County Welfare Roll Screening Ordered

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

LANSING — Social welfare rolls in Oakland County have been ordered screened more closely in an effort to cut costs and to determine if there might be "chiselers" on them.

Meeting here yesterday, the Welfare Committee of the Board of Supervisors appointed a subcommittee, to make a thorough study of current welfare operations. It will be headed by Pontiac Supervisor Maurice J. Croteau.

It was emphasized by Mrs. Hope F. Lewis, Welfare Committee chairman from Birmingham, that the study has not grown out of criticism of the Social Welfare Board or Department, but rather "to help us see what the picture in the future is going to be like."

Oakland County last year spent $2,357,610 on welfare, which has resulted in a million-dollar deficit facing the county.

Welfare expenditures for the year 1957 amounted to $1,137,412.

"And it doesn't look like the welfare load is going to improve very fast either," Mrs. Lewis told her committee.

Although Croteau did not disclose just what he would undertake in his study, he did call upon the county's legal staff and Social Welfare Dept. for cooperation.

"It's going to take plenty of work," he said, "but I think it has been needed for a long time."

Some committee members and county officials at Wednesday's meeting in the Olds Hotel indicated the study might bring out that some unqualified individuals and families are receiving welfare assistance.

With this in mind, it was suggested that the county's investigation of potential welfare recipients might be more thorough.

It was disclosed by John A. MacDonald, chairman of the Social Welfare Board, that each of some 60 investigators had the responsibility of screening 315 cases.

MacDonald, who said he was in agreement that "the rolls be combed," said Oakland County presently has about 3,000 welfare cases—a record high.

He said included in this total was an "awful small" amount of cheaters.

"You always have some people on welfare who shouldn't be there," MacDonald said. "If the department knew who they were we'd get them off."

The number of welfare cases, he believed, could be cut to about 1,000 with an intensified program of helping past wage earners in welfare families to learn a trade.

"The only thing to stop welfare is a job," he emphasized.

ROBERT C. MILLER

Summerfield Backs Miller as Postmaster

Requests White House to Nominate Him for Permanent Post

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today that he has recommended to the White House the nomination of Robert C. Miller as Pontiac postmaster.

Miller presently is serving as acting postmaster having been appointed to the post last Feb. 28.

He is a veteran, and has qualified for nomination to the postmastership through open civil service competitive examination, Summerfield said.

Miller, 31, is one of the youngest postmasters serving at a major office. The Pontiac post office has annual postal receipts in excess of $1¼ million, serves 115,000 patrons and maintains 29 suburban delivery routes and four rural routes in addition to its city delivery routes.

Summerfield said he is hopeful the nomination will be submitted to the Senate by the President within the very near future.

Miller, Summerfield said, has "made outstanding improvements in the postal service in the Pontiac area since his appointment as acting postmaster."

He has also "done outstanding work in helping to place Pontiac's new $825,000 post office, completed last July, at the better service of the residents of the area."

New Program Hits at Costly, Outdated Plans

Has 'Food for Peace' Suggestion to Dispose of Surplus Overseas

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower urged Congress today to abandon "excessively expensive" farm price supports conceived in depression and war, and adopt a new program keyed to prosperity and peace.

Supporting farmers' income will cost taxpayers nearly $5,400,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

The President also announced a new, but undefined, program of surplus disposal overseas which he said would amount to "using food for peace."

He did not spell out details, but said he is putting into motion an exploratory plan for cooperating with other friendly nations in getting the greatest possible use of farm surpluses in each.

Heart of Eisenhower's new program was abandonment of price supports based on a parity formula dating back to 1910-14 in favor of new federal supports tied to average market price of immediate preceding years.

The President's proposal applied to the six basic crops now covered in the mandatory support program—wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts, rice and tobacco.

Eisenhower recommended that the Secretary of Agriculture be given flexible authority to scale new price supports between 75 and 90 per cent of the average market price of a supported commodity during the immediately preceding years.

Underlying Eisenhower's proposal for a new price support and production control program was his deep concern over the mounting surplus of farm commodities purchased by the government under the current support program.

Eisenhower said that by the start of the new fiscal year next July 1, the government would hold more than nine billion dollars in farm surpluses.

Roslyn B. Wyman Is Name of Aid Fund, D. B. Varner Announces

Announcement was made today by D. B. Varner of the first Michigan State University Oakland scholarship.

Number One will be named the Roslyn B. Wyman Scholarship in honor of the late Mrs. George E. Wyman who was a charter member of the MSUO Foundation and who died a year ago. Mrs. Wyman gave the Foundation its first donation and with this check the bank account was opened.

"We are confident there will be many more scholarships following this wonderful example," said Varner. "They are one of the prime means of building a strong student body. Many fine young men and women are exceptional college material but they lack the finances.

"Today there is a regular wave of scholarships sweeping across the country. Individuals, foundations industries and business firms recognize the need of more education for more people.

"The scholarship movement is increasing rapidly in all sections," Varner said.

"A full scholarship at East Lansing, for example, would probably require $1700 to cover room and board and all living expenses. At MSUO a boy or girl faces $255 matriculation fees and $500 covers a full and complete scholarship for someone living home."

Straley Mum on His Visit to Lansing

LANSING — A hush-hush was clamped on what Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley was doing here yesterday.

"They were just friendly visits," said Straley, who faces ouster charges as chief for alleged incompetency and lack of leadership.

He declined to say why he spent nearly an hour Wednesday afternoon in the office of Supreme Court Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh while accompanied by Pontiac Supervisor Maurice J. Croteau. Kavanagh was Michigan attorney general during much of Straley's tenure as chief.

Questioned after the secret conference, Croteau said Kavanagh is "an old friend of mine." Croteau also refused to say what was discussed.

"But I can promise you some surprises," he said.

Croteau, in Lansing for the Michigan State Association of Supervisors Conference, said further, "We're not just going to be on the defensive in this matter. We plan an aggressive counter-attack."

What these "surprises" might be will come to light, Croteau added, at a coming City Commission meeting.

Croteau rapped the Public Administration Service report which had criticized Straley's work as chief, and didn't speak too highly of George D. Eastman, new public safety director. Eastman is preparing the charges against Straley.

Croteau did disclose some information about his luncheon meeting with Straley when he admitted they were talking "about Herb's future." But he denied Straley was looking for another job should he be ousted from the department.

Straley himself denied he was in Lansing to gather character references from past employers for his "aggressive counter-attack" to hold onto his job.

"I don't have to go around looking for character references," the chief snapped.

Besides his visit with Kavanagh, Straley talked with Joseph Childs, State Police commissioner in his East Lansing office. The chief said this was part of his primary reason for going to Lansing, that of attending an executive session of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

Missiles Rolling Along Area Production Lines

By HARRY J. REED
Managing Editor, The Pontiac Press

But don't look for any zipping past Pontiac. You'd wait a long time.

All the flights are on electronic charts and scanners, because they are part of the simulated flights included in the testing procedures at the center at Van Dyke and 16 Mile road.

Chrysler yesterday threw the doors open to newsmen to inspect the production facilities which are rolling out the 200-mile range Redstone and the 1,500 mile range Jupiter.

Both missiles are in the assembly line stage of production, but the number of units being made is strictly classified. However, both the slim (70 inch diameter) Redstone and its stubby cousin, the powerful 105 inch diameter Jupiter are in multiple production.

As one Chrysler engineer put it, "The public now has to discard the mental image of missiles being built in basements by bearded scientists. We're rolling now."

And rolling they are. When they clear the final testing stage, the missiles are as ready as any cars coming off the production line. All they need is a little fuel, and they'll go.

The Redstone missile, dubbed "Reliable Redstone" because of its few failures, is now completely operational, and is being fired by troops in the field under combat conditions.

Two Air Force outfits are currently being trained at the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., to do the same thing with the Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

The tour through the previously secret plant showed writers the parallel Jupiter and Redstone assembly lines where as many as 300,000 parts are combined to form a single missile.

Open for inspection were the elaborate test installations that put the missiles through simulated launchings and flights, duplicating conditions of pressure, wind, force, thrust, heat, and vibration.

Production of ground support equipment is also centered at the Chrysler plant, which employs some 10,000 persons in its 1,750,000 square feet. The plant was originally built during the Korean war for the production of jet engines for the Navy.

Occasion of the tour yesterday was Chrysler's marking of six years of missile production.

The automotive production experience which Chrysler corporation brought to the missile field was an important part in the missile history during the last six years, according to Maj. Gen. W. W. Dick Jr., director of Special Weapons, with the office of the Chief of Research and Development.

Making Thors in Quantity

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—America is mass-producing one of its most reliable missiles in a form so simple that crews can fire them in volleys on 15-minute notice, even from mobile bases.

The missile is the 1,500-mile Thor, a combat-ready weapon that also is a workhorse in space research. It can carry a nuclear warhead known as the "County-buster" and is stockpiled at bases in this country and abroad.

But because of its limited range, the future of the Thor is uncertain. This picture emerged today after the first press tour of Thor production and testing facilities here and in Sacramento, Calif.

At Sacramento they say a demonstration that a hangared Thor can be made ready to launch by quickly trained crews 15 minutes after the order to fire.

At the factory, officials showed how the Thor and its launching equipment can be packaged for airlift to any part of the world.

A Thor squadron has 15 missiles, all ready to be fired at once, at the same target or at 15 different targets. In the field, each missile requires only four men to fuel and fire it.

Dorfman Mum on Hoffa Link

Refuses to Tell Probers If He Provided Contact With Underworld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Dorfman, ousted Chicago labor union official, refused today to tell Senate rackets probers whether he provides a contact with the underworld for Teamster Boss James R. Hoffa.

He also refused to say whether his associations with Hoffa and with Chicago mobsters figured in alleged deals to cut hospital and medical insurance benefits of rank-and-file Teamsters Union members while boosting their insurance premiums.

Dorfman, 56, a red-haired former prize fighter, invoked the Fifth Amendment, saying answers to these and dozens of other questions might tend to incriminate him.

Dorfman was questioned after James McShane, a committee investigator, testified he is "the contact man between Chicago union leaders and the Chicago underworld."

McShane, a former New York City police detective, testified that "Paul Dorfman's criminal associates include . . . Tony Acardo," successor to the late Al Capone as boss of the Chicago underworld.

He said Dorfman also has been a business partner of Hoffa in running a summer camp in Wisconsin and in the Northwestern Oil Company in North Dakota.

Fog and Drizzle Will Continue Through the Day

Fog, accompanied by a light drizzle, will remain through today with rain or drizzle changing to snow and turning colder Friday, the U.S. Weather Bureau said this morning.

Tonight's low is expected to be a near-freezing 33.

The forecast for Friday calls for a high of 34. Today's 8- to 15-mile-an-hour southeasterly winds will increase to 15-25 miles tonight and shift to northwesterly Friday afternoon.

The Oakland County Road Commission reported all main roads are in good condition but said visibility is poor.

According to the State Highway Department, the mist has resulted in extensive slippery sections in western and upper Lower Michigan.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 17 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 27.

Kaline Signs Contract With Tigers for '59

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline, slugging outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, signed his 1959 contract today for a reported salary of $20,000.

Kaline was the first player to sign with Rick Ferrell, the new acting general manager of the Tigers who took over last Monday following the resignation of General Manager John McHale, who went to the Milwaukee Braves.

Hungary Asks Tie With U.S.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — The Communist government of Hungary says it wants to resume normal diplomatic relations with the United States.

The Red regime handed a note to U.S. Charge d'Affaires Garret G. Ackerson Jr. Wednesday saying relations between the two countries are abnormal and cannot continue that way. Details of the note were not made public.

(There was no immediate reaction in Washington from the State Department).

The Hungarians particularly want an American minister sent to Budapest again and a Hungarian minister in Washington. The U.S. minister sent during the anti-Communist uprising of 1956 was asked to leave after the State Department had told him not to present his credentials to the Soviet-installed regime of Premier Janos Kadar.

May Substitute $65 Million for Income Plan

Governor Eyes Tax on Wholesalers

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Gov. G. Mennen Williams has considered—but not necessarily accepted—a 65 million dollar tax on wholesalers, possibly as a substitute for an income tax.

GOP party bosses have blown the whistle on House Republicans who started beating the drums for a one cent tax hike in the state sales tax.

And there is a glimmer of hope that the year-long downward trend in tax revenue collections will be reversed when January collections are reported Friday.

These reports circulated in the capitol today as the Legislature waited for Williams to disclose how he intends to raise 140 million dollars needed to balance his record budget.

Williams, meanwhile, was keeping his secret in the official family until he can take the tax plan to the people in a television address tomorrow night.

★ ★ ★

Some sources close to Williams claim he has seriously considered and rejected the wholesale tax and will base his revenue plan on a combination of income and corporation profits taxes, and bonding.

Former state Senate tax chief George Higgins, Ferndale auto dealer and long an influential figure in Michigan politics, confirmed last night he advised Williams to peg his program on a $5 tax on every $1,000 of wholesale business.

But Higgins, a Republican, said he did not know if Williams would accept the plan.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said today that it looks like the state will take in seven million dollars less than needed to meet vital bills falling due in the next two weeks.

His report to a special meeting of the State Administrative Board contemplated no payments to hard pressed state universities threatened with payless paydays in four or five weeks.

When he was through, James M. Miller, state controller, said some legislators believed the administration was crying "wolf" but Brown's figures demonstrated the contrary.

"We may be shouting wolf, but the hot breath of the animal is on our backs," observed Gov. Williams.

The session was called yesterday to canvass possibilities of resuming monthly payments to the University of Michigan and Michigan State University. These were cut off last fall.

The board agreed that revenues in sight provided no answer. The only hope was wringing some cash out of the 50 million dollar Veterans Trust Fund. Williams has advocated mortgaging it.

★ ★ ★

In this, the board agreed with legislators who yesterday heard an urgent plea for help from top U. of M. officials.

"I admit I don't know the answer," said Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City), House ways and means chairman, after hearing their story.

A five million dollar state payroll went out today. Another falls due Feb. 12 and was not included in Brown's reckoning.

The state board will meet again Tuesday to try to lay our priorities for dishing out available funds.

Sentence Youth for Beating

Accused of Striking Police Officer; Gets 10 Days in Jail

Eighteen-year-old Robert J. Squires sat in an Oakland County Jail cell-block today, convicted of being the first person to strike a Bloomfield Township police officer in the past half-dozen years.

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle threw the book at the Birmingham High School senior, sentencing him to 10 days confinement during which he will miss his classes.

"There's no excuse for striking a police officer," Dieterle sternly told Squires, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Squires, 2642I Normandy Rd., Franklin.

The officer, Martin McLaughlin gave testimony indicating Squires and two companions had been drinking beer, had thrown beer bottles out of their car at his, and had attempted to flee from arrest.

* * *

When I told them they were under arrest for possessing beer, they threatened to beat me up," McLaughlin said.

Alone when he tried to apprehend the youths in the Jan. 21 escapade; McLaughlin said he had to radio police headquarters for help. The fight with Squires broke out in the patrol car before help arrived, he said.

Another youth, Michael Hogan 18, of 1538 Pierce St., was convicted of drunk and disorderly conduct and will be sentenced Feb. 10. Hogan threatened to fight, but didn't McLaughlin said.

Order Close Watch Over Welfare Rolls

Mrs. Lewis hoped would be a long-range estimate of welfare need to aid in future county budgeting. The county this past year had to dip into other funds to meet the soaring case load.

MacDonald figured that an average size family on welfare receives welfare orders for necessities, such as food and fuel, amounting to $115 per month.

Besides, he added, "We've had some families on welfare 15 and 20 years."

Other developments growing out of yesterday's meeting were:

1. Oakland County will continue to push for a return to a 50-50 split between counties and the state in welfare costs. It now is 70-30, with the county carrying the heavier burden.

2. Support is still being given George H. Burt, vice chairman of the board and department director, for reappointment despite a report that the State Social Welfare Dept. is seeking replacement. None has been made so far although Burt's term expired last Oct. 31.

Snow Removal Costs Pontiac $11,000 in Week

City officials today figured up that snow removal costs reached a staggering $11,000 last week.

The Department of Public Works spent 1,004 man-hours clearing streets and municipal parking lots of snow Jan. 18-22 and another 502 hours sanding and salting, said Joseph B. Jewell, DPW director.

It cost $823 to clear state trunklines and $271 to sand and salt them, Jewell said; $336 to clear side streets and $635 for sand and salt, and $1,611 to clear other major streets and $635 to sand and salt them.

Jewell figured that labor and maintenance costs amounted to $5,551, while sand and salt cost $5,430.

Chrysler Displays Missile Production

* * *

Included in the testing program is an extreme high temperature device which simulates the re-entry temperatures of nose cones coming back into the atmosphere.

Although the actual temperature of the nose cone test is classified, a sample of the tremendous heat was witnessed.

A piece of metal similar to the nose cone material was placed in front of a much smaller heat-test device. Safely behind a protective screen, newsmen saw the metal goiw quickly, and melt in half in less than 30 seconds.

Temperature in the simulated test was 2,650 degrees, but actual temperature of the nose cone test was not disclosed.

Power for this heat test had the Detroit Edison Co. slightly worried at the outset, a Chrysler official reported. A 5 million watt transformer for the testing device was built into the department, so as not to put a drain on the rest of the plant.

The nose cone test is not used on each missile produced, however, but only on testing new models and modifications.

* * *

The number of Redstone and Jupiter missiles produced daily, or the cost figures for either unit, are classified, but Army officials were quick to say that the plant is by no means producing at its full capacity.

Much of the factory building is given over to engineering and office design work which could be switched to other buildings to make way for greater production.

Future of the plant, as far as continued production of the Redstone and Jupiter missiles is concerned, is of course dependent on Army needs, but Chrysler vice president in charge of the missile program, Thomas Morrow, said that the company is working with the Army on future projects at the present time.

Two things left a lasting impression following the tour of the missile center. The cleanliness of the whole operation, and the youth of the majority of the personnel involved.

* * *

Cleanliness is also important in meeting the extremely close tolerances necessary for successful missile production. Chrysler vice president in charge of the missile program, Thomas Morrow, indicated that the contract calls for a tolerance of 10,000 of an inch in mounting the propulsion unit in the missiles. Any more than that, the tremendous force would not be pushing the missile straight.

* * *

"We've got our production down to a smaller tolerance than the contract calls for, and the missiles stay that way through delivery all over the country," Morrow added. The completed missiles are delivered to launching sites by truck and airplane.

It was difficult to find anyone who seems near the retirement age, or even 10 years from it. Fifteen per cent of those employed are engineers, and another 30 per cent are technicians.

A bright sense of humor was often revealed as the tour progressed.

* * *

Over a complicated wall-full of flashing lights and switches — a giant data reducing computer — were a "Think" sign, and a Japanese abacus, labeled "for emergency use only."

Ike Outlines Plans for Farm Program

America failed to harvest one bushel this year, the surplus supply was more than enough for domestic use, export sales, foreign donation and needed carry over for an entire year.

"The price support and production control program has not worked," he said. The President pointed out that even though the government recovers some of its investment from surplus disposal, the final cost of fixed price supports would be "impressively large."

Aides and some GOP party leaders had advised Eisenhower to hand the problem to the Democratic-controlled Congress, with the suggestion that it come up with the answer.

This advice was based on the contention that ever since Democrats regained control of Congress in 1955, most administration farm proposals and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have been prime targets of the opposition.

In the past both Eisenhower and Benson have urged lower farm supports. Congress has authorized reductions for some crops but not to the extent sought by the administration.

License Plate Sales Running Ahead of 1958

Sale of license plates here is running ahead of last year, but the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's office urged drivers to purchase 1959 plates early anyway.

* * *

"We still anticipate the last-minute rush, as usual," warned Willis M. Brewer, branch manager.

For the convenience of North Oakland drivers, the Pontiac branch once again will operate a substation at the Waterford Township Hall.

Opening Monday, the substation will have the same hours as the branch office, 96 E. Huron St. They are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

So far this year, there have been about 14,000 plates sold in Pontiac, Brewer said, about 1,200 more than at this time last year.

However, Brewer expected to sell about 35,000 more plates before the deadline Feb. 28.

* * *

Last year, the Pontiac office sold around 54,000 plates, but about 5,000 of these were purchased after the deadline.

Pontiac spent $2,400,768 last year on public improvements financed through special assessments and city funds, City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn announced.

* * *

The biggest bill was for 8.17 miles of concrete paving and bituminous recap. That cost $1,696,565, Wrenn said.

Other improvements and their costs:

Curbs, gutters and street drains (2.71 miles), $202,178; asphalt concrete (5.3 miles), $124,120; sanitary sewers (1.34 miles), $91,933; storm sewers (.46 miles), $43,496; sidewalks (1.70 miles), $30,028; combined sewers (.44 miles), $28,984; grading, graveling and culverts (.23 miles), $5,400; and miscellaneous, $178,063.

* * *

There were 5,141 permits issued for building, wrecking, plumbing, sidewalks and other projects with a total estimated value of $6,818,597, Wrenn said. Fees from permits amounted to $24,187.

Balance Sought in Assessments

Oakland Officers Aim Toward Plan Set Up by State Tax Board

LANSING—Local assessing officers in Oakland County will gradually work toward a State Tax Commission plan of balancing real and personal property tax assessments.

Members of the Board of Supervisors' Equalization Committee, headed by W. Ray Ransom, Pontiac city assessor and city supervisor, met here yesterday to seek a guide for assessing officers.

The session, which also included similar officials from other counties, culminated a series of conferences that started in November when the Commission lopped millions of dollars off the valuation assigned by local officials on a number of personal property assessments of large companies.

This cut deeply into property tax income for the affected areas, including 10 townships and cities in Oakland County.

"We want property assessed so that there is equity in its class and uniformity established at a level that will recognize 50 per cent of true cash value," said Louis M. Nims, Commission chairman.

The Day in Birmingham

Reduction of 11 Per Cent in Water Rate Expected

* * *

Gare said a study of the water department's income and expenses by James Purkiss, city finance director, revealed a healthy financial condition. Reserve funds now on hand are adequate to provide for proposed additions to the system and for contingencies and debt reduction, Purkiss said.

The savings will be approximately 11 per cent of the total bill. Actual water rate reduction will be slightly over 17 per cent, but with sewage charges remaining constant, the consumers will realize the lower figure.

* * *

Gare said a great deal of the credit for the reduction should go to the fire department, which has charge of maintaining water facilities. Constant checks against leaky and defective hydrants and water mains keeps the loss below the national average, he pointed out.

Based on water consumption figures for the past fiscal year, Gare said the saving to Birmingham users will amount to about $60,000. The report will be submitted to commissioners for their approval in time for reductions to become effective with the Mar. 1 billing.

The annual membership drive of the Birmingham YMCA will get under way Monday evening with a dinner for workers at the Y Building on Lincoln avenue at 6:30 p.m. This year's goal of 1,250 members is the highest ever set here.

The campaign will close Feb. 23.

* * *

At Monday's dinner the kickoff address will be given by the Rev. Charles Whitfield, pastor of Grace Baptist Church here. Committee members will describe their activities to acquaint campaign workers with all "Y" facilities.

Olin Manchester, "Y" secretary, says that with the new building in full operation, the "Y" is now able to accommodate more members and offer a broader program of activities.

A special Chamber of Commerce committee, headed by Harvey Kresge, is being formed to work out promotional ideas for local merchants. A related committee with Ed Kurth as chairman will contact businessmen with a package plan for financing special campaigns. This will establish a budget system, rather than have contributions to finance each separate event.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Charles Mortenson said the sound system used to broadcast Christmas music will be purchased by the Retail Merchants Committee for future use.

Conditions at the slope of Cranbrook and 14 Mile Rds. remain ideal for sleds, toboggans and skis, according to Robert Girardin, recreation director.

* * *

The slope is available for day or night use without charge.

Dampness Spreads East

Nation Wears Snow Belt

By The Associated Press

Wet and cold weather spread across broad areas from the Rockies into the Midwest today with warnings of heavy snow in some areas.

* * *

The snow belt extended from the Rockies into the Dakotas and Minnesota. Drizzle and fog dampened sections from the Ohio River northward into Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and the upper Great Lakes region. Freezing drizzle from northwestern Illinois into Wisconsin slicked highways, creating hazardous driving conditions.

* * *

Heaviest snow was along the Continental Divide and in nearby eastern areas. Five inches fell during a six-hour period at Lander, Wyo. There were three inches at Eagle, Colo., and more than two inches at Casper, Douglas, and Cheyenne, Wyo., and Huron, S.D. Falls of more than four inches were indicated in parts of Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa, and Minnesota.

It was below zero in some parts of the snow belt as temperatures dropped more than 20 degrees compared with Wednesday morning. However, it was warmer in sections hit by the drizzle and fog. Readings were 10 to more than 20 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier from the lower Ohio Valley and southern Missouri northward through the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes Region.

* * *

Warmer and dry weather prevailed in most areas east of the Mississippi River. Rains diminished in the southeast, and snow tapered off in areas in New York State into upper New England.

Rains which fell along northern coastal sections of Oregon and Washington ended in most areas during the night.

* * *

It was a little cooler in Oregon, northern California and the Great Basin region, but reading were around normal in other areas.

AGNES E. TAYLOR

WALLED LAKE — Service for Agnes E. Taylor, 68, of 14652 Mansfield St., Detroit, a former Walled Lake resident, will be held at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at Schmalzriedt Sons Funeral Home, Detroit, followed by a 9 a.m. Mass at St. Mary of Redford Church, Detroit. Burial will be in St. Joseph Cemetery, Monroe.

Miss Taylor died Wednesday of a heart attack. Before retirement she had been employed as a secretary with the Hemeter Cigar Co. in Detroit for 25 years.

Researcher Dies in East Lansing

Dr. Eugene Lucas Was Authority on Cancer at Michigan State

EAST LANSING (AP)—Dr. Eugene H. Lucas, Michigan State University research authority on cancer and tumors died yesterday at his East Lansing home.

Lucas, 62, suffered a heart attack.

He was running a four-year experiment, which will be continued, on the health effects of apple eating. In the test, 500 students eating apples daily are checked for health against non-apple-eating students.

A native of Vienna, Lucas received degrees from the University of Vienna and the University of Leipzig in Germany. He helped develop a wheat strain that still is widely used in Europe.

His cancer and tumor research was financed by the National Institute of Health, the American Cancer Society and the Sloan-Kettering Institute.

He was an authority on plant folklore and investigated some 600 species of plants mentioned in folklore as therapeutic drugs. His work consisted of testing the plants for their effectiveness against bacteria, fungi, viruses and tumors.

Rep. Law Named to Dem Committee

Pontiac's State Rep. Arthur J. Law was one of six Democrats named to a steering committee yesterday in hopes of tightening the party's organization in the House of Representatives where Republicans have the upper hand despite a 50-50 split.

"With the House split 50-50 between Republicans and Democrats, we need to set up machinery for closing ranks when this is necessary," said Rep. Louis Mezzano (D-Wakefield), minority leader last session and chairman of the new committee.

Rep. John J. Penczak (D-Detroit) was named vice chairman. Other members besides Law, are Reps. F. Charles Raap (D-Twin Lake), George Edwards and Joseph G. O'Connor, both of Detroit.

5 Teenagers Killed in Crash at Beach

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Five 18-year-old boys were killed and two others were injured critically early today when their automobile smashed through a pipeline barrier on the ocean beach.

Patrick Costello and Kenneth Goepper, who survived the crash, were taken to a hospital at Orlando. Their conditions were described as critical.

Dep. Sheriff Tillman B. McHenry said the car apparently was traveling at high speed when it hit the pipeline. The roof of the sedan was sheared off.

Hope for End of Glass Strike Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Union and management representatives scheduled a meeting (11 a.m.) today which might end the 17-week strike of 13,000 employes at nine Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plants.

The strike has idled 20,000 workers at Chrysler Corp. plants which depend on Pittsburgh Plate for auto glass.

Federal mediators agreed yesterday with the optimistic view of several union spokesmen that the end was in sight. The hopeful predictions were made after the union presented a proposal closely paralleling an earlier company offer.

The company was to give its answer today.

Under both proposals, the workers would return immediately and much of a proposed contract, including new wage scales, would be put into effect while remaining issues were revolved.

Look, Ma, No Hands!

BRANTFORD, Ont. (UPI)—Starlings are slowing the clock on the post office here by riding the hands down from 5 to 25 minutes past the hour and then hopping on again for the ride up from 25 to 5 minutes to the hour. Their rides last from 20 minutes on the minute hand to four hours on the hour hand.

Flint Teamster Gets Jail, Fine

Union Organizer Given Maximum Sentence in Assault Case

FLINT (AP) — A Flint Teamsters Union organizer was sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $100 yesterday on assault and battery charges.

Municipal Judge Basil F. Baker told the defendant, Edward Gorham, 31, he wished he could deal out a heavier sentence.

"This hoodlumism in unions can't be tolerated," Judge Baker told Gorham. "If this type of action continues it will break down our law enforcement and result in a state of anarchy.

"If I could have imposed a greater penalty I would have. I'm sorry that I couldn't. The statute doesn't provide for it."

Gorham's attorney said he would appeal the sentence. Gorham was accused of beating Gordon Boomer, 21, an employe of Lifsey Distributing Co., last month.

Gorham pleaded self defense. He was convicted of assault and battery by a jury of four women and two men.

French coal production reached just under 60,000,000 tons in 1957, a record, and during the first eight months of 1958 there was a further 2 per cent rise.

Install Dearden as Archbishop in Detroit Rite

DETROIT (UPI) — Clothed in a brilliant blue-red robe and sitting on a canopied throne upholstered in green, the Most Rev. John F. Dearden was installed today as Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit.

At 51, Archbishop Dearden became the pastoral shepherd of 1,288,500 Catholics in the Detroit Archdiocese, and the youngest archbishop in the United States.

The installation of the new archbishop took place in a two-hour ceremony at gaily-decked Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament in Detroit.

Sales Tax Increase Is Sensible Solution

Republican legislators in Lansing have suggested a one cent increase in the sales tax as the easiest cure for Michigan's very unhealthy financial climate.

Something must be done
We have to pay our bills.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the sales tax is the easiest tax to administer as it doesn't require a battalion of attorneys, experts, court cases, etc., etc. to get started. We have a three cent sales tax now. This would add one cent and would be spread throughout the year. It would be paid in direct proportion to the amount of money a taxpayer spent. A citizen who paid out $10,000 during the year would pay ten times as much as an individual who parted with $1,000.

★ ★ ★

It may not be perfect—but what tax is? Everyone wants to avoid new and added taxes. No tax will ever be "popular" or be received with loud cheers and a 21 gun salute. But this one will raise an estimated 100 million and the management would be relatively simple. Also, it would be almost impossible for the tax dodgers to escape.

Who has a better idea?

Cuban-U.S. Relations Due for Improvement

A distinguished career diplomat, PHILIP W. BONSAL, has been named Ambassador to Cuba. Before joining the State Department in 1938, he was a communications company executive there and his first diplomatic post was that of vice consul in Havana.

★ ★ ★

The resentment of the Cuban people against the United States is understandable and not undeserved. A prominent Southern Senator speaking at the U.S. Embassy in Cuba a few days before the downfall of BATISTA, said that he "hadn't heard of any fighting" and that since there was no civil war, the U.S. should sell arms to Dictator BATISTA (banned since March, 1958) "for internal security." He called the CASTRO revolutionaries a "group of bandits." Then, too, following the Jan. 1 revolution there was much criticism of the CASTRO regime in Washington and elsewhere.

Cuba's new Ambassador to Washington, Dr. Ernest Dihigo, is an educator and diplomat of distinction. He is Professor of Roman Law at the University of Havana, an author of books on international law and a former Ambassador to the United Nations. He knows this country well.

There is much repair work to be done in American-Cuban relations and a good start has been made with the appointments of these able diplomats.

Now We Do Have an Old Fashioned Winter

Digging into the weather archives shows that we're in the midst of what the older residents have been telling us about.

Following a late and unusual autumn, winter landed all in a bunch soon after Thanksgiving and has been sticking around ever since.

Its early and ambitious arrival after a summery autumn made us feel it to the marrow.

It was so unseasonable that we were sure it was only a fluke. But that fluke became a lingering habit, and grows worse as winter advances.

It early assumed the proportions of the winters of a half century or more ago, except that we didn't have so much snow.

Now that snow has arrived, and if this isn't an old fashioned winter, then fashions have changed.

With the new year ushered in with the worst ice conditions in our history, and some encores since then, we wonder what's next.

With such ice and snow on our streets, highways and sidewalks, it is difficult for even a sober person to stand up.

But there's a silver lining. The farmers' wheat needed this snow. Early in the winter it didn't have the covering to protect the plants.

And when the snow goes off, the moisture will run into the ground where it melts, and not run away and gully the fields and deprive the crop of the water for which it later will suffer. The same rule applies also to your family garden.

★ ★ ★

And perhaps an old fashioned winter is what we need. Our past generations, who laid the foundation for all that we have, lived through a good many of them, and were happy —and thrived.

The Man About Town

Feeding the Birds

Generous Response Here in Their Time of Need

Midwinter. A matter of much controversy.

A slight change for the warmer does not lessen the need for feeding the birds. Many reports of dead birds are being received, and it continues to be quite impossible for them to secure their winter feed in the usual way. Jack Frost and the Snow King have ganged up on them.

It is not necessary to buy feed for them. They'll eat anything you eat, and will be glad to get your table scraps. Get in the game. The response to our feeding request has been very generous, but more's needed.

of Auburn Heights, "you can at least get out and knock the ice from the dry weeds, so they can get at the seeds they usually garner in winter."

of Waterford, who is entertaining them all (in congeniality), including canaries, robins and bullfinches.

A letter to our Voice of the People asserts that the Man About Town must be a bird lover. He is, and according to of Keego Harbor, so is everybody else who is worthy of their thankfulness when the elements interfere with their usual forage.

Former Pontiac resident, now living in Los Angeles, writes: "There's no alibi for this smog. It's here and they cannot get rid of it. It stinks worse than a Pontiac slaughter house of 50 years ago. But the natives have become so accustomed to it that when they go to another location they take along a skunk."

Pat Naragon,

The story goes that a Pontiac man, caught a big one through the ice on Loon Lake at Drayton Plains, and now all the fish houses on that lake are huddled around that spot.

Harry Glennan,

"There! You Can't See Him Now"

Labor Holds Whip Over Congress

WASHINGTON—Bigness in economic power always winds up sooner or later in the regulatory web of the federal government. The labor unions of America, which in 1935 successfully put through the Wagner Act to secure federal supervision of employers in collective bargaining, are finding themselves today likely to be drawn involuntarily into the hands of governmental monitors and disciplinarians.

LAWRENCE

Racketeering and the over-reaching of a few labor bosses brought on the debacle which President Eisenhower has sought to deal with in his latest recommendations to Congress.

But the political power of the labor unions is such that it will be surprising if any really effective legislation gets through Congress this year or next.

The President nevertheless feels he must put his views on record, and undoubtedly the Republican Party will make a campaign issue of it if the Congress fails to pass adequate laws on the subject.

Strangely enough, while there's a hue and cry about obeying the "law of the land" and assuring the observance of "civil rights" where the integration-segregation controversy is involved, no such solicitude is being shown by the so-called "liberals" with respect to two major violations of the Constitution and of the laws of the land in the field of labor.

One concerns political campaign contributions, and the other relates to the right of a citizen to work at his job without giving up his right to freedom of belief under the First Amendment of the Constitution, one of the "Bill of Rights."

Thus, it is a violation of federal law for labor unions to contribute to political campaigns, but they pursue schemes which are no less evasive than those used by persons who try to get around integration decisions of the Supreme Court.

The Secretary of Labor, James Mitchell, for instance, told his news conference the other day that, as a "moral obligation," labor union leaders should stop spending union funds to support candidates for state and local political office.

Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican, of Arizona, took up another phase of the hypocrisy being exhibited in ignoring violations of "civil rights." He describes the "civil rights" problem of the North in terms of the refusal of many states to pass laws that will guarantee the individual the right to a job if he is qualified for it and the right to stay in that job if he is efficient, no matter what the labor union may say in opposition.

For today many contracts provide that the employer must fire an employe if, after 30 days on the job, he is unwilling to surrender his constitutional beliefs and join an organization which uses his dues money to support political candidates he does not favor.

The unions will attempt to amend any bills proposed to Congress of an anti-racketeering nature. Indeed, by the tacking on of amendments on other subjects unpalatable to management, the chances are that all labor legislation will be killed at this session of Congress.

For the labor unions, by their contributions of millions of dollars to elect members of Congress, appear today to have enough strength in the Senate or House to stop the legislative process if it affects them adversely.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And David said to all the congregation, Now bless the Lord your God. And all the congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed down their heads and worshiped the Lord and the king. I Chron. 29:20.

★ ★ ★

Remember that God will not be mocked; that it is the heart of the worshiper which He regards. We are never safe till we love Him with our whole heart whom we pretend to worship. — Bishop Henshawe.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Readers Report Success of Ambulant Treatment

In the list of free pamphlets—free if you provide stamped, self-addressed for one; 25c in addition if you ask for two—one was titled, "It is Stupid to Suffer From Piles." A good many readers have assured me that they have found the title right. Following the advice I give in the pamphlet, they got cured, so they agree it is stupid.

DR. BRADY

Nevertheless I changed the title of the pamphlet to one which may not be all sweetness and light but will not, I hope, bring a furious reaction from the vociferous spouse of an aggressive surgeon. The present title of the pamphlet is a timid "You Need Not Have Piles."

However, I still say . . . that if you have 'em and seek effective treatment that is less formidable than the crude clamp and cautery atrocity as perpetrated in any 19th Century hospital, you need not feel sheepish if the doctor you ask about it bangs his desk and hits the ceiling.

In my judgment, the old established method for piles—operation in hospital—is too atrocious to merit consideration. At least I know I wouldn't consider it for myself. The treatment is worse than the disease.

Injection (ambulant, office) treatment is not applicable to every case of piles. It is for internal piles only, it is NOT for external piles.

No one can honestly guarantee that the radical operation in hospital or injection treatment in the doctor's office will prevent future occurrence of piles. Literally dozens of small veins in the last two inches of the rectum are subject to overdistension or swelling (the condition called hemorrhoid or piles), so anyone may have piles at anytime whether injection or operation has cured former piles or not. This explains so-called "recurrence" after operation or injection treatment.

An "attack" of piles means acute inflammation and usually thrombosis (clotting of blood in the affected vein). The pile swelling is external. The only effective treatment is immediate incision and extrusion of the clot—under local anesthesia. This brings relief in an hour or so.

If the attack is not properly treated, the victim will suffer for several days or maybe a week before inflammation and pain subsides and the clot becomes organized, converted into a kind of scar tissue, which shrinks the pile into a little nodule of fibrous tissue. This is nature's way of curing piles. It is the cure that occurs in so many instances where the gullible customers choose to sweat out the "attack" with so-and-so's pile ointment.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Man Urges People to Give Ambitious Youth a Chance

I'm just a shop worker close to home and two little boys about 12 were asking to shovel snow. I'm a healthy guy who shovels snow after work and always have, but when these boys started telling me how cheap they'd do it for, I remembered when I was a kid, believe me.

★ ★ ★

Let me tell you, folks, they did it just as good as anyone. But when I paid them their eyes lit up big and the moral is — I really enjoyed spending that money.

Just once in a while think back when you were a kid. I'm proud to see young boys doing a job honest and hope some always will be ready with a helping hand. Try them, won't you, folks?

Man Is Dissatisfied With Street Crew

Why should Pontiac people pay taxes to a bunch of people to clean our streets when all they do is sit and play politics by cleaning just the streets they think will hold their jobs.

'When Will Worker Learn His Enemy?'

How long will it take for the working man to discover who his enemy is? When our President asked labor to help hold down inflation, who's the first one to answer? Reuther, with the statement that he will continue to press for higher wages. Then he yelps like a hound on the trail that the President is doing nothing about unemployment. Does he want factories to get everyone back to work so he can call bigger and better strikes?

★ ★ ★

If the union doesn't lay off Chrysler's back, it will be forced out of business and then maybe Reuther and Williams will sign the workers' paychecks. Or is that the reason they want unlimited time on unemployment pay, because they know business will soon be forced out in Michigan?

★ ★ ★

With one out of every six persons on the government payroll now, how long are the other five going to support them? If you want a socialist government, continue to give Reuther your full support. Maybe he and Williams have a scheme to support you that the rest of us can't figure out.

Denver Subscriber Asks One Question

I've just returned to Pontiac after visiting my daughter in Denver. She's been in a hospital there for four years and I've been sending her The Pontiac Press all that time.

★ ★ ★

She enjoys it very much, and she asked me one question I couldn't answer. Maybe it will be answered and she will read it herself.

★ ★ ★

She asks why Chief Straley has so many people against him. What has he done?

Wondering

'He Should Have Worried Before'

The governor should have been worrying about taxes when he was making so many trips to Washington and other places. Where has all the money gone? We've legalized horse racing and betting and we have a gas tax higher than Ohio, and yet the state is broke.

★ ★ ★

Now he's for taking the Veterans Fund that was made up before he was in Lansing and using it to square him in his financial dilemma. Why don't they ask the CIO members to take up a fund and take him out of hock?

★ ★ ★

One way to meet the much needed revenue would be to charge a 25-cent fee at the Huron Clinton and Kensington parks through the summer. That would be the cheapest recreation in the country at 25 cents a car. A parking place, tables and benches would all be for the flat fee. F. J. B.

'Sunday Closing Will Be Worse'

I see by The Press the bluenosers and do-gooders are at it again. Will they benefit in some way other than their personal belief from the weekend closing?

★ ★ ★

Surely the only ones to prosper and welcome this proposal are the bootleggers who proved prohibition supplied the greatest source of corruption and evil from which this country has not completely recovered.

★ ★ ★

The small percentage of Sunday drinkers isn't great enough for the moral leaders' concern. If he were interested in the welfare of the tippler, he would make his way of living so attractive all would follow.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Child Needs Brothers and Sisters

Timmy needs a sibling more than a $5,000 college insurance policy. If you young married couples can afford both, well and good, but brothers and sisters help socialize an "only" child and whet his wits, too. Space your babies about 18 months apart. To do so, send for the booklet below, which contains many other helps for young wives.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I suppose we ought to give him a baby brother or sister," his doting mother began.

DR. CRANE

"But life is so uncertain nowadays and living costs are so high, we feel we will have a hard time just saving enough money to put Timmy through college.

"Do you think we ought to have more children? My husband says so, but I think it is better to rear one child right, than only do a half-way job on two or three."

SELFISH MOTHERS

In my courses at Northwestern University on the "Psychology of Sales & Advertising," I used to warn my students against such excuses.

There is some hidden motive they haven't brought out into the open.

And a young wife who tries to argue that one child is enough, is usually trying to hide from the fact that nine months of pregnancy are a burden.

She wants to take the easy road. But the easy road is seldom the most successful highway to happiness.

True enough, a bulging abdomen with an extra 25 pounds of cumbersome weight are a chore for the expectant mother.

But they are part of the price of a happier home life and a better environment for little Timmy.

It requires hours of work, plus the drudgery of washing dishes and pans, just to furnish a 30-minute jolly dinner for your husband and possibly some guests.

It also requires patient brushing of your teeth night and morning to help insure a kissable mouth, plus one that will masticate your food well and help insure longer life.

So set your goal at from two to four children. It is well to bear them about 18 months apart, so they are near enough in age to be pals and playmates.

If you let 5 or 10 years intervene, the older is so far removed from the younger in size and play interests, that they live much like strangers.

Children educate children if they are near together in age, for then they furnish new ideas to each other.

"Our father encouraged free debate at the dinner table so we children just whetted our wits on each other's."

MONEY MALARKY

And don't fret excessively about saving money for your child's college education 20 years hence.

A baby brother or sister now is worth more to the child than a $5,000 later.

Besides, he may never go to college, anyway, unless you "sell" him on the idea by tactful home tutoring wherein you make him a swift reader.

Junior colleges and night universities offer every ambitious boy or girl a chance to obtain college nowadays, even by their own efforts, so don't get so obsessed with laying away a pile of dough for later college entrance that you debar your child from the wholesomeness of brothers and sisters.

To space your babies properly, send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Survey Questions Wisdom of Rule

Why Retirement at 65?

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Notes for and about the older generation:

Further evidence for questioning the automatic retirement of people at 65 has been turned up by two Purdue University researchers.

According to their study, men between 60 and 65 are just as good on production type jobs as men 20 years younger.

The study was made of 132 workers in four Chicago companies—a steel mill, a man's clothing factory, a radio and television factory and a photographic equipment plant.

A 90-year-old man called the Sarasota, Fla., Social Security office recently to ask about disability payments.

In a thin, wavering voice, he explained he had fallen a couple of years ago and been disabled.

Did his condition qualify him for anything?

No, answered the Social Security official. Disability payments go only to people between 50 and 65.

"Oh," said the old man, "it's for young people."

Since 1950, the company has had a program of gradual retirement from 65 to 69. It's designed to break the shock of stopping work completely.

About one-third of Wrigley's employes who've reached 65 have stayed on and gradually retired.

Here's how the program works:

When a person near 65, he's asked if he wants to continue. If he does, a committee of executives consider his request on the basis of his ability to do his job.

Employes approved by the committee must take their regular vacations and another month the first year; an additional two months the second year and so on. No one may stay on beyond 69.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) heads a Senate subcommittee which will start hearings next month on the problems of older people.

The group plans to consider employment of people 65 and over; how much the federal and state governments help older people; pensions; medical care of older people; housing for the aged; compulsory retirement.

The subcommittee hopes to draw up legislation based on its findings to help solve some of the problems.

One of the elder citizens of Lancaster, Pa., told her Social Security office she simply didn't know how old she was.

Since some proof of age is required to collect retirement payments, she was questioned very closely. During the course of the questioning, she said:

"All I know is, the first thing I remember was Mr. Lincoln was President."

Burned After Tax Payment —House, That Is

GLOUCESTER, N.J. (AP) — Volunteer Fireman Sam Hill answered the call of civic duty twice Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

He paid the taxes on his two-story frame house. As he left City Hall, the fire whistle sounded. He hopped aboard an engine and went to the blaze.

★ ★ ★

Yes, it was his home. Luckily only a second floor bedroom was damaged. His wife and children got out without injury.

The wind tunnel testing time for a modern jet bomber came to 8,000 hours—33 times more than was required for a World War II bomber.

South Korea Receives Most Economic Aid From U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has stripped the secret label off the economic aid allotments to individual countries disclosing that South Korea topped the list with 221 million dollars in the year ended last June 30.

* * *

Red-threatened South Viet Nam ranked as the second biggest recipient, with 164 million dollars. India was awarded $81 [illegible] during the 12-month period. Military allocations amounted to 22[illegible] compared to $1 [illegible] economic assistance. There was no breakdown of the amounts of military aid.

* * *

The fourth ranking recipient of economic aid was Turkey, a firm anti-Communist ally which is battling critical economic problems. Turkey was allocated 74½ millions, followed by Pakistan with $65,300,000 and Formosa with 60 millions. Others in the top 10 were Spain $54,600,000, Jordan, $32,600,000, Laos 31½ millions; and Cambodia 28 millions.

* * *

The cost of providing guns and military equipment to friendly countries exceeded economic aid during the 12-month period. Military allocations amounted to [illegible] compared to $1 [illegible] in economic assistance.

* * *

[illegible] countries, broken down in a [illegible] report Wednesday to Congress. Authorities said it marked the first time since the government started foreign aid programs in 1948 that individual countries' aid allocations had been disclosed. Eisenhower gave no reason for ending the secrecy.

* * *

[illegible] more than ever. Eisenhower [illegible] of the best way to stop the Communist drive to subvert underdeveloped countries. He said the threat of communism in the Far East is greater now than it was 10 years ago "because our opponents are more powerful" and their tactics more subtle.

Hal Boyle Says:

Producers Discuss High Priced Movie Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Is any film star worth a half a million to a million dollars a picture, plus a share of its profits?

* * *

In a rare bit of public breast-beating, producer Sam Goldwyn last week declared exorbitant salary demands by actors were "the chief danger" facing the movie industry.

* * *

"It's the wrong thing to cry in public about stars asking for too much money," Preminger said.

"In a free competitive society, anyone is privileged to ask anything he wants for his services. But if you don't want to pay them, you don't have to.

"If I find an actor asks too much, I simply don't employ him. I find somebody else.

* * *

"Is any actor worth a million dollars a picture? You can't generalize. He might be worth more than a million dollars—if his services are truly unique—or he might be worth less than nothing. The public really decides that question at the boxoffice."

Preminger said producers themselves were largely to blame for the present high salary demands of actors.

* * *

"This all started by bribery," he declared crisply. "It resulted from producers persuading actors to play in scripts the actors really didn't want any part of. The only way the producers could get them to was to pay them more and more money."

"But although he can collect a huge amount for appearing in a flop, his standing is impaired until he makes another hit—and so is his ability to ask for a huge salary," Preminger said.

* * *

"An actor can price himself out of the market—or ruin himself in the long run—if he consistently aims at the big dollar rather than the good script and the right role.

"The story is still the most important thing—to the actor, the director, the producer, and the public."

As a producer, Preminger sometimes is a bit on the daring side when it comes to casting. One gamble he feels sure will pay off is the hiring of Boston lawyer Joseph N. Welch, star of the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954, to play the judge in his latest film.

Preminger feels the motion picture industry is undergoing a long-range change that will ultimately improve it.

* * *

"I don't think television has hurt motion pictures," he said. "We have had only a temporary setback. Television will face the problem of becoming a second-rate advertising medium rather than a first-rate entertainment medium.

* * *

"Pay television will come, and when it comes it will be a good thing. Meanwhile the showing of old pictures on TV has made it necessary for us to compete against what we did before. This merely forces us to be better than we were, and growth is good for anybody."

Dove Hunting Season Lists Unusual Victim

Most Complain of 'Red Water'

Pontiac Citizens' Service Handles 5,677 Calls in '58

[illegible] Citizens' Service [illegible] handling more business than [illegible].

Last year the bureau handled 5,677 [illegible] compared with 5,[illegible] the year before, reported Harold F. [illegible], city personnel director.

The bureau is set up as a clearing house for complaints and requests which are not the business of the police and fire departments.

Last year, there were 1,436 "red water" complaints. To each complainant, the city replies that the cleansing program aims at saving the city's water lines.

"If we don't keep the pipes cleaned out, they would become solidified with rust and we'd have to install new pipes, which would be a very expensive proposition," explained Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager.

The phosphate program was started in May, 1957, and will continue indefinitely.

The bureau also counted 1,436 other requests for water to be turned on or off and these were also referred to the water department.

There were 1,110 requests concerning refuse that were referred to waste collection and 746 complaints on streets, sidewalks and sewers referred to the Lake Street yard.

Twenty four complaints went to the health department; 20 to building inspection; 18 to police; 12 to parks and recreation, 9 to traffic engineering and 1 to electrical.

In addition, 101 complaints described as miscellaneous were handed on the Lake Street yard.

Fans Are British for Four Bars in Anthem Mixup

The public address announcer made the usual request for everyone to stand for the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

But when the music blared fourth from a record it was "God Save The Queen."

★ ★ ★

New York Wants Income Collected at Source

Plan Would Withhold Tax From Pay

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

If Gov. Rockefeller's proposal to collect the state income tax by withholding at source is adopted, New York will join 11 other states and the District of Columbia which use some form of this system. In eight other states the plan is reported as being talked over.

The withholding method, started by the federal government in 1943, has its defenders and critics, both among taxpayers and experts on government fiscal matters. But most agree that this collection system does bring in more dollars from the taxpayers.

Seventeen states don't tax individual incomes. But the Tax Foundation, a research organization in New York City, reports that in fiscal 1958 those states that did got a total of $1,579,740,000 from this source.

In fiscal 1958 the federal government got 34¾ billion dollars from individual income taxes. It hopes to get 40¾ billion dollars in fiscal 1960 which starts next July 1.

Here are the advantages set forth by withholding tax advocates and the criticisms cited by opponents:

Withholding week by week is less painful to the taxpayer than having to build up a bank account to take care of one big sum, or even four quarterly sums.

Also there is less chance for evasion when the boss hands over the money than when the worker is left to forget about it, as apparently happens in some instances. Too, it is a surer way of collecting from out of state residents and from transient workers.

★ ★ ★

Withholding keeps money coming into the treasury fairly regularly rather than in spurts. It lets the treasurer keep a better eye on how incomes are running and to estimate more closely from time to time what his total take will be.

★ ★ ★

Those who frown on the withholding system note that it cuts take home pay all year long. The taxpayer may have seasonal expenses or emergency but temporary costs when he needs all the money the boss puts out for him.

Some taxpayers complain that the federal and state governments get the use of their money for free. The taxpayers would like to use it and get interest on it until the end of the tax year.

One serious criticism leveled at tax withholding is that many, perhaps most, taxpayers simply forget about it. They regard their take home pay as the real pay. The slip the boss gives them at the end of the year saying he actually has paid considerably more for their services is largely ignored.

On the corporate level, this can lead many workers to think they are costing their employer considerably less than he knows they are. This has a bearing on some labor-management disputes and negotiations.

On the government level, this lack of realization by some taxpayers of what they are paying in taxes—according to withholding critics—lets the government spend more and tax more than it otherwise might.

Defenders of the system, however, insist that workers are well aware of how much is withheld and how much government really costs them and are aware with each pay check.

Girls' Investment Club Coming Along Okay

CHICAGO (AP) — Members of an all-girl investment club known as the Gold Coast Clippers have learned to read the stock tables as well as the society pages.

Mrs. Laura Rhind, president of the 12-woman club, says members invest $10 a month each, and each original $10 share is now worth $14.

U. S. Cadet Still 'King of Bulgaria'

Exiled Ruler Is a Dedicated Man

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — "Communists cannot rule forever. Despotisms have always fallen. Why should this one be an exception? It may be a long time, but the real judgment of the people will come in the end. When it does, I want to be ready. And I can wait, for I am young."

★ ★ ★

Those determined words came today from exiled King Simeon II of Bulgaria. His country has been a Soviet satellite since the Red coup in 1946.

Simeon is half way through a year of intense training, grooming himself for what he hopes will be a return to the throne. Or if not that, then some other on-the-spot service to his people.

That is the annealing process chosen by this handsome, six-foot, dark-haired lad.

Whatever the future may have in store, the present is rich in laurels. Simeon has just been named the finest upper class plebe in the corps, given a medal, and made a sergeant.

★ ★ ★

Pretty good for a king without a kingdom, he mused. Yet he was quick to point out that he is a king in exile, not an ex-king. A regency ruled for him after the Germans had killed his father, King Boris, and until the Reds moved in.

In school he is plain Simeon Rylski. His father used that surname when traveling incognito. The other cadets call him Sim, sometimes Simon.

He tackles even drudgery with zest, scrubbing and polishing, brushing and sweeping, making beds, cleaning weapons and other gear.

"I want to be spared nothing," he asserted. "There is nothing about my life I dislike. My fellowship with classmates is wonderful. Self-discipline makes leaders as well as followers. It helps you to get more out of life."

His day runs from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., crowded with class periods, drills and other formations, hours of study.

"He'll hardly date or dance," one academy official related. "He shies from girls. You can't get him to relax. I've never seen one so young so dedicated."

He carries on a kind of government-in-exile, helping refugees with passports, money problems, and finding missing relatives. His countrymen in North America call him king.

Simeon was crowned at the age of six, but soon a Soviet election ousted him. He fled with his mother, now in Madrid, and his sister, Marie Louise, who is married to a Toronto stockbroker of princely German blood.

"The Communists spread a lie that we were given 20 million dollars when we left," Simeon said. "They gave us nothing. We would not have used it if they had. Their money was tainted. Our income is out of Bulgaria and from money left us by my grandfather." That was his mother's father, the former King Victor Emanuel of Italy.

First Flight Planned Later

Take X-15 Up Saturday

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The United States will move a step closer to manned space flight Saturday when the Air Force's X-15 will be carried aloft for the first time by a B-52.

Maj. Arthur (Kit) Murray, chief X-15 weapons system project officer at the Air Research and Development command's detachment 1, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near here, said, however, it would be a later date when the craft is loosed from the belly of its mother ship.

The X-15 has been named by high defense department officials as the vehicle which will probably carry the first American into space.

The craft, when carried aloft by a B-52 and launched at a high altitude, is capable of more than 3,600 miles per hour at about 100 miles altitude.

The test will take place at Edwards Air Force Base in California, less than two weeks from the target date set four years ago, according to Murray's announcement yesterday.

Reporter Unruffled by High Lashings

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert John Donovan has achieved a rare experience for a Washington correspondent.

He was swatted verbally by the President of the United States and the Chief Justice of the United States.

"Irresponsible" and "without foundation" were what they had to say about a Donovan story reporting that their once-fast friendship had come unglued.

This no doubt would bother a Nervous Nelly type of guy but not Donovan. It certainly won't give him any more gray hairs—he's already gray and won't be 46 until August.

"I am satisfied that my story was true as well as fair," Donovan said.

He is chief correspondent of the Washington Bureau of The New York Herald Tribune. One of the reasons he got that job was his success in 1956 with "Eisenhower, the Inside Story," a best selling book that quoted freely from confidental White House source material.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday, The Herald Tribune printed a story by Donovan about President Eisenhower and Chief Justice Earl Warren. Near the start it read: "Their association has passed to a relationship today that is cold and distant and marred by disapproval on both sides."

Donovan's story brought denials from both men he named.

Donovan stuck to his story.

"My story was based on sources unimpeachable both as to their character and as to their knowledge of the facts," he said. "Numerous well informed persons in Washington have long been aware of the situation I described."

Leader Blasts Red Opposition

Party Official Attacks Bulganin, Molotov and Malenkov Group

MOSCOW (AP)—The leader of the Leningrad Communist party today said the "pitiful and treacherous" antiparty group in the Soviet Union should be called before the 21st party congress to answer for its actions.

★ ★ ★

Ivan V. Spiridinov, first secretary of the Leningrad party, told the 21st Soviet Communist party congress that up to now the group —former premiers Georgi Malenkov and Nikolai Bulganin, former foreign ministers V. M. Molotov and Dimitri Shepilov, and Lazar Kaganovich—had answered only to the Central Committee.

★ ★ ★

Spiridinov's blast came amid a stream of ringing endorsements of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's new seven-year economic program.

The third day's session included praise from the chief of the Communist party in the Georgian Republic, V. P. Mzhavanadze.

Foreign speakers today were Italian party boss Palmiro Togliatti and French party leader Jacques Duclos. Both conceded that their parties were having a hard time but said Khrushchev's new economic plan will help them. Presumably the Soviet economic advances will give the foreign Communists good talking points.

Burroughs to Build

DETROIT (AP) — The Burroughs Corp., announced today that construction of a new $2,000,000 engineering and administration building will be started here in the spring. The building is scheduled for completion next fall.

Doctors Practicing What They Preach About Safety

CHICAGO (AP)—Do busy doctors practice what they preach about the importance of auto safety belts?

Dr. Murray Gibbens of Denver said Wednesday that several surveys he has taken among orthopedic surgeons—doctors who specialize in setting broken bones—show that 50 to 75 per cent of them have such equipment in their cars.

"Furthermore, I wouldn't fail to snap on the safety belt if my trip was no farther than the corner drug store," he added.

Dr. Gibbens, of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Denver, is chairman of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons' Committee for the Advancement of Automobile Safety.

In an interview at the academy's annual meeting, Gibbens said the use of properly installed safety belts and shoulder straps have been shown to be the most effective of all safety devices—when properly and consistently used.

"Failure to use them for city driving, if you have them, is like letting your life insurance payments lapse," he said. "Many low speed accidents turn out to be fatal accidents."

Dr. Gibbens said reliable statistics gathered by Cornell University Medical College show chances of avoiding death or serious injury are 60 per cent improved with average seat belt installations.

He took a survey this week among orthopedic surgeons who visited his convention exhibit on "Prevention of Automobile Injuries."

It showed that more than 90 per cent of the doctors questioned favored removal of projecting ornaments and headlight rims from cars as a means of reducing death and injury in pedestrian-involved car accidents.

Hospital Group Reports Contest Saved $1 Million

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Hospital Assn. reported Wednesday that a contest for ideas for cutting hospital expenses resulted in savings of nearly one million dollars.

The association said the competition, cosponsored by the Blue Cross, drew 224 different economy suggestions from member hospitals. A manual describing these methods was distributed to the hospitals.

One economist estimated that if Russia could achieve eight per cent a year expansion and the United States continued to move ahead at about three per cent, the Soviets might achieve economic parity in about 20 years.

The experts doubted that the eight per cent annual Soviet expansion could be achieved because of the difficulty of sustaining a big percentage gain as the size of a nation's economy increases.

Inflation is when you never had it so good—or got rid of it so fast . . . A modern executive is one who wears out two pairs of pants for every pair of shoes . . . A local guy says his wife's driving is improving: "At least now she's hitting poles on the right side of the road." —Earl Wilson.

CHAPTER XXXIX

Angus stared at him in surprise.

"How do the Zollers come into it?" he asked.

"If Miss Seton's guess is correct—and I think it is—then Zoller is the guy who bought the author who wrote the play that's being made into the film that Rosamond Blake has been offered so much to appear in. The chain of events can't just be coincidence.

"Figure it out for yourself. I go up to Tarrant's room, the room next to the Zollers', and I tell him that I don't know what he's doing, but he's got to stop doing it. He didn't give much away, but he said two things, and he said them clearly enough to be heard through those thin walls, one was Rosamond Blake's name, and the other was the advice to go and ask Miss Seton for the whole story.

I don't suppose Zoller started out listening, but when he heard Rosamond Blake's name, his ears must have taken up a receptive attitude.

So first of all, he asked Tarrant to dine with them, and after giving out a lot of phony information about himself, proceeds to extract a few facts from Tarrant. He learns enough to know that if he can hear what goes on when I talk to Miss Seton, he'll learn a whole lot more. So he changes his room and comes down to the one between Miss Seton's and mine.

"He and his wife retire early and put out the lights, and when I come in to ask Miss Seton what it's all about, we go out on to the balcony and neither she nor I had the slightest idea that Zoller's out there on his side, with both hands cradling his ears.

"And when he gets the story, he uses his head—which I wish, oh how I wish Miss Seton had done—and he remembers that Rosamond Blake's ship puts in at Algeciras on its way to Lisbon.

And he makes up his mind that he won't wait for Lord Lorrimer to get to Lisbon and interfere with the future plans of the star he's risking so much money on.

"He doesn't mind who she runs away with just so long as she appears in the film — and he doesn't want any damaging publicity at this stage, and so he'll meet the boat at Algeciras and see what he can do. And he might do a lot. A woman who's midway between two big moments of her life, who's had time to think, who's been removed for a time from the handsome presence, might need very little to sway her one way or the other."

"I only thought of stopping Lord Lorrimer," said Miss Seton. "I didn't want to interfere with Rosamond's life."

"And that," said Mr. Holt, "is a feminine statement, or I never heard one before." He turned to Angus. "My advice to you is get rid of Tarrant, and fast. He won't care whether you know the facts or whether you don't—but just so long as he's on the coach, he's going to go on thinking up schemes and trying to make them work. These non-adult types can be as dangerous as real crooks, and all without meaning to. Get rid of him. You've got plenty of proof if you need it."

"But if he gets rid of him," objected Miss Seton, "he'll go straight to Angela and tell her everything."

"I don't think he will," said Mr. Holt. "He's not concerned with anything but the opportunity to have fun."

When Angus left them, he stood for some moments in the corridor and let the full import of what he had heard fill his mind.

Angela. She knew nothing, suspected nothing. And soon, her father would have to tell her. It was easy to see why he had not been able to tell her before the journey began. There had been nothing to tell. The idyll was over, he and Rosamond had parted—family, he thought. And her letter must have reached him almost at the moment of their setting out to board the Green Empress. There would have been no time for any change of plan.

Angus brought himself back to the task immediately before him. He had something to do before he could shut himself away to think over all he had heard.

Turning, he went to Maurice Tarrant's room. Maurice, bidding him enter, greeted him with an amiable smile and waved a hand towards the bed. Angus saw on it all the things that had been in in Maurice's locker on the coach.

"I had those taken out and brought upstairs," said Maurice. "I had a feeling the Green Empress would be going on without me."

"That saves everybody a lot of trouble," said Angus.

"I saw you and Holt going hot-foot in the direction of Miss Seton's room. Why? I asked myself."

"You found the right answer. How do you propose to get to Lisbon?"

"Well, I've just gathered from the manager that I can keep on this room if you agree to let me have it. I understand that Hornblower and his sister are getting to Lisbon at the Company's expense, and I asked him if he'd take me along."

Advice About Skunks Works in Reverse

BOSTON (UPI)—On the blotter of a suburban police department are these two entries by patrolman Joe Falvey:

"7:10 p.m.—A woman on North Pleasant street called and said she had a skunk in her cellar. I told her to get some meat scraps and make a trail from the open cellar door to the back of her yard. Told her to watch from the window and when skunk followed trail of meat scraps, to close the cellar door gently.

"8:40 p.m.—The woman on North Pleasant street called again. She reported she did like I told her with the meat scraps and now she has two skunks in her cellar."

Delivery Quick for Vegetables by Whirlybirds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new service provides direct air shipment of fruits and vegetables to the East Coast from farms in California's rich San Joaquin valley.

★ ★ ★

The field-ripened produce is packed in "sky vans" of 600 pounds capacity. The cases are picked up by helicopters of a Stockton, Calif., firm called Calicopters and flown suspended under the whirlybirds to San Francisco International Airport.

★ ★ ★

There, the vans are dropped off beside a waiting airliner, which flies them across country. Another helicopter hauls the produce to the heliport nearest the consignee.

In a recent test, a shipment was delivered at the White House less than 20 hours after it was picked and packed at the farm.

Railroad Using 'Dry' Lubricant

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Reading Railroad says the use of a new "dry" lubricant on the wheels of locomotives will provide "more efficient, more economical, and safer operation of trains."

The Reading says it has reduced the wear and tear on its curved rails by 35 per cent through the use of a chemical preparation called molybdenum disulfide applied by a solid lubricating stick attached to the wheel flanges of locomotives.

The Reading began testing the wear on curved tracks in 1954. It has made experiments on a 35-mile stretch of track with 150 curves.

There is now one vending machine for every 48 persons in the United States. The National Automatic Merchandising Association figures that each person puts $19.89 a year into the machines.

Nudist Camp Employe Asks Change of Scene

PHILADELPHIA — John T. Kerr an employment interviewer, says now he's heard all reasons for job switching.

A woman recently applied for a position with Kerr's company. She said she fomerly worked for a nudist camp.

Kerr glanced at her application and noted her reasons for leaving her previous job. She had stated, "change of scenery."

Skipper Says Great Lakes Roughest Yet This Winter

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — This winter, says a skipper who ought to know, "has been the roughest ever on the Great Lakes."

The skipper is Alex Gillis of Buffalo, N.Y., master of the coal freighter Sparkman D. Foster which has been making runs between the Chesapeake & Ohio coal docks here and the Ford River Rouge plant.

"We've met tremendous ice blocks and all kinds of weather conditions," said Gillis while swapping tales with his fellows at the 69th annual grand lodge convention of the International Shipmasters Assn.

Gillis said his Toledo-Detroit run has been taking from 24 to 30 hours, compared with eight hours in normal weather. The Coast Guard has been sending ice breakers along with the Foster.

Another skipper, Capt. John B. Oliver of Toledo, grand president-elect of the association, brought up the question of whether foreign vessels should take American or Canadian pilots on board when entering the Great Lakes.

On the Lakes, he said, "you're in confined waters all the time. That's why the association wants a qualified American or Canadian pilot on ships plying the Lakes when the St. Lawrence Seaway opens."

Oliver said the difference between sailing on the ocean and sailing on the Lakes is like night and day.

The matter is scheduled to come up for formal discussion during the convention. The association may issue a recommendation on pilotage, although it has not yet taken official action.

Nixon Talks to Dewey, Misses Victory Dinner

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon spent an active day here Wednesday, including having a private talk with former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. But he never got to a big Republican victory dinner presided over by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

As he left by plane for Washington shortly after midnight, Nixon was asked why he had not attended the state GOP $100-a-plate affair.

"I didn't know about it when I made my plans to come to New York and my plans for activities in New York," he said, "and I guess they didn't know I would be in town. Actually, this was just a dinner for state Republicans."

Nixon received an honorary degree Wednesday night from Fordham University and addressed the university's alumni at a dinner.

★ ★ ★

The vice president and Dewey talked for well over an hour in Nixon's suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. They started talking about 15 minutes after Rockefeller had left the hotel, where he had called on Argentine President Arturo Frondizi.

★ ★ ★

Nixon and Rockefeller almost failed to get together last fall when the vice president came here to give a boost to Republicans during the state election campaign. They met briefly for breakfast that time, just before Nixon returned to Washington.

Made His Own Guitar and He Saved $565

MANGUM, Okla. (AP) — Calvin Atchley wanted an electric guitar but he couldn't afford to pay $600 for the one he chose.

He started tinkering and in a year's time built one.

Eisenhower Setting Example to Cement Republican Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower appeared to be embarking Thursday on a planned effort to get along with all kinds of Republicans in the hope of cementing party unity for 1960.

As a part of this program the President arranged to play host at a breakfast for 13 GOP senators representing all shades of opinion. Included were Senate party leaders and top Republicans on all major committees of that body.

With discussion of the legislative program marked as the principal business, Eisenhower apparently was prepared to excuse some differences of viewpoint over his proposals for congressional action.

He told a White House news conference Wednesday that, as a middle roader, he is resigned to taking criticism from both sides. His statement was taken as indicating he won't reply to attacks from either GOP conservatives or liberals.

★ ★ ★

Substantiating this interpretation, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) reported that there has been no outward change in Eisenhower's attitude toward him despite the senator's sharp criticism of administration policies in a message to a Republican meeting in Des Moines, Iowa, last week.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater, a conservative who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committe, has visited the White House twice this week, once for a social affair and once on official business.

"The President was cordial to me, as always," Goldwater said.

When Eisenhower was asked about Goldwater's demand that the administration "quit copying the New Deal," the President replied he wasn't copying anything except what he believes are "basic principles of Americanism."

★ ★ ★

The President quoted Lincoln's words that "the proper function of government is to do for people those things they cannot do at all, or not so well do individually." But he left room for a latitude of opinion within the party by observing that people can come up with "somewhat different answers" on how to apply

Science Finds Way to Dissolve Clots

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clots in the heart arteries of experimental animals have been quickly dissolved by chemical means. In the judgment of the scientists who did it, it is now feasible to apply the same means to people.

If it works out in people, a man who has had a clot-caused heart attack might have the clot dissolved for him before it kills him or before it has so damaged his heart muscles no possibility would remain of his recovering his former vigor.

The chemical means is plasmin, a chemical activator or enzyme always present in the blood, which sets off chemical processes that "digest" blood clots. It has been used successfully for some time to dissolve clots in surface blood vessels.

On the surface, the doctor adding outside plasmin to a clotted blood vessel can regulate the amount to the need for it. Since it is an extremely potent chemical compound, it has been considered dangerous to infuse it from the outside into the general blood circulatory system.

For that reason it hasn't been used against clots in heart arteries.

The scientific team of the Sloan-Kettering Division of Cornell University Medical College which infused it into experimental animals, benefited from the recent success of chemists in extracting plasmin from donated blood in purer form than heretofore.

By delicate surgical means, the animals first were given heart clots like those which attack people and (if they don't kill) deprive areas of heart muscle of blood long enough to damage the muscle permanently.

When the clots were made, the animals' chests were left open so the scientists could observe the effect of plasmin infused into the general circulation.

In four of eight animals, the clots were wholly dissolved within three to seven hours. In the other four, the clots were dissolved by 60 per cent or more. They had the same number of animals as "controls." They had been given heart clots, but not plasmin. In only one did the clot dissolve spontaneously.

★ ★ ★

The vital question is how long can a heart endure a clot without being severely damaged? The scientists, in reporting to the American Heart Association, suggested the time limit "is very flexible" and depends only in part on how long blood is shut off from an area of heart muscle.

'Space Writing' Added to List of Uses for Pencil

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first men to make a multi-billion-dollar trip through space may record the historic event for posterity with a 10-cent lead pencil.

Officials of the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Assn. claim they have the only perfect implement for writing in space—a lead pencil turned out by what may be the world's oldest assembly line system and based on a formula concocted by one of Napoleon's young engineers.

Clyde Nissen, executive vice president of the association, said that scientists who are working overtime trying to figure out what the first space man will eat, wear and breathe can relax when it comes to space writing.

He said in an interview that the first space writer need only make a selection from a variety of 350 styles and types of pencils to find one to use in keeping track of the planets as he whizzes past them.

A pencil, he said, will not melt or freeze in space and it is certain not to leak, the way a pen might.

Among the one and a half billion lead pencils turned out in the United States every year are implements ranging in hardness from soft charcoal to a lead point so hard it leaves marks on gem stones and marble.

These implements are for such a wide variety of purposes that space writing will be just one more item on the list, Nissen said.

Pencils that write under water were devised a long time before the ball-point pen came along, he said, but nothing much was made of this fact.

Also in the pencil arsenal today, he said, in a warm-up for Pencil Week, scheduled to begin Feb. 23, are sterile pencils for drawing incision diagrams on surgical patients, and kosher pencils for marking ritually slaughtered meat.

There is a pencil that marks garment factory materials so that the lines can be seen only under a special light. Another pencil is used to draw circles around hot steel ingot flaws that can not be detected after steel has hardened and cooled.

Putting these or just common pencils together can be just as painstaking a task as molding a piece of metal for a space rocket, Nissen said.

In the first place, the raw materials—more than 40—come from all over the world.

These include graphite from Ceylon and Madagascar, candelilla wax from Mexico, pumice from Italy and a rubber-like product from the Dutch East Indies. The stones used to pulverize the graphite come from Belgium and Denmark.

All of these and many more elements are put together in an assembly line technique devised at the time of the U.S. Civil War, when soldiers clamored for something better than quill pens for writing letters home.

It is a slow-moving assembly-line, too. The jet age has done nothing to speed the process. It still takes an average of four to six months to turn out a single pencil.

Nissen said 125 production steps are involved in making a lead pencil, from the mining of graphite in Ceylon and felling of California cedars to the application of 12 coats of lacquer to the finished product.

The wood has to be cut into proper-sized pieces, kiln dried and tinted pink. The graphite, clay, water and whale oil must be mixed for several weeks before they are smooth enough to be formed into spaghetti-like strands seven inches long.

Then the strands are baked at 2,000 degrees fahrenheit, until they are vitrified, like the enamel on a bathtub. They are dipped into wax and then put into the specially prepared wood, sealed, sanded and painted.

Nissen said that it requires only 17 sharpenings to use up a pencil, so they do not last very long. A space traveler will have to take quite a few pencils along.

"It is," he said, "the only instrument I know of that is designed for its own destruction."

Hospital Experience Leads to Romance

BOSTON (UPI)—When the Pratt Diagnostic Hospital opened in 1938, the first two patients were Dr. Nelson Saphir, who had pneumonia, and Miss Grace McIntire, a nurse who had a throat infection.

Recently the patients returned to help the hospital celebrate its 20th anniversary. Their simultaneous hospitalization had led to romance and they came back as Dr. and Mrs. Saphir.

Seaway's Benefits Won't Show at Once

DETROIT (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway will open next spring, bringing more and bigger ships and new and exotic cargoes to Michigan ports.

Everybody on the new deep-channel waterway connection with the Atlantic Ocean is looking to it for a shot of economic adrenalin.

But as the time grows near for the opening, many of the civic officials and port authorities connected with the seaway offer a word of caution about expecting an economic revolution overnight.

The best of the benefits from the seaway, will take a while in coming, they say.

Granted that there will be jobs for men on the docks, jobs for truckers who get the cargo inland, and sailors to spend money in town.

Michigan housewives may find some new treats at the supermarket—such as an increase in foreign produce—and they may discover that some of the imported staples such as coffee and sugar carry slightly lower price tags.

But most important of all, the seaway's enthusiasts figure the long-range effect will be more jobs and greater economic stability for people who never set foot on a dock and never get more than a glimpse of a foreign freighter.

"Marine engines built in Detroit and shipped overseas through the seaway can be sold in Europe at half the price they would have to bring if shipped overland to New York for transfer to a boat.

"This means more marine engines can be manufactured and sold, which in turn means more jobs.

"The difference is not that great—a full one-half reduction in the price—on many other items, but the marine engines example is a good one."

"Cheaper rates by water means industry gets its raw materials for less and ships out the finished product for less. This puts the industry in a better competitive situation and the result is a chain reaction that benefits the workers and the people who sell things to the workers."

Willis H. Hall, general manager of the Detroit Board of Commerce, said:

"We all live off the jobs in manufacturing. The seaway is the tool we need to maintain the stream of economy. This area no longer is the surplus area and we must transport great distances."

F. B. Niederstadt of Saginaw, chairman of the Tri-County Seaway Study Committee, said:

"Already we estimate that 175,000 tons of goods a year are going overseas from our area by way of rail to New York for loading on ships.

A port engineering firm, Knappen, Tebbett, Abbett, and McCarthy of New York, made a survey of the possibilities for the port of Detroit that indicates the seaway is lined with gold.

The firm said flatly that every ton of cargo moving through a port is worth $10 in direct benefits such as paychecks for dockmen and truckers, and is worth $20 in indirect benefits such as new money spent in barber shops, dry cleaning plants, restaurants and the like.

Detroit's foreign cargo alone is expected to increase from the 80,000 tons last year to 300,000 tons the first year of the seaway.

At $30 a ton—$10 direct benefits and $20 indirect—the total represents an increase of more than 6½ million dollars in the first year.

Those taking a dimmer view toward the seaway's economic potential point out that the Welland Canal between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario may not be able to handle traffic as fast as it lines up. The channel in the Detroit River, Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River is not yet as deep as some of the bigger boats will need.

Michigan's major ports at Detroit, Muskegon and Saginaw are trailing such places as Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo, Duluth and Milwaukee in port facilities and development.

Much of the trouble is a squabble over public vs. private development of new facilities.

But nevertheless Michigan is already feeling the impact of the seaway and is hopeful of getting an even larger slice of freighter business next year.

Muskegon is looking for more than a 100 per cent increase in its foreign tonnage next year. Biggest items are English china clay for paper mills, South American lumber for the furniture industry at Grand Rapids, and Cuban sugar for the area's canneries.

Coming in at lower prices and in greater quantity than ever before, these raw materials put Muskegon industry on a stronger footing and make Muskegon attractive to potential new industry.

The tri-county area around Saginaw counts heavily on the fortunes of Dow Chemical Co., and seaway experts who have studied the waterway's effects say chemical companies have the most to gain immediately from the new mode of transportation.

Raw materials neded by chemical companies are expected to find easier and cheaper traveling along the seaway.

Dow recently signed an agreement with Oglebay-Norton Steamship Co. of Cleveland for operation of the chemical company's docks on a public basis.

At least temporarily, this has solved much of Saginaw's problem regarding facilities.

Even though the building up of waterway business started two years ago in some sections, many industrialists are taking a long look before they make plans to switch over to seaway transportation.

"It's a real selling job getting some of these people even to give it one try," said one port official.

That is another of the factors that leads many close observers to believe the full fruit of the seaway—bustling traffic, more jobs, steadier work—will be slow in maturing.

Fireman Finds Son Burned to Death

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Fireman Frank Adams knew fire had broken out at his home when he and engine mates responded to an alarm.

A bedroom of the Adams house was a mass of flames when firefighters arrived. Inside they found the burned body of Adams' 10-months-old son, Michael.

Mrs. Adams was using a neighbor's telephone when the blaze of undetermined origin was discovered.

Boy, 16, Says Spanking Sparked Shootings at Moravia, N.Y., Home

MORAVIA, N.Y. (AP) — A series of family arguments and the spanking of a 16-year-old boy led the boy to kill four members of his family Wednesday night, state police said.

Troopers said John Jayne, a husky teenager, killed his father, Willis, 66; his mother, Amber, 55; a brother, Willard, 19; and a sister, Elizabeth Ann, 13, with a shotgun.

John, 5-feet-9 and 155 pounds, was charged with first-degree murder. He entered a mandatory innocent plea before Peace Justice Richard Pearce in Cayuga County Court at Auburn in central New York, early today.

Inspector William Driscoll said John, a pupil at Moravia High School, told him he had shot his family because of "an accumulation of family arguments."

Police said John told them his parents had spanked him, and that he felt he was too big to be spanked.

Complaints Out Against Hayden

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden is accused of child theft, contempt of court, and conspiracy to endanger his four children in a complaint brought by his ex-wife, Betty Ann.

The complaint was prepared Wednesday by Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich. It alleged he had set sail with the children aboard his yacht for Tahiti, in violation of a court order and in violation of her right to visit the children.

Hayden and his party of 18, including his children and three others, sailed from nearby Sausalito Jan. 18. He wrote that they were bound for Tahiti.

Observer Corps Has Final Meeting

Sky Watch Breaks Up

Inactivated by presidential order, the Pontiac Ground Observer Corps held its last meeting last night.

Arthur G. Heaton, supervisor of the group, had words of thanks for help during the corps four years of scanning the skies here.

He thanked city and county officials, the merchants of Pontiac and The Pontiac Press.

"Particularly, I want to thank all the volunteers who joined us on the observation post on top of the county office building, donating the time and effort to help bulwark our nation's defense."

More than 500 volunteers took tours of duty in the small observation post during that time, manning it up to 18 hours a day, summer and winter.

Last summer, volunteers went to work again, on the alert for tornadoes.

Local Hospital Plans to Add 29 Extra Beds

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital should be a 150-bed institution by March 1, Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator, disclosed today.

Whitlow described details of a remodeling program that will add 29 beds to the three patient floors.

Extra space is being gained, he explained, by removing walls between pairs of single-bed rooms and adding a third bed to the enlarged space. When remodeling is completed, he said, each floor will contain two private rooms, two double rooms and five three-bed rooms.

These are in addition to the hospital's wards located on other floors, he added.

"We are happy to announce the internal expansion," Whitlow said, "but have to face the fact that after it is completed, the hospital will have no further way to expand except outwards in the form of an addition or a new building."

The hospital is located in the old Pontiac Hotel, which has been extensively remodeled since it was purchased three years ago.

Broomfield Seeks Item Veto for Ike

An "item veto" for President Eisenhower is being sought again by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County).

The proposed constitutional change would "help return our nation to fiscal responsibility," said Broomfield. "President Eisenhower has asked for this new power to disapprove specific items in appropriation bills, just as most presidents have for the past half century."

Many useless projects are buried in bills containing fund appropriations for essential federal services, Broomfield said.

"Under present law, these wasteful expenditures cannot be extracted by the President. He has to either accept the bill as it is or else veto the entire measure."

"Billions of dollars could be saved if the President had item veto power," he said.

X-Ray Training OK'd at St. Joseph Hospital

The busy X-ray department at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital has been approved by the American Medical Assn. for training of technologists.

Approval was on a one-year provisional basis, the hospital said. Students will be accepted only on recommendation or a referral basis, it added.

Your Income Tax No. 3:

Exemptions and Levy-Free Income Listed

(This story tells about exemptions and describes income that doesn't have to be counted. Earlier articles explained tax forms and classes of returns. Others will discuss job-connected expenses, deductions and methods of checking your work. Clip and save all for use when you prepare your return.)

By FRANK CORMIER
AP Staff Writer

All last year you worried about supporting your dependents — your family and perhaps other relatives or a down-and-out friend who came to dinner and never left. Now you can rejoice and add up your string of $600 income tax exemptions.

Exemptions are the biggest single tax-cutting device. Each one lops $600 off the top of your taxable income. If you can claim enough of them, you'll owe no tax at all.

The rules for claiming exemptions are stiff and often misunderstood. Many taxpayers, for example, don't know that the man-who-came-to-dinner may be a legitimate tax exemption.

Another question that puzzles many taxpayers: what is income? It may be that some of the money you received in 1958 isn't considered income by Uncle Sam.

COUNTING EXEMPTIONS

Exemptions will be discussed first — because they're a more pleasant topic.

You are sure to get at least one exemption, for yourself. And you get a second one if you were 65 or over on or before Jan. 1, 1959.

If you file a joint return, you also get one for your spouse — two if your mate is 65 or over.

Any blind taxpayer is entitled to still another exemption.

RULES OF THUMB

There are five tests which must be met by such people if you are to claim them as exemptions. They must:

1. Have received more than half their total support from you.

2. Not have filed a joint return for 1958 with their husband or wife.

3. Be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone.

4. Either have been a member of your household for the entire taxable year (that can cover a long-time dinner guest), or be related to you, or your spouse if you file jointly.

5. Have received less than $600 in total reportable income during 1958.

There are exceptions to this fifth requirement. You can claim one exemption for each of your children regardless of his or her income, provided the child was under 19 at any time during the tax year or was a fulltime student. These exceptions also apply to stepchildren and legally adopted children.

It is important to note that your children must meet the other four tests or you can't claim them as exemptions.

SCHOLARSHIPS DON'T COUNT

Incidentally, you can ignore the value of any scholarship in figuring out whether you provide more than half the total support of a son or daughter who is a student. Benefits under the GI bill, though, do count as part of a student's support.

The relatives who can be claimed as exemptions even though they're not members of your household are: mother, father, mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepmother, stepfather, grandparents, grandchildren or — when related by blood — aunt, uncle, niece or nephew.

In some cases, several people chip in to provide more than half the support of a relative, such as a widowed mother. Although none of them contributes more than half the support alone, each can take a turn claiming the exemption if:

1. The supported person meets the five tests for a dependent, except that no one person provides half the support.

2. The person claiming the exemption contributes more than 10 per cent of the dependent's support.

3. Each other person in the group files a statement with IRS declaring he or she is not claiming the individual as an exemption for that same year.

Note that dependents, other than your children, can't have reportable income of $600 or more.

TAX-FREE INCOME

★ ★ ★

—State and federal Social Security payments, workmen's compensation (including state and federal unemployment benefits) and payments under the Railroad Retirement Act.

—Inheritances and death benefits from life insurance policies.

—All government payments and benefits to veterans and their families, except interest on terminal leave bonds and retirement pay not connected with a disability.

—Gifts, meaning money or anything of value for which you performed no service whatever.

—Interest on state and municipal bonds.

You also can ignore several other categories in adding up your taxable income, but there are strings attached.

Prizes and awards are exempt from taxes if given in recognition of past accomplishments in civic, literary, artistic, educational, scientific, charitable or religious fields. If you had to enter a contest to get a prize or award, or agreed to perform a substantial future service for the donor, the prizes and awards are taxable.

Scholarships also are tax exempt if the recipient is a candidate for a degree. If the recipient isn't a candidate for a degree, the maximum exempt amount is $300 a month for 36 months.

Remember, too, as noted in an earlier article, that the first $50 of dividends on stock ($100 if you file a joint return and the stock is owned jointly with your wife) generally is tax exempt.

TAXABLE INCOME

The odds are that any other money you collected during 1958 is taxable. To run down the list of taxable income:

Wages, salaries, bonuses, commissions, fees, tips, interest, profits from the sale or exchange of property rents and royalties, profits from farm, business or profession, income from estates or trusts.

Even alimony and separate maintenance or support payments received from someone who deducted them on his or her tax return are taxable.

The telephone instrument represents only about 6 per cent of all the plant and equipment needed to provide a customer with service.

Bob Considine Says:

Time Will Tell What Castro Plans for Cuba

NEW YORK—A fellow writes, "Why is it you reporters have not told the American people the truth: That Castro is a Communist stooge of the Kremlin; that he aided the killings in the Venezuelan uprising? How can this Communist give Cuba a democratic government?"

It appears this fellow is making up his mind almost as quickly as the Castro prosecutor who interrupted the trial of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco last week in the Havana Sports Palace and yelled, "I demand that the death penalty be imposed immediately; we have need for no more witnesses."

We are not going to know the truth about Fidel Castro, or his nature and his plans for Cuba and himself, for some time to come. To declare him a Communist as of now is ridiculous, I think.

He could very well prove to be vigorously anti-Communist. He might become a Fascist, for all we know as of now. Or a Socialist. Or a Taft Republican. We don't know.

There has been criticism of the State Department for recognizing his government before knowing quite what it is, but this is an old state department habit and no amount of criticism, in our time at least, is going to change that.

Generally speaking, proximity has a bearing on our diplomatic recognition processes. We feel we can afford to be morally aloof of Red China and its 600,000,000 slaves but this does not hold in the case of a country at our doorstep.

Cuba could make a lot of immediate trouble for the U. S. We're not really quite sure whether the Monroe Doctrine would prevent her making a deal whereby Russia would be permitted to set up missile bases there, or give her military aid in this guise.

* * *

So we hastily recognize, just as we recognized Batista when he swept aside the opponents he was trailing in Cuba's presidential race of seven years ago—Annapolis-trained Carlos Hevia and Prof. Agrimonte—and forcibly took over the government.

That's why other Latin American dictators have been recognized and, partly because of that recognition, kept in office. No exception could be made in the case of Castro. None probably was even considered.

Here's what I think about the man, an opinion based on one midnight interview, waching him in action for a few days, and meeting some of the people around him:

I think he has the opportunity to be the best leader Cuba has had since Jose Marti. He's only 31, and can go to pot like all the others who have risen to power and riches in Cuban politics.

But right now he's the lean, hard, idealist with his whole little world in his hand and he feels toward that world and its people what seems a genuine affection and reverence.

His precise program for Cuba has not yet been spelled out, but he speaks of training schools, a raising of the standard of living, a fairer deal with foreign companies which have been supplying Cuba with such things as electricity and telephones, and he speaks of encouraging foreign industry to locate on the island.

Cuba has a one-crop economy. He says he would erect economic buffers to protect the people whenever that crop—sugar, of course—fails.

* * *

He is an educated man; indeed, he was considered a comfortably rich fellow when he was seized with the driving urge to rid the land of Batista and Batista brutality. If he were simply out to join the long list of Cuban treasury raiders I think it would have shown up even at this early date in his reign.

For example, his is the best-behaved rebel army (or invading force) I've ever seen. His officers were student leaders. The discipline is simply astonishing. No man is permitted to drink in public. There has been no looting by these victors from the hills, no known raping.

The whole land seems to have fallen under the spell of that discipline. He arrested the entire Havana police force, for example, and Havana is a cleaner and better run town today, without those cops.

People who could drive through a red light knowing they could square it with the Batista traffic cop for a couple of bucks now come to a respectful stop at an untended corner when the light turns that color.

We saw this man silence a crowd of 1,000,000 people last week, simply by standing there and raising his finger to his lips. We saw him weep when telling of some of the atrocities of the Batista forces. We heard him dream aloud of schools for his ragged and bearded ones, a better break for Jose Doques, the poor Cuban working slob.

We can't call him a liar until he gives us ample reason to believe that he was clowning. We can't arbitrarily label him this or that.

All we can do, it seems to me, is give him at least as much of a break as we gave his murderous predecessor and say a prayer that he turns out to be as good for our long-suffering neighboring people as they deserve.

Librarian Makes Appeal to Sticky-Fingered Guy

McALESTER, Okla. (UP) — "The Eye Opener," the newspaper at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary; noted that the prison library had received four new books.

At the bottom was a footnote from the librarian; "Will the guy with the sticky fingers please return the last book mentioned?"

Grease Thickener New for Industry

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—The oil industry has taken one fly out of the industrial ointment by creating a new non-soap thickener for industrial greases.

Baton Rouge oilmen say the new substance — the result of five years of research — provides greater stability for industrial greases and more resistance to water and oxidation.

The thickener remains grease-like and gives lubrication at higher temperatures over larger periods, according to an oil industry spokesman. It is expected to be especially useful in high temperatures and excessive humidity.

Cauliflower, which was around as long ago as the 6th Century B. C., is called the aristocrat of the cabbage family because of its sensitivity to climate, difficulty to grow and relatively high price.

Benefit Dance Scheduled for Burn Victim

Friends and neighbors of Max Richardson, area golf club manager who was critically burned in a garage explosion at his home Jan. 5, are promoting a benefit dance for him.

Max Richardson Night will be held Feb. 27 at the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave., with all proceeds going to Richardson and his family.

Among those supporting the event are the Elks, and members of the Edgewood and Pontiac Golf and Country clubs.

Also assisting is the management of the Hub Clothiers, and friends at Hillcrest Golf and Country Club, near Mount Clemens, where Richardson had recently accepted the job of vice president and manager.

Tickets may be obtained at Osmun's Men's Stores. Richardson, 40, who has been hospitalized since the blast, lives at 2624 Walton Blvd., Waterford Township.

New Products on Dinner Menu

Michigan Press to Try Home State Foods at Annual Fete

EAST LANSING (AP) — "Billionaire's beef" and jellied cherry sauce will be among the new products sampled at the 18th annual "all-Michigan dinner" put on by the Michigan Press Assn.

The Saturday night event traditionally tops off the two-day meeting of the state's weekly and daily newspaper publishers and editors.

Elmer E. White, MPA executive secretary, explained that he strives to show off new Michigan products. For example, rhubarb juice, squeezed from Michigan stalks, was introduced last year.

"The new cherry product is hailed by its producers as something that will shame other fruit sauces," White said. "It's something strictly new."

"Billionaire's beef," he said, is the result of experiments at Michigan State University aimed at developing a Michigan livestock strain that yields tastier meat with less fat.

"Michigan is one of the few states that can supply everything you need for a complete, well-balanced meal," continued White. "Our agriculture is that diversified.

"In Kansas you can get a dickens of a lot of wheat—but what else. The only thing Michigan lacks is coffee, and we can offer Postum in place of it."

White said newsmen in Florida have heard of the popular eating event and are now trying to copy it.

Ask Ruling on Merger

LANSING (AP)—The Attorney General's Office says it has been asked to pass on the legality of an amended ordinance combining the Bay City and Bay County Health Departments. The ruling is required for approval of pension plans.

Cuban Minister Confers With Diplomats

Rights of Political Refugees Weighed

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cuban Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte planned to meet today with chiefs of Latin American diplomatic missions in what may be an attempt to settle a growing dispute over diplomatic asylum.

★ ★ ★

The legal processes against the so-called war criminals in the Havana area continued at a near standstill. In the port city of Manzanillo Wednesday a general strike was held to protest the acquittal of a soldier in ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista's army. Leaders of the demonstration charged the revolutionary forces were getting too lenient.

★ ★ ★

No new executions were reported Wednesday, although 32 persons are known to be under death sentences in various parts of the country. The unofficial total of those executed since the rebels took power is 257.

The sharpest criticism of the revolutionary government to date from Cuban newspapers has been brought on by the government's apparent intention of trying to get hold of some 40 or 50 associates of Batista who took refuge in Latin American embassies in Havana.

Latin American diplomats privately make no bones that they believe the new government is not living up to the letter of its committments under inter-American treaties on the right of political asylum, that cardinal right of Latin American politicians which gave Fidel Castro refuge in Mexico at one time, for example.

The revolutionary government after permitting around 40 refugees to leave the embassies for foreign parts, abruptly said it wanted to study the rest of the cases on an individual basis. Agramonte has indicated this would be to determine if some could be charged as common criminals, not entitled to political asylum abroad.

★ ★ ★

If an embassy refused to give up anyone so charged, he would have to stay in the embassy indefinitely.

Some sources say the chief issue is who will determine if criminal charges apply.

On the trial front, it is now expected that the trial of ex-Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao will not begin before Friday. He will be the third of the first three important so-called war criminals in the Havana area to be brought into court.

★ ★ ★

The supreme military tribunal today is expected to hear the appeal of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, first of the Havana defendants who is under a death sentence. The appeal of ex-Capt. Pedro Morejon, the second defendant and likewise sentenced to death, also is to be heard.

Attorney Killed by Physician

Gunman Walks Away From Airport Shooting, Held for Police

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A gunman killed El Paso attorney Theodore Andress at International Airport here Wednesday night, threw his empty pistol at the body, and strolled away.

An unidentified witness, reacting to the screams of the lawyer's wife, grabbed Dr. Harold Eidinoff inside the airport terminal a few minutes later. The witness held Eidinoff, middle-aged operator of an apartment house in Grants, N.M., until a patrolman arrived.

Police Chief Howard Jones said Eidinoff was wearing a bullet-proof vest. He was charged with murder.

Chief Jones said Eidinoff, once a physician here, and Andress had been involved in legal disputes dating back to 1954.

Vaun Rodgers of El Paso, one of a small group of witnesses, said he had heard a shot and turned around to see what happened. "I saw the man shoot some more and then throw the gun at Andress. The man was so nonchalant about it. He just walked away."

Andress, 50, and his wife had just returned from San Francisco where he had attended a national convention of school board members. He was president of the Texas Assn. of School Boards. They were waiting to collect their luggage when the gunman shot Andress.

Salvation Army Reports Deficit in Yule Program

A deficit of $1,609 for the Salvation Army Pontiac Citadel Corps in its annual Christmas program was reported yesterday by Captain J. William Heaver, commanding officer of the citadel at 29 W. Lawrence St.

The 1958 report issued by Heaver listed the total amount of money raised for Christmas expenses as $9,983, compared to the total expense of $11,593, leaving the $1,609 deficit.

This was a marked increase in costs but a decrease in deficit over the 1957 Christmas program, said Heaver. In 1957 the program cost the Salvation Army $8,993 and with a total of $7,360 raised for the program, the deficit amounted to $1,633 or $24 more.

The answer lies in the increase in services, according to Heaver. In 1957 the number of Christmas baskets or food orders given was 595 compared to 1,003 last year. The number of meals supplied rose from 2,348 to 4,210.

The remaining expenses went toward trees, toys, gifts, etc., which numbered 725 in 1958 as compared to 770 the previous Christmas.

Man Counts Too Much on Cash From Friends

NEW YORK (UPI)—Philip Sergio, 26, threw a big wedding reception at a hotel Dec. 27 and counted on his friends to contribute enough cash to pay for the party.

West Bloomfield Township Votes Monday

School Election to Decide 2 Issues

By STAN BOK
Pontiac Press Correspondent

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Registered voters in West Bloomfield Township will cast ballots on two separate issues in a special election for School District 5 to be held Monday.

One issue proposes a tax increase for operational expenses. It would cancel the final year of the 3½-mill increase adopted on June 13, 1955, and levy a new increase of 6 mills on assessed valuation of property for five years (through 1963) if approved by voters.

Voters also will be asked to approve the borrowing of $400,000 for remodeling of existing schools and issuance of bonds to the same amount for that purpose.

Voting precincts will be set up at the Roosevelt Elementary School in Keego Harbor, at the Scotch School here, and at the township hall.

Electors in the portion of Sylvan Lake included in the West Bloomfield School District and in Keego Harbor will vote at the Roosevelt School. Those in the Green School area will vote at the township hall, and voters in the northwestern section of the school district will cast their ballots at Scotch School.

★ ★ ★

Property owners are eligible to vote on both issues, but renters may vote on the operational millage increase only.

The outcome of the election will affect property owners in one of the following four ways insofar as property taxes are concerned:

1. If both propositions are approved, property oners can expect a tax hike of approximately $3.75 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

2 If both propositions are defeated, property owners can expect a small reduction in total school taxes.

3. If the bonding proposition is approved and the proposition for an operational millage increase is defeated, school taxes will remain about the same.

4. If the operational millage increase is approved and the bonding proposition is defeated, property owners can expect a school tax increase of about $1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

If the bond issue is approved by the voters, the bulk of the $400,000 will be used to bring Roosevelt School up to the standards of other schools in the district.

Troopers Report 3 Youths Admit Damaging Buses

Three Orion Township youths have admitted that they are responsible for recent malicious destruction to several Lake Orion school buses, State Police at Pontiac reported yesterday.

Troopers withheld identity of the youths but said two of them were juveniles. No official charges have been filed, pending a meeting of the Lake Orion School Board tonight.

The board is expected to attempt to reach an arrangement with the boys' parents in order to settle the matter out of court, according to state troopers.

The incident occurred Tuesday night, Jan. 13, and drivers discovered the gas and brake lines cut on the buses when they arrived to make their first runs Wednesday morning.

Lake Orion Success Calls for Encore

Staging Minstrel Show Again

LAKE ORION—A minstrel show originally presented in November by the Ladies of the Maccabees will be repeated Saturday night by popular request. The event, a benefit for the Orion Community Center, will be staged at 8 p.m. in the State Theater here.

Cochairmen of the show are Mrs. Rae Raab and Mrs. Clarence Arnold who said the response to their first production, which was on a week night, was "so enthusiastic" that the group decided to present it again—this time on a weekend.

Several minor changes have been made, they said, but the general format remains the same.

Appearing in black face will be "Mr. Interlocutor" portrayed by Mrs. Arnold, the nine "end men" and 25 members of the chorus. The "end men" are Mrs. Roy McMorran as "Molasses," Mrs. R. Noland as "Dr. Rufus," Mrs. Raab as "Snowball," Mrs. Clarence L. Harold as "Sambo," Mrs. Ludwig Schiek as "Bones," and Mrs. C. Hunter as "Rastus."

Others are Mrs. Lepha M. Decker as "Madam Queen," Mrs. C. B. Shafer as "Kingfish," and Mrs. Lawrence Gunion as "Light'n."

Outside acts will include dancer Claudanne Cooper of Rochester, vocalist Mrs. John Wesley, baton twirlers Sandy Sheldon, Patricia Trimble and Trudy Wiseman, tap dancers Penny Christopher and pantomimist Marilyn McKenzie, all of Lake Orion.

Val Sausser of Oxford will play the saxophone and three girls calling themselves the "Three Lasses of Oxford" also will perform as a vocal trio. They are Genine Collier, Felinda Ashley and Lois Stoddard.

★ ★ ★

Another feature which proved to be a hit in the November show will be repeated. It is a hulu hulu dance routine by three local businessmen, Gordon McKenzie, Charles Starrs, and James Bushman.

The show will be open to the public and tickets will be available at the door.

School Election Set in Holly for Feb. 5

HOLLY — In order to maintain the present curriculum and obtain the needed additional teachers, Holly area property owners will be asked to approve the addition of six mills for school operations at a special school election Feb. 5, Charles Coggins, superintendent, announced today.

★ ★ ★

Coggins said the Holly School District has the highest pupil-teacher ratio in the county and with this extra millage, from 9 to 11 teachers could be added next fall. He said "many of the classes in the district have 43 or 44 pupils in them compared to the ideal situation of 30 per class."

★ ★ ★

One half of a mill, if the proposal is passed, will be used to retire the district's $102,000 deficit.

The district has 2,073 pupils and 68 teachers at present.

Pickets Protest Fatal Plant Fire

DETROIT (AP) — Some 300 pickets massed in front of the McLouth Steel Corp. plant in suburban Trenton last night after a fellow worker was killed in a plant fire.

Police Chief Earl J. Henegar said he called in off duty officers to break up mass picketing because three or four trucks were prevented from leaving the plant.

The picketing followed a meeting of employes at the Steelworkers Union Hall last night to protest conditions at plants of the steel company. The union said there have been three fatal accidents in local McLouth plants in the past three weeks.

Joseph K. Cotey, 34, of Wyandotte, was killed Wednesday and a co-worker was burned in a flash fire. The blaze was started when a heavy steel coil fell from a ramp and broke a hydraulic line, spewing oil onto a small heater.

Williams Will Explain His Tax Ideas on TV

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has announced he will explain his taxation views to the public in an evening half-hour telecast Jan. 30.

The program will be carried by Detroit, Saginaw and Traverse City stations, and others may be added to the network later.

Williams described the planned talk as "an informative, nonpartisan explanation of my general views on the tax question."

These will be detailed to the legislature the following week.

WWJ-TV (Channel 4) in Detroit, he said, offered time from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

"It is the people who will pay any new taxes which are adopted and I think the people have a right to hear the story directly," he said.

He said he believed the participating TV stations deserved commendation for making this possible.

5,000 Books Missing

EAST LANSING (AP)—More than 5,000 books have disappeared from the Michigan State University Library during the past year, William Combs, dean of university services, reported. He said most were books assigned for class reading.

Rainier Lifts Power From Parliament

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Prince Rainier III told Monaco's 18-man Parliament to jump into the Mediterranean today and transferred its powers temporarily to his Cabinet.

The prince broadcast the news personally this morning to the 3,000 citizens and 22,000 foreign residents of his park-sized principality on the Riviera.

* * *

He said he was temporarily suspening the constitutional powers of the Parliament—the National Council—and transferring them to the Council of State.

The powers of both bodies are advisory only, and anything they recommend must be approved by Rainier. Actual government operations are mostly controlled by France through a minister of state, or prime minister, who by treaty is always a Frenchman.

Gulf Oil Struck in Wage Dispute

Union Does Not Picket Workers Building New Refinery Unit

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union didn't picket gates used by about 600 construction workers who are building a new refinery unit.

For a time, police and sheriff's officers outnumbered the eight pickets at four gates. There was no violence.

Gulf rejected a union offer to continue the present contract for one year with a 5 per cent wage increase, along lines agreed to by Sinclair Oil Co. and others. The current hourly scale averages $2.71.

Gulf had offered the 5 per cent increase but proposed to reclassify certain jobs.

Knox Seeks Cut in Excise Tax

Wants Federal Levy on Cars, Trucks Reduced to 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another Michigan Congress member, Rep. Victor A. Knox (R), today joined the clamor for a reduction of the 10 per cent federal excise tax on automobiles and trucks.

Knox announced introduction of a bill which would cut the tax on new cars to 5 per cent and earmark all the receipts for the Federal Highway Trust Fund.

He said the same reduction apply to trucks, buses and trailers, but this would have no effect on trust fund receipts. One half of the present 10 per cent tax on such vehicles already goes into the highway fund.

Similar measures have been introduced by several other Michigan Congress members. Two other recent bills were offered by Reps. Thaddeus Machrowicz (D) and Charles E. Chamberlain (R).

Knox said adoption of his proposal would increase the federal highway fund by an additional 890 million dollars in two years.

He said his bill would add another 150 million to the fund in the same period by reducing the present 8 per cent tax on automotive parts and accessories to 5 per cent, and earmarking receipts for the highway fund.

All the reduced rates would be repealed outright on July 1, 1972, when the current federal-aid highway program expires, Knox said.

Bank Holdup Staged by Paper-Bag Bandit

DETROIT (UPI) — A tall, thin bandit, believed to be the same paper-bag robber who held up a midtown Detroit bank last week, robbed the McNichols-Davison branch of the City Bank yesterday of $1,520.

Teller Mrs. Eleanor Groth, 29, said the man pushed a note and an envelope at her and told her to "fill it up."

"He was very calm," she said, "nowhere as nervous as I was."

SPICY CHERRY HAM SAUCE — Keep this simple spiced sauce in the refrigerator. Then when unexpected company appears on the doorstep at dinner time, heat it up to serve over baked ham or Canadian bacon. You'll get the reputation of a superb cook.

Spicy Cherry Sauce Excellent on Ham

If you want to acquire the reputation of being a fabulous cook master a few unusual but simple menus and rotate them. If you have half a dozen such menus mastered you will probably not serve the same guests the same menus twice in a year. Thus they'll assume you have a tremendous culinary repertoire and acclaim you as a genius.

One meat dish which is well worth adding to your repertoire and which can be served with an interesting array of accompanying dishes, is ham with spicy cherry sauce. You may use this sauce on baked ham, broiled or fried ham slices. The brilliant color of the sweet cherries blends with the bright shading of the ham. The tantalizing spiced flavor of the sauce complements the rich flavor of the ham.

The beauty of this dish is that it can be prepared in a twinkling. You can keep the cherry sauce made up in the refrigerator. You can keep a cooked ham on hand too. Then when unexpected company drops in, or when you're too busy to make elaborate preparations for invited guests, simply pop the ham in the oven to brown, warm the cherry sauce, bake a few potatoes and toss a salad. The result is a culinary masterpiece, but the effort required to prepare it is negligible.

SPICY CHERRY HAM SAUCE

1 No. 303 can light sweet cherries
Juice from 1 No. 303 can light sweet cherries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup slivered toasted almonds
¼ cup raisins
Few drops Angostura Bitters

Drain and pit cherries. Combine remaining ingredients, blend well; and cook until thickened. Add cherries and cook until cherries are heated. Serve hot on ham slice.

For Young Dunkers

Texture contrast often helps quicken sluggish morning appetites. One interesting combination is a bowl of soup and a bowl of dry non-sweet cereal. Children like to dip into each alternately, or mix them.

Glazed Frankfurters Appeal to Teeners

NEW YORK (UPI)—Entertaining a high school crowd? Serve jelly-glazed frankfurters and sauerkraut. Melt ½ cup currant jelly. Add 1 pound frankfurters and cook on all sides until lightly browned.

Add 1 (1-pound, 11-ounce) can sauerkraut, drained, 1½ cups diced cooked potatoes and salt and pepper to taste. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally.

Slumber Party Soup

When holiday spirits run high at a sub-teen slumber party, you'll want to calm them down a bit before bedtime. Serve forth soothing cups of hot buttered green pea soup and doughnuts. For each 2 or 3 soup servings blend 1 can condensed green pea soup with a soup can milk or water and heat. Add a pat of butter to each serving.

Comes Out Better

Remove angelfood cake from its pan as soon as the pan feels cool when you touch it, after inverting. This procedure insures maximum crust — no undue amount sticking to the pan.

Good Time to Buy Lamb

Lamb will be more plentiful in February. So let's enjoy some of the more economical cuts.

Scotch roast is breast of lamb stuffed with ground lamb. It is a relatively new item in meat stores.

Lamb Scotch Roast With Apples

1 3-pound lamb Scotch roast
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 medium-sized apples, cored and cut in wedges
1 teaspoon whole cloves
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper. Place on rack in roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 2 hours. Combine remaining ingredients. Arrange apple mixture over and around lamb. Bake 45 minutes. Serves six.

★ ★ ★

Sweet and Sour Lamb Riblets

3 pound lamb riblets
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup stock or bouillon
2 medium-sized lemons, sliced

Cook riblets over low heat until browned on all sides. Combine flour, sugar, salt and pepper; mix well. Add flour mixture to riblets. Gradually stir in stock or bouillon, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add lemon slices. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

Breast of Lamb With Orange

3 pounds breast of lamb
Salt and pepper to taste
½ teaspoon mace
2 medium-sized oranges, sliced

Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper and mace. place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Top with orange slices. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 1 hour. Makes 4 servings.

THRIFTY LAMB — Lamb is listed as one of the plentiful foods for the month of February. Take advantage of this fact and serve your family interesting lamb dishes. Above are three tasty ways to prepare it; at the left is lamb breast; at the right is a Scotch roast; and in front are lamb riblets.

Always remove salt and pepper shakers, condiments such as chili sauce and catchup, bread trays and any other "extras" served with the main course before bringing on dessert.

Whip Dry Milk for These New Desserts

Ladies invited . . . invited to your home for a social visit, bridge or maybe a business meeting of your club or church group. Refreshments of some sort are in order but those afternoon desserts can really throw a well-kept diet into a tailspin.

Take pity on those among your guests who are counting calories and serve a dessert such as these Strawberry Almond Molds. They look and taste high-calorie but don't be decieved . . . each serving has about as many calories as a large apple. The secret behind their wonderful flavor, texture and low calorie count is whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals . . . magic crystals of nonfat milk that whip when mixed with an equal amount of ice water.

A couple of boxes of instant crystals on hand at all times can serve many a purpose in a calorie-counter's everyday diet, too. Mixed according to package directions, instant crystals make a delicious, fresh-flavored beverage that contains half the calories of ordinary milk but the same amount of milk's essential proteins, minerals and B vitamins.

Reliquefy instant crystals for use in any recipe requiring milk, or mix them with an equal amount of ice water or well-chilled fruit juice and whip for a delicious dessert topping that contains a fraction of whipped cream's calories.

Strawberry Almond Molds

1 10-ounce package frozen sliced strawberries (thawed)
2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
1 teaspoon almond extract
2½ cups whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals*

Drain strawberries; reserve ½ cup syrup. Combine remaining syrup and strawberries. Soften gelatin in ½ cup strawberry syrup. Add water and almond extract. Stir over hot water until gelatin is dissolved. Cool.

Fold gelatin mixture into whipped instant crystals. Turn into 6 individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with strawberries. Makes 6 servings.

*To whip instant nonfat dry milk crystals (makes about 2½ cups).

1. Mix ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with ½ cup ice water in a bowl.
2. Whip until soft peaks form (about 3-4 minutes).
3. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating, while gradually adding ¼ cup sugar, until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer).

Pineapple Lemon Freeze

1 cup crushed pineapple (in syrup)
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
2½ cups whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals.

Combine pineapple, lemon rind, lemon juice and sugar; mix well. Fold pineapple mixture into whipped instant crystals. Turn into refrigerator trays. Freeze 2-3 hours.

Numerous Meat Bargains Please Food Buyers

There is more pork than last year at this time and since this is the season when supplies are normally heavy, you will find many pork cuts economical choices, reminds the Marketing Information Agent. Some retailers report lamb at the lowest January prices since 1956. Other meats continue at about the same price levels they have been.

* * *

Although weather conditions have curtailed some produce, there are ample supplies of many fresh vegetables and fruits. Notice favorable prices on canned and frozen juice now that fresh citrus is increasing.

MEAT FOR MAIN DISHES—It's the season for pork and as one might expect, several pork cuts are featured each week. Among these, you might wish to check smoked ham, spareribs, sausage, bacon, Boston butt and steaks this week.

The Boston butt comes from the shoulder of the pig, is one of the leanest pork cuts. Usually several steaks are cut from the large end of the Boston butt and the balance is sold as a roast. The steaks sell for 10 cents more per pound than the roast.

If you have the time, it takes little skill to cut a Boston butt at home, states Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. No saw is actually needed, for the long thin blade bone can easily be removed. Simply slip a sharp knife along the top of the bone and cut the lean top portion free.

This large boneless piece can be used as a roast or sliced into steaks. The meat around and beneath the blade bone can be used for chop suey or ground for meat loaf.

Want a roast lamb dinner? Leg at 23 to 27 cents per serving or shoulder at 16 to 24 are two choices you might consider this week. If your family is small and you do not want a whole leg at one meal, you might have the butcher slice a few steaks for one meal. Use the largest portion for a roast and a second meal. Use the small bony shank end for a stew.

Barbecued lamb riblets made from the breast selling at 10 to 23 cents a pound are a thrifty dish. The breast bones are tender enough to cut with a heavy pair of kitchen shears. Or make a stuffing and place it between two layers of ribs. Then roast at 325 degrees.

Large tom turkeys are available for as little as 20 cents a serving. If a large turkey is not needed, it might be sliced in half at the store. One half could be used this week; the other might be properly wrapped, stored at zero degrees and used later.

Smelt is the thrifty fish buy. Frozen ocean perch, cod and halibut are easy on the budget since each package of fillets serves three people.

Since apples are now coming from storage, they will keep better if placed in the refrigerator, or kept in a cool place at home. McIntosh, Jonathan and Northern Spy are good for all purposes.

Grapefruit are bursting with juice and sweetness. Prices continue as they have been. Orange supplies are increasing, and prices vary in relation to size and variety.

Looking for dark green and yellow vegetables? Then you will find these in the reasonable price bracket: Cabbage, broccoli, spinach, carrots, squash, sweet potatoes. Ample supplies of celery and lettuce add crispness at meal time, but are not so important for vitamins and minerals.

* * *

Potatoes every day are easy at present low prices. Michigan potatoes are of better quality than they were a year ago. Large size bags are real bargains if you can store them.

EGGS—Two large size eggs are a meal-size serving of protein for 8 to 10 cents. Compared to others, the large size is the best egg value.

Bake Shredded Wheat in Your Waffle Iron

Have you ever tried a waffled shredded wheat biscuit? It's the newest idea for breakfast eaters. Easily done by just quickly dipping the shredded wheat biscuit into water and then baking it in your waffle iron until the biscuit is a golden brown, about 2 minutes.

Serve this fast cooked, novel breakfast dish with plenty of melted butter or margarine and warm maple-flavored sirup or honey. If you like, crisp bacon slices, sausages, or sauteed ham slices can be served with the waffled biscuit.

AN EXOTIC DESSERT — From a simple recipe, an exotic dessert — Coffee Raisin Pilau! Your confection will disappear like magic, especially when you serve it with fragrant hot coffee.

Rice Pilau Has Glamor Appeal

There's something exotic about the very word "pilau." Turkish, Persian or Indian (and it may be any of the three), pilau is a concoction of rice, spice and a varying number of other ingredients that range from meat and fish to fruit and nuts.

Main dish or dessert, pilau is eaten more than a thousand savory ways. To suit the Indian taste, it must have a generous sprinkling of curry. In true Turkish style, it's more often mild and sweet.

And what about this new variation on the theme, Coffee Raisin Pilau? No oriental mystery here, except that you may wonder how such a simple recipe can add up to such a surprisingly delicious dessert. Not only is it downright good to eat. You can make it quickly and easily, and the finished product is lovely to look at, too. In our book, that's practically perfect!

Coffee Raisin Pilau

1 small package (4-⅝ oz.) pre-cooked rice
Regular strength coffee brew
½ cup golden seedless raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Prepare pre-cooked rice according to package directions, using coffee instead of water. Stir in remaining ingredients except cream. Mix well and cool. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Makes 6 servings.

Spanish Apple Salad

Chopped apples combined with chopped green peppers and chopped raw white turnip make an excellent winter-time salad. With 2 large apples use 1 green pepper and 1 turnip. Toss the salad with the following dressing: ½ cup olive oil, ¼ cup vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard and ⅛ teaspoon powdered cumin. Serve on lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

Gentle Cooking Is Secret of Boiled, Baked Custard

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

A bowl of smooth boiled custard is a wonderful thing to have in the refrigerator—if you can keep it there long enough to serve it as you planned. At our house it's apt to disappear as a bedtime snack.

Custards are easy to make, whether they are the boiled or the baked type. The only thing you have to remember is that moderate heat is essential in cooking. The protein in egg needs gentle treatment.

Boiled custard should be made in a double boiler. Keep the water simmering. You scald the milk first, then add it gradually to the egg and sugar mixture. Stir as it cooks. When the mixture coats a metal spoon, it is done.

If it cooks too long, it will curdle. This won't affect the taste but it looks awful. We take a mesh beater and whip it back into line.

Smooth Boiled Custard

6 to 8 egg yolks
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 quart milk, scalded
¾ teaspoon vanilla

In top of double boiler, beat yolks slightly. Stir in sugar and salt. Pour scalded milk gradually into the egg and sugar mixture, stirring vigorously and constantly. Place over hot water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture forms a coating on a metal spoon.

Pour immediately into a cold bowl. Stir in vanilla. Chill thoroughly. Serve plain or as a sauce over fruit or cake. Makes 5 cups boiled custard.

Baked custard takes less time from the cook. After you have poured the mixture into individual cups or a large baking dish, place them into a large pan in the oven. Pour boiling water in the big pan almost to the height of the custard.

When a silver knife inserted in the custard comes out clean, the custard is done. You may serve it warm or cool.

The little caramel chips now in the market make a delicious sauce for baked custard. Unmold this dessert to serve and a rich caramel sauce will pour down the sides.

Caramel Custard

½ cup caramel chips
2 tablespoons water
½ cinnamon stick
2 cups milk
⅓ cup sugar
4 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine caramel chips and water in a pan. Place over hot water until chips melt. Blend. Pour equal amounts of melted chips into bottoms of 6 custard cups. Cool for 10 to 15 minutes.

Add cinnamon stick to milk and scald milk. Add sugar to beaten eggs. Add milk and strain mixture. Then add vanilla. Carefully pour over melted chips in custard cups. Place in pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 minutes, or until set. Makes 6 cups.

One of the most famous of English desserts is a Trifle. If ever a dish contradicted its name, this is it. Sometimes pound cake is used to line the dish; other times day-old sponge cake. This recipe calls for ladyfingers.

Fruit Trifle

¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
16 double ladyfingers or finger-size slices of day-old sponge or pound cake
½ cup fruit jelly or preserves
1 cup drained fruit (sweetened fresh berries, peaches, pineapple, orange sections; canned or defrosted frozen)

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; gradually add milk. Place over very low heat (or over boiling water) and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Blend a small amount of custard into egg yolks and return egg mixture to custard sauce. Remove from heat at once; cool and add vanilla and lemon rind. Chill.

Open ladyfingers; spread centers with jelly or preserves and put together sandwich-style. Arrange ladyfingers over bottom and sides of large glass compote or serving dish. Spread half of fruit over bottom, cover with half of chilled custard sauce. Top with remaining ladyfingers, fruit and custard sauce. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Hot Biscuit Sandwich

Planning on company? Cut biscuits into 1½-inch rounds and bake. Split; spread with butter seasoned with salt and ground black pepper. Fill with a mixture of chopped proscuitto ham, chopped capers, mayonnaise or salad dressing, salt and ground black pepper.

Ski Areas Create Family Fun

Pontiac Press Photos

As soon as their morning chores are over, Mrs. Robert S. Nelson, left, and Mrs. Edward P. Barrett, head for one of the nearby ski areas for a day on the slopes. Weekends — it's a family affair.

All set for their first run down the slopes at Summitt ski area are Mrs. Albert W. Holcomb, left, and Mrs. Palmer G. Bundy. Both are avid skiers and have made the most of all the snow this winter.

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Have you noticed the healthy look on most of your friends' faces these days—instead of that pale wintry look that used to be? Chances are quite likely that these shining, rosy cheeked faces come from a day on the snowy slopes.

★ ★ ★

Time was when skiing was only the occasional weekend pastime of a few who had the time and finances to travel several hundred miles for a day or two of skiing.

Today however — everybody is taking to skiis and having a wonderful time!

NINE SKI AREAS

The chief reason for the zooming popularity of skiing, is the sudden development of local ski areas—There are already nine, all within 45 minutes of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Skiing is an easy sport to learn—and fun for all members of the family. We can guarantee that after one or two times on skis you will be good enough to enjoy yourself in all this wonderful snow.

And once you've done it, you won't want to stop—Nothing is quite so invigorating or healthful after a hard day at the office or in the home as an hour or two on the slopes in the evening.

Night skiing at the local areas is most popular with local residents who might not have a chance to ski otherwise. There's something especially thrilling about a fast run in the brisk night air under bright lights.

Wash Tea Pot in Clean Suds

The Japanese always wash their tea cups apart from other dishes and utensils because this absolute cleanliness gives tea the best possible taste.

★ ★ ★

Now, here's a recommendation worth copying — use plenty of clean hot soap or detergent suds and rinses for your tea pot, as well as for the cups.

Dear Abby . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

"DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine called me up and said, 'If you promise not to tell anyone, I will tell you something about So and So.' Naturally I promised and she told me. The next day another friend called me up and told me the very same thing about this Mr. So and So but she said, 'Everybody knows it so I don't care if you repeat it.' Now, please understand Abby, when I repeated what I had heard I did not feel that I was letting the cat out of the bag or that I had broken my promise but I got into the biggest fight over this that I cannot sleep nights. Was I wrong or was I not?"—SICK AT HEART.

DEAR SICK: When anyone offers you "gossip" about a third party if you "promise not to tell"—tell them that you don't want the responsibility of knowing such confidential information. You were wrong in repeating gossip, whether it was "out of the bag" or not.

"DEAR ABBY: We have a new girl in our office who comes to work dressed like she was going to a square dance. She wears scoop-necked blouses and flared skirts with three and four stiff petticoats. I can't see outfits like that for a place of business. I would like to see this published together with your answer." BUSINESS WOMAN

DEAR BUSINESS: "New girls" in an office frequently overdress at first in an effort to make a good impression. Give her a little time to observe how the rest of the office girls dress. If she doesn't "catch on," tip her off in a friendly way.

"DEAR ABBY: We are married and have one child. My husband is a checker in a grocery store and he is the friendly type with a real good disposition, but everywhere we go I catch him smiling at girls. If I smiled at men the way he smiles at girls, believe me, I would have a few teeth missing.

"When I ask him to quit smiling at girls he says he didn't know he was smiling. But I notice they smile back at him. 'Does he think they are smiling at him for nothing?' Please tell me if I am being silly for my complaint?" NOT SMILING

DEAR NOT: A smile need not always be a signal for "encouragement"—but merely a pleasant expression. Let him smile.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 13. I am starting to go out on dates. When I come home my mother wants to know what happened. I tell her and by the next morning it is spread all around the neighborhood. I have asked her time and again not to tell anyone but she keeps doing it. I can't say I don't want to tell her anything any more. What should I do?" NEEDS HELP.

DEAR NEEDS: Your mother doesn't realize that she is violating a very sacred trust. Ask her to PROMISE she'll keep your secrets, and tell her if she doesn't keep her promises you'll keep your secrets—to yourself.

★ ★ ★

She's Plump, Jolly, Has 2 Children

Rep. May Brings Zesty Humor to Congress

(This is the last of a series of articles by a noted Washington correspondent introducing you to the distaff side of Congress and describing what awaits a woman entering the House or Senate.)

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—A plump, jolly matron with a bubbling sense of humor already is adding zest to the new session of Congress.

A former radio commentator, Rep. Catherine May made the leap from Washington state to Washington, D.C., with a husband and two children intact.

"You'd have thought I was taking my kiddies to darkest Africa, judging by their apprehension," she chuckled. "They wanted to know whether the capital had trees and Boy Scouts and Blue Birds—and even whether children went to school."

Reassured, 12-year-old James and 8-year-old Melinda drove to Washington with their father, dog and housekeeper, while their mother flew ahead to stalk the land. Now they're walking to classes in public schools two blocks away from their home.

Mrs. May, who met her personable husband, James, at a USO dance during the war, worked for a time as an NBC news writer and "leg woman" (reporter) in New York after his medical discharge for ulcers.

The pull of the West was strong on both of them, however, and they soon returned to Yakima, where Mr. May became a real estate broker and his wife a radio commentator on women's affairs.

DAD SPOKE UP

A long talk with her aging father one evening in 1947 was destined to change the life of the Mays. Delivering his own "state of the union" message, the old man said he was not proud of the world that his generation had bequeathed them, and that he hoped they would get into politics to right the wrongs.

Impressed, Catherine and Jim joined the Young Republican Club of Yakima, and by the time General Eisenhower had made known his presidential availability, she was ready to serve on his county committee.

Shortly thereafter, Republican club members sought out Mr. May to ask that he persuade his wife to run for the state legislature. It took some doing, but after awhile the good-humored young man remarked:

Mrs. May was admittedly flabbergasted by the prospect, but after musing for a time about her late father's advice, she tossed in her bonnet and won.

For the next six years, commuting to Olympia during the legislative sessions, she devoted herself principally to legislation for state institutions, working energetically for youth correctional and child guidance clinics, and better facilities for the mentally retarded.

Then came the announcement that Yakima's long-time representative had decided not to seek re-election. The fact that Republican Hal Holmes had managed to squeak through in 1956 only with the aid of a few hundred absentee ballots, after 16 years in the House, indicated that the race would be expensive and wearing.

Mrs. May did her utmost to persuade others to run, but the reluctant Gastons invariably murmured "After you, Alphonse."

At least, after spending all one night telling her husband every reason why she couldn't possibly win, she beat out a Republican opponent in the primary and then reversed the national trend by holding the seat for her party with an 11,000 majority in the general election.

Short (5 feet 3 inches) and stocky, 44-year-old Mrs. May has greying brown hair and grey-blue eyes. She will never win a beauty contest, but she has a delightful humor which permits her to laugh at herself.

READY WITH JOKE

Trapped in a stalled hotel elevator on the opening day of Congress, the overweight Mrs. May merrily decided that it reminded her of a woman's comment after hearing one of her campaign speeches.

"And George," the wife reportedly told her husband, "Mrs. May even looks like a congresswoman—she's solid."

Mr. May, who is now back in Yakima to turn his brokerage business over to an assistant, will rejoin his family here by the first of March. Despite the fact that he managed his wife's successful campaign, however, he will not work in her offfice.

"We are so firmly opposed to nepotism," Mrs. May explained, "that Jim will go into the real estate business here."

★ ★ ★

The only one of the newcomer congresswomen to have her specific wish fulfilled, Mrs. May actually won appointment to the Agriculture Committee. As such, she will have the unique distinction of being the only representative from either party to represent the Pacific Northwest on that potent body.

By PAT HERMAN

PARIS (UPI)—Yves Saint-Laurent, boy wonder designer for the House of Dior, revealed a back-to-nature spring line with bosoms, waists and hips where they belong.

Saint-Laurent, 22, who succeeded the late Christian Dior as the world's most influential dress designer, broke tradition today in an exclusive interview with United Press International to tell how he plans to make women feminine again in their fashions.

SHY BOY TALKS

"The bust will be in its place again," he said, "and for the first time in years woman will be simple, supple and natural.

"But at the same time she will have all the refinements that fashion can provide to make her elegant.

"She will be long in line, with none of the previous architectural construction surrounding her."

Thus Saint-Laurent, along with most other Paris designers this year, proclaimed as passe both last year's high-waisted facade and the figure-concealing sack of yesteryear.

Then the soberly dressed young designer, blushing behind his tortoise shell glasses, said "Women finally will be liberated."

All dresses will show waistlines. But not all will have belts.

Shoulders will be rounded. Skirts will be "natural" in style, their length varying with the type of dress.

Saint-Laurent said hats would be of special importance this season.

He said he would unveil a new line of colors for afternoon wear.

Saint-Laurent looked serious and tired but less tense than a year ago when for the first time he replaced Dior. Then, he was an unknown quantity.

Now, the press, buyers and women around the world wait breathlessly for a glimpse of the new line emerging from the gray and gold Dior mansion off the Champs-Elysees.

PROOF IN SALES

Sales have proved that what Saint-Laurent does to a hem or a hipline has upped sales for the powerful Dior establishment by 10 per cent around the globe.

But success has not changed his own style. He still wears black suits, sober ties and Calvin Coolidge collars.

NOT NERVOUS

When asked if he was nervous about the fact that a seven billion francs a year ($14,182,000) business is riding on his collection, Saint-Laurent said: "Not too much."

Then he ended the interview by adding: "Now I must go and finish it."

Occasional Thanks Are Enough

Really Must Ask New Neighbors to Cocktail Party

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Since my husband's death several years ago, his former employer and friend has sent a check to me each month and he has told me that he will continue sending it as long as I live. I would like to know if it is necessary to write him a thank-you note each month upon the receipt of the check."

Answer: No, you do not thank him every month as the checks you indorse will let him know that you have received them. You have surely already expressed your thanks to him and you continue to write him two or three times a year. You give him your news and tell him how well you are getting along and let him know how much his generosity is helping you and how thankful you are.

"Dear Mrs. Post: As a friendly gesture, we called on some new neighbors. They returned our call. Since that time they have invited a few of us together who called on them for cocktails. We found we had little in common with them and didn't care to encourage further friendship.

"We ourselves are now giving a large cocktail party and having all our friends and most of our neighbors. Can we ignore the new ones?"

Answer: Not possibly without deeply offending them. If it were a small party you could omit them, but not a large general party. In the future you can always have another engagement when they invite you to their house and you need not invite them again.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am always in doubt as to how to address a letter to my widowed aunt. Though I know it is correct to address her Mrs. John Doe, she goes by the name of Mrs. Mary Doe.

Answer: If you know that she wishes to be known and addressed as Mrs. Mary Doe you should do as she wishes even though it is not correct.

What Young People Think

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Our latest survey, in which we questioned 604 teenagers, reveals that they try to give up rich desserts or cut out sweets to lose extra pounds.

If they find complete resistance impossible, then the boys and girls reserve their favorite desserts or other fattening foods for special occasions.

For example, 58 per cent of the young people questioned say they have dieted. More than 26 per cent say they are overweight, while only 1 per cent are underweight. The remainder say they have no weight problem. About 80 per cent say their friends are very weight conscious.

DIETING A NEW TREND

When we took a similar survey two years ago, the teenagers seemed less concerned with weight. The boys were mainly conerned with building muscles.

Now, however, the emphasis among boys and girls is a real aversion to being fat or having bad skin which can come from an improper diet.

"I don't like to be called a cigarette—round and firm and fully packed," says 16-year-old Nell Preble of New Orleans, explaining why she diets.

"When I was younger I was fat, and I had to diet because I was sick of feeling like a horse," says 15-year-old Jane Jensen of Hartford, Conn.

More than 50 per cent of the youngsters say they stop to count the calories in their favorite desert. Of that 50 per cent, about half say guilt feelings prevent them from taking the first bit. But the other half say they go right ahead and eat it.

RECITES JINGLE

Stanley Rouk, a 15-year-old St. Louis boy, says he likes to eat and has no particular weight problem. "The only thing I worry about when I eat my favorite dessert," says Stanley, "is the way my face might look when I get done."

NO WILL POWER

And then there are those who can't lick temptation. "With those rich foods in front of me, I can't turn them down," says Dick Stabile, 17, of Dallas.

We also asked what diets the young people follow. About a quarter of them say they follow doctors' orders. About 17 per cent refrain from chocolates and sweets, while more than 16 per cent cut out sweets and starches.

Some say they can beat the weight problem by laying off between-meal snacks. Others admit they don't have the will power to diet.

If they should try, about 2 per cent say, their diet would be erratic—starving one day and overeating the next.

The favorite date-ending snack these days is that old standby, hamburger and pop. But pizza pies follow closely. Other late evening favorites are shrimpburgers, french fries, milk shakes, and just plain hamburgers.

The most popular after-school snack is a soft drink. Potato chips and ice cream also are in demand. Some say they are so hungry after school they will eat anything edible.

Almost 90 per cent of the youngsters questioned say there is nothing new in foods with them this year. However, pizzas are new to 4 per cent and another interesting new item is listed by more than 2 per cent: Low calorie soft drinks.

Grampian Mt. Holds Ski Meet

On the Ski Slope

Ski Pro at Mt. Grampian Explains Wendeln Style

(For the past three years Gerry Monod, ski pro at Mt. Grampian, has spent some time in St. Christof, Austria, perfecting the new Wedeln ski technique under the direction of Prof. Kruckenhauser, founder of the system. The system has been in existence about five years and just recently has started to make its appearance in the United States. Monod explains this new technique in skiing.)

By GERRY MONOD
Grampian Mt. Ski Pro

This new technique consists in a rotative motion of the legs that changes the direction of the skis, provoking at the same time a reaction of the upper parts of the body.

This position, seemingly contorted (comma) of reverse shoulder, is the result of turning movements below the waist, a natural reaction to the basic turning movements of the legs.

★ ★ ★

The skier's center of gravity stays close to the line of the course while the skies sweep laterally across it.

There seems to be no beginning or end to any one turn. The skier is always in a turn, however slight, even when he appears to be moving straight ahead, always maintaining the continuous rhythm of the turns.

★ ★ ★

All in all this technique is characterized by a great economy of motion, effortless simplicity and it may be adopted by all to great advantages.

State Ski Calendar

Jan. 30: Grampian Downhill Races, Mt. Grampian.

Feb. 1: Petoskey Winter Carnival, Petoskey.

Jan. 31-Feb. 1: Caberfae Junior Ski Meet, Cadillac.

Feb. 1-8: Annual Ski Jumping Meet, Mesick.

Feb. 2-15: Gogebic Range Ski Jumping Meet, Ironwood.

AWAITS OLYMPICS — Nora Foley, University of Wisconsin freshman from Houghton, Mich., will make a strong bid for the U. S. Olympic ski team. She won many top national honors in 1957 and 1958 and wants to take part in the 1960 Olympics at Squaw Valley in California.

Second Annual Slalom Races Friday Night

Competition in Open Divisions for Women and Men

The second annual Slalom races take place Friday evening at Mt. Grampian with 12 trophy awards to be made in various events.

The big award will be the challenge cup which goes to the skier who wins the championship in three successive years or any four times not in succession.

One event is the open ski patrol race, with members of area patrols eligible without distinction to any given ski club or area.

There will be competition in Senior Men's Class A and Class B, and the Ladies Open.

★ ★ ★

All slalom skiers are eligible to enter the races. Mt. Grampian pro Gerry Monod will set the course, and he promises that it won't be too easy.

"I do not believe the slalom course should be made too easy," said Monod, "a true slalom champion should earn his title on a tough enough course."

The races at Mt. Grampian will begin at 7 p. m. Friday and the slope is easily reached on M-24 to Oxford with a right turn on Lakeville Road. Directional signs are easily visible.

Too Much Snow for Skiers? Yep

Caberfae officials said several Chicago Ski Clubs and other groups that planned to visit Caberfae last weekend cancelled their trips because of hazardous road conditions caused by heavy snow.

As a result, Caberfae attendance last weekend was 3,556 skiers compared to 4,864 during the same weekend a year ago. So far this year, Caberfae has issued more than 30,000 ski tow tickets.

Jet Skis May Get Tested in Austria

KITZBUEHEL, Austria (UP)—The controversial jet skis may be tried for the first time in actual competition this week end and that could lead to their use in the 1960 Winter Games in Squaw Valley, Calif.

The Jets are produced by a local ski manufacturer. They are about 10 to 13 inches longer than a normal downhill ski and considerably heavier. In front of the binding they have a funnel-like air intake through which air is pressured to the sole of the ski. This reduces friction and thus makes for greater speed.

The new type of ski is currently in the center of a hot controversy. It began after the Lauberhorn races at Wengen, Switzerland, two weeks ago when it was claimed that Austrian aces Karl Schranz and Anderl Molterer placed first and second in the downhill because they used jets.

This was denied by the Austrian Skiing Assn. It said Schranz and Molterer used skis with two grooves on the sole, a type in use for several years.

But the controversy persisted and reached a climax last week end prior to the Hahnenkamm races. Subsequently, Friedl Pfeiffer, coach of the Austrian Skiing Assn., banned the use of the jets by the Austrians until they were available to competitors from all nations.

Pfeiffer's ban meant that jet skiis will not be used in international downhill races before next season, which will be climaxed by the Squaw Valley Games in California.

The first indication of whether the Jets actually are faster may come during the Tyrolian Alpine Championships near Innsbruck, Austria, Friday and Saturday. All types of skis are permitted in those races.

Pfeiffer insists, "There is nothing in the international rules describing a ski. You could tie frying pans with long handles to your boots and still be admittted to a race. But aero-dynamics experts have told me the jet skis could not increase speeds much."

★ ★ ★

The ski manufacturer insists that the jets increase speed and adds that several foreign ski aces already have approached him for a pair.

Skiing on Upgrade at Michigan Sites

BAY CITY, Mich. (UPI) — The East Michigan Tourist Association said today a survey of 18 winter sports parks in its area showed a 33 1-3 per cent increase in the number of skiers this winter compared with last winter.

The association said some parks showed increases up to 100 per cent and none of those polled reported decreases in attendance.

John Hagerman, manager of the Houghton Lake Snow Bowl, said 1958-59 attendance has already exceeded total attendance of last winter.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Carl Rauch of Cheboygan, director of the Black Mountain Ski Area between Cheboygan-Onaway-Rogers City, said attendance is up 50 per cent.

Caberfae Hosts Junior Skiers

CADILLAC (UPI)—Caberfae Ski Club will be the scene of the Junior Ski meet this weekend, playing host to young skiers from throughout Michigan, Northern Indiana and Illinois.

Youngsters will compete in separate events in four age groups from 11 to 17.

Saturday all ages will compete in the downhill races and later the 14-15 and 16-17 groups will run a cross country course.

M.Sgt. George Boley is rifle coach at the Air Force Academy.

A LITTLE OFF BALANCE

Big Task for Packer Coach

Lombardi Takes Green Bay Job as 'Challenge'

Ex - Giants' Assistant Will Also Be General Manager of Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Husky Vince Lombardi has shouldered the many burdens of the Green Bay Packers and describes as a challenge his assignment to hoist them out of the last place in the National Football League.

The 45-year-old Lombardi, offensive strategist and backfield assistant of the New York Giants, was hired yesterday as head coach and general manager.

"I'm looking forward to the challenge," said Lombardi in New York. "I know the Packers have a nucleus of good veteran players. I intend to build around this nucleus."

The Packers, playing in the smallest city in the strong NFL, have been in trouble for the past 10 years and plunged to the bottom of the pile in 1958, finishing last in the Western Conference. Their single victory and a tie in 12 league games was the worst record in the club's 40-year history.

★ ★ ★

"I'm in the unique position of being very happy to have this opportunity and very sad to be leaving the Giants," said Lombardi.

He said he was given a five-year contract but refused to reveal his salary. The Packers also declined to discuss terms. Liz Blackbourn, who guided Green Bay in 1957, was paid $25,000 only for coaching.

★ ★ ★

Vern Lewellen, general manager for the last five years, said he is a candidate for the post of business manager. But reports indicated that Jack Vainisi, the Packers' chief scout, would get the post.

Lombardi must also line up a staff of assistants but said so far he has not made any plans for filling the jobs.

SPORTS

Same Policies Set for 1959

Bootleg TV Did Not Hurt Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions have found that bootleg television from stations in Lansing and Flint did no damage in 1958 and the club will continue the same TV policy next season.

All Detroit Lions' games are televised but the home contests are blacked out within a 75-mile radius of Detroit.

Many viewers in the Detroit metropolitan area were able to receive telecasts of home games last season from stations WJIM-TV in Lansing and WJR-TV in Flint. Some of them erected special and elaborate antennas but some boasted they could get reception without taking special measures.

Many bars and clubs advertised "See ALL Lions games here." Edwin J. Anderson, president-general manager of the Detroit Football Co., ordered an independent survey of bootleg TV on the game last Nov. 16 in Detroit between the San Francisco 49ers and the Lions.

The information was compiled and analyzed and sent to Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League. Although transmitters of both stations are in excess of 75 miles from Detroit, the NFL says its rules empower Bell, or the Lions, to take the televising of Detroit home games away from these two stations.

But Anderson said today:

"It is not now a disturbing factor. There is no cause for great concern at this time. Perhaps later the situation might warrant another look."

★ ★ ★

Anderson said the survey showed that:

Only 9.1 per cent of the TV homes in the Detroit area can receive the games from the Lansing and Flint stations, and that only 22 per cent of this number reported good reception.

Of the 9.1 per cent, 32.2 per cent must have special equipment at an average cost per home of $35.35.

Of the 74 bars that advertised "see all Lions games here," only 57 had their sets tuned into the game, and less than one-half of this number were receiving a good picture. All but two of the bars had special equipment at an average cost of $105.

After conferring with Bell, Anderson made the decision to continue the same television policy as before.

When it became known the Lions were undertaking such a survey last fall, there was considerable reaction—much of it unfavorable—but the Lions' president said at the time he was merely seeking information and that he would be guided by the survey's results.

The Lions' home attendance fell off for the last two games of the 1958 campaign. The club obviously feels the drop was due more to a poor team and bad weather than to bootleg television cutting into the gate receipts.

Senator for Limit to TV Games

Wants to Protect Minors

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Kenneth Keating (R-NY) predicted today that minor league baseball is doomed unless Congress authorizes agreements to limit telecasting of major league games.

Keating expressed confidence, however, that Congress will grant this authority by enacting legislation that would exempt professional team sports from federal antitrust laws.

Under the bill, of which Keating is a major sponsor, antitrust laws could not be invoked against baseball league agreements prohibiting telecasts within 75 miles of home clubs on game days.

Keating, in a talk prepared for the antitrust section of the New York State Bar Assn., said his bill would "give the minor leagues the protection they desperately need without imposing an unreasonable blackout on the entire country."

Noting the mounting decline in the number of minor league clubs and minor league attendance in the last 10 years, Keating said:

★ ★ ★

"It is not an exaggeration to say that the failure of Congress to provide authority under which the broadcasting of major league games can be limited could spell the end of the minors."

Keating's bill and companion legislation in the House would apply to professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

Hawks Defeat Rangers Again

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks, who are upsetting all pre-season calculations in the National Hockey League, again are in second place alone today chiefly because they have defeated the New York Rangers in key games.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks thumped the Rangers' 7-1 on the New Yorkers' successful road trip and last night, with second place at stake, they repeated the triumph with a 3-1 decision on Madison Square Garden ice. The victory gave the Hawks a two-point margin over the Rangers.

In 10 clashes with New York, the Chicago sextet has won four and tied three.

It happened last night when the Russians walloped the Americans 62-37 in the game that generally was expected to decide the championship of the World Amateur Basketball tourney.

Cubs' Profits Were Increased in 1958

The earnings were announced at the club's annual stockholders' meeting yesterday. In 1957 Cubs were a mere $357 ahead.

An increase of 309,000 in home attendance largely was responsible for the profit rise. The turnstiles clicked to the tune of 979,000 as the Cubs wound up in a tie for fifth place, their highest finish since 1952.

'D' American Race Tied

The Sporting Goods quintet pulled into a 1st place tie with the Royals last night by defeating the Boys Club, 40-36, at Jefferson Junior High. The two front-runners now have 6-1 records.

Dave Jones was almost a one-man show as he collected 19 points to pace the Welden victory. Gene Gidcumbe led the Boys Club with 14.

In "D" National division action, Don Smith's 13 points helped Eastside Shopping nose out Coca Cola, 40-38. Chuck Kimbrell of Coca Cola took scoring honors with 16. The win boosted Eastside's loop lead to half a game.

Griff's Grill kept on the heels of pace-setting Booth Homes in the Class B League with a 60-56 triumph over Glenn's Motor Sales. Al Hart meshed 12 points to lead Griff's balanced attack, but scoring laurels went to Glenn's Dick Goldsworthy who netted 17.

Field's Landscape walloped winless Rex's Standard, 55-38, in the other game in the "B" circuit on the Pontiac Central court. Roger Nosek tallied 26 points for the winners.

PACKS FOR PACKERS — Vince Lombardi, backfield coach of the New York Giants, packs his gear to head for Green Bay, Wisconsin, where he will take over the head coaching job and the general manager's duties of the Packers. He succeeds Scooter McLean who is now assistant with the Lions.

Arthur Hill 'Jelling' for Game With Chiefs

Saginaw Arthur Hill's basketball team was not figured highly in pre-season ratings of the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Rival coaches, however, realized that if the Lumberjacks would start jelling as a unit by midseason, they could spell trouble for someone.

Last Tuesday night Arthur Hill looked like it had reached that "jelling" stage in beating favored Midland, 72-70, on the Midland court.

This might serve to indicate that Pontiac Central should be careful tomorrow night because the Lumberjacks will be aiming for the upset of the year.

Wright, a 6-3 center, gives Arthur Hill added height. He did not play in the first game when the Chiefs just got by with a 43-42 verdict in Saginaw.

In the past few games, Wright has been the big board man for the Lumberjacks, and he is considered the most improved player on the team.

Arthur Hill owns one victory in the league, that being a 61-56 decision over Bay City Central.

Amos Bailey, 6-1 sophomore, was chosen by Pontiac Central coach Art Van Ryzin to replace Charley Barge who graduated last week.

Bailey was in a starting role once before this year. Against Catholic Central in the second game of the season he was 2nd in scoring with 14 points and also did a good job rebounding.

★ ★ ★

"If we should run into trouble, we can use Bill Hayward at guard," said Van Ryzin, "and this would give us some height with George Fed at center and Harrison Munson at forward."

"This Arthur Hill team has had a lot of tough luck this year," Van Ryzin said. "They have lost several games in the late stages, just as they did against us."

Flint Central had to come from behind last week to take a 68-60 decision.

Pontiac Central, ranked as the number one team for the third straight week in Class A, will face Pontiac Northern in the first intracity rivalry on the PNH court next Tuesday.

Foytack, Veal Sign Contracts

DETROIT (AP)—Pitcher Paul Foytack and shortstop Inman (Coot) Veal have signed 1959 contracts with the Detroit Tigers in Rick Ferrell's first official acts as general manager.

Ferrell brought them to terms yesterday, boosting the number of signed Tigers to 10.

Foytack, a veteran right-handed fastballer, equalled his best major league season of 1956 last year with a 15-13 record. Veal hit .256 in 58 games in 1958 after the Tigers brought him up from the minors at mid-season.

John McHale, who resigned as Detroit general manager Sunday to take a similar post with the Milwaukee Braves, signed eight Tigers to contracts before he left.

Brown Coach May Try Colgate

PROVIDENCE R.I. (AP)—Football coach Alva Kelley was expected today to make a big decision — whether to stick with Brown or move on to Colgate.

★ ★ ★

Kelley, a veteran of eight years with Brown in the Ivy League, scheduled a meeting with Athletic Director Paul MacKesey after returning from a visit to Colgate.

★ ★ ★

It was reported that Brown would attempt to retain Kelley by offering him a new five-year contract. His present agreement runs through 1960, with an annual salary estimated at $11,500.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Best description given to Nick Kerbawy has been "Bill Veeck with a necktie."

The popular general manager of the Detroit Pistons keeps a dining itinerary which would make an amateur out of Duncan Hines, the food connoisseur; and he has an agenda of promitions linked with the Pistons which would put even Veeck in runnerup position.

Of course Kerbawy isn't trying to give Hines competition, he's been on the road "exposing" professional basketball to the public and the luncheons and dinners are merely the courtesies extended to him as a guest speaker.

Kerbawy says he's "convinced pro basketball will follow the same success as pro football and Detroit will become one of the top cities in the NBA."

"When I joined the Lions, we were selling 1,800 season tickets in 1948," he said, "the fever pitch was not always so strong in pro football."

"For pro basketball in Detroit, we must have the exposure of the game to make friends and we must have a few champions. These are the same ingredients we had to have for pro football, ten years ago," he added.

He pointed out that in 1948, "loyalty toward collegiate football was impregnable, and there was a cursory attitude toward the pro game."

"You didn't have to buy a season ticket to get the choice seats, you could get good tickets at the stadium windows," he said.

"Even then I warned many of our individual game buyers they would be wise to put aside their seats on reserved season ticket plans," he explained, "but many ignored the warning and when season sales went from 10 to 20 and up to 40,000, these same people blew their tops because choice seats were gone."

Kerbawy doesn't have to sell 40,000 seats for the Pistons' games. There are only 13,000 seats to be had at the Olympia.

The National Basketball Association has just moved into its "teens", being in its 13th year of existence, but Kerbawy insists that within three or four years the game will have been "exposed" and accepted" by the fans.

Right now Nick has used 15 different promotional gimmicks to get the fans to Olympia. "Exposure" is being primarily directed at the younger set.

Letter writing contests, prize giveaways, pony awards, family nights, high school team cut-rates and many others are among promotions used in the past year.

"These programs will remain as long as I do," said Kerbawy, "because these people will become the loyal fans when they learn to understand the game, and they will deserve these programs even when tickets become scarce."

Just as a passing thought, wouldn't it be something if Veeck was with the Tigers? What a summer-winter (Veeck-Kerbawy) program of promotions we would see!

'Airplane' League Still Just in Talking Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — The much-discussed national college football conference remained today exactly where it always was—in the talking stage.

California's athletic director Greg Englehard sounded the keynote for the 12 schools reportedly involved when he said the idea was promising "but nebulous."

Ed Krause, Notre Dame's athletic director, backed him up.

"All such plans are definitely premature," he said. "The idea was simply in the discussion stage and no one made any commitments at all. Our policy always has been not to join any conference of any type. We haven't even talked to our (athletic) board about it."

However, he admitted Notre Dame would find it advantageous to join such a conference, if it is formed, for most of the members are regular opponents of the Irish.

An article in the current issue of Sports Illustrated said plans crystalized earlier this month at the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s convention in Cincinnati.

The conference would have an eastern division comprising Army, Navy, Pitt, Notre Dame, Syracuse and Penn State; and a Western with Southern California, UCLA, California, Washington, Air Force and perhaps Stanford.

Those involved have called the proposal alliance an "airplane" conference. Each team would play four games with its division and one in the other loop, extending rivalries on a trans-continental basis.

Col. George Simler, Air Force Academy director of Athletics said his school was interested.

"But I think it should be understood that the proposals are only in the preliminary stage," he said.

Distance is seen as the biggest obstacle. Englehard cited the fact, that while football teams can overcome this on their once-a-week schedule, the conference will probably blossom into other sports where long-distance travel for a short period is unprofitable.

Scheduling within the proposed conference probably could not begin until 1964 or 1965, because of current commitments. Also to be settled is the question of recruiting, scholarships and eligibility rules.

Unhappy Over Play in Seniors

Watrous Tries Luck Today

Special to The Pontiac Press

The 49-year-old Watrous, three times a winner of this tournament, put together a 39-38—77 in Tuesday's opening round of the 20th annual event.

Watrous was at a loss to explain his unimpressive five-over par performance.

"I can't understand it," lamented the Oakland Hills professional. "I've been practicing and practicing, but I just can't seem to get in the groove—especially when I'm putting."

Watrous was idle Wednesday as the 50-54 age group took charge of the PGA National course. Watrous enters his 2nd round of action today.

The 50-54 brigade set a sizzling pace yesterday. Topping the field was Jack Isaacs of Langley Field (Va.) Air Force Base with a six-under-par 66, one stroke better than the total of tourney-seasoned Dick Metz of Fort Worth, Tex.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend, the Pittsburgh Pirates ace right-hander, today returned his signed 1959 contract. He is the 15th Pirate player to sign. Friend posted a 22-14 chart last year to tie Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves for the most victories in the National League.

Yankee Plans Golf Clinics

Indianwood's New Pro Enterprising Gentleman

By BILL CORNWELL

Husky Ralph Yankee is an enterprising gentleman and he has some ambitious plans to boost the stock of Indianwood Country Club.

Ralph's interest in Indianwood is simple indeed. He's the new head golf professional at the private club near Lake Orion and he wants to do his level best to make it an even better course than it is already.

Yanke was named pro of the rolling layout a week ago today and he paid a visit to the Press sports department to drop a hint or two of his future intentions.

One idea going through Yankee's mind is the formation of instructional golf clinics for youngsters at the club during the week.

"I think that golf lessons for younger people on weekdays would create more interest in Indianwood and stimulate an increase in membership," Yankee said.

"Indianwood is a wonderful golf course, but there is very little activity there during the week. Many of the present members are unable to play much on weekdays and have to crowd their golfing into the weekends," he stated.

"Compared to a few other clubs in this area, Indianwood is not really expensive to join," Yankee claimed, "and a little golf instruction for the younger set plus some actual playing of the game would help boost weekday activity and possibly boost the membership."

Yankee, 37 years old and a resident of Birmingham, is not a big name pro like his predecessor, Mike Dietz. Dietz, former Michigan Open champion, resigned from Indianwood last fall to return to the pro tour where he is well known.

Yankee's greatest tournament success came in 1951 when he won the Southern California PGA and placed 2nd in the Montebello Open.

Yankee is busily looking for an assistant pro to aid him in his duties at Indianwood this year. He has a couple of candidates in mind, but as yet no one has been signed.

Michigan Back From Layoff, Wins 68-63

Big Ten Point Race Close

Minnesota's Ron Johnson has moved from fourth to first with a 22.3 average, official statistics showed today. M. C. Burton of Michigan, last week's leader, dropped to second with 22.2 and Iowa's Dave Gunther is third with 22.0.

Following the hot-shooting trio are John Tidwell, Michigan, with 20.5; John Green, Michigan State, 20.4; and Clarence Wordlaw, Iowa, 20.3.

Burton is the top rebounder with a 16.9 percentage. Johnson and Horace Walker of Michigan State are next, each with 15.1.

Frank Radovich of Indiana, who is averaging 16.2 points, has the best field goal accuracy, hitting 35 of 65 shots for .538.

Michigan State, gaining the lead in the title scramble, heads the backboard department by capturing 59.7 per cent of all rebounds in its five league games. Purdue is second with 53.6.

Illinois tops field goal percentages with .419. Foul line accuracy is headed by Ohio State by hitting .695 per cent of its free throws. Next are Michigan with .691 and Minnesota with .690.

Illinois continues to lead in team scoring with a game average of 85.4 points. Minnesota has held opponents to the fewest points, an average of 68.3.

In the only game last night, the experiment of scheduling a basketball tuneup for Michigan in the middle of examinations almost backfired.

The Wolverines sputtered and stalled and were fortunate to pull out a 68-63 victory over Washington of St. Louis.

The final results of coach Bill Perigo's test won't be determined until Saturday. The second-place Wolverines return to big ten action against Iowa at Iowa City.

Michigan was rusty—as usual—after its 16-day exam-enforced layoff last night. Perigo, remembering how good conference starts were transformed into so-so seasons after exams, planned the Washington game with a purpose. He wanted to keep abreast of Michigan's Big Ten foes.

"We played badly but that could be expected. We were mentally tired and nothing would go. They could use some rest now but some of them still have exams today."

The Wolverines were dazed in the first half and permitted the weak Washington five to open a 31-24 lead. Michigan managed to overtake the Bears at intermisssion. But still the Wolverines had to stall in the final 50 seconds to win their 10th game against two losses.

Burton and Tidwell shed some of their rustiness in the second half. They led Michigan to victory with 22 points each.

Thumb Semifinals Friday

Capac, Anchor Bay Win

Anchor Bay and Capac won their way into the Southern Thumb tournament semifinals scheduled for tomorrow night at Dryden with victories at Anchor Bay last night.

The host team led all the way in downing Memphis 46-35 and then Capac, down 11-8 after one period, bounced back to eliminate Armada, 46-39.

A big 2nd quarter gave Anchor Bay a cushion as Memphis was hindered by the early departure of playmaker John Barber. The team's best ballhandler sat out most of the game with four fouls. Dick Burr hooped 16 to pace the victors. Barry Falter had 10 in defeat.

Capac broke up a tight struggle with a 14-5 3rd period edge. The game was won on the foul line as Armada made four more field goals. Capac converted 20 of 29 free throws. John Kersten tallied 17 and Bill Abraham 16 for Capac. Terry Willis bettered both with 20 for Armada.

A Friday doubleheader will have Capac vs Anchor Bay and Almont against New Haven. The losers will meet for consolation honors and the winners will vie for the title in a Saturday twin-bill at Armada.

Tiger Jones Gains Nod Over Giardello

LOUISVILLE Ky. (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, the nation's 10th-ranked middleweight, avenged two previous losses with a split decision over Joey Giardello in a 10-round fight last night.

Class A or B Rochester at L'Anse Creuse Friday

Unbeaten Falcons Seek 9th

BY CHUCK ABAIR

While the pollsters ponder from week to week what class they should be rated in, the Rochester High cagers just keep on rolling up victories.

Rochester plays a predominantly Class B schedule so most observers feel Gene Konley's quintet should be ranked that way even though school officials were notified early in the hoop season by the Michigan High School Athletic Association that the Falcons are now listed in Class A.

Where Rochester had been figured to go a long way in the lower class when the state games come along, now the Blue and White must enter the "A" district at Southfield. Powerful Pontiac Central, Livonia Bentley and Southfield will be amoung the teams competing there.

So some hopes have been dimmed.

Meanwhile, Konley and his well-balanced squad are trying to take the rough blow in stride. They are eying a repeat as Tri-County League champion and will be 3-0 with a win tomorrow.

The Falcons have been scoring at a 54.6 per game clip while allowing opponents just 41. They have topped 70 twice and 50 four times led by center Gene Lothery, who averages 14 per start. Four foes have been held to 35 or less points.

Romeo will be at Lapeer in the other Tri-County contest Friday in their first of two meetings which will decide the top contender to Rochester.

Avondale will be gunning for its 3rd straight and 4th Oakland win overall at Clawson, Lake Orion attempts to dump Troy from the unbeaten ranks and Madison is at Fitzgerald in the Oakland B. Avondale and Troy both hold wins over Friday's foes while Madison will be after revenge.

Other games tomorrow will have Madison Lamphere visiting Lutheran East and Country Day at Clintondale in the Central Suburban loop, Monroe at Royal Oak Dondero in the Border Cities, Utica guest of South Lake in the Bi-County and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrow entertaining Wayne St. Mary.

BIG FALCONS—Gene Lothery, left, and Bill Mason are among the big guns who have paced the Rochester Falcons to an unbeaten record for eight games. Center Lothery leads the scoring with a 14 per game average. Mason excels as a set shot artist and playmaker. Rochester plays at L'Anse Creuse tomorrow night.

Palmer Favored at San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Young Arnold Palmer stood out today as the logical choice to win the $20,000 San Diego Open as a field of about 150 professionals set forth in the first round of the tournament.

Palmer won the event the last time it was played—1957 — and goes into this edition fresh from a sparkling victory in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational at Palm Springs last Sunday.

The event, now back on the PGA winter tournament schedule, is being played on the Mission Valley Country Club course. It is an expansive layout, stretching 7,000 yards or more and is a haven for the long-ball golfers such as Paul Harney or George Bayer. Par is 36-36-72.

Waterford, Vikings in Home Mat Meets

The Skippers, fresh from a win over Walled Lake, host Southfield. Farmington will be at Walled Lake. Another county match will have powerful Hazel Park at home against East Detroit.

Catholic Central Host to Huskies Tomorrow Night

Waterford Stays Home for Inter-Lakes Game With Southfield

By BILL CORNWELL

Victories on the basketball court this season have been as scarce as hen's teeth for Pontiac Northern and Waterford.

The two local high schools have frequently swallowed the bitter pill of defeat and their immediate future holds little promise of anything better.

Together, the Huskies and the Skippers have tasted victory only four times in 13 games. Northern's over-all record is 2-5 while Waterford stands 2-6.

Both teams will be underdogs tomorrow, evening with Waterford's chance to spring an upset looking much greater than Northern's.

Victory has been particularly elusive for coach Gerry Wallace and his Skippers, who are now tied with Van Dyke Lincoln for the Inter-Lakes basement on a 1-4 mark.

The Skippers never seem to have quite enough gas in the clutch. Their four league defeats have been lost by a combined total of just seven points. A one-point win over Farmington, 49-48, has been their sole loop success.

Friday's foe, Southfield, dealt them a 47-46 setback in their 1st match at Southfield. When the Skippers finally did cut loose, they really went wild with an 80-57 non-conference rout of Northern for their other triumph.

Waterford may be due for another scoring outbreak and Wallace hopes this is the time. If the Skippers can stick together for a full 32 minutes, the Jays will have a fight on their hands.

A glance beyond the Catholic Central contest doesn't cheer the Huskies one bit. Next Tuesday night on their own court they collide with Pontiac Central, the state's No. 1 Class A team, in the 1st cage meeting between the two city rivals.

In addition to the Waterford-Southfield struggle, Walled Lake and Farmington meet on the Walled Lake floor while undefeated Berkley, running away from the field in its bid for a 4th straight I-L crown, tackles departing loop member Lincoln at Van Dyke.

Birmingham seeks to pull even at 3-3 in the Eastern Michigan League when the Maples play host to winless Royal Oak Kimball. Ferndale, unbeaten in five league starts, faces dangerous Mt. Clemens on the road and East Detroit greets Port Huron to complete Friday's EML slate.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS
HERMOSILLO, Mexico — Lauro Salas, 129, Los Angeles, knocked out Chango Ceballos, 130, Hermosillo, 6.

'M' Host to AAU Meet

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Nearly 500 athletes will compete Saturday in the annual Michigan AAU track and field program in Yost Fieldhouse.

The entries include Tom Robinson, the British Empire champion who recently set an American indoor record in the 220-yard dash; Crawford Kennedy, Michigan State's cross country champion and distance star; Dan Ryan, a 4:15 miler from Western Illinois and Eeles Landstrom, Michigan pole vault ace who holds the European title.

Preliminaries will be held in the afternoon, along with finals in the novice, 600, 880 and mile events. The rest of the program will open with field events at 6:30 p.m., and opening running races are to start 45 minutes later.

One of the state's top products, hurdler-dashman Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan College, will be competing along with half-miler Willie Atterbury of Michigan State, miler Art Eversole of Western Michigan and Dave Mills, Purdue freshman and national interscholastic 440-yard record holder.

Seniors Tee Off Today in Annual Georgia Meet

The favorite is J. Walcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., who has won two major seniors tournaments this year and was the champ here two years ago.

Today's play is best ball. Tomorrow's and Saturday's will be medal ply.

Top Players Slated for Badminton Meet

DETROIT (AP)—Six of the world's top badminton players have been invited to compete in the National Open Championships in Detroit this April.

Included in the group is Tan Joe Hoek (pronounced Tan-Yo-Hook) of Indonesia, rated as the world's No. 1 player. His doubles partner, Lim Soy Hup (Limb-Soy-Hoop) also has been invited.

Teh Kew San (Tay-Kew-Sahn), the top Malayan player, and the top ranking players from Thailand, Charoen Wattanasin (Karen Wat-Tan'-Isen) and Direg Kojobbai (Direg Koyoby) also have received invitations.

PNH Match Canceled

Due to a mixup in scheduling, Pontiac Northern has been forced to cancel a home wrestling match slated for tomorrow night against Dearborn. The Huskies get back into action here Feb. 3 against Fitzgerald.

DID YOU KNOW? That Monroe Moore of Auburn Lanes, new leader of the Central States "prestige" tourney at Cleveland, uses a ball with two complete grips—two thumb holes and four finger holes.

That Bill Kuklinski's opening "Beat the Pro" program was a big success. A large crowd attended both the afternoon and night sessions. Don Carter may follow next month and Marion Ladewig in March.

That Shaw's and Dishmaster set a record for splits recently in the Ladies All-Star League with 58 even though newcomer Anne Sherby picked up a 6-7-10 combination. The first three Elks teams to compete in the men's tourney at Ann Arbor two weeks ago were sidelined quickly by split trouble.

That Motor Inn proprietor Lou Koprince will be foreman of a Pontiac squad in the annual Greater Detroit Bowling Association event starting in April. Joe Bonfiglio of Huron Bowl may also head a group.

That the Fairgrounds alleys in Milford have a tournament coming up featuring many local keglers. The state women's battles start Saturday at Grand Rapids.

That every member of the Montcalm Centre team in the Huron Classic has reached the 10th frame once this season needing just three more strikes for a 300. Max Bottom started it with nine straight strikes and a 278, Ron Rothbarth fired 11 straight en route to a 299, George Chicovsky got 10 in a row finishing with 288, Les Putti also got 10 for 289 and Lisle Hook garnered 11 to total 298.

That high school students living in Independence Township have formed a keg league. Eight 4-member teams compete each Thursday. The championship team and the boy and girl increasing their averages the most will receive trophies following the season.

Over Forty Members in Club; Bill Bull Is Named President

With more than 40 members already in the fold and a full slate of officers elected for the coming bowling season, Pontiac's newly born 700 Bowling Club is now a reality.

Members from Pontiac, Drayton Plains, Waterford, Clarkston, Milford, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Holly, Auburn Heights, Lake Orion and even Detroit are included in the new Chapter No. 31 of the 700 Bowling Clubs of America.

Chosen to office were Bill Bull, president, Jay Lovett, vice president, Lou Koprince, treasurer, Clark Balch, secretary; Jim Walker, sergeant-at-arms, and Paul Karas, honorary king.

Bull is the dean of the club with a total of 19 sanctioned 700 sets, while Karas, oldest active league bowler at 64, recently shot a 752 series to become eligible for membership.

Three More Hit 700 in Classic Leagues

Monroe Moore, who hit 687 at West Side, topped the group at Huron with a 714 as Ted Sutton and Bill Bull paced Calbi into 1st with 650 and 645. Paul George rolled 656.

There were 66 games over 200 and 15 series of 600 or better at West Side. Sam Perna headed the pack with 712. Jim Walker hit the high game of 277 on his way to a 701.

Hollywood Headlines

Role of Mrs. Phil Harris Suits Alice Faye Fine

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Miss acting? Not on your life. I've never been happier than since I quit."

This was mellow-voiced Alice Faye speaking. Thirteen years ago she turned her back on a career as one of the screen's brightest stars.

"I was never really wild for a career," she explains. "I didn't mind it when I was working because there was a nice 'gang of people at Fox.

"But after I married Phil (Harris), it became a rat race. When I wasn't working, he'd be out on the road with his band. When he came back, I'd be making a picture. We couldn't go out at night because I had to get up early to go to the studio."

Though she was famed as a musical star, her last film, "Fallen Angel," was a drama. "I had some great scenes in it," she said, "but they ended up on the cutting room floor. That was when they were building up Linda Darnell, and they threw the picture to her."

★ ★ ★

Alice had long been unhappy with the studio boss. So she quit. At first, she and Phil did a family radio series. Then she retired altogether to become Mrs. Phil Harris and mother of their daughters, now a couple of beauties of 16 and 14.

The Harrises live most of the year at Palm Springs. The desert life appears to agree with Alice, still as lovely as her movie days.

"I never get bored," she said. "There's too much to do. I play a lot of golf, and I swim. I've started painting; one of my classmates at the lessons is Billie Dove. I paint a pretty good sky.

★ ★ ★

"We have day help, but I do all the cooking. Im a pretty good cook, too. Phil also cooks, and he's even better than I am. Those ham hocks and turnip greens are real good, once you get used to them."

★ ★ ★

Next Friday she appears on an NBC spectacular starring Phil, Betty Hutton and Dean Martin. Alice was a bit uneasy about the show but she's getting used to it now. I hinted that she might even like it enough to make it a habit.

Th highest temperature ever recorded in the U.S. was 134 degrees in Death Valley, Calif., on July 10, 1913.

Fay Spain and Painter, John Altoon, Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie actress Fay Spain and John Altoon, painter and illustrator, will be married Friday in Hollywood Unitarian Church.

Miss Spain, 26, and Altoon, 33, obtained a license Wednesday. This will be Altoons first marriage. Miss Spain formerly was married to John Falvo, screen writer.

Something New in Horror Films Opens at Strand

The Strand Theater is bringing in a new and unusual motion picture known as "House on Haunted Hill." Starring Vincent Price, it is scheduled to open in Pontiac tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

In connection with the showing of this picture, a crew of Hollywood technicians is being sent in to install a new ingredient called "Emergo," which is an amazing electronic process used exclusively with "House on Haunted Hill" and will be used only during the showing of this picture.

★ ★ ★

The first professional book for teachers, published in 1829, was called "Lectures on Schoolkeeping."

Has Bountiful Natural Resources

Soviet Set to Wage Economic War

By RAY SHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In just 11 years, the Soviet Union expects to surpass the United States in industrial production.

To succeed, some important "ifs" must be realized:

—There must be an ample manpower supply.

—Raw materials must be developed.

One important factor definitely is in Russia's favor: She has bountiful natural and mineral resources with which to wage her fight for economic supremacy.

In terms of raw materials, the Soviet Union may be the richest nation in the world. Many economists already rate her as the most self-sufficient.

Russia claims these shares of the world's raw material: Iron ore, 41 per cent; manganese ore, 88 per cent; coal, 53 per cent; peat, 60 per cent; oil, 11 per cent, and 54 per cent of the world's combined reserves of copper, lead, zinc, nickel, bauxite tungsten, mercury, mica and potash salts.

There already is evidence the country is having difficulty finding iron ore that can be processed economically.

In 1957, the Russians said they increased their pig iron production by 1,223,000 tons over 1956, and produced 2,400,000 more tons of steel. Still they fell below the 1957 pig iron goal by more than a million tons, and were 500,000 tons under the steel goal.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev announced late last year that thousands of workers will be poured into Eastern Russia, Siberia, Kaakhatan and central Asia to spur the industrial drive.

While these under-developed areas are being readied, Russia still can call on her satellite countries for most resources she needs and cannot yet provide.

Red China has large supplies of tin, zinc and fluorspar, Poland and Bulgaria have zinc and Hungary has bauxite.

Russia's chemical production, now one-third the size of the United States, should see drastic increases under Khrushchev's industrial push.

With the strong raw materials base to work with, the Russians conceivably could overtake the United States' vast chemical industry. Unlike chemical plants in the United States, those in Russia are at full production.

Russia said it would invest 1.9 billion dollars this year in chemical plants, with most of it going into synthetic fiber, plastics and synthetic rubber plants.

The goals for the next 15 years set synthetic fiber production 460 per cent over the present output; plastics up 800 per cent and synthetic rubber up 340 per cent.

Petroleum and natural gas production and coal chemicals also are to be increased.

Success of this entire industrial drive will largely depend on whether Russia can market substantial amounts of its products in the free world.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines estimates Russia's foreign mineral trade was more than two billion dollars in 1956, but about 70 per cent of the exports and 80 per cent of the imports were with Communist countries.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets' announced hope of finding markets for many of its products in the United States is expected to have opposition from American manufacturers already concerned over Russia's growing commerce with other free countries.

Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy Soviet premier, talked up trade in his recent visit to the United States, but was rebuffed by the State Department.

Mikoyan asked for removal of controls imposed on commerce with Russia to prevent exporting of goods with war potential, urged equal treatment for Russia along with other countries with which the United States trades, and proposed long term credits.

Russia already has shown she can produce some products and sell them at lower prices than the United States.

Wins Diploma After 25 Years

Doctor Pays Deserving Tribute to Wife for Help During Struggle

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — It took 25 years of scrimping and an understanding wife for Dr. Darwin Rannels to realize his dream. But he never thought of turning back.

"I've always had a yearning for medicine, even in high school," said the 44-year-old "student" doctor and father of two.

Rannels will finish the three years of residency training required for certification as a specialist this year.

Then he will be ready to begin practice as an obstetrician.

Dr. Rannels has been "getting education as financial means permitted," and he's the first to admit that "it wouldn't have been possible without my wife."

When Rannels finished high school in Lancester County, Pa., in 1931, he began working as a day laborer for a farm contractor. Three years later, he got a job as an attendant at the Masonic Homes Hospital at Elizabethton, Pa.

"Ever since I got into hospital work I have desired nothing but bedside medicine—that is, working with the patient," he said.

In 1936, Rannels entered the School of Nursing for Men of Pennsylvania Hospital and after graduation became a registered graduate male nurse.

With his mustering out pay, after World War II, he enrolled at Temple University and then went on to graduate from Jefferson Medical College.

Now, after serving out his one-year internship and two years of residency training, the end is in sight for Dr. Rannels.

"I have an older brother, Herman, who has been practicing obstetrics since 1941," he said. "I guess that influenced me somewhat."

Was It Lights Out for the Snake, Too?

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — It wasn't a snake in the grass that disrupted power service to 30 customers of Butler Rural Electric Cooperative northwest of here. It was a snake in the sectionalizer.

That's a device on a power pole, and when the snake crawled up to it, the lights went out. No report whether it was lights out for the snake, too.

No law has ever been passed to designate how the stars in the American flag shall be arranged.

Short-Selling Sags Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices weakened again today under liberal short-selling in early activity on the board of trade. Dealers said there appeared to be no equalizing demand either through consumer buying or hedge lifting.

★ ★ ★

Wheat sagged major fractions of a cent a bushel in all contracts within a few minutes as Yugoslavia appeared to be the only buyer of consequence. It took 350,000 bushels of red wheat for shipment next month.

Other grains held within minor fractions of previous closes.

Wheat was 1/2 to 3/4 cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, March $1.97 1/4; corn 1/4 to 3/4 lower, March old-type contract $1.14; oats 1/8 to 3/8 lower, March 66 3/4, rye 3/8 to 1 cent lower, March $1.34 7/8; soybeans 3/8 to 1 1/8 lower, March $2.19 1/8.

Senate to Fight on Labor Bill

Kennedy Expects Try to Strip Taft-Hartley Changes From Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said Thursday the key fight over his labor control bill will come on a floor effort to strip from it all provisions affecting the Taft-Hartley Law.

He declined, in talking with a reporter, to predict how this might come out at this early stage of the proceedings.

The Labor subcommittee which Kennedy heads continues its public hearings today. Witnesses will be Archibald Cox of Harvard University, who helped draft the Kennedy bill; and Godfrey Schmidt of Fordham University.

These sources said privately that most Republican senators and many Southern Democrats probably would support such a move. Several of the provisions also are in the Eisenhower administration bill introduced Wednesday, but that measure also includes other proposed changes strongly opposed by labor.

★ ★ ★

The AFL-CIO made it clear Wednesday that it would strongly oppose cutting Taft-Hartley changes from the Kennedy bill.

Andrew J. Biemiller, director of the AFL-CIO department of legislation, said at one point his organization would not support the bill if this happened. But he later withdrew that statement.

Hospital Credit Union Re-Elects All Officers

At the union's sixth annual dinner meeting held at the Roosevelt Lodge, it was announced the organization has $406,000 in assets, and has paid dividends of 4 per cent and a 5 per cent interest rebate to borrowers.

Re-elected to the board of directors for three-year terms were Leon G. Reene, George E. Gleason and Hilliker.

Lyle B. Saum was elected to serve on the credit committee for three years, and Mrs. Norma J. Heaton was given a three-year post on the supervisory committee.

2 New York Papers Boost Cost Per Copy

NEW YORK (UPI)—The price of weekday editions of the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune will be increased to 10 cents a copy outside a 50 miles radius of the city effective Monday.

The price will remain five cents within 50 miles. Previously, 10c was charged 100 miles from the city, but the new price zone was made because of continuing increased costs, particularly for distribution and transportation, the Times said.

Dems Don't Have Job for Jimmy After His Trip to Washington

The boy—14-year-old James A. Johnson Jr. of Chicago—flew to Washington under the impression that Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill) had arranged an appointment for him as a House page boy.

But all indications were that he would not get the job. Key Democrats denied that O'Hara had the job to give. Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the Democratic patronage committee said he informed O'Hara of this last Friday.

Walter said that he told O'Hara, before knowing that Jimmy was a Negro, that there was no job available and O'Hara should not have the youth come to Washington.

Jimmy, standing on the capitol steps, said: "The southern Democrats are against me."

O'Hara, finally contacted after a day-and-a-half search, said that the whole matter was a "sad misunderstanding." He insisted that the situation could be straightened out by Mar. 1 at the latest.

But he didn't say how.

"This is a case of a sequence of unfortunate misunderstandings," O'Hara said on his return here from Chicago. "I told the boy his appointment had been delayed and that he could either wait in Chicago or come back here to wait developments."

He said there was no indication that southern congressmen were trying to block the appointment "but then I'm not on the patronage committee."

Stocks Trend Up in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market steadied and showed a slight trend toward improvement in heavy early trading today.

Steels, coppers and electrical equipments were higher. Oils, rails, aircrafts, airlines, rubbers and motors were mixed.

Overnight news of a proposed 3-for-1 stock split boosted Freeport Sulphur 3 1/2 to 104 on a big opening block of 11,000 shares.

American Motors was active and ahead around a point, Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and International Nickel were up around a point or better following a copper price increase by a Belgian producer.

WSU Measure Moves to House

Plan to Halt Election of Governors Board Due for Rough Opposition

LANSING (AP) — A plan to head off election of a Wayne State University board of governors April 6 tottered today on the brink of a legislative grave despite Senate approval.

It was the first bill of the 1959 session to win final passage in either House or Senate.

After the bill cleared the Senate 21 to 13 yesterday, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) neglected to move for immediate effect, a vital maneuver if the measure is to accomplish its purpose.

"We haven't got the votes," Hutchinson told newsmen. To have a bill become effective immediately, rather than the normal 90 days after signing by the governor, takes 23 votes in the Senate and 74 votes in the House.

★ ★ ★

But as it moved to the House the bill was beset by even greater difficulties, facing nearly solid opposition of Democrats who opposed it to a man in the Senate. Some Republicans don't like it.

Sen. Stanley F. Rozycki (D-Hamtramck) said the bill was a step toward a Wayne-University of Michigan merger into "one giant bureaucratic educational empire too big for the Legislature to control."

Under existing law, a six-member Wayne board will be chosen at the statewide spring election.

Hutchinson wanted a seven-member board appointed by the governor with Senate consent for staggered seven-year terms. He said his proposal would result in a higher caliber board.

Bill Would Curb Scooter Drivers

Asks Age Limit of 16 to Operate Vehicles on Streets, Highways

LANSING (AP)—A woman legislator is renewing her fight to keep young motor scooter drivers off streets and highways.

Rep. Lucille H. McCollough (D-Dearborn) yesterday introduced a bill which would repeal a 1956 amendment to the motor vehicle code allowing 14 and 15-year-olds to operate motor scooters. She asked that the age minimum be restored to 16.

Mrs. McCollough complained of a high injury and accident rate among young drivers.

3 Waterford Break-In Reports Yesterday

One house and two business establishments in Waterford Township were broken into yesterday, according to township police.

The Arthur Reaume home at 4845 Elizabeth Lake Rd., was entered sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass in the front storm door and unlatching the lock.

The burglars ransacked the interior of every room in the house, police said. They were investigating the losses this morning.

Mack, Whiteside Bid for Dismissal Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Burnita S. Matthews refused today to dismiss an indictment accusing Richard A. Mack and Thurman A. Whiteside of conspiring to influence the award of a Miami television permit.

Judge Matthews also turned down a defense motion in U.S. District Court for transfer of the trial to Miami.

Mack, former federal communications commissioner, and Whiteside, a Miami attorney, were indicted after a House investigation of Whiteside's role in a contest for Miami TV Channel 10.

Mack and Whiteside are old friends and it was brought out that Mack had accepted financial favors from the lawyer while the proceeding was pending before the FCC.

ICBMs Slated for Coast in July

Full Squadron Will Be Ready to Fire From Western Shores Then

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy revealed today that the United States will have a full squadron of intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to fire from the West Coast by next July.

Under further questioning, McElroy conceded that Russia has an ICBM more powerful than any produced by the U.S.

He said this helps the Russians in outer space experiments but not in missile strength, because the U.S. Atlas has "adequate thrust" to reach any target.

McElroy also insisted that the Polaris will have "adequate range to reach any target that would be assigned to it." He reported that five nuclear-powered Polaris subs are under construction.

Jeweler Slugged in $10,000 Robbery

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Bandits slugged a 60-year-old watchmaker and robbed a northeast Grand Rapids jewelry store of an estimated $10,000 in gems and $150 in cash today.

Police combed the downtown district after a car described as the getaway vehicle was found abandoned and a witness reported two men fled on foot into the business area.

Curtis S. Koontz, employed at the L. E. Phillips jewelry store, was treated for an eye injury suffered when struck by one bandit wielding a .45-caliber automatic.

200 Sleepless Hours, That Is

Disc Jockey Breaks Record

NEW YORK (UPI)—Disc Jockey Peter Tripp slept "man's soundest sleep" today, completing a 200-hour sleepless vigil for the sake of science.

Tripp, 32, ended his wake-a-thon at 7:14 o'clock last night. An hour later he fell into a deep sleep at the Astor Hotel after physicians assured him he had broken all records for scientifically controlled wakefulness.

"Now he's sleeping man's soundest sleep," said Dr. Louis J. West, who heads the team of scientists watching Tripp. "He has done something no man has ever done before, and it's fantastic."

The scientists here did not recognize the wake-a-thon of disc jockey Dave Hunter of Jacksonville, Fla. Hunter began his vigil two hours before Tripp and has vowed to stay awake for 225 hours, but his experiment has not been scientifically controlled or documented.

A third disc jockey, Red Evans, of Tallahassee, Fla., tried to stay awake 200 hours but gave up at 190 hours and 43 minutes on advice of his doctor. He had developed a headache.

West said he would awaken Tripp at 11 a.m., his usual rising time, for some psychiatric observations and medical tests after 15 hours of sleep. But he said he expected Tripp to go back to sleep for eight or 10 hours.

Even while he was sleeping, Tripp was working for science. He dropped off too quickly last night for arrangements for a recording of his brain waves to be completed. But his pulse, body temperature and other physical activities were being measured.

West said he did not believe the long vigil had caused Tripp any harm which sleep could not erase. He said the experiment had proved that "there is a measurable disorganization of mental functions tantamount to a major personality change when a great deal of sleep is lost."

"Tripp vacillated between belligerence and submissiveness," he said. "There was a progressive disturbance in his thinking and feeling, a deteriorating in his performance tests that was getting worse and worse. Prolonged loss of sleep is not good for anybody, and I can testify to that."

Civil Rights Bill Enters Hopper

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) and 14 other senators joined today to introduce a sweeping civil rights bill aimed at insuring racially integrated schooling.

★ ★ ★

The measure is the same bill Douglas sponsored without success in the last session of Congress. It would authorize 200 million dollars of federal funds for a five-year program of grants to speed integration.

★ ★ ★

In a Senate speech prepared for its introduction, Douglas called the bill meaningful and constructive, but said "the results of our recent efforts to curb the filibuster have undoubtedly dimmed the outlook for the passage of such a measure."

The threat of a filibuster was used to weaken the 1957 civil rights bill, Douglas said, adding: "I fear it will be used again."

Douglas led a campaign this year to cut from 68 to 50 the number of senatorial votes required to choke off a filibuster—a method Southerners have frequently used to kill civil rights legislation. Instead, the Senate changed its rule to require a vote of two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

Judge Sets Bond in Armed Holdup

Thomas E. Ferguson, 28, of 2840 Wilbur St., Keego Harbor, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday on an armed robbery charge following examination before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

★ ★ ★

Judge Finnegan set bond at $5,000. Ferguson is being held in the Oakland County Jail pending arraignment Feb. 2 in Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

Ferguson and Miguel Adkins, 26, of 71 S. Johnson St., are accused of a holdup of Tom's Market, 888 Orchard Lake Ave., in which $950 was taken.

★ ★ ★

Adkins has already been bound over to Circuit Court. Unable to furnish $5,000 bond, he is being held in jail until arraignment Feb. 2.

2 Doctors' Offices Broken Into in City

All desk drawers in Dr. Gordon's office were ransacked, and papers were strewn about the floor, police said. A small safe in his office had not been tampered with.

Builder's Check to Area Police Goes to Charity

A $100 check given to the Waterford Township Police Department by the Showboat Heights Subdivision has been turned over to the March of Dimes, Police Chief Millard Pender said.

★ ★ ★

Richard G. Ward of the Federal Homes Corp. said his firm wanted to contribute the money to the department's benefit fund for its "excellent" protection.

★ ★ ★

Because the department doesn't have such a fund, Pender said he was turning the money over to the March of Dimes.

Baby Didn't Hear Doctor

DENVER (AP) — "Don't worry," the obstetrician told Mrs. Mary Whitfield. "You've got another two weeks or so."

The doctor was wrong by the margin of 13 days and 22 hours.

Mrs. Whitfield gave birth to her fifth child exactly two hours after her visit with the doctor. Her husband, an Army sergeant, delivered the infant boy in the back seat of the family car.

DISNEY DEMONSTRATES — Walt Disney shows how to place equipment to obtain stereophonic sound for the "Peter Tchaikovsky Story." Place an FM radio 4 to 6 feet from the TV set on the left side and place a standard radio the same distance from the set on the right side, each at an angle. The viewer sits directly opposite the screen, so that the TV set, the two radios and the viewer are each stationed at separate corners of an imaginary square. The program is simulcast over Channel 7, WXYZ and WXYZ-FM.

Uses Simulcast for Special Effect

'Walt Disney Presents' Also Introduces Novel Wide-Screen Vision

A pair of striking innovations—three-source stereophonic sound and a novel wide-screen visual effect—will be introduced to television Friday at 8 p.m., with the "Walt Disney Presents" offering the "Peter Tchaikovsky Story" (via simulcast by Channel 7 and WXYZ and WXYZ-FM).

★ ★ ★

A combined actor and animated cartoon depiction of the youth and achievements of the great 19th Century Russian composer, this show will utilize the normal television sound system together with AM (standard broadcast) radio and FM radio.

The new sound method will extend throughout the music-laden show, insuring that the Tchaikovsky masterpieces, recorded by a full symphony orchestra, will be heard in all their tonal grandeur.

Should the viewer lack either the AM or FM radio, he can enjoy the show nevertheless, by simply placing whichever radio he has in the position indicated according to its type. The AM radio is the type commonly found in most homes on which regular commercial broadcasts are heard. The viewer also may receive the telecast adequately by using his TV set alone in normal fashion.

The Magic Mural theater-type wide-screen effect will be put to use for the first time with the onset of the animated part of the show, consisting of selected excerpts from Walt Disney's feature production, "Sleeping Beauty."

Cast included Narda Onyx as Desiree Artot, the operatic diva to whom Tchaikovsky dedicated the melody popularly known as "None but the Lonely Heart," and Leon Askin as the famous pianist-composer Anton Rubinstein, who first recognized Tchaikovsky's genius.

Whooping in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Forty-four cases of whooping cough have been reported in Detroit this year as compared to six for the same period in 1958. Health department records show that last death due to whooping cough here was two years ago.

Sidney Chaplin's Girl Has Broadway Ga-Ga

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Sydney Chaplin's blonde French sweetheart, ballerina Noelle Adam, has Broadwayites catching their breath over her beauty — and figure. Stage Door Sydney sat in the wings at an Ed Sullivan TV show waiting—and staring at her on a TV set. "Look at Sydney looking," said a stagehand. To which I answered, "Look at me looking!"

WILSON

"Wait'll 1960 — there'll be some changes made!" Frank Sinatra said (that's when he gets his $3,000,000 from TV) but with his secretary Gloria Lovell here furnishing an apt. for him on Central Park South, he's evidently starting early. One thing he wants to do immediately is: less.

Johnny Carson—a nice guy—must have winced when he raced out of the Steve Allen show, and confused young bobby-soxers squealed, "Oh, look! Jack Carson!" . . . David Niven's off to Europe for a secret meeting with Deborah Kerr (and Peter Viertel?) whom he hopes to persuade to brave the English press and attend the London premiere of "Separate Tables" . . . A star who's been working for Sam Goldwyn phoned an intimate and said, "Why didn't you warn me?" . . . They're quoting Sam's remark to Danny Kaye: "You're a big star because you have warmth and charmth."

NOELLE

When Ava Gardner arrived in Australia and got a look at Melbourne, she cracked, "I'm here to do a picture about the end of the world—and this is sure the place to do it!" . . . Walking around Times Sq. the other night, I was so amazed by one of the disgusting modern trends that I composed the following so-called verse: "One thing I can't help looking at Askance. Is a girl on a date dressed up in Long pants."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Constance Bennett's shots for her Jamaica vacation made her ill, postponed the trip . . . Ernest Hemingway's been asked to hand out the Oscar for Best Writing at the Academy Award dinner . . . Gregg Sherwood Dodge will be featured in a TV series called "Wildcatter." . . . Castro supporters in Havana have begun a write-to-your-friends-in-the-U.S. campaign . . . Helen Hayes' daughter-in-law, Joyce Bulifant, opening in her first B'way show—"Tall Story"—was named understudy to the female lead.

EARL'S PEARLS: Feminine tact is the ability of a woman to look up to a man who's shorter than she is.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Always remember that money isn't everything—and also remember not to talk such nonsense till you've made a lot of it.

Production of Barrie Play Close to Being Superb

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—If archeologists ever decide to start digging around Manhattan, I suggest they plunge their spades into the earth around CS-TV's Du Pont Show of the Month.

The series is possessed of an almost staggering devotion to dramatic artifacts. It is a little like the old bone room of a theatrical museum — immaculate, polished, neatly cased and desiccated.

Last night, the show of the month trotted out an exquisitely groomed version of Sir James M. Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows," a piece that must have been antique when the Pharoahs were building the first pyramids.

It would be fairly easy to harass Barrie. Much of his product is composed with an almost stupefying coquetry. It is not so much written as tatted. He is a kind of middleweight embroiderer.

This leads to problems. Lines like: "We must think no more of this, it's madness" or "Sybil, let us declare our love" are not meant, of course, to be played seriously. But they can't really be played comically either because they are such paralyzing exaggerations of the comic.

Nevertheless, let me jump to the good. The good lay in the production which was quite close to being superb. Siobham McKenna is an actress of great artistry and last night she was in sweet form. And opposite her, James Donald gave his impossible part a near-believability that was masterful.

Next outing, the show of the month will present a sanforized version of "Hamlet." But it would not surprise me at all if it were to offer "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm". . .played magnificently, of course, by the combined forces of the Comedie Francaise and the Moscow Art Theater.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The NBC-TV George Burns show gets the ax on April 14—it'll probably be replaced by The Californians, which in turn is turning over its Tuesday night time spot to a David Niven anthology series. . .ABC-TV's Mike Wallace turned down the title role in NBC-TV's Ellery Queen—right now, Gig Young is a lead contender for the part.

When the NBC-TV George Gobel hour shrinks to 30-minutes in April, its vacant half hour probably will be filled by switching Dragnet into the spot. Dragnet's old spot may be taken over by a nighttime version of Jan Murray's Treasure Hunt.

June Allyson, Kim Novak, Larry Olivier, Mort Sahl, Millie Perkins, Dick Powell, Bob Hope, Louis Jourdan, Tony Martin, Cyd Charisse and Bob Wagner all are ticketed in for NBC-TV's telecast of Hollywood's Oscar derby on April 6. . .

Khrushchev's All-Out Economic War Not Idle Threat

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

The Capitalistic world will do well to take at face value Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's newest declaration of all-out economic warfare.

It may be assumed he means it and thinks he can win it.

Conversely, it also may be assumed he means it when he says he does not want a nuclear war, in which the chief antagonists would have to be the United States and the Soviet Union and in which both sides admit there could be no real winner.

This week's declaration of economic war against the West is not new. Rather, it a mark of Soviet consistency. Khrushchev first challenged the capitalistic nations to all-out economic war in his address to the Communist party's 20th congress in February, 1956.

It was unfortunate that at that time, most of the world's attention went to his denunciation of the late Josef Stalin.

In that same speech came his revision of Lenin's theory that wars are inevitable and that only wars and violence can lead to Socialism. Khrushchev said then as he told the 21st Communist party congress this week, that the end for Capitalism will come through economic warfare.

* * *

Had these warnings been heeded, there might have been less surprise when the Soviets

—Built a steel mill for India.

—Were able to upset world markets in both tin and platinum.

Those are only a few examples of Soviet financial and barter dealings of the last few years. The potential for enormous economic power lies within the Soviet Union. And it is multiplied by the enormous potential of Soviet manpower which works for the state, under living conditions and rates of pay dictated by the state.

A basic tenet for dealing with Communist states long has been that Communist aims never change while methods may.

And so, even the idea of economic war is not new. It was, in fact, spelled out by Stalin. In Stalin's last work published early in 1952, he set forth a course based on (A) "peaceful coexistence" designed to isolate the United States from its allies, and (B) a domestic policy based on an increase of consumer goods.

But, while Khrushchev's speech undoubtedly was a threat to the West, there remain great imbalances to be overcome within the Soviet economy itself.

For example, Khrushchev promised wage increases of more than 40 per cent to Soviet workers. But a Soviet worker's guaranteed wage now is only $25 per month. Despite the prodigious growth of the Soviet economy since World War II, the Soviet worker's share has been progressively less.

Much of Khrushchev's hopes for success of his seven-year plan rest upon his confidence in further successes of Soviet scientists, upon further development of virgin lands, automation in industry, and upon increased efficiency, including

Much of Khrushchev's speech undoubtedly was intended for home consumption. But, in spite of known Soviet weaknesses, the reality of the Soviet economic threat should not be ignored.

Gets Deer in 15 Minutes After Weeks of Plans

OKEMAH, Okla. (UP)—Sheriff E. L. Jeter spent weeks talking about and preparing for a deer hunting trip to Colorado.

It took him two days to get to the hunting grounds and considerable time fixing up his camp.

* * *

Finally ready to hunt, he walked 200 yards, saw a deer, and felled it. Another deer jumped up, and he shot it, too. So — it took him less than 15 minutes to get his limit.

Thief Will Find Loot Only Hollow Victory

Missing was a container of canned ham, but the proprietor told police the missing can, like the others in the window, was empty.
