School Board Scuttles Plan for Domed Rooms

Too High Costs Cause Shelving of 8 Structures

Architect Is Requested to Design Rectangular Additions Instead

By PETE LOCHBILER

The city Board of Education last night scuttled plans to build circular, domed additions to eight elementary schools.

The novel structures, six months in the planning, cost more than Pontiac can afford to pay, board members reluctantly decided.

Expressing "keen disappointment" over the price, figured as $81,000 too high, president Louis H. Schimmel said, "It's tough for us to turn them down, but we have to draw the line someplace."

He announced after a 25-minute recess during the special meeting that board members had rejected the $781,000 price set by the Detroit architectural firm, following discussion of other pressing financial problems, including demands for higher teacher salaries and plans for other new buildings.

Henry Haberkorn, general manager of H. E. Beyster and Associates who designed the one-story buildings, 96-feet in diameter, which would function as multi-purpose rooms, said board members were "good sports" to go along with the tradition-breaking design as far as they had.

ASK FOR NEW PLANS

He was asked to draw up new plans for multi-purpose rooms, rectangular in shape, which the board said would be built as soon as possible.

Bids for the circular buildings, opened last week, last night were rejected, and the board asked that classroom construction at three schools, included in the original project, be re-opened for bidding.

The decision came after Otto C. Hufziger, coordinator of the building program, had recommended that the board pay no more than $700,000 for the multi-purpose rooms plus the standard classrooms.

HELD CONFERENCES

Haberkorn's final price, he said, was the result of a week-long conference with local contractors to

McKay Resigns; Ike Expresses 'Personal Regret'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Interior Secretary Douglas McKay resigned from President Eisenhower's cabinet today, effective April 15, to run for the Senate in Oregon.

The resignation, announced at the White House in an exchange of letters between McKay and the President, was accepted by Eisenhower with an expression of "profound personal regret."

McKay told the President that he believed "I can best serve the nation and you at the present time by returning to Oregon and carrying to the people of my state certain issues and principles in which we both believe."

A former governor of Oregon, McKay seeks the Republican nomination to oppose Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse, a sharp critic of the administration, in next November's election.

Area Churches Schedule Services for Good Friday

Christians around the world will attend Good Friday services in the churches of their faith commemorating the death of Christ on the cross nearly 2000 years ago.

Many churches will hold Communion Services tonight, Maundy Thursday, in remembrance of the first Lord's Supper instituted by Jesus, the night before His crucifixion. In Roman Catholic, Lutheran and Episcopal churches the cross will be covered with a dark cloth Friday.

Under the auspices of the Pontiac Pastors' Association, the Annual Good Friday Service will be held from noon to 3 p.m. in the Central Methodist Church.

The Rev. Carl W. Nelson, president of the association, will preside during the First Hour.

"The Seven Words from the Cross" will be given by the Reverends Lenworth R. Miner of Macedonia Baptist; Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor of First Presbyterian; Malcolm K. Burton of First Congregational; John W. Mulder, associate pastor of Central Methodist; Dr. H. H. Savage of First Baptist; George L. Garver of Lutheran Church of the Ascension; and Kenneth Hutchinson of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Dr. William H. Marbach will preside during the Second Hour and in charge of the Third Hour will be the pastor of Central Methodist, Dr. Milton H. Bank.

The annual Maundy Thursday Communion Service will be held at 7:30 tonight at the First Presbyterian Church. A class of new members will be received and Dr. William H. Marbach will preach the sermon.

At 7 o'clock this evening, a candlelight Communion Service will be held in Central Methodist Church. Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor, will give the meditation, "The Cup of Christ."

At 3 p.m. Good Friday, the Rev. Dr. B. F. Jarzembowski of St. Joseph Catholic Church will announce the Stations of the Cross and sermon. On Holy Saturday,

Bunnies Face Egg Loss

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—If the Easter bunny runs short on eggs this year, he can blame a Texas traffic mishap. When a truck driven by Virgil German, 19, Bryan, Tex., overturned near here last night, an estimated 23,000 of the 70,000 eggs on it were broken.

Fog Follows Sleet Here, Power Lines Go Down

Plagued by freezing rain yesterday, Pontiac area residents awoke to a new threat this morning as a heavy fog hovered over the area and most of southern Michigan.

Yesterday's sleet and freezing rain caused three breaks in Detroit Edison lines in the White Lake and Waterford Township areas in the early morning hours.

Some 400 homes were affected in White Lake Township at 3 a.m. as a line break knocked out a substation. Power was restored in an hour, a spokesman reported.

Two smaller breaks in Waterford Township around Williams Lake reportedly effected some 35 Detroit Edison customers, who were without service for three hours.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said traces of winter will remain around Pontiac and vicinity with mostly cloudy and colder weather with snow flurries predicted for tonight with a low of 30 degrees.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 33. The thermometer registered 40 at 2 p.m.

The outlook for tomorrow is for a high of 38 with clear and continued cold for the night with a low from 26 to 30.

Freezing Rain Fails to Halt Ceremony

Braving freezing rain yesterday afternoon, some 50 persons including all top city officials, turned out for the brief ground-breaking ceremonies for the $800,000 Public Safety Building.

Using the same red ribbon-wrapped silver spade used in the 1953 ceremony for the City Hall, Mayor William W. Donaldson turned the first shovelful of dirt.

Each commissioner, police and fire chief, and both municipal judges contributed a spadeful of earth which will be saved for a future planting in the building.

Located next to the City Hall, the edifice, the second in the Civic Center project, will house the police department and fire staff offices, and municipal courts.

Rev. George Garver gave the opening prayer before yesterday's ceremony.

Narcotic Group Meets

DETROIT (INS)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo's committee for the rehabilitation of narcotic addicts met today to discuss a request for the construction in Detroit of a 300-bed hospital for drug addicts.

Cite Two Safety Records

Pontiac and Birmingham were cited by the National Safety Council today for having perfect traffic safety records in the first two months of this year.

Flint too went through January and February without any traffic fatalities.

Pontiac's record was marred this month with the death of an Auburn Heights man, but it remained one less than those killed in the city at this time last year.

Hogs Get Farmer's Milk

MILK FED HOGS — Farmer Howard Wilson, above, began dumping yesterday's milk supply to hogs on his farm at 390 W. Gunn Rd. when it was returned by a milk tank driver who refused to cross picket lines at the Borden Company depot in Pontiac.

UNDELIVERED MILK — Some of the three tons of raw milk which one independent milk truck driver yesterday refused to deliver to the picketed Borden Company plant in Pontiac, is returned to an area farm. The driver, above, Donald G. Gresehover, of Pontiac, said that the 18 farmers he services had agreed to withhold milk for the time being.

MMPA Planning Strike Sunday for Price Boost

Creameries in Area Hit by Ring of Dairymen; No Violence Occurs

Picket lines at four Pontiac creameries swelled this morning as members of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn. tightened their demands for an increase in milk prices to suppliers of the Detroit area.

The city's already dwindling supply was threatened further yesterday when the powerful Michigan Milk Producers Assn. said that they will call a strike of 12,600 members Sunday unless similar demands for a boost are met by 62 area creameries.

Picketing, begun yesterday at Pontiac's Borden Co. plant by the Fair Share group, spread to the Shamrock Dairy this morning when pickets formed a line for 45 minutes.

Minor activity on the part of Fair Share members was reported also at the Detroit Creamery and Maple Leaf dairies here where truck drivers were halted and talked into turning back.

The number of insurgents at the Borden plant reached 20 at 1 p.m. today. Although only one truck had been stopped and the driver persuaded to turn back with his load, the pickets indicated that they would maintain a 24-hour watch at both gates to halt other attempts.

No violence was reported at either plant.

Teffance Powe, owner of the Shamrock chain, said that his supply of milk has been affected adversely by the strike action.

A group of about 50 FSBA pickets appeared again this morning in Romeo to press their efforts to persuade truckers not to deliver their milk to the Borden depot.

The hub of FSBA activity centered in Imlay City last night where 18 huge tank trucks carrying 30,000 gallons of milk were halted by "flying squadrons" and steered to a parking lot at the MMPA's processing plant there. Seven others, bound from the north, were stopped at the county line at Almont.

AVERT VIOLENCE

Possible violence will be averted by a force of 24 additional state police officers, according to Capt. Jack Warner, commander of the Second District. According to Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Lapeer County law authorities have reported that they would be unable to cope with the "tense" situation.

Nearly a half-million pounds of milk is reported tied up at Imlay City. MMPA officials say the milk will spoil unless moved by tomorrow.

Leaders of the Fair Share group have called a mass meeting for tonight in Imlay City's American Legion Hall to make further plans for conducting the strike. FSBA spokesman Homer Martin and MMPA President Glenn Lake reportedly met last night in an unsuccessful effort to reach a compromise.

The FSBA action has been termed a "wildcat strike" by MMPA President Glenn Lake, of Imlay City, who said that his organization will start dumping milk

Stories of Easter — Pretonius

He Found Belief at Foot of Cross

(This is the sixth story in an Easter Week series. It concerns a man who believed Christ was the son of God and killed Him.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
(AP Religious Writer)

Pretonius was not amused. "Get a bystander to carry that beam," he barked at a soldier. A startled citizen was conscripted for the task.

Across the teeming city, a wide-eyed, excited throng trailed the execution party. Some women pressed in close to the maimed prisoner, wailing bitterly. The poor wretch said, "Weep not for Me. . ."

* * *

Three of them today. A pathetic lot they were, especially one of them. Officer Pretonius strapped on his buckler and spoke sharply to his four-man detail: "Get them started."

He motioned to the herald, who stepped off bearing the orders of execution ahead of the condemned prisoners. That disabled one—He looked badly hurt—would never make it. Pretonius muttered an oath.

CROWN OF THORNS

The fellow swayed helplessly, shouldering the 150-pound crossbeam. He obviously had been severely flogged—probably cuffed about all night without rest. Some jester had put a derisive "king's crown on Him—of thorns.

Pretonius shook his head, puzzled. The fellow was a peculiar one—submissive, clean-cut, with a wise, friendly face, deeply veined with sorrow. Nothing at all like the two belligerent bandits who walked beside Him.

Someone said He was 33, a kind of sensation-rousing holy man who claimed Godly lineage.

But He resembled no god Pretonius knew. To an alert Roman, it was safest to stay on the good side of all the gods—Jupiter, Venus, Ceres and the rest — all properly worshipped before their temple images.

Certainly not out on the wayside, or just anywhere, as this fellow was said to have taught. Like most Roman soldiers, Pretonius nominally looked to Mithras—the warrior's invincible sun god—as the appropriate god for him.

* * *

A hot sun beat down as the procession moved out the west city gate and up the foul slope of Golgotha — the "Place of the Skull," with its stench of decay, litter of bones and ravens circling overhead.

Pretonius stood grimly, his arms folded, as the soldiers stripped the prisoners, laid them on their backs, their heads on the patibulums (cross beams), and nailed down their outstretched hands.

Their extended arms were bound to the beams to support their weights until hoisted.

Then, one at a time, the three beams, with the bodies affixed, were raised by ropes to stout upright stakes, and the cross-beams lashed to notches. The victims legs were set astride pegs, their feet fastened with long nails, and the arm ropes removed.

The crowd stared. Time dragged. Pretonius sweated. He loathed the assignment, especially this one, even though crucifixion was a common Roman punishment for non-Roman criminals of the worst sort and slaves.

* * *

In Syria, he once watched a mass crucifixion of 2,000 rebels. There wasn't enough room for the crosses, and not enough crosses

Commie Office in Detroit Closed

Michigan Daily Worker Continues to Publish as T-Men Await Orders

From Our Wire Services

DETROIT — A federal padlock yesterday sealed the dingy office of the Communist party of Michigan in Detroit.

The office was closed by Treasury men as part of a nationwide move against the party for alleged income tax invasion.

Two Michigan Red leaders, Saul Wellman and Nat Ganley, violently protested the action.

Meanwhile, tax collection officer John H. Spear has decided to wait for a ruling on a legal question before moving against the adjoining office of the Michigan edition of the Communist Daily Worker.

William "Billy" Allan, Michigan editor of the Daily Worker, told Spear yesterday:

"This action has nothing to do with us. This is the Michigan edition of the Daily Worker, a non-profit organization registered at the county building."

The padlocking of U.S. Communist party offices and those of its paper, the Daily Worker, in New York City and other cities, drew praise today from several members of Congress.

Clever Beaver Outwits Farmer

MACON, Mo. (AP) — Leonard R. Krawl is having beaver trouble.

Krawl tried several times to remove a beaver dam on his farm, but the animals repaired it faster than he could tear it down. Finally he hit on an idea he thought was foolproof — he drove an inch and a half pipe through the dam to drain the water off.

Next day the pool was at normal water level. The beaver, investigation showed, had shoved a corncob into the pipe and cemented it in with sticky clay.

Kefauver Set to Start New Mexico Drive

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS)—It is all or nothing at all for Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn) who leaves for Albuquerque today to carry his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination to New Mexico.

The lanky Tennessean, fresh from a tour of Southern California, declared in Phoenix yesterday that he would not take second place on the Democratic ticket.

He said:

"I am not interested in running for the vice presidency. I made up my mind about that long ago."

Weeping Inkster Teenager Admits Hit-and-Run Fatalities of Two Friends

INKSTER (INS) — A 15-year-old Inkster, Mich., high school sophomore broke into tears today when he learned his "joyride" in an uncle's car resulted in the deaths of two boys he knew.

Theodore R. Lee, Jr. admitted to sheriff's officers that he was the hit-run driver who struck down and killed two Romulus Township boys on foggy Ecorse Road last night.

Killed were Larry D. Traster, 12, and Robert Struberg, 14. They were struck and thrown high into the air as they walked home from an ice cream store.

* * *

Witnesses noted the hit-run auto's license number and notified the sheriff's office. The car was traced to John E. Quinn, 31, brother of Theodore's mother.

Quinn said the car had disappeared from the driveway of the house and detectives confronted the high school student when they learned he had left early from his job last night.

Theodore confessed he had taken Quinn's car and hit the boys while on a "joyride" down Ecorse Road. He said:

"I was passing another car, going maybe 65 miles an hour, when suddenly I saw the two boys ahead of me. I slammed on the brakes and tried to swerve — but it was too late.

BECAME FRIGHTENED

"I stopped the car and started to get out. Then I got scared — real scared. So I threw the car into gear and took off."

* * *

When told the victims' names, Theodore burst into tears and said:

"Sure, I know those boys. They've been over to my house. My 13-year-old brother, Jerry, goes to school with them."

Theodore, who takes drivers' training at Inkster High School said it was the first time he had ever driven an auto alone.

JOHN E. CARRY

J. H. PATRICK GLYNN

2 Experienced Opponents Seeking District Six Post

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in the series of seven articles on the 14 City Commission candidates and their statements submitted to The Press. One candidate from each of the seven districts will be elected next Monday to serve a 1956-57 term on the City Commission.

DISTRICT 6

J. H. Patrick Glynn, a former commissioner and mayor with 15 years experience on the commission, Monday will attempt to win back the District 6 post from incumbent John E. Carry, who captured the seat from him in 1954.

Commissioner Carry, 36, of 576 E. Pike St., unseated 50-year-old Glynn two years ago by 112 votes in the largest turnout in District 6 history.

Glynn, of 228 Chandler Ave., was first elected to the commission in 1938 as a commissioner at large. During his tenure, he served one term as mayor in 1949-51 and two terms as mayor pro-tem.

A resident of Pontiac since 1929, he is a sales representative for the Wilson GMC Co.

Carry has been a lifelong resident of the city and is presently employed in the Traffic Dept. of GM Truck and Coach Division.

He formerly served as a salesman for the Metal Plating Corp. of Oak Park and the Pfeiffer-Oakland Distributors.

Voters of District 6, located in the eastern portion of the city, will select one of the two candidates to serve a two-year term on the commission.

A primary was not necessary in the district as Carry and Glynn were the only candidates to file nominating petitions for the post.

Statements submitted to The Press follow:

JOHN CARRY

"Two years ago I stated that I was for municipal parking, expansion of the city hospital, and the completion of the ten-year development program. My record in behalf of these programs in the past two years cannot be questioned. However, much remains to be accomplished.

"The sewage disposal expansion program is well on the road to reality. In 1955 the city purchased the land for this project. Just three weeks ago an agreement was made between Pontiac and an engineering firm to plan the new plant which is the second step toward completing this program. The urgency of this program with the resultant good to all of Pontiac, cannot be overemphasized.

"Pontiac's water level has been dangerously low for years and something must be done to alleviate this condition.

"I pledge myself, if re-elected, to work not only toward its solution, but also for the things that will be to the betterment of Pontiac."

J. H. P. GLYNN

"I offer the people of District 6, 15 years experience as a city commissioner, and urge the completion of the ten-year program inaugurated during my terms in office.

"I will endeavor to promote a civic improvement program on a pay-as-you-go basis without increased taxes, the completion of the Civic Center, and the betterment of water, sewage, and drainage for the east side.

"I will also work towards adequate sidewalks and roads in District 6 as safety measures for the school children.

"The construction of a downtown comfort station and the completion of Cass avenue to the south of Franklin street with an east and west arterial preventing the east side of town from being 'landlocked', are also two of my goals.

"I firmly believe that the people of the sixth district should be permitted to vote on all major issues and that no commissioner should prevent them from doing so."

New Poll Place for Precinct 30 in City Election

Voters in precinct 30, District 3, will vote Monday in the general election at the Casa Del Rey Apts. at 111 Oneida Rd., City Clerk Ada R. Evans announced.

Voters in this precinct will enter from the Algonquin road entrance to get to the polling place in the recreation room of the apartments.

The change from the regular poling place at the Congregation B'nai Israel was necessitated because of a religious holiday Monday.

Patrolling deputies of the Oakland County Sheriff's department, last night minimized the possibility of a robbery attempt of a White Lake Township gas station.

They said a window was broken at 10501 E. Highland Rd., but apparently nothing taken from soft drink and other vending machines.

Take Speeding to Circuit Court

Flint Father, Son Ask Review of Decision of Springfield Justice

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams yesterday took under advisement the first speeding appeal case to be tried in Circuit Court for several years.

The case was appealed from Springfield Justice Court by a Flint father and son, both ticketed for driving one car at excessive speeds last Sept. 26 on the Dixie Highway.

Willard I. Brancheau, 44, and his son, Ronald, 22, appealed after being fined by Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib last October.

The younger Brancheau was ticketed by State Police who claimed he hit speeds up to 90 while driving through a section of road which was being widened, according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

The father then took over the wheel driving toward Flint and was stopped a few miles farther for traveling 45 in a 35-mile-an-hour zone.

The case was heard Tuesday, but Judge Adams withheld his decision pending submission of briefs by attorneys involved.

Start Condemnation Suit on Land for Parking Lots

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham has started condemnation proceedings in Oakland County Circuit Court aimed at obtaining four lots at the northwest corner of Brownell St. and Forest Ave. for municipal parking.

Yale University owns a portion of the land in question. Individual owners include Mike and George Harabedian, Henry J. Wagnitz, Wah H. Tam, Rose Mooseman, Elliot S. Kinney, Sid Ayles and Doris E. Kay.

The city asks that a jury be assembled to decide whether the land should be condemned and, if so, how much owners should be paid. No hearing date has been set.

A hearing on a similar suit previously filed by Birmingham is set for April 2. It involves land bounded by Ferndale, Park and Hamilton streets.

Fred Elias to Seek State Senate Post

Hazel Park restaurateur Fred Elias has announced his candidacy to run again for state senator on the Democratic ticket in the Nov. 6 election.

Elias, 42, part-owner of six drive-in restaurants in the suburban Detroit area, was the Democratic nominee for the post in 1954.

A member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Elias is on the Board of Directors of the Michigan Restaurant and Caterers Assn. He is a past president of the Hazel Park Businessmen's Assn. and the Michigan Drive-In Assn.

A county resident for 15 years, he lives at 1561 E. Muir St., with his wife and three school-age children. If elected, Elias says he will work for an expanded mental health program, highway safety, a better school-aid plan, increased old-age benefits, a strengthening of FEPC and for an adequate long-range water supply.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. George W. Kemper

Mrs. George W. (Alice M.)) Kemper, 78, died yesterday morning at her home, 9 Elizabeth Lake Rd. She had been in ill health 10 weeks.

Born in Illinois March 17, 1878, she was the daughter of John and Mary Collins Roach. On Feb. 22, 1909 she was married in Muskegon.

Mrs. Kemper had lived 41 years in the Pontiac area and 16 years in Pontiac. She came here from Terre Haute, Ind.

A member of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Mrs. Kemper also belonged to the VFW Ladies' Auxiliary No. 1008, Past President's Club of Blue Star Mothers and Navy Mothers Blue Star Chapter No. 4.

Besides her husband, she leaves five children, Mrs. Mary E. Kingswell of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Lee Klimek of Clarkston, Sgt. C. R. Kemper of the U. S. Marine Corps, stationed at Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. Georgia Thornberry, and Mrs. Frances Borst, both of Pontiac, and nine grandchildren.

Other survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Amna Ball of Austin, Minn., Mrs. Claire Jozek of Sioux City, Iowa, Mrs. Marcella Neil and Mrs. Marie Relman both of Chicago, four brothers, Edward of Apple River, Ill., Andrew and Francis, both of Freeport, Ill. and John of Long Beach, Calif.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Iceland Calls on U.S. to Move Forces Out

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) —Iceland's Parliament has called on U.S. forces to quit this North Atlantic defense post. The move would leave the strategic island—an NATO member almost midway between Moscow and New York—with no military force.

* * *

The Communist - supported resolution was adopted 31-18 last night over Conservative opposition. It asked that all NATO forces be pulled out "in view of the altered situation" since 1951. At that time the United States and Iceland agreed on the stationing of U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force units here under NATO command.

* * *

The Defense Department in Washington said the United States has on the island a "small Army force of battalion size," an Air Force fighter interceptor squadron several "supporting units" and the joint Iceland defense force. It refused on security grounds to specify the number of men involved.

* * *

The resolution said the defense treaty should be revised so that Icelanders—who have no army or navy at present—would take over their own defenses.

Indict Comic's Son

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Federal grand jury has indicted the son of comedian Eddie (Rochester) Anderson on a charge of possession and sale of marijuana. Billy Anderson, 28, was among 200 suspects rounded up last weekend by federal, state, county and city officers. The actor's son was a star track and football athlete at Compton College and was the first draft choice in 1953 of the Chicago Bears, professional football team.

Bids Accepted on Bond Issue

Board of Education OKs Detroit Corporation's Handling Sale

At a special meeting last night the city Board of Education approved a bid submitted by the First of Michigan Corporation, Detroit, to finance a $3 million bond issue, to obtain funds for this year's building program.

The Detroit company's bid was the only one received.

The board also approved signing contracts to share with builders the cost of water and sanitary sewers in Pontiac Knolls Subdivision, where the new Linda Vista Elementary School is under construction.

The cost to the board of $16,379.53 was figured as the school's part in the utilities, according to Otto C. Hufziger, coordinator of the building program, who recommended the expenditures.

President Louis H. Schimmel was authorized to sign contracts to pay the school's share of paving costs in the area, and also to finance sewer and water tie-ins leading to the school. Total cost was estimated at about $11,000, according to Hufziger.

Domed Rooms Out, School Board Says

bring original bids down to within the board's financial range.

Low bidders originally set the total cost at about $2 million, or about $700,000 more than the board had planned to pay.

Haberkorn explained that about $200,000 had been sheared from the total bill by examining sub-contractors' mistakes in dealing with unusual aspects of the construction. The bill was further reduced by cutting out non-essential items, he said.

Schimmel commented that "to reduce the buildings any more would be to spoil them." He added: "I think all of us were carried away with the idea that the buildings were something the community really wanted which we could afford.

"They provided the ultimate in multi-purpose rooms. But they aren't for Pontiac—we just can't afford them."

According to Hufziger, the buildings were "beautifully conceived and wonderfully executed. But we will provide adequate, good multi - purpose rooms just the same," he added.

Three Hospitalized in Two-Auto Crash

Three persons were reported hospitalized this morning for injuries suffered in a two-car accident six miles east of Romeo, according to State Police at the Romeo post.

In St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mt. Clemens are Dan Deedon, 71, of Crosswell, and Albert Ulrich, age unknown, and his wife, Alma, 55, both of Armada. The extent of their injuries has not been determined, troopers said.

Deedon's car, according to troopers, ran a stop light at the corner of 32 Mile road and North avenue. He was ticketed, they said.

Oldsmobile Lays Off 750

LANSING (AP) — The Oldsmobile Division of General Motors at Lansing today announced it was laying off 750 workers effective at once.

J. F. Wolfram, general manager, said that even with the layoff the Oldsmobile payroll will top the 13,000 mark. There was no indication, however, when the workers might be returned to their jobs.

A cut in production was blamed for the work force reduction.

Milk Strike Threatens for Additional Area

Monday unless Detroit area dairies meet MMPA demands for a price increase to $5 a hundred pounds.

HITS HIGH PRICE

An MMPA spokesman termed the Fair Share group's demand for $6.50 a hundred-weight merely a "bargaining price." The present rate is $4.41.

According to the MMPA, which supplies 85 per cent of the Detroit area, the price of milk to the householder would jump about a cent a quart if its demands are met.

A Pontiac creamery spokesman said this morning that the MMPA group's threatened action could "seriously curtail" local milk supplies. The organization's members supply 68 milk sheds in Detroit, Pontiac, Port Huron, Ann Arbor and other southeastern Michigan communities.

SURROUND PLANTS

The Fair Share group is represented by more than 2,000 picketing farmers, according to Arnold E. Weiss of Capac, who states that cordons have been placed around dairies in Owosso, Imlay City and Richmond in addition to Romeo, Pontiac and Detroit.

Four farmer members of the MMPA, two of them district delegates, reportedly turned back with their loads when confronted by picket lines in Romeo this morning. According to an FSBA leader, one MMPA member is quoted as saying, "I'll honor your line today if you'll do the same for ours Sunday."

Leaders of the insurgents report that farmers are being contacted before they transport their milk in efforts to persuade them not to supply picketed creameries.

WON'T SUPPLY PLANT

One independent trucker, Donald G. Gresehover of 392 Walton Blvd., said yesterday that the 18 farmers he serves have agreed not to send milk to Pontiac's Borden Co. today. Gresehover returned three tons of raw milk yesterday after refusing to cross a line composed of some four pickets.

Several farmers, including Howard Wilson of 390 W. Gunn Rd., have offered milk free to the public rather than cross the local picket line. Wilson yesterday fed milk from 45 cows to his hogs.

A bucketful of nails was scattered today near the Imlay City Plant, but pickets picked them up before there was any damage. Police Chief Howard Winslow said he did not know who spread the nails.

A Borden hauler reported yesterday that a farmer attempted to force his truck from the road several times with a car near the Romeo plant. Sheriff's deputies later were called upon to escort at least one halted truck and its driver through the picket line.

The first picket line incident at Imlay City occurred yesterday. Police said one picket, Frank Engel of Avoca, fell down and skinned his knees after being bumped by a car driven by Francis E. Johnson, manager of the milk plant. The chief denied a report that Engel had been dragged under the car.

A charge that the picket was knocked down came from Rolland Brengle, president of the Fair Share group. Brengle declared his group "has a peaceful attitude and is holding its temper."

Robert Mantell Jr., Son of Actor, Dies

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Robert Mantell Jr., Bloomfield Hills resident for 30 years and sales manager of the Magee Carpet Company of Detroit, for 40 years, died yesterday at Beaumont Hospital. He had been ill a short time.

Mantell, whose father was the famed Shakespearean actor, came to this country from Scotland when his father transferred his acting career from Britain to the United States. He attended public schools and Columbia University during the time his father was touring the U.S. After graduation from Columbia, he came to Detroit.

He lived on Lone Pine road, Bloomfield Hills, and had been an active member of the Detroit Athletic Club, and belonged to Christ Church Cranbrook.

His only survivor is his wife, Margaret Crossen Mantell.

Service will be at Christ Church Cranbrook at 11 a.m. Saturday and burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit. The body lies at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Company.

Labor Market Remains Stable

Unemployment Steady at 4,800 in City Area, Report Indicates

Little change was noted in the Pontiac area labor market at mid-March, as unemployment remained at 4,800 as it was in February.

This constituted 1,300 more laborers out of work than at the same period last year.

This unemployment caused a rash of 9,053 unemployment insurance checks worth $303,543 to be issued by the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

This compares to 7,141 checks for $233,057 issued in February and 4,490 totaling $141,677 the previous month.

During the thirty day period from mid-February, total non-farm employment picked up 100 workers for a total of 78,200.

Manufacturing employment held at the 41,600 level for the same period while the transportation, communication, and utility fields showed an increase of 100.

The area's largest industry, motor vehicles, after a series of reductions from December to February, maintained a stable employment at the 31,700 level during the period.

James H. Dudley, branch manager of the commission, expects seasonal developments to add 1,000 workers to the construction, retail trade, service and governmental work in the next two months.

Such a reaction to seasonal changes was noted at the City Hall Monday and last Friday as 400 sought out city jobs for future construction work.

This was no record according to Personnel Director William L. Collins who said in previous years at this time close to 700 have applied for city work.

Education Proposal Killed by House Vote

LANSING (AP)—A proposal which sponsors claimed would take the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction out of politics has been killed by the House.

The measure, a proposed constitutional amdnement, mustered 52 supporting votes, 22 short of the needed number.

It provided for doubling the membership of the State Board of Education from four to eight members. This enlarged board would appoint the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The measure was sponsored by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-tipton). A similar proposal introduced last year was defeated.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is now elected every two years at the spring election. The office is presently held by Dr. Clair L. Taylor, a Republican.

Council Reports Traffic Deaths Climbing Higher

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths are going up and up.

The National Safety Council has focused attention on the long upward climb with this statement:

"February was the 12th month in a row to show more deaths than the same month of the preceding year.

Deaths are now going up faster than the increase in travel, so the only conclusion is that people are driving more carelessly."

The council said motor vehicle fatalities in February equalled the all-time high for a February. It reported 2,630 Americans were killed, the same number as in February in 1941 and 1952.

The toll in February of this year was 16 per cent higher than in February 1955. Some of the increase was attributed to the extra day in this leap year February.

But, the council said, it was the largest monthly percentage increase since June 1951.

Increase of Women Entering Bank Field

EAST LANSING (AP)—The hand that rocks the cradle also rules the pocketbook, the second annual Michigan bank women's conference was told yesterday at Michigan State University.

* * *

"It is logical that women take an increasingly important role in our banks, when you consider that they spend 80 per cent of the consumer dollar," Russell B. McAfee of Adrian, president of the Michigan Bankers Assn., told the conference.

* * *

An increasing number of women are entering the field and there now are 300,000 in American banking, McAfee said.

* * *

"This is an increase of 50 per cent in the last 10 years," he said. "There are great opportunities for women in this field and Michigan has been a leader in encouraging women to go into banking."

Gold was discovered for the first time in Idaho in 1860.

Defense Expenses Cut by Hoover Suggestions

Correspondence between President Eisenhower and Secretary Wilson reveals that the Defense Department is making extensive and profitable use of Hoover Commission recommendations.

According to Secretary Wilson's report, 332 of the 426 recommendations are applicable to the Defense Department. Regarding the 332, the Secretary indicated either full or substantial agreement with 85 per cent. He added that in not all of the instances is the Defense Department primarily responsible for initiating the recommendations.

The results of these changes have been important savings in the fields of Budget and Accounting, Depot Utilization, Food and Clothing, Research and Development and Surplus Property.

In analyzing the savings the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report emphasized the importance of the immediate or short range economies. These it places at as much as $450,000,000 per year. Once this reorganization is completed, the committee believes savings will total more than a billion a year.

★ ★ ★

Such savings in the vast Defense Department are important to every citizen. In truth there is room for general satisfaction over the fact that Secretary Wilson and his aides have moved so vigorously to effect these economies.

Church Building Booms

It would be difficult to find a more appropriate Holy Week item than the news that the church building boom in the United States will continue for at least another 10 years.

This expansion already has resulted in construction of new churches at a rate 10 times greater than a decade ago, says the American Iron and Steel Institute. It is estimated that within the next 10 years 70,000 new churches will be built at a cost of $7 billion.

Last year a total of $760,000,000 was spent on new church construction. That was 25 per cent more than was devoted to the same purpose during 1954. Present estimates are that in 1956 a total of $900,000,000 will go into new religious edifices.

Among the causes for this remarkable development are the rapid growth of suburban communities, general rise in population and a national resurgence of interest in religion. In 1954 alone these factors helped create 5,000 new congregations.

Clearly, there isn't much wrong with a country that expects to need 70,000 new churches in the next 10 years and is willing to raise the money to pay for them.

Inviting Retaliation

For a perfect example of why there is considerable Canadian irritation with Americans, it is necessary to go no further than the sovereign State of Maryland.

The legislature of that east coast commonwealth has enacted what strikes us as an extremely ill advised statute. It bars from the state any brewing company whose stock is not 51 per cent American owned. Special target of the bill is the Carling Brewing Co., a subsidiary of Canadian Brewers, Ltd., which was planning a $12,000,000 plant in Maryland.

★ ★ ★

The petty spirit of this legislation is a reminder that we Americans on previous occasions needlessly have rubbed Canadian fur the wrong way. One example is the seemingly endless delay by Congress in voting to participate in the St. Lawrence waterway project. Another is the friction resulting from U. S. competition with Canada for waterpower for aluminum plants on the Columbia and Yukon rivers.

★ ★ ★

Obviously the lawmakers at Annapolis had forgotten that Americans have investments totaling more than $9 billion in Canada. Forgotten, too, was the fact that these investors would suffer if the government at Ottawa or of any Canadian province chose to retaliate against Maryland.

This unwise discriminatory law never should be allowed to become operative.

Hasn't She Ever Read the Story?

David Lawrence Says:

New Supreme Court Edict Tightens Noose Around Commie Conspiracies

WASHINGTON — The noose is gradually tightening around the traitors in our midst.

The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the law that Congress passed which makes it easier for persons who have knowledge of the Communist conspiracy to tell what they know without fear of prosecution themselves.

The way now is opened also to compel those persons to give testimony who have played a part in the Communist conspiracy but have refused to aid their own government in running down any other persons involved in the conspiracy. The loyal citizen, formerly a Communist, now has nothing to fear by telling all.

WOULD INVOLVE FRIENDS

Some witnesses have invoked the Fifth Amendment as a means of avoiding doing their duty to their government because they were afraid to involve their friends. But Justice Frankfurter, speaking for the Supreme Court, says in the opinion handed down this week: ". . . It is every man's duty to give testimony before a duly constituted tribunal unless he invokes some valid legal exemption in withholding it."

Up to 1954, a witness could invoke the Fifth Amendment, and there was no way to determine whether he was seeking merely to protect himself or to shield others. Then Congress passed in 1954 a so-called "immunity law." It made possible an explicit guarantee by the federal government to the witness that he or she would not be prosecuted for any crime involving the national security, to which they might confess.

The present law gives to federal judges the right to grant immunity upon consideration of an application filed by the Department of Justice. It is broad enough to cover immunity also to witnesses before congressional committees, but the Supreme Court, for the time being, merely passed on the validity of a particular section of the law requiring a witness to give testimony before a grand jury.

This opens up quite an opportunity for the Congress and the executive branch of the government and the courts to get valuable information about espionage and acts that threaten the national security.

It doesn't mean that those who invoke the Fifth Amendment and are granted immunity will not find some other technical means of evading full disclosure of what they know, but a long step now has been taken in the direction of detecting acts of treason.

For several years now many of the so-called "liberals" have issued pronouncements tending to argue that the Fifth Amendment has not been abused. The mere pleading of the Fifth Amendment is, of course, no proof of anything—either the guilt or innocence of the witness.

But there has grown up a movement sponsoring the concept that the Fifth Amendment is all-inclusive and that persons who invoke it may do so even though they are not themselves guilty of any crime. It has been argued that a man has a constitutional right to refuse to testify if the testimony could injure his friends.

TWO JUSTICES DISSENT

Dissenting from the seven justices who upheld the immunity law are two justices—Douglas and Black—who feel it should have been declared invalid. They argue that the immunity from prosecution will not mean immunity from "infamy," which they say would pursue a witness even if he isn't tried in a court. The contention is made that a man who is a confessed Communist incurs a risk that he will not be eligible for employment in the federal government or in defense facilities or that he might be disqualified for a passport.

The answer to this is a question of fact. And the fact is that persons who have shown loyalty to their own government by getting out of the Communist party and telling all they know have been and still are in the government's employ, have been given passports and do not suffer any punishment if they tell the truth and cooperate with the authorities.

If mere publicity of an unfavorable nature is a "stigma," then the whole court system of America is at fault. For every year thousands of persons are indicted, with their cases given wide publicity, and then acquitted. Public opinion can be relied upon to distinguish between those who deserve "infamy" and those who have courageously manifested their patriotism as well as their loyalty.

Wet Dressings Practical for Annoying Paronychia

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

A run-around is annoying. It may even make you say oww! It is a suppurating (matterating) infection of the skin at the edge of the nail. Good treatment: Paint the entire end of the finger or thumb with mild tincture of iodine and then soak the finger or thumb for ten or fifteen minutes in water as hot as bearable, tablespoon of table salt in a half-pint of water, and then apply a poultice—gauze wet with the same hot salt solution—and keep the wet dressing hot or at least as warm as possible for several hours or perhaps overnight.

Only occasionally is it necessary to open or incise run-around, when pus formation is evident and does not drain under wet dressing.

Medical term for run-around is paronychia.

A felon or whitlow is a painful, throbbing inflammation of the covering of the bone of the thumb or finger (periosteum). It suppurates (matterates) if not promptly incised, and because of the toughness of the periosteum, the infection may quickly spread to the palm and thence up the arm.

There is only one safe treatment for felon—sterile steel to the bone. Of course, under anesthesia. To temporize with any kind of pain-killer, poultice, or other palliative or even an antibiotic or other miracle medicine is dangerous—until free drainage is established, there's always the possibility of septicemia (general blood poisoning).

First aid or home treatment for run-around (paronychia), whitlow, felon, boil, or any such localized acute inflammation (calor, dolor, rubor, tumor—heat, pain, redness, swelling) or suppuration (throbbing pain, increased when the part is dependent) calls for—hang onto your hats, folks, we're going to go away back to the gay nineties—a Poultice.

That's what I said, a poultice.

But not a genuine flaxseed meal poultice. Perhaps I am prejudiced. I can't help thinking that flaxseed meal might be a good culture medium and so encourage growth and multiplication of pus-producing germs. So, if you don't mind, I'd prefer a poultice that supplies soothing heat and moisture which aid the natural localization and healing processes, and the best "drawing" or drainage, without promoting the growth of germs.

In other words, the first aid treatment I'd want for any such surgical infection would be large wet dressings, yards and yards of gauze (washed cheesecloth) kept constantly wet with salt water as hot as endurable—say two tablespoonfuls of salt dissolved in each quart of water. Two or three times in 24 hours I'd soak the finger, thumb, or hand in such a salt solution at the highest endurable temperature, for 15 or twenty minutes. If this poultice treatment brought positive relief within 24 hours I'd feel lucky. If not, I'd give the surgeon the green light.

'Puzzled Mother' Would Lower Age for Working

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I think it is time that the parents of 14-year-old boys and girls get together and see about what can be done about lowering the age from 15 to 14 for those who want to work.

A boy or girl can't get a job under 15 without working papers. I know a child under 15 needs a job to help out on expenses as well as a child over 14.

We have a son 14, a tall, husky boy for his age, and we are afraid of his getting into trouble, due to his not being able to work and not being kept busy. What can be done about it?

Minister Answers Petition About Employment Bias

This past week I received a blank for signatures with the following heading:

"If you believe our Pontiac merchants should not show any prejudice in employing their employes, please sign this."

I answered it as follows:

"This all depends upon the meaning of the word 'prejudice.' If I were an employer, I would not want to hire anyone addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor, or one whose language was disgusting to decent people, etc.

"If an employer has set certain standards that he desires to maintain, he should certainly choose his employes accordingly."

Hectic Days Recalled

Planes, TV May Derail Political Campaign Train

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I am beginning to fear for one of the fine old fixtures of the American political scene, the candidate's campaign train.

Like the brass band and the torchlight parade, it may be on the way out.

SLICK AND MODERN

The airplane and television have been muscling into the picture on a bigger scale every presidential year. You can reach a lot of voters in a very little time with them. They are slick and modern.

* * *

But for the reporter, covering a presidential campaign, the train has special advantages.

It gets you to the whistle-stops and the earnest little towns, lets you listen to people talking, and gives you the "feel" of the debate, as nothing else can do.

* * *

You practically live in the "work car" on the train.

NEWS ON WHEELS

This is a news room on wheels. The seats have been taken out, and long shelves for typewriters line both sides of the car. A public address system connects with the rear-car platform where the candidate does the talking.

* * *

The train may stop 8 or 10 times a day. In 1952, both Gen. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson were indefatigable campaigners who made a lot of stops, and then did a major speech at night.

You don't have much time, only a few minutes at each stop. Sometimes you know what the candidate is going to say. Sometimes, he catches you flat-footed.

* * *

One dark night in 1952, somewhere north of Seattle, Eisenhower unexpectedly broke out a brand new line of attack. It came toward the end of a back-platform talk in a small town. Typewriters began to smoke in the press car. The train started to move. We ripped the copy from the machines, yelled "Western Union,"—and to our horror, saw the agent roll all the stories into a single ball of paper, and hurl them out into darkness.

"Don't worry," he said, soothingly. "My guy will find that copy, and your offices will get it." And by golly, they did.

It wasn't always like that, the heat wasn't always on.

Frequently, there was time to mingle with the crowd packed around the rear car. Then you got a voter's-eye view of the candidate. You could sense his strong and weak points, and how the people were reacting, and what they said and what attracted them.

* * *

For instance, it was worth a lot of votes to Eisenhower, four years ago, when, at the end of a talk, he would say, "And now, I would like to introduce my Mamie."

There were the times, too, when he would mosey into the press car and sit around, just talking. He was friendly and natural—and a good story would usually come out of these talks.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Right Motions Bring Desired Emotions in Boy's Courtship of Girl Next Door

Norman's case applies to thousands of wonderful young couples who admire each other but lack that romantic thrill when they kiss. Often, they grew up as neighbors and feel almost like brother and sister, so something prevents their growing romantic. Learn how to inject that exhilarating spark into such desirable matches.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-316: Norman R., aged 23, presents an interesting problem.

"Dr. Crane, I know my folks would like to see me marry the girl next door," he confessed.

* * *

"Her name is Joan and we went to school together. She's attractive looking, too, and has every quality that I'd want in a wife.

"But I feel somewhat constrained around her. Maybe it's because we played together as kids and she knows me so well I react to her almost as a sister.

"Or maybe it's because I know my parents would like to see us marry. I realize many young people veer away from a match when the parents show they'd like it to materialize.

"Perhaps that is what is wrong. Actually, I'd like to marry Joan. I really wish I were mad about her. She is exactly the type of woman I'd like to have for the mother of my children, too.

"I tested her on your 'Tests for Sweethearts' and she rated Very Superior. But when I kiss her, it's like kissing a sister. What's wrong?"

ANALYZE YOURSELF

When parents oppose a match, their very opposition often seems to make the young couple more determined.

On the other hand, when parents give their blessing and try to promote a desirable match like this one between Norman and Joan, the young people often veer off.

And the reason usually lies in youth's attempt to be independent and throw off all supposed domination by older folks.

* * *

Furthermore, when a boy and girl have been grammar school classmates and have played together as neighbors ever since childhood, they actually feel almost related.

Norman senses that fact when he says Joan seems much like a sister. And because children have been reared to view romantic affection within the family as a taboo mater, due to the old incest veto, they subconsciously prevent themselves from waxing romantic about the girl or fellow next door.

But such young folks should analyze themselves carefully, for when two topnotch personalities are as compatible as Norman and Joan on all other matters, it is a shame to let this potential romance deteriorate.

LOVE'S RULE

In this case, knowing that Norman and Joan would make an ideal couple, I advised Norman to date her and then kiss her as if he were a movie actor.

"Don't give her a little peck on the cheek," I advised. "Kiss her full on the mouth and prolong the kiss. Nothing will happen for the first 10 or 15 seconds.

* * *

"But her charm will then begin to shatter that vague brother-sister inhibition that has been cheating you of a true romantic regard for Joan."

In psychology we have a law to the effect that if you go through the proper motions, you'll soon begin to feel the corresponding emotions.

And it works very successfully. Some weeks ago I gave you the true verbatim report of a homosexual who decided to change his persoanality by resolutely dating eligible girls.

When he kissed them, it was an effort and he often felt nauseated, so he told us, but pretty soon he began to fall under the spell of the attractive girl in his arms. Now he is happily married.

And so it happened to Norman. He took the neighbor girl in his arms after their next date and kissed her properly.

"Dr. Crane it worked!" he told me exaultantly next week. "It surprised her as much as it did me. But after the first 10 or 15 seconds, that barrier that had existed between us disappeared entirely. Now I am madly in love with her, which is what I wanted to be, anyway. It's wonderful!"

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Fred Allen - - - Who Sold the Public on His Humor

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Nobody ever had the gall to link the name, Fred Allen, to such adjectives as "lovable old ——" or "scintillating new——." Fred would have scorched them with a snort.

Behind his funereal countenance and bone-dry humor, Allen had a deep, probing mind. So he didn't care for adulation.

All he asked of people was intelligent sincerity, and if his quips were sometimes more cynical than funny, it's because he wasn't getting it.

His mind, which could dig right to the heart of matters and usually bring out the humor in them, caused him confusion and headaches. For instance, though he left a legacy of 4,000 books on humor in his library, he never could figure out why people laughed.

"It's mysterious," he once said. "I know how to make people laugh—and I know approximately when they'll laugh—but I haven't the vaguest idea why they laugh."

This uncertainty worried Allen. But with the "hows" and "whens" of comedy in his pocket, he would work an average of 18 hours a day during the nearly 20 years when his name was as close to the U.S. household as its family doctor. He would lock himself up in a room each day and brew his laughs the hard way, compiling a 50-page script every week.

WAS PERFECTIONIST

"He's the only man I ever knew in all of literature—and that includes Mark Twain—who wrote so much genuinely thoughtful funny stuff. And he didn't have to either. He could have just growled, and the audienece would've collapsed," recalls his long associate, Jim Harkins. "But Fred was a perfectionist."

* * *

Allen hired writers, of course, but usually they just, in their own words, "sat around and consumed the gravy." Sometimes he hired young, talented writers simply out of sympathy, so they'd have "credits" from the Allen show to get them another job.

One of the Allen show script boys from 1936 to '41 was Herman Wouk, best-selling author of "The Caine Mutiny" and "Marjorie Morningstar." After Fred's death Saturday, Wouk described his one-time boss as "the model man."

"He was the greatest satirical wit in America in our time, and a superb writer," Wouk said reverently. "He only needed us because of the tremendous volume of material needed on his show. All any of us did was to imitate him—but he was the best writer in the lot.

SELF EDUCATED

"And he was fantastic, worked harder than any man I ever knew, with all his time scheduled, seven days a week," Wouk added softly, "but that took its toll."

Like most self-educated men, Fred was more widely read than most of his associates—his first job was as stock boy in a Boston library—and more observant. The more he read and observed, the more he worried. The result was that his scrooge-like demeanor, once a theatrical technique, reflected much of his outlook on certain phases of life.

He would speak dourly but cleverly of one thing and another and people would think it was funny. (e.g. He complained of radio, "on radio, if you blow your nose often people will say, 'nobody can blow a nose like that guy.' In six months you have a permanent audience for nose blowing. Isn't that great?" Allen was not "spoofing," as the "lovable" comedian does, he was spearing.

* * *

CLASHED WITH V.P.'S

As a man who was smarter than most of his confreres, Allen was in almost constant clashes with the "business side" of the radio industry which made him a great name in the 1920's and '30's. He took a particular lance to vice presidents of radio networks, labeling them V.P.'s "in charge of program ends."

So sharp were his digs that his show, for 17 years one of the highest-rated on radio, was temporarily cut off the air. This caused him to suggest that "within the hierarchy of the little men there is no man who can outlittle the executive in a large corporation who treats his authority as he treats a tight suit.

"In a tight suit he is afraid to make a move. With his authority the minor executive takes the same precaution. We have men of his ilk on radio."

Read it fast and it sounds funny. Like so many of things in Fred Allen's life—his career, his 28-year devotion to Mrs. Portland Hoffa Allen, his waning health, even his humor—it was serious business to him.

Also serious to Fred was his fellow man who needed help or companionship.

Born in Cambridge, Mass., with little more than a sense of humor and an available diaper, in late May of 1894, John Florence Sullivan made hundreds of down-at-the-heel friends before he became known as Fred Allen, star.

It is safe to say that he lost few of them, and certainly never lost the interest to write, encourage or finance them. Any hard-up friend who was not a proven parasite, first class, could depend on help.

From Broadway to Vine Street, it was legendary: Fred Allen was "the hard-headed soft touch."

Villagers Will Help Mountain Climbers

BOMBAY — Residents of the Nepalese village of Sama, who in 1954 kept a Japanese expedition from climbing Manaslu peak, have agreed to cooperate. They had resisted the passage of the Japanese through their village on religious grounds.

Since then the village heads have been called to Katmandu and convinced that the mountain gods will not be "enraged" by the expedition. Last time, they had feared that the gods' wrath would bring epidemics and famine to the village.

Red China Beats U.N. Trade Embargo by Importing From Russia, Satellites

(Red China's Bamboo Curtain prevents Americans from entering the country but it does not stop flashy, new American cars from making their way in. The following dispatch, written by Philip Luker, the first Australian non-Communist correspondent to visit the mainland, describes how Red China is beating the United Nations trade embargo.)

By PHILIP LUKER

SHANGHAI — Shanghai shipping merchants insist that Communist China is beating the United Nations trade embargo by importing Western machinery, vehicles and railway equipment from Russia.

In Peiping and Shanghai there are far more new, flashy American cars than automobiles from Russia or Eastern Europe. Communist officials, acting as guides for this correspondent, traveled comfortably on embargoed American cars less than one year old.

Most of these cars along with light precision and turbine machinery, were reaching Red China by rail, shipping merchants said.

Since the first of the year two railway lines from Russia have been operating.

* * *

Another way of beating the embargo, sources reported, was by bringing goods on Eastern European ships from Eastern European ports to Shanghai.

SHIPS CROWD SHANGHAI

One shipping merchant reported that Western European turbine machinery had been seen on a Shanghai wharf.

Four times as many ships are now trading with China through Shanghai than a year ago. The famous port that handled 30 ships a day before the revolution, and 10 a month in late 1954, is now handling about 40 a month.

Most of these vessels are from Eastern Europe but increasing numbers are from Britain and Western Europe.

Shipping merchants believed the Communists' production drive and the loss of many European trading contacts would prevent trade ever returning to its old level, even if the embargo was lifted.

The merchants emphasized, however, China's eagerness to trade in goods she was not producing.

NATIVE CHINESE TAXED

China, said the merchants, is exporting some of the goods she is most short of, namely rice and cooking oil. These were rationed in China but the Communists were exporting them in their drive to get foreign currency for machinery.

The Communists are exporting good Chinese rice to Ceylon and importing poorer quality Burmese rice in order to get their hands on rubber.

The biggest traders with China are Russia and Eastern European countries such as Czechoslovakia, Poland and East Germany.

Next are Japan, Britain, France, Denmark, Egypt and Belgium.

Chen Ming, vice-director of the third (trade) department, said in Peiping that China has on its export list such items as cotton cloth, sheets, printed cloth, newsprint, cement, building materials, minerals and chemicals.

* * *

Many Western countries believed that China had only the traditional Chinese exports such as ground nuts, wood oil and walnut meat and were therefore reluctant to offer more vital commodities in exchange.

On the other hand, China needs lead, copper, agricultural machinery, power generators, tele-communications equipment and tractors.

The total volume of China's trade during 1955 was more than 20 per cent higher than in 1954. More than 20 countries had trade agreements with China.

Iron, steel and machinery composed more than 80 per cent of imports from Eastern Europe. Main exports were agricultural and oil seeds, oil bearing goods and food grains.

African Canine Joins U.S. Elite

Rhodesian Ridgeback, Famed for Its Loyalty, Makes American Bow

WASHINGTON — The dog with the "wrong-way" hair along its spine, the Rhodesian Ridgeback, has arrived.

The first new breed in 10 years to be accepted for registration in the American Kennel Club studbook, it follows the black and tan coonhound as No. 112 on the list.

Though there are still fewer than 400 in the United States, Ridgebacks have been beating the scrub in South Africa for many a decade, says the National Geographic Society. Some authorities believe they date from the 17th Century and have at least as many ancestors as cats have lives.

Bloodhounds, which Europeans took to Africa to track down fugitives, as well as greyhounds, great danes, retrievers, mastiffs and terriers were probably all crossed with the Boers' hunting and farm dogs to produce the Ridgeback.

* * *

The cowlick-like ridge on the back is believed to have come from a native African dog. Only one other known breed sports this strange dorsal strip: the Phu Quoc of the island of Phu Quoc in the Gulf of Siam. Probably carried to the island by traders from Africa, this dog may share forebears with the Ridgeback.

Whatever its kin, the Ridgeback inherited from them what the rigors of the veld demanded: strength, courage, and hunting skill.

* * *

Four or five of the dogs hunting together could clear a whole farm of baboons and wild pig. In a few minutes two adults and one puppy once bagged three lions.

Prized by big game hunters, Ridgebacks came to be known as lion hounds or lion hunters. They do not actually kill the big beast. They first bring it to bay. Then, leaping in and out, nipping at the lion's hind legs, they hold it—bewildered—until the hunters arrives. If the lion charges the hunter, the dogs have the further job of offering distraction. More than one Ridgeback has given his life to save his master's.

Ridgebacks use the same feinting technique on antelope, baboons and other African game. In the United States they have performed ably as bird dogs. They follow horses well, and make excellent guards and faithful companions, being especially gentle with children.

Old Beer Bottles Plague New Zealand

AUKLAND — New Zealanders being sturdy beer drinkers, climbers who scale one of the Dominion's mountains are sure to find beer bottles along the way. And crews preparing foundations for Auckland's harbor bridge reported digging through a two-foot-high growth of beer bottles.

To do away with broken glass, authorities have been urged to rule that beer must be put in cans. But nobody as yet has suggested what will be done with the empty cans.

California has some of the largest vineyards in the world.

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel fragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 50 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

L. G. Refuses to Surrender to Age

He's 90, but Never Call Him 'Grandfather'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—In this world of tensions, wars, sudden death and taxes, it is all too rarely one meets a man of 90 who is sound of wind and limb and niblick stroke.

* * *

I know perhaps the most remarkable one of them all. He is like (though no one must ever tell him) a grandfather to me.

"If you call me 'Grandpa' once more," warned Louis Gordon (L. G.) Battelle 20 years ago, "I will give you the same treatment as your daddy got when he beaned your poor little Uncle Don with a baseball.

"I am not old, am I?" he asked, clapping a skimmer over his white hair and striking a chin-up, thumb-in-vest pose.

"Huh-uh," I said, torn between what I felt was the truth and what I knew was the safe course.

* * *

"All right, then. Hereafter call me 'L. G.'"

Since that day, as I have slowly decayed, L. G. has become spryer. While his great-grandchildren dabble in light exercises like softball and toad collecting, he paces himself through an active day.

STILL WORKING

The first practicing certified public accountant in Dayton, Ohio, L. G. still maintains a large firm of CPAs and tends to it every morning. In the winter afternoon he practices color photography or turns to his new career, writing books.

* * *

"I decided," he told me at the age of 86, "that if you could be a writer, I could too." Two of his books, written arduously in longhand, have already been published.

Last year he bought a typewriter and learned to use it. "I should get out this one (his third book) in half the time—this is a cinch," he reported.

In the summer, L. G. still plays a mean game of golf. It is not quite as mean as it used to be, judging by the scorecards, but let us not blame that on physical deterioration.

"It's a hard thing for a CPA to admit," says he, darkly studying his card, "but I don't add as well as I used to."

* * *

If you ask why some people grow old vigorously while others nurse their ills, you'll get a variety of meaty answers, from "clean living" to "an ounce of whisky at bedtime for 70 years."

WHO'S GETTING OLD?

But L. G. will not contribute to this problem because no one would dare to imply that he was growing old. Ask him a question like that and he would drag you off bodily to Grace Methodist Church, which he has attended faithfully for a half century, to set your thinking straight.

* * *

Actually, L. G. is more mellow than well-aged whisky, which he has never touched. But he wants you to think he's as fiery as those despicable cigarettes he's never smoked.

If he lets fall a tear or two on Sunday, when the Battelle clan gathers around him in Dayton for a 90th birthday celebration, I can hear his excuses now:

"I have always thought it was rather significant," he will say, nonchalantly wiping his bifocals, "that I was born on April Fool's Day."

Screen Image Aid Introduced by Dow

MIDLAND (AP) — An art form as yet unnamed by its developer, famed Midland architect Alden B. Dow, has been introduced.

It utilizes a translucent plastic screen made of polyethelyne, which is manufactured by the Dow Chemical Co. founded by Dow's father, the late Dr. Herbert H. Dow.

* * *

Backstage "props" were accented by spotlights behind the curtain to project images on the screen. Three ballet dancers performed behind the screen to piano accompaniment.

Dow himself operated a lighting panel controlling a battery of spotlights that cast varied shadows on the screen.

* * *

He said the new concert form permits visual as well as auditory enjoyment of music and seeks to integrate dancing with instrumental performance in a way that has never been done before.

Plan War Memorial

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A county-wide, house-to-house campaign by some 2,000 Kent County war veterans is set for May 28 to raise funds for a proposed war memorial in Fulton Park. Campaign officials said some $25,000 already has been raised toward the project. Another $55,000 is needed to complete the memorial as designed.

Fifty-two per cent of Americans over 65 years old are women.

Seeking Signatures

MUSKEGON (AP) — The Greater Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce has started its drive for 4,000 signatures on petitions asking that the present coroner system be replaced with licensed medical examiners. Sponsors expect to obtain 5,000 signatures in time to place the proposal on the November ballot.

Oldest Seventh Day Baptist church in America is still standing in Newport, R.I. It was built in 1792, now preserved by a historical sociey.

Navigation Is Opened

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Woodbine opened navigation in Charlevoix harbor Tuesday when it arrived to transport crewmen to Greys Reef and White Shoals lighthouses in northern Lake Michigan.

Cigarette Smoking to Hit 412½ Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today that surveys indicate about 53 per cent of American men and 25 per cent of American women smoke cigarettes regularly.

* * *

Smoking is greatest among both men and women between 25 and 44 years of age, the surveys show.

* * *

Figures on smoking were given in a department report which said the output of cigarettes in this country this year is expected to be higher than last year's 412½ billion, but below the record of 435½ billion in 1952.

GOC Post Will Open

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dan R. Waters, executive secretary of the Kent County Civil Defense Organization, says the first ground observation post covering the Grand Rapids area will begin operation Sunday atop the Michigan Veterans Facility. The new post will be the 11th GOC installation in the county. It will be manned on a 24-hour basis.

Prof Offers 'A' to Any Student Finding Bedbugs

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A professor at the University of Oklahoma is scratching for bedbugs and has called on his students for help.

However, the students have been little help so far to Dr. Cluff Hopla of the university's department of zoology.

Hopla says the bedbug is one of the vanishing Americans and he offered an 'A" to the student who turns up a collection.

The professor says no scientist ever pinned anything on bedbugs. Hopla wants to study the bugs but they proved so scarce, a search is under way.

Students, hoping to hike their grades, turned to advertising Hopla said improved insect extermination has reduced the bugs.

Runs for Nomination

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—A Traverse City attorney has become the third person to announce candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from Michigan's Ninth Congressional District. Robert Griffin, 32, has joined the race with Robert Phinney of Fremont and incumbent Ruth Thompson.

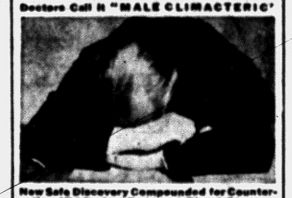
Medical Facts for Men Over 40
MEN, TOO GO THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE
Doctors Call It "MALE CLIMACTERIC"



New Safe Discovery Compounded for Counteracting Middle Age Body and Blood Changes Due to Usual Middle Age Deficiencies!....
OVER 40? After the first 40 years, the body usually undergoes important normal changes. In women, doctors call this change of life "menopause". In men, doctors call it MALE CLIMACTERIC. Men, if you are over 40, in good health but feel nervous, physically weak in legs, back and arms, can't sleep, find it difficult to make decisions, are quick tempered, and suffer from that terrible "what's the use" feeling...chances are you are going thru MALE CLIMACTERIC.
OVER 40? At this time it's more important than ever that your system isn't deficient in the very vitamins and minerals nature created to counteract and offset symptoms of "after 40" body and blood changes. Common sense and your doctor will tell you, vital organs often require the supplement of different vitamins and minerals in different amounts at maturity than they do during younger years. Recently a well known scientist perfected AFTER 40 Capsules. One potent AFTER 40 CAPSULE daily feeds your system a special and particular combination of Vitamins and Minerals to supply your blood, body organs and nerves, including blood building red Vitamin B-12, the vitamin Germ of Wheat E, Stimulating B-1, Iron, Calcium, Phosphorous, Iodine and other potent nutrients. A combination of important, needed hospital tested ingredients feed every inch of your body, every drop of your blood many rich essentials needed by matured men and women. Full month's supply only $5. Money back guarantee. Order TODAY.

Sees Hope for Happiness in Life Without Marriage

By ANITA COLBY
Fashion and Beauty Consultant

There are eleven million women of marriageable age in the United States — not counting divorcees. Let's face the fact that most of us are never going to be married.

ANITA COLBY

Why? Because there is a higher ratio of females to men in the world. Many of us aren't even going to get the chance to say Yes or No!

Happily, the single state is no longer a matter for gloom, embarrassment or inferiority. Today, many girls do say "no" to earnest proposals.

Who knows but that this courageous trend may help bring a new standard of respect and quality to marriage? We've seen too many broken homes and unions, most certainly not made in heaven.

* * *

People have asked me more often why I've never married than about any other phase of my personal or professional life.

The truth is I really don't know.

It's possible the right man hasn't come along as yet.

It's possible I've always been too engrossed in my work to recognize the right man if he has come along.

HOPES TO MARRY

Truthfully, I still hope to marry some day because I'd like the permanent and complete companionship of the one-and-only man with whom I could share all of my life. I still hope to have a home and children some day, too, for to me all of these things represent the most satisfying way of life.

If they never happen, however, I'll not scream for smelling salts. My single life is and has always been a good and satisfactory one, and should be even better in the years ahead.

God has blessed me with a loving family — sister, mother and father—and an unusually happy homelife. I have my work, hobbies, and many activities in charitable organizations. These are the bulwarks against loneliness.

NOTHING IS CERTAIN

The basic insecurity of the future concerns all of us, married and unmarried. Nothing in this life is certain anyhow. To be sure of a steady supply of life's necessities would siphon off much of the excitement life has always held for me.

Beauty attracts men, no doubt about it. But beauty is no passport to love. How do you account for the thousands of happy wives who are plain, even thoroughly unattractive? And hundreds of very pretty girls are single.

* * *

Many women, who wholeheartedly lose themselves in the lives of others, find the answers to unmarried loneliness.

If there is one secret to the successful single life for women, it is simply this: That it must be freely and definitely chosen as a means of greater service to humanity and the greater honor and glory of God!

The late Sister Elizabeth Kenny, one of the great unmarried of our time, stated the case succinctly and well.

"Just as enforced poverty," she said, "often brings out the worst in people, so does unwanted spinsterhood rouse bitterness and restless frustration in others. But there is supreme nobility in chosen poverty . . . freedom, dignity and fulfillment are possible in the single life only when dedication inspires it and solo living is a definite decision."

Boy Scouts Out—Shoot Marine Corps Vets

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Red-faced Marine veterans of World War II and Korea fumbled for excuses today as a Boy Scout troop beat them at their own game—marksmanship.

A .22 caliber rifle match was held at the Navy and Marine Corps Reserve training center here between a Marine Corps volunteer training unit and a group of explorer scouts.

The Marines blamed the 12 point difference in total score on the absence of some of their top shooters.

No one would divulge the actual score.

Police Return Dollar Fine to Honest Gal

DETROIT (AP)—Rose Anna Tendler wasn't sure at first but now she's convinced the Adrian police are fine fellows.

* * *

While her parents were away on a trip, a letter came from Adrian police saying her father owed $1 for illegal parking in Adrian.

* * *

Rose Anna promptly mailed them a dollar bill.

"When daddy came back I told him about it, he hit the ceiling," said Rose Anna. "Daddy said he has never been in Adrian in his life and refused to pay me the dollar I had paid for him."

Rose Anna then wrote a polite note to Adrian police explaining the situation and asking for the return of her dollar.

* * *

Back came a note of apology and a $1 check.

There had been a mixup in license numbers.

The rate of increase of the number of people in the United States is 1.7 per cent per year compared with the world average of 1.3 per cent.

Ike, Kefauver Pitted in Indiana's Primary

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Indiana's presidential preference primary May 8 shaped up today as a popularity contest between Sen. Estes Kefauver, unopposed on the Democratic ballot, and President Eisenhower, with only a splinter-group Republican opponent.

Kefauver's Indiana backers planned to file his entry today.

The President's name was entered March 6 by Gov. George N. Craig, ardent supporter of the Eisenhower administration, with Eisenhower's approval.

Lar Daly, 44-year-old Chicago furniture manufacturer who calls himself an "America First Republican" and campaigns in an Uncle Sam costume said he would file in the Republican primary late today.

Adlai Stevenson's national campaign headquarters said he would not enter the Indiana primary.

He Found Belief at Foot of Cross

for the bodies. It was the cruelest, most spectacular death known — far worse than stoning or burning.

The nails were nothing, compared to the muscular agony. It began with the tearing pull of a man's suspended weight, then the slow, vicious cramps curling like knives through the body, the taut flesh constricting the blood flow.

Death came gradually, sometimes taking days, from sheer pain and exhaustion. Today, the orders were to get it over quickly, before Passover began at nightfall.

Pretonius felt strangely drawn to the imperturbable "holy man" who was so incredibly self-possessed, so remote, compared to the other ranters. The man even refused the opiate wine (mixed with gall) to dull the pain.

Spectators and passers-by on the nearby public thoroughfare jeered at Him. "He saved others—let him save himself!" The soldiers joined in the raillery, and like jackals, divided the prisoners' belongings — a custom.

Pretonius eyed them in disgust. The abominable louts! German mercenaries, ignorant Italian volunteers! But they'd think him gone mad if he stopped them. He could show no heart. He was a Roman officer, a centurian, commander of a century of 100 men, professionally without sentiment, under orders! Carry on!

Pretonius sighed. Uneasily, his gaze stole up to the dying men. They were talking, brokenly, in strained, hoarse voices. Pretonius strove to hear, his nerves edgy at the fortitude of this man, Jesus.

One robber was appealing to Him, "I deserve this . . . My crimes are many . . . Remember me . . ."

And the "Holy One," with His awesome composure, His almost frightening forebearance, His words still vivid with hope despite the pain, the exertion and the tight breathing, said,

"Verily . . . Today, thou shalt . . . be with Me in paradise."

Surely, this is nonsense, Pretonius told himself. What manner of god could He be — who asks no burnt offerings, no shrines — but only one's own belief? Pretonius paced to and fro scowling at the taunting onlookers.

* * *

After one burst of public derision, the "Holy Man" raised His head tremblingly and implored, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Tears wet His cheeks. His sweat ran red with blood, a frequent reaction.

Suddenly, the sky darkened, and a rumble sounded and the earth shook? The soldiers bounded for their weapons and shields, gapemouthed, scared. Pretonius stood motionless, spellbound.

"IT IS FINISHED"

Some time later, the glow of day began creeping back like the dawn. The Holy Man spoke, "Father, unto Thy hands I commend My spirit . . . It is finished!" He sagged. He was dead before the soldiers lanced the three.

* * *

It was full light. A bird sang in a carob tree.

Pretonius took off his helmet. "Certainly this man was innocent," he murmured. He bit his lip, a throbbing at his temples. "Truly, this was the Son of God." He glanced at his men, and ignoring them, dropped to his knees.

Food Index Declines for 2nd Week in Row

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index declined this week for the second week in a row.

* * *

The index for the past week stood at $5.89 compared with $5.93 last week and was 9.7 per cent lower than the figure of $6.52 for the like week last year.

The index, representing the total cost at wholesale of one pound of each of 31 food items, has fluctuated for the past nine weeks.

* * *

Lower prices for the following items pushed down the index this week: flour, rye, butter, coffee, cottonseed oil, cocoa, eggs and lambs.

Higher were wheat, corn, hams, lard, sugar, steers and hogs.

'Shimmying' Excuse Doesn't Save Speeder

BRANTFORD, Ont. (AP)—James Mulligan of Woodstock told Magistrate John T. Shillington today he had to travel fast because his car shimmies at 82 miles an hour or less.

Police said they were unable to catch Mulligan's auto although they hit 95 miles an hour. They finally overtook the car when it "slowed down to 70."

Mulligan was fined $100 for speeding. His license was lifted for six months.

Spring Means New Jobs for Migratory Workers

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON—Any time you sit down to a meal, you're dependent on a horde of gypsy-like workers for much of the food you eat.

* * *

Not many of us realize that about this time each spring, the first of a half million wanderers hit the road north.

The jobs they do are endless. They pick the pickles, the beans, the cherries. They can the corn, weed the sugar beets, thin the carrots, dig and wash the potatoes, rake the cranberries.

If you're a drinking man, and are fond of juleps, be grateful to the migratory worker. Someone has to weed that mint, you know.

* * *

In the past, the wanderings of migratory workers have been hit or miss. So hundreds might be waiting around for one crop to come in, while not too many miles away another crop rotted for lack of help.

GOVERNMENT TO HELP

Now the U. S. government has moved in as a sort of mammoth booking agent. Don Larin, chief of the Labor Department's farm placement service, and his assistant, Jack Donnachie, said everything is set to line up the Eastern invasion.

During the next month, in cities throughout Florida, the crew chiefs—who often supply the trucks in the migratory families' travel—will be making their summer schedules.

But now the business becomes complicated. For any route must be temporary at best. Crops will be delayed by cold weather, or ruined by rain or drought.

* * *

So the placement service keeps track of where the migrants are, and will reroute them as conditions change.

"It's a good plan," Larin said. "It helps the farmer because he's assured of work when he needs it. It's fine for the migratory worker, too. He makes good money—when he works. This helps to keep him working."

An odd and diverse group, these wanderers. The Florida group is largely made up of Negroes, from Texas will come those of Mexican decent. From farther West will come the Indians. From the hills of Arkansas and Missouri, and from other states, will come the white workers.

"The bleeding hearts do a lot of bleeding for these people," Larin said, "but many of them wouldn't think of another way of life. They're proud of their jobs, and some are extremely skilled at them."

Still, Larin and Donnachie agree it's a hard life, especially for the children. But it isn't as bad as it once was.

* * *

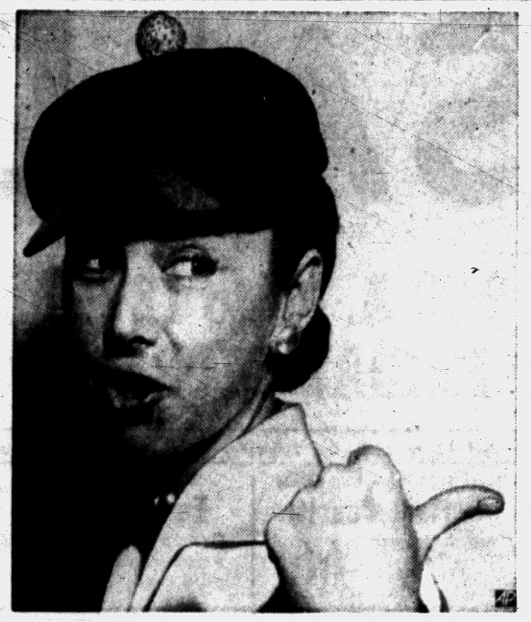
Unike the old days, when there were far more workers than jobs, more and more communities now realize how dependent they are on these wanderers.

"They're getting better housing," Larin said, "and better recreational facilities."

Some communities have gone even further. And Larin pointed to a report from Hart, Mich., which told of a highly successful fiesta held for Mexicans who helped pick the cherry crop.

* * *

Ten thousand people joined in, with dancing in the streets, beauty contests, prizes for the best costumes. Eubence Sabila and Joe Parcenas, both ages 10, won the pie eating contest. Cherry pie, of course.



GUSSIE POPS UP — Radio sportscaster Gussie Moran of lace panties tennis fame models a cap humorously suggested for Brooklyn Dodgers. The "creation" is of black diamond satin straw topped with a rhinestone ball.

Angry Adlai Rips Kefauver

Stevenson 'A Bit Upset' Makes Strong Personal Attack on Senator

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adlai Stevenson—"a little angry and upset"—has launched his strongest, most personal attack yet on Sen. Estes Kefauver, his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination.

* * *

Stevenson, in a major address here last night, charged Kefauver with trying to capture California support with the same kind of "boss nonsense" which the senator cited in Minnesota.

"But more important even than this effort to injure me . . . by confusing endorsement with dictation is that by discrediting the leaders of the Democratic party here in California the senator and his spokesmen can only weaken and divide the party and thereby help the Republicans," Stevenson declared in his televised speech.

* * *

To party observers, it looked as if Stevenson had taken off his wraps for a hand-to-hand encounter with Kefauver even though the former Illinois governor had indicated earlier that he did not intend to engage in personalities.

His unmistakable jabs last night made it appear that he had decided a real knockdown fight is necessary if he is to recover from the Kefauver victory in Minnesota last week.

Adm. Wright Cites Red Navy Buildup

NEW YORK (AP)—Adm. Jerauld Wright, supreme Allied commander of the Atlantic Fleet, says that by the end of this year the Soviet Union will have seven times more submarines than Hitler had at the outbreak of World War II.

Speaking yesterday to the Overseas Press Club, Wright cited the need for American buildup of anti-submarine forces.

"Today the Soviets are the world's second naval power in vessels on hand and first naval power in rate of new construction," he said.

Fishermen's Paradise

Fishermen who like variety in their favorite sport should go to Hawaii. Fishing experts there report more than 650 different species of fish in the waters surrounding the five major islands. Big game sportsmen will be pleased to know warm ocean currents around Hawaii keep even the mighty marlin from migrating.

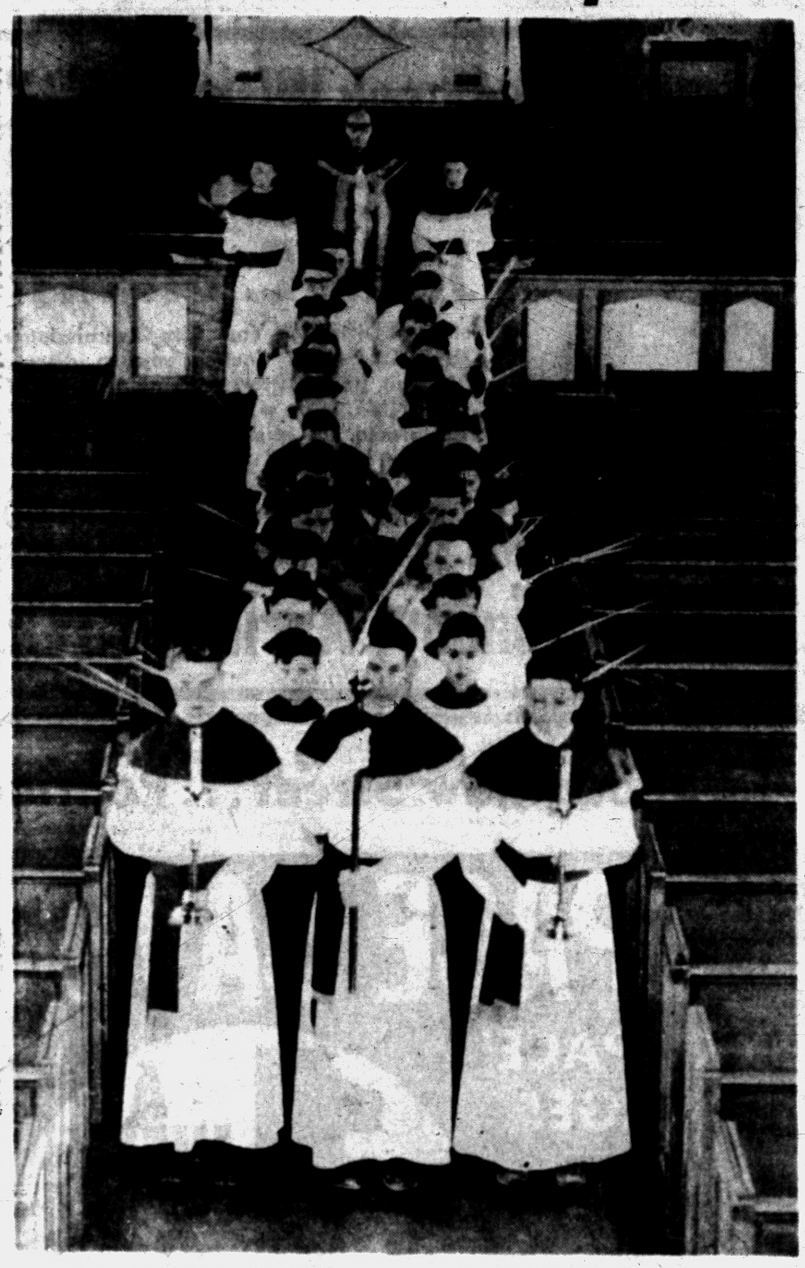
Church Groups Polish Roles for Easter Services



PALM SUNDAY PROCESSION — Carrying palms in a Palm Sunday Procession were 40 altar boys at St. Benedict's Catholic Church. Some of the boys are in training; others take their turn serving at the five Masses each Sunday and during Holy Week. The boys attend the St. Benedict school, are taught customs of the church and their responses to the priest in Latin. Several months are required to complete the training. Palms not given out on Palm Sunday are burned and the ashes used to mark foreheads on Ash Wednesday, 1957.

SINGING AT SUNRISE — Boys and girls of the Junior Choir of St. Paul Lutheran Church will join the Senior Choir in singing Easter anthems, "Praise to the Lord Who Lives on High" and "O Sons and Daughters, Let Us Sing" Sunday at sunrise for the early Easter Service and at 10:45 a. m. for the Festival Service. Wearing their red and white choir robes are first row (left to right) Phyllis Edgar, Diane Williams, Dianne Tank, Cynthia Barnard and Sandra Kuchon. In the second row, Nancy Edgar, Christine Hawkins, Linda Kuchon, Cheri Monroe, Theresa Mahder, John Colling and Alan Mann. The third row includes Kenneth Toth, Carol Schultz, Joan Voynar, Joy Ann Rattew, Bruce Mann, Alvin Tank, Carol Colling, Betty Bishop, Mrs. Emil Hagen Jr., choir director and Nancy Williams.

REDENTIN EASTER PLAY — Young people of the Galloway Lake Methodist Church will present the Redentin Easter Play for the Sunrise Service at 6:30 Easter morning. The original manuscript for the play was completed in 1464 in Redentin, then the principality of Mecklenburg, Germany. It is written in blank verse rather than in contemporary form. The characters, who appear in Biblical garb, are directed by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Medrano, both formerly active in drama at the University of Michigan. Portraying the part of the first soldier in Roman armor is Don Decker (left); Pontius Pilate, is being played by Lawrence Bailey (center); and Michael Klingelsmith in oriental costume is the scribe. The Rev. Kenneth Stephens is pastor of the church.

County Helps the Aged to Combat Loneliness

A growing problem in our country today is the plight of our aged. Life expectancy in the United States has now reached 70 years of age which is twice the average span of life in the 1700's.

Charles Sperti, key figure in the work of the American Society for the Aged, was quoted in a recent Press article as saying, "We haven't learned to cope with or understand what better living conditions, better understanding of physical activities, the wonder drugs and dieting have done to add years to our lives."

A recent University of Michigan survey of convalescent and boarding facilities in Oakland County reveals that there are 1,054 approved beds in 34 convalescent and six boarding homes.

The survey, taken of the county homes over a six-week period of time and under the direction of Kenton E. Winter, research associate in the Bureau of Public Health Economics reveals that 13 per cent of the patients in the county never have any visitors. Sixteen per cent rarely (less than once monthly) have any.

"This is one of the main problems in dealing with the chronically ill and aged . . . fighting their loneliness," Ora L. Hinckley, director of the Bureau of Social Aid, said.

"Of course," she continued, "part of this is due to the fact that many of the patients are not too near their homes and relatives and old people are sometimes easily forgotten when they're in the homes."

Patient interests vary from watching television and listening to radio, handwork, card games or puzzles and hobbies to no interests at all, the survey reveals.

Facilities available in the county homes include at least one separate day room (living or visiting room) in all boarding sites and 32 of the convalescent locations.

Only four (three convalescent and one boarding) do not have at least one television set. Usually the operator provides the set and some patients have sets in their rooms.

All homes have some kind of outdoor facilities, including lounging chairs and a porch or yard in which the patients can sit when weather permits.

The County Convalescent Home also has a regular recreational therapy program in which all patients are encouraged to participate. These include weaving-looms, wood working and other handwork.

Mrs. Mary A. Sands, Bureau of Social Aid visitor, who regularly inspects all county convalescent and boarding facilities, said that in the smaller private homes, there are usually no such services available. The women knit, or crochet and the men play cards or listen to radios and watch television.

There are several volunteer groups in the county giving regular time to combating the loneliness of the aged and helping out in the homes.

Miss Hinckley says volunteer visitors are assigned to different homes, call regularly and do favors for the patients. The group recently wrote to the bureau for some more names.

Miss Hinckley pointed out that names aren't just handed out. Patients are asked whether they would like to have visitors come to see them and of course the visiting volunteers are thoroughly orientated in how to best carry out their plans.

Miss Hinckley and Mrs. Sands agreed that the volunteer work of visiting the homes should be gone into slow, easy and regularly. "The 12th month of the year, the homes are running over with people wanting to do things for the patients and on Dec. 26 no one comes to visit them," Miss Hinckley said. "They (the patients) are bound to be disappointed and let down.

"A group wanting to undertake such a project would have to work through the Bureau of Social Aid and the Nursing Home Assn. The project would have to be well planned, well thought out and well organized," she continued.

"Another service that would please many of the patients immensely," Miss Hinckley said, "is someone taking them for a ride in a car. Morale goes up for patients who can revisit their old neighborhoods for a morning or afternoon," she said.

Another program the visiting volunteers have started in the County home is the birthday cake program. The patients are presented with a cake on birthdays plus a special meal and bouquet, according to Manager Howard Estes. The patients at the home are entertained with movies, too.

"The Gray Ladies who come every week from all over the county are a big help," Estes said. "They do the unusual little things not covered in the regular nursing program that mean so much to the patients."

He highly commended one Gray Lady, Mrs. Robert Wilson of Rochester. "She's been here every Wednesday for 12 years, coming through every kind of weather."

Estes said he'd gladly welcome any group who might be interested in offering their services to the homes. "Volunteer agencies can call me any time," he said.

Will Analyze Trends in Area

Planner to Address Pontiac Realtors

Planning Analyst Paul M. Reid of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission will be the speaker at Monday night's meeting of the Pontiac Real Estate Board.

* * *

The session is planned for 6:30 p.m. at Scrib's Restaurant, 130 S. Telegraph Rd.

"Trends in the Pontiac Area" will be Reid's topic.

He will be introduced by W. P. Edmonson, former Pontiac city manager, now serving as assistant director of the Detroit Planning group.

* * *

Reid is a graduate of DePauw University, and studied at Union Seminary, the London School of Economics, and Columbia University.

* * *

He was with the Michigan State Planning Commission and Detroit City Planning Commission before joining the Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Gasoline War Spreads

SAGINAW (AP)—A gasoline price war in southeastern Saginaw County has spread to a dozen stations including Frankenmuth, Birch Run, Burt and adjoining areas. Cuts of 2 to 4 cents have put prices at 28.4 cents a gallon for regular and 30.9 for premium.

Wayne Prosecutor Ill

DETROIT (INS)—Wayne County prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, 57, was rushed to Detroit's Harper Hospital last night after suffering a heart attack at his home. O'Brien's physician said the attack was mild.

Dulles Explains to Israel U.S. Role in Middle East

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has given Israel a clear picture of the U.S. position on the middle east.

In a 30-minute conference with Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban yesterday, the Secretary is understood to have emphasized two points.

They were:

1. No immediate action is contemplated on Israel's four-month-old request to buy $64,000,000 worth of jet fighters, anti-aircraft guns, tanks and other military equipment.

2. The U.S. is counting first of all on the United Nations to find a solution to the middle east crisis.

Dulles called Eban into his office only a few hours after he arrived back in Washington from the White Sulpher Springs, W.Va. meeting between President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

The Dulles-Eban conference took place while U.S. officials in New York were urging the U.N. Security Council to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to Palestine on a peace mission.

After his session with the secretary, the Israeli ambassador would only say that he was called in "in order to get the benefit" of Dulles' thinking.

Eban said "We had a general review of all matters of common interest" but would not say just what these matters included.

* * *

He did report that he will be having "further discussions" with state department officials.

Autopsy Will Decide

DETROIT (INS) — An autopsy has been planned to determine whether a 78-year-old Detroiter who died in Receiving Hospital was a traffic victim. Dixon Murmurian was hit by a taxicab on Nov. 20 and released after treatment. He was readmitted on March 5.

ROYALTY VISITS CATHEDRAL — Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh and the Rt. Rev. R. T. Howard, provost of Coventry, inspect the interior of burned-out Coventry Cathedral before the queen laid the cornerstone for a new building near the bomb-scarred church. In the background is a charred cross which escaped the 1940 German blitz and a temporary altar reconstructed from rubble. Planners hope to have the new cathedral completed in 1962.

To Decide Fate of Airport Funds

Mayor Cobo Testifies Before House Group on Wayne Major Switch

LANSING (AP) — The fate of a two million dollar expansion program at Detroit's Wayne Major Airport will probably be decided by the House Ways and Means Committee this week.

The committee yesterday heard testimony from Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit and a spokesman for six airlines now using Willow Run Airport.

The hearing was held on two bills appropriating $841,406 in state matching money for the current fiscal year and fiscal year 1956-57.

COBO URGES IMPROVEMENTS

Cobo told the committee the airport should be improved whether or not the airlines agree to move from Willow Run to Wayne Major.

"We do not intend to move to Wayne Major," said Robert J. Wilson, vice president of Capital Airlines and spokesman for other airlines at Willow Run.

Wilson said it would take 28 million dollars to put the Wayne Major Airport in condition to serve as Detroit's major commercial airport.

Cobo insisted the figure was actually more like 13 million dollars.

Wilson said the airlines don't want to move because they are perfectly happy now at Willow Run Airport.

Influenza is an Italian word, its origin dating back to the 17th century, when certain diseases or epidemics were attributed by astrologers to the influence of heavenly bodies.

How I Lost 55 Lbs.

BAY CITY, MICH. "I have taken Rennel Concentrate for two years and my weight has gone from 260 to 205 lbs. I am still at it and want to reduce slowly. I feel so much better and my doctor approves. I don't have gas on my stomach anymore nor do I have to take salts and pills which is something to be thankful for," writes Vivian Glass, 1810 11th St.

Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of liquid RENNEL Concentrate. You'll never know a hungry moment while reducing with RENNEL.

New Bill to Control 'Bootleg' Car Dealers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) has introduced a bill designed, he said, to discourage "bootleg" sales of cars and other mechanical or electrical devices by unauthorized dealers.

* * *

His measure would allow manufacturers to supervise and regulate dealers' advertising of new cars and hold them liable for any false and misleading advertising within their power to prevent.

Bennett told the Senate yesterday that spokesmen for the automobile industry are far from unanimous in their views about his proposal, but it is designed to protect public interests he considers paramount to those of auto dealers or makers.

In brief, he said, it calls for a plan under which the manufacturer would reimburse his franchised dealers for any free servicing actually performed on new cars sold under limited warranties and for other servicing.

* * *

This reimbursement now is provided in general through discounts to the dealers when they buy their stocks of cars.

Synthetical Uses

NEW YORK — The nation's chemical industry is synthesizing 99 per cent of the products used in the dye industry, 95 per cent of the plastics, 75 per cent of all drugs, 65 per cent of all rubber products, 50 per cent of all paint, and 20 per cent of the textile fibers.

Cyprus Is Like Volcano, Always Erupting Trouble

NICOSIA (INS)—Cyprus today is like the crater of an active volcano with violent eruptions bubbling up at one point, only to subside and then to flare again elsewhere.

* * *

The entire island, which is 140 miles long and 40 miles wide and about as large in area as Long Island, is patrolled constantly by British Army, Air Force and police trucks.

The vehicles are encased in wire meshing and carry grim-faced men with their fingers on the triggers of tommy-guns and automatic rifles.

On one short 15-minute drive, four R.A.F. checkpoints were counted where cars are stopped and thoroughly searched for hidden firearms or explosives.

From 9 p.m., until morning, all bicycles and scooters are banned from the streets of Nicosia. The town goes dead save for police patrols.

Petestrians are rare and those who do venture out are as likely as not stopped by police and searched.

AFTER-DARK REFUGE

About the only place in Nicosia one can go to after dark is the little Soho Restaurant, where a visitor is scrutinized through an iron grille by an apprehensive proprietor before being admitted.

Too many bombs and grenades have been thrown by Cypriot Nationalists through the doors and windows of public places in recent months to make it safe to leave them open.

The island's security forces, under veteran trouble-shooter Gov. Sir John Harding, are now engaged in an intensive drive to stamp out terrorism.

Recently, Harding estimated the situation would be well in hand within six months.

A 24-hour radar screen around the island makes it impossible for even a rowboat to touch at any point along the 400-mile coastline without being seen and caught.

Systematic house-to-house searches, during which whole blocks are cordoned off with barbed wire and placed under curfew, are constantly turning up caches of arms and explosives.

Arabs Suspicious of Peace Mission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—Arab states looked with suspicion today at a U.S. proposal to send Dag Hammarskjold to the Middle East on a fact-finding survey of the warlike situation.

* * *

The representatives of Syria and Egypt told the Security Council at yesterday's session that they nevertheless agreed "in principle" with the peace mission.

However, they asked for precise explanation of the U.S. resolution's aims and purposes.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who insisted that the U.S. proposal is completely devoid of any "hidden meanings," assured the Arabs he would spell out fully next Tuesday all points on which there were doubts.

Louisiana NAACP Asks U.S. Hearing

BATON ROUGE, La. (INS)—Louisiana's efforts to ban activities of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the state will be met in a Baton Rouge court today by NAACP claims that the question is one of federal jurisdiction.

* * *

A 32-year-old state law originally passed to kill the Ku Klux Klan will be cited by Attorney General Fred S. Leblanc who is requesting the 19th District State Court to order dissolution of te NAACP in Louisiana.

The state will claim that the NAACP failed to file a list of members as required by the law.

* * *

Attorneys for the NAACP late yesterday filed a petition asking removal of the state suit to federal court. They claim the question is one of "civil rights."

Seabees Begin South Pole Winter Sojourn

(The U.S. Navy expedition to the Antarctic has left two groups of hardy Americans to spend the winter at the frozen bottom of the world. Here, by a correspondent who has just returned to the U.S., is the first of two articles on the conditions they face.)

By WARREN E. WATSON
INS Special Correspondent

One hundred and seventy Americans have been left with many of the comforts of home to brave the world's cruelest winter on unexplored Antarctica.

For at least seven months now they will eat, live in, enjoy and work with 9,235 tons of supplies left by the 2,000 men, the planes and seven ships of Operation Deepfreeze.

The U.S. scientific push in next year's Antarctic phase of the International Geophysical Year, 1957-58, depends on the strange clothing, food, recreation facilities, storage and box-like buildings left at Little America V and Hut Point.

* * *

Eighty men, most of them construction-trained Navy Seabees, are at Little America on Kinan Bay of the Ross Sea. Another 90, mostly Seabees, are waiting out the dark winter 400 miles west at Hut Point on McMurdo Sound.

9-WEEK PREPARATION

There was little time for recreation during the nine hectic weeks of transporting supplies and building materials to the two bases. Cargo had to be unloaded, moved over rough snow and ice on sleds behind low-speed tractors. The base buildings had to be set up and open air supply dumps organized.

* * *

Now there is plenty of time. The men waiting through the winter may see a collection of movies, some 250 in all, including some Walt Disney films not yet released in the United States.

They have hard cover books by the hundreds and enough correspondence courses for 18 college degrees. Protestant chaplain Peter Bol at Little America has pledged to organize a book-discussion group if interest warrants. Roman Catholic chaplain John Condit is wintering at Hut Point, from where in 1911 English explorer Robert F. Scott set out for the Pole, and never returned.

Men at both bases have to move fuel and dig for water. The Hut Point crew must prepare cargo for the South Pole air drop scheduled for next October. They must maintain equipment dragged over snow and ice.

* * *

Every bolt, building panel and battery has been stored in open air supply dumps, categorized and labeled. Each category of cargo has been placed under a lettered flag and each box color-coded for quick identification.

CARGO SIZE IMPORTANT

The cargo piles couldn't be too small—or they would be lost in the heavy winter snows. They couldn't be too big or bundles would be hard to locate and remove.

The Little America base is set up to make use of the snows and wind of winter. Each building was built of aluminum panels, four inches thick, inside, the panels are covered—ceiling, sidewalls and floors—with linoleum. A special compound caulks the seams.

Floor panels rest on steel stringers reaching between wooden footings, spaced like railroad ties slightly more than 20 feet apart in parallel rows. By lifting the floor of the houses above the ground beneath, engineers prevented heat transfer that would melt snow and allow the buildings to shift and sink.

Each barrack is 20 by 48 feet, shaped like a huge wooden match box, insulated and with its own small area for a hot water shower. Mess and recreation are in one and the latrine in another building.

The 17 buildings are set up in two parallel rows with their front doors facing "Main Street." Snow walls protect against spread of fire. Engineers figured the prevailing southeast winds would pile snow around the buildings, but swept it clear in the valley between drifts right up "Main Street."

Causes of School Phobia Revealed by Psychologists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnny gets sick and loses his breakfast. Told by his mother he doesn't have to go to school, he quickly gets well.

* * *

He's suffering, two psychologists said today, from "school phobia," and it's no joke.

Pauline B. Hahn and Samuel Waldfogel of the Judge Baker Guidance Center, Boston, in a paper prepared for the American School Counselors Assn., defined school phobias:

"Reluctance to go to school as a result of a morbid dread of . . . the teacher, the other children, the janitor, eating in the lunch room or some other aspect."

* * *

Actually, they said, "When we trace the anxiety to its source it is invariably found to originate in the child's fear of being separated from his mother . . .

FEAR OF SEPARATION

"The child will attend school only if she accompanies him, and often her presence is required in the classroom. Frequently the fear of separation from mother applies to other situations as well (baby sitters, etc.), so that she becomes a virtual prisoner of the child."

Treatment of school phobia consists of attempting to wipe out what the psychologists called exaggerated dependency of the mother and child upon one another," not overlooking the part the father may play in the situation.

* * *

"The most typical picture of school phobia," Dr. Hahn and Dr. Waldfogel said, "is that of the child nauseated and vomiting at breakfast or complaining of abdominal pain, resisting all attempts at reassurance, reasoning or coercion to get him to attend school . . .

"The complaints will often disappear miraculously once the child is assured he does not have to."

Fortunately, they said, true school phobia is not very common, but "once it becomes intrenched, it can become one of the most disabling disorders of childhood."

They reported the ailment most common in the lower elementary grades and about evenly spread between boys and girls.

Leave for Convicts Urged by Reformers

LONDON — Prisoners and their wives should be left alone in the husband's cell on visiting days and prisoners should be granted week-end leave to go home, says Rev. Martin Pinner. He is a London prison camp reform campaigner and president of the International Prisoners' Aid Association.

At a UN crime prevention conference he praised the South American system of permitting wives to join their husbands in special cells looking like hotel rooms. He also approved Sweden's system of week-end leaves for long term prisoners.

Nine of the national parks are located in New Mexico.

Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. Charles Sanft (left) of Mohawk road and Mrs. Normand E. Durocher of Old Orchard drive were photographed wearing these gowns for the annual Antique Show to be given by Guild Eleven, All Saints Episcopal Church, April 10, 11 and 12 in Stevens Hall. Mrs. Durocher's dress belonged to Mrs. Charles Palmer Jr., great-grandmother of Virginia Ward who loaned the dresses. This gown, made in New York in 1890, is lined and boned. Mrs. Sanft is wearing a dress of black velvet, black taffeta and white handmade lace. The gown, from a later period, belonged to Miss Ward's grandmother, Mrs. Palmer Bradfield.

Finishing touches are put on this antique country cradle, which will be on sale during the three-day Antique Show, by Mrs. Lewis Towler of Washington street. The cradle, which is in cherry, was made about 1800 in Pennsylvania.

On exhibit at the Antique Show will be an altar piece made by Mrs. Carl H. Zuber of Squirrel road. Mrs. Zuber belongs to the Michigan Weavers' Guild which is having an exhibition and sale at the show.

Delicate Altar Cloth to Be Featured

A material so fine it was six months in the weaving will be on display in the weaving exhibit at Pontiac's Antique Show. The cloth, made by Mrs. Carl Zuber of Squirrel road, was woven to fashion an altar cloth for Church of the Messiah, Detroit.

* * *

A member of the congregation had brought a brocaded dossal from England for the church altar and material was needed to use with it to make the altar cloth the correct size.

When nothing of suitable color and texture to complement the red, green and gold of the dossal could be purchased, Mrs. Zuber met the challenge by designing and weaving 25 yards of 40-inch material.

Weeks were spent in finding proper thread for the cloth. To get just the right effect, rich, but not garish, Mrs. Zuber used alternate threads of gold color and a metallic thread wound around silk. The warp required 2,400 threads, 60 to the inch.

* * *

For the weft she chose a white silky floss and used an all-over diamond pattern (rosepath) for design.

DIFFICULT TASK

The metallic threads and the floss attracted each other so that the difficulty in weaving was considerable.

* * *

Mrs. Zuber had two deadlines — a church anniversary and moving day for the Zubers who had just built their new home on Squirrel road. The movers arrived before the material was finished.

The loom could not be moved without being taken apart. So the last footage of the warp had to be sacrificed. Plenty of the material remained, however, for the altar cloth to be in place for the church anniversary.

At least 25 members of the Michigan Weaver's Guild will participate in the guild's first Pontiac exhibition and sale. The exhibition will be in connection with the Antique Show to be held at Stevens Hall, All Saints Episcopal Church, April 10, 11, 12.

* * *

Handwoven items designed and crafted by these expert weavers will include everything from towels to ties. For women and girls there will be colorful wool skirts, delicate stoles, handbags in linen, wool, cotton, chenille and lurex, and scarves.

For the home there will be cotton rugs woven in pattern, placemats and tablecloths, guest towels and even washcloths. Scarves and ties will be offered for men. Baby bonnets, baby blankets and bibs will also be shown.

SWEDISH MOTIF

Mrs. James Roach of Birmingham is bringing a large linen tablecloth in natural color with inlay. It is Swedish in influence.

* * *

Mrs. George Hagman of Cranbrook is bringing a variety of items. Mrs. P. H. Hamly of Adams road is showing a sample of upholstery fabric in blue and silver and will have placemats for sale.

Of interest will be an exhibit of 62 samples of handwoven cloth. Articles of noteworthy weaving will also be loaned to the show for exhibition.

The Weaver's Guild, which was organized in Detroit in 1947 with only seven members, now numbers more than 100. The organization holds nine meetings yearly at the Women's City Club in Detroit. Three regional groups in Detroit hold monthly meetings.

* * *

Although many of the guild members have won awards for expert weaving, any woman interested in weaving may join the guild, according to Mrs. Harold D. Watters of Detroit who is acting president of the guild.

From Pontiac guild members are Mrs. Clifford T. Ekelund, Mrs. Edward L. Karkaw, Mrs. H. L. Van Haltern and Mrs. M. F. Macaulay.

RAYMOND YOUNG

Raymond Young of Pontiac is euphonium soloist with the University of Michigan Symphony Band. A graduate student in the School of Music, he has appeared as soloist with the UM Symphony Band in Carnegie Hall of New York, Boston Symphony Hall and Bushnell Auditorium in Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Olive Smith Entertains Group

Mrs. Olive Smith of Rutgers avenue entertained the Albright Daughters Sunday School Class of Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Olive Lempte, vice president, presided at the meeting which she opened with a poem, "Thanks for Today." Devotions were given by Mrs. Elva Remington. Reports were presented by the standing committees.

Following the closing prayer, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sharon Lewis, Roger A. O'Neil Exchange Vows

Sharon Lee Lewis became the bride of Roger Allen O'Neil Friday afternoon at First Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families.

Mrs. Park Lewis of Lexington place is the mother of the bride. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray O'Neil of Motorway drive.

For her wedding, the bride chose a beige lace dress with matching accessories and a pink rose corsage. A single strand of pearls accented her costume.

Mrs. Alvin Martin of Drayton Plains served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a beige dress with green accessories. Gale MacAnally was best man.

Following a honeymoon in Bay City the couple will reside on Lexington place.

"Learning at Home and at School Toward a Vocational Choice" was the topic discussed by the speaker for the day, Sidney Geal, counselor for YMCA.

"There is a difference in making choices of educating children," the speaker said. "They have to learn from birth and no person reaches complete maturity since he is always learning.

"A child cannot succeed unless he has motivation. Every child must have a reason for learning and in the course of learning he should be told that there is a definite result and he should practice what he is learning.

* * *

"In the U. S. today there are 34,000 different kinds of jobs and the average child could possibly only name 35 different ones. It is evident there are many possibilities for today's children."

In closing, the speaker said, "Parents should have the child develop a hobby or something to interest him, and to prepare him for these different jobs."

Mrs. F. Milton Hathaway conducted the election of officers. Mrs. Paul Gorman was elected president, Mrs. John Blamy, first vice president; Mrs. Maxwell Shadley, second vice president; Mrs. George Tallerday, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Knight, corresponding secretary.

Also serving are Mrs. Oliver Filer, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Smith, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Maxwell Doerr, auditor.

Sorority Chapter Colors Easter Eggs

Mrs. Ray Slaughter opened her home on Sanders place Tuesday evening to members of Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Pellon Material Shrinks Slightly When Laundered

Mrs. Consumer has been wondering whether to wash or dry clean skirts lined with Pellon. Research specialists at Cornell University have come up with the answer, says Mrs. Frieda Bennett, Home Demonstration Agent for Oakland County.

Washed in both an automatic washer and by hand, the material laundered well. However, Pellon did shrink slightly. It is suggested that home seamstresses sew Pellon loosely into seams to prevent puckering after washing. When Pellon is attached only at the waist, such as in underskirts on dresses, it can be sewed more firmly.

Dry cleaning Pellon is a different story, the research studies point out. The samples became very yellow after a few cleanings, and when put away for a few weeks the dry cleaned samples became stiff and "boardy."

They did not shrink. The yellowness of such interfacing would be likely to show through in light weight white or light colored materials after a few dry cleanings. Researchers conclude the additional stiffness would be undesirable in some garments.

Janet Lee Gortner Honored at Shower

Mrs. Robert Edward of First avenue entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Janet Lee Gortner Wednesday evening. Thirty-five guests were present.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with a lace cloth and white tapers in crystal candelabra.

How's Your Baby Sitter I.Q. Rate?

Ingenuity, Tact Essential in Care of Children

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What's your baby sitter I.Q.?

If you aren't making a good income out of this occupation, take the advice of other babysitters—you can clean up if you have the right attitude toward the job.

Nine out of ten high school girls seem to earn spare money taking care of youngsters these days, but some of them are more in demand than others.

"Why," I asked one popular girl recently. She thought the reason was this:

"If you remain calm with the children, do not impose too many restrictions on them but watch them carefully and feed them the way they have been accustomed to, they will like you."

She explains that some babysitters keep say "don't, don't, don't" to the children rather than taking the trouble to distract the youngster from the danger he courts or from his uncontrollable urge to be naughty because mama is away. She says:

"It is so much easier to take their minds off what they plan to do than to keep telling them not to do it. But you must take the trouble."

SIT AND SMOKE

Some parents complain that their babysitters just sit and smoke all the time they are in the house, issuing orders to the children like top sergeants.

Others say the sitter really doesn't want to work, she wants to read or watch television in peace and keep the children quiet so she can enjoy herself.

Another babysitter thought that you should try to earn the child's respect by dressing nicely and by being firm but kind. She says:

"I used to wear blue jeans and the kids never would do anything I asked them to. When I started dressing up I seemed to get along with them much better."

Two of the favorite babysitters in our neighborhood have an added qualification that seems to have a calming influence on little hellions: soft voices.

Neither girl raises her voice when speaking to a youngster, and each manages to control them beautifully. One mother was dumbfounded when she arrived home from a shopping trip and found her 2-year-old little boy asleep on the soft. "It's the first time he's ever done that," she said. "Normally he won't sleep anyplace other than his crib."

She attributed his sudden dropping off to the sandman voice of the sitter. "Just as important as a doctor's good besidside manner" she says.

These girls earn the reward of having very little to worry them with children because the children love to mind. What's more, they reap extra pay because they are in demand, and because the mothers are so grateful for their good services.

Even the worst brought up child should be intrigued by the face of the substitute, and usually they are very easily handled if you treat them gently, and let them know you like to be with them.

2 Families Disagree Over Uncle

His Own Relatives Don't Want Him at Wedding

By EMILY POST.

A letter tells me: "My brother is planning to be married in the near future. We have compiled our guest list, omitting one particular relative who has caused a great deal of trouble in our family and much unhappiness.

"However, the bride's parents, who have known my uncle for years, insist upon inviting him, even though they are thoroughly familiar with the situation and know our feelings toward him. Should not the bride's family respect our wishes and not invite him to the wedding?"

Answer: In courtesy, they should respect your wishes. But if they don't, your only resource is to see that he is seated on the bridegroom's side of the church.

"Dear Mrs. Post: While my sister visited me I gave a small tea in her honor, after which most of my friends entertained her. What are her obligations now, and mine, also?"

Answer: Your sister should have paid a party call on each of your friends who showed any hospitality. If she failed to do this before she left town, then she ought to write each of them a note now, to thank them for their kindness. In your turn, you would try to do something for someone who comes to stay with them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When serving tea, is the pourer supposed to lift the teapot up from the tray or let it remain on the tray and just tip it over while pouring. I have seen pourers hold the teapot almost shoulder high, which to me looks very awkward. Will you please tell me the correct way?"

Answer: The pourer lifts the teapot 2 or 3 inches above the rim of the cup and then tips the spout so that it just gently pours the tea into the cup.

He's Paying You Back for All Those Hurts

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going steady with Jack for four months and we're very much in love and everyone knows it.

"But lately he has been accusing me of liking other boys. When he knows that one of them likes me, he won't call or come to see me at all.

"I am quite popular with the boys and I could go with any of them, and that's why Jack gets mad when the boys talk to me.

"Jack didn't ask me to go to the game, so I went with my sister. After the game was over, he took three girls riding around.

"I had asked him earlier if he could drive me home, but he said it wouldn't be possible! He doesn't know I saw him taking those girls riding.

"Do you think I should wait until he calls me and see if he wants to break up, or should I call him and tell him I know what he has been doing lately? I want to get him back before it's too late for both of us!"

Answer: Jack, it would seem, has set out on purpose to hurt you. And it's just to pay you back for all the hurt you've handed him. As though tit-for-tat would even the score. If you allow it to continue, you'll break up for sure. But let's get back to the beginning.

Jack's jealous of your popularity with other boys. He doesn't consider it the innocent, idle fun that you think it is. If you love him as he hopes you do, he thinks all this persiflage with other boys is strictly unnecessary.

You" oughtn't to care about them at all. You oughtn't to have time to talk with them. You should have no interest in laughing with them, teasing them, spending any of your precious time with them.

Their interest in you, which you encourage, drives him wild. You're supposed to be a one-man woman, at the moment, Jack's.

So he "gets mad" periodically. He sulks in silence. He worries and fumes. Recently he decided to give you a taste of your own medicine.

He'd give a ride to some of the girls and make sure that you saw him! An innocent escapade, to his way of thinking. But look what you've made of it!

You're jealous now. You're worried sick. You're ready to make a big issue of it.

But calm down, instead. Try to understand. Just be sorry that you feel you must hurt each other.

Say nothing about that joyride of Jack's. When he calls, dish out real interest, enthusiastic devotion. Make him feel he's the only man in your world.

That boy needs reassurance. And so do you. And you'll get yours if you can persuade him that you've put your whole heart and mind into going steady with him!

Dance Club Election Set for April 10

Robert Longe was master of ceremonies for the Promenaders Square Dance Club, when the group met at Daniel Whitfield School Tuesday evening.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gunn and Mr. and Mrs. James Hampton were guests for the evening.

Welcomed as new members were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Porritt and Mr. and Mrs. William Blackledge.

One of the lively quadrilles, "Harlem Rosette," was called by Harry Anderson. Others calling were Robert Longe, Robert Earl, Warren Allen and Ralph Irland.

* * *

Howard Bond announced the nominees for officers of the club. Election will be held at the April 10 dinner-dance in the Waterford CAI building. Robert Quinn is handling reservations for the affair.

Pleated Skirt Good Disguise for Teenagers

With today's fashions firmly in the pencil-slim, ruler-straight department, it's important to remember that teeners have other needs than the latest in style.

Teen-agers want clothes they can wear five days a week without the aid of pantie girdle. Sure, teenagers own pantie girdles in plenty, but when one has to skin in and out of an entire outfit twice a week for gym class, who's going to wear clothes that demand wiggling?

A well-pleated skirt is the loved disguise that teens turn to by instinct.

* * *

It should be picked with care. The first requirement for masquerading of the hips is that the pleats shouldn't break over the fattest part. If they do, the wearer will look about three times hippier.

If the skirt hangs smoothly over the hips and drops in a straight line from the widest part, it may have a waist that's too big. It's still the one to buy. Remove the waistband, take the necessary small darts between pleats or ease the fabric, then put the waistband back on. Allow the waistband excess to lie under the placket.

Party frocks are important to the younger set too. Pictured is a cotton and dacron blended dress that looks like silk. The dress is French blue trimmed with white lace on the puff sleeves and permanently pleated collar. The full skirt is sashed with a self cummerbund.

Wardrobe, Specs Should Harmonize

If you're buying new eyeglass frames and can afford just one pair, resist the flowered or jeweled types. These are for dressy occasions and evening only.

Pick a fram that will harmonize with everything in your wardrobe. Sounds difficult but can be done since most of us have favorite clothing colors.

Ever Think of This? Can Save You Money

Here's how, if you're a bargain hunter: read the number of tissues on the end of the box and divide it into the price.

This tells you how much each tissue is. Unless you've got some other reason, the most economical buy per tissue in the best, regardless of the size of the box.

Musicale's Workshop Has Meeting

The Workshop of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale met Tuesday afternoon at the West Iroquois road home of Elda Suter. The topic "Film Music" was discussed by Mrs. Paul Kern. She explained the importance of music in connection with the movies.

* * *

The progress in the type of music and in its production was an aspect of Mrs. Kern's talk. She stated that the absence of music in films today as in the earliest days would leave much to be desired.

The success of films greatly depends on the background music for creating the intended atmosphere. Consequently, music holds a key position in the film industry, Mrs. Kern noted.

Soloists on the program were Mrs. Ralph Norvell, Mrs. Martin Wager, Mrs. William Furlong, Mrs. George Putnam, Mrs. P. E. Colton, Mrs. Gordon Woolcock and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer. Mrs. Howard Heldenbrand, Mrs. Wager and Miss Sutter served as accompanists.

* * *

Mrs. Norvell and Mrs. Colton assisted the hostess.

Mrs. John Nicolls Jr., chairman of the workshop, announced May 1 as the date for the next meeting.

New Knitted Outfit Ideal for Traveling

A new, all-season knitted costume ideal for traveling was recently introduced in New York.

It consists of a sleeveless sheath and matching jacket of knitted black-and-white Acrilon. During a demonstration, it was washed, dried and ready to wear in 40 minutes.

A woman will buy something because nobody has one or because everybody has one.

U. S. Women Just 'Wish' Into Beauty

Cecil Beaton Cites Uncanny Quality of American Ladies

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

American women have the uncanny ability to "wish" themselves into any mold they choose, observes Cecil Beaton, British photographer, author, artist, designer, lecturer and actor.

* * *

"It seems to me that today all American women have high cheekbones, long, graceful legs, delicate wrists and thin hands," says Beaton, who has studied beauty of many nationalities in his capacity as official photographer to Britain's royal family.

"A generation ago nobody had high cheekbones. Now everybody has them. I don't really understand how women manage to change their actual bone structure, but apparently they do. I think it all started with somebody like Marlene Dietrich.

* * *

Beaton, in New York in connection with the opening of the Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady", for which he designed the costumes, is tall, suave, faultlessly tailored and silver-haired, with a shrewd twinkle in his blue eyes. Discussing the difference between American and British beauty, he says:

"British women are much more bound by tradition than Americans. They are more swayed by parental and family influences. And they look awful on the beach. Somehow they are not made for exposure.

* * *

"American women are much more fashionable than the British, except for the most glittering occasions. For a grand ball, an English woman can get her old lame dress out of the attic, put on her jewels and look magnificent, whereas the American woman is likely to look more as if she had stepped out of a Fifth Avenue shop window, wearing all the best merchandise. I think this is because American women really don't believe in the grand effect. They are better at simplicity and the casual air."

Sibyl McQueen Becomes Bride of Paul Rompf

Mrs. Mamie Dawson of Columbus, Ohio, and Leroy W. Dawson of Augusta avenue are announcing the March 16 marriage of their daughter, Sibyl McQueen, and Paul Rompf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rompf of Raskob street.

* * *

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theodore Wuggazer in Redeemer Lutheran Church of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Verland Anding, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the couple.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner were held at Hotel Statler in Detroit. The newlyweds are making their home in Dearborn.

Hat Makes or Mars Coat's Appearance

The hat you wear can make or mar the appearance of your topcoat. The popular wool felt Belmont dent (or single crease) hat is a good choice for any of the more dressy coats, and a homburg will add greatly to the appearance of the formal semi-fitted or chesterfield models.

"Country squires" should seek out the porkpie and tyrolean small shape hats—and the more courageous fellow might consider one of the smart new Flattop hats with narrow brim and no crease or dent in the crown.

Pumps Still in Style

The pump (or the pump with a single strap) is still the shoe for daytime wear this spring. But for late day and evening, your shoes will be the merest wisps of sandals.

Co-Ans to Stage April 23 Party

The Co-An Group of Pontiac General Hospital is sponsoring a card party and style show April 23 in the Civic Room of Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

* * *

Co-Ans are members of the nursing staff including nurses, orderlies and aids. Proceeds from the affair will be used to furnish a classroom at the hospital.

* * *

Cochairmen of the party are Helen Harper and Mrs. Rudy Giglio. Tickets for the affair, beginning at 7 p. m., may be purchased from members or at the hospital.

Association Meeting Held

Mrs. Eldon Powley gave the call to worship at the Tuesday meeting of the Women's Association of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Members participated in a song service conducted by Mrs. Charles Bradsher accompanied by Mrs. Laura Luck. Mrs. Gerald Schultz gave devotions using as her subject, "Dedicated Lives," taken from Romans. Mrs. Luck sang a solo following the devotions.

The Junior Missionary boys and girls of the church presented a challenging play entitled "On Wings of Prayer," concluding the program portion of the meeting.

In the business meeting the budget for the year was approved and the constitution adopted. Chairmen of the work groups drew women's names to be used as the names of the groups, rather than the numbers used previously.

These names were taken from a group of women who are working in one of the United Presbyterian Church missionary fields.

Selected were: Group one, Eleanor Creswell; group two, Ann McGeogh; group three; Marjorie Peters; group four, Eleanor van Lierop, and group five, Lillian McVane.

The program and refreshments served following the meeting were arranged by members of Group Three. The next quarterly meeting will be held June 26 at the church.

Birmingham Council of United Church Women to Aid Migrant Ministry

Station Wagon to Be Donated to Cause

In line with the policy of supporting home as well as foreign missions, the Birmingham Council of the United Church Women invited Mrs. John Graham to speak at the March meeting. Mrs. Graham is public relations chairman for the Michigan Migrant Ministry.

* * *

Mrs. Graham showed slides taken in Michigan of a cross-section of 60,000 workers who come to Michigan to work each year. She pointed out that many of them arrive in April and live in tents and poor housing. As a result, many of their youngsters contract pneumonia and die.

The Migrant Ministry was started as the result of the curiosity of an undertaker's wife who could not understand the large demand for small-sized coffins.

The ministry, with its office in Paw Paw, has had the use of a station wagon, called the Harvester, for three months of the year.

* * *

The Birmingham Church Women have decided to buy and donate to the Michigan Migrant Ministry a station wagon for the exclusive use of the ministry. The women hope that an organization will equip the station wagon with the necessary organ, hymnals, medicines, soaps and health charts for work with migrants.

* * *

Each member of the United Church Women has pledged to inform her individual church groups of the project and to ask each member for a donation.

* * *

Mrs. Newell Allen is president of the Birmingham Council of the United Church Women and Mrs. Harry Cook is serving as chairman of migrants.

Representatives from the various churches include Mrs. Frazer Pomeroy, Mrs. Helmut Sievers, Mrs. George Hardin, Mrs. Ward Folsom and Mrs. Glen Nagle.

Mrs. Archie Livingston, Mrs. John S. Cooper, Mrs. Ralph E. Woodburn, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Hugh Hemphill, Mrs. Melvin Teague, Mrs. Meeks, Mrs. D. C. Ensign and Mrs. George A. Jacoby are others.

Big, Curious Buttons Now in Fashion

PARIS (INS) — The "corniest" buttons in Paris are made of wheat grains, sunflower seeds and rice.

You can wear the simplest suit or dress this season as long as it is trimmed with large, curious buttons. Dior himself shows buttons appetizing enough for people, birds and mice. He uses them in a single or double row as the main attraction on some of his 1956 creations.

Some of these buttons look as if they had been taken from a museum of primitive art. Imaging a flat round disk of one or one-and-a-half inch diameter covered with sticky glue.

You dip this disk into a plate filled with either wheat, sunflower seeds or rice, so that a layer of the grains covers the disk in an irregular pattern. You dry it so that the grains stick well and you have the latest model in Parisian buttons.

Besides these extraordinary buttons there are other stunning models covered with minerals, coral and even tiny pebbles. The principle is the same.

Sometimes Dior uses grainy granite stone in dark-grey and white or coral as it grows naturally in little sticks to cover one-inch buttons. One button model is simply covered with small pebbles in their natural grey, brown and bluish shades.

A plain sand colored linen suit is trimmed with coral covered buttons and worn with a coral shaded silk blouse.

Coiffure Hint to Save You in Emergency

Busy-woman coiffure hint from Lilly Dache: If you "couldn't get to the hairdresser" before a party, here's an emergency pickup for oily or bedraggled hairdos:

Part the hair in narrow strips and spray the scalp thoroughly with light toilet water or cologne until scalp (not the hair) is wet. Rub the scalp and hair with finger tips until the liquid dampens the hair.

Let dry a few seconds, then brush firmly back from the hairline, pushing hair into place immediately afterward to reform your normal coiffure. Now wet with the scented liquid a few locks here and there where you have the "accents" in your coiffure and make pin curles.

Let these dry while you have your bath and dress. At the last minute brush them out and you are ready.

Warning: this is a surefire method but is apt to dry the hair if used too often.

Omega Mu Sigma Welcomes Pledges

The formal pledging of Mrs. Robert Reynolds and Mrs. Jack C. Gunther was conducted at the Tuesday evening meeting of Omega Mu Sigma sorority. Mrs. Harold Frock was hostess to the group at her home on Foley drive.

Plans were made for a theater party on April 10 and a cooperative dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Livingston on Woodbine drive in the near future.

Mrs. Kuja Kojima assisted the hostess with refreshments served from a buffet table decorated in the Easter motif.

Secretary Must Be True Diplomat

The modern secretary possesses a combination of many talents. Gone are the days when she need only take dictation, type, file, make appointments, answer the telephone.

* * *

Today's secretary must also be adept at spelling, punctuating, detecting grammatical errors, developing and maintaining filing systems, greeting callers, handling telephone calls, reconciling checking accounts, and preparing statements and reports.

She must be intelligent, alert, interested and agreeable. She must possess a good memory, keep confidences, be a mind reader, show no prejudice, possess a strong sense of loyalty, and be smartly groomed and dressed at all times.

The secretary has the power to make an office run smoothly and to increase and enhance the business, or to turn everything into chaos and drive potential customers away.

* * *

A good secretary is genuinely interested in the person who comes into her office. She treats everyone graciously and courteously regardless of who he may be or how worrisome he may be.

PHONE MANNERS

The best secretary in the world can be damaging to a business if she doesn't practice good telephone manners and habits.

* * *

Letters are another vital part of a company's public relations. The appearance of the secretary's office and desk has a lot to do with impressions created for the general public.

In appearance she should be well-groomed, neat, and not flashily dressed. Her attitude toward her work is a major factor. A secretary first must be sold on her company before she can sell other people on the idea that it is one of the best.

A secretary is constantly faced with the sudden necessity of meeting new situations. She must be familiar with company policies and be ready to make good and accurate decisions.

* * *

The secretary must remember that little things mean a lot—such as returning telephone calls promptly, delivering messages accurately and answering letters without unnecessary delay.

Public relations is a constant thing. For the secretary, however, the reward makes all the effort worthwhile. She has the satisfaction of knowing that she has helped promote goodwill for her company and her business. And in the process of doing this she has given the American public a high opinion of the secretary.

* * *

One hundred and ninety employers now know how lucky they are: That number of secretaries passed the latest Certified Professional Secretaries examination, giving them tangible proof of their capabilities.

The two-day examination, sponsored by the National Secretaries Association, International, and now in the fifth year, covers personal adjustment and human relations, business law, economics and business administration, secretarial accounting, stenography, and general secretarial and office procedures.

The new test-passers (about one out of four who take the exams) bring the national CPS total to 772—including three blissfully outnumbered men.

Here are some of the hats selected by Mamie Eisenhower for her Easter wardrobe. Model Susanne Erichsen wears one of the Sally Victor hats, a flower pillbox of pink, blue and yellow forget-me-nots, while holding a pair of white ballibuntl sailors. The one at left has a white organdy drape around the crown and a single pink rose; the sailor at right features a fluted brim with white lace decoration. On the counter (left to right) are a white cotton lace pillbox on a black velvet base; a four-leaf clover pillbox covered with yellow mimosa; a small white straw cap and a black strawcloth four-pointed hat.

Club Plans Easter Events

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Easter plans at Oakland Hills Country Club begin with a dinner-dance Saturday evening and continue on Sunday afternoon with the traditional children's party.

Mickey O'Malley will be master of ceremonies. He is also a magician and a great favorite with the kindergarten set.

Tony Hosang will also be there with his trained dogs, and supper will be served at the end of the program.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. LeMessurier will be hosts at a dinner party Saturday evening in their Barbour terrace home. The occasion will be in honor of Mrs. LeMessurier's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Anderson, who will celebrate their wedding anniversary.

The Andersons' son-in-law and daughter, the Harry Stengleins, will come down from Bay City for the event and another daughter, Marynell, will also attend.

Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Nauman of Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Schirmer and Philip LeMessurier.

TO BE CHRISTENED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Saunders will be hosts at a supper Saturday evening after the afternoon christening of their small son, Robert William Saunders Jr. Sponsors for the young man will be Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm W. Welty and S. Gordon Saunders.

John G. Wood returned Tuesday from a stay in Miami Beach. Mrs. Wood stayed down for another fortnight with their daughter, Judy, who flew down last week. She is having her vacation from Kingswood School Cranbrook.

* * *

Mrs. Edward P. Turner was hostess at a luncheon in her home Tuesday afternoon.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Roger M. Kyes have three of their daughters home from as many schools for spring vacation. Frances came from Northampton, Mass., where she attends Smith College, Caroline from Boston where she is a student at Katharine Gibbs and Kathy Kyes came from Emma Willard School in Troy, N. Y.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schirmer will entertain a group of friends at supper Easter evening.

Meeting Held by Music Guild

Oscar Schmidt, president of the Pontiac Music Guild, presided at the Tuesday evening meeting. The group met at the home of Elda Sutter on West Iroquois road, with Mrs. Carl Clifford assiting.

Announcement was made of a piano workshop to be conducted by Dr. Henry Colby of Detroit at the First Congregational Church on four successive Mondays beginning April 16. Mrs. Everett Russell is chairman of the workshop and will handle enrollments.

Mrs. Don Derragon was program chairman. Mrs. Paul Colton played several organ numbers and Mrs. Martin Wager, cellist, presented several numbers suitable to the Lenten season, accompanied by Charles A. Wilson.

PTSA Conducts Election

Mrs. Thomas Johnson was elected to head Madison Junior High School PTSA Wednesday evening when it met at Wever School. Mrs. Francis Oak presided at the election.

Mrs. William Anderson is mother vice president; C. R. McAllister, father vice president; William Coffin, teacher vice president; Mrs. Lyle Cox, secretary; Mrs. Wayne Weaver, treasurer, and Mrs. Norman Mallory, historian.

Council delegates are Mrs. Sidney Olson, Mrs. Virgil Everett and Mrs. Robert Gilroy. A safety committee composed of Mrs. Johnson, Mr. McAllister, Robert Lake and Anton Koenig was appointed.

The group voted to contribute toward a hi-fi system for the Student Council at the school.

The Rev. Edward Auchard of the First Presbyterian Church spoke on "James Madison, Our Fourth President."

Members of the ninth grade girls' choral group sang several selections.

Untrained Folks Good Inventors

MSU Prof Says Study Reveals Professionals Not Always the Best

EAST LANSING (AP) — Don't laugh at your neighbor who is tinkering with a better mousetrap in his garage or trying to build a bigger atom bomb in his basement.

He might come up with something surprising, according to Dr. Jacob Schmookler, assistant professor of economics at Michigan State University.

Schmookler made a survey which he said showed that about one third of the patented discoveries are made by persons not trained in science or technology and about 45 per cent of all inventions are by persons without college degrees.

* * *

"The prevailing view that invention today is the exclusive stamping ground of salaried expert scientists working in laboratories of large corporations—surrounded by mysterious instrument panels, electronic brains and other scientists—does not stand up under investigation," the MSU professor said.

"But continued public belief in this erroneous view may make it true," he said. "If potential inventors believe the field has been taken over entirely by persons hired to invent they may be discouraged and fail to invent."

Schmookler said his research indicated that although the contributions of independent inventors are smaller than before, one fourth of the patented inventions still come from the independents and only about one half come out of laboratories.

* * *

The increase in leisure time and do-it-yourself hobbies may result in even more inventions by the non-experts, he said.

New Zealand Warns Against Home Accidents

AUKLAND — Hazards of the home are listed in a new report by New Zealand's Health Department in Wellington. Here are a few of them: A woman lacerated her eye on her corset. Another dislocated her thumb undoing her braissiere.

A man caught his eyelid against a book. A woman fell at a party and was trampled on. Seven people were injured from sneezing, coughing or yawning. Left-handed people suffered more accidents than right-handed people. There were 540 more accidents in the last fiscal year in homes than on the streets or highways.

QUICK SWITCH — Papa, leaving class takes over the baby from Mama as she prepares to enter class.

Baby in College Is Help to Education of Parents

WHITEWATER, Wis. (AP)—Mitchell Alfred Custer is going to college, although he is only 5 months old. Every week day, he's bundled into a snow suit and a carrying sling and trotted off to the campus of Whitewater State College.

* * *

He gets only to the door of the classroom where Mama hands him to Papa—or the other way around—and then he is taken back home. His parents, Shirley and Elmer Custer find that is the only way they can both go on with their education. There is only five minutes between classes. Somebody has to mind the baby.

Shirley and Elmer set up their class schedules so that neither has a class at the same time as the other. The quick change is made when one has a class in the period following that of the other.

Elmer is a freshman going to school under the GI bill. Shirley is adding the few credits she needs for a degree from Oshkosh State College where she was a student when she married Elmer.

Those Poor Old Horses, They Just Can't Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—A horse trough was moved into storage by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals after it was knocked off its stone legs by an automobile.

The SPCA said there was no use setting it back up; horsedrawn vehicles have been banned from that street during rush hours and for all practical purposes.

Special Channel Lights

Special lights have been installed around the base of the 150-foot-high lighthouse on Flat Holm in the Bristol Channel, England. The lighthouse lies in the path of migratory birds and thousands, blinded by the beam, have dashed themselves to death.

Plan Children's Home

A home for children whose mothers suffer from tuberculosis will be started in Alexandra, South Africa. Many non-European mothers won't take TB treatments because they fear their children will either be neglected or sent away to institutions.

TV Buyer Protection

The British Government has been asked to protect people who buy TV sets and sign service agreements believeing they are insuring against breakdown and repairs. These are not valid insurance policies, says Sir Leslie Plummer, Member of Parliament.

Arizona's state name comes from two Indian words which are "ari" meaning small, and "zonac" meaning spring, according to accepted versions.

The Political Scene

Eisenhower Solid Choice to Sweep Through Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A political survey of Utah points straight at one conclusion: this is now Eisenhower country.

President Eisenhower carried the state in 1952 although most top Republicans in Utah preferred the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the nomination.

Even as bitter a critic as Republican Gov. J. Bracken Lee says now that Eisenhower is more popular than he was four years ago (Not with Lee, though.)

"I'm perfectly satisfied with the administration," a young clerk says from behind the counter of a general store in Layton. He voted for Eisenhower in '52.

* * *

In pro-Democratic Ogden, an old time railroad man says he voted for Adlai Stevenson last time and may do so again. But, he adds, "I feel Ike has done a good job."

DEMS FIGHT HUGE

Aside from Eisenhower's personal appeal, two factors work against Democratic prospects. One is business prosperity. The other is Ezra Taft Benson and the Mormon Church.

Retail trade, which broke all records nationally and locally in December, jumped 10 to 15 per cent above 1955 in January. Fabricated metals plants are six months behind in production. Copper mill payrolls are big and steady. Bank debits are 'way up.

* * *

And when you ask the farmer about sagging receipts, he'll likely blame his troubles on someone other than Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

"Generally speaking, our farmers are not satisfied with the situation," said Frank G. Shelley, manager of the Utah Farm Bureau Federation, "but they feel the present administration is doing the best job it can."

BENSON GOP ASSET

Possibly more to the point, one fellow in nearby Weber County remarked, "You forget Ezra Taft's from Utah." Everybody you talk to mentions that.

Whatever he may be elsewhere, Benson is a GOP asset in Utah, where upwards of 60 per cent of the people are Mormons. He is one of the Council of Twelve Apostles, second highest governing body of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

* * *

State officials, all Republicans, are overwhelmingly Mormon. Lee is an exception.

Henry Moyle, another of the Twelve Apostles, shed no light to a reporter trying to establish the church's attitude on the presidential campaign.

"The church," he said, "is not engaged in partisan politics."

Unnerved Judge Delays 'Eye-Popping Case'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Municipal Court Judge James Demopolos was subjected to an eye-popping experience.

"He staggered, his speech was incoherent and his eyes bloodshot," a patrolman said in citing evidence against a defendant charged with drunk driving.

The defendant then insisted on a private conference with the judge. In the judge's chamber, the defendant disengaged a glass eye.

"I just want you to know that this glass eye is made with bloodshot streaks in it and that it wasn't my real eye," he said.

The judge, a bit unnerved, postponed a decision in the case.

World War II Hero Dies in Jet Crash

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A hero of the New Guinea campaign in World War II was killed yesterday in the fiery crash of a B47 Stratojet bomber.

Lt. Col. William H. Dames, 34, of Oconomowoc, Wis., was one of three men killed when the bomber exploded and crashed at the edge of a residential area here. It had just taken off from McConnell Air Force Base.

Dames won fame as the leader of a ground attack that drove the Japanese out of Buna Mission, New Guinea, in 1943. He was then a National Guard infantry captain with the 32nd Division.

He transferred to the air force shortly after that and returned to action at Iwo Jima in 1944 as a fighter pilot.

Also killed in the crash were Capt. William C. Craggs, 34, Wichita, and 1st Lt. John G. Leysath, 24, North, S.C.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FLOWERS FOR EASTER

The flower shops are filled with beautiful spring flowers at Easter time and everyone likes to have some in his home. Jonquils, hyacinths and tulips are always favorites, because of their brilliant and varied color.

Sometimes flowers for gifts have the flower pot dressed up with crepe paper frills and ribbons.

Here is a Junior Editor in a flower shop, trying to decide what she is going to take home for Mother. The bright sunshine outside makes everything look so beautiful it is difficult to make a choice.

This is a picture to color and the brighter and clearer you make the colors, the more it will look like a real flower shop.

If you are near the stores, look in a flower shop window and you will get ideas about coloring flowers.

Perhaps you have an idea for Junior Editors. Send it in care of this newspaper and you may win $10.

TOMORROW: Anthem for Easter

Mexican Vessel Burns, Sinks

Believe None of 50 Aboard Survive; Patrol Rescue Plane Crashes

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Mexican motor vessel Matul, reportedly carrying 50 passengers, burned and sank in the Gulf of Campeche last night with no known survivors the Coast Guard said.

* * *

A Mexican patrol bomber, sent to look for survivors, crashed 20 miles from the scene of last night's sinking. The wreckage was taken in tow but there was no information on the fate of the crewmen. The plane normally would carry four or five men.

The motor vessel was said to have sunk 60 miles north-northwest off Campeche, on the Yucatan Peninsula, while on a 360-mile trip from Campeche to Veracruz on the eastern coast of Mexico.

* * *

A report from Tampico, Mexico, said the ship sent out SOS calls yesterday saying that it was burning and had "several passengers aboard." The SOS calls continued throughout the afternoon. The ship sank about 6 p.m.

The ship did not say if it carried lifeboats.

The Coast Guard said no SOS calls were heard in New Orleans; Galveston, Tex.; Mobile, Ala.; or by a ship about 200 miles away from the scene of the sinking.

* * *

The Coast Guard cutter Dione of Freeport, Tex., and a patrol plane from Corpus Christi, Tex., were sent to aid in the search. A dozen United States fishing vessels, three merchant ships and many Mexican boats already were on the scene.

Wife Heaves Statue at Hubby; He Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Albert Babdaty won a divorce on testimony that his wife, Martha, broke a statuette of St. Francis of Assisi over his head.

She took a statuette to court yesterday to prove it is still unbroken and unmended. But Babdaty insisted the statuette she exhibited is not the one with which, he said, she struck him over the head on the day of their final estrangement, April 24, 1955.

The one that hit him, he said, looked and felt much bigger.

Mrs. Babdaty, who cried during the entire hearing, opposed his divorce petition and asked $510 monthly alimony. The court denied her alimony but directed Babdaty to pay her lawyers $650.

Ike and Dulles Closeted on President's Return

WASHINGTON (AP)—A two-hour conference between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles followed closely yesterday Eisenhower's return from his "Little Summit" meeting.

* * *

Dulles said they talked over "an accumulation of business," but he declined to give any details. He said no urgency was involved.

* * *

The two met at the White House 1¼ hours after Eisenhower returned from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. There he had met Cortines of Mexico and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada.

School Pay Increased

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The Board of Educaton has approved pay raises for the next school year for principals and supervisors, cafeteria employes and maintenance staff. Salaries for principals will range from $6,645 to $8,533. Present base is $6,396.

Gasoline Tank Spills

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard, fearing a lake of escaped gasoline at the Hewitt Oil Terminals might turn into a holocaust, has banned visitors to the area. A valve in a 3½ million gallon storage tank let loose Tuesday, flooding part of the terminal with 86-octane fuel. Workmen are attempting to salvage some of the gasoline in pumping operation that will take about three days.

Policemen's Ball Off

DENVER (AP)—For the first time in 37 years, local police will forego their annual Policeman's ball since a pay raise was approved at a special election March 20. Sgt. Thomas L. O'Neill explained, "We didn't feel it was fair to ask the public to support a dance after giving us the pay raise."

Sale of Orchids by Corps League Opens on Friday

Annual Orchid Sale of the Marine Corps League takes place tomorrow and Saturday on Pontiac streets, when residents will get live orchids fresh flown from Hawaii in return for their contributions to charities and the league fund.

* * *

Three thousand orchids, most of them purple, arrived at Willow Run Wednesday afternoon, sale chairman Anthony Renne said today.

'Each flower will be individually wrapped in a cellophane bag, with a lapel pin and the League label," Renne said. "If they're kept at a 35-degree temperature, they should keep until Easter Sunday."

* * *

Members of the Keego Harbor Boys' Club will assist League and Auxiliary members in the street corner selling.

* * *

Proceeds of the sale will be divided among selected local charities and the League service and rehabilitation fund, Renne said. He added the orchid is the official flower of the Marine Corps League.

Supply of Gasoline Hits All-Time High

NEW YORK (INS)—The American Petroleum Institute reported today a sharp rise in gasoline stocks to a new all-time high during the week ended March 23.

Crude oil production increased slightly in the same period.

According to the institute, gasoline stocks last week increased 860,000 barrels to an unprecedented 196,801,000 barrels. Gasoline stocks in storage at this time a year ago amounted to 184,157,000 barrels.

The institute placed daily crude oil production, including condensate, in the week ended March 23 at 7,163,265 barrels. This was a gain of 9,865 barrels over the previous week.

Total U. S. daily oil imports last week increased 17,000 barrels last week increased 17,000 barrels to 1,416,200 barrels. This followed a rise of 159,300 barrels in the preceding week.

57th Traffic Death

$5½ Million Allocated for Bell Expansion Plan

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has allocated $5,500,000 for contruction and investment this year at its Grand Rapids facilities.

Manager Berle D. Slack yesterday said improvements will enable the Grand Rapids office to serve 6,000 additional customers. Direct long distance dialing by Grand Rapids subscribers still is scheduled for 1957, he added.

Hold Hamtramck Man in Shotgun Murder

NEW BALTIMORE (AP)—Police today held Henry Haller, 40, of Hamtramck, for investigation in the shotgun slaying of Matthew Joseph Spieler, 45, of St. Clair County.

Sheriff's deputies said Spieler was shot to death last night at the home of Gertrude Beitler, 51, three miles north of nearby Fair Haven.

She was held as a police witness.

Haller said the shooting was accidental.

Senate Passes Layoff Pay Plan

Proposal Goes Back to House in Same Form It Was Defeated

LANSING (AP) — The issue of curbing private supplemental layoff pay loans today was booted by the Senate back to the House which turned thumbs down three weeks ago.

It was returned in the same form in which it met House defeat at the hands of Democrats joined by a handful of Republicans.

* * *

In the Senate where the Republican majority is topheavy, the restrictive plan was reinserted Wednesday in an emasculated bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate on March 7.

JOINT DRAWAL

Under the bill as restored by the Senate, a worker could draw jointly from state unemployment compensation and a private supplemental layoff plan a maximum total amount equal to two thirds of his normal earnings after taxes.

* * *

No more than $25 a week could come from layoff pay.

Badly outnumbered, Democrats battled hopelessly against the majority move, despite the defection of three Republicans.

On passage of the bill, the vote was 20 to 10, with 18 favorable votes required. The important test on restoring to the bill the controversial language eliminated in the House won 17 to 13.

The legislation obviously was inspired by contracts negotiated in the auto industry last year providing for a maximum on combined payments of 65 per cent of a worker's normal income.

Construction of the Washington monument here was at a cost of $1,187,710.

State Officials Solve Case of 'Scarlet Beer Drinkers'

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department reported today it has solved the case of the Grand Rapids hardware plant employes who turned a cherry red after drinking beer.

* * *

John Soet, the department's director of occupational health, said the men apparently suffered a toxic reaction after working with metal cleaning solvents.

He said after the case was reported from Grand Rapids, many other firms throughout the country told of similar circumstances.

Eight workers in the Grand Rapids firm complained if they drank beer or alcoholic beverages after work, their faces and arms turned a cherry red and they were troubled with a rapid heart beat, nausea and general discomfort.

Soet said health department industrial specialists worked on the problem and that ventilation, plus isolation of the area where the cleaning solvents are used, apparently brought an end to the difficulty.

* * *

In the Grand Rapids plant, he said, workers were using a solvent known as trichloreythlene to clean hardware fixtures and a compound called pyradiene to prevent rusting.

Soet said several metal cleaning solvents will cause similar reactions of varied intensity. Exposure to the fumes of the two compounds simultaneously apparently has a greater potential toxic effect, he said.

The reaction is triggered, Soet said, when the person exposed and sensitive to the fumes of the compounds drinks an alcoholic beverage.

"In this instance," he said, "there is no evidence that the reaction has anything but a temporary effect on the body."

Detroit Teachers Gain

LANSING (INS)—Detroit school teachers were made eligible for Federal Social Security in addition to retirement pensions under a bill passed unanimously by the State Senate yesterday.

The bill now goes to the Governor. Outstate school systems already have adjusted their retirement plans to include Social Security benefits.

Arsonist Given 5-30 Yrs.

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Elza John Watson, 35, convicted of arson in a house fire last September, was sentenced to 5 to 30 years in Southern Michigan Prison. He was found guilty of setting fire to a house he had insured for $13,000.

APPLE BLOSSOM QUEEN — Miss Laura MacArthur, 19, of Washington, great niece of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, will reign as queen of the 29th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Va., April 26 and 27. Miss MacArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur II, is a freshman at George Washington University. Her father is a counselor for the U. S. State Department.

Canada Advocates 'Unifying Election' to Settle Indochina Political Unrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada is seeking to push the Indochina stalemate off dead center far enough to hold talks about unifying elections—if not the elections themselves.

* * *

Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson is understood to be doing most of the pushing. He dined here last night with Secretary of State Dulles and has arranged to confer in New York tomorrow with India's V. K. Krishna Menon.

Canada and India are members of the international truce commission in Indochina. Communist Poland is the third member.

"STRONG MAN" DIEM

As things now stand, the biggest Indochina state of Viet Nam is divided between the Communists in the North and the west-backed government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in the South.

* * *

Diem's strength has grown from rebel - badgered shakiness to a peak reached with election this month of a constituent assembly in which his supporters hold most of the seats. It is expected to produce a constitution giving Diem much power.

Diem is strongly opposed to holding unifying elections this year. Under the Indochina truce of 1954, such elections were to be held in July of this year to permit all the people of Viet Nam to vote on whether they want the Communists or Diem's government to rule the whole state.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

Diem argues that his government is not bound by the 1954 truce since South Viet Nam did not sign it. The French, who formerly controlled Indochina, did.

His refusal to make plans for elections has been the target of Red propaganda. This has disturbed American and other Western officials.

* * *

Dulles reportedly believes that during his recent Far East tour he softened Diem's opposition to meeting with the Reds of North Viet Nam to talk about holding the election.

ELECTION IMPOSSIBLE

Some Western officials say Diem should at least go through the motions although they concede that Viet Nam, like Korea and Germany, probably will remain divided for some time. They say the West never should appear to oppose free elections.

On this point, Diem has argued that what he calls Communist terrorism makes it impossible to hold free elections in the North. But he is reported to have conceded that some purpose might be served by talking about really free elections to be held at some future time.

* * *

Canada's interest springs from its reluctance to be frozen into a long stay in Indochina. The Canadians have fewer than 200 nationals in Indochina; the Poles there number a great many more. The Indians are in charge of the inspection team.

Farmers Will Enjoy Water Heated by Sun

SYDNEY — Farmers in New South Wales are likely to be the first in Australia to have hot water on their farms heated by the sun's rays. Experiments with solar heaters are being made on two farms. If they are successful it is expected that the ray system will be widely accepted.

The heaters, designed by the Commonwealth Scientific Research Organization, were obtained with funds from a dairy industry grant. Reflectors to catch the sun's rays are placed on the roof of the dairy and the hot water is drained to a tank and stored until needed.

Security Check Total

WASHINGTON—More than 5,000,000 Americans are drawing Social Security checks, with several hundred thousand others receiving an income under various Government plans.

The United States is one of the few countries left in the world where the railroads are still owned and operated by private enterprise.

Corrosive Protective

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Crucibles and other equipment made of platinum are used in the optical industry for handling special types of glass, such as rare-earth fluoride glasses, which are extremely corrosive to other matterials.

Fire Kills 5 Children

CASSELMAN, Ont. (INS) — Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Quesnel, all under 7 years of age, were burned to death last night when fire swept their farm home near Casselman, 35 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Fete Family with Fancy Easter Cake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cake is an excellent choice for dessert on Easter. It lends itself to numerous ways of decorating for the occasion. It can be any kind of cake, but sponge, angel food or sunshine cake seem to match the light-heartedness of the day.

* * *

The picture accompanying this article shows one of the simplest ways of decorating a cake. Put a parade of marshmallow bunnies around the sides.

Use a whole marshmallow for the head and one for the body, with a quartered one for arms and legs. Fasten together with toothpicks.

Cut ears out of sandwich bag paper. Roll one end firmly around a pink toothpick and fasten in place on the head.

With food coloring trace features on the face. Set the bunnies against the soft frosting. Let the head and ears show above the top of the cake.

Here are two recipes for Easter cake desserts, both using angel food cake. You may make or buy your cake.

Orange Angel Cake

1 can (1 pt. 2 fl. ounces) orange juice, or 2½ cups reconstituted frozen orange juice
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) orange sections, or 1 small can Mandarin orange sections
4 tablespoons cornstarch
2½ tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring
1 large angel cake, cut into 3 layers
½ cup toasted slivered almonds.

Combine orange juice and juice from canned orange sections to make 3 cups liquid; blend with cornstarch and sugar in medium-sized saucepan.

Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and clears. Cool sauce; stir in almond flavoring. Spread orange sauce between layers and on top of cake.

Arrange drained orange sections and toasted almonds around cake. Chill until serving time. Makes 1 large cake.

The second recipe makes a cake that looks like a gigantic Easter egg. Serve it in a nest of green tinted coconut.

Easter Egg Cake

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
6 eggs (separated)
1½ cups sugar
¾ cup lemon juice
1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 large (8 or 9-inch) angel-food cake (broken into walnut-size pieces)
1 cup heavy cream (whipped and sweetened to taste)
Shredded coconut

Sprinkle gelatin over water and let soften while cooking yolk mixture. Blend yolks and ⅝ cup of the sugar.

Add lemon juice and rind and cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, until as thick as a medium white sauce. Do not have the water touching the bottom of the pan containing the yolk mixture.

Remove from heat, add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken and starts to mound when dropped from a spoon.

Meanwhile prepare a soft meringue of the egg whites and the remaining ⅝ cup sugar. Fold thickened yolk-gelatin mixture into the meringue. Then fold together is slowly withdrawn.

Pour into 12-cup mold. Chill until firm — several hours or overnight. Shortly before ready to serve, frost with the whipped cream. Surround with coconut tinted pale green. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

Note: To make the meringue, beat the 6 egg whites to coarse foam. Beat in ⅝ cup of the sugar thoroughly, a tablespoon at a time; continue beating until stiff and glossy—meringue should hold stiff, straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Try Prune Alaska for Easy Dessert

Such a delicious dessert — and so easy to prepare.

Prune Alaska

1 egg white
½ cup sugar
1 jar (8 ounces) strained prunes
1 cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Beat egg white until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in sugar. Fold in prunes.

Beat cream until stiff; gradually fold in orange rind, orange juice and lemon juice. Fold into prune mixture.

Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze until firm; have refrigerator at coldest setting. Makes six servings.

BUNNY CAKE — Mrs. Howard Seiss of Hillcrest drive puts the finishing touches on an Easter dessert. Bunnies made of marshmallows with sandwich bag and pink toothpick ears march around the sides of the frosted cake. Four-year-old Leland and six-year-old Laura are fascinated with what Mother's doing.

Turkey Good for Easter Dinner Too

Decking your Easter turkey dinner with spring touches can be as much fun as buying spring style in a new Easter hat. The flowers and fruits of spring are natural trimming for the traditional festive roast turkey.

Spring flowers and Easter eggs will set the theme in the center of the table, but this spring fashion idea can be carried right onto the turkey platter with a fresh pineapple tree at one end of the platter.

The tree is made of the top half of a fresh pineapple, including the stiff leaves. Into these leaves are stuck narrow pie-shaped pieces of the pineapple.

These pieces are made from the bottom half of the pineapple. First cut the bottom half in 1-inch slices, then cut each slice into pie-shaped wedges. Leave the bark on each wedge for easy handling.

Before carving the turkey, the pineapple can be placed on a plate to be passed with the sliced turkey meat.

The turkey itself should present no problem. Homemakers today, unless they are beginning brides, are usually acquainted with the accepted successful roasting methods for turkey.

Few foods are simpler to prepare — low constant temperature (325 degrees), no searing, no cover, and generally no basting. Basting several times is advisable, however, for small turkeys and those which have little or no fat beneath the skin.

Remember that left over stuffing should be removed from the cavity of the turkey promptly and refrigerated separately, covered. Leftover turkey meat is easier to store when removed from the carcass.

Wrap it well for refrigerator storage to avoid drying and loss of flavor. Serve it within two or three days while the fine flavor is still at its peak—unless placed in freezer for later meals.

EASTER TURKEY DINNER — Turkey can be an Easter dinner choice as well as any other meat or fowl. Using a typical spring fruit, decorate your turkey platter with a pineapple tree. Before carving the turkey, remove the pineapple tree to another plate for passing.

Form Gay Easter Eggs of Easy, Creamy Fondant

Candy Easter eggs are the order of the day just once a year, but other candies made of the same magically easy, creamy fondant are always in order.

* * *

The basis of this adaptable fondant is sweetened condensed milk. In fact the only other ingredient called for is confectioner's sugar. Coloring, flavor, nuts, fruit may all be added for the sake of variety. The fondant needs no cooking, and it is always creamy smooth, easy to handle and good to eat.

For Easter eggs, form the fondant, with or without light tints of food color, into oval balls. Let stand on waxed paper for several hours; then decorate with the names of guests at a children's Easter holiday party or of the different members of the family, who will certainly enjoy a nestful of candy eggs as an Easter table centerpiece.

The easiest way to inscribe the names is to melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot water. Don't let the chocolate get very hot, just enough to melt. And use it when it is almost cool.

* * *

Dip the point of a fresh water color paint brush in the chocolate. Try out your stroke a few times on the waxed paper and then print the names on the eggs.

The fondant is delicious between halved walnuts or pecans or in pitted dates. Form some of it in little patties and top each with a cherry or a litle mound of melted chocolate. Mix some with chopped nuts for another variety.

Magic Easter Fondant

⅔ cup (⅓ can) sweetened condensed milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Blend sweetened condensed milk and vanilla. Gradually add confectioners' sugar, mixing until smooth and creamy.

If you wish to make Easter eggs of different colors, separate the fondant into several small bowls or cups. Add a drop or two of green, yellow, red or other color to each. Add just a drop at a time, for the tints are prettier if light.

MIXED-UP MOLASSES COOKIES — Have a Brer Rabbit party for the children this year. With Easter falling on April Fool's Day, you can play a joke on your young guests and make them think the bunny has leaped into their milk mugs. Large bunny cookies are mounted on gingersnap bases.

No Foolin'— It's Brer Rabbit

The Easter bunny is really mixed up this year; first, because it's Leap Year and then because Easter falls on April Fool's Day. Play a joke on the children by having him leaping into their milk mugs.

* * *

Mixed-Up Molasses Cookies

1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice
¾ cup unsweetened pineapple juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup molasses
½ cup vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
3¾ cups flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons cinnamon

Boil pickling spices in juice until it is reduced to about one-half cup. Strain out spices, add vanilla to juice. Stir soda into molasses, then combine juice and molasses mixtures.

Cream shortening and sugar until light. Sift dry ingredients together. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with molasses mixture. Mix thoroughly.

Chill dough several hours, or over-night. On a floured cloth or board, roll dough about one-fourth inch thick, cut in bunny shapes. Use a broad spatula to transfer cutouts to greased baking sheet.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (350) about 12 minutes. Makes approximately 4½ to 5 dozen cookies depending on size.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

We welcome Solomon Golat, who joins the Newark (N. J.) News Chapter of Skillet Club with "Matzoth Pancakes."

Golat says, "Should the good wife, in these post-Easter and Passover days, be serving up the remains of the Matzoth as a concrete - like thermoplastic mess called 'Matzoth Pancakes,' perhaps you can demonstrate, as I did, that the basic ingredients can be converted into edible, tasty, fluffy Sunday breakfast pancakes. My spontaneous recipe . . ."

½ cup Matzoth meal
¼ cup buckwheat pancake ready mix
2 level teaspoons baking powder
A nip of salt
2 eggs
1 tablespoon soured cream
1½ tablespoons melted butter
½ to 1½ cups milk

Put dry Matzoth meal thorough a mixer or blender to pulverize it further. Mix dry ingredients together.

Mix eggs, cream and shortening and a little of the milk. Work into a loose, smooth paste with the dry ingredients. Allow to stand for about 10 minutes.

Remix and add enough of the remaining milk to make a suitable pancake batter consistency. Fry into small round pancakes in medium hot skillet or griddle.

* * *

"Here's a favorite of mine," says Daniel Laube, Chicago Daily News Chapter.

Beef Grille

2 pounds boneless chuck or round steak cut 2 inches thick
Garlic clove or salt
Flour
2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup dry sherry
1 bay leaf
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup soured cream

Rub steak with garlic salt or split clove of garlic, and pound flour in generously. Cut meat in serving-sized pieces and brown quickly on all sides in butter or bacon fat with the celery and onion.

Heat sherry with one-half cup of water in saucepan, add bay leaf and pour over meat. Reduce heat to minimum, cover, and simmer 1½ hours. Add a little water if necessary.

After meat has cooked one hour, remove bay leaf, dust with salt and pepper to taste, and continue cooking until meat is tender. Be careful not to add too much water, as the sauce in the pan should be rather thick.

You may, if you wish, add one-half cup soured cream, stirring it in until smooth. Heat it, and don't let it boil! Serve the meat on a heated platter with the sauce over it. "Serves four to six, depending on how hungry you are!"

Blue Garlic Butter is from William E. Swain, Winona (Minn.) Daily News Chapter. A right handy idea, and if you don't like garlic, eliminate it. Just mix equal parts of butter and blue cheese. Season to taste with garlic.

We like to use the garlic press, but you can use any garlic preparation. Good spread on hamburger or steak for the final seconds of broiling. Especially good on French or Vienna bread, sliced lengthwise and then toasted.

Our favorite is to trim all the crust from a small loaf of thin-sliced white bread, being sure you have a bread pan into which the loaf will fit.

Butter each slice generously, put the loaf back together, fit it into the pan, and into the oven until the loaf browns nicely again.

Bake Some Special Bread for Easter

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You have been eating Hot Cross Buns all during the Lenten season. Now there is still plenty of time to make a loaf of special Easter bread for Sunday's breakfast.

Just recently we tried a recipe for a Portuguese Easter Bread that we found in a New England cookbook. New England, you know, has numerous colonies of Portuguese fishermen. This is one of their recipes—and a good one, we might add.

MASA SOUVADA
Portuguese Easter Bread

1 cup milk, scalded
½ cup melted butter or margarine
¾ cup sugar
8 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 package yeast
¼ cup warm water

Add butter or margarine, salt and sugar to scalded milk. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add to first mixture. Add flour to make soft dough. Knead well.

Place in a greased bowl, brush with melted shortening, cover and let rise until double. Knead down and roll to ¼-inch thickness.

Cut into strips 5x1 inch. Form into figure 8's. Place on a greased pan. Brush tops with melted butter or margarine. Let rise until double.

Bake 15-20 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Makes 24 rolls.

Have you ever considered making up a batch of your regular Hot Cross Bun dough and forming it into loaves instead of small buns? Decorate it with frosting crosses on the top. Fine for toasting.

Russian Easter bread is interesting in shape. It is baked in tall round cans, so that the top rises and mushrooms out. The confectioners' sugar frosting is further decorated with tiny multi-colored candies.

Russian Kulich

1 package yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 cup lukewarm milk
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup raisins
¼ cup chopped blanched almonds
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup soft butter or other shortening
5 to 5½ cups sifted flour
Colored candies (optional)

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Stir in all ingredients except flour. Mix in flour until dough is possible to handle. Turn onto lightly-floured board.

Knead until smooth and elastic. Round up on greased bowl; bring greased side up. Cover with damp cloth and let rise until hole remains when finger is pressed deeply into dough—about 2 hours.

Punch down; round up. Let rise again, about 30 minutes. Punch down; round up on board; cover and let rest 15 minutes.

Divide dough into halves. Cover one part with a damp cloth. Divide the other part into halves. Round up into two round bunlike shapes and place in well greased 1-pound shortening cans or number 2 cans, patting top of dough even.

Dough will fill cans half full. Make rest of dough into rolls of any shapes. Cover, let rise until double—about 1 hour.

Place cans on cookie sheet in 375-degree oven. Bake 30-40 minutes, laying a piece of brown paper over cans the last half of baking time. Remove from cans and cool on rack.

Frost with confectioner's sugar icing and sprinkle with colored candies.

Good afternoon snacks for youngsters are slices of unpeeled red apples spread with creamy peanut butter and served with glasses of milk.

Cherries Perk Up Breakfast Muffins

George Washington must have suffered when he cut down the old cherry tree. Little George didn't have the wonderful convenience of canned and frozen cherries throughout the year the way we do today.

There's nothing better than a mouth watering delicious cherry pie. For company, try dainty cherry tarts with a custard base. You'll enjoy those muffins for breakfast even more if you surprise the family by folding in cherries before the muffins are popped into the oven.

Consumer Marketing Information agents suggest cutting each cherry into several pieces before adding it to the batter—this way you'll have no trouble with the cherries sinking to the bottom of the muffin.

* * *

An ordinary watch crystal will crack under 50 pounds pressure, laboratory tests have indicated.

Sweet Potato Pudding

Did you know that any blow that will break an egg will also bruise a sweet potato? Never handle them roughly. Consumer marketing information agents tell us to buy them in small amounts and use them shortly for the best value.

* * *

Good sweet potatoes are smooth, well-shaped, firm, and of bright appearance, with color and shape typical of the variety. Maturity is of little importance except that the early crop may be more readily bruised and skinned than those shipped later in the season. The most common defects are decay, odd shape, and growth cracks.

How to Render Suet

Know how to render beef suet? Put pieces of the fat, each about the size of a walnut, in an iron kettle or skillet; turn often and press out fat with a fork. Keep heat low enough so rendered fat does not burn.

Eggs – of Course – on List of Bargains for Easter

The traditional Easter ham and turkey will be prominent meats in the Easter parade this year, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent in Pontiac.

Ham prices vary considerably according to the cut, the cure, and whether they are cooked. At present featured prices the Easter ham will cost a few pennies less than last year—about 15 to 26 cents per serving.

Hams are sold whole, cut in half, or cut in portions with the center slices removed. They are sold fresh, or cured; and either cooked, partially cooked, or uncooked. Whole hams generally weigh 10 to 16 pounds, and contain about 63% lean meat, 24% fat, 3% skin and 10% bone.

Since canned hams have the skin and bone removed, it is wise to figure cost per serving as well as check price per pound. Whole hams usually serve three people per pound, halves 2½ to 3, and portions about 2 to 2½. Canned hams, rolled boned hams, and center slices will yield 3 to 4 servings per pound.

If turkey is the family's choice, it comes in all sizes from 4 to 22 pounds. The roaster type turkeys range from 4 to 9 pounds; the young hen or tom turkeys from 8 to 22 pounds.

The size to buy may be easier to decide when using this guide suggested by the Poultry and Egg National Board. When buying turkeys under 12 pounds, allow ¾ to 1 pound (ready-to-cook weight) per serving. When buying medium or heavy birds over 12 pounds, allow ½ to ¾ pound (ready-to-cook weight) per serving.

A large number of turkeys in the market are quick frozen and need to be defrosted before roasting. One or a combination of these methods is recommended. (1) Leave bird in its original wrap. Place on shelf in refrigerator, allow 2 to 4 days for defrosting. (2) Place bird, still in its original body wrap, under running cold water. Allow 2 to 6 hours.

Prompt cooking after defrosting is preferable. Once defrosted, cook exactly like fresh turkey.

For colorful Easter baskets, extra eggs will be added to this week's market list. Most stores are featuring large size grade A white eggs for about 49 to 57 cents per dozen.

Hard-cooked eggs will be more tender and more delicate in flavor if prepared this easy way. Cover eggs in a sauce-pan with cold water so that about one inch of water is over the tops of the eggs. Bring rapidly to a boil. Let stand 15 minutes, then cool promptly to prevent a dark surface on the yolks.

In plentiful supply at most vegetable counters are carrots, lettuce, green cabbage, onions, Irish potatoes, and sweet potatoes. The fall crop of Michigan onions is still available at low cost while the supply of Texas white onions is increasing.

Fresh green asparagus will give new color for the Easter dinner at about 30 cents per pound. Hothouse tomatoes, due to arrive in about two weeks, is welcome news. They will increase the short supply now being shipped from Florida, Cuba, and Mexico.

More sunshine for spring days is captured in the citrus fruits at produce counters. Fresh grapefruit ranges from about 8 to 13 cents each, according to size and variety. Florida Valencia and California navel oranges are reasonably priced.

Since the quality of apples varies considerably at this time of year, be selective when buying. Shoppers will find Michigan apples wear the lowest price tags. Bananas are an economy fruit buy again this week.

Ham Snacks

2 cups ground cooked ham
2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
Mayonnaise to moisten
6 slices Swiss cheese
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced
2 stuffed olives, sliced
3 flat hard rolls or hamburger buns

Combine ham with the chopped olives and mayonnaise. Split rolls in half crosswise and top each half with a slice of cheese. Spoon on generous layer of ham mixture, center with egg slice and then center egg slice with olive slice. Makes 6 servings.

Serve Ham Snacks with crisp relishes and favorite beverage. (These snacks are delicious, too, broiled and served hot.)

Easter Egg Salad

Make a good flavored lemon gelatin salad with shredded cabbage. Chip a sizeable portion of egg shell from the tip of an egg and shake out the egg. Into the shell, pour the liquid gelatin salad.

Set the egg upright in the carton and place in the refrigerator. To serve, chip off the egg shell and nest on lettuce.

BOSTON CREAM PIE — Here's a new version of a very old favorite. It's Boston Cream Pie with a butterscotch flavor. Two layers are baked from a package of new instant butterscotch cake mix and are put together with chocolate filling. The resulting dessert is unusually delicious.

Giant Boston Cream Pie Has Butterscotch Flavor

Boston Cream Pie is an old favorite, but it may be among the things that have slipped into the background temporarily.

* * *

A delightful way to reinstate it in your meal planning is to make a double-size version—two layers instead of one layer split—which we then call Butterscotch Boston Cream Cake.

It is made from a package of a new instant butterscotch cake mix. The brown sugar and buttery flavor of this new mix is so delicious it needs little enhancing, though the layers may be filled and frosted with almost any kind of favorite frosting.

You will surely enjoy this new mix if you start with it in a Butterscotch Boston Cream Cake put together with chocolate filling — also made from a mix.

* * *

If an added decoration is wanted, try the old trick of dusting the top layer through a paper doily with confectioners' sugar.

Butterscotch Boston Cream Cake

1 package instant butterscotch cake mix
1 cup water
2 eggs, unbeaten
Chocolate filling

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add water and eggs. Beat three minutes until smooth and creamy.

Pour batter into two round 9-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool.

Place one layer, topside down, on serving plate. Spread with Chocolate filling. Place second layer on filling.

Then place lace paper doily on top of cake and cover with sifted confectioners' sugar. Remove doily carefully, leaving the lacy design.

Chocolate Filling

1 package chocolate pudding and pie filling mix
1¾ cups milk

Combine pudding mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full boil (about five minutes). Cool about five minutes, stirring once or twice.

Pour into a bowl, cover with waxed paper and chill. Beat until smooth. Makes 1¾ cups filling.

When baking powder or soda biscuits are left over, split them open and toast. Butter while hot. Muffins, too, are good when toasted and buttered.

Pea Soup Stars in Puree Mongole

Have you tried the new prepared green pea soup mix? Here's a pleasant way to vary it.

New Puree Mongole

2 cups cold water
1 package (4 ounces) prepared green pea soup mix
1 can (8 ounces) tomato catsup
1 tablespoon cooking sherry

Put cold water, green pea soup mix, tomato sauce and tomato catsup in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally; smooth out any lumps with back of spoon against side of pan.

Cover and simmer three minutes. Stir in cooking sherry. Makes four servings. If soup is thicker than you like, dilute it with a little stock.

Team Cream Cheese With Canned Clams

Soften cream cheese and stir in some drained canned minced clams. Add enough mayonnaise and clam liquid to make a good dipping consistency. Serve with crisp carrot and celery sticks for that company evening snack.

Looseleaf File Keeps Recipes in Right Order

When you want a certain recipe or menu, you can find it readily if it's in a loose leaf book containing similar items.

For instance, if you're a clipper of magazine ideas, menus and recipes, you could very well have a binder labeled Easter Dinner Ideas. Paste each on a page of construction paper.

The same holds for other holiday menus and collections, such as Christmas, Thanksgiving and St. Patrick's Day, and you could make binders for Favorite Birthday Menus, Party Recipes and others.

The cover illustrated is simple to make and inexpensive. Pieces of masonite are used. Corners are rounded and edges beveled lightly with a file.

Holes are drilled for notebook rings. The lettering may be done by hand or with die-cut letters or decalcomanias.

The covers can be varnished, shellacked, painted or enameled, or you can apply decalcomanias.

Genuine Oriental Flavor

Top Your Easter Feast With Strawberry Tarts

An individual strawberry tart should please everyone as the climax of Easter dinner. The flaky little pastry tart shells could be made the day before — the filling whipped up and mounded in in no time on Easter Sunday.

This recipe makes eight well-filled tarts. Strawberry gelatin and frozen strawberries give lots of wonderful berry flavor and also rosy pink color. All else you need for the filling is a little lemon juice and evaporated milk, chilled and whipped to give the dessert a nice fluffy texture.

You'll want to allow about two hours for this dessert to chill in the refrigerator before serving.

Strawberry Easter Tarts

1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
¾ cup boiling water
1 package frozen strawberries, (10 oz.) thawed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup evaporated milk, chilled ice cold shells

Place gelatin in large size mixing bowl. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Cool slightly, then stir in the thawed strawberries.

Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Add lemon juice to the chilled milk and whip until milk is stiff and will hold a peak. Fold into gelatin mixture lightly but thoroughly.

Spoon into baked tart shells. Chill until set, about two hours. Makes eight generous tarts.

STRAWBERRY EASTER TARTS — Look what the Easter bunny brought! Pretty little pastry tart shells full of a delectable pink filling of strawberry gelatin, whipped evaporated milk and frozen strawberries. Easy to make, but pretty special, too.

Add Nutmeg to Crust for Change in Flavor

We all know the old saying about "variety is the spice of life"—it applies to our cooking as well as other phases of our lives. For a flavor change the family will enjoy a spiced crust with their pies.

For a 2-cup flour crust recipe, sift three-fourths teaspoon ground nutmeg with the flour. This spice is delightful with fruit fillings such as apples and grapes. Try it, too, with lemon cream pie.

For breakfast, luncheon or supper, serve a poached egg on toast that has been buttered, spread with deviled ham and put into the broiler until piping hot.

Ham With Festive Glaze Belongs on Easter Table

Serving ham for Easter didn't originate in the 20th Century. Ham has been served in the spring ever since pagan days.

* * *

Peasants in that period prepared huge feasts heralding the arrival of spring, and since fresh meats weren't available at that time of year, they served ham. This spring feasting was continued in the Christian era and soon became associated with Easter.

We have come to depend on the wonderful cured, smoked hams we buy today; we know their fine flavor, even texture and juicy tenderness make them an elegant meat for Easter dinner.

This year select a whole ham. Use an easy brown sugar glaze and arrange the platter with a simple springtime garnish, such as orange wedges with curly endive.

Baking A Ham

Choose a ham the size and type best suited to your family's needs. Cook-before-eating whole ham should be baked in a 325-degree oven 18 to 20 minutes a pound. The best way to determine doneness is with a meat thermometer. Insert the thermometer into the center of the meat; when the thermometer registers 160 degrees internal temperature, the meat is done. A ready-to-eat whole ham bakes 10 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer registers 130 degrees internal temperature.

* * *

For the glaze, mix a cup of brown sugar with a few tablespoons of water and spread on during the last half hour of baking time. Score and stud the ham with cloves, too, if you like.

Here's a variation of the above brown sugar glaze:

Brown Sugar and Apricot Glaze

1½ cups dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
2-3 tablespoons apricot syrup
12-14 whole cloves
12-14 canned apricot halves (drained)

Blend brown sugar with dry mustard. Mix to a smooth paste with vinegar and canned apricot syrup. Spread evenly over scored ham. Insert a whole clove in each apricot half and attach fruit, cut side down, to ham, using toothpicks.

Return ham to hot oven (400) for 20 to 30 minutes, basting two or three times with the glaze. After removing ham from oven, allow to rest on serving platter 10 to 15 minutes for easier carving. Remove toothpicks before serving. Glazes a 10 to 12-pound ham.

Carving A Ham

Carving a ham is easy when you follow these tips:

1. With a sharp knife, cut several lengthwise slices from the thinner side of the ham to form a base on which to rest the ham during carving. Place the ham on a platter.

2. Cut out a small wedge-shaped piece of meat from the shank end (where the bone protrudes). This cut should be made just inside the knuckle.

3. Now cut slices straight down to the bone. When enough slices have been cut, free them all at once by cutting along the bone.

Meat can be carved either in the kitchen or at the table. If you carve the ham in the kitchen, arrange the attractive, horseshoe-shaped slices on the platter around the ham, or on a platter by themselves. A large platter with the ham slices around the ham is particularly attractive on a buffet table.

ELEGANT EASTER HAM — Tenderness, flavor, even texture, shape — these characteristics make ham an elegant meat for Easter dinner. This cook-before-eating ham baked 20 minutes per pound in a 325-degree oven has a brown sugar glaze. The springtime garnishes are orange wedges and curly endive.

Preparing oyster stew? Use clam broth and light cream for the liquid, celery salt and Worcestershire sauce for the seasonings.

Serve Sundae Tray

If there are teenagers in your house, they will love a Sundae Tray. Fill four small clear-glass apothecary jars with ice cream toppings. One jar can hold crushed peppermint candy, another tidbits of semi-sweet chocolate, another salted peanuts, and another shredded coconut or maraschino cherries. Arrange the jars on a tray and pass with ice cream!

Put Hard-Cooked Eggs on Creamed Broccoli

Arrange sliced hard-cooked eggs over creamed cooked broccoli or canned asparagus (heated) and serve with crisp buttered toast for a delicious lunch.

If canned pimiento is on hand, add some strips of it for a garnish.

Nice for a change: Sliced dates added to bran-muffin batter.

You Can't Top Milk for True Versatility

Do you know a good thing when you see it? When it comes to supplying the family with needed amounts of essential foods I'm sure you'd place milk at the head of the list.

The only limit on ways to use milk are those that you, the cook, put on yourself. Milk is a food that is truly versatile. Because of its bland flavor, milk combines well with all foods. As a beverage, in custard, or over cereal, you can't beat whole fresh milk. Let's not forget the many dishes that use milk.

* * *

Consumer information agents of Detroit say there's no doubt about it! You can't beat milk for good eating and good health.

Bob Considine Says:

Everything Turns Out OK for Padre Keller

WASHINGTON (INS) — I made three of those Christophers TV films for Maryknoll missionary James Keller here the other day. It's a fine experience.

Father Keller operates on a wonderful plateau: Everything will turn out okay. Better to light one candle than curse the darkness, etc.

The amazing thing is that everything does indeed turn out okay, to the amazement of all save the good padre. And darkness is dispelled left and right.

If a guest runs long—and nobody gets more interesting guests than Keller, the priest throws out his own stuff with a selfless abandon that strikes dismay in the hearts of working stiffs who regard every tiny deletion in their daily "literary" output as a form of amputation without anaesthesia.

Faced with a guest who went a bit over his time, at this particular filming we write about, Keller cast aside a part of his script which must have involved a lot of research. It was tied up with a "never lose heart" message. It pertained to A. Lincoln and went as follows:

LINCOLN'S DEFEATS

— "Lincoln failed in business, 1831. He was defeated for the Illinois Legislature, 1832; failed in business again, 1833. He was elected to the Legislature, 1834, but his sweetheart died in 1835.

* * *

He had a nervous breakdown in 1836, was defeated for speaker in 1838 and for elector in 1840. He lost out in a race for land officer in 1843, and was defeated for Congress in the same year.

Elected to Congress in 1846, he was defeated for re-election in 1848. He was defeated for the Senate in 1855 and for vice president in 1856. Defeated again for the Senate in 1858, he was elected President in 1860."

Every once in a while we should check up on how our good friends, the people of the Republic of Korea, for whom many of our boys died, are faring in the great game of international politics.

* * *

Koreans in our nation's capital feel (and say) that the Japanese still cast an oddly proprietary eye on their country. It's habitual, they agree. It dates back to the Oriental Trading Co., chiefly.

Years before World War II the company sent Japanese settlers to Korea with grants vaguely like some of those the British crown issued in colonial America.

The movement became so deep-rooted in the economy of Korea that not even the Japanese defeat and the peace treaty requirements completely wiped out Japanese control of the company holdings.

* * *

Company shares are still being traded in the marts of the world, just as Russian imperial bonds (especially the 1906 5 per cent issue) are still being traded.

ANOTHER GRIPE

Another South Korean beef, beyond the above and the resentment that Koreans are paying more for defense today than Japanese, is centered in the fact that the ROK has no member on the U.N. committee which is charged with giving aid to South Korea.

* * *

This leads to unnecessary waste, a Korean spokesman told me. Recently, we sent several tons of surplus cheese to Korea. Nobody there would touch it.

Our man in charge was furious. He said, "They'll eat it when they get hungry enough."

They won't, if I'm any judge. I recall the day President-elect Eisenhower lunched at the frozen front with a company that had just been pulled out of the lines. The mess sergeant went all out, of course.

He served broth, pork chops, sauerkraut, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, deep-dish apple pie and coffee. It was swell grub, and the American boys in the company played on it like industrious xylophone players.

But in the midst of the feast I saw a Korean soldier sitting forlornly in the snow with a tray of these delights on his lap, and it was abundantly obvious that if he looked at same another moment he would become actively ill. He wanted rice. We didn't have any.

Nobody could explain.

Anymore than anybody can explain the tons of cheese, or the cat-like immortality of the Oriental Trading Co.

Windows on Aircrafts Highly Heat-Treated

OTTAWA, Ill—Great speed and high altitude require aircraft glass to be exceptionally strong structurally.

Several laminations are used and certain of the glass layers are heat-treated to make the resultant product five or six times stronger, tougher, and more flexible than conventional plate glass.

Melting Missile Speed

WASHINGTON—Captive missiles being tested by the Navy travel at a speed faster than sound—so fast that they melt the metal track guide surface. They thus ride on liquid metal.

California Tops Nation in Motels With 7,500

SAN FRANCISCO — California leads the nation in motels, with some 7,500 of the nation's more than 50,000 such tourist acommodations.

And San Francisco it the nation's leading in-town motel city. Five were opened here last summer, 20 in 1954, three in 1953, one in 1952, two in 1951, and two in 1950.

Oakland 4-H Members Plan Achievement Day

April 7 Event to Be in Pontiac

1,800 Members to Join in All-Day Exhibition at Lincoln Junior High

Volunteer leaders of the more than 1,800 youthful Oakland County 4-H Club members have organized committees and planned the work that must be done by April 7, the date set for Spring Achievement Day, according to Jack Worthington, Oakland County 4-H Club Agent. The event will take place during the afternoon and evening in the gymnasium of Lincoln Junior High School.

On Achievement Day, projects which 4-H Club boys and girls have worked on all winter are brought together for judging and exhibiting to the public. It is a day looked forward to with great anticipation by the many Oakland County rural and urban youths.

Projects exhibited by the young people include woodworking and other handicrafts (plastics and ceramics), electrical, food preparation, clothing, conservation practices, health and safety, and many others.

"The projects represent efforts of vigorous young minds to learn new skills and to channel their energies into methods of being more useful citizens," Worthington said.

The agent explained that all projects are judged on the difficulty, originality, quality of the finished product, and the number of years of experience the 4-H Club member has had in the type of project exhibited. Each project is put into an A, B or C group depending on how well the young exhibitor has met these standards.

A style show, or Dress Revue as the 4-H'ers call it, is being planned for 8 p.m. Saturday when clothing exhibitors will model their efforts for the benefit of all attending.

The 10 best garments will be chosen on the basis of quality of the work and suitability of design and color. The owners of these projects will receive County Dress Revue pins.

The winners of the Dress Revue will represent Oakland County in state-wide competition held during State 4-H Club Week at Michigan State University in July. The best of the other exhibits will also be chosen to be exhibited in the state show competition, said Worthington.

ORCHARD LAKE POST OFFICE TO OPEN — The new Orchard Lake Post Office on 3735 Commerce Rd. will be open for business on Monday morning at 8 a. m. Postmaster Hawkes plans to have two rural carriers establishing service from the office within 30 days. A dedication is planned for the near future.

Slate Opening at Orchard Lake

Oldest Post Office in West Bloomfield Has New Structure

ORCHARD LAKE — Postmaster Mrs. Mary Hawkes announced the opening date of the new Orchard Lake Post Office today. She said that it would be open for business Monday morning at 8 a.m.

The Post Office, which is on St. Mary's College property on 3735 Commerce Rd., was established with funds from the college and leased to the United States Post Office Department for 15 years.

The interior of the new building is furnished with limed oak office equipment and bank-type partitions. The walls are painted in two shades of green.

A loading dock and canopy will be built in the back of the building to enable better service for the rural route and star route deliveries.

Mrs. Hawkes said that two rural carriers will establish service out of the office within 30 days.

A circular drive and landscaping will be added as soon as weather permits.

The office is believed to be the oldest in West Bloomfield Township and at the present, is located at 3540 Seminary Rd. in the Village of Orchard Lake.

Blast Rips Philly Center

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A devastating explosion blasted a four story granary into flaming rubble last night and cut a 10-block swath of damage through Philadelphia's busy 30th and Market Street section.

At least five persons were missing and believed dead. Four others were on the critical list.

Scores were treated for injuries, some of them late evening shoppers heading home at the time of the blast—8:10 p.m.

Not until the cold morning air cleared away the pall of black smoke was the extent of the destruction fully revealed. As far as the eye could see there were broken windows, smashed automobiles, scattered debris.

REDUCED TO RUBBLE

The scene of the explosion was two blocks west of the Schuylkill River that separates the downtown portion of the city from West Philadelphia.

* * *

Across the street from the blasted building—the milling plant of the Tidewater Mill and Elevator Co.—the new Philadelphia Bulletin four-story building took the full fury of the blast.

Windows were reduced to glass powder, ceilings fell, partitions were hammered out of shape and office furniture was overturned.

The force of the blast tore down communications lines on Market Street, knocked electric signs off buildings and showered the area with fragments of metal and wood.

The explosion was felt 25 miles away. The City Hall switchboard reported an estimated 25,000 telephone calls were received in a four-hour period.

"HELLISH FURY"

Workmen in the demolished plant's warehouse said they were alive "by a miracle." An employe of a nearby business place said "it seemed as if a train roared past us and then burst with hellish fury."

Firemen and police probing the red-hot debris for dead and injured worked under strain, well aware of the chance that another blast might occur.

* * *

The explosion was blamed by the milling company's night superintendent on collected dust.

* * *

Samuel Purdy said he was attempting to light a pilot light in a drying vat when the blast was touched off. The building collapsed almost immediately and burst into soaring flames.

Sewage Plant Hearing Opens

Waterford Association Says Proposed Project Would Be Nuisance

A hearing began this morning before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty on a temporary injunction which has halted construction of a proposed sewage disposal plant at Pontiac Lake road and the Clinton River in Waterford Township.

The restraining order was obtained March 12 by the Crescent Lake Country Club Estates Civic Assn. against Bert Smokler, promoter of the Highland Estates subdivision, and also against the township board.

In court today, Smokler claimed that the civic association action is premature, asserting that there will be no basis for a decision until the plant is completed and in operation.

The association claims that once the plant is in operation, it will be more difficutl to stop, and the case should be decided now.

Association members object to the location of the plant near their homes, claiming it will create a nuisance. The plant would serve a proposed subdivision.

Move Started to Draft Williams for President

DETROIT (AP) — A "Williams for President Club" was registered today in Wayne County.

President Frank Szymanski, a hearing examiner for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, said the club seeks to gain support for Gov. Williams from Democratic national convention delegates. "We also plan a fund raising campaign," Szymanski said.

He said a meeting with Atlantic seaboard delegates is planned for early April.

There were an estimated 100 gray whales in the world in 1939; 4,500 today.

Your PTA Is Planning

Slate Portrait Unveiling at North Branch April 5

NORTH BRANCH — The next meeting of the local PTA, to be held April 5, will be highlighted by the unveiling of an oil portrait of the late John R. Church, local school music director, who died one year ago.

The framed portrait, measuring four by six feet, is a presentation to the school by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Soldan.

The painting itself is the work of Mrs. Soldan, an artist of more than local repute.

Davisburg

Davisburg Elementary School PTA has scheduled the annual Fun Fair here for Saturday, April 14.

Leonard

Members of the PTA here elected officers for the coming year to be headed by Mrs. John Schirmer, president.

Others are Mrs. Robert Zerwick, mother vice president; Robert Mills, father vice president; Mrs. Childers, teacher vice president; Mrs. Robert Mills, treasurer, and Mrs. Burnell Schlusler, secretary.

Ortonville Girl Wins 'First' at Music Meet

ORTONVILLE — Carol Burt, a Brandon Township High School junior, was given a first division rating in the state Solo and Ensemble Festival at Ann Arbor.

Carol is one of two local students who have been given music scholarships for summer courses at two music schools. Carol will study at Interlochen National Music Camp this summer.

The other student, Everett Smith, also a junior, will study during the summer at Vandercook College of Music, Chicago.

The scholarships were awarded by the Band Parents Club of Brandon Township Schools.

Ionia Budget OK'd

IONIA (AP)—Ionia's Board of Education has approved a school budget of $534,245,245, highest in city history and an increase of $107,000 over last year. Teacher salaries will consume some 61 per cent of the sum.

Industrial Future Subject of Experts

The Oakland County Planning Commission yesterday heard four experts discuss various aspects of the county's industrial future.

Speakers were Dr. Franklin G. Moore, University of Michigan professor of industrial management; Otto Pongrace, assistant director of the Ford Motor Co. manufacturing staff; Vincent S. Madison, director of the Detroit Edison Co. area development division; and James Spence, of the Pontiac Manufacturers Assn.

The discussion of Oakland's industrial potential was part of a study of the county's economy started by the commission last June.

Romeo Driver Injured as Cars Collide Headon

A Romeo man, Charles Kile, 36, is being treated today in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for a fractured leg, which he suffered in a traffic accident near Romeo yesterday afternoon.

State police of the Romeo post said Kile's car, heading west on 32 Mile road, skidded in slush and crossed the center line, where it was struck headon by the car of William Kempf, 45, of Romeo.

The 182nd Massachusetts Infantry, organized in 1636 is rated the oldest National Guard unit in the United States.

Ann Arbor Kids Dispute Article Attacking Dads

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Contrary to observations of writer Philip Wylie, Ann Arbor dads make good pals and fine fathers.

Such was the indication of a poll of 100 students at Ann Arbor High, taken after Wylie's article, "American Men Are Lousy Fathers," appeared in the March issue of Reader's Digest.

Seventy-nine of the pupils polled said their fathers were "fair and reasonable" and 83 said that dad "indicated sufficient interest in their problems."

Taking issue with a statement accompanying the article that fathers spend an average of only 7½ minutes alone with their children each week, the Ann Arbor students said their dads devote an average 11 hours weekly with them.

A third of the students, however, said their fathers were delinquent in at least one of five areas: Being too concerned with their own affairs, overly interested in away from home too much, lacking concern in the problems of their offspring, or failing to consider both sides of an argument.

Speed Expert Speaks to Local Guard Unit

Col. Richard A. Leavell of Detroit, nationally-known authority on speed timing, recently addressed members of Pontiac's 107th Ordnance Co. of the Michigan National Guard on methods used in timing rockets and guided missiles in U. S. Army ballistics research.

Col. Leavell has timed such events as the Farnsworth and Gold Cup races in Detroit; the auto speed trials at Daytona Beach, Fla.; and a number of world air speed trials.

A retired colonel of ordnance, he is presently an engineer at the Detroit Arsenal.

Blue Cross Program Gets UAW Criticism

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Worker official says the union is prepared to pay higher rates for Blue Cross and Blue Shield insurance if it gets improved medical and hospital care in return.

* * *

This was declared yesterday by James Brindle, director of the UAW's social security department, in testimony before the governor's Study Commission on prepaid hospital care plans.

Brindle, whose union represents half the 3½ million Blue Cross and Blue Shield subscribers in Michigan, noted that the UAW had opposed the 15 per cent boost in Blue Cross rates which went into effect March 1. However, he added, this "should not be construed as unwillingness to pay the proper cost of prepaid care."

The UAW, Brindle said, "wants to preserve and, in fact, improve the quality" of hospital and medical care. "We know that this takes money," he said.

Brindle said part of the increase in cost is "inescapable" because of wage increases for hospital staff members and other benefits.

Automobile Rolls Over, but Woman Is Unhurt

A Birmingham woman, '24 whose car turned over in Bloomfield Township yesterday afternoon, somehow escaped injury, according to authorities in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Dorothy Holland was rushed there for observation, township police said, after the accident at Adams and Square Lake roads. She explained that her car left the road after she lost control when it skidded on the icy pavement.

Battleships of the U.S. Navy are named for the states.

Orchestra Offers Services Tonight at Youth Dance

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — One of Pontiac's leading orchestras will play for the Youth Nite dance, being held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. today at the Community Activities center, 5640 Williams Lake Rd.

The dance is open to all high school students in grades 9 through 12, as well as high school alumni. It is sponsored by the Waterford Recreation Department.

The 6-piece orchestra volunteered its services for the special pre-Easter dance, Tom Belton, township recreation director, said.

Youth Nite programs are held for high school students each Thursday. Admission is free on presentation of a membership card, or those without cards may attend for a 25-cent charge. Programs include optional table tennis and shuffleboard games as well as dancing, and refreshments are available at the snack bar.

Tomorrow night junior high students will have their youth program, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the CAI Building. This will be a record hop, with games optional and snack bar refreshments available.

Detroit Parking Authority Studies Outlying Areas

DETROIT (INS) — The Municipal Parking Authority today took a new step forward in its efforts to ease parking shortages in outlying Detroit shopping centers.

The Authority approved the spending of $315,000 for a new 182-space parking lot at Vernor and Central and ordered its director, John D. McGillis, to determine if the facility should be enlarged.

The lot is among six sites the Authority is now studying for new parking areas. Six other new parking lots already are slated to be opened this summer in outlying shopping centers.

HIGH JUMPER — Lt. Henry P. Nielsen plans to make a 19-mile parachute jump next fall from the highest altitude ever reached by man. He plans to ascend almost 100,000 feet over New Mexico in a pressurized sphere-shaped gondola attached to a giant plastic balloon. From there he will make a free jump through the thin air, opening his parachute at 15,000 feet. Neilsen is already co-holder of the existing altitude record for parachute jumps, 45,200 feet, set in November, 1954.

Voting Date Amendment on Ballot

A charter amendment changing the date of future general municipal elections to the third Monday in April instead of the first will be on the ballot next Monday but is expected to provide little incentive in attracting Pontiac voters to the polls.

But along with this issue, voters will elect seven commissioners for the 1956-57 City Commission.

The amendment was recommended in January by City Clerk Ada R. Evans to allow sufficient time for voter registration between the time of the city primary in March and the following April election.

On Jan. 23, the City Commission approved the charter amendment and accepted the form of the ballot.

A state law prohibits the clerk from taking registrations after the thirtieth day preceding an election. Under the law, March 3 would have been the last day to take registrations for the coming city election.

But since this day fell on Saturday, it made Monday, March 5 the last day. Since this was primary election day, it automatically ruled out this day.

As it was, the last day registrations could have been received this year was Feb. 6.

On Monday, voters in favor of shifting the date to the third Monday will cast a vote "for the amendment" while those opposed to the change will mark an "X" in the "against the amendment" block.

The simple majority of those casting ballots will decide the fate of this issue. If approved, the amendment will take effect in 1958, provided that the City Commissioners elected Monday shall hold office until the Monday following the 1958 election.

This was the first year in which voter registrations were closed a month before two city elections. Previously the last date was the twentieth day which allowed several days for last minute registrations between elections.

Fireman Answers Call to His Burning House

UNION, S. C. (AP)—Magistrate J. Lee Gregory was watching a fight on television at the Union fire station when an alarm came in.

He told the truck driver that he would stay and asnwer the phone.

"Get on!" the driver yelled at him. "It's your house!"

Gregory rode the fire truck. He found his house full of smoke as the result of a burned roast and a pot of beans on the kitchen stove.

Probers Call Hoover, Weeks

Senators Seeking Efforts to Curb Shipments of Goods to Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators called top government officials today for questioning about efforts by this country to curb its Allies' trade with the Communists.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and Foreign Aid Director John B. Hollister were called to a closed session of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

* * *

At earlier public hearings before the subcommittee, which is investigating East-West trade, all three refused to produce some requested information about a 1954 agreement to relax free world trade with Russia. They said they would supply such data only at a secret session, and that to do so publicly would violate a U.S. agreement with some of its Allies.

* * *

All three officials have testified this country reluctantly agreed to some relaxation to prevent the whole voluntary system of restrictions on Iron Curtain trade from collapsing.

REDS, CHIANG TRADE

Hoover testified Monday that the Chinese Nationalists have been trading with Red China, while exchanging shots in the Formosa Straits. He said such trade amounts to "quite a number of millions of dollars' worth of goods every year."

* * *

Yesterday, however, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said he could find "no evidence of direct trade between Nationalist China and Red China." He said some such trade is carried on indirectly through Hong Kong, a British colony.

The U.S. embassy of Chiang Kai shek's Nationalist government said there is some trade in nonstrategic goods, mostly consumer items, between Formosa and Hong Kong. It indicated the Nationalist government has no control over any forwarding of such goods on to Red China.

* * *

White said figures indicate Formosa has been shipping goods worth about $250,000 to Hong Kong yearly and has been getting from Hong Kong more than 2½ million dollars worth.

Maragon Returns to Capitol Hill —as a Laborer

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Maragon, the onetime Kansas City bootblack who frequented the White House in the Truman years, is now working for Congress — as a temporary laborer at $1.61 an hour.

* * *

"It's not easy work," he told newsmen, "but it's work, it's a job; I'm proud of it."

The new assignment is the first "regular job" Maragon has had since he was released in December 1952 from the federal reformatory at Petersburg, Va. He was sent there under a two-year sentence for perjury growing out of the "five percenter" investigations five years ago.

* * *

Maragon's work in the House folding room includes folding and sealing printed matter, piling up heavy books and other documents, and other routine tasks.

Actor's Son Broke

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Edward G. Robinson, Jr. didn't have the $31 fine assessed for a traffic violation in Westwood and asked the Municipal Court for additional time to raise it. The son of the actor was given a stay until April 2 when he appeared in court yesterday with his lawyer. He was charged with running past a stop sign March 6.

It isn't the low price that makes Chevrolet the most popular car going. It's the looks and quality of the only Fisher Body in its field—the ride and roadability—the championship power and performance.

Sure Chevrolet's low price is important. It saves you plenty, when you consider what most other cars cost.

But even more important to you are the qualities you get in a new Chevrolet. Like its record-breaking performance (horsepower ranges up to 225!) and nailed-down stability. Then, there's the solid construction of its stylish Body by Fisher.

These are just a few of the things that go to make driving more satisfying—and safer—in a Chevy. They're the real reasons why this new Chevrolet is making so many friends so fast. Driven one yet? We'll be happy to arrange it.

Blonde, Italian Soccer Expert Refuses Fame

ROME (AP) — Paola Bolognani, Italy's blonde soccer expert with the whistle-worthy figure, said today she has turned down a movie contract and a television job in America and just wants to get married.

Paola, 18, won the top prize last night on the five-million-lire ($8,300) Italian TV quiz program for her knowledge of Italy's favorite sport. She stumbled slightly on the final question, but got the money anyway.

* * *

Paola told reporters she had declined a "proposal from Rome to become a film star" and a TV offer from "an American agency whose name I don't remember." She added:

"All I want to do is finish high school and achieve my dream of love by marrying my fiance."

She didn't identify the lucky lad.

Paola's baby blue eyes and platinum blonde hair make her something of a rarity in this country of brunettes. She even pushed Italy's film queens off the picture pages as she zoomed up the ladder on the Leave It or Double It program.

* * *

She ran into her only difficulty on the last of the three final questions. She knew the whole 11-man lineup of Bologna's national championship team of 20 years ago, but couldn't remember one reserve player.

With the crowd in the Milan studio roaring for Paola to win, master of ceremonies Mike Bongiorno threw up his hands and said:

"You've done well enough without that last name. Everyone wants you to win. You're too pretty to lose."

Hollywood Headlines:

Ernest Borgnine Refuses to Behave Like Big Star

(Last in series on Ernest Borgnine.)

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ernest Borgnine, suddenly a big star as the result of winning an Oscar, refuses to act like one.

* * *

The actor lives with his wife Rhoda, her mother and his daughter Nancy, 3, in a tract house in a middle-class neighborhood of Van Nuys. He paid $23,500 for the seven-room, San Fernando Valley home. Although he can now afford it, he scoffed at the suggestion of moving to swanky Bel-Air.

DISLIKES THE HILLS

"I don't like hills; that's why I moved out here," he laughed. "Besides, we just got this place last summer. I'm not moving anywhere."

* * *

When he isn't working, he lives the same as any Valleyite. He mows the lawn and cares for his rose bushes. His wife recently gave him some golf clubs and he plays an occasional round at the public courses.

At night he can be found in front of the TV set — "I watch everything from wrestling on up." Sometimes he goes out to a movie. But he has never been to Ciro's or Mocambo. His idea of a big evening is to go out to dinner with another couple or two and then dance to Freddy Martin's music at the Cocoanut Grove. "We do that every two or three months," he said.

* * *

He has attended only one movie premiere, "The Man With the Golden Arm," and is never seen at the big Hollywood parties. A few personal friends are actors—Sterling Hayden, Jim Davis, Eduard Franz. But most of his friends come from other walks of life.

NO FLASHY CAR

Classy cars have long been the symbol of stardom in Hollywood. There again, Ernie refuses to conform. He drives a 1949 Pontiac and a 1951 Cadillac. He is somewhat apologetic about the Cad, explaining that he picked it up second-hand at a terrific bargain.

* * *

The Borgnines have striven to keep the glamor of Hollywood away from their daughter Nancy. Judging from her reaction to the Oscar telecast, they have succeeded. When asked about it, she replied, "Oh, yes, I saw Mommy and Daddy on television," and changed the subject.

"We have tried to explain to her that Daddy makes motion pictures and that's all there is to it," Ernie remarked. "Only once was she exposed to the fan routine. Once we were waiting between trains at Grand Central Station when we were going to visit my family in Connecticut.

PEN TESTER?

"Some people came around and started asking for my autograph. Nancy didn't understand. She asked my wife, 'Is Daddy testing their pens for them?'"

Ernie hopes that not only his daughter but his friends as well are unaffected by his success.

"It's just a job," he said. "When I'm not out in public, I want to be known as just one of the guys."

If You're an Average American City Family:

You Spend $1 Out of Every $4 in Taxes

By JOHN ROBBINS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The average American city family with a $6,000 income spends one dollar out of four on taxes.

Here's how it's figured, based on 1955 taxes. First draw up a budget for such a typical family—father, mother and two youngsters. Then, with the help of some of the country's financial experts, study what share of that budget goes into taxes.

The total amount that ends up in the hands of some branch of the government is $1,513, or 25.3 per cent.

Of that sum, $1,018 is for direct taxes—income, real estate and sales taxes.

Their own local governments—city or town, county, and school board—collects $268.

* * *

Other states outside their own are able to reach their long arms into Mr. Taxpayer's pocket for $24, and other local governments outside their home county for $27.

Biggest single outlay is Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer's federal income tax. They take every deduction they can, and use all their exemptions and they still end up paying $564, nearly 10 per cent of their income.

The 3 per cent state sales tax puts a bite on them for $99. That includes the $60 paid on a new $2,000 car.

Beer, which the Taxpayers buy in a handy take-home package, leaving 31 cents out of each dollar behind in taxes.

Lipstick and powder, which Mrs. Taxpayer considers a necessity, but on which the Federal Government slaps a 10 per cent excise tax as a luxury.

Handbag and compact, which Mrs. Taxpayer numbers among her department store purchases. Again Uncle Sam clips her for 10 per cent.

Utility bills, an average of 27 per cent of which slips right through the fingers of the gas, electric and phone companies and comes to rest at some level of government.

The accompanying table shows how the Taxpayers' income was spent in 1955.

"Oh ho," you readers may say. "This family spent more money last year than it took in."

Well, didn't yours?

Table of Taxes.

TOTAL	$6,002	$1,040	$154	$24	$268	$27	$1,513	25%

The rest winds up as taxes in hidden or indirect ways, such as a store's property taxes, or a manufacturer's income tax.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer aren't aware they are paying these hidden levies when they shell out the cash for a loaf of bread, a screwdriver, or a newspaper.

* * *

But taxes are included in the bill, just as surely as though they had been itemized.

Of their total tax of $1,513, according to the breakdown, the Federal Government ends up with more than two-thirds, $1,040.

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer's home state gets $154.

Most states with a lower sales tax or no sales tax at all makes up for it with an income tax. At the $6,000 income level of the average American city family, the net result comes out about the same, one way or the other.

Other taxes on the car, such as the federal excise tax and the income tax of the dealer and the manufacturer, are figured only on the basis of the $500 in payments which the Taxpayers make during the year. About one-quarter of the total cost of the car is actually tax expense.

On only three expenditures—their hospitalization insurance, their donations to church and charity, and their union dues—does the family escape paying something in taxes.

The social security deductions from Mr. Taxpayer's pay isn't figured as a tax, since presumably he or his wife will get it back some day in the form of insurance.

The biggest percentage bite that governments put on any purchase comes on the bottle of liquor that the Taxpayers invest in about once a month. Out of the $38 budget item, $26 goes for taxes, or 68 per cent.

* * *

Other high tax items included: Movies and entertainment such as ball games, on which the Taxpayers get nicked for a 10 per cent federal admission tax. Total rate, 25 per cent.

Cigarettes, the cost of which was 46 per cent taxes.

He Always Plays on Traveling Piano

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Composer Lukas Foss didn't like the concert grand piano provided for his solo performance with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

* * *

A piano company rushed another from Belleville, Ind., 30 miles away. Foss tried it out but said he preferred the first piano after all.

* * *

The company moved the second piano back to Belleville at its own expense. "It happens all the time," a company official sighed.

Soft Drink 'Tavern' Keeps Firemen 'Home'

ST LOUIS (AP)—Volunteer members of the suburban Robertson fire department are nearly always close at hand when the alarm sounds.

The firemen operate a soft drink tavern in the fire station. The tavern profits, which go to the fire department, were just one of the advantages mentioned by Marshall Ladner, the fire district treasurer.

"Having this tavern in the engine house keeps some of our firemen always close by," Ladner said.

Cooking Without Gas Paid Off for This Fellow

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—When a gas plant fire shut off this city's gas supply, only one restaurant remained open. It had electricty for cooking but no hot water to wash dishes, pots or pans.

Owner Len Holman used paper plates and cups — or customers could bring their own dishes and silverware.

Common Cold . . . and You

Prospective One-Shot Vaccine May KO the Sniffles

(This is the last of four articles describing the research battle being waged against colds, influenza and other respiratory diseases that account for two-thirds of all illness.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

When can we expect science to conquer the common cold and other respiratory diseases?

* * *

And, until then, what can each of us do to cut down either our alloted yearly "share" of colds or the effects of these respiratory illnesses once they strike?

Dr. John H. Dingle, professor of preventive medicine at Western Reserve University, thinks "the solution to the common cold will be found in the relatively near future," perhaps "within five years." Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard University agrees.

But, these two men, perhaps the outstanding authorities in the field, are not sure whether the solution will be in the form of a vaccine or some kind of as-yet-undiscovered drug or compound.

* * *

The brighter outlook for a drug rather than a vaccine is based on the fact that science still has not captured the triggering viruses.

IMMUNITY SHORT

In addition, there is some dispute over the length of immunity a cold vaccine could confer—even assuming the viruses had been captured.

The follow-up studies on volunteer "cold-catchers" made by Dr. Harry Dowling of the University of Illinois college of medicine, show:

The average period between colds appears to be six and one-half weeks.

* * *

No volunteer out of a group of 50 men and women went longer than 22 weeks without acquiring a second cold.

This would indicate nature confers a rather short period of immunity from colds. Can science improve on nature and make an immunizing agent that will last longer than an average of six and one-half weeks?

Dr. Enders believes it may be possible for man to do better than nature and make such a vaccine. He cites "great triumphs of artificial immunization" like yellow fever and smallpox vaccine.

VACCINE POSSIBLE

If enough viruses are isolated, identified as culprits and then cultivated, the possibility of a one or two-shot series of vaccinations effective against the great majority of respiratory diseases emerges is conceivable.

This is the forward-looking, unexpressed hope behind today's research. Many doctors believe it is possible.

Until this K.O. punch for common colds and other respiratory diseases is developed, Dr. Dingle thinks "rest," aspirin and relief of the symptoms" is the best treatment.

Such "sure-fire remedies" as cold baths to "harden the body," use of sun lamps, faith healing, yogi, alcohol, spinal adjustments and wearing red underwear are eyed skeptically by American doctors.

* * *

Some common sense "dos" and "don'ts" about the common cold come from Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health.

FOLLOW THESE TIPS

Here are his recommended rules:

1—Avoid a person with a known cold. Granted this is easy to say and difficult to do, it is still a good idea.

2—Don't worry and quarrel. Emotional upset makes you a cold candidate.

3—Get plenty of rest and avoid overwork. If you have a fever, go to bed. Keep the room warm, but not hot—about 70 degrees is right.

4—Avoid chilling, exposure to drafts and cold. In themselves, drafts do not cause colds — but it is believed these things lower your resistance to the cold virus.

5—Keep your feet dry and wear adequate clothing. This means overshoes and boots in wet or snowy weather. Again, cold and wet feet are not causes but may be contributors to colds.

* * *

6—Don't share drinking glasses or wash towels with other members of the family.

7—Get plenty of fresh air and outdoor exercise.

Old Louisiana Law Faces NAACP Test

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) —A hearing was set today on a state suit to knock out the NAACP under Louisiana's old anti-Klan law after the NAACP sought to switch the case to federal court.

* * *

The petition of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, filed yesterday in state and U.S. district courts, contended "compliance" with the 1924 act aimed at the Ku Klux Klan "would be inconsistent with their rights under the Constitution and laws of the United States."

Dist. Judge Coleman Lindsey was expected to rule on the request today, but whatever his ruling the federal judge has the last word. If a federal judge ruled the case could be removed, he could block the state hearing with an injunction.

* * *

The 1924 law requires all state groups, except churches and National Guard units, to file membership lists with the secretary of state annually in December.

Detroit Official Reports Fourth Measles Death

DETROIT (AP)—A fourth death in Detroit's measles epidemic was reported yesterday by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, city commissioner of health.

Dr. Molner said the latest victim was a 3-year-old boy. He did not name him.

Detroit had 771 reported cases of measles in the last week, compared with 55 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Winnipeg is the site of the largest primary grain market in the world.

JONES IN HOSPITAL — Philadelphia Phillies third baseman Willie Jones takes a look at photo of himself after he was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Don Newcomb of the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday. Physician reports his condition as "generally satisfactory."

Wings Aim to Wrap Up Leaf Series

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings have the Toronto Maple Leafs backed up to the wall, but the Wings want to borrow Toronto tactics to wrap up their Stanley Cup hockey battle tonight.

Leading 3-1 in the best-of-7 semi-final a little pressure in the right place will deliver the Wings into a showdown with the Montreal Canadiens for hockey's most prized possession.

* * *

Wing Coach Jimmy Skinner believes a sure way to get the fourth and deciding triumph is to get the first goal when the two teams square off at the Olympia. Said Skinner:

"For eight games now, including the playoffs, we've lagged behind and let the other guys get the first goal. When it counted most, we were able to come back most of the time, three times against these guys. But the pressure is on Toronto, a lot more than us. If we can get that first score, the pressure will be even greater and I'm sure we can go from there."

The Red wings had to scramble from behind to take the first three playoff games from the Maple Leafs. Toronto narrowed the gap to 3-1 Tuesday night with a 2-0 win.

* * *

"That game was a complete turnabout," Skinner added. "Up to then, the puck had been rolling for Toronto in the early stages. But Tuesday night it rolled for us for about 30 minutes—and we weren't able to do anything about it. We'll have to take advantage of the first thing that comes along."

* * *

Skinner saved back some more optimism just in case Toronto sends the series into its sixth or seventh games. "We feel that it's just a matter of time," he said.

* * *

Detroit's failure to sweep the set in four games cost the club at least two days rest before the expected final series against Montreal. The Canadiens got the job done against New York's Rangers in five games, winding it up Tuesday night with a 7-0 shutout. The Canadiens now have a chance to rest and allow assorted bumps and bruises to mend before plunging into the second round.

* * *

But Skinner said that didn't matter, either.

"We might have been a little ahead of ourselves in Toronto—looking past the series at hand and into the next round. But not now. We have to win this one and we know it. And if we win it, and we're hot, we'll be ready for whatever follows."

TURNING BACK THE CALENDAR — Johnny Mize (left) watches from behind the backstop at Phoenix, Arizona, where the Giants are training, and Joe DiMaggio looks over his old Yankee teammates at St. Petersburg, both as if they'd like the calendar to turn back and get back up there to the plate and swat a few.

From The PRESS BOX

Basketball coaches of the South Central League have announced their 1955-56 all-star teams. Seven players were named to the first team, headed by three from champion North Branch, and six made the second squad.

First team choices were Jack Griffin, Jim Ferrier, and Jim O'Neill, all from North Branch; Duane Mason and Larry Dorow, both of Imlay City; Bob Hutchings of Ortonville, and John Haubenstricker of Millington.

Chosen on the second team were Duane Porter of Ortonville, Jerry Castle of North Branch, Dick Zink and Roy Miller of Millington, and Wayne Samson and Jim Frantz from Imlay City.

* * *

St. Michael High School's annual all-sports banquet will be held Tuesday, May 8, coach Bob Mineweaser has announced. Burt Smith, MSU line coach, will be the guest speaker.

* * *

Bob Theus resigned this week as head basketball coach at Niles High school. His team won 4 and lost 12 this season. He will remain as assistant football coach.

* * *

Former Wayne University football coach Lou Zarza is now manager of the sales department of the Michigan School Service, Inc.

* * *

Ben East of Holly, who is the Midwest Field Editor of Outdoor Life magazine, is writing a supplement for the publication called "News for the Midwest." It is designed to keep readers posted on outdoor matters of the region.

* * *

Dave Kives of Pontiac is a member of the Wheaton College baseball team.

* * *

Warren Orlich, starting his 4th year as pro at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, signed a new three year contract this week.

300 Swimmers Participate in Meet at Yale

Ohio State, Eli Tankers Favored in 33rd Annual NCAA Championships

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS) — Nearly 300 swimmers from more than 50 colleges, including team favorites Ohio State and Yale, launch the 33rd annual NCAA swimming championships tonight in Yale's Payne Whitney pool.

* * *

Twelve individual and two relay championships will be decided, in addition to the team title won last year by OSU. More important, the three-day carnival will produce a line on America's Olympic prospects.

Two of the Buckeyes' thre defending champions are returning. Al Wiggins, the world recordholder in the backstroke, defends in the individual medley and Fletcher Gilders in the one-meter dive.

A third defending titleholder in the meet is Rex Aubrey of Yale, in the 100-yard freestyle.

* * *

Wiggins and Aubrey are the most likely double winners. George Breen of Cortland State is another. Breen is almost without competition in the 1,500-meter event, which goes off tonight, and a strong contender over the 440-yard freestyle route.

NBA Playoffs Down to Wire

Title Series in Both Divisions Knotted at 2 Games Each

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of great comebacks by Fort Wayne and Syracuse send the Western and Eastern division playoffs right down to the wire tonight in the National Basketball Assn.

* * *

The Fort Wayne Pistons, down 2-0 at one stage of the best-of-5 Western series, are at home in the title showdown with the St. Louis Hawks, while the Syracuse Nationals, trailing 1-0 and then 2-1, are at Philadelphia for the Eastern playoff with the Warriors.

* * *

Syracuse scrambled to a 2-all tie by rocking the Warriors 108-104 on Ed Conlin's free throw and basket and George King's two free throws in the final minute last night at Syracuse.

* * *

The Warriors twice led by 8 points and were ahead 56-52 at the half before going cold in the third period. Syracuse outscored Philadelphia 30-18 in the third quarter, as the Warriors hit only 4 of 23 shots from the field, and led 80-74 going into the final period.

* * *

Philadelphia rallied and cut the deficit to 103-102 on a 3-point play by Joe Graboski with 1:24 left. After Conlin scored his foul shot and field goal, Tom Gola trimmed the lead to 106-104 with 9 seconds left before King iced it.

Shift From End

Kramer to Be Wingback

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan will try star end Ron Kramer at halfback when the Wolverine football squad opens spring drills next month.

* * *

"I concede that Ron's best position is end," Oosterbaan told the Michigan Football Writers Assn. annual winter meeting last night. "But," he added, "we have many ends and we need wingbacks. I think that Kramer can be a better wingback than any man we have at the position so we'll try him there."

In Michigan's single-wing system, wingbacks and ends are the regular pass targets. As a back, Kramer's running ability could be more fully expected.

"We know what Kramer can do at end," Oosterbaan said. "He doesn't need the practice there. So we'll use this chance to look at him at wingback."

Likely Winners Plentiful for Azalea Open

11 Pros Share Wins in 12 PGA Tourneys on Winter Tour

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)— likely winners were as plentiful as Easter eggs as the four-day $12,500 Azalea Open Golf Tournament began today on the sandy stretches of the par 72 Cape Fear Country Club course.

To date the PGA has conducted 12 tournaments on its winter tour and 11 men have shared the victories. Only Ted Kroll managed to win twice—and he is not here.

Winners of seven of the remaining 10 events are in the field of 150. The last three tournaments have seen an outsider come charging up to win his first major test on the circuit.

* * *

Last Sunday Gardner Dickinson Jr., of Panama City, Fla., won top money at Miami Beach, Fla. The week before it was Mike Fetchick of Mahopac, N.Y., winning at St. Petersburg, and before that it was Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., who grabbed the Pensacola Open.

* * *

All are competing here in a tournament that has seen a pro notch his first big one twice in the last four years.

Four years ago Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., crashed into the winner's circle for the first time in a big money event. Last year Billy Maxwell, former National Amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., scored his first victory here.

* * *

An interesting sidelight finds Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Fetchick involved in a battle for two places still open in the Master's Tournament beginning next Thursday at Augusta, Ga. The best winter tour scoring average will decide the positions. Hebert and Finsterwald lead at present.

Ready or Not Williams Goes Against Tigers

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams says he will return to action Sunday against Detroit after being idled since March 13 with a groin injury.

"I keep getting discouraged," Williams told a writer, "particularly since the groin is now starting to hurt while I'm hitting. However, I suppose I've got to get started again some time and I may as well give it a whirl and see what happens Sunday.

'Funny thing is, this thing doesn't hurt me at all when I run straight ahead. It's only when I stride to throw and now when I try to loft a batted ball."

Falstaff Team Leads in ABC Tournament

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Falstaff Beer of Chicago continued to hold the lead today in the team division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament with the 3,092 pins it bowled over last Saturday.

The tourney entered its third straight day without any changes among the top leaders of all divisions.

Tony Sparando of Rego Park, N. Y., topped the singles with 7-9; Bill Lillard and Stan Gifford of Chicago, Ill., headed the doubles with 1,331; and Lillard dominated the all-events with 2,018.

Tigers Win, 15-5

2nd Base Suddenly Aglow as Hicks Collects Six Hits

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Six hits in six times up and all of a sudden the second base problem of the Detroit Tigers looks a little less serious.

The 6-for-6 day belonged to Buddy Hicks, one of a half dozen aspirants to the Tigers' keystone job. It came yesterday in the Tigers' 15-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and immediately raised the question: is Hicks the man?

Obviously the one day performance won't provide the answer. But it does indicate that this 29-year-old switch hitter bears some serious watching.

At the moment Hicks isn't even on the Tiger roster. He's listed as Charleston, W.Va., property—another of the Detroit minor league chatels.

* * *

Certainly in parts of 11 minor league seasons Hicks never has impressed as a great hitter. He's been regarded as a good glove man and it was his fielding that moved him from the Tigertown rookie camp to the main Detroit squad this spring.

He had gone to the plate 35 times up to yesterday and had collected only four hits. Then boom!

He came up in the 2nd inning with the bases loaded and delivered a two run single. He came up in the 3rd with a man on and hit a 350 foot home run. Back he came in the fourth as the Tigers grabbed an 11-0 lead and singled to left. He opened the sixth with a single to right and the 8th with a single to center.

By the time he got another chance in the 9th even the Philadelphia fans were rooting for him to have a perfect day. And he responded with his 5th single, this one to right.

Strangely, while he was having a perfect day at bat his fielding slumped. He committed one error which led to two runs and dropped a throw on a potential double play which brought on two more Philadelphia Runs.

* * *

All of which makes him still a question mark for the long pull. But certainly he gained attention. From now on its up to him.

The Tigers try against Kansas City again today, this time at West Palm Beach.

Dodger Sorry

Bean Ball Feud Starts Between Jones, Newk

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) —The 1956 season's first full scale feud was in the making today with a possible climax promised for the April 17th National League opener between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Phillies third baseman Willie Jones, hit on the head by one of Brooklyn pitcher Don Newcombe's fast balls said yesterday the Dodger ace "deliberately threw at me."

Newcombe, known at times to have trouble controlling his temper, calmly denied throwing a deliberate bean ball in an exhibition between the two teams here Tuesday. "I'm very sorry he thinks that," the big righthander said. "I tried to pitch inside and the ball got away from me. I didn't try to hit him. I don't pitch at anybody. I'm very sorry he feels that way."

* * *

Jones, out of bed but still held in Mortion Plant Hospital, said "That guy deliberately threw at me. He did it my first time up." Jones got a wall: in a previous appearance against Newcombe.

Jones said that Newcombe throws "close enough to make me move out. He does it all during the regular season."

Newcombe shouted as he let go the pitch that beaned Jones, "Look out Willie." He said he threw a fast ball that slipped out of his fingers.

Dr. Raymond Lockwood, the Phillies club physician, said X-rays showed no fracture but that he wasn't ruling this out yet because "X-rays will not show a fine line fracture."

* * *

He said Jones had suffered a perforated eardrum but the bleeding from the ear has stopped. Still to be determined is whether Jones will suffer a permanent hearing impairment.

Senator, White Sox Deal Is Sidelined

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A player deal between the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators has been sidelined, temporarily at least.

Sox vice president Chuck Comiskey says he received a telegram from Cal Griffith, Senators president, that Griffith "cannot discuss deal involving players mentioned until a later date."

Rumors were that the Sox wanted Pedro Ramos or Camilo Pascual, right handed pitchers, and catcher Clint Courtney.

In return, Chicago reportedly was going to part with Jim Rivera, Bob Nieman, Walt Dropo or any number of lesser lights.

Pirate Breakup

O'Brien Twins May Part

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Johnny and Eddie O'Brien, the Pittsburgh Pirate twins who form the only such combination in the major leagues, may be separated within a few months for the first time in their athletic careers.

* * *

Eddie frankly admitted today that he can see the handwriting on the wall, but he said he does not mind going to the minors if he can play regularly. He and brother Johnny picked up an estimated $40,000 apiece for signing with the Pirates in March of 1953.

* * *

Under the major league bonus rule, the 26-year-old twins have to stay with the club two years. That period, with time out for the period spent in military service, expires in mid-summer.

* * *

"It doesn't look as though I'll get to play much and you can't learn sitting around," said Eddie. "About all Bobby (Bobby Bragan, Pirate manager) will use me for is a pinch hitter, or to fill in somewhere late in a game in case he uses a pinch batter for one of the infielders.

"It would be something new, playing without John. We've been together a long while now, and from the way he's played and hit, he should be with the club."

First Softball Meeting Called

Team Managers to Talk About Summer Program April 4 at City Hall

Plans for the 1956 men's softball program are now being made by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

* * *

The first meeting of men's softball team managers or representatives will be held Wednesday, April 4, at 7:30 p.m., in the Freedom Shrine Room at the north end of the first floor in City Hall.

Softball increased in popularity last year, the recreation department reports, and participation in the sport may increase this summer. An influx of new organized teams may cause league limitations with last year's teams given benefit of preference, the department announces.

All managers or team representatives who desire consideration as a member of the men's city softball leagues this summer should make every effort to attend this first meeting, the department states.

The meeting agenda will include discussion of league organization, player contracts, practice and playing fields, rules and other regulations.

Hogan's Retirement Short

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Hogan's retirement seems to have been short-lived.

* * *

The four-time National Open champion from Fort Worth, Tex., who announced after his defeat in the 1955 Open that he was through with serious competitive golf, accepted an invitation today to represent the United States in the International matches at Surrey, England, June 24-26.

* * *

John Jay Hopkins, head of the International Golf Assn., made the announcement. He said Hogan was unable to commit himself on the British Open at Liverpool July 2-6.

Reports out of Florida are that Hogan has whipped his game into top shape with intensive practice and will be ready to shoot for the "big ones" again this year.

This will be Hogan's first visit to the British Isles since he won the British Open at Carnoustie in 1953.

One other U. S. player will be chosen to team with Hogan in the competition, to which 28 nations have been invited.

Ex-Open Champ Now 49

Britain's Cotton to Play in Masters

NEW YORK (AP)—Great Britain's Henry Cotton, returning to America for the first time in eight years to play in the Masters Tournament, says golf no longer is a game for the "popcorn-ball hitter, the artist of the links."

"The accent is entirely on power," added the 49-year-old two-time British Open champion yesterday in a stopover here en route to Augusta, Ga. "The modern courses are built for it, the equipment encourages it and the best players today are sluggers.

* * *

"The little men, fellows like Paul Runyan and Chick Evans of the old days, haven't a chance. They might as well pack up their bags and try something else."

Cotton, a man of slight stature himself and one of the game's cleverest shotsmiths, said naturally he was "regretful" to see the passing of an era, but he added:

* * *

"We have to accept it—just as we accept streamlined automobiles and central heating."

The British veteran will compete in the Masters next weekend at Augusta, take in the Greenbrier Invitation, which he won in 1948, May 10-13 and play in the round robin at Wykagyl near New York June 6-10. There's a faint chance he'll try to qualify for the National Open.

Reviewing more than a quarter of a century of international golf, Cotton said he felt that Walter Haven was "king of the pros" and Bob Jones was the "greatest shotmaker of all time."

"But it's impossible to make comparisons," he added. "It's like judging great paintings. Each artist has to be judged according to his particular era and his particular field."

Commenting on the report that Ben Hogan may be flirting with a comeback in view of an announced intention of playing in the International matches at Surrey, England, June 24-26, Cotton said:

"Hogan is more than 40 years old. When you reach that age it's difficult to work up enough enthusiasm to compete against the younger men.

"What is the first thing to go for the tournament golfer? It's not the legs and it's not the nerves, as Jimmy Demaret says. It's the ability to concentrate.

"When you're young and full of steam, every 6 or 8-foot putt becomes a life or death matter. When you get older, you're inclined to say, 'Suppose I should miss it—so what?'

"To put it in a nutshell, I'd say you're through when you're tired of getting tired."

New Caddie Master at Orchard Lake CC Post

Newest addition to the Orchard Lake Country Club staff is Joe Fouts who was named caddie master replacing Pat Brazil now holding the same post at Birmingham CC.

* * *

Fouts comes to Orchard Lake with wide experience in working with organized boys groups.

Originally from North Carolina, the new caddie boss was responsible for organizing numerous boys clubs in Arizona after his hitch with the Air Force during World War II.

He has been in Michigan for the past five years aiding police and institutions in recreation programs for youngsters.

Orchard Lake golf activity got under way last week and Fouts has requested that boys interested in caddying register at the club any day except Mondays.

Deer Look for Food as Weather Eases

LANSING (AP) — Deer were able to move out of yards in search of food during the past week as weather eased somewhat, the state conservation department reported today.

* * *

Milder and thawing weather was reported in the deer areas and the snow, ranging from one to two feet, settled somewhat.

* * *

Reports of deer being killed by dogs were on the increase, however, with 53 cases of deer being killed by roving dogs in the northern lower peninsula during the week.

* * *

Owners were warned against allowing dogs to run in the deer areas as conservation officers have the authority to kill any dog found attacking or molesting a deer.

Baltimore Will Add Slugger to Team's Roster

MESA, Ariz. (INS) — Manager Paul Richards said today Tito Francona, Baltimore's spring training slugging sensation, will be added to the Orioles' roster within the next few days.

The 22-year-old native of New Brighton, Pa., is leading the Orioles in home runs with five and in runs-batted-in with 15 while batting .378 in 14 exhibition games.

A lefthanded-hitting fist baseman who was discharged from the Air Force late last summer, Francona is being converted into an outfielder this spring.

Phog Allen Wants One More Season

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Phog Allen, who has been in the basketball coaching business almost a half a century, can expect an early reply to his request for one more season as head man of the University of Kansas Jayhawks.

The university's Athletic Board meets tonight to make recommendations on the basketball coaching situation.

Allen has passed the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Recommendations of the Athletic Board will be passed on to the Board of Regents.

If Allen is not retained, reports are that Dick Harp, Allen's assistant the past several years will be elevated to the head job.

TOOK A DIVE — Carlos Chavez, nationally known veteran boxer, testified before the California investigating committee yesterday that he took a one-round dive in a fight in Los Angeles with Art Aragon in 1950. He said he was sick at the time from loss of blood due to illness and said, "there was no use in getting hurt."

New Fixes Admitted in Probe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California boxing probe, which already has produced a fair amount of sensation, was due for further eruptions today with the scheduled appearance of Matchmaker Babe McCoy before Gov. Goodwin Knight's special investigating committee.

* * *

McCoy, reputed boss man of the game in this section, with connections all over the nation, has been confined to his apartment by illness since he appeared in a stormy session last week.

Chief Investigator James J. Cox has centered his probe on McCoy, seeking to prove him the silent manager of a host of fighters along with his match making duties at the Olympic Auditorium.

He has been accused of arranging fixed fights and associating with hoodlums.

* * *

The alleged fixed fight score, not necessarily involving McCoy, stood at around 16 today following new disclosures yesterday.

Veteran Carlos Chavez led off yesterday as a reluctant witness, finally admitting that he personally took a dive in the first round of a bout with Art Aragon at the Olympic in November 1950.

Carlos claimed he was too "sick" to fight that night and there was no intimation that Aragon was in any way involved.

The outcome that night did arouse lifted eyebrows at the time. Chavez a few months before had decisively outpointed the Golden Boy in 10 rounds.

* * *

Later a now retired heavyweight young Harry Wills, a voluntary witness, told the committee he threw a bout in Baltimore Jan. 22, 1951, to Jimmy Bivins. He said he repeated the act against Harry (Kid) Mathews at Spokane, Wash. Nov. 8, 1952.

Wills said his troubles really began at Baltimore Nov. 20, 1950, when he crossed up the fix-fight boys and outpointed Freddie Beshore, then hoping for a title shot.

Wills said Harry (Champ) Segal of New York was Beshore's manager and that it was Segal who approached him in Stillman's Gym in New York and told him he could make "$4,000 or $5,000" if he went into the tank with Freddie.

Wills said, in effect, that people compared him and Beshore in gym workouts and he decided not to lose the fight.

BLACKBALLED BY 'GAMBLERS'

From then on, Wills testified, "the gamblers" put a blackball on him and he had trouble getting work in the ring.

Later in Los Angeles, Wills went on, he was offered a Beshore rematch by Willie Ginsberg, then Freddie's manager, provided he would lose. Wills said he at first agreed but that Ginsberg backed off when he feared young Harry would cross things up again.

Ginsberg, who described himself as a fight hanger-on and long a leg-man and handyman for McCoy, told a different story. He said he wanted no part of Wills because he didn't like his manager and Wills was no drawing card.

* * *

Ginsberg, under questioning by Cox, identified checks amounting to as much as $896.54 which he said he received from Oakland Promoter Jimmy Murray for publicity work for Maxie and Bernard Docusen, New Orleans' boxing brothers, now retired.

The Docusen boys drew big houses for McCoy at the Olympic.

Ginsberg also said he got substantial sums from the late Joe Waterman, promoting at Tacoma, Wash., whenever the Docusens appeared up there.

Cage Tourney at St. Fred

A post-season men's basketball attraction — the Gold Medal tournament — will get under way next week in Pontiac.

St. Frederick's high school gymnasium will be the scene of action and 10 independent teams from the Pontiac area are entered. The tourney will start Monday night, followed by Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday activity.

The Gold Medal tournament will be a single elimination affair. Trophies will be awarded to the top four teams and 66 individual awards will be made.

Competing teams are Stadium Inn, Griff's Grill and Phil's Inn from Pontiac's city leagues; Philgas, Manny's Bar and an Alumni squad from the Waterford Township circuit; the Northerners, Hillbillies and 6th Street & Woodbine from Redford Township, and the UAW-CIO quintet of General Motors.

Philgas meets 6th Street & Woodbine at 7 o'clock, the UAW-CIO faces the Alumni at 8:15, and Stsdium Inn battles the Hillbillies at 9:30 in Monday night's first round games.

Remaining teams swing into action Wednesday, which will reduce the field to four clubs for Saturday's semi-finals. The title game is scheduled Sunday, April 8.

Many familiar names to area basketball fans will be playing in the tourney, including Bob McManus and Dave Sebring for the Alumni; Gar Townes, Dick Williams, and Dick DeWit for Manny's; Dick Warren, Stadium Inn; Al King, Phil's Inn; and Tex Klaus, Philgas.

Ben Van Alstyne, Michigan State golf coach, joined the Spartan staff in 1926 as head basketball coach.

Morgan Scores Over Lightburn

Youngstown Boxer Gets Unanimous Decision in Cleveland Bout

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new ring ratings are just out, but a name is missing among the lightweight contenders to be reckoned with. Langston Carl Morgan Jr., of Youngstown, Ohio, belongs among them now.

A 5-2 underdog in the betting, Morgan scored a unanimous decision in a slam-bang 10-rounder last night against Ludwig Lightburn, classy British Honduras boxer who ranks fourth among the lightweight hopefuls.

The upset came close to being vastly more startling, for Morgan almost had a kayo midway in the first round. He landed his powerful right cross on Lightburn's chin and the favorite went down and remained dazed for the rest of the round.

Lightburn, who had won seven straight, finished strong and felled Morgan, with a right cross in the ninth, but he never came close to catching up with the margin the Youngstown boy piled up in the first four rounds.

Both judges scored it 94-93 for Morgan, and Referee Tony LaBranche put Morgan on top 97-88. The AP card favored Morgan 97-92.

Frisco Coach Lashes Rules

Phil Woolpert Objects to Changes Made for Next Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The best defensive coach in college basketball took an oral swipe today at the rules changes ordered for next season.

"They've been making the same mistake for the last three or four years," snorted Phil Woolpert, whose University of San Francisco dons won their 2nd straight NCAA cage title last week on their 55th consecutive victory.

"They're trying to legislate defense instead of coaching it."

Woolpert's Dons topped the nation's collegiate cagers two successive years in defensive play while rolling up the longest winning streak on record against major foes.

The rules change to which Woolpert objects most strongly is the one aimed at the big man who is agile enough—and has the height—to guide teammates' errant shots into the basket, a maneuver at which Dons' Bill Russell excelled.

Next year officials will be forced to decide on the spot whether tip-in baskets originated as a pass or a wild shot.

Mantle Does It Again—Suffers Injury to Leg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Has Mickey Mantle had it again?

The injury-prone, slugging centerfielder of the New York Yankees pulled a hamstring muscle in his right leg while sliding into second base yesterday in a 6-4 exhibition loss to Washington. It was the same sort of injury that hobbled him late in last year's pennant drive.

Infielder Billy Martin also was injured, suffering bruised knees as Washington's Ernie Oravetz slid hard into second base.

Seven Champ Wrestlers Win Greco-Roman Style

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Greco-Roman wrestling, a sport little known in this country, today took over the mats where seven National AAU Tournament freestyle championships were won last night.

The University of Toledo's Joe Scalzo, who will coach this year the first U.S. team in the Olympic Games' Greco-Roman style, hoped the competition would draw the most skilled of the freestylers.

In Greco-Roman, a wrestler is not permitted to use his legs for holds of tripping and may grasp an opponent's body only above the waist.

But whatever grapple talent might be uncovered in this unfamiliar art, it could hardly match that demonstrated through three days of the freestyle eliminations by the University of Oklahoma's Danny Hodge.

He was one of the Sooner AC's three winners. The others were Bill (Ernie) Fischer an airman at the Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City, at 160.5 pounds, and Dick Delgado at 114.5.

Like Hodge and Delgado, who pinned four opponents for a title as early as Tuesday night, Navyman Pete Blair felled every foe to win the 191-pound crown. He had five falls.

The other title winners were heavyweight Bill Kerslake, Cleveland Case AC only 1955 champion to repeat; Bill Carter, Tulsa YMCA, at 125.6; and Tommy Evans, Tulsa Y, 147.5.

The Tulsa Y finished second in team competition with 19 points to the Sooner AC's 26. Other team totals were the U.S. Navy 16, New York AC 12, Baltimore YMCA 6, Case AC 6, Michigan State U. 5, Auburn, Ala., AC 4, San Francisco Olympic Club 4, University of Colorado 2, Stillwater, Okla., Cowboy Club 2, Ithaca, N.Y., grapplers 1, Ft. MSU Shuts Out Marines, 4-0

Five Hit Pitching by Spartan Pair Sparks Southern Win

CAMP LeJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—Brilliant pitching by Walt Godfrey and Ron Perranowski gave Michigan State's touring baseball team a 4-0 shutout victory over the Camp LeJeune Marines yesterday.

Godfrey, a Detroit senior, was rapped for four scattered singles in his 6-inning appearance and Perranowski, a fireballing southpaw from Fairlawn, N.J., gave up only one single while striking out five Leathernecks in three innings.

The Spartans combined six hits and six Marine errors for their runs with catcher Al Luce and centerfield Ray Collard leading the way by driving in two runs apiece. Collard and Gary Warner, sophomore second baseman, both connected for two hits.

MSU meets the Marines again today.

Nashua Possibility for $100,000 Bowie Race

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Nashua may be entered in the $100,000-added John B. Campbell Memorial Handicap here April 7 if he isn't assigned too much weight, says trainer Jim Fitzsimmons.

Bowie officials interpreted Fitzsimmons' statement yesterday to mean he would balk at more than 130 pounds for the sensational 4-year-old. Fitzsimmons said he would ship Nashua from New York April 5 for the race.

Five Pitchers Leading Field in Citrus Play

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Porterfield of the Boston Red Sox, Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants, Dave Jolly of Milwaukee, Vern Law of Pittsburgh and Tom Poholsky of the St. Louis Cards today paced major league pitchers in the Grapefruit League with three victories each.

Porterfield, who has compiled a brilliant 1.50 earned run mark, and Antonelli have one loss. Jolly, Law and Poholsky are 3-0 apiece.

Jim Bunning of Detroit and Joe Black of Cincinnati have lost the most exhibition games, three. Black, however, has picked up two triumphs.

Carter Favored Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jimmy Carter of New York City, who has three times won and lost the world's lightweight title, is a 5-3 favorite to defeat Don Jordan, Los Angeles, in a scheduled 10-round fight tonight at the Olympic Auditorium.

Crow Hunting Offers Last Fling in Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Before you put your shotgun away for the summer, you can have yourself some sporty spring shooting and at the same time steal a march on the game warden, who hasn't ruled yet that crows are game birds.

Just about any place you can shoot at all, you can shoot crows. In fact, conservation officials will cheer you on. If there were 10 times as many crow hunters and one-tenth as many crows, it might be another story.

* * *

Because by any test of courage, agility, craftiness and sport you can figure, crows are as game as anything in feathers. The difference between the corw's social position and, say, the prairie chicken's, is largely a matter of supply and demand.

* * *

But those same factors can provide you with a busy spring, and cut your left-over shell supply in a twinkling. You can hunt crows by methods and at times that would get you put promptly into jail if you applied them to a partridge, and get you socially ostracized as well.

You can shoot 'em on the wing, you can shoot 'em on the nest. Pennsylvania suggests methods for shooting 'em on the roost at night. You can shoot over bait, over live decoys. You can do your worst, and even doing your best at doing your worst, you'll be lucky to have a black feather to show for your trouble.

* * *

For the crow can give man cards and spades, you might say, and stay ahead of the game. He has, for hundreds of years. The difference between a foolish young crow and a wise old crow is that a crow is young and foolish up until the first time that a man shoots at him and misses.

* * *

Expert crow hunters—and like musky hunters, there are more who wish they were than ever make it—prefer to treat the crow as an adversary of some distinction.

* * *

They hunt him the way you hunt the wiliest of ducks—from a blind, with artificial decoys and perhaps the aid of a stuffed owl, since crows dearly love to bedevil owls. It takes three men working as a team to get one hunter into a blind, oldtimers say, because they swear that crows can count.

City Union Bowlers Tops

Pontiac keglers won both team and individual honors in the 3rd annual UAW-CIO Region 1-B bowling tournament at Pontiac Recreation.

The Bowling Five of Local 596 gained men's team laurels with 3019, besting runner-up Ann Arbor Local 38 by 49 pins. The Pontiac Squaws of Local 653 took women's team honors with 2875, which was 11 pins better than Auburn Hts. Mfg.

D. Land of Pontiac's Local 653 won the women's singles title with 608 and finished 2nd in all events on a score of 1757. C. Hiltunen and E. Hurd captured the men's doubles with 1322, 28 pins ahead of G. Howard and S. Johnson. Johnson took 2nd place in all events with 1881.

Kalamazoo's C. Heineman was the winner of men's singles with 666, while C. Yates and V. Landon, both of Pontiac, finished 2nd and 3rd respectively. T. Pcholinski from Van Dyke topped all events with 1885.

M. O'Harra of Ann Arbor was the women's all events champion with 1784. The women's doubles title went to N. Cook and D. Judson from Ann Arbor on 1234.

GRAPEFRUIT League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unless he's hit by a line drive, a thrown ball or a slumping earned run average, Bob Porterfield looks as though he's ready to come up with a whale of a year and put the Boston Red Sox right in the thick of the American League pennant race.

* * *

Porterfield, obtained from Washington last November, has looked great in the Sox' exhibition games. He's won three, lost one and put together an awesome 1.50 ERA, giving up only two walks and three earned runs in 18 innings. With guys like Ted Williams, Jackie Jensen and Sammy White on his side, there's little reason to doubt that Bob will improve on his 10-17 pitching record of last season.

The rub, however, is that he will have to steer clear of injuries. For if anyone can qualify for the title of the "unluckiest player in the majors" it's the same Mr. Porterfield.

* * *

Bob, now 31, came up to the New York Yankees in 1948 with a fine reputation. The following year, Casey Stengel was ready to make him one of his front-line hurlers.

"But there was always something wrong," complained Casey, "sore arm, sore legs, sore head, always something sore."

After that Porterfield came up with sundry other hurts, including a fractured jaw and a concussion.

* * *

Yesterday, Porterfield gave up only three hits and one run in six innings as the Red Sox downed the Kansas City A's 7-2. Jackie Jensen slammed his first homer of the spring as Boston jumped on Alex Kellner for three runs and reliever Bill Harrington for four more.

Injuries struck four players in the Yankees - Washington game, won by the Senators 6-4. After the victims were counted up the list looked this way: Yankees—Mickey Mantle, pulled leg muscle, Billy Martin, bruised knee; Senators—Pete Runnels, bruised hand, Hal Griggs, bruised ankle. Bob Turley's pride was hurt too. He took his fourth pounding of the Grapefruit League season, giving up all six Washington runs in six frames.

* * *

Stan Musial got three hits as the St. Louis Cards shellacked the Cincinnati Redlegs 13-4. The Cards got seven runs in the eighth inning. Smoky Burgess of the Reds homered off Tom Poholsky, who picked up his third exhibition victory.

* * *

In other games, the Pittsburgh Pirates pulled a triple play and got three runs batted in from Frank Thomson in beating the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-2. The Milwaukee Braves pounded Billy Pierce for four runs in the first inning and coasted to a 7-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox. A grand slam homer by Stu Locklin and a solo wallop by Al Rosen enabled the Cleveland Indians to nip the Chicago Cubs 8-7. Homers by Dusty Rhodes and Willie Mays helped the New York Giants to a 6-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Coachers Entered in Sachs Hoop Event

More than 40 teams, among them General Motors Truck & Coach from Pontiac, will participate in the 9th annual Cincy Sachs Open Amateur basketball tournament, which starts Easter Sunday and concludes Tuesday, April 10, in the U. of D. Memorial building.

The double elimination series will be held at nine high school gymnasiums — Hamtramck, Holy Redeemer, Hazel Park, Melvindale, West Bloomfield, Cathedral Central, Catholic Central, Farmington and Lakeview. The championship game will be played at U. of D.

GMTC will carry Pontiac's hopes for the title, which has been held for the past three years by Detroit's Metropolitan quintet. Other area teams involved are the Hazel Park Merchants and Cast-O-Stone of Royal Oak.

Another strong entry is the Flint Junior College squad, champion of the Michigan Junior College Conference.

The tourney director is P. Cincy Sachs, prominent and colorful basketball personality who has been active in the Detroit area for many years.

Hambletonian May Move to Illinois

NEW YORK (AP) — The recent death of Bill Cane will have no immediate effect on the Hambletonian which he ran for 25 years at Goshen, N.Y., but after 1957 the 3-year-old trotting classic will be up for bids and E. J. Hayes, for one, would like to see it raced at DuQuoin, Ill.

The Hambletonian, developed into the blue ribbon event of the sport by Cane, will be raced at Goshen in August this year under the direction of Yonkers Raceway and in 1957 by Cane's estate over the same triangle-shaped track in New York's Orange County.

Sports Briefs

When the Kansas University freshman team took the Big Seven indoor track title recently, one first place winner was seven-foot Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain who high jumped 6-4⅞.

* * *

John Kobs, veteran Michigan State baseball coach, won 13 letters in four sports—football, baseball, basketball and track—at Hamline University.

* * *

Seven of Michigan State's 13 head coaches have held their positions at MSU for 10 or more years.

* * *

The Browns and Rams divided $149,398 as players' shares as a result of the 1955 pro league title game.

Circus Vet Has Full Job Caring for 1,000 Animals

CHICAGO (INS) — When the circus big top comes down for the winter and performers are shaping up new acts, J. Y. Henderson will he's handled for a dozen years.

* * *

He is the veterinarian of Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey. Come winter or summer, the health of 1,100 animal stars is a round-the-clock chore for Doc Henderson.

But he doesn't hanker for a change. A 47-year-old Texan, he has the traditionally lean and lined-face look of the rangeland. Yet he tends his "herd" with kingsize needles and jumbo doses of vaccines, serums, penicillin and sulfa.

He has been doing this since 1941 when John North, head of the circus dragged him out of bed at 1 a.m. Interviewed recently in Chicago, Henderson related:

"I'd finished a course in animal I got this phone call. Mr. North wanted to know if I'd come to work with him. I said, yes.

"All the time I was thinking: when I was a young'un I told my Ma, 'I'm going to be a vet with the Ringling Bros. Circus.' But you know, I never figured I actually would!"

Instead of steers and chickens, Henderson tends 94 horses and 54 elephants. There also are gorillas, baboons, chimpanzees, zebras, giraffes, camels and the cats—tigers, lions, pumas, leopards and cheetahs.

The one-time farm boy of Kerrville, Tex., said he must deal with "lameness" more than disease. He said:

"Much of it is arthritic. But with animals they usually call it 'old age' and let them go."

His job is to keep as many as possible. He once spared four horses from the retirement list by treatment for tendon inflammation with human-type antibiotics. Injuries are another headache, He said:

"Horses are the worst problems—they have no sense of self preservation. They'll bang their heads on poles, walk into stakes and step into holes."

Henderson said he never faced an epidemic or a bad disease case. He explained the animals are tested, vaccinated and "cleared" by the Florida state health officials each spring before the circus leaves its winter quarters at Sara-

* * *

The fall return to Sarasota is truly a homecoming for Henderson. His wife remains there keeping house for their two daughters, Jenny, 24, and Lelia, 16.

But does the family ever squabble over Doc's line of work? This probably is answered by the fact that an 18-year-old son, Donald, is away at Texas A & M—in veterinarian college.

Soybeans Firm After Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans firmed on the Board of Trade today following issuance of a government report showing processors crushed a very large amount of beans during February.

In early dealings new crop wheat futures were also higher, buying being based on the possibility of damage to the bread grain from the recent dust storms in the Southwest. But these futures quickly gave up their gains on milk liquidation.

Other cereals generally had a slightly easier undertone although losses were not large in any pit. Dealings were rather slow.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ to ⅝ lower. May $2.26¼; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, May $1.39⅞; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, May 64⅞; rye ¾ to 1 cent lower, May $1.31; soybeans ¼ to ¾ higher, May $2.67½, and lard 2 to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.45.

Business Notes

CLEVELAND (AP) — White Motor Co. has announced the election of J. P. Dragin as vice president in charge of finance.

Dragin, 47, had been controller for the firm which makes trucks, truck tractors and diesel engines. He has been with White since 1945.

He replaces E. S. Reddig who resigned recently to devote his full time to other interests.

Air Suspension Savings Cited by GMC Officials

Shipment of replacement parts in light-weight containers via GMC's new air-ride suspension trucks would save the Truck & Coach Division $200,000 in labor and packaging material alone, according to company statisticians.

According to Ward's Automotive Reports, officials report that a packaged truck cab door weighs 48 pounds less in a cardboard container than in a wooden crate. Savings from Pontiac for every thousand doors shipped to the West Coast would be $4,160.

GM to Lead Boost in Air Conditioners

A 52 per cent increase in auto air conditioner installation during 1956 will be spearheaded by General Motors, according to Ward's Automotibe Reports.

The publication reported that GM plans to boost installation by 67.2 per cent this year. The corporation's five production lines will install 142,000 refrigeration units in 1956, compared with 84,920 last year.

The industry expects to sell 279,700 of the air conditioners in 1956.

Stocks Push Up in Strong Drive

NEW YORK (AP) — A strong drive on a broad front today sent the stock market up substantially.

Prices in the early afternoon were up 2 to a little better than 4 points in many instances. Losses went to about a point.

Trading was at an unusually fast clip and hit a pace around 3,000,000 shares for the day. That compares with 2,610,000 shares traded yesterday when the market after a lot of irregularity finally managed to post a new gain for the day.

The steels, coppers and aluminums were higher early today and provided initialleadership for the rise. Then the oils took over as front runner. Finally the railroads joined the advance, and made it general. The aircrafts were just about alone among major groups persisting in showing minus signs.

Pennsylvania Railroad was outstanding with a strong runup of between 2 and 3 points in heavy trading.

Ashland Oil was the most active in its group with a gain of around a point. It was yesterday's most active issue up 1 at 19⅛ on an increased dividend.

Stock exchanges will be closed tomorrow in observance of Good Friday.

Anaconda Co. stood out in the coppers up between 1 and 2 while Alcoa in the aluminum section added between 4 and 5 points.

Major gains also were made by Minnesota Mining, Filtrol, Longbell Lumber, Schering, Reynolds Metals, Kennecott Copper and Studebaker-Packard.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.30 at $191.00.

ORDINANCE NO. 1302

Adopted: March 27, 1956

Effective: April 6, 1956.

An Ordinance to license and regulate the storing, wrecking and dismantling of wrecked automobiles or automobiles which are unfit for reconditioning for highway use, to provide a yearly license for persons, firms or corporations engaging in storing, wrecking or dismantling of wrecked automobiles or automobiles unfit for reconditioning for highway use, and to prohibit the storage of wrecked, old or junked automobiles or old salvage materials on unlicensed premises and to provide regulations for such business and to fix penalties for violations of this ordinance.

The City of Pontiac Ordains:

Section 1.

The term—the storing, wrecking or dismantling of wrecked automobiles or automobiles which are unfit for reconditioning for highway use—is hereby defined as the practice of disassembling wrecked automobiles or automobiles which are unfit for reconditioning for highway use for the salvaging of automobile parts. The term—engaging in the storing, dismantling or wrecking of automobiles unfit for reconditioning for highway use or wrecked automobiles—is defined to include any person, firm or corporation storing such automobiles or storing wrecked automobiles for the purpose of dismantling or disassembling the same or any person, firm or corporation dismantling or disassembling any wrecked automobiles or automobiles unfit for reconditioning for highway use for the salvaging of automobile parts.

Section 2:

No person, firm or corporation shall engage in the storing, dismantling or wrecking of automobiles unfit for reconditioning for highway use or wrecked automobiles or store the same within the City of Pontiac without having a license therefor from the City Clerk of the City of Pontiac.

Section 3:

Applications for such licenses shall be made in writing to the City Commission and filed with the City Clerk. It shall give all such information as may be deemed necessary for the proper enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance, including the name and

ONE FULL YEAR GUARANTEE

Consider these advantages of the NATIONAL BONDED guarantee. A dealer can guarantee his cars only in his dealership. NATIONAL BONDED GUARANTEES THE CAR ANYWHERE IN THE U.S. AT THE REPAIR SHOP OF THE OWNER'S CHOOSING . . . The dealer's guarantee is actually a personal guarantee. If bad health or business failure should visit the dealer, the guarantee is void. NATIONAL BONDED is backed by $120,000,000 in assets. Regardless what happens to the individual, the owner's protection continues for the full year . . . The dealer's guarantee is on a percentage basis. The dealer pays a share of the repair costs and the owner pays a share. NATIONAL BONDED pays the repair bill in full; the owner pays nothing.

Many Others to Choose From

SMALL DOWN PAYMENTS

If you haven't been able to buy a car anywhere else because you were short of cash or because your car is too old to cover the down payment . . . or if you've been told you owe too much on your car to make a deal come in and see us. We've helped a lot of people, and we may be able to help you.

First Liberty Now Behind, Boots Nearing Graduation

Pontiac sailor William Imboden of 457 Lowell St., now in his eighth week of basic training at Great Lakes, Ill., with the civic-sponsored Pontiac-Flint-Saginaw Navy Company, writes in his weekly dispatch to recruiters:

"The Tri-City Company, after finishing a hard week in the mess halls, enjoyed its first weekend liberty and is now in the final two weeks of 'boot camp.'

"The men spent their first liberty off base March 24 and 25. Most went to Milwaukee, with the rest travelling to Chicago. It was a change from the daily routine and a chance for additional recreation.

"While the men look forward to their next 'Cinderella Liberty,' the next two weeks won't be a vacation by any means. A final 'bag inspection,' ship drills, final orders and graduation on April 7 all are scheduled.

"These things, with the Company graduation party, will fully occupy the last two weeks, and April 9 is the big day when the Company starts for home and its two week leave.

"That, I believe, is most on every man's mind, as well as the minds of those at home."

'Playhouse 90' Most Ambitious

'The Big Record' and Shriner Variety Show Also in the Works

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK —Some program changes affecting almost every night of the week are in the works for next season on CBS-TV.

* * *

Trade reports indicate that three are big programs of an hour or longer. But most are half-hour shows, on film, the creations of Hollywood.

90-MINUTE DRAMA

The most ambitious undertaking will be Playhouse 90, a 90-minute weekly dramatic show to be produced by Martin Manlius. Variety, the weekly trade journal of show business, says this is slotted for 9:30 p.m. (Eastern Time) Thursday evenings and will include eight film entries to be made by Columbia Pictures. CBS has not commented on details.

* * *

One of the hour shows will be called The Big Record with format, time and other details a big secret. Actually the idea for this program was given a show-casing several weeks ago when Shower of Stars presented "The Golden Record," a program in which stars who had sold more than a million recordings of specific songs did their stuff. The public liked it — and so, apparently, does CBS now.

SHRINER SHOW

The other weekly hour program, announced previously, will be a Herb Shriner variety show. This may move into a Friday night spot, with the hope of giving that currently rather dead evening a shot in the arm.

* * *

Here are some of the half-hour film programs reported in the works:

* * *

A series on air power, a weekly color cartoon series, a series about helicopter pilots, one on the use of medicine in solving crimes, a Perry Mason series based on the Erle Stanley Gardner mystery stories, a cavalry series, one on activities of the Chicago Fire Department, at least three new situation comedies. All of these are on film and nearly all will originate in Hollywood.

East Lansing Cheering Woman on TV Quiz Show

EAST LANSING (AP) — East Lansing friends are rooting for a sprightly, 76-year-old lady who made an initial appearance on television's $64,000 Question" Tuesday night as an expert on horse racing.

* * *

She is Mrs. Ida Mae Sherburne of Nicholasville, Ky., wife of Col. Thomas L. Sherburne Sr. who was commandant of the MSU ROTC from 1920 to 1929.

* * *

Her local fans think she'll do well in the category as they recall she and her husband helped start the horse shows at MSU in the 1920's.

* * *

A son, Maj. Gen. Thomas L. Sherburne Jr. is an Army guided missile expert, an MSU graduate and at one time was the top ranked Spartan tennis player. He was given a Michigan State centennial award last year "for outstanding service to his country."

Mrs. Sherburne, who reached the $256 level in her first try, will make a second appearance next week.

Finally Returns Book —36 Years Overdue

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Duke University has regained a library book that was checked out 36 year ago.

Duke levies a nickel a day on overdue books, and this one could have cost the borrower $650. The professor who brought it back got a thank you instead of a fine. He found it among his father's books.

The book, a biography of Napoleon, was checked out Oct, 8, 1919.

Duke officials say about 400-500 of their 1,200,000 volumes are lost, strayed or stolen each year.

King Sister to Wed

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Alyce King of the four singing King Sisters will marry Broadway actor Robert Clarke Saturday at the North Hollywood Church of the Latter Day Saints. The couple said they will spend their honeymoon in Mexico City and Acapulco.

Veloz, Yolanda Dance Into Domestic Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The dance team of Veloz and Yolanda reached Domestic Relations Court today. The former Yolanda Casazza, who married Frank Nicholas Veloz in 1929 in Philadelphia and bore him four children, has asked for a decree of separate maintenance and $2,500 monthly support.

She said in her petition that her husband left her March 1 and is not contributing to his family's support although he has contracts paying him from $2,000 to $4,000 a month.

SIGHT FOR SURE EYES — Leap Year gets more and more dangerous every year. Especially when gals like Marine Corp. Joan Kammer, shown setting her long-range sights in San Francisco, outshoots many a male leatherneck. Joan, who hails from Cincinnati, Ohio, is the only lady marine who shoots in the regular marine matches. In the monthly 12th Naval District outdoor matches she's chalked up three perfect scores with the service .30-calibre M-1 rifle at 500 yards. Just as good indoors with the .22, Joan is the top B-League shooter in the San Francisco Rifle Association's winter gallery circuit. In other words, when Joanie gets her gun, she means business.

Dean From St. Louis, Mo. to Speak at All Saints

VERY REV. S. E. SWEET D. D.

The Very Rev. Sidney E. Sweet D. D., dean of Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, Mo. will speak from 12 to 3 p.m. Friday during the "Thre Hours" at All Saints Episcopal Church.

On January 1956, he was awarded the citation by the Metropolitan Church Federation of St. Louis as "Ecumenical Man of the Year."

On February 13, of this year, the Rev. Mr. Sweet celebrated his 25th anniversary as Dean of Christ Church Cathedral.

A graduate of Yale in 1905 and Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. in 1908, he was ordained deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1908 and became a priest in 1909. He was also graduated from Illinois College in 1936.

He is a member of the Missouri Welfare League, the Missouri Association for Mental Hygiene and active in social and labor problems of the community.

Dean Sweet has served as chairman of the Disputes Division of the National War Labor Board Region 7 and as arbitrator in labor disputes in St. Louis and other cities.

Prior to his present pastorate, the Rev. Mr. Sweet was assistant rector of St. John's Church, Jersey City, N. J.; rector of St. Stephan's Church, Jersey City and St. Paul's Church, Columbus, Ohio.

20 Lost Weekends

ALLEGAN (AP) — The next 20 weekends will be long ones for Harry McKeown, 21, of Allegan. He must serve them in jail as part of his sentence of reckless driving. McKeown, clocked at 110 m.p.h. by police Sunday, also was fined $75 and $5.80 costs.

Damage Suit Filed on Father's Paintings

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two daughters of a local artist have filed a $650,000 damage suit against a storage company contending their father's paintings were damaged by rough handling.

Works of the late John Douglas Patrick are involved. Mrs. Grace Patrick Wray and Mrs. Hazel Patrick Rickenbacher named the Perky Brothers Transfer and Storage Co. as defendant.

The daughters said they had placed 55 paintings in a vault for which they provided a lock and key. Sometime after 1937, the suit added, the canvases were removed to open storage in a warehouse without their consent and some were damaged.

Solons Debating Pension Move

Railroad Unions Seek Financial Exemption for Retirement Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight is brewing in Congress over a plan to let workers exclude from taxable income the money they invest toward future pensions.

Railroad labor unions are pushing legislation, now before a House subcommittee, to give rail workers such a tax exemption for contributions toward their retirement plan, separate from the social security system.

HUMPHREY CAUTIONS MOVE

However, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has cautioned that the principle, if adopted, could be extended to social security charges and the costs of all pension or annuity plans, public or private.

In that event, Humphrey estimates, the federal tax loss would run about two billion dollars a year.

* * *

The rail unions claim that Humphrey's tax loss estimates are considerably inflated. They challenge Humphrey's calculation that the tax loss from rail workers alone would be 70 million dollars a year. The unions say it probably would be only half that amount.

Americans Erroneously Arrested in Connection With Kennison Mystery

NOGALES, SONORA, Mexico (AP) — Three American students were en route to their West Coast homes today after spending four days in jail "by mistake" in connection with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kennison of Detroit.

Laughing good-naturedly over their confinement, Thomas Joseph O'Brien, 22, of San Pedro, Calif., Phil Ford of Salem, Ore., and Harold McGrath of Lakewood, Calif., were released yesterday by immigration authorities.

The three were arrested at the border Saturday in a search for a Thomas Joseph P. O'Brien and William Shelton. The pair operated a motel at Ciudad Victoria, where the Kennisons last were seen.

O'Brien and Shelton disappeared shortly after the bodies of the Detroit couple were found March 12.

Mexican police in this border city agreed the O'Brien they arrested Saturday was the wrong man but said they could do nothing until official clearance came from Mexico City. Jose Maria Soto, immigration chief here, said the release had been held up by "routine immigration procedures."

Mates of the Limerick Write Her a Limerick

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A British freighter arriving here inspired this verse in the Charleston News & Courier:

"There is a small ship from Great Britain
"At Columbus Street she is sittin'
"Her name, if you cared,
"And please be prepared,
"Is the Limerick, and so this is written."

Empty Jail Raided by 3 Ex-Prisoners

TECUMSEH (AP)—Police said that after the empty jail was locked up tight, three former prisoners broke in looking for a bottle of cognac officers confiscated from them and were caught leaving with:

One police radio, a clock calendar, several keys, a stapling machine and a .32 caliber cartridge loader, but no cognac.

Drillers Finally Strike Water After Oil, Gas

CORBIN, Ky. (AP)—Drillers were searching for water on John Crawford's farm when they hit oil at a depth of about 170 feet.

At 200 feet, they struck gas and, like the oil, it was not enough to be valuable. Finally, at 264 feet, the drillers struck plenty of water.

Broiler Plants Produce Poultry Very Efficiently

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Commercial broiler plants produce young poultry so efficiently that fryer production no longer is profitable for the average farmer, says D. J. Bray, University of Illinois poultry specialist.

The commercial broiler producer has a large volume of uniform birds available which command a higher price. On the other hand, market prices for farm fryers are low because there isn't a well established market for them. Buyers discriminate against them because and vary in size and quality.

It's Next to Godliness

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — After a fire at the gas plant cut off this city's gas supply, the YMCA offered free showers to all comers during the emergency. Bring your own soap and towel.

New German Process Utilizes Waste Wood

CAPETOWN—Using a German process, a new factory is making core board from waste pine wood in the town of Pigg's Peak in Swaziland, South Africa. It may be the first of several such plants in this village near which man-made forests cover many mountains.

Core board, according to R. P. Stephens, director of the firm, can be used for furniture and for panel doors. In 10 years, he says, the company hopes to have 10 factories employing 100 Europeans and 3,000 natives.

Of every nine Australians, one is an immigrant who has arrived since the war, Sydney reports. About 250,000 are from the United Kingdom.

Speeding Prime Cause for Colorado Accidents

DENVER (AP)—Speed was the No. 1 cause of accidents on Colorado highways in 1955. The State Highway Patrol's annual report showed speed caused accidents in which 125 persons died.

The patrol said that of 14,087 hazardous violations issued against motorists, 3,620, or 25.6 per cent of the total, were speeding. Next to speeding, improper turning was the second greatest cause of fatal accidents.

Fire Puts Itself Out

STANFORD, Ky. (AP)—Fire was started by lightning in the Lincoln Farm Service Co-Operative building. Then the blaze obligingly put itself out by burning the ends of sacks full of soybean feed that spilled and smothered the flames.
