County Area Goodfellows Selling Press

Auburn Heights, Keego and Lake Orion Groups Raise Funds Today

Sales are being held in Auburn Heights and Pontiac Township, Keego Harbor and Bloomfield Township, Lake Orion and Gingellville.

Purchase of a Goodfellow edition of the Press will help brighten Christmas for a needy family and its children and the Goodfellows stress that the need is greater this year.

In Pontiac Township and Auburn Heights, Metropolitan Club members and township firemen hope to sell 2,700 papers.

Participating in the Keego Harbor-West Bloomfield drive are township and Union Lake firemen, Orchard Lake, Keego Harbor and Sylvan Lake police. Keego Harbor's Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club of West Bloomfield are pitching in, too.

They were at their stations throughout the township at 1 p.m. They will remain out till dark, or until all 2,000 Press Goodfellow editions are sold, said Township Fire Chief Ben Mosher, drive chairman.

"We've been raising our goal each year," he said. "And this year with the need so great, we've hiked it again—from $2,000 to $2,500."

In Lake Orion, Lions Club members were on the corners today. "We'll be out all day if necessary," said drive chairman James Sheldon. "We have 2,000 papers to sell.

★ ★ ★

About 35 Lions are taking part in the Goodfellow effort, he said. This is the 19th consecutive year the club has sponsored the sale.

Gingellville's Methopolitan Club Goodfellow drive began last night and is continuing today. Chairman is William Stancombe.

Rift Seen Between Striking Motormen

NEW YORK (AP) — An apparent rift has developed among officials of the Motormen's Benevolent Assn. as its strike against the city subway system extends into the sixth day.

The city's subways are running about 70 per cent of normal with the aid of some non-striking motormen, newly trained workers and supervisory personnel.

Signs of union dissension appeared yesterday following a meeting between Mayor Robert F. Wagner and MBA Attorney Louis Waldman.

Wagner turned down the six-point union formula for ending the strike, saying he would not discuss strike issues until the motormen go back to work.

Milder Weather Seen for Next Few Days

The weatherman promises warmer temperatures for the next few days after the cold snap experienced early this week.

Today's snow will be followed by partly cloudy skies tonight with a low of about 32 degrees. Cloudy, with little change from today's temperature ranges is predicted for tomorrow, but either rain or snow can be expected by Sunday evening.

Monday will be partly cloudy with little change in temperature.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac, preceding 8 a.m. was 32. At 2 p.m. the reading was 40.

Young Love (Very Young) Finds a Way

Southfield Lad Remembers His Fair Lady

Little Kathy "Toto" Brown had expressed a wish for a cuddly gray kitten even since she met Brian Soncrant while vacationing in Michigan two years ago.

Brian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Soncrant, of 26999 Ten Mile Rd., Southfield, and his five sisters have always had plenty of kittens in their home.

★ ★ ★

"It was too much trouble to ship a cat," Brian explained. "We'd have to take the animal to Detroit, get a special health certificate and plow through a lot of red tape.

So, yesterday morning Commissioner Timothy O'Connor received a note addressed to the "Honorable Chief of Police."

Enclosed was $5 and a request "that one of your nice policemen go to a pet shop for me and get this little girl a kitty that purrs with a red ribbon and a bell on its neck."

Brian said he would have sent one himself but "it would cost me too much money to send one by freight."

★ ★ ★

Chicago's busy police machinery jumped into action and late yesterday afternoon a gray "kitty that purrs" was presented to Kathy at her North Side home by Capt. Leroy Steffens and Policeman James Bes Palets.

Wide-eyed Kathy hugged the two officers and immediately fell to the task of picking a name. By bedtime she had narrowed it down to Nosey, Misty and of course—Brian

"Obtain a kitten which purrs, equip it with a red ribbon and present it to a little girl named Kathleen Brown," the order read.

"In the event the station cat can be induced to donate a kitten and this kitten purrs, you may use this kitten for the presentation and return the $5," the order went on.

The station cat was not induced, but Patrolman Bes Palets finally located the perfect facsimile at the anti-cruelty society.

O'Connor says he is returning the $5 and will not deduct the six cents postage due on Brian's letter.

★ ★ ★

Officers decided Brian must have raided the coin section of his piggy bank, for the envelope contained three one-dollar bills and four 50-cent pieces.

You're Cold? Pity Policemen in Diving Test

EAST LANSING (AP)—If you think you were cold during the near zero snap this week, how about some State Policemen that went skin-diving.

★ ★ ★

The 17 troopers had to break ice on the lake and dipped into the water for as long as 15 minutes under the test.

The skin-diving squad was organized last summer and since has been highly successful in recovering bodies of drowning and plane crash victims and material needed for evidence.

Ike Arrives in Paris

AP Facsimile

WELCOMED BY COTY — French President Rene Coty is on hand to greet President Eisenhower on the chief executive's arrival at Paris' Orly airfield today, to attend the NATO conference.

Partnership in Strengths Will Meet Test

President Alights in Paris for NATO Parley and Gets Red Carpet

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower told the NATO allies today they face a Soviet challenge to their very survival as independent nations.

They can meet this period of test, Eisenhower said on landing in Paris for the NATO summit conference, only through true partnership in spiritual, economic and military strength.

In his prepared speech, Eisenhower expressed confidence that the 15-nation alliance could meet the "despotic and continuing threat from the East" in an effective manner.

He predicted that they would not only strengthen their protective shield of NATO military forces but also reinforce other aspects of the coalition as well.

OFFERS A-MISSILES

The President's plane landed at Orly Field at 2:52 p.m. (8:52 a.m. EST) today.

The trip to Europe is Eisenhower's second as chief executive. But in contrast with his 1955 mission to negotiate with the Soviet Union, this time he will seek to rally the Western Alliance against Russia's bid for dominance in the dawning era of pushbutton weapons.

GETS RED CARPET

France laid out a red carpet welcome with full military honors for the man who led the victorious allied armies in World War II and later served as NATO's first supreme commander. President Rene Coty planned to be among the welcomers.

Along with the red carpet, the government ordered 3,000 steel-helmeted security troops to line the President's route from Orly to the U.S. embassy, where he will stay.

There were only about 200 persons on hand at the airport, standing behind police lines as the plane began its final approach.

A rolling stairway was pushed aganst the Columbine's side, and the door opened. Promptly at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST) the President stepped out and walked smartly down the stairs. At the bottom he doffed his soft felt hat and shook hands with the French president. Then he replaced the hat.

BIG POLICE CORDON

There were about 500 policemen—more than double the number of spectators—and a French blue-uniformed air force honor guard of 150. Scattered through the crowd were U. S. plainsclothesmen.

Rackets Committee Turns to 'Improper' UAW Doings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee is exploring "reports of any improper activities" by the United Auto Workers Union.

Mundt said the committee's investigation of violence in the still unsettled 4-year strike by the UAW against the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin "is only one facet of our investigation." He declined to be more specific at this time.

The UAW is headed by Walter Reuther.

Mundt is a member of the investigating committee. He made his statement to a reporter in rejecting charges expressed by the AFL-CIO in a resolution accusing the committee of bias on the side of management.

CRITICAL COMMITTEE

The resolution, adopted by the AFL-CIO Thursday at its convention in Atlantic City, contended the hearings have been used to harass unions and to promote anti-labor legislation. The resolution also alleged that the committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), has not shown as much "enthusiasm and determination to expose wrongdoing of management."

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb), another member of the committee, also voiced a sharp rejection of the resolution's allegations in a separate interview.

The AFL-CIO resolution singled out Mundt, Curtis and Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz), another member of the eight-man bipartisan committee for criticism. Goldwater was not available for comment.

MUST INVESTIGATE

"We have had many reports of improper activities on the part of the UAW," Mundt said, "and the only way to affirm or invalidate such reports is to conduct an objective investigation, which is precisely what we propose to do."

★ ★ ★

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, who made the charges, should specify them and back them up with some evidence, Mundt said, if he knows of wrong-

Senate Probers Avoid Quick Verdict

General Urges Scrapping of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate missile-satellite probers shied away today from any quick verdict on a proposal for a revolutionary shakeup in the Pentagon which would scrap the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The surprise proposal came from Lt. Gen. James W. Gavin, Army deputy chief of staff for missile development. He said at a Friday night session that there should be a "breakup of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Gavin said that Defense Secretary Neil McElroy should be getting "better advice" on the needs of the space age than he now receives.

Gavin said the Joint Chiefs should be replaced by a staff of professional, military men who would "take over the functions of the Joint Chiefs."

The Senate Preparedness subcommittee hears a long list of witnesses today, beginning with Maj. Gen. John D. Medaris, commanding general of the Army's Ballistic Missile Center at Huntsville, Ala.

★ ★ ★

Others include Dr. Wehrner von Braun, the famed German-born rocket expert who now is director of development operations at Huntsville, and top Navy officers.

CAN-DO MEN

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), who heads the inquiry, declined to pass judgment on the "technical aspects" of Gavin's testimony but said that "we need more 'can-do' men."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) would not commit himself on scrapping the Joint Chiefs, but he said that Gavin's proposal "deserves close study."

Symington, a former Air Force secretary, added: "There obviously have got to be some changes over there (at the Pentagon).

★ ★ ★

"The structure is not conductive to either efficiency or effective organization. It also is wasteful. I was there for years. It was bad then, and it's worse now."

★ ★ ★

Gavin said he believes the U. S. is behind Russia in overall military power.

WRONG DECISIONS

He said the U. S. could have been the first to launch an earth satellite. The Army's satellite program was sidetracked, he said, because of "wrong decisions."

★ ★ ★

The missile expert declared it is "vital" that the U. S. beat the Soviets to the moon. He stressed that there will be a race to "occupy the moon" and the Soviets could become the winner.

Reports 1,287 Died in Quake

Telegraph Official Ups Government Figure in Iranian Disaster

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A post and telegraph official reported today that 1,287 persons were killed by a severe earthquake in Western Iran yesterday.

A newspaper correspondent said 500 of the victims were in one West Iranian village alone.

The government set the death toll at 205, the number of bodies recovered. Officials declined to estimate the final toll.

Truckloads of food, medicine and tents were being rushed into the mountainous area where the two-minute quake struck before dawn yesterday.

It was described as equal in violence to one that killed an estimated 2,000 persons last July on Iran's Caspain Sea coast.

A correspondent for Etela'at said 500 persons were killed in Farsang, near the small town of Sehneh which was officially reported to have been at the center of the quake Sehneh is on the 7,240-foot Shah Pass 240 miles southwest of Tehran.

Athens and nearby areas of Greece were hit yesterday by a sharp quake but no casualties were reported. There were no reports of shocks in Turky, which lies between Iran and Greece.

The Soviet Tass News Agency meanwhile reported that a quake Dec. 5 hit Outer Mongolia with catastrophic force and landslides are continuing. Casualties were not reported.

★ ★ ★

The Mongolian quake was reported centered in one of the world's most desolate areas near the junction of Mongolia, the Soviet Union and China's Sinkiang Province. One Tokyo reading indicated the quake was equal to one that killed 44,000 persons in the Japanese capital in 1923.

While her back was turned, the child ate them, police said.

Gifts Galore for My Fair Lady

By JANET ODELL

And what shall we give My Fair Lady for Christmas? The shops are full of beautiful and wonderful things. Making a choice is sometimes difficult.

Does she like to get into informal clothes in the evening while she watches television? Then she'd adore washable black velveteen toreador pants with a white cotton cardigan printed all over with pink flowers. For her "little black dress' she'd love to get a gold mesh pin in the shape of a starfish.

Something new in bracelets is a bracelet rosary in sterling. Children, if you'd like to get Mommy some pretty plain gold beads and matching earrings, you can find them for not too many pennies. How about a musical compact for the under-21 set?

The lady who is proud of her house and who liked to get gifts for it will swoon with delight if you match her Lenox china with salt and pepper shakers or a table lighter. She'll hunt up recipes to prepare and serve in decorated enameled steel frying pan made by the Yale Lock Company — of all places.

For the needlewoman there are petit point cuff link sets to complete. A pair of the newest kind of pinking shears will make her sewing more enjoyable.

Get her a telescoping drinking cup with attached pill box under the lid; made of white plastic, it sparkles with multi-colored stones. Cut stones in many colors are used also to decorate ceramic ashtrays.

Just for laughs, present your favorite member of the weaker sex with a miniature, plush fur-lined bathtub. She can keep her rings and wristwatch in it while she does the dishes.

Salvation Army to Check Names for Yule Baskets

The Salvation Army is again this year offering its clearing bureau service to individuals and organizations which intend to give Christmas baskets to needy families.

Capt. Magnus A. Michalsen, head of the Pontiac Citadel Corps, said today that the service is available to clubs, churches and others in the area served by the Pontiac Area United Fund.

The Salvation Army will index the names of families to be helped as they are called in and check to be sure names are not duplicated among various organization or individuals.

This service will be offered until Christmas Eve, he added, by calling FE 5-4642.

Capt. Michalsen also stated that needy families, if they can prove their need, can apply for baskets at the Army. They must come to the headquarters, 29 W. Lawrence St., in person to apply. The deadline is Dec. 20.

Watchdog Committee Kept in Dark

Thugs Use Buttoned Lip

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gangland's big weapon — the buttoned lip — frustrated legislative probers today in their drive to find out why those underworld bigwigs huddled at Apalachin last month.

★ ★ ★

Those of the mobsters most certain to know the score have ducked behind the Fifth Amendment when hauled before the watchdog committee.

And the few figures who would talk—including the namesake son of host Joseph Barbara—claimed they hadn't the faintest idea why 60 mobsters and pals would convene at Barbara's hilltop mansion near Binghamton.

Although plainly discouraged, the three-man subcommittee third day of its public hearing, pressed doggedly ahead into the calling a quartet of Buffalo area "delegates" to testify.

★ ★ ★

On tap were:

James LaDuca of Lewiston, an ousted union official; Anthony Magaddino, a Niagara Falls undertaker; Roy Carlisi, a Buffalo tavern owner; and Dominick D'Agostino of Niagara Falls.

Laduca was fired as secretary-treasurer of a Buffalo hotel and restaurant workers local after state police raided the convention on Nov. 14.

The raid flushed more than 60 mobsters and their pals from the Barbara hearth. A handful beat it into the woods, only to be nabbed, questioned and released along with the others.

After yesterday's long session, at which four of the six witnesses took the Fifth Amemdment, the committee's chief counsel, Arnold Bauman, threw up his hands in despair.

Bauman conceded the committee was little, if any, closer to finding out what happened at Apalachin than it was before it started. What were the prospects?

"We'll just have to wait and see," said Chairman William F. Horan, a Republican assemblyman.

Barbara said he never knew the meeting was to take place, didn't know what went on and recognized only a couple of area men who showed up.

3 Air Force Crewmen Die in Bomber Crash

DULUTH, Minn. (INS) — Three crew members of a crippled Air Force B-47 jet bomber were killed yesterday when the plane crashed and exploded near the Duluth air field.

The big bomber dropped from about 200 feet a half mile northeast of the Minnesota Air National Guard quarters after the pilot radioed an emergency signal reporting three of the plane's six engines were not functioning.

The three flyers killed were identified as Maj. William F. Gardner, aircraft commander, Fresno, Calif; Capt. Byron H. Blackmore, navigator, Grand Forks, N. D., and Capt. William A. Baldwin, pilot, St. Louis.

All residents in the area, except the civic association's directors, are eligible. Judging will take place the evening of Dec. 27.

Recently elected officers of the association are John McGill president; M. R. LaLonde, vice president; M. C. Shepherd, treasurer; Miss Mary Boettcher, secretary; Mrs. Francis Henderson, Don Mitzel, Robert Palwinski, Lou Randall and Charles Tanner, directors.

Additional business at the annual meeting was contact with Berz Airport and the Civil Aeronautics Patrol to secure a pledge to keep altitude violations of aircraft at a minimum.

He told Bloomfield Township Police he had stopped to make a left turn off Telegraph when his car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Howard Herrman, 63, of 1565 Rosalind St., Pontiac.

The impact spun Duncan's car around and it crashed into a third vehicle driven by Ernest Kugler, 35, of 820 Slocum St., Pontiac. The Duncan car then rammed a tree.

Duncan's previous mishap at the intersection a couple of years ago happened under similar circumstances. At that time, all of his teeth wre knocked out, he told police.

Under the direction of Leeland and Rachel Bunyan, "Eager Heart," a Christmas drama, will be presented at 7 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church. Written by Anne Buckton of Birmingham, the play is developed around the original Christmas theme.

Adults and young people of the church will be assisted by the Sanctuary Choir. The program is open to the public.

Townships Form CD Council

Several Smaller Cities Also Join to Coordinate Functions

All Oakland County's 25 townships and several smaller cities and villages have formed an Oakland County Township Civil Defense Council to coordinate the different Civil Defense functions between them.

★ ★ ★

"They will coordinate their plans based on the facilities available," said Lewis C. Jarrendt, County Civil Defense director. He was named as chairman of the new group.

Besides the county's 25 townships, it will include representatives from Rochester, Huntington Woods, Lathrup Village, South Lyon, and Farmington.

The group will also work together with the Oakland County CD Council which is made up of representatives of 10 cities in the county of 10,000 or more population.

★ ★ ★

Elected vice-chairman of the township council was John F. Warren, West Bloomfield CD director. Secretary will be Mrs. Mary McGee, of the county CD staff.

Five From Pontiac Injured in Accident

A two-car collision at Woodward avenue and Square Lake road in Bloomfield Township early this morning sent five Pontiac residents to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, one with serious injuries, according to State Police at the Pontiac Post.

All were in the car being driven by Leonard Conway, 50, of 201 W. Wilson Ave. Injured were Conway, his wife, Esther, 38, Eugene Phillips, 27, and his wife, Esther, 25, who lived with the Conways. They were treated for minor injuries and released, said a hospital spokesman.

Jesse Smith, 29, of 249 W. Wilson Ave., was admitted with possible fractures and internal injuries and is reported in serious condition.

The southbound Conway car had just started up after stopping for a traffic light when the accident occurred, said police. Ben Beard, 59, of Detroit, the driver of the other car, was uninjured. He told police he had just made a left hand turn onto Square Lake road and didn't know what happened.

doing by employers that the committee has authority to investigate. He said the committee would investigate any such cases as fairly as it investigates union people.

Curtis said Mazey should come forward with evidence if he has any.

"If we have conducted a one-sided and biased investigation," Curtis demanded, "why were the Teamsters ousted by the AFL-CIO? Why was the Bakers and Confectionary Workers Union expelled?" The AFL-CIO has ousted both unions from its ranks on the basis of testimony brought out by the committee.

City Hospital Is Cut 3 to 1 Year

Certification Change Is Ordered Pending Changes in Methods

Pontiac General Hospital is operating on a one-year accreditation instead of the usual accreditation for three years, Carl I. Flath, hospital director, said yesterday. He said the action was taken in September by the Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation.

Flath pointed out that the one-year accreditation instead of the usual three resulted after the survey showed several discrepancies in operating procedure existed.

Some of the deficiencies were the result of the building program in progress and had to do with sanitary conditions.

Corrective measures to be taken by the trustees and medical staff will be in keeping with standards as set up by the Joint Commission.

Regulations established by the Hospital Board of Trustees to bring up the hospital's rating were followed by two legal actions.

Two suits involving doctors at the hospital are pending in Oakland County Circuit Court. In one, Drs. Roy V. Cooley, Douglass A. Haddock, Maolin Han, Rodman C. Jacobi and Leonard Blackwell, seek unrestricted surgical privileges.

In the second, filed by Dr. Nell H. Sullenberger, a damage suit of $250,000 is being asked after he was suspended Nov. 13 for certain alleged "infringements" of medical by-laws, according to Flat.

Demand Pardon for Hungarians

Diplomats Try to Help Three Doomed Freedom Fighters

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) —Free world diplomats demanded today clemency for three top Hungarian freedom fighters reportedly doomed by the Janos Kadar puppet government.

At the same time, the five-nation U. N. committee on Hungary was summoned to meet at headquarters on the dispute over names of refugee witnesses.

★ ★ ★

Action also was expected by the group to head off the "imminent executions" in Budapest and to follow up on the Red refusal to cooperate with Thailand's Prince Wan, special U. N. representative on Hungary.

★ ★ ★

Ironically, the many problems connected with Soviet-subjugated Hungary began sputtering again amid Russia's drive for adoption by the General Assembly of a "peaceful co-existence" resolution.

Through nearly 12 hours of debate ending early today, Western and even some Afro-Asian delegates repeated one theme: When the USSR says one thing, it means exactly the opposite. Western envoys pressed for the long debate in order to forestall the Soviet item from overlapping the Paris NATO summit meeting.

All 20 Latin American members of the Free World alliance were meeting to formulate a joint demand for clemency for Generals Pal Maleter and Istvan Kovacs, and Col. Alexander Kopacsy, the freedom fight leaders reportedly facing execution.

Maleter, minister of defense in the Soviet-overthrown cabinet of ex-Premier Imre Nagy, was imprisoned by the Russians on Nov. 3, 1956, while negotiating on their promised withdrawal from Hungary.

Hungarian emigre leaders, asserting that adjournment of the assembly would doom the trio, pleaded with Western delegates to keep the forum in session.

Hoffa Suit Hears From Syracuse, Albany Locals

Teamster Says 6 Went—None Voted

WASHINGTON (INS) — A Syracuse, N.Y., Teamster has testified that his local sent six men to the Miami Teamsters convention at a cost of $7,500—and none voted.

Another Teamster from an Albany, N.Y., local said he was given $50 a day for expenses and also failed to vote.

The witnesses appeared in Washington's district court before Federal Court Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who is hearing a suit brought by 13 rank-and-file Teamsters attempting to bar James Hoffa from the Teamsters presidency on the grounds the Miami convention was stacked in his favor.

Ernest J. Demont, of Local 317 in Syracuse, said the local elected only three delegates. When the three arrived in Florida, they were informed by three of the local's officers, Fred Maggio, William Roggencamp and John Fortino, that they could only serve as alternates. Maggio and Roggencamp were seated as the local's official delegates and abstained from voting.

The local had instructed its delegates not to vote for Hoffa. All six were given $1,250 each for the five-day Florida sessions.

Fred Ostrander, of Local 294 in Albany, N.Y., insisted under cross-examination that he had voted "to keep my job," although he was not listed as a voting delegate in the convention minutes.

Ostrander, who drew $50 daily for expenses, said he had worked on a document listing his delegates, although the membership never voted for its choice of delegates.

2-Year-Old Keeps Good Time

Kenny Ticks Away

The fact that he's a walking timepiece apparently hasn't phased Kenneth. Doctors sent him home for observation last night after X-rays revealed the watch in his tummy. It was still running.

More X-rays will be taken and then doctors will decide how to rid Kenneth of the watch.

His mother, Mrs. Betty Rogers, 26, asked Kenneth where her watch was when she returned to the bedroom where he had been napping.

"I eat it," said Kenny truthfully.

Strong Partnership of Nations Is Way Ahead

Minister Harold Macmillan, German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, French Premier Felix Gaillard, and Italian Premier Adone Zoli. The meetings will be held Monday through Wednesday and Eisenhower will fly home Thursday.

The 81-year-old Adenauer left Bonn by special train early today and was expected here this afternoon.

He was scheduled to begin his talks this afternoon with Gaillard at the U. S. embassy. If the visit is more than a courtesy call, Eisenhower may get from the young Premier some straight talk on European criticism of U. S. NATO policies.

FRENCH TO WOO U. S.

Gaillard wants U.S. and British support for France's position in North Africa. France and other European countries would like a decisive voice in the control of any U.S. nuclear weapons to be stockpiled in Europe. Under U. S. law, the nuclear warheads must be kept in U. S. custody and only the President can make any decision on their use.

To induce European allies now —and the U. S. Congress later —to go along with the major U. S. proposals for strengthening and modernizing NATO, Eisenhower likely will need all the persuasiveness and prestige he can muster.

Diplomats worried over the dissension in Western ranks have been greatly cheerd by the President's determination to attend the Paris meeting in spite of his slight stroke Nov. 25. His trip has the color and drama of a soldier-hero's return to the scenes of his triumph.

But the problems awaiting his attention in the next five days are difficult and critical. Secretary of State Dulles, who arrived yesterday, already has found evidence the President's task will not be easy.

Gaillard reportedly told Dulles last night in an hour-long meeting at the Premier's residence that France wants and expects greater cooperation from the NATO allies in support of its North African position and that this is the price for France's greater cooperation in NATO.

Anti-American feeling was strong in France a few weeks ago as a result of the U.S.-British action in selling arms to Tunisia. Paris protested some of the guns might fall into the hands of Algerian rebels.

Communists have called the NATO conference a session for war preparations.

Anti-NATO notes from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin reached several NATO governments as their representatives were preparing to leave for Paris. Soviet ambassadors in Italy, Turkey, Norway and Canada yesterday delivered letters similar to those already sent to Eisenhower and other Western leaders.

The weasel is the most bloodthirsty killer of all North American animals.

Planes Readied for A-Warfare

AF Reports That Most Fighters and Bombers Have Nuclear Capacity

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The Air Force said today "virtually all front-line U.S. fighters and bombers have nuclear or thermonuclear capabilities."

★ ★ ★

It said the newest aircraft to be equipped with a system for carrying nuclear weapons is the B58 Hustler, a four-engined, delta-winged bomber capable of flying more than 1,500 miles per hour.

★ ★ ★

The announcement said a special weapons command development directorate at Kirtland Air Force Base here has been carrying on "many projects to mate special weapons with carriers . . . this year."

★ ★ ★

"Bombers involved," the announcement said, "are the B36, B47, RB47, B52, B66 and B57. Fighters in the program include the F89J, F86F, F100C, F100D, F101A and F105."

★ ★ ★

Test ranges used in the work were listed as the Los Lunas, N.M., Bombing Range 25 miles southwest of Kirtland; Edwards AFB in California; Holloman AFB at Alamogordo, N.M.; Atomic Energy Commission ranges at Salton Sea Test Base in California, Yucca Flats Test Base and Tonopah Test Range in Nevada, and Red Lake Test Site in Minnesota.

Snow Keeps RCAF From Hunting Plane

HAGERSVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Heavy snow last night prevented planes from joining police in a search for a light twin-engined aircraft believed down in this area with a Chicago businessman aboard.

★ ★ ★

The pilot of the plane was identified as R. West of the West Instrument Co., Chicago, en route from Rochester to Detroit.

County Bar to Hear Sen. Harvey Lodge

State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge will address the Oakland County Bar Assn. at a luncheon meeting set for 12:15 p.m. Monday, at the Elks Temple.

Sen. Lodge will speak on "Legislation and the Lawyer." His talk will cover acts of the last Legislature which are of particular interest to attorneys and will also discuss proposed legislation in which the bar would be interested.

Lodge also intends to take up items of legislation which he believes the bar should sponsor before the Legislature on behalf of the general public.

Pontiac Youth Held in Death of Hunter

DETROIT (AP) — A 33-year-old Saginaw father of three died in a Detroit hospital yesterday of a rifle wound suffered while hunting Nov. 29 near Alpena.

He was Edwin Seder, 33, a millwright.

State police said Seder was shot through the pelvis by Walter Skrine, 17, of Pontiac, who said he mistook Seder for a bear. The youth has been held at Alpena since the shooting.

Avon Woman Injured After Car Leaves Road

An Avon Township woman, Marjorie Lou Pettigrove, 29, of 3695 Hazelton Rd., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital Friday after suffering injuries when her car ran off Orion road, said Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

★ ★ ★

She is reported in satisfactory condition today with a fractured arm, according to the hospital. Deputies said her car skidded on a patch of ice and hit an embankment.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does the dew in the morning indicate that good weather can be expected that day?

Yes, strangely enough, this old weather saying is not merely folklore without scientific foundation but genuine weather knowledge.

Dew is formed by cooling. The blade of grass that collects moisture collects it from air being cooled. Warm air has a greater capacity for moisture than cool air and gives some of it up (on blades of grass) when it is cooled.

Cloudless nights are nights for the collection of dew because heat radiation is necessary in the process and clouds checks this process. The sight of dew then means clear skies and clear weather. The old saying, then, is usually accurate.

More Cold Creeps Across North Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new invasion of cold air crept across the Northern Plains today, but it appeared somewhat less severe than the mitten and ear muff weather which extended deep into the South earlier in the week.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere around the country, including frost-nipped Florida, temperatures indicated a general warming trend.

A band of snow flurries persisted from the Northern Great Lakes eastward through the New England interior, and heavy fog again blanketed much of the Pacific Northwest.

The chilly air penetrating the Central Plains was met by warm, moist air moving northward out of the Gulf of Mexico. Most pronounced warming occurred between the Mississippi Valley and the Atlantic coast where early morning readings averaged from 10 to 20 degrees higher than those of a day earlier.

In spite of more normal temperatures over most of the region, the chilly 30s ranged into South Atlantic coastal states. To the west, Gulf coast areas had readings in the 40s and 50s, and clouds were scattered northward into central Tennessee.

The unseasonable and record-breaking chilly temperatures of 15 and 20 degrees over Florida were taken as a serious threat for citrus orchards and unprotected garden produce, but advance warnings by federal-state forecasters permitted produce farmers to make forced harvests and otherwise minimize damage.

Fair skies were expected to prevail over much of the Southern half of the country today while cloudiness and showers spread southward from the Pacific Northwest into central California and eastward, becoming snow flurries through the Northern Rockies.

★ ★ ★

The forecast called for more snow flurries over the Northern Great Lakes and eastward into New England but with little or no additional increase in existing snow cover.

Japanese Indict Michigan Soldier

YOKOHAMA (INS) — The Yokohama district prosecutor's office today indicted U.S. Army Specialist 3. C. Gregory J. Kupski of Detroit on charges of murdering a 25-year-old Japanese girl in Yokohama Nov. 17.

The prosecutor's office seeks to try Kupski on murder charges instead of accepting Army jurisdiction, claiming he was off duty at the time of the murder.

The prosecutor's office filed a formal indictment against Kupski and at the same time notified the U.S. Army, through the Ministry of Justice, that Japan considers its has full rights to try the case in a Japanese court.

Earlier this month the Army announced Kupski had confessed the murder.

★ ★ ★

She was married to Aviation Ordinanceman T. C. Robert Wescott, Vineland, N.J. She remained a Japanese citizen when Wescott left Japan for duty at the Navy's China Lake Air Facility, Calif.

The indictment came after the prosecutor's office determined that the victim was not Wescott's legal wife, under Japanese law.

Hopes to Equal Russian Technology

U. of M. to Set Up Science Institute

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Plans for an Institute of Science and Technology at the University of Michigan to train American scientists to attain the technological peaks held by the Russians were approved yesterday.

The University's Board of Regents unanimously and eagerly passed a resolution to get the project under way immediately. The regents expected to have an initial operating cost in the neighborhood of $2,800,000 per year which will be provided by state appropriation if approved by the legislature.

The institute will have two major goals: Satisfying the critical need for highly trained American scientists and engineers and developing sufficient skilled manpower to place Michigan in the forefront of forthcoming technological advances.

Top research work is another objective.

"I'd like to get it started right away," said U. of M. President Harlan Hatcher. "This is something you just don't wave a wand over and get started. It will be ready just as soon as the resources permit."

★ ★ ★

The institute's operation will resemble that of the university's Memorial Phoenix Project, which is devoted to the peaceful use of atomic energy.

EXISTING SCHOOLS

Work at the institute would be, as far as possible, carried on through existing schools and departments within U. of M.

★ ★ ★

The institute would be established in the School of Graduate Studies and administered by a specially assigned director. The regents, headed by Roscoe O. Bonisteel of Ann Arbor, said the new program would not lessen education progress in other fields such as the humanities.

Hatcher explained that part of the institute's idea is to reach down into secondary schools to arouse scientific interest in youngsters and recruit them for later training.

"There will be close communication from the frontier levels where the scientists work at the institute through the graduate and undergraduate students to business and industry where technical programs are in force, to secondary schools and to people displaced from their jobs by new methods," Hatcher said.

The original seed for the institute was planted by the university's Science Advisory Committee, which Hatcher appointed shortly after the Russians launched their second Sputnik.

In other business the regents accepted $206,544 in gifts and grants.

U.S. Guarding Its Poison Gas

Watch Feared Weapon Vigilantly at Pine Bluff Arsenal in Arkansas

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (INS)—The long-range missiles and nuclear weapons have grabbed the headlines today, but a weapon from world War I lies as potent as ever at the Pine Bluff Arsenal.

The feared weapon is 26,000 tons of poison gas which is under storage and vigilant guard at the arsenal.

J. Milton Howard, who heads the arsenal, said it is one of the few military establishments in the United States with such a stockpile.

But he stressed that the toxic gas is regarded strictly as "insurance" to deter an enemy from waging chemical warfare.

Most deadly of the gases at the Arkansas installation is mustard gas. The official said the garlic-smelling fumes are poisonous to the lungs and will bring death in a very short time.

Other gases named by the official were phosgene, a choking type gas with an odor like green corn; Lewisite gas which smells like geraniums, and tear gas which has the fragrance of apple blossoms.

Although no gas has been manufactured at the arsenal since 1945, he said, an ironic situation is involved. Once produced, the gas can't be destroyed, Howard added:

"It can't be buried, placed under the ocean or burned. It must be maintained safely and that's our job."

Obedience Training Exhibition Jan. 16

Owners of dogs interested in obedience training, or just interested in dogs are invited, along with the general public, to attend a demonstration in Daniel Whitfield School, Jan. 16.

Host is the Southern Michigan Obedience Training club, which conducts regular obedience training classes at the school. Demonstration is set for 8 p.m. SMOTC officials say those attending should not take dogs with them. For information regarding demonstration, or classes call Reg Armstrong, FE 2-7749.

Magistrates Pull Lucky Numbers on Unlucky Day

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A law requires the city's magistrates — now numbering 13—to draw lots to determine where their courtroom will be located.

So the eight Democrats and five Republicans elected last November assembled in City Hall to find out where they will be working next year.

Naturally, each hoped he'd serve in his own neighborhood.

Council President James H. J. Tate called each name out, and, one by one, each magistrate poked a hand into a battered felt hat and drew out a numbered slip.

When all had drawn, each read his number.

As luck would have it—and on Friday the 13th too—each of the nine re-elected magistrates was returned to his old court.

Union-Buster — Friend of Workers

Shefferman 'Success' a Liability

The strange story of a fortune made playing both sides of the labor-management street will have an important bearing on new labor legislation to be shaped when Congress returns next month. Here is a close-up of the Chicago mystery man who made that fortune—and how he did it—in a 2-part series).

By ROGER GREENE
AP Feature Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The white-haired man with chalk white skin and sagging jowls raised trembling hands above his head and cried out:

"I've no place to turn but God. They call me a union buster. There are 18 million union people and 70,000 union locals and I'm one little bogie man who is supposed to bust them all.

★ ★ ★

"What the hell is this? What kind of colossus am I, anyway?

No one seems quite sure what kind of colossus Nathan W. Shefferman is, or whether he is at all. The Senate rackets committee tried hard to find out. In the process, Shefferman took the fifth amendment 25 times.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) and committee counsel Robert T. Kennedy bluntly accused him of running a nationwide union-busting service in connivance with some management officials.

Step by step, Kennedy led Shefferman though an off-beat success story depicting how a one-time $3,600-a-year government employe learned to hobnob with labor union chiefs while billing his clients a million dollars a year to protect them from labor trouble.

Embittered by the committee's disclosures, Shefferman reluctantly consented to an interview.

"What are you going to write about me?" he asked, his eyes dark and smouldering. "Am I going to be crucified some more?"

Before the committee, a polite and urban Shefferman sought to portray himself as the working man's friend, even though he was paid by numerous companies as a labor relations consultant. His mission, he said, was to bring about understanding and goodwill between workers and employers.

★ ★ ★

"I was invited to a gooc many union affairs, and I made speeches on the matter of working together and not making a private battleground of our nation.

"I knock off 150,000 miles a year, crusading for our way of life."

But chairman McClellan and other committee members say the Shefferman story will almost certainly lead to drastic revision of the nation's labor laws, affecting both management and unions, at the next session of Congress.

One objective, says McClellan, will be to curb secret union-busting practices developed by some employers with the aid of outside "consultants."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Among letters received at a miniature house set up at City Hall to handle mail to Santa Claus: "Dear Santa: Would you please bring me a nice, single boy friend between the ages of 45 and 55? Claims Control of Dutch Firms

Indonesian Government Reportedly Defies Ban to Stop Seizures

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian news agency Antara said today authoritative quarters reported almost all Dutch businesses in Indonesia now under state control.

★ ★ ★

The report followed defiance of an army ban against further seizures of Dutch property issued last night. Workers of a Communist-dominated union defied the order by the army chief of staff and took over a number of small Dutch businesses and banks.

There was no immediate reaction to the new seizures by the army chief, Maj. Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution. This island nation calmed down a bit after a flurry of rumors — which he denied — that President Sukarno had been deposed.

★ ★ ★

Trade ministry circles said there is no cause for worry that internal trade would be affected by seizures of Dutch businesses to protest Dutch possession of West New Guinea.

The sources said precautionary steps had been taken to obtain from other countries essential goods formerly supplied by the Netherlands.

Antara also said Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai told its correspondent in Peiping that Red China would give concrete help to Indonesia in its efforts to obtain West New Guinea.

★ ★ ★

Tokyo Firemen Battle Traffic to Reach Blazes

TOKYO (INS) — If you think the traffic snarls in your home town are the world's worst—don't.

Tokyo takes the prize. The fire department says so and, with good reason, it ought to know.

Because of rush-hour jams, complicated by ancient bicycles, motor-scooters, man-drawn carts, suicide-bent taxis and similar impedimenta, buildings are burning down before fire engines can fight their way to the scene.

Three trucks lost precious minutes trying to force their way through heavy traffic.

Another was forced to a dead halt and fire hoses had to be woven between lines of stalled automobiles to douse flames.

Competition for traffic space is so bad that a fire engine crew found cars blocking one hydrant and hoses had to be hooked up to another 70 yards away.

Shopping Center Parking Areas Called Yule Peril

★ ★ ★

That's the word from the Rocky Mountain AAA Auto Club, which claims the traffic situation in shopping centers is "chaotic."

★ ★ ★

Dangers for the motorist—other than normal parking hazards — are:

— No separation of pedestrian and auto traffic.

— Frequent disregard for one-way arrows in traffic lanes.

— Inexperienced drivers, who wouldn't venture into heavy downtown street traffic.

— Poor cars. It's usually the poorly-maintained "second car" that's used for shopping forays.

Marine Convicted of Prison Cruelty

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Marine Cpl. Sheldon D. Sibell of Nelson, Minn., was convicted yesterday on one charge of cruelty toward Navy prisoners. He was sentenced to three months' hard labor without confinement and fined $75 a month for three months.

★ ★ ★

A general court-martial acquitted the 21-year-old Marine of five other charges of cruelty to prisoners in the Navy Brig at Sasebo, Japan. He pleaded innocent of all the charges. The sentence is subject to automatic review.

★ ★ ★

Sibell was the sixth Marine convicted of mistreating Sasebo prisoners. Five have been acquitted and five others await trials.

Korean Ship Sinks; 14 Seamen Missing

TOKYO (AP) — A South Korean merchant ship sank in Tsushima Strait between Japan and South Korea yesterday and 14 crew members are missing, the Japanese Coast Guard said today.

★ ★ ★

One crew member was rescued by a nearby Japanese fishing boat, the Coast Guard added.

★ ★ ★

The 163-ton Shinko (New Light) Maru was carrying 100 tons of scrap from Pusan, South Korea, to Osaka, Japan, when it went down. The Coast Guard said its patrol ships were on the way to the scene.

Steady Population Rise Seen for New England

BOSTON — A moderately steady population growth is predicted for New England by the census bureau which says residents of the six states should total 10,174,000 by 1960 and 11,389,000 by 1970.

The probable 1965 figure was put at 10,734,000. These figures compare with a census count of 9,315,000 in 1950 and a bureau estimate of 9,599,000 for 1955.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE BIBLE

QUESTION: What king wrote many of the psalms?

ANSWER: The psalms are a collection of Hebrew religious poems in the Old Testament of the Bible. Theer are 150 of them, all beautiful and inspiring. Most tell of man's inner feelings—his sorrows and joys, loves and hates, gentleness an danger, faith and fear. There are also some psalms about nature. These speak of the mountains and valleys, the streams and hillsides, and all of nature, with deep religious feeling.

Many of the early psalms were written by David, the second king of Israel, during his 40-year reign. David showed poetic ability when as a youth he helped herd his father's sheep. It was during this period that he slew the giant Philistine warrior, Goliath, and gained the favor of King Saul that eventually led to his being named king of Israel.

Buying Problem Rears Its Head

Yule Gift Experts Aid to Shoppers

With Christmas coming, the problem of what to get as gift surprises for family members rears its head. However, to save time and disappointment, expert gift shoppers compiled a list of do's and don't's for holiday shopping.

SHOP EARLY

1. Do shop early.

2. Do ask the shopping aides in stores for advice. Five minutes with a shopping aide can produce dozens of usable ideas, for he or she knows plenty about gift items available.

3. Do get added attractions—if they aren't too expensive—that the person who gets the gift can talk about to his friends.

For example, if Dad wants an outboard motor, consider getting him one with a personalization plate on which his name can be engraved.

Although such a motor costs only a little bit more than other outboards, it is the kind he'll show off to his friends, be envied for and talked about.

4. Don't ignore a gift just because it's practical. Strange as it may seem, Mother might like a work-saving washer rather than a pretty—but rarely used— knick knack.

Fred Maytag, the appliance company executive, says Christmas is when the greatest amount of laundry equipment goes into homes.

TAKE TIME

5. Do take a little time to find out what the person you're giving the gift to really wants. Many people have a secret desire to play a musical instrument or to paint.

They would be enchanted with a piano, violin or even a ukulele, although they might not buy it for themselves.

6. For novice hobbyists, buy them equipment that's easy to operate. For example, there's a new motion picture camera with a lens that automatically opens or closes according to changing light conditions. Ideal for beginners, this camera is foolproof.

Rose Bowl Parade Minus Local Float

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Pasadena will again play host New Year's Day to the fabulous Tournament of Roses parade.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Sorry, no float this year. Seems $5,000 earmarked by the city fathers for construction of a float was considered later to be insufficient to design a suitable entry.

★ ★ ★

Killed His Daughter

DETROIT (AP) — Ralph Knittle, 42, a Detroit factory worker, was convicted Friday of first degree murder of strangling to death his 2½-year-old daughter, Virginia, with the cord of a venetian blind. He will be sentenced Dec. 27 by Circuit Judge W. McKay Skillman.

Slick Sanilac Road Causes 4 Deaths

CROSWELL (AP) — Four men were killed in a two-car collision three miles east of this Sanilac County community yesterday.

Sheriff Quincy Hoffman identified the dead as Elwin Carter, 42; Ollis Ferrier, about 60, and Ernest Loescher, 37, all of Applegate, and J. V. Runge, 46, of Croswell.

Hoffman quoted witnesses as saying the car driven by Carter veered across M90 and collided with the automobile drive by Runge. Ferrier and Loescher were passengers in Carter's car. Runge was alone.

Snow had been falling most of the day and roads in the area are slippery.

Man, 69, Beats Youths at Speed

Oldster Clocks Better Than 100 M.P.H. in His 1934 Ford

By JOHN LANNAN

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Emil Nelson feels from his own experience that every man his age should have a hobby—but not necessarily his.

Emil is 69 and his hobby is driving a hopped-up 1934 Ford at speeds better than 100 m.p.h. He believes he's the nation's oldest hot rodder.

"I feel like I'm 30 years old," enthuses the near-septuagenarian. "I can run races with the boys anytime."

★ ★ ★

And to prove it, Emil can show two awards won this year in the finals of the New England Hot Rod Council competition.

His Ford coupe was the fastest car entered from Maine and the top car in its class at the races over the Sanford Municipal Airport drag strip.

Emil isn't new to racing. He started speeding about two years ago after a lapse of 37 years. His last racing car in the old days was a Stanley Steamer he made himself.

★ ★ ★

Marriage and a metal working job kept him pretty close to home since the Stanley days. Lately his knowledge of metals, his love for fast cars and a convenient back yard shop, brought him back into competition, this time against men a third of his age.

He has been working on his present car for three years.

His last car was built of spare parts from the Stanley plant at parts from the Stanley plant worked as a mechanic-assembler under Fred Marriot, who designed the famous "Torpedo" which outran the world's best cars at Ormond Beach, Fla., in the 1920s.

Emil, an immigrant from Norway, learned metal working in Massachusetts after spending two years as a mess boy aboard a tramp steamer.

At the end of every work day, Emil is out in his back yard garage, either helping his two sons and a son-in-law on their hopped-up cars or working on his own machine. One night a week, he and the boys attend meetings of the Portland Shaft Twister's Club, a hot rod group.

20-20 Vision No Proof of Perfect Eyesight

NEW YORK — According to the Society for The Prevention of Blindness, 20-20 vision is no guarantee against eye disease, since an eye chart only tests central vision.

The society says a person suffering from a major eye disease which first attacks side vision may actually have a perfect score on the test while gradually losing his sight.

Sad Cow Cause of Damage Suit in Idaho Court

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — The case of the sad cow has come up in District Court here.

The V-1 Oil Co. of Idaho Falls, Idaho, has filed an $11,886 damage suit claiming Arthur and Bernice Nielson of Inkom, Idaho, and the Union Pacific Railroad were negligent Dec. 6 when one of its trucks was involved in a highway accident near here.

The company says the truck driver had to crash into a ditch when a cow wandered onto the highway. The suit claims the defendants knew the cow had been deprived of a calf, that the cow would escape and search for the calf and that railroad workers left a pasture gate open.

The truck and trailer were extensively damaged in the accident. The sad cow was not hurt.

Total Wages Up to $1,200 Do Not Affect SS Benefit

By RAY HENRY

From N. D. of New York City: "I've been collecting Social Security for the past three years. Now I've been offered a temporary job. I've heard that a person may earn $1,200 in a year without losing his payments. What if I work for three months and make $399 in each month? Will I lose any of my checks?"

No, if your total earnings during the year aren't over $1,200. It doesn't matter how many months it takes you to earn the $1,200.

From A. R. E. of Washington, D. C.: "I'm planning to take a job overseas for an American company. If I take it, will I be covered by the Social Security law?"

Yes.

From Mrs. Y. L. of New Orleans: "My husband has been working in a job covered by the Social Security law since the end of World War II. He's now 38 and has averaged about $3,400 a year. He had to quit work in September because of a severe back injury caused by an auto accident. There's a chance that he'll never be able to work again. When can he start collecting Social Security disability payments?"

A totally and permanently disabled person can only draw payments after he reaches 50.

From C. A. of Knoxville, Tenn.: "I'm a federal government worker and pay 6½ per cent of my salary into the retirement program. Is it possible under this program to set aside more of my salary for retirement and draw larger payments when I retire?"

Yes. Such payments, commonly known as voluntary contributions, are made for the express purposes of increasing payments at the time of retirement. You can get more information about how this may be done by writing to: United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

From T. A. of Oakland, Calif.: "I'm 59 years old and I've never been under Social Security. I don't own a business of any kind and I've never had a Social Security card. For many years, I have invested my money in stocks and bonds and make a good living out of it. Can I get under Social Security by reporting and paying Social Security on the profits from my stock and bond purchases?"

No. Income from investments in stocks and bonds doesn't count toward Social Security except for dealers in the business of buying and selling stocks and bonds.

From P.B.M. of Fargo, N. Dak.: "Now that Social Security is paid to some women at 62 is there any chance that the wife of a railroad man will soon be able to collect railroad retirement at that age? Perhaps, Congress is considering a change?"

Changes in the Railroad Retirement Act along the lines you suggest were introduced in Congress earlier this year, but no action was taken on them. They're still before Congress and may be approved after Congress comes back in January.

2 Sets of Twins in Divorce Case Confuse Matter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Things got a bit confusing when two sets of identical twins appeared in Superior Court on a single divorce matter.

★ ★ ★

Rose Zvonek Garo was suing Clarke Garo for divorce yesterday and she brought along her twin sister, Mary Zvonek Garo, to corroborate her charge of cruelty.

Also in court to back up his brother's cross-complaint was Edmunde Garo, Clarke's twin and Mary's husband.

So Mary and Edmunde, blissfully married, found themselves on opposite sides of the fence.

Happily, they didn't have to contradict each other. A property settlement effected during a noon recess paved the way for an uncontested divorce.

The two couples married five years ago when the girls were 18 and the men 20.

Timer Warns of Need to Replace TV Tube

BOSTON — A new product is a timing tube no larger than a cigarette filter tip. It shows how long a radio tube, television picture tube, or other electronic device has been operating.

By pointing the way to replacement before parts reach the danger point, the timer is said to be able to avert costly breakdowns.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today a Soviet jet fighter has flown faster than 1,242 m.p.h. "during a routine flight."

★ ★ ★

The broadcast made no mention of world speed records. Maj. Adrian Drew of the U.S. Air Force set an official world record in California Thursday by flying a Voodoo fighter-bomber 1,207.6 m.p.h. over a measured course.

★ ★ ★

The Moscow broadcast of a Tass News Agency report quoted Soviet Aviation Magazine. A later broadcast said the plane was piloted by Nikolai Korovushin, but the time and place were not announced.

Moscow radio said the plane had sharply swept back wings, an an arrow-like tail and a rocket-shaped fuselage with protruding jet pipes. The broadcast said the flight proved the plane was fully maneuverable at maximum height. The plane was not named.

FBI Probing Fire in Factory

Four Die in Blaze at Chemical Firm That Made Rocket Fuel

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — The FBI tried today to run down the cause of a flash fire and resulting explosions which killed four persons, injured four more and wrecked a main unit of a rocket-making plant here yesterday.

The FBI was called into the probe because Thiokol Chemical Corp. deals almost exclusively with the government in the production of solid rocket fuel at its Elkton plant.

H. G. Jones, manager of the plant, said the fire apparently started in a mixing vat and rapidly mushroomed through a one-story 100-by-40-foot building. The low-grade explosion shattered the concrete walls of the building and tore off the metal roof.

Three of the four dead were found in the charred structure two hours after the fire started. The fourth was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Thiokol manufactures solid propellant for the Army's Honest John, Nike, Hercules and Lacrosse missiles, the Air Force's Hawk and Falcon rockets and others.

Elaborate safeguards are employed at the plant to prevent just such fires as occurred yesterday. The buildings are widely scattered to prevent complete destruction should there be a mishap.

Minister Marries Couple From His Hospital Room

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Their minister was sick so 1st Lt. Eugene Schultz and Clara Low were married in his hospital room.

Schultz, of Clovis, N.M., and Miss Low, of Montgomery, had planned to be married yesterday.

Schultz had to return last night to Hamilton Air Force Base, San Francisco.

So the couple went to the hospital and Perryman sat on the edge of his bed to perform the ceremony.

Gov. Chandler Faces Arrest

Kentucky Leader and 3 Game Officials Cited in Illegal Hunting

WICKLIFFE, Ky. (AP) — Gov. A. B. Chandler and Kentucky's wildlife commissioner and two commission employes faced warrants today charging they illegally hunted after hours in a game refuge.

★ ★ ★

Ballard County Judge Adlai Buchanan signed warrants yesterday for the arrest of Chandler and Earl Wallace, commissioner of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Dept., John McClintock, chief law enforcement officer at the Ballard County Wildlie Refuge, and Otis T. Throgmorton, a refuge employe.

Kendall Thomas, former game warden at the refuge filed affidavits on the charges. Wallace said he fired Thomas yesterday for "being disloyal to me and for being a disgruntled employe."

Thomas charged in the affidavits he saw Chandler and the others hunting geese and duck after hours Dec. 4.

Penalty on conviction is a fine of $15 to $50.

Chandler, informed of the warrant for his arrest, said "Considering the company I was in, I had no reason to believe I was doing anything wrong. If I have, I will take my medicine."

Gives Safety Hints on Christmas Trees

COLUMBUS (INS) — Christmas trees are easy tinder for fire, a safety expert warns. He suggests buying a tree early and soaking it in water before taking it into a warm dry house.

W. E. Stuckey, specialist at Ohio State University, says to prepare a tree for indoor use saw off the butt end at an angle about one inch above the original cut. Then soak it in water or let it stand in snow.

★ ★ ★

If you cut vertical grooves into the bark the tree can draw up more water in soaking. The tree will also stay more attractive and green.

Here are some further safety measures:

—Support the tree well so that it cannot be knocked over.

—Place the tree away from doorways so it does not block exits.

★ ★ ★

Relaxed Perry Como Hopes to Relax More

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Perry Como, the Great Relaxer, wants to start relaxing in earnest—he wants to start slowing up on TV so he can watch more TV . . . especially Westerns.

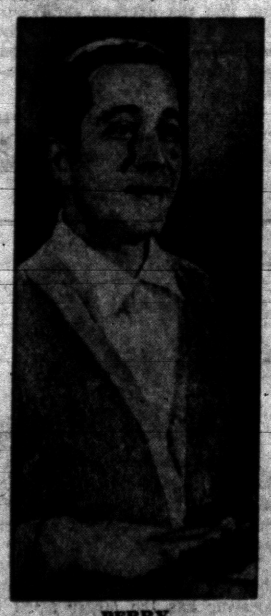
Since Perry's the last great hope of the singers against the hard-riding cowboys of TV who are rustlin' all the ratings, this is rather comical. Perry grinned about it at a recent rehearsal and said, "You see the same shot in every picture, but it's easy watching. I love 'em."

WILSON

Of course it isn't only because of westerns that he'd like to do less work starting real soon.

"I'd just like a little more time off for a lot of things." He was sitting in the darkened theater in an orchestra seat, lolling against the back.

"It's six days a week and confining as hell." Perry put out one cigaret and lit another. He and his wife "and the two little ones" recently went to Chicago to be with son Ronnie, 18, a freshman at Notre Dame who'd come in from South Bend to join them.



PERRY

Ronnie brought along a classmate.

"I had more laughs with those characters! They ate up a storm. I saw more of Chicago with them than I did in eight years working there."

The Comos would now like to adopt another child to join the "two little ones."

"I guess we'll have to wait a while," Perry said. "We feel kind of selfish when there are so many people who have been waiting so long to get just one."

"Thank you, Perry, for giving me this time," I said, nervously. He had set there almost half an hour. "I know you're terribly busy."

"Oh, now I'm not that busy!" Perry said. He was still sitting there—relaxing— as I moved away.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Mario Lanza still dieting, says jokingly, "I'd like to be called 'the Frank Sinatra of the operatic world'". Peter Ustinov of "Romanoff and Juliet" says, "When I started in the theater I refused to change my name. Now nobody believes it's my real one" . . .

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Sometimes cocktail parties are given for folks who aren't important enough to invite over for dinner . . . That's earl, brother.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: The old, old woman tells Richard she can find her witch friends only on a far away mountain so Richard moves the woman's house to the mountain and that night a witch comes to the door.

Caper 10
THE UNDERGROUND WHEELBARROW

When the scratching came at the door Richard hid in the corner. But the old, old woman said, "I told you they'd come!" and she hobbled across the room and threw open the door.

In came a young woman dressed in black. She ran her fingers through her hair and streaks of lightning flashed round her head. Her hands were very white with nails six inches long.

★ ★ ★

"Greetings!" she cried to the old, old woman.

"I'm so glad to see you," said the old, old woman. "I've been so lonesome for you and your family."

"How did you ever get your house here" asked the witch.

The old, old woman motioned to the corner where Richard stood staring fearfully at the witch. "This boy brought my house here on his back. In return I've promised you'd tell him the way to Santa Land."

★ ★ ★

"Santa Land! I've never been there. It's much too cold for me."

"But do you know the way?"

"Sampam, the goblin, runs an underground wheelbarrow," said the witch. "It goes from Fairy Land to Santa Land to Nursery Story Land three times a day."

Richard crept out of his corner. "Can I get on it?" he asked timidly.

I don't see how," said the witch. "It runs 200 feet underground. You could never get so far down even though I happen to know it runs directly under this house."

"I could dig down!" declared Richard.

"Ha!" scoffed the witch. "It would take ten giants to dig that far. How could a shivering thing like you do it?"

★ ★ ★

"Let him try," said the old, old woman. She took Richard into the kitchen and gave him a spade. He went out and gently picked up the house and moved it 20 yards away. Then he began to dig.

Before long he had dug a hole so deep he couldn't see the top. Suddenly he heard a rumbling and the earth around him shook. "It's caving in!" he screamed.

"No!" shouted the witch from the top of the hole. "It's Sampam's wheelbarrow. You're almost there."

Richard gave one more heave with the shovel and the wall of the hole opened up. He found himself in a large tunnel lighted with lanterns. As he stood there the rumbling noise grew louder and louder until, finally, with a mighty roar, a giant wheelbarrow came into view.

In the wheelbarrow sat a girl and a boy and pushing the barrow was a fat little goblin. This was Sampam.

"Hop in," he said to Richard.

"T-to Santa Land," quavered Richard.

★ ★ ★

"That's our next stop," said Sampam. "Move over kids. This is Miss Muffet and Mr. Simon. They're going to a party in the Land of Oz."

Richard climbed in and Sampam picked up the handles of the wheelbarrow and charged down the tunnel.

"Why are you going to Santa Land?" asked Miss Muffet.

"I am neither brave nor smart," said Richard shyly. "And I thought Santa would help me."

★ ★ ★

"Shucks," said Mr. Simon, "I'm not smart either. I once went fishing in a rain barrel."

"And I'm not brave," said Miss Muffet. "Even spiders frighten me."

Richard looked at them in astonishment. It was the first time he'd known that there were other children in the world neither brave nor wise. He wished he could stay as he was and be with these wonderful friends forever.

★ ★ ★

"But, he thought, after all, I am he was and be with these wonderfather's kingdom."

(Tomorrow: Patrick Tweedleknees)

Swiss Peace Shattered by Outbreak of Sabotage

GENEVA (AP)—An outbreak of sabotage has abruptly shattered the calm of Switzerland's internal affairs.

★ ★ ★

Saboteurs have blown up numerous electric power lines, telephone cables and water pipes in the Ajoie region of northern Switzerland in recent weeks.

Police reinforcements have been sent to the area and two men have been arrested on suspicion. But there is no sign yet of a cooling of tempers.

At issue, apparently, is a government plan to turn part of the Ajoie area into a training ground for the Swiss army's newly formed tank regiments.

A market gardener at Porrentruy, known to favor the army scheme, found his greenhouses and water supply dynamited. A "memorial oak," planted years ago to honor the Swiss army, was destroyed with a home made bomb. Other trees have been felled across highways.

Leading opponents of the army scheme have expressed disapproval of these acts. But they say the sabotage is a spontaneous expression of local opposition to the plan.

There is little opposition in the two villages whose territory the actual training ground would occupy. Both voted in favor of selling land to the army. The opposition comes mainly from the surrounding district, where no land is needed for the project but where the tanks would presumably be much in evidence.

★ ★ ★

At a meeting the mayors of 27 Ajoie towns and villages joined in a protest against the army scheme but called on the population to "maintain calm and dignity." Seven Ajoie mayors refused to sign the protest.

80 White Clergymen Lauded by Negroes

ATLANTA (AP) — Five prominent Atlanta Negro clergymen have thanked the 80 white ministers who issued a Nov. 3 manifesto on race relations in a statement saying that "All probems can be solved if men are willing to solve them on the basis of Christianity, justice, equity and equality."

★ ★ ★

The clergymen also said in their statement yesterday that the forthright position of the ministers "if used as a basis . . . will result in great good for all of us here in our dear Southland, and here in our American life and culture."

★ ★ ★

The manifesto, signed by the white ministers only as individuals, called for prayer, an end to racial prejudice, obedience to law, preservation of public schools, protection of free speech and maintenance of communications between white and Negro leaders.

King Mohammed V Ends Visit to U. S.

NEW YORK (AP)—King Mohammed V of Morocco ended his 19-day visit to the United States last night, flying home aboard the old Columbine I.

The plane was used by President Eisenhower when he was chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The King expressed gratitude before leaving for "the kindness shown to me by President Eisenhower and the people of the United States."

4 Hands on Gun Declared Equal to None at All

NEW YORK (AP)—A Special Sessions court says four hands on a pistol are as good as none.

★ ★ ★

Patrolman Alexander Sheen told the court yesterday he saw Pascual Figueroa, 40, and Angelo Gonzalez, 43, struggling last April at 3rd Ave. and 111th St.

When he separated the men, a .38 caliber pistol fell to the sidewalk. Both men claimed it belonged to the other who had pointed it.

Unable to determine which man owned the pistol, Justice Benjamin Gassman commented: "As the ancient adage holds, we should free 99 wrongdoers rather than punish one innocent man."

★ ★ ★

As the defendants were leaving the courtroom, they were asked which wanted to claim the pistol. Both declined.

Malnutrition Not Cause

DETROIT (AP) — An 11-month-old girl died of pneumonia and not malnutrition, an autopsy revealed Friday. Mrs. Gwendolyn Hollis, 19, mother of the child, was jailed Thursday for investigation of murder. Police said she had spent $24 for Christmas toys out of a welfare check but had neglected to provide proper food for her four children.

Planes Shoot at U. S. Ships

Fishing Vessels Near Chile Are Fired On for Not Leaving Area

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile (AP) — Maritime authorities said last night two Chilean military planes fired across the bows of U.S. fishing vessels that refused to leave territoial waters claimed by Chile.

The authorities said the planes tried unsuccessfully to make radio contact with a group of 23 fishing boats.

★ ★ ★

The fishermen refused to leave even after the gunfire, the authorities said.

Among the vessels were the Renown, Willy, Excalibur, Equator, Coimbra and West Point Equator.

Chile, Peru and Ecuador signed a pact in 1952 staking out claims to waters up to 200 miles off their coasts in order to establish exclusive fishing rights there. The United States does not recognize the claims.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
President and Publisher

Editorial Page

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1957

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It Seems to Me . . .

Press Policies Are Outlined

Of late, several newspapers in this section, including the Chicago Sun-Times and the Jackson Citizen Patriot have issued forthright statements on their current editorial policies. Like all other mandates and directives, these must be modified with changing times.

★ ★ ★

Just recently the PRESS faced the question of whether to print or omit the name of a young woman who had been cruelly raped. One Detroit paper left it out and another used it but merely said she was "the victim of a brutal assault." Obviously, the assault could have stopped short of rape.

★ ★ ★

These perplexing questions confront all papers today. For years, The Pontiac Press left out the names of juvenile offenders, especially if they were first offenders. Then we ran abruptly into a juvenile killer who stabbed a man to death for no reason at all. The former rule was broken on the spot and we haven't particularly observed it since.

As J. Edgar Hoover says, "Why not call juvenile criminals just that instead of saying 'juvenile delinquents'?"

★ ★ ★

Always allowing for a few exceptions, we are right now observing a code that can approximately be set down as follows:

We propose to omit the names of rape victims whenever circumstances permit.

We will try and omit the name of a child whose parents have become involved in scandal or ignominy.

We will not leave out the names of juveniles when they commit "adult crimes" that fall under J. Edgar Hoover's classification.

Parents of juvenile offenders will specifically be identified by name and address. Law enforcing agencies believe a part of the blame definitely rests there.

We will never voluntarily resurrect an unsavory past or a mistake of years gone by, unless it contributes to the circumstances at hand.

We will try and avoid suicide details unless the authorities make a statement or unless that fact is germaine to the death.

As the Jackson Citizen Patriot so aptly says: "Protecting the innocent is as much the responsibility of a newspaper as reporting the guilty."

Circumstances can always compel modifications but we feel these principles as enunciated here will meet with rather universal approval.

When Pontiac Northern becomes a reality, The Pontiac Press would like to sponsor an annual game here between our own two high schools, with the tickets marked up in price and then the bulk of the proceeds going to charity. School officials have explained that their athletic programs are running in the red and they feel a part of the money should help this deficit.

Tells Nothing of Life Beyond Death

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The 11th chapter of St. John's Gospel gives a full account of how Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead. Lazarus was the brother of Mary and Martha, who, in the little town of Bethany, were the Lord's best friends — two sisters and a brother keeping house together and offering a spot where Jesus might take refuge from the pressures always on Him and relax into the normal family environment He did not find anywhere else.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly it was beacuse of this intimate association that we have the shortest verse in the Bible: "Jesus wept," John, chapter 11, verse 35. When His good friend died, Jesus, in spite of all He knew about the hereafter, missed him — and He wept.

Anyone who has died and come back to life certainly has the answer to man's greatest question. Lazarus, one would think, could have told us all what lies beyond the grave.

One wonders why Lazarus would withhold such desperately desired information. His family and friends must have begged to know what death is like. Perhaps the experience is beyond description

The New Testament tells nothing of what happened to Lazarus after he was brought back to life. Poets (like Browning) and dramatists (like Eugene O'Neill) have let their imaginations run, and there have been many legendary conjectures, but nothing is really known.

One tradition is that he went with St. Peter to Syria. Another is that he was placed by some angry Jews in an oarless, rudderless boat, together with his two sisters, that the boat came ashore on the isle of Cyprus, and Lazarus became Bishop of Cyprus and lived there peacefully for 30 years.

In the 11th century a change in the story appeared. In this version the boat landed not on Cyprus but in southeastern France. Lazarus became Bishop of Marseilles, and was martyred there — at the spot where Saint - Lazare prison now stands.

THEME OF LIGHT

In all religions, the theme of light is emphasized at this time of year.

Among the pagans there was always the great and wild festival of the winter solstice, celebrating the promised return of the light of the sun. For Christians there is Christmas, honoring Him whom they call "the Light of the World."

And Wednesday, on the 25th day of the month of Kislev, the Jews begin their colorful eight-day Hanukkah, the Feast of Lights.

The theme of birth, too, is prominent in all these festivals. The pagan saw in the solstice a rebirth of nature; the Christian rejoices over the birth of his Savior in Bethlehem of Judea; and the Jew commemorates an event in his history which meant the rebirth of religious freedom not only for Jews but for the whole western world.

More than 2,000 years ago Palestine was for a time under the rule of the Syrian king, Antiochus Epiphanes. Long accustomed to political domination by one foreign power or another, the Jews might have managed to live with the situation if Antiochus had not begun to tamper with their religion. He seized their beloved Temple, filled it with pagan idols, and demanded the Jews conform to his hodgepodge faith — or die.

The result was immediate and decisive revolt. The rebels took to the hills and there, under the leadership of Judas Maccabeus, organized into an army which harassed the occupation troops for three turbulent years and finally recaptured Jerusalem and set about cleaning the defiled Temple.

Peppers, Red Hot Sauce Harmful for Husband

"Are hot peppers and red hot sauce harmful to stomach or general health? My husband is crazy about hot sauces . . . (Mrs. A. S."

DR. BRADY

Answer—No.

"Enclosed 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope is for your booklet Chronic Joint Disability. Hoping that I, too, can "gallop over the hills of the golf course as agilely as a mountain goat." (Mrs. H. L. R.)"

Answer—That's what the lady said. All I say is that following the advice in the booklet can do you no harm.

"My 9-year-old son had seven warts on his hands. Doctors froze, cut and finally burnt them off, but they recurred in three weeks. We were set to have another operation when we noticed what you said about castor oil. Used it and soon the warts were gone. They have never recurred. (Mrs. P. S. H.)"

Answer — Thank you. Warts come and go without rhyme or reason. Many readers have reported success from daily applications of castor oil.

"I want to thank you most sincerely for your stage fright treatment. It made my first public address easy. No one was more astonished than I . . . (R. W. E.)"

Answer — Anyone who dreads appearing before an audience or taking an examination may send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet Stage Fright and Examination Jitters. I know what you mean—I have suffered plenty from both of them, before I learned how to keep calm, cool and collected for a week before the ordeal.

"In answer to a query about fissure, you suggested that painless surgery was the remedy. Please explain what you mean by painless. (W. B. M.)"

Answer—I mean without pain. Anal fissure may be surgically treated under local or general anesthesia. It is often improperly treated as "piles." Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet You Need Not Have Piles.

'We're Told Tax Deadline Before We Get Statement'

We are riding in a cart before the horse. Our City treasurer has announced beginning Dec. 10 we can pay our taxes. But we still haven't received our tax statement and as usual, after a certain date we must pay four per cent penalty, and after another date, if still not paid, we are greeted with still another penalty.

★ ★ ★

Raising money at this time of year is no joke nowadays, especially for some of us who are retired on a very low income. It is only fair that we have a reasonable amount of time before we are given public notice we must pay on or before a certain date.

She Appreciates Work of Others

I'd like to let all those who make our Christmas meaningful know that we appreciate their efforts. By that I mean church groups that help the needy, civic groups that decorate and make our city gay for the holiday season, police and fire departments that must work extra hard at this time of year, and many others that I don't know about. It's people like that who really show the right Christmas spirit.

Raps Indecision About Education

It's almost ludicrous how erratic this country can be, and how easily we all rise to the bait. Not long ago the Russians beat us at some Olympic events, and everyone began demanding more physical training in schools. Sports and gymnastics were to be emphasized in an attempt to prevent our young people becoming a bunch of softies.

Now, a few weeks later, the Russians have beaten us again, but this time it's in the scientific realm. Now we're all screaming for de-emphasis on sports and other such "gingerbread" and concentration on intellectual pursuits.

Of course, both of these attitudes are in direct contrast to the theory our own educators have been expounding for some time now — that of the importance of turning out well-rounded individuals, rather than stressing specialization.

Isn't it about time we made up our minds?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Reading Ability Is Vital to Child

David has a better knowledge of the Bible than do most Sunday School teachers, yet he is only 10. So imitate his daddy's policy. And by all means make sure your children are good readers. For reading is the "motor" of the entire educational machine. Poor readers in the early grades seldom can carry college work! So send for the "Home Tutoring" booklet at once!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

When I was in Columbus on my last speaking trip, the Edmonsons came down to get me at the hotel and then drove me out to the airport.

"Dr. Crane, I want to ask you some Bible questions," David abruptly started quizzing me in the auto.

DR. CRANE

"How many children did Jacob have?" he began, and I said "Twelve sons and one daughter."

David seemed a bit surprised, so he went on, "What was Jacob's new name?" and I replied "Isreal."

After he had shot a dozen more questions at me, he asked me to do the quizzing so for the next 20 minutes I asked him various Bible questions.

★ ★ ★

And he had a phenomenal knowledge. In fact, he knew Genesis almost perfectly and had memorized long passages from the New Testament, too.

"David, my senior students at Northwestern University couldn't have answered even 10 per cent of those questions which you did," I complimented him.

PAY GAMES

"Dr. Crane, do you know how he became so proficient?" David's father inquired.

"Well, some years ago you mentioned that you had offered your children $1 for each book in the Bible they would read.

"And we decided to try that same plan with David. Now he reads the Bible out of pleasure alone, without the prodding of that $1 reward."

★ ★ ★

So I am passing along this example to all you parents and Sunday school teachers.

For many children are growing up with a very scant knowledge of books.

They not only have little familiarity with the Bible, but may not have read any other book (except possibly comic books) by the time they enter high school.

Reading, however, is the real motor in the entire educational machinery, so prod your children tactfully into reading many books.

Don't ignore the better comic books, such as Classics Illustrated, but also stimulate your youngsters to read adventure tales like Stevenson's "Treasure Island," "Robinson Crusoe," etc.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, we psychologists can roughly pick out the children who will go on to college and make good marks, even in the early grades of grammar school.

And we don't even need to administer an I.Q. test to do so. All we have to do is survey the reading habits of the youngsters!

Parents, do your children read avidly? Are they gluttons for books? If not beware!

If you child is now a slow reader or shuns books, check his eye sight first. Then you better tutor him diplomatically in your own home.

You can make reading so much fun that the average child will relish the tutoring and actually beg you to spend 15 minutes per night on such educational materials.

Make yourself "flash cards" on which you print words from his school reader. Shuffle them; then hold up one card at a time and see if he can name it. Give him the card if he identifies it before you slowly count to ten.

But if he misses, you may place that card in your own pile. And whoever has the larger stack of cards, wins that round.

For other variations, send for my booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 30c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Ability Brings Responsibility to Give Creative Service

Christmas Choir Festival in Orchard Lake Church

The annual Christmas Choir Festival of the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian will be at 7 p.m. Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The five choirs of 150 voices will present Christmas music, following the sequence of the Bible story of Christ's coming. The congregation will join in singing the carols.

Hazel Drake will play the organ prelude, "Christmas Pastorale" while Mrs. Alice Smith will be at the console organ during the service.

The Chancel Choir directed by Mrs. Smith, will sing "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones" and "As It Fell Upon the Night" by Davis.

The Westminster Choir comprised of senior high young people, will present "O Holy Night" by Heyser. Clarence Brown will direct "Jesu Bambino" when the Westminister and Chancel Choirs perform.

The Choralers, a girls' ensemble directed by Mrs. W. J. Webster, will be heard in "Going to Bethlehem." The three senior choirs will join in "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" by Luther.

Mrs. Shirley Carpenter will sing "The Angel's Song" by Stickels and Fred Fuller, baritone, will present "Sweet Little Jesus Boy."

CHILDREN TO SING

Singing the familiar "Away in a Manger" will be the Cherub Choir comprised of four, five and six-year-old children. Mrs. W. J. David is the director.

The Crusader Choir for children in grades two, three, and four will sing "Carol of the Little King" by Davis. Mrs. Alice Smith also leads this group.

"Poor Mary" will be given by a trio, composed of Mrs. Shirley Carpenter, Mrs. Marcia Rand and Mrs. Jean Urquhart. All choirs will join in singing "Silent Night."

The Rev. Edward D. Auchard will preach on "Prayers for All Men" Sunday morning with Fred Fuller, soloist, at the 9 a.m. service. The Chancel Choir will sing "Christmas Eve" at 11 a.m.

The Sesssion of the Orchard Lake Church urges visitors to attend the 9 a.m. service, as worshipers have been turned away from the later service due to crowded parking facilities.

Car pools are suggested for the Sunday evening Choir Festival. Youth fellowships will not be meeting tomorrow night.

The board of trustees will meet Monday evening and the Session will hold its final meeting of the year Tuesday night.

The Rev. Mr. Auchard will present the final Bible study of "Jesus Teaching on Citizenship" at 11:15 a.m. Wednesday at the Women's Association meeting. Following the luncheon the new officers will be installed.

Youth Vesper Service Sunday

New Members to Be Received at Morning Worship Hour

"How Great My Task" will be the theme of the annual Baptist Youth Fellowship Vesper Service at 7 p.m. Sunday in Bethany Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by the Senior Youth Fellowship, the service will be directed by Mrs. Kellog Wong. Some of the script was written by Beth and Ted Livingston.

Participating in the service besides the worship leader, Judy Cantarelle, will be Julia Dovre, Susan Hamilton, James Fair, Ralph Bergemann, Duke Relyea, Tony Leoni and Diane Garrett.

A social hour in the lower auditorium will follow the worship service.

Dr. Joseph I. Chapman, pastor, will speak at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services on "To Whom Can We Go?" At the early hour, Elizabeth Warrilow will sing a solo.

New members will be received into the fellowship of Bethany at the 11 o'clock service. Music will include "Lo, How a Rose" by the Ladies Chorus and the Spanish carol, "In a Manger Low," by the Senior Choir.

An orientation class for those planning to unite with Bethany Baptist by letter or transfer will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday in the pastor's study.

★ ★ ★

A new class for those seeking to unite with the church by Baptism will be held early in January.

Baptismal Seminar Set for Sunday at Christ Church Cranbrook

The Festival of Gifts will be celebrated at both services Sunday morning in Christ Church Cranbrook.

★ ★ ★

Members and friends are asked to bring their gifts of toys, clothing, books and possibly sports equipment for teenagers unwrapped. An offertory plate will be near the entrance of St. Paul's Chapel for those wishing to make a monetary gift.

The pre-three nursery will be the only Church School department which will meet tomorrow. Other children will attend church with their parents.

Parents having children they wish baptised on Christmas Eve are asked to call the church office and plan to attend the baptismal seminar scheduled from 4 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Ruel Howe, director of the Institute for Advanced Pastoral Studies, will be in charge of the seminar. Those attending are asked to bring their own sandwiches. The clergy urged both parents and godparents to be present.

The annual breakfast for college students will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 Saturday morning in the dining room of the parish house.

Sobriety Clubs Sought

GREEN LAKE, Wis. (AP) — A Jesuit priest, speaking at a Methodist School of Alcohol Studies here, suggested the formation of community organizations to promote sobriety — including tee-totallers and moderate drinkers. Thus, said the Rev. John C. Ford, of Weston, Mass., the two main schools of thought on temperance could work together for the cause.

Religious Upsurge Eyed

NEW YORK (AP) — Rabbi Dr. Bernard Lander, dirsector of the graduate school of Yeshiva University, says the current "religious upswing is essentially superficial and is founded on such weak props as social conformity and secular popularity." Two other rabbis, in a three-way discussion of the subject, maintained the religious upsurge is genuine.

Confident Living

Nation Needs Leadership Having Dedicated Talents

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

DR. PEALE

Back during the late spring and early summer, when Billy Graham's New York Crusade was filling Madison Square Garden night after night, my family and I attended as often as we could.

On one such occasion I was searching the faces of the huge fifteen-hundred-voice choir, which filled one end of the Garden, for my daughter Margaret, who had been singing in it regularly. Suddenly my eyes fell upon a familiar face, but I couldn't immediately recall just who this was.

Then, I remembered. It was Ethel Waters, one of the great singers of our time on the musical stage, whose most recent triumph was her straight dramatic role in the stage and screen version of "Member of the Wedding."

And now here she was, humbly anonymous in the role of a church member and working Christian, her famous voice submerged in hundreds of others, all singing together in the Crusade to bring people to God. Moreover, judging from her facial expression, she was enjoying her participation hugely.

Her career has been a spectacular one, and just a few years ago, when she published her autobiography, she told the story of the troubled life she had led and how, as she grew older and wiser, her religion had come to be more and more meaningful. Today she feels that her faith has saved her physical and mental health, besides adding real significance to her talent.

HUMBLE SINCERITY

The humble way Ethel Waters gave her great gifts to help in the Billy Graham Crusade, without publicity, is evidence of her sincereity. Many over-publicized figures are willing to capitalize on how they have been saved from alcoholism, narcotic addiction, or marital tragedy by religious faith, but are unwilling to participate in any religious activities except those which bring them further publicity. The real test is whether one will humbly serve the common good.

In the crisis of our time people of outstanding ability have a special responsibility to render creative service. Ability is a gift. When it is given to anyone it is evidence that the Creator believes especially in the person so favored. To take the gift of special ability and use it selfishly or for unworthy ends actually is a demonstration of ingratitude to God. The solemn fact is that the misuse of ability has often resulted in its withdrawal. The gift may vanish.

The ability to sing, to speak, to act, to write, is a rare benefit which the Creator in His wisdom has seen fit to bestow on some people. When any person so blessed has the depth of character to dedicate his talents to the service of God and mankind, his talents are immeasurably magnified.

NEED NEW LIFT

Not only on the great stage of human affairs are people of ability to be found, but in every community in the land there are natural born leaders, people of charm, individuals with power to lift life to new levels. In every schoolroom in America are boys and girls with the spark of genius in their minds and hearts. They have it in them to be somebody in a big way. And the biggest way of being somebody is not to attain money or fame, but to be a lifter of human beings.

The great struggle for higher level living which characterizes our day and age is going on today in every town where people live. The nation, the world, and God Himself call for service by dedicated people to whom talent has been given. The old poem which prayed, "God give us men" was never more important than at the present time.

If all the capable leadership people of America will at this time humbly ask God how they may best serve unselfishly, the great and critical problems of our time can be solved.

If we will be big enough to merge ourselves into God's movement for a better world, it is not too late to save mankind from the disasters that threaten. This will require all of us the willingness actually to put service above self. Are you capable of this? Am I?

"Peace and Goodwill" will be the sermon subject of Dr. William H. Marbach when he preaches at the 11 a.m. service Sunday in First Presbyterian Church.

★ ★ ★

Diane Beach will sing "Ave Maria" by Luzzi. "Arise Shine, Thy Light Has Come" will be the anthem by the choir with Leo Yocum and Royce Everett, soloists.

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will speak on "No Bargains in Bethlehem" at the 9:30 morning service.

At the same hour, the membership instruction class will be taught by Ernest Huthwaite. The subject will be "The Presbyterian Church, Its Origin, Operation and Program."

Junior High Pioneers and Senior High Tuxis young people will have a joint meeting at 5:30 Sunday evening to see the film, "That They May Hear." Toni Michal, Becky Bryce and Richard Mann will have charge of refreshments. Alvah Clark will present devotions.

Mrs. J. Lester Brown will open her home to the Prayer Group at 9 Tuesday morning and at noon the January — March group will meet at the church for luncheon.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

The annual Christmas Congregation Dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday under the direction of Mrs. Roy Fosbender, Mrs. Asa Drury and Mrs. Robert Mehlberg.

Carol singing will be followed by the viewing of a Christmas color film, "To Each a Gift."

Civic sewing for the Cancer Society will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the church. The same evening the Marbach Group will be guests of Mrs. Robert Anderson.

The annual Christmas Party for the children of the Junior Department will be held from 1:45 to 4 p.m. Saturday. Boys and girls are asked to bring a wrapped cash gift for the Van Lierop family, the church missionary family in Korea.

Curiosity Leads to Study of Bible, Evangelization

A recent letter from Nicaragua, Central America contained this interesting story: "A blind man living in the town of La Libertad secured a Bible and was curious to know its contents.

He went repeatedly to a neighbor, Jose Salceda, with his Bible to hear it read. The blind man's interest never did go beyond mere curiosity, but Jose Salceda was gripped by what he read.

Anxious to understand better, Salceda went to another neighbor, Antonio Ordonez, who is an evangelical, requesting guidance. On the basis of reading the Scriptures with the explanations given by Ordonez, Salceda accepted Christ as his Saviour.

Catholic Leader Eyes Religious Programs

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A Catholic leader says the church must go beyond "exclusively Catholic programming" in getting religious content on the air in television and radio.

The Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the bureau of information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, told the Catholic Broadcasters' Assn. it should keep in touch with key personnel in the general radio — TV field to offer practical suggestions for religious content.

Churches Honor Hymn Writer

250th Anniversary of Charles Wesley's Birth Observed Wednesday

"Near Ripley, my horse threw me and fell on me," an itinerant Anglican minister named Charles Wesley wrote in his journal.

"My companion thought I had broken my neck, but only my leg was bruised, my hand sprained and my head stunned which prevented me from making hymns until the next day."

As it turned out, the day lost to hymn-making wasn't very costly, since Charles Wesley eventually composed the lyrics to some 6,500 hymns. He was the most prolific hymn writer of all time.

Next Wednesday, many churches, particularly those of Methodist derivation, will be celebrating the 250th anniversary of the master hymn writer's birth in Epworth, England.

Although it may look that way at times, Charles Wesley did not actually invent hymn-singing. It's older than the Christian church itself.

St. Paul exhorted the Ephesians:

"(Speak) to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the lord."

But Charles Wesley, and the Protestant hymn-makers who followed in his footsteps, added something to the ancient hymns of praise—their contribution was intense personal experience.

Wesley was converted — that is, he underwent a deep feeling of forgivness for his sins—on Whitsunday, 1738. The next day he wrote his first hymn, "Oh, For a Thousand Tongues to Sing." He dictated his last on his deathbed.

In the 50 years between conversion and death, he averaged 150 hymns a year, many of them composed in the most unlikely places since his wandering ministry took him all over England.

His best known works are "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," written in 1740 and still a standard in most hymnbooks, and the favorite Christmas carol, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

Throughout his lifetime and afterward, Charles Wesley was overshadowed by his elder brother John. Actually, they were an evangelic team; John the thinker, Charles the eloquent man of song.

Church Drive Sets Goal

NEW YORK (AP) — American Protestants have been asked to give nearly a million dollars for the 1958 "Share Our Surplus" program, says Church World Service, an interdenominational relief agency. The money finances shipment of U.S. surpluses to needy areas overseas.

Turns Out Hymn Album

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Protestant Radio and Television Center here has turned out a record album featuring exclusively the hymns of the early-day Methodist leader, Charles Wesley, as part of the observance of the 250th anniversary of Wesley's birth.

And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

Bread Cast on Waters Returns After 90 Years

Missionary Samuel Schmitthenner of the United Lutheran Church Mission in India relates a story of how one Bible reached several generations.

"One day our Bible colporteur showed me a very old Telugu Bible which, he said, had been in his family for several generations. His grandfather had worked as a carpenter on the Godavari Irrigation Dam.

Sir Arthur Cotton, the engineer and builder, took a special liking to him and often talked to him and other interested workmen about Christ.

When the project was finished, the engineer presented Telugu Bibles to the carpenter and some of his interested friends.

"The carpenter kept his Bible and read it often. When he died, it was passed on to his son. Another generation grew up hearing and reading the Word of God. The grandson of the old carpenter in time inherited the Bible.

As he read, faith was born and grew in his heart. After some months of instruction by a catechist he and his family were baptized. After ninety years the bread cast on the waters returned.

"Abbai Garu, the new convert, is showing his love and gratefulness for God's Word by touring throughout the district selling Scriptures. Last year in our low-literate area he sold 45 Bibles, 60 New Testaments and over 400 Gospel Portions."

Sisters' New Home to Have Open House

An Open House will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. Sunday at the newly completed Sisters Home next to Our Lady of the Lakes Church, Waterford Township.

The convent with seven bedrooms is the first of three units to be completed. Two more units will be added as wings to the main structure to accommodate the sisters teaching in the new parochial school directly behind the church.

In conjunction with the Open House, a venison-beef stew dinner will be served in the parish hall from 3 to 7 Sunday afternoon.

Pope Names Bishops for 2 U.S. Dioceses

WASHINGTON (INS) — Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the U.S., announced this week that Pope Pius XII has named new bishops for the dioceses of Altoona-Johnstown, Pa., and Columbus, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

He also said that an auxiliary to bishop Eugene J. McGuinness of Oklahoma City and Tulsa was appointed.

Msgr. Howard J. Carroll, 55, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference since 1944, has been appointed bishop of Altoona-Johnstown.

Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann, 50, auxiliary to Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati, has been named bishop of Columbus.

Msgr. Victor J. Reed, 51, rector of Holy Family Cathedral, Tulsa, Okla., has been named titular bishop of Limisa and auxiliary to Bishop McGuinness.

Culture on West Coast?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Jacob R. Marcus, a leading Jewish historian, predicts a "tidal wave of world change" will strike the United States on its West Coast if Marxist states survive. He says the Pacific Ocean — not the Atlantic — is the likely prime cultural basin of tomorrow.

Teachers, Pupils Paint, Decorate for Christmas

The public has been invited to view the Christmas scenes and decorations of the Lakeland United Presbyterian Church in Waterford Township, according to Rev. Roy Lambert, pastor.

Window decorations have been prepared by teachers and pupils of the Sunday School. Art work has been painted by members of the high school Sunday School class, under the direction of Marvin Hartwig.

Other features of the church during the Christmas season will be a special musical program to be presented at 7:45 p.m. Sunday. Fifty people from the Junior, Youth and Adult Choirs will participate.

On Thursday there will be a Family Night supper beginning at 6:30 p.m., followed by a Christmas program presented by the Builders Fellowship group.

An annual candlelight carol sing will be held at 7:45 p.m. Sunday, December 22. During the service, the Christmas Story with illustrated color, will be presented. The Junior Choir will sing, "Cradled in Manger."

Churches Feel Impact of Americans-on-Move

More than 5,000,000 Americans moved from one state to another between 1955 and 1956, and the churches are feeling its effects.

This and other startling facts are included in a report on "The Mobility of Population" which the Rev. Lauris B. Whitman presented before the Faith and Order Conference in Oberlin, Ohio, which concluded this week.

"From the earliest days," said the Rev. Mr. Whitman, "mobility has played an important role in American life but it has recently assumed new patterns."

As executive director of the Department of Research and Survey of National Council of Churches, he discussed "the relationship between mobility and Christian unity" and its bearing on "The Nature of the Unity We Seek," the conference theme.

"There is scarcely a community in America which has not experienced the problems created by population migration," he said, "and there are few churches which have not felt the impact."

Declaring that some states are on the receiving end of the process, the Rev. Mr. Whitman pointed to California and Florida which netted population gains of more than two-thirds between 1940-50.

Big losers during that period were southern states—North Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

Apart from geographical migration, said the speaker, our social mobility — made possible by increased income, improved educational levels, new job opportunities and ease of transportation — is a significant pattern which may provide the churches with a new opportunity to build Christian unity.

The Faith and Order Conference was called by the World Council, the National Council and the Canadian Council of Churches.

100 Students Represent Ten Major Religions, From 40 Countries

EAST LANSING — Moslems, Hindus, Christians, Hebrews and others will soon break bread together at Michigan State University.

The occasion will be the fifth annual Christmas Adventure in World Understanding. More than 100 foreign students, representing 10 major religions of the world, are expected for the Kellogg Center event Dec. 19-29.

The Christmas project seeks to provide visitors from other lands with a sincere evaluation of America's deep-seated heritage. There is also an opportunity for the students to learn more about other cultures and religions.

"If world understanding is to be achieved, people from all cultures and religions must have a common level of communication and understanding," points out Mrs. Louise H. Carpenter, university director of the Christmas program.

Mrs. Carpenter believes that "basically, all religions strive to better mankind and bring us closer to our God."

One of the highlights of the 10-day program is a series of Christmas Eve visits to Lansing area homes — a project of local religious and community-service organizations.

The guests join their city-hosts for a delicious Yuletide repast and then accompany them to Christmas Eve services at Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Orthodox churches.

The students, now attending colleges and universities across the United States, hail from more than 40 countries of the world. Already registered are students from India, Iceland, Israel, Egypt, Austria, Hungary, Spain, Japan, Burma, Scotland, Peru and others.

Anniversary Rite in Jamestown Features Church

Much attention has been given lately to the Jamestown Festival in honor of the 350th Anniversary of the founding of Jamestown. A popular landmark of early Jamestown is Old Tower Church.

Festival visitors to Old Tower Church are presented with a Gospel Portion for a souvenir. The jacket cover of the Portion tells of the Bible's role in early Jamestown as follows:

"One of the principal purposes of the Virginia Company, according to its charter, was to carry the Christian faith as set forth in the Bible to the Indians. The first settlers in Virginia took this duty seriously.

"No one knows how many Indians were converted to the Christian faith, but there were some.

At the first meeting of the General Assembly in 1619 a directive resolution was adopted requesting English families to take into their homes promising Indian youths to prepare them for the proposed Indian College, then under construction and later known as William and Mary College.

Pope's Message to Be Broadcast on December 22

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII will give his 19th annual Christmas message to the world on Sunday, Dec. 22, the Vatican press office announced.

★ ★ ★

The Vatican's recently inaugurated powerful new radio station will broadcast the message in more than a score of languages to all parts of the world.

As in all of the long series since he became the head of the Roman Catholic Church in 1939, the Pope's message is certain to repeat a plea for the cause of peace.

In past years, the Pope usually gave his message on Dec. 24. Last year, to help in the worldwide publication of the message, he gave it on Dec. 23. This year, he has advanced it still another day to permit the widest possible publication.

'Birth of Christ' Scenes Sunday

Children to Bring Food for Lutheran Society in Bay City

Children of the beginners through the second grade from the Sunday School of Grace Lutheran Church will present a Christmas service, "Come Ye All to Bethlehem" at 3 p.m. Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The program will consist of Christmas carols, recitations and a tableaux of "The Birth of Christ." Each child is asked to bring a can of food as a gift for the Lutheran Children's Friend Society in Bay City.

Mrs. Richard Shaul assisted by other teachers is directing the service. Mrs. James B. Forman and Mrs. Richard C. Stuckmeyer are musical directors with John Quitmeyer at the organ.

The upper grades of the Sunday School will present the annual Christmas pageant at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 22 with Bill Rotsel, narrator.

The first Christmas will be depicted in nine scenes. As the various scenes unfold, the Children's Choir, the Junior Choir and the combined Sunday School Choirs will sing Christmas carols.

The pageant director, Mrs. Claire Smith, is assisted by parents and the Sunday School staff. Walter Lange is in charge of the lighting.

CHOIRS TO SING

At the 9 a.m. service tomorrow and the 11 o'clock worship hour on Dec. 22, the Women's and Children's Choirs will repeat the "Christmas Cantata."

Mrs. O. L. Smith will be soloist with Barbara Atwell playing the flute and David Trapp, the cornet.

Dr. Richard C. Stuckmeyer, pastor, will officiate at a special candlelighting ceremony at 8 Christmas Eve. Dennis Dildy and Raymond Winkelman will serve as acolytes.

Special music will be presented by the Children's and Senior Choirs with the congregation joining in singing the familiar carols.

Services on Christmas Day will be at 10 a.m. with the pastor conducting the worship.

'Story of Christmas' at Central Methodist

"The Story of Christmas," an enactment of the birth of Jesus, will be presented by the Church School of Central Methodist Church at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Sink will play "Nativity Miniatures" by Taylor for the organ prelude.

The call to worship will be conducted by Dr. Milton H. Bank with responses from the congregation. The Christmas story from St. Luke will be portrayed in a pageant while the choir sings the following carols:

"It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"—Susanne Field, Karen McClellan, Barbara Lake and Barbara McClure, rich patrons.

"We Three Kings of Orient"—Tom Goddard, James Bank and Warren Gooch, kings.

The congregation will join in singing "Joy to the World." A family fellowship will follow in the church hall and the Aldersgate Fellowship will meet at the home of Nina Miller, 844 W. Huron St., after the pageant.

Give, and it shall be given to you; good measure and pressed down and shaken together and running over shall they give into your bosom.

WISE MEN FROM THE EAST — And when they were come into the house they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worshipped Him. Portraying Biblical characters in the Christmas tableau, "Come Ye All to Bethlehem," will be (left to right) Joan Drake of 2342 Cheltingham Rd., Mary; Bobby Thomas of 4152 Woodstock Rd., Joseph; Jeffrey Bisany of 524 Valencia St., Randy Lingenfolter of 218 Ferndale St. and John Hummel of 29 Osage Circle, the three Wise Men. The program will be presented at 3 p. m. Sunday in Grace Lutheran Church.

AND IT CAME TO PASS — "In those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed. And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city." Glenn Stewart of 655 Second St. is reading the story of the first Christmas found in St. Luke to his four daughters, (left to right) Sandra, Carla, Glunda and Judy. The girls and their parents attend Sunday School and church at Beulah Holiness Church, at 390 Osmun St. A pageant will be presented in the church on Sunday evening Dec. 22.

Christians Are Reason Christmas Lacks Christ

"Christians are the reason why Christ hasn't been put back into Christmas. Christians are the reason the spirit of Christmas isn't observed all year."

★ ★ ★

In calling attention to the millions of hopeful words written each year on these themes, the current issue of CHRISTIANITY TODAY magazine asserted:

"The blame cannot be placed on non - Christians. They have never known the love of God through Jesus Christ."

Said the editorial, in part:

"Cocktail parties, even in some highest government circles and attended by some devoted church offices, will begin brightly and end blearily. The boss will beam as he drapes what he hopes others will regard as a paternal arm around the secretary he has been secretly admiring.

"Neighborhood parties will mushroom. Good old John will fail to make a turn on the way home and his family will spend Christmas day in a funeral parlor.

Professional bums will have a field day, as scoffers who haven't given a nickel all year to the church get their Godly feeling by dropping a dollar into the cup.

"Christians look at the scene and remark, 'How awful!' They visit the church and view the manger scene. They sing a few carols. They utter pious phrases. But few take the trouble to examine their own lives, in the light of what Christ would have them to be.

CHIEF PROBLEM

"Scores of Church leaders around the world have stated that the number one problem of Christianity is people who profess to be Christians and fail to observe Christian principals in their lives.

"The life of Christ provided the perfect example. He came from a heavenly home to the poverty of earth. The stables of the Middle East aren't the pretty things they appear to be on the Christmas cards. They are dirty and smell of bad odors, with flies buzzing around the filth.

"Christ entered into history because he loved the world. He did good things for people because he loved the world. He died because he loveed the world. Love was the center of his teachings. He said all the trappings of Christianity amounted to nothing, without love.

"But the great majority of Christians today display little love. They give at Christmas, but little of the giving is sacrificial and with genuine compassion.

WHEN KOREANS PRAY

"It wasn't the Christmas season when refugee Koreans were tramping through the snow at Seoul, with Communists following closely behind. At 5 a.m., Christians of Seoul were having a prayer meeting in the shell of a building without sides or a roof. Snow blew in upon them as they huddled together on the dirt floor. Mothers put their babies inside their thin wraps for warmth. Few had coats.

"The pastor, at the conclusion of the message, said he was going to take an offering. To a listening American, this sounded ridiculous. These people didn't have any money. Most of them had come to the prayer meeting without breakfast. They didn't know where or when the next meal would be provided.

"The pastor then explained he wasn't taking an offering of money. He asked for an offering of clothing — to be shared with the refugees who had practically nothing.

Mothers with their babies pressed against their skin took off pieces of outer clothing and placed them on the table. Men wearing shoes and socks gave the socks. Scarves were unwrapped from cold necks and given.

"These people had spent much time in prayer. But when they finished praying they got up and did something about it, because the love of Christ was in their hearts."

Jaycees Ask Clergy Help With Ku Klux Klan

The Religious Activities Committee, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Winston-Salem, N. C., has sent letters to ministers, priests and rabbis urging them to preach sermons on the theme of government by law.

Increase of activity by the Ku Klux Klan prompted the request. "If the influence of the Klan ever is to be destroyed," the committee said, "it will have to be done with the help of God and His laws."

Winter Holiday to Start Tuesday

Lighting of Candles in Homes, Synagogues Part of Celebration

★ ★ ★

According to Rabbi Nathan Hershfield of Temple Beth Jacob, it commemorates the first successful struggle for religious freedom in human history as found in the Book of Maccabees in the Apocrypah.

During the season, the Jew rededicates himself to his religious faith and by precept and example indoctrinates his children with the principles of religious freedom.

Every evening songs are sung in the home, candles are lighted, increasing in number till the eighth night when the Menorah or candelabrum is ablaze with light.

This festival of light and rededication calls on all men, regardless of race, color or creed to unite in creating a world of freedom, understanding and peace.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB

The Chanukah Celebration at Temple Beth Jacob will begin with a pre - Chanukah Brunch Sunday morning served by the Sisterhood. The students will present a special program of Chanukah songs and skits under the direction of Harold Abrams, Religious School superintendent.

On Friday a special Chanukah service will be held at the Temple with students of the Religious School participating.

CONGREGATION B'NAI ISRAEL

The Sabbath Chanukah service will be held at 9:15 p.m. Friday in Congregation B'nai Israel with special holiday prayers.

On December 22 at 11 a.m., the annual Chanukah Brunch will be served by the Sisterhood with Mrs. Abe Avadenka, chairman.

Skits, songs, plays and the lighting of candles by children of the Sunday School will be a part of the morning program.

The children will bring gifts for the exchange of gifts in the form of a grab bag.

He that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in that which is greater; and he that is unjust in that which is little, is unjust also in that which is greater.

Board Honors Staff of the Children's Aid Society

Pontiac Press Photos

The Michigan Children's Aid Society held its annual Christmas party for staff members Friday at Hotel Waldron. Posing beside the Christmas tree are (left to right) Dr. Betsy Coffin, Oriel Endelman, executive secretary, Jeanne Walter and Pat Bailey, all social workers with the society.

Mrs. R. W. Steere (left), president of the board of the Michigan Children's Aid Society, was helped to her place by new board member W. J. Spicer of Farmington. Assisting Mrs. George Pierson, one of the agency's new social workers, was Howard H. Fitzgerald II, also a new board member.

Group Has Christmas Gathering

Mrs. R. B. Tarr Named President of Colonial Unit

Colonial Group of First Congregational Church met Friday for luncheon at the home of Mrs. F. Milton Hathaway on East Iroquois Rd. A Christmas party with members exchanging gifts was enjoyed during the afternoon.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Mrs. C. N. Church, Mrs. Adolph Magnus, Mrs. George Sutton and Mrs. Paul Taylor.

New officers for the coming year include Mrs. Robert B. Tarr, president; Mrs. Henry Purdy, vice president; Mrs. Mac T. Whitfield, secretary; Mrs. Ross Walls, treasurer, and Mrs. Claude Shoup, corresponding secretary.

★ ★ ★

Entertains at Annual Yule Party

★ ★ ★

Mrs. R. W. Steere welcomed the staff and Dr. Richard R. Galpin served as toastmaster. Ernest Huthwaite introduced new board members W. J. Spicer of Farmington and Howard H. Fitzgerald II of Birmingham.

Dr. Galpin praised the staff and assistants for their devotion to the society's work and real interest in the children cared for through the agency. In appreciation the board presented each member with a gift.

★ ★ ★

Jean MacGregor Weds Richard Merritt Weir

Christ Church Cranbrook is the setting for the 3:30 p.m. wedding today of Jean Elizabeth MacGregor and Richard Merritt Weir. The Rev. Robert L. DeWitt performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Douglas MacGregor of Birmingham and the late Dr. MacGregor. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dunn Mayne of Birmingham and the late Lester Robert Weir.

★ ★ ★

The bride wore a gown of ivory Italian silk taffeta, fashioned with scoop decolletage, long fitted sleeves, a bell skirt and court train. A fitted cap of illusion and pearls held a double veil of ivory illusion. She carried a prayerbook with white orchids and stephanotis, and wore pearls which were a gift of the bridegroom.

ASSIST BRIDE

Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Douglas MacGregor, and Marynell Anderson, Martha MacGregor of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Charles Robert Weir were bridesmaids. All were gowned in iridescent green taffeta with pouf skirts and their hats were Christmas-green tulle circlets. They carried wreaths of holly.

★ ★ ★

RECEPTION HELD

For a reception at Oakland Hills Country Club, Mrs. MacGregor wore a gown of champagne colored chiffon and peau de soie with matching hat, and green cymbidium orchids on her purse. The bridegroom's mother chose a silver-gray gown with jeweled hat and pink cymbidium orchids.

★ ★ ★

The couple will live in Birmingham.

Yule Party Held

An exchange of gifts was held and the group voted to assist with the vesper service party Dec. 22. The January meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. August Shier on East Huron street.

Luncheon Planned

Mrs. Mabel Wiser has been named program chairman for a cooperative luncheon meeting Wednesday for members of Francis Willard Chapter of WCTU, to be held in the home of Mrs. Neil Cotcher on North Shirley avenue. Mrs. Leroy Shafer is general chairman for the Christmas program. Members will bring used clothing and canned goods for a needy family.

June Group Installs New Leaders

★ ★ ★

Mrs. H. H. Pattison was the installing officer. Her message was entitled "Duties for Yesterday and Tomorrow." Also participating in the program were Mrs. Asa L. Drury, who presented the gavel to Mrs. Duncan McVean, new president, and Mrs. Robert Heitsch who presented a reading of the Christmas story.

★ ★ ★

Assisting the hostess with the luncheon were Mrs. M. A. Benson, Mrs. Homer Osmun, Mrs. R. C. Cummings and Mrs. M. L. Lamb.

Guests of the day were Mrs. T. C. Rigdon and Mrs. Frank McVicar. Mrs. Elizabeth Galbraith became a new member.

Pioneer Tannery

One of the earliest tanneries in the United States was the McNeely Division of Allied Kid Company. Founded in 1809 in Philadelphia, it is headed today by the fifth generation of the McNeely family.

Reply in Any Case

If you receive an invitation to a cocktail party and the letters R.s.v.p. are included, be sure to let your hostess know whether or not you can accept the invitation. Some people seem to think that they need to let the hostess know only if they cannot accept.

Prevent Confusion

If you suds-swab the counter space around the sink before you sit down to a meal, you won't return to a state of utter confusion afterward!

Help Small Room

Strategic use of glass and mirrors can do wonders for a small room—and all it takes to keep them shining is a sudsy cloth or sponge.

Don't Urge Guest

It isn't necessary to urge a guest to have a drink in order to be hospitable. A good host is never insistent that any guest take a drink.

Dear Abby:

Mother Must Be Told Facts of Life: On a Honeymoon---Three's a Crowd!

"DEAR ABBY: What would you do if your future husband told you that his mother asked to go along on the honeymoon trip and he didn't have the heart to refuse her? We plan to be married in December and motor to Florida, so his mother invited herself to go with us.

ABBY

"I am so mad I could scream. I don't especially care for her company as she is the type who has to be in on every conversation. Is there any way of getting her to stay home without causing a family fight? READY TO SCREAM."

DEAR READY: If your future husband hasn't the "heart" . . . a relative, or close friend, should inform his mother that three is a crowd . . . especially on a honeymoon. If she isn't informed by December . . . appeal to your clergyman.

"DEAR ABBY: I let a friend of mine borrow my maternity clothes. Her baby is five months old and this friend is still wearing my maternity clothes.

"I was glad to let her use them for the time she was pregnant, but didn't mean for her to wear them afterwards. She is ruining them and I had intended to use them again myself sometime. How can I get them back before they are rags. ANNOYED"

DEAR ANNOYED: You could ask her for them, but my guess is that the poor girl can't get into anything else.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband has a sister who is too cheap to buy the daily paper so she comes over here every day and asks for ours "if we are through with it." Sometimes I like to read the paper in bed so of course I am not "through with it" but I hate to refuse her. Also sometimes the paper is not all together and I have to start hunting up certain sections because she will complain if there is a part missing.

"She is a nice person outside of this, I don't dare complain to my husband (her brother) because I think it is too petty to mention. Thank you, Abby, I feel better now. Any suggestions?

IRRITATED"

DEAR IRRITATED: I'll solve TWO problems in one for you. For Christmas (or her birthday) give your sister-in-law a subscription to this paper. It's something BOTH of you will enjoy.

"DEAR ABBY: I had reason to believe that my husband and a young woman where he works were more than just friends. I went to her husband and parents (they live with her parents) and I learned that my suspicions were unfounded and I had made a mistake. I apologized to the girl but she refused to accept my apologies.

"She has seniority rights at the plant, and has said that my husband should get a job elsewhere. I went to the boss and told him the whole story. He said he thought the girl was right. What is your opinion and what do you think I should do now?

SORRY WIFE"

DEAR SORRY: I think you have done too much already. Your husband should get another job, and I think YOU should leave sleuthing to Sherlock Homes.

MR. AND MRS. CHRIS RAMIG

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ramig of Bigham street will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday. Born and married in Grim, Russia, the two came to the United States in 1912. Among their eight living children are Mrs. George Helzer, Mrs. Mary Callender, Mrs. Robert Hessler, Mrs. Elise Perry, and Mrs. Robert G. Hays, and Jacob Ramig, all of Pontiac, Mrs. Margaret Kamrod of Unionville, and Mrs. Lydia Hessler of Huron Gardens. The Ramigs also claim 27 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Dirty Checkbook?

If you are meticulous about your finances, why let a soiled checkbook cover imply carelessness? Since most covers are plastic or plastic-coated, they can be wiped clean with a sponge wrung from thick soap or detergent suds.

Slimmer Silhouette

New concepts of the once popular double-breasted suit are now being made in the new slimmer silhouette with narrower lapels and less of an overlap where they button, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. The newer models have also been divested of the two useless buttons at the top.

Break the Bad Habit of Grimacing

Facial Gymnastics Result in Aging

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I think you will be interested in a letter which has come recently from a reader. She says, "Dear Mrs. Lowman: I hope that you will not think that I am exaggerating my condition when I describe it. If you do, then you cannot be of any help to me and I tell you sincerely that I could not make the situation sound any worse than it is.

* * *

"I am only 34 years old and I have more lines than most women I know who are 55. I have DEEP lines across my forehead, DEEP crows feet at the corners of my eyes, one DEEP line between my eyes, and fairly deep lines or droops from my nose to the corners of my mouth. When I say the lines are deep, I really mean deep creases.

"I cannot understand why I should have these at my age. I have tried to analyze why. I have good health and I eat and sleep well.

"My skin is not oily but I never thought of it as extremely dry, although I do use a lubricating cream at night. Can you even give me a guess as to how this has happened to me?

* * *

"I am most distressed about it since I have a very good-looking husband who does not look his age, which is the same as mine."

EASY TO ANSWER

I think I can hit the answer right on the head. I guess that you are a facial gymnast. There are many women and men who are. They raise their eyebrows when they feel surprise or delight or to emphasize other thoughts and emotions.

* * *

They translate worry, or even tenseness, into the deep frown between the eyes. they turn facial somersaults when they laugh. Even when these folks read or think their faces are never peaceful or in repose.

Usually these people are interesting and enthusiastic persons. However, the habit of facial grimaces is one of the most aging of all. No one would find a maskiike face attractive and nothing would be more boring than to think of lines rather than fun when we laugh, but there is a middle road.

Actually, extreme grimacing is not most attractive. Your eyes and your mouth can transmit worlds of emotion and thought without muscular contortions.

* * *

If you have fallen into this habit, try to break yourself of it. No amount of beauty care will minimize the lines until you break the habit. Of course, skin lubrication and massage in a rotary motion ALONG the lines will help, too. BUT—break the habit!

A facial gymnast will raise her eyebrows when she feels surprise or delight or to emphasize thoughts and emotions.

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

* * *

During a little child's acute illness it's not hard to keep him quiet. It is then he lies still and you wish to Heaven he'd show a little of is usual spark.

Mothers always find somewhere within themselves the reserve stock of energy t cope with the serious phase of illness. The worry, the sleepless nights, the treatments that a sick child resists, all these things mothers take in their stride.

PROBLEMS BEGIN

But when the child is on the mend, feels pretty good, but must stay in bed, then comes the hard pull.

There are a few tricks that help these days pass with a minimum of difficulty.

* * *

First, gentle but absolutely firm insistence that the child stay in bed is essential. Possibly you may allow periods on the couch in the living room as a variation from his bed; but no running around no matter how much he wheedles. Many a child prefers Mother's bed to his own when he is sick.

Next, routines help. A little child likes to know when things are going to happen. When it is juice time, lunch time, how long must he rest, when is medicine due. If he is old enough, put a clock beside his bed and let him remind you.

HIDE MEDICINE

A word of warning about medicine. Keep it out of sight and out of climbing reach. Bring it into his room every time he needs a dose. You have praised him so often for being a good boy when he swallowed his medicine that he may decide to be a very good boy while you're out of the room and take the whole bottle!

* * *

A clean bright attractive room will cheer a youngster. Try a different bedspread (not necessarily new), a new pair of pajamas, some bright pictures on the wall (cut out of magazines).

An underwater bouquet if a sunny window adds color and pleasure. Tie together two or three flowers and a bit of greenery and attach a weight. Place in a clear glass jar and fill with cold water, add a teaspoon of salt and seal the jar tight shut. It will last a week or longer.

* * *

A bed tray is a great help, both for meals and for play. Since you cannot bring up a family of children without occasional days of convalescence, a bed tray is a good family investment. Incidentally this is a wonderful Christmas present for grandma or an aunt or uncle to contribute.

If you do not have a bed tray, improvise one. Two straight chairs on either side of the bed will hold a straight board. One straight chair placed upside down on the bed with the back of the chair toward the child, will hold a board in an inclined position for play.

TOYS IMPORTANT

Next come the things to play with. They should be little things, new things and things to play with, not just to look at. Small cars and trucks for running up and down the board, a set of small blocks, about an inch long, small dolls and doll clothes, crayons and coloring books, puzzles.

* * *

A sick-abed box comes in handy during these difficult days. Into the box go all sort of discarded articles—jewelry, Christmas cards, worn playing cards, leftover party favors, pieces of cloth or lace or ribbons, artificial flowers, old small wooden boxes, gloves, a worn handbag, empty spools—almost anything.

A sick-abed box has novelty and stimulates the child's imagination and often keeps him happy while you get a little of your absolutely essential housework done. Pin a shoe bag to the side of the bed for keeping these articles handy.

* * *

A small record player, a radio and the all-important television are a great boon to a harrassed mother. Television usually means a bed made up on the living room couch which can be done for a few hours in the afternoon and provides a needed change.

When the most intriguing toys lose their charm, its time for stories read or told, and companionship with mother. With careful planning, however, most sick-abed youngsters will play by themselves some of the time.

Business Club Hears Talk by German Student

Rose Marie Diestel, German exchange student attending Waterford High School, spoke at a Christmas meeting of National Secretaries Assn., Pontiac Chapter, held at Ted's Restaurant. Miss Diestel chose as her topic "Christmas at Home," home being Haltingin, Ruhr, Germany. She spoke of the customs of Advent and Christmas in Germany.

Hostesses for the Wednesday meeting were Mary Eleanor Lockman and Edythe Perry. The group provided a Christmas basket for a needy family.

Both Hubby's, Wife's Pay Should Be 'Our Money'

It Isn't Fair for Woman to Consider Everything She Earns Hers Alone

By RUTH MILLETT

When he earned the only paycheck in the family he put it in a joint checking account and his wife regarded it is "our money."

Now she has taken a job, too. But what she earns she regards as "my money"—to spend exactly as she pleases.

She even resents it if her husband wants to know what she is spending the money for.

"Is that fair?" he wants to know.

This man's wife probably reasons like this: Until I took a job we were getting along on my husband's paycheck. He didn't expect me to help him earn a living. So if I choose to take a job and make a little extra money, then the money should be mine to do with as I please.

Maybe that idea is a hand-me-down from the time when a woman who earned a little extra money by raising chickens or selling eggs, or churning and selling butter, tucked it away in a teapot high on the cupboard shelf. And it became her pin money.

But today's job - holding wife ought to realize that the old-fashioned wife with her pin money was never a real financial partner in marriage. What she wanted for necessities she had to ask her husband for. She didn't have a joint checking account. Papa held the purse strings—and held them tightly.

So the little pin money she could accumulate was actually the only money she had that wasn't a handout.

But today's husband who is generous enough to open a joint checking account and to regard the money he earns as belonging to both husband and wife isn't forcing his wife into holding out any money for herself.

Anything his wife has in the way of income should be put into a common fund and regarded as our money, shared by both, as his income is shared.

* * *

If a husband's paycheck is "our money," a wife's paycheck should be considered the same.

Newest expandable wardrobe idea: bolero suit unpeels to white blouse, down another layer to plain sheath; then tie on bouffant net overskirt for evening.

The tourist will travel in the bolero suit and be ready for luncheon in white crepe blouse buckled over the skirt to look like a dress. In five minutes she goes to cocktails in the sheath. For dancing she just ties on the net overskirt.

No Goodbys Necessary at Big Fete

Otherwise, Guest Seeks Out Hostess and Thanks Her

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine tells me that you have said it is not necessary, when leaving a party, to look for the hostess to say goodnight and thank her for a pleasant evening.

"I can't believe that you, a teacher of good manners, would give such advice. To leave a party without a word to the hostess is, in my opinion, the height of rudeness. Will you please clarify this for me?"

Answer: Under ordinary circumstances, it would be unthinkable to leave a party without saying goodby and thank you to the hostess.

The "walkout without saying goodby" rule applies only to a very large formal reception at which one stays only a very short time. In this case it is more courteous to go away unnoticed than to break into a queue of arriving guests to say goodby.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last year I received a very nice Christmas present from my employer after having been here only six months. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to give him a Christmas present in return this year, and, if so, what do you suggest?"

Answer: His giving you a Christmas present is quite different from your giving him one. But if you have been working very closely together and there is some gadget for his desk that you know he would like, it would be quite all right to give it to him. But certainly not a present of importance.

Elizabeth Can't Have Private Life

Queen of England Always Works for Her Country

In one period of 24 days last spring, Queen Elizabeth II of England gave audiences to 61 different people at the palace, attended 10 official functions there, including a garden party for 8,000 guests, and paid seven visits to places and institutions in and outside London.

* * *

In the five years since her accession to the throne, she has toured the commonwealth and Nigeria, has made state visits to Norway, Sweden, France, Portugal, Denmark and the United States, and has been hostess to the rulers and heads of many nations.

The truth is, Britain's 31-year-old Queen has little time to herself. As the symbol of power and unity to 600 million people throughout the world, the extent of her responsibilities is enormous.

The Queen never retires, she has no days off. When she goes on a holiday, her work follows her. She has little actual power, and yet the structure of British life is such that nothing of importance ever happens without her having a part in it.

* * *

As Queen of England, Elizabeth runs the biggest household in her country, one with an annual budget of $2,800,000. This household includes vast estates, priceless art treasures, two official and two private residences, trust funds whose lists cover two pages, 269 court officials, and a domestic staff of 300.

The working day of the Queen lasts 14 hours during which she is expected to play her part without comment or murmur. She may be surrounded by wealth, luxury and pomp. But is it enough to compensate for the intimate family life she does not have and misses?

Hart Dedicates 23-Mile Stretch

Ribbons Cut at 4 Points on Superhighway From Brighton to Farmington

The 23-mile Brighton-Farmington expressway was formally opened to traffic yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Gov. Philip Hart and State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie led a 50-car motorcade, with ribbon-cutting ceremonies at four points.

The opening of the super highway marked the completion of the first major link in a planned four-lane divided expressway from Detroit to Muskegon. It is the first controlled-access highway in Oakland and Livingston Counties.

"This link is expected to reduce the death and accident toll on this portion of U. S. 16 by more than half," Mackie said.

★ ★ ★

The initial dedication ceremony began in Brighton at 9 a.m. Taking part with Hart and Mackie were South Lyon Mayor Elbert Weinburger, Howell Mayor Clifton Heller, State Sen. Harvey Lodge of Oakland County and Mayor Pro Tem Marshall Cooper of Brighton.

MAJORETTES PERFORM

Bare-legged Walled Lake majorettes added to the festive spirit of the event as they twirled their batons amid snow and cold. And the caravan was on its way.

Hart and Mackie spoke briefly at other stops in Wixom, Novi and Farmington.

And at Farmington, it was Mayor Pro Tem V. O. Bates and Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, who did the snipping.

The entire 165-mile route will be completed or under contract in the next five years, Mackie said. It is expected to cost 178 million dollars.

Driver in Hospital Following Accident

Fuller's car was struck in the rear by one driven by John H. Hanifin, 32, of Walled Lake, and careened into a telephone pole.

YULETIDE SCENE — Familiar to Romeo residents and those who pass through town during the holidays is this Nativity scene in front of Sammmond Pleasant Lodge. Located on Van Dyke at the north end of the village, the lodge, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sammmond, has been the setting for this traditional Christmas scene for the past six years. The figures are life size, and the entire display is illuminated every night.

Injured Girl, 10, Improved Today

Hazel Park Child and Mother Hospitalized in Avon After Crash

AVON TOWNSHIP — The condition of 10-year-old Karen Grandchamp, 85, Somoma, Hazel Park, who was injured critically Thursday afternoon in a two-car collision in Avon Township, near Rochester, was described as improved today by the Avon Center Hospital.

★ ★ ★

She was riding in a car driven by her mother, Joyce who is in the same hospital with a fractured leg, bruises and cuts about the face.

The driver of the other car, James Uhan, 21, of 2812 Crooks Rd., Pontiac Township, suffered a broken knee cap. His condition was listed as improved, too.

The crash occured on Livernois road, about three miles south of Rochester, at 5:10 p.m. Thursday.

Hadley Fetes Firemen for Labor on Hall

METAMORA — Firemen here were honored at a party by residents of Hadley community for their work and the new addition to the hall which they built. The township paid only for materials and firemen donated all labor.

The town board purchased 6 new pairs of hip boots, 6 coats, 6 helmets and a coffee maker for the fire hall.

Mrs. Jane Hines received a check for $25 from the firemen, fifteen of whom were present at the gathering.

Mrs. Luther of Genesee County Civil Service spoke. William Service, his father, Edward, and Betty Hutchison furnished music.

Announce Betrothal

Tax Bills Sent Out by West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD — Approximately 15,000 tax statements have been mailed to property owners in West Bloomfield Township, covering county, township and school taxes for 1957, Lillian Warner, township treasurer, reported.

★ ★ ★

The total tax roll for this year is $1,271,082.95, as compared to $995,097.36 for 1956. An increase of $275,985.59, this was brought about largely through the construction of new buildings in the township and the reassessment of properties in accordance with the State Tax Manual, she said.

The total assessed valuation of the township is $24,042,140, which has been equalized by the state to a figure of $44,286,516, giving the township an equalizing factor of $1,852,037.

Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday, and from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Omit Decorations After Vandals Raid Yule Tree

This is because destructive-minded vandals pulled out or smashed every light that was on the big tree last year. Some even climbed the trunk, breaking branches along the way, in their effort to reach the lights at the top of the 15-foot tree.

Every year the Mother's group have officially lighted the tree on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7, and kept it glowing throughout the entire Christmas season.

Planted close to the Community Veterans Memorial, by Mrs. Hazen Smart in 1946, in memory of her World War II son, the tree has sparkled at Christmas time as a symbol of the American holiday spirit in Waterford Township — until this year.

★ ★ ★

However, Drayton Plains postal employes and businessmen may take over the project and get the tree lighted soon, with assurance of police protection against damage.

Davisburg F&AM to Install New Officers Tonight

DAVISBURG — Don Turner will be installed as worshipful master of Austin Lodge 48, F&AM this evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Temple here.

The installation is open to friends. Refreshments will be served following the ceremonies.

Coin Machines Big Business

Vending Gadgets Sell Everything From Milk, Nylons to Insurance

NEW YORK (INS) — Coin-operated vending machines, which today sell everything from milk and nylons to insurance and stamps, have become a two billion dollar industry this year.

★ ★ ★

SERVE HOUSEWIFE

Industry authorities claim the coin machines will eventually "serve" the housewife out shopping—replacing food shelves, vegetable bins and checkout counters at the supermarket. There is also speculation that a day may come when the machines take over some of the selling functions in the department store.

★ ★ ★

The president of the National Automatic Merchandising Association (NAMA) says "vending is to retailing what automation is to production."

John T. Pierson, the NAMA head who is also president of the Vendo Company of Kansas, adds:

"It is no longer a novelty; it is a way of life."

There are today nearly three million machines scattered throughout the U. S. on street corners, in factories, schools and apartment houses.

One of the biggest restraints on the industry to date has been the inability of the machines to sell an item costing more than 99 cents. Efforts are now being made, however, to lift this barrier.

Pierson's firm is working with the electronics industry to develop a fluoroscopic device that will examine a dollar bill, reject it if it is counterfeit, or accept it and give correct change.

Imlay City F&AM, Lodge 341, Elects Official Slate

IMLAY CITY — Imlay City Lodge 341 F&AM, has elected new officers. They are worshipful master, Ernest Simmons; senior warden, Wallance Johnson; junior warden, Eugene McKillop; secretary, John Folk; treasurer, Mervy Muir; senior deacon, Bernard Roush; and junior deacon, Earl Anspaugh.

Installation will be at the Masonic temple Thursday at 8 p.m.

Milk Cows on Farms Break November Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk cows on farms produced 8,783,000,000 pounds of milk during November, 1 per cent above the previous record for November, set last year, and 11 per cent above the 1946-55 average for the month.

★ ★ ★

November milk output averaged 1.7 pounds per person in the United States per day. Milk production per cow averaged 17.91 pounds a day, a new high.

★ ★ ★

The agriculture department predicts that total milk production this year will be about 127 billion pounds, a new record.

OLD-FASHIONED GREETINGS — Looking over her collection of more than 400 Christmas cards is Mrs. Harold McVittie of Highland. Some were printed more than 100 years ago.

Just Can't Throw Them Away

Highland Woman Has 400 Old Yule Cards

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

HIGHLAND—Because she "can't bear to throw away a pretty Christmas card," Mrs. Hariold McVittie of 134 Center St., Highland, has a priceless collection of more than 400 of the yuletide greetings.

Some, which she inherited from her mother, were printed about 100 years ago, she said, and are very different from today's Christmas greetings.

In the old days, each card had its own individuality and appeal. Embellished with silk fringe borders and reproduced in 12 to 17 different colors, the designs and verses were typical of the "elegant Eighties."

Bluebirds, roses and small children predominated on the old prints, and strangely enough, the very oldest cards were long and narrow as many are today.

Typical of some of Mrs. McVettie's treasures is a "slim-jim" card, depicting the Rock of Ages with an angel standing nearby. The paper resembles thin cardboard, and the coloring is muted—probably from age, she said.

★ ★ ★

Many greeting cards have "Merry Christmas" printed on one side. Turning them over, one finds a "Happy New Year" message embossed with much glitter, so typical of the long-ago days.

Roses of every color, size and variety decorated the cards. One of the typical verses printed on this type is: "With a heart of gold, our rose shall tell, the message that rings like a bell, and o'er sweet friendship—casts its spell."

Each card seems to deal more with the warmth and genuine sincerity of a person's feelings, rather than the rhythm of verse. One of the oldest examples of this is: "I wish you a very Happy Christmas—not because it is the custom, but because my heart prompts it."

The five sons of Mr. and Mrs. McVittie have more than 33 years of army or navy service to their credit. Each time the boys were in a foreign country at Christmas time, they would send their mother a typical greeting card from that country. Mrs. McVittie's collection of foreign cards is an education in itself.

Religion was emphasised on the old cards more than it is today, according to Mrs. McVittie. However, she said, "After all these years, our modern artists and poets seem to be reverting to the true meaning of Christmas—and that's good."

Annual Yule Program in Rochester Scheduled

ROCHESTER — Children of the First Congregational Church School will present their annual Christmas program at 5 p.m. Sunday. Called "Christmas Then — Christmas Now," the program is based on what the pupils have been learning about Jesus and the land of His birth.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Vida Walker is chairman of the committee in charge and Mrs. Emerson Carey is handling the costumes.

Music will include carols by the junior choir.

The public is invited.

DONS GLASSES AT SIX MONTHS — When six-months-old Ann Griber showed signs of not being able to focus her eyes, doctors outfitted her with a special pair of glasses. The studious-looking daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Griber of Dallas, Texas, now cries when the glasses are taken away, her mother says. Doctors assert the glasses not only enable the infant to see clearly but may correct the tendency of the eyes to cross.

Beck Jurors Still Thinking

Didn't Agree Yesterday on Whether Teamster Chief Stole $1,900

SEATTLE (AP)—Seven men and five women who could not reach agreement yesterday in seven hours of deliberations continued today to wrestle with the question of whether Dave Beck stole $1,900 from the union he heads.

★ ★ ★

The fate of the wealthy, 63-year-old leader of the Teamsters Union went to a Superior Court jury in the 11th day of his trial on charges he pocketed the proceeds from sale of a union automobile.

★ ★ ★

The jurors carried with them a dramatic defense plea for acquittal of Beck and a demand by the state's attorneys for conviction on "evidence so overwhelming it's ridiculous for you to leave the jury box."

The final arguments turned even to hearings before a Senate committee investigating labor racketeering early this year in which Beck scores of times refused to answer questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

★ ★ ★

Charles S. Burdeld, defense counsel, said the Teamster president should not be convicted "because a group of senators sought to make political capital."

★ ★ ★

For the state, Dep. Prosecutor Charles Z. Smith described Beck as a "would-be great man who sacrificed loyal employes on the altar of self-preservation."

★ ★ ★

The jurors were given the case at 3:30 p.m. and deliberated until 10:45 with time out for dinner. At 10:45, Superior Judge George Revelle called in the jurors and asked if they felt they could reach a verdict soon.

★ ★ ★

The response was negative and he ordered them to retire for the night at 11:20 p.m., with instructions to resume deliberations at 9 a.m.

Alfred Hitchcock Plods Busily From Set to Set

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alfred Hitchcock, the pudgy pixy who has proved that crime does pay, has done so to the extent of having two TV shows as well as his chiller-diller movies.

And he shows no signs of flagging. In an industry where 13-week options are common, his sponsor has picked up the "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" show through this season and next. Plus which he is making 10 hour-long films in the "Suspicion" Series for NBC.

"We are now virtually a part of the sponsor's company," he said proudly, referring to the firm he has sometimes kidded unmercifully on TV.

While he appears to be enjoying ing his success, he finds it can be wearying. For instance, last Friday he finished a full day's shooting "Vertigo" with James Stewart and Kim Novak. He went directly to Republic, where he himself acted in four of the introductions to his Sunday night series.

"And in one of them I had to act in a scene with a live lion," he complained. "I mentioned that we were having an office party and we were going to throw a vice president to the lions. The beast was snarling and pawing the way lions do, and I had to deliver my lines right next to it.

"Those were the fastest lines I ever delivered."

Hitchcock directs two or three of the hour shows and six or eight of the half-hours. Is it fun after productions?

"No," he replied flatly, "It's too much work. I just get to sit down and the assistant says we're ready to shoot the scene.

"We shoot an hour show in five days. That doesn't give you much time to rest."

Hitchcock is surprised that so many youngsters are fans of his shows. On locations in San Francisco, the kids asked him for more autographs than Novak or Stewart. Perhaps we are raising a generation of ghouls?

"Or detectives," Hitchcock added constructively.

Engineer in Defense Department

Quarles May End Rivalry

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles may be the man to set the stage for the first "head banging" in U. S. efforts to end so-called inter-service rivalry in the nation's missile, satellite and scientific research programs.

Such a possibility became apparent when the Air Force defied Quarles by establishing a space research agency despite a request that such action be delayed at least until a single research agency could be set up by the Defense Department for all services.

CONSIDERED KEY MAN

The importance of the department's No. 2 man was emphasized by a high Air Force officer who said:: "I guess we'll have to wait until Quarles comes back from the NATO meeting to clear the air."

The lean, gray-haired, 63-year-old executive has the training and background to know what is best for the nation's scientific programs.

He first went to the Defense Department in 1946 as a member of the newly established Committee on Electronics of the Joint Research and Development Board and in 1949 was named chairman.

WAS ENGINEER

His selection was based on his record with Western Electric and Bell Telephone which started in 1920 as an engineer and led him to become a vice president of Bell Telephone laboratories and Western Electric.

In 1952 he was named president of Sandia Corporation, a Western Electric subsidiary, which operates a laboratory for the Atomic Energy Commission in Albuquerque, N. M.

Quarles was appointed assistant secretary of defense for research and development on Sept. 1, 1953, and was elected the first chairman of the reorganized Air Navigation Development Board in January, 1954.

On Aug. 11, 1955, President Eisenhower nominated Quarles to serve as Air Force secretary, and in March, 1957, he was named deputy defense secretary.

TAUGHT MATH

The father of two daughters and a son, Quarles studied at the University of Missouri summer school for three years, taught mathematics at his home town of Van Buren, Ark., and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1916 from Yale.

During World War I he served in France and Germany for two years and emerged a captain in the field artillery.

While employed by Western Electric he took part-time studies in theoretical physics at Columbia and now holds many honorary degrees.

He lives in Washington but considers his home Englewood, N. J., where he served as a member and president of the common council and as mayor from 1946 to 1948.

Yule Comes — or Goes — to Dogs in Pound

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Christmas has already gone to the dogs.

★ ★ ★

As Russell W. Webb, representative of a dog food company, explained it: "Joyful barks resounded and tails wagged furiously yesterday at the Baltimore County Humane Society Dog Pound. . . . The local canine celebration got under way when Santa . . . arrived and dispensed to every dog a banquet of gaily colored and cleverly shaped biscuits."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Helen Mudge, pound director, said "It was one of the noisiest and gayest occasions in the history of the pound." And Webb added, "The Christmas for canines theme has caught on quickly and has become an annual event for the homeless dog population."

Texas Students Firing 2-Mile Rocket Today

BEEVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A group of students today hope to fire off three missiles with the largest expected to soar up for more than two miles.

The biggest rocket is nearly eight feet tall and weighs 120 pounds. It is expected to reach an altitude of 12,000 feet. The launching will be at a ranch near this south Texas town.

★ ★ ★

Jim Infante, director of research for the Southwestern Rocket Society, said the larger rocket would carry three pounds of electronic equipment to gauge altitude and velocity information. The society is composed of chemical, physic and mathematics students at the University of Texas.

It's So Safe — Ouch!

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Jesse Hogan, 35, of Buttonwillow, was treated for leg wounds after, he said, a 16-gauge shotgun went off while John Stone, 62, was demonstrating the safety features of the weapon.

TALK ABOUT TRAFFIC — Skippers of these ships can have no sympathy with the automobile driver who finds himself muttering profanely over rush hour traffic snarls. Shippers plying this portion of the Rhine River, at Bad Salzig, Germany, have enough woes of their own. Causing the watery snarl of ships and barges is a narrow channel around the bend. Low water in the area adds to the misery, forcing the shipmasters to carry only half cargo if they hope to scrape through the shallow passage.

Anna Believes Roberto Could Regain Success

ROME (AP) — Anna Magnani says her former director and companion, Roberto Rossellini, could make great motion pictures again if he were not so involved "in family questions."

★ ★ ★

Commenting on last month's Rossellini - Bergman separation and reports of a possible divorce, the actress said:

"It's a most depressing and boring story. I think it's about time for the papers to stop publishing so much gossip about Roberto and Ingrid. I find their doings most uninteresting — and if this won't stop I fear the readers will soon find they need a psychoanalyst."

Brain Gets Fired Up

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A $205,900 IBM electronic "brain" at the Oakland Naval Supply Center tied itself into such mental knots that it caught fire and was destroyed. Rear Adm. C. G. Dekay, commanding officer, said the fire ruined one unit of the computing machine. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Tell It to a Couch

Business Leaders Urged to Vent Woes to Friend

CHICAGO (INS) — Dr. William C. Menninger today urged the nation's executives to seek help for their emotional problems if they are overly tense and anxious.

Addressing 70 prominent midwestern business executives in Chicago, Dr. Menninger said:

"This doesn't mean that you necessarily have to go to a psychiatrist, but you should talk over your problems with someone in whom you have confidence."

The general secretary of the famed Menninger Foundation in Tokepa, Kas., pointed out that there are 750,000 mental patients in the U.S. and "I've seen a good number of them who are former executives."

Dr. Menninger, who was responsible for the emotional well-being of some eight million men as chief of psychiatry during World War II, cited a survey of 1,000 young presidents which showed that most of them suffer from:

—Excessive work, which they believe results from their inefficiency.

—Loneliness, because they can't be free among their workers.

—Severe self-criticism.

—Worrying about the morale of their employes and how they can reduce their own personal problems.

Dr. Menninger characterized a good executive as one who is "relatively free of tension and anxiety most of the time" and who plays a "father role" by not only letting people make a living, but by letting them live richly.

"You should know the ABC's of personality structure," he said, "and this means understanding the worker and attempting to set up a meaningful goal for him."

Dr. Menninger emphasized that happiness can't be bought with dollars and a "what's in it for me" attitude. He added:

★ ★ ★

"Every executive should set aside some time once a year, at least, to decide where he is going and what his ambitions and aspirations are."

Gunman Pistol-Whips, Robs Jackson Attendant

★ ★ ★

Police said the beating was witnessed by Mrs. Millpee McKaney who drove into the station while the holdup was in progress. She fled when the gunman spotted her. Police were called by the woman.

Followers Worship on 21st Birthday

Aga Drinks Champagne

LONDON (AP)—The Aga Khan danced on his 21st birthday last night at a champagne ball while in a mosque across town his teetotaling religious followers quietly celebrated the coming of age.

★ ★ ★

The young Aga's first dance—and a lot more after that—was with 17-year-old Sylvia Casablancas, a tall, dark heiress from Switzerland whose name has been linked romantically with the spiritual leader of the Ismaili Moslems.

The Duke of Bedford, an uncle of the Aga, told a reporter who inquired about the couple:

"You're all barking up the wrong tree, you know."

The Aga has known Sylvia, the daughter of wealthy Mexican Fernando Casablancas, since they were children. Despite the duke, speculation was plentiful.

The young Aga, who succeeded his late grandfather last July, began the Savoy Hotel party by giving a dinner for 100 relatives and close friends. After the dinner, 300 more guests arrived for the ball.

★ ★ ★

A mile or so away in Kensington, religious followers of the Aga celebrated with prayers, orangeade and coffee. "Our religion discourages drinking and it is quite unthinkable to allow alcohol here in our mosque," said I. K. Lokahndvala, president of the Ismaili Council of Great Britain.

Youngsters Won't Join Ingrid in Great Britain

LONDON (AP)— Actress Ingrid Bergman abandoned plans today to have her three small children live with her in Britain. She moved back into a hotel and gave up an apartment which she had been furnishing.

★ ★ ★

Miss Bergman said she had to change her plans because of a new picture she will make in Formosa in March. She is now in London filming "Indiscreet" with Cary Grant. Her children are in Rome.

★ ★ ★

Legally separated from her husband, Italian film producer Roberto Rossellini, Miss Bergman said she would spend Christmas Day with him and the children. She said she would return to London Dec. 29, and her children would spend the rest of the holidays in the Italian Alps with their nurse.

Reflections

WE HAVE TWO EARS

S. L. VOORHEES

Those ears were given us to record sounds. They can send us into spasms of mirth or plunge us into the pool of despond. A plane overhead can be a terrible noise or a harbinger of joy to those aboard. Or it can be a messenger of good tidings in mail to lonely people. A crying child can be annoyance or the voice of a bit of humanity wailing for love. Traffic at the end of day can wear nerves to jagged edges as we rush toward home, or it can be an interlude between labor and loved ones. What sound is sweeter to our ears than a cheery greeting of a friend, the happy bark of our dog as he rushes to meet us, or the sound of a daughter's voice as she proudly whispers, "I've missed you, daddy?"

M. E. SIPLE

Sound is as much a part of living as things; retain the sounds that add happiness to our lives.

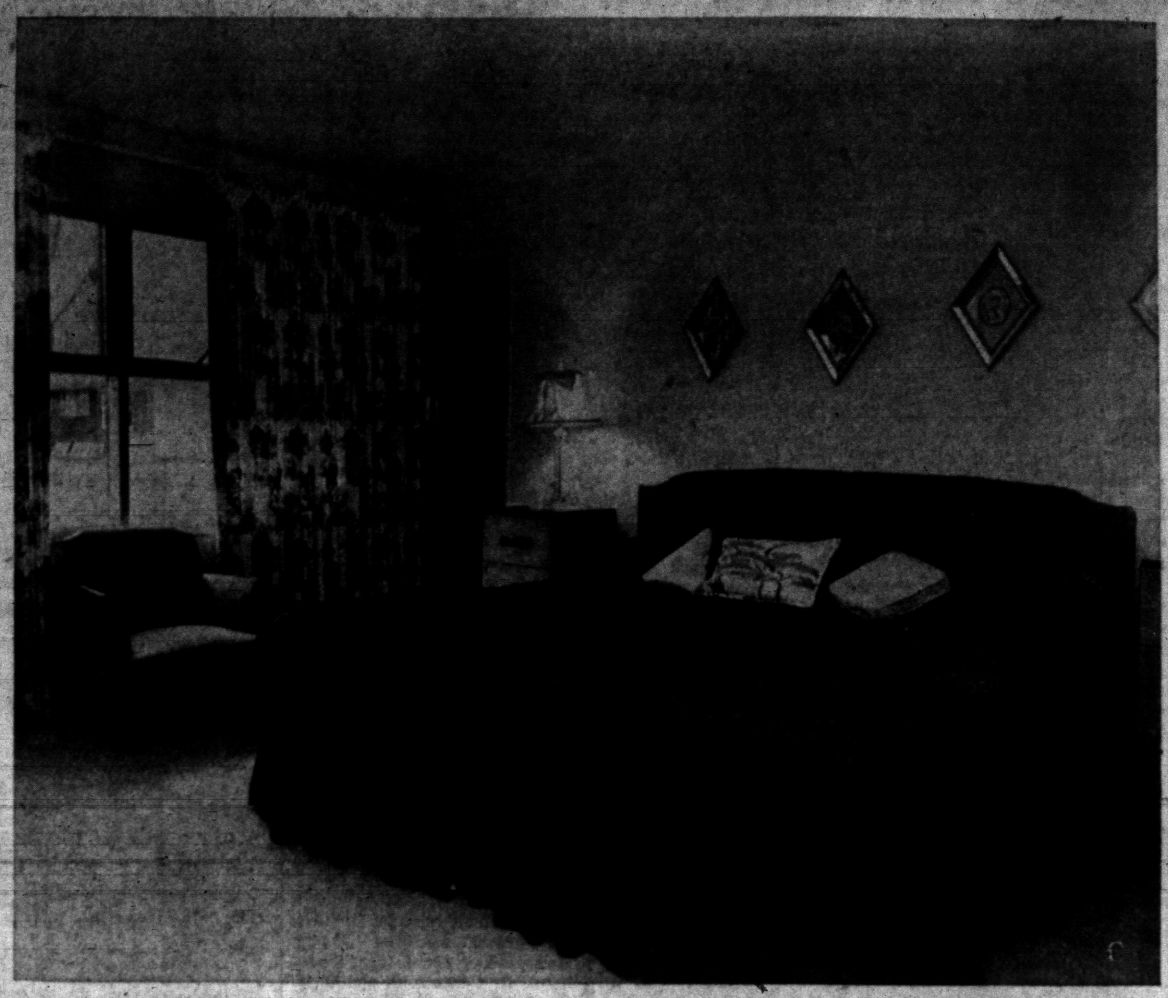
CENTER FIREPLACE — In the Kimmins' house the Roman brick fireplace is built in the center of a large living room. This makes a small secluded area behind it for a cozy television room. The two chairs in front of the fireplace are aqua with black legs. That table in front of the window has a brass planter beneath the glass top. The ornament on the fireplace is silver color with a gilded horse. Valance boards match the aqua walls.



PINK AND BROWN — The master bedroom is all pink and cinnamon brown. The draperies are off-white with a pink and brown design. Like the quilted bedspread, the headboard for the twin beds is brown quilted silk. Other furniture is dark green with blond fronts.

Your Neighbor's House

Kimmins Enjoy Move to Suburbia

background for LIVING

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

As a rule, when people move into new homes, they have to buy a great deal of new furniture. The curtains don't fit; the sofa's too large or too small; and the colors are all wrong.

The Harry Kimmins were lucky. When they moved from their Cherokee road home in Pontiac to their new home on Hickory Grove road, they didn't have to buy one extra thing. Of course, the rugs and draperies came with the house. But the paint on the walls matched their furniture beautifully. Everything fitted in.

From their front windows they have an inspiring view of the Kirk-in-the-Hills. Their lot is 100x175 feet. The vacant lot next door belongs to a neighbor who likes to see sunsets over it and declines to sell it.

A buff brick house with turquoise trim, the Kimmins house is a one-story structure. It sets some distance above the level of the street. At one side is a two-car attached garage.

CENTRAL FIREPLACE

A massive Roman brick fireplace occupies the center of the room. On one side of the chimney a silver and gilt horse ornament is mounted. The hearth is slab rock.

This large room is carpeted in beige sculptured carpeting. Here and there are Oriental throw rugs. Walls are aqua, while the beamed ceiling is white. The mahogany beams stand out in contrast.

The floor length draperies are beige Fortisan; the material has the feel of boucle. Valance boards are painted aqua to match the walls.

In front of the hearth are two low turquoise chairs. The seats are wide and deeply upholstered. Legs are black. One other chair and the sofa have black frames. Tables are black.

The chair near the window has aqua cushions with off-white webbing underneath. Other chairs are beige and gold. The sofa is gray with a hint of black showing in the nubby upholstery.

One table, triangular in shape, has a brass planter on the lower shelf. Another one—the coffee table—has a round marble-like top and brass legs.

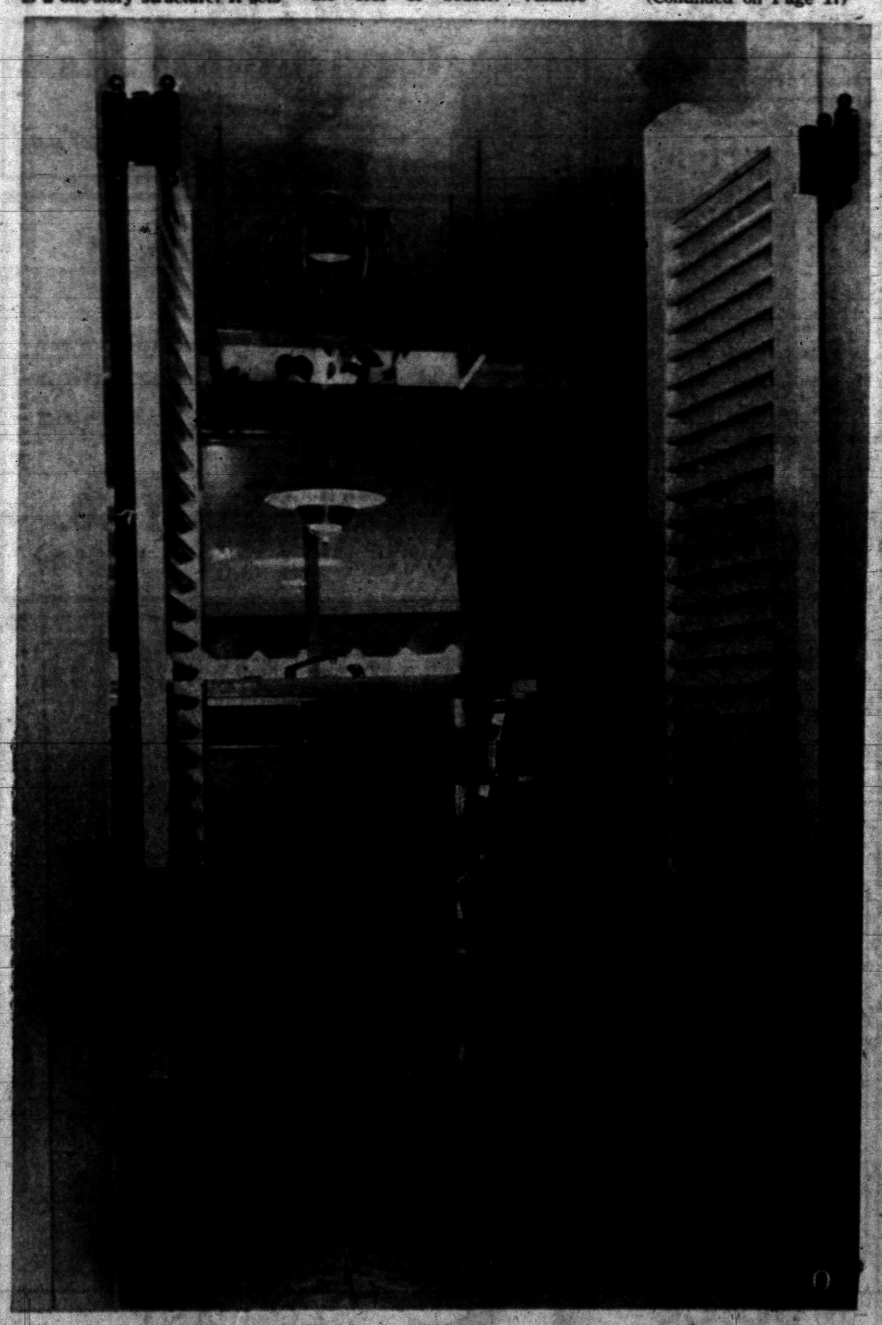
Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp



SWINGING DOORS — Instead of a solid door between the kitchen and hall there are half louvered swinging doors, painted aqua. In the distance is the peninsula sink that shuts off the small breakfast room. Cabinets are natural finished birch. The floor is a mottled beige linoleum. Notice the hanging planter shelf over the sink.

Eight Rooms Designed to Fit a Modest Plot

For top value, it's hard to beat this two-story house, with its built-in economy and livability features.

Skillfully designed throughout all of its eight expansive rooms, it exploits these proven advantages of the two-story house:

It provides the most space for the least money.

It is cheaper to maintain and cheaper to heat, and

The work of one of America's foremost architects, this house was designed especially for The House of The Week series. Designated HW-82, it has four bedrooms, two and a half baths, a living room, dining room, family room and a kitchen plus a full basement with ample space for a hobby room and a recreation room.

A major feature of the plan is a stairway, with comfortable treads and risers and a mid-way landing.

Additionally, the plan provides for a residential type lift or elevator which operates from the second floor to the basement. If the lift is not required, the space can be used for additional storage.

In many developments throughout the country, the two-story house is being built as a model house. There are good reasons for this and Samuel Paul, the architect, has taken full cognizance of them in designing HW-82.

"The basic concept in this design," Architect Paul explains, "was to achieve as much space as possible in a moderate area.

COMPLETE LIVING FOR ALL

"In approximately 1,600 square feet, there is complete living for the average American family. It is a home that will cost considerably less than a ranch with the same space."

Striking exterior and interior details have been incorporated in the plan. The high front entrance is illuminated by three long, hanging lights, and is flanked by a brick flower box.

CONSERVATIVE TWO STORY — Dignity and elegance are exemplified in the exterior design of this conservative, contemporary two-story house. It has eight rooms, including four bedrooms, yet it will fit a small or medium sized plot.

At the right of the entrance is a dramatic stair window, which pours natural light onto the stair and into both the second floor hall and the first floor foyer.

The roof has a three-foot overhang and the gable ends project 18 inches beyond the face of the sidewalls.

Additional features include a breezeway and a garage plus a rear terrace. Eliminate the breezeway if you wish and place the garage in the rear of the house. This will cut down on the size of the lot.

FIVE MAIN LIVING AREAS

Inside, the first floor is divided into five main living areas—for formal living, for informal living, and for dining.

The living room has a fireplace wall at one end with a raised hearth; a tile floor is extended across the entire room. The wall is brick veneer, applied on the inside similar to the exterior brick veneer.

A folding partition separates the family room from the living room and there is a large glass sliding door between the family room and the outdoor terrace.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE KITCHEN

The double exposure kitchen has a countertop range, a built-in oven, and built-in refrigerator, freezer, sink and dishwasher.

There is cross ventilation in three of the four bedrooms—and, Mother, listen to this: All closets have folding panels from the floor to the ceiling, which enables all closets to be fully opened.

The exterior siding is wood. It could be redwood in these locations where it is available at reasonable cost. Otherwise it could be cedar or pine painted to any color desired.

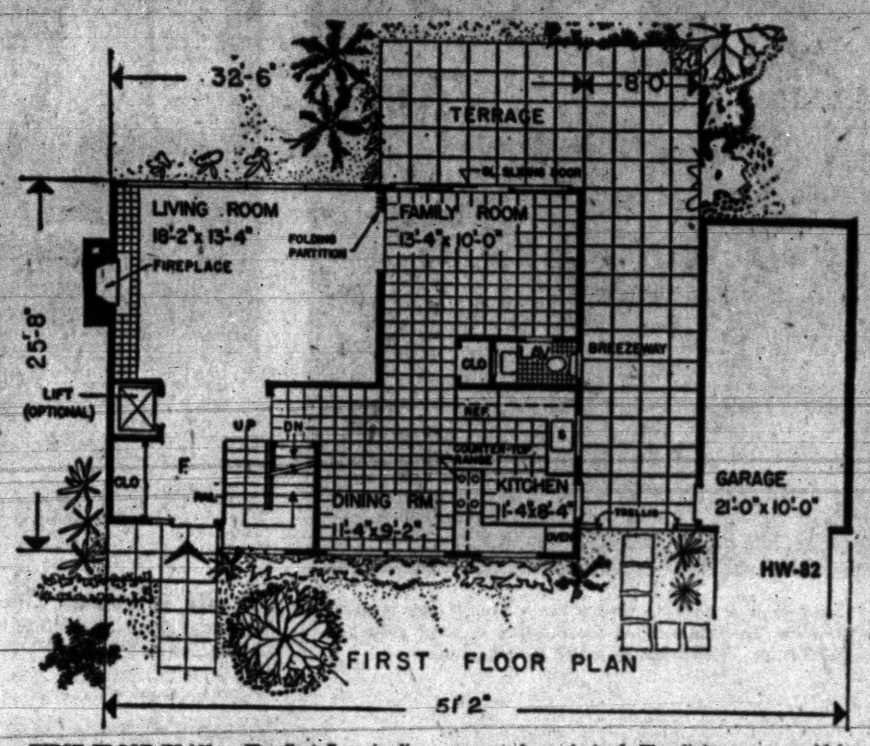
Statistics

The square footage of The House of The Week HW-82 is 1,636 with the first and second floors each having 818 square feet. The garage has a total of 210 square feet. The breezeway is 8 ft. by 22 ft. The size of the rear terrace is optional although in the plan it is 10 ft. by 22 ft. The overall dimensions of the house proper are 32 ft. 6 inches by 25 ft. 8 inches. A plot 70 ft. by 100 ft. would accommodate the complete house with breezeway and garage. Without the breezeway, the house would fit a smaller plot.



FIRST FLOOR PLAN — The first floor is divided into five main areas of living. The living room and the family room could be combined or separated, as desired. The dining room could be closed off from the family room by a folding partition.

STAIRWAY IN FOYER — A turn-around stair with a decorative handrailing is shown in this view looking toward the entrance foyer from the living room.

Refinished Attic Room Adds More Living Area

Is your attic a trash bin? Did you provide all that space just to fill it up with discards? Why not consider clearing it out and rebuilding it for a suite for your teenagers, or a hide-away study for yourself? A little lumber and some colorful paint plus thought and work, can transform such space into a bright, livable, usable area.

One family panelled the walls from floor to ceiling in pine and painted it all in off-white. Color accessories in the room were turquoise and a little shocking pink. Two teen-aged girls adored it.

Screws Will Be Neater

Use screws instead of nails to fasten numbers on your house or mailbox post, suggests the November issue of a home magazine. Then, when painting time rolls around again, you can remove the numbers without damaging them or having to "cut" them in with a small paintbrush.

COY FAWNS flirting over a candy cane make an amusing Christmas decoration to use out of doors or beside the Christmas tree. The actual-size patterns for these gay 21-inch cut - out figures are 25 cents each. These two patterns (434 and 435) also are included in packet 55 which gives two styles of Santa cut-outs for your lawn all for $1. Orders under $1 add 10 cents service charge.

More Counters Pay Dividends to Homemaker

Lack of adequate counter space is a basic shortcoming in most small kitchens today, and even in some big ones.

The results? Inefficient use of equipment, waste of time and energy, and a situation so cluttered there's no room for dish dryer, husband of other volunteer helpers.

The goal should be a work space alongside each major appliance. On one side of the range, at least, and preferably on both sides, 24 inches of counter space is desirable for assembling foods to be cooked and for transferring cooked foods from utensils to serving dishes.

Wide choice in sizes and top burner arangements in modern gas ranges helps solve many problems of this kind. Peninsula and island arrangements open up many possibilities, but their use is pretty much confined to the larger kitchens.

★ ★ ★

In the smaller kitchen, where the work space potential is definitely limited, the objective is to locate it where it is needed most. The space next to the range burner tops is seen as most valuable; that next to the refrigerator a close second. Remodeling to provide this can be done on a step-by-step basis and pays big dividends in relieving homemaker tensions.

They have been subjected to 350 steam at 100% humidity under 125 p.s.i. This produces a superior lightweight block which is stronger permanently. It stabilizes the strength of the block and reduces shrinkage and expansion, eliminating cracked walls. Remember Boice is the place in Oakland County that gives you high pressure steam cured blocks.

Move Accomplished With Little Trouble

Directly behind the television room is the bath. Walls are yellow, a combination of ceramic tile and paint. The vanity top, shower floor and fixtures are blue.

The guest room has an aqua carpet. Three of the walls are an ashes-of-roses shade with the ceiling and fourth wall gray. There is no ceiling fixture; instead, a light is set flush in one wall.

Furniture is all blond. The bed has a deep aqua tufted headboard. The bedspread is white and quilted. A slipper chair is covered in an aqua striped fabric with metallic threads. Curtains and lamp shades are also aqua.

The master bedroom is pink. Attached to it is a pink and dubonnet bathroom. The dubonnet tile floor is covered with the softest furry rug you can imagine. Fixtures and ceramic tile are pink with dubonnet accents. The curtains are pink and gold; the shower curtain dubonnet.

Bedroom furniture is dark green with blond fronts. The headboard for the twin beds is brown quilted silk like the spread. The matching cinnamon skirt is plain brown. Draperies are off-white with a design in pink and brown.

A short hallway connects the living room with the service area of the house. Short aqua swinging doors close off the kitchen from the dubonnet hallway.

PADDED WALLS

In two corners there are triangular shelves fitted in. The side of the sink counter facing this section is padded in turquoise plastic.

Walls are yellow. The floor is covered in mottled beige linoleum. All counter tops are yellow ceramic tile, edged in aqua. Cabinets are natural finished birch. The stove has the four individual hinged units that fit flat against the wall when not in use.

The kitchen planter is one families with small children might like to copy. A plywood shelf is suspended over the sink on brass chains fastened to the ceiling. On it is a bamboo planter. The plants hang down over the edges of the shelf. Of course this hanging shelf might tempt some youngsters to try a trapeze act; but it's worth a try.

The dining room is unusual. It has no outside window, only one of ribbed glass between it and the master bathroom. There are folding doors that separate this room from the family-utility room.

Walls are pale sandalwood in color. The carpet is aqua. The dining room furniture, specially made of birch with black trim, includes a table, two servers and a buffet. Chairs have old rose upholstery.

When the Kimmins entertain, they use both this dining room and the family room. Bamboo draw drapes hide the washer, and double sink, dryer. For serving, these are covered with a board. When not in use, they can be easily hidden from sight.

★ ★ ★

The floor has a homespun type striped rug on it. Furniture is casual. A second TV set is here. Just outside is a porch with jalousie windows. In warm weather this gives three rooms that open into one another for parties. Draperies can shut off the entire porch wall on the inside, if desired.

★ ★ ★

The Kimmins' house was built by a Mr. McNeill of Birmingham. Mr. McNeill builds houses of his own design, lives in them for a time, then sells them. It will be just a year in January that the Kimmins have lived in their new home.

PROTECTED FROM DRAFTS — These youngsters playing on the floor are protected from chills by this new radiant heat screen which blocks drafts and keeps the children warm with radiant heat rays. The screen heats like the sun, with radiant rays which warm a person directly rather than the air around him.

Heater Warms Like the Sun

A heater that provides individualized comfort anywhere it is used and has the beauty of fine furniture is the newest thing in portable electric heaters.

★ ★ ★

Warming a person directly instead of the air around him, this heater takes the form of a beautiful three-panel screen, similar to the old-fashioned divider screens which once again are becoming popular. It provides warmth in the same manner as the sun, with radiant rays.

★ ★ ★

This radiant heat screen is ideal for use by an individual in nurseries, bedrooms, sun porches, or almost any other room. Set up around a bathinette or next to a crib, it will keep a child warm while he's being bathed or is sleeping. Youngsters playing on the floor in a drafty area can be protected from chills.

Of unusual appeal is the fact that the screen never becomes too warm to the touch. Controlled by a thermostat, its maximum surface temperature never exceeds 150 degrees, so a person can place a hand or arm on it without feeling any discomfort. There is no danger of this Arvin heater scorching or burning anything that comes in contact with it.

★ ★ ★

Outstandingly styled as a beautiful piece of furniture as well as a heater, the radiant heat screen has a front of rich black quilted vinyl plastic, silver embossed plastic trim, and a golden hued frame. All the heat rays are emitted through the front. The laminated construction makes the heater one of the most fool-proof and safest ever known.

Don't Poison the Kids With Harmful Paint!

When painting children's toys or furniture, be sure the paint you are using is recommended by your dealer for that purpose. DON'T USE PAINT LEFT OVER AFTER YOUR HUSBAND HAS PAINTED THE HOUSE. Read the label before starting the job. Young children chew on everything, especially when teething.. The makers of chemical coatings supply manufacturers of children's toys with furniture paints for new products which cannot harm the youngsters.

This important subject is discussed fully in the booklet, "Painting Toys and Children's Furniture." It will be sent to you free of charge. Write to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Ave., N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

Wall Oven Door Comes to Waist

★ ★ ★

Bringing the oven up from the floor and putting it into the kitchen wall is probably one of the most welcomed innovations in modern kitchen design.

Some builders, though, are going too far with the oven. It's not like a picture on the wall that should be at eye level. (Even if the modern colorful built-in ovens are lovely to look at!)

The oven also should be adjacent to the work counters of the kitchen. And these work counters should all be surfaced with a burnproof, scratchproof material like ceramic tile. Remember the time when you brought the Thanksgiving turkey from the oven and sat it down on your new stock-type counter — and burned a big roasting-pan hole in the "inexpensive" surfacing of your counter!

Cornell University researchers say that each oven ideally should be custom-fitted into the wall, because no two housewives are alike. But for the mass builder they recommend installing the oven so that the bottom of the door (not the bottom of the oven itself) measures about 36 inches from the floor.

Plumbing Must Be Good

The plumbing system should be thought of as the common denominator — the connecting link between all homes and public buildings in a community. From this it can readily be seen that a single faulty installation can endanger the health of all by permitting contamination of the water supply.

NEWS VIEWS

Around this time of year most folks are interested in turkeys or stuffed goose . . . but some fellows are still looking beyond the holidays. I hear that some Midwest livestock scientists are developing the "pig of tomorrow" . . . a plush porker that will supply two extra pork chops and won't know a hog wallow from a pool table.

From all reports, the squealers are getting top drawer treatment. The animals will be born in a "hog hatchery," and they won't even be allowed to wallow in the mud. It seems like a sort of dirty trick when you think how happy the hogs usually look while lolling around in their mud baths. Now they'll have air conditioning and radiant heat . . . and they're expected to turn out more meat and lard. Or else.

Mark Twain once said, "To be good is noble, but to teach others to be good is nobler . . . and less trouble." Guess that's why we don't always mind our own business.

It's our business to know other people's businesses . . . particularly when they're being bought or sold. Come in and consult us about any investment plans or problems you may have. You're always welcome . . . and there's no obligation involved. Remember Realtor Partridge is the "bird" to see. 1050 W. Huron St., FE 4-3581.

Let Everyone Paint

Painting a house can be a family project. Teamwork makes the job more fun. The husband can take the high, hard, ladder jobs, and the wife can paint the low walls and trim. Sills take a beating from the weather, so it is a good idea to give them a pre-coating, which can be done quickly from the inside of the house. This way they get an extra coat of paint when you do the entire house.

Asbestos Siding Now 25

This is the silver anniversary year for asbestos-cement siding shingles. The first shingles of this type, made of portland cement and asbestos fibers, were produced in 1932. Now they are among the most widely used of exterior siding materials.

Stairways can be made safer by nailing pieces of hardboard to the treads with the rough side up.

LARGE MODEL — This model home, open on Union Lake road, south of the Union Lake shopping district, is a large one. Built by Suburbanite Home Builders, it has nine rooms and an attached 2½ car garage. There are two fireplaces. This is not a subdivision; the builders will construct this model on the buyer's lot or on a lot they sell him.

The proportion of young married couples owning their own homes has increased substantially in the last seven years. Forty per cent of today's home owners are between the ages of 25 and 34, compared with 30 per cent in 1949.

Do-It-Yourself Polish

Choosing furniture polishes is a matter of taste. If you wish, you can make your own. Try a polish of one cup turpentine with two cups boiled linseed oil and a quarter cup of vinegar. For a lighter polish, substitute lemon or paraffin oil for the boiled linseed.

Ceramic mosaic "murals" can enhance the beauty of any room in the house. Scratchproof, crackproof, they are equally serviceable in walls, floors and countertops.

We're Coming Up—for Room

Clear the cobwebs, we're coming up!

And why not? The attic is ideal for room expansion. Give the spiders their eviction notice and we're all set to expand.

★ ★ ★

In these days of tight credit, remodeling often makes more sense than purchasing a new home. If such is the case and you plan on moving up rather than out, here's some pointers on attic modernizing.

★ ★ ★

Extra-large windows in end walls will increase light and ventilation.

A sturdy handrail for the attic stairs is a must. If it's converted into an extra bedroom, the attic can be made a self-sufficient unit by the installation of a lavatory. Ceramic tile wall and floor surfacing will insure sanitation and protect the downstairs from seepage.

Often a hot-box in summer and ice-box in winter, the attic can be brought close to house temperature through roof and wall insulation. A ventilating fan near the stairs will insure good air circulation. Built-in furniture including window seats, corner bookcases, desks and even beds, will save space, so important in attics with low ceilings.

With ceramic tile wainscots for easy cleaning, durability and color-warmth, the attic or a partitioned section of it can make an effective nursery or children's game room. Built-in tile covered toy shelves, cleaned with a swipe of the cloth, will simplify maintenance.

★ ★ ★

If part of the attic must be a private warehouse, separate it from the rest of the area by a plywood partition. Small storage bins will prevent wrecking the whole storage area to find one article.

Safeguard Home With New Paint

Don't deny yourselves the enjoyment to be derived from a newly painted house. When you come right down to it, the cost of the paint which can work such fonders for your home is remarkably low. When you divide it by the three to five years it will last, you'll discover that you can safeguard your home and maintain your pride in it for just a few pennies each day.

★ ★ ★

If you want a detailed guide of how to proceed in doing a good job of painting your house, send for the booklet, "A New Coat of Color," which will be sent you free of charge. Write to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Avenue, N.W., Washington 5, D.C.

Lab to Check on Radiation Rating

A laboratory to provide facilities for the unbiased check testing of ratings of all radiation bearing the I-B-R emblem was recently dedicated at the University of Illinois.

The laboratory is financed by The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers which also sponsors a research program in hot water heating and chilled cooling at the University of Illinois.

The work of the laboratory will be of value to every homeowner who uses hot water heating and/or chilled water cooling, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out.

The unbiased ratings of all types of radiation provided by the laboratory will assure householders that the equipment they purchase, provided it carries the I-B-R emblem, will measure up to the claims of the manufacturer.

Any manufacturer of baseboards, convectors, or finned tube radiation may rate his products in accordance with I-B-R testing and rating codes, whether a member of I-B-R or not.

New Camera Spots Trouble

If things went wrong with the old-fashioned dug well, the hole was large enough in most cases so that you could enter the excavation to search for the source of the trouble.

Not so with the modern drilled well of four-or six-inch diameter. But, science has a pat solution to the problem — a camera that takes pictures of the inside of a well as it is being drilled.

This seeing eye gives a photographic log of the well, removing all guesswork as to the probable cause of well shortcomings should they develop, the National Water Well Association points out.

The camera is more than a trouble-shooter, though, the association adds. With a picture record of the progress of drilling, the contractor handling the job finds it easier to explain what is happening underground, and the customer is better satisfied with results.

Here's an instance of how the new camera proves its worth. In a recent case reported by the association, a deep well began to run dry. There were all sorts of guesses as to the reason, but the camera lowered in the well to the point of trouble gave the answer, ending speculation.

The well wasn't drying up. The water source was as good as ever, but inlets to the well had become clogged from corrosion. It was a simple and inexpensive cleaning operation to unplug the inlets and restore the full flow of water into the well.

Family Needs Basement

There are many factors to consider in deciding between a home with a slab foundation or a basement. If your family is still growing, the basement may prove much more valuable. If you decide you want a basement, surface the floor and walls with colorful and durable material like ceramic tile; the room, then, will be all ready for family expansion. A slab foundation is perfectly suitable where there is little likelihood of family expansion.

Get a Loan for Repairs

Before cold weather sets in, most home-owners want to make whatever changes and repairs are needed for their houses. To pay for the work and materials necessary to carry out a program of painting and renovating, FHA Title I property improvement loans are available from qualified lending institutions in amounts up to $3,500.

DOOR REPAIRS — If a storm tears loose your storm-screen door check, snaps the safety chain or springs hinges, chances are that you can make the necessary repairs.

Go On! Repair the Door

Distributed by NEA Service

The combination door didn't close properly. And there you are, hanging on to it for dear life while a storm does its best to tear it from your grasp and complete the destruction the first, slam-bang opening caused.

You'll be in no mood to meditate on repair procedures, but the incident might serve to remind you that even doors need periodic inspection and maintenance to keep them working properly.

Let's suppose, for example, that your door is of aluminum, set in an aluminum frame which in turn is fastened to the wood door frame.

Hinges have been bent, metal rod in the pneumatic door closer is bent, S-hook at end of the safety chain has been almost straightened out. And the frame has been partially pulled away from the door jamb.

The first task is to fix things temporarily. Unscrew coupling that attaches door closer to jamb. Push frame back in place—a few light blows with a wooden mallet should do the job.

Loosen hinges, pull pins, reset door in frame, put pins back and tighten hinges.

Your door won't be in working condition, but at least you won't have to hang on to it while you plan your attack on the actual damage.

Frame screws will have to be replaced, usually, with longer and possibly heavier screws. Tighten frame so that it squares up sufficiently to eliminate rub where door meets frame.

If you have a shop anvil, you can have a try at straightening hinges. The shoe from an old iron, ironing surface up and mounted on a board, makes a fine portable anvil.

Lay door on the drive, with hinge on anvil and try pounding it out. Work carefully. Aluminum is soft enough so that moderate pounding only is needed.

Pounding directly on drive or sidewalk is not recommended.

Here's where you'll need a hand. Have someone help by holding the door in place before you tighten hinge screws. Wedge door at threshold and on its open side while you set hinges and tighten screws.

If door sags after wedges are removed, you'll have to use larger screws or drill new holes in hinges to take the old ones. Fill old holes with one of the plastic-aluminum compounds now in the market.

★ ★ ★

If connections for your door closer are bent only, you'll be able to straighten them. However, if steel shaft of closer is bent or if metal is torn, it's best to buy a new unit.

Drill new holes for fastening if you can't match exactly the original equipment. Fill old holes in the door with plastic-aluminum compound. Straighten S-hook with large pliers.

While you have your tools out, check the strike plate for the door catch. It's usually extended outward from door frame with several strips of wood or metal, and looks much like a party sandwich. Remove or add strips until plate is positioned properly for your rehung door.

★ ★ ★

Lubricate hinges, door closer and the lock with powdered graphite.

★ ★ ★

And make sure that that door is closed, and latched, next time a storm blows up in your area.

Winter Freezes Ruin Plumbing

In cold weather, when families are away from home, ice may form within a plumbing system, rupturing pipes, damaging fixtures and running up costly repair bills.

Most people, home throughout winter months, use their plumbing facilities often enough to prevent freezing. But before heading toward warmer climates on a winter vacation, others fail to take precautions that could save them money.

Cut off your home's water supply at the street where it connects to the city system. Either a plumber or, in some cases, the city water authority, can do this. Next, turn off the water valve inside the house.

Open all faucets so water in the pipes can drain out. Then — it's generally wiser to call on the plumber here—empty water from toilet bowls and tanks, from water heaters and hot water heating systems, and from the furnace dehumidifying system if it's linked to the plumbing system.

Sometimes it's wise for the plumber to remove all water from "S" shaped traps under the sinks, lavatories and bathtubs, refilling them with non-freezing liquids as protection.

Should you have a "pipe-freeze," see if the expanding ice has cracked the pipe. If it hasn't, soak some towels in hot water and wrap around the frozen area. Repeat this until the ice melts. Pour boiling water down a clogged drain.

The safest remedy of all is the plumber. He has the experience and know-how to keep your bathroom and kitchen fixtures in the best working condition.

More Spent on Additions

American home owners spent an estimated $2.7 billion on home additions and alterations in the first seven months of 1957, reports the United States Savings and Loan League. The League said such expenditures were 9 per cent above the amount spent in the same period of 1956.

Allow Six Per Cent for Waste in Wood

Are you allowing at least 6 per cent for waste when ordering wood for construction work? It's a good idea to do so, advise power tool experts of Thor Power Tool Company, Chicago.

A power saw "kerf"—the width of its cut—is 3/16 inch. The more cutting you do, the more 3/16 inch waste results. The 6 per cent also covers waste ends and scrap and allows for some of your work habits in doing the job.

Medium of Mosaics Revived

How ingenious are you? Are you imaginative? Are you the type of personality who has an attraction for the unusual? Then here is a do-it-yourself "art hobby" that will satisfy even the most artistic temperament.

Since the beginning of civilization the human being was able to express his creative skill through the use of colored stones, shells, and other fragmentary bits, placing them together on a flat surface to create his expression of mood or thought. As the years passed the art form was organized, becoming more complicated and involved. Glass and ceramic pieces were used (these pieces are called tesserae). Great Mosaic artists developed and this rich art form was put into countless uses. The interior decor of churches included precious stones and gold in their construction; facades of buildings, furniture inlay methods developed. Mosaics were classed with the great oil paintings by great masters. Most of this mosaic work is now priceless and untouchable.

This great field of Mosaic Art was of vast interest to Max Klein, of the L. M. G. Corporation; in fact so much so that he ventured to Ravenna, Italy, home of what is considered to be the greatest mosaic works in Western Europe. Klein will be remembered for making his paint-by-number pictures the great national hobby pastime it is today. Klein is again working for the artistically inclined type, and due to his efforts, TYLART Mosaics has become a hobby that is sweeping the country within the financial reach of everyone.

But just what is TYLART? How does it work, and what do you do with it? For the person who is attracted to the mosaic influence, Klein has worked out a plan whereby Mosaic Art becomes a hobby that is easy and practical in kit form: Choice of two types of tiles; Ceramic, in 40 colors including Scotch plaids, mottled and marbleized effects; opaque Venetian Glass in 48 beautiful rainbow hues, (all tiles are of the finest quality, imported from Italy); tile nippers, cement, grout (which is used to fill the spaces between tiles), wood table forms, legs for the tables, and various pre-numbered patterns.

Now let us go through the steps of making a table and see how it goes:

1. Type of tile and colors to be used are selected.
2. Your pattern or a TYLART pre-numbered pattern is placed on a wood form and traced, using carbon paper.
3. Tiles are cut, if necessary, fitted and cemented into pattern.
4. Grout is used to fill the spaces between the tiles.
5. Table is washed.
6. Legs are put on and "Voila" a timeless TYLART.

Pontiac High put together a well balanced scoring attack to open the Saginaw Valley Conference with a 62-49 victory over a scrappy Arthur Hill quintet last night.

The Chiefs started and finished strong, but in between the last two quarters, numerous court violations hampered the scoring attack.

After the first stanza, in which Jim Skinner hit for eight points, Pontiac led 21-14 and it was 30-25 at halftime.

Arthur Hill moved within one point, 25-24 in the second period, but an outburst of temper by Art Street proved costly for the Lumberjacks.

After taking a rebound Street was called for traveling and in anger he threw the ball. Jim Skinner sunk the free throw on the technical and then Whitmer scored a two-pointer in getting possession to push Pontiac ahead 28-24 and from here the Chiefs were never seriously threatened.

★ ★ ★

Center Hudson Ray, with four fouls on him, sat out much of the third period, but in the 4th quarter he hit for three straight field goals and finished with 17 points to lead Pontiac.

Skinner got 15 for the evening, Charley Barge 14 and Whitmer 12.

For Arthur Hill, 6-4 center Paul Doersom had the best night of his career with 17 points. Used specifically for his rebounding, Doersom dropped in seven field goals.

Both teams were guilty of many floor violations, 13 called on the Jacks and nine on Pontiac.

After three periods Pontiac had a 40-34 lead and kept a six point spread most of the way.

The Chiefs attempted 63 shots and hit on 24 for a 38 per cent shooting effort while Arthur Hill connected on 21 of 52 attempts for 40 per cent.

Ray tried 11 shots and made six, four coming on rebounds, while Doersom made seven of 12.

In other league games, a speedy Flint Central quintet won its 4th game and Valley opener by bombing Bay City 83-41, while Saginaw topped Flint Northern 64-55.

After a 11-10 first period, Flint Central poured in 30 points in the second period and 28 in the third quarter to complete the rout. Felix Miller with 18, Chuck Hyslop with 17, John Kirk 11 and Dale Lucas 10 topped the 11 Central scorers.

Rams, Eaglets Easy Victors

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac St. Frederick's cagers won their season's first game Friday night, and Orchard Lake St. Mary's rolled over another parochial foe for its 2nd straight league success.

Both wins were achieved the easy way, with the winners taking early leads and expanding their margins speedily.

Rams simply steam-rollered an inept St. Clement five from Center Line 58-31, with a hot exhibition of scoring by husky Tom Derocher the outstanding job. Tom collected 24 points, 17 of them in the first half. Nick Nickerson had a good streak going also, and banged in a 16-point total. Between them, they outscored the entire Crusader club, whose top point-maker was long Gary Gatham with eight.

Rams more than doubled the count on the visitors, 20-9, in the opener, ran it to 38-14 at halftime. After that Coach Gene Wright began to use his subs and the scoring slowed up.

Orchard Lake Eaglets maneuvered into a short, 3-point edge at the first period, stretched it to seven at halftime and then pulled the throttle all the way out for an 18-point total and a 48-39 final count over Ferndale St. James. Eaglets were never headed.

St. Mary faces St. Benedict next Tuesday in what the Eaglets figure will be a highly important test for league leadership.

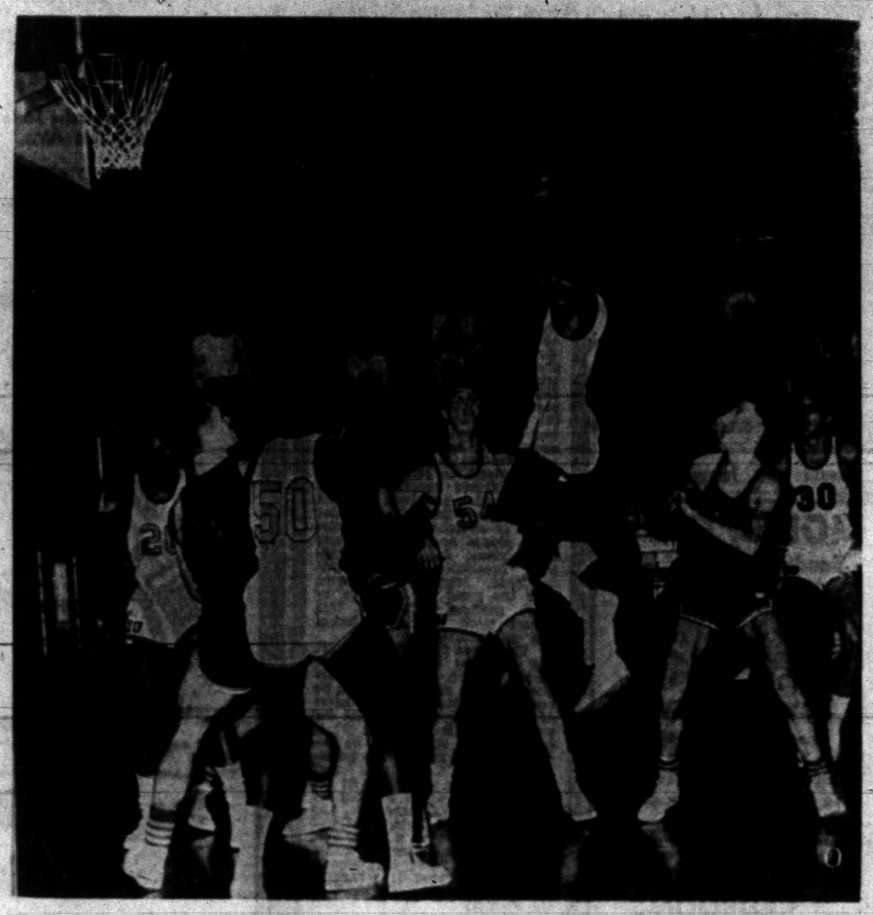
It's Easy for Parkers

Len Nowicki poured 23 points through the hoop as Hazel Park High School's basketball team walloped Royal Oak Kimball, 63-25, at Royal Oak Friday night. Larry Clyma added 10 points to the Parker cause. An eight-point effort by John Kennedy was high for Kimball.



UP AND IN — Pontiac guard Charley Barge goes way up for jump shot to hit on one of six field goals as the Chiefs defeated Arthur Hill 62-49 last night. Barge had 14 points. In the photo are Harrison Munson (50) Jim Skinner (54) Dick Whitmer (30) of Pontiac and Paul Doersom (53) of Arthur Hill.

YEA, CHIEFS — The word on everybody's lips at this point is "yea" for the Chiefs who opened Saginaw Valley action by downing Arthur Hill, 62-49, on the PHS court. Pontiac is now 2-0 for the season, and next Friday comes the crucial game in the league with Pontiac visiting Flint Central which is 4-0 for the season.

Clarkston, Holly Share W-O Lead

By CHUCK ABAIR

Holly had a busy evening of it before tripping Milford 66-52, Brighton made Friday the 13th a day to remember for Northville by nipping the Mustangs, 46-43.

Leroy Parks' scoring and playmaking was too much for Bloomfield Hills as the Clarkston ace rung up 23 points and set up many others. He hit 7 of 11 shots from the floor and connected on nine straight foul shots after a miss.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston held a 30-30 lead at halftime before going into a 3rd period stall against the Barons' zone defense. The result was a total of nine points scored in the period. The Wolves wrapped it up in the final session.

Four Holly cagers hit double figures led by Amos Bradsher with 17 and Bill Taylor's 12. Little Frank Redman of Milford was high man for the game with 18 and teammate Jerry Stanley contributed 14.

★ ★ ★

Northville, defending co-champion with Clarkston and pre-season favorite, had plenty of wind taken out of its sails. Brighton led 27-23 at halftime and 34-32 after three periods.

The losers went ahead 43-42 in the final minute but two foul conversions by Russ Hudson and a field goal by Brian Watson decided the issue. Watson and Hudson led Brighton with a combined 33 points. Bill Yahne tallied 17 for Northville.

Holly's Bob Bradsher poured in 17 points to lead the Broncos to their 3rd win of the season against one defeat. Bradsher hit on seven field goals and three free throws. Bill Taylor was next with 12 points.

AVON STAR — Forward Dennis Evans starred for Avondale last night as the Yellow Jackets defeated Clawson, 49-47, in an Oakland B League basketball game at Clawson. Evans scored 18 points to pace the Avon attack.

Rochester Rips Davison, 64-36

Heavy Cage Slate

The Wolverines are host to Washington of St. Louis, while the Spartans entertain Colorado.

U. of D. will have its hands full with highly ranked University of Louisville on the Titan court.

Berkley Thumps Jays, 51-45

Skippers, Walled Lake Fall

By BILL CORNWELL

A well-balanced Berkley quintet came through with an impressive victory, but Waterford and Walled Lake received unexpected haymakers as the Inter-Lakes Conference basketball race got under way Friday night.

Walled Lake, defending Inter-Lakes co-champion with Berkley, was stunned by visiting Van Dyke, 42-38, and Waterford's invasion of Farmington backfired as the Skippers bowed, 54-43.

Southfield, figured to be Berkley's strongest contender for Inter-Lakes honors this season, made too many errors against the slick-passing Bears. The Jays lost the ball repeatedly on wild throws and other assorted mistakes.

A dismal 1st half doomed any chance the Jays might have had for a victory. Berkley methodically piled up a 24-12 halftime lead and the Jays could never close the gap.

The Bluejays trailed entering the 2nd quarter, 14-3, after making only one field goal in 10 attempts during the first eight minutes. They outscored the Bears in the 2nd half, but never came closer than six points.

Bob Shull, speedy forward, meshed 16 points to lead the Jays. Teammate Bob Filar contributed 10.

Miserable 2nd and 3rd quarters ruined the Skippers. They held a 19-11 edge at the end of the 1st period, but managed to net only 14 during the next two stanzas as Farmington forged ahead, 37-33. A strong 4th period sewed it up for the Falcons.

Waterford pulled even at 29-29 early in the 3rd quarter, but promptly fell behind and never caught the Falcons again. Al LeSage sparked Farmington with 14 points and Jim Devine's 11 markers were tops for the Skippers.

The score was 19-19 at halftime and the two teams fought tooth and nail until the final three minutes when Van Dyke pulled away. The Vikings shot a cold 23 per cent on field goal attempts.

★ ★ ★

A 21-point spree by Bob Hatch was high for Van Dyke while Larry Vandervelde sparked the Vikings with 12.

U. S. Net Team Beats Belgium

BRISBANE (INS) — The United States wrapped up a 3-2 victory over Belgium in the interzone finals today and qualified to meet Australia in the Davis Cup challenge round.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia broke a 2-2 tie and won the challenge round berth for the U. S. by defeating Jack Brichant in the final singles.

Seixas won the final match over Brichant 10-8, 6-0, 6-1. The first set took more than an hour. Brilliant playing by both kept the set seesawing, but Seixas finally won 10-8 with a beautiful volley.

Pontiac Matmen Down Fitzgerald

Quick pins by John Herron, Dave Payne and Duke Relyea played a key role in a 35-13 Pontiac wrestling victory over Fitzgerald Friday.

Herron, a 165-pounder, topped the trio with his 45-second win. Impressive decision triumphs by Mel Nosenchuk, Jim Powell, Willie Duncan, Rasmo Travino and Neil Smith made it easy for the Chiefs.

It was Pontiac's 1st mat victory against one defeat. Mel Mercier and Bill Cowie had the Fitzgerald pins.

Manchester Bumps Lyon

Eight different players got in the scoring act but they totaled only 30 as South Lyon dropped a 52-30 decision to strong Manchester in a League of the Lakes contest last night.

Avon Wins, 49-47; Orion Bows to Troy

Avondale survived a stone-cold 3rd quarter to gain an important Oakland B League triumph last night, but an even colder 3rd period for Lake Orion proved fatal in the opening round of conference action.

The Yellow Jackets hung on to defeat Clawson, 49-47, following a feeble five-point effort in the 3rd stanza which nearly evaporated a 31-19 halftime advantage.

Lake Orion, favored to win the Oakland B title, was limited to a skimpy three points in the 3rd period as Troy rallied for a 53-47 triumph.

Avon's 3rd-quarter letdown enabled Clawson to pull within one point, 36-35, as the final stanza began. The Jackets rallied their forces and upped their margin to seven points.

A fine team effort featured Avondale's opening defense of its co-championship. Dennis Evans spearheaded the scoring with 18 points and center Jerry Hill, who tallied 10 points, was a tower of strength on the backboards. Clawson's George Almashy captured game honors with 21 points.

Orion held a 28-21 lead at intermission, but the Colts collected 19 points during the Dragons' 3rd-quarter collapse to go in front, 40-31. The Dragons' 4th-period rally was too little and too late.

Jim Drake and Nick Niera, Orion's double-barreled scoring punch, were almost completely throttled in the 2nd half. Drake was tops for the Dragons with 16 points and Niera wound up getting a dozen. Bob Shuler was runner-up to Drake with 14.

Lanky Dick Booth, Don Harned and Bill Hansen paced the Colts, who divided Oakland B honors with Avon last season. Booth netted 14 points while Harned and Hansen had 13 apiece.

Fitzgerald raced to a 32-15 halftime lead and breezed past the Madison Eagles. Bob Bush and Frank Birdwell led the Spartan attack with 16 and 15 points respectively.

Ortonville, Imlay Win

The Blackhawks led most of the way to defeat county rival 61-48, while Imlay was outscoring Millington 38-28 in a defensive duel.

Ortonville trailed 9-4 early in the first period but never again the rest of the game as Chuck Graves hooped 20 points and Dan Follis added 16. Don Somers led Oxford with 14, three others had 10.

Imlay had to overcome a 22-21 deficit in the 3rd period in posting its 3rd straight season triumph and 19th in a row in regular season play. Jim Ward's 13 paced the attack. John Kish topped the losers with 11.

Almont Has Thumb Lead

Almont was in sole possession of the Southern Thumb League lead today after winning its third straight game in dumping Dryden 51-36 last night.

Armada suffered its first loss, 47-33 to Memphis and New Haven squeezed by Brown City 26-23 in other STL games.

Gary Emery hit for 18 and Jim Ostrander collected 14 for Almont, which outscored Dryden by only one field goal 15-14 but hit for 21 of 31 free throws.

Dryden led after one period, 11-10, but after a 19-14 Almont lead at halftime, Dryden never caught up.

It was 22-22 between Memphis and Armada at halftime but Memphis moved ahead by seven in the 3rd quarter and never lost the lead as Johnson hit 17, Burns 10 and Likens 10.

Playing without Jerry Foss, out with a broken ankle, New Haven broke a 17-16 third period deficit with 10 points in the last quarter to win.

Lapeer Beaten, 57-40

Breaking away from a 16-16 deadlock, Flushing went on to hand Lapeer its 1st defeat in two starts last night, 57-40. Bob Born was the Flushing kingpin with 21 points.

Utica Is Upset by Romeo, 42-40

Trailing 25-22 at halftime, Romeo bounced back to hold Utica scoreless from the floor from then on for a 42-40 upset victory, one of several on the heavy Friday schedule.

Romeo's 2nd victory was led by Bill Redman and Ray Ritter with 16 and 13 points, respectively. Jim Cole hooped 12 in the losing cause, including 10 on fouls.

The victory brought about an unusual twist since Utica had beaten Rochester last week after the Falcons had walloped Romeo.

Toughest Tests Facing Detroit and Baltimore

49ers Have Easiest Assignment in Chase for Championship

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Western Conference title in the National Footbal League will be on the line tomorrow with San Francisco, Detroit and Baltimore each hoping to finish on top. And among the three, the 49ers appear to have the easiest assignment.

★ ★ ★

Since the leading teams are deadlocked with 7-4 records it is quite possible a triple tie will result after tomorrow's action, necessitating a complicated playoff to decide which club will challenge the Cleveland Browns for the league championship.

Most of the important doings will take pace on the West Coast where the 49ers will tangle with the Green Bay Packers and Baltimore with the Los Angeles Rams. Detroit will face the Bears in Chicago.

San Francisco will be seeking its fourth straight victory over Green Bay. The 49ers whipped the Packers 24-14 last month and are rated two touchdown favorites to repeat.

In their first meeting this season, the Colts walloped the Rams 31-14. But that one was in Baltimore. The contest figures to shape up as a passing duel between Baltimore's John Unitas and Los Angeles' Norm Van Brocklin.

Detroit, which remained in contention by turning back Cleveland 20-7 last Sunday, dropped a 27-7 verdict to the Bears earlier in the season. The Bears are favored by three points.

★ ★ ★

The Giants' loss to Pittsburgh a week ago put the "so what" tag on their game against Cleveland, the Eastern Division champs, tomorrow.

Knowing the pressure will be on the Lions, Coach Paddy Driscoll says his Bears will come up with "something a little new."

Paddy also divulged that he expected the Lions to come up with something new. This, of curse, might not be a matter of choice in Detroit's case.

The Lions will be playing without two of their top offensive stars —quarterback Bobby Layne and halfback Gene Gedman. Both were injured in Detroit's victory over Cleveland last Sunday. Layne suffered a fractured ankle and Gedman a shoulder separation.

LUCKY "13TH" — Friday the 13th was anything but unlucky for Pontiac bowler Bill Furlong. The 32-year-old Pontiac Motor axle plant employe bowled a perfect 300 game at Huron Bowl yesterday. It was the first one rolled in the eight-year history of the establishment.

Starts With '59 Schedule

Big 10 Okays Ten Games

CHICAGO (AP)—Approval of a 10-game football season and the possibility of liberalizing recruiting practices highlighted the Big Ten Conference meetings yesterday.

★ ★ ★

A proposal to up the football schedule from nine to 10 games beginning with the 1959 season is passed by at a joint meeting of faculty representatives and athletic directors.

The move to increase games will be adopted if there are no objections from one or more individual schools within 60 days.

★ ★ ★

If there is an objection, the matter will be suspended until the March meetings when it will again be brought up and require a majority vote for adoption.

The present rule permits a school to schedule nine games within 10 weeks. The new proposal would permit 10 games within 10 weeks.

A progress report towards liberalizing recruiting practices by a special committee was discussed amidst divided opinion. The committee on recruiting practices, made up of chairman Stanley V. Kinyon, Minnesota faculty representative; Commissioner K. L. "Tug" Wilson, and Clarence L. Munn, Michigan State athletic director, was told to present specific proposals at the March meetings.

Points discussed included allowing a school representative to approach a prospective athlete off the campus and providing a prospective athlete with transportation for one visit to the campus.

The meetings will end today with possible action on a suggestion to curb "red-shirting." The term refers to keeping an athlete in school for five years instead of the customary four years and using his eligibility to advantage.

No settlement was reached on 1962 conference football schedules, and the matter was deferred to the March meetings at Champaign Ill., where the 1963 and 1964 schedules also will be considered.

Three Michigan State swimmers have been in the Olympics. Clarke Scholes was the most successful, winning a gold medal in the 1952 games.

Rules of Second Annual Bowlerama Are Defined

Entries for the 1958 2nd annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama are starting to come in and indications are that the total number of bowlers may exceed the 1957 total and possibly the total expected this year for the men's and women's divisions.

The prize list for the men's division is based on 500 entries, however, whether this total is reached or not, the top three finalists among the men are guaranteed for prizes of $450, $225 and $125.

Whether the number of women entries surpasses the 250 expected or not, the women's champion will still get $250 guaranteed first prize, and $125 for second and $75 for third.

All of these positions, plus possibly 70 to 100 other bowlers, depending on entries, will figure in the prize list. Every bowler who qualifies is assured of a prize.

The Pontiac Press is adding $400 in prize money, trophies and gift prizes. A list of gift prizes for various fetes during the tournament will be announced shortly.

So as to clarify any questions pertaining to the rules of the Bowlerama these are the interpretations made:

RULE 1 — Bowlers must present their highest league average for 1957 as of Nov. 1.

The pertains to the 1957-58 bowling season using officially Sept. 1 as the starting date. Any bowler who has rolled a required 18 games from Sept. 1 to Nov. 1, will use his highest league average as of Nov. 1. Any bowler who did not get 18 games in before Nov. 1, will then use his highest league average from the period of Nov. 1 through, and as of, Dec. 31, 1957. Many bowlers, without looking at the rule denoted at the bottom of the entry blank, were of the opinion that the entire year of 1957 was the basis for determining the average. This was not meant as such, but it pertains to the start of the 1957-58 season.

RULE 2 — Anyone falsifying his or her average will be disqualified and will forefeit right to any or all prizes or return of fees.

If you have bowled 18 games between September 1st and November 1st you must present your highest league average as of this period. Your league secretary will be checked and the Detroit ABC office will be checked. For those who did not bowl 18 games between Sept. 1 and Nov. 1, the period November 1 to December 31 will be used as denoted in rule 1.

RULE 3 — Tournament manager reserves the right to reject any and all entries.

The duly authorized tournament manager in the Bowlerama is the sports editor of the Press. Since an entry must be a full time resident of Oakland County, the tournament manager must refuse any entry of a non-Oakland County citizen. A person who bowls outside of Oakland County but is a resident of Oakland County can enter the tournament.

RULE 4 — Tournament will be conducted in strict adherence with ABC and WIBC rules.

Any matter which arises during the tournament, the final decision will rest in accordance to ABC and WIBC rules. The ABC and WIBC will also be the final check in any dispute concerning handicap and league averages.

RULE 5 — Final qualifiers will pay for additional 3 games in finals.

All bowlers who have bowled a qualifying round in accordance to the rules will be eligible to enter the final round if he or she has a score within the top 10 per cent, plus last place ties, of the total number of qualifiers in each division. There will be 10 per cent of the men and 10 per cent of the women in the finals. Upon entering the finals the bowler will pay for his own three games.

RULE 6 — No post or substitute entries.

The men's deadline date is midnight February 2nd. The women's deadline is midnight February 10th. All entries will be delivered by the alley or picked up by the tournament manager as early as possible the following morning after the deadline date. No entries will be accepted after these dates.

Should a bowler fail to bowl at his given time and place, no other person can substitute himself for that bowler or as another entry. Men's qualifying date, time and respective site will be printed in the Press on Wednesday, Feb. 5 and Thursday, Feb. 7. Women's qualifying date, time and site will be printed on Thursday, Feb. 13.

Carter, Mrs. Ladewig Win Titles

Keg Champs Crowned

CHICAGO (AP) — A shovel-style hurler from St. Louis and a deliberate strike-and-spare bowling grandmother from Grand Rapids Mich., last night added the World's Invitational titles to the all-star crowns both already wear.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, Mrs. Marion Ladewig, 43, breezed to a 10.38 point margin over Phyllis Notaro, 29, of Brant, N.Y.

Carter, three-time all-star winner, received $5,000 in prize money. The victory was worth $2,500 to Mrs. Ladewig, who has won the all-star six out of eight times.

Although Carter lost his final match to Hennessey by 30 pins, 910-880 for four games, he still had enough of a cushion to enable him to take the title.

"I was in good shape and the ball was doing just what I thought it would," Carter said as he explained his 213 plus average for 64 games in the finals.

★ ★ ★

Carter looks unlike any bowler who has ever graced the national tournament scene. He bends his elbow, comparable to not keeping a stiff left arm in golf; he almost pits his chin on the floor, and he "shovels" the ball rather than throws it like the other finalists.

His final tally was 313.36 points to Hennessey's 311.08 while Eddie Lubanski, a former minor league pitcher from Detroit, took third with 304.35 points.

Mrs. Ladewig went into the final position round far ahead of Miss Notaro and then beat her to finish far ahead of the field.

Marion finished with 158.10 while Miss Notaro had 147.22 and third place Marge Merrick of Detroit had 146.34.

★ ★ ★

"I've been bowling poorly lately," Mrs. Ladewig admitted, "but when this tournament starts, I just start to go again."

Marion was the only woman in the field to average better than 200 as she posted a 205 mark for 32 games in the finals.

★ ★ ★

Next stop for Marion and Don and most of the bowlers in the world's field will be the All-Star in Minneapolis in January.

3 Schools Quit PCC

LOS ANGELES (INS) — The long-threatened break-up of the Pacific Coast Conference was a reality today and in its wake there is confusion that may take weeks or even months to iron out.

California, UCLA and Southern California all bolted the conference yesterday, as they had warned they would do.

★ ★ ★

The developments, not unexpected, but nevertheless rapid-fire when they came, raised three question marks.

They are:

—The future of the conference itself.
—The future of its Rose Bowl arrangement with the Big 10.

The three-way contract covering the PCC, the Big 10 and the Rose Bowl can be cancelled on a year's notice and news of the SC, Cal, UCLA revolt was no sooner out than a bowl spokesman said that a re-evaluation of the contract would be made soon after the first of the year.

"You can be sure the Big 10 isn't going to stay tied to a conference that leaves out the four California schools."

The break-up of the conference stems from heavy penalties imposed on Cal, UCLA, SC and Washington last year for paying athletes more than the conference code permitted.

The three California schools demanded a new set of standards and when their request was ignored, they pulled out.

Pontiac Bowler Rolls Perfect Game at Huron

Pontiac resident Bill Furlong will never believe that Friday the 13th is unlucky after what he went through yesterday at Huron Bowl.

The 32-year-old Pontiac Motor League kegler turned in the 1st perfect game in the eight-year history of Huron Bowl.

A 163 average kegler, Furlong was bowling for the last place Caseline team in the Pontiac Motor morning loop when the perfect game occurred. Ironically, he dropped to 160 after the big one to finish with a 670 series.

Wayne Drops Thriller

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Hunter's field goal in the waning seconds of an overtime period pulled Western Reserve to a 51-50 victory over Wayne State last night in a presidents athletic conference basketball game.

Bill Norwood of Wayne deadlocked the contest in regulation time with a foul shot. The lead changed three times in the overtime before Hunter sewed up the contest.

Dondero Trimmed, 79-64

A brief Royal Oak Dondero winning streak was halted at two last night as the Acorns were on the receiving end of a 79-64 battering by Grosse Pointe. Tom Woodruff's 34-point performance helped make it easy for the winners. Terry Malloy headed the Dondero offense with 13 digits.

Trainer Moody Jolley, 48, says 1957 was his best year in racing. He handled Nadir, winner of the Garden State Stakes and Bayou, a filly who won four stakes races during the year.

The NCAA championsip North Carolina basketball team has two 6-foot-9 players on the current team. They are Joe Quigg, letterman from Brooklyn, N. Y., and Dick Kepley, Roanoke, Va., sophomore.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. National Hockey team will play a 54-game schedule in the U. S. and abroad with the world championship in Oslo, Norway, Feb. 28-Mar. 9.

★ ★ ★

2nd Win for Parkers

Hazel Park high swimmers entertained Thurston, last night, but were not too hospitable, chalking up their season's 2nd win, 56-39, in three starts. Balanced team efforts paid off, led by the fine efforts of Bill Dyker (100-free style, 59.4) and Gary Brown (200-yard free styl, 2:15.8).

Hayes 'Coach-of-Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—Wayne Woodrow "Woody" Hayes, who led Ohio State to the Western Conference title and its second trip to the Rose Bowl in four years, today was named 1957 football Coach of the Year.

In the 23rd annual Scripps-Howard poll of 597 members of the American Football Coaches Assn., Hayes received 149 votes to 111 for Ralph "Shug" Jordan, coach of unbeaten Auburn the national champions in The Associated Press poll.

Jess Neely of Rice was third with 46 votes and Terry Brennan whose Notre Dame team made a comeback after a sad season in 1956 was fourth with 41 votes.

★ ★ ★

Following the first four came Paul "Bear" Bryant who recently moved from Texas A&M to Alabama, Len Casanova of Oregon, Earle Edwards of North Carolina State, Darrell Royal of Texas, Forrest Evashevski of Iowa, Milton Bruhn of Wisconsin and Henry "Red" Sanders of UCLA.

The 1956 winner was Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee.

Hays' Ohio State team lost its opening game to Texas Christian 18-14. Its crucial test came in a 17-13 victory over Iowa that assured the Buckeyes of another trip to Pasadena on New Year's Day. Ohio State finished its season with a 31-14 victory over Michigan, its ancient rival.

The unbeaten 1954 team beat Southern California in the Rose Bowl 20-7.

Hayes, 44, has been a head coach for 15 years, three in high school at New Philadelphia, Ohio, three at Denison—his alma mater —two at Miami, Ohio and seven at Ohio State.

Hills 'Tidal Wave' Rolls Chiefs Under

Pontiac High's swimming team ran into a big "storm" Friday at Saginaw Arthur Hill's pool, and the 'Jacks' tidal wave rolled Robert (Des) Boyce's club clear under 78-18. Loss was one of the worst lickings a PHS aquatic squad has absorbed. Meet opened SVC play for both squads.

Pontiac didn't take a single first place, but managed three seconds. Arthur Hill finished one-two in most events. Jim Williams of AH was a double winner (50-100 freestyle), along with Paul Nieman (breaststroke, indiv. medley).

Highland Area Set for Action

Teeple Hill Facilities Open Sunday for Ski Enthusiasts

If no drastic change in weather interferes, Teeple Hill, Pontiac Ski Club's headquarters, will be in full operation on Sunday. The Highland Recreation Area slopes have been expanded and improved. A new double tow, doubling the capacity on the North Hill, has been installed PSC's Art Kollin reported today. Area is open to the public.

★ ★ ★

A completely new section will be opened up, with a tow, and trails laid out during the summer and fall on the northwest hill. The state has opened up and widened many trails, taken out some 150 trees to afford fine skiing, now safe for intermediate performers.

★ ★ ★

It is expected the warming shelter and snack bar cafeteria will also be in operation Sunday.

FRIDAY'S FIGHTS

Burkemo Stays in Race

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, who once said he can't win anything but money, led a tightly-bunched field into the third round of the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament today.

★ ★ ★

Finsterwald's six-under-par 64 in the second round gave him a 133 total and a one-shot lead over another of golfdom's perennial also-rans, tall Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., who aso shot a 64.

★ ★ ★

Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mich., climbed into third place with a 65 for a 135 total. Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich. and Jay Hebert of Sanford tied for fourth at 136. Harbert had a 67 yesterday, Jay a 70.

★ ★ ★

Finsterwald, 28-year-old Ohioan now playing out of Tequesta, Fla., has won only one tournament this year—the Tucson Open—but has been second or tied for second seven times.

★ ★ ★

His consistent in-the-money play has earned him more than $40,000 this year and his stroke average of 70.36 for 104 rounds is second to none, barring a monumental blowup in the final two rounds here, he'll win the coveted Vardon Trophy, awarded annually to the golfer with the best stroke average.

Frat Boys Give Sisters Bdcon — on the Hoof

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A group of fraternity boys brought home the bacon to a sorority house on the University of Texas campus, but in this case, the bacon was still on the hoof. It was the 9th annual "Bringing in the Pigs" of the Phi Sigma Delta fraternity.

'Rouge' Factory in 40th Year of Operation

Ford Plant Greatest Marvel of Industry

DETROIT (INS) — In its 40th year of operation, the giant manufacturing plant of Ford Motor Co., on the banks of the Rouge River in Dearborn, still stands as probably the greatest marvel of American industry.

The "Rouge," with its 60,000 employes, was the first and remains the only plant on the continent where raw iron ore is unloaded on the docks, smelted into iron, concerted into steel and, within a matter of days, transformed into engines, frames, bodies and parts and, finally, completed automobiles.

DREAM CHILD

The Rouge was the dream child of the late Henry Ford, who envisioned a wholly independent, self-contained manufacturing plant able to turn raw material into a completed automobile.

Ford's closest friends were skeptical; others thought him crazy, Congressmen fought him when he sought governmental approval for deepening the Rouge Channel to accommodate sea-going ships. Stockholders fought him for wanting to plow back company profits into a big expansion program. And landowners boosted Rouge acreage to fantastic prices.

In its heyday, the Rouge turned out nearly every component needed for the Model-T car. Today, it is classified as only one of Ford Motor Company's manufacturing and assembling facilities, and a considerable portion of the parts which go into cars there is supplied by independent manufacturers.

REMAINS UNIQUE

Even so, it still is unique in American industry.

Each year, its fleet of ore boats ply the Great Lakes and bring in nearly five million tons of iron ore, coal, limestone and other raw material.

It has a glass plant that turns out a ribbon of plate glass 102 inches wide and nearly four miles long every day.

It has the largest industrial railroad network in America with 105 miles of standard gauge track and 19 diesel locomotives. There are 15 miles of paved roads, one and one-third miles of unloading docks and 81 miles of conveyors.

The Rouge is a mecca for some 200,000 visitors annually and it has been toured by American presidents, foreign dignitaries, Argentina gauchos and barefoot Fiji Island tribesmen in flowing white robes.

Picks Bank Popular With Police

Thug Didn't Know Score

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the wrong time and the wrong place yesterday to attempt a bank robbery.

First off, it was Friday the thirteenth, a day any self-respecting bank robber will tell you to lay low.

Also it was payday for policemen.

A branch of the Chemical Corn Exchange bank is located near the 54th St. precinct station. And that's where a lot of cops cash their checks.

Apparently untutored in all this, Bernard Jackson, 27, Negro, walked into the bank yesterday and ordered John A. Cronin, the assistant manager to bring him $50,000.

Cronin walked across the bank lobby to the tellers' cages where three policemen were cashing their checks. He whispered what was going on.

★ ★ ★

Jackson was booked on charges of attempted robbery and illegal possession of a gun.

SAN JUAN — The University of Puerto Rico's Medical School will be relocated on a site with four new hospitals.

In each of them it will have teaching and research facilities when a proposed medical center is completed in San Juan.

The center will provide the most densely populated area of Puerto Rico with its first centrally located facility for large-scale medical care.

Auto Display to Be Biggest

Total Value of Cars at Chicago Showing Will Be $20 Million

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Probably the greatest number of cars ever shown in a major automobile show will be displayed at the Jan. 4-12 Chicago Automobile Trade Assn. presentation.

★ ★ ★

The 50th renewal of the extravaganza has been termed the costliest and most complete showing of automotive products in history. The scores of vehicles, both United States and European built, along with their setting and collateral exhibits, represent a valuation of 20 million dollars.

The Chicago show long ago achieved distinction as the nation's No. 1 automobile presentation. Even the manufacturer-sponsored national show in New York last December failed to match it in attendance or size.

The New York show, which had been scheduled for its second postwar presentation next month, was called off because the dates conflicted with those of the Chicago showing. Instead, the car makers will cooperate with the Chicago sponsors.

Auto shows, of course, are conceived to promote the sale of automobiles. The attendance at the first postwar show in New York never was disclosed, but it was considerably below expectations. The 1957 model presentation at Chicago last January attracted 494,411 visitors despite sub-zero temperatures and heavy snowfall that marked three of the nine days' run.

★ ★ ★

British Schools Now Cost Less to Build, Equip

LONDON — What costs less today than it did 10 years ago? The answer, in Britain at least, is a school building. The new schools cost less than those built in the 1950's. "The postwar schools like medieval churches, dominate the landscape," says Lord Hailsham, Minister of Education.

"By their purpose and design they testify to the spirit of our age and show how far we have applied our imagination to the future of our children."

Scientific research and skillful design have led to economy in methods of building and in the making of fittings, he said. Classroom ceilings, which used to be 12 to 14 feet high, now are usually less than 10 feet.

★ ★ ★

Frankenstein Haunted Boy's Consciences

TULSA, Okla.—Gene Welch, manager of the Delman theater, said two boys rode up to the box office on bicycles, shoved a tightly-folded piece of paper through the opening and hurried away.

★ ★ ★

The paper contained 70 cents in pennies, nickels and dimes. On one side of the paper was a note. It read: "Dear Delman: My brother and I slipped into the movie a few weeks ago to see 'Frankenstein'. We are ashamed of ourselves and won't do it again. Here's the money."

The letter wasn't signed.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Richardson-Bird Chapel with burial in Commerce Cemetery. The Rev. Perry Thomas will officiate.

MRS. ROSE LANTZ

KEEGO HARBOR — Service for Mrs. Rose Lantz, 79, of 2465 Willow Beach St., who died Friday at the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a lengthy illness, will be held at 1:30 Monday at Harry Roger Funeral Home, Big Rapids. Burial will be in Grant Center Cemetery, Big Rapids.

She had come four months ago to visit her daughter, Mrs. Alva Van Alstine of Keego Harbor. Besides her daughter, she is survived by a son, Wayne of Pontiac.

The body was taken from the C. J. Godhardt Funeral home to Big Rapids last night.

46 Pct. of Austrians Say Life Is Better

VIENNA, Austria—The question: "Has your family's living standard improved in the last five years?" was put to a sampling of the Austrian people by the Austrian Polling Institute.

★ ★ ★

Replies were less optimistic than expected, considering economic progress during the period. Only 44 per cent replied in the affirmative; 46 per cent said no and 10 per cept had no opinion.

Younger people formed the most satisfied group as they are moving up the economic ladder and their incomes rising.

In general, higher and middle income families thought things had improved whereas 60 per cent of the low-income group saw them as unchanged.

★ ★ ★

Office workers, civil servants, professional people and the self-employed seem to have profited most by the economic boom of recent years.

Former Detroit Newsman Dies in State at 75

A native of Michigan, Dew worked for the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit News before joining the Arkansas Gazette as sports editor in 1911.

Deaths Elsewhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON (AP) — Harcourt Williams, 77, who appeared in more than 200 plays and was one of the great character actors of the English classic theater, died Friday. He won fame both as an actor and producer and was a friend of playwright Bernard Shaw and actor Sir Laurence Olivier.

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles S. McCain, 73, former president and onetime board chairman of the Chase National Bank, now the Chase Manhattan Bank, died Friday. McCain also was former president of the investment banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co., Inc.

SHELBY, Mont. (AP)—Charles H. Kelson, 84, former Republican legislator in Montana and Minnesota, died Thursday. He served one term as a Minnesota state senator, and in 1937 was elected to the Montana Legislature.

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Roy A. Read, 78, former California and Idaho newspaper publisher, died Friday of a heart attack. He had published the Daily News at Twin Falls, Idaho, before purchasing the weekly Mill Valley Record in 1942.

Sits on Parliament to Represent Animals

LONDON—The animals now are represented in Britain's Parliament. Lord Grey de Ruthyn, 73, has claimed his seat in the House of Lords for the first time — because he can now earn $8.82 a day for attending.

He has had the right to sit there for 18 years but explains: "I never took my seat because I never have been able to afford it."

The baron, a bachelor, said: "I was delighted when I heard of these new allowances." As president of the league against cruel sports, he added: "I have always wanted to take my seat in the House for the sake of the animals.

"The Suez Canal and things like that leave me cold. But I have always wanted to ket up in the House and speak for the animals. They have so few friends in high places."

Smuggling No Crime in Republic of Andorra

ANDORRA—The only country in the world where smuggling is not considered a crime and where letters require no postage stamps is Andorra, tiny republic on the border between France and Spain.

In return for allowing both the French and Spanish to operate separate postal systems there, the Andorrans can mail a letter anywhere in their country without putting a stamp on it.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF IRENE (Merriman) Walsh, who passed away Dec. 14, 1954.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of the friends who think of you.
Mrs. Haynes and Elaine.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF IRENE Merriman Walsh, who passed away December 14, 1954.
A wonderful Daughter, Mother & Wife, Woman and Aide.
One who was better God never made;
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million, that was you.
Just in your judgement, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
Our wonderful daughter, mother & wife, that was you.
Sadly missed by her Mother, Brothers and Children.

Critic Selects Favorites on 1957 Television Menu

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Having voted in nearly everybody else's television poll as this year draws to a close, I now vote in my own poll. For that pretentious adjective "best," however, let's substitute a more modest "favorite."

★ ★ ★

Regular live drama program—Studio One (CBS-TV).

New musical variety show—The Patrice Munsel Show (ABC-TV).

Situation comedy—I continue to smile after all these years with Father Knows Best (NBC-TV).

Quiz program—I pass.

Weekly news review — Outlook (NBC-TV).

Program of consistently intelligent interest, whatever its subject happs to be—See It Now (CBS-TV).

★ ★ ★

Delving in the various arts—Omnibus (NBC-TV).

Weekly examination of contemporary history—20th Century (CBS-TV).

Dead From Shopping

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The elderly woman was slumped in her seat on a city bus. Efforts to revive her failed. A priest was summoned. A police cruiser was summoned. The woman came to with a start as a policeman touched her. She was merely exhausted by Christmas shopping, she explained.
