School Bands, Clowns, Ponies Set for Affair

North Side Park to Be Site of Demonstration in Latest Techniques

An hour-long parade of fire equipment, new and old, interspersed with bands and marchers will move up Saginaw Street at 7 tonight to mark Fire Prevention Week.

Immediately following the parade, a demonstration program will be held at North Side Park at which a number of spectacular fires will be started and extinguished to show the latest in fire fighting techniques.

Participating in the parade will be some 70 pieces of equipment from Pontiac and surrounding Oakland County departments.

Leading off will be a historical pageant of fire fighting, from bucket brigade to hand pumper, steam engine and Model T engine.

Clowns from Pontiac Fire Dept. Engine 3 will enliven the affair as will the John Ivory pony carts and polo teams.

Bands from Pontiac Senior High School, Avondale High, Waterford Township High and West Bloomfield High, will set the marching tempo.

Pontiac Youth Dies in Accident

Boy on Motor Scooter Killed After Vehicle Collides With Car

A 15-year-old boy was Pontiac's third fatal accident victim of 1957 yesterday afternoon when a motor scooter on which he was a passenger collided with an automobile at Stanley and W. Kennett streets.

The driver of the motor scooter, Joel E. Brown, 14, of 105 E. Colgate Ave., told police he was driving north on Stanley at 15 miles per hour and tried to stop at the intersection but the motor scooter skidded.

As he entered the intersection, he said, he saw a truck going west on Kennett bearing down on him so he stepped on the gas and was hit by an eastbound car driven by Anthony F. Schneider, 22, of 1257 Cherrylawn Dr.

Schneider told the police that he was going 20 miles per hour when he saw the boys and he slammed on his brakes but skidded into them.

★ ★ ★

Zhukov Welcome?

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower denied today that he rebuffed a Soviet effort to arrange a U. S. visit by Marshal Georgi Zhukov but indicated he has serious doubts about the value of such a trip.

New Telegraph Intersection May Present Turn Problems

By PETE LOCHBILER

The new Telegraph and Orchard Lake road grade separation is designed to separate through traffic from local traffic turning on Pontiac's west side.

When it opens two and a half months from now, the new road system is expected to provide easy driving for motorists bypassing Pontiac on Telegraph and for the huge crowds that return to Detroit on weekends from the Cass Lake region.

Pontiac drivers, however, will find that four-lane, divided relocation of Telegraph does not lead into Pontiac. Local drivers, planning to turn into the city on Orchard Lake, will have to avoid the relocation completely and stay on the existing Telegraph road.

The new road system will not eliminate traffic controls and, subsequently, possible congestion at the intersection of Orchard Lake and present Telegraph. It may create a tricky situation at both ends of the Telegraph relocation for Pontiac drivers entering or leaving the city.

The $876,000 project, scheduled for opening in December, was designed in economy-minded days. Because of this, said project engineer Joseph Marlow, there is not going to be a full cloverleaf pattern of entrances and exits for smooth driving in all directions.

"We'll have to wait until the underpass is actually in operation before we can judge for sure how successful it is going to be," said Marlow.

He said that the bridge should work "fairly well," but admitted that unforeseen increased use of the intersection may upset predictions.

Instead of a full cloverleaf pattern of eight entrances and exits, the Pontiac underpass will have only two.

One is for southbound traffic on the Telegraph relocation to turn right on Orchard Lake. The other is for eastbound Orchard Lake traffic to turn right on relocated Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

(In discussing traffic patterns, Orchard Lake is described for simplicity's sake as running east and west, although it actually runs southeast - northwest. Telegraph, which actually runs southwest-northeast, is described as running simply north and south.)

OK FOR THROUGH ROUTES

There will be smooth driving in these two directions and also for through, southbound Telegraph traffic. This should pass straight onto the relocation, under the Orchard Lake bridge, and back onto existing Telegraph without trouble.

But there are nine other traffic movements possible at the inter-

CIO Council Backs Hospital Bonds

The Oct. 28 city hospital bond election for $950,000 has received the backing of the Oakland County CIO Council. Members unanimously said they favor a 'yes' vote on the issue to provide funds to furnish and equip the new Pontiac General Hospital wing.

★ ★ ★

Delegates on the council, representing 37,500 CIO workers living in the county, this week heard Fred V. Haggard, council president, outline what the bonds will purchase.

They instructed Haggard to correspond with affiliated union locals asking them for their support of the issue.

"It was the general feeling at the last election," Haggard said, "that the voters didn't know where their money was going so they voted 'no'."

Haggard was chairman of a committee of the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council which last week divulged facts, gathered from hospital officials, on the coming election.

McElroy Sworn In as Defense Secretary

Ike Awards Medal of Freedom to Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neil H. McElroy was sworn in today as the nation's sixth secretary of defense.

The soap company executive took the oath of office at an early morning White House ceremony attended by President Eisenhower.

WILSON HONORED

The President, welcoming McElroy into one of the government's highest jobs, also took the occasion to make a surprise presentation of the Medal of Freedom to Charles E. Wilson, the retiring defense chief.

Before McElroy took the oath Eisenhower surprised Wilson by calling him to the Cabinet table and having Robert Cutler, presidential aide on national security matters, read a citation which accompanied the Medal of Freedom presented to Wilson.

The citation said that for nearly five years "the positive leadership, sound judgment and unceasing efforts" of Wilson have been major factors "in strengthening the security of the United States and its Allies against aggression." The citation said further:

★ ★ ★

"His selfless devotion to duty and firm adherence to the basic principles and ideals upon which our country was founded have made possible his many major accomplishments."

When the citation had been read Eisenhower pinned the medal to Wilson's lapel and told him quietly:

"Mr. President," Wilson replied, "you certainly surprised me and I am humbly appreciative."

Eisenhower laughed and said he was glad he had surprised Wilson "because I intended to."

The Wilson citation said that under his guidance the effectiveness of this country's armed forces has been greatly increased, and added that the strategic deployment of those forces to endangered parts of the world has been a major factor in the preservation of peace.

"Military assistance programs, including the provision of modern weapons, carried out under his supervision, have bolstered the will and determination of all our Allies to resist aggression," the citation said.

"The common defense of free nations has been greatly furthered by his frequent discussions with foreign leaders both abroad and at home.

"Under his leadership," the military programs of the Department of Defense were adjusted from the immediate requirements of the Korean conflict to those for the long-range security of our country; increased emphasis was placed on the introduction of modern weapons, giving unprecedented striking power to all the military services; improved efficiency in management and administration permitted the achievement of our national objectives without danger to the economic welfare of the nation."

★ ★ ★

Wilson has been defense chief longer than any of the four previous secretaries.

May Speed Up Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neil H. McElroy, new secretary of defense, said today serious consideration is being given to speeding up this country's ballistic missile program.

Ike Announces U.S. Satellite Plans

Moons to Be Tested in December; President Voices No Alarm

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States plans to launch test satellites in December and will put up a full-instrumented one in March.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower sketched this timetable at a news conference at which he also said:

1. He sees no reason for increased concern over national security as the results of Russia's success in launching an earth satellite last Friday.

2. The United States could have produced such an orbiting satellite before now "but to the detriment of scientific goals and military progress."

Eisenhower congratualted Russian scientists on their success but expressed uncertainty as to the value of their achievement.

★ ★ ★

The general tenor of his remarks was that the United States had no been will ing to sacrifice possible scientific gains by rushing to put up any sort of satellite, or to sacrifice progress in the development of long-range missiles.

VALUABLE DATA

The full-instrumented satellite planned for March launching would be designed to collect a wide range of valuable data from its whirling route near outer space.

Eisenhower's session with newsmen was given over almost completely to the satellite question and the subject of missiles.

All that Eisenhower said added up to the idea that in both fields the United States is going ahead just as it has planned all along, with no special speedup now in the light of the Russian satellite achievement.

Just before Eisenhower's news conference, government officials had reported the Soviet moonlet was still circling the earth on its original orbit and apparently at about its original speed and altitude.

Some foreign observers had reported the satellite apparently dropping toward the denser lower atmosphere where its life would be short.

But Dr. John P. Hagen, director of Operation Vanguard, the U.S. Satellite project, said:

"Our observations do not lead us to believe the U.S.S.R. satellite is falling into the lower atmosphere."

tion from the Naval Research Laboratory.

Eisenhower was asked whether he saw any possibility of weapons being fired from satellites as outer space launching platforms. He replied: Not at this time.

OUTLINES HISTORY

In his statement, Eisenhower outlined the history of the U. S. satellite program, dating back to 1954. He said that from the outset there was general agreement the program would go ahead "without interfering with the top military ballistic missile program."

The missile program, Eisenhower said in response to a question, still has top priority in both intercontinental and intermediate-range aspects. Intercontinental missiles are designed to travel 5,000 miles; those of intermediate range 1,500 miles.

Eisenhower said that merging of the satellite scientific effort with military programs—an obvious reference to missiles—"could have produced an orbiting U.S. satellite before now, but to the detriment of scientific goals and military progress."

On the Little Rock situation Eisenhower said he certainly is very hopeful that the time may be drawing near when federal troops enforcing school integration at Litte Rock can be withdrawn. But he offered no specific information or elaboration regarding this hope.

Eisenhower was asked whether in his opinion Little Rock's Central High School could have been integrated peacefully if Gov. Orval Faubus had not stationed the Arkansas National Guard at the school. The guard was used to prevent Negroes from attending classes.

Eisenhower replied that an answer would call for speculation on his part. But he said he did know that integration had been achieved peacefully in other parts of Arkansas, and said he saw no reason why it could not have been achieved in the same way in Little Rock.

U.S. Acts Now on Outer Space

To Talk of International Control With Soviets if Western Allies Consent

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U. S. acted today to work out international control of outer space before it becomes a highway for nuclear destruction.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called on Soviet Russia to join a multi-nation study group to devise a guarantee that outer space objects—both satellites and missiles—would be used only for peaceful purposes in the future.

Dulles issued the open invitation to the Russians after an hour and a quarter discussion with President Eisenhower on the successful Russian launching of a space satellite and world disarmament programs.

He said afterward that the U. S. is prepared to discuss the international control issue with the U.S.S.R. as soon as possible, providing the meeting is agreed to by Great Britain, France and Canada.

These four powers presented the Western Allies' disarmament proposals to Soviet Russia in London Aug. 29 after five months of negotiations. Russia rejected the proposals immediately.

This "package" included, almost as an afterthought, a proposal to limit objects in outer space to peaceful uses, but tied this in with the entire "open skies" plan of nuclear disarmament on an "all-or-nothing" basis.

The decision reached by President Eisenhower and Dulles at the White House yesterday to take up the outer space provisions separately thus constituted a complete reversal of previous plans.

Telegraph to Bring Turning Problems

section and all of them will offer some difficulty.

For instance, eastbound Orchard Lake traffic headed into Pontiac will still face a traffic light at Telegraph road. And the same eastbound drivers, if they wish to turn left onto Telegraph, will find they can not turn at the relocation.

They must proceed to the present Telegraph road intersection and turn there.

Westbound Orchard Lake traffic, wishing to turn right or left onto Telegraph, will have to use existing Telegraph since there will be no turn possible at the relocation.

Again, southbound Telegraph traffic planning a left turn at Orchard Lake into Pontiac, will find it cannot use the relocation at all. It must stay on existing Telegraph all the way to Orchard Lake.

The same thing will be true for northbound Telegraph traffic that is going to turn right or left on Orchard Lake.

And Pontiac traffic, headed west on Orchard Lake, still will face a traffic light at existing Telegraph, despite the fact that it will pass freely over the relocated Telegraph traffic at the underpass bridge.

For northbound Telegraph drivers wishing to bypass Pontiac completely, there will be a special problem at both the south and north entrances to the Telegraph relocation.

TRAFFIC LINES CROSS

At the south end, drivers headed south on existing Telegraph will have to drive directly across the northbound lane of the relocation in order to reach the southbound lane.

At the north end, drivers headed south on existing Telegraph will have to drive directly across the same northbound lane of the relocation in order to skirt the relocation and stay on existing Telegraph.

This presents a problem not only for northbound Telegraph drivers, but also for the southbound drivers who must somehow dart between the fast-moving northbound cars on the relocation.

There will be stop signs and special turning lanes for cross traffic in both instances. If they will be sufficient protection for drivers remains to be seen.

An increase in the volume of traffic by drivers who want to take advantage of the new underpass, or simply a large weekend crowd filling or overloading the various traffic patterns may point out the fact that the underpass has been under-engineered.

Jews Celebrate Thanksgiving

Enter Sukkot Festival Throughout the World Beginning at Sunset

The Jewish festival of Sukkot, a thanksgiving festival, will be celebrated in synagogues and homes throughout the world beginning at sunset today.

Tracing its origin to Biblical times, Sukkot (the Hebrew for huts) recalls the gratitude felt by the Israelites for divine protection when they dwelt in fragile abodes during the long trek through the desert.

★ ★ ★

The American Thanksgiving holiday was patterned after Sukkot by the Pilgrims who regarded their experience as parallel to those of the Israelites of old.

Traditionalist Jews Observe Sukkot for nine days and Reform Jews, eight.

Reform services will be held at 7:30 tonight at Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake Rd. All children will bring an offering of fruit to the Temple altar in gratitude. The fruit will then be distributed to a Pontiac institution.

Members of the eight grade of the religious school will participate in the service.

At 10 a.m. Thursday another service is scheduled, with Rabbi Nathan Hershfield preaching at both.

Tradtional services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel, 143 Oneida Rd. at 5:45 p.m. today, Thursday and Friday and at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Junior congregation services will be held on these mornings at 10 a.m.

room by Percy Nelson, assistant administrative officer at the White House. Cabinet officers and high military officials also stood by.

When McElroy had been sworn in, Eisenhower shook his hand and told the new defense secretary:

"Welcome to the Cabinet. You are now a bureaucrat."

FAMILY BIG

McElroy, 53 and a resident of Cincinnati, is moving out of a $285,000 a year job as president of Proctor & Gamble Co. to take the $25,000 a year Pentagon post.

McElroy comes into the defense job at a time when that spot is particularly hot.

★ ★ ★

Congress members are demanding administration answers to several questions: Why was Russia first with an earth satellite? Why has Russia apparently moved ahead in the intercontinental ballistic missile field and in the perfection of intermediate range rockets? How much is the administration's program of economy and military cutbacks involved in these and other related defense matters?

CRAMS FOR JOB

McElroy has been "cramming" for his new job. Between the time the Senate confirmed his nomination Aug. 19 and the middle of last month he visited the Pentagon frequently for talks with Wilson and other defense officials.

After those briefings, he toured military installations and aircraft and missile manufacturing plants.

To avoid any possible "conflict of interests" charges, McElroy has given up stock holdings in big companies which have large military contracts with the Defense Department, including General Electric Co. and Chrysler Corp.

McElroy went to work for Proctor & Gamble after he was graduated from Harvard in 1925. He started in the advertising department of the firm, moved on into the promotion field, became general manager in 1946 and president in 1948.

The McElroys have two daughters and a son. They have taken an apartment in Washington but are keeping their home in Cincinnati.

Wilson spent a last busy day in his office, signing papers, writing farewell notes to associates, autographing pictures. He also maintained a full business schedule.

★ ★ ★

During the last two years, Wilson has quietly expanded his farm holdings, particularly cattle raising plantations in Louisiana, Florida and Michigan. Unless he decides to re-enter the business world which he left as president of General Motors in 1953, he is expected to devote much of his attention to his farms.

The Day in Birmingham

Halloween Party to Offer Parade, Prizes, Parties

BIRMINGHAM—Plans were laid yesterday for the 1957 Community Halloween Party for all children living within the Birmingham school district. Chairman Rollie Reese said there are potentially 12,000 guests.

Several schools in outlying districts have expressed a desire to hold their own parties, mainly under PTA sponsorship. Franklin, Bloomfield Village and Walnut Lake schools, which have followed this plan before, will probably be joined by Pembroke, Beverly and Torry, at least.

In response to the question as to whether or not they could expect financial aid on the parties, Reese replied in the negative. He explained that merchants, who support the party, have said they feel their support should remain with the group which has its party and parade in the downtown section.

Again, the parade will form at 7 p.m., Oct. 31, in the Hill school area, starting to move promptly at 7:30. The line of march will be west on Maple avenue to Woodward avenue, and south to the food lines. Marchers will be judged and tagged in the formation area, and may collect prizes following the parade.

School officials, PTA, men's and woman's clubs, along with the YMCA are donating their services to help with the celebration. Tickets for junior and senior high school parties as well as the movies for elementary schools, will be handled by Ed Kirbert of the Y and distributed through the schools to all students.

★ ★ ★

Under the sponsorship of the Birmingham Lions club the famed Don Cossack chorus will be heard in an 8:15 p.m. program Thursday night in the Birmingham High School. Don Cummings, club spokesman, said tickets are still available from club members and will be on sale at the door prior to the program.

★ ★ ★

Benefits will be used to promote the Lions' work among the blind, including the Leader Dog League, and their programs for young people.

In a very light vote, Bloomfield Township residents defeated the proposed one-mill tax levy, 287 to 212. The special levy was "an assurance" for the sale of trunkline sewer bonds.

V. B. Peters will narrate colored slides of the Caribbean when the North Suburban Alumnae Assn. of Chi Omega meets Thursday. An 8 p.m. dessert will be served at the home of Mrs. Neal Waldrop, 806 Cedar Hill drive, Royal Oak. Mrs. Kenneth Marsh, LI 5-9439, is taking reservations.

Mary Elizabeth Stern

Service will be at 1 p.m. Friday from Manley Bailey Funeral Home here for Mary Elizabeth Stern, 13, of 251 East Lincoln Ave.

The girl, an eighth grader at Barnum Junior High School died at William Beaumont Hospital last night, several hours after she suffered a ruptured artery at the base of the brain.

She was stricken while attending classes.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Stern; two brothers, James and John, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Casey, all of Birmingham.

Hospitals Act in Flu Hazard

Urge Those With Colds Stay Away; One Unit Cuts Visiting Hours

Influenza continued to spread throughout Oakland County today, bringing visitor restrictions to two of three Pontiac Hospitals.

Authorities at Pontiac General Hospital today cut the daily visiting hours with patients from eight to one hour per day during the week, and ordered all visitors to be admitted to patient rooms by pass only.

The new visiting hours will be from 7 to 8 p.m. daily and 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Both St. Joseph Mercy and Pontiac General Hospitals have requested persons with colds and upper respiratory diseases to refrain from visiting patients.

St. Joseph Hospital has not cut visiting hours. They remain from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

No restrictions have been invoked at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital although Harry H. Whitlow, hospital director, said today, "If the situation gets to such a proportion that it will jeopardize the patients, we will restrict visitors."

School attendance continued to drop yesterday in at least five more districts of the county due to the flu epidemic. This was in Clarkston, Royal Oak, Avondale, Walled Lake and Birmingham.

All three schools in Holly, the hardest hit by flu, will be closed Thursday and Friday because of the increase in absence.

Attendance at Clarkston High School dropped 20 per cent, with 230 students out; Birmingham High reported 14 per cent of 1,697 pupils out; Avondale high—40 per cent of 635 youngsters ill.

At Walled Lake, 25 per cent of the 950 pupils were sick, and attendance at Waterford and Pontiac High schools was also hit. The Royal Oak parochial high school, Shrine of the Little Flower, has closed for the rest of the week, with 100 of 590 pupils ill.

Officials Study Bus Problems

Consider Lease Plan, Fare Hike to Pull City Lines Out of Red

City commissioners conferred with two officials of Pontiac City Lines, Inc., last night to discuss the possibility of the city leasing the bus company to help pull it out of the red.

No decision was reached on the proposal, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Appearing before the commission in an informal (off-the-record) meeting in the manager's office was Ralph James, vice president of National City Lines, Inc., and E. W. Dreasher, transportation superintendent of the Pontiac company. The company is a subsidiary of the National Lines of Chicago.

Discussed was the possibility of raising fares, and the Jackson-Kalamazoo plan of municipalities owning the bus lines and leasing them back to the companies, or both, Willman said.

The bus company made the proposal as it showed continuing downward trends in patronage. Officials say in 1946 there were 9,000,000 riders a year as compared to some 2,500,000 now.

The leasing proposal would exempt the company from paying $17,000 in city taxes annually, officials say.

Waives Jury for Shepherd

Birmingham Man Faces Trial by Judge Adams in Wife's Slaying

★ ★ ★

Attorney David C. Pence said he would leave the case in the hands of Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, and held off his opening statement in defense of Shepherd until after the prosecutor's case is considered.

Shepherd, a former salesman for a Detroit firm, is charged with first degree murder in the death of his school teacher wife Elizabeth, 42, in their home at 1509 Pierce St., the night of May 27.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said, in his opening statement, he would show in testimony that the couple had arguments over Shepherd's drinking, that Mrs. Shepherd planned to divorce her husband of five months, and that Shepherd had consumed alcohol at several places before returning home May 27, the day he was fired from his job.

Ziem said he would call Mrs. Shepherd's daughter, Janet Hutton, 13, to repeat her examination testimony that she saw Shepherd take a decorative knife from the wall and plunge it into her mother's back.

★ ★ ★

Both prosecution and defense are prepared to call psychiatric experts to testify concerning the defense contention that Shepherd was temporarily insane due to the combined effects of alcohol and tranquilizing pills.

Faubus Can See 'No Solution'

Would Withdraw All 9 Negro Students Going to Little Rock Central

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said today he sees no solution in the Little Rock integration crisis save the complete withdrawal of the nine Negro students attending Central High School.

Faubus was asked at a news conference to explain the "cooling off" period he has said is needed in the integration deadlock.

He replied:

"We need a chance for tenseness to be allayed, time for litigation and time for the people to accept peacefully what is being crammed down their throats at bayonet point."

He was asked if this meant the withdrawal of six Negro girls and three boys who have been attending integrated classes at Central High under protection of federal troops ordered here by President Eisenhower.

"It's possible," the governor replied.

Faubus said it is within the power of a number of people including the courts and the Little Rock School Board to initiate some break in the deadlock but that he has no suggestions currently under consideration.

Faubus said he was not "closing the door to the possibility of a compromise because I don't want to appear adamant or arbitrary."

But again he said he had no such move currently under consideration.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division walked the perimeter guard posts this morning. The number of soldiers on duty appeared unchanged from other days when National Guardsmen were assigned such duties.

City Parade Sparks Fire Prevention

naw, from Parke to Oakland, starting at 7 p.m.

Parking will also be banned on School and Fairgrove streets, from Saginaw to Perry. Capt. Koren advised motorists to use the following alternate routes:

East-West — Montcalm, Howard and Johnson on the north and South boulevard, Wilson and Osmun on the south.

North-South — Cass and Bagley on the west, and Parke and Paddock on the east.

For the demonstration program at 8 p.m., Capt. Koren said Edison will be closed from Mt. Clemens to Rundell for an hour. He advised motorists to use Montcalm, Glenwood and Fairgrove instead.

The parade and demonstration program are sponsored and organized by the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Correct Statement on Jeans, Delinquents

In yesterday's article on pupils wearing jeans to school, David Donaghy, 935 oVorheis Rd., was quoted as saying he thought persons who wear jeans to school "set a bad pattern for other kids. They are worn mostly by delinquents and wearing them sets a bad example for the school."

Donaghy said today the last sentence should have read, "Delinquents mostly wear this type of attire."

Comet Debris May Harm Red Baby Moon Tonight

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet earth satellite may be smashed out of existence tonight by debris from a comet, a leading British astronomer said today.

★ ★ ★

The danger to the earth's first man-made moon lay in the path of the comet Giacobini-Zinner.

The earth crosses the path of this comet about 10 o'clock (5 p.m. EST) tonight.

Debris scattered by the comet on its journey through space could hit the satellite, Prof. A. C. Lovell said.

This debris could deflect the satellite from its course, damage it or wreck it entirely, he added.

★ ★ ★

He urged all observers of the artificial moon to watch it closely this evening. Its radio signals might tell something of the effects of such a cosmic collision.

Radio telescope exploration of the heavens at Jodrell Bank has produced the theory that debris may be left in patches all along the comet's orbit.

This work has not been publicized, and Lovell said the Russians may not realize the threat to their aluminum moon when the earth spins into the comet's orbit.

The records of the Jodrell Bank station show that when the earth passed through the orbit of the Giacobini-Zinner comet in 1946 and 1952, the earth was bombarded with vast amounts of debris, the London Times said.

At other times, however, there was no debris, so there may be none tonight.

None of this debris actually hits the earth's surface. The tiny particles, about the size of grains of sand or smaller, burn up from friction in the earth's atmosphere. These are the meteors, the so-called shooting stars.

'Lucky to Be Alive'

2 Flung Through Manhole

DETROIT (AP) — "There was no time to think. I felt myself going up and out of the hole. The next thing I knew I hit the pavement with a jolt."

Walter Young, 45, so described his experience yesterday of being hurled out of a manhole by the tremendous water pressure from a burst main.

Young and co-worker, James Charles, 42, both were flung up 10 feet to street level and then another 10 feet into the air.

Doctors said they were lucky to have lived. But all they suffered was bruise and shock.

Both men were flung straight through the three-foot manhole opening. Fellow workers said they probably were saved because they shot up vertically.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What are the months of the most rainfall, in most parts of the country?

Contrary to the popular belief, the winter months — which often bring three or four-day spells of bad weather — are not the greatest producers of moisture.

In most parts of the country nature has provided us with a water supply that arrives in close harmony with the needs of crops.

For example, the amount of precipitation usually begins to pick up in the spring, when things have been planted, and increases until about June, or even July, in some cases, and then tapers off. This fits in nicely with the needs of growing crops, most of which are harvested in the months following peak rainfall.

Coffers Again Swell to $500 in Pot-O-Gold

It doesn't take long for the riches to pile up when they're increased by $100 each week. This puzzle is worth $500 if no winner is found for the Pot-O-Gold puzzle that appeared in last week's paper. Even if that happens, this week's winner will get not less than $100 and possibly $125. How can you lose?

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

The heaviest sentence was handed Paul Shreves, 17, who drew 2-5 years. He was charged additionally with assaulting the supply manager who surprised them ransacking the warehouse.

The others, with minimum sentences, were David Hall, 17, 14 months; his brother, Willie Hall, 20, 15 months; and Leroy Ferguson, 19, 14 months.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: It has been in only comparatively recent years that people were sure birds migrated south in the fall and north in the spring. Before that, it was often thought they hibernated like frogs and snakes. Since then, scientists have been trying and trying to find out just how the birds know where to go, how they get there and how they get back. Such navigation is an art that airplane pilots have to study for years, using complicated instruments. There have been theories that birds learn by following other birds, that they follow landmarks, and that they have various kinds of "built in" navigation aids of their own. Maybe the answer is a combination of many of these theories. Anyway the scientists are still not sure and keep on trying to find out.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Keep track of when birds common in your vicinity are last seen in the fall and first seen in the spring. What birds can you name that stay in your neighborhood all winter long?

★ ★ ★

(Robert Kicza of Hadley, Mass., won $10 for this question. Send yours to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this paper. Tomorrow: Was there a real Paul Bunyan?)

Deaths in Pontiac and Nearby Areas

ARNOLD S. HILL

Arnold S. Hill, 15, of 186 W. Yale St, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday afternoon. He died from injuries received when the motor scooter on which he was riding as passenger collided with a car.

A native of Pontiac, Arnold was a student at Lincoln Junior High School.

Congress to Discuss Soil Bank Changes

The next session of Congress will see further consideration of the Soil Bank program.

The Farm Bureau, Farmers Union and the National Grange had agreed on the plan but are disagreeing on its extension. The bank has hurt some individual commodity groups as there was nothing to prevent land going into the acreage reserve, for instance, and then being planted in vegetables.

The grower not only received Government subsidies in the form of soil bank payments but money for his vegetables grown on the reserve acreage. He thereby injured those already engaged in truck farming.

Flexible price supports are favored by the Farm Bureau; rigid supports by the Farmers Union and the Grange has a domestic two-price plan. An interview in Capper's Farmer, with E. M. NORTON, Secretary of the National Milk Producers Federation, who is attempting to form a conference of commodity organizations, show these groups are getting together to influence legislation.

"Our idea," he said, "is to tie all the commodity programs into a single big omnibus farm bill that we can get behind in Congress. Under that bill we would attempt to legislate a program for each commodity where such legislation is desired and needed by producers."

Acreage reserve is costing the taxpayers $725 million this year for 30 million acres put in the soil bank. The object was to cut down production. But it hasn't worked that way. Latest reports show that crops will be the third largest in our history and only one per cent under last year.

Congress has authorized $825 million for the soil bank in 1958. However, there should be some badly needed changes in rules which have tended not to discourage over-production, but in some instances, to encourage it.

How Many Freshmen Get Through College?

Out of every ten students who enter college this fall probably only six will graduate, according to a recent report in the magazine, "Changing Times."

★ ★ ★

Living as we do today with electronics and science playing such important roles, the above figures seem high. This does not necessarily mean that half the college entrants are unqualified.

To be sure marks are one reason. But many youngsters with above-average grades will have to quit. Money is their problem. Many students have enough for the first year or two and then have to drop out. Scholarships are not plentiful and they are unwilling to borrow. The ones that drop out seldom go back.

State supported schools and colleges lose more students than the private ones. This is true because many state colleges are required by law to admit all high school graduates in the state. Among the private schools the best known are the ones to suffer the most, probably because they cost so much.

★ ★ ★

After careful analysis, the present method appears to be working satisfactorily. And it might be unwise to reduce the drop-outs by limiting admissions.

In a recent graduating class of 1,006 students, 208 scored below average in tests given their freshman year. Had they not been admitted, the loss would have included 40 teachers, 22 engineers, seven lawyers, seven doctors and seven pharmacists.

★ ★ ★

The fact that 83 more graduates were turned out in professional fields where they were badly needed is proof that the system does have merit.

★ ★ ★

When Michigan State starts its Oakland county branch, thousands and thousands of young men and women in this area will be enabled to attend college that never could have, otherwise, as they can live at home and escape the big room and board expense. The branch will be geared for these students.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Give the United Way

David Lawrence Says:

Reds Slap at Court's Dictatorship

WASHINGTON — "What will the Russians think of us?" has become a watchword in American affairs, and lately the Moscow press itself—ignoring the Soviet's own segregation practices—has been pointing its barbs at America's racial troubles in the schools of Arkansas.

LAWRENCE

But the real criticism that has been voiced in scholarly circles in Soviet Russia is against what is termed the dictatorial function of the Supreme Court of the United States—the right of a judicial oligarchy to interpret statutes as it pleases.

ANALYSIS CAUSTIC

Typical of these comments is the caustic analysis made of the Supreme Court of the United States in the monumental work of the late Andrea Vyshinsky—once Soviet deputy foreign minister but more famous for his career as a jurist.

His book, "The Law of the Soviet State," published by the MacMillan Company of New York in cooperation with the American Council of Learned Societies, is the fundamental textbook of the universities and law schools in Soviet Russia.

It was selected for translation primarily because it is the basis of most of the legal argument and mode of thinking which Americans encounter in their discussions with representatives of the Soviet Union.

"In bourgeois countries the right to interpret statutes is in most cases appropriated to organs not responsible to parliament. Thus, in the United States of America, according to the theory of so-called 'separation of powers,' the courts are granted the right to interpret statutes or, in simple words, to control acts of Congress in respect of their conformity with the meaning of the Constitution.

"If a statute or a single paragraph thereof is admitted to be in conflict with the Constitution, it is declared unconstitutional, and therefore inoperative, by the court, and no rights can for the future be based upon it. Thus, the rights of the Supreme Court are opposed to the rights of the Congress representing 'the will of the people.'

OPINIONS COUNT

"In the United States of America neither the Constitution nor the laws of Congress, but the interpretations and constructions of statutes by the Supreme Court, are in fact—in most matters—the operative rule. Constitutional control by the Supreme Court of the United States thus in fact creates new legislation.

"Moreover, it must be noted that judges opposed to Congress are nominated by the President, with the assent only of the Senate; the House of Representatives has no part in the appointment of judges."

In the Soviet Union, its own supreme court has purely judicial functions, with no power to interpret the constitution or statutes. The final power of legislation, interpretation and constitutional amendment is in the presidium of the Supreme Soviet, a group of 37 members elected by the Soviet parliament.

Vyshinsky contends that the people, therefore, directly control their own destiny. One could argue with him that the presidium is a dictatorship and only theoretically responsible to the people.

But the answer any Soviet scholar probably would give today is that in America nine men, constituting a judicial dictatorship, set forth "the supreme law of the land" and the people have nothing to say about it except through the long and cumbersome process of amending the Constitution to correct the error of a Supreme Court decision.

Just the other day Stanley Reed, retired justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and one of the nine who handed down the "desegregation" decisions of 1954, made a speech before the California State Bar Association in which he outlined the remedies against a wrong decision by the Supreme Court of the United States. He indicated clearly that such a decision is not necessarily the final word.

What Americans need to know is more about their own institutions and the weaknesses thereof as viewed by our own statesmen in history as well as by jurists abroad.

Lack of Iodine Causes Hair to Lose Its Curl

"I'm a new reader of your column and enjoy it very much. Until four years ago we lived on the West Coast. My little girl, then two, had lovely natural curls. Now her hair is almost straight. Mine, too. "I know I felt better and had lots more pep when we lived on the coast than I do since we moved here (Wisconsin). When I do a good day's work around the house I'm exhausted. "Maybe there is something lacking in my diet, Mrs. —"

DR. BRADY

On the West Coast, you probably got a fair ration of iodine from your food, especially from fish or shell fish from the sea.

In Wisconsin, the water, soil and food are poor in iodine and so nearly everybody — men, women and children alike — needs a wee bit of iodine as a dietary supplement.

Your complaints may well be manifestations of iodine deficiency.

Other familiar manifestations are dry, sallow skin, lustreless dry falling or prematurely graying hair, melancholic outlook, tendency to feel chilly where normal individuals are comfortably warm, cold moist hands and feet, and weak knees.

Please remember that I do not advise any one to take medicinal iodine or iodide, If you do so, it must be at your own peril.

On the other hand, I do recommend a suitable daily ration of iodine for every man, woman and child, especially for people who live in the iodine-poor regions of North America. The Great Lakes basin is one such region.

Before you begin supplementing your diet, you had better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet THE IODIN RATION.

Everybody in North America should use iodized salt instead of plain salt at table and in cooking. This supplies some iodine (a fraction of a grain in a pound) though hardly enough to meet the nutritional requirement.

A good many readers have assured me that an adequate daily ration of iodine has retarded graying of their hair and some declare it has restored the original color.

Anyway, it can do no harm to try it—for not less than six months.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Asks Taxpayers to Attend Meeting on School Buses

"This is to invite an irate taxpayer to a meeting of the Waterford Township Safety Association at the high school Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Taxpayer complains of paying taxes for parents who don't teach their children to stay out of the way of cars. If he, and other irate taxpayers, will attend, he will learn the views of modern people who pay today's tax rates on modern highways, only to have their children's lives squandered by irresponsible drivers on taxpayers' modern speedways.

I hope he can also bring the answer as to who pays taxes to keep these drivers on the road instead of putting our children in ditches with broken limbs and possibly death at our door. Mrs. I. A. H.

My two girls, five and six, have to walk a half mile on Elizabeth Lake road. The five-year-old walks alone at noon. With two other children, it's hard for me to walk with her. One day when I did, there were puddles on the so-called shoulder so we had to walk on the road. The school bus came and we had to go into the ditch to get out of the way. A five-year-old would not do that.

My children attend Sunday school regularly and learn that Jesus loves everyone, and that they should love everyone. How can a five-year-old who has grown up with people to love and protect her know a molester from a protector or understand why you cannot love some people.

Something is wrong if a mother doesn't worry about her child walking down the road. We definitely need buses. We need less money for new schools and more for bus transportation.

A mixed marriage doesn't necessarily mean an interracial marriage. Our church refers to a mixed marriage as one where a Catholic is married to a non-Catholic. Most of that kind seem to succeed. Russia Uses Weapons for Diplomatic Bluffing

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

One thing allied diplomats have always feared is that Russia, once in possession of advanced weapons, would use them for diplomatic bluffing regardless of whether she intended to use them for actual war.

This is beginning to happen.

It is a particularly difficult tactic to meet when used by a nation which more than once in history has exhibited the tendencies of an outlaw.

★ ★ ★

It is not, of course, a tactic directly produced by Russia's acquisition of new arms. She has been using it all the time merely by threatening the use of force while the rest of the world pleaded for peace.

It now takes on new vigor, however, as Nikita Khrushchev warns Turkey, West Germany, the United States and everyone in general.

Khrushchev talks of peaceful coexistence, disarmament, international control of space missiles and the like — on Russia's terms.

To the United States he says that she can have peace if she will quit basing her policy on the belief that Communist regimes in Russia, Red China and elsewhere can be destroyed.

Not a word about Russia dropping international communism as a weapon of expansion and a means of overthrowing democratic regimes.

Instead, Khrushchev repeats the old Molotov thesis, that in a war between communism and capitalism, communism would win through the acquisition of support from non-committed peoples.

This is one of Khrushchev's constantly recurring themes. Yet there are spots in the Berlin speech and in his interview with James Reston of the New York Times when he appears to be thinking a little more soberly about the need for avoiding war entirely.

It is only to be expected that Russia will seek to extract every possible propaganda profit out of her temporary satellite leadership.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Mirror Can Change Entire Outlook

James Beaty is officially a county auditor, but he really qualifies as a topnotch applied psychologist, as you will note from the case below. Then compare his strategy with the experience of the prominent Atlanta dentist. Scrapbook this case and the next time you go shopping, purchase a mirror for your telephone.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-315: James Beaty is a very good applied psychologist, though that is not his official title.

DR. CRANE

No, he is the efficient county auditor at Anderson, South Carolina, where he works with the county board of tax assessors to help arrange the tax bills of his fellow citizens.

As you can easily guess, his job is a ticklish one, for many people enter his office in an irate frame of mind.

But Auditor Beaty usually makes them feel much better even before they open their mouths.

"I do it with a looking glass," Mr. Beaty adds, "for I have a large mirror which faces the citizens as they enter my office.

"It makes all the difference in the world, too! For people quickly become more pleasant and good humored the minute they see their reflection in this glass."

MIRRORS MAKE SMILES

Such specific suggestions as this one by Auditor Beaty are relished by all of us teachers of Applied Psychology.

Indeed, most of the clever ideas we pass on to our college students have been gleaned from practical minded men and women out on the real firing line of life.

We college professors thus are often credited with being smart, when actually you folks in the homes and factories and farms actually evolved the efficient shortcuts which we offer our students.

So I wish to commend the strategy which Auditor Beaty employs. As we view ourselves in the mirror, our attention is diverted, and that is an ideal ruse to allay anger.

Moreover, we tend to change our sour puss face into a more cordial looking visage. We smile.

"But if we just assume the external posture of any emotion," said Professor William James, our pioneer American psychologist, "then we will tend to feel the corresponding emotion."

★ ★ ★

At many state dental and medical conventions I have long urged the audiences to place a large mirror behind their office telephone.

And we would all profit greatly if every home likewise had a large looking glass back of the phone.

For then we'd relax our stern or angry or tense features and look more cordial. And when our faces are wreathed in a smile our voices will sound more friendly.

HOW TO WIN CLIENTS

"Dr. Crane," a prominent dentist informed me when I was addressing the dental convention at Atlanta, Georgia, earlier this year, "I lost a new patient just by failure to use such a mirror.

"As you know, when a doctor is rushed to death and preoccupied, with a surgical patient, he tends to be brusque and business-like.

"At just such a moment this new patient called to ask me about an appointment. I had never met her, for this was our original contact.

"And I was so preoccupied with the patient in my operative chair that I 'barked' at the stranger. She later informed my Dental Assistant of this fact when she canceled her appointment. But I never dreamed my voice sounded like that.

★ ★ ★

"Since then I have used a sound recorder to test my voice and I'll admit there is a whale of a difference in the sound when I smile versus when I wear a grim, sour puss look."

So — in your home as well as business office — place a large mirror behind the telephone. It will make your voice far more attractive and cordial.

And it will thus increase the number of your clients, as well as friends.

For people have enough sense of humor to grin back at their own sour puss expressions, and that changed outlook will be reflected in your telephone voice!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Seek Election on Courthouse

Taxpayers Group Asks for Vote to Free Funds, to Approve Bond Issue

The Oakland County Taxpayers League has asked the Board of Supervisors for a special election to free $1,400,000 earmarked for a new courthouse.

The league in a letter to Board Chairman Delos Hamlin, of Farmington, suggested that a special election be called at which voters could authorize spending the present building fund surplus and at the same time approve a bond issue for the rest of the money needed to complete a new courthouse.

CHOOSE SITE

The league also suggested that voters be allowed to chose between two proposed sites, one favored by the Board and the other by the league.

The board's chosen site for the proposed $4.5 million building is at the county service center. The league, which brought and won a suit challenging the board's building plans, favors the downtown Pontiac site of the present courthouse.

As a result of the suit, in which it was decided the board had put into the building fund more tax money than the constitution allows, the $1,400,000 building fund equity has been frozen.

AWAITS DECREE

Its final disposition awaits a final decree in the case and a subsequent appeal planned by the county to the State Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

In his letter to Hamlin, League President Philip J. Henry of Holly asked:

"Why, in all fairness, shouldn't the taxpayers now be asked, not only for their preference as to the location, but for the approval of the funds, inasmuch as it is the taxpayers' money? . . . No one questions the immediate need for a new courthouse. We believe the taxpayers will promptly authorize its construction if the board will seek their approval instead of attempting to substitute its judgment for theirs."

The Board received a favorable vote for a courthouse bond issue in 1954. However, a tax increase to pay off the bonds was twice turned down.

The bond issue therefore was never sold and present courthouse funds were raised, mainly out of annual budgetary surpluses.

★ ★ ★

1956 U.S. Fire Loss Smashes Record

BOSTON (AP) — The United States suffered a record breaking total fire loss in 1956 for the second year in succession, the National Fire Protection Assn. (NFPA) reports.

Last year's dollar loss totaled $1,231,576,000, an increase of $90,808,000 over 1955 losses, the association said in its annual report on U.S. fire causes and losses.

"Principal factors responsible for the largest annual fire loss on record," the association said, "were a 32 million dollar increase in large-loss building fires (where losses amount to $250,000 or more) and a 40 million dollar increase in aircraft losses."

The NFPA said the 1956 total of building fires was 1.6 per cent higher than the 1955 total, with the dollar loss 7.7 per cent greater than the previous year.

Faubus' Name Now Integration By-Word

By RELMAN MORIN

Third in Series

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 9 (AP) —Two months ago, the name of the governor of Arkansas, Orval Eugene Faubus, was hardly known outside the state.

Today, Faubus is assured for all time of a place in American history.

He may be regarded now with admiration or contempt, as a statesman or an opportunist politician, as a man who did the right thing in the right way, or the wrong thing in the worst way.

But in any case, so long as the wracking story of integration is recalled, his name will be an indelible part of it.

For Faubus stands in the center of the events that have dramatized this struggle. From them have arisen a hard dilemma and a painful choice for millions of people — Negro children in the schools or the possibility of federal troops in the streets, whether to try to preserve a well-loved way of life or to respect the law as it now stands.

Given time, the law might be changed. Avenues of compromise may be discovered. Faubus, by precipitating the showdown between the federal government and the states, probably has narrowed the possibilities.

He has raced the wheels of evolution.

In so doing, he seems to have boosted his own political stock immensely in Arkansas.

His mail indicates it. So do letters to newspapers around the state, and the soundings taken by reporters.

He probably has alienated the entire Negro vote, estimated at 60,000. The moderates in Arkansas are outspokenly critical of him. And the people who don't want integration but do want law and order and prestige for the state are against him.

On balance, however, his position looks very strong today, possibly stronger than before the incredible events of September. The consensus is that if he runs for a third term, he will be elected.

Personally, Faubus is a rather engaging man. He has a mild, easy-going way about him. He comes into a conference room with a smile, his "press conference smile," as the Little Rock reporters say.

A few reporters, with calculated rudeness, sometimes try to needle Faubus. His benign mildness, in reply, is devastating. Nothing seems to ruffle him. He is a shrewd pleader.

For example, he describes U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota—the man who ordered Faubus to stop interfering with the integration of Central High School — as an "imported judge." That evokes the picture, held by many Southerners, of the rich and powerful North "cramming integration down our throats."

But he overlooks the point that U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller —the man who first approved the Little Rock school board's plan for integration—is a native Arkansan.

★ ★ ★

He has accused the FBI of tapping his telephones, and holding high school girls incommunicado during hours of questioning. When FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover denied both charges, Faubus said Hoover used "lawyer's language," and did not, in fact, deny them at all.

He says he will not have "my people bludgeoned and bayonetted." But he will not say whether he will guarantee the safety of Negro students at Central High if federal troops leave Little Rock.

These and other aspects of the astonishing Little Rock story grew out of the train of events set in motion by Faubus the night of Sept. 2.

On that night, he ordered the Arkansas National Guard to encircle Central High School and to turn away Negro children when they came there to enroll the next day.

★ ★ ★

What were his motives?

To preserve peace and order, he says. He insists he had information that violence was brewing, timed to explode when the children appeared.

What was that information?

He says he can't disclose it publicly without violating a confidence, and "possibly jeopardizing myself in litigation."

Woodrow Wilson Mann, mayor of Little Rock, and Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of schools, say they never heard of any planned violence at the school.

★ ★ ★

Faubus replies that Mann is a "discredited politician," and says, "I wouldn't believe anything Virgil Blossom says."

Why didn't he call out the state troopers instead of the Guard?

"I don't have enough state troopers," he says.

Then why didn't he use the Guard to protect the Negroes instead of to bar them from the school?

"Because that wouldn't have removed the cause of violence," he says. "the cause is inside the school."

Could it be that he is running for a third term?

"Nobody knows that," he says, "because I don't know myself."

Nevertheless, many people in Little Rock are convinced that Faubus will be a candidate again next year. The theory is that he hopes to postpone integration until then.

He knows, better than anyone else in the state, the depth of feeling against integration.

Clinton River Water Analyzed

Test May Determine Whether Pontiac Must Build Sewage Plant

An analysis is now being made in Lansing of samples taken from the Clinton River by the State Water Resources Commission to decide whether pollution exists.

F. B. Frost, sanitary engineer for the commission, today said the tests were made three weeks ago and that the analysis and report were now being readied.

He said he expected the commission to receive his report by the latter part of October.

Hinging heavily on the outcome of the tests will be whether the city of Pontiac will be ordered to construct an auxiliary sewage treatment plant to stop any pollution of the river.

The tests resulted after city officials reported to the commission that voters in May rejected a bond issue to provide the money for the plant. The state asked for the tests to see whether the plant was still necessary.

Over $100,000 Damage Caused by Six Pennies

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — City Electrical Inspector Kay Wiegan has six pennies he says caused more than $100,000 in dmage.

"Our good citizens put the pennies in fuse boxes and those six fires of electrical origin destroyed property I'd estimate cost in excess of $100,000," he said.

Hal Boyle Says:

Elsa Maxwell Refuses to Be Frightened

NEW YORK (AP)—"Everybody is frightened but me," said Miss Elsa Maxwell, looking like a Roman empress as she lay, propped up by a pillow, in her bed in the Waldorf Towers.

"But nothing or nobody in this world can scare me a little bit. I've made out a will asking that my ashes be scattered over the Adriatic Sea, which I love.

"If I knew I were to die tomorrow, I'd want my epitaph to be: 'I die happy!' For I was born gay, and my life has been glorious, transcendently magical, full of glamor—and I mean real glamor."

But a new kind of glamor has entered the odd career of this adventurous lady, who was born in a Keokuk, Iowa, opera house during a performance of "Mignon," and grew up to throw 2,000 society parties around the world.

At 74 Elsa has become one of the big surprise hits of the winter celebrity season — among the masses, not the classes she usually hobnobs with. Her breezy wit has made her a Tuesday night star on "Tonight," the NBC TV show. Her book on how to throw a party is condensed in the current issue of McCall's. And Las Vegas has called her for a two-week engagement—"Not to perform, just to look at me."

"I'm young and fresh at 74? I roar with laughter. I think they're all mad. But people are bored with old routines, and whatever else I am, I am not routine. Too many of us are conveyer-belted mentally.

"Now at 74 they catch up with me. It's because I'm alive. It shows that to be yourself is all that matters—to say what you think.

"Most people are afraid, not only of themselves but of everything else. Fear is the thing that destroys everybody.

"That is why there are so few young people in America today. The younger they are the older they are. They're automatons racing toward a goal they don't know. They try to beat the clock, beat the other fellow—and they die young, before they have lived.

"I am not merely a party thrower. . .I've led at least nine lives and known most of the great people of my time. But there is no question I do give the best parties in the world.

★ ★ ★

"Why? Because I can say no to bores. I think to be boring is to be criminal.

"If I were cast away on a desert island, the five people I'd like most to have with me would be Arthur Rubinstein and Maria Callas (I can't live without music), Noel Coward (his conversion is divine), Jack Paar (he's so amusing), and a great scientist. Why would I want the scientist?. . .Why, to figure out a way to get me off the darned island.

"The five people I'd hate most to be cast up on a desert island with are Elvis Presley, King Farouk, Arthur Godfrey, Liberace and Jimmy Hoffa, that Teamsters official. . .The first four bore me (I think Godfrey is the greatest bore that ever lived). . .And as for Hoffa, what good would a truck-driver be on a desert island?

"What is my philosophy? I believe the way to be happy is to give happiness. Do the best you can for all you can as long as you have the strength, endurance and imagination to do it. . .Also remember always to be polite to those who are less lucky in life than you are. . .And don't let possessions possess you. . .The only thing I own in this world is this ring on my finger."

The phone rang then. Miss Maxwell picked it up and said:

"Hello, Gee-Gee. Yes, they are going to be married. Oh, I like him all right, but I told him, 'You're not a marrying man, and you're not a man who should marry, so—.'"

It seemed a good time to leave.

Sometimes a showgirl will refuse to date a guy because he's short — by about $100,000 . . . An old-timer remembers when a sweater girl was a girl who worked in a sweater factory . . . Today's maestros must really know all about music; in fact, leading a band is no job to shake a stick at.

Soviet Union Leading in Battle to Control New Worlds of Outer Space

(Most free world experts concede that in being the first nation to launch a man-made satellite into outer space, Soviet Russia won not only a tremendous scientific victory, but an incalculable advantage over the United States in prestige and propaganda. And along with the realization of the Russian triumph the question is being asked around the globe: Why was the U.S. beaten? (In a series of articles beginning today, one of the nation's leading authorities on the subject of rockets and guided missiles tells what happened—and why. The writer, Martin Caidin, is author of the newly published book "Vanguard!" which tells the story of America's guided missile program.)

By MARTIN CAIDIN
INS Feature Writer

The launching on Oct. 4, 1957, of history's first space satellite by the Soviet Union is the opening shot in a grave new battle between East and West.

The goal—superiority in the fight for outer space—may eventually grant to the victor control not only of the planet Earth, but of other worlds as well.

The Soviet Union is winning that fight.

Russia's space satellite represents only a minor part of a tremendous effort by the USSR to gain absolute superiority over the United States in space flight. Contrary to reports circulated in this country, Russian work in space flight is not a last-minute project intended to compete with the American Project Vanguard.

ROCKET TOO LATE

Soviet scientists consider the Vanguard rocket as much too little and too late. Their own plans for space have for years enjoyed tremendous government support in every phase of astronautics, the science of flight in space. They are interested not merely in one space satellite, or even a dozen, of the kind now whirling through the vacuum about our planet.

The Russian program is far more ambitious. It calls for Soviet rockets ON THE MOON. Not within "several years," as they have glibly announced—but in less than 12 months from this date and, most likely, closer to six months.

The Russians are determined to lead the way into space. It is their intention to accomplish space supremacy—just as this country became the greatest military power in the world when during World War II we achieved air supremacy over our enemies.

SCORED SUCCESS

They have scored a tremendous success toward this goal with the reality of their "sputnik"—Russian for satellite.

The giant rocket that fired the heavy satellite at 18,000 miles per hour 560 miles above the earth is an effective Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

The research rocket and the ballistic missile are the same thing to the Russians.

NOT FOR RESEARCH

The Russian rocket that sent the 184-pound sputnik into an orbit at five miles a second was not a research vehicle. It was the main and booster stages of a tremendous Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, the M-104 rocket that can soar hundreds of miles into space along a giant arc to send a hydrogen bomb crashing into an American city.

★ ★ ★

The Russian ICBM is a reality. The Russian space satellite is accomplished fact, at this very instant hurtling around our planet with the greatest speed any man-made object has ever achieved.

★ ★ ★

The USSR satellite represents a crushing scientific and political defeat over this country. For more than two years the American government and its scientists have afforded great publicity to the Vanguard satellite; "the first in the world," we claimed, that would be shot into space.

NEVER LEFT

The program to develop the Vanguard satellite rocket has been snarled in red tape.

It has proven extravagantly expensive—nearly 10 times as much money as was asked for has already been spent, and the results are meager indeed.

While we have been forced by engineering difficulties to postpone the launching schedule for Vanguard—the Russians worked day and night to launch their satellite. The Russian "moon" will have political repercussions for years to come; it has established in the minds of men the world over a seeming superiority of Russian rocket and astronautics science over that of the United States.

The crime of this situation is that Russian scientists are NOT superior to American men of science.

The fact is that American rocket and missile technology, in electronics and aerodynamics, and our work in space flight, is technically second to none in the world!

EFFORTS STOPPED

The truth is that American scientists have been stopped in their efforts to send a satellite into space, and a rocket to the moon.

American civilian scientists seven years ago tried to send a satellite into space to orbit at 18,000 miles per hour around the earth. They were refused permission to do so, and were told to "stop fooling around with this science-fiction nonsense."

Two years ago Army scientists tried again. They had the rockets, the launching site picked, the instruments ready. They were prepared to make America the first country to reach into space.

The program was canceled.

Two years ago a group of Air Force engineers and scientists tried to push through a program to send a rocket to the moon. The different parts of the rocket had already been built. They were tested and they were reliable. All that was needed was to put the pieces together.

They were told to stop being foolish, that projects to conquer space were ridiculous and impractical.

Two years later, on Oct. 4, 1957, a date that will be remembered forever in history, the Russians fired man's first satellite into space.

The Eagles Lodge, 289 W. Montcalm St., was broken into sometime Monday morning, with approximately $50 in cash stolen from machines and building funds, Pontiac police report.

The thief or thieves also escaped with an undetermined amount of money from a cigarette machine and two donation boxes, according to officers.

Site Donated to Navy by Chicago Merchants

CHICAGO — Created by an act of Congress in 1904, the Great Lakes Naval Training Center was taken over by the Navy July 1, 1905, by Rear Admiral Albert A. Ross, its first commandant.

Navy-minded citizens of the Merchants Club of Chicago raised $175,000 to buy the original site of 172 acre .sThey transferred the land to the United States for use as the Navy training site for "$1 and other good and valuable consideration."

Democrats Seek 10,000 Dollars

Party's County Drive to Run Friday Through Saturday

The Oakland County Democratic Committee is hoping to raise at least $10,000 in its annual "Dollars for Democrats" drive Friday and Saturday.

Proceeds from the drive, planned to keep the party financially sound, will be split equally along national, state and county lines, Richardson said.

Volunteer party workers will visit potential contributors Friday and Saturday, Richardson said, "in an effort to bring as many people as possible into active support of the Democratic Party.

"We are not so much concerned about the amount contributed but rather about the widest participation from the thousands of people who share our support for the Democratic Party's principals."

Ease Rules on Attire

NEW YORK — During the summer, the New York Office Executives Association reports, 53 per cent of its members now allow office workers to wear a plain white sports shirt without a tie.

250,000 Plant Species

DES MOINES — There are some 250,000 species of plants, but only about 150 of them are currently useful in American agriculture.

Not Enough Drivers Receiving Proper Training

By ALFRED L. MOSELEY

Moseley and Associates
Consulting Psychologist
Institute for Safer Living

A brief survey of national vehicle accident statistics will lead to the conclusion that our licensed drivers have not been properly trained in how to avoid accidents. The accident facts speak for themselves.

Considerable progress has been made in the utilization of the advantages of driver education. Research in driver safety, teaching aids, testing equipment, excellent text material and teachers' manuals are among the assets.

PROVIDE CLASSES

Some secondary schools in each state of the Union provide driver education courses. Standard teaching procedures are followed in 44 states in the secondary schools, and in five states in commercial schools.

Courses for adults are available in 15 states and in 15 states commercial driver trainers are licensed.

Approximately 40 per cent of public and private secondary schools offer driver education. Approximately 30 per cent of those who are eligible for the course enroll.

FEW TRAINED

Thus one of seven students who should be receiving training is enrolled. If this year our secondary school facilities were taxed to the utmost, we would train 400,000 and there would be eight million students with no opportunity for driver education.

This situation is a critical need, for the statistical picture hardly changes from year to year. In order to meet minimum requirements for driver training needs each secondary school must train 66 per cent of its student population.

In order for driver education to contribute its maximum potential in accident prevention in the future, four broad areas should be considered.

NEED CONTROL

1. First, there is the problem of supervision and control. Certification for secondary school teachers is essential, and licensing for commercial teachers is imperative.

Courses which are approved should follow a standard prospectus, or be approved against a carefully devised set of standards including content, teaching methods, and demonstrations.

Classroom study should include at least 25 class hours, and practice driving instruction should be not less than 16 hours, and should include night driving. Provisions for adult driver education are badly needed in all parts of the United States.

IN SCHOOLS

Steps should be taken to provide driver education in the curriculum of every public and private secondary school, accomplishing this objective as rapidly as possible.

2. Second, the student drivers will be limited in their accomplishment by the quality of their teachers. Instructors in this field are sincerely interested in their work. They face some stresses which could be removed or altered.

* * *

Many have no vehicle for practice driving and three students out of 10 who receive some training, do not have the opportunity for practice driving. In some states certification is based on a special course for which the instructor must pay his own tuition.

Driver education is often assigned as collateral duty, without extra pay, and in addition to the normal teaching load. Teacher morale suffers because of the lack of uniformity of motor vehicle laws which raises classroom questions for which no sensible answer exists.

3. Third, there is the matter of the content of the courses. Present course content expresses strong teacher interest in laws, licensing examination procedures, how the vehicle runs, and the personality and physical nature of the driver.

* * *

Some important aspects of course are deficient. Topics such as night driving, accidents, speed control, weather, road surface conditions, pedestrians, and cyclists are not treated adequately. A part of this problem is due to a lack of training aids.

Another part is due to inefficient teaching procedures. Research would make great improvements in classroom efficiency. Since emergency situations are encountered at least once for every hundred miles of driving, it is urgent that the student be given special study in this field.

This should include near accidents, and demonstrations such as skidding, blowouts, and battery failure. Increased emphasis on human factors in driver safety is needed including the following topics: personality, physical disability, age, fatigue, illness, medications, alcohol, carbon monoxide, and temporary emotional states.

4. Fourth, is the consideration of the student. He should not be deprived of an opportunity to learn to drive safely. In addition to making courses available in the schools, an effort should be made to enforce participation in them.

No application for examination for an original license should be accepted from any person who cannot show evidence of successful completion of an approved driver education course.

Next: "No - Fix Ticket Systems," written by Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

PARENT TEACHERS — Driver training experts agree that parent driver instruction is wholly inadequate. It is argued that no application for examination for an original license should be accepted from one who cannot show evidence of successful completion of an approved driver education course.

Girard Extends Army Enlistment

Discharge Set Jan. 27; 'Candy' Writes Details of Life With GI

He had been scheduled for discharge Oct. 27. The extension sets the date forward to Jan. 27.

Girard previously has said he wants to stay in the Army unless his legal troubles interfere.

* * *

His Japanese wife said in a magazine article published today that he is "a poor boy trembling at the crime he committed."

"Please do not throw any more stones at a man who is remorseful of his crime," Mrs. Haru (Candy) Sueyama Girard wrote in the Sunday Mainichi, one of Japan's largest weekly magazines.

* * *

Girard is on trial for the Jan. 30 firing range shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai, who had been collecting empty cartridges as scrap. The trial before a Japanese court is in recess until tomorrow.

In a statement read at the trial last week, Mrs. Girard said she and the Illinois soldier lived together for 17 months before they were married last July 1. She said he was a heavy drinker when they met, but after they began living together he settled down and stopped the heavy drinking.

* * *

The Japanese wife wrote in her article that the year she lived with Girard before the shooting "was full of consecutive privations . . . because Girard could down a bottle of whisky in a breath" and would not help take care of the house.

* * *

"Men usually glibly say they love a woman they have known just for a night," Mrs. Girard said. "If a man really loves a woman, he must take responsibilities for his actions. I was angry at him because his acts were making me unhappy. A compassionate feeling, however, gripped me once I saw him trembling."

Expand All-India Radio

NEW DELHI — All-India Radio now has 27 stations and 48 transmitters, 30 studio centers, and 27 receiving centers. To provide increased facilities for community listening, 12,000 community receivers were supplied to the states during the 1956-57 fiscal year, increasing the number of such sets to 25,156. By 1961 about 90,000 villages are scheduled to have community sets.

From its source to its confluence with the Mississippi, the Missouri river is 2,945 miles long. Their combined length exceeds any other river system.

Bread Catches on Fire; Result—Burnt Toast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—What's the result when a delivery truck overturns and spills 2,000 loaves of bread that catch fire from spilled gasoline?

Burnt toast, more than a ton of it, which caused a miles-long traffic jam on the Santa Ana Freeway. Police said the truck upset when driver Fred Swihart slammed on the brakes to avoid a collision. He was unhurt.

Former Pentagon Chief Speaks Out

Defends Priority of Missiles Over Satellites

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Pentagon's former guided missile "czar" firmly defended today an administration policy that he agreed may have allowed Russia to beat America to the punch with a successful earth satellite.

★ ★ ★

The policy was outlined and upheld by Eger Murphree, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's special assistant on missiles during the critical period when Army missilemen were beating in vain at the top command's door for a chance to launch a satellite.

"Looking back," Murphree said, "I think maybe we would have gotten to the satellite a little quicker if we had used the Army missiles.

"But it was thoroughly understood when I was in office that the defense missiles and the satellite programs had been laid out and were to be kept separate."

★ ★ ★

Murphree, who took office in March, 1956, and resigned last spring, has returned to his post as president of the Esso Research and Engineering Corporation in New York. He was reached by telephone at Atlantic City, N.J., where he attended a technical conference.

MISSILE PRIORITY

Ask who was responsible for the policy that gave almost exclusive priority on top brains and advanced equipment to the missiles instead of the satellites, Murphree recalled that he did not join the administration until some months after the Navy was awarded the "Vanguard" satellite project.

He discounted, however, the idea that the priority policy could have been a one-man decision.

Murphree said: "I don't think anybody in Washington ever thought the satellite had the urgency that was attached to defense missiles. I don't believe they think so now."

★ ★ ★

The former official pointed out that there is "every evidence that the Russians are doing a pretty good job" in building H-bomb-carrying space missiles, against which any defense—even at a future time—is a highly dubious proposition.

He estimated that at present the Soviets are "a little bit ahead" of the U.S. in the development of the Intercontinental Ballistics Missile (ICBM).

He added, however, that this doesn't necessarily apply to the entire family of futuristic projectiles on which America is spending about four billion dollars a year.

Murphree conceded that during his year in office the question arose repeatedly whether the Army should be given a chance at the satellite, using its facilities at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Ala.

The clamor from the Army for such a chance reportedly became increasingly persistent after the Redstone missilemen, on Sept. 28, 1956, blasted a projectile a distance of 3,300 miles—at an altitude of 650 miles and at a speed of nearly 12,000 miles an hour.

This feat, not too different from the creation of a crude satellite, was accomplished with the 200-mile "Redstone" and two smaller rockets—without using the Army's 1,500-mile "Jupiter."

Dr. Wernher Von Braun, the Army's missile chief, is said to have informed the Pentagon command on many occasions that his group could create a satellite in short order with rockets already built.

Murphree made clear that only a desire to keep the missile program unimpaired caused this to be turned down.

He said that if there is any military or other urgent need for an artificial moon, he thinks the Army could "get one up there pretty quick."

Buying Expressway Land Called Critical Problem

LANSING (AP) — A state highway official said today that buying land for the proposed Michigan expressway system poses a "critical" problem for at least the early stages of the new five-year road building program.

Sidney H. Woolner, deputy state highway commissioner, estimated that as much as 100 million dollars of one billion and a quarter in proposed expenditures will go for right-of-way.

★ ★ ★

Besides the sheer magnitude of prospective purchases, Woolner said, the highway department is confronted with a situation wher buyers have been "operating just ahead of the bull-dozers."

Woolner said that ideally land acquisition should be about a year ahead of the construction phase. When this is the case, buyers are in a better position to proceed by negotiation and without too much pressure.

If speed in making a purchase is imperative, he said, resistance of land owners to sell tends to be stiffened, and the price to be driven up.

The only alternative to the state is to start time-consuming condemnation proceedings, possibly forcing construction delays.

"The idea is not to take advantage of the seller. It's to arrive at a price that is fair to the seller and fair to the state," Woolner said. "This is not easy when one party or the other is boxed into a corner."

To meet the problem, the highway department plans to build up its right-of-way division staff, which got a new director earlier this week, and to try to strengthen procedures.

In recent weeks, a half dozen new buyers have been hired, boosting right of way division personnel to a total of 136, including clerical, administrative and other positions.

Woolner said the department plans to set up a land appraisal unit of its own, but not with the primary idea of making direct assessment of land values.

The unit will review appraisals obtained in the usual ways, and analyze them for uniformity and to attempt to verify that local appraisers are following sound practice in complex transactions.

Survey Scores School Hazards

Waterford Safety Unit Seeks Long-Range Plan for Student Pedestrians

Members of a newly formed safety committee have compiled information and data in a recent survey of Waterford Township, regarding transportation hazards of school children.

Sponsored by PTAs and composed of some 19 PTA safety chairmen, the group has been investigating narrow road conditions, speed limits and safety measures for children going to and from their particular schools.

Tom Peterson, representing the Waterford Village school, and Clifford Lampson of Hudson Covert, were elected co-chairmen at a recent meeting. Mrs. Kay Richter of Four Towns was named secretary.

During the survey, township areas were checked for the possibilities of constructing pathways along the sides of roads and to find out which districts were considered to be in the most immediate danger.

★ ★ ★

An attempt has been started to draft a long-range plan, with the cooperation of the Board of Education and the Waterford Township Board, for safe and adequate walking facilities, Peterson said.

"It may be necessary to make some route changes, cross-country, in order to get the children safely to school," he added.

PTA representatives have been asked to report the findings of the survey to their respective organizations, and try to work out their own individual problems, Peterson said.

Next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 4.

The meeting, held at the school on Winding drive, begins at 8 p.m.

Insanity Plea Entered for Accused Kidnaper

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — A plea of innocent by reason of insanity has been filed on behalf of George Edward Collins Jr., accused of kidnaping an 8-year-old boy last month in an attempt to get $10,000 ransom.

Dennis Britt, attorney for Collins, contended the accused was mentally irresponsible at the time and still is.

The victim, Lee Crary of Edmonds, was released unharmed after he had been held almost 48 hours.

With Heat-Seeking Missile

Plane Brings Down Rocket

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—An F100 supersonic fighter fired a target rocket—representing an enemy plane—here yesterday and then swiftly shot it down with a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile.

★ ★ ★

Nearly 6,000 persons attending an Air Force firepower demonstration watched the sudden, uncanny destruction of the tiny target, only five inches in diameter, moments after it was launched.

One Defense Department scientist who helped develop the GAR8 Sidewinder said in awe, "That's what we intended it to do—but I still can't believe it."

Maj. John M. Simmons, Gadsden, Ala., piloting the North American Super Sabre, fired the target rocket straight forward as he approached the demonstration area.

★ ★ ★

The rocket, easily tracked by its smoky trail, hurtled far in advance of the speeding jet. Then Simmons released the Sidewinder—a simple and relatively inexpensive Navy-developed weapon which has no more electronic parts than an ordinary radio.

The Sidewinder instantly sensed the heat of the target and streaked after it. A fiery explosion destroyed both.

Budget Head Denies Satellite Fund Limit

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Percival F. Brundage, director of the Bureau of the Budget, last night denied criticisms that his department has restricted funds for the United States earth satellite program.

"The amounts requested have been approved," Brundage said.

He said American scientists could have launched a satellite similar to the one launched last week by the Russians.

However, the budget director said, the scientists were waiting for development and testing of delicate instruments which they wish to place in the satellite.

Urges Funds, Authority for U.S. Satellite Lead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo) told a party rally Congress should give the President any funds and authority he needs to put the United States ahead of Russia in the space satellite field. "If it turns out the Communist menace is all a myth, then we may lose some money," Symington declared. "But if we don't spend the money and the myth is not a myth, we may lose our nation."

End of Flu Seen by Christmas

Ascribe 2 More Deaths to Complications From Asian Disease

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's nagging flu will be over in time at least for the Christmas holidays, an official prediction said today.

This forecast came from the State Health Department at Lansing as the disease contributed to two more deaths.

The two were the deaths of a baby boy in Saginaw and a young married woman in Detroit. A doctor said the baby's death was possibly due in part to Asian flu.

A forecast of an end to the outbreak by Christmas came from Dr. F. S. Leeder, head of the health department's Bureau of Disease Control. Dr. Leeder said the outbreak, according to the present trend, should run its course in four to six weeks.

Tuesday's deaths were those of 14-month-old Roy Lee Helton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Helton of Saginaw, and Mrs. Della Perrigan, 28, of Detroit.

Roy Lee's death was officially attributed to pneumonia. Dr. M. B. Goldberger said he believed the child had been suffering from Asian flu with pneumonia as a complication.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Perrigan's death was ascribed to pneumonia and influenza complications by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit city health commissioner.

June Allyson Laments Many Weepy Roles

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—June Allyson, that sweet little teardrop in the public eye, has been in movies for ten years. In every picture, she has cried.

Her lachrymal glands, in fact, are tired of it all.

"In the reviews," she laments, "the critics always put it as if I'm the one who's forced the director to make a weeper out of this movie or that. Honestly, it's the other way around.

"I beg them — I say, 'Please, don't make me cry in this one.' But do they listen?"

June's husband, Dick Powell, seated next to her at the moment, interrupts. "She does cry so well, though. Over and over and over, with no discoloration of the nose."

"Even my husband—" June says. "He directed me in a picture and I begged. I said 'Please, Richard, I simply won't do it again.' "

"She cries better than most women," explains Powell gently. "Even at TV commercials she cries, if the mood's on her. We're watching a television variety show at home and the children are taking bets on when mother will start."

Miss Allyson pulls herself up in indignation, which isn't easy to do when you're five-feet-one and wedged behind a table in a crowded lounge.

* * *

She said she thought their two children — also the dogs, and broken-winged birds — should be left out of this discussion, which was after all a discussion of her professional life, not her personal sentimentalities.

"My point is that I believe when an actress feels sorry for herself on the screen, especially when she does it so consistently, the audience isn't going to feel sorry for her. I think if she holds her emotions together — that's when the audience will do the crying for her.

"But," June smiles wistfully, "I have not won, you see."

WIDE-EYED STAR

Another thing that bothers the star is that she is typed as a real, wholesome American girl. "I'll tell you how I think it happened," she says. "Even when I was a child, a movie actress to me was something wonderful and glamorous, in another world. When I got to Hollywood, I was wide-eyed. Also I was not beautiful and I was not glamorous, so they pegged me wholesome and let it go."

"Nothing," says Powell, "is further from the truth. I think the two sexiest girls in movies are June and Audrey Hepburn."

"Darling," murmurs June.

"And by sexy, I mean . . ."

"He means he doesn't like the obvious."

* * *

Miss Allyson and spouse are in New York briefly to introduce her 32nd movie, "My Man Godfrey." In which, of course, she cries; but more briefly than usual.

Usually in the past, she says, she has been able to weep with ease if the wording of the script is touching to her tear ducts. However, lately she's finding it harder because "I get so mad and frustrated that they're making me do it again."

Eire, called the poorhouse of Europe in 1840, today has one of the highest per capital wealths in its history.

AP President Working Editor

'Washington Star' Chief Newspaperman With Accent on News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star and new president of The Associated Press, is a newspaperman with the accent on news.

★ ★ ★

McKelway moved up the ladder from copy reader and reporter, always on the news and editorial side, as distinct from the publishing end of the business. And at heart Ben McKelway still is a reporter.

In 37 years with the Star, he and the newspaper have grown pretty much into images of one another. Both the paper and the man ordinarily are rather quiet, modest, restrained, formal.

But the two have their lighter sides at times. Now and then they astonish readers and associates when both get stirred up and swing hard together on an issue.

Occasionally the issue is a national one. More often it is a local matter involving Washington as a city rather than as the capital of the nation.

McKelway is a working editor who drives no one on the staff harder than himself. An average of close to one editorial a day finds its way from his typewriter onto the editorial page. Yet he relishes those times, rarer in recent years, when he runs into a good news story and gets a chance to write it, in crisp, precise, powerful factual prose.

Editor McKelway was born in Fayetteville, N.C., 62 years ago. His father, the late Rev. Alexander Jeffrey McKelway, was a Presbyterian minister who edited a church publication and wrote editorials for the old Charlotte News.

Wants to Forget Martin Firing

Rocket Man Not Bitter Over Dismissal After Rapping Satellite Lag

DENVER (INS) — A research scientist who was fired from a job at Martin Co's Denver division after he criticized the U. S. missile program says he would like his dismissal forgotten.

★ ★ ★

G. Harry Stine, 29 - year - old rocket expert who has authored several books under the name of Lee Correy, said he had no hard feelings about being fired by Martin.

Stine said: "After all, it's the American way that a company may fire whoever it pleases, and I still have my right to say what I please."

He added: "I don't want to start anything. This is no time to start fighting among ourselves. We should take a real honest look at ourselves and find out why the Russians licked us so badly in launching an earth satellite."

★ ★ ★

Stine was fired from Martin last Saturday after he declared 24 hours earlier: "The U. S. lost five years from 1945 to 1950 because nobody would listen to the rocket men."

Stine said: "What I want most to do is to get another job and help set this doggone satellite situation right."

Admits Five Counts of Check Forgery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Robert Speedie, 51, nicknamed "The Traveler" by police and described by them as the onetime number 1 bad check passer in the nation, pleaded guilty yesterday to five counts of forgery.

Sentencing was set for Oct. 30 in Superior Court.

Speedie was arrested last month near Cleveland, after detectives traced him through 44 states, including Michigan. They say he left a 14-year trail of bad checks costing victims an estimated $500,000.

He faces 5 to 50 years in prison on the five Los Angeles charges.

First successful motorcycle was not built until 1900. The original two-wheeled cycle was invented in 1868 but it was propelled by steam.

New Amazing Chemical Repels Stains on Clothing

NEW YORK — How would you like to wear clothing that repels stains? Own leather shoes that stay bone dry when you walk in the rain? Use automobile oil that need never be changed?

All this is well within the realm of possibility, reports the new issue of a national magazine. Describing the amazing chemical, fluorocarbons, derived from the raw element fluorine, the article says they will revolutionize many of today's modes of living, and will offer man a chemical family of servants for both home and industry.

★ ★ ★

Probably the greatest single influence on today's living as a result of these new chemicals will be seen next year in the textile industry. In 1958, fluorocarbon-treated textiles will be available. Mr. and Mrs. consumer will be able to purchase suits and slacks, sports jackets and dresses — all, stresses the article, with a complete "disdain for stain."

★ ★ ★

Because of the unique properties of fluorocarbons, adding them to textiles will actually enhance the "feel" of the fabric. In addition, it will not affect human skin and will last through as many as five dry cleanings.

★ ★ ★

Homade Celebrates 39 Years of Preparing and Serving Homade Quality Food!

The Home Dairy Company, one of Michigan's leading food purveyors will celebrate its 39th anniversary this month beginning October 10th.

Anti-Reds Due to Rule Country

San Marino Commies Indicate They're Ready to Surrender

SAN MARINO (AP) — Confident anti-Communists today expected to take over undisputed rule of San Marino by nightfall, ending a 12-year Communist rule of this tiny mountain republic.

★ ★ ★

Anti-Communists who set up a provisional "White" government on Oct. 1 gave the Reds until 5 p.m. to answer an ultimatum demanding "complete surrender!"

The leader of the rival Communist regime, Domenico Morganti, indicated last night that his side was ready to give in.

"Really, we have no choice because we have been under siege by an enormous force of foreign troops," Morganti told a news conference.

Morganti referred to Italian police who have blockaded the 38-square-mile republic of 13,000 persons entirely surrounded by Italian territory. Italy and the United States have recognized the anti-Communist government.

Federico Bigi, unofficial premier of the White government, sent the ultimatum. He would not say what would happen if the Reds rejected it.

Morganti said peace talks were being held and only a few final details had to be worked out with the neutral peacemaker, San Marino Tax Collector Oliviero Cappelli.

San Marino became the only Communist-ruled country outside the Soviet bloc shortly after World War II. Because of defections, the Reds lost their legislative majority last month to the Christian Democrats.

When the Red government refused to step down immediately and ordered elections Nov. 3, Bigi formed a provisional government with headquarters in an abandoned steel factory near the border. Both sides had armed volunteer militias—the Reds 200 men, the Whites 150—but there has been no violence.

Begin Potlikker Week

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Potlikker Week has begun in Alabama. Gov. James E. Folsom, in proclaiming the event, had a meal of potlikker, cornbread and buttermilk to mark the occasion.

Ghana's Finance Minister

Barred From Restaurant

NEW YORK (AP)—The finance minister of Ghana, who had Vice President Richard M. Nixon in for lunch at his home in Africa last March, says he was not allowed to eat in a restaurant in Dover, Del., because of his color.

★ ★ ★

K. A. Gbedemah, a highly educated man who speaks flawless English, reported the incident yesterday on his return to New York. It was confirmed in Dover by Howard Cook, who operates the restaurant under a Howard Johnson franchise.

"If the vice president of the United States can have a meal at my house when he is in Ghana, and if Adlai Stevenson can come into my home, then I cannot understand why I must receive this treatment at a roadside restaurant in America," Gbedemah said.

Nixon dined at Gbedemah's home in Accra March 4 while visiting Ghana for its independence celebration. Gbedemah attended a cocktail party last month in Nixon's Washington home.

He has been in the United States since Sept. 20 for meetings of the World Bank in Washington.

An official protest to the State Department is being planned, Gbedemah said.

Few homes are being built today without at least one cedar closet included in the planning. Builders and architects say that inexpensive cedar closets, long considered luxury items, are becoming standard equipment even in low cost homes. Do-it-yourself addicts also are finding that installing cedar-lining in existing closets can be done quickly, easily and inexpensively.

New Ramblers Revealed Today

American Motors Has 11 Models in V-8 and Six Cylinder Lines

DETROIT — American Motors today announces its new 1958 line of six and eight-cylinder Rambler cars.

The new Ramblers will go on display in Rambler, Nash and Hudson dealerships across the country on Oct. 22, according to Roy Abernethy, American Motors vice president in charge of distribution and marketing.

Abernethy also announced that American Motors' senior models will be introduced next week, and added that the company will bring out a new 100-inch wheelbase series later this year.

Eleven models — station wagons, sedans and hardtops — in the six and V-8 series are offered in 1958. Both the V-8, known as the Rambler Rebel, and the six are built on a 108-inch wheelbase.

Engineering improvements include a push-button control for the automatic transmission, larger brakes, all-welded single-unit construction, and an optional differential for V-8 models to give better traction on snow, mud or ice.

The six overhead valve engine is rated at 127, compared with 125 for the 1957 model. An optional twin-throat carburetor boosts the rating to 138 h.p. The V-8 develops 215 h.p., up from last year's 190.

Over-all dimensions are the same as last year's model. The Rambler sedan is 191¼ inches long and 71-5/16 inches wide. The six is 58 inches high; the Rebel V-8, 57-13/16 inches.

Thumbs Down on Water

DETROIT (AP) — The County Board of Supervisors refused Tuesday to approve acceptance of construction bids for a raw water intake and tunnels in the down-river area for Wayne County's proposed 50 million dollar water plant. Opponents argued that the county should not go into the water business. Detroit's mayor, Louis Miriani, said if the county plan is allowed to go ahead "we will never have a metropolitan water system which is what we must have."

Furnas to Give Talk

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo, will discuss "what is necessary to maintain our leadership in scientific research, industrial production and national defense?" before the Economic Club of Detroit Oct. 14. He formerly served as assistant secretary of defense for research and development in Washington, D. C.

Bob Considine Says:

Dr. Ley Predicts Red Space Program

NEW YORK (INS) — A couple of months ago, Dr. Willy Ley, the German-born rocket authority, told this reporter, "It wouldn't be surprising to see the Russians beat us in the race to put a satellite out in space."

It seemed a ridiculous statement at that time. Dr. Ley went on to say that the Reds might do it for propaganda purposes but that their little moon would be mute, would have none of the complex radio gear that our bubble will have. Well, they hung out a harvest moon-ball that works real good, giving off signals which the British press figure sound like a Bronx cheer everytime the thing passes over the U.S. at 18,000 miles an hour.

This has resulted in a scare of such dimensions that there was even a word or two about it on the front pages of the Milwaukee papers, which recently have been devoted almost exclusively to the doings of a group of men playing a fine little child's game named Baseball.

Since Dr. Ley nailed down Russia's scoop well in advance it might be wise to recount what he believes lies beyond in the satellite business.

He was speaking of the U.S. development, not Russia's. But we seem to be working, however sluggishly, along the same lines and with the same tools, so it might be reasonable to assume that Russia now has the following on its rocket agenda:

—The next big step will be to launch an object large enough to carry a TV camera capable of sending back to the earth people the exact shape and figuration of the planet on which we live. There are still regions of the world which have never been accurately mapped. Such a device could take care of that in a matter of days, instead of the costly months and even years which would be needed to map, let us say, Antarctica.

—Beyond that would be a space platform, inhabitable, where men rather than instruments might study the intensity of cosmic ray bombardment and chart the floating derelicts of space, which we see occasionally in the form of meteors blazing into the celatinous atmosphere in which we live.

—A pot shot at the moon.

Dr. Ley thought we would win the race to God's moon hands down. He thinks it would be worthwhile if we could shoot something even as small as a can of luminous soup against that particular cinder in our insignificant little segment of the heavens. The Russians already are talking about constructing a satellite that will be able to circle the moon and report on its findings.

We are suddenly of the opinion that it's best to believe these people, even when they're claiming to have invented everything from TV to Mike Todd.

As Mushky Jackson said in the wake of the stunning news about the soviet Baseball, "our nucleous physics gotta woik harder or else we blow the duke to dem bums."

★ ★ ★

It would be infinitely better to be a century ahead of the Russians in such endeavors than to be a few months behind, as we are in the case of the midget moon. Survival is suddenly and terribly involved in such activities. A rocket that can squirt out a moon 500 miles above us can, with an H-bomb in its nose, cross the world and reduce any city to ashes.

How can we recapture our somewhat lost prestige in rocketry and in engineering savvy? Easy. Build know-how the same way the Russians did over the past ten years. Single out the top math students in high school, help them go through our better schools of technology and, when they are finished, pay them as much money to work for Uncle Sam as private industry is delighted to pay them.

OK Rezoning of Three Lots

Commissioners Break Policy in Bypassing Receipt of Alley Deed

City commissioners broke an unwritten policy last night when they approved by a 4-to-2 vote the rezoning to commercial of three lots at the northeast corner of West Huron and Thorpe streets.

They by-passed receipt of a deed for a 20-foot alley which is required for all commercial buildings before rezoning, according to City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn.

Voting against the change were Commissioners Roy V. Cooley and John E. Carry. "I'm not opposed to the rezoning," Carry said, "but opposed to breaking the precedent." Commissioner Philip E. Rowston was absent.

The Shell Oil Co. asked the commission to approve the rezoning as they were unable, because of company policy, to negotiate for the property and grant the deed until the property is rezoned. The company is planning to expand a present gas station in the area.

★ ★ ★

The City Planning Commission had approved the change from its present residential 2 classification.

Steel Output Rises

DETROIT (AP) — The Iron Age said Tuesday Detroit area steel mills are expected to reach this week production at 98 per cent of mill capacity. The National Metalworking Weekly said Detroit steel production last week was at 96 per cent of capacity. A year ago this week Detroit mills were producing at 106 per cent of capacity.

Muzzle Loaders to Vie

DEARBORN (AP) — About 150 members of old-time gun clubs will attend the third annual Midwest Muzzle Loaders Turkey Shoot at Greenfield Village Oct. 12-13. In marksmanship contests, teams of Army and Marine personnel, using modern rifles, will compete against muzzle loaders.

May Restrict Veteran Homestead Exemptions

LANSING (AP)—Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) said the answer to rising costs of the veterans homestead exemption law may be to withdraw the exemption from widows unless the deceased veteran had a service-connected disability.

Swainson, here for a meeting yesterday of a special legislative committee considering the problem, said the cost of the program in the first full year of operation following its establishment in 1947 was $900,000.

Last year, the cost to the state was up to $6,000,000, he said.

Under the statute, disabled veterans and widows of all veterans are allowed an exemption of $2,000 on homesteads with an assessed value under $7,500.

'Moon' Glow From Editors:

Pat on Back for Russia, Alert to U.S. Is Reaction Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most newspapers in the United States see Russia's artificial satellite as a dramatic demonstration of Soviet scientific advancement.

Interpretations were varied in the editorials as to what this means to this country.

New York Times — "Nobody asked the workers of the Soviet Union if they wished to have a lower living standard than they might otherwise have had, in order that their country might win primacy in the race to the stars. If they had been asked, it seems probable that they would have voted to use available resources for their own needs."

New York Herald Tribune— "The Soviet satellite . . . can be a blessing to this country, if it jars us out of the bickering, parsimony and politicking that have hampered the satellite and missile programs.

New York Journal-American— "In launching the earth satellite, which also means ability to fire an intercontinental ballistic missile, the Soviet Union has won a tremendous scientific, political and propaganda victory. "That is reality we must face."

Chicago Tribune — "It is with justifiable pride that Russia can claim the Columbus of this expedition into space."

Cleveland Plain Dealer — "Will a lass' eyes shine brightly as the man-made moon politely streaks along with beeps and hisses far removed from love and kisses?"

Cleveland News — "Scientists of the Soviet Union have given an amazing demonstration of skill and talent and have won a triumph, over which they have a right to gloat."

Washington Post and Times Herald — "Let no one mistake the political significance of the Soviet accomplishment; it will have a strong psychological effect in intimidating wavering allies and uncommitted countries."

Detroit Free Press — "It is conceivable that the Russians' new 'moon' will do wonders for their inferiority complex. Having scored a truly notable and spectacular first, they may stop busting their britches to beat the U.S. on everything from sewing machines to Rhode Island red hen production."

Report on Dietetics by Home Economist

Oakland County professional and non-professional home economists will gather tonight to hear a report from Alice Smith, nutrition director of the Michigan department of health.

Mrs. Smith recently returned from the International Dietetics Conference in Italy. The meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. at the Derby Junior High School, Birmingham.

Homemaking teachers, dietitians, Michigan State University extension agents, homemakers, county health and school lunch personnel and home economists in business are expected to attend.

All interested county residents are invited.

Musician to Present Guitar Concert Here

Lovers of the guitar will have an opportunity tonight to hear a demonstration of this instrument, and enjoy a special concert when Jimmy Webster, Gretsch guitar stylist and teacher, appears in the city. He will be at Grinnell's, 27 S. Saginaw St., at 7 p.m. for a concert and special demonstration. The event is open to the public.

Puerto Rico and Alaska, one tropical and the other Arctic, have a common bond. Neither one has enough ragweed to bother sufferers from hay fever.

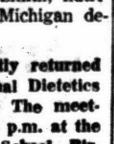
EAR STRAIN from WAXY EARS Dangerous!



EACH TIME YOU STRAIN to hear what somebody says, you may flash to your subconscious mind the destructive thought, "Am I going deaf?" That thought repeated often enough can result in a state of imaginary, partial deafness that consistently gets worse and more nerve-wracking.

IF HARD OF HEARING, NOW and there's wax (cerumen) in your ears, remove it with WAX-OUT. This deep-down wax clogs ear canal, hinders the sound-carrying powers of the canal linings, handicaps hearing, causes discomforts, ringing, bussing, muffled sounds. Remove this wax with WAX-OUT, a compound of soothing, solvent oils that softens wax, with use of simple syringe float it out, and then soothe and help tissues normalize. Your money back unless your hearing improves in 2 days after using WAX-OUT. Start WAX-OUT today in the easy to use SQUEEZE-A-DROP bottle.

Dem, Republican Debate Tax Effect on Industry

DETROIT (AP) — Democrat Alfred Fitt and Republican Donald A. Brown agreed last night that unemployment is a serious problem in Michigan—but they differed sharply on whether taxes are to blame.

Fitt, legal adviser to Gov. Williams, charged that GOP leaders "are clinging to the notion that the Democratic Party in Michigan can be destroyed by labeling it a villain which has driven business from the state."

Brown, state representative from Royal Oak, said: "All other things being equal, an industry will not locate in Michigan because of the tax climate.

The two party spokesmen met in a debate sponsored by the Democratic Club of Oak Park, Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge. The topic was "Are Taxes Driving Business Out of Michigan?"

Fitt argued that state and local taxes are not significant in the location of plant sites. He said the important factors are transportation, materials and labor.

Brown said, "Perhaps the goose that lays the golden egg of employment will not be killed by the (tax) climate, but he may be driven out of the barnyard."

Vandals Slash Tires During Milford Game

MILFORD—Vandals slashed the tires of 12 automobiles last night during a football game between Milford Junior Varsity and Bloomfield Hills.

According to Milford Police, a small, sharp-pointed knife was jammed into the tires, then ripped downward, and many of the cars had all four tires torn open.

Police are investigating the case this morning and say this is the first evidence of any vandalism or disturbance at a Milford football game.

To Consider Downspout Ruling

Lathrup Names 3 Officials

LATHRUP — The city council here has appointed three new department heads and taken under advisement a signed referendum requesting repeal of the city's controversial downspout ordinance.

★ ★ ★

Captain Arley Van Meer, acting chief of police since Kenneth Farnham resigned two months ago was made chief of police.

James Andrus, acting public works supervisor since Vernon Hodges resigned in June has been appointed supervisor.

Gerald Stone is the new city-clerk treasurer. He will retain his present position as assistant city administrator.

The downspout ordinance requires the disconnecting of roof drains from sanitary sewers. The petition protesting the ordinance and signed by 10 per cent of Lathrup's registered voters, claims the ordinance unnecessary if the sewers were cleaned.

★ ★ ★

Administrator Leonard Watchowski said that, on the basis of the reports of the county drain commission, the ordinance was enacted to reduce basement flooding during storms and a step towards the separation of storm and sanitary sewage to abate polution of the eastern branch of the River Rouge which has been ordered by the Wayne County Circuit court.

Watchowski said the city council has 30 days to repeal the ordinance or place the matter before the public.

Greece produced 23 million pounds of cigarettes in 1955, against an average of 11.9 million pounds in the 1935 to 1939 period, Athens reports.

California Cuts Racial Barrier

Japanese Elected Mayor

FOUNTAIN VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—For the first time in history of California, a community has chosen a person of Japanese ancestry to be its mayor.

The new mayor of this new community is a determined young man who is not only making racial history in California but is leading a drive to protect farmers from the mass housing engulfing valuable farm lands.

Jim Kanno, 31, and his fellow truck farmers see the shadow of a subdivider's bulldozer all around them. They know that before long it will invade Fountain Valley, a city of about 1,000 persons 30 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Kanno's community has passed a zoning law to control use of the land and is taking other steps to preserve land values.

As an individual, Kanno's life has been much like that of any other young Californian of his period. He was born in nearby Santa Ana. His ancestors were farmers in the Fukushima prefecture of Japan. He attended public school in Santa Ana, Santa Ana College for two years and then the University of California at Los Angeles, where he majored in agriculture and mechanical engineering.

He came within six units of graduating. "I quit to start farming," he explained during an interview yesterday.

During World War II, Kanno and thousands of other Japanese-Americans were removed from the coast to internment camps. Kanno spent a year at Poston, Ariz. He doesn't talk much about this period.

Since 1949 he has been farming in this pleasant land near the coast, raising lettuce, bell peppers and asparagus on 115 acres.

Kanno was top man among nine candidates in the City Council election last spring. As top man, he was chosen mayor.

There are approximately 20 Japanese-American families in this area and about 25 voters of Japanese descent. Kanno received 98 votes to win.

Court Broadens Compensation

Upholds Worker's Right to Collect as Long as Injuries Prevail

LANSING (AP) — In a new liberalization of workmen's compensation laws, the State Supreme Court has upheld the right of an injured workman to collect compensation as long as his injuries prevent him from going back to his job.

The precedent-making ruling split the eight-man body down the middle in what was seen as a division between the liberal and conservative elements of the high court.

Lack of a majority ruling automatically upheld a workmen's compensation appeal board which had extended compensation awarded to Peter Van Dorpel, 77-year-old Grand Rapids man, from 300 to 750 weeks.

Van Dorpel lost a leg and four fingers in an accident at Haven-Busch Co., Grand Rapids metal stamping firm, in December 1948. He was awarded 300 week compensation, which totaled $6,300.

When the period expired and Van Dorpel still was unable to resume work, he applied for and got an additional 450 weeks compensation.

The company and Metals Mutual Insurance Co. appealed the second award, contending it amounted to double compensation.

Justice Leland Carr, speaking for the so-called conservatives on the high court, cited a 1920 decision (Curtis versus Hayes Wheel Co.) which held that a workmen's compensaiton award could not be extended beyond its original expiration date.

★ ★ ★

By failing to pass a law overruling the decision, Carr said, the Legislature had given tacit consent to the interpretation, and by ruling otherwise the court would usurp legislative rights.

"We reject as both un-Christian and legally unsound the hopeless doctrine that this court is shackled and helpless to redeem itself from its own original sin, however or by whomever long condoned."

If an injured workman can't go back to his job, Voelker said, then compensation should be continued until he can.

Pity Poor Bison! Few Want Him, Even for Nothing

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—The great American bison went begging here today—apparently very few people want him, even for free.

Last month 225 buffaloes from the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge herd near here were placed on sale with zoos and parks getting first picks for nothing but transportation costs.

Individuals were also offered buffalo at a price on the hoof or chopped and in the carton.

Since that time, only six buffaloes have been reserved for zoos. Eighty-nine have been sold to individuals or organizations, leaving 130 more to be disposed.

Julian Howard, refuge manager, who last year saw 200 of the buffaloes snapped up in no time at all, says he can't understand why his "merchandise" is moving so slow this year.

The buffaloes are being sold from the refuge herd to keep it down to 1,000—believed to be the largest in the world.

Last year 50 buffaloes were sent to zoos and parks. Most of those sold to individuals went to ranchers, although Howard said meat orders have come from all sections of the United States.

A live buffalo under two years of age costs $125 at the refuge corral. There's an extra charge for dressing the animals.

Brides are fattened up for marriage in one section of Nigeria. Months before the wedding, the girl retires to a special room. Women of the family bring food and give her massages, first with palm oil, later with white clay. During this period she learns cookery and care of the home. By the time she "comes out," she is grotesquely fat from inactivity and gorging.

Rayburn Sees Dream Realized

Mr. Democrat Honored at Library Dedication in Bonham, Tex.

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—The homefolks in northeast Texas meet with government and political bigwigs here today to do honor to Speaker Sam Rayburn of the U.S. House of Representatives, Mr. Democrat to millions.

The occasion was dedication of the $500,000 white marble Rayburn Library, a final "big dream come true," according to his own words, for the bald little man who has been speaker longer than any other person.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, in a prepared speech, said that "if there is anything that is bipartisan in Washington it is a uniform respect and appreciation for Sam Rayburn."

"Speaker Rayburn," said Anderson, "has risen above the things that divide us to the things that unite us. He has entered the small company of men who are recognizable landmarks along humanity's high roads.

"Mr. Sam" has been a House member since 1913. He has been speaker, except during the Republican-controlled 80th and 83rd Congresses, since Sept. 16, 1940.

Rayburn started the fund for the stately white building with a $10,000 award he received from a magazine for distinguished service in Congress.

Individuals from all over the country pitched in then and donated money until enough was raised for this "final dream" of Rayburn's.

The library contains historic mementoes of Mr. Democrat's 50 years of political service. Included in some 6,000 volumes are records of every U.S. lawmaking body back to 1774, the days of the Continental Congress.

Candle Proverb Lights Her Way

By ANNE HEYWOOD

In almost all folklore there is a proverb to the effect that something is better than nothing.

★ ★ ★

For example, "Half a loaf is better than no bread," "The journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step," and "It's better to light a small candle than sit and complain about the darkness."

★ ★ ★

That candle idea was used, with good effect, by a woman I knew once. She is long since gone, but I will never forget her.

★ ★ ★

She was a widow with several children to support, back about 20 years ago, during the depression.

She had almost no skills; but then, even highly skilled people couldn't get jobs in that economy.

★ ★ ★

One thing she did know how to do was make candles. Her mother had taught her on the farm in Iowa where she was brought up.

In the palmy years, she had made elegant candles for party favors and home decorations.

ATTRACTIVE, CHEAP

For awhile, she just made her candles and sold them door to door. They were attractive and inexpensive; but, at that time, most people couldn't afford fancy candles.

Also, having to sell them so cheaply brought very little profit.

"I was very unhappy," she told me. "Then, one day one of my rich relations—a distant cousin—sent me a box of cast-off clothes. But they were all so fancy! There was nothing sensible and warm that either the children or I could wear.

"There was one suit, I think it's the kind they called a 'dressmaker' suit that was beautifully cut but terribly formal.

"It was the sort of thing wealthy women wore to our most fashionable department store in the afternoons when they were shopping to kill time until tea.

★ ★ ★

"That box of clothes only made me feel more depressed. All those fancy things when we desperately needed warm sweaters!

CALLED ON STORE

"But then I had an idea. I decked myself out in the dressmaker suit, put some of my fanciest candles in a large, chic bag that had also been in the box and called on the fashionable store.

★ ★ ★

"There's something about being all done up," she continued, "that brings out the duchess in anybody.

"I asked for the manager and got him—I guess it was the dressmaker suit that got him. I told him I wanted to start a candle corner—the name just came to me!—in his shop and I showed him my wares.

"When he asked the price, I instantly tripled it! He beamed and let me begin!

★ ★ ★

'GREAT OAKS'

Well, that was years ago, but it certainly gave proof that "great oaks from little acorns grow."

★ ★ ★

If you'd like to make candles, send for my list of books on the subject.

Couple Combines Skill, Good Taste

Young Artists Entertain Musicale

By CHRISTINE GAENSBAUER

Youth and rare talent, expertly developed, were combined on Tuesday afternoon to provide members of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale with an outstanding musical treat. The two artists were Camilla Doppman, cellist, and William Doppman, pianist. The meeting was held in Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

★ ★ ★

This young couple has just completed work on degrees at the University of Michigan but already has received an impressive list of honors and awards and filled numerous professional engagements, including solo appearances by Mr. Doppman with many of our major symphony orchestras.

Both artists possess technical skill of a superlative quality but in addition have what seems to be an unerring sense of good musical taste. Their ensemble work was so smooth and flawless that it seemed to flow from one source.

★ ★ ★

The program opened with two compositions for cello and piano. The first an "Intermezzo" by Vivaldi immediately displayed Mrs. Doppman's beautiful, unwavering cello tone and flexibility in her handling of the instrument. She combines great finger dexterity and delicacy with a strength of bow somewhat rare in a woman cellist.

Beethoven's "Variations on a Theme" by Handel (the theme is a familiar one which we associate with British coronation ceremonies) was delightful and showed the versatility of the pianist.

For his solo group Mr. Doppman played a piano transcription of the song "Daisies" by Rachmaninoff, the lovely "B Flat Intermezzo" by Brahms and a difficult "Sonatine" in three short movements by Ravel.

The listener was especially aware in all of these of the beauty of tone, the fine pedaling and the discretion used in interpretation of each composition. Never was the music sacrificed for startling dynamic or dramatic effects. Absolute clarity was maintained even in the most rapid and pianissimo passages.

MUTED EFFECTS

The Doppmans closed the program with three "Fantasy Pieces" by Schumann and added an encore of a "Habanera" by Ravel, in which the muted cello tone was matched on the piano with the same muted effect.

In its way each composition performed was a small island of musical perfection and the listeners felt themselves fortunate to have had the opportunity to hear these two young people at the beginning of what should be brilliant careers.

Mrs. J. R. Ladd and Mrs. R. A. Becker were cochairmen of the social committee assisted by Mrs. M. A. Calbi, Mrs. H. V. Phipps, Mrs. E. H. Buddenbaum and Mrs. C. A. Braid.

Mrs. Richard Esser and Mrs. J. A. Kingler were on the floral committee.

Offers Help for Wife Whose Husband Is Determined to Be Successful

By RUTH MILLETT

Is your husband ambitious?

If you are married to a man with a driving determination to "get ahead," you can either be a help or a drag on him. If you want to be a help, there is a book just published by a specialist in occupational medicine you can't afford not to read.

The title of the book, by Robert Collier Page, M.D., is: "It Pays to Be Healthy." Every chapter will help the wife of a hard-working and ambitious man to a better understanding of his job and health problem which, as Dr. Collier points out, are closely related.

There is also in the book one hard-hitting chapter aimed directly at wives. At the beginning of the chapter, "A Message for the Wife of the Ambitious Businessman," the author says:

"If you no longer love your husband and have long since lost respect for his judgment, and if you are not particularly interested in having him for a bedmate in life's declining years, do not read the remarks that follow. They are not for you. They will annoy you."

★ ★ ★

Then he goes on to tell how the wife of the ambitious man can be of the greatest help to him. Among his pointers are a list of do's and don'ts that add up to a technique for daily living.

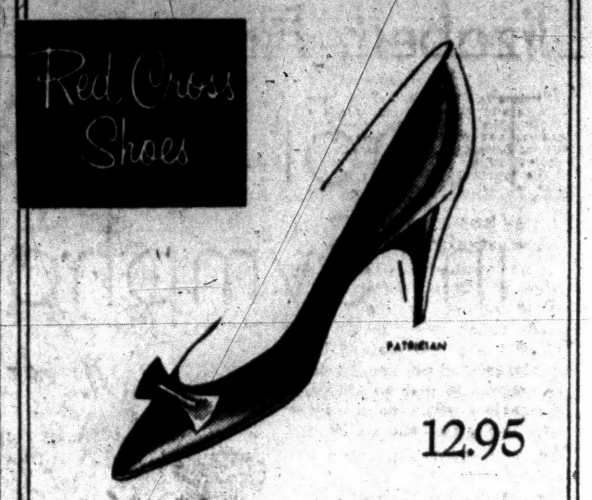
THREE BIG RULES

Among his 14 rules, which actually would be as helpful to the wife of an easy-going man, are these three which will give you something to think about until you can read the book:

"Adapt yourself to your surroundings, immediately, completely, graciously and honestly.

"Remember the three dependable sentiments: Loyalty, courage, and kindness, and the five useless sentiments: Self-pity, suspicion, envy, jealousy, and revenge.

"See the good aspects and meanings of life. Do not deny the existence of unfortunate facts; do not overlook them. Weigh them for what they mean — and look for ways and means of improving them."



Taper toe with pretty bow

Young Couple Tackles Chores of Monarchy Together

Elizabeth Finds No Barriers to Her Love for Philip

(Finding a husband who is both suitable and whom she can love is a problem that more than one royal princess has found near impossible. But for Britain's Queen Elizabeth the problem never really existed. Here, in the fourth of six articles, is the story of her romance with Prince Philip.)

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service

In the summer of 1939, King George VI, Queen Elizabeth, 13-year-old Lilibet, as the London tabloids called her with gushy brassiness, and nine-year-old Princess Margaret Rose took off on a royal yacht trip that was to have a momentous effect on the elder of the two girls. And on British history.

★ ★ ★

The yacht was "Victoria and Albert," a treasured barge. The destination was the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth. For the King, it was a homecoming. Some of the best days of his life had been spent at Britain's naval academy. He was graduated a midshipman there in 1913.

The royal family knew several of the naval cadets of 1939, including a strikingly handsome 18-year-old prince named Philip.

Philip had a mixed life. He was born on the island of Corfu off the coast of Greece, June 10, 1921, fifth child but first son of Prince Andrew of Greece and Princess Alice of Battenberg.

★ ★ ★

His mother was the daughter of Louis Alexander of Battenberg, first Marquess of Milford Haven, the Austrian-born British sailor who stoutly resigned as first sea lord of the Admiralty when war broke out in 1914 because of his name and place of birth. The latter was a source of embarrassment to the patriot through the war period. The former could be Anglicized, and it was—to Mountbatten.

QUEEN'S DESCENDANT

Andrew was a Dane, son of King George I of the Hellenes, in turn son of King Christian IX of Denmark. Prince Philip's mother's mother was Princess Victoria of Hesse, granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

★ ★ ★

The young prince, who could speak neither Danish nor Greek, had long been under the influence of his uncle, handsome, ambitious Lord Louis Mountbatten.

The rosy-cheeked Elizabeth and the blond Philip, conscious of his five years more of age, met at several children's parties. But the important meeting was the one at Dartmouth in the tense days before Britain was to plunge into a war in which, for a short period, she stood alone against the Axis.

When Philip arrived, the girls were engrossed in toy trains on the floor of a playroom. Philip joined them patronizingly, downed some lemonade and ginger crackers, then abruptly said, "Let's go out on the tennis courts and jump some nets."

'HOW GOOD HE IS!'

The girls were delighted and infinitely impressed with his leaping skill. History, and governess Marion Crawford, do not disclose what if any damage was done to the courts. But the thing "Crawfy" best remembered Elizabeth's saying was a stage-struck, "How good he is! How high he can jump!"

Philip did well at Dartmouth, excelled in his final exams and went to war as a midshipman in the battleship Ramillies. He distinguished himself later in HMS Valiant at the Battle of Cape Matapan, was transferred to destroyers, took part in the Sicily landings, went to the Far East and was present at the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay.

Elizabeth and Philip had seen what they could of each other since 1939, as the schoolgirl crush ripened into something, deeper. Much of their courtship had to be by mail, although after the war he did get back to a training establishment in Wales and was able sometimes to get into London, and Buckingham.

George VI announced the engagement in July 1947. On Nov. 19, the eve of the wedding in Westminster Abbey, the King pronounced that the poor but handsome prince was now His Royal Highness, the Duke of Edinburgh, with, among other things, an allowance of $28,000 a year. (Philip now draws $168,000 a year, tax free.)

MR. AND MRS. L. J. GREEN

Married 50 years ago Oct. 9 were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Green of Brooks avenue. They will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with an Oct. 13 open house at Gingellville Community Center from 2 to 6 p.m. The Greens' children include Mrs. Henry A. Fosmoen of Almont, Scherly L. Green of Gregory road and Douglas L. Green of James K boulevard.

The duke stayed on in the Navy, finishing his active career as commander of HMS Magpie, a frigate based at Malta. He and the princess then headed on a commonwealth tour.

It was during the first stage of their projected visit to Australia, while in Kenya, on Feb. 6, 1952, that the word came—King George VI was dead. It wasn't unexpected. Elizabeth had been present at the hospital in London in the fall of 1951 during the seven-hour operation which removed one of her father's lungs.

Elizabeth and Philip flew 4,444 miles back to London for the funeral at Windsor and for the ritual of her being proclaimed Queen of the realm at St. James's Palace, Feb. 8, 1952.

Elizabeth was 25, her nation's 60th sovereign, obliged to reign over 14,435,000 square miles of territory and well over half a billion persons. She was also the mother of two babies, Prince Charles, now heir apparent to the throne, born a year after her marriage, and Princess Anne, born in 1950.

★ ★ ★

FAMOUS REIGNS

"Famous have been the reigns of our queens," he cried. "Some of the greatest periods in our history have been unfolded under their scepter.

"Now that we have a second Queen Elizabeth also ascending the throne in her 26th year, our thoughts are carried back nearly 400 years to the magnificent figure who presided over and, in many ways, embodied and inspired the grandeur and genius of the Elizabethan Age . . .

"I, whose youth was cast in the august, unchallenged and tranquil glories of the Victorian era, may well feel a thrill in evoking once more the prayer and the anthem, God Save the Queen."

EXERCISE

Exercise becomes an important thing after we pass twenty-five. Even if we are not trying to lose weight, we need it to remain firm.

We need it to ward off those extra pounds that could creep around our waist . . . and for muscle tone or "bulge control." Get your exercise doing something you really enjoy doing . . . it is the only way you will keep at it!

Adopt Lili Dache's motto . . . If it isn't fun . . . to heck with it." Take your pick . . . dance, skate, swim, or walk yourself to a firmer, better figure. To this, add a bit of stretching daily. S-t-r-e-t-c-h when you reach for things . . . anytime during the day the thought occurs to you, stop and stretch . . . and particularly when you arise in the morning. It stimulates, relaxes and slenderizes.

The Longer You Live the Luckier You Are

Greet Over-40 Birthdays Joyfully

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I do not know why women so often wear their birthdays wistfully rather than gleefully after the age of 40.

★ ★ ★

Birthdays should be testimonials to more wit, more charm, more understanding, a more fascinating personality, more zestful living. And they will be if a woman has been perceptive as the years have rolled by.

Middle-age years and those following can be filled with excitement and happiness. Actually this is the time when you can pamper yourself a little. You can indulge in more individual interests. In the past your time has been devoured by the varied and insatiable interests of your family.

You are free now to take trips which you could not take when the children were small. You can plan on the spur of the moment just as you used to do as a girl and a young wife, before heavier responsibilities piled up.

You can take up that sport or study or skill you put aside for the duration. You have more money to spend on yourself than you did in earlier years. If you are married, you and your husband can enjoy a comparatively carefree companionship again.

Birthdays at middle age should not be abhorred. Instead, get out the travel brochures and plan that trip you are now free to take.

Besides this, birthdays are evidence of good luck; the good fortune to have lived so long. The longer you live the luckier you are because it is sheer bonus just to be alive!

The only reason to dread the pileup of birthdays is the thought that the longer you have lived the fewer birthdays you have to look forward to. However, this is a negative attitude in a way.

Life is always uncertain, and remember the aging process begins in youth, so salute your birthdays as they arrive! These are great occasions when you thank God for another year of consciousness on this earth, when your family and friends remember you with appreciation and love.

These celebrations are failures only when the woman has grown old in spirit because she measures life in years instead of in rich living. Happy Birthday to you!

Hospital Director Talks to Federation Leaders

★ ★ ★

After tracing the history of the hospital, Mr. Flath told that in the J. L. Jacobs survey taken in 1953, 600 beds were found to be needed in this area.

PLAN NECESSARY

As of 1957, said Mr. Flath, the area will be 400 beds short. Most communities suffer in the absence of a long-range master plan for hospital growth in relation to population change, he continued.

★ ★ ★

"I feel," he said, "that a hospital authority embracing the Pontiac 'hospital market' would seem to have considerable promise."

The president of the federation, Mrs. Socrates Sekles, announced her chairmen for the season as Mrs. Charles Crawford, program; Mrs. George Pratt, hospitality; Mrs. Alex Capsalis, telephone; Mrs. John Wilson, custodian; Mrs. Frank Anderson, public affairs; Mrs. John Allen, health; Mrs. Paul Gorman, youth education; Mrs. Clarke Kimball, USO, and Mrs. Robert C. Anderson, housing.

Other chairmen are Mrs. E. D. Moessner, historian; Mrs. George Wyman, publicity; Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson, fine arts; Mrs. Arnold Hillerman, United Fund; Mrs. Leonard Buzz, membership; Mrs. Helen Reese, resolutions; Mrs. David Utley, welfare; Mrs. Forrest Brown, budget, and Mrs. William McClure, ways and means.

We Can't Pry Into Child's Entire Heart

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Like many other divorces, the K.'s requires their children to spend summers with their father. This summer Patty and Mike also spent it with his new wife.

★ ★ ★

Now that they're home again, their mother wants to ask them many questions. She wants to know whether their stepmother criticized their clothes and manners; whether she and their father argued over their behavior; what she looks like and whether they like her and think she'll make their father happy.

But every time she's tried to ask one of these questions, Patty and Mike have shown uneasiness — and evaded her.

Finally when she asked Patty directly whether Daddy seemed happy with his new wife, the child burst out, "Oh, Mommy, for goodness sake, I don't know! And if I did know, why do you have to know, too?"

As a result of this refusal of confidence, Mrs. K. has been feeling rejected by her children as well as by their father. And her hurt has been making their home-coming less happy than it should be.

★ ★ ★

So for her and other divorced mothers at this time of year, I want to quote some words of Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

FOOLISH DEMANDS

In his book, "Memoirs of Childhood and Youth," he writes:

"We must beware of reproaching those we love with want of confidence in us if they are not always ready to let us look into all corners of their heart. The soul has its clothing of which we must not deprive it; and no one has the right to say to another: 'Because we belong to each other as we do, I have a right to know all your thoughts.'

"All demands of that sort are foolish and unwholesome. We might almost say that the better we get to know each other, the more mystery we see in each other. Only those who respect the personality of others can be of real use to them."

This is the view of one of the great practicing Christians of our time.

However, though we may not be able to practice forbearance as well as Dr. Schweitzer does, we can at least accept it as our ideal behavior.

★ ★ ★

We'll release Patty and Mike from the obligation to allow us to pry into all the corners of their hearts — and turn, instead, to our own. Instead of trying to explore their secret feelings, we'll start exploring the fears that lie behind our need to pry.

Hosts Fear Crashing of Reception

Want Someone to Stand at Door and Check Guests

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and we, their children, are planning to give a large reception for them in a hall. (Our house is too small to accommodate the number of guests we wish to ask.)

"In order to prevent 'crashing' (a practice which is not unknown here when a large reception is given), would it be permissible to have someone stationed at the door with a list of the guests so that each guest's name may be checked off as he (or she) arrives?"

Answer: If there is real danger that people will try to "crash" your party, by all means have someone check the guests as they arrive.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell me how to have notepaper marked to send thank-you notes for wedding presents. I will write some notes before the wedding but I think most of them will have to be written after, and therefore I would like to have paper that would be suitable to use both before and after. Would it be better to have it marked with my maiden initials or my married initials?"

Answer: If would be permissible to use paper marked with your maiden initials for the notes you write immediately after your marriage, the idea being that you had expected to be able to do so before your wedding. But it would not be proper to use paper marked with your future initials before they belong to you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our son is going to be christened a week from Sunday and we intend to have a reception afterwards at our house for friends and relatives. Is it necessary to ask the clergyman who will officiate at the christening to return to the house for the reception?"

Answer: No, it is not neceessary, unless your feelings toward him are that of an old friend of the family, in which case you will surely want to invite him.

Lois Beaird and Darrell Hawley were married Saturday evening in First Church of Nazarene. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William N. Beaird, and the bridegroom is the son of the Russell Hawleys.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Beaird of Clarence Street are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hawley of Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Mae Dell Isaac, serving as her sister's maid of honor, wore a peacock crystalette ballerina-length gown fashioned with oval neckline, short sleeves and a princess waist accented with a large bow.

Before leaving on a northern Michigan trip the new Mrs. Hawley changed to a red and gray plaid suit with black accessories. The couple will live in Drayton Plains.

Many Cheer Up Sick Youngster

LAKEVILLE, Mass. (AP)—Up until yesterday, little Francis X., pathetically ill with muscular dystrophy, had never had a visitor at the Lakeville State Sanatorium.

The youngster, also known as Little Boy Blue, thought nobody wanted him.

Facing a lonely birthday, he told Dr. Kurt Jellinek last week he didn't want much, maybe four or five cards.

The story of the lonely youngster got out—and it touched the heart of the nation.

On his ninth birthday yesterday he learned how many friends he really has.

More than 150,000 cards and letters were mailed to him—and they were still coming today.

An estimated $10,000 was mailed to him.

Offers of help jammed the hospital switchboard.

Toys, candy, games, radios, television sets and other gifts were delivered to the hospital by the truckload.

Little Francis could hardly contain himself when Jerry Lewis appeared on the television screen in the closed-circuit telecast and dedicated an all star show to "My one-boy audience."

Stresses Training of Doctors

Private Mental Hospital Makes Record in Cures

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A 200-bed showplace mental hospital that rarely has more than 100 patients is making an impressive record in the number of cases released as cured.

★ ★ ★

Critics of the Larue D. Carter Memorial Hospital point to the empty beds and the fact that the hospital selects its patients. But the fact remains that of 2,290 patients admitted in five years of operation until June of this year, 1,916 were sent home as cured.

Carter Memorial, on the edge of the Indiana University Medical School campus, has its own operating policies.

Dr. Donald F. Moore, medical director, says the policy is based on the hospital's two main functions: treatment and training of doctors in psychiatry.

Carter accepts patients only by referral from doctors and psychiatrists. It gives priority to patients who have been ill less than six months with a disorder of the type that will respond to treatment in three to six months. It also favors patients whose doctors recommend treatment in a state hospital for medical or financial reasons.

The other side of the coin is that, while beds lie empty in Carter, mental patients ordered by the courts to be committed to institutions must be held in county jails awaiting admission to other public hospitals—most of them jammed beyond their capacities.

Dr. Moore says most of the cases in jails are not the type which Carter's program would benefit. These cases are not eligible to Carter because they have not been referred by a physician or psychiatrist.

For those it does accept, Carter offers treatment ranking with the best in the country along with a full program of occupational and recreational therapy. Therapists, nurses and social workers get training here as well as doctors.

Syria Complains to U.N. on Turkey

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Syria has complained to the United Nations that Turkey is threatening peace in the Middle East by concentrating troops on the Syrian border.

A letter delivered to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold yesterday asked that U. N. members be notified but did not request formal U. N. consideration at this time.

The letter followed similar charges both from Damascus and Moscow which Turkey has rejected. It was delivered after reports of border incidents Saturday and Monday.

Acting Foreign Minister Khalil Kallas said in Damascus that Syria also had protested directly to Ankara against "repeated violation of Syrian air space by Turkish aircraft, the continuous unjustified presence of Turkish military concentrations on Syria's northern border, and repeated troops by automatic fire against Syrian border inhabitants."

Convict's Leg Torn Off

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — A convict's right leg was torn off in a cotton milling machine at San Quentin prison. Bert Sanders, 36, serving five years to life on a Los Angeles robbery conviction, accidentally caught his right trouser leg in a splasher machine. His leg was drawn into the machinery and amputated.

There have been 14 Chief Justices of the U. S.—Jay, Rutledge, Ellsworth, Marshall, Taney, Chase, Waite, Fuller, White, Taft, Hughes, Stone, Vinson, and now Earl Warren.

Producer Says His Movie to Have Rare Scenes

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Everytime I've written that Katharine Cornell is about to star in a picture, Kit has telephoned me with a few thousand words to say about the movies. But she definitely is interested in playing the mother superior in "The Nun's Story." She's been in communication with director Fred Zinnemann and producer Henry Blanke, and it's all set but the actual signing.

Audrey Hepburn, who plays the young nun, has been at the Warner studio for wardrobe and makeup tests, although the picture doesn't start until January. Both Zinnemann and Blanke leave Oct. 17 for Brussels and then go on to Rome to work on the script.

Irene Dunne was a great favorite for the mother superior role but because of her big job with the Uited Nations, she isn't available.

★ ★ ★

I keep arguing with Walter Wanger that I wish he wouldn't make the life story of Barbara Graham, the woman who went to the gas chamber. But he feels when his picture comes out he will have material no one has ever seen. At any rate, he has completely sold Susan Hayward on the picture which starts in January.

"Everyone talked against 'Smash-Up' which I did with Susan showing her as an alcoholic," Walter said.

"But murder is different from drink," I told him.

Be that as it may, Joe Mankiewicz held a press conference in New York today saying the Graham movie is definitely scheduled. Joe also told the press about "The Quiet American," which he just completed in Europe with Audie Murphy.

Father Edward F. Murphy, who married Joan and John Lucas, and who baptized their two little blonde daughters, came from New Orleans to baptize their new son, Michael Meredyth, at St. Ambrose church.

Father Murphy, a brilliant writer, is the author of many successful novels. He sold "The Scarlet Lily," the story of Mary Magdalene, to David Selznick about three years ago. In a few weeks his book, "Angel of the Delta" makes its appearance. He does great work in New Orleans, where he supervises several Negro schools and is greatly loved.

The new Lucas baby is the grandson of Bess Meredyth, well known writer, and was named for his grandfather, director Michael Curtiz, who is on location with "The Proud Rebel" company. I am young Michael's godmother and Gene Fowler is godfather to Michael's sister Victoria.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Ruth Dubonnet, ex-wife of Andre Dubonnet of the famous winery, gave a small cocktail party at Chasen's. She says she's going to marry Julie Styne, song writer.

The very night Pat O'Brien opened on broadway in "Miss Lonely-Hearts," he and Eloise received the happy news that they will be grandparents for the first time in May. Their daughter, Mauverneen (Mrs. David Garton) expects a baby.

And the Joe E. Browns will be grandparents for the fifth time in February. Their daughter Katherine (Mrs. Stephen Thayer) welcomes her fourth baby. Daughter Mary has one child.

Polish Students Back in School

Return to Classrooms for First Time Since Last Week's Riot

WARSAW (AP)—Students trooped back to Warsaw Polytechnic School today for the first time since their demonstrations last week against censorship and police methods.

Rector Wladyslaw Araszkiewicz told them they must maintain absolute quiet in the school and their hostels.

Warsaw was quiet last night. It was the first night free of clashes between demonstrators and police since last Thursday.

However, unrest was reported among students at Wroclaw, the former German city of Breslau. The youth newspaper Sztandar Mlodych said the university faculty had to call a meeting to head off a strike of students disturbed by rumors that their scholarships would be cut.

★ ★ ★

The report made no mention of any connection with the Warsaw protests against the ban on the student paper Po Prustu and the methods of the police who broke up demonstrations.

★ ★ ★

Prosecuting authorities continued investigation of scores arrested during the demonstrations and the riot which followed.

Trials are expected to start by the weekend. It was reported the majority would be charged under a section of the legal code providing sentences of from six months to five years.

Small rugs, slip covers and draperies which are to be washed should be thoroughly vacuum-cleaned before tossing them into the suds.

It's Official—Now Call Them LA Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP)—With the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants now officially headed for the West Coast, National League president Warren Giles today said expansion to 10 or 12-team leagues, is the next logical step for further changes in the Major League baseball map.

"I don't know of any club now considering re-location," said Giles. "If any cities not now included in the Major League baseball makeup are to have Major League baseball it would seem to have to come through expansion, not additional franchise transfers."

Giles, commenting on the Dodgers' decision yesterday to follow the Giants, Boston Braves, St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics in franchise shifts which have rearranged the baseball map since 1953, said expansion has been discussed frequently and for some time by the majors on an informal basis.

He added, however, that there "has been no sentiment favoring expansion at the present time in the National League."

"I don't believe there will be any such expansion, however, in the immediate future," said Giles, "say in the next two or three or four years."

Giles also doubted that the expansion question will come up in the joint Major League meeting next December.

While expansion to 10-team leagues or to three leagues, has been most frequently mentioned in baseball circles, some owners and other officials, in both the majors and the minors, now favor two 12-team leagues as the final answer.

With 12-team setups, each league would be divided into eastern and western divisions. The two division winners in each league would meet in a five or seven-game playoff for the league championship and those two winners then would meet in the World Series.

The eastern division would make one swing through the west, and the west one through the east, in each league during the regular season.

The Dodgers, in anything but a surprise move, formally announced yesterday that club directors and stockholders had "unanimously agreed that the necessary steps be taken to draft the Los Angeles territory."

The announcement came within 24 hours of action by the Los Angeles City council, by a 10-4 vote, approving an acceptable offer to the Dodgers — swapping a 300-acre chunk of accessible Chavez ravine for Brooklyn-owned Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

Dodger president Walter O'Malley was still meeting with club directors when the shift was announced to haul his Brooks to the promised land.

So, in a 52-word statement, the Brooklyn Dodgers are dead, ready to open the 1958 season in Los Angeles while the Giants get under way in San Francisco. Now American League territory (subject to what should be a whale of an interleague tussle at the December meetings) as the home of the New York Yankees.

New York mayor Robert Wagner, however, had barely waved the Dodgers good-bye than he announced he would appoint a committee in the next few days to start a campaign to lure another National League team to New York.

The National League's new alignment, the first since the Braves started all this by moving to Milwaukee in 1953, places Los Angeles, San Francisco, St. Louis and Chicago in the western division. Milwaukee and Cincinnati shift to the eastern division, which keeps Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Unofficial schedules have both of the new west coast clubs opening at home next April, the Dodgers against the Cubs and the Giants against the Cardinals.

Neither Los Angeles or San Francisco will have its new stadium ready until 1959, however. Until the Los Angeles plant, figured for 50,000 seats, is completed the Dodgers will play either in Wrigley Field (22,500) or the Coliseum (101,528) or both. The Giants will play in the Seals' Stadium until their 45,000-seat home is completed.

Still to be settled is the amount of damages to be paid by the Giants and Dodgers to the Pacific Coast League, and its Los Angeles and San Francisco clubs, for invasion of its territory. If no settlement can be agreed on between the two clubs and the league, arbitration boards will be set up composed of seven members representing all interested parties.

Nine varsity gridders are sidelined at Birmingham, including ace fullback Chuck Gibson. Of Clarkston's 26-man squad, only nine were fit for drills Monday and a dozen reported yesterday. The Wolves have not practiced since last Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Haney's battling Milwaukee Braves, ruled the favorite for the first time today, at 2 to 1, to capture the series as they faced the New York Yankees in the sixth game, needing only one more victory to clinch the world championship.

With the weatherman predicting clear skies, after three straight wet days in New York, another capacity crowd of some 67,000 was expected to be on hand at Yankee Stadium to see a return match between Bob Buhl of the Braves and Bob Turley of the Yankees.

The Yankees, needing a victory to stay alive, were handicapped by the absence of their celebrated invalid, Mickey Mantle, who has a torn tendon in his right shoulder. Milwaukee also had Red Schoendienst on the sidelines with a pulled groin muscle.

Braves, who led the Series, three games to two, were more eager than ever to wrap it up today because of the uncertain physical condition of their ace pitcher Warren Spahn. Spahn, considered a certainty to pitch the seventh game, if it is needed, currently has a slight case of the grip, leaving his future participation in the Series in doubt.

Late last night, the veteran lefthander was undecided whether to obey the command of Dr. Allen Tanney, the Braves' physician, to remain in bed and watch this afternoon's event on television. Should the Yankees win today and there is no improvement in Spahns condition, the chances are that Lew Burdette, who has already beaten the Yankees twice, will try to become a three-time winner.

The Yankees' other invalid, Bill "Moose" Skowron, felt a little better last night although his sacroiliac muscle is still very painful. The morose Moose, who has missed the entire series with the exception of the first two innings of the opener, said he can pinch hit but cannot possibly play in the field.

Mantle, alarmed when he woke up yesterday morning and found he could hardly raise his right arm, was whisked to a hospital where X-rays showed there were no breaks or bone damage in his right shoulder but only a torn cartilege. The condition stemmed from his collision with Schoendienst at second in the first inning of the third game, in Milwaukee.

★ ★ ★

Glum over the diagnosis, Mantle said the injury was worse than he originally feared.

"I don't think it will be okay for the Series, no matter how long it goes," he said. "Those things take a long time to heal."

Schoendienst was just as downcast over his own injury. After a visit to a local doctor for an examination and repairs, the redhead said glumly: "It's worse than it was yesterday. I don't see how I can play any more in the Series. I had a similar injury four years ago and it kept me out 10 days."

Yankee Pilot Already Selects Larsen Starter

Stengel Figures Yanks Will Force Series Into Final Day

NEW YORK (AP)—"Larsen's my pitcher for the seventh game," said Casey Stengel today, "and we'll be in it, too."

Could be Ol' Case was winkin' past the graveyard as he sent his New York Yankees into the sixth game of the World Series with Milwaukee's Braves holding a 3-2 edge in games.

Only twice since Stengel took over as Yankee manager in 1949 have the Bombers, who have played in seven World Series since, been behind going into the sixth game. In 1953 they hustled back and won the final pair from Brooklyn, but in 1955, after squaring the Series at 3-all, they were beaten by the Dodgers in Casey's only World Series defeat.

This one's a lot like 1955 as Bob Turley goes against Milwaukee's Bob Buhl in the sixth game. The Yankees have to get the job done without Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, their two power guys. They had the same problem in 1955 when Mantle and Hank Bauer were slowed by injuries.

What makes it tougher for the Yankees is the way the Braves have taken the boom out of Yogi Berra's bat. The squat swatter, who set a record by driving in 10 runs in a seven-game series last year, hasn't brought home a run yet in this one.

And that's what has kept the Yankees cool since Mantle, hobbled first by shin splints and now burdened with a dead arm stemming from shoulder injuries, and Skowron, out with a bad back, can't take their whacks.

Neither Mantle nor Skowron figures to be available for more than pinch-hit chores, an item that doesn't figure to make Buhl break down and cry.

To put some punch in the lineup, Stengel has named Joe Collins for first base today, putting an end to the switching of catcher-outfielder Elston Howard and soft-swinging Harry Simpson.

Collins, a 34-year-old lefty swinger, hasn't been a ball of fire this season, but he can hit good righthanders, like Buhl. He can be murder in the Yankee Stadium where he can pull for the nearby left field seats.

The weather forecast was for clearing skies, a disappointment for some Yankee fans who figured their champs could stand all the rest they can get. But the Yankees don't figure it that way. Skowron and Mantle have had it and if it rained for a week, it wouldn't do much good.

PHS Foe, Arthur Hill Has SVC Title Hopes

Everyone in Saginaw Valley circle rates Bay City and Flint Northern as sure choices to finish 1-2 in the conference. Everyone, that is except Arthur Hill coach Kurt Kampe, who isn't conceding anything to anyone.

"I think this team is potentially the best ball club I have had in my seven years at Arthur Hill with possibly the exception of the 1954 team which won the league title," said Kampe.

★ ★ ★

The first team to test the Lumberjacks in league play will be Pontiac Friday night at Wisner Stadium.

The Chiefs were idle last week because of the flu which struck Ferndale, and coach Jesse MacLeay has the fear that the layoff may have hurt the team.

"We were in good shape for a game last week, now the flu has hit more of our kids, and often it is difficult to keep a team up for a couple weeks," he added.

★ ★ ★

Arthur Hill will have a letterman at every position in the starting lineup, except at one of the ends where big Paul Doersam a 220-pounder may not start because of the influenza which kept him out of school until today.

Bob Ahrens and Dave Carpenter do most of the ball carrying with quarterback Herb Hinds and fullback Mike Seidel. Another strong fullback is Garron Weikker, the team's kicking specialist who will be another threat for PHS.

Weikker could easily break up a game with a long three-pointer. He booted a 31 yard field goal and five of six points this year.

MacLeay may give sophomore quarterback Fred Staley the raincheck of last week for the starting quarterback slot. Staley was impressive in the win over Lansing Sexton and he was expected to start against Ferndale last Friday.

Bob Manning and John Kellar will start at halfbacks and in a possible move for power at fullback, Dick Whitmer may be shifted from his quarterback slot.

Last year Pontiac gave Arthur Hill a battle before falling 21-13 in Saginaw. Game time Friday night is 8:00 p.m.

East Lansing Dropped to 7th Place Tie After Win Streak Falls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thanks to halfback Hosie Hall and a determined Marshall high school football team, the Albion Wildcats today became the No. 1 team in the state's class B scholastic ranks.

★ ★ ★

Hall scored three first-half touchdowns on dashes of 73, 41 and 14 yards and enabled Albion to down Three Rivers 25-12 last Friday night. The fleet halfback was injured and sat out the second half, but the damage had been done.

Marshall snapped East Lansing's 16-game winning streak with a 6-0 triumph that knocked Vince Carillot's Trojans off the top rung of the Associated Press rankings. East Lansing was the mythical state class B titlist last season.

A cluster of teams came into challenging positions to the leaders. Grouped right behind the top ten are South Haven, Dowagiac, Flint Tech, Marysville, Algonac, Otsego, Cadillac and Romeo.

The state's top ten:

1. Albion
2. Inkster Roosevelt
3. Alma
4. Marshall

6. Lansing Resurrection
7. (Tie) East Lansing and Clawson
9. Charlotte

LA Calls 'Em 'Our Bums'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A shoeshine boy broke into a jig. The mayor put on a baseball cap, and members of the city council cheered and waved for photographers.

After all, it had been a long, six-month haul.

★ ★ ★

The next problem: What to call the team, and where will it play?

Call 'em the Dodgers, or Angels, maybe, suggested Mayor Norris Poulson.

"Welcome Dodgers," beamed the Herald Express.

One writer suggested the team be christened "Superbas," after the old Baltimore Orioles from which the Brooklyn club emerged about the turn of the century. But there were no seconds.

Another complained "dem Bums," was a shibboleth out of character for the more reserved Los Angeles fans.

And where will Los Angeles' representative in the National League play?

Writers Get Grid Roundups

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Representatives from colleges throughout Michigan gave their grid reports at the weekly luncheon of the Michigan Football Writers yesterday in Detroit but the center of attention were the football words received from Michigan and Michigan State as they get ready for their game of the week.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The huge press box will have one of the largest staffs of writers and broadcasters ever to cover a college grid game. All of 212 seats in the scribes' den have been filled. There will be 21 radio stations broadcasting, 32 long range photo cameras in action but no TV.

★ ★ ★

"We are in top physical condition for the game, as we suffered no injuries in the California game," said MSU publicist Fred Stabley.

★ ★ ★

"Emphasis this week in workouts has been placed on defense, and we feel it will be just such a game," Stabley commented. The Spartans have been unscored on in two games and Michigan has given up only six points.

Les Etter, Michigan's publicity director reported that the Wolverines were also stressing defensive drills this week. "We are polishing up our blocking," said Etter, "we were satisfied with our tackling against Georgia."

★ ★ ★

"We figure we will present a better offensive threat this year than in the past couple years with our passing," Etter continued. "Jim Van Pelt will probably start at quarterback, but he and Stan Noskin both have been throwing well."

★ ★ ★

"Noskin may eventually take over the signal calling later in the season, but he has the tendency to make big gambles at the wrong time, so for a big game as this we will stick with Van Pelt's experience," he added.

★ ★ ★

This is the 10th straight season that the game has been sold out. In 1947 when Michigan scored the 55-0 romp there were 70,000 fans in the Michigan Stadium.

Other reports came from Hillsdale, U. of D., Wayne, the Lions and the Los Angeles Rams.

★ ★ ★

"We've got the best little college football team in the country, and we're going to get that Aluminum Bowl bid this year," said Mickey Briggs who handles the publicity for the Dales.

"We were three touchdown favorites in Denver, against the Air Force and then we fell flat on our face," said U. of D. publicist Dick Huston, "now we must face a hungry Wichita team Saturday which has lost three straight."

Donn Shelton of Wayne said, "Wayne is figured to retain its title in the deemphasized President's Conference, but first we will have to get by John Carroll this week."

The Lions are making preparation for their regular season home opener against the Los Angeles Rams and coach George Wilson, guest speaker, said that for the first time this year "all 35 players on the squad will be physically fit and ready to play."

Bleacher seats and standing room tickets will go on sale at 11:00 a.m. at Briggs Stadium Sunday, with a crowd of 56,000 expected.

Minnesota Sub Acclaimed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota's Dick Larson, a second string quarterback who has been overshadowed by talented Bobby Cox for two years, today was named Back of the Week by the Associated Press for his spectacular feats in leading the unbeaten Gophers to victory over Purdue.

The 21-year old 5-11, 175-pound senior stepped into the breach when the inspired, underdog Boilermakers were giving Cox and the Gophers fits. Cox had been shackled on the ground and in the air.

Larson ran back a punt 72 yards for one touchdown, passed 16 yards to Bill Chorske for another, and ran five yards for the third and winning touchdown in the last quarter, for a 21-17 victory. He set up the final TD with a 52-yard pass play to Chorske.

He was "simply sensational," said Minnesota coach Murray Warmath.

Lindsay Scores, Hall Has Shutout as Hawks Blank Toronto, 1-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Ex-Detroit stars Glenn Hall and Ted Lindsay teamed up last night to lead the Chicago Black Hawks to a 1-0 victory over Toronto in the National Hockey League opener.

DETROIT — The Detroit Lions set a new all-time National Football League season ticket sale for the third consecutive year in 1957 by selling 39,844 tickets. Detroit's 1956 record was 36,586.

Orion Star Has 55 Points

Drake New County Leader

A 24-point performance by Lake Orion's Jim Drake and an invasion of the flu bug at St. Frederick brought about a change in the Oakland County individual scoring race in the 3rd weekend of the new prep season.

Jack Lyon of the Rams had paced the field during the 1st two weeks but dropped to the runnerup slot when the St. Fred - Orchard Lake St. Mary game was postponed.

Drake now has 55 points, the same total as area leader Larry Gacki of St. Benedict. Lyon has 42 in two outings.

Chuck Graves was held to an extra point Friday but the Ortonville star managed to retain 3rd place with 39 digits. Rugged St. James veteran Bill Tunnicliff advanced two places to 4th with 36 and tied for 5th with 31 are John Volk of Clawson and Ray Kovachevich of Oak Park. The latter two were both scoreless last weekend.

Outstanding scoring showings have moved nifty Berkley runner Franz Neubrecht and Clawson's Lowell Acton into the top group. Neubrecht took over 6th with 25 after getting 19 Friday. Acton went scoreless opening night but has tallied two TD's in each of the last two games.

Gackie was held to one touchdown by St. Michael Sunday but so was Ed Thompson of Armada, his nearest competitor. Thompson now has 37 points. Third in the county area and gaining rapidly is East Detroit ace Gary Ballman. He has 32 in two starts.

Three Southern Thumb players who had big days Friday are deadlocked for 4th in area with 30 points apiece. They are Frank Hartway and Larry Ostrander, Almont teammates, and Ron Irish of Brown City.

'Old Southpaw' Coad Fires 32 at PCC Course

One of the season's best, if not THE best round of golf for nine holes at Pontiac Country club this year was carded yesterday when the "old southpaw," Frank Coad, compiled a 5-under-par 32.

Meet Is Canceled

When the current wave of Asian flu hit the East Detroit H.S. cross-country squad this week, it ruined plans for the Tuesday meet with Birmingham.

Kermit Ambrose, Maples coach, said this morning that only one of his boys was out of action, but that East Detroit was hard hit. Meet may be rescheduled for a later date. Bob Benson, one of Maples' top runners, is "benched" by the flu.

Akbar Khan, a 5-year-old chestnut horse that often runs on the turf, was sold by the late Aga Khan and Prince Aly Khan for $26,000 in 1953 to Mrs. Marion Eppley, owner of the Cockfield Stable.

Large Animals Live Longer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Be kind to our webfooted friends, goes the old roundelay, for a duck may be somebody's mother.

A duck in the wild might with good fortune get to be a grandmother by its third year. This requires good fortune in more ways than one, as any duck which has survived the trip from Horicon Marsh in Wisconsin through Horseshoe Lake to the Delta could tell you.

Nevertheless, wild ducks have survived past the voting age in some cases according to band returns. The returns have little to say on what possibly could befall a 21-year-old duck, whose sinews might be figured stout enough to turn a broadside from the U.S.S. Missouri in its most active days, to say nothing of a duck hunter's teeth.

According to an exhaustive review by a couple of Chicago forest preserve district biologists, wild ducks aren't really in contention when it comes to old age.

Compiling records from around the world, David Thompson and Roberts Mann concluded that in general large animals live longer than small ones, birds live longer than mammals and some of the reptiles live longer than anything.

Contrary to legend, people generally live longer than elephants. The oldest elephant on record was 69. In second place among animals was a 50-year-old horse.

Among amphibians, a toad has lived 36 years, a bull frog 30 years and mud puppy 23.

A catfish passed away at the age of 60 for top honors among the fish. Among birds, a canary lived to 22, a great horned owl to 68 and a turkey buzzard to 118.

The all-time old-age champion was a giant tortoise which dwelt upon the island of Mauritius. It passed away at the age of 152.

Hunters Urged to Be Careful in Use of Fire

One fire in the Baldwin district of the northern Lower Peninsula burned five acres while a smaller blaze damaged one-fifth of an acre in the southern Lower Peninsula. No fires were reported in the Upper Peninsula.

Grouse and archery deer hunting seasons got underway Oct. 1 in many parts of Michigan and the hazard of forest fires is increased with more persons in the woods.

Jippo Becomes a Champ

"I've done many things that have given me thrills," says Doug Squires, of Pontiac, owner of a fine 4-year-old Brittany Spaniel. "But none was greater than that I received when my Jippo earned his AKC championship at the recent Michigan-Saginaw Valley Brittany club's field trials at Lapeer." Jippo's registered name is Jippo La Chasseur.

Jippo took the open all-age and the amateur all-age events to achieve his 10th and 11th points towards the rating. He needed just one going into the 3-day trial. Jippo has earned for himself a trip to the Grand Nationals at Carbondale, Ill., in November, and then will enjoy a period of field work during pheasant season.

Other winners at the Lapeer trial included Thomas Higgins' (Drayton Plains) Pocoleta Genii, 15-months-old female, which won the open derby stake. Genil has won four firsts in as many trials of the season, and is also pointing for a championship. She will run in the nationals, too.

Pythian Hunters Hear Game Data

Pontiac Lodge No. 19, Knights of Pythias, will be host to other Pythians and friends at the 17th annual hunters' banquet next Tuesday, in the order's Castle Hall, 18 West Huron street.

Some very timely and pertinent information about the state's deer herd and other game, will be presented and motion pictures will accompany the program. Speaker will be Russell Patterson of the Michigan Conservation Department.

It is expected that about 200 will attend.

Patterson is expected to discuss condition of the deer herd and mention some of the areas in which there are concentrations.

4-Day Field Trial Set by OCSC Group

Heading the area's hunting dog field trials this weekend is the Oakland County Sportsmen's Beagle club 4-day runnings at the club's grounds in Waterford. Events begin Thursday, close Sunday.

Other trials include the Brittany test at Highland beginning Friday and concluding Sunday; the Saturday and Sunday field meet for the Genessee Sportsmen's club at Lapeer game area, and the Michigan Pointer club's two-day trial, Saturday and Sunday, at Highland Recreation Area.

Solunar Tables

Hunting and fishing in this area could be better for the nimrod or angler if he consults the following solunar periods for the coming week. Periods are from the solunar tables, prepared especially for this area by John Alden Knight.

Major periods last for an hour to an hour and a half, the minor periods somewhat shorter.

State Considers Land Purchases for Game Areas

LANSING — The state Conservation Commission meeting Oct. 10-11 at Higgins Lake, will consider purchase of 1,494 acres of land for public hunting use.

The Commission also is scheduled to consider acquisition of land for a public fishing site on Lake Fourteen in Van Buren County.

The proposed land purchases include 1,257 acres to be financed by the game and fish protection fund and 1,237 acres which would be purchased under the state-federal Pittman - Robertson program.

State Offers Timely Tips on Safer Hunting

Suggests Inspection, Test for Guns, Check on Physical Status

ALL OUTDOORS (INS) — Here are some timely tips for hunters from the state conservation department issued in hopes they may make this season safer and more pleasant:

Inspect and field test firearms now. This is a safety measure, and such a check will assure you the guns will function properly when fired at game. This step should be taken now since just prior to the "opener" gunsmiths and repair shops are swamped with work.

Trying out your firearms also sharpens your eye. Firing at clay birds also helps you regain coordination and timing. Take a youngster or beginning hunter along to teach him safety afield. Hunting crows help mix pleasure with your practice.

Condition yourself. Heart attacks each year take a useless toll of hunters who over-exert themselves. Know your limitations. Walks through the woods and fields get those loose muscles in shape and make the actual hunting more pleasant.

See your doctor if you have heart trouble or bad eyes. Inability to see distinctly could lead to a fatal shooting accident.

Now is the time to renew friendly relations with landowners on whose property you would like to hunt. Pre-season visits to the area you plan to hunt also help you understand fluctuations in game conditions which occur from year to year. Such surveys make for better hunter-farmer relations and naturally lead to a larger game bag during the season.

Brittanies Run in 3-Day Trial

A fast field is anticipated for the final field event of the year for Michigan Brittany Spaniel club, set for this weekend at Highland Recreation Area. Entries for the 3-day AKC licensed trial close Thursday at 8 p.m. and the draw will be made that night at Michigan Central RR depot, Detroit.

An open puppy stake is set for 12 noon, Friday.

Open all-age run takes place Saturday, starting at 7 a.m. and the open derby will follow at its conclusion.

Final event, the amateur all-age will be run at the close of the open derby, on Oct. 13, Sunday.

A field trialers' dinner will be held Saturday at Old Mill Tavern, Dixie Highway, at 7:30 p.m.

Signs on M59 will direct contestants to the area.

Old-Fashioned Auction

Every one interested in a good time, in the atmosphere of an old-time auction sale, is invited to take part in such an event at OCSC on Friday night. Any article, from washing machine to garden tools, hunting equipment, guns and novelties may be found there, and those wishing to donate items may call OR 3-7441. Pat Metzdorf and OCSC trustee Dr. P. B. Jones will serve as auctioneers.

Catcher Del Crandall of the Milwaukee Braves played only two seasons of minor league ball.

U. S. Team Top Casters

Hardesty International Champion

By H. GUY MOATS

Long-time bait, fly and spin-casting expert, Ben Hardesty, who lives in Bloomfield Hills, only recently returned from a very successful foray into the European center of the casting business at Kiel, Germany. Kiel, pleasant North German city, was the site for the international casting championships.

ACTION — Ben Hardesty, Pontiac bait and fly-casting expert, is shown in action above, during his successful invasion of European international championships at Kiel, Germany. Ben won the international all-around title on his first visit to Europe.

Runnerup was John Dieckman of Costa Mesa, Calif, only other pro on the 10-man U. S. team that captured top honors. Jack Taramateur all-around champion.

Some 14 countries (not including Russia) sent teams to Kiel. There were 119 contestants, including men, women and juniors, says Hardesty. "We were treated fine. The weather was perfect for the tourney."

Ben just now is planning a return trip to the high mountain lakes of Chile for some more battles with the tackle-busting rainbows of the country.

Loses Valuable Hound

Field Trial Costly Test

After William C. (Bill) Shaw of Pontiaic had sent his valuable hound Bunny out on the open all-age course, he waited for his return. Bunny never showed up, and Shaw has spent many hours of searching the area since, but to no avail.

Winners of the trial included Flying Jack (Howard Smith, Yale) in the derby; All-age, Buff (Jennings Coalson, Ferndale); bench show winner, Sam (Coalson); best opposite sex, Dot (Marshall Buchanan, Royal Oak); puppies under 6 months, David Crockett Jr. (Buchanan); puppies, 6-12 months, Ike (Joe Sweeney, Lapeer); derby male, Ozark Ike (Ray Garrett, Pontiac); derby female, Queen (Coalson); best natural cast, Crowe (Albert Gaulin, Fraser); best pair, David Crockett and Dot.

Eye Pimlico Futurity

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The powerful Chicago racing stables of Mrs. Ada L. Rice and Calumet Farm, the latter owned by Mrs. Gene Markey, each have 11 two-year-olds eligible for the 35th running of the Pimlico Futurity to be held Nov. 23.

'Sneaky Approach' Best for Breaking Birds Out

By JACK PATTERSON

Hunting yesterday in Alcona County we used up a good bit of our rather limited time in putting a favorite grouse hunting theory to the test. Selecting a tiny alder run that more often than not produces a bird, we crashed through it at a normal walking pace, making no effort to be quiet. We did flush a bird after stumbling over a stick and almost falling on top of it. It presented no opportunity for a shot so we continued to the end of the run.

PATTERSON

It seemed hard to believe that there could be anything left in the small spot of cover, but we turned around and went back through it very slowly, taking maybe 10 minutes to cover less than 100 yards. This start-and-stop approach put up an additional pair of birds that otherwise would have been missed. As a matter of fact they were missed.

With ferns and other ground cover still very heavy, most birds can control their frazzled nerves enough to sit tight and let a steady walker go by. The sneaky, halting approach is more than they can take.

Having concluded that grouse are generally more plentiful than they were last year we still are faced with the fact that some hunters report "no birds" in areas that we know are far from birdless.

One reason for this apparent contradiction is the behavior of grouse in dry cover. In heavy stuff grouse will lie very tight, as noted above. In the open, however, particularly in jackpine country, birds will more often than not fly silently into the trees at the first sound of the hunter's or dog's approach. It is quite possible to go through a thickly populated sector under such conditions and fail to flush a single bird.

Dogs are of very little value when cover is as dry as at present. They flush more birds out of range than they can possibly find and are generally more of a nuisance than anything else.

There are times when scenting conditions are right that a pointing dog can be very useful to the hunter and a close-working flushing dog can work those hard-to-get at spots, but we doubt if conditions today permit the development of a first-rate grouse dog.

Of all game birds on which a dog can be employed, the ruffed grouse is the least consistant in its behavior.

It's quite possible that we are dead wrong about this. There may be some good grouse dogs around yet. It's just that we've never seen one.

For the rest of this week the hunting outlook depends for any change pretty much on the weather. A good bit of rain and some cooler weather would help most.

St. Mike Faces St. Fred Sunday

Grid Rivalry Resumes

By BILL CORNWELL

This game will mark the 23rd meeting of the two cross-town foes, with St. Mike holding a 12-7 edge. Three games have ended in ties.

At stake will be the Steve Griffin Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the city Catholic championship.

The traveling cup, donated by Miss Rose Griffin in honor of her late brother, is awarded each year to the winner of the local gridiron feud. The 1st school to win three times gets permanent possession of the cup.

One Griffin award is already permanently lodged in the St. Mike trophy case. The Shamrocks, who have triumphed the last seven times, retired the 1st award in 1954 and are now one step away from retiring another one.

The annual series began in 1936 and there have been no interruptions. Two contests were played in 1939 and, oddly enough, both were ties—0-0 and 7-7.

St. Mike's 34-0 victory in 1954 has been the most lopsided score in the history of the series. St. Fred once took a 33-7 decision for the 2nd largest margin, while the Mikes' 32-7 verdict last year and an earlier 25-0 win are next.

Plenty of fireworks and the unexpected have become traditional in this game. Past records and performances mean little or nothing when these two teams collide.

If picking a favorite makes any sense, St. Fred rates a slight edge, although both squads are hampered by injuries and flu. It is the 1st time in many years that the Rams have been accorded the upper hand.

The Shamrocks have been dealt the most crippling blow. Captain Lou Palace, an All-Oakland County tackle last year, undergoes surgery today for a knee injury and is lost to the Mikes for the rest of the season.

Flu has not struck St. Mike with the severity that the Rams have felt, but end George Drake and tackle Fred Lauinger took ill Monday at the northside school.

St. Fred still has flu holdouts and star fullback Jack Lyon is bothered by a leg injury. Neither squad held practice Monday and the Rams conducted only a skeleton workout yesterday.

UNDERGOES SURGERY — Lou Palace, captain of St. Michael's football team, will be sorely missed this Sunday when the Shamrocks collide with St. Frederick in their annual cross-town feud. The 190-pound senior tackle, an All-Oakland County gridder last year, undergoes surgery on his ailing knee today and he will be lost to the Mikes for the balance of the 1957 season.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By Joe Wilman

I hear it over and over again at my teaching clinic: "How do I roll a hook?"

Let me start by saying that, if you've mastered the straight ball, the hook ball is your next best bet.

The hook is released from a point between the right side and the center of the alley, depending upon alley conditions and on the amount of hook on the ball. It rolls down the alley in a fairly straight line. Just before it reaches the pins, however, the hooking action takes hold and moves the ball into the pins. Like the curve, a hook produces a heap of pin action and is a great strike-getter. Not to mention the fact that it's a lot easier to control than the curve.

To deliver a ball that hooks the some amount on each delivery, you must deliver the ball in the same way with the same amount of "stuff" and speed each time. Slow down the ball and it'll hook more. Speed up the ball and it'll hook less.

Milford-Holly Meet in W-O Showdown

By CHUCK ABAIR

The old question of whether size or speed is more important to be successful in football is being tossed around at Milford and Holly this week as those schools prepare for their Friday night debacle at the home of the Redskins.

Milford has speed to burn, Holly has the big boys and they are about equal in experience. So that should rate their important Wayne-Oakland contest a tossup.

Milford rates the edge on season record plus having the home field advantage but Holly could offset that with its determination to stay in the thick of the loop race after being tied last time out by West Bloomfield.

Another factor making it difficult to compare the teams is the offense-defense statistics. Milford has posted an impressive 60-26 scoring advantage but Holly has allowed its opponents only one touchdown while Milford has given up 38 points. So there you are.

Redskin skipper Dick Yeager summed up his feeling on the big contest today with the comment: "I'd say the breaks will decide it." His charges are riding high on top of the league with three straight wins and could go all the way by toppling this hurdle.

"If we keep improving I think we can give them a good ball game. They are big and will be tough to run against," said Yeager.

He is counting on speedsters Jerry Hackett, John Zeeman and Frank Redman and passer Pat Kelley to keep the 'Skins unbeaten.

★ ★ ★

Hackett has been favoring an injured shoulder and tackle Bob Hoyt has a leg ailment but both should be ready Friday.

Center George Johnstone had an acute appendicitis attack Sunday but may be in shape by game time.

The flu, which has been moving in at Milford this week, wrecked the Holly eleven last week and is still hovering over the Bronco camp.

"Our boys were sick going into last Friday's game and many of them still are out. We have only had about 14 boys out for practice," stated disappointed Holly coach Al Gratsch today. His contingent has won once and tied twice, one of the ties in a non-loop tilt.

Gratsch admits he has the weight edge, with 210-pound Ken Leece and three other starters who go 195 against one 195-pound Redskin. But he saw Milford's speed at its best at Bloomfield Hills last week and realizes the task confronting his team.

On comparative scores, Holly blanked the Barons 20-0 while Milford allowed two touchdowns in winning 25-12. Milford tripped West Bloomfield 28-20 but Holly had to put up a stern defense to gain a tie with the Lakers. Not much to go on there either.

Holly has a talented backfield of its own with Amos Bradsher, Bill Taylor, Bob Letson and George Coggins handling the attack.

Britain Looking Toward the Sea for New Foods

LONDON (INS) — Britain, with only enough arable land to feed half her population, is turning to the sea for new harvests.

Some nutrition experts forecast that the nation will one day get the bulk of its food from the sea bed. Experiments in the farming of sea crops are now underway.

A Southampton University research team is cultivating sea plants in tanks of sea water in the grounds of a generating station at Poole, Dorset county.

This is Britain's first large-scale attempt to grow sea plants with a view to them being used as food. Results to date reveal that it is a definite possibility.

Senate Probers Await Records

Teamsters Files to Be Checked for Importance of 'Missing' Documents

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probers awaited delivery today of subpoenaed Teamsters Union election records to determine the importance of some which they were told "definitely are missing."

* * *

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, said officials at the union's headquarters here confirmed some records are missing but indicated that "not very many" of the documents had been lost in a hotel incinerator.

A union lawyer first advised Kennedy Sunday night that subpoenaed records relating to James R. Hoffa's election as president of the Teamsters had been thrown down a Miami Beach hotel incinerator by a maid who suddenly died of a heart attack. He said then efforts were being made to recover the documents.

* * *

Kennedy said committee investigators who checked at the Eden Roc Hotel in Miami Beach reported that the maid who died had not worked on the floor where the Teamsters had their office or even in that part of the hotel.

"The maid who died worked on a different floor and couldn't have had anything to do with it," Kennedy said.

* * *

The committee is looking into charges that many convention delegates had been handpicked to rig the election in favor of Hoffa.

3 From Plane Safe in 'Belly' Landing

The plane was based at Pontiac Municipal Airport and and had taken off from there. It is owned by the D. A. Greene Sales Co. of Birmingham.

* * *

A company spokesman said the landing gear failed to lock and the pilot Gerald E. McMaken, 27, of 1723 Pedersen Rd., Walled Lake, was forced to bring the plane down with the wheels up. The spokesman said only "superficial" damage of about $100 was done to the plane which was flown back to Pontiac this morning.

The two passengers of the plane were not identified.

Soft Drink Firm Opens New Plant

The Squirt-Detroit Bottling Company officially opened its new plant today, with Wayne D. Joran, president, playing host to civic and industrial leaders who participated in the dedication ceremony at 515 Wanda St., Ferndale.

The new building is 40,000 square feet in area, with space to produce 3,000,000 cases per year, or about double the present production.

Skidding Stocks Recover Briskly

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were ahead around a point each while Lukens Steel recouped well over a point of its recent heavy losses.

* * *

* * *

* * *

Among opening blocks were: Bethlehem Steel up 1 at 41½ on 4,000 shares; General Motors up ⅛ at 40 con 4,500; Lukens Steel up 1⅛ at 68½ on 3,000; and New York Central off ⅛ at 21½ on 3,500.

Loan Program Settles Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat steadied on the board of trade today, influenced mainly by heavier impoundings under the government loan program.

* * *

Export demand for the bread grain remained quiet and there was no indication of further buying by flour mills, which apparently bought most of their immediate requirements earlier this month.

The Department of Agriculture authorized an additional purchase of 35,700 metric tons of wheat and flour by Korea under public law 480.

There was no particular feature to the corn trade, but prices were steady in early dealings. The Commodity Credit Corp. sold 929,000 bushels of corn to U.S. exporters at Atlantic and Gulf ports overnight.

Near the end the first hour, new style wheat was ¼ lower to ¾ higher, December $2.18; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, December $1.20; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 66⅞; rye ¼ to ½ higher, December $1.28½; soybeans ⅝ to 1⅜ higher, November $2.29⅞; lard was five cents lower to 13 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $11.55.

Meeting at MSU Raps Alcoholism

EAST LANSING (AP)—Alcoholism is a major health problem, the Michigan Child Study Assn. declared at the close of its annual meeting yesterday at Michigan State University.

Delegates representing the 5,000-member association approved a series of resolutions designed to benefit youths.

They asked for stiffer penalties for adults supplying liquor to minors and recommended that colleges conduct campaigns to clean up drinking.

The state legislature was asked to provide a more wholesome environment for minor offenders, particularly at the Boys Vocational School and to establish work camps for youths.

The group also went on record favoring forbidding of tattooing for youths under 21 and commending the legislature for prohibiting the sale of near beer in the state.

Says Chrysler Move Embarrassing GOP

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams, pointing to Chrysler plant relocation plans, today said they must be embarrassing to Michigan Republicans who have been "tearing down their own state and building up Indiana."

* * *

The Democratic chief executive commented on a Chrysler Corporation announcement that it will move body and assembly operations now carried on in Evansville, Ind., to an undisclosed new location outside Indiana after the 1959 model run.

Chrysler spokesman said the move had been under consideration for some time as a means of adjusting the changing complexion of the auto and to better serve the south central southwestern areas of the nation.

Williams said: "Indiana state officials have publicly boasted in Michigan newspapers that they believe in making consumers pay most of their taxes in order to attract industry."

Press Previews '58 Lines

Halt for Changeover Aids Model Cleanup

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Halting their assembly lines for the changeover to 1958 model output, the nation's car makers built only about 284,000 passenger cars last month.

The figures should bring comfort to many car retailers, most of whom have been somewhat concerned about a heavy inventory of outgoing models. Sales, most surveys indicate, have kept up fairly strong. They have been stimulated by the virtual certainty of higher price tags for 1958 cars.

Most car makers are saying they have no outgoing model cleanup this year. Nevertheless stocks of outgoing models totaled around 800,000 units on Sept. 1. That is well above normal requirements.

Price concessions and heavy tradein allowances are being offered to stimulate sales right now. Most car buyers know this has been something of a fixture at the model year end. They are bargaining sharply.

Currently the auto makers are holding their press previews, showing styling and engineering changes on an off-the-record basis. Only in a few instances have details been made public.

* * *

Chrysler, which showed all its different makes at a single press preview, disclosed most of its planning for the coming model year.

Some details also were made known by American Motors.

NEW RAMBLER MODEL

American Motors showed an attractively styled new Rambler Ambassador model in what it calls its Senior Series. It also displayed a hand-built Rambler American, the revived 100-inch wheelbase model in the Rambler series.

* * *

The Ambassador replaces the Hudson and Nash models produced heretofore by American Motors. Although many American Motors retailers will continue to operate as Hudson or Nash dealers, none of the 1958 model cars will bear the time-honored Hudson and Nash nameplates.

* * *

Chevrolet, whose completely new line of cars for 1958 has aroused major interest in trade quarters, shows the several series at a press preview today. Details of their styling and engineering will be withheld for public presentation later this month.

It is known, however, that Chevrolet has made major changes both in styling and engineering. It is with these new models that Chevrolet hopes to recapture the top place in car production and retail sales taken over this year by Ford.

The Ford Division will hold its press preview on Oct. 15, showing a line of cars with broader styling and engineering changes than usually are made immediately following presentation of completely new cars. Ford's line for 1957 was entirely new. Nevertheless, Ford has said, it spent in excess of 185 million dollars to implement styling and engineering changes for 1958.

* * *

SEEK FUEL ECONOMY

Common to most 1958 cars so far previewed is the effort at greater fuel economy. Generally it is being sought through an improved choke and carburetor combination. There is also a wider availability of air suspension—as an extra-cost, optional feature.

* * *

Aside from these features horsepower is being increased and most makers are bringing out cars with lower roof lines and lower over-all height. The lower roof lines give a flatter rooftop appearance that has considerable eye-appeal.

OK Agreement on Post Office

Before Approving It, Commissioners Rescind 1953 Contract

An agreement covering construction of Pontiac's new Post Office on West Huron between Chippewa and Genesee received the approval of the City Committee last evening.

* * *

* * *

The new contract is between the city and the Huron Plaza, Inc. It stipulates that the owners of the land for 15 years from the date of the agreement must reserve 10 feet at the rear of the property for alley purposes, and 50 feet for the possible extension of Miami road.

According to William A. Ewart, city attorney, a Detroit firm has purchased the land from the corporation and will in turn lease the property to the government.

* * *

Preliminary work in the area has begun. The 150 by 280-foot building is expected to be completed next spring.

Police Confirm 3 Burning Crosses in County Area

ROYAL OAK (AP)—The burning of three crosses on lawns at homes in Huntington Woods has been confirmed by police here. But Chief John R. McQuarters says he regards it as "work of pranksters showing off for a girl."

At the same time Chief Mc Quarters said he did not believe the cross burnings are involved in the case of five Berkley High School boys accused of spilling gasoline on a lawn and setting it on fire. The teenaged five are to appear in court this week.

* * *

Mc Quarters said crosses were burned Sept. 26 on the lawns of Aaron Berg and Dr. William A. Roby, a dentist, and on Oct. 1 on the lawn of Dr. Leon Fill, a physician.

The night of the cross buring at the Dr. Roby home the five youths were arrested for setting gasoline on fire on the Roby lawn. They admitted doing this as a prank but denied the cross burning, Chief Mc Quarters said.

Peak Budget for Wayne

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County budget totaling $83,601,876 for the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1 was submitted to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday. It is the largest budget in the history of the county. An increase of $6,684,216 over the current budget was attributed largely to rising cost of hospitalization of indigents, plus increased numbers of patients, and a cutback of state funds for welfare families.

Reds to Launch Moons Holding Live Animals

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union will send larger satellites into outer space with live animals to study the possibilities of interplanetary travel, Pravda said today.

* * *

The man-made moons now circling the globe is the first step toward "winning cosmic space," the Communist party newspaper said in a long account of its construction and launching.

* * *

Pravda confirmed that the satellite has been transmitting reports on temperatures and other outer space conditions by coded radio messages which presumably only Soviet observers can decipher.

Some Soviet scientists previously have denied that any code was being used.

* * *

Pravda gave no indication that the information from the satellite will be given other nations participating in the International Geophysical Year. The nations previously had agreed to share such data.

Neither did the account indicate when satellites carrying animals might be launched.

Soviet scientists claim to have sent live dogs on rockets to heights of 62 miles without injury.

"A satellite will be launched with animals as passengers and there will be detailed observations of their behavior and physical reactions to cosmic flight," Pravda said.

Navy Fleet Oiler Grounded on Reef

HONOLULU (AP)—The Navy fleet oiler Mission San Miguel with 45 men aboard ran aground today on Laysan Reef 775 miles northwest of Oahu and is taking water, it messaged the Coast Guard here.

* * *

The Navy ordered to the scene the salvage ship Reclaimer, 170 miles away, and an LST, 300 miles from the reef. An amphibian plane from Midway was also on the way early today.

* * *

The Mission San Miguel, en route to Seattle from Guam, radioed that its hull was ruptured. Weighing 5,700 tons unloaded, the tanker draws 27 feet. The reef lies 24 feet below the surface.

* * *

Earlier, Globe Wireless reported in San Francisco that Cliff Dow, radio officer aboard the SS Grain Shipper intercepted a message from the tanker that it had run aground.

Clarkston Child Hurt in Fall From Car

A two-year old Clarkston boy was injured this morning as he fell from a moving car on U.S. 10 just north of Andersonville Rd., in Waterford Township.

Mark Godfrey was riding with his mother, Mrs. Norma Godfrey, of 6372 Peach Dr., in a car driven by a neighbor, Mrs. Jacqueline J. Hahn, 33, of 6371 Peach Dr., said state troopers from the Pontiac Post.

The boy evidently opened the rear door while the car was going south at about 35 miles per hour, and fell to the pavement, the women told police.

He was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he was treated for minor abrasions and held for X-rays. Hospital officials said there was no sign of serious injury.

2 Psychiatrists Differ in Views

Ability to Know Wrong, Right Key Point in Trial of Seaman Henderson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A psychiatrist testified yesterday that from a liberal medical viewpoint Seaman Jimmie Henderson might not have been able to distinguish right from wrong when he killed an officer aboard the USS Uvalde May 28.

★ ★ ★

Henderson, 21, is on trial before a Navy court martial for the slaying of Ens. Arthur Morris of Stow, Ohio, and wounding another officer aboard the ship after clubbing a security guard and stealing a pistol.

"Henderson knew the nature and quality of his actions but was compelled to commit the crime by his delusions," Dr. Bernard L. Diamond testified yesterday. "His ideas of right and wrong differ radically from those accepted by society."

Lt. Cmdr. Kenneth P. Jones, the first psychiatrist to examine Henderson after the shooting, said the Maria City, Calif., sailor knew right from wrong and was fully aware of what he was doing when he shot Morris.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Henderson testified he killed Morris and planned to kill five others who convicted him of stealing in court martial aboard the Uvalde. The young Negro sailor said he believed he was a victim of discrimination aboard the cargo ship.

TANDEM TEAM — Eddie Fisher (left) and George Gobel now share an NBC-TV color show on Tuesdays from 7 to 8 p. m. Star billing alternates between the singer and the comedian. The tandem setup is designed to lure two sets of fans to the same program.

Pair Alternates in Starring Role

Singer and Comedian Have Hour-Long Show Tuesday Nights

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Says Fisher, the minstrel lad who suddenly found himself in a mass singer stampede to the networks: "I think you are going to see an entirely different picture around television planning by January. We hope to be a part of it."

Gobel and Fisher — the billing reverses on alternate weeks—are the key men in NBC's tandem thrust to lure the watching crowd each Tuesday in the 7 to 8 p.m. slot.

★ ★ ★

JUST TOO BUSY

This does not indicate any off-camera aloofness, but is simply the way things work out in an era of complex bookings, overnight cross-continent sorties and the exigencies of multiple enterprise.

★ ★ ★

2 SETS OF FANS

Gobel explains that the idea of the tandem setup is to unify two groups of fans, the Fisher enthusiasts of song, the Gobel addicts of humor.

★ ★ ★

"You gotta admit that was some good thinking," says George. "It may not work but it was good thinking."

Jack Benny Quits After 1 Question With $64 in Cash

Benny, whose closeness with a dollar is one of his theatrical trademarks, insisted on stopping with $64 even though quizmaster Hal March told him such a thing had never been done before. Traveling expenses alone for Benny to come from California had cost $300, March said.

But the dry-witted comedian insisted. And since the show was not prepared with a check, March and other members of the cast dug up $64 from their own wallets.

This School of Drama Not for Myrna Hansen

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Miss Myrna Hansen said that when the Hollywood acting teacher told the class to get down on the floor and hop like rabbits, she longed to be back in Chicago studying to be a horse-trainer.

WILSON

"We were even supposed to sniff like rabbits," complained the 1953 "Miss U.S.A." — who's now a rather miraculous movie actress. (Miraculous in that she's got a steady job being one.)

"And they had a body-improver who gave the girls exercises to reduce their bust!" Myrna grumbled.

"They also asked you to personify a teapot," she mentioned.

Myrna left that studio, got her own teacher, veteran actor Chubby Johnson, landed an MGM contract, is in "Raintree County"—and has a future—despite being a beauty contest winner.

"You can buy a horse for $200, train it and sell it for $2,000. I used to sneak out to the stables as a kid in Chicago. They'd let me clean the saddles and bridles. I ride at 8. My mother thought I was at the library."

"How did you get away from the acting class?" I asked.

"One day the teacher told us to wear old clothes because we were going to learn how to slap uninhibitedly," Myrna said. "I left, after first slapping the teacher uninhibitedly in the face!"

Who's Mystified Now—Listeners or BBC Itself?

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. set out to mystify its radio audience last night with a murder play called "Death of a Leading Lady" — and succeeded beyond its fondest dreams. The play, which was recorded, came out backwards.

The program began three minutes late and listeners were thoroughly mystified to hear it start with the play's detective summing up his conclusions.

This went on for eight minutes before an announcer interrupted.

"We seem to be having a little trouble with the 'Death of a Leading Lady,'" he said. "She seems very dead at the moment."

He turned the tape player off then restarted it. This time the listeners heard suspects in the murder case being grilled, although as far as the air waves were concerned there hadn't yet been a murder. The second tape ran on for 18 minutes and then the announcer interrupted again.

"Not much point to allowing this program to go on," he said. "I'll play some music until 10 p.m.

He played a couple of bars and announced:

"That was 'It Might as Well be Spring.' It might as well be spring. It might as well be autumn or next Thursday fortnight. We will now hear the 10 p.m. time signal."

Some time passed, but the signal failed to sound.

The disgusted announcer apologized and expressed hope that the next program would go on roughly as advertised. It did.

A BBC spokesman said "Death of a Leading Lady" was recorded on three tapes and they were played in the wrong order.

Red Spy Soble Draws 7 Years

Wife and Friend Albam Also Get Short Terms for Helping U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Soble, a Lithuanian refugee who took shelter in America in World War II and then headed a Soviet spy ring here for a decade, today faced seven years imprisonment for his crime.

Soble, 54, was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge Richard H. Levet. His wife Myra, 53, and 64-year-old Jacob Albam, co-conspirators who had also pleaded guilty to spy conspiracy charges, were resentenced yesterday. Mrs. Soble was given four years and Albam five.

Each of the three could have been sentenced to 10 years. But Levet said yesterday: "There is, I believe, strong indication of remorse on the part of these defendants in varying degrees..."

After his arrest last Jan. 26, Soble underwent an apparently complete change of heart. Saying he deeply regretted betraying his adopted country, he helped federal authorities unravel the thread of his network of espionage contacts.

The government said Soble's cooperation helped obtain spying indictments against several others, including Alfred K. Stern and Martha Dodd Stern, daughter of a former American ambassador to Germany. The Sterns are now believed behind the Iron Curtain.

Mrs. Soble and Albam also were credited with helping the government uncover further espionage information.

★ ★ ★

Britain Fires A-Bomb Suspended in Balloon

MARALINGA, Australia (AP) — Britain exploded a balloon-suspended atomic bomb about 1,000 feet over the semiarid Maralinga Wastes today.

It was Britain's first test of an atomic weapon from balloons and its 15th atomic weapon explosion. It completed a three-test series begun five weeks ago.

Continue Jury Selection for Scott Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jury selection in the murder trial of L. Ewing Scott goes on, though most of the prospective jurors questioned are balking at the expected length of the trial, estimated at up to three months.

The 61-year-old former stockbroker is being tried in connection with the 1955 disappearance of his wealthy wife, Evelyn Throsby Scott, 63. Her body has never been found.

Divorces Mate 4 Times

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Frances H. Adelsperger has been divorced for the fourth time from Henry E. Adelsperger, a Detroit industrialist. Circuit Court awarded her a cash settlement of $57,500 on her complaint charging her husband with having a bad temper. She had received more than $250,000 in past settlements.
