California Sizzles in Torrid Heat

Idle Labor Day for Workers Here

The three-day Labor Day weekend will be laborless for most employes of shops, factories and offices throughout the city.

Banks will operate on a normal Saturday basis, remaining open until noon, but will be closed all day Monday. Operations will resume Tuesday morning.

Postal workers will work until noon tomorrow with normal deliveries in effect. However, the post office and its branches will remain closed Monday with no deliveries in the city.

The Chamber of Commerce reported that all stores will remain open as usual tomorrow but will be closed on Monday. Some of the larger department stores plan to remain open Tuesday night.

All plants and offices of the Pontiac Motor Division will be closed at the end of the last shift today and will resume operations at the regular time Tuesday, according to Robert W. Emerick, director of public relations.

Emerick said the few employes that will have to work over the weekend will be so advised by their supervisors.

Fisher Body authorities disclosed that limited crews in several departments will be working tomorrow but only skeleton crews will be employed on Monday. Normal operations will resume Tuesday.

GMC Truck and Coach Division announced that it will shut down substantially over the weekend with a necessary few still reporting for work as expected.

There will be no Labor Day parade or celebration in the city this year, according to Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council.

"Because of the continuing contract negotiations, we felt we should hold off until next year," Haggard said.

College Degree Worth $91,000 Over Lifetime

WASHINGTON (AP)—How much is a college education worth in cold cash?

On the average, $91,000, two Census Bureau officials reported today to the annual meeting of the American Sociological Society.

* * *

Paul C. Glick and Herman P. Miller said:

"Over a lifetime, the average college graduate can expect to receive about $100,000 more income than the average high school graduate. Since the direct and indirect costs of the college education are roughly estimated at $9,000, it is concluded that a college education represents a sound investment from a purely monetary view point."

The census men cautioned, however, that a college degree is no guarantee of higher earnings. They said about one-fourth of all college graduates earn less than high school graduates in the same age group.

Wins Award

DALE C. HARRIS

Pontiac High's Band Will Play at State Fair

Pontiac High School Band Director Dale C. Harris will be honored Saturday at the Michigan State Fair as the state music teacher of the year.

He was chosen by and will represent the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Assn., said Fred Weist, president.

Harris is the first instrumental music teacher to be honored by the association. The award will be presented at a noon luncheon Saturday. Gov. G. Mennen Williams probably will make the presentation, according to Robert Hawkins, Michigan State Fair director of special events.

Harris will be among 24 other state school teachers, who will also receive awards for their work in various fields, Hawkins said. Following the 5 p.m. buffet supper, the teachers will take part in the Teachers Day Parade at 6:30 p.m.

The Pontiac High School band is scheduled to play a 30-minute concert program in the band shell Tuesday Sept. 6, at 4 p.m.

Monday they will march with other bands from the state in the big Labor Day parade.

Auto Company Settles Strike With CIO-UAW

American Motors Pact Follows Pattern Set by Big Three Terms

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. today became the first of the Little Three in the auto industry to settle with the CIO United Auto Workers on the Big Three contract pattern.

The settlement ended a strike called by the union last midnight.

The American Motors settlement differed in one major respect with that reached with the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. AMC's layoff pay plan will not be put into operation until a year after the others.

The company will start paying into a trust fund Sept. 15, 1956, and benefits will not become available until a year after that. Benefits become effective at the Big Three next June 1.

UAW vice president Leonard Woodcock said the union agreed to the year's delay in an effort to make American Motors "a permanent success in the auto industry" and to help a group of 3,000 displaced former Hudson Motor Car Co. employes in Detroit.

Woodcock mentioned the company's "economic problems" attendant on the merger" and said the UAW wanted to "help American Motors meet these problems."

Edward L. Cushman, American Motors vice president, said his company had been paying more than the going rates in the auto industry and had asked the union to "bargain on the economic facts of American Motors Corp."

Woodcock said the layoff pay plan, wage increases and other benefits in the new American Motors agreement constitute a 14-cent an hour package for the first year of the three-year pact. This includes a wage boost of six to eight cents an hour for all employes. Additional six-cent raises will be given in 1956 and 1957.

The UAW previously had estimated the value of the Ford, General Motors and Chrysler packages in excess of 20 cents an hour the first year.

The agreement came about eight hours after a midnight strike deadline saw the start of walkouts at American Motors' seven plants in three states which eventually would have involved all of AMC's 24,000 workers.

Peace talks in the six-day old strike of 20,000 Bendix Aviation Corp. employes blew up early today. The company reportedly made the union a "take it or leave it" offer and the union turned it down.

The UAW said company representatives then walked out of the meeting. No further sessions were scheduled immediately.

* * *

And Vickers, Inc., and the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers were still deadlocked today on a settlement for their 10-week-old strike.

Negotiations were broken off yesterday. No date was set for further talks.

Do YOU Want to Make Page 1 Over the Holiday Weekend?

Beginning tomorrow, the Pontiac Press will start to print the names of you — and you — and you — who have been killed.

You will die in traffic accidents.

The nation forecasts a total of 400. This does not include those who will be horribly maimed, disfigured and long time hospital cases.

Practically all of these accidents will be avoidable through slower driving, greater courtesy and calmer judgment.

★ ★ ★ ★

YOU will roll over twice taking a curve too fast. YOUR WIFE AND TWO CHILDEN will be killed. YOU and the BABY will be hospitalized with a good chance to live.

★ ★ ★ ★

YOU will hit another driver in a headon crash and since you are alone, ONLY YOU WILL DIE in your car. In the other, A WOMAN AND TWO SMALL BOYS will be buried early in the week.

★ ★ ★ ★

YOU will try to pass someone on a hill in a lonely spot where there aren't many cars; but this is a holiday and an extra car will be coming and YOU AND YOUR GIRL FRIEND will be maimed for life. The old lady in the other car WILL DIE.

★ ★ ★ ★

Yes, and YOU, the careful driver, will be MANGLED TO DEATH beneath the wreckage because a drunken driver sideswipes you and hurls you into a wayside tree. Had you been a little EXTRA careful on the holiday weekend you might have moved over the additional 12 inches which would have saved your life.

★ ★ ★ ★

Remember, "THE CEMETERY IS FULL OF PEOPLE WHO HAD THE RIGHT OF WAY."

★ ★ ★ ★

The next three days are fraught with peril. They should be an unusually happy and joyous occasion. Employment around here is at an all time peak. People are doing well. All those that labor, and that includes everyone who holds any position whatsoever, deserve a holiday.

This is a time to rejoice.

But remember: The Pontiac Press is preparing to print the lists. We will record the maimed and the injured. Our duty lies ahead and we are ready.

★ ★ ★ ★

WE CAN ALMOST SET SOME OF THE WORST HEADLINES IN ADVANCE. Do you want YOUR name there?

Only YOU can keep it out.

Only YOU can save your family.

Mr. Driver, the decision is YOURS and YOURS ALONE.

★ ★ ★ ★

Keep off the roads as much as you can.

Drive to your destination but don't just "go for a ride." And in conclusion we urge EVERYONE to drive many miles an hour slower than usual in all circumstances.

3 Million Cars to Jam Michigan Over Weekend

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan estimates there will be three million cars on the state's highways over the weekend.

The club said there would be 400,000 out-of-state cars in Michigan and that traffic will be heavy in "both directions."

It pointed out residents of metropolitan centers will head north to close up cottages and enjoy a weekend, while outstaters will be heading for Detroit's State Fair, Labor Day parades, and the Detroit-Chicago baseball doubleheader.

Four detours around construction zones may jam up traffic. The club listed them as on M15, south of Vassar; U. S. 23 north of Ann Arbor; U. S. 16 east of Grand Rapids, and U. S. 31 north of Hart.

Condemnation Suit Is Started

City Seeks to Acquire Land for New Parking Lot Downtown

Condemnation proceedings to acquire the one remaining piece of property needed for a new municipal parking lot near the Oakland County Office Building were started in Circuit Court yesterday.

The city has negotiated options for purchase of three other parcels needed for the lot and already owns a fourth, said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

The action follows city attempts to purchase the remaining section for the parking area which will extend west from the office building along Lafayette street and beyond Pike.

Filed by City Attorney William A. Ewart, the condemnation petition asks the court to impanel a jury to determine just compensation to the property owner, Mrs. Frances N. Swisher. The Swisher property is now used as a privately operated parking lot.

Ewart was given City Commission authorization July 26 to begin condemnation proceedings on the land required for the Lafayette lot and another lot running from West Lawrence to West Pike, between Cass and West Alley.

The new lots, expected to cost $320,000, will provide 280 additional municipal parking spaces for downtown shoppers.

The cost will be underwritten by a revenue bond issue, to be paid from the income derived from meters on the lots.

BERLIN (INS)—A Berlin brewery announced it had accidently distributed 30 beer bottles filled with champagne.

The brewery added that for each bottle returned it would give a 50 mark (about $11) reward and 30 ordinary bottles of beer.

The champagne was bottled especially for a brewery celebration.

Homes Razed by Fire in San Dimas; 4 Dead; 57 Are Prostrate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern Californians braced themselves for another scorcher today in the wake of yesterday's record high temperatures which were blamed for four deaths and 57 cases of heat prostration.

The mercury zoomed to 110 degrees in Los Angeles, cracking a 64-year-old mark by one degree.

Nearby Tujunga recorded a sizzling 120. And on the normally torrid Mojave Desert it was a comparatively cool 90 to 103.

More heat was forecast today, with a high of 108 expected for downtown Los Angeles.

In San Dimas, 25 miles east of here, a roaring wind-fanned fire destroyed 12 homes, severely damaged 10 more, scorched scores of others and showered this community with sparks yesterday.

Stables, garages, a small railroad station, a Girl Scout cabin, and several thousand chickens also were consumed by the flames, which for a time threatened this

Fair and Pleasant Here on Saturday

An obliging weatherman promised fair and pleasant weather for today, tonight and Saturday as area residents made plans for the final holiday weekend of the summer.

The mercury climbed 11 degrees—from 57 to 68—from 8 to 9 a.m. to get a running start toward today's predicted high of 78 degrees. The temperature reached that figure at 2 p.m.

Tonight's low will range from 54-58, while Saturday's peak is expected to reach 80.

Motorists driving north for the weekend will find the weather fair to partly cloudy tomorrow, with the possibility of a few scattered showers.

The U.S. Weather Bureau's 5-day forecast calls for temperatures averaging near normal, with high readings around 75 and low figures around 57. Precipitation in the vicinity is expected to average .25 to .50 of an inch.

Called Discriminatory

Judge Dismisses Charges Against Ice Cream Vender

Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan yesterday dismissed as "unconstitutional, discriminatory and an unreasonable exercise of police power" the city's case against an ice cream vender who rang the bells on his truck in violation of a city ordinance.

Finnegan told City Attorney William A. Ewart he would issue no more warrants under the recently revised venders' ordinance and would hear no more such cases until the Supreme Court issued a decision on its constitutionality.

"The only purpose of that ordinance is to hound these venders out of Pontiac," Finnegan said. "This is not a police state and the court does not believe it should sanction this undemocratic action."

Paul Harty, attorney for the defendant, Sol. Greenwald of Detroit, said he will file suit for a Circuit Court injunction restraining the city from enforcing the "invalid ordinance." Harty represents the Penquin Ice Cream Co.

Other speakers include:

Rep. Judd (R-Minn); John M. Schiff, New York, president of the Boy Scouts of America, and Dr. Harold C. Hunt, Eliot professor of education at Harvard University.

* * *

Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament and deputy U. S. representative in current U. N. disarmament talks, placed an end to the arms race at the top of his peace program in a speech prepared for the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The path before us is clear," he said. "America must stand united, strong and alert, yet patient and persevering, as we proceed with the highest human task of forging a future in which men and nations can live in peace. I have faith, with God's help, this can be done."

New Code Set for Air Attack Warning Here

A new code for the bell and lights air raid warning sytem went into use at noon today, W. L. Collins, assistant city civil defense director, said.

The system, which is connected to schools, hospitals, city buildings and the Pontiac Press, provides a warning of air attack. Test runs are made every week day at noon. On the first Saturday of every month, the system is tested in connection with the city's air raid siren.

Under the new test pattern, the Yellow, or advance warning signal, will be given for 10 seconds, and the White, or "attack by hostile aircraft is improbable" signal, will give given for 15 seconds.

The siren will be sounded at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the following pattern:

Blue (alert) — two minutes of steady blast.

Posse Wanted to Find Mother

Sheriff Will Beat Woods in Search for Missing Spring Arbor Matron

JACKSON (AP) — Volunteer help was asked today to search back roads and wooded areas for a young Spring Arbor woman missing with her three small children since Aug. 17.

* * *

Deputy Sheriff Harry Blair of Spring Arbor sought the aid of townspeople as officers combed remote sections 10 miles west of Jackson for Mrs. Catherine Hagey, 23, and her children Nora, 4; Robert, 2; and James, 9 months.

Citizens were asked to be on the alert for a 1950 blue Plymouth with license number DA 5487.

All police agencies in Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana were notified that the mother and children are being sought.

Mrs. Hagey was last seen when she bought a full tank of gasoline at a Spring Arbor service station and drove off.

NO EXPLANATION

Relatives said Mrs. Hagey had written them recently that she would "rather be dead and have my children in heaven" than return to her home. They were unable to give any further explanation.

Police are trying to locate the woman's husband, Russell, 23, a used car salesman, who was reported visiting his grandparents in Nova Scotia.

entire unincorporated town of 4,000 about 25 miles east of Los Angeles.

County Fire Chief Keith Klinger said the blaze apparently was set by an arsonist.

Six hundred men used 700 pieces of apparatus to contain the flames.

CHICKENS DIE BY THOUSANDS

Farmers in interior valleys reported that tens of thousands of chickens had succumbed to the heat, 12,000 at one ranch in suburban Bellflower.

Commercial flower crops also were damaged. Several downtown offices closed yesterday afternoon.

San Diego County authorities said the 104-degree heat there was a major disaster to the multi-million-dollar poultry industry.

A farm bureau director, Warren Hooper, estimated that nearly 6,000 chickens and turkeys dropped dead in their pens.

Several persons were treated in Santa Monica for burns on the soles of their feet, received as they raced across the oven-hot beach sands to the water.

At neighboring Torrance, city construction projects were halted when concrete set before it could be poured and tar boiled in the streets.

Los Angeles consumed a record amount of water yesterday—692 million gallons. Officials said there was a plentiful supply for the area.

Dozens of autos stalled on freeways, their engines vapor-locked. Minor traffic snarls resulted.

Hundreds of people spent last night and the night before in parks and on the beaches. Temperatures remained in the 90s and high 80s at night.

Peronista Congress OKs 'Siege' for Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Congressional approval of a "state of siege" for Buenos Aires today bulwarked President Juan Peron's new drive to crush his opposition.

The all-Peronista Senate unanimously okayed the bill last night after the Peron-dominated lower house voted it through 109-12 in compliance with Peron's demand for emergency powers to "annihilate" his foes.

Peron was expected to affix his signature today, transforming into law the measure affecting the capital's 3½ million citizens. The whole country was placed under a state of siege for 13 days after the unsuccessful navy revolt against the government June 16. The new restrictions applied only to Buenos Aires, however.

It appeared the chief effect of the measure would be psychological since Peron already had the special powers under a "state of internal war" clamped on the country in September 1951 after military men staged another abortive revolt.

Says Egyptians Blew Up Well

Israel Reports Minor Incident After Accepting Truce Appeal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Only one minor incident was reported along the tense Egyptian-Israeli frontier last night after Israel announced conditional acceptance of an appeal to end the fighting.

* * *

An Israeli military spokesman at Tel Aviv said Egyptian infiltrators blew up a well shortly before midnight near Yad Mordechai, an Israeli settlement northeast of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

It was in the Yad Mordechai area that Israel yesterday claimed two Egyptian jet fighters were shot down by Israeli planes.

* * *

Israel last night announced acceptance of a U.N.-proposed cease-fire, provided "all attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease."

There was no immediate response from Cairo. Egypt agreed Tuesday to the cease-fire proposal by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. truce supervisory commission. The United States and Britain strongly backed Burns' appeal.

* * *

The Israeli announcement came as estimates of casualties in the past nine days of fighting in the Gaza area reached as high as 61 killed and 91 wounded. The toll soared when Israeli troops in half-tracks blew up an Egyptian military headquarters at Khan Yunis, in the Egyptian-held Gaza region, Wednesday night.

CIO Issues Orders to Stop Rail Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union today ordered postponement of a strike of 35,000 nonoperating employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The strike had been scheduled for midnight tonight.

Michael J. Quill, TWU president, declared, however, that the employes might be reluctant to postpone their decision to strike."

He said the union was notifying the National Mediation Board that it was directing its locals to postpone the walkout that would have hit 12 states and the District of Columbia.

The postponement came after President Eisenhower stepped into the situation by creating an emergency fact-finding board to look into the dispute. Under the Railway Labor Act, this usually postpones strikes for 60 days.

Explosion Rocks Chicago Plants

36 Injured When Blast Rips Factories in City Southwest Area

CHICAGO (AP) — A terrific explosion and flash fire last night destroyed half a square block in a near Southwest Side factory district, injuring at least 36 persons and causing an estimated million dollars damage.

* * *

No deaths were reported but a hunt for possible victims will be made after weakened walls of the burned buildings are destroyed. It was believed all factory workers had escaped.

A Salvation Army canteen truck driver was killed in a collision en route to the scene at 38th Street and Ashland Avenue.

Of the injured, eight were hospitalized. One was reported in critical condition, another in serious condition. Most of the injured suffered from burns.

Chief Fire Marshal Albert Petersen estimated the damage. Destroyed in the 3½-hour fire were the three-story Griffith Laboratory building, where the explosion occurred, and two adjoining structures occupied by the Carr-Consolidated Biscuit Co. One building was three stories, the other six.

The cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

* * *

It sent flames racing through the Griffith Laboratory. They quickly spread — within three or four minutes, witnesses said—to the adjoining biscuit manufacturing structures.

The fire brought out some 70 pieces of fire equipment in answer to the city's highest alarm, a 5-11, with five special alarms.

Judge Backs Lions in Martin Dispute

TORONTO (INS)—Veteran Detroit Lions lineman Jim Martin has been ruled offside by a Long Beach, Calif. judge and will be in Detroit tomorrow, presumably to talk with coach Buddy Parker on his plans for this season.

Martin's jump to the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Professional Football League forced Detroit to seek a permanent injunction restraining him from playing or coaching with the club.

A judge in Long Beach, Calif., Martin's off-season home, ruled in favor of the Lions. Martin is scheduled to arrive in Detroit over the weekend to talk with coach Buddy Parker and general manager Nick Kerbawy.

August Tax Intake $3 Million Over '54

LANSING (AP) — The state collected $27,952,967 in sales and use taxes during August—some three million dollars more than the amount collected during the same month last year.

The Revenue Department said it collected $26,503,635 in sales taxes during August on July business.

August use tax collections on July business totaled $1,449,331, the department said. Sales and use tax collections in August 1954 amounted to $24,721,312.

W.F. Reddy, deputy revenue commissioner, said some $1,800,000 of the increase in collections over a year ago could be attributed to booming automobile sales.

Five Juveniles Admit Stealing Charity Items

Five juveniles ranging in age from 9 to 14 years, admitted to Pontiac Police yesterday that they stole articles earmarked for charity from a warehouse at 375 N. Cass Ave.

The warehouse contained clothing, toys and household items to be sold in the Kiwanis Club's annual November rummage sale for underprivileged children, Boy and Girl Scout groups and other youth organizations.

Sgt. Henry Hoyt of the Juvenile Bureau of the Police Department said all the items will be returned. None were reported damaged.

Hoyt said the five told him that they were playing around the warehouse and after exploring it discovered the merchandise but did not know who owned it. The five will be turned over to Hoyt as they have no previous juvenile records.

The newly changed peddler's ordinance was adopted Aug. 2 after much discussion by the City Commission and Ewart. It followed Circuit Court action upholding Finnegan's dismissal of a case involving the city's previous peddler ordinance. Coincidentally, Greenwald was also the defendant in that case, which was based on the ordinance which banned ice cream venders from Pontiac streets.

The new ordinance states that no sales may be made to youngsters under 16 unless an assistant 18 years old is working with the operator of the ice cream truck. The helper's job is to protect "small children from traffic hazards."

The law also provides that the vender cannot use chimes, bells or horns to attract customers. It stipulates such noise-making devices may not be attached to the vender's vehicle.

"This is a refined sort of torture," Finnegan commented. "Why not make them have 10 or 20 helpers, or make them wear red ties? The city has the right to use reasonable police powers. But this certainly isn't reasonable."

Greenwald was ticketed Aug. 15 for "ringing bells while peddling ice cream" at Clovese and Branch Sts.

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said:

"I have never heard of a municipal judge testing the constitutionality of a law before."

Straley said he would confer with Willman to determine the police department's course of action.

Jacobson Shop Addition to Be Started Next Week

BIRMINGHAM—Plans for an addition to Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop on North Woodward Avenue, were announced here today. Construction work will begin next week and is to be completed by Jan. 1, 1956.

Arthur O. A. Schmidt, architect, said the new structure will occupy 40 by 120 feet, immediately north of the present building.

Of two-story construction, a basement will be used for storage space, while the main floor will provide an overall merchandise expansion, Schmidt added that a major portion of the new retail area has been allotted for a much-enlarged giftware section.

An entrance will be provided at the rear of the new building, enabling customers to enter the store directly from the parking lot to the west.

"In contrast to reports over B. Siegel Co.'s problems in obtaining a building permit, the Jacobson design is in accord with our off-street parking requirements and a permit will be issued," said City Manager Donald C. Egbert.

N. M. Schostak, president of the firm seeking the permit for a Siegel branch on the southeast corner of Maple and Bates, told lawmakers at this week's city commission meeting that he hoped to secure the permit prior to a Sept. 12 hearing. The hearing is for confirmation of the assessment roll for Municipal Parking Lot No. 1.

The Siegel property is expected to be included in the assessment district, but Egbert said today that "common sense" indicates that until the roll is actually confirmed, Siegel plans do not comply with the parking ordinance and no permit can be issued.

MICHIGAN STATE APPLE COMMISSION

Rules and Regulations—Issue No. 2

PURSUANT to, and to make effective Act No. 87 of the Public Acts of Michigan of 1939 as amended by Act No. 274 of the Public Acts of Michigan of 1955 the following rules and regulations relating to apples produced in Michigan are made and established by the Michigan State Apple Commission:

Rule I.—Public Hearings: Prior to the issuing of any rule, regulation or order, the Michigan State Apple Commission shall first hold a public hearing on the proposed rule, regulation or order or any changes therein.

Rule II.—Orders: All rules, regulations and orders of the Commission shall be signed by the Chairman and the Secretary-Manager.

Rule III.—Seal: The seal of the Commission shall be circular in form and contain the following inscription, "Michigan State Apple Commission."

Rule IV.—Stamp Design: The design of the official apple advertising stamps issued by the Commission shall be: Shape, rectangular; background, to be an outline map of Michigan; bearing the denomination of the stamp. Each denomination shall be of a different color.

Regulation 1.—Assessment: The assessment of two (2) cents per bushel or four (4) cents per hundred pounds of apples levied by Sec. 9b of said act, shall be collected by the purchase from the Commission, of adhesive apple advertising stamps or of combination grade and apple advertising stamps; which stamps shall be attached and cancelled by the grower.

Regulation 2.—Evidence of Payment: Evidence of payment of the apple advertising assessment shall be shown by one of the following methods.

A.—Adhesive apple advertising stamps properly cancelled and attached to the bill of lading, shiping receipt, invoice or other documents accompanying the load, or to individual containers.

B.—Combination grade and apple advertising stamps or adhesive apple advertising stamps properly cancelled and attached to individual containers.

C.—(1) On retail transactions by the grower on his own premises and (2) on retail shipments by express, evidence of payment of the assessment may be shown by attaching and cancelling, daily, the proper amount of adhesive apple advertising stamps to a ticket of release, furnished by the Commission, which shall be certified and rendered at the end of each calendar month to Michigan State Apple Commission.

Regulation 3.—Cancellation: Said stamps attached to individual packages, or to bills of lading, invoices or other documents accompanying loads shall be cancelled by permanently writing or stamping the date thereon; EXCEPT: that on individual packages either (1) adhesive stamps, or (2) combination grade and apple advertising stamps showing the packer's name, address grade, variety and minimum size in compliance with statutory requirements.

Regulation 4.—General: With the exception of Michigan apples sold for cider, juice and vinegar which are exempted from the provisions of this act, no Michigan apples shall be shipped or sold to any dealer until such advertising stamps have been properly cancelled and fixed or attached by the grower or growers' agent, except as provided for below.

In the event that apples are purchased for the purpose of being processed into cider, juice and vinegar and later sold as fresh fruit, the party purchasing the apples shall be liable for the proper cancellation and fixing or attaching the proper apple advertising stamps.

In order that the practical application of this regulation may be in accordance with certain marketing practices, apples may be delivered by a grower or growers' agent to a dealer or processor, without apple advertising stamps when the dealer or processor has the written permission of the Commission to accept apples without advertising stamps. The Commission may grant this permission to such dealers and processors as have agreed, in writing, to accept the responsibility of seeing that the apple advertising assessment is paid on all apples passing through their hands and to keep accurate records on forms furnished by the Commission. These records are to be retained for a period of two years.

The Commission is to furnish the Bureau of Foods and Standards, Michigan Department of Agriculture, with the names of such dealers and processors as are authorized to accept delivery of apples not accompanied by the required apple advertising stamps. Each inspector of the Bureau of Foods and Standards is to be furnished with a list of such authorized dealers and processors. Any load of apples not accompanied by properly cancelled apple advertising stamps and being delivered to a dealer or processor whose name does not appear on this list is to be considered in violation.

Regulation 5.—Stamp Purchases: All apple advertising stamps shall be purchased from the Commission or its authorized agents. The Commission or its agents shall issue an official receipt to the purchaser showing the amount of money paid; the number of stamps delivered and their denomination. Triplicate copies of the receipt shall be made; the original being delivered to the purchaser. The second copy of the same must be sent by the agent to the Commission together with the funds collected quarterly. The third copy shall be retained in the original receipt book.

Regulation 6.—Non-Participating Growers: Such growers as desire can become non-participating growers and claim exemption from the provisions of this act. To claim such exemption, the non-participating grower must notify the Commission in writing on or before the first day of July of each year of his intention to claim exemption from the apple advertising assessment for the coming crop year. For this purpose, the crop year shall be considered to run from July 1 of one year to June 30 of the following year. When so notifying the Commission, the non-participating grower shall give the Commission his estimate of the size of the apple crop upon which he is claiming exemption. The Commission shall then issue the non-participating grower an exemption certificate bearing an exemption certificate number.

On apples sold as fresh fruit, the non-participating grower shall attach properly cancelled apple advertising stamps in the same manner as a participating grower. The non-participating grower shall then file for the refund of the apple advertising assessment paid by him upon a form furnished him by the Commission at his request. In filing for a refund, the form must be accompanied by the grower's copy of the Commission's official receipt used for stamp sales. These official receipts shall bear the same name as that appearing on the non-participating growers exemption certificate.

Where a non-participating grower sells apples through a grower's agent and the apple advertising stamps are purchased in the name of the grower's agent rather than the non-participating grower, the non-participating grower may, when filing for a refund, substitute a statement from the grower's agent certifying that the grower's agent purchased a specified quantity of advertising stamps for use in shipping the non-participating growers apples.

On the last day of each month, the Commission shall pay all requests for the refund of the apple advertising assessments received by it from non-participating growers during the month. A non-participating grower need not file monthly for the refund of his apple advertising assessment. He may elect to file as many times as he desires during each crop year provided he does not file more than one request during each month. No refunds shall be paid to non-participating growers filing for a refund later than June 30 of the crop year for which he has claimed exemption.

On apples sold to processors, the non-participating grower need not attach apple advertising stamps if the processor to whom he is selling has been authorized by the Commission to withhold the amount of the apple advertising assessment from payments made to participating growers. In this event, the non-participating grower shall notify the processor in writing of the fact that he is a non-participating grower. This written notice shall contain the number of the non-participating growers exemption certificate.

Dealers or processors desiring to be authorized to accept apples not accompanied by apple advertising stamps shall request, in writing, to be authorized. In making this request, the dealer or processor must state that he agrees to keep such records as required by the Commission.

Regulation 7.—Grower's Records: Every grower shall keep a complete and accurate record of the number of bushels or weight of apples handled, shipped or processed by or for him during each calendar year. These records shall be retained by him for a period of two years.

Regulation 8.—Growers' Agents, Dealers' and Processors' Records: Every growers' agent, dealer and processor buying apples produced in Michigan shall keep a complete record of the number of bushels or weight of apples purchased by him. The details of this record are to be reported monthly to the Commission on a form furnished by the Commission. These forms are to be furnished to the growers' agent, dealer or processor at his request. Such records are to be maintained by the growers' agent, dealer or processor for a period of two years.

Recognizing the confidential nature of these reports, they shall not be available to any person or persons other than members and employees of the Michigan State Apple Commission and state and county law enforcement officers and all employees and agents of the Department of Agriculture except as necessary for the prosecution of violations of the Baldwin Apple Act.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Michigan State Apple Commission, by John J. Timpson, Chairman, and Holland F. Patterson, Secretary-Manager, have hereunto set their hands and affixed the Seal of the Commission this 17th day of June, 1955.

MICHIGAN STATE APPLE COMMISSION
John J. Timpson, Chairman
Holland F. Patterson, Sec.-Mgr.

The above rules and regulations were duly adopted by the Michigan State Apple Commission on the tenth day of June, 1955; approved by the Attorney General of the State of Michigan on the ninth day of August, 1955 and given immediate effect by an Executive Order signed by the Governor of the State of Michigan on the twenty-second day of Aug., 1955.

Bonanzagram No. 25

The Last Answer---It's Worth $1,100

Isabel was having a fine time lolling around and enjoying her vacation. But, her girl friend had a terrific time trying to figure out her letter. She finally got the message and filled in the blurred letters like this:

A LAZY WAY TO WRITE. The story clues described Isabel as lolling in a steamer chair while writing the post card; this makes LAZY WAY a better fit than HAZY or LAZY DAY TO WRITE. ALL YOU'RE PANTING TO HEAR. PANTING, that is, longing with breathless eagerness, is more typically a school girl expression than the sedate WANTING TO HEAR, and more descriptive of the feelings of the close friend who would be bursting with curiosity about the trip.

MY ROOMIE IS A SWEETER GIRL THAN I HOPED FOR—that is, nicer than Isabel had dared to expect. On this student cruise, as described in the story clues, strangers would be thrown together and one's roommate would be a matter of luck. A SWEATER GIRL—THAT I HOPED FOR is less likely phrasing. LOVELY, HOMELY. These two words add to the description of the SWEETER GIRL, and are not mutually exclusive. LOVELY, in one sense, means gracious or attractive in manner, and not merely beautiful, so that she can be at the same time LOVELY and HOMELY. She would certainly not be LONELY on such a trip. COMELY is a stilted word, unlikely to be used by a young girl. She would say "pretty" instead, if that had been the meaning to be conveyed. Rather, we have a HOMELY girl who evidently has an attractive personality and a sense of humor.

She's very pert, a MINX, WITH JOKES ABOUT HER FOLKS. A JINX is a bringer of bad luck, not a good fit with the rest of the description of this chance roommate. Since she is amiable and a MINX, JOKES is a more likely word than POKES, which would indicate slyness. LOTS OF MONEY is better than the phrasing ABOUT HER FOLKS' LOSS OF MONEY, which would not be a felicitous thing to make JOKES about.

WHAT A TRIP! This exclamation is more in keeping with the situation than WHAT A DRIP! which would not fit as a slangy disparagement of the very nice roommate. MANY BOYS ABOARD. This gives the girl friend another piece of interesting information, answering the questing of whether the girls outnumbered the BOYS ABOARD. So it's better than ZANY BOYS ABOARD, or the vague MANY JOYS. TOYS, of course, would not fit the sense.

Reference to the BOYS lead logically to LAST NIGHT'S DATE WAS MY ZERO. From what follows, we may be sure that this is not MY HERO. A REALLY PRIZE WOLF is more apt than PRIME WOLF, as a slangy expression. QUITE SAPPY goes logically with this description. HE KISSED ME ON THE DECK. Because he is a WOLF, DECK is more apropos than NECK here! This all adds up better than QUITE HAPPY HE MISSED ME ON THE DECK.

Next comes the exciting occurrence on the cruise. THEY FOUND A STOWAWAY HIDING IN THE HOLD. Of course he was RIDING, too, but HIDING is the more logical word. And the HOLD is the obvious place to find a STOWAWAY. The story clues mentioned that the tourists swam, so it follows that there was a swimming pool aboard, and BY THE POOL PIPES would be a good hiding place, a more likely description than IN THE COLD BY COOL PIPES. BEHIND TRUNKS AND CASKS. TRUNKS takes precedence over TRUCKS as cargo for a one-cabin passenger ship. CASKS, that is, barrellike containers, is also apt; if CASES had been meant, the writer would probably have used the specific "suitcases."

JUST A KID, BUT HE'S HANDY. HANDY fits better than HARDY, for the mesage goes on to specify HE'S EARNING MONEY FOR PASSAGE FROM CLUBBY FAMILY MAN. We don't know what service he is rendering, but MASSAGE is unlikely here. Stowaways may well be put to work to earn some of the PASSAGE money. The CLUBBY FAMILY MAN is probably not CHUBBY, because he is also described as THE FUNNY TYPE. CLUBBY, that is, sociable, goes better with FUNNY than with PUNNY or SUNNY. The reference to him as a FAMILY MAN gives the clue that it's WITH LOUD DAUGHTER, rather than the awkward phrasing WITH LOUD LAUGHTER.

TOMORROW WE'LL EXPLORE ALL OVER TOWN. The exaggerated EXPLODE, to describe the tourists' doings, is not as logical as EXPLORE.

The signature is not BELLA, although that is a likely variant of Isabel. BELL'S, even in connection with ship's BELLS, would not be logical. The writer was described as "gay and popular," and is undoubtedly pretty as well, so her signature is BELLE.

Red Farming—One Man's Opinion

Soviet Cotton Yield Falls Short for Consumer Needs

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of six articles by the dean and director of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, who led a U. S. farm delegation on a five-week, 10,000-mile tour of Russia.

By DR. W. V. LAMBERT

Although the Soviets are trying hard, there still is some doubt whether they can produce enough cotton for their needs in their main cotton-belt in the southern sector of Central Asia, principally Uzbekistan.

However, this central Asian region convinced me that the Russians are making progress in increasing cotton as well as wool production.

Cotton agriculture is dependent on irrigation, on water brought from the mountains to the south and east.

The Russian system of irrigation is not as well developed as our American system. They get just as much cotton from an acre as we do in America.

In the Tashkent region 333,450 acres of cotton are under irrigation. In the Republic of Uzbekistan, 32 million acres are producing cotton. Each acre yields 5,200 pounds of lint and seed yearly comparing favorably with American yield.

Collective farms do fifty per cent better than this—because of better management.

In order to encourage greater production, the Soviet rewards top producers.

Research centers are busily working. The most important specializes in irrigation research while the other centers work on cotton equipment. They are trying to improve cultivators, fertilizer spreaders, and machines for trimming and topping plants as well as equipment to combat plant disease.

Workers do a great deal of educational work, give short courses and advise farm managers and technicians.

Kazakstan, with its 22 million sheep, is the center of Russian sheep production. Right now the average Kazakstan sheep produces about five pounds of coarse or carpet type wool yearly.

But Soviet scientists are striving to develop better breeds for the different climatic conditions found in central Asia.

For example, sheep are raised on high mountain plateaus where there is about 32 inches of rainfall yearly. Other sheep graze in desert lands with less than eight inches of rainfall each year.

Soviet scientists have produced a breed of sheep from a cross between the Russian Merino and a Siamese wild sheep. Large and rugged, this breed gives as much as eleven pounds of fleece per year for females and twenty-four pounds for males.

Some of this research might be helpful to American sheep growers. Russian breeds may have characteristics which could be incorporated in American sheep.

Then, too, the Russians are working with artificial insemination. The Russians use artificial insemination more than we do in America, especially with sheep.

One interesting aspect of research is with camels. To the best of my knowledge, this is the only place in the world where research is conducted to develop better strains of camels.

Since there are more than 90,000 camels in Kazakstan, this animal is important to farmers as transportation over long desert trails.

To combat animal diseases, the Russians use many veterinarians. In the whole of Russia, veterinarians work in 4,500 agricultural districts.

But the Russians need a lot of veterinary doctors. With a shortage of livestock, they take extra care to see that livestock diseases, particularly epidemics, do not drastically reduce livestock numbers.

Equestrian Tests Open Saturday

Olympic Trials Slated at Metamora; 1st Time to Be in Midwest

By MAUDE MARTIN
Press Metemora Correspondent

METAMORA — The greatest horse event ever to come to the Metamora area will be held over the Labor Day weekend in the Metamora Hunt country.

The first time the event will ever be held in the midwest, the three-day Olympic Equestrian Trials, Sept. 3-5, are recognized by horsemen to be most grueling tests for both horses and riders.

Some of those who will enter the trials are: Frank Duffy, Birmingham; Warren Wofford, Junction City, Kas.; Paul Garlick, Birmingham; John E. B. Wofford, Junction City, Kas.; William L. Rochester Jr., Warrenton, Va., L. J. McGuinness, Canada (Canadian team member); William D. Haggard III, Nashville, Tenn.; C. A. Smith Jr., Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Margaret Beam, Malvern, Pa.; Walter Staley, Mexico, Mo.; Mrs. George Jacobson, Hudson Heights, Quebec and Charles Grant of Birmingham.

The three days will be made up of all types of the exhibitions required of horse and rider in the Olympics.

The first day, Saturday, is Dressage Day, which is to prove the suppleness of the horse and the ability of the rider to direct it through intricate maneuvers in the ring.

SECOND DAY

Endurance test comes the second day. This is over a course 17.37 miles long. It includes two miles of steeplechase, with 12 to 14 jumps; five miles of roads and trails and natural obstacles; five miles of cross-country, over 30 jumps, plus five miles of "warm up."

* * *

The entire course has been laid out by Maj. Gen. W. B. Bradford (U. S. retired), who was the Captain of the Olympic Jumping Teams in 1936. General Bradford's job here is manager of the event, and he is the one who had to think up and fabricate the many obstacles which will be used to test the horses in the event.

The third day, Sunday, is a test of jumping, and this will be in the ring at the Alger Course southeast of Metamora, near Delano and Davison Lake roads. Horses and riders who are capable of placing within the first ten Olympic requirements, will be permitted to compete in Tryon, N. C., for final selection of a team which will represent the United States at Stockholm, Sweden, at the Equestrian Olympics in 1956.

On Saturday and Sunday the show will start at eight a.m. and on Monday the jumping event will be at 3 p.m.

Over the Labor Day weekend there will also be another great Metamora Hunter-Breeder Show, which will be in session at 9 a.m. until noon, and at 1 p.m. and for the rest of the day on Friday, Saturday and Monday. There will be no competition on Sunday. This day belongs to the Olympic Trials exclusively for their cross-country event.

Williams Hits New Labor Law Changes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said yesterday the Taft-Hartley amendments "twisted and perverted" the original intent of the Wagner Act.

Addressing delegates to the convention of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, Williams called the Wagner Act "one of the best things that ever happened to American business." He added:

"The Taft-Hartley amendments twisted and perverted its original intent. The present administration has forgotten its promises to repair at least some of the damage done by Taft-Hartley, but that repair job will be done. Either the present administration will do it, or the people will elect a new administration more responsible to American ideals of fair play."

Pulitzer Prize Winner Loses Divorce Decision

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Vange Nord Michener was granted a divorce yesterday from James A. Michener, Pulitzer-prize winning writer and author of "Tales of the South Pacific."

Michener was not present. The author reportedly was homewhere in the South Pacific.

One of the main complaints his wife had was that he was seldom home.

Farmington Houses Double in Five Years

FARMINGTON—Recent reports indicate that the number of occupied dwelling units have almost doubled in the City of Farmington in the last five years.

Tri-City Employment Up

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Industrial employment in the tri-cities' 46 plants topped 5,000 workers in August for the first time with 5,036 employes listed. Senate to Quiz Auto Merchants

Commerce Committee Will Attempt to Stifle 'Phantom Freight' Acts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate commerce subcommittee plans to question the nation's 40,000 new car dealers on problems of the retail motor trade.

* * *

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), subcommittee chairman, said yesterday questionnaires are being sent out by his committee. The subcommittee is studying automobile marketing practices.

Monroney said replies will be used in planning possible federal legislation.

Monroney said each dealer will get a chance to tell his troubles or give his opinion on such problems as "automobile bootlegging," and "phantom freight."

CUTTHROAT PRICES

"Automobile bootlegging" is the trade term covering bulk sales by franchise dealers to unauthorized persons, usually second hand dealers. Such sales are at substantial price reductions and often enable the second hand dealer to offer a new car at what regular dealers call cutthroat prices.

"Phantom freight" occurs in the practice of charging the full freight rate from the main factory, even though the automobile may have been assembled in a closer location.

Monroney also said dealers are being asked whether there is any need for "additional federal regulation in their field" either through strengthening present antitrust, antimonopoly and price laws or separate legislation for car dealers.

Decade of Debate Likely Over Greatest Senators

When the Senate decided to select its five greatest members of all time, it laid the groundwork for 10 years of noisy but inconclusive debate.

Not only did the upper House provide for such a choice but decreed that medallions of their distinguished deceased colleagues should hang in the reception room outside the Senate chamber.

It decided further that only one such choice should be made by each of five successive Congresses. Thus the 84th Congress would choose the greatest Senator of all time, the 85th the next greatest and so on until 1966.

Of course, Republicans are going to name Republicans for the honor and Democrats, Democrats. Also to be expected is that the Senators' nominations undoubtedly will be made with the votes of the folks back home in mind. Naturally, too, recently deceased Senators will be favored in the nominations.

Among Republican and Democrat moderns likely to be named are Vandenberg, Taft, Hull and Walsh. From the Progressive era could come nomination of such men as the senior LaFollette, Norris, Hiram Johnson and Borah. The list of earlier greats could be almost endless.

What the ultimate choices will be is anyone's guess. The only certainty about these choices is that making them will release the greatest flood of favorite son oratory ever heard outside a major party convention.

State Fair Survey

A common sense effort to survey the public's opinion of Michigan's annual State Fair is being attempted.

The method chosen by the Board of Managers of State Fairs and the State Commission of Agriculture is circulation of questionnaires. Exhibitors are receiving them from division superintendents. Visitors to the fairgrounds may obtain them from strategically located booths.

★ ★ ★

Two of the questions strike us as outstanding in importance:

1. What location do you consider best for the fair, Detroit? Twenty-five miles out? Fifty miles out? One hundred miles out?

2. Do you think the State Fair should be divided into an agricultural fair—machinery, livestock and crops in a centrally located agricultural area and an industrial and consumers fair in the metropolitan area?

The answers to these and the other questions should prove very helpful to the Board and State Commission. Nonetheless, if the aim is to have the fair pay its own way, it should be left in this general area where it can draw the largest crowds.

Women and Credit Buying

Due in large measure to the new economic status of women in Europe, a noticeable change has taken place on the Continent in the public's attitude toward installment credit.

Time was, and not so long ago, when Continental people took an extremely dim view of time payment purchases. Today, however, women are reported pressing for such conveniences as refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, washing machines and other home equipment, as well as radio and television sets.

★ ★ ★

Their pressure for these purchases is the more effective because many of them, as well as their husbands, have jobs and regular paychecks. If European prosperity continues, it's a safe guess that these electrical appliances will take much of the drudgery out of housework across the Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

At least, that is what happened in this country. Installment credit sales began here in furniture about the middle of the last century. Today electric home appliances are the rule rather than the exception. Of all wired homes, 92.4 per cent have refrigerators, 27 per cent ranges, 81.3 per cent washing machines and 15.1 per cent freezers.

What's more, who can say that controlled installment buying hasn't raised the American standard of living?

Holland's Miracle Boom

Tiny industrious Holland is enjoying an economic boom so impressive that it amazes that country's leaders.

Today things are so good for the Dutch with their postwar population growth of 1,900,000 to a total of 10,500,000, that there are more jobs than workers to fill them.

★ ★ ★

Moreover, says Forbes Magazine, Amsterdam has replaced London as a source for export capital. Another sign of prosperity is activity in Dutch shipyards which ranks them third in the world output of new tonnage.

In the last 10 years, 52 important American companies have established in Holland subsidiaries or firms jointly owned by Americans and Dutchmen.

The recovery is the more remarkable because no country suffered heavier loss of life in war and concentration camps. No country was more systematically and thoroughly looted by the Nazis.

★ ★ ★

As Prime Minister Drees put it, prosperity exists because "all of us . . . realized after the war that we had nothing left but the capacity and . . . willingness to pull in our belts and work as hard as possible with little personal return . . ."

State Highway Planner Says Financial Problem Is Better

Three-day weekend: A happiness or a tragedy, according to what YOU help to make it.

In a talk this week before a Flint service club,

Carl McMonagle,

Planning Director for the Michigan State Highway Department, stated that a major part of its highway improvement program the coming year will be in Oakland and Genesee Counties. Under the new gas tax increase and other concessions, he states that he can see sufficient income ahead to provide the improvements and extensions needed in these rapidly growing areas. Regarding the controversy between his department and the authority behind the proposed toll turnpike through these counties, he said a toll road has its need only if adequate free highways are not provided.

The Prompter

David Lawrence Says:

Fundamental Rights Should Be Guarded Against the Encroachment of Liberalism

WASHINGTON—A great speech was delivered the other day by the outgoing president of the American Bar Association—Lloyd Wright of Los Angeles. He called for "a new revolution, a bloodless revolution, as in 1776, by the lawyers of the nation, a revolution dedicated, not to establishing any new principles but to restoring the ancient liberties."

* * *

The part about "ancient liberties" got some attention, but it was promptly misinterpreted in some places to mean that Wright was talking about the issue of the abstract rights of Communists or Communist sympathizers or persons caught in the dragnet of Communist connections or affiliations.

No one in recent years has made so scathing a denunciation as did Wright of what the radicals or Socialist Liberals—or the "Totalitarian Liberals," as Herbert Hoover calls them — have done to American liberties.

Wright reminded his hearers that Abraham Lincoln said that "you cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence" and "you cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves." Wright added:

PEOPLE ABANDON BASICS

"For no apparent reason, since the turn of the century, and I believe as a companion to the ever-widening encroachment of an industrial revolution, our people have become restive, and too many of us have turned our backs to the ancient landmarks. We have drifted down the paths of paternalism, looking more and more to security, wherever or however it may be found, and abandoning the good old American traits of thrift, dignity in work, independence and pride of accomplishment, and the joy of succeeding by overcoming all obstacles.

"The pattern of the decline is clear. On every hand our people are aligning themselves into opposing factions and pressure groups based upon economic interests, national origin, religious beliefs and geographical divisions, each organized for the avowed purpose of currying special favor at the hands of government and at the expense of the rest of society.

"The farmer, the labor union, the veteran, and industry and business are seeking protection from the necessity of proving their worth at the market place.

SELF-SEEKING ERROR

"Every hyphenated American who puts loyalty to his economic, geographical, religious or political affiliation above his duty and loyalty to the interests of the public at large adds momentum to the drift from the principles upon which our form of government is premised.

"Too many of our people have been willing to barter their precious right to govern themselves for the temporal advantages of financial favor granted by the paternal grace of the benevolent, all-engulfing Federal Government.

"It is because we in this country have enjoyed liberties and privileges to a greater extent than any other people that you and I should jealously guard against the erosion of our fundamental rights, the distortion of our laws and fundamental theories of government from whatever source advanced."

* * *

Wright's address is the reiteration of a truth seldom heard nowadays. It comes as a breath of fresh air in a fog of so-called "Liberalism," with its repeated sacrifice of ideals to the cause of expediency and materialism.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Clergymen Need Interview Technique to Keep People From Wasting Time

Clark is a modern, conscientious clergyman whose parishioners are imposing on him unduly for lengthy personal interviews on family problems. Yet a clergyman must be available for interviews. The solution to this dilemma is outlined below. Create a standard "interview technique."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-329: Clark H., aged 31, is a talented clergyman stationed in New England.

* * *

"Dr. Crane, I find that most of my interviews with parishioners deal with sex problems or family affairs," he spoke unhappily.

"And I don't mind helping, except for the fact they are so time consuming.

"Last night a couple asked to see me just for a few minutes. So I ushered them into my study at 8:15, and they were loathe to leave at 11:30 p.m.

"Now I don't begrudge them my time, for I realize a pastor should be available to help his flock.

"But I simply haven't time to counsel with everybody, so how can I solve this dilemma?"

PASTORAL COUNSELING

Pastoral counseling is one of the best services rendered by the clergy.

And no conscientious clergyman can arbitrarily refuse to see folks who are critically in need of aid.

* * *

But a lot of people will unfairly impose on their clergymen, unless the pastors are on guard.

So let it be known that you will gladly counsel with anybody—parishioner or stranger—BUT,

Be sure to insist that your "interview technique" be followed precisely.

And the first step in that technique is that the applicant must write out his problem, in full detail, listing all the factors which he thinks are involved.

This will immediately weed out a horde of people who really don't have any serious difficulty but just wish to "gush" for an hour into the sympathetic ears of their clergyman.

* * *

It will also eliminate many people who are too lazy to face their difficulty and "pinpoint" it in precise words.

Furthermore, a great many problems would clear up anyway in 24 hours by the receipt of a letter or a long-awaited check or some other factor beyond the clergyman's control.

LAZY FOLKS PROTEST

"Oh, but Dr. Crane, I simply can't put my problem into writing for it would require an entire book to do so," many lazy people exclaim to me.

Then they will sob into the long-distance telephone and try to browbeat me into seeing them in person, for they want a doctor or a clergyman to let them wander around for hours in a personal interview when one sentence can usually state any problem that any human being has ever faced on this earth.

* * *

"Why is it that you and your husband don't get along harmoniously," I finally take a shrewd shot in the dark, and then the wife who says it will take an entire book to cover her problem gives it in these few words:

"Oh, Dr. Crane, we've been happily married for 17 years and have two wonderful children in high school, but now I find my husband is infatuated with a girl at the office (factory, store, etc.)"

So, clergymen, don't become entrapped by the usual parishioner's desire for a sympathetic ear. Insist on a written report in advance.

You can then skim-read it in five minutes and realize the problem. But meanwhile 95 per cent of your applicants for counsel will vanish, for their dilemmas aren't of sufficient importance to warrant the effort required to write them out.

THEY'LL COOPERATE

However, those 5 per cent who have real difficulties will be willing to outline their problem in full. You can then digest it in five minutes and offer some positive advice in 10 minutes more, thus taking only 15 minutes total time.

* * *

Then send them home with some of the rating scales or the Compliment Club booklet offered via this newspaper column. And the sex booklets will often clear up 25 per cent of their conflicts.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

'Won't Conquer Gravity, Find Perpetual Motion'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer name, address and telephone number of its nature

In every civilized land men tried to attain perpetual motion, using all sorts of devices to get energy without outside power.

They have failed and it is now proved that it takes power to make power.

But today governments and corporations with easy millions are trying the old perpetual motion game only it is called nuclear energy. Our federal government has spent billions for electricity to make the so-called nuclear energy. Does this make sense?

How foolish to use billions of kilowatt hours of current to turn rock into nuclear energy, then convert nuclear energy back to kilowatt hours of electricity. There can be no increase of energy, for that old physical law still works . . . it takes power to make power.

And this "space sphere" is the late news coming from the bright minds of Washington. To me it is such boloney to think that the law of gravity can be defeated. Too many lives are lost by fallen airplanes to make space travel possible.

Oil Depletion Allowance Only 'Soft' by Comparison

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

A hangover taxwise persists from the policies of the New Deal and the Fair Deal. There remains in some quarters the totalitarian notion that all business and personal income really belongs to the government, which in the spirit of benevolence remits back part of the funds to the earners.

* * *

In the spirit that taxpayers, in retaining something, may be imposing on the government, there is a persistent search for soft spots.

One of the targets in this effort is the long-established depletion allowance granted to mineral and petroleum companies. If indeed the 27½ per cent depletion allowance seems less harsh than certain other confiscatory arrangements, including the top bracket rate of 91 per cent on earned personal income, then the remedy might be in making the whole fiscal structure more equitable.

From the standpoint of the general welfare, the propriety of the depletion allowance must be examined in terms of its impact on wildcatting and discovery of new sources of fuel.

* * *

One of the ablest of the nation's wildcatters told me that, if a consolidated picture of all wildcatting was taken, it would be found that such gambling for high stakes on average paid meager returns.

FEW HIT JACKPOT

But the headline skimmers get a different impression by focussing attention on the few who hit the jackpot. For example, last month one of the major companies announced that it had succeeded at the old Davis Hill salt dome in Liberty County, Tex., but this achievement was the climax of efforts to bring in an oil field which can be traced as far back as 1905.

* * *

The discovery well, opening a new field, is 16 miles east of Cleveland, Tex., and is 12 miles south of Hardin Field, the nearest area of proven oil production. The newly discovered dome, which is about three miles in diameter, eluded prospectors for half a century.

Individual wildcatters were involved until Humble Oil took over the prospecting of the dome in 1915 and 1916. In this chapter some 25 dry holes were drilled.

* * *

MODEST MARGIN

In an analysis of the bearing on the depletion allowance on wildcatting some years ago, W.S.S. Rodgers, of the Texas Company, wrote:

* * *

"There have been some people in the oil business who believed the cost of producing crude oil, since the discovery of the Drake well in 1859, has been higher than the return therefrom.

"I doubt that over the years the cost of producing oil has exceeded its value, but certainly the margin of profit has been far more modest than has been generally understood.

". . . Recognizing the risks involved and the hazardous nature of crude oil production, Congress, in 1918, provided for tax-free recovery of the 'discovery' value of oil and gas properties.

". . . Unlike other businesses in general, oil and gas production involves the sale of a basic, irreplaceable asset, and in order to stay in business the operator must find new oil at considerable risk and usually at higher cost."

* * *

Especially in the years when excess profits taxes since repealed added to normal corporate income taxes brought the total to confiscatory levels, attention was focussed on the depletion allowance as something tenderer than the prevailing harshness.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Scurvy Mostly Attacks Women Who Live Alone

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

In Glasgow Medical Journal last December Dr. T. J. Thomson reported that 100 cases of scurvy had been admitted to a general hospital in Glasgow in the past 15 years. Of the 100, only six were women.

* * *

In 82 cases a striking sign almost invariably present in scurvy was the appearance of large extravasations of blood under the skin of thighs and legs—large so-called "black and blue" marks. Such manifestation of scurvy—deficiency of or deprivation of vitamin C (absorbic acid) — has been wrongly interpreted as evidence of beatings in many instances.

To be sure, in a person with extreme vitamin C deficiency, even a slight blow or a playful slap or squeeze may produce such discoloration.

Four out of five of the Glasgow hospital patients had moderate or severe anemia.

Several of the patients were admitted with such diagnoses as "varicose veins," phlebothrombosis," "congestive heart failure" or "osteoarthritis"—the last because of suffusion or extravasation of blood under the skin and around and into the joint.

Complete recovery occurred in 95 of the cases.

LIVED ALONE

Of the 58 patients whose records gave details of the domestic circumstances, 52 lived along or in lodging houses and did their own cooking.

For every case of severe scurvy that comes under medical observation, as Dr. Thomson suggested, there are probably a great many cases of less severe scurvy that escape diagnosis.

Cases other than those mistaken for phlebothrombosis, osteoarthritis etc. Dr. Thomson wisely observed that a certain proportion of apparently normal persons grow indifferent to the simplest dietetic precautions, and that mild scurvy accounts for a good deal of vague general ill-health wrongly associated with "old age."

Familiar manifestations of scurvy in infants, children, or elderly persons are red, sore, bleeding gums, pasty complexion, weakness and tenderness in legs, minute hemorrhages all over the body, such as a casual observer may call flea bites, gradually increasing fatigue and peevishness in the young child or surliness in the adult.

Remember, there's no sharp dividing line between good health and scurvy.

* * *

If in doubt whether the trouble is scurvy, it can do no harm to try the therapeutic test—take 6 vitamin C tablets daily for 15 days—each tablet (ascorbic acid) containing 100 mg. If this doesn't give positive improvement, the trouble is not scorbutic.

Beware of drifting along on a tea and toast, coffee and roll, hot dog and pop diet. At least one meal every day must include green salad or fresh fruit or freshly expressed fruit juice.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 500 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Horseless carriages will also be seen by the thousands expected to line both sides of Main street for the holiday event. Art Farrell has had charge of entries for the parade.

Climaxing a busy day for paraders and spectators alike will be the Mummers' Parade at 8:00 p.m. Forming at the North Grade School this parade is staged in a carnival spirit. Entries customarily include clowns, novelty bands, and floats constructed purely for comic or satiric effect.

Free acts will be presented at the reviewing stand at intervals throughout the three-day program.

Kidnap Ransom Bills Reappear

Chicago Bank Reports Discovery of Additional Greenlease Money

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today three bills from the missing $303,720 of the Greenlease kidnap-murder ransom money had been found in Chicago.

* * *

The FBI declined immediate comment.

The Tribune said that after the discovery more than 30 FBI agents, who have been seeking the money for nearly two years, had been assigned to aid bank employes in checking $10 and $20 bills.

A woman clerk in the federal reserve bank of Chicago discovered a $20 bill that was part of the ransom money, the Tribune said. After she reported this, the bank ordered the day's receipts—between 300,000 and 400,000 bills—rechecked. Then two others were found, the story said.

* * *

Previously one $20 bill had been found Aug. 4 in Minot, N.D., and two bills earlier this week at the Federal Reserve Bank of St.Louis.

The Tribune said the FBI believes the money now is being put into circulation and FBI men reportedly are checking a theory that carnival workers have started to pass the money.

Bobby Greenlease, 6, was kidnaped Sept. 28, 1953, and killed by Mrs. Bonnie Heady and Carl Austin Hall. They were executed.

* * *

Only about half the $600,000 ransom money was recovered. Policemen Louis Shoulders and Elmer Dolan of St.Louis, who arrested Hall and Mrs. Heady, contended they turned in all the money they found in Hall's luggage. However, they were convicted of perjury and were sentenced to prison.

Calms Russian Spying Fears

Britain Promises That Disarmament Inspection Will Be on Level

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain has taken steps to calm Russian fears that the West plans to use proposed disarmament inspection teams for spying.

This was learned in diplomatic quarters as the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee members took a breather today after a week of closed talks. The subcommittee will resume work Tuesday.

* * *

Informed sources said the British have made it clear any control organ set up will be strictly that and not a spy nest.

The Russians reportedly seem to feel that the reason the West wants a control organ with wife powers is to set up a spy organization in the Soviet Union.

* * *

Anthony Nutting, British minister of state, was known to have offered assurances to the Russians. He reportedly said that in the early stages it would not go into atomic installations.

He also insisted that the control organ, in which the great powers would have a hand, must satisfy itself at each stage that it can handle the next stage before it moves on. This means, it was learned, that confidence would be built up by stages as the control organ gained experience in its work.

* * *

The Russians finished the first week still silent on President Eisenhower's plan for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspections.

Executed Murderer Records Last Words

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—An executed murderer delivered his own funeral message yesterday—by tape recording.

About 450 persons at the First Baptist Church heard Lester Bartholomew's voice ask "all of you who are my friends, and those near to me" to "get right with God."

In the message recorded in death row, he said:

"Having faith will get you right with God.

"Adopt him as your Savior now. Don't wait.

"I hope to see all of you in Heaven.

"Bye-bye, now, Bye."

Bartholomew died in the gas chamber Wednesday for shooting his wife and two children at their Phoenix home May 28.

Body Located in National Park

FBI Holds Young Pair in the Death of Missing Chicagoan, 72

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The FBI said today the body of a man found in Mammoth Cave National Park had been identified positively as that of a vacationing Chicago chemist who had been missing since July 20.

Thomas J. Gearty, special agent in charge of the Louisville FBI office, said information provided by a young Milwaukee couple had resulted in finding the body. Both are being held.

* * *

The FBI in Chicago said the body had been identified as that of Lewis A. Finn, 72. He had been missing since July 20 when he left Palm Beach, Fla., to visit a brother in Yuma, Ariz.

Cause of death has not been established.

Gearty said information provided by Leonard LaFond, 20, and Jo Anne Severson, 18, resulted in finding the body. He added in a prepared statement:

* * *

"The body was found in the vicinity of the area named by LaFond and Miss Severson as the place where they disposed of the remains of 72-year-old Chicago chemist Lewis A. Finn."

LaFond and Miss Severson are being held on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile across state lines.

* * *

LaFond was arrested at Truth or Consequences, N.M., Aug. 20. Gearty said he was driving a 1948 Pontiac which had been traded for Finn's car at El Paso, Tex., Aug. 8.

Gearty said Finn's wallet and papers pertaining to Finn's car were found in LaFond's possession.

Miss Severson was arrested at San Antonio, Tex., and is being held there.

Bulldozing Farmer Cuts Main Telephone Conduit

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Long distance telephone calls from Grand Rapids to at least five other major state points were delayed yesterday when a farmer near Mulliken accidentally cut a phone cable with a bulldozer.

Company spokesmen said there were delays of two to three hours on calls to Detroit, Lansing, Flint, Saginaw and Jackson until the break was repaired.

Hal Boyle Says:

Shigemitsu's Visit Recalls Surrender in '45

NEW YORK (AP)—How can America most help Japan to become prosperous and build up her armed forces to protect herself?

* * *

This is a major diplomatic problem today which Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu and his beautiful daughter are trying to solve during a visit here.

Shigemitsu, one of the friendliest faces the Japanese empire has turned toward the United States in a time when it has felt friendship was important, had a leg blown off in Shanghai during the Japanese effort to pacify the Chinese.

* * *

Shigemitsu, convicted as a war criminal, now is his nation's most popular political salesman in America.

Our situations do change. Ten years ago today, I wrote the following dispatch from the deck of the battleship Missouri:

* * *

"There were four tingling moments of high drama in the 18-minute ceremony during which Japan bound herself to lay down her arms unconditionally and bow to the dictates of the Allies.

"The setting was perfect—on the captain's promenade of this battleship, nicknamed 'Mighty Mo,' Allied ships ringed the Missouri in concentric circles of power. Outlined against the murky sky were dark green hills of a nation being occupied for the first time in its turbulent history.

* * *

"The first moment of drama came when Gen. MacArthur walked up the gangplank and moved across the deck with a stride lithe for a man of his years. You could feel the intensity of this man stimulate the crowd like a current of electricity. It was MacArthur's hour of a lifetime, and he had prepared for it by almost half a century of military service.

"The next moment of emotional impact was the arrival of the Japanese delegation—four in civilian dress, seven wearing navy or army uniforms. They stood awaiting MacArthur's pleasure like stone gargoyles.

* * *

"Their stolid features showed neither guilt nor regret, pain nor resentment — only an abiding, watchful, animal-like patience. You felt that only time would reveal what the patience stood for.

"'How did those little men ever think they could get away with it?' one white-uniformed sailor whispered.

* * *

"The third highlight came when MacArthur began signing the surrender documents. He turned to Gen. Wainwright with a warm smile and handed him the first of the six pens he used. Then he looked deliberately, steadily and coldly at the Japanese before going on with the signing. That gesture was for Bataan, for Corregidor—and the Japanese caught its significance fully.

"Silence fell over the spectators as the two Japanese signatories put their names to the documents. They signed with Oriental slowness. Doffing his black silk topper, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu sat with his wooden leg stiffly extended before him. The diplomat missed the inkwell with the first thrust of his pen. Then he aboriously scrawled his name on both documents—a copy for the Allies, one for Japan.

* * *

"The right hand of Gen. Hosijiro Umezo, Japanese army chief of staff, shootk slightly as he added his signature. Noting the rainbow row of ribbons on his dress uniform, an American spectator wisecracked: 'Whipped everybody but the United States.'

"The Allied signatories signed quickly, one after the other.

"'Let us pray,'" said MacArthur, "'that the peace be now restored to the world and that God will preserve it always. These proceedings are closed.'

* * *

"The worldwide blood bath at last was at an end.

"Then came the spine-tingling climax. Forty-six great-winged Superfortresses swept over the fleet like high graceful birds. And behind them roared the 3rd Fleet's fighters, dive bombers and torpedo planes.

"They flew over the massed decks of the Missouri in wave after wave after wave, until the whole bay throbbed. The battleship seemed almost to rock with the sound of their passing. There never was a more stirring flight, and it shook the hearts of the sailors and soldiers. It choked them with the pride of kinship in victory and made them feel as if they were swallowing their stomachs.

* * *

"There is no way to describe that mystic exultation. It gripped everyone. You felt suddenly that the ink on the documents, lying momentarily forgotten on the table, meant nothing. And that the men who had signed were no more than symbols.

"You felt, in your whole being suddenly, how peace had been grandly won—by the toil and blood of those airmen in the sky and their anonymous battle brothers of the earth and of the waters, lying in land graves and sea graves around the world.

* * *

"The planes came on and on resistlessly. You felt that the nation that produced them could send them on and on forever, until it achieved any noble purpose, any peace, however difficult.

"They droned across the mainland of Japan. The Navy band struck up 'California, Here I Come,' and the ceremony was over."

* * *

It is nice to have Shigemitsu back now as a guest and ask him how we can build back that Japanese army he surrendered ten years ago today.

It's a Hardy Amaryllis

Pontiac Press Readers Solve Mystery of 'Lily'

An SOS last Friday from Mrs. Thomas P. Kirk of Orion Township, asking Pontiac Press readers to solve the mystery of a strange, lily-like plant in her garden, got prompt results.

No sooner was the paper on the street than a call came to the garden editor, correctly classifying the unusual flower as a "Magic Lily" or hardy amaryllis.

Mrs. Herman Chanley of 1168 Oregon St., Waterford Township, had seen the picture in the Press and read the decription of the plant—how it appeared "out of nowhere" in Mrs. Kirk's garden and in four days shot to a height of 24 inches and blossomed into a cluster of six, delicate pink blooms.

Immediately she recognized it as identical to some she had growing in her own garden, and made the phone call.

* * *

Other calls came in quick succession, identifying the flower as the "Naked Lily" because of its bare leafless stalk, the "Surprise Lily," and "Mystery Lily," the August Lily," "Naked Lady," "Belladonna Lily," "Secret Lily,' and the "Resurrection" or "Resurrectional" lily.

LYCORIS SQUAMIGERA, TOO

First to come up with the botanical term for the mystery plant was Mrs. William J. Baumgartner of 2560 Silverside. She dubbed it Lycoris Squamigera, and others bore out her identification with letters and pictures from catalogs.

All in all, 17 phone calls and letters to the garden editor correctly identified the flower, while Mrs. Kirk received 10 or 12 calls, four personal visits and an even dozen letters at her home at 4738 Joslyn Rd.

Many persons assured her that the plant was little known in this part of the country, and even nurserymen were often mystified as to what it was. One woman, Mrs. Daisy Picknell of Sydney, Australia, made a trip to the Press from Huron Gardens where she is visiting her sister.

MANY IN AUSTRALIA

"We have many of them in Australia," Mrs. Picknell said, "but I believe they are rare here. We call them Naked Ladies or Belladonna Lilies."

* * *

Consensus of opinion on the habits of the mystery lily is that it often lies dormant in the ground for one and sometimes two or three years, explaining why Mrs. Kirk might have failed to see it before. It produces abundant, iris-like foliage in the spring, but this green growth withers.

Then in August a single stalk appears as if by magic, and shoots to a height of two feet in a few days. This stalk bears the flowers—clusters of lovely, orchid-pink lily shaped blooms.

Mrs. Kirk is happy that she knows the name of her "beautiful intruder," but she's still mystified as to how it got into her garden. She is sure of one thing, though:

"One of the nicest ways I know to make new friends," she said, "is to find a lovely, strange flower growing in your yard and ask Pontiac Press readers to name it!"

Garden Quiz

Q—My cabbages formed nice heads and then most of them started to split open. Can this be prevented?

A—The splitting was due to a delay in harvesting. Practically all cabbage heads will ultimately split, especially if rain follows a period of drought. The splitting can be deferred by thrusting a spade into the ground to cut off some of the roots as soon as the heads are fully formed.

* * *

Q—Our spring-planted creeping bent lawn has lost its lush green appearance and is very brown in spots. We have watered and fertilized it faithfully and at the advice of a friend applied lime mixed with an inch top dressing of sandy loam.

A—Lime was unnecessary as bent grass grows well in a moderately acid soil. The brown areas may be due to the presence of sod webworms or chinch bugs, or to a disease such as brown patch or dollar spot. One quarter inch of topsoil would have been sufficient, as more is bound to smother the grass roots.

Dahlia Show Set for Sept. 17, 18

Pontiac Area Growers Plan to Display Entries at Redford Exhibit

Dahlia growers from Pontiac, Drayton Plains, Utica and many other parts of Oakland County are among those planning to exhibit flowers in a state Dahlia Show, scheduled Sept. 17 and 18 in Redford.

This year the Southeastern Michigan and the Michigan Dahlia Associations have joined together to stage what promises to be an outstanding show, to be held in Redford Carpenter's Hall, 22521 Grand River Ave.

Doors will be open to the public from 4 to 10 p. m. Saturday and from 11 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sunday, Sept. 17 and 18. Deadline for entries will be at 12 noon Sept. 17, and judging will begin at 1 p. m. on that day.

Growers from all over Michigan are expected to exhibit. Separate competitions in both commercial and amateur classifications will insure fairness, with divisions set for novice, small amateur, large amateur and open class.

There will be no admission to view the exhibit, but a nominal entry fee of 10 cents will be charged for each exhibit up to 20. Those with more than 20 entries will still pay only the maximum $2 fee.

General chairman of the show is A. E. Cadwell, 35405 Glenwood Rd., Wayne. Persons in the Pontiac area desiring additional information may procure it from Mrs. A. R. Mullin, 5460 Dixie Hwy., committee member.

Two years ago the Dahlia Show drew a crowd of 1,600 when it was held at the Detroit Historical Museum. Last year the exhibit was held in Flint, where it also attracted statewide attention.

September Is Month for Bulb Planting

Start bulb planting, and continue the job for the next two months.

Put in the smallest of the earliest blooming - snowdrops, crocuses, chionodoxas, scilla and others—as soon as you can get hold of them. Daffodils, jonquils, all the narcissus can go in this month.

Tulips can wait a month or so.

Divide, Transplant Spring Perennials

Just about any perennial which blooms in spring or summer may be transplanted or divided now—it's the only time for the spring-bloomers—so if the border needs reworking, get to it.

Dig deep, fertilize well with slow-acting material, and generally save your back by turning in a long-lasting, thorough job.

Good Time to Prepare Winter Window-Garden

For a winter window-garden, pot up small pants such as calendulas, petunias, asters, ageratum, annual phlox and the like to bring into the house with cold weather.

Give the small plants plenty of chance to get accustomed to their pots before bringing them indoors.

Coffee Export Declines

CARACAS—Before 1917, coffee was Venezuela's leading export product, comprising 40 to 60 per cent of its total exports. But coffee now accounts for only about 1½ per cent of the country's exports. Although rich and important discoveries of iron ore were made in 1947, they make up only from 1½ to 3 per cent of Venezuela's export trade.

40-Foot Vine Almost 'Over the Top'

Morning Glory at Adler Home

By WILMA GREENWAY

"Round and round she goes, and where she stops nobody knows . . ."

That's what neighbors and friends of Edwin H. Adler are saying about the magnificent morning glory vine that has twined itself around a 42-foot utility pole at the Adler's Silver Lake home—and now threatens to go "over the top."

"If you took a tape measure, that morning glory must measure over 80 feet tall," Adler said. "It doesn't go straight up, but twines round and round the pole.

"It's over the transformer now, within two feet of the top. I expect it to top the pole within a week—and where it will go from there, nobody knows. Each morning it's a mass of bloom, from top to bottom."

Adler has been trying to top that pole with a morning glory for five years now. This year, it's a sure thing that his persistence will pay off.

GREW FROM SEED

He grew the vine from seed taken from the supermarket at 1200 Baldwin Ave. which he owns and operates. The seed was planted in April and when the seedling was an inch tall, Adler put vigoro around it.

* * *

When it reached eight inches, it was fertilized with sheep manure, and peat moss was applied to help keep moisture in the close-to-the-surface roots. Other than that, nothing was done except to give the vine plenty of moisture.

Growing things is Adler's hobby, one that he shares with his wife, LaVelle, and son, Eddie Jr., 18.

On the well kept grounds of their place at 2813 Silverhill Rd., the Adlers have established a spectacular flower garden, with a wide selection of plants. Adler is especially proud of the multi-color giant dahlias, the tuberous rooted begonias and hybrid cannas. More than 20 varieties of roses grow in the lakeside plot and around the house.

SCULPTURED SHRUBBERY

The evergreens and shrubbery are particularly notable for their trim, sculptured shapeliness. Adler tends them himself, while Mrs. Adler confines her gardening to the host of flowers that bloom profusely all through the summer.

Adler has a formula for keeping dogs away from his shrubbery—one he says works like a charm and that he is willing to share with Press readers.

"When you plant an evergreen, plant a red barberry bush beside it. If it's a big evergreen, plant a barberry on each side."

DOGS SHUN BARBERRY

Dogs, says Adler, dislike the smell of the red barberry and shun its sharp needles. They won't touch the shrubbery if a barberry bush is growing within three feet of it.

* * *

"Moreover, the barberry is ornamental in itself," the gardener points out, "and in the fall its red leaves and berries are particularly attractive."

Although Adler grows the tallest morning glory and the shapeliest shrubbery, Mrs. Adler offers serious competition when it comes to flowers. A member of the Detroit Garden Center, she is considered to have "one of the greenest thumbs in the neighborhood."

The Adlers are enlarging their business, so they probably won't expand their gardening activities in the near future.

"For the present, I'm satisfied that my vine's going 'over the top'," says Adler.

"But some day I'm going to retire. When I do, you can be sure gardening will become my full time hobby."

OVER THE TOP? — Edwin H. Adler of 2813 Silverhill Rd. has been trying for five years to grow a morning glory vine that will go over the top of the 42-foot utility pole at his Silver Lake home. This year it looks like he has it made. The vine, planted this April from seed out of his own store, is now within two feet of the top and "growing strong." Every morning the pole is a mass of color, as hundreds of the delicate blue blossoms open up.

A-Phosphorus Aids Research

Use Radioactive Element to Measure Nutrient Available in Soil

WASHINGTON (INS) — Agriculture Department scientists disclosed that they have used radioactive phosphorus to determine for the first time how much of a given plant nutrient is available in the soil.

Department spokesmen agreed that the development probably is the most important one to date in the use of radioactive materials for agricultural research.

Work of this kind has been going on at the department's plant industry station at Beltsville, Md., near Washington, for about 10 years.

Using radioactive phosphorous as a research tool, the department's soil scientists have successfully developed a method of measuring available phosphate in any soil so accurately that it can be expressed in terms of superphosphate equivalent per acre.

The new method already is being employed to a limited extent at some federal field stations and cooperating agricultural experiment stations in the states to improve their recommendations on the use of phosphate fertilizers.

A formal news statement said: "It (the process) is a forerunner of the development of similar methods of determining the amounts of other nutrients in the soil that are available to plants, expected to result from current USDA research."

Four Needs of Juveniles Listed by Probate Judge

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, spoke to the Pontiac Rotary Club Thursday on "Juvenile Delinquency."

"There is tendency in this day and age to say a person can live his own life as he pleases without responsibility to friends and family alike," Judge Moore said. "The basis of all social living is a sense of responsibility to people around you."

This was one of the four lost fundamentals Judge Moore touched on. In plain everyday thinking he was stressing good old fashioned religion, or as it is now thought of, mental hygiene.

Secondly he spoke on the ability to work and the value of accomplishment coming from work.

Judge Moore emphasized this point by saying, "Every youngster I come in contact with in my work has no future plans or desire. Continuously working toward something we want is what keeps people out of trouble."

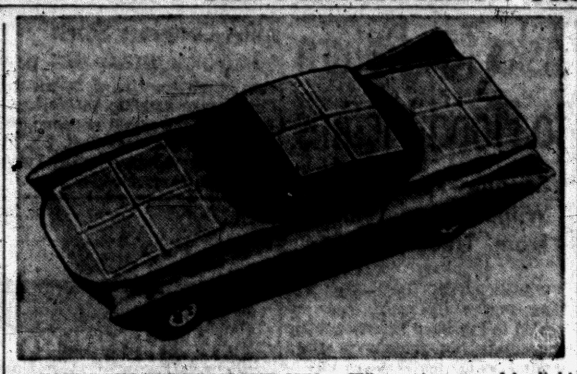
The third point was the need of education for home living. He explained this point by saying that he would like to have the parents visit the youngsters for a day or two at Camp Oakland so we can help them learn how to care for the children and they can find out what their problems are.

Need of close affection was the fourth point mentioned. Moore cited the case of a 16 year old delinquent boy just sent to the State Hospital who for the first 8 years of his life had no one in whom he could put trust or confidence.

Moore said, "There are presently 3,600 youngsters, either delinquent or dependent who are under the Oakland County Probate court's control.

"The court's aim is to keep them with their parents when they can, but some are at the Children's Home or at Camp Oakland, if they merit it and have a home situation that is not good."

Commenting on Camp Oakland Moore stressed two points he would like to see come into effect next year: one, an increase in the rehabilitation program, such as is now being offered at Camp Oakland; and secondly, a summer portion of Camp Oakland used for schools in the county to send their children with special problems. The children could have a combined work and schooling program.



TAKES ORDERS FROM THE SUN — This car is powered by light — natural or otherwise — which is converted into electricity by the photoelectric squares on its top. The model will be demonstrated at General Motors' "Powerama," display of power sources, to be held Aug. 31 to Sept. 25 in Chicago, Ill. The "Sunmobile" has no praetical application in the auto industry, GM says, because it would be useless on a lonely dark road.

Agriculture Commission Asks Fair Parking Bids

LANSING (AP) — The State Agriculture Commission is soliciting bids for the parking concession at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit when the fair is closed.

The commission said it will receive bids until Oct. 1.

Parking at the fair grounds is limited to 25 cents per vehicle. Bids are based on the percentage of the fee returned to the state each week.

Start Fluoride Program

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—After a delay caused by difficulty in obtaining equipment, fluoride now is being added to the city's water supply. The fluoride program was approved by voters at a special election Dec. 15, 1953.

Mother Drowns Son, Says She 'Panicked'

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of a mentally disturbed woman, who reportedly admitted she drowned her 2½-month-old son when its crying panicked her, goes before a Felony Court judge today.

The mother, Mrs. Christine Tegerides, 22, was quoted as confessing hours after she faked a kidnap alarm to cover up the slaying.

She was charged with homicide late yesterday.

Her husband Andrew, 23, a lunchroom counterman, told authorities she had been depressed since the birth of the child.

* * *

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bernard M. Patton of Queens County quoted the mother as saying she held the baby under water as she was giving him his first bath in a tub yesterday morning.

* * *

The mother originally told police that a mystery woman posing as a diaper saleswoman invaded her apartment, threatened to kill her and then kidnaped the baby, George, from his crib. The body later was found in a closet of the apartment.

One Child in 10 Has Eye Trouble, Declares State

LANSING (AP)—About one child in 10 who starts back to school this fall is likely to have trouble seeing the blackboard.

That's the prediction of the State Health Department, which cautioned parents today to have their children's eyes checked before classes begin.

Although more than 200 technicians will work in school vision testing programs throughout the State this year, the department said all eye defects are not detected by the screening.

A child may have faulty vision when he tilts his head while reading, blinks frequently, rubs his eyes often, squints when looking at distant objects, or has inflamed and watery eyes, the department officials said.

Bellamy Changes Mind

PETOSKEY (AP) — John W. Bellamy, whose resignation as Emmet County prosecutor was to become effective yesterday, has withdrawn the action. He had submitted the resignation in protest of the $2,200 salary for the post. The county supervisors plan to take up the matter in October.

Copper Stockpile Raided to Rebuild Flooded Areas

DENVER, (INS) — The summer White House has announced the government is releasing 2,000 tons of copper to 18 plants or contractors in the northeast flood area.

The scarce metal will come from inventory stocks of the Office of Defense Mobilization, which stockpiled the metal for national security purposes.

Copper production in the Connecticut area was hard hit by flood damage, creating a temporary shortage of the metal.

Eisenhower got a report at his Denver headquarters that the Army Engineers Corps has now contracted for flood rehabilitation projects in 84 towns and cities. Another 50 communities which suffered lesser damage will be added to the list later.

Lt. Gen. Samuel Sturgis, Jr., chief of the Army Engineers, reported that 5,875 workers are employed on the flood relief projects.

He cited the work done in Scranton, Pa., as an example of the speed with which the government is helping put the flood-stricken community back on its feet.

TRULY REMARKABLE

Sturgis said rehabilitation workers are doing a "truly remarkable" job in Scranton, where flood debris is being cleaned up at the rate of 4,000 tons a day.

E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross, reported that $7,500,000 has now been raised in the special flood-relief fund drive.

The goal in the Red Cross drive was raised to 10 million dollars yesterday.

President Eisenhower also had a progress report on flood relief operations from Val Peterson, Civil Defense Administrator, who is heading up Federal operations in the six flood states.

Peterson messaged the President in Denver that he had received nothing but praise for the help given the stricken communities by the Federal government, but added:

Asks Tax Return to Flood Victims

Senator Purtell Wants Withholding Withheld From Treasury

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. William Purtell (R-Conn), has appealed to President Eisenhower for immediate tax refunds to flood victims in the northeastern states.

* * *

He made public a telegram asking the Chief Executive to "find authority" to refund taxes withheld from paychecks so far this year and amounts paid in 1953 and 1954.

Purtell said the Internal Revenue code's provision on casualty losses "permits a taxpayer to deduct real and personal property losses from his present income tax."

He added that "if the loss is in excess of the present income, he is permitted under certain prescribed conditions to apply for refund or income taxes paid during the prior two years and to further deduct remaining losses for the next five years."

MAKE REFUND NOW

The senator said: "while these provisions of the law will be of great help to these taxpayers, it seems to me that immediate refund of money paid into the Treasury rather than refunds next year is what is needed in this emergency."

* * *

Purtell said he had asked tax officials in Washington to see whether they could "immediately stop further income tax deductions during 1955 and refund deductions already withheld this year to those who can prove casualty losses."

* * *

Purtell said they were "sympathetic" but "their present thinking is that they do not have authority" to act immediately.

Polio Cases Increasing

MARQUETTE (INS)—With 60 cases of polio reported so far this year, the number of polio victims in the Upper Peninsula already is twice that reported for the whole of last year. Three new cases were reported this week.

MRA Congress Starts

MACKINAC ISLAND (INS) — Delegates from the United States and Canada are arriving on Mackinac Island for the moral re-armament continental assembly, Sept. 2-5. Invitations were issued by Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of MRA.

Happy 50th Birthday to Permanent Waves!

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Exactly 50 years ago, when millionaires were millionaires after taxes, and ladies were dolls with time on their hands, the "permanent wave" was born. A sorely needed invention it was, too.

It helped men spend their excess money (the first permanents were about $1,000), and it killed time for the ladies.

It also killed a few ladies, I'm told, but there's no real proof of that and hairdressers, even today, don't like to dwell on it.

Two representatives of the Nestle Company dropped in today to wish us a happy natal on behalf of Charles Nestle, the German who discovered how to crimp women's hair and made about $3,000,000 out of the invention. He died broke — he just crimped, never skimped — in 1951.

"At first," said the birthday kids, "women were scared of the process and only very brave ladies with great wealth took the risk They almost all got burned slightly. It was that kind of process."

Actually it was a boiling and baking procedure, which involved 12 to 20 hours of misery for operator and operatee. Nestle, who introduced what was then called the "fiery dragon" in London — they had such a curl problem there, owing to the fog — picked up the idea from the old Egyptians.

WIGS ALONG NILE

"Some people think that Cleopatra and her friends had a mysterious waving system, involved with the waters of the Nile or some such thing," said one of the Nestle plumpers, "but that is just silly, and our boy knew it. The Egyptians actually shaved their heads, for cleanliness purposes, and wore fancy, curled black wigs."

To curl those wigs, they wrapped swatches of hair around sticks and boiled them. Then they packed the boiled corkscrews in clay and baked them over hot fires.

Well, Nestle knew all about that process — "don't ask me how, maybe he had a spiritual thing going with Tut, or maybe he had an encyclopedia"—and he figured if he could copy that process on a woman's head, he was in.

Besides being a smart man, he also had $40,000 saved up from selling artificial eyelashes to chippies and British actresses. So in 1905, on a day that shall be immortal in the annals of vanity, he introduced his monster.

* * *

Wrapping long hair, some of it floor length, around a series of gas-heated coils that weighed nearly 2 pounds apiece, he demonstrated that in less than one day he could give a woman curls to last a long time.

London women didn't mind having their scalps burned a bit for the sake of beauty and Nestle didn't mind having his hands burned for the sake of money either. But in the U. S. he found a more cautious breed of Narcissism on his hands.

SILLY AMERICANS!

His machine greatly improved when electricity came in, in 1909, except for an incident or two when ceilings fell in due to the weight of the curlers. But he just couldn't sell Americans on the process—silly old life-lovers that they were!

Finally he had to break the phobia by offering a free demonstration which, considering the price, was a bold move.

After that, women flocked to his salon, and permanent waving began to build into the nearly two-billion-dollar business it is today. At least 100 million female American heads are now permanently waved, thanks to Charles Nestle.

". . . And now that we have home permanents," whispered one informant, "you'd be amazed the number of men who. . ."

Among other things the permanent has done for civilization has been to increase the per capita gossip rate and the sale of movie magazines.

St. Clair County Blood Supplies Are Exhausted

PORT HURON (AP) — St. Clair County has set about to rebuild its emergency blood supply after a near fatality because of a shortage.

The American Red Cross county chapter scheduled blood clinics for area residents for Sept. 16 and 21 at which donations will be taken.

A man hurt in a traffic accident almost died because a hospital was out of "O" type blood, the most common sort. Blood was brought from Detroit to save his life.

Ever Eat Cattails?

ATLANTA—Cattail roots can be eaten like potatoes or ground into flour. The starch content is high enough for substitution for cornstarch in puddings. The flour can be fermented into alcohol.

Nigeria Chiefs Stop Traffic in Cafeteria

WASHINGTON (INS)—Flowing-robed Nigerian chieftains converged on the agriculture department yesterday in a "good will mission" to explain what they are doing to give American consumers a better cup of cocoa.

The delegation opened a three-day stay in Washington with a full round of conferences with U.S. officials, including a discussion of mutual trade problems between the two countries.

The distinguished visitors' bright turbans and graceful robes of lacy white or elaborate brocade almost stalled traffic in a department cafeteria.

Boy Accidentally Hangs Himself in Apple Tree

BEAVERTON (AP) — Emil Frank Maczka, 12, accidentally hanged himself Thursday while playing in an apple tree on the Billings Township farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maczka, in South Gladwin County.

The boy had untied his dog, which had been chained to the tree; placed the animal's collar around his own neck, and climbed into the tree when he apparently slipped. The chain caught. Coroner Gerald Miner returned a verdict of accidental death.

Emil Frank's body was discovered by an 11-year-old brother, Allen, who cut him down and summoned aid.

Copy Must Reach Women's Dept. by 9 in Morning

In anticipation of the opening of the fall season deadlines have been set for the Pontiac Press women's pages.

Copy for publication on any given day must reach the social desk by 9 a.m. that day.

* * *

For example, if a club meeting or other social event occurs on Monday, the person in charge of publicity should see that the information is written clearly and completely and placed in the box provided for that purpose in the new entrance way of the Press building Monday evening or Tuesday by 8 a.m.

* * *

This box is opened at 8 each morning. If the copy is brought in later than 8 a.m. it should be brought directly to the women's department before 9 a.m.

* * *

Publicity chairmen should include their names and phone numbers since it may be necessary for the women's department to seek more information.

* * *

If it is absolutely necessary to phone in information, the deadline on such calls is 9 a.m. for publication that day. Publicity chairmen also are asked to remember that not more than 12 names can be taken over the telephone.

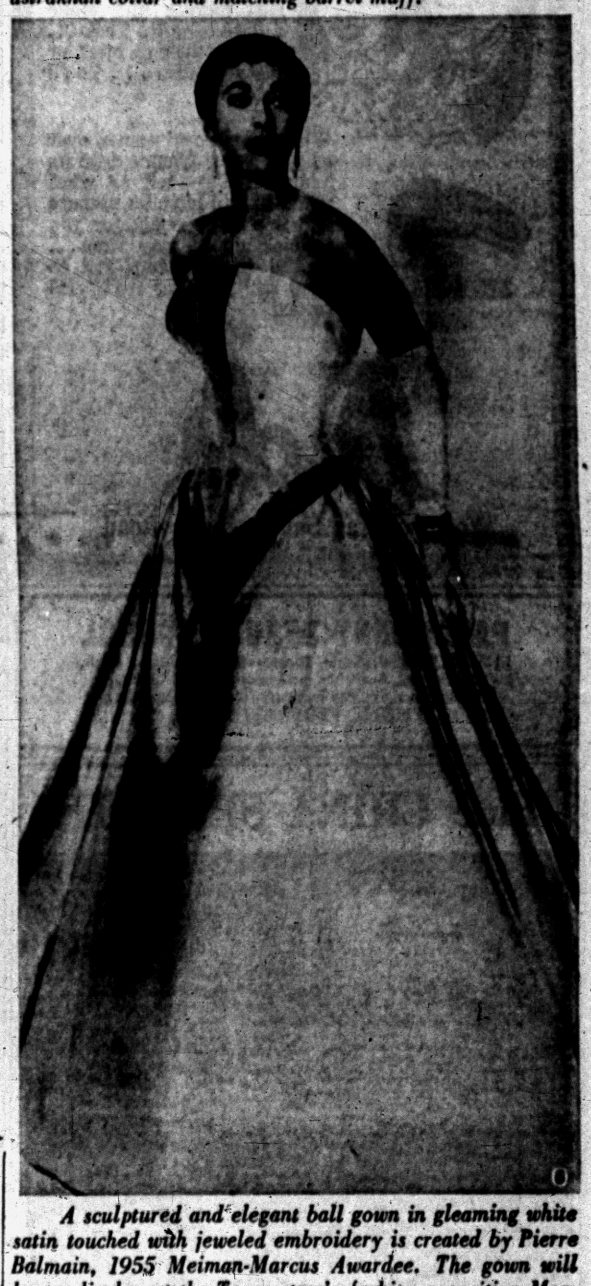
Fontana of Rome designs a new version of the big evening ensemble in rich satin of Celanese acetate. Using a bright copper tone, Fontana embroiders the long-waisted dress in white wool and tiny rhinestones . . . then adds an off-shoulder rounded collar under which the evening mantle slips.

Madeleine de Rauch of France believes in the pure sheath line, curved only slightly for femininity, and balanced by an ethereal bow of trailing chiffon. Here in white satin of Celanese acetate, it is intricately embroidered with white braid, pearls and false diamonds. The long tight sleeves are embroidered right to the wrist.

Pierre Balmain of France cuts a dramatic new shape in the three-quarter coat of an exciting red and black tweed town suit, and makes emphatic its importance with a wide astrakhan collar and matching barrel muff.

From France comes this gala winter evening dress. Germaine Lecomte creates a short evening twosome in peau de faille of Celanese acetate—black for the lavishly tucked coat, and white for the dance dress with its one bare shoulder and full skirt tied in a self-bow at the hipline.



A sculptured and elegant ball gown in gleaming white satin touched with jeweled embroidery is created by Pierre Balmain, 1955 Meiman-Marcus Awardee. The gown will be on display at the Texas store's fashion exposition Monday and Tuesday.

Life Can Be Rich Without Children

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Children are wonderful. I'm all in favor of them and I'm crazy about my own. But that doesn't mean that I think a woman's life is utterly ruined without them.

* * *

"Poor dear," you hear women say occasionally—and with a certain smugness—"she never married and had children. She must be so lonely, she's missed so much."

Frequently, the woman they're discussing has a busy, rich and useful life—beyond anything her critics can imagine.

When I was lecturing last spring, I occasionally met a married woman who was childless.

My heart would go out to her when a new acquaintance at the woman's club would ask — as a very first question — "How many children do you have?"

* * *

She would look miserable and ashamed and admit she didn't have any. Then, too often, she would be practically ignored for the rest of the conversation.

NOT MOTHER LOVE

Sometimes, women who brag about the number of children they have are motivated not so much by mother love, as by the desire to show off.

"I've made it!" they seemed to be saying, counting their children among their possessions, the way they count their mink stole, their automobile and their jewels. It makes me feel sorry for them—and even sorrier for the children.

My experience has been that the woman who really loves her children is not so apt to announce her status the minute she opens her mouth.

Because she loves them, and loves her life and finds it good, she has the kind of warmth and understanding that makes it possible for her to see other kinds of good, and to recognize and value other kinds of satisfying lives.

* * *

In fact, we could all save ourselves much unhappiness if we would really evaluate the people who hurt our feelings.

The woman who tried to make you feel that she has something better than you is not worth paying any attention to, much less being hurt by.

If she really had a good life, the last thing she would try to do is make your life seem inferior to her.

Thoughtless to Drop Pair at Subway

Couple With Auto Should Have Seen Others Home

By EMILY POST

A wife tells me: "Just recently my husband and I and another couple went away together for the weekend. We both have cars but thought it senseless to take the two of them, so we decided to use our car and share the expenses of the trip.

"We picked them up Friday night at a designated spot. When we arrived back in town Sunday night, we dropped them off at the subway station rather than drive them all the way home.

"They live about a half hour's drive from us but traffic was very heavy and it would have taken us almost an hour to get there and another hour to get back. We were tired and anxious to get home and, as they live near the subway, we thought it would be quicker for all concerned for them to take it.

"I understand, however, that the wife is very much put out with us and thinks us very inconsiderate for not taking them right to their door.

"Was this our obligation? I would appreciate your commenting on this in your column."

Answer: I'm sorry but I think you were very inconsiderate of them and they had reason to be put out. They were tired too and to have to carry their luggage and extra wraps into the subway was very unthinking on your part. Just suppose it had been their car and they left you at the subway?

"Dear Mrs. Post: I've lately become engaged. Many of my friends have never had a chance to meet my fiance and they apparently think it is up to me to invite them to the house to meet him. Isn't it up to my friends to invite us to their houses?"

Answer: I agree that this is the usual gesture on your friends' part. This does not imply an invitation to a party but merely an invitation to you to bring him to see them.

On the other hand, it would be proper to invite them to your house when he will be there.

Fete Jean Wasserberger

Nancy Walser opened her home on Myrtle avenue Wednesday evening to fete Jean Wasserberger with a kitchen shower.

Jean, bride-elect of John Ostrander, is the daughter of the George Wasserbergers of Illinois avenue. John's parents are the John Ostranders of Parkway avenue. They will speak their vows Sept. 16 at First Congregational Church.

Attending the shower were Mrs. Wasserberger, Mrs. Ostrander, Mrs. Kurt Bemman Jr., Joy Van Hise, Janet Levely, Normalee Braid, Mrs. E. R. Robertson and Mrs. H. W. Fitzgerald.

Other guests were Mrs. Aldred Ostrander, Dorothy Ostrander, Janie Ostrander, Janet Wasserberger, Kay Walser and Mrs. Egon Walser.

* * *

Jean received her gifts from a table bedecked with wedding bells. A bride doll was the centerpiece.

Remember Pain of Being Young in Giving Orders

What no one who isn't a teenager seems to remember, when they lather up a series of impossible orders to slap on the daughter of the house, is the awful agonies of being this age.

Take the problem of weight. Most grown women remember vaguely that they went through a barrel-shaped stage. What they don't remember is that it was really painful to start walking to the "Chubby" department in a store.

Teeners go through cycles on the weight problem. When the sight of one's chunky self under the shower gets too gruesome, the teener goes on an impossible diet. Nothing absolutely nothing to eat, except a stalk of celery and a lemonade.

Then a new crisis arises—perhaps a tough exam—and the teener eases the distress with a tremendous sandwich, laved in mayonnaise. Not that she's abandoned all hope, but that she just can't stand the double tension.

The teens are times of many dislocations. This age is as tough as any a woman has to face. But it is consoling to know that teeners who don't become severely maladjusted do slim down. Not without cooperation, of course, but the waistline will start to appear pretty soon.

Keep Baby Clothes in Plastic Car Bag

When baby travels by car, keep his wardrobe simple and keep it washable. You can do your soaping and watering every night when you stop, or store soiled baby things in a plastic bag and stop every few days at an automatic laundry.

Since you undoubtedly have to do some of his washings by hand, take along soap and a rubber dishpan. The pan can double as a bathtub for baby, if you stop at a motel that has only a shower for bathing.

Patient Transferred

Lois McIntyre of Green street was transferred from Pontiac General Hospital to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor Aug. 20.

A new product packaged in a fold-up metal tube will start a fire going at the drop of a match. The product is odorless and is said to not backfire or explode.

Easy Way to Store Countless Petticoats

DALLAS, Tex.—Nancy Vickrey has come up with a decorative solution to the young girl's problem of how to store myriads of petticoats.

On a wire that extends the width of her bedroom, she hangs more than a dozen of her colorful nylon net petticoats. Some are as much as 15 yards around the ruffled bottoms. Nancy lifts the hangers off easily with an old mop handle with metal cross piece attached.

She Loves Him---but They've Never Met!

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like Pat very much, and he tells me he loves me. But it's all on paper! We have never met, you see.

"Though he lives near my home town, we have never seen each other because right now he's in the paratroopers. Ours is a romance by mail.

"Do you think it could be real love, or do you think we're both being foolish?"

Answer: I think it's quite possible to flurry up a fine romance by letters. But it's pure fiction if you've never laid eyes on each other.

Letters, after all, say only what you want them to say. You can draw a picture of yourself that is very appealing—and far from reality.

You can express opinions that you feel are expected of you, whether they're true or not. You can describe a way of life that is far from the one you lead. It all sounds good on paper—and can have the desired result.

But what a disillusionment when the truth is out!

And all you can say: "I've never given a false picture. I've always written the truth." Maybe so. But how about Pat? Have you any way of knowing how much he understates or exaggerates?

Too much, in my opinion, depends on the way you react to each other personally. Snapshots, after all, don't reveal how he cares for his nails, how he eats his soup, how he behaves in the movies, how he interrupts or contradicts, or goes into moods.

How can you possibly know whether you would like the size and shape of him, the sound of him, the smell of him, without knowing him? You just can't.

Right now you have imaginary images of each other, drawn by wishful thinking, hope, and your own ideals. You're quite sure he's as wonderful as you want him to be.

But how about a little proof before taking your letters too seriously? How about waiting to decide how you really feel until he comes home on leave about each other?

"Dear Miss Woodward: He liked me before school let out, but this summer he has made no effort to get in touch with me.

"I've seen him around with a girl in his class (he's three years older than I am) and I still like him and I'd like to write him a letter to find out if he still likes me. Should I?"

Answer: No, I don't think so. Such a letter could be highly embarrassing. Boys don't like to be cornered like that. And he might not answer at all.

Then again, he might answer something you wouldn't want to read. It could either dash you to the ground, or get your hopes up in vain.

It won't be long before you'll be seeing him around school. Can you wait it out until then, and see how he responds to your friendliness?

Mayonnaise Takes Place of Eggs, Milk

Ada McDonnall Has Unusual Recipe for Chocolate Cake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

A request came in recently for a chocolate cake made without shortening or eggs, but with mayonnaise. We're glad to print this recipe for Mayonnaise Cake, a recipe sent us by Ada McDonnall.

Miss McDonnall is a teacher at the High School. Although she does very little cooking during the school year, she is always on the lookout for unusual recipes—and kindly passes them on.

MAYONNAISE CAKE
By Ada McDonnall

1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 cup granulated sugar
4 tablespoons cocoa
1 cup warm water
2 teaspoons soda
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix sugar with mayonnaise. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with the warm water. Pour into a greased 8-inch pan and bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes. Test as for any other cake. Frost as desired.

When buying cabbage, look for a fresh, crisp green head. Test to see if it is solid, heavy for its size and not damaged.

Westinghouse Will Close Plant if Union Persists

PITTSBURGH (INS) — Westinghouse Electric has threatened to close its gates rather than stop making time studies of 2,200 day-workers who struck last Aug. 8 at the East Pittsburgh plant.

The company delivered the ultimatum in a letter to all employes represented by Local 601 of the CIO-International Union of Electrical Workers. The letter was signed by J. K. Hodnette, vice president and general manager.

The IUE-Westinghouse conference board has asked an estimated 50,000 employes at 27 other Westinghouse plants to authorize a company-wide strike if the East Pittsburgh dispute is not settled by September 11.

Pickle Pickers Picking Pickles Pick Poor Place

DECKERVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A pack of pickle pickers almost got in a parcel of trouble picking 20 pecks of pickles in the wrong pickle patch.

State Rep. Herb Clements had offered free pickles from his patch to people willing to pick them.

Some Detroiters pulled up to what they thought was the Clements patch and started picking. The owner came out and asked what they thought they were doing.

"Picking free pickles," one replied.

The farmer told them the Clements patch was six miles away.

He said they could keep the pickles.

Object to Jet Base Right Under Their Noses

HOLLAND (AP)—The city's civic center will be host Sept. 7-9 to a convention of the State Assn. of County Social Welfare Boards. More than 350 delegates have registered for the event. James Vanvolenburgh, director of the Ottawa County Department of Social Welfare is convention committee chairman.

Russians Claim Peace Initiative

Reds Take Credit for Better Relationship of U.S. and Soviets

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians claim now to have taken the initiative in the matter of East-West cultural exchanges to improve international relations, and they charge the U.S. State Department is laggard.

* * *

With tourists moving in to the Soviet Union by the hundreds from West and East, Soviet propaganda is thumping this theme.

Typical is a comment in New Times, the Soviet foreign affairs weekly, which claims that "even in its coldest phase the 'cold war' could not freeze out the profound and historically rooted mutual sympathy of the peoples of the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R."

* * *

New Times welcomed visits of congressmen and cobblers to the Soviet Union. It praised numerous suggestions in the American press for expansion of exchange visits.

"The State Department," says New Times, "judging from American press reports, is being flooded with plans for closer intercourse with the U.S.S.R.

"Most of the proposals submitted have serious aims. There is one for a U.S. agricultural trade exhibition to be organized in Moscow next summer. Also, the Hutchinson (Kan.) News-Herald wants to invite a group of Russian wheat farmers next year. Then there is an invitation from the homebuilding association to exchange architectural exhibitions with the U.S.S.R.; also a plan for an American opera company to perform in Moscow and for Soviet artists, musicians, actors and sportsmen to tour the United States."

* * *

There are reports here that the famed Boston Symphony will come to Moscow next year and there is a promised visit by American violinist Yehudi Menuhin, who caused a sensation in concerts here in November 1945.

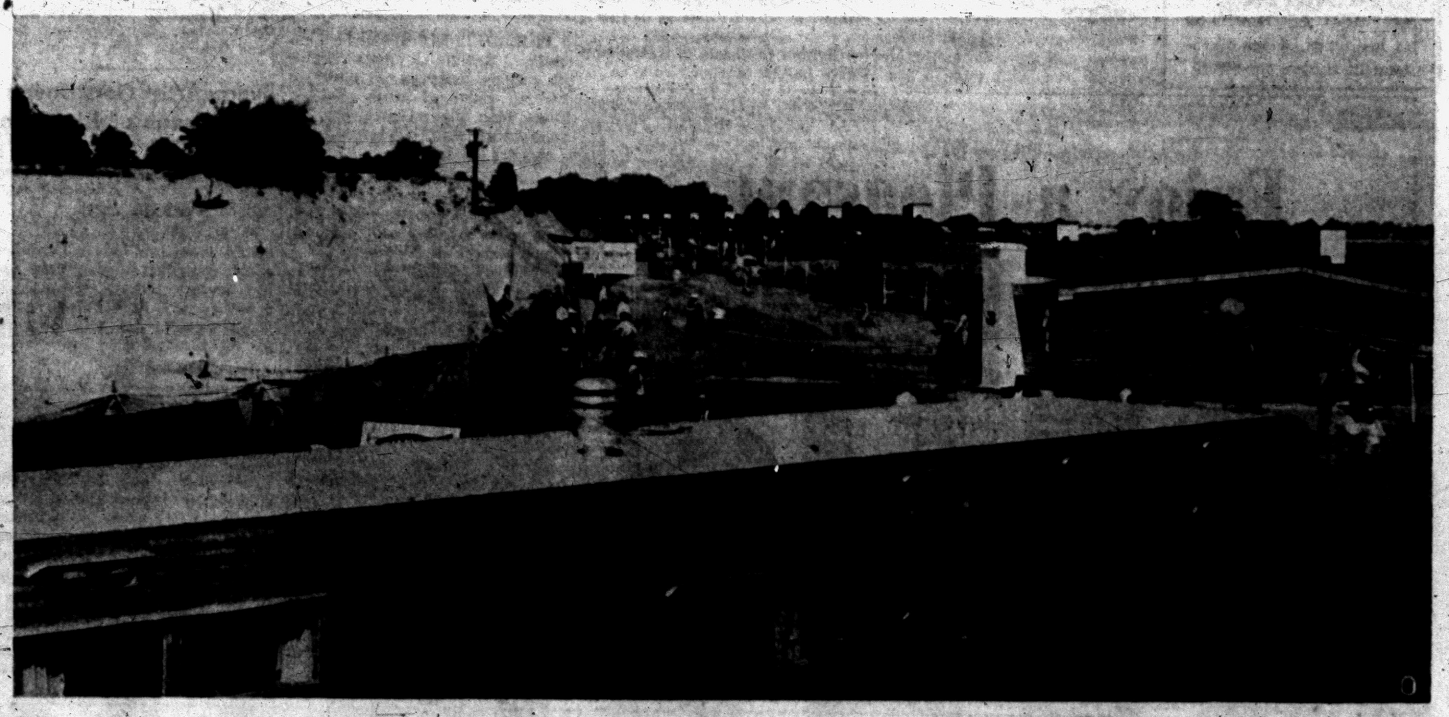
Nation's Top Skeet Shooters Competing at OCSC

WESTERN EXPERT — The 1955 champion of champions at the national skeet championships at Waterford, this week, is Lew Gordon of Texarkana, Ark. The colorful Gordon is a veteran of the NSSA "wars," and is today shooting in the big 3-day event, the all-gauge championships. He won the champion of champion title in a shootoff.



SKEET ALLEY — Picture above shows what the spectator and shooter in the National Skeet Championships would see if he (or she) were a bird. The shot shows the "street" in front of the shooting positions on the skeet fields (at right). At left are tents for the commercial gun and ammunition men, scoring headquarters, press, photographic and other centers.

SHOOTS FOR TITLE — Right in the thick of the five-man shootoff today, for the title she won a year ago, is Mrs. Carola (Leon) Mandel, of Chicago (above). Mrs. Mandel about 3 o'clock this afternoon will test her skill against four male competitors for the 20-gauge championship, in the National Skeet Championships at OCSC. She was photographed Thursday just after the shootoff was postponed until today. All five shooters had completed runs of 150 straight.

ROUNDS 'EM UP — One of the busiest persons at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, this week, is Mrs. Leland VandeWater of 6205 Andersonville Rd. (Waterford) an OCSC member. Mrs. VandeWater handles all the announcements over the "PA" system and pages the shooters for their starting times. She does a lot of other things to help make the big national skeet championships move along properly.

AVENUE OF FLAGS — Here's one stirring sight visitors to the national skeet shooting championships at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club see when they approach the area. Driveways leading to the clubhouse are lined with the national colors, and in one spot will be found flags of Canada and Puerto Rico, testifying to the international character of the event.

Predicts 'Ice' Victory Through Electronics

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who will be chief of staff for history's greatest invasion of the antarctic says man within 25 years will be able to disintegrate polar ice and unlock the secrets of that frozen continent.

Coast Guard Capt. C. W. Thomas forecast that the great ice masses will be conquered through electronics, mechanical abrasion "or even supersonics" — sound waves inaudible to the human ear.

Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of the U.S. task force that will head for the antarctic this winter, said man will learn more about the antarctic in the next five years than in the past 100.

The forecasts were made at a symposium conducted last night by the Arctic Institute of North America.

Begins Inquest in Girl's Death

Philly District Attorney Reveals That Heiress Underwent Abortion

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Medical examiner Melville J. Aston begins an inquest today in an effort to fix the cause of death of Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Oestreicher, 22-year-old socialite.

The red-haired food chain heiress died nine days ago in the south Philadelphia apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz, whom Mrs. Oestreicher's father said were not acquaintances of his family.

* * *

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash said yesterday her death occurred some time after she had undergone an illegal operation. He said she was expecting a child and that an abortion had occurred. But, he added, "we are unable to tell at this time whether it was a criminal abortion."

He said that the medical tests have not yet shown whether the operation might have been performed by the girl herself or by someone else.

Mrs. Oestreicher, daughter of Herman Silver, millionaire vice president of Food Fair Stores, made headlines two months ago when she eloped to Georgia with Miami motorcycle policeman Earl Oestreicher.

The city administration, under directions from Dr. Aston, refused to disclose the results of an autopsy after the girl collapsed and died in the bathroom of the Schwartz apartment.

* * *

Dash said yesterday, "The complete autopsy findings now confirm beyond a doubt that Mrs. Oestreicher died an unnatural death because of the operation."

She returned to her parents' home less than six weeks after the marriage. Her 29-year-old husband flew here from Florida.

Bunco Artist Gets Dough —in Change and in Cake

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—Police were looking today for a young man who ordered a wedding cake with a worthless check.

M. O. Navy, operator of a bakery here, said the man ordered a $27, three-tier wedding cake for his "sister," and paid for it with a check for $27.45. He asked to pay $7 on account, and pocketed cash for the remainder.

The check bounced.

He pulled the same kind of deal at a tire recapping shop.

Does Farm Surplus Have a Remedy?

(An Associated Press analyst details the background of a political puzzler: "What to do with our farm surplus?" This is the last of three articles.)

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world will beat a path to the door of the man who invents a solution to America's problem of farm surpluses.

* * *

It is a five-billion-dollar puzzle which has defied solution for nearly 30 years in its modern form.

What is the American farm problem? Its most distressing symptom today is the $5,370,029,000 surplus taken off the farmer's hands by the government. But what's the cause?

If overproduction is the cause, the cure would seem to be in holding down production. The Department of Agriculture tries to do this by controlling planting and marketing under laws dating back to and beyond 1933 when the government paid farmers to kill their pigs and plow under their cotton.

ONE GOAL

Increased consumption is a goal too. The most notable success has been with the dairy surplus. The school lunch program pours tons of milk into schoolchildren who, in many cases, would otherwise have none. Melted-down butter sent India as a gift is accepted as a delicacy.

America's farm laws are aimed at guaranteeing the farmer that, barring some freak of weather or bugs, he can count on a certain minimum return for his crop. That takes much of the guess out of a "by guess and by God" calling.

* * *

The laws do not discriminate among farmers. The top two million who produce half the country's farm goods by value get the same treatment as the seven million who turn out 39 per cent, or the 12 million who live on the fringes of starvation.

The Agriculture Department reckons its support of the farmer in terms of purchasing power.

PARITY PROBLEM

The 1910-14 base period has been brought up to date, but he had the general idea.

Defenders of parity say it does no more for the farmer than a wage contract does for his city cousins. Detractors decry it as an outmoded link with the past, a bar to incentive and efficiency and a spreader of government controls.

Charles Brannan thought he had a better solution than parity-pegged price supports. As secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration in 1949 he put his plan to Congress this way:

"Let prices go down if they will. Then let the government pay farmers a guaranteed annual cash income for producing our food. Thus consumers would get cheaper food, and farmers would get their income anyhow and everybody would be happy."

CONGRESS UNHAPPY

Congress was far from happy with the Brannan subsidy plan, especially his inability to say precisely how much it would cost. It was killed, but it left a lively ghost.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced Aug. 13 a kind of subsidy plan for cotton starting after next Jan. 1. Last April he put subsidy payments in effect for wool and mohair, trying to build up the industry.

Still the subsidy vs. supports battle roars on. Every now and then a man like Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), himself a farmer, steps into the middle of the fray with an idea to deal with a particular product.

Eastland came up this year with what he called a "bold new plan" for cotton. In essence it was to lower cotton supports from 90 to 80 per cent of parity, increase allotted acreage from 18 million to 23 million acres and sell surlus cotton on the world market at going prices.

Any such talk of pushing U.S. surplus cotton on the world market brings howls from inside the country as well as abroad. Textile firms fear imports of goods made from such low-cost U.S. cotton. Some U.S. investment firms have millions tied up in foreign cotton with which it would compete.

U.S. Legislators Meet in Russia

Americans Visit Soviet as Travel Restrictions on Visas Relax

MOSCOW (INS)—A Republican senator and a Republican congressman from adjoining states were introduced to each other this week for the first time in—of all places—a Moscow hotel lobby.

* * *

The chance meeting between Nevada's Sen. George Malone and California's Joseph R. Holt proved that Moscow can be a smaller world than Capitol Hill.

It also provided an amusing demonstration of the Soviet drive to increase tourist visits to Russia.

Malone and Holt are only two of the American visitors who have been streaming into the city this summer.

The two GOP lawmakers were introduced in the lobby of the National Hotel by Harvard Law Professor Harold Berman, who is observing the workings of the Soviet legal system.

Holt and his companion, Rep. John Rhodes (R) of Arizona, left this morning for Berlin after a two-week tour, which included stops in Leningrad, Kiev and Tula, as well as Moscow.

DOUGLAS AND KENNEDY

Associate Justice of the Supreme Court William O. Douglas flew into the city last night with Robert F. Kennedy, a Senate subcommittee counsel and son of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Douglas and Kennedy have been touring the Caucasus, Central Asia and Siberia for three weeks. The justice was met by his wife who arrived a few days ago.

Two of Kennedy's sisters—Patricia, wife of movie star Peter Lawford, and Jean—were due in Moscow on the train from Prague today.

Malone and his wife, Mrs. Douglas and U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen attended a reception at the Yugoslav embassy last night.

The senator, an engineer by training, chatted amiably with two Russian engineers who also had made good in politics. They were Deputy Premier Lazar Kagaanovich and former Premier Georgi Malenkov.

DENMARK—5
Folk Dancing at Rebild

Everywhere our Junior Editors travel they see the Danes dancing.

At the city of Rebild, dancers from the nearby Faroes Islands do folk dances outdoors in a meadow surrounded by old windmills and red tile roofed houses.

Wearing old fashioned clothes, the men have big buckles on their shoes and bows on their knickers. Their vests are long and the coats extra wide.

The girls have close fitting bonnets, full skirts, striped aprons and brightly flowered shawls.

At Rebild there is a national park donated by Danish Americans, and there the Danes celebrate American Independence Day each year with special dances and a big festival including much folk dancing.

To have these dancers for your collection, color them as you like and paste down this picture on thin cardboard. Then cut along the black lines at the edge of the dancers. Fold the ground forward along the dotted lines. If you fold the dancers lightly on the dotted lines running down the center they will face each other as they stand up.

Probes Voting in Mississippi

Brownell Promises to Act if Negroes' Rights Were Violated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell promises to take "immediate and vigorous action" if he finds that Negro rights were violated in Mississippi's Democratic primary elections last month.

But two Mississippi leaders have indicated they don't think anything wrong will be found.

* * *

Brownell disclosed late yesterday FBI agents are already conducting an investigation.

"Reports indicate," he said, "that in some counties Negroes were refused ballots when they allegedly failed to answer correctly several irrelevant and frequently illegal questions.

"In other counties the indications are that ballots cast by Negroes were apparently not counted and that Negroes were kept from the polls by threats and intimidation."

Tom Tubb, chairman of the Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee, which conducted the elections, said Brownell "has a perfect right to investigate. Not that he'll find anything, though."

Recent estimates show there are 40.5 million married men in the U.S.

Booklet Summarizes Ike's Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White house has distributed to key government officials a booklet summarizing "achievements of the Eisenhower administration."

* * *

A White House statement said yesterday the document was "intended for interdepartmental use and is not made available publicly."

Acknowledging that the 42-page booklet could be used for speech material, a spokesman said it "certainly was not tailored for that purpose."

* * *

"The White House said such summaries are prepared from time to time "to keep officials of the administration informed of the activity of other departments and agencies."

Bob Considine Says:

Sure and Mrs. O'Leary Would Be Furious

CHICAGO (INS)—That whirring sound Chicagoans heard lately was not Nashua bursting out of the starting gate at Washington Park and staying out there in front like a drum major for a mile and a quarter.

* * *

The sound was made by a Mrs. O'Leary , formerly of 558 Dekoven St., revolving in her sarcophagus. Mrs. O'Leary died some years back saying bad cess to all who cast a reflection on one of her cows.

The cow, Mrs. O'Leary swore to the end, never kicked over that lantern whose flame started the Chicago fire of 1871, one of the great catastrophes of all times.

Why, she'd bridle, would she and the old man be stupid enough to have a lighted lantern set amidst straw of the barn behind the home? She and O'Leary had cows for years and knew exactly how to handle them, indeed, indeed.

The fire was set by a bum who crept into the O'Leary barn while their backs were turned, the indignant old lady would tell successive waves of young feature writers sent out to see her by heartless Chicago editors, if that isn't redundant.

A MEMORIAL YET!

Now (sad it is!) the city of Chicago wants to perpetuate the fairly unjustified memory of that poor O'Leary cow by turning 558 DeKoven into an eternal memorial. The Chicago Land Clearance Commission is clearing the area for industrial development.

* * *

It isn't the first attempt Chicago has made to glorify that bovine. Back in 1928 the city bought the old O'Leary property for $36,000 and talked aggressively about rigging up a memorial park.

Nothing happened, and last year it was knocked down to the land clearance people for $6,500. Mayor Daley thinks the least the commission could do is give it back to the city.

There is talk of constructing a replica of the O'Leary home and making a farm museum of it. Among the other suggested plans is one which would see erected there a six-sided monument filled with the names of brave firemen who lost their lives during that now hardly believable time when the fires chased the people of Chicago into the lake up to their necks and fire insurance companies went bust in droves.

* * *

To date, nobody has suggested a bronze cow punting lamp into the end zone. Still I'm sure Mrs. O'Leary wants nothing to do with any plans, however lofty. And if she ever catches that bum, I'd pity the man.

BALANCING IDEA

Speaking of balancing the budget, as somebody was recently, how about putting Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker, Nashua and Swaps on the job?

Eddie, in 17,929 races, has collected purses totaling $18,426,103. Willie has won a little under $9,000,000. Swaps has won $539,500. Young Nashua, with a lot of racing left in him, has pulled in $883,565.

By taking all $100,000 in the pot of the match race at Washington Park the other day, Nashua jumped to third place among the all-time money earners of the turf.

Only Citation, with $1,085,760 and Stymie with $918,485, are ahead of him. The victory over Swaps enabled Nashua to vault over such greats as Native Dancer and Armed. Leagues behind him in the dough department are three incomparable horses, Man o' War, Exterminator and Black Beauty.

Nashua seems to be a lead pipe cinch to break Citation's world record of winning $709,407 as a 3-year-old. Nashua has already won $689,700 in his 9 wins in 10 starts this year and still has several $100,000 races in his 1955 future.

Swaps' owners, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Ellsworth and Meshach Tenney, are Mormon missionaries who do not drink, smoke, swear, bet on horses and, as of this last Wednesday, win.

Pentagon Predicts Japanese Opposition to Proposed Home Defense Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—American defense officials foresee some hard and patient bargaining before Japan will accept the military role that the United States now wants her to play as a major partner in the defense of the Western Pacific.

* * *

The wide gap between what Japan is prepared to do and what Pentagon strategists think she could do was made clear in three days of conferences here this week with Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

He proposed that Japan increase her present home defense force of 150,000 men to 200,000 by the end of 1958, with 90 per cent of the total being ground troops.

Japan's naval and air forces would remain small during this period, with the United States continuing to provide virtually full protection on the sea and in the air. The Japanese want until 1961 to build up a defensive air force and navy.

U. S. PROPOSAL

The American counterproposal calls for a Japanese ground force of 350,000, organized in 10 trained and ready divisions within about three years and a Japanese manned air force of 1,300 planes by 1960.

The big point that the American officials tried to put over with Shigemitsu is that Japan should advance beyond her present thinking in terms of a home defense force and should think and plan to take over some of the United States burden of policing Asia.

* * *

The Americans made it plain they won't order withdrawal of U.S. troops until they think Japan's own military strength is such that they won't have to be rushed back at the first signs of a big storm in Asia.

Pentagon officials expect relatively little difficulty in getting Japan to speed up her air power program, because the devastating beating that nation took from the air in World War II is still a fresh and tragic memory.

* * *

The big problem to be tackled in continuing negotiations in Tokyo is over Japan's ground forces. Japan knows that the U.S. Army doesn't like the idea of keeping its forces scattered in piecemeal lots around the world. But Shigemitsu left little doubt he will have a tough job selling a big army program to the Japanese Parliament and people.

Red Farmers Get Mixed Welcomes

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Verbal brickbats mixed with bouquets continue to greet Russia's visiting farm experts on their tour of Canada.

The nine Soviet visitors flew here last night from Winnipeg. Flowers were presented on their arrival by a "Friend of Russia" group. Shouts of "murderers" were hurled by a small band of anti-Communist demonstrators.

The Russians will travel from here through the Niagara peninsula, spending Sunday at Niagara Falls.

Hollywood Headlines

Myrna Loy Will Appear in New Film With Olivia

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—At last it's "The Ambassador's Daughter." happened! Myrna Loy has stopped name on a contract to emote in This is Norman Krasna's picture dilly-dallying and has put her for United Artists.

She heads for Paris, Sept. 13 to join Olivia de Havilland and John Forsythe. And Myrna will play the wife of a U. S. senator.

I know it will make Livvy happy that the entire picture is being shot in Paris because it means that she won't be separated from her journalist husband Pierre Galante.

I don't know whether Myrna's husband, Howland Sargent, will be able to give up his duties in Washington, D. C., for the full time or not, but he'll accompany her to Paris.

MUNI VERY SICK

Paul Muni is in a hospital awaiting an eye operation and he's been very sick—so sick that "Inherit the Wind" had to close down.

Herman Schumlin, the producer of this play which is really one of Broadway's hits, paged Humphrey Bogart and Eddie Robinson today.

Bogey is very intrigued with the idea, but he's got to report for a motion picture. Eddie, too, has a motion picture commitment and can't go East at this time.

It's unfortunate that Paul, who came back with such a smash, should be taken ill and be unable to fulfill his engagement. Here's hoping he'll soon feel better.

GOOD FRIENDS

The friendship that exists between Gregory Peck and John Huston is so strong that Greg didn't even sign a contract for "Moby Dick." Now that the picture is made and John gets into town any hour—they'll celebrate by both signing an agreement.

The Peck document runs for 150 pages and is involved because of the participation clauses. The original deal was a handshake made at a party where Huston met Peck and offered him "Moby Dick."

Says Greg: "We never dreamed it would take so many months but weather conditions were bad and it dragged on."

John will pay a sizeable sum, since Greg worked without any money and there is much overtime.

LONG SUGGESTED

I hope it's true that Ross Hunter is about to sign Dick Long, devoted husband of the late Suzan Ball, for his U-I picture, "The Dean Hess Story."

This is the very dramatic story I told you about last week of the American pilot, on a bombing mission over Germany, who accidentally drops a bomb on an orphanage. Rock Hudson is set to play the part of Hess who turned to religion after his fearful experience.

At the time of Suzan's illness, so many producers said they would do anything to help.

Miss Leonard to Try Straits Crossing This Weekend

ST. IGNACE (AP)—Barbara Leonard, 21, of Los Altos, Calif., said today she will try to swim across the Straits of Mackinac this weekend.

The four-mile wide straits separate Michigan's two peninsulas, joining lakes Michigan and Huron. The water usually is frigid and currents strong.

Miss Leonard, who has swum California's Golden Gate and around Alcatraz, said her course would parallel the path of the 100-million dollar Straits of Mackinac Bridge, now under construction. She estimates the crossing will take about three hours.

She said wind and current conditions would determine her take-off there.

Miss Leonard has been vacationing in St. Ignace for the last week and swimming daily in the cold waters of the Straits.

Costa Favored in Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmelo (Chubby) Costa is a 2-1 favorite to beat Bobby Bell in their "rubber" bout tonight and keep alive his chances of getting a title crack at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler. The Madison Square Garden 10-rounder, starting at 9 p.m. (EST) will be broadcast and telecast (NBC) coast to coast.

LITTLE, BUT GOOD — Out at the national skeet championships at OCSC, this week there has been some fine shooting by some very little people. One of them (above) is 11-year-old Miner Cliett of Childersburg, Ala. Miner, who has shot competitively only three months, yesterday won the 20-gauge junior crown with a fine 96x100.

Thrilling Air Trip Preamble to Great Rainbow Fishing

(Editor's note: This is the second of two articles on a fishing trip in the Canadian wilds along the Pacific coast line. The first appeared yesterday.)

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

Our first quest for salmon was a washout.

We were at Rivers Inlet, one of Canada's most famous salmon points, but a school of blackfish (whales to a sedentary bloke like me), arrived at the same time. This precipitated a hasty flight on the part of the salmon as the blackfish run from 15 to 25 feet and they regard the salmon as piscatorial crepe suzettes.

Some of the party have a deep seated yen for rainbow trout, waders and dry flies, so in accordance with advance arrangements, two airplanes met us at a predetermined rendezvous and we were flown a couple hundred miles inland to Chilko Lake. The rainbow were there and so were Dolly Vardens. Harry Pryale, Baldwin Rubber executive who underwent that harrowing experience with a musky last summer nailed some of the latter and the rest did well on rainbow.

The airplane trip from the yacht at sea level to Chilko Lake was the most thrilling and inspiring any in the group had ever made.

* * *

After the takeoff from a comfortable and cozy cove, the planes broke into the open and began a ceaseless climb between two snow capped mountain ranges that were always too close together, always too high—and grimly uncompromising forever. Snow capped, rugged, impenetrable to man on foot they regarded us without emotion.

"If you make it," they said, "it's all right with us. And if you don't, that's all right, too."

* * *

As the flight continued, the sense of being hemmed in heightened. The altimeter showed 4,000 feet, 5,000 feet and soon we were a mile and a half above the sea and still those rows of guarding giants stood unmoved on each side with their peaks and drifted snows several thousand feet above. It created the illusion of being completely surrounded. Escape on either side was impossible because of the perpendicular walls. Ahead it appeared as though the pass ended, with no exit. Glancing behind it looked as if the entrance had been completely obliterated. It was breath-taking and awe-inspiring. Here was nature in her primitive state, untouched and unconquered by the hand of man save for this comparatively fragile aircraft. Many of the walls arising from the water are almost sheer precipices and no man could scale them.

Yet when the airplane found the farthermost reach of the canyon, an opening always appeared on the right or left and we entered another. Garner and Donogh knew their country and they knew their planes.

* * *

The pilots always fly close to one side so they have the maximum space in which to turn or maneuver. The spectacle of these jagged, massive peaks with their snow demanded a new respect for the universe and you were impressed again with the impotence of man in the face of nature at the height of her power.

We ultimately reached an altitude of 9,000 feet and still were below the lofty sentinels that spiraled up and beyond. But an opening appeared ahead and a sharp decline placed us on the bosom of Lake Chilko, approximately 4,000 feet above the sea, 75 miles from a post office but near neighbors of the rainbow and the Dolly Vardens.

* * *

Probably the remark that produced the most hilarity on the trip came from Calvin P. Bentley, wealthy Owosso manufacturer and sportsman. It was evening and the dinner hour was imminent. Chef Reece was a champion and the party lounged on the back deck in keen anticipation. Every meal was a masterpiece, a gastronomic chef d'oeuvre with all the stops pulled out. But we were certainly out in the wilderness—way out.

The three small boats the yacht carried for fishing were tied on the starboard side. Two glistening airplanes were securely fastened to the port side.

Our David, impeccable and even courtly in a white coat approached Mr. Bentley with a frosty martini on a tray. Cal leaned back in a soft chair, eyed the drink with a true connoisseur's appreciation and then declared:

"Boys, I enjoy roughing it."

* * *

One morning Tom Garner, owner of Chilko Lodge, took me on the most hair raising two hour fishing trip of my entire existence. In precisely that time, we fished four separate places and covered more than a hundred miles. We saw deer, bull moose, wild horses, eagles, ravens and I came up with rainbow in the most picturesque setting of a quiet but not entirely uneventful life time.

Tom dropped in at the far end of a man sized lake where mountain peaks arose on three sides. Mt. Chilko was 9,000 feet while Taseko, Goodhope and Monmouth were above 10,000. All of them were snow capped and to complete the picture of nature at her brawny best a mountain stream came charging hell-bent through the only opening for miles. Its own fury concealed the trout as it boiled into the lake, but a few casts proved there was satisfactory business at hand and certainly that spot constitutes the most picturesque and beautiful scene in which I ever caught—or expect to catch—a fish.

* * *

But Garner wanted to go on. Always he wanted to move.

Soon he put me down in another lake with the remark:

"You and I are the only two people in history that have ever fished here. No man could possibly work his way on foot."

* * *

The lake's a little jewel dropped high in the mountains, thousands of feet above sea level, and the approaches are sheer rock running almost straight up. The only possible entrance since the glacier bashed away would be by air.

Since it's well concealed and far off the beaten path, Tom doubts whether any other aviator has ever made a landing. I should like to record a top rainbow but I never had a strike and after 10 minutes, we hied off to another equally inaccessible spot 30 miles away but only (15 minutes travel).

"The last time I fished here," said Garner, "they were popping."

"But let's go."

Tom Garner is a tremendous pilot.

The captain of our ship must have been President of the Anti-Seal Society. Just the sight of one sent him scurrying to the bridge for a rifle. These particular seals are no good to man and they live on the choicest fish. Also when they're present in numbers, the "good fish" leave. But the seal is a wily operator and rarely exposes more than his snout. Also, if he's looking, he can duck his nose beneath the surface between the flash of the gun and the arrival of the bullet, something that takes quite a bit of doing; but apparently it's easy for a seal.

* * *

Once O. L. Beaudette watched an eagle high in a pass swoop down on two sea gulls. The pair split and began screaming for help in gull language, and help came—pronto. Fifteen or twenty brother and sister gulls winged their way to the spot and attacked the eagle in mass formation.

The King of the Birds is a mean competitor, but this one decided that discretion was indicated and he swung away and soared back up the cut with as much dignity as he could muster and with a final flip of his big wings which said:

"O. K.—but it's going to be too bad if I catch any of you clowns around here alone."

* * *

There was a lot of gin rummy played and the results were fairly even but if a champion did emerge from the flock, I'd be inclined to give the accolade to the imperturbable Dr. Howard B. Barker whose system of utter confusion trapped everyone.

* * *

When the trip terminated, we were flown from the boat to Vancouver where we remained over night and the next day we hopped to Seattle and thence the flight home.

Eight salmon were shipped back in dry ice and everyone that has a mouthful of mine will have to stand uncovered and bow before he takes the first bite.

Salmon?

I'm keen for 'em.

Shootoff Delays 20-Gauge Title

By H. GUY MOATS

Shooting flying skeet targets by moonlight is something seldom indulged in, even by the best of the clan.

But that's exactly what happened Thursday evening in the National Skeet association't 20-gauge championship at OCSC's headquarters at Waterford.

With all but a few squads completing their rounds late in the afternoon, there had been five 100x100 scores posted. After a lenghty wait the sixth 100 turned up in the person of George Stalcup, Columbus, Ga.

By that time all other competition had been completed with one exception, there was a tie in the 2-man team event, at 197.

The six included Stalcup, Mrs. Carola Mandel of Chicago (wife of the department store tycoon, Col. Leon Mandel), George A. Young, Camp Pendleton, Calif., Robert V. Rath (Northwestern University student from Waterloo, Ia.), Alns Borsum of Baldwin, Mich., and Ben DiOrio of Utica, N.Y.

All but Rath shot out another string of 100, plus 50 more. Rath lost a target in the deepening dusk, and was eliminated. By the time the last 50 was chalked up, the moon was riding high over the skeet houses and the big audience of shooters and spectators could barely discern the flights. Referee Pike Mead then called off the shooting.

Shootoff will be resumed today after the first 100 targets in the open-all-gauge are fired.

Because Carola Mandel was also involved in a tie for the team event, this too, was held over until today. Mrs. Mandel and Harry Altice of Chicago tied with Jay Swardenka of Peoria and Robert Rath at 197.

A lot of interest was shown in the shooting of 11-year-old Miner Cliett of Childersburg, Ala. Miner walked off with juinor 20-gauge title in his first national competition.

He is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Will Henry Clitt. Mr. Clitt is a hardware merchant who says Miner never shot competitive skeet until three months ago. The Clietts belong to the Marvel City Gun Club of the Alabama city. Miner was shooting the 20 only a brief time.

Better shooting conditions obtained Thursday. There was little wind, consequently the scores began to get back to normal. The production of hundreds was boosted speedily, with the largest caliber shells helping.

Incidently Mrs. Mandel's 100 was the first by a feminine marksman during the current matches. She ran her total unbroken string to 250 with the shootoff count.

Other champions settled included Ed Docherty of Holyoke, Mass., in the seniors; George Hess of Wayne, Mich. in the sub-seniors; Mrs. Mandel in the women's.

Firing will begin today in the week's heaviest barrage. The national all-gauge, covering use of all four guns, is the big competition over a 250-target route. Fifteen other events will be shot concurrently.

National all-around championships, two and five-man teams will be on the card for the balance of the week, concluding Sunday.

Thursday's results:

Juniors — Miner Cliett, Childersburg, Ala., 96x100; runnerup, Jay Swardenski, Peoria, Ill., 95x100.

Women—Mrs. Carola Mandel, Chicago, 100x100.

Seniors—Ed Docherty, Holyoke, Mass., won in shootoff from Carl Stutsman of Peoria, Ill.

Sub-seniors — George Hess, Wayne, Mich., 98x100; runnerup, Harry Wright, Baltimore, Md., 97x100.

C—W. F. Hollinger, Harrisburg, Pa., 99.

Will Try Moegle

49ers to Use Rookies in Exhibition Games

MORAGA, Calif. (AP)—The man said, a long time ago, that he figured exhibition games should be used as testing grounds for rookies, and he still means it.

Coach Norman (Red) Strader of the San Francisco 49ers repeated his belief again today and in the same breath announced he was giving Dicky Moegle, the All America from Rice Institute, a shot at the left halfback spot in Sunday's pre-season tilt with the Chicago Cardinals.

"Moegle hasn't had a chance yet to show what he can do with the ball when we have it," Strader said. "He's going to get the chance Sunday."

That means, of course, that somebody has to give in the 49ers' backfield, and the somebody in this case is John Henry Johnson who will move over to the defensive unit into Moegle's vacated left wingback slot.

"Now don't figure that means John Henry is a defensive man from now," Strader warned. "I'm just going to see what he can do on defense. I know what he can do on offensive, but at the same time I'm looking at Moegle with the ball I'll have a chance to see what Johnson can do on pass defense. Sort of a doubleheader operation, you might say."

Strader's decision means further that the 49ers will go into action against the suddenly red-hot Cardinals with freshmen at both halfbacks. Carroll Hardy, fresh out of Colorado, will work at right half in place of the still injured Hugh McElhenny.

The Cardinals are counting heavily upon "sophomore" Lamar McHan to handle their quarterbacking. McHan saw some action a year ago when he was just out of Arkansas.

The game, last for the 49ers at Kezar Stadium until the National Football League opener with Los Angeles on Sept. 25, is expected to draw close to 40,000. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 p.m., PDT, with television scheduled outside the Bay Area.

Tennis Officials Studying Texan

20-Year-Old Idle Today as Play Gets Started at Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — American tennis officials, desperate for a new court hope who might help win back the Davis Cup, will have their eyes focused during the next few days on a young, bowlegged Texas named Sam Giammalva.

Idle today when opening salvos are discharged in the national championships at the West Side Tennis Club, the 20-year-old Houston slammer will begin his title bid Saturday against Laurence Schaffer of New York.

He has a rather favorable draw. His next opponent will be the winner of the match between Italy's Guiseppe Merlo and England's Bobby Wilson. Then blocking his path are Japan's Kosei Kamo, the eighth-seeded foreigner, and Gilbert Shea of Los Angeles, seeded fourth.

Browns, Rams Trying Rookies in Early Games

Nebraska's Bob Smith, Maryland's Ron Waller Get Immediate Call

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two rookie stars will adorn the starting lineups tonight when the world champion Cleveland Browns and the Los Angeles Rams play an exhibition National League Football game in Memorial Coliseum.

Coach Sid Gillman of the Rams said Ron Waller from Maryland, the club's second draft choice, would start the game at right half.

Paul Brown, master of the Browns, nominated Bob Smith from Nebraska for the left halfback position, taking over from veteran Ray Renfro, temporarily.

Otherwise, the teams will lead off with their regulars, with Norman Van Brocklin at quarterback for Los Angeles and George Ratterman at the same spot for the Browns.

Due for early duty for the Rams, however, will be halfback Corky Tharp from Alabama. While he is not exceptionally fast, and weighs but 173, Tharp leads the team in rushing and is second in kickoff returns.

Sally, Wiffi Clash Today for District Championship

A pair of 18-year-olds, Sally Sharp of Pine Lake and Wiffi Smith of St. Clair River, clash at Birmingham Country Club today for the Women's District Golf Assn. championship.

Today's 36-hole final marks the 2nd meeting of the two youngsters this summer. Sally and Wiffi battled for the state amateur crown at Oakland Hills a month ago, with Miss Smith posting a 6-5 win.

Wiffi advanced to the championship test as expected, downing Mrs. Betty Jane Wilson in Thursday's semifinal, 3 and 2. But Sally's victory over defending champion Pat Devany, 2 and 1, was the tourney's biggest upset.

Sally came from behind to edge Miss Devany, who had been playing her finest golf of the year. Devany held one-up leads three times, but couldn't contain Sally's sizzling putter.

Sally squared the match for the last time at the 8th hole, then birdied the 12th and 13th for her winning margin. Miss Sharp carded 78, one over women's par on the 6,324-yard layout.

Although expected to win, Wiffi was forced to come from behind for her triumph over Mrs. Wilson, the 1949 titleholder. The Ann Arbor housewife was 3-up after eight holes, but Wiffi settled down to shoot one under men's par the rest of the way. She finished with a 75.

Bass fishing is good in the Fletcher Floodwaters, Crooked and Carp lakes in Emmet county, Long Lake in Alpena county, Ocqueoc and Black lakes in Presque Isle county and in Arnold and Budd lakes in Clare county.

Pike fishing was reported good in Mio Pond, Homestead dam backwaters and the Platte river in Benzie county.

Play in the fourth annual ICO got under way over the par 35-36—71 Wethersfield Country Club course this morning.

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., the man with the erratic putter, seeks a spot on the Ryder Cup team for the fifth straight year.

Tiger Manager Harris Gives Reliefer Chance to Show His Stuff

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Paul Foytack was scheduled to get his 1st major league start tonight, opening the Detroit Tigers' three-game series with the Kansas City Athletics.

Detroit manager Bucky Harris named the 24-year-old righthander to open because "he certainly is entitled to a shot at it."

His best showing was five innings against Baltimore earlier this week.

Hangs Up Cleats

Central's Jim Podoley Quits Football, Will Concentrate on Decathlon Events

MOUNT MORRIS (AP)—Jim Podoley, the brilliant Central Michigan College athlete who runs on a football field almost as good as he does in a track event, says he's giving up football for money—and a crack at the Olympics.

Podoley, now 22, last season made the Associated Press little All-America 2nd team as a fullback because of his sparkling running.

But things are different now. He's looking toward the U. S. Olympic team next year as a decathlon athlete — something hardly anyone excells him at.

"I'm not going out for football this year for two reasons," said the friendly farmer. "First, I need money to put me through college. And 2nd, why should I take a chance hurting myself on the football field when I've got even the most remote chances of making the Olympic team. Only a fool would take the chance.

"Me, I'll practice field events instead."

Central Michigan coach Bill Kelly, apparently agreeable to this crushing blow, said:

"We don't push anybody to play football here. We'll field a team with or without Jim."

To this, Podoley was equally agreeable. "They've got a powerhouse this year," he mused. "They don't need me, and even if they do, I've got to spend my spare time making money."

Among Podoley's accomplishments is the decathlon title at the Kansas City Relays last year. He hasn't won an important title since, but came close on several occasions, particularly in national decathlon competition.

"I had to borrow some money to stay in school this year and I want to pay it back," he said.

How is he going to make money?

"I'm going to go home from school on weekends and fiddle at a few things," said Podoley, "like harvesting wheat and beans and the rest of the fall crops on our farm, planting winter wheat, working in a gas station, refereeing high school football games on Friday nights, practicing track, helping my mother on the farm and hitting the books. After all I've got to keep up my 'B' average."

When someone quipped, "What are you 'gonna' do in your spare time?" Podoley shyly mumbled:

"I've got a girl, too."

Nashua's Lightning Gate Break Surprises Many, Including Its Trainer, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons

NEW YORK (AP)—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmon, 81-year-old dean of American trainers, admitted today he was really surprised when Nashua stepped away from Swaps at the start of their match race at Washington Park Wednesday.

"From what I had heard I didn't think my horse could outrun Swaps," said Mr. Fitz on his return from Chicago where Nashua won by 6½ lengths. "I knew Nashua could break fast if necessary but from what they told me I thought it would be Swaps first out of the gate."

Mr. Fitz was not on hand when Swaps set practically all of the pace in beating Nashua by a length and a half in the Kentucky Derby early in May.

"Actually I didn't care if we got to the front at the start," the veteran trainer continued. Jockey Eddie Arcaro and I agreed it would be the best if he could go right to the front but if he couldn't then I told Eddie to keep that other horse busy."

Nashua came out of the gate with Arcaro plying his whip vigorously. The William Woodward colt went right to the front and never was headed.

The genial, stooped conditioner of thoroughbreds said he gave Nashua no special speed tests for the match race.

"He's always been fast," Mr. Fitz said. "But only in the Dwyer, before the match did I instruct Eddie to get him away fast. I wanted to get out in front of Saratoga at that time."

Mr. Fitz expressed regret on hearing that Swaps had turned up lame.

He said he hoped the two horses would meet again in the course of the regular racing season this year. Nashua's next start probably will be in the $100,000 added mile and one-eighth of the Sysonby at Belmont Park Sept. 24. Its a weight-for-age stake in which Nashua, as a 3-year-old would carry 121 pounds compared to 126 by older horses.

"Just because we won this match race, doesn't mean I like them," said Mr. Fitz. "Too many things can happen to spoil such a race."

It was the first match race as a trainer for Mr. Fitz but he won one as jockey nearly 60 years ago.

UM Counting on Backfield of B-Players

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan has three "bees" in its backfield — Branoff, Baldacci and Barr. They promise to add some needed sting to the Wolverine attack, a sting that was missing last year.

Presumably, Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has a first string backfield that can fashion the most damaging Wolverine running attack since the "Mad Magicians" of 1947.

Tony Branoff, a power as a sophomore but an injured junior last year, probably is king of the backfield.

Some coaches call him one of the two top athletes on the squad — the other being the phenomenal end, Ron Kramer.

Overweight earlier this summer and operated on for a knee injury last winter, Branoff has more than the usual conditioning to do.

But he surprised everyone at the 1st practice session by weighing in at 190—a good playing weight, but probably a little light in the face of the hard practice ahead. The knee, he says, feels good.

Lou Baldacci, also a senior this season, may get the opportunity to concentrate on fullback. He has played quarterback and, last season, switched between the two positions. He's fast enough to work the Michigan spinner series.

But, coach Wally Weber says it depends on how well quarterback Jim Maddock does, and how many replacements can be found for him on the sophomore bench. One prime prospect, the coaches agree, is a young, former all-stater from Illinois, Jim Van Pelt.

Van Pelt, a rugged 20-year-old from Evanston, won the most improved player award last spring—a prize that Kramer won the year before.

The final member of the backfield is Grand Rapids' Terry Barr.

Barr spent most of last season getting used to the Michigan single wing. The coaches know he's got the speed that counts at left halfback and they hope to reap the harvest this season. They planned carefully last season by bringing Barr up slowly.

With Barr on the left, Branoff on the right, Baldacci at full and Maddock calling the signals, there won't be any place on the enemy line that the Wolverines can't hit with all the power of the single wing.

Eastern Pair Looming Up in MSU's Football Future

EAST LANSING (AP)—Two Easterners, who took the advice "go west, young man" loom big in the Michigan State football picture this fall.

The two, both from Massachusetts, are the only sophomores currently rated as good enough for the starting eleven.

Walter Kowalczyk, 20 years old, six feet tall, weighing 198 pounds, is the probable starter at right half.

Kowalczyk is a bruising power runner who also has the speed to go outside. Big as he is, he held the Massachusetts high school 100-yard dash title for two years.

Coach Duffy Daugherty rates him as probably the best sophomore prospect on the squad.

One evidence that the coaches are sold on Kowalczyk is that he was given No. 14 to wear—the number Lynn Chandnois and Billy Wells carried to football fame from the same position.

The other probable sophomore starter is Pat Burke, a rugged six-foot, 20 years old, 200-pounder from Lawrence, Mass. Burke also attended Staunton Military Academy in Virginia where he won all-state honors.

On the strength of his showing as a freshman, Burke already has first call at right tackle.

Another Massachusetts product rated as a comer is end Tony Kolodziej, six feet tall, 178 pounds, 18 years old, from Northhampton, Mass.

The story of how the Bay State boys happened to get out to Michigan is one of bread cast on the waters.

When the 1952 NCAA meetings were held at Atlantic City, N. J., Michigan State was riding the top of the football wave.

A group of Massachusetts coaches were interested in the Spartan system of play and the MSU coaches took time out to give them a thorough briefing. The time they took and the friendships made paid off in the imports that look like good bets for stardom.

Puertas, Drugs Title Winners

Puertas Service and Drayton Drug racked up victories Thursday night at Drayton ball park to claim playoff championships in the Waterford Little and Junior Leagues.

Behind the five-hit pitching of Gordon Rice, Puertas shut out Jack's Service, 5-0, to win the Little League playoff. Puertas' victory followed league champion Jack's 7-6 win over Union Lake Lumber in the semifinal.

Drayton Drug trimmed White Brothers, 12-7, in eight innings, to complete a sweep of Junior League honors. White's tied the count at 7-all with a three-run rally in the 7th inning. But pitcher Jim Preston socked a two-run homer in the 8th to spearhead a five-run inning and wrap up the decision.

Awards were presented to Little and Junior Leaguers at last night's games. Jim Patterson of Drug with a .487 average and Bruce Hempton of Union Lake with an even .500 were recipients of the batting trophies. Jim Preston of Drug and Bob Read of Waterford Village received sportsmanship awards. Team trophies were given to Jack's, Puertas, and Drug.

Chisox Boss Makes Apology

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Lane publicly apologized for his vocal outburst against an umpire during a game in Chicago last week but the general manager of the White Sox insisted the umpire was at fault.

Lane, who berated Umpire Larry Napp before American League President Will Harridge in the seventh inning of a game between Chicago and Boston last Tuesday, was summoned to New York Thursday, fined $500 and ordered to apologize for what Commissioner Ford Frick termed "unbecoming conduct."

"For conduct unbecoming a baseball official and for using violent profane language, Frank Lane is fined $500 payable to this office by personal check within five days. It is understood Lane will make a proper public apology to Mr. Harridge, the American League and to the Chicago fans."

The stormy Chicago official readily apologized and then gave his own explanation of what happened in front of the box of the dignified, white-haired Harridge.

"I apologize most humbly to Will Harridge if I have caused him any embarrassment. It was the farthest thing from my mind to cause him any discomfort I have the highest regard for Mr. Harridge whom I have always respected as a fine gentleman, a good friend and an excellent league president.

"I went to Mr. Harridge's box to complain about Umpire Larry Napp but my remarks were directed at Cal Hubbard, chief of the league's umpires, who also was there.

"I protested strongly against Napp's actions in ejecting Sherman Lollar, our No. 1 catcher, after failing to remove a Boston player from the game for a more serious offense.

"In the fifth inning, this Boston player not only put on a terrible demonstration in front of the fans in disputing a decision by Napp but actually jostled the umpire and kicked dirt at his feet. Despite that he was allowed to stay in the game.

"The next inning, several Chicago players were jockeying Napp from the dugout but the umpire singled Lollar out and gave him the thumb. I admit the language wasn't exactly the type that would meet the approval of Emily Post but I was angry clean through at the injustice and I guess I minced no words in telling Hubbard so."

Horse racing produced an all-time high of $13,171,843 in state revenue for Florida during the 1954-55 winter racing season. The largest share was from Hialeah with $6,038,761.

State Links Tournament Scheduled This Weekend

Annual Michigan Public Links golf tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday over a 54-hole distance at Shore Acres Golf Club near Fenton. About 120 players are expected.

Sam Kocsis, the National Public Links champion, may not enter the state event. Family moving problems, plus his belief that his game is not good enough right now, may prevent him from appearing in the tourney.

Union Foursome 2nd in Golf Tournament

Four golfers representing Local 653 of the UAW-CIO took runner-up team honors last weekend in the 7th annual International UAW-CIO golf tournament at Purdue University in Lafayette, Indiana.

Union foursome, employed by Pontiac Motors, consisted of Wayne Beals, Joe Gaines, Ed Uhler and Rube Weideman. Beals won 2nd place in the field of 390 linksmen with a net score of 143 for 36 holes.

Pontiac team was awarded a trophy for its 2nd-place finish and each member of the squad received an individual trophy in addition to half a dozen golf balls.

Sam Snead's Golf School

The drawing today illustrates the difference in stances for an iron shot and a wood shot.

The player at the left, who is using about a No. 7 iron, has assumed an open stance with his left foot drawn back from the line of intended flight indicated by the arrow. He also plays the ball in about the middle of his stance.

The player at the right is using a wood. He takes a wider and more square stance. He also plays the ball forward of center, more off his left heel. This is correct, since he wants the clubhead to meet the ball just after the clubhead has passed the low point of its arc and started to rise.

Note also that because the club is shorter, the player with the iron stands a little closer to the ball and bends forward more at the waist. He also takes a more upright swing, which is desirable.

August Changes Race Slightly

By The Associated Press

For all the huffin' and puffin' they did during August, the three leading contenders for the American League pennant might just as well have taken a month's rest. It just didn't do 'em no good, no how.

For the past 32 days, Chicago, Cleveland and New York, (all idle yesterday) have been scraping to a standstill. Going into the final 3½ weeks of the season today, they're practically in the same spot they were Aug. 1.

At that time, Chicago led Cleveland and New York by one full game. Today, they still lead both clubs, but by a half-game.

The only difference between them is that the White Sox, catching up in games played, had one more game that the Yankees and Indians and lost it.

For the month, New York was on top 13 days, Chicago 12 and Cleveland 5. The Indians, who also shared the lead for a day with New York, had the biggest August lead, two games. The Yanks led by 1½, Chicago by one.

And with Chicago's Marty Marion and Cleveland's Al Lopez agreeing all the way, Yank Manager Casey Stengel says it's just "too awful even."

"All I know is," says Casey, "that we have 23 more to play and must win 18 to make sure. I realize that's 97 wins, but that's what it will take. I thought before it could be done with 94."

The Yanks were in the best position to get off quick on their way to 97. They opened a home stand this afternoon with the Washington Senators, whom they've beaten 11 times in 16, while the White Sox and Tribe have at it in the first game of a four-game series at Cleveland tonight. The Sox and Indians are 8-8 for the season.

Marion's counting on Connie Johnson, the plum picked from the International League who's won six, lost three, against Cleveland's Sal (0-1) Maglie.

It's just another step along a perilous path for the White Sox, who after sweeping Boston in two, next have a Labor Day doubleheader at Detroit, then play two at Washington before entering Yankee Stadium for a pair.

Washington, unexpectedly stubborn against the White Sox and Cleveland of late, has Maury McDermott, Bob Porterfield and Pete Ramos on tap for the Yanks, who'll counter with Whitey Ford, Don Larsen and Bob Turley.

Billy Martin, on loan from the Army, will be at short for the Yankees.

The only action yesterday was in the National League, where Brooklyn made the most of seven hits to thump Milwaukee 6-3; Cincinnati defeated New York 7-4, and Pittsburgh again edged St. Louis 7-6.

The Brooks got their hits in the third and fifth innings to score their runs. Roy Campanella singled home two and scored another as Brooklyn trimmed the magic number to 10. Any combination of 10 Dodger victories and Milwaukee defeats gives the Brooks the flag.

Joe Nuxhall won his 15th, most by a Cincy hurler since Ewell Backwell won 16 in 1951, while seven-hitting the Giants. He gave up two homers to Dusty Rhodes and one to Al Dark, but drove home two himself while Chuck Harmon batted in four with a home run and a single.

Maglie Selected to Face Chisox

Sal the Barber Opens Four Game Struggle in AL Pennant Fight

CLEVELAND (AP)— A surprise choice, Sal (The Barber) Maglie, hurls tonight for Cleveland as the Indians take on the Chicago White Sox in the opener of a four-game struggle for the American League's first place.

It will be Maglie's first start in Cleveland since his sale by the New York Giants a month ago. The 37-year-old righthander made only one start for the Tribe, a 7-5 loss in Washington.

Facing the Barber will be Connie Johnson, who pitched a 6-0 shutout against the Indians last July 9, in Chicago.

The White Sox, leading both the Indians and the New York Yankees by half a game, will be starting a 19-game tour of the circuit.

Physicist Cautions Against Atom Errors

BRISTOL, England (INS) — One of Britain's most honored scientists has warned that a miscalculation by nuclear physicists might set the world on fire.

Sir Robert Robinson, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science declared in a speech to the group:

"Do we really know enough about nuclear reactions to be sure there is no loophole?"

Other scientists claimed the fears were unfounded.

Nevertheless, the remarks by the famed organic chemist, touched off the biggest storm to date in Britain about the dangers of atomic and hydrogen devices.

Metal for bells is often about 74 to 85 per cent copper and 15 to 26 per cent of various tin alloys.

Auto Companies Report Output

Industry Pattern Set by Ford's Top August Sales Record

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. built 365,173 cars and 49,720 trucks at its U. S. and Canadian factories during August.

* * *

The company reported yesterday the August output brought the total for eight months to 2,934,050 car and 373,419 trucks and coaches.

The Chevrolet January-August volume was 1,274,976 cars and 273,422 trucks.

Ford Motor Co. reported a January-August output this year of 1,741,937 cars and trucks. The Ford Division accounted for 1,179,291 cars and 245,103 trucks.

Chrysler Corp. reported that production of Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler and Imperial passenger cars and Dodge trucks during the first eight months this year total 1,028,928 compared with an output of 519,998 for the same period last year. Plymouth built 535,487 cars during the first eight months this year. Plymouth's January-August output last year was 260,570.

Chrysler estimated its August production this year at 77,653, including 57,820 Plymouths. The total August, 1954 output was 37,527.

L. W. Smead, Ford Division General sales manager, reported August was the greatest sales month for Ford cars and trucks since 1924, reversing an industry pattern of a seasonal decline of sales.

"We sold more than 187,000 cars and trucks during the month which was 40 per cent better than our record for August last year," Smead said. "Furthermore, August was the best Ford sales month for all of 1955, which is positive proof that the automotive market generally in this country continues to be very strong."

GM to Loan Autos to Driving Schools

DETROIT—A plan whereby General Motors will lend financial support to its dealers' program of loaning automobiles to high school driver training classes throughout the nation was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, GM president.

The plan, under which a special allowance of $125 will be made to dealers for every new car loaned by them to schools for driver training classes, is designed to help GM dealers meet the growing need for high school driver training cars.

The plan will go into effect immediately, according to the GM president.

The plan will be administered by the participating GM car divisons—Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick—in cooperation with their dealers.

WXYZ Contests Tax Claim From Government

DETROIT (INS) — A $153,000 federal income tax claim arising out of the sale of the Detroit Radio Company, WXYZ Inc., to the American Broadcasting Co., in 1946 was being fought by the station today.

The government claims that WXYZ realized a long-term net gain of $611,000 on which tax is owing because of the disposition of radio station WOOD, one of two owned by the concern, in 1948.

ABC purchased the entire stock of King - Trendle Broadcasting Corp., owners of WXYZ and WOOD, in 1946 and later changed the name to WXYZ, Inc.

Bus Tokens Don't Fit

NEWARK N.J. (AP)—The Public Services Coordinated Transport Co. is going to use tokens again on its buses throughout New Jersey. It had planned to put into circulation eight million tokens in storage since they were last used in 1930. But now a hitch has developed: the tokens, selling for 11.1 cents each, fit New York subway turnstiles, where the fare is 15 cents. The company hasn't decided what it will do.

TV Offer Allays Dick Haymes' Blues

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — A juicy television offer has brightened the reviving singing career of Dick Haymes and partially dispelled the gloom over his estrangement from wife Rita Hayworth.

Nevertheless, he continued to carry a heavy torch for his flame-haired mate who is in hiding and reportedly emotionally shattered by the collapse of her fourth marriage.

The crooner revealed after his smash show at the Ambassador Hotel's Cocoanut Grove in Hollywood Wednesday night that NBC has given him a fat offer to warble his soulful tunes in six TV shows.

The 37-year-old romantic baritone said he did not know the name of the program involved, but he believed it originated in New York. He said the deal involved six guest shots over a nationwide hookup.

Haymes said he was "very interested in the offer, especially since it is not a regular weekly show." The half-dozen appearances over a one-year period would leave him free for night club engagements and possible movie work.

After dedicating his usual "Come Rain or Come Shine" ballad to Rita at the Grove Show, Haymes came down from his crescendo and said seriously:

"I would like to talk to Rita more than anything in the world. But I don't want to disturb her. I want her to think things out for herself. I feel that she is not being influenced by anyone at this time."

NO INFLUENCES

He had previously charged that their terrific quarrel and separation last week might be due to her being under the influence of persons who also were behind the deportation try against him and who were out to "get" him.

Haymes said he has been in touch with Rita "indirectly." He declined to reveal her whereabouts, but said that she is relaxing in a place where she cannot be hounded by agents, press or attorneys.

Friends of the couple have suggested she might be staying with the family of actor Joseph Cotten or with her brother, dance teacher Vernon Cansino.

Haymes meanwhile is not staying at the Ambassador Hotel, but is commuting each day from their Malibu Beach home for what he called sentimental reasons.

He explained:

"The hotel is too gloomy for me. I'd rather stay at the beach house, where I have my hi-fi and a homey atmosphere. Not only that, but Rita's clothes are there."

Dick is still as optimistic as ever that Rita will come back to him and all will be well again.

He declared:

"We are two people who belong together."

Columnist Finds the Thrill Gone

Fears Many Viewers Are Victims of Social Pressure

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Pause a moment and ask yourself, "Am I tired of The $64,000 Question?" If you find asking the question embarrassing you're probably suffering from something—let's call it sociopressuritis—or, just old-fashioned social pressure.

* * *

This disease, which has not yet been analyzed on Medic, is as prevalent in humans as among sheep. In its most virulent form the human victim not only keeps on doing what everybody else is doing after he has ceased to enjoy it; he suffers embarrassment at questioning his participation in the massive drift of the flock.

* * *

The social pressures of The $64,000 Question have become terrific. It's printed and proclaimed everywhere these days that everybody is tuning to CBS-TV Tuesday evenings to see the program. No other TV show has created so much talk and news. It has spread from newspapers to magazines, inspired a popular song, and caused pundits to dredge it for social significance. It is, in short, at that stage where it appears as critically unassailable as home and mother.

* * *

Well, what fool would attack it? It's a pleasant, suspenseful program in which eager contestants try to win as much as $32,000. Its sponsors are perfectly sincere about offering $64,000, but all contestants thus far have realized they'd make only about $13,000 more after taxes on that last big question—and they've quit while still ahead. Several weeks ago I wrote that nobody ever will go for that $64,000. I still believe it. If one ever does, I shall salaam and recant properly.

* * *

Personally, I'm a little tired of The $64,000 Question. Nothing I can put my finger on. Just slight ennui, such as eventually came with miniature golf and canasta. Perhaps it's a case of emotional exhaustion at watching other people win money. In any event, the program's Golden Age of Mrs. Catherine Kreitzer and Gino Prato is slipping from me and I can't quite recapture the old excitement over whether Marine Capt. Richard McCutchon will go for the $32,000 next Tuesday.

Widow Is Bunco Victim

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Davis, a 78-year-old Detroit widow, was hoodwinked out of $1,000 Wednesday by three women she met in a downtown store. The women told her they had found $7,000 and would include her in the split provided she put up $1,000 in good faith. After Mrs. Davis withdrew the $1,000 from the bank, both her money and "friends" disappeared.

Farmers own about 29 per cent of all the motor trucks in the U. S.

Police Probe Death of Actor Producer, Loeb

NEW YORK (AP)—Police today were investigating the death of actor-producer Philip Loeb, found dead last night from what an assistant medical examiner said was apparently an overdose of sleeping pills.

Loeb, 61, was found in his room at the Hotel Taft in the Times Square area. He had registered Wednesday as Fred Lang of Philadelphia.

Three years ago, after he was named in "Red Channels," an anti-Communist publication listing entertainers allegedly involved in Communist-front organizations, Loeb was dropped from The Goldbergs television show. He was Papa Goldberg. He all but vanished from the public eye after that.

Mrs. Gertrude Berg, producer of the show and its star as Mollie Goldberg said in a statement issued at the time that Loeb "has stated categorically that he is not and never has been a Communist. I believe him. No evidence has been presented to the contrary."

She said, however, she was not able to obtain sponsorship for the show without discontinuing his services.

Actors Equity described Loeb's listing in the publication as "unfair."

Circus Has Its Woe Even With the Rhino

HOLLAND (AP) — Life is no circus for the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros., circus, plagued by misfortunes since its West Michigan tour began last Monday at Allegan.

Yesterday the circus rhinoceros died, reportedly a victim of pneumonia. It was the latest in a series of setbacks.

The show lost a truck and part of its menagerie tent in a fire before reaching Allegan last Monday. A wind and rain storm toppled the "Big Top" Monday night, forcing cancellation of the show.

Earlier yesterday, employe Harold Shelby, 19, was rushed to Holland Hospital after being mauled by a circus bear. Shelby suffered severe arms wounds.

Finally, Holland ordered the circus to haul away the dead rhino's carcass as the show left for South Haven. The township reported it had no means to dispose of the animal's remains.

Thief Finally Realizes That It's Just Too Late

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Two weeks ago John T. O'Reilly, 43, was fined 5 pounds—$14—for stealing a clock from a jewelry store. The judge gave him a week to raise the money.

Two days ago O'Reilly was collared by a clerk who saw him grab the same clock off the shelf and hide it under his coat.

O'Reilly pleaded guilty yesterday to the second theft and got two months in jail after he explained: "I went back for the clock because I wanted to sell it to pay my fine."

Yugoslav-Soviet Pact Slates 3-Year Trade

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Russia is slated to be Yugoslavia's biggest trade partner under a new pact calling for each to sell the other 70 million dollars worth of goods annually over the next three years.

The two nations resumed formal trade relations last year after a six-year break. The agreement signed in Moscow last night more than doubles their present arrangements for an exchange of 32 million dollars in annual exports.

Yugoslavia will furnish Russia with bauxite, lead, tobacco and hemp in return for Soviet coal, oil and cotton. The Soviets also extended large credits and agreed to loan Yugoslavia 30 million dollars in foreign currency or gold.

Shades of the Bible — Good Samaritan Exists

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Walter Moriarty knows where to come the next time he needs help.

Driving home to New York from California, he told the Albuquerque Tribune, he blew out a tire and had no funds with which to buy a new one. An Albuquerque man, known to Moriarty only as a construction worker named Hastings, took the tourist into Albuquerque, paid for tire repairs and then drove Moriarty back to his stalled car and stranded family. Moriarty so far has had no luck finding his benefactor to repay him.

Next 'Big Four' Meeting Crucial

Dulles' Sister Says Talk Outcome Will Tell Real Intent of Communists

BOSTON (INS)—The sister of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the forthcoming Big Four foreign ministers meeting will show whether the world is going backward into darkness or forward to "genuine progress."

* * *

Mrs. Eleanor Dulles, a long-time career officer in the State Department, declared the world is now "between two historic meetings in Geneva."

The recent Big Four summit conference, she said, "seemed to hold some hope of better days for those who have endured through troubled times."

The coming Foreign Ministers Conference on Oct. 27, she continued, "is designed to give practical fulfillment to that hope."

Mrs. Dulles, who resumed her maiden name after the death of her husband several years ago, addressed the ladies auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

THE OUTCOME . . .

She said of the October sessions in Geneva: "The outcome . . . will indicate whether we must face a return to dark days and increased tension—or whether there will be some genuine progress toward limitation of armament, toward ending the division of Germany and toward ending political and ideological subversion."

She warned that the free world must wait until after the foreign ministers conference to find out whether the so-called Geneva spirit is genuine or not. This statement echoed President Eisenhower and her brother who, in recent days, have warned that the summit conference and the apparent "New Look" does not constitute an end in itself but only means to an end of tension.

The secretary's sister has been in the State Department many years and is at present special assistant to the chief of the office of German affairs.

Mrs. Dulles said "there is always a danger in this country and elsewhere that those who have given already of their funds, their strength and their years will wish to turn to easy preoccupations of their personal lives."

* * *

But she warned that there is still difficult work ahead if the goal of peace is to be secured.

Wifey Calls for Angel but the Bishop Replies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The husband of a local woman had just left the house. His wife was washing the breakfast dishes when the doorbell rang.

She thought her husband had forgotten something and was returning for it.

"That you angel?" she called.

"No indeed," answered a pleasant voice, "but I'm from the same department."

The visitor was Episcopal Bishop Clinton S. Quinn.
