Say Teamsters Vote Rigged to Elect Hoffa

Pontiac Local Members Join Protest Group

Claim Delegates Picked Without Knowledge of Rank and File

A group of Pontiac Teamsters has supported charges that delegations to the Teamsters' convention next week in Miami have been "rigged" to assure the election of James R. Hoffa to the throne of the 1,500,000-member union.

A spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld, said 50 signed affidavits had been mailed to a New York group charging officials of Pontiac Local 614 had not complied with the constitution in picking a delegate or delegates to the convention.

"We don't even know who the delegate or delegates are, and were never informed as rank-and-file members when and how they were chosen," the spokesman said.

A group of rank-and-file Teamsters from the New York area last week filed a suit charging that delegations to the Sept. 30 convention were "rigged."

This Friday Hoffa and 11 other Teamsters Union leaders have been directed to appear before U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts to show cause why the union election should not be delayed.

Meanwhile, Hoffa, heir-apparent to the $50,000-a-year presidency of the giant union, was expected to be absent Tuesday when the Senate Labor Rackets Committee resumes its probe of the Teamsters' vice president.

15 WITNESSES

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said he had 15 witnesses, mostly from the Detroit area, lined up for the new inquiry and would proceed with the hearings whether or not Hoffa was present.

The continuation of the hearings is expected to stem from visits

Parents Picket in Waterford

Demand School Board Furnish Rides on Buses for All Students

Waterford Township parents took another step in their fight to have school bus transportation for all of their children this morning when they began to picket at the Waterford school bus terminal and the school board office.

More than 100 under the leadership of Ralph Blair, of 6527 Elizabeth Lake Rd., met at the William Beaumont elementary school yesterday afternoon to plan an organized protest.

BUSES FOR ALL

The parents want bus transportation for all children in Waterford Township "until safe walking facilities are available," Blair said.

This morning, 50 parents and their children were escorted by a Michigan State Police car, as they marched to the Hudson Covert elementary school, 1150 Scott Lake Rd.

The group met at 8:30 a.m. at Scott Lake and Wanamaker roads to take their children to school.

The speed limit along this highway leading to the school is 40 miles per hour. Traffic was blocked this morning as the parents marched with their children to school. They will pick them up en masse at 3:30 this afternoon.

Children attending the William Beaumont elementary school on Hospital Road were escorted to school by their parents individually today.

Blair reports parents will picket the bus terminal and board of

Four-Masted Sailing Vessel With 86 Aboard Vanishes in Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — The Hamburg owners of the German sailing ship Pamir said today they presumed the four-masted bark had been lost in the storm-lashed Atlantic.

The owners held out hope, however, that some survivors of 86 aboard might still be found.

SHIP VANISHES

The sailing vessel vanished Saturday after radioing that she had lost all her sails about 550 miles southwest of the Azores.

The owners said 62 cadets, of whom 25 were on their first trip, were aboard the vessel. There were 17 regular crew men and 7 officers. This made a total of 86 persons aboard.

The finding of two empty lifeboats and a raft previously had raised fears the vessel had gone down.

Rescue planes and ships crisscrossed the mid-Atlantic without finding a trace of the four-master that had weathered many a storm in her 52 years at sea.

In New York, the Coast Guard reported last night that its cutter Absecon, a Canadian destroyer escort and three merchant ships had reached the Pamir's last reported position. Other ships were on the way there.

Union Prepares to Curb Power of Its President

Revision of Constitution to Be Offered Sept. 30 to International Group

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —A 15-member committee which has been at work for months today was putting finishing touches on proposed revisions of the constitution of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The revisions will be submitted to the international convention that starts here Sept. 30.

They would, if ratified, curtail the powers of the international president of the gigantic organization of transportation workers.

The committee suggestions will propose that the General Executive Board comprising 11 vice presidents elected at large, the general president and the secretary-treasurer have a much greater voice in control of the union, which numbers nearly 1½ million members.

The Constitution Committee, appointed by retiring President Dave Beck, has been holding day and night sessions at the convention headquarters here.

Meanwhile, the vast union, whose leaders have been assailed on charges of misconduct, snubbed a New York session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council tomorrow and Wednesday, at which charges against the Teamsters are to be aired.

In a letter to AFL-CIO President George Meany, Beck denied charges of misconduct, in effect rejecting an invitation to appear at the hearing and said Teamsters Union membership would decide whether or not the officials have been guilty of misconduct.

Beck and his heir-apparent James R. Hoffa of Detroit, Midwest Teamsters boss, said they would not attend the New York meeting and that the Teamsters Union would not be officially represented.

Mob Chases Negro After Deception

CROWD PURSUES DECOY — This unidentified minister was instrumental in allowing Negro students to enter Little Rock High School this morning, by decoying the attention of a crowd of angry white residents. He was shoved, kicked, and manhandled by the crowd, but the extent of his injuries was not known. He was escorted from the area by police officers.

Farmboy Tells How He Killed

Says He Shot Father in Cornfield Because He Mistreated Family

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—A 12-year-old farmboy was held in the Vigo County Jail today on an open charge after telling police a startling story of how he killed his father yesterday in a cornfield on his mother's 33rd birthday.

Jerry Fulk told the story to Edgar County (Ill.) sheriff's deputies after he was picked up near Paris, Ill., driving the family car.

BODY IN FIELD

The father, Clifford W. Fulk, 38, was found in a field about 250 feet from the home, riddled with bullets.

★ ★ ★

Police quoted the boy as saying he shot his father because he "drank too much, left his mother and seven children without food, beat him and refused to buy his school supplies."

Jerry, a seventh grade pupil, said: "I never made good grades in school because he wouldn't buy my notebooks."

LURED FATHER

The youngster said he lured his father into the cornfield after lunch to "look at the corn" and shot at Fulk with a .32 caliber revolver stolen from his uncle. Police said they found five bullets in the body.

The boy gave this account:

"I first shot him in the back. He turned around screaming, and I shot him again—this time in the stomach. He took off running toward the house and I shot at him again—three more times. I know I hit him, because he screamed again.

"He tried to hide, and I took off running to get more shells. When I came back with the gun loaded, he was standing up. I fired again and he fell. He said, 'Why? Why?' Then I shot him in the top of the head."

Vigo County deputies said the family knew nothing about the shooting until they went to the home to invesitgate.

The boy's mother, Dollie, expecting her eighth child in October, commented but briefly on Jerry's story about the father mistreating the family. She said:

"It must have been an accident."

Blames Negroes for Little Rock Violence

Faubus Says: 'I Told You So'

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (INS) — Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas today described the Little Rock School intergration violence as "the thing I acted in the first place to prevent."

WON'T RETURN

Faubus, attending the Southern Governors Conference at Sea Island, kept in touch with the Little Rock situation by telephone, but said he had no immediate plans for returning to the Arkansas capitol.

"Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon is a man of very great judgment. Unless he thinks it needful, I have no plans to return."

Faubus remained in his beach cottage at Sea Island for more than one hour after the opening session of the Southern Governors Conference got under way.

"Fighting is going on all over the place," Faubus said when he emerged from the telephone conferences. He added:

"The City Police were unable to handle it. The State Police had to move in."

Faubus said he had been advised that white students were marching out of the school.

He blamed Negro parents for the Arkansas violence. "That's the thing I deplore," he said, adding: "It's the thing I pleaded with the Negroes not to do — to go back before there was a cooling-off period.

Faubus was asked if he thought the State Police might be able to contain the violence.

ORDER IMPROPER

"We just don't know," Faubus said. He was asked if he had any plans for use of National Guard troops again at the school. He had withdrawn the troops on orders of the federal court, but contends the court order itself is "improper."

"We don't know yet," Faubus said. "There is the matter of the injunction."

Faubus had expressed his "apprehension" that a new integration attempt might lead to violence and last night ordered the State Police on a standby basis to cope with any outbreak.

City Manager Says:

Clarification of Authority Needed by Pontiac Police

A boost in morale and a clarification of authority are the two major improvements which the Pontiac Police Dept. needs, City Manager Walter K. Willman said today.

In commenting on the current situation in the department, Willman said the city has plans to correct the problems in two ways.

First, he stated, is the investigation of the department by the Public Administration Service recently ordered by the City Commission

"This should result in recommendations as to the lines of authority, personnel and operating practices within the department, and a general improvement in the relationships man-to-man within the department," Willman stated.

"The study should commence about Oct. 1 and will take several months to accomplish, and I can only urge a patient attitude on the part of everyone while the study is under way."

Another phase that needs correction, the manager said, is Act 78, the State Civil Service Act, under which both the police and fire departments now operate by a vote of the people.

Willman said his personal criticism of the act centered in a provision which gives the city manager the power to suspend for up to 30 days without pay for purposes of discipline any policeman or fireman.

The suspended officer is entitled to a hearing before the Civil Service Commission if he requests it.

Dixie Governors Call for Unity

Southern State Heads Argue Race Squabble Difference of Degree

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (INS)—Southern governors called today for an end to the servitude of party labels and for national unity, rather than extreme sectionalism.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida —himself mentioned prominently in Dixie as a presidential hopeful—told fellow chief executives at the Southern Governors' Conference that the nation is in the midst of a political evolution, with the issues and decisions national, rather than regional in scope.

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina advanced the argument that attitudes of people, north and south, are basically the same on the race question—the difference being merely one of degree.

Only Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland in the Republican minority, disagreed.

Chiding the South for "clinging to the past," he said the region cannot achieve parity economically or politically with the rest of the nation until "the South exorcizes from its house the lingering ghosts of an era that is gone, ceases the self-torturing of a century, and accepts a full voting membership in the two-party system of the sisterhood of states."

The bid for national recognition for the "New South," politically and economically, came with the issue of segregation, pinpointed by Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus' struggle for power with the Federal Government, superceding the normally academic interest in industrialization and improvement of educational facilities.

Jurors Out 7th Day in Confidential Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jurors in the Confidential Magazine libel trial return to deliberations today after a restful Sunday of relaxation under the watchful eyes of a court bailiff.

The six men and six women of the jury were given the case late last Monday and began deliberations Tuesday. They have returned to court for further instructions several times. Each night they have been locked up at the Mayfair Hotel.

Yesterday they lounged around the hotel swimming pool with bailiff Don Emmer on guard. He accompanied them to a Chinese restaurant for dinner.

The complex case they are to decide, after a six-week trial, involves charges of conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to publish obscene material against Confidential and Whisper Magazines, Publishers Distributing Corp., Fred and Marjorie Meade, and their story material gathering agency, Hollywood Research, Inc.

Snarling Crowd Fails to Buck Police Cordon

By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Eight Negro pupils walked quietly and without hurrying, into Central High School today — while the crowd's attention was diverted by another incident —and then a swirl of snarling men and screaming women tried to break police lines.

Nobody got through.

Pupils coming out of the school said three of the Negro boys who entered school had "blood on their clothing" and fights had broken out inside the building.

The students told reporters the "Negroes were chased through halls when classes changed" and were attacked by other students.

The initial violence outside the school was a frightening sight. Women burst into tears a man, hoisted up on a wooden barricade, roared: "Who's going through?"

CROWD STOPPED

"We all are," the crowd shouted. But they didn't.

The drama-packed climax of three weeks of integration struggle in Little Rock came just after the buzzer sounded inside the big 2000-pupil high school at 8:45, signaling the start of classes.

Suddenly, on a street leading toward the school, the crowd spotted four Negro adults, marching in twos, down the center of the street.

A man yelled, "Look, here come the niggers."

They were not pupils. One appeared to be a newspaperman. He had a card in his hat and was carrying a camera.

CROWD SURGED

I jumped into a glass-windowed telephone booth on the corner. The scene was clearly visible. As the crowd surged toward the four Negroes, they broke and ran.

But they were caught, on the lawn of a home nearby. Whites jumped the man with the camera from behind, rode him to the ground, kicking and beating him. They smashed the camera.

This, obviously was a planned diversionary movement to draw the crowd's attention away from the school.

While I was dictating what I saw, someone yelled:

"Look, they're going into the school."

At that instant, the eight Negroes—three boys and five girls—were crossing the schoolyard toward a side door at the south end of the school.

The girls were in bobby sox and the boys were dressed in open shirts. All were carrying books.

They were not running, not even walking fast. They simply strolled toward the steps, went up, and were inside before all but a few of the 200 people at that end of the street knew it.

Some did see the Negroes, however.

"They've gone in," a man roared. "Oh, God! the niggers are in the school!"

A woman screamed. "Did they get in? Did you see them go in?"

"They're in now," some other men yelled.

★ ★ ★

"Oh, my God," the woman screamed. She burst into tears and tore at her hair.

Hysteria swept the crowd. Other women began weeping and screaming.

A tall, gray-haired man in a brown hunting shirt jumped on the barricade, with others holding him. He yelled, waving his arms:

"Who's going through?"

"We all are," the people shouted.

★ ★ ★

About a dozen policemen were at that corner of the street.

Know the Weather

By H. E. SIMS

What are hurricane winds? How strong do such winds get? Why do they always last so long?

Hurricane winds are those with a velocity of 75 m.p.h. or better. The velocity of the wind gusts in hurricanes is usually around a hundred miles an hour or greater in an average hurricane.

But they have been measured beyond 150 m.p.h. and have been known to do almost unbelievable things, such as drive a straw through a telephone pole. Recording instruments usually fail when winds reach such strengths.

Hurricane winds build up a cresendo and last a long time because a hurricane moves forward only slowly. The average speed is ten to twenty miles an hour. And since these storms cover an area of several hundred miles, winds usually last many hours, or into the second day.

24 Injured, One Seriously as Train Derails in Kansas

PEABODY, Kan. (AP)—The Rock Island Railroad's Twin-Star Rocket, headed from Minneapolis to Houston, piled off the rails at the south edge of Peabody early today. Twenty-four were treated at hospitals for injuries.

★ ★ ★

Initial examination of the injured showed only one in serious condition. Wallace Hutchinson, 63, Wichita, Kan., had a possible skull fracture.

There was no indication of the cause of the wreck.

The Rocket ran into trouble about 100 yards north of the point where the Rock Island and the Santa Fe cross on the south edge of Peabody.

Most of the injured were in two passenger coaches which landed athwart the crossover and on their sides. Both rail lines were blocked.

Mrs. Earl Bray, Enid, Okla., said she was half asleep in the first passenger coach and her 12-year-old son Allen was asleep beside her.

'TERRIFIC BANG'

"There was a terrific bang, bang, bang," she said. "The car toppled over. I was riding about five seats back and landed in a corner. I got up but was too weak to stand and they carried me out of the car. I thought for a time it was the end of the world. My son landed across the aisle."

John Watson, Sunday editor of the Topeka (Kan.) Capital, also was riding in the first coach, along with his wife.

"It started jumping along, apparently hitting the ties," he said. "You knew you were going to turn over. Then it did turn over on its side. It felt like you were rolling over and over but, of course, you didn't.

"It seemed hours before we could get out. We are all jumbled up on the side that was down. We climbed over the seats and went out the back door. We saw three passengers taken out on stretchers. One woman had blood on the face and head. Nobody apparently was seriously hurt in our car."

The diesel locomotive dragged one mail and baggage car about 33 yards beyond the crossing. The locomotive remained on the rails. The mail and baggage car skewed crosswise but was upright atop the roadbed.

SKIDS DOWN BANK

Another mail and baggage car flipped over on its side and skidded down a 15-foot embankment.

One other coach turned over on its side along the right-of-way north of the crossover. The remaining cars ran off the rails but remained upright.

Warns World of Rising Prices

International Bankers Told Inflation Is Most Serious Problem

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower said today that inflation is "a worldwide phenomenon" and called on financial experts of the free nations to give it their most serious consideration.

The President made the subject a major part of his welcome address to finance ministers and bank officials of 64 nations attending the annual World Bank Conference.

Mr. Eisenhower said that none of the problems on the agenda of the week-long meeting is more pressing than the tendency to rising prices.

He said: "Particular aspects may differ among countries but thoughtful men everywhere recognize inflation and the threat to sound economic growth."

After a quarter of a century of depression and war, the President said, the nations of the world are now engaged in a great effort to win for their peoples sustained prosperity in peacetime.

He declared: "In our age, for the first time in history, dreams of a better material life have become everyday hopes among millions accustomed to abject poverty.

"And for the first time in history, the aim of fostering high living standards has become a central concern of governments everywhere and of the international community."

Looking at what he called the "common sense aspect" of inflation, Mr. Eisenhower said that economic resources can meet only so many demands and rising prices which follow must be offset by increased productivity.

Last Summer Weekend Takes 11 Lives in Traffic

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In addition, a baby choked to death on a peanut at Jackson Sunday.

Richard Crawford Jr., 16-month-old grandson of Jackson Fire Chief Harold Crawford, strangled on a peanut he apparently found in the kitchen of his parents' home.

Autumn arrived early this morning and cooling, wet weather cut down the steady stream of traffic that jammed Michigan highways during the hot summer months.

One accident took the lives of three suburban Detroiters.

Judy Carney, 16, Detroit, died early today of injuries suffered Saturday night when struck by a car at a Detroit intersection.

William Erie, 52, Ray Township, was fatally injured Saturday night when struck by a car in the township.

Robert Switzer, 30, Taylor Township; his 29-year-old wife Margaret and their son Billy, 9, were killed Saturday night in a three-car collision in Dearborn Township.

John P. Zabrowski, 69, Jackson, was fatally injured Sunday when struck by a car while attempting to cross a Jackson street. Police said the driver, Chalmer H. Ross of Michigan Center was released pending further questioning.

Three-weeks-old James Edward Gilland was fatally injured Saturday night in a two-car collision in Montcalm County.

George E. Stanton, 25, Marne, was found dead Saturday in his overturned car in a field southeast of Grand Rapids. Police said Stanton apparently lost control of the car and flipped over after hitting a tree.

Douglas A. Allison, 15, Anchorville was injured fatally Sunday. Police said he rode his bike out of a driveway into the path of a car in front of his home.

Sede Ensing, 59, Coopersville, was killed Sunday while attempting to cross U.S. 16 about 3½ miles northwest of Coopersville. Ottawa county deputies said Ensing was struck by a car driven by Walter J. Charles of Lansing.

Mrs. Wayne Gastfield, 17, an expectant mother, was injured fatally Saturday night when hit by a car near her home in Fremont, Oceana County.

Teamsters Claim Convention Rigged to Detroit and Pontiac of Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy and a handful of investigators.

But investigators remained silent on whether the committee will touch on the activities of the Pontiac local. And it was not immediately known whether local officials were among the 15 to be called tomorrow.

McClellan did disclose today that the new hearings will explore reports that Hoffa lent a million dollars of union funds to a Minneapolis department store struck by the retail clerks union.

The money reportedly came in chunks of $200,000 and $800,000 from funds of the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

Benjamin Dranow, chairman of the board of John W. Thomas & Co. of Minneapolis, has been subpoenaed to appear for quizzing about loans his store reportedly received from Hoffa last year.

The spokesman of the group seeking to block the present convention delegations said this morning a member of an insurgent faction had been subpoenaed to appear in Washington. He refused to name the member.

This same group, whose strength at one time was reported to be 2,000, has sought for four years to end Hoffa's trusteeship over Local 614. It also seeks "an honest election," which they say has been denied them since Hoffa took the reins of the local in October of 1953.

CAN'T BE REACHED

Officials of the local could not be reached today to answer charges they violated the international constitution in picking convention delegates.

"These delegates were picked by Hoffa or by people under his command to vote just the way Hoffa says," the group spokesman charged.

He said the affidavits were signed by both paid-up Local 614 members and others who had dropped out of the local because "their representation in the local was not according to the constitution."

A top opponent of Hoffa's in the contest for the presidency, Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago, declared yesterday he had 800 of 922 delegate votes needed to win.

A U. S. District Court judge today set Oct. 15 for the wiretap conspiracy trial of Hoffa. Two others indicted with him May 14 — Owen Brennan, president of Detroit Local 337, and Bernard B. Spindel, professional wiretapper from Holmes, N. Y.—will stand trial at the same time.

They are accused of conspiracy to tap telephones of employes in Hoffa's Detroit headquarters. All three pleaded innocent May 21.

Northern Lights Herald Arrival of Autumn in State

A seven-hour display of northern lights last week heralded the coming of Autumn in Michigan. The spectacular show reported by U.S. Weather Bureau stations from coast-to-coast and as far south as Alabama.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit said the lights could be seen in all sections of Michigan where the sky was clear.

Viewers in the southeastern part of the state first reported the shifting streamers of blue-green light about 8 p.m. The phenomenon reached a peak of brilliance about midnight, then slowly dimmed. It disappeared shortly after Autumn officially arrived at 2:27 a.m.

be vested in the chief of police," he stated. "This is not an attempt on my part to avoid an unpleasant duty, but surely the head of the department is in a better position to decide on an infraction of the rules and the degree of penalty than anyone else in the city's service."

Willman said that the city will examine the possibility of legislative correction of the act.

The city manager stressed that in all the discussions concerning the police department, "no serious charges of corruption, vice or other violations of law," have been forthcoming.

"With the results we hope to accomplish from the forthcoming study and the simple legislative adjustment of Act 78, the operation of the department internally and within the responsibility of the Civil Service Commission should be greatly clarified and simplified," he concluded.

Oakland, Macomb Pipeline to Lake Huron Goes Ahead

By PETE LOCHBILER

The Southeastern Michigan Water Authority is going ahead with its own plans for a Lake Huron pipeline to Oakland and Macomb Counties despite the Detroit Water Board's interest in a similar project.

In fact, said authority chairman Howard K. Kelley of Royal Oak, "If Detroit residents need water when our pipeline is finished, we'd be glad to pump some to them."

COMPLETE STUDY

A four-month $118,000 study of the engineering and financial feasibility of the authority's proposal should be completed at the end of next month, said Kelley, mayor of Royal Oak.

"We are farther along than Detroit in making a pipeline a reality and are fully determined to continue, if it's feasible, no matter what Detroit does."

The authority was set up by Oakland and Macomb Counties, each putting up $58,000 for the study after a group of consulting engineers conducted a preliminary survey and announced the project's prospects looked good.

DUAL PIPELINES

The venture being studied calls for dual pipelines, each eight feet in diameter, running from an intake north of Port Huron to a pumping station near Auburn Heights.

From Auburn Heights, water could be fanned out through smaller lines to Pontiac and other north Oakland County communities, Macomb County and possibly to the south Oakland County communities that have been using Detroit water for many years, said Kelley.

The project would cost an estimated $70 million and when the authority has paid off the total cost, the pipeline would revert to ownership by the people of both counties, Kelley said.

★ ★ ★

"The people who would be serviced by the pipeline are getting more and more desperate for more water," said Kelley. "They would do better to own their own pipeline than be forced to turn to Detroit for water at higher rates."

A big stumbling block, which may be removed by the study, has been the fear that there are not enough customers in the area to be serviced to make the pipeline financially feasible.

The preliminary survey indicated that water could be brought from Lake Huron at a customer rate of $1.10 to $1.20 a thousand gallons only if 200 million gallons are sold every day.

That is the reason that water might profitably be pumped to Detroit if Detroiters need it, said Kelley.

Would the water authority attempt to make inroads in established Detroit markets north of Eight Mile road if enough customers were not found elsewhere?

Kelley, whose home town of Royal Oak gets its water from Detroit, said he didn't think so.

NOT COMPETING

"We're not trying to compete with Detroit, but are willing to cooperate with her as far as we can," he said.

Kelley said this will be his attitude when he meets in Detroit Thursday with a water board representative and David V. Addy, Detroit auditor general.

The Water Board has agreed to seek City Council approval to spend $100,000 for the engineering design of a second intake and water-treatment plant to bring Lake Huron water to Detroit users. The Detroit project has been estimated at $79 million.

Legislation was passed last spring that would allow Detroit to extend its water services still farther beyond the city limits.

It is now allowed to sell water anywhere it wishes and at rates exceeding twice the amount paid by Detroiters, if necessary in order to make outside service profitable.

Extension of Detroit's water service to suburban communities has been strongly advocated by the late Mayor Cobo.

Pontiac is the biggest city interested in contracting for Detroit water on the new terms. The city, however, has held off committing itself until the water authority study is completed.

Trapped Eleven Reported Alive

Explosion in Mine Shaft Near Pittsburgh Pens Supervisory Employes

Hours later some of the trapped men reported via an emergency telephone line that all 11 were alive, but several had been burned, a police report said.

Bethlehem officials reported shortly after noon that mine officials on the scene report they know that six of the men definitely are alive, although some of them may have sustained serious burns.

The fate of the other five is not known, the company said.

The company said the explosion of undetermined origin occurred at 7:15 a.m. and trapped the men approximately 350 feet below the surface.

Rescue operations were proceeding. The nearest shaft was damaged by the explosion, and rescue crews were attempting to reach the men through an entrance nearly five miles away.

Work was slowed by lingering fires in some areas of the mine, police said.

Trapped by the explosion were nine foremen, a fire boss and a pumper who had gone on an inspection tour.

The mine is near the small community of Marianna about 45 miles south of Pittsburgh. Bethlehem Mines Corp. is an affiliate of Bethlehem Steel Corp., and produces coal for Bethlehem steel mills.

In 1907, before the mine was acquired by Bethlehem, an explosion killed 130 men there, one of the most serious mine accidents on record in this coal-rich region of extreme southwestern Pennsylvania.

Cause of today's blast was not determined immediately.

Kennett School to Open

Pontiac school officials today reminded parents that the new Kennett Road Elementary School will open tomorrow at 8:15 a.m.

The Day in Birmingham

City Fathers to Honor Late Mayor Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — A memorial tribute to the late Harry Allen, last president of the Village of Birmingham, and first mayor of the city, will be issued by commissioners tonight.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Allen, who died Sept. 16, had spent most of his life in Birmingham and from 1914, when he became village attorney, to his resignation last May from the Library Board, had devoted much of his time and effort in behalf of his community.

★ ★ ★

Also to come before commissioners will be the public hearing on the vacation of that section of Dorchester avenue lying between the Grand Trunk Railroad and Eaton Rd.

L. R. Gare, city manager, said his office concurs with the Planning Board recommendation that the street be vacated.

The commission also will consider the request for the paving of Elm street, south of Webster Ave.

The request was made in behalf of E. R. White of the Pontiac Laundry, who proposes to erect a business building at that site.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham police tonight will receive the "No-Death Award" from the American Automobile Assn., in behalf of its Pedestrian Protection Division.

The trial of James D. Shepherd, 36, which was to have opened Tuesday morning by Judge Clark J. Adams, has been postponed to Oct. 8.

United Church Women of Birmingham are sponsoring a Missionary Institute from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday at Congregational Church of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jessie Jai McNeil, prominent Negro church woman whose husband is a Detroit minister, will lead the discussion on "Christ, the Church, and Race."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McNeil is the Christian relations chairman of the United Church Women of Michigan and a member of committees for both the National and World Council of Churches. She will be assisted by Mrs. Ruth Jackson of the Christian Education staff of Detroit's Tabernacle Baptist Church.

Following a luncheon, Mrs. Noel Brannon will speak on the foreign mission theme, "Japan." She is an enthusiastic young mother of three who, with her husband, has just returned from five years in Japan under the American Baptist Foreign Missions Board.

★ ★ ★

Chairman of the Day will be Mrs. Donald Tracy, and the wives of ministers of participating churches will be hostesses.

Flu Threatens to Shut Schools in Port Huron

PORT HURON (INS)—Public schools in Port Huron may be closed if absences due to a virus infection rise.

★ ★ ★

More than 1,200 of the city's 7,7222 school children were absent today as school authorities and health officials kept a close watch to determine if the situation was due to a virus or Asian flu.

The 1,200 absentees, 411 of them high school students, represented 16 per cent of the school population.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — An outbreak of flu has reached epidemic proportions at the University of Alabama.

Dr. James B. McLester, director of the Student Health Service, yesterday said tests are being conducted to determine whether it is Asian flu.

McLester said 56 patients were admitted to the university hospital at the peak last week. Many more students were treated.

Dr. C. R. Lyons, superintendent of the school hospital, said specimens have been sent to the State Health Department for tests, but no positive reports of Asian flu were reported.

At Fort Worth, a Texas Christian University official said the virus epidemic which struck 400 students last week was about over.

News Flash

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A youthful gunman, permitted by police to keep his revolver after they thought they had taken all his ammunition, held several officers at bay in police headquarters early today until he was fatally wounded. The prisoner, identified by police as Duane Smith, 20, died several hours after undergoing surgery for removal of a bullet from his head.

Monroe Gridder Dies in Hospital

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A 17-year-old Monroe high school football player, injured in his team's first game of the season last Friday, died today in University Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Colin MacFarlane, a senior who had won two football letters, never regained consciousness after collapsing on the bench in the final quarter of the Monroe-Adrian game.

★ ★ ★

He underwent three hours of surgery for a severe brain concussion Friday night.

Coach Jerry Planutis, a former Michigan State University star fullback making his debut as a coach, said no one knew how the boy was hurt.

★ ★ ★

The youth is survived by his father, Colin A. MacFarlane, a half-brother, Judson Joyce, and a half-sister, Mrs. Russell Mann. His mother died about a year ago.

U.N. May Sidetrack Red China Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly is expected today to sidetrack until next year the question of seating Communist China in the U.N.

Delegates generally foresaw that the Assembly would adopt a U.S. resolution late today on recommendation of its Steering Committee.

Nationalist Chinese Delegate K. W. Yu told a reporter his delegation calculated perhaps 50 delegations will vote for the U.S. The vote last year was 47-24 with 8 absentions.

The U.S. resolution, which cleared the Steering Committee 9-4 with 2 abstentions Thursday, rejected the Indian request. It said the Assembly would consider no proposals this session to oust Nationalist or seat Communist Chinese.

John Diefenbaker, Canada's new prime minister, chose the Assembly's morning meeting as the occasion for his first major foreign policy speech.

Violence Mars Honduras Vote

Morales' Liberal Party Seems Certain Victor by Landslide Margin

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The Liberals of Dr. Ramon Villeda Morales, the popular "Little Bird" of Honduras' masses, today appeared a landslide winner in yesterday's violence-marred elections.

★ ★ ★

At least four killings were reported in clashes between political partisans in two provincial towns. Elsewhere voting was orderly and the military junta's promise of a free election appeared fulfilled.

A constitutional assembly chosen in the balloting will meet Oct. 21 to form a new government replacing the junta that has ruled for a year.

The assembly can declare itself a president. If the Liberals win a national congress and elect two thirds of the seats they could hand the presidency to Villeda Morales, former ambassador to Washington. He missed election by a slim margin in 1954.

On the other hand, the assembly could call instead for congressional and presidential elections. Villeda Morales says he prefers this course.

There has been dissension in the Liberal party. Apparently Villeda Morales counts on the people to elect him over any other Liberal who might enter the race.

On the basis of early returns, the Liberals were expected to win about 40 of the assembly's 58 seats.

Hot Winds Fan Rash of Forest Fires in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A hot, dry wind from the east fanned half a dozen forest fires in Oregon today, forcing a halt to logging and hunting in western Oregon.

★ ★ ★

A late heat wave sent the mercury up to 98 degrees in southern Oregon yesterday, where the worst of the fires raged. One spread rapidly over 1,000 acres east of the coastal town of Bandon, and another, believed controlled earlier, came to life again. It has burned 900 acres near the coast, 50 miles south of Coos Bay.

Inland, a 100-acre fire in the Willamette National Forest, 18 miles east of Oakridge, delayed passenger train three hours.

Scojes of grass fires broke out.

Across the Columbia River from Portland, a fire burned 300 acres of brush east of Vancouver, Wash. destroyed a home and threatened 300 others in a suburban area before firemen brought it under control.

About one-fourth of the average family food budget is spent for meat.

Lands on Highway, Police Seek Warrant

ANN ARBOR (INS) — State Police said today they will seek a warrant charging Victor Pease, 40, of Ann Arbor, with reckless operation of an aircraft.

Pease became lost in darkness last night and made an emergency landing on US-12, near State Road. He has had 43 solo hours in the air.

Landlord Goes Soft

$10 Buys Tenant Home

HARRISBURG, Pa. (INS)—A Harrisburg landlord has sold 11 of his homes to tenants for a token sum of $10 each.

★ ★ ★

James Bricker, who celebrates his 87th birthday next month, said his action was based on the fact that the tenants are hard workers and had virtually paid for the homes in rent. One family, he said, had been a tenant for 38 years.

★ ★ ★

Deeds to nine of the two-story brick homes were recorded at the Dauphin County Courthouse Thursday. Two others were recorded several weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

Bricker said that when the tenants were advised of the offer "they were so surprised that they did not believe it."

Faubus Reminding U.S. of Sen. McCarthy

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In Orval Faubus you have a spiritual kin to Joe McCarthy.

Some personal resemblances are obvious: Two country boys. Both ambitious. Both slow starters. Faubus finished high school at the age of 24. McCarthy was well launched on a small town business career when he decided to get a high school diploma.

And of course there are differences too between the embattled governor of Askansas and the late junior senator from Wisconsin.

Faubus is the play-it-close-to-your-chest type—not that he can't take dramatic action when he thinks the time is ripe. He did this in calling out National Guard troops to halt integration and-or preserve order at Little Rock Central High School.

★ ★ ★

McCarthy, on the other hand, was usually one to act first and weigh the consequences later. He would rush in where Faubus might fear to tread.

Their basic common ground appears to be this:

A conviction on the part of each man that he—rather than the generally accepted processes of law and order—had the solution to a problem of headline-making proportions.

★ ★ ★

With McCarthy the problem was communism. His argument was that he, or his Senate committee, alone had the full power and authority to cope with Red subversion. Time and again McCarthy and his aides said even the FBI couldn't do the job alone.

Faubus' target is school integration—or, as he puts it, "overnight" integration.

The authorities in Little Rock thought they could carry out peaceably the small degree of integration planned in their city this fall. They thought it was their responsibility to do so. Faubus held otherwise and called out the troops.

★ ★ ★

Neither Faubus nor McCarthy went so far as to say "I am the law," though both have been accused of taking just that attitude.

What they did do is operate outside of, or independently of, the law as most people understand it.

Each man claimed he was taking extraordinary measures to meet an extraordinary danger. Faubus has insisted his action was necessary to prevent violence. McCarthy contended his own course was essential to exposing traitors and their witting or unwitting accomplices.

★ ★ ★

Likewise, supporters of the two men follow much the same line of argument—that the end justifies the means, that you've got to peel off your kid gloves when you're in the ring against a vicious opponent.

There may be a further similarity between Faubus and McCarthy. A zest for the limelight.

McCarthy seemed to get much of his nourishment from publicity. When it dwindled, so did Joe. In his last years it was pathetic, to those who knew him, to see his eagerness for a mention of his name in the papers.

★ ★ ★

About Faubus, it is harder to tell. But this writer recalls seeing him at Providence, R. I., after his recent meeting with President Eisenhower, standing in the glare of newsreel lights with very much the expression McCarthy used to wear when the cameras were aimed at him.

★ ★ ★

For McCarthy, the lights stayed on five years. About Faubus, again, there is doubt. Unknown outside his state a few weeks ago, he may continue as a national figure. Or, if Arkansas, finds a peaceful way to live with integration, he may fade to the obscurity of a man without an issue.

Typhoon Lashes Grounded Ship

89 Persons Removed From Storm-Battered Vessel in Philippines

MANILA (AP)—The passengers of the storm-battered motorship F.S. Raja Soliman were removed to safety today south of Luzon Island as the northern Phillipines braced for 80-mile-an hour typhoon winds.

★ ★ ★

The Raja Soliman, a 580-ton interisland vessel carrying 45 passengers and 44 crew members, grounded yesterday on a shoal in Tagabas Bay. Passengers were transferred to the steamer Leyte.

★ ★ ★

Philippine navy vessels rushed to the stormy bay when the Raja Soliman reported she was being buffeted by heavy seas, had lost her power and was listing.

The ship was moved to Maniuyan Island off south Luzon and was anchored there.

★ ★ ★

Farther north, the upper part of Luzon and the thinly settled Batan Islands prepared for the lash of Typhoon Faye, expected early tomorrow.

The Dutch freighter Tjibantjet was driven ashore just outside the entrance to the Hong Kong Harbor. Officials said the ship was not breaking up.

★ ★ ★

At least two persons were killed when a small house collapsed. Falling roofs and debris injured at least 18 others, police said.

Traffic Squabble Ends With Gunfire, Arrest

Larry Souza, 20, was shot in the leg. Edwin Merle Smith, 36, was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

★ ★ ★

Smith, an electronics engineer, told police he was backing out of a parking space when Souza drove by. The two cars narrowly missed colliding, and the dispute was on.

Charles D. Davis, a witness, fainted when he saw the shooting. He was taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment of a bump on the head.

French to Propose New Algerian Plan

Because the question of Algeria is likely to come up again in the United Nations, the French are working feverishly to present new settlement proposals.

When the General Assembly insisted on discussing the matter two years ago, the French delegation walked out. It held that Algerian territory has been an integral part of France for more than a century and that it therefore was a domestic affair. The U. S. supported France in 1955 and again last year.

As reported from Paris the new plan is to divide Algeria into six provinces having strong state's rights. Four of them would be entirely Moslem and the other two would have European majorities. The French would retain control over defense, finances, the legal system and education.

The Europeans, mostly Algerian born French, numbering 1.2 million among 8 million Moslems, have extensive land holdings and business interests. It must be borne in mind that many Moslems support the French and consider themselves Frenchmen.

★ ★ ★

The proposed compromise will not please extremists. But the French government now seems to be doing what it can to satisfy the aspirations and protect the interests of both sides. If the plan should go through, however, the real problem would be to get the well-armed rebels of the National Liberation Front to stop fighting.

No Urge to Produce in Collective Farming

When Tito of Yugoslavia broke with Russia in 1952, most of the land which had been collectivized seven years before, was given back to the original owners.

Following the Soviet plan he had collectivized 10 million peasants but the results were disappointing from the start. There was no incentive to produce crops.

★ ★ ★

This year Yugoslavia has had its biggest harvest of rye, wheat, barley, corn and sugar beets since World War II. Much of the credit is due to the fact that the government had given assurances that there would be no more attempts to collectivize. Aided by good weather the farmers have worked as never before and have used to good advantage the fertilizers and machines made available by their government.

★ ★ ★

In the current issue of the magazine U.S.S.R., Nikolai Stepanov discusses his country's need for "More Meat and Milk to Match U. S. Production." He admits that Russia's meat output would have to be increased 400 per cent and milk by 40 per cent to reach that goal.

No country which collectivizes agriculture makes any progress in providing food and clothing for its people. When controls are relaxed, as in Yugoslavia at the present time, the farmer has an urge to produce for his personal benefit. What he grows is his own to dispose of as he wishes.

★ ★ ★

Russia's collectivized farmers are not likely to increase production until the U.S.S.R. recognizes the need for free initiative and private ownership of property.

State Passports

For a couple of months now any resident who wishes to drive his car into another state has to have a "Jersey Passport" from the State Motor Vehicles Division. The document explains to any understandably disbelieving traffic officer in other states that the 1956 N.J. plates are legal.

This all came about because the New Jersey Legislature so far has refused to appropriate money for 1957 plates.

After causing so much inconvenience and irritation to New Jersey voters, it may not be too much to assume that money for the 1957 plates will be forthcoming very shortly and that 1958 licenses will be issued on time.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Also, the Judge Is Being Judged

David Lawrence Says:

Citizens Can Fight Court Rulings

WASHINGTON — How many persons who have been reading lately about the legal troubles in Arkansas know that, without a test case in the courts, there is actually no way of finding out what the Constitution means?

LAWRENCE

How many know that every citizen has an inherent right to dispute a court ruling and that this does not necessarily mean "defiance" but an orderly attempt to establish what the "law of the land" really is?

GUILTY OF REBELLION

Yet, judging from the harsh criticisms hurled at the governor of Arkansas, there is a popular belief that the Federal government exercises some sort of dictatorship and that anyone who challenges its action in the normal course is guilty of "insurrection."

No ruling as to what is or is not constitutional has ever been rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States at any time except when the workings of a particular statute of Congress or of a state law have been disputed in a court proceeding.

There is no such thing as an advisory opinion in advance by the Supreme Court of the United States. Somebody in the first instance has had to disregard the application of the statute or the decision of the lower court so as to bring about the issuance of an injunction decree and the making of a case that the highest court could receive for decision. Whenever the Supreme Court refuses to review a case, the lower court ruling stands.

CAN'T BE ARRESTED

Again and again the Supreme Court has ruled that neither a governor nor the commander of state troops can be arrested nor interfered with by a court order when discharging normal duties and when there is no criminal charge of a personal nature involved.

So the Arkansas case today raises some novel questions and the only way to resolve them is by court proceedings.

The governor has promptly complied with the lower court's decree and has filed an appeal to a higher Federal court. The attorneys for Governor Faubus were well within their rights in refusing to remain in the court room last Friday after they had forthrightly stated the issue.

They declared, as attorneys for the governor, that Governor Faubus and his military officers "cannot and will not concede that the United States government in this court or anywhere else can question his (the governor's) judgment and discretion acting as chief executive officer of the sovereign state of Arkansas in the performance of his duties, or question his acts under the Constitution and laws of the state."

Unfortunately for the American people this very case may never be decided either way by the highest court. It is the habit of the Supreme Court to avoid making any rulings on constitutional questions whenever it can refrain from doing so.

The probabilities are that the highest court will dismiss the appeal as "moot" because the withdrawal of the National Guard will have removed the issue from the actual to the academic.

It is too bad that the American people may never know—and that the governors of all states may never learn from this episode—just where a state's obligation to preserve order and prevent bloodshed within its borders begins and ends.

It may be that the infectious spirit of sociological research which the Supreme Court of the United States lately has been exhibiting in its decisions is reaching down now to the lower court judges in the Federal system.

Maybe Federal judges who hitherto have been concerned only with the "intent of the law" now will feel themselves to be expert psychiatrists—able to define and determine beforehand "the intent of the human mind" in a strife-torn community.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning of Jerusalem. —Luke 24:47.

★ ★ ★

God forgives; forgives not capriciously, but with wise, definite, Divine prearrangement; forgives universally, on the ground of an atonement, and on the condition of repentance and faith. — R. S. Storrs.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Pap' Diet Questionable as Cure in Ulcer Cases

Whether a person has a peptic (gastric or duodenal) ulcer or just ulcer complex (all the symptoms of ulcer without X-ray confirmation of the diagnosis), such as smokers have, it is questionable whether "pap" is better than a fairly liberal diet.

I learned something about this when a typhoid patient who had gotten along very well for three weeks of fever, on a liquid diet (milk broth, fruit juices, tea, coffee, ice cream) suddenly went into shock and succumbed in a few hours.

DR. BRADY

At autopsy we found one of the typhoid ulcers in the small intestine had ruptured and in the perforation a gristle-like curd of milk the size of one's little finger partially plugged the hole into the peritoneal cavity. The large tough curd of milk killed the patient, I believe.

It became evident that in restricting patients to liquid diet, doctors had added malnutrition to the depression and weakness caused by the illness. Of course the individual patient's appetite or wish for more solid food and capacity to eat (masticate) were factors.

I haven't as much faith in drugs as most doctors have or seem to have I'm as skeptical of the so-called miracle or wonder drugs as I am of aspirin or castor oil, so far as curing anything is concerned.

REJECT BAKING SODA

If I had peptic ulcer or the ulcer complex I'd reject the old familiar alkalis, such as sodium bicarbonate (baking soda), milk of magnesia and various antacid mixtures originally compounded by great 19th century stomach specialists.

Instead I'd always carry a supply of discs in pocket or purse and chew a disc or two whenever I needed it. I refer to the discs described in the pamphlet Yankee Stomach, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Not that the calcium carbonate and magnesium trisilicate that make up the discs cure anything. I offer the suggestion because this simple combination seems to give the greatest relief in the shortest time with the smallest quantity of alkali and the least disturbance of metabolism.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Group in Macomb County Offers Support to Oakland

Your informative article September 2 prompts the Macomb County Citizen's Committee for Pontiac State Hospital to make people of Oakland County aware that members will encourage and support them in their efforts to secure emergency care for the mentally ill.

In Macomb County, this type of care has been available at county expense in a local psychiatric hospital for the past five years. Any time Judge Joseph Trombly has requested a budget appropriation from the Board of Supervisors, it has been granted without question because the value of emergency care has been proven. Over 50 per cent of the patients on whom commitment petitions are filed in Macomb Probate Court receive emergency care. During the first eight months of 1957, at least a third of this number were able to return home without hospitalization at Pontiac State. Restitution Department records of Macomb County will further bear out the value of this type of program. Reimbursements from responsible family members continue to flow in at an encouraging rate.

When a patient is found in the county or local jail, arrangements begin immediately for transfer to the private mental facilities. In one recent case, a young woman was completely uncontrollable in both the local and county jails. Upon entering emergency hospital care, her violence ceased and didn't reappear.

Because we're sincerely interested in humane care and treatment of mentally ill everywhere, our committee will be pleased to assist the Oakland County Citizen's Committee in any manner we may be able.

'Nothing's Wrong With Facilities'

Just how narrow-minded can people be? Referring to the toilet facilities in new kindergarten rooms, our boy just started kindergarten at Hawthorne, and when we visited there we were completely satisfied with everything.

The bathroom is what made the biggest hit with us. Everything was scaled to size for small children. As for boys and girls using the same facilities, we took it for granted our boy's teacher is intelligent enough to let only one sex in at a time.

We have no question about Hawthorne School. In fact, we're very proud our boy goes there.

Can't Understand Union Disinterest

I don't understand why union members don't care about the misuse of their own funds. I'd hate to think of the yell that these same union members would raise if a City Commissioner owned a Cadillac complete with telephone that he bought with City funds.

And suppose another had a string of race horses that he bought with taxpayers' money? And what if a supervisor bought an Oakland County home and a cottage on Lake Superior complete with fishing yacht and used Oakland County funds?

Will someone explain?

Wants Crusade in Government

I'm a voter in Oakland County, but I didn't vote to reject county home rule in 1934 or 1936 because I was only 10 years old. Our Pontiac Press should bring information on local government to its readers. Maybe a crusade to correct our County government would clean out some of the deadwood, both Republican and Democrat, in our Township, County and State government so we could get a constitutional amendment.

Township and County government is something voters can see work. It's the first step in government functions, but very few people know anything about it.

The Press knows our local government. It also knows its faults. Tell the people and ask them if, after 25 years, they would like to try to make it a better government. You are our paper and our watch dog—teach us!

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Urges Support of Local 'Y' Groups

The YMCA, as well as the Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Salvation Army and Red Cross are interdenominational. They couldn't function effectively if they were restricted to just one church sect. For they coordinate all churches and offer facilities that single churches could not afford. So be wise and support the "Y's" (YMCA and YWCA).

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-301: Joe Buford, aged about 50, was the main spark plug in organizing the finance drive for the South Shore YMCA in my Chicago neighborhood this year.

★ ★ ★

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," Joe began, "we'd like to have you come to our kick-off banquet and give us a pep talk on 'Why the Y?'

"We are raising about $40,000 as our budget for this year and have some fine volunteers who are to call on prospective donors.

"But we wish to enthuse them before we send them out. So can we count on you?"

WHY THE "Y"

In my talk I pointed out the fact that the YMCA is the adjunct of every church in its area.

And the YMCA secretary should actually be listed as the "Assistant Pastor" of every church whose kids utilize the "Y".

It is not feasible for individual churches to have a gymnasium and a swimming pool. Nor can each church affort to employ a specially trained staff of youth workers.

But the local YMCA offers all of these advantages to every church.

It is also interdenominational. And it is a boon to the high schools with its Hi-Y and the Tri-Hi-Y organigations, which are among our very best antidotes for juvenile delinquency.

Occasionally, an old-fashioned clergyman may be rather cool toward the YMCA and act as if it were a competitor of his local church.

That is a tragic mistake on the part of such a pastor. For the "Y" is the moral recreational hub where the churches of the region are the rim of the wheel. And every livewire church should have a main spoke leading directly to that efficient hub.

If the local YMCA saves just one child's life by its swimming classes, that means society benefits by $200,000 for the lifetime production of an average worker is $200,000 (50 x $4,000).

If the Hi-Y or Tri-Hi-Y also salvages just one teen-ager per year who might otherwise go delinquent and end with a life sentence in a state or federal prison, then the "Y" has again been worth $200,000 to the community.

So a $40,000 budget is comparatively chicken feed or small change against the tremendous cash savings which the "Y" offers every region.

By rearing youth in a moral code, it also insures many marriages from the divorce courts, so again we save taxes, as well as human values.

★ ★ ★

Finance committees should remind the average cigaret smoker that he burns up over $100 each year on the ends of his cigarets;

So if the 40 churches in my Chicago neighborhood which utilize this local "Y" would recruit just 10 smokers who would quit

LIVING MEMORIALS

Many of you readers have lost loved ones by war or auto wrecks or by diseases.

You are very generous in backing the Heart Campaign or the Polio Drive, ect. Why not erect living memorials to your dead by investing in modern youth via the "Y"?

It is actually much smarter to insure the moral future of a teen-ager, than selfishly to try and save your own middle-aged heart for a mere 5 or 10 more years via the Heart Campaign.

So it is high time we placed first things first, namely, our children.

Our youth are the greatest national resource in this country. So it is always wise to support the "Y's" (YMCA and YWCA).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Seaway Discussed at Harbor Convention

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway was among the main topics on the agenda today as the Great Lakes Harbor Assn. opened a two-day annual convention.

Some 125 delegates discussed problems connected with Great Lakes freight regulations, port development and the Seaway's effect on commerce when it opens in 1959.

Keynote speaker was Sen. Potter. Other opening speakers included Carlis J. Stettin, director of the Port of Detroit; and Col. Peter Hyzer, Detroit District Engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers.

Another guest speaker — Mayor Frank Zeidler of Milwaukee—was forced to cancel his appearance because of illness.

MOSCOW (INS) — Look under the "E" section of the new "Great Soviet Encyclopedia" and you can view the official Russian view of President Eisenhower.

The encyclopedia describes Eisenhower as a "general and statesman," but goes on to say that during his presidency the race for armaments and militarization of the country continued in the United States.

Under Eisenhower, the encyclopedia declared, "American militarists actively participated in the preparation and execution of the counter-revolutionary insurrection in Hungary."

The "profile" concluded with mention of the "United States program of interfering in the internal affairs of Mideast countries, known as the 'Eisenhower Doctrine.'"

Freighter Runs Aground in Lower Detroit River

DETROIT (INS)—The freighter Facto went aground in the lower Detroit River early today.

The tugs Atomic and Patricia McQueen were sent to aid the ship which ran aground in the Amherstburg Cahnnel opposite Bob-Lo Island.

The channel currently is narrower than usual because of drilling and dredging for the deepending project of the St. Lawrence Seaway channel.

3 International Groups to Meet in Washington to Discuss Money Issues

WASHINGTON (INS) — Finance ministers and bank officials from 64 nations will gather in Washington this week to take the free world's economic pulse.

Behind-the-scenes talk of the American economy and of financial difficulties in Britain and West Germany are expected to overshadow the formalities of the occasion.

Purpose of the gathering is the 12th annual meeting of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund and the first session of the International Finance Corp.

Formal conferences start Monday with a welcome by President Eisenhower, who is interrupting his Newport, R. I., vacation to fly to Washington for the address, and extend through Friday.

Actually, the officials will be more concerned with discussing with each other such important problems to the economic health of the free world as:

—Will the U. S. economy continue to flourish during the coming year, thus ensuring the free world of relative economic prosperity?

CONTROL INFLATION

—Will the U. S. be able to control its slow but bothersome inflation?

—Will West Germany yield to the pressures of its European trading partners and revalue the mark as a way of cutting its huge payments surplus?

—Will the United Kingdom's drastic step in raising the discount rate from five to seven per cent bring Britain's inflation under control and stem the flight of sterling to West Germany?

—What is the outlook next year for world trade and investments?

Many delegations also will be interested in discussing their own problems on a bilateral basis with U. S. officials and representatives of the three international organizations.

Heading the U. S. delegation will be the new secretary of the treasury, Robert Anderson.

The World Bank, which makes lon - term development loans, probably will come in for criticism from under-developed countries which feel it has been too cautious.

During the year, the bank made loans totaling 388 million dollars in 15 countries throughout the free world.

The International Monetary Fund, long criticized for inactivity, extended more short term credits last year than in any previous year of its history.

★ ★ ★

The International Finance Corporation, set up in the past year to make investments in underdeveloped nations, already has spent capital for industrial expansion in Brazil, Chile and Mexico.

Korean Colonel to Be Executed

★ ★ ★

The Defense Ministry announced today the death sentence imposed on Col. Huh Tai Yung, 36, and Sgt. Lee Yoo Hoi, 27, would be carried out in Taegu. The method of execution was not specified. Normally firing squads are used.

★ ★ ★

Huh and Lee were convicted last August of ambushing Lt. Gen. Kim Chang Yong, army CIC chief, near his home Jan. 30, 1956.

Texas Facing More Floods

Torrential Rains Up to 8.5 Inches Pound South Central Area in State

DALLAS (AP)—Texas, pounded by storms and floods last spring, then scorched by drought again during the summer, faced new flood threats today after rains of up to 8½ inches in some areas.

Floods menaced San Antonio and the Medina area in south central Texas after 8½ inches of rain were dumped along the Medina River northwest of San Antonio yesterday. An unofficial 7½ inches fell in parts of Beeville, to the southeast.

★ ★ ★

Officials warned of possible lowland flooding along the Medina and its tributaries. One family was marooned on a ranch near the town of Medina, 50 miles northwest of San Antonio.

The Escondido Creek in Karnes County rose swiftly after up to 6 inches of rain hit the area. Lowland residents were cautioned.

★ ★ ★

Most of the thunderstorms were in the eastern half of the state as a cool front moved through and out into the Gulf of Mexico. Small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast. Lesser storms hit parts of West Texas. Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, Beaumont and Abilene also got hard rains.

★ ★ ★

Kenedy had 5.85 inches yesterday and Nordheim, another south Texas community, more than 8 inches unofficially.

Many other points had minor flooding, some wind and lightning damage and a rash of traffic accidents.

Rises sending the Guadalupe River and Cibolo Creek, both north of San Antonio, to near bankful were expected by the Weather Bureau.

★ ★ ★

In many areas, hurt by the summer's lack of rain and still scarred by years of drought, the moisture was a blessing. At Ennis, in north central Texas, a slow, gentle fall of 5.4 inches restored depleted stock water and filled municipal lakes, but interrupted the cotton harvest.

Try Negro Preacher for Carrying Pistol

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A Negro preacher who was involved in a recent school integration attempt today faced trial on charges of violating the State Firearms Act.

★ ★ ★

Police said they found the Rev. J. S. Phifer in possession of a .25 caliber pistol when they stopped his automobile yesterday. They said full readability of his license tag was obstructed, a law violation.

★ ★ ★

Phifer was freed on $300 bond pending an appearance in City Recorder's Court.

Phifer drove the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth and four Negro children to all-white Phillips High School Sept. 9, when Shuttlesworth attempted to enroll them as students.

Phifer said that the pistol was in a brief case while he drove to church.

★ ★ ★

He said he has received numerous threats that his house will be bombed, and that he will be beaten or killed.

Dying to Use Them

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Somebody stole five gravestones from a makeshift cemetery set up at a farm near here for Robert Mitchum's movie about bootlegging, "The Whippoorwill." Said parties responsibkle will be able to put them to use — in the near future."

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

Mailmen Whip Dogs

WAKAYAMA, Japan (AP)—The war of dogs vs. postmen has the mailmen ahead on this battlefront at the moment. Citing about 10,000 annual incidents of tactical defeat and wounding for the men, they have posted notice on street corners that mail will not be delivered to homes with unleashed dogs.

Red Cross Slates Class on Home Care of Injured

What would you do if someone in your family were injured in an enemy air attack?

Or if your family were striken by the Asian flu?

The Oakland County chapter of the American Red Cross has got a good answer for you, especially if you are a housewife with two hours free every Tuesday afternoon.

The chapter has scheduled its "Home Care of the Sick and Injured" class from 2-4 p.m. Tuesdays from October 1 through Nov. 12.

Anyone can attend, but Mildred Bennett, the chapter's head, thinks housewives are more likely to be interested.

CHILDREN IN SCHOOL

The class has been scheduled, Miss Bennett pointed out, at an hour when youngsters are likely to be in school and mothers have some free time.

It's significant, Miss Bennett observed, that the regular Red Cross course this year has the word "injured" added to its title.

The addition, she said, reflects the new emphasis laid on civil defense preparation.

"It's important that at least one person in each family know how to care for injuries, so that everyone is not dependent in emergencies upon doctors, nurses and hospitals," Miss Bennett said.

The same principal would apply in case of an Asian flu epidemic she added.

The classes will be conducted by a registered nurse at the chapter headquarters, 118 Franklin Rd. There is no charge and no limit to the number of persons who may enroll, said Miss Bennett.

Divorce Refusal Attack Expected

Group of Clergymen in Church of England Dislike Marriage Ruling

LONDON (AP)—Rebel clergymen plan to attack the Church of England's refusal to recognize the remarriage of divorced persons, say newspaper reports.

The showdown will come next month when the ruling convocation meets at Canterbury. The church stand on divorce led to the abdication of King Edward VIII in 1936 and broke up Princess Margaret's romance with Peter Townsend two years ago.

Two clergymen brought the issue to the fore last week. The Rev. Lawrence Davies, 43, vicar of Longdon, married a divorcee. The Rev. William Weir, 70-year-old rector of Kirton and Falkenham, performed the service for Davies and his bride.

Weir has been in rebellion against the church stand since 1948. In that time he has married 30 couples, one or the other of whom had been divorced.

Now, newspaper reports say a strong section of the church will attack the stand of the bishops on remarriage of divorcees.

The bishops rule the church and appoint the clergy. They have refused to sanction the marriage of anyone who has been divorced. Under church rules, however, they cannot penalize a clergyman who conducts marriage services for divorced persons.

Morgan Fines Morgan

DUNN, N.C. (AP)— Recorder's Court here heard Robert Morgan fine Robert Morgan $20.75 for exceeding the speed limit. It wasn't a case of split personality. Judge Morgan was meting out justice to state Senator Morgan, a friend but no relation.

Inter-European Trade Growing

West Europe Nations Relax Restrictions on Deals With East

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Trade between Eastern and Western Europe has about doubled in the past five years but remains far below the prewar level, a U.N. commission reports.

The Economic Commission for Europe says in its current bulletin that East-West European trade continues to grow.

Hungary, East Germany and Poland have granted business enterprises the right to make trade deals directly with foreign firms in some cases, the study noted.

"In Western Europe," it said, "there has been a general relaxation of export controls, and some Western European countries have also actively assisted Eastern European countries in gaining easier access to Western markets."

The commission reported that about 19 per cent of all Eastern European foreign trade last year was with Western Europe, compared with 15 per cent in 1952 and 58 in 1937.

Of Western Europe's exports, 3.5 per cent went to Eastern Europe compared with 2.9 per cent five years ago and 8.4 in 1937. Of Western Europe's imports, 3 per cent came from Eastern Europe last year, 2.6 five years ago and 6.9 in 1937.

★ ★ ★

Western Europe's exports to the East last year were largely raw and semifinished materials, iron and steel and ships. Eastern Europe stepped up shipments of food, fuels, iron, steel, and engineering goods.

Swifts, the most aerial of all birds, never alight on the ground uless hurt. They gather all their food and nesting material while flying; drink skimming over water; and mate in mid-air.

Spurred On by Reports of Subversion

Syria's Neighbors Tightening Defenses

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Reports of Syrian troop movements and fear of subversion have prompted Syria's pro-Western neighbors to tighten their border defenses.

Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry, Syria's chief of staff, said Syria is "carrying out certain defense maneuvers."

★ ★ ★

But in an interview in Damascus last night with William L. Ryan, Associated Press foreign news analyst, he declared the movements were only to prepare against surprise.

A report circulated in Beirut said Syrian troops and Soviet-supplied equipment were moving across Syria under cover of darkness toward the Turkish border.

Bizry denied this. He told Ryan only national police and customs guards are on the Turkish frontier. He said he does not intend to send reinforcements.

★ ★ ★

Bizry said Syria has canceled officers' leaves. Garrison troops in Damascus are confined to barracks. Some reserves have been called up.

Bizry denied Western reports he is Communist or pro-Communist, telling Ryan: "I assure you, I never was affiliated with or was a member of that party."

Bizry said he and the government are willing to talk directly with anyone from the United States on American-Syrian relations.

★ ★ ★

Security forces in Jordan found a smuggling route to supply arms to elements opposed to King Hussein. Over the weekend a large cache of Czech arms was seized in a town close to the Syrian border.

The smuggling of arms to Lebanese dissidents prompted additional security precautions.

★ ★ ★

The Lebanese government received reports that Syrian troops are being concentrated along the border and are erecting fortifications. Syria is known to be reinforcing its outposts on the Israeli border.

Adenauer Sees Soviet Setback

West German Premier Hopes His Re-election Will Influence Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Konrad Adenauer says that because of his re-election as West Germany's chancellor, Russia may realize it has small influence on the Germans and may "wish to live on good neighborly terms with us."

★ ★ ★

The 81-year-old West German leader said yesterday his re-election a week ago was one of several factors contributing to what he called "some unrest, some fermentation in the Soviet Union." He also classed as a severe blow to the Russians the United Nations vote condemning Soviet suppression of last year's Hungarian revolt.

Adenauer spoke these views in a televised interview filmed for use in the United States.

His re-election indicates "we are on the way towards a two-party system," he said, denying a suggestion that the Germans once again are tending toward a single leader principle.

Adenauer said the Russians made strong efforts to influence the West German elections in their favor, but that the results showed "the Germans are not prepared to do the will of the Russians."

"I can very well imagine that in the coming four years Russia will come to realize this and will wish to live on good neighborly terms with us," he said.

During those four years, Adenauer said, he anticipates considerable progress toward German reunification and controlled international disarmament.

Jail School Principal for Paddling Pupils

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—The principal of Lakeview High School was held briefly in Macon County jail yesterday on assault and battery charges in connection with the paddling of two students.

The principal, David W. Beggs III, was released on two sheriff's bonds totaling $2,000 and ordered to appear before Justice of the Peace Wayne E. Ellis today.

Mothers of the two students, Mrs. Bertha Kwasny and Mrs. Gladys Lindsey, charged Beggs, 26, with administering undue punishment. Mrs. Kwasny said her son told her the reason for the punishment was that they had taken clothing from another boy's school locker without permission.

Police said Mrs. Kwasny told them her son Walter, 13, had been hit eight times with a wooden paddle. Ellis, uncle of Larry Lindsey, 15, said the Lindsey boy had been hit 18 times with the same paddle.

Neither parent objected to the punishment, and both boys said they agreed the punishment was justified. However, the boys and their mothers objected to the way in which the punishment was administered

The addition, expected to cost $650,000, will make possible a new department for radioactive isotopes and the expansion and reorganization of five basic departments.

Rockefeller Gal Flattens Poor-Rich Myth

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Next to "Cinderalla Stories" (about this penniless young shoplifter, see, who crashed the movies overnight), there is nothing so nauseating to a discriminating news reporter as a yarn about a "poor little rich girl." (She had her cake and ate it too, which explains her four crumby marriages.)

★ ★ ★

Maybe it's just boredom with the hackneyed old terms that makes some of the more literate writers go pale and queasy at the mention of such "PLRG's" as Doris Duke and Babs Hutton; but more likely the chief reason is — reporters have seen too much of life to appreciate fully the funereal aspects of having money.

★ ★ ★

GO TO SEA

Thus it was that, on a dark 6 a.m. last week, a bevy of the unillusioned met aboard a Coast Guard launch with press cards in hand, and prepared to sail into the dawn to meet the "Arosa Sky," a liner which was carrying home a Miss Sandra Rockefeller.

★ ★ ★

Miss Rockefeller, upon leaving England after a 2½ month vacation, was reported to have said she was "bored" with being rich, would rather be a "rich little poor girl" than a "poor little rich girl."

For a short time, perhaps five minutes, the reporters held their emotions together well — considering the nature of the story at hand, and that there was no coffee aboard.

It wasn't long, though, before transquilizers were being offered around and the talk was more crackling. By the time the liner bearing poor little rich Sandra had been reached two hours later, there was a certain feeling of temporary animosity toward the entire poor-rich Rockefeller clan — and that went for their destitute Radio City Music Hall, too.

A rather shaky ladder was hoisted to a gap in the side of the ship, and it was a 25-foot climb in the wind, over the water, from launch to "Arosa Sky." For the newswomen in skirts and high heels, it appeared impossible.

"You mean?" remarked one. "We risk life and reputation just because this dame hates money?"

NOT EVEN LITTLE

Once aboard, we were settled in a first class dining lounge while the public relations man for the ship went to fetch Miss Rockefeller from her tourist-class bunk.

★ ★ ★

Dourly, all watched as a 21-year-old, tall and with hair the color of Peruvian mahogany and eyes the shade of lake banff on a sunny day, was ushered in the room.

"This one," whispered somebody, "isn't even little."

Sandra Rockefeller, Vassar '57 and wholesome as all Sunnybrook Farm, smiled effortlessly and said she was afraid there had been a mistake. To the amazed delight of the assembled, she said her words in England had been "twisted" and that she was quite sure she hadn't said some of them at all.

In other words, Miss Rockefeller, you don't mind being rich?"

She laughed prettily, and paused to think of the properly modest words.

Finally they came out: "No, I'm not miserable about it at all."

To the writers, reconciled to the hacking out of another weep-for-wealth yarn, it was a refreshing experience, meeting a young lady so well-adjusted to all those millions. Wealth has been underrated too long as an asset to the American home, but now that even a Rockefeller has had the courage to endorse it, it can be advertised:

Junior Editors Quiz on AMERICAN INDIANS

QUESTION: Where did the first American Indians come from?

ANSWER: The first Indians came to America from Asia by way of the Bering Strait, which is the narrow strip of water connecting the Bering Sea with the Arctic Ocean and separating Alaska from the coast of Asia. Scientists believe they came to this continent about 15 or 20 thousand years ago. At first they lived on the great central plain of Alaska, fishing in the sea and hunting the four-horned antelope and mammoth which are now extinct. Later they traveled down into what is now the United States and finally the entire length of South America. These people who came from Asia were mongoloid. That means they came from the same stock as the Chinese and Japanese. They brought with them a language, fire and the skill to make tools they needed. Nothing remains of anything else they may have brought with them.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Go to a museum and look at Indian relics. Or start an arrowhead collection of your own.

★ ★ ★

Labor Relations Institute to Be Eyed

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Three luncheon meetings for Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Jackson and Flint businessmen will be held in the next month to obtain new views on the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

The institute is presently holding classes for workers in Detroit with the cooperation of several labor unions.

The first businessmen's meeting will take place in Grand Rapids Monday for the Muskegon-Grand Rapids area. The Jackson luncheon is scheduled for Sept. 30 and Flint meeting Oct. 16. A fourth meeting for Battle Creek and Kalamazoo will be scheduled later.

★ ★ ★

The meetings are planned to determine what types of educational programs would be best suited for management's portion of the institute's courses.

Muskrat Hitch Hikes

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — You've probably heard of hitch-hiking cats found under automobile hoods and such places. Mrs. Gordon Fawcett found a muskrat head-down between the carburetor and engine block. They lifted the animal out by the tail and it ambled away.

Holstein's Tail Proves Costly in New York

Under New York State law, county treasurers must pay for damage done by unidentified dogs to farmers' livestock.

Onondaga County Treasurer George Traister says a local accessor has approved a $35 damages claim to farmer Charles Toth of nearby Clay for loss of the end of the tail of a registered Holstein heifer chewed by a dog.

★ ★ ★

Toth says the cow can't be exhibited at cattle shows any more, that the five-inch loss means the cow can't swish flies away, and that actually the sale value of "Steve-En Triume Rag Apple Lotty" is decreased $100.

Gets Garbage for Votes

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Controller W. Ernest Atkinson, has a new vote catching gimmick. Instead of kissing babies and shaking hands he picks up garbage. He told the City Council that when he receives a complaint, he takes the householder's name and address and tells him: "I'll be around to pick it up myself."

Hoffa Believes Man Can Serve 2 Masters

By SAUL PETT
AP Feature Writer

DETROIT (AP) — James Riddle Hoffa, heir apparent to the throne of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, supports the novel thesis that a man can serve two masters.

★ ★ ★

He sees nothing wrong in a United States senator privately representing a firm which might be affected by legislation the senator could help pass.

NOTHING WRONG

If John Foster Dulles, acting as a lawyer, represented private American oil interests in Arabia and, acting as secretary of state, Dulles negotiated treaties with the Arabs, Jimmy Hoffa would see nothing wrong their either.

"Either you're honest or you're dishonest," he says. "This conflict of interest thing doesn't mean a damn thing unless it means a man's judgment is affected."

In many respects, the morality of Hoffa, now only a week away from the presidency of the nation's largest union, is almost antiseptic.

MAN OF HIS WORD

Despite recent "forgettery"—a description coined by a senator at the Washington hearings—he is widely regarded as a man of his word. He is a devoted family man, not a rover. He doesn't drink. He doesn't smoke. He lives far from lavishly. Out of town, relaxing of an evening with his union brethren, Hoffa has been known to walk out of a night club rather than observe a strip act.

The presence of temptation that might sway, corrode or collapse a man's judgment evidently doesn't worry him. This is his defense of the fact that he, a Teamsters vice president, borrowed big sums from and joined in private business ventures with people on the management side of the trucking industry.

His views on this and other rich questions raised by the Senate Labor Rackets Committee were set forth by Hoffa at an interview in his Detroit headquarters. It was an unusual interview. In tone, it ran the gamut from frigidity to mere coldness.

ALWAYS ON GUARD

Hoffa greeted the reporter with a handshake which, while it unfolded from a big square fist and a huge forearm, was surprisingly limp. His blue-gray eyes were cold and skeptical, his manner reluctant and on guard. He said he had only a few minutes for the interview.

★ ★ ★

Seeking some kind of rapport, the reporter began, "First a crucial question. My wife wants to know why you always wear white socks."

"Because my feet sweat less in them," Hoffa said. No smile. Period. End Rapport.

"With all the troubles you've had as a union leader, the fights, the pressures, the criticism, the intense work 16 hours a day, the time away from your family, did you ever wish even for a moment you were in some other line?"

"Never."

CHIP ON SHOULDER

End foothold. Hoffa, wearing a white, short-sleeved shirt, blue tie, shiny gray trousers, moved impatiently in his chair. He shifted his taut, powerful frame (height, 5-5; weight, 170), but the chip on his shoulder remained obvious.

★ ★ ★

Some students of Hoffa say the chip can be traced to various factors—to the grim poverty of his boyhood in Indiana, where his father was a coal miner; to his grubbing for odd jobs in Detroit; to the abrupt end of his education in the ninth grade; to his first strike at a grocery chain where he worked for 32 cents an hour; to his slow climb at the union throne room through picket line fights and back-room power plays; to his "bad press"; to repeated investigations of him; to the simple fact that James Riddle Hoffa is shorter than most of his fellow men.

Whatever the reason, the chip on his shoulder has gotten him in trouble, most of it in his climb up the Teamsters' ladder.

He has been convicted three times. He was fined $10 in 1938 for disturbing the peace—using his fists on those who objected to Teamster organizing tactics at a Detroit laundry. In 1940, he was fined $1,000 for a violation of anti-trust laws for conspiracy to create a monopoly in the waste paper business and threatening independents with violence. In 1946 he pleaded guilty on a minor state charge and paid a $500 fine in an attempt to organize merchants who picked up their supplies.

BRUSH WITH LAW

His latest brush with the law was his acquittal on bribery charges when a Senate committee claimed he tried to buy information about their investigation of the Teamsters.

Just a few steps from the peak of his union career, Hoffa still faces much unfinished business. He still must square himself with the law, this time on a wiretap conspiracy charge. He must face again the Senate Rackets Committee inquiring into his hoodlum associations and "conflict of interest" activities. He must also square himself and the Teamsters with the parent union, AFL-CIO, for violation of its ethical practices code.

None of these diversions is expected to stop Hoffa's election as Teamsters president next week in Miami. Now that he's near the top at 44, now that he has matured, according to his union conferes, and is less impetuous with his fists and brain, can Hoffa look back at his 25 years with the Teamsters and see where he might have done some things differently?

"Circumstances, conditions change," Hoffa said, studying the ceiling. "If I could I might have done some things differently. But who knows? . . ."

"Were there any particular mistakes you regret?"

"There's no man living who don't make mistakes. But you don't correct mistakes by being afraid to make a decision a second time."

Canterbury Club Opens Season

Pontiac Press Photos

Originator of the Canterbury Club John Gottschalk would seem to consider the Saturday evening dance a success, judging from the smile on his face. Mrs. Robert Glenn (center) and Mrs. John Brown, who are charter members of the club, also seem to be pleased with dance arrangements.

Mrs. William Thomas Jr. and John Madole, both charter members of Canterbury Club and both board members, share a dance.

Cotton Wardrobe No Longer Ends With Labor Day

Once upon a time, the coming of Labor Day meant the disappearance of cottons from the feminine wardrobe. But that was before transition cottons appeared on the scene. Now, fashion-conscious women know that cottons carry on from summer through fall — and are considered by many as year-round dresses.

Transition cottons are usually dark-hued and come in a variety of styles, in fabrics that feature plaids, stripes and assorted patterns. Many are designed along high fashion standards, displaying contrasting trims, detachable collars or self-belts.

Since the dresses need frequent laundering to remain fresh and crisp, the fabric should be completely washable. Because most of the transition or "prestige" cottons come in dark colors, the shopper should especially make sure that the fabric is colorfast. If the material is less than high quality, the color may not only fade but may bleed, damaging the fabric as well as any contrasting trim.

The shopper should search for the fabric that has the pattern woven into the material. If buying an ordinary printed fabric, check the back side to see whether the dye has penetrated through. Such fabrics are generally more colorfast than those which merely display surface prints.

Check labels and hangtags to determine whether the fabric is pre-shrunk and to see if the manufacturer has included any special laundering instructions. Hangtags will also tell the shopper whether the cotton has been blended with any synthetic fibers. If so, this information should be passed on when the transition cottons are sent to the professional laundryman.

Looking over reservations for the Saturday evening dance are Mrs. John Hubbard (left), who is the present corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Edmund Rogers, who was the charter corresponding secretary.

Elizabeth M. Drake Wed

Elizabeth Maude Drake and John William Kausch were married Saturday at 4:30 p.m. in Christ Church Cranbrook. The Rev. Robert D. DeWitt performed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Drake of Birmingham are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helen Kausch of Bloomfield Hills.

For her wedding the bride chose an ivory peau de soie gown fashioned on princess lines with a bateau neckline, seed pearl-beaded Alencon lace on the bodice, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt ending in a court train.

★ ★ ★

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Bradley Thompson Upham of Mount Vernon, Ohio, served as her sister's matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Herbert H. Upton Jr. of Ann Arbor; the bridegroom's sister, Judith Kausch; Mrs. William T. Beresford of Birmingham and Mrs. Remsen B. Henry of N. Y., were the bridesmaids.

★ ★ ★

The honor attendant was gowned in aqua and the others in peacock blue ballerina-length frocks featuring scoop necklines, cap sleeves, crushed cummerbunds and full skirts accented with back petals.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Serving as best man was Richard D. Toohey of New York City. George C. Orbits, Jasper B. Ried Jr., Edgar B. Bennett of Birmingham and Kenneth W. Kennedy of Ann Arbor seated the guests.

★ ★ ★

Mark Twain PTA Names New Officers

Mrs. John Fournier is mother vice president and Ray Glenn is father vice president of Mark Twain PTA.

Mrs. Leslie Seay is teacher vice president with Mrs. Ray Hoffman as secretary and Mrs. Lyman Stevens, treasurer.

Chairmen are Mrs. Robert Curtis, program; Mrs. Henry LaVerdure, membership; Mrs. C. I. Phillips, homeroom mothers; Helen Kinney, publicity; Mrs. Ebert Guest, council; Mrs. John Witherup, historian; Joseph Zabelski, safety; Mrs. Iris Parker, civil defense; Mrs. Fred Rogers, magazine; Mrs. Witherup, telephone, and Mrs. Don MacDougal, special education.

Write Thank-You

Even though the bride orally thanks a person for a wedding gift, she still must write a note to the person. And she can't use the telephone or printed cards to save herself the trouble of writing thank-you notes.

Beat Classroom Fatigue by Taking 'Shoe Break'

NEW YORK—Whether you're a first grader or a college senior you can beat classroom fatigue with a "shoe break," the National Shoe Institute advises.

★ ★ ★

Just as businessmen have found they have more bounce when they change to fresh shoes once a day, so students will do less daydreaming if they put on fresh shoes for afternoon classes.

You'll be doubly smart because you'll be refreshing your feet and you'll get more out of the afternoon classes.

Of all people, teacher should take a "shoe break" because so much of her time is spent standing. She'll do a better job of teaching and she won't find her patience so tried by mid-afternoon.

Identify Yourself

When making a telephone call always identify yourself. Even when you are calling a person who knows you, it seems a bit arrogant to suppose the person will immediately place you by your voice.

Hand-Down Shoes Are Dangerous

Youngsters Need Individual Fitting for Footwear

Jack grows almost as fast as the beanstalk, it seems to parents at this time of year. The school clothes Jack—or Sister Janie—wore in June won't fit when school begins in September.

★ ★ ★

That poses the perennial problem for parents: how to make new clothes fit not only children but also the family budget. The best solution is common-sense planning — necessities first and luxuries second.

CHECK-LIST HELPS

Many parents make a checklist of these necessities. Warm coats, sweaters, suits and dresses are basic needs that often can be filled by hand-me-downs from older children. Exact fit is not a matter of physical well-being.

★ ★ ★

Parents should beware, however, of hand-me-down shoes. They can cause permanent harm to a child.

For one thing, the original young owner of a pair of children's shoes gives them a hard beating, at the rate of some 30,000 steps a day.

By the time they are outgrown they are outworn, the National Shoe Institue points out. Broken-down shoes do not provide proper support for the feet.

INDIVIDUAL MATTER

More important, the proper fitting of shoes is a highly individual matter. Shoes that fitted Jack at a given age probably will not fit a younger brother—or Janie—at the same age.

So practical parents plan their children's back-to-school wardrobes from the ground up, with proper shoes No. 1 on the list of necessities.

Women Get More U.S., State Jobs

Have Been Named to Wide Variety of Public Posts

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Women are winning more appointments every year to important posts in state and territorial governments. There are women in top appointive positions in every state in the union, appointed by the governors or by key state officials.

★ ★ ★

"It almost would seem," says a Republican National Committee report, "that each incoming governor seeks to top the record of his predecessor in appointing women, for a sizeable influx of women is apparent in the six months that new governors have taken office in 26 of the 48 states.

SIGNIFICANT VARIETY

"The variety of offices to which women have been appointed in state governments is significant," the report continues.

"They are serving in governors' cabinets, as assistants and deputies to departmental heads and as members of commissions dealing with public welfare, public utilities, employment security, fiscal affairs and education."

Some of the more unusual jobs held by women include assistant secretary of commerce and development in Idaho; motor vehicle commissioner in Florida; commissioner of labor and industry in Maine; Industrial Accident Commission member in Maryland; assistant attorney general in Massachusetts; firemen's pension commissioner in Texas and director of the Bureau of Migration and Employment in Puerto Rico.

LAWMAKERS TOO

The survey shows that 321 women are serving in 1957 state and territorial legislatures. This is an all-time high and an increase of 23 over 1956.

The majority of the women lawmakers, 203, are Republican. Democrats total 113, Popular Party members 4, and the Republic Party 1.

New Hampshire, with 53 women legislators, leads. Vermont, with 50, is second, and Connecticut, with 46, is third.

★ ★ ★

Arizona, Pennsylvania and Washington state have 12 each. There are no women in the legislatures of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Oklahoma or Wisconsin.

STARTED IN 1786

The first women to hold jobs in the federal service were two women who were appointed as postmistresses in 1786.

Today there are some 15,600 women postmasters, about 50 per cent of the total in the United States. Of this number, New York alone has 660.

Taste, Not Expense

It isn't the size of your wardrobe that is important, or even how much you spend for the clothes you buy. The really important thing is to dress neatly and appropriately. That requires more taste than money.

Don't Copy Clothes

Imitation may be the sincerest form of flattery. But even so your friends will not appreciate your copying their clothes and decorating ideas, or deciding that you must have everything they have.

Chapter Honors Arlene Newcombe

Tea chairman Arlene Newcombe had no idea she was to receive the coveted "American Business Woman of the Year" award. This gold cup is presented to the outstanding member of the year.

A charter member of the association which was organized in October 1953, Miss Newcombe served as vice president for two years. She also has been program chairman, and because of her interest in activities of the organization, she has earned a diamond pin.

VOLUNTEER WORKER

Employed at Pontiac Motor Division as cashier in the Accounts Receivable Department for the past 11 years, she serves as a volunteer at Pontiac State Hospital, and pays weekly visits to the Veterans' Hospital in Dearborn where she shows movies to patients.

The award was presented to Miss Newcombe for her effort and cooperation in service and activities of the club during 1957.

SECOND AWARD

The second award presented by the chapter honored Mary A. Drake, a senior at Eastern Michigan College. She is majoring in physical education with a minor in deaf education. She plans to teach handicapped children.

★ ★ ★

A skit entitled "The Perils of Virginia" was presented with Mrs. Charles Stark, Mrs. Virginia Summerfield, Mrs. Darrel Jones and Maxine Davidson participating. Twenty-six guests attended.

Troubled Actress Battles Craving for Alcohol

Gail Russell Hopes to Rebuild Life

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The girl who lives in a neat little Veteran avenue apartment here, on the "wrong side of the tracks" by Hollywood social standards, is something of a veteran herself—on both sides of those tracks.

Not in years, though. She's only 33 and still beautiful enough to play starring roles in movies.

She's a veteran of fame—and shame.

She has a trim figure, a mind that can think, the same demureness that first made her famous on the screen and clear, sparkling eyes that somehow refuse to reflect the lost yesterdays and the lost weekends in her life.

The apartment walls are covered with her own, almost professional paintings—a matador thrusting his sword into a bull; two weatherbeaten rowboats on a lonely beach; a basket of vegetables, the head of a Scottie dog. Also in a frame are these printed words:

"When God is going to do something wonderful, He begins with a difficulty. If it is going to be something very wonderful, He begins with an impossibility."

★ ★ ★

Wearing spotless white slacks, a pale green sweater, open sandals, a multi-colored bandanna and a warm smile, the girl told me with a sound of hopefulness in her voice:

"I start every day reading those words."

ON THE MIRROR

The same words, she said, are on a mirror in her bathroom. But she didn't mention that it was the same bathroom where police found her unconscious on the floor recently.

The girl is Gail Russell, star of movies and veteran of front page headlines.

The sad yesterdays that somehow refuse to reflect in her eyes are many. The days of fear and lack of faith in herself on movie sets. The days of a marriage (to star Guy Madison) that failed. And glaring days of headlines that keep repeating themselves:

"Gail Russell Charged With Drunk Driving."

Between them, happy peaceful days. A movie comeback in 1954. Brilliant acting just a year ago in "The Tattered Dress" at Universal-International studio. Another movie. "Flim Flam," ready for the cameras and starring a Gail Russell who will sing for the first time on the screen. Another movie. "The Man Who Grew Younger," waiting for her at MGM.

TO FACE JUDGE

On Oct. 15 Gail Russell will face a Los Angeles judge charged for the third time with drunk driving. Someone was injured. Property was damaged. It can be rough the third time, but Gail hasn't lost hope.

★ ★ ★

She took my hands in hers as she repeated, "Believe me, I'm going to win this war." They were firm, steady hands. I first held the same hands 14 years ago, in in 1943.

The hands trembled then. I was rehearsing a radio interview with her then because she was Hollywood's brightest new star discovery.

After her most recent arrest, last July 4, a Los Angeles judge asked Gail Russell: "How many drinks did you have?" She replied according to newspaper accounts. "A few. Maybe two. Maybe four."

Then her trembling hands covered her face and she sobbed:

"I don't know how many. It's no one's business but my own."

HOW IT STARTED

She didn't have to tell me. I was there in 1943 when it started. I know how it all started and Gail knows I know.

★ ★ ★

Gail, born in Chicago, was only 19 when Paramount studio discovered her as "the most beautiful high school girl in Santa Monica." Her parents—her father was an auto bond salesman—moved there in 1936.

Gail was interested in becoming a commercial artist. Then Paramount gave her a movie contract, the leading role with Ray Milland in "The Uninvited" and announced to the world that she was a star.

★ ★ ★

But Gail wasn't a star at all. She was a frightened high school girl, naturally shy and reserved, with no talent at all except a beautiful voice and face and haunting eyes.

DRINK FOR COURAGE

With no previous training, Gail suddenly had to remember lines of dialogue—what to say and how to say it, and where to stand and how to look.

★ ★ ★

A quick drink now and then in a cafe across the street from Paramount studio gave Gail the courage to return to the set and face the camera as the extrovert she wasn't.

Directors and producers and drama coaches "pounded" performances out of Gail. Her sets were closed to visitors.

The more she was "pounded" the more frequently I saw her in the cafe across the street.

It was the beginning.

But even now, after a broken marriage, after three charges of drunk driving, after understanding medical treatment, it may not be the end.

★ ★ ★

She talked about the stacks of fan mail she showed me from well-wishers; about the work close friends like Dorothy Shay, pianist Ray Turner, composer Darryl Calker, Ernest and Mildred Long, Rory and Lita Calhoun, Jane Russell and Roy and Dale Rogers are doing for her.

GOOD PROSPECTS

And she talked with sparkling eyes and excitement about her two forthcoming film roles and about singing on the screen for the first time.

Today Gail says she has no regrets about fate giving her Hollywood fame and fortune at 19. "My only regret," she said, quietly, "will be if I can't make something good out of all this to give comfort to other people."

Junior may not like this, but you might borrow his magnet to keep nail files, safety pins, needles and small scissors collected.

Person With Zest for Living Remains Youthful

Lack of Interest in the World Causes Aging

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This little playlet took place in a restaurant. Similar ones no doubt occur many places every single day. At the table next to mine two women were talking. I judged from the conversation that they had been in school together but had not seen one another for years.

★ ★ ★

"I just can't get over running into you like this! I have thought of you many times during the years since we were in college together . . . but you know how it is."

Second woman (well-groomed, alert, lovely figure):

"Yes, indeed. I don't know where the time goes! I never am able to do half the things I want to do. But I did want us to keep in better touch.

"I was sorry you did not join that class in ceramics with me. You always loved that sort of thing, and I never could get you to go swimming after your first baby arrived."

★ ★ ★

First woman: "I don't know! It just seemed impossible at the time to take those classes or to go anywhere, with the children and all. Of course I did have some help but—"

Second woman: "It still isn't too late. Our children are school age now and the classes are in the morning. They are starting some beginning courses next week."

First woman: "You know, you haven't changed one bit. You don't look a day older. I don't know how you keep your figure and find time to do all of those things you do, but I guess you have a maid. That makes a big difference."

Second woman: "I haven't had a maid for years. We can't afford one."

First woman: "How did you get along with your painting? You used to love that but I suppose you have dropped it, what with the children and all."

Second woman: "Nope! I don't have any real talent but my technique has improved and I have exhibited a few of my pictures."

First woman: "That's great! Honestly, I cannot get over you. You look so young and I have aged so much."

Second woman: "Oh, stop it! All you have to do is to lose a few pounds and get out of the house once in a while and you will bloom."

First woman: "I'd really like to but I just don't see how I can find the time."

At this point they left the table and left me newly impressed with the moral—when women lack a keen interest in the world about them, if they fail to develop old interests and add new ones, they almost always age rapidly.

I am awfully afraid this lady stayed in her rut. Why? I don't know! Perhaps because of discouragement, or timidity, or habit, or maybe because of lack of energy due to a poor state of health. BUT boredom can make one feel ill!

LUXURY RETURNING TO BATHING ROUTINE

In ancient Rome and Greece bathing was quite a ritual. The luxurious baths were times of conviviality as well as cleanliness. It seems that the longer one stayed in the baths the more prominent he or she was socially. No doubt some social climbers became water-logged! People literally spent hours at the bath.

★ ★ ★

Some became so enthusiastic that they had their backs scraped with a crude sort of implement. This doesn't sound so good to me. I think I will stick to my long-handled bath brush. Beautiful ladies soaked themselves in perfumed oils daily. The bath was truly a serious part of their lives.

Then, between this splashy era and now, there came a time when people bathed just to get clean and were bored by the process. They scrubbed when they needed it and let it go at that. Some of the more enlightened ones bathed daily while others considered once a week a sufficient nod to the current fad.

Today when there is a bath with every hotel room and when a lovely woman considers her daily tub to be an important part of her beauty and health routine, the luxury of Rome is returning, at least in a minor way. Today the bath has been removed from the humdrum by the varied bath accessories available.

There are bath oils and powders and fragrances. There are bath mitts and brushes, some of the latter long enough to reach every part of your back. There are water softeners and sprays. You can have pillows for the tub so that you can really relax.

We have finally caught onto the idea that a clean complexion is likely to be a clear one; that soap and a bath brush keep the skin free of blemishes; that frequent shampooing puts more gloss and life into our hair than any preparation yet devised.

Why not take a tip from the Romans and Greeks and make your bath a time for relaxation. Make it leisurely. Even read in the tub when you have time, while your cold cream soaks in and your hair is rolled up in pincurls.

This will improve your disposition and personality because it is practically impossible to step out of a lazy bath feeling irritable. Your nerves, as well as your skin, get a rub-down.

Tomorrow: Health Values of Bathing.

Get OK on Car Trip

If your youngster has just learned to drive, don't let him or her take younger children in the car without first checking with their parents. It is his responsibility to get permission.

Beginning lipstick users and those who've been applying it for years can follow the same rule. Always make a fresh start. Never build over caked remains.

Success Achieved Haphazardly

By ANNE HEYWOOD

When you see or hear about successful people, the picture always looks so neat, so logical, so very much planned that way.

But when you get to know them well, you see that the chain of events which led to their good fortune was just as haphazard and unplanned as it could be.

★ ★ ★

What happens is they do the best they can as they go along. When the going gets rough, they take a deep breath, try the first solution they can think of—and it proves to be successful.

WONDERFUL JOB

I think of Mrs. L. as an example.

Mrs. L. has a wonderful job with a landscape architect. In fact, she's just recently been made a partner.

Her husband and grown children are very proud of her. She is attractive, happy and makes a large income. She is as competent on her job as she is in running a beautiful house.

You'd just naturally assume that Mrs. L. studied hard and long, was always destined to be in the landscaping field and that she planned every inch of her career. But you'd be completely wrong.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. L. married before she even finished high school. She never took a course in horticulture in her life and doesn't even have a green thumb.

LOVES FLOWERS

"But," she told me the other day, "I do love flowers, shrubs and plants and I have always thought a house looks positively naked without them. So, when the children were in school, I decided to get a good landscape architect to help me with our grounds.

★ ★ ★

"I had a little nest egg set aside and my husband agreed landscaping would add to the value of the house. So we went ahead.

"The man I hired—Aaron, now my partner—was marvelous. He did the best job and very reasonably, too.

"I was delighted with the results, but I couldn't understand why he didn't have more customers and a bigger place.

"Then I realized he was such an artist, that he had no time or inclination for the selling end. So I asked for a part-time job, selling his services.

COMMISSION BASIS

"He thought I was crazy, but he let me do it on a commission basis.

"The first thing that happened was—I broke my leg! But somehow that gave me an added stimulus. I just did my job by phone from the wheelchair.

"Everybody adored Aaron's work and, what with my sales talks, the business began to grow.

"Later, when the kids went to high school, I took the job as a full-time employe. And now we're partners!"

This case is just further proof that behind most success stories there is a weird series of events, not a logically planned campaign.

★ ★ ★

If selling products or services by phone is of interest to you, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Atom's Mysteries Won't Faze McKinney

Put On Atoms-for-Peace Group

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Robert McKinney, the nation's top atoms-for-peace representative, brings to his new post the talents of a very successful newspaper publisher, cattle breeder — and poet.

But the mysteries of the atom won't faze McKinney despite his non-scientific background. In 1955 he headed a citizen's panel on the peaceful uses of atomic energy which reported to Congress after a 10-month study.

NAMED BY IKE

The 47-year-old Santa Fe, N. M., Democrat has been appointed by President Eisenhower as the U. S. representative to the new International Atomic Energy Agency. Eisenhower overrode vigorous GOP protests to name McKinney, who supported Adlai E. Stevenson in the 1956 presidential campaign.

A stiff fight is expected in the Senate next January over the recess appointment. But the publisher is strongly backed by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), a force in the joint House-Senate Committee on Atomic Energy. McKinney also is a long-time friend of Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

McKinney is both editor and publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican, but he finds time to breed Aberdeen-Angus cattle at Tucumcari, N. M., and serve as director of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad.

In addition, he is a director and a member of the executive committee of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., and holds several educational posts.

Born in Shattuck, Okla., Aug. 28, 1910, McKinney spent his boyhood in the Texas Panhandle. He worked his way through the University of Oklahoma, getting his bachelor's degree in 1932 and making Phi Beta Kappa in the process.

After graduation, he worked on an Amarillo, Tex., newspaper and then went on to a research firm in Wall Street. In World War II McKinney served in the Navy where he rose to the rank of lieutenant.

★ ★ ★

In 1947 he published a book of poems, "Hymn to Wreckage: A Picaresque Interpretation of History." Critics gave it a good reception.

McKinney purchased the Santa Fe New Mexican in 1948. The next year he was chosen to head the New Mexico Economic Development Commission and Water Resources Development Board. In 1951, McKinney was appointed assistant secretary of the interior, a post he held for two years.

He is married to the former Louise Trigg. They have one daughter.

Student Drivers Solo as Teacher Watches by Ear

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Driver trainees at Traverse City Central High School may solo on the practice course and still remain within conversation range of their instructors.

Instructors Edward Schuknecht and Allen Lockman believe it is Michigan's only driver training course using two-way radios in the cars.

Each of its five cars is equipped with the devices, which make it possible for one instructor to stay in the control booth and keep track of a full course of students.

The radios have a control distance of about seven miles. Advanced students can stay in contact with the instructors although out of sight.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1957 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN NINETEEN

Area 'Boots' March in Graduation

Thirteen Pontiac area sailors were graduated from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., Saturday in a spectacular ceremony witnessed by 9,500.

Today, many of the local seamen were on their way to assignments all over the nation, having completed what some consider the "critical" stage of their budding naval careers.

For some, it will be just a change of locale at the spacious Training Center, as they enter advanced schools for specialist training before joining the fleet.

Pontiac Recruit James W. Bray played an important part in the impressive two-hour ceremonies. He led a fellow recruits organized in a drill team in ten minutes of intricate maneuvering which drew several bursts of applause from the spectators.

The graduation climaxed Michigan week at the training center. To observe the graduation, and get a complete view of the Navy installations there, some 35 officials, mayors and newsmen from cities all over the state were flown to the center for the weekend.

Michigan week was one of the many state weeks which were held during the summer to acquaint civilians with the Navy, which is marking 50 years of progress this year.

More than one-third of the Navy's enlisted men of the past 47 years have been trained 700 miles away from the nearest salt water at Great Lakes, Illinois.

The alumni of the naval training center now number approximately two million. Homecoming activities began on June 1, and each week a different state from 21 midwestern and southern states were honored.

Included in the tour of the weekend was a navy fire fighting demonstration, deep sea diving demonstration, and a survey of the naval vessels based at Great Lakes.

Crippled Prince of Arabia Shows Big Improvement

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Remember Prince Mashhur, the little Saudi Arabian who touched the hearts of many Americans last winter?

An aide to his father King Saud says the 4-year-old prince has greatly improved under treatment for partial paralysis.

The solemn boy, crippled in an arm and a leg, went with King Saud to Washington last February and had diagnostic checks at Walter Reed Hospital. Later President Eisenhower sent three Army men, experts in physical therapy, to Saudi Arabia. After 28 days in Saud's kingdom they reported Masshur definitely improved. Now a spokesman for Saud says: "Thanks to his excellent treatment, the prince has shown a tremendous improvement."

King Saud has been taking medical treatments and vacationing in Germany and Switzerland. Prince Mashhur is not with him this trip. Two other young sons are along.

Convict Tries Again to Escape Execution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Caryl Chessman, who has stood in the shadow of death for nine years, comes back into court today to fight another skirmish in his fantastic battle to escape execution.

★ ★ ★

He was sentenced to death June 25, 1948, in Los Angeles for kidnaping and sexual atrocities against two young women. Six times his execution date was set and each time he escaped the gas chamber through legal maneuvers.

★ ★ ★

Today Chessman, 36, returns to the same courtroom where he was tried and convicted, where he acted as his own attorney and where the appalling details of his alleged crimes were related.

★ ★ ★

The story of Caryl Chessman and crime began in his teens. When he was 19 he was sentenced to from 16 years to life in prison as the leader of a gang of boy bandits. He escaped in 1943 and was recaptured after another series of robberies. He was paroled in 1947.

★ ★ ★

No sooner was he free, police said, than he started another holdup spree.

★ ★ ★

Police captured him Jan. 23, 1948, after an 80-mile-an-hour bullet-punctuated chase. They said he was the notorious "Red Light Bandit" who beguiled his victims into believing he was a policeman by flashing a red spotlight on his car.

★ ★ ★

Chessman, shrewd and arrogant, defended himself at his trial, denying he was the Red Light Bandit. The jury convicted him of 17 felonies and he was taken to San Quentin Prison's death row.

★ ★ ★

Then came the occurrence that set in motion Chessman's battle against death. The shorthand reporter who took the trial testimony died before completing the transcript of his notes. Other reporters took over and finished transcribing the news.

★ ★ ★

Chessman, as his own attorney, had the right to approve the transcript. He refused. He contended the reporters had not transcribed the dead man's notes correctly.

★ ★ ★

Chessman carried his fight through every court available. He lost at every turn but his delaying action kept him alive, and gave him time to become a best-selling author with a book called "Cell 2455, Death Row."

Finally, on last June 10, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Chessman should have been present in 1948 when the Superior Court accepted the transcript of his trial. The Supreme Court granted him a new hearing on this issue alone.

★ ★ ★

His appearance today is for setting a hearing date and for the court to hear any motions his attorneys might make.

★ ★ ★

In any event, Chessman has won what most believe at least another year of life. If he should lose the battle over the transcript, the decision would be automatically appealed to the California Supreme Court. It probably would be a year before a decision could be made on the appeal. If he should win, there would be a new trial.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, one of Chessman's alleged victims, Mary Alice Meza, lives out her life in a mental institution, her mind shattered by the indignities to which she was subjected.

Playwright Hits British Royalty

John Osborne Terms Monarchy 'Ridiculous Anachronism'

LONDON (AP) — A young British playwright today described the British monarchy as a "ridiculous anachronism" which is socially unhealthy.

★ ★ ★

John Osborne, 27-year-old author of "Look Back in Anger," said the institution creates love for empty ritual. He called it "a gold filling in a mouthful of decay."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

"It bores me, it distresses me that there should be so many empty lives in Britain, to sustain fatuous industry; that no one should have had the wit to laugh it into extinction or the honesty to resist it."

★ ★ ★

Osborne's criticisms were directed at the monarchy itself. He did not mention the name of Queen Elizabeth.

Asks World Bank for Inflation Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Anderson today called on the financial leaders of 64 nations for concerted efforts to quell inflationary pressures which, he said, now seem worldwide.

Anderson addressed the boards of governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund at the opening of their five-day, 12th annual meeting. Anderson heads the 19-member U.S. delegation.

★ ★ ★

"Nearly everywhere costs and prices are rising, and demands for capital press heavily on the supply of savings," Anderson said in his prepared remarks.

"We are all agreed that these inflationary pressures must be resisted. Of necessity, many difficult and troublesome decisions must be made . . ."

★ ★ ★

The secretary coupled his appeal with a gently worded warning that countries seeking money for industrial development projects must expect to rely increasingly hereafter on private capital rather than American or other foreign aid.

As the economic health of the world improves, he said, "private investment would be expected to provide international financing with less dependence on the budgets of any of the countries of the free world."

★ ★ ★

Anderson reminded his hearers that they—as finance ministers or heads of central banks—"bear a heavy share of responsibility for the strength of the currencies of our countries, the solvency of our governments, and the soundness of our financial systems."

★ ★ ★

Each country's success in checking inflation, he said, will depend considerably on the success of the rest of the world.

Inflationary pressures are a major concern of the meeting.

★ ★ ★

The bank's annual report, issued last night, took note of rising debts and said "inflation continued unchecked" in some countries. These conditions, the report said, have marred the otherwise unprecedented growth of production, trade and investment in the free world during the past year.

Boy, 15, Admits Illinois Clubbing

Faces Murder Charge for Beating Man, 80, to Death in $53 Robbery

★ ★ ★

"I hit him with a piece of copper tubing and when he tried to get up, I hit him twice more," the boy, Clarence Durbin, was quoted by Sheriff Armando Passoni.

★ ★ ★

Passoni said Durbin admitted clubbing to death Joseph Whitehouse and then fleeing with $53 taken from Whitehouse's home in Morrisonville.

★ ★ ★

The sheriff said Durbin related that he hid in the home Saturday night and struck the man as he entered. Passoni found the boy early yesterday hiding in a vacant lot.

New Storm Headed for Florida Coast

The season's sixth tropical storm was traveling 10 miles an hour and showed signs of gathering strength. If it continued west at 10 miles an hour it would hit Florida's southeast coast Wednesday morning.

The 5 a.m. advisory said little change in direction or rate of forward movement was expected in the next 12 hours.

Forecasters at the U. S. Weather Bureau in Miami said there was no immediate cause for alarm. They said it was entirely possible the storm would change course as it did Saturday night.

Ship reports, the Weather Bureau said, indicated "the area of circulation has increased slightly. Winds are generally 30 to 40 m.p.h. within about 200 miles to the north and east and 130 miles to the south and west of the center with a few scattered squalls up to 50 to 60 m.p.h."

Austria Studies How to Get More of Tourist Trade

VIENNA — In its efforts to get a larger share of the tourist trade, Austria has done some deep studying. It estimates that about 7,000,000 foreigners traveled in seven principal European countries last year, of whom 700,000 were from nations outside Europe.

★ ★ ★

The remaining 6,300,000 tourists amounted to only four per cent of the population of the seven countries — a surprisingly low percentage. A trip abroad will continue to represent a serious outlay for the average European, they say.

★ ★ ★

Most of those now traveling abroad are childless couples, both gainfully employed. "Motormation" has promoted travel, but mostly because car owners have been able to afford both a car and a trip outside the country. Now the "little man" with a car is entering the picture. How to get him is one problem.

WHAT HAPPENED HERE — Nearly a half-century of General Motors Corporation Truck manufacturing was spanned recently when this 1915 truck rolled on the Truck & Coach division's final conditioning lines for painting. Used in various GMC exhibits, the old-timer last fall was victim of a warehouse fire in Chicago, and had to be re-built. The ancient vehicle was manufactured early in the century in a building within two miles of the present truck plant. The chain drive and hard rubber tires are still serviceable, and the truck is in good running order.

Bob Considine Says:

America Split Over Integration Problems

NEW YORK (INS) — Here's a cross-section of the response to several pieces on school segregation recently written in Little Rock and Nashville by this reporter:

"President Eisenhower could settle the whole business by simply taking a Negro student by the hand and walking him or her through the guards and into the school. — A New Yorker."

IKE CATLED BEAR

Oscar Lapirow of West Jefferson, O., writes, "Eisenhower has a bear by the tail and can't let go. The trouble-inciting, self-pitying National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the maneuving politicans, have reached an impasse, thanks to Eisenhower's packed court. If this explosive integration issue is pushed it means anachy in the South. If it isn't the NAACP is on his neck."

★ ★ ★

"It begins to appear as though the Negro can do no wrong and that the white personifies evil," writes Cosimo Alaisi, of New York. "Devote a column to the much-maligned white."

"What about the American Indians?" asks George Tick of New York. "Why don't you say something about the way that all of us have abused them?"

Alice G. Rosebrough of Memphis, referring to a statement that some of the students who blocked the Negro students from entering North Little Rock High must have been the products of anti-Negro parents and grandparents, writes:

"You have a lot to learn. Years ago when my grandmother died, my father sent a carrage for an old darkey who was as much a part of the family as the rest of us . . . My father educated the old darkey's son.

HEAD OF FAMILIES

"Today I'm practically the head of two Negro families. They won't make a move without consulting me. Yet one lives 65 miles from us. These are not the exception. They are the rule. A young college man recently employed in the detective department of Memphis told us he felt Negroes had never had a chance. Now he says, 'We're too good to them for their own development.' "

★ ★ ★

"You were too kind to Gov. Faubus . . ." Lucy Harrison, Dallas, Tex.

"For a reporter to be a special guest of our governor and accept his hospitality, appear on a nationally televised program with him, and then after leaving write a story that is a filthy, contemptible lie about our people, to us is unthinkable. Sincerely — The Board of Directors, Capital Citizens' Council, Little Rock, Ark."

★ ★ ★

A Pittsburgh reader: "I'm a white person and while I recognize the fact that a Negro's body and soul is no less inferior to a white man's, I believe the fears of intermarriage emerging from desegregation in the schools are justified . . . You just can't mix the two races indiscriminately without asking for trouble."

CARRY ON

"Thanks . . . continue," Walter M. Cabell, Charleston, W. Va.

"Why don't you get yourself a set of Rocquefort teeth to match your brains?" postcards a nameing, N.Y. "Don't you realize that less admirer who lives in Flush- the Arkansas people who are blocking those Negro students are good Americans who think like the rest of us?"

★ ★ ★

"Betty and I have been reading your columns and news articles on the national disgrace in Little Rock, and we just wanted you to know that in our opinion yours are the best that we have read or seen. Just thought you'd like to know. Sincerely, W. E. Chilton, assistant to the publisher, The Charleston Gazette, Charleston, W. Va."

A copy of a letter sent to the President, from a Chicago organization named "What America Thinks, Inc." commends him on his "courageous stand," in the integration problem. It adds, "There is no reason for any man, regardless of color, race, country where he was born, or religion, to get the idea that God created him to dominate other men."

A Little Rock correspondent: "Israel Cohen, British Communist, wrote in 1912: 'We must realize that our party's most powerful weapon is racial tension. By propounding into the consciousness of the dark races that for centuries they have been oppressed by the whites, we could mould them to the program of the Communist Party. In America we will aim for subtle victory. While inflaming the Negro minority against the whites, we will endeavor to instill in the whites a guilty complex for their exploitation of the Negroes. We will aid the Negroes to rise in prominence in every walk of life, in the professions and in the world of sports and entertainment. With this prestige, the Negro will be able to intermarry with the whites and begin a process which will deliver America to our cause.' "

Which may give you a faint idea of the complexity of the problem and the variety of reaction to it.

New Methods Seen at Medical Confab

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Discussions of new developments in medicine and surgery occupy 37 technical and scientific sessions scheduled Sept. 25-27 at the Michigan State Medical Society convention.

★ ★ ★

Grand Rapids is host to the 92nd annual MSMS gathering of physicians, surgeons and technicians from throughout the state.

Early attention will be focused on results of a Michigan public opinion survey regarding prepayment medical insurance plans. Results of the five-month survey are scheduled for presentation Monday to the MSMS House of Delegates, the society governing body.

They will be made public during the two-day delegates' meeting, which precedes the general convention.

Install Radar Units at Spanish Bases

MADRID (AP)—The first units of a radar network to protect U.S. jet bomber bases and Spanish cities have been installed near Madrid.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force announced yesterday that the units are in operation at Villalatobas, about 50 miles south of the capital.

Spain, not a NATO member, previously has been without a radar warning system. A radar warning network stretches across NATO countries from Norway to Turkey.

★ ★ ★

Queen to Star in Film

OTTAWA (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II will star in a documentary film to be released about 10 days after her mid-October visit to Canada. Its subject is the role of the crown in Canada's parliamentary system and it will use highlight shots of her at official functions including the opening of Parliament.

Ancient Israeli Spring Flowing

Archeologists Uncover Biblical Pool of Gibeon

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Aarcheologists have uncovered the biblical pool of Gibeon and the spring of ancient Israel is flowing again after 25 centuries, the University of Pennsylvania reports.

The pool was discovered 82 feet down in hard limestone. A team headed by Dr. James B. Pritchard a research associate at the museum and professor at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, Calif., made the find.

Restoration of the pool revealed one of the ancient world's remarkable engineering achievements the museum said. The discovery confirms the biblical tradition that the men of Gibeon—now called El-Job—were "drawers of water." The archeologists also uncovered a mass of evidence indicating that wine-making was a flourishing industry before Gibeon and its environs were laid waste by King Nebuchadnezzar in 587 B.C.

★ ★ ★

The Bible refers to Gibeon as the place where the sun stood still and stones rained down from the sky as Joshua routed the invading Amorites.

The ancient engineers, in attempting to reach the water table, dug a cylindrical pit 37 feet in diameter to a depth of 33 feet. Then they carved a spiral stairway against the face of the pit. At the 33-foot level a tunnel was dug until water was found at 82 feet.

Dr. Pritchard said the work was probably done with slave labor and may have taken years. The work of clearing the pit and stairway was done by 80 men working two shifts a day for six weeks, he said.

Dr. Pritchard's team included Professor Fred V. Winnett of the University of Toronto; Asia G. Halaby of Jerusalem; Linda A. Witherill of Syracuse, N.Y.; and Dr. Claus-Hunno Hunzinger of the University of Goettingen, Germany.

Charles on His Own at Prep School

Bonnie Prince to Taste Democracy

LONDON (INS) — When Prince Charles reports as a "new boy" to Cheam School tomorrow he will not only be making history but will be getting his first indoctrination in real and practical democracy.

The moment his proud mama and papa turn him over to joint headmasters Peter Beck and Mark Wheeler at the 300-year-old school in the rolling pine-covered hills at Headley, Hampshire, eight-year-old Charles will be on his own for the first time in his life.

FACES UP EARLY

No other heir to the throne in British history has ever had to face up so early to sharing the discipline of organized boarding school life, and to submitting himself to the judgment of his contemporaries.

The first thing he will learn is that while all men are created equal some are more equal than others, particularly prefects, form (class) and dormitory captains, and the boys in the "upper school." The masters and mistresses will call him "Prince Charles" but that's all his royal status will bring him.

Palace pull, even if the queen were to attempt to employ it, would cut no ice whatsoever. Charles will have to conform and the 90-odd other pupils will all call him "Charles" and see that he toes the school line.

NOT EXCLUSIVE

Cheam is not an "exclusive" school filled with students from Debrett's Peerage. Charles' schoolmates come largely from the homes of the middle and professional classes. They will all have more experience of the world than he, and they will teach him a lot.

Charles won't be able to flash more spending money than his colleagues, because the whole school is restricted to a maximum of $2.80 a term. His clothes will be identical, brought from the same authorized school outfitters. His mother may be on the throne but she won't be able to send him packages except for a birthday cake, which he will have to share with others. Charles will eat exactly the same food as the other boys.

He will have the same austere furniture as the others — a wardrobe locker, bedside cabinet and shelf room. Cheam is centrally heated but does not pride itself on modern comforts. Charles will sleep with nine other lads his age in a dormitory on a black metal barrack-room style bed. He will have to look after his things like everybody else, take his turn as the wash-basins and be satisfied with three baths a week.

LOWEST FORM

Charles will be assigned to the lowest of six forms or grades with the other nine or ten "new boys" and will be taught initially by mistresses rather than masters. He will take English, French, Latin, mathematics, history, geography, scripture and music appreciation.

There are three terms to the eight-month school year in England, with a month's break at Christmas and Easter and nearly two months in the summer. This means that from now on that Charles will spend three quarters of his time with his contemporaries.

Charles will undoubtedly learn more outside the classroom than in it. The British "prep" school not only prepares boys scholastically for public (private) school at 13, but concentrates on building character and self-reliance and turning young barbarians into "gentlemen."

Discipline at Cheam is stern but not strict. The joint headmasters have the reputation of standing for no nonsense, and Charles will have to obey the rules.

His royal seat will feel the whip of the cane for any serious misdemeanors. Charles won't have to do chores for the older boys, but he will polish his own shoes and make his own bed.

Life is not exactly tough but it is rugged. It will undoubtedly do Charles a lot of good and one day when the crown weighs heavily on his head he will probably look back and reflect that Cheam brought him some of the happiest days of his life.

* * *

And in years to come, he will be the first king in British history to be able to say: "When I was at school . . ."

Calls for Brain Checkup Before Spanking Child

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Fred M. Taylor, a Houston, Tex., child specialist, said yesterday parents should be sure unruly children don't have subtle brain injuries before they reach for the rod.

★ ★ ★

"An outstanding inability to be quiet, impulsive loudness, short attention span and striking shifts are typical behavior manefestations of the injured children," he said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

He said the injury could have been inflicted by a bad trauma in the head, premature birth, a brain infection or other ways.

Educator Wants Gifted Students to Get Backing

OMAHA (INS) — A Creighton University professor believes it is high time that American educators emancipate the gifted student.

For more than a quarter of a century, according to Dr. Edward P. J. Corbett, our educational policies have been directed by a "fantastic" philosophy that "it is harmful, if not downright disastrous, to publicize the differences in talents and achievements among students."

"How can you expect the gifted student to put forth his best efforts if he knows that all students are going to be equally rewarded?" Dr. Corbett asked.

Haiti Awaiting Election Results

One Group Threatens to Burn Port au Prince if Candidate Loses

By LARRY ALLEN

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haiti today tensely awaited the counting of ballots in yesterday's national election, hopeful that whoever becomes president can bring peace to this land of turmoil.

But even as the counting began, partisans of ex-Sen. Louis Dejoie threatened to burn down Port au Prince if he is defeated for the presidency.

Both Dejoie and his bitter political enemy Dr. Francois Duvalier claimed victory in the election of a president for the next six years.

A third candidate, Clement Jumelle, called on voters to boycott the election. He charged there was fraud.

The Ministry of Justice announced from a million to 1,300,000 of Haiti's 1,600,000 eligible voters cast ballots. This would indicate few heeded Jumelle's call.

Women were eligible to vote for the first time.

For all the violence that has plagued Haiti since last December, when the first of a succession of five governments was heaved out, the voting was peaceful.

Provisional President Antonio Kebreau said there was only one fatality. A soldier shot down a voter who attacked him in the southern town of Jacmel. Minor incidents were reported at two other points.

Kebreau, who seized power June tary junta, maintained order with 2,500 well-aimed soldiers and police.

First results are expected to be known this afternoon. No definite trend will be available before Wednesday due to long delays in reporting tabulations to Port au Prince.

British Laborite Asks Ban on Nuclear Weapons

LONDON (AP) — Britain should banish nuclear weapons and ask the U.S. Air Force to leave the country, Laborite Ian Mikardo told 4,000 persons at a "ban-the-H-bomb" demonstration yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Mikardo, a member of Parliament, told the rally in Trafalgar Square: "If we give up, as I hope we will do, the use of the H-bomb, we cannot continue to retain American H-bomb bases in this country."

★ ★ ★

Wreck Hitler's Ship

OSLO (AP)—The wreck of Hitler's pocket battleship Tirpitz finally has been broken up for scrap and removed from her Tromso (Fjord) graveyard, but she's well remembered in the pubs. Since she was capsized by British RAF bombers in 1944, people have used the name Tirpitz as a toast meaning "bottoms up."

Child, 9, Survives High-Voltage Shock

DENVER (AP)—Gretta Bohlmann, 9, got up and walked away yesterday from a 7,600-volt shock, three times that used in electric chairs.

★ ★ ★

Restaurant operator Phillip Frye said he found Gretta walking away after she suffered the jolt in a high-voltage shed at a shopping center where she brushed against a transformer.

Bird Poses Challenge

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Shortly before morning service a bluejay flew into Memorial Methodist Church here, perched on a chandelier and noisily awaited the sermon. Fearing a vocal contest between bird and minister, church members called police. Officer N. C. Dowdy knocked the bird from his perch with a .22 without damaging the chandelier.

Hollywood Headlines

Prince Mike Reveals Own Story in Movie

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The mystery of Prince Michael Romanoff, owner of the famous Romanoff Restaurant, will be revealed in a motion picture which Buddy Adler will make called "The Incredible Romanoff."

Prince Mike, whom we all know and love in Hollywood, has promised Buddy to tell his true story, which has never really been told. He denies that he was born Harry Gerguson and that he was a pants presser at one time. Another story is that he attended school at Oxford, and this he has neither confirmed nor denied.

The price paid for the Romanoff story is over $100.000, but I think it is well worth it. Mike is really an international character, and after having started with a tiny cafe financed by motion picture friends, he is now not only owner of the Romanoff Restaurant in Beverly Hills, but also one in Palm Springs and San Francisco.

DOES "SHEEP MAN"

"Any news?" I asked Shirley Mac Laine, who sat at our table with her good-looking husband, Steve Parker, at the Moulin Rouge.

She whispered in my ear that she has just signed a contract to co-star with Glenn Ford in "The Sheep Man" at MGM. "We start September 28th, and go on location in Colorado with George Marshall directing," she said.

Leaving Steve, who has been in Japan for so long, doesn't make her very happy, but she likes the story and is thrilled to be doing a western.

Marie McDonald faced her most critical audience, her home town, at the Moulin Rouge premiere. A little nervous to start, she came through with flying colors, and she looked like a dream. It was her 11th wedding anniversary and she was given a cake, flowers and kisses by Harry Karl. It was as if their marriage had never been on the rocks.

She sang song after song and introduced Jimmy Mc Hugh's new tune, "I Found Myself a Guy." Her stage poise is great, and she kids herself, which is a great thing to be able to do. Hal Bourne, formerly Tony Martin's right arm, arranged her excellent material.

ROGERS BREAK SAD

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The story back of the separation of John Rogers and his wife, Gloria, is very sad. He's the son of my old friend, the late Charles R. Rogers, and she's the daughter of the late Rufus Le Maire, another old friend. They have three children.

Pansy (Mrs. Nicholas) Schenck joined her husband here to bring cheer to Nick's brother, Joe, who has been sick. I'm glad to say our Joe is much, much better.

Apparently all is moonlight and roses again with Joan Collins and Arthur Loew Jr. They were at the Marie McDonald premiere and the night before were at the Luau.

The pretty blonde who looks like Kim Novak, escorted by Warren Cowan to the Moulin Rouge, is Kathy Carlyle, a new young actress.

Steve Allen dropped in to see Marie, who is going to be on another one of his shows. But he had to slip out and rehearse before she went on. He greeted James and Pamela Mason and made a date with Pam for another show.

Anna Maria Alberghetti whispered that she bought a new house. I had previously heard her new album "I Resist" with a stunning picture of the grown-up Anna Maria on the cover.

Sharman Douglas was with Dave Foster and Mrs. Johnny Green. Too many celebrities present for me to see all of them.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WHAT PRICE ROYALTY? — Her royal lineage isn't helping Princess Anne of Britain one bit in her efforts to make friends with this reluctant calf. The stubborn animal not only rejected the little princess's smiling attempt to charm, but resisted doggedly even after the child changed her tactics to a royal tug on the lead rope. The princess is vacationing with her family at Balmoral Castle estate in Scotland.

50th Anniversary Dedication

Boys Republic in New Campus

FARMINGTON (AP) — The Boys Republic here will dedicate its new campus and buildings next Saturday on the 50th anniversary of the founding of the institution.

The institution's new one million dollar facilities are located in a wooded, 80-acre tract on Nine Mile Road here, 19 miles northwest of Detroit.

Civic leaders and friends of boys republic will attend a golden anniversary dinner following dedication ceremonies. Sportscaster Walter (Red) Barber will be the main speaker. Guests will include Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Mayor Louis C. Miriani of Detroit, and Al Kaline, Detroit Tiger outfielder. Van Patrick, Detroit sportscaster, will be master of ceremonies.

Architect Minoru Yamasaki designed modernistic structures for the new campus. They include three residence cottages with a combined capacity of 70 boys; an administrative and clinic building with infirmary; a dining building with a canteen and separate eating rooms for each cottage; a school building; a chapel; a maintenance building and garage, and three staff residence units.

PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM

Boys Republic officials said they felt a progressive type of architecture would contribute to the institution's progressive program for treatment of juveniles.

Dr. Milton J. Huber, executive director of Boys Republic, said, "although we do not want to overemphasize the bricks-and-mortar aspects of our program, we also felt that, functionally, the design of the new buildings — with separate living and eating quarters for small goups of boys — would enable us to develop a more individualized program for each boy. This is something we have not been able to do before."

The buildings were erected wtih a grant of $513,000 from the Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund, plus $225,000 from sale of the old land and buildings and money from endowment funds.

Boys Republic is a private, nonsectarian, inter-racial, residential treatment center for delinquent boys between 13 and 15 years of age. It receives about 75 per cent of its operating funds from the United Foundation. The balance comes from court awards and from private families whose boys are referred for treatment.

Since its founding in 1907, Boys Republic has treated more than 4,000 emotionally disturbed boys.

Dr. Huber says, "when a boy comes to Boys Republic, our primary interest is not what he has done, but why he has done it. Boys Republic exists to demonstrate to boys that the community is not hostile to the individual. It symbolizes to its boys that society is interested in preventing aggressive acts, not in avenging them."

NO PUNISHMENT

The institution has no place for punishment — physical or otherwise.

"Most of these boys," says Dr. Huber, "Come from home environments where they have known little else but punishment. They are frustrated, insecure, anxious, tense, hostile, withdrawn. They mistrust and hate adult authority. They have failed in their home life and in their school life."

"We are convinced that punishing teaches the child only how to punish, that scolding teaches him only how to scold. By showing him that adults understand him, are willing to help him and cooperate with him, we feel he can learn — probably for the first time — the real meaning of understanding, cooperation and compassion.

"We realize we can't give him the love and affection he should have been able to expect from a normal family life. But we do feel we can do much to help him overcome the effects of not having that love."

★ ★ ★

Boys Republic offers vocational training in arts and crafts, auto mechanics, auto "bumping" and painting, printing, woodworking an metalworking.

2 Teachers for Program

Avondale Opens Classes in Special Education

AVONDALE — The new Special Education Program is now under way in Avondale Schools, Supt. Raymond Baker announced today.

Two special education teachers, Mrs. Thelma Lucas and Mrs. Virginia Owen, have organized classes into two groupings — primary under Mrs. Lucas, and intermediate under Mrs. Owen.

MRS. LUCAS

The classes, which already are holding regular sessions, include children needing special help. They are given individual training.

★ ★ ★

The goal of these special education classes is to teach the children to capitalize on their capacities and to minimize the limitations of the individual child.

Ultimate aim is to bring personal happiness to the youngster who, for any of a number of reasons, has found difficulty in competing in the regular classes, and to prepare the child for his greatest service to the community.

Mrs. Lucas has a B.S. degree from Wayne State University and is near completion of her M.A. work in special education. She has taught in Avondale schools for nine years.

Mrs. Owen has been with the Avondale School system for 11 years. She has a B.S. degree from Eastern Michigan College and is now completing her M.A. work in special education.

MRS. OWEN

"Both teachers are well qualified," said Supt. Baker, "and I know the special education classes will be of great help to students who need more individual instruction that the regular classes can offer."

Thursday Busy Day in Romeo

Bridge Party, Blood Bank, March to Keep Women Hopping

ROMEO — Thursday, Sept. 26, will be a busy day for most Romeo residents if they take part in all the activities planned for them on that day.

The first event, designed for women of the community, is a dessert bridge party to be held at 1:30 p.m. in the Veterans' Hall on E. Gates street. The affair, sponsored by the local branch of the National Farm and Garden Assn., is a benefit to add money to the club's war memorial fund.

Romeo is 173 pints in debt to the Macomb County Red Cross Blood Bank. Beta Sigma Phi sorority, responsible for the mobile unit's visit here, urges residents to replace that amount and, if possible, add to it.

★ ★ ★

The big event of the evening will be the March for Youth from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., to raise additional funds for the new Community Youth and Civic Center.

Previously, business firms and organizations have been the main contributors to the $100,000 center building project now nearing completion.

A goal of $1,500 has been set for the March by its chairman, Mrs. C. L. Davidson. Other projects are being planned to raise between $12,000 and $15,000 still needed to furnish the new facility.

Last Monday Stephenson presented a resolution that all supervisors committees notify all supervisors and interested parties as to when their meetings are being held and what is on their agenda.

He was bitterly opposed by one board member and termed a "publicity seeker."

"Needless to say I am gratified that the bylaws committee found merit in my resolution."

St. Fred Wins 1st Grid Game Since 1953

5 TD's by Lyon Feature 50-0 Opening Victory

Triumph Over Marine City Snaps Winless Streak at 34

By CHUCK ABAIR

Sunday was a dark and gloomy day around Pontiac but it turned out to be the brightest one in four years for followers of the St. Frederick football team.

They had something to cheer about for the 1st time since Sept. 20, 1953 and did plenty of it as the Rams ran wild from the opening whistle to blast Marine City Holy Cross 50-0 at Wisner Stadium last night.

The big triumph, highlighted by a five touchdown performance by speedy junior Jack Lyon, was hte 1st in 35 outings for the locals. Four ties had been the best the Red and Black could do since beating the same Marine City school in '53.

Happy St. Fred coach Gene Wright was almost at a loss for words as he accepted the long-awaited congratulations from fans following the rout.

"I wish they'd leave that score up there on the scoreboard. It sure looks good," said Gene staring at the final tally like a child looking at his 1st Christmas tree. His feeling was easy to understand. The Rams did not score that many points all last season.

Wright's observation "that they looked very good for the 1st game" brought mutual agreement from all within hearing distance.

The Rams scored the 2nd time they got the ball and never let up the rest of the night either offensively or defensively although Gene experimented with various combinations.

St. Frederick's impressive backfield of Lyon, Dick Kast, Gary Dirker and Tom Nesbitt ran through, over and around the visitors for a total of 374 yards on the ground and added 46 passing for a total offense of 420 yards.

Joe Sharpe, Frank Zwicker and several others in the defensive unit turned in excellent showings as they swarmed all over the Holy Cross ballcarriers. The Marine City eleven finished with a total of 38 yards gained on the ground and in the air.

Lyon, one of the fastest backs in the area, stole the show with his wide sweeps. He went over untouched on jaunts of 17, 29 and 26. The others came on an eight-yard dash and a one-yard plunge in which he fumbled but recovered it in the end zone.

Kast, Nesbitt and Tom Derocher also got into the scoring act. Kast, who excelled on the keeper play, garnered his on a quarterback sneak from the one. He also passed for one hitting Derocher with a 71-yard flip in the final minute of play. Nesbitt scored on a two-yard crack. Derocher kicked two extra points.

SPORTS

"There won't be any system," said the Detroit Lion coach after his team's third straight pre-season loss.

★ ★ ★

A goal by John Studebaker was the only score of the day as the Cranbrook soccer team defeated Champman of Canada 1-0 at the Crane field over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham has another Isbell on its football team. Big Bob graduated last June but on hand to carry on the name with the Maples this fall is sophomore Phil, his brother. Phil handles the Birmingham punting and turned in an excellent job in the opening triumph over Cranbrook. The left-footed booter averaged better than 40 yards a kick on three tries. One of them stopped at the Crane one.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Walter Cudnohufsky, Lake Orion's most experienced tackle, missed his team's opening triumph Friday. He was in Boston on a 4-H Club trip.

★ ★ ★

The crowd reaction as Layne quarterbacked the Lions was mixed, but the cheers outnumbered the jeers. There was a chorus of "bye bye Bobby" from the northeast stands late in the second period but the cheers quickly drowned it out.

New Era Hailed as Titans Win

UD Beats Marquette Easily With Winged-T System, 14-0

DETROIT (AP) — The heralded new era in the football fortunes of the University of Detroit Titans apparently is under way.

★ ★ ★

With the first platoon of players from the Gus Dorais Memorial Scholarship Foundation in action, the Titans beat Marquette 14-0 Saturday with an impressive winged-T running display.

"Things sure are a lot different than last year," said Coach Wally Fromhart, "There's plenty of contention for jobs this years, and the fight will make Detroit into a much better football team."

Maher, a member of the University of Detroit High's city championship team of four years ago, counted Detroit's first touchdown on a four-yard slant off left tackle late in the second quarter. The run climaxed a 31-yard Detroit drive.

★ ★ ★

Korpak, a halfback from Algonac, was all alone in the Marquette end zone when second string quarterback Lou Faoro hit him with a nine-yard pass late in the third quarter.

Two U. of D. touchdowns were nullified by penalties.

TOUCHDOWN HAPPY — Junior fullback Jack Lyon opened the season with a scoring spree of five touchdowns as St. Frederick snapped a winless skein of 34 games by blasting Marine City Holy Cross 50-0 here last night. It was the 1st Ram triumph since 1953.

Smallest Detroit Lion Wins Hearts of Fans

DETROIT—A rain-soaked crowd of 30,159 saved the loudest cheers for the smallest player on the field, little Marvin Brown, 149-pound halfback of the Detroit Lions from East Texas State.

While the Giants were lambasting the Lions' aerial attack, the scrappy 25-year-old speedster gave the New Yorkers a few fearful moments and the crowd loved it.

Just after the kickoff following New York's first touchdown, Brown whizzed through a host of big Giants and raced down the sidelines and then into the middle 72 yards as the first quarter ended.

To start the second half, Brown again took the kickoff and shook a couple Giants as he returned 28 yards.

In the final quarter Brown went into the halfback position and carried four times for 26 yards before a pile-up of Giants forced him out of the game with the wind knocked out of him.

It was figured that the four Giants who hit him on the play had a combined weight of nearly 1,000 pounds, headed by 260-pound Dick Modzelewski, 235-pound Sam Huff, 235-pound Walt Yaworsky and 230-pound Jim Katcavage.

The Lions have to cut three players by midnight Tuesday. Earlier in the season Coach George Wilson, impressed with Brown's running, said the little Texan would probably stay to the end, but many expected he would be cut.

★ ★ ★

In every game he has shown tremendous speed, and after yesterday there are many who are now wondering if Brown will stay on the roster.

Vaunted Detroit Passing Attack Gains 28 Yards

New York Line Smears Aerial Game in Final Exhibition Game

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — Everything went in reverse yesterday afternoon at Briggs Stadium where the World Champion New York Giants defeated the Detroit Lions, 17-0, to end the exhibition season.

The Giants, who were supposed to be strictly a ground team, scored two touchdowns as result of aerials, one on a 43-yard interception by Jim Patton and the other on a 34-yard pass play from Charlie Conerly to Frank Gifford in the second period.

The Lions on the other hand saw their vaunted aerial attack smeared by a hard charging Giant line. Bobby Layne and Tobin Rote netted only 28 yards passing while the runners got 114 on the ground.

The net passing yardage in one game was the smallest total by the Lions for many seasons. Ironically, it came in a season when they are figured to have the best two quarterbacks together on one team in history of the club.

The Giants moved from their own 20 to the Lions 20 late in the first quarter and when the drive halted Detroit took over.

Gene Gedman then raced through a hole and picked up 19 yard to the 39, but Layne's pass on the next play was grabbed by Patton on the 43 and he raced down the sidelines all alone for the touchdown. Don Chandler converted and it was 7-0 after one period.

With only two minutes remaining in half, the Giants started their second drive from their own 18. Conerly hit Kyle Rote and Mel Triplett with successive passes of 13 and 26 yards.

After a running play, Conerly faked the entire Detroit team by running toward the line, then straightening up and tossing a long pass to Gifford for the tally.

There was no one within at least 30 yards of Gifford who stood along the sidelines all by himself. Chandler made it 14-0 and the half ended after two Detroit plays.

In the third period, Hopalong Cassady gave the Lions some ground yardage, but again when the Lions attempted to go through the air the huge New York line headed by Dick Modzelewski, Jim Kateavage, Walt Yowarsky and Bill Svoboda trampled Layne and Rote in the backfield.

New York added the field goal after six minutes of the 4th quarter with Chandler kicking from 12 yards out.

Two Detroit attempts for field goals, a 40-yarder by Jim Martin in the first quarter and a 28-yard attempt by Layne in the second period both failed.

EX-SPARTAN HIT — Former Michigan State gridder Dennis Mendyk, is stopped by the Detroit Lions after a gain of four yards for the New York Giants yesterday. Carl Karilivacz (21) and Gerry Perry (79) make the tackle. The Giants won, 17-0.

Yanks Trim Bosox, 5-1; Clinch Tie for Pennant

NEW YORK (INS)—The inevitable New York Yankees clinched a tie for the American League pennant Sunday when they beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 1, with the aid of Sal Maglie's perfect one-pitch relief job.

The next time the Yankees win or the Chicago White Sox lose, it will sew up the flag for the Bombers. When it comes, it will be the third consecutive pennant for the Yanks, their eighth in the last nine years and their 23rd overall.

The Yankees were overwhelming pre-season favorites to cop the flag and the only real opposition they received all year was from the outmanned Chicago White Sox, who bounced back innumerable times to keep the race alive when it seemed the New Yorkers were about to sew things up.

In winning Sunday, the Yanks managed only five hits—the same as the Red Sox—but had the benefit of wildness on the part of Dave Sisler and George Susce, who walked home four Yankee runs in the sixth inning.

Ted Williams was the entire Red Sox offense. After walking in the first inning, the Splendid Splinter bashed his 37th homer in the fourth inning for the only Red Sox tally.

It was his fourth homer in his last four official at bats.

Tom Sturdivant, who started and won for the Yanks, walked with two out in the fifth and took third on a single by Hank Bauer, the first hit off Sisler. Gil McDougald followed with another single to tie the score.

Williams finished his day's chores with a .383 batting average, which virtually assures him of the batting championship. Mantle went hitless in three trips to the plate and his mark dipped to .365.

The White Sox kept their faint hope alive yesterday by stopping the Cleveland Indians 9-5.

The Sox presented Billy Pierce with his 20th victory, but the little left-hander slipped in the back door. He was behind 3-2 when he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth. The Sox went on to score four runs in that inning, so Pierce got credit for the game.

Lou Little Calls 'em

The most discerning remark I heard leaving Pittsburgh on Saturday evening was that Bud Wilkinson gets a break that none of his opposing coaches ever gets. "He doesn't have to play Oklahoma."

Without going into detail as to how the game was played, as the Sooners won their 41st straight in a remarkable victory drive—one which may not end this season—let me tell you something of the way in which they impressed me.

Oklahoma plays present-day football, under the restricted substitution rulings of the college code, as it should be played and as every coach would like to play it.

Using two offensive units of almost equal strength, Oklahoma was able to put tremendous pressure on the Pitt team; and the defensive pressure on the Panthers was no less severe when Pitt had the ball. With constantly varying defensive alignments stemming principally from a basic six-man line, the Sooners were able to harass without let-up a Pitt team that was well coached and that has not been over-rated, according to Eastern standards.

Shooting a backer-up through various and always unexpected spots in the Pitt offensive line, the Sooners made it difficult indeed for even such capable backs as Kaliden and his mates to operate consistently.

Since the elimination of the free substitution ruling, a basic objective of the college coaches has been the development of the two-unit plan which enables you to keep the pressure on with relatively fresh troops. This, of course assumes you have the personnel.

I've never seen it done better than by Oklahoma against Pitt. This is a squad of capable football players, well organized, coached with care that covers every detail. This was obvious from the moment the team came on the field.

It is more apparent to me than ever that the successful teams of the year will be those with two good units of comparable strength that will apply this kind of pressure, thus exercising control of the ball. The schools that don't have the kind of personnel for two such units, and that play teams that do have, will encounter real trouble.

Bats Silenced by Trucks and Garver

Tigers Lose Pair to Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Detroit Tigers spent a dismal Sunday before the bats of the Kansas City sluggers and the two-hit pitching of former Tiger Ned Garver in going down to defeat in both ends of a doubleheader.

A 4-3 victory in the first game and a 2-1 triumph in the second gave Kansas City a sweep of the three-game series and a 12-7 season's record against the Tigers. It was Detroit's first twin-bill defeat of the season.

Garver defeated Duke Maas in the second game when he walked only three batters and struck out three in picking up his sixth victory in 19 games. Maas gave up five hits in seven innings to bring his record to 11-13.

Singles by Garver, Vic Power and Gus Zernial gave the Athletics their first run in the second game. Four innings later, in the seventh, Kansas City scored its second after Bob Martyn beat out a bunt, moved to second base on a sacrifice and scored on a double by Tim Thompson.

The Tigers came up with their only run in the third innings when Frank House walked, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Bill Tuttle's single.

Then Joe Demaestri stepped up to bat and walloped a home run. Zernial then walked and Woody Held made a sacrifice bunt. Zernial later scored after taking third when Tiger pitcher Paul Foytack tried for an out at second and threw the ball into the outfield.

★ ★ ★

Harry Byrd was charged with the loss. He relieved Lou Sleator who had taken over for Foytack after he was knocked out of the box by Kansas City's eighth-inning barrage.

No More Action for Herb Score in 1957 Season

CLEVELAND (INS) — Herb Score, shelved when he was hit in the eye by a line drive from the bat of New York Yankee Gil McDougald on May 7, will not return to active duty this season.

★ ★ ★

Tribe officials and Score had hoped that the fireballing left-hander, American League strikeout leader the past two seasons, would get at least one starting chance before the end of the campaign to prove that the injury had not destroyed his effectiveness.

★ ★ ★

But Tribe physician Dr. Don Kelly and eye specialist Dr. Charles Thomas said nothing doing and Score, a 20-game winner last season, must wait until next spring to determine whether the untimely injury will have a lasting effect on him.

Is It Giants vs. Packers?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If anyone cares to make post-season predictions on the basis of pre-season exhibitions then the National Football League championships in December will have the defending champion New York Giants facing the Green Bay Packers.

The league officially opens its 1957 season next Sunday, and if exhibition games mean anything Green Bay will be a definite threat in the Western Division. The Packers concluded their pre-season warmups Saturday with a 5-0-1 record. Green Bay had to battle back in the last two minutes to tie the Pittsburgh Steelers 10-10 in the final tuneup. The Chicago Cardinals, runner-up in the Eastern Division last year, salvaged its lone exhibition victory with a 28-21 decision over the Baltimore Colts.

A touchdown pass from Bart Starr to Joe Johnson climaxed Green Bay's 61-yard march for the tie. Pittsburgh, which lost the services of backs Dale Atkeson, recently acquired from the Washington Redskins, Sid Watson and end Jim Freeman with injuries, All will be out for an indefinite period.

Dick Lane tallied twice on 72 and 52-yard pass interceptions, the second with 30 seconds remaining to lead the Cardinals attack.

New York at Cleveland

Benedictine Scoring

By BILL CORNWELL

St. Michael overcame a combination of jitters and sputters Sunday afternoon to win its opening football game of the 1957 season.

Stalled repeatedly by fumbles and penalties, the Shamrocks welded themselves into a unit long enough to score two touchdowns in the 4th quarter for a 13-6 victory over Benedictine of Detroit.

Showing opening day jitters, their offensive timing was so ill-timed that they suffered 60 yards in penalties for offside and illegal procedure infractions. In addition they lost the ball six times on fumbles.

Almost all of the 1st half was spent in Benedictine territory, yet the Mikes' attack sputtered and went out when scoring opportunities presented themselves.

It was the recovery of a St. Mike fumble that set up Benedictine's lone touchdown. Taking possession on the Shamrock 40, the Ravens hit pay-dirt in 13 plays with quarterback Vince Rotole sneaking the final yard.

A 12-yard pass from Rotole to end Mike Boland, moving the ball to the Shamrock four, was the key play in the TD drive. Jerry Ohngren broke through to block Dick Arsineau's try for the extra point.

St. Mike finally got synchronized early in the last quarter. Following a Raven punt, the Mikes rolled 42 yards in six plays with Fox scampering the final six yards around left end. Don Quinn blocked Ohngren's placekick and the score was 6-6.

After three straight five-yard penalties pushed the Mikes back to the Detroiters' 35, Fox picked up two yards through the middle, then swept around left end for a 33-yard gallop and victory. Bob Mineweaser's pass to Ron Call on a fake kick tallied the extra point.

Even then the northsiders had to give Benedictine another scoring chance by fumbling away the pigskin on their own 28 with less than two minutes to play.

CLOSING IN — Two Detroit Benedictine players move in on St. Michael halfback Chuck Steinhelper (26) in yesterday's football game at Wisner Stadium. One Detroiter has Steinhelper by the shirt and a teammate is coming up to make the stop secure. St. Mike came from behind to win the 1957 season opener, 13-6.

The 30-year-old welterweight king from Chittenango, N. Y., is a 5-7 choice to dethrone the 36 or 37-year-old Sugar Ray in a fight scheduled for 15 rounds at Yankee Stadium. The betting is 1 to 3 the fight won't go the limit.

This is based on Basilio's aggressive, bodypunching style and Robinson's vaunted sharp-shooting ability and preference for an opponent who comes to him. And the heavier walloping Robinson will have a weight edge of about eight pounds, 159 to 151, and a decided advantage in height (5-11 to 5-7½) and reach (72½ to 67).

Favoring Basilio is the Harlem dandy's age (Robinson says 36, the record book has it 37), and the question of whether he will be able to unload his bombs against a swarming opponent who will be tossing sticks of dynamite himself. Sugar Ray always has had trouble with foes who crowd him, especially those who can take a punch like Basilio. The ring-scarred Basilio never has been stopped in 70 fights and dropped only once, that early in his career.

Once again, the general feeling is that Sugar Ray will have to nail his iron-chinned foe within six rounds to win.

The two champs will share in a million dollar-plus gate with the theater-TV, radio and movies included. Robinson, on his 45 per cent of everything, and a $255,000 theater-TV guarantee, stands to collect about $500,000. Basilio, getting 20 per cent and a $110,000 guarantee for TV, should earn about $225,000.

Basilio, a pro since 1948, predicted he would win and duplicate Robinson's unprecedented feat of winning the middleweight title while holding the welterweight crown. Robinson, as usual, made no prediction.

A pro since 1940, Robinson has compiled an outstanding 140-5-2 record including 91 knockouts. Basilio has a 51-12-7 record including 25 knockouts.

Scoring will be by rounds with a supplementary point system also used to help break draws. The winner of each round gets from one to four points, the loser none. The referee and two judges will be named at fight time.

Dales Win 26th; Chips Trounced, 33-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hillsdale football coach Frank (Muddy) Waters was the only unimpressed spectator when his Dales kicked of their 1957 football season with a 42-7 victory over befuddled Lakeland of Wisconsin in a driving rain Saturday night.

"The team didn't look too sharp and it'll have to sharpen up considerably before we meet Central Michigan next week," said Waters after his club scored its 26th victory in a row and began the quest for its third straight MIAA title.

Possibly Waters' toughest game of the season will be next Saturday when the Dales meet Central Michigan, a team Waters figures is bound to pull out a victory soon.

Besides the steady quarterbacking of Doug Maison of Imlay City who passed 28 yards for one score, Jerry Gillespie returned a kickoff 80 yards to score and powerful fullback Wayne O'Shaughnessy from West Bloomfield turned in running performances that helped the Dales roll up 266 yards on the ground.

★ ★ ★

Things weren't that way at all at Mount Pleasant where little Lovell Coleman, a sophomore from Hamtramck, raced for three touchdowns and led Western Michigan to a 33-0 victory over winless Central Michigan.

The 5-foot-8 Coleman returned an intercepted pass 85 yards and ran 49 and 33 yards for two other TD's.

Playing at home, Hope took its first victory in its last six games with Eastern Michigan, 19-6, after a plunge by Jack Faver ended a 55-yard drive in the fourth quarter to break a 6-6 tie. An insurance tally was scored when Duane Voskuil bulled over from the five with less than five minutes to go.

Adrian's Fred Hobart, a flashy quarterback from Coldwater, scored on a plunge and passed for 15 and 25 yards for two more scores as Adrian won its opener with ease, 26-0, against Defiance of Ohio.

Olivet, playing at Great Lakes, by Wabash's Bill Gabbert, the In- 28-13, despite good passing for both its touchdowns.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

First thing to check in getting ready for another bowling season is your equipment. If you're bowling in a league, I'd recommend owning your own bowling ball and shoes. Otherwise, you'll be using a different ball and shoes each week; getting good scores that way is pretty difficult.

Pay particular attention to the thumb and finger holes in your ball as well as to the soles and heels of your shoes as we illustrate today. Your thumb or fingers may not fit properly into the ball, so the holes may have to be made larger. Maybe your hand has stretched since the ball was first drilled and the span between the thumb and finger holes is too narrow. Either a new ball or larger holes can be the answer.

Remember, the time to get your equipment in good shape is now. Don't wait until your average has nose-dived before you do something about a poor fitting ball or shoes.

Prize Money Now at $300 in Pot-O-Gold

Another new puzzle adds another $100 to the Pot-O-Gold coffers, bringing it back to the $300 mark. If no one has found the answers to last week's puzzle, a perfect solution for this puzzle will empty the pot. Read all rules and clues carefully.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Orders Steady Wheat Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures held about steady in a light mixed trade on the Board of Trade today.

Business was slow in the bread grain, with very little commercial demand in early dealings. Prices eased at the opening but later steadied as resting orders absorbed offerings.

Soybeans were off more than a cent a bushel at times, influenced by the largest weekend arrivals of cash beans at Chicago terminals in some time. Receipts included 12,000 bushels by truck, 62,000 by barge and 145 rail cars.

Some speculative buying of wheat was reported, based on the fact the December future was down nine cents a bushel compared with two weeks ago.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, Dec. $2.17½, corn was unchanged to ⅝ higher, Dec. $1.22⅝; oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, Dec. 68¼; rye was unchanged to ¾ higher, Dec. $1.21½; soybeans were ½ to 1 cent lower, Nov. $2.31¾; and lard was 20 cents lower to 2 cents higher a hundred pounds, Oct. $11.80.

May Revise County Budget

Ways, Means Group to Request Supervisors to Transfer Funds

Oakland County Supervisors will be asked to approve tomorrow a slightly revised version of the 1958 recommended budget.

The Ways and Means Committee will recommend that $50,000 earmarked for local county roads be placed instead in contingency until actual plans for its expenditure have been drawn up.

The committee also will recommend that an appropriation of $2,500 to the Michigan Institute of Local Government be deleted and the funds placed in contingency.

This shuffling of funds will not affect the budgetary total, $10,732,014, on which supervisors are scheduled to act.

Included in the budget are $4,592,472 in salaries being recommended this year by the Salaries Committee, plus an additional request for $380,184 for the salaries reserve fund.

The board also is expected to take action on a resolution that advance notice of committee meetings be made from now on to supervisors and all interested persons.

A public hearing is scheduled on the proposed annexation to Holly Village of about 200 acres in Holly and Rose Townships. The proposal had been turned down at an early hearing because a number of affected residents opposed it.

Car Passes on Right, Two Persons Injured

Two persons were injured in an accident Saturday at 9 p.m., caused when one car passed another on the right side.

John A. Body, 34, of Detroit, passed the car of Milton O. Amann, 61, of Toledo, on Telegraph near Voorheis road, police said.

Amann swung right and hit the passing car, then bounced into a utility pole. Injured were Amann and his wife, Beulah Amann, 46.

Oops! an Error; Here's the Lowdown

In Saturday's Pontiac Press, an accident story incorrectly listed the drivers. The story should have read that a car driven by Albert Kuerbitz, 25, of 69 Fairgrove Ave., ran into the car of Bruce Blodgett, 21, of Clarkston.

The accident occured at 10:50 p.m., Friday at Baldwin and Kennett Rds.

One Navy Airman Killed, Two Injured

Search Plane Crashes

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—One crewman was killed and two others injured yesterday when a Navy twin-engine patrol bomber, searching for a downed jet plane, crashed near the top of 9,977-foot Mt. Desatoya in central Nevada.

★ ★ ★

The P2V bomber with nine men aboard was looking for Lt. Richard Lee Clement of Atlanta, Ga., who vanished Thursday in the same area in an F2H Banshee jet fighter.

The Navy said the bomber pilot thought he saw a cloth on a bush near U. S. Highway 50—perhaps a parachute—and dropped low to leave a flare so 70 other planes could locate the spot. He pulled over the nearest ridge only to be confronted wtih a still higher crest.

The Navy said he made a skid-crash landing just short of the brink of a 300-foot cliff. The eight survivors climbed out and discovered one man missing. They were dashing back to the crumpled plane when it exploded and burned.

★ ★ ★

Losses Strike at Key Stocks

★ ★ ★

There was nothing in the weekend news to change the mood of last week when the market dropped sharply. News of layoffs, furloughs in heavy industry and continued concern over the money situation dampened confidence.

The drop affected most major divisions. Caterpillar fell more than two points, Goodyear and Goodrich around two, Douglas Aircraft more than a point.

Leading steels and motors were down fractionally, with U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler and General Motors among the losers.

Opening blocks included: Standard Oil (New Jersey) off ⅜ at 60 on 4,000 shares; American Cyanamid off ⅞ at 40⅛ on 2,000; and U.S. Steel off ½ at 61 on 3,000.

New Use for Corncobs

CHICAGO — An old use for corncobs, but with a new touch, has been developed by a Midwestern firm into a kit for starting furnace, charcoal, or picnic fires. The cobs, impregnated with animal grease and vegetable oils, come in a plastic bag. They're said to be safer to use than kerosene.

Wild Mob Goes Berserk as Negroes Enter School

★ ★ ★

It was only a dozen yards or so in front of the phone booth. I couldn't see whether the officer had a gun in the man's stomach, but he stopped running, abruptly and went back.

TWO ARRESTED

Two men were arrested.

The weeping and screaming went on among the women.

★ ★ ★

An officer gritted, "You're not going anywhere."

AMBULANCES ON HAND

Two ambulances rolled up. Nobody was in them.

Suddenly, another roar — and cheering and clapping — came from the crowd. A white pupil, carrying his books, came down the front steps.

He was followed by two girls. In the next few minutes, other students came out. Between 15 and 20 left the school within the next half hour.

★ ★ ★

"Come on out," they yelled. "Don't stay in there with the niggers. Go back and tell all of them to come out."

IN OFFICE

Inside, it was reported, the eight Negro pupils were in the office of the principal.

"There's not much education going on inside there now," one of the boys who came out told reporters.

A moment later, two policemen raced into the building. When they came out, they were holding a girl by both arms, rushing her forcibly toward a police prisoner's wagon.

★ ★ ★

For an instant, it looked as though the crowd would try to break the police lines again to rescue her.

PUT IN CAR

But they put her in the car and drove swiftly down the street, past the barricade at the south end.

Screams, catcalls and more yelling broke as the car, whipping dangerously close to the people and the barricades, raced down the street.

★ ★ ★

But the car was gone.

Soon afterward, four white pupils ran down the steps of the school and across the street. Policemen were chasing them.

One of the boys said they had caught a Negro boy outside the principal's office.

GET OUTA THERE

"We walked him half the length of the building and we were going to get him outa there," they said.

★ ★ ★

On the streets, at both ends of the school, clusters of troopers police.

HURL INSULTS

"How you going to feel tonight when you face your neighbors," a man shouted.

★ ★ ★

MORE

Then the crowd, lacking any other object, turned on the newspapermen and photographers.

A boy jumped up, caught the telephone wire leading from one of the three booths to the main wire, and swung on it, trying to break it. The booth swayed and nearly toppled. A reporter was in it, or it probably would have come crashing down.

★ ★ ★

"Let's do it right now," another replied.

ONLY WORDS

But it was only words.

The same woman who had burst into tears first, buttonholed a reporter and said, "Why don't you tell the truth about us? Why don't you tell them we're peaceful people who won't stand to have our kids sitting next to niggers?"

People in the crowd reported, gleefully—and shouted it at the other officers—that one policeman had torn off his badge and thrown it on the ground.

★ ★ ★

ATTACKED NEGRO

Filtering into a crowd came a man who described himself as a "Yankee Jew." He said police beat him when he attacked a Negro student at the other end of the block. So far as is known, there were no Negroes there.

The man refused to identify himself.

Three white girls were turned back when they tried to enter the school building. They said they were going back in to rally the other pupils to leave.

★ ★ ★

Sporadic tussles broke out, from time to time, when men tried to pass the police and trooper lines. The police wrestled one man to the street, and then hauled him into the squad car and drove off.

SOME CIRCULATE

Inside, there was no sign that this was different from any other school day.

Students who came out at the 10:30 recess said that, in one class of 30 students, only one stayed in the classroom when a Negro entered.

REPORT ON CONDITIONS

Virgil Blossom, superintendent of schools, said he would give a report on conditions later today.

Lieut. Gov. Nathan Gordon, in the governor's office while Gov. Orval Faubus is in Sea Island, Ga., denied a report he has alerted the National Guard.

★ ★ ★

"I have to wait for an official request from the city authorities," he said, "and I've had none so far."

education building at least until Wednesday night.

"In most places there aren't any sidewalks or even shoulders to walk along. It's unsafe for our children to walk to school," Blair said.

Higher Prices on '58 Cars Challenge to Salesmen

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — The higer price tags that will go on 1958 model automobiles undoubtedly will create some sales resistance. Whether it can be broken down obviously is giving the car makers something to think about as they approach the new model year.

★ ★ ★

Ever since the auto industry caught up with its unfilled demand following World War II the car dealers have been competing in price concessions. New car buyers have become price-conscious largely because they know they can bargain with the car retailers.

WANTS TO BUY

If this sounds somewhat paradoxical it can be explained on the ground that the average car buyer always wants to but into a higher price class. Usually he gets there by stretching his budget slightly and driving the best possible bargain with the car retailer handling the slightly higher priced car.

★ ★ ★

Recent trade surveys indicate most car dealers expect to sell a lot of new cars during the remainder of the year. They are counting on a large volume of 1958 models in that expectation. But many of them are anything but optimistic about the profit possibilities for the remainder of the 1957 model period and the early part of the new model year.

No car maker yet has hinted at how much 1958 model car prices will be advanced. Generally the answer to all questions along that line is that "our prices will be competitive."

SLIGHT VARIATION

A slight variation came from Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of Ford Motor Co. He said, "There is no doubt there will be some price increases," but added the prices will be kept "as low as possible in the public interest," keeping in mind the financial stability of the company.

New car sales may be a little below the industry's hopes so far this year, but they have averaged approximately half a million units a month. The chances are good they will maintain that average through the calendar year.

Regardless of how that volume is analyzed it represents a healthy demand for new automobiles. But it has been attained through considerable price trimming or high tradein allowance on used cars.

★ ★ ★

Obviously forthcoming price advances are partly responsible for the sustained demand for outgoing model cars. This is the time of the model period when retailers generally capitalize on impending price advances.

Fall Boom on Cars Reported by Dealers

DETROIT (AP) — A "fall boom" of modest proportions apparently is replacing the traditional "spring boom" in automotive sales, according to Automotive News.

★ ★ ★

The trade paper said today that sales have been holding particularly strong so far in this cleanup period, preceding the introduction of new model cars.

Dealers, the paper said, are showing no worry over new car inventories which are heavier than they ever have been at this season.

★ ★ ★

The "fall boom," it adds, is characterized in some marketing areas by modest gains; in others by a steady pace rather than the seasonal decline experienced heretofore.

Five Persons Injured in Highway Collision

Five persons were treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital Sunday evening and released after being involved in a two-car collision on M24 at Oakwood Rd., in Oxford Township, according to State Police at the Pontiac post.

★ ★ ★

Police said the Guest car had stopped to make a left turn when hit from the rear by a car driven by Vernon M. Spencer, 34, of 160 Parkview St., Lake Orion.

Hawaii Kai Wins President's Cup

Big Triumph Gives Seattle Hydroplane Season Point Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hawaii Kai III has added the President's Cup to her booty and bolted ahead of all rivals in the season's point competition among big hydroplanes.

★ ★ ★

With little Jack Regas in the cockpit, the Kai ripped off three straight heat triumphs during the weekend and captured the 1957 Cup championship in a romp.

The 30-foot Seattle boat, sporting a tropical rose and coral mist hull, also streaked over the bumpy Potomac River to a first and second in later heats for a victory in the American Speedboat Championship Series.

Kai, operated by the crew of the old Slo-Mo-Shun boats, averaged a cup record 105.799 miles per hour for the 45-mile race, divided into three 15-mile heats. On Saturday she whipped to lap and heat marks of 109.979 and 107.827.

Regas, a daring 140-pounder, also gunned the three-ton Kai to a 105.509 m.p.h. American series lap record yesterday.

ADD TO 5 HED — HAWAII KAI

Shanty gained enough points in Saturday's elimination heats to wind up fourth in the cup standings. Thriftway too, driven by test pilot Brien Wygle of Seattle, was second and sister ship Miss Thriftway, driven by Bill Muncey, was third.

Breathless II, a Lake Tahoe craft handled by Jay Murphy, was fifth. Wildroot Charlie of Buffalo, manned by Bob Schroeder, came in sixth and Gale VI, piloted by Lee Schoenith of Detroit, was seventh.

Call for Olympic Changes

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—The International Olympic Committee buckles down to work today in search of a way to save the world's biggest amateur sports show from death by over-expansion.

Some 8,000 athletes and officials are expected in Rome for the 1960 games. New nations are coming into the Olympic movement and those already in are expanding their sports program. The financial burden of organizing such a massive program including 18 different sports has gone beyond the means of many aspirant cities.

Brundage has refused to say what changes he favors. The executive board of the IOC met yesterday but kept its customary secrecy about decisions.

However, one proposal has been made to the committee that all team sports should be dropped. This would affect soccer, basketball, parts of the gymnastic program and water polo.

Oklahoma and Navy Romp in Openers

Mighty Oklahoma is idle.

While Bud Wilkinson's speedy Sooners take a Saturday off, Michigan State, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa and Tennessee are geared to start gunning for the national championship won by Oklahoma the last two years and predicted again in the Associated Press preseason poll.

Oklahoma, whose next opponent is Iowa State on Oct. 5, smacked down Pittsburgh 26-0 last Saturday for its 41st straight victory since 1953. Pitt, eighth in the early pickings and considered the top team in the east, was no match for the Sooners.

Iowa's defending Big Ten champions and Michigan should have it the easiest in trying to match Oklahoma's impressive debut. The Hawkeyes meet Utah State, and the Wolverines face Southern California, already soundly whipped by Pacific Coast king Oregon State, 20-0.

But Minnesota runs up against a tough Washington outfit that tied Colorado's Orange Bowl winner 6-6. Michigan State opens with conference rival Indiana, and Tennessee must handle Auburn, a Southeastern Conference comer. The two Michigan elevens and Minnesota are rated the best bets to pluck Iowa's crown, and all four, along with Tennessee, were ranked among the nation's top ten teams.

Overshadowed by the Oklahoma power splurge were strong showings by Georgia Tech, 13-0 over Kentucky; Houston, 7-0 over always-rough Miami (Fla.), and Navy, 46-6 over Boston College.

Southern Methodist won a surprise 13-6 victory over California, Baylor, the Southwest Conference's second choice, was pushed to the limit, by Villanova before winning, 7-0 and William and Mary lost to George Washington, 7-0.

Scores of other big games: Washington State 34, Nebraska 12; Sanford 46, San Jose State 7; Wyoming 12, Kansas State 7; Cincinnati 13, Dayton 13; Detroit 14, Marquette 0; Missouri 7, Vanderbilt 7; Kansas 13, Texas Christian 13; Arizona State at Tempe 28, Wichita 0.

Every major college in the country, except Harvard, will have a score in the books by next Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Yes, Notre Dame, too. We didn't forget the Irish, but they will have to show strong against Purdue Saturday and improve a lot over last season if they expect to swipe some of that Sooner glory when the two meet Nov. 16.

Win Over Cardinals Today Means Pennant for Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The desperate St. Louis Cardinals prepared to clash with the league-leading Milwaukee Braves in the first of a three-game do-or-die series tonight, knowing that one slip could mean the end of the pennant dream.

The Braves, leading St. Louis by five games with only six remaining to play, can clinch their first National League championship with a victory tonight.

Burdette 16-9, will be opposed by Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell, the erratic left-hander, transformed from the biggest disappointment to the hottest hurler on the Cardinals. Although he has an 8-10 record, he has won seven of his last 10 decisions.

★ ★ ★

Except for Haney, the Braves are convinced they have the flag in the bag.

"There's no doubt in my mind now," said Warren Spahn after yesterday's 9-7 triumph over Chicago, the Braves' sixth victory in succession. "We're in. The Cards are dead. One more big one .. .. .. and it's all over."

Yesterday's victory over the Cubs, after trailing 4-0 and 7-4, acted like a tonic to the players. It sort of opened up a valve, letting loose all their pent up emotions and restraint which they had kept bottled up ever since they moved into first place in early August.

★ ★ ★

The Cards stayed in contention yesterday by halting Cincinnati, 7-5. Among the also-rans, Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, 7-3, and Pittsburgh vanquished the New York Giants, 5-1.

Plays Dashing Bret Maverick

ABC-Warners Show Joins in the Battle for Sunday Ratings

BURBANK, Calif — A bold, adventurous Westerner with a winning personality is the American Broadcasting Company's trump card in the high stakes bidding for the new television season's Sunday night ratings.

He is James Garner, 6 foot 3 Oklahoma-born star who enacts the title role in Warner Brothers' new hour-long TV series, "Maverick," telecast from 6:30-7:30 p.m.

As Maverick, Garner brings a dashing, romantic character to televiewers, portraying a carefree, adventurous roamer of the Old West who plays for high stakes in the perilous game of life and death, violence and romance.

Garner was elevated to motion picture stardom after Warner Brothers' executives recently viewed his performance in "Sayonara," in which he plays a Marine captain and friend of Marlon Brando.

★ ★ ★

A seeker of the vigorous life, he began his adventures at the age of 16, by roaming from Norman, Okla., to the Gulf Coast and signing up with the Merchant Marine.

ATHLETIC STAR

He returned to finish his schooling and became a track and football star. Then the Korean War came along and he found himself in some of the bitterest fighting. He emerged with two Purple Hearts.

★ ★ ★

Career-wise, he got his first job in acting as one of the six judges in the road company of "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial," making 512 appearances in New York and on tour. While in New York he took drama lessons and groomed himself to tackle Hollywood.

Warner Brothers gave him a screen test after he appeared in a "Cheyenne" TV Western. His movies include "Toward the Unknown," "The Girl He Left Behind," "Shoot-Out at Medicine Bend" and "Sayonara."

In his most important film assignment to date, "Darby's Rangers," he portrays the intrepid leader of the specially trained assault troops who spearheaded the invasions of North Africa, Sicily and Italy in World War II.

BOLD ADVENTURER — James Garner has joined the ranks of TV's Western stars as Bret Maverick in ABC's new "Maverick" series produced by Warner Brothers. In the show telecast Sundays from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. Maverick, a frontier wanderer of the late 19th Century, fights injustice wherever he finds it.

Captain Turned Traitor Has Big Gambling Debts

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y. (AP)—George A. French, Air Force captain sentenced to life imprisonment for trying to sell secret information to the Soviet Union, owed thousands of dollars in gambling debts, according to his wife and an Air Force spokesman.

Mrs. Dorothy G. French, who married the airman in 1941, said yesterday: "George was a gambler, not the racetrack type, but a devoted poker player. He loved the game. I never knew the extent of his poker playing until a month ago, when a mutual friend told me I'd better have a talk with him.

★ ★ ★

In Washington, an Air Force spokesman said French had contracted a string of loans in connection with the gambling debts.

French's court-martial and life sentence were disclosed last Saturday with an announcement that he had asked the Russians to buy atomic secrets.

The Air Force said French had been tried in secret at Barksdale Air Force Base, near Shreveport, La., by a seven-man court-martial. His family here heard of the trial after the conviction was announced.

Mrs. French said she wrote to her husband about the gambling but that he denied it.

"All he told me," she said, "was 'stick by me. I am in trouble and I will need you.' "

Mrs. John French, the captain's stepmother, said his father knew he was in trouble over gambling.

"Two and a half years ago he borrowed $2,000 from my husband to pay gambling debts, and paid back only part," she said.

★ ★ ★

"In March he asked for $1,800 from his father, but his father didn't have it. Then in April, I think it was, a letter came from the Bank of Puerto Rico saying he'd taken out a loan of $1,200 and hadn't made any payment."

The Frenches were living in Puerto Rico until May, when he was transferred to Shreveport. His wife and the children came here to live with her parents.

The Frenches have three children, Bonnie, 14, Jane, 9, and Linda, 22 months.

Mrs. French said she objected to the "secrecy" of her husband's trial.

"I should have been informed of the charges against him, according to the democratic way." She said she will stand by her husband.

French was a combat bombardier during World War II and the Korean War. He received decorations for his missions.

French was convicted of offering "diagrams on the handling of atomic weapons in combat aircraft, and showing components of the bomb and its associated equipment with information relating to fusing and yield."

★ ★ ★

He was accused of dropping a note over a fence at the Russian Embassy in Washington, offering to sell the secrets for $27,500 and setting a meeting place. An FBI agent intercepted the note. French's arrest followed.

Sid, Imogene Return to TV in January

NEW YORK (INS) — Caesar and Coca—two of TV's most famous names—will be back together on the nation's screens in January.

★ ★ ★

Sid, Imogene and ABC-TV made the announcement at a news conference in New York after several weeks of rumors that a deal was to be set.

The pair, who broke up several years ago to go their own ways in video, will have a live, half-hour Sunday night show beginning Jan. 26, 1958.

★ ★ ★

The program will be sponsored, and ABC said it had signed both stars to long-term contracts.

Nicotine is poisonous, especially in its pure state.

Thanks to Earl's Item, Brothers Get Together

By EARL WILSON

When we Wilsons were in Rio de Janeiro, I wrote a little chunk about one Oscar Ornstein.

I told how Ornstein talks on two phones and is "a typical New Yorker. But that he was born in "Hamburg, Germany." I could have merely said Germany. But perhaps because of my fondness for the delicacy allegedly invented there, I wrote "Hamburg."

A stoutish man of 52 with a German accent soon came to my office—and was trembling.

WILSON

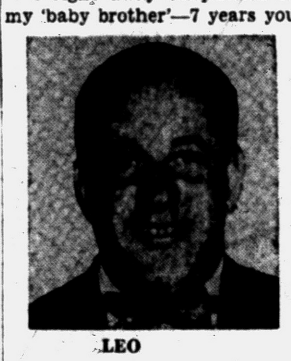
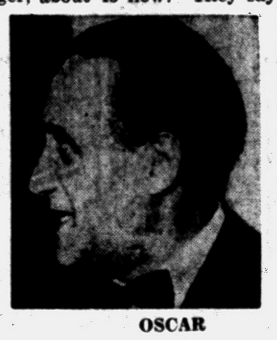
"I give him up," he said. "Oscar thought I was dead in the gas chamber. The same as my friends, my mother, father and two sisters. But"—and his eyes shone—"when I read Hamburg, Germany . . . there can't be too many Oscar Ornsteins from Hamburg.

"I right away telephoned Rio de Janeiro. And it's him—my 'baby brother'—7 years younger, about 45 now! They say



LEO



OSCAR

I need a short name for a band, so I take my mother's. But my passport"—and he held it out—"says 'formerly Ornstein'."

In 1934 Germany was unpleasant. Oscar went to Austria, Leo to South America and the parents and two daughters to Belgium—where the war wiped them out.

"After," Leo said solemnly, "I asked the Red Cross, all the governments. They think they are all dead."

On the call to Rio he and Oscar "were both crying on the phone" and amazed too that they hadn't met, for Leo was in South America until seven years ago when he came to this country, and Oscar comes often to New York from South America, where he went from Austria to book acts.

★ ★ ★

"Not until you wrote that little thing!" Leo said. "What does Oscar look like now? And he's successful?"

"Everybody important in Rio knows Oscar," I assured him.

"Ah, he always was a smart boy," Leo nodded. "I am expecting a cable saying what day next week Oscar will be here. The last time I see him was 1934 in Berlin at the restaurant I am playing in—long before the war."

Oscar cabled me, too, and signed it "Eternally your debtor." It has made the South American trip seem worthwhile.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Lena Horne and Ricardo Montalban have terrific smoochin' scenes in "Jamaica," which got good notices in Philly . . . Pat Gaston (Mrs. Tommy Manville 10th) rejoined her husband and says all is o.k. . . . Godfrey's Janette Davis and Frank Musiello are fixin' the wedding date . . . Joe E. Brown reports a paper that's doing a sensational series: about the NICE people of Hollywood. (Sorry, Joe, that stuff'll never catch on.)

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Your teen-age son is growing up when he stops wearing your neckties and starts laughing at them." . . . That's earl, brother.

'Lure' Aspect Examined

Girard Trial Will Move to Death Hill Tomorrow

MAEBASHI (INS) — The Japanese manslaughter trial of GI William Girard tomorrow takes up the most bitter bone of contention in the case—prosecution charges that the 22-year-old soldier lured Mrs. Naka Sakai to her death.

It was the issue of enticement that helped inflame the Japanese over the Girard case, led to agitation for jurisdiction over the GI and finally sparked a controversy that was settled by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Maebashi District Court trial will be held tomorrow at the scene of the fatal shooting—hill 655 on a woody, almost inaccessible U.S. Army firing range, where Mrs. Sakai, a shell scavenger, was killed seven months ago.

The prosecution is scheduled to call an Army buddy of Girard's—Specialist Third Class Victor Nickel, 21, of Inkster, Mich., who was with Girard on the fateful day Mrs. Sakai was slain.

Informed sources predicted Nickel, who has remained in the shadows of the case, may tell the three-judge court he lured Mrs. Sakai at Girard's behest by tossing empty shells in her direction for her to pick up.

Nickel, immediately after the fatal shooting, denied he had tossed the shells "in order to protect a buddy"—in the words of his Army legal adviser, Capt. Albert Rakas, 32, of Chicago.

But in a second affidavit he is reported to have admitted he lured the 46-year-old Japanese woman under Girard's urging. This is the story he is expected to place in the court record when he testifies on hill 655.

The defense is expected to use Nickel's testimony—from which newsmen will be barred—to discredit another prosecution "enticement" witness.

He is 29-year-old farmer Hidetsugu Onozeki who claims he saw Girard himself toss empty shells in Mrs. Sakai's direction. If Onozeki's credibility can be seriously impaired in the minds of the judges, then the issue of enticement will be indirectly lifted from Girard's shoulders.

The sources said the defense may "accept the lesser of two evils of enticement: Nickel's version."

Nickel's testimony will be presented first tomorrow. Onozeki is scheduled to be the No. 2 prosecution witness and may testify in the outdoor session if time permits.

Despite the charge of enticement, the defense position is that Girard's fatal shooting was a "complete accident" done in the performance of duty to scare Mrs. Sakai away from Army property he was guarding.

Boy, 8, Launches Garfield Memorial

ELBERON, N. J. (AP)—Only a faded 14-inch sign in the window of a private garage here marks the spot where President James A. Garfield died of an assassin's bullet 76 years ago.

Bruce Frankel, 8, of nearby Interlaken didn't like it. He started a campaign to obtain a monument for the spot.

★ ★ ★

While recuperating, he visited the site and was shocked to find the sign in the garage at the summer home of Joseph Fisher, a New York businessman.

★ ★ ★

He went out to bat for a monument and donated his weekly allowance of 50 cents for the cause. Soon he received cash contributions totaling $60—not enough.

★ ★ ★

But last week, Daniel Ardolino, an official in a West Long Branch monument firm, heard of Bruce's efforts and promised that his firm would provide free an inscribed stone marker.

Owners of the property have given permission to erect the monument.

Six Minors Arrested for Possessing Beer

Six minors were arrested early Sunday morning for illegal possession of beer and one juvenile was released to his parents to appear at a later date.

★ ★ ★

Arrested were Daniel Schuster, 19, of 297 Osmun St.; Robert Eason, 17, of 198 E. Huron St.; James Miller, 17, 94 State St.; Earl McAffee, 18, of 406 S. Jessie St.; James Laresse, 19, of 72 Parkhurst St.; and Jose Chavez, 18, of 217 Fisher St.

They will be arraigned today in Municipal Court.

In a separate arrest Saturday night, Melvin D. Pittman, 18, of 365 N. Perry St., was held on the same charge.

Shiprock, a steep volcanic formation on the Navajo Indian Reservation in northern New Mexico, is considered one of the nation's more difficult peaks by mountain climbers. The rock — only 1,640 feet above the surrounding plain — has been conquered only 23 times.

Ike Flies Back to White House

Interrupts His Vacation to Address World Bank, Related Agencies

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP) — President Eisenhower, interrupting his vacation for a few hours, flies back to Washington today for conferences on international and domestic problems.

The President also has two speeches scheduled in the capital — one at the annual meeting of the World Bank and related agencies, the other at a meeting he called to deal with the special needs of small business firms.

This is the eve of the second anniversary of the President's heart attack—suffered at Denver Sept. 24, 1955—and outwardly he appears in fine health after nearly three weeks of rest combined with work at his vacation headquarters.

There seemed to be no doubt the session would deal with the situation in Syria and the rest of the Middle East, particularly as it relates to Saudi Arabia.

Also on the presidential agenda is a White House meeting with Atty. Gen. Brownell, who planned to give Eisenhower a report on the school integration program at Little Rock, Ark.

★ ★ ★

In a statement Saturday, Eisenhower expressed confidence the people of Little Rock will "vigorously oppose any violence by extremists" in the integration program.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower attended church services yesterday at the chapel of the U.S. naval base hospital. Then he waited a couple of hours for a light rain to halt and went to the Newport Country Club for 18 holes of golf.

English Women Squirting Pistols at Bold Wolves

Mrs. Kelly Osborne, organizer of the unofficial female protective association, says she and her friends got tired of being accosted by ardent male motorists at night. Here's how she fixes 'em:

"I bought a water pistol last week and have already used it once. One motorist stopped me three times so I whipped out the pistol and let him have it. He shot off like a startled rabbit."

★ ★ ★
