SERIOUS MOMENT — President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev pause for the playing of the Russian and American national anthems after the Soviet's arrival at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington today.

School Blast Kills 6; Mystery Man Seen

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An explosion police fear may have been set off by a homemade bomb shook the Poe Elementary School today. Police dispatchers said at least six children and adults were killed and at least 18 injured.

The FBI was called in after teachers and students said a man carrying a suitcase was on the campus at the time of the explosion.

"Some of them have their legs and arms blown off," said Mrs. Cora Bryan McRae, a former Houston Chronicle reporter who lives nearby. "They are horribly mangled. It's too horrible to describe."

Police said one body was that of a man seen carrying a suitcase on the campus.

Newspaper reporters at the scene said many students were injured. Early reports estimated the injured at from 25 to 30.

Mothers rushed to the school, some screaming, "where is my child!"

There were conflicting reports as to whether the explosion occurred in the kitchen or in a hallway at the rear of the building.

"Police told me a man came into the hallway with a suitcase and about that time the explosion occurred," said John Harris, Houston Chronicle reporter who arrived at the scene shortly after the explosion. The man was killed.

Mrs. D. L. Hunt, a teacher, said a boy came running to her during recess and said there was a man in the school yard with a suitcase "with a button on it."

The student quoted the man as saying he was going to punch the button.

Mrs. Hunt said another student told her: "There's a man out there with a satchel full of dynamite."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hunt said she and another teacher started out to evacuate the children but the explosion occurred before they could get out of the building.

Weldon Appelt described the explosion scene as "the worst I have ever seen."

"I counted four bodies," said Appelt, who was a block away when the explosion occurred.

"One boy was completely devoid of clothes and a little girl had been blown over 100 feet," he said. "There were pieces of flesh everywhere and bits of clothes scattered all over."

★ ★ ★

"The teachers did a marvelous job," he said. "In the minute it took us to get to the school they had all the other children outside."

Hoffa Friend's Home Is Fired

Indiana Teamster Boss Away as Arson Strikes in Early Morning

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The suburban home of Gene San Soucie, top Indiana Teamsters Union official and close friend of Jimmy Hoffa, was virtually destroyed by fire early today and authorities said it was "definitely" a case of arson.

Damage to the two-story north side home was estimated by firemen at between $16,000 and $20,000.

The flames broke out only a few hours after San Soucie and his wife flew to Chicago Monday night to attend a Teamsters meeting.

Even before firemen extinguished the flames, investigators from the state fire marshal's office examined charred ruins for clues.

"It's definitely a case of arson," said Marion County deputy sheriff, Oscar Cubel.

Authorities said a preliminary investigation showed that a fuel line leading to a basement oil burner was cut and the basement floor was flooded with fuel.

Registers were found filled with oil, and rugs, floors and furniture were saturated with fuel. Candle fuses were found in several sections of the home.

Reached in Chicago, San Soucie said he planned to fly back to Indianapolis almost immediately and "see what's cooking." He said he had no leads and had not been threatened.

★ ★ ★

"If I'd been threatened and found out who it was, there wouldn't have been a fire, you can bet on that," he said.

San Soucie is president of Teamsters Local 135 here. He also heads the State Drivers Conference of Teamsters and is vice president of the Midwest Drivers Conference of Teamsters.

Rubs In Landing of Red Rocket on Moon Sunday

Ike Welcomes Russian; Says U.S. Could Never Start Aggressive War

WASHINGTON (AP)— Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev began his historic visit today with an appeal for "good neighborly" relations between Communist and capitalist states and a sharp reminder that the Soivet Union had beaten the United States in the race to the moon.

President Eisenhower, welcoming Khrushchev to American soil, told the chubby Communist leader the United States could never launch an aggressive war because the American people rules the country and are devoted to peace. In the President's welcoming speech was the clear implication that Russia has no such built-in restraints against aggression.

While a curious but quietly unexcited crowd looked on at Andrews Air Force Base, the serious-faced Soviet leader heard the President express the hopes of the United States for a "just, universal and enduring peace."

The two men thus began in the very first moments of their exchange of visits a struggle for the support of world public opinion.

Khrushchev's reference to his nation's success in putting a capsule on the moon, with the hammer and sickle emblem, was a frank boast of Soviet prowess in science. Almost in so many words he told the President that American science would get to the moon sooner or later, too.

It was a momentous scene in the gleaming sunlight of the airbase in nearby Maryland. In a sense two worlds were meeting for the first time—never before had a master of Soviet communism set foot on the United States.

When the President's welcoming remorks were translated, the Soviet Premier applauded. Then, smiling, he approached the microphone, donned his spectacles, and said there should be no obstacles to good relations between the two countries. He said he had come to the United States with "open heart and good intentions."

In referring to the Soviet triumph over the weekend in planting a rocket on the moon, Khrushchev said:

"Our earth has become some-

HE'S HERE — Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower walk away from the giant TU114 Russian jet liner that brought the Soviet Premier to the United States for his visit. The President was on hand at Andrews Air Force Base to greet the Communist leader when he arrived today at 11:21 a. m.

Congress Calls It Quits After Busy, Long '59 Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress closed its long and—for the Democratic majority—often frustrating 1959 session early today.

Final adjournment came only five hours before Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was due in Washington.

The House quit at 5:21 a.m. (Pontiac time) and the always more leisurely Senate hurried to quit three minutes later, ending the longest continuous session since the Korean War year of 1951.

An hour before adjourning, Senate leaders woke President Eisenhower with a call to the White House, made at his request. They reported they were about ready to quit, and he replied he had nothing more to ask of them this year.

The weary legislators left behind a heavy load of business for their 1960 national election session, starting next Jan. 6.

The final adjournment just before Khrushchev's scheduled arrival pleased some of the members who sought to make sure there would be no occasion for an address by the Premier to the Congress.

For the Senate, adjournment ended a 21½-hour session starting at 9 a.m. Monday to clean up the final business of the first session of the 86th Congress.

Congress' final action was to appropriate $3,225,813,000 for foreign aid and about 400 million dollars for miscellaneous other purposes. The aid total, 330 million less than Congress had authorized in an earlier bill, was a compromise of Senate and House figures.

★ ★ ★

Also approved, as part of the bill, was a two-year extension of the life of the Civil Rights Commission otherwise due to die in November. It was given $500,000 in new funds to continue its work in the next year.

Michigan's Democratic Sens. Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart voted with the majority to extend the commission.

The session's end was delayed by a lengthy conference on the foreign aid bill onto which had been tacked a number of clean-up money matters and the Civil Rights Commission's extension—an action bitterly opposed by Southern senators.

★ ★ ★

Probably the most noteworthy acts of the 1959 session were to admit Hawaii as the 50th state and to pass a far-reaching labor regulation bill.

Major Hoople Picks the Scores

Major Hoople, originator of the touch system (football, not typing) flails away as he compiles his weekly football forecast. The Major, grand old man of OUR BOARDING HOUSE, challenges one and all to try to outguess him on the results of each Saturday's games.

The Hoople predictions are amazingly accurate (occasionally) and his record for pegging upsets is (he says) better than that of any other expert. You can have a lot of fun this fall by matching your gridiron knowledge against the Major's. His predictions will appear each week in The Pontiac Press.

Watch for the Hoople forecast starting with the games this Saturday.

Overcast Skies, Continuing Cool Forecast for Area

Pontiac area residents may expect skies to be overcast through tomorrow with temperatures continuing cool. Tonight's low will be near 43.

Wednesday's high will be a cool 52 with little temperature change Thursday or Friday. Little precipitation is expected for the next few days, the weatherman said.

At 1:15 this afternoon winds were northeast at 6 miles an hour. From 10 a. m. yesterday until the same time today .01 of an inch rain fell in the area.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 51 degrees. At 2 p.m. the reading was 54.

Double Failure in Missile Tests

Jupiter, Vanguard Sit on Pad as Khrushchev Comes to Visit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The Army failed early today to fire its intermediate range Jupiter rocket, three hours after a scheduled Vanguard rocket launching was postponed.

The double missile failure came only hours before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives in the United States to personally tell President Eisenhower of Russia's successful moonshot, Lunik II.

The Jupiter missile was set to carry a veritable zoo of small animals into space. Fourteen pregnant mice and two frogs were among the biological specimens jammed into its nose cone of the intermediate range ballistic missile.

In addition, the nose cone contained: Onion and mustrad seeds; fruit fly larvae, bread mold, human blood and skin, algea cells, sea urchin eggs and radiation emulsion packs.

It was to have soared 300 miles high and 1500 miles down-range across the Atlantic.

A malfunction prevented the Jupiter from leaving its pad, a spokesman for the Atlantic missile test range said. The malfunction occurred shortly after ignition, causing the engine "to cut off automatically while still on the launching pad."

Cause of the malfunction was not available.

600 MSUO Freshmen to Attend Convocation

With their historic first day of classes just six days away, Michigan State University Oakland's charter student body will attend a convocation Thursday morning.

The 600 freshmen will hear Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, president of the State University of New York. It will be Dr. Hamilton's first major appearance since becoming head of his state's higher education program.

Because of the limited seating capacity of the cafeteria in the Student Center, where the 10 a.m. convocation will be held, a similar convocation will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. for parents and friends of students.

MSUO Chancellor Durward B. Varner will speak to the parents as will Robert G. Hoopes, dean of faculty.

Varner, Hoopes and MSU President John A. Hannah will also address the student body Thursday in its second mass gathering since orientation was conducted several weeks ago. Classes will begin Monday.

According to Loren B. Pope, assistant to Varner, the public has liked the tours of the new university during open houses held on Sundays. Last Sunday's tour attracted 550, he said.

Another tour of the several buildings on the MSUO campus will be held this Sunday as well as the parents - friends convocation.

The school can best be reached by Pontiac residents by traveling out Perry street to Pontiac road, then to where it intersects Walton and Squirrel roads. The school entrance is right off Squirrel road.

There visitors will find the mall-connected Science - Administration Building and the Student Center, the nucleus of the sprouting university made possible by the donation of Meadow Brook Farms and $2,000,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

Monitor Report May Oust Hoffa

Group Charges Jimmy Violated Decrees That Gave Him Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—The monitors of the Teamster Union have started a court action that could result in the eventual ouster of James R. Hoffa as union president.

The monitors, named by a federal court to oversee the operations of Hoffa's union, charged yesterday that Hoffa's financial dealings have violated the 1958 consent decrees that allowed him to assume the union presidency.

If the charges are true, the monitors said, the court should consider ousting Hoffa as president. They also suggested he might be expelled from membership in the union.

Two of the monitors signed the report filed with Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts. The third, who represents the union on the board, did not sign.

The report said Hoffa's home Local 299 of Detroit was involved in all the challenged financial dealings. In the biggest transaction, Local 299 deposited $500,000 in a Florida bank to secure a loan to a Florida land development outfit, Sun Valley, Inc.

Local 299's $500,000 earned no interest while the loan was unpaid, the monitors said. Only $100,000 has been repaid by Sun Valley, and the firm is now bankrupt.

The monitors said Hoffa had an interest in the company through options to buy much of its stock.

The monitors asked the court to give them subpoena power to conduct a thorough investigation of the transactions, and also to order Hoffa to file a written report with them within 10 days.

City Must Trim $21,000 From Costs

Library Bids Over Budget

For the second time in less than a week, Pontiac city officials were faced with the task of having to scrape up extra funds or trim costs for a major construction project.

Opening of bids yesterday for the city's new library found them exceeding available funds by nearly $21,000.

★ ★ ★

On Friday, the city learned that construction bids on the new Pontiac Municipal Airport terminal project exceeded earmarked money by $44,000.

Three low bids in the general (architectural), mechanical and electrical fields for the proposed $500,000 library totaled $520,895.

They were:

General — Bundy Construction Co., 1509 S. Telegraph Rd., $380,700 (base bid only).

Mechanical — Kropf Plumbing and Heating Co., Detroit, $96,495.

Electrical—Paul's Electric Co., 592 Oakland Ave., $43,700.

Immediately upon the opening of all 25 bids, City Manager Walter K. Willman asked Thomas H. Hewlett, of the library designing firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Associates of Birmingham, to examine low bids in an attempt to get costs down closer to the allotted half million dollars.

Willman promised a preliminary report on the low bids at tonight's City Commission meeting. This will be followed up next Tuesday with a more complete report following Hewlett's analysis.

"I think we're close enough to work this out," Willman said.

He said no solution had been found to uncover the additional $44,000 for the airport project.

Regarding the library, he mentioned the possibility that the additional $21,000 could be subtracted from some other capital improvement project and added to funds already earmarked for the library.

To finance construction on a pay-as-you-go basis, commissioners have set aside $200,000 out of last year's capital improvement fund, $200,000 this year, and planned to budget $200,000 next year, $100,000 to go into library furnishings.

The one-story library, to house up to 100,000 volumes, is slated for a plot in the city's Civic Center directly across from the City Hall and Public Safety Building on Parke street.

Hewlett, who read off the bids yesterday while some 30 contractors listened in the Commission chambers, had predicted earlier that costs might exceed the ceiling by as much as five per cent, or $25,000.

Five general construction bids ranged from Bundy's low to a high of $457,000. J. A. Fredman Inc. of Pontiac, who was unsuccessful second low bidder twice for construction of the new Oakland County courthouse, submitted the second low general bid here, too, with a base bid of $399,247. This was $18,547 more than Bundy's.

The Fredman company built the City Hall and Public Safety Building.

Among the 10 mechanical bids, the range was from Kropf's low of $96,495 to a high of $120,082 from F. J. Temple & Sons.

Area Woman Still Can't Join Jailed Husband

A newly-wed Royal Oak woman, who police said robbed a taxi driver at knifepoint so she might join her jailed husband, yesterday stood mute when arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

The judge entered a plea of innocent for Sharron H. Wells, of 3382 Harvard St., and sent her back to the county jail, unable to post a $2,500 bond. Her trial probably will be held sometime this fall.

Still in the jail also — but on the third floor while she's on the fourth — is her 22-year-old husband, Jack. He was arrested Sept. 4 for littering the highway. He is awaiting examination Sept. 22 before West Bloomfield Township Elmer C. Dieterle.

Mrs. Wells, 18, married only a month ago, allegedly robbed a cab driver of $59 when taking the taxi from Royal Oak to home of relatives in Birmingham.

Police arrested her when the driver noticed the home she entered.

Art Gallery Robbed of Valuable Paintings

TORONTO (AP)— Thieves who broke through a skylight Monday night looted the Toronto art gallery of six paintings estimated to be worth $250,000.

★ ★ ★

Two paintings by Rembrandt, two by Franz Hals, a Rubens and a Renoir were cut out of their frames and removed.

★ ★ ★

The thieves obviously knew what paintings they wanted, police said. They left by smashing a front window.

United Fund Talk Set for Women's Club

Dr. Harold Bussey, volunteer member of the Pontiac Area United Fund's speaker bureau will talk to the Women's Club of the Pontiac Boy's Club tonight at 8:30 in the Club meeting room, 530 East Pike St.

Bussey will tell his audience about the efforts of this year's United Fund Oct. 1-22 campaign.

Local members of the Women's Division of the Fund will also be present to answer questions on what the women of Pontiac can do for this year's drive.

Pacific Ocean Sends Cold Wind Over Midwest

By The Associated Press

Cool winds moved in from over the Pacific Ocean and out of Canada early today, bringing sharp drops in temperatures to some sections of the country.

Elko, Nev., had a reading of 45 degrees—a drop of 23 degrees in 24 hours. Bismarck, N. D., had 49—27 degrees under Monday night's reading.

Ahead of the winds was a band of thunderstorms, some accompanied by gusty winds. Early Monday night at Elko, the wind reached a velocity of 94 m.p.h. the Weather Bureau said.

Rain was general over the northwest tier of states.

Old and New Supervisors Clash on Funds, Seniority

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL Jr.

An undercover tiff between some freshman and veteran members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors broke into the open yesterday as the Board warmed up for next Monday's debate on the 1960 county budget.

Brief fireworks erupted after Sydney Frid, Northville supervisor who regularly questions county expenditures, asked for and was denied, by a voice vote, a detailed list of county officials and employes who are slated for raises next year.

Frazer W. Staman, Novi Township supervisor and chairman of the Board's salaries committee, had reported that $223,203 extra is being appropriated in the 1960 budget "to produce an equitable salary schedule" with other counties, industries and municipalities.

He said a survey showed present county pay scales below these, and that this "caused problems in the recruitment of some types of specialized personnel."

A veteran of 14 years on the Board, Royal Oak Supervisor Harry Horton, while reminding Frid of his seniority over him, criticized Frid's request as a waste of money. Frid has been on the Board three years.

"You probably wouldn't read it if you had it," Horton said, waving at Frid a rash of printed material distributed to supervisors.

Horton's statement "that a lot of us have been on this Board longer than others," brought freshman Supervisor Robert J. Huber of Troy up from his seat.

Objecting to a tenure differentiation on the Board, Huber said, "Just because we are new we don't have to sit here and vote the way the rest do."

Records in the past show that some supervisors are apt to vote — without raising many if any questions — the way the veteran "clique" on the Board does.

A veteran of 22 years, Pontiac Supervisor R. Clare Cummings said he was glad to see the newer members speak their piece.

"They often see things we might have overlooked," Cummings said afterwards.

Siding with Huber in his battle of Board newcomers was Arthur G. Elliott Jr., in his first year as Pleasant Ridge supervisor. Saying he often found it difficult to vote on what information is afforded the Board, Elliott urged appointment of an education committee to train new supervisors.

"It's our American way of life that if you want to learn you take it upon yourself to do so," replied Charles E. Cardon, Oak Park veteran of 10 years.

Cardon urged fellow supervisors to avail themselves of a recent critique of county budget preparing methods by Civic Research, Inc. of Pontiac, an affiliate of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan.

"It is particularly difficult at the present time for the Board of Supervisors to fulfill its role of determining basic fiscal policies when it does not have available detailed information on the nature, type, costs and efficiency of the several county functions," the report stated.

SUPPORTED BY HAMLIN

Cardon was later supported by Delos Hamlin, Board chairman, who said all the information requested by Frid is available if wanted.

Huber was the only supervisor who attended five hearings recently when the Board's ways and means committee was forced to knock $1,279,800 from the preliminary allocation budget considered in April because the county received .85 mills less than it needed of the tax limitation of 15 mills.

Retired Supervisors Honored for Service

Two retired members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors —Forest I. Brendel of White Lake Township and Oscar Eckman of Pontiac—were awarded certificates of merit yesterday for serving more than 15 years on the board.

Brendel, who retired in April after 23 years, received a plaque from fellow Supervisor William C. Hudson, who had composed a poem for the occasion.

Eckman, who served 20 years before his retirement in November of 1958, was absent and will be sent his plaque.

ARRIVES AT 11:21.

Khrushchev's huge turbo-prop plane, the world's biggest civilian airliner, touched down at Andrews base at 11:21 a.m., EDT, about 50 minutes late because of strong headwinds over the Atlantic.

A crowd of men, women and children, which had grown steadily since the morning, lined the waist-high fence around an airfield decked with breeze-whipped American and red Soviet flags.

As the enormous plane, white with red stripes, taxied down the concrete runway, guided by a yellow truck, the honor guard of soldiers, sailors and marines snapped to stiff attention.

Eisenhower had walked to the end of the taxiing strip when the plane was spotted in the distance and was waiting there when it came to a stop.

A military brass band blared a martial air as the plane's doors opened and the beaming Soviet leader emerged. The two most powerful leaders in the world shook hands.

Smiling, Khrushchev waved his homburg hat as he and the President walked toward the hardwood polished platform nearby for the formal welcoming ceremonies. The two proceeded to the platform between the lines of the honor guard.

Early in the day, masses of security guards—a total of more than 4,000—lined the 15-mile route into Washington from the air force base.

A parade route was fixed for the limousine motorcade from the airport along the divided highway toward Washington.

Upon arrival at the President's guest house, Khrushchev was to lunch privately. The old mansion, called Blair House, is across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House.

It has been placed at the disposal of Khrushchev, his wife, Nina Petrovna Khrushchev, his two daughters and several aides for their stay in Washington.

President Eisenhower was to meet Khrushchev again at the White House at 3:30 p.m., for the first of their formal conversations.

But the two are not expected to get down to cases on world tensions until Khruschev returns from a cross-country tour and stops for three days of private talks with the President.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will give a dinner at the White House tonight in honor of Khrushchev and his wife. The announcement specified "white tie."

Reporters asked M. A. Kharlamov, a Soviet press officer, whether Khrushchev would go along with the capitalistic white tie. He replied that Khrushchev has any number of ties, and "a white tie won't be new to him."

Waterford Twp. Pupil Enrollment Rises by 650

There was an increase of some 650 pupils enrolled in the Waterford Township School System this year, according to Superintendent William Shunck.

Of the 12,083 enrolled in the 23 schools in the district, 2,321 were in junior high schools and 1,720 in the high school.

These figures do not include the anticipated 300 pupils scheduled to enroll this week in the newly-constructed Laura Haviland Elementary School on Cass Elizabeth Lake road.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., registrations will be taken until 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday. Full class sessions will get under way all day Friday.

'Very Little Chiseling,' Welfare Report Declares

A probe of Oakland County's social welfare case load has uncovered "very little" chiseling, according to Maurice J. Croteau, Pontiac supervisor who conducted the eight-month study.

However, it did disclose "several abuses" in the county's work relief program. It uncovered some "perennial clients who make welfare a way of life," Croteau said.

He said that in 200 cases checked, 30 families were found to be ineligible for aid and were removed from the rolls. Croteau said this was due more to misunderstanding of the law than attempts to cheat the county.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors received Croteau's report yesterday with indifference, raising no questions despite welfare being the "biggest spender" in the county budget.

Release of the study findings comes, however, at a time of a gradual decrease in the once record-high welfare load. There are now 1,876 families receiving aid, said George H. Burt, director.

Because investigation of the work relief program — designed to provide employment for those on welfare — showed that the "not too aggressive or ambitious sought to make this a way of life," Croteau said payment for the work was later made by voucher instead of check. The voucher assured money earned would be used for the necessities of life, Croteau said.

He said his work showed many welfare recipients "with a belligerant, and in some cases, abusive attitude toward their case workers because of the amount of aid given."

"It is our belief that the people of Oakland County have been very fortunate in having a clean and efficient Welfare Commission and administration," Croteau told supervisors.

★ ★ ★

"In checking over 200 individual cases and discussing these with the individual workers, we have found very few inadequacies."

MANY ILLEGITIMACIES

One of the most vital social problems uncovered, he said, was the alarming birth rate of illegitimate children. He said this is a concern of the entire state and not only the local department.

He said the department, partially because of the lessening load, has been able to cut down the number of families for which each case worker is responsible, and thus afford closer scrutiny of recipients.

To Hear Reports on Library Bids

City Commission Will Also Meet on Urban Renewal Program

City Manager Walter K. Willman will make a preliminary report tonight to the City Commission on bids opened yesterday for Pontiac's new $500,000 library. No action is expected.

Prior to the regular Commission meeting, commissioners will meet jointly with the City Plan Commission to hear a final project report on progress of the urban renewal program.

Like they'll do with the library bids, commissioners are expected to take a week of study before bringing in a resolution adopting the final project report.

Another order of business on the agenda will be the first reading of a new city ordinance to adjust voting precinct boundaries.

There will be two engineer estimates read for construction of sanitary sewers on Harvey street from Ditmar to the south end of the street, and on Richmond avenue from Brooklyn avenue to the alley. Cost to taxpayers owning 40-foot lots will be $120 for each project.

Rounding out the short weekly agenda will be the confirmation and setting the number of payments for the sanitary sewer built along Brooklyn avenue from Stanley to Richmond avenues.

Dorfman's License in Michigan Lifted

LANSING (AP) — Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford today lifted Michigan privileges of a Chicago insurance agent doing a four million dollar a year business with Michigan Teamsters.

Blackford acted against Allen M. Dorfman, 36, after six months of hearings.

Dorfman, licensed in 13 or 14 states other than Michigan, has been writing about 21 million dollars annually in insurance coverage for 134,000 members of the Teamsters Union central states conference.

John Pierce High PTSO Schedules Open House

An open house to acquaint parents with teachers of the Waterford Township John Pierce Junior High School will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

It is being sponsored by the Parent-Tacher-Student Organization. Parents are invited to attend the affair and participate in the first meeting of the year, following the open house.

Refreshments will be served.

Bing's 'Wahoo' Resounds in Hall After Birth of Girl

From Our News Wires

HOLLYWOOD—Bing Crosby is a father again. But this time there's a difference: his sixth-born is a girl.

The 6-pound, 15-ounce daughter was born Monday night to Bing's wife, actress Kathryn Grant at Queen of Angels Hospital.

Bing, 55, has four grown sons by his first wife, the late Dixie Lee, and a 13-month-old son, Harry Lillis III, by Miss Grant. She is 24.

An attendant said when told it was a girl, Crosby yelled at the top of his lungs.

"He let out a wahoo that you could hear the length of the corridor," the attendant said. "And the corridor is about two blocks long."

The Day in Birmingham

Were Vandals 'Unhappy' With School's Name?

BIRMINGHAM — Can damage caused by vandals at Seaholm High School over the past weekend be charged to a misguided school spirit?

Superintendent of Birmingham Schools Dwight B. Ireland said today he is convinced the culprits were students unhappy about the recent change of the school's name from Birmingham High to Seaholm.

The vandals had scrawled in ink on a desk top in the home economics room: "This is what we think of Seaholm."

Carpeting in the home economics room, at first believed ruined by water which overflowed from an open faucet, mixed with glue, flour and other foodstuffs has been found to be repairable by dry-cleaning.

This is expected to cut the cost of the damage from several thousand dollars, estimated at the time the mess was discovered Monday morning.

"Most of the damage can be repaired with a lot of elbow grease," says Ireland. School janitors are still working on the vandals' handwork.

Det. Lt. Merlin Holmquist of the Birmingham Police Department is continuing the investigation.

The city commission at last night's meeting approved the intent of proposed amendments to the Articles of Incorporation of the South Oakland Water Authority designed to permit financing of improvements and additions to the city's water system.

Commissioners were careful, however, to leave the city attorney a loophole to iron out a few minor differences in the wording of the amendments.

The water authority has stated that approximately $1,000,000 worth of improvements are necessary in order to meet increased demand.

Plans call for the installation of a new water main on Woodward avenue at an approximate cost of $500,000. The other half of the million dollars being sought would pay for additional water storage facilities.

The money would be raised by the water authority through the sale of revenue bonds, with the projected increased consumption in newly developed areas serving as the main portion of collateral.

A problem of too much water was presented to the city commission last night by J. William Cunningham of 1790 Birmingham Blvd.

He informed commissioners that he has had his basement flooded by backed up sewage on four occasions so far this year, and requested that the city act to prevent further flooding.

City Manager L. B. Gare informed the commission that he already has looked into the situation and feels that "the city has a major problem here."

He requested, and was given, additional time to study the problem firther before offering a solution.

Mayor Harry Denyes Jr. assured Cunningham that necessary action would be taken as soon as the problem had been fully evaluated.

★ ★ ★

In other action, the city commission authorized the Birmingham Library Board to re-advertise for bids on the proposed addition to the Baldwin Library.

Russell O. Herrick

Service for Russell O. Herrick, 68, of 6139 Eastmoor Rd., Bloomfield Township, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Herrick died Sunday at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital after a long illness.

For many years Mr. Herrick was an active oarsman at the Detroit Boat Club. He also was a member of City of Straits Lodge F&AM, the Michigan Sovereign Consistory, Moslem Shrine and the Birmingham Senior Men's Club.

He was employed as a salesman for Berry Brothers Paint and Varnish company.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his wife, Winifred; four daughters, Mrs. Virginia Artz, Mrs. Marian Schramm, Mrs. Barbara Casey and Mrs. Ruth Entringer; two sons, Richard E. and Herbert O.; a brother, Wendell; and 10 grandchildren.

JESSE B. HILDEBRAND

Service for Jesse B. Hildebrand, 55 of 481 Pleasant St. will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at First Methodist Church of Birmingham. His body is at Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Mr. Hildebrand died suddenly of a heart attack Monday.

He retired in 1957 from Fisher Body where he was general director of purchases. He was a member of Birmingham Lodge 44 F&AM, Birmingham High 12 and Recess Club of Detroit.

He is survived by his wife Dorothy and sons, James B. of Berkley, Leroy Allen of Birmingham, Murl H. Webster of Birmingham and Lee M. Webster also of Birmingham. A brother and a sister and a granddaughter also survive.

Contributions may be given to Michigan Heart Assn.

UF Training Program Starts

Solicitors From Firms Having More Than 30 Employes Are Oriented

The kickoff of the Pontiac Area United Fund Commercial Division solicitor training program took place this morning at the Waldron Hotel for solicitors from companies with more than 30 employes.

Fred Poole, commercial division chairman for the 1959 campaign, introduced at the head table Robert R. Eldred, campaign chairman; Joseph H. Schultz, volunteer training chairman, and Robert Langer, assistant director of the fund.

This first in a series of training sessions is designed to acquaint solicitors from the larger companies throughout the Pontiac Metropolitan Area with the proper methods and procedures for approaching fellow employes for donations to this year's United Fund campaign.

Schultz explained the UF's general organization to the more than 30 men and women volunteers. The responsibilities of the company solicitor and proper use of promotional material was also discussed.

A movie narrated by Walter Cronkite, nationally known news commentator, presented visually the correct methods of in company solicitation.

A second training session will take place on Wednesday for company solicitors from firms having less than 30 employes.

The series of five training breakfasts is sponsored by the Detroit Edison Co., Osmuns, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Federal Savings and Loan, Kresge's (downtown), Waites', Pontiac Retail Store, J.C. Penney (downtown and Miracle Mile) and Consumers Power Co.

★ ★ ★

This year's UF campaign will kick off on Oct. 1 with an early evening parade down Saginaw street followed by a torch lighting ceremony at Oakland and Saginaw.

The commercial division will raise 27.7 per cent of the 1959 goal of $647,698.

Will Michigan Man Run for McNamara Seat?

Rep. Griffin Can't Predict Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Rep. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) may be tied to the labor bill that became law yesterday.

It could catapult him into the Senate or out of the House of Representatives. Griffin himself isn't making any predictions.

"I've gained a lot of strong supporters as a result of this bill," he told a newsman. "But I'm eager to get back to the district to check the effect for myself."

The long fight for the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill passed by the House and accepted almost entirely by the Senate ended yesterday when President Eisenhower signed the measure into law.

Griffin, toying with one of the pens Eisenhower used to sign the bill, said he had not had time to assess its effect on his own future.

SENATE SEAT?

The result has been a move in Michigan to persuade him to run for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich), whose term expires in 1960.

Griffin is undersfood to be thinking seriously about the possibility, but presently is avoiding any commitment. "I just haven't had time to go into that," he said.

Asked if he would expect increased opposition from organized labor in running for a third House term, he said:

"They worked against me last election, and I would expect the same treatment again."

★ ★ ★

"What I hope to do," he continued, "is to convince people that this is not a 'tough' labor bill. The public may have that impression, but it isn't. It's really a moderate measure which writes into law a number of rights for rank and file union members, which hasn't been done before."

He said there had been similar outcries against the Taft-Hartley labor bill enacted 12 years ago, and that none of the dire predictions of the Taft-Hartley opponents had come true.

Senators Seek Use Tax Repeal

Holland and Geerlings of GOP Say Move Would Help Get Jobs

LANSING (UP) — Little more than two weeks after they voted for its enactment, two Republican Senators said Monday they would introduce bills to kill the new increase in the business activities tax.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) depicted it as "a bold stroke needed to recapture jobs and business for Michigan."

Morris said Sen. H. Geerlings (R-Holland), chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, would join him in introducing the repealing legislation this week.

With it, he said, would go construction from real estate taxes for two years unless they go into operation before then.

"It will be effective as an attraction to starting new business," said Morris, leader of the GOP drive for a penny increase in the Use (sales) tax, heart of the tax program passed by the legislature Aug. 29.

Changes in the business activities tax, retroactive to last July 1, would net the state about 8½ million dollars a year. It also provides relief for businesses showing little or no profit.

Morris said he hit upon his plan after reading a report by University of Michigan Professor William Haber contending Michigan needs at least 100,000 additional jobs a year to provide work for its mushrooming population.

1,245 U. of M. Students Receive Degrees

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The University of Michigan awarded degrees to 1,245 students at the end of its 1959 summer session, the Office of Registration and Records said today.

The office said 885 of the degrees were masters degrees.

Last year 1,084 degrees were granted by the University at the end of the summer session.

America's Always Goin' Fishin' Instead of Doing the Chores

By FAYE HENLE
NEA Feature Writer

There is a word in our national vocabulary that is fast becoming obsolete. That word is work!

An 11-year-old I recently met went to great lengths to explain apologetically that her Daddy doesn't really work. He just helps a certain company distribute its product on a global basis!

Then there is the wonderful tale of the homeowner we know. He worked hard and as the result of his labor felt that he and the family could afford a second bathroom. This presented certain structural problems and so he called in a contractor to advise him. After a month's delay the skilled professional turned up and carefully explained how he'd have to be off the job. His explanation: "My tax bracket—just don't want it to go any higher this year!"

* * *

Throughout the land on the one hand we hear the sorry story of high prices and how much more difficult it is to make ends meet. On the other hand, headlines flash telling of the shorter work week a-coming. Already millions of hours of leisure time have been added in the past decade.

I've been noting with horror that those who are complaining the loudest about how tough it is to feed three kids and keep them shod, are the very same people that hang out the "gone fishin'" sign and shun eight concentrated hours of real work. These are the people who have forgotten that theirs is the freedom to choose to go fishing and to extend their consumer credit, simply because someone generations past worked to make our land strong and free.

I'm also beginning to wonder about the truth of do-it-yourselfism. On this score I've surveyed dozens of families, suburbanites and urbanites and the answers I get confirms that the concept of work is fast becoming passe.

Seems that but few of the do-it-yourselfers are of the genuine type—those who build their own patios because, like Sir Winston Churchill, they take great pride in their brickwork.

* * *

The rest of the do-it-yourselfers are faced with the choice of patching the patio either because they simply cannot get anyone to do it at any price or because they can't afford today's labor costs.

Couple of months ago it looked as though the bathtub was about to emerge through our living room ceiling.

"Get it fixed," my husband matter-of-factedly suggested.

I called a plumber. It's been two months now and I've never seen him.

"My brother-in-law does that kind of work," the laundry delivery man stated. I suggest that he have his brother-in-law call me. He's never called.

"Best way to fix that," said a plumber who finally arrived, "is to drill through the ceiling and see where the leak originates. That's expensive," he went on, "so I'll get my man to come round in the morning and caulk the fixtures. We'll see if that will fix it."

I've never seen his man.

My husband caulked and then he plastered and then he painted.

"Neat job," the laundry delivery man interrupted the tale of his new outboard motor long enough to comment on the now perfect ceiling.

"Who dun it?" he wanted to know.

State Dem Leaders to Map 1960 Plans

LANSING (UP) — Democratic Party leaders will gather in neighboring East Lansing Sunday to map plans for a 1960 legislative program, Neil Staebler, the party's state chairman has announced.

Gov. Williams and his all-Democratic administrative board, all Democratic county chairmen and vice chairmen, Democratic legislators and other party officers have been invited to the session at Michigan State University, Staebler said.

Discussions on proposals for reappeapportionment of the Republican-dominated state Senate and the tax program passed by the legislature also are planned, he said.

Long-Time School Critic Backs Millage Hike Idea

A long-time critic of school finance and construction in Pontiac, William S. Downes urges citizens to rally 'round the Board in support of a tax millage increase.

★ ★ ★

Some who heard Downes speak at a recent Exchange Club meeting considered the announcement a complete reversal in position of the man, considered by many an adversary of Board of Education policies.

Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Pontiac Millwork Co., Downes previously has charged the Board with "waste spending" on new school buildings.

"They (recently built schools) are already there. They are more expensive to operate, but we can't do anything about that now. What we do have to do is to see that they keep operating.

'ABSOLUTE CHAOS'

"If the school board doesn't get more money there will be absolute chaos in four years time."

Downes says a 1.5 mill increase is needed right now. The school system presently is supported in part by 18.75 millage taxation. Ten mills of that total is a county and city assessment.

The remainder, 8.75 mills, is extra millage voted by the people.

This voted millage assessment expires in 1964.

Downes said the Pontiac Board of Education has paid more than $.500,000 in interest on bonds and borrowed money over the past three year period.

"That's $500,000 down the drain," he said. "Our school system shouldn't have to borrow to operate. When a business pays interest on a loan, it eventually makes money and sees a return. The Board makes no money. The interest is completely lost."

The solution, said Downes, is to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis.

"We have to raise enough taxes in order to operate our school system without having to borrow," Downes said.

RISE NEARLY $2 MILLION

"People don't realize that operating costs alone increased from $7,222,130 for the fiscal year 1957-58 to $8,873,313 in 1958-59."

Downes said a 1.5 millage increase, bringing total assessment to 20.25 mills, would bring in an additional $622,000.

Said Downes: "This money has to come from somewhere. With reduced income and increased operating cost our educational standards are in danger. Every citizen has a moral obligation to keep them sound."

2,000 Newsmen Set to Cover Nikita

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 2,000 newsmen and women all over the country are set to record Nikita Khrushchev's tour of the United States.

Reporters and photographers will close in around the Soviet leader the moment his jet plane lands today and won't be very far away at any time during his entire 13-day visit.

Most reporters will cover the tour only while Khrushchev is in their neighborhood. More than 300 will go the whole route.

State Department officials say they haven't seen anything like the frantic rush for press accommodations since Queen Elizabeth's visit two years ago. For that they passed out 1,400 press cards.

★ ★ ★

Among the Soviet visitors will be 34 newsmen who arrived during the weekend. For their benefit, the door of the makeshift press room at Andrews Air Force Base bears two signs—one in English, one in Russian.

Picketing Nikita Going to Be Distant Affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anybody who wants to picket Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have to keep his distance.

No picketing will be allowed on Pennsylvania Avenue in the two adjoining blocks on which the White House and Blair House, the official guest residence, are located.

At the Soviet Embassy, no picketers will be allowed within 500 feet of the building line. An around-the-clock security guard of 12 police privates and three corporals is stationed at the embassy.

Protest 'Visit' in Advance

In View of Plea for Courtesy East Europe Groups March Monday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Many Americans got their feelings about communism off their chests Monday—well in advance of the arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for his United States tour.

Apparently motivated by the government's plea for courtesy to an important visitor, many church organizations and East European groups staged pre-arrival protest demonstrations.

★ ★ ★

Most such groups have indicated they would not demonstrate—at least not violently—while the Soviet premier and his party are on U.S. soil.

But many sections of the country saw anti-Khrushchev parades, rallies, mourning protests and other demonstrations.

Many newspapers carried paid editorials calling on Americans to mourn and warning against the dangers of too much friendliness toward Communists.

★ ★ ★

At Rochester, N.Y., and New Haven, Conn., persons of East European origin held silent marches.

A Hungarian church in New York was draped inside and out with black for the entire 12 days of the Soviet leader's visit. In Boston two men draped the outdoor plaque of the Declaration of Independence.

★ ★ ★

In Washington, a protest rally by the American Council of Christian Churches, which represents a small and fundamentalist segment of American Protestantism, drew 600 to the Washington Monument grounds. Chairs had been set up for 2,500.

Legion Organizer Dies; Was Also Lions Leader

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Fred Blair Townsend, 73, one of the founders of the American Legion, died Monday in a Phoenix hospital.

He volunteered for military duty in World War I and in 1919 was a member of the St. Louis caucus which organized the American Legion. He twice was national president of the Society of American Legion Founders.

Townsend also served as president of Lions International and the Commercial Law League.

In on Private Talks

Ike's Interpreter Lucky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When President Eisenhower gets down to intimate private talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, there will be two Americans in the room.

The second will be a 35-year-old naturalized citizen named Alexander Akalovsky.

Akalovsky is a State Department linguist who speaks Russian like a native. He has been designated the official U.S. interpreter for the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meetings. He also will serve as an interpreter for United Nations delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, who will escort Khrushchev on his two-week tour of the United States.

The role of "man in the middle" at high-level talks between U.S. and Soviet officials is not a new one for Akalovsky. He accompanied the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to many international conferences. He was at the elbow of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter during the recent big four foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva.

And he was an indispensable member of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's party when Nixon visited the Soviet Union a few weeks ago.

When President Eisenhower returns Khrushchev's visit later this year, it's a fair bet that Akalovsky will go along.

Khrushchev's interpreter, who also will sit in on all top-level conversations, is Oleg Troyanovsky, an American-educated diplomat who holds the rank of counsellor in the Soviet foreign ministry.

★ ★ ★

Troyanovsky studied at Friends Preparatory School in Washington and at Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania while his father, Alexander, was stationed here as the U.S.S.R.'s first ambassador to the United States.

He is an affable man who speaks English with an American accent, and who is quite at home in American idioms and even slang. He also served as interpreter to the late Josef Stalin.

Akalovsky, the American interpreter, was born in Yugoslavia, of Russian parents. He immigrated to America with his parents in 1949.

He was an accomplished linguist before he came to America. He graduated from Germany's famed Heidelberg University, where he specialized in linguistics. Besides Russian and English, he is proficient in German, French and Serbo-Croatian.

Dealer Stocks of Cars Plunge

Rate of Decrease Called Greatest in History for Month of August

DETROIT (AP)— Dealers' supplies of new cars declined at the fastest rate in history during August, Automotive News said Monday.

Stocks dropped from a record 976,390 on Aug. 1 to 719,110 cars on Sept. 1. The greatest previous decline was 190,392 units in September, 1956.

Automotive News said early plant shutdowns by Chrysler and General Motors in August cut the buildup of cars. Total production in August was only 238,773 cars. In every previous month this year except February production topped 500,000 cars.

The trade paper also reported inventories of imported cars in the United States reached an estimated 69,000 on Sept. 1, a rise of some 4,000 during August.

On the production front Automotive News said the industry has enough steel to build about 500,000 cars in October. However, it added, if the steel strike runs very far into October, most makers will have to curtail future production sharply.

Find Detroit Mother Guilty of Neglect

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Joan E. Roland, 23, whose 3-year-old daughter was raped after vanishing in her mother's car, was found guilty of child neglect yesterday.

The woman was ordered held in Wayne County Jail to await sentencing Sept. 24 by Recorder's Judge George Murphy.

Mrs. Roland's daughter, Deborah, was found wandering naked in Jackson last Tuesday. Her mother told Detroit Police the girl had been sleeping in a car parked on a Detroit street.

Physicians said Deborah had been raped. Her attacker has not been found.

Mrs. Roland, a resident of Cookeville, Tenn., told police she left the car to go into Waterworks Park with an airman acquaintance for a drink of water. She said the car was gone when they returned.

Says Local Solutions of Integration Best

DETROIT (AP) — America's problems of integration and discrimination are going to be best solved, in time, on the local level, says the chairman of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Dr. John A. Hannah, who also is president of Michigan State University, told the Economic Club of Detroit yesterday that the most important question facing the country is: "Are we going to have fair play for all Americans?"

In holding that integration could be worked out at the local level, Hannah said:

"We (the Civil Rights Commission) found a wide variety of plans developed on local initiative. And we were encouraged in the belief that the complex and troublesome problem can be solved in good time, provided no capricious or arbitrary difficulties are imposed."

20 YEARS OF PROGRESS — The helicopter marked its 20th birthday yesterday. On Sept. 14, 1939, Igor I. But Birds Linger On

Starling Chaser Departs

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)— Starling chaser Otto Standke has left town, the starlings apparently unchased, and Standke no richer.

The 71-year-old Kansan, highly recommended by various Midwest cities, came to Mount Vernon Aug. 20 with a contract to chase the raucous birds which were sullying the town.

★ ★ ★

He made his nighttime rounds banging metal paddles together and strumming a lyre-like instrument hung around his neck.

He claimed that the real secret of his ability to chase starlings was kept in a locked box. Though many saw the box, no one saw him open it.

★ ★ ★

Standke was to get $1,000 if he chased the starlings away and they stayed away for a month, and $4,000 if they were still absent after a year.

When Standke departed Monday, officials said the starlings were as thick as ever. Standke claimed they were some other kind of bird.

The city paid him $245 in expenses.

500 Wage Battle at Cross Plant

Policemen Are Jostled, Automobile Overturned and Traffic Is Jammed

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Five hundred demonstrators at the struck Cross Co. plant in nearby Fraser fought non-strikers, jostled police, overturned one car and smashed windows in others today.

★ ★ ★

The United Auto Workers Union, which won both a representation and a decertification election at the plant, called the strike 43 days ago in an effort to force a contract. It accused the firm of refusing to bargain.

Today's outbreak was the most serious in a series of incidents at the plant, which has continued at least partial operation during the strike.

One non-striker was injured when the car in which he was riding was overturned. Seven men were pinned inside the overturned vehicle for a time.

★ ★ ★

TRAFFIC JAMMED

A traffic jam blocking Fourteen Mile Road for more than three quarters of a mile developed when demonstrators showed up in an automobile caravan. The bumper-to-bumper tie-up thwarted all efforts to reach the plant by automobile.

Some demonstrators abandoned their cars in the highway. Police said others feigned motor trouble.

Police said non-strikers donned false faces as they left the plant yesterday and jeered at pickets. Feeling has been bitter.

★ ★ ★

Macomb County Sheriff Harley Ensign said "it was mighty tense down there." He added that some non-strikers, hearing of the possibility of trouble today, went into the plant last night and slept there.

Ensign said only 10 men got in today before the traffic jam shut others out.

Cross Co. manufactures automation machinery and normally employs 500.

The Federal Aviation Agency predicts that United States airliners will carry 118 million passengers by 1970, compared with 45 million in 1958.

Law May Save You 35 Cents

State Can't Collect on Reflectorized License Plates for Months

LANSING (UPI) — It looks as though Michigan drivers won't have to pay an additional 35 cents for license plates even though the Legislature has passed a law to that effect.

They won't have to pay for a while at least.

Because lawmakers didn't make a law on reflectorized license plates immediately effective, Secretary of State James Hare cannot collect the money to pay for the process, Attorney General Paul L. Adams said today.

The new law, requiring the additional fee, would reimburse the state treasury for the extra cost of treating the plates with the reflecting material.

★ ★ ★

But the Legislature is still in session so the law can't go into effect until three months after the session's close — that would be sometime in December if the Legislature were to adjourn right away.

But because no one knows just when lawmakers will close the 1959 books, there is no telling when the law would become effective.

The 1960 plates go on sale Nov. 1 and Adams said collection of the additional fee could be made this year on the new plates if the law were in effect now.

But because it isn't, Hare "has no basis for making the additional charge."

"This might give us a pitch for urging people to buy plates early," Hare quipped. "They can save 35 cents."

★ ★ ★

Hare said he would talk with heads of the House and Senate appropriation committees on possibility of adoption of a new act with immediate effect but thought chances were slim.

Aids Breathing Distress of Allergy, Cold, and Sinus Sufferers

Wonderful new Sun Flo helps lungs and throat clear themselves of congestion and foreign matter so you can breathe easier. Quickly helps relax bronchial asthma spasms...ease sinus miseries...speed recovery from colds. Nagging symptoms vanish faster. You'll work, play, sleep better starting first day! Helps you feel more gloriously alive...stay on the job...feel like a million!

Performs These 5 "Electronic Miracles"

Sun Flo does 5 jobs at the flick of a switch; it Purifies as it Filters, as it Deodorizes, as it Ionizes, as it Recirculates a whole roomful of enriched, healthier-to-breathe air every few minutes.

Dust, allergens, sneeze-and-wheeze causing irritants are drawn out of the air as if magnetized. Special electronic "sun tubes" treat this air with Ultra-Violet rays that kill bacteria — out comes ion-enriched, revitalized air with over 99% of dust-borne germs, bacteria, dirt, soot, allergens, pollen, and irritants filtered out or destroyed! And research now shows that breathing in of ionized, electron-enriched air promotes quick, palliative drugless relief from respiratory and allergic symptoms mentioned above.

Suddenly You Breathe More Freely!

If allergies, hay fever, sinus congestion, asthma or bronchitis have made your days dreary and your dreams nightmares, if you've felt you'd never draw a free breath again...try Sun Flo. It may open a whole new world of comfort and blessed relief you'd given up hoping for.

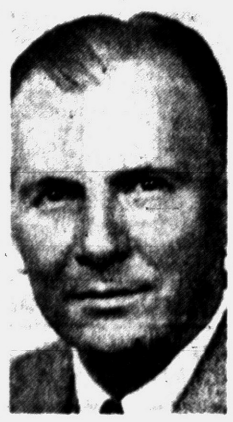
Frank S. Lyndall

Pontiac loses one of her most energetic and capable citizens in the unexpected death of FRANK S. LYNDALL.

★ ★ ★



General Manager of Sears, Roebuck Store here for 14 years, Mr. Lyndall has always been a keen and aggressive merchant. If downtown Pontiac possessed a "rugged individualist" in all that the term implies, FRANK LYNDALL qualified. He was democratic, independent and often went his own way irrespective of those around him when he was convinced he was right.

★ ★ ★

Several chances to leave this city arose, but he liked the community, the people and the opportunities that exist in this area. This was essentially "home" and he proposed to keep it that way.

★ ★ ★

Possessing an unusually engaging personality, he made friends readily and had a huge circle of acquaintances. His life time activities include wide participation in civic affairs and it was Frank Lyndall who organized the Pontiac Area United Fund solicitation so expertly the set-up has been used ever since.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of West Point, he carried himself with a military bearing and never lost some of the top qualities that this training instills. Sears, Roebuck is one of the great organizations in the United States, but it has lost a loyal, capable and assertive soldier who fought the good fight for right and justice wherever he was. Pontiac possesses an empty file that will be difficult to fill.

Let's Give Credit Where Credit Is Due

Russia has her flag on the moon
At least she claims she has.
Well, so what?

Let's all agree that she actually has and applaud heartily.

Time isn't going to stand still because the Reds scored this marvelous and incredible bull's eye. The tides will neither recede nor advance and we still glory in the Lions' last 90 seconds against the Browns. Life will continue as usual and everyone will bear up under the "shock."

★ ★ ★

The Russian scientists have done a superb and magnificent job. They've beaten us to the punch. We must readily give credit where credit is due. Analysts say it was timed to sound the opening tocsin of KHRUSHCHEV's visit to the United States. If this is true, they deserve an extra round of applause. It stands as a sharp psychological strike and one that lets the Soviet boss cross our threshold with a truly red carpet spread in front of him. And it's one of their own making.

★ ★ ★

This will serve as a sharp spur to our own scientists. The Russians have edged us a couple of times in these inter-planetary battles and to the victor belongs the spoils.

★ ★ ★

The whole, wide world stands aware of the fact that the greatest nation on earth has been edged out by a challenger. We wish the U. S. had done this first, but since we haven't, this newspaper is ready to acknowledge the victor — and do it with a smile.

Political Forecasters Favor Tory Return

A general election in Britain was not constitutionally necessary until next year but Prime Minister MACMILLAN has seized a good opportunity to appeal to the country.

Traditionally British governments are dissolved prematurely, that is before the end of five years, when the party in power feels itself strong and in a favorable position. This is the case at the present time when political polls show the Tories comfortably ahead of Labor which is split and seems to have nothing new to offer.

★ ★ ★

The Conservatives have reason to feel confident. Britons are enjoying unusual prosperity and have had a slight decrease in their heavy taxes; Prime Minister MACMILLAN is highly esteemed and popular, there are no real differences within the party; Tories have stolen most of Labor's program and the outlook for peace has improved since the Prime Minister's trip to Moscow and President EISENHOWER'S visit to Europe. All these things favor the party in power.

★ ★ ★

This very confidence could prove to be a pitfall as in our own 1948 elections. However, the Tories, reaping the benefit of the present prosperity will be hard to beat in the Oct. 8 elections.

A Teen Club's Activities KOs Juvenile Delinquency

Fall: What follows summer, as we have some evidence.

Juvenile delinquency is unknown in our suburban Holly, and that village's system is helping to eradicate it throughout the Pontiac area. This is largely due to the work of the

Holly Teen Activities Club, with a membership of over 1,000, many coming from outside of that village.

I have it direct from its sunshine spreading, attractive and go-getting President, that its trial of a new system at the recent dance celebrating its fourth anniversary proved something that other communities should emulate.

Sharon Lynch,

At its previous anniversary parties a high priced orchestra, coasting up to $900 for the one night, has been hired, and these parties always returned a financial deficit.

This time they used the same music as for their semi-weekly parties, and all refreshments were free, including an enormous cake, baked by Sharon. Around 400 were present. It was a super-enjoyable occasion, and after all expenses were paid they have a balance of $150.

Guests were present from Detriot, Pontiac, Flint, Milford, Fenton, Linden, Ortonville, Clarkston, Davisburg, Waterford, Drayton Plains and at least another dozen cities and villages.

Another Oakland County first — and fifth. Among Michigan's 83 counties, we are first in a great many respects, and at the recent Michigan State Fair we were both first and fifth in hog calling, no other county getting two places. Top honors were won by of Ortonville, fifth place went to

of Wixom, who was a previous five-time winner.

David Lawrence Says:

T-H Won't Help This Steel Strike

WASHINGTON—The steel strike would have been settled long ago, and it could be settled overnight now, if it were not for the unremitting effort of labor union leaders to get politicians to help them obtain what cannot be gotten from management through collective bargaining.

LAWRENCE

First it was pressure indirectly applied upon the President by labor to intervene in favor of the unions. Then the governors of various states were persuaded to exert their influence on the White House for the same objective.

Senators and representatives in Congress were sought out by labor leaders, and they began playing the game, too, by publicly demanding federal "fact-finding."

It's all part of a well-studied maneuver by labor union leaders to bring about governmental participation on the side of the steel workers.

It's an old strategy, and much of it goes on behind the scenes, where those politicians who must count on the votes of labor unions find themselves agreeing to do the bidding of the unions, at least to the extent of urging publicly a direct intervention by government in a major strike.

Some of the calls for government meddling purport to be merely "fact-finding." But the facts are already well known—at least, the labor unions and management know in great detail what the issues of disagreement have been and really are.

There could have been a negotiated settlement after the first week of collective bargaining, when each side revealed its true position to the other. There was no question about what management would give and what labor would take. But labor counted on the politicians to help get something better.

But now as the strike has cost the nation as well as the participants many hundreds of millions of dollars; a settlement is being prevented by the false hopes of federal intervention that are being persistently aroused.

NO TAFT-HARTLEY

Neither side, significantly enough, wants the Taft-Hartley Act's machinery used. This provides for a return to work for 80 days, and only after the expiration of the period can the strike be resumed.

Nothing is provided in the law to compel either side to agree to anything. The hope of the authors of the Taft-Hartley Act was that in a "cooling-off period" a settlement could be reached through concessions made by both sides.

But today since labor and management each knows that there is no chance of concessions of any major nature across the bargaining table now, or after an 80-day "cooling-off period," both sides say frankly they don't want the Taft-Hartley Act provisions invoked.

As a matter of fact, as soon as the labor union leaders find they cannot get anything through behind-the-scenes shenanigans with the Eisenhower administration, there will be a quick end to the steel strike.

At the moment, the labor chiefs still think evidently that the politicians in some way will help them put President Eisenhower on the spot and cause him to send word to the steel men to give in.

★ ★ ★

The tactic was successful once before, and that's why the labor men think it can happen again. The lesson learned, however, by this very experience at a previous strike settlement has been largely responsible for the adamant position taken today by the steel companies. Likewise, because President Eisenhower weakened before, he is not likely to do it again.

★ ★ ★

Labor union leaders apparently do not realize that they are playing a dangerous game and one that could imperil the future of free unions in America.

For, once the government gets the habit of ordering management to make a particular kind of settlement, the same government can turn around some day and order the unions to capitulate.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Everyone Must Have a Supply of Calcium

Up to 1950 the answer of medicine to queries about nutrition was the autocratic assertion that a well balanced diet supplies all the vitamins and minerals any one needs.

Such assurance to the contrary notwithstanding, the diet of most Americans today is inadequate to maintain good nutrition and good health, because it fails to supply enough of certain essentials to do so. Calcium, for instance.

DR. BRADY

From infancy to middle age a minimum of a quart of milk a day is necessary to insure the daily requirement of calcium. Adults who lead a sedentary existence may possibly maintain good nutrition on only 1½ pints of milk a day.

Youths or adults who do hard work, serve in active military activity, engage in athletics or play football must consume a quart of whole milk or skim milk daily or the calcium equivalent in other forms—cheese, greens, leafy vegetables, peas, beans, nuts, eggs or wafers or capules (not capsules) of calcium and vitamin D.

The vitamin D is necessary for good assimilation and utilization of calcium in the body, whether it be food calcium or an acceptable chemical compound such as calcium gluconate.

AS IT OCCURS

The vitamin D may be taken as it occurs naturally in fish liver oil, egg yolk, butter or canned sardines; or in tasteless synthetic form; or one may manufacture one's own by exposing the skin to sunlight.

★ ★ ★

Because I name maybe a dozen common complaints which are due to calcium deficiency—in a booklet The Calcium Shortage, for which send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope—some of my quondam colleagues nickname me "Old Calcium Brady." I hope it lasts as long as I continue teaching people how to keep well.

I hope, too, that no reader of this piece will get an impression that the calcium I recommend is medicine. Leave medicinal calcium to the judgment of the physician. When I say calcium I mean nutritional calcium, food calcium.

You don't take it for a week or two. You eat it, from now on, or at any rate until you just don't care whether you drop back into the state of deficiency you were in before you began supplementing your inadequate diet.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

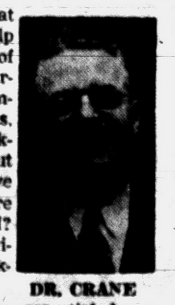
Can Love Grow Scientifically?

Larry asks a perplexing question, for he wonders if love would develop after the Scientific Marriage Foundation had introduced him to a congenial young woman of similar ideals and moral character. See how you like DesCartes' explanation of how love develops. And to prevent unwise romances, use the Rating Scales mentioned below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE C—444: Larry R., aged 29, is a chemical engineer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I am much interested in this Scientific Marriage Foundation that you have mentioned.



DR. CRANE

"I can see that it would be a help to match people of high moral character and of similar interests, ideals and backgrounds. But would fall in love after they were introduced? Wouldn't that vital spark be lacking? And isn't love essential for a happy marriage?"

LOVE PSYCHOLOGY

Most of you married people didn't get butterflies in your stomach the very first time you met, did you?

★ ★ ★

You probably felt no love at all for one another. Indeed, some of you even disliked each other at the first contact.

Yet you soon discovered that your pulse would zoom at the sound of the other's voice on the telephone. And you finally found it impossible to live apart, so you got married. So where did that "spark" come from?

If love can thus develop from original casual acquaintance, often of the "blind date" sort, then why fret about it not being able to do likewise when the Scientific Marriage Foundation introduces two people of congenial backgrounds and ideals.

★ ★ ★

"If you go through the proper motions," runs an axiom of psychology, "you will soon feel the corresponding emotions."

And that has been proved true since the beginning of time.

Adam had no choice, but was arbitrarily paired off with Eve by God Almighty, yet he apparently had a happy marriage, for love develops if we just pay sincere compliments and express affection for the other person.

"Beauty and the Beast" shows that ugliness is not even an absolute barrier to this process.

DESCARTES DIVINE IDEAS

Back in the 1600's, a French philosopher named DesSartes said we human beings are built as self-propelling machines.

★ ★ ★

But, he added, God also implants a few divine ideas or "sparks" in our brain at the moment of birth, which permit us to respond to lofty ideals.

One of these divine sparks is our ability to react to evidences of unselfishness and idealism, as shown by Christ's crucifixion and such lesser examples as Sydney Carton's sacrifice in Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities."

When you hear the climax of a great sermon or the crescendo of a musical number, did you ever notice the lump in your throat, plus the tightening of your scalp and an odd prickling of the spine?

★ ★ ★

You feel that unique sensation ONLY while contemplating noble thoughts, like a man's laying down his life for a friend.

Animals don't feel such an uplifting emotion, so it must be one of DesCartes "divine ideas" implanted in us human beings.

And love is another! This divine spark is in every human being and apparently flames brightly when properly nurtured by compliments, kisses and caresses, so pick your mate with your head, and then fall in love by going through the proper motions.

Send for my 200-point "Tests for Husbands & Wives," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

★ ★ ★

Use these Rating Scales to shatter sexual infatuation and other unwise choices.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Readers Protest Welcome to Be Given for Khrushchev

The ad in Wednesday's Press about Russia should be a must reading for everyone. We agree in our household and so do our neighbors. Let's not give Russia anything. Why should they deserve anything when they act like they do? That ad should be printed on a billboard in downtown Pontiac. The Commies and their leaders are not for good Americans.

Against Russia

I'm happy to know there's still someone in this wonderful country of ours with courage to express his honest and unsolicited opinion, such as the Allan Bradley Co. did in a full page article Sept. 9.

★ ★ ★

I noticed in the list of captive nations Armenia, the first and only country to successfully revolt and throw out Communists in 1921. After a few short months of freedom, the overwhelming Soviet forces captured Armenia, which is still captive.

★ ★ ★

I've read a letter from H. Sahagian, former candidate for the U.S. Senate, which says, "My home shall be trimmed in black throughout the days that Khrushchev is in the United States, for I shall pray for those who have fallen to the violence of this man and to the vile system he represents." Need I say more?

V. (Bob) Haroutunian
20 Ogemaw

How heartening it is to read in your paper that more people are becoming aware of the evils of Communism. The ad by the Allen Bradley Company and the two-page article that ran in December should plainly tell us the kind of reception Mr. Khrushchev should receive.

We should let captive people see we're not in favor of passive and civil silence while this atheistic murdered parades our streets.

All patriotic Americans should voice disapproval of this visit. The captive people will applaud your efforts and you will give them hope.

★ ★ ★

We must show a more ardent love of God and country and instill this in our children. These are the things our forefathers fought to preserve. God willing, Khrushchev shall not bury us.

'What's Being Done to Avert Tragedy?'

What action is being taken by our City officials about trucks passing through our downtown area? It seems like we might have a statement about what they're planning. Maybe they just want to wait for the big accident like took place in Oregon or Chicago a few years back.

'Judges and Laws Should Be Tougher'

Ruth Hagan's letter is interesting. If divorces weren't so easy to get, there wouldn't be so many little ones left with only one parent.

★ ★ ★

I wonder what "extreme cruelty" means. Lots of times married life isn't easy, but when you stay together long enough to bring four, five or more children into the world, you shouldn't ask for a divorce until they're old enough to understand why you don't want each other anymore.

★ ★ ★

Also, the $50 they plunk down should be raised. That might stop some of them. We need that and a few more judges like Beer.

Very Bitter About Divorces

'Let's All Support Our School Football'

The football season is here and Pontiac fans should ban together and support both high schools. Lately Pontiac fans have failed to be regular backers of the games. This doesn't give the players much incentive when they see that no one really cares. If we all turn out, maybe we can come up with a winner this year. The boys work hard and deserve our faithful backing.

Wayne Morris Dies on Carrier

Movie Star, Wartime Hero Succumbs at 45 to Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Wayne Morris, 45, Navy flying ace in World War II, is dead of a heart attack suffered on the bridge of an aircraft carrier at sea.

He was watching air maneuvers from the USS Bonhomme Richard off Monterey, Calif., when he collapsed Monday. Morris was aboard as guest of the skipper, Capt. David S. MacCampbell of Los Angeles. MacCampbell, his uncle, led Morris' wartime squadron, famed fighting Squadron 15.

Morris, whose death was announced here by an old friend, publicist Bill Watters, was the fifth show-business luminary to die in nine days. The others were actors Edmund Gwenn and Paul Douglas, actress Kay Kendall and Hollywood dress designer Gilbert Adrian, husband of Janet Gaynor.

The 200-pound, 6-foot-2 actor was born Bert De Wayne Morris in Los Angeles. He had been a star football player at Los Angeles City College when a Warner Bros. talent scout discovered him at the Pasadena Playhouse.

An athletic leading role in "Kid Galahad" made Morris a star overnight. He became a romantic hero in prewar films like "Submarine D-1," "Brother Rat," "Bad Men of Missouri," "Love, Honor and Behave," "Valley of the Giants," "Men are Such Fools" and "The Kid From Kokomo." On location for "Flight Angels" he learned to fly.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1941 and joined Squadron 15 aboard the carrier Essex in the Pacific. Morris flew 57 missions and took part in raids on Marcus, Wake, Iwo Jima, Okinawa and other targets.

He earned his rating as an ace by shooting down seven Japanese planes. He also was credited with sinking a Japanese gunboat and two enemy destroyers and helping destroy a submarine. Three F6F Hellcats he flew back to his carrier were so bullet-riddled they had to be jettisoned.

Parolee Is Held on Check Count

Charged With Passing $770 in Illegal Drafts Since July 27

A parolee arrested last Friday by three rookie patrolmen has admitted passing $770 in bad checks since July 27, Pontiac police said.

Marvin D. Wilson, 35, of 64 Belmont St., admitted the passing of about 35 checks without an account when questioned yesterday, Det. Robert Emery said.

Wilson waived examination before Municipal Court Judge Maurice E. Finnegan on a charge of issuing no account checks late Monday afternoon.

He was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Sept. 21 and returned to the Oakland County Jail after failing to furnish a $500 bond.

Wilson was paroled last November from Jackson Prison where he was serving a one to two year term for passing bad checks in Oakland County.

Patrolmen Larry Feneley, David Schroeder and Brandon Dennis, all of whom have been on the force only two months, said they got a tip last Friday that a man was trying to pass bad checks at Bob & Myrtle's Cafe, 334 E. South Blvd.

When Schroeder walked into the restaurant, Wilson saw him and left, the patrolman said.

"Instead of nabbing him then, we waited," said Schroeder. "We hoped to catch him in the act."

The officers followed Wilson to Laing's Drug Store in the Auburn Hotel, 464 Auburn Ave. He was trying to cash a check when they walked in and apprehended him, detectives said.

Courthouse Ceremony Invitations Are Issued

Supervisors, after their special budget meeting Monday morning, are expected to attend the courthouse ground-breaking with circuit court judges, the county's legislators in Lansing and interested county officials and employes.

★ ★ ★

The invitation was extended yesterday by David Levinson, chairman of the board's courthouse planning committee, after supervisors voted 75 to 0 award two major construction contracts.

The ground-breaking ceremonies for the more than $3 million building have been set for 2 p.m. Monday at the proposed site in the County Service Center, West boulevard and Telegraph road.

Joe Haas, widely known county historian and member of The Pontiac Press editorial staff, will be master of ceremonies. The public is invited.

General construction will be done by the O. W. Burke Co. of Detroit, which submitted the low bid of $2,061,000. The mechanical work went to the R. L. Spitzley Co. of Detroit, with a low bid of $679,800.

Held firm from the first set of bids submitted back in April was one for the electrical work from Schultz Electric Service of Pontiac. This low bid came to $308,900, bringing a total of all three bids to $3,049,700, some $5,000 less than the total of the April bids.

REMAINS VALID

Schultz' bid remained valid while the selected general and mechanical bidders were forced to withdraw their April bids after the county became embroiled in a lawsuit when supervisors in June voted 70 to 4 to award the general work to other than the low bidder.

After three circuit judges ruled this legally proper, an appeal to the State Supreme Court was made by a Royal Oak taxpayer acting for the low bidder, A. Z. Shmina & Sons of Detroit.

The taxpayer, Frank P. Scruggs Jr., later agreed to withdraw the appeal if the county would readvertise for new bids. Shmina was not among the bidders in the new bids opened last Wednesday.

The Scruggs-county legal fight was secondary to the suit started in November of 1956 by the Oakland County Taxpayers League. It was charged in this suit, but later this year denied by the high court, that the Board of Auditors overestimated yearly receipts in "padded" budgets to accumulate surpluses which were plowed back into a courthouse building fund.

The suit followed two refusals by county taxpayers to vote extra taxes to build a new courthouse. The present downtown structure was erected in 1904.

Levinson yesterday stressed that to date $2,044,599 is available in the building fund, built up mostly by the authorized levy of one-tenth of a mill annually.

Supervisors were handed a copy showing how the balance is expected to be raised. The building fund levy is expected to produce $373,790 in the next two years, interest on invested funds this year and next, $125,000, contracts receivable $13,503, and the sale of the present courthouse, property and other county-owned lands, $500,000.

LAND SALE OKAYED

Yesterday, too, supervisors, without any discussion, okayed the sale of seven more parcels of land to help swell the building fund.

Such sales in the past have brought criticism from some who claimed welfare families were being driven from homes to make way for a new courthouse. This charge was emphatically denied by Levinson and other supervisors.

Still to be resolved is the only section of the Supreme Court opinion adversely affecting the county. This stated that the county must make legal the annexation of certain Waterford Township property in the Service Center where the courthouse will be built.

Levinson said he believed this would be "amicably resolved" when the matter is "taken up with the proper officials." He said the county would move ahead in the meantime.

The struggle for a new courthouse has raged for three years.

Construction, which is expected to take nearly two years, probably will begin soon after the first spadeful of dirt is moved Monday.

Two in Jail on Reckless Driving Charges

A Pontiac driver and Detroit man were in the Oakland County Jail today as the result of sentences imposed on them yesterday in two township courts after both pleaded guilty to reckless driving charges.

Jerry C. MacFarland, 20, of 245 S. Edith St., also pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green.

He was sentenced to pay a $50 fine plus $15 costs or serve 30 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Ezell Gist, 36, of 6124 Stanford, Detroit, pleaded guilty to a second charge of driving with no operator's license before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib and was ordered to pay $20 and $5 costs or serve 90 days in jail.

Both men were fined $100 plus $15 costs for the reckless driving charges. Gist was also sentenced to 15 days in jail.

★ ★ ★

McFarland was sentenced to 30 days after failing to pay his fine.

Parents End Boycott of Negroes in Queens

NEW YORK (UP)—White parents in Queens today ended a boycott against the transfer of 300 Negro pupils from crowded Brooklyn schools to five schools in predominantly white sections of Queens.

Queens mothers had picketed the schools as the Negro children arrived in buses yesterday — opening day of the school term. More than 900 white pupils of the 2,300 registered in the schools stayed home or joined in the picketing.

But today the mass picketing had ended and attendance in the classrooms appeared near normal, although official figures on attendance were not immediately available.

Waterford Takes Action

Seeks Delinquent Taxes

A resolution was adopted by the Waterford Township Board last night placing all delinquent payments of special assessments on the regular tax rolls as lien against the property involved.

★ ★ ★

The action was taken to guarantee payment of bonds issued for construction work in the township, Board members said.

The first two special assessment districts to be affected by the Board's action are those which have not made payments on the recently completed Lansdowne, Marion and Camley street blacktopping projects in the Sylvan Shores subdivision.

These payments were due July 1, with a Sept. 1 deadline.

★ ★ ★

Also affected by the new policy are those with overdue payments on the Sylvan Shores sewer installations, which were due Jan. 1. The Jan. 1 payment was the third installment due on the $100,000 project, completed a year ago last spring.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the Board approved the 25-lot plat of the Silver Lake Estates to be developed by Myron Komer. The new subdivision will be located on Walton boulevard near Silver Lake road.

The Board also authorized office equipment totaling $283 for the new fire chief's quarters to be established at Fire Station No. 1 at the Township Hall.

A $3-a-day payment was authorized for building department assessors using their personal cars, but only when working on appraising assessments.

Bids on two police cars will be opened Sept. 28. The township is selling a 1953 Pontiac and a 1956 two-door Pontiac.

Gas Pedal Slip Causes Collision; Six Are Injured

A two-car collision at Baldwin and Columbia avenues shortly before 5 p.m. Monday sent six persons, four of them children, to Pontiac General Hospital.

One of the drivers, Mrs. Glennice Smartt, 34, of 72 Parkdale St., told Pontiac Police she applied her brakes as she approached a traffic light at an intersection on Baldwin avenue.

★ ★ ★

Her foot slipped off the brake pedal onto the gas pedal, sending her car into one driven by Clair E. Vinyard, 48, of 86 E. Sheffield St., who was making a left turn onto Baldwin, police reported.

Injured in the Smartt car were the driver and three of her children, Valli, 8, Alicia, 7, and Kenneth, 3.

★ ★ ★

Also hurt were Vinyard's wife, Helen, 42, and a passenger, Mary C. Newman, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, of 85 E. Princeton Ave.

All were treated and released, police said.

Pontiac Garage Reports Theft of Polishing Wheel

Cleo Taylor of 508 Omar St. told Pontiac police yesterday that someone broke into his gas station, Taylor's Garage, 834 Oakland Ave., and stole an electric polishing wheel valued at $100.

Investigators said the burglar had gained entrance to the garage by breaking a window, reaching through to unlatch it and climbing into the building.

Moon Will Be Dimmed by Partial Eclipse

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A slight dimming of the bright harvest moon on Wednesday will not be a result of the landing of the Russian rocket on the moon, Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan astronomer, said Monday.

The dimming will be caused by a penumbral eclipse, a phenomena caused by the moon moving into the earth's outer shadow but not its dark inner shadow, or umbra, she explained.

The eclipse will start at 5:47 p.m. and will end at 10:19 p.m., she said.

The harvest moon is the full moon which occurs nearest to the fall equinox, which falls on Sept. 23 this year.

Largest tributary of the Ohio River is the Tennessee River. The latter is 652 miles long.

Girl Slightly Hurt; Runs Before Taxi

A 10-year-old Pontiac girl, Linda M. Myers, suffered minor injuries Monday when she ran into the path of a taxicab in front of 355 W. Huron St.

The girl, daughter of Mrs. Jean Myers, of 357 W. Huron St., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

The cab driver, Alvin Rector, 59, of 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, told city police he was going east at a slow speed when the youngster ran from the curb directly in front of him.

Milford Woman Reports Items Stolen From Car

Mrs. Carolyn Burley of 124 Crystal St., Milford, reported to Pontiac police yesterday that someone entered her auto while it was parked at Huron and Perry streets and stole several items valued at $242.

Taken were a portable sewing machine worth $200, a movie camera valued at $30 and $12 worth of clothing, she told patrolmen.

Record Work Is Recognized

10 From Hospital Cited for Good Performance on Illness Histories

Ten Pontiac General Hospital specialists have earned recognition through the Medical Record Week proclamation by Governor G. Mennen Williams.

The week is observed today through Saturday. This is the first time such tribute has been given to those employed in the field of medical records.

★ ★ ★

Those in the Pontiac General department are Sally Stuve, supervisor; Madge Wilson, administrative assistant and Billy Ward, Gertrude Pembleton, Shirley Corsini, Gloria Putnam, Jo Ann Adams, Jesse Barber, Ruth Hester and Ruth Robarts.

"People employed in this field must be specially trained, accurate and trustworthy, for through their hands passes the privileged communication between the patient and the physician," said a hospital official. "This trust cannot be violated."

The medical record is described as a clear, precise and accurate history of the patient's life and illness, written from a medical point of view.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac General Hospital, in conjunction with the Professional Activity Study at Ann Arbor, correlates statistics from the medical records for medical research and improved patient care.

Processing of one chart when the patient leaves the hospital takes nearly two weeks. The processing involvs correlation of statistics, chart analysis, studies and audits by the professional staff.

When the chart is finally considered to be complete for permanent file, it is ready to serve the best interests of the patient, the hospital and the physician.

New Marine Head May Stay 4 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup apparently will get a four-year appointment as Marine Corps commandant instead of two years to which President Eisenhower originally nominated him.

★ ★ ★

His name appeared on the Senate calendar today for expected confirmation before Congress adjourns, after the White House changed signals in line with protests by members of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Initially the White House sent up Shoup's name for a two-year term as Eisenhower has done for all his previous appointments of top leaders who serve on the joint chiefs of staff.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee noted that the law governing appointment of the Marine Corps commandant flatly lists a four-year term, while those for all other armed service heads read for "not more than four years."

Miriani Asks CAB to Lift Jet Restrictions

DETROIT (UPI)—Mayor Louis C. Miriani Monday asked the Civil Aeranautics Board to remove restrictions which are preventing Detroit from joining other major cities in the jet age of air transportation.

★ ★ ★

The petition asked the CAB to remove rout erestrictions on transcontinental jet-plane flights to and from Detroit and the West Coast.

All three domestic trunk carriers are now flying between Detroit and Los Angeles and San Francisco but two of them have restrictions on flights which remidwestern cities en route, enroute.

For example, United Airlines may fly non-stop from Detroit to Los Angeles, but its flight must originate in New York or Philadelphia with Detroit as a stop enroute.

Birds Eye to Take Part in 'Better Meals' Push

The Birds Eye division of General Foods Corp. will participate in the "Better Meals Build Better Families" promotion Sept. 14-26 by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Desperate Fight for Economic Stability

Spain Reaches Make-or-Break Spot

By HENRY F. SCHULTE

MADRID (UPI)—Spain is in the midst of one of the most crucial periods in its post-Civil War history—a "make-or-break" fight for economic stability.

★ ★ ★

Success of its new and ambitious plan for overhauling the nation's economy could spell years of political peace.

Failure could plunge the country into political and economic chaos.

Sometime within the next 18 months, the success or failure of the battle will become apparent, according to foreign and Spanish economic experts, including the nation's farsighted Commerce Minister Alberto Ullastres.

Most of them have adopted a "wait-and-see" attitude when it comes to predicting whether the economic overhaul, begun in mid-July, will be a success. But all agree that it started well.

DEVALUES MONEY

On July 20, the government announced the first step in a program aimed at bolstering a sadly-sagging economy.

It devalued the peseta from 42 to the dollar to 60.

The same day, Spain was admitted into the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and became eligible for loans from international and private organizations totaling about 400 million dollars.

By the end of July, Spain had come up with a program that foreign experts here said was "much more specific, simpler, more direct and faster than anyone had anticipated."

To all appearances, the country settled down to its economic housecleaning with unexpected seriousness.

In quick succession:

—It relaxed restrictions on foreign investments, increasing foreign participation rights in Spanish companies from 25 to 50 per cent.

—It wiped out many taxes that previously had tied up its import-export traffic in red tape and approved a long list of commodities that could come into the nation without any duties.

—It made it clear to the average Spaniard that the next months would mean belt-tightening.

The government boosted the price of tobacco by as much as 37.5 per cent. The nation's most popular brand went up from eight to 11 pesetas. (From 13 to 19 cents at the new rate of exchange.)

GASOLINE UP 40 PCT.

At the same time, it hiked the cost of gasoline by 40 per cent, presumably to cut demand for cars and the use of gas, an import that had proved a severe drain on the country's small supply of exchange currencies.

The cost of telegrams, telephone services and rail travel also went up.

There was talk that municipal transportation fares, subways and buses, would be boosted and there were rumors of impending relaxation of the nation's controlled rents.

The average Spaniard, who had hailed the mid-July announcement of foreign aid as a sign that "we'll all be rich," began to grumble.

Then Ullastres, who had helped to engineer the aid-overhaul program, spoke out reassuringly. He told a press conference, "We do not believe there will be a large general rise in prices.

★ ★ ★

"Perhaps small ones in some areas, but the mechanics of the plan have been specifically set up in order to avoid a cost of living increase. In fact, there should be a drop in prices in many areas."

Economic observers here are aware of the awesome distance Spain has to travel.

Its foreign currency reserves early this year sank to below 100 million dollars. Its gold reserves were down to a mere 57 millions.

Imports, which in 1958 totaled 849 million dollars, were almost twice exports. Last year the government was left with a trade deficit of 363 million dollars.

The nation's agricultural program, which accounts for about 70 per cen of its exports, was stagnant.

PROGRAM SUFFICIENT?

While the national index of industrial production rose from 138 in 1954 to 191 in 1958, agricultural production rose only from 131 to 134 in the same period.

So the question is whether the government's program, aided by foreign loans, will be able to alter the picture.

As one foreign economic expert here put it: "Spain can do it if it doesn't drag its feet." The program is fine. It depends on how it is carried out."

Foreign experts believe that the aid promised from abroad will be enough to allow the nation to cut imports and boost exports until the balance of trade is favorable.

★ ★ ★

If that can be achieved, they say, then Spain will have taken a major step toward emerging from the economic wilderness in which it had been left by its Civil War and the subsequent period of diplomatic isolation.

(Next: Franco's future.)

Federal Employes to Have Health Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today agreed to a health benefits program for some two million civilian employes of the federal government and their dependents.

The House agreed to minor Senate amendments to the measure, thus sending it to the White House.

The government would pay half the total estimated annual cost of 222 million dollars.

The administration originally had recommended a 240-million-dollar program with the government paying one-third of the cost.

★ ★ ★

Sponsors of the new measure said it had administration support.

The Civil Service Commission would administer the program which, if approved by the President, will go into effect next July 1.

Traffic Deaths Alarm Williams

Says Rise One of Big Problems State Faces in Near Future

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An alarming upward trend in Michigan's traffic accidents this year was described Monday by Gov. Williams an one of the big problems to be faced in the near future.

★ ★ ★

Williams spoke in Grand Rapids before about 300 delegates at the governor's regional traffic safety conference.

★ ★ ★

He said Michigan still boasts the lowest accident per passenger mile rate among the nation's industrial states but its traffic fatality rate has jumped four per cent this year and the injury rate has increased six per cent.

The governor called the development especially critical when compared with a steady decline in Michigan traffic deaths and injuries in the past three years.

★ ★ ★

The conference is the first of five scheduled throughout the state in the next 10 days in search of a program to fight increased traffic deaths and injuries.

Best Education

Anxious-to-Help Parents Face Work in Junior High

By DR. BENJAMIN FINE and LILLIAN FINE

Before World War I, graduation from the eighth grade marked the end of education for most children.

Today the junior high school plan encourages youngsters to stay in school longer. The majority of "dropouts" now come at the end of the tenth grade. But it has not all been gain. Some people feel the junior highs give youngsters more freedom than they can handle.

Some teachers insist too many extra-curricular activities have lowered educational standards.

Pupils ready for junior high at about the age of 12 are no longer children but are not yet adults. The youngster wants desperately to be independent, yet longs for protection and direction. He is likely to alternate between defiance and dependence.

* * *

One thing is clear: by the time boys and girls reach high school age, their lives cannot and should not be controlled as strictly as when they were little children.

* * *

How well they handle their new freedom depends to a considerable extent on their previous training. Some youngsters who have been kept under firm control have a hard time adjusting to high school. Because there is no one teacher who checks up on them, they loaf, cut classes, fail to hand in assignments.

During the first year your child is in high school, it is particularly desirable to keep in fairly close contact with his progress.

DON'T "HOVER"

This does not mean of course that you should call for him at school or even visit his teachers frequently. But you should know what courses he is taking, which ones he likes and he doesn't like, and the marks he is getting.

If you give him half a chance you can scarcely avoid learning some of these things.

Most youngsters are eager to discuss school life. But there are many parents who refuse to listen or are so obviously bored that they discourage confidences.

Many parents seem baffled by the various courses of study the high school offers and the subjects required for graduation. Most high schools have a printed list of courses and requirements.

Get a copy as early as possible, preferably before your youngster enters high school, and study it carefully. If you have questions, consult the school officials.

FOR GRADUATION

Most high schools require 16 units for graduation. A unit means the credit earned by studying one subject five times a week for a year, completing the assignments and passing the final examination.

A student who takes four subjects a year, beginning in the ninth grade, will earn the required units. However, he must take the subjects required by the course of study he has chosen.

When youngsters move into the junior high school grades and on into senior high school their studies grow steadily more difficult. In the seventh and eighth grades they study much the same subjects as in the middle grades but they must master more advanced ideas.

* * *

At the end of the eighth grade a youngster should be able to write clear, reasonably correct reports and letters. Unfortunately, there is frequently a great gap between standards and performance.

* * *

Senior high school teachers and college professors everywhere complain continually that students today cannot write clear, complete sentences, and that spelling seems to have become a lost art.

PACKAGING HELPS

Parents can help children gain writing skill by discussing assignments, offering suggestions and pointing out (tactfully) misspelled words and mistakes in punctuation and grammar. Youngsters who type their assignments are like to turn out better looking and more correct assignments.

Parents should encourage children to recopy papers rather than hand in messy looking work with erasures and crossed out words. "Packaging" pays in the schoolroom as well as in the supermarket.

As with English, instruction in social studies is a constant in nearly all schools. Needless to say, the youngster who hears news events discussed in his home is likely to shine on current events day in social studies class.

Parents can also help by organizing trips to nearby historical landmarks, discussing books or articles about local or state history, and encouraging youngsters to tune in on programs about historical events.

* * *

Ability to use and understand maps is important all through school. Here parents can help by showing children how to read road maps and by helping them locate places mentioned in books and newspapers. Purchase of an inexpensive globe may be desirable.

What about mathematics? At the end of the eighth grade your child should be able to perform all the fundamental arithmetical calculations with reasonable accuracy and speed.

You can help him learn by doing. Give your youngster a fair allowance, help him work out a budget and make him live within his income. Let him know how the family budget works.

When he finishes the eighth grade, if your child is normally intelligent and healthy, you should expect him to accept considerable responsibility for his own progress and behavior from now on.

Next: Watch those activities!

Ike Press Conference to Be Delayed for Nikita

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower will hold a news conference Thursday at 9:30 a.m. E.S.T., shortly after Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev leaves for New York on his U.S. tour. The President usually holds his news conference on Wednesday.

But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that the President "thought he should defer his conference" in view of the fact that Khrushchev will be having a news conference of his own at the National Press Club on Wednesday.

Rock 'n' Roll All Wet

ERIE (UPI) — Rock 'n' roll went to a watery grave here yesterday complete with an elaborate funeral procession. A procession of a hearse and several black limousines wended it's way from the studios of station WLEU to Erie harbor where 7,000 rock 'n' roll records were dumped into the water. R. H. Elliott, general manager of the station, said the funeral marked the end of rock 'n' roll on WLEU.

Hal Boyle Says:

Makes Fortune on Hamburgers

NEW YORK (AP) — America has gone mad over pizza pies, but in less than five years Ray Kroc has built up a 25-million-dollar business in an older U.S. food favorite — the hamburger.

"I put the hamburger on the assembly line," said Kroc, 56, president of a chain which now sells 100 million 15-cent hamburgers a year.

BOYLE

Kroc quit high school at 15 after a losing bout with algebra. At 16 he and Walt Disney were driving Red Cross ambulances.

After the end of the World War I he played piano in jazz bands and became musical director of a Chicago radio station in 1924.

* * *

"I remember hiring one team called Sam and Henry for $5 a night," he recalled. "Later they did somewhat better as Amos and Andy."

For 17 years, Kroc served as a sales manager for a paper cup firm, then became world distributor for a soda fountain multimix machine.

* * *

In 1954 Mack and Dick McDonald, owners of a unique self-service hamburger drive-in at San Bernardino, Calif., called him in, proposed he join them in establishing a nationwide chain.

"The idea put me on a dream cloud at the start," said Kroc, who later took over the chain when the McDonald brothers retired. "The restaurant industry has a high mortality, but I never knew any one who had failed in the hamburger field."

Kroc launched only one new drive-in patio in 1955, which did $158,000. Now the chain consists of 125 drive-ins, with 60 more under construction in 25 states, and will gross an estimated 25 million in 1959.

"Our goal is a thousand patios by 1965, and maybe we'll set our sights higher then," he said.

FRANCHISE BASIS

The system operates on a franchise basis. Kroc's organization picks the site, leases the building, and provides the know-how for 2.2 per cent of the gross. Each drive-in represents an investment of about $125,000, of which the individual operator puts up $29,000.

The drive-ins limit themselves to a 10-item low-cost menu to speed service. Mass buying cuts expenses. Customers can't eat on the premises. So there's no dishwashing.

* * *

"We don't allow juke boxes, cigarette machines or phone booths — and we don't hire female help," he said.

"In picking a site we count the churches and schools in the area, rather than the traffic. We appeal to a family trade, not transients. We want to become a real part of the community."

Among the operators are retired doctors, dentists and Navy commanders, a former linotype operator, a former schoolteacher. They take an intensive two-week business indoctrination by Kroc and his aides, then are handed the keys.

* * *

"A lot of franchise systems are con games and blue sky operations," said Kroc frankly. "But a good honest franchise is one of the best means of goin ginto business today. And there are a number of them around.

"They teach the individual what he needs to know to make a success. A small-business man if he takes a staple field and specializes in it has a far more efficient setup than any big corporation, because he can cut down on overhead.

"He also can give his business the biggest ingredient that makes the difference between failure, mediocrity and success. That is simple T.L.C. — old-fashioned tender, loving care."

* * *

Unlimited yet by law of diminishing returns, Kroc says his spectacularly successful hamburger emporiums average a net of $40,000 on an annual gross of $200,000. The average customer's check is 66 cents. Not one has failed, he said.

"We don't see how one could," he said crisply. "In any case, we wouldn't let it. We'd move in and take over."

His Visit to Market Proves Expensive

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—A couple of pounds of bacon, a pound of ground beef, two cans of tomato juice and a can of liquid detergent cost Edward C. Laufer $50, and it wasn't because of inflation.

That's how much he was fined on a petit larceny charge after police found the goods inside his pocket following a visit to a market where he'd also bought — but paid for — a case of beer. The 55-year-old Laufer had $177 on his person at the time.

Predict Shoe Production

Shoe production in the U.S. is expected to surpass the 600-million mark for the first time in 1959. The record up to now was almost 598 million pairs in 1957.

Officials Blow Stacks When Whistle Doesn't

ROCKPORT, Maine (UPI)—Officials of the Home Port Fish Company here were reported blowing their stacks because they couldn't blow their whistle.

Seems the old locomotive whistle atop the boiler house, which had been used for years to call employes to work, was stolen by an irritated listener.

Bridge May Start Boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — Recalling the tremendous boom in New York City's Borough of Queens when it was first linked by bridge to Manhattan in 1909 (its population almost doubled to 469,000 in 10 years), city planners are predicting a boom in Staten Island's population from its present 220,000 to 400,000 by 1965 and 500,000 to 1970 once the new bridge joining it to Brooklyn is completed.

MRS. EDWARD J. JACQUES JR.

Genevie L. Dovre and Edward J. Jacques were married Saturday morning at St. Lawrence Church in Utica. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dovre and Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Jacques.

St. Lawrence Church Scene of Morning Rite

St. Lawrence Church, Utica, was the scene of the Saturday morning wedding of Genevie L. Dovre and Edward J. Jacques Jr. The Rev. John Cannavan officiated at the ceremony before 200 guests.

★ ★ ★

The bride's bouffant floor length gown featured tiers of ruffled French Schieffle lace, a Sabrina neckline embroidered with iridescent sequins and a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion was held by a crown of pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis centered by an orchid.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dovre of Jay street and Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Jacques of Utica.

Mrs. Robert Lertola of Utica was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Mrs. Margaret Bailey, and Joanne Giles of Drayton Plains. The bride's other sister, Karen Dovre, was junior bridesmaid and flower girls were Constance Bailey and Dianne Jacques, the bridegroom's sister from Utica.

★ ★ ★

Attendants were dressed in different shades of lavender. Their street length dresses had Sabrina necklines and orchid taffeta cummerbunds. They carried cascade bouquets of orchid and white carnations.

The flower girls wore lavender dotted Swiss organdy dresses and carried baskets of orchid and white rose petals.

★ ★ ★

James Jacques of Utica was his brother's best man. Ushers were Arthur Jacques and Jack Jacques, both brothers of the bridegroom, and Robert Lertola, all of Utica.

An evening reception for 400 guests was held at American Legion Hall, Auburn Heights.

★ ★ ★

Before leaving for a honeymoon to the East, including Washington, D. C., New York and Virginia, the bride changed to a champagne beige satin sheath dress with matching jacket and beige accessories. She also wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The newlyweds will live in Auburn Heights.

Mrs. Dovre wore a lavender chiffon dress with orchid accessories and Mrs. Jacques was dressed in beige taffeta with brown accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

The Rev. Joseph Pelham is conference leader with the Rev. Donald Bodley as coordinator. Mrs. Donald Scobie is workshop choirman.

Mrs. Robert Schmidt admires some of the rare coin glass featured at the antique fair. Besides many fine antiques there also is a baked goods sale and coffee and cake for visitors. Proceeds will benefit the Animal Rescue league.

Virginia Carol Taylor Wed in Floral Setting

The altar of First Christian Church was decorated with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and palms for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Virginia Carol Taylor and Clarence Dwayne Ridgley. The Rev. Ellwood Dunn officiated at the ceremony assisted by the Rev. D. D. McColl.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron H. Taylor of Harper street are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Ridgley of Genella street.

A floor length gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, Sabrina neckline, and long fitted sleeves was chosen by the bride. The bouffant skirt of silk organza was draped over net and taffeta. She wore a lace cap trimmed with seed pearls, a fingertip veil of silk illusion and carried an arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Michael Drake, attended as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Vaughan and Ruth Ann Vaughn. Their gowns were of Cotillion blue nylon chiffon over net and taffeta and featured scoop necklines and short sleeves. Their blue velvet head pieces were encircled with matching tulle. Yellow carnations and roses comprised their bouquets.

MRS. CLARENCE D. RIDGLEY

Flower girl Barbara Drake, a niece of the bride, wore a yellow nylon frock and held a basket of blue and yellow flowers.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Donald Ridgley, to attend as best man. Ushers were Michael Drake and Floyd Powers.

The 200 guests attending the wedding were received in the church parlors after the ceremony.

Mrs. Taylor wore a rose lace over taffeta sheath with rose and white accessories and an orchid, pink glamellia and rose corsage for the wedding. Mrs. Ridgley selected a white and blue jacket dress and wore a pink carnation corsage.

Joya Stafford had a wonderful time pretending she was a little girl back in her grandmother's time with some of the antiques at the seventh annual antique fair sponsored by Michigan Animal Rescue League. The fair, held at Cranbrook auditorium, Bloomfield Hills will run through Thursday.

MRS. ANTHONY LA MACCHIO

Birmingham Woman Heads Scout Council

New executive director of Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council is Mrs. Anthony La Macchio of Birmingham. Mrs. La Macchio has spent 12 years as religious education director in the interest of children, doing area, state- and national work.

She holds a degree from Chaffee Nobel School of Speech and Dramatics and postgraduate and religious education degrees from Anderson College extension and Berea College and National Council of Churches Affiliation.

★ ★ ★

Both Mrs. La Macchio and her husband have shared in volunteer youth work. They have taken an active part in promoting World Citizenship and also in helping to establish an orphanage in Alaska.

The La Macchios have two sons: Richard, who is studying business administration at Anderson College, in Anderson, Ind., and Tony, a 10-year-old who is active in Cub Scouts.

Mrs. La Macchio stated cheerfully that in addition to her sons, she now feels she has approximately 8,000 daughters as well.

She is flying to Chicago this week to attend an orientation session in scouting.

Plans for a recruitment program are now under way under the leadership of Mrs. Leonard Methner. Northern Oakland County's organization chairman. It will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Sept. 22 at the CAI Building in Waterford. Mrs. Lloyd Porter, program chairman, has announced that Troop 106 of Trinity Baptist Church will conduct a flag ceremony. Troop 241 of Southwest and Troop 31 of Pontiac will give a campfire skit, and a Brownie troop from Rochester will participate.

The 16 senior delegates who represented Northern Oakland County at the Roundup in Colorado this summer will be on hand to demonstrate the Scottish and Indian dances they performed.

The Alternate Roundup girls who went to Beaver Island in August will be there, and Mariner Troop 468 will tell how they won the John Turner Award at the Menominee Bay Jammer, sponsored by the Nicolet Area Council Boy Scouts of America. Seventy units, totaling 1,000 scouts participated in the event.

Due to the high interest and rapid expansion of the Girl Scout movement in this area, additional openings are now available for volunteer adults to serve in the capacity of leaders, board members or committee chairmen.

Members met Thursday evening at the Tilden avenue home of Mrs. C. E. Lindsay to make plans for the coming year.

Plastic Bottle Now Object D'Art

Museum Sets Package Show

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't throw out that old toothpaste tube, lady. It's now an object d'art.

Toothpaste tubes, plastic squeeze bottles, foil pans, wrapping paper and paper bags are among nearly 200 items elevated to the class of well-designed artifacts by the Museum of Modern Art.

This month, the museum is holding a packaging exhibition—the first such display in an art museum and the first open to the public. The containers come from the United States, Canada, Europe, Asia and South America.

All types of packages are shown, from bulk containers for industry to containers generally found on grocery, hardware, department and drug store shelves. Also included are "nature's packages," such as pea pods and egg shells.

★ ★ ★

One outstanding item is a disposable, eight-foot-high cardboard house, shaped like a bee hive. Made originally for the Army Quartermaster Corps as temporary housing, the houses now are used as emergency shelters in disaster areas.

One window wall in the display area is curtained with containers that look like beads. They hold single doses of such products as medicine, lotion, and shampoo.

Also shown are familiar perfume boxes and a plain box that houses perhaps the most expensive product—Cartier jewels costing $500 or more.

About $22 million a year is spent in designing containers for consumer goods, and more than a hundred-billion folding paper boxes are used annually in the United States—about 2,000 boxes for each family.

★ ★ ★

This trend caused museum officials to comment that an "alarming" number of packages are more elaborate and costly than the things they contain. And not always to the consumer's liking.

"Most people are aware that they buy things too elaborately wrapped, too hard to get open," said Arthur Drexler, director of the museum's architecture and design department.

But we also pay willingly for packaging Drexler added. Gift wrapping, for example, often is more fun to look at than to open. Women keep perfume boxes on dressers. And one flour company makes colorful printed sacks so women can use them for dresses.

Different materials and methods of distribution account for the enormous change in packaging in the past 20 years, said Mildred Constantine, associated curator of the architecture and design department.

"But there hasn't been as much change in the paper bag as there should be," she said. "It's a fascinating item with great potential."

Life in the U.S.S.R. Is Terrible, Exhibition Worker Declares

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

"I never really appreciated America until I went to Russia," said Barbara Higbee, of New York, just back from a seven week stint at the American Exhibit in Moscow.

"Just the day before I left I had time to step in and see the Circarama in our exhibit — you know, that wonderful full-circle movie showing typical American scenes — and all of a sudden I felt I couldn't wait to get back home."

★ ★ ★

Barbara demonstrated sewing machines in the home — sewing booth at the fair, and she says the Russians were fascinated by both the machines and American fashions.

CROWDED AROUND

"Even when the booth was empty, they were crowded 10 deep around it," she said, "just looking. Most Russian women make their own clothes, but they do not have the variety of either patterns or fabrics we have here. Fabrics are very expensive — an average of $6 a yard for rayons."

★ ★ ★

Barbara and the other girls in her group lived at the Ukraina Hotel, one of Moscow's newest and most modern, corresponding somewhat to New York's Waldorf.

"From the outside it looked like a palace," Barbara said. "But inside it ran pretty much to red plush and early Grand Rapids type furniture. The bathrooms were about 1910 models, by American standards.

FOOD PROBLEMS

Getting food in the dining room was a real adventure. The first week I nearly starved because I hadn't got onto the system. Then we discovered that you had to shop around for a waiter before you sat down and make a deal with him to serve you. Free tickets to the exhibit helped a lot. But still you had to figure it would take about three hours to get dinner. And if you were lucky you could get lunch in an hour and a half.

★ ★ ★

The most frequent questions asked by the Russians, says Barbara, were: "How much do you earn?" and "What kind of a job do you have?" They also wanted to know how people could afford to buy expensive automatic sewing machines.

DRESS POORLY

The average Russian woman, she observes, seemed to be trying to look unattractive.

"They usually seemed to be wearing size 44 house dresses, no make-up, open-toed wedge shoes and ankle socks. Their faces have no animation, and they sort of plod along.

★ ★ ★

"Although there are lots of new buildings in Moscow, and constant propaganda, the general effect is dull, drab and uninteresting. Right behind our hotel was a housing development, but the sanitary facilities consisted of trailer truck in the street in front of each block, hooked up to the sewer system."

For Crying Out Loud, Abby

Reader Pleads Recessive Genes to Defend Woman

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For crying out loud, haven't you ever heard of the Mendelian Law of Heredity? A man asked you if it was too late to take a blood test to determine whether he was the father of a three-year-old child who had blue eyes and blond hair when he and his wife were both dark-eyed and black-haired. And you advised him to go ahead and take the blood test!

ABBY

One with any knowledge of heredity knows that this could be the result of recessive genes, and the child could have been his. You usually defend the woman. How come you let this one down?

PHILADELPHIA LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: The man's question was: "Is it too late to take a blood test when the child is three? Or must it be done while the child is an infant?" I replied, "The blood type never changes. You can take the tests any time with equal success." The man indicated in his letter that his wife's behavior was not above suspicion. I assumed the man knew his wife better than I did.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: After four years of marriage, my husband still tells me he loves me, calls me twice a day when he's at work, brings home every cent of his pay check, helps me with the housework, stays home every night and goes to church with me every Sunday.

But he does have one vice. Fishing! How can I, without appearing to be selfish, let him know I don't want him to go fishing?

FISHING WIDOW

DEAR "WIDOW": To begrudge this jewel of a husband his one simple hobby, would be casting for a whale of a lot of trouble. If he invites you to go along, go. If he prefers to go "solo" or with "the boys" — kiss him goodbye, be sure he takes his life preserver, and send him on his way. And smile, sister.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a terrible problem. I am 16 years old and have the most wonderful parents in the world. We are quite well off so there is no reason for me to have a problem like this.

My problem is that when I go somewhere, I just pick things up. I don't need these things and can't imagine why I take them. Even when I am at a friend's house I have the urge to take things. Is this normal for most teenagers or not?

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: This is not normal, and you are wise to be concerned. People who cannot resist the urge to take things whether they need them or not could be suffering from an illness. Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems. Your chances for overcoming your problem are good if you seek professional help early. Good luck.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOBODY'S BABY NOW": Almost every woman likes gray hair — on somebody else. If yours makes you feel "old," get thee to a beauty shop!

★ ★ ★

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Have You Tried This?

Summer Dill Pickles Need Touch of Garlic

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

At the Farmers' Market this week we indulged in a real treat—freshly made, garlic dill pickles. Not only did we buy and eat the pickles (they were mighty good), but we asked the lady for her recipe.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Josephine Shust who lives on Westphalia Road says these summer dills are very easy to make. She stressed, however, that you should use "white spine pickles"; any others have tough skins, she says.

SUMMER DILL PICKLES
By Mrs. Josephine Shust

1 peck white spine pickles, dill size
Several bunches dill
Salt
½ clove garlic, sliced

In a clean crock place one bunch of dill. Wash your pickles and put into crock on top of dill.

To one gallon of water—not chilled, but cool as it comes from the faucet—add 6 tablespoons salt. Pour over cucumbers. Add sliced garlic and another bunch of dill.

Put a plate on top of the crock and weight it down with a rock. Let pickles stand for 2 weeks before eating. If you are going to put them in jars, let them stand 3 weeks. Use hot sterilized jars and lids for packing.

Beryl Stevens Married in Ferndale Church

Beryl Stevens and Coda M. Edwards exchanged vows Saturday afternoon at Ferndale Free Methodist Church before 125 guests. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Stevens of Fourth street and Mr. and Mrs. Ceaphus Edwards of Ferndale.

The bride's gown of white taffeta with an Alencon lace front panel featured a boat neckline and long sleeves of Alencon lace. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a cap of white satin, Alencon lace, seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, baby chrysanthemums, and a white orchid. She also wore a cultured pearl, on a silver chain, a gift of the bridegroom.

★ ★ ★

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Clinton Liber of Canton, Ohio, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Kuhn and Mrs. Susan Verpooten.

The attendants wore chiffon dresses, the matron of honor in blue and the bridesmaids in shrimp colored and they carried bouquets of white carnations and wore matching headbands.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, S. G. Edwards of Plattsburgh, N. Y. Ushers were William Dougherty of Berkley and Raymond Paver of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Following a reception in the church parlors, the bride changed to a powder blue suit with navy accessories and the orchid from her bouquet and the couple left for a honeymoon to Ohio and Pennsylvania. They will live in Royal Oak.

MRS. C. M. EDWARDS

★ ★ ★

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology where he is now attending night classes.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Stevens wore a navy blue two piece silk dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Edwards was dressed in navy blue with white accessories. Both had pink and white carnation corsages.

Mrs. K. Faces Greatest Adventure

By COLETTE BLACKMOORE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev is on the threshold of the greatest adventure of her life.

To some, such adventure comes at 20 or in middle age. But to Mrs. Khrushchev, it has come in the twilight years.

★ ★ ★

At 60, nothing that she has done so far and little that she might possibly do in the future can eclipse the importance of her first visit to the United States.

It isn't that Russia's first lady has led a dull existence or that coming to America is the most significant thing that any foreigner can do.

It is simply that Nikita Khrushchev has put this visit on such a high pedestal that some of the responsibility for its success or failure is bound to be shared by his wife.

If the Soviet premier had wanted to make this primarily a business trip, he would have come to America alone. Instead, he is making a tremendous gesture in international public relations — bringing almost his entire family and a son-in-law to boot.

★ ★ ★

He is in effect saying, "see what a family man I am, and see how wonderful this typical Soviet family is."

Nina Khrushchev will be the first Russian woman that most Americans have ever observed closely.

★ ★ ★

Some Americans saw Soviet ballerina Galina Ulanova who danced her way across America last spring. Others have seen Russian woman doctors, teachers, writers or engineers who visited the United States.

But no Soviet woman has ever projected herself on to the American national scene like Mrs. Khrushchev will do for 13 days.

★ ★ ★

For millions of U. S. TV viewers, Nina Petrovna and her two stepdaughters, Yulia and Rada, will represent Soviet womanhood — what they look like, how they think and how they conduct themselves.

Nina represents the older generation which made the Russian revolution.

★ ★ ★

Forty-two-year-old Yulia stands for the women who have spent their best years in war and cold war.

Twenty-nine-year-old Rada represents the younger generation which is breathing new life into the Soviet system.

Golden Age Group Open

Y Has Units for Oldsters

The YWCA, through its president, Mrs. Fred Stimpert, calls the attention of the older women in the community to the fact that its Golden Age groups are open to all women in the area, 65 years of age or older.

Each group meets once a month at the YWCA building on Franklin boulevard for a dessert luncheon, followed by a varied program.

Transportation is furnished by volunteer drivers for those who are unable to get to the YWCA otherwise.

Extra activities include summer outings at the home of various Y members and friends, and a trip by chartered bus and then boat to Bob-Lo Island. A shopping trip to Northland and several sightseeing field trips are being planned for this fall.

★ ★ ★

Membership in the YWCA is the only requirement for Golden Agers. More complete information may be obtained by getting in touch with the YWCA office.

To Kick Off Season

Set Camp Fire Tea

Blue Bird and Camp Fire leaders will kick off the fall season with an orientation tea Tuesday at 1:15 p.m. at the YWCA.

Welcoming the leaders and assistants will be Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson, vice president of the board of directors of the Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls.

Citywide activities planned for the year will be outlined by Mrs. Charles Uligian, Mrs. Charles Cupp Jr., and Jane Strom. They include a fall candy sale to raise funds for camp, the fiftieth birthday celebration of the organization next spring and a council fire to honor achievements of girls next June. A Christmas workshop and outdoor training are also being planned for leaders.

Mrs. Lyman Stevens will be in charge of refreshments for the tea.

The local council, a member-agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund, offers a character building program, fun and friendship for all interested girls from 7-18 years of age.

Luncheon Given for Church Group

Mrs. Duane Lemaux entertained the members of the April-May group of the First Presbyterian Church at her home on Shoreview drive Friday. Mrs. John Heitsch assisted the hostess at the cooperative luncheon.

Mrs. Ida Reeves presented the Bible study. Mrs. H. B. Austin, Mrs. A. F. Winters and Mrs. R. C. Callow were appointed to the nominating committee

Christmas projects and a fall rummage sale were proposed as coming activities for the group.

The well-organized outdoor cook keeps her equipment together to save time and labor. A handy way to do this is with a basket large enough to hold long forks, gloves, shish-kebab sticks, fry pan, paper plates and soap pads for after-dinner cleaning chores. Clean the grill after each use, as soon as the fire cools.

Await Surprise in Nikita Speech

U. N. Assembly Sees Talk as Opportunity to Grab Headlines

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. General Assembly opens its 14th session today amid speculation that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is preparing a dramatic surprise as part of his speech here Friday.

Diplomats familiar with Soviet thinking expressed doubt that Khrushchev would pass up an opportunity such as this without a new proposal which would grab worldwide headlines.

★ ★ ★

Some such move was hinted at by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who said on his arrival in New York that this Assembly might well be a turning point. Kuznetsov will head the Soviet delegation after the departure of Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

IKE DID IT

Delegates recalled that President Eisenhower, in an address before the Assembly in 1953, caused a world sensation by proposing an international atoms-for-peace agency. This has since then become a reality.

★ ★ ★

There was no indication as to what sort of proposal Khrushchev might make. The general expectation, however, was that he would make a bid for international cooperation on space exploration or offer a new approach to the disarmament problem.

Dave Beck Prospers on Real Estate Deals

SEATTLE (AP)—A jaunty, bald 65-year-old man is busy these days dealing in real estate from the basement of his lakeside home.

"I get by fine and dandy there," says Dave Beck. "I'll see about having an office downtown when this court stuff is over."

The former Teamsters Union president shows little concern about grand larceny and income tax evasion convictions.

★ ★ ★

Beck's appeal from his conviction for grand larceny in the $1,900 sale of a union-owned Cadillac is before the State Supreme Court.

APPEAL PREPARED

Attorneys are preparing an appeal from his conviction for income-tax evasion. Beck was sentenced to prison in both cases.

★ ★ ★

Beck runs his real estate business in a home built with Teamsters Union funds, since repaid, and later sold to the union for $163,000.

Business seems to be prospering.

"My net worth is closer to $1,000,000 than it is to $300,000," Beck said.

How understanding others can help you understand yourself!

Today, 1 out of every 10 Americans has a serious mental problem. You probably come in contact with at least one such person every day—a friend, someone you work with, perhaps even a member of your own family.

This person desperately needs something that you, and you alone, can give—your understanding. Here's how you can give it.

First, you should know these facts. Serious mental problems are quite widespread today. They are not rare. And they are not hopeless! In most cases, they respond well to modern medical treatment. Second, you should show the person with such a problem that you know these facts—show it in the considerate yet natural way you act towards him.

As you do this—as you give your understanding to those with serious problems—learn to understand yourself, too! Learn how to keep your own emotional tensions from making life unhappy for you—and for those around you.

White Girl Dragged From Car; Raped

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A band of Negroes dragged a sobbing, scared teenage girl from her escort's car shortly before Monday midnight and raped her repeatedly, police said today.

The white girl, screaming and hysterical, ran from a wooded area about a mile west of downtown Fort Worth into the arms of police whom her escort had notified. She was almost nude.

★ ★ ★

She was rushed to John Peter Smith Hospital where attendants said she "very definitely has been raped." Several suspects were arrested.

Pray for Nikita, Says Evangelist Billy Graham

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) —"It would be wonderful if all Americans would pray for Premier Khrushchev to have a change of heart," says evangelist Billy Graham.

"It would be a pity," Graham said, "if our officials show Khrushchev only material things during his visit. He should also see our churches and see how we believe."

Ground Broken for New Company in Charlotte

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new General Aluminum Products, Inc., building were held here yesterday.

The firm, a manufacturer of storm doors and windows, will occupy eight acres of the city's industrial center.

Robert B. Gibson, local chamber of commerce manager, said:

"Michigan may be losing industry, but we don't know it in Charlotte. This is the third major industry to settle in Charlotte in six months."

RECEIVE CAPS — Three young women from Oakland County were graduated Saturday at the 33rd commencement exercises of Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing held at the Horace H. Rackham Education Memorial in Detroit. They are Deanna Myhrs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Myhrs of 1153 Grace St., Rochester; Donna Whipple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Whipple of 1118 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake; and Billie Willis Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Willis of 3081 Devondale Rd., Avon Township.

2 Local Villages Are Honored

Holly and Oxford Win Awards for the Quality of Annual Reports

Two villages in Oakland County are among 18 municipalities in the state to win awards from the Michigan Municipal League for the high quality of their annual reports.

The Village of Oxford won the first-place award for cities and villages with a population under 2,500. The village of Holly won third place in its category.

Pontiac was given an honorable mention in the class of cities with over 40,000 population.

For municipalities over 40,000, Kalamazoo won first place. Garden City had the winning report among cities of 10,000 to 40,000 population. Ishpeming was the first place winner for municipalities of 5,000 to 10,000 population. Among communities of 2,500 to 5,000, Marysville took first place honors.

★ ★ ★

Judges for the fifth annual contest were Edward L. Cushman, vice president of American Motors Corp.; Nick K. Rajkovich, professor of political science and economics at Northwestern Michigan College, and William H. O'Brien, executive secretary of the Detroit Citizens League.

The annual report contest is held each year by the Michigan Municipal League to permit city and village officials an opportunity to compare the quality of the annual report they submit to their citizens with that of reports made by other communities. Reports are judged for their thoroughness of coverage, clarity, and general appearance.

The Michigan Municipal League, organized in 1899, is made up of member cities and villages in Michigan and is dedicated to the advancement of home rule and to the improvement of municipal government through cooperative effort.

Cut Parking Fines to Back Business

ROCHESTER—The Village Council here slashed fines for overtime parking in half at its meeting last night in a move to support local business.

At the recommendation of the local Chamber of Commerce, the Rochester Village Council last night voted to reduce the fine from $1 to 50 cents and to install fine deposit boxes in the business district.

The amendment to the traffic ordinance provides that the fine be paid by 8 a. m. the following day or revert back to $1. Location of the drop boxes will be determined by Village Manager Paul York and Police Chief Sam Howlett.

The vote on the amendment was six to one with Roy Rewold the only dissenter.

During the discussion which preceded the vote Chief Howlett reported that only 722 tickets for overtime parking were issued last year. This averages 60 tickets a month or two a day.

★ ★ ★

The Chamber of Commerce felt, however, that reduction of fines and installation of drop boxes for fine payments would increase business on Main St. and bring added revenue to the village, Paul Williams, Chamber of Commerce president said.

★ ★ ★

The Chamber request for a $100 contribution to help pay part of the expenses for a proposed program of welcome for North Central Christian College and Michigan State University Oakland students was denied.

The village attorney ruled that such a donation is "illegal."

In other action, the village manager was authorized to proceed with a survey of the hotel building on the southwest corner of University and Main Sts. to determine if it extends onto the public right-of-way.

Approval also was given to a resolution authorizing the village to make application for a federal grant for additions to the sewage treatment plant. The amount of the grant will be $87,600.

★ ★ ★

The school traffic study, reviewed by Manager York, was accepted with minor revisions.

Blood Bank Open in Lake Orion From 2 to 8 P.M.

LAKE ORION — The Oakland County Red Cross Blood Bank is at the First Methodist Church at Lake Orion from 2 to 8 p.m. today. The mobile unit is accepting donors living both in Lake Orion and Oxford.

Blood Relief Chairman for Oxford is Mrs. Homer Hight and for Lake Orion, Mrs. Bernard Espland. They said blood is urgently needed both to add to the present supply and to replace blood already used.

Donors giving blood at this center may designate where it will be used in any part of the United States.

★ ★ ★

Registered nurses and a doctor are in attendance, and the Lake Orion American Legion Auxiliary will serve dinner to the workers.

ORTONVILLE — The Seymour Lake Methodist Church WSCS will be entertained at the home of Mrs. William Wright of Seymour Lake road at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Oxford Firemen to Stage Ice Cream Social Benefit

OXFORD—An ice cream social will be staged by Oxford Firemen from 2 to 9 p.m. Friday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the village Fire Hall.

Zoning Law Case Delayed

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP—The hearing in the court case brought by a Washington couple against the township in the matter of zoning law enforcement was adjourned for one week yesterday.

The Macomb County Circuit judge who was to hear the case was attending a jurists' convention at Gaylord.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fettig have asked the court to issue a writ of mandamus to require action in zoning law enforcement particularly concerning gravel pits.

The township had instituted a "test case" last month against a gravel company contending that it was hauling gravel on Sundays and holidays and at other times prohibited in the ordinance. The case was dismissed when it was learned the firm had completed operations in the township.

Stop orders since have been sent to two other gravel companies charging them with the same hours violation of the zoning ordinance.

Hy Grade and Maerten sand and gravel companies are the two said to be in violation of the ordinance. They have 10 days to reply before legal action is taken against them.

Voters Approve 1-Mill Increase

School Officials Claim: Would Have Gone Into Red Otherwise

LAPEER — Voters in the School District approved both the one-mill tax hike and the $525,000 bond issue in yesterday's special school election.

The vote was 1,203 yes to 689 no on the millage increase. The bond proposal passed by the smaller margin of 982 to 799.

The county Board of Education has asked for the one-mill increase to be levied for one year to meet the increased operating costs of the district.

The money will be used to balance the current year's budget which, school officials said, would have gone $30,000 in the red had the tax hike not been approved.

Money raised by the bond issue was needed to pay for completion and furnishing of the new million-dollar high school and for erection and furnishing of the physical education wing.

★ ★ ★

Unlike most school districts in the area the Lapeer schools had been operating without any extra millage. This is the first time the school board has asked for more tax money to meet current operating expenses.

★ ★ ★

The new high school will have 34 teaching stations, and excavation work has already begun on the project. Target completion date is January, 1961.

All registered voters in the district were eligible to vote on the millage proposition, but only property owners and their spouses could cast ballots on the bond issue.

Bond Counsel Also Named

Township Adds Finance Consultant

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — In one of the shortest sessions in recent months, the Pontiac Township Board last night adopted several ordinances including one approving the appointment of a financial consultant and a bond counsel for the township.

As suggested last month, these two specialists are needed to help prepare petitions for residents who wish to tie into the new Michigan State University Oakland sewage disposal system.

Named to the two posts were Louis H. Schimmel of Pontiac, financial consultant, and John Nunneley of the Detroit firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone as bond counsel.

Supervisor Leroy Davis explained that the consultants' salaries will be added onto the project and will be included in the special assessment district. They will not be paid until the project is completed, he added.

★ ★ ★

The sole exception, Davis said, is in the case of the attorney who helps draw up petitions for residents to tap into the system.

The names of engineering firms suggested to assist with the sewer project were deleted from the ordinance "for the time being."

The sanitary sewer ordinance itself also was adopted to become effective 30 days after publication. Added to the ordinance was the fee of $5 to be collected by the building and, or plumbing inspector when the sewer tap-in work is completed.

In other action the Board decided unanimously that a license is needed to sell soft drinks "where they are to be consumed or can be consumed on the premises in the township." A permit must be obtained from the Township Board.

SETBACK RULE

Board members also approved the Zoning Board's recommendation concerning setbacks. It specifies that corner lot line setbacks be a minimum of five feet, front lot line setbacks a minimum of 40 feet and side street setbacks a minimum of 30 feet.

★ ★ ★

In case of hardship, application may be made to the Township Board of Appeals to modify the regulation.

A letter was read from the Avon-Pontiac Townships Regional Planning Commission regarding changes made in lot sizes in Avon Township. The Commission suggested that Pontiac Township might want to reconsider its present zoning requirements under the present study.

In Residential R 1-A districts in Avon, the required lot size, with water or sewer, or both, is 15,000 square feet with a minimum width at the building line of 100 feet.

In Residential R 2-A districts, it is 11,500 square feet with water and sewer or both, with a minimum width at the building line of 80 feet.

The Pontiac Board referred the recommendation to its zoning board for study and recommendation at the next regular meeting.

Township officials then voted to advertise for bids on painting the interior of Township Hall No. 3.

It also was reported at last night's meeting that Peake Asphalt Co. has been awarded the contract to blacktop the parking area behind the township hall on Opdyke road. The firm's bid was $4,021.

★ ★ ★

Finally, the Board rescinded a previous motion to hire Mrs. Doris Unger to take and transcribe minutes of Township Board meetings. The action was taken when it was learned that she would take only motions and not remarks from the floor and other discussion.

BEVERLY GAIL MEIERS

Beverly Gail Meiers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Meiers of Hamlin road, Rochester, has been graduated from McAuley School of Practical Nursing. She is now in training at Hurley Hospital School of Nursing in Flint.

Sec. Benson Asks Mitchell to Go Slow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson wants no federal regulation of farm labor unless it can be shown that it is needed to protect workers.

Benson has asked Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell not to enact proposed standards for wages housing, transportation and other working conditions for farm workers.

Under the Mitchell proposal, farmers using government employment services for recruiting migrant and other farm workers would have to abide by these standards.

★ ★ ★

Benson said such regulation would be regimentation in character and contrary to the principles of the Eisenhower administration.

He said agriculture has made marked progress in improving working conditions for hired farm labor.

"Most farmers," he said, "are paying good wages, providing adequate housing, and otherwise maintaining desirable conditions of employment."

Junior Women Set Annual Luncheon

ROCHESTER — "Weekend in New York" will be the theme of the Rochester Junior Woman's Clubs fourth annual luncheon, card party and fashion show to be held at 12:30 p.m. Thursday at the Elks Temple in Pontiac.

Fashions for travel, sightseeing cocktails, theater and evening wear from Alvin's of Pontiac will be displayed by professional models and by club members Mrs. Lawrence Shephard, Mrs. Hudson Hill, Mrs. Richard Jerome, Mrs. John Burns and Mrs. William Bunting.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Edward Bowen and Mrs. Hudson Hill, co-chairmen, announce that 300 are expected to attend the affair and that proceeds will be used for the club's charitable endeavors. Mrs. Gordon Morseth, ticket chairman, says a few tickets are still available and may be obtained from any club member.

Programs will be in the form of miniature suitcases, according to Mrs. James Foust, committee chairman. The New York skyline will be featured as the stage backdrop and has been designed by Mrs. Robert Conrad and Mrs. William Bunting.

Fuller-Dunbar Wedding at Our Lady of Refuge

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Sharon Lee Fuller and Terry L. Dunbar were united in marriage Saturday at Our Lady of Refugee Catholic Church, Orchard Lake, by the Rev. G. Bartol.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Potter of 6413 Alden Dr. at Green Lake. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dunbar of Weston.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and embroidered Alencon, bouffant skirt.

Her fingertip veil was secured by a cap with seed pearls, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with pale pink rosebuds.

Pamela Lang of Anchorville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janice Rabaut of Union Lake and Patricia White of Orchard Lake. The bridegroom's sister, Cheryl was junior bridesmaid.

Walter Wiessman of Adrian served as best man. Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brother, Stanley of Adrian, Donald Sheldon of Dundee, and Terry Fuller, the bride's brother.

A reception was held at the Edgewood Country Club immediately following the ceremony.

The newlyweds will reside in Spartan Village after their honeymoon.

CLARKSTON — The first fall meeting of the Good Losers Club, formerly known as the Clarkston Figure Club, will be held in Clarkston High School, room 4, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Plans for an enrollment party will be made at this meeting. Prospective members are invited to attend.

$100 Fine, 20 Days Given to Speedster

ROMEO — The St. Clair Shores driver who was apprehended by Romeo State Police after an eight-mile chase at speeds up to 120 miles an hour early Sunday has been sentenced to pay a $100 fine and spend 20 days in the Macomb County Jail.

James R. McDonald, 20, appeared yesterday before Macomb County Justice of the Peace Francis A. Castellucci on a charge of reckless driving.

McDonald had driven up to an all-night gas station in Romeo, had the tank filled up with gas and fled without paying for it. State Police Cpl. Henry Delooff took out after him.

Deloof nabbed the speedster in Almont.

MRS. JAMES A. WARE

Ware-Stewart Rite Performed at Ortonville

ORTONVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stewart of 341 Sherman Ct. announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Susan Linn, to James A. Ware, son of Mr. and Mrs. Webber Ware of 102 Church St.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roy Botruff in the Ortonville Baptist Church.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Italian silk, featuring a scalloped portrait neckline. The bodice and short sleeves were appliqued with Alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls and sequins.

Her waist-length veil was fastened to a crescent-shaped cap trimmed with Alencon lace, seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Bill Brim of Pontiac, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Edward Kassuba of Clarkston.

Duties of the best man were performed by Edward Kassuba. Ushers were Jerry Webber of Benton Harbor and Kenneth Jesse of Ortonville.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony, after which the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Introduce New Faculty

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The new principal of Scotch School, Raymond Young, and new teachers will be introduced when the PTA meets for the first of the school year at 8 p.m. today in the multi-purpose room of the school.

Parents will be given the opportunity to meet their children's teachers in their home rooms.

Prior to the PTA meeting, a potluck supper will be served for the principal, teaching staff and executive board of the PTA.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting by Mrs. Raymond McLean and Mrs. Leonard Grossman.

FOUR TOWNS — The PTA of Four Towns School will hold its first meeting of the school year at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school.

The new principal, Mrs. Beatrice Arnold, and new teachers will be introduced.

★ ★ ★

After the meeting, parents will be able to meet with their children's teachers in their respective home rooms. Refreshments will be served by the PTA executive board.

Invite Clarkston Parents Interested in Scouting

CLARKSTON — Parents of boys 8 to 10 years old who are interested in Cub Scouting, are invited to attend an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Clarkston High School gymnasium.

The meeting is being sponsored by Cub Scout Pack 49 of the Clarkston Elementary School. Parents are urged to register their sons now for the coming year's activities.

Defensive halfback Jimmy David of the Detroit Lions owns the nickname "The Hatchet."

On the squad, David and Hopalong Cassady share the distinction of being the smallest players by weight. Each is listed at 180 pounds.

★ ★ ★

These are often referred to as program weights. Some go up where necessary and others go down. Actually, the locker room weight of both is probably no more than 170, including the wet towel.

A few years ago after a series of free-for-alls took place on several pro gridirons, a national publication ran a story with quoted views that every team in the NFL has its "hatchet" man.

This was the player who supposedly was the one assigned to take one of the opponent's best players out of the picture early in the game.

★ ★ ★

Remember Ed Meadows, the Chicago Bear three years ago who took Bobby Layne out of the picture early in the second quarter? He was called the Bears' "hatchet" man.

The publication listed a few names and David was supposed to be the Lions' assigned "hatchet."

The name stuck with Jimmy ever since.

★ ★ ★

There is no doubt that David is probably involved in more skirmishes than any other Lion.

Pro coaches, including Lions' defensive coach Buster Ramsey, admit they like a hustler and scrapper like David. Of course there have been many who claim David's style of scrapping sometimes goes too far.

The game against the Eagles two weeks ago, and Sunday's game against the Browns brought about couple squawks against David.

★ ★ ★

David was assessed 30 yards in penalties in the Eagles game. Afterward, Tommy McDonald, with whom David had a couple scrapes on the field and Lee Riley both commented that Jimmy made some deliberate post-whistle moves.

The Lions had 161 yards called against them in that game.

Sunday, Ed "Big Mo" Modzelewski scored a Browns' touchdown and then came out of the pile after David.

"He gave it to me with his foot," Big Mo said in the locker room. "I don't mind getting hit hard, that's pro ball, but none of that stuff with the shoe or elbow when a guy is down," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Some day someone is going to give it to David good," he added, "he has quite an unhealthy reputation in this league."

David has been without doubt one of the Lions' great defensive backs. He is quite a personable fellow off the field. On the trips he is one of the team's jesters.

But on the field he likes it rough. They nicknamed him "The Hatchet."

STILL HOPING — Smiling Joe Gordon is a guy with strong hopes. He refuses to give up in the pennant race with the White Sox despite the odds and continues hopes he will be rehired as Cleveland manager despite rumors to the contrary.

'We've Still Got a Chance'—Joe Gordon

Reported Facing Dismissal

Gordon Figures He's Given Tribe Good Job

CLEVELAND (AP) — "No matter what happens, in my own heart I feel I've done a good job."

Those are the words of Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon, regarding speculation General Manager Frank Lane may fire him. Harry Jones, Cleveland Plain Dealer baseball writer, reported Gordon's remarks in a dispatch from New York today.

"Oh, I've made mistakes," Gordon continued. "I suppose if I had to do it all over again there are some things I'd have done differently.

"But if I thought for one minute that I hadn't done a good job, I'd quit. I wouldn't want to hang on, knowing that I couldn't even satisfy myself.

"If I find that he isn't satisfied with the job I've done, that's it. I wouldn't want to stay. I think a manager should have the complete confidence of his boss.

"But if he wants me to manage next season, I'll be back. It's as simple as that."

★ ★ ★

Lane said the decision on Gordon will be made some time before the World Series. The fiery general manager also said yesterday, referring to the pennant, "We should have won it." Questioned about his use of the past tense which indicated the Indians already were finished, Lane hastened to add:

"Oh, we've still got a chance. It isn't over yet."

OUT AT PLATE — Flying Minnie Minoso about to be tagged out at the plate by Yankee catcher John Blanchard while attempting to score yesterday. The Indians won at New York, 8-5.

Cleveland Pilot Perks Up After Monday's Gain

Chicago's Margin Cut to 4½ as Bosox Beat Hose and Indians Win

By the Associated Press

Strange how one victory can make a man adjust his point of view.

Sunday after his Cleveland Indians had been beaten twice in Yankee Stadium and Chicago had won to boost its first place margin to 5½ games, manager Joe Gordon greeted reporters:

"Come in and join the wake."

Yesterday, after his Indians had knocked off the Yankees 8-5 while Boston was upending the White Sox 9-3, the same man said:

"I'm not ready to concede. We've still got a chance."

The chance is slim, but it's there. Really. Take a look.

Chicago has nine games left to play to Cleveland's 10. If the White Sox win six, it's all over even if the Indians win all theirs. In other words, any combination of six will lift the White Sox to their first pennant in 40 years.

★ ★ ★

But here's the rub. All of Chicago's remaining games are against first division clubs — two against New York, six against Detroit and one against Cleveland. On the other hand, only one of the Indian's remaining 10 games is against a first division club. Besides the one against the White Sox (on Sept. 22), the Indians have seven against Kansas City and two against Boston.

So, where there's life, there's hope.

In other American League games, Washington blanked Detroit 5-0 and Baltimore whipped Kansas City 9-4.

Dick Donovan, seeking for the third time to post his 10th victory, carried a 2-0 lead into the sixth when the roof caved in on him. Before the Red Sox were through, 12 batters had gone to the plate and collected four hits, five walks and six runs off four Chicago pitchers.

Frank Malzone hit a two-run single, Ted Williams singled in a run as a pinch hitter and Gene Stephens also singled in a run. That was enough for Bill Monbouquette to register his seventh victory in a route-going job.

Cal McLish beat the Yankees for the sixth time this season. The big right-hander had a shutout until the ninth when the Yankees pounded five runs across. It was too late by then because McLish himself had driven in three Cleveland runs with a triple and single, and rookie Ray Webster had knocked in three mates with a double and two singles.

★ ★ ★

McLish hasn't pitched a shutout since May 5, 1951. Last year he hurled eight one-run games and this year he turned in seven.

Bob Nieman walloped a three-run homer as Baltimore ruined rookie Al Grunwald's starting debut for Kansas City. Hector Brown retired the first 18 batters and settled for a five-hitter as he notched his 10th success.

Braves Offer Series Ducats

Accepting Applications by Mail Only, to Friday Midnight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Monday they will accept mail applications for World Series tickets starting immediately.

Executive Vice President Birdie Tebbetts said tickets would be sold by mail only. No applications postmarked after midnight Friday, Sept. 18, will be accepted.

Series ticket application forms have already been mailed to Braves season ticket holders.

The public sale will be limited to reserved grandstand and bleacher seats, to be sold in strips of three — one for each of the games in Milwaukee—plus standing room tickets to be sold for individual games only.

An individual may purchase not more than two sets of tickets.

Reserved grandstand seats will cost $7 per game, or $21 for a set of three, plus $1 for mailing and handling. Bleacher seats will cost $2, or $6 for a strip of three, plus $1 for mailing and handling. Standing room tickets will be priced at $4 per game.

Ticket applications should be mailed to World Series tickets, Milwaukee 1, Wis.

2nd Division Finish Haunts Tigers

Shut Out, 5-0, by Senators, Now Face Birds

Orioles Trailing by One, Host Detroit in Two-Game Series

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Not only does third place seem like a vague dream for the Tigers, but now Detroit is faced with the grim reality of another second-division finish in the American League.

★ ★ ★

The Baltimore Orioles, who host the Tigers in the opener of a two-game series tonight, are in fifth place and trail Detroit by only one game.

A series sweep by the Orioles would put them in front of the Tigers.

Paul Foytack, who has an even 13-13 won-lost record, will go to the mound tonight in an attempt to protect Detroit's slim lead in the AL standings.

★ ★ ★

Foytack will be opposed by Hoyt Wilhelm, whose knuckleball artistry has earned him a 14-11 mark for the Orioles this season.

A former tenant of the Washington Senators' bullpen, Truman (Tex) Clevenger, had little trouble with the Tigers last night as he won his fourth victory in five starts.

Clevenger gave up only four hits and Jim Lemon smacked his second home run in a row against the Tigers to give the Senators a 5-0 shutout over Detroit.

Lemon slugged his 32nd homer off starter Ray Narleski in the fifth inning with Dan Dobbek on base. Narleski was charged with his 12th defeat against four triumphs. It was the sixth straight loss for the former Cleveland relief ace who hasn't won a game since June 15.

Dobbek, who singled in the fifth, belted a triple in the third when Washington picked up all the runs it needed. A single by Julio Becquer, a walk, and Dobbek's extra-base blast scored two that inning.

Dobbek is a lefthanded batting outfielder from Western Michigan University.

★ ★ ★

The Senators added their final run off rookie Jim Proctor, who was one of two Tiger pitchers making his first Major League appearance last night.

Proctor, who gave up four hits in the two innings he worked, yielded a walk and singles by John Schiave and Clint Courtney which produced Washington's final tally.

Bob Bruce, another rookie up from the Tigers' Charleston farm club, pitched the last inning and retired the side without allowing a hit.

★ ★ ★

The game was the final match of the season between Detroit and Washington. The Senators' triumph gave them a 12-10 edge over the Tigers this year with eight of the wins coming at Griffith Stadium.

LEAVING GAME EARLY — Cincinnati manager Fred Hutchinson, hands on hips, and Ed Bailey, partly hidden, got an early shower when umpire Jocko Conlan ejected them in the 2nd inning of a game at San Francisco Monday. The argument was over a called 3rd strike on Bailey. Whitey Lockman (19) watches. Cincy won over the leaders, 4-1.

Lions' Win Rewarded —They Get a Day Off

DETROIT (AP)—Coach George Wilson allowed the Detroit Lions to relax yesterday as a reward for their 31-28 victory over the Cleveland Browns in a preseason game Sunday.

Wilson scheduled a workout at the Cranbrook training camp today in preparation for the final preseason game with the Washington Redskins at Briggs Stadium Friday night.

Tomorrow, the Lions will move their practice sessions to Wayne State's Tartar Field where they will work out until the Detroit Tigers finish the baseball season at Briggs.

At this stage, the Lions look better than a year ago. The victory over the Browns gave them a preseason record of 3-2-1 compared with 2-4 last year.

Wilson now faces the chore of paring down the size of the squad. Three rookies who have been handicapped by injuries are expected to go. They are George Gillar, Ron Luciano and Jim Wagstaff. Defensive linesman Dick Guesman also may be eliminted.

Except for their slightly jarred pride, the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts came out of their 35-13 exhibition loss to Philadelphia Sunday a stronger club by locating an able substitute for passing wizard Johnny Unitas.

"We lost a game," said coach Weeb Ewbank by way of explanation yesterday, "but I found a quarterback."

The "find" is Ray Brown, who proved invaluable to a defensive specialist in his rookie season with Baltimore last year. Brown takes over the No. 2 signal-calling berth held during the 1958 campaign by George Shaw, now with the New York Giants.

While things were beginning to fall into place for the Colts with the regular season less than two weeks away, the New York Giants announced they would do some experimenting at fullback due to injuries to Mel Triplett and Phil King.

Coach Jim Lee Howell will try halfback Alex Webster at the post while Triplett recuperates from badly bruised hips and King recovers from a leg injury.

The Chicago Bears will start Rudy Bukich at quarterback in the Bears' final exhibition with Cleveland Saturday. Bukich has been sharing the signal-calling duties with Zeke Bratkowski and Ed Brown.

Two new faces may open the regular season for Chicago's Cardinals at the offensive tackle slots—Ken Panfil, obtained from Los Angeles, and Mac Lewis, a rookie from Iowa.

Darrell Brewster, acquired in a trade with Cleveland, reported to the Pittsburgh Steelers. He'll start at end along with Gern Nagler, obtained from the Cardinals in Sunday's exhibition against Green Bay.

Green Bay coach Vince Lombardi wangled defensive tackle Henry Jordon from Cleveland in return for a 1960 draft choice.

All-Star Pin Points

STRAIGHT STEPPING — On the downswing, Ed Lubanski's pendulum motion is in rhythm with his body motion.

4-STEP APPROACH BEST

By Ed Lubanski

Anybody who bowls should take four steps, starting with the right foot. This is fine and I tell everybody to use it.

Then they can watch me take a little rabbit-like first step with my left foot, then four more and go away wondering why they should use four.

The five-step form I use is the best for me. But, the same as the two-finger grip, I can't see it helping anybody else.

The number of steps is only a part of the motion. The ball should be moving with the steps. It is easiest and most natural to take four. The skipping first step I use can only throw most people off balance.

Stick with four. Your motion, the pushaway leading into the downswing, has to be smooth. With the downswing, it is important to get a straight, stiff-armed pendulum motion going. The shoulder should serve as the pivot point, the elbow and wrist rigid.

Keep the downswing in a smooth arc as it heads back. The ball should not be brought back on an angle so that it winds up behind the knee during the approach.

Keep the feet gliding during the steps and the swinging straight back, then forward.

Any jerking produces no balance.

And no fun, for you'll never score well.

Braves Crowd Giants With 4-1 Win

By The Associated Press

If the Milwaukee Braves wanted to ask "who's choking up?" you couldn't blame them.

Remember three years ago when the Braves were accused of choking up after they had blown a four-game lead to the Dodgers in the final three weeks of the season?

Well, things have a way of reversing themselves.

A vital 4-1 victory over the Dodgers last night not only boosted the Braves into undisputed possession of second place, one game behind the league-leading San Francisco Giants, but gave them their eighth victory in the last nine games.

During the same period, both the Giants and Dodgers, now in third place, two games off the pace, have played barely over .500 ball, winning five while losing four.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati's Reds inflicted a stunning 4-1 defeat upon the Giants in the only other league game played.

Each of the top three contenders have 11 games remaining. The Braves will have a golden opportunity this weekend when they meet the last place Phillies while the Giants and Dodgers are battling each other.

It took a tremendous pitching performance by Don McMahon to preserve Milwaukee's victory. Bob Buhl, a long time Dodgers nemesis, appeared about to cement his 13th victory, fifth against Los Angeles this season, as he entered the last of the ninth, leading 4-1. Up to that time, he had allowed the Dodgers only one hit—a home run by Wally Moon. Then, just like that, the Dodgers loaded the bases with nobody out on a walk and two infield singles.

That was the signal for Manager Fred Haney to summon McMahon from the bullpen. The strong right-hander retired Norm Larker on a soft liner to second baseman Felix Mantilla, then threw third strikes past Gil Hodges and Johnny Roseboro. The Colisium crowd of 53,767, envisioning a Merriwell finish, could hardly believe it.

The Braves got their runs in clusters. They took a 2-0 lead in the second when Del Crandall stroked his 19th home run following a scratch single by Frank Torre. They got two more in the seventh on Billy Bruton's single with the bases loaded.

The defeat was charged to Don Drysdale. It was his seventh defeat in the last eight decisions. Before the first All-Star Game, his record was 15-6. Now it is 16-13.

Jim Brosnan, a last minute pitching choice, and Dutch Dotterer, an early inning substitute catcher, combined to give the Reds their 4-1 victory over the Giants. Brosnan, usually a reliever, started only because Jim O'Toole, who was scheduled to pitch, turned up ailing. He gave up only five hits and a run in seven innings.

★ ★ ★

Dotterer, who entered the game in the second when starter Ed Bailey was tossed out for arguing over a decision, drove in two runs with a pair of singles. Johnny Temple drove in the first run with a home run and White Lockman batted in the last one with a double. Willie Mays, with his 30th homer, accounted for the lone Giant run.

★ ★ ★

Tam O'Shanter Pros Get Aces at Fort Custer

BATTLE CREEK — Warren Orlick, head pro at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, and John Monitz, one of his assistants, almost stole the show away from Larry Tomasino of Barton Hills and Pontiac's Gene Bone in Monday's PGA-sponsored golf tournament on the nine-hole Veteran Hospital course at Fort Custer.

Orlick and Monitz scored holes-in-one less than a minute apart. Monitz got his ace on the 155-yard 8th hole with a 7-iron, then Orlick aced the 110-yard 6th hole with a 9-iron. It was the 3rd hole-in-one of Monitz' career and the 1st for Orlick.

Bone, who won this tourney last year, lost his title yesterday to Tomasino in a sudden-death playoff after the two golfers tied for 1st place at the end of the regulation 18 holes with 64s. Bone shot 33-31 and Tomasino 31-33. Tomasino beat Bone on the 1st extra hole.

Big Julius Relaxes With Fishing Trip

Boros Takes Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Julius Boros, who won his eighth tournament in 10 years of campaigning when he bagged the $25,000 Dallas Open, is on the way to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a little fishing to break the monotony of the golf tour.

Some say big Julius is about to wind up his career.

★ ★ ★

As steady as the rock he resembles, the Hungarian from Mid-Pines, N.C., had a par 70 to take the Dallas Open title. It gave him 274 for 72 holes and a stroke margin over host pro Earl Stewart, Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex.

★ ★ ★

Finishing fifth was Jon Gustin, the freshman on the tour from Gladwyne, Pa., who was tied with Boros starting the final round. Gustin floundered for a double bogey and a bogey on the front nine to throw away his chances for $3,500 first money.

College Football

by "RED" BLAIK

One of the so-called "Seven Dwarfs" of the Big Eight Conference is some day going to turn troll on Oklahoma. A troll, according to Webster, is a supernatural being in the shape of a dwarf. Seriously, the Big Eight philosophy, as I understand it anyhow, is not to knock and tear down Oklahoma but to build up to the level of the Sooners. As one who always has believed that any dilution of the will to win enervates college football, I subscribe heartily to this Big Eight attitude.

Oklahoma's dominance of its conference in the 12-year regime of Coach Bud Wilkinson has been remarkable: not only 12 straight championships, but no defeats and only two ties in 69 games. However, as Wilkinson himself has repeatedly pointed out, even the longest cycles of success ultimately slow to a halt. Time, the law of averages and the other inexorables gnaw away at kings, too.

Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa State, Kansas State and nearby neighbor Oklahoma State, which will begin to participate in Big Eight standings next year, are all working faithfully toward the big day. The day when one of them will make what will be the No. 1 story of that football year. The day when the headline will say shockingly: "Oklahoma Loses Its First Big Eight Football Game Under Bud Wilkinson."

SOONERS STRONG AGAIN

Will it happen this year? It could, but it probably won't. The cynical and sardonic will comment: "Yes, that's what my father said and, if I recollect correctly, my grandfather, too, sir." All right, but Oklahoma is going to lose a Big Eight football game some time soon, if not this year.

The 1959 Sooners can conceivably develop into one of Wilkinson's best shows. They will be stronger in November, when they meet Army at Norman, than late this month and in early October, when they engage Northwestern at Evanston, Colorado at Norman and Texas at Dallas. Northwestern and Texas are rated high in their conference and Colorado, even if it does not have a superior passer, can be counted on for a serious effort when it catches the Sooners in between the Wildcats and the Steers.

The OU backfield of Bobby Boyd, quarter; Jimmy Carpenter and Brewster Hobby, halves, and Prentice Gautt, full, should be Bud's best since 1956. Boyd, Carpenter and Hobby are not big, but they are quick, clever, competitive, reliable. Guatt, one of the great runners, blockers and tacklers of the game, regularly delivers the big play both on offense and defense. The Sooners will run at times with three "lonely" flankers, which I shall watch with deepest interest.

The line will be inexperienced in spots, but you can count on Gomer Jones to do his usual sound, quick building job. As usual, OU will alternate two teams, 7½ minutes at a clip. This system, plus the condition and spirit of the players, accounts for their deserved reputation as one of the best fourth-quarter teams.

In the Missouri Valley Conference last year, only one game separated first-place North Texas State from fifth-place Wichita. This year there should be another merry, five-way tilting. Houston under capable Hal Lahar is a slight favorite, followed by North Texas State, Cincinnati, Tulsa and Wichita. Two of my former West Point assistants, Bobby Dobbs at Tulsa and George Blackburn at Cincinnati, have done fine jobs and I salute them.

Abner Haynes, North Texas State halfback; Ted Dean, Wichita fullback, and Jim Leo, Cincinnati end, are three boys the pro scouts will be watching closely. The pro scouts, you know, do not accept at face value Gray's lines: "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its fragrance on the desert air."

Chevrefils Ends Hockey Career

Leaves Wings' Camp; Lacked Confidence in Himself, Adams Says

DETROIT (UPI)—Real Chevrefils, a 27-year-old left winger, has left the Detroit Red Wing training camp and ended a seven-year National Hockey League career due to a lack of self-confidence, according to Red Wing General Manager Jack Adams.

Chevrefils, who was brought into the Detroit camp on a conditional agreement with the Boston Bruins, left here yesterday bound for his home in Timmins, Ontario.

He scored only one goal in 30 games with Boston last year and spent part of the season with the Bruins' farm clubs at Providence and Quebec City.

Adams said that Chevrefils "just doesn't believe in himself anymore."

"We gave him every opportunity, but he wanted to go home so we let him," stated the general manager. "It's a shame because there's a lot of hockey left in that boy."

Chevrefils was with the Wings once before, in the 1955-56 season.

On a happier note, Adams announced the signing of defenseman Marcel Pronovost to his tenth NHL contract. Only two players are still out of the fold as the Red Wings continue their second week of pre-season drills at Olympia Stadium.

3 Walker Cuppers Wade Into Amateur

Beman, Patton, Dr. Taylor Had Byes Yesterday

Defending Champ Coe Beats 1st-Round Foe; 2 State Players Win

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Walker Cuppers Deane Beman, Billy Joe Patton and Dr. Frank Taylor today joined the fight for the National Amateur Golf Championship which Charlie Coe shows no signs of relinquishing.

If any of his 199 rivals in this year's tournament had any ideas about beating Coe out of his third amateur crown, he dispelled that with a masterful opening-round 7 and 6 victory over young Bob Meiering of Roswell, N.M., yesterday.

The 35-year-old Oklahoma oil broker and captain of the U.S. Walker Cup team did not three-putt a single green and did not stray over par until he had piled up a commanding lead by winning seven of the first eight holes from 21-year-old Meiering.

Beman, the 21-year-old British Amateur champion, Patton and Taylor, all of whom drew first round byes, get their chance today to try their luck on the mile-high Broadmoor Club layout with its difficut-to-read hilly greens and rarified Rocky Mountain atmosphere.

Harvie Ward, the 33-year-old Carolinian who like Coe is shooting for this third National Amateur crown, battled for 17 holes with 20-year-old Jim Grant of Atlanta before winning 2 and 1.

One Rocky Mountain newcomer who found the atmosphere to his liking was Bob Allen, a 35-year-old automobile salesman from Pawtucket, R.I. Allen sprang the upset of the opening round when he eliminated Walker Cupper Ward Wettlaufer of Williamsville, N.Y., 2 and 1.

Besides Coe, Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Bill Hyndman III of Abington, Pa., were the only Walker Cup players who had easy opening round matches. Nicklaus trounced Robert Jones III of Pittsfield, Mass., son of famed Bobby Jones, 7 and 6; Hyndman eliminated Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex., 5 and 3.

Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., was another Walker Cup player who struggled to victory yesterday.

Dick Chapman and Jack Westland, two former champions, also won. Chapman, the 1940 winner, defeated Melvin Stevens of Detroit, 3 and 2; they will be joined in the second round today by still another former champion, 69-year-old Chick Evans of Chicago.

Among the other notable first round winners were Tom Draper of Royal Oak, Mich., who was two under par for the 13 holes it took him to eliminate Metropolitan New York champion Paul Kelly, 7 and 5; Robert Knowles Jr., of Aiken, S.C., who defeated National Public Links champion Bill Wright of Seattle, Wash., 2 and 1; Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; Paul Dye Jr. of Indianapolis, 2 and 1 victor over former Walker Cupper Jim McHale of Philadelphia.

Lou Wendrow of Lansing was the only other Michigan victor. Tom Grace bowed 4 and 2. Bill Michaels lost 7 and 6. Both are from Detroit.

Ferrell Says Bosox Blocked Wertz Deal

DETROIT (UPI)—General Manager Rick Ferrell of the Detroit Tigers said today the Boston Red Sox withdrew Vic Wertz from the waiver list to kill Detroit's chances of regaining the big first baseman.

Ferrell said he knew nothing of reports that the Baltimore Orioles had put in a claim for Wertz, but the Orioles trail Detroit in the standings and would have gotten first crack at him.

Ex-Walled Lake Star Faces More Surgery

Walker Lost to 'M'

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Michigan's modest hopes of throwing a little weight around the Big Ten this fall have been jarred for the second time in preseason football practice.

Johnny Walker, a jolting 195-pounder from Milford and one of the squad's top fullbacks, was lost for the season yesterday when physicians told him they would have to operate on his injured left knee.

Only two weeks ago, first-string center Dick Syring was knocked out of the lineup after dislocating his shoulder on the second day of practice.

Walker, who was figured to give strong backing behind No. 1 fullback Tony Rio, has been hit by knee trouble all through his college career. It will be the second operation on the left knee. His right knee was operated on just last spring.

★ ★ ★

Promising sophomore Ken Tureaud now has moved into the second string fullback post behind Rio.

While Coach Bump Elliott kept his fingers crossed against any more preseason injuries, the Wolverines went through one of the last of their double sessions. Emphasis was on running plays from the new winged-T through the guard and tackle spots.

EAST LANSING (UP)—A weekend rest restored some zip to the Michigan State football squad and a take-it-easy approach was planned for the rest of the week.

The pickup in energy and enthusiasm was noticeable in the no-contact, afternoon-only drill yesterday. Most of the session was spent in rehearsing offensive and defensive kickoff formations.

"We'd probably look a lot better if we had scrimmaged today instead of Saturday," commented Coach Duffy Daugherty. "They seem to be getting some of their zest back."

★ ★ ★

Daugherty made no changes in the lineup of his top 22 players—the first offensive and defensive elevens—after studying movies of a scrimmage on Saturday.

"Nobody did too bad on Saturday," he said. "They all were just pretty tired."

Three shifts were made but all were in the lower ranks.

DETROIT (UP)—University of Detroit football coach Jim Miller said today three players, hit by injuries in training, probably will sit out the Titans' 1959 season home opener against George Washington Friday night.

Physicians have ordered an indefinite rest for guard Terry Faylor who suffered a head injury in scrimmage last week.

Guard Bill Kane is expected to miss the home opener because of a torn shoulder muscle and lineman Tony Sterlitz remains sidelined with a bad knee.

Miller yesterday moved No. 2 fullback Joe Pascuzzi into the No. 2 right halfback slot on a trial basis and promoted sophomore John Pereto to the No. 2 right guard position.

The Titans went through light drills yesterday. Miller said he planned only light scrimmages in preparation for the Friday game at U. of D. Stadium.

STOPS SHORT — Tommy Aaron missed this putt yesterday on the 18th green but still managed to finish 2-up over his opponent in the 59th Amateur Championship of the U. S. Golf Association being played at Colorado Springs. Tom Draper of Royal Oak and Lou Wendrow of Lansing were Michigan victors.

Hungry Figa Hits 300, Wins Food

Local bowlers better beware Mike Figa when he's hungry.

Figa and Arly Scheffler decided to roll a game with the loser to buy the other a sandwich recently at West Side Recreation.

Scheffler finished with a 218 so Figa fired a 300 with "every ball in the pocket," according to proprietor Sam Perna. Another witness was scorekeeper Paul Bada.

It was the 1st reported 300 of the new season and was in open bowling.

Piston Rookies in 'Game' Drills

DETROIT (UP)—Coach Red Rocha, pleased with the initial turnout at the Detroit Pistons' rookie camp, planned to send prospective regulars through game-type workouts today.

Rocha greeted rookies and a handul of veterans yesterday as the Pistons began their first workouts.

Rocha was highly satisifed about some of his talent yesterday. He said Bailey Howell appeared to have the ability a good pro prospect needs. Rocha was pleased with Howell's work on the boards.

Archie Dees, Barney Cable and Howell were driving for shots that the Pistons lacked last year.

Tony Windis, a rookie from Wyoming, looked ready to give veteran backfield men a battle for a job. Windis has an accurate shot from the outside and is a deft master of the handoff when he is covered.

Was NFL Expansion Behind Player Hike?

WASHINGTON (UP)—If expansion of the National Football League was behind increasing the player limit, George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins is sorry he supported the move.

NFL club owners voted over the weekend to raise each team's player maximum for the regular season from 35 to 26. Commissioner Bert Bell said yesterday the owners apparently felt the time had come to expand or they wouldn't have voted for the increase.

The object was, Bell said, to set the stage for existing teams to contribute players to new franchises. He looked for expansion of the 12-club league to 14 teams in 1961 and possibly 16 in 1963.

$12,000 Saved From Gas Bill

Pinchpenny Policy Has Held Expenses Down During State's Crisis

LANSING (AP)—The state saved more than $12,000 in three months by distributing gas and oil to its car and truck fleet only from its own facilities, state controller James W. Miller reported.

The procedure was one of a number of economy measures put into effect when the state's cash balance hit bottom this year.

Starting May 1, state employes driving state-owned cars were directed to gas up only at state police posts, highway garages, conservation field offices and state institutions where gas and oil is supplied at bulk prices far below those paid at regular retail stations.

Savings averaged more than $4,000 a month through July, Miller said.

★ ★ ★

In another economy move, Miller said one-year-old state police cars will be reconditioned for other state use, removing the need to buy many new cars. The state motor transport division, he said, will take 75 of the 1958 models which are being replaced by new state police cars and overhaul them at a cost of from $100 to $300.

Net cost to replace older cars, he said, will be about $700 each, about half the cost of buying a new car.

Two other money saving moves cited by Miller:

Surplus bakery equipment valued at $43,000 is being transferred from Northville State Hospital to Southern Michigan Prison and other correctional institutions. Prisons, as a result, will not buy new equipment as had been planned.

★ ★ ★

Use of federal surplus materials will cut the cost of a new basketball floor covering at Northern Michigan College from $1,150 to $180.

Roof Cave-In Hurts 8 Chevy Workers

SAGINAW (AP) — A cave-in of a 60 by 100 foot section of roof over metal mixing bins injured eight workers at the Chevrolet foundry here yesterday.

Don Forbes, 27, of suburban Carrollton, father of two children, suffered a severe skull fracture. He was trapped under heavy slabs of concrete and had to be dug out.

Fred Embry, 33, suffered a severe scalp laceration and also was hospitalized.

Six other workers were treated at the foundry's medical department for less serious injuries.

Cause of the collapse was not determined immediately.

The cave-in disabled four large transformers which supply power for two of the foundry's three departments.

★ ★ ★

About 3,000 of the foundry's 5,500 employes will be idled until repairs are completed later this week.

The foundry turns out motor block castings for 1960 model Chevrolet cars and trucks.

Hemingway Says 'I'm No Actor'; Won't Play Self

ROME (AP)— Ernest Hemingway has refused to play a movie role as Ernest Hemingway.

The chance to play himself was offered the author by Nunnally Johnson, directing an Italian production.

"I haven't become an actor yet," Hemingway said, turning down the offer. "It's tough enough being an author."

"It's a pity," Hemingway's wife commented. "He's a natural born actor."

Says Leprosy to Die Within a Generation

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—The World Health Organization (WHO) predicted today that leprosy will be wiped out in the next generation.

Of the estimated 2,300,000 leprosy victims in sub-Sahara Africa, he said, more than a million now are receiving sulfones and this treatment is expected to reach all victims in the near future.

There were 198,208 male prisoners and 7,435 female prisoners confined in state and Federal prisons and reformatories at the end of 1958.

State Takes 15 Off Road

Fifteen Oakland County residents recently lost their drivers licenses, according to the Michigan Secretary of State's office.

Ordered to furnish proof of financial responsibility due to drunk driving convictions were:

Gladys Halbert, 70 Gage St., Pontiac
Otis J. Clark, 2254 Hartford St., Waterford Township
Stanley A. Syrowik, 3130 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township
Clemmer D. Shiveley, 2060 E. Maple St., Royal Oak
Ernest M. Hunter, 2801 Westview St., Ferndale
Robert H. Jarnac, 3301 Chester St., Ferndale

Losing their licenses due to unsatisfactory driving records were Gerald Stevens of 1415 E. Lake Dr., Walled Lake; Thomas H. Risk Jr. of 4605 W. Maple Rd., Bloomfield Township; James L. Kollar of 6544 Knollwood Circle, Birmingham and Maynard C. Carter of 3005 Kenmore St., Berkley.

★ ★ ★

John Mazurewski of 1280 Perry Lake Rd., Ortonville, lost the right to drive because he was unable to pass a test.

Charles L. Weckle of 1160 Lakeville Rd., Oxford, and Harriet L. Mielke of 711 S. Vermont St., Royal Oak, had their licenses revoked due to unsatisfactory driving records and for failure to appear for re-examination.

The license of Robert A. Mason of 136 Prospect St., Pontiac, was revoked for physical reasons and failure to appear for re-examination.

Hugh T. Smith of 27 Parkdale St., Pontiac, was ordered to furnish proof of financial responsibility for driving with a suspended license.

The first U.S. patent law was passed by Congress on April 10, 1790.

Eisenhower Receives New Israeli Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower received Israel's new ambassador Monday, and told him "both of our countries draw inspiration from a common spiritual heritage."

They are guided, Eisenhower added, "by our belief in the dignity of man and the right of all nations to enjoy freedom and independence."

Presenting his credential, ambassador Ayraham Harman praised the United States as "a mighty nation whose policies are based on the sanctity of human life and are directed to the Biblical version of peace and fraternity."

Steel Strike Talks Stalemated as Ever

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators for the struck steel industry and the United Steelworkers met for 90 minutes Monday, then recessed apparently as stalemated as ever.

As has been the case since the strike of half a million steelworkers began three months ago, the only action came in opposing statements from spokesman for the companies and the union.

R. Conrad Cooper, city negotiator for the industry, reiterated that the steel companies are opposed to any new contract that would be inflationary.

David McDonald, president of the union, reiterated his charge that the companies' concern about inflation is phony.

Leading Stocks in Mild Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors, steels and rails headed a renewed stock market decline early today. Trading was moderately active.

Leading stock fell fractions to a point or so.

Electronics drifted off in quieter dealings. Coppers, oils, building materials, chemical and drugs also were lower. Rubbers were irregularly higher.

Wall street was cautious awaiting the arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Meanwhile the general economic background was far from inspiring. The steel strike dragged through its ninth week. The U. S. Treasury's short term borrowing costs rose to 4 per cent for the first time in 26 years.

★ ★ ★

American Motors and Ford fell about a point each. Studebaker-Packard, an active gainer recently, slid fractionally in brisk dealings.

U. S. Steel and Republic Steel (ex dividend) dropped about a point each. General Motors and American Telephone eased. Jersey Standard fell fractionally. DuPont dropped more than a point.

Raytheon and General Instrument were off about a point. Fluro Corp. cut the dividend and fell more than a point.

Guantanamo Sugar, indifferent yesterday to favorable dividend action, climbed well over a point.

Losses of about a point were shown by American Smelting, International Nickel, U. S. Gypsum and Schering.

Leading rails showed a string of fractional declines. Among the losers were Illinois Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific and New York Central.

The opening was active with the ticker tape late for a 3-minute spell. Losses deepened as trading became more slack.

Wheat, Soybean Futures Firm

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and soybean futures were firm today in board of trade transactions but other grains held within a narrowly mixed range.

Soybeans which were under fairly stiff pressure all day yesterday were in good demand at the start today and moved ahead as much as a cent a bushel while wheat gained small fractions.

Conflicting reports were making the rounds of the soybean pit again.

The American Soybean Assn. said it had a report that F. E. Hunt of Adair, Iowa had toured the major soybean belt and estimated this year's yield would not exceed about 500 million bushels. He said the crop showed less than normal development.

Another report was that there is somewhat more acreage planted to the crop than most surveys have shown. It hinted that a good deal of the early harvested wheat land was planted to soybeans.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was ¼ to ½ cent a bushel higher after about an hour, September $1.9¼; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, September $1.14⅜; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, September $1.30⅝; soybeans to ¾ higher, September $2.06¼.

William Heller Upped by GM

Bloomfield Man Named Warren, Ohio, Branch Packard Comptroller

General Motors Truck & Coach executive William G. Heller has been named as divisional comptroller of Packard Electric Division of GM in Warren, Ohio it was announced today.

HELLER

Heller, of 3160 Bradway Blvd., Bloomfield Township, is now assistant divisional comptroller of the Truck & Coach Division. His appointment is effective Oct. 1.

Heller will succeed P. L. Griffiths, who will retire Dec. 31 after 32 years with GM. Beginning at Inland Manufacturing Division as a clerk in 1938, Heller was named factory accountant in 1950 after a series of promotions.

★ ★ ★

Later he transferred to Truck & Coach as general supervisor-cost, factory accounting, payrolls and tabulating. He was named to his present post in 1957.

Heller is a member of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce and the National Assn. of Accountants. He and his wife Ruth have four children.

Air Force Pilot Didn't Know Plane Was Loaded

JACKSON (UPI)—A veteran Air Force pilot who accidentally shot down a companion jet during a routine training mission didn't know his F-102 Delta Dagger fighter was armed.

The shooting occurred northeast of here yesterday and 1st Lt. Albert L. Pruden, 25, pilot of the plane that was struck by an air-to-air missile, parachuted to safety from 38,000 feet with only minor injuries.

Lt. Col. Montie L. Davis Jr., 37, commanding officer of the 71st fighter intereceptor squadron at Selfridge Air Force Base near Mount Clemens, fired the missile from a substitute plane assigned to him only minutes before the training mission.

He said he was prepared to take off in his own F-102, which he knew was unarmed, but his crew chief signaled him to cut the engine because of trouble in the aft section.

"I called the tower and asked for another aircraft," Davis said.

★ ★ ★

"I knew that we were already late on the mission and I hurried my pre-flight check. Had I made a complete check, I would have known that it was armed with rockets and missiles. I didn't do it. I'm the world's biggest knothead."

Davis, a native of Jackson, Miss., who came to Selfridge July 1 from the command and staff school at Newport, R.I., said he pressed the trigger and there was a cloud of smoke.

"I couldn't believe my eyes," he said. "At first, I hoped it was a rocket and it would miss. Then I could see it was a missile and I knew he didn't have a chance."

★ ★ ★

The missile struck the wing of Pruden's jet, but he was able to eject himself and start a 45-minute parachute glide to earth.

Davis said he feared Pruden, of Raleigh, N.C., might freeze to death in the high altitude where the temperature was 40 degrees below zero.

Pruden landed in a corn field near Cassidy Lake, east of here, and was picked up by Robert Trinkle, a rural mailman. Trinkle took the flier to the office of Dr. Michael Papo at Chelsea.

The doctor said Pruden suffered a cut foot and bruised leg, apparently when he ejected himself from the plane.

"He's doing fine," Papo said.

MEET AT MSUO—A group of Oakland County officials and other government specialists are planning a Home Rule Symposium to be held Oct. 21 at Michigan State University Oakland. Going over the proposed agenda for the day-long meeting are (from left) Kenneth Ver Burg of Michigan State University; John L. Carey, chairman of the County Government Study Committee; Mrs. Floyd Smith, chairman of the Civic Planning-Steering Committee of the Greater Pontiac Community Council; Oakland County Supervisor Delos Hamlin and Maurice Croteau, member of the Planning-Steering Committee.

Home Rule to Be Topic of Symposium at MSUO

By LEE WINBORN

"Home Rule in Oakland County—What It Means to You" will be the subject of a day-long symposium Oct. 21 at Michigan State University Oakland.

Preliminary plans for the event were made at MSUO yesterday by members of the Civic Planning-Steering Committee of the Greater Pontiac Community Council plus other county and university officials.

Acting as moderator was Mrs. Floyd Smith, chairman of the Council committee. Others present from the committee were Mrs. Paul Gorman, Mrs. Neil Wasserberger and Maurice Croteau.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, and John L. Carey, chairman of the county Government Study Committee, also were present to help formulate the proposed agenda for the home rule seminar.

Representing the university were Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, director of the continuing education program which will co-sponsor the program, and Kenneth Ver Burg, project chairman of the Institute for Community Development at MSU.

The ninth member of the planning committee was Fred Haggard, president of the AFL-CIO Council in Pontiac.

Acting as moderator and panel speaker will be Dr. Charles R. Adrian, director of the Institute for Community Development at MSU.

The program will open with registration and a coffee hour between 9:15 and 9:45 a.m.

Dr. Adrian will open the panel discussion with a general history and presentation of factors involved in county government in the United States.

Hamlin, the next speaker, will give the history of government in Oakland County, tracing its development over the past 10 to 15 years to its present status.

He will include answers to such questions as how home rule would affect the county and how far the county has progressed with its adoption.

★ ★ ★

Also before lunch, the pros and cons of county home rule will be described by two persons well-versed on the issue. The person who will take the positive side has not yet been named.

★ ★ ★

The negative side of the question will be presented by Croteau.

Next on the proposed agenda will be a talk about how the home rule plan could be implemented in the county. Carey will be the speaker.

A panel discussion by the experts will conclude the morning session.

After luncheon the some 200 people expected to be present will be divided into "buzz groups" to prepare questions which they want answered by the experts during the question and answer period to follow.

The entire day-long program will be summarized by Dr. Adrian before adjournment about 4 p. m.

On the committee in charge of promotion and publicity for the meeting are Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Wasserman, Carey and Dr. Eklund who will serve in an ex-officio capacity.

The committee plans to mail announcements of the forthcoming seminar to county and township officials, state representatives and senators, members of the League of Women Voters and service clubs, plus others who have a professional interest in the program.

Principals of the Pontiac and county high schools also will be contacted and asked if they care to designate a representative—a social studies, history or government teacher and perhaps a student or two—to attend the symposium.

★ ★ ★

Ver Burg is preparing pamphlets on the pros and cons of home rule for distribution at the meeting.

Brief Is Filed Fighting 1c Tax

State Supreme Court Now Set Formally to Act on Levy Status

LANSING (AP) — Supreme Court approval of Michigan's new use (sales) tax would endanger the fundamental law of the state—the Constitution, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said today.

The new tax is clearly an attempt to bypass the three-cent ceiling the state Constitution puts on the sales tax, said Adams and three other state attorneys in a brief filed with the high court today.

"If by the simple expedient of adopting the name use tax the will of the people can be brought down to defeat, then all of the repose created by our tradition in the fundamental law of the land — the Constitution — will end," they contended.

The battle to throw out the penny increase in the use tax thus was formally joined.

Three of Adams' assistants who are defending the validity of the new tax submitted 79-page brief supporting their position yesterday.

Adams, a Democrat, sided with Charles Lockwood, Detroit attorney, who filed a taxpayer's suit two weeks ago asking the Supreme Court to throw out the new tax as unconstitutional.

Check Out Hotel After Failing to Extract Dentists

NEW YORK (UPI) — Security agents swarmed through the 2,000-room Commodore Hotel today to check its facilities and employes so that Nikita S. Khrushchev can lunch as safely there as at the Waldorf Astoria.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner's official lunch for the Russian premier, scheduled for Thursday, had to be transferred from the Waldorf to the Commodore yesterday after the American Dental Association refused to be extracted from the Waldorf's grand ballroom. The dentists booked the ballroom four years ago.

★ ★ ★

"Maybe the Russians got to the moon first—but the American Dental Association got the ballroom first," Vice President Richard M. Nixon told the dentists' convention yesterday.

The Waldorf has had a monopoly on official luncheons for important foreign guests for many years because the FBI, state department agents, and police security officers are familiar with it from sub-basement to penthouse. The prospect of switching the lunch to unknown territory was not appealing to them.

Ike Sets Bad Example in CD, Says Williams

ITHACA (UPI)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams has criticized President Eisenhower for "setting a bad example" by not having a bomb shelter on his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Inspecting a pilot model of a rural civil defense project, Williams yesterday also attacked early C-D programs as having no sense of direction.

★ ★ ★

However, he said that today plans have progressed to a point where they will give an effective local and national approach to solving problems of C-D.

Frigidaire Will Produce Automatic Gas Dryers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corp. plans to move into the gas dryer field with four automatic models.

Shipments of the dryers, Frigidaire's only gas appliance, are scheduled to start immediately, the company said yesterday.

Frigidaire already produces five models of electric dryers besides seven types of automatic washers.

Herman F. Lehman, Frigidaire's general manager, said, "This phase of the appliance business represents a vast new market for Frigidaire."

Card of Thanks 1

WE WANT TO EXPRESS OUR sincere appreciation to all who assisted in any way during the recent loss of our loved one. We appreciate so much the kindness and cooperation of the Huntoon Funeral Service and Rev. Alger Lewis of the Avondale Baptist Church and all the kind friends of the Brookland sub and Pontiac Township. We could never put into words truly how grateful we feel but may each one of you be rewarded for your help and thoughtfulness. Mr. and Mrs. Luther, Howard and children.

No matter how loud you blow your horn . . . it could never be heard by as many people as a little

State Fruit Nears Record

1959 Crop Is Expected to Top 1958 Output by 10 Per Cent

LANSING (AP) — Total production of Michigan's 17 major field and fruit crops is heading toward a record high, the federal-state crop reporting service said Monday.

If current predictions hold up, production is expected to surpass last year's record crop by 10 per cent and the 1948-57 average by 26 per cent.

The outlook is about nine per cent above last month, thanks largely to a sudden spurt in the corn crop. Good growing conditions last month erased any uncertainty about the effects of the July draught.

Forecasts place the per-acre corn yield at 62 bushels, six more than last year. This year's crop is expected to top any other corn crop ever harvested in Michigan by a whopping 31 per cent and surpass the 10-year average by 70 per cent.

Compared with last month, production prospects also are up for oats, barley, sugar beets, dry beans, fall potatoes, soybeans, hay, apples, plums and grapes.

Production of all small grains, potatoes, soybeans and pears will fall short of last year. But the declines are more than made up for by the huge corn increase and small increases for sugar beets, field beans, hay, apples, cherries and grapes. Only oats production was not up to average this year.

The dry bean yield is now forecast at 1,150 pounds per acre, a record harvest and 19 per cent above last year.

Sugar beet yields also are expected to hit a new high of 16 tons per acre, with total production highest since the early 1930's. Soybean output will equal last year's 23 bushels per acre.

Fruit output is expected to set a record in total tonnage — 580,000 tons. This is 10 per cent above last year and nearly a third over the 10 year average. Slightly larger crops of apples, plums and grapes are forecast compared with August.

No individual fruit crop is of record size but only the pear crop is under last year.

FILM PAIR HAPPY — Mexican Actress Katy Jurado, 33, and actor Ernest Borgnine embrace as they met at International Airport last night on her arrival from Mexico. They plan to marry in a few weeks. "Love is wonderful," she told newsmen. Borgnine, 42, was divorced recently. He was an Academy Award winner for "Marty" in 1955. The wedding rite will be a civil ceremony but a church service in Mexico will follow.

Eisenhower's Gift Elephant Comes by Plane

PARIS (AP)— President Eisenhower's gift elephant from the Congo jungles arrived here by air today.

After sucking a bottle of milk and munching a few bananas, Zimbo was moved to the Vincennes Zoo for a rest before going on to Washington.

Teamsters Sued Over Seniority

30 Haulaway Drivers Claim Loss of Wages in Priority Dispute

DETROIT (AP)—Thirty automobile haulaway drivers have sued the Teamster Union and their employer for $549,000 damages, claiming loss of wages in a seniority dispute.

The suit, filed in circuit court here yesterday, named Western Auto Tansports, Inc., a Denver firm; Teamster Local 299; the Teamsters National Truckaway the Automobile Transporters labor division.

George H. Sutton, attorney for the Detroit drivers, said the company has transferred nearly 100 drivers from Denver to Detroit in the last three years.

He said the seniority of the Denver drivers gave them better work assignments.

The Detroit drivers failed in their attempt to get the Denver drivers placed at the bottom of the seniority list here.

Suttop asked circuit court to restrain the defendants from combining seniority lists. No hearing date has been set.

Mustachioed Californian Aims for Mark

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A tamale maker with an 18-inch mustache says he is out after the tip-to-tip championship of the world.

★ ★ ★

John A. Todd, 41, said he has heard of a man in England who has a mustache measuring 19 inches. He said he expects to exceed that before long.

Todd's mustache dates from April 15, 1957.

Political TV Time Now Up to Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio and television news programs will be exempt from providing equal time to all political candidates under a bill signed into law by President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

In signing it Monday, the President said in a statement the law will make clear that a brief appearance of a candidate for public office on a bonafide news program "will not require the station to provide equal time to all other persons who are candidates for the same office."

★ ★ ★

The broadcasting industry had protested that unless the law were changed in this way, its coverage of political campaigns would be disrupted by demands for equal time from many political candidates.

De Sapio Faces Threat to Rule

Liberal Dems Trying to Shake Off Bossism Label in New York

NEW YORK (AP)— Tammany leader Carmine De Sapio, a target of liberal Democrats ever since the "bossism" issue enlivened Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller's successful campaign for governor, fights for his leadership today.

De Sapio not only is opposed in today's primary for the leadership of his own Greenwich Village district, but he also is the main issue in a score of other primary battles for district leaderships.

Scattered local contests for party nominations were expected to draw only small numbers of voters.

★ ★ ★

De Sapio is expected to win in his personal contest with attorney Charles S. McGuiness for leadership of his assembly district.

But close races were in prospect in some other districts where anti-Tammany candidates are trying to unseat organization leaders.

Leading the insurgents are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, and former Air Force Secretary Thomas Finletter.

★ ★ ★

They and other Democrats have charged that De Sapio gave the public a picture of the Democrats as a boss-ruled party at last year's state convention, thus providing an issue that helped Rockefeller to victory.

Seek Warrants Against 7 Youths

DETROIT (AP) — Assault conspiracy charges were recommended yesterday against seven youths held in connection with a street fight in which four policemen were injured.

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen said he would seek the warrants on evidence that the youths had gathered last Thursday night with intent to assault another gang. The group, all Negroes, previously were charged with obstructing a police officer.

Four patrolmen were hospitalized for sprains, cuts and bruises after they sought to question a group of teenagers sitting in a car on the near west side.

Police Commissioner Herbert Hart, investigating one youth's charges that he was beaten by officers after the brawl, found no cause for action against officers involved.

'Biggest' TV Package Set for CBC Soon

TORONTO (AP)—A 2½ million dollars contract for a series of shows described as "the biggest entertainment package in Canadian television history" was announced yesterday by Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd., and Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

It features a 39-week series of 90-minute and hour-long spectaculars originating in both Canada and the United States, to start next month.

In addition, the company will sponsor on Canadian TV networks two French language shows, a cosponsored western series entitled "The Deputy" starring Henry Fonda, and the Tennessee Ernie Ford Show.

The spectaculars, entitled "Startime," will be divided equally between Canadian and U.S. productions over the season, CBS said. They are tentatively scheduled to start Oct. 6 with the first Canadian production, Arthur Miller's play "The Crucible," set for Oct. 27.

Three TV Networks Pool Nikita Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three major television networks are covering the arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today on a pool basis.

Nineteen TV cameras have been stationed along the route from Andrews Air Force Base, where Khrushchev lands, to Blair House, the President's guest house across from the White House. Pictures from these cameras will be available to all three networks.

Mary Castle Is Almost Killed by Breakers

MALIBU (AP)—A gay moonlight midnight ocean swim in her undies almost turned into tragedy for actress Mary Castle Monday.

Twice she was knocked down by huge waves and after the second time friends called for help. Two sheriff's deputies found her lying on the beach, cold and blue. The deputies, H. J. Broviak and H. T. Meyers, said they could find no pulse.

Miss Castle was revived by artificial respiration and then taken to Malibu Emergency Hospital. She was released after examination.

Postmaster Nominations Confirmed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate yesterday confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of James O. Brown as postmaster at Benton Harbor.

The Senate also confirmed the nomination of George A. Martin as postmaster at Dearborn.

Billy Rose Opens Fall Season With Many Gals

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sitting there among the greatest free-loaders of our day, I found Billy Rose had gone, at the opening of the fall season, from Joan Crawford to Marlene Dietrich to Audrey Meadows.

WILSON

Billy took li'l Audrey to the fall opening of El Morocco, thus torpoeding the idea that it was serious between Billy and Joan—or Marlene—but if you wanted to get technical about it, Cary Grant was there with a Venezuelan brunette, Aurora Moore, from Caracas, who bore out all the talk I'd heard about Venezuela being expensive. Cary Grant has gone to Europe to peddle a picture called "Operation Petticoats" so the date with Aurora means nothing just now. But when he comes back, we'll see . . .

Prof. Andre Michel of the Sorbonne, a Sinatra fan who tries to see all of Frank's movies, exclaimed, "Ah, the lady with the golden arm!"

Art Carney just finished taping a one-hour TV show in which he was the only actor . . . doing practically a monologue. He plays an alcoholic who comes into his apartment and starts phoning people while drinking. Written by Tony Webster, it's titled "Call Me Back." Art says: "Nobody ever calls him back." Carney used no idiot-cards and did all the phone conversations from memory. Scheduled for March, it will probably be the longest one-man drama shown yet on TV.

Brigitte Bardot and Jacques Charrier got a good spoofing in the Paris paper, France Dimanche—or maybe it was serious. State Tax Fight Will Resume

Two GOP Senators to Attempt to Repeal BAT Part of New Law

LANSING (AP) — A promised attempt to reopen the legislative tax fight is expected to enliven proceedings when state lawmakers reconvene tomorrow after a 17-day layoff, longest of the marathan 1959 session.

Two Republican senators, Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo and Clyde H. Geerlings of Holland, said yesterday they will seek prompt repeal of business tax elements of the use tax compromise package voted Aug. 29.

Morris said a second bill will propose exempting industry from real estate taxes on new construction for two years or until the new building is put into service.

The companion moves were described as answering need for "a bold stroke to recapture jobs and business for Michigan," a characterization sure to be vigorously disputed by Democratic leaders.

★ ★ ★

The most important problems awaiting lawmakers will be final action on a 17-million-dollar capital outlay bill, correction of a flaw in the 1959-60 school aid bill and a decision on the veterans trust fund.

For months, majority Senate Republicans have turned a deaf ear to Democratic Gov. Williams' plea for prompt conversion of the veterans fund into cash to ease the state's cash bind.

Also on the agenda are motions, long held in abeyance, to override vetoes by Williams of the $2 annual state park admissions fee bill and the local bus line tax relief measure.

★ ★ ★

Even if all pending questions should be disposed of, it seemed likely the Legislature would remain in technical session, perhaps recessing until mid-October.

Castro Boos Boozers, to Raise Liquor Taxes

HAVANA (AP)—Assailing drunking as "equal to the vice of gambling," Prime Minister Fidel Castro says he plans to raise taxes on alcohol.

He told Cuban workers the tax on a bottle of beer will be five cents, on a bottle of rum one dollar and on imported liquors even more. The levies should raise 20 million dollars a year, he said.

Russ Names Complicated

By The Associated Press

At home, Nikita Khrushchev would say "Don't call me mister."

But it's all right for an American to do it.

Americans have difficulty with Russian names and titles, particularly those complicated by Communist protocol. Here's a brief primer for ready reference during the Soviet premier's visit.

The Russian goes by three names: his first name or imya, his middle name or otchestvo and his surname or familiya. The "vich" on the end of a man's middle name means "son of," and the feminine "a" or some times "na" on the end of a woman's middle name means "daughter of."

Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev is Nikita, son of Sergei. His wife, Nina Petrovna Khrushcheva — pronounced Khrushch-chov-a, with accent on second syllable—is Nina, daughter of a man named Petrov.

★ ★ ★

In the family or among close friends, Russians call each other by pet-name dimunitives, but in ordinary discourse, Russians familiar with each other will use the given name and father's first name. A man working closely with Khrushchev would address him as Nikita Sergeyevich. Mrs. Khrushchev's maid would call her Nina Petrovna.

NOBLE TITLES

In czarist days in Russia, the upper class master of a household was called "barin," meaning nobleman. Lesser folk called the household's mistress "barina." In those days, the word "gospodin" was in common usage. Literally the word means lord, or master. It is the equivalent of mister. No Communist would call another Communist "gospodin." The form of address is used only with foreigners.

★ ★ ★

A man who is not a party member might be addressed as "grazhdanin," meaning citizen. A woman in the same class would be "grazgdanka, or citizeness.

The term "tovarisch," meaning comrade, is usually reserved for members of the Communist party.

'Nikita Feels Warmly About Ike'

LONDON (UPI) — Moscow Radio said today it was true Premier Nikita Khrushchev has "not infrequently" been at odds with President Eisenhower but the truth is Khrushchev has the "warmest" feeling for the President.

The fourth in a series of glowing "profiles" on the Soviet leader broadcast by Radio Moscow departed from the generally sweetness-and-light tone of the others to admit that the path the two world leaders have trod has not always been strewn with roses.

This, of course, was never the fault of Khrushchev, Radio Moscow intimated.

"Nikita Khrushchev has not infrequently entered into polemics with Dwight D. Eisenhower, always speaking frankly and openly in such cases, seeking to delineate his point of view with the utmost lucidity," it said.

★ ★ ★

But Khrushchev "has retained the warmest recollections of his meetings with President Eisenhower in Geneva," it said.

"Now new meetings of the two eminent statesmen are forthcoming," the broadcast monitored here said, and Khrushchev goes to Washington with a burning urge to thaw the cold war.

Knoxville, Tenn. was named after Gen. Henry Knox, Secretary of War in 1791.

U.N. Threatened by Lack of Funds

The Emergency Force Dues Are Withheld by Soviet Bloc, UAR

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said Monday the entire financial position of the United Nations is threatened by failure of member nations to provide adequate funds for the U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East (UNEF).

In a report to the 82-nation General Assembly, Hammarskjold declared that unless quick action is taken, the solvency of UNEF and the world organization itself will be in jeopardy.

If the drain on the working capital fund continues at the present rate until next February, he said, the U.N. will be entirely without money to carry its normal program of activities. The U.N. draws on the working capital fund to pay its costs until regular annual assessments are received. These usually are not paid in substantial amounts until late in the year.

UNEF was established after Britain, France and Israel invaded the Suez Canal in 1956. To date, U.N. members have been assessed 55 million dollars to pay for UNEF operations guarding Israeli and United Arab Republic borders. But only 34 million dollars has been collected.

The problem is caused mainly by refusal of Soviet bloc and Arab countries to pay their assessments.

They contend that the cost should be borne by Britain, France and Israel as war damages. Some small countries claim they are just not able to contribute.

Altogether, Hammarskjold reported 61 nations have paid nothing on their 1959 assessments.

Old Houses Are Razed; New Ones Called For

NEW YORK (UPI)—A big reason more homes are needed each year is that 300,000 are demolished annually either through slum clearance or highway building programs, trade sources say.

Another reason is that the population is increasing by about three millioin a year, resulting in bigger families and creating the need for larger homes.

Gas Pipeline Firm Proposes Rate Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co has proposed an 8 per cent annual wholesale natural gas rate increase which would affect 61 utilities customers in six states, including Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The company, with headquarters in Kansas City, filed the $8,653,700 rate increase petition with the Federal Power Commission yesterday. The company wants to make it effective Oct. 26.

The proposal would be in addition to one pending for $12,050,000 annually under which Panhandle is now collecting the proposed hike subject to refund, and another for $7,134,000 annually on which hearings have been completed and an examiner's decision filed.

The examiner held the entire amount should be disallowed. This is now before the commission for the higher rates are being collected subject to refund.

★ ★ ★

Supporting the new filing, Panhandle cited a proposed $8,995,600 annual increase proposed by its subsidiary and supplier, Trunkline Gas Co., Houston.

Autumn Madness Is Upon Us Again

Hear Ye, Hear Ye! The 1959 convention of the Royal Order of Swamis is now in session.

Presiding is head Swami William "Gazer" Cornwell who won the crystal ball championship last year by dethroning two-time Swish-Swash Swami Bruno Kearns.

The Grapevine from whence come the Swami forecasts is still ripe from the hot summer but opening day this week will probably produce some sour grapes for our Swami Association.

Pigskin Parade Starts

Take a back seat you Tigers! The Pigskin Parade of 1959 is ready to get underway.

It's that time of the year they call "Autumn Madness" but it's a great and glorious type of madness which will be found on the Friday high school gridirons, at the Saturday college games and on Sunday at the pro fields.

It's time for all loyal alumni to come to the support of their high school and college alma maters.

Oakland County, with the second largest number of high schools in the state of Michigan, will have 36 prep teams with nearly 1,200 players kickoff the campaign this weekend.

Another 15 teams next to county lines are also ready to lift the lid as battles begin for league titles and all-star honors.

The powerful Saginaw Valley Conference, Michigan's number one prep league, may again produce the state's top teams with such perennial powers as Bay City Central and Flint Northern battling for honors.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Northern makes its debut in the football wars of the Inter-Lakes Conference, a league which is destined to grow in the A ranks.

College scouts will be watching for talented preppsters who are recognized on the daily sports pages for their football abilities.

The Press sports staff will also be on the alert for the prep stars who will earn their way to the All-County teams and top honors.

★ ★ ★

For the past three years the players selected by The Press as the county's "Outstanding Player" all received football scholarships and are now competing for college berths.

Coincidentally, all three players matriculated to the University of Michigan. John Walker, Walled Lake's great fullback of 1956, is a junior on the Wolverine varsity.

★ ★ ★

Once again, The Press will cooperate with the McCan Shoe Company in selecting the county's Outstanding Player of 1959 with a huge bronze shoe award going to the winner or to his high school. County area boys are gaining a college education through football scholarships and many are destined to follow after this season.

Yes, king football is here. Long live the king!

Challenge Mounts for MacLeay at PCH

But Wolves, Hillites, Indians May Make It Close

Flint Northern SVC Choice

Breaking the stranglehold of Bay City Central, Flint Central and Flint Northern on championship honors in the Saginaw Valley Conference has been an impossible task for the other half of the league for the last several years.

The Valley's other three members—Pontiac Central, Saginaw Arthur Hill and Saginaw — will get help in that department in 1961 when the loop expands to nine schools with the addition of Midland, Bay City Handy and new Flint Southwestern.

In the meantime, the lowly three will face the same old job of trying to dislodge the Bay City and Flint triumvirate from the throne room.

Flint Central appears to have been hardest hit of the big three. Heavy losses via graduation plus a drain of talent by the Southwestern school when zoning was changed have depleted the ranks considerably for coach Bill Doolittle, whose speedy Indians shared the crown with Bay City last season.

Pre-season title favoritism leans toward Flint Northern with Bay City conceded a good chance to make another run for the money, Arthur Hill, once a formidable grid power in the Valley, is given the best chance to crack the first division in a duel with Flint Central.

Pontiac, which finished 5th last year, is expected to end up in the same position with Saginaw once again bringing up the rear.

★ ★ ★

Northern coach Andy MacDonald has 15 lettermen returning from the team which took 3rd place a year ago, headed by fleet-footed Jim Hodo, a whale of a halfback, and end Harvey Sanders. Vic Urick, an experienced quarterback, is also ready for action.

Bay City's Elmer Engel lost many stars through graduation with all staters Jerry Gross, Bob Bishop and Jim Kanicki the most noteworthy, not to mention Butch Kokaly, John Young, Jerry Auman, Mike Dardas and Gary Nuttall.

But tested performers like fullback George Archer, end Larry Piotrowski, tackle Dave Sampson and halfback Bob Auman provide a good nucleus for the Wolves and J. C. Dunn is figured to be a highly capable replacement for Gross at quarterback.

Flint Central will be largely inexperienced, but the Indians can never be overlooked in any Valley campaign. Kurt Kampe has 15 letter winners at Arthur Hill, led by fullback Joel Garinger, and the Hillites will possess both size and speed.

Here is the expected order of finish.
1. Flint Northern
2. Bay City Central
3. Arthur Hill
4. Flint Central
5. Pontiac Central
6. Saginaw

CHARLEY BROWN
All-State Guard Candidate

Central's Head Football Coach in 3rd Season

Charley Brown Leads 11 Letterwinners as Chiefs Prep for Waterford

Taking over the job of head football coach at a high school mired in losing habits down through the years would be a distinct challenge to anyone in the profession.

A tall, grim-faced physical education expert from Illinois was willing to accept that challenge when he came to Pontiac Central two years ago this fall.

Jesse MacLeay is the name of the bold mentor who was ready to give it the old college try at PCH.

The Chiefs will begin their 3rd gridiron campaign under MacLeay this Friday night and after two years of hard work and effort, the challenge is still present for the man from the "Land of Lincoln," perhaps now more than ever.

MacLeay has really taken his hard knocks, just as has every one of his predecessors. His two-year won-lost record at PCH is 7-10, a 4-5 mark last year and 3-5 in 1957.

Central will open its 1959 season at Wisner Stadium against Waterford, whom the Chiefs buried by a 26-0 count in last year's opener before running into the pitfalls of the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference.

It is generally acknowledged that the Saginaw Valley is the toughest schoolboy grid league in Michigan year after year after year and the Chiefs, for the most part, have usually lacked that little extra something needed to win against such rough company.

★ ★ ★

If attitude could win championships, the Chiefs would be off to a running start right now. Although the squad is numerically smaller, the spirit is top-notch, according to MacLeay.

"The boys have an excellent attitude and their spirit is high," MacLeay said, "but our squad is much less experienced than a year ago."

Eleven letter winners returned to the PCH camp, including four regulars from the 1958 team. Heading the group is guard Charley Brown, an outstanding all-state candidate who just missed landing on the honor team by one vote last year.

The brother combination of fullback Joe McCauley and halfback Dick McCauley, along with halfback Isaac Jones, provides additional experience. Bulldozing Jerry Rush, a 220-pound tackle, has looked promising in early drills.

Fred Staley may be the key to Central's hopes. After landing a job as starting quarterback in the middle of the 1957 season, Staley suffered a shoulder injury before the 1958 campaign ever got under way and he missed it all.

Now a senior, Staley is sound as a dollar and ready to return to the all-important quarterback position in MacLeay's variable T offense.

Besides Waterford, the Chiefs have non-league games with Wyandotte, Ferndale and River Rouge in addition to the five Valley contests. Six games will be at home.

The South Central Conference will try a new system this year which has some teams playing home-and-home series.

There is a strong possibility that the 1960 Michigan prep rules will include moving the goal posts to the goal line.

Football Is Born at PNH Friday Night

Huskies Invade Orion

Ed Heikkinen will be truly a man of distinction when he launches Pontiac Northern into its first year of high school football competition.

Northern's head coach will swing into the 1959 campaign with a perfectly clean coaching record.

To be more specific—and completely truthful—Heikkinen has no won-lost record as a head coach. He's getting off to a 0-0 start.

After working in the background for several years as an assistant coach at Pontiac Central, Heikkinen was offered the chance to take the grid reins at the new school and he was willing to accept the challenge.

Heikkinen had to wait a year to field his first 11. The Huskies did not play the fall sport last season and their players joined forces with Central for the 1958 schedule.

Now the waiting is ended. Northern's gridiron embryo will be born this Friday night when the Huskies lift the lid on their 1959 slate at Lake Orion against the Dragons of the Oakland B League.

★ ★ ★

The Huskies are not wasting any time when it comes to getting into a league of their own. They were accepted into Inter-Lakes Conference membership last winter and they are plunging into loop competition immediately.

Nobody knows what to expect from the squad on Pontiac's north side, least of all Heikkinen.

"Our spirit is excellent, but we are generally small and our speed is only average at best," Heikkinen declared.

★ ★ ★

It goes without saying that the Huskies will be inexperienced in addition to the drawbacks of lack of size and speed. No one on the squad weighs more than 180 with the backfield averaging 140 and the line 160.

Among the more impressive performers in practice sessions have been fullbacks George Graves and Larry Bland and linemen Don Davis, Earl Hewitt and Winfred Miracle.

A spirited two-way battle for the all-important quarterback position is being waged by Bruce Norton and Steve Thompson.

The only team members with any previous varsity football experience are Graves and Hertel, a halfback, who was used primarily on defense last season at Central.

Northern will play a nine-game schedule, five in the Inter-Lakes loop plus non-league foes Rochester, Grand Blanc, Hazel Park and Lake Orion.

Northern's Fight Song

Words and music by Mrs. Mildred Wiersema, English teacher at Pontiac Northern High School.

Let's sing of Northern,
Our valiant Northern,
For her the north star points the way,

Let's pledge to Northern,
Our stalwart Northern,
The best of all we do or say;
Let's cheer for Northern,
Our mighty Northern,
For her we'll work with all our might,

Let's fight! Fight! Fight! Fight!
Fight for Northern Huskies,
Fight for Northern, Red and White.

Charley Brown of Pontiac Central and John Meadows of Royal Oak Dondero are the only members of the 1958 Pontiac Press All-County team playing this year.

Skippers Meet PCH in Season Opener Friday

Waterford Grid Squad Has Only 3 Victories in Last 2 Years

If Waterford coach Dave Freeman is getting thinner these days, it's merely in keeping with the Skipper football situation which has become mighty lean of late.

It probably seems like ages to Freeman, but you need go no further back than 1956 to uncover a very capable Waterford squad fighting for the Inter-Lakes Conference championship.

The Skippers lost the struggle for the I-L title in a heartbreaking 12-7 loss at Walled Lake, but they wound up their season with a sparkling 8-1 record to post the finest grid year in the school's history.

★ ★ ★

Freeman has seen nothing but heartache and woe ever since. The trouble began in 1957 when the Skippers won just two games while tying once in nine starts.

Then they virtually hit rock bottom last year when they managed only one win in nine starts, as a porous defense yielded a whopping 295 points and a weak offense netted a meager 59.

It's extremely unlikely that the Skippers will bound back with an all-winning vengeance in 1959, but the coaching staff does hold some hopes of making a marked improvement.

Waterford will occupy the underdog role Friday evening when the Skippers kick off the new season at Wisner Stadium against Pontiac Central, a team they have yet to beat in three previous attempts.

★ ★ ★

After another non-league game at Lapeer, the Skippers will wade into the Inter-Lakes wars with five consecutive conference outings — Walled Lake, Pontiac Northern, Farmington, Berkley and Southfield, in that order. Non-loop contests with Dearborn Fordson and Wayne will close out the slate.

Returning lettermen are few at Waterford—10, to be exact—with quarterback Bill Bryce, tackle Don Windeler, fullback Jim Hoke and guard Bob Nestor heading the group.

Bryce may be the key to the caliber of Skipper performances this fall. A 6 foot 2 inch, 190-pound senior, Bryce saw considerable action at the signal-calling post a year ago and he is a good ball handler and respectable passer.

Newcomers who have shown great promise in the Skipper camp in early workouts include halfbacks Mike Kaines and Harry Savas, tackle Bill Couture and guard Jim Johnson.

Freeman is beginning his 6th year as head football mentor of the Skippers. His over-all record at Waterford is 19-22-1 with 14 of those defeats accumulated in the last two years.

TAKE IT EASY, COACH! — That's what the Waterford High School gridders seem to be saying to head coach Dave Freeman as they go through limbering up exercises on the Skipper field in preparation for the 1959 grid campaign.

Edge to Walled Lake in I-L Race

There have been some mighty hectic races for the Inter-Lakes Conference football crown over the years, but the 1959 campaign could be the craziest of them all.

The three top guns of 1958—defending champion Farmington, runnerup Walled Lake and Southfield—all lost heavily through graduation.

BOB NESTOR
Talented Skipper Tackle

Yet each school has enough capable gridders coming back to make another spirited run for the money.

No other school in the six-team Class A league appears to have enough horses available this season to slow down the Farmington-Walled Lake-Southfield express.

Berkley has 15 returning lettermen and seems to fit the role of darkhorse, but Bob Finley, now starting his 2nd season as head coach of the Bears, has little or no depth and will depend to a large extent on 11 players.

Walled Lake also has a depth problem, but the caliber of the returning gridders is perhaps the best in the I-L circuit and the Vikings rate a slight nod to dethrone Farmington this fall.

Players like guard Jim Teddy, tackle John Van Sicklen, center Ken Johnson and halfback Bob Christian will help to form a solid starting unit for the Vikings and barring costly injuries, they will be tough for everybody.

Harvey Chapman, who last year averaged 13 yards every time he carried the pigskin in addition to scoring 79 points, looms as the big cog in the Farmington machine.

Coach Jack Hayes is switching Chapman from halfback to quarterback this season and Harvey should help the Falcons make a spirited run for the title.

With the Odom twins leading the way, Southfield should be a dangerous club despite serious losses at several positions. Quarterback Jerry Odom and brother Terry, a halfback, are perhaps the key figures in Bluejay plans this season.

Although improvement is expected, Waterford does not appear to have enough horses to rate any kind of title consideration.

Pontiac Northern, new to football as well as the Inter-Lakes, is virtually minus experienced personnel and seems doomed to the cellar.

Here is the expected order of finish:
1. Walled Lake
2. Farmington
3. Southfield
4. Berkley
5. Waterford
6. Pontiac Northern

We're Mighty Thin, Says Viking Coach

Filling the shoes of players like Frank Fink and Mike Wurst, to mention just a couple, is the man-sized task facing Dave Smith at Walled Lake.

Smith, now starting his 4th year as head football coach of the Vikings, has more shoes to fill than just those of Fink and Wurst, however.

Smith lost 19 players via graduation from the 1958 squad which took 2nd place in the Inter-Lakes Conference with a 4-1 record and compiled ar overall mark o: 6-2.

"We're mighty thin," Smith said, "particularly in the backfield."

* * *

The backfield was wiped out seven players deep through graduation, thus removing quarterback Bill Havel and halfback Jim Pierce in addition to Wurst and Fink.

"Our first unit should be fairly strong," Smith commented, but if we lose any of our first stringers to injury, we'll really be hurting." "We have no depth and we won't be able to stand the loss of anybody on that first 11."

The boy who must take Havel's place at quarterback is Keith Green, who should do an adequate job, Smith believes, despite a lack of experience.

Bob Christian, a fleet halfback who saw considerable duty last year, and Neil Salo loom as the Vikings' best ball carriers.

Anchoring the line will be Jim Teddy, one of the county's finest up-front performers in 1958 who this year is switching from tackle to guard. Leading Teddy some badly needed support in the forward wall will be tackle John Van Sicklen and center Ken Johnson.

Van Sicklen, younger brother of Dennis who gained all-state mention at Walled Lake two years ago as a guard, is just a junior and may develop into a standout tackle for the Vikings.

Altogether, there are nine returning lettermen at Walled Lake as the Vikings try to return to the Inter-Lakes throne they occupied three years ago.

Odoms, Chapman Big Cogs for Bluejays, Farmington

Twin brothers with a lot of football know-how and a halfback who scored touchdowns at a prolific clip as a part time performer in 1958 may be the keys to Southfield and Farmington hopes this season.

The Odom brothers, Jerry and Terry, will spearhead the Southfield offense while Harvey Chapman, who specialized in returning punts for touchdowns among other notable feats, looms as the kingpin of the Farmington attack.

Both teams suffered heavily from graduation, especially in the forward wall.

Farmington, defending Inter-Lakes champion, lost many stalwart performers, including end Frank Clappison, center George Fawcett, guard Jack Lawing and backs Mike Agee, Neil Stevenson, Al LeSage, Tom Grimshaw and Ron Jordan.

All County quarterback Bob Filar and halfback Tom Ridley were just a couple of stars lost to the diploma by head coach Monte Charles at Southfield.

Chapman is making a switch in position this season, Coach Jack Hayes is changing the versatile Chapman from halfback to quarterback to fill the shoes of LeSage and the odds are good that Harvey will come through in fine style.

Only nine lettermen have returned from the 1958 Farmington squad which rolled to a perfect 8-0 record.

Charles will lean heavily on the Odom twins plus a delegation of sophomores as the Jays seek to better their 3rd place finish in the Inter-Lakes.

Jerry Odom, a 5-foot 8-inch, 165-pounder, has the tough job of filling Filar's shoes at quarterback. Terry, also 5-8 and scaling 160, will likely be the ball - carrying scooter at halfback. Both are seniors.

Seven letter winners have come back to the Bluejay fold with guard Jerry Dobbertin leading the list in the forward wall.

OPPOSITION BEWARE — Football foes of Walled Lake this season will have to run into these two rugged linemen. Tackle Marty Richardson is at the left and the other "meanie" is guard John Van Sicklen, brother of Dennis who gained All-State mention two years ago for the Vikings.

Ravens Lineup Set for Opening Contest

Rated one of the leading contenders again this year in SCL grid circles, St. Benedict has just about settled its starting lineup for the opener Sept. 20.

The Ravens, 1958 co-champs, face 2nd division St. Francis DeSales at Highland Park and this is the way the club will probably start:

Backs—Art Massucci qb; Ed Everhart lh; Andy Doner fb; Mark Storen rh. Ends— Mike Martwica and a selection not yet made. Tackles—Bill Deutsch and Gene Klaus.

ROMPING SHAMROCK — A big year for back Mike Ganje could help make St. Michael a title threat in the Suburban Catholic League.

North Siders Have Big Line, Speedy Backs

Niebauer's Squad Seen as One Top Contender for SCL Grid Crown

After sharing in the SCL championship a year, during one of its best seasons, St. Michael's club this fall occupies an enhanced position in the eight-team parochial prep loop.

The Shamrock camp exudes optimism, from the head coach down to the nearest recruit. This, despite the loss of several key performers from the 1958 squad. There's nothing blatant, or loud-shouting about the club's hopes, just a quiet, hard working confidence that could go a long ways towards producing a big season.

With only a week of practice, the North Siders have progressed so well, says Coach Jim Niebauer, that they are now holding full scrimmage sessions. "We've had no injuries, and hope we don't get any," the 2nd year head coach commented. "The squad, with few exceptions, appears to be in fine condition."

The Shamrocks open against a respected, and reputedly strong eleven, one that handed Niebauer a 33-7 licking in his first start as head coach at St. Michael. West Bloomfield, without all-state and all-county John Lucadam, but with some top-rated players back, faces the Mikemen at Wisner Stadium, Saturday at 8 p. m.

★ ★ ★

This should be a redhot scrap, with a slight edge for the Keego Harbor eleven.

The Shamrocks will miss Ron Call, all-county class C end; Mike Flynn, all-county quarterback in "C," and all-county halfback in "C," Chuck Steinhelper. All have graduated, along with all-county 2nd team "C" center, Dick Austreng.

On the credit side of the player list is improved Mike Ganje, halfback, faster than ever.

"Mike is running very good," says Niebauer, who pointed out that others, looking better than ever included husky guard, Gus Sonnenberg; guard Mike Keesling small, but active junior letterman; 200-pound tackle, Bob Linseman, another junior; Fred Lauinger, 262 pounds, and Paul Palace, 185-pound junior battling for the other starting tackle spot.

★ ★ ★

The coach also named veteran George Drake, 165-pound senior end; Paul Pruente, 150-pound regular at the other flank. In the backfield Shamrocks have veterans Tommy Dabbs at quarterback, Gange lightest back at 140 pounds), light but speedy Bill Flanigan at fullback and capable runner and ball handler, Pat Campbell, at the other halfback spot.

★ ★ ★

"We'll have a big line, small, but very fast backs," is the way Shamrock coaches sum up their club.

Saturday's opener is the first of four home games for the North Siders, They face RO St. Mary at Wisner, in the 2nd test, on the afternoon of Sept. 27.

Niebauer said there was a possibility his club would add one more game to the 8-game schedule.

Ravens Rated 'Team to Beat' This Season

Hot Title Race for SCL

If the early indications are borne out when play begins next week in Suburban Catholic League grid circles, the 1959 campaign is going to prove just about as tough a title race as was that of a year ago.

Three clubs wound up with a share of the loop championship. The same three clubs have again been mentioned as top contenders.

Pontiac St. Michael, St. Frederick Rams and Highland Park St. Benedict each held a 6-1 SCL record.

From comments by other school coaches in the SCL, Art Massucci's Ravens appear to be "the club to beat."

St. Benedict lost its only SCL contest a year ago, when a fired-up St. Michael's club whopped the Ravens 31-21. Incidentally, the Ravens handed St. Frederick its only league loss, 27-21, and the Shamrocks were licked by the Rams, 33-13.

Elsewhere in the circuit, conditions are just about as they were at start of play last fall, with one exception.

Both Shamrock coach Jim Niebauer and Massucci were impressed by the number of returning regulars at Center Line St. Clement. Al Baumgart's club, they agree, could be the dark horse.

But Al disagrees. "We may be better, but we're not any title threat," he says.

The Ravens will have their entire starting backfield on the job again. That's bad news for St. Benedict opponents. Ace passer and quarterback Art Massucci, Jr., fullback Andy Donar and halfbacks Mark Storen and flashy Eddie Everhart are veterans and form a great offensive combination. Between 30 and 35 squadmen are working out.

The Ravens open against a non-league foe St. Frances De Sales, Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Up to the present there is only one change in head-coaching jobs for the Suburban loop. Ferndale St. James has signed former U. of D. aide and one-time Pontiac St. Frederick mentor, Johnny Shada. Shada replaces Tom Fitzgerald.

Here's the forecast:

No. 1—Pontiac St. Michael, St. Benedict
No. 3—Pontiac St. Frederick
No. 4—OL St. Mary
No. 5—Ferndale St. James
No. 6—RO St. Mary
No. 7—St. Clement
No. 8—St. Rita

Rams Face 'Lean Season' in SCL?

Nine Starters Lost From '58 Co-Champions

'Jumbo' Kennedy, Posc Nucleus for St. Fred; Season Starts Sunday

Loss of nine of the starting lettermen from last fall's Suburban Catholic League co-champion St. Frederick football squad has created something less than a bright outlook for the Rams. That is, if fans take Coach Tom Kennedy's pessimism at face value.

Rams may have been hit hard by graduation of all-county "C" team back, workhorse Tom Derocher, leading area scorer and all-county halfback Jack Lyon, halfback Tom Nesbitt, and kicker Chuck Deschaine, plus three good linemen. But there also may be some bright spots among the 35-40 member squad to change the picture materially.

The 1958 season was one of the Rams' best in years. They open the '59 campaign Sunday, at Wisner, against St. Alphonsus, Detroit.

"Our club is shaping up," says Kennedy, "but we'll be happy if we win two games this fall."

Nucleus for the "new" team, says the coach, is Jim (Jumbo) Kennedy, big, husky and capable son of the mentor, and Steve Posc. Jumbo, 200-pounds, fine passer, blocker and runner on rollouts appears faster, this year with improved coordination at the quarterback job. Posc, hard runner, good pass receiver, may be moved into a halfback. He was an excellent end last season.

★ ★ ★

"Toughest job," Kennedy says, "is filling the backfield vacancies. We hope to have a good boy, too, in transfer Bob Schell (from PCH) for one tackle. He's big, about 200, moves pretty good.

"Among other probable starters are big Mike H..skins (225, tackle); Gary Greinier (guard); Bob Yappo (185, guard); Bob Hoehn (center, was No. 2 back of all-county "C" Bill Cassidy); Ted Dobski (end, junior, 6-3, 190); Chuck Gulbord (end or back); Steve Tzniff (end, 10th grader, looks good); Norb Hoffman (fullback) and Bieri (looks good at right half) a good kicker and pass receiver.

After checking over his prospects Kennedy unbent a little to admit that "we might be strong up front, and pretty big. With these big linemen we could very effective, defensively."

Invade Cosmos Opener

Eaglet Prospects 'Up'

Orchard Lake St. Mary appears to have the makings of a greatly improved football team over the squad that represented the Eaglets a year ago. Eighteen returning lettermen, including all but one starter from the fifth-place Suburban Catholic League club, provides an experienced crew for the season getting under way this weekend.

The Orchard Lake club kicks off the SCL action in a night game at Hamtramck on Friday at 8 o'clock. The Cosmos will be about as good as last fall, say their coach. They had a 4-5 season. Six of their 1958 starters are back. Friday's tilt will be the first meeting between the schools in athletics.

Rev. John Rakoczy, former Eaglet star himself, will be starting his sixth season as St. Mary's mentor. He has compiled a 20-10 record (2-5 for 1958).

Outstanding performers include Bob Argasinski, tackle, a big senior; Milt Wojtowski, senior end, and Bill Krul, senior fullback, both 3-year men; Stan (Kroger) Krogulecki, junior quarterback; Ches Odom, senior center, and left halfback Glen Hass, senior.

Don Duszynski, end, senior non-letterman, and junior center Jerome Brezinski also look good.

Rev. Rakoczy's starters for Friday's test will be about as follows:

Tackles—Argasinski and Bob Ura
Guards—Robert Kula and Bob Peplowski
Center—Chesley Odom
Ends—Wojtowicz and Ken Kowalski
Quarterback—Krogulecki
Halfbacks—Ted Barszczewski and Hass
Fullback—Bill Krul

Clarkston '11' May Rebound

Wolves Debut Under Taylor Against Oxford

CHS May Become Surprise Contender in W-O

A team with the potential to make the jump from a place near the bottom of its league in 1958 to a spot at or around the top this fall is the Clarkston Wolves.

New head coach Tom Taylor, the former Little All-American end, has been conservative in discussing his contingent thus far but rival coaches around the Wayne-Oakland loop are predicting a high finish for the CHS boys.

Taylor has most of the same boys who won only one loop start in a rebuilding season under Ed Hinitz.

He will get a good indication of just what he has got Friday when his charges go against Oxford in his official debut as a coach.

The former Albion great has been fairly satisfied with his starting unit but says "we have no depth."

Bob Porritt heads the attack at quarterback. The passing ace missed most of last season with injuries. Jack Anderson and Mel Joseph are expected to be the starting halfbacks with rugged 196-pound Ron Morgan the fullback. Big reserve Jim Snover will see plenty of action in the backfield.

Third-year starter John Parks and Dick Caverly will be Porritt's chief targets as starting ends. Dick Valentine, 6-2, 252 pounds of junior and 191-pounder Don Marsh will man the tackles, Dick Mansfield and Dave Meyer are set at guards. The Clarkston center will be Dick Spohn.

The Wolves scrimmaged St. Michael over the past weekend in a final big tuneup for the grid wars.

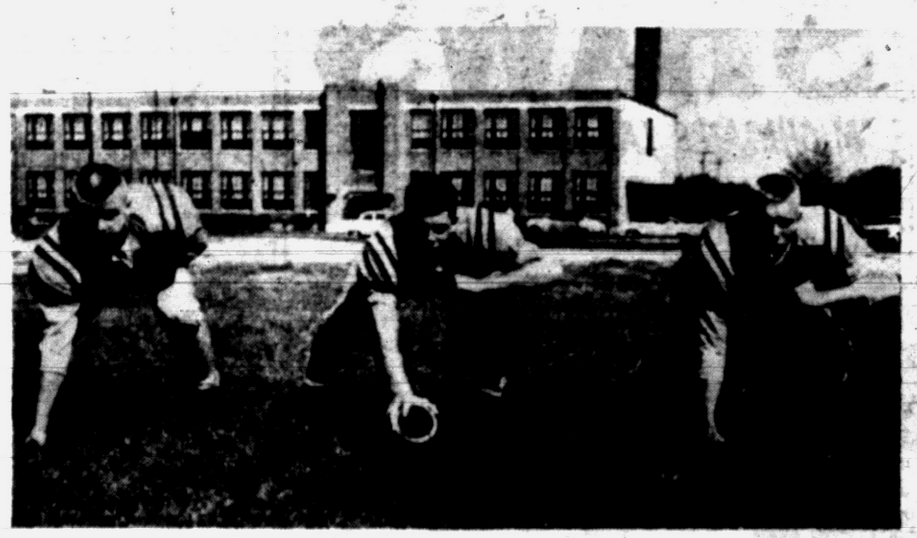
DEFENSIVE STALWARTS — This quartet of Wolves are expected to be the defensive stalwarts at Clarkston as new coach Tom Taylor hopes to debut with a winner. They include, left to right, end G. Smith, 252-pound tackle Dick Valentine, Don Marsh, who goes 191, and plays tackle, and end G. Allen.



OFFENSIVE STALWARTS — Paving the way for such Clarkston balltoters as Mel Joseph and Ron Morgan will be this trio of guard Dick Mansfield, center Dick Spohn and the other guard, Dave Meyer. Mansfield is the biggest of the three at 180.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The College of the Pacific will play seven of its nine football games at night next season. Only Stanford, on Oct. 3, and Cincinnati, on Oct. 24, will be met in daylight. Both games will be played away from home.

A Real Tough Schedule

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame faces another tough football schedule this season. The 10 Irish foes show a collective 54 victories and 34 setbacks for 1958. Only Michigan State (3-5) and Southern California (4-5) had losing seasons last year.

Northville Is W-O Favorite—Again

Brighton Still Strong

Winning the Wayne-Oakland football championship has become a habit at Northville and this year could be no exception.

★ ★ ★

Ron Schipper appears to be grooming another powerhouse in quest of his 4th straight flag.

West Bloomfield almost upset the Mustangs' applecart a year ago and the Lakers will be a top threat again along with a big Brighton outfit, Clarkston and possibly Holly.

Milford appears to be the darkhorse of the eight-team scramble. Bloomfield Hills is a question mark this early, while Clarenceville should improve on a 1-6-0 mark?

★ ★ ★

Although W-O were happy to see Northville's running stars "Spike" Walker and Bob Starnes graduate last June, Schipper still has plenty to work with among 17 lettermen. Included are 210-pound tackle and place-kicker Wade Deal and backs Gary Morgan and Larry Nitzel.

Brighton always has a big team and this year is no exception. At least four 200-pounders will be on the line. Backs are the chief problem.

Lynn Nutter has moved up from assistant to head man at Clarenceville where he has three starting backs. A welcome returnee is Doug Hanaford, who was lost in early practice due to an injury in 1958.

The forecast:

1. Northville
2. West Bloomfield
3. Brighton
4. Clarkston
5. Holly
6. Milford
7. Bloomfield Hills
8. Clarenceville

Pontiac Northern in the Inter-Lakes and Royal Oak Kimball in the Eastern Michigan are the two new entries in area football leagues this season.

Bloomfield Hills Rebuilding

Hillsmen Have Nine Lettermen to Start 1959

Opener Friday Night Is at Home Against Oak Park

It's a rebuilding year at Bloomfield Hills but no one is counting the Barons out of the Wayne-Oakland race this early.

Part of the reason is that head coach Don Hoff has a small but sound nucleus consisting of five talented performers among nine returning lettermen.

The Barons won four and lost three a year ago for a 4th place finish in the rugged eight-team loop and were successful in their only outside game for a fine 5-3 season.

A few breaks in the opening weeks of play might enable the Hillites to have another successful season with some of the youngsters expected to come along by the middle of the schedule.

★ ★ ★

Bloomfield has another eight-game slate carded starting with Oak Park at home Friday. All other tilts will be in the league.

Other home action will be against Brighton, Milford and Holly in 3:30 p.m. contests on Fridays. Road games will be at night.

Despite the graduation of such standouts as Doug Danziger and John Paige, Hoff hopes to have another capable backfield unit built around hard-hitting fullback Don Hays, Bigg Jones and Mark Miller.

A knee injury suffered by Hays while water skiing this summer has been acting up on him lately so he is a question mark until game time.

Rick Clark will probably get the nod at quarterback with Don Carlson and soph Art Tregenza also ready for duty there. Clark has also been drilling at halfback and may start there.

Joe Krause, a transfer from Walled Lake, and Phil Berk are others slated to be doing some ball carrying.

Heading the boys up front will be veteran guard Jack Kelchner and end Howard Scheunaman. Kelchner, a 185-pounder, made the Press All-County Class B team in 1958 and will be starting his 3rd season. Scheunaman is the biggest member of the squad at 6-5, 190.

Experienced hand Ken Tregenza is expected to handle the other guard position. Jack Bedell, 185, has the inside track on one of the tackle berths.

Manning the other flank opposite Scheunaman opening day will be Barry Armstrong. Rowe Ballman appears set at center.

★ ★ ★

Hoff is hoping a victory 1st time out will give his newcomers the needed confidence to keep improving from week to week expecting no easy Fridays along the way.

Hal Trott and Chuck Robinson are again assisting the popular Hoff in getting the Barons ready and will continue on the staff throughout the fall.

Country Day Will Open Friday in Maumee, Ohio

Detroit County Day will be among the 1st Oakland County grid teams to play a football game taking part in an afternoon contest at Maumee, Ohio and new skipper Dick Anderson is pushing hard to make it a successful debut.

His chief problem has been in the line where only two starters are back from a unit which paved the way for Blue Jacket backs in gaining a 3rd place finish in the Central Suburban League. One of the pair is 237-pound tackle Bill Jones.

Anderson expects to have a solid backfield featuring three-year vet Tom Derleth, a 190-pound fullback, and speedy Jerry Jaffe.

The Class D Birmingham area eleven finished 3-5 overall a year ago. Country Day fans think Anderson can reverse those figures.

Lamphere Seeks Top Grid Year in Third Season

Some big sophomores and a deadly passer could give Madison Lamphere its best football aggregation in the school's 3rd year of competition.

Likeable head coach Joe Borovick is building his offense around aerialist Ken Kowalski with John Hawkins slated to handle much of the running chores.

Lamphere compiled a 2-5 record in 1958.

Major Changes in 2 Prep Grid Rules for 1959

There are two major rule changes to watch for in high school football this fall.

One provides that any yardage assessment for a penalty or combination of penalties within the 30-yard line can carry the ball only half the distance to the goal line. Previously, penalties down to the one-yard line were possible.

The other—described as a safety regulation — provides that when time out is called for a player injury the player must miss at least one play.

Two Top Scorers

Two of Oakland County's outstanding individual scorers of 1958 will be back romping the gridirons starting Friday. Harvey Chapman of Farmington finished 3rd with 79 points and speed-merchant Jack Newton of West Bloomfield had 60 for 8th.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Linebacker Leo Sanford was placed on the retirement list by the Baltimore Colts Sunday at his request because of a lame leg.

Sanford hurt a knee last season and had it operated on twice. It failed to win approval of Colt doctors in recent workouts so Sanford asked to be put on the inactive list.

Beginning in 1961, the Saginaw Valley Conference will expand from six teams to nine. The new members will be Bay City Handy, Midland and Flint Southwestern.

West Bloomfield Eleven Still 'Loaded'

Lakers Capable of Bettering Big '58 Effort

John Lucadum Gone but Scoring Attack Is Still Strong

With the great John Lucadam finally out of their hair, rivals of West Bloomfield may be thinking of easy times ahead in meeting the Lakers.

If so, somebody will be in for a shock during the coming weeks.

It looks like Art Paddy is coming up with another high-powered offensive unit as the Lakers try again to end the domination of Northville in the Wayne-Oakland League.

"Our offense has been looking good. It just needs polishing now," commented the veteran coach today.

* * *

His main worry is defense just as it was in 1958 when the Keego eleven piled up 208 points while allowing 112 in eight games.

The Lakers had a good workout in a scrimmage with Orchard Lake St. Mary recently in preparation for a rugged opener Saturday night against St. Michael at Wisner Stadium.

Paddy has the excellent combination of speed, size and experience on his starting unit with depth his key problem.

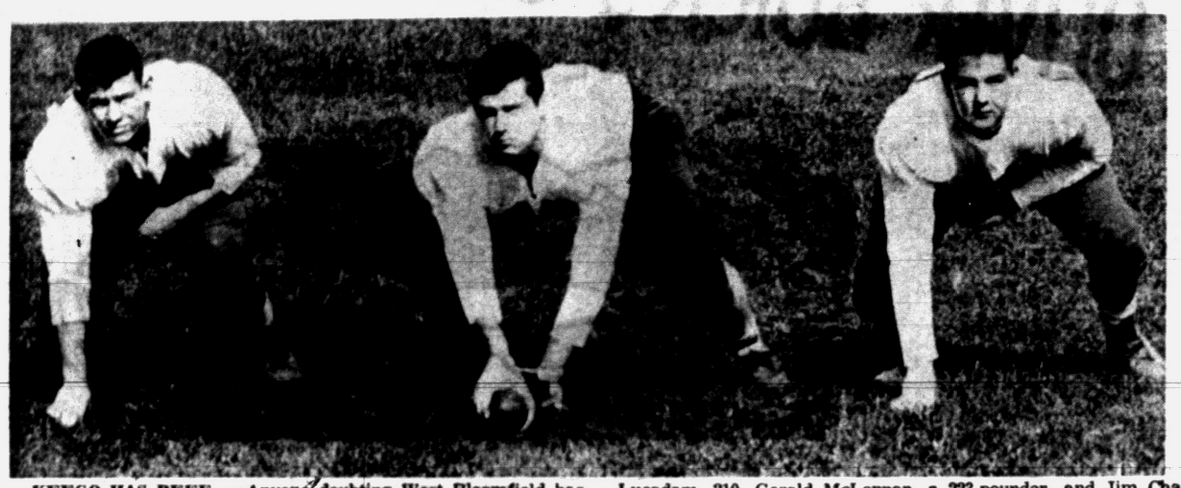
* * *

Dennis Alix, who shifted from end the few times Lucadam was out of action last fall, will be going full time at quarterback directing such talented runners as Jack Newton, Tom Moran and Wayne Ross.

Center Gerry McLennan, who weighs in at 229, little veteran Tom Leggat, and other 200-pounders Jim Lucadam and Jim Chamberlain appear headed for big seasons as linemen.

Lucadam and Chamberlain will team at tackles. Leggat is set at one guard with the other to be any one of four boys—Dennis Marinack, Mike Shuttleworth, Waterford transfer Bob Akerley and Jeff Pries, a newcomer from Maryland. All have been nursing injuries. Jim Randall and John Long may open at ends.

West Bloomfield's only setback in 1958 was a one-pointer to Northville. Laker fans can hardly wait for Oct. 16 when the Mustangs visit Keego.



KEEGO HAS BEEF — Anyone doubting West Bloomfield has some size on its football team this year can learn differently by looking at these offensive linemen. They are, left to right, Jim Lucadam, 210, Gerald McLennan, a 223-pounder, and Jim Chamberlain.

DANGEROUS DUO — Two boys West Bloomfield opponents must stop if they plan to knock over the Lakers this fall are halfback Jack Newton, left, and fullback Tom Moran. The speedy Newton scored 10 TDs last fall. Moran came around late in the year and has been sharp in pre-season workouts.

Gridders of All Sizes

It takes all kinds of players to make a football team.

From a glance at rosters of area prep squads some interesting observations have resulted, as the new season swings into action this week.

Big guys?

By the score, mates. They run up to 6-6 in altitude, bend the scale beams all the way to 285 hefty pounds, and that's a lot of avoirdupois, even for a collegian.

At the other extreme, they could walk under the arm of a big fellow and barely move the beam over 100 pounds.

To add some rare spice to the collection, they come as identical twins.

Probably the biggest bundle of behemoth in Pontiac is St. Michael's huge tackle, Fred Lauinger at 6-2 and 267. "Highest" big boy is Clarkston's junior tackle, Dick Valentine, 6-6 and 252. Milford has tackle Merle Gidley, 6 foot, 230, and Armada's guard Gary Calatioto, at 265 pounds, could be top heavyweight for the area.

Brighton's Gene Dundas, a center, is 228. Detroit Country Day has tackle Bill Jones at 237 and St. Frederick has Dick Walsh, soph tackle at 236.

A 4-11 halfback is St. Frederick's Fred Medina, a 103 pounder. Ol. St. Mary offers 5-footer Tom Summers at 110.

Two pairs of twins are Dan and Dave Kochanek, OLSM guards from Livonia, and Southfield's backs, Jerry and Terry Odom who will be regulars this season.

New Coaches Debut Friday at Holly, Milford

Grand Blanc Broncos' 1st Foe Under Figg

Former Chippewa Ace Will Use Multiple Offense

I'm not optimistic but then again I'm not pessimistic," were the words of Holly's coach Ray Figg looking forward to his opening game as a head coach Friday night at Grand Blanc.

The former star lineman at Central Michigan realizes he is stepping right into fast company in the Wayne-Oakland League.

Most of his key boys have been varsity reserve or jayvee players in the past who are now getting a chance at starting roles with most of the "name" lads gone.

Guard Karl Richter and tackle Mel Reid are among the "old hands" still around.

★ ★ ★

The Broncos suffered a severe early blow when hard-running back Ted Wagner was sidelined with a torn cartilage. He may be out from three to four weeks.

Bob Harmes is the most experienced of Holly's probable starting backfield for Friday. He will be opening at halfback with Al Moody. Bob Ennis will handle quarterback and Gil Gray fullback.

Otis Truxton, the center, guard Frank Garner, Owen Bird, a tackle, and ends Don McKenzie and Roger Hall will round out the starting unit.

Figg is going with the multiple offense hoping to make good use of his speed.

★ ★ ★

Opening with Grand Blanc and following with Northville is a rugged task for the new coach with a young team. But victories in both outings or even a split would be a big start.

A similar arrangement in 1958 resulted in the Broncos getting off to a tough start en route to a 4-5 season and 5th place finish.

Ex-MHS Star Ganzel May Have Contender

Good Balance Could Get Redskins Off to Good Start

A fellow who looks at everything from the bright side is Milford's new grid pilot Jerry Ganzel.

Although he is making his debut in the rough Wayne-Oakland League, the popular Milford native is expressing no fear of such highly-rated powers as Northville and West Bloomfield.

Ganzel realizes games are won on the field and not on paper and he has been pleased with the way his Milford Redskins have been progressing from day to day.

MHS has good size and enough experience to cause some anxious moments for everyone around the league.

There are no stars to compare with the Pat Kelleys or John Zeemans but this may be the best balanced 'skin eleven in recent years.

The know-how Jerry Reis gained at the quarterback post last fall is expected to pay off starting Friday against Avondale.

He will be starting there with swifties Gene Schuett and Ed Kaiser at the halves and 200-pound Jim Hartwick at fullback.

Six-footers Bob Roselle and Bill Howard will be the chief targets for Reis' aerials.

The behemoth of the No. 1 line is 230-pound Merle Gidley at tackle, Keith Goodwin, the other tackle, weighs 205. Bill Bond and Jim Kauppi are set at the guards while Fred Weisman will snap the ball back.

Several of Ganzel's second-team members have played some varsity ball so he should have good depth, especially in the line.

A good reason for the optimism of the former Milford and Western Michigan passing ace is that the only place his team can go is up. He was an assistant last year when the Redskins were 0-7-1.

Callison, Waite Lead Dragons Into New Year

Kownacki's Rebuilding Program Gets Test Friday

Frank Kownacki moved into the head coaching job at Lake Orion at the worst possible time last year but he is hoping things will take a turn for the better during the next several weeks.

It was bad enough following a coach who had been league champion. But the Pennsylvania coach also had to start a rebuilding campaign when most of the top performers either graduated or were sidelined or hindered by injuries.

He feels the Dragons will be back in the grid limelight before too long although no great things are predicted for his charges during 1959.

Lake Orion is young and lacking in experience at every position except tackle where Kownacki can stack his duo of Dean Callison and Ross Waite up against most any pair in the area.

★ ★ ★

The likeable skipper has been doing a lot of experimenting trying to get the top 11 players in action at the same time.

Some of his boys will have to be football Yankees learning to be able to play different positions.

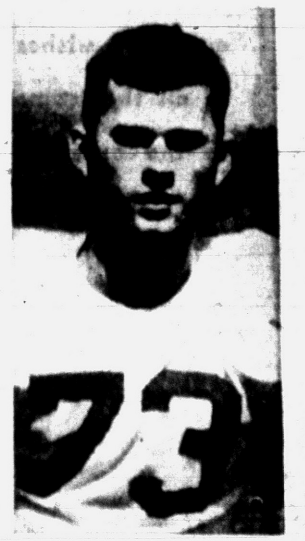
Lake Orion's main aim this year will be to try to climb out of the Oakland B cellar following the opener against Pontiac Northern.

★ ★ ★

The only set starters thus far besides the star tackles are Roger Williams, guards Keith Brodkerb and Don Julien, halfback Gary Hunter. Rog Williams will open at either end or quarterback.

If it is end Carlos Williams will call the signals. If it is at the QB slot, Larry Thompson will team with Jim Schultz at ends, Jim Downey or Bud Bass will open at center with Dave Julien or Tim Alban at fullback.

That confusing arrangement may have the opposition befuddled for awhile.



DRAGON END — Jim Schultz will be a starting end when the Dragons of Lake Orion debut Friday in a non-league tilt preceding the Oakland B race.

Emmanuel, Others Will Open Grid Seasons Soon

Another future Pontiac High School football team has arranged five games for the coming season in junior play.

Emmanuel Christian will play St. Benedict, St. Michael, St. Frederick, Rochester and Ortonville.

The school hopes to land one more contest.

Meanwhile, many other grid teams in various age groups are preparing for the coming years.

These include the junior high teams throughout the city and county area, the Birmingham Little Leaguers, Pontiac Pee-Wee gridders and Walled Lake Beavers of the All-American League.

Avondale 'Cinderella' of '58

Jackets Ready to Pull Another Surprise Year

Three Starting Backs Graduated From Title Team of 1958

A defending champion is always on the spot and that's right where the Avondale Yellowjackets are as they get ready for another football campaign in the Oakland B.

Frank Crowell, Oakland County's "Coach-of-the-Year" last season, has been experimenting during workouts trying to overcome the loss of three starting backs and such line stalwarts as Bill Jennings and Tom Greenlees.

He should have another sturdy forward wall featuring 195-pound Walt Cooley at tackle, tackle Fred Krupp, center Bob Benedict, who tips the scales at 185, and glue-fingered end Herb Harris.

Harris, Cooley and hustling quarterback Dick Smith are the co-captains of the Jackets.

Swift Sid Blomberg and Jim McDonald will be in the starting backfield with Smith Friday at Milford along with either Otto Jancik or Bud Peel. Jancik has had muscle trouble in his legs.

Rounding out the line will be either Bruce Killian or Jim Malane at guard, Terry Rowe at tackle and either Tom Selhost or Darryl Thorpe at the other end opposite Harris.

Avondale fans may be expecting too much of their favorites this fall and run into a slight letdown after last year's "Cinderella" finish following a slow start.

* * *

The opener will have to go some to match the 1958 skirmish between Avon and Milford when the Crowellmen came from behind to triumph 14-13.

They appear evenly matched again. Avondale has the edge on veteran starters and speed while Milford has the more overall experience and greater size.

Skippers Have Yet to Defeat Central

Waterford High School is still looking for its first football victory over Pontiac Central in their heated but very young rivalry.

The Skippers will try for that elusive first win again this Friday night when they clash with the Chiefs for the fourth time under the lights at Wisner Stadium in the season opener for both schools.

They met on the Waterford gridiron last year and the Chiefs triumphed, 26-0. Central's previous wins were 24-6 in 1955 and 39-0 in 1954, both at Wisner.

Coaches calling the Press Sports Department with scores please use night number, FE 2-0194.

READY FOR MILFORD — The three key men in the Avondale line when the Jackets open at Milford Friday night are expected to be, left to right, Walt Cooley, Bob Benedict and Fred Krupp. Cooley is a 195 pound senior tackle, Benedict is a 185 pound senior center and Krupp is a 178 pound senior tackle.

CARRYING THE MAIL — Little halfback Sid Blomberg hopes to do a lot of running this year in the Avondale offensive attack as the Yellowjackets seek a repeat as Oakland B champions.

BULLDOG BOLTS — Veteran Tom Meyer is expected to be a thorn in the side of Romeo opponents all season as a standout ballcarrier.

Troy and Clawson May Be Top Threats to Avon

Troy and Clawson gave Avondale the most trouble a year ago and the same is expected to be true when the Oakland B war resumes following Friday's non-league games.

Rookie coach Bob McElreath expects to be depending on 12 boys for most of work with star back Dave Stokes and tough little guard Chuck Steele among the missing. Troy was 5-3 in its final season under Joe Bechard.

Clawson is rated the leading contender to drop Avon off the top perch since Bob Acton has a dozen lettermen including such line aces as Jim Thomas, Chuck Harding and Tom Davis. His backfield will be light with a big hole to fill since his kid brother Newt is now among the alumni.

Madison matched Clawson at 4-3-1 overall and 2-2-1 in the league and should improve with 19 experienced hands. Fitzgerald and Lake Orion are expected to be better balanced.

The forecast:
1. Avondale
2. Clawson
3. Troy
4. Madison
5. Lake Orion
6. Fitzgerald

Rochester After 100th Win for Coach

Falcons Open '59 Campaign With Davison

Veteran RHS Coach Has Lightest Unit in Many Years

Friday night will be the happiest night of Gene Konley's coaching career if his Rochester Falcons can come out on the winning side of the ledger in their 1959 opener against Davison at home.

A victory that night would give the veteran tutor a total of 100 triumphs in the grid sport.

Reaching the century mark in that opener may not be too easy as Konley says Davison has "a veteran club." The Falcons bowed in their annual meeting a year ago by the margin of five points.

Rochester had a rare losing season in football last fall finishing 3-5 although runnerup in the Tri-County League with 2-1.

★ ★ ★

Most of the top performers from that team were lost through graduation so Konley and his staff have had their work cut out in pre-season drills.

Besides the inexperience problem, RHS has one of its lightest squads in many years. The only 200 pounder on the team will not be in the starting lineup.

Rochester fans will have several new names to get used to this fall with such fellows as Dave Hecht, Chuck Ebersole and Ted Knapp gone from the prep ranks.

★ ★ ★

Konley has the makings of a hard-running backfield in halfbacks Reggie Dixon and Joe McDaniels and fullback Don Lickert. John Cadieux and Bill Dineen will shore the quarterback duties.

Dixon, McDaniels and Cadieux all gained valuable experience last season. Lickert is a converted guard while Dineen is playing varsity ball for the 1st time as a senior with only junior high background.

Except for the important center slot which may not be decided until game time, the RHS line is set after some shifting around during workouts.

Jim Thompson and Jeff Brown are the ends. Sid Sutherland and Dwight Swords are ready to go at tackles. John Mitchell and Garry Dufour are the guards.

Romeo Tri-County Darkhorse

SHARPENING UP — Lot of stress has been placed on blocking at Rochester as the Falcons prepare for another grid year in hopes of rebounding from a 3-5 season in 1958. Shown giving a blocking dummy a jolt here is tackle Sid Sutherland. Trying to hold it upright are John Mitchell, left, a guard, and tackle Dwight Swords (39).

A flip of a coin may be the best way to pick the favorite in the Tri-County League this year as the four teams conclude drills for Friday's non-loop lidlifters.

★ ★ ★

The top trio of 1958 — Lapeer, Rochester and Romeo — could finish in that order or in any other arrangement unless L'Anse Creuse is improved enough to give the others trouble. That would really make it an interesting race.

Play in the Tri-County does not actually get under way until Oct. 9 giving each coach three games to get a look at his charges. Predictions on the final standings might come a lot easier after those "warm-ups."

All four get into action along with most of the rest of the prep elevens in Michigan Friday.

★ ★ ★

Rochester will host its annual opening day foe Davison, Romeo goes to Richmond, Lapeer plays annual Saginaw Valley power Bay City Central and L'Anse Creuse battles Fraser.

Gene Konley at Rochester has a big rebuilding campaign going and may be the darkhorse of the race.

Romeo could be a good pick as a pre-season darkhorse although the Bulldogs won only one of three league outings last fall.

★ ★ ★

Coach Ed Battani is missing such talented backs as Ray Ritter and Charley Peterson among 15 departed lettermen but he still has 12 experienced hands to work with.

A rugged backfield is expected to include Bob Galan, a 190-pound fullback, 193-pound quarterback Ron Schmidt and halfback Tom Meyer, who goes 175.

Tall Jim Black seems a certainty at one end. Howard Grimes, Ted Theil and Mike McKeough will all likely see considerable action at the other slot.

★ ★ ★

The center of the line is well fortified with 207-pounder Jim Ritter set at the snap-back post and John Braun at one guard.

But it is hard to count Lapeer out if for no better reason than the fact the Trojans are defending champions.

Lapeer won its three Tri-County starts and all nine games on the schedule a year ago so that school must be ranked high again.

★ ★ ★

Veteran coach Jack Fitzpatrick saw the majority of his key performers get their diplomas last spring. The group included his high-scoring duo of Bob Stevens and Butch McKellen.

Stevens paced the county area in scoring with 83 points while McKellen had 73. All the other LHS standouts are gone.

Heading the returnees are quarterback Don LeDuc, halfback Rich Mulholland, Dave Flemming, a big center, and lineman Bob Kennedy.

L'Anse Creuse is still seeking its initial triumph in loop play. The gridders from the Mt. Clemens area managed to gain two victories in eight games.

Oxford Gunning for Title

Wildcats Top Choice in SCC Duel for Honors

Stott and Company Favored to Be Chief Threat to Imlay

The Oxford Wildcats are gunning for a football championship this fall—the South Central Conference one, that is.

Imlay City has been the loop's perennial power and should be strong again but Oxford is rated a top threat to change all that.

Coach Dick Figg and his staff have been pleased with the progress of their gridders.

Oxford made an impressive showing in a weekend scrimmage with Holly sparked by the ball-toting of big Doug Stott.

A strong showing in Friday's opener against well-balanced Clarkston could send the Figgmen off and running to a big year.

Stott, Val Sausser, Jeff Brady and Jim Casey will form the OHS backfield Friday behind a line anchored by vets Frank Hardgrove and Dave Skibowski.

Ends Norm Williams and Dick Miller, John Kamm, Doug Kennedy and Nate Hall will complete the starting lineup.

Oxford lost only to Imlay in a game bid to go all the way in 1958 and was 4-1 overall.

STOTT ON TROT — Big things are expected of Oxford back Doug Stott and the Wildcat team in general during the coming campaign opening up Friday.

MOVING ON — Operating from a halfback position for Ortonville in its opener against Goodrich will be junior Lee Hotchkiss.

Ortonville Among SCC Threats to Imlay City

Imlay City is being considered the South Central Conference football favorite once again but it's only by a slight margin this time.

Oxford and Ortonville appear set to give the Spartans a busy time as are North Branch and Millington.

The way the new schedule works out — some teams will meet each other twice — may actually decide the 1959 champion.

Making Imlay the top choice comes naturally since that school is defending champion and the loop's perennial power. But most of its top boys of last fall departed at graduation time so this could be the year the Spartans "can be had."

★ ★ ★

Ron Johnson lost All-Conference quarterback Pat McNulty and some good linemen but he has a capable nucleus of 10 lettermen.

Backs Lee Hotchkiss and Doug Moors, and Earl Richardson and hard-hitting Jim Frahm are among the key Blackhawks to watch.

North Branch has good size headed by line stars Dick Winslow at 210 and Bill Fricke, 200. Fullback Jim Mikulski appears headed for a good season.

★ ★ ★

Millington is certain to hold its own and may surprise the entire league with some early breaks and the rapid development of newcomers.

Ortonville opens at home against Goodrich, Oxford duels Clarkston, Imlay goes to Almont and North Branch entertains Marlette Friday.

The forecast:
1. Imlay City
2. Oxford
3. North Branch
4. Ortonville
5. Millington

Swinehart's 18th Season at Utica

Starting his 18th year at the helm, Utica football coach Barney Swinehart is pushing his boys hard in an effort to top last year's record of three victories.

One of the major problems has been finding a replacement for departed quarterback Dennis Schneider.

The veteran skipper has been building his team around 10 lettermen while getting ready for Friday's opener at Lincoln Warren.

Brent Holland has been handling the quarterback berth while Jim Roney is certain to be among the ballcarriers. Linemen include Thurland, Hitchcock, the center, and end Jim Orlowsky.

Swinehart's boys upset Warren when it was heading the pack in the Bi-County League and also turned the tables on a favored Romeo eleven last fall to stir up some area excitement.

Outstanding brochures have been turned out by the coaching staffs of Avondale and Bay City Central. Others should copy.

Thumb Race Will Start After Friday's Tuneups

The Southern Thumb teams get in the annual opening night "tune-ups" Friday and then swing into the championship schedule Sept. 25.

A league consensus would likely show Almont as the favorite again although the Raiders have a new coach in Dale Otto.

Dryden is expected to be improved and battling for recognition along with all the others in trying to bring Almont's domination to a halt.

Dryden has 17 lettermen back from the 1958 fifth-placers and some promising newcomers. Backs Ed Brecht and Carl Grondin and center Leo Andea are among the vets.

Three - year performers Terry Wills, Dewey Schramm and Wayne Washburn and 5-10, 265-pound Gary Calatioto should give Armada a strong line. Quarterback Jerry Synder will direct the Brown City attack behind what should be a capable line.

Rival Coaches Peg Birmingham in EML

Seaholm High Gridders Look Tough in '59

Fleet-Footed Backfield, Big Forward Wall Boost Maple Hopes

Although he hates to admit it, Birmingham football coach Carl Lemle shyly confesses that his rival coaches in the Eastern Michigan League have his Maple pegged as the ones to beat this season.

"I know we're favored by some of the other coaches," Lemle said, "but East Detroit should be pretty strong this season and you can't look past Port Huron, the defending champion."

Lemle is undoubtedly correct in his observation and he also forgot to mention Ferndale, which has a flock of returning letter winners, and Royal Oak Kimball, making its official gridiron debut in the EML.

Be that as it may, the Maples still must be rated at or near the top of the EML heap in pre-season crystal ball gazing.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Seaholm High School, the enlarged moniker for the Maples now that the new Groves school has joined the educational ranks, won the league crown for the first and only time in 1955.

The roof caved in after that and not until last season did the Maples start the climb back up the ladder. They wound up in 2nd place and held champion Port Huron to a 19-19 tie on the latter's field in the final league game.

Lemle figures to have a big but green line averaging about 190 pounds and a strong, fleet-footed backfield averaging around 175.

★ ★ ★

A dozen lettermen are wearing Maple togs, headed by big Phil Isbell, Sam Reeve, George Forrest, Bob Kling, Tom Moonen and Boyd Mayhew, all regulars last season.

Forrest is moving from halfback to quarterback and Reeve, a powerhouse runner, will hold down the fullback post. The halfbacks are expected to be Steve Jacobson and Chuck Hartung, a pair of speedsters with great breakaway abilities.

Isbell, who stands 6-2 and scales 215, is being changed from end to tackle this fall and the big fellow will be the anchor of the forward wall. Lemle also looks for considerable help from Kling and Leigh Stowell at tackles and Moonen and Mayhew in end spots.

The Maples open their 1959 season this Friday night at Birmingham against Cranbrook.

Here is the expected order of finish in the Eastern Michigan League:

1. Birmingham
2. Royal Oak Kimball
3. Ferndale
4. Port Huron
5. East Detroit
6. Mt. Clemens
7. Hazel Park

Cranes Tough Foe for Maples

Cranbrook has seldom beaten Birmingham Seaholm in their traditional football battle, but one thing is always certain—the Cranes will let the Maples know that they have really been in a ball game.

The unexpected is always the expected when the Cranes and Birmingham get together on the gridiron and Cranbrook hopes to have more of the same in store for the Maples this Friday night in the 1959 curtain-raiser.

As Cranbrook coach Fred Campbell views the situation, thing are bound to improve for his gridders.

★ ★ ★

They can't get much worse than last year when his legions won only one contest and finished in the basement in the Inter-State League.

Bolstering Campbell's hopes for a revival of his forces will be the return of 10 letter winners.

Heading the list is quarterback Bill Mosher, a 145-pound senior with good all-around talents.

Halfbacks Jim Williams and Larry Weis, tackle Tod Williams, guard Roger Rothenburger and rangy end John Hayden are other seasoned performers ready for full-time duty.

★ ★ ★

Fullback Tom Demrick and guard Bill Angel have been impressive in early practice and so has Pete Thingstadt, a 6-foot 4-inch, 190-pound tackle.

Colts, Giants Picked as Division Champions

Red Hot Race Seen in NFL

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Those who have followed professional football know how unpredictable it has been to forecast any single game on a given Sunday.

It is even more unpredictable trying to pick a National Football League champion from one year to the next inasmuch as only three times in pro history has there been a repeat champion in two successive seasons.

The Philadelphia Eagles were the World's Champions in 1948 and 1949. Detroit did it in 1952 and 1953 and Cleveland followed in 1954 and 1955 with successive World titles.

On numerous occasions, Eastern or Western Division champions have fallen from the top to the bottom in one season.

★ ★ ★

This was the fate of the Lions who won the Western division crown in 1954 and finished in the cellar in 1955.

Every coach in professional football admits it is a tough task to repeat as divisional champions in successive seasons.

This for one reason, is why forecasters of the 1959 NFL race see the Los Angeles Rams replacing the Baltimore Colts as Western Division and NFL champions.

★ ★ ★

There is no doubt the Rams have the "horses" this year with the addition of Ollie Matson in the backfield to go with Jon Arnett, Ron Miller, Tom Wilson and Billy Wade.

How about the champion Colts? Well, there's Johnny Unitas, Ray Berry, Lenny Moore, Alan Ameche and L. G. Dupre along with a strong offensive forward wall.

★ ★ ★

This writer picked the Colts to go all the way last year and they did it by holding the top position right from the start when they whipped the Lions, 28-15, in the opener at Baltimore.

One thing pro fans have learned is never to discount the Chicago Bears. Like the Lions' in 1958, injuries hurt the Bears especially when top receivers like Harlon Hill and Jim Dooley were lost early in the season.

Coach George Halas hasn't had too many bad seasons with the Bears whose reputation for rough, tough football is common knowledge in pro circles.

★ ★ ★

The Lions will need an injury-free season and the return to form of John Henry Johnson. Rookie Nick Pietrosante, a fullback and lineman, and Mike Rabold and Bob Grottkau at guards must make the grade if the Lions hope to return to the prominence they enjoyed in 1957.

The 49ers are rebuilding with some highly rated newcomers to go with Y. A. Tittle, John Brodie, Hugh McElhenny and Joe Perry and the Green Bay Packers are doing the same.

Vince Lombardi, new Packer coach got some help in trades by obtaining Bill Quinlan, Lew Carpenter and Lamar McHan.

★ ★ ★

In the Eastern Division, a real dogfight should take place. Cleveland, a perennial choice, has Jimmy Brown but coach Paul Brown has the fear that Jim Ninowski may not give him the quarterbacking he likes.

The Giants are floating with quarterbacks and that defensive line hasn't lost its poise if exhibition games offer any indications.

Then there is Buddy Parker, Bobby Layne and Tom Tracy who guided the Steelers to six straight wins to close the 1958 season, and also the rookie laden Chicago Cards who should cause plenty of alarm.

The Eagles should score plenty of points but will give away plenty and the Washington Redskins are boasting their biggest team in size in many years.

Put all these factors together and another red hot NFL season should get underway September 27th.

Here's how we see the division races.

WESTERN DIVISION	EASTERN DIVISION
1. Baltimore Colts	1. New York Giants
2. Los Angeles Rams	2. Pittsburgh Steelers
3. Chicago Bears	3. Chicago Cardinals
4. Detroit Lions	4. Cleveland Browns
5. San Francisco 49ers	5. Philadelphia Eagles
6. Green Bay Packers	6. Washington Redskins

1959 Lions? If—Maybe and But!

With the addition of Alaska to the Union, Texas is no longer our largest state.

For the Detroit Lions, however, Texas still is as big a factor as it has been for the past years.

★ ★ ★

In many great years from 1950 to 1957 a Texas field general named Bobby Layne guided the Lions to their greatest heights in professional football.

With the departure of Layne, the fate of the Lions still has remained in the hands of another Texan—Tobin Rote.

Rote followed Layne in 1957 in great style by quarterbacking Detroit to the championship. Last year Rote and a large number of his teammates were plagued with injuries and the Lions fell to a 4-7-1 mark.

★ ★ ★

Now the question for the 1959 season is: Can Rote come back? success won't be that easy however.

Rote could do it IF the offensive line can give him a wall of protection which it often failed to do last year.

The offensive line could do it, MAYBE. But again IF the Lions get the needed help from the rookies.

★ ★ ★

Rote has the receivers, however there are more "ifs" and "buts" with which to contend.

The running game could click, BUT John Henry Johnson must look like the ball carrier he was in 1957.

The "ifs" in this case are Nick Pietrosante and Danny Lewis. IF they come through, this could very well be the best Lions' backfield unit in several years.

The Lions' schedule is even full of "buts." They play five of their first seven games on the road, opening at Baltimore Sept. 27th, and then a home return with the Colts, Oct. 11th.

Coach George Wilson figures that a split with the "big three" of the Bears and Rams—is almost a necessity IF the Lions are to make a bid this year.

Pro Football Has Greatest Sports Growth

Professional football has won the hearts of American sports fans.

No spectator sport in the country has grown as rapidly as the National Football League in the past 10 years.

Every year since the old All-American Conference and the National Football League merged in 1949, attendance figures continued to rise and for the first time in 1958 the total attendance surpassed the 3,000,000 mark.

These are the NFL attendance records since 1950:

1950	1,077,556	(78 games)
1951	1,913,019	(72 games)
1952	2,052,126	(72 games)
1953	2,164,585	(72 games)
1954	2,190,571	(72 games)
1955	2,521,836	(72 games)
1956	2,551,623	(72 games)
1957	2,836,318	(72 games)
1958	3,006,124	(72 games)

Michigan Rated in Low Status of Big 10 Race

Elliott Installs New Winged T Formation in Debut as Coach

The 1958 season was hard to swallow for those who "Hail the Victors" every Saturday afternoon at Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

For the University of Michigan, losing seasons have been uncommon. Last year was one of those uncommon seasons.

The Wolverines had their first losing campaign since 1951 and only their second since 1936.

To make matters worse, the 2-7-1 record was the poorest in 23 years.

On that basis, the prognosticators of college football offer little encouragement as far as the 1959 season is concerned.

★ ★ ★

Not one forecaster has picked U. of M. to finish out of the second division of the Big Ten and very few have allotted anything higher than 7th to the Wolverines.

★ ★ ★

But this is a new era for Michigan.

Under Harry Kipke for nine years there were four conference champions. Fritz Crisler was at the helm 10 years with two championship teams and not a losing season.

Benny Oosterbaan had the reins for 11 years and had three title teams.

★ ★ ★

Now it's Bump Elliott's turn. Each succeeding coach added a year to the coaching helm. This gives Elliott 12 to go.

Injuries played havoc with the 1958 team and early pre-season drills started out the same way. But now Elliott is displaying a little more optimism and his newly installed Winged T may offer more surprises than may catch the imagination of the forecasters.

A sound quarterback is Elliott's big concern and presently Stan Noskin looks like the man to fill the bill.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County products are expected to play an important role in the 1959 plans.

John Walker, the county's "Outstanding Player" in 1957 is top candidate at fullback. Darrell Harper, a Royal Oak senior, was a regular as a junior at halfback last year.

★ ★ ★

Sophomores Hewitt Hornbeck, Royal Oak end; Bill Tunnicliff, Ferndale fullback, and Todd Grant, Southfield center, will gain varsity experience this year.

The Wolverines open at home against Missouri, Sept. 26th.

Spartans' '59 Card Toughest for Daugherty

Four Title Contenders of Big Ten Listed on Schedule

Picked as a title contender in 1958, the Spartans from East Lansing never came close to their billing. They finished last in the Big Ten.

★ ★ ★

Coach Duffy Daugherty was dismayed at the high ranking MSU received prior to the 1958 kickoff. He was even more dismayed when that highly rated team failed to win a conference game.

This year none of the forecasts are building the Spartans for any great things and for the first time in many pre-season predictions Michigan State isn't even found among the top 20.

This suits Daugherty just fine. The Spartans undertake what is probably one of their toughest schedules since entering the Big Ten.

Iowa, Ohio State, Purdue and Northwestern, four of the top contenders for the conference title are on the 1959 schedule along with Notre Dame, Michigan, Texas A&M, Miami and Indiana.

The player expected to guide the Spartans through these gridiron wars is quarterback Dean Look who has been an outstanding performer at halfback for two years.

With him in the backfield is veteran Blanche Martin, highly regarded by Daugherty as one of his finest backs.

As it appears now, a face familiar to area grid fans is touted as the prize sophomore catch. Gary Ballman, all around athlete from East Detroit is given a very good chance of startin gat halfback and if it means anything he will be wearing number 14 which brings back memories of many great Spartan names like All-Americans Lynn Chandnois and Walt Kowalczyk.

Ballman led East Detroit to the Eastern Michigan League title three years ago by scoring 23 touchdowns and 12 extra points. He is well remembered, especially by fans in the Birmingham area who faced him.

A Pontiac St. Mike product Jerry Ohngren is given a good chance of breaking into the lineup as a sophomore linebacker. Ohngren was an outstanding defensive player at St. Mikes.

This will be Daugherty's 6th season as head coach since taking the reins from Biggie Munn in 1954. He won only three of nine games in his first season but from 1955 through 1957 his teams won 24 and lost only four before last year's dismal 3-5-1 record.

The 1953 team whipped UCLA 28-20 in the 1954 Rose Bowl game and the 1955 squad repeated against UCLA 17-14 on Jan. 1st 1956.

Challenge for U-D Coach

University of Detroit, regarded as the state's third major football team, has laid its future in the hands of a man who has been regarded as one of the top exponents of gridiron defense.

★ ★ ★

Jim Miller built many of the well known Purdue defensive lines. He now has the task of rebuilding football at U. of D.

★ ★ ★

He inherited a good nucleus of lettermen from a disappointing 4-4-1 season of 1958, but very little depth is available.

He also inherited one of the school's tougher schedules this year and even a more difficult list of teams for the future.

★ ★ ★

Kentucky at home and Tulane and Tulsa on the road are the new additions this year to go with Marquette, Boston College, Villanova, George Washington and Xavier.

★ ★ ★

Next year the same schedule exists with the addition of Michigan State and possibly Miami or Holy Cross, and in 1961 Army and Navy on successive weekends appear to be reason enough as to why Miller has to build for the future.

Mainstay of the 1959 season is Bruce Maher a talented halfback who has already been picked in the pro draft by the Detroit Lions.

Former Orchard Lake St. Mary fullback Jerry Leszczynski is the top choice to start if he can stay away from leg injuries. Former Pontiac Central track ace Jim Shorter is a sophomore candidate in the backfield with Utica's Steve Stonebreaker as an end prospect.

★ ★ ★

The Titans open at home Friday night against George Washington of the Southern Conference.

SHAMROCK AT MSU — Former St. Michael's grid ace Jerry Ohngren is expected to see action with the Michigan State defensive unit this year. He is a sophomore linebacker at MSU.

Ex-Ram Star Opposes Freds

More than ordinary interest in a season's opening football contest attaches to the St. Frederick-Detroit St. Alphonsus setto on Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Many Rams' fans will be watching Dave Kline's St. Alphonsus eleven to see how well Kline has brought the Alphs along. Dave has taken over the Alphs' head-coaching job, this fall, his first as top mentor.

★ ★ ★

Kline is a former Ram quarterback graduating in 1949. He is also an ex-U. of D. quarterback of 1952-53. His last two years at St. Frederick were during current coach Tom Kennedy's tutelage.

It's Same as It Was

NEW YORK (UPI)—Soccer, considered the purest form of "football," comes down to present times in almost exactly the same form as when it was originated by Sparta in the days of ancient Greece.

Howdy Myers, coach of Hofstra at Hempstead, N. Y., shows a 75-38 record for 13 years as a college football mentor. His teams have played only two ties during that time.

Politics for a Lion

DETROIT (UPI)—Yale Lary, defensive halfback for the Detroit Lions, is a member of the Texas state legislature.
