GM Pours $280 Million Into Area Economy

SPARKLING '63 — A good year for the three local General Motors plants meant a record $280 million pumped into the Pontiac area's economy in the form of employe wages and local purchases. The annual expenditures report was released today by (from left) Thomas Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager; E. M. Estes, Pontiac Motor general manager; and Calvin J. Werner, general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division.

More British Troops Sent as Cyprus Rift Worsens

'63 Spending Is All-Time High

General Motors' 1963 expenditures in the Pontiac area will hit $280 million, an all-time high.

The staggering sum, disbursed in employe payrolls and local purchases by the three Pontiac GM plants, is a healthy $37 million increase over last year and a $90 million jump from 1961.

The accounting came in a joint statement issued today by E. M. Estes, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division; Calvin J. Werner, GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division; and Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager.

★ ★ ★

They reported that employe earnings of $230 million were responsible for the bulk of the 12-month expenditure as workers took home $30 million more than a year ago.

BUSINESS SUPPLIERS

Numerous local business were paid $49.8 million for supplies and services to GM during 1963.

Steadily increasing employment at the three plants climbed to a monthly average of 27,576, up more than 3,000 over 1962 and up 4,500 over 1961.

December will be the best single employment month of the year with some 30,028 now on the GM payroll.

★ ★ ★

Record wages also produced a savings harvest as plant employes invested nearly $4.7 million in U. S. Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction system. This is a $1-million increase from last year.

AWARD MONEY

Imaginative employes here divided up nearly $373,000 in awards under the GM Suggestion Plan.

Pontiac Motor claimed a first in this category, when $5,000 maximum suggestion awards were presented to three employes simultaneously, the first such occurance at any GM auto division.

Plant employes contributed a record $349,487 of their wages to the Pontiac Area United Fund, a $43,000 increase over last year.

★ ★ ★

General Motors made an additional corporate gift of $145,000 to the local fund raising drive, a $12,000 increase.

FUND DRIVE LEADER

Pontiac Area United Fund's fall campaign was led by Estes, serving as general chairman, soaring beyond its goal with a total collection over $822,851.

This year will also go down as one of the best in terms of production at the three plants.

Pontiac Motor continually set new sales and output records. On July 12, the 544,091st Pontiac drove off the final 1963-model assembly line to exceed a previous model production mark set in 1955.

★ ★ ★

By Dec. 13, total Pontiac production for 1963 hit 600,000 for the first time in the division's 37-year history. Pontiac also set 10 monthly and 22 ten-day sales records.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

To keep pace, Pontiac Motor carried out an expansion program for the final assembly plant and a renovation and improvement project at Plant 15, the frame production facility.

Biggest news at GMC Truck & Coach was the establishment of new operations to produce light van-type trucks.

Initial production is now well underway and will hit full stride in early 1964, adding an estimated 725 new employes. Latest manufacturing and assembly

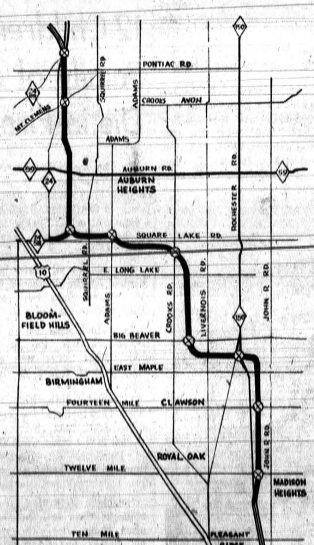
Deadline Set for Gift Trade

Local merchants will observe a Jan. 3, 1964 deadline on exchange of Christmas gifts, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Special order or "all sales final" goods cannot be returned however, and stores have the right to refuse worn, soiled or damaged merchandise.



NEW FREEWAY SECTION — A 17.5-mile stretch of I-75 freeway which was opened Monday is shown in solid black on this map, with interchanges marked by circled X's. A bridge (not shown) was provided north of Auburn Road for a future interchange with a freeway that will parallel Auburn, but there is no interchange now.

Death Dims Holiday Joy for Berliners

Youth Shot in Back While Stuck in Wire; Companion Escapes

BERLIN (AP)—About 50,000 West Berliners crossed into East Berlin by noon today despite the Christmas Day killing of a young East German who tried to escape over the Berlin wall.

"The Christmas murder on the Berlin wall overshadows our joy at the Christmas meeting in the city," said West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, Erich Mende.

But with the day after Christmas also a holiday, the flow of visitors to relatives in the Communist sector continued at flood tide. When the gates opened at 6 a.m., the line was two blocks long at one crossing point.

There was no change in the friendly attitude of East German guards, reported under orders to "keep smiling" when the 16-day visiting period began last week by agreement between the West Berlin city government and East Red regime.

"But now you see their real face," a young Red Cross worker on duty at a crossing point said. "Here they smile and there they shoot."

Less than a mile from the Oberbaum Bridge control point, an East German guard shot Paul Schulz, 18, in the back yesterday as he perched entangled in barbed wire atop the concrete wall.

MUSIC PLAYED

As loudspeakers blared Christmas music from the East German radio, the wounded youth toppled from the 9-foot wall into the arms of a West Berlin policeman. A companion, also 18, made it safely to the West, but Schulz died six hours later in a West Berlin hospital.

"Those shots struck us all," said West Berlin's deputy mayor, Heinrich Albertz.

Burroughs to Shut Down Operation at Detroit Plant

DETROIT (AP)—Burroughs Corp. announced today it will stop manufacturing adding machines in the United States and close its main Detroit plant within two years, eliminating about 1,500 jobs.

The business machines firm said its adding machines in the future will come solely from its plants in Scotland, France and Brazil.

"High costs of manufacturing adding machines in the Detroit area make it impossible for Burroughs to market competitively and profitably in the United States," the firm said.

Production of some commercial equipment and parts will be transferred from the Detroit plant to Burroughs' suburban Plymouth, Mich., plant. About 2,000 of the Detroit plant's 3,400 workers will be employed at Plymouth, a corporation spokesman said.

He said one-third of the job eliminations are a result of a reduction in defense contract work. Continuing defense contracts in the Detroit division will be moved to the Military Electronic Computer Division plant in Detroit, possibly boosting its employment from the present 1,200, he said.

Burroughs also announced it will consolidate its electronic instrument division in Philadelphia and the electronic components division at Plainfield, N.J., in an expanded plant at Plainfield by the fall of 1964.

Rocky to Halt Blasts at Barry

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON—Gov. Nelson A Rockefeller is abandoning attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in his GOP presidential nomination drive.

The New York governor, only announced candidate for the nomination, resumes campaigning with a Jan. 3 Portsmouth, N. H., speech after a month's political moratorium following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The sweeping political changes brought about by the probability that President Johnson will head the 1964 Democratic ticket are expected to be reflected in altered campaign tactics by Rockefeller.

The decision to abandon attacks on Goldwater apparently stems from the belief in the Rockefeller camp that the Arizona senator has become a less attractive candidate against Johnson than he would have been against Kennedy.

The Rockefeller people are making no claims that the governor has passed Goldwater in popular support among Republicans.

But they think the field is now wide open and there would not be much profit in continuing to single out one man as a target among many who may be contenders for the nomination.

Open Warfare May Come for Greece, Turkey

NATO Council Asked to Discuss Crisis on Mediterranean Island

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Britain ordered more troops to Cyprus today as a conflict between the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot minority threatened to embroil Greece and Turkey in open conflict.

Greece asked for an extraordinary session in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent council to discuss the crisis.

Informed sources in Paris said the council met secretly yesterday.

The Cyprus government already has sent a complaint to the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The Turkish government ordered two jet fighters to make warning flights over Cyprus on Christmas Day after accusing Greek Cypriots of killing Turkish Cypriots in communal fighting that has been raging since last Saturday.

SHIPS OFF COAST

Then as the fighting died down to sporadic firing, the office of President Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community, asserted six Turkish navy vessels had taken up positions off Cyprus.

Five are off the northern port of Kyrenaia and the sixth is stationed off the southeast port of Larnaca, a presidential spokesman said.

President Cemal Gursel of Turkey also expressed grave concern, accused the Greek Cypriots of a massacre, and appealed to U.S. President Johnson and other world leaders to intervene.

★ ★ ★

Greece and Turkey, long at odds over Cyprus, guard the far eastern flank of the Atlantic alliance.

JET OVERFLIGHTS

What prompted Makarios to send a complaint to the U.N. Security Council was the flight of the Turkish jets and the movement of some of Turkey's 650-man garrison on Cyprus into the Turkish Cypriot quarter of this capital.

The Greeks promptly moved part of their 850 soldiers stationed on Cyprus into the Greek Cypriot section.

In an attempt to head off trouble, diplomats of Britain, Greece and Turkey met with Makarios and decided to put British, Greek and Turkish forces in Cyprus under a unified command headed by a Briton, a communique announced.

There are about 10,000 British servicemen on Cyprus.

AIR FORCE UNITS

But most of the British are air force personnel scattered in bases in Nicosia and in southern Cyprus.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, meeting with his cabinet ministers in London, decided to send 150-250 men of the 1st

'Brisk' Area Business in '64

By ROGER W. BABSON
Noted Economic Writer

Business in Pontiac has chalked up one of its best years ever during 1963, due in considerable measure to the unexpectedly lively activity in the automotive industry.

Looking across the threshold into 1964, I predict another year of brisk business for your locality, with the average probably coming very close to the historic heights of the year just ending.

The reason that I hesitate at this time to forecast a further heartening gain is my uncertainty as to the ability of the automotive industry to maintain its sharp uptrend.

★ ★ ★

It is my opinion that we are facing a period of mild retrenchment as heavy installment loans are slowly paid off.

NOT DEPENDENT

This could result in perhaps a 5 per cent decline in the output of automobiles for the coming year as a whole. Fortunately, your area is not entirely dependent upon this field for your economic progress, so I do not look for any business slideback in the new year.

There will be, for example, healthy gains in seaway shipping, speedboats, paper, machinery, sugar, castings, industrial construction, clothing, public construction, wire, road building and electric power.

Pay rates should move a bit higher in the new year. Employment will hold up well, with most jobless problems that develop during the year restricted to the unskilled categories.

As a result, discretionary buying power will be strong, and your retail and service outlets should do an excellent business, with special stress on drug, food, clothing and department stores.

HOUSING STARTS

Housing starts should just about parallel those of 1963, a strong support to your economy.

Local living costs are apt to move sidewise to slightly higher, but I anticipate no run-

DEATH SPOT—As thousands of West Berliners crossed into East Berlin to visit relatives on Christmas day, Paul Schultz, 18, tried to flee to the West less than a mile from the Oberbaum Bridge control point. No Township Vote Until 1966--Roberts

By JIM DYGERT

Any dissatisfied township folk bent on voting their local officials out of office will have to wait until November 1966.

That is, if the new state constitution is not amended to make township elections possible sooner, according to State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

The two-year terms of present township officers, which ordinarily would have ended in the spring of 1965, were automatically extended at least until the end of 1966 by the new constitution, Roberts points out.

* * *

This free ride of almost two years for incumbent township officers results from three provisions of the document, he says.

One provision abolishes the spring election at which township officials formerly were elected in odd-numbered years.

* * *

Another says that all officers elected in the 1963 spring election will serve out their terms and continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified. This prohibits a shortening of the terms but permits them to be extended.

Thirdly, according to Roberts, special elections are barred.

DURING NOVEMBER

As a result, township officers must be elected during the November balloting in even-numbered years.

Since township terms cannot be shortened, the earliest even-year election possible will be in 1966.

If the legislature in its recent special session had adopted a bill calling for earlier township elections, the measure would have been to no avail without a constitutional amendment, Roberts says.

Some lawmakers claimed the legislature could have provided an earlier election date, but probably would not. Roberts maintains it could not do so unless the constitution were first amended.

As it turned out, the old law was left on the books. Since it provides for spring township elections, which will not be possible after the constitution takes effect Jan. 1, new legislation is needed.

Legislation is needed also to implement the provision leaving to lawmakers the responsibility of fixing township terms at "not less than two nor more than four years."

One proposal for amendment expected to be introduced in the 1964 regular session that will begin Jan. 8 would reinstate the spring election for township officers in the interests of preventing overcrowded ballots in fall elections.

* * *

If the amendment were to succeed at the polls in November 1964, township officers would face election in the spring of 1965 as they would have if the new constitution had not been approved.

* * *

If it were to fail, they would stay in office until 1966.

To get on the 1964 ballot, the amendment would have to be approved by two-thirds of the members of both Senate and House.

Battalion of Foresters. They will be flown from Britain.

The Greek National Defense Council met in urgent session in Athens.

An informed source said the Greek government was in constant touch with the "Turkish and British governments in order to avert any full-scale fighting on the island."

DEFEND DECISION

The Turkish Cypriots warmly defended the decision to send Turk regulars into their section of Nicosia, an action apparently ordered by the Turkish government in Ankara.

The leader of the Turkish Cypriot community, Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, said the troops were ordered out to protect the minority Turkish community.

He claimed that Greek forces were attacking and killing Turkish Cypriots.

The Turks claim they have suffered at least 50 fatalities and 300 injuries in the five days of battles.

Greek sources say the figures are exaggerated and their own losses are much less.

CONFERS WITH RUSK

Johnson told newsmen at his Texas ranch he had conferred by telephone with Secretary of State Dean Rusk two or three times on the situation.

"We have a situation developing there and we are watching it very carefully," Johnson said. "We have 1,700 citizens on that island."

State Department sources said in Washington no evacuation orders have been issued to U.S. citizens, but Americans in outlying areas have been advised to move to more centrally located points in case evacuation is deemed advisable.

Officials said that in the past three days Americans in dangerous areas have been warned to be on the alert.

HALTS VACATION

Prime Minister Douglas-Home interrupted his Christmas vacation in Scotland and returned to London because of the situation in Cyprus.

The cease-fire appeared to be observed in much of Nicosia today, but bursts of gunfire were heard occasionally from the border between the Greek and Turkish sectors.

The Makarios government announced last night that an agreement had been reached to establish a unified British command over the 850 Greek army troops and 650 Turkish army troops on the island, along with the British forces here.

operations launched shortly after the 20,314-ton liner caught fire Sunday night in the Atlantic 180 miles north of Madeira.

* * *

The figures added up to 1,028, in contrast to previous reports that said 1,036 were aboard.

The spokesman said the Lakonia carried 651 passengers and a crew of 377. The discrepancy was explained by the failure of some crewmen to show up for the sailing Dec. 19 from Southampton.

SURVIVORS RETURN

Return of the survivors was under way by land and sea.

Two Moroccan airliners ferried 158 passengers from Casablanca, Morocco, to tearful reunions Wednesday with relatives and friends in London.

* * *

Today 125 passengers and 140 crew members sailed from Madeira for London aboard the Greek liner Arkadia. Other survivors were awaiting transportation from Madeira, Casablanca and the Canary Islands.

The Norwegian salvage tug Herkules, which is towing the burned hulk toward Gibraltar, radioed that a rising southwesterly gale was making the salvage operation difficult. Two Portuguese tugs stood by to help if necessary.

Vacationing LBJ Eyes Trouble Spots

* * *

The President's guest today was former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee. Johnson said he wanted to "get his counsel on a number of national problems." These were not specified, and there was speculation that the Democratic politician may be in line for a federal post.

Johnson also was keeping in touch with the explosive situation in Cyprus, where fighting has erupted between Turks and Greeks. Developments on the island prompted two or three telephone conferences Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

BUSINESS PRESSURES

The pressures of official business during the holiday stay at the LBJ ranch was evidenced, too, by a new directive in which Johnson ordered a cutback in federal jobs within the next 18 months.

In discussing Cyprus with newsmen Wednesday, Johnson said:

"We have a situation developing there and we are watching it very carefully."

Recalling his own visit to the Mediterranean island last year, he expressed concern for the 1,700 Americans on Cyprus.

Aides reported that Johnson strongly supported efforts by the British, Greek and Turkish governments to stabilize the situation.

ORDERED CUT

In ordering a cut in the federal pay roll, Johnson told agency heads:

"Even though nothing like this has happened in the last decade, I am still unconvinced that we are getting the maximum possible output per employe. I believe we can do better."

* * *

He said every department and agency would get personnel ceilings which "are not to be exceeded without my explicit approval."

Payrolls are to be cut, if only slightly, in two stages—by next June 30 and by June 30, 1965.

PROGRESS REPORTS

Johnson demanded progress reports from each agency chief every three months and promised these would get a personal review.

* * *

When a reporter asked how big a job cut to expect, Johnson retorted:

"Isn't cutting it enough? You don't know how hard that was."

He noted that the number of federal employes had grown by 133,000 since 1961.

Yule Is Gay but Busy for the President

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson's Texas Christmas was a gay and busy day that included inspecting his cattle, delivering poinsettias to his neighbors, entertaining kinfolk, eating a big turkey and taking a speedboat spin on a nearby lake.

* * *

He did it all in relaxed fashion, dressed in khaki range pants, green and brown checked sports jacket and orange cowboy boots.

He even had time to lease another 40 acres to add to the Johnson holdings of 400 acres adjoining the Pedernales River.

Johnson kept the family's turkey dinner waiting while he conducted the crowd of some 50 reporters and photographers on a tour of the 12-room stone and frame ranch house where the Johnsons' Christmas presents waited under an eight-foot tree.

The weather here was in the balmy 70's.

Twenty-seven Johnson kinfolk gathered for the Christmas dinner, with more of Mrs. Johnson's relatives due in time for New Year's.

Holiday Gift: His Son's Life

Surgery May Save Birmingham Child

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—"There's hope now — the first we've ever had," the father said smiling after he had been informed that his son might live after all.

Ralph Hedman, 33, of 888 Chapin, was explaining his reaction to the best Christmas present he had ever received — news that his son, Ralph, 21 months, would undergo surgery in January for a heart defect.

The blond, blue-eyed youngster has two arteries transposed, a condition which doctors say interferes with supply of oxygen in the blood.

* * *

Mrs. Carol Hedman, 24, the mother of Ralphie and six others, said, "Doctors always told us nothing could be done, that Ralphie would live only a few more months."

MAYO CLINIC

Ralphie will be operated on by Dr. William Kirklin, a heart specialist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Hedman smiled, her eyes shining. "When Dr. Kirklin said yes to surgery, that was more than enough for our Christmas, it was the answer to our prayers."

"We didn't plan on a big Christmas," Mrs. Hedman continued, "but friends, neighbors and the Girl Scouts and the Brownies changed all that."

* *

Mrs. Hedman said all the people brought presents for the other children and us and it turned out to be a merry Christmas after all.

"Especially since we received the news about Ralphie," she said.

City Foresters Are Tops in Field Day Competition

BIRMINGHAM — The city's forestry and parks department now has a chrome handsaw to display with its chrome ax, both symbols of high safety and ability.

The saw was won Tuesday morning at the fourth annual Inter-City Forestry and Parks Field Day, Safety and Ability Trials.

Birmingham started a three-year competition with Ferndale at the event, held in Springdale Park. It won the ax by defeating an Oak Park team three years in a row.

The team to win two out of three annual contests will win permanent possession of the handsaw.

6 EVENTS

The Birmingham team won honors in six of Tuesday's seven events. It came out on top in rope throwing, spur climbing, the tractor back-blade obstacle course, knot-tying, operating a power saw and a crosscut saw.

Only in tree topping was the team defeated. Participating for Birmingham were Supt. Darrel Middlewood, Lou Parker, Ron Seelye, Huey Lail, Ray Browne, William Diem, Larry May, Art Fitch and William Gardner.

Enrollments are now being taken for the second term of children's art classes at the Cranbrook Academy of Art galleries.

The classes, for young persons aged 7-19, are held in the Young People's Art Center below the library.

The 10-week sessions begin Jan. 14 and continue through March 21. Classes are divided by age and limited in size.

The courses are offered for 90 minutes after school on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. There are three sessions Saturdays.

Charles E. Carpenter

Service for Charles E. Carpenter, 60, of 504 Brown, will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

He was a member of the Berkley congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Surviving are his wife, Rosa, two sisters and two brothers.

Theater Man Dies at 83

NEW YORK (AP)—Jacob J. Shubert, 83, theatrical enterpreneur known as the man who produced a thousand shows, died in his Manhattan apartment today of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was a brother and business partner of Lee Shubert, also a theatrical business figure, who died on Christmas Day, 1953.

The federal government only two days ago had brought suit for $15,705,387 in estate taxes against the estate of Lee Shubert. The government placed the value of the estate at $25 million, the bulk of it a half-interest in the partnership.

SOLE PARTNER

Jacob Shubert was the sole surviving partner of a theatrical dynasty founded by Lee Shubert, himself and another brother, Sam. They owned 16 theaters in New York and others in other cities.

He died in his luxurious apartment, in the 16-story Sardi Building, across the street from the Shubert Theater and the World famous Shubert Alley in the heart of the Broadway theater district.

12 Children, Family of 6 Die in Fires

By The Associated Press

Fires took the lives of 12 children in the Walter Johnson family in Charleston, S. C., and a family of six in Spring Lake in the worst of the nation's Christmas fires.

An exploding oil heater was blamed for the deaths of the 12 children—eight boys and four girls—in Charleston.

The victims were all in one bedroom at the top of the stairs. Their father was critically burned trying to save them.

In Michigan, authorities were trying to determine the cause of the Spring Lake fire.

Killed in the blaze were Donald Dennison, 43; his wife Alma, 36, and her four children by a previous marriage.

Neighbors returning from midnight Mass saw the Dennison home afire. The raging flames forced would-be rescuers to withdraw.

The body of Dennison, a farmer and World War II veteran, was found on a stairway with one of the boys in his arms.

In other blazes, a Christmas tree caught fire in Muncie, Ind., home, killing two sisters, and two relatives attending a family reunion in Conneaut, Ohio, died in a house fire.

PROTECTED BY PLASTIC—Workers constructing the five-story Birmingham House Tower at Maple and Hunter are aided by this cocoon-type plastic enclosure. The reinforced plastic material enables general contractors K&C Associates of Oak Park to continue work through the winter months. The building will contain 36 sleeping units, a coffee shop and a floor of meeting rooms. It is to be completed in June.

Probation Sentence Given for Break-In

Eighteen-year-old Jose C. Gonzales of 486 Midway was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $100 court costs Tuesday for his Nov. 17 break-in of a Pontiac gas station.

★ ★ ★

Gonzales was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero. He had pleaded guilty to nighttime breaking and entering.

The youth was arrested inside a Phillips gas station at 425 Osmun after a neighbor called police after seeing Gonzales break a window and enter the building.

Early-Morning Holdup Nets Station Thief $22

The Clark Oil station, 420 S. Saginaw, was robbed of $22 early today.

An attendant, Francis C. McCracken, 34, of 266 N. Cass told police that the robber pulled a knife on him after entering the service station at 2:10 a.m. on the pretense of getting warm.

It is predicted that model car enthusiasts will spend about $100 million this year on scale models, race track layouts and other equipment.

6 Are Hospitalized in Road Accidents

Traffic accidents in the area the past two days hospitalized six persons.

The injured in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are:

Roy Maxwell, 57, 135 Oakmont, Pontiac Township, fair condition with facial cuts, his wife, Thelma, 54, satisfactory, a concussion; and Forrest C. Robinson, 31, of 3366 Nichols, good, face cuts.

In Pontiac General Hospital are:

Lawrence J. Stowell, 23, of 915 W. Third, Rochester, satisfactory, concussion; John R. Crowder, 38, 492 Howland, satisfactory, cuts and fractures; and Rvarilla Dafoe, 57, of 1893 Beverly, satisfactory, concussion.

2-CAR ACCIDENT

The Maxwells were injured at 5:50 p.m. yesterday in a three-vehicle accident at Opdyke and Mount Clemens in Pontiac Township.

The drivers and passengers of the other two cars were not seriously injured.

Robinson was hurt Tuesday when his car ran off Churchill Road near Auburn in Pontiac Township at 6:40 p.m.

Stowell's car overturned on Pontiac Trail near Green Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township, Tuesday afternoon.

OUT OF CONTROL

Crowder was driving south on Saginaw early Wednesday when his car went out of control and hit three vehicles parked in the used car lot at Lloyd Motors Sales, 232 S. Saginaw.

Mrs. Dafoe was involved in a two-car crash at South Saginaw and South Boulevard at 8:52 p.m. yesterday. The driver of the other car and his two passengers were treated and released.

Goodfellow Units Give Yule Dinners to Needy

Goodfellows from Rochester, Avon Township and Brooklands celebrated Christmas Eve in the most fitting way — by giving baskets of complete Christmas dinners to 102 area families.

William Foree, assistant chief of the Brooklands Fire Department, said today the recent Goodfellow newspaper sales were very successful and made it possible for the three Goodfellow units to offer the food to the needy families.

Greeks, Turks at Odds

Restless Peace Marks Cyprus Freedom

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Gunfire echoing on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus is a reminder of an unhappy past and an uncertain future.

For three years since Cyprus achieved independence on Aug. 16, 1960, a restless peace has prevailed under a constitution which sought to protect in equal portions the rights of 400,000 Greeks and 100,000 Turks who form the island's minority.

NEWSOM

It is an impossible constitution patched together to escape an impossible situation marked by years of bloody violence and a near-break between Greece and Turkey and an accompanying threat to NATO defenses in the eastern Mediterranean.

The violence began in 1952, when a black-bearded, American-educated orthodox priest became archbishop of Cyprus under the title Makarios III and used his office to press his campaign for "enosis"—union with Greece, and independence from Britain.

It reached its peak in 1955 and 1956 when Eoka, the Greek terrorist organization turned the main street of Nicosia, the capital, into "murder mile" and nearly 1,000 persons were killed or wounded.

NO SOLUTION

With Turkey demanding partition of the island and Greece demanding its union and neither they nor the Cypriots able to agree on a solution, a council of Zurich reached a patchwork agreement later completed in London.

It provided for a republic of Cyprus to be headed by a Greek president and a Turkish vice president, each with a right of veto.

The division of authority extended even down to the community level, and affected all phases of government, including foreign affairs, tax laws and the makeup of the army.

★ ★ ★

This is the issue which has proved unworkable. The division between Greeks and Turks has led to failure to collect taxes and Turkish Vice President Fazil Kutchuk to complain that he is kept ignorant of affairs which he has the right to veto.

UNWORKABLE

Makerios, who became the country's first president and still holds the post, on his side has complained that separate Greek and Turkish authority in the communities is unworkable and he blames the Turks for making it so.

He has demanded constitutional changes which the Turks say would infringe upon their rights.

These changes were the underlying causes of the most recent clashes in which both Greeks and the Turks died.

★ ★ ★

Underlying the violence also was the Turkish beleif that the Greeks still have not given up their desire for union with Greece, although it specifically is forbidden by the Zurich agreement.

NOT OVER

Feeding Turkish suspicions was Makarios' own assertion last March that the Eoka "struggle is not yet ended."

Makarios has said that Cyprus is "more inclined to the West than the East," but he has not hesitated to complete many barter deals with Communist countries.

Meanwhile, the struggle in Cyprus can only be of benefit to Cyprus' own Communist party, the best organized in the country, powerful in municipal governments and in labor.

★ ★ ★

So far, these Communists have been willing to bide their time.

Sound Knell for Old Law

SALIDA, Colo. (AP)—No longer must Salida police officers who sound curfew "ring a fire bell five times or blow taps" in order to comply with a city ordinance.

The City Council abolished the ordinance this week.

Also removed: Another old law which said citizens who refuse to pay a $2 poll tax no longer collected must labor on city streets for one day.

Drugs and medicines are being taken to 600 villages in Central America by doctors, nurses and sanitarians working in an Alliance for Progress health program. Peace Corps workers are doing the follow-up work.

Probe OK'd Into Korea Spy Charge

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) — The United Nations Command (UNC) agreed today to a Communist proposal to send a joint U.N.-North Korean investigation team to the scene of vestigation team to the scene of an alleged shooting incident Dec. 17 in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

It was agreed that UNC and North Korean members of the team would meet Sunday along the central sector of the truce line, near where the North Koreans charge that two armed South Koreans acting as U.S. agents crossed into North Korea.

North Korea claimed that one of the agents was shot and the other captured.

★ ★

U.S. Army Maj. Gen. Robert K. Seadlock, senior UNC member, said today at the 181st meeting of the military armistice commission that he considered the North Korean charge a fabrication.

AGRESS TO PROPOSAL

"I agree to your proposal, but solely for the purpose of continuing the function of the joint observer team," Seadlock said.

Maj. Gen. Chang Jung Hwan, chief North Korean delegate to the commission, charged that more than 300 South Korean spies had been arrested during 1963 and demanded that the UNC "immediately disband all espionage agencies and stop sending spies into North Korea."

Seadlock replied that more than 2,000 North Korean spies had been arrested in South Korea since the armistice agreement was signed in 1953.

★ ★ ★

He said the UNC has already investigated the alleged incident of Dec. 17.

★ ★ ★

"The result of our most complete investigation revealed that no UNC personnel were involved in the incident you have described," he said.

Thief Steals Yule Tree

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — While Mr. and Mrs. John Albi were out Wednesday, a man walked into their first-floor apartment carrying a suitcase. A few minutes later, a neighbor saw him leave.

Gone, apparently in his satchel, were the folded-up limbs and main stem of the Albis' two-foot metal Christmas tree.

The unidentified visitor also took 35 Christmas tree ornaments and $185 in cash.

Soviet anthropologists have exhumed the skull and skeleton of Ivan the Terrible, who died in 1584, from a tomb in the Kremlin's archangel Cathedral. They report that Ivan was not handsome, had a wide face and a sharp profile and was six feet three inches tall.

Michigan Is Ideal Spot for Winter Sport Fans

Christmas has come and gone.

It's winter.

★ ★ ★

You can verify this by looking out the window or consulting the nearest outside thermometer. As a matter of fact, King Winter officially arrived on Sunday, although the bulk of America is convinced he appeared about two weeks before his official proclamation.

★ ★ ★

Anyway, the King's here for a good ten weeks of snow and the ice skaters, the bobsled addicts, the huge army of ski advocates and the fishermen who build those little shanties on the ice are all in their glory. Winter touches almost every Oakland County family with a big plus value somewhere along the line.

★ ★ ★

The wizened, shivering, glum-faced contingent that gets uncomfortable when the mercury dips under 75 can mog along in any manner it elects. The facts are, a bright, sparkling and invigorating time of the year descends upon the whole northern sector of the United States and Canada.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's gigantic tourist business used to sink dismally to the vanishing point when the deer season ended and the first, fitful snow flakes filled the air. But those days are gone forever. Now our winter lure for the balance of the Country is so completely irresistible that new skiing facilities are springing up all over the great Wolverine commonwealth.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County leads.

We're tops with nine.

Another interesting phenomenon has already taken place. In spite of the fact that the bulk of winter lies ahead, the days have started getting longer. Glory be! At the outset, the change takes place in the afternoon alone for the sun goes down enough later each day to counteract a slight later rising in the morning. After a few days in January, the reversal takes place and we witness the happy spectacle of a longer period of light in both the morning and the afternoon. Thus, even though the official winter still lies ahead, we are soon blessed with increasingly longer days at both ends.

Be glad you live in Michigan.

We truly are one of nature's "special spots."

Stock Incentive Plan Decried by Solon

Sen. ALBERT GORE, D-Tenn., author of an amendment to the proposed Federal tax-reduction bill, by implication cast unwarranted criticism on many businesses and business executives.

The Senator's pet peeve is the stock-option plan by which key executives are enabled to realize a level of compensation commensurate with their value to the enterprises they direct. He made specific reference to benefits realized by a group of Chrysler Corp. executives resulting from the plan.

There is nothing illegal nor underhand about the procedure. Permissive provision was written into the Internal Revenue Code by the government itself and is countenanced by it. The plan has enabled companies in need of new, dynamic management to attract it by offering financial inducement worthy of the talent.

★ ★ ★

Unnoted by GORE, however, was that when the plan was adopted in 1961 with shareholder approval, concurrently with administrative reorganization, the company was retrogressing. In that year, a record one for the automotive industry generally, Chrysler was barely in the black. Last year's operations reflected the internal realignment, the company showing a profit of $65 million.

We think Sen. Gore should stick to the over-all stock bonus plans which have all been government approved. Chrysler is merely following the same plan that many other industrial firms use.

And last, but not least of the beneficiaries, is the U.S. Treasury into which flow corporate-tax receipts, whence come senators' salaries—which, by the way, the solons are moving to increase by 44 per cent.

Johnson to Use Ghost Writer

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson can do more things than most people. He is a ball of fire, a one-man gang.

But he can't find time to write his own speeches, all by himself.

The Presidents' associates have disclosed that Theodore C. Sorensen, who also was speech writer for President John F. Kennedy on occasion, helped Johnson write his first address to Congress.

This is no slam at Johnson. The business of a presidential ghost writer has ancient and honorable antecedents. For example, Alexander Hamilton had a ghostly hand in writing of George Washington's famous farewell address.

DOESN'T HAVE TIME

A president who pays attention to his main job just doesn't have time to make the research and do the word-polishing that a speech requires.

Lots of other public officials, and men in private enterprise, too, have turned to ghosts to help them with their speeches, and their other writing. Sorenson helped in the research for the book "Profiles of Courage" which Kennedy wrote before he became president.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona provides another example.

★ ★ ★

After paying thanks to a long list of those for whose help he was grateful, Goldwater said he did the first draft of his book "Why Not Victory?"

CAN'T SPEND TIME

Then he added: "The way I look at it, polishing my prose is not something on which I can spend a lot of time, as enjoyable as that is. . . for the proper expression of the result of that labor, I, for one, depend on those I have mentioned—helpers, ghosts, call them what you will. They are an indispensable part of politics and writing."

Felix Frankfurter, in his book of reminiscences, tells how he got Alice Duer Miller, the poet and novelist, to write a piece that was issued in President Woodrow Wilson's name.

She did a good job. It had that "inimitable Wilson touch," was one comment in a flood of praise.

★ ★ ★

Frankfurter says, "It was the 'inimitable touch' of Woodrow Wilson because she had soaked herself in his style and just mimicked it."

JUST ONE SECRET

That's one secret of being a good ghost writer, of course.

Along the same lines, Sorensen once said of his teamwork with Kennedy: "I know so well what he wants to say and how he would say it that he and I can't tell where he leaves off and I leave on."

Incidentally, as for tools of the trade, a visitor to Sorensen's office noted these books on his desk: "A Treasury of Great Speeches," Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations" and "10,000 Jokes and Stories."

★ ★ ★

A speech has to have more than just style. It has to be delivered well.

As Gen. Hugh (Iron Pants) Johnson of the Franklin D. Roosevelt era said: "No ghost writer ever permanently made a political silk purse out of an oratorical sow's ear."

MOST likely the only people who were never guilty of teen-age misbehavior were Adam and Eve.

For All To See

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Should Regulate Trade

WASHINGTON — If America ever tolerates dictatorship as an instrument of government, it could come through acceptance of the misguided concepts of expediency so often set forth nowadays by some of the so-called "liberal" philosophers.

LAWRENCE

For no more flagrant example of distorted "constitutionalism" could be offered today than the doctrine of those who are charging that any refusal by Congress to supply credit facilities for the sale of wheat to the Soviet government is an interference with or invasion of the power of the president to conduct foreign policy or is a curb on the exercise of presidential authority.

Yet this is the argument on which was based the administration's drive to coerce a reluctant and unwilling House of Representatives to pass such a measure.

It was finally approved by a narrow majority after ten days of wrangling, three procedural votes, and the engendering of a good deal of hard feeling.

★ ★ ★

The Constitution gives no power to the president to order funds to be made available to other countries just because he thinks it's good foreign policy. There is no discretion vested in the president to spend public money unless Congress votes him such discretion.

REAL ISSUE

The real issue in the latest controversy between the executive and Congress developed as a result of the president's proposal to buy good will among foreign nations by giving them grants or loans and specifically permitting the use of the credit of the United States government to finance wheat sales by Americans to the Soviet Union.

Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, chairman of the House Rules Committee and a Democratic party leader, said he has no objection to sale of the wheat but wants to see it financed by "cash on the barrelhead."

There are many other members of Congress who don't want to see any transactions at all with Russia financed by the American government. They were dragooned by administration pressure into voting for such a measure.

★ ★ ★

The Constitution gives to Congress the sole power to deal with this whole matter. It says explicitly that "The Congress shall have power . . . to regulate commerce with foreign nations." It doesn't say that the president shall share in such power.

CRYING OUT

Yet the so-called "liberals" are crying out that the initial behavior of Congress in recent days was an interference with the president's conduct of foreign policy.

Some went so far as to imply that some constitutional right is being invaded by Congress when it insists on looking carefully at every proposed use of the American taxpayers' money.

Maybe the next step will be to insist some day that Congress turn over the tax receipts in their entirety to the chief executive to be spent as he sees fit.

It may make an interesting issue for the 1964 presidential campaign, especially since the Democratic party in the House of Representatives has finally gone on record by overwhelming vote as supporting a policy of "doing business with Khrushchev."

FAVORS CREDITS

It thus favors giving him financial credits to save his regime from internal economic troubles and to help him avoid a revolution, thereby building up his position for the armament contests of the future.

(Copyright, 1963, New York Herald Tribune Syndicate, Inc.)

Bob Considine Says:

Southern Football Fans Give Company Raw Deal

NEW YORK — My friend Michel Alexander Werboff, the only American artist with a painting hanging in Madrid's great Prado, has launched a one-man campaign to keep Michelangelo's immortal "Pieta" from being brought to New York's World's Fair.

He is afraid something will happen to the all but incredible sculpture of Christ's young, sorrowing mother holding Him on her lap after the Crucifixion.

CONSIDINE

The Gillette people are being given an unfair shake by Southern football fans who, under the urging of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama and others, are engaged in a temporary boycott against Gillette products because it still will not sponsor the Blue and Gray game in Montgomery this year.

Chrysler, the scheduled co-sponsor, also withdrew support when—like Gillette—it learned that no Negro player would be permitted to appear nor even a Negro member of a band. NBC then canceled the game from its telecast schedule.

No financial loss will come this year to the game's promoters or the fine charity it helps, the Montgomery Lions Club which does a lot of good work in sight conservation among children of all races, creed and color.

SPORTS PICTURE

The game could very well be resumed under the sponsorship of a national advertiser, including Gillette, next year.

It has been a fixture on the national sports scene for a quarter of a century, but chiefly because of Gillette's unflagging support.

In his book "A Rebel in Sports," the late great Champ Pickens, founder of the game, gives full credit to Gillette for making it possible.

It telecast the game before Montgomery had a TV station. "In all my ramblings I have never met a squarer shooter; Craig Smith (Gillette exec who okayed the deal) is a man apart."

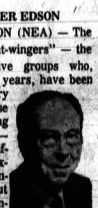
Now, after 26 years, the company is being punished for wanting to conduct its business in the realistic atmosphere of the 20th Century.

In Washington:

Right-Wing Groups Seek Funds

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The so-called "right-wingers" — the ultraconservative groups who, for the last 15 years, have been blasting every liberal cause with increasing bitterness — are having difficulties in expressing themselves about President Johnson.



EDSON

The first right-wing reaction to President Kennedy's assassination was a great feeling of relief that the deed was not done by one of their persuasion or by an anti-integrationist, but by a Marxist.

This was followed by a counterblast at the liberals for being too quick in denouncing the right-wingers for building up a spirit of hatemongering in the country and for holding that this was really responsible for the assassination.

It was the conservatives' turn to ask an end to left-wing smears against the right. But most of this has disappeared now as both camps have turned from shock over what has happened to uncertainty over what is going to happen next.

"What will LBJ be like as President?" was the banner line on "Human Events," one of the principal organs of conservative opinion, two weeks after he was sworn in.

It was a question, not a prediction, and the answers given were mixed. President Johnson had no choice but to be a New Frontiersman. He would do more than Kennedy for civil rights. He would be a spender. He was described as scornful of appeasement-minded Americans for Democratic action. He would continue foreign aid. But he would be firm in an international crisis.

★ ★ ★

Politically, "Human Events" predicted that the ADA disliked Johnson and would rally behind Bobby Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Chester Bowles and Hubert Humphrey — in that order. Labor was said to be suspicious of Johnson and the South was said to consider him a renegade.

● When the liberals, ADA, labor and even the South rallied to support the new president, this line had to be abandoned. The 30-day moratorium on politics during the period of mourning contributed to this, along with Sen. Barry Goldwater's silence during reappraisal.

★ ★ ★

After President Johnson named a special commission under Chief Justice Earl Warren to investigate the assassination, right-wing commentators had a field day. They pointed out that three days previously the Communist "Worker" in a front-page editorial had called for naming such a commission under Warren.

Dan Smoot, in an eight-page report on the killing of President Kennedy and his alleged assassin, Lee Oswald, asked without answering: What apparatus was behind this making a martyr out of an American president just to hurt the right-wing movement?

The Rev. Billy James Hargis in his monthly "Christian Crusade" called the President's assassination the act of a "trained and dedicated Communist," without qualification.

★ ★ ★

So did the John Birch Society in full page newspaper ads headed "The Time Has Come." The impact was that the time has come to get interested in the John Birch Society and its campaign against communism. There was a direct appeal for contributions to a special advertising fund to finance wider publication of the ad. At the bottom was a coupon offering free information, or $1 or $5 worth of literature to acquaint respondents with the society.

Carl Mc Intyre blamed Oswald's murder on the "pro-Kennedy Rubenstein" and declared this killing had been costly to the conservative movement.

This line of argument is used by a number of the right-wing groups in making new appeal for funds to carry on their fight against communism. All the right wing organizations are desperate for money, in fact.

"Our income has taken a nosedive," confesses the Rev. Mr. Hargis.

Publisher Franck C. Hanighen put out a memo to the friends of "Human Events" early in December saying "If we were to pay our current liabilities our bank account could be MINUS $31,213."

But "Human Events" has called another of its Political Action Conferences in Washington Jan. 9-11. The attendance fee is $75 — $45 for Young Americans for Freedom.

The moratorium on right-wing political criticism will presumably end about then.

Voices Complaint About M218 Roadwork

The laugh of the year is the state saying M218 roadwork is OK. Saying this is only an expression, because in this area we only have tears.

The only thing they can do now is put up guide rails. We believe there isn't a road in Michigan with the amount of guide rails that M218 has.

When our younger set has the brains to stay off M218 it must be bad. No one in this area travels M218 unless it's absolutely necessary.

'Not All Teen-Agers Are Bad Drivers'

There were several articles in The Press about how terrible teen-age drivers are. Well, I've seen older people just as bad. They either go 10 miles per hour in a 50 m.p.h. zone or 70 in a 30 mile zone.

★ ★ ★

The article stated that teen-agers stop at every drive-in restaurant. Many families go to drive-ins. If Pontiac people are so concerned about the teen-agers, why don't they think about doing something to help? There are many fine, intelligent teen-agers who go to drive-ins on Woodward and they shouldn't be criticized along with the rest.

★ ★ ★

It would be nice if there was an article in the paper about the fine teen-age drivers and the courteous car clubs that teen-agers form like the Paragon Club. Many times a Paragon member has stopped and helped a person having car trouble.

Arraign Area Man in Auto Fatality

Charged with negligent homicide in a Brandon Township auto crash fatality, a 51-year - old Royal Oak man Monday stood mute at his arraignment before Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Floyd E. Hathaway, of 806 N. Altadena was released on $500 bond to await trial. Judge Dondero set no trial date.

Hathaway is accused in the Oct. 3 death of Mrs. Milton J. Rockafellow, 61, of Goodrich, who was killed in a head-on crash of her husband's and Hathaway's cars.

Hathaway, who was seriously injured in the accident, later admitted driving over the center line on Ortonville Road in a statement to an assistant prosecutor.

Two Charges Are Denied

A 24-year-old Mount Clemens man Monday pleaded innocent in Circuit Court of assault with intent to rape and unarmed robbery of a Waterford waitress.

Daniel L. Inscho was ordered by Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero to stand trial on both charges. Inscho was returned to the county jail when he was unable to furnish $5,000 bond.

He is accused of attempting to attack a waitress during a Nov. 12 robbery of Sharp's Inn, 2675 Dixie, Waterford Township. Police said Inscho took $455 from the waitress as she left work that night.

Born Snobs Peck Inferiors

Chickens Establish Protocol

WASHINGTON—Chickens are born snobs, and a smart poultryman is as conscious of social rank as a protocol officer at a royal banquet.

Biologists have found that when two hens meet for the first time, they either fight or one gives way without fighting. The one that "chickens out" is henceforth inferior to the other.

* * *

The dominant hen not only pecks her with impunity, but has first rights at the food trough, the roost, and the nest boxes.

Through a series of such encounters, a flock of hens quickly establish a social hierarchy or "peck order," the National Geographic Society says. The top bird can peck the others with retaliation; the bottom bird gets pecked by everyone.

A flock that has established a stable hierarchy does better than a flock in which the membership is frequently shifted. Birds in an unstable flock fight more, suffer more wounds, eat less and gain less. Hence chicken ranchers now take pains to avoid mixing chicken flocks.

HIGH IQ'S

Dominant hens tend to have higher I.Q.'s as measured by a fowl intelligence test consisting of grains of corn placed in a line on the floor.

Every second grain is securely fastened down so that it can't be eaten. Chicken intelligence is graded on how fast a hen learns to peck at the loose grains only.

* * *

Social status also depends on length of residence. A hen will win more encounters in her own yard than in another yard. Bluffing as well as superior fighting ability also seems to help decide questions of rank.

Hens and cocks have separate peck orders. The cocks are more pugnacious and likely to revolt against a superior.

They can lose caste in dramatic fashion. One cockerel that ranked next to the top in a flock suffered an eye wound, and was removed to a hospital pen. The eye healed, and the bird returned to the flock he had almost dominated.

But his social status had disappeared, and he was pecked by even the lowliest member of the flock. Five days after his return, the onetime cock-of-the-walk had to be removed for his own safety.

Low-ranking birds lurk in out-of-the-way places, feed after others have fed, and move about cautiously, trying to avoid encounters. They often appear lean and rumpled.

FEARLESS BIRDS

High-ranking birds move around fearlessly, and seldom avoid their superiors. When pecked they seem to take it lightly.

Snobs though they are, chickens do have some intelligence. Some have learned to play miniature baseball and deliver an egg direct to a chef's frying pan.

Others are sitting pretty in a new V-shaped nest, designed so the eggs always on soft straw that cannot be kicked aside by the hen.

* * *

Chickens also have some curious rules to decide who their mother is. A newborn chick will accept almost anything that moves—even a rubber ball—as its mother, following it about and attempting to nuzzle under it for security.

This phenomenon, known as "imprinting," occurs in a number of birds. One scientist was amazed to find that he himself had become "mother" to an affectionate flock.

Crowds Visit JFK Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

PILGRIMAGE: More than 15,000 Americans visited the grave of President John F. Kennedy on Christmas Day.

The steady procession began early in the day and ended when nightfall came to Arlington National Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

A six-inch mantle of snow lay on the cemetery. Fresh green pine boughs and floral tributes covered the President's grave.

NEUTRALITY: The United States is consulting its allies on the possibility of an East-West neutrality declaration on Cambodia.

This would be an alternative to the proposed Cambodian neutrality conference favored by the Cambodian head of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

State Department authorities say the danger in a conference is that it would lead to bitter recriminations and name-calling over conditions in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The declaration would cover mainly two points:

1. It would formally assert the intention of the major powers—the United States, the Soviet Union, Communist China, Britain and France—to respect and guarantee Cambodia's neutrality.

ASSURE INDEPENDENCE

2. It would provide for intensified activity by the International Control Commission set up under a 1954 agreement which was supposed to assure the independence of Southeast Asian states.

POLICY: Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have affirmed that chamber policy against collective bargaining between unions and government agencies extends to teachers organizations and public school boards.

In a mail ballot the board members endorsed a statement that "determination of public school policies should be the responsibility solely of local public boards of education as authorized by state and local laws."

The board said some teacher organizations have been demanding collective bargaining rights and threatening reprisals wherever their recommendations were not met by local boards.

Dallas Pays Tribute to JFK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Thousands of spectators paid silent homage to President Kennedy Wednesday.

Two traffic policemen stood at the corner of Houston and Elm streets guiding three and four lanes of traffic past the site where the President was assassinated on Nov. 22.

★ ★ ★

Scores of wreaths and floral decorations, many reflecting the Christmas season, rest inside a pavillion near the spot where Kennedy was shot. Flowers have been placed there by representatives of several foreign countries and from nearly every state in the union since the assassination.

So There'll Always Be an England

Britons Digging In to Preserve the Past

LONDON (NEA)—Will scientists one day dig in the ruins of used car lots and junk yards in order to find out how men lived in 1963?

Will old windmills and rusty cranes be made to yield secrets as mysterious as those of the Egyptian pyramids?

A group of British archaeologists believes this to be the case, and they have set about to make the work of future scientists easier for them by preserving old factories and bits of machinery as ancient monuments.

★ ★ ★

Under their plan the whole of Britain would be turned into a vast open-air museum, in which the ways that modern man makes his living would be shown in terms of buildings and machinery preserved on their actual sites.

RUSTED CHASSIS

Their reasoning is that a rusted motorcar chassis may tell more about 20th century man than all the newspaper editorials that are buried in so-called "time capsules."

Most of the sweatshop factories and other grim reminders of the industrial revolution have been destroyed, and surviving ones are rapidly falling victim to the scrap-iron merchant and the demolition gang.

There were 350 windmills still working in Britain in 1919, but by 1946 the number had been reduced to 50, and by 1954 it had further dwindled to 21. Steps are now being taken to preserve those remaining.

★ ★ ★

Again, in December 1961, Britain's oldest tinplate works, in the Forest of Dean, closed down without any effort being made to preserve it as a museum.

ROMAN TIMES

These works dated back to Roman times, and they were the last place in Britain where tinplate was made by hand.

The outstanding example of vandalism cited by the archaeologists, however, was the recent destruction of the old Coal Exchange in London to widen a street.

Built in 1949, it was said to be the world's first building ever to use prefabricated cast iron.

★ ★ ★

Not all of Britain's industrial monuments have been treated as badly.

The blast furnace where Abraham Darby in 1777 first used coke to smelt iron is still carefully preserved. So is the world's oldest cast iron bridge in Shropshrie.

Plans are afoot to preserve the old cottages of the cutlery workers in Sheffield.

Meanwhile from headquarters at the London Museum Dr. Francis Celoria is busy conducting a census of London industrial antiquities.

Dr. Celoria, who is the museum's field officer, has about 200 enthusiastic volunteer helpers, most of them students of archaeology.

★ ★ ★

"The present building boom in London has been a big help to industrial archaeology," says Dr. Celoria.

ROMAN POTTERY

"Building workers are constantly turning up things of interest to us, ranging from Roman pottery to a cobbler's shop dating from Tudor times."

Dr. Celoria and his helpers try to keep one jump ahead of the bulldozers.

With the help of 18th century maps, they have compiled a card index of 10,000 industrial sites of historical interest.

As soon as excavation for a new building starts on one of these sites, the archaeologists race there.

"My helpers chat with the building workers during the lunch hour to find out if anything interesting has been found in the course of digging."

As the result of a recent public appeal, Dr. Celoria has received many interesting items, including a complete set of tools used by a bookbinder in 1850 and recently discovered by his grandson in an attic.

At the moment the museum officer is appealing to the public for pre-900 street and trade directories, tradesmen's bills, and antique clothing or uniforms worn by policemen, railway staff and craftsmen.

Until now industrial archaeology, like bird watching, has largely been on an amateur basis.

SPECIAL COURSES

But British universities are now offering special courses on the subject, and both government and public are taking an increasing interest in it.

"We may yet save Britain from the wrecking gangs, and preserve its industrial relics from the steel ball," says Dr. Celoria.

Lamb to Get New Home at Papal Estate

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The little white lamb Pope Paul VI received as a Christmas present will find a home at the papal summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, 15 miles south of Rome.

An unidentified girl presented the animal to the pontiff when he celebrated Christmas Mass at the Church of St. Michael of The Archangel, in a workers' quarter on the outskirts of Rome.

★ ★ ★

The Pope, visibly moved, lifted the lamb over his head to show it to the crowd outside the church. Then he handed it to an aide.

Pope Paul's predecessor, Pope John XXIII, also received gifts of animals from time to time and also sent them to a farm at Castel Gandolfo.

Smarties Are Not 'In'

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) —A sociological study shows Stanford University students from lower income families do well academically, but remain "social outsiders" while attending the school.

One quarter of the firms located on Route 128 around Boston have been established by MIT graduates.

Russ Rocket? No Comment!

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—The North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) declined to comment yesterday on a report that the Soviet Union might have fired a missile down the Pacific range over Hawaii Christmas Eve.

There was a report from Honolulu that a missile reentered the atmosphere about 1,500 miles south of Hawaii.

A Defense Department spokesman referred a query about the missile to NORAD headquarters in Colorado Springs, saying the Pentagon knew nothing it could report.

But A NORAD official said his office was not allowed to say anything to anyone but the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

"Present rules require us to report such things only to NASA," squadron leader Lloyd C. Morrison of the Royal Canadian Air Force said. "We're only the tracking operation."

Johnson Aides Different Breed Than JFK's

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The men President Johnson calls on for advice are a different breed from those President Kennedy consulted. And the new President uses their talents differently.

This report is not about the men whom Mr. Johnson brought immediately into the White House to join the Kennedy aides who are staying on.

It concerns the close personal advisers whom the President has known and turned to for help during his 30 years in Washington.

* * *

Some may eventually be brought into the government in official posts on as short-term trouble shooters. Others may never leave private life.

REVEALS PATTERN

A close study of these men reveals this pattern:

Almost every close personal adviser is an attorney who started his career in a low-level government post, rose to an important job in the executive branch or Congress and parlayed his experience and contacts into success in business, corporate law or top-level government work.

They are practical, interested in achieving what is possible. While many have brilliant minds, the majority seem to have no clearly dominant philosophy.

* * *

The majority have kept reputations as liberals even when they have turned to earning their livings by representing corporations. They seem to believe it is the role of the government to be a "father" and supplier of aid when necessary to all groups — minorities, business concerns, farmers.

IN RIGHT PLACE

Although some are idea men and others influence men, they all know the advantage of knowing the "man in the right place" and they understand the importance of patronage.

They range from Roosevelt and Truman New and Fair Dealers like Dean Acheson to able Senate and House leaders like Carl Vinson.

There are fewer economists, historians and purely academic types among them than among the Kennedy group. If they have an academic background, they have tempered it with political and business activity.

* * *

What follows is not a comprehensive list of Mr. Johnson's "kitchen cabinet" but the men on it are typical:

● Gov. John Connally of Texas, critically wounded when President Kennedy was assassinated, is probably President Johnson's closest friend.

An associate says, "He is one of the few men who will talk right up to the President, despite Johnson's imperious manner."

Connally, 46, once was Johnson's administrative assistant, but left Congress to work as a lawyer for Texas oil interests. He was the Kennedy administration's first Secretary of the Navy, reportedly at Mr. Johnson's insistence.

* * *

● Abe Fortas, 53, Washington lawyer, was a strong Roosevelt New Dealer and undersecretary of interior from 1942 to 1946. Earlier he helped write security and corporation control laws.

PERSONAL LAWYER

Now with Arnold, Fortas and Porter, he has served as the President's personal lawyer. In the early 1950s, Fortas defended some State Department employes and others accused by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

● Donald C. Cook, 54, New York attorney and utility company president, is described by an associate as "a sharp, most competent, easy-going man who does a quiet, thorough job and is an expert in monetary matters."

● Gerald W. Siegel, a Yale-educated lawyer, specializes in labor negotiations as vice president and counsel of the Washington Post. Johnson once characterized Siegel as a man who never loses his head when others all around him are losing theirs.

* * *

A protege of Donald Cook, Siegel was chief counsel of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee when Lyndon Johnson ran the Senate. He worked closely with Johnson on the 1957 and 1960 civil rights bills.

● Benjamin V. Cohen, 69, a Washington corporation lawyer, was once known as the "philosopher of the New Deal." Although he was the author of much of Franklin D. Roosevelt's early domestic legislation, he reportedly was a restraining influence on New Deal planning.

BOOKISH MAN

Cohen is described as a soft-spoken, retiring, bookish man who rarely makes speeches and is a determined liberal.

● Edwin Louis Weisl, 66, is a partner of the New York law firm of Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett. Weisl is known as a "determined and acute fact-finder" and has a reputation as a top flight mind. He has reportedly claimed he is an independent in politics.

Weisl was chief counsel to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee and counsel to the Committee on Space and Astronautics.

● Dean Acheson, 70, attorney, philosopher - Secretary of State under President Truman, credited with being the brains behind the Marshall Plan, an old-school-tie type, American royalist.

HAS HARDENED

His position toward the Soviet Union has hardened over the years.

● Thomas "Tommy the Cork" Corcoran, 63, was a Roosevelt trouble shooter, once called the "greatest wire-puller in U. S. history."

Corcoran's associates say he has great ability and outstanding industry. He likes to play behind the scenes. He helped draft New Deal legislation.

* * *

● Georgia Sen. Richard B. Russell, 66, and Johnson have been close Senate friends for over 15 years.

KEY SENATOR

Russell is chairman of the Armed Services Committee, No. 2 member of the Aeronautics and Space Sciences and Appropriations committees, member of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee and a senior member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

There has been some coolness between the two on civil rights.

● Georgia Rep. Carl Vinson, 80, and Johnson have been as close as two fingers on one hand. Civil rights positions haven't divided them.

* * *

As the powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Vinson took Johnson under his wing three decades ago. Johnson has never forgotten it.

* * *

● Cyrus R. Vance, attorney and Secretary of the Army, is rumored as next deputy secretary of defense. He was a protege of Edwin Weisl.

SPECIAL COUNSEL

Vance was special counsel for Johnson's Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee and consulting counsel of the Senate Special Committee on Space and Astronautics.

Georgia Capitol for the Birds

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — Ben W. Fortson, Georgia's secretary of state, who has been conducting an all-out war on thousands of starlings which infest the state capitol grounds, admits to a reluctant admiration for the pesky creatures.

In fact, he says the birds, imported from England during the last century to chase the sparrows from Central Park in New York City, remind him of Britain's dauntless spirit.

"They're stubborn and courageous and they don't know when they're licked," Fortson says.

* * *

Fortson has been trying all kinds of weapons, including guns and scarecrows, but the birds still held their fort — the trees on the capitol grounds.

Justice Is Flown In

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Alaska state troopers travel almost half as much by air in performance of their duties as by land. They flew 20,700 miles in one month recently, and drove 44,168 miles.

Junior Editors Quiz on ONIONS

QUESTION: Why do we cry when we cut onions?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Nothing unpleasant has happened to Jane in in our picture; she was simply helping hed mother get dinner by peeling some onions.

The onion, while being a delicious vegetable, has a strong taste and smell. The plants contain an oil which can vaporize, or mix with the air, when one cuts or peels onions.

In the nose, there are nerves connected with the eyes. The vapor affects these nerves which in turn agitate the tear glands, causing tears to flow.

Such tears are one of nature's protective devices which work whether or not we ask them to.

Tears are very useful to clean and lubricate the eyeball; actually, each time we blink, a little tear fluid is sucked out from the tear glands behind the eyelids and passes over the eye.

Tears keep the strong onion vapor from irritating the eye. Real crying is caused by strong emotions tightening muscles around the tear glands, causing tears to be squeezed out.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Check on how often you blink, you will probably find it happens every few seconds. Then think how wonderful it is to have such faithful little eye washers, who keep your vision clear all the time without your having to do anything about it!

Stamp Collection Sold to Dealer for $1.1 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The stamp collection of the late Philip H. Ward Jr. has been sold to a New Orleans dealer for $1.1 million.

★ ★ ★

Roger Weill, partner in the Raymond H. Weill Co., said the stamps were packed in 93 cases for shipment to New Orleans. Weill said the collection, which had been appraised as high as $1.6 million, would be broken up and sold. He estimated it might produce as much as $2 million.

★ ★ ★

Ward, former president of Ward Electric Co., died last August at the age of 76. He left the electrical business to pursue stamp collecting full time in 1930.

'Heard One About Two Comrades?'

West Berlin Chuckles at Reds' Expense

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berliners are chucking at the latest crop of Soviet bloc jokes brought back by travelers from the east.

A minor Bulgarian official is said to have met his Czech opposite number in an East Berlin hotel room after a long separation and asked him "now that we old friends are together, tell me confidentially—what do you think of President Novotny?"

His Czech friend looked scared, checked the doors and windows, turned on the bathroom taps to hide his voice from the hidden micropohones, and mentioned the Bulgarian up close.

"Now that we are alone," he whispered, "I can tell you —I rather like the man."

It may have been the same two officials in this Hungarian story.

"I hear we are finally going to have East-West convertibility with a pound-ruble-dollar exchange rate."

"That will be great news for trade. What is the rate?"

"One pound of rubles equals one dollar."

Cosmonauts, of course, are featured in current Russian jokes.

When Valentina Tereshkova returned from space she was granted a private interview with Soviet Premier Nikita Krushchev.

"Now as a woman, your perceptions are keener than men's," Khrushchev said. "Tell me confidentially, did you see any angels in space?"

"Well, yes, I did, comrade Nikita Sergeyevich."

"Well, that is shocking. You must promise me, on your party honor as a Communist, never to tell a soul."

"Why, of course, comrade."

A few weeks later Valentina is received by Pope Paul VI.

"Now, Miss Tereshkova, could you just tell me confidentially, when you were in space, did you see any angels?"

"Why no, Your Holiness, of course not."

"Please, Miss Tereshkova, you must promise, never tell a soul."

Typically Polish is the tale of two foreign trade officials, from Poland and East Germany.

The East German asks "your foreign trade figures show great activity with both East and West. How is it done?"

"Well, our trade is based on bricks, on which our industry has been consistently overfilling its production quota."

"Well, that must mean all Poles are now well-housed."

"No. We trade the bricks to Hungary for wool."

"Oh, so your people are well-clothed."

"Oh, no. We send the wool to Yugoslavia for bacon."

"At least that means the Poles have good breakfasts."

"Not at all, we send the bacon to England for coal."

"Ah, our houses are well-heated in winter."

"Unfortunately not. You see we have to use the coal for the brick factories."

Newly-revised from Russia is the story of the Communist Party central committee representative sent out to persuade Ukrainian collective farmers to increase production.

"So you see, comrades, by increasing production you increase the whole supply of good things you can share," he told a disgruntled audience in a village meeting hall.

"In fact, I think I can tell you a little secret. The central planning board foresees that in five years your collective will have its own television set."

An ancient peasant stood up at the back of the hall and mumbled "but please, comrade, I don't want a television set. What we really need are some nails, just ordinary nails, to hold a couple of boards together."

"Now comrade, I don't think you quite have the vision of our future under communism. I can even reveal that in 10 years, the planning board foresees that your collective will have its own private helicopter. Yes, comrade?"

The same old man stood mumbling even more softly. "But we don't need helicopters. We need nails."

"Comrade," the central committee spokesman barked, "you fail to see the point. In 10 years you will see on your television set that they have nails in Minsk, and you will be able to rush over in your helicopter and be first in line."

The unhappy East Germans have revived in a 1945 saying: "If you're lost in the woods without a compass on a dark and foggy night, just stretch out your left arm and slowly turn in a circle.

"When your wristwatch is snatched off your arm, that's East.

U.S., Britain Are at Odds on Problems of SE Asia

By JOHN WHEELER

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—The Malaysia dispute has led to differences between Britain and the United States on how to preserve the peace and Western strategic interests in this part of Southeast Asia.

At the same time, American influence with this anti-Communist country has deteriorated. Relations between the U.S. Embassy and the Malaysian government are often cold.

News Analysis

A tug-of-war over policy centers on the question of what to do about Indonesia's President Sukarno.

Sukarno has said nothing will deter Indonesia from smashing Malaysia. Many believe this means Sukarno would resort to war and plans to carve out some or all of Malaysia to add to his own area. Indonesia has denied both charges repeatedly.

Indonesia, however, is backing terrorist and guerrillas operations in Malaysia's Borneo states. Malaysia also alleges Indonesia has sent a fifth column into Singapore and the Malaysian peninsula.

★ ★ ★

Britain, which is pledged to protect Malaysia, wants a coordinated, tough line on Indonesia from Washington and London. A British diplomatic source here said:

BLUSTERED WAY

"Sukarno blustered his way to success over the Dutch with U.S. help in the past and now apparently believes nothing can bar his way."

The Briton was referring to U.S. pressure which was a factor in winning Indonesia its independence from Holland in 1949 and in forcing the Dutch to turn over West Irian (West New Guinea) to Sukarno this year.

Both Britain and the Malaysian government seem to want the United States to apply all possible diplomatic pressure on Sukarno and to tell him U.S. aid will be stopped unless the Indonesian leader calls off his anti-Malaysia campaign.

★ ★ ★

The Americans reply that U.S. aid to Indonesia, now running about $70 million a year, is not enough to bring down the Sukarno regime or to force it to change its ways.

COMPLETE LOSS

Cutting off the aid, U.S. officials contend, would result in a complete loss of U.S. influence in Jakarta and end any chance of the United States preventing the Malaysia dispute from erupting into a hot war.

The United States has suspended consideration of all new aid programs to Indonesia.

The Malaysian government is unhappy about the continued U.S. aid program and commercial shipments of spare parts from the United States to keep Indonesia's C-130 long-range military transports in the air.

★ ★ ★

One British source said relations between the U.S. Embassy and the Malaysian government had become so strained that on occasion they virtually were not on speaking terms. An American official denied this but conceded relations have deteriorated.

Woman Dies in Crash; Husband, Child Injured

KENDALLVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A Michigan woman was killed in a two-car collision Wednesday that also injured her husband and 11-year-old daughter.

Killed in the crash at the crest of a hill about 10 miles west of here was Mrs. Helen Stanger, 45, of Stevensville. Her husband Otis, 50, who was driving, and their daughter Susan were listed in fair condition at a local hospital.

Funeral Service Set

DETROIT (AP) — Funeral service for Bernard M. Karamon, a partner in the Idle Hour Hotel on Harsen's Island in Lake St. Clair for 14 years, will be held Saturday in Detroit. Karamon died Tuesday in a Detroit hospital.

Erhard, LBJ Meet Under Shadow of Europe Crisis

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP)—Ludwig Erhard is meeting President Johnson at a time when the chancellor faces his first big crisis as West Germany's new leader.

Erhard is flying from Bonn tomorrow and will spend the weekend at the Johnson ranch in Texas. It will be their first full-scale talks since the chancellor and the President took office.

Long famous as West Germany's economics minister, Erhard succeeded Konrad Adenauer Oct. 26. Now he has domestic problems and is engaged in a struggle over the European President Charles de Gaulle.

* * *

The new chancellor is refusing to agree to a unified agricultural policy unless de Gaulle in turn supports a U.S.-favored liberal approach on the coming international tariff negotiations in Geneva.

GREAT HOPES

The Common Market, which gave rise to great hopes for a prosperous and peaceful Europe, may break up unless the French - West German differences are resolved.

Failure to prevail in the current struggle could ruin Erhard, bringing down on him at least part of the blame for an historic setback. Success would give him status as a major international figure and vastly help his chances of remaining in office after 1965 elections.

Erhard, who is 66, is outwardly unruffled by the crisis. Puffing slowly on a big, black cigar, his trademark, he predicts that a solution will be found to the present difficulties and the Common Market will endure.

* * *

Since de Gaulle has indicated a Dec. 31 deadline for having his terms met, the Erhard-Johnson meeting will take place under the immediate shadow of the crisis.

MET BRIEFLY

The two men last met briefly in Washington after President Kennedy's funeral. The present trip was then set up. Earlier plans had been made for Erhard to have talks in the U.S. Capital with Kennedy, and his departure was just two days off when Kennedy was killed.

The new chancellor has already shown himself a good friend of the United States. He has thrown his support behind European political unity, British membership in the Common Market, Atlantic partnership and common defense through NATO. These are policies the United States favors, but which draw reservations from France.

Adenauer often sided with de Gaulle, raising fear in some quarters that a Bonn-Paris axis was in the making. This fear has disappeared since the change in West German leadership.

* * *

At home, Erhard got off to a good start as chancellor, smoothly carrying out the transition of power and winning almost universal praise.

Erhard is handicapped by the coalition government he inherited from Adenauer. His Christian Democrats and the conservative Free Democrats have shown a tendency to internal dissensions that undercut government leadership.

Elements within both parties came out publicly for giving in to the war victims despite the chancellor's stand.

While now drawing some criticism, Erhard still has a long way to go before losing his great popularity. This stems from his 14 years as economics minister, when he led West Germany's recovery from the ruins of World War II.

The people seem ready to give a man with a record like that plenty of time to prove himself in a new and tough job.

Penny Candy in Romeo

Country Store Recalls Bygone Era

Pictures and Story
By LEE OLSON

ROMEO — Shades of a bygone era — when penny candy still cost a penny and children could make their dime allowances go a long, long way.

This is not reminiscence but reality, for in Romeo this is still a daily occurence.

There is an old - fashioned country store at the south end of town that offers taste-tempting treats at nominal prices and other merchandise harking back to horse-and-buggy days.

Called the Country Store, the one-story "Giffhings" shop occupies the wing of a 150-year-old home on S. Van Dyke.

PAINTED BARN RED

The house, painted barn red and trimmed in white, was purchased a number of years ago by the Arnold Parsons family who had little idea then of setting up a business.

But Mrs. Parsons began to have other ideas about three years ago — thanks to a calendar that hung on the kitchen wall.

AREA NEWS

The calendar had a picture of an oldtime general store and every time she looked at it, Mrs. Parsons thought," That would be something different and fun."

So the small wing was converted into a two-room store and the penny candy and sharp cheese "cut to your order" were the main items featured for sale.

STILL IMPORTANT

"The penny candy was the most important then and still is," said Mrs. Parsons.

The store now is chuck full of merchandise that includes handmade toys and brooms, candles scented with magnolia, bayberry and roses, and real old-fashioned two-faced rag dolls.

Fastened to the walls and on high shelves are old country store "props" that the Parsons and their friends have collected to lend atmosphere to the shop.

There are coffee grinders and covered tins labled coffee, tea and tobacco. And a cracker barrel (with fresh crackers) stands right near the front door.

A pot-bellied stove captures the attention in the back room.

From the beginning the venture has been a family affair with every member taking turns "minding the store."

Mr. Parsons, a salesman, is perhaps most interested in the antiques that the shop also features — even though they are kept on an enclosed porch at the back of the house.

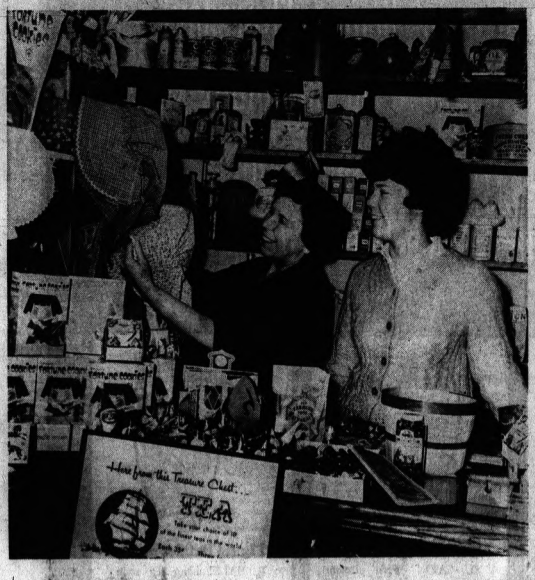
★ ★ ★

Son Peter, now 20, handled sales often before he went to work on his own. And daughter Chirs, 17, still spells her mother after school and on weekends.

The store, at 67380 S. Van Dyke, is open seven days a week until 9 p.m.

Pontiac Press Photos

YOUNG CUSTOMER — Patrons of the Country Store range from the very young, like 1½-year-old Lisa Turco, to oldsters who like to recall the past. Here, Lisa, held by mother Mrs. Richard E. Turco, 67550 Van Dyke, grins broadly as a candy ice cream cone is offered to her by Mrs. Parsons.



SUNBONNETS, TOO — Mrs. Parsons arranges sunbonnets on a rack in her shop that is lined with shelves filled with old-time merchandise and cooking aids, like hand-ground flour and delicate spices. Daughter Chris, 17, standing beside her, also takes her turn behind the counter.

JUST OFF HIGHWAY—The Country Store is a popular stopover for motorists traveling to and from the Thumb area on Van Dyke (M53). It is in a wing of the Arnold Parsons' 150-year-old home at the south end of Romeo and goes down a few steps from the highway. The house and store are painted barn red with white trim.

2-Car Crash Kills Mother, Injures Husband, 2 Sons

BRUCE TOWNSHIP—A local 53-year-old mother was killed yesterday in a two-car crash which also injured her husband and two sons as they were driving to Lansing to spend Christmas with a daughter.

Mrs. Thelma Trieloff of 11455 35 Mile died shortly before noon in McPherson Hospital, Howell, about two hours after the collision on M59, a mile west of U.S. 23, Harlan Township.

Brighton State police said the Trieloff car, driven by a son, John, 17, apparently went out of control and crossed into the westbound lane where it was hit broadside by a second vehicle.

Mrs. Trieloff's husband, Herbert, 68, and sons, John and William, 19, are reported in good condition today at the hospital.

FRACTURED ARM

Trieloff suffered a fractured left arm, and the two boys were treated for head cuts. All are being checked for possible internal injuries.

The family was bound for the home of a daughter, Mrs. Walter Appel, in the car filled with presents.

Driver of the second vehicle was Louis Geldersma, 45, of Alto. He and three passengers in the car were treated at McPherson Hospital and released.

Police are continuing investigation of the accident.

Filing Dates in 4 Villages

Deadlines Set for March Elections

Candidates for office in four of the Oakland County area's 20 villages have until 4 p.m. Monday to submit nominating petitions to their respective village clerks.

Those seeking to compete in the March 9 elections in Holly, Oxford, Romeo and Lake Orion must meet the deadline.

Where a sufficient number of candidates file petitions primary elections will be held on Feb. 17 in these four villages.

In the area's two home rule villages, Rochester and Milford, petitions can be filed until noon on Jan. 25. Primary elections, when necessary, will also take place there on Feb. 17, in preparation for the March 9 balloting.

In other villages, nominating caucuses will be held. The municipalities which nominate candidates through these meetings, usually in early February, include Clarkston, Leonard, Ortonville, Metamora and Dryden.

Luncheon Will Feature Slides of Holy Land

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Color slides of the Holy Land will be shown following the noon pot luck luncheon of the Commerce Methodist Church Women's Society of Christian Service tomorrow.

Mrs. Elmer Conrad of 3257 Pontiac Trail will present the program at the church, 1155 W. Commerce.

Highway Toll 1,822

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 1,822 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The highway death toll at this date last year was 1,549.

3 Royal Oak Twp. Officials Named by Three Under Fire

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—A trio of township trustees, against whom recall petitions are being circulated, Tuesday appointed three new township officers.

Constable Marshall Taylor was chosen to replace Ernest Wilson on the Township Board. James McCree, a former constable, will take the place of W. C. Chambliss.

Wilson was found guilty of extortion earlier this month in Oakland County Circuit Court. He is free on a $2,500 bond awaiting sentencing by Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

★ ★ ★

Chambliss, who is moving to Detroit, resigned his position last week.

ALSO LISTED

A new township housing and urban renewal director also was appointed Tuesday.

James Streeter will fill the vacancy created when Jeffrey Teamer was fired last week.

Streeter, now Inkster's assistant housing director, will be asked to select a replacement for George Howell, fired last week as Teamer's assistant.

★ ★ ★

The appointments were made by Supervisor Edward L. Kennedy, Treasurer Frank Miles and Trustee Samuel Woodard.

ALSO UNDER FIRE

They themselves are under fire from a group of residents seeking their recall.

A seven-man committee has been formed to handle the recall activities. At a recent meeting attended by some 200 residents, the group collected $100 in cash and pledges totaling $150 to support their work.

Lynn Hooe, who was fired by the trustees as township attorney in 1961, has been retained by the group.

He said slightly more than 500 signatures will be needed on the recall petitions now being circulated.

Absent from Tuesday's meeting were Township Clerk Mrs. Artie Gray and Trustee Aubrey Dunn. They cast the two dissenting votes in Teamer's firing last week.

WED 50 YEARS — Walled Lake Methodist Church will be the scene Sunday of a 4-6 p.m. open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thayer of 2655 Loon Lake, Wixom. The Thayers, married Christmas Day in 1913, have three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Stadnik of Wixom, Mrs. George Campbell of Pontiac and Mrs. Francis Buckeridge of Utah; seven grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Area Firemen Fight 2 Blazes

Empty House Burns; Fireplace Overheats

ORION TOWNSHIP — Lake Orion and Oxford firemen were busy fighting two blazes here Tuesday. One was caused by an overheated fireplace at the home of T. G. Alban, 301 Stanton, and another occurred in a vacant house on Pine Tree.

Answering the siren about 12:40 p.m., volunteers found the empty residence near Pine Tree and Crestmont in flames.

Before the blaze was controlled, it caused an estimated $3,500 damage and gutted the front room and kitchen, according to Lake Orion Chief Jack Caylor.

★ ★ ★

Caylor said the power was on even though no one has lived in the house for three years. He attributed the blaze to faulty wiring over the kitchen door.

CHRISTMAS EVE

Late Christmas Eve flames in the fireplace at the T. G. Alban home spread into the partition surrounding it, which separates the living room and a bedroom.

Caylor said about $1,500 damage was caused to the home. Alban is owner of Alban's Country Cousin here and Alban's restaurant and party store in Birmingham.

INDOOR SHOT — Priceless moments in family life can be captured on film, if the photographer understands use of the flash attachment. Most all modern cameras come equipped with flash for indoor work.

Many Camera Fans Aren't Hep to Flash

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

I met a camera fan who is strictly the outdoor type. His family album had a great set of pictures of their activities — provided they took place out of doors and the sun was somewhere around.

How come he had no birthday party or any other indoor pictures?

"Too much trouble," he argued. "I tried to use flash some years ago and got all messed up. Some of the pictures were so dark you couldn't see anything; others were so light the faces were like spooks.

"And at some crucial moments, the flash wouldn't go off at all."

It didn't take too much probing to find out where this chap had gone wrong. He figured the flash, like the sun, provided the light and it made no difference whether he was shooting someone close or far away.

NO ADJUSTMENTS

He had never made any adjustments for distance. And many months later when he hauled out the flash, it didn't work.

No, he never looked at the battery or put in a fresh one. He just put the unit back in a drawer and stuck to the great outdoors ever since.

Nowadays, with simple dependable flash units and small compact speedlights, there's no reason why any camera fan should miss the many picture opportunities of indoor activities.

★ ★ ★

But that same fan should read the instructions, follow the simple rules of exposure based on distance of subject and give the small amount of attention necessary to maintain the unit's efficiency.

ALL DESIGNED

Every camera of today is designed for a flash attachment. It is essential in most cases to set an adjustment for either flashbulb (M setting) or electronic flash (K setting) because there is a difference in synchronization.

You will get no pictures if your camera is on "K" setting and you use regular flashbulbs, or if it is on "M" setting and you use a speedlight.

The light from your flash has a rated strength or guide number. This will be found on the carton holding the flashbulbs or in the instructions with an electronic flash.

★ ★ ★

It is essential that you set your lens opening according to the distance of your subject by dividing that distance into the guide number. The answer is your lens opening.

EXAMPLE

Example: A small speedlight has a guide number of 40 for Kodachrome II. The camera is set on "X." At five feet away with the shutter speed at 1-100th, the lens opening is (40 divided by 5) f/8.

The camera shutter speed makes little difference with an electronic flash but it should be fast enough to stop any possible camera motion.

With the subject at 8 feet, the lens is set to f/5; at 10 feet, the setting is f/4, etc. If your camera has an f/3.5 lens, the maximum distance for the flash in this case is about 11 feet.

★ ★ ★

When shooting indoors, you must match the type of flash with the type of color film you are using.

BULB TYPES

Clear flashbulbs are used with type "B" and Kodacolor films. Electronic flash and blue flashbulbs are used with Daylight-type color films.

It is good insurance and great for your peace of mind to use fresh batteries in your flash unit whenever you have an important occasion which you want to photograph with flash.

2-Year Probation Given for Burglary

A 20-year-old Royal Oak youth was placed on probation for two years Tuesday for his part in the Aug. 11 burglary of the Hatchery Market, 4850 Hatchery, Waterford Township.

Gerald Sidelinker of 321 S. Laurel also was ordered by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero to pay $157.64 restitution and $100 court costs.

Sidelinker pleaded guilty Dec. 3 to breaking and entering in the nighttime.

★ ★ ★

His cousin, Frank Sidelinker, 28, of 1361 Nokomis pleaded guilty to the same charge in the case Aug. 26 and was given a 2- to 15-year prison term.

Poet Shelley's Wife Wrote 'Frankenstein'

The author of "Frankenstein, or the Modern Prometheus," published in 1818, was Mary W. Shelley, second wife of the poet, Percy Bysshe Shelley.

★ ★ ★

With time, it has become common to refer to a monster as a "Frankenstein." Actually, Frankenstein was the creator and, finally, the victim of "Frankenstein's monster."

Blood Donor for 20 Years

ROSELLE, N.J. (AP) — Bernard J. Saks, who has just given his 60th pint of blood, has donated five times as much blood as the average body possesses.

★ ★ ★

The champion donor of the Elizabethtown Chapter of The American Red Cross, which he serves as director of water safety and first aid services, has been giving blood for 20 years.

Radioisotopes in Fight on Sickness, Injury

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) —Radioisotopes, a byproduct of research on the atom bomb, are finding uses in the medical profession's constant war on sickness and injury.

★ ★ ★

A new device called "hemolitre" uses the principle of radioisotope dilution to measure the circulating blood volume of surgical and other patients.

★ ★ ★

According to its developer, it can tell the surgeon at a glance if internal bleeding in a patient requires an immediate blood transfusion, and also can give important clues in treatment of cardiac and other ailments.

But It's Smart to Have Brains

Survey Shows Teens Health Conscious

Gilbert Youth Research Co.

America's youth has become more health conscious, since establishment of the late President Kennedy's Council on Physical Fitness.

★ ★ ★

About three-fifths of the 1,281 teen-agers surveyed in our latest nationwide opinion poll say they've started programs to build up their health.

And three-fifths of the girls and boys said they are planning additional efforts.

More than three-fifths of the girls and half of the boys say they are doing exercises — pushups, pullups, situps — and not just talking about it.

And about one-third of the boys have taken up weight lifting.

Proper diet, walking, hiking, swimming and bicycling are other activities that the teen-agers seem more interested in now.

FEEL BETTER

"I love to be active and it makes me feel livelier," says Kathy Gill, 17, of Spartanburg, S. C.

"It makes you feel so much more confident and able to do more things," says Donna Trachte, 16, of Watertown, Wis.

★ ★ ★

"I've been sick less," adds Paul Schifter, 14, of New York.

SPORTS IN SCHOOLS

Half of the girls and about 70 per cent of the boys say they participate in school athletics or intramural sports.

More than 90 per cent say physical training is compulsory in their schools. And more than half add that there has been more emphasis on this training in schools during the past year.

In spite of all this, however, nearly 90 per cent of the young people think that getting good grades is more important.

"You can keep knowledge forever," explains Peter Diamond, 16, of Alexandria, Va.

Richard Miner, 17, of Milwaukee thinks "A choice between the two isn't necessary. A person can have both a good mind and good body."

★ ★ ★

"Athletic training is important but good grades are needed more to help you in the future," says Robert Ehart, 17, of Granville, N. D.

The girls seem even more emphatic than the boys about the place of good grades.

"The brain is more important," says Phyllis Miller, 19, of Indianapolis. "Once you cultivate the mind it will tell you to work on the body."

"Our country is run by brains not brawn," declares Linda Rhode, 17, of Forest Park, Ill.

The teen-agers are nearly evenly split in their opinion over whether the demand for good grades is affecting athletic participation. Some 50 per cent of the girls and boys say "No," while 46 per cent say "Yes."

The people who do well in school are usually the best athletes because they can think in the game and they usually have more perseverance," says John Hipp, 16, of McClusky, N. D.

★ ★ ★

Jo Ellen Casey, 19, of Columbus, Ohio, thinks "Boys are pushing aside their athletic abilities for their studies."

But, "Students are putting emphasis on being well-rounded," says Carolyn Hartley, 15, of LaCrosse, Wis.

DIVIDED EVENLY

About half of the young people feel the measures recommended by the President's Council have been effective in focusing the nation's attention on maintaining and promoting better health.

Seymour Fain, 14, of Wantagh, N. Y., says, "The physical fitness test showed you where you stood."

"Athletic successes are better publicized, and more kids want to participate," declares Rex Carhart, 16, of Evanston, Ill.

Patricia Olsen, 17, of Evansville, Wis., thinks "Kids are more aware of how bad a shape their bodies are in."

New Disposal Good Servant

But Check the Rules for Some Restrictions

New food waste disposers are mechanical servants that mark a modern kitchen. They get rid of garbage for you. Because they are well engineered, they require little attention.

Before having your plumbing contractor install your disposer, have him clean the sink drain. Once the drain is clear of past accumulations, you need worry no more.

The natural scouring action of ground wastes from the disposer will keep the drain clean.

★ ★ ★

Remember that no disposer is designed to grind such rubbish as metal, glass, rubber, bottle caps, tea bags, china, etc.

COLD WATER

Before you begin putting food wastes into the disposer, turn on the cold water. Never use hot water. It is important to use enough cold water. A flow of at least two gallons a minute is satisfactory.

It's smart to mix soft food wastes with harder particles to assure satisfactory grinding. This also provides quieter operation.

When you start feeding wastes to the disposer, insert them in a steady stream.

Bulky food wastes, similar to melons or citrus fruit rinds and corn cobs, are more quickly ground if cut into smaller pieces.

Once all the food wastes have been disposed of, allow the cold water to run an extra 10 or 15 seconds to help wash residues through traps.

★ ★

Finally, never use lye or other chemical drain cleaners with your disposer. These chemicals can corrode alloys used in the manufacture of some disposers.

Refreshment Stand Not So Hot on Road

MARLBORO, Mass. (AP) — Peter Maddox, 9, has decided the road to riches doesn't lie in the refreshment stand business.

The youngster set up a wooden stand along busy Route 20, but after he sat behind the counter nearly all day his gross receipts amounted to 15 cents.

School Refuses to Cool Room for Sick Child

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — The Polk County School Board has reluctantly denied a father's plea that a first grade classroom be air-conditioned because his son has a "one in a million" condition — no sweat glands.

W. L. Garner of Winter Haven asked for the air conditioning because his son cannot be outside it for more than 30 minutes without suffering. The cost, he said, would be about $693.

Board members said that it would be impossible to air condition only one room.

They said policy is that if an air-conditioner is furnished at no cost to the schools, it could be installed and used.

French Need Lovelorn Advice

PARIS (UPI) — Foreigners may think that French lovers are wise and all-seeing.

But the popularity of advice to the lovelorn columns in newspapers and magazines here shows the French have their share of the problems of "amour."

One French "Dorothy Dix" is Marcelle Segal who gives out advice in the women's magazine "Elle" with a unique Gallic flavor.

A 60-year-old grandmother, for example, wrote that her husband, 63, had acquired a mistress.

HOUSE OF THREE

Although the couple quarrelled over the other woman, the husband continued to have his household of three, or "menage a trois," as they call it in this country.

The wife asked columnist Segal, "Should I divorce him?"

The husband is "without strength" so "you must have strength," Mme. Segal replied.

"Decide which you prefer: an amiable husband, a comfortable life, an appearance of happiness. Or a divorce, solitude, a broken family, the rupture of 35 years of cherished habits.

"Which is the least worse? You are too realistic not to see that in divorcing him, you punish yourself. Let the poor fool go his way — he can't go far."

A letter from a 24-year-old wife said she suspected her husband was in love with her best friend.

"Your husband is perhaps faithful, your friend probably loyal," the advice was. "Do not search to make your suspicions a certainty by playing detective. You will be happier. Furthermore, it's a good practice, whether they are faithful or not."

* * *

Then there was a letter from a young man who had been in love with a beautiful girl in Paris for six months.

THE STRIPPER

But "one day in front of a night club on the Rue Pigalle I recognized her in a photo as a strip-tease dancer."

"This was a shock for me . . ." the anguished man wrote.

Mme. Segal replied to "go to see the cabaret show to see if it is she.

"If it isn't, the incident is closed," she wrote. "If it is she, I will say to you only that foolish jobs are done often by brave people.

* * *

"I remember one nude dancer who, when dressed, was a modest girl, a good wife and mother. She wore her costume of Eve with seriousness. It was her work outfit!"

TEENS, TOO

Teen-agers with love and parent problems unburden their hearts to "Elle" and other publications more often than other age groups. One girl, 17, wrote "Elle" that she was in love with a 19-year-old "gadabout" and "conceited fellow" and wondered how to win "this rare pearl."

Mme. Segal snapped he was no rare pearl.

"Show him a pin but don't stick him with it," she advised. "If he is a gadabout, follow his 'race' with interest but don't take part in it. Observe the starters, make your bets but never be in the race.

* * *

"Be a girl apart, a girl who never begs for a date . . . be a girl who is visibly interested in him, but also visibly isn't in a state of suffering over him. . .

"This," concluded the Paris lovelorn expert, "will cause him to be respectful and considerate."

Cuba Refugees Say Castro Boat Hit

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Anti-Castro "commandos" in Cuba "almost totally destroyed" a Russian-built patrol boat on Monday, refugee sources said today.

Rafael Martinez Pupo, leader of a group that calls itself the Mambises Commandos, described the wrecked craft as a P6 torpedo boat, which he said had been used to intercept refugees trying to flee Cuba by sea.

"Our fight has begun," Martinez said. "Today as yesterday, we appeal to our compatriots to use every opportunity to destroy all the production centers of the common enemy."

Mrs. Tippit Hurt in Crash

PARIS, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. J. D. Tippit, whose husband was killed by President Kennedy's accused assassin, was injured yesterday during a Christmas trip to visit her husband's family.

* * *

She received a small cut and a bruise on her head when the car she was driving collided with another car as she was turning into a service station.

* * *

Police Sgt. Steve Dockery said Mrs. Tippit required a stitch for her head wound, but that her three children were not hurt in the accident.

The driver of the other car, 22-year-old Delbert Miller of Paris, was uninjured in the wreck.

GOING TO VISIT

Mrs. Tippit and her children were driving to Clarksville, Tex. to visit the Edgar Tippits, her slain husband's parents.

Dockery said about $400 damage was done to the Tippit car, and that $50 damage was done to the Miller vehicle. He said Mrs. Tippit's father-in-law drove from Clarksville and took the family to his home.

* * *

Dockery said the accident was still under investigation.

'Life Sentence' for Jailed Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—John F. Everhart, 41, an escaped convict who was for five years on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals, got married Christmas Day—in County Jail.

* * *

Everhart is fighting extradition to Georgia, where in 1958 he escaped from a work camp after serving two years of a life sentence for killing another man in an argument over a woman.

* * *

Over a prison telephone, Everhart exchanged vows with Pearly Cline, 38, who has visited him regularly since he was picked up by FBI agents in San Francisco last Nov. 6. He had been living as a house painter in San Francisco since his escape.

Everhart said he had always told Pearly he would marry her in a minute ever since they met two years ago.

* * *

"She sure took me up on it this time," he said, grinning at his bride through a glass partition at the jail. "She came up with the preacher and my attorney and I just couldn't wait to say, 'I do.'

"This was some Christmas present."

* * *

After the ceremony the bride expressed confidence that her husband's fight to stay in California would be successful.

The more than 22,000,000 women workers in the United States make up one-third of the entire employed civilian population of the country.

French Open Terrorist Trial

De Gaulle Death Plot, Overthrow Charged

PARIS (UPI) — Ex-Col. Antoine Argoud, 49, a former tank corps commander with a brilliant record in World War II, faced trial today on charges of plotting to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle and overthrow the government.

Argoud's trial was set for the heavily guarded Palace of Justice, the same building near which he was found bound and gagged in a small panel truck 10 months ago.

Security surrounding the court was stepped up amid fears someone might try to kill the handsome former officer to avenge the deaths of Moslems during the fighting that preceded independence in Algeria.

Argoud could be sentenced to death.

CLAIM TERRORISM

The government claims Argoud deserted the French Army in 1961 and joined the terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS), which fought against Algerian independence.

The government charges he took control within France of the OAS and its political arm, the National Resistance Council (CNR), on the orders of ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, imprisoned OAS leader.

Argoud claims he was kidnaped by French secret agents last Feb. 25 in Munich, Germany, beaten and driven across the Franco-German border in violation of international law.

The French government claims he was turned over to police by disgruntled fellow terrorists.

GERMAN CRITICISM

The case aroused critical reaction in Germany, where the opposition Social Democratic patry has demanded Argoud be returned to Germany as a political exile.

Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, director of Argoud's defense, has maintained the trial should be dismissed on grounds Argoud was kidnaped and brought to trial illegally.

Tixier-Vignancour is well known in France for his defense of rightists.

He also defended Salan and fellow OAS leader ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud. Both are currently serving prison terms.

Safari Sam Is Due Home; Hot Diggety Dawg

WASHINGTON (AP) — Definitely not Eric the dachshund, Sam the dachshund is coming home Friday to Maxwell C. Moulton.

Sam wound up in Africa when Ellen Loeb, wife of James Loeb Jr., U. S. ambassador to Guinea, was given Sam instead of Eric at a pet hospital in Washington Friday. The Loebs then left for Guinea with Sam in tow.

Yesterday, Moulton said Sam will be flown directly from Senegal to New York and then immediately to Washington.

Some for Just Inflation

Cost to Educate Child Up This Year

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON — The average cost of educating a child in the public schools this school year is $352, an increase of $17 or 5 per cent over last year, the magazine School Management reported today.

The magazine said only $7 of the increase will be spent for better education, with the other $10 being used simply to offset the effects of inflation.

Furno estimates that public schools across the country will spend $20.3 billion this school year, including the costs of school transportation, building and equipping new schools, and paying off old school debts.

AVERAGE COST

The average cost per pupil for bus transportation is $16, and Furno said the school districts will spend $47 per pupil for new school construction this school year. These costs are in addition to the $352-per-pupil expenditure.

School debts, mostly long term bonds for school construction, totaled $388 per pupil in the average school district as of last Sept. 1. Almost 10 per cent of the country's school districts were in debt $1,000 for each pupil enrolled.

The magazine said New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are spending the top per-pupil figure, $482. This is about 42 per cent above the national average.

The second-highest spending region was California, Oregon, Washington, Hawaii and Alaska with a per-pupil expenditure of $390, 11 per cent above the national average.

Only one of the nine listed geographical areas surveyed showed a decline in spending from the previous school year. School Management said expenditures in the South Central region — Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky — were $200 per pupil, compared with $204 for the 1962-63 school year. As in the past, this is the lowest per-pupil expenditure of any region.

The magazine said only 10 per cent of the nation's school districts have salary scales which make it possible for classroom teachers to earn more than $9,500 a year.

The average teacher will earn $5,837 this school year, School Management said. The average starting salary was listed as $4,600 and the average maximum salary, $7,307.

Bulgarian Is on Trial in Spy Case

VIENNA (UPI) — A former Bulgarian diplomat who allegedly supported his mistresses by selling military secrets to the United States went on trial in Sofia today, according to Bulgarian telegraph agency reports received here.

The Communist agency claimed the defendant, Ivan-Assen Hristov Georgiev, 56, "made a complete confession of his spy activity" during pre-trial investigations. He appeared before the Bulgarian supreme court.

Bulgarian authorities have charged that Georgiev received about $200,000 from the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) for carrying out espionage missions in New York and Europe.

* * *

The former diplomat was counselor to the Bulgarian mission at the United Nations for five years until 1961, and also headed the International Institute of Space Law. He was arrested last September, the agency said.

MORALLY ROTTEN

The agency called him "politically and morally rotten to the marrow of his bones" and said he was "a most malicious enemy and traitor to the Bulgarian people."

"For many years Assen Georgiev has been indulging in an immoral sort of life," it said. "He had criminal and immoral connections with many loose women and supported several mistresses both in Bulgaria and abroad."

According to the agency, he fed the United States "important" Bulgarian political, economic and military secrets. It said he met secretly with CIA agents and sent clandestine messages out of Bulgaria to a radio center in Greece operated by U. S. intelligence.

* * *

About 30 witnesses were called to testify in the trial, the agency said.

School's Dean Dead

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Myron M. Weaver, 62, dean of Union University's graduate school, died Wednesday of a heart attack. Weaver had taught at the universities of Chicago, West Virginia, and Minnesota, Loyola of Chicago and Carleton College in Minnesota.

Taiwan's exports in the first seven months of this year reached a record total of $22.8 million.

Planter Is Prettier With Ceramic Tile

If you are following the trend to indoor planters, featuring living plants, be sure your planter is impervious to water erosion.

Even with good drainage, and that's important, the planter should be surfaced with a waterproof material such as ceramic tile. Real ceramic tile offers the home builder an extra bonus of color and design that can fit any room recor.

Ceramic tile is now available in more than 250 colors and an infinite number of design patterns.

The first German submarine, built in 1850, is being repaired at Rostock, East Germany, to be shown in a military museum.

Confusing Will

Dodge Leaves Mystery

DETROIT (UPI) — Horace E. Dodge Jr., playboy heir to a multimillion-dollar auto fortune, was laid to rest today, leaving behind something of an enigma.

Funeral service for Dodge was at the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. Burial was at the Dodge family mausoleum in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Dodge, 63, died Sunday in Jennings Memorial Hospital of cardiac failure. He had been in failing health in recent years. The former racing boat driver and dashing society figure was the son of one of two brothers who founded the auto company bearing their name (now a division of Chrysler Corp.)

* * *

Complications followed the filing of his 18-page will in probate court Monday.

SEVERAL MILLIONS

The will begins by saying that if he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna T. Dodge, the will is "null and void." The will then goes on to make bequests of several millions of dollars.

Had Dodge survived his mother, the estate would have been around $65 million. However, Dodge had only $2 million of his own money.

"We will pay as many of the bequests as possible and that's it," said Dodge's attorney and confidant, Douglas Leo Paterson.

OTHER PROBLEMS

There were other complications.

In one portion of the will, Dodge specifies that, should he die first, his estate be distributed in the same manner as if he had died without a will.

This would mean, attorneys said, that Miss Sherwood would inherit one-third of the estate and his five children would divide equally the remaining two-thirds.

* * *

However, Paterson said, a prenuptial agreement between Dodge and Miss Sherwood "provides specifically that she is to receive $1 million if she is living with him at the time of his death."

* * *

The couple was separated and a divorce suit instituted by Dodge was pending in court at the time of his death. She was awarded $6,250 a month in a bitter court case over support last year.

3 Hospitalized After Mishap

Two Cars Collide on Christmas Day

Three persons were hospitalized after an automobile accident at Telegraph and Long Lake roads yesterday afternoon.

Carl Schou, 55, of 438 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills, was in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning. He is being treated for multiple injuries.

Schou's car collided with one driven by Alvin D. Hercher, 47, of Dearborn.

* * *

A 22-year-old Iron Mountain man who was thrown through the windshield of Hercher's car is in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

MULTIPLE CUTS

Loren Johnson suffered multiple facial and scalp cuts.

Also injured was Hercher's 18-year-old daughter Beth. In satisfactory condition this morning she was treated for a compound fracture of the nose.

* * *

Bloomfield Township police, who were unable to interview who were unable to interview Schou following the accident, are continuing their investigation.

Dishwasher Can Mean Free Hours

Would you like to save 225 working hours a year and never have to do dishes again?

You may feel that owning a dishwasher is a luxury, but once you've used one you will realize that it is well worth the original cost.

This appliance is not only a labor-saver, but sanitizes your dishes more thoroughly than possible by hand-washing (thus reducing the possibility of reinfection from colds) and cuts the number of broken dishes dropped by slippery, soapy hands.

* * *

Operating costs are low too, an estimated 3 to 5 cents per load for the hot water, detergent and electricity used to operate the dishwasher — not much more expensive than doing dishes by hand.

ONE AVAILABLE

There is a dishwasher available that is just right for your home, and the manufacturers keep improving upon a good thing.

Today's dishwashers sport such innovations as new style rack to allow random loading; a variety of washing cycles to take care of all loads ranging from fine china to pots and pans; dispensers for detergents and rinsing agents and even a plate-warming cycle to heat dinner plates.

Esteemed Doctor Once Missed Spleen and Got a Kidney

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON — You might be inclined to predict a doubtful future in surgery for a young intern who mistook a cat's kidney for its spleen in a laboratory experiment — and therefore removed the wrong organ.

But Dr. Charles Stanley White, now 86, long since has won national esteem in the medical profession. He has done so as surgeon, researcher, teacher, hospital administrator and author of more than 100 scientific reports.

White still performs several surgical operations a week. It's largely due to pressure of other duties in an 8-to-5 o'clock, seven-day schedule that he has restricted his work with the scalpel.

Nine years ago, at age 77, he was performing as many as seven operations daily. It was the skill of his hands that perhaps saved the life of Rep. Alvin Bentley, R-Mich., one night in 1954—only hours after Bentley and four other congressmen were shot down by Puerto Rican revolutionaries who sprayed bullets from the House of Representatives gallery.

PUBLISHED MEMOIRS

For these, and other reasons, there might be interest and inspiration and certainly plenty of chuckles in the recently published memoirs of this gentle, witty man.

But the little volume is a privately published affair—not for sale—with only about 500 copies printed as gifts for White's friends and colleagues.

★ ★ ★

You have to read between the lines of White's story to appreciate that he was one of the world's pioneers in such techniques as:

★ ★ ★

—Opening the chest and manually massaging the human heart to overcome sudden stoppage.

★ ★ ★

—Reviving people from clinical death during surgery by forcing blood up through the arteries to the heart instead of the usual method of transfusion into the veins.

★ ★ ★

—Preparing human blood plasma as a substitute for whole blood.

WORDS FLOW

White's words flow when he recounts some of his experiences of more than 60 years in practice, dating from the days when horse-drawn ambulances clanged through the streets of the nation's capital.

White, who has records of more than 50,000 surgical and medical cases in his personal files, has always practiced in Washington.

★ ★ ★

He served in various hospitals including that of his alma mater, George Washington University, and was one of the founders and presently is chairman of the board of Doctors' Hospital.

Years ago, he struck a bargain concerning his own funeral eulogy.

NO CHARGE

Recalling that a minister from a small town in Virginia needed an operation and inquired about the expense, White says it's an unwritten law among doctors never to charge clergymen.

★ ★ ★

"So I told the minister I'd make a bargain with him: I would make no charge for the operation if he would preach my funeral service gratis.

★ ★ ★

"He replied in all seriousness 'Doctor, I will be glad to do it.' The agreement has not been canceled."

Dr. Brandstadt Says: Polluted Air Is Carrier of Death

Every 24 hours you breathe in about 15,000 quarts of air, weighing about 10 times as much as the food you put into your stomach in a day.

BRANDSTADT

The quality of this air varies greatly with geographic location and weather conditions.

Pollution of this air is a complex problem that has been with us ever since people began burning fires.

★ ★ ★

In the past 20 years, many acute reactions have been caused by smog.

The intensity of smog sickness depends on its concentration and duration.

Perhaps the worst catastrophe due to smog occurred in London in 1952 when about 4,000 persons died of it in a five-week period.

Such disasters make a profound impression on the inhabitants of a city and usually result in some type of corrective action.

But it is foolhardy to wait for tragedy to strike before applying preventive measures.

According to Surgeon General Luther L. Terry of the U. S. Public Health Service, nearly every community of 2,500 or more inhabitants has an air pollution problem.

He was referring not to smog but to invisible pollution.

The effects of long term exposure to poisons in the air are not easy to evaluate, but there is real evidence that they constitute a real threat to health.

What are these poisons? All of them have not been identified yet, but some of the most prevalent do not come from industry.

SUN ON EXHAUST

The action of sunlight on the exhaust gases from our automobiles produce ozone.

This and the carbon dioxide, which is also found in exhaust gas, are dangerous poisons.

A farmer who lives near a toll road or expressway may be exposed to more air pollution than a person dwelling in a suburb of a highly industrial city.

★ ★ ★

Even in cities where the industrial smog problem is greatest, the burning of leaves by home owners, outdoor trash incinerators, and improperly fired home furnaces account for much of the pollution.

3,000 KINDS

These include oxides of sulfur and of nitrogen. In all, about 3,000 different chemicals have been found in the air in various areas.

We don't know the specific effects of all of these substances on the human body.

Many of them may be harmless in the quantities found but there is plenty of evidence that many of them are capable of causing serious illness.

Lakonia's Last Hours Were Happy--Then Tragedy Struck

LONDON (AP) — England bundled up against a cold snap as the 20,314-ton Greek liner Lakonia slipped out of Southhampton, headed for Madeira, the Canary Islands—and sunshine—on a Christmas cruise.

An atmosphere of calm gentility and folksy cheer pervaded the ship as the 658 passengers—most of them British—and 369 crew members set out. There were 34 children, going home from school for Christmas or traveling with their families.

★ ★ ★

Half the passengers had signed for the full 5-week voyage, paying up to $1,055. The rest were going to the islands.

Harry Knight sold his house in Stockport last year and at 70 became a wanderer. He had been to Switzerland, Scotland and the Island of Jersey.

HEALTH CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Calvert, from the grimy northern town of Nelson, were cruising for their health. Calvert is a diabetic. His wife, 46, injured her hand in a weaving mill accident. After 16 operations, it was still in a cast. Mrs. Calvert's accident compensation paid for their trip.

Gertrude Moore, who runs a London pub, was back for a third voyage aboard the Lakonia, this time with her daughter, Pauline, a model.

And there were the usual honeymooners—three sets of them. Anthony Pitcher and his bride, married Thursday morning, the day the liner sailed, had kept their destination a secret.

It was to be a lazy, sunny Christmas. Breakfast in bed, tea in a tapestry-hung lounge. In the evening, they dressed for dinner.

RECREATION FOR ALL

There was dancing for the young. Swimming, shuffleboard and deck tennis during the day.

On Friday, Dec. 20, the first day out, there was a boat drill. No one seems to remember exactly how it was conducted. The crew had been through a boat drill before sailing. Capt. Daniel Jones of the British Sea Transport Department was told by his inspectors that it was "very satisfactory." They did not conduct a formal inspection of the ship. It carried a Greek certificate of seaworthiness.

★ ★ ★

The Lakonia plowed along at 17 knots. Saturday, in the Bay of Biscay, was still rough and cold. Sunday the sun began to pink British backs.

In one lounge, the ship's social director had organized a party for young people—they came dressed as hobos. There was carol singing in another lounge, a movie in a third. Most older passengers had retired, Monday was to be a big day of sightseeing in Madeira.

SPOTS SMOKE

Just before 11 p.m. a steward spotted smoke seeping under the doors of the ship's barber shop. He flung open the doors and fell back before flames.

The fire raced through passageways toward the staterooms.

★ ★ ★

Capt. Mathios Zarbis, a veteran of 15 years with the Greek line, was sitting in the main saloon near Edward Stead, 68, a retired British army colonel. Stead saw the captain race toward the door. He smelled smoke, heard the alarm bells and knew at once what was happening.

Mrs. Moore and her daughter also were nearby. They rushed below to get their winter woolies.

Ivor S. Buchanan, an American, and his wife Dorothy had retired early. He pulled a suit over his pajamas. She put his coat over her slip. "What a hell of a time to have a fire drill," he thought.

In the radio room, operator Alexis Kalogridis junked the Christmas messages he was sending for passengers. He switched to the automatic emergency transmitter and began tapping out: "Fire spreading up. Prepare evacuation on ship." It was 11:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

At 22 minutes after midnight Kalogridis sent out the final, anguished call: "SOS from Lakonia last time. I cannot stay any more in the wireless station. We are leaving the ship. Please immediate assistance. Please help."

Then he dashed to the lifeboat deck, already crowded with passengers and crew milling about in pajamas and anything they had thrown on. Some women still wore their jewels and evening gowns.

CONFUSION OR PANIC

Whether the confusion merited the name of panic—as some passengers claimed—was a matter of dispute. There were contrasting reports of heroism and hectic scrambling.

★ ★ ★

The swimming pool attendant tied a rope to his feet, had himself lowered head downward and pulled several children from smoke-filled cabins. The children's nurse took off her lifejacket and slipped it around 3-year-old Freddy Pooke. He and his parents spent the night in a swamped lifeboat, up to their necks in water.

★ ★ ★

Buchanan and his wife got into a boat; another was almost lowered on top of it.

In Col. Stead's boat, they had to hack away at a rusted cable to get free of the ship.

LANGUAGE BARRIER

Communication between passengers and the Greek and German crew broke down because of language difficulties. To M. R. Lovat of London, the babbling was disgraceful—"the crew screamed their head off for five solid hours." C. Charles Fitton promised himself never again to sail on a foreign ship: "When you are in a disaster situation, you want to know what people are talking about," he said.

Smoke prevented the lowering of four boats. Others swamped in the swells. When the last boat was away, about 80 passengers and 40 crew members were still aboard. They huddled on the after deck all night, but as flames spread aft, they were ordered over the side. Gerd Punkrope, a purser, was in this group. He said most of those who perished probably were in it, too.

Last to leave was the captain. One passenger said she saw him wandering around with tears streaming down his face. The master of a Belgian freighter saw the captain pacing alone on the tilting deck and sent a boat to pick him up.

The flames that killed the Lakonia saved her passengers. Said Capt. Jose Barrere of the Argentine freighter Salta: "We got the wrong position and could have missed the Lakonia. But the fire guided us in like a lighthouse."

The Salta was the heroine of the sea drama. First on the scene, she picked up 475 survivors.

★ ★ ★

As dawn broke Monday, the Atlantic waters were crowded with rescue ships, eventually a score. The Lakonia was a drifting, burning ghost ship, a magnet for salvage tugs.

The British aircraft carrier Centaur put an engineer aboard by helicopter. He found the quarterdeck and two decks below burned away, and the superstructure caved in amidships. But the hull seemed sound and the ship ready for a refit.

Mrs. Moore, the cruise addict, was back at her pub Wednesday night. But she told customers she'll be aboard the Lakonia again.

'VERY HAPPY'

"I have been very happy on the Lakonia," she said. "I think there was just something unfortunate about this."

The Lakonia's owners announced today that 896 persons were known to have been saved from the disaster, 89 were known dead and 42 still were not accounted for. This added to 1,027, in contrast to previous reports that said 1,036 were aboard the ship.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the line said some crew members had not turned up for the sailing from Southampton Dec. 19.

Two Moroccan airliners landed 158 surviving passengers in London Wednesday night. Today 125 passengers and 140 crew members sailed from Madeira for London aboard another Greek liner, the Arkadia.

★ ★ ★

Other survivors were waiting in Madeira, Casablanca and the Canary Islands for transportation.

The burned wreck of the Lakonia was reported being towed by the Norwegian tug Herkules. The tug radioed that a rising southwesterly gale was making the salvage operation difficult.

Christmas Given to Impoverished

HAZARD, Ky. (AP) — "They don't have Christmas in Kentucky.

There's no holly on a West Virginia door.

For the trees don't twinkle when you're hungry.

And the jingle bells don't jingle when you're poor."

Some heard that carol on the sidewalks of New York and other cities, and it brought them to the snowy mountains of eastern Kentucky bearing gifts.

MINER FAMILIES

The gifts went to impoverished families of miners. The decline of the coal business has made this area one of the most economically depressed in the United States.

"They just needed help desperately," said Diane Glasser, 17, of Jamaica, N. Y., a student at Hunter College in New York City.

Forty students distributed food, clothing, money and toys.

The students collected funds at their campuses. They came from New York, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania.

CAROL COMPOSER

With them was Phil Ochs, 23, a folksinger from New York's Greenwich Village and composer of the carol which inspired the mission of mercy.

"Most of us never had come into contact with a situation like this before," said Alma Moy, 19, of New York City, a Barnard College student.

"We have been amazed and gratified by the warmth with which we have been greeted," said Joel Fredericson, 19, Cleveland, a Columbia College student.

★ ★ ★

Fredericson said some students planned to visit Washington and seek federal help for the area. The federal government announced Monday it would spend $8.7 million to give the coalfields' people vocational training.

Mardi Gras Meant for Mirth...and So On

By LOUIS MILLINER
Written for Hal Boyle

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) This may come as a surprise, but some persons just can't stand Mardi Gras.

They can take it if necessary. They have to take it if an important business associate pops in from out of town and expects to be taken for a tour of Bourbon Street and then exposed to a Mardi Gras parade.

★ ★ ★

Strictly speaking, Mardi Gras is only one day, the tumultuous climax of myth, mirth and fantasy on Shrove Tuesday. Carnival refers to the entire celebration.

The purist insists on the distinction, but for the public in general and visitors in particular, Mardi Gras means parades and the accompanying frenzy.

'THROW SOMETHING'

When thousands along the parade route yell at maskers on floats: "Throw me something!" and then scramble childlike for Japanese gewgaws and Czech baubles, the Mardi Gras-haters are absent.

An introverted Mardi Gras-hater will murmur something about a splitting headache that kept him from the cheering throngs. An extrovert will put it bluntly: "I didn't go; I hate parades."

Some dislike Mardi Gras solely because it disrupts traffic. Admittedly it does snarl street traffic, bus and street car schedules are temporarily interrupted, every parking space is filled and some parking lots seize the opportunity to add a bit to their fees.

Some swore off Mardi Gras when they became embittered while standing in a cold drizzle waiting for a parade only to find it had been canceled because of the weather.

WRONG PLACE

Some gave up Mardi Gras when they stood for hours in the wrong place, footsore and frustrated, unware that the parade route had been changed.

If it is absolutely necessary to leave the house during Mardi Gras, the hater will drive miles out of his way. Even so, he is likely to find himself halted suddenly by an unexpected six-block neighborhood marching society.

★ ★ ★

Bbt for one who hates, there are thousands who wouldn't think of missing a minute of the Greatest Free Show on Earth.

See you next Mardi Gras. It'll be Feb. 11.

Bank Merger OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon approved Monday a merger of Peoples National Bank & Trust Co. of Bay City, Mich., and Pinconning State Bank of Pinconning, Mich.

Ex-Rodeo Star, 101, Dies With His Boots On

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Al Bobbitt, who rode horses until he was 98, died with his boots on Christmas Day as he sat rocking on a porch. He was 101.

A stroke was the cause of death. No close relatives survive.

★ ★ ★

Bobbitt, a native of Kentucky, served as a deputy U.S. marshal in the Cherokee Strip of Oklahoma before the land rush. He later was a rodeo performer.

"He was wearing his favorite blue Western outfit when he died," said Frances Jent, operator of a guest home where Bobbitt lived.

Invasion No Secret, Historian Claims

Did Hitler Know About Dieppe Raid?

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON (NEA)—The Dieppe raid, in which 3,372 Canadian commandos were either killed, wounded or taken prisoner, was one of the bloodiest Allied disasters of World War II.

The failure of the Dieppe invasion of August 1942 usually is put down to a combination of bad planning and bad luck. But now it appears that Hitler may have been warned of the raid in advance.

Not only had the Germans broken the British naval code before the Dieppe raid, but they also may have received inside information concerning the raid from an Allied source.

★ ★ ★

Such is the view of David Irving, a young British historian, who has been examining captured German war documents.

CONTROVERSY

In fact, Irving, who is the author of a best-seller on the bombing of Dresden, has kicked up quite a controversy with his findings.

Among others, Capt. Stephen Roskill, the official British naval historian, denies the possibility that Hitler was tipped off in advance.

It was the German victories against Russia which caused Hitler to anticipate an Allied attack on the French coast, according to Roskill.

★ ★ ★

The dictator correctly estimated that the Allies would attack in order to relieve Nazi pressure in the east, he claims. This, and not a security leak, explains the German high state of readiness in Normandy, says Capt. Roskill.

GERMANS WAITING

Certainly the Germans were waiting for the 5,000 men of the 2nd Canadian Division when they waded ashore at Dieppe at dawn on August 19, 1942.

Some of them never reached the beach. Others died in the sand dunes where British honeymooners had once picnicked.

Those who made the shore met with only limited success. They occupied the casino, blasted snipers out of boarded-up hotels, destroyed gun emplacements.

★ ★ ★

Many Canadians were shot down in Dieppe's narrow streets, or staggered, wounded back to the beach.

SHOW OVER

Nine hours after it started, the show was all over. The survivors backed off the flaming beach, leaving behind 593 dead commandos, 1,901 Canadians who were taken prisoner. Another 287 men were reported missing, while 591 wounded managed to get back to England.

★ ★ ★

Admiral Mountbatten, who had planned the raid, tried to make a victory out of it. "It is impossible to overestimate the value of the Dieppe raid," he cried.

"Many vital lessons were learned . . . I have no doubt that the Battle of Normandy was won on the beaches of Dieppe."

Mountbatten also denied that the Germans were tipped off to the raid in advance. "So little were the Germans suspecting an actual raid on this day, that they had given unusually late leave to the fighter pilots stationed in the vicinity."

HITLER KNEW

But Irving claims that Hitler not only knew that the assault would take place on Dieppe, but he knew the approximate date.

According to the historian, Hitler, in a top secret dispatch, warned his commander-in-chief of the impending raid just five weeks before it happened.

Hitler said that an Allied landing was indicated by "a flood of reports from agents in Britain and other intelligence sources." He also spoke of a "strong concentration of assault craft in southern England."

The fuehrer concluded: "This is most urgent — the Channel coast area Dieppe-Le Havre-Normandy is held to be in particular danger, as this sector can be easily reached by the enemy air force with fighter cover."

Then on August 17, two days before the Dieppe raid, Luftwaffe squadron and wing commanders were summoned to a conference by Lieut. Gen. Kessler, director of Atlantic operations.

They were told that the Allies were planning to launch a five-pronged attack.

★ ★ ★

Dieppe was to be the center of the attack, while sideshow attacks were to be launched in order to cut the town off from the flank and the rear.

As it happened, this was exactly the strategy which the Canadians, under command of Maj. Gen. John Hamilton Roberts, pursued. The result has sometimes been described as futile as the charge of the Light Brigade.

Pop Bottles Halt Bandit

Ex-Convict Held in Crime Spree Probe

DETROIT (AP) — An east-side grocer and his wounded brother, both armed with pop bottles, subdued an armed hold-up man Wednesday, and ended what police believed to be an eight-hour crime spree involving four other holdups and another shooting.

★ ★ ★

Held for investigation of armed robbery was a man identified through his fingerprints as Charles A. Sawyer, 36, an ex-convict.

The brothers, Joseph Qsar, 36, owner of the Bayview Market, and Eddie Qsar, 24, a student at Spring Arbor Junior College, told police the bandit came into the store, pulled a gun and demanded money.

GRABS KNIFE

Eddie, home for the holidays, was in the rear of the store. He grabbed a knife and advanced on the robber. But the holdup man spotted Eddie, threatened him, and pulled the trigger. The gun misfired. The bandit fired again, this time hitting Eddie in the stomach.

★ ★ ★

The brothers grabbed pop bottles and knocked the bandit unconscious before he could shoot again. Police said the bandit refused to talk, but was identified as the same man who shot a gas station attendant, Taylor Holloway, 53, of Detroit, about eight hours earlier. Detectives said he also may be the same man who held up three cab drivers between the two robberies.

GOOD CONDITION

Eddie Qsar was reported in good condition at Detroit's Receiving Hosiital. Holloway was listed in fair condition at the same hospital.

★ ★ ★

Police said Sawyer was paroled from Southern Michigan Prison last September where he had been serving 1-5 years for gross indecency. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Receiving.

Heiress Wed, for 4th Time to Film Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria Vanderbilt, the heiress, has married her fourth husband. He's Wyatt Emeroy Cooper, a movie writer.

The private civil ceremony in Arlington, Va., Tuesday was announced here by her attorney. It is Cooper's first marriage. Both he and Gloria are 39.

★ ★ ★

Miss Vanderbilt was divorced four months ago from stage and screen director Sidney Lumet, now the husband of Gail Jones, daughter of Negro singer Lena Horne.

★ ★ ★

Miss Vanderbilt's earlier marriages were to Pat DiCicco, a Hollywood agent, and symphony conductor Leopold Stokowski. Both ended in divorce. She has two children from the Stokowski marriage.

Noted Lawyer Dead

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Charles A. Beardley, 81, president of the American Bar Association in 1939, died Sunday. He had been a lecturer at Stanford University and attorney for the Oakland Port Commission.

Remember When?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Windshield wipers on automobiles used to be simple devices — a rubber blade operated by a wooden handle which was arched back and forth either by the driver's free hand, or an obliging passenger.

A television recorder, which records programs at a particular time and stores it on tape to be played at the viewer's convenience, has been devised.

France Faces Algeria Refugee Task

PARIS (NEA)—They are clustered in the cities and scattered through the towns of southern France.

Their numbers diminish farther north in places like Paris, because they are the refugees from the African sun.

And, like wasps trapped behind a window pane, try as they may, they cannot get back to the warmth.

* * *

There were 900,000 byproducts of Algerian independence last year.

FAMILIES FLED

Men, women and children fled across the Mediterranean into France — a country which most had never seen, despite their French citizenship.

Most were running in fear from the expected wrath of the Algerian Moslems, a wrath sharpened in years of bloody civil war against the French and as a result of O.A.S. terror tactics.

One of these refugees was Odette Mamery, sitting now in Paris, sipping a cup of coffee with sugar in that deliberate and slow manner of French women everywhere.

* * *

Odette, 19, described those final hectic hours:

LEFT EVERYTHING

"After waiting two days at the airfield in Algeria, mother and I were lucky enough to get aboard a plane. We had left everything behind — a roomy villa, an automobile, most of our clothes.

"We each carried one suitcase, that's all.

"When we arrived in Paris we stayed two weeks with friends, while we searched frantically for a place to live more or less permanently. Three months later I found a job as a secretary."

* * *

The problem of what to do with these newly acquired citizens like Odette, to whom France is a bewildering, strange, often unfriendly place, will take some time to solve.

The Ministry of Repatriation, specially created to deal with the Algerian exodus, was granted an appropriation of $300 million to help.

Little by little things are straightening out. But according to several refugees interviewed, the shortage of housing, especially for the white collar class, is acute.

Families of five and six living in two rooms are frequent, and rents are high.

* * *

On the other hand, employment bureaus run by the government are very active and practically every able-bodied man or woman can find some sort of a job.

HUMAN PROBLEM

All the same, the problem France has had to face is the very human one of assimilating a people who officially are French with all the rights of a citizen but who do not consider themselves so and are not accepted by the French themselves.

For the middle-aged "pieds noirs," (black feet), as they are called, there is no question of being absorbed in the population here.

They cling together stubbornly and already have grouped themselves into small communities corresponding to the towns and districts where they lived in Algeria.

* * *

The pieds noirs in Paris have adopted several cafes on the outer boulevards and in the business district.

ALGERIAN SECTION

The busy, narrow Rue de Monmartre leading up from the Halles quarter is now almost entirely peopled by Algerians who have bought up the small businesses such as laundries, groceries, butchers' shops and restaurants.

Come closing time they go to the cafes to drink their favorite anisette aperitif or drag chairs outside their shops, just as they were accustomed to do back home.

Few Algerians have ventured north of Paris. Many of them have settled along the Riviera or in the hinterland of southern France and of Provence.

* * *

A goodly number of ex-settler-refugees are wealthy. They are those who transferred their assets to France in the months before independence.

MULTIPLE HOLDINGS

They have bought farms and vineyards or olive groves. Again, the uprooted settler can claim substantial benefits from the government, from loans to help him start in business, free medical aid to generous unemployment allowance, and priority in finding jobs and housing.

All these advantages cause much bitterness among the French population, especially those families whose priority on housing lists has been displaced in favor of the Algerian "intruders."

The bitterness of war, international or civil, often lingers for generations.

No better case study of this grim fact is offered than by France and its 900,000 refugees.

Take Yardstick When You Shop for New Home

When shopping for a new home bring a yardstick or folding ruler with you, advises William J. Levitt, home-builder of entire towns.

Printed plans give over-all room sizes but many key dimensions are not listed and a ruler is necessary to measure proper depths and widths, Levitt says.

For example, clothes closets should be 24 inches deep. Less depth cramps hanging suits and more represents waste space.

Halls should be at least 36 inches wide so that large pieces of furniture can be moved in and out.

The ideal distance between facing kitchen counters is four and one-half feet, according to Levitt.

All work areas can then be reached conveniently with the minimum number of steps.

Shows Four Movies, One to a Customer

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP)—Maybe the whole thing was too scary. An area drive-in theater offered four thriller movies in a single evening's showing. Wind and rain added atmosphere. Only three cars came in.

India's industrial output in the 1961-62 fiscal year rose by 4.6 per cent, compared with 11.1 per cent in 1950-61.

The fastest boat in history was Bluebird II which did 260.35 miles per hour on an English lake in 1959.

Record Auto Year Seen

In a year-end statement on the 1964 outlook for the auto industry, Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler Corp. president, sees good times ahead for his firm and all car makers.

"Sales of passenger cars and trucks have broken all records in 1963," he said. "There is every reason for believing that automotive sales in 1964 will reach approximately the same level achieved in 1963."

Townsend predicted auto sales next year will go beyond 7.7 million units, with retail sales of imported cars estimated at 380,000.

* * *

He said this will far exceed the banner year of 1955 when 7.17 million actual registrations were reported.

IN THE MOOD

Townsend said not only does the general economic upswing encourage auto sales, but people are in a car-buying mood, more cars must be built to replace those wearing out, more young people are reaching driving age, and suburb commuting and freeway travel stimulate car ownership.

To meet the challenge, Townsend stated Chrysler is planning to spend more than $200 million in 1964 on plant expansion and improvement.

Much of the firm's manufacturing expansion will take place in the Detroit area, including a stamping plant to be built in Sterling Township which will employ 3,000.

* * *

He said Chrysler will intensify its foreign operations, and looks for another good year in Canada, where Chrysler sales increased 52 per cent this year to 75,496.

MORE OVERSEAS

In the export field, Townsend looked for Chrysler to send even more vehicles overseas. The firm made 64,000 cars and trucks for this market during 1963, a gain of 17 per cent over last year.

On the domestic front, Townsend reported that the corporation captured 13.1 per cent of the market during the first 11 months with 878,820 autos. This is 41 per cent increase over the 1962 total, when Chrysler took only 10 per cent over-all.

U. S. retail sales of Dodge trucks for 11 months hit 70,091 or 6.2 per cent of market. This compares with 53,865 units or 5.5 per cent a year ago.

Townsend said the bright outlook for 1964 supports the theory that the private sector of the national economy is most responsive to growth and could be further encouraged by income tax cuts.

Visit Grandfather Kennedy

Yule for Jackie, Children

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy kept Christmas for her children, then went by automobile to the home of her father-in-law for private Mass, said by the Rev. John Cavanaugh, a close friend.

Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, did not come out with their mother when a small crowd and news photographers gathered at the Joseph P. Kennedy home.

Mrs. Kennedy, dressed in black and white, nodded to the crowd, smiled and waved a white gloved hand. After Mass, Mrs. Kennedy was driven back to her holiday retreat.

The children exchanged gifts in the morning and again in the evening after a family gathering at their grandfather's home.

Inventor's Ingenuity Is Good for Fishing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Finn Mangus, an industrial inventor with more than 40 patents to his credit doesn't leave his ingenuity in his workshop but takes it fishing with him.

* * *

Since the late Dr. William Beebe discovered an unexplored field of deep-sea fishing in the Hudson Gorge in the Atlantic about 125 miles southeast of New York City, Finn Magnus has been finding out how to catch the fish.

Beebe used nets and trawls in 1928 to find out what kind of fish were in this canyon under the sea—discovering 55 species of deep-sea fish. Magnus, on the other hand, has been experimenting with angling methods for taking the fish as a sports fisherman—contributing his findings to zoological and oceanographic research.

His 47½-foot boat is powered with twin 235-horsepower diesel engines and has a cruising range of 600 miles.

The boat is equipped with radar for safety in the fog, a Loran to determine its own position, graph depth finder, automatic pilot, fish finder, ship-to-shore telephone, permanent thermometer for surface temperature readings and graph depth thermometer for under-the-surface temperature readings to 450 feet.

LAYER THEORY

Magnus has a theory that the ocean is divided into layers of water which are no more mixable than oil and water and that each layer is of a different temperature and chemical composition. And he believes each layer of water is suitable only for a certain species of marine life.

While most marlin fishermen are content to use an outrigger to skip bait on the surface, Magnus might take an under-the-surface temperature reading and find it desirable to use a weighted lure to fish several fathoms below.

* * *

And his scientific fishing has paid off handsomely because he has made some fine catches and set some records off the coast of Brielle, N.J.

* * *

He decided that if his theory was correct — that is fish are compelled to live in a certain composition of the ocean — he would try to find a place where the layers of water would remain fairly constant and not be shifted by currents and pressure. So he started fishing in the canyon under the ocean — the Hudson Gorge.

While fishing this ocean gully, he has collected evidence that this is a natural spawning grounds for several species of fish, including some species not ordinarily caught in the Atlantic.

Since he has been fishing in Hudson Gorge, he has caught almost all the known Atlantic fish . . . and he has hooked many Pacific fish out there in Atlantic waters.

CATCHES 'FIRSTS'

Last season he landed 17 white marlin from the Hudson Gorge. And he caught a 234-pound bigeye tuna—the first of its kind ever caught off New Jersey. He and his son caught the first three giant blue fin tuna that has been caught off the Jersey coast in 12 years.

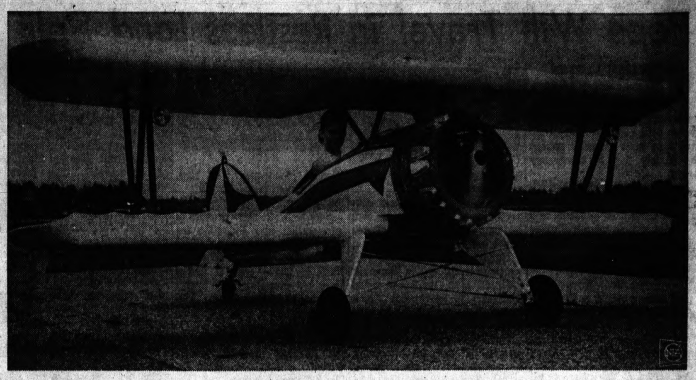
* * *

When a fisherman can see fish which are frolicking along and not taking bait, Magnus says, the fish might be temporarily out of the layer of water in which they must live . . . and they won't strike until they get back into the water which is ideal for their existence. He says a couple of degrees in temperature might make the difference of whether or not a fish will take bait.

* * *

However, he has synchronized the engine of his boat and trolls at a predetermined speed which he thinks will cause an echo—apparently making a noise to sound to the fish like a school of bait fish. This lures the fish to come up from the depths of the ocean and brings them out of their natural environment.

While some fishermen cruise around the ocean waiting for a bit of luck to bring them fish, Magnus is calculating methods for sure strikes. He said: "After my many years of big-game fishing, I've finally become a scientific angler."



DREAM TOY—Barbara Burkhead, 8, of Lumberton, N. C. has a toy most kids would give their milk teeth for. The small plane can taxi, has a throttle, choke, rudder, pedals and stick, and does everything but actually fly. It is made of plywood and cypress strips covered with bed sheets.

You Can Wash This New Lap Siding for House

You'll wash your new house instead of painting it if it is sided with a new extra-long-life siding now available at local lumber and building supply yards.

The easy-care secret of this prefinished lap siding is its plastic finish, a precolored polyester film fused to a durable hardboard base.

It combines the exceptional dent resistance and durability of hardboard siding with a new type of tough plastic film, which provides weathering and endurance qualities that dramatically reduce maintenance. Easily applied, each siding course locks into the one below with no nails showing.

The siding is guaranteed for 10 years against all visible failure and may be painted if a change of color is desired.

* * *

The attractive low-gloss finish is available in white, green, beige or gray.

Silver Threads Among Rocks

DENVER (AP)—A silver boom—possibly one of the biggest ever—is under way in the Colorado Rockies.

Long-closed mines are being reopened all along the mineral belt—the Continental Divide that runs from north to southwest along the state's jagged mountain peaks like the crooked spine of a shimmying dragon.

Not since the boom years of the free silver era around the turn of the century has so much interest been shown in silver in the state, says G. A. (Bud) Franz, Colorado's deputy mining commissioner.

* * *

So far this year 52 mines have been reopened, although not all are expected to be fully operational for at least six months.

GOOD SHOWING

Still, that's nearly equal to the total of all silver mines operating in the state last year.

None of these mines, however, is an exclusively silver operation. Most of them, in addition to silver, mine gold, zinc, lead and copper.

But Franz says that the mines which are being reopened will be operated mostly for their silver content.

* * *

Why the boom?

Silver is now selling near its all-time high—$1.30 an ounce.

NOT NEAR RECORD

Silver production in Colorado last year was about $2.1 million, nowhere near the all-time record of $50.3 million in 1900.

Franz predicts this year's modest increase will make it about $2.5 million. Next year providing all the reopened mines are operating, he predicts silver production in the state could reach $10 million.

But if you're thinking of heading for the hills with a mule and a pick, your chances for staking a new claim aren't very good.

"Most of the veins have been uncovered. New ones can be located only by exploration of a highly technical nature," Franz says.

HIRE ENGINEER

His advice is to hire a good mining engineer and let him go out and look.

Names of these long-dead mines that are being reborn ring with a peculiarly Old West sound: Cascade Tunnel, Capital Prize, Black Eagle on Clear Creek, Keystone at Crested Butte, Bull Domingo, California in Dolores County, Camp Bird and, naturally, Last Chance.

Some have proven value. Camp Bird, domant only about four months, was sold earlier this month for a reported $1 million. More than $50 million in gold, silver, lead and zinc has been taken from the mine.

* * *

Others — especially some of the smaller newly reopened mines—are part-time operations, with owners going there on weekends to search for silver veins.

How much silver actually is left in the Rockies?

Franz says, "Most oldtimers agree there's as much left in there as there's been taken out." He adds, "It might even be three or times as much."

Need Loan? Use Home for Equity

Almost every home owner wants to improve his property, but very often he is unable to borrow the cash.

Yet he does have an asset against which he can get funds which can be repaid over a long period of time; this asset is the "equity" he has built up in his house through years of mortgage payments.

All the home owner has to do is go to his bank and borrow the money he needs by refinancing the mortgage. The new mortgage will cover the new loan plus the unpaid balance on the old mortgage.

* *

Naturally, the amount of money that can be borrowed in this refinancing depends upon how much of the mortgage principal has been paid off.

However, whether a loan is needed, or not, now is the time to plan for such property improvements as finishing a basement playroom with a resilient flooring of vinyl asbestos tile or the installation of a fireplace.

Not only will such improvements increase the value of the house, they also will bring more pleasure in its use.

Ask at Local Store for Home Designer

Young married people should investigate decorating services available at their local stores, advises interior designer David Eugene Bell of New York.

"You'll be surprised at savings that can be made this way.

A good person can help you plan everything from floor to ceiling so that a room is completely coordinated, and less expensive in the long run than shopping on your own with the risk of making expensive mistakes, and you have the store's good name behind the transaction," he says.

This is especially important in areas where decorating services are limited, he says.

Etruscan burial urns dating to the fourth or fifth centuries B.C. have been found near Perugia, Italy, by archeologists.

Fire Ruins Bar in State

KALKASKA (AP) — Fire ruined the Manistee Lake Bar and Hotel 12 miles north of here Wednesday. Losses were estimated at $40,000. Owner Edward Chwastek and his family fled after awakening to find the building filled with smoke. Firemen fought the blaze three hours in a heavy snowstorm.

Pope Will Travel in Restless Land Split by Hate

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A messenger of peace journeys next week to a land which knows little peace, a land which still may be a primary source of anxiety for a war-weary world.

Pope Paul VI makes his pilgrimage to the Holy Land—sacred to Christians, Moslems and Jews—at a time when religious leaders around the world are preoccupied with thoughts of reconciliation.

★ ★ ★

But among people in the Holy Land there is no such spirit. Tides of hate, the backwash of wars, jealousies and man's insanity toward man have swept the area since World War II.

The Pope is held in honor by both Jew and Moslem, on either side of the storied Jordan River. His pilgrimage is made against a background of a Vatican move to absolve Jews of sole blame for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

SPSPECT VISIT

But many a Moslem Arab, harboring smoldering hatred for Israel, will be prey to suspicion that the Israelis may benefit politically from the Pope's visit.

For a few days, the enmity which scourges the land of the Bible, the Koran and the Terah will be cheered sufficiently to permit barriers at the borders to be lifted by both sides for the purposes of the visit.

Nonetheless, all who are connected with the pilgrimage will be keenly aware that it ventures into a sea of bitterness. Jordan, occupying part of what was Palestine 16 years ago, is home for resentful Arab enemies of world Zionism, the movement which brought Israel into being in May 1948.

The Holy Land's modern sickness is, in part, an aftermath of two world wars. During World War I, when the Germans' Turkish allies still ruled the Arab east, England turned to influential figures of world Jewry for help.

NATIONAL HOME

In return, Britain promised in the Balfour declaration to help pave the way for realization of the dream of a Jewish national home.

After the Central Powers' defeat, Britain received the League of Nations mandate over Palestine. On the east side of the Jordan River, the British carved out an unlikely little desert kingdom and made the Emir Abdullah, a descendant of the Prophet Mohammed, its king. It was called Trans-Jordan.

★ ★ ★

Jews began a slow process of immigration into Palestine between wars. Then came Hitler in Germany, the defeat of the Nazis in World War II and a wave of sympathy for Jewish suffering at Hitler's hands. Jewish immigration into Palestine rose sharply.

As the time for surrender of the mandate neared, underground Jewish organizations like Haganah, Irgun Zval Leumi and the Stern gang instituted a campaign of terror. Arabs left their villages by tens of thousands.

TENSION PEAK

Tension was at white heat by November 1947, when the United Nations voted a resolution—with strong U.S. backing — to partition Palestine. Two states, Arab and Jewish, were to be linked in economic union. The Jews would get 56 per cent of Palestine, the Arabs 44 per cent less a Jerusalem area which was to be internationalized under U.N. administration.

The Arabs resisted partition, and when the mandate ran out in May 1946, Arab armies entered Palestine. On May 15, the state of Israel was proclaimed with David Ben-Gurion as head of the provisional government. The war that followed humiliated the Arabs. The Israelis wound up by the time of the 1949 armistice with much more than they would have had by partition. Jerusalem became a divided city.

King Abdullah, whose Trans-Jordan Arab Legion, British-trained and officered, was the most effective Arab fighting force, moved his troops into that part of Palestine not effectively occupied by the Jews.

Abdullah was assassinated in 1951. His son and successor, Talal, was packed away to a mental institution and in 1952 Abdullah's grandson, British-educated Hussein, at 17 mounted the uneasy throne. Hussein rode out many violent troubles. He fell heir, too, to a refugee population growing at the rate of 25,000 a year. By current estimate there are 850,000 refugees in Jordan.

EASY PREY

Embittered, the refugees became easy prey for nationalist followers of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser, who aimed to topple Hussein and called for his assassination as an imperialist tool.

There has been little relief from tension. Periodically it has flared into situations critical for the whole sensitive, oil-rich Middle East.

★ ★ ★

The crises were deep and dangerous—Suez in 1956 and the series of Arab explosions in 1958 which led to a landing of U.S. troops in Lebanon. In Iraq, revolutionists slaughtered young King Feisal, Hussein's cousin.

The world trembled on the brink of a new war.

★ ★ ★

If the crisis atmosphere has eased somewhat since 1959, this was not because of any less enmity of the Arabs for Israel or any lessening of Arab conflicts with Arabs. Dreaming of unity, the Arabs seem united only in their hatred of Israel.

The Arab East being what it is, a small spark could set the Holy Land afire at any moment.

Town Fireplugs Get Color-Coded

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — A man with a silver-dipped paint brush has visited all the fireplugs in this city.

But it's all in the name of progress. The Portsmouth Water Department had the old red fireplugs painted silver with colorcoded trim.

A green-trimmed plug delivers 1,000 gallons per minute. A yellow one offers 500 gallons and red marks a small line with less than 500 gallons.

Moon 'Colony' Seen as First Space Site

CHICAGO (UPI) — The first men on the moon will dig themselves a hole—to protect them from radiation.

Then, after colonizing the satellite, they will have a solid base from which to dig raw materials, build "balloon" houses underground, and begin exploration of the reaches of space.

These predictions were made by Dr. Bernard I. Spinrad, director of Argonne National Laboratory's Reactor Engineering Division.

Why colonize the moon first?

"The moon is an appropriate halfway house between the earth and further exploration," he said.

HALFWAY POINT

"First, as our nearest neighbor in the solar system, the moon is a relatively easy shot.

"Second, it is a good rendezvous target."

★ ★ ★

Spinrad said another important advantage is that raw materials from the moon could be used by space explorers to make many of the components of future space ships — thus avoiding much of the cost of earth launchings.

He said establishment of a moon base might resemble a squad of foot soldiers digging into a new position.

Approximately 10 feet of lunar rock will provide essentially the same protection against radiation that we have on earth by means of our atmosphere," he said, so the spacemen would each dig themselves a hole.

The next step, he said, would be to build an underground room lined with a plastic "balloon."

★ ★ ★

Other "balloon" rooms underground would include facilities for a miniature "Noah's Ark" to provide a variety of food and a water supply, he said.

SHOP EQUIPMENT

Spinrad said the colony would need shop equipment — perhaps 10 tons of it.

"Finally we need a power plant," he said. "I assume a nuclear reactor which is capable of turning out a megawatt of power."

"All these processes are within our grasp . . ." he said. "I believe that this sort of enterprise would have an enormous total payoff in terms of our ability to exploit our early success on the moon quickly and move on from there."

Cold weather driving's all downhill when the gasoline in your tank contains the real thing—DE-ICER. So if you're tired of the way winter weather can freeze your gas line and stop your car cold, start going steady with AMERICAN® Brand Gasolines—the kind you buy at Standard or American Oil Dealers. They both contain DE-ICER (no extra cost) and they're both Filtered, right at the pump nozzle. This winter, find out why millions can say "not a speck of trouble!" You expect more from Standard and you get it!

Pancakes Are From Mexico

The Feast of the Radishes or Oaxaca is observed in Mexico on December 23 with radish carving contests and stalls selling bunuelos. These wafer-thin pancakes are served with heavy syrup or honey in Oaxaca glazed dishes.

It is an old custom to smash the dish after eating the bunuelos and save the pieces for good luck.

Bunuelos

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ cups pancake mix
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup milk
¼ cup liquid shortening

Combine flour and pancake mix in bowl. Add eggs, milk and shortening; mix well. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently a few seconds. Pinch off 24 pieces of dough. Shape to form balls; cover; let rest 20 minutes.

Roll each ball to form a 6-inch circle. Let stand 5 minutes. Fry in hot fat (375 degrees F.) about 1 inch deep, 2 minutes or until golden brown, turning only once. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with cinnamon-sugar or syrup. Makes 2 dozen.

BUNUELOS — From Mexico comes an unusual type of pancake—a bunuelo. Fried in hot fat, they puff up in a manner different from ordinary pancakes.

Sugar the Dough

Add sparkle to Christmas cookies this easy way. Roll out sugar or ginger cookie dough as directed, then sprinkle evenly with white or colored sugar, pressing it in slightly with a rolling pin. Cut out desired shapes and bake the cookies.

Has Many Uses

Note to new brides: a perforated pancake turner is one of the least expensive and most useful utensils you can have in your kitchen. It may be used for removing bacon, poached eggs and cookies as well as pancakes.

Pretzels May Top Dessert or Go in Chocolate Candy

Everyone likes pretzels. But did you ever use them with apples, now so plentiful, in a baked apple crunch? Try it. It's fun.

Baked Apple Crunch

1½ lb. cooking apples
1½ cups light brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg
1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind
2 cups coarsely crushed pretzels (about 3 dozen twisted regular or thin pretzels)
½ cup melted unsalted butter or margarine

Wash, peel, core and slice apples to measure six cups. Place in large shallow casserole (1½ to 2 quarts).

Blend 1 cup sugar with cinnamon and grated rind; sprinkle over apples. Combine pretzel crumbs with remaining ½ cup sugar and melted butter; blend well. Sprinkle evenly on top of apples.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven for about 45 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve either hot or well chilled, with or without cream or milk in separate dish. Makes 6-7 servings.

* *

The "salty balls" are a stunt made from an old recipe from Pennsylvania.

Salty Balls

Place 3 dozen twisted thin pretzels between waxed paper or in plastic bag; crush with rolling pin into coarse crumbs, the size of finely chopped nuts.

Meanwhile melt ½ lb. semi-sweet chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter over hot water; add 2 tablespoons honey and blend. Add pretzel cummbs and mix well. Cool slightly.

* * *

Using two metal teaspoons (dipped in cold water) form mixture into balls; drop piece by piece on waxed paper; cool until firm.

About 10 balls.

Toasted Almonds for Festive Snack

A dish of lightly salted, golden-brown almonds adds a festive note to holiday dinners.

Because almonds pick up flavors from other nuts easily, these delicately-flavored nuts are best if you buy them blanched and uncooked, and toast them yourself.

To toast almonds, fill a small frying pan with about one-inch of olive oil. Saute almonds in hot oil, over medium heat. Turn nuts to brown evenly, watching that the oil does not become too hot.

Remove nuts with a slotted spoon and place on several thicknesses of absorbent paper towels. Salt immediately.

After about 15 minutes transfer nuts to a fresh towel and salt again. When thoroughly cooled, store the nuts in a covered jar until ready to use.

A dash of allspice gives extra and inviting flavor to a raisin sauce to be served with ham.

Enjoyment of Wine Is Pleasant Part of Our Heritage

The question of what to serve for a holiday dinner—crisp brown turkey or a stuffed goose or perhaps a succulent smoky ham—would never have come up in the early days of this country.

Nor would the matter of what wine to serve.

Records from the households of such early American leaders as George and Martha Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin show that a holiday feast generally included two or three kinds of fowl, ham and beef, and maybe some game or mutton as well.

There would be as many as a half-dozen different wines. Our founding fathers were given to toasting everyone at the table and each of the states in the new Federation. The Washingtons favored such sturdy types as Sherry and Port with their meals, while the much-traveled Franklin and Jefferson served the finest of dinner wines.

Today's taste runs to holiday dining and wining on a somewhat less grand scale. But we can take a tip from these ancestral wine lovers who drank what pleased them with whatever food they served.

Even wine snobs have a hard time categorizing the favorite holiday dishes—turkey, goose (or duck) and ham.

With any of these, California red or white dinner wines and Rose are appropriate.

The choice is a personal one, between the relative lightness and delicate flavor of white wines—such as Sauterne, Chablis or Rhine—and the more robust and hearty flavor of red Burgundies and Clarets. Rose, a light and fruity pink wine, makes a delightful compromise.

Those who would rely on tradition rather than their own preference when it comes to choose a wine for a holiday dinner, can choose with assurance from this list: With turkey, red dinner wine, such as a California Burgundy or Claret, is usually preferred by those who like the dark meat; white dinner wine, such as Sauterne or Chablis, by those who like the white meat.

Obviously, Rose, being about halfway in between, pleases many. With duck or goose, a dry red wine is the usual choice to complement the dark, rich flesh of the birds.

Give Green Beans Added Interest

Green beans always taste a little better when they are dressed up in this fashion.

Flavorful Green Beans

1 pound snap beans
1 cup broiling water
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon seasoning salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 can (6 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained

Snip ends from beans and scrub in cold water; cut into 1-inch slant-edged pieces. Place in a 1-quart saucepan with the boiling water, salt and seasoning salt; boil, covered, until tender — about 10 minutes; turn over beans midway through cooking period. Drain beans.

Melt butter in saucepan with onion; add mushrooms; stir over moderately low heat until onions soften—3 to 5 minutes. Add cooked drained beans; reheat if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

A glass measuring cup for liquids has a spout, one for dry ingredients has a plain rim.

Have Celery Icy, Crisp

You'll want very crisp celery. For this, place celery in ice water to bring out crunchiness.

One very effective trick here: remove the heavy outside pieces of celery, cut them lengthwise into narrow strips, then chill in ice water. Strips will curl very prettily.

Another nice and simple touch: radish roses which you can prepare a day ahead, keep in ice water in refrigerator. The longer they stay in the water, the more they "blossom."

One of the best tasting cream cheese spreads is made by mixing the cheese with grated red onion and minced anchovies.

Good to Cook Cauliflower Fast

You may have panned cabbage, but have you ever given cauliflower similar treatment?

Panned Cauliflower

1 medium head cauliflower
¼ cup butter
¼ cup water
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon minced parsley

The cauliflower should weigh about 1½ pounds without leaves. Separate into cauliflowerets; wash and drain. Halve small flowerets and quarter large ones so part of buds are attached to part of stems; there should be about 5 cups.

In a 10-inch skillet melt the butter. Toss the cauliflower in it; sprinkle with water and salt. Cover and boil gently for 8 to 10 minutes or until tender, turning cauliflower over a few times; try to have stalk ends at bottom of pan. Liquid should be evaporated. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Potato Patties

Use leftover mashed potatoes for patties. Just mix an egg with two cups of the potatoes and shape; brown in butter or margarine in a skillet.

Suit Individual Taste: Vary Turkey Dressing

What to stuff the holiday bird with is always a question. The traditionalist doesn't worry. She just used simple bread dressing flavored with sage.

But the daring cook who's willing to try something new looks around. She might be willing to use one of the following recipes.

Buttery crackers, water chestnuts with distinctive seasonings characterize this first dressing.

Extra Special Turkey Stuffing

1 1-lb. box butter crackers
1 teaspoon ground ginger
2 teaspoons parsley flakes
½ cup diced green pepper
½ cup diced onion
½ cup butter or margarine, 1 stick
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 5-oz. cans water chestnuts
½ cup (about) butter or margarine

Break, or crush, crackers into coarse crumbs (there should be about 6½ cups). Sprinkle with ginger and parsley, mixing well; set aside. Saute green pepper and onion in ½ cup butter, over moderate heat, until tender; do not brown. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice and liquid from chestnuts. Dice chestnuts and add.

Combine mixture with crumbs and toss well together. Stuff body cavity and crop of turkey lightly. Enough for a 12-13 pound turkey.

★ ★ ★

Oat flakes cereal and oysters make an interesting combination for the small turkey, capon or roast chicken.

Oat Flakes-Oyster Stuffing

2 cups chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
½ clove garlic, finely minced
½ cup butter or margarine
½ pint oysters
1 package (10 ounce) oat flakes
¼ cup chopped parsley
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Saute celery, onion and garlic in butter or margarine until onion is soft. Add oysters and cook until edges of oysters begin to curl. Remove from heat. Add oat flakes, parsley and seasonings; toss lightly. Add eggs and mix carefully.

Fill body and neck cavities of fowl. Yield: 6 cups stuffing, enough for a 6 to 7 pound capon.

★ ★ ★

Sausage stuffing is rich. This one makes use of prepared stuffing mix.

Golden Harvest Stuffing

½ lb. Kielbasse sausage, diced
1 cup chopped onions
1½ cups hot water
2 8-oz. pkgs. prepared stuffing mix
2 cups whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate

Saute Kielbasse and onions until lightly browned. To hot water, add stuffing mix. Toss lightly. Add corn, Kielbasse, onions and monosodium glutamate and blend gently. Makes enough stuffing for a 14-16 lb. turkey.

Add Extra Fruit to Mincemeat

Bake this ahead, store it in your freezer, and reheat for a festive touch with turkey leftovers.

Special Mince Pie

Flaky pastry for 2-crust 8-inch pie
1 jar (1 pound, 2½ ounces) rum and brandy-flavored mincemeat
1 medium tart apple (pared, cored, and chopped fine)
4 teaspoons grated orange rind

Roll out half of pastry ⅛-inch thick; line an 8-inch pie plate with it. Roll out remaining pastry for lattice top and cut into ½-inch strips.

Mix together the mincemeat, apple and orange rind. Spread over bottom crust. Weave pastry strips lattice-fashion over mincemeat. Trim bottom crust and fold over or under strips to seal, form a high rim and flute.

Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until pastry is brown.

Note: Place a strip of foil around the edge of the pie when it goes into the oven, removing it toward the end of the baking time.

Egg Nog Mold Is Light Dessert

Yuletide is fun-time and the season of good food. Since there is usually so much entertaining done at this time of year it is sometimes difficult to think of new recipes and novel ways of serving your party fare.

To impress your friends with your cleverness and "good taste," try serving this almond egg nog mold. It combines the mellow goodness of egg nog with the rich taste of toasted almonds.

Almond Egg Nog Mold

1 cup toasted sliced almonds
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1 quart dairy egg nog
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon brandy flavoring
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
¾ cup whipped cream

Finely chop almonds. Soften gelatin in ½ cup of egg nog. Heat remaining egg nog until hot.

Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir in salt and brandy. Cool, until partially thickened. Fold in egg whites, whipped cream and chopped almonds.

Pour into 1½ quart-mold and chill, until set. Unmold and garnish with whole almonds. Makes 6-8 servings.

Cherry Nut Sauce Tops Ice Cream

This type of dessert is served in elegant restaurants. But you can easily prepare it at home to delight family or guests.

Cherry Almond Jubilee

¾ cup slivered almonds
2 tablespoons butter
1 1-pound can (2 cups) Bing or red pitted dessert cherries
1½ teaspoons cornstarch
¾ teaspoon almond extract
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Saute almonds in butter until light golden brown. Drain cherry juice into chafing dish or saucepan; blend in cornstarch; cook until thickened and clear, stirring constantly.

Add cherries and almonds. Heat and stir in almond extract. Serve warm over vanilla ice cream. Makes 2 cups sauce, enough for 6 servings.

Keep Broiler Cool

Don't leave the broiler pan in your range when you are heating it in preparation for broiling. Cold (or room temperature) chops or steak or fish should be placed on the cool pan, otherwise they are likely to stick.

Almonds Dress Turkey Curry

Exotic main dishes with leftover turkey? Of course. Take "Turkey Almond Curry" as an example. Diced turkey is combined with an onion-and-celery curry sauce and then toasted slivered almonds are stirred into the sauce, served warm over fluffy rice.

Popular almonds turn many otherwise plain entrees and vegetables into "specialties of the house."

Turkey Almond Curry

⅓ cup chopped onion
⅔ cup thinly sliced celery
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 to 2 teaspoons curry powder
⅓ cup flour
1 cup milk
1 cup turkey stock (or 1 cup water and 1 bouillon cube)
2 cups diced cooked turkey
⅓ cup toasted slivered almonds
Hot cooked rice

Cook onion and celery slowly in butter and curry powder until vegetables are tender-crisp. Blend in flour. Add milk and stock; cook and stir until thickened. Blend in turkey; cover and cook over low heat until heated through. Just before serving, stir in almonds. Serve on rice. Makes 4 servings.

Bake Frozen Broccoli

You can cook frozen broccoli in a moderate oven along with meat or fish. Thaw the broccoli enough to separate, then place it in a buttered 1½-quart baking dish with a teaspoon of salt (for two packages of the vegetable) and a couple of tablespoons of butter or margarine. Cover tightly and bake about an hour.

K Tells Mao: Unity Our Goal

Sends Birthday Wish to Red China Leader

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a birthday message to Mao Tse-tung, said that the Soviet Communist party is "tirelessly striving" for Communist unity.

Publication of the three-paragraph message on the front page of Pravda, the Soviet party organ, was the latest example of Khrushchev's "turning the other cheek" to Peking's personal insults, according to Western observers.

But these analysts said the wording of the 70th anniversary message was noticeably cool, and the reference to Soviet strivings for unity implicitly suggested that the Chinese party under Mao was the cause of the widening gap.

Also absent from the congratulations was a personal wish from Khrushchev.

DATED DEC. 25

The message, signed by the Soviet leader and dated Dec. 25, was sent in the name of the Soviet Party Central Committee.

"On the occasion of your 70th anniversary, the central committee of the Soviet Communist party sends congratulations and wishes you good health and long years of life," it said.

The telegram also underlined the friendly feelings of the Soviet and Chinese people for each other — without mentioning party or government relations. This, observers said, was a further indication of chilliness.

The Khrushchev message also expressed belief that the ties between the Soviet and Chinese Communist parties would in the end "withstand every test" and "overcome all present difficulties."

Last Day for Russians in America

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Nina Pozdneev is spending her last full day in the United States today, a little fearful of Friday's trip that will take her home to Moscow.

But her fears have nothing to do with politics, it's just that Mrs. Pozdneev gets airsick, and, as she says, Moscow is "a long way, a very long way" from Portsmouth.

Mrs. Pozdneev, a teacher, her husband, Victor, and their two children have been spending the Christmas holidays as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James McKenzie and the city of Portsmouth. Their trip was sponsored by the Portsmouth Junior Chamber of Commerce as a project they call "Operation Peace on Earth."

Awaiting the Pozdneevs at their return home are days of wrapping packages, setting up and decorating a fir tree, visiting friends and celebrating a time of good cheer.

NEW YEAR

It will be the celebration of the New Year, much in the same way Americans carry out the nonreligious aspects of Christmas.

This year, the Pozdneev children, especially Olga, 6, also had a visit from Santa Claus. He came and gave candy canes to the children Christmas Eve. Beneath the large Christmas tree in the McKenzie's living room Olga found three dolls, doll clothes and two pairs of shoes.

For Anatoly, 16, there was an American football and a miniature auto racing set. Pozdneev, an automotive engineer in Moscow, received shirts and ties. Presents for Mrs. Pozdneev included shoes, a coat and sweater.

For the McKenzie family there were records, caviar, books and toys.

Native Detroiter Dies; Suffered Heart Attack

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —Dr. Myron Weaver, a native of Detroit and Dean of Union University's graduate school, died Wednesday in Ellis Hospital after suffering a heart attack at his home. He was 62.

Dr. Weaver was born in Detroit and was graduated from Wheaton (Ill.) College in 1924. He had also served as first Dean of the Medical College at the University of British Columbia.

Ferency May Be Dems' Dark Horse for State Governorship

By GENE SCHROEDER
An AP Michigan News Analysis

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats, faced with the probability of a wide-open battle for the primary nomination for governor, may find a surprise compromise candidate in the running — State Chairman Zolton Ferency.

★ ★ ★

The latest speculation is a direct aftermath of the Nov. 22 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Ferency supporters contend their man has just the touch of color and hard-hitting enthusiasm that might now be needed to balance the 1964 Democratic ticket in Michigan.

It is a foregone conclusion, they say, that President Johns and Sen. Philip Hart will be the other two candidates at the top of the ticket, and neither of them can provide the dynamic image Kennedy would have presented.

SERIOUS THOUGHT

Ferency himself isn't talking publicly, but it was learned he has been urged to run and is thinking over the suggestion seriously.

Ferency became state chairman last spring in a showdown battle at the state convention in Grand Rapids with John (Joe) Collins, who had served as chairman when former Gov. John Swainson was in office.

★ ★ ★

Swainson, however, backed Ferency's candidacy and with the help of labor delegates, won out despite support for Collins from national committeeman Rep. Neil Staebler, Sen. Patrick McNamara and most other top Democratic leaders in the state.

The split between the Swainson and Staebler forces appears likely to spill over into a clash in the primary.

SOAPY BACK

There has been some speculation that former Gov. G. Mennen Williams might return to run again for the office he held for an unprecedented 12 years, but Williams has remained silent on the possibility.

With Williams in the running, probably all of the potential candidates would step down and present a united front against the Republicans.

★ ★ ★

If Williams does not choose to run, however, then Ferency may be put forth as a compromise candidate in the event of a standoff between Staebler and Swainson.

Others who have indicated an interest in the primary include Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, Highway Commissioner John Mackie and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

ATTACKS ROMNEY

Since taking over the chairmanship, Ferency has been noted for his ability to "fire up the troops" with his speeches attacking Gov. George Romney when he thinks the chief executive is wrong.

This firebrand image is lacking in Staebler, say the Ferency backers.

One of the more prominent Democrats in the state who thinks Ferency might make the best compromise candidate is Sen. Charles Blondy of Detroit, who recently relinquished his title as senate minority leader.

★ ★ ★

Many of Ferency's boosters argue the principal objection to Swainson is that he lost to Romney in the 1962 election, and many Democrats would prefer a new face on the political scene.

'LABOR IMAGE'

Ferency's detractors, however, say he has too much of a "labor image" because his victory at the state convention was scored with the active help delegates tied in with the United Auto Workers Union.

★ ★ ★

On his way up the political ladder, Ferency served for four years with the Workmen's Compensation Department, as deputy director and then director. He also was on the Liquor Control Commission.

★ ★ ★

Swainson, about midway in his term as governor, brought in Ferency to be his executive secretary.

Ford Foundation to Help

3 Rs May Break N. Carolina's 'Cycle of Poverty'

(EDITOR'S NOTE — North Carolina's Gov. Terry Sanford has started a $14-million attempt to break what he calls this "cycle of poverty." This article tells about the North Carolina Fund, its history and its purpose.)

By PHIL CORNER

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — To thousands of children in North Carolina, first grade is a foreign world of strange, bewildering things like books and crayons and gaily colored pictures.

They come from homes mired in poverty where education is neither understood nor respected. They cannot cope with a course of study designed for their more fortunate classmates.

"The children find everything at school so alien," Gov. Terry Sanford said, "they never quite catch on, and within the next few years they become the dropouts. In time, they become the parents of poverty again."

Through Sanford's efforts, state and local governments and the Ford Foundation have teamed up in a $14-million attempt to break this "cycle of poverty."

NEW AGENCY

A new agency, the North Carolina Fund, has been set up to administer a five-year program which will include 10 community projects and a statewide endeavor to improve the teaching of reading, writing and arithmetic in the first three grades.

Sanford said the community projects would be "essentially an attempt to locate the people in the rural, mountain and city areas who have problems, take them by the hand and show them how the state, county and local agencies can help them and put them on their own two feet."

Officials have warned against expecting dramatic developments. It is, they have said, a long-range attack on an ancient, stubborn foe.

* * *

North Carolina has a severe dropout problem, a high percentage of illiteracy and a per capita income that is 43rd in the nation.

HALF GRADUATE

Only one-half the youngsters who entered school in 1950 were graduated in June 1962. More than one-fourth the adults over 25 were listed in the 1960 census as functionally illiterate.

The problem is more intense in the rural regions than in the populous Piedment area. It is most severe in the eastern half where Negroes make up a large segment of the population.

The statewide program for the primary grades has received a $4 million grant from the fund. The other $10 million will go into projects in 10 communities to be selected early next year.

* * *

Specified actions in the program are lacking. Fund officials have offered some suggestions to local governments, but they feel vagueness is one of the greatest strengths of the effort.

ENCOURAGE THINKING

"We're trying to encourage thinking from the bottom up, rather than from the top down," fund director George Esser said.

"I have come to believe," the governor said, "that charity and relief are not the best answers to human suffering, that the schools are not the answer so long as only a third or a half of our students finish school, that the wealth of America is not the answer if many families have 39-some cents a day per person for all expenses; that it is not enough to have here the most powerful nation in the world and then to admit that we are powerless to find ways to give our young people training and job opportunities."

The reading, writing and arithmetic program is to begin in January in 20 elementary schools and grow, during the next four years, to include 400.

* * *

It will experiment with the idea of grouping the first three grades into a single unit, separating the children not by age but by achievement level.

TEAM TEACHING

Also to be tried will be preschool orientation for pupils and parents, team teaching with an extra aide to handle paper work and increased use of television.

"The doors are wide open to try anything which we think will work," said J. Everett Miller, assistant state superintendent of public instruction. Specific programs will be designed by the local units involved.

The fund's staff and directors are screening applications to participate in community projects from about 60 of the state's 100 counties.

Suggestions for specific activities include improved vocational and adult education, day care programs for young children, homemaker services, family planning and health services.

NATIONAL SIGNIFICANCE

President Henry T. Heald of the Ford Foundation, said the program was of national significance because it mobilized the full resources of a state in a "coordinated effort to develop human resources to the fullest."

* * *

He said, "North Carolina leadership may well set a pace for other states."

ATHLETE MEMBER

One member of the fund's administrative staff is Jim Beatty, widely known track star. A graduate of the University of North Carolina, he will work with college-age youngsters volunteering to help in community projects.

* * *

The Ford Foundation has granted $7 million to the program. North Carolina foundations have contributed $2.3 million and the rest is to come from government matching funds.

Old Railroad Boxcars Part of New Motel

SOMERVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Ever slept in a railroad boxcar? Well, a new motel being built on Highway 36 here is made up of 25 obsolete boxcars purchased from the Santa Fe Railroad.

They are being fitted with paneling, air conditioning and plumbing, but the exteriors remain the same as when the cars traveled the rails.

How About Seafood Stuffing?

One of the rich American traditions which has become a part of family living is the gathering of the clan at holidays for a warm reunion and the traditional holiday meal with all the trimmings.

Through the years, the holiday bird with stuffing has become a part of this tradition, and each section of the country has a stuffing recipe native to its area.

This year, fresh from the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' Test Kitchens come three savory seafood stuffings to bring the tang-o-the-sea to your festive table and find favor with the most fastidious.

Oyster Stuffing

1 can (12 ounces) shucked oysters, fresh or frozen
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup melted fat or oil
6 cups soft bread cubes
1 egg beaten
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Dash pepper

Thaw frozen oysters. Drain oysters and chop coarsely. Cook celery and onion in fat until tender; stirring occasionally. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes about 4 cups of stuffing, enough for a 4-pound ready-to-cook bird.

★ ★ ★

Scallop Stuffing

½ pound scallops, fresh or frozen
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup melted fat or oil
6 cups soft bread cubes
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Dash pepper

Thaw frozen scallops. Rinse with cold water to remove any shell particles. Chop scallops. Cook celery, onion, and scallops in fat until vegetables are tender; stirring occasionally. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes about 4 cups of stuffing, enough for a 4-pound ready-to-cook bird.

★ ★

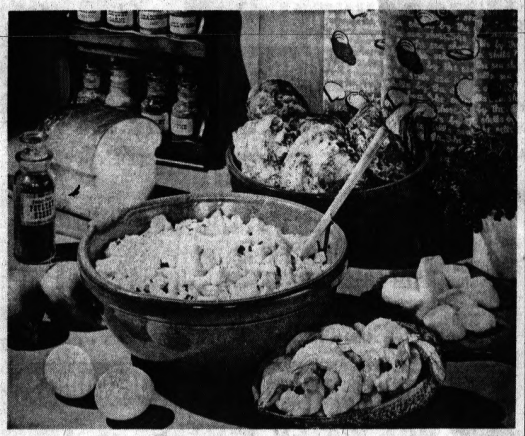
Shrimp Stuffing

½ pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup melted fat or oil
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons milk
6 cups soft bread cubes
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon thyme
Dash pepper

Thaw frozen shrimp. Peel shrimp and remove sand veins. Wash shrimp and cut into small pieces. Cook onion and shrimp in fat until onion is tender; stirring occasionally. Combine egg and milk. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes about 4 cups of stuffing, enough for a 4-pound ready-to-cook bird.

Stuffing for Turkey

For 5-9 pound turkey — 2 times stuffing recipe.
For 10-15 pound turkey — 3 times stuffing recipe.
For 16-20 pound turkey — 4 times stuffing recipe.
For 21-25 pound turkey — 5 times stuffing recipe.



YANKEE STYLE — Pilgrim women no doubt used seafood in the stuffing for wild turkeys. To this day, this kind of dressing is used in New England. In the Midwest, frozen or canned products are available for the same recipes.

Toasted and Salted

These crackers are especially good with tomato or chicken soup.

Zesty Pan-Toasted Crackers

1 cup oyster crackers
1 tablespoon butter, melted
Celery or onion salt

Add crackers to butter; heat. Shake pan to coat crackers with butter. Sprinkle with celery or onion salt.

Prune Coffeecake

For a quick kaffeeklatch cake special try this. Add ¼ cup of uncooked chopped prunes, ½ teaspoon of grated orange rind, 1 egg and ½ cup of milk to a package (10½ ounces) of coffee cake mix.

Outdoor Cookie Tree

Europeans have a charming Christmas custom you may wish to adopt as a tradition in your family. Hang gaily decorated Christmas cookies out of doors on tree branches.

The cookies look so festive and provide a special holiday treat for all the birds in your neighborhood — to both you and your children's delight.

Frozen Orange Juice a Three-Meal Help

Why not use frozen orange juice as more than just a breakfast drink? The National Association of Frozen Food Packers suggests setting aside one or two cans of frozen orange juice just for use as an ingredient. A tablespoon or more of juice makes an excellent natural flavoring for frostings, sauces and glazes, and adds a distinctive tart-sweet touch to desserts, pies, cakes and breads.

Orange-Glazed Carrots

½ can frozen orange juice
8 medium sized carrots
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Defrost frozen orange juice briefly while preparing carrots. Scrape and slice carrots crosswise. Cook until just tender in boiling salted water then drain.

Mix melted butter or margarine with sugar and salt, then add frozen juice. Pour over drained carrots and cook slowly, stirring until carrots become transparent and absorb the syrup. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Creamy Orange Frosting

¼ cup softened cream cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups confectioners sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate

Stir softened cream cheese with butter or margarine until fluffy. Add confectioners sugar, salt and frozen orange juice. Beat well. Makes enough frosting for a large angel food or two-layer white cake.

Don't Overdo Spices

Cooking experts suggest that heavily spiced foods should not be served for every course of the meal. Try spices for the main course and have a crisp salad and delicate sweet for dessert to bring out the taste of the main course.

Chill fruit flavored gelatin until thick; whip to a fluff, adding any available drained canned, stewed or fresh fruit.

Giblet Gravy Is Time-Tested

Our good friend the turkey has come a long way from the tough wild bird the colonists bagged in 1621. Our knowledge of how to cook him for the tenderest, juiciest meat with the fullest flavor has likewise increased with the years. Today's delicious bird assures a happy holiday for everyone who partakes of the traditional treat.

Giblet Gravy is a must for the holiday turkey.

Giblet Gravy

Giblets: Place turkey heart, liver, neck and gizzard in saucepan and cover with water. Add 1½ teaspoons MSG, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper, onion slice and a celery stalk. Cook slowly for about 2 to 3 hours until tender. Cut up the cooked giblets. The giblets and their broth are used in the gravy along with the pan drippings.

★ ★ ★

Gravy: Remove the turkey from the roasting pan to a platter. Skim most of the fat from the pan juices. Add giblet broth and enough water to make 3 cups of liquid to the juices remaining in the roasting pan. Add diced giblets. Stir until the stock reaches a boil, making sure to stir in all the brown crustiness from the bottom of the roasting pan.

To thicken the gravy, spoon 5 tablespoons of the fat skimmed from the turkey into a saucepan. Stir in 5 tablespoons flour and heat the mixture, stirring, until it begins to brown. Pour in the prepared turkey stock and stir over medium heat until the gravy thickens.

Soup and Mushrooms Make Good Gravy

If your family is fond of fried chicken with milk gravy, you can make an easy mushroom gravy by combining a can of condensed cream of chicken soup with 1 3-ounce can of chopped broiled mushrooms including broth. Stir this into the drippings from the chicken and bring to a boil.

When add 1 cup of sour cream which has been brought to room temperature and stirred smooth. Serve gravy over hot cooked noodles or over hot cooked cream of rice cereal.

International Visitors Information

Foreigners Have a Home in Washington

WASHINGTON — "I do not feel as a foreigner in Washington, because I always think over there in this delightful corner place I find a house with helping friends."

★ ★ ★

The "house with helping friends," praised by a recent Austrian tourist in the nation's capital, is the International Visitors Information Service.

The newly opened center, across from the White House, hopes to be home away from home for the thousands of foreign visitors that annually come to Washington.

The center also coordinates for the first time in Washington the efforts of more than 50 foreigners, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

The International Visitors Information Service (IVIS) welcomes foreign businessmen, students, and tourists at 700 Jackson Place, N.W. In the same rooms that served as original headquarters for the Peace Corps, a fulltime staff member and 20 volunteers now help hundreds of visitors each month.

CAN RELAX

Guests may relax in IVIS's comfortable lounge, read foreign language magazines, or preview scenic Washington via wall photographs in color given by the National Georgraphic Society.

Maps, bus routes, tour suggestions, and information about Washington's historic monuments are available.

A detailed card file tells visitors where to look at the stars through telescopes, buy books, see art objects, take a swim, or listen to the Marine Band. Department stores where foreign language assistance is available are noted.

★ ★

Foreign food restaurants are listed and there are helpful hints on prices: "Elegant but expensive," or "plain but good."

Girl Scouts will take international visitors on walking tours in future months.

A unique "language bank," made up of people who speak some 26 languages including Swahili, Tagalog, and Vietnamese, may be called for assistance day or night.

A bus driver recently called IVIS in desperation. He had a bus load of Japanese sailors on a sightseeing trip and no one spoke English. Within an hour, a Japanese - speaking volunteer arrived to be guide for the day.

IVIS has proved its worth as an information and referral center:

An Indian student wanting to see the Capitol was put in touch with a member of the Experiment in International Living who had just returned from India and was happy to serve as guide.

★ ★ ★

A lonely and penniless Guatemalan was directed to the YMCA and Centro Anglo-Espanol.

A Venezuelan who wanted to convert his bolivares into dollars after banking hours was sent to a private foreign exchange company.

A fun-loving Indian businessman was given a list of Washington's best night clubs and an athletic Frenchman anxious to compete in a Ping-pong tournament was referred to the District of Columbia's Recreation Department.

Boy Queries Red Radio Shortwave

ATHOL, Mass. (AP) — Lawrence Martoski's high school government class will study Soviet propaganda techniques first hand, courtesy of Radio Moscow and a $3.50 shortwave set.

Lawrence, 16, bought the second-hand radio recently and after listening to a few Radio Moscow broadcasts, he sent 10 questions to the station's "mailbag" program. He got his answers Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

The Moscow announcer, responding to a question on whether the training of American or Soviet soldiers is superior, said:

"It would make more sense to do away with big armies and the money spent on armament to be put to use elsewhere. Let's come to an agreement on general disarmament and work for peace."

HITS SUPPORT

The announcer accused the United States of supporting Latin American dictators.

"You suppress progressive, left-wing organizations," the announcer said, "and encourage The John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan and the Minutemen."

He praised this country for its highly developed chemical industry, and conceded that Soviet roads "aren't as good as American superhighways and turnpikes."

Friends of Lawrence taped the broadcast. It will be replayed in his government class.

A fully loaded vessel carrying about 42,000 tons is about the largest that can pass through the Suez Canal.

Cambodia, S. Viet Nam Eye Renewed Ties

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The foreign ministers of Cambodia and South Viet Nam have opened talks in Saigon aimed at restoring diplomatic relations between their neighboring countries.

★ ★ ★

Neutralist Cambodia broke relations with South Viet Nam last August after President Ngo Dinh Diem's government raided Buddhist pagodas throughout Viet Nam. Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, is a Buddhist.

★ ★ ★

Huot Sambath, Cambodian foreign minister, arrived Tuesday heading a diplomatic team. The Vietnamese foreign minister Pham Dang Lam, is expected to go to Cambodia later.

ALWAYS STRAINED

Relations between Cambodia and Viet Nam always have been strained, and basic differences between the countries remain despite the Nov. 1 coup that overthrew the Diem government.

★ ★ ★

Sihanouk has charged the Vietnamese government and the United States with harboring and encouraging a rebel Cambodian movement. The prince also has demanded guarantees against violations of Cambodia's land and air space by Vietnamese forces.

★ ★ ★

The Vietnamese government in turn has accused the Cambodian government of allowing Viet Cong Communist guerrillas to operate from Cambodia.

CARIO (AP)—An Arab League spokesman says nine of the league's 13 members have accepted President Gamal Abdel Nasser's call for an anti-Israeli summit meeting in Cairo.

POSSIBLE ACTION

Nasser called for the meeting to consider the possibility of military action if Israel carries out its long-pending plan to divert waters of the Jordan River to irrigate the Negev Desert.

★ ★ ★

Arab states along the Jordan have threatened for years to go to war if Israel diverts the water. The Arabs also have refused to negotiate an agreement on division of the river water.

★ ★ ★

Nasser appeared to have some doubts about the possibility of military action. In his speech Monday calling for the summit session, he said the Arab leaders should take stock of their military position to determine whether war is feasible.

Nasser suggested the meeting be held Jan. 6, but a spokesman said the date had not been decided.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Premier Ismet Inonu is back in power in Turkey, heading a minority cabinet composed of 19 members of his Republican People's party and four independents.

★ ★ ★

Inonu's announcement Wednesday night that he had succeeded in forming a minority government ended a 23-day political crisis during which the opposition Justice party failed in an attempt to come up with a cabinet.

QUIT EARLIER

Inonu resigned earlier this month when his coalition of Republicans, New Turkey and Peasant Nation parties collapsed following heavy losses by his cabinet partners in local elections.

Inonu's party holds 175 seats in Turkey's 450-man National Assembly.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass reported today that Somali students in Moscow had met to protest a demonstration last week by Ghanaian students and Western news reports of the demonstration.

★ ★ ★

Tass said the Somalis, at a meeting Wednesday, said the Ghanaian demonstration was carried out by "a small group of African students who made themselves obnoxiously notorious."

The Somalis, Tass continued, adopted a resolution saying that reports of the demonstration by Western newsmen were "designed to divert the attention of the peoples from the brutalities committed by the imperialists."

The Soviets reported previously that a group of Sudanese students made a similar protest against the Ghanaian demonstrators and Western newsmen.

Some 500 students from Ghana and other African countries demonstrated in front of the Ghanaian Embassy and in Red Square last week, charging that a Soviet had stabbed a Ghanaian medical student to death because he was about to marry a Soviet woman. The Soviet government said that the student got drunk and froze to death.

Wildlife Expert Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Harry C. Oberholser, 93, regarded as one of the world's outstanding ornithologists, died Wednesday. He was with the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior 46 years.

The wattle, national flower of Australia, is commercially valuable for its high tannin content. There are several species.

Fire Kills Mother, Dog; but Daughter Escapes

RIVER ROUGE (AP) — Fire killed Mrs. Jean Leonard, 50, and her dog today, but the dog's barking alerted Mrs. Leonard's 13-year-old daughter in time for a safe escape.

The daughter, Melissa, fled from a rear bedroom. Police said the fire may have started from a cigarette smoldering in a living room sofa.

French Style Elegance Here

Oui, Madam, Cherries Pierre is indeed a treat! Glamorize a family dinner with this delicious dessert, or make it the highlight of a bridge party or when entertaining after dinner. Next to the elegance of this dessert the do-ahead preparation means a happy hostess whether entertaining family or guests.

Prepare the cherry sauce easily with canned red tart pitted cherries and put it in the refrigerator to chill. Bake frozen patty shells and use prepared whipped topping. It's just your dish if you're a bon vivant (translation, of course: lover of good living, a gourmet).

CHERRIES PIERRE

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon red food coloring (optional)
2 cans (1 lb. each) water pack red tart pitted cherries
1 pkg. frozen puff patty shells
Whipped topping, or whipped cream

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Add food coloring and juice drained from cherries; stir until smooth. Cook until thickened and clear, stirring. Reduce heat, add cherries and simmer 5 to 10 minutes, stirring gently once or twice. Chill.

Bake the patty shells following package directions. At serving time, spoon filling into patty shells and top each with a dollop of whipped topping. Six generous servings.

Cranberries Put Color Into Fall Muffins

The brightest spots on produce counters this fall are the heaps of colorful, mouthwatering cranberries. These eye-pleasing, taste-tempting gems, one of our most plentiful foods according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, add magic to everyday menus.

Shoppers will find most fresh cranberries packed in convenient 1-pound bags or boxes. A pound of these bright berries will make about 6 servings of relish or similar dish in which they are chopped and used raw.

When cooked, a pound of cranberries will make about 13 servings of ¾ cup each. And when used as a garnish, this handy 1-pound bag will go even farther.

For fresh, tasty, bright homemade dishes, choose plump, firm berries that have a high luster, advises USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. Large, bright-red cranberries are quite tart, while small, darker-colored types are usually somewhat sweeter.

A large part of the cranberry harvest is held in cold storage until the holiday demand grows. These may show some dampness or moisture for a short time, but this will not affect their good quality.

★ ★ ★

Avoid shriveled, discolored, dull, or soft cranberries, suggests USDA.

Cranberry Muffins

¾ cup fresh cranberries, halved
½ cup powdered sugar
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons melted shortening or salad oil

Mix cranberry halves with powdered sugar and let stand while preparing muffin mixture. Sift dry ingredients, add egg, milk and melted shortening all at once; mix until dry ingredients are dampened; do not beat. Fold in sugared cranberries.

Fill greased muffin tins ⅔ full. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen.

Turn Fruit Cake Into Rich Parfait

You've the makings for a company-special dessert if you're lucky enough to have fruitcake left over from holiday feasting.

Crumble the cake and moisten slightly with orange or pineapple juice. Layer with slightly sweetened whipped cream or softened ice cream — flavored with rum or brandy extract — in small dessert or sherbet dishes.

Top with more whipped cream and a sprinkling of chopped nuts.

You can add extra flavor to canned stewed tomatoes by slowly heating them with a bay leaf, a few whole cloves and whole all-spice.

Top Marinated Steak with Blue Cheese

For a special steak treat during the holidays — or any time for that matter — marinate steak for 3-4 hours in one cup of your favorite French dressing. Broil steak almost to desired doneness.

Top with crumbled American blue cheese and return to broiler until steak is done and blue cheese just begins to melt. Serve sizzling hot.

Don't expose frozen meat to air while it's thawing; allow it to defrost in its package.

Potato Chips and Cereal Go in Cooky

The mark of a great dessert, as any master chef will tell you, is that its taste brings on delight. A combination of wonderful flavor, consistency and looks achieve this subtly blended cookie which is certain to please your party guests.

Snow-Topped Chip Kisses

½ cup chopped pecans
2 egg whites (room temperature)
⅔ cup sugar
½ cup crisp corn flakes
1 cup potato chips crushed
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cut brown wrapping paper to fit baking sheet. Do not grease. 10 minutes before baking start oven at 300 degrees.

Beat egg whites with rotary beater until stiff enough to hold peaks. Add sugar in four parts, beating after each addition until shiny peaks form.

With fork fold in nuts gently, then corn flakes and potato chips until distributed thru mixture. Do not beat again. Drop heaped forkfuls on prepared baking sheet, placing mixture about 2 inches apart.

Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown and holding shape.

Ever use part cornmeal, part flour as a dipping mixture for chicken that is to be fried?

When parboiling sweetbreads, you can add vinegar or lemon juice — take your choice.

Has Romney Helped Business—State Opinion Differs

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third of three articles on the Michigan Economy, a review of 1963 and a look into 1964. This one deals with whether business has benefited by Gov. George Romney's administration in Lansing.)

By The Associated Press

There is divided opinion withing the Michigan business community on whether it has benefited directly from Gov. George Romney's Republican administration.

But the consensus is that there has been at least indirect benefit through creation of a so-called better business climate.

Associated Press member newspapers throughout the state participated in sampling opinions of business leaders on whether there had been direct benefit attributable to Romney's administration.

Some said yes. Some said no. Most, however, agreed with this summation by Dr. Paul W. McCracken, University of Michigan professor of business conditions:

OLD IMAGE GONE

"The old image of Michigan as an old, tired, bankrupt ship on shore has just disappeared. I get about the nation quite a bit and I don't run into this feeling anywhere. I give Romney credit for improving this tangible thing we call image."

Dr. McCracken also added that "I think the more sophisticated businessmen are mature enough to know you don't get miracles from anybody."

* * *

The Ann Arbor News reported that business leaders there do not attribute any specific gains by existing industry to the Romney administration, but it quoted William J. Bott, executive director of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, as saying he feels Romney is "a missionary kind of guy" and his prestiege is "helping put Michigan on the move."

Bott pointed to adoption of the state's new constitution as indicative that "Michigan is taking care of its own problems," but said it was his belief fiscal reform with built-in control of expenditures would "do more to change the image of Michigan than anything I can think of."

Managing director Donald D. Falk of L.H. Field Co., Jackson's largest department store, told the Citizen Patriot's Nick Gergacz:

* * *

"The (Romney) administration has done nothing at this point to give anybody a lift. Maybe we'll see gains if some of Romney's programs get going."

* * *

G. Boyd Vass, president of Hayes Industries Inc. of Jackson, said simply, "no," when asked whether Romney's administration had been of any direct benefit to industry.

Jackson bankers Ned A. Kilmer and Travis W. Pearse said there had been, in their opinions, a definite improvement in Michigan's business climate and business image, with Pearse adding:

NAME IN PRINT

"Romney is certainly a national figure and gets our state name in print all over and into discussions among people—and generally to the good."

The Monroe Evening News' H.W. Funk said generally industrialists he talked with felt Romney's administration had been beneficial to them, although they were unable to pinpoint the fields of definite improvement.

* * *

And Funk quoted one business leader as saying: "There's been no gain. His (Romney's) fiscal exchange program, if carried out, would cost us about 10 per cent more."

Industrialist Jim Robbins of Royal Oak, a Romney appointee to the Michigan Economic Advisory Council, told the Daily Tribune's Jim McClear he feels industry has benefitted directly by the Romney administration.

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE

"Businessmen have confidence in Romney," Robbins said. "They know that whatever comes up in the future will be fairly dealth with. We feel he understands problems of business and industry."

The state, however, "must get determination on fiscal reform, one way or another," Robbins continued, "so industry can know what to expect and make plans accordingly."

* * *

The Saginaw News said that its survey showed a majority believe that business and industry have benefited under Romney's administration.

The Midland Daily News said Dow Chemical Co. officials feel "there has not necessarily been a direct benefit to business or state industrial concerns from the Romney administration."

INDIRECT BENEFIT

But the News quoted these same officials as adding: "The great benefit has been the indirect one of raising the level of the image of doing business in the state. While no law has passed during his administration directly benefitting business, the governor's office has gotten a closer friendship, a closer relationship with business."

Dow Corning Corp. spokesmen said at Midland that while no direct benefits had been realized from Romney's administration, businessmen expect further gains because the governor is aware that a different tax structure could make Michigan a better place for business.

* * *

A J.C. Penney executive at Midland said he feels the general business attitude toward Romney is not as good as 60 days ago, chiefly because of the governor's failure to win passage of his proposed tax reform program from the Republican-controlled legislature.

The News said it found a majority of Midland retailers didn't expect any further gains because of the Republican administration.

HASN'T BEEN HURT

Business editor Bob Lewis of the Kalamazoo Gazette reported he found the feeling generally is that industry hasn't been hurt by Romney's administration, and may have been helped.

The Gazette quoted one businessman as saying the general business climate in Kalamazoo had improved under Romney, and another as commenting: "He has given us some degree of confidence."

* * *

F. Joseph Buckley, executive vice president of the Kalamazoo County Chamber of Commerce, however, was quoted as saying the Romney administration "hasn't helped a darn bit, except possibly it has improved the state's image in eyes of out-of-state industrial prospects."

Fair Weather Covers Most of the Nation

By The Associated Press

Cold air nipped areas in the Southeast today but generally seasonal temperatures and mostly fair weather prevailed in the major part of the nation.

Freezing weather was reported in sections of Florida, southern Georgia and southeast Alabama. In Florida, the mercury dropped to 25 above in Cross City, with a reading of 28 in Tallahassee, 30 in Gainesville and 36 in Daytona Beach. Miami's low was 46.

* * *

But Weather Bureau officials forecast warmer weather in the Southeast region and a little cooler in the North Central region. Little change was indicated in other areas.

NEAR ZERO

Temperatures dropped to near zero in parts of Maine and Idaho but no severe cold or heavy snow was reported across the country. Light snow or flurries fell across the northern tier of states while light rain dampened areas in Oregon and western Washington.

A warming trend in the central and southern Plains Wednesday sent temperatures far above normal in many areas. The 63 mark in Norfolk, Neb., was a record high for Dec. 25.

Showroom Destroyed

ROGERS CITY (AP) — Outer walls were all that remained of the Jerry Lynch Motor Sales showroom and garage today. Fire, causing an estimated $65,000 damage, swept through the building Monday after what appeared to be an explosion.

The Nubians plan to resettle on the Atbara River close to the Sudanese-Ethiopian border when Egypt's Aswan High Dam is completed. Egyptians will go north to the Kom Ombo region.

Colorful A's Seek Cow Pasture Park

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charles O. Finley's man Friday says he is going hunting today for a cow pasture to convert into a baseball field for the Kansas City Athletics.

And said Pat Friday, general Manager for A's owner Finley, movers' vans will be moving the tangible assets of the baseball club out of Municipal Stadium and into a bank building.

These startling developments, if they occur, are an outgrowth of an impasse over rent between the controversial but never dull Finley and the city administration. The A's lease expires Dec. 31.

Mayor Ilus Davis and the city council have responded less spectacularly than Finley but they say it is only practical, if a new lease is not negotiated, that the club pay rent on this city property at the present rate.

MOVE OUT

The move out of the stadium, said Finley from his Chicago home, is to keep the city from getting him into a negotiating corner.

"I have been advised," said Finley, "that if we are in the stadium on Jan. 1 we will have committed ourselves to maybe another four-year lease or at least a one-year lease."

The principal bone of contention in the proposed lease is an escape clause that Finley insists on—that the A's could get the stadium for $1 a year—after the first four years—if the attendance doesn't go over 900,000. He says the city gave the Kansas City Chiefs American Football League club a comparable deal when they moved here from Dallas this season.

★ ★ ★

Other less controversial points involve repaying some $300,000 Finley says he has spent improving the city's stadium, concession income etc. They are in agreement or near it on these points, city officials say.

The mayor said Wednesday "there is still a week left . . . and that's plenty of time to negotiate a lease. We invited Mr. Finley eight months ago to come in with his lawyer and negotiate a lease. We never yet have seen him and his lawyer together."

Finley, who was here to meet with city officials last week, said he has been informed the city has mailed him three proposed leases and asked him to sign whichever one he wants.

Finley made it plain he wants none of them.

That's when, he said, he made up his mind to move and start looking for a site for a temporary field.

Friday said there are several farms where they could get 200 acres on which to construct a field. He said he had seen plans for temporary stadiums providing 30,000 to 35,000 seats.

Pro Tilt: Immovable Object vs. Irresistible Force

New Yorkers to Test Tough Bear Defense

Giants Given Edge With Tittle Leading Potent Offense

CHICAGO (AP) — When the final whistle sounds at Wrigley Field Sunday afternoon, ending the championship struggle of National Football League powers New York and Chicago, the question of the irresistible force and the immovable object should be answered.

Until then, the question is: which will be the deciding factor, the Giants' irresistible force — Y. A. Tittle — or the Bears' immovable object—their defense?

The talking game has been played on practice fields and in locker rooms since the Bears won the Western Division and the Giants were triumphant in the Eastern Division. Coaches have moved their pawns in an effort to gain prestige and about $6,000 per man, (the winner's share) one attempting to solve the Bears' defense, the other figuring ways to halt Tittle's passing.

★ ★ ★

Statistics appear to favor the Giants. New York has outscored the Bears 448-301 over 14 regular season games. The Giants have two runners in Phil King and Joe Morrison, who have outgained any Bear by more than 100 yards.

TOP PASSER

Tittle was the league's leading passer this season, and outdid Bear quarterback Billy Wade in statistics. End Del Shofner of the Giants caught 64 passes.

★ ★ ★

But while the Bears lost only once, the Giants' took it on the nose three times.

Coach Allie Sherman of New York said "you can't go by statistics. You have to look at the people you're playing—and we know they're tough."

Owner-Coach George Halas of the Bears has echoed Sherman's comments in praising the Giants.

Tittle will be faced with what some consider the best pass defense in professional football. And the pass defense will be faced with Yelberton Abraham Tittle.

If the field is dry — and the Bears are using all sorts of connivances to assure that it will be—the battle between the 37-year-old Tittle and the Bear secondary could be a classic.

Four defensive halfbacks — Rich Petibon, Rosey Taylor, Dave Whitsell and Benny McRae—combined to steal 29 enemy passes during the NFL season.

★ ★ ★

Workouts were called off for Christmas Day, but the Bears will be hitting again today and every day until Sunday.

Everything ostensibly will be ready Sunday afternoon: the field, the Giants and the Bears. And a batch of four-figure checks.

Lonely in His Glory

SPORTS

Statewide Qualifying for Local PBA Meet

At least seven cities in Michigan are being considered as preliminary qualifying sites for the North American PBA Open to be held March 24-28 at Pontiac's 300 Bowl.

The third annual tournament will carry a purse of $28,000 and will be sponsored by North American Van Lines with home offices in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The PBA has announced that Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Jackson, along with Pontiac, are the cities being considered to hold eliminations for the pro-am event.

First prize in the PBA will be $4,000 while the pro-am division on the opening night of the tournament will carry a first-place prize of $1,000.

TOP 10 PER CENT

Ten per cent of the qualifiers in each city will go into the pro-am finals at 300 Bowl. Each amateur bowler will team up with a member of the PBA in the pro-am and none of the pros will share in the pro-am purse.

There will be nine sessions during the tournament with the finals Saturday afternoon to be nationally televised once again in an hour-and-half program.

Any bowler will be permitted to try to qualify for the pro-am event. Dates, sites and times of qualifying will be announced shortly. Entry fee is $7 and total pro-am purse is $5,000.

★ ★ ★

Joe Puertas, owner at 300 Bowl announced also that tickets for any session of the tournament will be available in advance for 75 cents from local businesses and service clubs.

★ ★ ★

Tickets at the door will be $1.00 for any session with a maximum of 1,000 to be used for any of the night sessions.

Among the top bowlers expected to compete in the tournament are Carmen Salvino, the 1962 champion; Bill Allen, the 1963 champ; Don Carter, Jim St. John, Billy "G", Dick Weber, Johnny King, Billy Welu, Joe Joseph, and many others.

Oakland's Coach Honored by UPI

NEW YORK (UPI) — Al Davis, the energetic young man from Brooklyn who made the Oakland Raiders the most improved team in pro football in 1963, today was voted United Press International coach-of-the-year in the American Football League.

★ ★ ★

Davis won by a landslide in the poll of 24 regular AFL writers who voted for UPI All-Star honors. The group cast 20 votes for Davis and two each for Sid Gillman of the San Diego Chargers and Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots.

★ ★ ★

Under 34-year-old Davis, the Raiders accomplished an astonishing turn-about this season. After winning only one league game in 1962 (and extending a losing streak to 19 games), they compiled a 10-4 record this year and battled the Chargers for the Western Division title right to the final Sunday.

Howe Spurs Red Wings to Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe's second goal of the game broke a 3-3 tie at 9:03 of the final period Wednesday night and gave the Detroit Red Wings a 4-3 National Hockey League victory over the New York Rangers in their traditional Christmas clash.

★ ★ ★

Howe's goal, his 11th of the season, was scored on a tap-in of Alex Delvecchio's shot. It killed a hustling Ranger bid for at least a tie, including an uncommon assist from New York goalie Jacques Plante.

The Rangers took a 1-0 lead on Val Fonteyne's first period goal, while the New York player was killing a penalty, and then came back twice to tie the score.

GIVES ASSIST

Plante set up the second New York tally, ranging out of the nets to beat a Wing to the puck, and firing a pass to Rod Gilbert, whose blue line slap shot forced Wing goalie Roger Crozier's stick into the cage.

Claude LaForge and Floyd Smith scored the other Detroit tallies. Phil Goyette scored the final Ranger goal at 5:42 in the final period to force the 3-3 tie.

★ ★ ★ ★

In other NHL Christmas games, Toronto got two goals from Frank Mahovlich to blitz Boston, 5-1, on the Bruins' home ice, and Chicago defeated Montreal, 3-1, at Chicago on goals by Bobby Hull, Stan Mikita and Reg Fleming, the last into an open net. The victory boosted the Black Hawks into a six-point lead over the second place Canadiens.

Lists Future Defense(s)

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz has announced ambitious plans for a title defense against Flash Elorde in Manila Feb. 1 and two other championship contests within a year.

Of course, the other two defenses, against Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., and Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela, depend on the Puerto Rican-born Ortiz retaining his crown.

Dodger Blitz of Yanks Top Sports Story

MIAMI (UPI)—Far and away the top sports story of the year 1963 was the four straight sweep of the Los Angeles Dodgers over the never-so-treated New York Yankees.

It was completely unpredictable, the manner in which the underdog Dodgers rolled over the perennial world champions. This, plus the ever-lasting drama of the World Series, moved it beyond the realm of the "ordinary" fall classic and put it in a class all by itself.

The leading stories:

1. Dodger World Series victory in four straight over the Yankees.

2. Professional football suspensions.

3. Wally Butts' libel suit against a major magazine.

4. Veteran Julius Boros' playoff victory over Arnold Palmer and Jacky Cupit in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

5. Sonny Liston's second straight one-round knockout of Floyd Patterson.

6. Chicago Bears'. Western Division victory in the NFL pro gridiron race.

7. The death of "Big Daddy" Lipscomb.

8. Jack Nicklaus becoming the youngest winner of the Masters Golf Championship in history.

9. Chateaugay's Kentucky Derby triumph over Never Bend and Candy Spots.

10. Chuck McKinley's victory at Wimbledon.

In Davis Cup Play

Yanks, Aussies Even

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)— Unpredictable Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., won but American tennis ace Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., lost today as the United States and Australia's defenders tied 1-1 in the opening singles of the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Ralston, slender, 21-year-old University of Southern California junior, rulled out of a tailspin to overcome 19-year-old John Newcombe, a surprise starter, 6-4, 6-1, 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, in the opening match of the best of-five series for the storied Cup, symbol of world tennis supremacy.

CAPACITY

Roy Emerson, the 27-year-old Australian champion, downed McKinley, the 22-year-old Wimbledon, king from Trinity University of Texas, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5, to even the competition before a capacity crowd of 7,000 in the Memorial Drive Stadium.

★ ★

The outcome probably will be decided by the doubles match Friday in which Emerson and 20-year-old Neale Fraser will take on Ralston and McKinley. On Saturday, Ralston, who has been playing superbly in Australia, will meet Emerson and McKinley will oppose Newcombe.

★ ★ ★

Before the opening singles, the Americans, making their first appearance in the Challenge Round since losing to Australia 3-2 at Forest Hills, N.Y., in 1959, were favored to end the Aussies' four-year hold on the Cup. The Australians followed their victory over the U.S. with triumphs over Italy in 1960 and 1961 and over Mexico in 1962.

Ralston blew three match points when he was leading 5-3 and 4-0 in the fifth set. Newcombe pulled up to 5-5 but his inexperience proved costly when, with Ralston leading 6-5, he double-faulted to give Ralston match point. This time Denny didn't fail. He smashed Newcombe's service cross court for a clean winner past the net-charging Aussie.

Emerson made a tremendous comeback in the third set after dividing the first two with McKiney. The range Queenslander seemed to be on the way out after losing the second set and trailing 1-4 and 3-5 in the third set. But he steadied his nerves and his service, and then broke McKinley's service in the 10th and 12th games to win.

In the fourth set, Emerson, sensing victory, raced off to a 4-1 lead. He could do no wrong. Then his game faltered and McKinley came storming back to tie the set at 5-5. But that was the stock collegian's last gasp. Emerson once again settled down, held service and made the key service break for victory.

Detroit Goalie Joins U. S. Olympic Team

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Goalie Pat Rupp of Detroit was added to the U.S. Olympic hockey team by Coach Eddie Jeremiah Wednesday night.

Rupp had been playing with the Philadelphia Ramblers of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League after two years with the Junior "A" amateur Flin Flon, Man., Fliers. The 21-year-old player has been with the team on a tryout basis.

Addition of Rupp raises team membership to 17, the number tha twill travel to Europe.

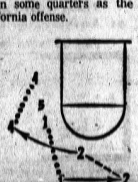
B PLAY

By Dolph Schayes
Philadelphia 76ers Coach

What the Philadelphia 76ers call the B play is designed to provide daylight for a jump shooter to get a clear shot.

The play opens with Number 1 passing the ball to 2. Number 1 then moves to a spot near 5, where they set up a double screen. Number 2 dribbles to the left. Number 4, the jump shooter, uses the double screen set up by 1 and 5 for his pet shot. The roles of 3 and 5 are to serve as rebounders should the shot fail.

SCHAYES



There are many options, the variations depending on how the defense plays the setup.

Most clubs in the National Basketball Association use this particular play, which is known in some quarters as the California offense.

Motor City Classic Starts Friday

Holiday Tourney Schedule Growing

By The Associated Press

It didn't make a real big splash back in the early 30s when the first holiday college basketball tournament was organized, but the idea did catch on.

Catch on? Man, but didn't it just catch on.

It caught on so well, in fact, that the granddaddy of them all, the All-College in Oklahoma City, is now over-shadowed by many of the nearly half a hundred tourneys that have sprung up across the country during the holiday season.

27TH TOURNEY

The 27th All-College is one of eight major tourneys that open play today as the vast tournament schedule hits full stride. A handful was completed last week. At least 13 others open Friday and another Saturday. Still others don't begin play until next week.

Probably the biggest one of them all this season is the Los Angeles Classic, which includes three of the nation's top-ranked teams — Michigan, UCLA and New York University — in its classy field of eight.

OTHERS

The other big ones include the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., where defending champ and ninth-ranked Oregon State is the team to beat; the Big Eight at Kansas City, with tough Oklahoma State possibly the class; and the Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden, featuring Minnesota, Utah, Dayton and Villanova in a field of eight.

* * *

The others opening today include the WCAC at San Francisco, the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., and the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

* * *

Wichita, a former champion and sporting a 6-2 record, is top-seeded in the old All-College, with Wyoming, Oklahoma City and Texas A&M the top challengers.

First - round pairings have Washington vs. Texas A&M, Wyoming vs. Houston, Oklahoma City vs. Idaho and Wichita vs. Montana State. Last year's champion, Chicago Loyola, the NCAA champion and currently top-ranked, is not entered.

* * *

Defending champion UCLA and Michigan, touted as the class of the Big Ten, are the co-favorites in the Los Angeles Classic. Each is 6-0; Michigan No. 3 in the country and UCLA No. 4.

Penn State 5 Against WMU in 1st Game

Holy Cross to Face Titans in Nightcap of 12th Tourney

It will be East versus Midwest in the 12th annual Motor City basketball tournament to be held at U. of D. fieldhouse starting Friday night.

* * *

In the opening game, hard luck Western Michigan, still regarded the tournament favorite, will meet Penn State (2-2) in the opener, while host U. of D. faces Holy Cross in the nightcap.

Western Michigan has lost to such powers as Chicago Loyola, Michigan and Northwestern and has won over Marquette, Notre Dame and Northern Illinois.

Leading the Broncos is Manny Newsome who is listed among the top three players in the country with a 32.0 average per game.

* * *

Penn State, which compiled a 15-5 record last year, has won over Maryland and Syracuse while losing to Duke and North Carolina State.

PLAYMAKER

Penn State's counter to Newsome will be captain Bob Donato, the team's fine playmaker, who is averaging 20 per game.

Holy Cross, long a cage power in the East, is led by John Wendelken, a 6-1 guard who is touted as the best backcourt man since Bob Cousey.

U. of D. with a 4-3 record is currently the 4th best team in the country offensively with a 95.8 per game average. The Titans' best showing was a 113-108 overtime loss to Chicago Loyola, the No. 1 team in the country.

Dick Dzik, leading scorer on the Titan team with 25 points per game, is also among the top rebounders in the country. He is second with 21.0 average in rebounds.

* * *

The consolation game Saturday night will pit the Friday losers at 7:30 p.m. with the championship slated for 9:30 p.m. Saturday night. Western and U. of D. are expected to reach the finals.

Laker Ace Scores 47

Christmas Star in West

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers might have thought they were on the way to their 10th National Basketball Association triumph, but Jerry West had a different idea.

Blanked in the first quarter in New York Wednesday night, the Los Angeles ace poured in 20 points in the final period and helped catapult the Lakers to a come-from-behind 134-126 victory.

* * *

The triumph, coupled with St. Louis' 113-107 loss to Cincinnati, boosted the Lakers' Western Division lead over the Hawks to two games.

CUTS LEAD

West scored 47 points in all, far above his 29.1 average. The Knicks led 54-38 in the second quarter, but West touched off an 8-2 spurt which shaved the Lakers' halftime deficit to 68-58.

Then, in the final period, Los Angeles struck for seven straight points, going ahead to stay. West's field goal broke a 104-104 tie during the streak.

At Cincinnati, Jerry Lucas came alive in the fourth quarter and helped clinch it for the Royals. The rookie, held to six points in the first three periods, tallied nine points as Cincinnati outscored the Hawks 33-32 in the last quarter.

St. Louis had taken the lead several times in the third period but couldn't push ahead to stay.

* * *

Oscar Robertson paced the Royals with 37 points while Cliff Hagan had 33 for the Hawks.

Royal Oak 5's Meet

Royal Oak Dondero will invade Royal Oak Kimball for a cage scrap Friday night, the only game on the area prep schedule outside of tournament action.

* * *

Dondero will take a 2-3 record into the battle. Kimball has racked up a 2-1 mark in Eastern Michigan League competition.

Father-Son to Attend Title Game as Rivals

A father and son will have opposite loyalties but take adjoining seats near the 50-yard line for the Chicago Bears-New York Giants professional championship game Sunday at Wrigley Field in Chicago.

The son is Charles Walby II, 14, son of Charles Sr. of 7280 South Tratham Court.

* * *

The younger Walby, a member of the Detroit Lions Junior Fan Club, entered a contest sponsored by Hughes-Hatcher-Suffrin and won the trip for he and his father to the pro playoff tilt. He was one of 10,000 Fan Club members entered in the contest.

The two will leave Detroit Metropolitan Airport Saturday for Chicago and stay overnight at the Windy City's Sheraton Hotel.

* * *

Sunday is the big day. The two will move into choice seats in packed Wrigley Field and they may encounter a bit of disagreement when the game gets under way.

Charles II is a Bear fan. His father is a Giant follower.

Tickets for the trip were presented to the Walbys Tuesday by Jerry Silverman, manager of the Pontiac Mall store.

Ohl Returns to Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — Sharpshooting guard Don Ohl will be back in the Detroit Pistons lineup Thursday at Baltimore, the National Basketball Association team announced Wednesday.

Ohl missed seven games because of a severe ankle sprain.

The Pistons won only two of the seven, and part of the trouble can be blamed on a heavy share of injuries to key players, including Ohl, center Bob Ferry, and guard-forward Dave De Busschere.

Civilian Joins 3 GIs on U.S. Ski-Rifle Unit

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — A civilian and three members of the military were named Monday to the U.S. Biathlon team which will compete in January and February in the Winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Australia.

Top man in the grueling test of cross-country skiing and rifle marksmanship was Charles Ackers of Andover, Maine, with 512.47 points.

Close behind was the only civilian among the four team members and one alternate. He is Peter Lahdenpera, a Fort Collins, Colo., skip shop operator, who scored 510 points.

Paul Renne of nearby Bozeman, son of Montana State College President R. R. Renne, was third qualifier with 476.67.

★ ★ ★

Filling out the team are Bill Spencer of Salt Lake City, Utah, 400.18 and alternate Wayne Fleming, Shareon, Mass., with 383.48.

Lahdenpera finished the 20-mile course over Southern Montana's timbered mountains in the fastest time Monday but finished in third place for the day because of penalties for five missed shots.

Ackers covered the course in 104 minutes, 46 seconds, two minutes behind Lahdenpera and one minute behind Renne but his accuracy in hitting 18 of 20 shots paid off. Renne hit 17 targets.

The skiers stop four times five shots at eight to 12 inch during the 20-mile trip to take 250 meters away. Shots may be targets that may be from 100 to first three targets, but the last fired from any position for the stop must be from the off-hand, or standing position.

One miss means a two-minute penalty.

★ ★ ★

Named to the U.S. military team that will compete in Europe against other military units were the Olympic team members, other than Lahdenpera, plus: Herbert Thomas, Wenatchee, Wash.; Otto Robsahm, Anchorage, Alaska; Karl Bohlin, Minneapolis; Charles Kellogg, Andover, Mass.; Lindwood Bean, Hanover, N.H., and E. F. Hubbard, Franconia, N.H.

Better Skiing Expected

Area Slopes Making Snow for Weekend

Ski Lessons Increase at Local Resorts by Trained Personnel

Conditions are expected to be on the upswing for area skiing this weekend as cold weather and snow flurries increase throughout Southeastern Michigan.

★ ★ ★ ★

With the warmer temperatures early this week some ice and bare spots have been seen on the slopes but most resorts have overcome these problems with manufactured snow and crushing techniques.

All area resorts have returned to their normal schedules, opening at 10 a.m. daily. Special New Year's schedules for next week will be released soon.

Conditions on many slopes are good-to-very good, although fair-to-good skiing may be expected at Pontiac Lake recreation area and Teeple Hill where they depend on natural snow.

★ ★ ★

Mt. Brighton also reports fair-to-good skiing with all facilities operating.

★ ★ ★

Pine Knob has very good conditions with a 10- to 12-inch base and all facilities in operation.

SPECIALTIES

Special programs have been initiated at several local areas. Mt. Holly, which has a big schedule of competitive skiing this year, offers racing instruction to the teams in special classes.

Grampian Mountain also has racing instruction and free jumping lessons. There are free beginners' lessons at Dryden.

These same areas, plus others such as Summit, Alpine Valley, Brighton, Pine Knob and Mt. Christie, have regular ski schools to teach group, private and semiprivate lessons.

★ ★ ★

The school personnel are specially trained and assigned. Many of them have been in the area for several years and are well acquainted with local skiing.

★ ★ ★

The pleasures of skiing are much more evident when the skier has taken lessons and learned the right way to manipulate the equipment and the body.

Skiers are warned not to underestimate the value of training when it comes to testing the slopes at the many fine area resorts.

SKI LIGHTS — Holiday night skiing brought thousands of skiers to local slopes and the remaining holiday season is expected to crowd snow enthusiasts through next week. Mt. Holly's lodge is shown lighted up at night.

Santa Leaves Skiers New, 'Ideal' Resort

HARBOR SPRINGS — Santa Claus left a special gift in the stockings of Midwest ski enthusiasts—a new, plush ski resort called Boyne Highlands.

The opening of the resort gives Michigan eight new ski centers this season and a total of 85, more than any other state in the nation. Only New York, with 81, is in close contention to the Wolverine State in the amount of ski areas available to the public.

The Highlands, the second major development built by former Detroit auto dealer Everett Kircher, is situated on what Michigan skiers have long conceded to be the state's most ideal slope.

It was never previously developed because an elderly farmer held 80 acres right in the heart of the 1,400 acre site and refused to sell his property. Finally, this year, Kircher bought the man out for $65,000 and development work has been in progress at full speed since last summer.

For the last month more than 100 tradesmen, most of them from the economically depressed area of northwestern lower Michigan, have been at work on 18-hour days readying the inn and the runs.

Tonight the resort will officially open. Construction of the Highlands, which has 10 slopes, has cost Kircher more than $1.5 million.

"Actually we've spent very close to $2 million, far more than our planned budget, Kircher said.

Within the next five years Kircher, who also owns the nearby Boyne Mountain resort, plans to invest a total of $10 million in his new resort.

Northwest League Has 2 Teams in Tourney

The two leaders in the Northwest Suburban League will be on hand this evening for the tip-off of the three-day Riverside Basketball Tournament.

North Farmington's Raiders, leading the Northwest loop with a 2-0 record, and Thurston's Eagles (1-0) will join six other suburban squads for the holiday tourney.

★ ★ ★

The eight teams pair off tonight for the first round of action. Semifinal games are scheduled for Friday evening with the championship scrap set for Saturday.

Riverside, winner of the tourney for the past two years, will share the favorite's role along with Willow Run and Ecorse.

★ ★ ★

Monroe Catholic Central and Haston will launch the tourney action today at 5 p.m., followed by Ecorse and Thurston at 6:30 p.m., North Farmington and Romulus at 8 p.m. and Riverside and Willow Run at 9:30 p.m.

AFL Gridiron 'Warm Spot' for Playoff

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—War Memorial Stadium, which today lies under a protective coating of chemical crystals and 50 tons of straw, will have its back massaged Saturday.

Still, you can't convince Boston's Mike Holovak or Buffalo's Lou Saban that modern science will prevent a frozen field for Saturday's Eastern Division title playoff in the American Football League.

The chemical crystals have been spread on the ground to promote melting. The straw provides heat to melt snow. And a tractor armed with high brushes will give the turf its massage.

Holovak and Saban, however, are making their plans on the assumption that the field will be frozen.

Holovak worked his Patriots out on a snowy practice field in Boston Wednesday and emphasized, "It will give us a preview of coming attractions. It might surprise us and turn out that the weather is less than frozen, but we're going on the assumption that we'll be playing on a frozen field."

Coaches Pick Aides for Pro Bowl Game

LOS ANGELES (AP)—George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears named his coaching staff Wednesday for the Western Conference National Football League All-Stars in the 14th annual Pro Bowl game Jan. 12 at Memorial Coliseum.

★ ★ ★

Halas picked Luke Johnsos, Phil Handler and George Allen, all on the Bears' coaching staff.

★ ★ ★

Allie Sherman of the New York Giants, head man for the Eastern Conference team, earlier named Andy Robustelli, Ken Kavanaugh and Ed Kolman as his assistants.

If there's such a thing as a skier's car, you're looking at it!
A SAAB is designed for tough Scandinavian winters where it bites through blizzards, pulls through icy rutted roads, and performs flawlessly at 40° below. An ideal car for Olympic ski champions like Egon and Penny Pitou Zimmermann. An ideal car for anyone who travels or lives in ski country.
• SAAB's unusual 3-cylinder, 2-stroke engine starts instantly.
• SAAB's front-wheel drive gives solid traction on snow and ice.
• SAAB's superlative heater and defroster keep you comfortable and the windows fog-free.
• SAAB's engine, transmission and differential are warranted for 2 years or 24,000 miles (long enough for 2 winters).
A real winter car? Real winter people like Egon and Penny Pitou Zimmermann think so. Come in for a test drive. We think you'll agree. Only

This Fish Story a Real Bomb

ANZIO, Italy (AP) — When he felt all that weight in his net, Ugo Carotenuto was the happiest fishing boat captain in Italy.

Then he saw what it was—and called for the Navy.

He had netted a two-ton German aerial bomb dropped in World War II.

★ ★ ★

The Navy hauled it 15 miles offshore and let it sink in 3,500 feet of water.

Love Letter to U.S.

America Gets Cinema Tribute

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — In "America, America" Elia Kazan has composed an epic poem in tribute to his family and his adopted land.

★ ★ ★

The film is poetic, yet novelistic in style; indeed, the narrative was first published by Kazan in novel form. The story obviously flowed from his heart. The result is a masterwork that will long endure.

THOMAS

The triumph is Kazan's all the way. He is the writer, director and producer. He obviously has chosen the settings and the characters with a loving eye. For his main figure he picked a completely unknown and inexperienced actor, molding him to fit perfectly the concept Kazan had in mind.

★ ★ ★

The theme of "America, America" is so basic and dramatic in the history of this land that it is amazing it has never been adequately treated on the screen before.

Stavros Topouzoglou — actually Kazan's uncle — is a Greek boy living in Turk-held country at the end of the last century. He sees the Turks terrorize the Armenians in retaliation for Constantinople bombings. He sees his large family living in fear that the Greeks will be next in line.

HOPE FOR FUTURE

Stavros' father believes the boy is the family's hope for liberation and sends him off to Constantinople with their small wealth. The plan was for Stavros to invest the money in a business. But the boy has another dream: America.

★ ★ ★

The journey is a disaster from the start. Stavros is beaten, robbed and degraded. He tries to work for his passage to America, only to have his savings robbed by a prostitute. He seeks to marry money but loses his nerve and finds an even more debasing method to earn a ticket for New York. Even then he is thwarted within sight of his goal.

★ ★ ★

"America, America" is no sugary love letter to the United States. Kazan makes no concessions for sentiment or the trappings of a commercial movie and hence the film may fall short of being a popular attraction.

★ ★ ★

But it is Kazan's lack of compromise that gives "America, America" its cumulative power. You are caught up in the Odyssey of this modern Greek because it is completely real. The photography by Haskell Wexler, sometimes blurred like life itself, reflects the mood and texture of the land and its people.

★ ★ ★

There is a sequence at the end of "America, America" in which the mass of immigrants are huddled in Ellis Island enclosures like cattle in a stockyard. Then the barriers are lifted and the throng pours out to the new nation. It is a fitting climax for a film that will be full of meaning for most Americans.

Chance of Income Tax Cut Influences '63-'64 Returns

By CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The almost certain prospects of an income tax reduction in 1964 make tax planning for the few remaining days of 1963 doubly important.

Of particular importance is the sale of property such as common stock, which could take place in either 1963 or 1964. Should you wait to sell?

In general, it is wise to postpone income until lower tax rates are effective. Although there is no guarantee that Congress will pass the Kennedy-Johnson tax cut bill, we can assume at the very least that rates will not be higher next year.

★ ★ ★

Thus, although individual cases may vary, planning transactions to put taxable income into 1964 and taking losses in 1963 is probably a smart move.

NO EFFECT

The tax cut bill, passed by the House and now before the Senate Finance Committee, will have no effect on the individual 1963 tax return you must file by April 15, 1964.

One note on early filing of your 1963 return which is of particular interest to new fathers:

If you filed a 1963 declaration of estimated tax, then, by filing your form 1040 and paying your full, remaining 1963 tax by Jan. 31, 1964, you don't have to pay your fourth and final tax installment otherwise due on Jan. 15.

★ ★ ★

Men who become fathers in the period between Sept. 1, 1963, and Jan. 1, 1964, and follow this procedure do not have to file an amended declaration to show their new exemption.

TAX REMINDER

All other taxpayers who filed declarations of estimated tax are reminded that final payments are due on Jan. 15, 1964. Your return for 1963 may be filed any time up until April 15.

If you are a stockholder, there are two key rules to remember if you want to postpone gains until 1964 or take losses in 1963. Most of us are on the so-called "cash basis" of accounting and these rules apply:

● To take losses in depreciated stock in 1963, you must sell it on or any time before Dec. 31.

★ ★ ★

● To take gains as soon as possible on stock which has appreciated in value but to postpone taxation until 1964, you may sell the stock any time after Christmas Day.

★ ★ ★

The House-passed version of the tax cut bill has two advantages for owners of stock and other capital assets which have appreciated in value:

RATES REDUCED

First, regular ordinary income rates were reduced. Therefore, for everyone filing a joint return with less than $44,000 of taxable income, the tax on capital gains is in general, automatically reduced.

Second, a special category of capital gains was created — here the stock, for example, was held more than two years.

For this category, the amount of the gain included in ordinary taxable income was to be reduced to 40 per cent of the gain instead of the present 50 per cent.

There is a chance that the Senate will eliminate this second advantage.

FIRST ADVANTAGE

But, if the tax cut bill becomes law at all, it is almost certain that postponement of capital gains until 1964 will give you the first advantage of a lower tax rate.

If your appreciated stock has been held two years or more (or will be held that long by Jan. 1), it may be doubly wise to postpone taxation in the hope the House bill will be the law enacted and effective for next year.

Now Is The Hour To Plan Tax Returns

Lighting Problems Faced by Schools

Providing effective light controls for the modern classroom is one of the many problems facing school authorities throughout the country.

This problem is becoming increasingly acute, says Frank Vecchiarelli, lighting specialist, because it is a by-product of two of the most significant trends in today's educational picture.

The trend in school construction, he explains, is toward a constantly increasing use of glass, while the trend in teaching is toward greater use of visual materials.

Each of these aspects of the educational picture has developed independently of the other, he points out.

MUST BLACK OUT

As a consequence they are at some variance, since projection equipment — and television, as well—can be used only when the teacher in the individual classroom can quickly and effectively black out the huge glass areas the architects have provided.

The problem is being augmented annually, he says, by the postwar spiral of new school construction, which has risen from a national total of $101 million in 1946 to an estimated $4 billion in 1963.

Its solution is being left largely to local school authorities, who often must provide light control installations from operating instead of construction budgets.

The average output per United States coal miner has risen from 7.47 tons a day in 1952 to 15.41 tons, highest rate in the world.

LBJ Is Hep on Fashions for College

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson proved he's well up on college fashions.

He bought his daughter, Lynda Bird, 19, a Texas University sophomore, a gay red Marimekko dress from Finland for Christmas. The style is a popular item on American campuses.

A leisure time, casual dress, it is like a loose shift type with a high yoke.

Mrs. Johnson and her two daughters have been steering clear of naming designers of their clothing since coming to the White House.

★

But, the President readily told reporters his gift dress was a Marimekko and that he had been foresighted enough to buy it while on his recent visit to the Scandinavian countries as vice president.

LISA GAE KNUDSEN

Lisa Knudsen to Wed H. H. Flint in Summer

Mr. and Mrs. Semon E. Knudsen have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lisa Gae, to H. Howard Flint, son of the Edgar B. Flints of West Long Lake Road.

* * *

The announcement was made as 40 members of both families gathered for a Christmas dinner in the Knudsen home on Bingham Road.

* * *

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Bloomfield Country Day School for Girls and is attending Cazenovia Junior College at Cazenovia, N.Y.

* * *

She is the granddaughter of the late Gen. and Mrs. William S. Knudsen of Detroit and the late Mr. and Mrs. Rollin McConnell also of Detroit.

Her fiance is a graduate of Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa and is attending the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in Philadelphia.

* * *

A summer wedding is planned.

Quadrille Club Dances in Home

The William Schmiels of Marlborough Drive opened their home on Saturday to the Elks Sashay Quadrille Club for dinner and dancing.

* * *

Callers were the club president Bert Denham, Oscar Denham, Howard Upton and Mr. Schmiel.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Helps With Musical Play

TV Director Can't Take Vacation

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

She came from London for a vacation with her brother and found herself directing a musical production. Prudence Nesbitt, sister of the Rev. T. H. Michael Nesbitt (assistant rector at Christ Church Cranbrook), works in educational television in England.

* * *

She and Robert Bates, the choir director, are rehearsing with over 100 young singers and musicians in a production of Benjamin Britton's "Noye's Fludde." The composer took an old miracle play and set it to music, some of which is deliberately simple for inexperienced players.

* * *

Miss Nesbitt had seen the play in England when it was first presented. But she had no idea it was being given in America at this time.

* * *

She has been in America before. Her actor parents, toured the States when she was young. And she was a guest in her brother's home last year.

CONVENTION

One of the first things she did this time was attend a convention of educational television directors in Milwaukee. Naturally, she enjoys talking shop.

* * *

Unlike our educational television, the British version is done in a commercial manner. Professional actors are used: the material is presented in a more dramatic form; and it is sent out on the regular channels every day. It is used for enrichment rather than teaching.

* * *

Miss Nesbitt works for the Associated Re-Diffusion Company. She not only helps to set up the programs, but she visits schools to watch the reaction of the children. Seeing what teachers do for preparation and follow-up is important.

SOAP OPERA STYLE

What sort of programs does she work on? She mentioned a 12-part series on Shakespeare. There was a series called, "Days to Remember" and one about "Everyday Things."

* * *

The latter can lead to all sorts of interesting subjects. For instance, when the production group did a story on shoes, they found themselves involved eventually with the original Cinderella story. Did you know that the slipper was made of fur and that translation from Old French turned it into glass?

* * *

The play Miss Nesbitt is directing will be presented Sunday at two performances in Christ Church Cranbrook—4 and 5:30 p.m. It is open to the public.

Prudence Nesbitt of London, England, might be accused of taking a busman's holiday. Arriving for an extended visit with her brother, the Rev. T. H. Michael Nesbitt, she has been drafted into directing "Noye's Fludde" at Christ Church Cranbrook. With her are two of the cast, Robin Turner, West Long Lake Road and Jerome Hipps, Bloomfield Hills. Miss Nesbitt works in educational television in England.

Can't Take Hospitality After Fight

The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am one of 10 mothers who meet once a month to discuss our children and other topics. Each month the meeting is held in someone else's house.

* * *

After the discussion, refreshments are served. Two weeks ago I had an argument with one of the women and we are no longer speaking.

* * *

Next month the group is to meet at her house. Would it be right for me to go to her house or should I stay away?

* * *

A: If you are not speaking to each other, you should certainly not go to her house.

Q: A club sandwich is usually served in a restaurant, with toothpicks to keep each section together. Should the toothpick be removed before eating each section?

* * *

A friend says it should be left in to keep the contents from spilling out. Will you please settle this?

* * *

A: Very definitely the toothpick should be removed before eating the sandwich.

* * *

Q: For reasons too lengthy to enumerate, our son's fiancee's parents refuse to make a public announcement of her engagement.

Must it be made by her parents, or may my husband and I announce it? We would like to see it announced, but want it done properly.

* * *

A: I'm sorry, but you and your husband cannot announce the engagement. If the bride's parents refuse to announce it, a notice may be sent to the newspaper by your son's fiancee, reading: "The engagement of Miss Mary Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith of 10 Park Terrace, is announced to Mr. Jonathan Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blake of this city," without making the announcement in the name of anyone.

* * *

Q: My son has asked me to write to a young friend of his and invite her to our house for the weekend. She is someone he met at college and is a complete stranger to me.

* * *

I would like to know how to begin my note to her. Do I say, "Dear Mary," or "Dear Miss Jones"?

* * *

A: While "Dear Miss Jones" is correct when writing to a stranger, it would be much more friendly to begin a note to a young friend of your son's, "Dear Mary."

* * *

How and when to introduce people seems to trouble many. The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Introductions," gives a helpful information on this subject.

* * *

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Won't Take Long for Boss to Hear About Long Break

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an employe who arrives at her job promptly at 9 a.m., but spends the first half - hour of her working day fixing herself coffee? (She sends out for doughnuts or rolls because she hasn't as yet had her breakfast.)

ABBY

There is a coffee break at 10 in which she participates.

No one has the nerve to report her to the office manager because she is a nice person otherwise, and we don't want to start trouble.

CO-WORKERS

DEAR CO-WORKERS: If she's so naive that she doesn't know she is chiseling the company, and incurring the resentment of her co-workers to boot, somebody should tell her.

If she knows and doesn't care, it's only a matter of time before the office manager finds out.

All offices have a little birdie, which sings occasionally.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is right for my mother-in-law to walk into our bedroom when we are in bed?

She has done this several times. We live in a house trailer in our in-law's yard, and she does my washing for me.

I don't have a place to wash so I offered to take my things to her place and do it myself, but my mother-in-law insists on doing it herself.

It is really a big help to me because I have a pair of twins 2 years old who take a lot of my time.

* * *

Well, she walks into our bedroom to get the clothes and I want to know if I should tell her not to, or should my husband tell her, since it's his mother?

WALKED IN ON

* * *

DEAR WALKED: It isn't necessary for anyone to tell her. Gather the clothes together the night before wash day and take them to your mother-in-law's house.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced man of 44. I have been practically married for the past two years (all but the legal formalities) to a very wonderful woman who is 29, and is also a divorcee.

Neither of us has children. Abby, I love this woman and have been begging her to marry me for almost as long as I have known her, but she insists that she does not want the responsibilities of marriage.

She says she loves me and wishes to continue our relationship as it is, free of legal commitments.

I want a conventional life, complete with wife and family. She does not. How can I get her to change her mind?

WANTS A WIFE

DEAR WANTS: I doubt if you can. Start looking for a conventional woman — this time in a more conventional way.

DEAR ABBY: Is it normal for a young unmarried girl to pal around with a married woman 20 years her senior?

Neither seems to have any other friends. I am wondering if it is wise for a fellow even to attempt to get acquainted with this girl.

She is very intelligent and attractive, but I don't know if she would have any interest in me. What is your advice?

A FELLOW

DEAR FELLOW: There is only one way to find out. Ask her!

Northern Trip After Ceremony

The junior Vern T. Darlingtons left for a northern Michigan honeymoon following their recent marriage and reception in the First Methodist Church.

The former Anna Jane Reynolds is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Reynolds of Fiddis Avenue.

★ ★ ★

For the candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. Carl G. Adams, the bride chose sequined Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white satin styled chapel sweep.

★ ★ ★

Her veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl orange-blossom tiara. Red roses centered her cascade bouquet of white carnations which repeated the altar flowers.

ONE ATTENDANT

Alberta Stark, the bride's only attendant appeared in a red velvet gown styled with scoop neckline and long sleeves. She held a white fur muff topped with red carnations.

★ ★ ★

Frank H. Darlington was best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Vern T. Darlingtons of Wixom. Julius Nelson of Milford and the bride's brother-in-law, Robert A. Lail of Hammond, Ind., were ushers.

The newlyweds will make their home in Wixom.

France Feasts at Christmas

Christmas in France is not an entirely solemn, religious festival. After the mass, French families everywhere repair to their homes for the "Reveillon" — just about the finest meal of the year.

The fantastic fare served up at a reveillon varies according to regional specialties, but in Paris, for example, a typical menu consists of pate de foie gras, oysters, turkey or goose, cheese, and a special Christmas cake called a "buche de Noel" and shaped like the traditional yule log.

MRS. DARLINGTON JR.

By the end of the decade there will be an increase of 37 million local library users, it is predicted.

Save Hang-Tags for Laundry

One of the best habits to get into these days is that of saving the manufacturer's hang-tags that come with your clothing. With the complicated world of fabrics today, no homemaker can be expected to keep all the specialized information in her head.

It's much better to collect it in a recipe file box or post it on a bulletin board on the inside of your closet door, or even keep the tag right on a certain hanger which would be assigned to a specific garment.

These are ideal ways to keep laundering instructions of garments at your fingertips.

What a Girl Must Know About Boys

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I'm 17 and really thought that the fellow I'm writing about loved me as much as I love him. My problem is that he hasn't called me since one night last week when he got me to go to his house by saying his parents were at home.

They were out for the evening and we got into a terrible fight because I wouldn't let him make out the way he wanted.

I'm going crazy, but my parents say I should be ashamed to want to call him after what happened. . . .

ANSWER: Why "ashamed"? You want to call this boy to free yourself from him. And need more evidence of his disinterest in you to do it.

You're still hooked on the hope that he likes you enough to understand your refusal.

You need to test this hope by calling him. That's nothing to be ashamed about at all.

Let me talk to your father and mother.

NOT WORTH IT

Dear parents, it's clear to you that this boy isn't worth your daughter's interest. But you're older than she is.

You've lived longer — and know that a person who'll lie to get himself sexual release will lie to get himself other forms of satisfaction.

But your 17-year-old daughter doesn't yet know this. She needs to learn it. If she telephones this boy, she may.

He'll lie to her again, excusing his failure to call her with some trumped-up story just as he trumped up the lie of his parents' presence to get her to enter his house with him.

AT ONE TIME. . .

Time was when girls could afford to respect the rule that forbids the female to pursue the male.

But that was the time when they could depend on their parents to produce responsible prospects for husbands. Now they have to forage for reliable husbands themselves.

Instead of letting Papa check on the young male's income, reputation and background, they have to test his reliability themselves. Because they are inexperienced in judging reliability, they may have to test it several times.

They may have to telephone the boy who has disappointed them once in order to give him a chance to disappoint them twice.

They can't afford the maidenly modesty that was appropriate to maidens whose parents judged their young men for them.

Let this child make her call.

The boy will lie again. Next time a male-on-the-make lies to her, she may not have to call him. She'll know what you know.

Shepherdess Brings Roses

There is a beautiful legend surrounding the white rose of Christmas that recounts how on that first Christmas Eve a little shepherdess, journeying to Bethlehem with the shepherds who had heard the angel's message, was lagging behind saddened because she had no gift to bring the new-born king.

★ ★ ★

Suddenly an angel appeared scattering beautiful white roses in her path.

Indiana Rites Unite Pair

Rev. Raleigh Walker officiated at the marriage of Mary Ann Hicks of Warren, Ind. to Pvt. James Stewart Wiles recently in the Lincolnvale Evangelical United Brethern Church near Wabash.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hicks of East Princeton Avenue are parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wiles of Wabash.

For the candlelight ceremony and church reception, the bride chose a floor-length white satin gown, styled with scoop neckline and wrist-point sleeves.

She wore a waist-length veil of French illusion and carried white chrysanthemums bordered with simulated poinsettia leaves.

FUR HEADPIECES

White fur headpieces accented sheath gowns of forest green velveteen for honor matron Mrs. Antonia Koreiba of Monroe and red velveteen for Mrs. Dottie Newlin of Warren, Ind. who was bridesmaids. Their bouquets were white pompons.

Cindy Carter was flowergirl and Markie Coon carried the rings.

Ronnie Arrick was best man. John Paul Pullen and Dave Hummer ushered with the bridegroom's cousins Max Carter and Dick Tucker. All are of Wabash.

The bride is a graduate of Marion College, Marion, Ind. and will live in Warren, Ind. after a southern honeymoon. Her husband is in basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

The engagement of their daughter Susan Louise to Michael T. Chrisman is announced by her parents, the Harvey Leinengers of Mikewood Drive.

Gals Gay Over New Initial Pin

Smart new initial pins have caught on as the winter season's fashion touch in jewelry.

This dramatic personalized type of adornment assures smartness and good taste, plus individuality. The very popular pins are available in script or block style, in gold or chrome-polished finish, and come in many sizes to dress up casual wear.

The large initial pins are ideal for jumpers, shifts, knit suits, coats, sweaters and skirts. Be sure the pin is placed low at the neckline or off center. They are most effective on skirt bands.

Keep the individual in mind when selecting the pins. If the recipient is a dainty delicate personality, select the script pin. The block style would be flattering for the outdoor type of gal.

A great deal of ingenuity is being shown by fashion experts on wearing pins. They are most intriguing on headbands, watch bands, belts, purses and gloves. The teenager could provoke quite a stir among the soda set by pinning initials on her socks or even on canvas shoes. The smaller initials would be preferable for this more minute article of wear.

They add so much to the over-all appearance of the wearer and there is so much that can be done with the pins. They can be worn singly, in pairs, as monograms, or to spell out names.

Surprisingly, even the male contingent is wearing initials with clutch backs on jacket lapels or as tie tacks.

Have You Tried This?

Three-Layer Cookie

By JANET O'DELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you have need for one more cookie to add to your holiday assortment, here is a rich chocolate bar cookie.

Mrs. Gordon Waite is our cook today. She says she loves everything about homemaking. Sewing is her hobby.

CRISPY CHOCOLATE STICKS

By Mrs. Gordon Waite

Cookie layer:
1 square unsweetened chocolate
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 egg
½ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
¼ cup chopped pecans

Filling:
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 cup confectioners sugar
1 tablespoon evaporated milk or cream
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Glaze:
1 square unsweetened chocolate
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

For cookie layer melt chocolate and butter or margarine over hot water. Cool slightly. Beat egg until frothy and stir in chocolate and sugar. Add flour and nuts and blend well.

Spread in greased 8x8x2 pan. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool.

Put filling ingredients into small bowl and beat until smooth. Spread over cooled chocolate layer and chill 10 minutes.

Melt glaze chocolate and butter or margarine together over hot water. Pour glaze over filling, tilting pan to spread it evenly. Chill again until glaze is set. Cut into sticks.

This recipe may be doubled and made in a 9x13 pan.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: I bought some inexpensive thin cotton print for curtains for a bedroom. I was always taught to pull threads to make hems even, but on this printed material I find that the print does not coincide with the weave of the material. How should I go about making hems in my curtains? Mrs. S. J.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. S. J.: The warp and woof threads of any fabric must be even when the fabric is woven, however in processing and dyeing it will often become pulled uneven and printed unevenly.

Your best bet is to cut the curtains even with the pattern which in this case is more important than pulling the threads for the hems.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

As a tailor for almost 50 years, may I tell your readers how to remove the pleats from men's trousers without ripping the side seams? First, rip off the waistband about 1 inch past the pleats. Press the pleats out, lay the waistband back on the trousers and chalk mark your new cutting line. Lay the 'trouser fly' down for a pattern before you cut. Replace slide fastener and fly as done originally.

(Gals, this might be easy for Mr. Sieger, but I had to practice on an old pair of trousers and found it a little tricky to say the least, but we know now that it can be done!)

Mr. Frank Sieger, Detroit, Mich., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice: I am making a cocktail suit out of a very beautiful brocade. My pattern calls for a pleat in the skirt but I don't think pleats look well on dressy fabrics. Isn't there some kind of a pleat that looks like a slit? Mrs. J. B.

Dear Mrs. J. B.: The pleat you are referring to is often called an "Irene Pleat" because it was originally designed and used by the famous designer Irene.

★ ★ ★

This type of pleat can be used in most any kind of suit and is especially attractive in heavy fabrics that would be too bulky and thick for a standard pleat.

Allow a minimum of 1½ inch for the center back seam and leave about 6 inches open above the hemline for the skirt slit. Finish the edges as you would finish any vent.

Cut a separate piece of fabric about 15 inches wide and 12 inches deep. Hem each of the sides with a deep hem and also hem the lower edge in a regular hem width. This panel will be entirely free-hanging.

★ ★ ★

Adjust the length so that the panel is the same length as your finished skirt, and catch stitch panel ot the lining of your skirt only. If you have a separate lining, it may be attached to that.

I know you will enjoy the freedom of the deep slit in the skirt and also the flat, neat finish at the hemline.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: Kacquiard: A type of loom for making intricate small patterns on brocade, silks, wools, such as the type of pattern used most often in meh's ties.

Sons Honor Parents on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Hall of North Telegraph Road will attend a 50th wedding anniversary open house for their parents Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Hall of Grand Blanc Dec. 29.

★ ★ ★

Both were born in 1891 and married Christmas eve, 1913. The open house is to be held in the Atlas Community Church in Atlas.

★ ★ ★

Other children to be there include Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Hall Jr., of Frembes Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Delray Hall of Clarkston; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Poirier of Milford; Mr. and Mrs. Carol Hall of Clawson; and Norma Hall of Grand Blanc.

★ ★ ★

Completing the list are Rev. and Mrs. Lyle Legg, African missionaries; Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hall of Renton, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Hall of Larksbur, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hall of Ludington.

★ ★ ★

The Daniel W. Hall seniors have forty grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

St. Michaels Association Sets Winter Family Ball

The dance committee for St. Michaels Athletic Association met recently to settle the details for the Jan. 25 "Winter Family Ball."

★ ★ ★

Spiritual director of the committee is Father David A. Britz of St. Michaels. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook are chairmen and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thornberry are co-chairmen.

★ ★ ★

Other members are Mr. and Mrs. James Niebauer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gillette, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Backes.

Completing the list are: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Omans and Harold Martin.

★ ★ ★

The dance will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the parish hall on Lewis Street. It is sponsored by St. Michaels Athletic Association and all proceeds go to the athletic fund.

Paper Candles Brighten Room

Another attractive table decoration is a group of "candles" made from different sized coffee and oatmeal containers. Cover some containers in a two-toned design and others in paper a coordinating solid color wrap. Decorate shapes with Christmas tree beads or gold embossed Christmas tags.

Spray Decoration for Pretty Cookies

Cookies can now be turned into eye-catching, attractive morsels in seconds with a new cookie decorator in push-button form. The aerosol container has four different applicators for a variety of designs and the tasty product comes in three colors, red, green and white—for colorful, gourmet touches.

When a holiday recipe calls for a jigger of liquor, you are safe in adding 1½ to 2 ounces.

Dessert Topping

Crush dry macaroons into crumbs. Top a fruit compote with whipped cream and sprinkle the crumbs over the cream. This cream and macaroon topping is especially delicious over prunes that have been cooked in red wine.

Rent or Buy? An Individual Problem

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

We are in our fifties. We sold our home which was old, always something to repair, and put the money in rental property and moved in one apartment.

* * *

We have had the place long enough now to know that we don't enjoy living in it! Busy, neon-lit, noisy street, no place for gardening which we miss although didn't think we would, closet-size rooms.

MARY FEELEY

Because we occupy one apartment ourselves, it will take a good 15 years to finish paying for the building. Our problem is whether to hang on to the rental place and put about $1,500 into a small house for ourselves.

Or would we be smarter to rent another place for ourselves and put the money from the property to work for us (as they say!)? Or should we sell the rental property outright and apply the money toward the house? By now you will gather that I am confused!

Though our take-home pay is small, money is taken from each check to be applied to a retirement fund, and we should have almost as much coming in then as we have now.

TOO CONCERNED

So we aren't too concerned about the "tired" years — but about what to do toward getting a little more enjoyment out of these living years right now.

I sincerely hope you can devote a little space toward advising people of our age group about housing. I know many who are as perplexed as we. Their families, like ours, have grown smaller or left altogether and there's the question of what to do about the old homestead.

Mrs. J. M., Portland, Ore.

Dear Mrs. M.:

In your case, I say sell the rental property outright and put your money into a house that feels like home.

It would be a mistake, I think, to make your decision solely on the basis of financial profit. If you try to do that, you'll be putting figures down on paper from now till this time next year. And you still won't necessarily have the one right answer, because rental property values fluctuate like everything else.

Anyway, a livable income is not your problem. You and your husband have already learned some important things about yourselves — gardening is important, a peaceful environment means a lot, you like your own private establishment with some elbow room.

You also know that upkeep on a house goes on forever. Another year, another repair job. But you know how to balance this against the joys of living where you like to live. You are so wise to consider these "living years" right now. You can afford to.

INDIVIDUAL DESIRES

As for other people in your age group — desires and ambitions are as individual as the people themselves. Merely sharing a certain age can still leave you worlds apart.

———

Dear Miss Feeley:

Can you explain compound interest? I understand that "3 per cent per annum" and "3 per cent compounded semi-annually" are two different things. Which one pays the most on, say, a $100 savings account?

C. B., Madison, Wis.

* * *

Dear C. B.:

Interest compounded semi-annually will give you a little larger return on your money. Three per cent per annum on $100 means that the money earns 3 per cent at the end of the year — or $3. So you total at that time will be $103.

Three per cent compounded semi-annually means that your $100 is earning at the rate of 3 per cent per year — but your interest is added to your principal at the end of each six-month period.

For instance at the end of the first six months' period, your $100 has earned 1½ per cent interest, or $1.50. At the end of the second six months' period your total of $101.50 will have earned another 1½ per cent interest. So at the end of the year the $100 will be $103.02.

As you can see, in this second six months' period the bank is paying interest not only on your original $100, but also on the interest that money has earned in the first six months of the year.

DRIBBLE

People tend to look at the first year's compound interest as being merely a dribble. But look at total savings five years from now, 10 years from now. Without any effort on your part, the original sum has grown nicely.

The rules that govern interest payments will be clearly stated by the institution you do business with. A few allow interest from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, while many others figure interest from day of deposit on quarterly or semi-quarterly basis.

Who said long dresses are just for mother? Our pretty little miss joins her expectant mother in her own tyrolean designed gown from Bergdorf Goodman, while her mother is elegantly garbed in Tony Lynn's flawless black empire crepe. Its raised waist is subtly sashed and adorned with a neatly petaled black rose, which can be released for added expansion. About $23.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

According to the latest report of the United States Public Health Service there is no sure cure yet for the common cold. Experimental vaccines are being developed but it may be years before any are effective enough to be made available to physicians.

Until then we will just have to cope with sniffles and stuffy heads, especially during winter months when colds are most prevalent.

However, there are ways in which you can cut down on the number of colds you have and avoid the complications to which they sometimes lead. Cold germs are practically always with us.

MASSIVE DOSES

We are able to fight off a few occasional germs. It is the massive doses which catch us. The defense forces of the body can only conquer so many of these enemies at one time.

If you are susceptible to colds, avoid crowds as much as possible. If a member of your family has a cold, isolate that member as much as possible. At least do not sit in the sick room for hours at a time, and keep the patient's door closed at all times.

The person who has a cold should use paper tissues which can be destroyed immediately.

Handkerchiefs which have been soiled are a storehouse for germs. Try to plan your life so that you are not overfatigued. Most people catch colds when they are tired and the body's defenses are low.

AVOID COMPLICATIONS

The following suggestions will help you avoid complications and make you more comfortable.

★ ★ ★

1. Whenever possible go to bed at the first sign of a cold. This may shorten its duration and may make it possible for you to fight it off.

2. If you must walk around, keep comfortably warm and protected from drafts and changing temperatures.

3. The sore red nose that accompanies a cold is one of the most irritating features. One way to prevent this is to coat the tip of the nose with petroleum jelly to prevent reddening and irritation. Repeat this.

4. Drink plenty of liquids, water, juices and soups.

5. Eat moderately.

6. If it is necessary to blow your nose, do so gently and from both nostrils at the same time.

7. Don't experiment with pills, nose drops and inhalers left over from past illnesses or with medicines recommended by friends. If you feel the need of these let your doctor prescribe for you.

8. If you develop any of the following symptoms call your physician without delay: an earache, fever, severe headache, achiness all over, chest pains, hard coughing spells.

MRS. R. A. SHERMAN

It is estimated that air pollution costs Britain $706,310,000 a year, or about $14 for every member of the population.

Cousin Gives Vows

Rev. Nathan G. Hargett officiated at the recent marriage of his cousin Mary Kathryn Hargett to Richard Arnold Sherman in the Delaware Drive home of her parents the John W. Strattons.

★ ★ ★

For the small family ceremony, the bride chose a street-length gown of white taffeta with long-sleeved bodice of French lace. She wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion and carried pink rosebuds and white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Sue Stratton, her sister's honor maid and only attendant, appeared in pink nylon and held a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Benjamin D. Sherman stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Benjamin P. Shermans of Melrose Avenue.

A dinner-reception in the Waldron Hotel followed the candlelight ceremony performed in a setting of lighted Christmas trees. After a brief honeymoon, the couple will be at home in Rochester.

Heat in Double Boiler

If those rolls are a little dry, sprinkle them with a tablespoon or two of water and heat them in a covered double boiler over boiling water. Midway through the reheating, change the position of the rolls so that the bottom ones are placed at the top. This way all the rolls will heat evenly.

Oil Spray Protects From Winter Sleet

A push-button anti-rust oil spray is the newest aid for protecting tire chains, ice skates, sled runners, snowblowers and ice choppers from the effects of winter sleet and snow. When sprayed on equipment, the anti-rust oil solvent leaves a thin protective coating, which will not rub off by contact with cloth, paper or wood.

Kraut and Cheese

A tempting kraut topping for frankfurters is made by mixing 1 can (11 ounces) of condensed cheese soup, 2 cups drained kraut, ¼ cup of milk, ½ teaspoon of prepared mustard and ½ teaspoon of caraway seed. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently until hot. Serves 6.

Tips to Brighten Kitchen

All homemakers love anything that lightens the hours in the kitchen, and a way to do this is to employ a few decorating ideas.

Simple motifs cut from old wallpaper are gay contributions to a kitchen ceiling and, possibly, walls. Of course, the homemaker who has artistic talent can accomplish miracles with a paint brush.

★ ★ ★

A small blackboard, trimmed with colorful ribbon and attached to the wall nearest the telephone, adds a decorative touch and provides a good place for notes or memos for other family members.

Even pots and pans can add to the decor of the kitchen. Decorative porcelain-on-steel enameled ware offers an appropriate blend of beauty and utility.

★ ★ ★

This non-porous enameled ware is as easy to clean as dishes. Its gay pattern harmonizes with all color schemes and remains bright even after many years of use.

A good way to display decorative cookware and have it within easy reach at all times is to display it on a peice of peg board near the range and sink. Ordinary molding can be used to frame the display board.

Plant life, either real or plastic, adds freshness to the kitchen. A few small plants placed on a window sill make a decorative contribution far in excess of the little time spent in caring for them.

Newlyweds

Take Trip to Chicago

The Thomas A. McAllisters (Linda Elizabeth Byington) are honeymooning in Chicago this week, following their recent marriage in the Christ Lutheran Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Glen R. Byingtons of Barker Drive and the Harold McAllisters of Allen Lake Road.

With her wedding-gown of white satin brocade, fashioned with fitted bodice and chapel train, the bride wore a fingertip veil of French illusion. Red roses centered her bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Joseph Courier, who was matron of honor, appeared in a green silk brocade dress.

Donald Alexander performed the duties of best man for his cousin who resides on Cooley Lake Road. Ronald and Robert McAllister ushered with Larry Blain and John Crigger.

The couple, who are both charter graduates of Oakland University, will live at Union Lake.

A January wedding is planned by Carolyn Sue Pickett, daughter of the Elmer Picketts of West Chicago Street and LeRoy Beach, son of Mrs. Norman Shrum of East Newport Street.

Counter Top Is Burnproof

Most counter surfacing materials will be permanently damaged if contacted by a hot pot or pan. This presents a problem in a small kitchen with limited counter space.

The solution lies in surfacing the counter with a burnproof material such as ceramic tile.

This versatile product is also scratchproof and comes in more than 250 sizes, shapes and colors.

Why Not a Casual Suit

Men will never understand why we women look into our closets only to exclaim in dismay that we don't have a thing to wear. Oh, we do have a lot of clothes - except the one garment that will cover any occasion.

* * *

This casual, yet dressy suit modeled by Pat Woodell of CBS Television is perfect for those unexpected luncheons, PTA meetings, and evening affairs.

The right side of the jacket is knitted in a quilt pattern effect and quite easy to do. The buttonholes are crocheted in or can be made by machine. Knitted in any of the wide variety of yarns now available, even in a tweed mixture, it will be very stunning.

Instructions are written in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18.

The pattern for Side Panel Suit No. 34 may be obtained by sending $1.00 by check, currency, or money order to: Ursula duBois, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Box 3307 Van Nuys, Calif.

Do-It-Yourself Cabinet

A rustproof porcelain enamel shower cabinet which can be assembled without screws or bolts has been developed by a midwest manufacturer.

The unit, which the maker says requires no tools for assembly, features interchangeable porcelain steel panels and a terrazzo base.

Care Will Give Life to Flower

Here are some tips for the proper care of holiday season cut flowers.

1. As soon as you arrive home with cut flowers, place their stem ends in deep warm water. Pour warm water into the container in which they will be arranged. Cut the stem ends diagonally with a sharp knife. Remove all foliage below the water level in the arrangement. Add a commercial flower preservative to as poinsettias and euphorbias, the water.

2. Some cut flowers, such have a milky substance or juice which should be sealed into the stem by quickly dipping the stem ends one to two inches into boiling water. The upper leaves and flowers should be protected from the steam with thicknesses of paper.

3. If stem ends get soft or decayed, recut the stems to remove that portion. Should any flowers look wilted, recut their stems and place them in very warm water.

Mom Is Organized

DEAR POLLY—As the mother of 12 children, I look to the column for short cuts. At my own home, instead of changing all the beds on the same day, each bed is done on a different day of the week.

The children know which day they are to strip their own beds.

The bedding, plus other clothes of the same color make a load which I find washes better than one in which so many sheets are done at once.

It is no longer such a job making up beds.

Choose a certain color in personal grooming tools such as toothbrushes, glasses, combs, brushes, etc., for each child so the kids can help themselves at a younger age.

★ ★ ★

We finally ran out of colors and had to resort to other devices such as different brands or names on things for the older ones who can read.—Mrs. J. A. G.

DEAR POLLY—To freshen flowers that are worn on dresses or hats, hold upside down, spray the top and underside with spray starch and mold lightly back to shape with the fingertips. Hang upside down overnight or until thoroughly dry and the result is a new looking flower.—SHIRLEY.

DEAR POLLY — The paper with your column comes to me from 350 miles away.

Parents make a big investment in music lessons for their children and in order to be sure we are getting a good return on the money spent, we have a system that has worked well with both our daughters.

They started these lessons at about eight and, at the time, I filled a paper with as many little squares as I could draw with a ruler—about 150.

Each 15 minutes of practice is worth one punch or paper star on a square. When the page is filled, it is worth a penny for each filled square.

Both girls set the "timer" and were on the honor system. We used this for the first two years of lessons and by that time they were past the most tedious, dull part and needed no further incentive to practice.—A. R. R.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Reene Jr. of Commonwealth Street announce the engagement of her daughter, Patricia Ruth Gohsman to Duncan Zienert, son of the Herbert Zienerts of Utica. The couple will wed on Feb. 8.

Here's another important turkey dinner tip: hearty, delectable, but greaseless gravy. Quick way to remove grease . . . place a few ice cubes in warm turkey juice. Grease clings to the ice cubes and leaves the clear, hearty liquid for your gravy. Remove grease-covered ice cubes and make gravy as you normally do.

Recent Rites Accented by Red Velvet, Holly

Mary Lou Highbaugh exchanged recent vows with Daniel James Peterson before Rev. Walter Teeuwissen Jr. in the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the couple are the James P. Highbaughs of Lexington Drive and the Daniel J. Petersons of McCormick Drive.

With her floor-length gown of white Rochelle lace over taffeta, the bride wore a French illusion veil and pearlized headpiece. Holly sprigs accented her bouquet of white carnations.

★ ★ ★

With Janet Suzanne Highbaugh, her sister's honor maid, were the bridesmaids Mrs. Roy Pinner, JoAlyce and Nicola Peterson.

White fur pillbox hats and muffs topped with holly and red carnations complemented their gowns of red velveteen styled with crushed satin cummerbunds.

JUNIOR ATTENDANTS

Sally Morin was flower girl and Jeffrey Kight carried the rings.

Best man was Kerry Daugherty, ushers were William Kight, Mike McClure, Birmingham, and Benny Pawley.

A reception in the VFW Hall on Walton Boulevard followed a welcoming of guests at the church.

The couple are honeymooning at Caberfae Ski Lodge in Cadillac and Niagara Falls. Their new home is in Pontiac.

The bride attends Michigan State University and her husband was a former student at Highland Park Junior College.

Garden Club Holds Party

"Happy Holiday Time" was the theme of the recent meeting of the Sylvan Lake Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association held at the Oakland County Boat Club.

★ ★ ★

A musical group from West Bloomfield High School, the senior girls' ensemble and the senior boys' quartet, and Mrs. Albert Kohn provided the entertainment. They were accompanied by Betty Fuller and Barbara Brown.

Those in charge of the meeting included Mrs. Edith Thomas, Mrs. S. J. Filkins, Mrs. Willis Brewer, Mrs. Charles Chandler.

Others helping were Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Ida Reeves, and Mrs. William Sanderson.

Mrs. Donald Johnson and Mrs. Edythe McKnight were guests.

Vermouth Spray Makes It Smooth

There's a new aerosol dry vermouth spray for lazy bartenders who like their martinis extra dry. Just the touch of a finger brings the right amount of fine vermouth spray to a cocktail, or to foods that calls for a subtle, piquant seasoning. The container prevents waste from leakage or spilling.

Mixing Bowl Goes to Party

For an impromptu punch party an ordinary mixing bowl can be turned into a stylish punch bowl when the outside is banded with a gay wrap.

Use a handsome red-striped paper with a flocked design. Loops of white "stick-to-itself" ribbon makes a decorative base.

Kids Mittens Are Waterproof

Waterproof mittens that help to prevent hand chapping will soon be on the market for youngsters.

They are made of poron, a material which the makers say breathes continuously, wards the fine craftsmanship eliminating the moisture vapor generated by hand warmth.

Top Holiday Evenings With Frippery

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you want to make a man sit up and take notice during the festive holiday evenings, top your glamorous ensemble with a hat — an alluring, eye-catching hat that makes you look beautiful.

★ ★ ★

The variety in evening hats is dazzling. There are delicate, drifting mists of ostrich feathers in a myriad of pale colors for elegant occasions.

A turban of handsome brocade is chic with a slim, black dinner dress. And a pert flowery wiglet adds charm to any evening costume.

★ ★ ★

A filmy black feather spray, sparkling with jet and sequins is sure-fire holiday man-bait. It will practically insure that second date.

★ ★ ★

Since the return of the soft, natural hairdo, hats are becoming more and more popular for all occasions.

★ ★ ★

And you can don a frivolous evening chapeau without fear of harming a hair on your head.

Treat yourself to that extra touch of glamor for the holiday party season.

★ ★ ★

These outrageously flattering bits of feminine frippery will make you feel that you're off on an exciting adventure.

Evening hats are holiday eye-catchers this season. For the most elegant occasions (upper left), a cascade of the softest white ostrich feathers atop a white satin crown by Lilly Dache. The softest of pink and white netting, shaped in accordion-like sections creates the sheer glamorous look (upper right), by John Frederics. A sliver of pink bow adds a finishing touch. Elegantly sophisticated, gold puffed brocade turban (lower left) has side drape and sprinkling of fine rhinestones. Destined to turn heads, chic silver feathered turban (lower right) frames the face with a delicate softness ordinarily hard to achieve. These designs are the fall creation hits by Sally Victor.

Velvet Shifts Splendor to Hearthside

The accent for a festive holiday season will be on velvet. And since the little at-home dinners are IN, women who formerly reserved their glamorous clothes for holiday balls and benefits will now dress up in long, at-home skirts and evening pants to stay at home as splendor shifts from the nightclub to the heartside.

Velvet leads the fashion parade for fall and has marched right into the holiday season as strong as ever. Rayon velvet is the biggest item. These new velvets are stain-resistant and non-crushable.

If you are shying from the idea of including velvet in your wardrobe because of the problem of caring for it, here are a few hints on proper laundering.

Hand launder velvet in mild, sudsy water, wrong side out, this will prevent any lint pick-up on the garment. Dry in a dryer at a very low temperature, just long enough to fluff the pile.

High fashion will also feature velvet at-home robes in striking patterns in lime, turquoise, olive with garnet, topaz, jade and lime. Brocaded skirts will be seen topped by velvet bodices in striking color contrasts.

Wins and Learns

Double Value for Hobby

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE R-434: Dr. E. T. Coleman Jr. is a talented dental surgeon in Knoxville, Tenn.

"But, Dr. Crane," he told me when I addressed his state dental convention earlier this year "you may recall my prize contesting hobby.

DR. CRANE

"For I wrote to you several years ago to obtain your newspaper booklet on that subject.

"Well, I am still at it, for I find that prize contests are a very stimulating hobby.

"They cause me to widen my range of interests and to read more fully in encyclopedias.

VALUABLE TRAINING

"Besides, the training in terse short sentence structure is also invaluable.

"So I wish you'd urge others to start this fascinating hobby, too."

Dr. Coleman has won many prizes, consisting of electrical kitchen equipment, wrist watches, silverware, etc., as well as cash prizes ranging up to $1,000, as I recall.

Prize contests are really very educational. For they usually involve writing a 25-word or 50-word letter outlining why you like a certain product.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes, all you need to do is name a pony or a dog.

Again, you may be asked to complete the last line of a limerick or humorous little stanza.

IDEAS PAY

The pay-off usually depends on original ideas or clever suggestions about the use of a commercial product.

Consequently, in order to win you don't need to be a college graduate or even hold a high school diploma.

While teaching my psychology courses at Northwestern University on "Advertising and Selling," I would utilize current prize contests as homework assignments.

Later I'd read the letters, slogans or limerick last lines aloud to the class, and we'd discuss and criticize them.

★ ★ ★

Then I would urge the students to revise their entries in the light of such criticisms and submit them in the official contest.

WIN PRIZES

Many of my students did so. They often won prizes, such as an electric iron or toaster, or a refrigerator, or small cash prizes of $5 to $100.

Obviously, this added much zest and practical motivation to our advertising course, so enrollments in my classes grew so big we didn't have classrooms large enough to hold the group.

For example, I often was assigned the auditorium in our downtown Law School for some of my evening classes, just because of the need for added seating capacity.

Folks past 65 and chronic invalids will find that prize contesting is a superb tonic for the mind, as well as body.

★ ★ ★

For then you look forward eagerly to the postman's arrival to see if you have won a check or some merchandise prizes.

So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long stamped, envelope, plus 30 cents. It also contains a section on "Prize Contesting."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, envelope and 30c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Sparkling gold lame lends itself beautifully to the understated elegance of a smoothly tailored shortwaist for expectant mothers. About $23.

Facial Tissues Go Glamorous

Cleansing tissues have gradually taken on glamour since their inception as a practical and sanitary throwaway handkerchief.

Makers have jazzed up the packages, even taken the writing off, and have produced the tissues themselves in delicate pastel hues.

The most recent innovation is the floral printed facial tissue. The dainty pink, blue or yellow roses with green stems are on white backgrounds. There are matching bathroom tissue of the same print.

News in Brief

Hubert Evans, 336 Dover, Waterford Township, told police Tuesday that outdoor Christmas decorations valued at $65 were stolen from the front of his house.

Maynard Walker, 2809 Barkett, Farmington Township, told police Tuesday night that three suitcases filled with clothing were stolen from his car at the Pontiac Mall. Value of the loss is undetermined.

After 4-Day Decline

Stock Market Turns Back Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed to the upside today after four straight declines.

The higher tendency in the first session following the Christmas holiday was generally unexpected by Wall Street.

★ ★ ★

Numerous key issues gained as much as a point and some of the wide movers jumped 2 to 7 or 8 points. Trading was moderate. Prices opened irregularly higher and improved gradually through the morning hours.

★ ★ ★

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .8 at 283.8 with industrials ahead 1.2, rails up .7 and utilities up .2.

HIGHER SECTIONS

Generally higher were rails, steels, airlines, motors and savings and loan holding company sections.

In the business background was the prediction of a panel of business executives that the U.S. economy will continue to expand in the New Year despite some potential trouble spots.

★ ★ ★

Continued selling in the final four sessions of 1963 was generally anticipated by Wall Street brokers. This is because today is the first day that profits taken on regular way (four-day delivery) sales will be income for 1964 for income tax purposes. As such they would likely enjoy a lower tax rate because of the expected passage of a tax cut early next year.

★ ★ ★

GM dropped close to a point but Ford, Chrysler, American and Studebaker were all ahead slightly.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher in moderate dealings. Phillips Electronics gained nearly 2½.

Bond prices opened mostly unchanged in quiet trading.

Christian-Native Rites

Religion in South Africa Is Unique

PIETERSBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The South African native has its own unique type of Christianity.

A large part of it is a peculiar outgrowth of tribal ritual and American Midwest evangelism.

Some innovations are highly original.

One example is the native (Bantu) minister who uses a telephone in his church services.

★ ★ ★

He tells his flock that the telephone, which stands on his pulpit, is his own private long-distance line to Heaven.

Such church leaders command the spiritual life of 1.5 million Bantu Christians in thousands of South African Christian sects and are frequently revered as prophets by their followers.

Many are believed by their flocks to have miraculous healing powers.

These "prophets" also claim to possess vision in dreams through which they can foretell coming events and diagnose sickness.

One adored religious leader is Lekganyane, who has his flourishing "Zion City" near here. It is a site for annual pilgrimages.

★ ★ ★

Each Easter as many as 100 busloads of worshippers come here from Johannesburg and other cities.

Followers of Lekganyane number in the thousands.

According to recent figures, there are 94 Bantu denominations with government recognition, plus 2,254 groups known to exist but without official acknowledgement.

In all, the 2,348 bodies have 1,593,939 members of "adherents." Some sects have mass followings up to 80,000. Others have no more than three dozen to the congregation.

Churches range from crude huts to rather elaborate edifices —according to the wealth of the flock. As for baptism, almost any convenient pond will suffice.

★ ★ ★

Ministers and their flock members dress in brightly-colored robes. During church services there often is loud spiritual singing, jazzy hymn chants, drum beating, handclapping and the stamping of feet.

NOISY HEALING

Occasionally there also are loud confessions of sin and noisy faith healing demonstrations.

Services can last three hours or more.

The two main types of Bantu Christian sects can generally be divided into Zionist and Ethiopian.

However the Zionists haven't the slightest connection with Israel, nor have the Ethiopians any affiliation with Ethiopia.

★ ★

The Ethiopian sect has a loose connection with the African Episcopal Church established by American missionaries in the last century.

STRONG TIES

They have strong American Negro ties, set prayers and desire to worship apart from the white man.

The Zionists are less race-conscious, have no regular prayers and are more spontaneous in their church services. The first sect of Zionists was formed by converts taught by American Apostolic Faith missionaries.

They regard Zion City in Illinois, U.S.A., as their "spiritual home." Leaders like Lekganyane sometimes make pilgrimages to the Midwestern city.

More originality in Bantu religion is shown in names they give their churches.

One is the "Holy Catholic Church of South Africa (King-George-Win-The-War," and another is "The Kitchen Boys' Church."

All plays are fine when they work and terrible when they fail. This applies strongly to false cards. Don't try them as a steady diet and in particular don't false-card when it is easy for your opponent to read it.

JACOBY

South played dummy's six of diamonds at trick one and dropped his ten under East's king. East paused a second, then continued with the ace. West showed out and a diamond ruff and the heart ace set the contract.

South remarked, "Well, I tried!

North replied, "You sure did. You tried to show East how to defend and you succeeded perfectly."

Do you see how South's play drew a diagram for East? The answer is that East looked around for the deuce of diamonds.

Had that ten of diamonds been a singleton it meant that West had led the three of diamonds from a 7-5-3-2 holding.

West would have opened the deuce in that case, so that obviously he had either led his singleton three spot or the top of a 3-2 doubleton.

Actually, South had a chance to fool East had he false-carded another way. He should play dummy's jack of diamonds and the deuce from his own hand.

That combination of plays would indicate that West had opened low from either three or four diamonds headed by the ten.

Of course, the false-card was the play of the jack from dummy — the play of the deuce from his own hand was just the "honest" lowest card play.

♥♠ CARD Sense ♦♣

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	3♣	Pass
3♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠AJ43 ♥A ♦KQ74 ♣KJ52

What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. Your partner appears to be signing off to the best of his ability, but you still want to stir him up.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues with three no-trump. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

"The wise man controls his destiny" — Astrology points the way:

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Be certain you are receiving proper messages — address straight. Stress SELF-RELIANCE. Attend to important projects in person. No time to take unnecessary chances.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Pressure methods will miss the mark. Win your way through charm, diplomacy. Cycle continues high. Favorable indications where business matters are concerned.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Delay could now boomerang in your favor. Don't be in too much of a hurry! Not so good for becoming involved in legal matters. Examine situation — bring forth your powers of perception.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Public appearances indicated. Display vitality. Be enthusiastic. Give praise where it is due. Sincere expression of emotions advocated. Your sense of honesty comes to fore.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Don't "snipe" at others. If there are mistakes, correct them. Realize many are on edge following holiday celebrations. A loyal friend could confide "secret." Try to see humor in situation.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Avoid confusion at home. Be specific. Bring specific. Don't make promises you can't keep. Applies especially in relation to younger persons. Stress diplomacy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You can accomplish "big" tasks today. But the minor ones apt to present problems. Avoid carelessness. Be THOROUGH. Applies especially to addresses, phone numbers — double check!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Emphasis on short area dealing with business partners, expenditures. Be willing to make changes. Don't permit pride to cause loss. If wrong, admit it. Then go on to prove real worth.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Take time to reflect, then PROGRAM EXPERIENCE. Read—meditate. Realize well-meaning friends cannot look for you. You must do it yourself!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Key is moderation. Get sufficient rest. Don't "shape up" at social affair merely from habit. Utilize your natural powers of discrimination. Don't be fooled by false flattery.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Display enthusiasm. Share knowledge. Be willing to meet new people, adapt to changing times, methods. Seek delay in starting new projects — conditions due to change!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Go forward instead of lacking backward. Keep look to future, especially where FAMILY SECURITY is concerned. Display of confidence will work wonders. Actions accomplish more than worrying.

IF YOUR BIRTHDAY IS FRIDAY ... you are loyal, often lean over backwards to see opposition's point of view, but once you make decision — you fight to the finish.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for GEMINI, CANCER, LEO. Special word to SAGITTARIUS: What appears to be a loss is gain. What appears to be a gain is loss. Be cautious if you are gaining.

Brisk Business Is Forcast for Area in '64

aways to harass your householders.

There will be ample rewards for Pontiac merchants and businessmen who are ready to meet sharp competition during 1964.

OUR NEW PRESIDENT: I state emphatically that President Johnson may accomplish far more constructively before November 1964 than our late president would have been able to do.

President Johnson understands better how to handle Congress, and has the confidence of businessmen.

Therefore, I am reassured as to the first ten months of 1964.

★ ★ ★

ELECTION IN NOVEMBER: At the Republican Convention in the summer of 1964, there will be a conflict between Goldwater and Rockefeller, and perhaps others.

For this reason, Mr. Nixon unfashionable—for consumers may slip in and get the Republican nomination. Certainly, President Johnson will secure the nomination of the Democratic Party; he is a farsighted man, and knows politics.

Therefore, with the Republicans nominating any one of the three leading names mentioned above, I now forecast that President Johnson will be elected President of the United States in November 1964.

★ ★ ★

All of this gives me more assurance that 1964 should be a good year.

TAX CUT: A tax cut will be enacted sometime during the coming session of Congress; and it will surely be made retroactive to January 1, 1964.

The tax cut should help consumer buying; it may even increase general business.

CIVIL RIGHTS: Some sort of a civil rights bill will be passed by Congress during 1964.

The administration wants to please the South and hold its Democratic votes there, but the civil rights bill now before Congress is not satisfactory to the white people of the North.

Therefore, I forecast that whatever civil rights bill is passed before the election of 1964 will be considerably watered down.

★ ★ ★

NEGRO PEOPLE: The Negroes will continue to make progress and get more, but I predict that the gains will have to come largely through changing attitudes of the people.

Otherwise, the situation will be much like the prohibition problem which the good people of the nation thought could be solved by legislation.

Such reforms take place only as the minds and hearts of the people are changed for the better.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING: Of course, in the long run, the survival of a nation should depend upon its spending less than it takes in.

Nowadays, however, it is unfashionable—for consumers or government—to have balanced budgets.

Therefore, I predict that 1964 will see a bigger deficit than this year's.

★ ★ ★

DEPRESSION: Whether for better or for worse, the voters have been taught to believe they can and should get something for nothing, and only a severe depression could ultimately change this belief.

I, however, look for no depression in 1964.

★ ★ ★

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK: Although crops, prices and farm income may be basically dependent on the weather, much of the world is short of food.

Russia's and China's heavy purchases of grains will do more to bolster U.S. farm income than will government-supported prices in 1964.

★ ★ ★

DOW-JONES INDUSTRIALS: I forecast that the stock market as measured by the Dow-Jones Average will make a new high in 1964.

But it may sell lower after the elections.

However, readers must remember that the Dow-Jones Industrial list, which everyone seems to think represents the market, may be very deceptive.

★ ★ ★

SPECULATIVE STOCKS: Of the approximately 1,550 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, a majority have been going down while the Dow-Jones list of 30 which everyone watches have been going up.

This is due to the purchase of Dow-Jones issues today largely by trustees, pension funds, mutual companies and others that prefer fairly conservative and dividend-paying companies.

I forecast that stocks not in the Dow-Jones list will do better proportionately in 1964 than they did this year.

★ ★ ★

SWITCHING: Based on my above forecast, and having learned that only buying can send stocks up, I predict that 1964 may prove to be a good year to switch from some of the overcrowded Dow-Jones stocks into other issues that are now overlooked.

★ ★ ★

GOVERNMENT BONDS: The only government bonds that interest me are the long - term ones which may now be purchased at a discount to use in payment at par for death taxes.

I forecast that more governments will be issued during 1964.

Their prices may gradually sag as money becomes tighter.

★ ★ ★

CORPORATION BONDS: Those buying corporate bonds should either stick to issues of under five years maturity or keep their money in the savings bank.

I predict that long-term corporation bonds will drop in price in 1964 as interest rates rise.

★ ★ ★

TAX-EXEMPT BONDS: Likewise, I predict that long-term tax-exempt bonds will decline next year.

They are even more overpriced than corporation bonds, because of heavy bank buying during the past two years. I do not look for this to be repeated in 1964.

Therefore, I would certainly confine buying of tax-exempts to short maturities; and I would avoid revenue bonds.

★ ★ ★

INTEREST RATES: I forecast that interest rates will continue at least as high as today, and will possibly rise through 1964 in order to keep gold here in this country and uphold the value of the dollar.

★ ★ ★

DEVALUATION OF GOLD: I forecast that there will be no devaluation of gold during 1964.

I am personally acquainted with conditions in Africa, and will say that those who wish to speculate in gold mines should consider American-South African Investment Co., Ltd.

Readers should remember, however, that gold-mining stocks will go down as well as up, in accordance with many different conditions.

★ ★ ★

PROFITS: I forecast that corporate profits will continue to rise in 1964, though possibly at a somewhat slower pace than recently.

★ ★ ★

COPPER PRICES: Commodity prices are dependent on two factors: Demand and supply.

Take copper: I believe demand will continue to increase during the electrical era we are now in. And, since my visit to Africa, I feel the supply of copper is almost unlimited.

Hence, I forecast little change in price on balance in 1964.

★ ★ ★

OTHER BASIC RAW MATERIALS: With some few exceptions, the above applies generally to many of the basic raw materials, including iron and steel, and especially aluminum.

The present firming in quotations will not carry much further and could be subject to setbacks later in the year.

★ ★ ★

SUGAR: Sugar prices, however, will hold in a generally high range all through 1964.

★ ★ ★

BUILDING — SUBURBIA: I forecast that new building will continue around present levels through 1964, with additional growth in "suburbia."

This applies to single homes and to apartment houses.

They could easily be overbuilt as the hotels and motels have been.

★ ★ ★

PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION: Otherwise, strength in building will occur mainly in the public sector—especially roadbuilding.

★ ★ ★

REAL ESTATE: I predict that farms on the "right side" of cities will constantly increase in value during 1964.

I say "right side" because every city seems to have some one best direction in which to grow.

This usually is toward the higher land and often to the west; but this is something subdivision developers must watch very closely.

★ ★ ★

RURAL AREAS: As I have said before, the way to buy real estate profitably is to drive out the main road away from the city in which you live, on the "right" side.

Every few miles, stop and inquire the price of land; so long as it is quoted by the foot, get back in your car and drive until it is quoted by the acre.

Everything else being equal, I forecast that the purchase of this land in 1964 will show you a profit over the long term.

★ ★ ★

FLORIDA PROPERTY: There is still a lot of land in Florida, and there are many retired people who are hoping to move there. I forecast that your best Florida buy in 1964 will be waterfront property.

God made only so much waterfront land; but there is an enormous amount of interior land which for many years will be good only for pasturage.

Do not buy land—anywhere—until you see it; don't depend on blueprints, catalogs and super sales organizations.

★ ★ ★

FLORIDA HOME: I believe a small home in a small Florida city, and ownership of the vacant lot on each side thereof, will prove a safe and attractive investment in 1964 for anyone who has a check coming in regularly from the North.

★ ★ ★

ADVERTISING: While TV advertising will continue strong for patent medicines and some other products, I forecast that honest newspaper advertising will hold its own.

Newspaper ads can be cut out and kept for reference.

This is impossible with radio or TV ads.

★ ★ ★

NEWSPAPERS: I forecast that competing newspapers will continue to consolidate; and there may possibly be a return to the days when newspapers represented the opinions of some one man with courage, influence and personality rather than the decisions of a "cold" board of directors.

★ ★ ★

Note that this is something television is already trying to develop in its news reports, and newspapers must match it.

★ ★ ★

STRIKES: I believe that 1964 will be free from large strikes. The "big show," of course, will be the negotiations between the auto workers and manufacturers.

★ ★ ★

However, I predict that both sides will arrive at a peaceful settlement before the deadline.

★ ★ ★

WAGES: While labor will not get all the pay increases it wants in 1964, it will get the equivalent in "fringe benefits."

★ ★ ★

EMPLOYMENT: I forecast employment will rise further in 1964, due to a prosperous economy with new and expanding operations.

★ ★ ★

Unemployment will rise, too, because of the influx of young job seekers and displacement of unskilled workers by automation.

★ ★ ★

WORK WEEK: There will be continuing agitation to cut the 40-hour week in 1964 to a 35-hour week with the same pay.

I forecast this will not be accomplished.

There may be a compromise to 37½ hours, though this will depend largely upon President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

FOREIGN TRADE: Rising automation in the U.S. in 1964 will enable us to compete more effectively with lower per-man-hour labor costs in Europe.

Labor costs in Italy are already rising.

Inflation is threatening Europe . . . particularly Italy and France.

★ ★ ★

INFLATION: Like the rest of the world, we will be tempted to resort more and more to inflation; but I forecast this will not be a vital factor in 1964.

★ ★ ★

LIVING COSTS: There will be continued upward pressure on living costs during 1964, even though the administration may soft-pedal any abnormal rise in the Labor Department's index to prove that costs are being held down.

★ ★ ★

RETAIL SALES: I forecast that 1964 will show an increase in retail sales and in installment purchases.

★ ★ ★

RECREATIONAL EQUIPMENT: The great increase in leisure time and the consistent gains in personal income will give manufacturers of recreational equipment a prosperous year in 1964.

★ ★ ★

SYNTHETIC FOODS: I forecast that many new synthetic foods — cheaper than the natural, and just as healthful — will appear in supermarkets in 1964.

★ ★ ★

SYNTHETIC CLOTHING: This new industry will develop notably in the United States during 1964, particularly as regards specialty work clothes.

AUTO PARKING: The auto companies are devoting much study to the parking problem. I forecast real progress toward mechanical parking in 1964.

SEAT BELTS: I predict that insurance companies will put added pressure during 1964 on all state governments to enact legislation requiring "roll-up" seat belts on all cars.

★ ★ ★

NEW INVENTIONS: Rapid strides will be made in 1964 in the direction of transferring mass through matter.

★ ★ ★

ELECTRONIC PRODUCTION: I forecast a great increase in electronic manufacturing in 1964 . . . with emphasis on adaptation of space efforts to military applications.

AIR CONDITIONING: I predict radical changes in air conditioning in 1964 via the reduction, and later elimination, of moving parts in the heat-withdrawal machinery.

★ ★ ★

ELECTRIC HEATING: Experiments are ahead in electric heating in 1964 whereby radio waves will heat only the individuals in the room, but not the air.

OCEANOGRAPHY: I forecast great developments in mineral recovery, food supplements, new chemical derivatives, etc., obtained through oceanographic research.

CUBA: People in Florida have no reason to worry about their nearness to Cuba in 1964.

★ ★ ★

Russia will undoubtedly keep a controlling finger on Cuba until she decides to withdraw in a swap of some kind with the U.S., in connection with Berlin or West Germany.

WAR: There will be no World War in 1964, and even the "cold war" pressures should gradually soften and prove less costly. I, however, am watching carefully how President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev get on together.

RUSSIA: I predict that the Russian government will vastly increase the manufacture of electrical appliances, and will have a 100 per cent-owned installment company which it will operate without competition.

When I was in Russia, it was evident from my talk with the young people that they would have to be given more of the advantages enjoyed by the free nations.

★ ★ ★

In this connection, I should say that, like the U.S., Russia is very rich in natural resources . . . and in research. This latter is especially important these days.

I was much impressed, during my visit, with the Russian educational system which is developing a very able generation of young people.

I forecast, however, that Mr. Khrushchev's real problem will be how long he will be able to hold these young people in line!

Youth Is Sentenced for Theft From Car

A six-month stay in the Oakland County Jail was handed to an 18-year-old Independence Township youth Tuesday for his theft from a parked car last month.

Roger A. Van Kleek of 4555 Rettek was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Van Kleek had pleaded guilty to larceny from a motor vehicle Nov. 16 in Keego Harbor. He was accused of taking tools, cigarettes and other items.

He and two others were placed on probation in August after pleading guilty to a burglary of a Waterford supermarket.

Crash Kills Area Youth; Man Injured

A head-on crash in Groveland Township yesterday killed a Brandon Township youth and seriously injured a 32-year-old man.

Dead on arrival at Hurley Hospital, Flint, following the 12:30 p.m. accident was Frederick M. Beardsley, 17, of 5390 Oakhill, Brandon Township.

In the same hospital is the driver of the other car, Herman J. Barlow, address unknown.

State police from the Flint post are still investigating the accident, which occurred on Kier Road, just east of Oakhill.

The crash occurred on the crest of a hill.

City Firemen Battle Blaze at Apartment

A fire Tuesday afternoon caused an estimated $5,000 damage to the Salmer Apartments, 29 Salmer.

Damage to the building alone was estimated at $3,000. Three units were damaged in the building, owned by Al Stein of Detroit.

The fire started in one of the apartments, according to fire officials, but the cause was not immediately determined.

★ ★ ★

The fire was extinguished in an hour by the Pontiac Fire Department.

CARELESS SMOKER

A house fire yesterday at 22 N. Merrimac was blamed by firemen on careless smoking.

★ ★ ★

Total damage to the house rented by Horace Harmon, and its contents was estimated at $550.

NATO Body Summoned to Secret Parley

PARIS (AP)—The NATO Permanent Council was summoned into special secret session Christmas morning to discuss the crisis on Cyprus, informed sources said today.

The permanent representatives of the 15 member countries, or their top aides, were called to NATO headquarters about 9 a.m. by Permanent Council Secretary - General Dirk U. Stikker. The meeting lasted about an hour.

The sources declined to reveal whether any of the countries directly involved in the crisis — Greece, Turkey or Britain—had taken the initiative for the session.

★ ★ ★

Greek government sources in Athens said today that Greece had asked for an extraordinary session of the NATO council.

But the impression was that this meeting has not yet been held.

★ ★ ★

The informants in Paris said that the council meeting here was one of consultation and indicated that no important decisions had been taken.

The permanent representatives now are in contact with their respective governments on the crisis.

Teen Burglar Is Sentenced to Probation

A 15-year-old Tennessee boy who lied about his age when he was arrested for burglary last month was placed on two years probation Tuesday.

Edwin L. Martin was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

The youth pleaded guilty Dec. 2 to breaking and entering Jim and Lynn's Mobil Service, 3009 Dixie, Waterford Township, on Nov. 5.

★ ★ ★

He and William C. McCulloch, 20, of 63 Norton, were arrested at the gas station.

PLEADED GUILTY

McCulloch pleaded guilty Nov. 12 and was later sentenced to a 3- to 15-year prison term. Police said both admitted a number of other burglaries in the area.

★ ★ ★

When arrested, Martin told police he was 18 years old. Later he admitted he was a juvenile, but a prosecutor's petition for waiver from the juvenile court was granted.

'Cong Broke Yule Promise'

Saigon Says Reds Didn't Cease Fire

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The government charged today that Communist guerrillas broke their promised Christmas cease-fire in at least four provinces, attacking hamlets and outposts.

"The Viet Cong's promise of a cease-fire was a lie, like everything else they say," a government spokesman said.

Viet Cong plans to stop fighting for 24 hours were announced last week by "liberation radio," the Communists' clandestine propaganda transmitter.

★ ★ ★

Military activity throughout the nation apparently was reduced over Christmas, although the government carried out several operations.

Although Viet Nam is a predominantly Buddhist nation with only about 15 per cent Christians, Christmas was observed on an unprecedented scale in this capital.

THOUSANDS PACKED

Tens of thousands packed into Saigon's Catinat Street Christmas Eve, and thousands more filled Cathedral Square, where a Catholic open-air Mass was celebrated at midnight.

★ ★ ★

The most successful government operation of the Christmas holiday was late Tuesday night in the Mekong River delta, where a government ambush was reported to have netted 12 Viet Cong killed.

Bandit Takes $300 in Theft

About $300 in cash was taken by a lone bandit in a holdup of the Fairway Food Store, 1220 N. Perry, Christmas Eve.

Armed with an automatic pistol, the man entered the market shortly before 7 p.m. He ordered one of the cashiers, Thelma Steeley, 28, of 1509 Vinewood to empty her cash register and put the contents in a bag he had brought with him.

As the gunman left, he threatened to shoot anyone that followed him.

MODEL OPEN 3 to 6

TWIN LAKES — 758 SUNNY-BEACH. One of the most appealing homes ever to come from the drawing board of "Beauty-Rite" builders. This is the finest location designated Beauty Rite designs as the leader in the building industry. Picture yourself welcoming your guests in this beautiful fireplace against the backdrop of lush black walnut panelling or admiring the awe-inspiring view which the flowing glass and wall frames from the family room. Picture yourself in the center of the brightest & literally efficient kitchens you will ever experience. You'll revel in the luxury of full-sized colored baths, eight-foot vanity counters, 3 bedrooms, 2 full baths, fireplaces, and best of all, you'll glow with pride at each time you drive up to your house knowing beyond question that here is your dream land. County's most beautiful homes. Come out M-59 to Twin Lakes. Turn left to model. Mr. Proksch will be your host. OL 1-6075.

TRADING IS TERRIFIC

THERE'S NOTHING QUITE SO NICE AS GOOD LAKE FRONT-AGE and that is 70' on Watkins, sand beach and a fine neighborhood in which to make your home. You're sure to like this new 3-bedroom ranch-style home. Plastered walls, full basement, gas space is in the richly paneled living room, beautiful new wall-to-wall carpeting. Landscaped to perfection, fruit and flowering trees, fencing at the lake front will keep the children safely at home. Priced at $29,500 and warrants your inspection.

ABSOLUTELY PRIME WEST SIDE LOCATION near Pontiac Junior and Tel-Huron. The wonderful combination of this 7 room brick home reflects the care and maintenance it has had. Lavish carpeting throughout the living room dining room, hall and master bedroom. Sharp "Rec" in the basement, plus a summer kitchen and 3-piece bath. Plus a 2-car garage. All these things and many more can be yours with ownership of this home. Full price $19,500. Terms arranged as low as $2,000 dn.

SOME RESPONSIBLE VETERAN with a big family and only a little cash can buy this 4 bedroom ranch home at the low, already-appraised price of $11,000. There's a utility room, and an extra half-bath, a new gas furnace, lots of insulation, and a large fenced back yard. Only a few minutes to excellent public school; Waterford Township, no less! Best of all, we could get you in by the first of the year if you qualify. Why buy the rent, if you aren't a G.I. you will need $1,100, no mortgage costs at all.

Southern Fried Chicken Tastes Fine In Madrid

New List of Delicious Dishes

Ever Try Irish Goulash in Italy?

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Have you ever tried the southern fried chicken in Madrid? Or the weiner schnitzel in Manila?

These places may seem like displaced dishes, but they're not. They are a few of the oddities noted in a new guide to international restaurants.

The guide is published by 'Be My Guest,' a new credit card device designed to let you play host to anybody anywhere.

★ ★ ★

You simply decide who you want to treat to a fine dinner, look up where they are in the guide and pick a restaurant.

Send in the order and your guests trot off to the restaurant to dine — on you. The whole thing is expensively simple.

But the guide is, fun to browse through. You quickly note that there appears to be a restaurant in every country that specializes in some other country's cuisine.

For example, that Barcelona southern fried chicken. It is served in a restaurant with the un-Spanish name of Hi Pardner.

You can also get barbecued spareribs at the Hi Pardner, located on Madrid's Carretera de Barcelona.

SCHNITZEL TONIGHT

Then there's the Swiss Inn in Manila — the best place for weiner schnitzel between the Luzon Strait and the Sulu Sea.

Manila also has a restaurant called Nina's Papagayo, which serves a complete Mexican menu, for some reason.

Among other curios, you can find:

New England clam chowder at the Cotillion Room in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

★ ★ ★

"Plush Viennese atmosphere" —sauerbraten mit nockerln und goulash — at the Hosteria Del Cadallito Blanco in Buenos Aires.

IRISH STEW

Irish cooking featured at Gistel's Schoppenstube "Zur Kanne" in Munich.

★ ★ ★

And such unexpected treats as English Dover sole at the Floca in Athens, Scandinavian smoked salmon at Maxim's in Hong Kong, Greek cuisine at The Other Room in Bombay, Brazilian specialties at the Saudade in Rome, Dutch cooking at the Midway House in Karachi, Spanish dishes at the Granada in Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, and Hungarian food at the Hungaria Esquire in Zurich.

★ ★ ★

But don't think that all restaurants are dedicated to serving unexpected cuisine. When you're in Durban, Natal, for example, you'd probably want African food. Well, at The Edward, you can get it. The specialty of the house is monkey gland steak.

Anyone for a hamburger?

Americans More Serious, English Gayer, She Says

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Adrienne Corri, wife of Raymond Massey's son Dan, has given us Americans a nice Christmas present—she says we've lost our sense of humor and have become as pompous as the British used to be.

WILSON

"You're a very worried people," Miss Corri, who's English, went swiftly on. "You're worried about your love lives. A man can't say he'd like to have a love affair with a certain girl. He's got to worry about it and say, 'Why do I want to have a love affair with her?'

"Perhaps the British are getting to be nice and bawdy, and the Americans are getting respectable. Perhaps the American image will be the rolled-up umbrella and the pin-striped suit."

And, she says, this seriousness is making us a nation of hypocrites, whereas the British are more honest about their lack of morals.

★ ★ ★

"Another thing," she said, "you Americans don't 'talk' any more."

"Don't talk!" I said.

"No, you 'articulate.' Or you 'communicate,' You have all these long psychological discourses about everything but you don' talk. And if you don't like somebody you start saying, 'Something is wrong with me and I don't like So-and-So.' Maybe it's just that So-and-So is an impossible person!"

★ ★ ★

Miss Corri, the star of "The Rehearsal," says the British sense of humor is sharper today. She asked Albert Finney what he thought of "Tom Jones."

He said, "Well, I thought I was good in it."

Ask an American and right away you get a psychological discourse, she claims.

Melvindale Man Says He Shot Uncle in Dispute

DETROIT (AP)—William Davis, 33, of Melvindale gave himself up here Tuesday night and told police he shot his uncle, Robert Davis of Ray, Mich., 10 days ago.

★ ★ ★

William Davis told police he and his uncle had had an argument about William's estranged wife. During the argument, Robert got a gun, police said, and Williams grabbed it and shot Robert.

★ ★ ★

William told police he drove to Toledo afterwards, abandoned his car, assumed an alias, then returned to Detroit.

ON BORDER

Ray is a Branch County community on the state border, near the spot where Michigan, Indiana and Ohio meet.

Howell Radio Station on Air After Vandalism

HOWELL (AP) — Radio station WHMI, Howell, returned to the air today after being silent three days because of vandalism last Saturday.

State police said they had no leads on the identities of the culprits who did several thousand dollars worth of damage to station equipment in the breakin.

Seize Property on Diem Family

Say Ex-Viet Rulers Had Huge Treasuries

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam's military government has formally decreed seizure of all properties of the former ruling family of President Ngo Dinh Diem and its agents.

Seizure of the property began Nov. 2, but the formal decree was not made public until this week.

The decree also orders seizure of the financial holdings of the political parties controlled by the former ruling family.

★ ★ ★

There is no accurate estimate of the value of the Ngo family's estate. Just after the coup, a fleet of coastal ships and related docks and factories were seized from Nguyen Van Buu, alleged financial agent of the family.

HUGE TREASURIES

Ngo Dinh Nhu's party, the Personalist Workers party, and Diem's party, the National Revolutionary movement, are said to have had huge treasuries.

Seizure also was ordered of the assets of the Vietnamese women's solidarity movement headed by Mme. Nhu, who now is an exile in France.

The decree also ordered confiscation of the property of Roman Catholic Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc, another of Diem's brothers, who is in Rome.

Archbishop Thuc is understood to have had extensive properties in his own name, but much of the property he administered belongs to the church.

The church has been ordered to stop building church on land the government says was illegally donated by the Diem regime. The revolutionary junta has demanded payment for the land.

Church officials have protested.

Investigation of concealed property is continuing, and stiff fines and prison terms have been ordered for persons concealing evidence concerning transfer of Ngo property to other persons.

★ ★ ★

A government spokesman said all funds realized from the seizures will be placed in the national treasury.

Kidneys of Baboon Keeping Man Alive

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — One week after he received the kidneys of a baboon in a transplant operation, a 40-year-old man was listed in satisfactory condition today.

★ ★ ★

The man, whom hospital officials declined to identify, underwent the first such operation in medical history. The transplant of a chimpanzee's kidneys to a man was recently a success in New Orleans.

★ ★ ★

A team of surgeons from the U.S. Veterans Hospital here and Colorado Medical Center performed the baboon kidney transplant. They have successfully switched human kidneys a number of times.

Chiang Kai-shek Aide Succumbs at Age 73

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Retired Gen. Chu Shao-liang, 73, a senior adviser to President Chiang Kai-shek, died Wednesday of high blood pressure.

Ethiopia, a Nation in Athens' Infancy

WASHINGTON — Ethiopia, unlike most African nations, was enjoying nationhood when Athens was still in its infancy.

The ancient kingdom on the northeast shoulder of Africa boasts a 3,000-year tradition of sovereignty. It is ruled by Haile Selassie I, Emperor of Ethiopia, Elect of God, King of Kings, and recent guest in the United States.

The long-isolated kingdom has a long tradition of Christianity, having embraced the Coptic form in A.D. 330, according to the National Georgraphic Society.

ACQUIRES SEACOAST

Ethiopia (457,000 square miles) is as large as America's seventeen northeast states. A dry moat of blazing desert surrounds the temperate plateau that forms the nation's heart. In southern highlands, fertile plains alternate with forests.

Formerly landlocked, Ethiopia acquired a seacoast when it federated with Eritrea under the auspices of the United Nations in 1952.

Its people, numbering some 20 million, are mostly a diverse mixture of Hamites, Semites, and Negroids.

There are primative Danakil who wear almost nothing and live on hippopotamus meat; Moslems and Jews; and tribesmen who speak Kunama, a language apparently unrelated to any other in the world.

GRANARY FOR S. E. ASIA?

Farm experts believe Ethiopia could become the granary for southwest Asia. Rich soil on the extensive tablelands combines with abundant rainfall to produce two crops a year.

Coffee is the leading export. Ethiopia may be the original home of coffee. The name is said to have come from the old province of Kaffa where the shrub still grows wild.

Long isolated by desert, mountains, and a suspicion of outsiders, Ethiopia has yet to realize its full agricultural and mineral potential. More than 90 per cent of the people are illiterate and engage in subsistence agriculture.

Roads are still constructed by hand, and the mule remains a main means of transport.

MODERN INNOVOTIONS

But Haile Selassie, a modern-minded monarch, has helped put Ethiopia on the 20th-century road of jet planes and parking meters.

Ethiopians are going abroad increasingly to study the ways of industrial countries.

The University of Ethiopia is being expanded along with secondary education. The government operates a commercial airline with Ethiopian jet pilots.

Britain Sends Troops

Cyprus Crisis Deepens

SPARKLING '63 — A good year for the three local General Motors plants meant a record $280 million pumped into the Pontiac area's economy in the form of employe wages and local purchases. The annual expenditures report was released today by (from left) Thomas Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager; E. M. Estes, Pontiac Motor general manager; and Calvin J. Werner, general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division.

GM Area Spending Hit All-Time High

General Motors' 1963 expenditures in the Pontiac area will hit $280 million, an all-time high.

The staggering sum, disbursed in employe payrolls and local purchases by the three Pontiac GM plants, is a healthy $37 million increase over last year and a $90 million jump from 1961.

The accounting came in joint statement issued today by E.M. Estes, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division; Calvin J. Werner, GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division; and Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager.

★ ★ ★

They reported that employe earnings of $230 million were responsible for the bulk of the 12-month expenditure as workers took home $30 million more than a year ago.

BUSINESS SUPPLIERS

Numerous local business were paid $49.8 million for supplies and services to GM during 1963.

Steadily increasing employment at the three plants climbed to a monthly average of 27,576, up more than 3,000 over 1962 and up 4,500 over 1961.

December will be the best single employment month of the year with some 30,028 now on the GM payroll.

★ ★ ★

Record wages also produced a savings harvest as plant employes invested nearly $4.7 million in U. S. Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction system. This is a $1-million increase from last year.

AWARD MONEY

Imaginative employes here divided up nearly $373,000 in awards under the GM Suggestion Plan.

Pontiac Motor claimed a first in this category, when $5,000 maximum suggestion

Burroughs Sets Detroit Closing

DETROIT (AP) —Burroughs Corp. announced today it will stop manufacturing adding machines in the United States and close its main Detroit plant within two years, eliminating about 1,500 jobs.

The business machines firm said its adding machines in the future will come solely from its plants in Scotland, France and Brazil.

"High costs of manufacturing adding machines in the Detroit area make it impossible for Burroughs to market competitively and profitably in the United States," the firm said.

★ ★ ★

Production of some commercial equipment and parts will be transferred from the Detroit plant to Burroughs' suburban Plymouth, Mich., plant. About 2,000 of the Detroit plant's 3,400 workers will be employed at Plymouth, a corporation spokesman said.

DEFENSE CUT

He said one-third of the job eliminations are a result of a reduction in defense contract work. Continuing defense contracts in the Detroit division will be moved to the Military Electronic Computer Division plant in Detroit, possibly boosting its employment from the present 1,200, he said.

Weekend Forecast Rosy for Skiers

Lucky skiers may find fresh snow over the weekend.

The weatherman predicts snow flurries and colder temperatures tonight and tomorrow, the low dropping to 23 tonight and rising to a high of 30 tomorrow.

Saturday will be partly cloudy with little change in temperatures.

Morning southwesterly winds at 10 to 25 miles per hour will shift to northwest at 10 to 20 m.p.h. tonight and northwest to north at 8 to 16 m.p.h. tomorrow.

Joy of W. Berliners Dimmed by Killing

BERLIN (AP)—About 50,000 West Berliners crossed into East Berlin by noon today despite the Christmas Day killing of a young East German who tried to escape over the Berlin wall.

"The Christmas murder on the Berlin wall overshadows our joy at the Christmas meeting in the City," said West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, Erich Mende.

But with the day after Christmas also a holiday, the flow of visitors to relatives in the Communist sector continued at flood tide. When the gates opened at 6 a.m., the line was two blocks long at one crossing point.

There was no change in the friendly attitude of East German gaurds, reported under orders to "keep smiling" when the 16-day visiting period began last week by agreement between the West Berlin city government and East Red Regime.

"But now you see their real face," a young Red Cross worker on duty at a crossing point said. "Here they smile and there they shoot."

Less than a mile from the Oberbaum Bridge control point an East German guard shot Paul Schulz, 18, in the back yesterday as he perched entangled in barbed wire atop the concrete wall.

MUSIC PLAYED

As loudspeakers blared Christmas music from the East German radio, the wounded youth toppled from the 9-foot wall into the arms of a West Berlin policeman, A companion, also 18, made it safely to the West, but Schulz died six hours later in a West Berlin hospital.

"Those shots struck us all," said West Berlin's deputy mayor, Heinrich Albertz. "These shots are at the same time a blow to that which the good will of the other side has made possible in recent days. The small path that humanity opened in Berlin has become narrower."

In allowing visits by West Berliners to their relatives in the East, the Communists made no relaxation in their ban on East Berliners going the other way.

Rocky to Halt Blasts at Barry

Figures Arizonan Has Less Appeal Now

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON—Gov. Nelson A Rockefeller is abandoning attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in his GOP presidential nomination drive.

The New York governor, only announced candidate for the nomination, resumes campaigning with a Jan. 3 Portsmouth, N. H., speech after a month's political moratorium following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The sweeping political changes brought about by the probability that President Johnson will head the 1964 Democratic ticket are expected to be reflected in altered campaign tactics by Rockefeller.

In the period preceding Kennedy's death, Rockefeller gave about equal time to attacking Goldwater for his conservative views and to lambasting Kennedy for what the governor said was the President's failure to live up to his 1960 promises on civil rights, action to end unemployment and to get the country moving faster economically.

REASONS FOR RUNNING

Rockefeller was said by associates to be planning in the Portsmouth speech to lay down in broad terms the reasons why he is running for the nomination and what he would hope to do if he were elected president.

The decision to abandon attacks on Goldwater apparently stems from the belief in the Rockefeller camp that the Arizona senator has become a less attractive candidate against Johnson than he would have been against Kennedy.

The Rockefeller people are making no claims that the governor has passed Goldwater in popular support among Republicans.

But they think the field is now wide open and there would not be much profit in continuing to single out one man as a target among many who may be contenders for the nomination.

Russ N-Tests Contaminate U.S. Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radioactive fallout from the Soviet Union's 1961 nuclear tests in the atmosphere contaminated the giant U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise, it was disclosed today.

The radiation persisted for about a month but did not endanger the health of those on the 86,000-ton nuclear-powered carrier.

The disclosure was made in a current publication of the Navy's bureau of medicine and surgery.

The author, Lt. Cmdr. Lewis H. Seaton, a medical officer formerly stationed on the Enterprise, did not say just where or when the contamination occurred.

As Seaton told it, rainstorms washed fallout from the sky to contaminate the carrier's outside areas "on the order of 10 to 20 times that allowable for the nuclear plant area."

'This, he said, set in motion concerted efforts to prevent the fallout from entering the ship through the ventilation system or on the feet of the men.

Christmas for Johnsons a Gay, Busy Occasion

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson's Texas Christmas was a gay and busy day that included inspecting his cattle, delivering poinsettias to his neighbors, entertaining kinfolk, eating a big turkey and taking a speedboat spin on a nearby lake.

He did it all in relaxed fashion, dressed in khaki range pants green and brown checked sports jacket and orange cowboy boots.

He even had time to lease another 40 acres to add to the Johnson holdings of 400 acres adjoining the Pedernales River.

Johnson kept the family's turkey dinner waiting while he conducted the crowd of some 50 reporters and photographers on a tour of the 12-room stone and frame ranch house where the Johnsons' Christmas presents waited under an eight-foot tree.

The weather here was in the balmy 70s.

Twenty-seven Johnson kinfolk gathered for the Christmas dinner, with more of Mrs. Johnson's relatives due in time for New Year's. An added guest was Lynda Bird Johnson's fiance, Bernard Rosenbach of Comfort, Tex., newly elevated to the rank of Navy lieutenant, junior grade. He's soon to be sent to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, Johnson revealed.

The President introduced all of his family as they gathered to be photographed and singled out his elderly cousin, Oriole Bailey, who lives down the road a bit.

Deadline Set for Gift Trade

Local merchants will observe a Jan. 3, 1964 deadline on exchange of Christmas gifts, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Special order or "all sales final" goods cannot be returned however, and stores have the right to refuse worn, soiled or damaged merchandise.

Open Warfare Threatened on Torn Island

Greek, Turk Moves Hike Tension; U.N. Action Is Requested

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Britain ordered more troops to Cyprus today as a conflict between the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot minority threatened to embroil Greece and Turkey in open conflict.

Greece asked for an extraordinary session in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent council to discuss the crisis.

Informed sources in Paris said the council met secretly yesterday.

The Cyprus government already has sent a complaint to the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The Turkish government ordered two jet fighters to make warning flights over Cyprus on Christmas Day after accusing Greek Cypriots of killing Turkish Cypriots in communal fighting that has been raging since last Saturday.

SHIPS OFF COAST

Then as the fighting died down to sporadic firing, the office of President Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community, asserted six Turkish navy vessels had taken up positions off Cyprus.

Five are off the northern port of Kyrenaia and the sixth is stationed off the southeast port of Larnaca, a presidential spokesman said.

President Cémal Gursel of Turkey also expressed grave concern, accused the Greek Cypriots of a massacre, and appealed to U.S. President Johnson and other world leaders to intervene.

★ ★ ★

Greece and Turkey, long at odds over Cyprus, guard the far eastern flank of the Atlantic alliance.

JET OVERFLIGHTS

What prompted Makarios to send a complaint to the U.N. Security Council was the flight of the Turkish jets and the movement of some of Turkey's 650-man garrison on Cyprus into the Turkish Cypriot quarter of this capital.

The Greeks promptly moved part of their 850 soldiers stationed on Cyprus into the Greek Cypriot section.

In an attempt to head off trouble, diplomats of Britain, Greece and Turkey met with Makarios and decided to put British, Greek and Turkish forces in Cyprus under a uni-

Prediction by Economist

'Brisk' Area Business in '64

By ROGER W. BABSON
Noted Economic Writer

Business in Pontiac has chalked up one of its best years ever during 1963, due in considerable measure to the unexpectedly lively activity in the automotive industry.

Looking across the threshold into 1964, I predict another year of brisk business for your locality, with the average probably coming very close to the historic heights of the year just ending.

The reason that I hesitate at this time to forecast a further heartening gain is my uncertainty as to the ability of the automotive industry to maintain its sharp uptrend.

★ ★ ★

It is my opinion that we are facing a period of mild retrenchment as heavy installment loans are slowly paid off.

NOT DEPENDENT

This could result in perhaps a 5 per cent decline in the output of automobiles for the coming year as a whole. Fortunately, your area is not entirely dependent upon this field for your economic progress, so I do not look for any business slideback in the new year.

There will be, for example, healthy gains in seaway shipping, speedboats, paper, machinery, sugar, castings, industrial construction, clothing, public construction, wire, road building and electric power.

Pay rates should move a bit higher in the new year. Employment will hold up well, with most jobless problems that develop during the year restricted to the unskilled categories.

As a result, discretionary buying power will be strong, and your retail and service outlets should do an excellent business, with special stress on drug, food, clothing and department stores.

HOUSING STARTS

Housing starts should just about parallel those of 1963, a strong support to your economy.

Local living costs are apt to move sidewise to slightly higher, but I anticipate no rus-

DEATH SPOT—As thousands of West Berliners crossed into East Berlin to visit relatives on Christmas day, Paul Schultz, 18, tried to flee to the West less than a mile from the Oberbaum Bridge control point. He became entangled in barbed wire atop the concrete wall (arrow) and was fatally wounded by gunfire from East Berlin border guards.

No Township Vote Until 1966--Roberts

By JIM DYGERT

Any dissatisfied township folk bent on voting their local officials out of office will have to wait until November 1966.

That is, if the new state constitution is not amended to make township elections possible sooner, according to State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

The two-year terms of present township officers, which ordinarily would have ended in the spring of 1965, were automatically extended at least until the end of 1966 by the new constitution, Roberts points out.

★ ★ ★

This free ride of almost two years for incumbent township officers results from three provisions of the document, he says.

One provision abolishes the spring election at which township officials formerly were elected in odd-numbered years.

★ ★ ★

Another says that all officers elected in the 1963 spring election will serve out their terms and continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified. This prohibits a shortening of the terms but permits them to be extended.

Thirdly, according to Roberts, special elections are barred.

DURING NOVEMBER

As a result, township officers must be elected during the November balloting in even-numbered years.

Since township terms cannot be shortened, the earliest even-year election possible will be in 1966.

If the legislature in its recent special session had adopted a bill calling for earlier township elections, the measure would have been to no avail without a constitutional amendment, Roberts says.

Some lawmakers claimed the legislature could have provided an earlier election date, but probably would not. Roberts maintains it could not do so unless the constitution were first amended.

As it turned out, the old law was left on the books. Since it provides for spring township elections, which will not be possible after the constitution takes effect Jan. 1, new legislation is needed.

News Analysis

Legislation is needed also to implement the provision leaving to lawmakers the responsibility of fixing township terms at "not less than two nor more than four years."

One proposal for amendment expected to be introduced in the 1964 regular session that will begin Jan. 8 would reinstate the spring election for township officers in the interests of preventing overcrowded ballots in fall elections.

★ ★

If the amendment were to succeed at the polls in November 1964, township officers would face election in the spring of 1965 as they would have if the new constitution had not been approved.

If it were to fail, they would stay in office until 1968.

To get on the 1964 ballot, the amendment would have to be approved by two-thirds of the members of both Senate and House.

fied command headed by a Briton, a communique announced.

There are about 10,000 British servicemen on Cyprus.

AIR FORCE UNITS

But most of the British are air force personnel scattered in bases in Nicosia and in southern Cyprus.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, meeting with his cabinet ministers in London, decided to send 150-250 men of the 1st Battalion of Foresters. They will be flown from Britain.

The Greek National Defense Council met in urgent session in Athens.

★ ★ ★

An informed source said the Greek government was in constant touch with the "Turkish and British governments in order to avert any full-scale fighting on the island."

DEFEND DECISION

The Turkish Cypriots warmly defended the decision to send Turk regulars into their section of Nicosia, an action apparently ordered by the Turkish government in Ankara.

The leader of the Turkish Cypriot community, Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, said the troops were ordered out to protect the minority Turkish community.

He claimed that Greek forces were attacking and killing Turkish Cypriots.

The Turks claim they have suffered at least 50 fatalities and 300 injuries in the five days of battles.

Greek suorces say the figures are exaggerated and their own losses are much less.

CONFERS WITH RUSK

Johnson told newsmen at his Texas ranch he had conferred by telephone with Secretary of State Dean Rusk two or three times on the situation.

"We have a situation developing there and we are watching it very carefully," Johnson said. "We have 1,700 citizens on that island."

State Department sources said in Washington no evacuation orders have been issued to U.S. citizens, but Americans in outlying areas have been advised to move to more centrally located points in case evacuation is deemed adivsable.

★ ★ ★

Officials said that in the past three days Americans in dangerous areas have been warned to be on the alert.

HALTS VACATION

Prime Minister Douglas-Home interrupted his Christmas vacation in Scotland and returned to London because of the situation in Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

The cease-fire appeared to be observed in much of Nicosia today, but bursts of gunfire were heard occasionally from the border between the Greek and Turkish sectors.

★ ★ ★

The Makarios government announced last night that an agreement had been reached to establish a unified British command over the 850 Greek army troops and 650 Turkish army troops on the island, along with the British forces here.

Vacationing LBJ Eyes Trouble Spots

★ ★ ★

The President's guest today was former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee. Johnson said he wanted to "get his counsel on a number of national problems." These were not specified, and there was speculation that the Democratic politician may be in line for a federal post.

Johnson also was keeping in touch with the explosive situation in Cyprus, where fighting has erupted between Turks and Greeks. Developments on the island prompted two or three telephone conferences Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

BUSINESS PRESSURES

The pressures of official business during the holiday stay at the LBJ ranch was evidenced, too, by a new directive in which Johnson ordered a cutback in federal jobs within the next 18 months.

In discussin Cyprus with newsmen Wednesday, Johnson said: "We have a situation developing there and we are watching it very carefully."

★ ★ ★

Recalling his own visit to the Mediterranean island last year, he expressed concern for the 1,700 Americans on Cyprus.

Aides reported that Johnson strongly supported efforts by the British, Greek and Turkish governments to stabilize the situation.

ORDERED CUT

In ordering a cut in the federal pay roll, Johnson told agency heads:

"Even though nothing like this has happened in the last decade, I am still unconvinced that we are getting the maximum possible output per employe. I believe we can do better."

★ ★ ★

He said every department and agency would get personnel ceilings which "Are not to be exceeded without my explicit approval."

Payrolls are to be cut, if only slightly, in two stages—by next June 30 and by June 30, 1965.

PROGRESS REPORTS

Johnson demanded progress reports from each agency chief every three months and promised these would get a personal review.

When a reporter asked how big a job cut to expect, Johnson retorted:

"Isn't cutting it enough? You don't know how hard that was."

He noted that the number of federal employes had grown by 133,000 since 1961.

Holiday Gift: His Son's Life

Surgery May Save Birmingham Child

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—"There's hope now — the first we've ever had," the father said smiling after he had been informed that his son might live after all.

Ralph Hedman, 33, of 888 Chapin, was explaining his reaction to the best Christmas present he had ever received — news that his son, Ralph, 21 months, would undergo surgery in January for a heart defect.

The blond, blue-eyed youngster has two arteries transposed, a condition which doctors say interferes with supply of oxygen in the blood.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Carol Hedman, 24, the mother of Ralphie and six others, said, "Doctors always told us nothing could be done, that Ralphie would live only a few more months."

MAYO CLINIC

Ralphie will be operated on by Dr. William Kirklin, a heart specialist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Hedman smiled, her eyes shining. "When Dr. Kirklin said yes to surgery, that was more than enough for our Christmas, it was the answer to our prayers."

"We didn't plan on a big Christmas," Mrs. Hedman continued, "but friends, neighbors, and the Girl Scouts and the Brownies changed all that."

★ ★

Mrs. Hedman said all the people brought presents for the other children and us and it turned out to be a merry Christmas after all.

"Especially since we received the news about Ralphie," she said.

City Foresters Are Tops in Field Day Competition

BIRMINGHAM — The city's forestry and parks department now has a chrome handsaw to display with its chrome ax, both symbols of high safety and ability.

The saw was won Tuesday morning at the fourth annual Inter-City Forestry and Parks Field Day, safety and ability trials.

Birmingham started a three-year competition with Ferndale at the event, held in Springdale Park. It won the ax by defeating an Oak Park team three years in a row.

★ ★ ★

The team to win two out of three annual contests will win permanent possession of the handsaw.

6 EVENTS

The Birmingham team won honors in six of Tuesday's seven events. It came out on top in rope throwing, spur climbing, the tractor back-blade obstacle course, knot-tying, operating a power saw and a crosscut saw.

Only in tree topping was the team defeated. Participating for Birmingham were Supt. Darrel Middlewood, Lou Parker, Ron Seelye, Huey Lail, Ray Browne, William Diem, Larry May, Art Fitch and William Gardner.

Enrollments are now being taken for the second term of children's art classes at the Cranbrook Academy of Art galleries.

The classes, for young persons aged 7-19, are held in the Young People's Art Center below the library.

The 10-week sessions begin Jan. 14 and continue through March 21. Classes are divided by age and limited in size.

★ ★ ★

The courses are offered for 90 minutes after school on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. There are three sessions Saturdays.

Charles E. Carpenter

Service for Charles E. Carpenter, 60, of 504 Brown, will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

General Motors made an additional corporate gift of $145,000 to the local fund raising drive, a $12,000 increase.

FUND DRIVE LEADER

Pontiac Area United Fund's fall campaign was led by Estes, serving as general chairman, beyond its goal with a total collection over $822,851.

This year will also go down as one of the best in terms of production at the three plants.

Pontiac Motor continually set new sales and output records. On July 12, the 544,091st Pontiac drove off the final 1963-model assembly line to exceed a previous model production mark set in 1955.

★ ★ ★

By Dec. 16, total Pontiac production for 1963 hit 600,000 for the first time in the division's 37-year history. Pontiac also set 10 monthly and 22 ten-day sales records.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

To keep pace, Pontiac Motor carried out an expansion program for the final assembly plant and a renovation and improvement project at Plant 15, the frame production facility.

Biggest news at GMC Truck & Coach was the establishment of new operations to produce light van-type trucks.

Initial production is now well underway and will hit full stride in early 1964, adding an estimated 725 new employes. Latest manufacturing and assembly techniques were installed for the new truck line.

The three managers also reminded that each plant offers regular public tours.

Fisher Body conducts three tours daily, at 10 a.m., 1 and 6:30 p.m.; Pontiac tours start at 9:10 a.m. and 1 p.m., while GMC Truck invites visitors at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Lakonia Dead Number 96

36 Unaccounted for in Greek Liner Fire

LONDON (AP) — The Greek Line said today revised figures showed 96 persons known dead and 36 unaccounted for in the Lakonia disaster.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the line, formally named the General Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., of Greece, said 896 were known to have been saved in the rescue operations launched shortly after the 20,314-ton liner caught fire Sunday night in the Atlantic 180 miles north of Madeira.

★ ★ ★

The figures added up to 1,028, in contrast to previous reports that said 1,036 were aboard.

The spokesman said the Lakonia carried 651 passengers and a crew of 377. The discrepancy was explained by the failure of some crewmen to show up for the sailing Dec. 19 from Southampton.

SURVIVORS RETURN

Return of the survivors was under way by land and sea.

Two Moroccan airliners ferried 158 passengers from Casablanca, Morocco, to tearful reunions Wednesday with relatives and friends in London.

Today 125 passengers and 140 crew members sailed from Madeira for London aboard the Greek liner Arkadia. Other survivors were awaiting transportation from Madeira, Casablanca and the Canary Islands.

12 Children, Family of 6 Die in Fires

By The Associated Press

Fires took the lives of 12 children in the Walter Johnson family in Charleston, S. C., and a family of six in Spring Lake in the worst of the nation's Christmas fires.

An exploding oil heater was blamed for the deaths of the 12 children—eight boys and four girls—in Charleston.

The victims were all in one bedroom at the top of the stairs. Their father was critically burned trying to save them.

In Michigan, authorities were trying to determine the cause of the Spring Lake fire.

Killed in the blaze were Donald Dennison, 43; his wife Alma, 36, and her four children by a previous marriage.

Neighbors returning from midnight Mass saw the Dennison home afire. The raging flames forced would-be rescuers to withdraw.

The body of Dennison, a farmer and World War II veteran, was found on a stairway with one of the boys in his arms.

In other blazes, a Christmas tree caught fire in Muncie, Ind., home, killing two sisters, and two relatives attending a family reunion in Conneaut, Ohio, died in a house fire.

Inventor's Ingenuity Is Good for Fishng

NEW YORK (UPI) — Finn Mangus, an industrial inventor with more than 40 patents to his credit doesn't leave his ingenuity in his workshop but takes it fishing with him.

★ ★ ★

Since the late Dr. William Beebe discovered an unexplored field of deep-sea fishing in the Hudson Gorge in the Atlantic about 125 miles southeast of New York City, Finn Magnus has been finding out how to catch the fish.

Beebe used nets and trawls in 1928 to find out what kind of fish were in this canyon under the sea—discovering 55 species of deep-sea fish. Magnus, on the other hand, has been experimenting with angling methods for taking the fish as a sports fisherman—contributing his findings to zoological and oceanographic research.

His 47½-foot boat is powered with twin 235-horsepower diesel engines and has a cruising range of 600 miles.

The boat is equipped with radar for safety in the fog, a Loran to determine its own position, graph depth finder, automatic pilot, fish finder, ship-to-shore telephone, permanent thermometer for surface temperature readings and graph depth thermometer for under-the-surface temperature readings to 450 feet.

LAYER THEORY

Magnus has a theory that the ocean is divided into layers of water which are no more mixable than oil and water and that each layer is of a different temperature and chemical composition. And he believes each layer of water is suitable only for a certain species of marine life.

While most marlin fishermen are content to use an outrigger to skip bait on the surface, Magnus might take an under-the-surface temperature reading and find it desirable to use a weighted lure to fish several fathoms below.

★ ★ ★

And his scientific fishing has paid off handsomely because he has made some fine catches and set some records off the coast of Brielle, N.J.

★ ★ ★

He decided that if his theory was correct — that is fish are compelled to live in a certain composition of the ocean — he would try to find a place where the layers of water would remain fairly constant and not be shifted by currents and pressure. So he started fishing in the canyon under the ocean — the Hudson Gorge.

While fishing this ocean gully, he has collected evidence that this is a natural spawning grounds for several species of fish, including some species not ordinarily caught in the Atlantic.

Since he has been fishing in Hudson Gorge, he has caught almost all the known Atlantic fish . . . and he has hooked many Pacific fish out there in Atlantic waters.

CATCHES 'FIRSTS'

Last season he landed 17 white marlin from the Hudson Gorge. And he caught a 234-pound big-eye tuna—the first of its kind ever caught off New Jersey. He and his son caught the first three giant blue fin tuna that has been caught off the Jersey coast in 12 years.

★ ★ ★

When a fisherman can see fish which are frolicking along and not taking bait, Magnus says, the fish might be temporarily out of the layer of water in which they must live . . . and they won't strike until they get back into the water which is ideal for their existence. He says a couple of degrees in temperature might make the difference of whether or not a fish will take bait.

★ ★ ★

However, he has synchronized the engine of his boat and trolls at a predetermined speed which he thinks will cause an echo—apparently making a noise to sound to the fish like a school of bait fish. This lures the fish to come up from the depths of the ocean and brings them out of their natural environment.

While some fishermen cruise around the ocean waiting for a bit of luck to bring them fish, Magnus is calculating methods for sure strikes. He said: "After my many years of big-game fishing, I've finally become a scientific angler."

You Can Wash This New Lap Siding for House

You'll wash your new house instead of painting it if it is sided with a new extra-long-life siding now available at local lumber and building supply yards.

The easy-care secret of this prefinished lap siding is its plastic finish, a precolored polyester film fused to a durable hardboard base.

It combines the exceptional dent resistance and durability of hardboard siding with a new type of tough plastic film, which provides weathering and endurance qualities that dramatically reduce maintenance. Easily applied, each siding course locks into the one below with no nails showing.

The siding is guaranteed for 10 years against all visible failure and may be painted if a change of color is desired.

The attractive low-gloss finish is available in white, green, beige or gray.

Silver Threads Among Rocks

DENVER (AP)—A silver boom—possibly one of the biggest ever—is under way in the Colorado Rockies.

Long-closed mines are being reopened all along the mineral belt—the Continental Divide that runs from north to southwest along the state's jagged mountain peaks like the crooked spine of a shimmying dragon.

Not since the boom years of the free silver era around the turn of the century has so much interest been shown in silver in the state, says G. A. (Bud) Franz, Colorado's deputy mining commissioner.

★ ★ ★

So far this year 52 mines have been reopened, although not all are expected to be fully operational for at least six months.

GOOD SHOWING

Still, that's nearly equal to the total of all silver mines operating in the state last year.

None of these mines, however, is an exclusively silver operation. Most of them, in addition to silver, mine gold, zinc, lead and copper.

But Franz says that the mines which are being reopened will be operated mostly for their silver content.

★ ★ ★

Why the boom?

Silver is now selling near its all-time high—$1.30 an ounce.

NOT NEAR RECORD

Silver production in Colorado last year was about $2.1 million, nowhere near the all-time record of $50.3 million in 1900.

Franz predicts this year's modest increase will make it about $2.5 million. Next year providing all the reopened mines are operating, he predicts silver production in the state could reach $10 million.

But if you're thinking of heading for the hills with a mule and a pick, your chances for staking a new claim aren't very good.

"Most of the veins have been uncovered. New ones can be located only by exploration of a highly technical nature," Franz says.

HIRE ENGINEER

His advice is to hire a good mining engineer and let him go out and look.

Names of these long-dead mines that are being reborn ring with a peculiarly Old West sound: Cascade Tunnel, Capital Prize, Black Eagle on Clear Creek, Keystone at Crested Butte, Bull Domingo, California in Dolores County, camp Bird and, naturally, Last Chance.

Some have proven value. Camp Bird, domant only about four months, was sold earlier this month for a reported $1 million. More than $50 million in gold, silver, lead and zinc has been taken from the mine.

★ ★ ★

Others — especially some of the smaller newly reopened mines—are part-time operations, with owners going there on weekends to search for silver veins.

How much silver actually is left in the Rockies?

Franz says, "Most oldtimers agree there's as much left in there as there's been taken out." He adds, "It might even be three or times as much."

Need Loan? Use Home for Equity

Almost every home owner wants to improve his property, but very often he is unable to borrow the cash.

Yet he does have an asset against which he can get funds which can be repaid over a long period of time; this asset is the "equity" he has built up in his house through years of mortgage payments.

All the home owner has to do is go to his bank and borrow the money he needs by refinancing the mortgage. The new mortgage will cover the new loan plus the unpaid balance on the old mortgage.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, the amount of money that can be borrowed in this refinancing depends upon how much of the mortgage principal has been paid off.

However, whether a loan is needed, or not, now is the time to plan for such property improvements as finishing a basement playroom with a resilient flooring of vinyl asbestos tile or the installation of a fireplace.

Not only will such improvements increase the value of the house, they also will bring more pleasure in its use.

Ask at Local Store for Home Designer

Young married people should investigate decorating services available at their local stores, advises interior designer David Eugene Bell of New York.

"You'll be surprised at savings that can be made this way.

A good person can help you plan everything from floor to ceiling so that a room is completely coordinated, and less expensive in the long run than shopping on your own with the risk of making expensive mistakes, and you have the store's good name behind the transaction," he says.

This is especially important in areas where decorating services are limited, he says.

Etruscan burial urns dating to the fourth or fifth centuries B.C. have been found near Perugia, Italy, by archeologists.

Fire Ruins Bar in State

KALKASKA (AP) — Fire ruined the Manistee Lake Bar and Hotel 12 miles north of here Wednesday. Losses were estimated at $40,000. Owner Edward Chwastek and his family fled after awakening to find the building filled with smoke. Firemen fought the blaze three hours in a heavy snowstorm.

This Fish Story a Real Bomb

ANZIO, Italy (AP) — When he felt all that weight in his net, Ugo Carotenuto was the happiest fishing boat captain in Italy.

Then he saw what it was—and called for the Navy.

He had netted a two-ton German aerial bomb dropped in World War II.

* * *

The Navy hauled it 15 miles offshore and let it sink in 3,500 feet of water.

Love Letter to U.S.

America Gets Cinema Tribute

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — In "America, America" Elia Kazan has composed an epic poem in tribute to his family and his adopted land.

* * *

The film is poetic, yet novelistic in style; indeed, the narrative was first published by Kazan in novel form. The story obviously flowed from his heart. The result is a masterwork that will long endure.

THOMAS

The triumph is Kazan's all the way. He is the writer, director and producer. He obviously has chosen the settings and the characters with a loving eye. For his main figure he picked a completely unknown and inexperienced actor, molding him to fit perfectly the concept Kazan had in mind.

* * *

The theme of "America, America" is so basic and dramatic in the history of this land that it is amazing it has never been adequately treated on the screen before.

Stavros Topouzoglou — actually Kazan's uncle — is a Greek boy living in Turk-held country at the end of the last century. He sees the Turks terrorize the Armenians in retaliation for Constantinople bombings. He sees his large family living in fear that the Greeks will be next in line.

HOPE FOR FUTURE

Stavros' father believes the boy is the family's hope for liberation and sends him off to Constantinople with their small wealth. The plan was for Stavros to invest the money in a business. But the boy has another dream: America.

* * *

The journey is a disaster from the start. Stavros is beater, robbed and degraded. He tries to work for his passage to America, only to have his savings robbed by a prostitute. He seeks to marry money but loses his nerve and finds an even more debasing method to earn a ticket for New York. Even then he is thwarted within sight of his goal.

* * *

"America, America" is no sugary love letter to the United States. Kazan makes no concessions for sentiment or the trappings of a commercial movie and hence the film may fall short of being a popular attraction.

* * *

But it is Kazan's lack of compromise that gives "America, America" its cumulative power. You are caught up in the Odyssey of this modern Greek because it is completely real. The photography by Haskell Wexler, sometimes blurred like life itself, reflects the mood and texture of the land and its people.

* * *

There is a sequence at the end of "America, America" in which the mass of immigrants are huddled in Ellis Island enclosures like cattle in a stockyard. Then the barriers are lifted and the throng pours out to the new nation. It is a fitting climax for a film that will be full of meaning for most Americans.

Chance of Income Tax Cut Influences '63-'64 Returns

By CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The almost certain prospects of an income tax reduction in 1964 make tax planning for the few remaining days of 1963 doubly important.

Of particular importance is the sale of property such as common stock, which could take place in either 1963 or 1964. Should you wait to sell?

In general, it is wise to postpone income until lower tax rates are effective. Although there is no guarantee that Congress will pass the Kennedy-Johnson tax cut bill, we can assume at the very least that rates will not be higher next year.

* * *

Thus, although individual cases may vary, planning transactions to put taxable income into 1964 and taking losses in 1963 is probably a smart move.

NO EFFECT

The tax cut bill, passed by the House and now before the Senate Finance Committee, will have no effect on the individual 1963 tax return you must file by April 15, 1964.

One note on early filing of your 1963 return which is of particular interest to new fathers:

If you filed a 1963 declaration of estimated tax, then, by filing your form 1040 and paying your full, remaining 1963 tax by Jan. 31, 1964, you don't have to pay your fourth and final tax installment otherwise due on Jan. 15.

* * *

Men who become fathers in the period between Sept. 1, 1963, and Jan. 1, 1964, and follow this procedure do not have to file an amended declaration to show their new exemption.

TAX REMINDER

All other taxpayers who filed declarations of estimated tax are reminded that final payments are due on Jan. 15, 1964. Your return for 1963 may be filed any time up until April 15.

If you are a stockholder, there are two key rules to remember if you want to postpone gains until 1964 or take losses in 1963. Most of us are on the so-called "cash basis" of accounting and these rules apply:

- To take losses in depreciated stock in 1963, you must sell it on or any time before Dec. 31.

* * *

- To take gains as soon as possible on stock which has appreciated in value but to postpone taxation until 1964, you may sell the stock any time after Christmas Day.

* * *

The House-passed version of the tax cut bill has two advantages for owners of stock and other capital assets which have appreciated in value:

RATES REDUCED

First, regular ordinary income rates were reduced. Therefore, for everyone filing a joint return with less than $44,000 of taxable income, the tax on capital gains is in general, automatically reduced.

Second, a special category of capital gains was created — here the stock, for example, was held more than two years.

For this category, the amount of the gain included in ordinary taxable income was to be reduced to 40 per cent of the gain instead of the present 50 per cent.

There is a chance that the Senate will eliminate this second advantage.

FIRST ADVANTAGE

But, if the tax cut bill becomes law at all, it is almost certain that postponement of capital gains until 1964 will give you the first advantage of a lower tax rate.

If your appreciated stock has been held two years or more (or will be held that long by Jan. 1), it may be doubly wise to postpone taxation in the hope the House bill will be the law enacted and effective for next year.

Now Is The Hour To Plan Tax Returns

Correct Faults in Construction

A few memos placed in the chore jaw now — and acted upon before winter weather sets in — can correct faults in home construction and contribute to longer life of the house and future paint jobs.

The customer services division of Armstrong Paints says that the most likely weak spots are these six:

The flashing around the chimney and other brickwork — roofing — gutters and downspouts — window frames and corners of the house — where concrete foundation extends only a few inches above the ground, and — where siding and studs touch the ground.

* * *

These are all places where deterioration, faulty construction, or poor materials permit cracks to form.

Water enters through these cracks, causing rust, further deterioration, and a variety of exterior paint failures.

An electric beacon light which works without power lines and unattended for more than six months operates on propane gas stored in two 100-pound tanks.

Lighting Problems Faced by Schools

Providing effective light controls for the modern classroom is one of the many problems facing school authorities throughout the country.

This problem is becoming increasingly acute, says Frank Vecchiarelli, lighting specialist, because it is a by-product of two of the most significant trends in today's educational picture.

The trend in school construction, he explains, is toward a constantly increasing use of glass, while the trend in teaching is toward greater use of visual materials.

Each of these aspects of the educational picture has developed independently of the other, he points out.

MUST BLACK OUT

As a consequence they are at some variance, since projection equipment — and television, as well—can be used only when the teacher in the individual classroom can quickly and effectively black out the huge glass areas the architects have provided.

The problem is being augmented annually, he says, by the postwar spiral of new school construction, which has risen from a national total of $101 million in 1946 to an estimated $4 billion in 1963.

Its solution is being left largely to local school authorities, who often must provide light control installations from operating instead of construction budgets.

The average output per United States coal miner has risen from 7.47 tons a day in 1952 to 15.41 tons, highest rate in the world.

Newlyweds

Take Trip to Chicago

The Thomas A. McAllisters (Linda Elizabeth Byington) are honeymooning in Chicago this week, following their recent marriage in the Christ Lutheran Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Glen R. Byingtons of Barker Drive and the Harold McAllisters of Allen Lake Road.

With her wedding-gown of white satin brocade, fashioned with fitted bodice and chapel train, the bride wore a fingertip veil of French illusion. Red roses centered her bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Joseph Courier, who was matron of honor, appeared in a green silk brocade dress.

Donald Alexander performed the duties of best man for his cousin who resides on Cooley Lake Road. Ronald and Robert McAllister ushered with Larry Blain and John Crigger.

The couple, who are both charter graduates of Oakland University, will live at Union Lake.

A January wedding is planned by Carolyn Sue Pickett, daughter of the Elmer Picketts of West Chicago Street and LeRoy Beach, son of Mrs. Norman Shrum of East Newport Street.

Why not A Casual Suit

Men will never understand why we women look into our closets only to exclaim in dismay that we don't have a thing to wear. Oh, we do have a lot of clothes - except the one garment that will cover any occasion.

* * *

This casual, yet dressy suit modeled by Pat Woodell of CBS Television is perfect for those unexpected luncheons, PTA meetings, and evening affairs.

The right side of the jacket is knitted in a quilt pattern effect and quite easy to do. The buttonholes are crocheted in or can be made by machine. Knitted in any of the wide variety of yarns now available, even in a tweed mixture, it will be very stunning.

Instructions are written in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18.

The pattern for Side Panel Suit No. 34 may be obtained by sending $1.00 by check, currency, or money order to: Ursula duBois, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Box 3307 Van Nuys, Calif.

Do-It-Yourself Cabinet

A rustproof porcelain enamel shower cabinet which can be assembled without screws or bolts has been developed by a midwest manufacturer.

The unit, which the maker says requires no tools for assembly, features interchangeable porcelain steel panels and a terrazzo base.

Care Will Give Life to Flower

Here are some tips for the proper care of holiday season cut flowers.

1. As soon as you arrive home with cut flowers, place their stem ends in deep warm water. Pour warm water into the container in which they will be arranged. Cut the stem ends diagonally with a sharp knife. Remove all foliage below the water level in the arrangement. Add a commercial flower preservative to as poinsettias and euphorbias, the water.

2. Some cut flowers, such have a milky substance or juice which should be sealed into the stem by quickly dipping the stem ends one to two inches into boiling water. The upper leaves and flowers should be protected from the steam with thicknesses of paper.

3. If stem ends get soft or decayed, recut the stems to remove that portion. Should any flowers look wilted, recut their stems and place them in very warm water.

Slight Advances Registered

Mart Prices Move Unevenly

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices advanced unevenly early today as trading resumed after the Christmas holiday.

The upward trend came in the face of four straight declines and the popular belief that prices would fall in the final days of 1963 trading.

★ ★ ★

Most advances were small and numerous declines dotted the list. Some of the wide moving issues did much better, gaining as much as 9 points in one case. Trading was only moderate.

There were no particular groups that stood out in early dealings.

OUTBURST EYED

Many brokers had expected a new outburst of selling starting today because from a practical standpoint 1964 begins with this sessions for stock traders. That is because stocks sold at a profit regular way (four day delivery) beginning today go on the 1964 tax return. The fact that lower tax rates are widely expected for 1964 is expected to influence this selling.

★ ★ ★

Xerox spurted about 9½, Control Data was up 2½ and IBM about 2. One point gains were posted by Polaroid, du Pont and Jones and Laughlin.

Tuesday, the Associated Press 60-stock average declined .4 at 283.0.

Early prices on the American Stock Exchange were narrowly mixed. Unchanged at the start were Occidental Petroleum, Ogden and Tampa Electric. Kratter was off a small fraction and Giannini Controls gained a little.
