Nasser to Issue Vital Statement on Suez Sunday

Egyptian President Calls International Reporters to Conference

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

CAIRO—Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser today called a news conference of "international importance" for Sunday. Presumably he will reply to London's invitation for a parley on the Suez Canal issue.

Sunday is only four days before the scheduled Aug. 16 conference.

A government spokesman invited Egyptian editors and foreign correspondents to the conference to be held in the main hall of the former revolutionary command headquarters.

He said the 38-year-old Nasser will read "a detailed statement" and answer questions.

From Bonn, West Germany officials announced today acceptance of the invitation to the London conference.

Other replies to invitations to the 24-nation conference called by Britain, France and the United States are lagging.

Sir George Young, head of the British Foreign Office news department, announced that attendance did not imply advance approval of the idea of putting the Suez Canal under international control.

He said Britain, France and the United States had agreed upon the principle of international control, and that the conference would discuss the idea, but that other countries attending could put forward their own proposals.

His statement seemed aimed at such invited countries as India, Ceylon and Indonesia, which have been hesitating over their replies. Some diplomats have reported that these countries were holding off because it might appear they were approving the principle of internationalization beforehand.

Prime Minister Eden has declared Britain is resolved not to accept unfettered control of the canal by Egypt.

Sources close to Nasser on the other hand have reported he is ready to fight rather than permit the canal to pass under international control.

NATO LISTENS

Egypt's nationalization of the canal was discussed at a meeting of the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris. French, British and American delegates were said to have explained their position to their NATO partners.

The West German cabinet met in Bonn to consider its invitation to the Aug. 16 conference.

In New Delhi, the Afghan Embassy announced that the government of Afghanistan approved Egypt's action.

The proprietor of the pizza place said he was upset by the failure of the contestants to do better. He said the record at his shop is four and a half pizzas.

Pontiac Hospital Board Acts on Survey Report

Pontiac General Hospital's Board of Trustees last night continued action in referring recommendations of the $5,707 hospital management report to various Board committees for further study.

Some 46 recommendations were briefly discussed and referred to committees before the board agreed to allow chairman William P. Babcock to refer the remaining 35 recommendations in the report to committees without prior discussion by the board.

Commenting on the need for committee study before action on the survey's recommendations, Babcock said:

"If you want to take the report as gospel, then we should take immediate action on all these recommendations. But it's my opinion they should be carefully studied before action is taken."

After Hospital Director Miss Lauretta Paul told trustees she intends to promote administrative assistant Miss Shirley Dovre to a staff position as her assistant, the board recommended Miss Dovre's promotion be effective immediately so that she may help Miss Paul in the current hospital work before an assistant director is found.

NEW POST MADE

In accordance with the report's recommendation, trustees asked that Miss Dovre's duties be distributed among other staff members. She has been responsible for staff and public relations in the hospital.

Creation of a staff position as assistant to the director was not among the report's recommendations.

The 81 recommendations acted on last night were included in the last chapter of the 139-page report, and concerned departmental operations.

Installation of a reserve water main was discussed by trustees after Miss Paul reviewed the hospital situation last Saturday, when a concrete slab undermined by rain broke the pipe which supplies the hospital with water.

Service was disrupted from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Miss Paul said. She added that city firemen ran an auxiliary supply from a fire hydrant to one of the hospital's boilers, but said the expedient was far from satisfactory.

Milford Baby Drowns in Creek

20-Month-Old Boy Dies Despite Fireman's Effort to Bring Back Life

A 20-month-old Milford infant drowned in a creek behind a neighbor's home shortly before noon today.

Kenneth A. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Roberts, of 509 Sherbrooke Rd., never regained consciousness after he was taken from the creek, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputy Leonard S. Evans.

The boy was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

All efforts to revive him with an inhalator had failed. The inhalator was provided by the Commerce Township Fire Department.

Evans was unable as yet to explain the drowning but said it occurred behind a home at 515 Sherbrooke. The creek reportedly had been fenced off. It is believed the child fell into the creek after going through an open gate. It was drowning number 21 in Oakland County this year.

Team of Horses Finds Way Home After Year Away

HILLSDALE (AP) — A team of horses found its way home from a farm 10 miles away where it had been taken more than a year ago.

Farmer Charles Myers of Osseo, said Queenie, 18, and Bonnie, 10, broke down a fence at his son's farm and clip-clopped home along highway M34. Myers found them one morning last week grazing contentedly in a field near his barn.

Myers loaned the horses more than a year ago to his son, Charles. Myers said the team followed the same route home.

Myers said he'll keep the team. Queenie was raised on the home farm. Bonnie was a 4-H Club prize-winner reared by Myers' son.

Michigan Waits GOP Selection for Governor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voting was light today in the early stages of a Michigan primary to choose a Republican nominee to oppose Gov. Williams in his bid for an unprecedented fifth term. Clear, pleasant weather prevailed over the state.

Only two cities, Muskegon and Battle Creek reported voting was stronger than the primary contest of 1954.

Reports from Monroe, Bay City, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Hillsdale, Greenville and Detroit indicated a light vote.

The State Elections Bureau said voter apathy would hold the balloting down to about 38 per cent of the Michigan electorate, even with the most favorable weather conditions.

Most of the check points, surveyed by The Associated Press, were industrial areas where the voting is expected to pick up in late afternoon and evening after factories discharge day shift employes.

In Detroit, it is estimated that less than 300,000 Detroiters would vote. City election rolls list 825,854.

There was some speculation that the early primary was catching many voters on vacation.

The major state battle shaped up between Republicans Albert E. Cobo, the 62-year-old Detroit mayor since 1949, and Donald S. Leonard, a 53-year-old former state police commissioner. Both seek the gubernatorial nomination.

There are also a flock of state and county offices at stake, with candidates vying for nominations to 18 seats of the U. S. House of Representatives.

In Bay City, it was estimated that only four per cent of the vote had reached the polling places in an early tabulation.

VOTING VERY SLOW

Monroe, which offers five local contests, reported that balloting was at half the 1954 pace.

Votes in Muskegon came in at the rate of about 25 an hour. The pace seemed geared to the tempo of local contests.

In Detroit, Leonard, the opponent of Williams in 1954, said he and his wife had voted early and were going home to wait for results.

At Flint, despite ideal weather, the light vote was running behind the 1954 primary when only 28,000 cast ballots, but Port Huron reported a vote well above that of 1954. Before noon the vote was 2,380 as compared to 1,755 at the same hour in the previous primary.

Press Will Furnish Election Returns

Results in today's primary election will be made available by The Pontiac Press by telephone tonight starting at 9 p.m. While increased use of voting machines is expected to speed up returns this year, no tabulations of significance are anticipated before 9 o'clock, after voting precincts close at 8. Press patrons seeking election results may call FE 2-8181 after 9 p.m.

'It Wasn't So Hard to Use!' — Voters Praise Machines

Pontiac voters this morning were enthusiastic about the city's new voting machines, used today for the first time.

Some, a little nervous about this new accessory of the mechanical age, asked election workers at the polls for help in understanding the array of levers which recorded their votes.

Sample comments:

Mrs. Earl Ross, 152 Washington St.—"I just think they're wonderful. They're 100 per cent better than the old paper ballots. Why, I'd just like to go right back in there and vote again. But I'm going home now and tell everybody how easy it is."

George Kirby, 470 Orchard Lake Ave.—"There's nothing to it. I've been voting here for 51 years, and I sort of hesitated about coming because I was afraid I'd make a mistake. But it isn't complicated at all. Much better than writing on paper ballots."

Mrs. L. D. Shelton, 47 Henry Clay Ave.—"I think they're fine, much better than the old way. It's easier, too, and you don't have to be so careful about spoiling ballots."

A mildly dissenting opinion was registered by Mrs. E. L. Page, of 73 Henry Clay Ave., who said:

"I don't know . . . I suppose it's easier than the old way, but it seemed more personal to use paper ballots, more as if you were actually voting for somebody.

"But I understand it will be a lot easier to count them. It's progress, I guess."

Pontiac Electors to Decide Upon Charter Change

Congressional Battle On With Five Candidates Vying for County Seat

Local election officials this morning said sunny skies—the first in several days—should aid in drawing voters to the polls for the primary election.

Pontiac City Clerk Ada Evans, undisturbed by light voting as polls opened this morning, said she expects a sharp increase in turnout from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 3 p.m. until closing at 8 p.m.

By 10 a.m., most precincts had recorded about 25 voters, and Mrs. Evans estimated the total at 1,100 voters. Polls opened at 7.

While some Pontiac voters, using machines for the first time, were a little puzzled by the array of levers to be tripped in casting their ballots, most slipped easily into machine voting.

City voters are faced with a proposal to amend the charter and merge Pontiac employes' pension plan with Social Security benefits. Employes recently voted for the proposal by a 64 per cent margin.

If the proposal passes, Pontiac will join about 60 other Michigan communities with similar plans.

Heading local contests is the race for nomination to Congress. Campaigning for the nomination has been intense in both parties since Rep. George A. Dondero, veteran of 24 years in the House announced his retirement in January.

Five Democrats and three Republicans all are hoping to succeed him.

Voters in 249 county precincts will be selecting from a record slate of 76 candidates for nomination, although not all of these will appear on each ballot.

Candidates for state representative are divided among the legislative districts they hope to represent. Three candidates for non-partisan county posts are not listed on the primary ballot because they are unopposed.

Election officials predict a top vote of 20 per cent of the county's registered voters, or about 60,000 in today's election. The state total is expected to reach one million, and state officials hope for a 40 per cent turnout.

Cobo 7, Leonard 3 in First Returns

POINTE AUX BARQUES (AP) — Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo topped Donald S. Leonard by a vote of 7 to 3 in the state election primary in this Thumb area town today.

As usual, Pointe Aux Barques was the first Michigan community to report a complete vote.

At 11:20 a.m. this final, complete unofficial vote was announced:

For Governor: Democratic, Williams, 4.

For Governor: Republican, Cobo 7, Leonard 3.

For Congress: Republican, McIntosh 8, Wood 2.

Steel Price Hike to Affect Cost of Consumer Articles

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U.S. Steel Corp., the world's largest basic steel producer, today hiked its prices an average of $8.50 per ton.

Republic Steel Corp., the third ranking producer, also announced price increases effective today which it said "in general compare with the price changes heretofore announced by its competition."

Bethlehem Steel, the No. 2 producer, and Jones & Laughlin Steel, the fourth ranking producer, said "we are still studying the price situation."

While steel prices vary widely, depending upon the many types, the composite price was about $130 a ton before the five-week strike which ended during the past weekend.

The boost may be felt by millions of persons who buy the thousands of articles made from steel. The auto industry previously indicated it expected such a move and planned higher prices for 1957 models.

In Detroit steel prices were unchanged today at three major steel producers. Price boosts were expected to follow the new union contracts.

Great Lakes Steel Corp., largest in the area, reported that increases have not yet been passed down from the parent firm, National Steel Corp.

Shivering? — Here's Why

Although last month was July many persons wondered as they pulled blankets out of mothballs when temperatures plunged to 53 degrees on the 18th breaking a 70-year low of 54.

Last July, residents sweated out temperatures in the 90s and high 80s. This year temperatures ranged in the 80s and high 70s.

The first day of July kicked off with a tornado alert. Pontiac Municipal Airport recorded gusts up to 55 m.p.h. No funnels were reported and the alert was lifted in early evening.

Pontiac area residents enjoyed a pleasant Independence Day when the mercury registered a comfortable 73.

TWO HOT DAYS

The thermometer soared to 92 July 1. After that temperatures ranged in the 60s and low 70s until the 27th when the mercury rose to 94 breaking Pontiac's chilly spell. Last year on the 27th the temperature was a sizzling 99.

Only 1.69 inches of rain were recorded for the Pontiac area in July, compared to last year's total of 2.48.

The average high temperature for the month was 80.5. The low averaged 61.

Murder Field Searched Again

Police Find Some Glass but Jack Handle Still Is Being Sought

A thorough search of the entire hay field in which the body of three-year-old Martha Little was found dead and ravaged on July 27, failed to uncover an alleged missing jack handle. Only more broken glass was found yesterday.

Detectives Don Francis, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and Charles Leaf, of the State Police, took the glass to the State Police post at East Lansing for fingerprints and blood tests.

The glass will be matched with a broken beer bottle found near the Lake Orion girl's body and glass found in the trunk of the car owned by Howard W. Moore, now facing a first degree murder charge. A blood-covered T-shirt was found also on a Lake Orion road a few days after the murder.

"We searched the entire area again and even had a tree climber check all the trees but nothing was found," Leaf stated.

He said they checked trees because the handle might have been thrown in the air and stuck in a tree.

DISCOUNT CLAIM

Detectives still believe a jack handle and bottle were both used to kill the youngster despite a claim by Moore's brother that he had Howard's jack handle in his car.

"He hasn't brought it in to us or volunteered any information about it. We think Howard had one in his car because he told us he had been working under his car before and would have had to have it jacked up," Leaf said.

Moore, a 23-year-old furnace repairman, will be examined in Justice Court Friday on the first degree murder charge. Justice William H. Stamp will conduct the examination at the Independence Township Hall in Clarkston.

He admitted the crime shortly after the Little girl was found in the lover's lane off Maybee Road but last Friday said he would plead not guilty.

Break for Film Fans: U.S. Lifts Ticket Tax

WASHINGTON (INS) — Moviegoers no longer have to pay federal excise tax on tickets costing 90 cents or less.

The new law, signed by President Eisenhower yesterday, applies to other amusements and sports also. It was hailed as a victory for the entertainment industry.

The 10 per cent tax still applies, however, on admissions more than 90 cents.

Although the House had approved tax exemption for fares up to one dollar, the Senate lowered the figure to 90 cents. The House finally concurred.

The motion picture industry for many years has been seeking abolition of the World War II excise tax on theater admissions.

Dems Start Building Platform

GOP Foreign Policy Hit

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut told the Democratic Platform Committee today "the country has been lucky to avoid disaster" under Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

* * *

Benton, a former assistant secretary of state, said "the gravest weaknesses of the Republican administration" lie in its handling of foreign affairs. He added in prepared testimony:

* * *

"It is high time to return our foreign policy to competent and experienced hands."

Benton said the Republicans "inherited a good foreign policy blueprint" from former President Truman, who is to give his views to Democratic platform writers Thursday.

When the Eisenhower administration and Secretary of State Dulles stuck to Truman policies "they fared reasonably well," Benton said, but when they tried to adjust to fresh developments, a three-stage cycle of "bluff, boast and backdown" resulted.

"We have fewer friends today, and colder allies," Benton said. "The neutrals are skeptical of us, even to the point of contempt. Our enemies are more confident, even to the point of arrogance.

"How hollow today sound those ringing slogans of the Republican campaign of '52 and the Republican administration of '53, '54 and '55. The 'bold new program' was one slogan.

"And last fall, we heard Secretary Dulles tell the hard-working Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the Soviet Union was close to the 'verge of collapse.' Thank God the committee and Congress didn't believe him. On the contrary, Congress increased the appropriation for the Air Force by something like a billion dollars."

Benton said the Eisenhower administration has "failed to counter communism's appeal to the uncommitted and underdeveloped nations." And by strongly emphasizing military pacts, he said, the Republicans "have got us into the fantastic position of having to convince the world that we are for peace."

Egypt May Thwart Big 3 Talks on Suez

dia top the list of nations that still have not said whether they will attend the talks the Western Big Three propose to open in London Aug. 16. There were rumors India's Prime Minister Nehru might be shaping a counter plan to give Egypt a face-saving avenue of retreat.

Snowballing tension over the Suez crisis pushed oil shares downward on the London Stock Exchange today.

More than 100 million pounds (280 million dollars) was marked off the value of leading oil issues within minutes of the market opening. A few buyers appeared in later trading and prices firmed slightly.

The cutback followed a dive of oil shares yesterday on Wall Street in New York where some issues dropped as much as $14.

In Plymouth, England, the aircraft carrier "Ocean," third of Britain's "carriers for Cairo," completed loading men and equipment and prepared to sail today for the Mediterranean.

Asks Milk Action

DETROIT (AP) — Roland Brengle, president of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., asked Gov. Williams Monday to take immediate action on a state milk marketing act. Brengle cited what he called "another drastic cut in milk prices" after Aug. 31. He seeks to regulate the wholesale price of milk by means of a milk commission.

Tradition May Be Tossed by Stevenson in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is prepared to toss political tradition aside in filling second place on the ticket if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 nominee, is supremely confident he will get the top nomination on the first or second ballot at next week's convention here.

This view, of course, is disputed by supporters of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and several "favorite son" candidates working for a deadlocked convention in which the lightning might strike one of them.

If he is worried by the threat of such a deadlock, Stevenson does not show it. He already is reviewing and refurbishing his position on major issues in anticipation of a vigorous fall campaign against President Eisenhower.

He has convinced himself in primary campaigning in all sections of the country that Eisenhower's popularity is overrated. He believes the President can be beaten.

With this in mind, he is looking ahead still further to January. He has told friends he is more interested in getting a running mate who will make a top-notch vice president than in satisfying the usual requirements of geography and voter appeal.

His view, like that of some Republicans, is that a vice presidential candidate seldom adds much strength to the ticket.

What he wants, he has told friends, is a vice president who will be the President's personal representative in Congress — a force for the White House legislative program.

Beyond that, he apparently wants a man who could do the same sort of security council, globe-trotting and ceremonial job for him that Vice President Nixon has done for President Eisenhower.

To get the kind of man he wants, Stevenson is willing to waive geographical considerations. He is attracted, for instance, to Democratic Sen. Hubert Humphrey of nearby Minnesota. Humphrey's friends were the first to open headquarters here for the No. 2 spot.

Stevenson also has had some warm praise for Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York as an executive he thinks has accomplished a great deal without bombast. He likes the cut of the jib of Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Stevenson's strategists, who pay more attention to the political implications than their candidate does, do not discount the possibility that Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee might wind up in second place on the November ticket.

Dictator Peron Plans a Visit to Venezuela

PANAMA (AP)—Argentina's wandering ex-dictator, Juan D. Peron, apparently is about to move again. Venezuela appears to be his next destination, and his current girl friend is slated to go along.

Peron's aide, Isaac Giloberte, sailed last night with the former Argentine President's automobile aboard the Italian liner Amerigo Vespucci for the Venezuelan port of La Guaira.

Informants said Peron and Maria Estela Martinez, 25-year-old Argentinian dancer, would follow by plane to Caracas later this week. Miss Martinez has been his close companion for the past three months.

There was talk the party might go on eventually to Europe.

Miss Lucy Still Hoping to Re-Enter University

NEW YORK (INS)—The former Autherine Lucy, 26, now the wife of a Baptist minister in Tyler, Tex., said today she intends "to do all" in her power to return to the University of Alabama.

"But for the present, at least, my hands are tied," said the Negro coed at her home in Tyler where her husband, the Rev. Hugh L. Foster, 27, is pastor of two small rural churches.

"I wish with all my heart that I could return in time for the fall semester, but I cannot. I must await the decision of the courts," she added.

Miss Lucy was expelled from the university last February when her presence in classes touched off campus racial riots.

Mr. Wagner resided at 3184 Morningview Terrace, and belonged to the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Detroit, Masonic organizations, the American Electroplaters Society, Orchard Lake Country Club and Detroit Yacht Club.

He attended Detroit schools, Culver Military and Christ School in Ashville, N. C. He had come to Birmingham 11 years ago.

He leaves his wife, Bettie, two sons, Rippy and Frederic; four daughters, Chrissie, Helen, Susan and Betsy; his mother, Mrs. Alfred T. Wagner of Detroit; a sister, Mrs. George L. Domine Jr. of Grosse Pointe, and a brother, Joseph, of Birmingham.

His body was found in the wreckage of a private plane in Gladwin County Sunday.

Truman Ex-Aide for Stevenson?

Chapman in Chicago, Hints Harry May Stay Neutral on Nominee

His decision, disclosed to close personal friends, added to growing indications former President Harry S. Truman is prepared to accept Stevenson as the party's 1956 nominee.

While Chapman has been working for Stevenson behind-the-scenes for weeks, the statement he is expected to issue tomorrow will be his first public commitment to his candidacy.

Stevenson supporters, now driving for a first ballot nomination, claim he can make it if Truman continues the "neutral" role he has professed all summer long.

Chapman's decision is not interpreted as a Truman endorsement of Stevenson. But it supports word from other former members of his administration that Truman will play a "hands-off" role while Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York battle it out for the nomination.

Pontiac Deaths

Wallace H. Jury

Wallace H. Jury, 54, of 586 E. Beverly St., died suddenly yesterday afternoon.

He was born in Lyons on May 26, 1902, and married Florence Nelson here on June 21, 1923. His parents were William and Thirza Halstead Jury.

Coming here from Gary, Ind. 38 years ago, he had been employed in the maintenance department of General Motors Truck & Coach Division for 27 years.

Surviving are his wife; two children, Wallace Jury Jr. of Pontiac, Mrs. Kenneth Patterson of Manston, England; three grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Curtis Henson of Longview, Tex.; two brothers, Walter Jury of Columbiaville and Ward Jury of San Antonio, Tex.

Arrangements will be announced later by the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home.

Mrs. William Kish

Mrs. William (Arlene) Kish, 40, of 522 Kenilworth Ave. died yesterday after a prolonged illness.

Born on March 11, 1916, in Senath, Mo., she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith.

Mrs. Kish came here 20 years ago from Missouri and had been employed at the General Motors Truck & Coach Division.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, Mrs. Velma Jean Stuart of Utica and Donald Harlen Goode of Pontiac with whom she made her home. A brother, Clarence Morgan of Detroit, also survives.

Service will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday from the Huntoon Funeral Home with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Sylvan Lake Youngster Hit by Automobile

A Sylvan Lake boy suffered only a slight bump on the forehead and shock when he was struck by a car while attempting to run across a highway in W. Bloomfield Township this morning.

Chris Gerger, 5, was hit by the right side of a car driven by James Berry, of Keego Harbor, according to Sylvan Lake police. He did not require hospital treatment.

Investigators reported the incident occurred at Inverness and Orchard Lake Roads near the Sylvan Shopping Center. A police spokesman said the Gerger boy was running behind two other boys headed for the Shopping Center when he was struck.

Fire Extinguishers Stolen From Trucks

Pontiac police detectives began an investigation today into the theft of two dry chemical fire extinguishers from parked transport trucks believed to have occurred last weekend.

The extinguishers were found missing yesterday morning from the trucks at the Cole Oil Co., 382 S. Sanford St. Owners set the loss at $70.

Sheriff Searches Ax Murder Site

Chase Down Robbery Motive in Davisburg Brutal Killing

Oakland County detectives had very little new to work on today as the mystery of the brutal slaying of 72-year-old Florence Norton went into its seventh day.

Investigators yesterday established the fact that the aged Davisburg recluse had saved a considerable amount of money but have been unable to determine if she kept it in her house.

"We talked with the vice president of the Clarkston bank and he told us Mrs. Norton had $6,835.04 in a checking account there but no safety deposit box. We think she may have had a deposit box somewhere else, possibly at Holly," detective Leo Hazen said this morning.

Hazen and Jack Davis covered the farm house and entire area of the Rattalee Lake road farm yesterday in another effort to find the widow's missing billfold or other new clues to the ax-slaying. They also talked with neighbors.

A dinner plate, which has a print, not Mrs. Norton's, is being held at the jail.

Detectives assume a robbery motive in the murder of the hard-working farm woman who was known to have loaned money to several area residents. All indications, however, point to the fact that she kept little cash on her person.

The Martha Little Memorial Fund, a drive to raise funds to buy a tombstone for the victim of the recent sex slaying in Lake Orion now totals $2,050.

Donations have been pouring into the fund and to the Joseph Little family from Colorado, Georgia, Pennsylvania, and Alabama. Three-year-old Martha was found dead and ravaged in an Independence Township hayfield July 27.

Lake Orion and Oakland County residents have opened their hearts and pocketbooks to keep the memory of the dead girl alive. The project was started by the Lake Orion Lions Club, which paid for funeral expenses. Clubs at Rochester and Rose City have aided in the drive.

Contributions have enabled Little to pay his debts and help the family of seven get back on its feet.

Monday, Little started a full time job at the ArtCo Manufacturing Company in Lake Orion. He had previously been limited to part-time work due to a diabetic condition.

All money received for the Martha Little Memorial Fund will go towards the tombstone purchase and a new home for the Littles.

Should donations fall short of the house costs, the remaining amount over the tombstone expenses will be given the family, a Lions Club spokesman said.

Graft Area Schools Face Audit of Books

LANSING (AP) — The State Department of Public Instruction said today it will check the books of the Ecorse and Taylor Township School Districts.

"We have nothing now to indicate there is anything wrong in the districts," Brown said. "But because of the graft charges against areas of local government it was thought that a check had better be made on a state level to make sure everything is in order."

Charles E. Brake, superintendent of the County Board of Education, said he has sent the two districts' financial reports for the past two years to the state.

Brake also said his office has received no complaints of mismanagement of school funds.

Arrest Is Pleasant if Done Courteously

A letter in which motorist Kenneth Lang writes of the traffic officer who arrested him: "He acted in a most courteous manner, approached me like a gentleman and talked to me in the same manner."

Lang was booked by Patrolman Ralph Bagnett for driving with the wrong type of registration. The motorist paid $5 at the Traffic Violations Bureau, which shortly thereafter received the letter about Bagnett.

The Day in Birmingham

City Rezones on Lincoln but Eyes Future Usage

BIRMINGHAM — City Commissioners ignored residents' requests to not rezone property at East Lincoln and Commerce last night, but appeared sympathetic to their opinions when considering the property's sale.

The sale agreement will include restrictions of the property's use, commissioners decided. They tabled the sale pending working out of those restrictions.

Residents filled the commission room to capacity for the nearly two hours of discussion on rezoning to industrial use. They objected loudly to noise emanating from Berry Door Co., next to the land being considered.

Among speakers was Robert Plawinski, president of Sheffield Estates Civic Assn., whose members live adjoining the two properties.

Departing City Manager D. C. Egbert's report submitted to the council pointed out that an agreement when the home lots were sold to the Edward Rose Co. for subdividing in 1951 specified that the land under discussion could be used for industry.

The same agreement reserved the present Eton Park land for recreational use.

Over an objection of the Chamberlain Co., rezoning of lots 56, 57 and 58, Adams Park Subdivision, from Public to Business B was voted, and the land sale agreement approved.

Purchase by the North Evergreen Sewage Disposal Authority of the local sewage treatment plant was approved by commissioners.

A meeting to be arranged by the police chief with state police officials was authorized. It will deal with speed control zones on Maple and Adams roads and parking controls on Cranbrook.

Recreation Director Robert Girardin's request, that consideration of the surplus fund of his department be held in abeyance until the recreation board may discuss it, was approved. The fund has reached $6,342.

Harold Schone, new city manager, was named to the Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority.

Further property acquired for Parking Lot HH is that of Sam Bruni, for which the city plans to pay $55,000, of Charles Huff, $8,400, and the Ellenwood land, $26,000.

Deeds from Mrs. Arthur Dubuc ($23,560) and the Ellenwoods have been received.

Eight of the ten lots for Parking Lot 3-A also are in the city's possession.

The Zoning Board of Appeals will meet at 8 p.m. tonight in the Commission Room of the Municipal Building to consider requests from Max Morden, for a garage conversion to living quarters at 757 Pleasant; Alfred Ragan, 1276 Holland, building porch; and Tom Ward, 1684 West Lincoln, and Alonzo Willis, 1697 Latham, attaching garages.

Chemical Blast Kills 3, Hurts 17

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Investigators today sought the cause of a million dollar explosion at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. plant yesterday that killed three men and injured 17.

Company officials said the blast wrecked three buildings where an insecticide was manufactured. Six others were damaged.

The three dead were Herman C. Strablow, 29, of Bergholtz; John Maule Jr., 34, of Niagara Falls, and Francis Kramarik, 22, of North Tonawanda.

Twelve of the injured were admitted to hospitals.

A company spokesman said the explosion, shortly after noon, was in a building near where classified government work was being done. No buildings in the restricted area were damaged.

Witnesses said flames shot into the air, and a billowing mushroom-shaped cloud formed.

The fire which followed the blast was brought under control in about two hours.

31 Oakland Area Drivers Lose License Privileges

Thirty-one Oakland County drivers had operator's licenses revoked or suspended in recent action announced by the Secretary of State's office.

Ordered to furnish financial responsibility after conviction of driving while under the influence of liquor were: William H. Broadnax, 530 Montana Ave.; Carmen F. Stockdale, 43 Tacoma Ct.; John D. Baker, Hazel Park; James R. Blaylock, Lake Orion and Ferdinand S. Schmidt and Norman J. Schwieger, both of Clawson.

Suspensions because of habitual negligence were ordered against: William G. Ander, 147 Hudson Ave.; James Broome, 361 Wessen St.; Ralph C. Cullens, 5491 Elizabeth Lake Rd.; Hilbert E. Damstra, 36 Stockwell St.; Willie J. McClain, 446 S. Saginaw St.; Clavern Tyson, 310 Wessen St.

Murray Baker and Richard K. Watt, both of Ferndale; Theodore J. Belanger, Birmingham; Jack A. Comp and George Helm, both of Rochester; Richard A. Dawley, Drayton Plains; Charles L. Fuson, Walled Lake; Danny Jones, Berkley and Coy E. Schooler, Hazel Park.

REVOKED DRIVERS

Ordered to furnish financial responsibility because of unsatisfied judgments were Sidney Cobb, Ortonville and Vander B. Kelley and Charlie Poindexter, both of Ferndale.

Driving while licenses were suspended resulted in an additional year's suspension for Robert Ballard, 192 W. Wilson Ave. and an additional two-months' suspension for Lynn A. Livingston, Royal Oak.

Driving while licenses were revoked resulted in an additional three-year revocation for Gerald L. Berden, 478 Midway Ave. and an additional two-year revocation for Kenneth R. Cody, Ferndale.

Suspensions were ordered against Thomas J. Cassidy, Lake Orion, for driving without an operator's license and against Robert T. Henderson, 490 Upland Ave. after conviction of unlawfully driving away an automobile. A one-year revocation was ordered in the case of Frank J. Jankie, Birmingham, because of inability to pass physical tests.

Steel Price Increase to Affect Consumers

had no increases to report.

In anticipation of higher labor costs, Detroit Steel Corp. boosted prices approximately from $7 to $16 a ton last month.

U.S. Steel's price boosts in the wake of the strike by 650,000 members of the United Steelworkers were somewhat lower than expected. Other companies probably will revise their prices along the same line.

Clifford F. Hood, president of U.S. Steel, said his company's employment costs will increase some 7.6 per cent during the first year of the three-year, no-strike contract which ended the walkout.

He declared the price increase amounts to "about 6.25 per cent." This, he said, "reflects the persistently rising costs with which the company is confronted."

It is possible that manufacturers of hundreds of items—ranging from wrenches to heavy appliances such as refrigerators—will adjust their prices upward. But competition in many industries will be a determining factor in any price adjustments.

It is possible some steel fabricators will absorb part of the increased cost of steel.

Nails, essential in all carpenter work, were increased about $15 per ton.

The heavy steel girders used in big buildings and bridges went up $8 per ton to $100. That undoubtedly will mean that construction costs will rise.

NO COMMENT ON INCREASE

A spokesman for David J. McDonald, president of the USW, said he would have no comment on the price increase.

McDonald has said previously that the steel industry boosted prices in recent years by amounts substantially higher than their added costs in labor agreements.

About half of the 60,000 men covered by the new contract were expected to be back on the job today.

By the end of the week practically all of them will be at work and within another week to 10 days full production is expected.

Bob Considine Says:

Convention Goers Dust Off Same Old Stuff

CHICAGO (INS)—The old political trick of avoiding a positive statement, even if it means nothing, has infected even the interior decoration department of the Democratic National Convention. Convention Manager J. Leonard Reinsch announces:

"Decoration for the 1956 Democratic National Convention will be simple and dignified, but at the same time, traditional—with the familiar colors of this national occasion."

In other words, decorations are as they've always been—loud and gauzey. The long-dead greats of each party will be shown in mammoth-sized blowups. Demonstrations will be (as ever) so lacking in honest spontaneous combustion that, the moment they start, the chairman will look petulantly at his watch and warn, by his manner, only a certain amount of this sweaty horseplay will be tolerated. Nothing will change. Why should it? When the circus changed it went out of business.

The greatest contribution television has made to national conventions may be its insistence that it won't train cameras on showboats who demand their delegation be polled.

At the Democratic Convention if a disgruntled delegate decides to challenge the vote he won't be able to hold up matters for interminable minutes while names of individual delegates are droned off and they stand up and reaffirm their vote.

Seems to me the newspapermen, who traditionally glower at representatives of the newer media, owe TV a vote of thanks for making it very plain these delays are nonsensical and costly. Especially the latter.

Still, a few things will be missed when anonymous souls from the dais slip down quietly to poll a delegation. We'll miss the agonized groan that goes up from tired and disgruntled people in the great cow barns when some doughty soul gets up his dander and protests. And we'll miss the possibility that, once again, there can be a scene as hilarious as that engendered by a demand such as was raised by the man from Puerto Rico in 1952, when he asked that his delegation of three be polled.

"Are you reconciled by now?" Eddie Folliard of the Washington Post, asked Paul Butler Sunday night, at the press conference the chairman gave in a hanger at Chicago's Midway Airport. Eddie, one of the best, was aiming at Butler's consistent contention President Eisenhower won't run again. A number of Democrats in Washington stick to that belief. Some will bet you.

Butler isn't reconciled a bit, he said. He added he feels Ike still will not run even after accepting the nomination.

FBI to Speed Up Kidnap Hunting

New Law to Let G-Men Enter Case in 24 Hours Instead of 7 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI agents now can move in on kidnaping cases within 24 hours, instead of waiting seven days under a bill signed by President Eisenhower today.

If the victim is not released within 24 hours, he is now presumed to have been carried across state lines and the FBI can enter the case under the federal law which provides a penalty up to death for kidnapers. The previous standby period was seven days.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Keating (R-NY) got a late session emphasis this year with the July 4 kidnaping of six-weeks-old Peter Weinberger on Long Island.

The House Judiciary Committee said tragic deaths of some kidnap victims might have been avoided if the FBI had been allowed to enter cases earlier.

It named no specific case.

State OKs Road Bonds to Finance Xway Network

LANSING (AP)—The State Administrative Board has approved a $25 million dollar bond issue to finance 218 miles of four-lane, divided superhighways.

George M. Foster, chief deputy highway commissioner, said some construction will begin this fall.

The projects, which will include part of the Grand Rapids Expressway, will be financed chiefly by federal funds. Total cost of the roads is 146 million dollars.

Under the new Federal Highway Act, the government pays 90 per cent of the cost of interstate highways.

The projects include the first highways planned under the 1955 Highway Act passed by the Legislature.

An Active Campaigner

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Jim Fair rode a bicycle to the courthouse and filed as a candidate for mayor of Tampa. Fair, operator of a discount house, said he will keep on riding a bicycle until Tampa gets straightened out on what he called its parking problems.

Tibet Revolts Rack Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A report from Hong Kong to the official Chinese Nationalist Central News Agency says the Reds are rushing a mechanized unit to Tibet to help suppress revolts against Communist rule. Quoting "reliable sources," the government agency also reported that the Reds are completing construction of a big jet air base near Lhasa, the Tibetan capital.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXXIV

Shayne got the whisky bottle and uncorked it. He held it up to Paulson's open mouth and ordered, "Swallow."

Paulson swallowed two gulps. He coughed and then looked up miserably.

"You're Shayne?" His voice was thick but he sounded rational. "Where's Nellie?"

"We'll know after you answer some questions." Shayne moved aside to pick up the .45 automatic. He stood over Paulson with the heavy weapon negligently in his hand. "Hesitate just once," he said pleasantly, "and I'll break this over your head. Now then. When you reached Jacksonville from Detroit, you found your sister gone. Is that right?"

Paulson nodded dumbly.

"And you nosed around and discovered she had run out on a confidence game rap that she'd been pulling with some guy who she pretended was her brother. Who was he?"

Again, Paulson nodded . He looked down and his fingers scrabbled for the whisky bottle where Shayne had dropped it on the floor. He got it to his mouth with difficulty and drained it. Then he threw it away and put his hands in front of his face and said brokenly, "My fault. All my fault. If I hadn't gone off and left her alone—"

SHUT UP!

"Shut up and listen to me," said Shayne inexorably. "Who was he?"

"Don't know." Paulson's head weaved from side to side. "I don't know. Hired detective to find her. Then I came here—"

"And had a car accident and broke your glasses as you neared Miami," Shayne filled in for him. "You had your sister's room number, and when you reached the Hibiscus you went straight up. And you saw this blonde come running out of her room and you thought it was Nellie afraid to face you because of what she'd done, although you actually couldn't recognize her in that dim light without your glasses."

"Was Nellie," Paulson insisted stubbbornly. "I told you—"

"I know what you told me," Shayne cut him off fiercely. "If you'd come clean in the beginning and told me it wasn't her brother who'd been with her in Jacksonville, a lot of things would be different right now. Including one dead girl who might well still be alive."

"Nellie?" Paulson cringed away from Shayne's hard-hitting words. "You mean she's dead? My little sister?"

"Frankly," said Shayne, "I don't know who's dead at this point. But we'll find out."

11:53 P.M.

Chief of Police Will Gentry was deep in conversation with a tall blond man when Shayne unceremously shoved the hulking bedraggeled figure of Bert Paulson into his office at headquarters.

Genry looked up disapprovingly, and then his eyes widened as he saw the scar on Paulson's cheek. He said, "So you found him, Mike? What have my men been doing?"

Shayne said wearily, "I had the jump on them. It finally came to me that he mentioned he and his sister had always stayed at the Tropical Arms when they were in Miami." He jerked his thumb savagely toward Paulson who had subsided into a chair and sat there with a vacant expression on his face. "Meet Bert Paulson, Will."

"You're wrong, Mike." Gentry shook his head and turned to the man seated beside him. "Meet Lieutenant Neils from Jacksonville. Mike Shayne. He brought down a picture of the girl and her brother." He gestured toward a blown-up eight-by-ten photograph lying on his desk. "Looks a lot more like the bird we pulled out of the bay than this guy."

Shayne leaned over his shoulder and studied the picture of a smiling girl and a young man in bathing suits with their arms intertwined about each other. The man whom he had dragged out of the Tropical Arms definitely did not resemble the one in the picture. He couldn't be so sure about the girl. The sun was in her face and she was squinting as she smiled and her image was blurred a trifle.

Shayne said flatly, "I realize that's the guy you're after, Lieutenant, but you're mistaken thinking his name is Paulson. Bert will tell you the whole story," he went on impatiently to Gentry. "Right now, I want to know just one little thing. That girl in the park. What sort of purse did she have, Will?"

"Purse?"

"Handbag. You know."

"Well, it was just a bag, I guess. The kind of bag any girl carries around with her."

"What color?" Shayne demanded savagely. " Red or black?"

Gentry pursed his lips thoughtfully. "I don't know. Come to think of it, I'm not sure I even saw her bag. They had all the stuff out of it looking for identification—"

As he paused uncertainly, Shayne reached past him and snatched up his telephone. He gave Lucy Hamilton's nuumber, and this time she answered before it rang twice.

"Lucy! Think a minute before you answer this. What sort of handbag was the girl carrying when she came to your place?"

"Why—I don't know for sure, Michael. I—"

First they ask which of Ford's engines you picked. Was it V-8 or Six? How many "horses"? You're proud to say, "I got the 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8." Somebody says, "Ford took top honors for all-around performance at the Daytona Championships!"

"And a Ford broke the 500-mile stock car record at Indianapolis, too!" you add.

They ask about brakes, handling, how it holds the road. "The best!" you answer.

Then somebody jokingly says, "Well, Joe, we poor folks just can't begin to keep up with you millionaires!"

"I'll agree that I'm living like a millionaire in this Ford," you tell him, "but I sure took the keys for a mighty low price. Never knew a better time to buy a Ford!"

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Merry-go-rounds are popular with children all around the world. In France they call them carousels — a name sometimes used in America now — and in England they are called round-abouts.

Today we are going to make our own little merry-go-round. It has gaily painted wooden animals on it — a dappled pony, a striped zebra, a lion with a curly mane and a tiger.

Color this picture with crayons and then paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the circle very carefully. Then cut on the dotted line around each figure, and fold them forward on the broken line below (see diagram A) so they are upright.

Fasten the center of the circle to the top of a spool with a long pin (diagrams B and C), and then you can send it spinning around and around.

(This suggestion first came from Marion Murteza, Waterbury, Conn. If you have an idea for Junior Editors send it in care of this newspaper and it may win you $10. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Twister Strikes in South Dakota

Rips Hospital, Building in Tiny Town of Martin; Phone Lines Down

MARTIN, S.D. (AP) — A tornado struck the tiny community of Martin in southwestern South Dakota last night, destroying one large building and damaging the hospital. An undetermined number of people were reported injured.

An employe of the Northern Bell Telephone Co. who visited the town of 1,000 shortly after the storm said several persons suffered minor injuries, but there were no fatalities. Telephone service was out temporarily.

He said the roof on the hospital was torn off and most of the windows in the building were broken. Patients in the wards were evacuated, he said. The winds also upset several house trailers in a trailer camp near the town, but none of the occupants were reported injured.

The telephone company employe said a large frame building on a fair grounds near Martin was destroyed. The building, used as a dance hall, was vacant, he said.

Break Ground for Atom Plant

Ceremonies Tomorrow at Monroe Touch Off $4.5 Million Project

Although controversy still rages over its safety, the plant is scheduled to begin producing 100,000 kilowatts of electricity shortly after 1960.

It is being built by 26 private combines—most of them utilities—on 900 acres of marshland bordered by Lake Erie and will incorporate the world's first large "bleeder type" reactor, one that produces more fissionable material than it consumes.

Walker L. Cisler, president of both the Detroit Edison Co. and the Reactor Development Co., gave assurances of the project's safety at a meeting in Detroit yesterday.

Cisler and his assistant, Arthur S. Griswold, said structural design of the plant will guard against harmful radiation even if all other safeguards should fail because of mechanical or human error.

Farmington Resident Admits Taking Outboard

Nation Joins in Tribute to Drummer Woolson

It is fitting that this great Nation should unite in sad and grateful tribute to 109-year-old Albert Woolson.

Certainly nothing less that the full military honors arranged for his funeral at Duluth would do justice to the memory of the one time Minnesota drummer boy. Even the three living Confederate veterans, aged 113, 109 and 108, joined in honoring the man who outlived 2,675,000 other Union soldiers of the Civil War.

As the ranks of the GAR thinned rapidly and Woolson neared the century mark, his birthdays began to draw national attention. On each of these anniversaries thousands of messages poured in on him from persons in all walks of life, as well as from the White House.

Except for hearing impairment and recurring lung congestion, the grand old soldier enjoyed excellent health. At 106 he had the stamina to fight off an attack of pneumonia.

Born in Watertown, N. Y. February 11, 1847, at 15 he moved with his family to Minnesota. When only 17 he enlisted as a volunteer private in Company C of the 1st Minnesota Heavy Artillery Regiment. After his discharge Woolson worked in a furniture factory, in a traveling minstrel band and in mills and logging camps, retiring at 85.

Destiny has given Drummer Albert Woolson an immortal place in history as the last survivor of that vanished host who wore the Union Blue. As long as the human chronicle continues to be written, his name will recall the triumph of right in the struggle that for a time threatened to destroy our democracy.

12 Democrats Available for Second Place Spot

With the Democratic national convention only days away, it is apparent that the majority party has a wealth of Vice Presidential material.

For the second spot on the ticket the Democrats want a young, vigorous and able campaigner to match the GOP's presumed nominee, Richard M. Nixon. At this stage it looks as though the lightning might strike any one of a dozen outstanding possibilities.

As U.S. News & World Report sees it, Tennessee's Sen. Kefauver, Massachusetts' Sen. Kennedy and New York's Mayor Wagner qualify in these respects. The latter two, however, are opposed by some Southern leaders because they are Roman Catholics.

Nonetheless, it is urged that they would appeal strongly to the Catholic voters in big cities. Also, private polls have convinced some influential Democrats that a Catholic's candidacy in 1956 would produce very little of the bitterness stirred by Al Smith's 1928 bid for the Presidency.

However, if the party decides to go all out for the Midwest farm vote, Minnesota's Sen. Humphrey or Missouri's Sen. Symington might be the choice. But if it is thought that something more is needed to soothe the South, there are Tennessee's Sen. Gore and Gov. Clement.

Other possibilities so far mentioned are Washington's Sen. Jackson, Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania, Gov. Meyner of New Jersey and Montana's Sen. Mansfield. Very probably Senate Majority Leader Johnson of Texas could have the nomination if he asked for it. But his wife has informed friends that he doesn't want it.

Who will be chosen at Chicago? Not even the most astute politicians know. But the verdict is only about a week away.

Chinese Invade Burma

In contrast to many previous incidents of recent years, the operation has all the appearance of being carefully planned. On other occasions the Chinese have explained away the actions of their troops by calling them mistakes of local commanders.

This time, however, the Chinese appear to have advanced along a 500 mile front. Moreover, they are reported to have established outposts inside Burma. Thus the penetration not only is a flagrant violation of Burmese territory but is alarmingly like Peiping's seizure of Tibet.

Premier U Ba Swe's government at Rangoon has protested this aggression and negotiations are said to be in progress for withdrawal of Red troops. Certainly the movement into Burma cannot help but alienate non-Communist Asia. For that reason it may prove to be a costly mistake for Mao Tse Tung.

If a Red army materializes in the wake of these advance forces, peaceful neutralist Burma won't be able to do much but appeal to the United Nations or to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

A Few Items in Regard to Views on Primary Election

Primary: Exactly that in our free election system—but apathy makes it secondary.

Replying to the woman who is afraid of voting machines, writes: "She has more reason to fear her toaster, tea kettle, bottle warmer, curler, electric bed blanket, cuckoo clock or husband. If I knew the name of the inventor of the voting machine I'd bake him a pie."

"New Old Fashioned Dame"

"I've always hated that guy," said an Oakland County man as he emerged from the voting machine and announced that he had scraped off a candidate's name.

In this voting machine era, at least one Oakland County man today has a feeling of sadness. He is of Rose Township. In an auto accident Sunday he escaped with minor injuries, but they are serious enough so he is not present for the initiation of the machines.

Supervisor J. Wesley Duncan

My farmer friends tell me that the recent rains about completed the job of lodging their wheat and oats, causing extensive damage.

David Lawrence Says:

Parties Losing Sight of Principles

WASHINGTON—If there were a $64,000 question contest in the category of political party doctrine, and if most news writers and stump speakers who constantly use such phrases as "Old Guard Republican" and "New Deal Democrat" were being quizzed, it would be interesting to learn how many would answer correctly the following query:

"Was it a Republican or Democratic president of the United States who, prior to the year 1952, uttered the following statement in a public speech:

" 'Wherever a public improvement is of national importance, and local and private enterprise are inadequate, the general government should undertake it. Wherever in the United States the local systems of popular education are inadequate, they should be supplemented by the general government, by devoting to the purpose the public lands or, if necessary, appropriations from the Treasury of the United States'."

Most persons in the political world today would guess that this was New Deal doctrine of the Democratic Party. Some would say it was Thomas E. Dewey, presidential candidate on the Republican ticket, speaking in 1948, when he was being accused of making "me too" speeches derived from so-called Democratic party doctrine. Others would say this was President Eisenhower talking and that he was "remaking" the Republican Party and "imitating" the Democrats.

HAYES SAID IT

But the two sentences quoted above came from the lips of Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, speaking at a soldiers' reunion in Columbus, Ohio, in August 1880 in the midst of a Republican campaign in which he was a spokesman for the party.

Further researches will reveal it is the Republican Party which, by means of subsidies, reclamation projects, appropriations for rivers, harbors, dams and waterways and the use of federal funds to develop the nation's resources, has played for many years a role nowadays called the advancement of "the welfare state."

Although Woodrow Wilson, a Democratic president, veered away from the Bryan doctrine and tried in 1919 to persuade the United States to join the League of Nations, it was a Democratic presidential nominee—Franklin D. Roosevelt—who in 1933 came out against American entry into the league and, after his election, broke up the International Economic Conference in London in the summer of 1933 and again moved America toward "isolation."

In these days, moreover, when removal of tariff barriers is supposed to be Democratic Party doctrine anathema to Republicans, it is interesting to note a Republican President, William McKinley, was the first President to champion "reciprocity" with Canada and the principle of reciprocal trade concessions.

TAFT VS. BUSINESS

History furnishes many another example which makes it difficult to generalize about political parties. Thus, it was President William Howard Taft, often referred to as an "Old Guard Republican," who struck a big blow at private enterprise when he and the Republican Congress put the federal government into the parcel post business, to the detriment of private express companies.

It was a Republican President, Benjamin Harrison, and Republican leadership in Congress which in 1890 fought against corporations and enacted the basic anti-trust law of today, known as the Sherman Act.

Likewise, it was under the Republican administration of President Calvin Coolidge that a Republican Congress passed in 1926 the first statute granting union labor the right to bargain collectively and requiring railroad management to deal with the representatives chosen by the unions.

It was a Republican President—Theodore Roosevelt—who used federal power to intervene in big coal strikes.

Today only in the South does the original Democratic Party survive. The imitators of the Republican Party dominate the Northern wing of the Democratic Party and call themselves "the party of the people," whereas, in fact, under the last two Democratic administrations many fundamental rights were taken away from the people which it had been thought were reserved to them under the 10th article of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution.

Today it could be said President Eisenhower is trying to "remake" the Republican Party in the image of Rutherford B. Hayes, while Adlai Stevenson is trying to "remake" the Democratic Party in the image of Theodore Roosevelt and a long line of Republican antagonists of states' rights. But the mere mention of these paradoxes emphasizes the gradual deterioration of consistent principle in both major parties.

Dr. William Brady Says:

There's No Good Remedy for Intercostal Neuralgia

The piece published here, or released for publication Friday, June 29, was about shingles (medically called herpes zoster). I said shingles is intercostal neuralgia with blisters. I just had a bout of intercostal neuralgia (without blisters) which, from day to day, I thought was diverticulitis, duodenal ulcer, hydro-nephrosis, carcinoma of the head of the pancreas, etc., so I was feeling immensely relieved when I wrote the piece titled "Shingles is No Laughing Matter." I meant to be facetious about my own wandering sideache, backache, bellyache, and not about yours.

In the same facetious vein I said I don't know the cause of intercostal neuralgia, and that if anybody knows the cause, he or she does not choose to tell the world about it.

One reader was "much interested in this disturbing remark." Why wouldn't anybody who knows the cause of shingles tell the world? It seems to go along with the present trend of not telling the patient anything. If the cause were known, perhaps some of us could avoid getting shingles . . . When will doctors learn that people like to face the facts?"

I was speaking of the cause of intercostal neuralgia. Some good physicians believe the cause of shingles (herpes zoster) is closely related to, if not identical with the cause of chicken-pox. In fact, Stern reported in British Journal of Dermatology that of 31 successive cases of herpes zoster four caused chicken-pox in contacts.

I wish to assure this disturbed reader and any others who drew a wrong inference from my remark that I don't believe any doctor who knows or thinks he or she knows the cause of intercostal neuralgia either plain or with blisters would fail to share his or her knowledge with doctors in general. Nor do I believe any reputable doctor who knows or thinks he knows how to prevent or cure any human ailment would or could, under any pretext, keep the remedy or treatment secret. I wouldn't trust such a healer as far as I can throw . . . and I'm pretty good at throwing the bull.

Incidentally numerous good doctors have reported that repetition of vaccination from time to time, regardless of an earlier successful "take," seems to moderate the severity or in some cases prevent recurrence of herpes zoster, particularly facial outbreaks which sometimes involve the eye, producing serious corneal ulcer.

I told in the June 29th piece all I know about the treatment of shingles. For intercostal neuralgia there is no treatment worthwhile, to the best of my knowledge.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Why Dose Entire Body for Sake of Teeth?'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It has been noted that pro-fluoridation articles and articles keeping the issue alive still appear in the Press. It is a little hard to understand why supposedly intelligent persons become convinced and try to convince others that they should dose their entire body simply for the sake of their teeth.

Competent and leading medical authority advise that fluoride is beneficial to teeth, that accumulation of fluoride in the body over a period of years is definitely harmful and that fluoride taken in water hardens bones and teeth. Please consider the large percentage of people past middle age who are already handicapped by bones being too brittle. Why add to their handicap?

Tooth paste containing fluoride application to children's teeth at schools at almost negligible cost and application by family dentist makes fluoride treatment for teeth available to all, without harms resulting from mixture with drinking water.

Alcohol is included in a high percentage of patent and doctor prescribed medicines. It would seem much more sensible to add alcohol to the city water supply. In that way we would be taking medicine doctors prescribe for internal use, and not one advised for benefit of teeth only.

'Should Let Gals Propose to Men'

A Lutheran minister says American courtship custom should be changed to allow women to propose to men.

When a woman is confronted with a situation such as loving a man who has an inferiority complex she should take the initiative and do the proposing. However, I am a firm believer in men doing the chasing until women snare them.

Italian Miss Coming to U.S. to Tell Us About Our Past

ROME (AP) — A slender Italian blonde wants to tell Americans about American history.

She is Giovanna Ferrara, 23, heroine of Italy's big television quiz show. She won the $8,000 jackpot by answering detailed questions about U. S. history.

Now she is planning her first trip to the United States. She hopes for a chance to show her stuff on American TV.

Giovanna leaves early next month for a 40-day tour sponsored by the U. S. Government Information Service and a Brooklyn chemical firm.

The university chemistry student is not interested in the bright lights.

"Non scherziamo," she told a reporter when he asked if she wanted to see Hollywood. That means "quit kidding."

What the attractive Miss Ferrar wants to see are the log cabin where Abe Lincoln was born, the place where George Washington crossed the Delaware, the battlefield at Gettysburg and Cumberland Gap.

Giovanna, who learned first about the United States from films and books about the wild West and Indians, has an encyclopedic knowledge of these things she never has seen.

For example, on Cumberland Gap she volunteered, "That's the pass to Kentucky used by Daniel Boone in 1769."

She knows, without looking it up in reference books, that Gen. George Pickett fought in 1863 on Gettysburg's Cemetery Hill.

Giovanna admitted to a desire, too, to see the West Point and Annapolis military academies — "for their historical significance, of course," she smiled.

She also wants to see Texas, if she has time.

And most of all, she wants to meet a real sheriff.

Giovanna has a sheriff's badge of her own. The small children in her northern Italy hometown of Robbio Lomellina gave it to her in fun because of her American history hobby.

The neighborhood youngsters call her "La Sceriffa," which means lady sheriff.

Giovanna has two special errands. One is to bring some Italian nursery records to Mike Sibole, the Orlando, Fla., youngster who lost both his eyes because of a tumor. The other is to visit a war-injured Marine at a hospital at Guilford, Miss.

"I don't have his name here in Rome," she said, "it's at home. But he wrote me such a nice letter after he read about my winning the TV quiz that I want to talk to him."

Case Records of a Psychologist

Explains Stand on 'Going Steady'

Opal will find it much wiser in the long run to play the field and be friendly with all her male classmates instead of entering into entangling alliances with any one. For in youth we need to learn personality. It takes dates with many boys to teach a girl how to distinguish between sexual infatuation vs. true, unselfish love.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

* * *

"Why do you say it is wrong to have a steady boy friend?"

FACE FACTS

Our entire youth is supposed to prepare us to meet the problems of adulthood more successfully.

We thus spend billions of dollars each year on schools because of that wise philosophy. But many extra-curricular experiences are just as vital for later adult happiness, as are the geography, English and math courses.

Dating is one of these extra-curricular activities that should be indulged in during the late teens.

But if a girl dates only one boy throughout high school, she fails to develop the proper personality "yardstick" for judging men.

She is figuratively near-sighted. For it takes many contacts with various personalities to acquire social poise and keen psychological insight.

Many girls who go steady and marry early; then get panicky at the age of 29 and kick over the traces. For they feel that they have missed something in life.

Moreover, they may then be kissed by some other male and belatedly they waken to the fact that you can be attracted to different persons of the opposite sex.

This new romantic thrill may cause them to get a divorce because their new Romeo makes this complacent husband seem stodgy. So they now believe they never did love him, even when they got married.

That isn't the case in most instances, for they are simply intoxicated with the novelty of the illicit kiss.

If they'd dated widely in their teens, they'd have learned that a stranger's kiss may produce butterflies in your stomach, but that doesn't mean you are suited to each other as regards matrimony!

DATE WIDELY

Dating many different members of the opposite sex also forces you to develop better conversational skill.

And you learn many new ideas from the different hobbies of your many boy friends.

Besides, you then find that there is a difference between infatuation and true love. Many first love affairs are only sexual infatuation.

But you don't realize that fact and may go ahead and marry, if you have been going steady.

It takes the perspective gained from dating several different people, to show up infatuation.

Moreover, when you date the same person steadily, you grow stodgy prematurely. For you tend to "coast" even as regards conversation and aren't as stimulaitng mentally, nor do you get as stimulated.

"Variety is the spice of life" applies quite well to intellectual spice, too.

When you go steady, moreover, you may degenerate into a dangerous state of mind.

"We're practically married already," your boy friend may say, "so why protest about extra sex liberties? You say you love me, so what else matters?"

Well, a lot more matters! You may love a wealthy person, too, but unless you are a relative with a legal claim to his estate, you don't share in his property.

So don't be lulled into false security by that "love" argument. "Legal" rights are also quite essential for marital happiness.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Want a Girl Friend? Better Get a Crew Cut

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The crew cut for men is the most spectacular news in haircuts since the day Samson got his.

Not that it's an innovation. This habit of freeing the brain of all but a minimum of fuzz began long before World War II.

The news is that today the crew is being worn by an unprecedented 70 per cent of males under 21, and 30 per cent of the older business set. Not since caveman days, when the birds' nest bob was the rage, has any single hairdo caused such a sensation.

"Where is it going, you might well ask," says Stephen Harris, a crew cut expert from Kansas City. "Well, it is here to stay and progress. In time, say 10 years, the percentage of men wearing their hair on end will be perhaps double what it is today," he said.

And by 2,000 A. D.? "Any male head with hair more than 1½ inches long may be said to have a 'crude cut.'"

Harris is 35 and looks like he had just climbed off the Ivy vine at Yale. He gives credit to his one-inch crew. Which he says would be called a "butch cut" in some cities, and a "turtle," a "burr," a "Detroit" or a "fuzz-top" in others.

"I probably would not have my hair cut this way except for the fact there is so much emphasis laid upon a youthful appearance these days," he says. "The women started it. And the men are gradually coming around. It is only natural that, for the sake of his business as well as his pride with women, he must look as young as possible."

(There is one more reason Harris cuts his hair this way. He is president of a company that makes wax to help crew cuts straighten up and stand right. But he had the good taste not to mention such crass matters.)

"Besides," he went on, "it is a very economical haircut for a man. Not because he visits the barber any less often—for the crew is an artistic cut and should be administered properly. It is economical because when he takes his girl or wife to dinner, the waiter almost inevitably gives her the check . . .

"Thinks she's his mother," he chuckled.

OTHER STATISTICS

Besides statistics on how many men are sporting crew cuts, Harris has the straight word on how it is being worn, by what types of men.

"Short men are wearing it the maximum length of two inches, to give an illusion of height. Tall men are clipping it close, to resemble a misplaced 5 o'clock shadow. Small boys are wearing it however their mothers tell the barbers to shave it."

Conceding that plump men do not look attractive in the semi-bald look—"it makes them pin-headed, rather"—Harris believes almost every woman-fearing man, fat or thin, will convert to it eventually. It's a variation of the old story. Man wants woman, and woman wants crew cuts.

"You know how a woman loves to go out with a guy who's tall, because it makes her feel little and fragile? The same thing with a man who's crew-cut. Only he makes her feel young and giddy," he explained.

Stones dropped on the roof of the parish church at Beccles, England, were traced to pigeons taking stones and marbles to their roosting place on the tower.

Polio Shots Available to Chicago Delegates

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's polio outbreak jumped to 582 cases and 13 deaths today but the city's chief medical officer advised Democratic convention delegates "there is absolutely no cause for alarm."

"However, we'll be glad to provide stations and give shots to delegates if they want to be inoculated," Dr. Herman N. Bundesen said. "If they'll pay for the vaccine (nominal cost), we'll give the shots."

Bundesen reported 66 weekend cases and 2 deaths up to midnight Sunday. The 1956 figures compare with 161 cases and 10 deaths for the same period in 1952, the previous high year. Last year, 76 cases and 3 deaths were reported at this time. Fifty-five of the 582 cases this year had Salk shots.

McKeon's Buddies Pass the Jug at Club, Collect Enough to Cover His $270 Fine

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS) — Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon said yesterday if allowed to remain in the Marines he will gladly volunteer for the most dangerous mission at any time.

* * *

McKeon yearns to redeem himself in some way for the ill-fated death march of his 74-man platoon last April when six recruits drowned.

He said:

"If I get a break and am allowed to remain in the Marine Corps, I'll always be ready to volunteer for the most dangerous mission that might come up."

McKeon, 31-year-old former drill instructor, is awaiting developments in the wake of the sentence meted out to him Saturday by a seven-member military tribunal.

END OF A CAREER

If the sentence is upheld, it means an end to an eight-year-old career with the Marines. McKeon, a combat veteran, cherished it above all else.

He was sentenced to nine months at hard labor, a fine of $30 a month for that period and a bad conduct charge. He also is to be "busted" to the rank of private.

"Right now, I'm just waiting to see what happens in my case," he said.

He said he was "overwhelmed with gratitude" by the action of the noncommissioned officers at Parris Island who spontaneously raised a fund to pay his $30 a month fine.

Sgt. Maj. Benjamin Dutton came over to our house with $270 that had been raised by the noncommissioned officers," McKeon said.

"It was a wonderful gesture. I can't say enough for these men—these men who are standing by me in my trouble."

PASS THE JUG

Shortly after McKeon was sentenced Saturday, someone passed a glass jug around the bar at the noncommissioned officers' club. The leathernecks, who had been sharply criticizing the court for giving McKeon what they regarded as too stiff a sentence, dug into their pockets.

Bills of $1, $5 and $10 denomination were shoved into the jug.

One woman Marine, Mrs. Laura Dennis, summed up the feeling of those at the club.

"They feel they have been let down," she said. "They were all hoping the court would be lenient with Sergeant McKeon."

She remarked, "There was hardly a dry eye" in the courtroom when McKeon's sentence was pronounced. She said even the woman court stenographer was deeply affected.

When the court-martial record is completed and checked, in about two weeks, it will go directly to Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas for review. After that comes a board of review. Final decision will be in the court of military appeals.

Baby Dies Odd Death

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — The freakish death of 2-year-old Sophia Louise Hair at Sheridan County Fairgrounds Saturday at an All American Indian Days celebration was ruled an "unavoidable accident" yesterday at a coroner's inquest. The little girl died instantly of a skull fracture when Delbert Amiotte, 25, of Rapid City, S.D., collapsed from a seizure and fell on her when he stood for the national anthem.

India Sees End of Rioting by Creating Bombay State

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru's government has worked out a new formula it hopes will end months of violence and bickering over the future of the state of Bombay, on the west coast.

The previous plan to set Bombay city apart from surrounding areas that speak different languages touched off three riots in nine months.

The Cabinet approved the new formula last night and it was to be put before Parliament today.

The plan envisages a huge new Bombay state — in area the largest political subdivision in India—taking in the present state of Bombay, two other states and eight districts of a fourth state. Bombay would be the capital. The new state would embrace about 48 million people who speak different languages.

Under the old plan Bombay would have been a city-state administered by the federal government. The surrounding area would have been divided according to the languages spoken by the majority inhabitants.

The two predominant language groups, the Gujerats and Marathas, favored having their individual states but fought bitterly over the plan for the bilingual city of Bombay.

2,000 on Panel for Brink's Jury

Plan to Quiz 100 a Day Before Opening Trial of 8 Accused

BOSTON (AP)—The task of picking a jury of 12 members and two alternates gets under way today in the Superior Court trial of eight Greater Boston men charged with the $1,218,211 Brink's robbery.

The jury will be selected from an unprecedented long list of 2,000 men and women, to be summoned at the rate of 100 a day.

The selection of a jury was ordered by Judge Felix Forte after the first day of trial yesterday was taken up completely with arguments on defense motions and a charge by the defense that the government had engaged in a "shabby form of jury-fixing."

Paul T. Smith, who heads a battery of four defense attorneys, charged that the release of some news stories on the Brink's case precluded the possibility of a fair and impartial trial.

* * *

Judge Forte commented there had been many cases in American history in which there was wide press notice but claimed that "the public had confidence" in the jury chosen.

Procedure Reversed

WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—Adolph Alsfeld Jr., receives many reports from police in his capacity as a police commissioner. The procedure was reversed when he reported to police—that his $109 power lawn mower had been stolen from his garage.

All He Took Was a Nap

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Police say the only thing Isaiah Matthews took in the bank was a nap. The 34-year-old Matthews was found at bank opening time curled up asleep in a director's stuffed chair at the U. S. Savings Bank. He was charged with breaking and entry and intent to steal.

Rotunda Inn Assured of Peaceful Picketing

In a Circuit Court action yesterday, proprietors of the Rotunda Inn in West Bloomfield Township were granted an order continuing the court's previous restraining injunction enforcing peaceful picketing of the restaurant by members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes, Bartenders International and Teamsters unions.

In their petition for the injunction, owners Cecil and Agnes Davis charged that in an organizational drive, the three unions have picketed their restaurant, trespassed on their property, threatened and intimidated patrons and employes, and damaged the property.

They also claim that a previous contract with the union was terminated in December, 1953.

An order for an early hearing in the case has been filed.

Israeli Court Sentences Arab Raider to Death

JERUSALEM (AP)—A three-judge Israeli military court has ordered the execution of an Arab commando who pleaded guilty to throwing a grenade and firing at Israeli soldiers.

The army said the defendant, 20-year-old Abdul Rzek Mustapha Abu Sarafad, was a member of an Egyptian fedayeen group. The fedayeen are suicide squads which infiltrate across the border, harass communications and raid farms and villages.

An Israeli patrol wounded and captured Abdul after he entered Israel from the Gaza Strip last April.

Jobless Pay Legislation to Greet Returning Solons

Their toughest problem will still be the question of raising unemployment benefits for the state's 220,000 jobless workers.

Rep. George Van Peursem (R-Zeeland), chairman of the House Labor Committee, scheduled a Wednesday meeting of the committee, but there was little indication he would recommend any change in the law.

Van Peursem's committee has all but strangled Gov. Williams' proposal to increase benefits to 65 per cent of a worker's wage, plus $5 for each dependent. Williams also wants the maximum period of payment extended from 26 to 39 weeks.

Some politicians were guessing that the committee, bending to election year pressures, would recommend some extension of the maximum length of payment, following the recommendation of Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo.

Returning legislators will be greeted by another unemployment compensation proposal from Williams—a request to ease the unemployment payroll tax for some 23,000 owners of small businesses.

The governor said small businessmen are "discriminated" against by a payroll tax plan that favors large corporations. His proposal would halve the tax paid by small companies.

Besides unemployment compensation proposals, the legislators still have before them a flock of safety bills.

* * *

One of the measures would give the secretary of state power to deny renewal of drivers licenses to motorists with bad driving records. The measure is pigeonholed in the Senate Highways Committee.

Another safety bill would repeal a new law allowing 14 and 15-year-olds to operate motor scooters.

Little chance was seen for Democratic bills to appropriate more money for the State Safety Commission and licensing operations in the secretary of state's office.

Another bill still on the docket would stiffen bonding requirements for livestock brokers and auctioneers.

Expects No End to Military Draft

Proposed Troop Slash Not Enough to End It, Defense Aide Says

WASHINGTON (INS) — Assistant Defense Secretary Carter Burgess says no military manpower cut being discussed could end the draft.

He says nobody has argued for reducing manpower levels below two million by 1960. That is about 500,000 more than were provided by enlistments alone before the Korean War.

On a short-run basis, draft calls will increase to about 14,000 men for the Army in September and perhaps reach 16,000 the following two months.

Besides, Burgess said, enlistments would fall off if selective service is abolished. He pointed out many who enlist in the Air Force and Navy do so to escape being drafted into the Army.

KEEP MACHINERY OILED

He also said the selective service system cannot be kept functioning unless the draft takes at least 6,000 men a month.

Burgess added that no decisions on troop reductions have been made yet. In view of this, he said, all estimates of manpower needs are based on maintaining a total force of 2,800,000 men.

'The Jim Piersall Story' Latest Baseball Hero Film

By BOB THOMAS

Usually the studios wait until the diamond heroes are out of the big leagues, as with Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth and Monte Stratton. But with "The Jim Piersall Story," the central figure is still alive and lively. Piersall is playing in the outfield for the Boston Red Sox these days.

While he's out chasing fly balls, Paramount is busy shooting his biography with young Anthony Perkins in the title role. I caught up with the company at Gilmore Field, home of the Hollywood Stars baseball club.

The advertising signs in the outfield had been covered over, because trick photography would convert the California ball park into Fenway Park in Boston. Longshots had already been taken back there of a game between the Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox. Piersall himself obliged the moviemakers by knocking out a two-run homer.

A few extra were seated in the Gilmore Field stands and they cheered as the Red Sox emerged from the dugout. Perkins, as Piersall, came out slowly and frowned as he heard himself announced at s h o r t s t o p. He disliked being moved from the outfield, and this was the start of his mental problems.

Piersall became the team clown delighting the stands with his screwball antics. But no one knew that he was actually blowing his top. He suffered a breakdown and was treated in a mental institution. He conquered his problems and returned successfully to baseball.

Perkins came over to chat when he finished the scene. The part was a tough one, he admitted, and not merely because he must go off his rocker.

"I'm left-handed, and I had to learn to throw with my right hand," he remarked. "I never did play much baseball in school, anyway."

Baseball pictures have sometimes been a bugaboo in Hollywood, since few of them have succeeded. The reasoning behind this is that women do not flock to the diamond epics. Nor are they well-received abroad, where the game is not understood. Exception: Japan.

"That won't be so much of a problem," Perkins said. "The baseball angle won't be featured in the advertising. Besides, baseball doesn't play too much of a part in the story. It's largely the story of a father - son relationship, and it could be played against any background."

Will Use Helicopter to Chart Mt. Rainier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Using a helicopter, the government will make an effort to determine more accurately the height of Mt.Rainier in Washington's Cascade Mountains.

If the weather is favorable, the flight will be made early tomorrow.

The present accepted height, measured in 1913, is 14,408 feet — making it the fourth highest spot in the continental United States. However, the U.S. Geological Survey said some scientists believe modern instruments will show Mt. Rainier to be 50 to 60 feet higher than that.

Mt. Whitney in California, at 14,495 feet, is accepted as the highest spot in the country.

Pakistan to Buy Surplus

Elvis Presley? Sorry, Never Heard of Him

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — About 50 embarrassed young rock 'n roll fans are consoling themselves with records and trying to forget a 120-mile round trip in pursuit of a rumor.

The teen-agers piled into automobiles one night last week and took off for Binghamton because they had heard that their idol, Elvis Presley, was appearing there.

Just From Meanness

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Cecil Canada, co-owner of the Best Ever Ice Cream Co., says he's got a pretty good idea of why there were two trucks of melted ice cream and two inches of water on the office floor when he arrived for work. His theory is that storebreakers, angered because they found no money in the office, made the big mess "just from pure meanness."

Tweeds Toned to Luxury

Clothes-conscious college men will appreciate the trim, longer line of this jacket and the ease with which it can be kept fresh. It is a light gray-blue in a rugged fabric blended equally of dacron polyester fiber and cotton, with navy nylon rib knitting at neck and wrists.

Tweeds, flannels and coverts with the touch of luxury are the new fall development of the style trend in men's suitings.

Richness—in touch, coloring and patterns—is the logical latest step in a postwar trend that brought the introduction of these traditionally casual fabrics into men's suits for business wear.

CAME AS CHANGE

Tweeds came into favor as a change from the smooth-finished fabrics men had worn for some 15 years. The first tweed suits were in the same traditional patterns and textures associated with country wear. And although men liked the change, the casual nature of the fabrics paved the way for the popularity flannel suits enjoy.

The boldness is missing from the new fall tweeds, and their rich, subdued colors make them as distinctive as any business suit a man can choose.

This soft-to-the-touch modern fiber, which has become so well known in sweaters, is blended in a 30-40 per cent ratio with wool. It lends the new tweeds the drape and feel associated with the finest suitings.

HOLD PRESS

Since orlon has good press retention qualities, the new suits have extra ease-of-care convenience, for they hold their trim lines longer between pressings.

Flannels and coverts, as well, are made, in this modern fiber blend.

Use of faint quarter-inch wide stripes on a background of a small weave pattern is typical of the new tweed styling. One suit of this type of modern fiber styling has stripes of a warm, medium brown spaced an inch apart on a small step weave in which black, dark tan and white are used.

The quiet formality of narrow chalk stripes spaced a quarter-inch apart makes this pattern a welcome revival in fall flannels of orlon and wool. A new brown, a slightly lightened chocolate brown, makes its appearance in this handsome pattern.

Covert, the handsome twill suiting with a slightly napped surface, has the extra convenience of good press retention in this modern fiber blend.

GREEN FAVORED

The single-breasted suit is firmly established as the national favorite, with little change forthcoming for fall.

While the higher closing, more formal looking three-button coat model was the favorite of younger men, with the looser two-button model the numerical favorite, the two models seem on close to even terms in popularity.

The Ivy, or university model suit, which must have a three-button coat and unpadded shoulders, without question, seems to have no opposition among college men and recent college graduates.

However, some men find the cut restrictive of arm movement and prefer suits with a fuller coat body. This has brought about a trim compromise model that has the lapel styling of the university suit, but with slight shoulder padding and more coat fullness.

The trim new double-breasted suit, with four buttons rather than the six used on the old models, continues to be found among financial and advertising centers of larger cities.

Rich, subdued colors are the newest phase of the trend that has brought tweed suitings into favor for business wear. Orlon acrylic fiber, in a 30 per cent blend with wool, accounts for this suit's luxurious softness and adds good press retention. The background is a small step weave of black, brown and white, with faint vertical stripes of warm, medium brown.

Deep pile fabrics of soft, lightweight orlon blended with dynel make their first appearance in men's coats this fall. Coats of these modern fibers have no appeal for moths and are comfortably light in weight — lighter than the appearance would lead one to expect. Shown here in glossy black, they also are made in polo tan, brown and steel gray.

Fall suit silhouette emphasizes higher placement of lapels on the coat body, three-button closing designed to be worn with center button closed. The fabric is one of the pleasantly soft-feeling blends of orlon acrylic fiber and wool in a two-tone gray herringbone pattern.

Rugged good looks of the storm coat again are in favor for fall, in both single and double breasted models. The new coats will hold their shape and will hold a press. The collar is soft orlon acrylic fiber which is also used as the lining for the bottom half of the coat.

Play Wins Acclaim of Audiences

'Love or Money' Now in 2nd Week at Will-O-Way

The ever popular theme of "For Love or Money" by F. Hugh Herbert, now in its second week at Will-O-Way Playhouse has delighted audiences since its inception in 1914.

It was in September of that year that Jean Webster's novel "Daddy Longlegs" made its debut on Broadway. Ruth Chatterton played the young orphaned girl who falls in love with an unknown benefactor many times her senior.

Not only has "Daddy Longlegs" withstood the years, but the play's wonderful idea of the May-December romance has caught the fancy of audiences and playwrights. Today, on Broadway, "Middle of the Night" and "the Most Happy Fella" both echo the sentiments of "Daddy Longlegs."

In "For Love or Money," author Herbert brings the concept of "Daddy Longlegs" brightly up to date. A sweet young lady seeks shelter at the Long Island home of an aging matinee idol. As she stays on, her feeling of gratitude changes to love for the older man.

William D. Smith and Janet Simpson are starred in the comedy. Others in the cast are Mady Correll, Danny Simpson, Bertha Forman, Lillian Hicks, Paul Caplan and Frederick L. Morris. The comedy will run through Aug. 14.

Jimmy Dean's as Popular as Ever With Movie Fans

Actor's Death Can't Stem Flow of Mail; Even Brando Playing Second Fiddle

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Despite his untimely death, James Dean's fan mail is topping that of every other Hollywood star.

Claire Rochelle, who heads movietown's fan mail service, reported today the late young actor receives between 5,000 and 6,000 letters a month. For the past three months he has received more mail than top-rater Marlon Brando.

"The letters reflect the sorrow, pity and unhappiness the fans feel over his loss," Miss Rochelle said.

"Some say they are heartbroken. Many say they don't believe he is really dead. Others say they realize he is gone, but they are convinced his spirit still lives."

Recently, it was rumored Dean's studio, Warner Brothers, planned to consult psychologists in connection with their selling campaign for Dean's last film, "Giant." But director George Stevens denied such plans.

Stevens said the studio "definitely" has no intention of exploiting Dean's tragic end.

The director told a Hollywood trade paper he is appalled at the "macabre lengths" to which some publications have gone in building up the "mystic elements" of the actor's death.

"It's a desecration to his memory to indicate he was a mystic," Stevens objected.

Dark stripes are one of the handsome fall patterns in men's easy-care knitted shirts blended of orlon and wool. Black-brown is the background color for ginger stripes of this model, which is soft and needs no blocking when washed because of its high content of orlon.

Winter Fabrics Have Easy-Care Features

Sports Togs Have New Flair, Color

Colorful styling and easy-care rugged fabrics give this year's winter sports clothes a flair and new convenience that is a far cry from the lumberjack look of past years.

The new hunting and ski togs are handsome enough to wear for weekend errands around town, and their easy care makes them a natural for about-the-house work.

Use of bright winter colors and fabrics with a high content of the modern fibers—dacron polyester fiber, orlon acrylic fiber and nylon—accounts for the new level of interest and modern easy-care properties of winter sports clothes.

Winter red, a bright scarlet, is a favorite pattern color, frequently used with gray and black as background colors.

One handsome jacket for skiing, skating or general wear which is typical of this use, has a rugged gray body fabric of dacron blended equally with cotton. Black nylon rib knitting is used for wristlets, at the waist and for the turtle-neck collar. The winter red appears in a pointed collar of soft nylon fleece, set around the turtle neck and designed to be worn up when wind protection is needed.

Because of its high content of dacron—with its ability to hold garment shape and to ease away wear wrinkles—plus nylon, the jacket is ready to wear after it has been washed and hung to drip dry.

NEW SPORTSWEAR BLUE

A new, light winter blue for sportswear dramatizes the contribution of the man-made fibers, for such light shades were not practical until the modern fibers brought wash and wear clothing into being.

Lighter shades are a pleasant change for the winter scene, and since they are easily maintained in wash and wear clothes, the wearer doesn't need to worry about accidental soiling.

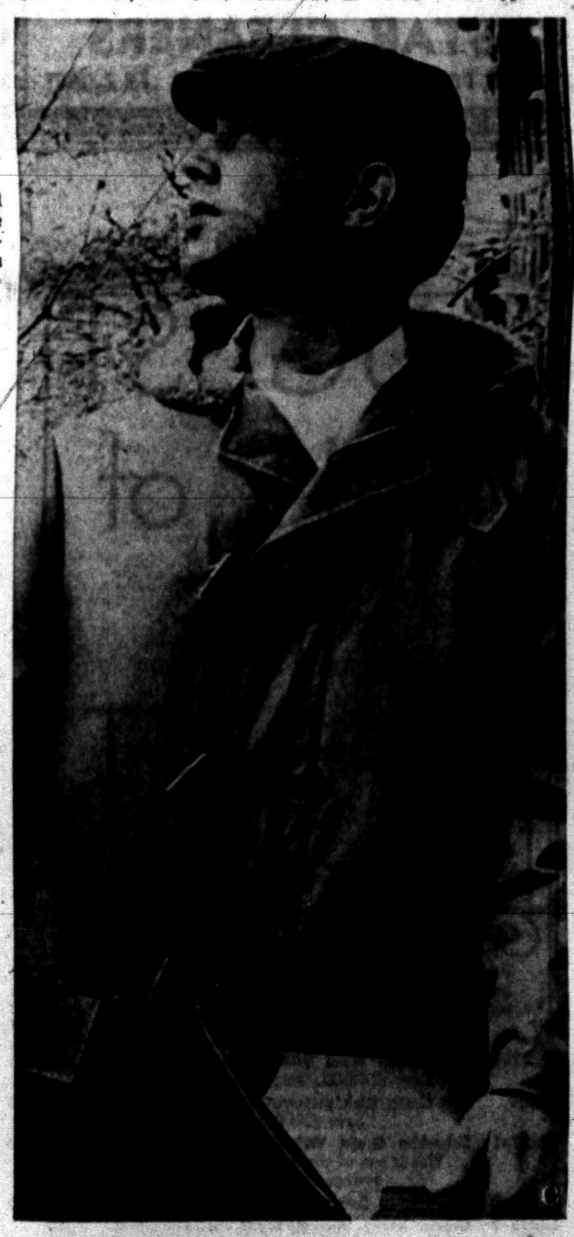
Typical use of the new blue is in a hip-length zipper jacket, neatly cut with trim vertical lines. The shell, in a hard-wearing fabric blended equally of dacron and cotton, is in the blue; and nylon rib-knit wristlets and waistband are navy.

The body lining is a soft fleece of nylon and sleeves have quilted nylon lining. Use of a high content of these modern fibers in all parts of the jacket makes it reliably wash and wear.

White turned up on college campuses several years ago as a new winter color, and it continues to be well represented in fall zipper jackets.

There are now the standard type of jacket for high school and college knockabout wear, and are given a great deal of wear for sports activities as well.

Use of white, of course, makes easy care a must and this is no problem with wash and wear jackets, in which white appears.



College men will favor this handsome, reliably neat-looking toggle coat for everyday wear, and older men will like it for weekend wear and hunting. It is long wearing and is easily kept neat. Of light coffee colored poplin, it is lined with a warm quilted lining and has a hood trimmed with soft pile fabric of orlon.

Coin Tones Popular

Perhaps the biggest news in fall sportswear fashions is the antique coin tones for color. Gold, brass, copper and deep rust all will be seen a lot.

Coming Events

Jersey Has Picasso Touch

PARIS (INS)—In their new autumn jersey clothes, Parisian gals will resemble Picasso paintings or Cleopatra.

Jersey—whether of wool, cotton or a man-made fiber—is to play a leading role in the autumn wardrobes of chic Parisiennes.

And besides plain jersey fabrics, Paris manufacturers will use Jacquard knits and jersey weaves that resemble pique, ottoman and even brocade.

Pierany, expert Jersey manufacturer, has brought out an original Jacquard jersey with patterns in a Picasso mood. He shows one jersey dress for autumn wear on which an odd scribble pattern in white on black resembles a Picasso signed painting.

To make girls feel cheerful in it as well as different looking, Pierany uses gay color combinations. The most Parisian looking "mummies" are in powder blue on a charcoal grey background.

Among the more conservative Jacquard patterned jersey clothes is a herringbone design in beige and hazel-nut brown. Used for a tailored two-piece outfit, it has the smartness of a tweed suit.

Jersey with an ottoman or pique weave is used for elegant afternoon and cocktail dresses.

'Personality Overshadows Looks'

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Robert Weede, who has been a distinguished baritone of opera and concert stage for 20 years, is now star of the overnight smash hit "The Most Happy Fella." This is his first role in a Broadway musical.

It is interesting to listen in the lobby during intermission to the swooning comments of the women in his audience.

Usually it is a tall, handsome guy who stimulates such sentiments as "Isn't he lovable?"

"No wonder the girl falls in love with him. How could she resist him?" "Don't you think he is fascinating?" and so forth. This time it is rather unusual, because frankly Mr. Weede is middle-aged, heavy set and bald.

A visit backstage after the final curtain proved interesting. Asked how he accounts for the romantic feeling he evokes in his audience when he has such a hard time in the play winning the heroine's heart, he shrugged his shoulders and said:

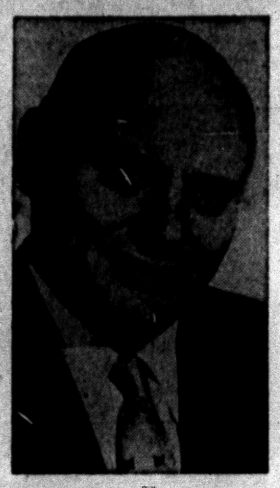
"It's the way the part is written. A man like that offers a girl emotional security." Tony (the part he plays) is a warm, lovable man, but the girl in the play has been hurt and it takes him a little while to realize this.

EMOTION IS KEY

Robert Weede leaned forward and tapped the top of his shiny pate and said, "It is the projection of feeling which dominates a performance, not the adorned or unadorned state of the cranium.

He continued, "Do you know that this is the first time in 20 years I've appeared on-stage without a wig for an opera role or, reluctantly, at the anxious insistance of managers and impressarios, a toupe for concerts?

"In all that time, so far as I know, I never caused feminine hearts in my audience to skip a beat. But here in "The Most Happy Fella" I'm at long last bald in a role, and people like you tell me that women in my audiences react romantically."



ROBERT WEEDE

Mr. Weede feels strongly that folks place far too much emphasis on defects in appearance. He believes in changing what can be changed for the better if it is important to happiness or health, and he said,

"I am all in favor of people making the best of themselves, and beauty columns like yours which are concerned with the flowering of the full personality, are valuable. But I think that there are times when the importance of a physical defect is exaggerated, that it is sometimes a good thing to accept yourself as you are and go on from there.

"This play has convinced me of it! "He continued, "As Shakespeare says, 'All the world's a stage and all the people are merely players.' "But it is the projection of feeling, sincerity, warmth, interest, all such characteristics, which dominates our performance as human beings in real life situations, not the fact that we have this right or that wrong with our appearance."

Clothes Budgeting Begins at Women's Apparel Shop

The clothing budget must be balanced some way. But the place to balance it is in the clothing store, not later.

One is reminded of this fact when one sees a woman coming home from work or doing her housework in a battered cocktail dress. The dress is uncomfortable-looking and feeling. It's impractical for wear while doing dirty work and the neckline is far too low for an office.

One understands the woman's problem. There's no money in the piggy for a new work dress. And there's that three-seasons-old dressy dress, doing nothing in the closet.

But it doesn't work.

A woman on a limited budget for clothing should never be faced with this situation. If a woman wears office clothes more than she wears casual clothes, or if she wears house dresses more than she wears party dresses, her budget should be allotted accordingly.

MAKE 'EM LAST

And the clothes for which one has only occasional need — be they party clothes or town suits—swimming clothes or town suits—should last many seasons.

They should be of good durable quality and they should be strictly classic. It's obvious that if one can afford only half a party dress a year, one must buy one that will do for two seasons.

Rarely does a piece of clothing move successfully from one category of wear to another. Beat-up lounging pajamas won't do for the garden. Worn-out riding pants are impossible for scrubbing the floor. The clothes in a category must do for that job as long as the budget dictates.

5 'Don'ts' to Help Parents Get Along With Teenagers

Keep Way Open to Talk Things Out; Don't Harp, Snoop, Criticize Friends

By RUTH MILLET

In almost any book or article you read on helping your child through adolescence you will find these words: "Keep the channel of communication between you open."

This is just a high-falutin' way of saying, "Don't do anything to make your teenager clam up on you."

That's good advice. But how do you manage it? Well, in this instance what you don't do is probably more important than what you do.

A few of the important don'ts are:

Don't criticize his friends. If you absolutely have to forbid him to run around with a certain friend because the friend is really a bad influence, do it. But don't just pick his friends to pieces, finding fault with one's manners, another's dress or another's lack of parental control.

NO CUTTING REMARKS

Don't make derogatory remarks about teenagers in general. You would be surprised how many teenagers today think that grownups don't understand or even like them.

Don't ridicule teenage fads. They may seem silly to you, but you probably went in for just as crazy fads when you were growing up. And even if you didn't, following fads is important to your teenager.

Don't keep harping on how you did this and that when you were a kid. That's ancient history to your child though it may seem like yesterday to you. It's his teenage years your child is living, not yours.

NO SNOOPING

Don't snoop into your child's private life. It is quite one thing to make sure that you know his friends, know where he is going when he leaves home and quite another to read his mail, listen in on his telephone conversations, and make a habit of checking up on him to see if he is telling you the truth.

* * *

Additional Portion to Waitress Proper if Guests Dine

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "I am staying for the summer at a small resort hotel where I have the same waitress serving me regularly. I give her a tip at the end of each week.

"On the weekends my daughter and her husband come up and visit me and I have them as guests at my table, should my son-in-law tip the waitress when he leaves, or is my usual amount sufficient?"

Answer: If he does not give anything himself you would have to add a reasonable proportion to the tip you give.

Dear Mrs. Post: "When introduced to a lady standing quite a distance away, is it necessary for a man to rise? I believe you've said he gets up only for a lady who joins his group"

Answer: He would be expected to rise if introduced to a lady who is standing. He would make the gesture of slightly rising even though they were all seated.

Dear Mrs. Post: "In many restaurants tartar sauce is served in a small paper cup right on the plate with the fish. Will you please tell me how this should be eaten?"

Answer: You either take a small portion on your fork from the cup and put it on each bite of the fish; or, if you prefer, you can empty the contents out at one time and put it on your plate beside the fish.

Nightgown? Who Would Ever Guess?

NEW YORK (INS) — Time was when you could tell a girl was dressed for sleep because she wore pajamas or a nightie.

But this year a girl getting set for bed is more apt to look as if she's ready for the ski-slopes, a tour of the Taj Mahal, a hitch in the Army or a performance of "Punch and Judy."

LIKE ANYTHING BUT

The latest nightwear styles are designed to look like anything but. For instance, there's one pajama set that consists of "ski" pants, "ski" sweater and "ski" boots.

There's another PJ outfit that looks like an oriental harem costume, all gilt and gauzy.

For variety, you can also buy a "Punchinello" pajama that combines a harlequin shirt with skinny, stage-type tights. Or a "regimental" guardsman's outfit that puts a striped European army shirt over skinny pants.

The girl who prefers a nightie has a choice — either the ultra-stylish nightshirt cut exactly like an Ivy League man's shirt, or something frillier and more familiar.

Formula for Breaking Gossip Habit

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Gossip ruins more careers than anything I know. I do not mean the gossip people spread about us, but the habit of gossiping in which too many of us indulge.

I've known older women who got fired from their jobs for gossiping too much. I know young business girls whose tendency to gossip caused so much trouble in the office, that they were dismissed.

I've known volunteer workers who seriously undermined a necessary community organization, and men who lost big orders, because they couldn't stop gossiping.

Gossiping is a hard habit to break.

We may mean to, we may resolve that it's got to stop, we may swear not to say an unpleasant word about anyone, but then we find ourselves slipping. Or, even though we keep our own resolve, others begin a nice juicy gossip session and we can't stop them. What to do?

LEARNED TRICK

He told me of a man who, right after the Civil War, was guest of honor at a big dinner, given in the South. When it came time for the toast, the host, a Southerner said, "To all brave Confederate soldiers who fought so valiantly."

Now, there were Northerners at the banquet, too and my grandfather's friend was on the spot.

If he drank the toast, he would alienate his Northern friends and if he refused to drink it, we would alienate his Southern friends — and tempers were touchy.

He solved it beautifully. He raised his glass and said, "to all brave men, everywhere!"

GENERALIZE

If Susie says, "The trouble with Joe is, he's always late," don't go on about Joe. Discuss tardiness in general and go off into anecdotes or discussions of people who are always early and people who are always late.

If Betty makes a crack about Mary's hat, don't go on—or allow Betty to go on—about Mary's atrocious taste. Discuss hats in general.

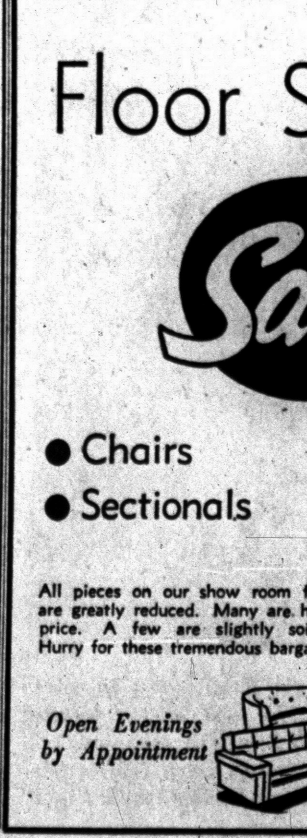
This simple trick will do more to change the atmosphere of a gossipy session than anything I know.

By refusing to dwell on the specific, and taking it to the general discussion, you not only break your own gossip habit, but you help other people to break theirs. And this will do more for your success, in business and socially, than anything I know!



People can live without air for a few minutes, without food for days, and without brains for life.

Phone Ring Lights Lamp

NEW YORK (INS) — One of the biggest threats to life and limb is the telephone that rings in a dark room.

Many's the twisted ankle or barked shin resulting from a dash through a black room to answer the telephone's summons.

Louis Goyette, head of an electronic safety firm, broke his leg one night while on his way to answer the telephone, and as a result invented a table lamp which lights on the first ring.

This lamp breaks no telephone company rules since it does not connect electronically with the phone or phone outlet.

JUST PLUG IN

You just plug the lamp into the wall socket and place the phone on the attached stand.

The first obvious objection to this arrangement is what happens if the phone rings, the light lights and there's no one there to answer.

But the inventor says that the lamp will turn itself off automatically after about a minute if no one answers the phone.

The lamp comes in traditional, contemporary and modern styles and a variety of colors. The approximate retail price is $22.50.

Men Take Note: It's Slack Season

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—This is the slack season. And the slack manufacturers are happy about it. You should be, too, for the slack has come a long way.

To begin with, the word "slack" can be traced all the way back to the Latin "laxus," which means spacious or loose. That's the same word that gave birth to our "relax," and so slacks and relax are first cousins. And the two go together like Porfirio and Rubirosa.

Actually, slacks as we know them are a development of the Army. The idea of having a spare pair of trousers, a little looser and more comfortable, first occurred to some unknown hero in the military branch.

And the word, applied to trousers, is believed to have been born in the Army, too.

Nowadays, slacks are one of the most versatile items in any man's wardrobe. If you were cast away on a desert island, the probability is that the second thing you'd want would be a pair of slacks. (First, of course, would be a good book.)

GO ANYPLACE

A man can wear slacks to work, with a contrasting jacket if needed. He can wear them dancing or to parties, with a sports jacket that complements or contrasts in color. Wear them for sports or for plain old loafing. They're comfortable.

And, of late, they've become more and more good-looking. Designers are paying as much attention to them as to ordinary trousers.

Gone is the extremely loose look that made slacks seem to have been tailored by a wornout sailmaker. Today, they are just as comfortable as ever — but neater.

This summer has seen the introduction of handsomely tailored slacks in new featherweight fabrics. Such material as avisco rayon and wash-and-wear blends of acetate and rayon are ideal for slacks—cool, good-looking, easy to take care of, crease-resistant, colorfast.

Just be sure, in building an outfit around a pair of slacks, that your shirt color goes with your slacks. If you have grey slacks, for example, the best bet is a sportshirt in some shade of blue.

With brown slacks, a tan or yellow or orange shirt looks good. White, of course, is always acceptable.

But slacks come in many colors. The avisco fabric is available in green, tobacco brown, Caribbean blue, charcoal, maize, rust, cocoa, black, silver grey, Bermuda tan and something called skipper. These days, slacks are inexpensive enough and useful enough so you can have a few pair.

The Latins, with their "laxus," started the whole thing. Wonder if there was ever a Caribbean blue toga?

Off the rack: If you must wear a tie to work these are the days that call for a clip-on bow tie. They attach to the collar, thus eliminating any tie fabric around your neck. According to a tie firm, more than 85 per cent of bow ties sold these days are clip-ons. This summer, medium tones are most popular. The novelty-pleated hand-painted tricky stitches that were featured last summer are happily gone. Neat stripes and conservative solid colors are the best bet.

Says Reds Accepting Debunking of Stalin

MOSCOW (AP)—An American senator says Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev told him the Kremlin's attack on Stalin "was something the Russian people took in their stride."

Sen. Ellender (D-La) had a 2½-hour conversation with Khrushchev, one of the longest interviews the Soviet party boss has granted a Westerner recently.

Ellender said Khrushchev, asked about his February speech denouncing Stalin, replied the "people of Russia didn't resent the truth."

Khrushchev added that talk of a crisis over the move against Stalin "was only a figment of the imagination of politicians on the Washington level."

Says Cloud Seeding Didn't Turn Twister

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence suggesting that the only hurricane ever subjected to artificial cloud seeding "would have turned anyway" was reported today by a U.S. Weather Bureau meteorologist.

Forecaster Conrad Mook said an intensive study of the October 1947 hurricane indicates that at the time it was seeded it "was either standing still, and therefore likely to recurve soon from natural causes, or it had already started to recurve."

Mook said in an interview that his findings "appear to rule out" the suggestion by Dr. Irving Langmuir of the General Electric Co. that "the seeding of the hurricane may have played at least a contributory role in the hurricane abruptly changing its course."

Dr. Langmuir was chief consultant on an armed forces research project during which the hurricane in question was seeded with dry ice.

The hurricane hit Miami, Fla., Oct. 9, 1947, then veered in a northeast direction out to sea. It ultimately swung back and hit Savannah, Ga., doing damage estimated at five million dollars.

Gov. McKeldin to Be Named for Vice President

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—Unless Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin vetoes the idea, he's going to find his name placed in nomination for vice president on the Republican ticket.

State Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, a convention delegate, said last night his candidates "would be Ike and Ted."

"If the governor doesn't stop me, I'll certainly place his name in nomination," he said. "Of course, I would not go against the governor's wishes."

McKeldin couldn't be reached for comment. But two days ago he rejected Harold E. Stassen's request that he support Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts for second spot on the GOP ticket with this comment: "I shall await the word of our presidential nominee as to his preference of a running mate."

Troy Township Seen Vanishing

Chrysler Purchase Takes Most of Land Housing 28 Voters

TROY—The land purchased by Chrysler Corp. will take up most of two sections that now form all but one lot of residential Troy Township, according to City of Troy Clerk Lawson Lockhardt.

The land includes some of the city's land also, he says, but he was not sure of how much.

"If that present township area doesn't belong to the city by the time that Chrysler builds a plant there, the city will probably have to work out some arrangement for police and fire protection with the township," Lockhardt says.

The Corporation has indicated that it has no immediate plans to build, but feels that land should be purchased before all available land was used.

The Chrysler purchase is bounded by Long Lake, Crooks, Square Lake and Coolidge roads, with other tracts in adjacent area.

The two sections of township land, house 28 registered voters of whom two opposing and two assenting votes were cast in a recent election to join the city of Troy.

Bounding roads are Crooks, Coolidge, Square Lake and Wattles road which is a mile south of Long Lake road, the southern Chrysler boundary.

The Troy Township area includes a single lot bounded on three sides by Royal Oak and one side by Clawson, and White Chapel Cemetery. Royal Oak is expected to take over the single lot.

The two sections at the north will probably be subject of another vote, Lockhardt says, if city officials do not find some way in which to take it over without a vote.

Township Faces Choice of Leader

Farmington Officials to Meet Tuesday for 2nd Appointment This Year

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — When the Farmington Township Board meets next week, they will again be faced with the necessity of appointing a new supervisor.

Ward Eagle's resignation last week leaves the township without a supervisor for the second time in four months.

Eagle, who has been a board member for 28 years, was appointed supervisor in April, following the death of E. V. Blanchard. At the time of his appointment, Eagle made it clear that he was reluctant to accept so great a responsibility and that he was doing so from a sense of duty to his township and only on a temporary basis.

He stated at the time that he would attempt to take care of some of the work which had accumulated during Blanchard's long illness, but felt that a younger man should be found for the job.

Upon his resignation, Eagle said, "I have done the best I could and I regret to sever my connection with the Township Board. However, for personal reasons I feel it advisable that I not continue in office."

Both board members and residents expressed regret at his resignation.

Call Meeting in Waterford

Government Committee Forms to Study Future of Township

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The problem of the township's future government will be considered when a committee of Waterford Township residents meets next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the township hall.

This study committee is a product of the two general meetings earlier in the year sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Business and Professional Women's groups.

The first meeting pointed out the advantages and disadvantages of annexation to Pontiac.

Several interested citizens then volunteered to be on the study committee.

However, the meeting and committee membership are open to the public, according to Charles Pappas, Jaycee representative, and Mrs. E. L. Windeler, BPW representative.

Bob Kearns Seeks Opera Song Career

UTICA — Bob Kerns, operatic singer who appeared Sunday night on the Ed Sullivan show, plans to study opera either abroad or in the United States when he leaves the Air Force.

But Kerns, son of Dr. Thomas Kerns, 7877 Stead St., Utica, has three more years of his four-year stint.

A member of the "Singing Sergeants," of the Air Force Band, he sang in the televised show at McGuire A. F. Base in New Jersey.

Before entering service a year ago, he received his degree from University of Michigan, where he had studied singing.

Troy Decides on Firehall Site

Delemere and 16 Mile Corner Purchased Last Night

TROY—Purchase of five acres at $2,250 an acre for a new fire station on the western side of the City of Troy was tentatively approved last night by city commissioners.

The site at Delemere, (between Crooks and Coolidge Roads) and 16-Mile or Big Beaver Road, was among several studied by Elmer Schroeder, fire chief, and commissioners.

Urged by underwriters threatening higher insurance rates, the western fire station will probably house a fire engine, pumper, booster and perhaps a tank truck.

Stations are now at 19 Mile and Livernois Roads, and near 16 Mile Road on Rochester Road.

The new building will be erected as soon as plans can be drawn up, officials indicate.

A curfew for Troy youngsters under 17 was approved last night. The new ordinance, which needs a second hearing, would require that parents accompany a child, provide him with a permit, or allow him to attend a school, church or organization meeting approved by police.

Following a talk by Donald C. Egbert, on the North Evergreen Authority, city commissioners approved tentatively an agreement to abide by authority plans.

Drain routings in the Wendover and Thornwood Subdivisions drew much discussion, but no decision was reached.

Forecast Higher Prices for Twelve Town Drain

TROY — "Cost of the Twelve Town Drain could be substantially more than the 30 million dollars which officials are talking about," says Jack Hutson, Troy city attorney.

Hutson has met last week and will meet again on Thursday with Robert Allen, attorney for Twelve Town Drain planners.

He says, "There is a feeling in some quarters that when the Drain officials take bids for contracts, that the cost will be much above the present estimates."

"Usually cost estimates are low," he adds.

Hutson says his city is most concerned with the limited amount of area and the apportionment of the cost assigned to it for the drain.

"Troy has about 20,000 acres and this only takes in 900 acres," he says. "That about four per cent. What about the other 96 per cent?"

The approximate share for Troy of the drain cost is $1,900,000.

Possibility that only residents of the 900 acres served by the drain could be assessed for the cost, rather than the city at large, is being studied by Hutson and city officials, he says.

THE POWERHOUSE

By JIMMY POWERS

Johnny Logan and Gene Conley were busy shucking civilian clothes and putting on their gray Braves traveling uniforms.

How does it feel to be in the hostile east, away from all that hometown adulation, the sports writer with the Hawaiian pineapples emblazoned on his shirt wanted to know.

"This might surprise you, Jimmy, but in a way it's a relief," said Logan. "Don't get me wrong. I'm deeply appreciative of everything Milwaukee has done for me.

"I have to pinch myself sometimes when I see now nice they are to ballplayers—even umpires. They wine you and dine you and drag you out to their christenings and weddings and introduce you to everyone in the family from grandma down to a youngster in the cradle, but, it's like living in a big goldfish bowl. You pay for it."

The tall Conley nodded . . . "Of course, I like the road because I haven't won a game at home. All my wins have been on the road where, up to this Dodger series, I was going at a 1.000 clip. But I think I know what Johnny means . . ."

"He goes into a bar, say, and has one beer. He's nice to all hands, signs a few autographs and gets out of there. I bet inside an hour that one beer has ballooned into 20 beers. Pretty soon, it gets back to Fred Haney."

"Did he know Logan was on the booze heavy? The fellow was pie-eyed. Half a dozen guys saw it with their own eyes. Not that they have anything against a glass of beer, y'understand, but—"

Logan neatly laced a shoe . . . "My best break came when Haney read me a letter he got in the mail. It was a typical squeal letter. I'd been out all night plastered in a certain joint on a certain street."

"The writer felt 'duty bound' to tell Haney about it. It was for my own best interest, he said. The funny part about it was that I had never heard of the joint before and the night he was talking about I was with Haney, himself."

Haney laughed and said, 'Now, look—don't try to take a free ride the rest of the summer on this alibi'."

Tigers Beat Tribe, Eye 1st Division

A 9-0 whitewashing administered by fireballing Paul Foytack to the Cleveland Indians last night leaves the Tigers just 4½ games behind the 4th-place White Sox.

Foytack fanned eight Indians to run his club-leading total to 118. The 25-year-old Pennsylvania native walked only three men.

"If I can keep from walking too many batters," he said after the game, "I'm OK. But when I'm wild, I might as well forget about winning."

Foytack pitched the game despite a bad cold. "After sitting on the bench all last season, I'd pitch if I had to crawl out there," he said.

For seven innings the young righthander struggled with the Cleveland ace southpaw, Herb Score. The American League's strikeout leader, Score fanned 11 batters before he was lifted for a pinch hitter after seven innings.

Foytack nursed a 2-0 lead until the 8th, when the Bengals ripped into Cleveland reliefers Art Houtteman, an ex-Tiger, and Bob Feller for seven runs on six hits and three walks.

The big blow was Ray Boone's bases-loaded triple off Feller. Houtteman gave up a single to Harvey Kuenn, walked pinch hitter Earl Torgeson and Charlie Maxwell bunted down the 3rd base line to load the bases.

Feller was the victim of Boone's triple that extended the Detroit 3rd baseman's hitting streak to eight games. He also allowed Bill Tuttle's single that scored Boone, another single by Frank Bolling and a walk to Red Wilson that loaded the bases.

Up for the 2nd time in the inning, Kuenn and Torgeson brought home runs—Kuenn with a sacrifice fly and Torgy with a single. The 4th Cleveland pitcher, Cal McLish, finally retired the side.

Star-Studded Show

Top U. S. Swimmers at OH

By H. GUY MOATS

At least a half dozen Olympic and nationally-rated swimming stars have been named as the star-studded attraction for Oakland Hills Country Club's annual water carnival on Saturday night.

OHCC's aquatic director Jim Gilston said today that the weekend event is "probably the finest we have ever presented."

Gilston pointed out that the roster of stars will include two of the famed Washington D.C. Walter Reed Swimming club's most outstanding performers in Shelley Mann, American and world record holder and Dougie Gray, 800-meter free style relay team member. The team holds the American record.

Former English diving champion and member of Britain's Olympic team, Tony Turner, Detroit AC's divers Barbara Sue Gilders (senior AAU 3-meter board champion) and Jeanne Stunyo (2nd in Pan-Am games 3-meter board) promise some very interesting and authoratative performances from the springboards. Turner is employed at Grosse Pt. CC at present.

A tentative promise has been given by Jack Wardrop, University of Michigan's great 220-yard world record holder and member of the British Olympic team to take part in the program.

DAC's brilliant AAU national senior 220-yard and 100-meter free style champion, Dick Hanley, will be one of the leading attractions. All in the group will be trying for Olympic berths in the Detroit trials.

Another big pool hightlight, climaxing the season for the Michigan Inter-Club Swimming Association of which Oakland Hills is a member, has been set for Red Rum's pool on Aug. 25-26, with the best aquatic performers of the 11-club roster in action. About 40 youngsters have been swimming with the Oakland Hills team this summer.

Babe's Second Operation OK, Surgeons Say

It was the second operation in the past three weeks for the famed woman athlete, who is fighting a recurrence of cancer.

Hospital officials said the 3-hour operation rerouted the intestine around the obstruction. They said followed numerous tests and X-rays Sunday and yesterday.

Divers Open Olympic Trials

DETROIT (AP)—Six trips to Melbourne went on the line today as a huge field of male and female aquatic stars opened competition for the 46 berths on the American Olympic swimming and diving team.

"The best field ever, for both men and women," said Charles Roeser, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Men's Swimming Committee, as he watched the male springboard divers start the four-day tryouts in the Brennan Pools in Rouge Park.

There were 62 divers in the initial event at 9:30 a.m., EST, and a total of about 400 men and women battling for the prized positions, 25 of which will go to the men and 21 to the feminine contingent. The first three in the men's dive and 100-meter finals, only finals on tap today, earned the journey to Australia.

Some of the brightest performers of the squad moved into action on inaugural day including Mrs. Pat McCormick, the double 1952 diving champion bidding for an unprecedented "double double"; Hawaii's Ford Konno, 1500-meter king and 400-meter runner-up at Helsinki; Bill Woolsey, another Hawaiian ace who was on the winning 800-meter relay team in Finland and such world-record holders as George Breen, Bill Yorzyk, Shelley Mann, Mary Jane Sears, and Robin Moore.

Following the men's springboard trials in the morning, the program included the men's and women's 100-meter freestyle heats, the men's diving final and the women's springboard diving trials in the afternoon, and the women's 200 meter breaststroke heat, the men's 100-meter freestyle final and the men's 400-meter freestyle heats at night.

* * *

The eight fastest in each event qualify for the finals in both men's and women's competitions. The leading 12 in the diving trials qualify for the final dives. With Bulky fields, almost all of the swimming races will have nine heats to bring out the best for the finals.

Bob Clotworthy, 25-year-old bronze medal winner of the 1952 games, and Don Harper, Ohio State's 21-year-old college kingpin and runner-up to Clotworthy in the recent AAU championships, were rated the edge over the classy group of aquatic acrobats in the 3-meter dive. Other contenders included Miller Anderson, 33, two-time Olympic runner-up; Gary Tobian, 20, two-time AAU platform king, and Gerry Harrison, former Ohio State ace now in the Navy.

'Princess' Gets Favorite's Spot

But 'Darkhorses' Give Hambletonian Several Possibilities

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—Most of the sulky veterans around Goshen like the chances of Egyptian Princess in the $100,603 Hambletonian tomorrow at Good Time Park, but there are several "dark horses" to reckon with in harness racing's greatest spectacle.

Twenty horses, third largest number ever entered for the race, will line up behind the starting gate for the classic tomorrow with the first heat set for 2 p.m., EST.

Most attention is being paid to Egyptian Princess, Saboteur, Nimble Colby and Ego Hanover—the big four so to speak.

But trainer-driver Bob Parkinson has a pair, Bold Rodney and Moray, while Ned Bower has a real dark horse in The Intruder, the latter a doubtful starter until the last minute.

'Over the Hill'

Yanks Finally Snap Worst Slump

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Yankees, quietly confident of another American League pennant, were over another "long hill" today after snapping out of their worst slump in three years against the hot-and-cold Boston Red Sox.

"It was a long hill and it's always good to get over a hill," Manager Casey Stengel said last night after the Yankees broke a six-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over the Red Sox.

The triumph boosted the Yankees' American League lead to eight games over second-place Cleveland. Boston, in third place, dropped 9½ games off the pace.

"We had a rough time, but we've been lucky, too, this season," said catcher Yogi Berra. "Everything evens up in the long run."

Even before the game, the Yanks didn't appear worried about the losing string which threatened to approach their nine-game slump of 1953. There was no sign of tension in the dugout and in pregame practice.

Stengel gambled with Ralph Terry, a 20-year-old righthander just called up from Denver in the American Assn. and the gamble paid off, thanks to fine relief pitching by veteran Tommy Byrne.

Terry, who attends Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College in the off season, hurled creditably in his major league debut, although he gave up seven hits and all three Boston runs in 5 2-3 innings.

* * *

Stengel was impressed by Terry's performance but said, "I know he has more than the two pitches he used tonight—a curve and that low fast ball."

But Case was not so impressed that he wasn't looking ahead to future games in the American League pennant fight.

HAPPY KALINE — Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers holds the silver bat awarded him in ceremonies before last night's contest with Cleveland. Kaline received the bat and a certificate for winning the American league batting title in 1955 with a .340 average. The Detroit rightfielder has been on a hitting rampage in recent weeks, raising his average to more than .300 for the first time this season.

Buick and Elks Win 'A' Games

Oliver Buick blanked the CIO Local 594 by a 3-0 score and Elks No. 723 defeated Fowler's Fine Foods, 6-2, in Class A City Baseball League games Monday night.

Ken Campbell and Don Ernst combined to hurl a five-hit shutout as the Buick club downed the CIO at Columbia-Joslyn south. Campbell was credited with the win. Jim Wagner pitched the distance for the Union team and also gave up five safeties.

Huey Thomas and Octave LeDuff joined forces for the Elks in their verdict over Fowler's at Wisner Field. Thomas, the winning pitcher, was relieved by LeDuff in the 5th and the pair limited the opposition to four hits. Lynn Wright hurled the route for the losers.

Overtime Tilts in Playoffs

Lunsford Market and Richard's Tavern won extra-inning decisions at North Side Park and Royal Bar drew 1st blood at Beaudette as the men's City Softball League playoffs got under way Monday night.

General Motors earned the right to enter the Class A district tournament at Mt. Clemens with a 5-0 verdict over Elks No. 810 at Beaudette in their argument over 2nd place in the American League.

Bob Carter's single in the bottom of the 8th inning scored Jim Csizmadia to give Lunsford a 6-5 victory over Walled Lake Market to inaugurate the National League playoffs. Carter also homered for the winners and Barry Burt clouted a round-tripper for Walled Lake.

Richard's pushed across a tainted run to edge Louie's Tavern, 4-3, in an eight-inning National division nightcap. Lloyd Harper hurled a two-hitter for Richard's and Jerry Christopherson's sensational catch of pitcher Dick Vivian's drive in the 7th saved the game for Harper.

Roger Reynolds pitched a two-hitter as Royal Bar bested Stadium Inn and Verle Sheldon, 3-1, to open the American loop tournament. Reynolds struck out 10. Royal touched Sheldon for six safeties.

Lynus Grant relieved starter Doug Hall in the 1st inning with two runners aboard and whitewashed the Elks the rest of the way on only two hits. Grant's stellar pitching put GMC in the Class A district tourney and sent the Elks into the American League playoffs.

Drayton, VFW Claim Openers

Drayton Drug and the VFW were 1st round winners in the Waterford Township League softball playoffs, which got under way Monday night at Drayton Plains.

A three-run uprising in the 6th inning was enough to hand Drayton a 4-2 victory over White Brothers in the opening game. A triple by Marshall Rose, Paul Atkins' double, a single by Don Seeterlin, an error, sacrifice and wild pitch iced the decision for the Drug squad and pitcher Jack Nelson.

Shortstop Steve Ryeson's wild throw in the 7th stanza let two base-runners romp home, enabling the VFW to nose out Gidley Electric, 4-3. With Chuck Young, who had singled, on 1st, Ryeson fielded Mike Hanes' high bounder and heaved it into left field on an attempted force to permit both runners to streak across.

Mitchell was TKO'd in the second round of the June card and has been training since then for the return match.

The bouts are slated to start at 8:00 p.m. with John Felts and Bud Goldsworthy acting as judges and Bill Strange the timekeeper.

Door prizes have been donated by 20 merchants from the Pontiac area and tickets for the bouts can be purchased at numerous business establishments in the area or at the gate.

The complete pairings of the card, with fights in all divisions will be announced later this week.

Shining Material

Stars Are Still Underdogs

Quarterback Earl Morrall, Michigan State; halfbacks Howard Cassady, Ohio State, and Bob Burris, Oklahoma; fullback Don Shaefer, Notre Dame.

Or try any combination thereof.

That's the kind of material Coach Curly Lambeau has available in shaping up the College All Stars for Friday night's classic football game against the Cleveland Browns, National Football League champs.

Nonetheless, the stars were 9½ points might go up to 12 or 13 by game time.

The All Stars don't figure to win because they're not as yet a team while the Browns are a powerful machine that battled its way to a title in the rough-and-tough pro wars. It's a tough job to take 50 individuals and mold them into a football team in a few weeks.

Lions Lose Tracy to Ottawa

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Detroit Lions lost their second battle in 10 days yesterday to Canadian pro football teams when Tom Tracy left his Pontiac home and headed for Ottawa where he will join the Roughrider's training camp.

Because of the ruling, the Detroit pro team was expecting NFL Commissioner Bert Bell to approve Tracy's contract with the Lions, thereby reciprocating against the Ottawa option clause.

Bell however refused to give Tracy the green light and as result the ex-Birmingham High School and University of Tennessee gridder has returned for his second season with the Roughriders.

As reported by the Press several weeks ago, Bell upheld his statement in which he said he would "not approve Tracy's contract with the Lions unless Ottawa gave him a release."

Ottawa president Sam Berger also told the Press at that time that his club would not release Tracy and that he "saw no possible way for the two clubs to reach an agreement.

Tracy said he received a call yesterday morning from Ottawa coach Frank Clair telling him it was his last opportunity to report to the team.

"I called Bert Bell and he told me he would not approve my Detroit contract," said Tracy, "and I want to play football, so there was nothing left for me to do but to go back to Ottawa."

The Roughriders have been in training camp for two weeks and will play their second exhibition game Friday night against Edmonton.

Clair told Tracy he has installed a new offensive system this year and the young gridder was to hold down the regular fullback slot. "He said he wanted me to play in Friday's game," Tracy told the Press before leaving Monday afternoon.

Tracy said he would seek a new contract with a salary adjustment but that he would not agree to another option clause which would make him obligated to return to Ottawa next season.

Detroit officials, who for many months were confident that Bell would side with the Lions in the case, were unhappy over the commissioner's stand.

"Tracy has the right to play in his own country, and why should Bert Bell refuse to okay the contract because he is afraid of going to court," said one Lion official, "it will be the Lions who will face the suit and not Bell."

The Lions, who opened their training camp last week in Ypsilanti, open their pre-season schedule Friday night August 17th at Toledo against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Junior Title to Drayton

Drayton Drug annexed the Waterford Junior League softball championship last night with a 1-0 decision over Associates Discount in their playoff battle at Williams Lake School.

Drayton's Jim Preston and Dick Shell of Associates both pitched three-hitters. The winning run came in the 6th inning when Johnny Studt singled, moved around to 3rd on a walk and an infield out, and scored on an error.

Boston College has beaten Boston University 21 times in 25 football meetings. One game ended in a tie.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Divot dubbing

DIAGNOSIS: Hit down on ball

TREATMENT: Even on the best-groomed courses you're bound to find your ball settled occasionally in a divot hole left unrepaired by a thoughtless player. It's a tough break, sure enough, but you've got to take it in stride and do the best you can with it.

Don't make the mistake of trying to get a lot of distance on the shot. And don't let your temper flare, because chances are that'll induce tightening up and likely dubbing of the ball.

Use an iron club to meet the lie. If the ball is deep down, as in the sketch, sound judgment is to play a pitched club, from the No. 5 to possibly a wedge. In other words, use the club with sufficent loft to assure extricating the ball, regardless of distance.

The shot calls for an abrupt descencing blow, and that means the ball should be positioned approximately in line with the right foot. If the shot is to the green, within reaching distance, lay the club back a little for height and stop. On a longer shot close the face a bit to get lower trajectory with over-spinning roll.

A firm grip with the left hand is necessary, with a pull-down of the left arm into and out after the ball. Don't ease up on the swing, as if to scoop or lift the ball out of its hole. Pull down hard and keep the left arm moving.

U. S. Communist Leader Loses Disability Payments

WASHINGTON (UP) — Robert G. Thompson, convicted Communist party official, today lost his appeal for restoration of government payments for a disability he incurred in the Army in World War II.

The Veterans Administration announced that its board of appeals had found that Thompson gave aid to the enemy by speeches he made during the Korean War and therefore is not eligible for the disability payments.

A VA spokesman said the decision is final and that Thompson, now in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, has no further avenue to appeal.

Thompson contracted tuberculosis while serving in the Pacific in World War II. He was classified for a time as 100 per cent disabled and was receiving payments of $150 monthly.

The payments were suspended in 1951 when he jumped bail after being convicted with 10 other top U.S. Communist party leaders of advocating forcible overthrow of the government.

VA said that if he were still eligible, his disability payments would be reduced to $67 a month because his tuberculosis is classed as having been arrested.

The announcement said Thompson's wife and two children are now receiving "an apportioned share of the benefits" which VA withheld from Thompson. A spokesman said this amounts to $30.50 monthly and will not be affected by the decision.

VA said the board acted under a 1944 law prohibiting disability payments to any person who renders assistance to an enemy in time of armed hostilities.

City Refuses to Ban Art by Communists

DALLAS (UP) — The City Council refused yesterday to insert a clause into a contract covering operation of the Museum of Fine Arts which would specifically prohibit Communist art.

Mrs. Sue Boren Barbre, president of the Public Affairs Luncheon Club, and Mrs. M. C. Turner Sr. appeared at the council session with a club resolution asking that the clause be inserted in the contract between the Dallas Art Assn. and the Park Board. The contract was approved yesterday.

Earlier the club sparked a row over display at the museum of an exhibit, "Sports in Art," which was alleged to include paintings by four Communist or Communist-front artists.

Hare to Keep Seeking Right to Deny Licenses

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James M. Hare says he will try anew for legislative approval to deny license renewal to drivers with bad traffic records.

The power, which Hare thought he had right along, was declared non-existent last June in Ingham County Circuit Court.

In July, Hare asked the special legislative session, through a bill filed by Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Detroit), to plug the gap. The bill promptly was pigeonholed in committee.

Hare told a meeting of the State Traffic Safety Commission Monday he will submit a new proposal when lawmakers reassemble Thursday.

Stocks Move Up as Decline Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved narrowly higher in early trading today, reversing a sharp drop of yesterday.

Trading quieted after an irregular opening and the higher trend began to develop. Price changes were mostly in fractions.

Both Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch, heavy losers and most active stocks yesterday, moved ahead a little more than a point. Standard Oil (New Jersey) advanced a small fraction.

Steels also rallied from yesterday's sell off. U.S. Steel was up about ½ and Bethlehem around a point. Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube were up by fractions.

DuPont and Dow Chemical were unchanged. American Cyanamid and Allied Chemical eased slightly.

Yesterday oils with big Middle-east interests led the market into the sharpest decline since June 8 when President Eisnhower went to a hospital with an intestinal attack. Renewed tensions over the Suez seizure touched off selling in all segments of the market, pushing the Associated Press average of 60 stocks down $2.10 to $188.80. Industrials were off $3.40, rails, $2.20 and utilities, 30 cents.

Prices were also irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Gains were made by Molybdenum and Imperial Oil, British Petroleum and Mead Johnson declined. Northeast Airlines and Kaiser Industries were unchanged.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

American Corporations Continue to Make Profits

AMERICAN Corporation —17 hed

NEW YORK (AP)—American corporations on the whole continue to make more profits than in the previous years. But weakness in some key industries pull the average gains down from the heady percentages they were reporting some months back.

In the first six months of 1956 net profits after taxes for 448 corporations, the first to report, averaged 5.5 per cent higher than in the first half of 1955. But a year ago the average gains were 34.7 per cent higher than the first six months of 1954.

About three out of four corporations, however, show increases this year. In the previous year 17 did.

The industries which as a group declined this year from the profits they reported a year ago include automobiles, auto suppliers, glass, aircraft, breweries, railroads and electric equipment. The electronics group, however, was down as a unit chiefly because of one big company being strikebound during part of the period. At midyear its books had worked back into black ink.

Utilities turned in an average 12 per cent gain in the first half of the year. The 397 industrials, combined, were up 7.4 per cent. But the 32 railroads, with 15 on the declining side and three operating in the red, showed a 23 per cent drop this year as a group.

Biggest comeback from its own private depression of 1955 was the meat-packing group which this year shows a 164.3 per cent gain in profits.

Rail equipment makers have profits averaging 65.7 per cent higher this year. Machine tool companies show combined gains of 49.6 per cent. Coal companies report a 45.5 per cent increase as they hit the comeback trail.

Oil equipment makers spurted ahead by 61.7 per cent, while the oil producers advanced 18.8 per cent to continue their steady gains year by year since the end of the war.

Sailfish Spawns Millions of Eggs

Florida Species Leaves Roe Unprotected; Cares for Its Own Life

WASHINGTON — Sailfish, silver and blue acrobats of the sport-fish world, would roam in fantastic numbers but for natural raiders upon eggs and young.

Studies by the National Geographic Society and the University of Miami's Marine Laboratory show that a single female may spawn 4,675,000 eggs and swim indifferently away. Such life secrets of the sailfish are revealed by Gilbert Voss of the Laboratory staff, writing in the current issue of the National Geographic Magazine.

Florida sailfish spawn in late spring and early summer in shallow water along Florida's shores. Heavy with roe, the females become sluggish fighters. The eggs scatter among the plankton, tiny animal and vegetable matter in the sea, and float northward in the Gulf Stream, where predators take their toll.

WORK INVOLVED

Solving life secrets of fish entails painstaking work. "While we have learned a great deal about fresh-water fishes, our knowledge of their marine cousins can at best be considered a scientific Swiss cheese, full of blank spaces," Voss says. "It is estimated that we can sketch the life histories of fewer than one out of a hundred of all ocean fishes."

The Miami Laboratory has examined some 25,000 larval fish, along with thousands of eggs. Meticulous classification has broken the riddle of 11 species.

Tinier specimens are examined under microscopes. Meticulous drawings of various-aged fish relate their stages of growth, until a complete life history unfolds.

Amidst the routine, numerous weird sea creatures pass under scrutiny—hatchet fish that flash gold and silver sides and rows of light organs; viperfish that flaunt saberlike teeth; lantern fish with headlights evolved to attract prey.

From the Marine Laboratory's studies is coming greater knowledge of the migration routes of game fish and commercial species, benefitting sportsmen, conservationists, and the fishing industry alike.

A meteorite weighing 108 pounds was found in Thule by an American student, James Conel, Burbank, Cal., while he was assisting an American geologist.

Ambulance Drivers in City to Get First Aid Training

The City Health Department is taking applications for first aid training of ambulance drivers in Pontiac in compliance with an ordinance adopted May 22.

The ordinance provides that all ambulance drivers in the city must complete an advanced course in first aid and all ambulances must be equipped with basic first aid equipment.

Dr. Charles Neafie, public health consultant for the City Health Department, says that all ambulances must carry proof of their approval. He urges all operators outside the city limits to certify vehicles and drivers even though they are not affected by the ordinance.

Application forms, course information and copies of the ordinance are now being sent to all ambulance drivers, Dr. Neafie says. Applications will be returned to his office at City Hall.

Training by instructors from Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be given on four consecutive nights each week beginning Sept. 17 from 7 to 10 p.m. and will continue through Nov. 22 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Nurses' Home, 126 Fulton St.

Ralph S. Forman, chapter chairman of first aid, says, "The same lesson will be covered each night of a given week. For example, a driver unable to attend a Monday night session may attend Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. Enrollment is limited to 15 persons per class session.

DETROIT (INS)—Chrysler Corp. announced today that it would begin model change-over operations next week at its major Detroit-area plants with most of the 35,000 hourly Chrysler employes laid off for varying periods.

A Chrysler spokesman said the change-over would be completed in September with the duration varying from plant to plant.

Most layoffs, the spokesman said, would run from two to four weeks with the periods consistent with the employes' seniority.

A majority of Chrysler employes will remain on the job throughout the retooling period, Chrysler said, with many handling the rearrangement of equipment within plants and taking inventories.

Ike Asks Reds for Cooperation

Calls Premier Bulganin on the Promises Given at Geneva Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called today on Russia's Premier Bulganin to "do more to realize the hopes which were born at our meeting at Geneva" a year ago.

In a personal letter to the Soviet leader, Eisenhower also urged anew that Russia agree to Eisenhower's earlier proposal to freeze production of atomic weapons.

He also sounded a new appeal for the Soviets to reconsider their rejection of his "open skies" aerial reconnaissance proposal.

The letter to Bulganin was in reply to one Eisenhower received June 6 proposing what Bulganin called a "new approach" to disarmament. Bulganin's plan was basically unilateral, uninspected armed forces cuts by the big powers. He coupled the proposal with one for withdrawal of all foreign forces from Germany.

Walt Disney's True Life Adventures

Security for You

Most Employes Affected by Security Law Changes

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

(Congress has just approved major revisions in the Social Security program, raised most Railroad Retirement benefits and revised the Civil Service Retirement program. This is the first of a special series explaining the changes. You may want to save the individual columns to get a complete picture of the changes.)

If you work, it's a good bet that you're affected by the changes Congress has just made in Social Security program.

That's true whether you work for somebody else or for yourself.

And, even if you don't work, but are closely related to someone covered by Social Security, the changes may affect you.

The main changes will extend coverage of the Social Security system to some 3,200,000 persons; pay Social Security benefits to certain permanently and totally disabled persons who have reached age 50; lower the retirement age for women; increase payments to the aged, blind, the permanently and totally disabled and the dependent children covered by the public assistance program.

The changes become effective on varying dates with the earliest being Oct. 1.

With fuller details to come in later columns, here, in broad outline, are the changes:

1. The Social Security program will be extended on Jan. 1 to bring under it the nearly three million men in the armed forces and about 200,000 self-employed professional people, including lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths and optometrists.

2. Any worker after reaching 50 is eligible to claim Social Security payments if he: A) Is so disabled that he can't engage in any substantial work; (B) Is suffering a medically determined physical or mental disability which is likely to last the rest of his life; (c) Has been in work covered by Social Security for five out of the ten years before he was disabled and (D) Has worked under Social Security 18 of the last 36 months immediately before he was disabled. July, 1957, will be the first month for payments.

3. The retirement age for women will be lowered to 62. They may get Social Security payments at that age if they're eligible on their own work record or because they're survivors of a worker who died while covered by the Social Security program.

Working women may get 80 per cent of their full payments and wives may get 75 per cent if they want to retire at 62. For each month's delay in retirement up to age 65 they'll get a higher per cent of their full payments. If they wait until 65 to retire, full payments will be made. Should they accept reduced payments, they'll continue to get the reduced payments with no increase after they reach 65.

The first payments will be paid for the month of November, 1956.

4. To provide money for the disability payments, Social Security tax will be increased Jan. 1, 1957. For the worker and his boss, the increase will be ¼ of 1 per cent for each, making the total tax payment 2¼ for each. For a self-employed person, the increase will be from 3 to 3⅝ per cent.

5. The federal government portion of the money paid through the Federal - State Public Assistance Program will be increased. Chances are this will mean more money to the blind, permanently and totally disabled, aged and dependent children under Public Assistance. But exactly how much depends on a complicated formula which varies from state-to-state. The effective date will be Oct. 1, 1956.

No Music Beginners in Fall

End Summer Sessions

WALLED LAKE — Some 150 young musicians who attend the Walled Lake elementary schools have just completed six weeks of summer lessons. Twice a week for a half hour they have been reporting to Commerce, Glengary, Twin Beach, Union Lake, or the Junior High Building in Walled Lake to play and be taught by Helmut Holland-Moritz or Frank Balaam.

In the group were 80 beginners, mostly in the fifth grade this fall, who were playing an instrument for the first time.

Purpose of the summer instruction was to give more individual attention to beginners than is possible when school is in session and to permit the children to become familiar with their instruments when they have time to practice. For the balance of the group, mostly those who will be sixth and seventh graders, the summer classes stimulate interest and keep the youngsters practicing so that they do not lag behind when school starts in the fall.

In fact, so successful do the instructors consider the program, that they will have no beginning classes in the fall in the elementary schools.

The Board of Education furnishes the instructors for the summer course, but the parents provide instruments, an instruction book, and when necessary, transportation. This is usually arranged by neighborhoods with car pools.

Cinema Divorce Cases Keep Coast Judges Busy

Singer Peggy King filed suit for divorce yesterday. Awarded divorces were actresses Jeanne Crain and Joanne Gilbert and the wives of actor Edward G. Robinson and Art Baker, radio and television announcer and commentator.

Miss King, 25, charging cruelty, asked to end her shaky marriage to trumpet player Knobby Lee, 28, whose true name is Norbert Lidrbauch. They had separated several times since their marriage here Feb. 2, 1953.

Miss Crain, 30, distraught and fighting to retain composure, said her husband, manufacturer Paul Brinkman, 37, displayed hostility toward her mother. She said Brinkman also dragged her by the hair from a Beverly Hills restaurant last January.

* * *

Mrs. Robinson, 59, testified that her husband of 29 years told her he "wanted to lead his own life."

Miss Gilbert, 24, divorced screen writer Benny Arnold, 31, saying her husband once said "his career as a writer was more important to him than a wife."

Mrs. Alice Baker, 48, testified her husband, 58, "mostly just wants to be free."

Young Robinson's trial was set for Oct. 15. He was charged with felony drunk driving after his sports car crashed into another car and his passenger was seriously injured last June 21.

Hanging Near for 3 Cypriots

Island Chief Approves Sentences; Traffic Ban Hints Executions Due

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Gov. Sir John Harding today confirmed the death sentences of three Greek Cypriot extremists — the final legal step before they go to the gallows.

A ban on traffic was imposed in this capital city, setting off rumors the executions would be held shortly.

A similar ban accompanied the execution in May of the only two men hanged thus far in the clampdown by British authorities on terrorists fighting for union with Greece.

Extremists, meanwhile, planted two time bombs at the government radio station. Both went off, causing minor property damage but no injuries.

Zakkos and Michael were convicted of participating in the Dec. 15 mountain ambush of British Maj. Brian Coombe. Four Cypriots attacked Coombe's jeep and killed his driver, a British corporal.

Patatsos was sentenced to die for shooting a Turkish Cypriot policeman to death in Nicosia April 23.

Tidal Power Seen for France

Assembly OKs Project to Control Ocean Waves for Electric Supply

PARIS (INS) — France was assured a head start today in realizing the age-long engineer's dream of harnessing the tides to produce power.

The national assembly has authorized construction of a tidal electric power plant in the estuary of the Rance River on the northern coast of Brittany.

Its enactment gave the nationalized Electricite de France Company the go-ahead signal on a $100 million project that is expected to add 800,000,000 kilowatt hours to the French power supply when completed in 1963.

It will be the world's first installation to produce network electric power from the tides. A similar project has long been under discussion in the U. S. where Passamaquoddy Bay in Maine offers the same tidal features as those the French propose to harness.

The Race estuary, just upstream of the town of St. Malo, has the second highest French tides, 37 feet. The Bay of Mont St. Michel, just north of St. Malo, has the highest French tides, 41 feet, but its industrial utilization would require an expensive 20-mile-long dam to create a 244 square mile basin.

The Race estuary project will depend for success on entirely new equipment, French engineers said.

It is a type of horizontal axis turbo-generator of relatively small size that can be used to generate power both on ebb and flow tides. French experts said the machine weighs about half that of a conventional horizontal machine. This will enable a reduction in the height and area of the project's powerhouse, saving an estimated 35 per cent in construction costs.

Order New Probe Into Leg Smashing

ATLANTA (AP) — Gov. Marvin Griffin has ordered a new and complete investigation into the series of leg smashings by Rock Quarry Prison convicts, who charge they have been ill treated by the guards.

The governor acted yesterday after a fresh outbreak of leg smashing and a statement by an admittedly "disgruntled" guard that he had witnessed beatings, kickings, cuffings and cursing."

Warden Hubert Smith said there was "not a word of truth" in what the guard said.

The latest bone-crushing incident occurred Sunday night at the Georgia State Prison Hospital in Reidsville, where 41 convicts were taken for treatment after they tried to shatter their legs with 20-pound hammers at Rock Quarry Prison.

Waldorf Waiter Admits Ducking $11,781 in Taxes

The plea was entered in federal court in Brooklyn. Hagedorn, who was released in $5,000 bail, will be sentenced Sept. 10 by Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo.

Hagedorn, an employe of the hotel for 19 years, could draw up to 10 years in prison or a $20,000 fine, or both.

The government charged that Hagedorn, a resident of Woodside, Queens, earned $61,554, mostly in tips, during an 18-month period and should have paid $20,891 in taxes. He allegedly declared an income of $36,325 and paid $9,110 in taxes.

His predecessor as headwaiter, Hans Paul, 64, was indicted for tax evasion last January and was sentenced to four months in jail and fined $7,500 last April 24.

City Resident Admits Receiving Stolen Guns

Charged with receiving stolen guns valued at $600, Joseph N. Beatty of 10 Allen St. pleaded guilty yesterday at his arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Enters Plea of Guilty on Indecency Charge

Charged with indecent exposure July 27 in Pontiac, Donald R. See of 110 S. Merrimac Ave. pleaded guilty yesterday at his arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Other Election Years Ahead:

Kefauver Not Counting Himself Out Yet

CHICAGO (AP)—Estes Kefauver may be down but he isn't counting himself out.

The hand-shaking senator from Tennessee has renounced all claim to the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination. But the No. 2 spot on the ticket remains open—so far as Kefauver knows, at least. And for the big opportunity — well, there's 1960 and 1964. And maybe other election years.

So, to the surprise of early arrivals for this year's convention, Kefauver headquarters is a buzzing, going concern. Nobody around the place seems to know quite what the senator is up to. But all hands are sure Kefauver hasn't resigned himself to political obscurity.

"We thought of closing up shop entirely," says one of Kefauver's chief aides, A. Bradley Eben. "But then—well, we had the space reserved, we were coming to Chicago anyway, and there just isn't space at Estes' personal quarters for all the people who'll be dropping in."

* * *

So, instead of a bleak, canceled-out Kefauver floor at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, there are 20 brightly furnished and well-equipped rooms. And the welcome mat is out.

Kefauver is urging his backers to switch to Adlai E. Stevenson but some will take a bit of convincing. Averell Harriman claims a mass shift of Kefauver delegates to himself.

What about Kefauver for vice president?

"If sentiment should develop for the senator, then we have an organization ready for action on his behalf," Eben said.

Lansing to Lose Buses Nov. 15; Firm in Debt

LANSING (AP) — The Intercity Coach Line Co. will discontinue bus service Nov. 15 because of lack of passengers, the company says.

Officials told the city council last night the firm has lost $42,000 the past seven months and has gone in debt for another $70,000. They said they have been barely able to meet payrolls and five buses are being sold to pay debts.

Mayor Ralph Crego said he will appoint a committee to investigate possibilities of obtaining some other form of public transportation.

Elvis' Dream: Seven Cadillacs

$64,000 Shows Prove That Knowledge Doesn't Signify Success

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—"Lassie" was paid $2,000 for his—yes, his—Julius La Rosa show one-shot Sat. night. . . . Bert Lahr's "Woodman" song is one of the few repeats of past material which rates a rerun at least annually. . . . The $64,000 shows prove knowledge doesn't necessarily signify worldly success; the knowledge of the little St. Louis challenger Sunday was unbelievable, except we believed it. . . . Pat Boone's career is rocketing—he earned $8,000 for one week at the Frolics, Salisbury Beach, Mass. . . . Steve Lawrence switches agencies—to General Artists Corp., which means all four Steve Allen singers now have the same agent—GAC. . . . Ptl. Redmond O'Hanlon (64G Challenge) looks like an Irish Steve Lawrence. . . . Lucille Ball was 46 yesterday.

"Kiss & Tell" on Sunday's Alcoa Hour came off more than a trifle ugly; the notion of a 15-year-old unmarried pregnancy—even a false one—landed jarringly on the family-hour air. . . . Robin Morgan is a nose-wrinkler. . . . Vin Scully joined the cliche brigade using "Like so. . . ." as its label. . . . Carol (Miss Universe) Morris on What's My Line looked like Bob Crosby's daughter Cathy Crosby. . . . NBC can't peddle the heavily publicized Ray Bolger series and will have to use him for guest shots at huge fees to cover his guarantee. . . . The would-have-been-producer of the Bolgercasts, Bill Bacher, also will have to be paid off.

Elvis Presley admits he has no use for all four of his Cadillacs but says his dream is to own seven. . . . That might explain everything. . . . Stan Musial was disguised as "Superman" on "Masq. Party" Sat. so yesterday he went 0-for-8. . . . After all these years John Daly called Dorothy Kilgallen "Miss Kilgillion". . . . John just had a bad night—he said he loved to pronounce "Ottumwa" and then did so—incorrectly. . . . Red O'Hanlon punned in the classical manner: "It's been a wonderful Shakespearance," Red sed.

Last week jazz took it in the neck on the Steve Allen show when Eddie Condon's caper was mishandled; Sunday Louis Jordan's San Francisco remote lost any music Louis might have sent coast to coast in his over gimmicky presentation — outdoors where the strains of his jive flew away before the NBC mikes could catch same. . . .

Tony Bennett refused to have his schnoz bobbed: "Look, this is the way I was born and I'd done pretty well this way, and my fans might get sore if I took myself seriously as a pretty-boy." . . . We'd sure have guessed Maria Riva, Marlene's chic chip, would have rated more important TV chores than salad-wrap commercials. . . . Michael O'Shea said on Peter Potter's Platter Chatter that he knows nothing about music, was on hand to get laughs, proceeded thereupon to humoriously batter the next record. . . . Sam Levenson won't make many friends cleaning up old dirty jokes as he did Sat. with his storkjape. . . .

Margaret Truman signed with NBC for another year. . . . Vin Scully's unfortunate use of words—mentioned the pitcher who was ". . . throwing this second game."

By MRS. EARL WILSON

N. Y. C.—Pop insisted I write "the woman's angle" on Russia . . . now that we're home.

The poor things have to work so hard—even as railroad section hands and at mixing concrete—that clothes are secondary. And the "dressed-up" Russian women try to dismiss their own beat-up appearance by claiming they're in fashion—and WE ARE out of date.

Nine out of ten women wear print dresses of rayon crepe—they wear them day after day after day, the same one, I mean—and the hemlines are undecided.

I window-shopped a lot . . . but never say any underwear . . . no nylon stockings. No girdles. And how they could use some!

The payoff was when we looked in at a "commission store" where Russians who can afford it buy second-hand clothes to dress up.

A very sharp business-like woman was doing the appraising. She was tough.

He'd seen some second-hand suits seven or eight years old priced at $400; so he expected $500 or $600 to be offered.

Pop was livid! The woman said the lapels were too small—they like 'em wide in Russia—and besides the trousers weren't bell-bottom like the best dressed men wear here.

"How much for this new crease-resistant linen suit?" I said. To be honest, I considered it quite smart and not inexpensive.

She fingered it and said in English, "It's cheap!" She wouldn't even make an offer. Now I was speechless.

She then turned to my slim high heels—completely unknown in Russia—which practically stopped traffic everywhere.

"They are out of fashion long ago in Russia," she said, almost superiorly. "Russian women wore those in the 16th century!"

We sneaked back to the hotel feeling rather embarrassed about being four centuries behind the times.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joe DiMaggio's off for a California vacation with Joe Jr. . . . A dress designer called Kim Novak "the perfect Venus," and Kim said, "Not me—that's Anita Ekberg" . . . Mickey Rooney put his new cabin cruiser proudly in the water—and it sprang a big leak.

D. C. Buzz: Harry Truman may be named the new Dem national chairman . . . Neil Vanderbilt, out of a Swiss hospital, writes, "I'll always have a weak heart and intestinal trouble, due to World War I gassing" . . . Frank Costello's lawyers hope a new appeal will get him free in seven months—and minus the threat of deportation . . . Jeanne Crain's hottest interest is wealthy Jorge Guinle.

Earl's Pearls . . .

The modern guy drives into it in a two-tone convertible.—Clark County (Kans.) Clipper.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle said she's always thought the Pulitzer Prize was something you found at the bottom of a box of Pulitzers.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Women seldom mean the bitter things they say to men—or the sweet things they say to women.

There Is No Greater Courage

Babe Zaharias: She Never Quits in a Fight

This is the second of four articles on the greatest woman athlete the world has ever known, and the battle she now is waging against cancer.

There is no question as to the widespread concern over Babe Zaharias' progress. Nurses and patients stop her husband, "Big George" with, "How's Babe?"

"She's coming along fine," Big George says each time. "Coming along just fine, thanks."

"She has so much fight in her," Dr. Grace Jameson, her friend and medical consultant, said of her. "She constantly puts herself aside, inquires about other patients, asks about my four children."

Dr. John Otto, the hospital's associate professor of neurology and psychiatry, said of the Babe:

"She's among those who can tell the truth. George tells me that after they had wept a bit over the news that the cancer hadn't been caught, she said, 'You can cry just so long, and then you have to stop and think things out. We've cried enough; Let's get the house in order'."

"The operation was a success," Dr. Otto reported. "There will be no more pain. There is no paralysis. There will be no more sensation below the neck as to what has touched, let us say, her hand or foot. All she will know is that she has been touched, though she cannot know whether it was by something hot, cold, sharp or dull. There should be no change in her reflexes."

ASKS FOR PRAYERS

Going into the operating room, Babe looked up at the faces of a dozen sportswriters and cameramen. She recognized Bill Scurlock of Beaumont.

"Hi, Tiny," she said. "Tell everybody to pray double hard for me, and I'll be back. And tell people to give their money to the cancer fund instead of sending me flowers."

"Did you see her moving those legs around under the blanket today?" "Big George" asked. I nodded. "I'll tell you why she did it," he said. "She did it because she didn't want you to leave without knowing she can. She'll want you to write that she can, so others will know."

SHE COULD CALL IT

Rice believed Irving Berlin's "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better" was written not for Ethel Merman but for Mildred Ella Didrikson Zaharias—who, incidentally, could play that number almost as schmaltzy on her mouth-organ as "Home on the Range."

Babe could say in advance of an event, "I'm going to win this one today with a 71" . . . or . . . "by sinking 20 baskets" . . . or . . . "by striking out enough of those guys" . . . or . . . "by throwing that javelin farther than anybody ever did think of throwing it." These were statements of fact, born of horizonless confidence and willingness to undergo any physical excess that might arise.

Today, meeting cancer of the pelvis with the same blunt approach, Babe hardly remembers when she wasn't striving to be the best at something in sports. Her parents, now dead, raised seven Didriksons in Norway and Port Arthur, Texas—where Babe was born—and operated on the premise that if they couldn't provide the brood with luxuries they could at least provide the means of building good bodies for them.

Babe, next to the youngest, was called "Baby" until she began hitting baseballs so far for her school team that children—remembering a stout hero then playing for the New York Yankees—took to calling her Babe.

But it took years and mountainous effort for the poor and obscure Texas girl to reach a plane where she walked in ease with the greatest of her sports world. As a child she worked in an Italian grocery store after school. Her radio idol was a harmonica player who called himself Castor Oil Clarence. The children helped mother with the wash she had to "take in." She made her own clothes. At 12 she worked in a fig-packing plant in Beaumont.

And always there were sports. If her brothers went out to play baseball or football, Babe went with them. To wash floors she'd tie scrub brushes on her feet and skate around in the suds. Father Ole Didrickson built them a gym, insisted they begin every day with a bowl of oatmeal, read them the sports pages from beginning to end.

"Next time I'm going to the Olympics myself," Babe said to her father, eyes alight, after he had read her an account of the Amsterdam games. That was 1928. Babe was 14.

"You'll have to wait four years," Ole reminded her.

In the four years that followed, the lean bronzed girl finished her schooling, became the world's greatest women's hurdler by racing the length of her block and leaping over the hedges that separated the front yards, mastered every other sport she touched.

Insuranceman M. J. McCombs of the Employers Casualty Co., of Beaumont, launched Babe on a track and field career after she had starred for the company basketball team in A.A.U. competition. (She hit 13 home runs in a softball double-header!)

(Tomorrow: Babe's athlete career.)

Boy, 3, Under Oxygen After Heart Massage

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Three-year-old Bob Brayshaw lay in an oxygen tent in critical condition today after a heart stoppage that required heart massage for about five minutes.

The boy suffered a cardiac arrest as a reaction to anesthesia for minutes.

He did not respond to the usual stimulants and his chest was opened and the heart massaged.
