Commercial Unit Behind in Area UF Campaign

Osmun Still Optimistic at Two-Thirds Mark in Drive

At the two-thirds mark in the Pontiac Area United Fund, the Commercial Division, headed by Carroll Osmun, reported today it has achieved only 54.2 per cent of quota.

With a goal of $164,280 for the division, Osmun said that $88,962 has been pledged.

★ ★ ★

"The returns are coming in slower than in previous years, and I am disappointed with certain segments of the division, Osmun said.

STILL HAS HOPE

"However," he added, "I am still optimistic about the final results."

Osmun said he would hold a special meeting at noon Wednesday at the Waldron Hotel at which division leaders would report directly to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, 1957 campaign general chairman.

Doing an outstanding job so far, Osmun indicated, is the finance section of his division headed by Merle R. Voss. This section has received 82.2 per cent of its quota.

OTHER SECTIONS IN

Other sections and the percentage of quota already in are: automotive, 59.5; construction; 54.8; food, 54.6; general, 39.7; government, 36.9; professional, 31.5; public service, 62.6; retail 1, 56.4; retail 2, 44.2.

"Although we had reached 60.5 per cent of quota last year at this point in the drive as compared with 54.2 per cent now, I still feel the quality of people we have in our division will enable us to once again go over the top as we have in the past two campaigns, Osmun said.

Overall quota of the UF drive this year is $612,000, with the campaign closing on Nov. 26.

Stevenson Arrives in Washington

ADLAI'S NEW ROLE — Holding a statement he said he wrote on his New York-Washington flight, Adlai Stevenson chats with reporters upon arrival at National Airport Sunday. The 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential candidate will discuss his new role as Democratic Party adviser on Atlantic Alliance matters with Secretary of State Dulles today.

Pineau Arrives to Protest on Arming Tunisia

Stevenson Outlines His Views on Combating Brush Fire Wars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is facing two busy days, as he plans to meet Democrat Adlai Stevenson today and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau tomorrow for important talks in Washington.

Stevenson and Dulles met today for two hours to see whether they can join forces in reshaping U.S. alliances to the age of Russian rocketry.

Stevenson has been asked to meet later with President Eisenhower, who now is vacationing in Augusta, Ga.

Arriving in Washington from New York, Stevenson issued a statement outlining some of his own views including the need for "highly mobile forces" to combat brush fire wars, development of joint policies, and aid to underdeveloped countries.

"I am here to help if I can to bring about a closer military and political association through NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization)," he said.

★ ★ ★

He agreed to this attempt at bipartisanship, he said, because of "the gravity of our situation in the world."

FLYING TO AMERICA

In the meantime, Christian Pineau was flying to the United States today to press French objections to U. S. and British arms shipments to Tunisia.

★ ★ ★

Unofficial sources in London said British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd might join Pineau and Secretary of State Dulles for the talks in Washington.

"The aim of my trip is to ameliorate things, to limit the damage," Pineau said.

"It is necessary to think of the existence and the strengthening of the Atlantic Pact . . . We intend to insist on finding a system which will assure the solidarity of NATO in all fields."

★ ★ ★

He said he would tell Dulles about "the uneasiness of the (French) government and show him how lively the reaction of public and parliamentary opinion has been about the delivery of arms to Tunisia."

TO SEEK SUPPORT

Pineau is scheduled to see Dulles in Washington tomorrow.

Informed sources said Pineau will call for an end to the arms shipments and full U. S. support for France in revolt-ridden Algeria.

Nab Butcher-Killer

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (AP)—The Waushara County district attorney said today that five more heads have been found on an isolated farm near Plainfield, raising to 10 the number of cadavers discovered so far in the house where a mild-mannered handy man lived alone.

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (INS) — A middle-aged Wisconsin farmer is scheduled to be arraigned today on a first degree murder charge in connection with the shocking discovery of a "human slaughterhouse" in his shed.

The mutilated and decapitated body of a 58-year-old woman and the partial remains of four or five other women were found yesterday in the shed on the farm of Ed Gein, 50, seven miles west of Plainfield.

District Attorney Earl Kileen of Waushara County said the case "appears to be cannibalism."

Gein, pale and tousle-haired, told authorities in the county jail at Wautoma:

"I've been killing for seven years."

Sheriff's deputies pressing a search for a missing woman stumbled onto the "slaughterhouse" when they spotted the woman's truck parked near Gein's farm.

FOUND BODY

The deputies, not finding Gein at home, battered down the door to the shed. Inside the butchered body of the woman, Mrs. Bernie Worden, was hanging by the heels.

Kileen said the body had been butchered as animals are at a slaughterhouse.

And around the torn body lay skulls and remains of four or five other bodies, believed to be women. Also found was a child's clothing.

Sheriff Arthur Schley of Waushara County said belts found on the floor appeared to be made of human skin.

Gein, apprehended later, denied butchering Mrs. Worden, then mumbled:

"I can't remember."

★ ★ ★

The hunt for Mrs. Worden, a Plainfield hardware merchant, began when her son, Frank Worden, 30, returned from a hunting trip to discover his mother missing from her store. Blood spotted the floor and the cash register was rifled.

The cash register later was found in Gein's farmhouse.

GEIN GRILLED

Gein admitted to police that he was in Mrs. Worden's store Saturday, but declared he did not "hurt" her.

Police ringed Gein's farm in a 24-hour vigil as authorities searched the shed for evidence to solve the mystery surrounding

Verdict on GI Girard Due in Japan Today

TOKYO (INS)—A Japanese Court today hands down an anxiously awaited verdict for GI William Girard who became internationally famous after his slaying of Mrs. Naka Sakai touched off a U.S.-Japan jurisdiction controversy.

Well informed observers predicted the 22-year-old truck driver from Illinois will be freed by the juryless, three-judge Maebashi Court and returned to the United States with his Japanese wife.

The Maebashi District Court, 75 miles north of Tokyo, is scheduled to convene at 10 a.m. Presiding Judge Luzo Kawachi will announce the verdict and read the sentence.

Girard, who now works in his company supply room at nearby Camp Drew, will drive to Maebashi with his Army lawyer, Maj. Stanley F. Levin, to learn the results of his 10-week manslaughter trial.

The wavy-haired Army specialist is charged with "causing bodily injury resulting in death"—the equivalent of lesser manslaughter — to the woman shell scavenger. The prosecutor demands five years imprisonment at hard labor.

But the prediction that Girard would be freed was based by observers on the following points:

—The prosecutors asked for five years imprisonment when they could have demanded 15 under Girard's indictment.

—Japanese judges usually hand down lighter sentences than those demanded by the state. This would mean an approximate three-year term and such minimal sentences are generally suspended.

KEPT FACE

—The Japanese won face when the U. S. Supreme Court gave them the green light to try Girard, and can afford to set him free.

★ ★ ★

—Japan does not want to risk the revival of the now-quieted jurisdiction hassle.

A harsh verdict, one to five years, could touch off demands in the United States for abrogation of status of forces agreements with Japan and other foreign nations. These give these countries the right to try U. S. servicemen.

McGowan's Mind Blank in Blasting of Wife's Home

"I must of blacked out. I can't remember, I just can't remember."

Over and over this morning, Terrance F. McGowan, 58, held by police for investigation of attempted murder in the explosion that wrecked his wife's home, told detectives his mind was a blank.

Mrs. Mae McGowan, 53, narrowly escaped death Friday morning when a blast in the basement of her frame house ripped up her bedroom floor seconds after she had gone into the living room to investigate a noise.

★ ★ ★

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said he would seek a warrant today for assault with intent to murder.

McGowan, a self-employed housepainter and one-time rescue mission head, told police of frequent periods of "blacking out" which he had experienced. He could not say what he had done with the dynamite.

"I've had these blackouts before, you know. I would wake up hundreds of miles away and never know how I got there."

★ ★ ★

"Look at the stuff I had—the Miltown, the cough medicine, the wine and whisky and beer. I can't remember anything about the dynamite except I know I bought it."

McGowan had a receipt for seven sticks of dynamite on him when he was arrested shortly after the explosion.

Midwest Snow Snarls Traffic

Series of Tornadoes Kills 5 in 2 States; Rain Continues in South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wintry storm belted parts of the Midwest today, snarling highway traffic and closing some schools.

The storm spread a heavy snow cover from northern Oklahoma into Wisconsin and accumulations up to a foot deep were forecast.

★ ★ ★

The Midwest storm came on the heels of a rash of out-of-season tornadoes Sunday which killed at least five persons in Alabama and Mississippi.

The Weather Bureau warned more tornadoes may develop in those states today.

Russell in north central Kansas had 8 inches of snow on the ground; Hill City, Kan., 7; Lacrosse, Wis., 5; Council Bluffs, Iowa, 9, and Dumont, Wis., 9. Parts of Nebraska reported 10 inches.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Scores of schools were closed in Iowa because school buses couldn't move over the snow covered roads. Highway travel was slowed in southwest Iowa and jacknifed trucks blocked some highways.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Kansas City said snow was falling through eastern Nebraska, western and northern Iowa, Kansas and into northern Oklahoma and that strong northerly winds would cause considerable blowing and drifting.

A heavy glaze warning was issued for motorists in parts of Iowa.

The mercury nosedived to 12 degrees below zero in parts of Wyoming.

Heavy rains sprayed eastern Texas, western Tennessee and Kentucky, and southeastern Missouri. Dyersburg, Tenn., had three inches of rain in six hours.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of acres of farmland were inundated and many families were evacuated in the sodden southeastern Missouri bootheel. The area has been drenched by 11 inches of rain in a week.

Warm weather continued in tornado-plagued Alabama and Mississippi.

Senate Probers on New Target

Group Subpoenas Files of Carpenters, Joiners; Union Cooperating

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that Senate rackets investigators have subpoenaed files of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

The investigators refused yesterday to say what they were looking for, a Washington dispatch to the newspaper added.

The story also said in part:

The move is expected to "refuel the political controversy" over the Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of labor and management.

Maurice A. Hutcheson, head of the union, like his late father William who preceded him in the job, is a Republican.

Frank Chapman, union treasurer, said investigators appeared Friday at union headquarters in Indianapolis with a subpoena.

Chapman said the subpoena was a broad one, and he did not know specifically what was wanted. "We are cooperating with them," he added.

Robert F. Kennedy chief counsel of the Senate committee, declined to say what he was seeking or when he expected hearings on the Carpenters' affairs. The union has about 750,000 members.

Mom Nature to Take Another Try at Snow

Make sure your furnaces are working and the storm windows are up. The U. S. Weather Bureau reports that the Pontiac area will have snow flurries and cold temperatures tonight. The low is expected to be 32-36 degrees.

Tomorrow will be even colder with a high of 34-38. Snow flurries will continue.

The outlook for Wednesday is cloudy and cold with snow flurries.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac, preceding 8 a.m., was 34. At 2 p.m. the mercury stood at 43.

Lower Peninsula Hunters Report Good Shooting

LANSING (AP) — Deer hunters generally had good success in the season's first big weekend, although unfavorable weather hampered activity in the Upper Peninsula, the State Conservation Department reported today.

Based on a traffic count, deer taken in the northern Lower Peninsula and transported south were estimated at about 15,000.

★ ★ ★

In this area, the weather was good and hunters entered the woods in large numbers. The buck kill appeared to be larger than usual.

Rain and snow botherd Upper Peninsular sportsmen. The snow, which fell Saturday and Sunday in the west and central portions, was wet and no help for tracking while cutting down visibility and hindering backroads travel.

Snow was falling again today throughout the Upper Peninsula except in the east end.

Success in the west end of the Upper Peninsula was reported better than last year, with hunting pressure down slightly. In the east central and eastern areas, it was about normal and down some in the west central.

The count of deer crossing the bridge was 682 at 7 a.m. today. In the first three days last year, which fell on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 387 deer were brought back across the Straits.

State Hunting Toll Mounts With 10 Dead, 12 Wounded

By International News Service

The death toll in Michigan's 1957 deer hunting season stood at 10 today with the reporting of two new gunshot victims and an additoinal heart attack fatality.

So far, three hunters have died of wounds and seven of heart attacks. Five more woundings were reported, bringing the total to 12.

The latest fatalities:

Gerald Ackron, 19, of Willis, a Marine on leave, was killed by a stray shot while hunting in Alcona County's Mellon Township.

James Hamm, 15, of Iron Mountain, was fatally wounded while hunting in the Peavy Falls area of Iron County. A companion told conservation officials Hamm stumbled and accidentally shot himself.

Charles W. Landis, 69, of Buchanan, suffered a fatal heart attack near Crystal Falls in Iron County.

Harry J. Baker, 81, of Leroy, disappeared after he and his two sons had tracked a deer through woods near Pine River, north of Reed City.

But he walked out of the woods near Luther today. He said he built a fire to keep warm through the night and suffered no ill effects. The search was called off.

Indiana Tax Policy Lures Firms

(Sixth in a series of articles on taxes and industry)

By IRWIN J. MILLER

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana's tax structure is given credit as the main enticement attracting new industries to the state at a rate now around 10 a month.

Other factors cited by state officials concerned with industrial development include Indiana's good geographical location, adequate power supplies, and a versatile and experienced labor force.

NO SPECIAL TAXES

But the state's comparative freedom from special taxes on corporations or manufacturing is the subject emphasized in a series of industry-attracting advertisements placed in several national magazines.

Indiana's basic state tax is a 1½ per cent levy on gross income —raised from 1 per cent by the 1957 legislature. There is no sales tax, use tax on goods bought in other states, net worth tax or special corporation or manufacturer's tax.

The gross income tax is not levied on sales in interstate commerce, the principal business of many large manufacturers. It is only ⅝ of 1 per cent for wholesalers and retailers.

PROPOSAL DEFEATED

A net worth tax proposed by Gov. Harold W. Handley during the 1957 legislative session, to get revenue from Indiana firms selling their products in interstate commerce, was defeated by the Republican-controlled legislature even though Handley is the titular leader of the party in the state.

Handley and Lt. Gov. Crawford F. Parker, ex officio director of the division of commerce which seeks to attract industry, also point to the state's constitutional prohibition against bonded indebtedness as an attractive feature to new industry, since state taxes do not have to pay interest on a state debt.

William A. Shepler, who runs the division of commerce under Parker, says the three chief factors attracting industry to Indiana are good labor relations, the tax structure and the lack of state debt.

He also believes that Michigan is the chief loser of plants to this state.

"I would say we're getting more industries from Michigan than from any other state," Shepler said.

Both Parker and Shepler say the policies of Michigan's Democratic governor, G. Mennen Williams, are causing industry to move out of Michigan, particularly his tax policies.

★ ★ ★

The Indiana State Chamber of Commerce, which aids Shepler's office in getting information to industries interested in locating in Indiana, says it has received inquiries from Michigan firms complaining about taxes in that state.

Parker also credits the state's new "right to work" law—the first anti-union-shop law enacted by a major industrial state—with being an important part of a labor climate attractive to industry. The law, which Gov. Handley refused to either sign or veto, has been in effect since June. Parker was one of the earliest and most voluble advocates of the bill.

The state chamber of commerce has compiled a partial list of new industries locating in Indiana in the past two years, and on this list Illinois is shown as a larger loser to this state than Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The list, which the chamber does not claim to be complete, shows 22 firms moving here from Illinois to 15 from Michigan. Shepler's division believes the rate of influx from Michigan now is higher.

No statistics are available on industries leaving Indiana for other states, but Shepler claims that only one goes for every 100 that come in.

This ad, which appeared in a nationally-distributed weekly business magazine, is an example of how the state of Indiana is trying to induce industry to locate in the state.

Police Recover Pontiac, String of Car Keys

Pontiac Police have recovered a new Pontiac and the keys to several others which were stolen from the Community Motor Sales Inc., in Rochester, early Saturday.

Thieves entered the rear of the building at 223 Main St., took the new car and also the master keyboard containing all the keys to the new cars, and attempted malicious destruction to two cars on an adjoining lot.

The stolen car was reported by police to be in good condition when found in Pontiac yesterday.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Are the Russian satellites orbiting in the stratosphere or ionosphere? Where does the former end and the latter begin?

There are three zones in the outer spaces around the earth. One is the troposphere. It extends outward for about eight or ten miles and all weather is included in this zone.

The stratosphere is the space between the troposphere and the ionosphere. The stratosphere is said to extend from about eight miles out to approximately fifty miles, or about 250,000 feet.

Beyond that is the ionosphere, in which the satellites have orbited. It is in the ionosphere that we see meteors. Contrary to the belief of some, atmospheric molecules do exist in the ionosphere, but they are spaced widely apart.

Police Hold City Man in Shooting at Noon

Joseph Wright, 37, of 46 Lull St., was shot and killed in an argument at the Bagley Hotel, 92½ Bagley St. shortly before noon today.

Pontiac Police said that Wright was shot by James Witherspoon, 56, of 130 Wesson St. Wright and Witherspoon had reportedly been arguing about a lost $5 bill.

Witherspoon told detectives that Wright grabbed a shotgun and brandished it at him, and he pulled out a .38 revolver and shot Wright in self-defense.

Also injured was Albert Taylor, 54 of 301 Rockwell St., a bystander. He was wounded in the arm.

Keep Little Black Book on Taxi Rides

IRS Head Warns People of Stricter Scrutiny in '58

WASHINGTON (INS) — Are you taking a $1.50 taxi ride at the boss' expense? Better jot it down in a little black book so you can tell the income tax man about it.

That was a word of advice today from Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell C. Harrington. He explained the workings of the 1958 crackdown on expense accounts.

Harrington made his comments in an interview with U. S. News and World Report. He talked about the new line—6 (A)—which will appear on the tax blanks soon to be mailed out.

"The line," he explained, "calls only for reimbursed expenses of an employe. He must include his expense money in his income on line 5. And then, if he wishes to get the benefit of a deduction for the expenses, he should enter them on line 6 (A)."

★ ★ ★

The Internal Revenue chief said the only person who will have "something to worry about" in connection with the new requirement is the individual whose "conscience isn't clear." He observed that a lot of cheating has gone on in past years.

Harrington said he meant by this "the commingling of personal and business expenses, such as personal entertainment, vacation and pleasure trips, personal living expenses, and so on."

About that $1.50 taxi ride, Harrington was asked if the revenue service would "accept estimates of expense items, or must the taxpayer report exact, detailed figures?"

USE LITTLE BLACK BOOK

He replied: "Some accounts would obviously have to be estimated, or at least not supported by vouchers. For example, if a man took a taxicab from the railroad station to his hotel and paid $1.50 and put it in his little black book, that's all we would require.

★ ★ ★

"We wouldn't require him to keep his hotel bills and railroad tickets or any other expense that he had where there were vouchers, to show if called upon."

Harrington added: "But I want to make this clear: That now we have put people on notice—they know this line is on the return. So, beginning in 1958, we will be in a position to adopt a stricter attitude in examining these expense accounts."

The new line, he said, "will enable us to pick out those returns where tthe expense deduction appears as disproportionate" to the income reported.

Harrington said he wanted to correct published reports which have quoted the Internal Revenue Service as saying that "the little taxpayer can forget the whole thing."

"Such reports," he stated, "are not correct."

The Day in Birmingham

Discuss Business Zoning at Final Hearing Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — Business zoning will be considered at tonight's commission meeting, the fifth and final informal session on the new zoning ordinance.

City Planner Herbert Herzberg will explain the special requirements for business zoning, locate on zoning maps those areas so designated and answer any questions presented on this phase of building control plans.

Commissioners also will be asked by the Birmingham Real Estate Board to prepare a city ordinance to prohibit the operating of real estate offices on Sunday.

G. Gordon Walker, board vice president, tells city officials that, since the group passed its resolution to close Sundays, they have received many letters of commendation from local and area pastors.

The board asks legislative action to protect BRE members from encroachment of non-members who might step into Sunday operations in the area. State action is already being requested, but real estate men feel that local action can be just as effective and can be obtained much faster.

"An Innocent in the Theater" will be the subject of Tom Patterson, director of planning of the Stratford Ontario Drama Festival when he speaks before the Friends of the Baldwin Public Library tonight at 8:15 in the library auditorium.

Patterson made the shift from editor of a small trade journal to one of the leading theatrical personages in North America, in four short years. He has influenced some of the great names of the theater to help pioneer the beginnings of Shakespearean repertory theater in Canada and has won the acclaim of theater-goers and critics for his work.

Because of limited seating capacity, the Patterson lecture will be limited to members only.

The Ruth Shain class, now in its 38th year of the study of international affairs, is featuring global geography at present in reference to U.S. National Bases of Defense. Meeting at the Community House at 10 a.m. each Tuesday, the group discusses all types of international relations. This week Mrs. Joel Warren will report on what we are doing in foreign countries, what countries we are working with, and how plans are being made which will ultimately benefit this country on a defense basis.

Mrs. Eva E. Shwarts

Service will be at 1 p.m. tomorrow from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home for Mrs. Eva E. Shwarts, 66, of 23597 Plum Hollow Dr. Burial will be in Southfield Cemetery.

A native of Pasco, Wash., Mrs. Shwarts was a member of the United Presbyterian Church and a charter member of the Kiwaniqueens in Southfield. She was also a member of the OES and White Shrine in Grosse Pointe.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Wesley Muir of Southfield and two sons, Melvin and Darwin of Portland, Ore.

Wilson M. Wagner

Service will be from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Wednesday for Wilson M. Wagner, 58, of 267 Oakland Ave.

Mr. Wagner died Sunday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, after a short illness. Born in Kentucky, he came to Birmingham from Pontiac in 1934.

He was office manager of the engineering department of Pontiac Motors. He served with the Marines in World War I. He was a member of Birmingham Lodge 44, F&AM, and a past president of the Hi-12 Club.

He is survived by his wife, Arvilla; two sons, James M. of Morton Grove, Ill., and Harry W. of Flint; his mother, Mrs. Oscar Wagner, a sister, Mrs. Claude Morrow, and a brother, Henry O., all of Birmingham, also another brother, Robert M., of Flint.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Wilson-Wagner Memorial Fund of the First Methodist Church, Birmingham.

David R. Burton

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for David R. Burton, 1004 Brookwood, sales manager of the Stamping Division of Eaton Manufacturing Co.

Burton died suddenly yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. He was 47.

Williams Discusses New Financing Plan

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams hinted last night that some kind of bonding to finance new building projects at state institutions might be among his budget recommendations to the 1958 Legislature.

The governor did not elaborate on the plan, but his staff reportedly has been looking into operations of the state building authority systems operating in other states.

Williams and state educators criticized the Legislature last spring after it declared what amounted to a moratorium on new construction.

The governor gave his views under questioning by Lansing newsmen on a television panel program.

Open 30-Room Motel for Exclusive UAW Use

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A new 30-room motel built for exclusive use of members by the United Auto Workers union was dedicated yesterday.

The $193,000 motel is a development in a recreational center for UAW members of the organization's Midwest Region 4. It is situated near Ottawa close to a recreational hall already in use.

Speakers at the ceremony were Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, and Walter Reuther of Detroit, international president of the UAW.

Orchestra Girls Ambassadors

Finnish-Born Musician Leads All-Distaff Group on European Tours

PORTLAND (INS) — A Finnish-born musician who has paid for the privilege of being an unofficial American ambassador abroad is planning for his third trip overseas.

He is Boris Sirpo who has taken his all-girl little chamber orchestra to northern Europe twice in the last three years — the first time at a cost of $600 to each person.

This year Sirpo led his 17 musicians through 56 concerts in less than three months, to the approval of audiences in Sweden, Finland, Norway, Germany and France.

A music critic wrote in a newspaper at Kristiansund, Norway:

"Better ambassadors from American cultural life never had been before us."

Similar statements were made both orally and in print several times on the tour.

★ ★ ★

In his broken English, Sirpo said proudly:

"Not a thing went wrong—there wasn't even a case of sickness."

Sirpo chose the girls, who range in age from 17 to 30, on the basis of character as well as musical ability. He made sure he got the highest type of young American women.

To break down any feeling that all Americans harbor race prejudice, he had a Negro as vocal soloist and made sure she figured prominently in most photographs of the group.

He limited food allowances to $2 a day to counteract the feeling that all Americans are wealthy and throw their money around.

There was a practical side to that ruling, too, for when he left Portland he did not know how the $20,000 expenses of the tour would be raised — he even though he might have to sell his house.

This year the trip cost Sirpo little besides the money he would have earned from lessons while he and the orchestra were abroad.

Portland contributed some money. Proceeds of the concerts helped pay expenses, and the Army paid expenses for the German phase of the tour.

But on the first trip, in 1955, each girl paid more than half the $1,000 per person cost, and Sirpo himself paid $6,000. In spite of that, girls were eager to go again this year, and he proudly announces:

"Not one of them had to pay one cent."

The orchestra rehearsed every day of the trip. Before leaving, it practiced three to six hours a day for weeks — and as a result, it played five complete programs from memory, each program about two and a half hours long!

Tell Housewives to Thaw Turkeys in Refrigerators

LANSING (AP) — Housewives are advised by the State Health Department to thaw frozen Thanksgiving turkeys in a refrigerator.

If the bird is thawed outside a refrigerator, microorganisms will multiply on the exterior portion before the inside thaws, enhancing chances of foodborne poisoning.

The department calculated that three days is required to thaw a 20-pound bird in a refrigerator, and suggested that this be taken into account in preparing for Thanksgiving dinner.

Another word of advice. When the big feed is over, stuffing should be removed from the turkey and refrigerated in a covered container.

Water supply now ranks with labor and transportation as a key factor in determining plant location. One third of the nation's total plant spending for new construction in the past five years has been concentrated in the Great Lakes area.

PLANNING HOSPITAL—A 200-bed portable hospital will be set up in Waterford Township soon, for Civil Defense training. Looking over government plans for the unit are (left to right) Oakland County Civil Defense Director Lewis Jarrendt, Medical Director Mrs. Herminio Rodriquez and Assistant CD Director Ransford Bromley.

To Be Used for Civil Defense Training

Prefab Hospital Coming to Waterford

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

A 200-bed hospital, complete in every detail, will soon be located in Waterford Township—strictly for training members of the Civil Defense Corps.

Chosen by state and federal authorities as the ideal spot in Michigan for such a project, the portable hospital will be set up in the Community Activities Inc. Bldg. on Williams Lake road in approximately six weeks, according to Oakland County Civil Defense Director Lewis Jarrendt.

This is one of the first units released by the government for Civil Defense use and individuals from all over the state will conclude their 13-weeks local training course at the CAI building.

"Never before has the need for education in disaster procedure been more necessary than it is at the present time," Jarrendt said.

1,500 CAPACITY

Oakland County medical director in charge of operations, Mrs. Herminio Rodriguez of Royal Oak, said that the hospital will be able to take care of more than 1,500 persons, both operational cases and those in transit.

Originally designed to be used strictly in elementary school buildings, officials decided on the CAI building because there are no school buildings available for such a stationary project.

The unit will include a pharmacy, complete with antibiotics, heart medicine, sedatives, narcotics and other necessary medicine.

LATEST EQUIPMENT

Two big generators will supply power in case of electricity failure, and five operating tables, with fully equipped surgical tables will be among the hospital supplies.

The very latest medical apparatus has been included in the unit, and some items are so new, that many hospitals do not have them as yet, Mrs. Rodriguez said.

"For instance," she added, "each bed is equipped for the immediate administration of blood plasma."

INSTALL WATER SYSTEM

A 1,500 gallon deflatable water tank is another necessary item, and a separate water purifying system has been included.

An entire X-ray unit, with polaroid-type exposures, will be set up along with a complete laboratory. Here, everything except cross-matching for blood transfusions will be available.

In the laboratory, Civil Defense workers will be trained for detection of red and white corpuscles and how to analyze various types of infection.

LIFE-SAVING LESSONS

Instruction on sterilizing units, improving equipment and how to operate propane gas controlled equipment will be taught.

"There will be no time to read instructions on how to turn on this gas when disaster strikes," Mrs. Rodriguez explained. "It has to be done immediately and efficiently."

Throughout Oakland County there are ten and thirteen-week training courses now in progress, preparatory to the real hospital experience at the CAI, according to Mrs. Rodriguez.

Registered nurses and laymen now taking the courses will be the instructors for other Civil Defense workers, when the new classes begin Feb. 1.

At the conclusion of the classes now in session, the thirty groups in the county will go to the real hospital at CAI for a final three week training period.

One of the biggest and toughest jobs of the entire plan will be the setting up and dismantling of the portable hospital, for emergencies in other sections of the county.

A team of men will be trained on this project. All inflammable items, medication and operating supplies must have specific space and be packed systematically so that they may be easily unpacked at the new destination.

Jarrendt said that the portable hospital will remain in Waterford Township for as long as people want to learn about medical disaster techniques.

A new human finger nail will usually grow out in about 160 days.

Would This Be Bribery?

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — A light post script to a stern lecture got Prof. Theodore Cook of Central Michigan College two pheasants. He warned members of his chemistry class not to skip school during pheasant season, then said: "And besides, if you're going to miss class for pheasant hunting bring one back for me." A few days later he found two plump ones on his desk.

There are about 3,300 miles of toll highways in the U. S. as of early 1957.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

The shooting occurred at Wagner's home shortly after midnight.

Moore was hit in the stomach by a 16-gauge shotgun blast.

Lake Orion Man Hurt in Waterford Accident

A Lake Orion man, Mike Kimball, 28, of 162 Schorn Dr., was injured slightly Sunday night when the car in which he was riding struck another from behind, said State Police at the Pontiac Post.

Also injured was the driver, Raymond Parker, 60, of Detroit. Both were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. The driver of the other car, Walter Morrison, 67, of 3147 Coventry Rd., Drayton Plains, was unhurt. The accident took place at Williams Lake Rd., on U.S. 10 in Waterford Township.

The Turk Gets More Commonplace

Traditionally the main item on the Thanksgiving or other holiday feast, the turkey has gone modern—also gone ancient.

It now is a year round food, no longer considered a holiday delicacy.

★ ★ ★

In the Pontiac area its breeding in recent years also has undergone a marked change.

No longer is the commercial bird raised in small numbers by most every local farmer.

Its nomadic tendencies have been curtailed. Our intensive home building program has rendered that method almost obsolete, almost impossible.

★ ★ ★

For many generations the farmers of this area each raised and fattened a few turkeys to fatten their bank accounts. Their summer forage range covered several miles daily, principally off their owner's property.

While in their travels they feasted upon millions of grasshoppers and other destroyers of the farmers' crops, the flocks too often engaged in gobbler battles that were not conducive to good market appearances.

As our population grew intensive, the turkey range generally passed out. It was forced to become a home bird.

★ ★ ★

Most of the birds for market now are raised by the thousand on farms specially equipped for the purpose. They do not have such a wide range, but are heavily fed and grow fat and luscious by their enforced laziness.

Improved breeding also has increased the breast and drumstick meat, and decreased that of the neck, outer wings and tail piece.

★ ★ ★

So, as a common food, the turk is stepping back a few centuries. When the first white man landed on our shores, wild turkey was on his menu, several days in each week. It alternated with deer.

As the wild bird was nearly exterminated, its first cousin, the domesticated turkey, partially took its place.

But on account of high breeding costs, it joined the exclusive set, and for many generations was only a holiday bird. It was snooty.

★ ★ ★

Now with larger scale production, better birds, attractive packaging, modern refrigeration and higher prices on other meats, the housewife's budget snuggles up to the turkey.

It assumes its old position as a common food.

And the family seems to like it.

Stevenson Accepts Consultative Role

There can be general satisfaction in President EISENOWER'S offer to ADLAI E. STEVENSON of a consultative role in foreign policy and of the Democratic leader's acceptance of it.

This renewed interest in bipartisan formation of foreign policy recalls Senator VANDENBERG'S co-operation in the ROOSEVELT and TRUMAN Administrations. Mr. STEVENSON, of course, will take no direct part in formulating foreign policy nor share responsibility for it. But he will offer comment and suggestions on plans and programs.

Mr. STEVENSON'S awareness of the gravity of the world challenge was expressed in his acceptance of the President's invitation. This is a time, he said, "not of catastrophe but of choice, not of disaster but of decision, a time when the preferment of our aspirations over our fears becomes the duty of citizenship in civilization."

★ ★ ★

For the past few years Mr. Stevenson has traveled widely and talked with leaders of many countries. The fact that he was of the opposition party naturally would influence those leaders to speak more freely to him in criticism of our foreign programs.

In the coming NATO conference his viewpoint may be very helpful in preparing our plans. The fact that top leaders in both parties are being consulted should inspire the confidence of our NATO allies and the respect of our enemies.

Postage Problem

The Solution of Which Is to Bring a $25 U.S. Bond

Thanksgiving: What most of us should celebrate every day in the year.

A $25 U.S. Savings Bond will be given the reader of this column who figures out the greatest number of combinations of stamps that can be used in sending an air mail letter on which the total postage is twelve cents.

I've tried this out myself, but got the razzle dazzles after I had passed the hundred mark. Perhaps you can do much better. Remember it is only the combinations of stamps that total twelve that count.

To help you get started, I am informed by the Pontiac post office that stamps in all denominations from one-cent to 12-cent, inclusive, formerly were available, so we'll allow you to use them, although some of them may have been discontinued.

Likewise, it is well to remember that there are half-cent and 1½-cent stamps. There was a 4½-cent stamp, but it is no longer issued. However, since some may still be available, it will be allowed on the count.

So, get out your pencil and loosen your gray matter, and figure it out. When solved to your satisfaction, write us, giving the total of your combinations. If yours should be the highest number, we'll ask you to submit your combinations before the prize is awarded.

Employes of The Pontiac Press or members of their immediate families are not eligible to compete.

Mail your solution to Man About Town, The Pontiac Press, so it will be received by Friday noon, Nov. 29. Easy way to earn $25, or is it?

Here's Your Hat—What's Your Hurry?

David Lawrence Says:

Law Muddy on Union Contributions

WASHINGTON — What is "The Law of the Land" today with respect to the right of labor unions or corporations to contribute funds to elect candidates in a political campaign?

LAWRENCE

A federal grand jury in Detroit a few days ago acquitted the labor union known as the United Automobile Workers of America which had been under criminal indictment for two years on a charge of violating the statutes that bar both labor unions and corporations from contributing to election campaigns.

The verdict tended to confirm the union's plea that the money put up for television speeches by certain political candidates in Michigan was simply a use for "educational" purposes and a means of informing the union membership on current questions.

But the constitutionality of the law itself wasn't passed upon. A jury doesn't have to give its reasons, nor is its pronouncement a conclusive means of construing the meaning or scope of any law.

So now efforts are being made, notably by Senator Charles E. Potter of Michigan, Republican, to find out from the Department of Justice just what the score is. First, is there any immunity now to both corporations and labor unions, and may they contribute funds to campaigns just as individual citizens do? Second, is the law itself constitutional, and what can be done to clarify its status?

SUE AGAIN

Obviously another suit, this time a civil proceeding, will have to be brought in which the validity of the law could be questioned. The Supreme Court of the United States will have to pass on the issue finally, and there is little that Congress can do in the meantime.

For the existing law is explicit and undertakes to prohibit contributions of money or anything of value when offered by or solicited from any labor organization or corporation or business.

But is the present law constitutional? Certainly the First Amendment to the Constitution forbids Congress to pass any law that abridges the "freedom of speech" or the "freedom of assembly" of any citizens. If the language of the present law is applied strictly, then a group of individuals in a labor union cannot even hire a hall to hold a political meeting and discuss the issues.

PARALLEL GROUPS

Labor unions have gotten around the present ban by forming volunteer organizations specifically devoted to political activities, and these have been parallel to but not a part of labor-union organizations. Corporate executives likewise have participated in informal political committees as individuals and not as officers or executives of corporations.

To the extent that the labor unions or the corporations are paying the salaries of the "volunteer" workers on political committees, the question can be raised as to whether in that way contributions to the political campaign are being made by either the unions or the corporations themselves.

But there has been no constitutional way found to prevent a citizen from spending his money in a campaign when he does it without getting the authorization of a candidate. Certainly the candidate himself might object, but the citizen cannot be prevented from exercising his civil rights in any political cause.

CAN CITIZENS GIVE?

The real question is whether, when citizens band themselves together as labor organizations or corporations, they can be prohibited from contributing or their contributions can be restricted. But the courts will have difficulty with that point if it is unrelated, of course, to circumstances involving corruption.

The situation points to the eventual declaration by the Supreme Court that both labor unions and corporations may contribute funds to campaigns, though in the case of the latter Congress could refuse to allow deductions of such items for tax purposes.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Aspirin Leads Cortisone in Arthritis Aid Tests

In the British Medical Journal, a committee of the Medical Research Council and the Nuffield Foundation published a report of the comparative value of cortisone and aspirin in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

DR. BRADY

At the start of treatment, 61 patients were hospitalized for a month and given either cortisone or aspirin for 12 weeks.

In the second year, treatment was continuous, dosages being regulated by the attending physician who used the minimum amount to produce maximum functional efficiency. In the third and fourth years, the treatment and choice of drug were left to the discretion of the physician.

Progress was carefully assessed in all cases. The conclusion drawn was that there was little or no difference between the effects of cortisone and aspirin.

It was apparent that aspirin is likely to prove satisfactory more often than cortisone. "There are, however," says the report, "some patients who state that they derive more benefit from cortisone than from aspirin."

★ ★ ★

The patients who thought cortisone was more beneficial were perhaps dazzled by the "miracle medicine" and accordingly contemptuous of common cheap aspirin. Anyway, the doctor's measurement of range of movement, functional capacity and other joint changes would have more significance than whims of the patient.

NOT A CURE

I hope no one will infer that I recommend aspirin as a remedy for any kind of joint trouble.

In my opinion aspirin (acetylsalicylic acid) is an analgesic, that is, it relieves ache or pain and is not a remedy for anything. It is the least dangerous analgesic any one can take, in my opinion.

This test was made in England. Therefore the medical merchants in Yankeeland will probably ignore if and go on selling their gullible customers the miracle medicine for "arthritis" etc., without noticeable change.

It would be astonishing if this assessment of cortisone should not bring a number of protests from individuals who have experienced quick recovery from, say, bursitis, after a few "shots" of it. All I can say about such cases is that, long before cortisone was introduced, there were a certain number of cases in which recovery was just as quick, with or without treatment.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Letter About Social Group Holds Answer for Another

Is there such a thing as a young adult group (25-35) for single people in this fair city of ours? If there's a group around town that enjoys wholesome recreation such as ping pong, badminton, concerts, perhaps a civic project of some kind, how does a person go about joining? Could you please let us know.

29er

For the past three years there has been a club for single adults, and it has recently been disbanded for lack of membership and cooperation. It was called Lake-Landers and was sponsored by interested individuals for the first two years. Last year we secured assistance from Pontiac Parks and Recreation.

The members have always felt the need for such a club in Pontiac, and have tried to offer varied activities, despite poor attendance at times. However, we've been quite unsuccessful in trying to increase our membership.

If newcomers and readers would like to help in running this club, we advise you to call Pontiac Parks and Recreation at City Hall. Contact single adults that you feel would be interested. We know there are many fine individuals who feel as the readers who have already expressed opinion, so let's hear from you in large numbers.

Is Sure Hospital Will Be Finished

The Board of Trustees and officers of the Women's Auxiliary to General Hospital thought it wise to have open house for two weeks before voting on the bond issue, first to acquaint the public with the crowded conditions of the old wing and to have citizens see for themselves the well-thought-out plans of the new wing, along with its gaunt and grim emptiness.

This opportunity was taken by 150 persons. There were also 28 tour guides, making a total of 178 people who are community witnesses to the immediate and dire need of adequate hospital facilities for this city and surrounding areas.

Pontiac has beautiful churches and is proud of her schools. She must take equal pride in a properly equipped hospital. As a lifelong resident of Pontiac, I am convinced our City Commission, the Hospital Board and members of Women's Auxiliary will not rest until that "breath of life" is put into this empty giant of brick.

'We Must Oppose War on Morality'

We cannot, like Cain, say "I am not my brother's keeper." The trouble is so many do not have clean minds, because with the fall of Adam and Eve, sin entered the Garden and as a legacy of this fall, man has a strong inclination to evil. After eating the forbidden fruit, Adam and Eve were ashamed of their nakedness and made clothes of fig leaves.

Modesty in dress is an aid to chastity. There are forces at loose in the world seeking to reduce mankind to the barnyard level. Let us resist this by every means at our disposal. The drive to destroy morality, especially in youth, is part of the war against God and is being pushed with great vigor by communism. We must stand opposed to this.

Doubts Suggestion Would Be Solution

That college president may think he has the answer to financal problems of college students, but I doubt it. As soon as they start financing college educations like houses, etc., there'll be a big upsurge of students entering college, causing an even greater shortage of facilities. This will cause the price of college to rise even higher, and it will end up in one, big vicious circle. And another thing, what security has a bank in such an arrangement? You can repossess a house or factory, but once someone has an education he has it for good and the bank can't take it away for non-payment. I'm not a banker, but I'd never make a deal like that if I were.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Explains Advantages of Sales Job

Clark is at the crossroads. But he had formerly been a successful newspaper carrier and book salesman, so I recommended that he continue in selling as his lifetime career. "For salesmen," said the late Dr. Glenn Frank, "are the spark plugs of civilization." And they have the greatest job security in America!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-343: Clark G., aged 21, has just finished college.

"Dr. Crane, I'm in a dilemma," he confessed, "for I have two good positions offered me.

DR. CRANE

"One is an inside job in a manufacturing plant. The other involves selling hardware goods to retail merchants over a wide territory.

"I used to be a newspaper carrier for three years in high school and have spent two summers during college as an encyclopedia salesman, so I have a little experience in that field and like it.

"But my dad thinks I'd have more security working for the manufacturing firm.

"If you were in my shoes, which job would you take?"

1,000 BOSSES

If Clark accepts the job in the factory, he will then have just one boss.

After he works there for 5 or 10 years, suppose that boss retires or moves elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

Then Clark might or might not be moved up. But if a new employer takes over, maybe Clark will not harmonize as well with him.

Furthermore, if the present boss has a son who will be ready for a job in another year or two, maybe he might play favorites and push his son ahead of Clark, despite Clark's greater seniority.

Or suppose the firm should be purchased and merged with a larger outfit, which would probably staff its top jobs with its own key executives.

These are just a few of the hazards of working for just one boss.

★ ★ ★

But in sales work, you soon have many employers. In fact, every customer is actually a boss, so a good salesman with a large territory might have 1,000 bosses instead of only one.

SALESMAN'S SECURITY

It takes time to build up a large sales clientele, just as it does to recruit a big medical, dental or law practice.

But that clientele belongs primarily to the salesman and only secondarily to his firm.

A salesman thus can take most of his customers with him and go to a rival firm if his company fails to treat him fairly.

For in this highly competitive modern world, there are many equally good insurance firms and automobiles and furniture factories and gasolines, etc.

So nowadays the salesman has an even greater degree of safety than ever before in world history.

Despite the rise of billion dollar corporations, the final success of all of them depends on the salesmen thereof.

★ ★ ★

And the salesman really owns the clientele which he develops.

So no other job offers as much security as does sales work.

RECRUIT NEW BOSSES

For example, if you work for a single boss and he fires you, or his business goes bankrupt, your salary can drop from $100 per week to zero in a moment of time.

If you are a salesman, however, and have recruited 100 customers, maybe one of them dies or grows irate and quits. But that still leaves you 99 other bosses, so your income drops very little (1 per cent).

And by a little cold canvassing, you can then recruit another client to bring your total back up to the 100-mark.

So please regard salesmanship as a choice profession, on the same plane as law or medicine. It is a career for smart men with ambition and vigor.

★ ★ ★

But it usually takes several years to build up a thriving clientele, so pick a good product and a good territory; then stick there for life!

Millionaire Stern Helps Soble

Reds Try to Locate in Capital

(This is the eighth of 12 articles in which confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble tells the innermost secrets of an espionage ring in the U.S. of which he was a leader for 15 years.)

By JACK SOBLE
(Written with Jack Lotto)

When the door opened, the beautiful stranger threw her arms around me in tight embrace and gave me a long, passionate kiss.

This was my introduction to Martha Dodd Stern, daughter of the late U.S. ambassador to Germany, William E. Dodd.

All I had said was "I am Sam."

This was the code name given me by my Soviet Secret Police superior to use in contacting her husband, multi-millionaire Alfred K. Stern.

BECAME GREAT FRIENDS

The Sterns, who became my close friends after that first meeting in their swank New York apartment in the winter of 1944, were exact personality opposites. But they were as one in their ardent espousal of Communist causes.

The slightly built, ever-dapper Stern chased after the Russians to be allowed to do their bidding. Perhaps it was because he was completely overshadowed, thoroughly dominated by his wife.

And it was over a round of drinks that Martha told me a strange story of her twisted loyalty to the Soviet Union.

SPIED ON DAD

Apparently to impress me, she bragged how she had spied on her own father for the Russians. She said that during her father's term as ambassador in Berlin in the early 1930s she had had a love affair with an official of the Soviet embassy, who actually was an NKVD agent.

At his behest, Martha related, she stole information from the secret files of the U.S. embassy —to which she had easy access— and turned it over to the agent.

This exciting woman, who was seldom without a cocktail in easy reach, had once even trysted with Hitler and later described the fuehrer as a "frigid celibate."

WANTED MORE 'WORK'

On one of my visits to their fancy apartment overlooking New York's Central Park, Stern complained to me that he was "not active enough for the motherland." He urged me to arrange a meeting with my contact.

Accordingly I brought "the professor," Stephen N. Choundenko, to another Stern residence, in Lewisboro, Conn. Stern told "the professor" he felt he was being "neglected," and urged him to find a business enterprise which Stern could use as a cover.

When we left Stern's home, "the professor" instructed me to go immediately to Riverside Drive and 72nd Street. He told me to carry a Saturday Evening Post in my hand and "wait for a man carrying a New York Times who will ask you how to get to the George Washington Bridge," about five miles away. At the rendezvous point I met Anatole Gromov, who then was acting as first secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

AL CARRIED SECRETS

Gromov was the Russian agent known as "Al" to whom Elizabeth Bentley turned over government secrets filched by members of two big capital espionage rings.

The Russian, who later was to be promoted to head of the American section of Soviet Intelligence on his return to Moscow, ordered me to meet him in Washington the following Sunday.

We rendezvoused near the Washington Monument and then went to a small restaurant.

Gromov said he had an "extremely important mission" for me.

Although this particular plan misfired, as far as I knew, the thinking behind it indicates the vast scope of Soviet espionage operations.

WANTS CAPITAL ADDRESS

"We have," Gromov told me, "a group of young people working in various government agencies and it will be necessary for you to live in Washington in order to obtain reports from them."

The diplomat stated there was a fashionable dress and men's shop in the business section of Washington for sale at a price of $300,000 which would be ideal as a Washington headquarters and cover for the operations.

I told Gromov I was not in a position to account for such a large sum of money and he mentioned Stern as the possible "front man" for the money.

The vastness of the venture frightened me and I felt I could avoid a decision by not keeping the next appointment with Gromov. Consequently, I did not show up the following Sunday as I was supposed to.

★ ★ ★

Early the following day, "the professor" phoned that I should meet him immediately. He wanted to know why I had failed to rendezvous. I concocted the excuse that I was on my way to Pennsylvania Station when I thought I was being followed and abandoned the trip as a safety measure.

He complimented me on my caution but ordered me to go the following Sunday.

When I finally met Gromov again I informed him I had spoken to Stern, and that he was not able to manage the finances.

I heard nothing more of the Washington project.

WHAT THEY DON'T KNOW — They may be diabetic now or one of 4,750,000 persons who will be some day.

U. S. Seeks Out Its Diabetics

BETHESDA, Md. (NEA) — One million Americans soon may learn for the first time that they are diabetics.

★ ★ ★

That's the startling number of unsuspecting victims that the American Diabetes Association will try to locate in a nationwide checkup program which is on all this week.

The urgent need for this gigantic disease dragnet is revealed by reports showing that half of the estimated two million U. S. diabetics don't know they've got the disease.

During Diabetes Week, a sweeping publicity campaign will urge everyone to get an examination for diabetes. Doctors and health agencies will conduct the tests in some parts of the country. In other areas, special urinalysis test kits will be available free of charge.

★ ★ ★

People will be asked to mail the kits to designated laboratories. Anyone who shows evidence of diabetes will be notified.

Diabetes is a disease which has been puzzling the medical profession for years. It results from an absence or ineffectiveness of insulin in the body. Insulin is a hormone produced by the pancreas gland.

★ ★ ★

Without this hormone the body is unable to convert sugar into energy. Therefore, an excess of sugar builds up in the blood and spills over into the urine. This forms poisons which can throw the victim into a coma.

★ ★ ★

Diabetics are found usually in families with a history of the disease or among fat persons. And health specialists estimate that 4,750,000 people who don't have diabetes now will get it sometime in their lives.

★ ★ ★

That's why scientists at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda are carrying on extensive studies to find the mysterious cause.

SEEK DRUG TO REPLACE INSULIN

Research specialists are interested particularly in tests being made on an anti-diabetes drug that patients can swallow in tablet form. At first it was believed this revolutionary drug might enable all diabetics to live a normal life without taking the old-time insulin shots.

But NIH experts now say that the drug is only effective in mild, recently-acquired cases usually found in older persons. So far it has been of little or no help in treating acute cases common to adolescents.

Specialists do believe the drug may help them make startling advances in diabetes research. Presently they know that it works like insulin in reducing the dangerous excess sugar in the blood.

But they don't know why. They believe, however, that when they find out they will be a lot closer to discovering the cause and means of preventing diabetes.

REDUCE COMPLICATIONS

Doctors also expect the drug will play a big part in reducing complications resulting from the disease. Sometimes diabetics develop blindness, kidney ailments and hardening of the arteries; they are easy targets for infection.

★ ★ ★

Health experts explain that half of the estimated 50,000 annual diabetics deaths result from these complications.

This is one of the main reasons why doctors emphasize the necessity of detecting diabetes in its early stages.

Already tests are being conducted with the wonder drug cortisone which may some day enable doctors to unmask diabetic tendencies in people even before they develop apparent symptoms.

★ ★ ★

Other research is going on to prevent formation of mysterious substances in the body which considerably reduce the effectiveness of insulin treatment. Staggering amounts of insulin are required to treat patients whose bodies build up this resistance.

Scientists believe discovery of the source and nature of these anti-insulin substances also will greatly advance their efforts to wipe out diabetes.

Pakistan Signs Again to Buy U.S. Produce

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan today signed its fourth agreement to buy U.S. surplus agricultural products.

Pakistan will pay $53,450,000, bringing the total for American surpluses to $186,100,000. The proceeds will be spent in Pakistan for economic development projects or for expenses of U.S. agencies.

Wheat, rice, dairy products and tallow will be supplied under the new pact.

The United States leads the rest of the world in agricultural production.

Land Deeded to Township

Lack of Funds Holds Up Strip's Development as Recreation Area

A narrow strip of land deeded to Waterford Township by the Conservation Department, will not be developed for recreational purposes at the present time, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Located between Pontiac and Elizabeth Lake roads, the 225-foot wide strip, includes ten wooded acres approximately one mile long, and runs almost to the edge of Crescent Lake.

There are no funds available for development, and according to recreation director Tom Belton, "there is no pressing need for development of that parcel at the present time."

Belton said that within a few years the township will need much more land than is now being used and this newly-deeded strip is being held in reserve for that time.

★ ★ ★

Although heavily wooded and low in spots, the property could house a central community structure, fields for active games, and playground apparatus for children, Belton said.

Another 16-acre plot on Cooley Lake Rd., near Four Towns school is also being held by the township for future recreational development.

An additional 32-acre plot located on Lochaven Rd., near Four Towns school is to be used for recreation purposes.

New Mexico Still Hunter's Paradise

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (INS) — Despite an unparalleled industrial growth in New Mexico, the nation's fourth largest state remains a hunter's paradise.

★ ★ ★

The New Mexico state fish and game department reports that in the state's mountain and plains areas there are an estimated 350,000 deer, 25,000 antelope, 7,000 elk, 2,000 black bears, 25,000 to 30,000 wild Merriam turkeys, 500 bighorn sheep, 1,80 peccary and 400 Barbary sheep.

And the department says the game population is growing constantly.

Catch Night Dogs

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A night on the town for unchaperoned dogs is taboo in Tulsa. Finance Commissioner Fay Young says he is planning a dog-catching night patrol as a means of plugging a loophole in the city dog ordinance. He said some Tulsans are complaining that owners let their dogs out after 5 p.m.—the time poundmen quit chasing the canines.

Bolshoi Ballet to Visit U. S. in Early 1959

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moscow's famous Bolshoi Ballet is expected to perform in the United States in early 1959.

★ ★ ★

Before then — probably next spring—the almost equally famous Moiseev Ensemble of Russian folk dancers is scheduled to appear in America.

★ ★ ★

Officials who disclosed this today said also that the American Ballet Theater may go to Russia next year on a reciprocal basis.

The American ballet group is much younger than the Bolshoi, but it has won considerable recognition, too.

Sol Hurok, New York impresario, was understood to have been given a State Department go ahead on arrangements for the expected visit by the Bolshoi and Moiseev dancers.

Both groups, each numbering between 100 and 125 dancers, have performed outside the Iron Curtain.

In the past, Soviet objections to a fingerprinting provision in American immigration law prevented such visits to the United States. But Congress since has knocked out the requirement that all nonofficial foreign visitors to America must be fingerprinted.

First Welland canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario was opened in 1829.

First U.S. Moon to Get Big Boost Going Into Space

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Navy revealed today that America's first satellite will be given an extra 720-mile-an-hour boost that will probably carry the sphere to a maximum altitude of 1,500 miles as it orbits around the earth.

★ ★ ★

The extra boost, in addition to the 18,000 miles an hour necessary to create a satellite, was described as a safety margin for the first "baby moon," which may be launched as early as Dec. 8.

Roger Easton, chief of the radio frequencies section of the satellite tracking branch, said that for the same reasons the first three and one-quarter pound satellite is more likely to be successful than the larger 21 and one-half pound models to be launched beginning in March.

The Navy at the same time told a news conference that there was a delay totaling six months in the delivery of the three stages of the American satellite rocket. The stages were manufactured under separate contracts by different commercial firms.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said the delays, amounting to more than the margin by which the Russians will have beaten America into space if the December launching is successful, were due to the fact that "these were all new rockets, using new fuels."

State Urged to Boost Industry-Luring Budget

DETROIT (AP) — The public relations advisory committee of the Michigan Economic Development Department has urged Michigan step up its national advertising and industrial promotion.

Edwin O. George, committee chairman and a vice president of the Detroit Edison Co., said a survey showed that Michigan was the smallest spender of 20 states studied who were active in industrial promotion.

Adds Insult to Injury

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hobbling into court on crutches, Mrs. Phyllis Lamm, 22, was awarded a divorce from Cecil Lamm, 24, after testifying her truck driver husband, among other things, made her cook his meals and iron his shirts while she was in a wheel chair with both legs and her pelvis broken after being hit by a car.

Crop for Champagne Ruined by Spring Frost

RHEIMS, France (INS) — France's champagne crop hit a 30-year low this year, but experts say lovers of the heady, bubbly wine need not fear an immediate shortage.

★ ★ ★

The reason is that since champagne is a blend, it will take four to five years before this year's production is marketable. Existing stocks are sufficient to cushion the effects of this shortage.

RUINED BY FROST

Unseasonal frost this spring ruined the champagne grape crop. It amounted to a bare 3,698,520 gallons against 10,490,065 gallons last year.

★ ★ ★

The resulting short supply in the maturing vats of the champagne region, however, is expected to provoke a rise in prices. But this rise is not expected to affect U.S. retail prices.

★ ★ ★

Champagne sales in the U.S. last year amounted to $4,537,568, which made "bubbly" the biggest dollar earner among French wines.

★ ★ ★

For this reason, informed sources said, French authorities will adopt measures to prevent a rise in champagne prices in America.

★ ★ ★

Champagne sales throughout the world in 1956 amounted to 44,300,000 bottles, a 16 per cent increase over the preceding year. This was an all-time record.

★ ★ ★

French were by far the biggest consumers. They drank 31,278,718 bottles. American champagne consumption was 2,684,723 bottles, a shade smaller than that in Britain where 2,766,465 bottles were emptied during 1956.

Waterford Eyes Cultural Center Property Offer

A meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Rev. Walter Teeuwissen in Waterford Township to study the property offer made by Frank Steere for a cultural center.

Steere has given the township 17 scenic acres on Pontiac Lake and Highland roads, providing a library and cultural center are erected on the land.

The offer specified that the building was to cost "not less than $200,000 and the township is to guarantee a $35,000 fund for maintenance."

Supervisor Elmer Johnson and superintendent of schools William Shunck have appointed the following people to make up the Steere Offer Study Committee:

★ ★ ★

Tom Belton, Herbert Wettlaufer, Mrs. Kenneth Valentine, Donald Adams, Avis Carey, Mr. Carroll Appel and Mrs. Walter Forbes.

★ ★ ★

Others include Mrs. William Shunck, Mrs. Helen Siegman Mrs. William Vann, and the Rev. Walter Teeuwissen, acting chairman.

TECHNICIAN AT WORK—Mirza Javad Shustary, 29, came to the United States from Iran for an education. That was seven years ago, and now he is a permanent resident here. He works as a development engineer at the Ford Motor Co.'s Michigan Proving Grounds, northwest of Romeo.

He Decides to Stay

Iranian Student Makes Romeo His Home

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — An Iranian student who came to the United States to further his education has decided to remain here permanently.

Mirza Javad Shustary, 29, is a native of Teheran. Seven years ago he arrived in this country, determined to learn the latest developments in the science of farming.

Shustary's original intention was to return to his homeland with a college degree and put his new technical know-how into practice on family farms in Shiraz, some 400 miles south of Teheran.

"Jay," as he is known to his friends and associates, has changed his mind. He has found his niche as a development engineer at the Ford Motor Co.'s Michigan Proving Grounds, four miles northwest of here.

"When I left home, my family was just starting to use modern farm machinery. My father bought his first tractor the same year I came to America," Shustary recalls.

"We were going to start a cooperative program of machinery usage among our tenant farmers," Jay said, "and I understand that plan is being carried out today."

Shustary had one year of college at Teheran University where he took liberal arts courses. Then he was accepted as a student at Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton. After one term he transferred to Michigan State University where he received both a bachelor's and a master's degree in mechanical engineering — with an option in agriculture.

"I served in the Iranian cavalry during my country's required two years of military service," Shustary said. "I keep in training now breaking horses and teaching riding at Gay-El-Rancho in Gaylord every summer."

The athletic young Iranian has a cottage at Lakeville and spends much of his spare time working with the Palamino horses on Royal A. Holt's farm north of Romeo. He says, "Besides riding, I played soccer in Teheran and while I was at MSU, we formed the first soccer team there—as a private club. That was in 1952, and now it is a popular, university-sponsored sport."

Shustary's job at the Proving Grounds is a technical one—he reports the results of tests on cars using experimental parts. During the evenings for the next few weeks he will be busy rehearsing for his part in the Romeo Players' Dec. 13 production of "The Happy Time." He will portray "Papa."

Charter Will Include Millage for Library

SOUTHFIELD—A special charter millage covering libraries, recreation and public building construction has been written into the new city of Southfield's proposed charter.

Charter commissioner Eugene Swem said the one mill tax would be spread on assessed valuation and would cost the average home owner about $5.00 per year.

The proposed city charter, not yet completed is for a 26-square-mile area in the southern section of the township. Residents in the area voted to incorporate into a city last September and will vote on the charter early next year.

Holly C. of C. Plans Yule Festivities

HOLLY — President Raymond E. Addis of the local Chamber of Commerce has appointed Glenn Sawyer, Edwin Schenck and Donald R. Winglemire as a committee to stimulate Christmas decorations in Holly.

The Santa Claus feature will be in charge of Sol Klopman, and a committee composed of Joe McCall, Samuel M. Wright and Clarence L. Lester will make arrangements for the children's party.

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED LA PLANTE JR.

Rite Held in Our Lady of Refuge

Wed in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE—United in marriage at Our Lady of Refuge Church recently were Mary Lou Gwodz and Alfred R. La Plante Jr.

The Rev. Giles Bartol performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gwodz of 7815 Eldora. The senior La Plantes of 4322 Bluebird Dr. are the groom's parents.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white lace and tulle with insets of the lace set into the skirt which extended to a chapel length train. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of tulle. A white orchid centered her prayer book and sprays of stephanotis cascaded from it.

Six attendants preceded her down the aisle. The matron of honor was Mrs. Lloyd Shipman of Union Lake. Her bouffant gown of nylon tulle had a knife pleated skirt. With it she wore a tiny blue hat of matching tulle and carried a spray of Fygi mums. The gowns of the bridesmaid were styled like the matron of honor's, in a light rust shade.

The bride's niece, Phyllis Gwodz was the junior bridesmaid; the others were Jeannette Pierce, Pontiac; Barbara Schauer and Janet Stephans, Walled Lake; and Jo-Ann Cyganski, Detroit.

Tom Olson of Wolverine Lake served as best man. Seating the guests were the bride's brother Robert Gwodz; Ted Robinson, Wolverine Lake; and Jim Graham and Howard Maltby of Walled Lake.

A breakfast was served to 150 guests in the American-Ukranian Peoples home in Dearborn following the ceremony. In the evening 450 persons attended a dinner in the same hall.

A wedding trip to Houghton Lake was taken by the couple who are awaiting the completion of their new home at Wolverine Lake.

New High School Proposed

Madison Heights Voting

MADISON HEIGHTS — Voters here are going to the polls today to decide whether they will give the school board permission to borrow $1,665,000 to build a new high school.

No tax increase rate is included on the ballot because under the unlimited tax bond arrangement for schools, the Board of Education sets the rate each year to collect the taxes needed for principal and interest payments.

Almont Library Has Book Week Feature Exhibits

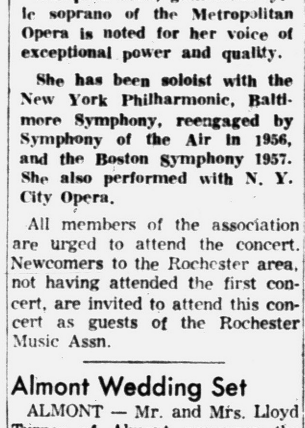
ALMONT—Book week will again be observed at the Henry Stephens Memorial Library. Books for children, young adults and older adults will be on display.

A feature of the exhibit will be the many books given in memory of Almont's former citizens by Mrs. Mary F. Cochrane and family.

Highlights of the week include: Today at 2:30 Story Hour for Pre-School Children, (ages 3-6). Wednesday, at 7:30: Panel discussion on "What Can the Library do for Young Adults?" Participating will be a group of high school students. Parents and other adults are invited.

Saturday, at 2 and 7, open house will be held for all. Gift suggestions, library's reference facilities, and magazines available to borrowers will receive special consideration.

Library hours during the school year are: Monday 1-4; Wednesday, 1-4 and 7-9; Saturday, 2-5 and 7-9.



MARQUITA MOLL

Met Soprano Sings Tonight

New York Opera Star Will Be in Rochester for Concert

ROCHESTER—The Civic Music Assn. of Rochester will present Marquita Moll, tonight for the second concert of the season. The concert will be in the student center of the new high school at 8:15.

Marquita Moll, glamorous lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera is noted for her voice of exceptional power and quality.

She has been soloist with the New York Philharmonic, Baltimore Symphony, reengaged by Symphony of the Air in 1956, and the Boston Symphony 1957. She also performed with N. Y. City Opera.

All members of the association are urged to attend the concert. Newcomers to the Rochester area, not having attended the first concert, are invited to attend this concert as guests of the Rochester Music Assn.

Novi Hears Plan for 200 Homes

Township Board Told of Huge Project Slated for Area

NOVI TOWNSHIP — Thompson-Brown Co., land developers, outlined plans for a large-scale housing development to members of the Novi Township Board at a recent board meeting.

The company intends to erect about 200 homes on a 160-acre site located on Wixom road about one mile south of the New Lincoln plant in Wixom, according to Hadley J. Bachert, Novi Township clerk.

This project is part of a master plan for a gigantic development in the area.

Thompson-Brown Co. intends to follow the same general plan that was used in the development of Kendallwood subdivision at 12-Mile and Farmington roads.

A company representative told board members that the homes would be served by a community water system and by a sanitary sewer system.

It is expected that subdivision plans for the proposed development will be submitted to the township board for approval in the near future.

2 Lapeer Girls Chosen as DAR 'Good Citizens'

LAPEER — Chosen DAR Good Citizens at Lapeer High School here were Collene Kilgren and Lydia Lebodovych.

Collene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Suuppi of 39 Suuppi Dr. She has been class secretary three years; member of the chorus, Glee Club and Drama Club cheerleader, and a member of the Student Council. She plans to attend Eastern Michigan College and become a teacher.

Lydia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lebodovych of 1021 West Genesee St. She has been active in the library clubs, girls athletics, and has held several class and student council offices. She plans to attend University of Michigan, aiming toward laboratory or pharmaceutical work.

Both girls were chosen on the basis of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Farmers to Pay More Next Year in Property Tax

WASHINGTON (INS) — Agriculture Department economists said today farmers can expect to pay about five per cent more in property taxes next year as real estate values continue to soar.

They added that little relief is in sight in succeeding years, stating that "farm property taxes will reflect the increasing cost of local governmental services — chiefly schools and roads."

The agriculture department's "farm cost situation" report said that other costs will also climb in 1958 — although perhaps by smaller amounts.

Metamora Jury Takes 10 Minutes to Decide

METAMORA — A Circuit Court jury took only 10 minutes to decide that Lloyd Andison of Metamora was entitled to the $1,287 he asked in his suit against Earl Russell and Russell Kelley.

Andison, an excavating contractor, delivered fill sand to the drive-in lunch stand of Kelley and Russell last April. He testified they refused to pay for it.

Fight Surplus or Live With It?

U. S. Faces Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is coming face to face with the question of whether it should continue to fight farm surpluses or help farmers learn ot live with them.

Except during and just after World War II, this country has been battling from surpluses since the early thirties. Oversupplies have been blamed for low farm prices and inadequate agricultural returns.

But year after year, new evidence is piled on old evidence that it is not possible to eliminate the surpluses—at least not with methods.

Advancing agricultural technology appears to be able to keep a step or so ahead of efforts of government and producer to control production. Science and research keep developing higher-yielding crops that are better able to resist diseases. Farmers keep learning how to produce more and more on less and less land with less and less labor.

This being the case, many farm leaders are suggesting: Maybe we should accept surpluses as a normal aspect of farming and concentrate on ways of living with and using them to the general advantage.

STUMBLING BLOCK SEEN

The big stumbling block to this is how surpluses might be accepted without being allowed to penalize farmers through markets depressed by over-production.

Farm production this year should just about put a clincher on the contention that surpluses cannot be prevented unless rigid restructions —which undoubtedly would be unacceptable to most farmers—are imposed. The output of all commodities combined will set a new record.

It was the theory of the earlier farm programs that acreage allotments and marketing quotas would cure surpluses. But technology stepped in to show farmers how they could offset and each time the government cut their acreage allotments.

Then came the Eisenhower administration with its flexible price support theory. It was the administration's contention that reductions in price supports in times of surpluses would discourage production and encourage sales of the surpluses, and that increases in supports in times of shortages would encourage greater production and put a brake on consumption until supplies became more plentiful.

YW Offers Training, Recreation

"I like people and, like many young mothers, I appreciate a day out regularly." Those are the words of Mrs. William Crisp Jr., of Cass Lake Rd., as she explained why she became active in YWCA work.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Crisp with two pre-school children in 1952 was tickled to discover that the Pontiac YWCA, 22 Franklin Blvd., had a day nursery for children combined with a Lady's Day Out program on Wednesday.

ACTIVE HOUSEWIFE—Mrs. William Crisp Jr., busy housewife, finds time to participate in YWCA adult activities. Now head of the adult program, she is shown during a puppet show held recently at the YWCA. Supported by Pontiac Area United Fund, the YW offers a variety of hobby and recreation opportunities to young adults and teenagers alike.

Later she took up craft classes at the YW, such as ceramics and sewing, as useful hobbies and soon was caught up in the whirl of young adult activities.

After time off for her third child, Mrs. Crisp returned to the YW in 1956 to teach ceramics and to her surprise, was soon elected to the board of directors and finally named chairman of Young Adults.

★ ★ ★

Today she is busy supervising and planning such adult activities as bowling, swimming, ceramics, marketing class, flower making, cake decorating, copper enameling, bridge, sewing, conversational Spanish and others.

MANY ACTIVITIES AVAILABLE

These are all available to young adults (18 years of age and over) while the Lady's Day Out offers the nursery for the children and a chance to swim at the YMCA, a 'swim and slim' class plus many other recreational and craft opportunities.

★ ★ ★

For teenage girls, the YWCA has its Y-Teen Clubs in all junior and senior high schools in Pontiac, Waterford Township, Rochester and Lake Orion.

In addition, teenagers of both sexes can attend the Junior High Canteen Friday nights at the YW for games, dancing and refreshments.

Adult classes are also open to men and associate members.

USO HOSTESSES

Another important YWCA project is its work for the USO Canteen. The YW has trained 100 young women, 18 to 26 years of age, to serve as USO hostesses. The USO meets at the YW and once a month the girls visit nearby military bases.

★ ★ ★

The YW today has some 300 teenage girls and about 200 adults enrolled, according to Mrs. Reba R. Netzler, director.

There are but two professional staff workers, including Mrs. Netzler, plus some office and maintenance workers.

Instructors for classes and operation of the nursery is in the hands of 16 persons who receive "token payments" for their services.

The YWCA derives four-fifths of its income from the Pontiac Area United Fund, according to Mrs. Netzler, who said, "community support of the UF campaign is essential if we are to continue our present level of service. And we hope some day to have a new building and decentralize our services to reach a wider area."

Paints Own License

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) —It isn't that police lack an appreciation of beauty, but in Arkansas you just can't paint your auto license tag to match the color of your car. George Pfifer of North Little Rock was fined $13.25 on a charge of defacing a state tag. He said he was just prettying up his car when he painted his tag pink.

Grade-Crossing Signs Traced Back to 1885

BOSTON — The X-shaped "Stop, Look and Listen" signs at railroad crossings can be traced back to 1835, when Massachusetts enacted a law requiring warning signs. The first ones were merely wide boards spanning the wagon roads and supported by a pole at each end.

★ ★ ★

In 1879 the old Cincinnati & St. Louis became the first road to use the "cross-buck" of today.

The slogan, "Stop, Look and Listen," was introduced in the 1880's and soon became standard on all railroads.

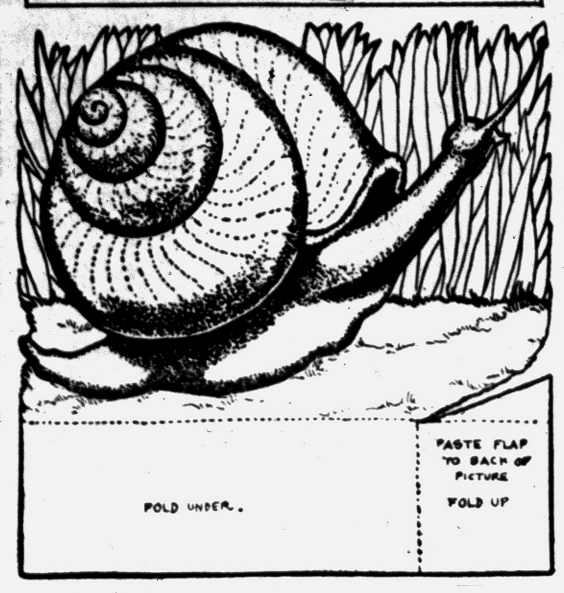
Junior Editors Quiz on SNAILS



QUESTION: How slow is a snail?

ANSWER: When people use the phrase "as slow as a snail," they usually don't know exactly what they are talking about. We're pretty sure of that because we put the question recently to several learned zoologists who were not able to come up with a precise answer. It's true in general, of course, that snails are slow. You have only to watch one to make sure of that. But just how slow is something that the experts apparently haven't gotten around to figuring out. For one thing, there are 85,000 kinds of snails in the world, and obviously some of them are faster, or slower, than others. For another, any snail's speed depends a lot on temperature, moisture and other factors. Land snails are active mostly at night, and especially after rains.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Snails hibernate in winter so this isn't a good time to seek them. But you can start now on a terrarium project and plan to capture some snails for it next summer. Be sure to have some screening over the terrarium, however, or the snails will crawl right out. By watching your snails, you can see for yourself just how slowly they move.

U. S. Talking, Demonstrations Too Late

Russia Scores Victory in Strength Propaganda

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — We're getting self-conscious.

We've been busting our buttons —talking and performing—to show how strong we are ever since Russia fired the Sputniks.

But we didn't have the right muscles at the right time. The Russians won a propaganda victory.

Allies and neutrals were left with visions of Russian missiles and hydrogen warheads dropping in their flowerpots.

Something had to be done to reassure friends, warn foes. A whole batch of statements and performances followed, none as spectacular as Sputnik.

Last Wednesday Gen. Curtis LeMay, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, captained a jet-tanker nonstop from Massachusetts to Argentina without refueling, a record of over 6,000 miles. After a rest, he flew it back to Washington, also nonstop.

That same day three jet-bombers flew 8,000 miles from California to the Philippines, nonstop but with refueling.

Over the weekend six B52 bombers flew nonstop from Florida to Argentina and—without landing but with refueling—flew back to upstate New York.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the Navy was being equipped with atomic depth bombs, said it had shot off various kinds of missiles, and told of breaking an altitude record with a rocket.

All this illustrated President Eisenhower's talk to the nation two weeks ago, a talk in which he said he would give the "rough" with the "smooth." There was more of the smooth than the rough.

He said, with examples, this country had developed a family of missiles, with some 38 different types either in operation or under development.

In some instances he's been accused of overstating his case.

While Russia is claiming development of a missile that can span an ocean and a continent, this country has surrounded Russia with air bases and now is suggesting bases from which intermediate range missiles can be fired, if they have the missiles.

The United States has no intercontinental ballistic missile yet. But Eisenhower said because of these bases those shorter range missiles are in some cases as good as the other kind.

And he added that the intercontinental kind of missile, as of today, doesn't cancel out the deterrent power of the Strategic Air Force.

LeMay's tanker and the B52 bombers are part of the Strategic Air Force. Their flight to Argentina is hardly unrelated to Eisenhower's talk about their deterrent power.

The United States Office of Education predicts a continued shortage of engineers and scientists through 1960 despite the enrollment of 77,738 new engineering students last year.

In addition to being the world's Motor Capital, Detroit is also the salt center of the U. S. It also has some of the country's largest drug and rubber manufacturing plants.

AMERICA'S BIGGEST CAR VALUE—ON SALE TODAY!

1958 Mercury with Sports-Car Spirit and Limousine Ride

Introducing the year's biggest advance in car performance—the superb control and handling ease of a sports car—everything from new Merc-O-Matic Keyboard Control to entirely new Marauder V-8 engines with Cool-Power Design—plus the room, ride, and comfort of a limousine—new size, weight and luxury; dimensions that often surpass those of the costliest cars.

▲ LUXURIOUS MONTCLAIR PHAETON SEDAN (above). ALL MERCURYS ARE POWERED BY THE MOST ADVANCED ENGINES IN THE INDUSTRY. THERE ARE 3 NEW MARAUDER V-8's: 312 HP, 330 HP, 360 HP.

4 SERIES TO CHOOSE FROM. PRICES START JUST ABOVE THE LOWEST. The Monterey series has 5 models within easy reach of buyers of low-priced cars. For only a few dollars more, Mercury's six Montclairs give you many additional luxury features. There's a choice of six station wagon models in 3 price ranges. For magnificence unlimited, there are 3 models in the entirely new Park Lane series. And, even here, prices are surprisingly modest.

ANNOUNCING AN ENTIRELY NEW FAMILY OF MARAUDER ENGINES WITH UNIQUE COOL-POWER DESIGN. The great engineering advances of "Cool-Power" Design include new In-block Combustion, Water-flow Intake Manifold, 3-stage Cooling, and Cool-head Valves. Power and fuel once lost to heat and friction are put to work for you. New Marauder V-8's are teamed with new high-economy rear axle to give you more power, more mileage from less fuel.

ADVANCED TREND-SETTING STYLING—WONDERFUL NEW DRIVING AIDS. Mercury continues its leadership as the trend-setter—not only in styling, but in features. For example, new Super-Safe self-adjusting brakes. New Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic in the Park Lane series. And you can get features like a Speed-limit Safety Monitor, automatic power lubrication, and many others. We invite you to attend the first showing. Be sure to stop in at our showroom.

Hal Boyle Says:

Man Who Helped Children Reaps Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)— Sometimes it pays to spend a little time with the kids.

An hour devoted to helping two of his four children has set Martin Umanoff, 32-year-old industrial designer, on the road to becoming a millionaire.

One evening last December his two daughters, Laurie, 8, and Sandee, 7, came to him and said: "Daddy, we're trying to learn to tell time, but it's too hard. Can you help us?"

The problem intrigued Umanoff, a former Air Force sergeant. Puzzles had interested him since childhood, much of which he had spent in a wheelchair as the result of a polio attack.

With crayons, cardboard and thumb tacks he invented a new-type clock within half an hour. The left side was clearly marked "before," the right side "after." The hour numbers and hour hand were red. The minute hand and numbers in blue.

Using his simplified clock he taught his children in 15 minutes to tell time.

"We have since found that any child, even as young as 4, who can read numbers up to 30 can learn to tell time in a few minutes," Umanoff said.

His children took the working model of his clock to school the next day. The teachers immediately asked for more. Within a few weeks Umanoff made and distributed 1,000 free.

Then a school principal told him: "Your clocks are a wonderful idea, but children need to learn more than simply how to tell time. They need something to teach them the importance of time."

Umanoff's answer was to create a cartoon character called Terry Tell Time, a half-imp, half-child in a Tyrolean hat.

★ ★ ★

The little character has proved —as did Mickey Mouse and Davy Crockett—an immediate commercial bonanza.

Umanoff has leased rights to manufacturers for $20,000,000 worth of merchandise using his Terry Tell Time symbol. There will be watches, school pads ("it's time to do your home work"); toothbrushes ("it's time to brush your teeth"); school bags ("it's time to go to school"), and some 55 other toys and products.

Daughter Ought to Learn Soon That Weeping Is for the Willows

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My daughter has been married for only four months and she calls me every day and cries bitter tears that she is unhappy and wants to come home. It is breaking my heart because she married a nice young fellow but she says they argue all the time and he is very hard to live with.

"Her father says not to let her come home and they should work out their own problems. Should we let her come home?"

HEARTBROKEN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If all the brides who "cried bitter tears" ran home to Mama, there would be four generations of weeping women in every house. Your husband is right. Encourage her to stay there and work it out.

ELIZABETH IT IS

"DEAR ABBY: My husband just hired a young man who calls me "Liz" in front of the customers. In the first place my name is ELIZABETH and I have never liked being called "LIZ" and in the second place I don't think he has any business calling me by either name.

"How can I tactifully let him know I do not like this? He is 20 years my junior. So far I have ignored it." IRKED

DEAR IRKED: If you lack the courage to tell him, have your husband suggest that he call you "Mrs. So and So." If he likes his job, he'll be glad to do it.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a boy of 15 and my problem is I have no friends. I got a bad start in life because I was sick a lot and am not very good at sports and if you aren't good at sports nobody wants to have anything to do with you.

"I wanted to be a doctor but I worry so much about not having any friends that my grades are poor. Can you please help me, Abby? I have nothing to live for." DISGUSTED WITH LIFE

DEAR DISGUSTED: Fifteen — and nothing to live for? Plenty of boys who are physically handicapped and cannot participate in sports at all have loads of friends. Quit feeling sorry for yourself and study harder. "D's" in high school don't make "M.D's" in college.

WHO'S THE HAPPIEST?

"DEAR ABBY: Where does everyone get the idea that just because a woman is not married she is man hungry and miserable. I am almost 60 and I have three boy friends going at once.

"I have a good-paying job and do what I please with my own money. I don't have to eat my heart out over anyone's lying and cheating. I've been married and I've been single (by choice) and let me tell you, I like it better this way." A FREE SOUL

DEAR FREE: I'll bet your boy friends like it better this way, too.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO MAXIE: Are you sure the lady downstairs is okay upstairs? Don't let her get you alone.

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Bride-to-Be Entertained at Shower

Kay Klinkhamer Lists Attendants for Dec. 28 Rite

At a miscellaneous shower given in her honor Saturday evening Kay Klinkhamer named attendants for her Dec. 28 wedding to Gene Russell.

★ ★ ★

Serving as maid of honor will be Joan Bligman of Wyandotte. Mary Russell of Ithaca, a sister of the bridegroom, and Winnie Haley of Ithaca will be bridesmaids.

TO AID BRIDEGROOM

Robert Russell of Ithaca, brother of the prospective bridegroom, will be best man. James Leigh of Lansing and Richard Dilsworth of Ithaca will seat the guests.

★ ★ ★

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Klinkhamer of Thorpe street, and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dora Mae Russell of Lansing.

Mrs. Egon Walser of Myrtle avenue hostessed the Saturday evening event.

SHOWER GUESTS

Among the guests were Mrs. Leslie Ferguson, Mrs. John Bates, Mrs. Emil Bruestle, Mrs. James Burke, Ruth Baumann, Margaret McLoon and Carol Buikema.

★ ★ ★

Others were Helen Hemingway, Dorothy O'Laughlin, Mrs. S. H. Klinkhamer, Mrs. Klinkhamer and Mrs. A. A. Snell.

Officers Named by Demiteens

Officers have been elected by members of the Demiteens. Serving as president of the group is Sally Hamilton.

★ ★ ★

Others assuming duties are Ruth Hoffman, vice president; Connie Ludwig, secretary; Janet Taylor, corresponding secretary and Bonnie Valuet, treasurer.

Betty Legare and Kathy Steinbaugh are heading the scrapbook committee, with Susan Pill handling publicity and LaNetta Rowston acting as historian.

★ ★ ★

Members have chosen Sally Huntoon and Mitzi Schroeder to serve with the TAP (Teens Against Polio) drive.

Cesar Romero Intends to Steer Clear of Altar

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Cesar Romero, one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors said he intends to remain that way—a bachelor.

"Eligible!" he growled, "there are lots of men around here richer than I am. Anyhow, I'm an old man now (he's 50) and settled in my ways."

Romero said he took a look around and noticed all his pals were either splitting up or getting divorces.

WELL ENOUGH ALONE

"And they're all getting sued and having a devil of a time. I figure I'd better leave well enough alone. Why look for trouble? I'm happy just the way I am."

★ ★ ★

As for raising a family, the actor snapped:

"So I get married and have a kid and when he's 10, I'm 60! Who wants it? If people insist on getting married they ought to do it in their late 20s or early 30s. By that time they have a chance to know their own minds."

Cesar admitted he was only a bouquet's throw away from the altar a couple of times.

"Once," he laughed, "I almost married a woman 10 years older than myself with two kids. I was lucky to get out of that one!"

UNDERSTANDS KIDS

Romero may be a confirmed bachelor, but he knows a lot about kids.

"I've practically raised my sister's two children," he said. "Her home was broken up and I had them for seven years so they got to thinking of me as their father.

"I tried to give them a sense of security and tried to tell them right from wrong.

"Too many people today," he added, "go by the book. They lean on psychology and don't spank their kids. That's a lot of baloney. You ought to bring them up normally and naturally.

★ ★ ★

Romero, the romantic bachelor, had a change of pace recently when he became TV father to 19-year-old Marcia Henderson on NBC's "Matinee Theater," but he said:

"I didn't feel any different. I don't have to have romantic roles to get along. I've outgrown them anyway."

TBI Club Gathers at Schimmel Home

The Wenonah drive home of Marie Schimmel was the setting for the Saturday TBI Club meeting. Mrs. Frank Coad assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Dale Fishwild spoke on ceramics and exhibited several pieces she has done.

The club will make tray favors and each member will donate a toy for Pontiac General Hospital.

Theater Study Set

Beginning Dec. 4 and continuing for 10 weeks, Will-O-Way Theater will offer a new winter term course. The 90-minute classes will be held once a week.

Dancing Group Gathers at Elks

A mid-November square dance was held by members of the Elks SaShay Quadrille Club when that group met at the Elks Temple Friday evening.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was William Spaulding. Calling were Howard Bond, Howard Upton, William Schmiel and Burnell MacAllister. John DePauw, Judge Cecil McCallum and Mr. Spaulding also led the promenaders.

★ ★ ★

Guests for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Webster.

Standish Group Holds Election of New Officers

Officers were elected when members of the Standish Group of the First Congregational Church gathered at the East Huron street home of Mrs. Dan Kinney for a combination dessert luncheon and needy family grocery shower.

Named president at the Friday meeting was Mrs. Charles Andrews. Others chosen were Mrs. Harry Manus, vice president; Mrs. E. C. Durphy, recording secretary; Mrs. August Shier, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Frank Dohner, treasurer.

Assisting Mrs. Kinney for the affair were Mrs. Shier and Mrs. Dohner.

Announcements were made of the building fund drive to be held Nov. 24 and the church bazaar Dec. 5.

The group's December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Morrison on East Huron street.

Colorful Fox Fur

Fox in colors of red, white or blue was shown in the Paris collections either as a suit collar or a coat lining.

Camp Fire Holds Rally

Candy Sale Slated

Three hundred Camp Fire Girls, Blue Birds and their leaders gathered Saturday morning at LeBaron School for a pre-candy sale rally. Mrs. Neil Wasserberger explained the purposes of the candy sale, which starts Nov. 25 and ends Dec. 15.

★ ★ ★

Decisions on which projects will benefit from the sale are based directly on ideas submitted by the girls.

Blue Birds will sell a peanut butter crunch candy while Camp Fire Girls will sell 1-pound boxes of individually wrapped chocolates.

Awards offered include a theater party for all girls selling 24 units of candy. Other awards are roller hats, three-dollar certificates for day camp or Camp Fire equipment, Camp Fire achievement necklaces, and 10-dollar awards to the top Blue Bird group and the top Camp Fire group.

Mrs. Wasserberger showed slides of camp activities.

New Sorority Honored at Tea

A new sorority, Zeta Phi Zeta, was honored by members of its sister sorority, Zeta Zeta Omega, at an afternoon tea Sunday at the Waterford home of Mrs. Gordon Booker.

★ ★ ★

Members of the new group attending were Penny Upchurch, Mary Lou Winter, Marian Boston, Linda Fitzpatrick and Judy Cotterman.

Also present were Joanne Giles, Marlene Shell, Bonnie Penn, Adele Liimatta, Genny Dovre and Betty Seymour.

Elizabeth Leland Weds in Candlelight Ceremony

A candlelight wedding and Communion service at Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday united Elizabeth Ann Leland and Daniel Hearne Ross. The 7:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert DeWitt.

★ ★ ★

Elizabeth's parents are Robert C. Leland of Birmingham and Mrs. Virginia Braun Leland of Bloomfield Hills. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ross of Birmingham.

GOWNED IN SILK

The bride wore a gown of Italian silk accented by an Alencon lace bodice and a chapel train. A pearl tiara secured her fingertip veil, and she held a cascade arrangement of white chrysanthemums.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. William E. Ross of Royal Oak, matron of honor, wore a dark brown velveteen gown featuring a gold sash and a feather hat.

Bridesmaid Sandra Gross of Birmingham wore a toffee-colored velveteen dress with a gold satin sash and dark brown feather hat. Both attendants carried chrysanthemums bordered by leaves and wheat.

★ ★ ★

William E. Ross of Royal Oak served as best man. Seating the guests were Douglas Simon Ross, Richard Earl Loeding and Richard M. Ross, all of Birmingham.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS

A reception held in the Parish House followed the ceremony.

For the wedding Mrs. Leland chose a silver beige silk dress with peach accessories. Mrs. Ross wore a jade green silk ensemble with beige accessories.

Before leaving on a trip to Chicago the new Mrs. Ross changed to a dark brown suit with matching alligator shoes and bag.

The bride attended the University of Michigan where she was a member of Collegiate Sorosis. The bridegroom attended the University of the Philippines and Wayne State University, where he was a member of Arab fraternity.

★ ★ ★

The newlyweds will reside in Oak Park, Ill.

Pledge Tea Conducted by Sorority

Elizabeth Rockefeller opened her home on Parkway avenue Sunday for the traditional pledge tea of Beta Mu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Ten pledges were entertained at the afternoon affair. To be initiated and to receive pins in a December ceremony are Glenda Piatt, Mrs. Homer Harrison, Mrs. Don Burns, Virginia Sherman, Mary Landon and Nimpha Paramo.

Carol Narrin, Pat Hayden, Judy Harry and Donna Burling complete the prospective member roster.

The group is planning activities to obtain funds for its state project of aiding mentally retarded children.

Women Confine Bragging to Husbands and Children

Most Won't Risk Feminine Modesty by Boasting About Themselves

By RUTH MILLETT

"American women are much more modest than men." Know who says so? The editors of "Who's Who."

In compiling biographies of outstanding American women for the first edition of "Who's Who of American Women," they have found the most noticeable thing about the women's replies is their brevity.

That's quite a contrast, say the editors, to the fulsome replies of many of the men asked to list their achievements for "Who's Who in America"

The fact that women have been found less inclined than men to brag about themselves may surprise men. But it won't surprise women.

Any woman knows that a woman loses her feminine attractiveness the minute she loses her feminine modesty and starts telling people how smart she is.

★ ★ ★

So women have found another outlet for the urge to do a little bragging. They brag about their husbands and children. And if they don't have husbands and children they brag about their ancestors.

Even the most modest and retiring woman doesn't hesitate a minute to tell you what an important man her husband is or what exceptional children she has.

Her modesty can be kicked off like a loose shoe when she starts to talk about her family.

★ ★ ★

So if the editors of "Who's Who of American Women" had given the women room on their questionnaires for telling about their husbands and children, those answers wouldn't have been so brief.

A woman's modesty is for her own accomplishments. But when it comes to her family, she is the world's best press agent.

MARY J. GIBBS

Mrs. Anna Gibbs of West Cornell avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary J., to Robert E. McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McDaniel of Baldwin. A June 28 wedding is planned.

Missionary Society Conducts Election

Mrs. Ida Kittner has been re-elected president of the Women's Missionary Society of St. John Lutheran Church.

★ ★ ★

Other officers chosen at the group's Thursday meeting were Mrs. John Frost, vice president; Mrs. Gust Nelson, secretary; Mrs. Robert Playter, treasurer; Mrs. Signe Englund, flower fund chairman and Mrs. Carl Nelson, program chairman.

Letters from missionaries in Africa and Formosa were read by Mrs. Playter. Hostesses for the gathering were Mrs. Ruth Olson and Mrs. Englund.

Furnishings for a child's room should be sturdy, accident proof, and washable.

Native of Germany Talks at LeBaron

Peter Kalinke, a native of Germany, spoke on "Schools and Life in Soviet Russia and Germany" when parents and guests attended the LeBaron School open house.

★ ★ ★

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Earl Vaught, Mrs. James Chipman, Mrs. Franklin Willard and Mrs. Merle Crooks.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Edwards and Mrs. Courtney Clara also assisted, with JoAnn Martin and Mrs. Golda Holecheck presiding at the refreshment table.

Bride-Elect Feted

Martha Boatright, bride-elect of Robert Bashaw, was honored Thursday evening at a bridal shower given by Mrs. Richard Lehman and Mrs. Harry Eaton in the former's Sunwood avenue home. A Nov. 27 wedding is planned by the couple.

Phony Apologies Mask Childish Demand

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last summer Gloria saw a lot of the visiting grandson of some neighbors. Now they correspond. In a recent letter, Neil suggested a weekend visit to meet his family. Gloria eagerly awaited the letter that would set the visit's date.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday when the letter came, her mother opened it.

When Gloria got home from school, she gave it to her, saying, "I shouldn't have opened this. I know I haven't any right to read your mail. I'm sorry, but you know how interested I am in—"

Flushing, Gloria interrupted. "No, you hadn't any right to open my letter. It's my letter. If I had to wait to get home from school to find out what it said, you certainly could. Don't you ever open my mail again, Mother!"

★ ★ ★

Her parent flushed, too. "That'll be just about enough from you, young lady," she said sharply. "The idea of talking to me like that. Don't you dare mention Neil's name to me again!"

Did the mother genuinely regret opening the letter? Of course not. She had just used self-reproach to avert reproach from Gloria. When the trick didn't work, she got angry.

The thing is, her example of making a phony apology has taught Gloria the same trick.

This 16-year-old girl often says things like this:

"It was awful of me to leave my bed for you to make this morning but I was too rushed to do it."

"I'm an old meanie to have made you iron my blouse but I was too tired to do it."

★ ★ ★

"I hadn't any right to let you and Dad worry but I just couldn't find a telephone."

HURTS SELF-RESPECT

It's unhealthy to be continually apologizing for ourselves to other people. The habit of using the words "I'm sorry" as a substitute for corrected action damages our self-respect. For behind it is the childish demand to do exactly as we please.

★ ★ ★

Today, when respecting children's rights is the fashionable thing to do, it's only too easy to hide our disrespect for them behind false apology.

Where the stern Victorian papa openly claimed his right to read a daughter's mail, Gloria's modern mother claimed it secretly. The only difference between them is her shame of her wish to control.

Education Is Secret of Beauty

Persons Trained to Appreciate Life Age Gracefully

Editor's Note: While Jane Eads is on vacation, her Washington column is being written by persons prominent in education, health, government and women's organizations. They present fresh viewpoints on subjects of particular interest to women.

By KATE H. MUELLER

Whoever said youth is beauty? Who may be the more lovely to look at, the freshman or her mother?

★ ★ ★

Youthful beauty is found only in advertisements portraying 20 to 30-year-olds who have been rigidly screened, discreetly made up and coached to look haughty or hearty on demand.

Personal human beauty of the durable everyday brand, the glamor that is more than photogenic, is best found among the 30 to 50-year-olds, men and women who know the world and like it, know their own personalities and respect them.

PREPARING FOR LEISURE

How did they learn this? The easiest and certainly the pleasantest way is to stay in school and college as long as possible and study not only for a vocation or profession but for the whole way of life that goes with that profession.

This means preparing for leisure, those long 2½-day-weekends which may soon become the 3 or 3½-day weekends; for our higher standards of living with travel, music, theater, sports; for the harnessing of science to personal benefit in health and nutrition; for leadership in government, in the community, in the world.

We used to call this kind of education "liberal" and reserve it for the leisure classes, and it took on a kind of snobbish, ivory tower quality that marked it for the dilettante.

But the 1950s have called it our most useful education and earmarked it for all. It is the systematic study of economics, science and of the history, theory and understanding of these things.

Pierre Cardin's silk suit, in a wonderful warp printed satin ottoman, is shown with the newest instep strap shoe which is called "Paradox" . . . a new construction which cups the toe, but maintains a sandal silhouette, albeit closed.

Should Girl Let Beau Pay Fare?

It Might Embarrass Him if She Bought Own Ticket

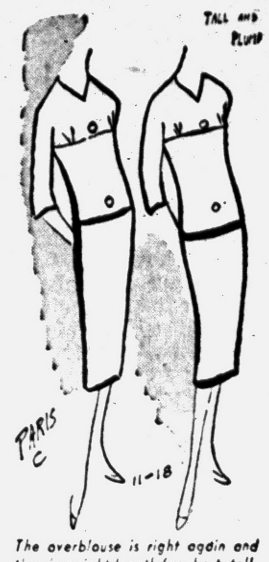
"Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend invited me to spend the weekend at his house. His mother also wrote me to urge me to come with him. We will go together on the train.

"I believe that properly I should pay my own train fare, but how can I do this without embarrassing him when we are going together and he will no doubt go up to the ticket window to buy the tickets. Would it be better to let him buy both tickets and then give him the money afterwards —or just how is this handled?"

Answer: If the fare is a trifling amount, you may quite properly let him pay it. But if you are traveling a distance and the fare is considerable, you should offer to reimburse him. If he absolutely refuses to take it, then you can only say "thank you."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell me whether it is in questionable taste to use writing paper that is slightly scented, and, if not, how is it best to produce this scent?"

Answer: There is no reason why a woman shouldn't use lightly scented paper for her personal correspondence. This is best done by putting her favorite sachet bag in the drawer or the box with the writing paper.



The overblouse is right again and there's a right length for short, tall, and plump figures and short or long legs.

The overblouse makes a new kind of transition between suits and coats. It can hang loose or bloused, beltless or belted. It certainly can flatter any and all types of figures and it is so very fashionable now and for spring.

She Loves City Because It's Alive With Life

New York, New York! A Wonderful Town!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have been wondering why I always have loved New York City so much. I loved it from the very first time I saw it when I visited it with my father and mother at the age of 10 or 12.

★ ★ ★

I have some very vivid memories of that trip. First I remember that the buildings seemed to sway. I suppose this was because they were so much taller than any I had seen before. It was too much all of a sudden.

Then I remember the train trip back from Coney Island, where my father had taken me for many breathtaking adventures. I always have loved the subways. I am sure that many would say, "If you had to ride them every day you would not love them" —but I think I still would love them.

Perhaps you might say that I love New York City because I have nostalgic memories about it. This is true. I spent several months here as a very young woman, writing songs, with dreams of making a name for myself in Tin Pan Alley. My son was born here. There are people here I love. Those are heady ingredients but they are not the answer.

★ ★ ★

I think I love New York City because I love life and New York is the epitome of life. Here you can find anything you want, in a varied but concentrated form.

There are more of more kinds of people here. There are more of more kinds of opportunities here, and of course there is more of more sadness here. New York gives one such a tremendous sweep of living and you don't have to search for it! It practically engulfs you and sweeps you along.

IT'S SO DRAMATIC!

Of course one can find the same ingredients in life anywhere, but New York is such a dramatic presentation of life. The majority of you who will read this column do not live in New York City or near it. Is your life humdrum? Don't let it be!

★ ★ ★

In every community nature unfolds her beauty with infinite variety year after year. In every community you can find humor, courage, stimulation, warmth, sympathy, perception and understanding. You also can find tragedy, pessimism, discouragement, meanness and thoughtlessness.

Don't let fatigue, worry, boredom, overweight and stresses and strains of all kinds rob you of a sense of adventure, or dim the glamor of everyday living.

Not long ago I wrote a column about how a wife can keep her husband alive by making the home a warm oasis of peace, by seeing that her husband has periodic physical checkups, and by controlling her desires for material possessions so that her man is not under constant strain to provide the things his family wants.

New York gives one such a tremendous sweep of living! It practically engulfs you and sweeps you along!

He himself wishes to give them these things anyway, and if he is also under pressure from his family, this often becomes a killing load. I think that women are much more at fault in wishing for things for their children than for themselves.

THE WIFE'S SIDE

However, there is another viewpoint—that of the wife's well-being. And what about the care she gets? I have written about this many times and tomorrow I will have something more to say about it.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime I would like to print a letter which came to me from a woman after reading the column about taking care of husbands. I am sure you will find it amusing and it also has more than a grain of truth in it.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: A peculiar thing about our highly civilized modern life is that no one ever expects Mama to be incapacitated or ill abed.

"It is perfectly acceptable and normal in this age for children to have numerous viruses. Dad can have a case of flu any day, except holidays, with complete peace and sympathy. He can prop a busted toe on a pillow in front of the TV for 48 hours and no one considers him a bit neurotic.

★ ★ ★

"BUT, let Mom fall heir to a virus and the whole roof caves in. 'She shouldn't have caught it' is the consensus. If she doesn't recover in time to prepare the evening meal, she becomes a hypochondriac, first class, and the neighbors are suspicious.

"There is only one certain thing about such a situation: There will be plenty of sympathy but none of it will be for her.

ANOTHER EXCUSE

"Husbands, required to leave the office to tend to an ailing wife, usually make up some other excuse to cover the embarrassment of it all. If she tells her children she has a stomach ache, they bounce on it. If she tells them her head hurts, they scream like banshees—anything to get her out of bed and on her feet.

★ ★ ★

"A wife can slice half her thumb off, wash a stack of dirty dishes, keep Junior out of the street and hang out the wash, and when the doctor prescribes complete bed rest for her she thinks it is the funniest thing she ever heard!"

Tomorrow: "They All Count on Mom—and She Sets Emotional Pattern."

Pork Loaf One-Third Ground Ham

Mrs. Allebach Uses Vinegar and Water as Glazing Liquid

By JANET ODELL

With pork on the plentiful, best-buy list these days, you can afford to serve a ham loaf often. Mrs. Theodore Allebach uses more fresh pork than ham in her recipe.

As a minister's wife and the mother of three boys under the age of four, Mrs. Allebach is a busy woman. She likes to sew and to do textile painting.

★ ★ ★

HAM LOAF
By Mrs. Theodore Allebach

2 pounds fresh pork, ground
1 pound smoked ham, ground
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup bread crumbs
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup brown sugar

Mix all ingredients together and form into a loaf. Place in baking pan. Mix ½ cup vinegar with ½ cup water. Pour over loaf. Bake 1 hour and 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 8.

American Women Turn to Dainty, Subtle Jewelry

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — American women are turning subtly smart about their jewelry.

★ ★ ★

There was a time when an American girl was recognizable instantly by the large economy-size ornaments she wore in both fake and fine jewelry.

But, says Irene Ford, a Philadelphia antiques dealer in New York for the New York Antiques Fair:

"The style trend is toward thinner and smaller pieces. That means daintier earrings, and delicate gold chains with jeweled pendants."

★ ★ ★

Opals, once called a bad luck stone, are in great demand for their fire and changeable color.

Explanations for the "bad luck" tag on opals vary. Some say they shrink and expand greatly with changes of climate, making them fall out of settings; others say it was bad luck for the husband if his wife could talk him into parting with a large chunk of change for real jewelry.

According to Mrs. Ford, moonstones are being sought after because "more women seem to want them since India stopped exporting them and they're harder to find."

Enameled jewelry is another top trend.

Clothes hampers should be wiped every day with a cloth wrung out of warm soap or detergent suds.

Zonta Club Holds Dinner and Meeting

Pontiac Zonta Club met for dinner Thursday at Ted's, followed by a business meeting in the Lancaster road home of Dr. Pauline Spring.

Members voted on a donation for the Michigan Animal Rescue League Shelter. Mrs. Chad Mellinger and Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson reported on the Zonta International district conference held at Dearborn Inn.

Mrs. Lenor O'Beay was received as a new member and Mrs. J. H. Chapman was a guest of the group.

Hawthorne School Holds Open House

Approximately 500 persons were present at the Hawthorne School when members of the PTA held their open house.

Ike Writes Adlai of Hope for Aid

Plans Meeting Later; Haggerty Silent on Idea of Using Oppenheimer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (INS) — President Eisenhower has told Adlai Stevenson he is delighted over his agreement to serve as a foreign policy consultant and is sure the Democratic party leader can be of "real help."

* * *

A letter from Eisenhower to the man he twice defeated in presidential elections was made public today in Augusta.

Stevenson, who began talks with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Washington today, also will meet with the President before next month's meeting of NATO heads of state in Paris.

Here is the President's letter, dated Nov. 14:

"Dear Governor,

"I am delighted that you and Foster will be getting together on Monday to discuss our preparations for the NATO meeting in December. I have asked Foster to coordinate these preparations as they affect all government agencies, and I share his view that you can be of real help to us in this work.

* * *

"I regret that on Monday I shall be absent from Washington — at least I hope so—but I am sure that later there will be opportunity for conferences at which we can both be present.

With best wishes,
Sincerely,
Dwight D. Eisenhower"

* * *

The President talked by telephone with Dulles this morning before the secretary's meeting with Stevenson.

A proposal that J. Robert Oppenheimer be brought back into government service to work on the missile and satellite programs got a "no comment" from Presidential News Secretary James C. Hagerty.

The suggestion was made by Trevor Gardner, former assistant Air Force secretary for research and development.

Eisenhower worked in his office above the pro shop at the Augusta National Golf Club this morning on official papers flown down from Washington.

He planned to get in another round of golf later in the day.

Has IQ of 120 but Segregated as 'Retarded'

GLENWOOD, Iowa (AP)—Mayo Buckner, 67, has an intelligence quotient of 120 but he has been a resident for 60 years of the Iowa School for Mentally Retarded here.

Buckner says "I would now like to see if I could make it on the outside."

* * *

An individual generally is regarded as of fully normal intelligence if he has an IQ between 90 and 110. Buckner is a competent printer and an accomplished musician, Alfred Sasser, institution superintendent, says.

* * *

School records show that Buckner's mother brought him here because, she said, other children "picked on him" and her son would not defend himself. She also said her son "rolled his eyes," the records show.

Only in recent years did testing programs establish Buckner's apparent above - adequate intelligence.

2-Nation Maneuvers On

ROME (AP)—U.S. and Italian naval and air units today began a antimine maneuvers in the Tirranean Sea off Naples. The exercises will continue the rest of this series of joint antisubmarine and month.

Flamingos feed with their heads upside down, the National Geographic Magazine says. The tall water birds with handsome pink plumage thrust their long flexible necks far from their bodies, then feed back toward their feet. Their curved upper mandibles serve as scoops to take organic material from the mud.

Pizza Flies Into Hearts, Stomachs of America

By DICK SAUNDERS

About 11 years ago Americans by the thousands began searching for phenomenal disc-shaped objects of two types. The first phenomenon was a strange, unidentified flying object, commonly known as a flying saucer.

The other pre-war phenomenon was known as PIZZA.

The two differ greatly. Flying saucers have never been captured, while pizza has not only been captured, but has become a member in good standing of families the country over.

The two are different in their airborne capabilities, their size, composition, and . . . well . . .

"Both fly through the air with the greatest of ease,
One shrouded with doubt, the other with cheese."

From all indications, pizza is here to stay. Cheese, pepperoni, mushrooms, and anchovies served in this revolutionary manner have taken their place alongside their time tested ancestors, the hotdog and hamburger.

★ ★ ★

Although pizza is of Italian origin, it has proven that the way to fame and fortune is through the stomach of an American.

The word "pizza" itself means nothing more than pie, in Italian. To an Italian family it has never meant more than Grandma's apple, cherry, or pumpkin pie has to American families.

The secret to the fantastic rise in popularity of this delicacy lies in the following formula: one pizza plus one set of American tastebuds equals desire and ingenuity.

★ ★ ★

Pizza, as it is known in Italian families, differs from the commercial form mainly in size. Although there are many different combinations and recipes, the non-commercial pizza has a considerably thicker crust and may take an hour or more to cook.

This is the type American soldiers tasted during World War II. The soldiers who had never heard of or tasted a pizza didn't have to go to Italy to find it (contrary to popular belief).

It was right in their own backyards . . . er . . . kitchens all the time. When large numbers of soldiers from the numerous Italian sections of East Coast cities, mainly New York, mixed with other men, they went right on talking about pizza as a household item.

★ ★ ★

The neophytes in the ways of pizza became curious. Many haunted Italian sectors while on leave, searching for someplace which sold the oft mentioned foodstuff. Enough of them wrapped their tastebuds around enough pizza (enough usually meaning one mouthful) to create a desire for more, and the glimmer of an idea.

The first, and most important change was in size. It was evident that the "family style" thick crust had to be narrowed down. No one could expect to make a business of the commodity if each one took an hour or more to cook.

With a thinner crust, cooking time was cut to about 10 or 15 minutes. The sauce, cheese, pepperoni, anchovies, and other ingredients blended under high temperatures (as mouth watering as they may look today) were not accepted easily, at first.

"People would hear about it and order a pizza," explained Rocco Petrucci, owner of Rocco's Pizzeria, 5171 Dixie Highway, "but when they came to get it they'd take one look at it and walk out."

In Petrucci's opinion, the younger generation can be thanked for the major portion of pizzas' popularity.

"Kids'll try anything once, while adults are more on the cautious side," he said. "The teenagers adopted pizza and eventually took one home to the family."

★ ★ ★

George Pappas, manager and pizza custodian of Joe's Famous Spaghetti House, 1038 W. Huron St., attributes pizza's charm to economy.

"Of course a pizza must taste good, but the economy of a large pizza is what made it possible for teenagers to buy it and was the major factor in attracting the adult crowd," mused Pappas.

"Where else can four office girls sit down to such a delicious and different meal for lunch and only pay about 50 or 60 cents apiece?" he asked.

Pappas is joined with most pizzeria personnel in this assumption. He added that the economical cost was just right for the teenagers pocketbooks, and offered them the novelty of all eating off one hot dish.

In cold hard figures, it is even more impressive. Five or six years ago the Hotpoint Co., a division of General Electric, handled little or no pizza making equipment in its commercial equipment department.

★ ★ ★

In April of 1956 they introduced a new electric pizza oven. Since then they have installed an estimated 100 in Michigan and several thousand more from coast-to-coast

According to Ralph Behrens, manager of the department, there were 15,000 pizzerias in the country at last count about a year ago.

Or, to put it more simply: A lot of the nation's dough nowadays is wrapped up in pizza.

And speaking of dough, it's about time we began watering mouths and painting a picture of delightful dyspepsia with a look at the pizza kitchen.

★ ★ ★

The base for our pyramid of pleasure is, of course, the crust. Some cooks buy this dough frozen, and roll it out. Others insist on making their own. Whatever the case, it is in the cooking and immediate covering of the crust that the importance lies.

The dough is rolled, and in some cases twirled in the air. The rolling, besides flattening it, squeezes out air bubbles, according to authorities.

The twirling is said by some to give the dough uniformity, and anyway it's fun to do and looks very professional.

★ ★ ★

The next step, is looked upon by many as the real secret to success. Out of a container marked 'secret formula" comes the sauce.

Sauce can be bought and stored, but this is looked upon by the majority as sacrilege. Almost all pizza proprietors have heir own carefully guarded recipe.

Peter Imbrunnone, owner of Nonne's Drive-In Pizzeria, at 4845 Dixie Highway, is an excellent example of this principle.

'I own the pizzeria, make the pizza, and am the head of my wonderful family," he says with pride. "But my wife's the only one who knows the sauce recipe," he adds with a sigh.

Mrs. Imbrunnone, proud of her cooking ability, insists that the sauce is the secret to every pizza. "It's what makes one cheese and sausage pizza taste different from another."

"Someday I'm going to write it down on paper. So far I've kept it safely hidden right here," she said, pointing to her head.

After the sauce has been spread on the dough, cheese is sprinkled on top of it. The cheese is also very important for a number of reasons.

While Anthony J. Reale, owner and custodian of Reale's Restaurant and Pizzeria, 8175 Commerce Rd., in Commerce Township, places the sauce first, his theory is that all three items are of basic importance.

"Your crust, sauce, and cheese are the base of all pizzas, he said. "The correct combination of these three items—and their individual quality—is the measure by which a pizza becomes either mediocre or superior."

He first insists on using nothing but high grade materials, then properly balancing them. "Quality can not only make a difference in taste but more often in whether a pizza is too dry or too greasy," he said.

The other ingredients can be as different from each other as Elvis Presley is from Sir Cedrick Hartwick.

The most asked for are mushrooms and anchovies (and let's get it straight right now, sausage isn't really sausage at all. It's PEPPERONI—anyone knows that!)

Different combinations, in fact ANY combinations, are possible. Common are those of ham, bacon, onions, corned beef, and actually almost any other meat product. A typical large deluxe pizza might contain cheese, pepperoni, mushrooms, green peppers, and anchovies.

This is all prepared on a pizza peel (wooden spatula). The whole shebang is slipped into a special oven.

The oven is extremely important. It must be able to attain very hot temperatures for the best results. It is here that inferior products liberate too much grease or inferior dough drys too quickly.

If the oven does not attain the high temperature and cook the pizza rapidly, even high quality dough will dry out. The latest advances in ovens have produced an oven which will cook a pizza in five minutes, at ultra-high temperatures

★ ★ ★

The pizza is then removed from the oven and served hot It is here that we run into bitter partisanship.

"How many ways may I eat thee,
Let me count the ways;
A spoon and fork I have me,
But fingers are the craze.

So, the battle rages. Some use the conventional utensils, but experience dictates picking a pizza up, folding it up the middle, and shoving it into your mouth.

One way or another, it's always a memorable experience, and reasonably cheap considering what you are getting. A small cheese and sausage may cost from $1.20 to $1.40 and a large from $1.90 to $2.20.

For high temperature ovens like the newer ones, a pizza maker may pay about $700 for a one tier job and $1,300 for a two tier giant economy size.

The smaller standard size oven will handle about 60 small pizzas per hour.

The sizes in which pizza comes are usually 12 inches in diameter for the small, 14 inches medium, and 16 for the large. Of course, this may vary and not all establishments offer a medium sized pizza.

Most establishments agree that from 60 to 80 per cent of their business is done on a carry-out basis and most of this at night.

★ ★ ★

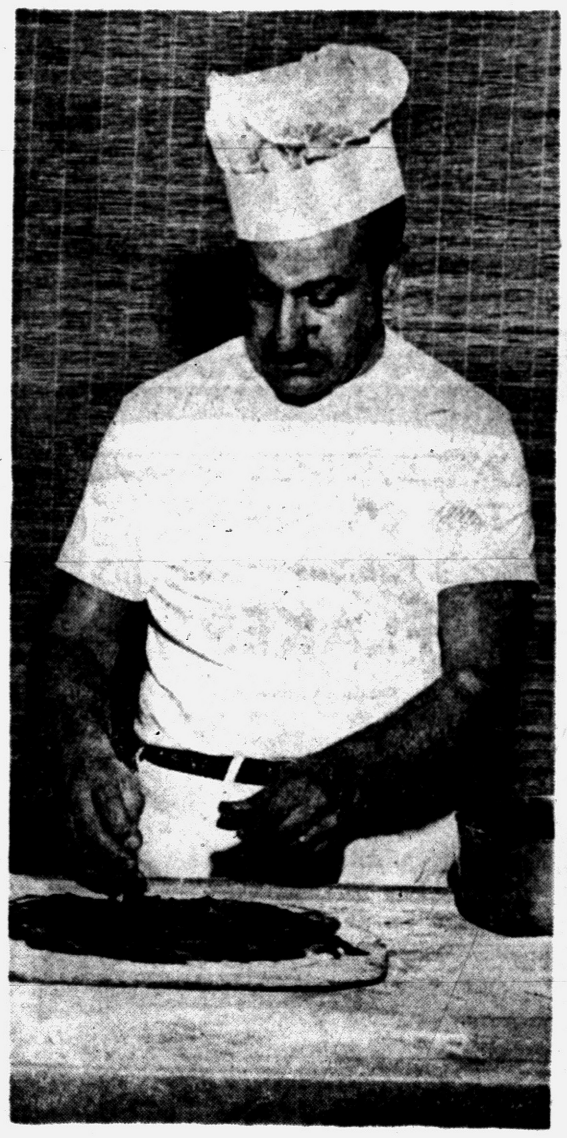
Because of the heavy nighttime business, most proprietors and cooks live on a topsy-turvy basis. As a general rule they start work late in the afternoon or early evening and work until closing time, which in most cases is close to 3 a.m.

Many places remain open all night, but the cooks always manage to get enough sleep during the day to make pizza flipping as graceful and colorful as ever the next night.

This, as many stay-at-homes may think, is a poor example or any respectable establishment to set. Somehow, the idea of a place remaining open until all hours or never closing at all strikes some people as an unhealthy environment for teenagers.

On the contrary, most pizzerias are a godsend to parents. They are usually clean and well run, do not approve of loitering, and offer teenagers a much healthier environment than is available on most street corners.

START WITH THIS — Richard Esralian, owner and head chef of Ricky's Pizza House, 819 Woodward Ave., holds up the tray of pizza dough. Each glob of dough represents one pizza when it has been rolled out to about a quarter of an inch thick. Like most of the better pizza chefs, Richard prefers to make his own dough, but some places buy it ready made.



ADD PEPPERONI — Adding the tasty bits of sausage is Rocco Petrucci, of Rocco's Pizzeria, 5171 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, the same expert shown flinging a pizza on Page 1. Home pizza artists find that too much pepperoni spells a pizza too hot to eat.

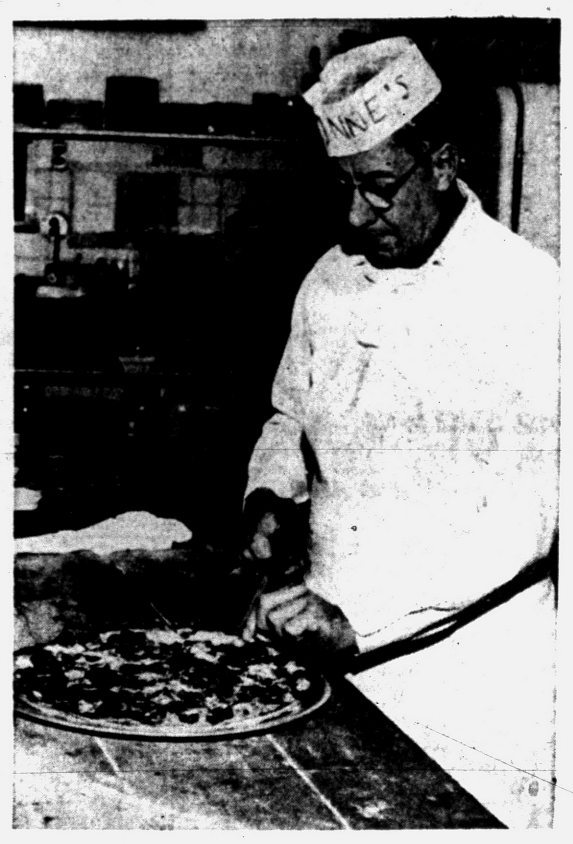
CRUCIAL INGREDIENT — Pizza expert Cosimo Martinelli, of Martinelli's Pizza Restaurant, 138 S. Woodward, Birmingham, agrees with his fellow chefs that the sauce is the major ingredient for outstanding pizza. Martinelli makes his own sauce, but isn't telling anyone his recipe. A tomato base, however, is used in all pizza sauces.

INTO THE OVEN — Placing a pizza in the oven at Joe's Famous Spaghetti House, 1038 W. Huron St., is Pete Dybowski. Depending on the type of oven, the baking time varies between five and ten minutes.



FOR EASY HANDLING — Peter Imbrunnone of Nonne's Restaurant, 4845 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, snips the completed product into sections with a pair of scissors.

PASS THE BICARB — Pizza editor Dick Saunders feels round and fully packed after touring the pizza factories in the Pontiac area. As you can see, the free samples didn't go to his head.

Alleged Killers on Loose

7 Break Jail in Indiana

CROWN POINT, Ind. (INS)—Seven prisoners, including three charged with murder, today staged a break from the Lake County jail at Crown Point, which still hasn't recovered from the notoriety of a break by the infamous John Dillinger 23 years ago.

In today's break, one of the men gaining freedom was 25-year-old George R. Brown, of East Gary, whose trial for one of two sex slayings of Gary area women was to have started today.

★ ★ ★

Arthur R. Carr, 40, of Gary, charged with killing his uncle, and Myle Poynter, 33, of Gary, held in connection with another slaying, also fled, along with four other men wanted for less serious charges.

The escapees used a pipe torn from plumbing in their cell block to force the bars to an outside window and gain their freedom. Dillinger had used a pistol carved from the wooden frame of a washboard to stage his break.

An immediate manhunt fanned throughout northern Indiana and the Chicago area for the seven escapees.

Should Be Glad They Didn't Stay Away Longer

MILLBRAE, Calif. (AP) — While Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt were visiting friends, the following items were taken from their home:

★ ★ ★

A parrakeet in its cage; a silver service for 12; a piggy bank with 200 dimes inside; all the slip covers from the living room furniture; an electric coffee maker and toaster; a Russian finch collar and muff; a jewelry box; two pillows; a clock; a cake Mrs. Schmidt had just baked; a silver fox stole; a silver hair brush set; nine sets of earrings; and a pair of house slippers.

★ ★ ★

The Schmidts estimated loss at $1,300.

The British government abolished the slave trade in its African colonies in 1807-11.

Motorist Shoots Group of Negroes, Injuring 7

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A passing motorist fired several shotgun blasts at a group of Negroes in front of a night club last night, wounding seven.

The wounded were taken to Charity Hospital, where some were believed in serious condition.

Officers said the shooting occurred shortly before midnight at a club in adjoining Jefferson Parish (county). They were unable to give a reason for the shooting and said the only clue was the make of the car.

Why Wait for the Bus?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Raymond D. Welke, 21, was pursued for two miles by police as he drove a big bus on an erratic course through town. Officers said Welke told them he became tired of waiting for a bus and finally walked to a nearby depot and helped himself to one. He was booked on suspicion of drunk driving and auto theft.

21-Foot Python Gets Cold, Lonely, Returns Home

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Cold weather, or maybe loneliness, was too much for Big Ben, the fugitive 21-foot python.

He slithered from his cage at an alligator farm Friday. But after two days on the nearby desert, where temperatures dropped to 40 degrees, he crawled home and wistfully poked his nose through the fence.

He was returned to his cage. Keeper Jack Adams said, "He caught a slight cold, but I think he'll be all right.'

Many railroad tank cars are owned by private car companies, not by the railroad lines. An "X" is used to identify such private tank cars. For instance, tank cars leased from the Shippers Car Line are labeled "SHPX." And Canadian General Transit cars are labeled "CGTX."

Pontiac area boys fared well on the gridiron over the weekend:

Dick Ayling finished his career at Alma by passing for three touchdowns to run his yardage to 1,691 for the season in beating Findlay, O., 21-12.

Walter Beach raced for four touchdowns and boosted his season running total to 1,084 as Central Michigan defeated Western Illinois, 39-7.

Eastern Michigan lost to St. Joseph, but Kerry Keating of Waterford had an 80-yard kickoff return in the 48-13 defeat.

★ ★ ★

Piston publicist Fran Smith said Guy Sparrow nearly killed the Detroit cagers Saturday night. Sparrow pushed in eight straight points to break a tie and give the Knicks an early 4th period lead, but the Pistons finally won out, 109-105.

Keyed Up Lions Smear 49ers, 31-10

DIFFERENT STORY — R. C. Owen of the 49ers reaches high for a pass in the second quarter with Jim David (25) and Jack Christiansen covering. This was the same situation which beat the Lions two weeks ago in Frisco with the same players, but this time Owen did not catch the ball and instead he was charged with offensive interference for pushing.

Detroit Moves Into 1st Place Tie With Win

Terry Barr Sparkles on Defense; Layne Hits With Precision

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — "Our boys were keyed up for this game since the day we left Frisco two weeks ago," said coach George Wilson after the Lions spanked the 49ers 31-10 before 56,915 fans at Briggs Stadium yesterday.

The victory moved the Lions into a three-way tie for first place in the Western Division of the NFL with the 49ers and the Baltimore Colts who yesterday whipped the Chicago Bears, 29-14.

With Bobby Layne hitting with pin point accuracy in the first half by completing 17 of 24 passes, the Lions tallied three times to take a 21-3 halftime lead.

Twice in the first period, the Lions failed on field goal attempts as offensive drives were stopped.

★ ★ ★

Former University of Michigan ace Terry Barr set up the first two touchdowns. Barr beautifully intercepted one of Y. A. Tittle's passes on his own 17 and from here the Lions went 83 yards in seven plays with Hopalong Cassady racing through a wide hole for the last 15 yards. Layne converted.

Joe Arenas gave Detroit a scare by going 64 yards on the kickoff before being hit by Cassady on the Detroit 28. Joe Schmidt tore through to drop Tittle for a 15-yard loss and after a completed pass to Gordy Soltau, Schmidt smeared Soltau and Barr fell on his fumble on the Detroit 35.

On the first play, Layne hit Jim Doran on the 49er 30-yard line and the big end outraced the defenders for a 65-yard touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Again Arenas returned the kickoff 30 yards and then lateraled to Lou Palatella for another 30 yards. But all Frisco could get out of the run was a field goal by Soltau from 22 yards.

After the kickoff the Lions again marched. The drive went 74 yards in eight plays with John Henry Johnson going the last three yards. Layne made it 21-3 with his points.

Tobin Rote took over at quarterback in the second half, and by virtue of his running and passes to Steve Junker and Leon Hart, the Lions got to the 15. Jim Martin then booted a 22-yard field goal to make it 24-3.

★ ★ ★

Early in the 4th quarter Rote moved the team 63 yards in nine plays climaxed by beautiful catch by Junker for a seven-yard touchdown to make it 31-3 with Layne's point.

San Francisco scored after the next kickoff with end Billy Wilson taking John Brodie's pass amid three Lion defenders for a 20-yard TD. Soltau converted.

Doran having his greatest season in the NFL, grabbed six passes for 137 yards as the Lions netted a total of 515 yards rushing and passing.

Barr and Junker played the best games of their young pro careers, and it was the Detroit defensive line which made it miserable for Tittle.

Frisco ace Hugh McElhenny suffered a charley horse and end Clyde Conner went out early in the game with a dislocated shoulder.

R. C. Owens, the high jumping pass receiver, was covered like a blanket and was unable to get too far downfield.

'We Took Beating'

Albert Says Detroit Outclassed His Team

DETROIT — Youthful Frankie Albert, coach of the San Francisco 49ers, had little compliment for his Frisco ream following its loss to the Lions.

"Our interior line play has been poor for two weeks now, it's hard for me to believe we could be so outclassed in one game," he said.

"Mentally we were not right for this game, I don't know why because they knew what this game meant to us," Albert added, "and I guess those 56,000 people were wondering how we got to first place."

"Detroit's line outcharged us, Tittle didn't have as much time to throw as he usually gets. We took a real beating."

★ ★ ★

Albert was especially pleased with rookie John Brodie who completed five of six passes including the lone 49er touchdown. "He sure hit his target with all the blue Detroit jerseys covering the receivers," Albert said.

In the Lions' dressing room, coach George Wilson heaped high praises on rookies Terry Barr and Steven Junker and the Lions' defensive unit led by Gil Mains and Darris McCord which broke through many times to smear Y. A. Tittle.

"Joe Schmidt again proved that he is the best linebacker in football," said Wilson. "He was great."

★ ★ ★

"This may sound strange but I had a feeling we were going to win this one, I could feel it. The team acted as if we had won the game in Frisco on the way home and they were pointed to this game ever since," Wilson added.

Next week the Bears visit Briggs Stadium. Lustre has been taken off the game because of Bears' cellar position, but the Lions have a 1956 score to settle.

Bowl Thoughts Stimulate UD

Titans Put in Loud Bid With Romp Over Marines, 33-0

DETROIT (UP) — The University of Detroit Titans, nursing hopes of going to a post-season bowl game, put in their bid in a loud voice Saturday.

With feelers from the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., and the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla., already in hand, the Titans smothered the Quantico Marines 33-0 and walked away with their victory in eight outings.

All that remains between the Titans and the end of their finest season in three years is the University of Dayton.

Showing a bruising ground game capable of producing either a sustained drive for a touchdown or a startling score from midfield, the Titans got all their points in the first half.

★ ★ ★

Twice in the third quarter the Titans buckled down their defense and stopped the Marines one foot short of the goal.

The statistics give another boost to the argument that the Titans put on the steam when it was needed, both on offense and defense.

Halfbacks Billy Russell and Tom Hunter led the Detroit scoring, each with two touchdowns. Russell counted on runs of six and 45 yards. Hunter scored on runs of four and 64 yards. Al Korpak took a pass from Lou Faoro in a play covering 23 yards for the other Detroit touchdown.

The victory was the most decisive for the resurging Titans since they rolled over the University of Tulsa 33-0 in 1953.

Crane Homecoming Successful Affair

Cranbrook School's "homecoming," Saturday, was a double-barrelled success. Cranes won at football and soccer from visiting Western Reserve of Cleveland, 27-20 and 2-1 respectively.

★ ★ ★

A halftime program marked the school's 30th anniversary, with a student-formed "cake" and candles, a feature and a parade of students representing founders of the school.

Cranes led all the way in their final grid tilt, scoring in each period, while Reserve got its tallies in the 2nd half. Stu Clark scored first on a 25-yard run. Tom Noteware followed, and the last two TDs were made by Pete Turner and Ozzie Jacobson. Gary Fletcher kicked three conversions. Reserve's scoring was by Bob Weiss (2) and Bill Bosshard.

★ ★ ★

Pete King and John Studebaker booted Cranes points, at soccer. Seasons records for Cranbrook are football 4-3, soccer 6-2-1.

Lou Little Calls 'em

It will be written, and rightly, that Notre Dame's victory over Oklahoma equals or improves upon any previous "upset" in the game's history.

As a coach, trying to analyze the manner in which it came about, I arrived at some interesting facts.

In seven previous games, Oklahoma had averaged 305 yards in rushing. In these games the Sooners had completed 25 or 62 passes, throwing an average of eight per game.

In the Pittsburgh contest, which I thought the best of the year by Oklahoma, Bud Wilkinson's team ran for 310 yards and scored three touchdowns, all from passes which in that game were effectively integrated into their overall attack.

Further, I note that in defense statistics compiled last week for the nation, Notre Dame was not listed in the first ten against rushing or passing. Yet on Saturday, the Irish held Oklahoma, considered the outstanding split T attack, to 98 yards on the ground. This was surprising defensive ability.

Just what Notre Dame defensive alignment was in its many variations, I can't testify, not having been fortunate enough to see the game.

Obviously it was a well conceived and executed plan, with the Irish centering their efforts against Oklahoma's running, discounting to some extent at least the threat of the passing.

If, in fact, Terry Brennan and Notre Dame did come up with something new in defense, and with such success against the running attack of the Oklahoma split T, then it may well mean that split T teams are going to devote careful attention to working into the attack more effective passing to keep the defense they meet better balanced.

And now that the long string is snapped and the tension broken, I'll not be surprised to see Oklahoma start a new succession of victories.

Ohio State came up with a fine back in Bob White to offset the loss of Don Clark and will be a first-rate representative of the Big Ten against Oregon in the Rose Bowl.

Fumbles hurt the Hawkeyes. A fumble when recovered by the opposition amounts to the loss of approximately 30 yards. A fumble, even when recovered, is like giving away a down in the series and usually results in the loss of ball control.

Browns Tie Redskins, 30-30

NFL Race Scrambled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Step by step, Cleveland's comebacking Browns and New York's defending champion Giants are moving straight toward a Dec. 15 showdown for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League.

In the Western Division, it should be so simple!

With the San Francisco 49ers turned to vagrants on the road, Detroit rolling again behind Bobby Layne, Baltimore's Colts apparently back in stride and even the Los Angeles Rams butting into contention, it's anybody's guess in the West.

And there remain only four weeks of the pro season to unscramble the mess.

San Francisco, Baltimore and Detroit tied for first place with 5-3 records and Los Angeles a notch behind at 4-4. The Lions, with Layne clicking on 17 of 24 passes in the first half alone, routed San Francisco 31-16, the 49ers second whipping in a row on a road trip that will keep them away from home for another two weeks. The Colts, scoring 16 points in the fourth quarter, downed the Chicago (3-5) Bears, 29-14. The revived Rams, down 24-3 at the half, rallied behind vet Norm Van Brocklin and ace rookie Jon Arnett to defeat luckless Green Bay, 31-27.

In the East, the Browns stumbled a bit in a 30-30 tie with Washington but with six victories, a loss and a tie they still hold a half game lead over New York, 6-2, after a 13-0 blanking of Philadelphia. Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cardinals were idle, their game having been put back to Dec. 22.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas fired his 18th touchdown pass of the season but it was a pair of pass interceptions by Milt Davis, a 28-year-old "rookie" from ULCA, that whipped the Bears. Davis set up one TD with a 78-yard return and ran 41 yards to score after swiping another Chicago pass with the Colts holding only a 16-14 lead.

The Rams, winning their first away from home since the 1955 season, clinched it on Van Brocklin's 34-yard pass to Lamar Lundy after Arnett had scored on a 68-yard run to tie the score. Van Brocklin, establishing the old-timers' franchise in this year of rookies, wound up with 4 completions for 250 yards and two TD's.

Cleveland put a time-worn Brownie formula to work in coming from off a 10-point deficit with 4 minutes left. First, the quick thrust aerial attack, with Pete Brewster going 23 yards to score after the recovery of Preston Carpenter's fumble of a pass from Tommy O'Connell, the Cleveland quarterback. Again O'Connell got the Browns moving and with 13 seconds remaining Lou (The toe) Groza hit on a 23-yard field goal for the tying points.

The punchless Eagles outplayed the Giants on the attack, but New York's defense turned back four Philly threats, one that came within six inches of the goal line.

Hillsdale Now Holds Longest Win Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thanks to Notre Dame's fourth-quarter rally and rock-like defense, a small Michigan college today stands as claimant to the nation's longest football winning streak.

The Hillsdale Dales, displaying their usual efficiency, rolled over Gustavus Adolphus (Minn) 27-7 and marked up their 34th consecutive triumph.

★ ★ ★

The Dales, closing their third straight perfect season, rode the passing arm of Doug Maison for three touchdowns and led all the way.

Central Michigan's Chippewas, continuing their comeback effort after losing their first five games of the season, swamped Western Illinois 39-7 in an Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference game. Halfback Walt Beath scored four touchdowns, counting on runs of 2, 67, 37 and 25 yards.

★ ★ ★

Western Michigan smacked Kent State 28-20 in a battle of Mid-America conference cellar teams. Sophomore quarterback Jim Kolk passed for three touchdowns in bringing the Bronco s from behind.

Wayne State nipped Northern Michigan 26-21 on quarterback Ron Kowalczyk's pass to halfback Jim MacMillan with less than five minutes remaining.

The play covered 36 yards to the end zone. The Kowalczyk-MacMillan combination also got the second Wayne touchdown in the second quarter, this time on a screen play covering 77 yards. Quarterback Tom Schwalbach scored twice for Northern Michigan.

★ ★ ★

In other games, Grand Rapids Junior College romped over hapless Olivet 46-0 and finished its season with a 7-0 mark, St. Joseph (Ind) trounced Eastern Michigan's champions of the IIAC 48-13, Hope blanked Beloit (Wis) 21-0 and Alma whipped Findlay (Ohio) 21-12 on three touchdown passes by quarterback Dick Ayling.

Hawks Retaliate, 3-2

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Red Wings' hopes of skating out of the National Hockey League doldrums were rudely dashed to the ice last night when they ran afoul of the Chicago Black Hawks for their 10th defeat in 17 starts.

The Hawks rallied in the third period to score two goals, enough for a 3-2 triumph over the fifth-place Red Wings before 10,130 fans at Olympia Stadium.

It marked the second straight time that Chicago has defeated the Wings on their home ice. Detroit now has a one-point edge over last place Toronto.

The Hawks' Nick Mickoski and Elmer Vasko brought their team ahead in the third as Detroit sought to hold onto a 2-1 edge. The initial Chicago goal, the first of the game, was scored in the first period by Eric Nesterenko who jabbed Bobby Hull's rebound past Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk.

★ ★ ★

Gordie Howe broke a hometown jinx by scoring from behind the net. He reached out with his stick and hooked the puck into the crease in the second period. Glenn Hall inadvertently pushed the puck across the line while sliding by to cover up.

Norm Ullman scored the other Detroit point in the same period on a power play. He moved backward and slid a 20-footer past Sawchuk who made 18 saves compared to 36 for Chicago goalie Hall.

The comeback victory gave Ted Lindsay and his mates revenge for a 1-0 setback before a nationwide television audience Saturday afternoon in a game featured by a 15-minute brawl.

★ ★ ★

Besides losing the game, the Wings may have lost the services of veteran Marcel Pronovost for an indefinite period. He left the game with an injury.

Celtics Win, Lose Cousy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Pistons are making headway. So are the St. Louis Hawks.

But the big news in the National Basketball Assn. today is that Bob Cousy, Boston's brilliant playmaker, will be lost to the undefeated Celtics for several weeks.

★ ★ ★

Cousy was accidentally kicked in the side of the leg by Philadelphia's Neil Johnston while Boston rode to its 11th straight victory Saturday night. Latest reports say Cousy's leg is swollen and a blood clot is feared.

Last night's action was featured by Detroit's 95-91 victory over Philadelphia which put the Pistons in first place in the Western Division and pushed the Warriors six lengths behind the idle Celtics.

★ ★ ★

St. Louis defeated the Cincinnati Royals 98-97 on Bob Pettit's field goal with only 10 seconds left, but fell out of the Western lead by 11 percentage points.

In the only other game, the Syracuse Nationals beat the Minneapolis Lakers 110-98.

George Yardley again was the big gun for Detroit. He scored 26 points, giving him 122 for four games and a 30.5 average for the streak. The Pistons rallied from a 49-42 halftime deficit.

★ ★ ★

Pettit scored seven of his 24 points in the last minute and a half as the Hawks overcame a Cincinnati lead. Jack Twyman was high for the Royals with 23 points.

Dolph Schayes and Red Kerr paced a 30-14 Syracuse scoring spurt during the first 10 minutes of the third period to wrap up the National's triumph. Schayes wound up with 28 points, high for the game. Larry Foust had 21 for Minneapolis.

Pistons Sweep Weekend Pair

Yardley Sparks 95-91 Win Over Warriors With 26 Points

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sparked by George Yardley's 26-point effort, the Detroit Pistons wound up a profitable weekend invasion of the east last night with a 95-91 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors.

Yardley ran his four-game scoring streak to 122 points for a 30.5 average as the Pistons rallied during the game's second half to score their fifth triumph in nine National Basketball Assn. starts.

The Pistons, who are playing their first season under the Detroit banner, upset the New York Knickerbockers, 109-105, in a game at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Detroit led throughout most of the first half last night but the Warriors forged ahead with Ernie Beck dropping in 19 points to give Philadelphia a 7-point edge by halftime.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons took the lead in the third period as Yardley and Harry Gallatin staged a scoring spree. From then on Detroit led all the way, piling up an 11-point lead before the Warriors started a mild comeback.

Beck led the Warriors with 22 points.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

It's ridiculous to worry about unimportant details in bowling, and I classify the position of the fingers outside the finger holes as just that — an unimportant detail.

I don't believe the position of these fingers — whether they're spread apart or close together—has any effect on your bowling at all. These fingers don't supply any lift or stuff; all they do is balance the ball in your hand. The only way they can affect your delivery is if they are not in a natural position. If they're cramped or strained, change them to a more comfortable position.

Whenever a bowler asks me how he should position these fingers outside the finger holes, I ask him to pick up his ball and take his normal grip. After he takes his grip a couple of times, I can easily see if the fingers are comfortable. If they are, I tell him that is the best position for his outside fingers.

Redford 11 Captures Catholic Loop Crown

DETROIT (AP)—Paul LaFave, 160-pound halfback, scored two touchdowns, one on an 86-yard run, in pacing Redford St. Mary to a 27-13 victory over Notre Dame for the Catholic League championship before 13,726 spectators in U. of D. Stadium here yesterday.

The victory in the annual Soup Bowl classic qualified St. Mary for Friday's Goodfellow game against Southeastern, city league champion, at Briggs Stadium.

OSU Win Hurts MSU

'Best Team' —Duffy

EAST LANSING (AP) — "It was the first time in my coaching career that I ever praised a team at the half," admitted Duffy Daugherty.

The Michigan State football boss had good reason to pour on the praise. His speedy Spartans had poured it on for a 35-0 lead at the half and went on to roll over slow and outclassed Minnesota 42-13.

There was only one thing to spoil the smashing 5-1 conference finish for Michigan State. That was the word from Columbus that Ohio State had edged Iowa 17-13 for the Big Ten title and a clear-cut claim for the Rose Bowl bid.

"They deserved to go," declared Daugherty. "They won all their conference games and we didn't."

"If it wasn't for that Purdue defeat," Daugherty shrugged. "But that's ancient history. It still was a great windup for our conference schedule."

★ ★ ★

Daugherty termed the 1957 Spartans "the greatest team I've ever coached at State."

"We made no attempt to fire them up for the second half," Daugherty said. "We wanted to use a lot of sophomores. We'll need them next year, because we're losing a great bunch of seniors."

The Spartans were razor sharp in the first half.

"From the bench, you could actually hear that thud of impact, they were hitting so hard," Daugherty commented.

★ ★ ★

Dave Kaiser started the rout by grabbing a Minnesota lateral in midair and sprinting 77 yards untouched for the first touchdown.

Blanche Martin broke away on a 65-yard gainer the next time State got the ball. Walt Kowalczyk scored from 24 yards out on the next carry.

Art Johnson, on a one-yarder, and Don Gilbert and Henny Young, both on two-yard plunges, made the other three first-half touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan State third team, directed by sophomore quarterback Larry Bielat, was romping before the first half was over.

Young, five-foot-three, 143-pound vest pocket fullback, received a standing ovation from his bench when he scored.

"Henny is immensely popular among his teammates," Daugherty explained. "He is little but he is absolutely fearless."

Michigan State also picked up a two-point safety when Sammy Williams and Allison Kelly tackled Rhody Tuszka in the Minnesota end zone.

★ ★ ★

The only Michigan State score in the second half was one of the Martin-Kowalczyk specials. Martin skirted one end for 48 yards and Kowalczyk went 32 yards around the opposite end to score. The play was identical to their first-half performance.

Wolverines Get Opportunity to Brighten Year

Victory Over Hoosiers Gave Little Incentive but Buckeyes Will

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan gets its last chance to brighten an otherwise drab football season when it meets newly crowned Big Ten champion Ohio State next Saturday.

But the Wolverines will have to improve if they are to keep intact their two-year record of upsetting Rose Bowl entrants.

They were lackadaisical Saturday defeating an inept Indiana team that other Big Ten clubs had steamrollered. Michigan, plagued by five pass interceptions, was able to down the Hoosiers by only a 27-13 margin. It was the first time Indiana could score more than once in a Big Ten game.

Obviously, the Wolverines, eliminated early from the title running, had little incentive.

★ ★ ★

"We'll have to be a lot better against Ohio State," Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said. "Of course, there'll be much more incentive. After all, the boys heard about Indiana and it was hard to pick them up with nothing at stake."

Desire to beat Ohio State is one of the prime requisites of a Michigan football player. The Buckeyes, even more than Michigan State, are the Wolverines' traditional foe. And they knocked Michigan out of the Rose Bowl two years ago.

This allowed Michigan State to make the trip to Pasadena and Michigan's seniors were sophomores in that still-debated 17-0 finale of 1955.

★ ★ ★

They had beaten the Spartans earlier in the season and last year defeated Iowa, which also went to the Rose Bowl. Now the Wolverines feel they can whip the bowl-bound Buckeyes.

It is a vital game for Oosterbaan. There have been rumblings here about his being elevated to assistant athletic director at the close of the campaign.

A victory over Ohio State possibly could overcome disgruntled alumni pressure. Many old grads have been outspoken in their desire for a new coach since Michigan lost to Illinois.

Only left halfback Jim Pace starred for the Wolverines. He gained 128 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns. He now shares the conference scoring lead with Don Clark of Ohio, who was hurt and didn't play against Iowa.

Martinez Seeks Try for Crown

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Flushed by his knockout victory Saturday night over Ramon Tiscareno of Juarez, Mex., Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. was out after the vacant welterweight championship today.

★ ★ ★

His manager, Bill Daly, said he has received a $30,000 offer for a fight in Newark between Martinez and any one of the challengers for Carmen Basilio's vacated title. He said he would like to have the fight in Los Angeles, however, because of the money prospects.

Auburn Leads by 1 Vote

NEW YORK (INS) — The perplexing question of whether Oklahoma or Texas A&M was the nation's No. 1 team has been neatly resolved by Auburn — with tremendous assists from Notre Dame and Rice.

Auburn took over as the top college football team in the country in the wake of Notre Dame's stunning 7-0 upset of Oklahoma and Rice's big 7-6 win over Texas A&M.

The Alabama Plainsmen remained the nation's only major undefeated team by topping Georgia, 6-0, thereby vaulting from third place into the top spot of the International News Service poll.

The INS panel of experts moved Michigan State into second place, just one vote behind Auburn, with cross-country teams Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State taking over the third spot.

Tennessee, which lost to Mississippi, was dropped from the elite. The Vols were replaced by Notre Dame which took over tenth place.

The list:

Teams	Voting Pts.
1. Auburn (8-0)	38
2. Michigan State (7-1)	37
3. Ohio State (7-1)	32
4. Texas A & M (8-1)	26
5. Oklahoma (7-1)	22
6. Mississippi (8-1)	20
7. Iowa (6-1-1)	18
8. Army (7-1)	9
9. Navy (7-1-1)	8
10. Notre Dame (5-2)	7

The INS panel of experts consists of East-West Shrine game scouts Bernie Bierman, Andy Kerr and Francis J. Powers, INS columnist Bob Considine and INS sports editor John Barrington.

John Melton, Freshman backfield coach at Wyoming also coaches the Cowboy track and cross-country teams.

Campus Holiday Today

Notre Dame Celebrates Triumph Over Sooners

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Football thrills are not few and far between at Notre Dame but Saturday's stunning 7-0 upset over Oklahoma will find its place in Irish gridiron archives.

Go back to the days when Knute Rockne and Gus Dorias led the Irish to a 35-13 upset victory over Army in 1913 and come down through the era of Frank Leahy and you'll find that unbeaten seasons, winning streaks and big surprises are part of the Notre Dame tradition.

But the triumph over Oklahoma that ended a record-breaking 47-game winning streak was best described by Coach Terry Brennan today when he said:

"It was really something, wasn't it?"

The victory marked a celebration on the Irish campus which was to continue through today. The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University, proclaimed a school holiday.

"We got in at 9:30 Saturday night," said Brennan, "and there were thousands of people at the airport. Then we came to the school and ran into about 4,000 students. Even as late as one o'clock in the morning lights were burning in the dorms and I guess the students were still celebrating.

★ ★ ★

How did the Irish win the game?

"It's a big pie and we have to cut it up in a lot of pieces," said Brennan. "The team, naturally, deserves the credit but the coaches and scouts had a lot to do with it. We just buckled down, worked hard and found it paid off.

"Another big help was that we had three of their game movies. I can honestly say that it's the first time in two years that we put together a real ball game. I'm not trying to belittle the teams we've played but this time we did the job."

Brennan, after losing to Navy 20-6 and Michigan State 34-6, insisted his team was not as bad as it had appeared.

"The Navy game was the worst we played," said Brennan, "and we made too many mistakes against Michigan State."

Brennan also had nothing but praise for Oklahoma.

"They played a fine game and took the loss graciously," he said. "Bud Wilkinson congratulated me after the game and told me we played a better game and deserved to win."

Spartan Star Defends IC4A Harrier Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan State's Henry Kennedy will defend his individual title in the IC4A Cross-Country championships today while the Spartans go after their second straight team title.

The five-mile race has attracted a total of 320 entries, representing 39 colleges, and will be run over the Van Cortland Park course.

Michigan State placed all five of its finishers in the top 15 last year. Kennedy set the course record of 24:01.8 in 1956.

Rams and Lyon Rip Eaglets, 36-0

By CHUCK ABAIR

"Bring on St. Michael," was the cry of St. Frederick followers today following Sunday's resounding 36-0 walloping of Orchard Lake St. Mary in a surprisingly one-sided contest at Orchard Lake.

St. Michael is certain to have a busy afternoon this week at Wisner Stadium if Jack Lyon and company can come anywhere near approaching yesterday's outstanding performance.

Lyon raced to four touchdowns, one a 59-yard scamper, to spark the triumph and virtually clinch the Oakland County scoring race with 108 points with one game still to play.

Tom Derocher went over on the 5th play of the game from the 13 and end Bob Croasdell caught a pass from freshman quarterback Jim Kennedy to score the other on a 37-yard play for the other points.

★ ★ ★

The St. Fred offense has clicked well all year and piled up 363 more yards overall yesterday but the defense has been the big surprise lately. The unexpected blanking of the Eaglets was the 2nd in succession for the Rams.

"We have played better ball this year but we were really up for this one," said smiling coach Gene Wright, shouting above the joyous shouts of the St. Fred fans as they broke into pandemonium following the final whistle.

Lyon, a 160-pound junior, showed great speed and power every time he carried the ball. He was hit at least three times on his 4th TD plunge but kept bulling forward in true fullback style.

★ ★ ★

A pass interception by Dick Kast and a fumble recovery set up scores that gave the underdogs an 18-0 1st quarter edge. And they just kept pouring it on.

St. Mary gained well and reached the 8, 15 and 22 on different occasions before the St. Fred linemen rose up and held.

Pontiac Hunter Gets Big Moose; Party Takes 3

Not since 1940 had a party of hunters in the Chapleau section of Ontario taken three or more moose at the same time, that is until last week. Pontiac's former Mayor John Ridgeway was one of the successful 1940 hunters.

★ ★ ★

Last week Jerry Woollever and Frank Slaybaugh (OSCS members) went back to Chapleau for a 2nd trip this year. Jerry downed a 1,300-pounder Monday but the pair didn't get the bull out until Wednesday. Slaybaugh got his bull on the last trip.

In the same party were two other hunters who also bagged big bulls.

★ ★ ★

Slaybaugh's hunting for the year is over, he said today, "except for maybe a little rabbit hunting." Woollever, however, took off immediately (Saturday) for a northern Michigan deer-hunting jaunt.

Rangers Grab NHL Lead After Licking Canadiens

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Rangers were surprisingly entrenched in first place in the National Hockey League today after whipping the Montreal Canadiens in a weekend home-and-home series.

★ ★ ★

But Coach Phil Watson calls the Rangers' position "a fluke."

"We're the nouveau riche and we'll probably have our bad times," he added. "Don't forget we have played two more games than the Canadiens and they'll probably win both of them."

Both New York successes over the defending champions came by 4-2 scores. Last night, the Blueshirts broke a 1-1 tie late in the second period when Danny Lewicki converted Red Sullivan's neat pass and then added third period markers by Andy Bathgate and Jack Evans.

Rookie goalie Marcel Paille again was a standout for the winners. He turned back 34 shots, allowing only thrusts by Claude Provost and Tom Johnson to get past.

"Paille has got the job now," said Watson. "He'll have to lose it before we think of recalling Gump Worsley from Providence. Marcel played fine goal for us both times against the Canadiens."

Gallant Man Called Leading 3-Year-Old

MIAMI (INS) — Trainer Johnny Nerud has claimed the "horse of the year" title for Ralph Lowe's three-year-old ace, Gallant Man.

"When they vote in those nationwide polls to pick the 1957 champion, I don't see how they could rightfully keep it from Gallant Man," said Nerud yesterday after he flew into Miami from New York with the famed British colt.

Gallant Man was defeated by Bold Ruler in the recent Trenton Handicap "dream race," but it was pointed out that in six meetings between the two horses, each has led the other three times.

Nerud said that Gallant Man had set track records at six furlongs and a mile-and-an-eighth and an American record for the mile-and-a-half.

Hen Pheasant All Mixed Up; Lays Nine Eggs

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Pheasant out of season.

That's what wildlife experts have called the case of a bewildered hen pheasant who laid nine eggs in the cold and wet of November in a vacant lot here.

Ralph I. Blouch, longtime pheasant expert for the Michigan conservation department and now with the Houghton Lake wildlife experiment station, said he cannot recall any other instance of such a pheasant nest in Michigan during late fall.

"As far as I know, it's unique," Blouch said. "It could have happened before and not been reported to us, but a November pheasant nest is certainly extremely rare in any case.

"I don't think there's much chance she can hatch the eggs even if they are fertile at this time of year."

NHL Player, Labor Hearing Postponed

TORONTO (AP) — The hearing of the National Hockey League Players' Assn. before the Ontario Labor Relations Board, originally scheduled for today, has been postponed until Thursday.

The Association is applying for certification as bargaining agent for members of the Toronto Maple Leafs Hockey Club.

Ted Lindsay of the Chicago Black Hawks is president of the Association.

Death Takes Former Canadian Grid Star

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—Norm Perry, one of the finest broken-field runners Canadian football ever produced and one-time head of the sport's governing body, died of a heart attack yesterday. He was 52.

He also was a former Sarnia mayor and councilman.

FOR THE RECORD — Mrs. William Conyers claims a world record with this 15-pound, 12-ounce blackfin tuna taken from the Challenger Banks, 17 miles southwest of Hamilton, Bermuda. It took 20 minutes to bring the big one to gaff after landing it on a 12-pound test line. Clever catch.

Table Netters Hold Weekly Competition

The Pontiac Table Tennis Association resumed action last Friday night in the Pontiac High School girls' gymnasium. Competition was conducted under a new progressive system whereby points are accumulated on an individual basis rather than team play.

Winners were M. Hersacher, 8 points; Bill Wettlaufer, 6 points; Dave Barnhart, 7 points, Howard Heckman, Dick Heymann and A. Bartow tied with two points apiece.

Any Oakland County resident who desires to play table tennis may do so by appearing at the PHS girls' gym on Friday evenings. Starting time is 8 o'clock.

Chapter 31

"You say, Doctor, that the body had developed rigor mortis at least in part. Were you there when the body was moved from the hotel?" Perry Mason asked.

"Yes."

"And what was done with reference to rigor at that time?"

"The rigor was broken."

"What do you mean by that?"

"When a person dies," Dr. Garfield said, "the muscles are at first completely limp. The head can be moved from side to side with the greatest of ease. The limbs can be flexed. Then, after a variable period of time, depending on circumstances, the rigor sets in and when the rigor is completely developed the body has become stiff."

"How stiff?"

"Very stiff indeed."

"Then what?"

"Then, after a lapse of time as the muscles become alkaline again, the rigor leaves the body and the body once more becomes limp."

"Now, what do you mean by saying that rigor can be broken?

"You can forcibly move the limbs after rigor has developed, and, once the rigor is broken, it does not return."

Mason said, "Isn't it a fact, Doctor, that when you saw the body there was rigor in the right arm, but that there was no rigor in the left arm?"

"I won't say that," Dr. Garfield said, "but I did notice that there was no rigor in the left shoulder."

"But there was in the right?"

IN COMPLETE RIGOR

"The right arm and shoulder were in complete rigor. The right hand was held up so that it was perhaps an inch or so from the face, but was stiff enough to remain in that position."

"Thank you, Doctor," Mason said. "Now I want to ask one more question: Isn't it a fact that it was possible for death to have taken place earlier in the afternoon?"

"Well . . ." Dr. Garfield hesitated.

"Go ahead," Mason said.

* * *

"There were certain conditions there that were puzzling. The development of the rigor, the post mortem lividity, and a very faint discoloration of the left side of the body."

"What was this discoloration?"

"I am not certain. I would prefer not to discuss it because we finally came to the conclusion that it was not significant."

"But there was a discoloration?"

"Well, I wouldn't exactly call it a discoloration. It was just a faint tinge which was all but invisible except in certain lights. We decided, after discussing the matter, that it had no real significance. However, it had no significance because the contents of the stomach and intestines furnished a very accurate means of fixing the time of death."

* * *

"You personally examined the contents of the stomach and intestines?"

"Oh, yes."

"Can you determine when death occurred with reference to when the last meal was ingested?"

"I would say within a period of two hours to two hours and fifteen minutes."

"Then you think that this young woman had lunch at about four-thirty o'clock?"

"Apparently at exactly four-thirty."

"How do you know that?"

"Room Service sent lunch up to the room at four-thirty. Potatoes au gratin had been sent up by Room Service, and those remnants were found in the stomach. Roast turkey was sent up by the Room Service and those remnants were found in the stomach, as well as remnants of other items on the hotel's turkey plate luncheon."

"You have investigated this, of course."

"Of course."

"And checked with Room Service in the hotel?"

"Yes."

"And what was your conclusion, Doctor?"

"As to the time of death?"

"As to the contents of the stomach."

"As compared with the lunch sent up?"

"Yes."

The witness hesitated.

"Well?" Mason asked.

GREEN PEAS

"It is hard to answer that question without bringing in hearsay evidence," Dr. Garfield said. "The hotel restaurant was able to check the order sent out—a regular plate dinner of roast turkey with dressing. The decedent also ordered asparagus. We found all those articles in the stomach."

"Any other articles?" Mason asked.

"Yes."

"What?"

"Green peas."

"But there were no green peas on the luncheon sent up?" Mason asked. "Those peas must have come from another source?"

"There were green peas on the luncheon," Dr. Garfield said positively. "The hotel records show no peas, but they were sent up. They had to be on that lunch menu. The hotel employes all admitted it was very possible the records were in error and the peas simply had not been put on the bill because of an oversight."

"Did she sign the check for Room Service?"

"No, sir, she paid it in cash."

Elliott said, "We expect to show the contents of the last meal which was sent up by Room Service, and we expect to show that green peas were added by an inexperienced waitress who neglected to put them on the bill. There can be no question as to what actually happened."

"If the court please," Mason said, "I take exception to the statement by counsel that there can be no question as to what happened. Counsel is advancing his own conclusions."

"I was merely trying to shorten the cross-examination of this witness, save the time of the court, and keep from confusing the issues in the minds of the jury," Elliott said.

Judge DeWitt said, "Just a moment, gentlemen. Despite the short time spent in getting a jury, it has reached the hour for the afternoon adjournment. Court will take a recess until ten o'clock tomorrow morning. In the meantime, the jurors are instructed not to discuss this case with anyone or permit it to be discussed in their presence, nor to form or express any opinion concerning the matter until it is finally submitted for their consideration. I have previously admonished the jury on this point and I think they understand their duties. Court will recess until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

"The defendant is remanded to custody.

Mason turned to smile reassuringly at Conway. "I think we've got them, Jerry," he said.

Conway said, "I don't see how you figure it. I think we're licked."

"What do you mean?"

Waterford Enthusiasm Soaring for Ballet

There is so much enthusiasm for ballet classes in Waterford Township, that additional facilities have been installed in the Community Activities Center.

More than 500 pupils are now enrolled in daily classes and new exercise bars have been constructed around the gymnasium for the dancers.

All of the pupils are now working towards the annual recital to be presented in June, according to director Mrs. Carol Wolfe.

ONE LONG HIGHWAY — Michigan motorists will someday be able to follow one highway route all the way from Sault Ste. Marie to Tampa, Fla., according to the Automobile Club of Michigan. Interstate 75 will roughly parallel the present route which covers portions of U.S.27 and U.S.10 in Michigan, U.S.25, U.S.11 and U.S.41 in Midwestern and Southern states.

As Interstate Highway Progresses

New Numbering to Appear on State's Trunklines

A distinctive new numbering procedure will appear on several of Michigan's major state trunklines as work progresses on the Interstate Highway system, according to Harry N. Rogan, Automobile Club of Michigan travel servies director.

One route running from Sault Ste. Marie through Detroit and Toledo to Tampa (Fla.) will be called Interstate 75, Rogan said. It will roughly parallel the present route from Michigan to Florida which covers portions of federal highways 24, 10, 25, 11 and 41. Existing roads will retain their numbers.

Interstate Routes 90, 92 and 94, roughly paralleling the present U.S. 12, U.S. 16 and U.S. 10, are also in prospect.

Since construction of entire Interstate routes depends on individual states completing their portions, plans for new number designations are indefinite. The completed roadways must be approved by national highway officials before becoming eligible.

Signs for the new system will be of regular shield shape and have white numerals and letters on fields of red and blue. All new highway numbers will be in two digits. East-wes numbers will be even while north-south numbers will be odd. Present Federal route numbers will not be repeated in the new system.

Portions of Michigan roads, completed or nearly completed, that appear eligible for the Interstate system include the Detroit-Toledo Expressway, the Willow Run, Edsel Ford and John Lodge Expressways and bypasses around several southern Michigan cities.

Consumers in the United States eat twice as many canned vegetables today per capita as a few decades ago, and also consume about one-third more of the fresh vegetable varieties.

Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

Money Climbs to $1,100 Mark in Pot-O-Gold

Each week without a winner means another $100, but it also means the chances are getting greater that a winner will come along. Get busy now before someone snatches the prize money right out from under your nose.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. Entries must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his numbers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent post card. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 77 must bear a Tuesday, Nov. 26 postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest canot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press Judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Officers Guard Spirited Rooters

Baltimore Colts Fans Accused of 'Mauling' Girl Scouts

CHICAGO (INS)—Some 30 Baltimore Colts rooters, who allegedly mauled and abused a group of Girl Scout leaders on their trip to Chicago, were "guarded" by two Pennsylvania Railroad policemen on the ride home today.

★ ★ ★

The Baltimore fans were isolated in the rear pullman of the Pennsylvania Limited when it pulled out of Chicago at 11:50 p.m.

A uniformed sergeant and a patrolman rode herd on the rooters to forestall any roistering in celebration of the Colts' 29 to 14 victory over the Chicago Bears and make sure they did not invade any of the other cars on te train.

The railroad took the precaution after Mrs. Lester Marks of the Chicago suburb of Highland Park complained that 30 women and girls underwent "a night of terror" last Friday when the fans invaded their pullman.

She reported the women were returning from a national convention in Philadelphia when the rooters, seeing them in their uniforms, "began making remarks and passes."

Mrs. Marks said the men waved whisky bottles, spilled drinks and "mauled the girls."

Cars in Living Room? Normal at This House

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For the seventh time in recent years, a car smashed into Jim Donnelly's house yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"This is getting monotonous," grumbled Donnelly as he eyed a cracked foundation.

His home is on Hattie Street. Cars hitting a traffic island on upper Market Street slant into it.

★ ★ ★

Robert Carl Hagen, 29, driver of a sports car which crashed through a six-foot-high board fence and into the house, was booked on suspicion of drunk driving.

Unsympathetic Reader Wants to Raid Graves

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona Republic columnist Don Dedera recently wrote about desecration of Arizona's historical landmarks. Letters piled up from readers asking what they could do to prevent it.

But one reader asked for directions to one of the old graveyards so he could "get one of those rustic headboards before they are all gone."

The fierce piranha fish, found in certain South American rivers, travels in schools and attacks larger fish, destroying them. Only 10 to 12 inches long, they are dangerous because they attack in large numbers.

Ben Hecht Set to Work on 'Jean Harlow Story'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Ben Hecht gets here this week to work on Adela Rogers St. John's "The Jean Harlow Story," for 20th Century-Fox.

"Ben is very familiar with the era in which Jean lived and knew her well. She used to confide in him and tell him many of her troubles," Jerry Wald told me, "and he will work on the script with Adela."

I asked if Marilyn Monroe will be starred in the Harlow story.

Said Jerry, "I think after eBn's script is written, Marilyn or any other star will be thrilled to play Jean."

Jerry figures the picture will be ready to roll right after the first of the year. However, Marilyn told me in New York she wants to do "Blue Angel" first.

A very nince honor will be handed Rock Hudson tomorrow by the Theater Owners of America convening in Miami. Rock will be announced as the "best actor of the year," and coming from the theater owners that is indeed an honor. In previous years Danny Kaye, William Holden and Jimmy Stewart were named the winnah! Rock, who is in the midst of his pictuure "Twilight for the Gods," has been given time off by U-I to go to Miami and accept the award.

The most perfect casting of the year is Zsa Zsa Gabor playing Zsa Zsa Gabor in "The Boys From Tennessee." What a ball she will have doing what comes naturally—which is plenty exciting.

Casting the volatile Hungarian as herself is the idea of Dino de Laurentiis and Ralph Serpe, who are making "Tennessee' for Paramount. Zsa Zsa as a glamorous actress, of course, discovers a hillbilly singer in the mountains of Tennessee and helps him become the rock 'n' roll sensation of the country. She goes to New York after the George Gobel show.

Alan Ladd, tired of the race to get actors everytime he puts one of his Jaguar movies before the cameras, is solving the trouble by singing up some star material—the first being Jeff Richards.

Jeff, currently making "Island of Lost Women," has been given a five-year contract calling for two movies a year for Alan's company.

Very much the business executive, Alan tells me, "The signing of Jeff is just the first step my partner, Al Cohen, and I are taking in lining up a roster of players. Many good stories go begging because good actors are not available. We intend to tie up some top young stars and have them on hand when we need them."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The Jeanne Crain-Paul Brinkman baby is expected November 25th, Jeanne's mother's birthday. Reservations have been made at Queen of Angels Hospital for that day.

Art Mooney, who did that great orchestral number in "Bridge on the River Kwai," with the prisoners whistling as they marched over the bridge, brought me his first MGM recording of it.

Sal Mineo and his family have just bought a fourteen room mansion in Mamaroneck, New York—cost, $200,000. It's a two and a half acre estate on the waterfront.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A roaring fire in a fireplace set fire last night to the home of Howard Lee and his wife, actress Hedy Lamarr. Fire Chief H. MCLean said there was extensive damage.

337 'Lost' Koreans Reported Alive

SEOUL (AP)—The North Korean Communists have reported that 337 South Koreans missing since the Korean War are alive and living in the North.

★ ★ ★

They were among 7,034 persons the South Korean government claims were captured and held by the Communists. The Reds claimed the 337 went North voluntarily.

The South Korean Red Cross said the North Koreans indicated others on the list of missing were also alive and their names would be furnished later.

Mike and Liz Cancel Rest of World Tour

HONG KONG (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Mike Todd are canceling the rest of their world tour so she can have her appendix out in America.

The film star came down with appendicitis Friday but her husband said she was up and around at the home of friends. Todd said she would have the operation on their return to Los Angeles.

Seattle Street Hole Grows No Larger

SEATTLE (AP)—All was quiet — but tense—on Ravenna Boulevard today. A mammoth hole in the center of the big north end street grew no larger.

★ ★ ★

Engineers said the threat of further cave-ins remained and probably was growing hourly as crews fought against time to relieve pressure on a broken trunk sewer blamed for causing the big hole.

★ ★ ★

Still imperiled and abandoned by their owners were 10 homes perched on the rim of the big hole. Their fate rested on completion of a temporary by-pass for the sewer before further slides occur.

Roy W. Morse, city engineer, estimated this could be finished by Monday.

Trend in Stocks Generally Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was generally lower in fairly active early trading today.

Leading issues fell from fractions to around a point. There were a few small gainers.

First trades showed an irregular picture, but the over-all trend to the downside soon became clear. The brisk pace at the start slowed in later dealings.

The vigorous rally of Friday on news that the Federal Reserve Board had lowered the discount rate in four districts left ample room for profit-taking. In addition, the weekend brought news that both industrial production and personal income in October had sagged.

Losses of around a point were taken by U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft and International Nickel. Lukens Steel slipped about two.

Down by major fractions were Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel and Sinclair. Smaller losses were taken by Santa Fe, Southern Railway, United Aircraft, Radio Corp., Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Gulf Oil and Eastern Air Lines.

Kennecott was down more than a point as world copper prices declined.

Steady to higher were American Telephone, International Telephone, Illinois Central, Lowe's, American Tobacco, American and Zenith. Du Pont was up around a point.

Opening blocks included: Douglas Aircraft off 1½ at 68 on 1,000 shares; U. S. Steel off 1 at 54 on 2,500; General Motors unchanged at 36⅝ on 2,500; and Standard Oil (New Jersey) unchanged at 49½ on 2,000.

Industry Salute Displays Can Still Be Viewed

What some of Pontiac's smaller industries produce is presently being shown in a display at 19 N. Saginaw St.

The displays were a part of the Nov. 9 "Salute to Industry" show staged by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. Because of the adverse weather that day, the public is afforded another opportunity to see the displays.

They are from Universal Oil Seal, American Forge & Socket, Dostall Foundry, Baldwin Rubber Co., Superior Metal Products Manufacturing Co. and the Jig Bushing Co.

The displays will be in the store window through Nov. 26.

Corn, Soybeans Strong Starters

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soy bean futures were mostly steady in light dealings on the board of trade today.

Corn and soybeans started stong, reflecting continued unfavorable weather and the possibility that soybeans may suffer some deterioration unless weather conditions improve.

★ ★ ★

Soybeans were up around two cents a bushel at the outset on buying credited to brokers representing processors and exporters. Higher prices for soybean and cottonseed oils also figured in early dealings in the bean pit.

Corn advanced nearly a cent a bushel at the opening on a flurry of small buying orders. There were some offerings by commission and cash houses and these were quickly absorbed.

Wheat started mixed. Old crop wheat advanced fractionally while the distant July and September 1958 contracts declined. There was news to stimulate dealings in the bread grains.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was unchanged to ⅜ higher, Dec. $2.18⅝; corn ¾ to ⅞ higher, Dec. $1.19⅜; oats ⅛ to ¼ higher, Dec. 68¾; rye ⅝ to 1⅛ higher, Dec. $1.32½; soybeans, 1⅜ to 1½ higher, Nov. $2.29¼; and lard was 5 to 15 cents a hundred lbs. higher, Dec. $12.25.

Proposes Michigan Missile Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) proposed yesterday that new missile work be performed in Michigan's automotive-centered industry instead of existing aircraft plants.

★ ★ ★

"I have always contended that diversified production capabilities, so abundant in our state, are a sounder and surer base for missile production than aircraft firms, which essentially serve as assembly points," Potter said in a report to constituents.

★ ★ ★

He added he is attempting to push new missile contracts into unemployment-plagued Michigan.

"Uncle Sam can save money by placing such contracts with our basic manufacturers, and at the same time provide much-needed jobs for Michiganders," said Potter.

Competition to Be Fiercest Ever

Auto Makers Introduce New Models; It's Fear of Decision for Small Firms

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry has just begun a new model year that holds some far-reaching potentialities.

Competition among General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will be the toughest in their history; it could have a major bearing on the future of the smaller companies, like American Motors and Studebaker-Packard.

TIME TO TELL

The year will determine, too—

Can Chrysler maintain its almost fantastic comeback? If so, at whose expense will it increase its market penetration?

Can Chevrolet, with a wholly new model car, attract more buyers than Ford, with broadly redesigned models that were wholly new a year ago and won top sales ranking?

Will the increased interest of American car makers in the smaller, lower priced car market, cut into the sales volume of foreign car makers?

EDSEL IN BATTLE

Will Ford's new Edsel line win the place its sponsors expect for it in the medium price field?

Will the restyling of Buick and Oldsmobile models regain for them the sales volume they lost in 1957?

It has become something of a tradition in the auto industry that when the larger companies intensify their competitive drives somebody gets hurt—usually the smaller concerns. The smaller concerns, now represented by American Motors (formerly Nash and Hudson) and Studebaker - Packard, have been hurt consistently since government production controls were removed prior to the mergers that created AMC and S-P.

★ ★ ★

Historically, the smaller car companies accounted for about 10 per cent of the industry's annual output. That was their allotment under government controls. Since their formation a little more than three years ago AMC and S-P have had a struggle to claim three per cent.

Chrysler and Ford sharply advanced their penetration of the car market in the 1957 model year. They did it at the expense of General Motors and—in lesser degree—of the smaller concerns.

Productionwise General Motors accounted for 45 per cent of the industry's over-all volume in this year's first nine months. During the same 1956 period its share was 55.20 per cent. Ford moved up to 31.72 per cent from last year's 27.12 and Chrysler up to 20.62 from 17.28 in the like 1956 period.

★ ★ ★

With two wholly new lines in Chevrolet and Pontiac, and broadly restyled Buicks and Oldsmobiles, GM has improved its competitive position. But several months will be required to determine whether it can take any volume from Ford and Chrysler.

Industry experts say the popularity of Chrysler styling, emphasizing the dart and fin motif, showed no lessening at the end of the 1957 model year. Some also said styling changes for 1958, while not as broad as those of its competitors, did enhance eye-appeal.

Many industry experts have said Chevrolet's styling appeal has been sharply enhanced for 1958. What the over-all changes cost has not been disclosed. Some guesses put the figure at around 400 million dollars.

REDESIGN LINE

Ford, meanwhile, reported a 185 million dollar outlay to redesign its Ford line for 1958. It also made broad changes designed to further increase styling and engineering appeal.

At the end of the first nine months of 1957 Ford Division was accounting for 25.35 per cent of the industry's output while Chevrolet had 24.05 per cent. A year ago Ford Division's share was 21.83 per cent and Chevrolet's 28.17.

The small car market, currently dominated by foreign makes, could change materially in 1958. General Motors' Vauxhall and Opel units and Ford's British-built smaller vehicles could change the pattern. Also contending will be American Motors' revived smaller wheelbase Rambler and Studebaker-Packard's economy Scotsman line.

★ ★ ★

Ford's Edsel series was brought out at an announced cost of a quarter of a billion dollars. The car was introduced as a 1958 model weeks ahead of other 1958 units. It ran head-on into industrywide price-cutting by retailers liquidating a heavy inventory of outgoing 1957 cars.

The Edsel's place in the industry will be established after a couple of months of direct competition with 1958 Pontiacs, Buicks, DeSotos, Dodges and Chrysler Windsors.

See Yule Boost in Employment

But Slump Is Predicted in February by Top U.S. Economists

WASHINGTON (INS) — Government economists today predicted employment will pick up with Christmas trade and then hit rock bottom in February.

The prediction came after it was announced that employment cutbacks have reduced personal income two months in a row for the first time since the 1954 business downturn.

On an annual basis, personal income dipped 200 million dollars in September and one billion dollars in October to 345 billion, 600 million dollars—still 11 billions higher than a year ago.

The Commerce Department said the October loss was the result of a one and one-half billion dollar decline in wages and salaries and a one-half billion dollar increase in government aid.

More than one-half of the increase in grants was unemployment compensation and the remainder was higher old age benefits.

Non-farm employment in October was 300,000 below the record level of August but about 140,000 above October of last year.

The last monthly drop of one billion dollars in the annual rate due to job cutbacks was in January 1954, but similar declines occurred in the July 1956 steel strike and in January 1956 after unusually heavy dividend payments the previous month.

New Model Deliveries Up Over Last Year

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Division, which introduced its 1958 models on Nov. 7, reported today its retailers delivered 22,408 of the new cars in the first three days of the new model year. This compares with 17,329 unit deliveries in the first three days of the 1957 model year.

Chrysler Division reported its dealers delivered 1,001 new Imperial models in the first 10 days of November. In the same period last year 241 Imperials were delivered. Retail deliveries of other Chrysler models during the first 10 days of November numbered 2,292, compared with 1,872 in the first 10 days of November 1956.

Over One Million Cars Produced by Germans

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — More than a million cars were produced by the German automobile industry during the first 10 months of 1957.

The German Automobile Industries Federation last night said a total of 1,001,689 units had been put out by the country during a period from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31.

This, the federation announced, compared with a total output of 1,073,084 units in 1956.

The October production amounted to 115,119 units, the highest monthly output ever recorded in West German car industry.

Many People Surprised to Find Scientists Human

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists are strange and puzzling people for one simple reason—they are human.

They are ordinary people with specialized knowledge in one or more sciences.

As people they are no different from lawyers, housewives, auto mechanics, actors, musicians, teachers, bricklayers, economists. All of us have specialized knowledge and a jargon of our own—some more than others.

★ ★ ★

Scientists are peculiar only to the degree all humans are puzzling to other humans.

But they are bearing a cross of considerable public opinion which thinks scientists are oddballs, very evil or very dedicated to god, impractical, superhuman, absent-minded, self-centered, godless, or dull.

Surveys show 25 to nearly 50 per cent of teen-agers and adults hold such opinions.

★ ★ ★

This doesn't make scientists happy, naturally. They say these attitudes don't hurt them personally so much as science generally, and the decisions of youngsters whether to become scientists. Russia encourages no such views about science and scientists.

Movies about "mad scientists" played a part in creating prejudices against scientists, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

So have concepts drawn from TV, newspapers, radio, teachers, gossip, and behavior of some scientists themselves.

★ ★ ★

How much did Einstein, needing a haircut, heedless of accepted conventions in clothes, come to exemplify the average scientist? How much do a few doctors, lawyers, bankers, or bus drivers create public opinion about those occupations?

Meet many scientists and their common denominator of humanity becomes clearly apparent.

Some are avid football or baseball fans, or love music, books, poker, or playing tennis or poll. Others like bridge, growing roses, seeing plays, travel, swimming.

Many are gay and witty, some quiet, some shy, or all these things at different times. Only a very few are stuffed shirts or snobs who think you ought to know a lot about their subject or speak their language in order to be intelligent—though they know precious little about other people's specialties.

Like other people, they marry, have children, work in PTA's or Boy Scouts, vote and argue politics, worry about bills, fix up the house on weekends.

They love their work, especially the good ones, and are wrapped up in it as is anyone who likes his job. They find their work exciting—that's why they chose it.

"One impression is that science means a hermit life of introspection," comments Dr. Julian Sturtevant, professor of chemistry at Yale University.

"A contractor can sit home at night and be withdrawn because he's mentally calculating what bids to make on a job. That's okay because it's for his economic benefit. But if a scientist muses over a research problem, it means he's odd, though solving that problem could be advancing his own career."

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, tells a story illustrating how easy it is to absorb popular concepts about scientists in general.

A high school girl worked one summer in his laboratory as a dishwasher and assistant to a technician. Among eggs being used for research, one hatched a baby chick, which became her pet.

One day it tried to follow her into an elevator, and fell four floors into the well below.

"She was terribly impressed that scientists in our lab solved, the not-easy problem fo rescue in the not-easy problem of rescue in gence, brawn and kindness," Dr. Pollard says. "She says it was an eye-opener how human and nice scientists are, not like the popular pictures of them."

Ernie Pollard doesn't say so, but it's also a tribute that at home he's regarded as a human being, father and husband rather than a scientist.

For the young girl was his own daughter, Carol.

Throng of Fans Honors Blind Composer Handy

NEW YORK (AP)—A throng of admirers joined last night in singing happy birthday to William C. Handy, the frail, blind composer of "The St. Louis Blues."

For the 84-year-old Negro, it was a long way from St. Louis where, he recalled, "I was a tramp."

About 800 persons gathered in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and paid $50 a plate—proceeds to the W. C. Handy Foundation for the Blind—in a tribute sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

As Handy entered the ballroom in a wheel chair, a 30-piece Paul Whiteman orchestra saluted him with "Alabamy Bound." Handy was born in Florence, Ala.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman sent telegrams of congratulations.

Among 36 persons on the dais with Handy and his wife were Ralph Bunche, United Nations official; Oscar Hammerstein II; and singer Morton Downey.

Althea Gibson, Wimbledon and National Clay Tennis champion, made her singing debut.

In replying to glowing speeches, Handy recalled selling "The Memphis Blues," another of his compositions, for $50.

"Since then," he said, "I have been repaid many times for the light you have shown me in this tribute tonight."

Handy lives in Yonkers, N. Y.

This week has been proclaimed W. C. Handy Week in New York.

Kitchen Shelves Hide Geography

Spices Shaped Fortune of Nations; Search Led to New Empires

WASHINGTON — Tucked away on a shelf in nearly every American kitchen is an exotic essence of geography.

It's contained in the familiar tins of spices. Cloves from Zanzibar and cinnamon from Ceylon, leaves, berries, roots, and bark of many plants have been objects of quest since ancient times.

Spices, above all other edible substances, have helped shape the fortunes of the world. Spices have been valued above gold and used as currency. Throughout most of recorded history, spices have not only been essential to preserve and give zest to bad food; they have been needed for incense, embalming preparations, and ointments.

TRADE STILL FLOURISHES

No longer are spices so vital to health and comfort, but they remain a valuable commodity in world trade. In the United States, where their use in cookery has sharply increased during the past decade, spices constitute a $150,000,000-a-year business.

Almost every nation contributes to American spice shelves, the National Geographic Society says. Excluding allspice, a product of the West Indies pimento tree, most true spices such as pepper, cassia, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, mace, cloves, saffron, and turmeric come from the traditional spice lands — India, Ceylon, Malaya, Indonesia, Indochina, China, and Japan.

The United States depends heavily on Europe for herbs, a botanical classification including basil, bay leaves, chervil, marjoram, mint, oregano, parsley, rosemary, sage, savory, tarragon, and thyme.

Aromatic seeds —anise, caraway, cardamom, celery, coriander, cumin, dill, fennel, mustard, and poppy — are grown in Africa, Europe, India, and the Americas.

Nowadays, obtaining spices is no problem except in wartime. But the precious food auxiliaries have not always been available or inexpensive. Demand, especially in the Middle Ages, bordered on mania. For want of spices, men shed blood and wrote some of the history's most thrilling adventures.

Marco Polo opened Europe's eyes to the mysterious "lands of spicerie." Columbus, Da Gama, and a long line of mariners, while looking largely for spices, opened the world to exploration and trade.

GOLDEN AGE OF SPICES

Mastery of the spice trade helped build the empires of Portugal, Spain, England and Holland. Profits were fabulous, and spice monopolies were guarded like atomic bombs. To prevent the planting and growing of nutmeg trees away from the Spice Islands in the 17th century, the Dutch soaked the nuts in milk of lime before shipping to make them infertile. On the docks of Elizabethan London, stevedores had their pockets sewn to discourage spice thefts.

Among present-day spices, saffron is the most expensive. It takes 75,000 saffron blossoms to yield a pound of spice-bearing stigmas, thus its wholesale bulk price of about $58 a pound.

But pepper has always been a prince among spices. When Alaric the Goth besieged Rome in 408 A. D., he demanded 3,000 pounds of it as a ransom. Rents and taxes were often paid with pepper in the Middle Ages. As recently as World War II, when supplies were cut off, American restaurateurs removed pepper from tables to prevent pilfering.

Dillon Unveils Economic Plan

Foreign Aid Czar Tells Recommendations for 'Have Not' Nations

NEW YORK (INS) — President Eisenhower's new foreign aid "czar" outlined today what appeared to be the administration's mutual security program that will be submitted to Congress in January.

★ ★ ★

It calls for a bigger development loan fund and long term renewal of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act.

C. Douglas Dillon, in his first public pronouncement since he was tapped by the White House as overall foreign aid coordinator, unveiled the far-reaching plan to bolster free world economy in an address prepared for delivery to the national foreign trade council in New York.

He said it is aimed primarily at overcoming Russia's economic penetration of the "have not" countries of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Dillon recommended:

—A 925 million dollar development loan fund to put the U. S. aid program to small countries on a basis of long-range loans instead of grants-in-aid.

—Congressional renewal for a minimum period of five years of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act.

Derailed Train Kills Mail Clerk

11 Cars Jump Tracks Near White Pigeon; 32 Injured, None Serious

WHITE PIGEON (AP) — Five crumpled postal railway cars were scheduled to be hauled today from an M103 crossing near White Pigeon where a New York Central passenger train derailed.

Eleven cars of the 16-car Chicagoan jumped the tracks in a rail construction zone early Saturday. The wreck killed one person and injured 32 others.

State police at the White Pigeon post a mile north of the wreck said six derailed cars—five day coaches and a pullman—had been removed from the scene by yesterday.

Five others, railway postal cars heavily damaged in the derailment, were expected to be removed by today.

The Chicagoan, detoured from its normal Chicago to New York main line route because of a train derailment near Archbold, Ohio, was derailed in a railroad construction zone at White Pigeon.

★ ★ ★

Henry M. Nichols, 54, of Chicago, foreman of a 30-man postal clerk's crew aboard the train, suffered fatal injuries under a jam of mailbags in one of the wrecked postal cars.

Thirty-two other persons suffered injuries in the derailment, but 20 were released after treatment or observation.

Only four remained at Three Rivers Hospital yesterday and were reported in good condition.

W. T. Alexander, general manager of the NYC western division, said the Chicagoan's diesel engine's speed tape "showed it was running at 55 m.p.h. at the time of the accident in a zone where speed had been restricted to 15 m.p.h." The engine was not derailed.

★ ★ ★

The train carried 213 coach passengers, about 55 pullman passengers, the postal clerks and a train crew headed by engineer Charles Trumbull of Cleveland.

Rob Orfonville Market of More Than $200

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported today that an Ortonville market was broken into and robbed of over $200 late yesterday while the owner was eating dinner.

Raymond Campbell, owner of the Green Lake Market, 1358 M-15, told deputies he had locked the store up for about two hours while eating dinner. When he returned, he found the cash register rifled of $200, about $12 missing from his wife's purse, and several hams stolen.

Waterford to Consider Water for Subdivision

Only one topic has been scheduled for tonight's regular Waterford Township Board meeting according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

A central water system for the Balmoral Subdivision, located on Hatchery road near Crescent Lake road, will be up for discussion. Johnson said there probably will be no action taken on the matter.

Total population of the U. S. in 1790 was 3,929,214.

News of Service Personnel

Marine Pvt. Terrance T. Shanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron E. Shanks of 7997 Flagstaff Rd., Union Lake, has completed four weeks of combat training at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolition, and advanced schooling on weapons.

SHANKS

WALTERS

Word has been received of the promotion to corporal of Marine Frank T. Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Walters of 2190 Highfield Rd., Drayton Plains.

Walters, a jet engine mechanic, is currently stationed at the Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment, Dallas, Texas.

Enlisting in 1956, Walters attended boot camp at San Diego and took his advanced training at Camp Pendelton, Calif.

Walters also attended Navy schools at Jacksonville, Fla. and Memphis, Tennessee.

McVETY

KENWORTHY

Two local men, Pvt. Richard A. McVety, brother of James W. McVety, 3757 Lincolnshire Rd., and Carl G. Kenworthy, husband of Barbara Kenworthy, 455 Jordan Rd., have recently been assigned to the 3rd Infantry Division, Fort Benning.

They will undergo military training and accompany the "Marne" Division to Germany next spring to assume NATO defense responsibilities.

MORGAN

CASTOR

Seaman Apprentice James Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane LaFave of 3045 Churchill Rd., and Ronald L. Castor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Castor of 2965 Hartline Dr., Rochester are both stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Morgan was formerly an IBM operator at the Pontiac Motor Division and Castor was employed at the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The two were classmates at Avondale High School.

Airman 3.C., Robert Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Burgess of 3520 Maybee Rd., Lake Orion received the highest grades in the class for apprentice Medical Material Specialist Course at Gunther Air Force Base, Alabama.

Burgess has been transferred to Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda.

Before entering the service in November, Burgess attended Lake Orion High School.

Detroit Vandals Strike Two Churches, Schools

DETROIT (INS) — Two Lutheran churches and schools on Detroit's West Side were invaded by vandals over the weekend.

Police believe the same vandals entered the Jehovah Lutheran Church and school and the Outer Drive Faith Lutheran Church and school.

Penny banks and part of the principal's coin collection was stolen from Jehovah, while $104 was reported taken from Outer Drive Faith. Both schools were damaged.

Try to Avert Walkout by 5,000 at Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators were scheduled to meet today in an effort to avert a walkout of 5,000 workers at the Chrysler Corp.'s Plymouth engine plant on Mound road.

United Auto Workers Union Local 51 has set a deadline of 2:30 p.m. today to reach a settlement over alleged increases in production quotas.

Donald Diano, president of Local 51, said a session with company representatives yesterday ended in a deadlock.

Crash Kills Airman at Whitman AF Base

LAKEVIEW (AP) — John A. Ormond, 19, was killed Saturday night in an auto crash near Whitman Air Force base in Missouri, according to word received by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ormond of Lakeview, his parents.

Ormond, an airman 1.C., was a passenger in an auto driven by a fellow serviceman from the base, his parents were informed.

West German Chief on Italian State Visit

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German President Theodor Heuss left by train today for a state visit to Italy.

Heuss, at his own request, is to visit the Ardeatine caves, where German Nazis killed 335 Italians in World War II reprisal. The caves, now an Italian national shrine, were not on his itinerary originally.

Merry Couple Fetes 77 Years of Wedded Life

DODGEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Two merry old people, who can't recall a serious quarrel, yesterday celebrated the anniversary of their wedding on a rainy day in England 77 years ago.

★ ★ ★

John Sleeman, 97, and his wife, 96, were married Nov. 17, 1880, in Cornwall, where it then was the custom for a bridegroom to give the bride's parents a present of money.

Sleeman recalled giving his wife's family $50.

He grinned and said, "she was worth it and a lot more."

Sleeman said he and his wife "never had a good fight."

He explained that, whenever a disagreement grew warm, "I just put on my hat and went out."

★ ★ ★

Dr. H. H. Morton, Dodgeville, the Sleeman's physician since 1913, attributed their long life together to good humor, saying, "They're always cheerful and can always laugh."

The couple came to the United States in 1911 and lived in Cornish settlements in southwestern Wisconsin. Sleeman farmed and worked in the lead mines.

Sleeman, who is confined to a wheel chair, and his wife have lived for about a year in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

★ ★ ★

The couple was joined yesterday by four of their seven children and about 60 other relatives and neighbors for the celebration in the hospital.

Bruce Annett Elected to Realtors' Society

Bruce J. Annett, president of Roy Annett, Inc., 28 E. Huron St., was elected to membership in the Society of Industrial Realtors recently in Chicago.

His election occurred during the convention of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, of which SIR is a dubdivision.

Only some 600 of the nation's 80,000 realtors are SIR members as a special examination must be passed, and extensive experience in the sale and leasing of industrial property is needed for membership.

★ ★ ★

Annett is the only SIR member in the Pontiac area, and one of a handful in Michigan. He is former president of the Michigan Real Estate Assn., and of the Pontiac Real Estate Board.

Cracker Barrel for Ike

Waiting for Debates

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—There's a cracker barrel around here now any time vacationing President Eisenhower wants to engage in free-for-all cracker barrel debate in the old country store manner.

Indications are pretty strong the President plans to do a good bit of philosophizing around that barrel with fellow members at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The barrel, well filled with crackers, was presented to the club yesterday by one of the members, George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower Cabinet.

The President said jokingly that he and Humphrey, chatting around the barrel, had solved all the world's problems.

"There'll be no more troubles from here on about the world," Eisenhower remarked with a grim.

Crucial Link Set at Letting Dec. 11

Mackie Says Highway Projects Costing $4 Million to Be Started

An important link in the State Highway Department's proposed expressway network will be determined at a Dec. 11 letting in Lansing, Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie announced.

Three projects, costing an estimated $4 million, for nine miles of divided highway and seven grade separations on the Dundee-Sylvania expressway (new US 23) in Monroe County will be let, Mackie said.

The all-new highway will ultimately connect with the Ohio Turnpike near Sylvania, Ohio, just west of Toledo. When completed, it should provide an important access to Michigan for north-south traffic wishing to bypass Detroit, Mackie said.

The new expressway is part of the overall improvement on US 23 for a four-lane, divided highway from the Ohio line to Standish. From Flint north to Kawkawlin in Bay County, US 23 will become part of the new Detroit-Saulte Ste. Marie interstate, limited-access highway.

US 23 already has been rebuilt from Dundee north to Milan; from Ann Arbor north to Whitmore Lake and from Fenton north to Clio (Fenton-Clio expressway).

The proposed Oakland County expressway (new US 10) from Detroit past Pontiac to Flint has been proposed by Mackie as the southernmost portion of the Detroit-Sao interstate route.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF FRANK R. Bradford who passed away Nov. 17, 1951
Six years have passed how long it seem
But in our hearts his face still beams,
For we who miss him only know
How much we lost in years ago.
Sadly missed by his wife Mary, daughter Gladys and son Glenn.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear son & brother, Kenneth C. Brandon, who passed away Nov. 18, 1950.
There's a face that is always with us,
There's a voice we would love to hear;
There's a smile we shall always remember,
Of the one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by Sisters, Brother & Mother.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MR. William A. White who passed away Nov. 18, 1956.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last,
I shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by his Wife and Children.

But Star Is 'Real Sad' About Being Left Out of Movie 'South Pacific'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOOLYWOOD (NEA) — Mary Martin is "sad—real sad," she told me, about not being Nellie Forbush, that girl she knows so well, in Hollywood's big-screen version of "South Pacific."

The Mary who is never contrary was sitting in front of her dressing room mirror backstage at the Los Angeles Philharmonic Auditorium. The same mirror once reflected Mary Martin's face and short blonde hair as Nellie when "South Pacific" played there.

It's a different role for her now — she's hard-riding, fast-shooting Annie in "Annie Get Your Gun" — but the dressing room mirror still seems to reflect not Mary or Annie but Nellie.

Her hair is as short as ever and, she laughed, "I still wash it four times a day. It became such a habit during 'South Pacific' I just can't stop."

And when she said, "Nellie was really me — the little hick from Wetherford, Tex. who grew up mentally and spiritually," you could see in her eyes that she's genuinely unhappy about not being in the movie version.

USUAL SPIRITED SELF

Bnt about everything else Mary Martin is her usual, talkative effervescent self. She's been starring in a revival of "Annie Get Your Gun" in San Francisco and Los Angeles before NBC-TV puts the entire show on home screens Nov. 27 as a big spectacular from Hollywood.

As she does on the stage, Mary will make her TV entrance riding a horse at a full gallop on a treadmill when Buffalo Bill announces: "Introducing, Miss Annie Oakley . . ."

Wires attached to the horse keep it on the treadmill but it's up to Mary to keep Mary on the horse and she's been doing it like a regular Roy Rogers. "Riding a horse I know how to do," she laughed, "I only worry when dancers start throwing me around."

Mary Martin fans add up to millions but there's one person who wouldn't walk across the street to see Mary Martin and that's Mary Martin. "I have a wonderful time in a role," she says, "but I'm not a fan of me."

She "loathed" the eight movies she made before Broadway stage stardom — "I wasn't ready for pictures" — and she's never looked at the kinescopes of her big TV shows — "I just do 'em and I don't want to look at 'em ever."

NEVER GOES BACK

That goes, too, for her singing which started her on the road to fame from a small Hollywood cocktail lounge. But she's never made a sentimental journey to the place since she left Movietown for Broadway.

"I remember it well, though," she laughed. "I started there for $40 a week and moved on down to to another joint for $30 a week."

Mary and hubby Richard Halliday aren't so sure now about their 15-year-old daughter, Heller, becoming an actress. She's a sophomore at an Eastern school where she just became a cheerleader.

"She's on a domestic kick this season," Mary told me, "but I don't see how she can avoid show business. She's been training for it and talking about it all her life."

★ ★ ★

The big surprise to Mary is her son, 25-year-old Larry Hagman, now acting on TV in New York after serving in the Air Force.

A HORSE DOCTOR

"He was all set to become a horse doctor," she said, "but now he's all excited about acting. The first time I saw him on the stage in a little theater off Broadway I nearly fainted — he was really good."

A new Broadway musical — "something I can't talk about yet" —and a possible world tour with "Annie" under State Department sponsorship are in Mary's future for 1958.

But first she and Halliday hope to settle down for a while in one of the 11 homes they own in California, Connecticut and Brazil where they own a coffee plantation. Says Mary:

"So many homes but it seems as if we're always living out of a trunk."

What Do the Stars Do When Off Television?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — What do the TV stars do after they leave TV? Well, Eddie Foy's doing great in the B'way show "Rumple," Milton Berle's going into the Latin Quarter at $25,000 a week, Dagmar's still recovering from an operation she had a couple months ago, Jerry Lester's playing the night clubs, Kate Smith's rich enough that she only does a few guest shots a year and Ken Murray's drawing a big TV salary in Hollywood while not actually doing anything, but just "standing by."

WILSON

Hopalong Cassidy's still traveling around the country making personal appearances—mostly gratis or as a favor to a charity or a friend—while continuing to reap the great wealth he has made from his old movies and TV films.

★ ★ ★

Marlon Brando analyzed Julie Newmar's handwriting as one test to see whether she's fitted to play the Indian girl in his next movie — and found out she's too tall . . . Irish McCalla (Sheena, Queen of the Jungle) flipped for a Mexican bullfighter.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Edith Adams—leaving "Li'l Abner" to play Las Vegas with husband Ernie Kovacs — will return to B'way to star in a non-singing, non-clowning show, "The Love Vine," put on mostly by newcomers . . . Mamie Eisenhower shouted "Isn't she wonderful?" when Polly Bergen sang at her party. Polly's dad, an Indiana contractor, will sing on her Nov. 24 TV show.

Michael Wilding proposed to actress Janice Holland in London . . . A guest at a New York restaurant couldn't finish his cheese dessert, asked the waiter to wrap it up "for my mouse."

IRISH

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A character told Donald Woods he'd fasted for a week, and Woods answered, "Yes, we must have had the same waiter." That's earl, brother.

Critics Differ Sharply

GM Show 'Superb'--- 'Dull'

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors' two-hour 50th anniversary show over NBC-TV last night—an expensive and sentimental production—received mixed reviews by critics.

★ ★ ★

Charles Mercer of The Associated Press called the slow a "mildly pleasant, armchair trip along well-traveled entertainment lanes." But, Mercer added, "it was not one of the memorable shows of the season because it bogged down in cloying sentimentality."

Ben Gross, of the New York Daily News, said: "In sheer bulk, in prodigal offering of talent and extravagance of production it will be a long time before we'll see its like again. But the net result was a much-too-lengthy, sprawling, and for the most part, a dull show."

Jack Gould wrote in the New York Times that the show "was a superb musical production, rewardingly experimental in approach, delightfully humorous and touchingly poignant. It was artistic television of a high order."

Marie Torre of the New York Herald Tribune wrote: "thoughtfully conceived, tastefully produced, and enacted by a stellar array of personalities, the extravaganza took a close look at this thing called happiness and explored it with vivid insight through a variety of sketches, dances and vocals. It abounded in warmth, humor, sincerity and ingenuity."

★ ★ ★

The show's theme was taken from a line in the closing scene of Thornton Wilder's "our Town" —"Do any human beings ever realize life while they live it, every, every minute?"

Helen Deutsch wrote the script and it was produced by Jess Oppenheimer. Kirk Douglas and Ernest Borgnine were narrators, playing host to an army of stars.

Crank Tries to Steal Time on Quiz Show

NEW YORK (INS) — Personnel of CBS-TV's "the $64,000 Challenge" program were tightening security precautions today after a self-proclaimed "messenger from God" slipped in before a live camera on last night's show.

The unscheduled contestant, who identified himself as Richard Frichter, 34, got out only one sentence before he was hauled out of sight.

"I have a challenge about the Russians . . ." said the messenger to millions of television viewers. Then Ralph Story, master of ceremonies for the program, realized what was happening and cut in with:

"I don't think the gentleman belongs here."

One of the stage managers removed Frichter. The "messenger" later allowed his message to be read by the show staff. In essence, it said that Russia was ahead of the U. S. militarily and that godlessness on the part of the Americans was to blame.

B'nai B'rith to Open Washington Parley

WASHINGTON (INS) — B'nai B'rith opens its 114th annual meeting tomorrow with 1,000 persons expected to attend week-long activities that will be climaxed Sunday with the dedication of the organization's new national headquarters.

The modern eight-story structure will house the first Jewish museum in the nation's capital and a research library on human rights in memory of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell will be the keynote speaker Saturday at a national conference on youth.

Mrs. Roosevelt will dedicate the Franklin D. Roosevelt Four Freedoms Library, sponsored by B'nai B'rith women, on Sunday.

Italian River Flood Slowly Receding

ROVIGO, Italy (AP)—Floodwaters were slowly receding today from 28,000 acres of farm land and more than 20 villages in the Po River delta.

★ ★ ★

Authorities estimated it would take six or seven months to drain the flooded area completely.

The Po, Italy's mightiest river, spread over its banks in the delta last week after seven days of steady rainfall all along its course. At the same time high tides in the Adriatic breached the protective dike along the coast.

★ ★ ★

About 7,000 refugees fled to inland centers. Damage to farmland was reported this year. A 30-year-old man died of a heart attack while working on a dike.

Cost of Alaska, purchased from Russia by the United States in 1867, was at the rate of two cents per acre.

ON THE BEACH — Based on the Best-Selling Novel by Nevil Shute

Bob Considine Says:

Hearst Adept at Using Reds' Sign Language

MOSCOW (INS) — I am taking a sort of muscular Berlitz course in Russian from a friend of mine named Hearst who was here before and speaks the language like a native. A native of San Luis Obispo.

This is no knock on Hearst because without his flair for semantics his associate, Frank Conniff, and I would be reduced to mere shadows of Toots Shor. Hearst orders our meals and other creature comforts in remarkable sign language which somehow comes through in a land where the American language is less understood than Urdu.

ORDERS HOT WATER

To order hot water he has a very simple formula. He squirts spigot water into a glass, borrows a match from the waiter, lights it and holds flame under glass The waiter, named "Old One," a gaffer bald as an egg and elderly enough to remember the last czar's father, nods happily and rushes off. Presently he brings back a glass-shaped bomb with a long fuse.

Ice is a simple word one would think would be on the tip of every Russian's tongue. But they persist in indicating they never heard of that rare old commodity of the wintry steppes. A nice waitress named Victoria, of all names, nodded happily after we had said the word in American, English, French and German. She brought us a large bowl of sheep eyes.

Hearst stepped into the breech with the ultimate breakthrough in this particular impasse. Putting on several coats, he hugged himself and said, "Brrrrrrr!" Victoria skipped off and returned with a bowl of ice. Hearst's easy Russian is as simple as that.

GETS CIGARETTES

There's a brand of cigarettes over here called Belomorsky Kanal, meaning White Sea Canal. Few Americans can order them, but Hearst found a simple way. He said to the girl at a cigarette counter, as he made a motion of smoking, "Ruffffff!" The girl was momentarily puzzled, plainly indicating that she was illiterate "Brffffufff!" Hearst repeated, practically spelling it out for her. Slowly it dawned on her and her face lighted up. She handed him a package of Belomorsky Kanals The package has a dog's picture on it.

I am particularly devoted to Bill's way of telling "Old One" how we would like to have prepared certain exotic cuts from some of Russia's finest thoroughbreds. This is an especially energetic form of translating. For example Conniff will say, "Tell him I'll have my steak rare." Bill, who is an accommodating guy, faces waiter, leans his elbow on the rug, extends his forearm upwards and wiggles his fingers.

I might say, "I'll have mine well done." Bill looks up at the waiter, points to me, stands up straight, holds his hands over his head and wiggles all his fingers. This pantomime seemed to confuse the waiter for the first few days, for inexplicable reasons, but then he saw it very clearly. Elbow on floor and waving fingers meant small fire therefore rare meat. High fire meant well done. All very simple when you come down, or up, to it.

Seriously, tourists who hope to visit Russia in the near future must be prepared to face the fact they won't hear English spoken anywhere except the American embassy, and Russia's smooth-working tourist organization. It just isn't done. The thing to do in case you use Hearst's standard cyrillic dictionary "Russian as she is spoke" is to inquire of the nearest cop, who will be no more than four inches away, "Please direct me to the National Hotel."

The advantage of this is that if he arrests you chances are you'll find an English-speaking man at headquarters who may indeed lead you to the National Hotel. From there you're on your own.

Carrier Returning With Plane Victims

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The aircraft carrier Philippine Sea returns from its search for a missing airliner today with a tragic load of 19 bodies and some torn and water-soaked debris.

★ ★ ★

Waiting to meet the carrier were FBI agents, who will help aeronautical experts try to find what caused a Pan American Stratocruiser to plunge into the sea carrying 44 persons to death.

★ ★ ★

Also at dockside were representatives of the Los Angeles County coroner's office, whose grim task it will be to take charge of the 19 bodies that were found by search planes from the carrier in shark-infested waters 900 miles northeast of Honolulu.

Find Audrey Victim

CAMERON, La. (AP)—The marshy coast of Cameron Parish (county) has yielded another victim of Hurricane Audrey, which claimed more than 550 lives last June. The body was identified yesterday as that of Harry P. Melancon, 35, of Broussard.
