Pinay Seeking Second Term in 'Bear Cage'

Former Prime Minister to Try to Organize New French Government

PARIS (AP) — Antoine Pinay, a conservative who once said he would "never go back into that bear cage," sought support today for his second term as French premier.

The 63-year-old owner of a small-town tannery agreed last night to try to form France's 21st postwar government, succeeding the Cabinet of Pierre Mendes-France.

Pinay told newsmen he hoped to have his list of prospective ministers ready by Thursday.

One of the longer-lived of France's numerous postwar premiers, Pinay headed the government for 9½ months in 1952. He won considerable personal popularity with his conservative "save the franc" fiscal policy, which checked rising prices though it did not solve France's basic economic ills. Facing three confidence votes and considered certain to lose all of them, he resigned Dec. 23, 1952, and vowed never again.

He tried again to form a government, however, during the record 37-day government crisis in the summer of 1953, but failed.

Otherwise, he has been on the sidelines. A prim, almost dour little man, he rarely spoke in the Assembly but was a powerful voice in his Independent Republican party and a stubborn opponent of Mendes-France.

His party and the MRP were the backbone of the last Premier's opposition. When the Communists, a bloc of Mendes-France's own Radical Socialists, and some of the Gaullists joined them in voting against the Premier's North African policy Saturday morning, the Cabinet fell after 7½ months in office.

There is considerable feeling that the next premier will last only a few months, being kept in office chiefly to clear up a number of urgent problems awaiting action.

Chief of these are the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany, which have been approved by the Assembly but await ratification by the Council of the Republic, Parliament's upper house.

Pinay supported the European Defense Community plan, which the Assembly killed last summer with Mendes-France's tacit approval. Pinay abstained in the Assembly vote on the Paris rearmament treaties — which Mendes-France had negotiated — but this was attributed to his deep antagonism toward the Premier rather than outright hostility to German rearmament.

More Snow, Clouds Seen for Tuesday

Although weekend temperatures were higher than those recorded on previous days, the predicted tail end of a storm brought over two inches of snow to the Pontiac area.

Only .4 of an inch of snow fell Friday, but Saturday's windy weather was accompanied by a full two inches of wet snow.

Tuesday's forecast is for more snow and cloudy skies with a high near 30. Tonight will be increasingly cloudy, with a low of 14 to 18 degrees expected.

Saturday temperatures ranged from 16 to 34. Sunday was relatively warm with a low of 26 and a high of 36. This morning at 8 o'clock in downtown Pontiac the mercury stood at 20 degrees, rising to 28 by 2 p.m.

ABOARD 7TH FLEET CARRIER—The U. S. Seventh Fleet is covering evacuation of Chinese Nationalist troops and civilians from Tachen Islands. The Nationalists have maintained a 14,000-man garrison on the island, and there are about 18,000 civilians. "Operation Pullback" is expected to take from 10 to 14 days. Floods Menace Southern States

Torrential Rain Pounds Dixie as New England Braces for Snow

By UNITED PRESS

Flood warnings were issued for parts of Alabama and Georgia today as cold rains pounded much of the deep South.

The southland was soaked by rains that measured nine inches deep at Pensacola, Fla., yesterday and sent floodwaters pouring into the city's streets and low-lying areas.

Elsewhere in the nation, heavy snow warnings were issued for Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine and the mercury plummeted to 14 below zero at Grantsburg, Wis.

The rains which swept Dixie yesterday posed a threat of tornadoes in Alabama and Georgia for a while and took the form of severe thunderstorms in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Four inches of rain in just 45 minutes hit New Orleans, La., to the accompaniment of 61-mile-per-hour winds which tore off roofs, downed trees and shattered plate glass windows.

Commie Gift Report Denied as Senate Prober Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) says he has asked and received the resignation of investigator Charles Tracy, but knows nothing of a report that Tracy had information linking a Democratic senator with a campaign contribution from a Communist.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said in Milwaukee that a Democratic senator whom he refused to name had knowingly received $300 from a Communist party official on the West Coast.

He said Tracy had "stumbled onto" the information and was being fired as a result.

But McClellan, who succeeded McCarthy as chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee for which Tracy works, said "I never heard of it before."

McClellan said he had advised six subcommittee staff members who had worked under McCarthy that "they would not be recommended for confirmation" in their old jobs, because "I didn't want to retain them, period."

"Four of them have tendered their resignations, including Tracy," McClellan said. "I don't know what information Tracy may have given Sen. McCarthy. It certainly wasn't made known to me."

McCarthy, in Milwaukee for an address last night, said in an interview he had a photographic copy of a $300 bank draft to the unnamed senator, and added:

"There is no question this senator knew from whom the money came or what his business was . . .

"I'm not going to name this man until he has had the opportunity of testifying under oath as to just why he accepted this money."

McCarthy said the money first was sent to the senator as a personal check, but the senator re-

Nixon in Havana on Official Calls

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Sugar and communism occupied the chief attention of Vice President Richard M. Nixon today as he began the first round of official calls on his 12-stop Caribbean tour.

Accompanied by his wife and Henry Holland, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, Nixon arrived from Washington last night after one of his plane's four engines went out of commission. His four-week itinerary also includes Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Haiti.

Nixon announced Holland was flying on today to Rio De Janeiro "to continue negotiations on various economic projects which have been pending for some time."

Neither Nixon nor Holland would specify what was to be discussed in Rio, but it was believed several major Brazilian economic programs would be gone over. Nixon emphasized that the visit had "no relation whatsoever" to political affairs, which have been turbulent in Brazil since top military leaders there called on the numerous political parties to reduce the num-

Russians Asked to Help in China

Eden Reveals Britain Requested Soviet Effort to Halt Civil War

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today Britain has asked the Soviet government to urge restraint on the Chinese Communists in the delicate situation now existing off the China coast.

Approaches were made Jan. 28 by the British ambassador in Moscow, Sir William Hayter, Eden told the House of Commons. Eden has talked with the Soviet charge d'affaires here.

Eden refused to be drawn into a detailed discussion of the moves, saying:

"Conversations are taking place between a number of governments and diplomacy must be given its chance to do some work about this. . ."

Eden rose in the House as news dispatches said Chinese Communist antiaircraft guns had fired on American carrier-based jet planes screening the Chinese Nationalist evacuation of the Tachen Islands.

Regarding this evacuation, Eden said:

"The government shares the hope, which has been expressed by the U.S. government, that these steps will contribute to a cessation of Communist attacks and to the restoration of peace and security to the West Pacific."

Eden stressed that the British government was in close consultation with Washington and with other capitals in efforts to bring about a cease-fire. Despite Chinese Communist rejection of the U.N. invitation, Eden held out hope that "other means and methods" might bring about a cease-fire.

3 County Boys Die in Crashes; 5 Others Hurt

Dixie Highway, Holly Wreck Kill Brothers, Avon Youngster

Three young Oakland County boys, two of them brothers, lost their lives in auto crashes last night.

One of the brothers was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital after his father's car collided head-on with another on the Dixie Highway, about 10 miles north of Pontiac.

His brother died four hours later.

Joseph Claude Hancock, 11, of 123 S. Saginaw St., Holly.

David Gary, 6, of 3392 Grant St., Avon Township.

The Gary boy suffered a fractured skull when his father's auto missed a curve on North Saginaw street in Holly and crashed into a tree. He died in Pontiac General Hospital 2½ hours later.

David's twin brother, Daniel, was treated for head cuts. Another brother, Kenneth, 10, and their mother, Lorraine, 31, are hospitalized.

The father, Kenneth, 33, a Detroit auto supply firm employe, was not injured.

State Police theorize the Dixie Highway crash occured when a northbound car driven by Joseph Hancock, 33, of the Holly address, crossed the center line. Hancock was reported in fair condition at Pontiac General with a possible skull fracture.

A passenger in the southbound auto, Lela Hensley, 17, of Dearborn, is in fair condition at Pontiac General with a fractured jaw and multiple cuts and bruises.

The southbound auto's driver, Joseph Waldecker, 24, of Dearborn was scheduled to make a statement to the Oakland County Prosecutor today. He was not injured.

Margaret Plans to Spend Today in Grenada Surf

ST. GEORGES, Grenada (INS) — Britain's Princess Margaret, who arrived on the island of Grenada yesterday, will take a holiday from state functions this afternoon to go swimming in the warm Caribbean waters.

The 24-year-old princess, making the second stop on her Caribbean tour, went through a round of ceremonies yesterday ending with a state dinner at government house last night.

Today, after attending a children's rally and another ceremony, she is reported planning to relax and spend at least a part of the afternoon swimming at a private beach at the government's quarantine station.

The princess was greeted by wailing sirens and a booming 21-gun salute when she stepped ashore yesterday from the royal yacht "Britannia."

Dulles Seeking Chiang Pact OK

Week's Delay in Senate Would Postpone Ballot Until Feb. 21

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returns to Capitol Hill today to urge speedy Senate ratification of the Formosa Defense Treaty — which must pass this week or be delayed until Feb. 21.

Senate foreign relations chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga) said that unless his committee reports the pact by Tuesday it will be "doubtful" whether a Senate vote can be reached until late this month.

He pointed out that both parties have agreed to transact no important business from Friday of this week, Feb. 11, until Feb. 21 — the period during which Republicans will be observing Lincoln's birthday and many senators will be absent on speaking tours.

Dulles returned from his week's vacation in the Bahamas yesterday and declined to comment on the Formosan situation. However, he said he had been in constant communication with President Eisenhower during the past week and that "nothing very surprising has happened" on the international scene during his absence.

The secretary goes before the Senate committee this afternoon. Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore) has served notice that he wants the treaty thoroughly explored, and George said this might mean Morse would "want reservations" attached to the document.

The chairman explained: "There might be some reservations which could be made and which would not be objectionable to our government in themselves, but the trouble is that it would be so difficult to get Nationalist China to go along with anything that seems to deny their sovereignty over territory now in their hands."

This was in reference to the debated issue of whether the U. S. should guarantee defense of Quemoy, Matsu or other Nationalist-held islands close to the China mainland.

Report Ack-Ack Firing at Yank Planes in Area

Chiang Sees Possible 'Sneak Attack' in Big Warship Concentration

TAIPEI (INS)—The Chinese Communists were reported assembling a large naval force today 50 miles north of the Tachen Islands where the U. S. 7th Fleet waited to protect Nationalist evacuation ships.

Intelligence reports of a concentration of Communist warships of all sizes in Sanmen Bay sent Nationalist military chiefs into urgent conference and brought warnings of a possible "sneak attack" to commanders directing the Tachen evacuation.

The London Evening News said today that Chinese Communist antiaircraft guns fired today on high-flying U.S. carrier-based jet planes in the area of the Tachen Islands.

The dispatch under a Taipei dateline quoted an unidentified pilot as saying that no damage occurred from the fire of the guns located on small islands north of the Nationalist-held Tachens, but the fire "came close" to the jets.

The 7th Fleet, however, reported "no enemy sighted" and military sources conceded Red China could be pulling her ships back to waters north of the Tachens to avoid clashes with the powerful American armada.

Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, 7th Fleet commander, announced that no enemy had been sighted and "everything in the current operation is proceeding according to schedule."

Pride's statement, relayed from his flagship, the cruiser Helena, came as American advance parties went ashore on the Tachens to clear mines from the harbor and set up loading procedures for the evacuation of the Communist-menaced islands.

The first military evacuation ship, carrying 180 of the 15,500 troops being withdrawn from the invasion-menaced Tachens, arrived at Keelung after an "uneventful voyage" through a sea channel lined with American naval might and protected by an umbrella of jet planes.

American officials were reasonably confident the Reds would not

Traffic Deaths Hit New Peak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's weekend traffic toll soared to a new 1955 high over the weekend just ended. It was the second new high in succession.

At least 21 met death on highways and streets. A Detroiter died in a fall down basement stairs and a Highland Park girl succumbed to carbon monoxide gas.

In the previous weekend, traffic killed 16 and miscellaneous accidents 3.

A. G. Walker, 23, and M. D. Chapman, 27, both Flint factory workers, were killed in the Saginaw suburb of Bridgeport Sunday night when their car skidded off combined U. S. 10 and U. S. 23 and hit a utility pole.

Joseph Hancock, 11, and his brother, Michael Francis Hancock, 7, of Holly were killed last night when a car driven by their father, Joseph, collided with one driven by Joseph E. Waldecker of Dearborn on U.S. 10, about 15 miles north of Pontiac.

David Gary, 6, of Avon Township was fatally injured last midnight when a car driven by his father, Kenneth, 33, went off a Holly street and hit a tree.

Penelope Jean Williams, 15, of Wayne County was killed Sunday when a car driven by her father, Arthur C., went off a road and overturned near Waltz, on the Wayne-Monroe county line.

Press Writer Finds High-Flying Clippers Bring Peoples of World Close Together

By JOE HAAS

HONOLULU — The new strato clippers are bringing closer together the peoples of all nations. They are the greatest distance eradicators of all time.

Cruising at 300 miles per hour at an elevation of two to five miles between San Francisco and Honolulu, I talked to men in the lounge on the lower deck of the "Flying Cloud" from Tokyo, Manila, Copenhagen and Philadelphia.

HAAS

All were United States citizens except the Dane — and he speaks better English than myself. He drives a Detroit made car, and his son in Calcutta is taking delivery on a new Pontiac.

The man from Tokyo is with General Motors and has been in Japan for 15 years before and after the war. He says that country now is our best friend among the nations and feels that our financial aid is being forced upon it, and wants to go it alone, but as our ally.

The Manila resident has some connection with the government there, was on his way home from an official call at Washington, was rather close mouthed, but admits a Communist threat.

Both men feel that President Eisenhower is doing the proper thing in the present China crisis.

The Philadelphia man has some connection with Texas Panhandle, and was on his way to Hong Kong, where he was due to arrive in less than 24 hours after Honolulu. He has two sons in the University of Michigan.

Among the other 80 passengers, the registration showed almost as many from foreign countries as from the United States. Their conversation showed that most of them have forsaken all ground or water for long distance travel.

With a crew of 18, the "Flying Cloud" strato clipper rides as easily as any automobile, with practically no vibration. You walk its 90-foot aisle or go up or down its stairway between decks as easily as you move about in your own home.

Its gross weight is 145,000 pounds, its cargo capacity is 17,500 pounds, and it is driven by four 28-cylinder engines, each of 3,500 horse power. It has an operating range of 4,500 miles, wing span of 141 feet, is 110 feet long and 38 feet high.

Reserved over four months in advance, our seats gave us an excellent position to witness the operation of this sky monster, and to watch the landscape in the take-off and landing. In between we could see nothing of this world as we were thousands of feet above the clouds.

In their race with the railroads and steamship lines for long distance travel, the air lines are going all out on service to their customers. Nothing seems to be too good.

They take you in charge even before you board the plane, and challenge you to stump them on any courtesy. They anticipate your every want.

Every member of the crew is put through several courses of study and experience, and wants you to understand that he is your servant. Every pilot, of whom there are at least three aboard each plane, has had millions of miles of flight training without an accident.

Of course it is the stewardesses who come in closest touch with the passengers. On planes in the "Flying Cloud" class there are three of these young women.

Picked for their good sense, poise and easy looks, they are immaculately groomed and taught to lavish their attention especially on the older passengers and to spare no effort for their comfort and enjoyment.

In this connection I'll pass on a remark by Mrs. Haas: "A man is always as young as he feels, BUT seldom as important."

Pinned Worker Loses Left Leg

A Detroit Edison crewman, pinned beneath a 3½-ton trailer by a car Saturday night near the eastern city limits, is reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. His left leg, crushed by the impact, was amputated yesterday.

Royce J. King, 29, of 624 Burgess, Milford, father of two young children was struck while working behind the trailer on Auburn avenue near Eastway street by an auto driven by Everett M. Clayton, 47, of 67 Regent St.

Clayton, who was scheduled to make a statement to the prosecutor's office today, told police he didn't see the victim. He is being held for investigation of felonious driving, Police said.

Clayton and his passenger, Curtis Simpson, 37, of 248 Auburn Ave., both were released after treatment for cuts and bruises.

According to the crew foreman, Lester T. Snyder, 61, of 1630 Parkway Dr., Sylvan Lake, the impact hurled three other men working in the trailer and atop the truck to the pavement. None were hurt seriously.

Snyder, said police, is credited with saving King's life by applying a tourniquet around the victim's leg to stop the flow of blood from a severed artery.

The eight workmen were repairing damages caused when an insulator on a transmission line failed and set afire a utility pole.

"Luckily, I ordered the men to put on their gloves which were in the truck. Before that, they were all at the rear of the trailer," Snyder said.

Patrolman Howard Lenigan said the crew had placed flares a 100 feet back from the trailer and five floodlights lighted up the area.

Police, who gave Clayton a blood test, quoted the driver as saying he had been drinking, "but wasn't drunk."

"I made the one curve and then I don't know what happened," he said. "Whether I passed out or not I can't understand yet. My wife said she hollered but I didn't acknowledge it.

"I don't believe I was going over 40 miles an hour. But the way things look I must have been going faster."

The auto was badly damaged.

Funeral arrangements for the Hancock boys are pending at the Brace-Smith Funeral Home.

Neighbors said Hancock is employed at the Fenton Industry Tool Co. They said he has been separated from his wife for the past six months.

He reportedly has two other sons, one 14 and one about 8, who live with his wife.

The accident took place about 11 p.m. on U. S. 10, near Davisburg road and the exact cause is still unknown.

Nixon Starts Official Calls in Cuba Capital

Holland is expected to rejoin Nixon in Mexico City later this week.

Nixon's schedule today included an official call on President Andres Domingo, a private visit with president-elect Fulgencio Batista, and a dinner honoring the vice president and his wife at the presidential palace tonight.

Sugar, on which Cuban economy largely depends, was the major topic for discussion between Nixon and his hosts. The island republic has a million-ton surplus, but U.S. sugar beet and cane growers are also faced with a surplus and are pressing for increased marketing quotas in the United States which would slice Cuba's share.

Nixon was said to feel there should be no revision in quotas before the end of 1956. He reportedly regards the present U.S. sugar act as an international commitment and to feel that any sudden change would be disastrous for Cuba.

McCarthy made no mention of campaign contributions when he said last week that the Democrats had asked seven staff members to quit. At that time he called it "cheap and petty politics at its lowest and dirtiest ebb."

McClellan said that in addition to Tracy, he has received resignations from three men McCarthy had named as assistant counsel to the subcommittee—Thomas Lavenia, Daniel Buckley and C. George Anastos. All the resignations are effective at the end of the month.

McClellan said most other staff members will continue in their jobs.

7th Fleet Set to Cover Nationalist Pullout

Radio Peiping hurled menacing words as the evacuation started, charging that the U. S. was "openly participating" in a war provocation against Red China, but Communist planes and warships apparently were restricted to bases near the mainland.

The Communist radio said an order to the 7th Fleet to "go into action" if the Reds opposed the evacuation was an act "fraught with the intrigue of starting a major war."

But there was no indication the Communists planned action against the 7th Fleet evacuation escort making up the greatest armada of American carrier strength since World War II.

Meanwhile, Nationalist defense officials reported the evacuation was proceeding smoothly and reaffirmed an order to all outposts and rear installations to remain under "full alert and in combat readiness against any eventuality during the Tachen evacuation."

Nationalist Premier O. K. Yui warned "that the present world situation is moving into a final showdown" and appealed to the free world to halt Red Chinese aggression with "collective strength."

Official confirmation of the Tachen withdrawal brought dejection to Taipeh. Newspaper editorials urged that the evacuation must be the "last Dunkirk for free China."

Civilian evacuation of the Tachens got under way simultaneously with "Operation Pullout." Most of the 17,000 civilians will be ferried to Nanchisan Island 120 miles north of Formosa.

They will be taken to Formosa after the military evacuation is completed in approximately two weeks.

Balloons Publicize Drive

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—A group of 20 balloons, each seven feet tall, will be launched from Grand Rapids next Friday to publicize the Crusade for the Freedom truth dollars campaign. The event is sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Blocks Contract Hearings

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Securities and Exchange Commission refused today to reopen hearings for additional testimony on proposed financing of the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract.

Floods Threatening Rain-Soaked Dixie

inches of rain forced the closing of two federal and two state highways in southwest Louisiana, while in Atlanta, Ga., garages were swamped with calls from stranded motorists.

At Orangeburg, S. C., 164 coeds were routed into a downpour in their night clothes when fire destroyed the women's dormitory at the Caflin College.

In another mishap, a Greyhound bus carrying members of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra skidded on snow and ice into an abutment at Clifton Forge, Va. The driver and 14 musicians were hurt.

Winter meanwhile threatened to strike a new blow at New England, where an accumulation of six inches of new snow was forecast for parts of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. Colder weather was predicted for the rest of the region.

It was raining east of the Appalachians throughout the area north of Georgia early today and three inches of snow fell on Burlington, Vt.

Temperatures were chilly in the Midwest, but strong southwesterly winds which hit gusts of 65 miles-per-hour warmed up the northern Rockies.

Wife Shoots Husband in Revolver Mishap

Mrs. Young, standing on a chair cleaning a kitchen cupboard, came across a dusty old 32-caliber revolver.

"I thought it was a toy," she told police. "I pulled the trigger once and nothing happened. I turned to show it to my husband and pulled the trigger again and it went off."

A bullet shot diagonally down through Young's chest and abdomen. Young, 38-year-old appraiser for General Motors' Diesel Engine Division, is in critical condition in Receiving Hospital.

Patrolman Harold Marshall of the Detroit police sold the house to the Youngs. He said the gun belonged to his father-in-law and he forgot it when he moved.

Next Lesson: Brakes

DETROIT (INS)—Mrs. Pearlie L. Harold, 40, of Detroit, climaxed a driving lesson yesterday in a rather unorthodox way.

John Endicott, 87 Dies in Detroit

Bloomfield Hills Man Led Varied Career as Merchant, Banker

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — John Endicott, Detroit civic leader since the turn of the century and a direct descendent of his namesake, who was first governor of Massachusetts, died Sunday in Detroit at the age of 87.

Mr. Endicott, who operated a dairy farm on his 115-acre estate at Quarton and Chesterfield roads, had been a merchant, banker, and financier, and was an authority on cattle-raising.

He came to Detroit in 1891, to work in his uncle's store, Newcomb, Endicott and Co. The store was sold to the J. L. Hudson Co. in 1925, two years after Mr. Endicott became store president.

He helped found the Merchants National Bank in 1914 and was its president until 1928. The bank later became Manufacturers National Bank. He was also a director of the General Finance Co and Bankers Trust Co. and served on the Michigan State Fair Board of Managers.

A Harvard University graduate, Mr. Endicott was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club, Detroit Club, University Club, Farmers Club, and Bloomfield Hills Open Hunt and Country Clubs. He served for several years on the Bloomfield Hills Village Commission.

His first wife, Elizabeth Martha Watson, died seven years after their marriage. He married Mary Elizabeth Booth in 1902. She died in 1944.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stanley E. Read of Vancouver, B. C., and Dr. Elizabeth T. Endicott of Cleveland; and one son, Robert R., of New York City.

Funeral service will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Orvie's New Son Faces Court Suit Over Alimony

PORT HURON (UP) — John (Curly) Dymtryszyn, 31, who eloped with the pretty daughter of Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard, was ordered arrested today on charges of falling behind in alimony payments to his former wife.

Circuit Judge Edward T. Kane signed a writ of attachment at the request of Wells Warren, St. Clair County friend of the court, who said Dymtryszym owed his ex-wife $975.

Dymtryszym has a three-year-old son by his former wife, Jeannine Kipp of Port Huron. Warren said he has not made any alimony payments since he gave her $75 on Sept. 13, 1953.

In defiance of her father, 22-year-old Nancy Hubbard and Dymtryszym were married last Jan. 13 in Ohio. Their present whereabouts were unknown but they were believed to be in Florida on a delayed honeymoon.

$15 Million Damages Paid in Train Wreck

WOODBRIDGE, N. J. (UP) — A Pennsylvania Railroad official says the line has paid out about 13 million dollars in death and injury claims stemming from the wreck of a commuter train here four years ago.

The tragedy, which took a toll of 86 lives and brought injuries to 900 persons, will cost the railroad a total of more than 15 million dollars, said Robert B. Champlin, vice president in charge of public relations.

Champlin spoke here Saturday night—the eve of the fourth anniversary of the disaster. He said it cost the Pennsylvania two million dollars for repair and equipment.

The overall cost to the railroad as a result of the crash will be more than that from any accident in the line's 108-year history, Champlin declared.

Find No Gambling; Moonshining, Though

DETROIT (INS)—Police investigating a gambling complaint yesterday turned up a 735-gallon still instead.

Sgt. Millard Tomes of Bethune Station said the officers found no evidence of gambling at 8765 Russell and were about to leave when they saw Ernest Foster, 50, of Detroit, coming from the attic.

They investigated and found the still, which was filled with mash but apparently had never been used.

Foster, who recently completed a two-year sentence in a federal prison for operating a still, was held for investigation of violation of the state liquor laws.

Police Search for Sex Slayer

Find Coed's Nude Body With 40 Stab Wounds in New York Flat

NEW YORK (INS)—Fifty detectives hunted today for an unidentified boy friend of a slain New York University coed who was stabbed 40 times, raped and strangled in a Greenwich Village flat.

The nearly nude body of Anne Yarrow, 23, punctured by knife wounds from neck to ankles, was found yesterday sprawled across a mattress in the dingy apartment.

Miss Yarrow's sweater, her only garment, had been pulled up to her neck, dark bruises of fingerprints were on her throat and her remaining clothing was scattered about the room.

The body was found by Herta Payson, 24, tenant of the apartment, on her return from a visit to South Carolina. She said she let Anne have the apartment because "Anne wanted to be alone with her thoughts after breaking off with a boy friend."

Police initiated a widespread search for the boy.

Authorities failed to find a knife or any physical clues to the killer in the apartment. A forced spring hinge on the apartment door indicated the murderer forced his way in.

Miss Yarrow was a 1953 honor graduate of Guilford College, a Quaker school in North Carolina, where she majored in English. She was enrolled in N. Y. U.'s graduate school where she was working for a master's degree in human relations.

Queen Fatima's Kin Hanged for Murder

BENGASI, Libya (AP) — Sherif Mohieddin el Sinussi, 22-year-old nephew of Libya's Queen Fatima, was hanged yesterday for the feud slaying of Sayed Ibrahim el Shalhi, comptroller of the royal household.

El Sinussi was convicted of premeditated murder last December. El Shalhi was shot Oct. 5 as he entered an automobile.

The feud between El Shalhi and some members of the royal family reportedly developed when the comptroller blocked the ambitions of some of the family by wielding his own considerable influence with King Idriss.

U. N. Awaiting Next U. S. Move

Formosa Cease-Fire Talks Suspended Until Lodge Airs Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — New U. N. Security Council moves on the Formosa cease-fire question hinged today on plans brought back from Washington by U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

Delegations recessed consultations over Sunday while they waited for a clue to U. S. intentions. Lodge announced after a Saturday breakfast with President Eisenhower that the U. S. program would be made known by midweek.

Victor A. Belaunde, Peruvian president of the council this month, said the talks today and tomorrow would determine when the next council meeting will be held. He said the weekend had produced no clear agreement on what the next step should be.

There was some feeling that the British Commonwealth prime ministers' talks in London would begin to be mirrored here in delegation activity early in the week. Reports from London said India's roles in the talks there and Soviet Foreign Office conferences with British and Indian diplomats in Moscow might be related to some kind of unwritten cease-fire agreement.

The New York Times in a dispatch from Washington said the United States would urge the U.N. to send a "peace observation" mission to Formosa and the Pescadores to report on any aggressive action in the area. The Times said the Americans, assuming that the Soviet Union would veto any cease-fire or peace observation resolution in the Security Council, were trying to arrange for the veto-free General Assembly or the interim "Little Assembly" to send the observers.

Egypt Loses Fight for Neutralist Policy

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt has lost her fight to unite the Arab world behind a neutralist policy and block Western Military aid in Middle Eastern defense.

Leaders of the eight Arab League states last night ended their heated 16-day defense conference—summoned by Egypt to block the projected Iraq-Turkey alliance—without even agreeing on a final communique.

There were indications other Arab states in addition to Iraq were inclined eventually to join up with Turkey, and indirectly with the Western Powers, because of their growing fear of possible Soviet aggression.

Pontiac Minors Fined for Possessing Beer

John B. Crampton, 17, of 448 Northfield St., and Charles R. Hill, 17, of 60 W. Rundell St., both pleaded guilty to illegal possession of beer and paid fines of $25 each Saturday after arraignment before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Pontiac Police arrested the youths Friday night while they were sitting in an auto at St. Louis St. and Baldwin Ave. A partly consumed case of beer was in the auto, police said.

Costa Rica Hit Again by Rebels

Charges Nicaraguan Aid Given Attackers as Fighting Resumes

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Central American crisis erupted anew today with angry charges by Costa Rica that Nicaragua has again flaunted the Organization of American States by aiding rebel forces.

The OAS special investigating committee, which held an emergency meeting in Washington last night to hear the new charges, was scheduled to meet again at 10:30 a.m. today to continue work on conclusions it will submit to the organization's council.

The Costa Ricans said that government forces which recaptured the town of Los Chiles, near the Nicaraguan border, Saturday took 26 prisoners who admitted they had taken part in the original invading force on Jan. 11.

Early in January, the OAS council set up the investigating committee—headed by Mexican Ambassador Luis Quintanilla—and ordered a border patrol established. In addition, the United States sold Costa Rica four fighter planes for a nominal sum to aid the government forces.

Renewed fighting began Friday when invaders attacked Los Chiles captured the airport and seized the crew of the Lacsa Airlines DC-3 which had just landed.

Suspect Quizzed in Attack on Girl

A 29-year-old Pontiac man was in police custody today after being questioned about a reported attack on a 13-year-old girl in the backyard of her home last night.

The suspect, apprehended by the girl's father after a chase of several blocks, was identified in a police lineup, according to Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives. Police said the man gave conflicting accounts of his whereabouts at the time.

Returning from a movie at about 9:30, the girl said she was assaulted by a "man wearing a red jacket who said something about a knife." She was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for cuts and shock.

The suspect is scheduled to be turned over to officials at the Oakland County Prosecutor's office later for further questioning.

Senate Unit Passes GI Benefit Extension

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Labor Committee unanimously approved today a House-passed bill providing that persons in the armed services up to last Jan. 31 may acquire GI educational benefits.

The bill, in effect, sets aside for one month a proclamation issued by President Eisenhower which would have ended the right of servicemen to acquire such benefits as of Jan. 1.

Acting with unusual speed, the Senate committee held hearings and approved the bill in 34 minutes. Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala), said he hopes to bring the measure to the Senate floor late this week.

Seek Warrant for Man Who Attacked Officer

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit police said they would seek a warrant today charging a man who beat, scratched and kicked a police officer with obstructing an officer in performance of his duty and driving without a license.

The warrant will be sought against John J. Prist, 34, who was stopped by Patrolman Charles Van, 32, for making an illegal left turn. Prist attacked the policeman when he asked him for his driver's license. Police said Prist's license had been revoked last year.

Possible Solution Outlined for Carver School Dispute

A measure to increase the number of persons eligible to seek school board posts in the George Washington Carver School district of Royal Oak Township has been advanced to clear up the problems of the strife-torn area.

George F. Taylor, chief assistant Oakland County Prosecutor, said today he is considering recommending state legislation that would allow people with children in schools in a school district with less than 50 property owners and a 2,000 child school enrollment to seek election to the school board.

At present only property owners may serve on boards of education.

Much of the trouble in the Carver board has been laid to the fact that most of the residents in the district are not property owners, leaving only about 40 eligible to seek office.

The school has been the scene of strikes by parents, fights, and threatened violence since its formation in 1945. Currently several recall petitions seeking to oust board members have been filed by different factions of the school board.

Taylor said today that if he does draw up such a plan, he would give it to State Senator William S. Broomfield to present in the legislature.

"This is perhaps the only solution to the problem down there, and it wouldn't interfere with the operation of other school districts," Taylor stated.

Autopsy Ordered in Mystery Death

An autopsy has been ordered into the death of Looyd M. Gleason, 38, of 3817 Woodview, West Bloomfield Township, after he died Sunday night of unknown causes, Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. reported.

Police quoted Gleason's wife, Eutha Myrtle, 32, as saying her husband, the father of three children, returned home last night after "eating chili and having a few drinks" at a lodge. HE COMplained of pains in the neck, chest and arm, she said.

After collapsing in the bedroom, she said, ehe called the fire department which was unable to revive him with an inhalator.

Dr. Edjard F. Collins, deputy coroner, who pronounced Gleason ded on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, ordered the autopsy.

The bandit wore a black hood and black gloves during the holdup at the Arrand Finance Company. He escaped in a light green Chevrolet, a 1949 to 1952 model and was reported headed toward Detroit.

Max Michaels, the company manager, was in the office with two women employes when the holdup man entered through a rear door. He forced Michaels at gunpoint to empty the cash drawers into a white paper sack.

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Lake Michigan's water level dropped slightly in January to 581.21 feet above sea level. Add Chicago Bandit to 10 Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI's list of "10 most wanted fugitives" got a new name today, that of Palmer Julius Morset of Chicago, said by the agency to have started his criminal career as a horse thief.

Morset, 48, is wanted for a daylight robbery of a Chicago finance company on March 20, 1950. After a wild automobile chase, Morset and an accomplice were captured. They obtained bond after being indicted and Morset never showed up for trial.

The FBI describes him as "a restless, nervous, gun-carrying criminal with an arrest record covering more than 30 years."

A conservative dresser, Morset is of medium height and slender build, with brown hair which is graying, blue eyes and a fair complexion. Both his nose and right arm have been broken.

Broomfield Asks Dutch Elm Study

County Senator Offers Measure to Set Up Unit for Disease Research

A resolution will be introduced tomorrow by Oakland County's State Senator William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) which would set up a three-member Senate committee to work toward stamping out the Dutch Elm disease in Michigan.

The committee would work with the Department of Agriculture in devising a program to fight the tree-killer, which "is rapidly and dangerously spreading," said Broomfield.

Pontiac had 30 cases in 1954, compared with three in 1953 when the disease was first discovered here.

"Appropriations have been made to the Agricultural Department to fight the disease, but I feel further assistance is urgently needed," the senator asserted.

"The committee would survey the current scope of the disease and report back to the Senate in time for a program aimed at wiping it out to be passed during the Legislature's 1955 session," he explained.

Start Campaign to Pay Off CAI Building Mortgage

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — An all-out drive to retire the CAI Building mortgage was begun Sunday when 25 township representatives met at the Community Activities Inc. center.

Each person agreed to contact other civic-minded citizens and organizations in the township for donations or $100 life memberships. The latter may be treated as pledges and paid in ten installments.

Because of a recent decision by the Dept. of Internal Revenue, donations to the CAI are now tax deductible.

The building, valued at $175,000, has a mortgage balance of $11,300. Its main floor contains a dining room, kitchen, gymnasium-auditorium, dairy bar and also houses the library and township recreation board offices.

On the second floor are four rooms rented to the Board of Education, and the Merry-Mixers room, a 30 x 60 foot area finished by this dance group for its activities but also used by the ballet classes, Scouts and other groups.

In the basement is another 30 x 60 foot room used by the weight clubs and athletic associations for their calisthenics.

In all but midsummer months, some 2,500 people use the building each month.

No closing date has been set for the fund drive but members hope to have it completed by the end of the month.

Name Smear Suit Filed by Officer

A Royal Oak policeman, who claims his "good name" was "brought intogreat public scandal" is asking for $50,000 damages in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Lt. Dale F. Williams alleges that charges by Robert J. Lytle, of Royal Oak, that the officer carried on "improper relations" with Lytle's wife have smeared the policeman's "credit and reputation."

The charges were aired in Circuit Court last September in a divorce action started by Lytle's former wife, Ellen. Four other Royal Oak policemen also were accursed by LKytle. No hearing date has been set.

Martini Mixing Art Falls Prey to Push Button Era

NEW YORK (AP)—The age of the automatic, push button factory is beginning. Push button wars soon will be possible.

"Well, at least there is one consolation. They'll never be able to make a push button Martini."

He was wrong. The Martini is now being mechannized.

This drastic innovation in the cocktail circuit is being pushed by Eustace Schannell, formely with the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau in Boston.

On that job Scannell learned that bars were losing up to 30 per cent of their profits because of spillage, evaporation and pilferage. So he and an engineering friend designed a metal liquor meter.

This little gadget, fastened to a bottle, is practically spill-proof. It can be set to pour a standard amount of drink, and clocks the exact number of drinks that come out of the bottle.

"It takes the guesswork out of making mixed drinks," explained Scannell. "It guarantees that both the bar owner and the customer get a fair deal. Not, of course, that bartenders are dishonest. I don't believe I ever met a dishonest bartender."

Aware that most Martini lovers are convinced that making their cocktail is a problem in art rather than mechanics, Scannell made a scientific study of the whole subject.

"By having the liquor meters set on different gin bottles to pour larger or smaller quantities," he said, "you can make the Martini extra extra extra dry, extra extra dry, or just plain extra dry, as the customer chooses.

"Nobody ever asked for a wet Martini. Few now even ask for a plain Martini or a dry Martini. Most call for an extra dry Martini—and hope for the best."

Fanciers may bemoan the arrival of the mechanized Martini. But it is here to stay. Several large hotel chains are already using Scannell's liquor meter.

But why does anyone really want to drink Martinis anyway? That is the question even scientific research can't answer.

"Some people just get fond of them," said Scannell, who takes his own beverage straight, without benefit of ice cubs, water, vermouth, olives or lemon peel.

Our Costa Rican Policy Draws Deserved Praise

It is more than satisfying to look back at the Costa Rican unpleasantness and realize that two organizations deserve praise for bringing it to an early end.

One, of course, is our State Department. The other is the Organization of American States. Had not both acted with promptness and wisdom, the rebellion and invasion which threatened the Figueres government in San Jose might have set back Latin American democracy a whole generation. It also could have resulted in a terrific loss of U. S. prestige in Central and South America.

The fact that the investigation by the special five Nation commission speeded wind up of the military phase of the uprising, doesn't mean that the work of OAS is completed. Suggestions that the Commission should continue its inquiry and fix the blame have merit.

An OAS watchdog committee should be left on the scene. The peace body should notify not only Nicaragua but all other Latin American countries that they will be held accountable for restraining military expeditions organized inside their borders.

Dr. ROBERT J. ALEXANDER, assistant professor of economics at Rutgers University, often has criticized U. S. policy in Latin America. But in a letter to the N. Y. Times he praised both the State Department and OAS and continued:

"The Figueres Government in Costa Rica is one of the few genuinely democratic regimes in Latin America. It was democratically elected, it allows full freedom of the press, of assemblage, of organization. It has no political prisoners."

In Dr. Alexander's opinion U. S. action in this case has done more to win us friends in Latin America than any other action this country has taken since the end of World War II.

That's worth a lot.

Commission Will Study Vets' Benefit System

President EISENHOWER announced in his budget message that he had instructed a specially named commission to study the "scope and philosophy of veterans' pension and compensation laws."

In asking $300,000 to finance this study Mr. EISENHOWER made a sound observation. He emphasized the necessity of making sure that such benefits are timely and reach those who need them most.

The importance of such a study shouldn't have to be stressed. Some parts of our pension system date back to the Revolutionary War. Moreover, our living veterans today number 21,000,000 with another 3,000,000 still in uniform. At present 40 per cent of all adult males are entitled to veterans' benefits.

What many of the veterans may not realize is that they also are taxpayers and have to carry their share of the ever growing pension and benefit burden.

ganized veterans. This lobby is one of the most powerful in Washington and it naturally is fearful of anything that might reduce benefits.

The study proposed, however, doesn't forecast reductions for reductions' sake. But we are convinced that it is as much to the interest of veterans as to the Nation at large that these benefits be fairly and equitably distributed.

Ex-Red Admits Perjury

It is to be hoped our Justice Department is right in saying that the confessed perjury of ex-Red HARVEY MATUSOW has created no vital problem for it.

The department spokesman, of course, was referring to MATUSOW's testimony in the conviction of 13 second string Communists which, he said, was false. However, the spokesman pointed out, ninety-nine per cent of that testimony merely confirmed testimony of other witnesses.

But in Texas a labor leader, CLINTON JENCKS, was granted a new perjury trial after MATUSOW filed an affidavit repudiating his testimony against JENCKS.

Other statements by MATUSOW indicated he had sworn falsely in court or before Congressional committees against such other persons as ELIZABETH GURLEY FLYNN, PETTIS PERRY, GEORGE BLAKE CHARNEY, Bishop OXNAM and OWEN LATTIMORE.

In a televised statement MATUSOW said in perjuring himself he merely was reaching out "for an identity." In short, he "wanted to become somebody." He also seemed inordinately anxious to get publicity for his book.

His own statements certainly justify the move for grand jury examination of the actions of this ex-Communist professional informer.

"I Don't Care Who Designed It— I Don't Like It"

James Marlow Says:

Matusow Case May Cast Doubts on Other Ex-Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless the government can turn the tables on Harvey Matusow — for example, by proving he lies when he says he lied — its use of ex-Communists as professional witnesses will suffer damage.

A federal grand jury questions him today. A congressional committee wants to question him. It can be taken for granted the government is digging behind the scenes to find out why he about-faced.

He has sworn that some of the testimony which he has given about communism in this country was a lie. He was a member of the Communist party but claims he left it.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, says he's convinced Matusow has always been a Communist and has been used by the party to discredit government Red hunts.

Walter did not explain whether he meant Matusow, who has expressed a liking for money, was paid by the party to repudiate his testimony or whether in all he has said and done Matusow was acting as a loyal party member.

There are some differences between Matusow and Whittaker Chambers, the best-known of the ex-Communists who gave testimony for the government against communism.

Chambers, whose testimony sent Alger Hiss to jail for perjury, wrote a book, "Witness," after he had made headlines with his revelations. The book was in support of his testimony.

Matusow, who gained sporadic headlines working with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and through his testimony at congressional hearings and in court trials, has written a book, "False Witness," repudiating himself.

(He recently filed an affidavit in New York, swearing that his testimony at the trial of 13 convicted second-string Communist leaders was phony.)

Chambers was a secret government informer for years, but only after he left the party. He says in his book he gave up a "secure future" and a $30,000-a-year magazine job.

Last week at a news conference, Matusow said he became a professional witness because it was "a racket" and he liked the notoriety.

He had joined the party in 1947 when he was 20. The FBI says it used Matusow as an informer from June to December 1950. In January 1951 the party supposedly expelled him.

He started being a professional witness in public a year later.

When Chambers first became a public witness, his testimony seemed incredible. He was vindicated when Hiss was convicted.

After that the public got adjusted to believing ex-Communists.

If Matusow's denial now that he told the truth stands up, he will sow future suspicion in the minds of the public and juries about the truthfulness of any ex-Communist testifying for the government.

At the same time there is an important but unanswered question on the government's side: Just how well did the Justice Department check on Matusow's reliability before it brought him into a courtroom to testify?

Arguments Voiced Pro and Con About Fluoridation of City's Water Supply

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

"Fact Finder" suggests dentists could fluoridate the teeth of school pupils individually. Now, there's scientific thinking.

Each child would pay several times what it costs through the city's plan and then would have to pay time after time to have the treatment repeated.

Picture 30,000 school children in line before our few dentists. How silly is it possible to get on this subject?

Another "Fact Finder"

So far I see both the opponents and proponents admit that fluorine is poison if taken in excessive doses; that it impairs the kidneys, liver and heart.

What if one drinks an excessive amount of water, especially during heat waves in the summer time? Due to that, an excessive amount of fluorine will be absorbed in the system.

There should be some way of applying it locally without any risk, like painting it on or in a toothpaste.

Helen Belkoff

612 Central.

In reference to "hoi-polloi" just when has it become a crime to believe in the laws of God and still be able to open your mouth against health conditions that are not beneficial to all the people?

I go along with Mr. Keeling. We are absorbing plenty of poison without more in our water. Did you read where 700 people in Grand Rapids had a meeting last week as to why they all had so many aches and pains?

Justice for everybody harms nobody. I certainly don't want fluorine in the water I drink.

B. P. R.

I have been searching the dictionary since this question of "fluoridation" became a subject of discussion and I find that fluoride, fluorine, chloride and chlorine are, more or less, of the same chemical mixtures and that doctors prescribe them for certain diseases.

I have in my medicine cabinet some of one of these mixtures in tablet form. There is a warning on the label which reads, "Should not be used in the presence of renal (pertaining to the kidneys) insufficiency, heat cramps, or dehydration."

Many elderly people have kidney trouble so why should our city commission force all the people to drink such stuff as this, in the face of said "warning" and jeopardize the lives of many?

Let's Vote on This

I am with Ralph Keeling regarding putting this harmful chemical into our water.

I am an old M. A. C. student of 1905-06-07 and had a short course in agriculture and farm management. I would advise Mr. Keeling to contact M. S. C., as it is now called. Fluorine is no good for food crops, gardens, grass, flowers, etc. etc.

A. M. Seaver

259 Going St.

With all this yackety-yak about fluoridation, will the editor please tell me real quick-like whether it affects a scotch and plain water.

Just One of the Boys

Editor's Note: Experts say "absolutely not."

In the interest of the citizens' health, the Oakland County Dental Society would like to announce its full-hearted support for fluoridation of the water supply.

An improvement of the teeth directly improves a patient's general health and the addition of sodium chloride to the water supply will improve children's teeth.

A 10-year study in Grand Rapids scientifically proved a reduction of 40 to 70 per cent in tooth decay in children, depending on their age when the fluoride intake was started. The younger the child, the greater the reduction of decay.

During this study not one impairment of health can be traced scientifically to the element fluorine.

The fluoride is added to the water one part fluoride to one million parts of water. Not one element or compound at this dilution could possibly be harmful.

For the children's sake, Pontiac citizens should support their mayor and the majority of their commission by upholding the decision they have made.

Intelligent people should not be influenced by opposition which is based on disregard for fact, misuse of statistics, lack of knowledge and ill-advice.

All citizens interested in improving their children's dental health without any risk to the children's health are urged to contact the mayor and commission and voice support to this health measure.

M. A. Noonan, D.D.S.
Oakland County Dental Society

At last count there were over 700 chemicals being used in the preparation, preserving, appetizing, etc., of the food we eat, and now you are in favor of adding one of the most corrosive chemicals known to man to the drinking water of Pontiac.

Yes I know it is supposed to be only one part per million, but are you acquainted with the results of the check on fluorine content made in Charlotte, N. C.?

If you are really interested in stopping tooth decay why don't you tell the mothers in Pontiac what so-called food it is that is used in large quantities that causes the bacteria that attack tooth enamel?

Why not check with the results of the fluorine experiments conducted by the University of Texas and the University of New Mexico?

Ask the International Nickel Co. what fluorine does to steel, fire brick and water.

There are people in other parts of the world who are never bothered by tooth decay, but within hours after eating some of our "wholesome enriched foods" the harmful bacteria were scientifically shown to be there.

Chemicals are doing a great job in raising our standard of living, but they have no place in my stomach.

Figuring on the Ripley census of 600,000,000 meandering Mandarins to the round inch that would be 50,000,000 wrinkled feet of rippable calico.

Boiling the dry wash down into fissionable pleats we arrived at 16,666,666 pre shrunk yards of durable denim.

Question now is whether we should plead the Fifth Amendment or exercise our laundry frank.

Affairs have become a bit bobtailed since the English expert scheduled his utopia in muslin. Since the Commies took over the works the shirt-tails of China are no longer flying at mercantile half-mast.

Army Lieutenant Breaks Engagement Because She Failed 'Sweethearts' Test

Larry felt as if he was tearing his heart out of his chest, but he resolutely broke his engagement to his fiancee, anyway. For Larry found her deficient on the "Tests for Sweethearts" mentioned below, and he knew that people who can't break bad habits before the wedding, rarely will do so afterwards.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, he is a fine boy," his mother explained," and he rules his emotions by his head.

"He broke his engagement to his fiancee recently because she did not pass your 'Test for Sweethearts.'

"The one time I met her, she seemed like a nice girl but he said she had too many serious faults.

"She said she'd change them after their marriage, but Larry said if she couldn't change before marriage, she certainly wouldn't be likely to do so later.

"So he gave her six months to make the changes and when she failed to do so, he broke their engagement.

"Dr. Crane, do you think he did the right thing?"

Yes, it is better to pick wisely at the start instead of trying to renovate shoddy matrimonial merchandise after the wedding ceremony.

And Larry was quite right in saying that if a person can't eliminate bad habits before marriage, such as drinking alcohol or gambling on the horses chronically, then there is even less likelihood of doing so afterwards.

Test 343 (usually not our best test for men) is the one Larry took. It is a simple test, but a very revealing one. It is designed to show how a person will react to a situation which is likely to arise in marriage.

Larry was asked to imagine that he had been married for a year and that his wife had bought a new dress. He was asked to imagine that he thought the dress was unbecoming to her and that he told her so.

Larry was asked to imagine that his wife burst into tears and left the room. He was asked to imagine that he followed her and found her crying on the bed. He was asked to imagine that she said, "I thought you loved me. I thought you thought I was pretty. I thought you thought I was a good wife. I thought you thought I was a good cook. I thought you thought I was a good housekeeper. I thought you thought I was a good mother. I thought you thought I was a good lover. I thought you thought I was a good companion. I thought you thought I was a good friend. I thought you thought I was a good person

Premiers Meet for Last Time

Commonwealth Chiefs Relieved as Tensions Slacken in Far East

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill called the Commonwealth premiers to a final secret session on the Formosa crisis today with tension apparently slackened slightly by events of the weekend.

The nine-nation conference was reported relieved that the Chinese Nationalists, after a week of wrangling with the United States, had agreed to pull out of the Red-threatened Tachen Islands.

The U. S. refusal to be more closely committed to defense of the other Nationalist-held, coastal islands of Quemoy and Matsu was welcomed here.

The British contend that all the islands the Nationalists hold just off the China mainland — except Formosa and the neighboring Pescadores — belong to the Communists, but Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden has warned the Reds against any attempt to seize the islands.

Also on the optimistic side were reports indicating that Russia, fearful of becoming involved in a Far East war, has consented to restrain the Chinese Communists.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov called in British Ambassador Sir William Hayter and India's P. N. Kaul for separate talks in Moscow last Friday. After cabled reports of the two meetings were studied here, British diplomatic informants hinted that Russia had joined with Britain and India in secret efforts to get the Nationalists and Reds to agree to a face-saving, "unwritten" ceasefire in the Formosa Strait.

These informants said the present Commonwealth strategy of seeking a Formosa truce through secret diplomacy is being directed by Eden and India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Vigil in Formosa Strait

Destroyer Plays Watchdog on Prowl for Red Invaders

WITH A U.S. DESTROYER ON FORMOSA STRAIT PATROL (AP)—As huge aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyer divisions mass and wheel in Formosan waters, a lone destroyer plows the seas off the Red China mainland.

In the waters of troubled Formosa Strait, the destroyer handles on a larger scale the same job of tiny two-man listening posts far ahead of the front lines in Korea. It too stands guard against a surprise attack by the Communists.

In a darkened compartment a pencil line of fluorescence speeds around a radar scope, a pulsating hand on a faceless clock.

Electronic waves that pierce darkness, fog, storms and miles of distance scan the skies for planes that could be hostile.

A few feet away, another scope flashes. It seeks ships, especially Red Chinese junk fleets that could be carrying Communist invaders or guerrillas to Formosa.

Each exploding bubble of light triggers an audible beep. An echoing ping, an interrupting blip in the expanding rings of light could mean a stalking submarine —or a school of fish. Trained ears and trained eyes know the difference.

Other scopes glow inside the destroyer's armored main battery director atop the pilot house. Intricately tied to the destroyer's guns, these scopes can lock the guns on a target that cannot be seen.

There is never a moment when the electronic devices are not operating. There is never a moment when men with binoculars are not searching the skies and seas.

This ship, these instruments, these men are part of the Formosa Strait patrol, handful of speedy, rough riding destroyers on the longest, loneliest, most monotonous and perhaps most important duty in Formosan waters.

The job is early detection and early warning of any Red Fleet massing that might portend a Communist invasion attempt or planes that might be carrying bombs toward Formosa or the Pescadores.

"In the even tof war," says Cmdr. R. L. Cochrane of San Diego, captain of this destroyer, "declared or undeclared, we could give 48 to 72 hours warning of a seaborne attack, at least a half hour and probably an hour warning of a bomber's flight toward Formosa."

A major Red attack, he concedes, "could well mean our annihilation" because "probably we would be the first to be attacked by Communist planes.

"A few miles over there is the China mainland. We stay outside their territorial waters. And over there is Formosa.

"Between is technically free water. Our job is to watch, look, report what goes on, both on the surface, below it and in the air. We do not stop and search ships. We are not doing blockade duty.

"If we get a surface contact by radar we steam over and give him a visual look over. If he is a merchant ship we ask the usual questions on our blinker (shuttered signal searchlight), who he is, his home port, where from, where bound and what he carries."

Cochrane did not say what he might do if a ship refused to answer. None did during my week aboard.

While the destroyer has sighted several sizable concentrations of junks and smaller sampans, Cochrane said his ship has detected no massing of junks that would indicate a Red invasion buildup.

On an average day a destroyer on patrol contacts two or three large freighters, from a half dozen to several hundred junks and a score of more aircraft. These last are mostly Chinese Nationalist or U.S. patrol planes.

In recent weeks destroyers on northern patrols near the Tachens have been more than the usual fast moving blips near the mainland, probably Red MIG jets.

If MIGs or other Red planes have come close to U.S. patrol destroyers the Navy isn't saying. But there is ample evidence that any Red plane that maneuvered into attack position would get a barrage. The destroyers have orders to defend against threatened attack.

The Navy, like the Air Force out here, no longer operates on the principle of let the other guy shoot first.

Tragic Mishap Ends Need for New Home

TAYLOR, Tex. (AP) — Rains last week delayed plans to build a small house on the grounds of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church here so that Mrs. Francisca Mendoza, 82, would not have to cross the street to attend mass.

Men of the parish also were thinking of Mrs. Mendoza's son Rosendo, who is physically handicapped and had difficulty himself crossing the street for his work at the little Catholic church.

Yesterday Mrs. Mendoza died in a hospital of injuries suffered when she was hit by a car while crossing the street to Mass.

55 Die in India's Third Recent Mine Disaster

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's third mine disaster in two months has claimed the lives of 55 coal diggers in Bihar state. The explosion Saturday brought the toll in the three tragedies to 130. Gas seepage was blamed for the latest accident, in the Amalabad mine 100 miles northwest of Calcutta.

Although the height of Mt. Everest was set at 29,002 feet 100 years ago, recent surveys indicate it is actually 29,028 feet high.

Your Heart's in Your Hands

Keeping Heart Well Is Full Time Job

By DR. WILLIAM A. BRAMS.
(Last of series.)

NEW YORK (NEA) — To the millions of persons with heart disease, there is often a definite question as to which is harder to do: survive the attack itself, or make the adjustments later that will help to prevent a recurrence.

As you some day may find out yourself, learning to live with a heart condition is a job that permits no errors.

Your greatest foe will be fear. Cardiologists find, again and again, that the average patient who remains an invalid after a heart attack has broken off his routine of life not because he is crippled by the damage done to his heart, but because of his own anxiety.

The facts, however, are reassuring. Death is exceptional, during or just after a heart attack. Of every 10 persons who suffer an attack of coronary thrombosis, eight or nine live on.

In anticipating the future, our experience shows there are two possibilities. Hardening of the arteries may continue and increase, so that the condition becomes more hazardous. But it also may come to a stop.

We do not know when or why or how, but we do know that this seems commonn.

For individual cases, prediction is out of the question. The best we can do is to make some general statements — remembering all the while that your case may be an exception.

The outlook for active life is best, as a rule, for those whose hearts were not very badly damaged. And yet every cardiologist has seen what he thought were extremely grave cases return to normal life.

You are better off if you're young (and that includes 40's to 50's) and have had but a single attack. The records tell us also that women tolerate coronary thrombosis better than men. They are not as subject to it in the first place, and they make more complete recoveries. We do not know why.

One fact, however, is certain: your prospects of pulling through are less if you're overweight. You must win the battle with your appetite to win the war with coronary thrombosis.

The word on what you can eat and drink will have to come from your doctor, who knows your entire condition. As far as your heart itself is concerned, the only food banned is salt.

A glass of beer contains a very small amount of salt and not many calories, hence this amount is permissible for patients with coronary thrombosis. Alcohol, coffee and tea —always in moderation—may actually be of help, as they tend to increase circulation. The coffee plant, in fact, is a close relative of plants from which heart drugs are derived.

The general policy on tobacco is: Habitual smokers may indulge moderately, provided it is denicotinized tobacco. Others should not smoke.

One of your hazards is constipation because of the extra straining which may result. Your doctor can help to relieve this, and always should be consulted.

In general, if recovery appears complete, you may follow in moderation your former habits of social intercourse, sports and travel. If, however your heart was left impaired, you must make concessions as the price of continued health.

For example, your hours. If you feel fatigued by your day's round, it is good sense to go to bed early. Let your sensations be your guide and always be sure to heed them.

As long as driving a car does not tire or excite you, it may safely be undertaken. But wait for at least three months and never take any long trips unless there is someone to relieve you at the wheel. And if you must travel with luggage or sample cases, always let someone else lift them in and out of the car.

Stick to sports that are not competitive, such as easy horseback riding or walking on the level. Games like tennis and squash are too fast and hard. (Golf, however, is fine, provided you take it easy.)

Most people are under the impression that heart patients do better if they move to a warm climate. But there is no evidence that climate has any effect on hardening of the arteries.

The typical heart patient of today is not an invalid. Fifteen or 20 years ago, you would have been ordered to retire from active life. We know now that this was a tragic loss of years.

Your doctor will guide you in working out a safe mode of life, if only you will cooperate. Unless your case is severe, you can probably go back to work though you may be advised to change your job—and you may have trouble finding employment.

You may find you are given no medicines. Physicians wish it were otherwise, but we simply do not know of any drugs to prescribe for you, once your attack is over.

Following a sensible program will bring you, day by day, closer to recovery. Then, as you find yourself easing back into life, put fear behind you. Your plight is no worse—and probably better—than that of thousands of others who are now leading happy, productive lives.

Think of yourself as they do—as master of your fate!

State Firm Sued by French Group in Roquefort Rift

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Cheese may look like Roquefort, taste like Roquefort—even smell like Roquefort, but still not be Roquefort.

Or at least that's what the Societe Anonyme Civile des Producteurs de Fromage de Roquefort—the people who make Roquefort—contend.

The French Roquefort cheese producers have brought suit in federal court here against Bill Stern's Famous Brands, Inc., of Muskegon.

They say that a cheese dressing sold by the Muskegon firm has no more than a negligible amount of Roquefort in it, and is a mixture containing mostly bleu cheese.

Roquefort, on the other hand, they say, is prepared from ewe's milk and ripened in caves in the vicinity of Roquefort, France.

Move Over, Kitty Hawk, Dayton 'Bred' the Plane

By PHILLIS BATTELLE

DAYTON, O. (INS) — Dayton, Ohio, is the city that really bore and bred the airplane—and no back-talk out of you, Kitty Hawk, N. C.!

Loyal Daytonians will tell you that although the Wright brothers made their first successful flight at Kitty Hawk, in 1903, it was somewhat of a fluke. Those boys were Dayton fellas, and the big white fampily homestead is still on the hill to prove it.

Their early planning, and their important flying after the K. H. venture, took place just west of Dayton on the site of what is now the mammoth Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. Wilbur and Orvie, as they are affectionately known by the older ilk hereabouts, would be amazed indeed at what's happening on the acreage over which their flying macllines once dipped and bobbled.

I'm a Daytonian myself, and as a high school kid used to call Orville Wright "Uncle Orvie," due to a social attachment I had with one of his grand-nephews. The thing I remember most about him were the eyes, lively and curious, always looking as if they were focused on a shiny, new miracle. Of all the more than 30 brisk Air Force organizations operating on his old gliding grounds today, I think he'd like the fantastic research operation best.

Officially it's called the "Wright Air Development Center," and it's the largest branch of the USAF's air research and development command.

Visually, it's like a spectacular circus sideshow—designed not to make money, but to make flying safe.

In one building, there are 12 laboratories, each the size of a small living room, in which every conceivable climate of nature is constantly simulated. Here, all Air Force equipment from the tiniest valve to a full-sized fire truck, is tested under all conditions.

Step into one area (the Sahara suite) and you'd parch in 165-degree temperatures. At the flip of a switch, the discomfort is compounded by a violent dust storm. Next door is the "tropics" where the temperature is 90-above and the humidity 100 per cent.

In the arctic room, it's a brisk 65-degrees below zero, and there's snow. There are also salt-fog rooms, Rain rooms with six inches of rainfall per hour, and altitude chambers which simulate conditions 150,000 feet toward heaven.

In another building, two giant, spinning mechanical monsters are almost constantly in motion. They are the testers of man's ability to withstand lightning acceleration and deceleration and the effects of "G forces" in turns and dives. They also test equipment designed to help man keep pace with his supersonic aircraft of the future—a job that nature failed to do.

There are six gigantic wind tunnels on the grounds, to buffet plane parts at more than tornado force to see if they can take it. And a structures building (which is so large that the world's biggest airplane, the B-36, can be tucked away in it nicely) is used to apply super-natural pressure on planes . . . to determine how much air pressure a wing can stand before it capsizes.

And constantly, at the Wright Air Development Center, human volunteers are contributing to the daredevil spectacle by bailing out of the center's 150 test planes at extreme speeds and altitudes, testing emergency escape from high-speed aircraft; going through near-starvation nutrition tests; flying abruptly earthward at near-crash intensities in this aerial guinea pig operation.

With all this going on over their very noses, it's no wonder Daytonians claim the airplane as theirs.

He may have visited down south—but this is where he hangs his propeller and is taught to behave.

Chiang Plans Mainland Attack

Says Island Evacuation Paves Way for Assault on China Proper

TAIPEI (AP)—Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek said today the evacuation and redeployment of his Tachen Island troops were "positive preparations for the counterattack (against the Red mainland) and not a negative stand."

Chiang, in a written statement, said evacuation was a "painful decision," but the latest military developments had made the Tachens lose their military value.

"The most important task of the government forces is to counterattack the Communists and recover the mainland," Chiang said. "Under the present military situation our government forces, in order to conserve their counterattack potential, should under no circumstance be allowed to be dissipated at such a time and place as the enemy might choose.

"To insure victory . . . our first duty should be to consolidate Taiwan (Formosa), Penghu (the Pescadores) and the other islands that shield them, such as Kinmen (Quemoy), Matsu, etc."

Chiang's pronouncement was the first he has made on the offshore island crisis since the Reds invaded Yikiangshan Jan. 18.

The generalissimo expressed gratitude for "the broad assistance and protective cover in the execution of our evacuation plan so generously rendered us by the United States government.

Greta Hedlund Becomes Bride of Jerry Swanson

Touring the southern states are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moore Swanson. The bride is the former Greta Jean Hedlund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedlund of Clive street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Swanson of Birchcrest street.

Christ Lutheran Church of Waterford was the setting for the seven-thirty o'clock ceremony Saturday which was performed by the Rev. Arvid Anderson before 300 guests. The altar was decorated with baskets of gladioli, stock and calla lilies.

The bride wore a gown of French Chantilly lace over nylon tulle and satin. The portrait neckline of the bodice was filled with illusion and trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. The long lace sleeves ended in points at her wrists and the bouffant skirt extended into a cathedral length train.

A sweetheart tiara of seed pearls and sequins secured her veil of fingertip length and she carried a heart shaped arrangement of white shattered carnations and white and red roses with ivy and tulle.

Mrs. Harold Wiggins attended the bride as matron of honor and Margaret Ann Smith and Mary Louise Pipe of Detroit were senior bridesmaids. Sandra Swanson, sister of the bridegroom, and Linnea Hedlund, sister of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

They were ballerina length gowns of dusty pink velvet fashioned with cuffed neckline. A stole insert of dusty rose chiffon draped to form "V" shaped neckline in the back.

Leslie Rigg of Clawson was flower girl. She wore a gown identical to the other attendants and carried a parasol filled with sweet peas and pink rose buds.

Harold Wiggins served as best man and seating the guests were J. L. Bigelow, Jim Bugg, Joe Phippe and Dennis Huff. Lee Harmon of Lake Orion, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Hedlund greeted her guests at a reception held in Chieftain Hall wearing a street length gown of rose lace over taffeta. Her accessories were navy and she wore a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Swanson chose a street length gown of candlelight lace over taffeta. She wore bronze accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Pair Leaves for Nassau After Rite

Couple Is Wed in Christ Church on Saturday

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—In Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock, Suzanne Jane Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin John Anderson of Orchard Ridge road, became the bride of Harold John Stenglein, Jr., of Saginaw.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Stenglein of Saginaw.

The sleeves of the gown were short and the bride wore wrist length ivory kid gloves. She wore a strand of pearls which were the gift of the bridegroom.

A tiny cap of shirred ivory illusion held a matching veil which fell to cathedral length beyond the train, and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

Marynell Anderson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a waltz length gown of deep ivory faille moire. It had a deep V neckline, bracelet sleeves and very full skirt. Her hat was a band of deep ivory velvet with matching appliqued petals and an ivory face veil. She carried shell pink carnations.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Stenglein will live in Saginaw.

Hard Earning Means, Good Spending, Said Late Robert Tristram Coffin

Girl Needs New View of Herself

Thinks Her Friends Have Cast Her Out, May Need Change

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Recently all of my friends have treated me as if I were an outcast of society!

"Two of my best girl friends have just 'dropped' me. And last night my steady boy friend told me he thought it would be best if we dissolved our steady dating setup. This I cannot understand!

"I've tried to look at myself from all viewpoints without being prejudiced. I'm quite pretty. I'm talented, popular, and I've received many honors. Please, what do you think is the matter?"

Every now and then the merry-go-round has to stop for a change of passengers. Though it seems to you that everybody's tumbling off your personal go-round all at one and the same time, it may be pure coincidence. It may be that suddenly you've all outgrown each other—and going around together isn't mutual fun any longer.

Your unprejudiced view of yourself reveals a very attractive young person. Pretty, talented, popular, successful. The description of a girl who should be finding everything coming her way.

Yet, could some of these very talents of yours be causing attitudes that put off your friends? Could they be envious of your success, resentful of your superiority, antagonized by your self-confidence? Could it be they think you're too impressed with yourself?

You might try another unprejudiced look at your behavior, attitudes and points of view—and see how you stack up.

But before you ask your ex-boy friend or your ex-best girl friends for any frank and brutal statements, give the merry-go-round theory a whirl. Assemble some new passengers for yourself and make a new start. A little time will give you the perspective to see where, if anywhere, you made a mistake.

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boy I love is in the service and we were planning to be married in the spring. Lately he has been getting letters from a kid telling him that I step out with this certain boy.

"I've proven that it's a lie by having some of my friends write and tell him so, but he still believes this boy. He has quit writing to me—so what should I do?"

He probably doesn't know what to believe at this point and is fairly well confused by all the "she is so," "she is not" letters. If it's not true, you might get the kid who caused all the trouble to write to him admitting his mistake. And you keep writing (but not pleading letters) until he has you really believing that there's no further hope.

McBride Says the World Needs Poets

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

The recent death of Poet Robert P. Tristram Coffin saddens me, partly because I had come to look forward to having Mr. Coffin visit me on the air when a new book was published, partly because that man really knew about islands and island living subjects about which I continually romanticize.

But mostly I grieve because Robert Coffin was a poet and I think the world needs its poets. There are so few of them nowadays. Their poetry doesn't sell too well (Mr. Coffin's was an exception) and since even poets have to eat, they often must give up their versifying for something more substantial. To me, poets are special because they have what Robert Coffin always said island people have, "a special toe-hold on life."

"Island people are very much like mountain people," the poet explained (we were discussing his book, "Yankee Coast," that day), "The sea has washed out all the softness in them—they have come naturally by independence, loneliness, resourcefulness, toughness of body—and sadness.

"Most of these farmer-fishermen can get along months or years by themselves. They can trust themselves to be alone with their thoughts. And they can keep quiet for days. For years. And lifetimes, a gift that, alone, might save this loudspeaker world of ours, this atomic age, even yet."

Mr. Coffin thought it was the water that made islanders feel superior.

"The ocean sets them apart," he said. "It is a soft bronze, blue armor against carelessness, lazy ways, aimless days of running with the herd and running after tinsel goods and gods . . . A stretch of sea is a cooling-off space, for anger and rashness."

His native state, Maine, the poet claimed, has never really put much stock in those "un-American, imported, European, fighting words Capital and Labor."

When I was a boy," he reminisced, "I was a Laborer until I had dug my three bushels of clams on a tide. Then I put on my shoes and was a Capitalist. I was a Capitalists until I got to town where I plunged into Stevens' Bookstore and turned my dollar into books.

I read by the kitchen lamp with the kitchen stove making light-runes on the ceiling, the mince-pie clock ticking hard on the wall, till the deepest, best hours of night. Not really a Laborer, or a Capitalist anymore, but the heir of the ages!

"I believe that was an American pattern. Hard earning means good spending. Owning things is not unrighteous. Money and labor ought to go well together. I believe that old pattern is still possible in the United States. I believe we must stick to it, or we shall have no American democracy left."

And even if that were all you'd ever said, Robert Coffin, it was enough to show the fine "toe-hold" YOU had on life.

Cigarettes Bothersome to Hostess

By EMILY POST

A reader asks: "How can I be courteous about letting visitors in my house know that I do not like cigarette smoke? When I have to spend a day or evening with smokers I am completely seasick."

If people you care very little about are smokers, the solution is simple enough, since you need not continue inviting them to your house.

If, however, all the people you like best smoke, you will, I am afraid, have to accustom yourself to smoke or resign yourself to loneliness. On the other hand, I think it only fair to mention your friends should in their turn show reasonable consideration for you by refraining from smoking at a dining table which has not been furnished with ashtrays and cigarettes.

After the meal, of course, the question of courtesy goes into reverse, and those who dislike smoke are—unhappily for themselves—expected to tolerate it.

One thing that might help you—if you have not already discovered it is to remove the dead ends constantly from the ashtrays, or better still, get special ash receivers with water compartments beneath trap tops which prevent that stale smell.

Dear Mrs. Post: My son has just passed his bar examination is now a lawyer. He has received quite a few cards and telegrams of congratulation. Will you please tell me if it is necessary for him to acknowledge these messages?

As a new lawyer undoubtedly looking for clients, answering the messages would seem advisable, even though not really necessary. In any case he should remember who sent them so that he can thank personally each well wisher when he sees him next.

Dear Mrs. Post: At a dinner party, who directs the guests where to sit—the host or hostess?

The hostess usually, but if there are more than six people, place cards are generally used.

Let's start our Valentine ideas with this one which is different in that it has your picture in it.

Have you thought about making Valentines yet? It is a good idea to start them now so that you have plenty of time. This idea is from Allen Leland of Fremont, Indiana. Cut two red hearts, or any color you like, from construction paper. Make a little door in the top one by cutting along three sides.

Paste your snap-shot under the door, then paste the two hearts together. Letter "Remember Me Always" in white letters. Punch a hole near the top for a ribbon bow and paste two streamers to the door. Your friends will like this Valentine.

Creative Photography Satisfied Her

By ANNE HEYWOOD

There are many motives which drive people to success; love, fondness for money, desire to show people, a true wish to do good. The list could go on forever.

But sometimes the motive behind success is pure and simple frustration, a frustration which may have simmered quietly and bitterly for years in back of the mind. Then, somehow, it became transformed and put to productive use.

That's how it was with Mrs. Ellen J., and here's how she described it to me.

"I always wanted to be an architect," she said. "My father thought it was ridiculous, a terrible field for a girl, and so forth. But I finally convinced him, and got a scholarship to a good school of architecture.

"I loved it and did well in it, even though I had to work my way through and keep my marks up. Father had made a provision that if I wanted it, I would have to do with no family financial help.

"In the middle of senior year, I met Bill and fell in love with him. We planned to marry as soon as I graduated, and I was going to continue on and practice my architecture.

But then Bill's company transferred us to a remote oil field in South America, where there was no school, no opportunity at all for me to continue. I loved Bill, so I married him and set off for South America. But my heart was broken about the architecture.

"That was twenty years ago," Mrs. J. continued, "and we've been very happy. We have three children in their teens, and I've been busy. But in the back of my mind, I was still a frustrated architect.

"Two years ago, when we came back to this country and the children were nicely settled, I had time to do something. But it was too late to go back to architecture school.

"I fished around for something, and settled on photographing houses. It was the second best thing to actually designing them, and I knew I had to do something if I were to keep from falling apart from defeat. I've been very successful. I do photographs for people's Christmas cards, for real estate brokers, and for other architects.

They love the way I handle the shots, and while it's free-lance work it pays well and has made me a happy woman!"

More people in the United States play the piano than all the other musical instruments lumped together.

The most wardrobe for the least sewing! Low-cut dress has your favorite 4-gore skirt. You'll love the smooth-and-flared look of it. And that companion cardigan is the latest fashion. Pop it on over other dresses, too!

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Trusting All Judgment Can Hurt Social Growth

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In a magazine of parent education, I recently read this statement on the pre-adolescent child: "The courage to stick to his pal against you . . . is an important step forward in his social growth."

It was made by Fritz Redl, one of this country's great social workers. I have such personal respect for his work that I wish he had added: "Your courage to stick to your values in opposition to your child's is equally important to his social growth."

For Johnny's inexperience may one day make uncontrolled loyalty to his pal a hazard to his social growth. If the pal happens to be one who finds it satisfying to vandalize his school building, Johnny's loyalty may involve him in a humiliating experience with a juvenile court.

There, because his parents have been unable to control his loyalty, a probation officer will have to try to do it by helping Johnny see that it's been misdirected, though this adult will appreciate our youngster's courage in sticking to his pal, he will not feel compelled to agree that the pal is a wonderful guy.

So while we approve of Johnny's courage in sticking to his destructive friend, we do not have to approve of the friend. Though we grant him his right to his inexperienced values, we claim our right to our own.

It is a very important distinction.

For unless we are certain of our right to disagree with Johnny, we can be very impatient when he disagrees with us.

Unless we can see courage in ourselves when we stand quietly by what we believe in, we cannot see similar valor in Johnny's effort to defend what he believes in. Because we do not appreciate our own courage in defending our values, Johnny's bravery in defending his will appear to us as defiance and stubbornness.

So it's dangerous to be confused on this point. Because we love Johnny, we don't have to love all his judgments. Because we trust him, we don't have to trust all his values.

A child struggling with a disapproved friendship is in the position of a fighter pilot exploring the skies alone. It's brave. It's fine. It's also very, very hard on him. If we know this, we don't relax our point of view.

We know that our young pilot needs certainty of the aircraft carrier waiting beneath him. We know he wants it to maintain its constant position so that he can avail himself of it the moment his navigation gets confused.

Quick Fudge, Made Easily

Mrs. O. C. Mills Uses Box of Pudding in Chocolate Candy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When we called Mrs. Orville Mills of Upper Straits Lake to give her a recipe she had requested, she reciprocated with one for a quick fudge. With Valentine's Day only a week away, this recipe should come in handy.

After she has taught school all day and done the work necessary in a family home, Mrs. Mills has neither time nor energy for any outside activities. The Mills have two sons.

QUICK AND EASY FUDGE
By Mrs. Orville Mills

1 package chocolate pudding (not the instant type)
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon butter

Cook pudding, sugar and milk to the soft ball stage, or 280 degrees. Add the butter. Let cool without stirring. Beat until thick and creamy and pour into a buttered pan. Makes about ¾ pound of fudge.

Ventilation Must Curb Solvent Gas

We would like, at this time of year, to put in a few words of caution about using various types of solvents and finishes indoors in rooms that are tightly sealed to keep out the cold.

Most of the materials used for painting and finishing are perfectly safe for the average person to handle if they are handled outdoors or in a well ventilated room.

The trouble occurs when you start using them in a poorly ventilated room. Many of the solvents give off fumes which can be quite harmful and these can be especially dangerous when you are working close to the floor.

The reason is that the dangerous gases are often heavier than the air and so they sink to the floor. When you get down on your hands and knees you are sticking your head into a heavy concentration of these fumes and this isn't good.

Most of the solvents that can be dangerous to health state so on the container and also state that they should only be used in well ventilated areas. Don't use them where there is no adequate ventilation.

Another item that comes up here is the fact that many of these solvents and finishes are inflammable and if there is a sufficient concentration of the fumes and you strike a match, something is going to blow up and you may be involved in said explosion.

Be sure that there are no open flames in the rooms where they are used, don't smoke and be sure that the room is well ventilated. Remember that the pilot light on a kitchen range or hot water heater is all that's necessary to start trouble.

Many paints today are of the odorless type and this is a fine thing but even if you can't smell the fumes there may be some about that can make you feel a little funny in the stomach or get your eyes to smart.

We suggest that even if you can't smell anything, take the necessary precautions to see that the area in which you are working is well ventilated.

Children are most susceptible to contagious disease at about five years of age.

Note, first of all, the various letters and objects pictured, and the plus and minus signs: C plus OWL plus EYE plus TANK. Add 'em together and we've got COWLEYETANK . . . after which we see minus TOWEL minus CAN . . . which means that from COWLEYETANK we take away the letters TOWELCAN, leaving only the letters YEK.

So we now scan the list of names under the puzzle and sure enough, there we see the last name of Francis Scott KEY, and we note that by rearranging the letters Y E K into K E Y, we have KEY as the correct solution to this puzzle.

Now, see how well you can do by yourself with Puzzle 1, 2 and 3 above . . . and then send in your answers on the coupon that appears below so that we can send you your FREE Volume One of The Standard International Encyclopedia!

See Fluoridation as Vital Factor

Early Attention Held Important to Prevent Serious Trouble Later

By EDWIN DIAMOND

CHICAGO (INS) — The United States, with the highest standard of living the world has ever known, is producing a nation of "dental cripples" — and the experts say there is no excuse for it.

The American Dental Association calls tooth decay the nation's "most widepsread disease" and offers these startling and tragic figures:

Nine out of 10 Americans have tooth decay.

More than half of the nation's children have decayed teeth at the age of three.

At 14 years of age, when children have their permanent teeth, an estimated 40 per cent have had at least one tooth pulled. At age 16, the average boy or girl has seven teeth missing or decaying.

By 41, the average adult has 19 teeth missing, decaying or filled.

The yearly dental bill for all this is a staggering one billion dollars. In addition there is the price paid in pain, worry and possible facial disfigurement.

Although there is a backlog of 300 million dental cavities to be filled, the nation's dentists are not gloating over this "business." They think the toll is tragic—because it is unnecessary.

The dental association says "the nation has the knowledge of what causes decay and the materials on hand to prevent this most common ailment of mankind."

Here is the four-point program the dental profession is promoting in connection with National Children's Dental Health Week (Feb. 7 to 13):

Dental health education for children, an "anti-sweets" campaign, water fluoridation for all communities and better use of the decay-preventing "secret weapon"—the ordinary, old-fashioned toothbrush.

Tooth decay, the association explains, occurs when the mouth's natural bacteria links up with easily fermentable foods — especially sugars—and builds up acids of sufficient strength to attack the tooth enamel.

Since most of this decay occurs in childhood and the early teens, the dental scientists stress early practice of hygenic measures.

The dental association says the importance of early care has been overlooked by some parents who reason: "Those are baby teeth little Johnny has now and he'll soon lose them." The truth of the matter, a spokesman said, is this:

"If a first tooth is lost too soon or has to be removed, serious troubles can result.

"Adjacent teeth may 'drift over' into the opening and cause a severe case of irregular permanent teeth and unsightly appearance.

"And from the standpoint of general health, the youngster cannot chew his food properly."

The anti-sweets part of the attack on decay is being plugged with the slogan "Fewer Sweets Mean Better Teeth." An official put the case bluntly:

"Sugar is the arch enemy of teeth. It has been established beyond doubt that sugar-rich foods and beverages are the greatest enemy of dental health."

The Association cites studies which tend to demonstrate a definite relationship between sugar consumption and tooth decay. It is a controversial subject not unlike the cigaret smoking—lung cancer dispute, but most dental scientists seem agreed that Americans have a sweet tooth too big for their own good.

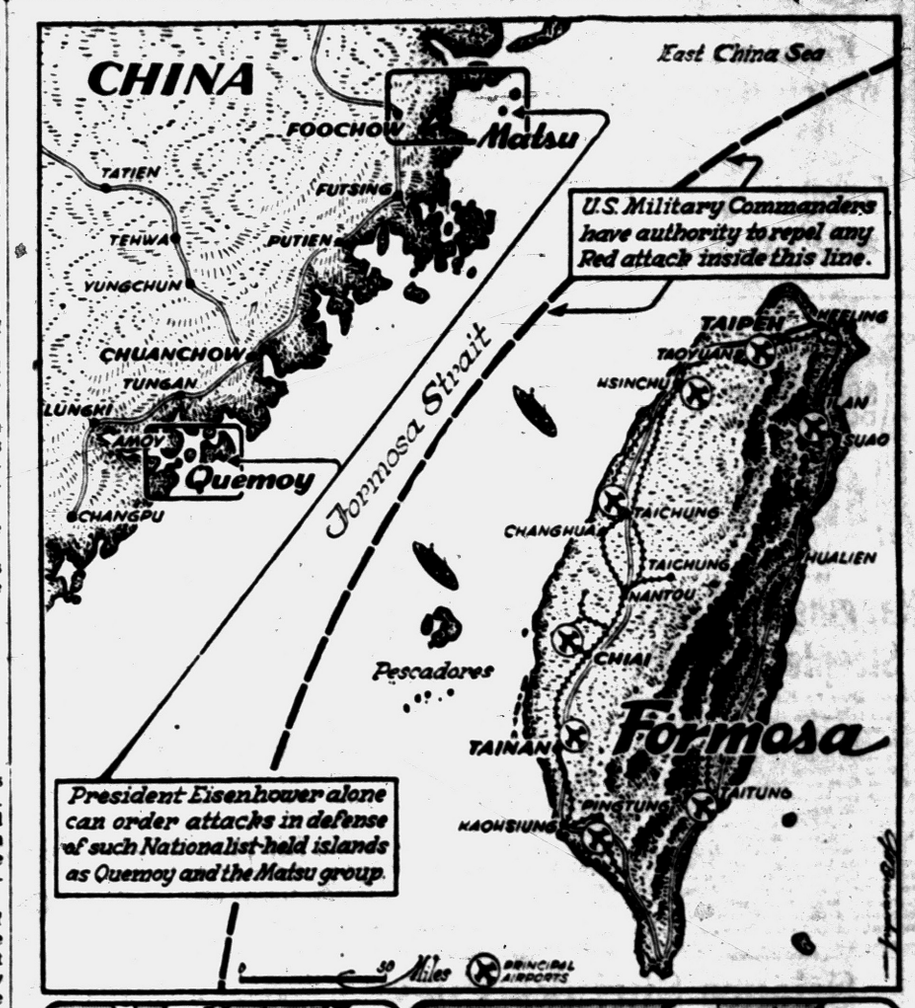
The association also backs fluoridation of public water supplies. Dr. Daniel F. Lynch of Washington, D. C., president, calls fluoridation "another great landmark in man's fight against disease."

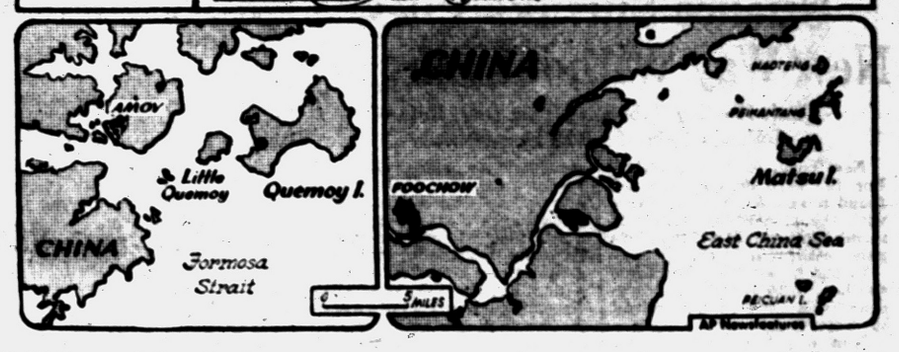
Studies show a reduction of tooth decay up to 65 per cent in some communities throughout the country. While fluorides are not decay cures, they act as a preventive to further decay. The association is meeting objections of fluoridation with this rejoinder:

"There is no question as to whether a city can afford it but whether a city can afford to be without it."

Lastly, children and adults are urged to make timely use of their toothbrushes, preferably immediately after meals. Discarded is the old rule about brushing teeth the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night.

Dental groups are urging after-meals toothbrushing to sweep away the decay-promoting sugar residues.





Wilson-GMC Truck Agency Ready to Open New Building

A completely equipped modern truck agency, boasting such features as a 50-foot lubrication pit that can accommodate three trucks at one time, will be given a public showing in Pontiac Friday by Wilson GMC Company.

Costing approximately $175,000, the 60 by 226-foot building at 675 Oakland Ave., will house the entire sales, service and administrative organization.

A preview, for invited guests, is planned Thursday afternoon, and the agency will open for business at the new location on Monday, Feb. 14. The firm has operated from two offices at 77 E. Huron St. and 869 S. Woodward Ave.

Edward Wilson, president and Charles E. Wilson Jr., vice president, pointed out that the new building will centralize all operations, giving truck owners and buyers prompt service and efficient service.

The agency is the sales outlet for GMC Truck & Coach Division's complete line of light, medium and heavy-duty trucks.

Agency manager Fred Walker said a truck display, highlighted by several of GMC's big highway tractors, is being arranged for the public showing Friday.

Constructed by J. A. Fredman Construction Co., of Pontiac and designed by Harry M. Denyes Jr., Birmingham architect, the structure includes 30 truck service stalls, a mono-rail conveyor for lifting bulky truck parts to a balcony storage area, a modern intercommunication system and a huge parts department.

It is located on approximately 7½ acres of land and fronts on Oakland avenue. Cass avenue bounds it on the south. Two 50-foot-wide cement driveways provide easy access to the building from both Cass and Oakland.

"The location was selected to provide easy accessibility to truckers in this entire general area," said Edward Wilson. "A complete servicing and maintenance 'package' for truckers is one of our chief objectives."

Service and maintenance operations will be handled in a 60x130-foot main service room that has 18 door openings, a built-in safety exhaust outlet system, 54 fluorescent overhead lights, an intercommunication system connecting employes with the service manager's office and the parts departments, four automatic door lifts and a huge lubrication pit.

The pit can accommodate, at one time, one 45-foot tractor-trailer combination, two medium sized trucks or three small trucks," Edward Wilson explained. "It is one of the most modern servicing features in the state."

To carry out the policy of "complete package" servicing, the agency has four pumps for dispensing No. 1 and No. 2 Diesel fuel and regular and premium gasoline. The 13,300-square-foot building, constructed of cinder block, face brick, steel and metal panels, includes a 60x123 parts department area, a large business office, a salesmen's office and two "closing" rooms, and other offices for the agency manager and the service manager.

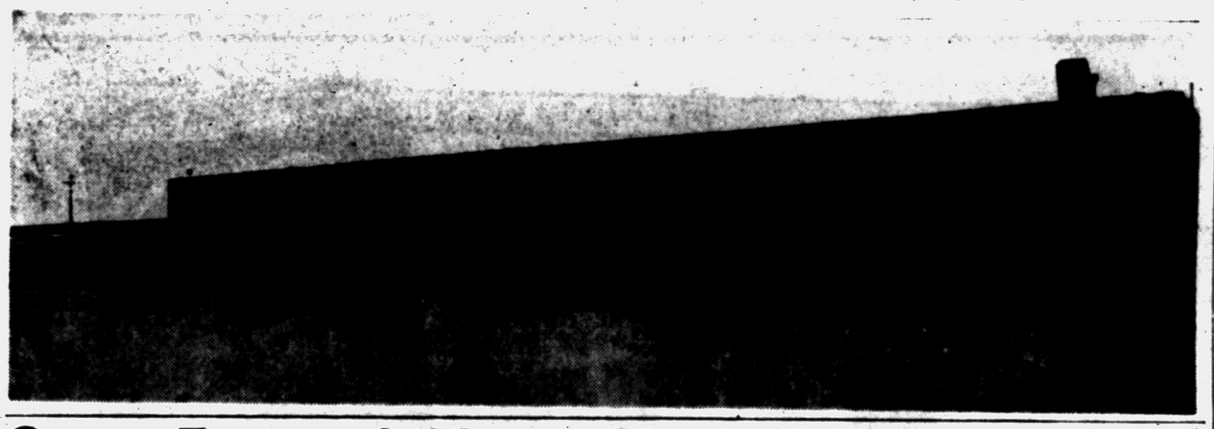
New and used truck lots will be located in the large cindered area in front of the building, which bears a four-foot-high Wilson GMC Company sign.



Orion Episcopal Mission Buys Nina Scripps School

St. Mary's-in-the-Hills, an Episcopal Mission at 2512 Joslyn Rd. in Orion Township has announced the purchase of the property it has been using since June of 1952. The building is known at the former Nina Scripps School which was built 30 years ago, by the late William E. Scripps, publisher of the Detroit News.

Mr. Scripps was interested in the development of the mission and permitted the building's renovation for a church. His death occurred just before the mission opened for services and the altar has been dedicated in his memory.

The subsequent death of Mr. Sidney Smith, the first mission treasurer and superintendent of the Scripps Estate for 35 years was also a loss to the infant church.

The property purchase was made from Village Acres, Inc. of Detroit which now owns the Wildwood Farms and former Scripps Estate of approximately 3,000 acres.

Originally the church was started as a parochial mission of All Saints Episcopal Church of Pontiac under the missionary zeal of Rev. Ivol Curtis, its former rector.

With the rapid growth of the church from 20 families in the beginning to nearly 100 it has been able to become independent of help from All Saints Church and enter into the transaction which culminated in the purchase. Its vicar is the Rev. William C. Hamm who served in Christ Church Cranbrook and St. Joseph's Church, Detroit before assuming the present post. The mission now has 140 communicants.

The Bishop's committee is headed by the warden, George Hodges of Lake Angelus; the secretary is Dr. Daniel McGeen of Lake Angelus and the treasurer is George Titus of Oxford. Other members: Arthur Dodge, Merle Yockey and George King, all of Lake Angelus; Dr. Hayden Palmer and James Elliott from Pontiac; Carroll Crawford of Oxford with H. W. Robinso nand William Downey of Lake Orion. The vicar, the Rev. William C. Hamm and his family live at Lake Angelus. Former All Saints committeemen included: Gerald Guinan, Elmer Quine, Henry Houston, Bryan McKinney, Dr. C. T. Ekelund and the Rev. George Widdifield.

Offshore Islands Pawns in Formosa Crisis

Spotlight Shifting to Quemoy and Matsu

By DAVID L. BOWIE
Associated Press Writer

With the Tachen Islands written off, the spotlight in the Far East is likely to shift soon to the island groups of Quemoy and Matsu.

If the Communist policy actually is represented in the belligerent announcements of Peiping radio that Red China will not rest until Chiang Kai-shek is driven from Formosa, then Quemoy and Matsu are destined for invasion.

On the other hand, if Chou En-lai plans to use the tense situation he generated two weeks ago by the capture of tiny Yikiangshan as a method of forcing his way into the United Nations, then Quemoy and Matsu will figure high in a bitter debate between the United States and its allies.

Yet they are cancelled out as long as Nationalist guns can rain fire upon traffic within them. They must be taken if Chou intends to live up to his brash words.

However, if Chou does not reject the current moves of the United Nations aimed at securing a cease-fire—if he hopes, as some believe, to win a U. N. seat as one reward for halting his offensive—then a terrific three-way argument is likely among Nationalist China, the United States, and the other free world partners on the status of the offshore islands.

Holding the Communists are simple usurpers of China's legal government, the Nationalists maintain their right to islands like Quemoy and Matsu is ironbound—they are parts of China still preserved from Red dictatorship. To turn them over to the Communists without a fight would be a near-fatal blow to Nationalist prestige, a sign Chiang never will make his long advertised return to the mainland.

Among the allies, the sentiment for saving the islands for Chiang is next to zero. In approving the general theme of President Eisenhower's declaration of intent before a questioning Parliament last week, Britain's Anthony Eden specifically excluded apparent American plans for defense of Quemoy and Matsu from his indorsement.

One of the foundations for this argument is that even if the Chou En-lai government is recognized as the choice of the Chinese people, Chou does not have a clear claim on Formosa and the Pescadores. The Japanese took these islands from the Chinese in 1895—as a price of peace in the Sino-Japanese war—and held them until the end of World War II. They were given up to the allies when the Japanese surrendered in 1945. Chiang took control of the island that year, and took refuge on it four years later when he was driven from the mainland, but final settlement of its status was never made.

A legal basis can thus be advanced for American protection of Chiang on Formosa, but this obviousy does not extend to his position on offshore islands—which have always been considered part of the mainland.

In the United States, apostles can be found for both the Nationalist and the British position. Then Senate Republican leader, William Knowland of California, has lost no time branding talk of trading Quemoy and Matsu for a cease-fire as "appeasement."

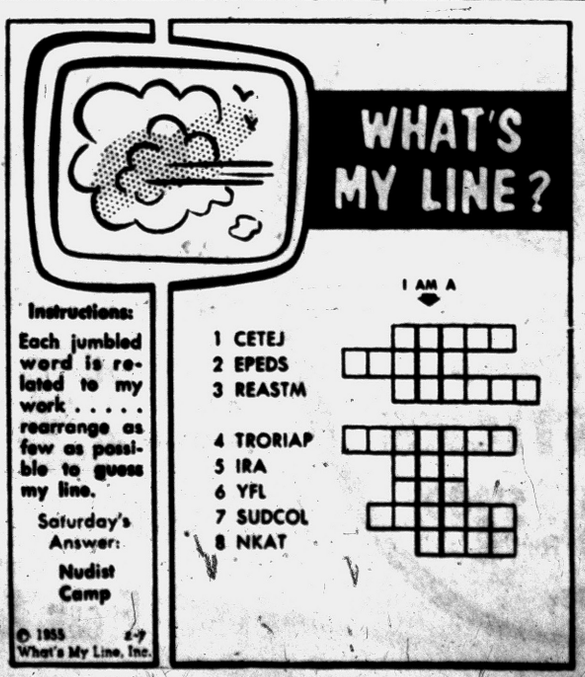
Judging from remarks of Sen. George (D-Ga) regarding Secretary of State Dulles' testimony before closed sessions of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the secretary of state apparently attaches considerable importance to the psychological value of keeping the Communists from gobbling up all the offshore islands.

It was significant, however, that the Senate did not give the President his requested vote of approval until the White House cleared up early confusion about precisely what it was authorizing the 7th Fleet to do.

The authority did not, the White House reassured some questioning senators, put the hands of military commanders the decision of whether to defend the offshore islands. These commanders were receiving orders to automatically repel any direct move on Formosa or the Pescadores, but the President was reserving to himself the responsibility of deciding on defense of offshore islands and had not delegated this responsibility to anyone.

Thus the line the United States was guaranteeing before the world included only Formosa and the Pescadores.

This country might well send the rapidly increasing strength of the 7th Fleet to the defense of Quemoy and Matsu, but that was a decision the President alone could make and one that he was not announcing at this time.



Noble Says Killers Favored in Prison

WASHINGTON (UP)—John Noble of Detroit, who spent 10 years in Russian prisons, said criminals in Soviet labor camps got away with murder.

Noble, who was released recently from the notorious Vorkuta Camp of Siberia, said the criminals demanded and got special food and what they wanted from stock rooms.

The criminals never worked and only rarely were disciplined, even though they committed frequent murders, Noble said in the interview released last night by the U.S. Information Agency.

Killings occurred about once a week when he first went to the Vorkuta Camp, Noble said, but they were down to about one or two a month at the time he left.

Jet Pilot Tells of Eerie Winds That Kept Him Aloft After Bailing Out

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A jet pilot says he hung helpless in his parachute more than half an hour while eerie winds kept him aloft.

"I'm lucky to be alive," said Col. W. O. Beane, of Norfolk, Va., yesterday—his 35th birthday.

Strange air currents kept him aloft 35 minutes Saturday night after he bailed out, he said.

Returning to Randolph Air Force Base from Luke AFB, Ariz., Beane's T33 jet trainer ran low on fuel. He ejected himself into the night at 7,000 feet. The plane crashed some 20 miles north of here.

He said that after his chute popped open unusually strong vertical updrafts either held him in check or forced him upward.

With clouds, sleet, rain, snow and darkness, he said, he couldn't even see the parachute's canopy.

He knew the exact time, he said, because all he could see was the glowing dial of his watch—"I had nothing else to do but look at it."

It was 30 minutes after he jumped before he spotted his first sign of earth—two small lights twinkling below. Five minutes later he plopped into a tree. A rancher gave him coffee. Beane suffered only scratches and bruises.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

Interchurch Fellowship

Story of Elijah Compared With Conditions of Today

Using the 19th Chapter of I Kings as a parallel of conditions today, the Very Rev. John J. Weaver of St. Paul's Cathedral in Detroit, spoke Sunday evening at the worship service of Interchurch Fellowship.

Held in Central Methodist Church, the service was preceded by the lecture on "How to Study the Bible" by the Rev. Herbert C. Wolf of East Lansing.

The last service of the series will take place next Sunday evening, also in Central Church. The Rev. Mr. Wolf will give the closing lecture of his series, and the Interchurch Choral Union will present its annual concert.

In his sermon Dean Wever followed the story of how when Elijah was needed most he went a day's journey into the wilderness and sat down under a juniper tree.

Today, he said, the Christian church has run away from its responsibilities, and few are willing to face the challenge of the church.

He said, "If you work alone for the company who hires you and never give your testimony as to what the Lord has done for you, you are only working for yourself."

With old-fashioned zeal he pleaded for Christians who would not run away from their responsibilities, but who would be willing to witness to the power of God in their vocations. He said, "If you do, you are a Christian. If not, you are like Elijah, just sitting under a broom tree."

Dr. Milton H. Bank and the Rev. John Mulder of the host church made announcements and led in the call to worship, respectively.

The Rev. George Garver of Ascension Lutheran Church read the Scripture lesson and Dr. William H. Marbach of First Presbyterian Church gave the pastoral prayer.

Arrest Dad of 3 in LA Slaying

Suspect Claims Wife's Girl Friend Was Making a Slave Out of Her

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lengthy and intensive investigation in the slaying of a young woman bank employe has ended with the arrest of a father of three children, who claims the victim tried to make a slave out of his wife.

Frank Joseph Meloche, 34, a time-study technician, was arrested Saturday night and booked on suspicion of murder in the death of 24-year-old Alexandra Roos. Her body was found in the Santa Monica Mountains two weeks ago, 16 days after she had disappeared.

Sheriff's detectives said Meloche admitted throttling Miss Roos. Sheriff's Lt. Al W. Etzel and Sgt. Ray T. Hopkinson said Meloche told them:

"She (Miss Roos) didn't like me. She kept pestering my wife to take our children and come and live with her. She was making a slave out of my wife. I decided to tell her to stay away from me." Meloche also admitted that he owed Miss Roos $5,000.

Saturday night Meloche led sheriff's deputies to the spot where the body of Miss Roos had been found by some persons looking over property in the area. The detectives said Meloche told of meeting Miss Roos the night of Jan. 7 as she alighted from a streetcar in Los Angeles. He said there was an argument in his car over her treatment of his wife Anita, 31.

The detectives quoted Meloche as saying that Miss Roos became angry with him and slapped him. "I'm not used to being slapped," the officers quoted him. "My wife has never slapped me.

"When Sandy's (Miss Roos') hand struck my face my hands just went out and found her throat." He said he didn't intend to hurt her.

Ex-Officer Charges U.S. Trying to Hush POW Kin

NEW YORK (INS) — Eugene R. Guild, retired Army captain who is national director of "Fighting Homefolks of Fighting Men" charges in a letter to this desk that the Defense Department is attempting to silence by various means the parents of servicemen being held in Red China.

Referring to the film the Reds made of the imprisoned U. S. Airmen, and gave to Dag Hammerskjold to bring back to America, Guild writes:

"Last Saturday the film was handed to Lt. Col. Donald H. Ross of the Air Force and he was flown to Vista, Calif., where Mrs. H. L. Stiter, mother of one of the airmen, was pointing the finger of scorn so effectively that the White House was a bit red-faced.

"He would take her into the government's confidence, show her the secret film, and tell her how worried about war the Pentagon was. After going into his softening-up routine, he asked Mrs. Stiter if she wouldn't be nice and keep quiet. Didn't she want to be a good soldier like her fine son and play along with the President, Mr. Dulles and Mr. Hammarskjold?

"Mrs. Stiter said, no, she didn't. So Lt. Col. Ross, a nice guy personally and no doubt hating himself for doing it, went into part two of his routine — the war threat. War was what she wanted, wasn't it? How about the 160,000,000 million men, women and children who would suffer?

"The officer's pitch was a trusty one; it had frightened a lot of mothers into silence before this — even after visits by the FBI had failed. But he had underestimated Mrs. Stiter, who is sort of the Molly Pitcher type, and has red hair to boot. She liked none of what the emissary had to say and told him so.

"She told him — and I paraphrase her polite language — that the only way to avert the war we are now inviting is to let the Reds know that if all else fails America does have the courage to fight for its own and avenge them if they are harmed. That would take the profit out of the Reds' blackmail scheme and furnish the Reds with an urgent reason for freeing, not just the 17 boys they are using now, but all of the several hundred they hold, she said."

Capt. Guild, who had a son killed in Korea, concludes that Col. Ross "packed up his movie show and departed."

Closed-circuit television history will be made Wednesday when 18,000 doctors, seated in theaters spread through 31 cities from coast to coast are brought up to date on the latest advances in the management of coronary artery disease. President Eisenhower will open the proceedings with a "live" message from the White House.

Such "video - clinics" — this one will feature 13 of the nation's foremost heart specialists — will make complex clinical findings available to the general practitioner in less favored area.

The day will come, of course, when one panel of the average schoolroom's blackboard will be a TV screen, and the top teachers of the land will appear thereon to instruct through the hinterlands.

Notre Dame's football team wasn't the only winner connected with the South Bend University during 1954. The university received a total of $2,289,113.94 in gifts and grants during the year — a 55 per cent increase over 1953.

The Notre Dame foundation was established in 1947. Since that time the university has received more than $14,700,000 in gifts and grants, seven major buildings have been erected on the campus, and the student body has grown from 4,700 to 5,400.

Santee, Dwyer 'Rassle' Dims Nielsen's Record

The sorrel-topped Copenhagen fireman held the world indoor mile record today, but his fine performance — 4:03.6, which shaved two-tenths of a second off Wes Santee's week-old mark — has been all but lost in the shuffle.

In fact, it is safe to say that not more than a handful of the 14,736 spectators who jammed Madison Square Garden for the Millrose Games Saturday night, saw him break the tape.

There was a better performance going on behind him. Santee and Fred Dwyer, a pint-sized edition of Man Mountain Dean, were engaging in a lively rasslin' match.

Dwyer got the decision, breaking out of Santee's hold to cross the finish line behind Nielsen. But the referee . . . er, judges, blew the whistle on him and he was disqualified. On the reversed decision, Santee was awarded the place.

"I want another crack at him," Dwyer gritted through his teeth in the best manner of the ring. He'll get it this Saturday in the New York A.C. Games.

Santee, who did his training in New York last week, repaired to his native habitat, Kansas, where the air probably is fresher for sparring.

Nielsen, he's not interested.

"I have discovered now the secret of beating Santee," he said. They're now even in four races. "I think I can lower my time even more."

Here is what happened:

Santee appeared to be on the way to breaking his own mark until Nielsen came on from third place to pass him on the turn leading into the home stretch. Wes went wide to fight off the Great Dane and Dwyer tried to sneak in the inside.

Santee moved back into his pole spot when Nielsen shot past and in the process shoved Dwyer right off the track. Freddie hopped back on the track and some more pushing kept their minds occupied. Santee grabbed Dwyer's shoulder, and Fred retaliated with a bear hug.

Then the two danced around and it appeared that Dwyer might toss Santee right into the boxes. But it still was a poor exhibition. Not a good hold by either.

Dwyer broke loose and staggered across the line. Some officials caught him in 4:06 and Santee and Bob McMillen of the Armed Forces, each in 4:06.5.

"I shouldn't have been disqualified," scowled Dwyer. "At least, if they disqualified me, they should have disqualified him, too."

If Fred had a manager, he couldn't have sounded more convincing.

The dozens of officials didn't bother to take Nielsen's quarter clockings, so they'll never be known. Dick Ollen of Northeastern, the mechanical rabbit, did his job well with a 58.6 quarter and 2:00.6 half. Santee's three-quarter time was 3:03.6. That third quarter is where he probably lost the race. It was 63 seconds.

Four Out to Extend Streaks

Rochester, Milford, Berkley and Utica seek to extend winning streaks Tuesday night, and a pair of Class C teams slip into the spotlight on a 20-game mid-week prep cage schedule in the Oakland County area.

Unbeaten Utica (9-0), now enjoying a 2-game bulge on the field in the Bi-County League, entertains Warren (8-2). Barney Swinehart's Uticans won by 3 points in their first meeting and figure to be even tougher on their home floor.

Rochester guns for its 6th straight victory against Davison. Gene Kenley's Falcons played 7 of their 1st eight games on the road and managed a 4-4 split, but since digging in at home have become very tough.

Bill Dean, who meshed 27 points Friday against Lapeer, and Earl Kitchen have done the rebounding and Pat Nunn and Ron LeBarre have made the Falcons' pressing defense effective.

Milford, clipping along at 77.7 points per game, should experience no trouble at Brighton, where the Redskins seek their 8th straight win and their 11th in 12 outings.

Shrine, Birmingham and St. Michael join Milford with 10-1 records for the best in the county. Shrine will be looking for its 11th against Lourdes, while the Maples and Shamrocks don't play until Friday.

Berkley should have a breeze at Clawson as the Bears eye their 8th in a row. That would set up a Friday game with Southfield, winner of its last 6, with the Inter-Lakes title on the line.

In the foremost league game on the Tuesday schedule, Clarkston entertains West Bloomfield. Sam Minard's charges were eliminated from Wayne-Oakland contention by Milford Friday and now can be only a spoiler to Clarkston's hopes.

Dom Mauti's Wolves, beaten only twice in 10 games, are a half-game back of Milford with a game-in-hands. So long as the 'Skins and Wolves keep winning, the championship race will go down to the final game between the two Feb. 25 at Milford.

Class C titans who collide Tuesday are Almont and Imlay City. They tangled in the season opener Nov. 30 with Imlay taking a 73-52 verdict. Since that loss the Raiders have run up a 12-game winning streak, all against Southern Thumb League opposition.

Somewhat stronger competition has dotted the schedule of Imlay, whose losses were to Saginaw St. Peter and Paul and Flint Dye.

Area Prep 5s Beat 'Outsiders'

Romeo, Cranbrook and South Lyon Victors in Saturday Games

Three Oakland County area prep basketball teams entertained out-of-area opposition Saturday and each emerged with a victory.

Cranbrook opened its Inter-State Prep School League schedule by beating Shady Side Academy of Pittsburgh, 57-41. Shaw Emmons tallied 31 points as the Cranes pulled away in the final quarter for their 6th win in 9 games.

Romeo has found winning to its liking. After dropping 10 straight games, Bob Hutton's Bulldogs snapped the string by beating Oxford Friday night, then came back Saturday to down Alpena Catholic Central, 50-45.

Chet Markham had 15 points to lead Romeo. Bill Schmidt and Bill Krohn add 14 and 13. South Lyon had a close call near the finish of the game, but held on to nip University High of Ann Arbor, 50-49.

Wolverines Defeat Kansas Track Team

ANN ARBOR — University of Michigan's track team, paced by Tom Hendricks of Detroit, won nine of 12 events to crush Kansas 80 1-3 to 33 2-3 in a dual meet here Saturday.

Hendricks tied a field house record in winning the 65-yard low hurdles and placed 2nd in both the 60-yard dash and broad jump. His 7.4-second clocking in the low hurdles tied a mark held by three others.

Golf Pro in Pontiac Hospital After Crash

Lakepointe Country Club golf professional Gabe Banick was reported in fair condition this morning, following an automobile-utility pole collision early Saturday morning.

Banick, who suffered a fractured skull and other injuries, was transferred to Pontiac General Hospital from Mt. Clemens St. Joseph Hospital, where he was taken after the crash.

Besox Boss Optimistic

Higgins Thinks Improvement in Mound, Infield Will Make for a Stronger Club

By MIKE HIGGINS
(Besox Manager)

DALLAS (AP) — I am optimistic about our team's chances next season. We have been unable to make a trade that we thought to our advantage but even so I believe we will be stronger than in 1954.

As you know, I am familiar with our team's strength and weakness mostly through statistics. That can be misleading. There's nothing like personal observation.

It seems to me our main weakness last year was in the infield and on the mound. I expect improvement in both places this year, especially on the mound. Pitching, as everyone knows, is the heart of a club. Mel Parnell, our ace, should be back in shape. He was out most of last season with a broken wrist.

Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer, who did so well in their freshman year, should do even better because they have a full year of big league competition under their belts. Dick Brodowski, a promising youngster, is out of the service and it's possible that we can find some help from the four pitchers coming up from Louisville—Ivan Delock, Tom Curtis, Hershell Freeman and George Susce.

I look for Milt Bolling to get back to where he was in 1953 as a shortstop. He was a fine young shortstop for me at Louisville and he was very good here until he broke his ankle late in the '53 season.

We have added Billy Klaus and Owen Friend, two of the best infielders in the American Assn., as well as Norm Zauchin, who drove in 118 runs at Louisville. He could add some righthanded batting power to go along with the lefthanded-hitting Harry Agganis at first base.

"Right now it looks like Billy Goodman will be our regular second baseman but I've got an open mind there when it comes to Billy Consolo and Ted Lepcio. Ted, however, may be better at third base where Grady Hatton played a fine game last year. It could be I may have to do some two-platooning but I'd rather have a set lineup if I can.

"My outfield is set if Ted Williams chooses to return. If he returns, my outfield will be Williams in left, Jimmy Piersall in center and Jackie Jensen in right.

"The catching will be well taken care of by Sammy White.

Guy Sparrow's 23 Points Wasted on Titans' Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Already perilously close to extinction in the Missouri Valley Conference race, University of Detroit Titans found small comfort today in the withering prospect of a basketball game tonight with Valley pacesetter Tulsa.

Titans virtually dropped out as an MVC contender following a 75-69 drubbing by Oklahoma A & M Saturday night. Even Guy Sparrow's 23-point performance —the best of the night—couldn't hold off the Aggies' attack.

It was Detroit's 5th loss of the season against 13 victories and the Titans' 4th defeat in the MVC in six starts.

In the MIAA, Adrian fell into a 1st-place tie with Calvin after Kalamazoo pulled off a 92-70 upset. It was Adrian's 1st conference loss of the season and its 2nd in overall play.

Wayne, in a change of fortune, edged Western Ontario, 75-70, in London, Ont. Saturday.

Gomez, Mays Near Another Pennant

SAN JUAN (AP)—Ruben Gomez and Willie Mays, key figures in the New York Giants' World Series triumph last fall, apparently are headed for another championship — this time with Santurce in the Puerto Rican League.

Gomez turned in his second victory as Santurce defeated Caguas 13-1 for a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series. He allowed three hits, one less than in the opening game last Thursday, and had a no-hitter going until the eighth inning.

Mays, who got only two hits in the first three games, broke out of his slump yesterday. He walloped a homer and two singles, drove in three runs and scored twice.

Junior Hockey Teams Play Two 1-1 Deadlocks

'Y' Co-Leaders Keep Positions With Victories

Central Methodists and First Baptists, co-leaders in the Pontiac YMCA American Division basketball league, remained in a tie for 1st place with weekend victories.

Rex Futrell piled up 20 points as the Baptists dumped Central Christian, 39-21. Methodists beat Swishers, 32-26, as George Berstrom hit for 10 points.

In National League play, Phalanx handed Stone Baptist its 4th straight loss, 37-15, with Ken Wright collecting 16 points. YMCA "A" team upset Eastern Junior Hi-Y, 24-19, and YMCA "B" forfeit to Whittier.

Don Materna Fires 3rd Over-700 Series

Second "over - 700" bowling series of the season has been turned in by a Pontiac Kegler. Don Materna, veteran of the Pontiac lanes, is the second bowler here to hit the magic total. Don rolled a 219-220-267 for 706. It's his third 700 series.

3 Records Set

American Women's Pan-Am Team Named

CHICAGO (AP) — A track and field team of 16 women, headed by three record-setters, has qualified to represent the United States in the Pan-American Games at Mexico City March 12-26.

The team was determined in the National AAU Senior Women's indoor meet at the University of Chicago Saturday night.

Establishing records in their qualifying attempts were two New Yorkers, Marjorie Larney, 18, and Amelia Wershoven, 23, and Mildred Mc'Daniels, 21-year-old Tuskegee Institute junior from Atlanta.

Miss Larney hurled the discus 122 feet, 2 inches and Miss Wershoven tossed the javelin 138 feet, 10 inches. Since each event was held for the first time indoors in championship competition it stands as a record.

Tops Record

Miss McDaniels high-jumped 5 feet, 2 inches, topping the national indoor dirt track mark of 5-1¼ held jointly by Annette Rogers and Ida Meyers since 1936.

The team was chosen on the basis of the first three finishers of six special events.

Flint Five Gets Past Opening Round on Win From Saginaw Club

Third annual Greek Orthodox Youth Association basketball tournament opened yesterday at the Pontiac Boys' Club gymnasium.

Flint Assumption, winner of the last two tournaments, defeated Saginaw St. Demeterius, 66-45. Preketes paced the victory with 19 points, while teammate Tom Yeotis had 16.

Detroit Assumption routed St. Nickolas of Ann Arbor, 87-23, while Annunciation of Detroit downed Detroit St. Constantine and Helene, 56-42. Peterson led Annunciation with 23 points.

Pontiac St. George and Toledo Holy Trinity drew 1st-round byes and will meet next Sunday at 2 p.m. Other games Sunday match Saginaw St. Demetrious and St. Constantine and Helene, Flint Assumption and Detroit Annunciation, Ann Arbor St. Nickolas and the Pontiac-Toledo loser, and Detroit Assumption and the Pontiac-Toledo winner.

Win Puts MSC in Big 10 Race

Spartans Edge Badger Five; Now Up With Top Title Contenders

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michigan State moved into a contending position in the Big Ten basketball race with a 73-70 victory Saturday night over Wisconsin.

Michigan State started a bit slow against the Badgers. But the Spartans moved into a 22-22 tie and lost the lead only once thereafter. That was when Wisconsin grabbed a 30-29 edge four minutes before halftime. Michigan State led at intermission, 41-33.

County's Skiers in State Event

Five From Area Win Places in Michigan Meet at Mesick

Ski jumpers from Oakland County made a strong showing in the 6th annual Lower Michigan Open ski championships at Briar Hill Ski Club at Mesick Sunday.

John Tessmer of Rochester, a three-time winner of the senior class, took 2nd place, while William Hyvonen of Ferndale was 3rd. Tessmer, a veteran of 28 years of skiing, held the state open senior title from 1951 to 53 before being dethroned last year.

Freeman, a native of Iron Mountain, was making his first jumps in two years and had the day's best leap, 143 feet. He fell on landing, however, and the subsequent loss of style points left him behind a pair of jumpers from his home town, Earl Hill and Paul Jacobs, both of whom are living in Detroit.

Freeman was an alternate member of the United States Olympic team in the 1952 winter games.

Three More Lions Sign '55 Contracts

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit Lions don't have to worry about veterans Bob Hoernschemeyer and Sonny Gandee, or rookie Walt Jenkins jumping to Canadian football.

General manager Nick Kerbawy announced Saturday the trio had agreed to terms for the coming season, bringing to 10 the number of Lions under contract for 1955.

Late 'Freak' Goal Enables Bruins to Tie Wings, 2-2

BOSTON (AP) — Rookie Don McKenney bounced in a 75-foot nightmare goal with 64 seconds left to play last night to give the Boston Bruins a 2-2 tie and deprive the Detroit Red Wings of a coveted National Hockey League victory.

It was the 2nd time in three meetings with Detroit that McKenney shattered the Wings hopes. In Thursday's opener at Detroit, he banged in a 3rd-period goal to give Boston a 1-1 tie.

McKenney's fantastic shot — his 12th of the season—came on a harmless-looking, lazy lift from near the center line. The puck dropped in front of Terry Sawchuk and then took a crazy bounce into the net.

Detroit, anxious to atone for an 8-4 trouncing here Saturday night, took the lead at 1:37 of the 2nd period on Marcel Bonin's 45-foot slap shot past Bruin goalie John Henderson.

Capt. Ted Lindsay made it 2-0 for the Wings at 4:44 in a fine display. Lindsay picked up Marcel Pronovost's rebound, feinted Bruin goalie John Henderson out of position and slipped home a short shot.

The Red Wing captain was leaving the ice after the 2nd period when a fan leaned over a barrier and swung at him. Police charged James T. Mulloy, 24, of Brookline, Mass., with the assault.

LSU Hunting for 'Big Name' Football Coach

Names of Red Sanders, Paul Brown Pop Up at Bayou School

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Red Sanders of UCLA and Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns were mentioned today as Louisiana State University began hunting a successor to its ousted football coach, Gaynell Tinsley.

Speculation that LSU may be in the market for a nationally-known coach grew when Chairman Lewis Gottlieb of the Board of Supervisors said the university might combine the jobs of coach and athletic director.

Combining the jobs would put the post in the higher salary bracket and possibly attract big name coaches.

Sports Editor Bill Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune mentioned Brown and Sanders. He also suggested Biff Jones, but the former LSU coach said in Washington he has not been offered the job and would not take it if offered.

Possible candidates for the coaching assignment include Stan Galloway of Southeastern Louisiana College, Don Faurot of Missouri and Ed McKeever, former LSU assistant and one-time head coach at Notre Dame.

In the interim, Basketball Coach Harry Rabenhorst will serve as acting athletic director.

Tinsley, a two-time All-America end at LSU and former pro star with the Chicago Cardinals, was given the gate after seven seasons as head coach. He compiled a 35-34-6 record, plus a Sugar Bowl loss to Oklahoma in 1949.

The board voted unanimously to buy up the remaining two years of his three-year contract, which calls for $12,500 a year.

Grandelius Is Named Back Coach at MSC

'Sonny' Will Replace Devine, Who Takes Job at Tempe

Devine said he expected to make the move to Tempe, Ariz. within a few weeks. He said he would not take any of the present MSC staff with him but was considering some former Spartan players as possible assistants.

Grandelius, from Muskegon Heights, was a star back as Spartan player and was an Associated Press 1st string All-America in 1950. After army service in Korea, he played a year of professional football with the New York Giants and came to the MSC staff last year.

"I want it clerly understood this is in no way a demotion," Daugherty said. "Don is very patient and popular with the young players and we feel he's the best man for a very important job.

Burt Smith, who came from Flint Northern High last year, will be the offensive line coach. Lou Agase, recently hired from the Illinois staff, will coach the defensive line.

Daugherty said that he planned no other staff changes except that some varsity players remaining on the campus will help out as part time assistants.

Speedy Hayburners

Hialeah track records show an average horse in a race travels at a rate of about 53 feet per second.

Win Skating Test

Third racing period began Saturday at the Pontiac Rolladium with races held in three classes. Brian Marchewka was the lone winner in Class A. Diana Rigotti and Charles Parker won in Class B, while Class C victors were Sue Darimont and Doug Stranahan.

Collegiate Quintets Look Ahead to Tournament Play as Season Moves Into Final Four Weeks

The Associated Press

The college basketball powers were beginning to think seriously in terms of the post season tournaments today as the campaign moved into the final four weeks. It is a crucial stage for the big boys because this has been an unusual season. Some of the top-ranked outfits have been beaten by teams that didn't figure at all in the preseason forecasts.

The same holds true in the Northern section of the Pacific Coast Conference, where Oregon State is the undisputed master with a 10-0 record.

At the other end is the Ivy league. Four clubs still are in the running. At the moment, Penn, with a 6-1 record, is at the top. But the Quakers meet Columbia, the No. 2 team with a 5-1 mark, (15-3), LaSalle (16-4) and Holy Cross (12-4).

Big Ten — Iowa and Minnesota tied with 5-2, and Illinois very much in the running with 4-2.

Atlantic Coast — A close battle with Maryland leading at 5-2 and three teams — Duke, North Carolina and North Carolina State — all tied with 7-2.

Long Spoon Shot Nails Win for Littler

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)— "It wasn't tricky, I just had to hit it as hard as I could."

Imperturbable Gene Littler was talking about the shot that won him the $2,400 first prize in the $15,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament yesterday and proved he's more than living up to the reputation gained as an amateur.

Gene came to the final hole knowing he needed a birdie to win and duplicate his victory in the Los Angeles Open last month.

His drive was good and then came the shot he needed—a spoon from 240 yards out. It landed on the green. Gene knew he could birdie with two putts. His first one stopped 18 inches from the hole. His second was in — and so was Littler, who, so far this year, leads the pros in money winnings with $8,709.

Littler was one over the par 34-36—70 of the Arizona Country Club course for his final round, but his 275 total score was good enough.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., the 1951 U.S. Amateur champion, had finished with 67—276. Gene knew it. He also knew that Johnny Palmer was behind him, three over par. A birdie in the final hole would virtually clinch the title, and the calm 24-year-old Californian was up to the task, even though this was his first Phoenix tournament.

Palmer reached the green of the par 5 18th in two shots and tried for an eagle that would tie the lead. But his 75-foot putt was 3 feet awry.

Littler led the tournament at the end of the first round, relinquished it to Palmer, of Charlotte, N.C., at the midway point and pulled even with Johnny and Jay Hebert of Woodmere, N.Y. after 54 holes.

Hebert went five-over-par on the first nine over the 6,684-yard course and was out of contention. Palmer stayed even with Littler through 11 before falling behind to finish with a 72—276 in a second-place tie with Maxwell. Both collected $1,000.

Getting $1,000 for 278's were Cary Middlecoff, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., with a 69 yesterday; Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, 68; and Ted Kroll, Bethesda, Md., 67.

Wolverine Five Faces Illinois

Michigan Team Romps to 92-39 Win Over LA State

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's basketball team today brushed aside Saturday's 92-39 "exhibition" romp over little Los Angeles State and buckled down for tonight's invasion by tough Illinois.

A victory by the in-and-out Wolverines over the Illini would be very much of an upset. Michigan has a 2-3 record in Big Ten play while Illinois is in 3rd with a 4-2 mark.

The Los Angeles State game reached humorous proportions at times. Michigan held a 51-15 lead at one point in the 2nd half. Five green sophomores played the final quarter for the Wolverines.

Michigan coach Bill Perigo and coach Sax Elliott of the West Coast team agreed to drop the bonus foul shot for the 1st half and use the professional 24-second speedup rule in the 2nd.

Elliott, who has had his players trying out six-inch soles on their shoes for added height, had one player wearing a modified two-inch sole.

Youngsters Win 4-Ball Tourney

Ziske, Smith Outlast Top Field Sunday in International Test

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP) —Joyce Ziske and Wiffi Smith are among the leaders of a "younger set" which is forging to the forefront of women's amateur golf.

Although still shy of voting age, Joyce and Wiffi outlasted a field which included many of the nation's top amateurs and yesterday won the Women's International Four-Ball Tournament.

Wiffi, 18, and Joyce, 20, are the youngest girls to win this tournament since the Bauer sisters, Alice and Marlene, turned the trick in 1950.

Ann Arbor Five Tops Elks Women's Opener

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Tice's Tavern team from Ann Arbor jumped off to a three-pin lead over the defending champion, Kalamazoo Yellow Cab, in the opening round of the 5th annual Elks Bowling tournament for women. The tournament runs through the next two weekends.

Tice's put an actual 2113 and a 510 handicap together for a total of 2623. Yellow Cabs had 2248 actual and a handicap of 372 for 2620.

Rocket's Play Spectacular as Montreal Defeats N.Y.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, sensational wingman of the Montreal Canadiens, has come up with another amazing performance to strengthen the claims of his supporters, who say he must be ranked with the "greatest" in the annals of the National Hockey League.

Richard, the most productive goal-getter ever to don skates in the NHL, put on a sensational shooting and stick-handling performance last night as he sparked the high-flying Montreal Canadiens to a 7-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

All the Rocket did was to score four times and contribute an assist. Oddly enough, the goals were his first on New York ice this season and gave him a total of 32 — most in the league. His career output now is .416.

The four-goal barrage was the first such feat this season and marked the third time the veteran winger had collected three goals or more during the current campaign.

Montreal, in winning, boosted its league lead to five points over the runner-up Detroit Red Wings, who tied Boston 2-2 last night. The Toronto Maple Leafs downed the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 in the other game played.

U. S. Golf Writers Honor Eisenhower

CHICAGO (INS)—President Eisenhower holds a citation today from the Golf Writers Association of America as the person who made the most outstanding contribution to golf in 1954.

Results of a national poll showed yesterday that Mr. Eisenhower received a total of 394 points—73 more than the 321 given to Ed Furgol of St. Louis, winner of the U. S. Open Championship, despite the handicap of a withered arm.

The writers cited the President as "a potent stimulus to renewed interest in the game" because of his all-the-year-round play.

Coach Blasts' Officiating in Crusader Loss

Holy Cross Charged With 21 Personals in 74-70 Setback

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Coach Buster Sheary of the Holy Cross basketball squad says his team was the victim of "low caliber" officiating last Saturday night as it dropped a 74-70 verdict to Niagara at Buffalo, N.Y.

"I'm not trying to take anything away from Niagara, a real good basketball team," Sheary said last night.

"Only one foul was called against Niagara in the second half. I would like to know if anything like that has ever happened before in college basketball. No matter how well you teach your boys defense, they are bound to foul more than once in a half."

The exciting contest was enlivened by two fist-swinging scrimmages involving members of both teams in the closing minutes.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

CASE—Varying Stride.

The other day an old favorite, Ed Kawolics of Chicago, soared to a terrific 803 3-game league total to prove that his footwork and style—though not exactly orthodox as form analysts put it—pays off. And it could be what you need.

First of all, Kawolics is a spot bowler. He picks a spot about 10 to 12 feet beyond the foul line over which he delivers the ball.

left of alley center and angles almost to the right-hand corner to release his power hook with a quick wrist turn that imparts a lot of spin to the ball—strike spilling spin.

Actually Kawolics' ball follows the same course as the bowler using the more common starting position, facing the pins directly. He merely approaches the foul line from a wider angle. And Kawolics, I might add, is able to vary his stride to fit the "run" of an alley.

Sonja Henie Wins Praise for All-Out Circus Party

Miss Henie commandeered Ciro's Saturday night for an estimated $15,000. Dressed in a scanty trapeze costume of pink and spangles plus her brilliant diamonds, the skating star treated 200 guests to a filet mignon dinner and all the French champagne they could drink.

The filmsters had the time of their lives. James Mason came as a genteel clown with a nose that flashed a red ligpt. Mrs. Mason was a bearded lady, as were Benay Venuta and Lita Baron (Mrs. Rory Calhoun).

Esther Williams won a magnum of champagne for the best costume; she was a Persian mind reader with a goldfish bowl as a crystal ball. Mrs. Reginald Gardiner arrived as "Marilyn the sexy seal," flippers and all. Zsa Zsa Gabor seemed well cast as Vampira, the TV menace. Peggy Lee was realistic tattooed lady in a skin-tight jersey.

No expense was spared for the circus motif. Miss Henie supplied a live hippo, calliope, cotton candy, side show posters, clowns and acrobats. Said one veteran party goer:

"It's just like the old days."

Bob Crosby Suffers Pneumonia Attack

The television star was stricken Saturday and his temperature soared to 104 degrees, a CBS spokesman said. His temperature was back to about normal yesterday but he will remain in the hospital for another week or 10 days.

Webb Lines Up a 14-Karat Cast for 'Pete Kelly'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Jack Webb is about to get himself a 14 karat cast for "Pete Kelly's Blues." His first move in that direction is Janet Leigh. Janet has just finished "My Sister Eileen" at Columbia — but who can resist Webb? Besides, I think he's going to have a good picture.

I hope he doesnt' say goodbye to Sgt. Friday, however. Too many people throughout the country will be disappointed if anything happens to "Dragnet."

Very hush, hush is the secret trip of David Selznick, Charles Feldman and Eddie Mannix to Florida to confer with Nicholas Schenck.

I have an idea that David will not do "War and Peace," but that he will do something else for MGM.

It would be very silly for a studio headed by Nicholas Schenck to go into competition with Mike Todd's "War and Peace," which has, if not the financial backing, at least the blessing and assistance of Nicholas' brother, Joseph Schenck. At any rate, there's a big pow-wow in Florida.

I'm sure you've read "Gus the Great." It came out a few years ago and is a fascinating book about a showman who is flamboyant, self-centered, and terrifically energetic.

Well, it's about to be filmed and the author, Thomas W. Duncan wants Jackie Gleason for the lead.

"I never heard of Gleason when I wrote 'Gus the Great,'" said Duncan, "But he is certainly the one to do it." I agree with Mr. Duncan.

There's an interesting angle to this book. Duncan sold it to the old Universal Co. almost 10 years ago with the stipulation that if this studio didn't make it within 10 years the rights reverted to him.

"Soldier of Fortune" is finished, and Clark Gable leaves this week for Mexico for some hunting. Susan Hayward is making arrangements to go to New York for two weeks vacation.

I asked Jane Russell when I saw her a few days ago if "Tall Men" would be her next picture with Gable. She said as soon as Howard Hughes makes the final arrangements with 20th she is supposed to check in to play opposite Clark.

"But I can't say yet when I am going to do it," said Jane.

I'd heard that Gable wants to make two pictures as quickly as possible, then go roaming again.

There has been a rumor floating around town that Stewart Granger has asked to step out of "Bhowani Junction," the Ava Gardner picture which will be made in India. This, however, MGM denies.

I was told that Edmund Purdom would be sent to India in place of Stewart. That would be one way of getting him away from the charms of Linda Christian.

But in no uncertain terms, everyone connected with "Bhowani Junction" denies that Granger has bowed out and Purdom has bowed in. That's all today.

Ike Wants Standard Absent Voter Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors of the 48 states have been asked by President Eisenhower to seek passage before next year's elections of uniform state laws regulating absentee voting by service personnel.

In a letter to the governors, made public last night, Eisenhower asked that state legislatures act this year to enact statutes "tested against the experience of World War II voting."

Administration recommendations for such laws are contained in a proposal to codify federal laws on absentee voting.

Is Community Parenthood Answer to Delinquency

By MARGARET LATROBE

Was Grandmother really a better mother than we are today? The figures on juvenile delinquency make it appear that she was. Actually, if she truly was, it was more by accident of time. Certainly modern parents are better informed their households are better equipped, we live on a higher economic level than she did.

Then how can children "from good families" become narcotic addicts, prostitutes, thieves and murderers? If mothers are doing as good a job, if fathers are measuring up to their forebears, how can such a ghastly situation occur?

The emphasis on the problem of delinquency, sharp though it rightly is, creates the panicky impression that most youngsters either have or would like to experiment with narcotics, sex and vice of all kinds. Thousands do, as the statistics sadly prove, but let us not forget the millions of bright, clean, healthy minds and bodies of youngsters who are a credit to themselves and their parents.

I wouldn't presume to know all the causes of delinquency, but I'm willing to guess that when the final investigation is written it will add up to a single idea: That we, as parents, have to begin "caring" for our children in a different way than we have.

Plenty of "smother mothers" and "brother fathers" abound, who say—"But we already care, our kids are all we think about, all we work for." And it's true—their own. But that isn't the kind of caring I mean.

We shall have to make a community caring, which includes not just yours and mine but every single youngster who lives among us. We shall have to work with sociologists, legislators, the police, the schools. And I don't mean taking an hour a week to be a den mother, or dropping the boys at the "Y" on Saturday.

I mean caring enough to know what is going on among the young people, caring enough to put some teeth in protective laws, supporting mental health groups, supporting your church half as well as you do the liquor store.

I mean caring enough to be more interested in correcting an evil created by adult stupidity, than in blaming youngsters who needed wholesome help, old fashioned parental attention not far removed from the woodshed, and adult guidance at a critical time in their lives.

That's what I mean, and just about what the results will mean when the investigators are through. Part-time parenthood won't make it. Full time will help. But it looks like double time is the answer—on a community basis. We just have to care—that's all.

Thrown Out Windshield, Driver Lands on Feet

CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—Elvin Gale Earnest's car skidded and plunged down a 30-foot embankment into a creek. Earnest, 17, was hurled through the windshield.

He landed in an upright position on his feet.

"I've never seen anything like it before," said Deputy Sheriff Lee Stiles. "He didn't have a scratch on him—except a few bruises on the bottom of his feet."

North Viet Nam Ready for 'Normal Relations'

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Peiping radio says Communist North Viet Nam, convinced the solidarity of the Vietnamese people is "indivisible," wants to set up normal relations with the non-Communist South.

The broadcast quoted a weekend statement by Communist Vice Interior Minister Phan Van Bach that the Communists stand ready to "grant all facilities" to Vietnamese on both sides of the border for carrying out business, scientific and sporting activities.

Grains Sinking in Routine Deals

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains headed downward in routine dealings on the Board of Trade today.

News that the evacuation of Chinese Nationalist forces on the Tachen Islands was being carried out so far without any fighting between Chinese Communists and American forces prevented any wild scramble for grains.

With the Formosa situation exerting little or no influence on the market, traders paid more attention to such routine grain items as fairly large receipts of cash grain, reports of a price squeeze on soybean processors, and lack of export business in wheat.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to 1⅛ lower, March $2.28⅝, corn was ⅛ to ⅝ lower, March $1.53, oats were ⅛ to ⅜ lower, March 76⅝, rye was ½ to 1 cent lower, March $1.23¼, soybeans were ⅞ to 2¼ lower, March $2.79¼ and lard was unchanged, May $12.75.

Asks Ban on Imports of Canadian Drinks

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich) today planned to introduce legislation to ban imports of alcoholic beverages from Canada until Canadian restrictions on American exports are relaxed.

Dingell is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee now considering President Eisenhower's program for expanding world trade by lowering tariff duties.

He noted that he has always been "a staunch supporter of lower tariffs" and said he "regretted" having to resort to such "an extreme measure."

But he said he had tried for three years without success to get the State Department to persuade Canada to halt "discrimination" against the American alcoholic beverage industry.

"Not a beaker of American beer has gone into Canada during the past three years," he complained.

Aircrafts Strong in Market Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft were strong today in a higher stock market in early dealings.

Strength in that division and some other shares engaged in defense business ran parallel to the tense situation surrounding evacuation of the Chinese Tachen Islands.

Gains went to around 2 points at the outside. Losses were fractional. Trading was quite brisk with the tape falling behind in reporting floor transactions shortly after the start.

Higher with the aircrafts were the steels, motors, and coppers. Improvement also was shown in distillers, chemicals, oils and motion pictures. The railroads were just about alone in a definitely lower trend. Rubbers were lower.

Ahead were such issues as Boeing, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Schenley Industries, Rado Corp., American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, and Standard Oil. Lower were Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway, Goodrich, and International Paper.

Curtiss-Wright opened on 20,000 shares up ¾ at 22½. A block of 9,000 shares of Fairchild Engine traded up ⅛ at 20⅜. Bell Aircraft had a block of 8,000 shares up ⅜ at 34.

Among other blocks were Graham-Paige 21,000 up ⅛ at 2¾. Bayuk Cigars 10,000 up ⅞ at 16, American Telephone 2,000 up ⅛ at 176¾, and General Motors 2,000 up ½ at 101⅞.

Lost Marks 45th Anniversary

Scouting Began in Pontiac During First World War

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles on scouting, presented in observance of the 45th anniversary of boy scouting in this country.

Scouting, which this week marks the 45th anniversary of its official beginning in the United States, started in Pontiac about 1916 — only a few years after the now-universal program was first conceived.

Although no records remain in existence, R. C. Cummings, president of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., remembers the first boy scout organization here.

World War I was just getting under way when a group of Pontiac men became interested in the rapidly growing scout movement in this country.

Among them were Harry Whitfield, partner in the wholesale grocery firm of Whitfield, Walter & Dawson; Harry Coleman, editor of the old Pontiac Press Gazette; Ed Kaiser, local druggist; Probate Court Judge Ross Stockwell; Joe Sawyer, Pontiac attorney; D. I. Oliver, auto dealer, and Cummings.

The banker recalls that abut 15 or 20 boys belonged to the first troop, which operated more or less independently. They were active for about a year before the first council was organizaed in 1918.

In that year, Pontiac Council published its first annual report. Officers included the late D. I Oliver, father of Robert B. Oliver, local auto dealer, council president, and R. C. Cummings, treasurer, now president of Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Council executive was C. E. Rauhauser.

The newly formed Pontiac council boasted 13 troops, with a total membership of 500 scouts and leaders. It included the city and most of the immediate suburban area.

Expanded in 1929 to take in more territory, the unit's name was changed to Oakland Council. M. W. Peterson, late vice president of Community National Bank, was president. Council executive was Herbert M. Watson, one of Pontiac's most prominent scouters, who held that post from 1924 to 1946.

There were 39 troops in the council by 1929, with a total membership of 859 scouts and 456 adult leaders.

Oakland and Macomb councils were combined in 1938 to form the present Clinton Valley Council. When first organized, records show its strength at 1,677 scouts and adults in 68 troops, cub packs and explorer posts. President of the new unit was Kenneth McVittl.

Today, Clinton Valley Council handles the administration for 166 units, including 94 troops, 60 cub packs and 12 explorer posts. Total membership stood at 5,972 scouts and 1,000 adults at the end of 1954.

Pontiac district, one of four in the council, has 1,159 scouts and 345 adult leaders in 26 troops, packs and explorer posts, including one sea scout ship.

President of Clinton Valley Council is Ralph Bennett, retired Mount Clemens sales executive. Edward Leland of Pontiac is scout executive, having served since 1946. He is assisted by district executives Van Braidwood, Pontiac; Willard H. Wells, Ottawa, and Robert F. Bennett, Macomb.

Since scouting began just after the turn of the century, sparked by the imagination of an English army officer named Robert Baden-Powell, the program has spread to most of the nations of the world.

Today, in 87 countries, boys are learning and living the meaning of the scout oath which promises service to God, country, others and self.

Here, as in nearly every other town and city across the nation, boy scouts this week mark the birthday of a program that every day is making better citizens of tomorrow's leaders.

St. Lawrence Power Project at Standstill

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — Work on the St. Lawrence River power project was close to a standstill today as a result of high water that followed ice jams yesterday.

Construction firms on both sides of the river reported they laid off most of their workers when the water rose 12 feet after last week's sub-zero temperatures.

The mercury rose above freezing over the weekend, but the ice jams remained. The river was expected to remain clogged for several weeks.

The workers have been building cofferdams and excavating on the first phase of the 600 million dollar power plant being built jointly by the New York State and the Province of Ontario.

Engineers said preliminary work on the St. Lawrence Seaway, underway west of here, was not affected by the high water.

Police Better Score Second Time Around

BOSTON (AP)—Police returned to the scene of a gambling raid yesterday and bettered their first score.

In the first raid, in the early morning, they arrested two persons for gaming on Sunday and 10 for being present.

In the second they arrested two for gaming and 14 for being present, including four married women, aged 21 to 35.

Police Unravel Mystery Death

Doctor-General Really Was Fake, Officers Tell Suicide's Wife

BALTIMORE (AP) — The case of Edgar Fassburg, of Brooklyn, N.Y., confidence man, draft dodger and imposter who carried his last pose right through to his own self-inflicted death, has ended here. The file has been sent to New York police.

Yesterday officers spent four hours explaining to Fassburg's wife that he was not Dr. Edward James Phillips — as she and many others apparently had believed for more than two years — but a man who never graduated from high school.

He was not a brigadier general in the Army Medical Corps, but a man known to the FBI as an experienced bunko artist who had at various times passed as a lawyer and Marine officer as well as a physician.

Fassburg died Wednesday of an overdose of a barbiturate, and the death was ruled a suicide. Before he died he:

Telegraphed a friend, Dr. Edna Guttensein, that a testimonial dinner which was supposed to have been given for him in New York had been called off because of his own death — and signed the telegram with the name of a "guest speaker."

Telephoned his wife 17 minutes later that the dinner was called off because the "guest speaker" had died.

Then a few hours later, he killed himself.

Pay Hike Seen for Career GIs

Texas Solon Predicts Congress Will Approve Some Type of Raise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) predicted today Congress will approve some type of pay raise for career military personnel, but perhaps only after considerable debate over the exact amount.

Kilday is chairman of a House Armed Services subcommittee which opens public hearings today on a comprehensive measure to boost the pay of long-term servicemen from 8 to 25 per cent.

The Eisenhower administration, which urged the program, estimates that it will cost nearly 730 million dollars in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The measure also would provide increases up to $245 monthly for hazardous flight and submarine duty and provide other fringe benefits requested by President Eisenhower.

The administration proposal provides no straight pay increases for enlisted men with less than two years' service or officers with under three years.

Administration spokesmen say they want selective rather than general pay increases because the purpose of the bill is to encourage men to make a career of military service.

Another aspect of the administration's military program, that calling for manpower reductions to a "long pull" goal of 2,850,000 by mid-1956, won an influential endorsement over the weekend from Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the full Armed Services Committee.

Singapore Police Hunt Hot Water Baby Killer

SINGAPORE (AP) — Police are hunting a "hot water" killer who has taken the lives of two babies and attempted to kill another by scalding.

The killer, believed possibly to be a deranged woman, entered a maternity hospital yesterday and threw hot water on the face and body of a three-day-old girl. The child was seriously disfigured.

SHAKE - RATTLE AND ROLL

If this describes your old buggy, we invite you to inspect our selection of top quality used cars. Come in and make yourself at home. Look around without some "sharpie" breathing down your neck and telling you some old maid drove the car. We don't need to tell you about our cars, because they speak for themselves. On request we will supply the names of all previous owners. Remember the name of the lot we want you to treat as your own backyard: "OLIVER'S," your friendly Buick dealer.

First Lead Role Sung by Negro

Pleased by Hometown's Interest; Sees Decline of Arts Color Barrier

NEW YORK (AP) — Leontyne Price, who set a precedent and scored an artistic triumph in the recent NBC telecast of the opera Tosca, has another important date coming up.

"It's March 11 when the Junior Chamber of Commerce in my home town of Laurel, Miss., is presenting me in a concert there," says Miss Price, first Negro to sing a lead opera role in TV.

Perhaps even more heart-warming than the laudatory reviews on her performance by critics throughout the country was the response in her home town.

"Practically every television set in Laurel, in both white and Negro homes, was tuned to Tosca and the editor of the newspaper had a wonderful editorial about my perform, ance," she says. "I was so proud."

The attractive singer, a well proportioned 5 feet 5½, says she considers her selection for the title role in Tosca a heartening indication that color barriers in the artistic world are dissolving.

But she also expressed pleasure at an NBC statement that she was chosen for the Tosca role neither because of nor in spite of the fact she was a Negro.

"She was chosen because she was the very best Tosca we could find," a network spokesman said.

Peter Herman Adler, music director of the NBC Opera Theater, selected her more than a year ago for the role of Tosca, one in the network's annual series of opera telecasts.

The precedent set by Miss Price on TV followed by a few days that of Marian Anderson in her debut at the Metropolitan Opera.

It not only was Miss Price's first appearance on TV but also her first operatic performance anywhere. Yet she is by no means an unknown.

She was a hit as Bess in George Gershwin's Porgy and Bess on Broadway and on an extended European tour, playing opposite William Warfield, baritone, to whom she has been married two years. she had appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony, Philadelphia Orchestra and other leading orchestras and drew rave reviews with her Town Hall debut last November.

Safecrackers Go, Leaving Nitro to Worry Police

CHICAGO (INS) — A gang of yeggs gave Chicago police several hours of nerve wracking tension by walking out in the middle of a job—they left a safe loaded with nitroglycerin.

Jack Schleich, a neighborhood janitor, saw two men enter the Best Food, Inc., offices yesterday but thought they were workmen.

He went into the basement where he noticed that a lock on a door was broken. He rushed upstairs, but the men had fled.

On the floor they left behind an electric cord and a crowbar. Schleich called the firm's manager who notified police.

While investigating, Sgt. William Kinsella peered into a half-inch hole drilled into the top of the safe by the would-be burglars. It was filled with the liquid explosive.

Warning everyone "don't even breathe," he called the police bomb squad which removed the nitro after five hours of painstaking work.

Later Brink's Co., was called to cart away the safe, it's $2,000 still intact.

All the cars and trucks exported from New York harbor each year, placed end to end, would stretch from Manhattan to Indianapolis, Ind., says the National Geographic Society.

Shelly Offers New Diet: 'Travel by Air Coach'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"You're thinner," I told Shelley Winters.

"Thinner!" shrieked the siren from St. Louis. "Thank you very much! I found a new way to lose weight—Ride by air coach."

"I started out by luxury flight from Los Angeles," recounted the mad one. "I got in my berth and took a sleeping pill, as it was 1 a.m.

★ ★ ★ ★

"'We're in New York already?' I said. 'That was a fast trip. What was our time?'

"'One hour,' says the stewardess, 'but there's one trouble—we're still in L. A. The plane hasn't left the ground yet. Our flight now departs at noon.'"

Shelley said she tried to shake off the effect of the pill.

"I put my mink on over my pajamas. Joe Iturbi gave me a lift in a taxi. But he was rushing to make another connection—so he said I wouldn't mind getting out at Santa Monica Blvd., would I?

SHELLEY

"So at 3 a.m. I was standing dopily on a corner in my pajamas and mink, trying to get a taxi. And people were saying things about these brazen women walking around in their pajamas.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I finally got home and went to sleep.

"About 8 I heard my baby crying. The airline called. The plane was now leaving at 9.

MISS AWAJI

I was starved—but there was no time to eat. I got a cab and the driver knew a faster way to the airport. The Freeway.

"I missed the plane by 8 minutes."

Miss Winters was due here to exploit her latest movie, "The Night of the Hunter." She decided to take an air coach, which serves no meals, but lets you get them at stops.

"I phoned my mother in St. Louis that I'd stop there. I thought we'd eat something nice at the airport.

"She called up every living relative. When I got off the plane, I was surrounded by 30 of 'mah kinfolk.'

★ ★ ★ ★

"I was so hungry I could've eaten an uncle. I wanted to eat something—but imagine taking 30 to dinner. And I didn't want to be rude to 30 relatives.

"Thirty relatives knocking you could put a girl out of business.

"And so I didn't eat for a day or two. So thank you very much for saying I look thinner today. Thanks a lot!"

Muskegon Man in MIG 15 Clash

Capt. John Kimball Led Sabres Which Downed 2 Red Planes Off Korea

MUSKEGON (AP)—Air Force Capt. John Q. (Jack) Kimball of Muskegon underestimated the brashness of Communist fliers.

The 30-year-old Kimball has been identified as the leader of the Sabrejet squadron that shot down two Russian-built MIG15 jet planes in an aerial clash off North Korea Saturday.

He wrote his parents recently that MIGs never attack U. S. patrol planes "if they know the Sabres are up."

But the Sabres were flying cover for an RB45 jet reconnaissance plane when the MIGs attacked. The two MIGs were downed in the Yellow Sea. All the 12 Sabrejets returned to base.

Jack's father, Merritt Kimball, told of the recent letter quoting his son about the MIGs' shyness to Sabrejets from the end of the Korean War up to last week.

"It didn't happen that way this time," the elder Kimball said.

"My son was trained to do just what he did Saturday," Kimball said, "and we're no more surprised it's him than anyone else."

John Kimball joined the Army in 1943 after a semester at Michigan Tech at Houghton. He won a commission to West Point during World War II and entered the Air Force after graduating from the military academy in 1946.

Since then he has flown fighter planes in Alaska, Korea and Japan.

The clash Saturday was Kimball's first contact with enemy planes.

"I hope it doesn't happen again," Kimball's father said.

John Kimball is married and has two children. His family lives at Yoakum, Tex.

The two-week observance of the start of the "Year of the Ram" was to have cost the Malayan Chinese the equivalent of four million dollars.

Nominations for Television Academy Awards Listed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nominations for TV Academy Awards were announced today, and the favorites shaped up as newcomers George Gobel and Disneyland plus veterans Jackie Gleason and I Love Lucy.

The TV Academy, which is similar to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences but has no connection, listed 21 categories down to and including best singers and best daytime program.

Unlike the Oscar race, the top contention for the Emmies does not center on two or three races. A half-dozen or more of the classifications are coveted highly in the television industry. Here are nominations for some of them:

Best actor starring in a regular series: Richard Boone, Robert Cummings, Jack Gleason, Danny Thomas, Jack Webb.

Best situation comedy series: Burns and Allen, I Love Lucy, Make Room for Daddy, Mister Peepers, Our Miss Brooks, Private Secretary.

Best individual program: Diamond Jubilee of Light; Operation Undersea, Disneyland; White Is the Color; Medic; A Christmas Carol; Shower of Stars; 12 Angry Men; Studio One.

The winners will be announced March 7, when the academy has its seventh annual awards dinner at the Moulin Rouge in Hollywood. For the first time, the affair will be televised nationally, and the New York winners will be cut in from there. Voting is done by the 750 academy members.

Happy He's Back, Says Wife of Pilot Who Netted MIG

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Pretty, honey-blonde Dorothy Williams took the news calmly yesterday when told her husband shot down a Russian-built MIG over the Yellow Sea last week.

"He came back," she said of Capt. George Williams. "That's the main thing."

The Air Force identified Williams, 31, a decorated veteran of World War II, as one of the two U. S. pilots, under orders to fire when fired upon, who knocked down two MIGs.

"I'm awfully proud, and real, real thankful he came back," said Mrs. Williams.

Sentimental Thug Takes $35, Valentine for Mom

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Druggist Basil Clark told police a man looked over valentines in his store for some time, then produced a pistol and said: "Okay Pops. This is a stickup."

Clark said the man beat him with the gun, knocking him to the floor, took $35 from the cash register and fled. He also took a large valentine, with a lavender heart and a verse reading:

"To her, whose love and tenderness ever lingers in my heart; the sweetest valentine of all, my mother."

2 Hurt in Freak Accident

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Mary Esqueda, 69, and her daughter-in-law Mrs. Mary Esqueda, 19, were standing on a corner. A passing car blew a tire and skidded into a mailbox, which flew across the sidewalk and struck the women. Both were hospitalized, not in serious condition.
