Hurl Bitter Charges

Iraq-Syria Crisis Nearing Blowup

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The drumhead tension between Syria and Iraq mounted today. The feeling grew that some sort of break—either in Damascus or Baghdad—might come within days.

Informed circles saw the likelihood of an open coup by the army clique that has taken control of Syria in recent weeks. The army faction, pro-Soviet although non-Communist, is led by Col. Aboul Hamid Saraj.

The Syrian-Iraqi crisis built up in a continuing exchange of bitter charges. Jordan's decision to cut its ties with Britain and consider closer relations with Russia underlined the possibility of deeper Soviet penetration into the fermenting Middle East.

Iraq accuses Syria of conducting a subversive campaign against the government of Iraqi Premier Nuri Said, an opponent of Soviet moves to extend its Middle East influence.

The latest blast came in a Damascus radio broadcast which claimed a delegation of Iraqi politicians had called on King Faisal to dismiss Nuri Said's government. The official Syrian radio said the delegation urged Faisal to appoint a government "responsive to national demands concentrated on the withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact."

There was no confirmation from Baghdad of the report. Both Iraq and Lebanon previously have accused Syria's radio and press of airing false stories and spreading untruths designed to alienate Iraq and Lebanon from the West.

The Baghdad Pact, prime target of Syria, Egypt and Russia, links Iraq, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Britain in an alliance designed to meet the threat of Communist aggression.

Madison Heights Justice Accused

Ferndale Girl Charges Immoral Proposals Were Made to Her

Charles O. Williams associate justice of the peace in Madison Heights, yesterday was accused of making immoral proposals by an 18-year-old Ferndale girl.

The girl, Patricia Dawn Slate, told Madison Heights police chief Robert E. Richardson she went to Williams' home Monday night to ask him to let her boy friend out of jail.

She said Williams proposed she accompany him to a motel, and offered to pay her $10 and cancel the balance of the boy friend's $100 fine.

Miss Slate said she agreed, left Williams' house on a pretext, and called police, who suggested she accompany Williams to the motel and promised police would follow in unmarked cars.

Richardson said Williams and Miss Slate drove to a Bloomfield Township motel, where Williams registered under a false name and the girl "ducked out."

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said today Miss Slate will take a lie detector test today in Lansing. If the test bears out her story, Taylor said, he will begin removal proceedings against Williams.

Meeting informally last night, the Madison Heights city council drafted a demand for Williams' resignation which they plan to submit at tonight's formal meeting.

Late today Williams met with Taylor, and admitted going to the motel, and registering alone, under a false name. But he insisted that it was at the girl's suggestion.

Contacted yesterday, he said Miss Slate's story was "completely false" and said she threatened to "get him" when he refused to free her boy friend, Larry Seigfried, 18, of Ferndale.

Seigfried and his brother, James, 19, were sentenced to fines of $100 and 15-day jail sentences by Williams Nov. 20 for stealing gasoline. Non-payment of the fines would result in 45-day sentences, Williams said.

Scraper Ready? Forecast Snow or Freezing Rain

Snow flurries or a freezing drizzle is the forecast for late afternoon and tonight, with the thermometer registering a low of 20-24 degrees.

Thursday and Friday will be partly cloudy with scattered snow flurries and cold. Saturday will be a little warmer with Sunday and Monday colder again. Snow is predicted about Monday.

Precipitation will total around ¼ inch in the snow flurries tonight and tomorrow. Winds will be northerly tonight at 20 to 30 miles an hour.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 23 degrees. The mercury rose to 31 degrees at 2 p.m.

Tories Attack American Stand on Middle East

Eisenhower Is Target of Bitter Lampoons by English Cartoonists

LONDON (AP)—Anti-American feeling soared to new heights today in Britain. Cartoonists lampooned President Eisenhower mercilessly. A denunciation of U.S. policy introduced by more than 100 Conservatives was before Parliament.

Other voices, however, called for renewed efforts to heal the breach with the United States caused by the British-French dilemma in Egypt.

In Parliament, the opposing views were spelled out in motions of the minority Labor and Liberal parties urging reconciliation with Washington and by an influential section of the ruling Conservative party attacking the U.N. Assembly and blaming U.S. Middle East policy for "gravely endangering the Atlantic alliance."

The Conservative motion was signed by nearly one-third of the

Nations Look to U.S. for Mideast Solution

The countries of Europe look toward the United States to solve the problem in the Middle East, according to Edward W. Hughes, British exchange professor at the University of Michigan.

Hughes, a political scientist from King's College in Newcastle, spoke at the Pontiac Kiwanis Club meeting at the Waldron Hotel yesterday.

"Britain is split over the intervention of England and France in the Middle East crisis," said Hughes. "Termed by many as a 'monstrous mistake' and 'Eden's folly,' the act was not a needless one.

"England's two objectives were to stop the fighting between Israel and Egypt and to protect the Suez Canal from damage.

"Some Britishers feel that our intervention was acted on with too little evidence. Possibly the biggest mistake was that the government did not take the people into its confidence. We also lost the faith of the Middle East."

But the real reason, that England did not disclose until later, said Hughes, was the Soviet threat to extend her influence. The threat was made clear, he said, when Russian arms were supplied as fuel to the Middle East tinder box.

"The countries of Europe can't cope with the problem," said Hughes. "England now has to tread lightly with the newly formed Arab states. They are highly nationalistic, and although we have given

Dec. 11 Hearing Slated for Rash

Charge Rochester Man With 1st Degree Murder in Wife's Shooting

A Rochester man, who confessed Monday to killing his wife with a shotgun, demanded an examination at his arraignment Tuesday on a first degree murder charge.

L. J. Rash, 52, of 313 Woodward Ave., was remanded to the Oakland County Jail without bond following the hearing before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green.

The examination was set for Dec. 11.

Rash, the father of two children, stated he killed his wife, Nina, 48, early Monday when she returned to their home with friends after an all-day drinking spree.

He was represented in court yesterday by Rochester Attorney Wilson Severance.

Forest Fire Shifts to Northern Front

That section in a dry San Diego River bed canyon erupted into flames with a sudden shift in the winds late yesterday and spread along the canyon to within a mile of the small communities of Santa Ysabel and Wynola.

The fire, now in its fifth day, has claimed 11 lives, blackened more than 43,000 acres of timber and brush within an 90-mile perimeter and destroyed several homes. It is under control except in the San Diego River Canyon and the Boulder Creek area on the east front.

Lakes Not Yet Safe for Skating, Fishing

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons directed a warning to youngsters today of the importance of ice safety on the lakes as winter sets in.

"The beginning of winter is the most hazardous time of the year for ice drownings," said Irons. "Youngsters tend to rush the season and skate on the lakes before they are safely frozen over. It is especially dangerous now when there is a deceiving layer of thin ice on the surface."

"Adults have to be reminded of the importance of ice safety as much as the kids," said Irons. "Last year our department issued an average of 35 tickets per month for reckless driving on the ice.

"And one fisherman died needlessly when he was overcome by fumes from a gas burner in his shanty. The man drowned when the burner melted the ice beneath him."

Rumors Flood London

LONDON (INS) — The diplomatic rumor mill in London worked overtime today with stories about an alleged breakdown in Anglo-American relations.

Among the rumors were these: President Eisenhower refused to speak via telephone to Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

Eisenhower has snubbed Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd several times after the latter arrived in the U. S. to attend U. N. meetings on the Middle East situation.

The U. S. has given "guidance" to the Laborite opposition in it attempt to prove collusion between the Anglo-French governments and Israel before the Israeli attack on Egypt.

Was Kadar Told to Be Tough?

Is Malenkov in Hungary?

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

BUDAPEST — Former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov was reliably reported today to be in Budapest to bolster the government of Russian-installed Premier Janos Kadar.

An excellent source, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Malenkov, now a deputy Soviet premier, arrived in the Hungarian capital, Nov. 23.

• • •

This source said it was Malenkov who advised Kadar to change his lenient attitude and resort to harsh measures against still striking Hungarian workers.

This was the explanation given for Kadar's two sharp speeches broadcast Sunday and Monday in which he reversed his former conciliatory attitude in conferences with leaders of the workers' council of Greater Budapest.

In the meantime, at the United Nations in New York, Dag Hammarskjold renewed pressure on Hungary's puppet government today to admit himself and other U.N. observers into the ravaged country.

Meanwhile, there were strong hints that the Soviet U.N. delegation had assured the Indian delegation that the secretary general would be able to leave for a Budapest visit within two days.

Hammarskjold was expected to give the U.N. assembly today an answer to Cuba's request for a progress report on Hungary's official position on the several assembly resolutions relating to the revolt.

Among these are one demanding that Russia stop deporting Hungarian patriots and another that Russian troops withdraw promptly from the Soviet satellite.

A third asks that the U.N. chief or his representatives be admitted to the strife-torn country to organize relief and observe conditions after the Russian rampage.

Cuban delegate Emilio Nunez-Portuondo threatened from the U.N. rostrum last night expulsion of Hungarian foreign minister Imre Horvath and his entire delegation if Budapest failed to comply with U.N. edicts.

Dorsey's Death Still Investigated

Case Revolves Around Genuine Note Left by Bandleader

The statement from Chief Robbins came even after the medical examiner, Dr. C. Stanley Knapp, signed a death certificate which listed the death as accidental asphyxiation.

The note Robbins referred to was not one given out by Dorsey's personal manager, Tino Barzie, shortly after the body was found in the palatial Dorsey home here Monday.

Robbins said the note Barzie released never was written by Dorsey.

"Barzie told me he didn't find any note in Dorsey's bedroom," Chief Robbins said. "Barzie said he released his statement to newsmen to relieve the pressure on Mrs. Dorsey."

• • •

The purported note read by Barzie was affectionate in tone, Barzie said it was addressed to Mrs. Dorsey.

Cost to Health May Be Too Great

'Happiness Pills' Can Be Hazard

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

SEATTLE (AP) — Are the tranquilizing drugs robbing Americans of the tension, alertness, worry and fear which traditionally sharpened their ability to defend themselves in danger and shaped the country's progress?

There are signs that such a possibility lurks in the unscientific use of the "happiness pills," says two psychiatrists who have observed 8,200 people taking tranquilizers.

Although the pills themselves are not at fault and are potentially of great use in medicine, there is evidence they can cause undesirable effects which constitute danger to both the individual and to society, Dr. Herman A. Dickel and Dr. Henry H. Dixon told the American [illegible]

Dr. Dickel and Dr. Dixon, from the University of Oregon Medical School, told the scientific section of the AMA they found among the 8,200 people these hazards:

1. Danger to the health and even the lives of persons who react "abnormally" to the drugs.

2. Danger to the patient's philosophy of morals and emotions.

3. Danger to the physician and to medicine generally because doctors are being subjected to enormous pressure to prescribe the pills.

4. Danger to society because it is being led to believe that no one ever should have to be afraid or to feel anxiety.

The hazard to health and life comes in people who develop unusual reactions to the drugs, said the psychiatrists. About 80 of the 8,200 became depressed enough to [illegible] more serious treatment and hospitalization. About 400 of the 8,200 patients had these reactions, Dr. Dickel said.

About 1,700 of the 8,000 were "precipitated into serious psychoneurotic difficulties" because the physicians who first gave them the drugs misinterpreted things that happened afterward to the patients.

Another group of 126 felt so good after taking the pills that they failed to follow up with other medical measures and became much worse than before.

The danger to society, the psychiatrists said, involves the traditional belief that Americans are a selfreliant lot, able to hold their own against adversity. On the other hand is a growing belief that no one should get upset about anything.

• • •

To forestall further trouble, Dr. Dickel and Dr. Dixon suggested a tightening up on the use of the drugs; a more thorough examination of patients before the pills are prescribed; more research, and a move to have drug manufacturers initiate public education campaigns about tranquilizers [illegible] the effects of alcohol.

U.N. Soldiers Await Orders

Port Said Marks Time as British-French Delay Troop Withdrawal

PORT SAID (INS)—The limbo between the invasion of British and French troops and their withdrawal is keeping Port Said in a bizarre half-life.

The city is marking time and so are its people, its invaders and its U.N. protectors.

Three weeks after the cease-fire, the city still is in passive resistance to the Anglo-French.

One week after the arrival of U.N. police troops there still are no instructions on how their job should be done.

One result of the passive resistance is block after block of closed shops and block after block of idling Egyptians.

A result of the lack of U.N. instructions is that 200 Norwegian soldiers spend each day basking in the sun or marching in their underwear several blocks for a swim in the Mediterranean.

(A U.N. spokesman in Cairo said the Norwegian troops would be joined today by 350 Danish soldiers from the Abu Suweir staging area.)

* * *

Once the British and French pull out, the city will begin to return to normal. But even then it will be a long process because the canal, which is the city's biggest employer, is blocked. Until it is operating, several thousand workers will be idled.

Getting the canal into operation is a key problem for Port Said, for although it is a city of 200,000 persons its whole economic life depends on the canal. There really isn't any other reason for its existence.

Car Backs Off Dock; Alpena Girls Drown

ALPEENA (AP) — Two teenage girls drowned yesterday when the car they were riding in backed off a Lake Huron dock and flipped into 40 feet of water.

They were Rosemary Gorski and Dorothy Beaubien, both 18, of Alpena.

The driver of the car, Anthony Santey, 22, a Great Lakes seaman whose home is in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was hospitalized with severe shock and exposure.

Police said Santey, a crewman aboard the cement freighter Wyandotte, was backing the car along the Huron Portland Cement Co. dock at 3 a.m. when it hit a piling and plunged into the icy water.

Crewmen on a freighter at the dock saw the accident and managed to rescue Santey, who escaped through a window. The girls were trapped in the car and their bodies recovered an hour later.

ABC Signs Sinatra to 'Unusual' Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Crooner-actor Frank Sinatra today signed a three-year exclusive contract with the American Broadcasting Co.

The network said the pact, covering all his activities except movie-making, is "one of the biggest and most unusual" agreements in show business history. The price tag was not divulged.

It was indicated that emphasis is to be on Sinatra's acting talents in a weekly half-hour program over the ABC television network, plus two hour-long special shows annually. The series is to start next fall.

President Picks Dr. L. G. Derthick as U.S. Commissioner of Education

* * *

At the same time, the President appointed Jack Z. Anderson former member of Congress and now an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, to serve as a White House liaison man with Congress. He will specialize in tending to farm legislation, as he has in the agriculture department.

In the education post, Derthick, who will be 51 Dec. 23, succeeds Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, brother of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell. The job has been vacant since Sept. 1, when Samuel Brownell resigned to become superintendent of schools at Detroit. It pays $14,800 a year.

* * *

The selection of Anderson as a White House liaison man with Congress is an outright Presidential appointment which does not require Senate confirmation.

Derthick, a native of Hazel Green, Ky., is a former principal of the City-County School at Clarksville, Tenn., and he was superintendent of schools at Nashville, Tenn., from 1939 to 1952.

He has been school superintendent at Chattanooga since 1942.

Anderson is a former Republican member of Congress from California. He served in the House from 1939 through 1952. He will work with retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, who heads up the Presidential staff dealing with Congress.

* * *

The position Anderson fills has been vacant since Fred A. Seaton was named Secretary of the Interior earlier this year.

* * *

Selection of Derthick and Anderson was announced as Eisenhower started the second full day of a golf-and-work vacation.

The President flew here Monday afternoon for up to two weeks of relaxation while still keeping a watchful eye on the tense international situation.

Mrs. Theodore MacManus Is Taken by Death at 86

Funeral service will be held Friday in Bloomfield Hills for Mrs. Alice Holdridge MacManus, widow of Theodore F. MacManus, nationally-famous former Detroit advertising man.

Mrs. MacManus died yesterday at Stonycroft, the family estate in Bloomfield Hills, after a brief illness. She was 86.

MacManus, who died in 1947, was a co-founder in 1934 of the firm of MacManus, John and Adams.

Active in church affairs, Mrs. MacManus in 1934 was given one of the Catholic Church's highest honors. The "Pro Ecclesiastica et Pontifice" medal, by Pope Pius XI.

With her husband, she built St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church on Opdyke Road as a wayside shrine to house the body of her son, Hugo, who died in 1929. The church was later deeded to the Archdiocese of Detroit as a parish church.

Born in 1870 in Lima, Ohio, Mrs. MacManus was married to her husband in 1901.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Margaret Zaun, of New York City; two daughters, Mrs. Alexander Toluboff, of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. William Fox, of Indianapolis; two sons, John R. and Theodore, both of Bloomfield Hills; and 15 grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at Stonycroft from noon today. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Thursday.

A Requiem High Mass will be sung Friday at 11 a.m., with burial in the family crypt at St. Hugo of the Hills.

The Rev. Fr. Francis Stack will officiate.

Reporter Scoops Up Huge Eagle by Detroit River

* * *

The eagle, nicknamed "Guinevere," was found near the Detroit River yesterday by Detroit newspaper reporter Robert Mahar and photographer Jim Savage, who had answered a tip that a huge bird was grounded near the water.

Mahar captured the mighty bird after a brief chase, tucked it under his arm and took it back to his news city room, where he marched in petting the eagle's ample head.

* * *

The bird, shivering and with two porcupine quills imbedded near her beak, was wrapped in a blanket and taken to the Detroit Zoo, where a vet removed the quills.

Zoo authorities said the eagle apparently had tangled with a porcupine while on a migration flight, then stumbled into the water and got covered with oil slick.

* * *

Anti-U.S. Feeling Increases in Britain

Eden government's backers in Commons. Seldom in history has so large a segment of the British government party undertaken an attack in this fashion on an allied nation. It said:

* * *

"This House congratulates the foreign secretary (Selwyn Lloyd) on his efforts to secure international control of the Suez Canal, and deplores both the resolution of the (U.N.) General Assembly calling for immediate and unconditional withdrawal of British and French troops from Egypt and the attitude of the U.S.A., which is gravely endangering the Atlantic Alliance."

Four separate U.N. resolutions have called on Britain, France and Israel to pull their troops out of Egypt. The United States supported them. The endoresement of the resolution by nearly a third of the Conservative membership of the House promised grave trouble for the government if it began a complete withdrawal.

If the Conservatives hold ranks, they could easily adopt the motion. But the party itself has been split by dissension over the British-French intervention in Egypt, although they closed ranks behind Prime Minister Eden Nov. 23 when he left for Jamaica suffering from overstrain.

Opposition motions urging the Conservative government to try to restore the close understanding of previous years with the United States were filed by a group of Laborites and also by the tiny, middle-of-the-road Liberal party.

FRENCH ATTACKS

In France, too, public opinion mounted against the United States as a result of the Suez crisis. The United States was blamed for not moving faster to supply Europe with petroleum to replace the cut-off Middle East supplies.

But French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said: "Despite our bitterness, we cannot renounce American friendship nor the Atlantic Alliance."

The London Daily Mail said Britain may buy oil from the Soviet Union.

In Ottawa, Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson told Parliament both the Atlantic Alliance and the British Commonwealth were badly split by the British-French Suez action. He said that the United States might have better understood Europe's vital interest in the Suez Canal if the issue had been related to something closer to home like the Panama Canal.

Pro-Conservative newspapers in London were plastered this morning with cartoons, editorials and news stories criticizing the United States.

Train and Truck Crash Kills 3

Locomotives and Cars of Freight Derailed as Fuel Explodes

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—Two trainmen and a gasoline truck driver died yesterday in a wreckage-melting fire of gasoline and diesel fuel after the tank truck derailed a freight train at a crossing on U.S. 20.

* * *

Two locomotives and 10 cars of the 65-car Chesapeake & Ohio train were derailed by the collision at the crossing three miles southwest of Michigan City.

Brakeman Bernard Terhorst, 31, Holland, Mich., suffered burns as he tried to drag the engineer and the fireman from their overturned locomotive before the intense heat drove him back. He was brought to Doctors Hospital and was reported in fair condition.

The lead engine overturned, trapping the engineer and fireman, after the truck had struck the second engine and knocked it crosswise on the track. Five freight cars burned with the locomotives and truck. One of them was believed to contain explosive chemicals, but there was no explosion.

State police stood by for hours waiting for the fierce blaze to burn out so they could approach the wreckage and the remains of the trapped victims.

Seven hours after the crash, a plane pilot flying over the scene said he could feel the heat waves at 2,000 feet.

The train was Chicago-bound from Grand Rapids, Mich., carrying mostly auto parts, scrap and salt. One of the burned cars was loaded with new automobiles. State police estimated the damage at a half million dollars.

The derailment tore up 50 feet of track, but other tracks were available for rerouting trains. Police were able to divert traffic from the busy highway without serious jams.

State police identified the engineer as Ray Powers, 55, and the fireman as Robert H. Johnson, 38, both of Grand Rapids.

The truck driver was identified through markings on the truck cab as Charlie Wilson, 50, Mishawaka, Ind., a driver for the Circle Oil Co., Elkhart, Ind. A son, Hargis, made the identification.

The Day in Birmingham

Parking Lot 3-A to Open Saturday; Set Ceremony

BIRMINGHAM—Parking Lot 3-A is completed and will be opened to the public in ribbon - cutting ceremonies at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

Costs of the lot are being estimated at $230,000.

The lot, north of Hamilton street, may be entered from Park and Ferndale streets, and will provide 175 car parking spaces.

The Chamber of Commerce is marking the opening of its Yule shopping season with the ceremony opening the lot, and merchants especially in the East Maple avenue area are looking forward to reaping customers rewards for their assessments paying for the lot.

Mayor James Allen is being asked to cut the ribbon, and Chamber of Commerce officials to be in attendance will be headed by Arthur Blakeslee, president, and Donald Cummings, chairman of the off street parking committee.

Their group has worked with city officials over the long months of planning, court sessions for condemnation of lots, moving of homes, uprooting of trees, and talking over rights-of-way for accessways to the lots.

Cost was estimated originally for $235,000, according to James Juhl, city coordinator, but land costs were up about 30 per cent after condemnation was necessary to acquire four of the ten lots.

A total of $170,000 was paid for land, and $4,500 for construction of the lot.

Other expenses have been for forestry department and DPW work, moving of power lines, and yet to be billed for are engineering, and attorneys fees and court costs, the latter two expected to run about $3,000.

Foretelling a boost of business on Hamilton, which now has mainly service - type buildings, merchants look also to the two-week-old Hamilton-Hunter crossover, which is allowing northbound Hunter traffic to turn left into the street.

First two cars entering Lot 3-A Saturday morning will be presented gifts, first of which if following a tradition begun with Lot No. 1. It will be a roll of nickels.

Residents to the north of the lot are being spared the glare of headlights in their windows by a five-foot high brick fence, which is to also shield them from noise.

* * *

Paying for the lot are bonding moneys from the city's plan, (60 per cent) and the residents in the area the city has termed to be benefited (40 per cent of the required money.)

'Trial Technique' Talk Given by Taylor

Taylor's speech was part of a class on trial work held annually by Harry Kent, attorney for the Detroit Police Association, in Highland Park's Municipal Court. The class has been held for 16 years.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. John Farrell

Mrs. John (Louisa) Farrell of 2986 Otsego Rd. died yesterday after a long illness. She was 74.

She was born on Aug. 9, 1882, in Morgantown, W. Va., and married in Canonsburg, Pa., on Sept. 7, 1903.

Mrs. Farrell came here from Danville, Ill., 15 years ago.

Surviving are five children, Mrs. Norman Reddish of Pontiac, Ernest of Jacksonville, Ill., Ben of California, Arthur and Eugene Farrell, both of Danville; 10 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Farrell has been taken from the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home to the Houghton Funeral Home in Georgetown, Ill., for service and burial.

Mrs. Francis Hall

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Francis (Eva) Hall, 94, of 3071 Platt Rd., Ann Arbor. She died Monday at the Frey Convalescent Home in Delta, Ohio after a long illness.

Mrs. Hall was born in May, 1862 at Lake Odessa to Aaron and Elizabeth Knapp Shellenbarger.

A former resident of Pontiac, she was a member of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church and a past noble of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246 of Pontiac. She left Pontiac to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. G. E. Bentley of Ann Arbor eight years ago.

Surviving are a son, Harry Aldrich of Roscommon; her daughter, Mrs. Bentley; three grandchildren; five great-grandchildren and one brother, Cap Shellenbarger of California.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Friday from the Stevens & Bush Funeral Home, Ypsilanti. The Rev. Gordon Speer will officiate with burial in the Highland Cemetery. Mrs. Hall's body will be at the funeral home Thursday morning.

Leslie Smith

Leslie Smith, 57, of 21½ S. Saginaw St. died Saturday in Pontiac General Hospital. He was ill two weeks.

Born in Hungary on July 25, 1899, he was the son of Mike and Julia Jacob Smith.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Julia Theis of Dearborn, a sister, Mrs. Irene Gage of Deford; two brothers, Clarence Smith of Owosso and Mike Smith of Detroit.

Mr. Smith's body is at the Pursley Funeral Home where service will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday. The Rev. Paul T. Hart of the First Methodist Church will conduct the service with burial following in Oak Hill Cemetery.

When nitroglycerine explodes, the volume of gas released thereby is said to be approximately 10,000 times greater than that contained in the original explosive agency.

Correctly Colored Kitchen Cheerful, Not Chore-ful

By HOWARD KETCHAM
Color and Design Engineer

Since the housewife spends more time in the kitchen than anywhere else in the house during the day, it should not only reflect her personality, but it should be a bright and pleasing place in which to work. This can best be achieved by the judicious use of color for the background and for equipment, appliances and accessories.

Today, when the home owner is planning a new kitchen, colored appliances to match or contrast with the walls, cabinets and other fixtures are given the greatest consideration.

In some instances, manufacturers are matching the colors of their appliances with the colors of other equipment, although standardization has not yet reached the ideal stage. Much more has to be done to bring about coordinated colors for the kitchen in the appliance industry.

One solution for the housewife with a color-matching problem might be for her to send the appliance or appliances in question and apply a special enamel finish coat in the color of her choice. According to the president of a large paint company, his firm has an excellent product, a triple-duty enamel, for this purpose. It can be sprayed on or applied with a brush. Another method of providing coordinated colors in the kitchen was evolved by a leading New York home furnishing store, when they were commissioned to do over many large apartments and homes after World War II.

The firm did over the kitchens with coordinated colors from the appliances right down to the pots and pans. To accomplish this coordinated color program in all its perfection and detail, they sent appliances to automobile painting shops to be sprayed with synthetic enamel in the exact colors they wanted to complement the kitchen colors.

It might well be asked what items are most likely to be difficult to get in a matching kitchen. Actually, nothing is hard to get today in matching colors.

Paint manufacturers are producing as many as 1400 different colors, so appealing color schemes can easily be selected. Many manufacturers of paints, floor coverings and draperies are offering complete customized kitchen color plans free.

As to the choice of proper color for the kitchen, there is a wide variety of choice today, depending largely on personal preference. Many people, who are not housewives, seem to think that cool colors belong in the kitchen because psychologically they seem right. This does not always work out in practice. Surveys have indicated that women like bright cheerful color in the kitchen, with yellow and turquoise ranking particularly high. The colors should be functional and provide a happy, cheerful atmosphere.

Locate 4th Man in 1953 Holdup

Arrest Chicago Suspect in $5,600 Theft at Fox and Hounds Inn

Seeking a fourth conviction in the $5,600 holdup three years ago of the Fox and Hounds Inn in Bloomfield Hills, Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said yesterday extradition proceedings have begun against a former Detroiter now held in Chicago.

Taylor said Andrew Thompson will be charged with armed robbery when he is returned here next week, and one of his alleged companions in the holdup will be brought from Marquette Prison to testify against him.

In the holdup, Nov. 30, 1953, four men entered the inn early on a Monday morning. Tying up two waitresses and the bookkeeper, Peter Larson, they took $5,600 in weekend receipts from the open safe.

After a police search lasting several weeks, three men were arrested and subsequently convicted for the crime. They were Ted Sullivan, 32, Charles Clark, 33, and John Graham, 31.

AGREED TO TESTIFY

Sullivan agreed to testify against the other two after officers held his girl friend as a material witness. First marrying the girl in Oakland County Jail, Sullivan issued a statement confessing the crime and implicating Clark and Graham.

He repeated the statement in testimony which led to the convictions.

• • •

Sullivan now is in Marquette Prison, Taylor said, serving a 5-20 year term. Clark is serving 20-40 years in Jackson Prison with Graham, who is serving 10-20 years.

Council Rejects Wages to Pay City Head

NEW BALTIMORE (AP) — The mayor and city council of this Lake Huron community have voted to turn down their city salaries so the town can afford a city manager.

It started when the town of 2,400 persons voted this month to hire a city manager within 30 days. At the same time it voted into office a group of young citizens who called themselves the Planned Progress Party including Mayor John F. Paul.

Today, Mayor Paul admits "we didn't know whether we'd have the money or not, but we're going to obey the people. Now we're searching for a good city manager."

Forbidden Christmas

Christmas was once forbidden.

Opposition of the English Puritans to festivals culminated in the act of Parliament in 1647 which abolished the observance of Christmas, Easter and Whitsuntide. This was echoed in 1659 when the American Puritans enacted a similar law.

B-52 Bombers Show Commies Our Power

Eight B-52 bombers just flew 17,000 miles non-stop and were in the air more than thirty-two hours.

★ ★ ★

We're glad it was reported.

We hope Russia reads it down to the last detail and then sits back and contemplates the awesome might of a nation that possesses more than 500 of these death-dealing engines of devastation and destruction.

★ ★ ★

Fair play, brotherly love and ordinary decency do not appeal to the minds of Russian rulers as yet. We honestly believe the "average" Russian would go along, but the average Russian is putty in the hands of the national bosses. Hence, nothing but a show of force and a show of military might register in the U.S.S.R. They respect—or fear—death-dealing agencies and little else.

This is it.

These 500 B-52s could drop enough of our H-Bombs to . . . to . . . who can finish that sentence?

O. K. Commies. Look this maneuver over.

Like it?

Try flexing your own muscles for a time and see how they compare with this last tactical demonstration on the part of the United States of America where freedom rules and where we have great, national elections and then follow the will of the majority.

Balance of Power Shifts in U.N.

Events which followed Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal and the United Nations' attempts to keep peace in that trouble sector of the world have robbed recent developments within the U.N. itself of deserving attention.

When the U.N. General Assembly opened its eleventh regular session recently it admitted to membership three additional nations—Morocco, Tunisia and the Sudan—and formally welcomed 16 other new members admitted at the close of the 1955 session.

These 16 were Albania, Austria, Bulgaria, Cambodia, Ceylon, Finland, Hungary, Italy, Ireland, Jordan, Laos, Libya, Nepal, Portugal, Rumania and Spain. This brings the world fellowship to 79 nations.

The growth is indicative of the increasing importance of Asia and Africa in world affairs. Important to the powers of the West is the shift in the balance of voting power in the General Assembly.

This balance has shifted from the 20 Latin American republics, which generally voted with the United States, to the Asian-African members. Even with the absence of Red China and Japan, this block now numbers 25.

No longer can the West, blocked in the Security Council, count upon certain control of the General Assembly. By joining their votes with those of the Communist-dominated members, the new nations of Asia and Africa can prevent any resolution they dislike from obtaining the necessary two-thirds majority.

There is no expectation that the members from Asia and Africa will array themselves solidly against nations of Latin America and the West in all matters.

The new look in the U.N. merely puts a higher premium on the quality of our statesmenship both within the U.N. and in the Asian-African theater if we are to continue to hold our position of leadership.

"The marriage license fee in Detroit has been raised to $5."—News item. This will not cause a single decrease in the number of licenses issued, as love not only laughs at locksmiths, but it also laughs when staring starvation in the face.

"With reference to Diana Dors' being pushed (or falling) into a swimming pool, London smells a rat."—From a news story. Over here, people smell a press agent.

One thing, at least, can be said to the credit of hillbilly musicians: They never play the bagpipes.

The Man About Town

Our Largest City

Southfield to Enjoy That Distinction—in Area Only

December. First of the so called winter months—but not in 1956.

On Dec. 3 its residents will vote on a charter to make Southfield the newest and largest city in Oakland County, the latter distinction being in area only. It comprises five-sixths of the 36 square miles in Southfield Township, with a present population around 35,000. It starts off with a healthy condition in its local political atmosphere, 29 candidates having filed petitions for its 11 offices.

Just a few days ago I glimpsed the President of General Motors, driving along in his brand new 1957 Pontiac. She's a great car, isn't she, Mister President?

Harlow H. Curtice

As time passes and a few more local boys get acquainted with

Pete Estes,

Pontiac Motor Division's new Chief Engineer, his rating continues to mount and it was on a very high level the day he came. Young, personable and easy to meet, he is making a very favorable impression everywhere he goes, inside the Pontiac Motor Division and around town in general.

Another point-with-pride for Oakland County's many top mentions is that the Henry and Edsel Ford auditorium, an outstanding factor in Detroit's new civic center, was built largely along the plans of the architectural firm of whose offices are in our suburban city of Birmingham.

tells me they will be mailed to anybody unable to call for them.

Asserting that he knows what kind of a winter we'll have, of Route 2, Holly, writes me that he will give the inside dope to anybody sending him a self addressed stamped envelope.

Peter Jacobs

"Didn't have to wait one minute either way," writes

Ransom Randall

of Waterford, who hauls them from the Oscoda area to Detroit, tells me that most of these early loads go to business places, for decorating.

Dusted Off

David Lawrence Says:

Past Acts Return to Haunt Senators

WASHINGTON—Chickens come home to roost and so do the principles of true liberalism come back to plague those who abandon those principles for the sake of expediency.

It will be interesting to see whether the "liberals" among the Democrats and Republicans in the Senate apologize now to Senator McCarthy whom they voted to "condemn" in 1954 on one count relating to alleged conduct in a previous term.

For some of these same senators, who argued then that the Senate is a "continuing body" and can examine the conduct of a member in a previous term, now are contending tht the Senate is not a "continuing body" at all.

The present purpose, of course, is to get a new set of rules adopted in the January session so as to abolish lengthy filibusters against "civil rights" legislation. If the Senate decides that it is not a "continuing body" it would take only a majority vote to change the rules. Otherwise it requires a two-thirds vote and the proponents of the idea of changing the rules know they can't muster two-thirds of the Senate.

It will be recalled that in September 1954 it was proposed to "censure" the Wisconsin senator for his "failing to cooperate in 1952 with a Senate committee examining his income tax returns. Later the resolution was changed by the Senate to eliminate the word "censure"—which implies the power actually to punish—and to substitute for it the milder word, "condemn." The resolution was adopted in October 1954 by a 67-to-20 vote of the Senate and not a single Democrat voted against it.

SENATE HAD RIGHT

Senator McCarthy always conceded that the Senate did have a right to examine the previous conduct of anyone entering the Senate, but he said the time to do it was at the opening of a Congress when a senator presents his credentials.

The Wisconsin senator, just prior to taking his seat in January 1953 for a new term directly challenged the Senate to take up all the accusations made against him, but his colleagues failed to do so.

It was not until September 1954 that the Senate's select committee brought in a report proposing "censure" and arguing flatly that the Senate is a "continuing body." It said that the issue had been settled by the debate in the Senate in January 1953 when the "liberals" tried unsuccessfully to change the rules and insisted that each House can adopt new rules at the beginning of a new Congress. The Senate committee report in September 1954 said:

"The fact that the Senate is a continuing body should require little discussion. This has been uniformly recognized by history, precedent and authority . . ."

* * *

Certainly the Senate has every right to adopt a new set of rules at the opening of a new Congress because it is, in fact, not a continuing body in a legislative sense or in reference to rules governing the procedure for handling legislation. Every bill and every motion pending expires with the final adjournment of each Congress.

The Senate does not have the right, therefore, to censure or condemn anybody for conduct in a previous Congress, though it does have the right to refuse to admit a member or at any time to expel a sitting member. But there were not epough votes available to do this in the McCarthy case.

CAN CHANGE RULES

The Senate can still abolish filibusters any time it wishes to do so but it takes a two-thirds vote to accompish this and the anti-filibustering group just doesn't have the votes.

So the debate on whether the Senate is or is not a "continuing body" nowadays hinges really on whether there's a two-thirds vote available to accomplish the objects sought. Hence the country now will be treated to many a hypocritical argument.

Some of the same senators who argued in the McCarthy case that the Senate is a "continuing body" will be heard now arguing the opposite—that the Senate is, after all, not a continuing body and that a majority vote is all that's needed to adopt new rules.

* * *

It is these inconsistencies on the part of prominent senators which give the impression that the Senate is interested only in expediency and political combat, rather than in basic principle.

(Copyright 1956 New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Be Sure to Wash Hands After Playing With Pets

"About five years ago you had an article about youngsters and dogs, saying that every boy or girl should own one, provided they understand that they must always wash their hands immediately after handling, petting, feeding, or playing with the dog. Some youngsters do not understand why this is necessary if the dog is clean." (Mrs. L. K.)

* * *

The cleanest dog may have worms. Because of the natural habit of dogs, the eggs of the worms (microscopic) may be in the dog's mouth.

Handling, petting, or playing with the dog may leave worm eggs on the hands. If the hands are not immediately washed with soap and water, the eggs may be transferred to the mouth.

Of course, infestation with worms is not a tragic occurrence. Many if not most of us had 'em when we were kids. On the other hand, we can't say worms are good for a boy or girl or an adult.

HEALTH RULE

So, it is a simple matter of good hygiene. Every boy or girl or adult should immediately wash his or her hands after handling, petting, feeding, or playing with a dog.

* * *

I like dogs. Hanging over my desk in my playroom are two pictures. On the left is a reproduction in color of what appears to be an ancient scroll of the Hippocratic Oath which came to me when I was an honest doctor in Penn Yan, with the compliments of the Arlington Chemical Company, Yonkers, N.Y.

On the right a portrait in water color of Tony the Wirish Terror, a masterpiece bearing the artist's signature—F. Brady.

Tony lived at our house—lived there? He ruled the place—for 10 years. That's a lifetime for a wirehair terrier, the veterinary told me.

It may seem downright silly that I get a lump in my throat when I think of Tony—he went away 15 or 20 years ago. But you can't expect all sunshine and no rain, all play and no work. You have got to consider not just the joy of getting a dog but also the sadness that comes when you lose him.

* * *

I don't remember precisely what I said about owning a dog in the piece to which Mrs. L. K. refers. Probably the master copy is in my files—but next to reading clippings from my own column to find out what some character wants—anyway I think it is tough for a dog to live in the city.

Youngsters in the country, village, or small town are generally free to play pretty much wherever they like. Dogs deserve the same privilege.

Can't help pitying birds trapped in a cage, fish or animals killed for "sport" and dogs confined in an apartment.

* * *

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

LI'L ONES

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Sponging Adult Bad Marriage Risk

Don is unfit for marriage. He is still a child in his emotional development. For he is so selfish he never pays his mother for board and room. He doesn't even attempt to furnish her modern conveniences in the kitchen. So pick men not on the basis of the "butterflies" they put in your stomach but on whether they will furnish adequate "butter" for your table through life.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-333: Don K., aged 21, is in love with a girl named Anne.

"Dr. Crane, I think I love Don," Anne confessed to me, "but during the past few weeks I have been wondering.

* * *

"Maybe I should wait a while before we get married. For instance, I learned last week that Don hasn't saved a penny of his wages, though he earns about $85 per week at the mill.

"And now I find that he has never offered his parents a cent for board and room although he lives at home.

"His mother doesn't even have modern conveniences. She even does Don's laundry in an old-fashioned hand tub.

"If Don ignores his mother's welfare and doesn't attempt to pay his way at home, what would he do after he was married to me?"

ANNE IS SMART

"You can't make a leopard change his spots," runs an old adage that is at least partly true.

* * *

If a man hasn't learned to be unselfish toward his parents by the time he is 21, he is pretty thoroughly habituated to that callous attitude.

Oh, he may show a little special thoughtfulness toward Anne while out in public as on a formal date.

But this is probably "showmanship" or "salesmanship" for the benefit of the onlookers.

After the "sale" (Marriage) has occurred, both parties thereto soon level off on the plane of their basic or normal habits.

Don's lack of consideration for his parents shows rather plainly that his normal habits are selfish. So Anne knows already what to expect.

BUTTER VS. BUTTERFLIES

"Oh, but he gives me butterflies in my stomach whenever I hear his voice on the phone or kiss him," many a girl will exclaim about her boy friend.

But that isn't enough for permanently happy marriage. The normal wife expects to rear a family, therefore, needs a steady wage earner for her children.

"Butter" in your stomach is thus far superior to "butterflies" as regards a permanently happy family.

So it behooves a girl to be smart when she gets married. Emotional thrills are easy to procure. Several men in your lifetime can give you butterflies.

Girls are not constructed so they get thrills out of the kisses of just one man among the world's total male population. So don't make your decision on the basis of such flimsy evidence of love.

You can always learn to fall in love within a matter of a few months, even with a total stranger whom I or your parents might choose, though you had never set eyes on that man before the wedding!"

For love can be developed speedily, just by going through the proper motions and by use of daily compliments. So please get wise to facts!

See how your boy friend treats women in general, and especially his mother and sisters. Is he thoughtful of them or selfish?

Does he have a good position or at least is he preparing for such a good position by present schooling? And is he a steady worker or a fellow who flits from job to job every few months?

Does he carry adequate life insurance? And does he suggest giving his bride a "Family Income" policy as a wedding present?

The man who will offer "butter" for your children throughout later life, does this. The scatter-brained wastrel doesn't think of insurance, and doesn't have any money to pay even the first premium on it.

* * *

And an adult who still sponges off his parents is a bad risk for marriage!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Suggests Teens Demand Presley Story Explanation

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Elvis Presley fans, where is the line drawn between worship and indecency? Are we to believe the story about your Elvis in a current scandal magazine?

Now I ask you, is that the kind of story that just makes reading material or is it true?

If it is true, he has brought suspicion upon every girl that speaks his name in reference. If it is a lie, then all of you band together, and write Mr. Presley and the editor of the magazine. Don't you think you deserve anything in return for your tremendous loyalty?

This story should either be confirmed or denied in some public manner. Girls, a reflection has been passed upon you and it isn't a very pretty one, you must admit.

So again, I ask you to prove to yourselves and all the world that you're not entirely blinded by Mr. Presley's wiggles. Have him confirm or deny this story. It is something you deserve."

Just Wondering

'Pontiac Missing From All-State'

When they pick All-State football teams, Pontiac is strangely absent. There were ten players from the Saginaw Valley on these All-State teams, but not a one was from Pontiac. When they pick the All-Valley teams we rarely get much more than honorable mention. Will someone explain?

G. S.

Offers His Recipe for Marriage

Just thought I'd pass on my recipe for marriage. Select two people with mutual backgrounds. Mix well with interest and understanding. Take two gold bands, blend with God's love. Baste frequently to keep it young and eventful. Control temperature, so ingredients won't separate. Keep the lid on tight so no love may escape. Pour over your children and enjoy a wonderful life.

Dislikes Rudeness at City Meetings

Our City Commission convenes regularly on Tuesday evenings and our Mayor always invites those in the audiences to voice their opinions on city affairs. I believe this is a fine thing; however, I am taking this means to warn my fellow citizens that if you dare to offer any criticism, you may be rudely interrupted and severely rebuked by some department head who will not wait to be recognized by the Chairman and you can only guess as to his identity. Furthermore, you speak at the risk of being made the public spectacle and [illegible] but never hounded when [illegible] present and ready to [illegible] with [illegible] which will do little if anything to solve your problem.

Thank you, Mr. Mayor, for the promise to give due consideration to the matter I presented on Tuesday, November 13.

Let's provide some means for preventing these violators from repeatedly committing the same offense even if we have to sacrifice some of the revenues derived from this source.

Asks Credit Given Where It's Due

I don't know the name of the reporter who's doing the series on Rochester, but he should have checked in the shops before printing the article that appeared Nov. 22.

It stated that J & O employes about 30 men. There may be several jobs there that are men's jobs, but girls run them. There hasn't been more than seven men employed there at one time in the two years that I've been there.

Why not give credit where credit is due to the hard working wives?

All Talent at PHS Yet Team Loses

I read a letter in the Voice of the People about the fact you couldn't ring a bell at Wisner Stadium when Pontiac High played football there.

There's something else that puzzles me even more. Why can't Pontiac have a winning team? I understand we have one of the biggest high schools in all Michigan. Bigger cities have two high schools so there's a division of the football talent. Here it's all concentrated in one spot. And yet I guess we have lost 20 of our last 25 games with the two schools in Flint and with Saginaw and Bay City.

Will someone explain why? I bought season tickets right after they built the stadium when they put on a big drive, but I quit after four or five years. Maybe I'm too old.

Robert Oliver on the School Board is a great sports fan and I'm surprised he hasn't taken an interest in this.

Christmas Season Is Time for Photos

The scenario can be planned with the first hint of Santa. This will assure a complete picture story with no blank spots that can never be filled, once the holidays are over.

Opportune scenes now through Christmas are boundless—the first visit to Santa, gift-wrapping, mailing, hanging the stockings, decorating the tree, opening gifts, carving the Christmas turkey, and right on through Christmas night when the youngsters are finally tucked in bed.

Enology is the science or study of winemaking.

Dad in There, Too

Electric trains appeal to adults as well as children. At the end of World War II, an estimated 35 per cent of all trains was sold to adults for their own use. It has increased until today it is an even bet that the next set sold will go to a "grownup."

Hard soap your friends at Christmastime. Rich and delicately scented soaps in gift wrappings make ideal gifts. Pick a thing that few people buy for themselves.

Safety Precautions

Safety factors to consider when buying a tree: Choose a small tree; keep it outdoors as long as possible; saw the butt of the tree slantwise and stand it in a tub of water; and, keep it away from fireplace, exit or radiator.

Toys That Will Last

Lead soldiers, a traditional Christmas trinket from years gone by, are still with us. Made by both British and American firms, they appear fastened in rows in their gift boxes—much like they came to us at the turn of the century.

Quick Action Seen on Iraqi Arms Bid

WASHINGTON (INS) — The United States is expected to make a quick decision on a new request from Iraq for anti-aircraft guns and planes for defense.

* * *

Iraq is a member of the western - supported Baghdad Pact and is America's No. 1 friend in the Arab states. It would be particularly threatened by any Russian - directed aggressive moves on the part of Syria.

Iraq's Ambassador Moussa Al-Shabandar attempted to minimize reports of growing differences between his country and Syria. He insisted that the main disturbing force among Middle Eastern nations in Israel, and told newsmen that unless the Jewish state is put in its "proper place," there will be no peace or stability in the area.

ACCUSED OF PLOT

However, Egyptian military officials Sunday accused Iraq of plotting against Syria. But the Iraqi envoy brushed off the Egyptian accusations as "family troubles" which will be "solved peacefully."

* * *

Al-Shabandar told the State Department that Iraq wanted the arms for "defensive" purposes.

The U. S. has been supplying Iraq with weapons under an agreement reached two years ago after the Iraqi government joined the Baghdad Pact.

Although some tanks, artillery and light weapons have been sent to Iraq, the nation has not been given any anti-aircraft guns or planes.

* * *

Information reaching the U. S. indicates that the Russians have continued to send military supplies into Syria even after the United Nations passed a resolution calling on all members to refrain from shipping weapons to the area.

Although Iraq has supported the other Arab states in its arguments against Israel, she has been the subject of criticism by her neighbors ever since she joined the Baghdad Pact.

This criticism was initiated by Egyptian President Gamel Abdel Nasser presumably because he saw a threat to his power as leader in the Middle East. The verbal assault was taken up quickly by Syria, which is Egypt's chief satellite.

Washington observers said it was natural that the Russians, once their buildup in Egypt was balked by the outbreak of hostilities, should concentrate on Syria in an attempt to find a firm foothold in the Middle East.

Linens Add Charm With Lovely Colors

Color spreads a lovely glow through today's homes. And nowhere is this more evident than in household linens. One happy result is that all the beautiful and useful items that come under the category of "household linens" have skyrocketed in popularity as gifts.

Such gaieties as the newcomer striped sheets and companion pillowcases, for instance, are a delightful choice for a bride—or as a special treat for oneself, for that matter.

Again, what is as appropriate as bright guest towels for the friend who has just moved into a new house; or a bath towel and mat set in pastel shades for the career girl furnishing her very first apartment; or luncheon mats and napkins of smartly sophisticated design to grace mother's next bridge luncheon table; or work-a-day dish towels in bouncy color as a shower gift for the engaged girl?

* * *

For all their fun colorings and imaginative patterns, such gifts have a sturdy, commonsense base. They are designed for real day-to-day use, and to emerge serenely from the repeated washings that will be their fate.

Your Entire Family Will Enjoy a Piano

If you want a "once in a lifetime" gift for your family this year, consider a piano. Not only are pianos handsome pieces of furniture but they can open a whole new way of life for you and your family.

New piano teaching methods allow you to begin playing simple tunes after the first lesson and have you feeling like an accomplished pianist after a few months. If you already know how to play the piano but have neglected it because you haven't had a piano in your home, this Christmas would be a good time to renew your enjoyment of music.

Small Fry Can Please Fathers

Toiletries Are Safe Choice and Within Price Reach

Helping a child find a present for father is a touchy business. When the youngsters are still too young to have an allowance, many mothers select and buy and the kids wrap.

They are often crushed at how much the gift they know their father wants will cost. They occasionally become discouraged at the things they can afford.

Guiding the child to a gift his father really wants, that the child can afford, is a neat trick. In some families, the problem is solved with a "Christmas Bonus" allowance so the youngster has a few extra dollars to spend in his wanderings through stores.

Suggestions like "I heard Daddy say he needed a new pocket comb" or "Daddy needs a cup to hold his pencils and I bet you could paint one" encourage children into channels where they don't get frustrated and Daddy doesn't get a corn cob pipe which he has to smoke.

Good shopping for kids seeking gifts for father is at the male toiletries counter. There isn't a man who doesn't use up another bottle of after-shave lotion eventually. Tactful Daddies run out just before Christmas.

And prices at this counter run from under a dollar up to five or so for sets. Several children can also buy separate parts of a set in the same fragrance.

Their Own Supply

Christmastime is a good time to institute preventive medicine with teen-agers. Give them a humorous stocking loaded with all the things they usually borrow: Scotch tape, thumb tacks, socks, erasers, paper clips and pencils.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

Chapter 29

Bob sat down in the empty conference room and immediately proceeded to put me at my ease. He soothed me with a small, dull anecdote about a teaching experience he had recently. Then he leaned back, crossed his legs, folded his hands over his vest and said, "Now, Hester, what can I do for you?"

"Well, Bob . . ."

"Be glad to help you, only too glad. Have any of the students been annoying you?"

"No, it isn't that . . ."

"You can be frank with me Hester. The pass, as I often say, is the occupational hazard of the female dancing teacher. And, I might add," he added, chuckling, "also of the male upon occasion."

"No Bob, I want to help you."

"Help me?" He was amazed, rocked with disbelief. "You want to help me. How?"

"Bob, this is rather delicate, but I feel if you and I aren't friends already . . . well, we're destined to be. That seems obvious."

"Hester, what is it?"

"Well, I've heard gossip, and if it should get to the police . . ."

"Gossip about me, Hester?"

"May I be frank?"

"Yes, please!"

"Just how much did Anita Farrell mean to you, Bob?"

"Anita?"

"Yes. Is it true that you were so crazy about her that when she threw you over you couldn't take it?"

"Where did you hear this, Hester?"

"It's only gossip. But I'm afraid if the police heard it they'll think you might have . . . well, killed Anita because you couldn't live without her."

"Hester!" Bob said sharply.

"I'm only trying to help you, warn you . . ."

"Thank you, but . . . Hester!"

"Yes?"

* * *

"It is true that there was a time when I did seriously consider Anita Farrell. Because of her beauty, her poise and her charm I thought she might be the very person I was looking for to be Mrs. Robert Spencer. But, no, I was wrong."

"Oh?"

He nodded solemnly. "I decided against asking Anita to marry me. Yes, after serious and prolonged consideration."

"Oh?"

"Anita was not the type. Not the type at all to be an executive's wife. Anita was essentially too self-interested. She could never have sublimated herself into my long-range plans. Anita, I'm afraid, was intent on carving out a career of her own. Quite frankly, Hester, I couldn't quite see Anita ever attending a PTA meeting."

"No?"

"No, Hester. No, it may be ungracious of me to say so, but I eliminated Anita Farrell from my picture. She was nothing to me but a teaching colleague here at Crescent."

"So you have nothing to fear from the police."

"Nothing whatsoever. Should they get wind of this gossip, I shall tell them the truth, ungracious as it may sound. But I thank you for your concern. I shall remember this favor, Hester."

After Bob had gone I sat for a moment in the conference room. It had been a busy day, but somehow I didn't seem to have proved that anybody need have anything to fear from the police except my husband.

I was discouraged.

My feet hurt.

* * *

The next morning, Steve and I went through the motions of having breakfast, but our hearts weren't in it. When we had awakened we had wished each other a happy fifth wedding anniversary, but our hearts hadn't been in that, either.

We were just killing time, waiting for two besodden ladies down on West Twenty-fifth Street to sleep it off.

Then, unexpectedly, we had company to help us kill the time. We did our insincere best to make Detective Lieutenant Bolling welcome. We offered him our most comfortable chair, some coffee, some toast and coffee.

We made it clear that we were delighted that the man who was directing the search for the Waltzer had come to see us, of all people. But Bolling was in no mood to accept our hospitality. This morning he was all business; you couldn't see the grindstone for his nose.

"Barton," he said briskly, looking the Waltzer straight in the eye, "I'm going to wrap up this case this afternoon."

"What time this afternoon?" the Waltzer asked.

"You're not joking. Four o'clock this afternoon. I'll know then who the Waltzer is. I want you to be at the Crescent School at four.

"Me? Why me?"

"I'm throwing a little party. I've invited all of Anita Farrell's pupils. I've invited Wendell Kipp and the two bartenders from the Feather Club . . ."

"And they'll pick out the Waltzer from Anita Farrell's pupils for you," the Waltzer said unenthusiastically. "A great idea."

"I'd have done it sooner," Bolling said, "except that I was sure we'd pick up Ralph Tolley. But we haven't found him yet."

* * *

Good old Ralph Tolley! So nice of him to stay out of sight. It had been quite a while since I had even thought of that sterling pupil of Anita's whose lesson time Steve had borrowed, but I made up for it now. I thought of Ralph Tolley not only with gratitude, but with affection.

"Maybe the reason we haven't found him," Bolling was saying, "is because he's the Waltzer and he's hiding out. Or maybe, if he isn't the Waltzer, it's because he's dead."

"Dead?" Steve and I said.

"Murdered. By the Waltzer."

"Murdered?" we said. "By the Waltzer?"

* * *

Bolling nodded. He took the chart of Anita Farrell's teaching schedule out of his pocket. He showed it to us. "See this? I've got every lesson hour accounted for except the hour of the murder, seven on Wednesday. Now, if Tolley is the Waltzer, that's his time. But if he isn't the Waltzer, the Waltzer took Tolley's time. Understand?"

* * *

Steve and I understood. It wasn't especially brilliant of us since taking Ralph Tolley's lesson time was exactly what Steve had done. Bolling, however, was pleased with our quickness. He continued, admiring his own logic, despite its morbid turn.

"So it's to the Waltzer's advantage to keep Tolley out of our way. Maybe he did a complete job and killed him. However, we'll know more this afternoon. If Kipp and the bartenders don't identify the Waltzer among Miss Farrell's pupils, we'll know for certain that this Tolley is guilty."

"So," I said, "this afternoon will wrap up the case."

"One way," Steve said, "or another."

"We'll know," Bolling said, "who is the Waltzer. You be there, Barton, at four."

"You bet," Steve said.

"So long," Bolling said

"So lng," Steve said.

"Gruesome, isn't it?" I said.

Bolling turned back from the door."

"Gruesome, Mrs. Barton?

"You like Steve. I can tell you do."

Miniature Santa Easy to Make

Cereal Box, Colored Paper and Tape Are Chief Supplies

Most children want to give Christmas presents to all their friends. This wish to share should be encouraged, but preventing children from becoming discouraged as the cost mounts is hard to do.

The answer is a special hospitality corner for the youngster.

There, purchased or homemade candies, cookies or self-designed tree decorations may be piled to be given to visitors.

A special decoration for this corner not only makes the children feel honored, it also keeps them out from under foot. Some have their small trees that they decorate each year.

* * *

Santa's body is a giant-size dry cereal box. It's covered with red paper and secured with cellophane tape. A narrow roll of construction paper is taped down to the box on each side to form the arms. Small, white mitten hands may be tapen on.

Legs that stick straight out in front, so Santa sits on his cereal-box bottom are made the same way.

A small-size paper plate makes the face. It's taped on to the front of the box. Cotton makes the beard and hair. Features are colored tape. The box top may be arranged to open behind the one-dimensional head.

Decorative Carving

For decorating at Christmas, a hand-carved caravan set is just the thing. It is made from olive wood by the natives of Bethlehem. Hand decorated, the delightful novelty consists of a Wise Man astride a donkey, accompanied by three camels.

Pets have their own candy. If guests feel they must ply Fido with bon-bons because it's Christmas, leave a box of doggie candy in sight.

We'll admit it quite frankly.

"New" is a word that's used a lot. But seldom has it meant so much that's fresh and different and better-than-before—as here in the newest Buick yet.

Take the new styling, because that's obvious at a glance. To get it so sweepingly low, the engineers started from the bottom, with a brand-new type of chassis.

It's an ingenious "nested" chassis that reduced car height as much as 3.4 inches, giving new lowness and raciness—without reducing road clearance or room.

It's a massive I-beam, X-frame chassis that's stronger and sturdier—and permits a new low center of gravity for far surer, far safer roadability.

Only when you take the wheel can you appreciate the new era of motoring pleasure and ease and safety brought about by Buick's new power-pitch response.

It's instant response—response set off by the hair-trigger action of a new 364-cubic-inch engine and the full-range flexibility of a new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

It's response so eager, this Buick seems to anticipate your every command. Power flashes to the rear wheels so quickly and smoothly in "Drive," that the need for "Low" has virtually been eliminated. Even Dynaflow's famous switch of the pitch is seldom needed.

Come try it. Come see and feel the tremendous difference the newest Buick yet can make in your driving enjoyment.

*Now Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Attempt to Save Rare U.S. Birds

Whooping Crane, Swan and Condor Are Nearly Extinct

WASHINGTON — In wilderness sanctuaries from the Gulf coast of Texas to the Pacific, the United States is fighting to save its three largest birds from the dodo's fate.

• • •

Trumpeter swans, their haunting sky song echoing over Montana's Red Rock Lakes National Wildlife Refuge and neighboring Yellowstone Park, are slowly winning their uphill race against extinction. Closer to oblivion are the nation's few remaining whooping cranes and the last 60-odd California condors still in existence. These are the Stratocruisers of the bird world.

The trumpeter swan is considered the heaviest, the whooping crane the tallest, and the California condor as having perhaps the widest wingspread of any North American wildfowl.

• • •

Twenty years ago, only 73 trumpeters were known to nest in the United States. Fashion's demand for swan plumage, together with drainage and plowing of frontier nesting grounds, virtually wiped out the 30-pound birds in the late 1800's.

MORE TRUMPETERS

Last summer, 600 trumpeters were counted in the Montana refuge alone. With two to three times that many believed to be in Canada and Alaska, more of the snow-white, black-billed trumpeters are living today than at any time in the last 50 years.

• • •

In late October or early November, bugling their hoarse "ker-loo" call, the world's last whooping cranes come wheeling down from the sky to alight on a narrow strip of Texas saltmarsh near Corpus Christi—the 47,261-acre Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

Flying a continental airway from breeding grounds in northern Alberta, the six-foot-long birds come over high and fast, white bodies offset by jet-black wingtips and crimson heads.

Second in fewness only to the ivory-billed woodpecker and Eskimo curlew, the whoopers are anxiously counted each year on their return to Arkansas. Last winter there were 27—six more than the year before.

CONDORS LIVE LONG

California condors live to be 35 years old or more. Once they ranged the west coast from the Columbia River to Baja, California. Now the last three-score members of this dying vulture family cling grimly to a rocky sanctuary in California's Los Padres National Forest.

• • •

The condor's claws are so weak that it can scarcely walk on them. It requires a lurching run or a sharp cliff to make a good takeoff. Once in the air, however, it can soar as high as 15,000 feet, its 9 to 11-foot wingspan giving it peerless grace.

Completely undeserved was the condor's early reputation as a dive-bombing predator, swooping down and carrying off lambs, calves, fawns, or even human babies. Like other vultures, it chiefly eats carrion. Yet its great size, insatiable curiosity, and white markings on the underside of its wings made it an easy gun target for hunters.

In pioneer days, prospectors shot the condors for their wing feathers; the big hollow quills made good containers for gold dust.

Olympians Come From Every Walk of Life

MELBOURNE (INS)—Here are some sideglances at the American Olympic team, now well on its way toward reaffirming our place on top of the world of sports:

The boo is frowned upon by the U. S. team, but not Doris Mae Boo of Chicago Heights, Ill., secretary to Olympic Association President Tug Wilson . . .

Bill Russell, the basketball genius from Oakland, Calif., could have made our high-jumping team if the mood had struck him. Bill jumped 6 feet 9¼ inches in the Fresno relays this year.

The fencing team is made up of a naval officer, Bill Andres of Montclair, N. J., a 49-year-old research director, Norman Cadworth Armitage of Clemson, S. C., an electrical engineer, Albert Axelrod of Manchester, N. H., a dentist, Dr. Daniel Bukantz of Forest Hills, N. Y., A plant manager, Abram Cohen of Brooklyn, a Romanian-born fencing coach of the University of Pennsylvania, Lajos Stephan Csiszar, a salesman, 6-foot-4 heavyweight Rex Dyer of Philadelphia, an internal revenue agent, Byron L. Krieger of Detroit, an advertising salesman, Allan Kwartler of the Bronx, a manufacturer, Nathaniel Lubell of New York City, a physician, Dr. Tibor A. Nyilas of Flushing, N. Y., an engineer, Richard W. Pew of New Hyde Park, N. Y., an insurance agent, George V. Worth of Flushing, a high school girl, Judy Goodrich of Lapeer, Mich., and two housewives, Maxime Mitchell of Los Angeles, who is just Jack Benny's age—39—and Janice Lee Romary of Tarzana, Calif.

GIANT SWIMMER

Bob Hughes, one of our breaststroke swimmers, stands 6 feet 6½ inches, weighs 225 pounds and displaces just about what the Queen Mary does when he hits the Olympic tub . . .

• • •

Horace Ashenfelter, who was the surprise winner of the 3,000 steeplechase at Helsinki, is an FBI man . . .

Harold V. Connolly of Boston, who won the hammer throw with a record heave, has an arm that is somewhat shorter than the other . . .

• • •

Jerry Walters, 1,500-meter man from Los Angeles, was born in Itta Bena, Miss., and graduated from Pepperdine. Sounds like something out of Walt Disney. He's a probation counselor.

Our girl track and fielders have some interesting names: Roxanne (Anderson), Karen (Anderson), Earlene (Brown), Rose Marie (Caccamise), Willie (White), Marcia (Cosgrove) and Herinwentha Mae (Faggs.)

PAPAL MESSAGE

Pope Pius XII sent his message to the Olympic athletes in French for it is the official language of the games. The pontiff brought out some telling points:

"We have been pleased to recall the harmony of relations between Christian principles and sporting activities. It now pertains to you, beloved sons, during these games to make manifest in your acts how, without losing any of its technical value, sport, being a school of energy and of self mastery, must be ordained towards the intellectural and moral perfecting of the soul."

The 80-year-old spiritual leader of the world's 400,000,000 Catholics recalled that the Olympics of four years hence will be held in Rome. "A pleasant prospect," his message read. He concluded:

"While defending with ardor the colors of your fatherland, have at heart the service of the cause of God among your brethren . . . May it be for you a new mark of the interest we cherish in a healthy practice of sport, and especially in those peaceful international competitions which—amid a world torn by so many divisions—foster, in a spirit of fraternal emulation, mutual knowledge and understanding among peoples."

American friend of ours, noticing swarms of people walking along streets whose stores were bolted tight during the Sabbath, asked his cab driver what they were doing.

"They're sticky-beakers sticky-beaking," he said.

Syria's Strategic Position Logical Target of Russia

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Middle East is short of many things, but it never runs out of trouble. As if the Suez affair weren't bad enough, a Syrian crisis now is brewing on the edge of it. Could be a bad one, too, and another threat to world peace.

The main reason: Russia unquestionably has gained a foothold in the ancient Syrian desert land. Some American authorities are concerned that Syria may be sucked all the way into the Communist orbit.

• • •

Syria has been accepting arms from Russia. Also, all but unnoticed in the furor over Suez, pro-Soviet officers have seized control of Syria's 60,000-man army. It would surprise nobody if the army seized formal control of the government.

Now add these facts:

1. Syria would be the obvious staging area for the "volunteers" Russia still says she is ready to throw against the British, French and Israeli forces which have not yet withdrawn from the Suez area.

2. Moscow radio charged yesterday that Syria's well-heeled neighbor Iraq has been trying to flood Syria with arms for use in a revolt against the government. With a perfectly straight face, Russia denounced "subversive activities" of this kind as "criminal."

3. Iraq followed through within hours with a request to the United States for "more defensive arms" including planes and antiaircraft guns. This country has been sending munitions to oil-rich Iraq but the amounts never have been disclosed.

• • •

There are other factors aplenty, but these alone show the stored-up lightning in the situation—with the United States already involved.

They indicate, too, the extent to which the camel's nose is under the tent, to use an old desert saying. In other words, how far Russian penetration of the Middle East is proceeding.

Trouble is nothing new to Syria, which has known little else since the days of the conquering Greeks 2,000 years ago.

But trouble is the last thing the Missouri-sized country needs right now.

She's in bad shape economically as a result of the crisis over Suez—and part of this trouble is homegrown.

• • •

With no interference from the authorities, three stations on the pipeline running across Syria from Iraq to the Mediterranean have been blown up — a prize example of cutting off one's nose to spite Britain's face. Syria lost millions of dollars in badly needed revenue — she gets a rakeoff on oil flowing through the lines. She also cut off a major source of her own fuel.

Turkey — which only yesterday accused the Syrians of fomenting trouble with neighboring countries — lies to the north. Iraq, Jordan and Israel form a rim on the east and south. Lebanon fits in like a jigsaw puzzle on the west, leaving Syria with a short but vital stretch of Mediterranean seacoast between Lebanon and Turkey.

A handier operating base for the Russians would be hard to imagine.

It would be equally hard to imagine Turkey and Iraq, which could crush Syria like a nut in a cracker, standing by idly while such a thing happened — to say nothing of the reaction of the United States and Britain.

It's Child's Holiday

Let the children help trim the tree. Strings of popcorn and cranberries are old standbys which are fun to prepare and easy to work with. Juveniles of today get just as big a kick out of it as grandpop did.

Movies Will Give Life New Dimension

If there's no movie camera in the household, what better gift to capture the motion and fun of the holidays? A new movie camera, that's almost as easy to use as a box camera, costs less than $30. It's possible to take up to 50 average-length movie scenes in sparkling color on a single roll of inexpensive 8mm film.

Designed also for low-cost family movies, the 8 mm movie turret camera offers a three-lens range at a one-lens price—$79.50. The turret may be simply turned for regular, wide-angle or telephoto movies.

Here's Colorful Gift for Men

Style and Fit Chief Considerations When Buying Sport Shirts

Sport shirts, long a favorite gift with men, are more popular than ever now that men all over the country are wearing more casual clothes. Putting sport shirts on your Christmas shopping list is one of the best ways to please the men in your life.

• • •

Choose the right shirt and your gift will be worn and enjoyed rather than returned to the store for credit or exchanged for a year's supply of razor blades.

In buying a sport shirt, consider two main things, fit and style.

As to fit, a man of average proportions will generally wear a small sport shirt if he wears a 14 or 14½ regular shirt, medium if he wears 15 or 15½, large 16 or 16½ and extra large for bigger sizes. This is not always an accurate guide, so it's best to get his sport shirt size, if possible.

• • •

Style take a little more thought. In the first place, it is sometimes hard to decide whether to buy him the style shirt he usually wears, or a new style you think will look good on him (hoping he'll agree with you as soon as he tries it on).

In patterned shirts, stripes and plaids are your best bet. Stripes this year run in all directions.

Do-It-Yourself

Festive round candles may be made from melted-down bits and scraps of old candles. Use hollow ball with split running halfway along the circumference. Small hole cut in top lets ball and string in. Scotch tape over crack keeps wax in.

Yule Log Custom

The Yule log represents the ancient custom of lighting huge fires during the festivals that celebrated the Winter Solstice. That name comes from the Yule rites of North European countries, and eventually burning of the log became part of Christmas lore.

Photographic Kits Are Fertile Field

From film to filter kits, the field of photo aids offers wide gift variety. Something handy in the way of photo aids are the new Kodak filter kits now available for most still and movie cameras. Said to be the handiest ever designed, these new kits keep all the basic filters visible, instantly available, yet individually protected in a sturdy case small enough for pocket, handbag or gadget bag. The kits are priced from $6.

The set, available at $24.75, is especially useful in homes and apartments, and vacation spots where there's no access to a darkroom.

Now, It's Jackrabbits

KULM, N. D. (AP) — Add to the hazards of motoring the flying jackrabbit. Otto Ribehagen was driving along when a jackrabbit jumped from somewhere, crashed through the windshield and landed dead in the back seat. A passenger, Mrs. Theodore Schorzman of Rupert, Idaho, received minor injuries.

Salem, the capital of Oregon, is the only major city in the state which lies within the limits of two counties.

High Demand for Appliances

Here are facts and figures which explain why the demand for major appliances in America is climbing higher and higher every year:

AUTOMATIC WASHERS

A survey conducted by a manufacturer's home economics laboratory showed that a family wash of five eight-pound loads can be done by an operator of average skill in 27 minutes of the operator's time—5.4 minutes per load.

This is only 10 per cent of the energy and 15 per cent of the time required by other home laundry methods. The tests also indicated that home-washed linens and clothing last from 33⅓ per cent to 100 per cent longer than those commercially laundered.

AUTOMATIC DRYERS

The same survey showed that use of a dryer saves a total of three hours per week formerly spent in hanging, sprinkling and ironing clothes. It also eliminates labor involved in carrying 90 and 120 pounds of clothes to and from the clothesline.

Dryer-dried clothes and household linens also last longer than those line-dried, with better retention of fabric color and texture, less loss of tensile strength. With drying made independent of weather, fewer clothes and linens are required.

AUTOMATIC DISHWASHERS

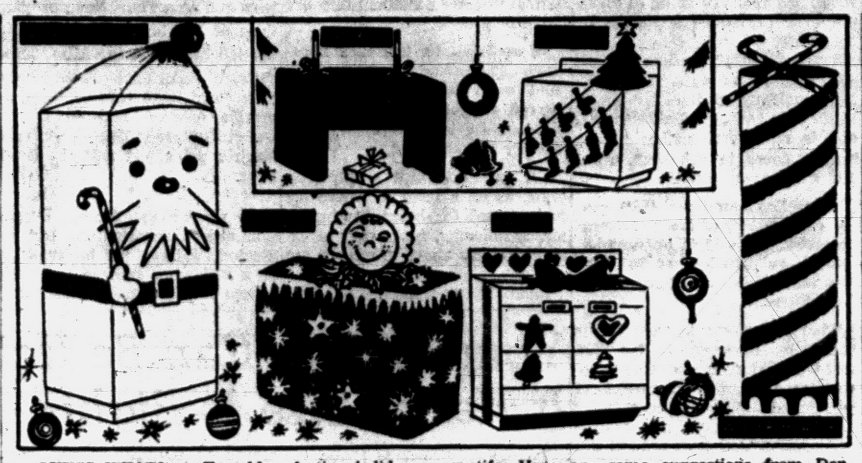
The research showed that for the average family, about five minutes are required to prepare dishes and load a dishwasher, compared with 35 minutes needed to scrape, rinse, dry and put away dishes when the work is done by hand. Breakage of china and glassware is reduced. Use of dishclothes and dishtowels is almost eliminated.

HOME FREEZERS

The company's studies indicated that food preservation by freezers requires only half as much time as canning. Time and energy are saved by fewer shopping trips. Foods can be cooked and frozen when time is available. With both fresh and cooked frozen foods on hand, meals can be prepared quickly and easily.

Money can be saved by buying food in quantities, taking advantage of sales and of low seasonal prices. Food preparation costs and food wastes are reduced by wise use of plan-overs and left-overs.

Today's steel kitchen cabinets provide built-in facilities such as pull-out shelves and racks.



GUESS WHAT? — To add a festive holiday note and to keep them guessing, dress up your appliance gifts in gay wrappings with Yuletide motifs. Here are some suggestions from Dennison's designers which can serve to inspire you to many attractive variations.

Wrap Big Appliance Gift for Christmas Surprise

For years Father and the youngsters have been baffled about how to present Mother with a White Christmas gift of a major kitchen appliance and wrap it so it would come as a huge surprise.

The problem of how to disguise these gleaming gifts has been solved this season in some imaginative ways by Dennison stylists.

Here are some suggestions that may be just what you're looking for:

The new refrigerator can be turned into a happy Santa by covering the entire appliance with red crepe paper. An easy way to do it is to wind the paper in layers around the refrigerator horizontally, securing the ends with tape.

HOW TO DO IT

Make Santa's belt by folding black crepe paper and placing it around the middle of the appliance, taping it down in back. The buckle is a large square of gold foil taped on the black belt.

Use a real mitten or cut a mitten shape from green paper and tape it to the front, sticking a candy cane in it.

For Santa's face: tape on a table tennis ball or a large tree ball for the nose, use large gummed stars or round notary seals for the eyes, black masking tape or black pipe cleaner for the mouth. Stick on cotton for eyebrows and beard.

To make Santa's cap, cover a large cardboard carton with more red crepe, bringing it to a point at the top. Add a wad of cotton for a pompon, and stick it at a jaunty angle on Santa's head.

Disguise the new ironer as a fireplace. You can do this by covering it completely with brick-patterned crepe paper. Use cellophane tape to hold the paper in place. Mass greens and pine cones on top. Pile the family's presents in the opening. Andirons and other fireplace equipment — if you have it on hand — will add a realistic touch.

For the new washer let the whole family share in the fun of decorating. Cut two tree shapes from green construction paper. Staple together down the center. Fold one side forward, the other back. Tape to one corner of the washer.

Drape two lengths of red cord or tinsel rope across the front, hanging small mitts and Christmas stockings on them. Tuck lollipops into them. The mitts and stockings can be cut from double thickness of colorful crepe, then the sides stitched together.

TRIM WITH SNOWFLAKES

Snowflakes printed on midnight blue crepe make a perfect cover-up for that freezer. Get packaged pre-cut crepe icicles and tape them around the top.

For a humorous touch, blow up a yellow balloon — or find last summer's beach ball — and with plastic tape make slant eyes and smiling mouth of an Eskimo boy on it. Tape on cotton for a hood. Add a wreath of greens at the neck. Clever?

Trim the new range with large versions of Christmas goodies, such as gingerbread figures, cookies and so forth. Cut them from brown construction paper and tape in place. Tie it all together with a 10-inch band of bright red flame-proof crepe. Loop more crepe together for a bow on top.

A cylinder-shaped hot-water heater can be made to look like a kingsize candy cane by spiraling Christmas red flameproof crepe streamers around it. Secure streamers here and there with cellophane tape.

Watch Frozen Food in Power Failure

Cornell University specialists say there is little chance of frozen food thawing in the first 48 hours of power interruption, if the freezer is not opened.

They do, however, advise checking the food after 24 hours to make sure it is still frozen hard and has no sign of moisture.

Check Vacuum Booklet

Before you buy any special brushes for your housekeeping, cast a careful eye over the tools which came with your vacuum cleaner. Check thoroughly the instruction book. The chances are very good that you already have much better facilities for coping with dust and dirt than you realize.

Note Odd Uses for Ice Cubes

Do you think ice cubes are made just for tall, cool tinkling beverages?

You're in for a surprise.

Ice, brought dramatically to the forefront by the new automatic ice-server refrigerator, has uses you probably never dreamed of.

Of course, increased quantities of easier-to-handle ice find their greatest use in preparation of appetizers, relishes, salads, entrees and desserts, but many other household uses are reported.

Ice cubes may be used to "skim the grease" from gravy or a stew. When ice is dropped into the hot liquid, surplus grease collects around the cube and may be easily lifted out.

House plants may we watered without fuss and muss by dropping a few pieces of ice into the flower pots. When cubes melt, the plants are watered; no dripping around the pot.

An ice cube wrapped in a washcloth and held against closed eyelids for 10 minutes daily helps relax the eyes and relieve strain. A hot washcloth may be used before the ice is applied.

Then, of course, there's the tried-and-true ice pack. It relieves headaches, fevers and soreness. It can also be used as a facial astringent.

New, Big Gas Burners Give Plenty of Speed

If it's speed you want, gas range manufacturers now offer high speed giant burners of up to 20,000 BTU's, making them the fastest on the market. If you count the seconds in brewing a morning pot of coffee, in bringing water to a fast boil, for deep fat frying, canning and preserving, then you will find these high speed burners the ideal answer, the American Gas Association points out.

Save That New Rug

On a snowy, wet or muddy day, place an old rug just inside the entrance to your home. Or, if you have a porch, put the rug right outside the door. A "swipe" of the feet as the family comes home with ensure a much cleaner carpet inside. Soil on the old rug can be quickly taken up with the vacuum cleaner.

Tailor Kitchen to Fit Family

You have picked the appliances you are going to get this Christmas. You know what you need, how the machines work and you have arranged to fit them into the routine of your home.

But have you planned the layout of your kitchen and laundry? A poor floor plan can destroy much of the value of the best appliances.

If you are moving into a new home or are doing a remodeling job on your kitchen, you probably have professional help. Architects usually work out floor plans, and remodeling of old kitchens often is handled by professional kitchen planners.

But this is your kitchen. It should fit your family. And if you can have only one or two major appliances this year, you will want to plan ahead. What other appliances will you have in future years? Where will you put them, and how will they fit in with what you have?

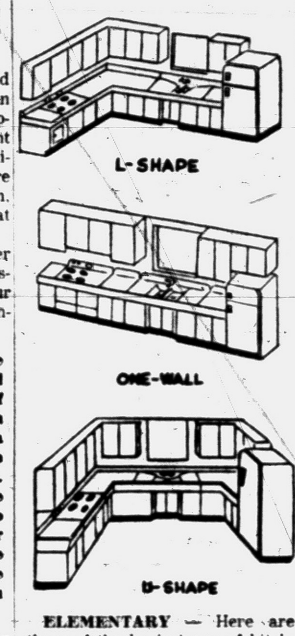
You will see kitchens in other homes and pictures in your newspaper and other publications. Your dealer will have booklets on kitchen planning.

You have heard that some kitchens are so badly planned that a housewife spends much of her time walking back and forth across them. You can check a plan by thinking of a simple task like making a cup of tea. You take the teapot from the shelf. How far do you walk to put water in it? Now, how far is it to the stove? To the place where the tea is stored? To the teacups? To the place where you drink it?

You can ask the same question about other routines. Usually kitchen planners think of the kitchen as a group of centers. There should be centers for mixing, cooking, serving and cleanup. These can be combined or varied in a number of ways.

Kitchen plans usually are thought of as being in the shape of a U or an L. There are also I or straight-line kitchens. And many modern kitchens save steps by putting some appliances, work surfaces and storage cabinets in an island or a peninsula.

Are you getting some of the new automatic appliances? If so, you will be less of a worker and more of an executive. You will need a desk or table as a planning center. Many homemakers find such a center useful even with the older type of appliances.



ELEMENTARY — Here are three of the basic types of kitchen arrangements. Work progresses naturally from left to right, saving steps and energy. There is also the two-wall plan, with sink and range on opposite walls and the refrigerator on either side, depending on space.

How tall is the person who is going to do most of the work in this kitchen? Most counter-height appliances and counters are 36 inches high. That is standard, but people are not of standard height. If the homemaker is very tall or very short, can you arrange to have these surfaces lowered into the floor slightly or raised on solid bases?

Have you work surfaces where you need them, or do you have to carry things across the room to use them?

How about shelves? You will find that there are spaces under low shelves and above high shelves that you can't see without stooping over or climbing up on something. These difficult-to-see spots will differ for people of different heights.

How high can you reach, comfortably? This, too, will make a difference as to where things are stored.

Little things can sometimes makes a big difference. For example, do you have a rack at your eye level which will hold an open cookbook or a recipe card?

How about cabinets in corners? Have you planned revolving shelves in such hard-to-reach places? Is space lacking for a work surface where one is needed? How about a board which you can pull out or fold up or down?

Are you right or left-handed? Most right handers like to work from right to left. Does the work in your kitchen flow that way?

You will find many kitchen plans. You will want to choose one that fits your home and the work habits of your family.

In the same way, you can make your laundry job easier with a little planning in advance. Here the sorting, washing, rinsing, drying cycles are important. But these will vary according to the type of appliances you have to work with.

Experts will advise you to get professional planning help if you can, but see to it that your kitchen and laundry fit your family.

Use Chart for Heater Size

Here are recommendations from the American Gas Assn. for proper size gas water heaters, based on the number of bedrooms and bathrooms in the home:

For one bathroom and one or two bedrooms—30 gal. tank.
For one bathroom and three or four bedrooms—40 gal. tank.
For two bathrooms and two or three bedrooms—40 gal. tank.
For two bathrooms and four or five bedrooms—50 gal. tank.
For three bathrooms and three bedrooms—50 gal. tank.
For three or four bathrooms and four or five bedrooms—75 gal. tank.

A plentiful supply of hot water for all your family needs depends upon the proper sized tank. It should meet future as well as present requirements, since the addition of new appliances, such as an automatic dishwasher or a washing machine, means you will use more hot water each day.

Pompey Water Heater

One of the first known water heaters in history was used by a wealthy Pompeian 2,000 years ago. It was merely a water tank which circulated cold water through the hollow sides of a container filled with hot coals. Gas wasn't used to heat water until the early 1800s.

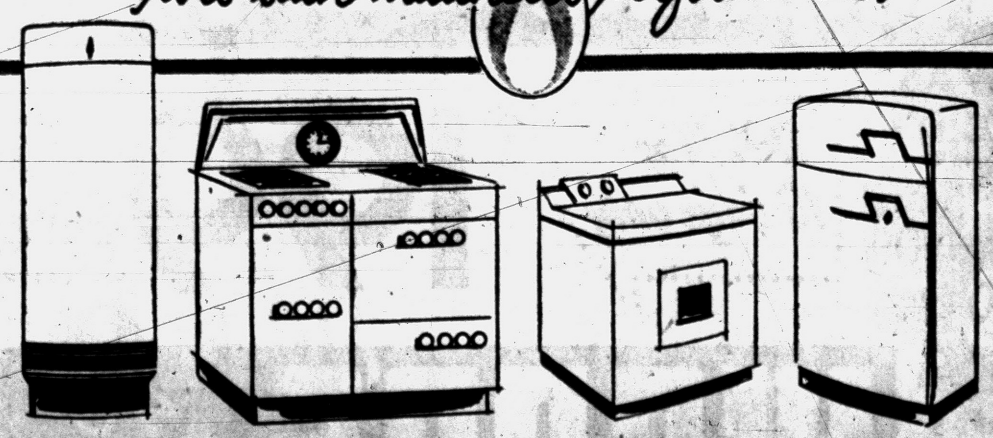
Or give her an automatic gas clothes dryer . . . it's so much faster . . . more economical Or the glamorous new Ice Server Gas Refrigerator. No trays . . . no defrosting! Or an automatic gas water heater will give her loads of really hot, "sanitizing" water to make all her household work easier! And remember – gas is so much faster!

MAKE IT A WHITE CHRISTMAS

Only Gas gives such matchless performance!



CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

By OTTO LORENZ
Associate Editor
"The American Banker"

A White Christmas is up to you! You can have that magical new range or refrigerator, even a complete new kitchen. Credit is the answer.

Credit, for the individual American, lies at the heart of American life today. Without time purchase plans, we would not have the cars, the refrigerators, furniture, television sets and household appliances which characterize most American homes today. Credit for the individual American has become recognized as a proper way to help the family tide over financial emergencies or to obtain and enjoy good, hard, durable home appliances or improvements while saving the money.

SERVE FAMILY NEEDS

To serve these family needs and desires, banks and other financial institutions have come forward since the turn of the century.

Along the way we find department stores, furniture stores, credit unions and cooperatives, savings and loan institutions among the important credit grantors who honorably serve America's growing consumer credit needs.

Now, where should a person go for money to finance his White Christmas? Here is a bit of advice:

Get acquainted with the credit services offered by stores, loan companies, banks and other financial institutions in your community. Find out how each one operates, how much you will pay for their services and just what those services are. Are they merely going to hand over some money or some goods? What will they do to you if things get tough? Will they help you? Will your payment record be appreciated?

You may not need credit or want to buy on time; yet, there are important reasons why you should establish a good credit record for yourself.

Who got nylons first when V-E and V-J days came along? Charge account customers. Why? The store operators knew the names and addresses of their charge-account customers and had no way of learning the names, let alone the addresses, of their cash customers. It's as simple as that.

Does the charge account or instalment buyer always get preference over the cash buyer? Not necessarily. Suppose you buy a television set for cash and your aerial needs fixing. The service you get will depend on the size and ability of your dealer's service organization. If that is good, there will be no delay in getting the aerial fixed. But there is one point to remember: If the dealer offers you a finance plan backed by a reputable bank or finance company, you can be sure that his service organization has been carefully examined and judged adequate to serve his customers. No bank or finance company wants to have payments held up because of a poor dealer service organization.

WHO GETS HELP?

Who gets financial help fastest when he runs into a series of tough breaks? It's the person whose character, integrity and past payment records prove that he is a good credit risk. If no such previous record is available, it is much harder to judge character and capacity to meet obligations.

It costs money to make these credit privileges available to you. And in some places these privileges will cost you more than in others. The cash you get and the total amount of the monthly payments will pin the cost down for you. After that, it's up to you to decide where you get the most for your money—where Santa Claus will help you make it a White Christmas at lowest cost.

Designing Wives Help Makers of Gas Appliances

Modern gas appliances are being designated by housewives through customer polls. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association says domestic gas ranges being made this year have been designed on the basis of surveys.

Emphasis in the new gas stoves is on automatic clock controls for timed cooking. Expandable ovens, smokeless broilers, simmer-type burners and restaurant-style griddles are among other features of the modern range.

* * *

New gas appliances for the home also include:

Gas-fired heating plants to provide air-conditioning.

Clothes dryers in which the family laundry is fluff-dried in 15 to 20 minutes, even on rainy days.

Dishwasher Prediction

Business experts predict that within the next 10 years, more than seven million American homes will be equipped with automatic dishwashers.

Combination refrigerator-freezer models are made possible by technological improvements, including those for insulation, that result in thinner cabinet walls.

HUSBAND-PROOF — It's Christmas Eve and all through the house not a creature is stirring but this husband, trying out the new ironer he bought for his wife. He just wanted to make sure his gift would be the best. (P. S. When he finished ironing this shirt, he was convinced.)

Farm Output to Be Steady —May Go Down After 1975

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agriculture Department economist said today the volume of farm output needed in 1975 can be produced without substantial new acreage despite the population increase.

The economist, Carl P. Heisig, chief of the Production Economics Research Branch, told the 34th Annual Agricultural Outlook Conference that the output of food, feed and fiber needed 20 years from now may be about a third larger than today.

* * *

But he said a shift in the use of today's farmland, plus technological advances to increase yields, should do the job without bringing large new areas under the plow.

In a prepared talk, he gave this picture of possible changes in land use by 1975:

1. About four million fewer acres of harvested corn will be needed than in 1956.
2. Several million fewer acres of other feed grains will be needed.
3. About three million fewer acres of soybeans will be required.
4. Wheat and cotton will require about the same acreage as is being used now.
5. An increase of about 13 million acres for hay will be needed.

American farms during recent years have been producing far more corn, wheat, cotton, soybeans and such than is consumed. This has resulted in piling up of large stocks of surplus stores which the government has acquired in its price support programs.

The main increase needed, Heisig said, will be in livestock production. He said the projected needs for all livestock production in 1975 may be about a third the expected production this year.

Heisig said production needs for crops and livestock would require large additoinal acreage of cropland if this were the only way to meet them. But most of the needs, he said, will be met by further adoption of new technologies.

He said farm output in 1956 is running more than a third greater than that in 1940, produced on about the same cropland area and with fewer farm workers and on fewer, but larger, farms.

LP-Gas Gains in Popularity

Sound strange? It does only if you're not aware of the fast-spreading popularity of liquefied petroleum. This youngest fuel in the nation is now serving nine million home owners in suburban, rural and small town areas.

Loquefied petroleum (LP) gas is a by-product of the petroleum industry. It's sold in pressurized bottles or cylinders or in bulk by tank truck to large-volume consumers.

What's of prime interest to the housewife, however, is the fact that it's used in all modern gas appliances from built-in ranges to year-round air conditioners.

LP-Gas appliances are exactly the same in design as natural gas ranges—you can even get thermostatic top burner heat controls — dryers, water heaters and refrigerators. The only difference is: they're specially equipped to handle the bottled gas.

This brings the advantages of gas to homes outside the reach of city gas mains, and according to one survey, this takes in nearly 40 per cent of American homes.

LP-Gas is a sort of fairy godmother, transforming farm kitchens all over the country into modern, attractive living centers. And it gives the busy homemaker more time for other activities—be they farm chores of just relaxing.

This will show just how popular LP-Gas is becoming. In 1926 its first year—there were only 5,000 users. Today there are nine million. Last year more than six million gallons were marketed.

Just what is LP-Gas? It consists principally of propane and butane and mixtures of these gases. Under normal weather conditions they are liquid only under pressure.

It used only for household uses such as cooking, refrigeration and water heating, the gas is stored at your home in single or double cylinders—replaced as energy is exhausted.

For larger central supply systems, as on a farm or where the fuel is used for house heating or air conditioning, tanks may be installed either above ground or out of sight below ground.

Another thing of interest to homemakers is LP's safety. In atomic tests at Yucca Flats, Nev., installations of LP-Gas were exposed to the full impact of the blast. Some suffered superficial damage but they could have been restored to service quickly. And all around were shattered houses, toppled electric poles and snapped lower lines.

* * *

No wonder the Atomic Energy Commission reported the test indicated LP-Gas "will be available as a fuel when exposed to atomic effects of this degree of severity."

Your Shower Can Be Hot If Heater Size Is Right

Do you ever have to forego the pleasure of a shower when you want one?

Do you have to plan your housework around your hot water supply?

Do you sometimes have to postpone doing the dishes or the laundry because you lack hot water?

If your answer to any of these questions is "yes," then you have an outdated water heater. Putting up with it any longer will not only be aggravating, it's false economy. Overworking your heater takes years off its life. And it adds greatly to your operating costs.

Increasing use of home laundry and automatic dishwashing equipment has brought with it a need for larger size water heaters in most homes—and more important, a need for hotter water. These appliances do their best work with water at a temperature of from 140 to 160 degrees.

When you pick out a replacement for your old water heater, plan for the future as well as the present. A properly sized tank is one which is large enough to provide a margin of extra capacity to meet maximum current as well as possible future demands.

Your final selection may depend on where you want to install your heater. The housewife today is no longer limited to a big, white cylinder. Water heater manufacturers have become color conscious, even shape conscious. In many lines, the customer can choose from a variety of trim colors to fit the decor of the kitchen, basement or utility room.

If you want the heater in the kitchen, you can get an attractive counter-top model. If you want it out of the way in some odd utility room corner, you can buy a square one.

Reds Mass-Produce Medical Graduates

By official account, the country has 330,000 doctors, about one for 600 persons. The United States has one for 700.

* * *

Some of the Russian medical leaders talk informally about a goal of a doctor for every hundred persons, a ratio they say would just about conquer disease in the country. They concede the Soviet Health Ministry will have the final word on numbers.

Dr. O. B. Kerbikov, head of the Second Medical Institute of Moscow, says it has a student body of 4,000 and graduates 600 doctors a year. He says the 80 medical schools in the country turn out about 23,000 graduates a year.

* * *

The United States has 81 medical schools graduating about 7 annually.

Fame Sugar Plums Come From Portugal

NEW YORK (NEA) — At Christmas, everybody sings about sugar plums, but hardly anybody knows what they are.

According to the John Wagner Co., purveyors of imported fancy foods, the plums used are grown in the Pyrenees where nuns at a Portuguese convent dry them and roll them in layer after layer of sugar. After the long process they are packed and shipped.

Gas Dryer Tops in Convenience

Besides being faster and costing less, your automatic gas dryer gives clothes a better-than-outdoors freshness and odor.

Besides, as the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association points out, that old-fashioned outdoors freshness wasn't always as pleasant as it sounds. There was dust and smoke and, perhaps, rain.

And getting an average-sized wash out to the clothesline, letting it dry and hauling it back in ponderous clothes baskets took at least six times as long as it does in a gas dryer. Fifteen minutes for damp dry, 30 for fluff dry—and the wash is done.

There's another item to consider too. Dryer-dried clothing is easier to iron, since the wrinkles are tumbled out more effectively.

Some gas dryers have special controls so that proper adjustment can be made for specific drying jobs—whether with delicate fabrics or with heavy items such as blankets or shag rugs.

Manufacturers of dryers are moving into the built-in field along with the other appliance makers. They have models designed for under-counter or cabinet installation—and they come in colors to match your decorating arrangements.

Musical Director Hit by Cardiac Ailment

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Musical director Walter Schumann was hospitalized today by cardiac asthma. He collapsed yesterday in NBC's Hollywood offices and was revived by a fire department oxygen squad. His doctor said he would have to remain in the hospital several days.

Schumann, 50, heads a choral group known as the "Voices of Walter Schumann;" is musical director of the TV show "Dragnet," wrote the "Dragnet" theme, and is musical director of the Ford show originating in Hollywood on Thursday night.

Former Marine Gets 10 Minutes in Jail

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A 28-28-year-old former "Marine" yesterday received the shortest sentence ever handed down in a federal court here — 10 minutes in jail.

U.S. District Judge Ross Rizley gave that sentence to Robert Ernest Wells for illegally wearing a Marine uniform. The judge noted Wells had been in custody for 28 days while the charge was being processed.

Gift for Family: Hot Water Tank

Small, Efficient Heater Takes Up Less Space, Saves Money

Supposing you've decided the family should give itself a White Christmas gift — a much needed new gas water heater. Do you know what size to buy?

They range in size from 30 to 100 gallons. The size you buy should be determined by two things: The amount of hot water you need and the recovery capacity of the heater.

* * *

Recovery capacity means the ability of the heater to replenish hot water as fast as it's used. With a fast-recovery heater you can use a smaller tank. This will save you money on purchase price, installation, maintenance and operating costs. Besides, it will take up less space.

Many 30-gallon gas-fired water heaters will recover their entire capacity in about an hour. They give more hot water per hour than any other kind of automatic heater, says the American Gas Assn., even including heaters twice as large.

Gas water heaters will turn off and on automatically. And there is never any danger their hot water supply will be cut off by power failures or delivery curtailments.

MANY TANKS ON MARKET

There are many automatic gas tanks that have dial-like controls enabling you to obtain instantly the very high temperatures required for automatic dishwashing and laundering.

* * *

Gas heaters are equally at home in the kitchen, concealed in closets or shown counter-top height alongside other modern home appliances. Their "new look" colors make a big hit with housewives, too.

But the final factor in selecting the kind of water heater you need is determined by conditions affecting your local water supply. Your local gas utility company is best equipped to advise you on the kind of tank material most suitable for your area.

Coeds Swing Clubs, Stop Panty Raiders

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—When about 50 boys broke into the Delta Gamma sorority house on a panty raid early today some girls ran screaming and locked their doors. Others, made of sterner stuff, went "kicking and swinging baseball bats and really mangled some of the boys."

Marinell Brooks, one of the sorority sisters, said "there was no damage except a couple of girls got hysterical. The boys didn't get much."

Miss Brooks said the house mother called police and the boys fled.

The male students also raided the Delta Delta Delta house and Scottish Rite dorm, a private girls' residence. Police stopped them before they reached their third objective.

If Your Old Refrigerator Starts Failing, New Freezing Unit May Save Money

You may have trouble deciding when to get another refrigerator.

Refrigerators are one of the oldest types of appliances. Yours could be on its last legs. Even if it is still doing good work, repair bills may be in the offing. And when the refrigerator fails there is inconvenience. Sometimes there is food loss.

On the other hand, appliances are sturdily made, and even if it is moderately old, your refrigerator may have years of good service left in it.

In that case you may ask yourself how it fits into your home. Are you content to go on at the same old grind of housework in the same old way, or are you ready to move ahead into new dimensions of effective living?

Some experts compare this home problem to the decisions that have to be made in American factories. In plant after plant, the managers are ripping out perfectly good machines which could have years of service ahead of them. There are better machines today and the factories can do a better job with the new.

Today, there are new refrigerators, too. You have a much wider choice than you did when you got your last refrigerator.

Do you have automatic or semi-automatic defrosting? In automatic defrosting, the refrigerator decides the time for the job and does it. In semi-automatic defrosting, you tell the refrigerator when to act. In one case, it is completely off your mind, and you don't have to bother about it.

In the other case, you can adjust the arrangement of food before defrosting. Some people find their storage plan calls for human supervision.

You may be buying a freezer. You may be getting one of the combination freezer - refrigerators or paired units that stand side by side.

* * *

You may like your freezer space above the refrigerator. But you probably use the refrigerator more than a freezer. Some people find it more convenient to have the freezer space at the bottom, and there are many refrigerators built that way.

The new wall refrigerators which become part of the kitchen shelving are convenient in many kitchen layouts. Other types are built into the wall itself. You can also get countertype refrigerators with work space on top. And some people use two small units instead of one large one.

You can get refrigerator doors that can open right or left, and some have devices that permit the same door to open either way at your convenience. Your choice could make a big difference in the number of steps you take. It depends on your kitchen plan.

Fixtures Improve Value

Although a home improvement project is most likely to be outlined with the family's own needs in mind, it also will affect the property's sale price should some change in plans put it on the market.

Modern kitchens and laundries are proven sales makers for builders of new homes, points out the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, and are equally effective in boosting the value of older dwellings.

Good Planning Helps Hostess

Don't Try Too Much and Get Early Start on Yule Festivities

God rest ye merry, hostesses! You'll need it when Christmas is over. Rest, that is.

Haspitality is the warp of the glittering fabric if Yuletide. This is the time when everyone throws open house and heart, when teacups and punch bowls work overtime, when rafters ring with merriment. The house bulges with kith and kin and kissing kin. It's a gay and frantic time.

An automaton.
Have a staff of servants.

For, in addition to wanting to be merry at this season, a woman understandably wants her home spanking clean. So the Yuletide season becomes a sort of spring cleaning with tinsel.

The lady of the house becomes a Santa Claus with an apron. She balances the budget, juggles menus, dashes through crowded stores and chauffeurs overstuffed children. She washes windows, shampoos rugs, picks up litter and unglues kids from the kitchen table.

To assist the overworked critter, here's a primer on how to do it easily, complete with do's and don'ts to crowd onto the overcrowded bulletin board.

Don't bite off more than you can chew. Since you're not Philippe of the Waldorf, you don't have to try to entertain as he does. It's silly to act as if there were a second footman around when everyone can see it's you whisking out the soup plates and running in the roast. Simplicity has its charm

Stuff the goose, not the guest.

Organize the shopping, menu and number of guests to fit the time and help you actually have. Don't plan the menus for a Jones family reunion.

Quality earns reputations, not quantity. And besides, most guests are happy to leave the house without waddling.

Plan for a lot of activity on the floor. Kids will be there anyway and many buffet parties encourage people to sit there. Ignore waxing the woodwork and get the carpet clean. Dry suds, using one cup of Tide to a gallon of water, over a small overlapping patch at a time, are best. Wipe up excess suds with a clean cloth.

Wash the holiday dishes and glasses ahead of time and cover them with clean dish towels. That way, the ninth guest won't get a plate decorated with grit.

Buy or corner or barter from the grocer a large stout carton for a wastebasket. When using paper plates for hors d'oevres or unwrapping presents, there's a convenient place to dump them. Keep it out of the way of cigarets and empty it regularly.

Advance master-planning, including a written menu (so you won't forget the rolls in the oven), is the secret.

Building Exhibition Scheduled in Berlin

Interior decoration of many countries, in actual use, will be one of the highlights of the 1957 International Building Exhibition to be held in West Berlin from July 6 to September 29, the Berlin Tourist Office reports.

The furniture and home crafts will be located in apartments in the Hansa Quarter, now under reconstruction in the Tiergarten, which will be the focal point for the exhibition.

The French and Swiss designers will furnish model apartments in buildings designed by their respective countrymen in the newly rebuilt Quarter, and modern Scandinavian trends will be represented by an exhibit of Finnish housing styles and Swedish interiors in another apartment house.

Pizza Dough Stolen From a Cool Cooler

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—Police said somebody burglarized some dough from a pizza place here. Only this wasn't the kind of dough you make pizza pies from.

It was $607.90 in cool cash.

Guilty in Traffic Deaths

JACKSON (UP) — Stephen Toth, 44, of Chelsea is scheduled for sentencing Dec. 4 on a negligent homicide charge in the traffic deaths of two Detroit men Aug. 24. Sol Stein, 54, and Edward S. Bower, 35, were killed in the crash eight miles east of Jackson on U.S. 12. Toth, who was driving one of the two cars involved, pleaded guilty Tuesday in Jackson County Circuit Court.

A safe way for a husband to hide money from his wife is to put it in some shirts he's asked her to sew buttons on . . . I asked Lucille Ball what she'd do if somebody left her $1,000,000, and she said, "Nothing — starting immediately." — Earl Wilson.

YEAR-AROUND JOY — The lucky teenager who gets a portable television set for Christmas will have something to be happy about every day of the year. At left is new model that can be used anywhere. Right, an electric blanket comes in twin or regular size and assorted colors. Dual temperature controls give personal choice warmth to husband and wife. Toasters in five colors with plastic end walls (below), are offered.

They're Dreams Come True—

Small Appliances Are Welcome Gifts

Appliance gifts brighten the home but they also cheer the homemaker who receives as a gift something she was expecting to have to budget for.

Each year bright new appliances appear on the counters to satisfy the impulse to give the home a gift.

Prominent this year are the small and smaller television sets. These are aimed at the homes that already have a big living room set, but can use a smaller one for the kitchen, a youngster's room or the playroom. Some of these are so small they can go on an office desk.

Noteworthy is the new Seventeener. The title refers both to the screen size and its attractiveness for kids that age. It's portable, with a fold-down antenna.

* * *

Small appliances that add convenience to the kitchen are freshly-styled and often in colors this year. Electric frying pans, griddles, deep fryers and toasters are ideal for gifts.

One new toaster comes in confection colors and has plastic endwalls.

Another new toaster has a tiny broiler at the bottom for doing muffins and other too-thick pieces of bread up brown, right at the table. Other toasters range from single-slice ones to those suitable for large families.

* * *

A new electric blanket may be just the thing for the couple who struggles over the blanket. It can be snapped into a contour shape. It has dual controls, to suit the needs of the individual partner. It comes in rose, coral, yellow, blue and green.

Electric coffee pots, both percs and vacuum ones, become essential to those who have used them.

A suitable gift for husband to give a wife, some can be set the night before and simply plugged in or put on the automatic timer, to give mama a few extra winks of sleep.

Actress Settles Suit for Accident Damages

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Actress Gail Russell has settled the $30,000 traffic accident suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Deutsch. They claimed they sustained neck injuries when the actress' car struck theirs from behind. She admitted liability but contended the amount of damages sought was excessive.

Lawyers would say only that the settlement was "for a satisfactory amount."

He Doesn't Duck Facts

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—Presiding Judge Dick Jones of the Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals, who leaves the court in January after 16 years, will speak at the judicial conference of the state bar association meeting in Tulsa Thursday.

His title: "The Last Quack of a Lame Duck."

Divider in Oven Doubles Its Use

A two-in-one wall oven that broils and bakes at the same time is one of the new space-saving electric appliances that Santa might be able to get into his pack without too much trouble.

Kitchen planning experts point out that an oven like this will help solve space problems in small kitchens or in any kitchen with limited usable wall space. This is because it gives the homemaker the equivalent of two ovens without taking up the space of two ovens.

The built-in wall unit features a removable divider which, when in place, permits the homemaker to broil a steak in the upper section while baking a cake below at a different temperature. With the divider removed, the full-sized 17-inch oven can handle a turkey big enough for all the relatives at Christmas dinner.

The homemaker can entertain those relatives, too, while the complete meal is cooking. Automatic control sees to that.

The oven has space-saving French doors, too, which are a help when grandmother and the aunts come out in the kitchen to see how things are going. The twin doors don't protrude into the room as far as ordinary swing-doors and allow traffic to pass by smoothly.

Elko Boy's $75 Calf Grows to Be Champ

Yesterday the now 920-pound brown and white Hereford won the grand champion steer award at the Great Western Livestock Show. His young owner, Jay Peterson, hopes to get around $3 a pound — which would total $2,760 — for the steer at auction.

"I intend to use the money towards buying a ranch some day," said the son of Louis E. Peterson, owner of ranches in Nevada and Ogden, Utah.

Floor coverings best for use in the kitchen are linoleum, plastic, vinyl and wood if it's treated with penetrating oil sealer.

Correct Lighting Essential for Kitchen Efficiency

Here's a way you can have a "snowflake" Christmas that literally will bring a flow of soothing, welcome whiteness into your life:

Tell "Santa" that this year you want lights for something more than the Christmas tree. Tell him you want "light for living" in the most important room in your house—the kitchen.

According to the American Home Lighting Institute of Chicago, studies have shown that better kitchen lighting makes kitchen tasks easier and requires less physical and nervous energy from the home maker.

The Institute maintains that "for maximum efficiency, there should be fixture light over every important work area in the kitchen —sink, range, and work counters."

Besides eliminating the frustration and irritation that go along with working in a badly lighted kitchen, good fixture lighting helps decorate the room and makes it a more cheerful place.

Safety, too, calls for good lighting. Fumbling in shadowy cutlery drawers, cooking over an inadequately lighted range, and using kitchen appliances in gloomy surroundings all are injury threats which should be eliminated.

Obviously, good light is just as necessary in an old home as in a new one. In many cases, especially with counter lighting, fluorescent units can be installed by "Santa" himself as a "do-it-yourself" project.

Two important things to watch when you plan for kitchen lighting are the color of light you choose, and glare protection. Generally, de luxe cool white fluorescent is preferred for the kitchen. This light is easy to see by and provides excellent color rendition.

Most of the time fluorescent tubes installed under cabinets for counter lighting require no faceboard, since the cabinet itself conceals the lighting fixture. However, if the fixture is installed beneath the front of the cabinet, a faceboard is required.

Lighting over the sink can be concealed behind a faceboard so that the entire effect resembles a custome-built soffit, usually associated with smart remodeling jobs.

Your range needs adequate fixture lighting, even if it already has its own built-in lighting. The built-in unit is generally intended to illuminate only the range controls and is seldom sufficent to light up the cooking area.

A fluorescent wall bracket installed to illuminate the range can be double as a condiment shelf if the top is covered with protective diffusing glass or plastic.

A similar wall bracket can be used to light up the kitchen dining table set against the wall. Or, if the table is placed out from the wall, a pulley-type light fixture can be installed over it. This kind of fixture can be raised or lowered to provide the correct area of down light needed for any purpose.

Information and advice on the correct light for your kitchen is usually available at no charge from your local electrical contractor, electrical distributor, utility, or department store.

Rinse Dishes First in Automatic Washers

Users of dishwashers find their machines so efficient that they need to wash dishes only once or twice a day. But they have found that some dirty dishes stored in the washers might give trouble with stuck on food like egg or cooked cereal.

Then an experienced user came up with a trick to beat the problem. When more dishes are loaded into the washer, turn the machine on for a minute or two without detergent. The dishes rinsed in this way were found to wash well when a load was accumulated and washed.

Urge Wise Planning in Highway Program

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)—Federal Highway Administrator John A. Volpe cautioned state officials today against skimpy planning merely to obtain quick starts on projects of the huge new road construction program.

Volpe said utmost speed is needed. But, he added, a real danger stemming from "the magnitude and urgency of the program is the possibility that here and there under pressure . . . We will launch some projects before they have been fully and adequately planned.

The program enacted this year contemplates spending of around 28 billion dollars on 41,000 miles of interstate highways, plus more billions on local and urban roads, over a period of around 15 years.

Volpe endorsed initial state concentration on projects for urban areas where needs for traffic relief are great. He called this "the most critical feature of the program," but said urgent rural needs must not be overlooked.

British Gas Rationing Means Big Tax Loss

LONDON (UP)—Chancellor of Exchequer Harold Macmillan estimated today the British Treasury will lose about six million pounds —$16,800,000—monthly in taxes as a result of gasoline and oil rationing.

The rationing, one effect of the Suez Canal blockage, begins here Dec. 17. Private motorists will be limited to 200 miles of driving a month.

Monterey Boy Killed

ALLEGAN (UP) — A pickup truck struck a soft shoulder and overturned on an Allegan County road Tuesday, killing a passenger, Billy Kaywood, 14, of Monterey. The driver, Jerry Brenner, also of Monterey, escaped injury. He and Billy were classmates at Hopkins High School.

Experts Ponder Iceland Treaty

Fear Acting Outside of NATO May Crack Western Unity

WASHINGTON (INS) — State Department experts are pondering the text of a tentative agreement on stationing U. S. troops in Iceland amid growing fears that the pact might crack western unity.

A State Department spokesman said the agreement could not be revealed until it is in final form, but other sources reported that one provision would amount to a short circuit of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A newspaper report from Iceland said the Icelandic government would agree to allow U.S. troops to remain at the Keflavik Air Base there if the troops are—in effect—outside NATO control.

Western diplomats reportedly feared such an arrangement would weaken the unity of European defense forces which NATO was designed to create.

* * *

A U. S. source, however, said that even if the troops are administered directly from Washington it would not seriously affect NATO, since the U. S. would never act independently of NATO decisions regarding European defense.

There has been strong agitation in Iceland for removal of the 4,000 U. S. troops. The Icelandic parliament has demanded their withdrawal twice within the last year.

Negotiations for an agreement allowing the airmen to stay were begun a week ago with Ambassador John J. Muccio acting as head of the American delegation. A copy of the agreement was flown to Washington Saturday.

* * *

The agreement is also reported to call for the U. S. to:

1. Agree to pull out its troops at Keflavik Airbase on six months notice by the Icelandic government.

2. Agree to resume developing the Keflavik Airbase and the nearby harbor at Njardvik.

3. Agree to provide additional economic aid to Iceland totalling about 30 million dollars in the next four months.

If the agreement is not ratified, the American troops, first stationed in Iceland in 1951, will have to leave by Feb. 1, 1958.

Fun-Loving Poles Jam Night Clubs, Pay High Tabs

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—It used to be said that communism fills churches and prisons. In Warsaw, it fills night clubs too.

They open at six in the evening and keep going to six in the morning. How customers can afford it, at first sight, is one of the major mysteries of this strange capital.

* * *

The rarytas has everything a restaurant should have — good food, platoons of immaculate waiters, soft lights and sweet music. A quiet dinner for two with a bottle of wine sets you back 400 zlotics — a week's wage for a better-paid Pole, $100 for a Westerner in terms of Poland's outrageous exchange rate.

Lower down the social scale but still well up on the price list is the cascada, a smoke-filled cavern where the vodka flows.

By two in the morning the joint is really jumping as the band blares out the local version of Dixieland. The dancing is more exuberant than elegant and the whole dimlit scene makes a rock 'n' roll riot look like a cozy tea party.

* * *

The showplace of the city is the Crocodile, a cellar club under Warsaw's celebrated "Old Town" — the medieval city sacked during the 1944 uprising and now rebuilt.

Of the 238,539 miles of railways in the United States, Texas has the greatest share with 16,496 miles. Illinois ranks in the second place with a total of 12,063 rail miles.

To Be Safe, Sure Your Appliances Need 'UL' Label

These two initials stand for Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. And the label means the product is as reasonably safe as science and engineering skill can make it.

To win the label, an appliance has to pass a series of exacting tests. The Laboratories want to make sure the appliance can be operated safely, that it won't create a fire hazard or electric shock hazard.

Manufacturers of portable appliances furnish them with Underwriters' "Flag Labeled" cord sets and power supply cords. A small blue or green paper label on the cord signifies that the cord, connecting devices and their assembly, complies with "UL" safety requirements.

Established more than 60 years ago, the Laboratories are non-profit and sponsored by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. It is your assurance of safety for your whole family.

Now You're Able to Do It Yourself

If your husband is not afraid of work—and is handy with tools—you may be able to get that dream kitchen for a lot less money than you'd think.

Today's emphasis on builtins, stack-ons, and dozens of other short cuts to "tomorrow's kitchen" is made to order for a man with "do-it-yourself" inclinations.

Some dealers have recognized that high costs of professional installation are a drawback to sales and have launched all-out campaigns to encourage homeowners to tackle installation themselves. Much of it can be done by non-professionals—at substantial savings.

But don't try any "do-it-yourself" electrical wiring, gas connections or plumbing. These are jobs for qualified experts. Many localities require that these specialists be licensed. Amateur work may jeopardize your insurance as well as create a fire or safety hazard.

Power Line Severs Electrician's Leg

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—A 12,000 volt power cable burned off the left leg of John D. Banks at the knee yesterday. Banks survived the shock but was reported in critical condition at a hospital today.

Banks, 26, father of three children, was one of several electricians who had worked all day clearing out old equipment in the municipal power plant.

In their clearing job they stepped over the power line, which all believed to be dead.

Even Father Can Iron His Own Shirt

Many housewives are so bedazzled by the automatic efficiency dryer in their laundryroom they have forgotten that ironing plays a big part in gracious living.

Who can deny that a bed made with freshly ironed sheets has a look of luxury obtained in no other way? How much prouder do you feel when your guest towels have the crispness only ironing can give them?

You may be surprised to know that these symbols of a truly distinguished home can be obtained without a return to the drudgery that once was associated with them. A homemaker who is determined to retain graciousness while protecting her own precious time can find the answer she searches for in an automatic ironer.

With an ironer, she can enjoy smooth linens and towels throughout the house with only a few minutes of extra work. These are flatwork items, which even a beginner can do quickly and perfectly on an ironer.

It is important to remember that flatwork can represent 70 per cent of a load of ironing in the average home.

For those who are willing to acquire a new skill, there is the further reward of being able to give all the family's clothing a professional finish with a minimum of work.

The most popular ironer is the cabinet style, with cleanlooking white enamel finish. Some have height casters adjustable to the height of the user. It is easy as pie to tilt back the hinged cover and swing out the ironing unit from its storage space.

Cabinet-style ironers have lap panels to support dampened articles before they go through the roll and one or two extension shelves for stacking folded items after finishing.

Also on the market is an ironer adaptable for use anywhere in the home. Of console design, this model comes in red mahogany or limed oak and has graceful wrought-iron legs.

Portable models, which can be rolled into storage spots when not in use, and table models also are available. Table models take little storage space, but must be carried and lifted to the table where they are to be used.

Modern Cabinet Sinks Offer New Convenience

Focal unit for modern kitchen planning is the cabinet sink. De luxe models, now within the range of all budgets, include many items of kitchen convenience.

Among them are: pull-out bread cutting board, towel holder, compartmented bread drawer, rinsing spray, and single handled faucet.

Read the Directions!

You're protecting your investment when you take the time to learn how to care for your electric range.

Reading the direction book that comes with your new range will help you get more for your money in terms of long-time serviceability. Manufacturers have put considerable time and effort into making direction books that are easy to understand and follow.

They believe in their products and they want their customers to stay sold. That's why they want to get the most from your electric range.

The most important single rule is maintenance on a regular basis.

Clean up spilled food and boilovers as soon as possible. Attend to having repairs made by a qualified electrician promptly.

Electric ranges aren't much of a chore to clean when given regular care after each meal or as spills occur during cooking. When cleaning enameled surfaces while the range is hot, use a paper towel or dry cloth. A damp cloth might crack the enamel.

When the range is cool, wash with a sudsy cloth and finish with a clean damp cloth. A mild household cleaner may be used for stubborn spots.

Drip trays should be cleaned carefully. Food that has dried on electric surface units should be burned off. Never immerse electric units in water.

Oven compartments can be cleaned with commercial cleaners specifically designed and marketed for this task. Directions should be followed closely. Steel wool, scouring pads and cleansing powders may also be used to remove spattered grease and fried food.

'Argue and Fuss, Fight and Cuss' —Divorce Case

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nat J. Greb is a landlord who gives a week's free rent to honeymooners and even deeds property to tenants who become the parents of triplets, but his own honeymoon wound up in the divorce court.

Married Aug. 4, Greb charged yesterday that his wife, Carol, 35, "had a change of nature" within a few days after their marriage. Kind and considerate at first, she soon "began to argue and fuss and fight and cuss," the 51-year-old bridegroom charged in his complaint.

"But if she has triplets she will get a deed to a house just like anyone else who lives on my properties," he added.

Family of Three Escape to Detroit

Laszlo Kurz, his wife, Gisela, and their 15-month-old daughter, Martha, arrived by train after a hazardous journey from the little town of Mosonmagyarovar, Hungary, where Kurz managed a small factory.

Kurz said the Russians killed some 8 rebels in his town alone during the Hungarian uprising. He and his wife escaped after walking 10 miles to the Austrian border, carrying their infant daughter.

In Detroit they were met by Gustav Schimmel, a second cousin of Kurz. Schimmel himself fled Austria in 1938 just before Hitler overran the country.

South America's great mountain system, the Andes, extends for a distance that is twice as long as the mileage from London to Istanbul, the chief city of modern Turkey.

Buy Gas Appliances With AGA Approval Seal

When your family goes shopping for a gas appliance for your White Christmas, you can concentrate on three things: style, price and the exciting new features you want.

What about safety, durability and performance?

You don't have to worry about those factors. It's been tested for you. It has, that is, if you find a blue star in a white circle on the appliance you're considering.

That blue star in a white circle is the Approval Seal of the American Gas Assn. It's the symbol of one of the most extensive consumer protection and appliance advancement programs ever sponsored by American industry.

TESTED 300 TIMES

Say that you're looking for a new gas range. If the one you like has that blue star in a white circle on it, then you know that it passed more than 300 major tests before it graduated to a sales floor.

The tests, including trials by fire, force, inspection and chemistry, are conducted at the A.G.A. Laboratories in Cleveland and Los Angeles. There, more than 6,000 models of gas equipment, divided into 31 classifications, take their final exams each year.

The Approval Seal can be renewed each year for five years. After that the appliance must be tested again, for requirements are constantly being up-graded.

Some of the most scientific improvements in gas appliance engineering have been made right at the A.G.A. Laborations in Cleveland, where a complete department devoted to research helps keep gas consumers supplied with ultra-modern appliances.

The A.G.A. Approval Requirements Committee sets the standards. And the representatives' list reads like a Who's Who of people in the know. There are 275 representatives of gas utilities, gas equipment manufacturers, National Board of Fire Underwriters, U. S. Bureau of Mines, U. S. Public Health Service, American Institute of Architects and other impartial, widely known public service organizations.

REQUIREMENTS COMMITTEE

The Approval Requirements Committee is also a sectional committee of the American Standards Assn., Inc. The standards it adopts, therefore, become American Standard as well as A.G.A. Approval Seal requirements. To you, this means satisfaction with your appliance because you know it's as safe, durable and efficient as science can make it.

Kitchenware Colorful on the Inside, Too

Whether or not you like color on the outside of your appliances, it seems possible that some of those you buy may not be white inside.

Some of the makers found costs mounting when they tried to match all the new outside colors inside their products. Last year they tried various ways of meeting the problem.

At least one manufacturer changed interior colors on both white and colored applances. He thinks he has found a single interior color that goes well with both white and colored exteriors.

The idea has not moved far enough to establish a trend, but in the future there is a good chance the appliances you buy may have color inside whether they are white or colored outside.

Let's make it an old-fashioned Christmas this year, one with the whole family sharing in the joy of the holiday season.

"Old-fashioned" doesn't mean "out of style." In fact, there has been a marked return in recent years to the traditional type of Christmas in which the family celebrates and worships together.

Whether it's gathering the evergreen tree from a forest or buying it at a store, whether it's planning a quiet but festive observance or entertaining the neighborhood — the family now enjoys doing it together more than ever.

LIVING THE YEAR 'ROUND

And this tightening of family ties doesn't just occur any more with Christmas Eve and depart before New Year's. The Christmas spirit, more and more, is living the whole year around.

Why?

It's a paradox of our times that automation — an unhomelike word if there ever was one — is putting fresh meaning into family life.

With push-button equipment taking over many of the jobs that used to make the homemaker a drudge, she is freed to make many more personal contributions to the family welfare.

But modern appliances have their greatest appeal in making the kitchen the most lived-in room in the house.

To most home lovers, it's secondary that scientific advances have given them an almost unlimited staff of mechanical servants to do kitchen and laundry work efficiently and quickly with little human effort involved. What really matters to them is how the family is being reunited as perhaps never before.

FAMILY ROOM IS BACK

In line with this recognized trend, house planning has brought back the "family room." It's either a part of the kitchen area or next to it, separated only by room dividers or cabinets.

Gone are the cold, clinical-looking kitchens in which the housewife stayed only long enough to get the work done — and practically nobody else ever entered. Now kitchens manned by silent, untiring appliances, are centers of family activity.

In many of the newest smaller homes being built, there are no dining rooms on the blueprints. Instead, big kitchens are dining rooms — and living rooms, too.

Kitchens now include laundry, sewing center, hobby corner, workbench, children's play pen, food bar, breakfast nook — all blended into the decor and appliance layout with harmony and taste.

Again the kitchen is the heart of the home as it used to be in grandma's day, and on back in history. Home is where the hearth is, the modern American family is rediscovering.

So make it an old-fashioned — and new-fashioned — Christmas this year. Let the family have fun in the kitchen sharing the hundreds of happy things to do there.

The family can share, too, in its giving.

INVESTMENT IN HAPPINESS

They may arrive to the sound of sleighbells in the frosty, early morning air as Santa makes his rounds. Or the sound may be a truck's horn, as Santa's helper, your local appliance dealer, makes delivery. But in either case, the gift will make Christmas the gala occasion it should be.

When you unveil your new appliances this Yuletide, remember that they're more than just attractive, efficient work-savers. They're an investment in happiness for you and your whole family.

Greeting the Same, Just Sounds Strange

NEW YORK (NEA) — If a guy bumps you on a blue, chilly Monday morn and then spouts off a "Wesolych Swiat," don't hit him.

Merely smile and return his "Merry Christmas" greeting. His was in Polish. What your reply will be depends on your linguistic ability.

In Sweden they say "God Jul;" in Norway, "Gledelig Jul;" and in Iceland, "Gledileg Jol."

More familiar to Americans probably are the French "Joyeux Noel" or German "Froliche Weihnachten."

Switch Might Save Time, School Money

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — County made this suggestion during a discussion on the proposed hiring of a $1,104-a-month psychiatrist for the school system:

The supervisors made no decision yesterday on the psychiatrist. But they didn't order any switches, either.

"Ampere" or "amp" denotes capacity. "Watt" is the amount of energy used. "Volt" is the level of pressure — the higher the voltage number, the greater the pressure.

WATCHDOG — While his mistress is away shopping, her inquisitive household friend keeps tab on her electric dryer which has just finished work on the wash load finished by its matching washer (left). Automatic from start to finish, the dryer has four temperatures, guide light control, selective timer to 60 minutes and automatic shutoff when the cabinet door is opened.

Washer-Dryer Lightens Chores

Lots of smart housewives who want to stay young find that owning an electric washer-dryer combination is just about as effective as having a weekly facial.

Instead of the back-breaking washday chores they used to suffer through every Blue Monday, they now load in the weekly wash, add detergent, push a button—and go off to shop, to visit or see a movie.

Refreshed from the outing, they return to find clean, dry clothes waiting for them.

The time they used to spend hanging the wash out on the line and then watching to see if it would rain or blow up a dust-storm—now all that precious time is theirs to spend on better living. Some homemakers load the washer at night and find the dry clothes ready when they get up in the morning.

The electric washer-dryer combinations wash, rinse and fluff-dry (or damp-dry) in one continuous operation. Some even choose the correct amount of water necessary to wash each load efficiently.

Source of Natural Gas Is Sponge-Like Rock

Have you been wondering just what natural gas is?

Formed millions of years ago through the decomposition of matter, it is found in pockets of sponge-like rock far below the earth's surface. It can only be found by drilling successive wells until the gas-bearing strata is located.

Any Color Goes Well With Stainless Steel

Gas ranges now are made with enamel surfaces in black, blue, brown, coppertone, gray, green, pink, red, tan, white and yellow. Metallic finishes come in antique bronze, antique copper, bright chrome, satin chrome and stainless steel.

Refrigerators Needed

In 1955, 70 to 75 per cent of one billion dollars worth of refrigeration sales was in replacement of old units—indicating there is a substantial number of homes in need of new refrigerators.

Plan Program for State GOP

Rep. Sallade Leader of Movement to 'Rebuild' Republican Party

LANSING (AP)—State Rep. George W. Sallade of Ann Arbor, leader of the so-called "Young Turks" announced the first in a series of "informal meetings aimed at rebuilding the Republican Party in Michigan."

He said a group of legislators will get together at a luncheon in the Michigan Union Building at noon Ann Arbor Friday to lauch Republican discussions of problems facing the state.

Sallade said he had invited all newly-elected Republican state representatives, some house committee chairmen and others in the Young Turk group.

"The meeting will be opened to the press in its entirety as distinguished from many such party and legislative gatherings in the past," he said.

* * *

"A really effective legislative majority in a divided government must do more than accept or reject proposals from the executive branch," he said. "It must at least sincerely attempt to formulate unified policieis of its own."

Sallade said the people have a right to look for leadership from the Republicans, who once again will control both houses of the legislature.

Sallade and his Young Turks constituted a separate entity on some questions within the Republican house majority and occasionally, at strategic times, threw their weight with the Democratic minority to win house approval for Democratic-sponsored proposals.

To Make the Most of Your Kitchen, Use Multi-Purpose Steel Cabinets

Thanks to the wide variety of sizes and styles now available in standard and special-purpose steel cabinets, remodeling an old kitchen or planning one for a new home is both simple and fun.

Today's steel kitchen can be tailored perfectly to room size requirements, yet provide the advantage of economy because of mass production.

Snack bars that serve as handy dining and work surfaces.

Handsome divider cabinets, with door openings on both sides, which can be used to separate the food preparation center from a dining or laundry area. These units supply compact storage room for supplies, which can be reached from either area.

* * *

Curved door and rounded steel shelf units which can be fitted at the ends of rows of standard base and wall cabinets to ease walk through passageways and add a clean decorative line to the kitchen.

All of these precision built cabinets help stylize the steel kitchen. Each unit regardless of its design, blends with all others of the same make. This means that the multi-purpose kitchen, though made up of two or three centers for cooking, laundry, dining or other activities can be fashioned into one coordinated work saver with a custom-tailored appearance.

* * *

Remember when planning for base and wall cabinets that the right height depends upon both the job to be done and your height, posture and arm length.

Here's how the Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture Extension Service recommends that you find your best work heights for various kitchen chores:

STAND-UP JOBS

Stand at ease with your feet slightly apart and arms down at your sides. Raise your arms from the elbow until the palms of your hands arrive in a position where you could mix food without stooping. Measure the distance from the floor to your hands. This is the best working height for your food prepration or mixing counter.

SITTING JOBS

Sit at ease in a comfortable straight chair with a back support. Place your feet flat on the floor, arms down at your sides. From the elbow raise your arms until parallel with the floor. The distance from the floor to your wrist is the right height for a lapboard.

Proper height of a sink is extremely important. If it is too deep or low, you will have to stoop, lean or slouch to do your work. The proper posotion is one that will enable you to stand comfortably erect and be able to place the palms of your hands in the bottom of the sink.

Work Sitting Down

Since studies have shown that it requires 8 per cent more energy to stand than to sit, the wise home maker does as much of her work in a sitting position as is possible.

Waterford Revokes License for Controversial Dump

Lawmakers Also Detach Site for County Building

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Meeting in regular session here, the Township Board revoked the license for the dump which was to be located at 1280 Crescent Lake Road.

The project had aroused considerable protests from nearby home owners.

The five-acre site is part of a parcel owned by Charles Sinsabaugh. Low and swampy, it lies nearly in the center of the township. Officials said the type of fill to be used will be left up to the owner.

The new township dump will be located at 7265 Pontiac Lake Road, just west of Hospital road. It will be open daily from 8 a.m. until dark.

In other business the Board passed a resolution detaching from the Township of Waterford, that portion which is bounded by Telegraph road and the Grand Trunk Railroad to be annexed by the City of Pontiac. This is the proposed site for the new county building. The action was approved earlier this month by the registered voters living in the area.

Supervisor Lloyd Anderson was questioned about the rumor that he would be running for reelection next spring in spite of the fact that he was elected state representative this fall.

He said he had been asked to head the township Republican ticket but felt he had to turn it down.

"I can't conscientiously see myself doing a good job at both," he said, "I was elected state representative and will devote my time to that."

New Lake Unit Eyes Standards

East Oakland Groups Studying Dam Care, Property Use

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Committees of the newly-organized Lake Oakland (East End) Civic Assn. are beginning sessions to discuss and decide on action to maintain and improve their area's standards.

Checking on property restrictions is a group formed by Leon Cheyne, Mrs. Grant McDonald and Albert Beul.

The new officers of the association, which adopted a constitution and by-laws on Monday night at Jayno Adams school, are Grant McDonald, president, Lewis E. Whitehorn, vice president, Mrs. Robert Ferrier, secretary, and Mrs. Leo Knisely, treasurer.

Next meeting will be at the Jayno Adams school Jan. 23 at 8 p.m., when all property owners in the area are asked to attend and other committees will be formed.

Publicity for the group is being handled by Mrs. McDonald, and refreshments for meetings will be arranged by Mrs. Clarence McAllister, Mrs. Whitehorn and Mrs. Ralph Mettetal.

Car Skids Past Stop; Minor Injuries Result

Jean W. Edgin, 25, of 52 Florence Ave. suffered minor head injuries when her car skidded through a stop sign into another car yesterday, Pontiac police said.

She was treated at Pontiac General Hospital.

The other driver, Dale D. Nance, 17, of 155 Euclid Ave. was not injured. The accident was at Florence and Norton avenue, police said.

BELLS FOR YULE — Mrs. Frank Zimmerman, at left, adjusts the metallic bow on bells she and Mrs. Paul Hagan, right, and Mrs. Richard McCarius are making for the annual Christmas bazaar of Our Lady of the Lakes parish in Waterford. For use indoors or outdoors, the metallic decorations are among the many items to be sold that include handmade linens, stuffed toys, gifts, cards and wrappings, foodstuffs and candies. The sale, at the church on the Dixie Highway in Waterford, is set for Saturday and Sunday, under chairmanship of Mrs. Zimmerman.

South Oakland Wins Slum Aid

U.S. Grants $57,374 to Royal Oak Township for Clearance Plan

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — This community and Mt. Clemens yesterday were awarded at Washington, D.C., federal grants totaling $137,000 for slum clearance and redevelopment studies.

The township and Mt. Clemens are to use the funds to formulate detailed plans for new developments.

The government will pay two-thirds of the redevelopment costs if the final plans are approved by the Federal Urban Renewal Administration.

Royal Oak Township, which waited two years for the grant pending the Madison Heights area's withdrawal into a city, will receive $57,374 in the urban renewal program.

The area to benefit occupies about two square miles, and stretches east of Wyoming Street to the Ferndale boundary, between Eight Mile and North End roads. It also includes a strip one block west of Wyoming.

The remaining Federal Housing unit in the area west of Wyoming will be redeveloped by the township by 1958, according to plans.

GAIL HOFMEISTER

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hofmeister, 8436 Cascade Drive, White Lake Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gail Hofmeister, to Raymond McLeod. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLeod, 9917 Rutland St., Detroit. Miss Hofmeister has not set the exact date for an early spring wedding.

Seek High Walk at Farmington

Expressway Overpass for Students Wins OK by 2 Groups

FARMINGTON — Bringing southside students across the under-construction Brighton-Farmington expressway may be solved if a walk now approved by two government groups is constructed.

The expressway is paralleling the "cut-off" or east-bound U.S.16 route that bypasses the Farmington business district.

The cut-off will probably be closed in January, while construction of the expressway is completed.

* * *

At the board meeting, members also approved an application for federal aid for the schools here.

Examine Facts in 1924 Killing

City Man Arraigned on 3rd Murder Charge; Convicted Twice

Saint Helm, 57-year-old former Pontiac man who has served 34 years in prison on two murder convictions, was scheduled for examination today on a third murder charge.

He was charged upon release from State Prison of Southern Michigan after finishing sentence for a 1918 shooting here.

* * *

He also was imprisoned in New York State for a 1926 killing.

The Wickwire murder occurred after Helm had been paroled for the first death. After serving his New York sentence, he was returned to Michigan to finish the full term for the 1918 murder.

The examination will be in Pontiac Municipal Court.

Midair Plane Crash Kills 2 Naval Cadets

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (AP)— Two naval aviation cadets lost their lives in the colision of two skyraider fighter-bombers flying wing-to-wing at 22,000 feet yesterday.

They were aviation cadet Elmon Reeves McBroome, USNR, son of Mrs. Carrie E. McBroome of Dallas, and Marine Corps Second Lt. Kenneth Eugene Walker, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs Joseph Dempsey of Birchrunville, Pa.

They were student pilots at Cabaniss field, naval auxiliary air station, Corpus Christi, and were on a tactical training flight.

Boy Fractures Leg; Ran Into Path of Car

A 14-year-old Junior High School student received a compound fracture of the right leg when he was knocked down by a car in front of 3966 Airport Rd., Waterford Township, last night.

* * *

Robert L. Giers, of 6174 Wilson Ave., was reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital today. He told Waterford police he did not see the car coming when he started to cross the road.

* * *

Driver Carl F. Stone, 27, of 6411 Monrovia St., Drayton Plains, and a witness said the youth ran directly into the path of the vehicle while trying to cross the road diagonally, according to investigators. Stone reportedly applied his brakes but was too late to avoid the accident.

Extinguish Attic Fire at Twin Beach Golf Club

A minor attic fire was extinguished at the Twin Beach Country Club in West Bloomfield Township early this morning after caretaker Charles Richardson called firemen when he smelled smoke.

Damage to the attic was estimated at between $50 and $100 by firemen. Faulty wiring or spilled oil near the furnace were given as possible causes for the blaze.

Youths Wreck Greens

ROYAL OAK (INS) — Royal Oak police have arrested three juveniles who tore up greens at the Red Run Golf Course, causing over $1,000 worth of damage. Police said the boys tore huge chunks of earth from the greens and marred the surfaces with rakes.

Rule on Spouts at Lathrup

'Controversy' Is Ended With Council Decision on Drain Areas

LATHRUP — An amendment to the controversial downspout law was passed at a special meeting of the council here this week.

The amendment is to an ordinance enacted last spring which called for a discontinuation of downspouts in critical areas caused by heavy rains flooding basements. The law raised a storm of protests.

The new ordinance provides a way to property owners to appeal the decision of the Building Inspector in case of property damage.

Charles D. Kelley told council members again that he does not know where the profile maps are.

The lost profile maps are maps of the city sewers built by Lathrup subdivisors Charles D. and Louise Lathrup Kelley which were turned over to the county and then handed back to the city.

Repeated requests by the council for the maps have been made to Kelley who denies any knowledge of the maps whereabouts.

Assistant Administrator Jerald Stone said engineers are working on new sewers and if the profile maps are not found, new ones must be drawn up adding new costs to the building of the sewers to the taxpayer.

Tree Decoration to Be Featured at Cranbrook

An exhibition of Christmas tree decorations made by Katherine Mack, science professor at Wayne State University, will be the December feature at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, it was announced today.

* * *

The imaginative decorations are made from gilded and painted seed pods, leaves and other parts of plants.

Judge Doty Decides to Stay on Bench

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, forced by a recent attorney general's opinion to retire this year or lose retirement benefits in serving out the remainder of his elected term, announced yesterday he will remain on the bench until Dec. 31, 1959.

Judge Doty said he has been "encouraged, if not influenced," by petitions urging him to continue serving, signed by 125 county attorneys, and added he feels "an individual should continue to work . . . as long as he can, and does, produce wholesome results."

Auto Crash Blamed on Steering Apparatus

Mrs. Frances C. Prince, 40, of 9529 Buckingham St., White Lake Township, is in "fair" condition at Pontiac General Hospital with a concussion and multiple cuts and bruises received early this morning when her car went off the road and hit a tree in White Lake Township.

The woman blamed faulty steering apparatus for the accident which occurred in front of 242 Williams Lake Rd. She told Oakland County [illegible] control and off the left side of the pavement.

State Approves School Drainage at Kendallwood

FARMINGTON — The State Department of Health has approved the use of the Kendallwood sewer system for both the junior high and elementary schools in the new area, the Board of Education learned last night.

Approval from the state was required because of limited size of the system. School Trustee Douglas Hammial said, "If there are not too many students outside of the Kendallwood area attending the schools, then the sewer will be adequate." The schools will enroll about 400.

The Kendallwood Assn. has approved the school use of its water system.

Library Board Sets Saturday Bakesales

WALLED LAKE — The Community Library Planning Board here will hold a bake sale at two different business locations at 10 a.m. Saturday to raise money for current and future expenses.

Baked goods will be sold by board members at Van's store in downtown Walled Lake City and at Anderson's Pharmacy in the shopping center on Maple road. The baked items will be donated by residents of Walled Lake and Commerce Township.

Operated and maintained by volunteers, the Library has been open since Aug. 1 at 121 Pontiac Trail, on the second floor of the Ramsey Dry Goods building. Serving persons living in Walled Lake and the surrounding area, it is open from 7 until 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 until 9 p.m. Fridays and from 2 until 4 p.m. each Saturday.

Commerce Church Sets Member Tea

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Seventeen new members will be welcomed into the Commerce Methodist Church membership at a tea scheduled for 5 p.m., Sunday, at the church.

Representatives from the various church organizations will form a welcoming committee, and guest soloist will be Mrs. Larry Ridley.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Terry Snideco and Mrs. Kay North.

* * *

The exchange of Chanukah gifts for the Sunday School students will be during the classes on Dec. 9. All services will be led by Rabbi Israel Goodman.

Camp Kilmer Gets 148 New Refugees

CAMP KILMER, N. J., (AP)— "Operation Mercy" resumes today with the arrival of two more planes bearing 148 refugees from Communist Hungary.

The first plane, chartered from Great Lakes Airline, was to land at 8 a.m. at Mcguire Air Force Base. The second, a Transamerican Airliner, is scheduled to land there between 6 and 9 p.m.

Each plane carries 74 refugees. They will be brought to the refugee processing center at this reactivated army camp.

Family Sleeps; Firemen Arrive to Fight Flames

UTICA—Residents of a blazing home were still asleep this morning at 4 a.m. as firemen rushed to extinguish the flames.

* * *

The Richard Russell family escaped the fire, which firemen later blamed on faulty wiring, but their home was a total loss.

The building, at 2661 West Utica Rd., housed ten people, but it was a woman at the nearby Dequindre Inn that alerted the fire department. Battling the flames with the local group were units from Rochester, and Shelby and Brooklands Townships.

* * *

Owned by Albert Poplawski, the Russell family rented the home, which with contents was valued at from $15,000 to $18,000. All the family's belongings were destroyed.

Hobby Fills Carnes Home

Ceramics Answers Vase Need

By VIOLA GRILE and DOROTHY JEAN ZACK

FOUR TOWNS — A ceramics hobby that began with a need for inexpensive flower arrangement aids, now fills a new ranch home with shelf loads of handmade potteries and its basement with dozens of busy art students.

Mrs. A. N. Carnes, who 20 years ago decided that a larger variety of vases within her limited budget was reason enough for beginning ceramic work, now is considered a local expert on clay and glaze work.

She'll talk to former neighbors and fellow guild members when the Elizabeth Russell Guild of the Four Towns Methodist Church gathers at the church at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Many members of the guild were also members of her classes when she and her husband lived on Lochlin road at Union Lake.

A few months ago the Carnes' moved her kilns and pottery supplies, his amateur radio equipment, with other items to a year-old home at 1000 Sugden Rd., Milford Route 2, near Bogie Lake.

"Moving with all those breakable plates, figurines and nicknacks would have been horrible, except that my ceramic classes helped me move," says Mrs. Carnes. "It took us a full week."

"I've lots more shelves now, and they're full already," she says, pointing to her ceramic items, some brilliant and some in soft pastel tones, arranged about the rooms. The ranch-type home has a larger basement, with plenty of space for the frequent class sessions.

It will be the first time the guild has heard her lecture, although she was a member before the move.

Renewal of Excise Taxes Sought

WASHINGTON (INS)—The administration has disclosed it will seek a one-year extension in excise levies costing consumers more than 750 million dollars annually, but held out hope for a general tax reduction in the future.

Dan T. Smith, special assistant to Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, told a house ways and means subcommittee, that "it appears it will be necessary to ask for an extension" in some of the increases quoted in 1951 to finance the Korean War.

President Eisenhower is expected to ask Congress when it reconvenes in January to extend the Korean War boosts for another year. They otherwise expire next April 1.

Committee aides estimated that the proposed extension would continue in effect at least 750 million dollars in taxes now paid by consumers on liquor, beer, wine, cigarettes, passenger cars and auto parts and accessories. If the present rate of prosperity continues, the revenue could greatly exceed the estimate and possibly reach as high as one billion dollars.

HIKES WERE TEMPORARY

The Korean War increases were imposed as a temporary measure, but former president Truman and President Eisenhower have requested Congress each year not to permit them to expire.

• • •

Smith, who is in charge of tax policy, said the Treasury Department favored a year-by-year extension.

Asked why, he explained: "We have hopes that there will be a substantial tax reduction and we want to keep those hopes alive."

Smith did not say when this might be expected. The treasury aide apparently referred to a general tax reduction, rather than just a cut in excise levies. He said personal income taxes were high on the agenda whenever a tax cut became feasible.

Administration officials have taken the position in the past that there should be no general tax reduction until there is a sufficient surplus to defray the revenue loss. There is no indication that they have changed their position.

However, the President probably will spell out his tax program in detail early next year in his annual messages to Congress on the state of the union and the country's economic situation, as well as in his budget message.

Here are the commodities, and the taxes now imposed on them, which would be affected by the one-year extension of excise: liquor, $10.50 on a gallon (increased from $7 in 1951); beer, $9 a barrel (increased from $8); wine, various rates, cigarettes, $4 per thousand—8 cents a pack—raised from $3.50); passenger cars, 10 per cent, and auto parts and accessories, eight per cent (previously seven per cent and five per cent respectively).

God's Little People — Purely Unsinned Want to Be Mayor of Santa Claus, Ind.

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (INS) — Christmas - born children worry about war and the troubles faced by boys and girls in Hungary.

Impact of world news upon young children shows in letters written by applicants for the honorary mayorship of Santa Claus, Ind.

Several hundred applications for the mythical job already have been received in response to an offer by the Santa Claus Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has offered to pay the plane fare of the winning mayor and his father, mother or guardian for a visit to Santa Claus, Ind., Dec. 23. Only children born on Christmas eve or Christmas day, not over 12 years of age, may enter. Applications will be accepted up to Dec. 10.

This far letters have been received from all parts of the United States, from Canada and Japan. The prospective mayors or their parents were asked to send a snapshot of the child and a sentence telling what he or she would do if chosen honorary mayor.

The committee stressed what the winner would get—a plane trip, a day as Santa's assistant and free run of the famous little town. So the members were surprised to get letters such as this from eight-year-old Donald Jay Unger, of Frankfort, Ind.:

"If I were chosen honorary mayor, I would do all I could to help the children of Hungary have a merry Christmas."

Michael Rudt, 11, of Pittsburgh, Pa., wants to set aside a "Peace - on - earth - good - will - to - men" day. Jerry Johnson, also 11, of Norfolk, Va., wrote:

"If I was mayor I would let every person know Christmas was not just the time to get toys but that Christ was born."

Dee Dee White, Silver Spring, Md., said:

"If I sat next to Santa, I'd tell each boy and girl to pray for peace." Arlene Strautman, 9, of Phoenix, Ariz., wrote:

"I would try to do all I could to help other little girls and boys be just as happy as I would be."

Anna Kaye Walker, 11, of Owensboro, Ky., wanted "more than anything to help make my two cousins, Joe and Jimmy Kosegi, of Indianapolis, have a happy Christmas." she explained their mother died Nov. 5.

The mother of six year old Richard Hartford Mace, Jr., Milford, N. H., wrote that her son wants to "give a big flashlight to God so he can see his way around on the nights when the stars don't come out."

And Mrs. E. L. Pfeiffer, Indianapolis, expressed the predicament of parents of pre-school age applicants when she wrote of her four-year-old son, Richard Douglas:

State Medicine Seen as Danger

AMA Head Raps High U.S. Spending as Trend to Federal Control

SEATTLE (AP) — Dr. Dwight H. Murray, president of the American Medical Assn., said today the government is steadily spending more money on health and medical activities and the trend is inching the United States toward state medicine.

The expansion of this government spending, he declared in an address prepared for a session of the AMA's house of delegates, apparently is good politics.

Apparently many Americans still want to see government in the role of a big brother, dishing out so-called gifts and bargains under the guise of benevolent economic planning," Dr. Murray said.

"We do not deny there is an area of legitimate concern by the government for the health and welfare of the people. But each year government seems to extend that area. We get some idea of this expansion from the current federal medical budget.

SPENDING ZOOMS

"This year the average family will be paying $54.61 for the U. S. government's health and medical activities. And the total expenditure this year amounts to 2½ billion dollars—290 million more than last year . . . It is a billion dollars more than the cost of running the Commerce Department, half a billion more than the Agriculture Department and six times more than the Interior Department's budget.

"I think that a nation can drift into state medicine inch by inch just as surely as if the scheme were foisted upon a people overnight. The 'drift' method may take longer, but the result will be the same."

Leather Goods Solve Many Gift Problems

A good recipe for a Christmas stocking stuffing might begin: "first catch a leather goods counter." For it's a good hunting ground for gifts that will fit any stocking — from leather-covered bottle openers to exotic, hand-tooled leather compacts and billfolds.

Any woman would love a set of matching accessories for her purse. They come trim and tailored in smooth, solid-colored leather with perhaps narrow gold or silver trim; gay and eye-catching in paisley or floral-printed leathers on pastel backgrounds and elegant in embossed, gold kidskin.

Where Chefs Belong and Gals Just Meddle

Gourmet Wants Women to Desert Kitchen

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—"There are only two reasons why women make such abominable cooks," said the self-styled czar of American gourmets. "First, they lack imagination. Second, they lack taste."

* * *

He sat back then — Maurice Dreicer did—and laid his hands on the stem of his wine glass. As if it were the throat of a female chef.

* * *

"Odd," he mused, "that with all their experience in cooking, women have never qualified to be fine chefs. Of course I'm not saying they're hopeless. Quite the contrary. . .

"Under the proper tutelage, a woman might very well master some of the more elementary processes of cooking."

* * *

These, as any woman with the boiling knowledge of an egg must realize, were fighting words. Mr. Dreicer, who is equally savvy on the subjects of pate de fois gras and publicity, was asking for verbal demolition.

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

"And you?" we asked politely. "Do you cook?"

* * *

"Good heavens, no!" snorted Maurice. "A kitchen is a place where chefs belong, and women meddle. I am neither."

"Why, then, do you consider yourself an expert on culinary matters?"

Calmly he tossed over a look that ordinarily might be reserved for a fallen souffle.

"In order to know an omelet from fried eggs with broken yolks, madame," he seethed, "you do not have to sit on a nest and hatch."

* * *

Dreicer, caustic author of several books on dining and renowned in restaurant circle around the world as "the man most difficult to please" unless every course is above the reproach of his personal palate, continued anti-women:

"In the last 75 years, a remarkably ridiculous change had taken place. Back in the last century, office workers were 95 per cent men, and cooks were 95 per cent women. Now it is exactly reversed.

"The reason for this is that women have, in their new independence, become exhibitionistic. They want to get out of the stove and cupboard area and show themselves off.

"Even those women who still enjoy cooking are exhibitionists—they serve up a very showy, but shabby, meal."

In suburban areas, Dreicer went on, the women haven't gone into fields of business to keep them out of the kitchen. They have gone, however, into fields of bridge. And gin rummy and scrabble and golf.

"You would be surprised how many commuters," he said, "are dining on frozen chicken pot pies and capsule accounts of their wives' delectable afternoons."

* * *

Dreicer, though a bachelor, claimed no resentment against women per se. In fact, he conceded they are good for a great many things, like motherhood and housecleaning and conveying on one's arm to impress one's friends.

ADMIRABLE MOVE

He also conceded that women's drive toward the outer world, beyond the walls of the breakfast nook, is an admirable movement indeed.

* * *

"Personally," he said, "I want to see the delightful creatures break away from the oven.

SAVED FROM DEATH — Firemen climax half-hour battle in a South Bend gravel pit to pull Susan Elliott, 12, to safety after she fell into a mud hole. Susan and two boy companions, playing on frozen earth yesterday, broke through thin crust into the muck. The boys scampered away and called firemen to the scene. Susan had sunk in up to her waist when the rescuers arrived.

Toys Should Be Safe From Shock or Fire

NEW YORK (NEA) — Adults should insist that all toys they buy or give to children be safe—incapable of causing fire, shock, or explosion.

Your best assurance of getting a safe electrical toy is to look for the U.L. label or tag on the toy.

Adults should take care also in purchasing chemical sets for children. Toys requiring alcohol, kerosene, gasoline or carbide lamps may be hazardous in juvenile hands.

Parents should supervise any play with electrical toys or toys involving fuels and chemicals.

Arquebus Artist

Dali Comes Out With Dilly

NEW YORK (AP)—Painter Salvador Dali, whose artistic technique heretofore has been unlike anything in this world, or out of it, has a new method now—"bullet-ism."

While the new technique still is something out of this world, the 51-year-old Spanish artist feels that it is appropriate "now that everything is in bullets."

He uses a forerunner of the musket, a 16th Century device known as the arquebus, to produce his pictures. Instead of painting pictures, it seems, he shoots them.

Dali, arriving on the liner United States, gave ship news reporters the details of the method. Their heads are still spinning.

As best they could understand it, the idea is this:

Dali makes holes in lead pellets and inserts pieces of lithographic pencils in the holes.

Then he places the pellets in his arquebus and fires them at a stone lithographic plate, "creating a violent, most explosive and tremendous force on the stone."

He said it also creates "lines of force or tension—in every direction—fast, violent and clean."

As the mustachioed artist explained, he laboriously wielded his 20-pound, five-foot arquebus to make his points. Reporters scurried to keep its point in the other direction from them.

Dali, asserting that he is "bursting with electricity" over the scheme, said he got the idea last summer while shooting in his back yard at Port Lligat, Spain. The result, he said, was:

"No more pencils—bullets from now on."

Bidding the reporters goodby, he added: "Everybody says Dali loves publicity, but publicity loves Dali."

That, students, is your art lesson for today. No questions, please.

SUFFERING FROM ARTHRITIS?

READ MY TESTIMONIAL

"AFTER PLANTING A GARDEN IN THE SPRING, I WAS UNABLE TO HARVEST IT BECAUSE OF ARTHRITIS," SAYS MR. J. BERT PROCTOR, 55 PROSPECT N. E., GRAND RAPIDS.

Mr. J. Proctor

"For some reason or another, people sometimes put off trying O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and I was guilty myself, as I tried many other treatments and medicines first. I'm sorry now that I wasted the time and money for them, because O. JIB. WA BITTERS was exactly what I needed all the time. Three years ago, I could hardly get around due to arthritis in all of my joints. They were so swollen and sore that I was barely able to dress myself, or even walk. I had planted a garden in the Spring, and was unable to harvest it. Well, I tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and used it according to directions, and inside of a month, my joints started to loosen up, and the pain wasn't as strong. In several months, all pains and stiffness was gone. I could sleep well again, and even my digestion improved. O-JIB-WA BITTERS really made a new man out of me. The reason I am giving this true testimonial is to tell others who may be discouraged, to try O-JIB-WA BITTERS immediately." Available at all drug stores and especially recommended by:

Hal Boyle Says:

Army Couldn't Buffalo Sure-Shot Indians

NEW YORK (AP)—One by one the myths about the old Wild West are being exploded.

* * *

It has been shown pretty convincingly, for example, that the ordinary oldtime cowboy, far from being deadly in a gun fight, was usually lucky if he could hit the side of a wall in a saloon brawl.

Most revolver fights between cowboys shed more ammunition than blood.

* * *

But one belief the Western fiction fan has stubbornly clung to—that the average Indian was a lousy shot compared to the average U.S. cavalry trooper.

Alas, it turns out this is a fable, too. It seems that, gun for gun, the noble redskin of the plains was usually more than a match for his blue-clad soldier foe. And if there had been more Indians with more guns we might all be speaking Sioux today and living in low-cost tepee projects instead of mortgaged homes.

* * *

Proof that the Indian was no slouch as a marksman—when he could get a rifle—is given in the current issue of "Guns" magazine by Stanley Vestal, a University of Oklahoma professor and noted Western authority.

He quotes a report to the secretary of war made by Gen. George Crook in 1876:

"I have seen our friendly Indians, riding at full speed, shoot and kill a wolf, also on the run. While it is a rare thing that our troops can hit an Indian on horseback, though the soldier may be on his feet at the time."

* * *

Vestal also compiled a box score of 12 major engagements in which a total of 10,356 Indians fought 5,249 whites. The results: Indians 69 killed, 28 wounded; whites 383 dead, 102 wounded.

"Other than the astonishingly low number of casualties on either side," Vestal said, the battles "reveal an important trait of the Sioux campaigns.

* * *

"The Indians, like Napoleon, fought as a rule only when they had the advantage of numbers. The Sioux killed about five times as many white soldiers as they lost Indians killed, and wounded approximately four times as many Whites.

"They did this with hardly half enough guns to go around under the best conditions, and with no cannon at all."

* * *

It has often been claimed that the reason a force of 1,000 Indians was able to wipe out 204 cavalry troopers in Custer's last stand in the battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876 was that renegades had supplied them all with repeating rifles.

"A fantastic yarn," said Vestal. "After the greatest effort, only about half of Sitting Bull's warriors were able to obtain weapons. Of these, many had old flintlocks, condemned muskets, muzzle-loaders, smooth bores."

* * *

Army ordnance reports bear Vestal out. When the Indians later surrendered their weapons, 160 of the 284 long guns they turned in were old-fashioned muzzle-loaders and the rest were generally inferior to rifles carried by the U.S. cavalry.

Pointing out that every Indian had to arm himself at his own expense—they had no ordnance department—Vestal said it cost 20 buffalo robes or several horses to buy even a breech-loading rifle.

* * *

"Only rich Indians could afford repeaters, and rich Indians were no more numerous per capita than rich white men are."

Ammunition was so expensive that Indians with rifles conserved it for battle, and continued to hunt the buffalo with lance and bow and arrow.

* * *

Vestal said the Indian threat ended when the cavalry finally came up with rapid-fire Gatling guns and Hotchkiss cannon.

* * *

"The warriors could not face artillery, and a good thing, too," he said. "Man to man, too often the Indians matched the whites' firepower superiority with brains, cunning and straight shooting, and won. With the few guns they had, the Indians could shoot well."

* * *

In two world wars and in Korea thousands of American Indians also proved that, if anything, they could fight better on foot than their forefathers had on horseback.

Northern Exodus to Miami Beach Begins

MIAMI BEACH (INS)—They're off and running today at nearby Tropical Park. The snow is piled deep in most northern states and a plush new hotel is about to open its doors in Miami Beach.

All of which serves to point up the fact that another "season" has arrived along the Florida Gold Coast.

This is the time of year those unable to brave frigid northern climes, among them movie stars, politcians, other celebrities and just plain Mr. and Mrs. Tourist, begin their annual exodus to the sunshine state.

* * *

And, as usual, those who make their living catering to the tourist crop—hotel, restaurant and night club owners—are ready and waiting, with open arms and higher prices.

For those "invaders" who like their entertainment first class, this is what several of the swank beach hotels are offering this year:

At the Fontainebleau, largest hostelry along the gold coast, will appear such names as Jerry Lewis—at $25,000 for a single week; Jimmy Durante; Tony Martin and possibly Lisa Kirk.

Next door at the Eden Roc, it will be Harry Belefonte; Georgia Gibbs; Milton Berle; Jack Carter; Roberta Sherwood; Johnny Ray Joe E. Lewis; Nat King Cole; and Lena Horne.

The big news among the 378 local hotels this winter is the opening of the $17-million Americana, a 475-room lodge which greets its first guests Friday.

All of the above will cost the tourist a pretty penny, however. Present hotel and motel tariffs range from a low of approximately $40 a week for two persons to upward of $25 daily for lodging in the swanky "name" hostelries.

For those who prefer gambling, in addition to the horse tracks the dog tracks have already opened and Jai alai courts will soon open their doors. Jai alai is a sort of glorified hand ball but betting is permitted and the sport is quite popular in Florida.

* * *

The major airlines have also stepped up schedules in anticipation of the hundreds of thousands who will make their way southward in the next few months. Eastern Air Lines reports it will operate 77 flights southbound daily, with seats for 5,600 passengers, and a like number northbound.

* * *

National Air Lines will hike its schedules to 31 daily while Delta announced that by Dec. 21 it will have four more non-stop flights from Chicago and Cincinnati to Miami.

Rail travel is expected to increase by 35 per cent this winter over 1955, according to railroad representatives.

Nelson's Words Legend or Fact?

Inspect England's Expects

LONDON (INS)—Tradition dies hard in Britain, particularly when it reflects on bygone glories.

That famous signal of Britain's equally famous Admiral Lord Nelson—"England expects that every man this day will do his duty"—was never sent according to Ernest Walder, a 76-year old former Chief Yeoman of signals.

He began to doubt the story when serving aboard Nelson's "Victory" back in 1897 and his public salvo at tradition now has triggered a new naval action. Britain's senior service has indignantly trained all its guns on the "insurgent" Walder.

"I am convinced the signal is a legend. It would have needed at least 12 separate hoists, would have taken an hour to send and longer still to pass round the fleet.

"In any case," Walder declared, the ships assembled for the battle of Trafalgar "couldn't have seen the signal. And what admiral would waste that much time going into battle?" he asked.

First battle wagon to join battle with Walder was the Victory, preserved for posterity at Portsmouth.

Commander Lt. Stanley Noble fired: "The signal was definitely made according to records."

The admiralty then let loose a broadside by quoting Flag-Lieutenant John Pasco, signals officer in Nelson's ship at the battle of Trafalgar, who described it all.

Then Lt. Commander Alfred Rowe of the Navy League brought his guns to bear:

"We hoist Nelson's signal on Trafalgar day each year. With good signalmen, it takes seconds to hoist, just seconds. And we need only four hoists."

But Walder defiantly returned fire: "I have hoisted the signal myself and in Nelson's victory too. That was Trafalgar Day 1897. We used the methods used in Nelson's day for fixing the flags to the ballyards. It took an hour. And because it did, I have been investigating the signal ever since. I have also seen the logs of other ships at Trafalgar. None mentions the signal."

Model Railroad Fans Find New Scale Designs

Many of the lines will feature remote control operations.

The logs are dumped from a car into a bin where they are conveyed through the mill accompanied by sawing noises. Dressed lumber comes out the other end.

Other items include a sound dispatching system, a culvert loader which loads pipes into a gondola car by remote control, a horse car with horses that move into a corral for water and then re-enter the car, an illuminated building show dispatchers working at a huge dispatching and control board, searchlights on separate swivels operated by hand, and even a car with brakeman atop who falls down prone every time the car comes to a tunnel.

BAY CITY, MICH. "I have taken Rennel Concentrate for two years and my weight has gone from 260 to 205 lbs. I am still at it and want to reduce slowly. I feel so much better and my doctor approves. I don't have gas on my stomach anymore nor do I have to take pills and pills which is something to be thankful for," writes Vivian Glaza, 1510 11th St.
Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of liquid RENNEL Concentrate. You'll never know a hungry moment while reducing with RENNEL.

Children's Play Habits Discussed

Child Study Club Hears Address at Tuesday Meeting

Mrs. Reba Barr Baker addressed members of Child Study Club Group Three Tuesday when they gathered in the Civic Room of Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

From the J. L. Hudson Speakers' Bureau, Mrs. Baker discussed "Building Family Relationships Through Play."

Constructive play in childhood results in well-adjusted adults, the speaker pointed out, and she said that all work can be made play for children if it is planned properly.

"If we understand and play with infants, we are apt to make good counselors of 'teenagers," Mrs. Baker declared, and she added that it is important to teach a child to laugh at himself first.

Books open a whole new world in play for youngsters, and play teaches concentration and self-expression, the speaker concluded.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Robert Knight, Mrs. Russell Anderson, Mrs. Clark Kimball, Mrs. Roy Corwin and Mrs. Robert Bego.

Job-Hunter Has Choice of 3 Roads

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Most of us, at one time or another, are cast in the role of job-hunter. And most job-hunters, it seems to me, fall into one of three groups.

* * *

There are those who simply grab the first job they can find which will pay them a living wage or reasonable facsimile, without any thought as to whether or not they will like it.

They are the ones who, to paraphrase the old adage about marriage, take a job in haste and repent at leisure.

Then, there are those who have a pretty good idea what they want. They make a list of the companies where they would like to work and start at the top of the list, with the ones they like the best. If they fail to land the dream job, they go down the list and settle for second best.

The third group really approaches job-hunting intelligently.

They know what kind of job they want and build a big long list of places where such a job exists. Then they separate their list into the really dream places and the second best.

They begin their job campaign with the second-best places. This is the equivalent of beginning in the bush leagues.

It gives them a chance to rehearse the dialogue about why they left their last position, how much salary they think they're worth, and all the questions potential employers are apt to toss at the unsuspecting applicant.

By the time these people get to the interview with the dream places, they really know what they're doing and they get the job.

After all, practice makes perfect. This is just as true of job-hunting as it is of doing the tango, applying mascara or making an angel food cake.

And the reward is eminently worth it, because you end up with a job you really like.

Those who settle for any old job are bound to have a sneaking suspicion that the woods are full of better jobs than theirs — and they're so right!

If you need advice on your job-hunting, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you a list of good books on the subject.

Want to Perk Up Stiff Petticoat?

Want to perk up that petticoat or crinoline for the holidays? Dip you petticoat in a concentrated form of a plastic starch. After dipping, allow the petticoat to dry. Pressing isn't necessary.

The original stiffness of these nylon petticoats is put in by curing resin in the fabric. Since nylon absorbs practically nothing in a water solution, restore stiffness by using a stiff starch solution, a concentrated form of a plastic starch or a gelatin solution which will coat the fabric.

Drip-dry the petticoat. Make sure that you do not wring it at all. Wringing or squeezing will decrease the chances that enough solution will cling to the surface to stiffen the fabric.

Bethune PTA will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in the kindergarten room.

Mrs. Gaensbauer Entertains Group

Musicale Group Discusses Dances

Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer of Illinois avenue was hostess to members of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Workshop at her home on Tuesday.

* * *

Mrs. Paul Kern, coordinator of the program, "Ballet and Dance Form," spoke briefly on dance form, explaining its origin in the religious rites of man in the different parts of the world.

"Ballet originated in Italy where the dancer used only his legs for expression," Mrs. Kern stated, "and it was first used to express comedy, then used in plays and puppet shows."

Catherine DeMedici first introduced ballet into the French court where it became the essence of romanticism. Interest in the ballet waned, because its popularity depended upon the popularity of its stars.

* * *

Mrs. Kern concluded by saying that "American ballet has become popular at the present time with its down-to-earth approaches as a type of dramatic narrative on present situations and events, including the dramatization of psychological problems."

Mrs. Gordon Woolcock sang "Danza, Danza, Fanciulla Gentile" by Francesco Durante, and Mrs. John Wiley sang "Che Foro Senza Curidice" from "Orfeo" by Gluck, as interpretations of songs used for dancing. They were accompanied by Mrs. Addison Oakley.

A piano selection, "Sarabande and Gayotte" by Bach, was presented by Mrs. Eugene Foley, and Mrs. Willie Lafurgy played another piano selection, "Sequ Dielas" from "Spanish Suite" by David Sequeira, as examples of accompaniment to dances.

* * *

Mrs. Woolcock and Mrs. William Furlong assisted the hostess during the social hour.

Diet, Exercise May or May Not Be the Answer

Weight and shape are related, but not dependent factors in teenagers.

Many teenagers who tip the scale at a point way above the "approved" weights for their heights don't look fat at all. They are all muscle and they look slim and lovely. Dieting, for them, would be a futile pastime.

Other teenagers who fall within the "approved" weight ranges may have a bothersome roll of fat around the middle. Dieting might make them "underweight" without removing the roll of fat.

This counterbalance causes them to weigh the usual amount for their height. Yet they may look fat.

The solution for these problems is dieting and exercise. Strong, healthy teenagers take a lot of exercise anyway, but concentrated exercises can cause the weight loss (from dieting) to come off in the desired spot.

A teenager's diet is a delicate matter. She uses up a lot of energy in the course of a day and many diets may make her feel weak and listless.

Birmingham Group Prepares to Celebrate Fifth Birthday in the Spring

The Junior League of Birmingham is looking forward to its fifth birthday as a member of the Association of Junior Leagues of America this spring.

* * *

There are 189 such leagues located in cities throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii. Their purpose is to foster interest among their members in the social, economic, educational, cultural and civic conditions of the community, and to perform efficient volunteer service.

It is especially fitting this year that the Bargain Box, the Birmingham League's only permanent source of income, has presented a birthday gift to the Junior League Trust Fund in the form of the largest check in the history of the resale shop.

This money will be used to further Junior League projects. The Bargain Box, located on Woodward avenue, sells both consigned and donated articles, contributed by members and interested persons.

* * *

This year the income from the Bargain Box will be used to further the work at the Birmingham Branch of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic.

This clinic, initially financed by the Junior League Follies held last fall, treats emotionally disturbed children in the Birmingham, Bloomfield and Franklin area, who would formerly have been added to the already overburdened clinic in Pontiac.

PLAYERS' GROUP

As in the past, the income from the Bargain Box will also finance the Player's Group. Members produce a children's play each year in schools and hospitals in outlying areas of Pontiac and southern Oakland County.

* * *

The Junior League furnishes the community primarily with volunteer service, taking on only one or two projects at a time for which the league assumes financial responsibility as well.

The league's policy for projects of this nature is to demonstrate a definite need in the community by supporting a project for three years and then turning it over to the community or other interested groups to carry it on.

Volunteers are active in working at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Cranbrook Art Museum, Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, Oakland County Health Department, Family Service of Oakland County, Detroit League for the Handicapped Shop in Birmingham, and Birmingham Community House.

* * *

At St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the league maintains library and merchandise carts suited to the needs of the patients there. The proceeds from these carts are turned back to the hospital each year to be used for nurses' scholarships or to meet other needs.

Junior League members assist teachers in classes provided for young patients at Pontiac State Hospital. They also work with these children in the hospital gardens and make possible trips outside of the hospital.

Princess Offers Tip on Fashion

Top Italian Stylist Advises Women to Study Lines

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Princess Lola Giovanelli, a member of the Italian aristocracy, and one of her country's leading designers, is now on a goodwill and get-acquainted tour of the United States.

She offers some fashion advice to American women. "If they have anything to learn," the princess said on a stopover in the capital where she showed some of her latest creations, "it would be to concern themselves with the essential line of clothes.

"There must be a real attachment of the figure to the dress. No good dress should look good on a hanger. It wasn't designed for a hanger, it was designed for a woman's figure."

* * *

At a presentation of Danish creations before Washington's Fashion Group, Danish Ambassador Henrik de Kauffman said his country is so fashion-conscious that even cows wear raincoats and the "pigs are soignee in every way."

The ambassador made the remark after first insisting he was no style expert.

"People seem to think," he went on, "that ambassadors and hotel porters are very much alike. We have similar jobs. There's nothing we are not supposed to know, and one way or the other, we must be able to perform any task."

* * *

Jacqueline Auriol, France's top woman flier, in Washington to accept her third Harmon International Aviation Award, said she had no idea where she'd put the 2-foot trophy in her Paris home.

"I don't have such a thing as a trophy room," explained the petite and vivacious flier who has broken world speed records piloting a jet plane more than 750 miles an hour. "I just keep all my trophies in a big box."

Mrs. Auriol, whose husband, Paul, is the son of former French President Vincent Auriol, says she doesn't want their two sons, Jean-Paul, 18, and Jean-Claude, 15, to take up flying careers.

She admitted, however, that both have had many flying hours. They fly every chance they get.

Coming Events

St. Joseph Guild of St. Vincent de Paul Church will hold a white elephant sale Friday at the League of Catholic Women. Mrs. George Grogan is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Lillian Archambeau and Mrs. Mary Peoulke.

Ladies Aid of St. John Lutheran Church will meet in the church parlors Thursday at 11 a.m.

Empire cashmere is new this season — a designer sweater with the new Empire silhouette in a wide band of ribbing to mold the midriff is shown. The neckline, a V, is underscored by overlapping bands of self-cashmere and sleeves are the popular three-quarter length, ending in a band of ribbing.

Mothers and Daughters Often Clash About Taste

By RUTH MILLETT

It is difficult for some mothers to realize that a girl has to develop her own taste and that it is no insult to the mother if the girl's taste isn't identical with the mother's.

By chance the other day, I got in on a mother-daughter wrangle that upset the specialty shop clerk who was waiting on them and looked for a little while as thought it weren't going to be settled peacefully.

The girl, who looked to be about 16, had her heart set on a gold sweater and skirt. The mother had her mind made up that the gold wasn't becoming. She thought the daughter should buy a similar outfit in rosy red.

"But I don't like it," the daughter kept saying.

Then Mama got mad.

"You don't like it because I do." Daughter had no answer for that.

While other customers waited, the battle went on. Mama insisted that daughter again try on Mama's choice—which the girl finally did, with her lip stuck out 2 inches.

It ended the way such wrangles usually end. Daughter got her choice. But neither was happy about it.

"That goes on all the time between mothers and daughters," the clerk confided to me when, with a relieved and tired sigh, she saw them leave the shop.

It does because it is difficult for some mothers to admit that taste is an individual thing, and that a daughter's preference in colors and styles is a part of her personality that should be allowed to develop.

Take a mother like that and a daughter who is determined to be herself and not just a carbon copy of Mom and there is bound to be a continuing battle between mother and daughter.

Tablecloths, Mats Now in Helpful Plastic

You can dress up your dining table every day with luxurious cloths or mats, yet keep laundering at a minimum.

Now rich-looking imported burlap tablecloths and mats are laminated with vinyl plastic so they can be "laundered" by wiping with a sponge or cloth dipped in soap or detergent suds.

A real aid to beauty is a magnifying mirror. It may not be flattering but it tells the harsh truth in a manner that gives you a chance to do something constructive about blackheads and enlarged pores.

MRS. JORDAN A. UPHAM

Donna Jean Leath and Jordan A. Upham were married Saturday at Jamestown, Ohio. Donna is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence A. Leath of Jamestown, and Jordan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Upham of Ascot road.

Couple Exchanges Vows in Ohio Church Wedding

The First Methodist Church of Jamestown, Ohio, was the scene of the Saturday wedding of Donna Jean Leath and Jordan A. Upham. The couple was married in the presence of 150 guests.

* * *

The skirt was fashioned of alternate layers of ruffled tulle and lace over satin. Donna's fingertip veil was secured by a satin headpiece trimmed with seed pearls. She carried an orchid on a white prayerbook.

* * *

Mrs. Marvin D. Cummings of Jamestown wore green velvet and Mrs. Walter P. May of Xenia, Ohio, was gowned in beige velvet. They carried yellow chrysanthemums.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Jordan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Upham of Ascot road, asked Frank Puddy to serve as his best man. Ushers were the bride's brothers, Henry and Dean Leath.

* * *

Vague Reply Annoying to Hostess

One Young Woman Is Always Indefinite About Invitations

By EMILY POST

A reader asks: "What in your opinion can be done about people who acknowledge an invitation with, 'I'll let you know.' I have in mind a young woman who always says this instead of answering 'yes' or 'no.' Is this part of the modern casualness, and is it proper?"

Answer: I think this behavior, repeated often and without the definite reason being given, would be inexcusable. On the other hand, there are occasions, especially when we very much want to accept an invitation, when we have to say, "Will you please leave it open until I find out if John has made any plans for that evening (or whatever the reason may be for our inability to answer definitely)?"

If I were you, I think I would tell this particular friend, "I am sorry but I must know by 3 o'clock if you are coming in order to plan the rest of the party."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it a breach of etiquette to thank waitresses or bell boys or anyone who serves, even though we tip or pay them for their services?"

Answer: On the contrary, it is never wrong to say thank you for any personal service that is rendered. To be rude to those who serve you is the hallmark of an upstart. You do not say "thank you" to a waitress for dishes passed to you at the table, but you say "no thank you" when you decline.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter has been going with a young man for the past six months. He is a very nice person and we are very fond of him. My daughter tells me that his parents will soon celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

"I have never met his parents. Would it be proper to send them flowers on this occasion with our best wishes or might they think we are trying to get on the good side of them? I would be most grateful for your advice."

Answer: It would be entirely proper for your daughter to send them flowers, but not in best taste for you to do so.

Spread Held by Members of Sorority

Mrs. Louis B. Livingston opened her home on Woodbine drive Tuesday evening for the annual spread of Omega Mu Sigma sorority. Seventeen members and guests attended the affair.

* * *

Following dinner, Mrs. William Shunck, recruitment chairman of the Central Volunteer Bureau, told members of the invaluable help they can give the community by assisting in the volunteer program.

The Volunteer Bureau acts as a connecting link between the many agencies in need of volunteers and the men and women who are willing to serve.

Mrs. Shunck told the sorority volunteers may serve regularly each week, for half a day or several days; or they may be on call for short-term jobs.

* * *

In the brief business meeting, plans were completed for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 11 at Old Mill Tavern. Following the dinner party, members will enjoy a social evening and exchange of gifts at the home of Mrs. Kuga Kojima in Waterford.

Never Hurry When Buying Shoes

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Few women are sure which shoe styles are most becoming to them. I receive many letters asking about this. While cases differ there are some general rules and suggestions which you can use as guides.

* * *

In the first place never buy shoes in a hurry. If you get a clerk who makes you feel this way go to another store. Also it is better to buy shoes in the afternoon than in the morning, or at least after you have been on your feet for some time. The feet often are larger after you have been on them for a while.

One foot is usually larger than the other. Try the shoes on the larger of the two. Then put both shoes on and walk about a bit. In order to know what a pair of shoes does for you, look into a full-length mirror before you decide. This is essential when buying shoes or hats.

If your instep is low, high-cut shoes will be attractive and comfortable. If you have a high instep the opposite will be true.

* * *

If your foot is long, a buckle or some decoration on the toe of the shoe will make your foot look shorter.

FLATTERING STYLES

If your foot is short, a shoe with plain lines, or with a V or low cut will be flattering.

* * *

Solid white shoes make the feet look larger. Buy those which have combination coloring, such as white and brown or white and black or white and navy blue.

Beware of open toe shoes which make the toes look deformed. Toes are not pretty to start with, not many of them anyway.

Ankle strap shoes should be worn only by women who have extremely slim ankles. They are flattering to the woman who has ankles which are too thin. However, do not wear them if you are short. These are usually for the tall women.

* * *

Spikes with microscopic bases are never attractive if you have to walk about much. They distort your walk and your figure.

If you would like to have my exercises for the feet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 14 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

* * *

Use Candlelight to Brighten Home During Yuletide

Light a candle for every Sunday in Advent and thereby, light your home throughout the holiday season.

To make this simple, but effective Advent ring, begin with a wire base bent in the shape of a wreath. Into this wire form place blocks of styrofoam. Clip greens from your fir trees and wire them to the blocks of styrofoam. Now you have a wreath of greens.

Use florists' wire or other kinds of wire to form a four sided cone coming to a point above the center of the ring. Over each of these four pieces of wire put 2-inch purple ribbon. Where the ribbon meets at the tip of the cone tie a bow. Also tie bows where the ribbon is attached to the greens.

The finishing touch comes by inserting the four candles in the styrofoam base between the points where each bow is attached to the greens.

Now your Advent wreath is complete. Just light one candle as each Sunday in Advent passes.

Most dangerous hours to drive a motor vehicle are from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Save your open sandals with very high heels for evening wear if you want healthy feet. Best heel height for daytime is the shaped mid-heel. Looks like a high heel but gives you walking comfort.

BPW Club Plans Party December 11

Virginia Phillips of the Detroit Division of Michigan Bell Telephone Company spoke of the "College Recruiting Program for Women" at the Tuesday evening dinner meeting of Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club held at Hotel Waldron.

* * *

Miss Phillips is responsible for the coordination of educational activities of the women employes of her organization. She told of the classroom training and human relations programs, and about the educational and recreational activities provided.

Mrs. Richard McBride and Mary Mitchell reported that the BPW Christmas party will be held in the Civic Room of Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building on Dec. 11.

Serving with them on the committee are Mrs. D. R. Wilson, Mrs. Raymond L. Cole, Mrs. Margaret Long, Mrs. Donald Ball and Rebecca Gould.

Hostesses for the Tuesday meeting were Mrs. Charles Barrett, Mrs. Carl Genske, Anny Koellner, Mrs. Ella Sheffield, Rosamond Haeberle and Mrs. William McRath.

Actor Kerwin Matthews Won't Forget April 2, '55

By JOAN HANAUER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — On April 2, 1955, Kerwin Mathews was the happiest boy in Hollywood, but today it is a date he would like to forget.

* * *

That was the date Mathews began shooting "Joseph and His Brethren," a picture in which the young actor was to be starred with Rita Hayworth.

But Rita walked out of the picture in a storm and it wasn't until this fall that Mathews received another part. He is co-starred with Lee J. Cobb in "Garment Center."

"Two friends of mine both sent me little desk calendars that stopped at April 2," Mathews said with a wry grin. "I still look at them. I guess they have a perverted sense of humor, but it's about the way I felt."

* * *

HOLLYWOOD FIRST

"When I decided to give up teaching," Mathews said, "I had to decide whether to go to New York or come here to Hollywood. I tried to get letters of introduction and had more success finding them for Hollywood so I came here. Two of my friends went to New York.

* * *

"Only one of them is doing well at all—he's David Wayne's assistant. I don't know which is the place to go to get started."

One thing Mathews did learn —you can starve just as easily in sunny California as in winter-cold New York.

"I ran out of money here," he said, "and had to find some sort of job. I delivered newspapers from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m., and the gas stations on Sunset boulevard are notorious for hiring would-be actors. The kids figure it's as good as going around to offices.

* * *

"One agent has a deal worked out with an insurance company. They hire his people, then give them time off if they find work—acting work, I mean.

STARVE IN COMFORT

"But at least here you can starve and still keep warm. I was in New York this fall, working on the picture. My friends there were worrying about winter coming—overshoes, coats and all."

Mathews is under seven-year exclusive contract to Columbia Pictures. He feels the huge amounts of money movie studios spend on publicizing and building young talent is worth the restrictions imposed by this type of contract.

"But did you know," he added, "that in California you cannot contract anyone for more than seven years? It's considered slavery."

Irregular lines rather than severe, unbroken-across-the browline hats are universally becoming, because the hair is only partly concealed. Fur hats and felts as furry as fur itself, shed a beautiful softness over the face.

Bright embroidery or rich beading on the short daytime or long evening glove provides an elegant contrast to the simple black dress.

The emphasis seems to be on length in the eight-button glove which is particularly popular, with in-between lengths (four- or five-button) adding variety to your glove wardrobe. With simple outfits, gloves may be conspicuous good taste.

All Children Love This Confection

Mrs. Irwin Uses Brown, White Sugar in Popcorn Balls

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When the goblins reported in on Halloween, they brought the word that Mrs. Arthur Irwin of Westacres made the best popcorn balls they had even eaten. We finally reached Mrs. Irwin and got her recipe. You'll want to make some of her famous confection for holiday eating.

Mrs. Irwin's family is a grown-up one. Her children are married, and she has two granddaughters. Because she has been cooking since the age of twelve she does it automatically and has to stop to think when one requests a recipe.

Knitting, sewing and working in the Altar society of her church keep her days filled.

POPCORN BALLS
By Mrs. Arthur Irwin

2 cups brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
½ cup dark corn syrup
1 cup water
2 tablespoons butter
1½ teaspoons vanilla
8 quarts popped corn

Boil sugars, corn syrup and water together until mixture spins a fine thread (230 to 234 degrees). Remove from heat, add butter and vanilla. Stir to blend.

Pour over popped corn and form into balls at once. Better butter your hands.

Promenaders Schedule Dance

Promenaders Square Dance Club will dance to the calls of Robert Longe, Warren Allen, Robert Earl and Ralph Irland Saturday evening from 8:30 to 11:30 at Daniel Whitfield School.

Members and their guests will meet the first and third Saturdays of each month. The first gathering each month will be a record dance and the second will be an orchestra dance.

Walter Koenig, master of ceremonies for the Saturday party announces that among the lively square, novelty and round dances scheduled are the "Teton Mountain Stomp," "Black and White Rag" and "Varsovienne."

Meet Child's Threat With Honesty

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Because a friend's kitchen clock was slow, Fred was nearly an hour late for supper. His father was angrily sarcastic. He said, "If a slow clock is the best alibi you can think of, don't bother with one."

* * *

The next day Fred told his mother he was thinking of running away. She told his father, who decided to handle the threat as a similar one of his own childhood had been handled.

Calling Fred to him, he said, "I hear you're thinking of leaving home. Well, just let us know when you plan to go — and we'll help you pack your things."

* * *

If a child runs away, we become frantic, not just with fear for his safety, but that we have failed him in some way. Were Fred to make good on his threat, the father who has pretended disinterest would pay for his falsehood in suffering.

TIME FOR HONESTY

If ever there's a time for emotional honesty from us, it's when a youngster tells us he's going to run away. It's the time for base-rock feeling put into words like this, "No, we aren't going to let you run away. It's a dangerous thing for a child to do.

"So we have to keep you here at home, not just for your sake, but ours, too. We'd be miserable without you and want you right here with us."

The situation demands our true feeling because the child himself has expressed untrue feeling. Fred does not want to run away from home.

If he wanted to, he would not warn us of his intention to do it, but would work out his getaway in secret. Fred's threat is really a disguised plea that we make home happier for him.

* * *

If, like his father, we allow his insincere threat to provoke double-talk from us, too, neither discovers anything true about the other. Though the child may not run away from us physically, we can remain distant from him as though he had.

SIMPLE TRUTH

The answer lies in always speaking the simple truth of our affectionate and responsible feeling for the child. What happens is that he instantly recognizes our reality — and responds to it with his own.

Usually, he bursts into tears, crying out, "Why did you say I was lying bout the clock yesterday? I WASN'T lying, daddy! It was the truth I told you . . ."

But he can't discard falseness until we have discarded it first.

Here's the Way to Get Whistles

PARIS (INS)—Want to hear the wolves whistle?

* * *

"Men like to see girls either in sweaters or in very dressy outfits," she said. Choicest styles, the famous "smart suit" and the dress with the elaborate cut will impress the ladies but they miss, according to Mme. Fath, their effect on the males.

So if you want to follow Madame Fath's advice when trying to catch a man, wear high-necked sweaters in daytime and low-cut dressy outfits after dark.

* * *

"Straight skirts," Madame Fath continued, "are more Parisian for daytime and make your legs look more shapely. But full skirts, emphasizing a small waistline, attract men more after dark because they add grace to a woman's movements.

"Men," the famed Paris designer went on, "hate hair drawn tightly back into a bun. They do like longer hair styled in a soft and feminine manner."

The Pen That Fills Itself

I witnessed a special demonstration in Chicago of the Parker 61. I was surprised to find that the filling process is the old physics principle of capillary attraction. Four universities including Michigan State have been working on this for 12 years before it became fool-proof for filling a fountain pen by itself. To find a plastic to do this job was the problem.

Parker 61

The only fountain pen that fills itself by itself—it has no moving parts

Unique as a pen and as a gift, is the newly-created Parker 61. It is unlike any other pen you have ever seen or used—an inspired invention.

As you can tell at a glance, it has classic beauty, the elegance of great simplicity. And great simplicity marks its operation, too. For the Parker 61 pen fills itself by itself in 10 seconds—no pumping, squeezing, twisting, nothing. Its ink capacity is conveniently oversize. And it has no moving part to get out of order.

In its first Christmas Season, this is the distinguished gift for those friends who appreciate the new, the unusual—quite flattering to them and to you. You have a choice of rich colors and gleaming caps—all strikingly beautiful. All pens are available with matching pencils. The Parker 61 is $20.00 or more.

The Parker 61, alone among fountain pens, fills itself by itself. It fills itself cleanly—through the end opposite the point. It's done by capillary action in just 10 seconds—the shining point need never be dipped in ink.

Who'd Expect Rabbits to Make Society Bow?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Saloon Society has a new game about the expensive women who wear chinchilla—called "Which one has the phony?"

"Imitation chinchilla," or dyed rabbit, is now on the market at about 1-20th the price of chinchilla. And some very clever dolls are bamboozling their friends because the rabbit looks so chinchillaish it takes a furrier to detect it.

"Can you tell the difference?" I asked a pretty model.

She was showing me a chinchilla wrap at $3,500 and a dyed rabbit wrap at only $250.

HIGH SOCIETY

The expert dye job that makes the rabbit look as good—or even better—than chinchilla, is done in France and Germany, source of the rabbith. Most chinchillas seen on the backs of expensive ladies come from California.

This being the "chinchilla year," any woman with a new chinchilla can be sure her best false friends are buzzing about whether she has the genuine or the phony.

And consider the embarrassment of a girl who became awfully nice to a beau who gave her a chinchilla—then discovered she has rabbit.

I heard of one such girl rushing her "chinchilla" to a furrier to have him test it . . . it was sort of a "rabbit test."

One woman I know bought the dyed rabbit because it was cheaper and because it was attractive.

"And I'm having so much fun with it," she says. "I tell all my close friends I'm wearing the rabbit and as for my acquaintances, I let them wonder—and gossip."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . . . .

Marilyn Monroe's doctor ordered quiet and rest—and Arthur Miller hopes she won't work for a year. She's crazy about her husband and "wants to have a whack at marriage."

Debra Paget said "yes" to Louis Davila, Mexico City hotelier. Talented Betty and Jane Kean were cheered by Johnnie Ray, Sammy Davis Jr., Miriam Hopkins (with Ben Strobach) and other fans when they opened. This is one of the world's greatest acts. When Betty paused to accept a drink from a ringsider, Jane, "But Lou Walters told you not to mix," Replied Betty: "I didn't—I took it straight."

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller 3d and the Museum of Modern Art have taken up whis sculptress Laura Ziegler (from Columbus O. and Rome), now having her first show at the Duveen-Graham gallery . . .

Zsa Zsa's honey, Harry Karl, donated $3,000 worth of shoes to Hungarian refugees . . . Mrs. Eugene O'Neill turned down the first film offer—$500,000—for "Long Day's Journey Into Night." Buddy Hackett's "Stanley" show popped up two Trendex points.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Despite the politicians' wrangling, we'll never achieve a satisfactory distribution of wealth, rain and parking space.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "The most painful operation a person can undergo is the cutting off of his credit."—Ham Park.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Randy Merriman says his "Big Payoff" quiz show is different: "We put the contestants in a Cadillac, and if they lose they get an isolation booth."

Patience Is a Virtue Some Don't Possess

"What can I do for you?" he asked.

"I got what I wanted," the man said as he pulled away.

And so he had. Valdez said the pump showed $4.50 worth of gasoline gone. And no payment.

Missing Word in Will Nets Widower $14,805

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A missing verb has netted Luther Reed $14,800.

The verb was omitted in a sentence of the will left by Reed's wife, who died in January. The sentence said: "He did not anything I had so I will him $5."

Orphans Court Judge James Brady ruled yesterday that the will didn't stand because of the missing verb. Reed bot $14,805.

The terms of attorneys general are four years in 25 states, two years in 20, five years in New Hampshire and New Jersey, and the maximum of eight years in effect in Tennessee.

Highway Project to Create Jobs

Federal Road Program Will Boost Employment by Almost 1,000,000

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) said yesterday the new federal highway program will create almost one million new jobs for American workers.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the 42nd annual convention of the National Association of State Highway Officials, Martin, a member and former chairman of the Senate's public works committee, declared:

• • •

"It has been estimated that the highway program will create at least 300,000 new jobs on direct highway construction alone and twice as many in related industries."

The senior Pennsylvania senator said "many thousands" of workers will be needed to produce steel, cement, asphalt, stone, sand and gravel under the federal program. "The production of road building machinery and equipment will have to be greatly expanded," he added.

Under the new highway program the federal government contributes 90 per cent toward the cost of a limited access divided highway on the interstate system and the states 10 per cent.

Lambs Not Lions —Let Women Join Famed Old Club

• • •

Banished into exile was a painting of a lusty nude that had a place of honor in the club bar.

The members started a bitter argument a year ago about whether to admit women to the club's brick building in the Broadway theater district. The outcome was inevitable when the choice was between females and deficits.

The women must be accompanied by male members.

• • •

"It's the trend of the times," he said. "The Harvard Club had to do it. The Yale Club had to do it. We held out as long as we could."

Top Role in 'The Female' Prepared for Liz Taylor

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Elizabeth Taylor may think she's retiring from motion pictures, but MGM has other ideas. Pandro Berman is going right ahead preparing Paul Wellman's book, "The Female," for her from John Lee Mahin's script.

You may remember "The Female," which was originally bought for Ava Gardner and is the story of Empress Theodora, wife of Justinian, in the Sixth Century.

Liz and Mike Todd are now in New York after cruising in Florida waters. Mike tells me he is not going to England but he'll be in Hollywood in a week, P.S. So will Liz.

It seems so fitting that Barbara Lang's biggest screen break should come at this time of year when the hearts of men are inspired again by the greatest of all stories of faith and courage.

Barbara, the beauty who overcame polio because of her prayers and deep faith, will be co-starred with Jack Palance in "House of Numbers" at MGM.

Producer Charlie Schnee tells me that Barbara will play a dual role in the prison story, that of Palance's wife and also his sister-in-law. Everyone wishes this lovely girl well in the start of her career.

KARLOFF RETURNS

Get ready to be "scairt" out of your wits again. Boris Karloff, one of the original bogey men of the movies who had recently been concentrating on the stage and TV, returns to the scene of his (movie) crimes by signing a multiple picture deal with Aubrey Schenck and Howard Koch.

The producers, who release through United Artists, took a look at the chiller Boris just completed for them in Honolulu, "Voodoo Island," and offered him this three-picture deal.

The terms suit Boris to a T as the contract permits him time off for more stage and TV work.

In Jimmy Durante's foreword in "Without Rhyme or Reason," L. Wolfe Gilbert's interesting book just off the press, Jimmy says in part:

"The first time I met Wolfie, I confess I was jealous of him. He had on white shoes, blue striped pants and a turtle neck sweater. I was playing in Coney Island and he was singing down the street in one of the other high-class joints.

"He took out a sheet of music and told me he'd appreciate it if I'd play it a few times every night. I learned Wolfie's song, and darned if people didn't start asking me about it. The name of it was 'Waiting for the Robert E. Lee.'"

"I enjoyed Wolfie's book with its anecdotes about well-known people. Wolfie has written many many top tunes, among them "Ramona," "Jeanine, I Dream of Lilac Time," "Down Yonder," etc. There is a warmth in his life story that makes Wolfie's book well worth reading.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: There is whispering in Europe that Dee and Howard Hawks will soon make an announcement. Dee is now in Switzerland after making a quick trip to the U. S. A.

The news of Tommy Dorsey's sudden death hit his Hollywood pals very hard. His closest friend since boyhood was Jimmy McHugh, who, strangely enough, was listening to Dorsey's new album, which contains two McHugh numbers, on a disk jockey show when word came of Tommy's death.

Webster School Book Fair Set Next Tuesday

New children's books will be for sale from 9 to 5 Tuesday, Dec. 4, for parents and students from all over the city, spokesman for the group Mrs. Howard Waider said.

Profit from the sale, Mrs. Waider said, will go to equip the Webster Library with either more books or needed equipment.

Canvas Joins Collection of Past Court Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Warren today announced acceptance of an oil protrait of the late Associated Justice Owen J. Roberts for the Supreme Court's collection of formal portraits of past members.

The portrait was presented to the court by the justice's widow, and the law firm with which he was associated at one time, Montgomery, McCracken, Walker and Rhoads of Philadelphia. The painting is by Alfred Jonniaux, New York and San Francisco artist.

Barrel to Hold Gifts for Nephrosis Group

A giant cannister to receive contributions to the Michigan Chapter of the National Childhood Nephrosis Foundation, Inc., will be placed in the Atlas Market, 1461 Baldwin Ave., beginning Friday.

It will be placed there as part of the store's fifth anniversary and to draw attention to the fact that the state convention of the Foundation will be held in Pontiac Jan. 7.

Stanley R. Allen, 80 Collier Rd., chairman of the Pontiac drive to raise funds, constructed the four-foot-high barrel.

Allen has spearheaded the local drive since he lost his young son to the disease last May.

$700 Awaiting Lucky Winner of Pot-O-Gold

Here's a new puzzle for you fans, and with each new puzzle an additional $100 is added to Pot-O-Gold. If the judges find no winner for last week's puzzle, this one will be worth $800. How's that for a little extra spending money? It may be yours, so check below and send us your results.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 26 must bear a Tuesday, Dec. 4, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 48, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified, either by telephone or in the mails.

No Teacher Shortage!

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — The teacher shortage is no fault of Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, 91. Her eight children all are or were teachers and five of them married teachers. Eleven grandchildren teach school and six more are studying to become teachers. Mrs. Barton herself never taught school. But her husband did, and his father and mother did too.

Popular Lou Creekmur, veteran lineman of the Detroit Lions, who has been as valuable to the club as a public goodwill ambassador as he has been at the tackle position for seven years, is now breaking in his roommate to the banquet circuit.

The Lion who shares his quarters when on the road is 260 pound Charley Ane, whom Creekmur refers to as the best center on the team. (He is the only center.)

The pair made a guest appearance at the Dad's dinner honoring the Waterford High School football team last night and it didn't take long for Ane to steal the show.

CHARLIE ANE

"I'm not much of a speaker, I let my roommate do all the talking," said Ane, "I just tag along to help him out."

It's true, Ane isn't the formal speaker as one would expect for an after-dinner talk, but make it an informal bull session and even the bull couldn't help laughing at the hulky Hawaiian's mannerism of speech.

He had all of the Skipper dinner guests in endless laughter last night.

"Sometimes a bad play or bad block was not seen in the pictures when they shot all the film from up high, but now we also have a camera on the sidelines—and there's no place to hide," he added.

"One thing you can't argue with is that movie projector," Ane continued, "and when the coach goes over that film for hours, there are never any names mentioned, because we can see who goofed," Ane continued.

LAYNE THE DIFFERENCE

Creekmur was asked to give his reason for the Lions' surge from the cellar in 1955 to the contention team of this season.

He said he thought that Bobby Layne was the difference. "He was hurt in 1955 and it hurt the team."

"Bobby is a leader, when he barks you jump," said Creekmur. "He calls the play and he does it with confidence. If it doesn't work because someone goofs, he knows who goofed and he lets you know about it."

"Funny thing happened in the 49er game this year," Lou pointed out. "One of our linemen was playing a great game and he missed his block only once in the whole game. But it was the time when that missed block was big Leo Nomellini crashing through to smear Layne trying to pass."

★ ★ ★

"Layne knew who it was who missed the block but when we got back to the huddle, Bobby covered up for the unsuccessful play by quipping, 'even linemen have their bad days, don't they?' "

"We all knew he was ribbing because this particular lineman played probably the best game of his pro career, but it went to show that Bobby knew who goofed on any particular play," Creekmur added.

"That's the kind of quarterback in whom you have confidence," he finished.

PCC Bolting Talks Renewed

Report UCLA Wanting Break With California and League

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Talk of bolting the Pacific Coast Conference broke out anew today following a top level California-UCLA meeting.

Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the state university system, confirmed that possible withdrawal was a subject of the caucus attended yesterday by chancellors, athletic directors, and faculty and alumni representatives from the two schools.

Dr. Sproul discounted reports UCLA chancellor Raymond B. Allen and athletic director Wilbur Johns came to ask approval to quit the conference. UCLA was one of four PCC schools penalized for illegal aide to athletes. The others are Southern California, California and Washington. UCLA is a part of the greater university of California and can not act independently to quit the conference.

Dr. Sproul called the meeting a routine preliminary to Sunday's PCC presidents council session in San Francisco.

'Ancient Archie' Gets Louis' Vote

CHICAGO (AP) — Former champion Joe Louis picks Archie Moore to beat Floyd Patterson in their heavyweight title bout at Chicago Stadium Friday night. The Brown Bomber thinks Moore will win by a knockout.

• • •

Louis is one of many former titleholders to pick ancient Archie in the fight which will be nationally televised and is expected to draw 18,000 in blacked-out Chicago.

• • •

Joey Maxim, who lost the light heavyweight title to Moore and failed to regain it in two tries, is the only man to have beaten Patterson in his 31 fights. Maxim favors Moore.

Rocky Marciano, who knocked out Moore in September, 1955 and then called it quits, also chooses Moore.

U.S. Boosts Olympic Total to 18 Medals

MELBOURNE (AP)—Uncle Sam's powerful Olympic team boosted it's gold medal total to 18 today with a sweep in the 110-meter hurdles behind surprising Lee Calhoun and Parry O'Brien's record shot put. But Russia's Vladimir Kouts matched Bobby Morrow's double by winning his second distance run.

• • •

Calhoun, a lanky North Carolina College student from Gary, Ind., whipped Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., the world record holder, in a blanket finish. Joel Shankle of Durham, N.C., grabbed the bronze medal for third. It was so close both Calhoun and Davis were clocked in 13.5 seconds, beating Harrison Dillard's 1952 Olympic record of 13.7.

O'Brien did the expected by repeating his Helsinki triumph in the shot put. The young giant from Travis Air Force Base, Calif. shattered his own Olympic record with each of his six tosses and finally settled for a new mark of 60 feet 11 inches. Both Bill Nieder of Lawrence, Kan., with 59-7¾ and Jiri Skobla of Czechoslovakia with 57-10¾ topped the old standard while finishing second and third. So did Ken Bantum of New York, with 57-4 for fourth place.

The U.S. missed a potential sweep in the shot put but the 1-2-3 finish in the hurdles was its fourth of the Olympics, duplicating America's efforts in the 200-meters, 400-meter hurdles and discus.

• • •

Russia enjoyed its greatest day with four gold medals for a total of 10 with Kouts' victory in the 5,000-meter, its first sweep in the 20-kilometer walk, Inessa Iaounzen's winning effort in the women's javelin and a come-from-behind success in the modern pentathlon team competition.

Another capacity crowd of 100,000 thrilled to a second Australian gold medal in women's track when Shirley Strickland de la Hunty Skimmed over the 80-meter hurdles in 10.7 seconds, breaking the accepted world record to repeat her Helsinki victory of four years ago. The three American girls had been eliminated in the heats.

Sweden snatched the other gold medal awarded on this brisk day when Lars Hall also repeated his 1952 triumph in the individual phase of the modern pentathlon. The teams and individuals finished the five-event competition with the 4,000-meter cross country run.

The American pentathlon team was second to Russia after leading through the earlier events and George Lambert of Sioux City, Ia. was fifth among the individuals. Bill Andre of Montclair, N. J. was seventh and Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont. 13th.

Lou Jones of New Rochelle N. Y., America's best bet sped home first in two heats of the 400-meter to qualify for tomorrow's semifinals and finals along with Charlie Jenkins of Villanova and Cambridge, Mass. However, the third American, Jim Lea of San Jose, Calif. was eliminated when he came in fifth in the third heat of the second round. Jones' times were 48.1 seconds and 47.4, about two seconds off the record.

The U. S. team had won 11 of the first 17 events in men's track and field with seven more to go. It has potential winners in the decathlon starting tomorrow, the 400-meters and the two hurdles Saturday. The steeplechase, 400-meters, opening of the decathlon and the first heats in both men's and women's swimming are important events on the Thursday schedule.

America was blanked in points in the two women's events, javelin and 800-meter hurdles and in the 5,000-meter run and long walk for men.

Grand Rapids Headed West

The selection was announced by Hobart Bolerjack of Benton Harbor, secretary of the NJCAA and chairman of the eastern committee. The western representative is expected to be named within a few days, he said.

Grand Rapids JC fashioned a 5-1-2 mark this season. The defeat was by Ferris Institute, a four-year school. The two ties were with Chicago Wilson JC and Central Michigan College Junior Varsity.

The championship game, first in the history of the NJCAA organization, is sponsored by Kiwanis Crippled Children's Foundation of West Hollywood, Calif.

Upstate Lions Invite Bowmen to Rabbit Hunt

Lions' Rookie Shows Well

DETROIT (AP) — When an emergency popped up in the Detroit Lions' defensive line, coach Buddy Parker called on a soft-spoken rookie who figured he'd be cut from the squad by the time the regular season rolled around.

• • •

But Gene Cronin, a 225-pounder from the College of the Pacific, has made such an impression on the Lions' coaches — and their opponents — that Gil Mains may have a tough time winning back his defensive end job.

• • •

The 23-year-old rookie, who spurned two offers to play Canadian ball, always hoped to make the grade in professional football but wasn't overly optimistic even after Detroit drafted him in the sixth round.

• • •

"I was really surprised when Detroit picked me," said the 6-foot, 2-inch strong man. "Naturally I wanted to play pro ball but I didn't have any idea that I could make it. All I knew was that I was going to give it all the effort in the world. And I'm just tickled I've been able to stick it out."

• • •

Mains was hurt in mid-season and Cronin, who had played only in spots in previous games, stepped into the job. And Cronin was the guy most responsible for throwing Baltimore's fleet halfback, Lenny Moore, for repeated losses in Detroit's 27-3 triumph a couple of Sundays ago.

"I kept seeing guys get cut, and I always figured that I would be on the next list," he said. "But while no one ever told me I was doing a good job, I never got cut either. So the best thing to do was to keep doing my best."

Pays His Own Way

Rejected Iowan Sparks Near Pentathlon Upset

MELBOURNE (AP) — The United States came within a whisker of a spectacular upset in the modern pentathlon competition in the Olympic Games because a young man from the Iowa farm belt refused to be discouraged.

He is George Lambert of Sioux City, Ia., 28, a tall, former Army man and graduate student of the University of Paris, who was deemed by pentathlon officials as not good enough for the team.

• • •

Needless to say, now that the almost overlooked U.S. team has taken second place in the pentathlon team totals having surrendered the lead only at the last minute to Russia, U.S. Olympic officials are glad he came.

Lambert's fifth ranking was the highest of all the U.S. entries in the individual competition and the head of the team, Lt. Col. L. F. Hood, frankly gave Lambert credit for the high finish of the team.

"His brilliant performances in riding, fencing and shooting carried us to the top of the standings and it was only poor luck that we couldn't hold on," Hood said.

• • •

"Lambert looked so unimpressive in the world championships that pentathlon officials decided he just did not have the goods. So George paid his own way to the trials, made the team and has been a demon since. Since we arrived here—and before—he has started training at daybreak and kept working until near midnight."

• • •

Lambert, himself, was crestfallen after the final compilation of points in the five-day competition showed Russia had won.

Laker Gridders to Be Honored

Varsity letter awards will be made to 26 gridders along with six in cross-country.

Guest speaker for the bust will be Burt Smith, Michigan State line coach who will show movies of the MSU-Stanford game.

The Lakers compiled a 2-6-1 grid record the past season.

Prep Cager Scores 55

MANISTEE (AP) — Center Russell Yeck started off the high school basketball season at a red hot pace last night, connecting for 55 points in leading Ludington St. Simon's to a 105-51 victory over Manistee St. Joseph's.

Boys' Club Forms 'Biddy' Leagues

A basketball coach who looks for small players today is almost as extinct as the dodo bird. However, this is exactly the case at Boys' Club where 120 boys have been practicing to make basketball teams in the newly formed Biddy Basketball Leagues.

Two leagues with eight teams each will be playing basketball at the Boys' Club during the season. Teams will be made up of boys between the ages of 9 and 12 years. A boy who has not reached his 13th birthday by Nov. 15 of this month is eligible. In addition to this requirement, a boy may not be over 5-6 in height in his stocking feet at the start of the season.

Director of physcial education, William Nunez of the Boys' Club says the playing court is smaller — baskets are lower — the ball is smaller — periods of play are shorter. Everything in the game has been scaled down to meet the physical capacity of the youngsters. Youngsters are really able to play the game and learn the basic rules and regulations, along with the fundamentals, thereby making it easier for them to go into the "big" game as he outgrows biddy basketball.

Practice is being held daily 4 and 5, as well as 6 to 7, at the Boys' Club gym for the young enthusiasts.

Practice games will begin on Thursday.

Linemen Hold Voting Honors

CHICAGO (AP) — Linemen hold the edge in the list of "most valuable players" chosen by players on Big Ten conference football squads.

Squads from eight schools have chosen their star player to compete for the Chicago Tribune's silver football award.

Wisconsin named Dave Howard of Mondovi, Wis.; Northwestern's most valuable is Al Viola, guard from Maynard, Mass.; Indiana picked fullback Bob Fee, Cheslea, Mass.; Illinois named guard Dave Walker, Yorkville, Ill., and Purdue's choice was end Lamar Lundy, Richmond, Ind.

Minnesota and Iowa have not made their selections as yet.

Gets Five-Year Grid Contract

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Ara Parseghian, Northwestern University football coach, last night was given a new five-year contract.

Parseghian still had a year remaining of the two-year pact he signed when he came to the school last December. Announcement of the contract was made at the squad's annual banquet.

Parseghian coached Northwestern to its finest record since 1950 in his freshman year in the Big Ten. The Wildcats finished the season with three straight Big Ten triumphs and an overall record of 4-4-1.

Parseghian said he was very pleased and hoped to be around for a long time.

Matson Challenges Casares

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rich Casares of the Chicago Bears is still leading the National Football League ball carriers. But his cross-town rival Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals has moved within 26 yards of the top spot.

• • •

NFL statistics released today showed Casares, the leader in ground gaining since the season's start, with 774 yards on 178 carries for a 4.3 average, although held to 13 yards last Sunday. Matson picked up 159 yards that same afternoon to bring his total to 748 yards on 145 rushes for a 5.2 average.

Hugh McElheney of the San Francisco 49ers held on to the third spot with 677 yards and a 4.8 average and Frank Gifford, New York Giants, is fourth with 614 yards for a 5.2 average. Alan Ameche, Baltimore's defending champion, hopped from eighth to fifth with 595 yards and a 5.3 average.

Eddie Brown of the Bears leads in passing with an 11.72 average gain in yards to 8.49 for Baltimore's George Shaw. Bill Wade, Los Angeles, dropped from second to third with a 8.48 mark. John Unitas, Baltimore, is fourth with an 8.45 average. Lamar McHan, Chicago Cardinals $3,000-fine quarterback, is fifth with 8.11. Tobin Rote, Green Bay, is in eighth place, but has thrown the most yards through the air, 1,714.

• • •

Bobby Layne, Detroit, replaced Casares as the leading scorer, 78 points to 72. Green Bay's Billy Howton has 66, the Bears' George Blanda has 65 and his teammate Harlon Hill has 60.

• • •

Billy Wilson, San Francisco, leads the pass receivers with 42, one more than Hill. Norm Van Brocklin, Los Angeles, is the best punter with a 43.8 average. Ken Konz jumped from seventh to first in punt returns with a 15.3 yards average.

Cousy Paces Celts to 102-90 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's estimated that spectacular Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics draws the highest salary in the National Basketball Assn. — and the St. Louis Hawks have a reminder why he does today.

With Cousy scoring 27 points and playing a tremendous floor game, the Celts rolled to their sixth-straight victory last night, 102-90 over the Hawks.

• • •

Rochester defeated Syracuse, 90-82 in the opener of a doubleheader at New York and the Knickerbockers followed with a 105-98 decision over Fort Wayne that moved them into second place behind Boston. In the opener of the doubleheader at St. Louis, Minneapolis got over the .500 mark by routing the defending champion Philadelphia Warriors, 113-93.

Orwig 1957 Captain for Michigan Team

* * *

The 196-pound tackle from Toledo, Ohio, succeeds end Tom Maentz of Holland, Mich. Orwig was ruled eligible to play next season by the Western Conference last week.

He had appeared briefly in one game in 1954 and was injured. Orwig was the Wolverines' regular left tackle the past two seasons.

VOTE GETTERS — Top vote getters in the Associated Press Class "B" All-State football balloting were Lapeer's Tom Wilson and John Walker of Walled Lake. They team with Vern Wade of Kalamazoo and Al Luplow of Saginaw St. Andrews to make up the first string backfield.

Wilson, Walker Lead AP 'B' 11

By DAVE DILES
Michigan AP Sports Editor

A swashbuckling field general and three explosive runners operating behind a big, mobile line—that's the class B all-state high school football team announced today by the Associated Press.

* * *

The 1956 dream team has everything, from a pair of lanky pass-catching phenoms at the ends, to a rugged interior line and scintillating backfield that has impressive striking power in the air or on the ground.

Tom Wilson of Lapeer moved up from a 1955 second-team berth to take over a first-team berth. The well-proportioned 180-pounder who stands an even six feet with a unanimous choice among sports writers who selected the classy contingent from ballots submitted by more than 300 high school coaches from all parts of Michigan.

Brother of Michigan State's signal caller, Pat Wilson, and former Spartan defensive halfback and Rhodes Scholar John Wilson, the 17-year-old senior accounted for 18 of Lapeer's 23 touchdowns this season.

Joining him in the backfield are the state's leading scorer, Al Luplow of Saginaw St. Andrew; Vern Wade of Kalamazoo State High and jarrin' John Walker of unbeaten Walled Lake.

* * *

* * *

Brandstatter caught 36 passes for 512 yards and 7 touchdowns; as defensive safetyman intercepted 11 passes; returned 7 punts for a 38-yard average and 2 touchdowns; returned 11 kickoffs for a 32-yard average and one more touchdown—and to top it off, averaged 52 yards on kickoffs and 34 yards on punts.

Harness was a sensation on both offense and defense for St. Joseph. He caught seven touchdown passes and stopped about everything that came his way on defense.

Walker's great offensive value must be measured in two ways: The times he carried the ball, and the times when he didn't carry the ball. Most of the time, Walled Lake opponents thought Walker had the ball even when he didn't.

The second team backfield is a strong one with a great scoring record. Bob Susci of Grand Blanc scored 22 touchdowns, kicked two extra points, passed for three scores and gained 1258 yards rushing. His total offense amounted to more than 1700 yards.

Cagers Ready

Balance Is MSU Factor

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State doesn't have any hot-shot high scorer in sight for its basketball team this year.

"But we will have good overall height and enough depth to make us a well-balanced team," said coach Forddy Anderson.

"We'll go in again as underdogs in the Big Ten title fight," Anderson admitted, "but we're not counting ourselves out by any means."

The spartans open their season against Iowa State here Saturday night. Three of the five starters are gone from the team that had a 12-2 season last winter and ended up 5th in the conference standings.

Most sorely missed will be forward Julius McCoy, who scored more than a third of the points and was second in Big Ten scoring behind Robin Freeman of Ohio State.

* * *

McCoy also set new MSU single game, season and career scoring records.

Forming the backbone of the spartan team this year will be guards Pat Wilson and Harry Lux and forward-guard George Ferguson.

Wilson, the 6-0 football quarterback from Lapeer, won't be able to jump into action immediately because he has been tied up directing the football team.

Ferguson, 6-3, from Providence, R. I., and Lux, 5-10 from Chicago, Ill., can be figured on as starters Saturday.

Those are Jack Quiggle, 6-3 forward-guard from South Bend, Ind.; Larry Hedden, 6-5 forward from Gas City, Ind., and Chuck Bencie, 6-6 center from Gary Ind.

Bencie is counted on for the jump spot since the loss of Max Gonzenbach, the 6-8 center prospect from Milbank, S. D., due to a practice injury.

Favor Spieser in TV Bout Against German

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Chuck Spieser of Detroit is favored to defeat Germany's Willie Hoepner in a scheduled 10 round meeting of title-conscious light heavyweights in the Milwaukee Arena tonight.

Spieser, rates as the No. 1 contender behind lightheavyweight champion Archie Moore. Hoepner is No. 6 in the ratings. The bout will be televised nationally at 10 p.m.

Grazing Lease Stopped to Aid Alaskan Kodiaks

Taking what it calls the "first step" toward resolving a conflict in land use, U. S. Department of the Interior has canceled a grazing lease which occupied a coastal section of the Kodiak National Wildlife Refuge, home of the giant Alaskan Kodiak bear, Wildlife Management Institute reports.

This action, announced by Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, stems from a desire to facilitate full use of the national wildlife refuge for the welfare of this unique species of bear.

County Hunter After Bunnies, Bags Buck, Too

Stanley C. Sherman, 1150 Jay, off Cooley Lake road, had just returned from a fruitless deer-hunting trip from Oscoda. He was disappointed in failing to get his buck, when along came a couple rabbit hunting friends. The trio took off for the Ed Clark farm near Clyde.

After doing all right with the bunnies, Sherman noticed a nice 8-pointer walking out of the woods. A bit of stalking and two blasts from his little 20-gauge rabbit gun downed the deer. It's the first time any area hunter has reported taking a deer with a rabbit load!

With Sherman were Arley Fisher of Detroit and Fred Ratliff of Pontiac. All three took their limit of rabbits.

Writer Suggests Delayed Season Might Help Deer

By JACK PATTERSON

Offhand we don't recall a deer season that was considered normal until after it had passed into history and had become a member of the long list of seasons past which make up, in part, "things the way they used to be."

PATTERSON

The current regular season, which will belong to things past at sundown Friday is no exception. Unless the next few days show a sudden increase in deer activity a good many hunters will scratch their heads all winter in wonder at the "scarcity" of shootable deer during this 1956 season.

Whether this apparent scarcity is a matter of fewer bucks or of limited movement on the part of those bucks is a matter we won't attempt to resolve here. The fact is that particularly in the "most favored" areas, club areas which usually number local deer in the dozens, there is every evidence of fewer deer generally and very few bucks.

Weather, heavy winter kill last year, a late rutting season are a few theories advanced for this situation. Actually the weather has been fairly normal and last year's winter kill was not excessive, except in the sense that any winter kill, if avoidable, is excessive.

* * *

Some factors influencing rutting seasons are not entirely understood. Generally considered a matter of seasonal rhythm, more or less independent of local conditions, the rutting season may be affected to an unpredictable degree by food supplies, herd balance and other ecological considerations. Whatever the reasons, and whether valid or not, there has been considerable sentiment on the part of hunters in recent seasons to set the opening up to Dec. 1.

* * *

If there is a real scarcity of deer on "most favored" lands, it might be useful to remember that any species which becomes too abundant is in for a rough, fast decline. A species which has increased beyond the supporting ability of its range has violated Rule 1 in Nature's Regulations. Punishment isn't always swift but it is inexorable, completely ruthless and supremely logical.

We don't say that this has happened. We merely point out that it can and eventually will unless the deer herd is further reduced, by more starvation, disease or heavier shooting of both sexes.

If we were setting up deer hunting regulations for Michigan, we would seriously consider a two-week any-deer season from Dec. 1 to Dec. 15. This would settle a good many arguments on a good many facets of the deer management problem.

Such a program would have the collateral advantage of putting the thousands of does, illegally shot during the buck season, to a useful purpose.

New OCSC Treasurer

Filling a vacancy created by the removal of OCSC treasurer Walter Barrows, to Florida, club membership has named Lew Borer to the place. The club also named Al Loomis, Ira Gates and Tom Lawrence to fill out terms of Fred Caldwell, Farrel Rose and Borer, on the board of directors.

Deer Contest Nears End

Close of the regular gun season on Nov. 30 will mark the end of one of the most active contests in years. Between 75 and 80 deer were reported as possible entries in the two-way tournament. Changes in leadership were frequent, maintaining a high interest all the way.

Many area hunters are still in the north woods. Because a considerable number will not head back until the weekend, entries will not be closed until 12 o'clock noon, Dec. 4.

Winner in each division will be awarded $150 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

Here's a bit of irony in connection with the contest. Widest (and one of the finest) racks measured during the season was Ervin Miller's 22½-incher. Miller, a Pontiac Press printer, is not eligible for the contest!

Another fine rack was reported by Robert Schultz, 4026 Quiller road, Drayton Plains. The 10-point spread, not wide enough to take the top spot was perfectly balanced. Schultz hunted near Ishpeming in the UP, with a party of Pontiac men, but got the only buck. Others were Edward Nadeau, Wallace Johnson and Taylor Phillips.

Injunction Refused

Special Season Now OK

LANSING (AP) — A request for an injunction blocking the state's special deer season Saturday and Sunday was denied Tuesday by Circuit Judge Philip J. Glennie of Alpena.

The request was made by Lloyd McKim, Lansing sporting goods store operator and official of the teamsters union.

Glennie said McKim failed to prove his charge the state conservation department had discriminated against him in allocating deer licenses.

But he ordered McKim's attorneys and state attorneys to file briefs within 30 days discussing whether the method of distributing permits for the special season constituted an illegal lottery.

Some 65,000 permits for the special season were distributed following a drawing from 105,000 applications.

The season will allow hunters to shoot does, bucks or fawns in 20 areas of the state where the conservation department says deer are threatened with starvation this winter.

John J. McKune, attorney for McKim, argued that the drawing was an illegal lottery because it involved chance, a prize and some valuable consideration from participants.

Oxonian Bags His First Bear, a 350-Pounder

Hunting deer near Hillman, alone, Cumberworth noticed a splotch of black fur sticking out of the ground. He investigated and discovered a tired old bruin preparing for a winter hibernation. All but the top of the bear's head and one eye were covered, Cumberworth reported.

Still Going at 76

Wilkinson Gets 76th Buck

By H. GUY MOATS

Where most hunters with a background as active as that of Pontiac's Dave H. Wilkinson, 290 Whittemore street, would be satisfied to sit back and just reminisce over the "good old days," "Uncle Dave" gets out in the fields and woods for every game season.

Wilkinson started deer hunting 45 years ago, prior to the present one-buck law. During those near-half-a-century of outdoors activity he has taken some 76 bucks — one for each year of his age. Only once did he fail to bring home a buck. He just returned with his 1956 allotment, a 140-pound spike.

Still vigorous, despite a few twinges, now and then, as he says, "Uncle Dave" does all right with pheasants, rabbits and from time to time at trout fishing. "I get my biggest kick from fishing," Wilkinson said, "when I go to Florida for a whirl at the deep sea fishing."

However, he added quickly, "I'm a hunter—period."

He said he formerly raised English pointer bird dogs.

"My biggest buck?" Uncle Dave said, "Well, I can't recall my biggest one, but the biggest I've ever seen dressed out was a 12-point — 210-pounder, at Currin."

Goose Hunting Good at Two Game Areas

LANSING (AP) — Goose hunters Hunters at Fennvilletnaaaatato are having good luck at the Swan Creek-Fennville Game Area, the state conservation department reports.

• • •

• • •

Success in both areas was down from last year, but the number of hunters was also less.

The season closes Dec. 9.

Hunters Face Possible Transportation Tieup

LANSING (AP) —The state conservaton department today sent out telegrams to holders of special season deer permits for Drummond Island warning they may have trouble getting to the island.

• • •

The Chippewa County road commission, which operates the ferry to the island, has said it will put the ferry in dry dock "for repairs" during the special season Saturday and Sunday.

Solunar Tables

Drafted especially for the Pontiac area, the solunar periods listed below should serve to assist hunters and fishermen of the section to determine the best times for pursuit of their sport. They were prepared by the well-known outdoors authority, John Alden Knight.

Major periods run from an hour and a half to two hours, minor periods somewhat less.

OCSC Members Build Nests for Wood Ducks

Construction of between 50 and 100 nesting boxes for wood ducks will be undertaken by OCSC members during the winter. These predatorproof boxes will be built from scrap lumber, and are expected to be ready for distribution by conservation personnel sometime after March 1.

Nests will be placed in wood duck breeding spots in the Oakland County area.

OCSC Project Will Help Game Area Improvements

Plans for a widespread project, aimed to help improve game areas in Oakland county will be outlined for members of the OCSC at tonight's meeting at 8 p. m. in the clubhouse at Waterford.

• • •

Because of the state-wide implication the proposal holds there will be a representative group of conservation officials in attendance. They are expected to take part in a panel discussion of the plan.

• • •

Those coming in are expected to include Dr. Stanley C. Whitlock, assistant chief of the game division; Larry Dayton, regional game supervisor; Tom Osmer, district supervisor; Ted Fairbanks, game biologist; Bob Boss, parks and recreation and D. J. (Curley) Davenport, habitation improvement. Osmer will have some slides on local area habitat conditions.

OCSS proposes to send work crews into the game areas to clear brush, create brush piles for cover, then follow in the spring with extensive planting. Conservation officials have approved the idea, says OCSC men. All work will be under supervision of area conservation men, with Charles Mills, new OCSC conservation chairman in charge of the club efforts.

New Hampshire Tired of Losing Biologists

New Hampshire is tiring of serving as a training ground for wildlife and fish biologists, the Wildlife Management Institute reports. Nine biologists have left that state's fish and game department in the last 15 months. During the past five years, the management and research division with its 15 biological staff positions, has lost 16 biologists.

• • •

According to Hilbert R. Siegler, chief of the division, "We train them after they come out of school, and then other states with greater foresight than ours offer these men an appropriate salary and hire them.

State Insists Ferry Will Run

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — State officials say they would go to court if necessary to keep the Drummond Island ferry running for a special deer season there Dec. 1 and 2.

Glenn Bailey of Drummond Island, chairman of the Chippewa County Road Commission, has ruled that the ferry needs a hull inspection those two days. Bailey is an outspoken opponent of the "any deer" season.

Gerald E. Eddy, state conservation director, said he will seek a conference with the road commission in an attempt to postpone the ferry inspection.

• • •

Otherwise, he said the state will ask a circuit court injunction to halt the commission from taking the ferry out of service. The inspection is required by the coast guard some time before Oct. 1, 1957.

1957 Fishing Licenses Going Out to Dealers

LANSING (AP) — The state conservation department has begun distribution of a record 1,900,000 1957 fishing licenses.

Licenses are being sent to 4,200 dealers throughout the state and will be available Dec. 1.

Anglers can take black bass from all waters except designated trout lakes and streams through Dec. 31.

Multi-Lakes Plans Turkey Shoot, Fry

Annual turkey shoot and fish fry for Multi-Lakes Conservation association is set for Sunday Dec. 2, at the club's grounds on Reed's Lake.

• • •

Port Huron perch will be cooked for the dinner starting at 1 p.m. and running, family style, until 5 o'clock.

• • •

Shoot begins at 10 a.m., runs all day.

Boom Raises Value of Canadian Dollar

NEW YORK (AP)—The value of the Canadian dollar in terms of United States currency stood at $1.04⅛ Tuesday, just under the four-year high of $1.04 11-32 set in the fall of 1952.

Traders listed two factors that contributed to the rising strength of the Canadian dollar. They are:

1. Large financing in recent weeks of public and private Canadian borrowers in the U. S. money markets.

2. The inflow of funds into Canada from European sources because of outbreak of hostilities in the Suez Canal zone and Eastern Europe.

For the most part the Canadian dollar has been selling at a premium in terms of the U. S. dollar ation began when Canada started to push development of its industry and natural resources, to a large extent with U. S. money.

Soybeans Settle Uneasy Trading

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP) — In an active, nervous market grains moved up and down around previous closing levels on the board of trade today.

It was hard for the market to get set in any definite direction. It no sooner moved ahead when it was knocked down, but declines were followed swiftly by rebounds.

Soybeans had a steadier appearance than anything else, and old crop wheat also seemed to be in good demand. Feed grains lagged and at times pressure in new crop wheat became quite heavy.

• • •

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ lower to ¼ higher, December $2.44½, corn ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, December $1.37⅝, oats ⅛ to ¾ higher, December 79¾, rye ¾ to 1½ higher, December $1.46, soybeans ¼ to 1 cent higher, January $1.60⅝, and lard 8 cents lower to 3 cents higher, December $14.95.

36 Millionth Chevy Off Assembly Line

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. (INS)—The 36 millionth Chevrolet rolled off the assembly line in Tarrytown, N. Y., today—a 1957 model Bel-Air sport coupe in brilliant India ivory and Coronado yellow.

Plant manager Walter B. M. Brownlie said there were approximately 50 employes at the plant when it was opened to make the new "490" model with which Chevrolet entered the low-price automobile field.

Aircrafts Lead Quiet Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and aircrafts gained in an otherwise irregular stock market as trading was quiet early today.

Gains among pivotal stocks ran to 1 or 2 points while losses were generally confined within a 1-point range.

While favorable economic prospects for the fourth quarter were reported by the Commerce Dept., the tight money situation and foreign uncertainties still dampened enthusiasm.

Aircrafts resumed their recent strength as Douglas rose nearly 3 and Glenn L. Martin around a point while United Aircraft and Boeing were more narrowly on the upside.

• • •

Youngstown Sheet & Tube rose more than a point and Bethlehem about a point. U. S. Steel scored a fractional gain.

General Motors made a small gain. Coppers declined slightly as custom smelters reduced the price of refined copper for January delivery. Kennecott dropped around a point. American Smelting lost a fraction.

Among opening blocks were Studebaker-Packard unchanged at 8⅛ on 5,000 shares. General Motors up ⅛ at 43⅞ on 2,000 Reynolds Metals off ½ at 61¼ on 1,000 and Standard Oil (New Jersey) up ⅛ at 55⅞ on 2,000.

Insurance Benefits Up

NEW YORK (INS)—The Institute of Life Insurance reports American families received $4,297,600,000 in benefits from their life insurance in the first three quarters of this year. The payments represented an increase of more than $331 million over the same period of 1955.

IN MEMORY OF JOA REINERT who died Nov. 27, 1955. "Some may have forgotten now that you are gone
But I will remember no matter how long"
His wife Amy

BEANE — In loving memory of Elizabeth Beane who passed away 9 yrs. ago Nov. 28th, 1951.
You are not forgotten Mother dear,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory lasts,
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children & Grandchildren.

MOREAU—IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear daughter Irene Sexton, who left us 6 yrs. ago today. 6 years have gone, but still we miss her
Loving thoughts will always linger,
Till in heaven we meet again.

Predict Air Rates for Next 10 Years

DETROIT (AP) In less than 10 years two fo every three airline passengers will fly by air coach at a fare of about four cents a mile, a spokesman for the airline industry predicts.

* * *

Currently, one of three passengers uses air coach, Stanley Gerwirtz, vice president of the Air Transport Assn., said yesterday in a talk before a Kiwanis Club meeting.

Airlines must spend about three billion dollars for jet equipment before air travel rates can be lowered, Gerwirtz said. This figure, he said, is more than the total capital investment in all existing equipment.

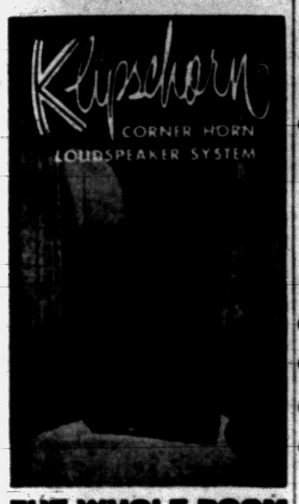
* * *

Despite rising costs of operation and equipment, airlines customers now are paying virtually the same for tickets as in 1938, Gerwirtz said.

Blacksnake Sizzles

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — There was almost no obstacle too great fr the six-foot blacksnake which climbed an electric pole near here in search of bird eggs. Almost no obstacle, that is, except a 7,200-volt power line.

An electric company serviceman found no damage, except one thoroughly blackened blacksnake.



THE WHOLE ROOM SPEAKS—

—AND THE VOICE YOU HEAR is a mirror image of the original sound. A Klipschorn loudspeaker system transforms the walls of your room into an actual part of a perfectly designed folded horn. The deep bass tones of the organ are reproduced in the sense of feeling as well as hearing; the all-important middle range combines with the extended high range to render the violin so accurately as to be mistaken for the original on direct comparison.

Vast effort has been expended to minimize the peaks and artificial "presence" effects which in some "high-fidelity" speakers render the bow more audible than the violin. Throughout its nine octave range the Klipschorn speaker re-creates the original sound. That is why informed recording artists and sound engineers acclaim the Klipschorn corner horn loudspeaker system as the ultimate in fidelity of sound reproduction.

Come and hear your favorite recording faithfully re-produced on a Klipschorn loudspeaker system.

State's E and H Bond Purchases Are Up

DETROIT (INS)The Detroit office of the U.S. Treasury Department announced yesterday that Michigan residents purchased $276,044,000 worth of series E and H savings bonds in the first 10 months of 1956.

October sales amounted to $24,876,000.

Combined purchases in the corresponding 10 - month period last year were $275.0 million with October, 1955, sales totaling $27.2 million.

Delmar V. Cote, state director for the treasury's U.S. savings bond division, said 47 of Michigan's 83 counties achieved or bettered their 10-month quotas this year.

The state's 1956 sales quota is $330.9 million in E and H savings bonds.

Car Crash; Coffee Burns

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Major injuries received by Mrs. Lucille Martin in an automobile accident were burns from hot coffee. She was sitting in her car at a drive-in restaurant drinking a cup of coffee when the brakes gave way on a truck parked nearby and it rolled into the side of her automobile.

Brilliant Ideas Aren't Enough

Even When It Reaches Home Screens, Show May Be Unprofitable

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Few trails in this cultured age are as fraught with peril as the circuitous, pitfall-bestrewn path a television series idea must travel from the fertile cerebrum of a writer to the home screens.

* * *

Assume, for example, that you have suddenly been stricken with an idea for a TV series so brilliant that it will send "Lassie" yelping into the hills with her tail between her legs.

Your first move is to write a synopsis, or "treatment," outlining your plot, characters and the general structure of your series.

* * *

The next step is to consign your masterpiece to a producer, either by the direct approach method or through the services of an agent.

A GOOD IDEA

Assume further that your idea actually has merit and, after a few months of anxious waiting, you find a receptive producer.

* * *

At this point you have two choices—maybe. You can either sell your idea outright or you can attempt to convert your notion into an annuity by retaining a "piece," or percentage, of the show.

Your producer—be it a network or an independent—cannot like your idea just a little bit. He must like it enough to gamble $30,000 or more making a sample, or "pilot," film. Otherwise, you will do no business in show business.

Assume now that the "pilot" film exceeds even the brightest expectations. It is now time for the businessmen to take over—if they haven't already in the process of raising money to film the "pilot."

* * *

The fresh new film is sent to the advertising agencies of New York's Madison avenue to be appraised by the men who spend money so lavishly on behalf of client sponsors.

KNOTTY PROBLEMS

And even if your show gets four bells from the ad men, there are other knotty problems to be considered. The most important of these is obtaining air time for your show.

* * *

At the moment, the three major networks have no premium telecasting time open for new shows, and as "time slots" open, the networks have a tendency to fill them quickly with shows grown and groomed within their own organizations.

There is, however, another route open to you. That is what is called "syndication"—the practice of filming a TV series and then selling it to individual stations for use during non-network time with local or regional sponsorship.

Should your show be selected from among hundreds of competitors to be used in either way and should a sponsor write a check to cover the production of, say, the first 13 installments of your series, it still might be wise to live economically.

* * *

Dozens of outside factors, including a negative audience reaction, can send your show to an early grave, and what is worse youff chance of realizing heavy profits from it immediately is small.

It probably will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 to $30,000 per show to film your series, which in many cases is about all the original sponsor will pay for it. You, as a shareholder, may have to wait until the show goes into reruns before the four-figure checks start rolling in.

* * *

It sounds complicated, and it is, which explains why the three major networks and every independent TV producer in Hollywood have in their vaults from three to dozens of "unsold" sample films.

Attorney Fights 'Little Dearborn'

Contests Right of City to Spend Tax Revenues Outside State

DETROIT (AP) — There will be no "Little Dearborn" in Florida if Dearborn, Mich., Attorney Jame Thomson has his way.

Thomson, a property owner in the Detroit suburban community, that Dearborn city officials have taken "many trips" to Florida at taxpayers' expense to purchase l for a southern branch of the Michigan City.

His circuit court suit asks a temporary injunction stopping all future planning or construction of the "dream town."

Thomson said Dearborn is advertising the "grandoise scheme of Dearborn, Florida" on city stationery. He contends the city has no right to spend tax money outside of Michigan.

* * *

The attorney, victorious in several previous legal fights against Dearborn city officials, also filed suit today to halt construction of a fire station. He claims the city has already spent part of the $380,000 bond issue approved by voters to build and equip three new fire stations.

His suit said city officials now intend to spend the remainder in construction only, one station instead of the original three.

Merchandise O.K.

GLENDIVE, Mont. (AP) — Harold Donahue was complaining bitterly to store clerk Jim Shirby that his recently purchased .22 caliber revolver didn't work. As he waved the gun around, it discharged sending a bullet into a metal button on the sleeve of Shirby's jacket. Police permitted Donahue to leave with his gun — convinced that it shoots.

More Check on Taxes

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service assigned 1,559 special agents to tax-frand investigation during 1955, an increase of 282 over the previous year. Revenue agents assigned to audit returns increased by 650 to total 11,255 during the year.

Tired of Own Cooking —After He Reaches 102

Little, a widower for the past 20 years, lives alone. Although neighborhood women drop in to see if he needs any help, he still does most of his own cooking and housework. He was married for 66 years.

* * *

"I used to cook in a lumber camp," he said, "but I've eaten my own cooking for more years than I care to remember."

"I've had enough snow in my life," he said. "I could go to Florida and board with a friend. I may go there yet."

* * *

Born Nov. 27, 1854, near St. Johns, in what was then a wilderness, Little was a lumberman, contractor and camp cook.

He doesn't like the looks of the world situation and thinks there's going to be another war.

"I don't think its going to be long either," he said. "It's kind of hog eat hog, I guess."

ALL HIS OWN — Six - year - old Jerry Coppens doesn't have to worry about his doll flirting with other guys as they dance in Chicago. The life-size doll, made from cotton feed and flour bags by Juanita Misemer of Everton, Mo., was among 500 articles submitted in the 1956 Cotton Bag Sewing Contest.

Actor Glenn Ford Gets Name Changed Officially

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gwyllyn Samuel Newton Ford — screen name, Glen Ford — is now legally Glenn Ford offscreen, too.

He told Superior Court yesterday that his given name causes him too much trouble when he travels. The court gave the Canadian-born actor permission to make his movie name his legal name.

Bring Down Bodies of 25 Killed in Airliner Crash

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The bodies of 25 persons killed in the crash of a New York-to-Caracas airliner were brought down by cable car last night from the cloud-shrouded mountains at the city's edge.

There were no survivors.

* * *

The dead included 10 Americans, among them 26-year-old Negro outfielder Charles Peete of Omaha, Neb., the American Assn.'s 1956 batting champion, his wife and three children.

* * *

The Venezuelan airliner, swinging in from the Caribbean through a rainstorm to land at Maiquetia, Caracas' seaside airport, plunged into a wooded mountain of the Boca Chica range.

Wreckage and the bodies of the 18 passengers and 7 crewmen were scattered over the area of a city block. The point of impact was about 150 feet from the crest.

* * *

It was the second crash in just over five months for the government-owned Linea Areopostal Venezolana. One of the line's planes caught fire after a New York takeoff last June 20 and plunged 74 persons to death in the Atlantic off Asbury Park, N.J. — the world's worst disaster on a regular airline flight up to that date. Ten days later 128 persons were killed in the collision of two U.S. airliners over the Grand Canyon.

* * *

American financier Nelson Rockefeller had booked passage on the ill-fated plane but switched to another flight from New York to get a berth. He arrived safely for an inspection of his varied interests here.

Peete, property of the St. Louis Cardinal chain, was en route to play winter ball in Venezuela. He had a .350 hitting average this past season.

Other American dead were Robert Bernard of Central Falls, R.I.; Benjamin Regan, 35, Beloit, Wis.; Helen M. Strom; Evans J. Thomas, 41, Pittsburgh, Pa., and John Zlock; 38, Nesquehoning, Pa.

Limit on Campaign Spending Angers Party Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall has proposed that Congress boost to 10 or 12 million dollars the amount any political committee may legally spend on a national election campaign.

* * *

Hall told a Senate committee investigating lobbying and political practices that the election law's present three-million-dollar ceiling is "completely ridiculous."

Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler in testimony Monday similarly had called the present ceiling unrealistic. Butler said both major parties "avoided" the law by having numerous separate committees each able to stay within the law by spending up to three million.

Butler suggested an over-all ceiling of "8 to 12 million dollars" or "9 to 10 million."

* * *

Athough Butler and Hall used similar figures as to suggested allowable spending, there was a major difference between them.

Butler suggested his figure as one to cover all spending by a political party on a national campaign. Hall proposed his as a limit on a committee's spending.

* * *

Hall said he would allow "splinter campaign organizations," such as the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee and the special committees for Stevenson and Kefauver in the last campaign, to continue raising additional funds independently.

Such groups, Hall said, "will always be with us."

Questioned by Chairman McLellan (D-Ark) and other members of the Senate Committee, Hall said he could not see how an over-all ceiling on all national campaign spending could work.

Under such a system, Hall said, candidates and their top aides working in various parts of the country, particularly in the last few weeks of the campaign, would have no way of knowing how much they might spend without going over the limit.

* * *

Hall estimated that the Republican party spent $8,200,000 on National contests this year. He said reports through Monday showed the GOP National Committee deposited campaign funds of $2,906,183.30 and spent $2,721,701.55, winding up with a cash balance.

* * *

The Senate group has not received an estimate as yet as to total spending by the Democrats, but the Democratic National Committee has reported it went about $800,000 in the red.

* * *

Hall differed with a suggestion by George Morris Fay, committee counsel, that the federal law require reporting of campaign spending for state, county and local campaign offices as well as for national in order to show whether it is true, as has sometimes been said, that a national election may cost as much as 150 to 200 million dollars.

* * *

He also objected to the idea of joint Democratic and Republican campaign fund raising as was undertaken experimentally in Alexandria, Minn., this year. Hall said this would "weaken the two-party system."

From the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Senate group received a statement contending that the "federal lobbying act threatens the constitutional right of free speech."
