Strike Is On, No Milk Deliveries After Today

Flood Crest Hits Historic Peak but Dikes Hold

30-Foot Wall of Water Ravages Des Moines; See Relief Tomorrow

DES MOINES (AP)—The raging Des Moines River roared through this city today at a historic crest of just over 30 feet—18 feet higher than its normal flow. But flood defense officials said "we think we've got it whipped."

A three-day battle, first to raise the levees and then to hold them against the pounding waters, was in its climactic hours. All major dikes were holding. No lives had been lost.

The crest was 3½ feet higher than the official peak reached in the disastrous 1947 Des Moines flood when a major levee gave way and flooded a residential area.

Levee workers continued to be hampered by sight-seers almost as much as by the rushing waters. Last night National Guardsmen with bayonets shooed back zealous visitors who swarmed into a critical levee area.

"They were crawling over sandbags and ripping holes in them and getting in the way of trucks," said Police Lt. Alva Glasscock. Col. Harold A. Hensler of the Iowa National Guard added:

"People were coming down here by the thousands. They thought it was a sideshow."

But guard officials stressed there was no clash with the sight-seers. "They were just quietly herded back to keep them out of the road," a spokesman said.

Minor breaks in the miles of levee system, sand boils and undermining occurred from time to time today.

Flood officials said the situation would remain serious for some 24 hours.

The crest was of several hours duration and fluctuating fractionally around 30.1 feet. No important drop in the stream was due in Des Moines until tomorrow. A third successive day of fair weather aided the situation.

Upstream from Des Moines the river had fallen about three feet from its crest near Boone and U.S. 30 there was reopened to one-way traffic. U.S. 6 at Des Moines still required rerouting due to a flooded bridge.

Dairies, Union Meeting Today to Talk Truce

Hospitals Get Supply; Others Must Go to Cash and Carry Places

Negotiations to settle the Detroit area dairy strike got under way today as Pontiac householders picked the last bottles of home-delivered milk off their porches.

Dairy officials and leaders of Detroit Local 83, CIO United Dairy Workers, started discussing a settlement at 10 a. m.

The Dairy Workers local Wednesday turned down a plea from George E. Bowles, Michigan Labor Mediation Board chairman, to go on working while a three-man fact-finding committee tried to help settle the dispute.

Milk plant workers processed the last batch of milk in almost all nearby creameries yesterday. They struck last night. Milkmen delivered Wednesday's milk this morning before joining inside workers in a general walkout.

The strike will cut off more than 90 per cent of the Pontiac area milk supply.

The Pontiac area uses some 200,000 quarts of milk a day, with Pontiac alone using 93,000. The handful of small dairies still running on a cash-and-carry basis say they can't put out more than 14,500 quarts a day if they run at top capacity.

Union officials said milk will still be delivered to hospitals. Parents of children under two years old can get milk for them by applying at their regular dairy plants with their children's birth certificates. Union leaders promised to make some arrangements so other "distress cases," such as ulcer patients, can get needed milk.

The family of each person classed as a "distress case" may go to his regular dairy and pick up one quart of homogenized milk per day. They will be given ration cards.

"Distress" milk will be available at Shamrock Creamery, 304 E. Pike St.; Maple Leaf Dairy, 20 E. Howard St.; Borden Co., 256 Norton Ave.; and Detroit Creamery Co., 408 Auburn Ave.

Local grocers planned to get extra supplies of canned and powdered milk and started searching for new ways to obtain bottled milk.

The non-union Huron, Snyder, Dixie and Richardson Farm dairies will continue to produce milk for general public sale. Nye Dairy hopes to have some milk on hand at its plant for regular customers.

Biggest issue in the dairy dispute is the union's request for a shorter work week with no cut in pay.

Milk delivery men now have every eighth day off. They want another two days off a month, which would let them take a two week vacation each four months.

Cornerstone Laying Is Set Saturday for New City Hall

Years of plans and dreams will be climaxed at 3 p. m. Saturday when Mayor William W. Donaldson wields a chrome-plated trowel at the cornerstone laying rites of the new $1,000,000 Pontiac City Hall.

Mayor Donaldson will smooth out mortar prior to the swinging into place of the 900-pound cornerstone, containing a variety of documents concerning the building and Pontiac.

Sen. Homer Ferguson will be the chief speaker at the ceremony, which will be conducted by former Mayor Arthur J. Law. Sen. Charles Potter, Rep. George A. Dondero and Gov. G. Mennen Williams were invited, but will be unable to attend.

In addition to the present city charter, adopted in 1920, pictures of the ground breaking ceremonies of the new building, and a scroll of clippings from The Pontiac Press relating the progress of the new building will be sealed in the air-tight copper box.

Also included will be copies of the city ordinances authorizing the bond issues for the acquisition of the site, several annual city reports for past years, the city's master plan, and a scroll listing city officials and commissioners responsible for financing and coastructing the building, along with the annual report of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly of St. Michael's Church is scheduled to give the invocation, and Dr. William H. Marbach of the First Presbyterian Church will give the benediction.

Invitations to attend have been sent to 200 representatives of nearby cities, and representatives of the county, state and national government. Space will be provided at the building site, on the south side of East Pike street, between Hill and Parke streets, for spectators.

Waterford Township Man, Ferndale Woman in Separate Accidents

Two Oakland County residents were killed yesterday in separate automobile accidents.

George W. Millard, 31, of 5694 Boswell, Waterford Township.

Miss Ercil Cooley, 58, of 732 Albany, Ferndale.

Millard died two miles north of Whitmore Lake on U. S. 23 when he lost control of his car on the road's shoulder, sideswiping an oncoming car and then plowing head-on into a truck, according to Michigan State Police of the Brighton Post.

Miss Cooley was dead upon arrival at Mount Carmel Hospital from injuries suffered in an auto accident at Wyoming and Eight-Mile Rds.

Service for Millard will be Saturday at 10:30 a.m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel. Burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Loretta; his father, Mark, of Auburn Heights; and a sister, Mrs. Amy Banks of Hillman. Millard was an employe of the Hugus-Marsh Roofing Co.

Service for Miss Cooley will be Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Spaulding and Son Funeral Home, Ferndale, with burial in Grandlawn Cemetery. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Harold Mitchell of Saginaw.

Water Levels Decline in Area

U.S. Survey Declares Well Development Has Lowered Tables

WASHINGTON (UP)—The withdrawal of ground water in southeastern Oakland County in 1952 averaged 50,000,000 gallons daily, according to a geological survey report released today by the Department of the Interior.

Municipal wells accounted for most of the pumpage with Pontiac and environs using about 60 per cent. Birmingham, Royal Oak and Troy Township used another 20 per cent with the remainder being distributed throughout the urban and rural area.

The report said ground water levels have been lowered by intensive well development in the urban areas. These developments have created localized problems of declining well yield and have induced the migration of mineral water from underlying rocks.

The most important sources of ground water, the report indicated, are the alluvial deposits bordering present streams and the buried out-wash deposits of preglacial or interglacial streams.

The report was based on field data which included records of about 1,000 wells, and lithologic logs of 482 wells and test holes.

Vast ground water reservoirs in the area are important for increased use of water resources, the report pointed out. The average annual water loss by evaporation is nearly six times the combined withdrawal by all ground water users in the area.

One method of increasing overall water supply is to salvage water now discharged by evaporation, the report said.

Rush for Milk Is Reported by Pontiac Stores

Pontiac grocers and dairymen reported a run on milk today as local families apparently stocked up on the eve of a general Detroit area dairy strike.

The strike, which started today, cut off 90 per cent of Pontiac area's milk supply.

Three large Pontiac markets said shoppers last night bought double the usual amount of milk. "And they weren't buying a quart apiece," one grocer said; "they were buying enough to load the icebox."

One grocer said even his canned and powdered milk moved faster than usual — although a couple of other food stores reported no big increase in any milk sales last night.

Dairy officials reported most grocers asked for more milk than usual on today's final runs.

"We had to ration our deliveries today," a dairy spokesman said. "Some grocers who had good-sized deliveries yesterday called in last night for more — they had sold out."

A Pontiac wholesaler said grocers are calling for more canned and powdered milk than usual, anticipating bigger than usual sales if the milk strike continues.

Doctors Against Using GG Shots

County Medical Society Says Polio Treatment Ineffective

The Oakland County Medical Society's poliomyelitis committee has recommended that gamma globulin be discontinued for polio treatment or prevention in this county.

It was revealed today that the society's 270 doctors were notified of the committee decision after a June 15 joint meeting with Oakland County Health Department officials.

Dr. F. M. Adams of Birmingham, committee chairman, said, however, that the blood derivative is still recommended in the modification and prevention of measles and infectious hepatitis.

The committee's decision was based upon a report of a committee of experts of the U.S. Public Health Service.

In a February report, the health service committee issued a statement saying that tests in 23 communities last summer indicated that gamma globulin was ineffectual in the prevention or treatment of polio.

"Our decision was based upon findings of this committee," said Dr. Adams.

In a letter to the society's membership, the county polio committee said, "This action has full approval of both the Michigan Health Department and the Oakland County Health Department."

Gamma globulin was hailed as a possible polio preventative when the test campaign was launched last summer. Although it was used somewhat in Oakland County, this county was not among the 23 test communities.

The health service stated that gamma globulin's "beneficial effects were not demonstrated either in the innoculation of family associates of polio cases or in the mass inoculations of children in epidemic areas."

Miss Michigan Title Lifted From Bloomfield Hills Girl

MUSKEGON (AP) — The crown of Miss Michigan for 1954 was gently but firmly lifted today from the blonde head of dimpled 22-year-old Deloris Susin of Bloomfield Hills who said she thought "it was too good to be true, anyhow."

"As of now," said Richard Gillard, chairman of the annual pageant, "there is no reigning Miss Michigan, and there probably will not be one for another 48 hours."

Gillard's announcement followed a decision by the executive committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event, to suspend the results of Wednesday night's state finals.

The ballots of two unidentified judges were questioned. Photostatic copies of the two votes were sent to Atlantic City pageant headquarters.

Informed today that she could no longer be considered the winner after a brief few hours of royal acclaim, Miss Susin said:

"I hold not the slightest bit of bitterness. I was overwhelmed by tthe decision last night and thought then it was too good to be true. I will abide by any decision, and naturally I had nothing to do with how the judges voted."

Two of the six judges who could be reached today disagreed in their views of the balloting.

Anita Gillette, Elkhart, Ind., fashion expert, said that in her opinion "the girl selected had a wonderful chance to win in Atlantic City. She has poise, personality, stage presence and her talent can be improved."

"I think," she added, "Miss Susin was the strongest candidate in the contest."

Tom Farrell, United Press correspondent in Grand Rapids and a judge said he was "as surprised as anyone else at the decision."

Senators Reject Ike's Farm Plan

Agriculture Committee Favors Rigid Supports for Another Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee today rejected the administration's flexible farm price support program by voting 8-7 to extend rigid supports for another year.

The action came after the group turned down 9-6 a proposed two-year extension of the mandatory supports on the basic crops: wheat, cotton, corn, rice, tobacco and peanuts.

Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) predicted after the closed door session that the Senate would reverse the narrow committee decision in favor of the administration's flexible price support plan.

Sen. Young (R-ND) offered the motion for a one-year extension of the high-level supports due to expire with this year's crops.

Three Republicans and five Democrats supported it. They were Sens. Young, Thye (R-Minn), Mundt (R-SD), Ellender (D-La), Humphrey (D-Minn), Johnston (D-SC), Eastland (D-Miss) and Clements (D-Ky).

Opposing the extension were

Roger W. Babson Forecasts Another Good Six Months, but With Crosscurrents

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—While most of the columnists and business counselors last December forecast a depression for 1954, I constantly insisted that 1954 would be a "fair business year." You will find this in my forecast which appeared in this paper at that time.

Despite my general optimism with regard to prospects for business during the last half-year, there will be many crosscurrents. The improvement over the first six months will be no one-way street. Some industries will lag, or fall behind. Others are slated for betterment.

Lists Industries Due to Hold Up Business

Building has held up well, and was the backbone of business in the first half of 1954. The momentum generated should carry through the balance of the year.

Also deserving of attention as in line for continued high activity, or for improvement, are the following industries: Electric power output, aircraft production, rubber manufacturing, household equipment, electrical equipment, petroleum, natural gas, shoes, and textiles.

Even the sick coal industry will enjoy some pickup from the very depressed levels experienced during the first six months of 1954.

Due to slip further down, or slated to show the least improvement, are the following industries: Machinery, machine tools, railroad equipment, metal fabricating, steel and iron, and autos and auto parts. In particular, auto output will not match the first half, with competition keener in the last half than at any time since the 1930s.

Consumers Will Buy if Prices Attractive

As in the case of general business discussed above, sales prospects will rule selective. With purchasing power holding well, demand for food products and soft goods will remain at a brisk pace.

The public, however, has learned something about watching its pennies. People have become more price-conscious.

For this reason, I predict that the mass distributors, such as the grocery and variety chains, will run ahead of the others saleswise, during the last half-year.

Retail sales in general, although about 4 per cent lower dollarwise, have held up during the first half in terms of physical volume as discounts and other concessions reduced the actual receipts. This is encouraging since it shows that consumers are still willing to spend if the price is reasonable.

In terms of units, retail sales will hold up through 1954. Inventories will constantly be reduced during 1954.

The retailers who do best in 1954 will be those with the best parking facilities for their customers.

President Will Work to Avoid New Wars

I forecast that the more liberal attitude on the part of the Eisenhower administration will surely continue through November and perhaps until the 1956 elections.

During the past six months rumors have been spreading to the effect that President Eisenhower will not run again; but there is no agreement at this writing by either party as to who the next candidates will be.

The President has won his conflict with Sen. Bricker; the House approved his tax bill; the Taft-Hartley labor bill has been shelved, to the relief of all; and he has so far kept out of the McCarthy-Army row.

I forecast that for the balance of the year he will leave domestic affairs to his associates and devote most of his time to helping Dulles ward off trouble with Russia and China, and avoid another "Korea."

During the first six months of the year a new look has developed in connection with defense expenditures. Appropriations for foot soldiers and certain classes of airplanes have been cut in favor of items for atomic warfare and guided missiles. Best authorities agree that we will get more protection and fighting strength from this change with less cost.

As a promise "to get our boys out of Korea" was a great factor in electing Dwight Eisenhower as President, he naturally will hesitate to send U.S. foot soldiers into Indochina, at least before the coming November elections.

Sees No World War, Just Small Leagues

There will be no world war in 1954 started by Russia or the U. S. In the last half of 1954, however, the United States will move closer

Summer Music Program Expanded for Youngsters and Adults in Birmingham

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—So overwhelming has past response been to the summer music program sponsored by the Recreation Board, that the services of an additional teacher are available to youngsters in the Birmingham school district this season.

As of last week it was reported that 130 registrations had been received, more than signed up all last summer. Under the increased program, however, there are still some openings.

Robert Kutscher, music instructor at Birmingham High School, will assist Arnold Berndt, director of music at the high school and in charge of the summer program, which is open to musicians or those who can read directions.

A unique feature is the night band course which meets at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays at the Baldwin School gymnasium. The class consists of more advanced, adult players, who perhaps played in high school or college groups. It is also available to those who like to play for sheer enjoyment. No registration is necessary.

A complete schedule, which includes instruction in beginning and advanced woodwinds, beginning and intermediate strings, band and orchestra, may be obtained through either of the instructors. A small fee is charged for participation. Information on renting instruments will also be supplied.

Boys and girls taking part in the YMCA Da-Y program will trek to Detroit tomorrow for a tour of the Jam Handy Corp. The youngsters will leave the Y building at 9:30 a.m., returning about 4:30 p.m.

Look at Actions of Men at Fire

Investigating Conduct of City Departments at Couper Tragedy

BIRMINGHAM — Half a dozen witnesses appeared before James Spencer, Jonathan M. Ball and Charles B. Kass last night, the three-man board of inquiry set up to investigate charges of negligence and poor judgment on the part of the Fire and Police Departments during the June 14 fire in which three persons died and one was rescued.

The charges were brought by residents who rushed to the scene and viewed the action of the departments.

This was the group's first meeting with those who might have any information to supply regarding the blaze which took the lives of Mrs. Thomas Couper, 40, and her two sons, Lawrence, 14, and Daniel, 12, but spared the life of Mrs. Couper's father, Lawrence W. Cross Sr., 62.

Ball said this morning that a letter is being mailed today to residents in the area of the fire at 1189 Brookwood, asking those who have information to contact the board. "We don't want to exclude anyone," he emphasized.

"The hearings are entirely secret and taken one at a time," Ball said. "There will be no group reports which might conflict with or support one another."

Meetings are held in the commission room of the Municipal Building and the next one is scheduled for tomorrow night.

Ball said the board has tentatively scheduled two or three meetings a week until the investigation is completed. He said he could not venture a guess as to when the board's final report and recommendations would be made to the commission.

Regarding the charges, Fire Chief Vernon W. Griffith has stated that if his men had attempted to first control the fire Mrs. Couper's father might not have been saved. The unconscious Cross was rescued by firemen and has since been released from St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac.

The new executive committee also ratified a budget of $78,922 to run the chapter in the year starting July 1. The budget approved by the retiring executive committee a week ago, still runs $10,000 over the expected income as the local Red Cross is paying a bigger share of the blood program costs.

Junior Events Open Detroit Horse Show

Some exceptional riding was reported today for the opening session of the Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. While the early events were limited to the juniors, the young riders lacked nothing in form and style in the several features held up to noon.

One spill was reported, Judy Pheatt being unseated when her mount in the Junior FEI "big jumping event" refused, and catapulted Judy onto the rails. She was unhurt, however, and made a splendid recovery.

Winners of morning junior events included:

Damage Suit Will Continue

Judge Denies Motion to Kill Claim Against School District

A motion to dismiss a $200,000 damage suit against Birmingham School District and a Detroit bleacher company was rejected yesterday by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Dr. Maurice Richards, Royal Oak dentist, is seeking the damages for a disabling leg injury received when a bleacher section collapsed during a high school football game in 1948.

Judge Holland granted dismissal of one count, that a contract entered into between the school district and the bleacher company made the school district liable, but said a count of negligence against both parties must be decided by the jury.

Another count, claiming erection and maintenance of the bleachers was a nuisance, was dismissed earlier in the case.

The motion to dismiss was submitted by defense attorneys Harold E. Howlett, William B. Hartman and Colin McCrea when the trial started June 10 and was taken under advisement until completion of the plaintiff's case.

Attorney Walter Martin of Saginaw and Maurice Cole of Ferndale, representing Dr. Richards, called 18 witnesses to the stand during presentation of their case.

Howlett and Hartman, representing the school district, will start their defense today. Colin McCrea will wind up the trial with the bleacher company's defense.

Det. Sgt. Merlin Holmquist said the breakin was probably the work of teenagers. The Merkers were out at the time.

Chou En-lai Leaves for Talk With Nehru

GENEVA (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai left the Indochina peace conference by plane today to visit Indian Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi and then go on to Peiping.

Intimating he would return to the Geneva parley, Chou in a brief farewell statement said he was leaving "for the time being."

The conference, he added, is "still in progress" and the world's "peace-loving peoples hope our work will lead to the eventual establishment of peace in Indochina."

Chou made no mention of his two-hour meeting in Bern yesterday with France's new Premier-Foreign Minister, Pierre Mendes-France. But both men after their talks issued brief statements saying they believed the delegates at Geneva would make progress toward an armistice as a result of their meeting.

Issuance of $225,000 in bonds for a water system is the question drawing residents of Sylvan Lake to the polls today.

All registered voters may cast ballots on approving the system, but only qualified electors who own property are allowed to vote on the two bond issues.

They would be for $125,000 in general obligation bonds, and $100,000 in bonds to be paid off by special assessment for those areas receiving the service. A three-fifth favorable vote on both the system and financing it are necessary for passage.

Solons Reach Decision on Defense Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agreement was reached by Senate and House conferees late yesterday on the money bill to run the defense establishment in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said the total would be "slightly less than 29 billion dollars"—a little under administration budget requests.

Beef Ribs, Pork Cuts Top Buys

Stores Plan to Reduce Cost Six to Eight Cents Per Pound

By The Associated Press

Prime ribs of beef and some cuts of pork will be among the better buys this weekend in the nation's food stores. You'll also find many vegetables at moderate prices.

Stores featuring prime ribs plan to cut prices as much as six to eight cents a pound. Other beef specials mentioned by a number of markets include sirloin and round steak, chuck roast, boneless chuck pot roast and ground beef.

Pork prices have come down a bit at wholesale lately, so you may find cheaper pork chops in your store. One chain reports that it will trim prices around four to eight cents a pound. Some meat specialists consider loin of pork a worthwhile buy, too.

The word from the government is that supplies of pork in butcher shops next fall and winter will be about 13 per cent larger than a year earlier. And that will mean a reduction in prices. Pork has been selling at high prices in relation to beef during the past year or so because pig production has been low.

Other weekend specials planned by a number of stores include veal shoulder roast, leg of lamb, fryers and stewing chickens.

There will be little change in butter prices from a week ago, but stores in many areas will raise egg prices by two to three cents a dozen.

Produce men say there are lots of vegetable bargains this week, with cabbage, lettuce, beets and greens at the top of the list. Also described as good buys are celery, beans, eggplant, green onions, peas, parsley, radishes, potatoes, onions and tomatoes.

Going higher on the wholesale markets this week were cantaloupes, peppers and sweet potatoes. Cantaloupes continue to be a favorite feature in retail outlets, however.

Watermelons are plentiful, and reports from country shipping points say that large quantities are moving out for the Fourth of July weekend.

An increasing variety of fruits is becoming available, but items such as grapes, cherries, apricots, nectarines and figs are still rather high in price. Among the better buyers, produce men say, are strawberries, peaches, plums and limes.

Hearings to Start on Probe Rules

Knowland Will Testify Monday; Jackson Urges Action on Individual

WASHINGTON (INS)—A Democrat on the McCarthy investigations subcommittee said today that a code of ethics for senatorial probes will be useless if it fails to deal with the conduct of individual lawmakers.

Hearings on more than a dozen proposals for a code of ethics will open Monday before a Senate rules subcommittee with Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland, Calif., as one of the first witnesses.

Knowland's announcement that he will testify led to speculation that GOP leaders hope to use the hearings to answer public criticism over the recent Army-McCarthy hearings.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) said search for a code of ethics must "address itself to the individual conduct of senators."

He added: "If Congress fails to recognize this, we will be adopting new rules that exist in form only and not in practice. If the conduct (of members) is fair, just and proper, we do not need any new rules."

Knowland indicated he will not seek Senate action this year on the result of the code-of-ethics hearings. He said floor action could tie up the Senate for three or four weeks and added, the administration's legislative program should not be jeopardized by any such development.

He said that next January would be a better time to bring up such a rules change for Senate approval. He said that by holding hearings now, the code could be brought to the floor soon after Congress meets in January.

Jackson disagreed. He said that "every effort should be made to get Senate action this year — a change in the rules has high priority in the public mind."

Taxes Due Soon

Sylvan Lake July 1954 tax statements will be in the mail soon, City Manager Ernest Ethier said today. They are payable July 1 and include the city tax and the eighth installment of the special sewer assessment. Penalties go into effect August. 1.

Sun, Moon Cause Earth's Pulsations

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The earth constantly pulsates like a living heart, says a geophysicist who takes the earth's pulse daily in his laboratory.

Dr. John Pettit of the University of California at Los Angeles said the earth's pulsations are caused by the gravitational pull of the sun and moon under the elastic earth.

A steady rise and fall of the earth, which in some places measures as much as two feet, follows the line of attraction of the two heavenly bodies as the earth rotates, Dr. Pettit said.

The university scientist measures the earth's pulsations with special instruments including a giant electric brain and "the world's most sensitive" gravimeter.

The gravimeter measures changes in the force of gravity, which varies according to the distance of the earth's center of mass.

Says Inoculation Has Aided Cities to Check Rabies

CHICAGO (UP)—The danger of rabies can be met only by rigid enforcement of dog control laws, according to the American Municipal Association.

The association said it drew this conclusion from the replies of nine large cities which were asked how they deal with the problem.

New Orleans, La., and Washington, D. C., require that all dogs be inoculated. They said the mandatory measure has all but eliminated cases of rabies in human beings, and has greatly reduced its occurence in animals.

In Washington, the city pays for rabies shots, at an annual cost of about $12,000 for 20,000 dogs. Veterinarians give the shots in mass sessions and get $12 an hour for their services. The serum costs about 35 cents a unit.

In New Orleans, which has about 40,000 licensed dogs, the inoculations must be paid for by dog owners.

In both cities, pet owners are issued certificates of inculation, and the dogs are given tags to wear.

Among other cities questioned, Baltimore, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Pittsburgh require dogs to be leashed but do not require inoculations. Boston requires neither.

'Auxiliary Lawnmowers' Sacrificed by the Navy

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UP) — Albert Kobel of Amesbury, Mass., recently got the Navy's goat. But it cost him $92.

Following two years' service at the Long Island fuel depot at Casco Bay, Maine, the Navy called for bids on 23 "auxiliary lawnmowers."

Can Mendes-France Do It?

For better or worse, France has become the bride in a June wedding to a totally new kind of bridegroom. PIERRE MENDES-FRANCE won a smashing political victory to become premier on a rash promise that in 30 days he could achieve peace in Indochina.

This sounds like appeasement. Moreover, he won his job on a pledge to compromise the all-important European Defense Community which is the keystone of our foreign policy in Europe. And he got the solid votes of the 100 Communists in the French Assembly.

We have every evidence that MENDES-FRANCE was the last man our State Department wanted to rule France. All the U. S. correspondents, briefed by the State Department, sent dispatches saying he couldn't possibly be chosen premier by the Assembly. He won by the biggest majority of any premier in the last six years.

On the face of it, France's sudden political switcheroo looks like bad news to America. It could be. But a second look reveals some interesting facts about the new premier with such an appropriate name.

He is a Socialist. He once was a member of the government of General CHARLES DEGAULLE, who signed an anti-aggression pact with Russia.

Yet MENDES-FRANCE is the only French political figure with the courage to say that France ought to balance its budget, ought to collect more taxes and ought to limit its military commitments to what it can actually afford.

Mendes-France is the only French politician who has any support among the younger French voters. And, frankly, this younger generation is the only hope of France's regeneration. An electric thrill went through these younger Frenchmen of all parties when he won.

MENDES-FRANCE is willing to talk to CHOU-EN-LAI, Red China's foreign minister. His victory has been hailed in the Communist press. Yet the new premier pledged his government to "remain in the Far East."

For better or worse, France has undergone a complete political shift. Its new leader is a man who has captured the volatile French imagination. It is barely possible that the State Department has misjudged a dynamic figure.

It may be that France is tired of the tired old politicians who have been leading it downhill to ruin. It may be that new leadership is what France needs, and that PIERRE MENDES-FRANCE can supply it.

It may be a good idea to withhold judgment until we see whether he can spark a resurgent France and where he will lead his fellow countrymen. There is nothing for us to do but hope for the best, even though at the moment we are more fearful than confident.

Competition in Turnpikes

Not this Summer, but next, Oakland County motorists planning to visit or make business trips to the east coast will find a new route ready. They can go from Pontiac to Detroit or Port Huron and cross Southern Ontario to Niagara Falls.

From there the New York Thruway, a toll road, will take them straight to Albany at an uncongested eighty-mile-an-hour clip. And from Albany a spur will connect them with the Massachusetts Turnpike to Boston and New England, or they can turn south to New York City.

They'll probably return home by the familiar route of the New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio turnpikes. In another year they can bypass Philadelphia. And the Ohio Turnpike will be opened to traffic from the Pennsylvania line as far as Toledo.

In other words, two competing routes east via toll road will be almost completed sometime in 1955. The only free driving — free of everything except congestion, that is — will be in Ontario and Michigan.

The competition will be a good thing. Existence of two parallel routes will prevent congestion on either one, and keep tolls within reason.

Meanwhile, Michigan is moving slowly toward its venture into turnpikes under the recently established Turnpike Commission. Two routes are under study, one from Toledo to Bay City, which should serve Pontiac for north-south traffic, and one from Detroit to Lake Michigan.

The former is obviously needed. The latter would, in a sense, be a competing route with the Ohio-Indiana turnpikes. Here the question needs careful study to determine if a parallel east-west route in this area is justified by traffic that prefers toll travel.

"SELF-RECRIMINATION is especially harmful to the personality; never reproach yourself about anything," advises a psychologist. O. K., Doc.—if you will tell us how to get rid of a nagging conscience.

It's deplorable that many a man's idea of the best way to pursue happiness is to run after women.

The Man About Town

Double Rainbows

Daffynition

Picnicking: What some people do in the park to keep from messing up their homes.

An unusual phenomenon was witnessed over the greater part of Oakland County on two evenings this week, just before sundown. It was a perfect double rainbow in the east, each making a complete half circle, and both very distinct and with the complete prismatic scale of colors, although several degrees apart. The display on each evening followed rain storms, and was dispelled only by the setting sun. Many older residents state that never before had they witnessed such a thing.

There's evidently a vast difference of opinion in different areas. A poll being conducted by a Chicago newspaper shows that 90 per cent of the people believe that proved his charges against the army, while one conducted by a Detroit paper is going against him by a four to three score.

A letter with a Pontiac postmark and signed,

In a letter to the Pontiac Press,

Many years a resident of Pontiac and now living in Royal Oak, issues the following card on his eighty-sixth birthday: "Don't resent growing old. Many are denied that privilege."

George J. Scott

Regarding the proposition to build a new courthouse on another site, a Pontiac professional man says he is taking sides —"with the opinion of the party with whom I am talking."

No other flowering shrub can beat the lilacs for longevity, according to

Marvin Haddock

Keego Harbor is Pontiac's youngest suburb. Many of the first residents to settle there are still living. Its retiring has watched its remarkable growth from its early years.

Rev. Dixon Regrets Loss of Mr. Schroder, Commends Him for a Fine Job Well Done

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I write this letter as one of the many who knew, admired, and respected the young man that has recently departed our city to take up work in Flint, Michigan.

He is Jerry Schroder who served with the Pontiac United Fund, a board member of the Pontiac Council for Human Relations and many other organizations.

I feel that a public tribute should be expressed to the local paper in stating to Jerry our appreciation for a fine job done in helping to strengthen the Pontiac United Fund and other organizations of which he was a member.

Certainly a young man with the keen insight, community interest and the sincerity of Jerry will definitely be missed. However, we congratulate him on a step upward in his field. Our prayers and best wishes are extended.

Property Sold Via Mail May Well Be a Swindle

The Press editorial, "Don't Take This Bait' and a warning quoted from John W. Hirlinger as to sending money to out-of-town real estate brokers brings to mind a New Yorker, Ostrander by name, who for a long time carried full page ads in leading Eastern magazines offering to sell your real estate "anywhere." You send him a few hundred dollars for advertising and necessary expenses. Later he branched out into selling lots by mail.

During that period, a Brooklynite wrote me and offered to pay my trip expenses if I would come there and look over a farm in Long Island, which he had for sale. I accepted his offer.

We took a train to Patchoque and hiring a horse and buggy, drove to his farm. On the way we drove quite a distance, through sand plains, just blow sand, blowing all over, absolutely worthless. I saw a lot of stakes and brush among the sand knolls and asked what they were.

"Those are the suburban Brooklyn subdivisions which you folks out in Michigan and the Middle West are buying by mail, sight unseen, from Ostrander and his kind. A little while back a Westerner came here to look at his lot and found the whole subdivision under water at high tide!"

After two days and nights with him, I refused his offer and returned home.

Wealthy In-Laws Told to Help Children Buy Home Rather Than Give Allowances

Newlyweds deserve some financial aid from their in-laws. But it should not be a cash dole to inflate their weekly budget. Instead, use the "grubstake" plan and the "baby bonus" described below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-340: Irving G., aged 29, works for his father-in-law.

"And Irving is an excellent employe," the latter informed me. "I couldn't ask for a better man.

"But I lean over backwards to avoid favoring him, lest the other employes accuse me of giving him the breaks.

"He and my daughter live on his salary alone. They occupy a small apartment in the city.

"My wife thinks we should be more liberal with them, but I say it spoils a couple to be subsidized by their in-laws.

"So, Dr. Crane, I have agreed to abide by your suggestions. You know the hazards of giving people a 'dole,' so what would you advise?"

We psychologists do not advise wealthy - in - laws to put their children on a dole as by contributing a cash weekly allowance of $50 to $100 to the married son or daughter.

For this money then is spent currently and simply elevates the standard of living beyond the husband's salary level.

So they find it impossible to cut back to his single pay check thereafter. Meanwhile, he grows disgruntled at being on his father-in-law's bounty.

A self respecting man then may become ugly and may criticize his wife, because he vaguely feels like a "squaw man."

But in pioneer days, the neighbors used to band together and help the newlyweds build a log cabin. The wives would also contribute kitchen utensils and bedding, so the young couple had at least enough to start out into marriage.

So I advised Irving's father-in-law to grubstake the newlyweds via a down payment on a little home of their own.

They will still need to pay the monthly instalments on that new home in lieu of their present rent. So their budget will remain unchanged.

But home ownership stabilizes marriage and helps prevent divorce. It aids the children, too, by keeping them in the same school.

This prevents their being jerked out of one school and pushed into a strange group of children somewhere else. Such changes often stunt the personality of shy youngsters and actually pull their grades down.

Home ownership likewise makes young couples more critical of wastrel politicians. For they get their real estate tax bills, semi-annually and thus take a keener interest in efficient local government.

In-laws can also help a newlywed couple in another manner, without encouraging "champagne" appetites by a cash weekly "dole." They can offer a "baby bonus."

Agree to pay all medical and hospital expenses for each new grandchild you receive. If you can also afford to do more, give such grandchildren a paid - up college educational insurance policy.

By this "baby bonus" plan, you gain more grandchildren. And America needs more offspring of your sturdy "free enterprise" type to carry on the traditions of this great Republic by their intelligent ballots.

Also, give your newlyweds a copy of my bulletin "How to Run a Home on a Budget," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus a dime.

Aunt Het

I get so used to hearin' Pa talk that I don't pay much attention, except when he is talkin' to somebody else.

David Lawrence Says:

Oppenheimer Censured for Acts, Not His Views

WASHINGTON — Scientists are organizing propaganda campaigns to discredit the report of the board headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina, which recently ruled that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer is a "security risk" within the meaning of existing regulations.

Some of those same scientists are trying to give the impression that Dr. Oppenheimer is being punished for his "views" on scientific matters.

But the truth is he has been censured for specific acts and contradictory testimony, including admitted falsehoods to two different security officers of the United States Army in 1943.

What seems puzzling is that Dr. Oppenheimer, despite his "fury" about Nazi treatment of the Jews, not only contributed funds to a lot of Communist organizations but he continued to do so for many months after Stalin joined with Hitler. The official transcript of the hearings is very revealing on this point.

According to the testimony, Dr. Oppenheimer attended a meeting of one Communist-front organization on Dec. 1, 1940, which was addressed by Mr. Schneiderman, who was secretary of the Communist party in California. Dr. Oppenheimer admitted this on the witness stand.

The meeting was held at the home of Haakon Chevalier, whom Dr. Oppenheimer says he knew as a fellow traveler and who, it is revealed, was the man contacted by an agent of the Soviet government in an unsuccessful attempt to elicit atomic bomb information from Dr. Oppenheimer.

It was Chevalier that Dr. Oppenheimer admits he tried to protect and for whom he twice over a period of months in 1943 misled security officers of the United States Army who questioned him.

Roger Robb, the able counsel for the Atomic Energy Commission's special board, cross-examined Dr. Oppenheimer as follows:

"Q. How long after 1942 did you continue as a fellow traveler?

"A. After 1942 I would say not at all.

"Q. But you did continue as a fellow traveler until 1942? . . .

"A. I had no sympathy with the Communist line about the war between the spring of 1940 and when they changed. I did not admire the fashion of their change.

"Q. Did you cease to be a fellow traveler at the time of the Nazi-Russian pact in 1939?

"A. I think I did, yes.

"Q. Now, you are changing—

"A. Though there were some things that the Communists were doing which I still had an interest in."

At another point in the proceedings, Chairman Gray interrogated Dr. Oppenheimer as follows:

"Q. The record shows, I believe, Dr. Oppenheimer, that you continued probably until sometime in 1942 to make financial contributions which went to Communist causes, with money passing to different people, but among others, Folkoff was one who was known to you to be a Communist party officer.

"A. That is right."

At another point counsel Robb took up the interrogation as follows:

"Q. You knew it (the money) was going through Communist channels?

"A. I knew it.

"Q. For how many years did that go on?

"A. You have fixed the date in early 1942. I have a feeling that is about right . . .

"Q. You mean your last contribution was probably early in 1942?

"A. Yes, in early 1942.

"Q. Starting in 1937 or earlier?

"A. Yes.

"Q. In other words, it continued for approximately four years?

"A. Yes.

"Q. What was the average yearly amount that went through those channels?

"A. I never totaled it up."

"Q. You might have given as much as $150 a month on the average?

"A. That is a leading question.

"Q. Yes, I know.

"A. I could have as far as the money I had available . . . I remember once giving $300."

It is precisely this sort of testimony which doesn't refer at all to "views" on science but which exasperated the majority of the board as evidenced by their final decision to weigh the specific acts and answers of Dr. Oppenheimer in coming to their adverse conclusion about him as a "security risk."

The board refused to say he was disloyal. The security officers in Army intelligence, however, questioned his loyalty, as the text of the formal findings of those Army officers reveals, but they were overruled by top officials on the atomic energy project.

Baering Down

Can it be possible that Franklin Delano left his offspring the nation? One state at a time?

They were born to the political purple. Jimmy is seven shades past that color.

The young pretender has made California his private game preserve. He is available for the nearest office down the shortest corridor.

On the other side of the glorious U.S.A. Franklin the Twice is in politics up to his money pockets. He opened his gubernatorial swing by giving Tammany Hall to the birds.

Franklin is running for the Democratic nomination as independent as a West Virginia still. When there is a Roosevelt around the Sachems of the Manhattan wigwams hang the welcome mat over the side for a crash absorber.

Franklin started his campaign lulling the upstate farmers into a feeling of insecurity. He knocked off twenty per cent of the dirt road vote in an astonishing exhibition of inherited savvy.

Franklin wants to run against Tom Dewey in the November ides and seek. That stacks him up against a veteran who will fight him to the last oyster at the final banquet on an autumn Tuesday.

If Jimmicker registers as Congressman from California and Franklin beats Dewey it will be the neatest whack-up of territory since the needled-beer days in Chicago.

We concede it will be paying dividends on the impossible. But it can happen here. And there.

We figure Mamma Roosevelt is in there somewhere. She will probably capture the landing fields and bus depots.

Women Should Act More Intelligently, Ask Physicians About Dysmenorrhea

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

An intelligent woman consults a physician about any menstrual trouble.

A moron resorts to painkillers, nerve deadeners, narcotics or alcohol, straight booze or medicated.

Menstruation is a function, not a weakness nor an illness.

A normal young woman should continue her ordinary everyday activities, work or play. It should not prevent her from swimming, skating, skiing, dancing.

Some mothers start their young daughters out in the wrong way, encouraging them to regard menstruation as an illness which warrants spending a day or so in bed each month. This is bad hygiene.

A sensible mother regards the menstrual function in a wholesome way. It is not a "curse." At worst it is merely an inconvenience.

May God bless you and keep you ..... Five doctors told me I would never have a child, due to the horrible cramps I suffered each month (writes Mrs. R. B. E.). I'm now 44, have one son 20 this October, gave birth to perfect twin boys 8 years ago and also have a daughter 5 years old. (R. B. E.)

* * *

I don't receive so many God Bless You letters that I can afford to feel anything less than grateful for one.

I'll keep this one in a special file with other God Bless You letters, and whenever criticisms and complaints get me in a what's the use mood I'll open the file and read a few of the treasured letters, and get right back in there pitching.

Had Mrs. E. said a doctor or even two doctors told her she would never have a child, one might consider it likely.

But it is hard to believe that five doctors would make such an arbitrary and unreasonable prognosis even thought the patient had cramps from New Year's to Christmas.

A great many young women whose physical education has been neglected (not so many today as 50 years ago, perhaps, but still too many) suffer from monthly cramps (dysmenorrhea) in their teens and later, but most of them eventually become mothers.

It may well be that Mrs. E. misunderstood what the five doctors told her.

A good many patients, without any conscious intention of misrepresenting the doctor's opinion or advice, do somehow get an impression different from what the doctor meant to convey.

The young woman who is in any way incapacitated for a day each month should send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Hoover Will Speak at Hall of Fame

CHICAGO (UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover will be principal speaker tonight at the annual Merchandise Mart hall of fame dinner.

Before the dinner, Hoover will observe ceremonies in which four bronze busts will be unveiled in the Merchandise Mart Plaza overlooking the Chicago River.

The four busts represent the four merchants who were elected to the mart's hall of fame last year. They were Marshall Field I, founder of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago; F. W. Woolworth and John Wanamaker, New York merchants; and George H. Hartford, first president of the Great Atlantic & Pacific food stores.

To Build New Plant

KALAMAZOO (UP) — The Michigan Blueberry Assn. Wednesday announced plans to build a handling plant on a 12 acre site near Grand Junction. Paul Bower, of Kalamazoo, president, said the plant will contain 15,000 square feet of floor space and 24,000 cubic feet of refrigeration lines.

Boys Assume State Offices

Take Over Capitol for One Day as Part of Legion Program

LANSING (UP) — Michigan's capitol building stood braced today for an invasion of 1,000 youths participating in the American Legion's 17th annual Wolverine Boys' State.

The youths, who end their week of citizenship-training today, will take over key state offices in a mock capacity after a three-mile march from the Michigan State College Campus, Boys' State headquarters.

The youths, headed by "Governor" Gerald Rider, were to be met by state officials at the capitol steps to be escorted to their respective "duties."

Daniel Clark, Detroit, lieutenant governor; John Kelley, Birmingham, secretary of state; Wayne Millington, Fenton, treasurer; Phillip Hay, Highland Park, auditor general; John Schultz, Lansing, attorney general, and James Wyse, Grosse Pointe Park, superintendent of public instruction.

The boys will return to the campus for a general session in the fieldhouse before closing the annual Wolverine gathering.

Oklahomans to Focus on Africa

DURANT, Okla. (UP)—A safari will leave Oklahoma in July to shoot wild animals in the African jungles—with cameras, not guns.

The shutter shuttle is being organized by Jim Braly, a 41-year-old Durant, Okla., attorney who explained he has a desire to see "an elephant on the loose."

Braly lined up his party with ads in newspapers offering "a safari in Kenya" in 23 days for $2,893.71 each. He got his figure, exact to the penny from estimates given him by hotel and airline firms along the route planned.

"We're going to leave as soon as the rains end—around the first of July," he said. "we'll fly to Cairo and then to Kenya, and spend 14 days in the jungle taking pictures. I thought we might hunt, but they tell me a license costs about $140 a day down there."

The safari will travel in specially built trucks through the jungle, accompanied by three professional hunters who will be armed with more than cameras.

Braly said his wife apparently will be the only woman in the party and she is going only as far as Kenya.

"We're traveling light," he said. "For once, my wife will take only one extra dress."

Problem of Shipping Eyes Now Solved

BUFFALO, N. Y. —(UP) — A lawyer-philanthropist has made a significant contribution to the restoration of sight to the blind by developing a container for safely transporting human eyes to be used in cornea transplantation.

Joseph A. Albrecht of the Buffalo Eye Bank & Research Society found that shipping human eyes was a delicate business. They must be kept at 34 degrees Fahrenheit and guarded against both moisture and dryness.

Albrecht first made a tube to house the human eyes that would be placed in an insulated jug. A flat-bottomed jug with a base opening for ice was developed. Delicate clips hold the eye firmly and the cornea cannot be damaged. The container safeguards the eye for 20 hours.

Thanks to Albrecht's container the eye bank can ship the eyes of the dead to the living in any city in the United States for immediate transplantation.

Duck Unwelcome Guest

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hyde shooed a teal duck from their house. It bumped against furniture, toppled potted plants and left soot marks after it flew down the chimney.

Judge Hits Cause of Real Temptation

HONG KONG (AP)—"This," said Central District Magistrate Lawrence Leong, "is like telling a man carrying a bucket of cold water on a hot day that he can have only a teaspoonful for himself."

After thus reprimanding complaintants Leung Ho and Cho Kuen, he sentenced their business agent Li Shing, 32, to three months for simple larceny. Li visited the Aberdeen Market daily to buy pigs. He was entrusted with about $216 daily. His salary was about $28 a month.

One day instead of taking the $216 to the market he took off for Macao. He was apprehended on the ferry.

Materialistic Squirrels Ignore Billfold, Money

GALT, Mo. (AP) — Home on an Army furlough, Justin Holt helped his brother put up hay. He lost his billfold containing $28.

Months later the billfold, not a bit damaged and with the cash still in good shape, turned up below a squirrel den tree. The Holts figured some bushy-tail was attracted to the leater wallet and hid it in his nest. Then, apparently the squirrel's interest faded and he pushed it out of the nest.

Everest Scalers Say Peak Higher Than Estimated

WASHINGTON — Sir Edmund Hillary and Sir John Hunt, members of the British expedition which last year conquered Mt. Everest, believe the world's loftiest mountain exceeds 29,002 feet, its most frequently cited altitude.

Sir John said that he has the impression the peak is higher by 100 or 150 feet. He and Sir Edmund suggested the estimate made by a 1952 Swiss expedition—29,610 feet—may be close to correct.

"I don't think anybody really knows," Sir Edmund said when asked exactly how high Everest is.

The 29,002-foot figure was attained by averaging computations taken in 1849-50 from six stations 110 miles from the mountain. In 1905 Sir Sydney Burrard estimated 29,141 feet. Surveyors have claimed other heights. According to the Surveyor General of India, existing data are too incomplete to warrant a figure other than the customary 29,002 feet. A precise altitude must await observations taken from mountains near Everest.

Crater lake, Oregon, which is an unusual sapphire blue, lies in what was once a gigantic volcano, and is estimated to be about 2,000 feet deep.

Serum Fights Bad Effects of Vaccination

BERKLEYEY, Calif. (UP)—Discovery of a blood serum to combat serious complications which occasionally follow smallpox vaccinations has been announced by the University of California School of Medicine.

The concentrate, known as "vaccinia immune gamma globulin," was developed by Dr. C. Henry Kompe, assistant professor of pediatrics at the university.

Dr. Kompe developed the serum in India in 1952 after collecting blood from volunteers in the U. S. armed forces who had been vaccinated a short time before.

The serum Kompe extracted from this blood was found to contain high concentrations of antibodies against the virus used in smallpox vaccinations. A test on children then showed this vaccina not only was highly effective in combating post-vaccinations complications but also in fighting smallpox itself among persons who contracted the disease.

The concentrate is avilable to any licensed physician, health officer and also will be supplied free by the American Red Cross, university authorities said.

Ohio Editor Now in 57th Year of Duty

CARDINGTON, Ohio (UP)—William R. Conaway is still going strong in his daily duties of publishing the local weekly newspaper as he has been for almost 57 years.

Conaway celebrated his 80th birthday in January by taking his usual "turn" in feeding a cylinder press and performing other routine duties necessary to put out his paper, the Independent.

The paper used steam power when he came here in 1897 as co-publisher of the newspaper. Since it has used gasoline, natural gas, and now electricity.

Conaway broke into the newspaper business on the same newspaper where the late President Harding received his early newspaper training, the Caledonia, O. Enterprise. The men didn't work there at the same time but Conaway consulted Harding about newspaper policies when Harding became publisher of the Marion Star in an adjoining county.

The Independent is the youngest of three Ohio weeklies Conaway and his son own. The Union Register in Mt. Gilead is in its 106th year. The Tri-County Star in Ashley is in its 81st year.

Skin Ailment May Be Caused by Insect Bites

CHICAGO (UP) — A skin condition that has been debated by doctors since 1824 may be caused by the bites of insects such as the mosquito, flea and bedbug, according to a Pennsylvania scientist.

Dr. Bertram Shaffer, assistant professor of dermatology at the University of Pennsylvania, reported at a scientific meeting here recently that findings of the past 11 years indicate that insects may cause the ailment known scientifically as papular urticaria. The condition causes an itchy eruption similar to hives.

Shaffer said he had found that a large majority of patients suffering from papular urticaria "demonstrated sensitivity to extracts of fleas and bedbugs."

"Furthermore, he said, "when patients with papular urticaria were treated in a manner to dispose of fleas and bedbugs, the vast majority of these cases got well, as contrasted with a control group of patients who responded very poorly to other types of medication.

"More recently we have also come to believe that mosquitoes may also cause this eruption."

Repairs More Economical Than Legislative Wait

BOSTON (AP) — Rep. Ernest A. Johnson of Worcester, a barber, and Charles E. Shepard, a farmer who is budget director for a legislature ways and means committee, worked out a system which allows state agencies to use existing funds to make necessary repairs and replace essential equipment — as the need arises.

Such out-of-hand repair, with only the approval of the state budget commissioner, are credited with being far more economical than waiting a year for an appropriation—while the state property deteriorates. Johnson thinks savings are as high as a million dollars a year.

Scientists Play With Mud to Test Its Consistency

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Scientists here are spending a lot of time playing with mud. They must know the consistency and strength of the underwater soil before construction starts on the 7,200-foot underwater tunnel under Hampton Roads, from Hampton to Willoughby.

The Virginia Council of Highway Investigation and Research is doing the checkup for the 54 million dollar project. Mud is being brought up from holes as deep as 200 feet for the study.

Germans Pattern Trade After Military Planning

(Editor's note: Ever since Moscow launched its current trade offensive in western Europe, U.S. and European economic experts have wondered how the lure of potential Communist customers affects the dollar-backed economy of western Germany. This final article of a series surveying the West German economy tells of Bonn's place in the east-west trade cold war.)

By TOM AGOSTON

BONN (INS) — With the same disciplined precision that has gone into Germany's military planning throughout history, West German businessmen are forging plans for resumption of trade with the East.

With their newly won know-how of world trade, they are confident that the seven year decline of East-West German commerce will be revised this year.

While they are not looking for an immediate drastic reversal of trade figures, they are pressing for some share in the limited trade possibilities, expressed in recent trade agreements between the Soviets and such non-Communist nations as Britain, Sweden, Italy and France.

At present West Germany has no diplomatic ties with Russia nor with the east European Red satellites.

However, in the past few weeks, in the uneasy atmosphere caused by the failures at Geneva and French inaction on EDC, there has been a flurry of demands that diplomatic and trade ties be established with Moscow.

While West German officials flatly reject the notion of trying to play Washington against Moscow, it is felt, nevertheless, that the United States could hardly oppose German trade with Russia, Red China and others, while Britain and France are openly encouraging just such trade.

Chief concern of U. S. officials in Bonn and Washington, however, has not been that there are such trends, but that direct contact between West Germany and the Soviet Union already had begun, unbeknown to these officials and in defiance of allied decrees.

It occurred recently when a group of six West German businessmen representing major trade interests completely short-circuited their own government's and the allies' restrictive ordinances by quietly traveling to Moscow where they signed the first direct trade pact between West Germany and the Soviet Union.

"Our trip to Moscow was a reconnaissance, an experiment, to find out if the Russians mean business. And there is no doubt about it — they do."

That is how the spokesman of the group (none of its members has been publicly identified) summarized the visit to Moscow.

While U. S. State Department officials in Germany refrained from public comment, they privately expressed some concern over the trip. No strategic goods were involved. Still the trip evoked much discussion as to the overall subject of what goods are strategic and what are not.

The issue of West German trade with Russia came to the fore again this month, when it was reported a full-fledged "trade delegation" was planning to fly to Moscow in the near future to negotiate for sale of an estimated $60 million worth of German goods. It was said the delegation would include representatives of industry, banks and business firms.

About two-thirds of the livestock in the United States is raised in areas west of the Mississippi river.

Horse Remains Beast to Be Reckoned With

BOSTON (AP)—The horse apparently is still a steed to be reckoned with in this age of automobile traffic congestion.

A woman recently was awarded $1,000 by a Superior Court jury for injuries received when kicked by a horse.

About 10 per cent of France's railways has been electrified and has reduced imports of required coal by more than two million tons annually.

Ruling Guards Voters

ST. PAUL (AP)— A village hall can house a municipal liquor store, but only if it is partitioned from the part used for voting purposes, Atty. Gen. J. A. A. Burnquist ruled in answer to a question from the West Concord Village attorney. The liquor store must have a separate entrance, too, Burnquist held.

Despite the advance of mechanization, more than 80 per cent of the world's food supply is still produced chiefly by human or animal labor.

Salem Leaves Kiddies to Roll Sand Around

SALEM, Mass. (AP) — Beach-going youngsters have 1500 tons of sand to move this summer and Salem officials think they'll do it with pails and shovels.

Because of unusual tide conditions, Crane's beach in nearby Ipswich had too much sand. And because of lack of snow Salem's snow division was inactive. Thinking the sand would improve Salem's beaches, the snow crews hauled the sand and dumped it in piles above the flood tide mark. Now, it's up to the children to spread it.

Crusading Governor Forgets About 'Prince'

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Robert Crosby of Nebraska, who has been campaigning for honest reporting of tax returns in the state, filed his own personal property tax schedule, then followed it up a few days later with a correction. He had forgotten, the governor said, to list his pet boxer dog, Prince.

"It's down there (on the tax form) between 'chickens, ducks and geese' and "fur bearing animals' and I missed it," the governor volunteered.

Stomach Cancer Linked to Anemia in New Study

ANN ARBOR — Much has been made of the necessity for an early examination of patients suffering from stomach cancer.

But realizing that "early" is a relative term, doctors have been looking for some other sign which would alert them to the possibility of cancer of the stomach.

Those doctors who have suspected that pernicious anemia may be just such a sign have been supported by a study conducted by two University of Michigan doctors.

Drs. Philip Rubin and Fred J. Hodges of the UM Department of Radiology have examined over 1,322 patients with pernicious anemia.

The study is considered to be the largest series of patients of this type studied with a view to uncovering more information about stomach cancer.

The report appeared in the current issue of the UM Medical Bulletin, and it offers convincing evidence of the connection between pernicious anemia and stomach cancer.

The doctors said, "Thirty-five cases of stomach cancer were found among the 1,322 patients examined." This figure represents 2.5 per cent of the pernicious anemia sufferers, or 10 times that of the general population.

Ordinarily doctors would find only two to three patients in 1,000 with stomach cancer. This study reveals that two to three patients in 100 suffering from pernicious anemia have cancer of the stomach.

Even more significant is the development of a secondary anemia in patients being treated for liver therapy for their pernicious anemia. Uusually such a development is uncommon, but when it occurs, it is indicative of a blood loss from a hidden lesion which has been proved, statistically at least, to be cancer of the stomach.

The UM doctors found the development of a secondary anemia to be a reliable indication of stomach cancer, since 70 per cent of those patients who had cancer of the stomach had such a secondary anemia.

With these findings the doctors urge the following routine:

1. Patients with pernicious anemia should be examined every six months for possible stomach complications; 2. Family physicians should act quickly when a pernicious anemia patient develops secondary anemia; and 3. The X-ray specialist should search diligently for stomach lesions, since they are the percursor state to cancer and offer the best chance for cure.

Above all, say Drs. Rubin and Hodges, the patient with pernicious anemia should not become lax just because the liver therapy has made him feel better.

"The asymptomatic period which paradoxically means so little to the patient," declared the report, "can mean so much in terms of his survival."

Uranium Finds Stir Australia

'Dead Heart' Is Coming to Life as Barren Plains Reveal Rich Lodes

SYDNEY, Australia (UP) — The "dead heart" of Australia — an arid, lonely area of thousands of square miles — is gradually coming to life as field after field of valuable uranium is discovered in its barren plains.

The tract of land, nearly as large as all Europe, was already known to be rich in gold and tungsten ore. But it is uranium that seems likely to stir "the center," after years of neglect.

From Rum Jungle in the north to Wild Dog Valley in the south, Radium Hill to the Coronation field, prospectors are reporting values which may make Australia richer in uranium than any other nation in the world.

The realization of the potentialities of this semi-desert, linked with the disvcovery of oil in the far northwest, has sent a surge of confidence and excitement through Australia.

The manner in which uranium has been discovered runs true to the romantic history of the early days in central Australia; and the wild speculating in uranium shares which has made fortunes for many on stock exchanges throughout the nation, carries the saga into a modern setting.

The Rum Jungle uranium field was discovered by a veteran prospector, Jack White, who was hunting kangaroos when his practised eye noted the possibilities of the area. Even after he collected his $25,000 reward, White continued to live in a tin shanty and to prospect the north of Australia, just as he had done for years.

Vast tracts of Australia's "dead heart," as well as much of the region, are being combed by government-owned aircraft, carrying scintillographs which measure gamma radiation from the country below. Where there are signs of radioactivity, parties of experts are sent to examine further.

Recently, the government has encouraged private companies to take part in uranium searching and mining. The results have been astounding.

Minister Present to Back Youngster's Fish Story

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa. (UP)—This is 11-year-old Dale Stauffer's fish story:

Dale battled a large fish for quite a few minutes at a nearby stream and finally beached it. Before he had a chance to measure the fish a cat grabbed it and ran away with it.

The Rev. Samuel F. Stauffer, a Lutheran minister and Dale's father, said he saw the whole thing. He even helped Dale chase the cat. The fish was not recovered.

Rabbit Not Appreciated

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP) — Three bachelors share an apartment and the job of planning and cooking meals. When one of them served rabbit for Tuesday dinner, four weeks in a row, the other two objected. They found he had been dating a laboratory technician who works in a medical clinic that specializes in maternity tests.

Marilyn Monroe Home, Collapses After Flu

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A three-day rest in bed has been ordered for Marilyn Monroe, who collapsed three times since the start of her current picture four weeks ago.

Dr. S. R. Kennamer sent her home yesterday after her latest collapse. He said she was run down as a result of a flu attack 10 days ago, but probably would be able to resume her work Saturday at Twentieth Century-Fox Studios.

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, (UP)—An Indonesian delegation headed by Foreign Minister Soenarjo arrived here last night to start discussing the liquidation of the five-year-old Dutch-Indonesian Union. The talks begin next Monday.

The Foreign Minister said Indonesia wants to replace the union by ordinary diplomatic relations.

Autopsy Shows Woman Died of Asphyxiation

MT. CLEMENS (UP)—The death of Mrs. Rosemary Elliott, whose body was found in a bathtub, was caused by asphyxiation, an autopsy revealed today.

Senate to Vote on Trade Act

GOP Solons Say Dem Substitute Would Kill Tariff Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican Senate leaders passed word today that adoption of a Democratic-sponsored, broadened extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act probably would kill the 20-year-program.

Majority Leader Knowland of California and Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the tariff-handling Finance Committee, it was learned, were using this argument to try to hold votes in line for a simple one-year extension bill already passed by the House.

* * *

They argued that a three-year extension with new powers for the President to cut tariffs, as originally requested by President Eisenhower and now provided for in the Democrats' substitute, would be like waving a red flag in the face of key House Republicans who favor higher tariffs.

Many House GOP leaders, such as Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), were reluctant to go along even with a one-year extension without new restrictions on imports. Reed heads the Ways and Means Committee which has authority over tariff legislation in the House.

After his three-year-proposal ran into difficulties there, Eisenhower last month let it be known he would go along with a one-year extension now but said he was not dropping his interest in the broader program. He said passage of the one-year extension would give Congress opportunity to study his plan further.

Knowland and Millikin contend the House might well refuse a conference and let the law die if the Senate passes a broadened extension measure.

However, both Senators said they were confident the proposed substitute, offered by 22 Democrats and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon, would be beaten.

The vote on the substitute is expected today, and possibly final passage of the bill, the Senate last night having adopted an agreement to limit debate.

Prospective Teacher, 13, to Visit 11 Countries

CANTON, Ohio (UP) — Francie Huffman, 13, who expects to be a teacher some day, is going to learn about foreign schools first hand.

She, her father and mother plan a three-month tour of Europe that will see Francie in 11 different schools in 11 different countries before returning to their suburban Whipple Heights home. Francie will run into nine languages besides English, but she doesn't plan to learn them all. She'll have a translator beside her in the classrooms where she doesn't know the language.

Her itinerary includes England, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, France, the Netherlands, Spain, Italy, Portugal, Germany and Switzerland. She will keep a diary of her experiences and impressions.

Curious Mother Plays Pretty Cozy Role

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — When officer A. D. Marshall answered the police headquarters telephone, a woman asked if her son had been jailed. Marshall asked the son's name.

"I don't want to give you his name because if he's not in jail you might want to find him," she replied.

"Well, then," asked Marshall, "what's your name?"

"If I told you, you'd know his name," said the woman as she hung up.

Woodpecker Taps Daily

Reds Use Terror in Africa to Keep Country Unstable

Editor's note: The tides of opposition beat fiercely against the empire France built on two sides of the world. Indochina is all but adrift, and North Africa is shaken by the wave of nationalism. William L. Ryan has surveyed the prospects in both areas, as well as in France itself. This is the fourth of a series in which he portrays the tottering empire—and how it weakened.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — "Someday some of you Americans might get killed here. When that happens, please — please do not lose your heads."

These words came to me from a highly placed person in Morocco who must otherwise remain unidentified.

I asked him to elaborate. He replied with a shrug and the remark: "There are forces here who want you to lose your heads."

* * *

This informant was one of many who insist there is much foreign influence in the creeping terror in North Africa, an area which has come to be of strategic importance to Western defense.

Daily killings of French and Moroccans are commonplace now. The objective of the terror — whether the influence comes from local extremists, nationalists, Arab League propaganda, Moscow agents or from all these sources — is the same in the French view. It is to keep France off balance in the area and render it unstable.

Leaving aside the justice or unreasonableness of nationalist aspirations, instability in North Africa has grave meaning for the United States and her allies. What if North Africa, and particularly Morocco, should blow up in internal strife? There might be little choice eventually for the United States but to abandon the important air bases built here under agreement with the French.

The United States has three bases completed and one nearly completed and already operational in Morocco, at a cost of more than 300 million dollars. The bases were begun shortly after the Korean War exploded. The French permitted 7,500 Americans to be based permanently in Morocco to run the installations. Almost all are skilled personnel.

* * *

Present plans call for five bases in Spain to complement the North African program. This will make up a great single defense complex —a deterrent to any overt aggressive move by Moscow. There are an inner ring of bases in North Africa, England, Spain and Turkey and an outer ring forged by Iceland, Greenland and the Pacific area.

American experts say these rings are so formidable Moscow must keep its air force at 50 per cent fighters to offset the bomber threat. The more bases the West has, the more freedom of action it has in time of war, from the standpoint of choosing places from which to attack. The more bases the West has, the more Moscow's air defense problems increase, the more its defenses must be dispersed.

Loss of Morocco would mean loss of an area within easy striking distance of strategic targets, an area whose weather permits takeoffs all but 17 days a year.

Communists are outlawed both in Tunis and Morocco, but there is a hard core of 500 Moroccan Communists, built up by French Reds with the help of France's Communist-dominated labor federation.

* * *

Obviously under orders from outside, the Communist party of Morocco has become supernationalist —more than that, monarchist—in its attempts to woo and infiltrate the nationalist movement. It refers to "His Majesty" Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, whose ouster by the French nine months ago is the issue which most stirs Morocco today.

The Communists play constantly on an anti-American theme, trying to whip up local and nationalist sentiment against the United States.

Intelligent Moroccan leaders realize the Communists, under Secretary Ali Yata, are trying to infiltrate their ranks. Yet the day may come when, after long irritations and terror, alliances of opportunity may lure some of the more extreme elements. And Communists are schooled in terror. It is not beyond possibility that they might arrange the well-timed killing of Americans.

Match your motor to your boat. This boat, with much too large a motor, is extremely unstable and therefore dangerous.

He's not asking for trouble—he's begging for it. Don't board boat encumbered with oars. Step into bottom, not onto seat.

BOATING, FUN OR WOE?—It all depends on you. If you learn a few basic things about handling a small boat, your vacation or weekends afloat will be pleasant—and safe. Last year hundreds of people were drowned in boating accidents, many of them due to ignorance of boat handling or carelessness. No one knows how many uncomfortable, but non-fatal accidental duckings were suffered. The American Red Cross conducts regular classes to teach its members water safety. Illustrated here are common traps for the unwary amateur sailor. One thing the Red Cross stresses—if your boat or canoe capsizes or fills with water—stay with it. It will not sink, even with an outboard motor attached. Many good swimmers die in boat accidents every year because they leave the boat and try to swim to shore.

Elegant Chick Recipe Wins Title for Woman

GEORGETOWN, Del. (AP)—A 43-year-old housewife and mother of three today wore the crown of National Chicken Cooking Queen.

Mrs. Steven J. Barczewski, who lives on a 240-acre farm near Newark, Del., won the title, $500 and other prizes yesterday at the 7th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival.

Her recipe: Broiled chicken basted with white wine and crab apple jelly and served with tea biscuits. It won over 99 other entries.

Failure to Dim Lights Foils Young Escapees

ORANGE, Va. (AP)—When the approaching car didn't dim its lights as required by state law, State Trooper James W. Chambers turned around and overtook the vehicle.

Two youths in the car, Jackson Libert, 18, and Aubrey Caldwell, 21, both of Pulaski, turned out to be escapees from a state prison camp. The car had been stolen several hours earlier in Roanoke.

Naval Reserve Units Plan Lake Michigan Training

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Fishermen and private boat operators have been warned by the Navy to use caution when approaching Manitou Island in Lake Michigan Thursday and for the two day period, July 7-8.

Naval reserve units will be in the area for training operations. Naval sources said the training exercises would not interrupt normal lake traffic.

Unwed Mothers Increase in U.S.

Medical Group Advised 'Sex Hysteria' Fosters Illegitimate Births

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The number of unwed mothers is increasing—especially among teen-agers or upper class girls—and a "sex hysteria" in American society is partly to blame, a physician said yesterday.

Many influences are at work producing "an emotional shambles which fosters many of the deviations and denatured biological trends which are common among our young folks," Dr. Goodrich C. Schauffler of Portland, Ore., told the American Medical Assn.

He urged physicians to "go beyond the ordinary call" of duty to help these girls.

* * *

He said he had seen "too many impressively happy endings" to think these matters cannot be "decently handled—many of them by the physician."

Having their babies may "turn out to be a maturing experience—often a distinct psychological advantage as compared to an abortion."

Dr. Schauffler said there were 88,000 illegitimate live births in 1938, and 142,000 in 1950. Nearly half these mothers in 1950 were under 20, and 32,000 were girls under 17.

* * *

"A much higher percentage of unmarried mothers nowadays comes from comparatively privileged groups — high school students, college students, young women with good jobs, as compared with the 'poor working girl' or 'penniless domestic' of the beginning of the century."

Modern customs which "precipitate precocious sex activity of young people" are one cause, Dr. Schauffler said.

* * *

Young people are more aware of sex, "stimulated and maintained by the sex hysteria which is a calculated instrument of modern journalism and so-called entertainment trends.

"Beyond this, there are loose practices, bad examples and lack of supervision in parental and home influences; liquor, narcotics, automobiles, auto courts, and finally, gang influences which combine the above elements and tend, in certain groups, almost to enforce premarital sex practices."

Sylvan Lake Residents Can Loan Beach Cards

Sylvan Lake residents who have guests wishing to use the city beach should loan them their beach cards, City Manager Ernest Ethier said today.

"By doing this, police officers can properly patrol the park," Manager Ethier stated. He added that a check last week showed a small percentage of residents had attached the 1954 city decal sticker to their auto windshields. This should be done as soon as possible.

Health Director Reports Cases in Pontiac Ran About the Same

Don't Be an 'S'

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—The Rhode Island Registry of Motor Vehicles tells motorists in it's monthly newspaper: "Don't be an S, Speed, spite, spirits and stupidity are the cause of most accidents."

BOAT INSPECTION TIME—With warm weather finally here, people are thinking more of fleeing to the many Oakland County lakes to cool off or to go boating or fishing. This time of year Oakland County sheriff's deputies are visiting the lakes, too, but for a different reason—inspection of boats to make sure that those boats being rented are safe for use. Here Deputy Ferris Holcomb prepares to stencil the side of one of the boats at the Smith Boat Livery at Elizabeth Lake. The stencil mark shows the user how high the water can be alongside the boat before it is termed unsafe for use. The owner, Dick Smith of 7521 Elizabeth Lake Rd., views the stenciling technique.

New Courthouse on August Ballot

If Approved, County Will Have $4.5 Million Judicial Quarters

Oakland County voters must register with their city or township clerks by July 6 to vote in the Aug. 3 primary elections.

The August balloting will decide whether Oakland County will have a new $4,500,000 courthouse - office building. Voters will also choose candidates for Oakland county offices, the Michigan legislature, U. S. Congress and governor in the November elections.

Any U. S. citizen 21 years old who will have lived in Michigan for six months and in his city or township for 30 days by Aug. 3 can register to vote. People who have registered or voted within the last four years are still elegible.

The county's courthouse proposal will appear on two separate ballots.

One ballot — on which only property owners can vote — would let the county borrow $4,500,000 to build the new courthouse and issue general obligation bonds.

The bond proposal needs approval from a majority of the voting property owners to carry.

The other ballot — on which all qualified voters can vote — would let the county levy a special half-mill tax (50 cents on each $1,000 worth of property as valued by the county) for 20 years to pay off the bonds.

Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, says Oakland County has no unpaid bonds against it now.

If voters okay both ballots Aug. 3, county officials plan to build the new courthouse on the "county center" on Pontiac's western edge.

Pontiac City Commission has approved annexation of 111 acres of land between Telegraph road and West boulevard, the city's western boundary line. The new courthouse would be built on this land — probably on the ridge just south of the county children's home.

The new building, replacing the courthouse at Huron and Saginaw Sts. and office building (former Masonic Temple) at 1 Lafayette St. would probably be sold, county officials say.

Trouble Seen for Aid Plan

GOP Leaders Expect House Bid to Reduce Foreign Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republican congressmen today foresaw heavy sailing ahead for President Eisenhower's 3½ billion dollar foreign aid program despite its approval virtually intact by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The committee scissored only seven million dollars from administration requests in approving yesterday a $3,470,608,000 ceiling for global assistance during the year beginning July 1.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), a ranking member, termed the committee action a "vote of confidence in the President." He added this is the first time in his 16 years' congressional service that a committee has avoided heavy slashes in foreign aid.

* * *

The measure now goes to the House floor, probably Monday, and Vorys predicted that several members, including some committeemen, would try to cut it. The Senate has not yet acted.

Appropriations will be voted later to carry out the authorized program. Rep. Ford (R-Mich), a member of the Appropriations Committee, predicted that group would make "some cuts" when it starts considering the actual money bill in July.

The President, in a special message to Congress yesterday, called the program "essential" and said that, in the face of world tension, any cuts in it "would be unjustified and unsafe."

A few hours later the House Foreign Policy Committee announced that it had approved untouched these major items:

1. Global military assistance totaling $1,778,300,000.

2. Military - supporting aid to Southeast Asia and the Western Pacific, 945 million dollars. This includes authority to use anywhere in Southeast Asia 800 million earmarked for Indochina.

3. Global defense support, backing up the military buildup, $223,280,000.

4. Development assistance and point four aid to underdeveloped areas, 224 million, including 85 million for India.

Korean rehabilitation, $241,300,000, including the American share of United Nations programs.

* * *

The rest of the authorized funds would be spent on various types of international relief programs.

The committee sliced 7½ million dollars from defense support funds for Europe, but added $500,000 to the U.N. emergency relief total. Last year the group cut Eisenhower's first aid budget by 750 million dollars before sending it to the House.

SGT. DOUG D. HAINES JR.

Sergeant Assigned to Recruiting Station

A former Keego Harbor resident with almost seven years of service with the U.S. Air Force, S. Sgt. Doug D. Haines Jr., joined the Pontiac Army and Air Force Recruiting Station Monday.

Sgt. Haines, assigned here from the Aviation Cadet Selection Detachment for the Michigan Area, lived in Keego Harbor and attended Roosevelt High School prior to his entry into service in 1948. His tour of duty included 15 months in Okinawa, four years at Ellington Air Force Base in Houston, Texas, and a brief period in Greenville, Miss.

Want to Live in Moscow? (No Return!)

WASHINGTON (INS)—A House committee has voted to pay the travel expenses of any U. S. resident who desires to take up permanent residence in Russia.

The unique proposal was adopted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee with the necessary expenses to be taken out of foreign aid funds.

Under the proposal, sponsored by committee chairman Robert Chiperfield (R-Ill), any persons accepting the offer would not be readmitted to this country once they went to Russia to live.

Chiperfield expressed hope that the Soviets will counter with a similar offer to enable Russians to come to the U. S.

Warns Against False Solicitors

Attempts Made to Sell Local Merchants Space, Says Hirlinger

"The State of Michigan does not solicit advertising for any publications," assistant Pontiac Chamber of Commerce manager John Hirlinger warned today.

He said three publications with official-sounding names are attempting to sell advertising space to local merchants, inferring that advertisers will receive preferential treatment by state officials.

"There is no substance to these papers, and no circulation to speak of. They are just full of ads," Hirlinger said. "You can be reasonably sure you're being victimized if—1—the name sounds official; 2—special consideration from state departments is hinted; and 3—if it is a telephone solicitation."

"The promise by any publication or organization that you will be favored or penalized by any governmental authority if you do or don't advertise is a most vicious misrepresentation," Hirlinger said, "and the Chamber of Commerce and its Better Business Bureau condemn such practices and urge citizens to withhold support of such ventures."

44 Liveries Inspected in County

State Law Observance Offering Safer Boating

Recent laws concerning the renting of boats have increased the safety of boat users, but have put an additional strain on the Oakland County Sheriff's Department which is in charge of inspecting every boat rented in the county.

Boat livery owners are chopping up their old boats and replacing them with new boats, according to Deputy Ferris Holcomb. "So far we have not turned down a single boat. They all have been in good condition."

Holcomb and Sgt. Donald Francis, who handle the boat inspections, believe the shift to new boats by owners is due to stiffer state legislation passed in 1952.

So far this year 582 boats at 44 liveries have been inspected and $291 taken in for capacity tags. Each boat is given a tag which, according to the size and shape of the boat, shows how many persons may safely use the boat. A 50 cent fee is charged for each tag.

In 1953 the sheriff's department inspected 1,734 boats at 101 liveries and took in $867 in fees. This year, according to Sgt. Francis, there are about 20 more boat liveries in the county.

Holcomb, who does most of the field work, reports that the largest single livery is on Kent Lake and has 120 boats.

The 1952 Act 257 specifies that each boat shall be of "sound and substantial construction and in good seaworthy shape."

The oars will be constructed so that they shall have no holes or cracks which will diminish their operating effectiveness, and all watercraft propeled by machinery or sail shall be equipped with emergency oars or paddles, according to the act.

Maximum capacity of the boat will be determined by a scale, judged by the length of the boat and its freeboard, or side area above water.

Oars must be chained to the boat and each boat must have a stenciled marking showing the danger point along each side of the craft. Every boat must be equipped with one life-saving cushion or other approved floatation equipment per person.

41 Chicks Born in Dump From Discarded Eggs

STANDISH, Maine (AP)—A batch of eggs discarded at the town dump hatched out 41 chicks after baking in hot sunshine, caretaker Bert Chaplin reported.

Chaplin said last night the chicks appear to be flourishing despite their unceremonious entry into the world.

To Ask More Prison Space

Commission Prepares Appeal to Legislature Next January

LANSING (AP) — The Corrections Commission today was preparing to make an emergency appeal to the legislature for space to put more prisoners.

Corrections director Gus Harrison was instructed by the commission yesterday to round up the figures on the growth of the state's prison population to a record height.

His report will be considered by the commission at its July 7 meeting at the dedication of the newest conservation - prison camp near Grayling.

The commission informally agreed to ask next January for emergency money to build facilities to ease the population pressure until the proposed new 600-man institution can be built at Ionia, probably in three years.

The state's prison population climbed to 9,452, a record, this week.

The commission met yesterday to discuss security measures in the prisons with the prison wardens and warden Joseph Regan of the Joliet, Ill. penitentiary.

Harrison was instructed to draw up a priority list of the proposed security improvements to present to the legislature with a request for money to install as many as the legislature can find money for.

The recommendations include better gun coverage of outside walls, more guard towers, fencing of critical areas and the hiring of more guards.

No 'Flatfeet' Here

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Medical evidence here is giving the boot to the term "flatfoot" to denote a police officer who pounds a beat. When the subject came up recently, Police Chief Herbert Jenkins agreed to have a group of his officers examined. A physician found that not one had flat feet.

Milford Man Elected Marine Zone Head

Gordon Dean of Milford was elected Northeast Zone Commandant at the State Convention of Marine Corps League, Department of Michigan, at the group's annual meeting in Detroit recently.

Pontiac attorney Paul L. Merideth was elected to the post of judge advocate. The two are members of the local Nichols-Conklin Detachment of the Marine Corps League and represent the first two local men elected to state posts in the past 10 years.

Geological ...nce

STANTON, Mo. (INS)—A new species of blind cave snails—estimated to be some 40 million years old—have been found in an underground stream at the historic Meramec Caverns here. The discovery by Dr. J. P. E. Morrison, associate curator of mollusks, United States National Museum, Washington, D. C., provide additional proof that the Appalachian and Ozark region have had the same geological history in general, as far back as the development of the limestone cave systems.

Hungry Cat, Loyal Pigeon Make News

"Snowball," 4-week-old kitten, has taken to hitting the bottle at an early age. The all-white kitten has been feeding from a full-size baby bottle in her Minneapolis home most of her young life. In the photo below, Joseph Quatreni of Glenside, Pa., sits in his car with a live pigeon that refuses to leave its dead mate. Quatreni's car struck the pigeon when he was driving into Philadelphia. Rather than leave it on the highway, he put it into the car. The second pigeon then flew in and refused to move.

Disposal of Radioactivity Declared Huge Problem

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A plea for serious thought" on an international level" on the best means to dispose of deadly "radioactive garbage" which may increase tremendously as the atomic age advances, was made today be an atomic energy commission scientist.

Saying that its dispersal in water would not provide a complete answer, Dr. W. A. Rodger of the AEC's Argonne national laboratory declared:

"Even the oceans are not big enough to hold the activity which conceivably may be produced.

"If in the next several decades, anything like the quantity of fission (waste) product which has been hypothesized is actually produced, it is clear that this generation has a serious responsibility to future generations in deciding just what will be the final disposal."

Rodger spoke at an international congress of nuclear engineering sponsored at the University of Michigan by a division of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AICE).

He said that in his opinion, the best thing to do "at least for the present generation" would be to maintain control of the wastes in containers "in deserts or mines" — as distinguished from free dispersal in air or water, or burial beneath the ground or at sea in ways not subject to later checking.

Rodger gave these estimates of the radioactive waste problem of the future: by the year 2000 A. D. atomic reactors in the United States, including those which may be generating industrial power, may be numerous enough to be yielding a ton of waste products a day — and on a world basis this would be three tons a day.

M'Carthy Wins in Tribune Poll

70,000 Vote in Chicago on Result of Hearings, 91 Pct. Favor Senator

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune's poll on the McCarthy-Army hearings ended last night with 70,036 persons casting ballots and 91.2 per cent voting in favor of the Wisconsin senator.

The poll, by mail and telephone, was held for six days and followed the 36 days of hearings in the McCarthy-Army controversy.

* * *

Those voting in the poll were asked to vote yes or no on two questions:

1. Do you believe Secretary Stevens and Army Counselor Adams and their advisers proved their charges that Sen. McCarthy and his staff exerted improper pressure to secure favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, former committee aid?

2. Do you believe Sen. McCarthy and his staff proved their charges that Stevens, Adams, and their advisers sought to end the inquiry into communism in the Army by threats to circulate an unfounded report about undue favors sought for Schine.

* * *

The Tribune reported today that of the mail ballots, 51,824 voted for McCarthy; 4,816 for Pentagon (Army) and 602 were undecided. In voting by telephone, 12,026 were listed for McCarthy; 716 for the Pentagon and 53 were undecided. The total vote was 63,850 for McCarthy; 5,531 for the Pentagon and 655 undecided.

The Tribune said ballots were counted as "undecided" when the voter marked to show that he believed both sides had proved their charges or that neither side had proved its charges.

Charge Egyptian Colonel With Plot

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Col. Ahmed Shawky, former officer commanding the Egyptian Infantry Corps, will appear before the Revolution Court Saturday on charges of conspiring to foment sedition in the Egyptian Army and to arouse discontent among the militaryagainst the present regime.

The prosecutor's office issued an indictment against Shawky yesterday 24 hours after a special military court had announced sentences up to 15 years against 16 army officers accused of attempting a coup d'etat.

The indictment said Shawky also had established contact with certain circles "endangering state security."

New Theory Says Venus May Be Water Covered

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—If and when any space navigators ever reach the planet Venus, they'd better be equipped with rowboats — because two Harvard astronomers today offered a new theory that "an ocean of water completely covers the planet."

And, presumably, the spaceship itself would have to be equipped with parking pontoons—or at least an outboard motor.

But take heart, you would-be spacemen. The astronomers said it may be an ocean of "carbonated" water — not too bad for a sociable Scotch and soda as you pull on the oars.

* * *

"Because of the large amount of carbon dioxide in the Venusian atmosphere, the ocean would probably consist of seltzer water, although I daresay it would be rather flat," Dr. Donald Menzel smilingly told a reporter.

He and Dr. Fred Whipple presented a joint report on the subject to the annual meeting of the American Astronomical Society, convened at the University of Michigan.

Their concept differs sharply from a common one that Venus is an arid desert with little or no water, and where the temperature may be more than hot enough to boil water anyway.

The scientists offered a series of arguments against a common concept that the thick bank of clouds that entirely envelopes the planet consists of dust — not of water as do the earth's clouds. Bulwark of the older concept was that there is no evidence of water in the spectrum of Venus' light as studied on earth.

* * *

But Menzel and Whipple said another astronomer has recently found that the atmosphere above the Venusian clouds is too cold to hold any appreciable water vapor and this fact, they added, may explain the failure to find water in the Venus spectrum — without ruling out the possibility of there being water in the clouds themselves.

Saying that this satisfies them that the Venusian clouds are waterlogged, the astronomers declared it must follow that the planet itself has a lot of water.

Find Economist Beaten to Death

Greenwich Village Man Tied Up and Jewelry Pieces Missing

NEW YORK (INS) — An elderly, well-known economist was found beaten to death in his Greenwich Village apartment last night, his neck and wrists bound in an ancient "Japanese torture knot."

The victim was Edwin B. Whitmarsh, 73-year-old, semi - retired secretary of the American Economic Foundation. Police said robbery may have ben the motive for the brutal murder.

His well - furnished apartment had not been visibly ransacked, but several valuable pieces of jewelry were missing.

Medical examiner Dr. Benjamin M. Vance said the elderly economist apparently was dead before the elaborate "torture knot" was tied.

A large bruise was found on the side of the victim's head, as well as two deep cuts under his chin. His dental plate had been split, apparently by a blow in the mouth.

5 French Leaders Will Be Punished

PARIS (AP)—The Directing Committee of the French Socialist Party early today decided to punish five leaders who voted against the proposed six-nation European Army.

The committee denied the five the right to represent the party in parliamentary committees until the next general elections in 1956.

Committee members of the French Assembly are designated by political parties and the five Socialists will probably be required to resign from the Foreign Affairs Committee where they recently voted against approval of the European Army Treaty. The balloting was a technical preliminary test.

Selfridge Fliers Running Second in Rocket Meet

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—An air training command team from Moody Air Force Base, Ga., and an eastern air defense force unit from Selfridge Air Force Base, Mich., were running 1-2 today in the Air Force's first air-to-air rocketry meet.

The speedy B45 bombers dropped their towed targets from 30,000 to 20,000 feet after every team scored hits on the higher targets yesterday.

The Moody team amassed 6,400 points to 3,000 for the Selfridge unit.

Pilots are guided in on the targets by ground radar and never use their eyes in sighting in on the cloth strip. Radar is locked on the targets from the ships and does the firing automatically, insuring a hit if the ground crews have kept the ship in top condition and if the pilot can keep the jiggling dot that is the enemy in the dead center of his radar scope.

Horses, cows and dogs are believed to have been originally nocturnal in their habits, adjusting to man's daylight schedules of time as they gradually became domesticated.

Mrs. Priest Prefers Hands on Money

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U.S. treasurer, speaking last night on the role of women in the world, said:

"American women control 80 per cent of the wealth, directly or indirectly, and 86 per cent of the purchases are made by women."

Mrs. Priest, whose signature appears on all paper money issued since January, 1953, then said that a senator once suggested that her signature be taken off the U.S. money and her picture put on.

"I told the senator," she said with a smile, "that we women don't care too much about not getting our pictures on money as long as we can get out hands on it."

Bob Considine Says:

Cinerama First Created for Navy Fliers' Training

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—The passing show:

The late Fred Waller created the miracle of cinerama for the U. S. Navy. There was no thought of its becoming a commercial venture.

It was devised to teach Navy fliers a little more about their trade, and make them better able to shoot down an enemy — for A. Lord, S. J., and they are of the films they watched were almost as realistic as if in a rocketing plane.

One episode in the new cinerama showing scheduled for release this summer is a ride in a Grumman carrier-based jet, from catapult through a dipsy-doodled dog-fight and back to the deck. And as a perfect cycle-completing ending, the U. S. Navy has asked for a print to be used in training another generation of Navy fliers.

Readers of the works of Daniel A. Lord, S. J., and they are of all religious faiths, will be touched by his story in the July Catholic Digest. I need only to quote a few lines to give you its topic.

"Don't tell me it's cancer," I said, half-joking. (He had just had a long checkup at St. John's Hospital, St. Louis, and his doctors had come to call on him.)

"'You'd want to know the truth, wouldn't you?' They quickly asked.

"Well, all my life, I've wanted to know the truth. I have always thought the truth, pleasant or unpleasant, is something to which people have a right; and in the end, truth is the only kind answer. So I nodded.

"'It's cancer,' said the doctors, 'cancer of the lungs.'"

"I suppose my next question was inevitable. How long do I live?"

What he did about it makes the most absorbing reading I've come upon in months.

Sufferers from hay fever, which ranks even ahead of Liberace fan clubs as a chronic, non-fatal disease, have a solid champion in fellow - sufferer Louis V. Fucc of the Bronx. He is executive director of a non-profit organization named Hay Fever Prevention Society, Inc.

As a result of a sneezing interview with him he has sent me a copy of the society's petition to Congress.

Gist of it is:

"We, the undersigned sufferers, now variously numbering between 6 million and 11 million, feel there is no reason why the same efforts as are extended to check the spread of other diseases and the extermination of pests, insects and vermin, should not also be extended to eradicate the nuisance of ragweed, chief cause of about 90 per cent of hay fever."

Sekkid the mobtion.

The first visit of the W. Alton Jones, 707 foot $9,500,000 tanker to New York harbor, stirred the seafaring-minded citizens of this old port. But, on the same day, the American Merchant Marine Institute had disturbing news to spread.

To wit: Not one ocean-going freighter has been built in the U. S. for an American line since '48 . . . Foreign merchant fleets have been rebuilding: we haven't . . . Our share of world trade leaving U. S. ports has dropped to 28 per cent . . . A liberty ship costs us $23,000 a month to operate, as opposed to $4,000 to $8,000 a month under foreign flags . . . Our coastwise fleet, bulwark of our merchant marine for a century, is now virtually extinct for oil tankers . . . The interest alone from our $3 billion World War I shipbuilding program and $19 billion World War II ditto would pay for a huge new shipbuilding subsidy program and would pay for all our operating differential subsidies with lots to spare.

Lange to Appeal Life Sentence

Jury Finds Milkman Is Guilty in Detroit Murder of Steel Executive

DETROIT (AP) — Milkman John P. Lange, convicted of the slaying of a love rival, planned today to appeal to the state Supreme Court in an effort to save himself from a life term in prison.

A Recorders (Criminal) Court jury deliberated little more than four hours yesterday before finding him guilty of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of steel executive John W. Mattson, 43. Unless changed by a higher court, the verdict means life imprisonment.

Lange, 51, confessed shooting Mattson as he sat at his desk at the Atlas Steel Co. the night of last Jan. 25. Later, however, he retracted the confession and said he had been "brainwashed" by police.

The prosecution charged that Lange killed Mattson because he considered him a rival for the affection of Mrs. Estelle Jamieson, 45 - year - old drugstore waitress. Mrs. Jamieson admitted affairs with both men.

Upon conviction, Lange said: "I'm not guilty. I've been framed." He immediately announced plans for an appeal.

Shortly before the jury retired, Judge Paul E. Krause instructed the eight women and four men members to decide whether Lange's confession was made because of threats or promises.

Lange's attorney, Herbert L. Harris, also argued that Lange was not near Mattson's office at the time of the shooting.

SWAN SONG—Cleofe, beautiful female swan in a Trento, Italy, public park, lost her mate recently and it seemed like the end of the world for her. She refused food, kept her neck low over the pond and experts predicted she would die of a broken heart. The pair hit it off well from the beginning, and Cleofe once again held her head high.

Teacher Fights Firing Over Red Hearings

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit public school music teacher moved today to obtain an injunction restraining the board of education from dismissing him for alleged Communist activities.

Harold Rosen refused to answer questions before the Clardy investigating subcommittee last month.

In a bill of complaint he said he refused to answer the questions because they were beyond the committee's powers under the free speech provisions of the first amendment and the self-incrimination provisions of the fifth amendment.

Rosen charged that he was suspended without pay after a hearing in the school board superintendent's office.

Russians Beat U.S. Chess Men

Visitors Clinch Victory With 18½-9½ Score in Tournament

NEW YORK (AP)—Russia's vaunted chess team, as expected, has conquered the best players America could muster.

The Russians clinched their victory last night in the fourth and final round of a 32-game tournament that stretched over eight days.

* * *

The score stood at 18½ to 9½ for the visitors, playing here for the first time. Four more games will be completed today, but they can't change the result.

Samuel Reshevsky, America's only player of grand master rank, broke even against Vassily Smyslov, head man on the Russian squad. They drew all four of their games.

* * *

And 23-year-old Larry Evans, youngest U. S. player, came out ahead of Mark Taimonov. Evans won two of his games, lost one and drew one, to outscore Taimonov 2½ to 1½.

A win scores a point, a draw a half point. Each player played the same man four times.

Evans won last night with a strong attack on the King's side. "It was the best game I have played so far," he said happily. Prolonged applause greeted the announcement that Taimonov had resigned in defeat.

* * *

The No. 2 Russian, David Bronstein, swept all four of his games against Arnold Denker and alternate Arthur Dake. The Soviet's third-ranking man, Paul Keres, won three and seemed on his way to a fourth against Max Pavey when time ran out and it was adjourned to this afternoon.

* * *

In other results last night Russian Tigran Petrosyan defeated Arthur Bisguier and American Robert Byrne drew his game with Alexander Kotov.

Byrne's younger brother, Donald, 24, still was struggling against Yuri Auerbach, champion of Russia, when the five-hour session ended. Byrne won two of his previous games and lost one.

Block Confronts Church Council

Rev. Burton Defends Report of Committee on Free Church Policy

REV. MALCOM BURTON

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)— Congregational Christians today examined their cherished "free church" denominational structure, wondering just how—or if—they could act as a combined unit.

The question, a key roadblock to a long-disputed plan of merger with the Evangelical and Reformed Church, sparked sharp disagreement at the denomination's national general council meeting here.

The subject moved to the convention floor today in the form of a report by a special committee on Free Church Policy.

Even before the report's official presentation to the 2,500 delegates, officials of the denomination's home and foreign mission boards came up with a legal analysis, prepared by a New York City law firm, saying the report advocated "impossiblities and paradoxes."

The report, prepared by a committee headed by Dr. Wendell Fifield, of Brooklyn's Pilgrim church, said authority to act on any merger with another denomination rests individually "with the churches."

As to how that authority could be expressed, the report added:

"There is no provision or plan regarding this crucial matter in any congregational documents on any level."

The legal opinion secured by top mission officials said acceptance of the report's views would cause "confusion and frustration" and make functioning of joint bodies impossible.

This criticism was heatedly denounced yesterday by members of a committee for continuation of Congregational Christian Churches which has fought the proposed merger plan.

"These birds have slipped a dagger into the report, silently and in the dark," Rev. Harry Butman, of Los Angeles, declared at a strategy meeting of the committee. "This is a treacherous attack."

The Rev. Macolm K. Burton, of Pontiac said the legal analysis was an effort "to dynamite" the report and "prejudice opinion" against it before it was acted on.

He also charged that Dr. Douglas Horton, chief executive of the General Council, "is trying to sell our fellowship on a written constitution" that would "utterly change the nature of our fellowship."

City Kiwanians Form 3rd Club

Charter Ceremonies for North Pontiac Unit Held Wednesday

Pontiac's third Kiwanis Club was officially born last night at charter ceremonies at the Old Mill Tavern in Waterford Township.

About 190 Kiwanians from Michigan's District Five were on hand to bring the newly-formed North Pontiac Kiwanis Club into being.

President Richard Scribner of the sponsoring West Pontiac Club, introduced Toastmaster Mason A. Case, Lieutenant Governor of the district.

Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson was present to recognize the group in a welcoming speech, and greetings were extended by Kiwanis International official, Walter A. Patenge, chairman of new club building.

Marion S. Lincicome, president of the foundling club, accepted the charter from Distrcit Governor Cecil C. Bruton, who also presented Lincicome with a leather portfolio for the presidential office.

Other gifts were given by Frank O. Staiger of Port Huron, Mich. Dis. Sec., to Albert C. Benter Jr., secretary of the new club, who received a secretarial portfolio; Scribner, who presented Stephen B. Glover, Pontiac North's vice president, with flags and plaque; Scribner also gave co-vice president Stephen B. Glover a gong and gavel.

Lincicome presented membership certificates to 52 charter members. In a colorful ceremony, Lincicome placed the 101st gold link on Gov. Burton's chain. Each link represents a club in the District.

Mosquitoes Help Police Flush Pair Who Fled From County Home

Two Oakland County Children's Home escapees will be returned from Midland today after their arrest by police who were given an assist by a swarm of deep-biting mosquitoes.

The two 16 - year - olds were driven from a wooded area Tuesday by mosquitoes and into the arms of police who had been chasing the youths in the area for about two hours.

The pair refused to answer to police questioning but James Hunt, director of children's service for the Oakland County Juvenile Court said today that the youths escaped Tuesday and took a car from the Walton Blvd. area.

Midland Police were alerted by a Mapleton service station operator who complained that the pair drove off without paying for their gas. Roadblocks intercepted the youths who turned off U. S. 10 and fled along back roads.

Police said the youths abandoned the car and ran into a woods, but hungry mosquitoes forced them out.

Realistic Movie Makers Ignore the Real Thing

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A movie studio was shooting a murky weather scene and the script called for some rain-making machines to provide the necessary sprinkles in the right places.

Everything went along fine until the sky clouded up and it began to rain. The director ordered the rain-making machines turned off, the equipment packed into trucks and the film shooting halted.

"We'll have to wait until a sunny day to film the rain scene," he said.

and I was sure she had won."

"I learned later the result was not even close," he said.

Spectators protested the decision so forcefully that the committee suspended the result and declared the competition "no contest."

In an extraordinary 3 a.m. session today the executive committee of the Greater Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Miss Michigan contest, accused the judges of "a pattern of voting."

The committee said all titles and awards (some $3,000 in gifts) were held in abeyance pending a conference with the Atlantic City Miss America pageant officials.

It was obvious from the beginning of the pageant last night in the Michigan Theater jammed with 1,800 persons, that Janice Somers, Michigan State College junior from Lansing, was the audience favorite.

And there was surprised silence when the official decision of the judges was announced. Polite applause greeted the crowning of Miss Susin, 5 foot 10, 137-pound former Michigan State homecoming queen who is employed by Pan American Airlines in Detroit.

The crown was bestowed by Mrs. Velva Robbins Molnar of Dowagiac, last year's Miss Michigan, in the presence of Evelyn Ay, Miss America for 1954.

Members of the Junior Chamber board said there were immediate protests from the audience. After some discussion Merrill S. Bailey, C. of C. president, called the executive committee into session at 1 a. m.

The statement, issued over his signature two hours later, read:

"It is the concensus of the board that (the judges') ballots established a pattern of voting which requires consideration of the executive committee of the Miss America pageant under whose auspices the local pageant was held.

"Therefore it is resolved that it is the decision of this board that the pageant shall be considered no contest until such consideration and a ruling has been obtained."

Besides Miss Susin and Miss Somers, both of whom are vocalists, other contestants included winners of contests in Muskegon, West Branch, Detroit Highland Park, Ocean County, Grand Rapids, St. Clair Shores, Dowagiac and Coloma.

The judges, none of whom were immediately available for comment were Pete Baldwin, Howell, state president of the Junior Chamber; Anita Gillette, Elkhart Ind., fashion expert; Harold A. Wood, general agent for the Wisconsin-Michigan Steamship Co., Milwaukee; Dorothy Scharle, Chicago fashion expert; George Grabin, Milwaukee advertising executive; and Tom Farrell, United Press correspondent in Grand Rapids.

McGhee Brothers Fight Each Other in Court Trials

GREENVILLE, Mo. (AP)—You can witness some old-time battles between lawyers in these parts. And sometimes they are all in the family.

Schoeppel said he first voted for the one-year extension with an understanding that other major provisions of a general farm bill, previously approved by the committee, would be sent on to the Senate.

"When this was not agreed to I voted against the extension," he said.

Humphrey offered the proposed two-year extension but Young and Thye voted against that along with others who opposed the one-year motion later.

"I think a two-year extension would face a certain presidential veto," Young told reporters.

He said he believes a one-year extension "has a 50-50 chance for Senate approval and about the same for escaping a veto."

Carp, long netted from Minnesota lakes as a nuisance, have been found to provide tasty food. A number of factories are engaged in canning the product.

'Reputable' Repair People Guilty of Rackets, Gyps

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

(By International News Service)

Another war on "auto-repair gyps" was recently declared in the East, and it brought to mind past skirmishes, battles and campaigns to end reprehensible rackets in fixing radios and TV sets.

Most repair people, I'm sure, are as honest as a measured mile on the highway, so they'll be as glad as I to read of the newest crackdown on the other type—by District Attorney Edward S. Silver in that borough the Dodgers call home, otherwise known as the place the tree grew.

Mixed with my gladness was the fervent wish that some puncture-proof ways could also be found to end certain other practices in the repair and alteration field, widely regarded as unavoidable and "perfectly honest."

The other day, for instance, in a famous New York store, I tried on a dress reduced to $35. "Just a few alterations, madam," the salesgirl cried, "and it'll be like custom made." The fitter arrived, squirted chalk around the hem for a marker, and criss-crossed some pins at a couple of seams and gussets. I asked what the alterations would cost.

"Oh, it won't kill anybody," was the laughing reply. "It gets figured according to the time chart." Two days later, dress and bill arrived—$15.00 for alterations.

My protests that this was nearly 50 per cent of the "bargain" got me nowhere. Hadn't I realized it was such a wide, de luxe hem? Didn't I know the price of skilled fitters? Those unions, etc.

Another time I told a great hardware store that my doctors' type scale was suddenly behaving like a delirious patient, calling my weight 105 one minute and 186 the next.

Again an estimate in advance was impossible on the repair job, "until the factory bills us." This time my bill came to a third the cost of a brand new scale—plus $12.00 for "crating and shipping to and from factory." The factory, it turned out, was roughly 1,000 miles by rail from my bathroom.

Gyp? Racket? These were both reputable stores, and everybody I know has similar anecdotes about operating in the dark about many kinds of repairs and alterations and refinishing and restoring.

But the most "iffy" unknown you can run into come from damage in a rented place. A couple of years back, as I sat in a sofa in a modest enough summer cottage, a pot of boiling hot after-dinner coffee wobbled, tipped and splashed all over everything, including my ankles.

On the heels of first-aid for me, came first-aid for the carpet, with complete recovery for both. But during the final summer cleaning, I moved the sofa from its usual place, and a six-inch coffee splotch, hitherto concealed, looked up darkly from the otherwise beige floor.

I summoned the owners, revealed the hidden stain on my housewifely good name, and offered to pay for a professional spot-cleaning job.

"The rug people," I was informed a few days later by long distance phone, "say the job will never look right unless they do the entire carpet. It's wall-to-wall, of course, and goes around to the dining alcove in one piece. Their price is $170."

Gyp? Racket? On the part of the owners or the cleaners? We finally settled for $50 on the spot—though I'm sure the sofa had covered our troubles long since.

Did I hear you complaining about TV and auto repairs? Or about the high cost of coffee?

Planes Land Two-Deck; Pilots Escape With Cuts

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—Two light planes landed simultaneously — one on top of the other — at the Shawnee Municipal Airport last night.

The pilots escaped with cuts and bruises. The planes were damaged heavily.

"If you ever had the world drop in on you, you know how I felt," said H. E. Reding, pilot of the plane on bottom.

The lumber used in the U. S. in one year would make a board walk 30 feet wide and one inch thick which would almost reach to the moon.

Ad Tells Truth; Ramshackle Farm for Sale

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — John Holmes, 31, placed this classified ad in the Hartford Courant:

"Ramshackle farm; for direct sale from owner (realtors just laugh!) at fancy price; forty acres of pin oaks and black snakes. Old world charm includes sagging floors, tortuous stairway and draughty fireplaces. Located in Higganum (ugh!), Conn. Dandy opportunity to toughen up wife and kiddies for future. If you think this ad is funny, wait until you see this farm. Telephone. If a hollow laugh answers, don't hang up — that will be the owner."

Holmes, a salesman who has been living on the 100-year-old farm for three years, said he had several calls last night from people who want to look the farm over.

Churches Join Safety Drive

Pastors to Fix Sunday as Day to Stress Safe Highway Driving

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—Churches throughout Michigan will proclaim "Michigan highway safety" Sunday in an observance to try and cut Michigan's heavy weekend traffic accident toll.

Gov. Williams has named the day "highway safety Sunday" and is acting as honorary chairman of the event.

The statewide plan originated from a similar observance in Berrien County last year. Letters have been sent to pastors throughout the state, asking them to use "thou shalt not kill" as their sermon theme.

County officials noted a reduction in traffic accidents last year as a result of the observance.

Senate Hopefuls at Party Rallies

McNamara in Saginaw Valley, Moody Travels in Upper Peninsula

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One Democratic candidate for the U. S. senatorial nomination carried his campaign into the Saginaw Valley today while his opponent continued his Upper Peninsula tour.

Patrick V. McNamara spoke at a party rally at Flint Wednesday before moving on today to Saginaw and Bay City.

The Flint talk was the first in a two-week vote drive that will take him through both lower and upper Michigan.

Former Sen. Blair Moody meanwhile swung through L'Anse and Baraga.

He charged that "the Republican-bred economic slowdown is spreading like a cancer through the small towns of the Upper Peninsula."

"Thousands of Michigan families are paying a high price," he said, "for Republican misrule which has thrown off the road the greatest momentunt of prosperity the nation has known."

From Saginaw-Bay City, McNamara will go to Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Lansing, Jackson, Adrian, Ann Arbor, Monroe and Port Huron, then to the Upper Peninsula.

Coffee Drinkers Suffered Before Too

DENVER (INS) — Today's coffee fanciers may find life a little difficult, but their problems don't compare with those of coffee drinkers of earlier times.

Dr. Erich Hesse in his book "Narcotics and Drug Addiction" points out that in Turkey and Russia coffee - drinking was once officially frowned on and persons who quaffed a cup now and then were dealt with severely.

In Turkey, Hesse points out, coffee-drinkers were lashed, had their tongues torn out, or sometimes were sewn in sacks and thrown into the sea.

Dr. Hesse says that later "prohibition" was repealed as coffee became recognized as a legitimate stimulant, but heavy taxes were then levied on it.

Sewer Work Stopped

DETROIT (AP) — A strike of 300 truck drivers cut off about 75 per cent of all Detroit area swer and water main construction Wednesday. The truck drivers are members of the AFL Teamsters Union and their picket lines idled 700 laborers. The union had a wage dispute with members of the Associated Underground Contractors.

Hal Boyle Says:

Ferry Boat Pilot Makes 16,200 Voyages to Statue

NEW YORK (AP) — Capt. George Clancy has made 16,200 visits to the Statue of Liberty—and never yet been inside it.

"Too busy," he says crisply. "Never get the time."

For 6 years he has piloted a ferry boat from the Battery to Bedloe's Island, bringing literally millions of visitors to America's greatest national shrine. The round trip is only about 3 miles, but in those years Clancy has journeyed almost twice the distance around the earth.

• • •

Today gave Clancy the proudest moment in his 46 years of living. He was at the helm of the "Miss Liberty," a new 460-ton excursion steamer, as she made her maiden trip through New York harbor. The three-deck vessel, which will carry 750 passengers, was added to its fleet by the Circle Line company because of the growing popularity of the Statue of Liberty as a tourist mecca.

Francis J. Barry, general manager of the Circle Line, said the $400,000 "Miss Liberty" is the first excursion steamer of its type designed and built in the United States in the last 25 years.

"I can't see how they could improve on her," said Clancy, patting the wheel as if it were a living thing.

Clancy, a chipper little blue-eyed skipper (5-feet-5, weight 140), may be harbor-bound now, but he has quite a career to look back on. He was born in Fitchburg, Mass., and went to sea at 16.

"I've had 11 years of deep water experience," he recalled. "I've been around the world three times, and hit about every country on the globe. I've sailed under four flags—American, Norwegian, British and Honduran."

Clancy served with the Army Transport Service during the war. He also spent four years traveling with the Ringling circus as a side-show magician and animal trainer.

"I had 14 bears," he remarked, and let the matter drop, as if that alone were enough to explain why he returned to the sea.

"Now I'm all settled down and married and get home at nights," he said. Clancy met and wooed his wife—she's the daughter of the superintendent of the Statue of Liberty national monument—while she was commuting to and from Manhattan on his vessel.

Clancy has ferried all types of people out to the statue—"from senators to governors and movie stars, from Faye Emerson to United Nations officials.

"But immigrants seem to get the biggest thrill," he said. "Many saw the statue from the deck of a ship when they first came to this country years ago, and they have a desire to see what it looks like real close. Sometimes they cry. It stirs up old memories."

Captain Clancy says his nine daily trips never get monotonous, and he doesn't feel rut-bound.

"You're too busy," he said. "This is the busiest harbor in the world, and you're crossing all the big liners going in and out. You don't have time to think of anything else."

• • •

No impish Irish impulse to bypass the Statue of Liberty and chug his boatload of sightseers on down to Florida ever tempts the stout stern mind of Clancy. Or if it does, he won't admit it.

Power Facilities Expand in Pacific Northwest

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP) — Non-federal agencies will build more facilities to produce power in the Pacific Northwest during the next five years than will federal agencies, according to J. Frank Ward, chairman of the state power commission.

He estimated non-federal agencies would build facilities to produce 3,250,000 kilowatts of vital new power, and federal agencies would build facilities for producing about 3,150,000 kilowatts.

Three hundred million years ago, one-third of the United States was covered by tangled swamps.

City of Golden Streets

KEENE, N. H. (UP) — Motorists got the impression Keene was the richest city in the world one night after a snow storm because the streets seemed gold plated. City officials investigated. The "gold" turned out to be sand and salt, refected by Keene's new mercury-vapor street lights.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL — Big, juicy strawberries in a giant basket are all this girl seems to want in the world as she revels in the quantities of tart berries on hand for annual strawberry festival at Nemi, Italy. Only thing lacking is the sugar and cream to go with them.

In the spring of 1953 food became so scarce that prisoners ate boiled weeds, Boysen reported.

Frequently the only medicines available were cough tablets for pneumonia and charcoal tablets for dysentery. Incisions for drainage of abscesses were made without anaesthesia and sometimes with improvised instruments, such as the metal arch support from a combat boot.

Millard Orders Firing of Two

Conservation Officers Refused to Testify at Trial of Ousted Chief

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard virtually told the State Conservation Department today to fire two officers who refused to testify against their suspended chief.

The two officers, Michael and Stephen Kukura of Crystal Falls, refused to testify at the civil service appeal hearing of Bernard Stephansky, suspended field administration regional supervisor for the Upper Peninsula.

The Kukura brothers took refuge in the fifth amendment to the constitution, Millard said, claiming their testimony might tend to incriminate them.

Millard told newsmen "these men have a constitutional right not to talk. We can't make them talk. But if they won't talk they shouldn't remain peace officers on the public payroll."

Millard held the Kukuras' refusal to testify amounted to "conduct unbecoming a state employe" and was grounds for instant removal.

He also indicated that if the State Civil Service Commission balks their dismissal he will appeal at once to the State Supreme Court.

"We're going to the mat on this one," Millard said.

"It certainly was not the intention of the people to make civil service a haven for those in state service who become unworthy by refusing to testify before and give information to duly constituted tribunals and public bodies in their efforts to determine whether a particular state employe was or was not guilty of wrong-doing.

"The officer who invokes the privilege of refusing to reveal his own wrong-doing forfeits his right to hold public office," Millard said.

Odd Cures Used by Red Medics

U.S. Doctor Reports Treatment of Prisoners by North Koreans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The North Koreans had some fantastic medical treatments for their prisoners of war, a U.S. Army doctor reported today.

Prisoners complaining of vitamin deficiencies were given bile from the gall bladders of butchered pigs, Maj. Alexander M. Boysen, of the Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., told the American Medical Assn.

This treatment did a good job of keeping men away from sick call.

For the treatment of pain a Chinese doctor used a series of short needles attached to spring vibrators. The needles were put into the skin around the painful area and made to vibrate.

"As you might suspect," Maj. Boysen said, "some cases of back pain and headache were cured by this treatment."

Another Chinese doctor decided all complaints of eye trouble were caused by glaucoma, a condition in which the fluid pressure in the eyeball increases. The Chinese medic treated all eye patients with salt water injections under the eyelid, the medical officer reported.

Maj. Boysen who is from Bemidji, Minn., spoke of the experiences of himself and four other medical officers who had been captured. The others were Maj. Clarence L. Anderson of Long Beach, Calif., now at Letterman Hospital San Francisco; Maj. Sidney Esensten, now in private practice in Minneapolis; Capt. Gene M. Lam of Glenrock, Wyo., now at Brooke

Meet in Redecorated Club House

Women Attend Luncheon

Oakland County, famous for its beautiful lakes and country clubs, can take another bow at beautiful Pine Lake Country Club.

The newly decorated club house is the pride of all its members. When you wander up from the terrace which overlooks the lake, walk through the screened porch, you spot the delicate petal pink walls of the dining room.

Wednesday was a busy day for the club as members of the ladies' luncheon groups gathered for the get-acquainted luncheon and card party of which Mrs. Vernon Abbott was chairman.

These luncheon and card parties are held on the fourth Wednesday of each month with a total of four parties for the season. Mrs. Harry Pearce is general chairman of the seasonal parties.

The women's golf league known as the Pine Lake Niners was organized in 1952 by Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Leslie Tripp with 28 members. This year's records show that 70 members are listed in the league.

Tuesday's winners for low score were Mrs. Norman Gehringer and Mrs. Vere Hodges.

Mrs. Abbott was assisted by Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. H. R. Norgren and Mrs. Mansel Wiley for Wednesday's luncheon arrangements.

Don't Use Napkins in Place of Holders

Napkins should not be used to pinch-hit for potholders because the stain caused by the contact of the fabric with carbon-containing grease is practically impossible to remove.

Laundering will remove a large portion of the discoloration produced by contact of a napkin with a blackened cooking pan, but a gray discolorization will remain in the fabric.

Avoid Water Spots; Iron Pongee Damp

Pongee, which has been given new importance this year particularly by West Coast designers, is a delightful soft, shimmery sheer silk.

Though it launders easily, care must be taken to prevent watermarks; wet spots become darker when ironed dry. To avoid this, iron a pongee garment on the wrong side when it is damp.

Worry No More About Stringy Hair After Swimming

Popular Trick With Lacquer Sets Damp Locks Quickly

By BARBARA BRENT

Time was when summer meant you had to cut off your hair in a kind of Dutch bob if you wanted to do much swimming.

More-than-minimum hair always got straight and lanky if dampened, for no bathing cap ever devised keeps hair entirely dry. Consequently, most girls tossed glamour to the winds during the summer, and kept their hair cropped and neat.

This situation, however, is all past tense — because the "five minute set" is now a reality. You can re-curl the most intricate Italian hair cut or retrieve a perfect page boy coif in shower time with nothing more than hair lacquer. Here's how it works:

You've come in from the lake and all the ends of your hair are wet. Comb it immediately and press your coif into shape. Put the curls into place and spray lacquer over them. Don't wind your hair up as if it were in pin curls—just press it into the style you wear.

Now get dressed and made up. If this takes you 10 minutes, your hair should be dry. Comb through it again and apply lacquer for the last time. Your set will last for hours unless you rush back to the lake.

There's just one hitch to this "fast set" method. It won't work unless your hair is absolutely clean. If you're wise, you'll do what the stars recommend — wash your hair every morning during the summer in a lanolin-rich shampoo. This type of shampoo is a Hollywood favorite because it doesn't dry hair, and permits the daily washing that movie work requires without harm.

The fact of the matter is—the stars themselves discovered the "quick set" trick with lacquer when hot studio lights continued to wilt their curls. Try it yourself this summer.

Auxiliary 101 Meeting Opened by Mrs. Martin

Plans were made for a family night to be held July 1. The next meeting will be in September.

Neck, Shoulders Need Attention

No matter how carefully you make up your face, you can't expect to look your best at this time of year unless you give some attention to grooming your neck and shoulders. Warm - weather fashions demand it.

To encourage circulation and thus give your skin a pretty, soft, pink glow, use a complexion brush on your neck and shoulders during your daily bath. Brush with a light rotary motion.

Then, to stimulate circulation further, wrap your shoulders in a Turkish towel that has been wrung out in hot water. Press it against you firmly. When you remove it your skin will really glow.

While the skin is still warm and glowing, apply a lubricating cream or baby oil. Mold the shoulders as you apply it. Then finish with this exercise:

Standing erect in perfect posture, with elbows bent and forearms close to sides and extended, push your chest forward as you push your elbows back as far as possible. Then bring the elbows forward and contract the chest. Do this five times at first; work up gradually to 20 times.

Be Spotwise About Removing Ink, Chocolate, Other Stubborn Stains

Methods Vary According to the Fabric's Washability

Almost no stain is too stubborn to go when given these few simple treatments (suggested by the National Institute of Drycleaning) which appear in a current magazine:

INK: If fabric is not washable, send it to the drycleaner. For washables, pour carbon tetrachloride on to bleed stain. Then rinse, apply white vinegar, rinse again and bleach with peroxide. If it doesn't bleed, use ammonia as starter.

CHOCOLATE, COFFEE: If non-washable fabric is colorfast, sponge out stain with lukewarm water. On washables, first rinse, and then remove any leftover brown stain with hydrogen peroxide bleach.

PAINT: Attack at once by soaking in carbon tetrachloride. Do this on both washables and non-washables.

FRUIT, BERRY: Do not use soap on any fruit stains. For washables, launder with a synthetic detergent, apply white vinegar and rinse thoroughly. Use peroxide if necessary for remaining stain. On non-washable fabric, start with a liquid synthetic detergent.

CHEWING GUM: Scrape off excess with dull knife. Soak affected areas in carbon tetrachloride and work with fingers to remove gum.

GREASE, TAR: Place towel underneath the stain and pour carbon tetrachloride through the fabric. Use same treatment for washables or non-washables and continue until stain is removed.

TEA: On non-washables, sponge with water if possible; if not, take to drycleaner. On washables, rinse in lukewarm water, bleach any remaining stain with hydrogen peroxide.

MUD: Allow to dry completely. Brush out mud on non-washables. If fabric is washable, brush out mud first, then launder if necessary to remove any leftover dirt.

GRASS: Wash in synthetic detergent and bleach last traces with hydrogen peroxide. Use same treatment on non-washables if fabric can take it. If not, take it to the drycleaner.

IRON RUST: There is a good patented rust remover, which can also be used on ink stains if needed. You can get this at your drugstore; apply directly on stain for all fabrics and let dry.

MERCUROCHROME: Launder in synthetic detergent. Apply household ammonia. Rinse and repeat. Send non-washables to drycleaner.

LIPSTICK: Place inside-out over towel and pour carbon tetrachlorid through stain until bleeding stops. Let dry, then launder in hot soapy water. On non-washables, use carbon tetrachloride treatment only unless color will stand soap.

MILDEW: Launder if possible and bleach in chlorine if color can take it. Then apply hydrogen peroxide directly to stain. If fabric is not colorfast, try laundering alone. If this fails, or if fabric is not washable, take to drycleaner.

ICE CREAM, MILK, CREAM: Soak washables in lukewarm water and detergent. Rinse and launder as usual. On non-washables, sponge with carbon tetrachloride and then with water if color is fast.

BLOOD: Soak washables in lukewarm water and synthetic detergent. Then bleach remaining yellow stain. Treat non-washables with cold water and salt solution. Salt prevents color from bleeding out. Rinse and dry by blotting with towel.

PERSPIRATION: Soap and water is your only safe treatment. Rinse non-washables with cold water; if it doesn't work, take to drycleaner.

CANDLE WAX: Remove excess with dull knife. Place over towel and rinse several times with carbon tetrachloride. Dry and launder in heavy suds. Finish with bleach if any color of candle is left. Use only carbon tetrachloride treatment on non-washables.

Many Quiet Skills to Learn

Girl Barred From Sports Can Still Enjoy Summer

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Our daughter, who is 13, is under the doctor's care and she can't do anything too active, such as playing baseball swimming, playing tennis or riding her bicycle.

"My problem is how to keep her busy this summer and her mind off the things she isn't allowed to do.

"She has a stamp collection. What else could she collect that wouldn't make too expensive a hobby? She gets bored very easily, so any suggestions will be appreciated."

Your daughter is like many other 13-year-old girls who bore very easily unless they're bouncing around like crazy. They just don't know what to do with too much time on their hands. So here are some suggestions for making the most of a quiet summer when you're grounded:

There are dozens of good books to read — and the diet of books that should be read can be generously diluted by nonsense and books that are just fun.

There are movies to see and television shows to watch, and daytime radio programs that might be new to a girl who doesn't usually hear them.

Sitting still in the shade should find her hands busy. It's time to learn to knit and crochet. Start her off on a precious baby cap, some booties or mittens. They're quickly made and her pride in achievement will encourage her to tackle bigger and bulkier things such as socks, scarves and sweaters.

Teach her to sew, and in so doing make it something pretty for her to wear. Let her do the mending and darning. There's needlepoint to make, maybe for a chair or stool cover. And there are small hand looms on which she can weave all sorts of things.

Let her try her hand in the kitchen, too — baking, making desserts, winding up with complete meals.

Stamp collections are wonderful, and particularly fascinating when you can exchange with other fans. Button collections are fun, too, particularly if she has a chance to burrow in the button boxes of grandmothers.

But just amassing a quantity of anything is not the point. It's studying up, classifying, organizing and displaying the items that will keep her occupied.

Not being allowed to play should not keep her from watching those who do, however. Take her to tennis matches, baseball games.

Let her go where her friends are swimming. Being where they are will keep her from feeling left out of things even if she can't join in.

Have her friends over to the house as often as possible for the benefit of their chatter and laughter and company.

Keeping quiet during the warm weather need not be a prison sentence. It can be a summer when she stayed still long enough to learn and do something useful.

Lighten Up Old Dark Furniture

By HUBBARD COBB

Back in the old days before electric lights and picture windows, people liked things dark. They liked dark furniture and they liked dark woodwork about the house, and there is still a lot of this stuff kicking around.

Most of it is good and worth keeping if you could only get it light and a little less depressing.

The job of lightening up any wood that has been given a dark stain and coated with old varnish begins with removing the varnish. This can be done with a liquid varnish remover or with sandpaper.

The remover is quicker than the sandpaper and does not make as much dust, but it can get messy if you aren't careful.

Once you have these old dark coats of varnish out of the way you may find that the wood itself is not really too bad. If this is the case, give it a few coats of clear varnish and you are all set.

If, however, the wood has been given one of those dark red stains, you'll have to do a little more work to get it light.

One thing you can do is more sanding. The stain may not be too deep in the wood and a little work with a portable sander may be all that is required.

Another method is to use a commercial wood bleach which will lighten things up considerably and take less effort than the sandpaper.

Once you've got the color you want, be darn careful about using a stain, for a stain, no matter how light it is, will always darken the wood to some degree.

Best to use the very lightest stain that matches and then use only a very thin coat and wipe it off almost immediately.

After the stain you'll need a filler followed by a sanding and then finally a few thin coats of clear varnish or shellac.

One day of easy sewing—presto! A new dress to enjoy right now and all summer. It's a princess—no waist seams. No sleeves in main view, practically no back, it's cool as a dip in a pool! Pick a crisp, tubbable cotton. If you wish, make collar in icy white!

Bamboo Can Be Seen Through

Sheath Blinds for Privacy

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Bamboo blinds are attractive and popular, but they do have one characteristic that's wrong for some windows. They can be seen through too clearly when there's bright light in the room.

What can be done about this? Draperies on traverse rods can be used at the windows, to be closed over the blinds. Or opaque curtains, cafe-style when it isn't necessary to block out the top area of window—hang curtains at a height just above the head of a person standing in the room.

If the blinds fill the window depth, attached a rod which projects slightly outward to the frame.

Because bamboo blinds have such a pleasing way of filtering light, some decorators use them to break the glare of sunshine in the daytime, but hang cloth blinds that can't be seen through behind them to be pulled down at night.

And a bamboo blind can be lined. Attaching it at the top is the only difficulty—otherwise the lining is one straight piece of fabric, perhaps a pint, which slips over the bottom round and rolls up with the blind, but these of course completely changes the blinds' attractive filtering of light.

Mrs. E. P. C. "Should the walls be gold or light green in a living room which has a two-tone gray rug, a red sofa and chair and a dark green chair?

"Draperies have a large pattern in gray, green, black and red on a white background. Furniture wood is dark mahogany.

Celadon green, a pale gray-green with plenty of white in it, may be the best color for the walls of this room.

It's a light color and quite a change for the room. It's related to the scheme and will cover the dark green successfully.

In some lights, dark green often shows through with bad effect on other light colors. Yes, paint the woodwork and the mantel the same color.

Mrs. T. G. B. "I've always wanted to put glass shelves in a window to hold plants and small objects, and in the house we've just moved into there's a window that's just right for this. Please tell me what kind of objects should be displayed."

Glass looks especially good on window shelves because the light shines through. You probably have interesting pieces and can find more easily enough, both old and new, colorful bottles, paper weights, bowls and vases.

Little plates can be set on stands. Bits of china and figurines, almost any small decorative object that appeals to you can be added.

Pleasing people isn't hard—you serve things they like . . . and flavors that go together. That's why so many home-makers are choosing sparkling, ice-cold Coca-Cola to accompany good things to eat. The unique flavor of Coke gives a wonderful lift to the meal. And you serve it in a jiffy, right in the bottle. Try it—serve Coke tonight.

IF bride feels too tall—

Lace forms bodice and peplum in one of the very best height cutting tricks. If you are slender, add tiered back fulness.

Miss T. T.—Many "Baby Doll" designs testify to the youthfulness of today's bride but no matter how young, the very tall bride wants traditional dignity in her wedding gown. Low tiers add grace and this "sweep" fashion is big for fall bridals.

Wife Gains Understanding by Working With Husband

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Many a successful man mourns and complains that his wife has no idea of what he has to put up with during his working hours.

And many a wife complains that "he doesn't let me in on anything interesting."

"Dr. and Mrs. J. D. don't have this trouble. In fact, their story illustrates a good many points that make for a happy and successful marriage.

When they were first married Dr. J. D. was on a research project and his hours were very long—from 9 in the morning until 10 or 11 at night.

His wife got a part-time job as a secretary from 9 until 1, because h is research fellowship didn't pay enough to live on.

Then, during the afternoon she did the housework, marketing, and so forth.

Dr. D. came home for a quick dinner, then returned to the lab till about 11 most nights. His wife got lonely and bored, and decided to keep him company in the lab.

For awhile that was fine, but then one night Dr. D. said: "Look, since you're here anyway, how about giving me a hand? You can jot down all the notations and save me a lot of time." So she did.

That was many years ago, and today Dr. J. D. is a successful research man with many important discoveries to his credit and with a job as director of a big project. They have five children, a big house and spacious gardens.

Mrs. J. D. is busy as she can be, keeping everything going smoothly. Moreover, she knows the strains and tensions, the tedium and heartbreak of her husband's work, because she once participated in it. She still helps him occasionally.

He, on his side, values her all the more, because she is honestly interested in his work and not resentful of it.

On most of the papers he publishes, you'll find his wife's name as assistant. And this gives her a feeling of making a contribution over and above the "just a housewife" billing which so many women subconsciously resent.

If your husband works too hard and too long, don't get bitter and jealous and pull the old line that begins, "If you really loved me . . ." Instead, see if there's any way you can help.

Design Indian Headdress

Here is an Indian headdress which you can make yourself or for a younger brother or sister. The nice part of this is that it almost looks like a real headdress, yet it doesn't cost anything to make. You need a paper sack and some crayons.

Mrs. James West of Fitchburg, Mass., tells us that her cub pack makes these headdresses and has almost as much fun making them as wearing them. You need a large-size grocery sack for each war bonnet.

Fold a strip of sack 10 inches by 4 inches, then use pinking shears to cut these into feather shapes. Leave them folded, and color them in bright colors making the tips black, then cut into feather strips.

Use a piece of tape for the band and fit this to your head. Staple or sew the feathers to this band, spacing the feathers about an inch apart. Twenty-four feathers make a full bonnet to hang down your back.

If you do not have some lengths of tape, use a scrap of felt, a length of grosgrain ribbon, or cut a strip of paper sack. If you use paper strips, color them in bright colors and designs too.

Tape Fallen Hemline

Should you discover that a hem has come down while you are away from home, make an emergency repair with transparent tape.

She Resents Accounting to Neighbor

Can't Leave House Without Revealing Destination

By EMILY POST

A reader asks this question: "Will you please tell me what I can say to a neighbor of mine, who, upon seeing me leave my house, never fails to ask me where I am going? It is not that where I go is a secret, but nevertheless, I do resent having to give an account to her every time I go out.

"I always think that I won't tell her the next time she asks me, but then I do because I can't think of anything else to say that isn't rude. I would appreciate any suggestions you have to offer."

Answer: I think you might get into the habit of saying, "I'm just going down the street," or "I'm going downtown" or "uptown," or something equally truthful but evasive.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a professional singer and my fee for singing at a wedding is $15.00. My girl friend is going to be married soon and has asked me to sing at her wedding, an invitation which I accepted with great pleasure.

Of course, I do not intend to accept any money for this, but will I have to give her a wedding present in addition, or might this be considered my wedding present to her?

Answer: If your income is very small, your singing would be sufficient. But if you can afford to do so, then I think it would be pleasing to her if you would give her a little something that she can keep.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a girl 17 years old and am wondering if it is still proper for me to stand when an adult enters the room. I was taught to do this as a very little girl and have been doing it ever since. Is there a set rule concerning this?

Answer: In your own house, you, of course, stand as everyone does when a visitor comes in. In the house of another, you only stand for those who are elderly.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

She Was Lucky to Have Traditional Grandparents

"In these decadent days," deplored Robert Keith Leavitt, "grandparents have the same hair, wear the same clothes and say the same things as other people. Grandmothers sometimes don't even make the best pie crust in the world and I know one whose biscuits are completely undistinguished."

Leavitt, who wrote a book about one of them, fortunately had properly traditional grandparents. I did, too. My favorite was my gentle, bearded preacher grandfather whom I called "Pa" because my mother did.

It was on just such a warm June day as this that I sat beside Pa in his fringe-topped buggy drawn by old Bess as we jogged home from Crooked Creek, one of the four country churches in which he preached every month.

I was drowsily happy, snuggled up against Pa, sniffing the fragrance of honeysuckle mixed with dust, looking at the fragile pink of wild roses growing on the fences, laughing to myself at Bess' long tail doubled up like my plait to keep it out of the creeks we had to cross, and thinking puzzledly of Miss Lizzie and Mr. Johnny whom Pa had married that afternoon.

Neither Pa nor I was saying a word—sometimes we would ride along for miles and never talk at all. Other times I would recite "The Village Blacksmith" or some of the Psalms Pa had taught me. Or he would tell me about when he was a little boy in a deep woods and thought a ghost was following him when it was really only a quail.

Often I asked questions about things I didn't understand and he explained them to me.

"Pa," I broke the silence this day to ask him, "what did Miss Lizzie and Mr. Johnny want to get married for?"

I was almost asleep when Pa got around to answering me. Finally he cleared his throat and said: "Lizzie and Johnny got married because they want to live together and make a home for their children the way your father and mother make a home for you and Tommy."

My eyes popped wide open.

"Did Mama and Papa get married?" I gasped. It was a brand new idea.

"Yes," said Pa, "and they didn't tell me about it beforehand either. They just went to your Aunt Emma's in town one night and Brother Johnson married them after prayer meeting."

"Your mother told me afterwards that she did it that way so it wouldn't cost me money for a wedding. Your mother is a good woman, Daughter, I hope you'll be as good."

And right there in the old fringed-topped buggy, I promised to try my best to be a good woman like my mother.

Construction Toys Ideal on Vacations

Let Children Take Along Miniatures of Real Equipment

When you start on vacation this summer, don't forget your children's favorite toys.

While some are ideal for playing in the car, your little pride and joys probably have one big favorite. Since you're taking what you want and your husband has a fishing rod or gun stashed away, your kids should have the same privilege. The big toy they love so well is the thing that will cut down arguments while on vacation and keep them well - occupied.

Outstanding among the big toys are steel scale models of construction and firefighting equipment. Most of these are about one-sixteenth the size of the real machines. They have been scaled down by one of America's leading toy companies to sandpile size.

Blueprints were loaned to the toy firm to insure accuracy of detail, and all major operating features are retained in the miniature road scrapers, earth haulers and fire trucks.

If you're going to the beach, these toys are just right for piling the sand into forts or other structures. The salt air won't harm them since the baked enamel finish is practically corrosion proof.

Running back and forth on the solid rubber tires, the highly workable toys can move a mountain of sand that might surprise you. It will be no surprise to your kids who will feel they are kingpin operators just like the men you've passed on the road running the real, monster equipment.

You can easily recognize these toys as replicas of the yellow, green, and red machines that will be roaming the countryside this summer cutting new roads, building dams and other huge construction projects.

Some big engineering firms and contractors use the toy models to instruct new employes in the basic fundamentals of operating the machines. Hospitals have found them useful in occupational therapy. And the manufacturers of the basic equipment proudly put them into the hands of their employes as gifts.

There is a wide range of nine different types so your youngster can find the one that best suits his age.

Rosy Glow Good for the Morale

Pink Is Prettiest Color for Boudoir

CHICAGO (INS)—A Chicago designer believes a woman should feel pretty the minute she opens her eyes, and so he's chosen pink for his newest modern bedroom furniture.

Merton L. Gershun explained in an interview today that he decided on pink because "the rosy glow of it reflects makes a woman look prettier and feel prettier instantly."

"Pink is good for men, too," Gershun said, it makes them look healthier."

Gershun, the biggest designer of low-priced modern furniture settled on a pale, pink lacquer for his furniture and iced it off with white panelite tops on chest pieces.

Besides its flattering effect on the human complexion, Gershun likes the shade because he feels it helps relax people and get them to sleep quicker. He said:

"Nobody can deny the soothing effect pink has on babies in the nursery."

Gershun said the lacquer and the plastic tops make the furniture easy to keep clean — "dust seldom shows and any smudges can be wiped off with a damp cloth."

The furniture, which Gershun designed for American of Martinsville, was displayed at the summer furniture market in Chicago with flouncy feminine accessories — white organdy curtains and bedspread.

However, he emphasized that the pink can be combined just as effectively with more tailored materials like tweeds or stripes.

In fact, he said, the pink furniture fits into almost any color scheme except bright red, kelly green and brilliant yellow.

He recommended that a housewife determine the color of her walls chiefly from the size of the room and how much light comes into it.

For a small, dim bedroom, Gershun suggested walls in pale blue or green or white to make the room appear more spacious and bright.

A larger room could be more boldly decorated in deep jade green or charcoal grey with bright red pillows for accent.

Walls of rose, a few shades deeper than the pink furniture, or cocoa brown could be used for a more masculine look, with nubby, tweedy fabrics.

Modern Women Fish for More Than Flattery

Are you angling to join the male members of the angling set? Then pack your fishing rod, tackle and other gear into the family bus and take off — because the "fishing's fine."

And you'll find plenty of company because the number of feminine fishermen is increasing yearly.

Finding the right spot to fish isn't too hard. Fish bite best when the temperature of the water is relatively cool as it is in early summer.

In fact, at this time of the year fishing is good in practically all sections of the country. In the Midwest, trout, muskellunge and walleye are plentiful. Later on, bass and pike will provide excellent fishing.

In the southern states, bass, bream, crappie and catfish abound. Game fish are also rising in eastern lakes and rivers and in far western mountain streams, following spring's melting of the ice.

"Y"oung Adults Plan Dance for Tonight

"Y"oung Adults Club of the YMCA is planning a record dance this evening from 8:30 to 11:30. All young adults 20 years old or older are invited to attend.

For the white-collar gal on a limited budget, clever accessories like these work wardrobe magic. Tired wools get a new lift; suits with sparkling fill-ins have a fresh as-daisy look. Dark basic dresses, always the backbone of every well-planned wardrobe, look like the latest 1954 creations!

These change-making accessories are expensive to buy, but so inexpensive to make! Even a beginner can create a wide variety of new white-collar fashions . . . all she needs is a little patience and imagination.

Roger W. Babson Forecasts Another Good Six Months and closer to the position occupied by Great Britain during the 19th Century.

The United States will prepare to engage in small wars anywhere in order to prevent outbreak of a world conflagration.

I predict that the United States in the last six months of 1954 may by-pass the United Nations and try to form a "defensive" league of nations interested in Southeast Asia. The purpose: To keep the rice, tin and rubber of that area from falling into Communist hands.

Most of the arms and military know-how needed by such an alliance of anti - Communist nations in the Far East will be furnished by Uncle Sam. This means that cuts in arms expenditures, already scheduled for the last half of 1954 by the administration, may not be put into effect.

The Korean situation will remain about as is — "much talkie, no shootie"; but Indochina will constantly become a greater threat.

Do not forget Europe and the Middle East. France is torn by internal dissension and a blow-off could come there any time. West Germany is growing more impatient with French bickering over the Saar and over the formation of a Western European army including German participation.

Russia will strive mightily to widen the split between France and Western Germany by holding out the "bait" of reunion between East and West Germany.

Friction between the Jews and the Arabs in the Middle East is being encouraged by Communist agents. The smouldering fires there could break into flame at any time, requiring a hurry - up call for Uncle Sam's fire department.

Watch Stockbuying; Cars to Be Plentiful

Of course, some day the market (especially the Dow-Jones Industrials) will get a bad wallop with very much lower prices. On the other hand, this may not come during the next few months.

Up to this time the high yields of stocks have not appealed so much to investors, owing to the personal tax on both dividends and on income in general. Although stock yields compared with those of 20 years ago are higher if personal taxes are not considered, yet when these personal taxes are deducted, today's yields have not been attractive.

The new tax bill and the increased buying for pension funds and investment trusts have, however, increased the demand for common stocks and could hold the market up for some months to come.

I forecast that it will be very important to make careful selections of stocks. Don't buy stocks just because they have gone off heavily in price and appear cheap.

Unfortunately, many small concerns will find it more and more difficult to compete with their big competitors. Not only can these big corporations make goods cheaper and have better means of distribution, but they can spend huge sums on advertising, which a smaller concern cannot do. This will be especially evident during the next six months.

The companies which will prosper most are those which have inaugurated effective labor-saving programs. Manufacturers will win only as they purchase new labor - saving machinery, spend more money on research and on well-directed advertising.

Automobiles will continue to be hard to sell and easier to buy during the last half of 1954. Both the automobile stocks and the cars will be in less demand. There will be more bargains in used cars, discounts on new cars, especially cars of the "independent" manufacturers.

Canada will continue to boom during the second half of 1954, but this may be a good time to take profits on Canadian investments.

Money Supply Rises but Controls Ready

When Eisenhower assumed the presidency with his Cabinet of "9 millionaires," they proclaimed a new monetary policy which would increase the value of the dollar and raise interest rates. Either fortunately or unfortunately, the economic situation caused a reversal of this policy.

The value of the dollar shows no increase over January and this has been hailed by Wall Street as a sign of further inflation.

Interest rates during the second six months of 1954 should average about as at present.

The fear of involvement in Indochina is strengthening the commodity markets. This takes some of the pressure off of Secy. Benson and those who have been resisting increased tariffs.

I forecast an upward movement in many commodity prices—other than farm prices—during the balance of 1954.

Money supplies are on the rise again now. They will continue to expand during the last half. Inflationary effects on the price level will be limited as our capacity to produce is now large.

Remember, the surest way to squelch an inflationary fire is with a flood of goods. Inflationary effects of the expanded money supply could also be nullified by the change in the government's method of collecting the corporate income tax.

The new tax law may put the large corporations on a pay-as-you-go basis, squeezing their cash holdings.

Any psychological inflationary flare-ups that may take place as a result of war scares, big or little, will not be long-lived. They will definitely be dangerous to follow up.

A word of warning: Don't get drawn into any speculative moves in commodities or stocks based on the outbreak of a small war.

If the need arises, our government will move with lightning swiftness to put controls into effect. They are already "triggered."

Employment Better, Real Estate Limited

As to unemployment, I will say that this has increased some over last year, but if considered on a per-capita basis, it is even less than that of five years ago.

Look for a moderate rise in employment during the last six months of 1954.

The improvement which I expect in employment should not, however, be sufficient to make union leaders careless. Jobs will still be very much in demand. This should mean that the last half will see no prolonged strikes.

Most union-management settlements will be made with a moderate amount of give and take. Any wage advances will be limited to the neighborhood of a reasonable hourly figure, plus some additional fringe benefits.

The administration and the labor leaders will not try to revamp the Taft-Hartley bill during the last six months of 1954.

My forecast as to the various classes of real estate is as follows:

(a) Large commercial farms will experience a further sag in their land values during the last half-year as farmers' gross income dips lower.

(b) Small farms on the fringes of big city suburbs should hold or rise in price as people get further away from city centers. This move could become an avalanche in the event of really serious war scares.

(c) I look for vacant land in the suburbs to hold its value well. In the big cities it may be another story, unless the land is suitable for parking purposes.

(d) Business properties in the big cities may ease somewhat in price during the last six months of this year. Suburban business properties can be expected to hold up.

Demand for more shopping centers will be noticeable during the months to come.

(e) Home property (especially the older houses, particularly in the cities) will continue sagging in price. In the suburbs, the bigger houses, even of recent vintage, will be harder to sell.

Most salable home properties will be the newer houses in the middle and lower-price brackets with emphasis on the ranch-house type.

(f) In the last half-year, construction will still be a powerful support to our economy as it has been for so long. Seasonally, building will hold well, strengthened by continued liberal credit terms.

Some boost in building could come in the second half if civilian defense moves create a dispersal scare.

If this happens, look for a rush by many factories to move operations into areas far from bomb-vulnerable cities.

In conclusion, I cannot end this forecast without reminding readers that we are living in a truly New Era, comparable only with the year 1 A. D., 1954 years ago, or the invention of printing 500 years ago.

The H-bomb, in the hands of any ambitious dictator, could bring about unparalleled conditions. These changes could make the things, about which I have written above, of little value or consequence.

Only a great spiritual awakening can save us.

Pie Goes by Jet

Official Duty Is Sometimes Very Unpleasant

ELYRIA, Ohio (UP)—Meting out justice is tough enough under ordinary circumstances, but when complicated by an emotional obligation, it becomes a "rotten job" in the estimation of Mayor Grant Keys.

Ralph Wing, a 58-year-old butcher, was hailed into traffic court for running a red light. He explained he had stopped for the traffic signal in a school zone and was talking to his wife when someone behind him honked his horn.

"I just automatically went right through it with kids all around, he added, "I feel terrible."

What made it difficult for the mayor was the fact that, six months earlier, Wing had saved the life of Keys' year-old son, John, when the tot wandered into the street in the face of oncoming cars. Wing swerved his automobile broad side in the street to block out the approaching stream of traffic, jumped out of his car and carried the child to safety.

Mayor Keys, however reluctant he was to do so, fined Wing $10 and costs.

"The law's the law," Wing said afterward, "I don't blame the mayor."

Tasks Fairly Swapped

PULASKI, Va. (AP) — Ronald Smith, a newspaper carrier boy, wanted to take a vacation but his delivery route posed a problem. C. M. Hayter, 49, a customer, offered the solution — he would handle 13-year-old Ronald's route and Ronald would mow his lawn an agreed number of times.

Whip Up a Cake for the Bride

Make Layers Heart Shaped

Cake Mix Simplifies Wedding Task; Fancy Frosting Adds Beauty

If you have a bride-to-be in your home, here's a beautiful wedding cake that you can make yourself. It is really simple to make and is just as attractive as any you can buy.

Orange Blossom Wedding Cake

Eggs
4 teaspoons orange extract

Make up 2 boxes of the cake as directed on the package, adding 2 teaspoons orange extract to the batter. Pour half the batter into a 10x10x2 pan lined with paper. Divide the remaining batter between two 9-inch heart-shaped pans, also lined with paper.

Bake in a 350 oven 25-35 minutes. Cool and take out of pans. Wash pans, make up the other 2 boxes of cake mix and bake as directed above.

Prepare frosting and set aside a small amount for decorations. Place the two square cakes side by side on a large piece of cardboard, 10x20 inches. Spread frosting smoothly on top and sides of cake.

Make 2 layer cakes from the four hearts, spreading frosting between layers. Place a heart shaped layer cake diagonally on each square, with points of the hearts toward the center. Frost tops and sides, smoothing it out.

Add additional confectioner's sugar to the reserved frosting to make it stiff enough to use in decorating. Make flowers and garlands on top and sides of cake. Place on silver tray to serve.

Orange Blossom Frosting

2 cups butter or margarine
16 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1¼ cups milk (approximate)
2 teaspoons orange extract
1 teaspoon salt

Cream butter. Add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar, alternately with milk, until of right consistency to spread. Beat vigorously.

Add orange extract, salt, and blend. Keep frosting covered while frosting cake to keep from drying out. Makes enough to frost and decorate the above cakes.

Tasty Vegetable Dish

This combination of flavors makes a vegetable dish that's extra good. Cut two slices of bacon into inch long pieces and cook with a chopped onion until lightly brown. Add a can of tomatoes and a cup of diced celery; cover and simmer until the celery is tender. Season with salt and pepper, and a bit of butter or margarine if you like.

19 Calories in Tablespoon in New French Dressing

These salad dressing recipes are just an introduction to the way fresh lemons help you add verve to your weight control menus.

Try them and you'll see how easy it is to prepare foods that are rich in flavor and nutrition, but low in calories.

Low Calorie Dressing

1 teaspoon plain gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
¼ cup hot water
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
⅛ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon celery seed
Dash paprika
1 cup water
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 tablespoons lemon juice
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Add sugar and salt; cool. Combine lemon juice, pepper, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce, onion, and celery seed; add to gelatin mixture and shake well. Serve at room temperature. May be covered and stored in refrigerator until needed but must remain at room temperature for at least 1 hour before serving so that the gelatin will reliquefy.

Makes 1 cup dressing.

Cooked Salad Dressing (Low Calorie)

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Remove from heat. Gradually add lemon juice to beaten eggs; then add a little of the hot mixture to the eggs and return to top of double boiler. Cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 20 minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Store covered in refrigerator and use as needed. Makes 1½ cups dressing.

Sour Cream Cucumber Sauce

One cup finely chopped cucumbers
1 cup thick sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

1½ cups rice
2 teaspoons salt
3 cups cold water
2 chopped whole canned pimientos
2 cups tomato juice
½ pound diced cheddar cheese
Dash of tabasco sauce

In a 2-quart saucepan, melt butter over low heat. Add onion and cook until softened. Add rice, salt and water. Bring to a vigorous boil.

Turn heat as low as possible. Cover with a tight fitting lid. Leave over low heat 14 minutes. Uncover and stir in pimientos, tomato juice, cheese and tabasco.

Pour into well-greased 2-quart casserole and bake in modern 350 oven 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Children Sure to Enjoy Easy Animal Doughnuts

You can make easy long-eared animal faces to plase your youngsters from doughnuts.

Cut two thin slices from a powdered sugar dipped doughnut. Place one slice on a serving plate. Cut the other slice in half for ears, and arrange pieces at the top of the first circle. Make eyes of raisins or chocolate bits.

The shape of the doughnut hole will give you some surprising and amusing "facial" expressions.

Unpeeled Potatoes High in Vitamins, Minerals

EAST LANSING — Potatoes are a great source of economical energy — and vitamins and minerals —especially for the junior third of our people, notes Dennie L. Clanahan, Michigan State College farm cropsman.

Farmers grow more than 250 million bushels of potatoes every year—or 100 pounds per person—on 1½ million acres as compared to 50 million acres for wheat. Every state grows some potatoes.

Minerals and vitamins in potatoes are near the skin surface, notes Clanahan, and the best way to get them into the diet is to eat baked potatoes or potatoes boiled with the skins on.

CURRIED VEAL CASSEROLE—Here is an elegant one dish dinner, economical and easy to prepare. Chunks of veal, tender noodles and a sauce made with an onion soup mix combine to make this a meal for a gourmet.

Curried Veal Casserole Meal to Please Epicure

The joy and satisfaction of casserole cookery seem to be limitless, probably because so many happy combinations of food become even more delectable when nestled in a casserole.

The two recipes for one dish dinners that we'd like to share with you are truly gourmet type. Both of them use popular soup mixes as a main ingredient. Easy to prepare, economical, these casserole treats will help you build a reputation as a cook with imagination.

Here is an opportunity, too, to use some of the many delightful casseroles now found in stores: Swiss, French, California; open ones, covered types, big ones and those for individual servings.

There are many colorful, decorative casseroles that are sturdy in spite of their beauty. Who can deny the convenience of casserole service, from oven to table; and the time saved in dishwashing?

Perhaps, it is true that the Egyptians were the first to use casseroles in preparing meals, and then it was the French who really made casserole cookery an art. But it was American tourists and United States troops who came back from the continent with memories of glorious one dish meals that started our era of good eating from casseroles.

Curried Veal and Noodle Casserole

1 pound veal, cut in 1½ inch cubes
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups water
1 package onion soup mix
2 tablespoons green pepper, chopped
3 tablespoons flour, mixed with ¼ cup water
1 teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 cup sour cream
1 package (8 oz.) noodles

Brown veal in fat. Add water, onion soup mix, and green pepper. Simmer slowly for 45 minutes until meat is tender and liquid is reduced to about 1½ cups. Stir in flour-water mixture, seasonings, and sour cream. Continue cooking slowly until sauce is thickened and flavors are blended.

Arrange in casserole, alternating layers of hot cooked noodles and the curried veal. Garnish with slices of tomato sprinkled with buttered bread crumbs. Place under broiler to brown. Serves 6-8.

Note: this casserole may be made up ahead of time, but should then be heated in a moderate oven before garnishing.

2 drained canned pimientos (cut in thin strips

Nutmeg, Lime in Fluffy Pie

Summer wedding bells bring bridal showers! Or, another way of looking at it, there's some fancy cooking done this month.

Most prospective brides will welcome good recipe ideas about as eagerly as the gifts that are showered on them. And, there's nothing like some tasty examples of good food at the shower to get them started right.

The American Spice Trade Association suggests a Fluffy Nutmeg Lime Pie as a good possibility for a shower party dessert.

Nutmeg, in case the bride-to-be asks, is a very interesting spice. It comes from the seed (about the size of a walnut) of a tropical evergreen tree. The nutmeg is found inside a peach-like fruit.

Directly surrounding the nutmeg is a lacy, flesh-like material from which we get another spice—mace. While nutmeg and mace are understandably similar in taste, mace is definitely more delicate and is used where subtle flavor is desired. the East and West Indies. Nutmeg and mace come from both

Fluffy Nutmeg Lime Pie

⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
4 eggs, separated
⅓ cup fresh lime juice
1½ teaspoons grated lime rind
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
9-inch baked nutmeg pie crust*
Ground nutmeg

Mix the first 5 ingredients together in the top part of a double boiler. Cook over hot water (not boiling) until very thick (about 10 minutes). Stir in grated lime rind.

Add salt to egg white and beat until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in the remaining ½ cup sugar. Fold custard mixture into the beaten egg whites. Pour into a baked pie crust. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in a slow 325 oven. Just before serving, sprinkle a dash of nutmeg over the pie. Yield: Six servings.

*To each cup flour used in making the pastry, add ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg.

Course Pastry Is Best

When you are making pastry for pie, remember that coarse particles of fat give a flaky crust, while fine particles give an undesirable closely-knit texture. The fat may be cut into the flour with two knives or with a pastry fork or blender.

Wedding Cake Is Old Symbol

Whether as a symbol of culinary art from the first primitive maid who patted together a simple cake for her groom, or as a sign of plenty that dates back to Roman times, wedding cakes seem destined to continue as part of our matrimonial festivities.

Perhaps wedding cakes originated to show off the accomplishments of the bride. At any rate, it is known that a meal cake was a part of the marriage ceremonies of some American Indians.

The bride made and presented the cake to the groom as a sign of her culinary preparedness for marriage.

The plentifulness idea originated in Roman days at aristocratic weddings. A cake was broken above the bride's head as a symbol of plenty. Each guest took home a piece of cake to insure this blessing to himself or herself.

Another bit of folklore for sharing this cake is that if you take home a piece and sleep on it, you will dream of your future mate.

Wedding cakes today can be the traditional fruit type or a white one (the Bride's Cake), or both. The slices to be given the guests as they leave are usually the fruit types, and are called the Groom's Cake.

These may be baked in loaf pans, sliced and packed in wedding-cake favor boxes. The boxes are wedding-themed with white satin ribbon and lilies of the valley.

Try Peach Fritters With Ham or Pork

NEW YORK (UP) — Next time you're looking for a different side dish with baked ham or roast pork, try peach fritters, new version of an old favorite. You will need:

Combine the pancake mix and sugar. Add the beaten egg and milk, mixing together until fairly smooth. Dip the drained peach halves into the batter. Fry in hot deep fat (360 degrees); turn when brown on the underside. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serve with maple-blended syrup, or sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.

PIMIENTO HEAVEN SALAD—Here's a heavenly salad for springtime's heavenly days. It brightens any table with its cheery red pimientos and sunny yellow pineapple, and it's inexpensive, to boot. Pimiento cut-outs are easy to make with a paring knife or tiny cookie cutter.

Salad Is Out of This World So Double for Bridge Club

The lady of the house is as much opposed to "home work" at this time of year as any schoolboy, and a salad like this one is her salvation from the stove.

Pimientos add pep to the cream cheese mold, and together with golden pineapple, the gay, spring-like colors and celestial decorations (also of pimiento) will catch even a young man's fancy.

The whole family, from dad on down, will pronounce it out of this world; hence the name —

Pimiento Heaven Salad

1 4-ounce can or jar pimientos
1 cup hot water
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon bottled horseradish
¼ teaspoon salt

To make the salad a real heaven, cut tiny stars and crescents from 1 whole pimiento and scatter them in the bottom of the salad mold. Chop the other pimientos and put them aside for later use.

Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water, and very carefully pour a little of it over the pimiento cutouts in the mold; chill until set.

Cool the rest of the gelatin; then combine it with all the other ingredients except the pimientos, beating until smooth. Chill this mixture until it begins to set, add the pimientos, and pour it gently into the mold. Refrigerate for several hours to set firmly.

Now you'll need: Salad greens and 1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple.

Unmold the salad on the greens and surround it with well-drained pineapple slices, halving some for a prettier effect. Sprinkle the pineapple with more heavenly bodies—pimiento stars and crescents. This recipe serves 4, so if you're planning on two tables of bridge, better doubt it.

Rye toast fingers, made by cutting slices of rye bread into finger sizes and toasting them quickly in the oven, are a good crisp accompaniment.

Taste Treat for Junior

Vary Junior's diet! Add a half can of baby-food liver and bacon to two scrambled eggs. This will serve two, so mother can have half of it for her luncheon dish.

Careful Selection of Meat Important to Homemaker

A big chunk of a woman's time is spent food marketing. Do you realize how important shopping know-how is to a family's health and budget?

Training teenage girls in intelligent, knowledgeable marketing is particularly important these days with the variety of frozen foods, pre-packaged meats, all kinds of soluble coffee and so on—not only for future homemakers but also for those girls who are already doing the family marketing while both parents are working.

Pre-planning: First, prepare a marketing list of the foods, staples, etc., that will provide a balanced diet within your budget.

The shopping list should be in a time-saving order which groups the various items usually found near one another in the store, in the approximate sequence in which they'll be picked off the shelves.

Selecting meats: In beef, look for an outside covering of creamy white fat and fat marbling running through the muscle; also, deep red color and fine grain. These are all signs of high quality.

In pork, signs of quality are the light pinkish-white color of the lean, medium soft, very white and abundant fat on the outside of the cut, as well as throughout the lean. Bones should be pinkish on the cut surfaces.

Poor quality pork has lean of deep red color, little fat and a coarse, flabby texture.

In veal, quality shows in the pinkish-grey color of the lean and its fine texture. It needn't be as firm as beef, and the fatty part should be pinkish-white but sparse. The bones of young veal are pinkish on their cut surfaces. Poor quality veal is very moist, limp, has dull color and no fat.

The fatty part of lamb should be very hard and abundant on both outside and inside of cuts. Like veal, lamb should, however, have firm, fine-textured and dull pinkish lean.

The surest test of young lamb is its "break joint." This is the joint at the lower part of the foreleg where the forefeet are removed. When broken, this joint should leave a rigid, pink, moist break. Older animals show a white, harder break.

In pre-packaged meats, labels tell the whole story: Kind of meat and government grade, cut, cost per pound and total price and weight. A good general rule-of-thumb in picking weights is to figure you get four servings per pound of boneless meats and two servings per pound of meats with bone.

Fine Snack for Dieters

Here's a snack for weight-watchers — a sandwich without bread. Spread salami slices with seasoned cottage cheese; top each with another salami slice. At serving time, cut each of these sandwiches into four wedges.

Cream to be used for whipping, should contain at least twenty-five per cent butter fat.

Paprika Is Secret of Golden Coloring

Have you often wondered how famous chefs get that beautiful color on their fried chicken? Its just a matter of a quick sprinkle of that easy to use spice, paprika.

Mix some paprika in with the flour before frying and also when it is done, give it another dash of this beautifully colored spice. Your family and friends will rave about how delicious it looks.

Now's the Time for Cantaloupe

Summer comes early to the desert and brings with it a bountiful crop of vine-ripened cantaloupes to ship all over the nation.

Western cantaloupes are in our markets now. Treat your family. Serve them often.

Cantaloupes are particularly interesting for their wonderful faculty of being high in minerals and vitamins, yet extremely low in calories.

Either filled with ice cream (called Lillian Russell) or with fresh fruit and berries, they are beautiful to look at and very, very easy to eat. Served plain with a little salt or a sprinkling of lemon juice, they are delicious too.

Cantaloupe-Strawberry Dessert

Cut chilled cantaloupes in halves. Fill with lightly sweetened, crushed strawberries. Top with a few whole perfect berries. Tuck a few fresh mint sprigs here and there. Then enjoy and be refreshed.

Try this cantaloupe salad, too. Peel a ripe cantaloupe. Cut in half and scoop out seeds. Then slice each half into 4 strips. Place one or two strips on a bed of crisp lettuce for each serving. Pass lemon French dressing.

CANTALOUPE STRAWBERRY DESSERT—Amber muskemelon stuffed with strawberries, garnished with mint, makes an eye-catching dessert. The versatile cantaloupe appears happily on your table at any meal and for any course. Make use of it often in the months to come.

Tomato Accents Broiled Whiting

Whiting, slim silvery fish with a delicate flavor, are so plentiful now that you've probably seen them in your grocer's frozen food cabinets or in your fish dealer's display case.

And perhaps you've wondered how to serve them, because they're so inexpensive they will prove a welcome budget-balancer these days, when most protein foods are a strain on the pocketbook.

Whiting usually is sold frozen, pan-dressed (which means whole, but cleaned). However, you may be able to buy the single fillets of whiting or the butterfly fillets (which means cut away from the backbone but held together by the uncut underside of the fish.)

In preparing either type of fillet, you may use any recipe for fish fillets. For the whole, dressed whiting, the National Fisheries Institute suggests broiling them with vegetables for a meal-on-a-platter, like this:

Broiled Whiting Dinner

Allow one or two whole dressed whiting for each person. Wipe whiting with damp paper toweling. Place in preheated greased broiler pan with seasoned tomato slices.

Sprinkle fish with lemon juice, garlic salt and pepper. Place broiler pan 4 to 6 inches from source of heat. Broil fish and tomatoes 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, wash one head cauliflower, remove leaves and separate into sections. Place in pressure cooker with ½ cup hot water. Cook 1½ minutes at 15 minutes pressure. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Pour melted butter over cauliflowerettes. Serve with broiled tomatoes and whiting.

Toasted Coconut Cream Ideal Dessert for Shower

Many are now entertaining at showers for prospective brides. One thing about all such "goings on" is that food usually takes an important part in the plan.

The wise hostess considers three things when she is selecting the food she is to serve. First, her budget; second, the time and facilities she has for preparation and service; and third, the guests themselves.

Among these, the time of day the shower is held needs special consideration for heavy food at night is most inappropriate.

Toasted Coconut Cream is an ideal dessert regardless of what time your shower is to take place. Made refreshing and delicious with milk, it is a light dessert that can be molded into any shape appropriate to the theme of the party.

When you serve this to your guests you are also giving them some of the fine calcium and other important nutrients of milk, in a dessert that is not too rich. Serve it at the finish of a luncheon, or for an afternoon or evening party.

Toasted Coconut Cream

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup milk
4 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk, scalded
1 cup whipping cream, stiffly beaten
1½ teaspoons vanilla or desired flavoring
Toasted coconut shreds

Soften gelatin in the ¼ cup cold milk. Beat egg yolks well and gradually beat in sugar and salt. Blend in scalded milk slowly. Cook over very low heat just until mixture coats metal spoon well.

Remove from heat and stir in softened gelatin. Cool and chill; when partly set beat with rotary beater and fold in the whipped cream and flavoring. Pour into lightly buttered 1 quart mold and chill until firmly set.

Here's How to Make Refreshing Iced Tea

To save precious ice cubes and refrigerator space during hot weather, make your tea for icing early in the day. Let cool at room temperature until ready to use.

If you and your family agree on sweetness, you can save time by sweetening the whole pitcherful when you make it. Sweeten with no-calorie sweetening tablets and feel free to drink as much as you wish without worrying about your weight.

First measure out 5 tablespoons of loose tea, or 15 individual tea bags. Bring to boil 2 quarts of freshly drawn cold water.

Remove boiling water from heat and add tea immediately. Let tea brew, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Stir well and strain into large pitcher. Let cool at room temperature.

Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses when ready to serve. Makes 10 servings.

Split Pre-Cooked Rolls

An easy way to avoid serving brown-and-serve rolls that are soggy inside is to split the rolls with a knife before freezing them. You'll have crispier, tastier rolls when they're thawed and browned for serving.

Molasses, Pecans Combined in Sauce

Tired of the unsual ic cream sundae sauces?-Here is an idea for a brand new one that uses molasses. The hint of lemon in it is excellent foil for the sweet molasses.

Molasses Pecan Sauce

- ⅔ cup table molasses
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon lemon rind
- ½ cup chopped pecans
- ½ cup cream

Cook molasses and sugar, without stirring, until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water, 3 to 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Makes 2 cups sauce.

When Buying Meat:

If you are buying meat with bone, you'll need one pound for two servings. A pound of lean meat without bone will make four servings.

Use bread at least half an inch thick, for best results, when you are toasting sandwiches in an electric sandwich grill.

They'll Approve Fried Shrimps

When this country's early settlers learned from Indians the many uses of corn meal, fish were among the native delicacies served in combination with flavorful corn bread.

Today, crusty corn meal provides an excellent covering for shrimp, to add flavor to a dish that can be quickly prepared and served as the main course of dinner, a supper for guests or special party fare.

It only takes four minutes to cook corn fried shrimp. Try them soon, and please your family and friends.

Corn Fried Shrimps

- 2 pounds shrimp
- 1½ cups corn meal
- 3 teaspoons salt
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk
- (If self-rising corn meal is used omit salt.)

Wash uncooked shrimp well, remove shell and black vein. Drain well, dip in salted corn meal, then in slightly beaten egg mixed with milk, and again in salted corn meal.

Fry in deep fat heated to 375 until golden brown, about 4 minutes. Serve with cocktail sauce. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Bake Fish in Shiny Foil for Rich Sealed-in Flavor

Seal - baking fish is our latest discovery. It is done by arranging fish steaks on aluminum foil, wrapping them with a tight seal and putting them in the oven. Result: no pan to scrub when dish-washing time comes around.

At serving time, the fish in its foil may be transferred from the oven to your platter, and not a whiff of fish odor will linger on the serving dish.

And here's another cheerful point about baking in foil. Sealing the fish in its silver package, along with seasonings, lets none of the goodness of the food escape.

For instance, in today's recipe, the halibut is moist and tender and the mushrooms used with it have a concentrated flavor that's delightful. Open the package right at the table, after it comes out of the oven, using a scissors or a small sharp knife. Your family will oh! and ah! at the wonderful aroma.

You can also use aluminum foil to advantage when you store fish in the refrigerator before cooking. Just remove the fish from its wrappings and package it tightly in the foil; store the package in the coldest place in the refrigerator.

Even if you put it right next to other foods there will be no danger of fish odor spreading.

Halibut Steaks With Mushrooms in Foil

- 2 pounds halibut steaks about ¾-inch thick (fresh or frozen)
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 small onions (sliced thin)
- One 3-ounce can broiled sliced mushrooms (drained)
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper
- ½ teaspoon ground mixed herbs for seasoning fish
- ½ cup cream or evaporated milk

If fish is frozen, thaw it. Place fish steaks in the center of a large piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil.

Melt butter in 8-inch skillet; separate onion slices into rings and add. Drain mushrooms and add to skillet. Cook onions and mushrooms lightly over low heat, about 3 minutes; arrange around fish.

Sprinkle with salt, pepper to taste and mixed herbs. Rinse the skillet with the cream and pour over fish. Bring the foil up over the fish and, using drugstore fold, seal to form tight package.

Place in shallow pan and bake in 375 oven 1 hour. When done, slip package onto a hot platter. Open at table, turning back foil. Makes 6 servings.

Flounders, Noodles Cook in Spicy Sauce

Flounder and Noodle Kedgeree

¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons olive oil
8 ounces fine egg noodles (about 4 cups)
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic (minced)
3 tablespoons chopped canned pimiento
Two No. 2 cans tomatoes
½ teaspoon crushed red pepper
1½ teaspoon salt
1 pound (about 4 medium-size) flounder or lemon sole fillets

Heat olive oil and butter in 12-inch skillet over moderately low heat; add uncooked noodles and onion. Cook, stirring often, until noodles and onion are lightly browned.

Add green pepper, garlic, pimiento, tomatoes, red pepper and salt; if tomatoes are solid-pack break them up.

Cover and adjust heat so mixture boils gently. Cook until noodles are almost tender—about 10 minutes; stir a few times with wooden spoon in case noodles stick.

Cut each fillet into 3 large pieces and bury in noodle mixture; continue cooking gently until fish is tender — 3 to 5 minutes. Remove from pan with wide spatula, scraping up bottom. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Treat Family to Breakfast of Strawberry Shortcake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Every year about this time we have a different breakfast at our house. It is a family tradition to have strawberry shortcake for breakfast at least once during the strawberry season. We have a small strawberry patch and can have really fresh berries.

MRS. ODELL

I make a big batch of baking powder biscuits to butter and cover with the scarlet fruit, and cook bacon. It's a super breakfast.

It has been said that, "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did." Strawberries are universally grown in America, Europe, South America and parts of Asia; and I'm sure they are universally enjoyed. Their name comes from the fact that they were originally brought to market strung on straws.

If you live in the country, you have perhaps had the pleasure of picking wild strawberries. Tiny as they are, they have an indescribable sweetness and fragrance that cultivated berries never have.

Nevertheless, most of us are delighted to have a dish of the tame berries.

There seems to be no end to what can be done with a box of strawberries. They can be eaten for any meal, be put in desserts, salads and sauces. Because they are somewhat tart, they blend wonderfully with milder fruits such as bananas, or with cereals.

Look carefully at the box of strawberries before you buy it. Berries without caps may have been roughly handled.

Green or white tips may indicate poor flavor. Sandy fruit is very hard to clean. Juice stains on the box may indicate overripeness or decay. Mold is a positive sign of decay.

When you get the strawberries home, spread them out on a platter or large plate and refrigerate. Do not wash them until you are ready to use them.

When you do wash them, put them in a large bowl of water and lift them out of the water with the fingers spread apart a little to act as a strainer. The sand and soil on the berries will settle to the bottom of the container. Two such rinses should be enough; don't let the berries stand in the water.

Keep the berries in a warm place, not the refrigerator, if you sweeten them and want to draw out the juice.

For richest flavor, never use anything but a silver knife to cut them—steel taints the real berry flavor. Use fine powdered sugar for sweetening.

One of my favorite strawberry treats when I was a child was Strawberry Whip. To make it, put a quart of berries, one egg white and ¾-1 cup sugar in the bowl of your electric mixer. Beat together until the mixture resembles very thick whipped cream. This will take about 20 minutes.

Serve in sherbet glasses or pour over anglefood or sponge cake. It looks glamorous and is not so high in calories as a whipped cream dessert.

Strawberry Ice

2 quarts berries
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
Lemon juice

Sprinkle berries with sugar, cover and let stand 2 hours. Mash, squeeze through cheesecloth, and add water. Add lemon juice to taste. Freeze in hand freezer or refrigerator. Makes 3 pints.

Syrup, Lime Sherbet Make Cooling Drink

Just sitting on the porch and sipping a long, cool drink—that's a picture of contentment on a warm afternoon. In the next few months there'll be many such moments and you'll need a repertoire of delightful beverages to appease the palate.

One is this Green Mountain Cooler, a combination of maple-blended syrup, lime sherbet and carbonated water, a drink that will carry you off to the coolness of a Vermont stream.

Green Mountain Cooler

2 tablespoons maple-blended syrup
1 or 2 scoops lime sherbet
½ cup carbonated water

Pour syrup into tall glass. Add sherbet and stir well. Then add carbonated water. Serve at once. Makes one serving.

Red, Red Berries Top Ice Cream Pie

An ice cream pie topped with luscious frozen red raspberries is a delightful refreshment for afternoon or evening. Or, it's a wonderfully easy dessert to glorify a meal.

The crust — made from corn flakes and marshmallows — has a candy-like flavor. The filling is creamy-rich ice cream, and each serving is topped with juicy, ripe frozen red raspberries. So wonderfully simple, such tantalizing flavor.

Ice Cream Pie With Frozen Raspberries

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ pound marshmallows (about 16)
¼ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups corn flakes
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 box frozen raspberries, defrosted

Heat butter or margarine and marshmallows in top of double boiler until marshmallows are melted; stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add vanilla and blend mixture well.

Pour over slightly crushed corn flakes in a greased bowl and stir until the corn flakes are well coated. Press mixture into a well buttered 8" pie tin to form crust; cool at room temperature.

Fill with ice cream and top each serving with frozen raspberries. Amount: 6 to 8 servings.

Tender Squash Is Good Baked in Its Jacket

Did you ever bake summer squash whole the same way in which you bake potatoes? Try it some day soon and surprise your family with a new dish.

Baked, Whole Summer Squash

Select young, tender squash; scrub it thoroughly and rub it with bacon drippings or salad oil. Put it on a baking sheet and bake it at 300 for about 50 to 60 minutes. Sprinkle it with salt and serve it with butter if you like.

Homemade Jams and Jellies Taste Best —Cost Less!

PARIS-STYLE BREAKFAST—To the true Continental breakfast of cafe au lait, crescent or other rolls, butter and jam, add eggs or bacon for the American touch. You may enjoy the combination of coffee and hot milk more than you expect; and it will help reduce the coffee bill.

Serve Breakfast Parisian Style

If you love Paris in the springtime—or would like to have the chance to—capture one of Paris' favorite customs right at your own table with a Continental Breakfast.

Simplicity and charm are its main ingredients! A pitcherful of hot milk—very hot—is essential to the cafe au lait which begins and ends breakfast, Paris style.

With present shortages and prices, what better time to find out just how good a very small amount of coffee—and a rather large amount of hot milk—can be as an early morning wake-me-up?

The true continental breakfast consists of this coffee with hot milk combination, crescents or other rolls, butter, jams and jellies. For American tastes, add soft-boiled eggs, or crisp bacon if you like. But do make milk an important part of every breakfast, for grown-ups as well as children.

Milk definitely "belongs" at this first meal of the day, for nobody ever outgrows his need for this basic dairy commodity. And there's something about its smooth, satisfying, universally enjoyed flavor which can start any day off right.

Glasses brimming with cold milk have always tempted the appetites of the younger members of the family. See if they won't tempt the more mature members too.

Place glasses of milk on the table at everybody's place and see if an old, old dining custom doesn't retain its perennial charm. Cafe au lait too, for those who want the hot beverage! Plenty of rolls and butter and jam!

Even in our rushed, off-to-work lives here in America, it's still possible to enjoy some of the sense of leisure and luxury which such a simple ages-old breakfast combination can provide.

Ripe Cantaloupes Rolling to Market in Fine Style

Fragrantly delicious cantaloupes are rolling to market in large quantities. How to be sure the ones you buy are ripe? The clerk can help you. Cantaloupes do bruise and a lot of "thumb pressuring" doesn't help the fruit any.

A ready-to-eat cantaloupe will have coarse, fairly well defined netting. The rind showing through may be lighter green or have a grayish or yellow tinge. The scar the stem end should be slightly sunken and calloused, showing that the melon was picked fully ripe and the fruit separated easily from the vine.

Another tip is the "nose" test. If the melon has a mellow fragrance, you will know it is ripe.

Cantaloupe sundaes make mighty pretty and delicious eating. Just have fully ripe melons and scoop out the seeds. Fill the halves with ice cream or sherbet—any flavor you prefer. Garnish with a gay sprig of fresh mint.

Cantaloupe shells — or as some people call them, "nature's serving dishes," make elegant containers for fruit cocktails, desserts or salads.

Scoop out the ripe pulp with a spoon or French ball cutter and mix with your other desired fruits. Notch the edges if you like. Pile the shells high with the fruit and they are ready to serve.

Butter Was Once Used as Indication of Wealth

Butter has always been a prized possession. The first churning of the product that is known today as butter took place more than 2,000 years before the Christian era. It wasn't long before the news of this new food was spread over the civilized world.

Before being widely accepted as a food among the early people, in many countries butter was regarded as an indication of wealth and not used as a food at all. It was stored in the ground for years and a tree was planted to mark the spot. Wealth was judged on the amount of butter stored in this way, and the man with 100 pounds of butter was really wealthy.

Square Packages Give Square Deal on Freezer Space

How do you get a "square meal" from a home freezer?

By freezing foods in squares — box-shaped cartons and utensils — instead of round or irregularly-shaped packages.

This method of packaging will provide space for two to three times as much food.

Only square or rectangular utensils or cartons should be used for shaping foods prior to their being frozen. Even cookies and biscuits should be square-cut instead of round-cut. Make cakes square, not round.

Soft-consistency foods packed in plastic bags may be frozen in used commercial cartons or square cornered utensils so the food will assume the shape of the container. After freezing, unmold, removing the carton to save space.

Soft foods like stews, baked beans, cream sauces and chili con carne may be molded in ice cube trays.

Crush Berries for Party Punch

For party fare during June there is nothing more appropriate or delectable than strawberries teamed with milk, cream and ice cream. So why not a glorious punch? Our recipe serves 25.

Put this delicious concoction in your best punch bowl and fasten three or four June roses, using cellophane tape, over the rim of the bowl. There's a summer offering lovely to look at, wonderful to taste!

Strawberries-and Cream Punch

3 quarts strawberries
2½ cups sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
2½ tablespoons lemon juice
3 quarts milk
1½ cups cream
1½ quarts vanilla ice cream
1 pint strawberry ice cream

Crush strawberries and press through coarse sieve; there should be about 4½ cups puree. Mix with sugar, salt and lemon juice. Blend in milk and cream, then vanilla ice cream, pour into punch bowl. Garnish with spoonfuls of strawberry ice cream. Makes 25 servings.

Fish and Rice Dinner Cooks on Top of Stove

This tasty dinner is made all in one pan, with practically no attention from the cook.

Put a half cup of uncooked rice in a large skillet and add some diced green pepper, sliced stuffed olives and 1 cup diced celery. Empty in a small can of mushrooms with liquid, a can of condensed consomme, and a can of mackerel, broken into bite size pieces.

Cover and cook over high heat until steam escapes. Reduce heat to simmer, and cook slowly about 30 to 40 minutes.

Quick Luncheon Dish Makes Use of Leftovers

For a quick luncheon dish that will make good use of those leftovers, try this trick. Into 3 stiffly beaten egg whites, fold the following mixture: 2 cups cream style corn, 1 cup leftovers such as ham and cooked vegetables, 2 cups cooked rice, 3 beaten egg yolks, and salt and pepper to taste.

Spread into greased baking dish and bake in hot oven until set, about 25 minutes.

Apple Pie Specialist Turns Out One Million

LORAIN, Ohio (UP)—Mrs. Sally McCutcheon, 75, must hold some sort of record.

She learned to bake apple pies in 1911 in Bluefield, W. Va., then successively worked in restaurants in Columbus, Ohio, Tiffin, Ohio, and finally Heilman's in nearby Willard, Ohio, where she has been since 1915 with the exception of six years when she worked here in a factory cafeteria.

Saying that she has baked at least one pie per day, she figures she has a life-time total of around 1,000,000. At one time, she was baking 201 pies a day.

Elected to One Official Post; Tied for Another

STELLA, Neb. (UP) — Clayton Morris and Clark Briggs both received the same number of votes in the election for membership on the village board.

It will be up to the election board to decide the 61-vote tie.

However, Briggs is assured of at least one office. He was also a candidate—and a successful one—for the board of education.

SHE'S "SAILOR" — Washable white "sailor jacket" with red and blue trimming is cotton knit in stitch which looks hand-made. Collar comes to deep point in back.

French Plan New Cable-Lift

1st Section Will Open in Spring for Spanning Peak in France

CHAMONIX, France, (UP) — French Alpine engineers have unveiled plans for a 13,200-foot aerial cable-lift that will bring new ease to this lazy method of "mountain climbing."

The first 7,000-foot section of the world's longest lift will be opened here this spring, to carry passengers high over hilly crags to the top of the Aiguille du Midi, a 12,422-foot needle-point peak in southeastern France.

The second 8,200-foot section will be opened next year. It will take tourists from the first landing station and swing them 4,800 feet higher in one breathless eight-minute swoop, without any supporting towers.

There engineers face a problem, for the flat surface atop the Aiguille du Midi is only 60 feet in diameter and mountain winds are far from gentle at that altitude, even in the balmiest season.

Present plans call for a tunnel through the peak to link the terminal platform with the valley on the other side where it is hoped a resort hotel will be built.

The new lift is only a stone's throw from the oldest of France's 21 cable-lifts, which was completed in 1920. These lifts opened up new horizons for valley-bound tourists who ignored the challenge of mountain-climbing.

The first French lift, also built in two sections, runs from Les Pelerins (3,500 feet) to the Glacier des Bossons (7,900 feet). But the 1920 lift, like the first section of the new Aiguille du Midi lift, is supported by spaced-out towers. Next year's section will mount the heights in one graceful, unsupported arc.

Behind this departure lie 34 years of advances in cable manufacture. Modern high resistance steel has spanned giddy distances with lighter cables of increased strength.

Other technical advances have added to the pleasures of riding up, instead of walking up, a mountainside. Decreased cable-weight has tripled speed of ascent to 25 feet per second.

Cable-lift cabins moved slowly in 1920, when 24 passengers represented a dead-weight of 210 pounds per person. Today's cabin holds 80 passengers with a dead weight of only 50 pounds per person.

The smoother, faster ride conforms strictly to the most exacting safety specifications. French engineers point with pride to the fact that, in 34 years of carrying passengers along thin ribbons of swaying steel over deadly heights, there has been only one cable-lift fatality.

Young Violators Go to Traffic School

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Juvenile traffic violators are "sentenced" to school in Milwaukee.

Policemen turn teachers for the Monday night two-hour sessions. "Students" hear lectures, watch safety movies and take home four pages of questions as "homework."

The youths are all 16 or 17. Because of their age, their traffic violations go through children's court rather than district court.

Judge John J. Kenney of the children's court, who initiated plans for the school, said that the 1953 legislature authorized a safety school instead of penalties, if desired. Before that legislation, youths who were charged with vehicle violations lost their licenses.

When the "course" of three class sessions is completed, a youth receives a certificate to be presented to the children's court.

Motorist Wants Credit

BEATRICE, Neb. (UP) — A letter from a motorist told the police to "credit" his past parking tickets with 20 cents he "squandered" in the meters on a day when the police weren't checking cars because it was a state holiday.

19th Century Pioneers Developed the Stogie

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP) — Everyone knows that a stogie is a long black cigar of modest cost, but few realize the origin of the name. It derives from the Conestoga wagon of pioneer days.

Pioneers early in the 19th century went to Lancaster County, Pa., to acquire the famous Conestoga wagons for the trip west. They also would pick up a bale or two of Lancaster black leaf tobacco to take with them.

They learned to wrap the leaves into a long black cigar by hand. This work was observed as they went through Wheeling by S. S. Bloch, a merchant, who began manufacturing Conestoga cigars, later to become known as stogies."

Rhododendron Drug Can Control Blood Pressure

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — A new drug taken from the leaves of the rhododendron, a common flowering shrub found in many home gardens, may help control high blood pressure in man.

Two doctors from the Emory University (Ga.) School of Medicine told a meeting of researchers here that the drug, andromedotoxin, already has been effective in lowering blood pressure in animals.

Expansion, Evaporation, Road Bumps Lose Gas

DETROIT (UP)—A full tank will lose some gasoline on curves and bumps, and on a hot day, will lose some by expansion says L. M. van Noppen, an official of an auto finance firm.

Even worse he says, is an almost empty fuel tank. This brings higher evaporation losses. The tank also will contain moist air which will condense and leave water in the tank.

Running out of gas can damage the fuel system. The last dregs of gas will take accumulated tank sediments into the system and can lead to an expensive cleaning job.

New Hospital Planned

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Grand Rapids Osteopathic Hospital Assn. Wednesday announced construction plans for a 78-bed hospital to replace outdated facilities now in use. Construction on the new hospital will start next week. The hospital will cost $712,000.

Latin America Staying Quiet

Government Officials Aren't Taking Sides on Guatemala War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most Latin-American governments have discreetly avoided taking any official stand on the Guatemalan War which exploded on their doorsteps last week. But many political leaders, newspapers and leftist student groups throughout the southern lands are busily fanning resentment against the United States.

Government leaders have generally adopted a wait-and-see attitude, apparently desiring to offend neither the United States nor the embattled regime of Leftist President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

There have been demonstrations against the United States in many of its southern neighbors since the war broke out, but most of them have been sparked by student groups which are traditionally leftist.

The general trend of official sentiment was reflected in Argentina, where President Juan D. Peron's majority bloc in Congress proposed that American Parliaments work together to bring peace and "economic independence" to Guatemala.

The proposal indicated Argentina plans to steer an officially neutral course. But the anti-Peron Radical party, which controls only 14 seats in the 158-member House, tendered its sympathies to the Arbenz government.

The governments of Chile and Uruguay refrained from taking a stand even though their Parliaments had voted through resolutions espousing the Arbenz cause.

The vote in Chile's Chamber of Deputies was 34-15, with the rest of 147 members abstaining. Foreign Minister Roberto Aldunate later told newsmen his government would not indulge in "lyric statements," but would express its views in international organizations "which know the problem."

Uruguayan government leaders also were close-mouthed, although their Colorado party fought hard in Parliament to defeat a resolution condemning "aggression in in Guatemala." Despite this opposition, the resolution was adopted—by two votes.

The government of Cuba—whose President Fulgencio Batista himself came to power on the tide of revolt—declined to make any comment. But earlier this week Ernesto de la Fe, a member of Batista's Cabinet, called on Cuba to recognize the insurgent government proclaimed by the Guatemalan rebel leader, Col. Carlos Castillo Armas.

$13.8 Million to Aid West Berlin Jobless

BONN, Germany (AP)—The United States has released 58 million marks ($13,804,000) to help relieve unemployment in isolated West Berlin.

Most of this will be used for public works projects, the Federal Economics Ministry said yesterday in announcing the grant.

Over 20,000 Berliners who are unable to find private employment are now working on such projects,

Fur Trading Days Recalled

Location of Fort Henry Site Raises History of Early Canada

WASHINGTON — Recent discovery of the lost site of Fort Henry in eastern Saskatchewan recalls Canada's "lords of the lakes and forests" and their adventurous struggles for control of the early fur trade.

The fort was named for the pioneer trader Alexander Henry, says the National Geographic Society. Henry, born in New Jersey in 1739, was one of the first to strike out for the fur wealth of the Canadian wilderness when it was opened up for independent exploitation after the British took over French holdings in the north.

Fort Henry was his headquarters. During his travels in the winter of 1775-76, the trader had joined forces with two other freelance enterprisers along the trails of inland Canada, the Frobisher brothers from Montreal. With them, he set up this operating base on Beaver Lake along the east-central border of what is now Saskatchewan Province.

Henry described it in his book on trading adventures as a series of "raised buildings round a quadrangle;" with "a formidable appearance."

Washington Irving called the Norwesters "the lords of the lakes and forests." The wealth they harvested was lordly, and so was the scope of the regions that yielded it. But the partners who made up the North West Company were no desk barons.

Many paddled the lonely rivers themselves and shot the turbulent rapids. Snowed in by northern winters, they waited in isolated cabins for dog-train supplies and for the welcome sight of Indian trappers bringing in piles of lustrous fresh-caught furs.

Some of the company's pioneers took the toilsome portage and water routes into western areas never before seen by whites. In 1789, Alexander Mackenzie left Fort Chipewyan in the heart of Canada to follow the river that would bear his name to its Arctic Ocean outlet. Later he led an expedition across the Rockies all the way to the Pacific.

Other famous names in the North West's saga of discovery were Simon Fraser, who explored the great river named for him, and David Thompson, the land geographer who mapped regions from the Great Lakes to the mouth of the Columbia River.

Discard Fish Provide Good Living for Youth

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UP) — A catfood plant that utilizes fish usually thrown away steered 20-year-old Raymond Davis away from engineering into the fishing industry.

Davis was ready to enter college to seek an engineering degree when he decided to buy a 50-foot boat and try his luck instead at fishing. He is paying for the boat and making $300 to $400 a month by hauling in the small croakers, menhaden and perch usually tossed back.

The small fish are processed as a catfood at a plant here. Davis is just one of several hundred Gulf Coast fishermen supplying the 35 tons gulped daily by the plant.

It is now believed by scientists that in the ice age four million square miles of the North American continent were covered by a layer of ice.

The six major farm crops of the Philippine islands are rice, corn, abaca (Manila hemp), coconut, sugar cane and tobacco, along with some minor crops.

The Borough of Queens consists of about 129 square miles and this approximately comprises almost 40 per cent of the area of New York City.

Kruger Park to Be Fenced

South African Game Preserve Has Million Animals at Large

WASHINGTON — Civilization is creeping up on South Africa's Kruger Park. The world's largest game reserve and open-air zoo must soon be fenced.

Settlers in the East Transvaal lowlands have asked the South African government to enclose the 8,000-square-mile sanctuary to prevent marauding beasts from trampling farmlands and destroying crops. As a result, part of a $1,400,000 appropriation for park improvement has been earmarked for erection of a sisal fence along the southern boundary.

Throughout Kruger Park's 5,000,000 acres, however, the estimated 1,000,000 animal inhabitants will continue to roam freely, says the National Geographic Society.

On palm-dotted plains and dense thornbush veld are found all the famous breeds of African big game—lions, elephans, leopards, buffaloes, giraffes, hippopotamuses and 18 varieties of antelope. Crystal-clear rivers swarm with crocodiles. More than 320 species of birdlife roost in the sycamore figs and fever trees.

Stretching for 210 miles along the northeastern Transvaal frontier, Kruger Park is South Africa's biggest tourist attraction. Almost 100,000 visitors toured the park in 1953.

Unlike animal residents, people are restricted in their movements within the sanctuary. Visitors may drive the 1,200 miles of roadway but cannot leave their cars except at certain specified points. Speed is limited to 10 miles per hour to protect jaywalking beasts so accustomed to automobiles that they virtually ignore them.

Visitors may traverse the park only by day. They may not leave its dozen rest camps after dusk. A force of 100 rangers patrols the reserve by car and on horseback, guarding the safety of humans and the well-being of the animals.

The huge game sanctuary is named for Paul Kruger, who initiated the project in 1898 when he was president of the independent South African Republic. Kruger feared hunting parties would denude South Africa of its rich store of animal life.

The process of melting glass in a ceramic container is compared by engineers to obtaining pure water by the application of heat to ice in a container which is composed of sugar.

Uncleared Aide to Probe CIA

Sen. McCarthy Puts Donald Surine on Job; Security OK Held Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Newspapers reported today that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) has assigned Donald Surin to a preliminary investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The papers said Surine does not have federal security clearance but Surine told a reporter in Washington a week ago that he did have security clearance.

Asked about the story that he had been assigned by McCarthy to investigate the CIA, Surine said in Washington: "I don't know anything about it." He declined to be drawn into a discussion.

Washington dispatches to the New York Times and New York Herald Tribune attributed the assignment and reported lack of security clearance of Surine to informed sources.

The Times, calling Surine "one of Sen. McCarthy's most controversial investigators," said he was "dropped from the rolls" of the FBI in 1950. The story added:

"A security clearance for him from the Defense Department, requested about a year ago by the (McCarthy) Senate Permanent subcommittee on investigations, has not yet been forthcoming.

"Word of Mr. Surine's assignment to the investigation of the CIA coincided with an inquiry by the subcommittee into the circumstances of his not being cleared to receive classified information.

"Past and present employes of the highly sensitive and supersecret CIA have reported that they have been approached in the last few months by Mr. Surine for information, Sen. McCarthy has broadcast an appeal to federal workers to provide him with information and documents even though the data are classified 'secret.'

"Mr. Surine's assignment may stir new controversy within the investigating subcommittee, where demands for his removal already are pending. . . "

The Herald Tribune said Surine has been engaged in an investigation of the CIA "for some time" and added that the subcommittee "is now looking into the circumstances under which Mr. Surine's clearance to handle classified documents has been held up by the Defense Department."

"It was understood," the Herald Tribune story continued, "that Mr. Surine's inquiries had reached the point where he had talked with CIA employes, but he was reported not to have made any official contacts with the super-secret worldwide intelligence agency."

Guatemala War Enters 7th Day

No Hint of Major Battle Seen as 'Liberators' Bog Down

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The Guatemalan War entered its seventh day today with most of the fighting still apparently raging over the propaganda airwaves and in the diplomatic arena. There was no indication of a major battle shaping up anywhere.

The anti-Communist "liberation army" seemingly was bogged down by lack of transport just north of the Honduran border. The army of Red-backed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman still had not made an appearance in force in the field.

* * *

There were these developments:

1. Seven persons were reported wounded, three gravly, when Honduran police fired on a Tegucigalpa crowd watching a pro-Arbenz, anti-U.S. demonstration by students in the Honduran capital last night. Later thousands of the students and townspeople gathered to parade through the city.

2. Honduras charged a Guatemalan airplane bombed a Honduran airfield Tuesday. The Tegucigalpa government said it is protesting to the United Nations and to the Organization of American States. U. N. sources in New York said last night the international organization had not yet received the protest, the third filed in connection with the fighting. Guatemala has entered two, one of which still is pending.

3. Guatemala promptly denied the bombing charge. Guatemalan Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello said in a statement "not a single Guatemalan plane has flown toward the Honduran frontier."

* * *

4. The OAS's Inter-American Peace Commission, meeting in Washington, referred to Guatemala a proposal by Honduras and Nicaragua that the five-nation body make an on-the-spot investigation of charges by the Arbenz government that the two neighboring republics supported "aggression" against Guatemala. Commission Chairman Luis Quintanilla of Mexico said he hoped the Guatemalan government would accept this "generous offer" promptly.

5. Niaragua formally denied it was guilty of any aggression. In a cable to the U. N. Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Oscar Sevilla Sacasa said the charges were intended to conceal the Communist affiliations of the Arbenz government.

6. A Guatemalan broadcast said President Arbenz has assured U.S. Ambassador John Peurifoy in Guatemala City the safety of U. S. citizens living in that country would be assured. There had been reports earlier that the embassy was planning to airlift out the nearly 1,200 Americans there.

Ike Opposes Hiss Pension

Hagerty Says New Law Banning Move Must Be Properly Drawn

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower opposes paying any government pension to Alger Hiss, and the agencies in his administration are mainly concerned that any legislative ban is properly drawn.

This was the apparent explanation from various official quarters today after James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, took exception to a number of news stories on the question.

Hiss, a former state department employe convicted of falsely stating he never passed secrets to a Communist spy ring, would be eligible under present law for a $700-a-year federal pension at age 62.

News accounts Tuesday reported the Civil Service Commission and the Budget Bureau felt the government must go through with retirement pay to federal employes even when they are imprisoned for criminal acts. Views of the two agencies were communicated to the House Civil Service Committee.

Two authors of bills to bar a pension to Hiss—Reps. Clardy (R-Mich) and St. George (R-NY)—used such terms as "inconceivable and "leaves me aghast" to describe their reactions to the agency communications.

Yesterday Hagerty said he was at a loss to understand how anyone could conclude that the administration is against legislation which would deny Hiss a pension.

"When I brought these stories to the attention of the President," Hagerty said, "he remarked that the existing law seemed unbelievable to one (Eisenhower) whose whole adult life had been spent under a (Army) system where retirement pensions were paid only for honorable service and where conviction of a felony resulted in a forfeiture of all pay and allowances, due or to become due."

"Yes," the press secretary replied when pressed as to whether Eisenhower personally opposed a pension for Hiss.

Break Ground for New Stores

25-Shop Center to Go on Woodward Between 13-Mile, Coolidge

ROYAL OAK—Ground was broken this week for a new 25-store shopping center on Woodward between 14-Mile road and Coolidge Highway.

To be known as Northwood Shopping Center, it will feature a free parking area capable of holding 1,500 cars.

Developed by Eugene Sloan and Bert L. Smokler, the center is scheduled to open in the fall of 1955.

"Northwood is a shopping facility engineered for an area in which virtually every family has a car and depends on it almost 100 per cent for transportation," says Sloan.

The multi-million dollar center is being constructed on the site of the old Parker farm, where one of the oldest houses in Oakland County stood until a year ago.

Focal point of the center will be the largest J. C. Penny department store in the Detroit area. Other tenants include Woolworth's, Kroger's, Kinsel Drugs, Fromm's Hardware, Pringle Furniture, Lerner Shops, Cotton Shop, Holiday-Flagg Shoes and Kinney Shoes.

Honduras Has Anti-U.S. Riot

Pro-Guatemala Student Demonstration Causes Injuries to Seven

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, (INS) — Honduran authorities were faced with their own internal troubles today following an anti-U. S., pro-Guatemala student demonstration in which at least seven persons were wounded last night in Tegucigalpa.

The lengthy and riotous demonstation protested alleged intervention in strife-torn Guatemala by the U.S., the United Fruit Company and the Honduran government.

The police opened fire on a crowd of about 1,000 persons who had gathered outside the medical-dental school of the National University in sympathy with the students' position.

The federation of students had planned early yesterday to demonstrate their "solidarity" with the government of pro-Communist Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

The government reportedly had asked the university student group to call off its rally. Four leaders of the federation were arrested in a further attempt to halt the demonstration.

The federation itself is avowedly anti-Communist, but the placards which the demonstrators carried bore slogans that followed the Communist line on the current anti-Red revolt against Arbenz.

One read: "North Americans, yes: Wall Street, no!" Another charged the U.S.-owned United Fruit Company with being the hidden hand in the "liberation" campaign in Guatemala.

The company's lands have been a chief target of the leftish Guatemalan land-reform program. A Communist-organized strike on the company's Honduran plantations has been in progress for weeks.

Hitler's General Given Three Years in Prison

TRAUNSTEIN, Germany (AP)—Lt. Gen. Theodor Toldsdorff, 44, Germany's youngest and most decorated general of World War II, was sentenced yesterday to 3½ years in prison for ordering a captain executed four days before Germany surrendered.

The captain was shot for putting up a Red Cross sign at the entrance to a Bavarian village to identify a hospital. Tolsdorff claimed the sign was a symbol of surrender.

Lathrup Asked for Water Plans

Resources Commission Orders City to Submit Data on Facilities

LANSING (UP)—The State Water Resources Commission Wednesday ordered the City of Lathrup Village in Oakland County to submit plans for development of facilities involving jurisdiction of the commission.

Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the commission, said the order was issued after Lathrup officials notified the commission at its monthly meeting Wednesday that the city plans to use facilities other than those provided by Southfield Township.

In other actions on appearances before the commission, a Flint potato processing plant, represented by Domonic Caramagno, was ordered to show cause for improper disposition of wastes. The matter was referred to the inter-county drain board.

The commission ordered six Upper Peninsula cities to appear before the July 6 meeting of the commission at Houghton to show cause for not submitting progress reports.

Adams said the cities, Munising, Manistique, Wakefield, Ironwood, Kingsford and Norway, will be referred to the attorney general's office for prosecution if they fail to make a report at the July 6 meeting.

The commission also declared Standish in default for not submitting progress reports and the matter was turned over to the attorney general's office.

Scientists Get Big Chance to Study Mars' Surface

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Someday, perhaps not in this century, man will explore space. Someday, when he cuts through the heavens like a celestial arrow, he will seek the red planet Mars.

No planet in the sky has excited the imagination as much as Mars because of one tantalizing question: Does it contain life?

Today Mars comes closer to earth than it has in 13 years. Today the two planets are only 40 million miles apart — a mere arm's length in the infinite distances of the universe. As Joseph M. Chamberlain, general manager and chief astronomer of the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium explains it: the earth, traveling in a smaller orbit than that of Mars, has caught up with the other planet in their race around the sun.

Look, then, for Mars burning redly in the southern skies from early evening until sunrise. Observatories and back yard astronomers everywhere will train their telescopes on the red planet tonight and in the summer nights immediately following, seeking answers to strange mysteries.

We definitely know several things about Mars. It's about half the size of earth, with an equatorial diameter of 4,200 miles. Its day lasts 24 hours and 37 minutes and its year 687 days with the seasons almost twice as long as ours. The surface gravity is only four tenths that of earth; thus a man who weighs 150 pounds here would weigh only 60 pounds out there. It's very cold on Mars with the average surface temperature about minue 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

Man's increasingly close scrutiny of Mars has come about, as Chamberlain says, because "of all our neighbor worlds, Mars most closely satisfies standards of climate and topography which might allow for a few familiar life forms."

It has absorbed astronomers since Galileo. But interest in it has greatly increased since 1877 when an Italian astronomer named Giovanni Schiaparelli sighted thin lines on the planet's surface. He called them "canali," meaning channels. Almost immediately the public thought it meant "canals" and interpreted them as artificial and therefore the work of intelligent life. Thus began the popular idea that there was life on Mars.

Many scientists see no reason to believe the canali are the work of intelligent beings, however. Rather, they say, the canali are the result of natural causes—fissure or volcanic cracks or glacial tracks. Other astronomers never have been able to see the canali and doubt their existence.

As Mars draws near earth, scientists will seek many missing parts in the jigsaw puzzle. They will study its weather conditions. They will try with radiometers to determine the amount of light and heat radiation from the planet. Spectrographs, which thus far have failed to detect any water vapor in the planet's atmosphere, will be employed again.

Yet even this intensive study of the Martian world is but a preliminary rehearsal to September 1956, when Mars will be only about 35 million miles from earth. Then mankind may be hearer the answers to the mysterious questions:

What lies under the surface of Mars? If there is not life as we now understand it, is it there in some earlier phase of evolution? Or is it possible that Mars contains the vestiges of a vanished civilization?

Truman Is Making Excellent Recovery

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman continued to show progress in recovering from an emergency operation but his doctor declined to estimate how much longer the 70-year-old former President will remain in the hospital.

Dr. Wallace Graham said last night that normally a post-operative patient would be in the hospital 10 days. Truman's gall bladder and appendix were removed last Sunday.

Truman was able to walk about his room at Research Hospital.

Mrs. Truman spent most of the day with her husband and visited him again in the evening.

Tweety Pie Dunked

TRUCKEE, Calif. (AP) — A blue parakeet, Tweety Pie, escaped Charles Kay and flitted downtown. Charles Kay and flited downtown. Spectators could not recapture the bird.

But Fire Chief N. F. Dooley drenched Tweety Pie with a small stream of water and the bird's wet feathers forced him to the sidewalk—unharmed.

Kidnap Mystery Finally Solved

Abducted Son Learns Identity After Father's Death

SPINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—A kidnap mystery dating back 42 years apparently was solved today by a telephone call from the victim now living in West Virginia.

Robert Thompson was only three years old when his father took him fromthe home of his mother here in 1912, a short time after his parents were divorced, and custody of their son given to the mother.

He was the object of a nationwide search at the time, but no trace of the child or his father ever was found.

* * *

The mystery was broken last night when Springfield police received a telephone call from a man who identified himself as Robert Wilson Pitman, 45, of Japonica Land, Woodrum Park, Charleston, W. Va.

"Pitman" told police that his father, whom he had known as "Wilson Ambrose Pitman" died recently, and that he learned of his true name and past history from newspaper clippings and other papers he found in his father's effects.

The West Virginia man reported that his father assumed the name of Pitman right after the abduction, and that until his father died, he thought that was his real name.

He telephoned police to ask them if his mother, Mrs. Rose Ethel Mason Thompson still was living.

* * *

Police located an aunt, Mrs. Rut Rawson, who said that the kidnaped boy's mother, now Mrs. Ros Tracy, of Jericho Center, Vt., is in a hospital at Burlington, Vt., following an eye operation.

Police said the West Virginia man said he will come here and go to Burlington to see the mother he never knew.

He is married and the father of two children, police said.

GOP Senate Aspirant Wants No McCarthy Aid

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)— Gov. Edwin Mechem, GOP candidate for U.S. senator, says if he has "anything to say about it" Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) won't campaign in New Mexico.

Mechem's declaration followed a Lincoln Day dinner statement yesterday from Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall that it will be up to each candidate to ask for McCarthy's help.

Mechem opposes Sen. Anderson (D-NM).

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles may not be giving their fans any better baseball than did the St. Louis Browns, but they offer more of it.

* * *

The Orioles and Boston Red Sox last night played 17 innings for four hours and 58 minutes like they were battling for the pennant instead of seventh place.

The marathon that ended two minutes before 1 a.m. was two innings longer than any played in either league this season and nine minutes longer than any game ever played in the American League.

* * *

The longest game by the clock in the junior league, incidentally, was played by the Browns with Cleveland two years ago. That was 19 innings. The longest game in baseball records was a 5¼ hour contest between Brooklyn and Boston in the National League in 1940 for 20 innings.

Managers Lou Boudreau of the Red Sox and Jimmy Dykes of the Orioles contributed to another record when they used 42 players, one more than the previous high for an extra-inning game.

Boudreau used 22 players, including Ted Williams as a pinch-hitter for the first time since June 5, and six pitchers. Dykes called on five hurlers. Fortunately, the teams are off today.

It was the second straight night the two league tailenders went overtime before reaching a decision. It took the Red Sox 12 innings to win Tuesday.

Last night's game ran right into an American League rule that no inning may start after 12:50 a.m. The curfew arrived during the 17th inning with the score tied, 7-7. The Orioles avoided a stalemate by scoring in their half of the inning to win on a close play at the plate. The run scored on an infield grounder with the bases loaded.

The Sox forced the overtime by scoring four times in the ninth inning.

* * *

The 24,843 fans got an extra thrill in the seventh inning when Williams strode to the plate with two out, the bases loaded, and the Orioles leading 4-2.

Williams had been out of action since June 5 with a virus infection that was close to pneumonia. After one called strike, Williams fouled out.

* * *

Williams also failed as a pinch-hitter in Baltimore on May 15 when he made his first appearance of 1954 after breaking his left shoulder in spring training. The next day he got eight hits in nine tries at Detroit.

Friday, he'll be in Chicago.

Democratic No-Hitter

Minority Party's Nine Beats Republicans 2-1

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democrats boasted the first no-hitter in Capitol Hill's "World Series" history today—but even so they were hard pressed to maintain their unbroken victory string over a fighting Republican nine.

* * *

The annual congressional baseball game went into its fifth and final inning last night with the GOP stalwarts out in front, 1-0, two out and nobody on base. Then came a Democratic rally that pulled it out.

* * *

* * *

Final score: 2-1, in favor of the Democrats who have yet to lose since the charity series started seven years ago.

Rep. Don (Fireball) Wheeler of Georgia was the hurling pride of the Democrats with a no-hit stint. The only run off him was unearned.

For the Republicans it was Rep. Glenn Davis of Wisconsin on the mound—and pitching steady three-hit ball until the roof fell in on him in the fifth frame.

A crowd of 4,000 watched the game, proceeds of which go to the Washington Evening Star's summer camp fund.

Tony Trabert Favored Over Wilson Today

Wimbledon Net Meet Continues Bleak for British

By TOM OCHILTREE

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — London schoolboy Bobby Wilson meets Cincinnati stylist Tony Trabert today in a third round Wimbledon match that has much of Britain's future tennis hopes riding on the outcome.

* * *

Nobody but his most enthusiastic followers thinks the 19-year-old English youth can eliminate Trabert. Every tennis fan in Britain hopes he will make a good showing.

* * *

Yesterday Wilson eliminated the top Brazilian player, Armando Vieira, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3. Aside from Wilson, this has been a bleak Wimbledon for the British.

Trabert yesterday defeated South Africa's Owen Williams 7-5, 6-2, 7-5.

In three days Wimbledon has yet to produce an upset. But no one expects this situation to continue much longer. Most of the outclassed players have been eliminated and from now on every match figures to be a battle.

Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., southpaw, goes against Philippe Washer of Belgium on the center court this afternoon in a match of contrasting styles.

Czech-born Jaroslav Drobny, playing out of Egypt, meets Sweden's Lennart Bergelin in another match that figures to be close but defending champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia should have too much power for M. A. Otway of New Zealand.

* * *

Today's program also features an all-American men's doubles match with Seixas and Trabert opposing Larsen and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Unlike the men, top American women players were expected to sail right through their opponents today. Second seeded Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., meets Miss J. F. Burke of New Zealand and defending champion Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., opposes Edda Buding of Argentina in the top matches.

WIMBLEDON WINNER — Defending champion Maureen Connolly breezed through her 2nd round match in the all-England tennis tournament at Wimbledon Wednesday by defeating Joan Scott of South Africa, 6-0, 6-3. In mixed doubles, Miss Connolly and Lewis Hoad of Australia defeated Stefan Stockenberg of Sweden and Mrs. Ingeborg Bogler of Germany, 6-1, 6-0, in the 2nd round.

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UP)—Defending champion Pat Lesser of Seattle university and medalist Marlene Gesell of the University of Minnesota today moved into the quarter finals in the Women's College Golf Tournament.

Miss Lesser defeated Barbara Norman of Miami of Ohio, 7 and 6, and Miss Gesell beat Judy Blicke of Ohio State 7 and 5 in the 1st round of match play Wednesday.

Only Barbara McIntire of Toledo University had trouble in her match Wednesday. Miss McIntire, 2nd in the qualifying rounds and one of the pre-tournament favorites, was even through 15 holes with Pat Reese of Stetson.

She finally won 2 and 1 after Miss Reese took a double bogey on the 16th and missed a two-foot putt on the 17th.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Duke Snider, Brooklyn Dodgers, drove in four runs and raised his league leading average to .376 with a single and a bases-loaded triple in Brooklyn's 6-3 victory over Cincinnati.

PITCHING—Harvey Haddix, St. Louis Cardinals, ran his victory string to 10 and his overall record to 12-3 with a 7-1 triumph over Pittsburgh. He extended his scoreless inning streak to 37 before it was broken in the sixth.

Birdie in Reverse

FALMBOROUGH HEAD, England, June 15 (AP)—A golfer experienced a new kind of birdie on the local links yesterday.

After he had hit to the 11th green, a seagull swooped down and gobbled up the ball. Then the bird flew off.

Birmingham, Berkley Hold Unbroken Legion Strings

By JACK SAYLOR

Birmingham's Reds and Berkley American Legion baseball teams kept unbeaten strings intact Wednesday night, each claiming their 4th straight victory in 18th District, Oakland County, league competition.

Larry Milford hurled the Reds to their 3rd consecutive shutout as he blanked Huron Valley Boys Club, 3-0, on 3 hits. Berkley went extra innings to down Clawson, 5-3. In the other contest, Waterford and Birmingham's Blues played to a 1-1 deadlock.

Milford fanned 7 and walked 2 in posting his 2nd win of the season. Jim Huber, the loser, whiffed 9, but was tagged for 7 hits. Birmingham scored 2 in the 5th on a walk, Kirk Flack's double and Milford's single, then Bill Watkinson's single and Tom Beck's double brought in an insurance tally in the 6th.

John Burkhart doubled in the winning runs in the 9th inning as Berkley broke a 3-3 tie for their win at Clawson. Skip Becker and Bob Blackwell limited Clawson to 4 hits.

Tom Bryce led off the Waterford-Blues game with a home run, but Dick Covera twirled shutout ball thereafter. Blues tied the score in the home half of the 1st on some spectacular running by Jim Traa.

Traa, a member of Birmingham High School's track team, beat out a bunt, then on successive pitches, stole 2nd, 3rd and home. Lefty Chuck Gillis pitched 4-hit ball and fanned 11 for Waterford, while Covera yielded 6 hits.

Outsider Wins Derby

DUBLIN, June 24 (AP)—Zarathustra, a 50-1 outsider, rompted to a length and a half victory in the Irish Derby at Curragh Wednesday and scored one of the biggest upsets of the Irish turf classic.

Hidalgo, an 8-1 shot, was second, and the odds-on favorite, Tale Of Two Cities, at 8-15, was half a length back in third place.

Another 'Miracle Team'?

Giants Answering Pre-Season Questions About Antonelli, Mays, Williams, Mueller

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Three months ago, when the official odds were 6-1 that the New York Giants would not win the National League pennant, several big questions remained to be answered about Leo Durocher's club, which had finished a dismal fifth last year.

* * *

Would Johnny Antonelli, obtained from Milwaukee, give the Giants the lefthanded ace they so badly needed and generally bolster a veteran pitching staff which was showing serious signs of wear?

* * *

Would Willie Mays, after nearly two years of Army food and second-class baseball, come back to play as brilliantly as he did in sparking the Giants '51 "miracle team" to a flag?

Those were the two main questions, though there also was some doubt that Davey Williams' chronic back trouble would permit him to play a steady second base, and Durocher would have liked to go into the race with some regular rightfielder other than Don Mueller.

* * *

Now that the answers are in and their team is tearing along at the head of the parade after a sensational three-week spurt, the Polo Grounds faithful can only kick themselves for not having foreseen the turn of events.

Antonelli, with his 9-2 record, finally is living up to the $75,000 bonus that the Boston Braves paid him to sign when he was fresh out of a Rochester, N.Y., high school.

* * *

As for Mays, the 23-year-old Negro from Alabama looks as though he had never been away. He is bigger and better in every way.

* * *

Williams' back is vastly improved and he is teaming solidly with Al Dark around second. Mueller is enjoying the best season of his career and has been up among the league's batting leaders ever since the race began. Leo no longer is looking for a right fielder. The only thing the Giants obviously lack is a hitting catcher, and Westrum didn't exactly hold them back in '51.

4-Team Fight Continues in City Softball League

The 1953 titlists were outhit 4-3 by Champagne-Velvet, but took advantage of four C-V errors to take a 5-0 triumph. Stadium Inn scored four runs in the 2nd inning on a combination of two hits, two errors, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Deadlocked at a half - game behind Stadium Inn are General Motors, Moose and Birmingham Riteway — all with 8-2 records.

Moose blanked Drive - In Cleaners 6-0 Wednesday as pitcher Billy Ryan fashioned a neat 3-hitter. Ryan fanned 12 and walked five. Birmingham stayed in the race with a 6-4 triumph over Milford Merchants in two extra innings. Riteway scored its winning runs in the 9th on three hits, a sacrifice and a walk.

Undefeated Giles Realty won its 5th straight game in Girls' League action, downing General Motors 11-5. Learie McCaughan paced the Giles' 10-hit attack with a home run and two singles in four trips.

Pontiac Driver Has Big Night at 59-Speedway

Benny Howell of Pontiac had his best night of the hard-top racing season at Pontiac M-59 Speedway Wednesday night.

Howell opened the program by winning the trophy dash and closed by taking the 25-lap feature race to jump well up among the leaders in the Land O'Lakes Racing Association point "derby."

Howell overtook Carm Ragatz of Waterford in the 21st lap of the feature and nipped Harman Wilcutt of Hazel Park at the finish line. Dick Price of Walled Lake won the semi-final and the 3rd heat race.

Other heat winners were Jimmy Hasselle, Glen Woodahl, Ray Nece and Dorris Sanders, while Joy Fair started in last place and won the Australian pursuit.

The special spectator's race, a 4-lap event, was won by Don Smith of Waterford. A total of 47 cars qualified for Wednesday night's program. Old-model stocks run Friday night, with the state championship 50-lapper slated Sunday evening.

Art of Boxing Has Seemingly Left Ring Game, but Fans Seem to Enjoy Marciano-Type Slugfests Best

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—Since the home run has stolen the glory of the stolen base and power has overshadowed speed and skill in baseball, the same idea has broken loose in boxing.

The slugger has taken charge of the popular dream. There were days when Jim Corbett and Gene Tunney were highly revered in the boxing game. Rocky Marciano has put a dent in what was once the "art of self defense."

* * *

Marciano is in no sense whatever a good boxer. As far as I can see I find no improvement in his boxing skill since I saw him first. He is the same as he was then. A crude walloper who can't be hurt but who in turn can hurt anyone he hits anywhere he hits him.

* * *

But the main point is this. Two of the Marciano melees I have seen, the 13-round bout against Wolcott and the recent title defense against Charles are two of the best fights, the most interesting fights, I ever saw.

The Jack Dempsey-Luis Firpo tornado was the biggest thrill I ever got, but it lasted only four minutes. The first Marciano-Walcott fight, which landed Rocky the title, lasted into the 13th round while the Marciano-Charles went the limit. This meant a total of approximately 84 minutes of entertainment and excitement.

Outside of one round there was much more action in Marciano's two main fights than there was in the Tunney-Dempsey wars, although Marciano can't be rated with either as a skilled workman.

"They don't," says the very smart Joe Benjamin, "know what fine boxer Dempsey was when he had his early speed. I know, for I've boxed with him often."

* * *

Rocky Marciano is strictly an elemental man. The human race is still close enough to the ape age to have much of the primeval left in its system.

There must be some element of suspense in any fight to make it worth looking at. You had this element with Jack Dempsey, especially in his younger days. You have it with Rocky Marciano from the first to the last round.

Stanky Expects Relief Pitchers to Decide Flag

See All but Pirates, Cubs Still Having Shot at NL Pennant

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — Eddie Stanky, the smart little hombre who manages the Cardinals, now figures that the bullpen pitchers will decide the National League race this year.

"You must remember that this is only June," said Eddie, "and the season is not yet half over.

"I figure the race still is wide-open, with the Giants, Dodgers, Phils, Braves, Reds and ourselves all in the picture." Asked if he thought the Giants could be a challenge to the Dodgers right down to the wire, Eddie replied "You're darn right I do. So will the rest of us.

"The bullpens will decide the winner. Right now we all need pitching. When the starters get knocked out, the club that comes in with some real good relief pitching will be the one to win."

If that is so, the Dodgers must be figured strong with fellows like Ben Wade, Erv Palica, Jim Hughes and Clem Labine all capable of fine work in relief roles.

"That's right," Eddie agreed, "but don't overlook the Giants. They also have some real good men in the bull pen."

Eddie's own pitching has been spotty but he says it will get straightened out and when it does the Cardinals will be sure to move.

Eddie is not discounting the chances of the Braves, Phils and Reds. The Braves certainly will be much stronger if they can get Bobby Thomson into the lineup for the last half of the season and a team that has such pitchers as Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons and Murry Dickson, as have the Phils, can't be ignored.

Tiger Tales

DETROIT (AP) — Overheard in Briggs Stadium:

Tiger lefty Ted Gray, who hasn't pitched since May 16, says the soreness has left his shoulder and he should be ready to hurl again in a few days.

"I've been pitching batting practice," said Gray. "My shoulder doesn't hurt anymore. I'll probably do some bull-pen duty within the next few days."

Irv Noren, Yankee outfielder, was still fuming over the play Tiger 2nd baseman Frank Bolling made against him in Tuesday's game. Bolling made a sparkling back-handed grab to toss out Noren in the 8th inning and snap his nine-game hitting streak.

"Some nerve that guy has," Noren says. "From now on every time he hits the ball to the outfield I'm going to get it. No more hits for Bolling this season."

Manager Fred Hutchinson of the Tigers isn't counting the Yanks out of the pennant race but he says Chicago and Cleveland have improved because of added bench strength.

"That's something those clubs didn't have last year," Hutch said. "It makes both of them stronger but I think Cleveland has a little the better of it."

Ned Garver (4-3) was named to face New York's Tom Morgan (4-1) in the windup of the three-game series today.

Babe Will Seek Third Women's Open Title

PEABODY, Mass., June 24 (AP)—Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias, who has won the event twice, definitely will tee off in the Women's Open golf championship at the Samel Country Club July 1-2-3, tournament officials announced today. The threesome of defending titlists, Betsy Rawls, Louise Suggs and Mrs. Zaharias actually have won six of the previous eight Women's Opens. The Babe's last victory in the event was in 1950.

Andrews Eyes Slade After TKO of Nardico

Tampa Battler Unable to Answer Bell for 4th Round of TV Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Confident Paul Andrews, a rangy ex-paratrooper with a stiff punch in either hand, today drew a bead on an Aug. 4 bout with spoiler Jimmy Slade after enhancing his lightheavy ranking here last night.

* * *

Andrews scored a fourth-round knockout over rugged Danny Nardico at the Chicago Stadium. The 24-year-old Andrews, ranked sixth as a 175 pounder, dropped Nardico for a nine-count in the third round and the Tampa, Fla., slugger was waved off as he tried to start the fourth.

* * *

There's a hitch in the Aug. 4 Andrews vs. Slade bout here because Slade, who recently untracked Hurricane Jackson has an injured hand. If Slade can't come up against Andrews, the Buffalo, N.Y. belter may meet the winner of a heavyweight bout between Jackson and Nino Valdes July 14 at Madison Square Garden.

* * *

Andrews might be classed as one of the bright "new faces" in the boxing game's heavy ranks. It was his 24th victory, the clear-cut TKO over Nardico.

Larrupin' Ted Fails to Hit in 'Pinch Role'

BALTIMORE, (AP) — Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger, returned to competition Wednesday after a second long layoff this season and failed to deliver as a pinch hitter.

* * *

Williams, out of action since June 5 with a virus infection of the lungs that was close to pneumonia, came on in the seventh inning with the bases loaded, two outs, and his team behind 4-2.

* * *

Dramatically taking vigorous practice swings at the plate, he looked at a called strike thrown by Joe Coleman and then fouled out to second baseman Bobby Young to a tremendous roar from the crowd of 24,843.

Low-Hit Games Still in Style in Junior Loop

Lytell-Colegrove drubbed Doris Skating Rink, 26-2, as Lytell's backed Barry Fell's 2-hit pitching with a 19-hit assault. Fell fanned 16 and walked three. Dick Eldred collected 4 hits for the winners, while Tom Healy, Louie Fitzgerald and Jim Attard had 3 apiece.

Dave Kives and Don Coons set the Mets down with 4 hits as Pontiac Police won an 8-4 decision. Kives whiffed 10 in the 6 innings he worked.

No games were scheduled in Class E, but a pair of 3-hitters were registered in Class F. Bill Willis and Darrell Lovell combined to give Welden's a 3-hit, 6-3 triumph over Avondale. Lovell also had 3 hits himself.

Honchell's 3-hitter was a shutout as Boys Club blanked Lunsford Market, 5-0. Skinner hit a 3-run homer for the Boys Clubbers in the 3rd inning.

Kn the Knothole loop, Tom Murphy and Ron Klasse teamed up on 1-hitter as the Whitfield Cubs whipped Team 11, 12-2. Murphy and Bob Elliot had 3 hits each for Whitfield. Lynn Johnson stopped Team 9 with 3 hits as Dick & Wes took a 12-6 verdict. Dan Kimmel had 3 hits, including a homer for the winners.

Bengal Hurler Loses Control, Bows to Yanks

Ralph Branca Charged With Loss as NY Nine Evens Series

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — The bugaboo of Briggs Stadium still haunts Billy Hoeft.

The 22-year-old southpaw of the Detroit Tigers pitches well in enemy territory. But when he takes the mound before the home folks, it's another story.

Take yesterday, for instance. Hoeft started against the Yankees, whom he had twice shut out in New York on one hit and two hits.

Billy the Kid went fine until the 5th when, for no apparent reason, he lost control. He filled the bases with walks and was removed from the game. Yankees went on to take a 9-4 victory to even the three-game series at one game apiece.

Hoeft wasn't charged with the loss (Ralph Branca was) but it was just as frustrating for the youngster from Oshkosh, Wis.

It was Hoeft's 7th start in Briggs Stadium. He has failed to win, losing four times. He wasn't involved in the decision on three other occasions.

This is Hoeft's 3rd season in the big leagues. Yet, in that time he has won only three games in Briggs stadium—an average of one a year. That's no way to impress Tiger fans, who, after all, are the ones who pay Hoeft's salary.

Strangely, however, Hoeft has never been booed in Briggs Stadium. Which is a compliment to the fans. They undoubtedly realize he is inexperienced and has the promise of becoming one of the games outstanding stars. So why ruin him with boos?

It took Hal Newhouser five years before he became a big-time winner.

When Hoeft left, the Tiger pitching fell completely to pieces. Branca gave up a two-run double to Gil McDougald, who tied the score 3-3 in the 5th. Yankees scored four more times in the 6th, with McDougald driving across two more runs with another double.

Whitey Ford, who has never lost to Detroit, was the winner. He replaced scrambling Jim McDonald at the start of the 5th and posted his 6th victory of the season against four losses. He has a perfect 4-0 lifetime mark against the Tigers.

Haddix Unruffled by Loss of Shutout Skein

By GIB STALEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Harvey Haddix, St.Louis Cardinal southpaw who's leading the majors with 12 victories, said today he isn't disappointed because he lost his bid for a fourth consecutive shutout by an eyelash.

* * *

"I just want to win 'em all," Haddix said after his sparkling 7-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates last night. "No, I'm not disappointed I didn't get another shutout. We won, didn't we? That's all the Cardinals want, just to win."

Haddix allowed only five hits to the last-place Pirates as he hurled his 10th consecutive victory. It was a particularly pleasing win for Haddix because the last time he was defeated, his third of the season, was by the Pirates April 29. On that occasion the lowly Bucs nipped the Cards 4-3 on a two-run ninth inning single by Dick Cole.

* * *

Haddix was rolling along in fine style last night, having given up only two hits until the tormenting Cole came up in the sixth. The Buc infielder fouled off a pitch, then sent a drive to rightfield that went for a triple. A moment later he scored on an infield out to mark the first run tallied against Haddix in 37 consecutive innings.

With Cole's hit went Haddix' chances of beating the record of 46⅓ consecutive scoreless innings set by Carl Hubbell, ex-New York Giant pitcher. And the bingle kept Haddix from trying to tie the National League record of four consecutive shutouts held by several pitchers.

* * *

The clever southpaw led the National League in shutouts last season, hurling six while compiling a 20-9 mark. Asked if he hoped to win 20 or more again this season, he grinned and replied: "Well, now, I never predict, but I hope, I sure hope. I think I had a 10-3 mark around the time of the All-Star game last season. I don't know how many I'll win this year but I sure hope I don't lose many more."

Haddix has beaten every team in the league. Pittsburgh has been his victim three times and he's won two apiece from Cincinnati and Milwaukee and Philadelphia. Chicago, Brooklyn and New York each have lost once to him.

Janowicz May Turn to Pro Grid Game

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH, June 24 (AP) — Catcher Vic Janowicz, tired of warming the bench for the tailend Pittsburgh Pirates, said today he is giving serious thought to playing professional football.

Janowicz, a triple threat halfback at Ohio State and former All-America, signed for a reported $25,000 bonus with the Pirates in 1953.

"But you can see for yourself I'm not getting anywhere playing professional baseball," said the Elyria, Ohio, native. "I love baseball better than football but apparently I'm not making the grade."

Winter Sports Growing

BOYNE FALLS, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's winter sports center operators say they are planning considerable expansion in 1955. Six clubs catering to the winter sportsman say they will add at least a dozen ski runs, more power tows and provisions for night skiing.

Cromwell Sees Even Lower Mile Record

LOS ANGELES, June 21 (AP) — Dean Cromwell, coach of the 1948 American Olympic track team, said today he was not surprised at John Landy's 3:58 record mile at Turku, Finland.

Further, he said, the Australian runner and Wes Santee of Kansas both were capable of bringing the mark down even more, and that Santee eventually would run the mile in 3:56.

Handicap May Have Helped

Ed Furgol's Victory in National Open Won't Alter Concepts of the Swing

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—"How in the world did he do it?" golf fans asked after Ed Furgol, with a withered left arm, won the National Open championship, the sport's greatest prize, at Baltusrol last week-end.

"It will force the re-writing of all golf instructional manuals," remarked one authority, recalling that one of the basic fundamentals of the highly-specialized golf swing is a straight left arm.

Because of a childhood accident, Furgol's left arm is bent at a near 45-degree angle and permanently locked at the elbow. It is 10 inches shorter than his right.

* * *

But Furgol's victory in the Open, amazing as it was in view of the handicap, will not radically alter established concepts of the swing.

"The golf swing is a matter of whipping the club-head through the ball with the hands," Furgol said. "It is a tigerish lash which gives it distance.

"The left hand is the guiding hand. The right hand gives it the power, with proper bodily coordination. You have to give the ball a belt with the right hand."

"The course was made for Ed," said Ford. "It was a driving course requiring distance and straightness. Furgol could give the ball a whale of a wallop with his right hand and didn't have to worry about his rigid left arm throwing the drive out of line."

He rates with the longest drivers in golf, his iron game is very sound and his putting, by his own admission, is the weakest link in his game. He's not a "strong" putter.

* * *

Furgol's course behavior in many respects is like that of Hogan. He is deadly serious, plotting every shot like a methodical tailor making a cloak of defeat for the opposition.

John Matsock Is Named MSC Baseball Captain

EAST LANSING (AP)—John Matsock, Detroit junior, today had been chosen 1955 captain of the Michigan State College baseball team and received the most valuable player trophy for the 1954 season.

Matsock, a reserve quarterback on the MSC football team, nosed out Charlie Mathews of Rosebush for the most valuable baseball player award on a mathematical formula which gives credit for reaching base in any way.

In addition, it was announced in Omaha, Nebr., that Spartan Tom Yewcic was voted the "most valuable" player of the recent college world series won by Missouri.

Led Tartar Batters

Third baseman John Galeas nabbed hitting honors for Wayne University's baseball squad this season with a .340 average in 14 games. Galeas collected 17 hits in 50 times at bat. Runnerup was pitcher Paul Zdeb who won three and lost none, who hit .333 in nine games.

Braves' Dave Jolly Saves Game in Relief

"STRIKING" YOUNG MAN — With three shutouts in a row to his credit, young Harvey Haddix of the St. Louis Cardinals is one of the most respected pitchers in any league. He has won 12 so far this season. He was a 20 game winner in 1953—and seems to be on his way to collecting more laurels as the season progresses. Close looks at Harvey's fast ball grip (left) and knuckle ball grip (right) might provide hopeful moundmen with some of a hurler's secrets.

Tribe, Dodgers Look Like Best Bets for Pennant

Chisox, Yanks Pushing Cleveland; Four Teams Threaten Brooklyn

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — Both major leagues are getting fairly well shaken down as they head for the traditional half-way mark on July 4.

The Indians, White Sox and Yanks are up where they figured to be when the season opened with the rest battling for what is left.

The clubs are running pretty much to form in the National. Giants, Dodgers, Braves, Phils and Cardinals figured to battle from wire to wire and undoubtedly they will.

The Reds and Cubs still are good enough to beat any club on a given day but both need pitching. The Pirates, of course, are rather hopeless.

In the American, the Indians look like the best bet. They have power, pitching and experience. If they could win, as they did, without Al Rosen, their biggest siege gun, there is no reason to suppose they will grow weaker with him swinging from the heels.

The White Sox have ambition, speed and pitching, but they lack power. The Yanks are operating on the patch - work system. Casey Stengel has been juggling his men like a circus performer, but they always will be dangerous.

As of today, the Indians and Dodgers would seem to have a slight bulge on the rest for the long pull. But they can afford no slips or let-downs because most of the others are still pennant hungry.

Milwaukee Nine Registers 5-2 Win Over N.Y.

Victory Helps Dodgers Cut Giants' Lead to Single Game

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

Depending on where you hail from, "jolly good" may sound like English slang or phoney Indian talk. But around the tribal councils of the Milwaukee Braves it means it's a good thing Jolly's good.

Dave Jolly is the Braves' "saver," the pitcher who gets the call when the going is the toughest.

* * *

In 36 innings Jolly has given up only 23 hits and 4 earned runs for a sparkling earned run average of 1.00. His personal record shows four victories and two defeats. One of his most spectacular performances won't appear on his won and lost totals.

This came yesterday in Milwaukee's 5-2 triumph over the fast-moving, first-place New York Giants.

Jim (no-hit) Wilson sailed into the last of the ninth with a three run edge en route to his fourth straight victory. But the Giants, who think they own the copyright on Frank Merriwell finishes, got rid of Wilson with successive singles by Monte Irvin and Don Mueller.

With the dangerous Willie Mays at bat, Jolly strolled to the rescue. He worked the count to 2-2 on Mays, who had homered earlier, before hitting him in the back to fill the bases.

Then Jolly applied the pressure. Pinch hitter Hank Thompson lofted a short fly. Wes Westrum fouled out. And Bobby Hofman, who has hit three pinch-hit home runs this season, popped up in front of the plate.

Brooklyn took advantage of Milwaukee's success and cut the Giants' margin to a single game by beating Cincinnati 6-3. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-1 as Harvey Haddix won his 12th game. Philadelphia whipped Chicago 5-3.

In the American League Cleveland tripped Philadelphia 5-2, Chicago outlasted Washington 8-6.

* * *

New York defeated Detroit 9-4 and Baltimore broke its 9-game losing streak, shading Boston 8-7 in a 17-inning marathon that ran 4 hours 58 minutes, the longest game ever played in the American League and one minute short of the longest night game in major league history.

* * *

Cleveland stayed three games in front of the White Sox atop the American League with the help of a home run attack against the Athletics. Homers by Larry Doby, Al Rosen and pitcher Bob Lemon accounted for all of the Indian runs. The victory was Lemon's ninth.

Chicago wasted a five-run first inning lead but finally beat Washington on Sherm Lollar's two-run pinch-hit single in the sixth.

Horses Have Excuses

SACRAMENTO, Calif (AP) — To horse players: Ever wonder why the favorite you bet on didn't win? Clive Becker, general manager of Del Mar race track, gave one reason while testifying at a hearing on race operations. He said horses sometimes become ill and just don't feel like running.

Rich Oaks Race May Have Bearing on Filly Crown

WILMINGTON, Del., June 24 (AP) —The 16th running of Saturday's $47,000 Delaware Oaks may have a strong bearing on the 1954 three-year-old filly championship.

* * *

There's a possibility that, for the first time, some filly will prove capable of winning the mile and a furlong Oaks, and the mile and a quarter $100,000 New Castle Handicap here July 5.

* * *

Of the 79 New Castle nominees this year, 39 are sophomores, and 19 are eligible for both rich stakes. Of the 16 previous New Castle winners, five were three-year-olds, including champion Grecian Queen last season. Two fillies have won the Oaks and New Castle at ages three and four—Kiss Me Kate (1951 and '52) and Plucky Maud (1944 and '45). But it remains for one to score an Oaks-New Castle double.

The younger members of the distaff division will have some formidable mares to tackle on July 5. Among thte older horses expected to go in the big one are Sunshine Nell, La Corredora, Atalanta, Spinning Top, Carry the News, Gainsboro Girl, La Perouse and possibly Arab Actress.

Mrs. George S. Widener's Evening Out, 1953 juvenile filly champion, was not named for the Oaks, but looms as one of the better prospects for the New Castle. Allie Reuben, owner of Queen Hopeful, confirmed that his filly will not be shipped east.

* * *

The leading Oaks candidates, also eligible for the New Castle, are Cherokee Rose, the coaching club American Oaks Heroine; Open Sesame, second in the coaching club; Riverina; O'Alison; Indian Legend; Parlo, Rain, and Small Favor.

Laminated Bat Given Place in Hall of Fame

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The laminated bat, adopted for professional baseball this season, is being given a place in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Joe Engle, president of the Southern Assn. Class AA Chattanooga Lookouts and head of a bat company, said one of the three-piece bats was requested by the hall's director, Sid Keener.

Bolt Kills Golfer

BOSTON, June 24 (AP)—Lightning killed a golfer and injured his caddy at Hingham's South Shore Country Club Wednesday.

Muskrat Trapping Behind 1952 Take

LANSING (AP) — Compilation of trappers' report cards indicated today that the take of muskrats last winter dropped off 30 per cent from the previous year.

Most recent harvest was estimated at 515,000. About 15,500 trapping licenses were sold and practically all licensees trapped muskrats, the conservation department said.

14th 'Theft' for Bruton

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Bruton, Milwaukee's swift-footed outfielder, stole his 14th base against the Giants yesterday and holds a clear edge in this department in the major leagues. Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox is next-best with 10 steals.

Indian Sign Still OK

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Bob Lemon has the Indian sign on the Philadelphia Athletics. The veteran hurler beat the A's 5-2 yesterday for his 22nd lifetime victory over the club. He's lost only six times to the A's.

Dick Wynn 12, of Adrian, Mich., is mighty proud of himself. He shot a 63 to beat the great Ben Hogan in the international "Beat Ben Hogan" tournament. Dick's handicap: 12.

Tight Hurling Again Features City 'A' Play

Russ Lothery Pitches 2-Hitter as Jets Trip Unionmen

Tight pitching continued to be the rule in City Class A Baseball League play yesterday as Pontiac Jets downed CIO No. 594, 3-1, behind the 2-hit hurling of Russ Lothery.

CIO scored its only run in the 5th, when Fred Goyette drew a base on balls, advanced on an infield error and came home on Paul Osika's single.

Jets pushed across two runs in the 2nd. J. C. Jenkins rapped a single, stole 2nd and scored on Gene Cox' double. Cox moved to 3rd on Hurston Avery's outfield fly and crossed the plate with the winning run on Harry Austin's sacrifice.

Jets added an insurance tally in the 4th, when Don Russell tripled with Austin on base. Russell fell victim to the old "hidden ball" trick and was tagged out by Goyette.

Bolero 1st to Finish in Sail Boat Race

The sleek black-hulled 73-foot yawl, skippered by John Nicholas Brown, crossed the finish line at St. Davids head at approximately 1:54 a.m. (EST) after signalling her sail number, 134, in Morse code to the Royal Naval frigate, Cygnet.

W. H. Wheeler's yawl, Cotton Blossom IV, crossed the finish line second, but had the misfortune to lose time to the Bolero as the wind left her completely half a mile from the line. She lost approximately 3½ minutes to the Bolero.

Wins on No-Hitter

TIFTON, Ga. (AP)—Tony Sarmiento pitched a no-hitter last night as Tifton blanked Americus-Cordele 10-0 in a Georgia-Florida League game.

The Tifton hurler struck out eight and allowed seven walks in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader. Americus-Cordele, defeated once before this year in a no-hit game, left four on base.

Americus-Cordele is in the cellar of the Class D League.

THE HIGH-LEVEL SQUINT

thinks he knows the forest—but has never met a tree

The SQUINT is an advertising executive who prefers to float above the rough-and-tumble of selling.

And his favorite art is a silhouette — because it has no highlights and shadows.

Fortunately the SQUINT is a rare creature. Most ad-men adapt their advertising to meet the problems of sales — and sales problems vary.

They know that one town may buy twice as many girdles or puddings or toothpaste as another town — even though incomes are equal . . .

tastes are different, and people are different!

So most advertisers concentrate their advertising in areas that pay — instead of spending loftily in across-the-board campaigns.

Their "national" advertising starts at the local level — in newspapers!

Schary Signs Robert Ryan for Mean Role

By LUELLA O. PARSONS
(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I don't know whether Dore Schary saw Robert Ryan in "About Mrs. Leslie" or not before he telephoned Bob in New York—but if the boss of MGM did see Bob, I can understand his enthusiasm. Ryan's just great with Shirley Booth.

But the picture Schary sealed with Bob is the co-starring lead with Spencer Tracy in "Bad Day at Black Rock." Even though it's a meanie role, Ryan said he'd finish up his personal appearance stint in time to start the picture with Spenc.

Tracy has been rumored as going into this picture and that—but he's now sold on the new script of "Bad Day" after a complete rewrite job. Another angle which might have cinched both Spenc and Ryan is that the movie will be under the personal supervision of Schary.

Saturday Gary Crosby will be 21 years old and he can write his own ticket in the way of a TV or radio contract. He's had offers from many of the big companies.

Gary says he has no plans to wed Barbara Stanislaus, as reported, and he told his father he won't give marriage a serious thought for the next five years. This pleased Bing very much.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The late George Bernard Shaw's famous home, Shaw's Corner, will be rented. Among the 20 applicants considered as a tenant by the National Trust is Richard Greene. He was one of the first to put in a bid.

After the trade showing of Harriet Parsons' picture, "Susan Slept Here," we went to the Brown Derby. Eddie Fisher, who showed up at the theatre to see his girl friend, Debie Reynolds, joined us later at the Derby.

He told me he had changed his program quite a bit at the Cocoanut Grove. I asked him how he liked Debie, and he said he thought she was wonderful. Well, don't we all—but no better than Dick Powell.

In the early days of railroads the locomotives were looked upon with suspicion because many people believed they would travel faster than the human body could safely stand.

SOMETHING SPECIAL — Julia Adams, who will play the role of a WAC captain in her next film, "Francis Joins the WACs," displays something a little special in wardrobing not included in her captain's kit. Miss Adams' curves will be covered according to Army regulations in her forthcoming film.

10,000 Are Idled at Great Lakes

Trouble at Steel Plant Starts as 3 Refuse to Do Assigned Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — The Great Lakes Steel Corp. plant in suburban Ecorse was ringed by pickets and 10,000 workers were idled today after two disputes resulting in the suspension of 14 employes yesterday.

Two of the suspended employes are representatives of Local 1299 of the CIO United Steel Workers of America.

Paul Carnahan, president of the steel firm, said the strike was an "outgrowth of two illegal work stoppages." Union district representative Thomas Shane fired a reply which accused Great Lakes of attempting to provoke trouble.

Shane said he was certain "the company's discharge of 14 persons within 24 hours preceding a resumption of negotiations yesterday is a definite move to try to provoke a work stoppage."

The plant is a major steel supplier for automobile manufacture and has been operating at 75 per cent of capacity for several months.

Carnahan issued a prepared statement describing the two incidents which led to the walkout.

One incident, the statement said, involved a refusal by three employes to accept assigned jobs on the grounds they were physically unable to do the work.

Carnahan's statement said a supervisor's orders for the men to report for a physical examination at the plant medical station also were refused. This refusal led to a five-day suspension after which the men are subject to discharge.

The second incident, Carnahan said, occurred in the firm's slab yard where six men allegedly refused to change a motor on a train.

About 60 per cent of the general adult population needs glasses but only about 30 per cent are wearing them.

Widow Drowns Sorrow by Working 20 Hours Daily

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Gray-haired Mrs. Addie Delaney means it when she says, "I like to keep busy." The 65-year-old widow of Mason, Tenn. puts in about 150 working hours each week.

Neighbors call Mrs. Delaney "the workingest woman in the United States." She works more hours in one week than many persons do in a month. Her average work day is 20 and one-half hours.

Her work day begins at 5:30 am. five days a week and ends at 2 a.m. The other two days, Saturday and Sunday, she doesn't even go to bed. She just keeps working until it's time for the next day's work to begin.

Mrs. Delaney delivers a morning and evening newspaper each day, does housework, sews for the public, raises chickens, works four gardens, makes all her own clothes and the clothes for two foster grandchildren.

She also cleans up a theater each night after it closes and that's why she doesn't sleep on weekends. Ordinarily, the theater work is over in time for her to get to bed by 2 a.m., but on weekends the crowds are big and cleaning takes longer.

So by the time she finishes cleaning the theater on Saturday and Sunday night, it's time for the next day's chores.

Mrs. Delaney keeps on the go just looking after those four gardens, which are scattered around town.

Although she has no children of her own, Mrs. Delaney still has a "family" to keep house for—Mr. and Mrs. Flautt True and their two children. True became a foster son of the Delaneys when he was 14.

She found work a good antidote for sorrow.

"I've lost all my family," she said. "My husband, my father and mother, my two brothers—all gone. I buried my mother and a brother within 12 days of each other and my husband only 10 months later.

"I just had to keep busy to keep my mind off my trouble."

Mrs. Delaney said she's the type who can get along on little sleep but she's about decided that her schedule of three and one-half hours sleep five nights a week and no sleep the other two nights is a little too tough.

"I've been going it like this for over three years," she said, "and I believe it is beginning to tell on me a little. I think I'm going to have to slow down some—maybe to 16 or 17 hours."

8,000-Mile Trips for Busy Nurse

Woman Also Working as Airplane Mechanic in Alaska

WASHINGTON (UP) — When Edna C. Thompson, a nurse in Anchorage, Alaska, visits patients, she may travel as much as 8,000 miles.

And nursing is only her "spare time" job.

Miss Thompson is an employe of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and works at an airplane hanger where she covers plane wings, sews upholstery, and enjoys some reputation as a light mechanic. Upon occasion she has pitched in with the clerical work at the Anchorage field.

But as a registered nurse, Miss Thompson is constantly "on call." On call might involve hopping a cargo plane to attend a sick child or officiate at births at any one of the remote CAA communications stations along an 8,000-mile air circuit.

Miss Thompson went to Alaska in 1940, assigned to the Kodiak hospital. A year later she moved to Anchorage and has been employed by the CAA there since 1945.

The secretary of commerce recently awarded Miss Thompson a silver medal for meritorious service with a citation "for unusual competence in emergency involving the welfare of Civil Aeronautics Administration employees and their families in isolated stations in Alaska, often at great personal sacrifice."

Honeybees Prove Too Softheaded

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UP)—Central Oregon alfalfa growers are encouraging propagation of large colonies of wild bumblebees because they have harder heads than honey bees.

The alfalfa blossoms contain a tiny spring-trap. When the bee digs down for nectar a trigger is released and the bee gets bopped on the head. To the soft-headed honeybee the blow is painful. So, after a few bops on the head the honeybee avoids the alfalfa fields, the blossoms are not pollinated and the seed crop suffers.

To find a new pollinating agent, Dr. William P. Stephen, Oregon State College entomologist has begun a study of the propagation of bumblebees. The bumblebee, Dr. Stephen says, has a hard head and probably wouldn't mind the knocks it would take from alfalfa blossoms.

Bumblebees have become nearly extinct in central Oregon because of land clearing and use of insecticides. But the farmer's hope the bumblebee can be encouraged to take up residence in the area once again so the alfalfa blossoms can play a new kind of bee-bop.

Country's Largest City Wants No Police Bullies

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city wants no "Bullies" on its 19,000-man police force. Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams warned 200 trainees against assuming a "chesty" or "tough guy" attitude.

Citizens, he said, will "comply readily with your firm and good-natured directions" but "as readily resent arbitrary and discourteous actions."

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The driver left an accident scene even though a front wheel had been knocked off his car. Police tracked him by marks left on the pavement by the dragging front spring and axle of his 1946 car. He pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and paid a $50 fine and costs.

Grains Show Little Change

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains held within a very narrow price range on the Board of Trade today with only the kuly soybean showing much change from the previous close. It declined.

Once again wheat appeared to be subjected to very mild hedging pressure at the opening and once again this type of selling quickly dried up. Traders viewed pressure which the market has met so far in the harvest as proof most wheat was going into storage.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ lower to ⅝ higher, July $1.93⅝, corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, July $1.57, oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, July 72⅛, rye unchanged to ¼ higher, July $1.01½, suybeans 3¾ lower to ½ higher, July $3.83½ and lard unchanged to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $16.10.

Flint Police Nab Holdup Suspects

2 Pontiac Men, Youth Caught at Roadblock on U.S.-10

Two Pontiac men and a Waterford Township juvenile are in custody of Flint Police today on armed robbery charges in connection with a Flint gas station robbery last night.

George L. Bonilla, 24, of 84 W. Huron St., Lewis G. Norman, 26, of 35 Lorraine Ct., and the 16-year-old juvenile were arrested by Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post at a roadblock at U.S.10 and M15 about 4 a.m.

The three are accused of taking $70 at gun point from a gas station on Dort highway at about 3 a.m. When the gunmen's car stalled at the station, one man drew a gun on an unknown Flint citizen and forced him to push the car to get it started.

A license number, matching the one on Bonilla's car, was obtained and police in Oakland County were alerted. Troopers Joseph Kendzierski and Gerald Tafel forced the men to stop at the roadblock with a sawed-off shotgun. Later the troopers found an antomatic pistol on the ground in the area where they stopped the trio.

Pontiac Police said the juvenile was arrested Saturday night on a drunk and disorderly charge and later paid a $50 fine after pleading guilty.

Flint police have scheduled a "lineup" today of the three for purposes of identification by the Flint gas station attendant.

Search Is Pressed for Missing Youth

Oakland County sheriff's deputies took to the air yesterday in a continuation of their search for a 16-year-old Harper Woods youth missing since June 13.

A three - hour air search of the Stoney Lake area by Undersheriff Donald O. Menzies and Detectives Mahlon France and David Brann, failed to furnish any clues to the whereabouts of Ernest Lacasse of 20666 Hollywood, who was last seen entering the lake in his bathing suit.

Detectives are awaiting inquiries to New York State authorities on the chance that the boy may have traveled there to visit friends.

Owosso Plans Parking

OWOSSO (AP)—Owosso's city commission has given informal approval to a proposal to issue $300,000 in revenue bonds to finance a long-range off-street parking program. The plan calls for meters to be installed in the lots and the entire bond issue to be retired from the proceeds.

Reports Flood Damage

JACKSON (AP)—Reports on flood damaage to 1,500 acres along the Portage River have been prepared for submission to Gov. Williams for forwarding to Washington. More than eight inches of rain reportedly fell in the area in a seven-day period, covering onion, peppermint, sugar beet and potato fields.

Four Hands on Wheel Don't Increase Safety

SACRAMENTO (UP)—California highway patrolmen faced a tough decision after they stopped a weaving automobile recently.

The patrolmen said that when they stopped the car they found four hands on the steering wheel as two men argued about which was sober enough to drive.

Stocks Climb This Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP)—Broad demand sent the stock market ahead today with prices at the best in the early afternoon.

Gains going to between 1 and 2 points were frequent in key areas of the list. Some sections were backward, but their losses never were more than fractional.

Trading was fast with the pace well past the two million mark. Yesterday's total was 2,090,000 shares with the market rising.

The steels were steady and the motors were a shade lower as a group. Others were quietly mixed or steady.

General Electric, yesterday's most active issue, flashed ahead strongly today after opening on 5,000 shares up ¼ at 45⅝. Activity in the radio-televisions sections was paced by Radio Corp. which was strong after opening on 6,000 shares up ¼ at 29⅜.

Also higher were Motorola, Westinghouse Electric, General Dynamics, Texas Pacific Coal & Oil, Boeing, American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, and Johns-Manville.

Discovers Absenteeism Often Due to Boredom

OMAHA (AP) — When a fellow doesn't show up for work is he sick—or just bored?

Dr. Kieffer D. Davis, medical director of an oil firm says it's a good bet he's just bored.

"When a person dislikes his job, or finds it monotonous, he'll find reasons to stay away even if he has to feign illness," he says.

X-Ray Units to Tour City

Mobile Vans Will Give Neighborhood Service Friday, Monday

Mobile chest X-ray vans will tour Pontiac neighborhoods Friday and Monday to make the tuberculosis detection service handier for people who don't work downtown.

"We hope to reach more women, especially those between 30 and 40, where we find the highest tuberculosis rate," A. R. Musson, secretary of Oakland County Tuberculosis Assn., explained. "But we urge everybody over 15 years old to take the checkup."

The X rays, given free of charge, take only a few minutes and call for no undressing.

One X-ray unit will park Friday at Perry St. and Glenwood Ave.; the other, at the Pontiac Naval Reserve Center, 469 East Blvd. Hours are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Friday.

An X-ray van will visit the west side Monday at Emmanuel Baptist Church, Telegraph and Orchard Lake Rds. The south side Tuesday at Lakeside Homes Community Building. Hours are noon until 8 p.m.

Musson said 7,929 people have visited the two mobile X-ray labs in the 10 days they have been in Pontiac. Both units are leaving Wednesday.

King of Denmark Honors Detroiter

DETROIT (AP)—Kai Rasmussen, a prime mover in Detroit's Scandinavian symphony orchestra, has been given one of the greatest honors which can be bestowed upon an American citizen of Danish birth.

King Frederick IX of Denmark presented Rasmussen the Royal Danish Gold Medal of Award, first class, with crown.

The award was for Rasmussen's efforts in behalf of the symphony, which made a goodwill concert tour of Norway, Sweden and Denmark in 1950.

Rasmussen, a contractor and wood-worker, was president of the symphony for 16 years and has played the viola and the timpani in the orchestra.

5 Detroit Men Cited in Fraud

Charged in Connection With New and Used Car Sales in East

DETROIT (AP) — Five men from the Detroit area are waiting trial in Recorder's Court on fraud charges in the sale of new and used cars in Connecticut.

They are alleged to have peddled the cars without mentioning there were chattel mortgages on them.

Assistant Prosecutor William R. Bolio said only the down payment was made on the cars. He said Connecticut was picked for selling them because no clear title is required there.

Bolio said James Walsh, a Waterbury, Conn., used car dealer, was named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant. Bolio said Walsh will be a witness at the trial of the five men who are now free on bond. The trial probably will be held in the fall.

The defendants are Eugene Ayotte, 30, Detroit, the alleged ringleader; Thomas M. Scott, 31, Charles Bogert, 30, and Thomas La Tourneau, 23, Detroit, and Billie Rudolph, 25, Hamtramck, Mich.

The Associated Press yesterday erroneously stated that Walsh was a defendant awaiting trial.

Editors Hit Ad Ban Bill

Legislation to Restrict Liquor Advertisements Called 'Censorship'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Editorial Assn. said today a bill to ban interstate advertising of alcoholic beverages smacks of censorship and would set "a deadly precedent."

William L. Daley, Washington representative of the association's legislative committee, called the measure "a bold effort to prevent people from utilizing advertising in selling lawfully manufactured commodities."

"If advertising is to be denied to one group of citizens—the alcoholic beverage industry—then why not to other industries or to other citizens, such as unions or certain political candidates or others?" he asked in a statement prepared for a Senate Commerce subcommittee hearing.

Daley said the editorial association, with a membership of some 6,000 daily and weekly newspaper publishers and editors, was concerned that the bill might be "motivated by a covert bias as to what the public may be permitted to read or see in varous communications media."

"Censorship could be indirectly achieved by devious means," he added.

It isn't the amount you spend, you can spend too much, you can also spend too little.

Having spent too much, you merely lose money, but when you spend too little, you stand to lose everything when the article purchased fails in its performance.

That's why it will pay you to buy your next used car here where cars are priced at what they are worth and where your purchase is protected with a dependable guarantee.

He Must Decide Quickly, Surely

Dr. Gross on 'Two for Money' Quiz Program, a Unique Show

NEW YORK—Dr. Mason Gross, professor of philosophy at Rutgers, is a one-man television brain trust.

He's the quiet-spoken, scholarly gentleman on television's Two for the Money who determines the correctness of contestants' answers as a studio clock ticks off the 15-second quiz periods.

Dr. Gross' job is unique among TV arbiters because of the nature of Two for the Money.

The program puts on three separate contestant teams. Each pair is asked three successive questions involving multiple answers. They get paid for as many correct answers as they can give within the 15-second time limit.

Questions run the range of human knowledge. One night contestants were asked to name women mentioned in Shakespeare and then places that stay open all night.

Other sample questions: Give the names of plants that grow from seeds not bulbs, men who fought Joe Louis for his title, states and their bordering states, presidential candidates who won and lost, and American Tom, Dick and Harrys.

In his spot rulings—he can't hesitate—he depends almost entirely upon his own vast fund of information. He has a few reference books in front of him, but hardly ever consults them due to the time factor.

As he holds the buzzer aloft in his hand, he knows that if he errs—either by disallowing a correct answer or allowing an incorrect one—he'll get phone calls and letters aplenty from protesting viewers.

To date, despite the hazards involved, he has tripped up only once in the former category. That was when he rejected Thomas Stone as a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

The phones began ringing at the studio in a matter of seconds. On the other count, he recalls only seven or eight instances in which he passed incorrect answers. "I know, because I got letters on those," he says. These lapses were due, he states, to faulty hearing, or answers of a doubtful nature.

State Police Revise Probe Squad Setup

LANSING (AP)—State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs today consolidated the headquarters investigating squads into one detective bureau.

The bureau will be commanded by Lt. Edward Johnson, who has been head of the special investigation squad and will continue in that assignment.

Childs said the security squad, headed by Sgt. Donald Barry, and the racket squad, headed by Sgt. Carl Robinson, will be placed under Lt. Johnson, instead of reporting individually to the commission.

Childs described the move as simply an administrative revision.

Fail to Remove Fishhook Lodged in Boy's Eye

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The fishhook lodged next to Roman Trzcinski's right eyeball will be left undisturbed for a while to see if nature will help in getting it out.

The 12-year old boy's physician decided yesterday that the hook was too deeply imbedded in soft and delicate tissue in the eye socket next to the eyeball to be removed by a giant electromagnet at St. Luke's hospital.

Doctors said the hook will be watched to see if it works out where it can be more easily removed.

Physicians said Roman is in no present danger of losing the sight of the eye.

WEST BERLIN HAM—"Angeli von Reddinghausen," snooty entry in a poodle beauty contest, raises paw on meeting a young visitor keeping an eye all the time on the camera.

Auditors to Check Menominee County

LANSING (AP)—State auditors will move into Menominee County Monday to check the accounts of Spalding Township and Spalding Township School District.

Auditor Gen. John B. Martin said he had ordered the audit at the request of Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard after 25 per cent of the registered voters of the township petitioned for the inquiry.

The petitioners, Martin said, charged discrepancies between the books of the township and the school district regarding the amount of money owed to the district by the township and the township's handling of the district's share of the 10-cent-an-acre "swamp tax" payments.

Blood Program Slows at Flint

Residents Slap Back at Red Cross Plan After Tornado Criticism

FLINT (AP)—Flint's dispute with national Red Cross Director E. Rolland Harriman over tornado relief funds has cut into blood donations here.

Mrs. Moussja Clason, director of the Genesee chapter blood program, said this was unfortunate because more blood is needed during thte summer than at any other time.

"People don't realize," she said, "they aren't donating their blood to the Red Cross. The Genesee chapter is only the agent through which the community supplies its blood needs."
