snapdragons and chrysanthemums.

Vickie Sutton, the bride's cousin from Marysville, wore an ice blue taffeta gown and carried a blue flower basket with matching snapdragons.

Joseph Kleindl was his brother's best man. Ushers were Howard Crampton and Michael Collins. William Donnell was ringbearer.

A reception was held at the Roosevelt Hotel. For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a tailored two-piece green floral suit with black accessories.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sutton wore a dress of silver lace over pink taffeta with matching accessories and a pink orchid corsage. Mrs. Kleindl wore a brown jersey dress with olive green accessories and a green orchid corsage.

Wilson PTA Holds Tea for Mothers

Ingrid Bergman's Own Story:

Rough Winds Buffet Those on Top

(The second of five dispatches in which Ingrid Bergman discusses her life in an interview with a British newsman who was her guest for two weeks in Wales. Today, Miss Bergman tells of her reaction to public attacks on her, and talks about love and the children she bore to Roberto Rossellini.)

By RALPH COOPER
(For United Press International)

Ingrid Bergman's friends often say to her, "I wouldn't blame you if you never spoke to another newspaperman in your life." They know she has been deeply hurt by some of the things that have been reported about her, her daughter Pia ande Roberto Rossellini.

But Ingrid herself is apt to shrug her shoulders and say quietly, "It is their job—if they don't get what they come for, they only get into trouble . . . and I don't like trouble for anyone."

Explaining this, she told me:

"I can still remember the time I had my first cry over what people said about me. I was still at the stage where I got excited about interviews and pasted every little clipping in my cuttings book.

"It was about the time of 'Intermezzo'. There was something—I can't remember what it was—probably something very silly—which I thought was unfair . . . and the Swedish actor who took the Leslie Howard part found me in tears . . . and gave me some very good advice.

"He was a very fine actor . . . and this is what he said, 'If you are going to cry about a little thing like that . . . what will you do when you are a big artist? Always remember,' he said, 'that the higher you go, and the more talent you have . . . the harder it will be . . . it's windy up there, on top . . . and it's a rough wind that gets rougher the higher you go.'

"I've certainly found out since that he knew what he was talking about.

"I suppose it doesn't really matter what they write about you as long as they say it. That actor told me 'Whatever they say about you . . . don't cry. The time to cry is when they don't talk about you' . . . and I suppose that is so . . . even when they say 'you are a shameful person and should never show your face on the screen again.'

"The bitterness with which things like that were written about me astounded me. I was not prepared for it and I just could not understand it."

I suggested, "I think it showed the depth of feeling and affection people had for you," and Ingrid said, "Yes, I think it did. They thought so much of me that when I fell in their estimation there was so much farther to fall."

She sighed, and went on:

"Whoever said that 'love makes the world go 'round' spoke the truth. Being loved, and having the capacity to love others is the most important thing in the world—with honesty.

"I value honesty . . . in myself and others. Whatever I have done, I have tried to be honest . . . the hypocrite's way—the hidden way— may sometimes be the easier line to take . . . but that's not for me.

"To be honest one has to be courageous . . . and without courage . . . what is there? Without courage you are even afraid to live.

"It is because I know how important love is for happiness that I try to keep my children as near to me as possible . . . to give them all the love they need, so that when they are older they can also give and receive it."

Ingrid's children—Robertino, now 8, and twin daughters, Isabella and Ingrid, 6, are never very far away from her.

Married Saturday were Maria F. Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose A. Moran of East Wilson avenue, and Martin N. Barron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barron of Port Huron.

MR. and MRS. MARTIN N. BARRON

Wed in St. Vincent Rite

St. Vincent de Paul Church was the scene of the Saturday wedding of Maria Fidelia Moran and Martin Nicholas Barron of Wilson avenue. The ceremony was performed in the presence of 25 witnesses.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Angel Moran of East Wilson avenue, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barron of Port Huron.

The bridal gown, of white lace with a ruffled back, featured a scoop neckline. The bride's veil was held by a crown of pearls and rhinestones, and she wore a strand of pearls.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Petra Salaz. The bride's sister, Josephine Moran, was junior bridesmaid, and Kathy Alvarado, Juanita Moran, Bertha Alvarado, and Angelina Velez were bridesmaids. The bride's sister, Olga Moran, was flower girl.

Best man was Samuel Salaz. David Moran, was ringbearer.

A breakfast followed the ceremony, and 350 guests were present at an evening reception held at the UAW-CIO Hall.

For a trip north, the new Mrs. Barron wore a pale pink suit with pink accessories. The couple will reside on Ferry avenue.

Marilyn Smith, Ronald V. Rewa Speak Vows

Marilyn G. Smith and Ronald V. Rewa were married at St. Michael's Rectory.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Smith of Westbrook street and Mr. and Mrs. Val Rewa of Chamberlain street.

The bride wore a butternut dress with brown accessories and a yellow tea-rose corsage for the Sept. 15 ceremony.

Mrs. George Hensel was matron of honor.

Baptist Unit Names Committee Chairmen

Sealtest Cranberry Cloud Salad

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups cranberry juice
¼ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. sugar
1 lb. can whole cranberry sauce
2 cups Sealtest Cottage Cheese
½ cup finely diced celery
6 cups mixed shredded greens (lettuce, chicory, watercress)
1 cup grapes
1 cup orange sections, cut in small pieces
¼ cup French dressing

Soften gelatin in 1 cup of the cranberry juice. Heat until dissolved. Remove from heat and add salt, sugar, cranberry sauce; mix well. Stir in remaining cranberry juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat cottage cheese with rotary beater until almost smooth. Gradually mix in chilled cranberry mixture and celery; blend thoroughly. Pour mixture into 8 x 8 x 2" or 9 x 9 x 2" pan and chill until firm. Unmold and cut in 6 equal portions in each direction making 36 cubes.

In a salad bowl combine mixed greens, grapes and orange pieces. Toss lightly with French dressing. Arrange cubes of molded salad over greens. For each serving, place 4 cubes over a scant cupful of the tossed salad around a small mound of Sealtest Cottage Cheese. 9 servings.

Nixon Rallies Indiana GOP

Delivers Strong Defense of Foreign Policy in Indianapolis Speech

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon rallied Indiana Republicans Monday night with a strong defense of administration foreign policy and a warning of "frightening" economic results if Democrats strengthen their congressional control.

He addressed a slim partisan crowd of about 4,500 in the Indiana Fairgrounds Coliseum immediately after speaking to some 2,600 guests at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner.

In a news conference after arriving at Weir Cook Airport he said Republicans face defeat in the Nov. 4 election unless they reverse the present trend. But he declared an all-out fight can win control of Congress for the GOP.

Nixon's speech was the opener in a personal campaign for Republican Senate and House candidates which will take him next to the West Coast today.

He said of administration policy in the Formosa crisis that the Communists can only be dealt with from a position of strength, and that letting the Reds take Quemoy, Matsu and Formosa would not solve the problem.

"The whole free world's position in Asia is at stake," he warned. "The Communists want us completely out of the Far East."

Nixon said higher taxes, cheaper money and the stifling of private investments would follow a "wild spending binge" if the Democrats strengthen their control of Congress.

He described the six years of the Eisenhower administrations as "the best six years in the history of this country" and assailed "malicious and false charges of Harry Truman and other Democratic orators that this administration's policies have been good for big business and the rich, but bad for 65 million American wage earners."

Ticking off a list of comparisons of national income, jobs, and wages under Truman and under Eisenhower, he called Truman "loose with the truth—and he's setting a record in this campaign."

Nixon told newsmen he didn't believe the Sherman Adams affair would be a decisive factor in the campaign, and he told the audience:

"If they want to fight out this election on the issue of honesty in government, we'll be glad to—and we'll give them the shellacking of their lives."

Local Rite Saturday for 1st Lt. Pearsall

KEEGO HARBOR — A memorial service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Ascension Lutheran Church in Pontiac for 1st Lt. Curtis J. Pearsall, 24, who was killed Sept. 16 when his T33 jet training plane crashed into the Pacific near Guam.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon L. Pearsall of 3024 Stapleton Dr., Keego Harbor.

The family said memorial tributes may be made to an education trust fund being set up for Lt. Pearsall's 2-year-old son, Bradley. Accepting the tributes will be Lt. Pearsall's brothers, Maynard of 4690 Pinedale St., and Sheldon Jr. of 4150 Athens St., Drayton Plains. They will act as executors of the fund.

Music Tour Is Offered

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — A new study tour in European music festivals will be offered next summer by Central Michigan College. Good for four hours of credit, the tour will take in concert and festival performances in France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and Belgium.

Program Set for Educators

Purpose Is to Sell Area High School Students on Nursing Careers

More than 75 high school counselors and leaders from 12 high schools in Pontiac and surrounding area will attend an educational program and lecture sponsored Oct. 9 by the Detroit and Tri-County League for Nursing in the northern branch office of the Oakland County Department of Health, 1010 W. Telegraph Rd.

The purpose of the meeting, scheduled to start at 3 p.m., is to sell high school students on careers in nursing by explaining the requirements, value and future of the profession to the advisors.

Invited to participate were leaders from the following schools: Avondale, Lincoln Junior High; Pontiac High; Rochester Senior and Junior High; Pontiac St. Frederick, St. Mary and St. Michael; Walled Lake Senior and Junior High; Waterford Township and West Bloomfield schools.

The lecture will be given by Mrs. Esther Sherrod, RN., director of the McAuley School of Practical Nursing.

The talk will be aimed at aiding high school counselors, principals, assistant principals, teachers, sponsors of Future Nurses Clubs, and youth group leaders in guiding youngsters into the various nursing schools and classes in Michigan.

Mrs. Sherrod will discuss the educational programs which lead to a career in nursing—the college degree program, the three and two-year courses in hospital and junior colleges and practical nursing. She will touch on the various types of positions open to professional and practical nurses and explain the qualifications for nursing.

Community Work Topic for Speech

DRYDEN — Two Detroit Edison Co. representatives will show movies and speak on community development at the regular meeting of the Dryden Area Development Assn. at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Ladies Library Hall.

Having as its slogan, "Dryden for a Greater Tomorrow," the Association was formed by civic-minded persons for the purpose of advancing commercial, industrial, agricultural and civic interests of the Dryden area.

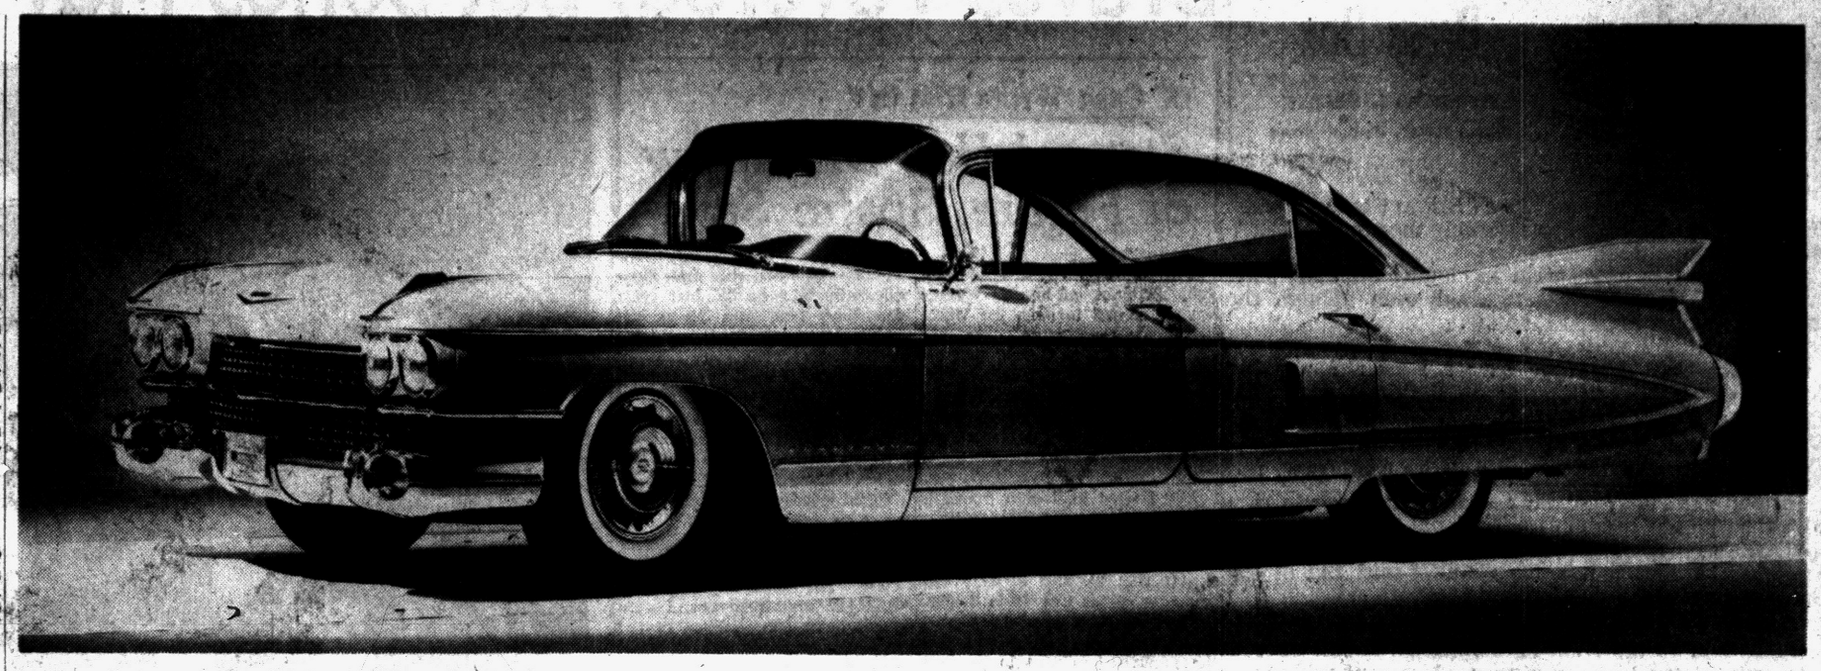
Late in November or early in December, the association plans to hold a white elephant sale to raise money for community projects.

Donations of used clothing, toys, furniture, dishes, livestock or farm produce of any kind are being accepted.

In charge are Ross Reynolds and Don Hagemaster.



New Engine, Lower Body Feature New Cadillacs

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — A new engine, lower silhouette, new shock absorber design, increased expanse of glass and refinements in brakes, transmission and frame are among the features of Cadillac's 1959 cars.

The cars go on dealer display tomorrow.

The new models range from 2.3 inches to 5½ inches lower. In some models the roof slightly overhangs a higher and wider windshield and rear windows. In others glass and roof form an almost unbroken line.

The jeweled front grille is retained for 1959. A rear grille with a thinner line of corresponding inserts is new. The hood cover, extending on the side to the center of front fenders, is broader. A fender crown molding conceals hood opening lines.

The 1959 line consists of four series, the 60, 62 and 75 with 12 body styles, and the one custom series, Eldorado Brougham in a single sedan body style.

A redesigned front grille has a chrome divider bar separating it into two sections. The new engine's compression ratio has been increased to 10.5 to 1 from 10.25 to 1 in the 1958 line. Horsepower is 325 in standard versions and 345 in the Eldorado models.

By redesigning the shock absorbers, engineering have prevented air from mixing with oil in the cylinders.

Factory list prices for the Series 62 sedan, Coupe de Ville, Sedan de Ville, convertible, Fleetwood Series 60 Special sedan and Eldorado Brougham remain unchanged from the 1958 level, according to James M. Roche, general manager of Cadillac Division.

Two models, the Eldorado Biarritz and Eldorado Seville, have been lowered $93, while the Series 62 coupe has been increased $100.

Factory list prices (excluding federal, state and local taxes, destination and dealer delivery and handling charges) of the 1959 models are:

Sixty-two series: Sedan (4- or 6-window), $4,650; coupe $4,475; Coupe de Ville $4,810; Sedan de Ville (4- or 6-window), $5,040; convertible, $5,000; Eldorado Biarritz, $6,817 and Eldorado Seville, $6,817.

Sixty Special series: $5,700.

Eldorado Brougham: $12,000.

Prices for the Series 75 limousine and seven-passenger sedan will be announced later.

ON DISPLAY TOMORROW — Cadillac's 1959 models will be on display in dealer showrooms tomorrow. Above is shown the Fleetwood Sixty Special sedan, one of the most popular of Cadillac models in past years. Lower picture shows the rear view of the 1959 Series Sixty-two coupe. Extensive use of glass for the rear window and lower deck are features of the new styling. Cars will be shown here by Jerome Motor Sales, 280 S. Saginaw St.

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Elizabeth Missionary Circle of the West Bloomfield Baptist Church, 4900 Orchard Lake Rd., will present a skit entitled "Three R's for Missionary Children" at its first fall meeting at 7:30 this evening at the church.

Presiding over the program will be the Rev. J. Richard Muntz, pastor. Mrs. Glenn Portus will have charge of the business meeting. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Richard Thompson and Mrs. Clyde Gibbs.

To Confer Degrees

LAKE ORION—Members of the Orion Lodge 46, F&AM, will confer Master Mason Degrees this evening at the lodge hall, following a dinner served by the Orion OES 340 at 6:30 p.m. Rochester Lodge 5 members will be guests and will exemplify the degree work.

Bagwell Blasts Road Program

Urges Bee-Line Routes to Connect Michigan With U.S. Heartland

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's one and one quarter billion dollar, five year state road building program was assailed today by Paul D. Bagwell, Republican governor nominee.

Calling it a plan for "bigger bits and bigger snatches" of highways, Bagwell instead urged "bee-line highways connecting the peninsula of Michigan with the heartland of America."

"Without adequate highways to the great throughway which now connects New York and Chicago," he said, "Michigan is an economic island."

"Michigan needs a good dose of geo-economics applied to its highways," he added.

The GOP candidate's views were blocked out in a "bluebook" issued through his headquarters here while he campaigned in southwestern counties.

Bagwell said the Indiana-Ohio toll route is as important to the economy today as the Union Pacific Railroad was in the 1880's.

He said great savings in commercial shipping time and shipping costs could be achieved by better integration of Michigan highways with the transcontinental system.

"The failure of the Governor in past years to make this apparent is another cause of our economic decline," he said, and represents "another cause of the Williams depression in Michigan."

"The Governor deplored highway construction on the basis of 'chopped up spaghetti.' His own highway commissioner is proving himself an expert on this kind of construction," Bagwell said.

He called for a "crash program" and a "scientific and long range economic study" to remedy matters.

The east-west toll route was described as a potential "bonanza" for Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. PRICE

Joyce Jean Combs Weds W. G. Price in Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford Township was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Joyce Jean Combs to William G. Price. Performing the rite was the Rev. Arvid Anderson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Combs of 614 Hillcliff Rd. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon D. Price of 5390 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

For her wedding the bride chose a full-length gown, featuring a Sabrina neckline trimmed with sequins, princess style waistline, long tapered sleeves and a fitted bodice. Her shoulder-length veil was accented by rhinestones and beads and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, roses and lilies of the valley centered by a white orchid on a white prayer book.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Jack Beauchamp of Pontiac. Miss Carol Hillman of Drayton Plains and Mrs. Richard Rollman of Pontiac were bridesmaids.

Best man was Russell Sill of White Lake, while the attendants were Gerald McCalum, Don Skinner and Larry and Douglas Combs, all of Pontiac.

The reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

Upon return from their honeymoon in northern Michigan, the newlyweds will make their home on Chandler avenue, Pontiac.

Area D Teachers Dinner-Meeting on Thursday

FARMINGTON — Area D, Department of Classroom Teachers, will hold its first monthly dinner-meeting of the new school year at 6 p.m. Thursday at Farmington Junior High School, Mrs. Arild Weborg, director, announced.

The speaker for the evening will be Mary Alice Gilbert of Walled Lake, who will talk on "A View of Alaska." Miss Gilbert toured the new state this summer.

In addition, workshops will be conducted on the following subjects: legislation, under the leadership of Katherine Henderson, Royal Oak; educational planning, Hazel Breshear, Farmington; professional problems, O. C. Weeks, Farmington; public relations, Bernadine Mitchell, Royal Oak; and research, Edith Powers, Farmington.

All teachers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties may attend the meeting, Mrs. Weborg said.

Vote 3 to 2 Against Proposal

Utica Kills $5.5-Million School Bond Issue

UTICA — Voters in the Utica Community School District defeated a $5½-million bond issue in yesterday's special school election by a 3-2 margin. The vote was 1,184 no to 758 yes.

Fred Atkinson, superintendent of schools, said today the record turnout represented only 20 per cent of the qualified electors.

Asked about the next step to be taken in meeting the anticipated population growth in the Utica area, Atkinson said: "We plan to study the situation further and probably ask for another bond issue.

"The defeat of this proposal set us back," the superintendent added. "We'll be short of classrooms on the elementary level next year and some grades may have to go on half-day sessions."

Atkinson blamed the defeat of the bond issue on several factors, including its size, the recession and lack of understanding on the part of the voters of the increase in school enrollment expected during the next few years.

The district had planned to use the money to build two new elementary schools, more junior high schools, an administration building, to purchase additional school sites and construct additions to present buildings.

Your PTA Is Planning:

North Branch Meeting Set

NORTH BRANCH—A review of the North Branch School District's financial report for the school year ending last June 30 will be presented by the Board of Education at the monthly meeting of the North Branch PTA at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school auditorium.

Questions regarding the six-hour program now in effect and the functions of the recently purchased Johnson Motor Building, now being used as a six-room elementary school, also will be given.

Clarkston

The Pine Knob School PTA will hold its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the school. State Trooper Gerald Tafel of the Pontiac Post will be the guest speaker. He will talk and answer questions on school bus laws and the riding of bicycles to school. Refreshments will be served.

Avondale

Stiles School PTA will meet at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in the multipurpose room of the school. Miss Mary Slader, Oakland County food consultant, and Mrs. Helen Smith, public health nurse in the Avondale School System, will lead a discussion on type A school lunches.

Orion Township

Webber School PTA will study Michigan schools at its Thursday meeting. Parents will have an opportunity to fill out a questionnaire giving their ideas on what they want for their children.

Mrs. Gerald Spicer will moderate the program which begins at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Fagan Assumes Duties

New Holly Postmaster

HOLLY—Taking over his new duties as postmaster at Holly today is R. William Fagan.

Appointed to a four-year term, he succeeds William P. Addis, acting postmaster for the past 20 months, following the death of Burton E. Jones in December, 1956.

SHARON ANN ST. DENNIS

The engagement of Sharon Ann St. Dennis to Richard L. Ryan has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delore St. Dennis of Lakeside drive, Waterford Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Ryan of Andersonville road, Waterford Township. The bride-elect is a graduate of the Highland Park General Hospital School of Nursing. A May wedding is planned.

Fagan is 35 years of age and a native of Holly Township. His great-grandfather was one of the first settlers here and instrumental in getting the first post office established at Holly. During World War II he served four and one-half years in the U.S. Marine Air Corps. He is married and has two children.

Co-owner of the Holly Tractor Sales, Fagan will dispense with his duties there and give full time to his new position.

'Bagwell Was Here' Signs Cover State

LANSING (AP) — You name it, and if it's in Michigan, Bagwell probably was there.

At least that's the impression left by more than 100,000 placards tacked up in the most likely, and unlikely, spots by campaign workers for Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor. The GOP state central committee foots the bill.

The slogan "Bagwell Was Here" is a borrowing from a World War II character named Kilroy, whose name was scrawled on walls and signs around the world with the help of American GI's.

Bagwell has done his best to make his own name equally well known in Michigan.

"Bagwell Was Here" signs have appeared on barns, outhouses, automobiles, speedboats, elevator ceilings, the tops of utility poles, chicken coops, and a pole in the middle of Houghton Lake.

He's First Under New State Law

Wills Body to Medical School Upon Death

A White Lake Township man has become the first Oakland County resident to take advantage of a new state law permitting a person to will his body to a medical school upon death.

Earl H. Roe, 66, of 510 Union Lake Rd. signed a certificate in the Probate Court of the county whereby his body will be turned over to the University of Michigan Medical School for research when he dies.

Gov. Williams on April 11 this year signed into law Act 82 of the Public Acts of 1958 which permits a person to "give all or any part of his (or her) anatomy to any medical or educational institution."

But if Roe should die outside the state, the university wouldn't receive his body under the certificate he signed.

Roe, a retired builder who came to Oakland County from Butte, Mont., in June, said he decided to donate his body after a St. Louis University medical student, who used to work for him part-time, complained of the scarcity of human cadavers in medical schools.

"I then decided I might as well put my body to some good," said Roe.

When he came to the state he wrote to the university inquiring of steps he must fulfill to do this. In turn, school officials told him of the new law.

Florence Doty, probate registrar for the county, said she has had many questions from persons wishing to donate their eyes for medical research, but Roe's gift was the first of its kind under the law.

34 Conventions Slated

DETROIT (AP) — Some 34 conventions and trade shows are scheduled in Detroit during October. Largest of the meetings is the Michigan State Medical Society convention, with 3,000 doctors in sessions this week. Others are the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the American Society of Body Engineers and the Michigan Chiropody Assn.

Highland Sales in Romeo Sold to Robert Hogan

ROMEO — One of Romeo's leading merchants, John H. Thoits, announced today the sale of his business, the Highland Sales Distributing Co., to Robert Hogan of 12818 Ebbling Rd., Romeo. The sale becomes effective tomorrow.

Thoits' firm, located at 275 E. Gates St., grew from an auction sale house, which he opened in 1948, into one of the leading retail appliance stores in the state.

Thoits plans to assist Hogan until Christmas and then take a prolonged vacation in Florida with Mrs. Thoits. He said he was retiring because of his health.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Even in Baltimore, just like at Briggs Stadium, when Bobby Layne was introduced Sunday the crowd let loose with boos and cheers.

In fact the mixed reception was louder than any player on the Baltimore team received even though the majority seemed to be anti-Layne.

Baltimore fans feel they have a reason for giving Layne the bird.

It seems that when Layne was moving into pro football he received a $20,000 offer from the Baltimore franchise of the old All-America conference.

Instead the classy Texan quarterback chose to sign with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

"Layne said at the time he did not think the All-America Conference was too sound," said one of the Baltimore writers.

As it turned out, Layne was right. The Bears then traded him to the New York Bulldogs and in 1950 he came to the Lions in a swap which sent fullback Camp Wilson to New York.

BALTIMORE FANS SPIRITED

Baltimore fans are probably among the most spirited in pro football, however at times they can be very unsportsmanlike.

In true college spirit and tradition, the Colts have their own band, 12 cheerleaders, live white pony mascot and loud participation when they play The Colts' March.

Several times during the game Layne and Tobin Rote asked the crowd to quiet down so that the signals could be heard, but the more they waved the louder the fans got and 48,000 voices can create a thunderous sound.

PITCHER'S MOUND STILL UP

When Bobby Layne missed the first placement attempt Sunday, breaking his streak of 58 in regular season play, it was somewhat of a freak miss.

The pitcher's mound was still up at Memorial Stadium and the dirt was so soft Layne sunk down a couple inches. He was actually kicking upward through the sand.

The Colts were shrewd in this respect. They sacrificed some distance and the ball was held about two feet in front of the mound on the more solid turf in kicking their points.

Braves Favored, but Series May Go All the Way

Ol' Case 'Wrote Him Off'

Stengel Had Dim View of Future, Spahn Says

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's brilliant left-hander Warren Spahn, named to open the World Series for the Braves, once was warned by Casey Stengel that his pitching future wasn't very bright.

"You'll never be a good pitcher," Spahn said he was told by Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees.

Asked what kind of a manager Stengel was then, Spahn said:

"He was nothing but a clown."

That was 16 years ago when Spahn was 21 and Stengel was manager of the Braves in Boston.

"I'm not sure he even knew my name," said Spahn who will face the Yankees tomorrow in the first game of the Series. "He sent me down to Hartford in the Class A Eastern League because we didn't have a triple A farm club in 1942. I had come up from Class A."

As for Casey's management techniques in those days, Spahn said yesterday, "We started our games then at 3 in the afternoon. And if we had lost a ball game on a particular day, he'd have us out there working at 10 in the morning. We'd continue to practice until game time.

"After losing a ball game, he'd keep some of the boys on the bench for a long time and make them think of their mistakes."

Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney didn't surprise anyone when he announced Spahn, winner of 22 games this season, as the opening game hurler.

But the 37-year-old left-hander caused a mild ruffle when he said he has his own book on the Yankees this time and will pitch them differently than he did last year. New York beat him 3-1 in the opener last year, but he came back to win a later start 7-5.

"Last year I went by the scouting reports, but there's nothing like personal contact. I think I learned a great deal from my experience with them in the 1957 Series," he said.

Spahn grinned when asked if he cared to talk about his discoveries. Then he added:

"I've got ideas. Naturally, I won't tell what they are. I want to put them into practice first. I suspect they are a little different from last year. It seems to me they will try to play more of a running game and try to hit more to the opposite field than they did last year. I believe I can cope with that."

Milwaukee Site for Tomorrow's Opening Battle

It's Pitching Versus Power, With the Odds About Even

MILWAUKEE (AP) — On the assumption that the double-dose pitching poison of lefty Warren Spahn and righty Lew Burdette will neutralize the power of long ball hitting Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, the Milwaukee Braves are picked to repeat last year's victory over the New York Yankees in the 1958 World Series starting here tomorrow.

Because the teams are as evenly matched as the American and National League baseballs, with the Braves having an edge in pitching, and the Yankees in hitting—fielding even—the series figures to go all the way with the outcome not decided until the seventh game.

Should it go the full distance, it means that Spahn, named by manager Fred Haney to pitch the opener, and Burdette, slated to start the second game, could conceivably hurl six of the seven games, depending upon results. The pair won four out of five decisions with the Yankees last October.

On the other hand, it is not certain that Yankee ace Whitey Ford, manager Casey Stengel's first game selection, will be physically able to pitch three games — the first, fourth and seventh. Despite the proven ability of righthanders Don Larsen and Bob Turley, probable second and third game pitchers, Ford looms as the key pitcher in the series for the Yankees.

No one knows for sure whether the chunky 29-year-old blond southpaw can go nine innings at one stretch, let alone three full games in nine days. Sidelined for two weeks in August with a sore left elbow, Ford hasn't gone the distance since August 8 when he beat Boston 2-0.

Now for the hitting. Mantle's healthy condition is bound to add strength to the Yankee attack. The slugging center fielder was handicapped last fall by a shin splint and shoulder condition. He not only missed a couple of games but was subpar in the field and had trouble at the plate with Burdette, as did the rest of the club.

Berra has had a better year, as have Elston Howard and Andy Carey. In Norm Siebern, their rookie left fielder, the Yankees have a left-handed spray hitter who is apt to prove troublesome to Burdette because he hits to the opposite field. Lew just loves to pitch to those swing-from-the-heel hitters.

On the Yankee debit side, Bill Skowron, Gil McDougald and Tony Kubek don't appear as potent as last year, at bat or in the field. That could hurt the Yankees. Also, Gerry Coleman, the surprise standout hitter on the Yankees last fall, has retired.

The Braves are at least as good as they were last year even with left fielder Wes Covington plagued by aching legs. The condition of the left-handed slugger no doubt is disturbing to Haney. The little skipper said yesterday he would not know whether Covington would be in the opening day lineup but the betting is he'll be in left field tomorrow with the right-handed Joe Adcock playing first base. Frank Torre, despite a sore left wrist, will play first base against right-handed pitching.

Sooners Head Grid List

Buckeyes Land Third, Behind Auburn Eleven

Close Decision Over SMU Hurt OSU; MSU Retains No. 4 Spot

By The Associated Press

There was something vaguely familiar about the weekly Associated Press college football poll today, and it doesn't take long to figure it out.

Oklahoma is in the No. 1 spot in the top 10, a place it has held many, many weeks the past few years, and where it finished twice in the last three years. Last year it was Auburn's unbeaten team which wound up national champion.

The sports writers and the sportscasters participating in the poll gave the rampaging Sooners 66 first-place votes and 1,387 total points on the strength of their 47-14 romp over West Virginia.

Ohio State, No. 1 a week ago before playing a game, dropped to third place. The voters possibly were a little shaken by the narrow 23-20 margin which the Buckeyes won over Southern Methodist. Auburn, a 13-0 victor over Tennessee, took over the No. 2 spot.

Three new teams were voted into the top 10, displacing Texas Christian, Pittsburgh and Washington State. The newcomers are Iowa, victor over a highly touted Texas Christian team; Wisconsin, an impressive victor over Miami, and Clemson, winner over already beaten North Carolina.

The voters concentrated most of their first-place ballot on four teams. In addition to Oklahoma's 66, Auburn got 58 for the top spot, Ohio State 23 and Iowa 15. In all, 11 teams received one or more first-place votes.

The only team to hold the same position this week as it did a week ago was Michigan State, No. 4 in both polls. The Spartans beat California Saturday, 32-12. Army moved up from eighth to fifth, Mississippi from ninth to sixth, and Notre Dame dropped from fifth to seventh.

Iowa and Clemson made the biggest jumps. Neither was in the top 20 a week ago.

The Top 10 in this week's poll, based on 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc. (first-place votes in brackets):

1.	Oklahoma (66)	1,387
2.	Auburn (58)	1,206
3.	Ohio State (23)	1,117
4.	Michigan State (3)	1,002
5.	Army (5)	848
6.	Mississippi (2)	727
7.	Notre Dame (2)	673
8.	Iowa (15)	626
9.	Wisconsin (2)	338
10.	Clemson (2)	333

THE SECOND TEN

Mississippi State 324, Pitt 305, Louisiana State 167, Purdue 101, Navy 88, Michigan 84, Texas 61, Southern Methodist (1) 61, Houston 48, Vanderbilt 42.

START TOMORROW — Southpaws Whitey Ford, left, of the Yankees and Warren Spahn of the Braves will be the starting pitchers in Wednesday's World Series opener at Milwaukee.

Bay City Team Tops Class A

By The Associated Press

Bay City Central and Flint Central, two Saginaw Valley scholastic powerhouse teams, grabbed off the top spots in the first weekly Associated Press high school ratings today.

The Bay City Wolves of coach Elmer Engel, easy winners of their first two games and runnerup in the final 1957 state standings, polled 66 out of a possible 70 points for a five-point margin over their valley rivals.

This weekend's games are certain to produce at least a mild shakeup. Flint Central must battle Ann Arbor's Pioneers.

The top 10:

1. Bay City Central 66
2. Flint Central 61
3. Tie—Ann Arbor 38, Muskegon Hts. 38
5. Grand Rapids Catholic 36
6. Grosse Pointe 33
7. Lansing Eastern 18
8. Muskegon Catholic 15
9. Midland 14
10. Battle Creek 12

Name 18 for NHL All-Star Contest

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League Monday night named the players who will face the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens in the league's 12th annual All-Star Game here Oct. 4.

Of the 18 named, seven were official selections last spring for the first and second All-Star teams. Five All-Star choices are members of the Montreal team and will play for their club.

Coach Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins will handle the All-Stars.

Montrealers remaining with their team are defenseman Doug Harvey and forwards Dickie Moore and Henri "Pocket Rocket" Richard from the first All-Star team and goalie Jacques Plante and center Jean Beliveau from the second All-Star team.

Those of the first and second All-Star teams who will play are goalie Glenn Hall, Chicago; defenseman Bill Gadsby and forwards Andy Bathgate and Camille Henry, New York; defenseman Marcel Pronovost and forward Gordie Howe, Detroit, and defenseman Fern Flaman, Boston.

As defensemen Schmidt has added Doug Mohns of his own Bruins, Red Kelly of Detroit and Dollard St. Laurence, sold by the Canadiens to Chicago since last season.

Schmidt will have four centers—Red Sullivan of New York, Alex Delvecchio of Detroit, Billy Harris of Toronto and Eddie Litzenberger of Chicago.

Wingers added are Jerry Toppazzani, Boston; Dick Duff and Bob Pulford, Toronto, and Don McKenney, Boston.

Glenn Hall is the only goalie named for the All-Stars.

Stengel Hasn't 'Read His Mind'

Yankee Pilot Refuses to Pick Winner; 150 Greet AL Champs

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees doesn't know how the World Series is going to turn out because "I haven't read my mind lately."

Thus was Casey's comment as he stood on the traditional red carpet rolled out when the American League champions reached Milwaukee yesterday for the 1958 Series opening tomorrow.

Pressed for a prediction, Stengel said: "I can't forecast anything. That ball goes around in the air, you know. These are both first class ball clubs and I won't comment on that until it's all over."

A crowd of only about 150, including Milwaukee's official welcomer, was on hand when the Yankee's chartered airliner rolled to a stop. The size of the gathering contrasted with 1957 when a throng turned out to welcome the Yankees.

The civic welcoming committee was brushed off when someone in the Yankee party described the doings as "bush league."

Stengel and Yankee General Manager George Weiss were in a genial mood until the "bush league" quotation was worked into the interview.

"I don't answer those kind of questions," advised Stengel, his geniality slipping. "You guys are just trying to start something."

Dangerous Ferndale 11 Next for Hopeful PCH

By BILL CORNWELL

Everybody's wondering how long Pontiac Central's new-found football prosperity will last. That includes head coach Jesse MacLeay.

It's a safe bet that nobody knows and it's an equally safe bet that an ill-tempered Ferndale team will try to make the PCH prosperity of short duration when the two schools clash Friday at Ferndale.

The Railsplitters are thoroughly capable of giving the Chiefs a busy evening and coach Ted Meister is no doubt plotting ways and means for them to do exactly that.

Meister, the dean of Oakland County prep gridiron coaches and the area's winningest mentor, was an interested spectator last Friday night when the Chiefs bombarded Wyandotte, 40-13.

After watching his own team drop a 22-7 decision to Inter-Lakes champion Southfield in the afternoon, Meister journeyed to Pontiac and scouted the Chiefs from the press box.

He probably didn't like what he saw. The PCH gridders put on quite a show for the Lincoln pilot as they amassed nearly 400 yards in total offense and scored six touchdowns.

But the very fact that the Chiefs cut loose with such a wide-open exhibition made it easier for Meister to get a real good look at them and map his strategy for this Friday's outing.

To say the least, Meister was unhappy over his team's performance against Southfield. "Nothing worked right for us," Ted declared, "absolutely nothing."

Despite their poor showing against Southfield, the Dales have some talented football material to throw at the Chiefs and what was last week's bad day may very well be this week's good one.

In quarterback Tom Morey the Dales boast one of the county's top passers, runners and signal-callers. Morey passed for two touchdowns and ran for two more when Ferndale drubbed Berkley, 27-6, in its 1958 season opener.

Luther Graham is a deceptive halfback with speed to burn and Pete Facione, a hard-charging guard, anchors a mobile line.

Ferndale will be seeking to avenge a 26-7 loss to the Chiefs last year at Wisner Stadium in a game played on a late November afternoon after Asian flu had wiped out the original date.

So it will be the dangerous Dales with their 1-1 record trying to spoil the 2-0 mark of the hopeful Chiefs.

Final Sailoffs Settle WLYA's Racing Titles

The WLYA final sailoffs were held Sunday with Don Zannoth and Phyllis Sebaldt capturing the thistle crown, 15 points ahead of Tar Baby sailed by Harm Gillen and Paul Saghy with Karl Kreitz assisted by Ben Weber bringing up third in the morning sailoff.

In the snipe morning race, won by Chuck Morris and Frank Fleck with Commodore Shelton Covert, assisted by Ron Passmore, taking second and Bob Newman and Terry Benedict third.

In the afternoon events, Morris and Fleck won the snipes race, and the cup.

Lightning division was won by Fred Brede Jr. with Bruce Brede and Fred Brede Sr. Glen Fires and wife Jo, and Neil Wheeler as crew ere second, and Dave Green with wife Jo, and Art Hoover, third.

Afternoon lightning races went to Bruce Brede, with brother Fred and Don Gass as crew with the other boats being disqualified for hitting markers.

Winners of Sunday's races won WLYA cups. Awards banquet is on Nov. 1.

Majors Skipper List Complete

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There is no outward employment among major league baseball managers today. All 16 clubs can officially list a skipper after three made the grade yesterday.

Two teams have new managers and a third rewarded its leader with a new one year contract.

The St. Louis Cardinals ended all that needless guessing about Solly Hemus being a successor to Fred Hutchinson by signing their former infielder for a one-year term, at a reported $35,000.

The Cincinnati Redlegs ended the speculation as to whether Birdie Tebbetts' interim successor Jimmy Dykes would be kept on for 1959. They hired former Philadelphia manager Mayo Smith, and left Dykes' status with the club uncertain.

Harry Craft, who won 14 more games with the Kansas City A's this year than last, received a one-year renewal on his contract.

Pistons Finally Have All Hands in Camp

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons had all hands accounted for, including holdouts George Yardley and Walter Dukes, today as they went into their final two days of practice before opening a seven-game exhibition schedule.

The Pistons shifted their training camp from West Branch to University of Detroit Memorial Building yesterday and cut practice sessions from twice a day to one a day.

The Pistons open their preseason schedule Thursday with a game against the Cincinnati Royals at Toledo, Ohio.

MAY QUIT — Leroy (Satchel) Paige, a living legend in baseball, has signed for a movie role and may quit the game. Admitting to 49 years, Satch says: "I'm not runnin' out on baseball but mebbe baseball is running out of Satchel."

Carl Knaack Is Voted President of Table Netters

Carl Knaack, long considered one of this city's better table tennis players, was elected president of the Pontiac Table Tennis Association at the league's 1st annual meeting. Knaack succeeds Elmer Clem.

Other officers elected were Dick Kuhn, 1st vice president; Dick Bartow 2nd vice president; John Stevens, 3rd vice president; Lewis Cole Jr., master at arms, and Gloria Hartman, secretary-treasurer.

After a one-year absence, the PTTA voted to return to the team play setup used in previous years. League play will officially begin on Thursday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the girls' gymnasium at Pontiac Central High School.

The next PTTA meeting will be held this Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the basement of the Capitol barber shop, 580 W. Huron St. Persons wishing to enter the league are invited to attend the meeting or call Perc Secord at the Capitol barber shop.

Record Class Set for Dog Training

Bloomfield High School's first 1958-59 obedience training class for dogs, proved to be a record affair last night. Southern Michigan Obedience Training club officials said there were 62 dogs listed, compared with 23 when the class began five years ago. There is no more room for further entries, for this group.

However additional entries will still be accepted for the SMOTC-conducted Daniel Whitfield class (call FE 2-7749), and at the Waterford CIA (call OR 3-3810), held respectively on Thursday and

Little World Series Prize for Millers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The town that tried mightily to land a major league baseball team and failed had the best available consolation prize today, the Little World Series championship.

The Minneapolis Millers, Boston Red Sox farmhands, belted the Montreal Royals 7-1 last night to complete a four-game sweep and give the American Assn. its fifth straight victory over the International League in the annual playoff.

Wilson Looks Ahead to Packers

Lions Add Center Griffin

DETROIT (AP) — George Wilson says he looks ahead in football, not behind, and the only thing he said about Sunday's loss to the Baltimore Colts was this.

With that, he looked ahead to next Sunday's game at Green Bay against the Packers.

And the Lions may have more trouble with the Packers than most people are inclined to think.

The Green Bay coach, Scooter McLean, spoke to the Detroit Lions' fan club's first meeting by long distance telephone yesterday, and he considers his team a threat in the National Football League race.

"We don't have a bad club at all," he said. "We're stronger all around and we have more depth. Our quarterbacking is coming slowly, but the club will jell."

The Lions announced yesterday the acquisition of center Bob Griffin. The former University of Arkansas lineman joined the Lions immediately, and was to work out with them today. To make room for Griffin, the Lions placed rookie guard Karl Koepfer of Bowling Green on waivers. Griffin was released by the Rams after playing 5 years.

A 29-year-old, Griffin stands 6-feet-3 and weighs about 240. He is expected to be at center Sunday. This is one of the "holes" in the Detroit offensive line. Charlie Ane will return to tackle replacing Ken Russell and Bill Glass will switch to guard.

Coach Wilson feels halfback Dan Lewis, defensive back Jack Christiansen and lineman Gene Cronin will be ready by Sunday. All were held out of action against the Colts. "They weren't 100 per cent ready, so we didn't want to take a chance," said Wilson.

Gene Bone Named Head Pro at Warwick Hills

Pontiac's Gene Bone, 27-year-old golf professional, became a head pro for the first time in his young career Monday when he was named the No. 1 man at Warwick Hills Country Club.

The announcement of Gene's appointment was made yesterday at the annual fall meeting of the Michigan Section of the Professional Golfers' Association in the Fort Shelby Hotel.

Ben Hogan's long-awaited appearance at the evening session for a golfing clinic and demonstration, the presentation of 1958 awards to Horton Smith and Wally Burkemo and the revelation that Mike Dietz is leaving Indianwood CC were the other highlights of the meeting.

The naming of Bone as head pro at Warwick Hills was very timely for Gene. He had just left his position as assistant pro at Tam O'Shanter after four years of service there and was looking for a job.

Glenn Hatfield, golf chairman at Warwick and head of the hiring committee, notified Bone of his appointment to the post by telephone yesterday morning. Gene replaces veteran Flint pro Lorin Shook.

Bone, former star golfer and all-around athlete at Pontiac Central High, lives with his wife and family in Drayton Plains where they are buying a home.

Dietz has resigned as head pro at Indianwood CC after six years of service. His future plans are indefinite, but he may join the winter tour. No successor has been named.

Smith, 51-year-old Detroit Golf Club pro, was awarded the Michigan PGA's "Golf Pro of the Year" honors. Al Watrous of Oakland Hills, last year's winner, presented the award to Smith for distinguished service to the game in 1958.

Burkemo repeated as the State PGA's "Pro Golfer of the Year," an award based on 1958 tournament performance. The veteran Franklin Hills pro nosed out John Barnum of Grand Rapids by four points through his play in the Michigan Open, State PGA, Western Open and Flint Open.

Hogan presented a 90-minute clinic during the evening session and was the guest speaker at the PGA dinner.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

The second step in the four-step approach is a bit longer than the first, but it's still short of a normal stride. As the left foot comes forward in the second step, the ball has naturally dropped into the backswing. As shown in the drawing, it is passing the right leg as the second step is made.

A common mistake of bowlers is to rush this step. They're anxious to get up to the foul line and release the ball, I guess, but they should learn to coordinate throughout the entire approach. If either your footwork or your arm swing is rushed at this point, your timing at the foul line will be destroyed. So, remem! that good timing at the foul line depends upon go ' timing at each point of the approach.

Our bowler illustrated today continues to concentrate on the target with his eyes; his head, shoulders and hips are also facing forward. His right shoulder dips a bit, but this is normal from the weight of the ball. His shoulders are not pulled off-line — they continue to face forward.

Michigan, State Start Big Week

Plenty of Work Planned Before Annual Battle

Scouts of Both Teams Praise Rival Highly; Syring Rejoins 'M'

United Press International

Michigan State rejuggled its vast reservoir of backfield talent today as it prepared for Saturday's sellout game at East Lansing against arch-rival Michigan.

And at Ann Arbor the Wolverines hailed the return of first string center Dick Syring, who missed the Southern California game Saturday because of knee injury.

Spartans sophomore Herb Adderley, who went 16 yards on his only carry against California last week, was switched to fullback, where Michigan State already has two strong runners.

First string fullback Bob Bercich has a bruised hip but was expected to be ready for the Michigan game. Senior Don Arend has been running with the second unit.

Second-string left half John Mark sprained his knee in the California game and will miss the Michigan game. But sophomore Al Luplow, who scored against California on the first carry of his college career, gives the Spartans strength behind starter Dean Look.

Offensive line coach Burt Smith, who scouted the Michigan-Southern California game last week, warned the MSU players yesterday the Wolverines have "a very big and strong" forward wall and a backfield with "great power." He says quarterback Stan Noskin could give the Spartans the most trouble because "he'll do anything — anytime."

Smith said "spirit and desire" will determine the winner of the traditional intra-state rivalry.

The Spartans went through a two-hour workout last night and coach Duffy Daugherty said the team would practice "real hard" most of the week.

Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan sent his squad through a light scrimmage yesterday and worked the Wolverines on defense. Quarterback Bob Ptacek has a split finger as a result of Saturday's game but will be available for action this week.

Michigan holds an edge in the series — winning 35, losing 12 and tying three. The Spartans have won six out of the last eight contests.

Matt Patanelli, who scouted the Spartans in their 32-12 route of California, said yesterday that no team is invincible.

"In some respects State is better than last year and in some it's not as good," he said.

"Don't ask me what they are, but State has a real fine team," he spoke in glowing terms about a tough line and lots of depth.

"I think their backfield is faster than last year's," Patanelli said.

Aerial Attacks Worry College Coaches

Stress on Defense

By The Associated Press

What's all this talk about too much defense causing a major shift to more wide open offensive alignments?

Penn State and Oregon, for a couple of teams, don't consider themselves overabundant in defensive formations. They are the ones who must defend against Army and Oklahoma this weekend, the first shot anyone has to solve the much-talked about "wide open" style.

Admittedly these boys have problems. But so do the coaches who must face the conventional modes of football attack. That's why most college squads spent the first practice day of the week concentrating on defensing for Saturday's games.

Most of the problems were in the defensive backfields after a hectic day of passing last Saturday.

Pitt, a 17-0 conquerer of Holy Cross and triple threat quarterback Tom Greene, looked toward a new nemesis in Minnesota's Jim Reece.

"Reece can thread the needle," assistant coach Carl DePasqua said of his passing. The Gophers quarterback had 12-for-21 in a losing cause against Washington Saturday, for 207 yards.

Pitt contained Greene by having its bruising line exert tremendous pressure continually.

The Gophers likewise looked to their defensive backfield as they fell victim to Washington's passing attack and must face Pitt's twosome of Ivan Taconic and Bill Kaliden.

North Carolina, highly touted in pre-season estimates, but losers of two in a row, tried to batten down the defensive hatches for its Friday night encouter with Southern California on the West Coast. Coach Jim Tatum expected trouble from USC's ability to use the run-or-pass option play that beat Oregon State and just lost to Michigan, 20-19.

Rutgers, one of the big surprises Saturday with its 26-0 beating of highly touted Princeton, posed a single wing problem for Colgate, who must also stop tailback Bill Austin.

The Rice Owls 30-7 victory over Stanford last weekend has Purdue Coach Jack Molenkopf rearranging his defenses. The Owls ran up 442 yards, 341 on the ground. Purdue stopped Nebraska, 28-0.

One team that didn't need to work on defense was Auburn. The nation's No. 2 team held Tennessee to a minus 30 yards overall, and didn't yield a first down in winning 13-0.

Dr. Tukey Hints Rose Bowl Pact May Be Snapped

EAST LANSING (AP) — The future of the Big Ten as a participant in the Rose Bowl is hanging on a taut thread which might snap soon.

Michigan State's Big Ten faculty representative told a meeting of the Michigan Football Writers' Assn. yesterday that "there are lots of schools in the conference that don't like post-season football."

Only two other schools in addition to Michigan State reportedly are in favor of continuing the Rose Bowl pact. They are Iowa and Indiana.

Minnesota is described as being against it, with Ohio State and Northwestern wavering but possibly against it. Michigan, Illinois and Purdue are considered to be fence-straddling.

Dr. Tukey said the Big Ten has received no official feeler from any other bowl as far as he knows. The Cotton Bowl reportedly has shown interest in the Big Ten if its Rose Bowl pact collapses.

U.S. Must Pay Higher Interest

Federal Reserve Board May Be Spurred to 'Tight Money' Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of another "tight money" action by the Federal Reserve Board was increased today by a sharp rise in the interest Uncle Sam pays on short-term borrowings.

The Treasury announced Monday night the government will pay an average interest rate of 2.920 per cent for the privilege of borrowing $1,800,000,000 for three months.

This marked an unusually steep rise over the 2,511 per cent which lenders demanded a week ago. Historically it's a pretty high rate to charge the nation's best credit risk for short-term money. It means all other borrowers, including blue chip corporations, are paying a good deal more.

The increase also means the interest rate on 90-day Treasury bills is now far out of line with the Federal Reserve Board's 2 per cent discount rate—the interest rate banks must pay for money borrowed from the reserve system.

In recent years, the discount rate invariably has been raised in circumstances such as these. The reserve board normally tries to keep the discount rate above the bill rate. This is to discourage banks from borrowing from the Federal Reserve and reinvesting in Treasury bills.

The current spread between the bill rate and the lower discount rate is greater than at any time in the past five years.

An increase in the discount rate usually produces an upward movement of all interest rates.

Should the reserve board initiate another increase at this time, however, it could argue it was following rather than leading the money market.

Traitor Son Decides He'll Evict Mother

Van Heflin: Yugoslavia 'Very Friendly' Nation

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How are things in Yugoslavia?

The way the movie business is these days, it's not outlandish to ask that question. From Van Heflin you get an answer: "Very friendly."

Van has just returned from Europe, where he toured 13 countries with his wife, three children, nurse and dog. But the most stimulating part of his half-year stay abroad was working on a movie in Yugoslavia.

The movie was "Tempest," a huge epic made jointly by Yugoslavian, Italian and American (Paramount) film companies. The interiors were shot in Rome and the crowd and battle scenes were filmed on the plains near Belgrade.

"It was the first time," Van said, "that a major film was made by Western producers behind the Iron Curtain. Yes, I know that 'War and Peace' was supposed to have been shot in Yugoslavia. But the producer, Dino DiLaurentis, also produced our picture and he told me that it wasn't."

Van was accompanied by other Hollywood performers such as Oscar Homolka, Agnes Moorehead Helmut Dantine and Robert Keith. How did the Slavs react to the invasion?

"They were very friendly," the actor said. "And I don't think it was merely because of political expediency. The people greeted us warmly and were extremely hospitable. They were much more friendly to us than to the Italian members of our company. I suppose that is because of the long antagonisms between the Italians and Yugoslavs over Trieste and other matters."

The Yugoslav government went all-out to cooperate, he reported, even to supplying 2,500 cavalry troops for a battle of the Catherine the Great era.

"The cost of that battle scene would have been prohibitive in Hollywood," Van said. "You just couldn't find that many trained riders and horses. Nor could you pay them enough for the stunts they took. The 2,500 put on a charge right through exploding charges with horsemen falling in the front ranks so the others had to leap over them.

"In one day alone, 37 men were sent to the hospital."

Tel-Huron Meetings to Stress Clothing Care

The third in a series of public service breakfast meetings entitled "Wear and Care of Clothing" will take place at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at 861 W. Huron St. in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center.

There will be a sound movie and panel discussion, offered by the Tel-Huron Merchants Assn. and the Cooperative Extension Service. The session is open to the public without admission charge.

Alcatraz Hunts Escaped Convict

Island Searched After Companion in Prison Break Is Recaptured

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A tough young convict was sought on fog-shrouded Alcatraz Island today after he and a companion bound a guard in a bold attempt to escape the federal prison.

The companion was captured within two hours of the 3:15 p.m. break.

Somewhere on the rugged island was Aaron Walter Burgett, 28, Missouri gunman serving 26 years for post office robbery and assault. A 60-man prison posse ranged over the San Francisco Bay island during the night.

Burgett's companion Clyde M. Johnson, 38, onetime Public Enemy No. 1 who shot it out with the FBI in Indianapolis in 1949, was captured along the rocky shore — cowering, shivering and up to his waist in the water.

The pair were on a trash-burning detail with guard Harold Miller outside the prison walls. Suddenly they turned on him. One produced a knife. They threatened to kill him and then bound and gagged him.

The break was discovered at 3:40 p.m. About 15 minutes later Miller was found squirming in thick bushes, just below some guards' houses on the southeast corner of Alcatraz.

Johnson was spotted through the fog by a sharp-eyed Coast Guard lookout on a patrol craft circling the island. Johnson surrendered meekly to prison guards.

His teeth chattering, Johnson was hustled to the warden's office for questioning by FBI agents. When he faced Associate Warden Joseph Latimer, Johnson said: "Sorry I let you down. I wish I hadn't done it."

Latimer eyed him coldly and said nothing.

When the two convicts turned on Miller, they told him they would escape The Rock on a boat. But Coast Guard headquarters reported there were no boats anywhere near the island.

It was considered extremely unlikely that Burgett could swim the 1½ miles to the necklace of lights on San Francisco's Marina shore. The tide was moving out of the Golden Gate at 3½ miles an hour. The water was cold—between 50 and 55 degrees.

But he had 40 minutes in which to find a good hiding place.

Eighteen have tried to flee the government's maximum security prison since the Bureau of Prisons took it over from the Army in 1934. Five were shot to death, two vanished and were presumed drowned, and the rest were caught.

Heading for Los Angeles on Roller Skates at 50

GROVE CITY, Pa. (AP)—A 50-year-old unemployed assembly line worker is on her way to Los Angeles—on roller skates.

Miss Sophie Krofcheck left this western Pennsylvania town Monday, hoping to skate 200 miles daily in the 3,000-mile trip. She covered only nine miles in the first four hours.

"I'll take it easy," she said. "I'll stop at motels and hotels along the way as I get tired."

Miss Krofcheck, who said she won the Mercer County, Pa., roller skating championship in 1929, intends to visit a brother in Los Angeles.

Latest Note on Formosa Is Encouraging to Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles was reported a bit encouraged today over prospects of reaching a Formosa settlement but still concerned about continuing criticism of his policies in the crisis.

He faces questioning about the prospects at a news conference.

The chief encouraging note was Premier Chou En-lai's statement Sunday that the Red Chinese "do not give up their efforts to find a solution to the disputes between China and the United States through peaceful negotiations."

Although Chou surrounded that remark with more belligerent statements, some State Department officials considered it to have an important bearing on the U.S.-Red China ambassadorial talks at Warsaw. The fifth session of these talks was scheduled today.

No progress was made in the four earlier meetings, but the United States is anxious to keep the contact in hopes of finding some common ground for peaceful solution.

Some encouragement was drawn too from Nationalist China's increasing success in running the Communist blockade of Quemoy, the main target of Comshelling and invasion threats since Aug. 23. Neighboring little Quemoy was still having supply troubles and was reported down to a 25-day reserve of food, however.

The Eisenhower administration has made considerable effort to wir greater support for its policy of no appeasement of Red China over the offshore islands issue. But criticism has continued in both political and nonpolitical circles.

Some high ranking officials complain privately that this criticism has reached the point where it may be doing the nation a disservice, in that it might give the Communists a picture of a divided nation.

Fears were expressed that the Communists might misinterpret intra-family arguments as weakness and start military action in the Formosa Strait which could embroil the United States in war.

Vice President Nixon took exception last weekend to published reports that 80 per cent of 5,000 letters received by the State Department since Aug. 23 were critical of U.S. Formosa Strait policy.

Nixon charged a State Department subordinate was deliberately trying to sabotage the policy by making this information available.

The State Department on Monday rejected that accusation. A spokesman said nobody would be fired or otherwise subjected to administrative action in the incident.

The White House, meanwhile, reported its mail was running 2 to 1 in favor of the administration's policy.

Nixon's Speech Full of Fight

Urges Party Members to 'Take Off Gloves' in Coming Campaign

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon is giving signs that as a campaigner he intends to return to his 1954 form when he was the scourge of the Democrats.

Nixon kicked off his campaigning for a Republic Congress with a speech in Indianapolis, Ind., Monday night. In it, he urged party members to take off the gloves for what he characterized as "the fight of our lives."

There were echoes of the Nixon of four years ago as he sailed into what he called "the cheap, below-the-belt cracks of Harry Truman and his ilk" and spoke of the "frightening alternative" to the election of Republicans.

Former President Truman was a favorite Nixon target in 1954. Then the Democrats said the vice president went around the country insinuating that their party was soft on communism. Truman said Nixon had called him a traitor, a charge the vice president denied.

In 1956 Nixon threw the Democrats off stride. Instead of assailing them bitterly as he had two years previously, he spent most of his time talking about the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration.

In his Indianapolis speech Nixon defended the administration's record. He boasted that six years under Eisenhower "have been the best six years in the history of this country." Then he drew a dark picture of what would happen if the Democrats increase their strength in Congress.

For the "Communist" issue of 1954 he substituted the threat of socialization of health, housing, power, farming and other American institutions.

Nixon said that if the opposition wins more strength, the country will be "in for a wild spending binge by radical Democrats, drunk with visions of votes and not pink but dead elephants."

He said a Democratic victory not only will mean a trend to big government but a kiss of death for legislation to control labor racketeering.

The Republican National Committee followed up this line today with a campaign broadside contending that "extensive and generous" campaign contributions have been made to Democrats by the Teamsters Union. The union has been the subject of extended investigations by the Senate Rackets Committee.

The GOP cited a series of contributions, going back as far as 1954, including $30,000 it said the Teamsters had contributed to Democratic funds to help re-elect Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) in 1956.

Finds Marooned Fish

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C. (AP) — Mayor Glenn Tucker came across a 1½-pound marooned flounder while inspecting his beach for Hurricane Helene damage. The fish was in a big puddle in the street, 100 yards from the ocean. Tucker decided it deserved to go back where it came from.

Many Questions of History Solved by Carbon Dating

WASHINGTON — Carbon dating has cleared up many puzzles. The last Ice Age, it shows, ended about 10,000 years ago, only half as far back as scientists had thought.

Knowledge concerning early man's crucial shift from hunting to farming has been pushed back to 7,000 B.C. — the date given charcoal excavated at Jarmo, Iraq the oldest known agricultural village.

In America, meanwhile, says radiocarbon, men were living in Alabama's Russell Cave. And still earlier, by some 3,000 years, aboriginal hunters in the Southwest were chasing mammoths and other prehistoric beasts — a spectacular contradiction to the long-held notion that Indians had inhabited the New World only a few centuries before Columbus arrived.

Say Aircraft Firms Compete and Trade

LOS ANGELES (AP)—J. L. Atwood, president of North American Aviation, Inc., told a scientific group Monday that nowadays one aircraft company may be competing with another, selling to it and buying from it—all at the same time.

"There is a new flexibility in most companies through which their resources can be applied in whatever area and manner may be most beneficial to the nation," he said.

"A given firm may be a prime contractor on one program and a sub-contractor on another. It may undertake a complete weapon system today and a small component of a subsystem tomorrow."

Grain Futures Edge Upward

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grain futures showed a tendency to move higher in early dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Corn and soybeans advanced at the outset following yesterday's setback. Soybeans moved upward more than a cent a bushel at the outset while corn was mixed with most deliveries up fractions.

Early strength in corn and beans was attributed to widespread overnight rains which brought a temporary halt to the expanding harvest. Also there was very little pressure on the two markets. Corn was helped by a strong cash corn market.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ¼ to ½ higher, December $1.94⅜; corn ½ higher to ⅛ lower, old style December $1.14¼; oats unchanged to ⅝ higher, December 64½; rye ½ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.31¼; soybeans ⅝ to 1⅛ higher, November $2.18⅝.

Pick Up Cars Here, Hare Urges Buyers

LANSING (UPI) — Secretary of State James M. Hare today urged Michigan residents to tell their out-of-state friends buying 1959 cars to come to Michigan to pick the cars up after they were ordered from dealers outside the state.

Hare said 30-day in-transit auto registration stickers permit the owner time to get home and obtain permanent license plates but in addition to a vacation, "they save FOB shipping charges."

Hare said people getting new cars here would be able to take in "such diverse attractions as the Mackinac Bridge, autumn fishing, small game hunting, boating . . . and university football games."

Stocks Heading for New Highs

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed a rise toward new record highs in active early trading today.

Key stocks rose fractions to about a point. A few losers and unchanged prices peppered the list.

Motors and steels were briskly traded. Chemicals, aircrafts, tobaccos and drugs were mostly higher.

Chrysler was ahead fractionally as a labor agreement was anticipated, General Motors and American Motors also were up a bit but Ford dipped a fraction.

Lukens rose more than a point while Bethlehem and U.S. Steel advanced fractionally.

American Telephone steadied and then added a full point.

Reports that the two railroads are considering a merger boosted Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Railroad more than a point each.

The ticker tape was late for a period of eight minutes in the opening rush. Prices held at higher levels as trading became more moderate.

Following its opening, American Airlines traded at 23½, up ¼ on a big block of 9,200 shares.

Schering rose about a point. Fractional gains were made by Merck, Boeing, International Harvester, Kennecott, American Cyanamid and Southern Railway.

Hurricane Ilsa Prefers to Stay Way Offshore

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Ilsa, a storm which did nobody any harm because it chose to stay at sea, roared along toward its death today in the North Atlantic.

Unlike its savage predecessor, Helene, the closest Ilsa came to land was 230 miles east of Bermuda.

Ilsa, traveling a steady northeast course, was located by ship reports about 350 miles southeast of the Newfoundland coast this morning.

It still packed squalls of hurricane force for a short distance, with gales extending outward several hundred miles.

The Weather Bureau said it was obvious Ilsa was losing her punch and in all likelihood would join forces with the remnants of Helene, making for a smaller storm in the North Atlantic. The only effect of this was expected to be a slight expansion of the gale area.

Shipping in Ilsa's path should continue to proceed with caution, the bureau said.

Ex-FCC Head Breaks Down

Richard A. Mack Said in Miami Hospital; Due Before Grand Jury

MIAMI (UPI) — Former Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack was reported undergoing treatment in a private hospital here today, suffering from both physical and emotional troubles.

The Miami Herald reported that the 49-year-old Mack was admitted to the Miami Medical Center last Thursday after collapsing at Eastern Air Lines terminal, breaking a rib.

However, the Herald said his presence was kept such a closely-guarded secret that hospital aides deny he is a patient and even members of his family do not visit him.

Mack was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury in connection with the controversial Miami TV Channel 10 award. Since his alleged breakdown, he is reported to have been under the care of both a general practitioner and a psychiatrist.

The Herald said Mack probably would be unable to appear in Washington later this week when he and attorney Thurman Whiteside, also indicted, are scheduled for arraignment.

The newspaper quoted "a friend close to both families" as saying Whiteside has guaranteed payment of the hospital and medical bills for Mack.

Reports Burglary of City Gas Station

Owner of the Watson Service Station, 4186 Sashabaw Rd., Raymond Whitmire, reported to Waterford Township Police that his station was broken into last night and an undetermined amount of money was taken from the cigarette machine.

Entrance was gained by breaking glass in the front door window. Police are investigating recent tire marks at the rear of the building.

Escapes Serious Injury as Car Overturns

Janett Adler, 32, of 6150 Adamson Rd., Waterford Township, escaped serious injury at 1:30 a.m. today when her car hit a ditch and rolled over in a field near Airport and Hatchery roads.

Miss Adler told Waterford Township police that she apparently fell asleep and drove off the road. She was treated for lacerations of the left leg at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Employment Over Idleness

See Better Conditions in Major Job Areas Across Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in two years, the number of the nation's major job areas reporting improved employment outnumber those showing increases in joblessness.

The Labor Department announced this Monday in reporting that the job picture improved during the late summer in all but a few of the nation's chief labor and production centers.

Surveys showed four-fifths of 149 major labor market areas reported a drop in unemployment. Most of the declines were relatively small.

Of the areas reporting improvements, 15 showed sufficient gain since July to be reclassified to a higher employment rate category. Only two areas, San Bernardino-Riverside - Ontario in California and Binghamton, N.Y., were reclassified downward.

Although the employment pickup was described as widespread, the department said it wasn't yet of sufficient degree to have much significant impact on the labor supply and demand picture in most areas.

The improved job situation was attributed to pickups in the durable goods industries such as steel and machinery manufacturing and to continued seasonal expansion in other industries.

Navy Plane Missing With Ten Aboard

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A Navy submarine-hunter Neptune patrol plane was missing in south Florida waters today. Ten crewmen from the Brunswick, Maine, Naval Air Station were aboard.

It is declared missing but not necessarily lost, said Cmdr. Daniel Decker, administrative officer at Brunswick.

The plane made its last radio contact with the Key West base at 3:30 p.m. Monday after taking off at noon on a flight to check instruments.

Cmdr. James F. Rumford, operations officer, said the plane "just disappeared."

The Navy declined to identify the crew.

Public Schools Borrow 25 Million Dollars

LANSING (AP) — Public schools in Michigan have borrowed more than 25 million dollars against anticipated state aid since the 1958-59 fiscal year began July 1.

This was reported yesterday by Edward (Boomie) Mikrut, Secretary of the State Municipal Finance Commission, after the commission okayed another $2,909,000 in state aid applications by 41 school districts.

"And there's no sign that the borrowing pace is slowing down," Mikrut said. "Many schools just don't have the cash to meet operating expenses."

He estimated schools will pay more than $500,000 interest on the short term loans, which average six months.

Dems to Present Adlai With Birth Certificate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Local Democratic party officials have obtained a certified copy of Adlai Stevenson's birth certificate from the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

It will be presented to him when he appears at a dinner here honoring Rep. Clair Engle, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

The document shows Stevenson was born Feb. 5, 1900, at 2639 Monmouth Ave.—not far from the present campus of the University of Southern California.

Weeks Is Optimistic

'Business Outlook Good'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Weeks predicted today a rapid rebound from recession will keep business strong throughout the autumn and into the Christmas shopping season.

"The outlook for continuing recovery is bright — the brightest yet this year," he said in a speech prepared for the convention of the National Assn. of Retail Druggists.

He blended politics with economics in a glowing account of "wise government leadership" which he said has helped restore public confidence and has "confounded the carping critics and the fainthearts."

Plans reported by industrial firms to speed up their investment in new plants and machinery, along with other factors, point to a marked rise in national output and income for the rest of the year, Weeks said.

But he cautioned that advocates of what he called "Socialist witchcraft" and "sky's-the-limit government spending" could overburden the economy with debt, inflation and high taxes.

"Spendthrift government undermines business confidence," Weeks said. "An eventual resulting increase in taxes would weaken business incentive, cut down take-home pay and dry up customer purchasing power."

He urged the businessmen to resist new spending proposals.

Eighth Man Squawks

7 Innocents Get Tickets

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A traffic policeman lined up eight motorists and started writing tickets for failure to heed a stop sign.

Seven accepted the tickets, saying they hadn't seen the sign. The eighth said, "Show me the stop sign and I'll accept the ticket."

"So you can't see a big red sign on a tall green pole?" asked the officer. "Come on."

They walked back to the intersection, but there was no stop sign.

"Somebody must have stolen it," said the red-faced officer as he tore up the tickets.

BIGGEST COAL LOADER — Chesapeake & Ohio Railway unveiled this $7 million coal loader today at its Presque Isle docks in Toledo. Using conveyor belts and a movable loading tower, the device can transfer 6,000 tons of coal an hour from railroad cars into ships.

World's Biggest, Fastest Coal Loader for Toledo

TOLEDO (AP)—Toledo was virtually guaranteed a continued long run as the No. 1 coal port in the nation today as Chesapeake & Ohio Railway drew the curtain on the world's biggest and fastest coal-loading dock.

Through high-speed conveyor belts and other features, the 7-million-dollar mechanical ship loader can move 6,000 tons of coal an hour from railroad cars into vessels.

It adds 40 per cent to the capacity of the railroad's Presque Isle facilities where three other coal loaders hit a peak last year by dumping 18,700,000 tons into lake freighters.

Announcing full operation of the new loader at a press conference, the railroad noted that it comes at a time when Toledo is assuming the role of a major world port on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The all-time record for coal shipping here was in 1956 when Presque Island and the Lakefront Docks loaded 27,142,941 tons. Last year the movement was 26,123,949 tons.

Offering to Help Pontiac General

Union Willing to Delay Wage, Fringe Benefits Talks for 9 Months

To help the Pontiac General Hospital financial picture, union officials today offered to put off negotiations on wage and fringe benefits for nine months.

The offer was made to Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, by Samuel A. Baker, president of Local 100, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO.

"We hope that by doing this, your efforts to place Pontiac General on a more solid basis will be made somewhat less difficult," Baker said.

Baker indicated that the union is ready to begin negotiations on non-wage and fringe benefits next month, when the question of wages normally would be taken up also.

Baker said that the union is willing, however, to declare a moratorium and postpone any wage increases it might get next year until next July 1. He said the union is willing to put off these negotiations until June 1.

"We wish to make it understood that this will be a special consideration due to the financial situation at the hospital and it will apply to the year 1959 only," Baker said.

How the offer would be received by the hospital Board of Trustees was not immediately apparent.

Faced with a mounting operational deficit that reached $145,000 Sept. 1, the hospital once this year asked union employes to take voluntary wage cuts for a six-month period. The union refused.

Last year's negotiations began in January and stretched out into April as hospital officials attempted to divorce their pay plan from the city's. They said they partially accomplished this and were able to slash union demands from $172,000 in wage increases to $35,000.

Police Pursue Carnival 'Bandit' —Draw a Blank

A 25-year-old gun-toting carnival worker was the subject of a brief chase that involved Pontiac area law enforcers today.

Melvin Mason, currently working with a carnival in Flint, was driving north on U.S. 10 this morning with two companions.

While in a gas station just north of Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township, a truck driver spotted a gun tucked under Mason's belt as he sat in the car.

State Police were notified and a bulletin was dispatched to be on the lookout for a car bearing three men, one of them armed, heading north on Dixie Highway.

Trooper John Brown spotted the Mason car at M15 and began to follow it. Radio messages alerted police and sheriff's deputies in the area. Two sheriff's patrol cars, one manned by detectives, were called in.

Brown followed the suspicious auto for about five miles before a sheriff's car arrived to assist. They swung into action and pulled Mason and his friends over at M87.

The three men said they were beginning to get "kind of shaky" and wondered what was going on.

All three were carnival employes. The gun that caused all the trouble turned out to be a blank cartridge pistol used in the training of horses and dogs.

The trio was released after brief questioning.

'My Own Fault if This Flops'

TV Personality Shuns 'Fixture' Label, Drops Morning Show

By CHARLES MERCER

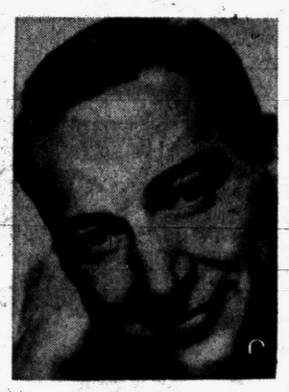
NEW YORK (AP) — To Garry Moore the most frightening word in the language of television is "fixture."

Hearing himself referred to as a program "fixture" last season after years as the genial host of the CBS-TV morning show, he decided to unfix himself and strike out into the wild black nighttime of television.

The result: Tonight the hourlong weekly Garry Moore show will make its debut on CBS-TV.

"If this flops, it's entirely my own fault and no one else's," says Moore. "I have a wonderful staff and CBS has given me every conceivable help."

One of the most modest and level headed performers on television, Moore doesn't wish to pose as a hero in giving up a sure thing with his morning show in order to gamble on the hazards of a weekly nighttime show.



GARRY MOORE

"Don't forget I'm still doing I've Got A Secret," he said. "That's an anchor to windward and I'm not courting starvation or anything. I simply mean that when you become a 'fixture' you're likely to get fat, dumb and happy. The creative side of entertainment has always been my biggest interest, and the new show is enabling me to be creative."

Moore admits his new show must come under the category of "variety," although he dislikes the connotations of the word in some minds. "But that's the only format—another word I dislike—that's big enough and loose enough to describe what we hope to do."

The emphasis will be on creative ideas and good writing rather than big-name stars.

"It's not the name of a guest that counts on a program," he said. "It's what you do with him."

His guests for tonight will be Johnny Mathis, Janis Paige, Red Skelton, Bob Keefe and Charlie Cantor. But he declines to say specifically what they will do on the sound theory that it's better viewers should see for themselves.

Teamsters File Monitors' Suit

New Legal Maneuver Could Remove Hoffa From Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union monitors prepared today to challenge the court order under which they were appointed. The legal maneuver could remove James R. Hoffa from the union's presidency.

The union itself filed documents in court opposing the monitors' request for additional powers and asking removal of Godfrey P. Schmidt as one of the monitors.

Hoffa was allowed to take office provisionally under the same consent order which established the monitorship. The order settled a suit brought last year to keep Hoffa from taking office. If it were voided, the suit could be resumed and a temporary order barring Hoffa from office reinstated.

Monitor members said they planned to file today court papers questioning whether the compromise order was properly entered in the first place. They raised a technical question of whether proper advance notice of the compromise was given to all concerned.

The claims and counterclaims are to be heard and dealt with ultimately by U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who appointed the monitors last January.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, monitor board chairman, petitioned Judge Letts several weeks ago for more power to order changes. He said Hoffa was largely ignoring reform suggestions and that he planned a new union convention next February to get rid of the monitor, Teamsters Atty. L. N. D. Wells, dissented. The majority asked Letts to require Hoffa to obey cleanup orders and to cancel plans for a new convention for the time being.

In its reply, the union maintained that it had cooperated fully with the monitors and obeyed monitor orders except those the union considered unreasonable or in conflict with the union constitution.

The union charged Schmidt with a "direct and clear conflict of interest" and said he has continued to represent employers who have contracts with the union. It alleged he had solicited and received large contributions from such employers.

They Weren't Nailing New Tire Customers

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) —Truck driver Ronald Matthews was a bit peeved yesterday when he picked up 25 punctures in two of his tires right outside a tire factory.

Factory representatives, looking at hundreds of nails scattered all over the road, denied they were trying to drum up business.

A sack of nails had fallen from a truck as it turned into the factory gate, they said. They gave Matthews two new tires and fixed punctures on three other cars which came along before the nails could be swept up.

Tot Burned Critically

DETROIT (AP) — Leslie Jean Wolf, 4, was burned critically Monday when she went too close to a neighbor's rubbish fire and her clothes were set ablaze.

Makeup Too Realistic for This Beauty Queen

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Cloris Leachman, the Iowa and Chicago beauty, who was seen by millions on the "Lassie" TV show, has come here from Hollywood hoping to do some "quality acting" — and establish that she's not an old woman. She and her husband, George Englund, producer of the Eddie Fisher TV show, have bought a house at Darien, Conn. Cloris, mother of three small sons, made herself appear older for the "Lassie" show. She decided things had gone too far recently when somebody who didn't recall she was a "Miss America" contestant day before yesterday, offered her a grandmother role.

WILSON

What a spot Debbie Reynolds was on —showing up at the crowded M-G-M commissary for lunch when she reported for work on "The Mating Call." Everybody ogled—and said, "How sad she looked, and how brave."

Buddy Hackett'll play Jackie Gleason's brother-in-law when Jackie does "The Loudmouth" on TV, and when J.G. does "Sir Reggie," Buddy'll be his Chinese houseboy.

Milton Berle defined a "spectacular" on that recent closed-circuit show as "a word invented by a network vice president meaning, 'Let's make the show long and more expensive and maybe they won't notice how lousy it is.'" "If I make good with my half hour show, next season they promised me 15 minutes." Uncle Miltie also said he'd done a lot of research in TV while being off, "But I'm coming back anyway."

A long time ago Mike Todd phoned David Niven and said "Have you got any money?"

"Not a million dollars," said Niven. "Have you got $150?" asked Mike. "That I can handle," said Niven. "Bring it over," snapped Mike.

Niven did. Mike, then struggling to finance the completion of "Around the Word in 80 Days," told Niven, "I'm going to give you some stock in my company!" But he never got to it . . .

The other day Niven was notified by lawyers for Mike Todd Jr. that he had just been given a large block of stock in Michael Todd Co., Inc. Mike Jr. also granted blocks to Bill Doll, Mike's press agent; Medora Tsuji, Mike's treasurer and secretary, and a long list of others.

"Actually," an informed friend says, "Mike didn't need $150 from Niven; he just wanted to cut him in. Mike always needed money but not $150 kind of money, only $1,000,000 kind of money."

81 Tests at Cape Canaveral Include 59 Total Successes

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—At least 81 ballistic weapons and launching vehicles have been fired in flight tests at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The armed services list 59 firings as entirely successful, the rest partial successes or failures.

These figures do not include the Navy-handled Vanguard satellite attempts, with one success in seven tries.

Weaponeers and scientists insist a test is almost never a complete failure. Even though a missile rises only a few thousand feet, much useful information is gained.

The tests rated as completely successful are largely those as measured by the public's eye, the scientists say—the times when a missile flies the full, intended distance and hits in the prescribed impact area.

The Defense Department says it is impossible to give the exact cost of a test because so many factors are involved. About a year ago, the guess was that an average test might cost about three million dollars.

Ballistic missiles are only now coming into mass production. The present cost of missiles would be higher than the eventual mass production figure.

The Air Force estimates that the per-item production cost for the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile will be about $1,600,000. For the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile the estimate is $735,000.

The Army calculates that its Jupiter IRBM is costing about a million dollars.

Since the start of the weapon testing program, the Army score stands like this: 10 Jupiter weapon firings, 6 completely successful, 4 failed to complete flights. The Redstone 200-mile range ballistic missile has been tested 36 times, been successful 33 times, the Army says.

The Air Force score shows 13 tests of the Atlas, with 7 successful, 2 partially so and 4 failures. For Thor tests, the results seem to be 13 successful, 4 partially, 5 failures.

The Navy has made only one test of a ballistic missile, the Polaris. The missile was destroyed deliberately as it started to veer off course.

New Republic Planned

French Cabinet Convenes

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle convenes his Cabinet today to plan the birth of the Fifth Republic and a new worldwide French community, or commonwealth.

The present government's first task will be to wish farewell and good luck to French Guinea. The rain-swept west African coastal area was the only segment of the French Empire to reject De Gaulle's new constitution in the referendum Sunday.

In Conakry, capital of Guinea, the special French emissary Jean Risterucci announced that sovereignty would be officially transferred to Guinea at midnight tonight. With the transfer goes an end of French economic aid to the underdeveloped area.

Guinean Premier Sekou Toure called the territory's Assembly to meet Thursday. The Assembly is expected to decree itself a constitutional convention or constituent assembly and begin drafting the basic charter for a new African Negro republic.

Referendum returns from other overseas areas of the French Union still were trickling in. Except for Guinea, the story was the same overseas and in France — heavy majorities for the new constitution and indirectly for De Gaulle personally.

With this backing the World War II hero prepared to proclaim the Fifth Republic Sunday. He will have virtually absolute powers for the next four months while launching the republic.

One of the first tasks is to write an electoral law for voting on a new French Assembly, probably in late November. The Assembly in turn will elect the President. This President — no one doubts that it will be De Gaulle — will have the first strong executive powers in France since Louis Napoleon in 1870.

Another immediate task is to end the four-year-old Algerian rebellion. De Gaulle plans to fly to Algeria Thursday. He may finally pull back the veil which so far has shrouded his intentions for the troubled North African territory.

Some reliable sources predict De Gaulle will seek some middle ground between the full independence demanded by nationalist rebels and the full integration of Algeria with France demanded by diehard European settlers there.

De Gaulle has been chary of moving against the settlers since he became premier June 1 as the result of settler and army uprisings. Now with the referendum backing he might take a stand they will oppose.

De Gaulle promised that any overseas area except Algeria could vote itself out of the French Union by rejecting the constitution.

Big-Money Winner Says '21' 'on Level'

NEW YORK (AP) — A big-money winner on the television show "Twenty-One" questioned yesterday in an investigation of TV quiz programs, said so far as he knew the show was "completely on the level."

David Mayer, a psychologist who won $47,500, said he had never been given questions or answers in advance of his appearances, and that he knew of no coaching of any contestants.

He made his comments to newsmen after being questioned by Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Stone.

A grand jury is probing charges of rigging on TV quiz shows.

"Twenty-One" participants — Herbert Stempel and James Snodgrass — have claimed they were fed answers to upcoming questions.

Another contestant, Harold Craig, who won $106,000 before being eliminated by Mayer, was questioned by the district attorney's office Saturday, and has been summoned later this week before the grand jury.

There was no indication if Mayer would go before the jury.

Mayer, president of Market Psychology, Inc., said he does not own a TV set and does not watch TV programs himself. Regarding his appearances, he said he preferred to bow out like Gene Tunney, the prizefighter who retired as champion, rather than as "a beat-up champion."

Mackinac Bridge Paying 1959 Bond Interest

ST. IGNACE (AP) — The Mackinac Bridge is paying off the interest for 1959 on its 100 million dollars in bonds.

The bridge authority yesterday reported earnings of $4,242,000 since Jan. 1. This is the amount of interest due for next year. The bridge opened Nov. 1, 1957.

Earnings for the rest of the year, except for $200,000 for maintenance, will be placed in a reserve fund for future interest and redemption payments.

Sanford Allerton Guest of City League of Blind

Sanford Allerton, president of the Michigan Council of The Blind, will be honored guest tomorrow night at the regular monthly meeting of the Pontiac League of The Blind. The meeting will be held at 8 at the new United Fund Building on Franklin boulevard.

Attending the meeting along with Allerton will be Mrs. Bessie Fowler, state board member, and Mrs. Dorothy Eagle, recording secretary for the council.

Q. My seven-year-old daughter has one eye that crosses. I've heard that eye exercises will straighten crossed eyes. Is this true? N.F.J.

A. Many types of "crossed-eye" conditions can be corrected by visual training. Whether or not this method will help your daughter can be determined only after a complete examination by a qualified practitioner.

Q. My new glasses are supposed to be safety glasses, yet they became all "pitted" while doing some welding. Should this happen? A.J.J.

A. Safety glasses are not designed to withstand pitting. They are designed to prevent the lens from shattering if hit by an object. The best way to avoid pitting from welding or grinding, is to wear a protective shield, visor or goggles. There is also, however, a new coating method which enables a lens to resist pitting.

Q. I'm a butcher in a supermarket and whenever I come out of the refrigerated meat locker, my glasses always steam up. It seems like I spend half the day wiping the fog off my glasses. Is there any way to avoid this? M.A.B.

A. Yes. There is a new lens cleaner that, when applied to the lens, prevents them from fogging. Your optometrist will be happy to demonstrate this new anti-fog cleaner on your next visit.

AND THE RAINS CAME

For the second time, the entire farm of a young Hindu father was devastated. This time he lost his wife. How could he care for a sick infant daughter? Perhaps if he laid her by the roadside someone better able to care for her would find her. And someone did...a nurse from a relief organization operated by one of America's religious faiths. Slowly the little body became stronger. The young father was traced and helped to make a new start. When you support your faith's OVERSEAS AID Program you're helping unfortunate people to cope with disaster . . . giving them a will to live. Please support your faith's local campaign or give at your house of worship.

Detroit Airport Ready to Open

Metropolitan to Start Its Official Operations on Wednesday

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Metropolitan Airport, built to accommodate jet airliners, opens officially tomorrow.

Designated an international expressway airport by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the 25 million dollar airport features a specially constructed passenger terminal.

Facilities at the airport, formerly the Detroit-Wayne major airport, include a 2½ million dollar maintenance hangar built by American Airlines to handle jet passenger planes.

American announced recently transfer of its operations from Willow Run Airport at Ypsilanti to the new airport, effective Oct. 1.

Detroit Metropolitan is located on the Detroit-Willow Run expressway and is some 14 miles nearer downtown Detroit than Willow Run.

The new airport's passenger terminal is an 8½ million dollar glass and steel building constructed on two levels to provide for uninterrupted traffic flow of passengers.

A specially designed jet concourse is soundproof against the high jet engine noise.

In addition to American, Allgheny Airlines, Pan American World Airways and British Overseas Airways Corp. have designated the new airport as their Detroit terminal.

Northwest Orient Airlines will move from Willow Run to Metropolitan Dec. 1.

Bing Says Sons Are Lucky in Marriages

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — There is still enough of the small-town and starched-shirt in Americans to mutter those three little words—"tsk tsk tsk"—over the idea of Bing Crosby's sons marrying Las Vegas showgirls.

If Bing cares what the narrower craniums among his fans are thinking, he doesn't show it.

"I think the two twins (Philip and Dennis) are very, very lucky in the girls they married," he said blithely over long distance phone. "I only hope that Gary and Lindsay do as well."

Bing called this office, at the request of ABC, to answer questions about his first TV spectacular, scheduled to charm the public for an hour tomorrow evening; but he showed no reluctance to talk about his newly married son, Phil, and the voluptuous bride, Sandra Drummond.

"Phil has been all over the world, met a lot of girls, and she's the one he wanted. She's very attractive. She's a lady. And we're very happy to have her in the family." Bing added, in that breathlessly easy voice that's made millions of dollars and devotees, that the whole family had been working on the wedding arrangements for months. "We wanted to do it right. We wanted the marriage in the Catholic Church. And you don't rush through a marriage in the Catholic Church."

Usually publicity-shy Bing also seemed delighted to discuss the even more immediate family: His own bride Kathryn, 24, and the baby, Tex, five weeks.

"She was up at 5 this morning—the kid's feeding hours are very askew. So far, though, he's an awful good boy. I'm keeping my fingers crossed. He seems to be a sort of serene little fella." Compared with his new baby, Crosby says his other five boys were "sort of hell cats."

Bing wants his young wife (who was born three years after his first marriage) to continue her acting career, but it may be a catch-can affair because she wants a large family. And most of all, he says, "She wants a girl—that's what she wants."

Only last May, Crosby told a reporter he was gradually retiring "because there's nothing I'm really keen to do."

The contract with ABC, calling for two spectaculars a year and a part in producing and developing 10 new program series in the next five years, was the answer. "This is something I am really keen about," he said. "Particularly the idea of producing some new series. I like the idea of getting shows on television that people want to see.

"My imagination has kind of atrophied over the years, but I think if somebody gives me the ideas, I can cast and work out a show. Right now we're workin' on several ideas in the way of situation shows. I've been led to believe by people in the business that the westerns may be on their way out, so we're looking for a new type of action series laid in a modern environment. Maybe about oil wells, mining, Alaska—I don't know yet."

It has been reported that, in business matters, Bing has the Midas touch—and that currently he is worth 15 million dollars. Asked about this, he groaned loudly, coast to coast.

"There is a legend for you," he said. "I don't know anything at all about business. I just have a knack of picking out good business managers. My one investment, made on my own, was buying stock in Decca records . . . I finally sold the stock at a loss of $286,000. It was my first investment in the market, and my last.

"And about the money. I can tell you this, Phyllis. I gotta keep working to pay taxes."

Says Coddling Leads to Mental Illness

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — An American university dean who thinks many children are overprotected says they can be toughened against mental illness if they are exposed to emotional experiences when they are young.

Dr. Edward G. McGavran of the University of North Carolina's Public Health School, told the Ontario Public Health Assn.'s annual meeting that shielding children from emotional strains is resulting in a population susceptible to mental illness when it is exposed to shocks later in life.

McGavran said controlled emotional shocks might help the now-coddled children.

The rising mental disease rate might also be checked if they were taught to work, he said.

Lighthouse Is Sentinel

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C. (UPI) — The famed Hatteras lighthouse, standing sentinel at the "graveyard of the Atlantic," was first built in 1794 but was damaged by shells of the Federal fleet in 1861. Its ruins still stand but a 208-foot lighthouse at the site is regarded as the most famous of America's lighthouses.
