Report Saud Cools Toward Ike Plan

Leaders Stand Firm on Israel Withdrawal Without Conditions

CAIRO (INS) — A high Arab official said today King Saud has "cooled considerably" toward President Eisenhower's Middle Eastern plan since leaving Washington.

The Saudi Arabian leader made his first preliminary report on his recent talks with the President during the opening morning session of the "Arab Big Four" nations meeting in Kubba palace.

The official informant said Saud privately expressed his "dissatisfaction" about American "negotiations" with the Israelis during the past ten days.

He added that Saud stands firmly with the other Arab leaders that there can be no conditions on an Israeli withdrawal from the Gulf of Aqaba and the Gaza Strip.

The official said Saud feels that despite the firm statements of President Eisenhower last week the Washington government now is "compromising" on the issue.

Informants close to the big four conference reported that no definite conference declaration on the "Eisenhower Doctrine" is expected at this week's meetings.

The leaders are awaiting the outcome of the U. N. debate on sanctions against Israel and the arrival of an "explanation and clarification" mission on the Eisenhower plan to resist any outright Red aggression and to aid Middle Eastern nations with economic funds.

The Arab official said:

"Whether the Arab states accept or reject the Eisenhower doctrine all depends on what the United States does about getting Israel out of Egypt. It is as simple as that.

"The Arab position is that if the United States cannot bring enough pressure to get the Israelis to

Pacific Gale Kills 3, Floods Oregon Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bristling Pacific storm with winds up to 158 miles an hour, barged into the West Coast over the weekend and killed three persons, flooded part of an Oregon city and grounded transocean air traffic.

Warm moisture-laden air from the Gulf of Mexico spread into the Midwest and brought relatively mild temperatures to the rest of the nation.

Continued rain was in prospect for the West Coast today, but without the furious winds.

The gale blasted parts of Washington state yesterday with gusts up to 158 miles an hour. The thawing wind melted snow on the slopes along the Powder River in eastern Oregon and about 40 homes in Baker were flooded.

Townsfolk and National Guardsmen battled the river with sandbags to protect the rest of Baker, a community of 9,500.

In southeastern Oregon the Malhour River was expected to crest today after flooding parts of Vale and surrounding areas. Sheriff John Elvering said the community was "virtually isolated" with 18 inches of water over U. S. Highway 20-26 between Vale and Ontario. Schools were closed.

In northern California, a 600-foot stretch of U. S. Highway 101—the main north-south artery—was blocked by a mudslide from 8 to 10 feet deep. More than 500 motorists were stranded at Willits.

A terrific gust felled a 125-foot fir tree near Grants Pass, Ore., and killed two foresters. A woman killed in Monterey, Calif., by a falling pine tree.

Auto Thief Suspect Nabbed After Chase

A suspected car thief was quietly captured today, Pontiac police said, but only after he first escaped in a dramatic chase shortly before noon.

Bennie Yennior, 40, of 25 Stowell St., gave up without resistance at his home and admitted, Det. Lt. William F. Nesbitt said, he had stolen a car six months ago in Detroit.

Yennior was traced to his home after he had slipped through police fingers near downtown Pontiac shortly before noon.

Trapped by five converging police cars on Auburn avenue near 11:30 a.m., the suspect abandoned his auto near Parke street and eluded capture by dashing on foot down Whittemore street.

Yennior first had tried to shake off a pursuing police car during a 10-minute chase at high speeds over a number of eastside streets, said Det. James LaPonsie, who became suspicious because of an irregularity in the car's license plate.

Weather to Bring Feeling of Spring

Pontiac's weather outlook for the next two days is exceptionally bright, with warm air from the Gulf of Mexico bringing this area unseasonably mild temperatures.

Showers and a high of 62 degrees are expected today, with the mercury resting on the 50-degree line tonight.

The high tomorrow again will be near 62.

Temperatures are expected to average about 8 degrees above normal for the next five days.

Preceding 8 a.m. this morning, downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature was 45 degrees. At 2 p.m. the temperature was 59.

Mollet Arrives in U.S. for Talk With President

France's Premier and Ike Will Discuss Tense Mideast Situation

NEW YORK (AP)—French Premier Guy Mollet arrived early today in the United States for urgent talks with President Eisenhower on the tense Middle East crisis.

The French leader told newsmen at Idlewild Airport that he wished to make it "quite clear to the world that friendship between the United States and France is still alive."

He declined comment on France's opposition to proposed sanctions by the United Nations against Israel in connection with the Gaza and Aqaba disputes.

Mollet said he was "hopeful" that a satisfactory solution would be reached in the Middle East problem.

Mollet's trip originally was planned to patch up French-American differences growing out of the French-British invasion of Egypt. It is to be followed shortly by a conference between Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, all billed as the start of a final reconciliation of the Western Big Three.

NO STATEMENT

Mollet told newsmen he could not make any statement on the Middle East problem until after he conferred with President Eisenhower. This conference is scheduled for tomorrow.

Herve Alphand, French ambassador to the United States, leaned over the Premier's shoulder and whispered to him.

Mollet then turned to newsmen and said:

"I have just been told that things are going a little better. I am hopeful."

REFERS TO TALKS

Mollet presumably referred to conferences yesterday in Washington between U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban. The latter returned to Washington only yesterday after urgent talks in Jerusalem.

In a prepared statement, Mollet said he would stress the following points in his talks with Eisenhower:

"To build Europe, to link it closely to Africa, to keep peace alive, and last, but not least, I intend to state emphatically to President Eisenhower, as well as to you, that our country has been for nearly two centuries your faithful ally and does not intend, rain or shine, to change its mind or its heart."

British Admiralty Wistfully Denies Anastasia Rescue

LONDON (INS) — A British Admiralty spokesman wistfully denied today a report that a British battleship rescued Grandduchess Anastasia of Russia from the Bolsheviks in cloak-and-dagger style in a 1918 drama.

"It's a wonderful story and it brightened a dull Monday routine," the spokesman said, "but it must be regarded as extremely improbable."

The report was originated with a former crew member of the British battleship "Agamemnon."

William Stevens, 73, told labor parliament member Sydney Irving that the battleship made a secret dash through the night from the Dardanelles to Sebastopol to carry out the mission.

At Sebastopol, Stevens said, a 17-year-old girl, accompanied by an older woman who appeared to be a lady-in-waiting, was whisked aboard and raced to the safety of Malta.

Rash Murder Trial to Begin Tuesday

A Rochester man, L. J. Rash, charged with the first-degree murder of his wife, is scheduled to begin Circuit Court trial at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow before a jury and Judge Frank L. Doty.

Rash, 52, of 313 Woodward Ave. is charged with shotgunning Mrs. Nina Rash, 48, to death as she returned from a weekend away from home.

Four companions who were with her will be called to repeat testimony made at the pre-trial examination, Assistant Prosecutor Walter R. Denison said.

Rash has been held in Oakland County Jail without benefit of bond since the shooting, early Nov. 26.

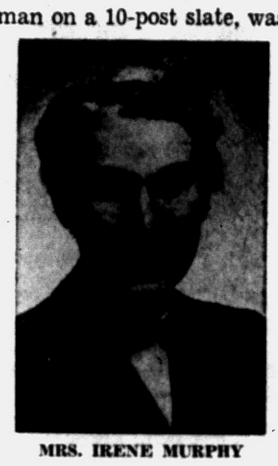
Democrats Put County Woman on April Ballot

An Oakland County woman easily won a place Saturday on the Democratic spring ticket.

Mrs. Irene Murphy, a Birmingham business woman, was unanimously nominated as candidate for University of Michigan regent by 1,545 delegates at the party's Grand Rapids convention.

Mrs. Murphy, the only woman on a 10-post slate, was unopposed for a seat on the regents' board now held by a Republican woman

Another area resident, William H. Harvie, a Southfield Township road contractor, was defeated in a floor battle to nominate a candidate for the top political post in the April 1 election — that of state highway commissioner.



MRS. IRENE MURPHY

The winner, John G. Mackie, of Flint, Genesee County Supervisor, won out over a field of five contenders.

Both Harvie and Mrs. Murphy had Oakland County backing.

Democrats were hopeful for April 1 victory that would put all of the state administrative offices in their hands. They planned a sweep of the seven partisan posts up for election, the last strongholds of Republican power outside of the state legislature. .

But from Gov. G. Mennen Williams on down, there frankly was an emphasis on the non-partisan race to fill three positions on the Supreme Court bench.

Violence Marks Indian Election

First Killing Reported as 100 Million Citizens Start to Polls

NEW DELHI (AP)—The first killing was reported today as Indians went to the polls in the nearly 600 districts in 10 states.

Press reports said one person was killed and about a dozen injured in a clash at Chintamani, in the southern Indian state of Mysore, yesterday when campaigners for Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party clashed with Communist party members.

Seven others were injured at Bhadravati, also in Mysore, in a small clash between members of the Congress and Praja parties. Details were not reported.

The Bhadravati and Chintamani voters do not go to the polls until next Monday under the election schedule extending over more than two weeks. The voting moved into full stride elsewhere.

It is the heaviest day of the election period, which goes on until March 14. Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party is favored to continue in power.

Voting began in two states with 19 election districts yesterday. After today the pace tapers to about 400 districts a day. The nation has 2,354 districts, many of which allow voting on more than one day.

Egypt's Attitude Casts Shadow Over Settlement

Nasser May Refuse to Go Along With Dulles and Abba Eban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Israel appeared close to agreement today on a formula for an Israeli troop withdrawal without sanctions—but the big question was whether Egypt would go along.

United Nations action also would be necessary for some of the points Secretary of State Dulles and Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban discussed during a three-hour meeting at Dulles' home yesterday.

In their discussions, the two men divided the problem up into United States and United Nations aspects, then issued a joint statement which spoke hopefully of prospects for solution of both.

The statement said Eban was reporting Dulles' remarks to Jerusalem immediately and was remaining "in close touch" with the State Department.

Eban was expected to confer on U.N. angles today with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in New York.

Dulles met with Eban after the ambassador flew back to Washington with new instructions given him at Jerusalem by Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion. The Dulles-Eban meeting followed a morning session Dulles held with Republican and Democratic Senate leaders.

Officials indicated the United States would continue its silence in the U.N. on the question of imposing U.N. sanctions against Israel to force Israeli troop withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Egypt, which claims the right to both areas seized by Israel last October, has been demanding Israel's immediate withdrawal and has been backed by U. N. resolutions.

Meantime, the U.N. postponed at least until this afternoon a scheduled debate on an Arab-backed resolution calling for puntive sanctions against Israel.

The United States could give Israel still more time to work out a full solution either by seeking further postponement of debate, or by withholding announcement of its own stand for several days while debate proceeded.

Marines to Try Drill Instructor

Rich is one of four drill instructors who will be tried during the next two weeks on charges of abusing recruits.

If convicted, he faces a maximum punishment of a bad conduct discharge, six months confinement, forfeiture of two-thirds pay for up to six months and reduction of rank to private.

Capt. James F. Mahoney, base public information officer, said the other drill instructors charged are Cpl. William F. Walsh Jr., Lyndhurst, N.J.; Sgt. Daniel K. Corey, Boston, Mass.; and Sgt. Clinton L. Jones, Pensacola, Fla.

Mahoney said Walsh, accused of striking 11 recruits, will face a special court-martial in about two weeks.

Jones and Corey will face a summary court-martial within a week, Mahoney reported.

Jones is accused of striking one recruit with his hand. Corey is charged with pushing a recruit to the ground and of forcing another to stuff candy into his own mouth, Mahoney said.

Mahoney said none of the recruits required medical treatment.

Prove Safety of Fluoridated Water

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of 225 scientists and nutritionists says delay in use of fluoridated water by communities because of fear of harmful results is "completely and utterly unjustified."

The group also said in a statement yesterday that water fluoridation is "a safe public health measure whose benefits should be made available to as many people as possible and as soon as possible."

The group is called the Committee to Protect Our Children's Teeth, Inc. Among those signing the statement were faculty members of medical schools, colleges and universities and scientists of 22 major industrial firms.

The committee is headed by Dr. Benjamin Spock, pediatrician and author.

Describing the control tests on water fluoridation which began 11 years ago in Newburgh, N.Y., and Grand Rapids, Mich., as "one of the most comprehensive field trials ever devoted to a public health advance," the statement said:

"As a result of these tests, coupled with extensive investigation in areas where the drinking water naturally contained a relatively high level of fluorides, the conclusion has been rached that the adjustment of the fluoride content of public water supplies to a level of one part fluorides to one million parts of water results in an effective means of protec children against dental decay.

LASTS LIFETIME

The statement said the experiments, conducted by the U.S. Public Health Service in cooperation with state and local health bodies, further determined that the protection against dental decay "lasts through life."

Despite this scientific approval, the statement noted that "latest reports of the public health service indicate that only 1,426 communities are now protecting their children's teeth through water fluoridation."

The statement said that while there have been "claims of individual cases in which consumption of fluoridated water is alleged to have caused various symptoms, in not one of these instances is it established that the consumption of fluoridated water caused or aggravated the existing conditions."

"The tactics of some opponents of the measure consist of attributing to fluoridation any condition which cannot be definitely proved to have resulted from some other cause," it added.

The statement said that evaluation of theoretical and clinical scientific data "fails to reveal any harm to any population consuming water fluoridated at the one part per million level."

NO CAUSE TO DELAY

"Delay in water fluoridation on the part of a community as a result of fear of harm to the population is completely and utterly unjustified," the statement said.

One Week Left for Vote Registration

Must Report to City Clerk

March 4 Last Chance to Qualify for Balloting on April 1

Unregistered Pontiac voters have one week left in which to qualify for a vote in the April 1 biennial spring election, City Clerk Ada R. Evans said today.

The deadline to register is 8 p.m. March 4, she said.

Placed before the voters April 1, will be 10 state offices to be filled, a county proposal, and two local issues.

The city clerk's office will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Next Monday, the office will be open until 8 p.m.

ABOUT 38,000

Mrs. Evans predicted that some 38,000 Pontiac voters would be registered for the spring, balloting—the only regularly scheduled election this year. She said it was too early to tell what the turnout might be.

She said March 4 was also the deadline for voters to record change of addresses with her office. It is located on the first floor of the City Hall, 35 S. Parke St.

The state offices to be filled include:

1. Two University of Michigan Regents.

2. Two members to the State Board of Agriculture (governing body of Michigan State University).

3. State highway commissioner.

4. Superintendent of public instruction.

5. One member to the State Board of Education.

6. Three Supreme Court justices.

JURY SYSTEM

The county proposal will decide whether a three-man bipartisan jury commission should be appointed annually to select a jury panel for Circuit Court. The Oakland County Bar Assn. urged county supervisors to approve the vote to draw "a fairer cross section of jurors."

Pontiac issues to be decided include a City Charter amendment and a proposal that the present Police Trial Board be replaced by Civil Service.

The amendment would allow the City Commission to set a maximum $500 fine for violation of new city ordinances. The present limit is $100.

Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart recommended the hike in a move to cut down the number of drunk and reckless driving cases in the city.

The Police Officers Assn. submitted petitions recently which would force a voter decision on their move to replace the Trial Board with Civil Service.

Officers have charged that Chief Herbert W. Straley exercises "influence" over the board.

License Plate Deadline a Mere 72 Hours Away

You have a little more than 72 hours to replace that white license plate with two new 1957 maroon plates!

That's the warning given by Willis M. Brewer, branch manager of the Pontiac Secretary of State's office, to motorists still without new plates.

The deadline for purchasing the plates is midnight this Thursday, Feb. 28. Motorists driving with expired plates after that time will be ticketed, police warn.

Brewer said some 12,000 out of 60,000 plates still remain at the Pontiac branch, 53 N. Parke St. "This is somewhat ahead of last year at this time," Brewer said.

To accommodate the last minute rush, the office will remain open Wednesday night until 8. On Thursday, it will stay open until the last person in line is served, Brewer said.

statement were Dr. Ancel Keys, professor and director of the Laboratory of Physiological Hygiene at the University of Minnesota; Dr. Frederick Stare, head of the Department of Nutrition of the Harvard School of Public Health; Dr. Vincent Duvigneaud of Cornell University Medical College and Nobel Laureate in chemistry; Dr. C. L. Comar, chief of biomedical research at the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies; and Dr. Harry D. Kruse, executive secretary of the Committee on Public Health of the New York Academy of Medicine.

The committee, which claims a membership of more than 300 civic and professional leaders, has been carrying on an educational program for water fluoridation since last April.

The fluoridation issue is scheduled for consideration March 6 by the Board of Estimate, the upper branch of New York City's legislative setup.

The committee's statement yesterday said studies have shown that over the life span persons using fluoridated water would have one-third less tooth decay than those using water not treated with fluorides.

The statement also said that fluorides, when placed in public water supplies in the recommended amount of one part per million, act as nutrients.

It added: "Specifically, fluorides are deposited in teeth and contribute to the structural protection of the enamel so that it is more resistant to erosive action and thereby adds to the durability of the tooth."

Freak Shooting Injury Settled Out of Court

A freak injury, growing out of a suicide, resulted in an $8,500 settlement in Los Angeles today.

Elliott S. Kinney, of 1125 Chesterfield, Birmingham, executor and administrator of the estate of his brother, the late Stoddard Kinney of Hollywood, Calif., reached the settlement out of court with a Los Angeles cab driver, Kenneth Melie.

Melie had filed a $15,000 suit alleging that his left arm was shattered by the bullet which killed Kinney. He said he was sitting in a garden chair last Sept. 15 when Kinney took his own life in a Hollywood apartment.

The bullet passed through Kinney's head, and continued out through a window and struck the cabbie in the left arm, he said.

Melie contended he has been unable to work since the accident.

A jewelry store, two homes, a market, a school and a locker of the City Lines Bus Co. building were broken into over the weekend, Pontiac police reported today, netting thieves more than $75 in cash and property and jewelry of undetermined value.

Clarence McKim discovered that his jewelry store at 941 Orchard Lake Ave. had been burglarized when he came to work early Saturday morning.

Paint Studied in Grimes Case

Gray and Black Flake Found in the Shroud of One Slain Sister

CHICAGO (INS)—Chicago Police have a tiny flake of paint that may have come from the car belonging to the killer or killers of the teenage Grimes sisters.

The paint particle, it was learned today, was found in the shroud in which one of the girls was wrapped when taken to the morgue from the ditch in suburban Willow Springs where the nude bodies of Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, were found Jan. 22.

Police have launched an intensive investigation of garages and paint shops in the Chicago metropolitan area in hopes of finding some lead to the fleck, made up of three layers of paint.

The fleck was of both gray and black colors and police believed it may have come from a two-toned vehicle at the point where the colors came together.

The two girls left home about 7:30 p.m. Dec. 28, to attend an Elvis Presley movie. They never returned.

One after another, dozens of leads have come up and then played out. Police admit that with each passing day, chances of solving the baffling murder are reduced.

Thugs Take $5,000 After Threatening Sons in Man's Home

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UP) — Four thugs chained a McKeesport meat packer to a post in the basement of his home during the weekend and beat him viciously for three hours to make him tell where he kept his money.

Frank Rendulic, 40, told police he finally told the thugs where he had about $5,000 hidden in a strongbox after they threatened to burn out the eyes of his two small sons.

The thieves also looted the Rendulic home of some $3,700 in jewelry before leaving shortly after midnight.

Rendulic's wife, Josephine, 40, and the couple's two daughters, Janet 11, and Joan, 13, were bound and gagged in an upstairs hallway. The sons, Frank Jr., 8, and Fred, 5, were left in their beds.

Rendulic said the men kicked him and pummeled him with a blackjack. At one point, he said, a heated meat hook was thrust near his face and he was told it would be used to burn out the eyes of his sons if he didn't reveal where the money was hidden.

He was treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises and sent home. His wife also was treated for shock and released.

Rendulic, who operates a meat packing firm in a building at the rear of his home, said most of the money was being kept to pay for early deliveries this morning.

Democrats Select County Woman

to run for a court term vacated by Republican Justice Emerson R. Boyles, of Charlotte, that ends in December, 1959.

A full victory would give Democrats decisive control of the high court by a six-to-three margin.

Calling victory "crucial," Williams hit at what he called "tricky name-strategy" employed by Republicans.

He charged two GOP non-partison candidates were nominated principally because they have last names traditionally associated with the Democratic party

He named Joseph A. Moynihan Jr., of Detroit, and Michael D. O'Hara, of Menominee.

"This is an out-and-out attempt to steal votes," Williams declared, in reference to the fact that party-affiliation will not be listed on the non-partisan ballots used by voters.

Others named to the ticket: Superintendent of Public Instruction — Lynn M. Bartlett, Grosse Pointe assistant superintendent of schools, who was the party's nominee two years ago.

University of Michigan regent—Carl Brablec, Roseville superintendent of schools, named to run for a second seat open on the board.

State Board of Agriculture—Don Stevens, of Grand Rapids, educational director for the State CIO Council, and Jan B. Vanderploeg, North Muskegon landscape architect.

Check Old Heart Murmur

Mamie's Tests Over

WASHINGTON (INS)—Mamie Eisenhower is scheduled to leave Walter Reed Army Hosiptal today after a two-day delay.

The First Lady entered the hospital late Friday for what was described as her "yearly physical checkup". She was to have returned to the White House Saturday but it was announced then she would spend another day to complete tests.

Yesterday, Presidential News Secretary James C. Haggerty said she decided to stay still another night in the hospital, although the checkup had been completed.

It was understood that Mamie chose to remain last night because the President was tied up in connection with the Middle East talks held yesterday by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Mrs. Eisenhower has had a mild heart murmur for many years, and the examination undoubtedly included a full checkup on her heart. Doctors believe the murmur resulted from rheumatic fever which she suffered as a girl. She now is 60 years of age.

Ailing Japanese Premier Quits as Premier

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Tanzan Ishibashi resigned today because of ill health. The chances look bright for Foreign Minister Nobusuke Kishi, who narrowly missed getting the post last December, to succeed him.

Ishibashi, 72, took office only two months ago. Within a month he was stricken with bronchial pneumonia and a weakend heart. He never was able to attend a session of the Diet (parliament) as Prime Minister.

Late last night his doctors announced Ishibashi would be bedridden another two months, and today the Prime Minister and his cabinet submitted their resignations, to be effective upon the selection of a successor, probably next week.

The Diet will choose the new government chief from the ruling Liberal-Democratic party, which has a 296-151 majority in the 467-member lower house.

Kishi, an affable, ambitious politician who has been acting Prime minister during Ishibashi's illness, appeared to have the inside track for the prime minister job. He was figured to be a shoo-in for the post in December, when Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama resigned, also because of ill health. But he lost out to Ishibashi by seven votes in the Dec. 14 convention of the Liberal-Democratic party, a grouping of conservative factions.

AF 'Hurrying' Tradition to Rival Army, Navy

(At Lowry Air Force Base outside Denver, 515 young Americans are building a tradition. They are the members of the first two classes of the United States Air Force Academy. Here, in the first of three articles, a reporter who has covered the development of air power for a generation tells the story of this unique venture in military education.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

LOWRY AIR FORCE BASE, Colo. (INS)—The United States Air Force Academy, not yet two years old, is moving forward proudly in its vitally important task: of moulding young cadets into career officers.

It's an inspiring and heart-warming experience to visit "The Academy" and see young boys from all parts of the country being transformed into air officers who are destined to defend the United States in the unfolding atomic age.

You thrill to the spectacle as the air-minded cadets sweep across the parade grounds with military precision. Crisp commands and the pounding of feet punctuate the brisk atmosphere as they move "on the double"—hup, two, three, four. Hup, two, three, four!"

In their smart blue uniforms they are a good-looking, well-disciplined lot. They are little more than boys but they look like men. They range in age from 17 to 23, and from 5-feet-4 to 6-feet-4 in height. They radiate the spirit of the air age, and you can't help thinking: "Here are America's Air Force leaders of the future."

Already, the Academy is developing its own personality, its own esprit de corps. Some day, not too far distant, the cadets tell you, their school will be just as famous as the Army's West Point or the Navy's Annapolis.

There is one widespread misconception about the Academy and that is the belief it is training pilots. The school's basic mission is to train leaders.

The cadets get an introduction to pilot training during their four years. All graduates will receive the wings of an Air Force navigator, and those graduates who are qualified will be obligated to take full-scale pilot training after receiving their commission.

In the fall of 1958 the Academy will be moved to its permanent home now under construction at Colorado Springs, 60 miles to the south. The site is regarded by many as one of the most beautiful spots in the country

Some of the students, however, dropped out for various reasons. Some encountered academic difficulties, some were not amenable to discipline.

Brig. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, commandant of cadets in charge of the airmanship program, said the Academy lost 15.3 per cent of its students the first year.

Candidates for the Academy must be at least 17 years of age and must not have reached their 22nd birthday by July 1 of the year they enter the Academy. They must be male citizens of the United States, of good moral character and they must never have been married. Any cadet who marries is immediately separated from the Academy.

Physical standards are determined by the requirements for flying training: i.e., 20/20 vision and no shorter than 5-feet-4 or taller than 6-feet-4. Their weight must be normal in relation to their height.

Candidates may be nominated to take competitive examinations by the President the Vice President, Senators and Congressmen. There is a number of non-competitive vacancies for sons of medal of honor winners.

Upon admission to the Academy, each cadet is required to sign an obligation to serve as a regular Air Force officer for not less than three consecutive years upon graduation.

DDT Harmless to Human Body

Tests Show Insecticide Has No Adverse Effect Over Period of Time

BOZEMAN, Mont. (INS) — Research reveals that it doesn't matter how much DDT a person takes into his body, it will not have a long-time effect upon him.

The American Medical Assn. committee on pesticides recently completed an 18-month test in cooperation with the U.S. Public Health Service at Montana State College.

Fifty-one men were fed measured daily doses of DDT during that time. None of the volunteers ever complained of any symptoms or showed signs of illness attributable to DDT.

One third of the group received 3.5 milligrams of DDT per man daily, another third received 35 milligrams per man daily, and the remaining third served as a check group and did not receive DDT.

NO ONE KNEW

None of the volunteers knew which dosage he was receiving, if any.

The report points out that the 35 milligram daily dose is estimated at 200 times the daily rate at which the average person receives DDT in his diet. The study indicated that DDT is stored in the body fat in direct proportion to the amount taken in.

Pure DDT will accumulate in human fat to a concentration of 340 parts per million. Technical DDT, the kind used in commercial insecticides, is concentrated to 234 parts per million of fat.

After the limits are reached, the body eliminates any more DDT that may be taken in.

The concentration of DDT in the fat of the average person is estimated at about 5 parts per million.

THE FLYING HOUSE — 1

How It Got To Be One

Once upon a time a boy named Bill and his sister Jill lived in a flying house — a sort of overgrown air-trailer.

It used to be an ordinary house on an ordinary street, but Bill and Jill had grown tired of looking out of the windows at the same old things. They liked their house, but did wish it would move around a little.

There was a well in the front yard that had always been called the Wishing Well. Bill and Jill had never used it, but one morning they decided to see if it could make their home fly. They dropped two pennies in the bucket and lowered it into the Wishing Well. Up came a neatly typed answer—"Plan every step. You can use just two wishes to make this a Flying House. When ready, drop in two more pennies and go to the Control Room."

"Control Room?" Jill was puzzled. "Has to be one if it flies," said Bill, "Must be the radio room in the attic. Let's make a list — and then double check so we won't waste any wishes."

First they needed a good solid cloud to travel on. An evergreen tree strung with colored bulbs would save them from being bumped, and there was an aerial on the garden umbrella.

"All set," said Bill. Jill dropped two more pennies in the Wishing Well and they both scurried up to the Control Room.

Color this house the way you'd like to color your own house. Save the pictures and at the end of the week you can make a story book of them.

Mollet to Act Mender's Role

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

French Premier Guy Mollet, who arrives in the U.S. today to review world problems with President Eisenhower, is a hero of the World War II resistance, an ardent advocate of European cooperation —and a troubled leader.

Mollet, guiding the reins of government just over a year, is France's 22nd postwar premier. If he remains in office another five months, he'll break the longevity record.

France has been an American ally since the birth of this nation. But the Franco-American rift caused by the Middle East crisis was just as pronounced as that between Britain and the United States, and Mollet is coming over to mend fences just as Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Mr. Eisenhower will attempt to do at Bermuda next month.

France has suffered as a result of the aborted Anglo-French invasion of Egypt, but not nearly so much as from the nationalist rebellion in Algeria. Bloodshed continues there and Arab nationalists vow to fight until the French are driven out of North Africa.

51st BIRTHDAY

Mollet celebrated his 51st birthday last New Year's Eve. His has been an event-filled life dedicated mostly to public service.

A militant Socialist since 1923, Mollet was wounded and captured by the Germans early in World War II. In early 1942, he was sent back to France as a medical orderly and immediately joined the resistance movement.

He took part in the battle of Normandy, and later was decorated with the medal of resistance and the "Croix de Guerre."

Mollet was elected mayor of Arras in 1945 and that same year was sent to Paris as a representative to the first constituent assembly.

HELD 10 YEARS

In 1946 he became secretary-general of the Socialist Party, a post which he held 10 years.

In December, 1955, he organized with former Premier Pierre Mendes-France the "Republican Front" and was approved as premier by the new assembly on Jan. 31, 1956.

Since then, Mollet has been instrumental in the signing of the Franco-German agreements which settled the ages-old Saar question and obtained approval in principle from the assembly for a common European market plan.

In addition, Mollet has contributed articles to newspapers and periodicals, done research in philology and phonology and has authored an English grammar for Frenchmen.

Mouse Causes 2 Deaths

TOKYO (AP) — A mouse was blamed today for a gas leak which asphyxiated two women employes of a noodle shop and put two delivery boys in the hospital in critical condition. Police said the mouse gnawed a hole in a rummer gas hose and fumes filled the upper floors where the four employes were sleeping.

Grocery, Food Sales Set Record in 1956

NEW YORK—Americans bought a record amount of food and grocery products during 1956. Food expenditures topped 70 billion dollars compared with 67 billion in the years before and 16 billion in 1939.

In addition, consumers bought more than five billion dollars' worth of other grocery products, such as soaps, detergents, cleansers, waxes, household paper goods, and other items.

Williams' Idea Would Discourage Business

That man's back.

We refer to Governor WILLIAMS.

Last fall during the campaign, Michigan's Governor denied that his policies over the past eight years have been driving business from Michigan. He was really vociferous as his opponents have been tossing this charge in his lap practically since he took office.

He has variously been accused of frightening possible newcomers away and causing accelerated de-centralization among existing firms that have long been Michigan's bread and butter.

That debate may stand unresolved, but we are now confronted with the Governor's newest official pronunciamento. He asks a new six per cent profits tax on all business. Last fall's denials totter anew. According to Hub George, political writer for The Detroit Free Press, this is the eighth time since 1949 that Michigan's Governor has proposed that Michigan give business the business.

One thing is sure.

Raising additional revenues isn't a simple proposition. Basically, we're very sympathetic with the Governor's plight. He wants—and needs—a balance between outgo and income.

NO ONE wants to pay additional taxes. Everyone wants the other chap's ox gored. Perhaps a sales tax or a gas tax would be more equitably spread. Tourists who visit us winter and summer would thus make some contribution towards their own personal pleasure.

We simply wish to emphasize the point that continuous attempt to harass the makers of jobs and throw new penalties in their paths can have unfortunate repercussions — if, indeed, they haven't already.

President Backs Plan to Relieve Court Jams

Under a plan recommended by the U.S. Judicial Conference and endorsed by President EISENHOWER, Chief Judges of Federal Circuit Courts of Appeal would be relieved of their administrative duties when they become 70 years old.

A Chief Judge is the executive officer of his court. He assigns cases to other Judges on the court and generally oversees court functions. The 70 year old judge could judge cases, however, until he retires.

The same arrangement was suggested for senior judges of all District Courts with more than one judge. In those cases the court's next senior judge in terms of service would become chief judge if he were under 70.

The conference also recommended that 37 more judges be appointed to reduce filing-to-trial wait to about six months. Congress is working on bills to speed Federal justice in all states and lighten the case load.

The Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts in Washington says that the median time for a District Court civil case to get to trial last year was 15.4 months. The office contends it should be about six months and that there was a backlog of 63,526 cases, an increase of 116 per cent since 1941.

The waiting period from filing to trial was 18 months in the Eastern District of Michigan last year. District courts handle cases ranging from auto damage claims involving persons from more than one state to violations of Federal laws. Cases can be appealed to 11 Circuit Courts of Appeals. In these courts last year there was a waiting period of 7.4 months. Michigan which is part of the Sixth Circuit, had a median waiting time of 9.6 months and a backlog of 2,029 cases, an increase of 41 per cent since 1941, says Congressional Quarterly.

Chief Judge CHARLES C. SIMONS, Detroit Republican, of the Sixth Appellate Circuit which takes in Michigan, will be 81 in May. If he is retired his duties would be assumed by THOMAS F. MCALLISTER, Grand Rapids Democrat, whose 61st birthday is in March.

In Michigan's Eastern District, ARTHUR F. LEDERLE, Detroit Democrat, is the Chief Judge. He is 70 years old. FRANK A. PICARD, Bay City Democrat, who would succeed him under the new proposals, is 68 years old.

Attorney General Brownell says that "delay in litigation continues to be the primary problem in the administration of justice in most of our Federal and State courts." It is gratifying to know, therefore, that bi-partisan support for measures to relieve court congestion is building up.

Justice delayed becomes injustice.

His activities have run the gamut from selling papers on the street in his early years (and those of The Pontiac Press) to "selling dirt," as put in his own words, and reminiscing and talking Democracy as side lines.

A letter recently received from now living in Detroit, says he was a stable boy in Pontiac 60 years ago. He worked in the old ten cent barns just back of the Hodges House down the hill on West Pike Street. He says the farmers could house their horses there all day for ten cents, while they did their trading at local stores. Hay was 10 cents extra, and oats the same price, but there was a bargain price on all three, 25 cents. Smith states that many a farmer would be too drunk to drive when he started home, but would hang the reins over the dash board and go to sleep, and the horses would find the way—it never failed.

Bradford Smith,

"It's Been a Long Time—for a French Premier"

David Lawrence Says:

U.N. Must Remove Fear in Mideast

WASHINGTON — How can fear between nations be removed? Is this the task of the United States alone or is it the responsibility of the United Nations? And if the U.N. has failed in the past to give assurances that it will act to remove fear of attack, does this mean that it should not be asked by its members to try again?

LAWRENCE

These questions go to the heart of the Middle East crisis. They are answered in the words of the United Nations charter. Skeptics and cynics point to the ineffectiveness of the U.N. heretofore but the fact is that the major powers themselves failed to utilize the U.N. and make it effective.

Many people have a vague idea that the U.N. can somehow become effective as a means of maintaining peace in the world but few persons really know how precise the language of the charter happens to be a good example in the press to "sanctions"—as if this were a first instead of a last step and as if this is a discipline to be finally imposed by the general assembly when actually that body can only "recommend" and hasn't any binding authority on this subject at all under the charter.

What the founders of the United Nations drew up in 1945 was a charter which said specifically that "in order to insure prompt and effective action by the United Nations, its members confer on the Security Council, primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, and agree that in carrying out its duties under this responsibility, the Security Council acts on their behalf."

No other body—neither the General Assembly nor any U.N. committee—has such sweeping power and responsibility.

The charter itself recognized that fear of attack might be basic in bringing about the use of force to meet a threat. So the charter says that "all members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any member state."

If this isn't heeded, the charter in Article 40 declares: "In order to prevent an aggravation of the situation, the Security Council may, before making the recommendations or deciding upon the measures provided for in Article 41, call upon the parties concerned to comply with such provisional measures as it deems necessary or desirable.

"Such provisional measures shall be without prejudice to the rights, claims or position of the parties concerned. The Security Council shall duly take account of failure to comply with such measures."

Now Article 41 enumerates the possible "sanctions" — economic and military. But, so far as the United Nations is concerned, these can be imposed only by the Security Council. Individual members can, if the Security Council fails to act, impose "sanctions" collectively but this is not a United Nations action and, under international law, the nation against which the "sanctions" are imposed can regard such "sanctions" as an unfriendly act or even an act of war.

The world is waiting for the U.N. to function as its charter requires and in that way fear can be removed and faith in the effectiveness of the U.N. can be restored.

LI'L ONES

"This business of getting maple syrup is slower than I figured."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Wonderful Family Doctor Wins 1st Place in Album

"Dear Dr. Brady: Reading your column about the "Yankee wiseacre practice of running to trick specialists and 'clinic' racketeers with everyday ailments," I felt I must write you.

BRADY

"We have a family doctor that we think is the best. We consider him as one of the family. Our children love him. He not only takes care of our physical ailments but we feel free to go to him with our personal problems. Words cannot describe the love we all have for him.

"If he feels we need special attention we go to anyone he recommends — but we would never think of consulting anyone he doesn't recommend. We have found that we pay the 'specialist' less than other people do, who go directly to the specialist without the advice of their regular doctor.

"I could go on and on, telling you the virtues of this man, but you would have to know him to appreciate his greatness.

ALWAYS AVAILABLE

"He is never unavailable. He made a visit here one bitter winter night at 11:30. I begged him to have a cup of hot coffee, but he couldn't—he had other calls to make.

"We pray constantly that God give him health and strength to continue his wonderful work. I am sure many other families depend on him as we do.

"I do wish you could know him. So many doctors today seem mercenary. He is really a dedicated man. We thank God every day that we know him."

Sincerely,
Mrs. ——— ———.

GOOD NEWS

I'm happy to hear from you, Ma'am. So many letters these days describe the behavior of the mercenary kind, that a letter like yours purifies the atmosphere.

Your letter suggests something. We'll mark it No. 1 and put it in the Album. The Family Doctors' Album, that is.

Probably many other readers have doctors whose portraits should be in the Album.

There's no price or reward, but we assure any reader who wishes to send a portrait that neither his identity nor the identity of his doctor will be revealed without his (or her) written consent. Please do not fail to give your doctor's name and address.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Allow Defect to Throw You

Ethel is a lovely girl but is unhappy because she figuratively drives an auto with a crumpled, unsightly fender. She must realize that our real personality is not synonymous with our human machine. Some of the most beautiful souls travel through life in crippled bodies. And some arch criminals occupy perfect physical machines.

By DR. George W. CRANE

Case U-313: Ethel G., aged 19, is an attractive college coed.

"But, Dr. Crane, I grow so blue and discouraged at times," she began and lifted her left arm into view.

It was withered and deformed from birth, so I realized she had suffered a lot of social pain on that score.

"Oh, I try to be cheerful and smile and hide my heartache," Ethel continued bravely.

"But when I get into my room, I often can't stand it. Then I get sorry for myself, I suppose, and have a good cry.

"For I know that boys often are ready to ask me for a date until they see my deformed arm.

"Dr. Crane, I am very low in spirits today, so please offer something to cheer me up:"

AUTOMOBILE FALLACY

Beware of the "automobile fallacy." Never confuse the driver of a car with the machine in which he is riding:

Many a wonderful personality sits behind the wheel of an old jalopy: And sometimes a snobbish boor will be piloting a swanky new automobile.

So the driver of an automobile is not synonymous with the car in which he travels.

Our human body is likewise just a convenient vehicle or animate machine for carrying us over land and through 70 years of lifespan here on Earth.

The real "you," however, is your ego or personality. And it does not have withered arms or paralyzed legs or blind eyes or deaf ears, despite these defects in the human machine that you may be steering.

Think of Helen Keller, deaf and blind since age two. When she arrives in Heaven, she'll undoubtedly get a new model machine, but the real personality called Helen Keller will easily be recognized as her cheerful, inspiring self.

And so it is with Ethel. The brave, cheerful spirit which she normally shows to her "public" is the real Ethel.

When she occasionally feels blue, that is not the true Ethel. And so it is with most of us.

"Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act," runs an axiom of psychology.

So Ethel must continue putting up a cheerful, jolly, unselfish social front, for soon that will become he permanent self.

REMEMBER ST. PAUL

St. Paul understood this fact very well, for he had a defect, too.

And he also reminded us that we are all made up of a dual personality, like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

For St. Paul said that every human being is composed of selfish, animal inclinations and appetites, balanced with some Divine idealism.

These two forces are constantly in conflict. Indeed, sometimes a heinous criminal may break down in tears and be as gentle as a lamb when dealing with his own youngster.

So nobody is totally depraved. Descartes likewise realized this fact 1600 years after St. Paul, for Descartes said we have a mechanical body but there are some Divine ideas implanted in each human chassis at the moment of birth.

These Divine ideas or soul should actually be the chauffeur of our human machine. But sometimes we let the machine get out of control and careen throughout life as a vicious, death-producing vehicle.

Sunday schools and churches help encourage us to enshrine the moral "driver" at the wheel of our machine. So keep your chin up and smile till it's habitual.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Postman's Wife Requests Support for Postal Raise

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Here is my opinion of the Postal workers' asking for a pay raise. Some people seem to think they are high-salaried workers, but let me tell you they are not. They are underpayed for the amount of work it involves.

When someone else is asking for a pay raise, nothing much is said, but let someone ask that really needs and deserves, and a rumpus is raised.

Some say you have a good job, it's security, but if you have to work a whole twelve months in order to make what the shops pay, in six months, is that all security? It's plain work and you can't eat security.

It isn't just getting out day after day carrying those heavy sacks of mail. There is responsibility, too. So let me say, people get on the ball and do what you can for the guys who really need and most of all deserve what they are asking. After all, we do need them.

'What Is Wrong in Birmingham?'

The other day I mailed a package to Birmingham on Saturday. It was delivered Tuesday. Three days later I mailed a letter Tuesday and it was delivered Friday. What goes on in the Birmingham post office? It wasn't the Pontiac office because our mail to California goes through rapidly. You can get to New York faster than you can to Birmingham.

Dislikes Crossing at Howard Street

I have had a pet gripe for about four years. I am sure there are many others who also think the railroad crossing at Howard Street is dangerous, night and day, although very seldom used.

When in use, however, it is endangering the lives of many. Only the other night I was approaching the track when I saw a man in the middle of it waving a white lamp. I stopped and looked both ways and saw no train. Neither did my passenger. Out of nowhere came two boxcars and an engine. There was no bell or whistle to warn us, only the man with the white lamp, and there very seldom is even that. The engine was pushing the cars backwards, thus blocking the light of the engine. I believe the same thing happened at Rundell Street not too long ago, injuring someone.

Are the people of Pontiac going to wait until someone is killed or hurt before they do something about it? Something should be done about it now.

How come the bus drivers enjoy themselves leaving you out of the bus in the biggest pile of snow, it seems to me, they can find? Some of them use common sense and are agreeable to proceed a few inches to avoid a snow pile. I was of the impression that the City of Pontiac was to keep all the space around bus stops clear of snow, so a passenger doesn't have to swim or jump off the bus. It is about time that something is done in this respect, because I belive it is uncalled for. Since we are charged 15 cents straight fare, I believe we are entitled to a little consideration, especially during the winter season.

'Vote for Raises Is Vote for Ouster'

All Congressmen that vote for more expenses in government are signing their own resignations. All Congressmen that don't fight for a reduction of a five billion dollars minimum in the budget are drafting their own resignations.

All people that don't get a tax reduction soon are preparing to vote out of office everyone that's responsible for the tax costs. We don't need a 72 billion dollar budget. Those that say we do are begging for political oblivion at the next election.

This applies to everyone in public office.

Vet's Wife Tells of Her Hardship

I would like to say thanks for remembering to the one who wrote about money for Hungarians but none for vets' bonus. I am quite sure it's much better to use the taxpayers' money to buy so-called world friendship than for vets who fought so that the Good Ole U.S.A. would have the money to support any foreign nation that decided it needed a little money.

We gave up a lot, knowing we'd return to hardly anything, when my husband was called into service. And take it from me, no one assured us that our child would have proper food and clothes. Oh, no! We haven't forgotten. The government did send an allotment check each month. $97.20 to be exact, of which $67.50 went for a so-called apartment in a government project. At least that much was needed to meet the fuel bills alone.

So you can see. Join the army and you'll get out rich like us, striving for a second start. However, you'll have dollars to send to the Hungarian Relief fund or help Joe Louis pay his back taxes.

'Dems Would Win if Ike Splits Party'

If President Eisenhower continues in the present vein, he may split the Republican Party. That means the Dems would simply walk into the presidency in 1960 and we might even get Wayne Morse in the White House. Wouldn't that shake your editorial columns right down to the final paragraph?

Justice Reed Leaves Bench

Steps Into Retirement After Serving 19 Years on Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Associate Justice Stanley F. Reed, 72, reads his last Supreme Court opinions today, then steps into retirement after more than 19 years' service on the high bench.

The Kentucky Democrat, an appointee of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said it was no longer wise for him to endure the "strain of unremitting exertion" required of a jurist.

President Eisenhower has not yet nominated a successor.

The court has been in recess since Jan. 28.

Reed was expected to read majority opinions he has written in a number of pending appeals. His votes also have been cast on court orders ready for announcement.

Reed's retirement leaves an eight-judge court to hear arguments on a long list of new cases scheduled this week and next.

Some are major ones, causing lawyers to speculate on the possibility of some 4-4 decisions on important issues. Such split decisions affirm the judgments of lower courts.

Shortly after Reed's departure, eight justices will hear three hours of debate on whether Congress has power under the Constitution to authorize court-martial trails of civilians who accompany the armed forces abroad.

Last June the court, in a 5-3 decision, said Congress has the power. It so ruled in the cases of two women who killed their husbands overseas, were court-martialed and sentenced to life imprisonment. Counsel for the women won reconsideration of the decision.

WAR — EGYPTIAN VERSION — Future historians may believe that the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt was repulsed with heavy losses to the invaders if they judge by this new Egyptian stamp. It commemorates the recent fighting by showing three Egyptian "resistance" fighters, one a grenade-toting girl, charging forward as enemy parachute troops are slain on the Port Said beach and an enemy ship burns in the background.

New Village Bell Will Toll Angelus After Long Strife

NIORT, France (AP) — After many months of bitter internal strife, the nearby village of St. Maxire today had a new bell.

But the mayor, a stubborn man, refused to witness its christening ceremony.

It all started when the old bell developed a crack and the priest asked the mayor to pay for repairs.

The mayor refused.

Loyal parishioners chipped in. Soon there was enough to buy a new bell, named by the parishioners Francoise Dominique. But the priest announced it would not ring for official ceremonies.

So the mayor, accompanied by the town crier and eight members of the Town Council, stormed the church and took the bell. Francoise Dominique was locked up in the town hall.

Angry members of the flock rallied behind the priest. Some of them wanted justice. To many others the toll of the angelus three times a day was the sole indication of time.

The mayor finally surrendered Francoise Dominique. The christening ceremony was held without the mayor. Francoise Dominique peacefully tolled the angelus, but many parishioners feared that peace was not here to stay in St. Maxire.

Bunting Sprouts for Annual Fete in Texas City

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Beards, bunting and costumes blossomed forth today as this south Texas city and her Mexican twin, Matamoros, prepared for the rip-roarin' 19th annual Charro Days Fiesta.

"Charro" translates roughly as a duded-up Mexican rancher.

The "Baile de Sol" (Dance of the Sun), a presentation of the colorful dress of Latin-American countries previewing costumes to be used in the fiesta, went off on schedule yesterday despite the lack of sun.

The cities sport flags and bunting. Whiskers, often trimmed in startling ways, decorate the faces of many males.

A carnival was being set up for the four-day pre-Lenten fiesta which starts Thursday.

The arrival of a torch carried by runners in a 103-mile relay started at the Rio Grande city courthouse will officially open the celebration.

There will be grand balls, pagents, style shows, a beard judging contest, a concert and a bullfight.

Soviet Fears Formation of European Trade Union

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Six West European nations have taken a step that will create chills in Moscow.

France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg have agreed on outlines of treaties that will create a common market and will pool their nuclear resources.

Tariffs and other trade barriers covering both there European nations and the overseas territories will be wiped out. The hope is that eventually Britain will enter into the scheme.

The six nations already are linked in the European coal and steel community. Now the economic union will be broadened.

Leaders of the six nations who issued the communique described the treaty arrangement as "a decisive step" toward the goal of European integration.

This integration, sometime refered to as a United States of Europe, is a very old dream. Removal of various customs barriers is a step along the road to political integration, a goal which the United States long has urged and which the Soviet government opposes.

FREE TRADE ZONE

The British, who have their own preferential tariff system within the commonwealth nations, have proposed a free trade zone in Europe. This would include the six nations, Britain and other European nations which might wish to join.

The common market idea is to adopt a common tariff among the six nations and erect an agreed barriers to nations outside the project.

The British proposal of a free trade zone would allow each nation to fix its own tariffs, with preferences, but it would include farm products in any zonal arrangement. The British also presently object to inclusion of territories.

The six nations agreed to set up a $580-million fund over the next five years to develop overseas territories and link those areas to the common market.

France heself will contribute $200 million to the overseas investment fund. The Paris regime hopes to create extensive links between Europe and Africa, to build a "Euro-Africa" combine that will pour men and money into Africa to tap its vast resources and also develop backward peoples in Africa.

LONG-HELD FEARS

Moscow opposes these steps because of long-held fears of any European federation of states. The Soviet government knows that any customs union will lead toward political union.

Such a combination could be a powerful "third force" and change the scales in the present Soviet-vs.-America cold war.

Any federation move also will be a powerful lure to Soviet satellite states, which are suffering because their economies are tightly tied to the Soviet trade belt.

Doubt I'll Win, Says TV Foe of Van Doren

NEW YORK (INS) — "I doubt that I'll win," said blonde Vivienne Nearing, thinking like a male lawyer. "Charley Van Doren is a very bright man with a fantastic memory.

"If I'm lucky, I could win . . . it would be fun to win," she added. She was smiling, and thinking perhaps a little more like a woman about her appearance Monday on television's big quiz show, "Twenty-One."

"Actually," she said, "I went on the show as sort of a lark."

Lark or not, the young New Yorker who manages to be very much a woman while completely a lawyer, tied the encyclopedic Van Doren on the show last Monday, 21 to 21.

With the third highest score ever made on the qualifying written test, she stands a good chance to win tonight. If she does, the young Columbia University instructor will end up with something less than his present $143,000 winnings.

HUSBAND LOST

If Van Doren wins, Mrs. Nearing will join her lawyer husband in defeat. He lost a point battle with Van Doren a month ago.

That defeat brought neither rancor or determination from Mrs. Nearing, simply the idea that she should have a try — "it's a memory game . . . a fun game" — and her husband's straightforward recommendation, "she's brilliant."

Tonight's tie playoff is something of a Columbia University match, although neither Van Doren nor Mrs. Nearing had met before they appeared on Twenty-One. He teaches at Columbia now, and Mrs. Nearing got her masters in economics and her law degree there.

From whence came her knowledge? "Well," she said, "I read a lot, naturally, and I've always been interested in facts and ideas and people, and the family was talkative."

Her interest in ideas and people headed her toward the law while at high school in Queens and at Queens College. But teachers and friends dissuaded her: "They said it was not a "field for a woman. It was a man's field, and I would be miserable." So she took a masters in economics but still found she wanted to be a lawyer, and entered Columbia law school in 1947. Now she works in the legal department of Warner Brothers.

13 Still Missing in Korean Crash

Includes 1 From Lansing; Crews Find 4 Bodies; Known Dead Now 9

SEOUL (AP)—Search crews today found four more bodies in the twisted wreckage of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster that crashed and burned Friday night on a Han River sandbar. This raised the list of known dead to 9, leaving 13 others still missing and presumed dead.

The big C124 transport was en route to Japan with 159 Americans aboard—10 Air Force crewmen, 147 Army men and 2 Army civilian employes. Most were on leave. Twenty-eight of the 137 survivors accounted for are still hospitalized, two of them in serious condition.

A spokesman for a 10-man Air Force investigation team said three of the bodies just recovered were those of Army personnel and the other was a crewman. They were taken to the mortuary section of the 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City for positive identification.

Army and Air Force officials said the search was continuing for the missing. Many officers said privately they had little hope any of them would be found alive.

Lt. Bennet S. Levin of Muscatine, Iowa, a survivor, indicated some of the victims may have been trapped when the upper deck of the plane collapsed onto the lower deck.

Well, first of all, there is the marvelous restfulness a Cadillac provides. The car is so incredibly smooth and quiet and comfortable that even the longest journey becomes an occasion for glorious relaxation.

And for the lucky gentleman in the driver's seat, there is the added reward of Cadillac's brilliant new performance.

In fact, the car is so nimble and alert that day's end will usually find them well beyond their morning's destination!

So there they are—seeing our wonderful land from the finest vantage point on the American road: through the windshield of a 1957 Cadillac!

Drink Too Fast? Miss That Glow? Better Watch Out!

SEATTLE (AP)—Gulp your drinks? Get no lift when all about you are sipping theirs and feeling a pleasant glow? Watch out! Dr. Wayne M. Wellman says you're probably on the way to becoming a chronic alcoholic.

Dr. Wellman is consulting sociologist and associate director of the Research Society for Alcoholism and he reported yesterday on 738 case studies of former alcoholics at a Seattle hospital.

Six out of ten drank faster than their friends on social occasions, drank more, got drunker on the same amount of liquor, Dr. Wellman said.

Why? Because that "pleasant glow" failed to materialize on a drink or two, or lasted only a short spell. Disappointed, they drank harder.

"When we find out why these persons do not get the usual glow we will have a cure for alcoholism," Dr. Wellman said.

Churchgoers Face 'Wall of Jericho'

EAST HAMPTON, Mass. (AP) —A "Wall of Jericho" blocked the entrance to Providence Methodist Church.

The congregation filed into church through a side entrance and then heard an explanation from the Rev. Roger A. Barnett, who spoke on "Joshua and the Battle of Jericho."

The pastor explained that operating costs were heavy during the winter and urged the congregation to purchase the bricks at $1 each to clear the entrance.

Half the 500 bricks were sold on the spot. The remainder will be sold during the week.

Quarles Warns of Peril

CHARLESTON, S. C. (INS)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles, on the danger of atomic attack, said: "Like our pioneer ancestors we must all live in peril from day to day that a potentially hostile power might decide to attack."

Old Milan Tree Hauled Down; Oldtimers Grieve

MILAN (AP)—They've cut down the old crooked tree.

When news that the old landmark had fallen spread about this village, there was a great deal of headshaking among the old folks and a feeling that somehow something should have preserved it.

It was hauled down by a village bulldozer after the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., its owner, requested the village to destroy it because it was believed to be a hazard.

The company had spend hundreds of dollars over the years in an effort to save it.

The old maple, once featured in Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" column, was the source of considerable speculation both by residents and tourists, who used to stop and photograph its weird conformation.

Although a history of Milan written some years ago maintained that the tree was twisted while still a twig when it became entwined in a rail fence, the census is that it was one of a series of trees bent by Indians to mark turns in the trail which US23 later followed.

Hopes that the age of the tree might be determined after it was cut vanished when it was found that the entire center, part of which had been patched with concrete was rotten.

Hal Boyle Says:

Stokowski Sees U.S. Renaissance

NEW YORK (AP) — Leopold Stokowski, foreseeing the coming of "an American renaissance," called today for "a higher standard of inner living."

Now nearing 75, Stokowski, for nearly half a century one of the world's most controversial symphony orchestra conductors, said:

"Athens had its great period. Italy had its renaissance. And America is going to have its renaissance, too. I feel we are seeing its initial phase now.

"There has been a great development of public taste in the United States. America is not musically illiterate. It is growing and evolving musically — very fast."

Recalling that when he first came to this country from Europe in 1905 the only well-known symphonies were in Boston, New York an Chicago, Stokowski said:

"Now every university has one, and many high schools do, too. We have vastly more orchestras than any other country of the world of comparable size."

The maestro, now conductor of the Houston Symphony, sees the increasing leisure afforded by the machine age as the first step toward the creation of a world-inspiring cultural renaissance here.

"We have already the highest standard of living of any country in history," he observed. "That is, in terms of physical and material things — food, clothing, housing and transportation.

"What we need to concentrate on now is a high standard of living for the inner life—thought, religion, the arts, science, imagination, sensitivity to nature and human relations — everything that goes on inside us."

Stokowski conducts an interview as he does an orchestra, with a mixture of charm and Olympian aloofness. Time has whitened the maestro's famed leonine mane, but, sitting in an armchair in his East Side apartment, he gestured now and then with his pale, eloquent hands as if calling on invisible violins to emphasize a remark.

Once, on asking him a question, I had the feeling of one who disrupts a concert by a loud and uncontrollable sneeze.

"I never discuss myself," replied Stokowski, and the concert resumed.

He said he thought America's cultural renaissance could be best stimulated by creating a higher standard of inner living among children. He has two young sons of his own, and derives personal satisfaction from a series of children's concerts given by the Houston orchestra.

Once a year the orchestra holds an art exhibit of children's paintings inspired by these concerts.

But Stokowski, who started playing the piano and violin very young himself, thinks it is a mistake for parents to force either painting or music lessons on children between the ages of 4 and 9.

"If the children ask for the lessons themselves, it is all right," he said. "Otherwise, no.

"Young children are interested in only one thing—play. They create their own rhythms and melodies spontaneously while playing.

"If you can make an educational thing seem like play to them, they'll want to do it. But if you force them to do something, they will lose their spontaneity and their talent will turn imitative."

To Stokowski the replacement of spontaneity by the urge to imitate spells the death of creative ability.

Where will the American renaissance flower — in Texas? To adopted Texan Stokowski this requires no great stretch of credulity.

"I am a Texan," he said, his blue eyes twinkling. "Already in Houston we have 30 scientific laboratories, a symphony orchestra, a ballet, an opera society and two art museums. And many other Texas cities have equally good institutions."

Stokowski rose, bowing. The concert was over.

Bob Considine Says:

Capital Woos Spanish Ambassador

WASHINGTON (INS) — The popularity in the nation's capital of youthful Spanish Ambassador Jose Maria Areilza, Count de Motrico, is symbolic of America's recent discovery of that hard-working, militantly anti-Communist, strategically placed nation.

Areilza, a lawyer-industrialist-author—war hero and former mayor (at 26) of Bilbao, looks like a recently retired matador and moves about Washington with a speed that would dismay his siesta-taking ancestors. He is trusted and admired by our top people.

They have sought his counsel on matters as pertinent to today's front pages as the length of the great runways Spanish engineers and workers are completing for our Strategic Air Command at record low cost to U.S. taxpayers.

They seek his thinking, too, on the pending question of Spain's entrance into NATO. As of today, 35 members of the House of Representatives have introduced resolutions urging the Eisenhower administration to propose Spain for membership. There are two Senate resolutions along the same line, introduced by Senators Bridges and Wiley and bearing the names of 31 additional members of the Upper House.

NEEDS NEW BLOOD

These Congressmen feel that NATO needs new blood as much as the U.S. needs Spanish air and naval bases—especially now that Britain and several other countries are of a mind to withdraw in part from full participation in the alliance.

In view of these events it is difficult to believe that only a few years ago Areilza—a man of ambassadorial rank — would not have been permitted to set foot in the beautiful Spanish embassy (a splendid place built for but never used by Calvin Coolidge). We had joined a United Nations agreement to exercise diplomatic sanctions against Spain in an effort to unseat Franco.

The motion was introduced in U.N. by the Communist bloc for the most transparent reason. But we went along. Franco, a dictator albeit benign, easily survived this treatment, thanks partly to the fact that Latin American countries called the Red-backed embargo preposterous and refused to withdraw their top diplomats from Madrid or send Spanish ambassadors packing.

The fruit or our massive change of mind will soon be revealed. The great SAC bases at Torrejon, Moron and Saragossa will close a vital gap in our atomic containment of Soviet aggression.

They will serve, too, to take up the slack if something should happen to close down SAC's North African and Saudi Arabian fields. Gen. Curt LeMay's B-47s and B-52s will be able to use these tremendous strips and maintenance depots any day now.

Puerto Rico Shows Value of Good Neighbor Policy

SAN JUAN (INS)—Puerto Rico, a pleasant 3,334 square-mile island in the Caribbean is Uncle Sam's show window for its good-neighbor policy.

It is the best answer for charges of "Yankee imperialism." It serves as living proof that the old dollar diplomacy is dead.

Governor Luis Munoz Marin says:

"The American people are not a colonialistic people, and the Puerto Rican people are not nationalistic."

Hence, they get along well together under the unique "commonwealth" association, whereby Puerto Rico is part of the United States, yet is neither a state nor a colony.

Puerto Rico is a "freely associated state," a happy cross between statehood and independence. Puerto Ricans are American citizens, yet they do not pay a federal income tax.

ENACT OWN LAWS

They run their own government, enact their own laws, raise their own flag side by side with the stars and stripes, and except for foreign relations, immigrations, currency, customs and the post office, they have almost complete autonomy.

In addition to collecting no taxes from the island, the federal government pours millions of dollars in aid for public works projects, veterans benefits, roads, housing, etc. All U. S. government agencies operating in any mainland state may also work, and do so, in Puerto Rico.

But despite its close economic links to the mainland Puerto Rico culturally remains more Latin American than North American. Spanish is still the predominant language, though generally the well-educated Puerto Ricans speak English, too.

Munoz, who is the second native but first elected governor of Puerto Rico, believes achieving a "commonwealth" status, which is a new concept in American interstate or intercolonial relations, was "a great triumph" for Puerto Rico, but he believes the relationship should evolve further towards more local government and less federal government.

A constantly increasing number of Latin Americans traveling to Puerto Rico, which is fast becoming a tourist paradise, are returning home well impressed by the island experiment in democracy under its freely associated state status. They are more ready than ever to discount Communist propaganda charges of "imperialism" against the United States.

Do City Dogs Need Tranquilizer Drugs?

CHICAGO (AP)—Whizzing hubcaps jelly-fingered children and aggressive big dogs are producing ulcers in "man's best friend," a Pennsylvania veterinarian claims.

Glenney cited traffic, unfriendly contacts with other dogs and getting enough food as factors leading to dog distress. The mauling they receive from children is another bothersome thing, he said.

"Colduct," a new type of steel, welding-proof superductile to withstand low temperatures, is being launched by a firm in Stockholm, Sweden.

Artificial Kidney in Use

OSLO — Norway's first artificial kidney is now in use at National Hospital in Oslo. It is an improved and simplified version of the device originated by Dr. Nils Alwall of Lund University in Sweden.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

100 Civitan Delegates Gather Here

Over a hundred members and delegates attended the Great Lakes District Council Meeting of Civitan International, held at the Waldron Hotel this weekend with Pontiac Civitans as hosts.

Highlight of the conference was the banquet held on Saturday evening with John Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce as toastmaster. He complimented the Pontiac Civitans not only for their many civic projects but also for the participation of so many of their members in other civic endeavors.

Speaker of the evening was George A. Dondero, former congressman and consultant on the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., who spoke on the seaway and showed descriptive pictures of the project.

Also appearing on the banquet program was Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein, chaplain of Civitan, who gave the invocation. Various greetings were given by officers of the district and Civitan International. Throughout the evening variety music was presented by the Hy-Fys, a Pontiac barbershop quartet.

Mayor William B. Donaldson welcomed the Civitans at its opening session Saturday morning, which was followed by a business meeting. Charles McMahan, district governor, paid honor to John B. Wilson, president of the Pontiac Club, and announced that the Pontiac club again had won first place in the district in the sale of fruit cakes which pay for the many club projects.

Delegates from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Ontario were registered by Richard G. Jarvis. Arrangements for the convention were made by Robert C. Tricker.

A friendship tea for Civinettes, wives of the Civitan members who were in Pontiac over the weekend at the meeting, was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Wiersema on West Iroquois road.

TOURED AREA

The guests met at 10 a.m. and traveled to Cranbrook Institute of Science and on to Northland Shopping Center for further sightseeing and shopping. Mrs. Charles G. Uligan, as hostess, made arrangements for luncheon at Devon Gables for the guests.

Mrs. Charles McMahan of Flint; Mrs. Dave Katz of Gary, Indiana; Mrs. Keith Proud of Fort Wayne, Indiana; and Mrs. William Thompson of Chicago were special guests, as they have all entertained Civinettes at meetings in former years.

Wives of the Civitan officers acted as hostesses for the afternoon with Mrs. Robert C. Tricker, Mrs. Philip Wargelin, and Mrs. John B. Wilson assisting.

Garden Club Hears Lecture on Geology

Helen Martin, geologist and lecturer, traced Michigan's geological history from its beginning through the proterozoic period, the ice age, up to the present time.

During the illustrated lecture held for members of the Sylvan Lake Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association, Miss Martin showed the types of copper and iron formation in the upper peninsula and the salt beds under Detroit that are used today for gas storage.

She also stressed the various kinds of rocks and their value to modern civilization, at the recent meeting.

Assisting with arrangements for the tea which followed were Mrs. Walter Schroeder, chairman; Mrs. T. D. Sawyer, Mrs. E. A. Bartlett, Mrs. John Roeper, Mrs. Paul Antilla, Mrs. Willard McRae, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Kenneth Ollis, Mrs. Sam Warwick and Mrs. A. E. Kohn.

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Yul (Old Bald) Brynner and spirited Swedish stepper Ingrid Bergman captured the fancy of the oddsmakers today in the "Future Book" on the 29th annual academy award Oscar derby.

The best picture sweepstakes shaped up as a closer duel, with "The King and I" and "Around the World in 80 Days" rated as entries to beat.

Chocolate Is Grated Before Using

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Are you having a crowd in and do you want to make them a yummy chocolate cake? Then try Mrs. William Murphy's recipe. The chocolate is grated, hot melted, which makes the cake a little unusual.

Mrs. Murphy says she keeps busy with her two youngsters. She and her husband are still trying to get all the gardening and landscaping done in their yard.

GRATED CHOCOLATE CAKE
By Mrs. William Murphy

4 squares unsweetened chocolate, grated
½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup boiling water
1½ teaspoons baking soda
½ cup buttermilk
2 eggs, beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
Dash of salt

Put chocolate, butter or margarine and sugar into a bowl. Add boiling water and stir until chocolate is melted and blended. Add soda to buttermilk and add to first mixture. Add eggs and vanilla.

Sift flour and salt together and add. Beat smooth, using an egg beater instead of a spoon if you do not have a mixer. Pour into two greased 9-inch layer pans. Bake 40 minutes at 375 degrees. This makes a very moist cake.

'I Have Last 18 Pounds and Feel Wonderful'

Marathon Dieter Asks How to Remain Slim

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A reader's letter before me says: "I have just completed the sixth week of Marathon. It would be impossible for me to tell you what a difference it has made in my life. Now I cannot understand why I waited for years to do what I could do in six short weeks.

"I have lost 18 pounds and feel wonderful. I also have lost 4 inches from my waistline, 3 from my abdomen and 2 from my hips, which makes my measurements just about perfect.

"I had not admitted to myself how this overweight was affecting me. Now I feel gay and youthful because I feel attractive. I am no longer self-conscious. I now want to go dancing and bowling. Before I made excuses to my husband and stayed at home, even though I am only 40 years old.

"Please tell me how I can stay this way. I am not going to increase my diet until I hear from you."

The counterpart of this little drama is being enacted in homes all over the country. Thousands of women have regained their youthful figures and want to know how to hold that line.

It is very easy to slip back into old eating habits. Here are some warnings. Do not immediately begin eating all of the rich and luscious items you have denied yourself during Marathon. Leave the trimmings off for a little longer but increase your calorie intake 200 or 300 a day.

Watch the scales. If you continue to lose, add another 200 calories daily and keep track of your weight. With experimentation you can find the number of calories you need for health and figure. This varies in the individual because of the differences in physical activity, metabolism and so forth.

It is a scientific fact that you can "get away" with more special occasions food-wise when you go over your ideal daily caloric intake, if you will keep your weight at the ideal point for a few weeks.

From here on you should follow as a habit the type foods you find on a reducing diet, but you can eat more of them and add some of the trimmings once in a while. Just take it easy. Do not revert entirely to former habits in food.

This is the last time I will mention Marathon until late next summer when I print a few letters from Marathon winners. If you failed to join Marathon and would like to do so send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

PUT PEOPLE FIRST, SAYS CAREER WIFE

Columns I have written recently about the life of a housewife have stimulated much reader mail. It has been very interesting. I have received some brickbats and some hurrahs.

I can tell that the brickbat writers have no idea that I am a housewife with two grown children. They picture me aloof from and ignorant of such things, living in a state far removed from the wear and tear of housekeeping and child rearing.

How wrong they are! I have become an expert juggler. For 20 years I have juggled perfume and ink, false eyelashes and closet cleaning, my career and my social and family obligations. In my office you almost always can find a sheet of paper with a grocery list on one side and copy ideas on the other.

Therefore I know how important it is to learn to work in a relaxed manner, to take some time for oneself even if some things do not get done, to avoid getting into the rut of feeling pushed all the time, of chronic fatigue and boredom. Along this line I think you will be interested in excerpts from a reader's recent letter.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I think I have some helpful suggestions to give because I am going through the same thing the housewife who blew her top is going through and have managed to achieve some peace.

FIVE CHILDREN

"I was a successful career woman in advertising, got married and now have five children—three in school, a 2-year-old and a six-month-old baby. Besides this I have a career still, so to speak, being a practicing and exhibiting artist.

"In the first place we all have more to do, if we are to do it all perfectly, than we possibly can. Then let us put first things first.

"People are more important than things — any people, any things. This means that whatever directly concerns anyone is ahead of secondary things.

"For instance, if a neighbor calls me on the phone and uses the time I had put aside for doing my hair (when the children are napping) I no longer get fussed. I use the time to relax and I can't relax if I am fuming. People are important; things aren't except for the use of people."

Tomorrow: "Being Is More Important Than Doing," says reader.

Lansing, FBI Would Like to Know

Is Mrs. Thorpe Spending Loot at Sunny Acapulco?

LANSING (AP)—In early March the breezes waft in softly from the sea at sunny Acapulco on Mexico's Pacific shore.

The blow blustery and cold in northerly Michigan.

Mrs. Anne V. Thorpe, manager of the Secretary of State's branch office at St. Clair shores, thought it over and decided to go south—literally and figuratively.

She locked the door of her combined auto license plate office and dry cleaning shop and cleaned the state out of $75,166 in receipts from rush period license sales.

It will be a year next Saturday since Mrs. Thorpe headed south of the border with her husband, Floyd 47, nine-year-old daughter, Kay and the bundle of state cash.

DEMS HOLD BAG

An election was coming up and Democrats, responsible for her appointment, were left holding the bag politically after Mrs. Thorpe flew the coop.

Republicans happily started making political hay, and their cause wasn't hurt any when it came out that the fugitive had made some pretty fat contributions for Democratic party purposes.

Since last March 2, the plump 42-year-old mother who created such a furor with her disappearing act has evaded the police of two countries and the FBI.

OUT OF SIGHT

"The amazing thing," commented Sidney H. Woolner, assistant secretary of State, "is how two adults and a child—strangers in the country and apparently free-spending—could so completely drop out of sight."

Some fascinating glimpses of life abroad for the little family group from St. Clair Shores were reported not long after the flight south.

The Thorpes were seen enjoying a bull fight with a gay party at Mexico City. They were spotted basking in the sunshine at plush Acapulco. They checked out of a swank Mexico City hotel, just hours ahead of local police.

REPORT ARREST

There was one report last April that the party had been arrested in the state of Yucatan, 650 miles southeast of Mexico City. This was followed by a quick and positive denial from Mexican authorities.

The trail has grown dim since then and there are as many theories as there are people interested in the case.

Some think the Thorpe family must have skipped on to another country.

There is a persistent rumor that they might have met with foul play—those Yankee dollars would be a prize haul for either bandits or an unscrupulous adventurer.

The tight-lipped FBI, now handling the case, refuses to speculate on the possibility.

A new gas pipeline now links Mexico City, Vera Cruz and Paza Rica, Mexico.

NO ROOM, COON — J. A. Mull Jr., of Wichita, Kan., will get his pet raccoon "Calhoun" off his head — and off his hands, as well. Mull said he loves the pet, but Calhoun has taking ways. So, with squawks from burglarized neighbors mounting, Mull has decreed that "Calhoun must go."

Test Missile Tracker With 300-Mile Range

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has a new giant telescope tracker which can follow the flight of missiles as far as 300 miles away and show them on a screen in color.

Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association, says the telescope is currently undergoing tests at a military proving ground location.

The ton and one-half instrument which is equipped with a 400-pound lens, will be used to track and photograph high altitude meteorological balloons for their locations and altitude, to locate objects such as rockets and artillery shells, and to evaluate radar systems.

1 Year Ago Stalin Was Ogre; Today He's Hero

TRANSPLANTED — Snow, applied by the brush of Artist Winter, gives a picturesque appearance to the Waterford General Store, now located on the green at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. Built in Waterford in 1854, the old-time business establishment was a place where everything from drugs to dry goods and household furnishings could be purchased. Reminiscent of those days, the store now is stocked with patent medicines, notions, children's games and toys, groceries, candy, buggy whips and dry goods. It is a favorite attraction for tourists.

Krushchev Talk Now Backfires

Led to Satellite Doubts, Riots and Revolutions; Undermined Red Power

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago today Nikita Khrushchev made a history-making speech in the Kremlin—still unpublished in Russia—denouncing Joseph Stalin for unspeakable crimes.

Now he is being forced to eat his words. On Jan. 17 he declared in public that "Stalin was a model Communist."

This is the same Stalin that Khrushchev, just a year ago, called "capricious, irritable and brutal," to whom he attributed "a persecution mania" and a "mania of grandeur," whose acts he described as "shameful" and "monstrous."

When Khrushchev exposed Stalin Feb. 25, 1956, he probably didn't realize the consequences. In the last 12 months the speech has shaken the Soviet empire and undermined Khrushchev's own power. It exposed the faults and brutality not only of Stalin—but of the Soviet system as well.

A great spiritual ferment and unrest among all peoples under the Communist yoke was given a tremendous push. The subjects of communism, particularly young people, were shocked out of passivity and submission to authority. Today people in Russia and other Communist countries are openly questioning the foundations of the Communist totalitarian system.

A blow was delivered at all Communist parties outside Communist-dominated countries, particularly in Western Europe. Moscow's leadership of the international Communist movement was jolted.

As a result of the Khrushchev revelations, Poland went through a period of unrest and self-searching. The bloody Poznan bread-and-freedom riots followed in early summer. In late October came the establishment of a national Communist regime under Wladyslaw Gomulka free of direct Soviet domination in internal affairs.

In Hungary, unrest unseated the Soviet puppet, Stalinist Matyas Rakosi, and then mounted till it burst into open revolution in late October. The Kremlin put down the revolution with armed force, gained the eternal hate of all Hungarians and exposed to the world the brutality of Communist imperialism.

After the events in Poland and the revolution in Hungary, the Kremlin grew frightened. It slowed down the movement toward reforms in Soviet life. It brought succesive delegations from its satellites to Moscow to repair the strained lines of control. Meanwhile, developing economic problems have forced the Kremlin to attempt to reorganize Soviet economic life.

The consequences to Soviet imperialism of Khrushchev's attack a year ago on Stalin have only begun.

SKIPPER TO RESCUE — Home safe and sound, three-year-old Ernest "Pumpkin" Radley of San Francisco smiles through his freckles as he embraces his wire-haired terrier "Skipper" who provided police with the clue that returned the boy to his worried mother. Picked up in a park, "Pumpkin" couldn't tell lawmen where he lived, so they checked the dog's tag with the SPCA to find out his address.

Route Joins Tokyo, Copenhagen

Open New Polar Air Lane

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Scandinavian Airlines today completed the inaugural flight of its Tokyo-to-Copenhagen service across the North Pole. Another SAS airliner raced the other way to open the Copenhagen-to-Tokyo route.

The two big DC7Cs missed a carefully planned rendezvous 10,000 feet above the geographic North Pole by three minutes, but the passengers toasted the occasion on top of the world with champagne.

SAS has been operating regular flights between Los Angeles and Stockholm over the pole since 1954.

The plane from Tokyo landed its 45 passengers and crew at Copenhagen an hour and a half behind schedule, at 9:45 a. m. (3:45 a. m., EST)), after headwinds slowed it off Norway and forced it to refuel at Oslo. The plane had refueled earlier in Anchorage, Alaska.

The other airliner, with 47 aboard, was due in the Japanese capital at 6:30 p. m., EST. It also refueled in Anchorage.

SAS plans twice-a-week service over the pole between Denmark and Japan and expects to cut 20 hours off the present route around Southern Asia. The shortest distance via Anchorage is almost 7,000 miles, but weather conditions can increase the flying distance considerably.

Train Frees Car OK —Driver Goes to Jail

OVERBROOK, Okla. (AP) — Witnesses said Earnest Howard Bond, 50, of Oklahoma City, didn't want any help when his car got struck between a main line and side track on a railroad intersection here.

They said Bond insisted on trying to free the car by spinning the wheels. A passenger train came along and did the job for him.

Bond stepped out without a scratch. He was taken to jail and booked on a drunk driving charge.

Plane Buzzes Burning Home

Noise Awakens Family of Four in Georgia; All Flee Safely

LOCUST GROVE, Ga. (AP) — An unknown aviator twice flew his plane at near chimney height over a burning farm house and was credited with saving the lives of four persons.

Elbert and Betty Seabolt and their 3-month-old son Joseph were asleep in the bedroom of their four-room house. Betty's father W. C. Arendale was asleep in another room.

They heard the plane roar over the house about 10:20 Friday night. When the plane went over a second time Elbert Seabolt got up to see if anything was wrong with the plane.

When he looked out the window he saw the glow of a fire and realized the roof of his house was ablaze.

The family got out safely and managed to save a few things but the house burned to the ground. The Seabolts tried to identify the pilot of the plane without success.

Last night Elbert and Betty, who are both 24, made public this letter:

"Dear aviator: We want to tell you that your thoughtfulness and daring saved the lives of our whole family Friday night. Little Joe, if he could talk, would add his thanks, even though he doesn't realize what happened. Our loss was tragedy enough for a young people just getting started, but we never would have even had a chance if you hadn't flown low and waked us up. Thank the Lord there are people like you."

Pope OKs Anesthetics, Opposes Tranquilizers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII says it is not immoral or un-Christian to use anesthetics or other drugs to ease pain when doctors approve. But he maintains the sale of tranquillizing pills must be curbed "to prevent grave physical and moral damages to society."

Addressing 500 doctors at a special audience yesterday, the pontiff approved the use of drugs to relieve pain even though they shortened life. But he said the drugs must not "prevent the carrying out of other moral and religious duties."

The Pope based his 45-minute address on questions posed last fall by the Italian Society of the Science of Anesthetics. He said, "Particular circumstances can impose another line of conduct, but the Christian's duty of renunciation and of interior purification is not an obstacle to the use of anesthetics."

Calling on public authorities to regulate the sale and use of tranqualizing drugs, he said that a person who uses them improperly "cannot complete his daily work if he remains continually submerged in a twilight state." He added:

"It follows then that he cannot upset or suppress his consciousness only to obtain pleasant sensations. . .even if he seeks only a certain euphoria (sense of well-being). . . Facts show that the abuse of stupefiers (narcotics) leads to total oblivion of the most basic needs of personal and family life."

Regarding anesthesia, the Pope said that "the doctor who accepts its methods enters into contradition neither with the natural moral order nor with the specifically Christian ideal. He is seeking, in accordance with the ordinance of the Creater, to bring suffering under men's control."

But he added that "it would be clearly unlawful to make use of anesthetics against the expressed will of the dying person."

Turning to religious considerations in regard to inducing unconsciousness by means of anesthetics and other drugs, He said:

"Within the limits laid down (for the proper medical use of anesthesia; and provided one observes the required conditions, the state of insensibility involving a lessening or a suppression of consciousness is permitted by natural morality and is in keeping with the spirit of the Gospel."

Stage Party for Son of Barbara Hutton

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Lance Reventlow, son of heiress Barbara Hutton, is now 21, and he's had a party to prove it.

Miss Hutton was the guest of honor at the party, held last night in the luxurious two-bedroom home bought for Reventlow in Beverly Hills by the heiress.

"It was a very quiet dinner party—just 20 or 30 intimate friends attended," said Miss Hutton's secretary. Reventlow, a sports car racer, invited mostly friends of his own age bracket, the secretary said.

Miss Hutton is staying at a Beverly Hills hotel. She has been here a month.

Lance is her son by Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, Danish nobleman from whom she was divorced in 1941.

New World Milk Record Set Sunday at Romeo

Colby's Cameo Newest Champ

State Treasurer Sanford Completes Final Test; 88 Pounds Daily Peak

She is Langmeadow Cameo, a record-breaking Guernsey cow, who was the center of attraction yesterday afternoon when some 100 noted dairymen and state dignitaries gathered at Colby Dale Farms northeast of here to pay their homage.

Cameo—as she is known by her handlers—was completing her 365 day production tests in which she set the highest record ever made by a Guernsey cow on twice a day milking. She produced 22,816 pounds of milk containing 1,286 pounds of butterfat.

Cameo's output for her 730th milking yesterday was 27 pounds—bringing her total to 53.8 pounds on the final day of testing.

Her peak of production was reached last May when she gave 88 pounds a day.

On hand for the final milking ceremonies were officials of the Department of Agriculture, Michigan State University, American Guernsey Cattle Club and other interested cattlemen.

Gov. Williams' official representative was state treasurer, Sanford A. Brown. He took over the milking chore from Cameo's regular milker Ted Binion, as the test was concluded. After the milk was weighed, the group adjourned to the home of Cameo's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Colby, for refreshments.

Colby is a retired Detroit brewer.

In addition to setting a world's Guernsey record, farm manager Howard Rainier said "Cameo's butterfat record is the second highest ever made by any breed."

"Her accomplishment is even more remarkable" he observed, "because she suffered a foot injury early in the test period. She was operated upon and for 60 days she was hardly able to get up to be milked."

Cameo, who will be 7 years old March 4, will take a rest now, until the birth of her calf in April.

Her owner is now looking to her stablemate and cousin, Langmeadow Minnie, for new laurels. Minnie's production pace in the first three months already exceeds that of the present champion.

The tests are supervised by the MSU Extension Service.

STAN MIDGLEY

Color Travel Film Slated for Waterford

World renowned adventurer and photographer Stan Midgley will present his color film, "Canadian Rockies," at 8 p.m. Tuesday, at Isaac E. Crary Junior high school in Waterford Township.

Canadian Rockies is the fifth of six travelogues scheduled this season by the Waterford Recreation Department.

"This program is expected, by many, to be one of the best ever to appear in the township," according to recreation director Tom Belton.

"Awheel and Afloat in the Canadian Rockies with Stan Midgley," will feature pictures of Banff, Lake Louise, Jasper, The Columbia Icefield, Yoho Valley and Moraine Lake. These are but a few of the superbly photographed beauty spots long favored by the Canadian traveler.

"MISSILE" — Looking like a gleaming guided missile, this device is actually an electrostatic generator at the atomic research center in Aldermaston, England. It can build up six million volts of electricity.

Asks Broadening of Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration recommended today that about 2½ million employes, mainly store workers, be included under the $1-an-hour federal minimum wage law.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell presented the administration recommendations to a Senate Labor subcommittee.

Mitchell proposed in prepared testimony that the law be broadened to include employers doing at least one million dollars worth of business a year and employing a minimum of 100 employes.

He did not propose any increase in the minimum, nor did he suggest that the additional workers to be covered should come under the law's provision for premium overtime pay.

The law now covers about 24 million workers. An additional 20 million workers not included are outside the present scope of the interstate commerce clause of the law.

Novi Township Moves to Halt Wixom Incorporation

NOVI TOWNSHIP — Novi Township Board approved a resolution Saturday, authorizing Township Attorney Archie Leonard to take necessary legal steps to halt the incorporation of Wixom as a village.

The resolution, as recorded and released by Township Clerk Hadley Bachert, reads as follows:

"Moved by (Harold) Miller and seconded by (Frank) Clark, to authorize Township Attorney Leonard to take necessary legal steps to halt the incorporation of Wixom area."

The decision to start legal action stemmed from a tie vote on the incorporation issue on Feb. 5 at a special election in Novi Township, Bachert said. The deadlock at the Novi polls apparently left certain board members doubtful that residents in the Novi section of the Wixom area want village incorporation.

Residents in the Commerce Township section of the Wixom area approved the proposal for incorporation by a substantial majority. Wixom is a part of both Novi and Commerce Townships.

The sum total of all votes in both townships decided the incorporation question; the Commerce majority of "yes" votes settled the issue.

At Wixom, the Charter Commission elected on Feb. 5 will meet tonight in the home of a Commission member to continue work on the drawing up of a village charter. Novi Township's decision will not delay or postpone the work on the charter, according to Kenneth Rocker, chairman of the commission.

The charter group is stepping up its pace on the job of preparing a charter.

A leader of the incorporation movement, Herbert R. Abrams of Wixom, pointed out that Novi Township would not lose any tax income from the Lincoln plant now being completed in the Novi section of Wixom as the result of village incorporation.

Bachert revealed the same information.

She Prefers Life in Trailer . . . Oops, Mobile Home

No Mortgaged Cottage for This Wife

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Mrs. Peggy Swanbom is a sweet young housewife who would scarcely scare a mouse, and one could best imagine her living in a vine-covered cottage amid a picket fence and girlish, chintzy dreams.

But Mrs. Swanbom does nothing of the kind In fact, she is so anti-cottage and chintz that she is about to be hailed, clear across Route 66, as "Mrs. Mobile Homemaker of 1957."

She drove into town, dragging her husband and house behind her, to explain why.

"Positively the easiest, cheapest and safest way to keep a family," she said firmly, "is to live in a trailer."

"Only we don't call them trailers anymore," reminded her friendly press agent. "Trailers are those big boxcar sort of things they attach to trucks. You live in a mobile home."

"That's right," said Peggy, the mobile homemaker, blushing lightly. "We call them mobile homes and, as Bob can tell you, they are fine for keeping a family together."

YES, VERY CLOSE

Bob, Peggy's husband and an Air Force captain, smiled thoughtfully.

"We're very close," he said. "Especially since we got the hi-fi and TV. They take up a lot of room."

"The reasons we live in a trai-mobile home — are many," Peggy went on. "In the first place, as we said, you must learn to love and understand one another very well, because you live so compactly all the time . . ."

"Arguments are out of the question," said Bob.

"We now have a six-year-old daughter and I'm not being immodest, am I, when I say she's probably one of the neatest and best-mannered children you might find," Peg went on. "Just like us, she knows she must put everything away when she's finished with it.

"In our house, a toy left on the floor is a conspicuous part of the decor, you might say."

The Swanboms have lived on wheels, so to speak, since they were married and figure that they can have one more child and still handle the arrangement comfortably.

If it's a neat one," said Bob, "you understand."

ADMITTEDLY LEERY

Although Peggy was admittedly leery about moving from her parents' comfortable modern house in Tampa to marry a mobile home type of man, she quickly took to this business of roving the land with her house.

Partly they chose to remain in a mobile home because the captain's work requires him to shift rather frequently from one air base to another. Even a stronger reason is that "economically it's a great way to save for the future.

"In six years, Bob can retire from the service, (he'll be 38, Peggy 32) and then, possibly, we'll move to a house in a warm climate like Mexico. By that time we should have enough money saved to live comfortably on a pension."

Their trailer — goofed again! — cost $5,000, and the rent on real estate on which they park is only $20 to $30 a month.

Mrs. Swanbom, who will preside over the 20th annual National Mobile Homes Show at New York's Coliseum next month, was chosen —naturally—for her beauty and vitality.

"If I am well preserved," she said shyly, "it may be because no matter how I stall around, I can't seem to spend more than 45 minutes a day on housework."

Extinct Animals Roam the Zoo!

2 German Zoologists Breed Fierce Aurochs, Tiny Forest Horse

WASHINGTON — When British researchers recently irradiated tulips, causing them to revert to their wild state of a thousand years ago, they were introducing an atomic tool into science's long-time efforts to re-create extinct animals and plants.

Outstanding accomplishments to date have been the genetic resurrection of the fierce aurochs, ancestors of today's domestic cattle, and the tarpan, or wild forest horse, says the National Geographic Society.

Perhaps the world's most celebrated back-breeders are the famous German zoologists, the brothers Heinz and Lutz Heck. More than 25 years ago they determined to re-create the aurochs—ancient kings of Europe's forests. While aurochs had been extinct for 300 years, medieval authors had described them in detail, and several illustrations and prehistoric cave paintings offered near-perfect portraits.

SELECTIVE BREEDING

Using semiwild cattle from Corsica and crossing them with fighting bulls from southern France, Lutz Heck—with one eye on the cave paintings—selectively mated the offspring. Eventually he eliminated all modern refinements such as fleshiness and docility. What remained were primeval aurochs: the bulls a savage black with a yellowish stripe down the back and wicked, forward-curving horns.

Meanwhile, starting with several common domestic strains, Heinz Heck had achieved an identical result. A sizable herd of aurochs now roams the Hellabrun Animal Park in Munich.

At about the same time, and using the same technique, Lutz Heck also re-bred the small, hardy forest horse, ultimate sire of present-day domestic breeds. Working with a wild Mongolian stallion and mares from Iceland and Gotland, Heck obtained a putty-colored, stiff-maned tarpan with a characteristic stripe down the middle of its back. Examples of this living fossil may be seen in Chicago's Brookfield Zoo as well as in Germany.

CLIP JOINT — A bear out of the bushes is worth cash in the hand for Yoshio Osaki, of Los Angeles, whose odd business is clipping cypress and eugenia plants into odd shapes for them as like their plants in odd shapes. Here he's working on a baby elephant. Alongside is a camel (?) giraffe (?). Yoshio will clip you out an eagle for $22, but a life-sized bear will cost you $150.

Two bosses were talking about a secretary who wanted to switch departments, from one boss to the other. "Is she steady?" asked the one about to get her. "If she was any steadier," replied the one who had her, "she'd be motionless."—Earl Wilson.

New Skim Milk Recipe Takes Off Weight Fast

By Ruth Whitney

A new "hi-vi" skim milk cocktail that helps you lose weight without feeling tired or suffering hunger pangs, has greatly impressed doctors today.

It's based on the discovery that your overeating of fattening foods can be due to a lack of vital nutrients in your body. To make up for this lack, you eat the foods that make you fat.

To overcome this deficiency, a new high-vitamin powder has been created. It is named Addit because you add it to a glass of skim milk (or water, orange juice or other liquid) and drink it before meals, 3 times a day.

The result is sensational. You lose those hunger pangs, eat less —lose weight fast. Addit actually contains food catalysts that help you "burn" fat away.

Then, as Addit floods your system with a concentration of 13 vitamins, minerals, other nutrients (and as you lose those excess pounds), you quickly lose that over-tired feeling, gain in vitality. As Mrs. Evelyn White says: "I'm no longer nervous and listless."

Addit is delicious, too. Get a bottle at any drug store. Results are guaranteed or money back.

FREE BOOKLET, "Now...Reducing Can Be Easy!" Tells all you need to know for safe, fast reducing the Addit way. Contains a large selection of easy, tested reducing recipes, plus calorie information on all common foods. Illustrated. Easily worth 35¢-50¢. Just write Addit, P.O. Chevy tops all cars at Daytona —officially!

Coveted Manufacturers' Trophy won by Chevrolet as "best performing U. S. automobile"!

There's no question about it now—official NASCAR* trials prove that the 1957 Chevrolet is America's outstanding performance car!

Running in the famous Safety and Performance Weeks competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolets from all over the country piled up the largest point margin ever recorded to capture the official Manufacturers' Trophy!

Daytona is America's greatest open competition for stock cars. Claims don't count — just performance. Electronic timing equipment and keen-eyed NASCAR officials guarantee that results are impartial, that all cars are regular production models. And here are the cold, unanswerable figures:

FLYING MILE (two-way run)

CLASS FOUR (six-cylinder class)
Chevrolet—1, 2, 3; Car A—4; Chevrolet—5!

ACCELERATION

CLASS FOUR (six-cylinder class)
Car Y—1; Chevrolet—2, 3, 4, 5.

Chevrolet—1st—and every place in the first 18!

Even more significant for the average driver was the special competition for the "Big Three"—the definitive contest for cars in the low-price field. These were single-carburetor V8's equipped with automatic transmissions, the most popular kind of car Americans buy. And what happened here? Take a look at the results:

"BIG THREE" (flying mile)
Chevrolet—1, 2, 3; Car A—4; Chevrolet—5!

What does all this prove?

It proves—without any room for argument—that Chevrolet is the best performance buy in America. In every event—for six-cylinder cars, for high-performance V8's, for automatic drive single-carburetor V8's — Chevrolets piled up overwhelming margins.

There's an even better way for you to sample what this means in your own terms: Drop into your Chevrolet dealer's showroom the next day or so. Drive a Chevrolet—any model that suits your taste. Whatever it is, you'll find championship performance, right across the board!

And remember this: Your Chevrolet man is giving winning deals on the winning car—you never got so much for your money!

Hot Putter Keeps Gene Bone on Top

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gene Bone, a newcomer who just four days ago was unknown even to many of the stars on the winter golf tour, held a two-stroke lead today as he made his final bid for the $7,500 in top money in the $36,000 Houston Open.

The friendly, smiling 25-year-old from Pontiac, Mich., used good putting to overcome a few bad shots yesterday and boost his lead with a 54-hole 69-67-70—206.

This was 10 under par for the 7,200-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course and enabled Bone to beat off a surge by Bob Harris, former National Collegiate champion from Winnetka, Ill.

Harris, seven strokes back after 36 holes, was red hot with a red putter, fashioning a seven-under 65 third round for a 209 that moved him a notch ahead of Jimmy Demaret, a Houston native and gallery favorite.

Bone began play yesterday one stroke ahead of Doug Ford, the former PGA champion from Mahopac, N.Y. Ford slipped to a 73 to tie at 210 with Arnold Palmer, the first round leader from Latrobe, Pa.

After Saturday's washout, only a light rain fell late in yesterday's play but there was a downpour last night. More rain was expected today.

Bone said he had no special strategy in mind.

"I'm just going to keep shooting, come what may," he said. "I'm really lucky."

"I had some bad shots but my putter pulled me out of the holes," said the Pontiac native who has won only $33.34 on the winter tour.

Bone made the turn at 34, two under par. He lost a stroke on 12 with a poor second shot and a short chip but went three-under with puts of 5 and 20 feet on 13 and 14. He lost a stroke on the final hole when his second shot was too long and his first putt was inches short.

The 28-year-old Harris had a front nine 31. He two-putted two greens and got other birdies with putts of 15, 10, 2, 5 and 10 feet.

A four-over-par 220 was needed as the field was cut to 63 pros and seven amateurs. Among those missing today were such stars as Jay Hebert, Billy Casper Jr., and Gene Littler.

Dittmer May Solve Bengal Infield Woes

Tighe Hopes Milwaukee Castoff Can Be Set Up for 3rd Base Job

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Detroit Tiger manager Jack Tighe is looking hopefully to a Milwaukee Braves castoff to solve one of his three major troubles.

Steady work may turn Jack Dittmer, a 29-year-old infielder obtained from the Braves, into a third baseman capable of replacing Ray Boone, who is being groomed for a switch to first base.

At Milwaukee, Dittmer spent most of his time on the bench watching the Braves' National League games. He hit .245 in 44 games.

Boone is working out at first base to give the Tigers a first sacker with hitting power.

Tighe's other two big problems—a fourth starting pitcher and some reserve strength in the outfield—apparently must be solved by rookies or by regulars who show more than they did last year.

Tigers' three reliable starting pitchers are Billy Hoeft (20-14), Frank Lary (21-13) and Paul Foytack (15-13).

The front three in the outfield—Al Kaline, Charlie Maxwell and Bill Tuttle—appear set, but beyond that Tighe finds the pickings slim.

Rookies now are working out here, along with some regulars who came in early to take part in the stiff conditioning drills set up by Tighe. Other regulars are scheduled to arrive by Friday.

TWO MORE POINTS — Murphy Summers, dribbling wizard of the Harlem Globetrotters, leaps like a ballet dancer as his shot drops through the basket in last night's benefit exhibition at Pontiac High. The Trotters won, of course, 57-49.

Ex-Chief Jones Sets More New Track Records

Four straight victories, two of them good for new records, by ex-Pontiac High star Hayes Jones sparked Eastern Michigan to an easy track victory over Central Michigan at Ypsilanti Saturday.

He won the high hurdles in 8 seconds to establish a new field house record and tie the meet mark and broke both records in the lows with a time of 7.1.

Jones' other triumphs were in the high jump and broad jump. The freshman, who established a new high jump record last week with a leap of six feet, four and ⅞ inches, reached six feet, one inch. His broad jump high was 23 feet, one-half inch.

Another former Chief great, Walter Beach, gained a 2nd place in the 60-yard dash running for Central. Jones has now won 13 of the 15 events he has entered at Eastern.

Ladewig in 4th Spot

CHICAGO (AP)—Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., moved into fourth place in the $202,752 Petersen Bowling Classic with 1,554 here last night.

From The PRESS BOX

Player rosters of the Memphis and Capac cage teams have been changed around considerably recently due to several players being suspended for failure to attend practice sessions regularly.

Bloomfield Hills will move into the Wayne-Oakland League next season, according to hoop coach Hal Trott. Addition of the Barons should make things that much more interesting locally.

A New York paper reports the Giants were extremely disappointed to learn the Tigers had landed Jack Dittmer from Milwaukee. Seems Bill Rigney had hopes of acquiring the veteran infielder for his club.

Bill Carter is coming into his own in the Wednesday night Men's League at Land-O-Lakes. He recently rolled a 610 series featuring a 244 game and some time ago hit the 700 circle.

Such feats are doubly terrific when it is realized Bill has only one arm.

The four Saginaw Valley schools with wrestling teams are now trying to interest Saginaw High and Arthur Hilll into taking up the mat game in order that a regular league can be formed as in other athletics. The Inter-Lakes Conference may also add the fast-growing sport in the near future with three schools now taking part.

Phalanx Champ of Community League

Phalanx No. 1 cage team was crowned champion of the YMCA Community League tournament Saturday after edging a strong Hi-Y quintet 36-34 in the meet finals.

The victors had to overcome a 15-7 halftime deficit to cop the crown as Wilcox tallied 14 points and Larry Beamer added 10. Singleton paced the losers with 11.

Individual trophies were presented each member of the Phalanx team. Beamer also won a foul shooting contest making 54 of 60 attempts.

Ann Arbor Bowler Gains Lead in Elks All-Events

One new leader and some scattered changes among the other places resulted from the 6th weekend of bowling in the Michigan Elks tourney being held here. It has two more weeks to go.

Jack Neilsen of Ann Arbor was the only newcomer at the top of a division. He rolled 1855 to wrest the all-events lead away from H. Zook of Battle Creek, who had led for four weeks.

The biggest new threats to the team leads held by Pontiac's Dickie's Service were posed by Neilsen's Flowers of Ann Arbor. The visitors took 3rd in both divisions with scores of 3030 and 2811.

YMCA Slate Ends Tonight

Twin-Bill Will Settle Loop Standings Before March 4 Tourney

Final standings of the YMCA Intramural Basketball League will be decided tonight in a double-header slated for the 'Y' gym beginning at 7:30.

Playoff winners will gain the right to move into a single elimination tournament to be held at the 'Y' court beginning March 4.

The host YMCA quintet and GM Tech will open the twin-bill in a battle to determine the 4th and 5th places. The second tilt matches Seminary and the Gators with 2nd and 3rd place to be determined.

Losers of that 2nd place duel will still be in the running for the tourney crown but must meet the champion Falcons in the 1st round of play.

TONIGHT

7:30—YMCA vs. GM Tech (to determine 4th and 5th).

8:30—Seminary vs. Gators (to determine 2nd and 3rd).

MARCH 4

7:30—Winner of YMCA-GM Tech vs. Seminary-Gators victor.

Swaps in First Easy Workout

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — For the first time since his celebrated fractured cannon bone last October, Swaps will make a public appearance on a race track this week.

The great colt will be paraded before the stands shortly before the fourth race at Santa Anita Saturday. He will then be galloped slowly over the track where he never lost a race.

U.S. Hockey Team Wins

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Weldon Olson of Marquette, Mich., and Dick Daughtery of International Falls, Minn., led the United States' touring ice hockey team in a 6-1 victory over last year's Swedish champions, Soedertaelje S.K., here yesterday.

Giants Study Possible Move

PHOENIX (AP)—The president of the New York Giants believes his club would have to talk over a possible move if the Brooklyn Dodgers move to Los Angeles. But, Horace Stoneham emphasized "we would like to stay in New York."

Brooklyn's departure would not necessarily mean a Giant move, he declared, but it would cause consideration of offers made to the club by San Francisco, Minneapolis and a southwestern city.

Stoneham said he was certain the National League would approve a twin move to the West Coast. But he pointed out that round trip "transportation costs of $17,000 to play one club" would be prohibitive.

Gonzales Beats Rosewall

PHOENIX (AP)—A steady cannonade by Pancho Gonzales wore down Ken Rosewall in their pro tennis match, 10-8, 6-2, at the Paradise Valley Racquet Club yesterday.

Gonzales thus took an 11-6 lead to Albuquerque for Tuesday night's resumption of the series.

Wolverine Five in Vital Role

ANN ARBOR (AP) — For a team that doesn't have a chance of winning the Big Ten basketball scramble, Michigan is cast in a vital role.

The Wolverines still must play first place Indiana and second place shareholder Michigan State on the Wolverine court where they've lost but one in 10 games.

They clash with the Hoosiers tonight and the Spartans next Monday in games that may decide the championship.

Coach Bill Perigo's squad almost toppled Ohio State, the team tied for second with Michigan State, Saturday at Columbus, Ohio. The Wolverines were edged 94-88 by a Buckeye rally in the final minutes.

It was Jimmy Shearon, Michigan's little dynamo, who led the attack and caused the lead to change 13 times. Shearon scored 30 points—most by a Wolverine marksman this season.

In tonight's tilt, Michigan will be looking for its first basketball victory over the Hoosiers since the 1949-50 season.

Falcons, Local 596 Conquer Union Foes

Local 596 and the Local 594 Falcons were winners in UAW-CIO League basketball games Sunday at Jefferson Junior High.

Perry Williams scored 17 points to lead Local 596 to a 51-47 triumph over Local 653 in a nip-and-tuck nightcap. Al King tallied 14 points for the losers, who were ahead at halftime, 28-26.

Balanced scoring featured the Falcons' 58-40 win over the Vikings in an intra-local match. Cy Simpson topped the Falcons with 14 points, while Chet Woodmore made 12 for the Vikings.

Spartans Given Chance to Make NCAA Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State can get into the NCAA basketball tournament if it ties Indiana for the Big Ten crown or if it finishes second and Ohio State is third.

The Spartans now are tied with Ohio State for second place behind Indiana.

The Big Ten decided last week to give NCAA nod to the team which has been longest out of the NCAA tournament in case of a tie for first place.

If the crown is split between two teams that never have been to the NCAA tournament, the season records of the candidates against each other will be the deciding factor. If that, too, is tied, the toss of a coin will determine the entry.

Toronto Shakes Doldrums by Upsetting Wings, 2-1

DETROIT (AP)—Two rare occurances in the National Hockey League in recent weeks are a Toronto victory and a Detroit loss, but they came to pass simultaneously last night.

Maple Leafs, with only one victory in 13 previous games, knocked over the league-leading Red Wings 2-1.

There was another rarity in the game — the loss tumbled Wings into a two-game losing streak, matching their longest of the season. They lost 4-3 at Chicato Saturday. The last time they lost two in a row was December.

The Red Wings missed a chance to extend their lead in the standings by dropping the decision to the Leafs, but they lost no ground as Montreal and Boston, the two top challengers, also took beatings.

A combination of eight—either eight Detroit victories or eight Montreal losses—would wrap up the crown for the Red Wings. The Wings have 12 games remaining, Montreal 11.

Finals Ducats Sold Out

LANSING (AP) — Tickets for the final Class A and D state high school basketball championship games at East Lansing March 23 are completely sold out, the state High School Athletic Association reported.

Charles E. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, said there are still about 1,000 tickets available for the afternoon class B and C finals.

Forsythe said there was no sale to the general public for the night finals at Michigan State's Jenison fieldhouse again this year because all tickets were purchased by allotment by high schools and others connected with the tournament.

Refunds will be sent to schools and the general public making unsuccessful bids for tickets as soon as possible, Forsythe said.

EVERYBODY HAPPY? — Well, almost everybody. The Harlem Globetrotters cavorted in the Pontiac High School gymnasium last night before a sell-out audience and everyone in this picture seemed to enjoy the shenanigans except the solemn-faced gentleman in the center. He probably cut loose later.

TEST YOUR BASEBALL KNOW-HOW . . .

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

By BEN OLAN

In only two seasons, Cleveland's Herb Score has become one of the major Leagues' outstanding pitchers. In 1956 Score won 20 games and, for the second straight year, led both circuits in strikeouts with 263.

HERB SCORE

Here's a situation in which the young lefthander was a pivotal player. A neat strategical move pulled him through. What would you have done if you were the Cleveland manager?

(Key: (R) righthanded; (L) lefthanded; (S) switch-hitter.)

It's the last of the eighth at New York and the Indians and Yankees are tied 5-5. Score (L) is pitching for Cleveland. Elston Howard opens the inning with a single. Tom Carroll runs for him. A successful sacrifice by Andy Carey moves Carroll to second. Bob Cerv bats for pitcher Jim Konstanty and strikes out. Hank Bauer (R) is the next batter with Billy Martin (R) and Mickey Mantle (S) to follow.

Would you:

a. Bring in a righthander to pitch to Bauer?
b. Walk Bauer intentionally and let Score pitch to Martin?
c. Let Score pitch to Bauer?

Result: B—Score intentionally walks Bauer and then retires Martin on an outfield fly for the third out. Indians pick up a run in the ninth and win 6-5 (May 9).

Time Now Delany Target

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that he has beaten his main rivals, both individually and collectively, there is only one new horizon ahead for Irishman Ronnie Delany.

That is time.

Since Ronnie, the Olympic 1,500-meter champion, has been competing, he steadfastly has refused to race the clock. To the distress of almost everyone except Ronnie and his Villanova Coach, Jumbo Jim Elliott, he has run only fast enough to win.

But after winning the National AAU mile in 4:07 Saturday night, he hinted he might be getting tired of slow races.

"I wanted to see a faster time," he said, "I had hoped for a 2:02 half."

The half-mile time was 2:04.1, but he still outlegged Laszlo Tabori and Fred Dwyer with no particular effort. His margin was eight yards over Tabori and 10 over Dwyer.

Villanova, incidentally, will be a top-heavy choice to win the team crown. The Wildcats became the second college team in history — New York University was the other — to take the National AAU title. Elliot's lads won it last Saturday with 28½ points to 27 for the defending champion Pioneer Club.

Others who contributed to the Villanova total were Charlie Jenkins, 600 winner in 1:10.4, Phil Reavis, high jump victor with a 6-9½ leap and the one-mile relay team which got home in 3:20.6.

Arnie Sowell of Pitt won the 1,000 in 2:12.6, Henry Laskau of New York the one-mile walk in 6:39.7, Parry O'Brien of the U.S. Air Force the shot put with a toss of 59-8, Ira Murchison of Western Michigan College the 60-yard dash in 6.2, Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College the 60-yard hardles in 7.2, George Shaw of the Pioneer Club the running broad jump with a leap of 24-9 and Bob Backus of the New York AC the weight throw with a flip of 63-1¼.

Bardstown Winner in Widener Stakes

MSU Sets Sights on Indiana

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michigan State hopes to climb over often-beaten Wisconsin tonight to get within striking distance of Indiana, still the league leader in the tight Western Conference Basketball race.

Saturday night, State will have its chance to cut down Indiana at East Lansing in a game that promises to be a crucial one in the Big Ten series.

Spartans made it eight in a row after three early losses by solving a tricky Minnesota zone defense to beat the Gophers 70-65 Saturday.

Indiana, with a 9-2 conference record, meanwhile, was handily whipping Wisconsin, the Big Ten doormat, by an 85-74 score. Wisconsin has a 1-9 record — sole victory being an upset of Michigan.

A tight zone defense used by Minnesota coach Ozzie Cowles bothered State shooters in the first half and the home team was tailing 35-30 at intermission.

Michigan State started hitting in the second half, forged to a 41-all tie and had as much as a nine-point advantage near the end of the game.

Forwards George Ferguson and Larry Hedden, with 19 and 16 points, led the MSU attack.

Hedden, who hit only one of 10 shots in the first half, found the range in the second half for six 2-pointers.

State's rebounding ability also was a major factor in the victory as the Spartans grabbed 45 rebounds to 36 for Minnesota. Center John Green was State's big man under the basket as he took 16 of the rebounds.

THAT'S FAR ENOUGH! — VIP's Art Van Ryzin, Pontiac High basketball coach, is all set to prevent Chuck Lewis of the PRM's from any further advance with the ball in last night's preliminary to the Globetrotter show at Pontiac High. Gib Shanley of the PRM's is in the background. The PRM's won, 25-11.

Trotter Show Huge Success

Overflow Crowd Sees Clever Harlem Team at Pontiac High

The Harlem Globetrotters were here last night and a gay time was had by all.

That about sums up the Trotters' return visit to the Pontiac High School gym under the auspices of the Pontiac Lions Club.

A sell-out crowd watched the basketball wizards in action against the Philadelphia Sphas and the fact that the Trotters won the game, 57-49, was almost incidental.

Philadelphia, a sound ball club, held a 47-45 lead midway through the 4th quarter, but the Trotters quickly bounced back to take command.

Most of the side-splitting antics were provided by Bob (Showboat) Hall, a product of Detroit's Brewster Center. Murphy Summers, a dribbling magician, and Bill (Rookie) Brown also got their share of laughs.

Summers staged a pair of dribbling exhibitions and, naturally the Trotters just had to perform their baseball and football routines before departing.

Crane Quintet Bows; Grapplers Win, 35-9

Cranbrook dropped its 3rd Inter-State League basketball game in as many starts Saturday, an 82-56 licking at the hands of Nichols Academy at Buffalo. Cranbrook's overall record is now 2-12.

Bob Henreich scored 29 points for Nichols while John Studebaker paced the Cranes with 19. The Cranes trailed at halftime, 45-21, after a dismal five-point 2nd quarter.

Cranbrook's wrestling team chalked up four pins and won nine out of 12 matches in defeating Flint Central, 35-9, Saturday at Cranbrook. Pins were scored by Charles Heavenrich, John Miller, Jim Ludwig and Winston Wood.

Detroit Skaters Win

Chiefs Eye 13th Win

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac High's Chiefs tomorrow make their 14th start of the best modern season they've enjoyed out at the West Huron school. They have set their sights on the 13th victory on this fine string, marked only by one knot, the loss to Highland Park Polar Bears.

Art Van Ryzin's club opposes a perennially tough foe in Ed Campbell's Royal Oak High Acorns. Acorns will be particularly tough on their own small floor, and Van Ryzin said today he would take no chances, so he's starting his regulars.

"Royal Oak looked very good against Hazel Park and they gave Jim Wink's Highland Park club a good battle before bowing out. We know that Royal Oak can be a very dangerous club, any time they play on their own floor," says the PHS mentor.

Acorns do a lot of shooting, employ both control-ball and fast-break styles of play. "We aren't taking them lightly, because we very definitely want that 13th win," Van Ryzin added.

Fred Wasen, Evans Webb and Hewitt Hornbeck are three steady-hitting point-makers and have compiled much of the Acorn's total for the season.

"We have one more game to go after this one, Tuesday night" the Chiefs' coach pointed out today. "So we just can't let down for one minute against anybody." Saginaw High's Trojans provide the finale for Pontiac, on the upstarters' floor, Friday night. After that, the regional at Flint, the supreme test so far. Draws for the regional are set for Wednesday at Flint Northern.

'Coach' Whitmer Under Fire

PRM's Beat VIP's, 25-11

Rumors were circulating today that coach Dana P. Whitmer would lose his job as head mentor of the VIP's basketball team after their 25-11 loss to the PRM's last night.

Coach Whitmer's VIP's (very important persons) appeared thoroughly disorganized and confused during the contest and dissatisfaction was expressed with the coaching in the heat of post-game debate.

The VIP's just couldn't cope with the PRM's (press and radio men) fast-breaking attack and wilted under the pressure.

Proceedings got completely out of hand in the 4th quarter. Gib Shanley, WPON sportscaster, sneaked into the balcony for a futile shot and with only a minute left to play there were 20 players on the floor.

They all quit in an exhausted state with 30 seconds still remaining.

Finlander Leaps 313 Feet

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. (AP)—World and Olympic Champion Antti Hyvarinen, 24, of Finland, headed back to the continent today after setting U. S. ski jumpers on their ears.

In a six week tour, he won five meets, and established three hill records that included jumps of 223 feet, at Westby, Wis., 251 feet, at Ishpeming, Mich., and a climaxing 313 feet at Pine Mountain here.

His 313 foot leap, spectacularly accomplished on Saturday with the hands-at-side "fish" style in ideal weather and snow conditions, bettered by 13 feet the giant Pine Mountain mark set by Rudy Maki, of Ishpeming, two years ago. It came within three feet of matching the American distance record set in 1951 by a transplanted Norwegian, Ansten Samuelstuen, at Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Hyvarinen also won the American International title yesterday on the same hill with leaps of 280-276 feet for 216.7 points. He barely edged his Helsinki buddy Juhani Kaerkinen, 21, by 2x10ths of a point. Kaerkinen had distances of 277 and 278 feet.

Cleveland Pair Cop Women's Keg Title

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Tess Johns, a lefthanded bowling instructress, and office clerk Jean Schultz scored 5,886 tonight to win the fourth Women's National Doubles Bowling Championship in a meet packed with closing-minute drama.

Detroiters Helen Shablis and Dorothy Aldred, the 1955 champions, finished second with 5,878 while the Philadelphia combination of Sylvia Wene and Ann Karrer was third with 5,865.

Biddy League Won by Trojan Cagers.

A sweep of the 1st two games of best two-of-three series gave the Trojans the championship of the Pontiac Biddy Basketball League recently.

The champs clinched the crown with a 39-35 triumph over the Jets, pulling ahead to stay late in the final quarter. Frank Ketonen and Jim Joyce paced the victors with 16 and 15 points, respectively. Bud Stott had 14 for the Jets.

The title win concluded a successful loop season in which 123 boys between the ages of 9 and 12 years took part. Nine teams averaged better than 25 points per game over the 15-game schedule. Don Langford paced the individuals with 197 for a 15.1 average.

City Keglers 8th in State

One of 19 Pontiac area teams competing in the Michigan State Men's Bowling Tournament moved into the top 10 over the past weekend.

The Sam Benson contingent rolled a combined 3024 to take over 8th place on the 5th weekend of the event which runs for 11 more weeks. Huron Cleaners of the Motor Inn loop had 2979 and the Cleaners of the West Huron league hit 2960. Strohs, which has ranked high other years, could account for only 2615.

Jay Lovett and Clark Balch paced the local entries in doubles play with a 1326 followed by the Ralph Shoun-Lou Kopzince duo with 1243. Wayne Beals was tops in singles with a 670 actual and 700 handicap. Lovett followed with 667.

Beals was also 1st among the Pontiac entries in the all-events division with a 1955 handicap score after bowling 1865 in nine games. Lovett was again 2nd best with 1931, while Koprince hit 1843.

All the leaders held their ground although two newcomers took over 2nd places. Oz Kastens of Fremont moved in behind leader Frank Ebner in singles handicap with a 718. Ebner, of Croswell, has 725.

The other change was in singles actual where Grand Rapids' star Bill Golembiewski rolled a 678 for the runner-up spot. Detroiter Al Dent is the leader at 696.

All Need to Consider Problem of the Aged

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan says society can't expect to advance to the high standard of living which is the American promise unless it gives aged persons more opportunity to participate.

Williams told delegates to the Missouri conference on the aging that the most serious challenge facing the aged is that of employment, not for financial reasons alone but for recognition from society and to find a way of life in their old age.

The Governor suggested a meeting on the national level such as the recent White House conference on education.

"We need to make everyone conscious of the problems of the aged and until that consciousness sinks deep we are not going to get the job done," he said.

Missouri, Williams pointed out, has a particular problem because 10.5 per cent of its residents are over 65, ranking it third behind New Hampshire and Iowa.

Ninety-two per cent of women and 67 per cent of the men over 65 are unemployed, he said.

'Baby Doll' Packs 'Em In Despite Theater Pickets

Some carried signs reading "Save a Boy (and girls too)" and "Hollywood's contribution to Gainesville." Gainesville is the site of the Texas State School for Girls.

Theater officials said the film played to an above normal crowd despite the picketing and the large number of letters protesting the film.

Earthquake Kills 11, Jolts Formosa Area

TAIPEI (AP) — Formosa today counted 11 dead and 33 injured in its worst earthquake in a decade. There no casualties among 3,000 Americans stationed on this main Nationalist Chinese island.

The quake, centering 45 miles off the island's east coast, struck before dawn Sunday. Greatest damage on this island of 10 million, population was at Hualein, east coast port city of 50,000. High mountains across the center of Formosa reduced the shocks before they reached Taipei and other west coast centers, where most of the American military and embassy personnel live with their families.

The shocks also were felt in the Pescadores, heavily garrisoned Nationalist island chain between Formosa and the Communist Mainland.

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Mickey Rooney need no longer be superstitious about mentioning "What Makes Sammy Run." He's signed a nice big fat contract, salary plus percentage, with United Artists to star in Budd Schulberg's famous story. Added good news for Mickey—He'll have Freddie Finklehoff as his producer-director.

The picture will be filmed after Mickey plays George M. Cohan May 11 on an NBC spectacular. This new deal for the Mick is certainly proof that his career is again off to a great start. So many good things have happened, such as being nominated for an academy award for "The Bold and the Brave," and all the good notices for his performance in "The Comedian" on "Playhouse 90."

Elizabeth Taylor tells me—and this should make her fans happy, "I never said I planned to retire. I was misquoted. The only thing I said is that I don't want to make any picture where it would be impossible for Mike to be with me. Neither of us has any intention of being separated by long production schedules." And that should end that.

Dick Powell told me he was baffled at June Allyson's request for a marital vacation. "I don't know what it's all about," Dick said. "We have had arguments and disagreements," he said, "as all married couples must who have been married as long as we—but nothing to warrant divorce. I certainly hope June will come to her senses."

I have known Dick since we were together on "Hollywood Hotel," and I know he means what he says. I hope June doesn't regret this impulsive action. Dick has been a very good balance for her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: June Allyson spent the weekend at Palm Springs with her daughter Pamela, while Dick Powell stayed in the family home with their son Richard.

Lana Turner will make up her mind about Lex Barker while she is attending the Uruguay film festival.

Pola Negri created a minor sensation when she made her first visit to the Villa Capri. She looks great and everyone came to her table to pay her court.

The more I hear about Pat Boone the more I realize that he is a solid citizen. He took a flying trip to New York to appear at a faculty entertainment at Columbia University. He returns tomorrow for his movie "Bernardine."

You'll see pretty Kathleen Crowley on a Climax TV show Thursday in "Don't ever come back," with Richard Boone (not Pat) and Gene Lockhart.

Jimmy and Gloria Stewart returned from South America today. Jimmy was pleased when he heard how much everyone likes "Spirit of St. Louis, Russell Birdwell is discussing U-I. His shaving of Natalia Daryll's head for "The Secret Diary of Joseph Stalin" is largely responsible.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Red Man's Business: Painting Pale Faces

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Steve Drumm boasts that he is the only full-blooded Blackfoot Indian in Hollywood who is a makeup man.

"I feel I'm more qualified than the average person," he says.

"After all, my ancestors were painting faces long before the first white man stepped foot on American soil."

Sell Old Indian Village, Once Housed 20,000

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — The site of the Indian village of LaVantum opposite Starved Rock, which once housed 20,000 Indians, is under new ownership.

It was included in the sale of 100 acres on the north bank of the Illinois River. On the property is a farm house three and a half stories high built a century ago and known in its day as the "Half Way House" — midway between Ottawa and Peoria.

Wheat Returns After Decline

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat recovered from an early selloff, but other grains dipped slightly in moderately active dealings on the board of trade today.

Such factors as rain in parts of the Southwest, very heavy arrivals of cash corn and easiness in soybean oil combined to cause early selling in cereals.

Wheat met good resistance on the decline and quickly rebounded aided by settlement of the dock workers strike along the Atlantic coast.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, March $2.32¾, corn ¼ to ⅝ lower, March $1.29⅛, oats ¼ to ⅜ lower, March 75½, rye 1 cent lower to ½ higher, March $1.33½, soybeans ⅜ lower to ½ higher, March $2.41, and lard 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $15.00.

Losses Mark Stock Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed narrow price changes for the most part in early trading today.

Royal Dutch was among the latter, rising 1¼ at 43⅜ on an opening block of 4,000 shares while Gulf Oil rose 2⅜ at 119 on 1,000 shares.

After an active opening turnover became quiet.

Continued uncertainty about the Middle East was one major cause of hesitancy in the stock market, brokers said, and corporate news over the long weekend was mixed.

Even though Eastman Kodak reported record sales and earnings, it traded about unchanged. Philip Morris, reporting record sales, was up about a point.

Other gains of about a point or so were made by Youngstown, American Cyanamid and American Tobacco.

GM Totals Up 667,308 Owners

Curtice Says Company Leads World in Number of Shareholders

DETROIT (INS) — The latest tabulation of General Motors shareholders shows that the number of owners of the corporation has soared to 667,308 persons.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice said that the latest figures indicate that GM continues to lead all other industrial corporations in the world in number of shareholders.

The total, compiled as of Feb. 14, is divided between 640,473 holders of common stock and 26,835 holders of preferred stock.

Curtice noted that the increase in the last year added more shareholders than the total number of owners during any of GM's first 20 years of existence.

A survey of GM share ownership disclosed that of individual shareholders, women outnumber men by a ratio of better than 5 to 4.

Of all shareholders, more than 37 per cent own from 1 to 50 shares.

Smoking Adds to Smog in Los Angeles Area

LOS ANGELES—The Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District says tobacco smoke adds almost 12 tons of contaminating chemicals to the air of Los Angeles County daily.

The nearly 65,000,000 cigarettes smoked in the area each day produce 9,267 tons of particulates, plus aldehydes, organic acids, carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons, the report says.

Mamie Van Doren and Spouse Ray Anthony Are Newest TV Pair

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Husband and wife teams are becoming almost as common on television as they are on the street where you live, and for reasons that often go much deeper than the pocketbook.

Such hardy perennials as Burns and Allen, Lucy and Desi and Ozzie and Harriet long ago established that two heads can be more lucrative together than singly, but the benefits of a "double" act don't end there.

The fact is that in many cases, show folks who don't work together may not see each other often enough to grow accustomed to their faces.

"We wanted to see each other," she shrugged daintily, "and the only way seemed to be to work together."

"We both work so many hours," interjected Anthony, a diminutive replica of Cary Grant, "that even if we were only a block apart, we probably wouldn't be able to see each other."

HER OWN SERIES

The act may have some trouble hanging together come June, when Mamie begins filming her video series, "The Face, The Shape and The Brain," for fall release, but they hope to weather the work schedules if possible.

"Actually," said Anthony, "we want to work together more as time goes by—that is, if she can keep up with the old man. We'll probably do some recording together and make some guest appearances, and we're looking now at a movie script we could do together."

One of the oddities of this sort of arrangement is that to acquire his helpmate's service — professionally, that is—Ray must follow the chain of command, i.e., see her agent.

"The trouble is," he explained, "that the agent has things going for her that we may not even know about. But in this case, I just offered more money and got her. She cost me so much that on community property alone I'm a wealthy man."

Mamie and Ray can find many examples to follow if they decide to concentrate on a career as a team. Husbands and wives who regularly appear together on TV include Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy, Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone, Robert Sterling and Anne Jeffreys, Xavier Cugat and Abbe Lane, Howard Duff and Ida Lupino, Raymond Scott and Dorothy Collins.

OFTEN TOGETHER

Among other couples who occasionally join forces for television programs are Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds, Ernie Kovacs and Edith Adams, Dick Kollmar and Dorothy Kilgallen, Martin Gabel and Arlene Francis, Harry James and Betty Grable, Jose Ferrer and Rosemary Clooney, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn, Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows.

Takes Pinch Out of Tax in Pay-as-You-Go Plan

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (UP)—A Pay-as-you-go installment plan for school taxation has been proposed by the Soo's school superindendent.

Hugh H. Holloway says his plan would "take the pain out of supporting schools." The present system of paying the year's bill in December is "outmoded and not the least in style," he says.

CARACAS—A brand-new nationwide law in Venezuela establishes directions for pedestrain traffic in both urban and rural areas. Also, pedestrians are forbidden to stand in groups on crowded sidewalks with one foot resting against the wall. Violators are subject to fines ranging from the equivalent of $3 to $150, the latter being for repeaters.

7-Month Strike Nears End; National Guard Quells Ohio Flare-Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials begin planning today for what Gov. C. William O'Neill hopes will be "the immediate restoration to telephone service" in the Portsmouth, Ohio, area after the end of a seven-month strike.

O'Neill called a meeting of Portsmouth and Scioto County officials for today, as soon as he was notified yesterday that negotiators agreed on a settlement of the 226-day strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. Part of the talks will deal with maintenance of order while phone service is being restored.

Company officials, along with representatives of the striking Communications Workers of America and federal mediators, announced settlement of the long, violence-marked strike after a 25-hour bargaining session. Terms of the contract, however, were not immediately disclosed.

Negotiators worked around the clock as Portsmouth telephones were silenced by a new wave of vandalism that resulted in more slashed cables and knocked out the last of the 17,000 telephones in the area.

"If it is determined that the local officials cannot or will not afford full protection to persons and property required for the immediate restoration of telephone service, I shall then order the Ohio National Guard into the affected area to give such protection," the governor said in a prepared statement.

One unit of the Guard was sent to the struck area during the weekend. O'Neill sent a mobile unit to Portsmouth to maintain emergency communications Saturday.

The Guard unit was joined by all available state highway patrol cars, which were used to set up emergency radio communications for hospitals, fire departments and police agencies.

SANTIAGO — Grants totaling $30,000 were made recently by the Rockefeller Foundation to the University of Chile, Santiago, to assist research activities in the school of medicine, including mouse genetics.

"PIGGY-BACK" RESCUER — Speedy aid for shipwreck victims is the aim of this novel German rescue cruiser, in North Sea service off Bremen. The lifeboat in foreground is normally carried in a well at the vessel's stern and can be launched without delay even with ship traveling full speed.

Wheel-Borne Hunter Usually Bags Buck

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Most hunters tramp through the woods in search of a deer. Not so with Woodrow Rogers of Clarksville.

A paraplegic since he was wounded in World War II, Rogers hunts deer from a car.

Last year was the first since 1948 that he failed to bag a deer and he has a good excuse for missing.

Two paraplegic friends were visiting him and he gave them the "shooting side" of the car—the right side.

Since the war, New Zealand has doubled the number of telephones in service.
