Ike, Lawmakers of Both Parties Discuss Aid Bill

Sen. George Predicts Passage of $3.5 Billion Assistance Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower conferred for an hour and 40 minutes today with 25 congressional leaders of both parties on his 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid bill.

Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters later: "There is no question but that it will get through—in what form, I don't know."

George, Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, and House Speaker Rayburn of Texas headed the 11 Democrats at the White House conference. The Republican contingent included Vice President Nixon, Senate Leader Knowland of California and House Leader Martin of Massachusetts.

The chairmen of the Foreign Relations, Appropriations and other committees involved also attended.

Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen were among administration officials joining in the conference.

Rayburn told reporters that Dulles and the other officials gave a worldwide review of economic and military conditions.

Knowland said Dulles' briefing centered on "developments in the Far Pacific area." He gave no details.

Martin said the administration officials gave a "thorough, careful explanation" of their reasons for favoring a continuation of foreign aid. The pending bill would earmark about two-thirds of the 3½ billion dollars for Asiatic countries.

There has been talk among some legislators of substituting long-term loans for much of the proposed direct economic aid. One of those pushing this idea is Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

Potter, who was invited to the White House meeting, said in advance of the session that he had already discussed the long-term idea with presidential adviser Joseph M. Dodge.

Farm Support Battle Starts

Neither Party Is Sure of Victory; Increase Sought by Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing House forces squared off today in a new battle over the old issue of farm price supports.

The decision, however it goes, is certain to echo noisily in next year's political campaigning.

Scheduled for two days of debate was a bill to junk the administration's fledging flexible support program and restore high rigid price props on basic commodities to the levels first fixed in World War II to spur production.

Both sides conceded the vote could go either way when the showdown comes tomorrow.

Democratic leaders, however predicted that if they capture 20 or more Republican votes they can pass the high support bill. Republicans were equally hopeful of holding city Democrats.

Last year, in a Republican-controlled House, 45 Democrats teamed up with the GOP majority to pass the present flexible law supporting basic farm crops at levels between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity. Voting with the Democrats were 23 Republicans.

The new farm bill would restore price supports at 90 per cent of parity for wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. Under the present administration program, these crops can be supported at 82½ to 90 per cent of parity this year. The support range will drop to 75 to 90 per cent next year and thereafter.

For dairy products, the measure proposes price supports at 80 to 90 per cent of parity in place of 75 to 90 per cent under present law.

Parity is a legal standard intended to assure farmers a fair return for their products in relation to the cost of things they buy.

Michiganders Meet in Athens

GOVERNOR ON WORLD TOUR — When Gov. G. Mennen Williams arrived in Athens Friday from the Middle East and Cyprus he was greeted at the Hellenicon Airport by Socrates V. Sekles (center above) of Pontiac, who is on a visit to Greece. Also on hand to greet Michigan's chief executive was U. S. Ambassador Caventish Cannon (right). During his brief stay in Athens Gov. Williams talked with Greek Premier Alex Papagos and was guest of King Paul and Queen Frederica at luncheon in the Royal Palace.

General Supporting Diem Killed Fighting Rebel Sect

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Gen. Trinh Minh The, top Cao Dai general and one of the chief supporters of the free Viet Nam Revolutionary Committee, was killed in action tonight.

His death was disclosed a short time after hard-hitting troops of the Cao Dai religious sect joined the Nationalist army of Premier Ngo Dien Diem in an offensive against the Binh Xuyen rebels.

Gen. The's Cao Dai forces were once allied with the Binh Xuyen Society and the Hoa Hao Sect in a united front demanding Diem's resignation.

But the general switched sides three months ago when Gen Le Van Vien, the Binh Xuyen leader, rejected demands that armed struggle be avoided.

Gen. The had thrown four battalions of his troops, perhaps 2,400 men, to Diem's support in mopping up Vien's battered force of 2,000 men on Saigon outskirts.

He died while directing the battalions in this action.

The Cao Dai general was fired upon by Binh Xuyen commandos in an armored motorboat and died instantly.

Water-Study Board Named

Supervisors' Chairman Appoints Four Members to Committee

Four Oakland County supervisors have been named to work on the recently authorized water-study committee, under chairmanship of Mayor Howard K. Kelly of Royal Oak.

The members were appointed by Supervisors Chairman Floyd Andrews. They are Roy F. Goodspeed, of Ferndale; Norman R. Barnard, of Troy Township; Hiland M. Thatcher, of West Bloomfield Township; and Charles H. Harmon, of Pontiac.

Two other supervisors will be named to the committee later, said Andrews.

Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson, City Manager Walter K. Willman plus Andrews will be members by virtue of their office.

The committee, also to include Plan Commission members, is expected to begin meeting this month with similar Macomb and St. Clair County groups in an attempt to develop a long-range surface water supply for the tri-county area.

Pontiac Motor Spends $35 Million in County

Pontiac Motor Division spent $35,058,911.59 with 190 independent suppliers in Oakland County during the calendar year of 1954, R. M. Critchfield, General Manager revealed this week.

"The amounts included in the total figure ranged from $25 to more than one million dollars," Critchfield said.

Morale Slumps as Atomic Test Is Delayed Again

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—The problem of morale, both civilian and military, became a major factor in the much-delayed atomic test today.

With the big open shot slated only tentatively for tomorrow, there was considerable grumbling and griping among civil defense workers and GIs scheduled to participate. The latter group, of course, had to take it, but many of the civilians were leaving.

Harold L. Goodwin, test director for the Federal Civil Defense Administration, had a long "heart-to-heart" talk with field workers yesterday and apparently dissuaded the majority from pulling out, just yet.

But one faction from Ohio indicated it was fed up with sweating out the test, originally scheduled for last Tuesday.

Uncertain weather appeared to be moving in from the west coast, making "the end" a dubious prospect. Best estimates placed the number of field exercise workers remaining at about 200. Originally there were over 350.

Early Blossoms Force Change in Annual Rite

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — With cherry blossoms popping out all over Northwestern Michigan, Grand Traverse Ministerial Assn. hastily advanced the date for the annual blessing of the blossoms ceremony.

They set it for next Sunday afternoon at Bowers Harbor near Old Mission, the traditional place for the ceremony.

Entire orchards turned snowy white in a matter of hours Sunday and Monday—at least a week earlier than was anticipated. The blessing rites will be held in a natural amphitheater overlooking Grand Traverse Bay in the heart of the cherry orchard country.

Name Dispute Snags Merger

AFL and CIO Argue About Title of Combined Organization

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL and CIO efforts to merge into a single labor union group have snagged at least temporarily in a dispute over a name for the proposed combined organization.

Both sides declined to say today what names they have in mind but apparently the AFL wants the new organization to bear its own name while the CIO wants something new like "the American Congress of Labor."

George Meany, AFL president, said the quarrel over a name could cause "trouble," but he added: "We've had trouble before and we've gotten over it."

Otherwise, Meany, CIO President Walter Reuther and other AFL and CIO leaders reached complete agreement yesterday on a constitution, or set of working rules, for the proposed merger organization.

The constitution, with the name of the new organization left blank, will be submitted to the AFL Executive Council and CIO Executive Board this week, with approval expected. Thereafter, if the name quarrel is settled, only ratification by the AFL and CIO conventions would be needed to put the merger into effect.

It was announced the AFL and CIO would hold simultaneous conventions Dec. 1-2 in New York City and start a joint convention there Dec. 5—provided the business of choosing a name doesn't queer the whole merger idea.

GOP Will Not Ask Recount of Votes

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Republican party decided today not to ask a recount of the April 4 general election.

State Chairman John Feikens said that a canvass of party leaders showed no sentiment for a recount.

Party officials, believe, he said, "that recounts would not change the election results despite the fact that several of our candidates lost by very small margins."

The Democrats previously decided against a recount.

Morgan Douglas Taken by Death; Was GMT Head

Had Long Career With Chevrolet; Came to Local Division in '45

Morgan D. Douglas, former general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division and a former vice president of General Motors died today at the age of 63.

In ill health since his retirement five years ago, he succumbed at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, at 3:30 a. m.

With GM for 35 years, he was given a leave of absence for health reasons from his GMC Truck and Coach post in 1950. Roger Kyes was appointed to succeed him.

He had taken the position in 1945 upon the resignation of Irving Babcock.

During his career, he had served 30 years with the Chevrolet organization, including 16 years as general parts and accessories manager.

He began as a retail salesman for Chevrolet, later becoming an assistant zone manager, a zone manager, a regional sales manager, and an assistant general sales manager.

Born in Chicago, Mr. Douglas attended the Detroit University School, and the University of Michigan. He was a member of the Recess Club, the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, the Indian Creek Country Club, Miami, Fla., and the Ft. Lauderdale Yacht Club.

A 32nd degree Mason, he lived at 31805 Evergreen Rd., Southfield Township.

Surviving are his widow, Marda, two sons, Morgan D. Jr. and William E. Douglas.

Service will be held at the Christ Church Cranbrook, at 3 p. m. Thursday, with entombment in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery by the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Ike's Trade Bill Opposition Dies

Liberal Measure Seen Sure of Senate Okay This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today most of the Senate opposition to the liberalized foreign trade bill appeared to have disappeared.

Byrd, floor manager for the bill, said in advance of a second day of floor debate there is a possibility of an agreement to limit debate starting tomorrow and that the bill might pass without change tomorrow night.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said he was working on a time limitation agreement. Such an agreement requires unanimous consent. Its fate appeared to be largely up to Sen. Malone (R-Nev), bitter foe of the reciprocal trade program.

Malone conceded in a separate interview he believes there will be only a few votes against the measure on passage.

A rewriting job done on the trade bill by the Finance Committee, which Byrd heads, appeared to have quieted much of the opposition.

Summer Arrives in May

RECORD TEMPERATURE — Mrs. Ward Kenyon of 7016 Michigan St. fans herself as she watches the mercury climb to a record 87 degrees. The temperature reached 86 degrees shortly before noon today to smash the previous high for this date, posted in 1949.

Mercury Smashes Record for Date Here—Hits 87

Temperatures in Pontiac today reached the highest mark for this date in 83 years, with the promise of more record-shattering hot days to come.

Mercury readings will average 15 to 18 degrees above normal for the next five days, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau. The normal high is 65, normal low 41.

At 2 p. m. the temperature in downtown Pontiac was 87 degrees, two degrees higher than the reading on May 3, 1949. And the thermometer was still climbing.

Weather forecasters late this morning revised earlier predictions of a high of 82 and said temperatures might even reach 88 by mid-afternoon.

An unusually low humidity reading of 37 per cent made the heat bearable.

Low mark in the 83 years temperatures have been recorded here was 32, registered on this date in 1907. A year ago, this day's high was 60 degrees.

Forecast for tonight and tomorrow is partly cloudy and continued warm, with chance of showers tomorrow. Low tonight will be 61 to 65, high tomorrow 78 to 82.

Yesterday's high was 74, low 58. One-fifth of an inch of rain fell.

House-Senate Group Confers on Compromise

Ike Is Expected to Veto Any Bill Providing for More Than 7.6 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Senate-House conferee on the postal pay increase bill said today a tentative agreement had been reached on a salary boost averaging 2½ per cent.

This would be close to the 8.3 average increase voted by the House. The Senate passed a bill calling for a flat 10 per cent raise except that every postal employe would get at least $400 annually. A conference agreement is sought.

The pay raise would go to all the nation's one-half million postal workers.

The bill, if approved, might run into a veto as President Eisenhower has indicated he will not go beyond a 7.6 per cent raise.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), chairman of the conferees, would say only "we're getting along fine" after the morning session.

But one conferee, who asked that his name not be used, said an all but final accord had been worked out on the 8½ per cent figure retroactive to March 1. This was the effective date in the House bill.

This source said the conferees had decided to write a 7 per cent minumum into the bill. As it passed the House, the floor was 6 per cent, but only a relatively few would get this small a raise.

The annual cost of the House bill was figured at 172 million dollars. This compared with 220 million in the Senate version.

The tentative compromise agreement reportedly contains the modified reclassification authority included in the House bill. Reclassification provisions were opposed by some of the postal unions. They were not included in the Senate bill.

The administration has insisted it must be given reclassification powers. It says these are required so that it can end injustices under which higher bracket employes now receive only little more pay than the workers they supervise.

The reclassification authority would permit increases for some supervisory employes much higher than the 8.5 per cent average for all employes.

Need More Aid in Middle East

Williams Says Nations Require Additional Help From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States aid to the Middle East is inadequate, Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams reported on returning from a two-week tour of the Levant.

The governor visited Turkey, Greece, Syria, Lebanon, Israel and Jordan.

Reporting on his trip yesterday, the governor said all these countries are striving to lift their standards of living. At the same time, he said, they serve as a cold-war shield against Russia but their economies are not equal to the burden.

U. S. economic and technical aid, plus private investment, should be increased to help the Levant countries satisfy the "immense drive" of their peoples for a better life, the governor told a news conference.

The Eisenhower administration has reduced U. S. dollar aid to the region, Williams said. He contended it should have continued about at the level of three or four years ago.

Williams also suggested the United States should work out a

Calls Brass Greedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says military men just naturally ask for more forces than they need. In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee, released yesterday, he said: "The history of the world is that if you listen to military people only they will bankrupt the nation or else create a military dictatorship."

Start Saturday in Pontiac, County Areas

Schedule First Polio Shots for 9,500 More Children

Plans for giving Salk polio inoculations to all first and second graders in Oakland County who have not already started the two-shot series were announced today by Dr. John D. Monroe, health director.

An estimated 9,500 children in Pontiac, Waterford Township, Birmingham and two south Oakland County areas will get their first shots Saturday, May 7.

All other county first and second graders whose parents gave consent for the shots have already had their first vaccinations. They will get their second shots in about three weeks.

Pontiac children will receive their first shots Saturday, in six central clinics which open at 9 a.m. Parents will be responsible for bringing their youngsters to the proper place.

Clinic locations are:

Webster School—including pupils from Whitfield, Baptist, 7th Day Adventist and Crofoot.

McConnell School—Trinity Lutheran, Central and St. Frederick's.

Owen School — Hawthorne, Malkim and LeBaron.

Longfellow School — Emerson, Willis and Wilson.

Baldwin School — McCarroll, St. Michael's, Bailey and Wisner.

Community Center, Lakeside Housing Project—Bagley and Whittier.

Waterford Township first and second graders will get shots at three clinics, scheduled at the same time at these places:

Donelson School — Stringham, Lambert, Hudson Covert, and St. Benedict's.

Drayton Plains School — Jayno Adams and Waterford Village.

Waterford High School — Waterford Center, Williams Lake, Pontiac Lake and Four Towns.

Two clinics will be set up in Birmingham, also starting at 9 a.m. Saturday. Locations are:

Birmingham High School — Baldwin, Bloomfield Village, Franklin, Quarton, Torry, Walnut Lake and Holy Name.

Pierce—Adams, Beverly, Pembroke and Our Lady of Martyrs.

Southfield Township and Ferndale pupils also get their first shots this Saturday.

Booster shots for children who got the vaccine in last year's field tests will be given with the second round of inoculations June 4 in Pontiac, Waterford, Ferndale and Southfield. These will be given at the same locations as Saturday's clinics.

Birmingham children will receive boosters Wednesday, May 18 in Quarton School. School buses will transport them from other district buildings.

State Records 26 Polio Cases

First 1955 Tabulation Shows None Afflicted Who Got Vaccine

LANSING (AP) — In its first polio report of the season, the State Health Department said today 26 cases of infantile paralysis have been listed so far this year.

None of the cases so far reported was among children who have received the Salk polio vaccine.

However, the department warned that some cases will develop among vaccinated children.

First, the department said, some children probably will be well along in the incubation period when they receive their vaccine. In these cases the inoculation will do no good.

Secondly, the department reminded that the vaccine is only supposed to be 80 to 90 per cent effective and that the disease will develop among some children who receive the shots in time.

The department said that of the 26 cases reported this year, four occurred last week. Three were in Wayne County and one was in Ingham County.

The department will issue a weekly polio report each Friday for the remainder of the season.

In Washington, an early start appeared assured today for House hearings into the wisdom of federal controls over the distribution of Salk polio vaccine.

The Eisenhower administration has thus far recommended against such controls. Secretary of Welfare Hobby said last night she will recommend curbs to the White House "if it appears on the basis of our findings and discussions or developments that the fight against polio will best be advanced by such legislation."

Detroit Popcorn Men Face Federal Trial

DETROIT (AP)—Two officials of the Hart & Howell Popcorn Co. of Brooklyn, Mich., were arraigned in Federal Court yesterday on five counts of violating the Federal Food and Drug Act.

Holden Horning, secretary and general manager of the company, and George Jacox, a factory manager, stood mute to the charges. Federal Judge Ralph Freeman entered a plea of not guilty for them.

They are accused to maintaining unsanitary shipping conditions of uncooked popcorn. Each count carries a $1,000 fine and a year in prison.

No trial date was set.

Pulitzer Prizes Awarded to American Journalists

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist William Faulkner has been awarded the 1955 Pulitzer Prize for fiction for "A Fable," an allegorical novel of a World War I mutiny.

The year's drama award went to Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," a play dealing with the dissolution of a Mississippi Delta family. Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" won him his first Pulitzer Prize in 1948.

Both, Faulkner, 57, a first-time winner, and Williams, 41, are Mississippi-born. Faulkner won the 1949 Nobel Prize for literature.

Gian-Carlo Menotti, Italian-born composer and lyricist, received the music award for "The Saint of Bleecker Street," an opera based on religion and Greenwich Village life. Menotti was the winner of the 1950 music prize for another opera, "The Consul."

The awards, set up in the will of the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer, were announced yesterday by the Columbia University Board of Trustees. They were recommended by an advisory board of prominent members in the newspaper and publishing fields.

The Columbus (Ga.) Ledger and Sunday Ledger-Enquirer won the 1955 award for "disinterested and meritorious public service."

The newspaper was cited for its complete news coverage and "fearless editorial attack" on the widespread corruption in nearby Phenix City, Ala.

Local reporting awards went, for the first time, to two small-town newspaper reporters, both of them from Texas.

They are Mrs. Cora Brown, of the Alice (Tex.) Daily Echo, and Roland K. Towery, 31, managing editor of the Cuero (Tex.) Daily Record.

Mrs. Brown's expose of 40 years of corruption and terrorism in Duval County, Tex., was adjudged the best example of local reporting under the pressure of edition time. She also covered for The Associated Press.

Towery was cited for local reporting where edition time was not a factor. He is credited with exposing a Texas land scandal involving a 100-million-dollar fund set up by the state to help veterans buy land.

Except in music and drama, the awards cover work done in 1954. The prizes for literature and music are $500 each, prizes in the field of individual newspaper work carry awards of $1,000 each. The Columbus Ledger, where staff teamwork was involved, receives a gold medal.

Other 1955 awards:

History — Paul Horgan of Roswell, N.M., for "Great River, the Rio Grande in North American History," a book that took him 14 years to write.

Biography — William S. White, member of the Washington bureau of the New York Times, for a biography of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, "The Taft Story."

Poetry—Wallace Stevens, a Hartford, Conn., insurance company vice president, for his collected poems.

National reporting — Anthony Lewis, 28, staff member of the Washington Daily News, for a series of articles that brought about reinstallation of Abraham Chasanow, dismissed from the Navy Department as a security risk.

International reporting—Harrison E. Salisbury, 47, of the New York Times, for his articles on Russia summing up his six years as Moscow correspondent for the Times.

Editorial writing — The Detroit Free Press, for an editorial by the newspaper's associate editor Royce Howes, who analyzed responsibility of labor and management in an unauthorized strike at the Chrysler Corp.

Cartoons—Daniel R. Fitzpatrick, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, for a cartoon showing Uncle Sam holding a bayoneted rifle, pondering whether to descend into a black swamp labeled "French Mistakes in Indochina." Fitzpatrick won his first Pulitzer Prize in 1926.

News photography — John L. Gaunt Jr., of the Los Angeles Times, for a dramatic photograph of a young couple on a California beach, minutes after their 19-month-old son lost his life in the surf.

Jack W. Henderson, 25, of Kansas City, Mo., a student at the Art Students League of New York, was awarded a $1,500 traveling scholarship in art. Henderson submitted three oil paintings to the awards jury.

Plumber, Wife Feared Slain

Police Search for Pair Missing From Bloody Miami Home

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Law enforcement officers intensified their search today for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferri but they said there was little hope that the well-to-do couple would be found alive.

The couple were classified as "missing persons." Although the condition of the seven-room home from which they disappeared Friday night pointed to murder. Blood spots led from the front room to a bedroom and then to a carport. Human blood was on a pair of Ferri's slippers near the driveway.

* * *

A theory that Ferri, 68-year-old retired plumber and pipe fitter, was the victim of a gangland slaying lost significance as officers delved into the couple's background.

Ferri had been subpoenaed as a witness in the income tax evasion trial of Albert Anastasia in Newark, N.J., May 10. Anastasia reputedly was onetime executioner of Murder, Inc., in Brooklyn.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Raymond Del Tufo said in Newark that Ferri was one of about 100 witnesses subpoenaed for the May 10 trial but his role was comparatively minor—hardly important enough to warrant murder.

* * *

Ferri had testified in Anastasia's first trial in 1948 that he did $8,700 worth of work on Anastasia's home in Fort Lee, N.J., as a plumber. That testimony could be used again.

Ferri and his wife, 60, came here about 18 months ago from Fort Lee.

Ferri is the second witness in the Anastasia income tax trial to disappear. A year ago the blood-spattered car of Benedicto Macri was discovered abandoned in Harrison, N.J. His body was never found.

American Camp Week Proclaimed by Gov. Williams

In an effort to better acquaint parents with Michigan's summer camps for children, Gov. G. Mennen Williams has set aside this week as American Camp Week.

The proclamation urges parents and others interested in youth welfare to give serious thought to the "many benefits of camping experience for children," and to take advantage of the opportunities which state camps afford.

Parents in this area wishing to send their children to one of Oakland County's numerous summer camps can make arrangements by contacting one of the following persons:

Edward Leland, Oakland County director for Boy Scouts; Miss Ellen Wyngarden, executive director for Pontiac Campfire Girls Council; Mrs. Anders Hustvedt, executive director of North Oakland County Girl Scout Council; Sidney N. Geal, executive director of Camp Man-Go-Tah-See and president of the Michigan Section of the American Camping Assn.; and David R. Ewalt, Frog Hollow Camp director and Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. director.

Bronx Teenage Gangs Jeer at Funeral for Slain Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — The teen-age hatreds that killed 15 - year - old William Blankenship Jr. flared anew last night.

There were angry voices of juvenile hoodlums outside a Bronx funeral chapel after religious services for the high school honor student, killed Saturday by a bullet of a youth gang member.

Police dispersed the crowd of some 100 persons outside the chapel after a group of teen - agers threatened to attack news photographers who tried to photograph them.

Police assumed the teen-ager, including several girls, were partisans of Frank (Tarzan) Santana, 17-year-old Bronx gang member, charged with homicide in Blankenship's slaying.

The new flareup came shortly after civic and religious leaders called on New Yorkers for effective measures to fight juvenile crime.

Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams said Sunday that the rate of juvenile crime is "alarming."

Young Blankenship, son of a civic leader and fighter against juvenile delinquency, was shot because the gang mistook him for a member of a rival group. The feud between the gangs was over the use of similar jackets, police said.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Daniel V. Sullivan said he will seek a first degree murder indictment against Santana.

At Santana's arraignment yesterday, Magistrate Hyman Korn denied bail. A companion of Santana, Ralph (Rocky) Falcon, 16, charged with rioting, was held in $50,000 bail.

* * *

As the mothers of both boys wept in court Magistrate Korn said:

"If you ask me who is to blame, I would say the people of the City of New York."

"The press is awake, the police department is awake. But the public is asleep and until it wakes up this situation will continue."

* * *

The grief-stricken father of the slain boy, William Blankenship Sr., said tersely:

"Teen-aged hoodlumism that can strike a blow like this right into my home in spite of everything I did to protect mine from harm, that kind of hoodlumism isn't the disease itself.

"It's the outward sign that everything here is rotten. . . It has finally got me licked. I'm getting out. . ."

The Rev. R. Millard Farrell, a Presbyterian minister conducting the service for young Blankenship said:

"We certainly do not demand of our government officials a heavenly city in which to dwell. But is it asking too much that they give us a city with streets in which our boys and girls can walk safely?"

Pontiac Deaths

Julia Sue Downer

Julia Sue Downer, 58, of 16 E. Huron St. died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital after a two weeks illness.

She was born Nov. 13, 1896 in Williamstown, Pa., the daughter of Ellis I. and Dora Hess Kline.

Coming here from Burnham, Pa. 35 years ago, she had been employed by the Wilson Foundry.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Ray Aumiller of Selingsgrove, Pa. and one grandson, A brother, S. E. Kline of Pontiac, also survives.

Mrs. Downer will be at the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home until 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. She will then be taken to the Barr Funeral Home of Lewiston, Pa. for service and burial in the Burch Hill Cemetery Friday.

Robert Lonchart

Service was held this morning at the St. Sebastian Catholic Church in Bessemer at 9 a.m. for Robert Lonchart who died at his home Friday. Burial was in Hillcrest Cemetery.

Mr. Lonchart, 79, was born in Europe and came to this country many years ago. He had lived most of his life in Bessemer where he had been employed by the city.

Surviving besides his wife are eight children, Robert of Dallas, Tex., John of Detroit, Francis of Berkley, Peter, Joseph, Mrs. June Kinney, Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. Harry Killian, all of Pontiac.

Dena Carol Powell

Prayer service will be held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in the Huntoon Funeral Home for Dena Carol Powell, infant daughter of William D. and Maggie Irene Powell, 425 S. Bellvue St., Lake Orion, former residents of Pontiac. The Rev. David Mortensen of Marimont Baptist Church will officiate with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Baby Dena died at birth this morning at 1 a.m. and is survived by her parents.

Thomas Sydney Rogers

Thomas Sydney Rogers, 72, of 1055 Durant St. died suddenly at his home yesterday on his birthday.

He was born in 1883 in England, the son of Samuel and Eliza Tilley Rogers and was married June 21, 1905 to Ella Haynes in Maryland.

Coming to Pontiac from Pennsylvania 43 years ago, Mr. Rogers had been employed by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

Surviving are three children, William and Mrs. Irene Ashley, both of Pontiac, Mrs. Betty Boucard of Clarkston and six grandchildren.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Horton of Davisburg and Samuel Rogers, a brother, with whom he made his home.

Service will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. from the Huntoon Funeral Home with Dr. Tom Malone of the Emmanuel Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in the Drayton Plains Cemetery.

Woman Is Sought to Clear Title

Because Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Randall, of Herkimer, N. Y., need a clear title to land where their new home is being built, they have appealed to Pontiac and Oakland County residents.

In a letter to the Pontiac Police Dept., they explained that they must have the signature of a Mrs. Phoebe Dutcher on their property title before the home can be completed. The last known city where Mrs. Dutcher lived was Pontiac.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said his men have checked all usual sources without success.

Anyone knowing of a Mrs. Phoebe Dutcher is requested to contact Wheaton at the police station.

OL Boat License Ordinance Repealed

A 16-year-old ordinance requiring all motorboats on Orchard Lake to be licensed has been repealed on request of the State Conservation Department, according to Orchard Lake Village President Fred J. Walls.

The ordinance was passed May 11, 1939, requiring all boat owners, intending to use a motor to register the motor for a dollar. The tag had no title limit and was good for as long as the person used the lake and abided by license regulations.

"A majority of the people who come in to register their motors are disgusted over the repeal," said Village Clerk Lucille M. Smith, "they felt the licensing made for better fishing and control over the lake."

The repeal was asked, a conservation department spokesman said, because "the ordinance conflicted with state law and set a precedent that worried boat owners throughout the state."

Red Bloc Plans Military Union

Russia, Satellites Set Meeting to Organize European Command

VIENNA (AP)—Warsaw radio announced today that Russia and her seven East European satellites will meet in the Polish capital May 11 to set up a unified military command.

Western observers in Vienna said the move apparently was being taken to provide the legal basis for retaining Russian troops in Hungary and Romania after the expected end of the four-power occupation of Austria.

* * *

The Warsaw Radio said the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, East Germany, Hungary and Albania would take part in the conference, with Communist China sending an observer.

The eight European nations met in Moscow last November to warn that the unified command would be set up if West Europe went ahead with ratification of the Paris treaties and with West German rearmament.

* * *

Western observers in Vienna said the announcement appeared a positive indication that Russia expects to carry through its promise to sign an Austrian independence treaty and end the occupation.

A Big Four ambassadors' conference to settle outstanding questions on the Austrian treaty now is in progress in Vienna. A communique issued after the first session yesterday said "notable progress was made."

* * *

Under the terms of the World War II peace treaties with Hungary and Romania, Russia should withdraw its troops from those nations as soon as they are no longer needed to protect the supply line to Soviet troops in Austria. Creation of a unified command would give the Russians a legal basis to continue their forces in the satellites—an estimated 300,000 men in Hungary, 300,000 in Romania and 400,000 in Poland. The Soviets reportedly have only military observers in Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Senate Passes Bill for Deer Control

LANSING (AP) — The Senate, on its second try, has passed the bill to extend the Conservation Commission's discretionary power over the deer herd in the Lower Peninsula.

The bill was watered down from a three-year extension to a two-year extension in order to pick up enough votes to overcome the initial defeat a week ago.

The measure passed last night by a 21-6 vote, compared to the previous 15-9 vote — three short of the necessary majority.

Negative votes were cast by Sens. Dehmel, Faulkner, Minnema, Novak, Rahoi and Vander Werp. Sens. Blondy, Graebner and Roy were present but did not vote.

Southern Bell Strike Goes On

Reuther, Gov. Folsom Encourage Workers in 51-Day-Old Walkout

ATLANTA (INS)—Southern Bell Telephone workers in nine states were bolstered today in their 51-day-old strike by a $1,250,000 loan and strong words of encouragement from one Dixie governor.

And CIO President Walter Reuther, pledging support, painted the Communications Workers of America as carrying on a fight for all organized labor over the question of who should have the final word in disputes—management or labor.

Other CIO unions made $1,250,000 available to provide necessary relief and assistance to striking CWA members and their families.

Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama, meanwhile, said he expects to ask his state legislature for authority to seize public utilities hit by strikes.

Folsom said he viewed the strike as a company effort, under "right to work" laws, to keep wages low in the south. The Alabama governor called Southern Bell "that poor little $15-billion telephone company . . . that all powerful monopolistic telephone company."

A company spokesman argued there is "no need for such drastic action" as proposed by Gov. Folsom. W. A. Thompson, Alabama general manager for Southern Bell, said effect of the strike on the economy of Alabama and the South "has been greatly exaggerated." Thompson said telephone service is normal and a high percentage of employes are working and "more are returning every day."

Clarkston Man Waives Exam, Faces Arraignment

Corrie Bloodworth, 27, of Clarkston, was bound over for arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court after he waived examination before Holly Township Justice Maxine Howe Monday.

He was returned to the county jail where he will be held without bond. Bloodworth was arrested April 2 by Holly Patrolman William Wood after he allegedly took a $125 television set from a car.

Cub Scout Pack Gives Aquarium to Hospital

Den No. 12 of Webster School Cub Scout Pack 9 yesterday presented a 10-gallon aquarium to Dr. James M. McHugh of the Pontiac State Hospital.

To be used in the Hospital's children's division, the aquarium is the result of a two-month money drive by six Cubs of the Den. They sold coathangers and scrap paper for money to purchase the gift, according to Mrs. Fred Coleman, the boys' Den Mother.

Grand Rapids Angler Upsets Boat, Drowns

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — James Wizorik, 54, of Grand Rapids drowned while fishing with a companion in a bayou just off the Grand River last night.

James Grakefield, 36, also of Grand Rapids, told police both were thrown into the river when Wizorik stood up in their small boat to put on a jacket. Grakefield swam to safety.

Admits Weapons Count

Dunbar Gay Jr., 25, of 174 Lake St., yesterday pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland set sentencing for May 9.

Police said they arrested Gay here April 1 and found two pistols in his car.

Placed on Probation

Pearl O. Rogers, 55, of 4041 Twelve Mile Rd., Farmington, yesterday was placed on one-year probation and assessed $100 court costs by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland. Rogers lost an appeal of a drunk and disorderly conviction April 27.

Moonshiner Sentenced

After pleading guilty April 20 to selling moonshine whisky last Jan. 28, Elizabeth Clayton, 40, of 21615 Gilcrest, Oakdale Gardens, yesterday was placed on one-year probation and assessed $50 court costs by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Hires Firm to Design Eton Park Rink

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission last night approved architects preparing plans and supervising construction of the $125,000 artificial ice skating rink at Eton Park.

The firm of O'Dell, Howlett and Luckenbach will handle the project. Funds for the rink were approved by voters in a bond issue election April 4.

The rink, approximately 85 by 185 feet, would be located south of Lincoln and east of Eton. Target date of completion is November 1.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert was also requested by the commission to proceed with plans for paving Lincoln east of Eton, in preparation for the skating rink.

The city owns property in the area, and would finance the paving by selling it.

Troy Township notified the commission that a hearing would be held tonight on a request for zoning property north of the site of the new junior high school to a business classification.

The commission will send a representative to the hearing. The property is between Adams Road and the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, north of Derby.

John S. O'Gorman Jr., 147 Abbey, Birmingham, will direct the committee planning dedication ceremonies of two new fire stations in the city now under construction. Mayor Charles Renfrew announced the appointment.

O'Gorman, a former city commissioner, headed an advisory committee which made a study of the need for additional stations in the city. The stations, at Chester and Maple and at Adams and Bowers, are scheduled for completion this summer.

Frank C. H. Jennings

Service and burial for Frank C. H. Jennings will be held tomorrow in Springfield, Ohio. Jennings, 888 Henrietta, died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, yesterday, after a long illness.

He was 69. An auto dealer in Springfield for 22 years, he moved to Birmingham last year. Surviving are his widow, Edith, three daughters, two brothers, and seven grandchildren.

Aid Needed in East, Says Gov. Williams

"comprehensive plan" for aid to the entire Middle East. He said this should be designed to help the entire region absorb such problems as Arab refugees from Israel and the need for increased power.

Williams recommended that a bigger and cheaper supply of books and documents about the United States should be made available in the Middle East. The Communists, he said, furnish plentiful propaganda about themselves plus "American books that we perhaps would not be so anxious to have future leaders of the region to have."

The governor made the trip at the invitation of the American Israel Society.

Forging, Socket Club Elects Bodamer Head

The American Forging and Socket Company Management Club elected officers at the monthly dinner meeting Monday night. Elected were: Harley Bodamer, president; Theodore Ferency, vice president, John H. McMaster, secretary, and Robert E. Wuelfing, treasurer.

The company's president, and general manager, Goodloe H. Rogers, spoke to the group concerning current business conditions and the particular problems that are involved. "The cessation of the Korean war," Rogers said, "and sharp curtailment of the defense program, naturally affected the country's economy. Many companies, that had been manufacturing armament materials, were left with idle capacity and personnel, which they were anxious to use. Extremely keen competition, naturally, has resulted.

"This challenge," Rogers told the group, "has to be met by our company through manufacturing efficiencies, strict economies, and constantly improved techniques.

"A most important factor is the attitude of the individuals involved. Enthusiasm on the part of each supervisor in meeting the challenge encourages and develops good team work, which spells progress."

Pro-Diem General Killed in Warfare

supporting Diem came as the premier was marshalling all his support for a political victory over Chief of State Bao Dai.

In Cannes, France, several leading South Vietnamese, responding to the invitation of Bao Dai, arrived today for consultations with the ex-emperor.

Among them is former Premier Price Buu Loc, whom go Dinh Diem succeeded last June, and Prince Buu Hoi, a cousin of Bai Dai.

Meanwhile, Bao Dai's staff denied the ex-Emperor has revoked the order he sent to Diem last week to come and see him in his luxurious villa here.

Bao Dai has said he wanted representatives of all South Vietnamese parties and Diem to meet here Thursday in an effort to form a coalition government. Diem and his army supporters announced Monday they would not recognize any new government formed by Bao Dai.

Clarkston Man Injured Slightly in Collision

William H. Clement, 78, of Clarkston, was injured slightly Monday afternoon in a 2-car collision on U. S. 10 near Waterford Hill, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said.

Clement, who was taken to his home with face cuts, said he was making a left turn when his car collided with one being driven south by William G. Smith, 29, of Mt. Morris. Smith's car struck a car parked on the side of the highway after the crash.

Woman Wins $60,000 From DSR for Injuries

DETROIT (AP) — A 48-year-old woman won a $60,000 out-of-court settlement yesterday from the Detroit Street Railway Commission. She was paralyzed from the waist down when a trolley-bus struck her.

Mrs. Helen Maksymiuk of Dearborn received the damages for injuries suffered last December when the coach struck her after the driver started against a red light.

Liquor Store Burns in Ann Arbor Fire

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Fire swept the store of the State Liquor Control Commission in downtown Ann Arbor last night causing damage estimated at $100,000.

Jack McDermott, the manager, said the damage was confined mostly to the stockroom where 50,000 bottles of liquor were stored.

Five firemen were overcome by smoke. They were treated at St. Joseph Hospital and released. Adjoining stores escaped damage.

Driver Pleads Guilty to Negligent Homicide

David F. Bratton, 19, of 5435 Savoy, Waterford Township, pleaded guilty to negligent homicide yesterday before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

He was charged in the death of George R. Horsley, 52, of 100 Marquette St. Horsley died shortly after Bratton's auto hit his last Nov. 8 on Elizabeth Lake road a mile west of Pontiac.

Bratton will be sentenced May 16, according to Assistant Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue.

YOUR SPRING FLOWER GARDEN—2
The Iris

This tall, graceful flower has several names. Some people call it iris, from the Greek word for rainbow, because it comes in many beautiful colors. Others call it blue flag. In France, it is named fleur-de-lis and has been the national emblem for hundreds of years. It is the state flower of Tennessee.

You can see irises in many colors, ranging from white and yellow to mauve and purple. Some of the plants are more than four feet tall.

The iris is easy to recognize because of its unusual shape. The flower is divided into three parts which resemble petals. As you can see in the drawing, one set called the falls curves outward. The standards come together at the top to form an arch. The third part, not seen in the drawing, contains the seeds.

Jerry, the little boy in the drawing, is busy in his garden, setting out a row of irises along the edge of a brick wall.

Color this drawing and save it so you have your own paper garden by the end of the week.

New Dodge Custom Royal Lancer . . . glamorous "hardtop."

What's all this talk about "Price Class!"

It gets to be a little confusing—this talk about what "price class" a car is in.

Because this new Dodge (it's selling like a house-afire) is making a clean sweep in every price field—from the costliest to the so-called "low priced three."

Take owners who are used to paying a thousand dollars more for a car. This new Dodge has them asking, "What more could I get —what more is there?"

Money can't buy more luxury, more new and exciting features, more built-to-be-stared-at beauty than the dashing Custom Royal Lancer shown above. It's up to 9 inches longer than competitive models costing more!

And how about owners of the so-called "low priced cars"? They're finding out that a new Dodge, with all its dashing length and flashing style, can be theirs for only a few dollars a month more than one of the small cars—19 inches shorter and far less exciting. The Dodge Coronet 4-door shown below actually costs less than some models in the lowest priced class.

So let yourself go. Travel first class in the car that's knocking "price class" into a cocked hat.

Bob Considine Says:

By Now, It's 'Operation Miscue'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS)—"Operation Miscue" has had, as of this writing, all the ingredients of a first class snafu. If lesser souls were involved, it could have long since developed into a real rhubarb.

As one frustrating all-night vigil at Yucca Flat followed another, with no bomb, a series of foggy rumors began to take shape over the heads of the thousands of fretting sotils on hand for the occasion.

It was said that the television networks were behind this determination to shoot the bomb off at any price because it was costing them $14,000 a day to keep their big operation going.

Then there was the story that the real mastermind behind the sleepless nights was Val Peterson, federal civil defense administrator, who was pictured as a man who had a Monday appointment in Washington and wanted to get the whole thing over with because failure to shoot the thing would be politically embarrassing for him.

The legend began to grow that FCDA fears of pinched appropriations, in the light of Big four peace talks and the comical aspects of repeated delays, played a role in the determined efforts to get the test on its fiery way.

It was said openly in Las Vegas that meteorologists were being high-pressured into promising good weather at scheduled test time, no matter how gloomy the prospect.

On the part of the civil defense people on hand—many of whom were using up their vacation periods and spending more money than they could afford—there was a frantic realignment of tickets out of town, and finally reluctant departure by the hundreds.

Not many of those who left looked forward to getting back to their home towns and facing friends who, in some cases, had raised the money for them to go to the big test and help them comprehend the task of survival in the atomic age.

Actually, there was nothing sinister about this at all, except the bomb itself. A fine man named Al Graves, who gave part of an eye to it, and all of his recent adult life, was the man who was behind the buildup and the delays.

His people in the weather department assured him there was a good chance the bomb could be touched off each time the people were dispatched to the desert. His people told him, some hours later, that this or that had changed in the weather, as is always possible.

Graves made the ultimate decision. It had nothing to do with television, newspapers, politics or anything else, save the safety of human beings. Graves is the kind of man who would declare a 10-year or a 100-year potponement in an atomic test, if conditions were not right.

A couple of little settlements you never heard of, Alamo and Elgin, Nevada, had had what the AEC considers enough radioactive happy dust this year. Prof. Graves would see that these people got no more, because of vagrant winds.

Boy, 3, Gets Lesson in Driving: $75 Worth

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Three-year-old Chuck Taylor has taken his first driving lesson. He flunked.

Chuck, bubbling with confidence, climbed into a car owned by James Palmore. He began playing with the levers.

"Look, it goes by itself," he shouted. It did too—50 feet backward into a parked car.

Unhurt, but the cause of a $75 wreck, Chuck was retired to his tricycle.

FORGIVING PASTOR — Rev. Charles Ashcraft enters court prior to his dramatic and successful appeal to save a youth, who beat and attempted to rob him, from prison. As a result of the 77-year-old minister's stirring talk in Springfield, Mass., court George Tourigny, 19, was placed under supervision of his family instead of going to Concord Reformatory.

Dentist Faces Trial in Patient's Murder

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Dr. A. Arnold Axilrod, Minneapolis dentist, faces arraignment today on a first-degree murder charge in the strangling death of Mrs. Mary Moonen, 21, one of his patients.

Dr. Axilrod was indicted late Monday by the Hennepin County grand jury. The true bill came just 10 days after Mrs. Moonen's body was found in a Minneapolis Lake District alley.

In statements to police, Dr. Axilrod admitted having taken the woman for a ride the night of April 22, only hours before her body was discovered.

* * *

Charles Wetherille, inspector of detectives, said Axilrod claimed to have blacked out after Mrs. Moonen accused him of fathering her unborn child. In his statement, the dentist said Mrs. Moonen alleged she had been assaulted while under sedatives in the dentist's office. He denied the charge.

Conviction upon first-degree murder charges carries a mandatory life prison term.

Burglars Routed by Electronic Gadgets' Cries

CHICAGO (AP)—The burglars who broke into the Michigan Electronics, Inc., plant were greeted by a pleasant male voice: "Good evening, gentlemen. We remind you that this place is electronically guarded. We suggest that you turn around and disappear."

There was a brief pause and the male voice, not pleasant, shouted: "Help, police, police! Thieves, burglars! Help, police!" Next came a woman's shrieks: "Call the police, help, help! Call the police." Then a siren wailed and alarm bells set up a loud racket.

* * *

Nearby residents summoned police but the burglars had fled.

Paul Grossi, engineer for the company which manufactures pocket-size tape recorders, said yesterday he and another engineer rigged up the device "largly as a gag." The burglary attempt was its first test.

Reconciliation Unlikely for Edmund Purdoms

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Reconciliation hopes appear to have faded for British actor Edmund Purdom and his wife Tita.

She filed a court petition yesterday asking the setting aside of an order which directed the couple to refrain from any legal action in their domestic dispute for 90 days.

She has filed a suit asking for separate maintenance. Purdom has sued for divorce on grounds of mental cruelty.

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Robert Baldridge, 24, was sentenced to life for taking 45 cents from a man in an armed robbery. He had previously served a term for stealing and cashing postal money orders.

Pair Arrested Hauling $3,000 in Stolen Tulips

HOLLAND (AP) — The fine for picking tulips along Holland's famous Tulip Lane is $5 per flower.

At that rate Charles D. Bedringer, 20, and Dean Soyring, 20, both of Gary, Ind., would have owed the city something like $3,000.

State police found more than 600 tulips stuffed into their car when they were stopped near New Buffalo for speeding.

Municipal Judge Cornelius Vander Muelen fined them $104 each plus costs yesterday and sentenced them to 30 days in jail on a charge of malicious destruction of flowers.

FBI Needs More Money to Fight Increased Crime

In just released testimony he gave in February before the House Subcommittee on Appropriations, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover made a strong case for a $9,718,000 increase in his 1955 budget.

The $88,000,000 appropriation he has asked has the approval of the Budget Bureau. Of this $1,123,000 would provide for expansion of this famous national police force by the addition of 67 special agents, 38 clerks and the continuation of the Bureau's promotional program.

A total of $4,095,000 of the increase is attributable to the change in the method of accounting and $4,500,000 is required for overtime pay for agents.

★ ★ ★

There isn't any doubt about the need for an expanded FBI. As Mr. Hoover's recent report shows, since 1950 our population has grown seven per cent but crime has increased 26.7 per cent. Major offenses in fiscal 1954 totaled 2,267,250. This means that today a major crime is committed in the United States every 13.9 seconds.

The Press feels that there is ample justification for this larger FBI budget. We believe the Nation can't afford to withhold the funds needed to enable the Bureau to keep pace with the growth of crime.

★ ★ ★

Over the years critics have attacked the FBI chief. Yet nothing they have said has been able to dim the luster of the FBI's excellent work in fighting crime and home front Communism.

Nor has it altered the fact that to J. Edgar Hoover belongs credit for building the FBI into one of the world's most efficient and respected police organizations.

Results at Bandung

It may be several months before there can be an accurate appraisal of the 29 nation Afro-Asian conference at Bandung.

Yet, even before adjournment it was clear that fears of Communist domination and Red attacks on the West were unfounded. As things turned out the Reds took a worse beating there than either the United States or the West as a whole.

★ ★ ★

One noteworthy feature of the conference, which India's Nehru had proposed, was the failure of this often puzzling neutralist to win the control he expected. Surprising, too, were Chou En-lai's moderation and apparent friendliness. He seemed quick to sense the anti-Communist sentiment of many delegates.

Another feature was the awareness of the various delegations that "colonialism" of the Red variety may be a greater menace today than the kind which first stirred Asia into ferment.

★ ★ ★

Hardly a day passed without a speaker emphasizing this fact. Among them were Romulo of the Philippines, Kotelawala of Ceylon, Fadhel Jamali of Iraq and Prince Waithayakon of Thailand.

New York's Negro Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, who attended as an unofficial observer, made a great impression on the conference with his report on improved racial conditions in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Outside of Chou En-lai's qualified offer to discuss Formosa directly with the United States, Bandung didn't produce any progress toward settlement of major Far Eastern questions.

But it did show that the attending Asian and African powers want a voice in the settlement of vital issues affecting their respective parts of the world.

Who, in good conscience, could object to that?

Lift for Copper Country

Plans are afoot for a celebration befitting what the Upper Peninsula hopes and believes will be the revival of its long dormant copper industry.

★ ★ ★

As now scheduled by Ontonagon's planning committee in co-operation with the Michigan Economic Development Commission, celebration dates will be June 9, 10 and 11.

The first two days will include open house at the nearby White Pine mine and smelter. June 11 has been designated "Morris F. LaCroix Day" in tribute to the president of the White Pine Copper Co. which has spent $80,000,000 on the property.

★ ★ ★

If the project lives up to expectations it can have national as well as statewide economic importance. Made ready only after lengthy research and study of the area, the development should revive the State's copper industry after a lapse of more than 30 years. It also will give the Upper Peninsula's economy a timely lift by providing additional employment.

"Why are outbreaks of violence in penitentiaries so frequent?" asks a columnist. This may be due mainly to the fact that these institutions take in some rather unreliable and malicious people.

"What a Lovely Boom That Could Make"

David Lawrence Says:

Spain Snubbed by Nations That Woo Russia, China

MADRID—This is a place where they can enjoy a big laugh at the expense of the various statesmen of the world who lately have been proclaiming that it doesn't matter what kind of government they have in Peiping—admission to the United Nations should be granted, anyhow.

Yet the record shows that a resolution by the United Nations Assembly adopted Dec. 12, 1946, did assert that the form of government in a given country is a matter for approval or disapproval by the United Nations.

The present government here is, of course, in complete control of every inch of Spanish territory, including all offshore islands. If international law and custom alone is the basis, Spain is entitled to admission into the United Nations.

But there is another point, and that is whether an applicant government is or is not "peace loving" or whether its behavior constitutes a threat to peace. Spain has not manifested any threats against any other nation and is "peace loving" in every sense of the word.

Then why isn't the government of Spain admitted to the United Nations? The words of the 1946 resolution set forth the qualifications for Spain's admission. The resolution read in part as follows:

"The General Assembly, . . . further desiring to secure the participation of all peace-loving peoples, including the people of Spain, in the community of nations,

"Recommends that if, within a reasonable time, there is not established a government which derives its authority from the consent of the governed, committed to respect freedom of speech, religion and assembly and to the prompt holding of an election in which the Spanish people, free from force and intimidation and regardless of party, may express their will, the Security Council consider the adequate measures to be taken in order to remedy the situation;

"Recommends that all members of the United Nations immediately recall from Madrid their ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary accredited there.

"The General Assembly further recommends that the state members of the organization report to the secretary-general and to the next session of the Assembly what action they have taken in accordance with this recommendation."

The foregoing sounds strangely unlike the speeches which British spokesmen, for example, have been making in the United States lately telling audiences that it isn't a matter of approval or disapproval of a particular government when admission to the United Nations or even diplomatic recognition is involved.

Indeed between November 1936 and May 1939 53 governments of the world, including Great Britain, the United States and France extended diplomatic recognition to the present government of Spain, and not one expressed any reservation or allegation that the government here was not independent or free.

Today, however, if the resolution of 1946 by the United Nations means anything, it means that recognition must be withdrawn from the Soviet Union and the government at Peiping, or at least that ambassadors be recalled.

Certainly the resolution means also that the United Nations considers itself responsible for the establishment of free governments through free elections.

But everybody knows today that the United Nations doesn't practice what it has preached. In fact, probably most of the members who voted for the 1946 resolution would like to see it expunged from the records because it contains a very troublesome precedent.

Yet, if the principle is to be buried and governments like those at Moscow and Peiping are to be accepted as worthy members hereafter, then what possible excuse is there any longer for refusing to admit the government of Spain?

It so happens that the Spaniards are not knocking at the door of the United Nations. They still remember the unkind action of 1946, and they do not care to apply for admission to a club from which they have been blackballed.

Spain can get along without membership in the United Nations, but the big question is, how long can the members of the United Nations remain guilty of hypocrisy and inconsistency by arguing so fervently nowadays for admission of Red China, whose government just recently was declared to be an "aggressor"?

Case Records of a Psychologist

Millions of People Waste Their Time Worrying About 'Symbols' of Virility

Henry's ease is a masculine parallel to that of Deborah mentioned yesterday. Millions of people fret because of physical traits. Oddly enough, the very thing which Henry craves, is the cause for complaint by many men who are as hairy as Esau or a modern gorilla.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-320: Henry J., aged 20, is a college student.

"Dr. Crane, I worry a lot," he began, "and it is chiefly about my hairless chin.

"The other fellows in the dormitory kid me about the fact that I seldom need to shave.

"And I have no hair on my chest at all! They tell me I am not a man because I don't have any hair on my chest.

"But I am athletic and have won my letter in track. Is there any medicine I can take to develop a heavier beard and hair on my chest?"

Literally millions of people throughout the world are fretting just like Henry because they have little or no beard and have hairless chests.

On the other hand, we psychologists and physicians have probably an equal number of patients who are upset because they have so much hair on their chests that they look like gorillas.

And that's the way it goes in life, for the very thing that one person desires, another may abhor.

Some girls are crying because they have thick ankles. Others are tearful because they have very slender ankles and small calves.

Some, like Deborah whom we described yesterday, are all upset over a small bust. Others are begging us doctors to carve off part of their breasts because they think these are too large.

There is no connection between a man's virility and the hair on his chest. Furthermore, a bald pate does not indicate lack of masculinity, either, so quit trying to employ hair as a barometer of male vigor and pugnacity.

Whether you have a blue-black chin versus a relatively hairless chin at the age of 21, depends chiefly on your ancestry.

In some families, hairy chests and heavy beards are common. In others, the men have almost totally hairless chests and only slight beard growth.

But, so what! It's like the color of your eyes. Some have blue eyes and some brown, but the eyes also don't indicate virility or a he-man personality.

Well, neither does the presence or absence of hair on your chest.

Some girls, too, develop complexes because they have a few hairs on their chest or legs and think these masculinize them. They don't.

There are also racial differences regarding hair growth on the chin and chest.

The American Indian, for example, had very little beard. That is also true of the Negro and the Chinese.

This might suggest, at first glance, that dark-skinned people and brunets would be more hairless.

But many extreme blondes are likewise in that same category, so we can only say with assurance that your own immediate family background determines the amount of hair on the chest.

If the hairy men at Henry's dormitory tease him for being hairless, he can laugh it off and let them feel superior, which is why they are kidding him.

For Henry is a big, athletic fellow who is popular with the coeds, so his roommates secretly try to rise at his expense. That's often one of the underlying causes for teasing as well as gossip.

But he can occasionally put them in their place by saying: "Oh, I'm just farther removed from the gorillas than you are!"

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Woman Wonders About Dog Poisonings; 'Suppose Child Had Gotten It by Mistake'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters, but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I wonder how the person slept the night of April 28 after poisoning the dogs in the vicinity of Osmun street. I was at the home of my sister when her dog was poisoned. Hers was the fourth to get it.

I wonder if it would bother the person to send five children to bed crying over the loss of their little dog. When I left for home at 12 o'clock, her little boy was lying in bed sobbing for his dog. What if a child had picked up the poison?

Pet Owner Wouldn't Risk Accident to Avoid Dog

I have little Manchester dogs, two cats, and four little children who love their pets.

I will not hit the brake nor swerve to miss a cat nor a dog in the road, but I would never try to hit one, either.

One of our own dogs was run over and killed by us. One has been hit twice on Walton Boulevard. I have seen a driver almost wreck his car swerving to miss that same dog.

I don't blame the drivers. Yes, our children saw the one as she was hit two weeks ago. They cried, too. They realize now, more than ever, why they aren't to let the dogs out.

The lives of the people in the cars are of more value than that of an animal in the road. Our children cried as TinyTup was hurt each time, but nowhere near so many tears as there would have been from the family of a wrecked car.

It was my fault our dogs were loose and on the highway.

Mother Urges Less Lurid Crime News

The Press' too thorough reporting of sex crimes provides suggestive literature to both children and adults, in my opinion. All the obscene details are right there. Thus one act provides fuel for another. The seed of the act is already present in the mind of the individual.

The unfortunate boy who perpetrated the latest act provides the answer plainly enough. His mother stated that he avidly followed the account of the Gaca case.

Society must be protected against primitive nature. It resides in all of us, but it is our negative side. Let us stress the positive side, the good that is in the world because of people who have conquered their base impulses.

Your coverage of the strides in medicine is an example of positive reporting. There is always an unhappy minority who are not conscience stricken by the written expose of shocking details of criminal acts, but who feed upon them. Surely these details belong only in police files and within the private family circle.

Shall we humiliate such families by publishing every detail and feed public curiosity where it is incapable of compassion? I am reminded of the old Roman spectacles, by means of which the popular mind was kept from concentrating on the real abuses of the day.

We need not be reminded that crimes exist. Repetition tends to callousness. We will not cure the aggressor by our condemnation. Let us eliminate glaring headlines and print the barest facts for the good of all.

Hal Boyle Says:

Half of Coeds Don't Intend to Darn Husband's Socks

NEW YORK (AP)—Who sews your buttons? Who darns your socks? Who sends your shirts to the laundry?

If a man does these things himself, presumably he is a real fine modern-minded husband and a great companion to his wife. But if he expects his wife to do them, he is presumably a brow-bearing oaf who is secretarly looking for a mother not a marital partner.

So some present-day sociologists and marriage counselors seem to hold. I say they're full of twaddle.

* * *

There has been a horrible spate of magazine articles lately on the "new freedom" of wives, the "new partnership" in marriage, the "new sharing of responsibility" between husbands and wives.

Much of this wide-eyed tripe is the sheerest drivel. It operates on the theory that (1) a home is hopelessly old-fashioned if the husband goes out and brings home the bacon, then rests contentedly in the living room while his wife cooks it—but (2) everything is palsy-walsy in a home in which papa opens a can of beans for dinner while mama cheerfully busies herself painting the kitchen ceiling.

* * *

Well, I just don't believe it. And I'll bet 10 million American husbands (and their wives!) agree with me.

The latest of these little up-to-the-minute matrimonial essays really has me rfled. It found in a survey that many young U.S. wives were neglecting their husbands, but held sociologists thought this just dandy as conditions have changed, and a man no longer has the right to expect from his wife the personal attentions and services his father received from his mother.

* * *

The article expressed surprise but no disapproval over the fact that a poll of college girls taking a course in marriage and family life showed only half expected to darn their future husband's socks, sew on his buttons, see that his shirts were laundered and his suits kept cleaned and pressed.

To me this is saddening. Do these girls really want to marry a husband—or merely marry a bachelor, who doesn't need them? I recall in a college course I attended the professor asked the girls the minimum income they would demand in a husband. One girl insisted it would have to be $100 a week. That was more than 20 years ago. She's unmarried.

* * *

Why should a girl in college balk at the idea of sewing buttons for her husband? Would it really make her feel more self-important, more like a partner, if, as they exchanged vows at the altar, he whispered, "Baby, it's going to be 50-50 in everything with us. How's about you sewing the buttons on my clothes—and I'll sew the buttons on yours?"

The idea that marriage is a sharing isn't exactly new; it's as old as marriage itself. But you can't figure out the sharing as you'd plan a work sheet in a factory. The adventure lies in finding out what and how you'll share. You don't start with an ultimatum—or often end with one. Not in a real marriage.

* * *

But there is a real danger in the new idea that all household chores have to be decided exactly 50-50, so that nobody ever does more than his share; there is real danger in the new idea that any wife can improve her husband by neglecting him while she pursues her own interests outside the home.

Such a concept doesn't exalt or free womanhood. It degrades womanhood. No victory outside her home can ever repay an honest wife for a failure within it. Most women realize this instinctively. There are an amazing number of girls left who don't regard a kitchen as a penal institution or button sewing as a form of slavery.

* * *

As a matter of fact, anybody looking either for a 50-50 partner or a fulltime chum ought to form a business corporation or join a social club. Marriage is a mystic, longtime exploration. It should be entered into only by people looking for something else—men who yearn for a wife, women who yearn for a husband.

Scrupulous Toothbrushers Have the Poorest Teeth

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

When I say, from time to time, that your dentist's stock in trade includes good digestion, good health, vite, good looks and longevity, I'm not trying to blarney the dentists so they won't regard me as a low character with a "filthy" mouth (I never brush my teeth).

I have seen what few dentists have been privileged to see, the finest teeth in the civilized world, the teeth of the people of Tristan da Cunha, who had never used tooth brushes or dentifrices. Until some dentist conjures up a reasonable explanation for this or for the fact that the most scrupulous toothbrushers in the world have the poorest teeth, I'll take the mincing insinuation about my "filthy" mouth with amusement.

It is not by accident that the No. 1 Little Lesson in the Ways of Health—the 23 volumette Pocket Encyclopedia of Health—is "Save Your Teeth." For a copy send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. This is the first lesson in how to keep well, because I believe a full complement of functionally efficient teeth, your own or your dentist's, is the best insurance of good digestion, good health, vite, good looks and longevity.

If your education was neglected, in grade school and high school, you may think my estimate of the value of good teeth is overdrawn. The ninnyhammer who brushes his teeth with daintily packaged soap containing the latest antihistamine, the most powerful permicide or the right proportion of tweedledidium, that settles it.

If perchance you'd like to qualify to have an opinion concerning the relation between teeth and beauty, get Dr. W. A. Price's book, "Nutrition and Physical Degeneration," from the public library or your book dealer. Dr. Price was a dentist. When I am irked by the yammerings of some mincing little man about my "filthy" mouth, I take down Dr. Price's book, read a few passages, and presently recover my equanimity and my respect for the dental profession.

It was not without long study of health that in Little Lesson 18, "The 7 Keys to Vite," for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, I named the keys:

1. Save your teeth.
2. Temperance.
3. Belly breathing.
4. Nudity (not nudism).
5. Iodin ration.
6. Exercise.
7. Corrective, protective, rejuvenation, regeneration diet.

For pamphlet "Belly Breathing," send stamped, self-addressed envelope. Ditto for Iodin Ration pamphlet. Exercise and diet are described in Little Lesson 16.

There may be some one in the world who is beautiful, pretty, handsome or good looking even without teeth or with one or more teeth missing, but I'm from Missouri.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

St. Lawrence Seaway Poses Problems for New England Ports

By ROGER W. BABSON
Written for the United Press

Probably the port of Boston will lose some shipping when the new St. Lawrence Waterway is completed with a 27-foot channel from the Atlantic Ocean to Duluth.

But for many years ships have come to Boston only with products which are going to the New England cities, and this shipping will continue. Everything destined for west of Albany has been entering at the port of New York for years.

Statistics show that even if Boston lost all foreign shipping it would amount to only about 1 per cent of Boston's total trade. By building up New England's industries we can easily overcome any possible loss from this new ship canal.

Besides, those owners of dock properties who are now crying about their future should get some ships from Duluth, Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland and other interim ports to ship direct to Boston, which they now cannot do. Let us remember that this new St. Lawrence route can be made a "two-way street" for shipping.

New England should immediately send a delegation to Duluth and see what is going on there in connection with new buildings and factory expansion. Perhaps the wharf owners of Boston should invest some money in Duluth!

It is most important that we not get caught by another group of our mills moving to Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin as we were caught by having the textile mills move to Georgia, Alabama and the Carolinas.

This movement South was due primarily to the short-sighted action of our labor leaders. It again will be up to them to decide whether other mills will now move to these Western states, due to the terribly unsettled labor conditions in New England. This possibility is far more important than the loss of a little shipping.

Basically our trouble is that we cannot provide outgoing traffic to the ships that bring us raw materials. The tonnage of exports from the port of Boston is only about a tenth of the imports. The St. Lawrence Waterway does not make this situation worse.

I am not too well acquainted with the situation regarding railroad freight rates and incentives needed for helping the port of Boston by giving Boston competing rates with New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore or New Orleans. Certainly, we now could make a new attempt to improve this situation by bringing the St. Lawrence project as a new reason for enabling Boston to compete.

In fact, if New Englanders would use the St. Lawrence project as a leverage for improving the railroad rate structure between Boston and the West, there might be a net gain for Boston.

Another point, however, is that 60 per cent of the incoming shipping is handled by trucks from pier to destination. Hence New England's proposed new highways are a favorable factor, especially to the new east-west Massachusetts turnpike now under construction.

Benefits of the St. Lawrence project to the north central states might well be extended to New England industries. This could be especially so if we continue to develop the manufacturing of high-value products and the giving of high-value services, which other sections of the nation cannot do so well.

Millionaires are no longer barometers of New England's greatness but rather how these millions are used. Where the great-grandfathers were willing to take risks, their living descendants today put this money into government bonds and other non-productive investments.

We now need a renaissance in faith, culture, brains, courage and old-fashioned religion, such as existed in the days of old Boston.

If the St. Lawrence development could awake New England bankers, industrialists, labor leaders and college presidents to this new concept, it could be a great blessing to us all.

Teachers Like High Standards

Schools Find Degree Requirement Helping to Maintain Staffs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — School administrators are finding that one way to get and keep teachers—a sore problem for 15 years now—is to make it harder to be a teacher.

The number of states requiring a college degree in education to teach in elementary schools now is nearing 35, and others are planning to put degree requirements into effect.

* * *

A group of school superintendents attending a conference of presidents of state associations of administrators here discussed this development in a panel interview today.

"We put in a requirement for a degree about three years ago," said Dale Whitenack, of Vancouver, Wash., "and, as many states have found, we discovered that the higher the requirements, the better are the chances of getting teachers.

"The first question prospective teachers usually ask our recruiters is 'What are your requirements?' Money is important too, but most of all they seem to want to work where their associates are well trained."

* * *

"It's only the same thing that the bar and medical profession did 40 or 50 years ago," commented William H. Buker, Holden, Mass. "They raised their standards, and you can see the results."

Massachusetts has required a degre for some years. Several states — Kansas and Louisiana, for example—have required them for junior and senior high schools and are beginning to put a degree requirement into effect for elementary schools.

* * *

The Kansas plan, as explained by Supt. Hugh C. Bryan, of Leavenworth, will be in full operation by the fall of 1959.

"Next year," Bryan said, "a person may get a 'provisional certificate' with as few as 60 credit hours. But this will be good for only one year. For each renewal he must take eight additional hours and keep on doing that until he gets his degree."

Many communities in states which still recognize teaching certificates based on experience or degrees earned in other fields are ignoring this and are upgrading their faculties on their own.

NEW DELHI (AP) — The upper house of Parliament has approved a bill providing penalties of up to three months imprisonment for discriminating against untouchables, who for centuries have been forced to live apart from other people in many sections of India. The bill, already passed by the lower house, will become law after the President's formal assent later this week.

5 BASIC REASONS FOR PONTIAC'S RECORD-BREAKING SALES

1. PONTIAC COSTS LESS THAN ANY CAR EQUALLING ITS 200 HORSEPOWER

If you delight in flashing performance, here's all the reason you need to join the record thousands who are swinging to Pontiac. The 200 horsepower delivered by the mighty Strato-Streak V-8 with the four-barrel carburetor, optional at extra cost, is the highest power ever delivered by a car at Pontiac's price—higher than that of cars costing considerably more. And Pontiac is setting all-time marks for economy. For thrift and thrills it's Pontiac all the way!

2. PONTIAC COSTS LESS THAN ANY CAR EQUALLING ITS LONG WHEELBASE

Pontiac is big where it counts—in wheelbase! Model for model, Pontiac has a longer wheelbase than any car at its price, or any car delivering 200 horsepower . . . 122" or 124", depending on the Pontiac you select. And that's important because a long wheelbase is the reason for Pontiac's smooth, road-leveling ride and the roomy comfort of Pontiac's large, luxurious bodies—advantages that put Pontiac on a level with costly cars for sheer riding pleasure.

3. PONTIAC COSTS LESS THAN ANY CAR EQUALLING ITS LUXURY-CAR STABILITY

The big, husky Pontiac with rugged X-member frame gives you the safe, solid feel at cruising speeds that motorists have formerly paid high prices to enjoy. And it links this road-holding comfort with ease of control like that of costly sport cars. You travel in superlative comfort in a Pontiac for the lowest price ever placed on such big-car stability.

4. PONTIAC'S DISTINCTIVE BEAUTY IS UNMATCHED AT ANY PRICE

Pontiac gives you style and beauty that are a perfect match for its colorful performance. Future-fashioned lines, Vogue Two-Tone styling and Twin-Streaked hood provide dash and glamour unsurpassed by any other car at any price.

5. You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars and much less than stripped economy models of higher-priced makes

Come in and let us fill you in on all the facts and figures. We know you'll be pleased to see how little it costs to enjoy the pride and pleasure of fine-car ownership!

Competition in AF Baffles Lawmaker

WASHINGTON (INS)—Competition is apparently quite keen between Gen. Curtis Lemay's Strategic Air Command at Omaha and Gen. Benjamin Chidlaw's Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo.

The transcript of a closed-door hearing by the House Appropriations Committee made public today quotes Rep. E. P. Scrivner (R-Kans), as saying:

"At Colorado Springs, we were given a good sales talk on the Air Defense Command. Then we went over to Strategic Air, and they practically 'unsold' us. It leaves us in a quandary as to where we are going. If we believe one, we cannot possibly rely on the other's statement."

Find Prisoner Serving Time Given Another

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sheriff's deputies weren't aware there was anything wrong until Eusebio Espana, nervously pacing his cell, suddenly called out to a jailer:

"Hey! When do I go to court?"

Somebody looked into the matter. And, it developed, Espana, 29, already had been to court. Furthermore, he had been ordered released.

Espana didn't know all this. And for very good reason:

Inquiry showed that Rudy Garcia Megiorino, 28, had helped himself to Espana's property slip, and had appeared in court as Espana. When the judge dismissed the charge against Espana, Megiorino was released.

Megiorino hasn't been seen since. He was supposed to go to prison on a robbery conviction.

To make matters worse, it seems nobody noticed that Megiorino's clothes didn't fit when he walked out. With his filfered property slip, the 130-pound Megiorino had been given the clothes of Espana, who weighs 189.

Cadillac

Class of 1985!

It would take a long time to determine who won the bet—but we'd be willing to wager that the lad in the picture above winds up owning a Cadillac!

We feel so confident because he is starting out like a typical Cadillac owner.

Preponderately, Cadillac owners are self-made men. They just emerge—from everywhere.

But they are usually marked, quite early in life, by industry and by thrift and by the will to succeed.

That's why we say that this wonderful lad—out earning money to make himself self-sufficient—is very likely to wind up owning a Cadillac. Looking at him, as he labors, we estimate the class of 1985!

We hope we are around to deliver his car when the great day arrives—for it's a great thrill to hand out the keys when an owner comes in for his first Cadillac.

It's worth a lot to see the smile on his face and the gleam in his eye as he settles himself behind the wheel—studies the instrument panel to make sure of the controls—and floats away in the direction of home and a family celebration.

• • •

Of course, for the lad in the picture above, that thrill is still a great many years away.

But how about you? Is the time coming close for your dream of a Cadillac to come to a happy ending? If so, we'd be happy—indeed—to see you.

This is a wonderful year for owning a new Cadillac—whether it's your first or your second or your fifth or your tenth. Never before has Cadillac performance been so marvelous—its beauty so arresting—its comfort and handling ease so delightful. It is more decisively than ever—the Standard of the World!

Why not come in today—and check this for yourself? We'll give you the keys and a car—for the most revealing hour you ever spent in a motor car!

Mother Seeks Son's Release

Woman, 72, on Flight to Capital; Kin Held in Red China

CHICAGO (AP) — A 72-year-old woman is taking her first airplane trip today—in the hope it will help bring about the release of her son from a Chinese Communist prison.

Mrs. Addie Rigney has appointments in Washington with Illinois congressmen and a deputy undersecretary of state to discuss the government's efforts to obtain freedom for her son, the Rev. Harold Rigney, from a prison in Peiping.

* * *

Father Rigney, a 52-year-old Roman Catholic priest, is one of 27 American civilians reported still held in Chinese Communist jails. The rector of the Catholic Fu Jen University in Peiping since 1946, he was jailed by the Communists four years ago.

Mrs. Rigney's daughter Mrs. Mary Anne Hanley said her mother "is hoping to accomplish his release. She hopes her trip will cause the State Department to increase its efforts to get him released. She always was afraid to fly. But when it came to this trip she did not say she was afraid."

Late today, Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, will tell her what has been done and what is being done by the government to effect the release of her son.

Pakistan Chief Accepts Invitation to Red China

KARACHI, Pakistan (INS) — Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan has announced acceptance of an invitation by Premier Chou En-lai to visit Red China.

Ali said he accepted the invitation because the visit "will help strengthen friendly relations between our two countries."

The Premier said the date of the visit would be announced later.

Shivering Sheep Revived on Diet of Rare Orchids

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—O. H. Wilkins recommends an orchid diet for shivering sheep. But not HIS orchids.

Eight hundred newly sheared sheep began keeling over yesterday after a rainy and windy weekend caught them in an unseasonal state of undress. Their pasture is near Wilkins' five-acre estate.

* * *

Wilkins, a lighting director for the National Broadcasting Co., said he couldn't get help for them on the telephone, so he began hauling the nearly dead sheep by wheelbarrow to his only convenient shelter—his orchid hothouse.

"I never cared much for sheep," he said, "but I just couldn't stand around and watch those poor things die off like that."

About half the sheared sheep died. "They got a chill," said their owner Nick Costa. "It turned into pneumonia, and they died."

* * *

Wilkins sheltered 100 of them in his snug and warm hothouse. On the advice of a veterinarian, he administered penicillin with his orchid feeder syringe.

The still-wobbly 100 perked up, looked around and began to munch—on Wilkins' rare orchids. He said some of the plants were worth more apiece than the sheep. Between the drugs and diet, however, they were soon revived.

Costa said the 400 that died were trucked away to a rendering plant.

2 Frenchmen Hurt in Tunis Violence

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — European terrorists were blamed today for attacks on two French members of organizations favoring less French control of Tunisia. One of the victims was in a hospital with a fractured skull.

The assaults last night were believed inspired by a mass meeting Saturday at which 6,000 French residents of Tunisia denounced recent French-Tunisian accords promising self-rule for the protectorate.

The injured victim was Dr. Etienne Burnet, 85-year-old-retired director of the local Pasteur Institute. He was bludgeoned on his doorstep.

Prof. Charles Pignon of the Institute of Higher Studies was attacked by three young men who tried to force their way into his home.

Good Business Putting Discount Houses Into Competitive Field

DETROIT (UP) — The discount house business might be getting too good at times for the discount houses' business.

"The discount house business is so good it's bad," one discount house operator grumbled. "People are shopping the discount houses now."

What he meant was that things weren't supposed to work that way in the discount house business. People were supposed to come in and buy instead of shopping around.

But with the discount house business good and more springing up all the time, many shoppers are looking around before buying, often finding they can get discounts from the discount house price if they look enough. That is running up the overhead which permitted the discount houses to discount so much in the first place.

Discount house dealers don't like to talk about their business too much. But one of the more talkative explained the business this way.

"It was all psychology," he explained. "People who could get something for you wholesale had an added sense of importance. In the discount house business, you play upon that.

"We print up cards and then pass them out. The more we can pass around, the better it is. Of course, everybody who gets one of the cards thinks the person who gave it to him has done him a real favor by cutting him in on a deal where he can get it wholesale."

Some people even make a living by passing out discount house cards, he explained, while others make it a profitable sideline. They work on a commission basis for discount houses. The cards they pass out have markings which identify the person who distributed the cards.

When someone comes in with that card and makes a purchase, the identifying mark is noted. The distributor of the card gets a commission on the sale.

"We actually give people good discount deals," he continued. "Of course, they might come in for a washing machine on which we won't make much, be pleased with the deal and buy a lamp also, on which our mark-up is a little higher."

British Polio Shot Program Postponed

LONDON (AP)—The Medical Research Council postponed plans today to vaccinate "several hundred" British children in six cities with the new Salk antipolio vaccine.

A spokesman for the council said tests on the new vaccine would be "held up probably until autumn, or until further information arrives from America on results of the investigation there."

U.S. officials have stressed faith in their mass inoculation program.

British Reds Running 17 for Commons Seats

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Communist party said today it is entering 17 candidates for House of Commons seats in the May 26 general election. It urged its supporters to vote for Labor party candidates in the other 608 districts.

The Labor party has disavowed Communist support in all previous elections. The Reds entered 10 candidates in the last general election, in 1951. All lost.

Shed Pounds by Dancing

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Any woman who doesn't worry about her weight—about its excess, its deficit or its inappropriate location — is either perfectly shaped or void of vanity.

Fortunately for Elizabeth Arden, one of the dictators of the horsey set (she handles both stables and socialites), most of us are imperfect and vain.

I went to see Liz the other day about some ill-placed curves, and was introduced to a new home-exercise routine called dance rhythms. A lovely blonde thing in black tights pointed out to me that this is the most pleasant way to lose centimeters in the proper spots, because it require nothing but a phonograph and some imagination. No money.

In other words, if you are not satisfied with the results you cannot demand double anything back but you have Miss Arden's permission to switch your allegiance to Helena Rubinstein or Toots' 82nd street gym.

Fair enough? Asked the lovely blonde thing. Let us then proceed.

The dance rhythms exercises break down into several forms, the first of which is sub-titled "Vibrations." In this exercise explained the LB thing, you just put a bouncy number on the old gramophone and you shake, shake, shake in time to it.

"Pretend you have no muscles," she said, dropping her jaw and flinging her arms through space and shuddering her shoulders. "Just quiver and shiver, and shiver and shake." Now, she challenged, turning off the record, your body has all the kinks out of it and you are completely relaxed.

SHE was relaxed. I was upset.

That exercise was just a prelude, however, for the integral part of this new exercise technique, according to the teacher in tights. "Now," she said, "we come to what is called 'Movements with Meaning.' This is the part where you must think, and use your imagination, and have fun."

Standing up straight, the teacher went into a dramatic routine such as eyes have rarely beheld. To the melody of a waltz, she glided, drifted, darted, kicked and hammered her chin gracefully against her chest. Every little movement had a meaning all its own, and I shall here record them for the fanciful females who want to lose inches this "flowing fun way," as Miss Arden so coyly puts it.

First—say to yourself "There is a mink coat up on the chandelier and I must have it." Then stretch up, up, up, to get it. Be sure to visualize it as mink, warns teacher. Otherwise you may not use all your muscles.

Second—get down on all fours and reach back one leg at a time, imagining that you are reaching behind you for the moon. "When your locate the moon with your foot, flip it over your back so it bounces on your head." This moon-reaching bit is good for thighs.

Third—pretend you're a mermaid and recline on the floor with legs close together, forming a tail. Now swish your legs back and forth, swinging far to the right, then far to left. This should rub inches off the rear.

Fourth—For the sake of bustline development and limbering the tensions, say to yourself, "I am the king," and stand straight and tall. Then switch your illusion suddenly and say, "I am a salve," and slump gracefully into a kneel, head inclined toward the floor. Repeat, in time, to regal music.

There are other exercises, but I was becoming psychotic. So I left Miss Arden's emporium of fun and fancy and hied to the YWCA steam room. They don't have music there, but a girl can see herself for what she relly is!

Wins Second 'Award'

OMAHA (AP) — Mrs. James T. Pruett appeared in court for her husband, arrested on charges of driving 54 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. She said, "He was on his way home after receiving a safe driving award." Judge James O'Brien said, "I now give him the dubious award of being the fastest speeder to appear in court today. Fifteen dollars and costs."

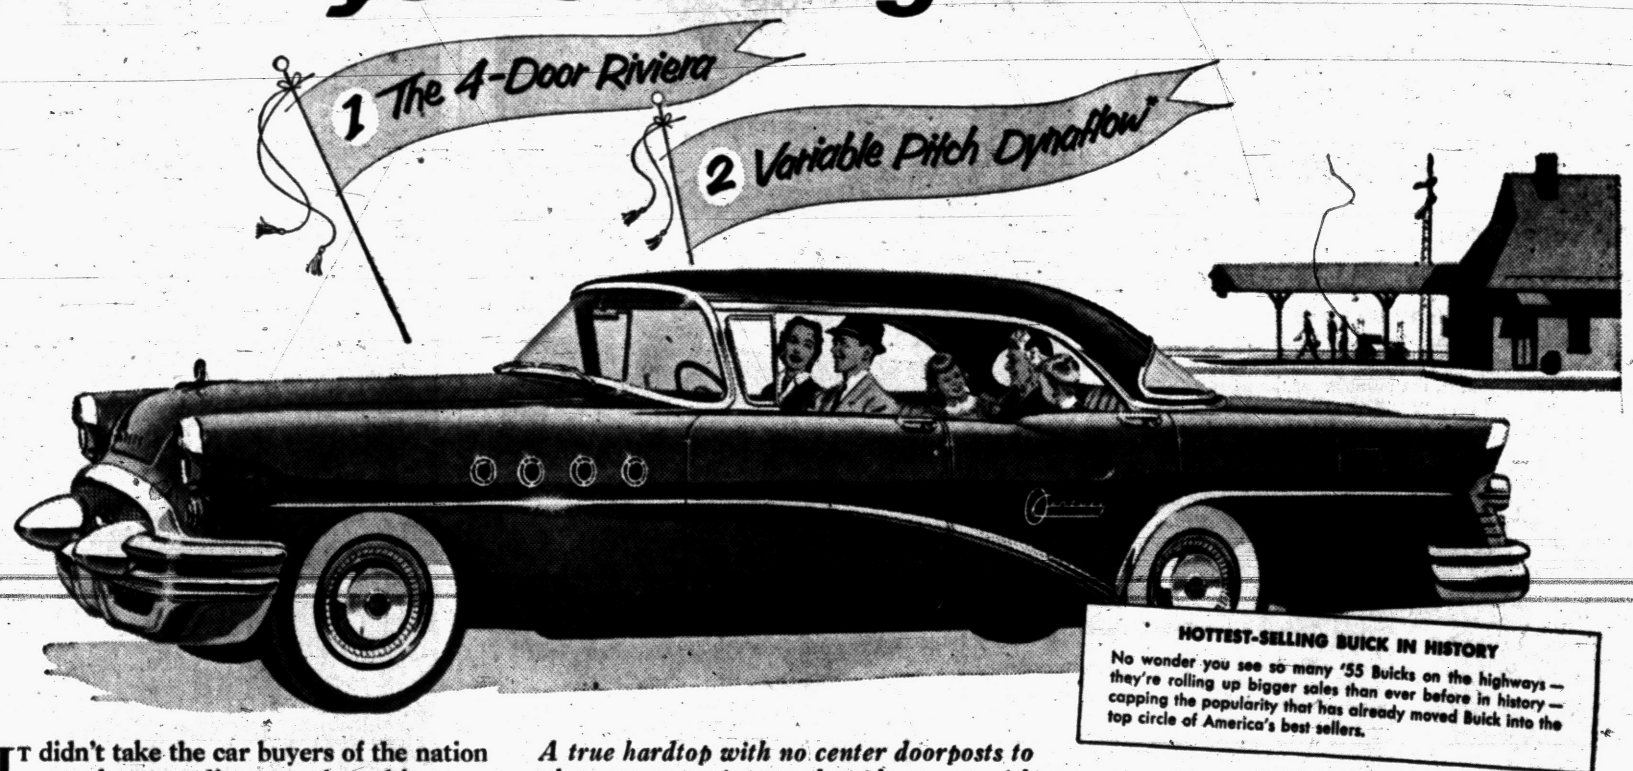
Buick alone brings you the year's two big sensations—



HOTTEST-SELLING BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—capping the popularity that has already moved Buick into the top circle of America's best sellers.

It didn't take the car buyers of the nation very long to discover that this year Buick's the car with more headline news than a newspaper.

And the news is so good—in styling, in power, in performance, and in price—that Buick sales are soaring to an all-time best-seller high.

But even in a long list of standout developments engineered by Buick for 1955, two are so "hot," they stand out as the sensations of the year, by far.

One is the new kind of automobile you see pictured here...

The 4-Door Riviera—a new kind of body design...

A true hardtop with no center doorposts to obstruct your view to the sides—yet with separate doors for rear-seat passengers, plus full Buick-size Sedan room for all.

The other sensation—and we mean that literally—is a new kind of automatic transmission...

Variable Pitch Dynaflow—a new kind of magic principled after the modern plane's switch-pitch propeller...

A silk-smooth wonder drive with twenty propeller-like blades that angle one way for extra gas mileage in cruising—then switch their pitch when you press the pedal way down to give you an instantaneous burst of getaway or accelerating power when you need a safety surge split-second quick.

So if you want the performance thrill of the year in the new kind of hardtop that's sweeping the country—better come see us real soon, for only in a Buick can you get them both.

P.S. #1: The 4-Door Riviera is coming off the assembly lines in full volume—in the low-price SPECIAL Series, and in the high-powered CENTURY Series—and both at the moderate extra cost of a 4-door model over a 2-door model.

P.S. #2: Today's spectacular Variable Pitch Dynaflow costs no more than earlier versions of this pace-setting Drive.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Six Men and Woman Enlist in Marines

Six men and a woman enlisted in the Marine Corps during April, M.Sgt. Ishmeal Powers, head of the Pontiac Marine Recruiting Substation, said today.

Scheduled to receive eight weeks of recruit training at Parris Island, S.C., is Miss Donna Joyce Lilge, 19, of 1450 Otter Dr. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lilge. Prior to enlistment Miss Lilge attended Western Michigan College of Education.

Headed for training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, Calif., are:

Cecil G. Tanner, 323 Michigan Ave., John D. Grimshaw, 170 N. Opdyke Rd., Richard L. Wells, 643 Northway Dr., Herbert H. Hayes, Lake Orion, Robert E. Ewald, Lake Orion, and Donald J. Keener, Birmingham.

Jailbreak Ends: One Dead, One Wounded, 2 in Cells

CANTON, N.Y. (UP)—A manhunt through northern New York wilderness has ended where it began—in St. Lawrence County Jail, from which four men fled Wednesday.

Freshly shaven and clothed, Patrick Brooks, 26, of Gabriels, walked quietly into the main jail office at 9:06 last night. A friend drove him from the swampy woodland where he had been hunted since Friday. Two children rode with them.

* * *

The final score stood: one desperado dead, one wounded and two in custody. A state trooper was recovering from his wounds.

Leon Caskinette, 24, was taken after a gun battle Friday. Frank Ialarico, 44, Utica, and Ralph La Shomb, 29, were shot when troopers found them yesterday morning. Ialarico was killed.

* * *

More than 200 state police, sheriff's deputies and volunteers took part in the manhunt in rough county near the Canadian border.

Louis Greenwood, 38, said Brooks appeared at his house 13 miles north of Potsdam about 8 p.m. and asked for food. Greenwood's sister is married to Brooks' brother.

In discussing the wounding of the trooper, Greenwood said Brooks raised his right hand and declared, "I swear to God I never used a gun."

Brooks agreed to surrender, Greenwood said, on condition that Greenwood's car be used for the trip and "don't let the police get me."

* * *

Earlier in the day, Talarico, a three-time felony loser known as The Hook, kept his vow that he would never be taken alive. Nine troopers found him and La Shomb in a clearing on a farm near Hopkinton and shot them.

La Shomb was taken to Potsdam General Hospital, where his right leg was amputated. His condition was reported fair today.

Trooper Austin J. McDonagh, 34, of Malone, was recovering today at a Malone hospital from shoulder and leg wounds suffered in the gun battle Friday in which Caskinette was captured.

The great panic occurred on the Brooklyn Bridge on May 30, 1883, six days after its opening. Someone screamed and panic ensued, with 12 persons being trampled to death and 40 injured.

Ford Output Totals 892,379 This Year

DETROIT (UP)—Ford Motor Co. announced yesterday its combined car and truck production for the first four months of 1955 reached a record 892,379 units.

The four-month figure far exceeds the 735,137 assemblies during the same period a year ago.

In addition, the company announced it broke daily postwar production records 15 times during the first four months this year. The one-day record stands at 10,231 cars and trucks which were produced April 27.

Ford's combined car-truck production for April was announced at 235,752 units.

Sentenced to Prison

BAY CITY (UP)—Ernest Phillips, 45, of Flint was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard at Bay City to a year and a day in prison for possessing and concealing six quarts of untaxed liquor. Phillips was arrested two weeks ago at his home in a raid by federal agents.

Beavers bear litters of two to six once a year, late in the spring.

HOTTEST-SELLING BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—capping the popularity that has already moved Buick into the top circle of America's best sellers.

It didn't take the car buyers of the nation very long to discover that this year Buick's the car with more headline news than a newspaper.

And the news is so good—in styling, in power, in performance, and in price—that Buick sales are soaring to an all-time best-seller high.

But even in a long list of standout developments engineered by Buick for 1955, two are so "hot," they stand out as the sensations of the year, by far.

One is the new kind of automobile you see pictured here . . .

The 4-Door Riviera—a new kind of body design . . .

A true hardtop with no center doorposts to obstruct your view to the sides—yet with separate doors for rear-seat passengers, plus full Buick-size Sedan room for all.

The other sensation—and we mean that literally—is a new kind of automatic transmission . . .

Variable Pitch Dynaflow—a new kind of magic principled after the modern plane's switch-pitch propeller . . .

A silk-smooth wonder drive with twenty propeller-like blades that angle one way for extra gas mileage in cruising—then switch their pitch when you press the pedal way down to give you an instantaneous burst of getaway or accelerating power when you need a safety surge split-second quick.

So if you want the performance thrill of the year in the new kind of hardtop that's sweeping the country—better come see us real soon, for only in a Buick can you get them both.

P.S. #1: The 4-Door Riviera is coming off the assembly lines in full volume—in the low-price SPECIAL Series, and in the high-powered CENTURY Series—and both at the moderate extra cost of a 4-door model over a 2-door model.

P.S. #2: Today's spectacular Variable Pitch Dynaflow costs no more than earlier versions of this pace-setting Drive.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Six Men and Woman Enlist in Marines

Six men and a woman enlisted in the Marine Corps during April, M.Sgt. Ishmeal Powers, head of the Pontiac Marine Recruiting Substation, said today.

Scheduled to receive eight weeks of recruit training at Parris Island, S.C., is Miss Donna Joyce Lilge, 19, of 1450 Otter Dr. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lilge. Prior to enlistment Miss Lilge attended Western Michigan College of Education.

Headed for training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, Calif., are:

Cecil G. Tanner, 323 Michigan Ave., John D. Grimshaw, 170 N. Opdyke Rd., Richard L. Wells, 643 Northway Dr., Herbert H. Hayes, Lake Orion, Robert E. Ewald, Lake Orion, and Donald J. Keener, Birmingham.

Jailbreak Ends: One Dead, One Wounded, 2 in Cells

CANTON, N.Y. (UP)—A manhunt through northern New York wilderness has ended where it began—in St. Lawrence County Jail, from which four men fled Wednesday.

Freshly shaven and clothed, Patrick Brooks, 26, of Gabriels, walked quietly into the main jail office at 9:06 last night. A friend drove him from the swampy woodland where he had been hunted since Friday. Two children rode with them.

* * *

The final score stood: one desperado dead, one wounded and two in custody. A state trooper was recovering from his wounds.

Leon Caskinette, 24, was taken after a gun battle Friday. Frank Ialarico, 44, Utica, and Ralph La Shomb, 29, were shot when troopers found them yesterday morning. Ialarico was killed.

* * *

More than 200 state police, sheriff's deputies and volunteers took part in the manhunt in rough county near the Canadian border.

Louis Greenwood, 38, said Brooks appeared at his house 13 miles north of Potsdam about 8 p.m. and asked for food. Greenwood's sister is married to Brooks' brother.

In discussing the wounding of the trooper, Greenwood said Brooks raised his right hand and declared, "I swear to God I never used a gun."

Brooks agreed to surrender, Greenwood said, on condition that Greenwood's car be used for the trip and "don't let the police get me."

* * *

Earlier in the day, Talarico, a three-time felony loser known as The Hook, kept his vow that he would never be taken alive. Nine troopers found him and La Shomb in a clearing on a farm near Hopkinton and shot them.

La Shomb was taken to Potsdam General Hospital, where his right leg was amputated. His condition was reported fair today.

Trooper Austin J. McDonagh, 34, of Malone, was recovering today at a Malone hospital from shoulder and leg wounds suffered in the gun battle Friday in which Caskinette was captured.

The great panic occurred on the Brooklyn Bridge on May 30, 1883, six days after its opening. Someone screamed and panic ensued, with 12 persons being trampled to death and 40 injured.

Ford Output Totals 892,379 This Year

DETROIT (UP)—Ford Motor Co. announced yesterday its combined car and truck production for the first four months of 1955 reached a record 892,379 units.

The four-month figure far exceeds the 735,137 assemblies during the same period a year ago.

In addition, the company announced it broke daily postwar production records 15 times during the first four months this year. The one-day record stands at 10,231 cars and trucks which were produced April 27.

Ford's combined car-truck production for April was announced at 235,752 units.

Sentenced to Prison

BAY CITY (UP)—Ernest Phillips, 45, of Flint was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard at Bay City to a year and a day in prison for possessing and concealing six quarts of untaxed liquor. Phillips was arrested two weeks ago at his home in a raid by federal agents.

Beavers bear litters of two to six once a year, late in the spring.

350 Attend Workshop Held at State Hospital

Pontiac Press Photos

Richard Arthaud, psychiatric social worker (center, back row) points out features the panel will discuss to members Eleanor McCurry (left, front) occupational therapist; and Mrs. Calvin A. Dennison of the Central Volunteer Bureau. Standing (left) is Jerome Weiss, social worker and Mrs. Sylvia Weitzman, a volunteer. The panel discussed "Women's Organizations and Michigan's Number One Health Problem" at a workshop conducted at Pontiac State Hospital Monday evening. Mr. Weiss was recorder and Mildred Bennett, social worker, was panel leader.

Mental Illness Explained by Panel

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

The workshop held at Pontiac State Hospital last night was a new thing for Pontiac. And it scored its point.

People in this community are becoming aware of mental illness, they are gaining better understanding, and they now have reached the stage where they want to do something about it.

This was evidenced in the turnout last night. The representatives of the various clubs and organizations had registered for the workshop (in most cases one representative from a group).

They participated actively in the group discussions and staff members who have given long hours in preparation for the event must have been encouraged by the comments which circulated throughout the crowd.

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore greeted the four groups gathering in various rooms throughout the hospital and explained their importance to Pontiac State Hospital saying, "You represent to us the community and the community to Pontiac State Hospital is a very important part of our program.

"We at the hospital do our best for the patients, they recover and then the time comes for them to leave the hospital. This is a crucial part of their therapy," Dr. LaCore stated, and he added, "If they are met with kind, sympathetic people who know something about mental illness, their chances are very good.

"On the other hand if they go into a community that is unkind, unsympathetic and even hostile, we know that there is a very good chance that these patients may have to come back to this hospital," Dr. LaCore concluded.

Group Four discussed "Mental Illness, Its Indication and Treatment." Dr. George Reye, staff psychiatrist, discussed mental illness in terms of magnification of normal behavior, giving many examples.

One of the examples was that the paranoid person in the hospital is suspicious and no amount of convincing can dissuade him. A normal person at times becomes suspicious, but in the light of facts or reason, he quickly overcomes his suspicions.

Patricia Kiefer, R. N., said that a psychiatric nurse does more than administer medication. She pointed out that the nursing staff at the hospital spends more time with the patient than any other department.

Ted Panaretos, psychiatric social worker explained the social worker's role in the hospital. The patient, he said, is interviewed along with relatives to determine whether or not a social problem exists which may have caused or aggravated the patient's illness.

The second major area in which the social worker operates in in helping the patient and the relatives when the patient is ready to return to the community.

John Vanderlind, psychiatric social worker, pointed out in summary, that none of the panel members had talked about building, but instead that "people were helping people."

The panel discussion on "Prejudice and Community Health" explained how we develop prejudices. Dr. John Sullivan, professor of educational psychology at Wayne University said that parents unconsciously instill these feelings. He told of the dangers when parents set too high standards for their youngsters, particularly when the child is not able to meet these standards.

Children show prejudice in very early years, often developing unreal ideas which can force them into severe states of aggression, panel members agreed.

Dr. James M. McHugh, staff psychiatrist, told members attending the discussion that the problem of mental illness is their problem—that it is not a problem of the state—not the legislature.

Mrs. Ruth Spurlock, home service director of the American Red Cross, discussed racial prejudice—the need for belonging, and said that if there is no compensation for rejection serious problems result.

The work of the volunteer was discussed by Mildred Bennett, executive director of the American Red Cross; Dorothy Roe, director of occupational therapy; Mrs. Calvin A. Dennison, director of the Central Volunteer Bureau; Eleanor McCurry, director of occupational therapy; Jerome Weiss, social worker, Mrs. Sylvia Weitzman, volunteer, and Richard Arthaud, psychiatric social worker.

"Mental Health" was the title for the panel discussion of which Dr. Harold Houseman was moderator. Other panel members were Dr. John Stevens, assistant superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital; the Rev. John Trese, director of the Catholic Family Center; Mrs. Marion Fisk, supervisor of psychiatric social work and Jeanne Barbour, psychiatric case worker.

They discussed the child from birth, his needs and frustrations. How the youngster reacts to life when he goes from a completely protected situation into the world, means the difference between mental health and mental illness, it was pointed out.

Rev. Trese pointed out the need for religion which gives love and guidance and said that often people use religion to meet their needs. To get the most out of it, he said, you must understand it.

Institute to Be Held in Royal Oak

Problems of Aged to Be Explained by Panel of Experts

"The Room Upstairs" a play illustrating the problems an aging person meets living in the home of her daughter's family, will be a feature of the fifth annual institute held by the Southern Oakland United Community Services May 10.

To be held at Royal Oak Elks Club, the theme of the all-day conference is "Planning for Living in the Later years."

Ora Hinckley, supervisor of the Oakland County Bureau of Social Aid, is a member of a panel of experts which will consider such topics as financial and spiritual problems, health and leisure time.

Arthur Heaton of the Oakland County CIO Council will speak on use of leisure time by the aging person.

Professional and non-professional persons from the fields of medicine, education, religion, employment, recreation and social welfare are planning to attend.

The keynote address in the morning session will be given by Dr. Frank Sladen, consultant on the staff of Henry Ford Hospital.

Dr. James M. McHugh, staff psychiatrist, Helen VonWeiler, psychiatric social worker (center) and Evelyn Keys, psychiatric social worker welcomed visitors to the panel which discussed "Prejudices and Community Mental Health" Monday evening at Pontiac State Hospital's workshop. Other panel members were Dr. John C. Sullivan of Wayne University and Mrs. Ruth Spurlock, social worker for the American Red Cross. Three hundred and fifty members of women's organizations and clubs participated in the workshop.

Wife Takes Stand Against Misery

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I gave everything up for my husband," women will sometimes announce to me, grimly and bitterly.

Or, "All my life I've done what he wants, and slaved and drudged, and what thanks do I get?"

I've often thought that maybe, if they had taken a stand, stuck by it, in the beginning, they might have had happier lives.

This was borne out recently in a letter I received from a Mrs. K.R. in Newark.

Mrs. K.R. says:

"In regard to the ladies who feel that they are too old, at 40, to start a new venture, I would like to tell how I solved a very difficult situation which seemed sometimes hopeless. I was then 48 years old, and my husband was 55.

"I was married at a very early age. My husband was a good man, honest and a very hard worker, yet he had little confidence in himself, was not capable of making decisions and had very little ambition.

"He started a small business. I worked with him for many years. We put in long hours and, with the help of the children after school, we eked out a meager living.

"The business never afforded any more than the bare necessities of life.

"As the years went by, I became tired, overworked and very nervous. Doctors said I should get out of the business. My husband turned a deaf ear to their advice.

"He was very dependent upon me, and seemed very helpless on his own.

"When my youngest entered service, I decided to call our marraige quits if he wouldn't do anything on his own. I knew he had what it takes, and could do a lot if only he would give himself a chance.

"He sold the business. He said he could not get along, could not get another job, and he wanted to buy another small business and have me work with him again.

"I stuck to my guns. I wasn't going back to a life of drudgery. Well," this remarkable woman concludes, "today, at 65, my husband is a senior partner in a well-established business.

"He makes his own decisions when necessary. My children are very fine, outstanding citizens, and I am the lady of a beautiful home.

"I also wish to add that both my husband and myself are enjoying very good health, and he is a very happy and contented man."

The moral is, no wife has to put up with misery unless she wants to—and many a husband can succeed better without his wife's help!

Another panel discussion which proved interesting to a number of people at the workshop Monday evening was the discussion of "Mental Illness — Its Indications and Treatment." Three of the participants were Dr. George Reye, staff psychiatrist; Patricia L. Kiefer, R.N. affiliate nurse instructor, and Mildred Handy, psychiatric social worker.

Michigan State College to Honor 10 Area Students

Ten Michigan State College students from Oakland County and one from Lapeer County, who have achieved an all "A" academic average during the winter semester, will be honored tonight with a dinner given by Dr. John A. Hannah, Michigan State College president.

Janet Allen, of State avenue, a freshman in basic college, and Morely Burns, of Commerce road junior in veterinary school, will be among the 164 students at the dinner.

Charles Van Dusen, of Metamora, basic college freshman, is one of the students achieving the "A" rating.

Names of the students will be placed on the Michigan State honor roll, which reads: "In recognition of the highest attainment of scholarship during the winter session, 1955."

Other Oakland County students winning honors are: Loren Clifford, Farmington, basic college freshman; Charles Downing, Holly, basic college freshman; Martha Dudley, Birmingham, education senior; Georgia Roehm, Franklin, education senior, and Marilyn Weigold, agriculture senior.

Margaret Elkins, Royal Oak, education senior; Henry Guyot, Pleasant Ridge, arts and science junior, and Margaret Ireland, Birmingham, education senior, are others.

Guilds Hold Home Talent Program

The Fellowship Guilds of Bethany Baptist Church and the Ruth Group of the Women's Society sponsored a Mother and Daughter banquet recently featuring a program of "home talent."

Carolyn Riemenschneider sang the Lord's Prayer accompanied by Gay Ann Cornell.

Sharon Wolfe presided at the piano during the dinner at which Evelyn Brown served as toastmistress. Miss Brown introduced Mrs. Fred R. Tiffany who led the singing.

The welcome to the mothers was given by Carol Cox and the response was given by Mrs. Robert Sutton. Susan and Sally Hamilton presented a pantomime and Marcia Cameron gave a humorous reading.

A melodrama was presented by advisers of the guild, Mrs. Martin Wolfe, Joan Hilton, Reita Smith and Mrs. Forrest Brown.

Ellen Cornell played an accordion solo and the closing devotional message was given by Mrs. Aden Thornton.

Gifts were presented by the Women's Society to the youngest mother, Mrs. Joseph Craig and to the oldest mother, Mrs. Jessie Reed.

The Ruth Group was assisted with the dinner by the young men of the church and the Men's Association.

Leave Happy Memories in the Past

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Missouri-born reader Cora Waller, now of Beverly Hills, Calif., not long ago went back home, too, she writes sadly. Accompanied by her sister, she approached the old home place with breathless, almost tearful anticipation.

Alas, even the well-remembered picket fence had disappeared, and there were no rose bushes along the walk, no honeysuckle and morning glory vines twining over the door as in the days of old.

"We were looking forward to the old fireplaces where, gathered about the hearth, as children we listened while Grandfather told stories of the Civil War," Cora continues.

"Here we popped corn and ate apples on winter evenings while the back log crackled and the big clock on the mantle ticked away the pleasant hours. Here we read 'Pilgrim's Progress' aloud, and sometimes played games. Well, there was no more fireplace — even the chimney had been torn down.

"We had often recalled the back porch shaded by a huge grapevine, a long table with benches on either side where we ate in the summer, and in the cool of the morning churned in the big cedar churn golden yellow butter and fresh buttermilk with little flecks of fat floating on top.

"We had longed to taste again loaves of bread fresh out of the oven, blackberry jelly and wild grape butter, wanted to see the smokehouse and the old cellar where crocks of rich jersey milk and cream were kept.

"Well, the grapevine had been torn away. The porch was no longer there. The smokehouse had been remodeled into some other kind of building."

Disappointed but not quite daunted, the sisters set off to visit a neighbor's old house to which they used to walk through the woods, picking johnny-jump-ups and violets on the way.

In their modern motor they came to the front gate where long ago they had hung May baskets, went up on the porch where crowds used to gather on Sunday afternoons to eat red, ripe watermelons brought from the cool cellar. There to greet them delightedly was their old neighbor, living now with her youngest son and his wife —her other 11 children had married and scattered.

"Pa is gone and the children think they are making me happy with all these new fangled things," the old lady reported sorrowfully. "Just look at this hardwood floor — and the door is where the window used to be, the window where the door was.

"They tore down the fireplace. Pa and me raised our family around it and enjoyed it for more than 50 years. They've put in a fancy heat plant but that fireplace was good enough for Pa and me and I'm not happy a-tall."

"When we left we felt about as she did," reports Cora Waller. "Not happy a-tall."

Maybe, Cora, the moral of our attempted return to the past is: Leave happy memories alone.

Pair Spends Honeymoon Traveling in Virginia

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Seaks will make their home in Eaton Rapids following a honeymoon trip in Virginia. The couple was married in Eaton Rapids Saturday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Ralph P. Witmer officiated.

MRS. CHARLES E. SEAKS

The bride, the former Sonja F. Miller, is the daughter of Mrs. J. R. Popp of Eaton Rapids, and Gordon F. Miller of Mt. Clemens. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Seaks of Cooley street.

Antique Italian silk was the material used to fashion the bride's waltz-length gown, which featured a scoop neckline trimmed in Alencon lace. Securing her illusion veil was a crown of lace. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli, carnations and ivy.

Yellow net and lace formed the dress worn by Maxine Ashley of Eaton Rapids, who was maid of honor. Her flowers were blue daisies. Bridesmaids Patricia Sheldon and Shirley Yeager reversed the color combination, wearing blue dresses and carrying yellow daisies. As flower girl, Julie Allen was dressed in white and yellow. Richard K. Popp, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

The duties of best man were performed by Carl Comps of Eaton Rapids, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Jack Duffy and George Smith, both of Eaton Rapids, and Tom Gunther.

A reception followed in the church parlors. The bride's mother selected a waltz-length gown of blue crystallette with pink accessories. Her corsage was of camellias.

Yellow roses complemented the navy and white outfit worn by the mother of the bridegroom.

Before leaving, the bride changed to a powder blue suit with white accessories.

Home, Foreign Missionary Society Elects New Officers

An annual luncheon and election of officers of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of First Baptist Church was held in the church parlors last week.

Mrs. W. L. Dunkeld is president; Mrs. Harry Winkley, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Lefurgy, second vice president; Mrs. George Attwater, secretary; and Mrs. Reinold Yeager, assistant secretary.

Agnes Sturman was elected corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stuart Davis, treasurer; Mrs. Clyde Anderson, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Peters, reporter; Mrs. Frank Rudlaff, chorister and Mrs. David Gee, pianist.

Mrs. William E. Hakes gave the invocation at the luncheon and vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Jack VanImpe, accompanied by Mrs. Hakes.

Mrs. H. H. Savage told the highlights of her recent trip to South America where she visited mission stations.

Guests at the luncheon were Leone Fletcher, missionary from Bolivia; Marcellyn Reid, missionary from the Belgian Congo; Mrs. Joseph Hakes of Philadelphia and Mrs. Gloria Luck.

Plans are being made for a missionary conference to be held in the church May 11 to 15. Missionary speakers from various parts of the world will take part in the program.

Conversing Rules Asked by Reader

She Never Knows What Subjects Are Safe to Discuss

By EMILY POST

A reader asks: "Is there any rule to follow for conversing in company — meaning when at a party in the presence of a group of people who are strangers? I never know what topics are safe to start and in consequence usually remain silent."

Answer: Conversation on every occasion is necessarily an exchange of casual thought. Ideal general conversation at a party should be amusing and have gay lightness suggestive of balloons tossed back and forth.

It is always tactful to avoid controversial subjects unless you know that you are not in danger of offending the opinions of those present. Also, it is well to remember that strangers are not interested in having you air your private concerns.

If you happen to be one of those who dread meeting strangers because you can't think of anything to say, you should console yourself with the fact that the faults of conversation are committed not by those who talk too little but by those who talk too much.

To "listen eagerly" is really the best advice on conversation possible to give, since the person whom most people love to sit next to is a sympathetic listener who makes others want to talk.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever proper for a bride to walk up the aisle alone? A friend of mine insists that it is, but I have never in my life seen this and furthermore, I think she would look very forlorn, will you please answer this in your column?

Answer: It is unusual, but not unheard of, for a bride who has no male relative or close family friend, to walk up the aisle alone. One who has natural grace and an eager happy face can be the loveliest bride imaginable!

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: What should a waiter or waitress, or even a salesperson in a store, call a woman whose name is unknown?

Answer: All women customers or patrons, whether married or unmarried, are correctly called "Madam." Young girls are called "you." For example: "May I help you?" or "What would you like to see." "Miss" is said in British shops but rarely in American stores.

Clara also of Spence street (left) and Mrs. Irl H. Williams of Dover road when they arrived to plan the 6:30 affair. Mrs. Williams is president of the WSCS.

Rich Butter Cake Icing Is Yummy

Mrs. Morse Adds Cooled Milk to Mix of Egg and Sugar

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

A cake icing that sounds as luscious as its name is Mrs. Marshall Morse's Butter Cream Icing. If you're planning a cake for Mother's Day, you might like to try this recipe.

Mrs. Morse who lives at White Lake is the busy mother of four youngsters. She and her husband have spent the past year remodeling their home. For recreation Mrs. Morse bowls in a local ladies' league. She is active in Guild work in her church.

BUTTER CREAM ICING
By Mrs. Marshall Morse

¾ cup milk
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup butter (may substitute vegetable shortening for ½ of this)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white beaten stiff

Scald milk and cool. Cream sugar and shortening. Add egg white and beat about 2 minutes, adding cooled milk and vanilla gradually. Beat until fluffy and not gritty.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM L. COLYER

Honeymooning in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Colyer, who will make their home on South Marshall street upon their return. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Glen Anderson of Pontiac drive, and the late Mr. Anderson. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Colyer of Freeman Spur, Ill.

Ruth Anderson Wears Gown of Rosepoint Lace

Motoring to Florida for their honeymoon are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Colyer, who exchanged their wedding vows Saturday morning before the altar of St. Vincent de Paul Church.

Ruth, daughter of Mrs. Glen Anderson of Pontiac drive, and the late Mr. Anderson, selected a gown of rosepoint lace and tulle over white satin. Scalloped lace and seed pearls outlined her portrait neckline of shadowed tulle.

Tiers on either side of the full skirt swept into a chapel train. The skirt's center panel was of pleated tulle. A crown of seed pearls and sequins secured her illusion veil. Her white bridal bouquet was made up of hyacinths, stephanotis and an orchid.

Her three attendants were gowned identically in ballerina-length dresses of blue crystallette. The portrait necklines were outlined with pinched pleating which extended down the back of each dress. They wore matching blue hats and carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Mary C. Zwicker served as maid of honor and Beverly J. Humphreys was a bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaid was Lea Ann Coppersmith of Holly.

The bride's brother, Dean, was best man for the bridegroom, whose parents are the Elmer Colyers' of Freeman Spur, Ill. Lester Archer was an usher. Raymond J. Shindorf gave his niece in marriage.

Greeting the guests at an afternoon reception at Roosevelt Temple, the mother of the bride was wearing a beige silk shantung dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

A light blue suit with navy accessories was the selection of the bridegroom's mother, who pinned a corsage of pink roses at her shoulder.

The new Mrs. Colyer changed to a blue and white checked suit with blue and white accessories for her wedding trip, and wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside on South Marshall street.

Mrs. Clark Given Post in League

Catholic Women Elect Officers at Annual Meeting

Mrs. J. E. Clark of Moreland street was elected treasurer when the Arch Diocesan League of Catholic Women held its annual meeting in Ann Arbor. The post of recording secretary went to Mrs. Raymond C. Purcell of West Bloomfield.

Other officers elected were Mary O'Hara of Ann Arbor, president; Mrs. Howard Schreiner of Wyandotte, first vice president; Mrs. Gerald Bouchard of Detroit, second vice president; and Mrs. Charles Wright of Port Huron, corresponding secretary.

At the luncheon held at Hotel Kenmore, a welcome address was given by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Warren Feek. Three speakers highlighted the program, including Judge Francis O'Brien whose topic was "Family Life."

"The Haven for the Harvest Years," was the talk chosen by the Rev. Wilbun Suedkamp, while the Rev. Hubert A. Manio, editor of the Michigan Catholic, addressed the group on "Charities."

Localities who attended included Mrs. W. J. Hinds, delegate, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Delmo Chapdelaine, Mrs. William B. Dean and Mrs. Joseph Spadafore.

Besides Mrs. Purcell, those from West Bloomfield who traveled to the recent meeting were Mrs. George Dumas, delegate; Mrs. Howard Cooper, Mrs. Everett Labadie and Mrs. Lawrence Schieb.

The state league meeting will be held May 18 in Bay City.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Mexico Offers Bargain Price for Vacations

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A devaluation of the peso plus a wealth of scenic and historic attractions have combined to make Mexico a popular spot for Americans seeking bargain vacations abroad.

The peso has been cut to 12½ to the dollar, and by trading in $100 the tourist can go a long way south of the border.

The capital of Mexico and its environs are at their best during the summer months. Everything is in bloom, the weather is cool.

If your vacation time is limited and so is your budget, a complete tour of Mexico and its wonders is possibly out of the question. The next best thing is a quickie trip to Mexico City.

Mexico City is no more Mexico than New York is the United States. But it's exotic, it's foreign, it's cosmopolitan, and there are short and inexpensive side trips which give you an insight into all phases of Mexico's life and its fascinating history.

If you come by automobile, as the great majority of tourists do, you can make it from the Texas border to the capital in two easy days driving. You'll find gasoline cheap (17 cents a gallon for top grade) and motels along the way less costly than in the states ($3 or $4 a night a couple).

Mexico City with its 3½ million population is a mile and a half high, sits in a cup of a valley surrounded by mountains, and has a springlike climate throughout the year.

There's rainy season from June through September, but the rains fall but one or two hours a day—usually with clockwork regularity about 4 p.m.—and then disappear. The sun shines daily.

Assume you're in Mexico City. What now? You have obtained a hotel reservation in advance—that's almost mandatory — and you're comfortably situated in a modern, clean room. (Hotels range from 20 pesos—$1.60—for a double to almost anything you want to pay. The lowest double in the swank Del Prado is 50 pesos—$4—but the average is twice that).

The things you see or do depend entirely on your own inclinations. There are things of historic interest for those whose tastes run to ruins and the wondrous past. After all, Mexico City was a metropolis long before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. Or there are sports, golf, horse races, jai-alai, bullfights, and night clubs by the dozen.

In the downtown area itself — easily toured afoot—there are the famous palace of fine arts with its gorgeous murals and the National Palace, where the president has his offices.

You can drive through Chapultec Park and its great castle, once the home of Emperor Maximilian and Carlotta. Later it was the home of presidents, even later Mexico's West Point. Now it is the nation's greatest museum, housing historic treasures.

No trip to Mexico City is complete without a look at the 30 million dollar University City, the most elaborate educational project of the century, and recently the site of the Pan American Games.

The huge campus, built atop a lava bed, includes about 80 of the most modern buildings found on a college campus anywhere.

To get to Mexico's pyramids travel out the Laredo highway, turn right at a well-marked fork, and at 30 miles from the capital you find the ancient location of an ancient city, with the pyramids its focal point.

The largest is the pyramid to the sun, 216 feet high and considered the largest artificial mound in the Americas. There is disagreement as to its age—some say 1,000 years old, others date it before the Christian era or over 2,000 years old, still others contend it's much older than that.

Nearby is the pyramid to the moon, much smaller, and the Ciudadela, a huge rectangular court with minor pyramids inside and on its corners.

Xochimilco, the famed floating gardens, is even closer to the capital. It is best observed Sundays when the flower-lined canals are so crowded with primitive gondolas that there are occasional traffic jams.

You can make a trip to Cuernavaca and Taxco in one day, but it's better to take two. Cuernavada is a famed resort city about 45 miles from Mexico City over a superb superhighway.

Cuernavaca was once the home of Hernando Cortes, who conquered Mexico for the Spaniards over four centuries ago. His palace has been converted into a government building. Its walls are covered with some of Diego Rivera's most famed murals.

Cuernavaca also offers famed churches, more pyramids, colorful old markets, narrow streets built for burro traffic, treelined plazes all with swimming pools.

After touring Cuernavaca, drive on another 50 miles and you're in Taxco, an old mining town whose silver mines gave up millions in wealth. Production has declined sharply now, but the ancient city has regained its place in Mexico's economy by becoming the home of the silvercraft industry, and a tourist center.

An American named William Spratling fathered the revival of the silvercraft art, and the town now produces Mexico's best silverware.

If you have more time, there is a quick trip to be made to Puebla, passing the famed mountains of Popocatepetl and Iztaccinhuatl, the sleeping lady, two of America's highest peaks and snow covered through the year. Once volcanos, they are now extinct and awesomely impressive. They offer mountain climbing and skiing for those so inclined.

Auto Bootlegging Drying Up Now, Dealers Report

DETROIT (AP)—New car dealers in several key cities report bootlegging is slowly drying up and may be virtually a memory by the end of 1955, Automotive News says in its current issue.

Dealers surveyed were in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo and Los Angeles.

The trade paper says:

"The survey was considered significant because dealers questioned were in cities which are considered both the source and destination of a large percentage of bootlegged cars. Detroit alone is said to be the source of 50 per cent of these autos.

(In new car bootlegging a new car dealer sells cars to a used car retailer from another territory for cut price resale in that territory.)

"Three major reasons were given for the decline:

"The competitive markets in the south and west which find the new car dealers giving better deals than the used car dealers.

"Increased, factory pressure against bootlegging which appeared to be the real thing—not just the lip service which some manufacturers have been dispensing previously.

"The revision of freight rates last year."

Say Chiang Opposed to Cease-Fire Plan on Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese Foreign Office flatly denied today a local press report that Foreign Minister George Yeh had hinted Nationalist China might agree to a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

Yeh made a report today at a closed session of the Legislative Yuan (Parliament) on the recent talks here between President Chiang Kai-Shek and two special White House envoys.

* * *

The English - language China News said Yeh hinted that while Nationalist China had not officially approved any cease-fire plan "there might be a certain area of understanding on the issue."

The China ews further credited Yeh as saying his government still reserved the right to oppose any cease - fire proposal which might run counter to the nation's interests and territorial integrity.

It quoted Premier O. K. Yui as telling the Yuan much headway had been made in bolstering joint defense of Formosa and hinting "something spectacular" might be in the offing in relation to the military position of this island.

* * *

Neither Yeh's nor Yui's reports were made public, but the Ta Hua (Great China) Evening News credited Yeh with saying the possible use of atomic bombs was discussed during the visit of the White House envoys, but that no decision was reached.

Power Revolving Door Runs at Two Speeds

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Tenants today were getting used to what the Pioneer Building management termed the world's first two-speed, powered revolving doors, installed as part of a remodeling job.

The motors move the doors at a steady three revolutions per minute. Those in a hurry merely push down a crossbar on each panel and the thing speeds up to nine turns every 60 seconds, or normal walking speed, say the sponsors.

Postman Rescues Dog

CHICAGO (AP) — Postman Raymond Collins received a certificate for heroism from the Anti-Cruelty Society for entering a burning house and rescuing a dog. Collins, who has been bitten three times by dogs, commented: "All dogs do not hate postmen and all postmen do not hate dogs."

Porgy and Bess Negro Company Big Hit Abroad

ROME (AP) — Floodlights on Athens' ancient Acropolis were turned off to provide adequate power for footlights. At Zagreb, a Yugoslav audience gave a 20-minute ovation. Milan's famed La Scala opera house junked tradition to stage a semioperatic production for the first time.

These were just a few of the precedent-shattering accomplishments of a 58-member American Negro troupe which has presented George Gershwin's and Dubose Heyward's "Porgy and Bess" to tens of thousands of Europeans.

* * *

In six months the troupe of the Everyman Opera Company has triumphantly sung its way across nine countries. It has enthralled audiences in 20 cities with life in Charleston's "Catfish Row."

The company is now playing a three-week engagement in Rome.

No one could be more surprised at Europe's reaction to "Porgy and Bess" than the singers themselves.

"Our reception everywhere has been absolutely fantastic," said prima donna Glorida Davy after a performance before enthusiastic Romans. "We become more amazed with each city we visit."

Hank Greenberg Hit With Divorce Suit

CLEVELAND (AP)—Carol Gimbel Greenberg, heiress to a department store fortune, has asked an end to her nine-year marriage to Hank Greenberg, home run hitter who became general manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball team.

Mrs. Greenberg, 40, a noted horsewoman, yesterday claimed "gross neglect and extreme cruelty" and asked custody of their three children, Glenn, 8, Stephen, 6, Alva, 2. She also demanded alimony.

* * *

Greenberg, 44, said he was "terribly distressed."

"I hoped and tried to avoid it," he said. "My primary and only concern now is what's best for the children. I'm not thinking about myself."

Mrs. Greenberg is the daughter of Bernard F. Gimbel, board chairman of the Gimbel Brothers, Inc., and of Saks & Co. Both firms operate retail stores.

It Was Daddy's Fault

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP)—Six-year-old Linda Hoffman ran out of her house to see the shiny fire trucks passing by in Gastonia's Safety Week parade. She fell and broke her arm. Her father Kermit Hoffman was chairman of the committee which arranged Safety Week.

Locate Crashed Swedish Planes

Four Fighters Found Beneath Ice on Lake in Mountain Area

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Four missing Swedish jet fighter planes were discovered today to have crashed in close formation through the melting ice of Lake Glottern.

An air force officer said "the four planes all fell in a line about 20 yards long."

The Swedish-built aircraft disappeared yesterday soon after their takeoff from a base at Norrkoping, 14 miles south of the lake. Each carried only its pilot.

* * *

The air force could not explain the accident. The formation had just received and acknowledged permission to pass through clouds that should have sent them upward.

Wreckage on the lake ice showed the planes were in the water below. Divers found more wreckage on the bottom. The lake is in a rugged area of steep mountains and dense woods.

Organized Labor Planning Large-Scale Entry Into American Politics After AFL-CIO Merger

(Second of Five Articles)

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor is planning today to move into politics in the 1956 elections on a scale never before attempted in the history of the American trade union movement.

This move will begin after the AFL and CIO merge their 140 unions into one 15-million-man organization this fall—perhaps in December.

AFL President George Meany, who will head the new federation, said in an interview:

"We're going as far down that (political) road as it is necessary to go to achieve our objective—and that objective is the raising of the living standards of the working man."

* * *

This plunge into politics will be an historic turning point for labor as far as the 10-million-member AFL is concerned. In the past, the AFL has remained pretty much on the political sidelines except to endorse this or that candidate for public office, although the CIO has been active politically for years.

Meany believes now labor must move onto the political front in force for self-protection. This is his reasoning:

"We are being compelled by the force of events to take defensive action to make sure that we are not hampered and restricted at the bargaining table. We are being compelled to enter the political field in order to change the political picture that is developing against labor. And the job must be done not only on the national level—but on the state level.

* * *

"The Taft-Hartley law and restrictive state laws are putting all the weapons in the hands of employers. So there is no other way left open to us but to take political action."

Meany referred to the spread of so-called "right to work" laws and laws which curb the use of union funds for political purposes.

The Taft-Hartley law forbids the use of union funds for political purposes and it also bans the closed shop, in which only union members may be hired. The law permits, under certain conditions, the union shop, in whtich a worker must become a union member within a certain period after he is hired. Now 18 states have the right-to-work laws, which for the most part ban the union shop. Some states are moving, too, to curb union political activity.

In referring to these laws, Meany said: "We are seeing right now a new move under way to strike at labor from a new direction. There is a new effort to block us on the political front and to prevent our members from taking action on a political level.

* * *

"But I say we are going to be political to the extent that we are forced to be in the protection of our own rights at the bargaining table. What the hell is the use of going to the bargaining table if you are going to have your hands tied behind your back?"

Meany has had political experience in helping push prolabor laws through the New York Legislature.

* * *

As he and his colleagues see it the Taft-Hartley law in combination with the growing state restrictions merely are moves by labor's enemies to throttle the labor movement, which has boomed to new power and influence in the past 20 years.

The states with right-to-work laws are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, and Virginia.

While none of the bigger industrial states have such laws, labor is fearful of their spread.

Labor's political strategy will be to concentrate the main effort in areas where there is a good chance to elect candidates friendly to labor.

Can the labor vote be delivered as a bloc for any one party or candidate?

Labor leaders believe that with intense political education, workers will better understand how to vote in their own interests—and in the interests of the labor movement—thus becoming a far stronger political force.

Where could organized labor make its weight felt most heavily by a vigorous campaign in support of its candidates?

The answer would seem to be in those states where there is the heaviest concentration of union members. And these states are New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Texas, Missouri, and Massachusetts. But many other states have important numbers of labor votes. The question is whether labor's leaders can hold them in line at the polls.

In any event, labor is getting ready for a political push. And just how potent it will be may be reflected in the 1956 elections.

Next: A third party?

Novice Considers Politics Unrewarding

Editor Dale Stafford Tells of Campaign Experiences

Editor's Note: Editor Dale Stafford of the Greenville News made his first bid for public office in the April 4 election. The official canvass showed he lost out by some 2,000 votes in his try for the State Board of Agricultur. Stafford has written a series of two articles, reviewing his experiences as a first-time campaigner.

By DALE STAFFORD
Editor, The Greenville News

GREENVILLE (AP)So-o-o, you are thinking about getting into politics.

Maybe you would like to hear about politics and the experience of a novice in the game.

Out of our initial experience have come three conclusions that stand out more than the others. They are:

1. The quality of people holding public office is remarkably high when you consider the sacrifice people have to make to get elected.

2. A disturbing thing is the contempt in which too large a portion of the population holds "politicians."

3. The Republican Party in Michigan is in about the same shape as were the Democrats before G. Mennen Williams and his forces took over.

A career as a politician started for us on Feb. 19 at the state Republican convention in Detroit. We were nominated for one or two places on the State Board of Agriculture. To our chagrin we learned that nine out of 10 voters don't know what this body does.

So that you may know, we repeat here that its sole job is to govern Michigan State University (darn near wrote it Michigan State College).

The campaign for the April 4 election started March 6 way up at Marquette in the Upper Peninsula. And it kept right on up to election day.

If your presence at home is required by family ties or a business, then don't go into politics at the state level.

Here are some other don'ts:

Don't try politics if you don't like meeting people.

Don't get in the game if you can't do things that may be personally distasteful to you.

Don't seek office if you aren't willing to accept decisions which you may not like.

Don't run if you aren't in top physical condition.

Don't run if you detest Swiss steak. This item has become the standard piece de resistance at all dinners preceding political rallies.

And last, don't run if you get bored by the sound of your own voice. Likewise, if hearing the same speeches of associates over and over disturbs your tranquility then stay out of politics.

A footnote might include, don't run as a Republican unless you are prepared to pay part of the cost. No money sifted down from the Republican state organization to this candidate.

Cartoonists used to picture Republicans as the party of wealth. If it is, then it wasn't evident to this candidate in the recent spring election.

Five of the eight offices up for decision in the recent spring election are non-salaried—regents of the University of Michigan, State Board of Agriculture and State Board of Education.

At various rallies people asked why we were seeking office. The answer was two-pronged.

First, we believe that the great American form of government deserves some of the time of every true citizen.

Second, the job we were seeking involved a trusteeship of Michigan State College. This is an institution in which we have always held a mighty interest and in years gone by we have served on various councils connected with the school.

Probably the other candidates had reasons just as logical.

We mentioned being disturbed at the contempt which some people show toward office-seekers.

This came to us from strangers, friends of many years standing and even newspaper editors who ought to be interested in good government.

"What in the world are you getting messed up in politics for?" was a question we heard numerous times.

We would try to answer.

The place we were the least convincing was the Elks Club in Sault Ste. Marie. "Shine" Sundstrom, managing editor of the Sault Evening News, introduced us to a young man.

"What does this job pay that you are after?" he asked.

"Nothing," we replied.

A look of incredulity crossed his face. Then he revived.

"What's the pitch then?" he asked. "There's got to be one or you wouldn't be up here in winter trying to get elected."

He went away unconvinced.

At the outset we remarked that the caliber of people holding public office is remarkably high when you consider the price they have to pay to get elected.

Certainly in the long run politics offers little reward.

About the only reason we can give for so many able people being in politics is that they have been "bit by the bug."

We suppose there is some satisfaction in being called senator or commissioner and knowing that thousands of people voted for you. We tried politics, but the "bug" hasn't bit us.

STUDENTS TAKE TOUR — Schools from the 10 counties which are served by Pontiac State Hospital bring bus loads of students each day during the Open House program which began Sunday at the hospital. Pictured is a group which lined up for a tour at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The Open House will continue through Wednesday.

3 Issues Face City Commission Tonight

First reading of a new taxicab ordinance, consideration of a much-postponed rezoning request and a report on a Circuit Court decision regarding peddling on Pontiac streets are on tap for tonight's City Commission meeting.

The taxi ordinance provides for increases in fares and placing of advertisements on the rear of cabs.

For what some observers believe will be the last time, the Commission will again take up a request to rezone most of Glenwood Estates Subdivision to residential classification.

City Attorney William A. Ewart will report on the decision against the city handed down by the Circuit Court this week. The court ruled in favor of a defendant arrested for selling ice cream on city streets.

Ewart is also scheduled to report on a set-back agreement for Joseph L. and Victoria Palace on Baldwin avenue.

City Manager Walter K. Willman is due to report on an offer to the city to buy land on the east side for another sewage disposal plant, and the disposal of city-owned houses on Parke street and the city hall annex on Hill street.

The Commission is also set to consider:

Renewal application for club licenses for Eagles Lodge and the Mellow Lane Club.

Resolutions to accept deed for part of an alley and to approve an agreement for alley improvements off Auburn avenue, as well as action to vacate an adjoining part of the same alley.

Appointment of a member to the Police and Fire Trial Board.

A communication from the city of Berkley supporting a senate bill concerning development of water supply sources.

Engineer's estimates are to be presented for the following projects:

Curb, gutter and drainage on Fourth avenue from Joslyn to Fuller.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Gerdon street from Oakland to Corwin.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Peggy avenue from Voorheis to Hazel.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Colorado street from Franklin road to Bagley.

Public hearings are slated on special assessment rolls for the following:

Curb, gutter and drainage on Sheffield avenue from Baldwin to University.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Beverly avenue from Baldwin to University.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Cornell avenue from Baldwin to University.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Ypsilanti avenue from Baldwin to University.

Sanitary sewer on Nebraska avenue from trunk sewer east of Motor to Franklin road.

Sanitary sewer on Colorado avenue from trunk sewer east to Motor to Motor.

Water main in Featherstone avenue from Kenilworth to Belt Line Railroad.

Confirmation of special assessment rolls is set for the following:

Curb, gutter and drainage on Whitfield street from Saginaw to Edison.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Hamilton street and McNeil street from Baldwin to Rundell.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Drexel avenue from Paddock to South boulevard.

Also on the 29-point agenda is a resolution to receive special assessment rolls for curb, gutter, drainage and eight-inch concrete on Portland street from Montcalm to Owen and Kennett road from Baldwin to University.

Car Courtesy Contest Opens

You're driving your car, minding your own business.

Suddenly, you're stopped by a Pontiac Policeman, who asks, "Let me see your operator's license, please."

He jots down your name, address and other statistics, but there's no cause for alarm — it's not a traffic ticket the officer is about to issue.

The officer had just nominated you as his choice for the "Be a Courteous Driver" contest which started Sunday.

Each week winners of the contest, sponsored by the Pontiac Police Officers' Assn., will be announced in the Press. Two tickets to a local theater, dinner for two, and other gifts will be presented to the week's courteous driver, said Hugh Stimson, association president.

"We hope that through this contest," said Stimson, "we can promote more thoughtfulness among drivers. Pontiac was reported in last place in a nation-wide traffic survey recently; perhaps, the city's motorists can help us get back up there again."

"Try to get the name of the courteous motorist," said Stimson. "If you're unable to do that, write down the license number of the car and state whether it was a man or woman driving. Also mention the courteous act, when and where it happened."

Letters should be addressed to the Pontiac Police Officers' Assn. at Box 777, Pontiac.

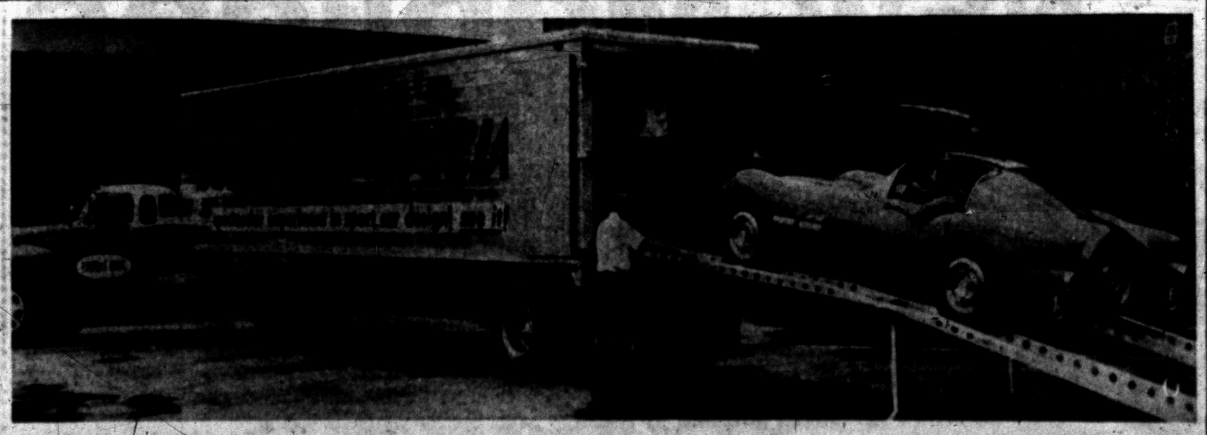
Hint Radiation Sickness as Hiroshima Boy Dies

TOKYO (AP)—A high school student from Hiroshima died today and doctors hinted strongly it was caused by radiation sickness.

Makoto Chiba, 18, bedridden at the Japan Red Cross Central Hospital since October, died of a shortage of white and red blood cells, said Dr. Noboru Tanaka, who conducted the autopsy. Tanaka said the death may have been related to the 1945 atomic bombing. He said statistics show many Japanese in Hiroshima and Nagasaki are affected with leukemia.

Dr. Hisatoshi Miyata said Makoto was exposed to radiation effects for two months in 1945.

Japanese ascribe three deaths in Hiroshima this year to radiation sickness.



PONTIAC AUTO SHOW UNIT — This Pontiac traveling exhibit, one of four such units now in operation, is shown as it was being readied to start on its tour of dealer showrooms and automobile shows. The compact unit carries one of the Pontiac experimental cars, a display engine, lights, props, planter racks and literature. A Pontiac representative acts as driver, lecturer during the shows and handles setting up and dismantling of the exhibit at each location. The four units, operating out of Pontiac Motor Division, have appeared before 1,424,828 spectators during the first three months of 1955.

Drug Firm, Union Continue Meetings

DETROIT (INS)—Parke, Davis & Co. officials and representatives of Local 176, CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, continued meetings in Detroit today in an effort to reach agreement on a new contract.

A strike of 2,000 employes at Parke-Davis, a major producer of the Salk anti-polio vaccine, was threatened last week but was averted by a day-to-day continuation of the old contract while negotiations are in progress.

Last night's bargaining session broke up this morning at 2 a.m. George E. Bowles, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, said: "We explored the issues further, and reduced them substantially."

Marvels of Future Include Wall-Size TV, Atomic Hot Rod for Junior's Road Racing

WASHINGTON (INS)—The date is May 3, 1975. Junior leaps into his atomic hot rod, turns on the air-conditioning, heads for a ball game in Yankee Stadium. That's 220 miles away. Couple of hours' drive.

Mom and Pop are spending the day in Paris. It's a six-hour round trip, via 200-passenger jet. Mom didn't bother to wash the breakfast dishes. Just flicked a sound-wave gadget. That washed 'em, dried 'em, stacked 'em.

Visionary? No, strictly factual. At least, that's what businessmen were told at the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The peek into the future came at an exhibit entitled "People, Products and Processes, 1975." Fifty colored drawings, all based on actual research, depicted life as it may be lived in the U. S. A. 20 years hence.

Working drawings were submitted by industry groups. They included auto and aircraft firms, food chains, home builders, hotels, railroads, steel companies, electronics people, lumber men, power interests.

Chamber members were told that in 1975 trains, ships and aufos will be atomic-powered. For city driving, cars will be tiny. They'll turn on a dime. But for use on the super-highways they'll be air-conditioned cruisers, 20 feet long.

Everything will be almost effortless. Underground moving sidewalks will handle city traffic. Stores will have open fronts — invisible curtains will shut out cold air in winter, hot air in summer.

Television screens—or so say the savants of commerce—will be wall size. All programs in full color, of course. A portable TV tape recorder will pick up programs so they can be selected and run off at will.

In housing, the big changes will be inside. Most walls are to be eliminated. Outer walls will be of glass. Kitchens are to consist of pre-fabricated units. Foolproof cookers will operate by push-button.

The business groups figure the U. S. population should increase from the present 165 million to at least 207 million by 1975. Lots of new mouths to feed. But it won't be hard. Irrigation and reclamation will turn wasteland into productive farms.

In the forests, lumberjacks will shoot hormones into growing trees to season the wood. In sawmills, an invisible ray will slice logs. On the railroads, a machine will rip up old track, lay new rails, put down a new roadbed, all in one operation.

Flying saucers will be commonplace. The U. S. will have a string of satellites in outer space. Rocket ships will zip back and forth.

Getting back to earth: Do you detest those long waits in the supermarket while your purchases are being checked? It won't happen in '75. An automatic computer and electronic eye will do the work in a flash.

House Beats Bill Affecting Mental Patients' Upkeep

LANSING (AP) — A bill to increase the state's power to recover costs of maintaining mental patients in state hospitals was soundly defeated by the House last night.

Turned down by a 66-23 vote, the measure would have made relatives responsible for the upkeep of inmates as long as they were committed, provided the relatives could afford to do so.

Rep. Thomas J. Whinery (R-Grand Rapids), who sponsored the bill, said the present law puts the burden of upkeep on relatives only if they can afford the costs at the time of the inmate's commitment.

Whinery said in many cases a relative cannot afford to make payments initially, but later inherits money or through other circumstances becomes able to pay.

Rep. Gilbert Wales (D-Stambaugh) led opposition to the bill. He said it would create hardships in many cases, and could be misinterpreted.

Also defeated by the House was a bill to re-define the practice of chiropractic, giving the science a broader interpretation in connection with licensing by the state.

Rep. Louis C. Cramton (R-Lapeer) argued that the measure had not been given a hearing requested by the Michigan Medical Society.

Three bills increasing allowable disability and retirement benefits for firemen and policemen were passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

A bill arising out of the Lapeer Farm Mutual Insurance Co. case was also passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

The Lapeer case drew national attention when shareholders of the company were evicted for failure to pay assessments, thus touching off the bitter "Fort Ziegenhart" fight.

Under the measure, shareholders in mutual companies could not be assessed for liabilities if the company had unencumbered assets of one-third of one per cent of the insurance in force.

Also passed by the House and sent to the Senate was a bill to:

Increase the amount of insurance required of motorists who have been found to be not financially responsible at the time of an accident from $5,000 per individual and $10,000 per accident to $10,000 and $20,000.

Waterford Board Orders Blacktopping of New Roads

Social Security Plans Studied

Series of Bills Would Put All Public Workers Under Program

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature is working on a series of bills designed to bring all public employe systems in Michigan under the federal social security system and raise the combined pensions allowed under each.

The bills, some in the House and some in the Senate, would pay combined pensions ranging from 54 to 65 per cent of salaries.

Explaining the program to the Senate last night, Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor) said the goal is a combination of existing pension systems with social security which will be "generous" and provide incentive for continued public employment in competition with industry.

Christman said the proposals would give public employes at the $3,000 a year-salary level a combined pension of $1,962 after 30 years of service compared to the present $1,779; a combined pension of $2,562 at the $4,200 level compared to the present $2,011; a combined $3,372 at the $6,000 level, compared to $2,333; and $3,912 at the $7,200 level, compared to the present $2,590.

Christman said these figures would hold true for state employes, Detroit and outstate teachers and municipal employe systems, providing each group votes to accept the combination.

The state now is paying 5 per cent of its 400 million dollar a year payroll for teachers and state employes and will eventually go to 7 per cent of its payroll to support the system, he said.

Municipalities will pay a like percentage for their employes, he said, except in special cases where failure to meet contributions in the past or the inclusion of long-standing fire and police department pensions have increased the necessary contribution.

New USMC Officer Program Announced

The first new program for prospective Marine Corps officers since World War II was announced today in the form of a training program for pilots.

Called the Aviation Officer Candidate Course, the plan will be offered to college graduates. They will attend a 10-week course in basic Marine training with aviation school to follow. Successful candidates will receive reserve commissions and be sent on to duty as student pilots for a 15-18 month period. They will be obligated to serve two years in the Marine air arm.

Previously all Marine pilots were drawn from the Naval Cadet program or from the ranks of Marine officers on active duty.

Detroiter Sentenced

Jess W. Stewman, 26, of 702 W. Canfield, Detroit, was placed on two-years probation yesterday and assessed $150 by Oakland Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Stewman admited April 27 breaking into the Suburban Steel Co., at 2800 Alliance, Waterford Township, last Nov. 17. Nearly 300 blank checks were stolen, police said.

Drillers Move Rig in Sylvan to Seek Water

After hitting two dry holes, drillers have now moved their rig to Ferndale Park in Sylvan Lake in hopes of bringing in another well for the city's forthcoming municipal water system.

City Manager Ernest L. Ethier said yesterday the drilling company gave up when a depth of 266 feet was reached at a site in a camp operated by a Detroit newspaper.

Previously, a 350-foot dry shaft had been sunk behind the city hall.

The third try is being made 350 feet northeast of the one well already established for the system. State regulations require that the system have two wells, with one kept for emergency service.

Ethier reminded Sylvan Lake residents they can save five per cent interest charges on their special water assessment tax if they pay it by June 30. Many have already paid the assessment, he said.

Governors Told Ike's Road Plans

State Executives Get Administration Views on Highway Program

WASHINGTON (AP)— Administration leaders reported to a pretty well split group of the nation's governors today on what it plans to do about salvaging its big highway program.

The meeting was held behind closed doors.

A briefing was scheduled after the close of the session.

Meanwhile, Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, chairman of the governors' conference, said he and his supporters will campaign among members of the House of Representatives to revive the administration's controversial road financing program.

That plan has been scrapped by the Senate Public Roads subcommittee, which instead adopted a "pay-as-you-go" formula proposed by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn).

Some of the governors, notably Averell Harriman of New York and George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, endorsed the Gore formula.

The subcommittee last Friday approved a five-year, 22-billion-dollar new road program with the federal and state governments sharing in the cost. Eisenhower urged a 10-year program involving 54 billion dollars more than would be spent at the present rate.

WL Man Is Sentenced

Charles Friedley, 38, of 2557 Roselawn, Walled Lake, yesterday was sentenced to 1½ to 5 years in Jackson state prison by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Friedley admitted April 22 breaking into a garage at 1000 W. Maple, Commerce Township, April 8 and taking $18 plus a check writer.

Rummage Sale Set

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Lakewood Farms Women's Auxiliary will sponsor a rummage sale, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Fulkerson, 759 Globe St.

Proceeds will be used to purchase playground equipment.

Approval Given Paving Measure

Township to Share in Road Oiling Costs; Two Plats OKed

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — All roads included in new plats in Waterford Township must be blacktopped by the subdivider, the township board decided by resolution last night.

The board also voted to share one-third of the cost of road oil or chloride for township roads.

Trustee Willard Johnson is to replace Supervisor Lloyd Anderson on the township recreation board, and trustee Oscar Loomis was re-appointed to the board.

Anderson will represent the township board on the County Central Planning Council. Clerk Louis Barry was re-appointed to the township zoning board of appeals.

Under discussion was the development of the Harrington recreation area, being sponsored by the Four Towns residents and the township recreation department.

The board reaffirmed its willingness to provide the necessary funds to develop the planned park area, as previously agreed.

Action was taken on two plats. The Watkins Hills subdivision adjoining Drayton Woods subdivision to the north and Lakewood sub to the south was given final approval.

Temproary approval was given Berkshire Villa, at Maceday Lake and Airport roads, subject to acquiring an access right of way on Harpar avenue.

Several licenses were approved. A hawkers and peddlers license for the Blue Island Sales, on Dixie Highway, applied for by Anthony Matakas, a soft drink license for White Swan, Frederick Render, a transfer of the Eagles Lodge liquor license to 4761 Highland road, subject to final approval as to code regulations, all were granted.

Plans for a water system for Holidays farms subdivisions three and four were accepted by the board.

Pontiac Lake MOMS Switch Meeting Place

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A change in the place for the Wednesday meeting of the Pontiac Lake MOMS Unit 60 has been announced.

The group will get together at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. T. M. Nelsey, 8120 Gale road, instead of at the home of Mrs. Lorena Ogg.

Ortonville Club Adds Up Years, Marks Birthday

ORTONVILLE — The Ortonville Womans Club marked its 50th anniversary recently when they met at the home of Mrs. Clare Boutell.

Mrs. John Waltz, gave the history of the club, and Mrs. Clifford McIntyre, program chairman, paid tributes to the past presidents.

Trial Under Way on Murder Count

The second degree murder trial of Charley R. Herron, 37, of 357 Rockwell Ave., began this morning in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Herron is accused of shooting Lawrence Freeman, 28, of 476 Pitmar Ave., last Sept. 25.

The shooting occurred at 29 Iowa St. where Freeman was attempting to persuade his estranged wife to rejoin him after a nine-month separation, according to police.

Herron, police said, fired twice from a .38 revolver after the victim slapped Mrs. Freeman. The two fought briefly before Freeman passed out, they stated. Herron was seized shortly afterwards by police.

Assistant Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue called Mrs. Freeman to testify this morning and was expected to continue questioning her this afternoon. Attorney Philip Pratt is defending Herron.

Given 1-Year Probation

In Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday, James Killinger, 32, of 28 Parkhurst St., was placed on one-year probation and assessed $100 court costs by Judge H. Russel Holland. Killinger admitted to morals charge 27.

Film Program Planned for PTA

Dennis Glen Cooper to Appear Thursday for Stringham Group

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Nationally known explorer and travel lecturer Dennis Glen Cooper will speak and show his own color motion pictures at the 8 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Stringham PTA.

The meeting will be held at the Isaac Crary Junior High School.

The film represents a score of expeditions by boat, plane and car, cover the coasts of Lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior.

Included are many principal parks and favorite tourist places.

Among the highlights are scenes in and around Detroit, a canoe trip to the AuSable river, waterfalls of the north country, and Mackinac Island.

Baltimore's Voters Pick Mayor Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—After a colorful campaign featuring a parody of the Davy Crockett ballad, references to baseball and charges of bossism, Baltimoreans choose their mayor today.

About half of the 400,000 eligible were expected to vote on whether Democrat Thomas D'Alesandro should get a third straight four-year term or be replaced by Republican Samuel Hopkins.

* * *

In the last 28 years, D'Alesandro has been elected to the State Legislature, City Council and Congress. He has never lost an election.

Hopkins, a 41-year-old widower and bank official, had the backing of the Baltimore Sun papers. Four years ago he was the only Republican among 42 state legislators from Baltimore, where Democrats hold a 4-1 edge in registration. He lost a later run for Congress.

Film on Emotion Slated for PTA at Pontiac Lake

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — "Emotional Needs of Children" is the title of the film to be shown at the 8 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Pontiac Lake PTA.

Freida Huggett, visiting teacher, will show the film, and there will be a discussion period afterwards.

Carver Board Sets Date for Ordered Recall Vote

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — The George Washington Carver board of education lost a court bout yesterday, and set the date for a recall election ordered by the Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge Frank L. Doty denied a petition to set aside the court ordered recall election for members Chester Carter and Mrs. Loretta Baker.

Following the hearing yesterday, the board posted a notice that the election will be held May 12.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the school.

The notice was signed by board member Mrs. Lucille Taylor, acting for board secretary Mrs. Baker.

Petitions seeking the recall were circulated by a Citizens Improvement Committee, and filed by board member James E. Harrison.

Harrison leads a reform minority on the five member boards, seeking changes in the administration of the strife-torn school district which has been the scene of a turbulent history since its formation in 1945.

Mitchell Raps Dems for Supporting Ike

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell last night sounded a warning to Southern Democratic leaders who vote Republican and then expect to help choose their party's candidate for president.

"My strongest wish is that our opposition in the Democratic party would resign when they can't support a party Democrat," said the chairman of the powerful Rules Committee of the 1956 national convention. He is a former national Democratic chairman.

Mitchell said in a University of Alabama lecture that if former Gov. Jimmy Byrnes f South Carolina and Governors Allan Shivers of Texas and Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana seek seats at the 1956 convention, he believes they will be barred by a 70 per cent vote of the delegates.

He called the three Southern party leaders "political apostates." They supported Eisenhower for president in 1952.

Many Fingers in Viet Nam's Pie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protagonists in the military and political battle to control South Viet Nam range from a playboy ex-emperor to an American general turned diplomat. Here are thumbnail sketches of the principals:

Bao-Dai — The 42-year-old ex-Emperor of Annam is South Viet Nam's chief of state. His future is dim in view of demands in Saigon that he be ousted. At his French Riviera villa he has been trying to ride out the storm. He took off for France April 10, 1954, when the Dien Bien Phu crisis started, and hasn't been back since. A Buddhist married to a Catholic and father of six children. Loves yachting, fishing, gambling and French life on a sumptuous scale.

* * *

Ngo Dinh Diem—The embattled Premier of free South Viet Nam is 54, industrious, stubborn and determined to pull his country from the chaos in which the Indochina war left it. A Roman Catholic who refused to become premier under the Japanese or serve with Moscow-trained Vietminh leader Ho Chi Minh, he has traveled much abroad. Deferred politely to Bao Dai until chief of state tried to pull rug from under him in present fight to a finish with Binh Xuyen society's private racketeer army. A bachelor, Diem leans heavily on four brothers for assistance.

* * *

Gen. J. Lawton Collins—Former U.S. Army chief of staff, he has to make as fast decisions in the quicksand of Saigon politics as ever he did in fighting on Guadalcanal, where he won the nickname of "Lightning Joe." Sent by President Eisenhower as special envoy to Viet Nam last summer, after Indochina war ended. The general, just turned 59, is apparently sold on Diem as a leader and has been a big factor in keeping U.S. support squarely behind him.

* * *

Gen. Paul Ely—French high commissioner and commander in chief in Indochina. Born in Salonika, Greece, fought in French infantry in World War I and seriously wounded in World War II. Head of the French mission to NATO standing group in Washington 1949-51, succeeded U.S. Gen. Omar Bradley as group's chairman 1951-53. Ely, 58, was French chief of staff when Dien Bien Phu fell and was sent to Indochina to replace Gen. Henri E. Navarre there.

* * *

Gen. Nguyen Van Vy—the 39-year-old paratrooper was named inspector general of Vietnamese army by Diem last December in compromise decision on high command. He had been acting chief of staff and was the original U.S. and French choice for chief. But Diem argued that Vy, as a French citizen, was vulnerable to extreme nationalist and Communist propaganda. Split between him and and Diem has widened as crisis grew. Bao Dai relieved Diem of military powers last Thursday in midst of current shooting war with Binh Xuyen, conferring them on Vy. Vy proclaimed himself "supreme power" Sunday, but the army put up with him for only a few hours, then switched back to Diem. Vy fled to Dalat, the summer capital.

* * *

Gen. Le Van Ty—Older than Vy, named chief of staff when latter was made inspector general. Went along with Vy in opposing U.S.-backed slash of Vietnamese army from 220,000 to 100,000 in next year or two. But when Bao Dai tried to replace him with Vy as army commander, Ty played big part in keeping army behind Diem.

* * *

Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh — A French citizen with a French wife, he was chief of staff during part of the Indochina war. Split last fall with Defense Ministry, then with Diem over plans for army. Refused Diem's order to take "leave" in France last September, cabling Bao Dai that Diem's government was weak and needed replacing. Diem-Hinh feud threatened to blow up government, ended finally with Hinh's departure for France. In current battle between government and Binh Xuyen, Bao Dai ordered Hinh to fly back to Viet Nam for "report" on situation. He may have carried secret orders to oust Diem and set up new government. Landed Monday in Cambodia.

* * *

Gen. Le Van Vien—Commander of Binh Xuyen's private army and Viet Nam's security police chief until recently fired by Diem. High post with Binh Xuyen gave him control of Saigon's lucrative gambling houses. Struggle with Diem over security police and integration of private sect armies into national forces led to present shooting. His forces touched off battle by opening mortar fire on Diem's palace March 30.

He Says It's History, They Say Moonshine

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The battle of Whisky Bottom Road is on again.

Albert L. Dalton, owner of a motel at the nearby intersection of U.S. 1 and the disputed thoroughfare, reported someone had sawed down the large sign on his property which reads "Historical Whiskey Bottom Road—Circa 1732 A.D."

He and a number of long-time residents contend the name is a historical symbol, but newcomers say it is only a sordid reminder of a prohibition past. They have sought to have the name changed to Patuxent Drive.

Dalton said he put the sign right back up and if any anti-Whiskey Bottomers return "I'll be watching for them from now on."

Shortage of iron during the reign of England's Edward III raised the pots and pans in the royal kitchen to rank among his most valued possessions.

Stengel Calls Turn on Gromek's Fine Mound Job

DETROIT (AP)—They say Casey Stengel is a mastermind. He also must be part swami.

The wrinkle-faced manager of the New York Yankees was reclining on the bench before Monday's game against the Detroit Tigers. His athletes were taking batting practice, rapping one ball after another into the seats.

"Just look at 'em!" Stengel exclaimed. "They're all sluggers in batting practice. They'll probably cost us $5,000 in lost balls.

"Watch what happens when the game starts. I'll bet they won't even be able to see the 'old man.' He won't be laying those fat pitches in there."

The "old man" in question was Steve Gromek, 34-year-old right-hander of the Tigers.

Old Casey was never more right in his life. Gromek stopped his Yankees 7-1, doling out only six hits—all singles.

It was, in a way, something of a masterpiece. Gromek retired the 1st 12 batters in order and didn't walk one through the entire game.

He lost his shutout in the ninth when the Yanks put together singles by Hank Bauer and Andy Carey and Yogi Berra's sacrifice fly.

Despite the brilliance of his perkees, Gromek termed his 16-0 shutout against the Kansas City A's formance against the powerful Yanas a better piece of pitching.

"But nobody noticed old Gromek that day," he said kiddingly. "Al Kaline hit three homers."

Asked what he was throwing against the Yankees, Gromek wryly remarked:

"Fast balls, slow balls, fast curves, slow curves, sliders, sinkers, drops, inshoots, outshoots . . ."

Gromek mixed his deliveries with the deftness of a master craftsman. Even when he had tw strikes on a batter, he came craftsman. Even when he had two across the plate with his next pitch—but always with a little something on the ball, or a little something off.

"It was one of the finest pitched games I've ever seen," said Ray Boone, Tiger 3rd baseman. A high compliment coming from one who had played behind such great Cleveland pitchers as Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn.

Only in the 9th inning did the Yankees manage more than one hit off Gromek, who recorded his 4th win of the season against one loss.

But his performance should have been expected. Gromek is one of the few Yankee killers in captivity. He has a 17-10 lifetime mark against them.

The Tigers backed their veteran ace with eight hits, including a two-run double by Ferris Fain (who, incidentally, still limps very badly) and a solo homer by Jim Delsing in the 8th.

Yanks used four hurlers, with the starter, young Bob Wiesler, getting the loss. He walked five batters, three of them scoring.

Yankees committed three errors in the 3rd inning to hand the Tigers two unearned runs. It's been a long, long time since the Yanks looked so shoddy afield in Briggs Stadium.

County Branch of Red Cross Aids Golf Day

Organization to Benefit from U. S. Promotion This Year

Oakland County's branch of the American Red Cross is engaging in active promotion for National Golf Day, sponsored nation-wide by Life Magazine on June 4.

The Red Cross will receive a portion of the benefits from the program this year.

* * *

A meeting to inform Red Cross members of the Golf Day program and procedure has been set for Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Red Cross headquarters, 118 Franklin Blvd. A Life Magazine representative for this district will outline the various aspects of Golf Day.

Phil Pratt, Pontiac attorney, is chairman of the Oakland County chapter of the National Golf Day Committee.

PHS Thinclads Shoot for 6th Victory Today

All-Winning Squad Heavy Favorite for Dual at Northern

Pontiac's all-conquering high school track squad today invaded Flint Northern's precincts, shooting for its 6th straight victory of the season.

The high-scoring Chiefs are prohibitive favorite in this 4th dual test. Observers were watching the results to see if the phenomenal scoring power is still as potent as in all other meets of the year, in which the Wally Schloerke-coached outfit has hit more than 100 points in two of its victories.

The biggest victory and the biggest total were coincidental. They both came in last Saturday's Central Michigan College outdoor relays, where Chiefs spread-eagled the 18-team field with a 101 and 1-5 count against 40 and 1-5 for Northern, in 2nd place.

Pontiac went over the 100 mark also against Hamtramck, for its 1st "century" total in history of the school.

In today's meet Coach Schloerke will test Willie Wilson, ace hurdler, in the 100 yard dash. Wilson hit a 10.2 at Hamtramck on a soft track for his only start in the event. Schloerke would like to see what he can do on a fast track, against really fast opposition such as he meets today.

At the SVC meet drawings, yesterday, at Saginaw, the PHS coach said he was satisified with the results. He indicated that a move by Saginaw, shifting Abe Huerta from the mile to the half, will probably make for a great battle between the Trojan and PHS' Bill Douglas.

Friday's preliminaries start at 5 p.m. with finals under the Arthur Hill lights at 8 p.m.

Bosox Slumping Without Ted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Ted Williams was casting base hits around the American League instead of reeling in the big ones off the Florida keys these days, Boston's Red Sox might be a lot better off. He's having a good time, but they're in sixth place in the American League.

After a fast start, when they were 6-1 and in first place by April 20, the Red Sox now have trailed off to lose 10 of their last 12, including five in a row.

They've been batting a puny .180 through the slump, getting shut out four times en route.

Jackie Jensen provided what little power the Red Sox mustered yesterday while losing their fifth straight. He homered with none on while the Red Sox ran afoul of Cleveland's Early Wynn. The Indians won 4-2, retaining first place.

* * *

Wynn, a 23-game winner last season, grabbed his first victory of the season. Recovered from an attack of bronchial pneumonia, he scattered six hits. Dave Pope hit a three-run homer in the first.

Detroit kept the pace, a half game back of the Indians, by whipping the New York Yankees 7-1. The Yanks, who were tied for second with the Tigers and Chicago White Sox at the day's start, fell off to fourth. The White Sox, idle, leveled off at third.

Washington blasted Kansas City 12-1 in the only other AL game.

* * *

In the National, Brooklyn kept up its fantastic pace, widening its lead to six games as Carl Furillo rammed his eighth home run into the left field stands to beat Milwaukee's Braves 2-0 in 12 innings. That pushed the Braves into fourth with Chicago's Cubs leaping into second on a 2-1 victory at Philadelphia after wrapping up a 4-2 decision by completing a suspended Sunday game.

Pittsburgh's Bob Purkey had no trouble with St. Louis, beating the Cardinals 5-1 in the only other NL game.

Until Furillo whacked his shot, Gene Conley looked as invincible as ever against the Brooks. He had allowed but three hits, fanning eight and walking six in a duel with Carl Erskine. The Dodger ace won his fourth without defeat.

The Cardinals got nowhere against Purkey, who won his second straight by spacing seven hits. The lone run against him was unearned while his mates clubbed Harvey Haddix for 11 of their 14 hits.

Eaglets' Nine Wins, Thinclads Lose 3-Way Test

Diamond Crew Comes From Behind to Edge Ferndale St. James

Orchard Lake St. Mary's athletic forces gave a good account of themselves Monday afternoon as they won their 3rd consecutive baseball game and finished 2nd in a triangular track meet at Detroit.

In baseball, St. Mary's came from behind to defeat St. James of Ferndale in a SCL contest at Orchard Lake, 4-3, the winning run crossing the plate in the final inning.

St. James had tallied twice in the 2nd inning and once in the 4th to boast a 3-0 margin. But the Eaglets came to life with two runs in the 4th and a lone run in the 6th to knot the count. Then, in the 7th frame, an error, a sacrifice, a passed ball, and another costly error gave the Eaglets victory.

Detroit Servite, a well-balanced track squad, captured honors in a triangular meet at the U. of D. track, but Eaglets grabbed the runnerup berth and gave the winner a much stronger run than in an earlier meet. Cathedral Central finished 3rd.

Servite's winning total was 70 and ¼ points, St. Mary accumulated 56, and Cathedral Central tallied 10 and ¾ points.

Two new St. Mary school records were set. Stan Majewski won the 180-yard low hurdles in 22 seconds flat, and ran the 120-yard highs in 16:8.3 while finishing 2nd in that event. Majewski won two firsts, gained one 2nd place, and and one tie for 3rd. Frank McQuade and Tim Catalina paced Servite.

Ex-Spartan Boxer Features TV Card

DETROIT (UP)—Chuck Speiser, four-time NCAA champion at Michigan State, meets Frank DeGazio of Niagara Falls, Ont., in an eight-round feature bout tonight at Motor City Arena.

Speiser, young light heavyweight who represented the U.S. in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki, Finland, entered the service upon graduation from Michigan State.

He was discharged a month ago and has registered a pair of knockouts since becoming a civilian. His bout with DeGazio will be televised at 10 p.m. (EST).

Irvin to Coach Hawks

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Irvin, who for 15 years coached the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, today was named coach of the Chicago Black Hawks by Jim Norris, chairman of the Hawks' board of directors.

Irvin succeeds Frank Eddolls who has been offered the job as coach of the Buffalo Bisons, farm club purchased by the Hawks last year.

Britisher Asks Conference on Rocky's 'Fouls'

Cockell's Manager Is Disturbed Over Tales of Marciano Foes

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — "Almost all the men who have fought Rocky Marciano have complained about his foul tactics," says John Simpson, manager of British contender Don Cockell.

Simpson said Monday he wants to discuss fouls in boxing with the California athletic commission before Cockell meets world heavyweight champion Marciano in San Francisco May 16.

He mentioned rabbit punches, hitting below the belt, butting and kidney punches and declared:

"I don't want them used against my boy. If they are, I want Marciano disqualified."

Rams Drop 3rd to Royal Oak 9

Fifth Inning Blast Is Fatal to Freds' Hopes After Early Lead

St. Mary's of Royal Oak had one big inning Monday afternoon to score a comeback victory over Pontiac St. Frederick, 10-5, in a Suburban Catholic League baseball game at Columbia-Joslyn's south end diamond. It was St. Fred's 3rd straight defeat.

St. Frederick held a 5-3 lead entering the 5th inning when the Royal Oak nine erupted for seven runs to wrap up the decision.

St. Mary's opened the scoring with three runs in the 1st inning, but the Rams chased five across in the 3rd frame on five hits and a walk to go ahead. Then came the 5th-inning disaster.

Tom Israel started on the mound for St. Frederick, but was relieved by Bob Ashby in the 1st inning. Ashby finished and was charged with the loss. Lawson went the distance for Royal Oak St. Mary.

Linscott Fan Club Is Branching Out

The new Gene Linscott Fan Club is mushrooming, according to Don Frayer, Linscott's co-manager. Frayer said today that Harold Duggan, recreational director for the Oakland County Children's Home told him the Home had formed its own branch of the club with 69 members, headed by Kenneth Hall, president, and Dorothy Moloney, recording secretary.

"Other branches are being formed in the schools," says Frayer. "Each will have its own chapter and own officers."

Linscott, Frayer and Chuck Richards, Gene's aides will be guests at the Home tonight for a social evening in Gene's honor.

Linscott is Pontiac's current professional boxing light, with four straight wins in a comeback campaign.

Skipper, Viking, Bluejay, Hills' Golf Teams Victors

Inter-Lakes Conference golfers were busy Monday with Waterford, Walled Lake and Southfield winning matches.

In other meets, Royal Oak defeated Fordson, 12½ to 5½ with Bob Grundeman's 80 setting the pace at Sylvan Glen, and Bloomfield Hills downed Avondale, 186-199, at Stony Croft, with Hills' freshman Buddy Badger firing a 37.

At Pontiac Country Club, Waterford out-shot Van Dyke, 178-215, with Jack Reynolds posting a 41 and Dale Wheeler counting 42. Walled Lake had little trouble with Farmington at Edgewood as Dick Dewling registered a 37 and Norm Dierkes a 40.

In an involved program at Plum Hollow, Southfield defeated both Berkley and Country Day. Four players counted against Country Day with Southfield scoring 338, Berkley 339 to Country Day's 391.

The Southfield-Berkley match was a 6-man affair and the Bluejays won 32-30 on an extra hole after tying at 516 in regulation. Don Sherer had 82 and Jim Bradley 84 for Southfield, while Don Cochran booked an 83 for Berkley.

Canham Calls Army Source of Help for Olympic Team

ANN ARBOR (AP)—One of the nation's leading track coaches says the United States will gain needed track and field strength for the 1956 Olympics from Army personnel overseas.

Don Canham, coach at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a three-week stint of helping Army athletes in coaching clinics in Germany.

"Those kids have had a chance to develop and become more mature," Canham said.

* * *

He said the Army was carrying on a well-organized and capable program for hundreds of Army track teams in the European theater of operations.

"Besides," he said, "they compete in all the Olympic events."

* * *

One of the best Olympic prospects to be developed in Army competition, Canham said, is Willie Holly, a Detroit youth who had never competed in track before he went into the Army.

"Now he's doing better than 50 feet in the hop, step and jump," Canham said.

* * *

Another prospect is Joel McNulty, former Illinois star hurdler, competing under army colors, and there are others, like Wyoming's 800-meter man, Paul Carlin, and Pennsylvania's Van Zimmerman, now a 14-foot pole vaulter for the Army.

"Our state department is highly interested in a good athletic program for the occupation forces," Canham said. "Consequently, there is concerted effort to provide good and plentiful competition."

* * *

Canham warned last year that the Russians were hard at work to take the unofficial Olympic title away from the United States in the 1956 games at Melbourne, Australia. He said, then, that his country will have to make some provision to get its young athletes back into competition after college and duty with the Armed services.

7-Year-Old Fisherman Lands Foot-Long Trout

Little 7-year-old Joe Filka, 2922 Rowan, did himself proud over the weekend. While fishing in Maceday Lake Sunday morning, the youngster hauled in a fine rainbow trout measuring 12 inches in length. Poe used an ordinary cane fishing pole, with a salmon egg and night crawler as lures.

Try Again Today

Monday afternoon's scheduled Saginaw Valley Conference baseball game at Saginaw between Pontiac High School and Arthur Hill was postponed because of rain. The two schools will try again today.

3-Way Tie Still Exists in W-O

There was no change in the status of the Wayne-Oakland League Monday with the 3-way tie retained on victories by Clarkston, Clarenceville and Brighton.

Gus Birtsas' Clarkstonians drubbed West Bloomfield, 12-3; defending champion Clarenceville blanked Milford, 5-0; and Brighton nipped Holly, 8-7.

Bob Yahnke worked only 3 innings for Clarkston and fanned the 9 men to face him. He retired as the Wolves built up a 9-0 lead during that period. Gary Nelson and George Lang finished up a 6-hitter.

Vern Carmean and sophomore John Holser each picked up a pair of hits for Clarkston.

Clarenceville combined some fine base-running with the 2-hit pitching of Cliff LaBrecque, besting Milford's Dan Lancaster, who allowed 3 hits. LaBrecque fanned 10. All Clarenceville runs were unearned.

Holly out-hit Brighton, 13-6, but faltered in the early innings when the Bulldogs scored all 8 runs.

Welfare Meeting Slated

Oakland County Director of Civil Defense Lewis C. Jarrendt and George H. Burt, vice-chairman of the Social Welfare Board, will attend a welfare conference in Grand Rapids tomorrow and Thursday.

The program is sponsored by the Kent County civil defense and Red Cross organizations.

Will Replace Low Minors

Northwestern's Fred Lindstrom Foresees Colleges as Baseball 'Proving Grounds'

CHICAGO (AP) — Fred Lindstrom, former major league star and now baseball coach at Northwestern University, foresees the day college baseball will replace the lower minor leagues.

Lindstrom says the gap between college ball and the major has been narrowed considerably and believes the present bonus rule which "hurts both the clubs and the players" must be modified.

Lindstrom, who played third base for the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants, made his remarks in an interview concerning Big Ten baseball players who have made the majors.

* * *

Of the dozen or so present major leaguers who played at Big Ten schools only four are established stars. These are Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit, Robin Roberts of Philadelphia and Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees.

Jack Dittmer of Milwaukee, Red Wilson of Detroit, Hoot Evers of Baltimore and Paul Giel of the New York Giants are among other former Big Ten players in the majors.

* * *

Lindstrom admitted that the Big Ten, one of the nation's foremost athletic conferences, has not contributed heavily to the majors.

One reason, Lindstrom says, is the boys are yanked out of college quickly if they show talent and another is the baseball season is too short.

* * *

But with the development of summer leagues where college players play all summer under good coaching, Lindstrom believes many more college players will make the majors.

Lindstrom doesn't believe college players ever will make the majors directly with regularity because "the jump is too big."

"If they'd get rid of the bonus rule, good college players would hit the majors after two years in the minors," Lindstrom said.

Lindstrom believes if the majors would use the colleges as proving grounds, a lot of bonus money paid to high school players would not be wasted.

Aikins Flattens Delaney for Knockout Win in 8th

NEW YORK (AP) — Virgil Akins was hoping today that his surprising eighth-round knockout of hitherto iron-chinned Ronnie Delaney wouldn't scare off any other high-ranking opponents.

The 25-year-old St. Louis veteran, a 4-1 underdog, flattened the sixth-ranking middleweight contender from Akron, Ohio with a picture left hook and right to the jaw in 2:41 of the eighth heat of their television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

It was the first time Ronnie has been stopped in 54 scraps and it was only the second defeat of his career.

Outweighed 149¾ to 146½, Akins held a slight lead when he nailed the Ohio southpaw in the eighth. The left hook staggered Ronnie and the right finished him off.

In another surprise, Tony Puleo, a 22-year-old Brooklyn rookie making his debut as a main eventer, held heavily favored Carmelo Costa to a 10-round draw in a televised scrap at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Giants Mueller Vindicates Rule on Catchers' Box

NEW YORK (UP) — Don Mueller of the Giants finally vindicated the rule makers today who claimed that by narrowing the catcher's box it would put an element of chance into the intentional pass strategy.

Mueller reached out in the 16th inning yesterday when pitcher Bob Hooper of the Cincinnati Redlegs was trying to put him on base and hit the 4th pitch for a single to left that advanced a runner to 3rd base.

It was the 1st time since the new rule had been put into effect that a batter had gotten a hit while a pitcher was trying to walk him. The hit was a significant one, too, because it advanced the winning run to 3rd base, whereupon Bill Taylor pinch-singled to break up the game and give the Giants a 2-1 victory.

The rule change cut the width of the catcher's box to 43 inches and it stipulates that the catcher cannot move out of the confinement until after the ball leaves the pitcher's hand.

Archie Moore Gains Probable Shot at Marciano by Whipping Rocky's Foremost Challenger

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore may well have earned a shot at Rocky Marciano and his world heavyweight title.

Ageless Archie Monday night met and whipped the No. 1 contender, Nino Valdes of Cuba, in a 15-round fight that was action packed from start to finish.

Sitting at ringside was Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, who said that yes indeed, the 38-year-old Moore deserved a chance to meet Marciano.

Gibson said the match would probably be scheduled for September in New York, provided, of course, that Rocky disposes of England's Don Cockell in San Francisco May 16.

It was a repeat victory for Moore over Valdes and while Archie had aged two years since that meeting, he didn't show it.

And the only evidence of a heart ailment was simply that Moore had more than enough heart to take the best that Valdes had to offer and then dish out more himself.

Moore weighed 196½, the heaviest in a career in the ring that stretches back 18 years. Valdes weighed 209½.

The added poundage didn't handicap Moore. When the going was toughest, Archie was the faster, his punches the harder.

Referee Jimmy Braddock, the old time ex-champion of the heavies, gave Archie eight rounds, Valdes five and he called two even. One round was taken away from each fighter for hitting low.

Most everyone at ringside thought Moore earned a decision. But there were some who thought it was much closer.

There were no knockdowns, but the estimated 10,000 or so fans who paid $102,608 a figure given out by the promoter, Jack Kearns, saw a match that was viciously fought.

Valdes fought the last two rounds with his left eye closed tight. Archie puffed it in the sixth and just before the 13th ended it went completely shut.

* * *

It probably cost him the fight, because Archie poured on the coal in the final two rounds to win.

Valdes was furious at the decision. He faked a faint in his corner, sprawling out on the canvas. His manager, Bobby Gleason, yelled "burglary."

Mikes, 'Jackets Set Track Date

Hope to Hold Delayed Meet Today, Weather Permitting

Weather permitting, Pontiac St. Michael will journey to Avondale Wednesday afternoon for a dual track meet with the Avondale Yellowjackets. Engagement was originally scheduled Wednesday of last week, but wet grounds prohibited its running.

Event will mark the Shamrocks' 1st track venture in three years, the last cinder squad to represent the school competing in the spring of 1952. This year's edition is highly inexperienced, since there is only one holdover from 1952's thinclads, senior Bud Schwartz.

Wednesday's tussle with Avondale is St. Mike's only scheduled opponent thus far, but Coach Bob Minesweaser reports that prospective foes might be in the offing. Avondale lost its only previous meet this season to Van Dyke Fitzgerald.

Ace Southpaw Can Keep on Pitching

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mel Parnell, star southpaw of the Boston Red Sox, learned Monday he can continue playing on his ailing knee by using a special brace.

Parnell said Dr. George Bennett, prominent bone surgeon, told him the injury was a "common" one that required an elastic brace to keep his knee cap from moving around and causing pain.

Parnell said he would work out in Boston's Fenway Park this week while awaiting the return of the Red Sox from a road trip.

Derby Fever Mounts With Today's Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The traditional Kentucky Derby fever took a firm grip on this horse-loving Ohio River city today as nine 3-year-old thoroughbreds prepared to match strides in the Derby Trial for the express purpoe of completing the field for the 81st running of the turf classic at Churchill Downs Saturday.

But hours before the nine tangled in the mile of the $10,000 added trial, the "big" horse of this, the richest of all Derbies, was primed for a workout that probably would cause all activities at the downs to cease for some two minutes.

* * *

In this section of Kentucky, where horses, bourbon whiskey and beautiful women are all greatly esteemed, the reference to the "big" horse means only one—Nashua, pride of William Woodward Jr.'s Belair Stud. Trained by the three-time Derby winner, 80-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmos, Nashua will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, king of the Derby jockeys with five triumphs.

* * *

Nashua, with Arcaro holding a firm hand on the reins, was scheduled for his final workout before parading to the post about 4:30 p.m., EST, Saturday as the probably odds-on favorite for the $125,000 added mile and one-quarter run aroun dthe Downs oval.

This was the horse to beat in the Kentucky Derby — the horse that has won 10 of his 12 starts, earned $477,440 and edged Mrs. John W. Galbreath's Summer Tan in the recent Wood Memorial in one of the most thrilling finishes in turf annals.

* * *

Summer Tan remained the firm second choice and Rex Ellsworth's Swaps, Santa Anita Derby winner, was third in line.

The chief purpose of today's trial, from which three winners, Citation, Hill Gail and Dark Star, have gone on to Derby triumphs, was to furnish at least three of the starters with final workouts. And for the others it was to determine if they rate a shot at the big money. If as many as eight start Saturday the race will gross $149,500 with the winner earning $105,400 compared to Determine's record of $102,500 last year.

TWENTY POUNDER! — Believed to be the 1st really big muskie of the season around the mouth of the Clinton River (Lake St. Clair) at Mt. Clemens, is the lunker (above) landed Sunday by William (Bill) Cashin, Pontiac. The fish Cashin holds hit 20¼ pounds, was 45 inches long and 18 inches around. A pikie minnow was the lure and Bill's sons, Bill (left), Phil (right) are admiring it. Cashin was fishing with Capt. Cecil Marvin, and Charles Perkins of Pontiac.

Rickey Credited With Big Help in Improving Purkey

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Purkey, one of the Pittsburgh Pirates' most promising young players, credits General Manager Branch Rickey for a big improvement in his pitching.

Purkey, who scattered seven hits as the Bucs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1 Monday said personal coaching by Rickey gave him a new pitch and much more confidence.

* * *

"I've got 100 per cent better control this year. I'm getting the ball over with something on it. And Mr. Rickey worked with me a couple of times a week during spring training to help me develop a knuckle ball. I was using a sinker and a curve mostly last year, and the knuckle ball gives me another pitch to keep 'em off balance."

* * *

The 25-year-old righthander has a 2-1 record for this season. Last year he chalked up three victories against eight losses.

"I don't want to go out on a limb with predictions for this season," he grinned, "but if I keep on geting the support I have been lately, I hope I can win 12, maybe 15, games this year."

And in defeating the Cards, Purkey managed to do more at the plate in one day than he did all last season.

Scots Edge U-D on Homer Blast

ALMA (UP)—Outfielder Elton Luckritz cracked a two-run homer in the 6th inning yesterday to snap a 1-1 tie and lead Alma College to a 3-2 victory over the University of Detroit.

Titans managed to push across another run in the 7th inning on an error, single and a sacrifice fly but were unable to score again.

It was the 2nd time this season Alma has defeated U. of D. First was a 1-0 victory at Detroit.

Egypt, Chile in Davis Cup Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt and Chile completed first round victories Monday in the European Zone Davis Cup tennis competition.

Egypt defeated Turkey, 4-1, with Israel Adel clinching the Egyptian triumph by beating Nazmi Bari, 6-4, 4-6, 10-8, 6-4. In the second singles match, Egypt's Bedreldin El Sayed downed Engin Balas of Turkey 6-3, 6-0, 6-0.

* * *

Chile made a sweep of its series with Yugoslavia by winning the final two singles. Andres Hammersley defeated Milan Jagec 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Luis Ayala topped Vladimir Petrovic 6-0, 6-4, 6-3.

* * *

Now only one match in the first round is not complete. That is the match between South Africa and Norway.

Wilson Paces Lapeer Victory

With the versatile Tommy Wilson showing the way, Lapeer High's track team rolled up 10 firsts en route to a 68-41 victory over Rochester Monday on the Panthers' track.

Wilson, whose brothers Johnny and Pat have gone on to athletic stardom at Michigan State College, won 3 events and took 2nd in another to pace Jack Fitzpatrick's thinclads.

Wilson won the high and low hurdles and the high jump and took 2nd in the broad jump. Among the better performances were Bob Breckenridge's broad jump of 20 feet 1½ inch, and a 45-foot 2¼ inch shotput by Bob Bowker. Both are Lapeer athletes.

Former Olympic Star Is Banquet Speaker

MT. PLEASANT (UP) — Jesse Owens, one of the greatest track stars of all time, will be the featured speaker tomorrow night at Central Michigan College All-Sports banquet.

Owens, former Ohio State athlete who created a sensation at the 1936 Olympics, setting records in winning the broad jump and 100 and 200-meter dashes, currently is employed in public relations work in Chicago.

His greatest day in sports was May 25, 1935, when he broke three world records and tied another during a 45-minute flurry.

Bathers' Links Team Gets Expert Assistance

MT. CLEMENS (UP) — The Mt. Clemens High School golf team should post a lot of victories this spring because the members are getting expert instructions.

Charles Nicolai, pro at nearby Hillcrest Golf Club, is aiding coach Chuck Stephenson in instructing the team.

Nicolai has a personal interest. His son, Charles Jr., is a member of the squad.

The Giants and Indians played 18 exhibition games this spring.

Chief Netters Oppose Indians

Pontiac High School's tennis team will try to get back on the winning road again today when it tangles with Flint Central's Indians in a SVC tussle on the latter's courts. This will be a return engagement, the Chiefs having dropped a decision to Central here last week.

There will be one change in today's lineup, coach Vic Lindquist reports. John Harrington will join Gary Wylie in doubles, replacing the absent Paul Kampner. Otherwise the squad will remain the same.

Bill Bonner and Bob Erb will complete the doubles, while singles matches will be fought by Eddie Macadaeg, Kent Mills, Ted Wiersema, Gary Thomas, and Kurt Lauchner.

Racing Novice Wins Filly in Name Contest

CINCINNATI (INS)—A 31-year-old Cincinnati linotype operator, who never saw a horse race until last year, won a two-year-old filly Monday for submitting the winning name for her in a nationwide contest.

Walter Mills, former Air Force corporal, won the 2nd annual Kentucky Club Derby Day contest with the name Delphidessa.

The filly, a granddaughter of famous sire Gallahad III, will be raced for the 1st time Friday at Churchill Downs. Mills will be officially presented his prize the day before and will remain for the running of the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.

NORMAN — Oklahoma's 1954 football team outscored Big Seven opponents 228-26.

Sam Snead's Golf School

Look at the picture. Why follow through so carefully? Well, of course, nothing you do AFTER you hit the ball has any effect on its flight. But if you have done every thing necessary to produce a good shot before clubhead meets ball, then you'll finish in the position shown. Your hands will be high, club shaft between your left shoulder and your head. You'll have finished with your weight mainly on your left leg but you still have support from your right foot. Here's golfing form to strive for. If you look at this picture in a mirror you'll see that the finish of the swing is a good deal like the start of the downswing. The lesson seems to be that the last half of a golf swing duplicates the first half.

Dodgers' Start Believed Fastest in History

BROKLYN (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers, still playing as if it were a crime to lose, owned another record today but it is doubtful if they are aware of it.

In defeating Milwaukee 2-0 in a 12-inning thriller Monday night for their 16th victory in 18 starts this season, the Dodgers accomplished a feat never attained by any other club in modern times.

The record books do not carry such statistics. All they list are the consecutive victories from the start. The Dodgers already had topped that mark when they captured their first 10.

* * *

A thorough check of the box scores since 1900 disclosed the best previous getaway gait through the first 18 games belonged to the 1907 New York Giants and the 1946 Boston Red Sox. Each team posted a 15-3 won-lost record.

Nobody connected with either the Dodgers or Braves could recall any club getting off to anything even approaching this dizzy start.

"I played on six championship clubs and I was on a team that won 104 games (the 1942 Dodgers) but never did we ever get off this fast," said Billy Herman, Brooklyn coach.

* * *

Charlie Grimm, manager of the Braves, who saw the Dodgers annex victory No. 16 Monday night as Carl Erskine outpitched Gene Conley in a brilliant 12-inning mound duel decided by Carl Furillo's eighth home run of the season, couldn't remember anything resembling Brooklyn's streak either.

"I managed a club (the 1935 Chicago Cubs) that won its last 21 games of the season but in all my years in baseball, I can't remember any team getting away so fast," he said. "This beats anything I ever saw. All I can say is, the rest of the league better start doing something about it before it's too late."

This being only the second year at the helm for Walter Alston, the Dodger manager naturally knows of no other getaway to compare with this one. Alston, however, recalled one in the minor leagues that was even better.

* * *

"In my second year as manager of the St. Paul club in the American Assn." Alston related, "the team won its first 12 games. That was in 1949. Maybe our record was 12-1 but I'm pretty sure we didn't lose any of our first 12."

Oddly enough, the Giants did not win the pennant in 1907. The Chicago Cubs, who clung close to the Giants' heels through April and May, captured the flag with 107 victories and went on to whip the Detroit Tigers in the World Series in four straight. On May 20, when the Giants won their 24th game in 27 starts, the Cubs were right behind, winning their 23rd in as many starts.

Imagine a club with a 24-3 record and only a one-game lead to show for it?

St. Mikes Suffers Setback in Suburban Title Race

Pontiac St. Michael's hopes for a Suburban Catholic League baseball title received a severe jolt Monday afternoon at Columbia-Joslyn's north field. Visiting Highland Park St. Benedict dished out a 13-3 shellacking in an abbreviated four-inning contest.

Rain, which delayed the game's start, apparently didn't bother St. Benedict. The Highland Park crew tallied its 1st run in the opener, pushed four more across in the 3rd, and then in the 4th frame iced the victory with an eight-run explosion.

Pitcher Dave Smith, heretofore quite effective, didn't have it Monday. The St. Mike's hurler allowed five runs and six hits, walked one, and struck out one in the two full innings he worked. He left in the 3rd with the bases loaded and nobody out. This, combined with seven St. Mike errors, pretty much tells the story. Sophomore Chuck Brown and Joe Wilhelm, victims of the fourth-inning uprising, completed mound duties for the losers.

Shamrocks scored their three runs in the last inning on two hits, three bases on balls, and a hit batsman. Smith collected two of St. Mike's three safeties to continue his heavy stick work. Ron Elmy goth the other hit, a double.

U-M to Battle Gophers in Big Ten Showdown

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan and Minnesota, tied for the Big Ten baseball lead, meet in a "showdown" doubleheader at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Before the two big games are played, Michigan must play Iowa Friday and Minnesota is at Michigan State. In other games Friday, Illinois is at Ohio State, Purdue at Indiana and Wisconsin at Northwestern.

Michigan suffered its 1st loss of the year by splitting a doubleheader with Purdue on Saturday and the Gophers gained a share of the lead by taking a pair from Iowa.

Illinois climbed into contention by taking two games from Michigan State's defending champions, 7-1 and 9-5.

Northwestern and Ohio State split with Northwestern winning the opener, 2-1, and dropping the second game, 3-1.

Wisconsin finally won a game by beating Indiana, 4-2, but the Hoosiers came back to take the second game, 4-1.

Michigan and Minnesota each have 5-1 records.

Seek Rematch for World 'Fly' Crown

TOKYO (AP)—Promoter Ken Shimbo said today further negotiation may be possible on the date of a rematch between world flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina and Yoshio Shirai of Japan.

A dispatch from Buenos Aires said Perez' manager was balking at the May 19 date set by Shimbo.

Shimbo said he hoped Perez would arrive here not later than May 11.

Detroiters Take 1st Place in State Meet

BAY CITY (AP) — Pfeiffer's Beer team of Detroit shot into 1st place in the Men's State Bowling Tournament over the weekend by firing a 3121 actual total.

The squad, which also leads the current American Bowling Congress tournament at Ft. Wayne, Ind., went into 9th place in the handicap division. Thurm Gibson contributed a 669 series to the team's total. Bill Lillard had 631; George Young 630; Lou Sielaff 613 and Fred Bujack 578.

Tiger Notes

DETROIT (AP)—Outfielder Jim Delsing, one of the more pleasant surprises of the Detroit Tigers this season, was being kidded about yesterday's home run—a line drive into the upper right field stands. A well hit ball.

"Don't you ever hit anything but line drive homers," a reporter said.

It's a funny thing," Delsing said, "but that's right. All my homers are line drives—never pop flies. Now if I can only hit 'em more often. . ."

Delsing, by the way, was inserted into the lineup in the 7th inning as a defensive move, replacing the rookie J. W. Porter in left field. Delsing's home run lifted his season's batting average to .333.

Pitcher Bud Black, who jumped the Tigers last Thursday, has been sent to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League. Black went to his home in St. Louis when he heard the Tigers were going to farm him out. But he said he was sorry for his action, and will report to Oakland.

Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher, made one of his infrequent boners yesterday when he left the plate unguarded in the 3rd inning, permitting Bill Tuttle to race home from 3rd base.

"I thought time was called," Tuttle said, "but I was running anyway. Nothing to lose."

MONDAY'S STARS

PITCHING — Bob Purkey, Pirates, gave up seven hits and an unearned run as Pittsburgh clubbed three St. Louis pitchers for 14 hits, defeating the Cardinals 5-1.

BATTING — Carl Furillo, Dodgers, slammed his eighth home run of the season with a man on base in the 12th inning to break up a scoreless pitching duel between Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Milwaukee's Gene Conley giving the Dodgers a 2-0 triumph.

Montreal's Doug Harvey Is NHL's Best Defenseman

MONTREAL (AP)—Doug Harvey, who has played nearly all of his hockey for Montreal clubs, today was awarded the James Norris Memorial Trophy as the National Hockey League's outstanding defenseman of the 1954-55 season.

* * *

Harvey, who established a league record for defensemen when he assisted on 43 Canadiens goals during the past season, was far in front in the balloting for the league's newest trophy. He received 147 points out of a maximum of 180 from the panel of hockey writers and broadcasters. Harvey also was high man in the voting for the NHL all-star team.

Harvey was born in Montreal, learned hockey here and played for the Montreal Royals as a junior and senior amateur. He turned pro with the Canadiens in 1947-48 and except for 24 games with Buffalo that season has been a regular ever since.

Detroit's Red Kelly, who won the Norris Trophy when it was first awarded last year, was second in the voting with 95 points.

CRITICAL—Jose Contreras, 28, (above) Taunton, Mass., middleweight, was in critical condition today after undergoing a 2-hour emergency operation to remove a blood clot thus relieving pressure on the brain. He collapsed after losing on a TKO in the 8th to Bob Bolton, in Providence, last night.

Middleweight in Poor Shape After Knockout

Jose Contreras Has to Undergo Operation for Brain Injury

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Jose Contreras, 28-year old middleweight boxer from Taunton, Mass., was reported in critical condition early today after undergoing emergency surgery for a brain injury suffered in a bout.

* * *

Contreras collapsed while dressing after losing an eight-round technical knockout to Bob Bolton of Providence Monday night in a scheduled 10-round feature fight.

He was taken to Rhode Island Hospital where he underwent a 2-hour operation for removal of a blood clot on the brain. Doctors said he suffered sub-dural hemorrhage on the right side of the head. His name was placed on the danger list.

* * *

Contreras, whose wife, Mary, sat at ringside, walked unaided to his dressing room after assuring the attending physician he "felt fine." He collapsed a few minutes later and was taken to the hospital.

A crowd-pleasing club fighter, he has a record of 23 victories and 33 losses. He has won six bouts by knockouts and has been kayoed 13 times.

Don O'Connor Rejoins Crosby in New Musical

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last week Paramount saluted the reunion of Donald O'Connor and Bing Crosby after 18 years of going their separate ways.

The studio ran off the "Small Fry" number from their 1938 musical, "Sing You Sinners," plus "You Gotta Give the People Hoke" from the 1955 "Anything Goes."

In the earlier film, Donald was 12, with an Irish face and a soprano singing voice. In "Anything Goes," he is nearing 30, handsomer and a baritone. In both numbers, he seems to be an accomplished, highly talented performer with complete sureness.

* * *

Donald doesn't give that impression in person. His conversation is tentative, his manner offhanded. He hasn't adopted the false modesty of some stars. Although he has been a performer for most of his years, he is still amazed and modest about the honors that fall his way.

Seeing the old movie caused him to reminisce about his days as a child actor. He recalled playing with his family at the Irish Village of the Chicago World's Fair in 1933. He was 8.

"I can remember there was a midget show next door," he said. "I used to go over and play with the midgets between shows."

* * *

He remembers "Sing You Sinners" vividly. He also remembers his salary: $350 a week. He's now earning $200,000 for "Anything Goes."

"I did a lot of pictures at Paramount," he said. "I was Cary Cooper as a boy in 'Beau Geste' and Fred MacMurray as a boy in 'Men With Wings.' But 'Sing You Sinners' was the only musical I ever did in those days.

"I think that was probably good for my career. People don't remember me as a child star. That's pretty hard for some kids to overcome when they grow up."

They're Ready for A-Bomb

Couple Learns to Survive on Hunting Knife and Salt

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Two veteran jungle explorers warned today that if an A-bomb were dropped on an American city, most of the populace would be totally unprepared to cope with a hand-to-mouth existence.

Dana and Ginger Lamb, who have been trekking through unexplored jungle areas since Tarzan was a pup, say that our easy urban living could mean complete disaster in such an emergency.

"Survivors would naturally make for the wide open spaces," Dana said, "but once there, nine times out of ten they wouldn't know what to do."

If they were smart they'd follow the Lambs and do as they do. For these two wildcat adventurers know how to exist in the middle of nowhere with only a hunting knife and a salt-shaker.

They know how to make delicious stews out of cactus sprouts, soap out of wild pig fat and how to drain water from a bejuco de ajua vine.

Dana lamented over the sad case of two American fliers whose plane was forced down in uninhabited southern California during the war.

"They died of hunger and thirst," he said, "and not 20 feet from where they died was enough food to supply half an army!"

The trouble was, the city-bred fellers didn't recognize any of the desert plants as food. To them it was merely deadly growth and something to be feared rather than eaten.

"Every car driver," Dana added, "should carry some sort of survival equipment — a first aid kit, blankets, water, a hunting knife, mess kit and tarpaulin and most important of all a full gas tank at all times to avoid traffic tie-ups."

The Lambs, whose true-life adventure film, "Quest for the Lost City," will be released this week, contributed their ideas for survival to the American armed forces during the war.

But chances are they didn't tell the boys how to make a barbecue in a coconut shell or jungle chocolate bars out of dried cacao beans and wild honey.

"About the only thing we really can't do without in the jungle," Ginger (the cook of the duo) said, "is salt. Along with our hunting knife, it's a must."

Since the Lambs think money is something for the birds at Ft. Knox, they thought nothing of starting out on a 1,000-mile hike through southern Mexico and Guatemala with only $10.16 in their jeans.

"You don't need money to survive," Dana insisted, "just jungle know-how — and salt."

Right Now It's Rather Early for Murdering

DENVER (AP)—"Is there any reason why you shouldn't sit as a fair and impartial juror?" defense attorney Isaac Mellman asked prospective juror Edward Sachs as a murder trial opened yesterday. "Well, I've just been married a short time," Sachs replied.

Burglars Loot Home While Hoppy's Away

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — While Hopalong Cassidy was away there was skullduggery at the ol' ranch house.

When Bill (Hopalong) Boyd returns from a personal appearance tour in the East, he'll find that burglars jimmied a window at his Hollywood home and made off with an assortment of valuables.

The actor's agent said that only Boyd could tell what was taken and how much it is worth.

Detroit Barbers Plan Haircuf Hike to $1.75

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit barbers will start charging $1.75 for a haircut May 17. They now charge $1.50.

This was decided last night at a joint meeting of the AFL Barbers Union and the AFL Barbers Employers Guild. The increase will affect 2,500 barbers in 1,400 union shops.

Union spokesmen said the increase will go into a newly inaugurated health and welfare program for Wayne County (Detroit) barbers.

Saturday and day-before-holiday haircuts will go to $2 from the current $1.75 rate.

Grains Record Slight Changes

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains recorded only very small price changes in another session of slow dealings on the Board of Trade today.

At the outset most contracts were fractionally lower. Even soybeans, which had been independently firm yesterday, joined the decline. But the market made a slight recovery as the session wore on.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ lower to ¾ higher, May $2.10¼; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.43¼; oats ⅛ to ½ higher, May 71¾; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, May 97½; soybeans unchanged to ½ higher, May 2.51¼; and lard 3 to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.32.

Says State Farmers Spurn Rigid Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan farmers, Rep. Bentley (R-Mich) reported today, are against a rigid price support program "because it lowers their opportunity to earn a good income."

"Rigid supports are a failure and Michigan farmers know it," Bentley said in a statement prepared for the House. "They want to get away from the price support program that is lowering their income, injuring their markets and cutting down on their freedom to run their own farms."

The House has before it legislation to restore rigid price supports on basic crops in place of the present system of flexible supports.

"Most Michigan farmers are small farmers, by anyone's definition. Many Michigan farmers work in factories part time.

"Forty-one per cent of all farms in Michigan are either residential, part time or sell less than $1,200 worth of products off the farm This isn't net profit, it is the total value of everything sold off of the farm—gross income from farming."

He said 63,000 Michigan farmers are on record against rigid supports without regard to supply.

Detroit Edison Shares Earn $2.18 Last Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit Edison's 1955 earnings will be about the $2.18 a share registered in the 12 months ended March 31, Walker L. Cisler, president, told the annual meeting Monday.

Cisler said he would make no forecast about prospects for an increased dividend. "That is a matter we would want to consider very carefully in the light of conditions as they develop," he said.

Stockholders voted the company authority to sell up to 60 million dollars of convertible debentures, if they were first offered to stockholders. However, the company said that this year's 85 million dollar construction program will be financed by the sale of mortgage bonds and from internal sources.

Birmingham Man Gets Tool Engineers' Award

Recently receiving the past National Directors award of The American Society of Tool Engineers, Pontiac chapter 69, was Charles F. Staples, 1366 Yosemite, Birmingham.

Charles King, Chapter chairman, presented the award to Staples at the tool engineer's April meeting.

D. C. Inman reported on the 23rd Annual Convention of Tool Engineers, held recently in Los Angeles. George F. Bryan was named chairman of the National Standards Committee.

A tour of Rochester's Detroit Broach Company was scheduled by the engineers for May 16.

Die Casting Engineers Holding Meeting Tonight

The monthly meeting of the Society of Die Casting Engineers, Inc. will be held tonight at the Pontiac Hotel.

Dinner at 7:00 p.m. will be followed by an address by C.R. Schmitt of E. F. Houghton and Company. Schmitt, nationally known lubrication engineer, will present an illustrated lecture on water base fire resistant hydraulic fluids.

Business Briefs

DETROIT — The National Brewing Co. of Michigan held its annual meeting of stockholders Monday at the company's offices in Detroit.

According to Jerold C. Hoffberger, president and chairman of the board, the stockholders re-elected all seven members of the board of directors.

Aircrafts Look to Downside

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went moderately lower in early dealings today.

The aircrafts were down and there was some selling in the railroad and automobile groups. In the rest of the list, narrowly mixed prices were the general rule.

The aircraft shares, which had one of the sharpest rises in the bull market, have been working lower in recent weeks. Lower first quarter earnings were reported by some of the companies.

Aircrafts down a point or more included Boeing, United and General Dynamics, Stromberg-Carlson, which will be merged with General Dynamics, was off a point.

National Biscuit, usually a quiet issue, was active and down 1. Anaconda Copper advanced 1½ on a sharp increase in profits.

Lower issues included General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Allied Chemical, Southern Pacific and Eastern Air Lines. Small upside progress was made by U. S. Steel, Zenith, Du Pont, American Telephone and Standard Oil (NJ).

GM, Ford Claim All-Time Marks

First Quarter Output Best Ever Recorded by Auto Firms

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. reported yesterday all-time production records for the first four months of this year.

GM said its April production set a new record for any month in the company's history.

Chrysler Corp. plants in April almost doubled their production of the same month last year and in the first four months of 1955 more than doubled the volume of the same period last year.

GM's April output in the United States and Canada totaled 452,683 cars and trucks. This compared with 348,307 in the same period last year. The new peak was 3,325 units above the previous monthly record set in March this year.

GM had an output of 1,630,974 units for the first four months of this year, compared with 1,225,863 in the same period last year.

The company reported this production by divisions in April:

New Vice-Presidents Named by Edison

Following two Detroit Edison meetings held in New York Monday — the regular annual stockholders meeting and a subsequent meeting of the board of directors — Edison President Walker L. Cisler announced the re-election of the entire 11-man board of directors and the re-election or re-appointment of all company officers by the board of directors.

Cisler also announced the election of two new vice presidents—Thomas E. Hurns and Eldred H. Scott, both of Birmingham the promotion of Anthony G. Maihofer, of Detroit, superintendent of taxes, to assistant secretary; and the promotion of Henry J. Sullivan, Grosse Ile, to assistant to the president.

Teamsters OK Pact With Lumber Firms

DETROIT (AP) — AFL Teamsters Assn. agreed last night on settlement of a wage dispute.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Joint Council, said he will recommend acceptance of the agreement at a membership meeting of Local 458 Friday night. He said he is confident it will be accepted.

The settlement put off threat of a strike of 2,000 drivers, helpers and warehousemen of lumber dealers in the Detroit area.

The Detroit Lumbermen's Assn. sets the pattern for 225 dealers in Wayne, Oakland, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

Pontiac Man Jailed

Hugh McGinnis, 59, of 232 S. Paddock St., yesterday was sentenced to a year in Oakland County Jail by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

McGinnis admitted April 26 to a drunk and disorderly third offense committed here April 2.

Irritation Plain on Collingwood

Silver Dinner Jacket Doesn't Provide Punch on Hour-Long Show

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Network newscasters from the Yucca Flats bomb postponements act right on the air as if the frustration was aimed at them personally.

Charles Collingswood's irritation was as plain as the silver on Liberace's dress suit in nearby Las Vegas. . .

Where the Comedy Hour originated though hardly exploded with Liberace trying to turn one piano into an hour variety show. Two living room comments (not by yours truly) were: "Who wants to look at music?" . ..

And a gentleman of the cloth dinner-guesting during the Liberace Hour analyzed the toothsome pianist thus: "Why, he's the Gorgeous George of the piano!"

Sherman Billingsley delicately but definitely demolished Tallulah and her ghostwriter on the stylish Storkcast last evening . . .

The weekend Jackie Gleason Show with Jack Benny and the Jack Benny Show with Jackie Gleason were lively lunatic exchanges of talent. . .

James Stewart on the hilarious George Gobel Show demonstrated enough comedy charm to package and sell to the rest of the comedians who so sadly lack it. . .

Jimmy Stewart is a real pro: He demonstrated an old secret of successful clowning: Good material, played with all the sincerity and rehearsed care of an Oscar vehicle . . .

The "Disneyland" Davy Crockett craze has bounced the price and popularity of coonskin hats beyond the dreams of Kefauver. . .

ABC-TV is scouting feverishly for a "Steve Allen Type."

"Marge & Jeff" is gone but not forgotten. It is being groomed for a filmed revival. . .

Chicago loses another TV star after creating one more refreshing and different art form when Dr. Francis Horwich of "Ding Dong School" moves to N.Y. to boss NBC kiddies' shows.

Gisele MacKenzie's once hidden talents in every footlight direction finally are being exploited: She stars on NBC-TV's May 12 "Justice" as a singer fleeced of her savings by a phony talent agent...

French Auto Company Listed on Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Simca Automobile Co., Monday became the first French firm ever to have its stock listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Simca is a contraction of the name, Societe Industrille de Mecanique et Carrosserie Automobile, which last year absorbed Ford of France to become one of the leading manufacturers of medium-priced cars in France.

Simca now ranks second in French sales behind state-owned Renault and third in production behind Renault and Citroen. The firm also controls France's second largest truck company, Unic, and Someca, which produces tractors.

Three Killed in Crash West of Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Three persons were killed last night when their car ran a stop sign, plowing into another car on winding U.S. 16, about 15 miles west of Grand Rapids at Coopersville. The dead were all from Grand Rapids.

Killed were Matthew Soloman, 66; Rosa Collier, 38, and Mattie Duchart, 57.

State Police said their car, which also carried Philip Ward Jr. of Grand Rapids, shot through a stop sign hitting a car driven by Harold F. Webster, 48, of Grand Rapids.

Webster and Ward suffered internal injuries.

Phony Pistol, Bomb Used to Rob Bank

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — A short, stocky man with sleepy eyes walked into the Scandinavian Bank here with a gun in his left hand yesterday. He held out an open paper bag and demanded that the teller fill it with money.

He also placed a parcel with a lighted fuse on the counter, police reported.

While customers and staff scrambled for cover, the man filled his bag. Unhurriedly he walked out and mounted a bicycle held for him by another man.

* * *

A bundle containing 20,000 crowns ($4,000) dropped to the pavement. A passer-by returned it to the bank. The man escaped with 90,000 crowns.

Police said the parcel with the fuse was no bomb. It contained only combustible cord. The gun was found outside the bank. It was a toy pistol.

Driver Is Sentenced

James Cupit, 44, of 1599 Hogan, yesterday received one-year probation and was assessed $100 court costs by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Rusel Holland.

Cupit admitted April 25 driving with a suspended license when arrested in Holly April 18.

'First' Coming Home

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The U.S. 1st Infantry Division, which went into action in North Africa in 1942, is starting back home after 13 years overseas. An advance party left by plane for New York last night.

There are about 70 mild relatives of our present-day tobacco.

Takes Citizen's Oath From Hospital Bed

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. Lilo Blackburn became a U. S. citizen yesterday by taking her oath from her hospital bed.

Mrs. Blackburn came to the United States 5½ years ago from Germany. She was to appear in District Court with 11 others to take her oath, but Dist. Judge C. G. Perry and Examiner James Rain, of Omaha, went to the hospital to help her achieve her ambition.

The hospital declined to state the nature of her illness.

Wife Dies on Phone

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Herbert Smead, 23, on duty with the Air Force recruiting service, called his wife Norma, 22, to find out if his Army pay check had arrived in the mail. As they were talking, he heard the receiver fall at the other end. He quickly called a neighbor. Mrs. Smead was found dead of acute meningitis.

Sunday is Mother's Day— and Everybody's Buying Candy

It's Sanders candy, of course—"the finest candy money can buy". No matter what kind of candy Mom likes best, you will find it at Sanders—and at less than you'd expect to pay.

The Family Assortment

These Sanders favorites are sure to please Mom—and everyone in the family. There are both milk and dark chocolate coated pieces, with such delicious centers as pecan mallow, mint chip, cherry cream, and pecan mallow fudge. Among the uncoated pieces are inviting novelties like butter almond toffee, cup fudge, caramel and chocolate rolls, and many others: 1, 2, 3, and 5 pound boxes.
