Round Trip Moon Rocket Possible by 1964

LONDON (UPI)—Two American scientists disclosed today they had completed preliminary studies for a giant rocket which, by 1964, could be carrying a two-man crew to the moon — and back.

M. W. Rosen and F. C. Schwenk of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington said the powerful engines required for such a journey already were being developed, while the fuels already were in use.

The rocket was described as being 300 feet long—the length of a football field. Constructed in five stages, it would employ a cluster of rocket engines capable of developing 1,500,000 pounds of thrust each and would require 9,000,000 pounds of thrust for the takeoff from earth.

Rosen and Schwenk, in a paper prepared for delivery at the Congress here, said their project would appear "fanciful" only to those whose thinking has not caught up with engineering advances of the past years.

Both men argued for making manned flights to the moon as quickly as rocket technology would allow, rather than waiting for a decade or more of probing the moon by instrument.

★ ★ ★

"The argument that we cannot afford the risk of human life to explore the moon is historically unsound — moreover it is economically unsound," they said.

"The attempt to duplicate with instruments what could be accomplished by a few men on the moon would be immeasurably more expensive."

First, an unmanned rocket would be fired to the moon before the manned attempt to provide a "spare" for the two-man crew should its rocket be damaged on landing.

Next, the manned rocket would be fired, probably from somewhere in the Pacific. Three of its stages would propel the rocket on its 240,000-mile journey to the moon. The fourth stage would help it land safely. The fifth would be all that was needed to send the rocket back to earth because the thin atmosphere of the moon requires relatively small take-off thrust.

The scientists figured the journey would take 60 hours each way. The crewmen would stay on the moon 12 days doing "the thousands of things instruments cannot do."

★ ★ ★

The rocket could alter its course in flight, somewhat, by the use of control jets. Once it returned to earth's atmosphere, the crew would break out a large parachute at 30,000 feet and the capsule that contained them would float gently to the ocean.

★ ★ ★

"We believe feasibility has been shown," said the scientists. "There remains now the intriguing task of doing the job."

1960 Pontiacs Roll Off Line; Workers Return

Two Shifts Slated for All Plants Within Week as Changeover Ends

The first gleaming 1960 Pontiac in regular production rolled off the assembly line at Pontiac Motor Division today as some 300 hourly rate employes came back to work in the main assembly plant.

The model changeover layoff came to an end and officials say that all plants should be working on a two-shift basis within a week.

During the past two weeks a partial crew of 4,800 hourly rate employes have been working in the pressed metal and chrome plating plants.

Today, with the addition of assembly plant workers, the number jumped to 5,100. All plants will continue on their present one-shift basis until next Tuesday, officials said.

High Court Test Causing Trouble for 1-Cent Law

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Michigan will not get an income tax even if the new use (sales) tax is declared unconstitutional, Republican leaders vowed today.

At the same time, they suggested Attorney General Paul L. Adams may be violating at least the spirit of the law by asking the Supreme Court to throw out the new use tax boost.

One leader said Adams has "jeopardized" his usefulness.

"If it's thrown out, said Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), who championed the use tax, "the Democrats still won't get the income tax."

One of the alternatives still alive should the Supreme Court toss out the use tax increase as unconstitutional is a proposal by Oakland County Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, a Republican.

Still resting with the Senate Taxation Committee, Lodge's bill would impose a so-called transaction tax on stocks, bonds, contracts, real estate, mortgages, options and other business transfers.

No rate of the tax is included in the bill, and no amount of possible income from it can be determined because it depends on how much such business is transacted in a year's time, Lodge said.

Conflict in Sewage Deadline

Pontiac Could Lose Aid

Pontiac today was in a calendar tangle over possible federal aid in construction of the new sewage treatment facilities ordered by the Water Resources Commission.

The city stands to lose out on any federal funds available for construction of the $3,300,000-plus project, said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

As a big city, Pontiac is eligible for a grant of up to $250,000, the maximum amount available.

"The mixup is the Water Resources Commission's fault," Willman charged. "They have given us construction deadlines that don't jibe with deadlines the city would have to meet to be eligible for federal help."

Pontiac (and other Michigan cities) must apply within two weeks for any federal funds it hopes to get for construction during the period ending next June 30, the Water Resources Commission announced today.

If the mixup in deadlines isn't untangled at a meeting of city and state officials next Tuesday, the city may find itself financing new facilities without federal help, Willman warned.

MAY UP DEADINE

One solution Willman saw would have the state moving up the deadline for letting construction contracts from July 1, 1960 to sometime earlier next spring.

The present July 1 deadline set by the state conflicts with a May 1

Pontiac to Get More Showers Through Night

Occasional showers will continue through tonight in the Pontiac area, ending Thursday morning, the weatherman says.

Tomorrow's outlook calls for partly cloudy skies and less humid weather with little temperature change. The mercury will dip to a cool 66 tonight, rising to a high of 78 Thursday.

This morning's rainfall reading was nine-tenths inches for the past 24 hours.

Precipitation will total one-half to three-quarters inches in showers and thundershowers tomorrow and again this weekend.

Southwesterly winds 10 miles per hour, recorded at 1:15 p.m. this afternoon will become southeasterly tonight, shifting to westerly tomorrow.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 64, at 7 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had reached 78.

Wording Flaw Holds Up Cash

Schools Must Wait Till Date Error Is Corrected for Promised Monies

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's school districts face still another delay before they can expect to receive a promised 326 million dollars in state school aid.

A joker has been discovered in the state aid bill that would have prevented districts from borrowing against the anticipated funds for the rest of the year.

The flaw also will prevent any early token payment this month of state aid money.

It had been anticipated that at least 10 million dollars could be divided among the cash-hungry districts.

The bill was pulled back yesterday as it was about to go to Gov. Williams for signing.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said legislative leaders were contacted and agreed to correct the measure when they return Sept. 16.

Bartlett said the error was unintentional and blamed it on the frantic atmosphere surrounding the push for a tax settlement last week.

Language in the bill required that school borrowings be repaid by Sept. 1 of the year in which they were made. This would have automatically canceled any borrowings against state aid in September, October, November and December.

The wordage will have to be changed to specify repayment of borrowings by Sept. 1 of the fiscal year following the one in which the money is borrowed.

The error was discovered by Claude H. Stevens and Charles R. Moon, Detroit bonding attorneys.

School districts already have missed out on an aid payment of about 40 million dollars due in August. Many have been borrowing against anticipated taxes and primary interest money.

Family Loses Deer Pet

By REBA HEINTZLEMAN

Somewhere in the wilds of northern Michigan wanders a lonely deer, and, on a farm near Clarkston, there is a broken-hearted family.

Pontiac Press Photo

RUDY IS GONE — There won't be any more cigarette butts for Rudy, the housebroken deer who lived with the Victor Betts family on a farm near Clarkston. He has been banished by State Conservation officers to life in the northwoods. The pet deer is sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Betts and their four children.

was taken from the Victor Betts family at 6310 Shappie Rd. by State Conservation officers and turned loose to fend for himself in the Upper Peninsula.

Officers explained to the family that their pet had reached an age where it could be expected to turn mean, posing a threat to the children it customarily romped and played with.

One Conservation officer fed the domesticated buck a cigarette while the other inoculated the animal with dope. Rudy staggered over to Betts and fell at his feet.

Betts wept freely as the two men hoisted the deer into a station wagon to begin his long sojourn of no return.

Rudy was turned loose in the woods in Houghton County.

Next week when the big school bus pulls up to take Rudy's young friends away, he will not be able to put on his customary show of kicking and nipping at the tires, and throwing himself in the air in indignation.

Nor will he sit on the Betts' sofa, look out the window, or pick up scraps from the dinner table after the family has finished.

Instead, he perhaps will think of the time he kicked off one of his newly-grown horns in fright when unthinking boys lassoed him around the neck.

Betts, who was out of work at the time, managed to scrape $8 together so a veterinarian could come and mend the damage.

When Betts first found Rudy, he was a tiny fawn, laying half dead in a clover field, the victim of a mowing machine. The farmer picked the baby deer up, brought him home to his wife and children

Reduce Cabaret Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to reduce the federal tax on night club tabs from 20 to 10 per cent. The bill now goes to the Senate. The cabaret tax is one of the few World War II excises not trimmed to 10 per cent in the 1954 tax revision.

No 1-Cent Tax on Cars Sold Before Deadline

A hurried ruling by the Secretary of State's Office today brought an end to confusion and angry complaints on the part of car dealers who closed sales on Monday, hours before the new one per cent use tax went into effect.

Deputy Secretary of State Billie Farnum said the new tax wouldn't be levied on deals completed before Monday midnight, even if they weren't reported to the Secretary of State before Tuesday.

This decision came as hundreds of dealers and buyers across the state reported a mass snafu over whether the new tax should be paid and who should pay it—dealer or buyer.

Farnum's announcement reversed an informal decision of yesterday, which said that the dealers would have to pay the new tax regardless of when the sale took place.

Dealers angrily learned of this earlier decision when they attempted Tuesday to transfer titles of cars sold Monday.

They were told they would have to pay the one cent tax, amounting to $25 on an average $2,500 new car.

This would have to come out of their own pockets, since they had charged the purchasers only the customary 3 per cent sales tax.

The resultant howls of protest evidently were quickly heard in Lansing.

The reverse ruling was announced after the Attorney General's Office consulted with the State Revenue Department and Office of the Secretary of State.

★ ★ ★

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said the Secretary of State's Office apparently overlooked a clause in the law allowing auto dealers five days to file their reports of sales. He said sales on which all paper work had been completed before the tax change deadline would come under the old rate.

★ ★ ★

The attorney general, meanwhile, was asked to rule if contractors are entitled to relief from agreements entered into before the new sales tax law became effective.

Scott Case Hits Technicality

Judge Delays Action After Uncovering Rule About 1st Offense

The year-old law suit of Robert P. Scott, who is suing the International Barbers' Union to save face in labor and political circles, may be over before it begins.

★ ★ ★

This was hinted yesterday when defense attorneys got so bogged down with a surprise technical ruling uncovered by Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer that the opening day of the trial had to be recessed until tomorrow morning even before any testimony was taken.

★ ★ ★

In his suit filed a year ago, Scott, of Waterford Township, charges the International, its Detroit Local 552, and two of its officers with using "ulterior motives" in expelling him from the Union last year.

Scott said his removal was Teamster-inspired because he testified twice against Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa before the Senate Rackets Committee.

In preliminary pre-trial questions yesterday, Judge Beer came across a section of the Union's constitution which he said he was "seriously concerned" about in determining whether the Union had followed its own rules in expelling Scott.

Save Those Sales Slips, in Case . . .

LANSING (AP)—Save your sales slips, mother, they may be good as gold.

Consumers may be able to collect rebates on the one-cent use (sales) tax boost which went into effect yesterday if the levy is declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

A suit challenging the tax has already been filed and the high court will hear it on Sept. 15.

The deputy state revenue director, Clarence Lock, had some advice for those who want to take a chance that the levy will be ruled illegal.

He suggested getting a receipt for every purchase and making sure that the vendor signs and dates it.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams reported the state would retain most of what it had collected if the court throws out the new law.

But, Adams said taxpayers could make a recovery if they furnished sales slips and other receipts substantiating the amount of taxes paid.

The attorney general added that he did not expect the court to hand down a ruling before six weeks at the earliest.

A Jovial Ike Reminisces With British Comrades

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—President Eisenhower had a happy reunion in a reminiscing atmosphere Tuesday night with British comrades of World War II.

★ ★ ★

The President was a laughing, joking host, quickly putting at rest any tenseness that might have been felt by those of the guests who have criticized his war strategy in their memoirs.

By coincidence, the stag dinner was held on the 20th anniversary of the German invasion of Poland, which set off World War II.

Eisenhower cordially greeted Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, whose critical comments nettled Eisenhower so much that he snubbed a card from Montgomery last Christmas.

When the evening was over, Montgomery left beaming and waving enthusiastically to a cheering crowd outside Winfield House, the residence of U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney where the dinner was held.

At dinner Montgomery sat within talking range of Eisenhower. He placed in an honored seat just five feet across the table. What was said during the meal was not disclosed.

But Eisenhower was in high spirits and in no mood to raise past antagonisms.

at his left Field Marshal Viscount Alanbrooke, who also has had a few criticisms of his wartime leadership. Alanbrooke was Britain's top commander during the war.

Pontiac Could Suffer Loss of Federal Funds

deadline set by the federal government, Willman said.

If municipalities are to be eligible for federal aid next summer, they must have construction contracts signed by May 1, he explained.

"According to our present plans, it looks as if we'll miss the federal deadline by three or more months, unless the state moves up its deadline," Willman said.

City officials tacitly do not plan to meet the state's deadline for letting contracts. They plan instead to let the deadline go by so that the state in turn can go to court and get legal authority to order the city to issue general obligation bonds to finance construction without a vote of the people.

Apparently, the city won't be in financial position to sign construction contracts until it is armed with a court order to issue bonds, since there are no plans at present to seek voter approval of bonds again.

But the court action may not be wrapped up until a couple months after the state deadline for contracts has passed.

This means that the state deadline may have to be moved up to as early as January in order to get the deck cleared legally in time to sign contracts by the federal government's deadline in May.

There was no mention of the deadline tangle last night when city commissioners accepted and filed the official state order for Pontiac to stop polluting the Clinton River.

The Commission accepted the order with almost no comment.

"Without a vote of the people approving construction bonds, we are certainly going to be in default of the order," said Willman.

He said next Tuesday's meeting in Lansing may give an indication of how much more than $3,300,000 the city will have to spend.

Although the State Health Department last spring approved the city's $3,300,000 expansion plan as sufficient to abate pollution, it recently indicated that more money would have to be spent.

"Pontiac's pollution problem is apparently worse than we suspected last spring," said Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner.

The official order stated that Pontiac's existing plant is inadequate for the heavy load it carries, with the result that it fails to treat all the city's sewage adequately.

The resultant pollution to the Clinton River is a health hazard and a public nuisance, the order said. The city is killing fish and plant life in the river, it asserted.

The time-table by which Pontiac was ordered to abate pollution contains these interim deadlines:

Dec. 1 of this — approval of expansion plans by the State Health Department; July 1, 1960 — letting of construction contracts; Dec. 31, 1961—completion of the new facilities.

Paris Jammed to Welcome Ike

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower made a happy and triumphal entry into Paris today, riding beside his war-time comrade, Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Packed crowds jammed the center of the city, cheering, as the World War II leaders drove past in an open car on their way to conferences crucial to the Western alliance.

It was a greeting reminiscent of the day in 1944 when Eisenhower was cheered as liberator of Paris. Unofficial estimates put the crowd at half a million or more. Officials and newsmen said the turnout appeared greater than the one for Eisenhower's arrival in London.

Eisenhower is the first American president to pay a state visit to France since Woodrow Wilson came after World War I.

From the moment of their reunion at the airport, Eisenhower and De Gaulle exchanged warm and animated conversation although each is awkward in the other's language.

The conference began in a "good and encouraging atmosphere."

Both men described the first talks in that manner, White House press secretary James Hagerty said.

Hagerty said "it would be safe to assume" that the problems of Algeria and NATO would come up during the talks.

Peels Eye for Crooks and Baseball Players

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL Jr.

If he's not out rounding up bad check passers, Anthony F. Stiel has his eyes peeled for some young ball players in this area who might someday provide the spark the Detroit Tigers need.

The 32-year-old chief investigator for Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem doubles as a scout for the Tigers in his spare time. He's assigned to police Pontiac sandlots for prospects.

But his real police work aids in corralling characters that not even the Bengals would have on their team. Tony goes into action anytime Ziem or any of his assistants need some sort of investigation before a criminal warrant is issued.

Bad checks seem to be keeping the former Birmingham, Sylvan Lake, and Orchard Lake policeman the busiest. Added to his itinerary are cases ranging from simple assault to brutal murder.

However busy Tony is kept he still manages to keep up with baseball doings. "I'll never lose my love for the game," Tony says.

Because of an arm injury he received on a double play collision while a shortstop on a farm team in 1948, Tony's playing days appear over. But the know-how of the game is still his. He just coached his Knights of Columbus team to championship of Pontiac's Class A League.

As his minor league experience carried him to teams in Wausau, Wis., Pine Bluff, Ark., and Muskegon, his $5,650 job as sleuth for Ziem's office keeps him on the move across the country after criminals wanted on numerous charges in Oakland County.

To get Tony's crewcut ruffled just call him a "sleuth" or "private eye." "That's for the television people not me," he'll respond.

Stiel, the father of six children, ages 5 months to 10 years, has been around lawyers so long that the field has rubbed off on him. He's currently attending University of Detroit night school working toward a philosophy degree. Some day he hopes to get his law degree, he said.

While most of the office's assistant prosecutors get the headlines, Tony is usually right in the thick of things. That's the type of job he has.

His most memorable case?

"I'll never forget the Kierdorf case last year," he answered without hesitation. He worked 196 overtime hours, he said, trying to solve the mysterious fatal burning of the Flint Teamster.

There's one facet of the case Tony would like to forget. He was the one assigned to the Willow Run Airport on the night that Herman Kierdorf supposedly was going there to meet his wife, but instead disappeared for 13 days.

"I felt sort of lost out there," Tony recalls.

Although he missed "Uncle" Herman, now in prison, that night, the chief investigator did nab Charles Oertel off a Pontiac baseball squad and got him signed with the Baltimore Orioles, the first major league teams he scouted for. Oertel, now with Miami of the International League, was Stiel's first find.

Another memorable event — to him and probably not to the lady he stopped — occurred when as a Birmingham patrolman he issued the first ticket in Michigan under the radar speed control system.

Tony, who makes his home with his wife and children at 195 Draper Ave., likes nothing better than a bull-session over baseball. The sports pages are his first target when he gets his Pontiac Press.

However, his job and coaching side line don't prevent Stiel from seeing the Tigers play in Detroit. Like others, he doesn't see this year as being a bright year for the home team.

At home he does manage a peek once and awhile at some of television's who-done-its. He says if any get near portraying the real life of a detective or investigator, Joe Friday on "Dragnet" is "probably the closest."

"My job but without the dum-de-dum-dum," the three-year veteran in Ziem's office joked.

New Students Must Register

Pontiac Junior, Senior High Students Slated for This Week

The Board of Education has asked all new students to the Pontiac school system on the junior and senior high school level to bring their credentials and register this week at their assigned schools.

The schools are receiving registrants in their offices from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Students who have dropped out of the school system for more than a semester must register again.

Classes for all Pontiac pupils will begin Sept. 10.

High school students must purchase book cards, at a cost of $3 each, at their high school office before Labor Day. A $2 towel fee is also required, and $1.20 for a school lock.

There will be an orientation session for parents of all incoming 10th grade students at Central and Northern high schools at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 8.

The parents will meet with counselors and home room teachers to become acquainted with the education programs for their youngsters.

The parent orientation session was successful when tried for the first time last year, according to Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of schools.

Lonely Deer Roams Somewhere in State

Jack, 10, Ruth Ann, 14, Leon, 15, and Helen, 16.

The entire family went to work on the deer, administering first aid. A splint was taped to his broken leg, and, after a time, Rudy became a frisky lovable pal to all the children in the community.

From that time on, the deer lived with the Betts'—inside the house summer and winter. He was housebroken, gentlemanly and the neighbors came to love the animal as much as the Betts.

Friendly wagers were made that when spring came, the little buck deer would surely get the urge to go bounding out into the woods as all yearlings do. But Rudy again fooled his unbelievers by ignoring the call of spring.

The Betts family didn't know they were breaking the law when they took Rudy in. They presumed that as long as the deer acted friendly and neighbors did not complain it was all rgiht to keep him.

metal, axle and chrome plating plants will begin working on a regular two-shift basis. The assembly plant will follow suit next Wednesday, bringing the estimated total manpower to 9,400 employes.

The first new car in regular production was started on its way down the assembly line at 6:30 this morning.

Workers filed through the main gates in a steady rainfall, happy to return to their jobs despite the dismal weather.

Full production will begin booming after the break for Labor Day. The increase will bring a total of about 4,300 workers back to their jobs by the end of next week.

GOP Leaders Vow 'No Income Tax' tax because it could be passed on directly to the people.

With the Use Tax Act under the cloud of the Supreme Court suit, early adjournment of the Legislature lay in doubt.

The high court yesterday set Sept. 15 for a hearing on Detroit Attorney Charles C. Lockwood's suit to throw out the penny tax increase as unconstitutional.

Filing of the suit brought a prediction from Sen. Frank D. Beadle (R-St. Clair), GOP Senate majority leader, that the Legislature won't wind up its marathon session when it reconvenes.

After that they may recess until the court hands down its tax decision, he said.

Effective date of many new laws which can't go into operation until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns would be set back as a result.

The Supreme Court, dominated 5-3 by Democrats, thus was confronted with one of the most important and eagerly awaited decisions in its history. No decision is expected before late October.

COLLECTING TAX

Merchants across the state started collecting what amounts to a four cent sales tax yesterday and will continue to do so unless the court orders otherwise.

Officials in the State Revenue Department, a defendant in the suit, waited uneasily for the decision.

Should the new tax be tossed out, the department would be forced to revert immediately to the old sales tax system, scrap revised forms and possibly handle thousands of requests from consumers for refunds.

Clarence W. Lock, deputy state revenue commissioner, said taxpayers who keep receipts of taxes paid probably would be able to recover them.

Scott-Union Case Hits Technicality

representing the International, attempted to explain this questionable section, Judge Beer said:

"All the by-laws should be given their simple plain English meaning and nothing else."

The section states that Union members convicted of violating any part of the constitution shall be fined the first time, and if convicted more than twice for the same offense, shall be suspended.

Under questioning by Judge Beer, Siegel and Sachs admitted that Scott was guilty of but one offense.

Yet the 53-year-old former officer of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 was booted out because the Union supposedly found him guilty of "dual-unionism" in that he once was a lobbyist for the rival State Barbers Association, Inc.

SEEKS REINSTATEMENT

Scott claimed yesterday that Elmer Albrecht, secretary-treasurer of Local 552, and one of the officers being sued, was now trying to "force me out" as treasurer of the State Board of Examiners of Barbers, his present position.

Sitting yesterday with Albrecht and other Union officers was Mathew B. Hammond of Berkley, former vice president of the old county CIO Council.

He said Scott should be removed from the state board because of "his attempts to destroy unionism by organizing the rival association."

Scott seeks reinstatement in the AFL-CIO Union, and $150,000 damages.

In an attempt to iron out differences over the section of the constitution, the judge called all attorneys into his chambers. They came out 20 minutes later and the judge announced the trial was recessed until 9 a.m. Thursday.

All four attorneys said they agreed not to tell the press what went on in the chambers, although one said new motions might be made when the trial resumes.

Local Architect Enters WHO Design Competition

The 15 who will enter the competition are from Italy, the Netherlands, France, Switzerland, Finland, Brazil, Japan, England, the Federal Republic of Germany, Denmark, and the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

The other architect from America is Hugh Stubbins of Cambridge, Mass.

The invitation to enter the competition was issued by Dr. M. G. Candau, director-general of WHO. The executive board of the health organization named five international architectural experts to select the architects or firms of architects to submit building designs.

Health organization officials said WHO's present headquarters in the Palais des Nations in Geneva are inadequate. They have already had to move some of their services to 80 offices outside the Palais.

Approval of the new headquarters must be voted upon by the 13th world health assembly when it meets next year in Geneva. If approved, WHO hopes to have the new headquarters ready within the next two or three years, Dr. Candau said.

The site will be donated by the Swiss Confederation and the Republic and Canton of Geneva.

Due to Labor Day, the next meeting of the Birmingham City Commission has been postponed until Sept. 8.

Jack Sanders of 1415 Epping Lane, Bloomfield Hills, attended the 10th course in Industry Defense and Mobilization held recently at the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization Staff College in Battle Creek.

Sanders was a member of a group of 78 executives, civil defense coordinators, military officers, safety inspectors, industrial specialists and plant managers taking the course.

He is secretary and assistant sales manager of Fred Sanders Confectioners, Detroit.

The course served as a forum and clearing house of information on emergency planning, disaster control and civil defense preparedness for industries, plants and factories.

The course, sponsored by the OCDM, was the third given this year. A similar course is scheduled for Nov. 16-20.

County Cancer Unit Bolts ACS

Pledges Support to State Group in Wake of Suspension

The North Oakland County unit of the American Cancer Society today declared it has officially severed all connections with its mother organization.

It has instead pledged full support to the autonomous Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Local units concurred with the state organization in refusing to reconsider its stand on fund raising issues after being ousted from the ranks of the ACS July 24.

The society had revoked the Southeastern Michigan Division charter when the division defied a national edict forbidding participation in federated fund-rising campaigns.

The Southeastern Michigan Division has been an agency of the Pontiac area United Fund and the Avon Township Fund for the past several years.

Official confirmation of the split came last night when the Board of Trustees of the North Oakland County unit voted unanimously to stand with the Michigan Division Board in accepting revocation of the American Cancer Society charter.

"We believe that local option should be allowed in the matter of fund raising," says Dr. John J. Marra, president of the Oakland unit.

"Our yearly allotment received from the Pontiac area United Fund has always been generous and we wish to continue as a member of that agency."

Dr. John D. Monroe, director of the Oakland County Health Department and a trustee for the Michigan Cancer Foundation, said:

"As a member of the medical profession, I can only say that the change in name will make no difference whatsoever in the professional education afforded the doctors. Neither will it affect the splendid cooperation physicians in North Oakland provide in our cancer control program."

Michigan Singers in Forced Landing

The chartered Flying Tigers craft developed the trouble shortly after taking off from Gander, Newfoundland, on the last leg of a flight from Helsinki, Finland.

The plane made a safe landing but airport firt trucks and emergency equipment stood by just in case.

There were 112 passengers on the plane, including 100 members of the Michigan Chorale, Ann Arbor teenage singing group, and a dozen adult counselors. The group recently concluded a two-month, goodwill concert tour in several European countries.

The singing group is sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches' Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange.

Heavy Rains Hit Detroit

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains flailed southeast Michigan through the night and morning hours, flooding basements and again halting traffic on Detroit's two main expressways.

Water piled up rapidly at some underpasses on the John Lodge and Edsel Ford Expressways, forcing cars to a stop. Some motorists climbed to their car roofs in fear of being flooded.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the showers were touched off by a low pressure system moving across the state. Rainfall ranged from .6 inch at Detroit Metropolitan Airport up to three inches in other areas. The rains were expected to continue intermittently through Thursday morning.

Detroit police got more than 700 calls about flooded basements.

Roads in Allen Park, River Rouge, Ecorse, Taylor Township, Dearborn and Highland Park were flooded but the water drained off when the rain stopped.

The Lodge and Ford Expressways were snarled with water, debris and mud. At one time police said up to 350 cars were trapped on the two roads. However, the Lodge Expressway was open its full length to both north and south bound traffic this morning.

Rain kept a soggy grip on much of the Eastern two-thirds of the country Wednesday. The West continued to bask in fair weather.

Showers and thunderstorms east from Texas hit in the wake of violent storms which battered parts of the area Tuesday and Tuesday night.

Wet spots were scattered all along the Mississippi River and west through parts of central Missouri into Oklahoma and central Texas. There was more rain in the early morning from the lower Great Lakes southeastward.

County Clerk Hits Apathy

Juror Shortage Looming

Oakland County may run out of jurors before the upcoming jury terms in Circuit Court are through—and at a time when the court is faced with a heavy load of criminal and civil cases.

★ ★ ★

The fault lies with Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, said Daniel T. Murphy Jr., county clerk-register.

Murphy, who is preparing to draw names Thursday for the first term beginning Sept. 23, said some 230 citizens mailed prospective juror questionnaires have not returned them.

"Many of these people apparently don't think much of their responsibility as citizens in seeing that justice in our courts is fair," Murphy said.

He was equally critical of some unnamed city clerks who have faltered in their duties of sending in four names of possible jurors for each voting precinct in their city.

The young Republican county official evaluated the serious situation as some attorneys continued to protest jury panels which they charged each year are full of so-called "professional jurors" — or those that come back time and time again even though the law specifies that jurors can serve only every two years.

"We're only following the law," Murphy said. "And our job is made that much more difficult when we don't get our full quota from the townships and cities to draw from."

The system works this way:

Township and city clerks are supposed to submit to the Clerk's Office four names — taken from voting registration rolls — of prospective jurors for each precinct in their respective area. Murphy's office immediately sends simple 21-question questionnaires to each.

Based on the county's 289 precincts, 1,156 names should have been submitted. The number fell way short, Murphy said.

★ ★ ★

To complicate matters more, he added, many questionnaires come back listing minor excuses of why some can't serve.

"One lady wrote she couldn't serve because she was expecting chickens in the fall," said Miss Elaine Martin, a clerk who aids Murphy in drawing of jury panels.

Murphy emphasized that this wouldn't have prevented this woman from serving on later jury panels stretching through next year.

"This is an important part of government," he said. "All ought to take a more conscientious view of jury duty and at least fill out questionnaire and return them to Clerk's Office regardless of whether they can serve." They must be notarized.

Ironically, Murphy faces scarcity of jurors despite repeated calls to his office from men and women wishing to serve on juries. They are paid $8 a day plus six cents a mile round-trip transportation.

"The county clerk cannot put anybody on jury duty until the township and city clerks submit their names," he stressed.

Tomorrow Murphy, Sheriff Frank W. Irons and a local justice of the peace or municipal judge will pick 90 names from nearly 600 who have indicated a willingness to serve. The 90 will constitute the September jury panel.

Although it might appear that 600 should be sufficient for five jury terms, Murphy pointed out that this number gradually decreases as panels are drawn, and as many later change their minds, are disqualified for numerous reasons, die or move out of the area.

Township and city clerks also have been urged to pay closer attention to lists of past jurors sent out by Murphy's office so as to not send in names of persons who have served during the past year.

Realizing that there are some legitimate reasons for not wanting to serve, Murphy feels most are inadequate. He said local factories and businesses are understanding and allow absences when an employe is selected as a juror.

But Murphy had little sympathy for the gentleman who replied to the question, "Do you know of any reason why you cannot serve as a juror in the Circuit Court?" this way:

"Yes. A wife and four kids."

National Debt Hits $290 Million

Expect Figure to Climb Near Legal Limit by Mid-December

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury said Tuesday the national debt now exceeds 290 billion dollars.

The debt passed that mark last Thursday but, because of a lag in gathering such statistics, this wasn't determined until yesterday.

As of Thursday, the gross public debt was $290,306,000,000. The portion subject to the legal ceiling was $289,890,000,000. A part of the debt, made up largely of obligations incurred before World War I, is not subject to the legal limit.

Treasury officials expected the debt to continue climbing until mid-December, when it will approach the temporary legal ceiling of 295 billions.

State Tax on Sales Hits Record

LANSING (AP) — Michigan chalked up the highest sales and use tax collections in history last month, State Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims reported today.

The two levies, considered a good indicator of businss activity, brought $28,969,000 for the month, a reflection of improving economic conditions in Michigan.

"This looks pretty good," said Nims "in five of the eight months this calendar year we have had collections the highest ever reported for these month."

11 'Lost' Days Foul Up Calendar

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA) — Comes presently the strangest anniversary in the history of this country — and all of civilization. So strange, in fact, that there is neither a way to remember it nor a way to forget.

★ ★ ★

For between Sept. 2 and Sept. 14 in the year 1752 not one American child was born and not one sparrow fell.

Not a breath, not a sunrise, not a mealtime, bedtime or tomorrow during these days that vanished while time stood still.

And while it can all be explained by simple addition, it is still the kind of mess that makes philosophers, millionaires and neurotics — in short, civilized man.

Now, it makes things a lot easier to begin the story 2,637 years ago in Rome, a hustling little town that operated on a 10-month year — 304 days long.

But it soon became obvious that spring was arriving earlier and earlier each year. So two new months were added, bringing the total year to 355 days. An extra month was used in alternate years to keep spring in line and increase taxes, rents and interest payments.

But by the time Julius Caesar assumed power six centuries later, time and the seasons were out of joint again. Caesar hired an Egyptian astronomer to make the necessary adjustments.

His first year was 441 days long. All succeeding years were 365 days long with an added day every fourth year. It worked as long as Caesar lived. But after his death the tax assessors found it more profitable to have leap year every third year.

Consequently, the leap years between 8 B.C. and 8 A.D. were abolished by decree and things went back to their normal — and wrong — course: for Julius Caesar's Egyptian astronomer had miscalculated the year by .0078 of a day.

And within a thousand years, the first day of spring dawned on March 15 — and would eventually have dawned on Christmas if nothing had been done about it.

And so, promptly 500 years later, Pope Gregory XIII called the council of Trent where interested parties and astronomers cleared the air with the order that the day after Thursday, October 4, 1582, would be Friday, October 15, 1582.

That took care of the lost time. And to rectify the original miscalculation of .0078 of a day, Gregory ordered that no century year could be a leap year unless it were divisible by 400—1,600, 2,000, 2,400.

But sophisticated politics being what they are, England did not attend Gregory's Council of Trent. And for 170 years London, and then Boston and New York, tagged along 10 days behind everybody else. By the time they got around to changing their calendars, they had lost another day.

So this country has no history between Sept. 2 and Sept. 14, 1752. You can see right away what this does to George Washington.

If you celebrate his birthday on Feb. 11, the actual date of his birth, you are 11 days off. If you add the necessary days and come to February 22, you are actually celebrating the date when he was 11 days old.

And that is a rather peculiar custom. And so is getting to Europe in seven hours by plane; or to Moscow in 22 minutes by missile; or to the moon at all. It wastes an awful lot of money and time.

Speeder to Keep Alligator, Judge to Keep Ticket

Pavia, of Port Arthur, Tex., wrote Judge Maes one of his reptiles nipped him recently and he was unable to work to pay off a speeding ticket he received here.

"You can have your choice of one from 18 inches up to four feet," he wrote the judge.

Pavia recommended the 18-inch size. These, he said, don't bite.

Judge Maes dismissed the speeding ticket—conditionally.

"The condition," he told newsmen, "is that the man not send me an alligator."

A DOG'S LIFE — Contemplating a 90-day stay in his master's bomb shelter, three-month-old puppy Teddy fails to be interested in a game of ball by Mark Reichert, 4, and the boy's father, of Battle Creek. Reichert has housed the pet in his giant $35,000 shelter since he was sentenced to pay $25.30 costs and spend 90 days on probation for allowing the puppy to run at large.

Would Drop Living Cost Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive by employers to drop living cost clauses from labor agreements could lead to more strike threats and shorter contracts.

Dropping of the living cost clause is one of the demands of the steel industry in the present strike by the United Steelworkers Union.

In the past, these clauses have persuaded unions to accept contracts running for more than the usual one-year period. In some cases, agreements with living cost clauses run five years. Contracts with the clauses now cover four million workers.

The monthly magazine of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce says that thes clauses tend to pyramid inflation.

The magazine, the Nation's Business, conceded that a drive to drop these clauses would increase the frequency of bargaining sessions and therefore increase the possibility of strikes.

Boy Calls Police to Settle Dispute, Gets Bet, Lecture

CORPUS CHRISITI, Tex. (AP) —"Is it against the law to shoot birds with slingshots in the city?" a youthful voice asked police dispatcher Jerry Mathis.

"Did anyone ever tell you it's against the law to gamble, too?" Mathis asked.

The caller hung up.

That Bond Interest Bill . . . and Foreign Aid

Ike Threatens Congress of Extra Session

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has told Republican leaders he may call Congress back into special session this fall if it fails to lift the interest ceiling on government bonds.

The President also has made it clear to the party chieftains he will consider such a session call if Congress cuts foreign aid funds below what he regards as a minimum level for national security.

The possibility of presidential action came to light as leaders of both parties gave up hope of winding up the current session this week.

* * *

Democratic strategists were setting Sept. 12 as the earliest possible date for an adjournment — without any action on the interest rate issue. Republicans were saying that Congress may still be in session when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives Sept. 15.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois took pains Monday to squash a proposal by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla) that Congress recess before Khrushchev's arrival and come back in October.

Eisenhower's concern over the interest rate matter was emphasized when Treasury officials urged Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee to seek action to lift the ceiling.

Because the House originates such bills, Byrd has felt his hands are tied. He could offer the proposal as an amendment to a House-passed bill but there is almost no chance the House would accept it.

* * *

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson apparently is hopeful Congress eventually will agree to take the interest ceiling off all government bonds. Savings bonds pay 3¼ per cent. The present limit on bonds maturing after five years is 4¼ per cent. These are too low to attract heavy investments, and the Treasury is forced to pay higher rates on short-term borrowing.

Ask a Stupid Question and Get Court Laughter

Master Disgusted With Court

Puts Pup in $35,000 Dog House

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Taddy, a three-month-old puppy, is going to live in a $35,000 dog house.

His home for the next three months will be a 20 by 40 foot underground bomb shelter.

Teddy was exiled to the shelter by his owner, Earl W. Reichert, president of a steel fabricating and construction company.

Reichert was fined $25.30 and placed on three-month probation after pleading guilty to permitting Teddy to run loose. The law says dogs must be kept on the owner's premises.

"I only pleaded guilty because I heard the guy in front of me get a fine of $5," Reichert said. "I thought to myself, why fight it for $5. I later found out the fine was for a different offense."

Reichert later complained to the city commission about the questions he said his probation officer asked him.

"I wound up in a probation office with some guy asknig me my mother's maiden name, how much I make and if I ever had a venereal disease," he said.

Court officials said they were working on a simplified questionnaire for probationers such as Reichert.

Reichert built the expensive bomb shelter as a protection for his family in case of an enemy attack.

"It is living insurance," he said. "Now it is insurance to keep me out of jail as a probation violator. Teddy is going to stay there —at least for the next three months—except when he is out on a leash."

Also losing the right to drive was Robert K. McIntosh, of 1791 Westwood St., Royal Oak, for violation of license restrictions.

Civil Rights Bill Still in Doubt

Threatens to Hold Up Congress' Hope to Quit by Sept. 12

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate action on civil rights legislation appeared today to be posing the biggest threat to an adjournment of Congress next week.

Party leaders gave every sign of confidence that a half dozen other vexing issues can be compromised before a prospective Sept. 12 quitting date. But the fate of politically explosive civil rights proposals remained in doubt.

* * *

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, forecast Senate passage of what he called a "skeletonized" bill against which Southern Democratic opponents might complain loudly but not at such great length as to delay adjournment.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas obviously was not quite so hopeful. But he has told associates he expects motions to be made to bring the civil rights issue before the Senate and hopes that some legislation can be passed.

* * *

Dirksen said he hopes a bill can be passed continuing the life of the Civil Rights Commission, directing the preservation of voting records, providing for federal schooling of children of service personnel where classrooms are closed to avoid integration and making it a federal offense to cross a state line to escape prosecution for a bombing.

Southerners might be willing to accept all but the school provision without a last-ditch fight. They have made it clear they will battle to the end any mention of school integration in such legislation.

World Grows Small, Troubles Are Many

Ike Now Dominating the Scene . . . Why?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower now completely dominates American foreign policy and seems to be showing more initiative in that field than any time since taking office in 1953. Why?

A determination to do all possible in his last 16 months in office to find peaceful solutions with the Soviet Union may be one reason. There are others.

★ ★ ★

For one thing, Premier Nikita Khrushchev has pushed Eisenhower into his present activity by deliberately creating such a bad situation over West Berlin that a meeting with him came to look like the best hope for a way out.

★ ★ ★

But historians will long wonder how Eisenhower would have acted in these past six years if Christian A. Herter had been secretary of state all that time and John Foster Dulles never had been secretary.

★ ★ ★

The self-effacing Herter, a mild and perhaps even shy man, has been almost entirely out of the public eye since taking office last spring.

HERTER IN BACKGROUND

First, he was occupied many weeks at Geneva negotiating with the Soviets, unsuccessfully, over Berlin. He hastened back to go quickly to Latin America for conferences. Then he returned and set off for Europe with Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

Typically, ever since reaching Europe with the President last week, Herter has stayed in the background. There was no one to share the spotlight with Eisenhower. It wouldn't have been that way if Dulles were secretary.

★ ★ ★

Just go back four years—to the weeks before and after Eisenhower's 1955 summit conference at Geneva—and the records show how much Dulles was in the picture with the President.

Except for the actual summit meeting itself, Dulles was the one who dominated the news, not Eisenhower. Before the summit meeting he even shared a TV appearance with the President, and did most of the talking.

★ ★ ★

It seems safe to say that if Dulles, who died last May, were alive today Eisenhower would not be having the news all to himself. It might have been Dulles, not Eisenhower, who was now touring Allied capitals.

IKE DOMINATES

A vacuum in American foreign policy began appearing early this year when Dulles, dying of cancer, faded behind hospital walls. There was no one left but Eisenhower to direct or dominate that policy. And Eisenhower did.

He continued to do so as Dulles died and Herter was out of the country. The President relied far more on Dulles for guidance than he appears to do on Herter.

Nevertheless, through the first half of this year there was not much initiative here in foreign policy for the simple reason that Khrushchev had seized it and kept it.

First, Khrushchev created a crisis over West Berlin by threatening to force Allied troops out of the city if they didn't go willingly. Then the early months of the year were taken up with trying to get Khrushchev, who wanted a summit conference, to let foreign ministers discuss Berlin.

He continued to keep the Allies jumpy with his belligerent statements. When he finally agreed to a foreign ministers conference, it was almost certain to fail anyway because he wanted it to. He preferred a summit meeting.

And when it did fail it was Khrushchev, so far as is publicly known, who first proposed, last July 7, an exchange of visits between him and Eisenhower. The President agreed.

And all of Eisenhower's activities since then have been taken up with preparations for Khrushchev's visit here in mid-September. The President's conferences with allies in Europe now are a prelude to meeting Khrushchev.

Pontiac Lags Badly on Last Safety Report

Pontiac's traffic record for 1958 leaves much to be desired. The recent report issued by the National Safety Council brought out the facts that our fatal accident rates were far higher than the national average for cities our size.

★ ★ ★

No one likes to think in terms of being just average, but in an analysis such as this, average would look pretty good.

The 15 persons that were killed in 1958 city traffic accidents are almost double the average of the three preceding years.

Why the big jump?

Certainly the citizens didn't plan it this way. We'll agree a certain element of luck is involved. But luck alone should not be responsible for such a sizable increase.

When a figure is doubled something drastic must have happened. The Council rated Pontiac's traffic supervision as only 27 per cent effective.

The question is not to place the blame, but rather to understand a serious problem and take immediate steps so as not to repeat this unsatisfactory record.

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman said more emphasis must be placed on the "three E's of traffic safety." The E's he has reference to are, "traffic engineering, education and enforcement."

★ ★ ★

This newspaper heartily agrees and stands ready to assist in any safety campaign to help eradicate this type of wholesale slaughter on our city streets.

We Certainly Did Get All Heated Up

Locally it was a sort of a temperature weeks' long tidal wave—a boiling flood of air masses that broke all records.

Weather bureau statistics tell us that in the 85 years that such things have been compiled the mercury crowded the top of the tube to a greater extent just once before.

That was 12 years ago when the August average was such a small fraction of a degree higher that one cool breath would have dispelled it.

The humidity, which is a prime factor in making it seem hotter, was not so high, and the excessive heat did not last so long.

This time it perpetrated itself upon a sweltering public until all of the land, buildings, pavements and most everything else got so hot that prevailing winds, when we had any, drew warmth from them, rather than coolness.

In many ways that 1947 episode was more like a lot of torrid blasts, with several cool intermissions.

But the people of the Pontiac area were among the most fortunate in the 1959 baking out period that we hope now has ended.

We had more rains than most other localities.

Our numerous lakes provide a cooling off for the winds that waft that coolness to the adjacent land area.

There is hardly a location in our vicinity that is not in a line to receive this relief.

Yes, it was the most disagreeable heated period in Pontiac's history.

But it was worse most everywhere else.

Population Boom Is Moving In on Us All

If you think the "population explosion" is something you will only notice if you take a trip, just have a look around.

★ ★ ★

An employe we know here at The Press moved out to the suburban fringes about ten years ago. All he could see out of the windows was sky and trees and the nearby lake. He was right in the middle of a fine wooded area.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the district was so rural that the children were able to pick wild strawberries in the adjacent fields. This was delightful country living, so the family thought.

To find playmates for the toddling kids, they had to bundle them into the car and drive awhile. Most of the neighbors were older and had no children. Barking dogs and an occasional cat provided the only noise.

Now what? Giant bulldozers cleared the whole area. New houses closed in all around as the trees went down and the noise level went up.

Today those aren't tree stumps he can see from his windows. They're kids' heads. The neighborhood kiddie-count, way out there in the lonesome woods is now 20 or 30.

Atom for Peace

David Lawrence Says:

Commies Caused World War II

WASHINGTON — Only a sense of guilt could have prompted the Soviet newspapers, radio and publishing houses to launch in the last 24 hours a barrage of statements claiming that Britain, France and the United States were responsible for the outbreak of World War II.

LAWRENCE

For, because this week marks the 20th anniversary of Hitler's first attack on Poland, there was bound to be a revival of the discussion of who was to blame for World War II.

But, thanks to the opportunity just afforded unwittingly by the Soviet propagandists, the world will be reminded with renewed emphasis now that it was the Communist regime which really made World War II possible.

Had it not been for the Communist double cross of Britain and France, who in the summer of 1939 were trying to negotiate a treaty with Moscow, the Nazi government in Berlin would never have dared to start World War II.

Hitler wanted to make sure that his eastern boundary was secure. He knew that a war going on simultaneously on the eastern and western fronts could mean defeat for him. Once, however, he neutralized his eastern borders, there was every chance to overrun Holland, Belgium and France before enough British forces could come to the rescue.

As for the United States, the Nazi chief felt sure he could win a victory before American forces could be mobilized and transported across the Atlantic.

What would the effect have been on Hitler if he had had a hostile Russia poised on his eastern front? He would surely have refrained from taking the military risk he did.

Actually, he was convinced that, despite their belated mobilization, neither Britain nor France would come to the aid of Poland and that, if he struck quickly, he could "localize" the conflict and enter another Munich-like peace conference and consolidate his gains—provided Russia stayed "neutral."

The Communists' responsibility for World War II is, therefore, plain to see. It so happens that the non-aggression pact which Stalin and Molotov signed with Hitler on Aug. 24, 1939, was violated by the Nazi invasion of Russia on June 22, 1941. But during the intervening 22 months the Communist regime in Moscow had made a notable contribution to Hitler's military strategy.

★ ★ ★

The blunder made by the Kremlin in allying itself with Hitler stands out before the world as an example of stupid diplomacy and of cruel disregard for the fate of the millions of Russians who were sacrificed in the fighting that followed.

Someday, when there is a revolution in Russia and a free press emerges, it is the exposition of this chapter in history which will sound the death knell of the Communists.

Undoubtedly the signing of the treaty between the Soviets and the Nazis was designed to give the Moscow regime a free hand to seize Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, and to grab eastern Poland.

This the Russian troops set out to do immediately after Hitler marched into Poland. The theory prevailing at the time was that the war over Poland would not turn into a world war, and that it would be "localized."

The Moscow Communists simply played the West against the East so as to get the best agreement possible out of Hitler. When the Nazi chief double-crossed the Communists and attacked Russia in 1941, the West promptly came to the rescue of the Soviet Union by furnishing billions of dollars' worth of equipment and intensifying the war on the western front so as to ease the burden on the eastern front.

In the end, Hitler was caught in a squeeze between the eastern and western armies, just as he had originally feared, but which he thought he could prevent by a quick victory over Western Europe.

Prime Minister Macmillan said the other night in his television broadcast in London with President Eisenhower that the second world war could not have been avoided because of the "plotting by wicked men." He didn't refer to plotting by "one man," but spoke of "wicked men," which certainly includes the ruler in the Kremlin and his associates.

It is to prevent a miscalculation by a potential aggressor in Moscow that Eisenhower today favors an explicit reiteration of the determination of the West to fight if its area of interest is attacked. The repetition of this statement in unqualified terms by all members of the Western alliance this time could prevent another world war.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Lack of Calcium Makes Bones of Elderly Brittle

I recently cited the quaint notion of physiologists, physicians and other old timers, that the accumulation of "too much" calcium in the bones of elderly persons accounts for the brittleness of their bones.

DR. BRADY

I reminded readers that the truth is just the opposite — that is, steady loss of calcium through the years makes the bones of the elderly person lighter in weight and more fragile than the bones of a younger person.

I am confident — cocksure, if you prefer — that no physiologist or physician will contradict this statement.

Dr. Osler did not regard calcium as a cause of hardening of the arteries but interpreted the condition as degeneration (natural wear and tear).

Physical degeneration, that is. It is deterioration of a tissue or an organ in which its vitality is diminished, says Webster; a substitution of a lower for a higher form of structure, either by chemical change of the tissue (true degeneration) or — and Webster adds a little hokum to please the doctors of his day. A better definition of degeneration is given in Stedman's Medical Dictionary:

A retrogressive pathological change in cells or tissues in consequence of which the functioning power is lost and the living substance becomes converted into an inert mass.

Stedman should have said, no doubt meant to say, the functioning power is diminished, impaired or deficient. When functioning power or vitality is lost the patient is — — — —.

The old timers, in Webster's day and in Stedman's day, had some odd conceptions based on limited knowledge. One funny notion was that mere functional ailments didn't merit serious consideration —only organic disease demanded the doctor's attention. Another was that there was a sharp line dividing functional from organic ailments. That was unrealistic. In most instances no doctor can tell precisely what week or month a functional trouble becomes organic disease.

These facts may account for the reluctance of people to realize they have degeneration and the reluctance of doctors to tell 'em so. The ten or eleven million persons in the United States with chronic joint disability or rheumatiz have degeneration of joint tissues and not "arthritis," as so many of the poor souls believe. But you can't tell 'em so, in print or in practice, for if you do, presently you won't have any print or practice.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Praises Pontiac Residents for Pride in Their Homes

As co-owner of the Acme Paving Company, I'd like to take the time to congratulate residents of Pontiac on the way they keep their property so neat and take so much interest in their homes.

★ ★ ★

I get to meet a lot of people and see a lot of homes and I believe the City of Pontiac as a whole is one of the cleanest. Other cities would have to go a long way to beat it.

★ ★ ★

I feel writing this letter is the best way for me to show my appreciation.

Wants to Join Club Against More Tax

I'd like to be a charter member to P. J. of Pontiac's club against higher taxes. Someone in our township, West Bloomfield, gave our library a lot on Orchard Lake road, four miles from the high school. That's to make it easy for the kids to run down during their lunch hour for a book.

★ ★ ★

Now we're asked to spend $300,000 on a new and wonderful library. In very small print they add the little note that it will cost only a few dollars per thousand on our tax rolls.

★ ★ ★

With around 12,000 people in our township, that's a lot of library.

'Pork Barrel' Will Test President's Veto Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The invincibility of President Eisenhower's vetoes faces an acid test today when the House votes on whether to knock down the veto of the big "pork barrel" appropriations bill.

Congress never has overriden an Eisenhower veto. There have been 144 of them in 6½ years.

★ ★ ★

House Democratic leaders claimed it would be different this time. They said they had the votes to override.

The $1,215,477,808 appropriation bill provides financing for several hundred public works projects in just about every congressional district. Most of them are river and harbor and flood control jobs. For years it has been known as the "pork barrel" bill and has been a congressional favorite because of its popularity in the home districts.

President Eisenhower vetoed it last week because it provided funds for 67 projects in 32 states for which his budget program had made no provision. It exceeded his money requests by about 30 million dollars.

TAKES TWO-THIRDS VOTE

Seven of Eisenhower's direct or indirect vetoes have come this year. The House came within four votes of upsetting his veto of a rural electrification bill last June 30, two days after the Senate voted to override.

★ ★ ★

It takes a two-thirds vote of members present to override a veto and enact a law over the President's objection.

The House, as originator of the bill, gets first crack at the "pork barrel" measure. If it fails to muster the two-thirds vote, the bill will go to the Senate.

Confident House Democratic leaders figured on losing few, if any, of the 283 Democratic votes and on picking up quite a few Republican ballots.

Republican leaders pitched their plea to their 153 members on party loyalty and "fiscal responsibility." Some of them had urged the President not to veto the bill because it involves projects in many Republican districts and might adversely affect the political future of GOP incumbents.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try 'Fear Party' to Ease Tension

Betty's experience should tempt all teachers, Youth Leaders and Parents to do likewise. You will find that a "Fear Party" relieves nervous tension. It may nip delinquency and insanity in the bud, long before they reach the stage requiring prisons and sanitariums.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

DR. CRANE

"And I'd like to report on my use of your 'Fear Party' idea.

"Several of my children were defiant of authority. One of the boys of the boys certainly seemed headed for juvenile delinquency.

"Another was such a neurotic that the principal had asked his mother to send him to a school psychiatrist.

"So one afternoon I told the class we'd have a new kind of party, it was to be a 'Fear Party'.

"Then I explained how I had been petrified with terror when I was a 4th grader because I had a dread of spiders. I'd grow hysterical and almost faint if a spider came near me.

"I was far worse than Miss Muffet of the nursery rime story. And when my brothers learned about my severe panic, they'd deliberately add to my fright.

"It wasn't till I was in college that I finally learned to respect spiders as friendly creatures that catch the dangerous houseflies which pollute our food with germs.

"And I also learned that spiders, even the Black Widow, don't do any more harm if they ever bite you, than does a honeybee when it stings you.

"But for 10 years my life was miserable because of my terror of spiders.

CLASS CONFESSIONALS

"Well, Dr. Crane, after I had made my own confession, I casually asked my pupils if any of them had any secret fears that now bothered them.

"Two girls immediately raised their hands and told us about their phobias. Then a little boy joined in, and soon the entire class found that it was fashionable to admit their secret terrors so we had what you psychiatrists describe as a group emotional catharsis.

"Next day I noticed a remarkable improvement in my pupils. They were far more cooperative. In fact, the boy who had been a little rebel, seemed entirely changed.

"And the youngster who had been so neurotic, began to act relaxed and happy.

"At our next PTA meeting, his mother wanted to know what I had done to her son, for she felt a miracle had occurred.

"And several of the children later confided to me in private that they had never realized that the other pupils also were afraid of things.

"They had all imagined that they, alone, were the 'fraidy cats.' So they now were much more reassured to learn they were not freaks."

Fear parties do good at any age, so they should also be scheduled in high school and college.

Alcoholics Anonymous derives much of its effectiveness from what really amounts to a 'Fear Party' each week. The act of confessing any fear in words, reduces the inner tension which that fear formerly created.

And when we learn that our problems are matched in the lives of others, we feel less abnormal. Besides, such confessionals often lead to helpful ideas for solving our troubles.

★ ★ ★

So schedule a "Fear Party" at school, or in Sunday School, the Scouts or the YMCA and CYO.

Violation-Prone Drivers to Get Lectures From State Officials

LANSING (AP) — Thousands of "violation-prone" motorists will be called in for lectures by state safety experts under a new campaign to cut down on mounting highway fatalities and accidents.

Secretary of State James M. Hare will outline the program today to the state safety commission, which he heads.

"We've got to do something," he said. "State Police report 854 persons have died in traffic accidents in Michigan since the first of the year. That's 34 more than in the same period last year."

Starting this month, drivers who have chalked up nine, 10 or 11 points under a point system for weeding out bad drivers will be called in for lectures. A 12-point motorist is called in automatically for an interview which may lead to suspension or revocation of his operator's license.

Hare said early hearings probably will be scheduled in Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Flint and Saginaw. Later, they will be held in other areas.

Errant drivers probably will be called in groups of 30 to 40 to be told about the purpose of the state's driver improvement program, operation of the point system, the state's deteriorating traffic fatality picture, and drivers' rights and obligations under the law.

Hare warned that three points will be added automatically to the driver's record if he fails to show up for the mass interview.

Conviction on a charge of reckless driving is one of the violations that brings a six-point penalty. Three-point penalties include failure to stop for a school bus, drag-racing, disregarding a red light and others.

"It is our belief that if we bring the packaged story of what we are trying to do in our cooperative, educational, engineering and enforcement program to violation-prone drivers who are on the brink of being grounded, they will see the wisdom of improving their driving habits before they reach the suspension and revocation level."

* * *

The state's traffic safety drive, launched in 1955, has cut Michigan's highway death toll from more than 2,000 four years ago to under 1,350 last year.

Hal Boyle Says:

It's Nice Up Here on the Water Wagon

NEW YORK (AP)—In middle age about the only exercise some men get is climbing on the water wagon—and falling off.

After more than a quarter century of traveling the cocktail circuit (purely in the line of duty naturally), I find myself spending more and more of my time—by choice—high and dry on the old wagon.

BOYLE

Some longtime acquaintances who wouldn't be caught dead after sunset without a glass in their hands regard this almost as a personal insult to them. They look upon me somewhat as a part-time traitor to the holy cause of camaraderie.

★ ★ ★

"Why should anyone want to go on the wagon?" they ask wonderingly. They can't imagine life being as pleasant without that foot on the rail.

Well, everyone who climbs up on the wagon has his own reason for taking the ride.

My reason is quite simple. I like the change of view it gives, and am getting to like it more and more.

My initiation into the cup that cheers goes back to the prohibition days when people sat around in dimly lit apartments gulping home brew out of kitchen pans at 35 cents a pan. It was fun merely because it was illegal. The beer was green and needled, strong enough to curdle all four stomachs of the average cow.

Later, as a cub reporter, it was pure joy to stand at the bar drinking two-for-a-quarter shots of amber spirits of grain while listening to the colorful oldtimers tell how life was like in the good old days.

But one by one—in this city, in that city—the oldtimers took their last one for the road, and the road never led back. There was always someone else to take their place at the bar, but somehow the newcomers were never as interesting. The aura of romance about the legendary two-fisted drinkers began to fade.

The era of social drinking came in, and the trouble with social drinking is that it isn't really social—and it isn't really drinking.

Barroom camaraderie began to disappear when they took the sawdust off the floor, removed the pinball machine, put a three-man combo plus a crooner in the corner, and started admitting ladies.

A coeducational saloon is like a coeducational barber shop. It is an anachronism, and has no place in an ordered world.

It is much pleasanter and quieter up there on the wagon.

There is another reason for climbing the wagon. It is more peaceful and restful.

Twenty-five years ago the taverns were inhabited by wise and witty men who said wonderful things in a wonderful way. The conversation in a tavern today is downright boring. All the people there want to do is tell each other their personal woes. They don't drink to forget their troubles. They drink to remember and brag about them. The bartender has become a wet nurse and a psychiatrist.

What is life like to a man still getting used to a high dry perch?

Well, sometimes he does get a bit lonely for the camaraderie of vanished times, but they are times that vanished years ago. His evening now and then gets a bit monotonous, but he has wonderful mornings.

He goes to bed feeling good and wakes up feeling fine. Life holds a new awareness. He now has time to do all the things he's wanted to do, and he does them. He reads more books, goes to more plays.

In a way it's like being born again. Nothing is stale. Everything is new, as if he were seeing the world for the first time.

He feels no urge to join a temperance league or take up Carrie A. Nation's hatchet, but he does mildly wonder why in heaven he didn't clamber up the wagon sooner—so he'd have a longer joyride.

Singer Holds Up 'Bells' Show; Rings Her Own

WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI)—Singer Jane Morgan delayed the curtain at a musical tent performance of "Bells Are Ringing" by 30 minutes last night because, as the management explained to a waiting audience, "She had her own bells to ring."

★ ★ ★

Miss Morgan was married earlier in the day at New Bern, N.C., to her former partner, Laurence Stith Jr., a native of New Bern. The blonde singer had flown to New Bern Monday after Stith arranged for the ceremony in a telephone conversation with her on Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Blizzard in Antarctica: One Day 74-Below Zero

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (UPI)—The United States winter party at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica, radioed today that it had been weathered in by a four-day blizzard which ended today.

They reported the temperature dropped to 74 degrees below zero one day last month making it the coldest day of the winter.

ICBMs Near Ready Stage

Vandenberg AFB Starts to Receive Squadron of Atlases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is preparing to declare its first intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) unit "combat ready."

After a two-month delay to fix mechanical troubles, the first part-strength Atlas ICBM squadron is being turned over to the Strategic Air Command (SAC) at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The unit has five missiles—three mounted on launching pads and two spares. Later squadrons will have 10 missiles.

Each of the three missiles kept at the ready at Vandenberg will be assigned a Russian target just as strategic bombers are. That means each rocket will be kept upright on its launching pad with its guidance system always set to direct the missile and its hydrogen warhead to its Soviet target more than 6,300 statute miles away.

There was considerable mystery about the Defense Department's delay in declaring the first Atlas unit part of the nation's war arsenal.

Such an announcement seemingly would increase U. S. prestige and give more cold war bargaining power.

Some quarters apparently were apprehensive about announcing the missiles' military readiness and going ahead with a training shot during the current period of East-West diplomatic negotiations.

They seemed worried about the possible international repercussions of making the announcement and the training launch during President Eisenhower's talks with Western leaders in Europe, billed as non-missile rattling conferences, or during Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States later this month.

One Dead, Four Injured, Near Port Huron

Reporter Witnesses Bloody 2-Car Crash

By JOHN BROWN
Port Huron Times Herald

PORT HURON (AP)—I was driving west on M21 about 16 miles from Port Huron near the M21 and M19 intersection Monday when a 1957 auto with three occupants in it passed our car at high speed.

★ ★ ★

We were driving at 50 miles an hour . . . I know because my young cousin, an 11-year-old, said, "Gee, look at how fast that guy is going." I then checked my speedometer.

Seconds after the car passed us we heard the screech of tires and a terrible collision. A sudden cloud of dust obscured the intersection in front of us.

I saw the body of a woman come flying out of one of the cars.

We pulled to the side of the road.

When the dust cleared, five bodies were strewed over the highway shoulder and ditch near the point of collision.

Other motorists had stopped and were rushing to the scene to give what help could be given.

SILENT ONE WAS DEAD

Both cars were smoldering from the impact. A gas station attendant with a fire extinguisher washed down the steaming and smoking engines on both cars.

★ ★ ★

All but one begged for help. The silent one was dead.

He was later identified as Fred H. Wobig, 71, Port Austin.

Wobig was in his car with his wife, Cecilia, who was taken to Yale Community Hospital in critical condition.

The driver of the other car was the Rev. Simon Terpstra, 38, Fruitland, Ont., who was stretched out a few feet from his car.

Two passengers in his car, William Dowsatt, 20, Ottawa, and Owen G. Sharp, 21, Almar, Quebec, were on the ground close by. They were all taken to Yale Hospital.

The Wobigs were driving to Detroit to spend the day and Terpstra was driving his two passengers to Flint at the time of the accident.

The crowd that gathered numbered about 75.

Cars lined both sides of the highway as an unidentified man stood in the middle of the highway and frantically tried to direct traffic away from the injured.

The sheriff's department was notified and ambulances were summoned.

★ ★ ★

AMBULANCES SPEED IN

Moments after the injured had been given blankets the sound of the ambulance sirens could be heard in the distance speeding to the scene.

The seriously injured were placed into ambulances first and sped to the hospital.

For one, help had come too late . . . ambulance attendants covered his body with a blanket and turned to the next victim.

A few of us were still standing near one of the guard posts that had been knocked down in the accident . . . A pair of broken glasses from one of the victims lay at the base of the post.

A car driving down the highway pulled over and asked one of the persons standing near the wreckage scene what had happened. He replied: "Death was here a few minutes ago."

Tries Another Action to Save Sight, Life

★ ★ ★

Her attorney petitioned Wyandotte County Probate Court Tuesday for appointment of a guardian for the girl.

A guardian could authorize the surgery. Physicians say the girl has a tumor that will make her blind in two years and take her life in four or five years.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butts of Oswego, Kan., have refused to consent to the operation. Mrs. Butts declined to say why. Charlene has said they are opposed to the operation because a masseur who examined her said surgery wasn't necessary.

Pilots Will Watch TV as They Fly

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A television screen may replace the instrument panel in the airplane of the future, delegates to the Army-Navy instrumentation symposium were told Tuesday.

Douglas Aircraft Co. of Los Angeles has two such devices among displays at the symposium.

One, being built for the Navy's A2F jet fighter, has an upper screen showing what looks like a highway. The pilot follows the hills and curves on the simulated highway to stay on course. A lower screen shows a tiny airplane moving across a map, allowing the pilot to check his position at any time.

A second cockpit features a glass screen on which is projected a picture of the horizon and the earth. The pilot can follow the picture even in zero visibility.

Douglas' chief equipment engineer, A. M. Mayo, said the second cockpit will be operational in the mid 1960s.

Son in Camp Mails What Mother Requests

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—When Douglas Soden, 10, went to camp his mother wanted to make sure she heard from him—so she gave him a stamped addressed envelope and inserted a blank sheet of paper.

Tuesday Mrs. Soden got the envelope. Inside was the blank sheet of paper.

Attempt to Escape Havana Prison Fails

HAVANA (UPI)—An attempt by an unspecified number of convicts to break out of Havana's Principe Prison during a rainstorm yesterday was frustrated by guards, authorities here said today.

Sounds of firing from the prison yesterday, combined with the imposition of extreme security precautions on the neighborhood, gave rise to a belief that at least some prisoners had escaped.

★ ★ ★

Warden Jose L. Galbe said, however, that a roll call last night confirmed that all of the prison's inmates were in their cells.

Motorist Really Takes Number of Bus Driver

LONDON (UPI)—An irate motorist really meant it when he told the driver of a bus "I'll take your number!" during an argument over the right-of-way.

The bus driver said the motorist wrenched the metal plate showing the bus's route number and the driver's number from the bus and drove away.

The caps of the knees play peek-a-boo under the hobble band of a gray and brown checked wool tweed costume from Yves St. Laurent's collection for the House of Dior. The dress is topped by a brief bolero jacket trimmed with black seal with a matching hat.

The medieval motif favored by Jacques Griffe this fall and winter is worked out in nutria and brown tweed. The sleeveless jerkin, buttoned at the top, is held by a brown suede belt. The dress beneath has a simple bodice and a full, flaring skirt.

Cure for Dejected Cashmeres

Nothing looks quite as dejected as a once handsome cashmere sweater that has lost its shape. Hot water and generally bad laundering habits may cause it to look older than its years, but hold on . . . don't despair, for it may still be possible to "stretch out" months of wear.

A spool of elastic thread and a large-eyed needle will provide a simple and inexpensive method of increasing the sweater's longevity. Here's how you do it.

Versitility for Tableware

She is still in love with fine old-fashioned china for company and special family occasions, but likes earthenware, pottery and plastic for in-between use.

* * *

Many women like to mix-and-match odd pieces to add color and variety to the table, while others like the idea of three or more sets of different kinds of dishes for every possible use. One thing is clear: the ladies want more dishes, budget permitting.

Nerves Trigger Migraine

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It has been estimated that from eight to 10 million people in the United States alone suffer from migraine headaches and that there are that many or more who are troubled by "migraine variants."

According to doctors this type headache is easiest to diagnose. Before the onset of pain there usually are disturbances in vision such as flashing lights and blind spots. When the pain comes it is severe and on only one side of the head. Nausea may be present and the pain may spread to a larger portion of the head.

* * *

It seems certain that temperament and emotions play an important part in such headaches. Migraine victims usually are driving, ambitious, tense people, who cannot relax. They often are perfectionists. In some instances feelings of inadequacy drive them on to far overextend themselves.

Many severe headaches which do not respond to the drugstore type pain killer come from tension and may or may not belong to the migraine family. Doctor Arnold P. Friedman, director of the Headache Clinic at Montefiore Hospital, New York City, coined the term "tension headaches." This is the type most often seen by physicians.

* * *

Sometimes this is called "nervous headache." Both of these terms reflect emotional conflicts. If the stress is prolonged, the tension headache may merge with the migraine. Many of these headache-prone folks are far above average in energy and accomplishment.

SEE PHYSICIAN

Let me impress on your mind the wisdom of seeing a physician if you have frequently recurring or severe headaches. You should do this for safety as well as comfort. The modern physician will give you a thorough physical examination to rule out any serious trouble and with new drugs will be able to give you relief.

Coffee not only stimulates the central nervous system slightly but contracts the blood vessels. This and one of the usual pain killers which you can buy at any drugstore may be effective for the mild headache.

Marilyn Joyce McArthur Wed in Candlelight Rites

MRS. JACK VUN CANNON

A candlelight ceremony at Bethany Baptist Church Saturday evening united Marilyn Joyce McArthur and Jack S. VunCannon. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm R. McArthur and Walter Maidens and the late Mrs. Maidens.

Two hundred guests were present as the Rev. Joseph Chapman performed the rites before an altar bearing vases of white gladioli.

* * *

Mrs. Floyd Robinson was matron of honor. Carol Joyce Dexter, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Linda Kay Fler of Detroit, another cousin, was flower girl.

* * *

The bridesmaid and matron of honor wore matching ballerina-length dresses of yellow chiffon over satin with Sabrina necklines and full skirts. They carried white satin fans of yellow carnations and wore matching headbands with yellow tulle veils.

The flower girl wore a dress of white nylon with a white lace hat accented with pink rosebuds. She carried a basket of white and yellow rose petals.

* * *

After a reception in the church parlors the new Mrs. VunCannon changed to a turquoise sheath dress with a white and turquoise plaid fitted jacket. She wore white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

* * *

The couple will live on Lakeview avenue in Pontiac.

The trench coat and the Hollywood wrap coat are both back in fashion this fall. Realy luxurious versions come in cashmere and some offer deep notched collars of mink.

Garst Family Awaiting Khrushchevs

By DON MITCHELL

COON RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—An Iowa farmer who has visited twice at the home of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says the wife of the Soviet leader is a gracious, delightful hostess.

* * *

Roswell Garst, whose flourishing business is producing and selling hybrid seed corn, will get a return call from the Khrushchev family this month at his modern, central Iowa farm.

Rambling like his farm, Garst told today of an evening at the Khrushchev villa on his first visit in 1955 when he was selling seed corn.

"I had dinner at their home," he said. "One of the daughters—I think the older one (Nadezhda, in her 40s) was there. She was as gracious as her mother. I think she was the older one because Mrs. Khrushchev didn't speak English then, and neither did this daughter, but the younger one (Julia, 30) was studying it.

"Mrs. Khrushchev showed me her garden and the trees around their house. She loves to garden, but I wouldn't say she was the outdoor kind.

* * *

"She impressed me as a normal housewife," Garst said. "I don't notice too much, I'm just a farmer."

Does Mrs. K. keep her own garden like Mrs. Garst?

"Oh no. She doesn't do her own. They are way out of our class," said Garst, reputed to be a millionaire.

He described Mrs. K. as about 5 feet 2 inches tall and farm-fed healthy—actually not unlike Mrs. Garst.

* * *

"Mrs. Garst never got to meet Mrs. Khrushchev. When we were there last year Mrs. Khrushchev was away with her daughter who was having a baby, I think the younger one."

Does Mrs. Khrushchev talk and joke with her strongman husband?

"Well she didn't talk as much as she probably would have liked. When men who like to talk as well as myself and Mr. Khrushchev get going, nobody else has a chance."

* * *

Mrs. Khrushchev is a sparkling conversationalist and now speaks English, he said.

Garst said he and his wife would like to show some Midwest hospitality for the whole Khrushchev family and are particularly counting on Mrs. K.

With most people, pay-as-you-go means they don't go.

Slater-Doyle Ceremony Before Flowered Altar

MRS. JAMES SLATER

The altar of St. Benedict Church was banked with white gladioli for the wedding Saturday of Joanne Doyle and James Slater.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Susan Doyle of Chalmers street and the late Thomas Doyle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slater of East boulevard.

The bride wore a gown of imported hand clipped rosepoint lace and tulle with scalloped lace and seed pearls outlining the portrait neckline. The full skirt was accented with pleated tulle ruffles and lace panels and formed a chapel train. She carried a bouquet of carnations, lily of the valley and ivy centered by a white orchid on a white prayer book.

Carol Soules was maid of honor and the bride's sister, Mrs. Stephen Ernst was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Karla Stoddard and Mary Lou Blair.

They wore dresses of white dotted nylon parchment over aqua and coral taffeta with scoop necklines and cap sleeves. The maid of honor carried a cascade arrangement of aqua and white carnations. The other attendants had cascade bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Flower girl Stephanie Ernst was dressed like the maid of honor and carried a basket of aqua and white petals.

Donald Cox of Lake Orion was best man. Ushers were Lee Hess of Keego Harbor, James Lowery of Union Lake and Robert Howe. Ringbearer was the bridegroom's brother, Steven Slater.

A reception was held at AMVETS Hall. Before leaving for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and New York the bride changed to a red silk sheath dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They will live on Pike street.

Mrs. Doyle wore a rose pink lace sheath dress with pink satin panels and matching accessories. Mrs. Slater was dressed in a brown sheath with embossed beige flower insets and matching accessories.

WAR PAINT

In the earliest days of our American heritage bright color was used on the face to attract attention. The Indians smeared their faces with war paint. Today, we tone this down; we take the blue and high light our eyes, the reds and pinks for our cheeks and lips, the white for shading and adding a mysterious effect to our lipstick and eyes. The browns and blacks on our lids and lashes. We omit the unflattering yellow for the effect we desire is not the eerie stripes to frighten, but a careful blending to attract attention in a pleasing manner.

Shake Corduroy

When laundering wash and wear corduroy, shake the garment thoroughly a couple of times during the drying, and give it a light all-over brushing. This method helps restore the original velvety texture.

This fall, the jumper is designed along sheath lines for both daytime and cocktail wear. It's done in wool jersey, wool plaid and black velveteen for the campus crowd.

Important to Accept Child's Curiosity

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

"We adopted our 7-year-old girl when she was a baby," writes Mrs. S. "For some time I've noticed her interest in the sex of puppies and kittens. Yesterday, neighbors brought over a young mother and baby. While the mother was changing his diaper, Elly stared so that the other women noticed it and told me I should take her to a psychiatrist. Does she sound mentally unbalanced to you"

No. But you can't rely on my opinion, as yesterday, for instance, I found myself staring at a woman teetering along the street on backless pumps with four-inch heels.

When I was Elly's age, I stared at lightning bugs, my friends in new dresses, naked boy babies and elephants in the zoo. So, as a starer myself, my own sanity comes into question here and makes my opinion of Elly's undependable.

Indeed, I urge her to. For I expect that her adopted child was born out of wedlock, and that Mrs. S. is struggling with fear that Elly is the inheritor of her natural parents' sinfulness. This fear, I think is what makes Elly's interest in naked boy babies so worrisome; and as it is not a rational fear, a psychiatrist might help her get over it before it does serious harm to her adult life.

In the meantime I offer her some words by Dr. Irene M. Josselyn, a noted psychoanalyst of children who writes: "The child's first awareness of bodily differences comes most easily in observation of a small baby. Parents' naturalness in accepting infant nudity gives a casualness to the experience that helps the child absorb what he sees."

But if, like Mrs. S., we resist his curiosity in the sex of babies, kittens and puppies, we make it impossible for him to absorb what he sees. Sensing our disapproval, he's too distracted by it to absorb what he sees. So his sex curiosity remains unsatisfied.

As a result, he'll work out one of two solutions for himself. Either he'll satisfy it in guilty secrecy or start pretending he doesn't feel it Both solutions have made much trouble in this world.

Teeth Possess Many Uses

Through the ages teeth have been used for many things besides chewing and biting. According to a dentifrice company's researchers, teeth have been ground into drugs, worn as charms, or fashioned into jewelry.

One old Hindu remedy for whooping-cough called for the ground tooth of a tiger. African natives, troubled with sleep-walking, have worn wolf's teeth as a protective charm. Elephant's teeth are are worshipped in Ceylon.

Must Nudge Fate to Keep Life Exciting

By RUTH MILLETT

Nice things happen to us unexpectedly once in a while. But the happiest people are those who plan for nice things to happen, make them happen, and know all the fun of anticipation.

In her book, "Stop Feeling Tired and Start Living," Dora Albert advises people who are always feeling tired, even though they are in good health, to plan at least one activity they can look forward to each week.

That is, of course, sound advice. For it starts Monday off not as the beginning of another dull, routine string of days — but as a week when something nice is going to happen.

Such plans don't have to be elaborate. They can be as simple as having an old friend over to spend the day; getting a congenial crowd together for a Dutch treat party; or getting a babysitter in to give a busy mother complete freedom for an afternoon to take in a movie, shop leisurely, visit friends, or get a perky new hairdo that will lift her morale every time she looks in the mirror.

In addition to these short-term dividends a person plans for herself, there should always be some long-range plan to work for, too.

It might be a trip, or detailed planning of the kind of house she hopes to have someday, or embarking on a course of study in anything that especially interests her.

The important thing is, that enjoy living, a person has to make good things happen. There is fun in such planning. Fun in anticipation. And enjoymet in making a dream come true.

Dear Abby Cries:

Get That Chip Off Your Shoulder

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After being married for eleven years and bearing five children for my husband, he still says he is going "HOME" when he goes to visit his parents.

ABBY

It is a little town about 60 miles from here and he makes the trip about once a week.

I know it is natural for a man to want to see his parents, but it makes me very angry to hear him say, "I am going HOME."

Don't you think that after 11 years where his wife and children are should be called home? This may seem like a small matter to you but it is big to a woman whose husband feels more at home with his mother than with his own wife and children.

SECOND CHOICE

DEAR SCEOND: Don't jump to any hasty conclusions. "HOME" to most people is the town they've grown up in. It's simply habit and doesn't indicate that your husband feels more "at home" with his mother than he does with you. Remove that chip from your shoulder.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: To "OLD FASHIONED" who wants to know "Where all those lovely teenage girls who used to sit with children for the joy of it?" May I say, "When parents start raising children who are a joy to sit with, perhaps teenagers will again sit for the joy of it."

Yours Truly,
FORMER SITTER

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married soon and before I announce her engagement I would like some advice. Our town has a habit of putting on huge showers for brides. Four or five women get together and invite everybody in town whether they know the bride or not.

In my opinion it is just a racket to collect as many gifts as possible. Then when the wedding and reception list is made up, many of the guests are the same women who have brought a gift to the showers. How can I get it across to my friends that I do not care for this wholesale kind of affair?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: Inform any friends who offer to give a shower for your daughter that you prefer they do not for the above-mentioned reason, which is as sensible as any could be. People are pretty sick of being soaked at showers.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING": Of course you should ask how "ALL" the children are. A retarded child's health and progress is particularly important to his parents. Only a very ignorant or thoughtless person would intentionally avoid mentioning the retarded child when inquiring about the family.

For ABBY'S pamphlet, "What Every Teenager Wants to Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this paper.

This Once Be Nice to Her

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and his sister and her husband are giving a large reception at their house for them. We received an invitation to this party. However, this sister-in-law and I never got on very well and I haven't seen nor spoken to her for some time. My husband does see her on occasion.

"He would naturally like to go to this reception but says he will not go without me. I do not think it would be proper for me to go and accept the hospitality of someone with whom I am not on friendly terms, but he thinks it would be far more improper for him to go alone and that my absence would be noticeable and hard to explain to those who do not know the circumstances. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter?"

Answer: On such a special occasion I think your absence would be very much noticed by everyone who knows the family and I think you owe it to your husband to go. It certainly should be easy enough to greet your sister-in-law quickly and say politely, "How do you do" and pass on.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend's aunt, whom I have never met, has invited us both to Sunday dinner at her house. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to take her something, such as a box of candy or some flowers. Please advise me as I do want to make a good impression."

Answer: No, don't take any present. Make your good impression by being your own natural sweet self. Be attentive to everything his aunt says and show interest in her. And most important, go prepared to like her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When dining in a restaurant and one orders French pastry for dessert and a tray of assorted pastries is brought to the table by the waiter, does one help himself (or herself) to the pastry of his (or her) own choice, or does one make his (or her) choice known to the waiter and have him serve it?"

Answer: The waiter serves the pastry selected.

'Lord Hagerty' Falls Flat on His Face

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — That self-confidence and sweet air of nothingness which James C. Hagerty can exude upon occasion falls flat on its face overseas. He is a hit at home but London gives him the miseries.

He has done so well since 1953 that two years ago he got applauded from opposite directions. The Binghamton (N.Y.) Press suggested he be named the Republican candidate for governor of New York.

And Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Senate's Democratic boss, said Hagerty had done such a good propaganda job for the administration he should be given a job to "propagandize the rest of the world."

He gets along all right with American newsmen who remember the superb job of information he did on Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955. The American press treats him gently.

★ ★ ★

But he clicks like a rusty lock in London. Two years ago the papers there gave him a big horse laugh when columnist Art Buchwald of the New York Herald Tribune stuck a needle in him and Hagerty jumped.

HAGERTY 'MAD'

Buchwald thought Hagerty's news conferences during NATO talks were packed with nothingness. He wrote an imaginary spoof on the Hagerty school of questions and answers. This outraged Hagerty.

He called a special news conference, indignantly denounced the imaginary conference as "unadulterated rot." The London Daily Express called it an "incredible scene."

Buchwald had the last word, which ex-newspaperman Hagerty might have expected. Buchwald wrote another piece, explaining the rot he wrote might be "adulterated" but was never "unadulterated."

Last month, for a quick look-see around before Eisenhower flew over for talks with American allies, Hagerty and a squad of Secret Service men, whose job is guarding the President, went to London.

He lived gorgeously in headlines. One British paper reported what he ate, where he went, what he did, minute by minute. In an eight-column banner the Sunday Dispatch said "Hagerty looks us over."

Then last week Hagerty returned to London, this time with Eisenhower, and this time, but only temporarily, got more subtle treatment, on the sly side.

The London Observer said Hagerty is "today a great officer of state" and "the most powerful press officer in history." It said if Hagerty had been a Briton he would have earned a peerage and would now be Lord Hagerty.

Then came the harpoon. The paper said: "He has brought the cultivation of the relationship between the President and the mass media to a fine Machiavellian art. Whether such an art is wholly desirable is quite another question."

Things got Worse for Hagerty.

A CLOUD OF NOTHING

At a Sunday news conference reporters wanted to know what Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan talked about. A big cloud of nothingness must have invaded the room.

★ ★ ★

Hagerty and his British counterpart, Foreign Office spokesman Peter Hope, disclosed what Eisenhower and Macmillan had to eat, but not what they said.

After a while, the Daily Sketch said, British newsmen were so "disgusted and bewildered" that they protested against the "airy-fairy" information from Hagerty and Hope.

Newsmen began calling the scene of the conference the Hagertorium. To make matters worse for Hagerty, Eisenhower, who held a news conference after talking to West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn, refused to hold one in London.

Reporters hoped that Monday night's informal TV talk by Eisenhower and Macmillan might give them some insights. But the two men talked generalities.

Such information as did come out on the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks was attributed to "informed sources" and "diplomats." Why this couldn't have been handled in an open way is one of the mysteries of foreign affairs.

August Toll on State Roads at 14-Year Low

LANSING (AP)—Michigan highways were clogged with tourists and weekend travelers last month, but the traffic death toll was below the count in August last year.

State Police reported today that 111 persons met death in traffic last month compared with 134 in the same month a year ago. Delayed deaths are expected to raise the total slightly.

The record was the best since August, 1945, a war year of reduced travel, when 88 died.

So far this year, traffic has claimed 858 lives as compared with 824 in the first eight months of 1958.

Belgium is Europe's most densely populated country. Its approximately 9 million people are contained within an area which has 11,775 square miles of compact living space.

Soviet Icebreaker Lenin to Make Maiden Voyage

TOKYO (UPI)—Radio Moscow, in a broadcast beamed toward Japan, said Tuesday that the Russian atomic icebreaker Lenin would embark soon on its maiden voyage.

The Lenin, equipped with three atomic-powered engines generating a total of 44,000 horsepower, can cruise for a year and circumnavigate the world several times without making port, Moscow said. The $16,000-ton icebreaker was described as having a cruising speed of 18 knots.

Liquor Stays Sober

Curiosity stood in for jubilation as almost 500 liquor stores opened their doors. Sooners bought their jugs in public for the first time since statehood in 1907.

There was no singing, no dancing in the streets.

A State Tax Commission official reported sale of liquor stamps in August netted Oklahoma close to four million dollars.

A Woman's Christian Temperance Union leader said "We don't need the taxes. Nobody needs anything that comes from the devil."

In Tulsa operators said business was so brisk the first hour it was hard to handle. Then it tapered off. Some persons merely strolled through, looking at the bottles.

Prices were relatively high, thanks to the state's $2.40 per gallon tax. But they compared favorably with what bootleggers had charged. A fifth of a popular bourbon brought $4.73 to $4.85 here.

In Wewoka a black-clad buyer told newsmen he was a bootlegger in mourning.

Adenauer Message Angers Moscow

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's message of friendship to the Polish people has sparked angry Communist denunciations from both Warsaw and Moscow.

★ ★ ★

Polish Premier Jozed Cyrankiewicz accused Adenauer of trying to drive a wedge between Poland and the Soviet Union in his broadcast expressing German sorrow for Hitler's invasion of Poland 20 years ago.

Sees Dogfights Between Copters in Future Wars

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Helicopters will stage dogfights in future wars just like fighter planes did in past conflicts, an Army aviation leader said Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Brig. Gen. Ernest F. Easterbrook, commander of the Army Aviation Center at Ft. Rucker, Ala., told the Army-Navy Instrumentation Symposium here helicopters will be used increasingly because of their ability to fly low enough to escape radar detection.

★ ★ ★

Since one helicopter is the best defense against another one, Gen. Easterbrook said, the rotor-driven craft will be armed and used in dogfights.

SEOUL (UPI)—Floods caused by typhoon Joan killed 17 persons, injured 21 and left 7,000 homeless in Central Korea, official reports said today.

Wants Deck Over Ocean

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) —A plush Miami Beach, hotel has asked the state cabinet for authority to build an over-the-ocean sundeck almost half an acre in size to get its guests out of the shade of a rival hotel next door.

The Eden Rock complained that an addition to the Fontainbleau will throw a shadow every afternoon on its cabana and open sun area.

Cabinet members postponed action Tuesday. They said the legal questions needed study.

The proposed structure would be a giant concrete table built 18 feet above the water. It would cost $500,000, Oka said.

Film Magnate's Widow Weds Shoe Manufacturer

CHICAGO (AP)—Harry Karl, a West Coast millionaire shoe manufacturer, and Joan Perry Cohn, widow of a film magnate, were married Tuesday night.

Karl and the widow of Harry Cohn, founder of Columbia Pictures Corp., were married in the Gold Coast apartment of attorney Sidney Korshak by Judge Joseph J. Drucker of Municipal Court.

Both Karl and Mrs. Cohn are 45. This is his fourth marriage. He was married twice to actress Marie (The Body) McDonald.

Jams and Jellies Head Cooking Agenda

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It can't possibly be September, but the calendar says it is. That means the wonderful smells of grape jelly, chili sauce and all the other goodies homemakers store away for the winter will soon be filling the air.

The Ten-Year-Old brought us some wild grapes the day after we returned from vacation. Making jelly was not on our schedule that day, believe us. But we did make the fruit up into juice which was delicious. If there are any more wild grapes where the first ones came from, we'll cook up a few glasses of the delectable jelly this week.

Wild Grape and Mint Jelly

3 cups wild grape juice (from green grapes)
3¼ cups sugar

Measure juice and put into kettle with mint. Boil 10 minutes. Then strain or remove mint. Bring juice to boil again; add sugar. Boil about 10 minutes or until it jells. Skim and pour into glasses. Seal at once with paraffin.

★ ★ ★

Not all fruits have as much natural pectin in them as grapes. For them we use liquid or powdered pectin. We like the sound of a combination peach and apple jam. This year's peaches are especially good tasting.

Peach Apple Jam

5 cups prepared fruit (about 1½ lbs. ripe apples and 2½ lbs. ripe peaches)
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
⅓ cup lemon juice (2 or 3 lemons)
6½ cups (2¾ lbs.) sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

First, prepare the fruit. Peel and core about 1½ pounds fully ripe tart apples. Chop fine. Peel and pit about 2½ pounds fully ripe peaches. Chop fine.

Combine fruits and measure 5 cups into a very large saucepan. Grate the rind from 1 medium-sized lemon, measure 1 teaspoon, and add to fruit. Squeeze the juice from 2 or 3 lemons. Measure 1/3 cup into saucepan with fruit.

Then, make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses or jars. Cover jam at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin. If jars are used, seal.

★ ★ ★

Plums are listed by the USDA as a plentiful food for September. That means you'll find lots of them to make some of this richly flavored conserve. If you've never tasted conserve, you're in for a treat. It's wonderful.

Plum Conserve

6 cups chopped plums
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 large stick cinnamon
6 cups sugar
¾ cup raisins
¾ cup chopped walnut meats, oven-warmed

Wash, pit and cut plums in half. Place in saucepan. Add lemon juice, salt and cinnamon. Cook until plums are soft, about 15 minutes. Add sugar and raisins. Bring to a boil and cook until thick. Remove cinnamon. Add warmed nutmeats 5 minutes before removing mixture from heat.

Might we suggest that you fill some sort of attractive container with any jams or jelly you might make. Then you will have a small gift ready any time. Everyone likes gifts from your kitchen.

Count Down Ingredients of Super Sandwich

Nobody needs to get tired of plain old turkey sandwiches. For variety combine turkey with other things. For example, the Lucky Seven Sandwich:

Put a slice of buttered bread on a plate and we're ready for the countdown: Seven — a slice of Swiss cheese; Six—a lettuce leaf; Five — a slice of tomato — Four — a slice of that delicious turkey; Three — a dab of Thousand Island dressing; Two — a slice of hard cooked egg; One — a slice of crisp bacon. Zooooooom! There's a sandwich that's out of this world.

Crisp Green Pepper Adds Color, Flavor

The green pepper, you know, is not really related at all to the black variety we use as seasoning. Rather it belongs to the same family as tomatoes and potatoes. Columbus supposedly gave the pepper its name after tasting a particularly hot variety.

Many kinds of peppers originated in America from the familiar sweet green bell shapes to the tiny bird peppers that were so hot they supposedly made holes in one's stewpot. Nature's rule on peppers is "Don't be fooled by size." The smallest ones are the hottest.

If you're looking for a flavorful addition to any salad or casserole, try green peppers sliced or diced into crunchy tidbits. The plump, shiny pepper shell makes a colorful container for a mixed salad containing pepper pieces; and for an economical supper meal, serve baked green peppers stuffed with hash, flavored rice, minced ham or turkey.

Egg-pepper rings make a colorful summer salad using green peppers sliced into one-inch rings. Place one ring on each salad plate on a bed of fresh leaf lettuce. Fill the pepper section with a tasty mound of chopped hard cooked eggs, sweet pickle, and mayonnaise, garnish with parsley sprig.

Blend Spiced Cantaloupe Into Soft Ice Cream

NEW YORK (UPI) — Spiced fresh cantaloupe ice cream is an ideal summer party dessert. Soften 1 quart of vanilla ice cream enough to stir. Blend in 2 cups of mashed ripe cantaloupe and ½ teaspoon of ground nutmeg.

Turn into freezing tray and freeze until firm. Serve garnished with cantaloupe balls and fresh mint leaves. Serves 10 to 12.

Cool, Simple Gelatin Dessert Made of Juice

Tangerine Jelly

1½ cups cold water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated tangerine juice

Remove tangerine juice from freezer and open so it will thaw a little; you can immerse the can in hot water.

Pour ¾ cup of the cold water into a 1-quart saucepan; sprinkle gelatin over to soften. Place over low heat and stir until gelatin dissolves; remove from heat. Stir in remaining ¾ cup cold water and the tangerine concentrate, just as it comes from the can.

Turn into 5 individual molds, each about ½-cup size. Chill. Unmold at serving time. Makes 5 servings. If indented molds are used a little fresh fruit may be placed in jelly indentations as a garnish.

BARBECUE POT ROAST — Pot roast takes on a delicious new zest when browned over charcoal, then cooked in foil with a barbecue sauce over low coals.

Baking a cake? When you line the bottoms of the pans with paper, cut the paper a little smaller than the pan for easy removal.

Foil Wrapped Pot Roast Barbecued on Grill

Ladies—Here's a work-free new way to cook a delicious pot roast! Merely let friend husband do the job on the charcoal grill. The technique adds an appealing flavor extra to a tasty pot roast, and it involves no labor for you.

The roast is simply browned well over charcoal. Then it is wrapped in aluminum foil along with savory barbecue sauce. Broil the package over low coals for 1½ to 2 hours.

The only work for the wary wife is the special barbecue sauce—and if you're smart, you might talk the husband into that!

Barbecue Pot Roast

4 pounds blade-bone pot roast, 1½ inches thick
Salt and pepper
1 recipe Barbecue Sauce
2 stalks celery, cut in diagonal slices
3 carrots, cut in diagonal slices
1 small onion, thinly sliced
½ green pepper, thinly sliced

Brown meat slowly for 20-30 minutes over low coals; season with salt, pepper.

Tear off a 2½-foot length of 18-inch heavy-duty foil. Place ½ Barbecue Sauce in center of foil; place meat on top of sauce; pad sharp bones with pieces of foil. Cover top of meat with celery, carrot slices, remaining sauce; top with onions, pepper slices.

Bring up torn edges of foil in tight double folds; fold ends up using tight double folds. Place package on grill over low coals for 1½ to 2 hours, or until tender; turn once during cooking time. Yield: Six servings.

Barbecue Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
1 onion, chopped fine
⅓ cup chopped celery
¾ cup water
1 cup catsup
2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

★ ★ ★

Mild Odor of Fresh Fish Kept by Careful Cooking

Fresh fish shouldn't smell too fishy! One of the signs of freshness is a mild odor. The flesh should be firm, the eyes bright and unfilmed, gills red and the skin shiny. If you buy pre-cut fish fillets or steaks, they should be firm in texture and not strong smelling.

★ ★ ★

Fish shouldn't be overcooked and a liberal lacing of Tabasco and butter during broiling or panfrying is all the seasoning they need. Four tablespoons of melted butter and ¼ teaspoon Tabasco makes a good sauce.

Check Meat Grade Before Purchasing

Do you always look for beef grades? asks the MSU Marketing Agent. Many stores use U.S. grades on the labels of each cut of beef. Other stores use their own brands or packers brands. Some stores do not display any grades on beef.

The top beef grades are U.S. Prime and U.S. Choice. Next comes U.S. Good, U.S. Standard and U.S. Commercial. Grades are important, for tenderness and flavor decrease as the grades lower.

Beef that grades U.S. Prime or U.S. Choice has been fattened on grain and will have a heavy layer of fat on the outside of the cut. Tiny streaks of white fat will run throughout the lean.

If you do not find a grade on beef you buy, ask the butcher the grade he sells. Then check your cookbook for directions for that particular grade.

Luncheon Dish Has Touch of New York Chef

Broccoli spears
2 packages (10 ounces each)
Boiling water
Salt
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup fat-free chicken broth
1 cup light cream
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Thin wide cooked turkey slices (about 12)
Paprika

Cook broccoli according to package directions using the amount of salt called for; drain; arrange in bottom of 4 individual shallow casseroles (each holding about 1¼ cups).

Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan over low heat; stir in flour, then broth and cream. Cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat; stir in with fork or whisk in ½ cup of the cheese.

Arrange turkey slices over broccoli so vegetable is covered. Pour over the sauce; about ½ cup for each casserole. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and dust with paprika. Broil moderately slowly until hot through and top is browned—about 10 minutes. Makes 4 generous portions.

Grape, Grapefruit Go Well in Drink

Grape Cooler

2¼ cups unsweetened grapefruit juice
2 cups bottled grape juice
Sugar

Have juices chilled and combine; sweeten to taste. Fill four 10-ounce glasses about ¾ full of ice cubes; pour beverage over. Makes 4 servings.

To Be Built in West Bloomfield Township

Voters OK New $90,000 Library

The library is to be built on a one-acre site on Orchard Lake road just north of Walnut Lake road at an estimated cost of $90,000.

Township taxpayers will be assessed an additional one mill, spread over the next three years, to pay for the project. The new levy will amount to $1.72 per $1,000 of property valuation.

According to plans prepared by architects Stickel, Jaroszewicz and Moody of Birmingham, the new building will provide 5,100 square feet in the one-floor building, with an additional 1,100 square feet in the basement for storage space, utilities, and a garage should a bookmobile be added to library facilities at some future date.

TO MOVE BOOKS

Over 50,000 books will be moved from the present library in Keego Harbor to the new building when it is completed. Construction will begin sometime this fall, with exact dates yet to be decided.

★ ★ ★

Present library quarters are in the Keego Harbor Community Center which has been sold. The new site is located approximately in the geographical center of the township. It was donated by Irwin Cohen, Paul Zucherman and Jack Citron.

Ultimate plans call for the purchase of additional acreage bordering on the south of the site at a price not to exceed $3,000.

It will contain separate service areas for adults and children, a staff room, work room and a multipurpose room with kitcheonette facilities for community functions, a reading room, and an area large enough for lectures, movies or exhibits. Ample parking space will be provided, according to architects' plans.

The plans are based on a survey conducted by Robert Orr, head of the Grosse Pointe library, who was called in by the Citizens Advisory Committee here as consultant.

Few Cities Use Wells

Romeo Peach Queen Flies to Meet Nixon

Romeo Peach Queen Lorelei Hoxie, 18, of Armada has flown to Washington D.C. to present a basket of peaches to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The trip came up unexpectedly, and Lorelei was thrilled at the prospect when notified yesterday. She will be given a two-day, whirlwind tour of the nation's capital.

The queen and her chaperon, Mrs. W. A. Parks of Romeo, left by plane from Willow Run Airport at 7:30 last night. Capital Airlines furnished free transportation.

Arrangements for their stay in Washington were made by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) and James G. O'Hara (D-Macomb County).

Lorelei and Mrs. Parks will visit the National Press Club, meet Speaker Sam Rayburn in the House of Representatives and tour the Capitol.

Tomorrow Lorelei will present the peaches to the vice president.

His company, Airway Manufacturing Co. of Romeo and Olivet, is underwriting the cost of lodging and meals for Lorelei and her chaperon.

The pair will arrive home tomorrow, just 24 hours before the 27th annual Festival is scheduled to open with the Queen's Ball Friday night.

LATHRUP VILLAGE — Police here are looking for a teenager who led an officer on a 90-mile per hour chase in a stolen car early this morning.

Police Lt. Francis Murphy sped off in pursuit when the car ran a red light on Southfield road at the 12 Mile road intersection. The youth ran the car into a ditch and fled on foot.

Murphy fired a warning shot in the air, but the youth escaped by darting between two houses.

Seeking Injunction to Stop Pipe Laying

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — A Clarkston couple is seeking an injunction preventing the Oakland County Road Commission and two construction companies from building a pipeline through their land in Springfield Township.

Bradley F. Miller and his wife Hazel, of 8701 Holcomb Rd., charge in a suit filed yesterday in Circuit Court that construction of the pipeline amounts to "taking of their property without due process of law." The Millers allege that they have never granted any rights-of-way for the line going across their property at Bridge and Holcomb roads, although the commission did give permission to the two companies, the Millers charge.

Judge Frank L. Doty has ordered the commission, the Buckeye Pipeline Co., and the R. L. Coolsaet Construction Co. of Dearborn to show cause in his court Sept. 11 why they shouldn't be enjoined from completing the project.

The Millers allege that $50,000 damages are being inflicted on their property.

Maple Point Beach Group Plans Picnic

Festivities will begin at 12 noon with the crowning of a queen, princess and prince. They will ride on the main float in a parade through the subdivision starting at 1:30 p.m.

Contest games will be held for both children and adults at the beach and four game booths will be set up. Then, at 6 p.m., a talent show billed as "The Holiday Review" will get under way.

Baked ham and beans and other refreshments will be served to picnickers throughout the day.

The tour was sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches in the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program.

The group, under the direction of Lester McCoy, will present a post-tour concert Sept. 13 in Hill Auditorium at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The concert will be under the auspices of the University Musical Society in cooperation with the Michigan Council of Churches.

Forty Southeastern Michigan communities are represented in the Chorale.

Report Laborer in Fair Condition After 4-Story Fall

John Shannon, 26, of Detroit, was cutting reinforcement wires near the top of the peak at the front of the building when a section of roof gave away under him.

He suffered chest, head and possible back injuries. An employe of the Starr Wrecking Co., of Detroit, Shannon landed inside the theater on a floor littered with broken stone and brick.

Defense Crisis Eases in India

Army Chief Withdraws Resignation as Nehru Hails Krishna Menon

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Premier Jawaharlal Nehru told a tense capacity crowd in Parliament today that India's defense crisis had been eased by the withdrawal of Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya's resignation as army chief of staff.

Nehru heaped praise on Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, making no mention of the fact that he too had offered to resign in the crisis touched off by his alleged playing politics with the armed forces.

The Premier had nothing to say about the nation's other chiefs of staff, Vice Adm. R. D. Katari and Air Marshal S. Mukerjee, who handed in their resignations along with Thimayya's. It appeared likely, however, that they would follow the general's example and continue their posts.

Nehru said there is no truth to reports that Menon had been allowing favoritism or political factors to influence army promotions.

"I myself have seen the files," he said. "There is no truth to the charge."

Meanwhile, beleaguered police units opened fire on Communist-led mobs in teeming Calcutta at least four times last night, killing at least seven rioters and wounding more than 1,000.

The riots virtually paralyzed the city and it appeared likely that the army might take over unless order could be quickly restored.

Mrs. Vijaya L. Pandit, Indian high commissioner in London, left, there secretly by plane today for New Delhi to consult with Nehru, her brother.

Presumably she wants to exchange views with him on the international situation and Indian defenses against Red China's border incursions. Mrs. Pandit, 59, departed without even telling members of her staff.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower signed a bill in London Tuesday reserving a site in the District of Columbia for a Franklin D. Roosevelt memorial, and authorizing a competition for its design. The actual cost of the memorial is to be raised by public subscription.

City Officials Table Meter Request

For the second time, city commissioners have tabled a proposal to surrender their control over new parking meters to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

"We have not had time to discuss this proposal among ourselves privately," said Mayor Philip E. Rowston last night.

The proposal was again shelved two weeks, as it was when first introduced two weeks ago. Commissioners said then that they needed time to study it.

City Attorney William A. Ewart, who fathered the idea, said it would streamline existing parking meter laws, "bringing them up to date."

He wants the Commission to amend the parking meter ordinance to give the city manager control over installation of new meters in the city's two metered districts, downtown and at Pontiac General Hospital.

"As the situation stands now, everytime the administration wants to make a few changes they have to go to the Commission in the form of an ordinance amendment," Ewart explained.

The proposal would not give the manager authority to set up new meter districts. This power would remain with the commission.

On recommendation of the Planning Commission, commissioners approved rezoning of four lots at the southeast corner of Mt. Clemens and Jordan streets from Residential to Commerical. There were no objections at a public hearing on the change.

A hearing was scheduled next Tuesday on assessment rolls covering proposed new sidewalks at Macedonia Baptist Church, Pearsall and Motor streets.

The roll covering sidewalks on both sides of Highland avenue, California to Ditmar, was confirmed for payment.

Five matters concerning liquor licenses were approved, two by split votes.

Ralph Puertas was given permission to drop the name of Richard Puertas on the SDD and SDM licenses at 1220-1224 N. Perry St. He was allowed to add Theresa Puertas as a partner.

Thomas C. Clerk was permitted to transfer the tavern license at 377 E. South Blvd. from Telbert T. Griggs and John W. Willis.

Jack A. Robinson was permitted to transfer ownership of an SMD license at 689 N. East Blvd. to Perry Pharmacy, Inc.

Two other requests were approved, despite opposition by Commissioners Floyd P. Miles and Wesley J. Wood.

One request was by Homer C. Shingledecker and Sylvester M. Thum to add 12 feet of space at the rear of 352 Oakland Ave. where they have a Class C license.

The other was a request from Thomas C. Holland Sr. for a new SMD license at 425 S. Jessie St.

Hoffa Funds Are Loan Collateral

Florida Bank President Says He Won't Honor Transfer Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster boss James R. Hoffa appeared today to be caught in a squeeze between his union's court-appointed monitors and a Florida banker.

The monitors want him to transfer $400,000 belonging to Local 299, Hoffa's "home" local in Detroit, from the Florida National Bank of Orlando, Fla., to another bank where it will earn interest. Hoffa has told the monitors he's willing to make the switch.

But the bank's president told the United Press International last night that he won't honor Hoffa's draft because Hoffa agreed to keep the money on deposit as loan collateral. Hoffa refused to confirm or deny this.

The three monitors are scheduled to meet today to consider their next move. They could report the matter to Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who appointed them as the union's watchdog; or they could first issue a formal recommendation calling on Hoffa to make the transfer.

According to O. P. Hewitt Jr., president of the Orlando bank, Hoffa agreed in 1956 to keep the money on deposit as collateral against a loan to Sun Valley Inc. The corporation planned to use the money to develop a housing project in Brevard County, Fla.

Hewitt said Sun Valley Inc. is controlled by Henry Lower. A teamsters spokesman said Lower is an acquaintance of Hoffa's and that Hoffa once held but did not exercise an option to buy into the corporation.

According to Hewitt, Sun Valley Inc. has been in default on a debt of $349,999.99, plus inteerst, for nearly two years. The original loan was for $450,000.

Fight Fire 75 Minutes in Rhimes Basement

Pontiac firemen struggled 75 minutes last night to extinguish a stubborn blaze centering in the basement of Rhimes Delicatessen & Grill, 67 W. Huron St.

The 3:20 a.m. fire caused $1,500 damage to the building and $500 to furnishings, they said.

Cause was defective wiring in a hot water heater, which apparently shorted and set fire to nearby wood partitions, they said.

Williams to Get a New Imperial for Replacement

The present 1955 Imperial has traveled 106,000 miles, has smooth tires, and had "Just about everything wrong with it," said Williams' driver, state trooper Bill Carter.

In fact, Carter had a string attached to the accelerator to raise it when it would stick, keeping the motor racing.

★ ★ ★

State police commissioner Joseph A. Childs said the replacement was needed "from a safety angle, if for no other reason."

Father of Two Dies After Hitting Truck

A father of two was killed Tuesday when his car rammed the rear of a haulaway truck driven by a Drayton Plains man on the Willow Run Expressway, near Wayne road in Romulus Township.

Township road patrol officers said William B. Korthaus, 47, of 6625 Hatchery Rd., was pulling his truck off the eastbound lane to park when the car driven by Howard E. Jackson, 27, of Taylor Township, struck and rolled into a ditch.

Jackson was thrown 30 feet from the wreckage. Korthaus was uninjured, police said.

5-Car Pileup Injures 4

Two pedestrians, a driver and passenger were injured last night in a five-car pileup on M 59 just east of Crescent Lake road in Waterford Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said James L. Davis, 43, of 999 LaSalle St., stopped facing west on M 59 to make a left turn. Autos approaching behind him were unable to stop on the wet pavement and a chain reaction of collisions occurred.

Margaret Williamson, 39, of 431 First Ave., a passenger in Davis' car, and Charles K. Andrews, 24, of 4261 Linda Ct., Drayton Plains, driver of the car directly behind Davis, were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

William Leigh, 38, of 2655 Elsinore St., and Marvin E. Earnest, 20, of 4807 M 59, Waterford Township, standing on the side of the highway, were struck by one of the autos, driven by Russell V. McGregor, 21, of 360 Seebalt Rd., Drayton Plains. Earnest was in satisfactory condition today with a fractured pelvis. Leigh was treated and released.

★ ★ ★

Drivers of the other cars involved were Ralph R. Rich, 71, of 362 S. Telegraph Rd., Sylvan Lake, and Roy G. Hess, 54, of 686 Crescent Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

Baseball's Song Writer Dies at 80

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The man who wrote baseball's own song—"Take Me Out to the Ball Game"—died Tuesday night.

He was Jack Norworth, 80, song writer, actor and sports fan—once known as "the King of Vaudeville."

Norworth wrote "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" in 1908. He liked to recall that he had never seen a baseball game then and got his inspiration from an advertisement about a game at the Polo Grounds while riding the New York subway.

A baseball executive once said that Norworth's song did more to popularize and sentimentalize baseball than any other single factor in the game's history with the possible exception of Babe Ruth's fabulous bat.

Easy Life Bad for Americans

Need More Exercise to Condition Heart, Says Professor

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Easy living is killing many Americans, according to Dr. Wilhelm Raab, a professor of experimental medicine at the Univessity of Vermont.

He urged the establishment of nationwide re-conditioning health centers because, he said, "the lack of muscular exercise is contributing substantially to the enormous death rate from heart disease."

Raab, who spent three years studying the nervous mechanisms which chemically injure the heart metabolism in physically inactive persons, said "the ultimate answer lies in a nationwide program of expanded physical exercises."

Working with nearly 350 healthy appearing men, Raab subjected them to an elaborate test designed to reveal the state of balance between the two mutually opposed nervous systems, the sympathetic and the vagus, which govern the metabolism and function of the heart.

The vagus nerve, in well-conditioned athletes, exerts a favorable influence on the metabolism of the heart by saving on oxygen. This results in high energetic efficiency.

Unless balanced by the regulating vagal systems, the sympathetic nervous system wastes oxygen and causes, ultimately, degenerative changes in the heart muscle.

The occupations of the test group ranged from sportsmen and manual laborers to businessmen and college students. Raab used only men because, he says, women are less susceptible to degenerative heart diseases.

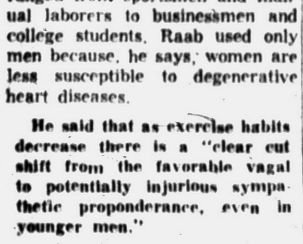
He said that as exercise habits decrease there is a "clear cut shift from the favorable vagal to potentially injurious sympathetic preponderance, even in younger men."

Raab said "young men who shun exercise become candidates for earlier heart disease and cardiac death than those who, by constant physical activity, keep their hearts in good shape."

Conducting tests on the heart conditions of some University of Vermont students, Raab concluded that the students' hearts improved "distinctly after a few weeks of training and exercise."

The human heart pumps enough blood in a single hour to equal about three times the body's weight according to medical calculations.

Lucky He Wasn't KILLED!



A true story based on an actual case

When my 4-year old son was struck by an automobile he suffered a slight concussion—we were relieved it wasn't worse. Since I had a Hartford Automobile Liability policy with Extended Medical Payments coverage, medical bills totalling $61.60 were promptly paid under my policy.

When you buy Auto Insurance, make sure it's Hartford Automobile Liability Insurance with Extended Medical Payments Coverage. Then you'll not only be protected against damage suits, but you'll be protected against medical expense if you or members of your family are injured in an automobile, or as pedestrians.

Youth Makes Its Mark in Amateur Golf Trials

SPORTS

Grace, Lovell Earn National Tourney Spots

Draper Is Also Among Seven Who Pass Hurdle at Orchard Lake

By BILL CORNWELL

Youth made its mark Tuesday in 36-hole U.S. Amateur golf trials at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Tommy Grace of Lathrup Village, only 18 years old, and Birmingham's Ray Lovell, who turned 20 last January, were among the seven golfers who passed their qualifying hurdles yesterday over the par 36-36—72 Orchard Lake course.

Grace, who plays from Detroit Golf Club, shared medal honors with two others as he earned his first trip to the National Amateur Golf Championship, scheduled Sept. 14-19 at Broadmoor Golf Club in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Lovell had to work a little harder for his berth in the U.S.G.A. tournament. He was forced into a six-way playoff for the three remaining positions and a two-foot putt for a par four on the 1st hole landed him in the elite group for the 3rd straight year.

Rounding out the list of sectional qualifiers are Dr. Wendell R. Aldrich of Indianapolis and Art Olfs Jr. of Lansing, co-medalists with Grace, veteran Tom Draper of Red Run, Lou Wendrow of Lansing and Frank Connolly of Gowanie.

Par was a tough barrier for the starting field of 48 players. Only nine were able to equal or better par for 18 holes and nobody matched regulation for the 36-hole distance.

Aldrich, Olfs and Grace divided medal honors at 145, one over regulation for the route. Draper came next with 147 while Wendrow, Connolly and Lovell all tied at 149.

Draper, whose two-under-par 70 on the morning round was the best 18-hole score of the day, observed his Silver anniversary in the U. S. Amateur qualifiers and made the grade for the 15th time.

The victims of the sudden-death playoff for the 5th, 6th and 7th places were Bill Michaels of Detroit Golf Club, Michigan Amateur champion Bud Stevens of Western and Dearborn's Larry Bianco, each with 149.

Eight other golfers deadlocked at 150 and had to wage playoffs for five alternate positions. It was almost dark when the playoffs were completed with the alternate spots going to Michaels, Stevens, Bianco, Paul Weyand of Birmingham and Jackson's Steve Miller.

Grace collected five birdies and an eagle three while shooting scores of 72-73. Olfs, who plays from Birmingham CC, qualified for the 6th time and Aldrich, an Angola dentist, succeeded for the 3rd straight year on Michigan links.

Lovell is not certain he can make the trip to Colorado Springs. He will soon enter the Wayne University Medical School and this may prevent him from competing.

Youth Decisions Age

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Young Alvin Green jabbed out a unanimous 10-round decision over former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati last night.

There were no knockdowns and neither fighter was marked.

Most Amateur Stars Pass Qualifying Barrier

Most of the big names in United States amateur golf shot their way into the 1959 National Amateur tournament yesterday in 36-hole sectional qualifying rounds at 34 locations from coast to coast.

The only major casualty was veteran Dale Morey of Indianapolis, who failed to make the grade at Chicago.

Among the heavy guns hurdling their way into the U. S. Amateur tourney were Walker Cuppers Billy Joe Patton, Ward Wettlaufer and Bill Hyndmann, along with ex-Cup members Bill Campbell, Jimmy McHale and Dick Yost.

Others of note who passed their trials were Arnold Blum, Dr. Ed Updegraff, former National Public Links champion Don Essig and Jim Tom Blair, son of the Missouri governor.

A notable absentee from this year's amateur championship will be Chuck Kocsis, another past member of the Walker Cup team who did not enter the 1959 qualifiers. Kocsis was a finalist in 1956 and he reached the quarter-finals last year.

A former Oakland County golfer successfully passed his qualifying test at Jupiter, Fla. Chick Hendrickson, formerly from Ferndale and now living in Pompano Beach, Fla., made the grade yesterday with 71-74—145.

The National Amateur is slated Sept. 14-19 at Broadmoor Golf Club in Colorado Springs, Colo. Defending champ Charley Coe was exempt from qualifying.

RELAXING — Tommy Grace, co-medalist in Tuesday's amateur golf trials at Orchard Lake, relaxes and waits for the rest of the field to settle matters. The 18-year-old Notre Dame student qualified for the 1st time in his career.

Red Dons No. 4 but He Doesn't See Any Action

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — Red Schoendienst put on his old No. 4 Milwaukee Braves uniform Tuesday night and took his place on the club's active roster for the first time since last year's World Series.

"I'm glad to be here," Schoendienst said, "but I don't expect to go a full nine innings for quite some time."

Schoendienst, though officially available for duty, wasn't in the lineup for the game with the Philadelphia Phillies. He also missed fielding and batting practice because his plane was late in arriving from his St. Louis home.

Manager Fred Haney said it's his opinion that Schoendienst is still too brittle for the physical effort ballplayers have to expend when they're in a game.

"But we may as well take him off the injury list," Haney said, "as long as we now have a legal limit of 40."

Michigan Drag Cars Favored

DETROIT — Michigan drag enthusiasts with cars proven at 130 m.p.h. or better will contend for the top eliminator title at the 1959 National Championship Drag Races in Detroit over the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 3-7.

A leading challenger is Serop "Setto" Postoian of Madison Heights, who is switching from fuel to gas for the Nationals. On his maiden gas run at the opening of the new Detroit Dragway, Postoian put his blown Chrysler dragster through the quarter-mile traps at 156.97 m.p.h. with an elapsed time of 9.7 seconds.

Another favorite is 21-year-old Bill Robbins of Ypsilanti, Michigan, who will be running Alfred Turner's supercharged Chevie dragster. Robbins was top eliminator at the opening Dragway meet, turning 140 m.p.h. in 9.83 seconds.

More than 700 cars and 3,000 hot rodders are paricipating in the five-day event at the Detroit Dragway near Wyandotte, Michigan.

Bunning Gives Chicago Only Three Singles

Kuenn Leads Attack Against AL Leaders With 4 Hits

By The Associated Press

Add another chapter to the strange career of Jim Bunning, the lean right-hander who was a surprise 20-game winner two years ago, then pitched a no-hit masterpiece — and then faded.

Last night he shut out Chicago's streaking, first-place White Sox, one of the toughest clubs to blank in the American League, putting them away on three singles and ending their winning string at five as Detroit took a 4-0 victory.

It was Bunning's first shutout in 45 starts since July 20 of last year — the day he no-hit Boston 3-0. And it was only the sixth time this season that the White Sox, their edge over rain-idled Cleveland cut to five games, have been held scoreless, a low matched only by Boston in the AL.

Ted Kluszewski had two of the White Sox' hits, in the fourth and the ninth. Luis Aparicio had the other as Bunning, now 14-10, bagged his fifth straight victory.

While Bunning continued his spell over the White Sox — he's beaten them four in a row over the past year and nine times out of 10 over five seasons—the Tigers added to their hex over Bob Shaw. The young right-hander, who broke in with Detroit in '57, has beaten every club but the Tigers in his brief career. Now 14-5 for the season, he's 0-3 against Detroit.

The Tigers tagged him for nine of their 12 hits and all their runs in his five innings, giving Bunning the run he needed in the first inning when Larry Osborne singled, Harvey Kuenn doubled and Al Kaline hit a sacrifice fly.

Kuenn singled in the third inning and took third on Kaline's second hit. Charlie Maxwell scored Kuenn on a grounder.

Detroit picked up its last two runs in the fifth on four straight singles by Kuenn, Kaline, Maxwell and Frank Bolling.

Killebrew Clouts First Homer in Fenway Park

BOSTON (UPI) — It took young Harmon Killebrew most of the season to do it but the Washington Senators slugger made it a good one.

The 23-year-old Killebrew hit his 39th home run yesterday, against the Boston Red Sox, to tie him with Cleveland's Rocky Colavito for the American League leadership. Though he had hit at least two in every other park in the league, it was his first at Fenway Park.

It left Killebrew five homers behind Babe Ruth's record setting pace of 1927. Ruth hit 44 during his first 128 games en route to 60 home runs, adding two more in his 132nd game. Yesterday's game was the 131st for Killebrew.

The Yankees defeated Baltimore 5-0 as Whitey Ford and reliever Ryne Duren combined for a seven-hit shitout.

Five singles gave the Yankees three first-inning runs against loser Jerry Walker. They got their other two against Arnie Portocarrero in the ninth. Ford (14-7) gave up six hits, giving way in the seventh when the Orioles twice loaded the bases. The Birds had three on again in the ninth before Duren put it away.

Killebrew's homer gave the Senators a 4-2 lead in the seventh inning. Then they nailed it with three runs in the eighth, two on Roy Sievers' double.

Diller Hanover Favored

Rich Hambletonian Today

Harness racing fans hope for a fast track and a possible record time to erase the 1:59 4-5 last year by Emily's Pride. It rained yesterday but the sun broke through shortly before sunset. The forecast is for clear weather.

Post time is 2:30 p.m. (EST) with succeeding heats hourly until one horse wins two of the one-mile dashes.

Diller Hanover drew the No. 2 position. That's all the advantage most fans figured he and veteran pilot Frank Ervin will need. Among his main competitors, John A. Hanover and Circo were in the front line, but Diller's stablemate, Tie Silk, was next to the outside in the second tier.

Diller's career record is 23 victories in 34 heats and earnings of $132,117. He won more races last season than any other juvenile and was runner-up in earnings to Circo, second greatest two-year-old money winner of all time.

Circo, driven by Billy Haughton, has a career bankroll of $123,026 and 11 wins in 36 heats. He started slowly this season, going 10 times before winning.

John A. Hanover, driven by Stanley Dancer, is the only Hambletonian entry eligible to win trotting's triple crown. He won the Yonkers Futurity and is eligible for the Kentucky Futurity. Son of ex-Hambletonian winner Hoot Mon, he set the world's record of 2:11 in a 1 1-16 mile at Yonkers and he banked $48,788 in winning 11 of 37 heats.

★ ★ ★

'Fireball' Cracks Speedway Mark

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP)—Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., cracked the speed record for the Darlington International Raceway Tuesday in a rehearsal for the Labor Day 500-mile stock car race.

Roberts, driving a 1959 Pontiac, blazed around the mile and three-eighths paved oval in 40 seconds flat, or 123.750 miles per hour. The previous one-lap record speed was 123.134 m.p.h. set by Junior Johnson of Rhonda, N. C., last week.

Heart Attack May Have Felled Jimmy Foxx

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — There is a "strong possibility" that Jimmy Foxx, the great onetime major league baseball player, suffered a heart attack Monday in his doctor's office and not a fainting spell as first believed.

His physician, Dr. Howard Graham said Tuesday:

Dr. Graham said the 51-year-old member of Baseball's Hall of Fame would remain in St. Mary's Hospital for new tests.

"He may remain in the hospital for seven more days," Graham said.

Two 1960 All-Star Games Appear Almost Certain

NEW YORK (AP) — It is a virtual certainty now that two major league All-Star Games will be played in 1960, probably in American League cities, on Monday, July 11, and Thursday, July 14.

The first one already is set for Kansas City. The second one likely will be played in New York.

The players haven't voted on the second All-Star Game yet. But they will during the next three weeks and present indications are that only a handful of the 481 eligible voters (players and coaches) will oppose a second game.

The announcement of the pending vote was made by Frank Scott, the players' representative, who said all ballots mailed to the players stipulate that the two games must be played within a four-day period.

"The players wouldn't consider the proposition," he said, "unless the games were played within that specified period."

The players also will vote on whether to include managers in their pension plan, a proposal that is expected to meet with unanimous approval.

The rules governing the pension plan already have been amended to include all big league managers who have served since 1947, whether currently active or not.

That would include, for instance, such men as Bobby Gragan, Leo Durocher, Birdie Tebbetts, Charlie Grimm and others, provided they are under 50 years of age in 1947, and managed for at least five years.

A third proposition will be the naming of an attorney to succeed J. Norman Lewis, dropped last March.

Scott emphasized that all moneys derived from the second All-Star Game will be devoted to back-service payments accrued by the players' pension fund.

These back-service payments came about in 1957 when the players voted to include under pension coverage all major league players active during 1947-1957 but not active since.

The football series between Illinois and Northwestern is all even. Each team has won 24 games. Four ended in ties.

Doctoring Your Golf

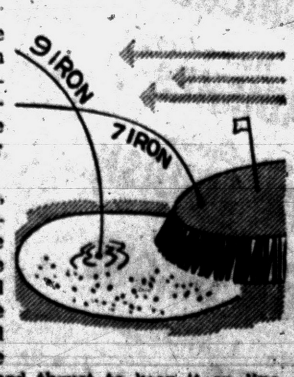
By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Wind-tossed short-iron shots.

DIAGNOSIS: Unwise choice of club.

TREATMENT: You'll seldom be smart if you hit a full nine-iron or a full pitching wedge shot when playing into a stiff wind. Such a shot is almost impossible to control.

You'll almost always be better off in this situation to take a less lofted club—say a seven-iron or a six-iron—and cut down on the length and power of your swing.



With the less lofted club, you can keep the ball lower and on a truer course to the flag. With the more lofted club, the ball will get up high quickly. The wind will get under it and send it ever higher. The shot will have little forward thrust to keep it on line. Near the end of the flight of the ball, it'll have almost no forward thrust and will be blown entirely off course.

Picture the shot in your mind before you hit it. You'll realize that the ball must have some power behind it to keep it on course.

Thus, a fairly low trajectory will be essential, and a choice of a less lofted club is called for by the conditions of the shot.

CHANGED AGAIN — Charley Ane has been shuffling between tackle and center the past couple seasons as fast as the Detroit Lions' roster is trimmed. He moved back to center again this week when the Lions trimmed veteran John Allen on Monday.

Lion Vets Must Perk Up for Eagles Thursday

Gedman to Test Knee Tomorrow in Toledo Tilt

Ex-Local College Aces in Philadelphia Lineup Against Detroit

Detroit Lions' coach George Wilson isn't worried about the talk that there is a "lack of spirit" in the team's training camp at Cranbrook.

"This camp is like all other pro camps," said Wilson, "the guys have been cooped up and tired."

"The veterans will have to perk up and get themselves up to a point for the games, but I'm sure it'll be okay when we break camp," he added.

The squad ran through a listless workout yesterday morning and Wilson promptly ordered another session in the afternoon for the offensive ends and backs. He ran them through pass patterns in the first two-a-day workout the club has had in more than two weeks.

Ane has been shuffling back and forth between tackle and center. He was at center when the Lions got Frank Gatski two years ago, and then was moved to tackle.

When Gatski retired, Ane went back over the ball, and this year he has been playing tackle while Allen was on the squad.

The Lions will be in top physical condition for their 5th pre-season scrap. Gene Gedman will get back into the lineup and this may be the test which decides Gedman's career.

Gedman did not respond to contact work after a knee operation prior to training camp, and the next game or two may be a deciding factor in his status with the Lions.

A crowd of 15,000 is anticipated in Toledo. Michigan fans will get the chance to see a couple of local college products with the Eagles.

Walt Kowalczyk, ex-Michigan State star, will be in the Eagles' starting offensive backfield. Lee Riley, former U. of D. gridder, is starter on the defensive unit as a halfback.

Dodgers Thwarted by Cards

By The Associated Press

You'd think those Los Angeles Dodgers have a mental block when it comes to closing in on the National League lead.

★ ★ ★

Nonsense? Give a look.

Start in May. They were tied for first in mid-month, then lost five in a row and fell to fourth. It took 'em more than a month to get back, finally moving within a game of the top on June 28 after winning nine of 10. But then they lost four out of five.

They were only a half-game shy at the first All-Star Game break. But then lost five out of seven. Twelve days later, they were just a half-game behind once more, only to lose three out of four.

Want more? They were first by a half-game July 29, then skidded to third. On August 8 they again were only a half-game from first. But then they lost three straight.

Now they've missed again. After winning four of five, including two out of three from San Francisco, they had a chance to close within a half-game of the idle first place Giants last night.

So what happens? Old nemesis Larry Jackson shut 'em up with a two-hitter and St. Louis was a 3-0 winner, dropping the Dodgers 1½ games behind.

The Giants made hay all around. Philadelphia cracked third place Milwaukee 5-3, on pitcher Don Cardwell's two-run homer in the ninth. That left the Braves three games behind and just a half-game ahead of Pittsburgh's Pirates, whose game with Cincinnati was rained out.

In the American League, Detroit's Jim Bunning blanked Chicago 4-0 with a three-hitter, cutting the White Sox' edge over rain-idled Cleveland to five games. New York beat Baltimore 5-0 and Washington defeated Boston 7-4.

Jackson, 28, a right-hander with only a 51-50 record in the majors, upped his career record against the Dodgers to 12-5 while handing them their fifth shutout, low in the majors. He walked two, struck out four for a 12-12 season mark, giving up only a third-inning single by Maury Wills and a seventh-inning double by Duke Snider.

The Cards had only four hits, but two were home runs. Ken Boyer's 26th, a second-inning shot that extended his hitting streak to 20 games, ended Johnny Podres' winning string at four. Podres (12-8) also gave up Alex Grammas' No. 3 homer in the fourth inning and a double in the sixth by Don Blasingame, who stole third and scored on Grammas' squeeze bunt.

The other Cardinal hit, a seventh inning single by Bill White, was off reliever Stan Williams. Don Drysdale pitched the ninth for the Dodgers, fanning White to give the Dodger staff a total of 892, bettering their own NL strikeout record of 891 set in 1957. The major league mark is 896, set by Detroit in 1946.

Cardwell, who had managed just one hit in 43 at bats this year, discarded his regular 30-ounce bat, picked up a 40-ounce cannon and tagged Bob Buhl's first pitch for the tie-breaking homer at Milwaukee. His only other home run in the majors came when he was a rookie in

Daugherty Puts Spartans Through Heavy Workouts

EAST LANSING — Duffy Daugherty had his players running in the their tails were dragging in the first day of full workouts for the 1959 Michigan State football team.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty put his squad through long sessions of wind sprints to end both the morning and afternoon practice sessions yesterday.

"We want to be a running team, so you can expect plenty of this," he warned.

Most of the day was spent in basic work on the defense. Coaches explained the spring session had been devoted mainly to teaching fundamentals of the new double wing "T" offense.

The squad count grew to 70 as sophomore end Rohland Kerkoff checked in, explaining he had car trouble en route from Attleboro, Mass.

Also reported on his way to join the squad was sophomore fullback Ron Hatcher of Carnegie, Pa., the only other player missing on opening day.

The enclosed secret practice field with fences covered by canvas, was doubled in area this summer to permit the entire squad to work out in privacy.

Zucco Suffers Injury

Bears' Rookie Promoted

By United Press International

Rookie Richie Pettibon now is helping the other guy make the headlines.

A star quarterback at Tulane last season, Petitbon so impressed George Halas with his defensive work against Pittsburgh last weekend that the Chicago Bears' coach has promoted the newcomer to a defensive half-back post for Saturday night's game with Washington.

Pettibon, 6-foot, 3-inch, 205-pounder, went into the Steeler clash when Vic Zucco suffered a fracture of his collarbone. His defensive work, especially on passes, played a big part in maintaining the Bears' undefeated exhibition record as they walloped Pittsburgh 54-17.

At Moraga, Calif., coach Red Hickey sent his San Francisco Forty-Niners through a light workout as the team readied for next Sunday's exhibition clash with the Chicago Cardinals. Both clubs have won two and lost one.

At California, Pa., Charley Tolar, a 5½-foot halfback who played for Northwestern State, La., was dropped from the Pittsburgh Steelers football team Tuesday, primarily because of his size.

"Those big Bears were just jumping over him Saturday night," commented one coach in describing Tolar's showing in the exhibition game with the Chicago Bears during the weekend.

Maverick Runs in Buffalo Race

Officials Hoping Miss Supertest Will Also Be in Sunday Event

A select field of the fish-tailed racers, including the American and Canadian champions, are entered in the Buffalo Launch Club's two-day international regatta this weekend.

Miss Supertest III, owned by James Thompson of London, Ont., outraced Maverick last Friday in Detroit to win the Harmsworth Trophy for the first time for Canada.

Launch Club officials have no confirmation the Canadian boat will race this week.

Maverick, from Lake Mead, Nev., won the Silver Cup and was shipped to Buffalo, along with three Seattle entries. They are Kol-Roy, Miss Bardahl and Thriftway.

The big race is scheduled to start at 2 p.m., EST.

Harriers Get Equipment

Members and new hopefuls for the 1959-60 cross-country squad at Pontiac Central High will be issued equipment on Thursday at the PCH gymnasium. Coach Dean Wilson said the boys can get their material from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 6 to 8 p.m. Wilson wasn't certain when he would begin regular drills.

Pontiac Northern was expected to issue harrier equipment sometime next week.

Frosh Gridder Is Killed

Gentner, an Arizona All-State tackle last year, was one of several linemen taking part in a special conditional drill. While others formed a circle, Gentner attempted to break out. He was struck in the throat by another player's elbow.

The 5-8, 231-pound Gentner had planned to transfer to the University of Colorado next year. He had been contacted by Sonny Grandelius, the university's coach.

Miami Seeking AFL Franchise

DALLAS (AP) — Lamar Hunt, the Dallas oilman who is organizing the American Football League, met Tuesday with one of the three parties seeking a franchise for Miami, Fla.

The AFL already has six members — Dallas, Houston, New York, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Denver and Los Angeles — and Hunt has said it is virtually certain to add two more.

Hunt did not reveal who the man was but said he represented one of the Miami groups that wants to get in the AFL. The Orange Bowl already has been placed at the disposal of the group that gets the franchise.

Hunt will go to Houston Wednesday to talk to a representative of the third group. He interviewed the first one here last week.

The next meeting of the AFL will be at Los Angeles Sept. 12-13 at which time Seattle is expected to be voted a franchise. Seattle needs only to obtain use of the University of Washington stadium to get in.

Widings Ready for 240-Mile Dash

Holly Pair Optimistic

In fine physical condition, and with their new canoe fully tested, Holly's Widing brothers (Albert and LeRoy) were looking ahead to the big Au Sable River "world" championship event this weekend. They were optimistic over their chances of a top spot in the gruelling 240-mile paddle from Grayling to Oscoda. They finished 3rd a year ago, but are co-favorites this time.

Race starts Saturday at 8:30 p. m. and the entire Widing clan will be there to cheer them on. One younger brother, Pat, is also among the racers, teamed with Flint's Ron Frosh.

Dad Henry Widing, another son, Henry Jr., and members of Al and LeRoy's families, will follow the paddlers all the way, providing food, which Mrs. LeRoy Widing says "is quite a job."

The Holly racers feel their toughest competition will be from the Tawas team, Steve Kolonich and Larry Kendall. It was expected that 50 or more teams would be entered. One Virginia pair has been listed.

Distribution of starting numbers gave the Widings No. 13. They had No. 12 last fall. The Tawas team carries No. 23.

The Au Sable is high, says the Holly men, a condition which they regard as very favorable. They have made several short practice runs this week, found the going very satisfactory.

Pointers Run in 2-Day Test

One of the fall's big gundog trials is the two-day weekend (Sept. 26-27) AKC point field trial for the German Short-Haired Pointer club of Michigan. The trial will be run over the interesting terrain of the Highland Recreation Area.

Draw will close Sept. 21 at 9 p. m. and entries may be obtained from, and filed with Floyd Breaugh, 17816 Locherbie Dr., Birmingham.

Puppy derby, open all-age, gun [illegible] events will be on the prog[illegible] Judges in the saddle, for t[illegible] gundog and derby will be well-known S. J. Cheras of Niagara Falls and Jim Baker of Toledo. Lance Spencer of Detroit and Jack Schmidt of Saginaw will judge the puppy, derby and limited stakes.

Chet Crites will do the shooting of live pheasants in the stakes other than puppies, where quail will be used in the bird field.

Irish Setter Club of Michigan has a field trial Sept. 19-20 at Pontiac Recreation Area. Judges will be named within a short time.

Trowhill Wins East Michigan Archery Title

PORT HURON (UPI) — Don Trowhill of Port Huron and Mrs. Fran Lozon of Marine City walked off with the top prizes in the 4th annual Eastern Michigan Archery Tournament at the Blue Water Sportsmen's Association ranges during the weekend.

Trowhill won the men's division with 945. Carl Heinrich, Richmond, recently crowned national field archery instinctive champion, was third with 914.

Mrs. Lozon won the women's title for the third straight year with a 689 score.

Hope for Duck Season

OTTAWA — The latest report from Ducks Unlimited of Canada indicates that the 1959-60 waterfowl season may not be as bleak as previously forecast.

Press Contest Ends on Labor Day

5 Days Left in Fish Derby

This summer-long angling contest began in June comes to a conclusion on Labor Day, Sept. 7. However, fish taken during the holiday weekend may be entered not later than 12 o'clock, noon, on Tuesday, Sept. 8. No entries will be received during the holiday.

Because of the 3-day period, probable leaders should be weighed and measured at any market where standard scales are available. Weight slips must be signed at that time by the weigher, the angler and one disinterested observer of the weighing.

Only full-time Oakland County residents are eligible, and all fish must be taken from county waters.

CARROTS BECOME LURES — The "raw" material, a "pilot" fishing lure carved from the carrot (usable, too) and the beautifully made (by plastic injection into a mold) "Go-Gettums" lures, are displayed in Pete Sturman's hand. The carved carrot is standing on its tail and with the others are about twice the size shown in the picture. The three ant-like flyrod lures, just below, are one-half inch long, believed to be the smallest "plugs" ever made for fishing.

SCULPTOR AT WORK — Here is Pete Sturman, Utica model-maker and creator of about the tiniest fishing plugs ever, at work making a model lure from a crisp carrot, grown in a neighbor's garden. Lures on the table are also Pete's work, and the several hundred letters at left include many offers for manufacturing the lures and requests for purchases. None is for sale, all Pete's output going (free) to friends.

Application Cards in Mail

LANSING—Conservation department workers have begun mailing application cards for special deer hunting permits to some 4,200 license dealers.

Distribution should be completed by Sept. 15, giving hunters until midnight, Oct. 10, to submit their applications to the department's Lansing office.

Approximately 100,500 special permits are offered covering 18,457 square miles in 39 food shortage and crop damage areas.

Some 60,500 permits will be available for "any deer" shooting in northern Lower Peninsula while 35,000 permits will go to hunters above the Straits.

Although several changes have been made in the application card's form, the procedure of applying for permits will remain the same as last year.

State Again Gathers Lake Trout Spawn

LANSING — As ground work to Michigan's cooperative role in replenishing the Great Lakes' lake trout population, Conservation Department workers will again collect spawn this fall from lake trout in Torch, Elk, Crystal, Glen and Higgins lakes.

Banking on experience gained last fall when approximately 700,000 eggs were taken from these lakes and employing better equipment, department men expect this year's operation to be more extensive and successful.

Approximately 12,500,000 tree seedlings and transplants were placed on sale by the Conservation Department this week. Purpose of the sales is to foster such reforestation practices as forest plantings, erosion control and farm windbreaks.

Shotgunners Practice at Night, Now

Sharpen Hunting Eyes

Bird hunting devotees at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club are now prepared to sharpen their shooting eyes in anticipation of an expected good season. Beginning tonight, shooting will be in full swing on the newly lighted skeet and trap fields. Pheasant season opens Oct. 20.

Installation of light's was completed a few days ago, and shooters who tried them out reported scores were the equal of daytime shooting.

Each field has eight lights of 1,500 watts each, mounted four to each 26-foot pole. Two fields are lighted so that skeet and trap can be shot at the same time. Lights were installed according to a plan suggested by Remington Arms Co.

★ ★ ★

Homer Coss, skeet chairman for OGSC, says some shooters believe the white clay "birds" are seen very sharply, probably more easily followed than in daylight.

★ ★ ★

"We want shotgunners to know about these lights," Homer added. "At this time of the year the shooters wish to practice so they can drop those ringnecks."

Canadian Sailors Lead in Junior Cup Battle

NOROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Royal Vancouver, B.C. Yacht Club moved into the lead at the halfway mark of the North American Junior Sailing Championships for the Sears Cup Tuesday.

The Canadian crew gained 11 points with second and fifth place finishes in the day's two races. That brought its total to 24¼.

Next came the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, Newport Beach, Calif., with 23½ points. The Newport crew won both races to edge close to the lead.

Utica Angler Creates Tiny Lures

Something New in Fishing

By The Press Outdoors Editor

There's something new in the fishing-lure line, and it's not something that can (at least at this time) be procured for money.

Like tiny sculptures, with a haunting resemblance to an old-time lure titled the spook, the one-inch long carved plastic "Go-Gettums" have created somewhat of a sensation among Michigan bass, pike and panfish anglers. They are the creation of genial, meticulous model-maker Pete Sturman of Utica.

Pete, never quite satisfied with his beautiful, effective lures, is a perfectionist, always trying for something better. He's an avid fisherman, tests all his lures himself, but has never taken a dime for any of the more than 500 he's made for friends and acquaintances.

PETE STURMAN

'I can't be bothered with the hard work of selling them," says Pete who added that "I make only enough to take care of my friends" — and for the record Pete sure has a lot of friends, if the hundreds of letters from all over the country is any measure.

The letters poured in following publication of a big picture and a story in Life magazine.

MANY OFFERS FOR MARKETING LURES

Many of the letters contained offers for putting the lures on the market, but Pete rejects them all. "Some day," he remarked during this observer's visit to his home recently, "I may make 'em for sale."

Sturman's first lure was made in Europe when he was 11. He's been carving model lures from various materials for some years but only recently developed the plastic ones. All are based on the "Go-Gettum" design, and every change he makes is first tested on a prototype carved from a fresh carrot.

Pete even makes special lures he wishes to try out, from the crisp vegetable, and has taken some fine pike and bass with them. "Of course they're just one-fish lures," Pete explains.

★ ★ ★

The 54-year-old Utica lure-maker is a top model maker for the Sundberg-Ferer Model Shop, Detroit. He has also worked as an expert pattern-maker, and a tool-maker.

Latest of Sturman's lures is a one-half inch long job suggested by this writer, for flyrod use. They'll get a test soon.

FEWER FISHERMEN IN AREA—LICENSE SALES DOWN

Maybe the current slack in reports of good fishing on area lakes could be laid to the fact that there are fewer fishermen. Conservation officer Howard Johnson made the suggestion, and at the same time said he believed pheasants should be about static in most sections; up somewhat in the north, down in South Lyon area.

A Kent Lake sports storeman, who has been keeping records for the last six years, says fishing license sales have been off for the last three, down considerably this year.

On the other hand, a survey of game conditions for the country at large, involving 42 states and Canada, indicates one of the finest game outlooks n ia decade, this fall and winter.

Titus Has Plan of Objectives for Trout Body

Harold "Opie" Titus of Traverse City will attend the organization meeting of Trout, Unlimited, to be held at the American Legion Hall at Grayling, Saturday, at 10 a. m.

The long-time former member of the Michigan Conservation Commission, and conservation editor of Field & Stream magazine, will present a "statement of objectives" for consideration by the incorporators of the new sportsmen's organization dedicated to the conservation of trout and trout fishing through sound management and public enlightenment.

Several hundred conservation-minded trout fishermen are expected to attend the meeting according to Conservation Commissioner George A. Griffith of Grayling, temporary chairman.

Can Eat, Anyway

FLORENCE, Ky. — Fishermen who go broke at the new Latonia's inaugural meeting Aug. 27-Oct. 8, could find a meal in the infield lake. It has been stocked with bass.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNON
Syndicated Boating Writer

September is the month when boating families take advantage of the free courses in boat handling and coastwise navigation offered by the United States Power Squadrons and the Canadian Power Squadrons. These organizations have units almost everywhere today, and the skipper who wants to get everybody into the act is smart in signing up for himself, his wife and children.

Like any other sport, the more you know about your craft, its equipment, performance and the bodies of water where it is to be used, the more fascinating it becomes.

The beginners' course of the USPS and CPS is called the piloting class. It covers such important subjects as how to read charts, how to use the compass, rules of the road, safety equipment, government rules and regulations, knots and splices, yachting manners and customs.

There is no charge for the instruction. The only cost is for printed material outlining the weekly lessons; charts, textbooks and whatever instruments you may need such as a pair of dividers and a course protractor or parallel rules.

Families can have a lot of fun working the weekly assignments at home, and when rivalry develops between a husband and wife or a brother and sister the competition produces better students.

You can go as far as you like with Power Squadron instruction, including the excellent elective courses such as Sailing, Motor Maintenance and Weather.

Information about the USPS piloting course in this area can be obtained by writing to: Detroit Power Squadron, 18804 Conant Ave., Detroit.

TRAINS ARMY DOGS — Liking dogs, largely through his use of them in hunting, and interested in the training of the animals, Glen Thomas (Tom) Harding naturally gravitated to the U. S. Army K-9 corps (in the Air Force) when he entered service two years ago. He has two years to go. The sign shows Tom's home base, at Bangor, Me., and the dog at his knee is one of his pupils. Tom, son of ace golfer Glen and Mrs. Harding, was a cage and baseball player at St. Michael HS from which he graduated in 1957.

Sweeps Shotput, Women's Broad Jump With Record Efforts

U.S. Adds 7 More Pan-Am Gold Medals

CHICAGO (UPI) — The United States still was racking them up in the Pan American games today.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-nine gold medals have been decided, and U.S. Athletes have picked up 33 of them. The runner-up, Cuba, has won two. Another was won for the West Indies federation by a U.S. college athlete.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday seven of the nine medals went to U.S. competitors, six of them winning with a record performance.

Berta Diaz of Cuba upset record - setter Barbara Mueller of Chicago in the 80 meter women's hurdles, and George Kerr, a University of Illinois runner, broke the tape in the 400 meter run ahead of two West Indies teammates, Basil Ince of Tufts College and Mal Spence of Arizona State, in the two championships the U.S. lost.

U.S. performers swept all three medals in the men's shot put and women's broad jump. Parry O'Brien, Los Angeles, cracked the Pan American record in the shot put and fell only 8½ inches short of his world record to lead Dallas Long, Phoenix, Ariz., and David Davis, Canoga Park, Calif. Anne Smith, Atlanta, Ga., topped teammates Margaret Matthews, Memphis, Tenn., and Willie White, Greenwood, Miss., in the broad jump. All six U.S. athletes broke the previous Pan American record.

Lucinda Williams, Nashville, Tenn., became the U.S.' third double medal winner, adding the 200 meter dash to her 100 meter dash title with a record performance, and Phil Coleman, Champaign, Ill., outlasted Deacon Jones, Boystown, Neb., to beat Alfredo Tinoco of Mexico in the 3,000 meter steeplechase in record time. Ann Flynn, Irvington, N.J., won the high jump.

Records fell, too, in weightlifting when Clyde Emrich, Chicago, rang up marks in the press, the snatch, the jerk and the total in winning the middle heavyweight class, and David Ashman, Santa Monica, Calif., cracked the mark in the jerk to win the heavyweight crown. Their performances gave the U.S. a duplication of their 1955 Pan American feat of winning six of seven championships.

Records were beaten 21 times in three events yesterday, and today Jeff Farrell, Wichita, Kan., Elton Follett, Evanston, Ill., and Bill Woolsey, Hawaii, were favored to sweep the 100 meter free style finals. In springboard diving Sam Hall, Dayton, O., and Gary Tobian, Glendale, Calif., were the choices. And while Cuba's Manuel Sanguily could upset, Ken Nakasone, Indianapolis, and Bill Mulliken, Champaign, Ill., were good bets in the 200 meter breast stroke.

Althea Gibson, New York, was a standout in the tennis competition. She advanced to the finals in the women's singles, with Grant Golden, Evanston, Ill., in the mixed doubles, and with Karol Fageros, Miami, Fla., in the women's doubles, to highlight the U.S. team performance in the sport.

In other team sports, with few exceptions, the U.S. had its way. It was a day off for yachting, except in the Finn-Monotype class and in it the U.S. boat fouled out. But the baseball team topped Brazil, 9-2, and shared second place in its division.

The water polo team whipped West Indies Federation, 17-4, and held first place. In women's volleyball it was U.S. 3, Peru 0. The unbeaten women's basketball team, leading the field, topped Canada, 53-39. The men's volleyball team racked Brazil, 3-1.

The U.S. held the lead in the modern pentathlon and won the team pistol shooting event as Robert K. Miller won the individual division.

In boxing eight of the 10 U.S. entrants moved into the semi-finals, headed by knockout victories by flyweight Heiji Shinabakura, Honolulu, bantamweight Petros Psanakos, Brooklyn, light welterweight Vincent Shomo, New York, Middleweight Wilbert Mc Clure, Toledo, and heavy middleweight Bobby Foster, York, Pa.

Eleven gold medals will be decided today and the U.S. was expected to take three of them in swimming, three in track, one in fencing, and put up a good battle for the other four.

RECORD JUMP — Mike Osborn set a new record of 140 feet before going to the National Water Ski Championships held recently at Laconia, N. H.

Armstrong Eyes No. 18

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Unbeaten sixth-ranked middleweight Gene "Ace" Armstrong goes after his 18th win tonight against British Empire Dick Tiger in a nationally televised 10-round bout from Camden's Convention Hall.

The fight will be seen over ABC beginning at 9 p.m., EST.

Dees Changes Sides in Piston, Royals Contest

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons will meet the Cincinnati Royals in a pre-season game in Toledo Oct. 10.

Archie Dees, who dropped in the deciding basket in Cincinnati's 99-97 victory over the Pistons last year in the Toledo exhibition game, will be in Detroit uniform this year. He was acquired in a trade.

The Pistons have sent out contracts to eight returning veterans and an added rookie candidate. Two veterans, six rookies and Dees already are signed.

The added rookie is Harry Marske, a 6-feet-8 center from Northern State Teachers College in South Dakota. Marske was drafted a year ago but sat out one season to complete his college work.

Back Switches Clubs

Warriors Sign Rookie

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn., today announced the signing of Bob Vernon, former Duke University star. Terms were not disclosed.

CHICAGO (AP)—Famed horseman Ben Jones and his son, Jimmy, will be honored at Arlington Park today, 20 years to the day after taking over as trainers at Calumet Farms stables.

Fishing Regulations Up for Discussion

LANSING (UPI)—Fishing regulations will be one of the main topics for the Conservation Commission when it meets Sept. 3-4 at the Higgins Lake Training School.

"Flies Only" regulations now in effect on parts of the Little South Branch of Pere Marquette River and the South Branch and Main stream of the Au Sable River are soon to expire. Such regulations are also in effect and soon to expire on the Boardman River and the East branch of Fox River in Schoolcraft County.

Before the regulations are renewed or killed, a report is to be made on the first half of the trout season on these waters.

SMU Gridder Has Mysterious Collapse

By The Associated Press

The mysterious collapse of star Southern Methodist halfback Glynn Gregory has given the Mustangs the dubious distinction of being hurt the hardest after the first day of fall college football practice.

The 6 foot 2, 195 pound junior from Abilene, Tex. was supposed to team with quarterback Don Meredith as the heart of SMU's attack in its fight for the Southwest Conference title this year.

Gregory collapsed in 95-degree heat yesterday while running in a signal drill. He complained of pains around the heart but after X-rays and cardiograph tests doctors could find nothing wrong.

In Midwest football camps:

EVANSTON, Ill. — Northwestern coach Ara Parseghian says he is pleased with the physical condition of his squad, but that sophomore tackles Ike Smith of Cleveland and Fate Echols of South Bend, Ind., must work off excess poundage.

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin's gridders went through a ball-handling session involving a half-dozen quarterback candidates including returning letterman Dale Hackbart.

MILWAUKEE—Marquette coach Lisle Blackbourn says he's going to look for defensive specialists during the next two weeks of training, because he wants to keep his offensive men healthy, and consequently out of defensive action, as long as possible.

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Bob Jarus, Purdue's leading ground - gainer last year although he missed the last two games with injuries, has been working out at full speed and appears to be in top condition.

Longden Is Suspended

The 50-year-old veteran was given the 10-day suspension for crossing over on the backstretch without allowing sufficient clearance while riding Repay in the fourth race Monday.

Pheasant Hunters to Find Fewer Birds

LANSING (UPI) — Pheasant hunters won't find so many birds to shoot at this fall, the Conservation Department reports.

Game men predict the pheasant kill will go below one million for the first time since 1952, largely because of a below-average hatching season last year and severe winter weather.

The kill is estimated at about 900,000 birds based mainly on ringneck production which suffered a drop, according to brood surveys completed recently.

Production was reportedly down in all areas of the state with the southeast receiving the least decrease. Central Michigan, the thumb area, Western Michigan and Southwest Michigan suffered approximately 30 per cent losses.

★ ★ ★

Guards Get Ready for Nikita's Visit

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Of all the tough jobs in the world, the ones that seem least enviable belong to those who will guard Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on his visit to this country.

★ ★ ★

It usually isn't realized how much careful preparation is necessary whenever any big wheel starts rolling around the country.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, the opinion polls show, is as popular a president as we've had in years. But before he goes on tour, Secret Service men study his route, looking for possible danger spots.

When he finally sets out, they and local police make up a small army at each stopover, protecting him from the overly friendly, the curious, the crackpots.

With Khrushchev, who hasn't won any popularity polls hereabouts recently, the problem becomes gigantic. The State Department said an entourage of around 100 will accompany Khrushchev.

At last count, there were 38,248 Hungarians who had fled their homeland after the 1956 revolt was crushed by the Soviet Union.

Among them, and among other minority groups in this country, there must be many who aren't eager to race out and greet Khrushchev with their arms loaded with olive branches.

Furthermore, newspapers have received letters in which Khrushchev has been denounced as a mass murderer. Every security officer must quake at the thought that a warped mentality could set off an international incident.

Washington police have shown that the problem will be from coast to coast.

Deputy Chief Howard V. Covell said 750 men will be used to protect Khrushchev along the 19 blocks he presumably will travel from the time he crosses the Potomac until he reaches the Blair House, where distinguished visitors are lodged.

The word "presumably" has to be included because exact plans still haven't been made, making the security problem that much harder.

In the past, Washington officials have tried to take their distinguished guests the long way around, so they could see as much of the city as possible.

Covell hopes Khrushchev will beat it direct to the Blair House, giving him as few worries as possible.

★ ★ ★

Yet security officials aren't as dismayed as you might think.

The State Department's security chief, John W. Janes Jr., points out that traditionally we have always treated our visitors courteously. Hundreds of dignitaries have come and gone, without anything happening that could be officially considered an unpleasant incident.

It's true that Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City refused to greet King Saud of Saudi Arabia. He said the King was anti-Jewish, anti-Catholic and pro-slavery. But in diplomacy, that's no incident. That's withholding hospitality.

For most of us, so used to taunts and threats hurled back and forth across the Iron Curtain, the chief reaction will be a mild sense of shock that the No. 1 Russian is actually among us.

Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations, will accompany Khrushchev on his travels. When Lodge first got the U.N. job, he was asked if he would pose for photographs, shaking hands with the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinksy.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly not," Lodge said. "Don't you know there is a new administration in Washington?"

Name Means 'Sleeping Car'

Pullman 100 Years Old

★ ★ ★

It was car No. 9, attached to the rear of the Chicago-bound night train of the Chicago & Alton Railroad, now the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio.

But inside, the passengers found the difference. Although heated by wood stoves and lighted by lamps, the car was by far the most comfortable railroad coach they ever had seen.

There were washrooms and toilet facilities at either end. The plush upholstered seats were divided into 10 sections. Each section had two facing seats which were made up into an upper and lower berth. Curtains, hanging from ceiling to floor, separated the berths from the center aisle.

The anxious inventor was on hand that night to observe the first public reaction to the car he had remodeled in the railroad's Bloomington shops. The car was the culmination of the plans he made six years earlier when he was only 22.

Public acceptance of the car brought the inventor, George Mortimer Pullman, a curious honor. Today his surname appears in dictionaries of 20 languages as a synonym for "sleeping car."

Carrier's Load 'Heavy', in Jail for Mail Theft

Boyles said he withheld mail with the intention of delivering it on days when his load was lighter.

"But the lighter days never came," he said.

North Carolina Integration OK

But Not So Quiet in Arkansas, Virginia and Florida Schools

By United Press International

Eight Negroes attend white public schools in Durham, N.C. today for the first time.

As in the case of yesterday's school openings at Arlington, Va., and High Point, N.C., where Negroes attended previously all-white and predominantly white schools for the first time, no incidents were anticipated.

One exception is the Dollarway School District in Arkansas, which postponed its opening next Tuesday until Sept. 21 to await the results of a hearing before the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The school had been erected for the Negroes when they sought to integrate the white elementary school. But yesterday they refused to attend the new four-room Negro school and Negroes picketed the building.

1st Liquor Store Theft Reported in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The T & O liquor store acquired the dubious distinction of being the first liquor establishment to be burglarized in Oklahoma, only 2½ hours after the state's new "wet" laws took effect yesterday.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

In the case of Dana Andrews, the answer is yes. He has just returned from a year's run in "Two For the Seesaw," taking over the role Henry Fonda created in the two-character play. In the comfort of his Toluca Lake home, he assessed the value of his sabbatical.

THOMAS

FILM CAREER?

"Financially, I did better than I have in films, although I made less money. I've been earning $300,000 a year in films for the past five years. During the past year, I made $200,000. I was getting 10 per cent of the play's gross, which was usually $3,000 a week. The rest of my income was from payments on pictures that had been spread out over a few years.

"But because all my living expenses in the East were deductible, I was able to save a third more money than I would here. Also, I did nothing but work, so I wasn't spending money.

"As far as my own work is concerned, I think it did a great deal of good. I was working on the character all the time, and I was always getting better. My wife Mary could see the change; she would see the play every three months and said it improved tremendously.

"My picture career? I think it helped that, too. I left here because of two unfortunate situations: I had gotten some bad publicity about a couple of incidents that concerned drinking; and I had done a couple of bad pictures.

"The fact that I did eight shows a week for a year and could draw capacity audiences for that time seems to have impressed the producers. At least I'm getting some better offers now."

Plead for Return of Polio Vaccine

Montreal Health Men Fear Serum May Be Worthless by Now

MONTREAL (UPI)—Authorities confronted with a polio epidemic appealed today to thieves who stole 75,000 shots of polio vaccine to return the vitally needed serum.

But they feared that the vaccine, unless stored in refrigerators after the theft early Monday, may already have become worthless.

"The persons most affected by this are children," Solomon said, "and if the men who took the vaccine have any conscience they will bring it back."

Some authorities believed the vaccine may already have been taken out of Canada. They said it would be almost impossible for the thieves to sell the serum to either physicians or drug distribution houses.

The thieves took the vaccine, valued at $50,000, from refrigerators at the University of Montreal laboratory at suburban Laval after tying up a watchman. It had been consigned to the Quebec Provincial Health Department for general distribution.

Cheaper, and Has Caught Popular Fancy

Marble Comes Back as Building Material

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Marble is making a comeback. Since the end of World War II sales in this country have increased five-fold.

But its revival as a building material sparks even more interest. Architects stress that new applications and preparations make marble less costly than it once seemed.

After several years of almost total eclipse marble is on the way back in competition with other building materials in commercial construction. It also is being more widely used in residential building, where once it was all but banned, largely on grounds of cost.

Along with availability of thinner, less costly forms of marble, one big talking point today is the low maintenance cost of the stone in an age when labor charges are a growing item.

In powdered or chip form it is also going into such commercial uses as water treating processes or as adding vital minerals to prepared agricultural products.

UP 20 PER CENT

The Marble Institute of America says its 110 marble contractor and dealer members handle most major construction in this country and about 50 per cent of the residential use. It reports tonnage production of domestic quarries is up 20 per cent since 1954.

But imports are gaining faster. About half of all marble used in the United States is imported, compared with 30 per cent in 1954. Most of the finishing of imported marble is done here. There are 15 major producers in the United States and most of them also are importers.

Fifteen years of experimenting have paid off in more efficient and economical ways of using the material. The industry can now cut marble slabs thin enough for the current style of thin walls. It can offer a metal-framed sandwich panel. This has a marble exterior finish, backed by a core of rigid insulation. The interior finish is masonite or asbestos with a cement bond.

These three-inch panels are said to look like three inches of solid marble, yet they weigh less than one-third that much and are highly resistant to noise and weather changes.

FOR PARTITIONS

A ⅞-inch marble slab is available for interior partitions. Marble slabs are being used as lateral or horizontal fins on buildings. A market is growing for half-inch marble tiles for interior use, or for exterior use.

Recent structures using marble range all the way from the new Senate office building in Washington to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. Others include: Mile High Center in Denver, Masonic Memorial Temple in San Francisco, Anderson Hospital in Houston, Mercantile National Bank in Dallas, state office buildings in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, Veterans' Memorial in Detroit, and Deering-Milliken and Seagram buildings in New York.

Home builders are told that marble floors are good conductors for radiant heating systems. White marble chips are touted for protection or for heat reflection on flat roofs or modern domes. Research is under way on how crushed marble can be used in highway construction or in various chemical processes.

Seek Way to Cut Business Taxes

Sen. Morris Says GOP Will Fight in 1960 to Repair Williams' Work

LANSING (UPI) — Republicans will be seeking ways to cut business taxes during the 1060 legislative session, Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), said Tuesday.

"The fight to repair (Gov. G. Mennen) Williams' damage to Michigan economic climate has just started," said the Senate GOP tax leader.

"The ascending trend (in business taxes) must not only be stopped," he said, "it must be reversed."

Morris cited a study which showed Michigan fell behind the national average in manufacturing jobs from 1947-56.

"The workers of Michigan deserve a better future than the unemployment compensation, welfare dole existence offered by Gov. Williams," he said. "Jobs and the investment climate needed to create jobs must take priority over the governor's national political ambitions."

Wheat Futures Prices Hit High

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures prices hit new highs for the season in spots again today on the board of trade although gains were small.

★ ★ ★

The market was steady to firm all around after September soybeans withstood moderate selling pressure during the first several minutes and recovered losses that had run into major fractions of a cent.

Commercial business continued slow but Japan took about 250,000 bushels of hard wheat from the United States. The announcement also said, though, that it bought almost 2 million bushels from Canada.

After about an hour wheat was ⅛ cent a bushel lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.92; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.18⅞; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September new type contract 66⅝; rye ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.29⅜; soybeans ¼ lower to ¼ higher, September $2.10.

GM Production Shows Big Hike

GMC Makes Third of All Trucks, '59 Pontiac Doubles '58 Sales

General Motors Corporation today reported a "healthy" increase in motor vehicle production for the first eight months of this year as compared with the same period in 1958.

The findings show GMC has produced more than one-third of the total truck and coach output of the entire industry in 1959 with 340,167 units. The GMC truck and coach figure last year at this time was 243,290.

The number of Pontiac cars produced were more than doubled this year with a total of 300,460 over 136,710 in 1958.

The total GM output in passenger cars and trucks and coaches for the first eight months of 1959 through August was 2,426,248. The figure for 1958 at this time was 1,811,408.

The industry takes stock at this time every year as a result of the decline of motor vehicle production due to changeovers to 1960 models.

Cumulative production of all manufacturers for this year through Aug. 29 totaled 4,901,004 vehicles. This included 4,078,482 passenger cars, 820,897 trucks and 1,625 motor coaches.

Chevrolet was the top selling automobile on the market this year with a total production of 1,122,298. Ford Motor Company was second with 1,076,119 Ford cars produced, followed by third place Plymouth, 307,316 and fourth place Pontiac, 300,460.

The fifth place seller was Oldsmobile with 275,246; and the American Motors Corporation Rambler, 267,758, was sixth.

Chevrolet Production Tops Ford by 18,930

Model year figures released today gave Chevrolet 1,481,070 cars to 1,462,140 for Ford.

At the start of the model year last fall Chevrolet officials said they expected to beat Ford by about 30,000 cars.

Led Gang in Killings

Seize Teenage 'Dracula' in New York

AP Wirephoto

'DRACULA' AND 'UMBRELLA MAN' — Sal Agron, left, who police say identified himself as the cape-clad 'Dracula' who led the attack in which two teenagers were stabbed to death on a Manhattan playground in New York Sunday, is shown early today in police station where he was being questioned. With him is Tony Luis Hernandez, said by police to have been the 'umbrella man,' so named because he used an umbrella as a club in the fighting.

NEW YORK (AP) — A teenage Puerto Rican, who turned from Bible reading to become the "Dracula" of New York sidewalks, was seized by police today and tabbed the cape-clad leader of a gang which viciously killed two boys without reason.

★ ★ ★

One of the greatest manhunts in New York history had been staged for Agron since the Sunday killings, which climaxed a spate of juvenile terror and murder.

Outraged citizens' demands for action also brought swift moves by both city and state officials for emergency measures to cope with the wild outbreak of lawlessness.

Among other things, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called a meeting of authorities and church leaders to map a war on teen crime. Invited to join them was FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The surly Agron boy, nabbed with two others while loitering on a Bronx street at 2 a.m., wouldn't admit that he knifed two younger boys to death in a West Side Manhattan playground early Sunday.

But he admitted he "cut somebody" during a gang attack on a group chatting idly in the playground after leaving a movie. The victims were unknown to the attackers.

Even before Agron was arrested in the police sweep of the city, officers had named him as the actual killer, although four companions have been held on homicide charges.

The three were picked up for questioning by two patrol car officers who spotted them loitering. They said they had been sleeping in hallways of Bronx buildings.

Wrong Way to Be Citizen

Police Hold Polish Youth

A 17-year-old Polish youth who wants to become a U. S. citizen and join the Marine Corps is in the Oakland County Jail today awaiting examination on a breaking and entering charge.

Kuryiczyk, an unidentified 16-year-old youth, and Angel Jaime, 33, of 28252 Shiawassee St., Farmington Township, were arrested in connection with more than 25 burglaries.

Jaime, a gasoline station operator, and the Polish youth demanded examination yesterday before Farmington Municipal Court Judge John J. Schulte.

Their examinations were scheduled for Sept. 11. Bond was set at $1,000 for the teenager and $5,000 for Jaime. Both failed to furnish their bonds and were returned to jail.

Detective Thomas McPhail, of the Redford State Police Post, said Kuryiczyk went to a friend in Ypsilanti, Charles Cain, and explained he was involved in a burglary ring.

"I want to be a citizen and join the Marines," Albin told his friend. "If I'm caught, I'll be deported. What should I do?"

McPhail said Albin and the 16-year-old admit more than 25 burglaries and contend they gave stolen items to Jaime for disposal. Jaime denies it.

Near Agreement on Labor Bill

Only Disputed Issue May Be Pigeonholed Until Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House-Senate conferees reported today they have informally agreed on all but one point in the labor reform bill and may put off action on this disputed provision until next year.

Such a course would pave the way for the joint conference committee to stamp final approval on a compromise measure later today.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and Rep. Robert Griffin (R-Mich.) confirmed that the 14-man committee was ready to write into specific language its verbal agreements on everything except so-called "common site" picketing in the construction industry.

They said there was some question whether this complex provision, advocated by Senate Democrats, should go into the compromise bill because it was not in either of the measures originally passed by the House and Senate.

The provision in effect would exempt building trades unions in some instances from the House-passed secondary boycott curbs. It would permit them to picket at construction projects where members of other unions are working. This practice has been declared by the Supreme Court to be illegal under the Taft-Hartley law.

'Recluse' to Re-Enter U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Cheng Guan Lim, the student who spent four years in hiding in the attic of Ann Arbor's Methodist church, decided today to resume his studies at the University of Michigan.

The 28-year-old student from Singapore said he made up his mind after learning that his mother was in good health and that she agreed to his decision. He said also that he expected her to come to America soon.

They have not seen each other in eight years. Cheng's father died last spring while the boy was in hiding.

University admission officials said Cheng is eligible to re-enter the university as a junior in the college of literature, science and the arts.

School Contract to Be Awarded

Is Start of $5 Million Building Program for Waterford Township

Contracts for a new Waterford Township elementary school will be awarded at a special meeting of the Board of Education tomorrow night, setting the wheels in motion to begin a $5 million school building program.

Bids for construction of a new 14-room school on Walton boulevard were opened at a special school board meeting last week and were referred to architects Smith & Smith Co. for recommendations.

In other business, information on proposed exterior lighting for the Cooley Elementary School will be presented. Construction of the school, located on the north side of Watkins Lake, was completed last January.

The board will consider a request from the faculty regarding a payroll deduction plan in connection with the United Fund, and a report on future school sites in the district will be discussed, according to Supt. William Shunck.

Oil Tank Explodes in Ohio; No Injuries

LIMA, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio Oil Co. officials said today that damage from an explosion of a huge oil tank, set afire by a lightning bolt, would probably run to several hundred thousand dollars.

No one was injured yesterday in the fire and earth-shaking blast that sent flames fed by crude oil hundreds of feet in the air. The tank, which held 100 thousand barrels, was nearly full.

About 30 families in a six-block area on the southern edge of the city were forced to leave their homes, but they returned after the flames were brought under control.

The fire was set during a violent thunderstorm that dumped nearly three inches of rain in the late afternoon.

Road Bill Bad —Broomfield

Clause to Divert Cash to States 'Trades Death for Dollars'

A provision in a pending highway financing bill, which approves the idea of reimbursing states for a number of toll roads, today drew the fire of Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County).

Broomfield, a member of the House Public Works Committee which approved the bill yesterday, called the provision "a pork barrel of public funds for a select few states."

He said it would slow the U. S. highway construction program "by eventually diverting some $4,200,000,000 in funds from the highway trust fund into unprofitable avenues and dead-end streets."

"In essence," Broomfield said, "we are asked to trade death for dollars. We are supposed to divert construction funds for a badly needed interstate highway system to satisfy bondholders on toll road systems who fear that traffic on those roads will not pay them enough money."

"Every new mile added to the interstate highway system means lives saved in the future," he declared. "That is our primary consideration, not that the federal government bail out bondholders who would stand to make millions if this policy should be carried out by Congress and become a matter of law."

Identify Hull of Carl Bradley by Television

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—A hull lying in 360 feet of water off Gull Island in northern Lake Michigan has been positively identified as that of the freighter Carl D. Bradley.

Spokesmen for the Bradley Transportation line of Michigan Limestone Co., owners of of the ship, said yesterday positive identification of the wreckage was made by underwater television.

C. F. Bukema, Michigan Limestone president, said identification was made by reading the name of the vessel on a television monitor screen.

★ ★ ★

City Officials Approve Plans for Terminal

"The plans were prepared according to federal specifications and under supervision of the state," said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

"There is little that we, as a city, have to say about them, except we should be happy about the amount of outside financial assistance we are getting on this project."

The city has set aside $108,170 for the project, the state $105,000 and the federal government $176,830.

State and federal governments have already approved the plans, prepared by William C. Zimmerman Associates of Pontiac.

The State Department of Aeronautics is scheduled to open construction bids in Lansing Sept. 10. Contracts must be signed by the city before Sept. 30, deadline for federal participation in the project.

U.S. Crime Jumped 9.3 Per Cent in 1958

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime in the United States increased 9.3 per cent in 1958 over 1957.

The year's crime clock indicated: A murder every 64.2 minutes. A forcible rape every 36.1 minutes. A robbery every 7 minutes. A car stolen every 1.9 minutes. A burglary every 46.4 seconds.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover jointly reported today there were an estimated 1,553,922 crimes classified as very serious offenses last year compared with 1,442,285 in 1957.

★ ★ ★

There were increases in all of the individual classifications as follows: murder, 8,182 in 1958 and 8,027 in 1957, an increase of 1.9 per cent; forcible rape, 14,561 and 12,896 13 per cent; robbery 75,247 and 66,843 12.7 per cent; aggravated assault, 113,530 and 110,672, 2.6 per cent; burglary, 679,787 and 603,707 12.6 per cent; larceny over $50 391,550 and 354,972, 10.3 per cent; auto theft, 270,965 and 265,178 2.2 per cent.

Youths under 18 represented only 12.1 per cent of all persons arrested. They accounted, however, for 64.1 per cent of all arrests for auto theft, 49.9 per cent of those for burglary, 48.5 per cent of those for larceny, 30.9 per cent of those for receiving or possessing stolen property and 22.8 per cent of those for robbery.

WALK WITH CARE — Ever stepped on silver-blue mink? Anyone who rides in Tucson, Ariz. tobacco heir Jay Bullen's car does just that. Bullen, a custom car fancier, was looking for something different for his special '59 Cadillac. The answer: at least $2,300 in matched mink skins for the floorboards, foot rests, arm rests and door straps.

Need Detection Systems

Fire Stations Burn, Too

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—An official of the International Assn. of Fire Chiefs revealed today that about 25 fire stations go up in smoke every year.

Why?

"Because many, many fire stations have no fire detection system," said the official who asked not to be identified.. He is attending the fire chiefs' 86th annual convention here.

"As a result of not having a detection system, if a fire breaks out on the roof of a fire station the watchman on duty often doesn't find out about it until someone who has spotted it from the street comes running into the station," he said.

The official said he is a strong believer that every fire station in the U.S. should have either a sprinkler system or a dry pipe fire detection system which would sound a gong

"After all, we should set the example for everyone else," to warn the firemen their building is on fire. he said.

Uncle John Tale Complete Hoax

No Scottish Millions; Widow Has No Cancer; Entire Story Denied

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The reported two million dollar inheritance of a Pittsburgh woman, who says she will die of cancer within a year has turned out to be a hoax. Who did it was not clear today.

Mrs. Jean Naccarelli, 46, of the city's Mt. Washington District, said Monday that her "Uncle John" Lennon had died in Aberdeen, Scotland, last week willing her his estate.

Two aunts, sisters of Mrs. Naccarelli's mother, allegedly sent cablegrams from Aberdeen informing the "heiress" of her new-found wealth.

But a check in Aberdeen has turned up only one person named Lennon, a widow whose husband died several years ago No deaths were reported there recently where the estates had been bequeathed to an American.

A medical source, meanwhile, indicated that Mrs. Naccarelli is not ill with cancer, but the source would not elaborate.

Mrs. Naccarelli, who claimed she was Miss Pittsburgh in a 1932 beauty contest, also told newsmen Monday that John Lennon was a ship designer and had helped design the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth. But the firm which built the ships, John Brown, Ltd., said no one named Lennon ever was in its employ.

Sergeant Hears Plea for Life, Then Shots

DETROIT (AP)— "Oh, God, Oh, God . . . No!" the woman's voice cried over the sheriff's telephone. The plea was followed by two shots —then silence.

Sgt. Herbert Haslam, who took the call, sent a Wayne County sheriff's car racing to a home in Nankin Township yesterday.

Thieves Swipe Enough Cigarettes for Duration

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Thieves who broke into the National Food store here last night must have been chain-smokers. They stole 700 cartons of assorted cigarettes.

A stock man, who reported on duty about midnight, heard a noise at the rear of the store, and when he went to investigate, the thieves fled. He found a bathroom window open, township police said.

Steel Teams Resume Talks

Strike Enters Eighth Week With No Hint of Agreement

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steel industry and union negotiators returned to the bargaining table today after a five-day breathing spell. The strike entered its eighth week and appeared all but certain to be the longest since World War II.

Talks between the four-man bargaining teams of the United Steelworkers Union and the industry's 12 biggest companies recessed last week with both sides admitting they had been unable to reach "a joint basis" for agreement.

That meant, in effect, they were no closer to settling the central issue of wages than when bargaining started May 5. In five more days the current strike will tie the 1952 postwar record of 55 days.

Iron Age Magazine said today the auto and other key industries may fall off their peak operations during the fourth quarter even if the steel strike is settled by the middle of this month.

★ ★ ★

The trade magazine noted a "scramble" for steel at all sources and said reports of steel inventories may have been greatly exaggerated at the start of the strike. It added that new orders placed now would not be delivered until February or March even if the strike ended Sept. 15.

★ ★ ★

It said some major shutdowns in the appliance industry are set for the fourth week of September.

Automakers are chiefly concerned over the inventories of their parts manufacturers, who were less successful in stockpiling than other industries, Iron Age said.

The National Council of Churches suggested a prayer for "a just conclusion" of the strike to be read in churches this Sunday, the day before Labor Day.

★ ★ ★

The prayer asks "an increase of goodwill and understanding" and adds: "May no bitterness dim any new light which may come to this dark and vexing situation."

Safety Push in Need of Funds

State Traffic Group Chief Says Facilities May Trend Up

LANSING (AP)—Michigan taxpayers must spend more money on traffic safety or face reversal of a successful four-year campaign to reduce highway fatalities.

Those were the alternatives laid before the State Safety Commission yesterday.

"The honeymoon is over," said Gordon H. Sheehe, director of the Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University.

"It was comparatively easy going in 1955, when our traffic safety campaign got started, and in each year thereafter, to cut our fatality toll," he said. "But we have run out of momentum with out present resources."

Traffic deaths have been cut in the state every year since 1955, dropping from more than 2,000 to about 1,350 last year. In the first eight months of 1959, however, accidents claimed 854 lives, 34 above the toll for the same period a year ago.

"It appears that we have to provide additional facilities," said Gov. Williams, a commission member. "I don't believe we have lost our zest for traffic safety."

★ ★ ★

"I am 40 men short of my complement of 1,150 men because I haven't had the funds to rehire men as vacancies were created," said State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. "I can't devote the patrol attention that I am expected to without a full complement."

★ ★ ★

Sheehe recommended the commission urge the Legislature to appoint a Senate-House committee to survey the state's traffic safety program and draft a plan to meet current and future needs.

It's Hard to Understand, Red China's Offensive

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

A great many people are wondering why Red China has chosen to stir up trouble with India, and nobody seems to be sure of a complete answer.

★ ★ ★

India has consistently pleaded the cause of Red China before the non-Communist world, advocating diplomatic recognition and United Nations membership.

For a few acres which have no meaning, a bowl without pottage, the Reds have displayed a complete carelessness for Indian opinion, just as they displayed carelessness for the opinion of all Asia by their actions in Tibet.

★ ★ ★

There's the theory that Peiping is jealous of the initiative in Communist affairs the Soviet Union recently had displayed in Europe and the Middle East. This theory holds that Peiping wishes to remind the world, at a time when President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev are talking peace, that nothing can be done to settle the world's dust without the participation and agreement of Communist China.

★ ★ ★

Another school points out that Peiping has admitted a serious fall-down in both its agricultural and industrial programs, and is suffering from widespread unrest caused by its communal regimentation program. This, it is held, has produced the need for creation of whipping boy situations to take the minds of the people off themselves.

★ ★ ★

This is a motive which in the past has often been attributed to the Soviet government, and ignores the fundamental tactics of opportunism and expansionism to which the international Communists are wedded.

The whipping boy idea, however, has more cogency for the Chinese than the Russians, since the Chinese people have long been indoctrinated, under the Nationalists as well as the Communists, with the need for border corrections.

As a side issue to the jealousy theory, it has been suggested that Peiping, heavily dependent on Soviet aid for China's economic program, is fearful lest the Kremlin become too occupied with its efforts to relax tensions and thereby increase Soviet economic ties with the West.

Whatever may be the cause of Peiping's latest actions, they emphasize one point of extreme danger. The regime seems to be completely ignoring world opinion. A country which does that gradually makes itself even more of an outlaw than Red China had already done through her aggression in Korea.

And nobody can ever tell what an outlaw may do next.

TV News and Reviews

British Showed Artistry in Ike and Mac TV Act

NEW YORK (UPI)—If the British feel like giving President Eisenhower a useful going-away present, I suggest they wrap up and deliver to him the technicians who handled the telecast of his informal TV chat with Prime Minister Macmillan.

The taped program, as seen yesterday morning on CBS-TV, was a handsome, luminous and imaginative show. As the smoothly-handled cameras picked out revealing close-ups, stood behind each speaker, or in front of them, a sense of great artistry was added to the occasion.

Pictorially, this "talk show" was a great improvement over the Nixon-Khrushchev teleclash in Moscow, although it lacked the curiosity value and oomph of the Moscow dialogue.

Both Eisenhower and Macmillan benefited from the flattering lighting in the drawing room at No. 10 Downing street, where the program originated. In fact, I cannot recall a time when the President looked as comfortable on TV as he did this time.

Those seeking evidences of British reserve could be stymied by this telecast. While Macmillan referred to his American guest as "Mr. President" (Eisenhower called him "Harold") the British leader's bow-tie-under-the collar sartorial touch came as a saucy surprise.

Having wiped out just about all the eligible gunslingers in Dodge City during four TV years, Wyatt Earp began heading for new territory last night. The ABC-TV half-hour (half rerun, half new) was a sort of Western-style This Is Your Life as Wyatt, played by Hugh O'Brien, was honored at a farewell barbecue.

Through flashbacks, Wyatt recalled some of his favorite moments while in Dodge. No tears. Real happy memories as Wyatt slugged a few others into unconsciousness. Anyhow, some unsentimental slobs tried to shoot up the barbecue and Wyatt shish-kebabbed them with a few final bullets.

In next Tuesday's episode, Wyatt will be en route to Tombstone, Ariz and a new career. Well, in case his fans are worried, it really won't be too new.

Philosopher Gleason Debunks Sophisticate

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jackie Gleason is most philosophical these days as he contemplates his successes (and his money). Out at his Peekskill roundhouse, he was denouncing so-called sophisticates.

WILSON

Gleason's fellow performer in "Take Me Along," Walter Pidgeon, often gobbles protein pills. This reminded Gleason of working with Fred Allen, who brought a large box to radio rehearsals. "I figured these were the jokes," Jackie said. "I asked him, 'Are those the gems?' They turned out to be Fred's favorite medicine — sunflower seeds."

Always thrifty, Rudy said he buys the madras in Bermuda at $1.41 a yard and gets his S.A.E. fraternity brother, Al Heiman, a Cincinnati tailor to make up the jackets for him. "We've been pals for years and he enjoys making up the madras for me as a gift," Rudy said.

"It's real cool, man," Frankie said, "but you'll never make it in these days without white buck shoes."

Deny Dominican Air Propaganda

Three MBS Ex-Officials Insist U.S. Is Wrong About Bribe Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three former Mutual Broadcasting System officials have denied federal accusations that they accepted $750,000 to broadcast Dominican Republic propaganda disguised as news.

A federal grand jury indicted the trio here Tuesday. They were charged with failing to register as agents for the Dominican Republic and with conspiring to keep Mutual from registering. The money allegedly was given them around last Feb. 6.

The indictments did not indicate if the network actually did broadcast any propaganda for the Dominican Republic. Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, a key figure in the present Caribbean unrest, is the Dominican strongman.

Two of the officials—Alexander L. Guterma and Garland L. Culpepper Jr.—resigned from Mutual within a week after they accepted the money, the federal grand jury charged. The third, Hal Roach Jr., left Mutual about a month and a half later.

Guterma, an international financier in trouble with the federal government on several other questions involving money matters, was president of Mutual. Rozach was board chairman and Culpepper a director.

UAW Rejects Plan of Struck Cross Co.

MOUNT CLEDENS (AP) — United Auto Workers spokesmen have rejected a five-point company proposal for settlement of a 30-day strike at the Cross Co. plant in nearby Fraser.

UAW regional director George Morrelli promptly called the company's proposal totally unacceptable. He termed it "a shallow attempt to look clean after leading its workers into a maze of legal cobwebs for the sole purpose of dodging its legal responsibility of bargaining with the UAW."

Defense Unity Studied Again

Group Urging Merger of Army and Air Force to Avoid Huge Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is having second thoughts about its decision 12 years ago to establish the Air Force as a coequal service.

The House Government Operations Committee disclosed last night it has endorsed a proposal urging President Eisenhower to order studies looking toward the merger of the Army and Air Force.

"Until the Air Force and Army join hands in a single service effort," it said, "the costs of defense will mount ever higher, duplication and waste will grow likewise, and the nation will be exposed to the vitiating effects of interservice jealousies, rivalries and wars for many years to come."

The Air Force was a branch of the Army until 1947 when they were divorced under the act setting up the Army, Navy and Air Force as coequal services under the Defense Department.

A few hours before the House Government Operations Committee made public its report, the House Space Committee heard even more sweeping demands for defense reorganization.

Rep. B. F. Sisk (D-Calif) called for a merger of all the services to help eliminate waste and duplication.

The space committee is investigating the Air Force and Navy cancellation of "exotic" jet fuel programs after $240,000,000 had been spent on them.

"It is time to clean out the Pentagon, put all those services in one uniform, get some coordination over there," Sisk said.

Radical Change in Last 14 Years

Japan Combines Old, New

(Editor's Note: The last 14 years has seen Japan change from the United States' bitter enemy to one of its staunchest allies. Here is a report on the new Japan and its people by a veteran Associated Press foreign correspondent.)

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Fourteen years ago today the Japanese surrendered to the United States ending the most costly war ever fought. Today, Japan is an American ally, the keystone to the West's defense in Asia.

What are these hard-working, modern-minded Asians like?

Writers, scholars and sociologists have had a hand at analysis. They have observed that the Japanese say "yes" when they mean "no," that they are a nation of brilliant imitators, that they are industrious, sentimental, lovers of nature, exquisitely polite at home and astonishingly rude in public.

The truth is that the Japanese cry and laugh, get angry or discouraged for very much the same reasons as do Americans, Englishmen or Frenchmen.

They are rude, selfish, dishonest, impolite, insincere, and criminal in about the same proportion as are other people elsewhere.

They seem to have a greater than ordinary capactiy for suffering silently, responding to friendliness, taking offense at real or fancied slights, and for finding beauty either in the squalor of the cities or the disorder of the countryside.

They have their share of intolerance and though they criticize the treatment of the American Negro, they do nothing to improve the lot of the Eta, a whole class of outcasts in their own country.

In general, they idolize movie stars, cheer their favorite baseball player, throw pop bottles at the umpire, play the lottery, pet in the parks, dance the tango, and keep their noses glued to television very much as ordinary people do in the United States, or Europe.

Because of their industriousness, the Japanese have been compared to the Germans. But, in fact, they more nearly resemble the English who also inhabit a small, densely populated group of islands just off a major continent.

Like the English, the Japanese have erected an elaborate system of manners to permit them to live without too much conflict in contact with the crowded, jostling millions in the tiny land.

Long-established religions and centuries of royal rule have given the Japanese a society, which like that of the English, demands respect for superiors, has created sharp distinctions between the classes and given an inordinate love for pageantry, pomp and circumstance.

During the 19th Century, it was fashionable to regard the Japanese as somewhat comic, doll-like creatures whose chief preoccupation lay in flower arranging, incense burning and ritual tea drinking.

Pearl Harbor exploded this myth. The West suddenly discerned a tough, hard-working nation of half-modern, half-feudal people who, pressed into the service of a military clique, were able to challenge the might of the United States herself.

The postwar occupation set in motion a new Japanese revolution nearly as profound as that begun by Commodore Perry in 1853 when he opened up the country to the western world after 200 years of isolation.

All but completing the country's break with feudalism, the occupation redistributed the land, removed the emperor from politics, gave the women the vote, encouraged labor movements, reduced the power of the Shinto state religion, restored freedom of the press and revamped the tradition-bound education system.

A new kind of Japanese has emerged from these historic changes, an individual who thinks more for himself, takes greater initiative, and understands the meaning of responsibility.

★ ★ ★

But the reforms also swept away some of the ancient beliefs and customs which had been the prop of many of the common people. As a consequence, millions find themselves in a spiritual and moral vacuum. Some, seeking new disciplines to replace the old, have turned to politico-religious groups which stress military organization or to the Communist party.

★ ★ ★

With the old constraints removed, crime and juvenile delinquency, in particular, have increased at an alarming rate.

But, despite the drawbacks, the Japanese as a whole appear convinced that their new world is far superior and much to be preferred to the old.

It is a world in which the ancient and the modern jostle each other every day of the week.

Few countries since the end of World War II have been in such a hurry to catch up with the rest of the world. But fewer still have plunged into the middle of the 20th Century still clinging tightly to their treasured past.

Laws No Substitute for Enforcement

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Federal legislation cannot substitute for effective local law enforcement against labor racketeering; Robert F. Kennedy said Tuesday night.

Kennedy, chief counsel for the Senate Labor-Management Committee, addressed the Midwest Conference of the Council of State Governments at a dinner attended by about 400 legislators and officials from 12 states.

"We should not get the idea that passage of federal legislation will mean the immediate end of the Jimmy Hoffas," Kennedy said. "Such legislation is a major step and is essentially needed. It will go a long way in dealing with critical problems in the labor field."

Notes Bring Friendship

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan and Rumania have re-established diplomatic relations following an exchange of letters on the matter, the foreign office announced yesterday.

Banker Who Misapplied $1 Million Free Today

★ ★ ★

William R. Rose, once a respected banker in the Catskills foothill town of Ellenville, N. Y., walks free from the Federal Correctional Institution.

He will start work in a hardware store next door to a building once occupied by the National Home Bank, which went broke under Rose's financial manipulations.

He was sentenced to five years in prison on Dec. 10, 1957. The U. S. Board of Parole recently granted him a parole effective Oct. 1. But the parole board at the institution pushed the date to today as a result of Rose's work in the prison hospital.

Rose, a bachelor, had been popular in his community. When he was arrested in 1956, most of Ellenville's 5,233 residents were sympathetic.

He was charged with misapplying $1,266,627 in bank funds through overdraft loans. The money, Rose said, went to aid struggling local industries.

None of it, he said, went into his own pocket.

When the extent of the loss was learned, and the bank closed, some of the townpeople got angry.

Said Mayor Eugene Glusker recently: "Rose's return to Ellenville should be quiet and orderly. The people of Ellenville are not vindictive."

A resident said: "He has paid for whatever wrong he did. And maybe he did wrong. But let's not pick on him."

Taught Teen Son to Steal So Her Family Could Eat

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A mother accused of aiding her teenaged son in 600 shoplifting forays says she and her husband took advantage of the boy's "sticky fingers" because her family was hungry.

She was arrested at a house she and her husband, Kenneth, 42, rented Friday.

Charges were filed against the Myers after Gary was arrested in a department store Aug. 14. He told police his parents taught him and the other children to steal. He said that he had made 600 shoplifting trips with one or the other of his parents. While he raided stores, his parents waited for him in a parked car, Gary said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Myers told newsmen she and her husband had "taken advantage of the boy's sticky fingers" and that Myers had never told Gary that stealing was wrong.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Myers said she and her husband gave Gary a shopping list but no money.

"My outlook was for the general welfare of my family," she said. "We had to eat."
