Waits on Raft Near Capsule

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter successfully orbited the earth three times today and after a harrowing 35 minutes when it was not known whether he had survived the re-entry — was sighted sitting in a life raft in the Atlantic Ocean.

A Navy P2V Neptune bomber flashed the word that Carpenter apparently was all right after spotting him in the raft some 135 miles northeast of Puerto Rico.

Floating nearby was the Aurora 7 spacecraft which had carried him three times around the globe in 4 hours and 56 minutes at 17,532 miles an hour.

The capsule overshot its intended landing area by 200 miles and Carpenter apparently decided to leave it and wait out recovery in the one-man inflatable life raft which he carried aboard the capsule.

The Neptune reported it was circling the raft and said that Carpenter was "sitting upward." There was no immediate report on his condition, but the plane said he appeared to be okay.

When the Navy plane first reported sighting the 37-year-old Navy lieutenant commander in the sea, an obviously relieved and happy Lt. Col. John A. Powers, Mercury spokesman, reported to newsmen:

"A Navy P2V Neptune has reported sighting the spacecraft floating in the landing area. Alongside it was a life raft, and sitting in it was a gentleman named Carpenter."

Two paramedics leaped from an air rescue plane about 1:45 p.m. They were equipped with a large life raft and a flotation collar to attach to the capsule to help keep it afloat.

Meanwhile, two twin jet helicopters were dispatched from the aircraft carrier Intrepid, which was stationed in the intended drop zone 200 miles away.

★ ★ ★

The Virgin Islands Coast Guard said Carpenter had no apparent problems.

"He waved as the plane passed over," the Coast Guard said.

SEAPLANE EN ROUTE

An SA15 seaplane was en route and planned to land and perhaps take Carpenter aboard. The paramedics were reported assisting Carpenter in the water.

Communications between the cape and the plane were none too good, however, and Mercury control was getting only fragmentary reports.

Rapid fuel consumption in his Aurora 7 spaceship caused great concern during his second orbit. But after careful consultation with the pilot, the Mercury control center reported:

★ ★ ★

"We see no reason why he shouldn't continue into the third orbit; but we emphasize that he limit his automatic fuel consumption."

★ ★ ★

More Pictures, Story on Page 17

If a decision had been made to bring him down after two orbits, his reverse rockets would have been fired over Point Arguello and he would have descended gradually over the United States to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean 500 miles south of Bermuda.

Officials detected fast consumption of the fuel shortly after the second orbit began and told Carpenter to begin using his manual control system at that time to conserve the valuable hydrogen peroxide.

This is used to control the attitude of the craft.

This would be particularly dangerous during re-entry if atmospheric pressures and stresses caused the capsule to start tumbling.

There might be danger that the heat shield would not be in a forward position to protect the craft from the 3,000-degree re-entry heat, and it would burn up, killing the astronaut.

Apparently he did not hear

GOOD LUCK WISH FROM GLENN — Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter gets a farewell handshake from John Glenn, the man who preceded him into orbit around the earth. They parted company on the 11th deck of the gantry surrounding the Aurora 7 and its Atlas booster early today as Carpenter prepared to enter his capsule.

Pontiac Sales Top '61 Model

Retail deliveries of 1962 models since they first went on sale last September total 350,851, about 5,000 more than the 1961 model year total, said Frank W. Bridge, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

During the second 10-day sales period in May, a total of 14,817 new Pontiacs and Tempests were delivered to customers.

This represents a 52 per cent increase over the same period a year ago, Bridge said. This year's figure represents deliveries of 10,823 Pontiacs and 3,994 Tempests.

TREND CONTINUED

Last year's total for the period was 9,732.

The record-breaking trend continued throughout the auto industry with Chevrolet, Ford and Rambler all setting records for the second 10-day period of May.

Ford said its car-selling rate in the second 10-day period of May was the highest for any midmonth period since last November.

Rambler reported sales for the first 20 days of May up 18.5 per cent over the 20,260 sold in the comparable period of 1961. Sales of 24,010 in the first 10 days of May set a record for Rambler.

Chevrolet said car sales during the second 10 days of May were 20 per cent higher than the previous record for the period, 56,808 cars set in 1960.

Ford said car sales for the second 10 days of May totaled 41,300, equal to a daily rate of 5,170. This was 160 cars a day—15 per cent—faster than Ford sold cars in the same period of 1961.

FBI Arrests Topp on Chicago Street

Sheldry W. Topp, arrested yesterday by FBI agents in Chicago, will be returned to Pontiac within three days to face a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of Oakland County's chief assistant corporation counsel.

Topp, 17-year-old Pontiac State Hospital escapee, was scheduled to be arraigned today before the U.S. commissioner in Chicago on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the murder.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons said he would send detectives to pick up Topp today, tomorrow or whenever federal authorities are ready to transfer the youth. The commissioner's office in Chicago indicated it may take three days to process the case there.

Irons said he received information yesterday afternoon that Topp was in Chicago. The sheriff said he notified the FBI office here and the information was relayed to Chicago. Irons said he could not reveal the source of his information.

DIDN'T RESIST

The five-day search for Topp ended about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when agents spotted Topp walking along a street on Chicago's North Side. He was unarmed and put up no resistance, agents reported.

Ironically, Topp was residing in Chicago under the assumed name of Chester Davis. The initials and last name of Topp's alias were the same as those of the man he is accused of killing — Charles A. Davis.

Davis, 50, was found dead before noon last Thursday in his isolated Pontiac Township home at 2665 South Blvd. He had been stabbed four times and struck over the head with a flashlight in the early morning hours of the previous day.

Sheriff's detectives later discovered Topp had escaped from the Pontiac hospital hours before the murder. Topp's fingerprints were found in the kitchen of the victim's home and on Davis' car.

The car was found abandoned following a hit run accident last Thursday morning in Milwaukee, Wis. The search for the missing youth centered in Milwaukee until he was found yesterday.

Report on Estes Is Kept Secret

Texas Attorney General Claims Freeman Won't Inform Grand Jury

From Our News Wires

FRANKLIN, Tex.—Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson announced today that Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman refused to provide a grand jury with a full report on an investigation of Billie Sol Estes that Henry A. Marshall made before he mysteriously died last June.

The death of Marshall, 52, the first agriculture official to investigate Estes, is officially recorded as suicide. But the grand jury is investigating to determine whether the cause of death actually was murder.

A pathologist who performed an autopsy on the exhumed body of Marshall Tuesday said he thinks Marshall was a murder victim.

Marshall suspected there was something illegal about the way Estes, the indicted West Texas farm tycoon, got supplementary cotton acreage allotments for his farms and investigated.

1,000 QUIZZED

In Washington, Senate investigators disclosed their agents have questioned more than 1,000 persons in the Estes case.

And, said the informant, many, many more will be questioned before the Senate Investigations subcommittee is ready to start its hearing into whether Washington influence helped Estes build his rickety business empire.

The report came after President Kennedy related at a news con-

PRAYS FOR CARPENTER — Mrs. Raymond Pennington of Melbourne, Fla., says a prayer as she watches the start of orbital flight of austronaut M. Scott Carpenter at Cape Canaveral, Fla., today. A Miami News photographer caught the expression on a beach near the launch site.

Scott Breezes Through His Preflight Routine

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, a stand-in whom fate made a star, stepped onto the floodlit stage of America's newest space spectacular at 3:42 a.m. Eastern Standard Time today.

His predawn entrance, from the doorway of Hangar S where he had been preparing for weeks, was witnessed by a small knot of newsmen, technicians and security officers.

Carpenter, 37, a Navy lieutenant commander, smiled through the open face plate of his helmet as he walked briskly past about 50 spectators who watched him silently.

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, the spokesman for the astronauts, said that flight surgeons found Carpenter in "excellent physical condition and felt his attitude was perfect for the flight."

For his own part, Powers said Carpenter seemed very self confident, very optimistic, and that the astronaut looked very, very good.

Carpenter was tapped for this second orbital expedition only after Air Force Maj. Donald K. Slayton was disqualified last March because of a minor heart condition.

Today, Slayton was in Muchea, Australia, helping man a key station on the worldwide network set to track Carpenter on each 90-minute orbit.

★ ★ ★

Disappearing inside the van, Carpenter rode the four miles to the launch pad where helmeted technicians had been swarming for hours about the tall, silver Atlas rocket and the squat, black spacecraft atop it.

The whole graphic scene was bathed in millions of candlepower of white light hurled by four dozen mighty searchlights surrounding the pad.

Early birds among the thousands camped out on the beaches flanking the Cape could see the rocket and its tower standing stark against the night sky.

CHECKED AGAIN

Four delays had stood between Carpenter and this moment when he at last reached the pad—delays caused by a variety of technical bugs which Project Mercury officials now said were all ironed out.

Before starting down the stairs from the second deck of Hangar S, Carpenter had undergone a final physicht examination, just in case he might have contracted some last-minute infection or ailment.

Dr. Howard A. Minners, an Air Force captain taking over as flight surgeon for the astronauts, checked Carpenter's eyes, ears, nose and throat and attached to Carpenter's body sensor devices whose job is to tell other doctors on earth how Carpenter's heart, blood pressure and respiration stand up during his nearly five hour flight.

Winding up the predeparture ritual, Carpenter donned his 20-pound space suit and white helmet, checked it for pressure leaks, and picked up a portable air conditioner.

Then he was ready to go.

The astronaut's day went this way (Pontiac Time) 1:15 a.m.—Awakened by Dr. Minner in his aqua-walled quarters.

All Americans Thrilled at Successful Launching

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

All America rejoiced at the successful Cape Canaveral launching of Carpenter's space capsule, the Aurora 7, but probably no one was happier than the astronaut's brave wife, first of the spacemen's wives to watch the blast-off at close range.

Friends said Mrs. Carpenter was "in orbit herself—probably the happiest woman alive today."

Television and radio kept Americans informed of the progress of Carpenter's three-orbit journey around the earth. Many newspapers rushed out first editions with large headlines. Subway riders deep beneath New York streets were posted with up-to-the-minute announcements on the public address system.

Americans were jubilant but many said they felt Col. John Glenn's flight Feb. 20 was more exciting.

"People are taking this more like an ordinary every-day happening," said Dallas insurance salesman James Kays.

Carpenter's mother, Mrs. Florence Carpenter, and three friends watched television coverage of the historic event on a set in her compact trailer in a Boulder, Colo., trailer camp. She was described as "elated — you bet!"

Carpenter's chemist father, Dr. Marion Scott Carpenter stuck close to his television set at his rustic home in Palmer Lake, Colo. He admitted he was nervous but said he tried not show it.

"It's fantastic, unbelievable," he said.

Committee Acts on Equalization

Oakland Group Going to Lansing; Hope to Get High Figures Changed

The equalization committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors will go to Lansing Monday to learn what the county's equalized valuation for tax purposes will be this year.

At odds with the State Tax Commission over what the valuation should be, the committee met with two commission members yesterday in Detroit in an effort to solve their differences.

After field appraisals were conducted by local tax assessors here, the committee recommended a county equalized valuation of $2,118,408,200. The recommendation was approved by the Board of Supervisors.

However, the State Tax Commission set the value here at $2,140,808,200, which would broaden the tax base by $37.5 million.

Reason for the difference, according to county equalization director, William Grabendike, is that the committee took an economic factor into consideration and the tax commission didn't.

"We allowed for a 10 per cent drop in market values on property here," Grabendike said.

The subsequent drop in valuations, as reflected in the committee's recommendation, would result in lower taxes here, Grabendike stated.

At yesterday's meeting tax commission chairman, Robert Eckhardt, said the commission failed to consider the economic factor here for the sake of uniformity throughout the state. No economic factor was recognized in the other counties of the state, he told the committee.

Eckhardt said the commission would weigh the possibilities of changing the county's equalized valuation and reach a decision Monday before making its recommendation to the State Board of Equalization.

The equalization board sets the final equalized valuations for counties throughout the state each year. The three members of the tax commission also sit on the five-member equalization board.

Scientists Go 15,744 Feet Down Off Japan Coast

ONAGAWA, Japan (AP) — The French navy's bathyscaphe "Archimede" descended to a depth of 15,744 feet Tuesday in the Pacific Ocean off Japan's Honshu Island, a record plunge in those virtually unexplored depths.

The dive was the first in a series by a French-Japanese exploration team in the Japan Deep, or trench, where depths of more than 34,000 feet have been recorded in soundings.

About midnight, Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra, Carpenter's backup pilot, had gone to the launch pad and got into the capsule to help in the final checkout of its systems.

2 a.m.—Carpenter underwent the final physical checkup.

2:40 — The biological sensors were attached to various places on Carpenter's body.

3:40—Carpenter put on his space suit, with the aid of a technician, and checked it over for possible pressure leaks.

"Welcome to Complex 14, launch site of free world's first ICBM, free world's first man-in-orbit," it said.

'WELCOME ABOARD'

There was a patter of applause from about 100 pad workers as Carpenter came down the four steps from the transfer van.

He paused to shake hands with two men who reached out to him.

One of these was a veteran of many missile launchings, B. G. MacNabb, the NASA space manager. MacNabb told reporters later that he said to Carpenter, "Welcome aboard, commander. The crew on 14 wishes you a successful flight and a happy landing."

He said Carpenter made no reply.

4:41—Carpenter entered the capsule.

5:27—The hatch cover was applied and technicians began bolting it on.

6:35—Project Mercury ground control center announced: "As of this time all elements are go."

Powers said Carpenter "most certainly is go."

The NASA spokesman reaffirmed that the effort will be made to send Carpenter on a full three-orbit mission.

If for any reason the mission should have to be cut to one orbit, he said, this single circuit around the earth would represent an important contribution to U.S. space research efforts.

Patiently, Carpenter waited out several holds that pushed the blast-off time 45 minutes beyond the target hour. The holds were necessary because of a haze enveloping the rocket base.

Then, at 7:45 EST., the rocket lifted him heavenward and he was off on his cosmic venture.

Deadline Nears to Seek Post of Precinct Delegate

Candidates for precinct delegate posts in Oakland County must file nominating petitions in the office of Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy by 4 p. m. Tuesday to be eligible for the Aug. 7 primary election.

To qualify for election, each candidate must be a registered voter in the precinct in which he lives. A petition should bear the signatures of 20 registered voters of the same precinct.

An affivadit signed by the candidate is also required with the petition.

Nominating petitions and affidavits are available at Murphy's office in the Courthouse Tower, 1200 N. Telegraph Road. They may be submitted by mail if notarized.

Area Service Clubs Hear State Challenge

Amid a week set aside for praising Michigan, a Milford executive has challenged Michigan.

* * *

Produce an environment to attract the "truly creative mind," Herbert D. (Ted) Doan urged in Birmingham yesterday, and change the opinion of the intellectual who "regards Michigan as part of a cultural desert."

Doan, executive vice president of Dow Chemical Co., told a Michigan Week gathering of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills service club members that "many of the highly trained, creative scientific minds in this country view the Midwest as a cultural desert."

"The work goes where the creative mind wants to go," he said as he asked business leaders to help make Michigan a place where these creative minds will want to "go."

* * *

Doan said an environment attractive to intellectuals is based on colleges and universities. He called on Michigan to give greater attention to higher education and strengthen cultural resources.

"Culture," he said, "will thrive only in the academic atmosphere or where the intellectual is respected and emulated."

Doan pointed out that "Michigan is not barren" in higher education and culture but he said the state must keep stepping forward.

"The next step is to see what we can do to foster the development of that atmosphere of the academic and cultural development," he said. "More difficult will be the next step . . . that of developing a living cultural pattern that is free of the artificial."

FOR SERVICE GROUPS

Doan's address was the feature of a Livelihood Day luncheon meeting at the Birmingham Community House. Members of 11 different community service groups were on hand.

Before issuing his challenge, Doan emphasized Michigan's strong points — good soil, abundant rainfall, a large work force, raw materials and four seasons, among other factors.

The creative person the state should try to attract, he said, is the individual who "leads into new ground . . . who sparks off ideas . . . who opens new paths.

* * *

Doan said the trend in today's industry is to apply more brains per pound of product.

* * *

"We dare not miss (this trend)," he said, "if we want to see Michigan continue to advance."

Carpenter Safe After Three Orbits

the original order, which came from the Canary Island tracking station, and it had to be repeated by two posts in Australia, Muchea and Woomera.

ENOUGH FOR 3

He reported there was enough to complete a three orbit mission and the order was given to proceed.

As he passed over Point Arguello, Carpenter told astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. who is stationed there, that he again noted "snowflakes."

He first reported seeing them in small numbers on the first orbit at about the same relative time — during sunrise.

* * *

"There are more of those white particles," Carpenter told Shepard. "They appear to be traveling exactly my speed. There's one drifting off and it appears to be going even faster.

"They look exactly like snowflakes to me."

Carpenter said he also had been getting a little warm and drank some water over Canton Island in the Pacific. He said it tasted "very good."

As he passed over Cape Canaveral just before entering the third orbit, he attempted to jettison a balloon which he had towed behind the capsule for one whole orbit.

However, he reported the jettison switch failed to operate and he was unable to release the 30-inch

Ground technicians assured him that the tension of the balloon would in no way affect the mission and that it would burn up on re-entry into the earth's atmosphere after the third orbit.

The balloon surface is divided into five equal sections of different colors. The idea is to enable Carpenter to determine which color man can best perceive in space.

FOR FUTURE FLIGHTS

The experiment could help decide what color to paint future space vehicles which man may have to approach and rendezvous with in space.

Performing as if he were right at home in the strange world of weightlessness, Carpenter told Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom on the ground at Cape Canaveral that everything was fine and he was in excellent condition as he sailed overhead at the end of two orbits.

Carpenter had ended his first orbit at 9:10 a.m. (Pontiac time), flashing over Cape Canaveral 99 miles high.

The hydrogen peroxide is squirted out in jet form from small holes around the surface of the capsule. If the capsule shifts off its planned attitude for some reason, jets fire to push it back on the proper attitude (its angle of relation to the horizon).

* * *

The astronaut can control the roll, pitch and yaw of his capsule by using his manual control stick to trigger these jet streams.

As he entered the second orbit, Carpenter was told to assume more manual control of Aurora 7 to conserve the fuel, which is used up more rapidly when the automatic system is operating. By taking manual control, Carpenter could hold a steadier course and thus eliminate some need for firing the jets.

But this would limit the time he had available to perform some of his assigned tasks, just as it did on Glenn's flight Feb. 20.

Glenn had to assume manual control for most of his last two orbits when two of the small jet openings became clogged and upset the yaw control axis in the automatic control system. (Yaw is a side to side movement.)

* * *

As the capsule passed over the Muchea and Woomera tracking posts in Australia on its second orbit, there had been no indication from the Mercury control center that any thought was being given to terminating the flight early.

MOVED HEAD, ARMS

Carpenter reported that he was able to change the attitude of his spacecraft slightly merely by moving his head and arms vigorously. He again reported seeing the lights of a western Australian city, presumably Perth, just as he did on the first orbit.

As he swung into the second orbit, Carpenter released a balloon and plastic confetti from his capsule.

Titan Destroyed as Silo Explodes

24 Treated for Smoke Inhalation, No Deaths Are Reported

CHICO, Calif. (AP)—A Titan missile was destroyed in a blast today as its silo exploded at the missile complex near Chico.

* * *

Twenty-four men were treated at Chico hospital for smoke inhalation, the Air Force announced. Six were kept at the hospital for observation but 18 were released to return to work.

* * *

There were no fatalities.

The other two missiles and silos in the complex escaped damage, as did the control center, the announcement stated.

DURING TEST

The explosion occurred as contractors were running a test before turning the base over to the Air Force.

* * *

The Air Force spokesman declined to say what caused the blast or to comment on whether it resulted while test fueling of the Titan missile was under way.

* * *

The blast at 7:10 a.m. was felt in Chico, eight miles south of the nearly completed Titan base. The missile installation has not yet been placed in operation.

MSU Students Cheer and Jeer

Both Applaud, Heckle Red and Anti-Red Who Speak Off Campus

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University students demanded both sides of the story as they listened to a lecture on communism here last night.

But the students — in a playful mood — heckled both the Communist and the anti-Communist who addressed a Bermuda-short clad crowd of more than 1,000 in the back yard of the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity house, a short distance from the MSU campus.

They alternately applauded and jeered Robert G. Thompson, a former official of the American Communist party, invited to Michigan State by the Young Socialist Club.

The students, who grew progressively more vocal, restless and hostile toward the end of Thompson's hour-long talk, demanded to hear from Dr. Michael Erdie, an assistant professor of electrical engineering and a former university professor from Hungary.

Erdei — who was Thompson's chief heckler — often had difficulty speaking above the applause, jeers and wise-cracks of the students. He escaped from Hungary a few months after the 1956 revolt, he said.

They quieted down only for Joseph Molitorisz, another Hungarian refugee and an MSU instructor in agricultural economics. The soft-spoken instructor told students he was reared under Nazism, educated under communism and became an American citizen May 1.

It was the so-called new class—those educated under communism—who played a large role in the uprising, he said.

Young Socialists were forced to find an off-campus location for the talk when the university board of trustees ruled that Communists would not be allowed to speak at the university.

Sigma Delta Phi, over the protests of a local alumni group, offered the use of the yard behind the fraternity house, a few blocks away.

County Drowning Toll Already Two in 1962

Sparing temperatures have already started thousands of Oakland County residents toward the waters which make our county such a great place to live.

All too often, some of those who go in don't come out. At least, not alive.

Somehow, even the weakest swimmer thinks he can paddle from the rowboat to the raft or shore—it's only a few feet.

He becomes another statistic. The coroner's report could list "overconfidence" as the cause of death just as correctly as "drowning."

Rules saying "Never swim alone" and "Don't dive into water until you know the depth" are for the other guy. As for not swimming right after a big meal, why that's just an old wives' tale.

And the drowning toll moves up another notch.

Reform Should Help U.S. Businessmen

About the first bit of concrete evidence that the KENNEDY Administration would offer a helping hand to business came recently at Hot Springs, Va., in a statement by Treasury Undersecretary HENRY H. FOWLER.

Ever since the oft-quoted remark by the President, the ruffled-feathered businessmen have quietly wondered just what was in store for them.

Speaking before the Business Council meeting Secretary FOWLER reported that finally he was in a position to say that a major revision of tax depreciation writeoff was nearly completed.

This has been discussed since the President's State of the Union message in January. Now, according to Fowler, it will become a reality. He promised that the new regulations would go into effect in late June or early July.

What the new writeoff rules will do is shorten radically the time in which companies can write off costs of new machinery and equipment. This reform is one most U.S. businessmen have been asking for.

The net effect should be the same as in France, West Germany and other countries where it sharply stimulated buying new equipment. By getting rid of the old machinery, productivity should be increased along with efficiency and the ability to compete in the Common Market.

If Secretary Fowler's remarks are true, it will be a much needed shot in the arm for business.

Senior Baseball Player Still Going Full-Force

Not all our citizens in their golden years are of the rocking chair variety. We are thinking of one "senior citizen" of baseball, who is 41 and just broke HONUS WAGNER'S National League record of 3,430 hits.

Naturally, it's Stan the Man Musial, and we hasten to congratulate him for first tying, and then going ahead in this department.

Don't think for a minute that this "old" athlete does not set up the teen-agers when he enters a room. We saw him this past winter in Clearwater, Fla., and he was bombarded for autographs.

He still has plenty of fight and remarked after breaking the record, that he was tickled, but only wished his St. Louis Cardinals had won the game with San Francisco.

Some of our modern day baseball greats might tip their hats to this old-time hero still going strong. We'll hazard a guess that not many players in today's lineups will surpass or come close to his record.

Air Policy to Shift

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Major changes in United States government policy for the regulation of international air transport are now considered inevitable.

No decisions have been made, but the issue will come to a head in the late summer or early fall. Then it will be up to President Kennedy to set new policies and, if necessary, ask Congress for new legislation next year.

Civil aeronautics board Chairman Alan S. Boyd is firmly set against having the government operate the international air carriers, as many foreign governments do. The American government's role, he believes, is to set guides so that airlines can operate in the public service.

He points out that there are now two principal considerations. One is the "chosen instrument" issue, under which there would be one carrier operating abroad under exclusive rights. The other is to keep any chosen instrument out of domestic operations on its own, so that it can draw connecting traffic from all domestic airlines.

Boyd has an interesting idea now for the creation of "regional chosen instruments." He believes that no one company should be given a monopoly of all foreign routes. But one company might be given rights to serve one area or one route to an area, on an exclusive basis.

KEEP CIRCLE ROUTE

In the Pacific, for instance, Northwest might keep its great circle route to the Orient via Alaska, while Pan American retained the route via Hawaii.

In the Atlantic, one company might get a northern route to Europe, another the southern. This is, in effect, what the recent CAB order instituting investigation of a staff report recommends.

Pan Am would get exclusive rights to Shannon, London and Frankfurt. TWA would get exclusive rights to Paris, Rome and Lisbon. TWA service would terminate at Cairo, Pan Am retaining round-the-world service.

Pan Am and TWA are now operating under temporary renewal of certificates that expired in 1959. For a CAB examiner to hold hearings on this case, make his report which would then go to the board for decision — subject to the President's approval—will take a year. The case is bound to be bitterly contested, for there is much business at stake.

In the meantime, the Administration has under way a major study of its own on international air transport policy.

There was a preliminary report on this subject drawn up last year and published under the title of "Project Horizon." About all it did, however, was point up the need for a more thorough study.

URGED BY CAB

This finally came into being on the urging of CAB Chairman Boyd last fall. An interagency steering committee chaired by Federal Aviation Agency Administrator N. E. Hallaby was set up. It includes representatives of State, Defense and Commerce departments, CAB, FAA and AID, the foreign aid agency.

Operating through the Bureau of the Budget a contract for the survey, to cost not over $300,000, was let last October to Robert R. Nathan Associates and Systems Analysis Research Corp., whose two top executives, Nat S. Simat and Sam I. Alcock, formerly worked with CAB. Franz B. Wolf, a former German economist, is project director.

A preliminary report is due in July, final report in August.

But a lot of things can happen in the commercial air transport industry before this report is in.

The problem of the government will then be to approve any deals that may be made by the airlines. The final buck will be passed to the President who, under present law, has the last word on the allocation of foreign air routes.

David Lawrence Asks:

Why No Free TV Time for AMA?

WASHINGTON — The American people want fair play—they like to get both sides of controversial questions.

LAWRENCE

Did the television people make a mistake when the three principal networks — after giving free time to a speech by President Kennedy in which he attacked the American Medical Association's position on "medical care for the aged"—refused to let the people hear the other side unless the AMA paid for it?

One large station in Boston even declined to broadcast the American Medical Association's reply to the President, although payment was offered through the network for the use of the station's facilities.

★ ★ ★

The explanation given was that the station doesn't sell time to organizations for the discussion of controversial subjects. The President's speech from Madison Square Garden, however, not only was controversial but it attacked the American Medical Association specifically.

Hence, the right of reply was ignored by a station which is heard by a large segment of the population in the President's home state of Massachusetts.

Shouldn't all the networks have made some provision for free time so that the American Medical Association could make its rebuttal of the President's charge that it was misinforming the public?

IS IT FAIR PLAY?

This question goes to the heart of the issue of fair play over the country's communications systems.

For, while the government should not in any way influence the decisions of the television companies, the public will begin to believe that fear of losing their licenses motivates the broadcasters when they all join in giving a President full time without charge and refuse to give similar facilities to the organizations which he attacks.

The television stations have every right to broadcast what they please—even a one-sided presentation. There is no law which compels any branch of the press to present anything that the editor or director of a station or a publication may choose to reject.

Government control or influence over broadcasting media or the newspapers is a violation of the principles of a free press under the Constitution.

So the responsibility for the presentation of the "other side" rests on the broadcasting stations or the newspapers, as the case may be. Public opinion is the only available form of protest against a refusal to give "both sides."

The American Medical Association was lambasted by the President of the United States over three networks embracing a big percentage of their 425 stations.

CONGRESSMAN'S THREAT

When the request for equal time was refused, the American Medical Association spent from $75,000 to $100,000 to get time for its own speaker, Dr. Edward R. Annis, on one network of about 190 stations.

But even this privilege of reply would be restricted if some members of Congress had their way.

One of them already threatens to introduce a bill prohibiting the American Medical Association from using for "congressional lobbying" the dues collected from doctors who are members of the organization.

This is a move in the wrong direction. For someday a tough-minded Congress might decide to prohibit labor unions from using their dues in certain political campaigns and also to prevent officers of labor unions from making speeches in political campaigns or from conducting mail campaigns on public issues.

Every President of the United States has a tactical advantage over his political adversaries because the radio and television networks, as well as the printed media, give him space for almost every pronouncement he makes to the public.

Yet during political campaigns there is a tendency to draw a line and require that political broadcasts be paid for.

The law covering broadcasts of a political nature requires that "equal time" be given to opposing candidates. But who is the opponent of a President?

He isn't running for Congress this year. Yet he is in a position to help elect a party majority. The opposition gets a chance only now and then to express itself.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Do Drop That Cigarette, Try Wheat Cud Instead

"I am a woman, 28 years old, of good health, but about 10 pounds overweight, according to charts. I'm of an extremely nervous type, and I smoke like an idiot. Have been having odd symptoms lately, which occur only when I smoke. After a good breakfast, I smoke a cigarette while drinking my coffee. Immediately afterwards, I become very dizzy, light-headed and nauseated (well, now, not necessarily), and the spell lasts 4 or 5 minutes.

BRADY

"This occurs quite frequently during the rest of the day too. I smoke a pack a day. I have been under the care of an excellent heart physician, having had rheumatic fever three years ago. Several times, I have told him I smoked heavily, but he has never said anything about it. If I can find out why this happens to me, it might help to make up my mind to give up smoking." (A. F.)

Mixing cigarette with coffee or with food is indeed nauseating.

The symptoms you describe do seem like those of C-O anoxia (deprivation of oxygen by accumulation of carbon monoxide in the blood), and C-O anoxia is commonly produced by cigarette smoking.

Your physician will tell you if he believes smoking is the cause of your symptoms.

Two things I suggest may make you break the cigarette habit or at least moderate your smoking. First, practice the belly breathing exercise four times a day. Send me a stamped envelope bearing your address, for the free pamphlet, "Belly Breathing."

Second, chew wheat at least twice a day instead of lighting a cigarette. Get a pound or a peck of plain wheat, as it comes from the thresher. Put some in a sieve or colander or strainer to wash it by letting cool or tepid water run through it.

Dry it and put a small quantity in a box you can carry in pocket or bag. At least twice a day take a chew of wheat. Keep chewing on it, if you still have teeth, until it becomes gum. Later swallow the gum or not, as you please.

It is the carbon monoxide produced by smoking, not the nicotine in tobacco, that causes the ill effects of smoking. There is more carbon monoxide in cigarette smoke than in cigar smoke and very little, if any, in pipe smoke.

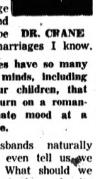
Case Records of a Psychologist:

Face Reality of Married Life

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-422: Martha K., aged 37, is a typical housewife.

"Dr. Crane," she asked during a forum discussion at a University Women's Club meeting, "I agree with you about a wife's lack of ardor.



DR. CRANE

"And I am also guilty, I'm sure, of sins of omission. For my husband is much more interested in the physical side of marriage than I am, and this seems to be true of most marriages I know.

"But we wives have so many things on our minds, including the care of our children, that we just can't turn on a romantic or passionate mood at a moment's notice.

"So our husbands naturally grow irate and even tell us we are frigid, etc. What should we do to retain their love, despite our more limited hunger for what you call 'erotic calories'?"

Most divorces start in the bedroom.

And usually because of a wife's sins of omission, for the typical American wife, if she has children and is harrassed with many household duties, is much like Martha.

She is neither passionate, as per the male standard, nor even greatly interested in feigning ardor.

So she offends her mate on many occasions, for he senses her indifference. She's even a poor actress in their boudoir.

Then he may grow irate and call her frigid, or become jealous and accuse her of outside affairs. Or he may often become a hypochondriac, secretly worrying lest he be deficient in his anatomy.

Other husbands may decide to run around and supplement their limited domestic eroticism with clandestine affairs.

Those immoral women who indulge in affairs, have learned the value of acting ardent and enthusiastic, if for no other reason than to keep the male patronage or gifts coming their way.

This is obviously frank advice for you good wives in America, but when you realize the divorce rate runs 25 per cent and another 25 per cent are unhappily married, though still living together because of religious scruples or devotion to the children, then you can appreciate the great need for frank advice.

BLAME GOD

Don't grow irate at me or indulge in a vicious letter-writing campaign to your editor to cancel this column.

For it wasn't Dr. Crane but God almighty who created men to have a much greater erotic hunger than their wives do.

All I have done is explain these medico-psychological facts so you good wives can insure your home against the 50 - 50 chance of unhappiness.

"The truth shall make you free," stated Jesus, and I'm telling you some truths that may make you angry but anger doesn't solve your dilemma.

So feign ardor on those extra occasions, just to placate your husband's sex ego, even though you are not naturally hungry.

Also, try to have a minimum of one date per week, during which you revive your courtship emotions by going through the courtship motions.

On the other nights in the week, try to match your mate's interest. Imagine how it affronts his sex ego to have you snore, meanwhile.

You wives spend far too much time on kitchen recipes and

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Mr. Kennedy has increased federal spending $11 billion above the $81.5 billion budget for the fiscal year. The House of Kennedy is a great reformer—of other people.

Con-Con Fails to Solve Money Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a series dealing with the proposed new Michigan constitution as compared to the 1908 constitution under which the state now lives, the 1850 document and other Michigan basic laws.)

By A. D. UNDERWOOD

LANSING (UPI)—If the decision to hold the 1961-62 constitutional convention in Michigan could be traced to one thing, it would certainly be the state's money troubles.

The greatest responsibility government has is to provide for the needs of its people those services the people desire and will pay for.

To provide for these services the state exercises the greatest power it has, the power of taxation.

Using these two facts as reference points tax experts have argued that constitutional language in the area of finance should be flexible enough to provide adequate revenue during changing times.

The area of finance and taxation has been Michigan's greatest field of trouble since shortly after World War II.

Even before that, however, there were strong indications that the constitutional tools provided for financing state government were not suited for the job.

Of the 69 amendments to the 1908 constitution, more than 20 per cent were in the area of finance and taxation.

MORE OF SAME

Prospects under the proposed constitution would seem to call for more of the same since, in the end, material changes in the old language were few and far from basic.

While fiscal reformers throughout the state, including Citizens for Michigan, which was a prime mover in the convention call, reluctantly agreed that a state income tax was the probable final solution to the increased demand for tax money, the convention half turned its back on the idea.

Instead of leaving the income tax question out of the constitution, as the reformers advocated, to leave the matter in the hands of the legislature as at present, a flat prohibition against a graduated tax was approved.

The door was left open for a flat-rate tax but the prohibition probably will provide antiincome tax groups with enough ammunition to kill even this for many years.

At one point the convention discarded the 15-mill limitation on the property tax but the uproar from conservatives resulted in its reinstatement in only slightly modified form.

At another point earmarking of some taxes, particularly for education, was dropped. Again the howls of anguish forced reconsideration and a reversal of the act.

LIMITATION JUNKED

In one area a "reform" of the state's tax structure stuck. A limitation on state borrowing to $250,000 which had blocked acquisition of needed funds for a number of years was junked.

In its place a limitation of 15 per cent of undedicated annutl revenue to be repaid within one year was substituted. This provision was considered very meaningful when earmarked funds were trimmed but the last minute reversal of the convention on earmarking took much of the effectiveness from the provision.

New general borrowing powers were written into the constitution. By a 2-3 vote of the legislature the state could borrow in full faith and credit for specific purposes.

There was a great deal of trimming on language in the old Article 10 which covered finance and taxation.

In the end, however, few of the broad reforms suggested by Citizens for Michigan, the Governor's Citizens Advisory Committee on Taxation or similar groups ended up in the proposed document.

The property tax is the base of Michigan taxation. The present constitution calls for assessment at "true cash value" which has been subject to wide interpretation.

FEW DEM CHANGES

The proposed constitution would set the assessment at 50 per cent of the true cash value as determined by the legislature.

The Democratic "substitute" constitution offered few changes in the finance and taxation article as approved by the convention. The minority would have left the income tax matter to the legislature.

Apart from that the minority proposals were in the nature of mechanics rather than philosophy.

The possibility of setting up a state industrial aid fund to encourage industry was specifically killed in a section added to the proposed constitution.

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams sought such a fund during his long administration but the Democrats who have taken over from him have not forced the issue.

One section of the present constitution, dealing with assessment of public service property, had been termed the "worst example of legislation to be found in our present constitution."

CALLED PATCHWORK

It was greatly rewritten but the only substantive change was to tie assessment of such property directly to other property assessment rather than leave the rate to the legislature.

Michigan's tax structure has long been referred to as a patchwork.

The unwieldy tax structure, binding the legislature with stout restrictions in many areas, has resulted in an almost continuing fiscal crisis with an important peak in 1959.

The crisis has apparently nearly reached the same status this year with the deadlock in the state legislature over an income tax.

★ ★ ★

Part of the problem this year may have been caused by the convention since legislators seemed to be looking toward delegates for a way out of the fiscal woods.

If so they found little to guide them in the actions of the convention.

In fact, if they sought a relaxation of restrictions on their action, they may have found the opposite.

In addition to the restriction on a graduated income tax, delegates approved constitutional language exempting from taxation property owned and used by nonprofit religious or educational organizations for their own functions.

Texas Financier Mum on Empire

5th Amendment Invoked by Estes in Hearing Before Creditors

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes refused to answer most questions about his collapsed empire of farm-related enterprises at a hearing before his creditors Wednesday.

After the court session, recessed until June 15 by U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason, there were hints that the huge complex of businesses built by Estes might be forced into bankruptcy.

So far, as creditors seek to recover part of their investment, the affairs of the Pecos, Tex., financier are in the hands of a court-appointed receiver.

REFUSES TO ANSWER

Estes, 37, serious of mien but occasionally smiling, invoked the Fifth Amendment six times. He declined to answer questions dealing with his multimillion-dollar operations in selling liquid fertilizer, storing grain for the government and growing cotton under transferred acreage allotments.

★ ★ ★

One of his lawyers, John Cofer of Austin, said replies by Estes might tend to incriminate him in view of the pending charges. He has been indicted on federal charges of fraud and theft.

TO SUBMIT RECORDS

"It is difficult to see how the questions would incriminate you," Judge Thomason told Estes, "but we still have a constitution."

Estes advised the court that he would submit a detailed statement of assets by June 15. Estes said he would be here for further questions then.

Surrenders to Daily News Five Days After Detectives' Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—Police have their hands on all three ex-convicts accused of the holdup-murders of two city detectives in Brooklyn.

The one who hid out the longest — Jerome Rosenberg — surrendered Wednesday night to the New York Daily News in its Manhattan headquarters.

Notified by the News, Assistant Chief Inspector Raymond V. Martin picked up Rosenberg in the editorial department and had him taken under heavy guard to a Brooklyn police station.

Questioning and viewing by witnesses of last Friday's holdup went on through the night and morning.

Rosenberg's surrender — described in a copyright story in the News, came five days and a few hours after the murders, and on Rosenberg's 25th birthday.

Police revealed last Monday that they knew the identities of the three bandits and that a nationwide search was under way.

OTHER 2 IN CUSTODY

Later that day, the alleged triggerman accused of staging the $4,000 holdup of a tobacco company with Rosenberg, was caught in a motel in a Chicago suburb. The next day, the man accused of driving a car which was to have been used in a getaway surrendered in Norwich, Conn.

The Daily News said Rosenberg, "desperate on the fifth day after the murders," contacted his father, Louis, 56.

When the father turned to the News for advice, he was told: "Have him turn himself in. It's the only way."

The News informed police that the contact had been made, and that Rosenberg wanted to talk with representatives of the paper and state his case before facing police.

Such a discussion was authorized by police, the News said, and it quoted father and son as claiming young Rosenberg was innocent.

The other two men accused of the slayings have claimed innocence.

S. Viet Nam Troops Kill 72 Red Guerrillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —South Vietnamese forces supported by fighter-bombers and U.S. Army helicopters have killed 72 Communist guerrillas and captured 34 others in an operation 70 miles south of Saigon, the government reported today.

★ ★ ★

The Mekong River delta operation, one of the bloodiest in recent weeks, began Wednesday and was reported continuing today.

Air strikes by South Vietnamese fighter-bombers inflicted the heaviest casualties among the Viet Cong guerrillas. The government also claimed its troops seized about a ton of arms and ammunition.

★ ★ ★

Government losses were given as seven killed and 10 wounded. Communist fire also wounded four American Army officers in one of the 14 helicopters ferrying Vietnamese troops into the fighting.

Gagarin Sends Good Wishes but Qualifies 'Em

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin extended good wishes today to American astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter "as long as the project is for peaceful purposes."

That was Gagarin's only remark when asked for comment on the American plans to send Carpenter into orbit today.

Hoffa Ordered to Stand Trial

Federal Judge Refuses to Dismiss Indictment Against Union Leader

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge refused yesterday to dismiss a mail fraud indictment against President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union and a Detroit banker, and ordered them to stand trial in September.

* * *

The 16-count indictment, returned at Orlando, Fla., last October, charges Hoffa and Robert E. McCarthy Jr. of Detroit with using the mails, telephone and telegraph in a fraudulent scheme.

They are accused of using $50,000 in Teamsters Union funds from Hoffa's Detroit local to promote a privately owned housing development on Florida's east coast, Sun Valley, Inc.

Attorneys for Hoffa and McCarthy moved for dismissal of the indictment, or at least transfer of the trial to Michigan, during a three-day hearing before U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Lieb at Orlando in March.

* * *

The judge signed his opinion in Tampa yesterday, denying the motions.

However, he did grant transfer of the trial from Orlando to Tampa and set the date for Sept. 10. Lieb ordered a pretrial conference in Tampa beginning June 25 in an effort to shorten the trial.

* * *

During the hearing on the motions to dismiss, attorneys for the government and Hoffa estimated that the trial would last from one month to more than a year.

Sentenced to Prison for Burglary Here

A Pontiac man has been sentenced to one to five years in Jackson Prison for his part in the burglary of a grocery store owned by state Rep. Arthur Law, D-Pontiac.

Nor Gamble, 25, 221 Rockwell St., was sentenced by Circuit Judge Stanton Dondero after pleading guilty to breaking and entering in the daytime.

Police said they answered a burglar alarm April 9 and found Gamble inside Law's Market, 200 Earlmoor Blvd. They also arrested James W. White as he drove away from the front of the store.

White, 30, 588 S. East Blvd., is free on $1,000 bond awaiting trial on a burglary charge.

Might Lead East, West to Fear Attack

Space Blast Could KO Communications

LONDON (UPI) —A vast explosion in space that knocked out worldwide communications might lead either the United States or Russia to think the other side was starting a nuclear war.

★ ★ ★

Yet such an explosion could be entirely natural, a British scientist said yesterday.

E. M. Cade, a former scientific officer at the British admiralty and a radar expert, said such a global blackout could be due to the explosion of a supernova (a giant star) somewhere in our own galaxy.

Such a fantastic explosion might happen at any time, Cade said, and might even be said to be "overdue."

"Records kept by the Chinese and going back 2,500 years show that we can expect a supernova on the average of once every 150 years in our galaxy," he said. "Yet there has not been one now for 358 years — since the astronomer, Johann Kepler, saw one with his naked eye, before the discovery of the telescope, on Oct. 10, 1604.

COULD HALT RADIO

One of the main objectives of the present American series of nuclear tests the detonation of a so-called "rainbow bomb," is an attempt to see if an enemy, by exploding a hydrogen bomb in the atmosphere, could knock out the electronic defenses of the free world.

Whether a man-made bomb could cause such world-wide havoc will have to await that or other tests. But Cade believes a supernova moderately "close" to earth — say only seven hundred thousand times further away than the sun — would wipe out television programs completely, perhaps for a year and seriously affect, if not render useless, civil radar with consequent disruption of the airport control, storm warning and navigation services that depend on it.

"The military early-warning radars are far more powerful, but they, too, would be severely damaged and so would the satellite communications links," Cade said.

Cade believes the free world should protect its communications by putting as many as possible underground and by investigating which wave lengths do not penetrate the ionosphere (the electrified layer around the earth) and switch our communications to those.

HAD PROOF IN WAR

"We had an inkling of how solar and stellar events could affect our communications during the war," Cade said. "Early in 1942 our early warning radar chain was jammed and we thought the Germans had discovered how to knock it out while they mounted an invasion.

"Research units all over Britain worked frantically to locate the source of the interference. Then it was found it coincided with a sun spot."

Again in 1944, the British were thwarted, he said, in their efforts to locate the German V2 rockets by long-range radar because of more mysterious interference — eventually tracked down to radiation from the constellation of Sagittarius.

Radio Gun Barrel Guides Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Shooting an astronaut into orbit calls for precise aim. And an electronic gun barrel here helps turn the trick.

This is a pencil-thin beam of radio waves which indicate the position and speed of the Atlas booster right after blast-off, and feed guidance commands to the rocket.

★ ★ ★

The system makes instantaneous, last-second corrections early in powered flight, until the missile passes out of the electronic gun barrel in the atmosphere over the Atlantic Missile Range.

★ ★ ★

Then the radio sightings, functioning like the barrel of a rifle, set in on hairline course.

SENDS SIGNALS

The radio-command guidance system, developed by General Electric, consists of a tracking radar, radio transponders or two-way radios, a velocity measuring system on the ground, and a computer.

Transponders in the Atlas send signals back to the tracking radar and the computer figures out instantly whether the booster's course and speed are correct, and if not, figures out the corrections which are flashed as steering commands to the booster.

No further aiming can be done after the booster passes out of the "gun barrel." The guidance system aboard the Atlas cuts off the engines when the rocket has reached proper velocity to go into orbit. Soon afterward, the Atlas is cut loose from the space capsule, and the astronaut starts zooming around the world.

Michigan Day Slated at Fair

State Will Be Honored June 19; Governor to Attend Seattle Event

Michigan will take center stage at the Seattle World's Fair Tuesday, June 19, it was announced by Fred A. Kaiser, chairman of Gov. John B. Swainson's Committee for Michigan Participation in Seattle World's Fair.

The day will point up Michigan's industrial strength, recreational advantages, labor skills, and opportunities for pleasant living.

More than 70 American companies, some of them Michigan-based, are exhibiting items at the fair that they will be merchandising in the year 2,000. Advertising in Seattle will help draw public attention to past and potential contributions of Michigan business and industry. The ads are being paid for through voluntary contributions of Michigan firms.

Gov. Swainson will visit the fair on Michigan Day accompanied by a delegation of Michigan dignitaries. They will participate in the raising of the Michigan state flag at the fair's Plaza of States and the unveiling of Michigan's plaque on the fair grounds.

The governor and his party will be the luncheon guests of Seattle Mayor G. S. Clinton. That afternoon, they will attend a program saluting Michigan.

★ ★ ★

It Happened Before Television's Reign

Bold, Sexy Imports Inspired Hollywood Adult Films

"ADVISE AND CONSENT"—Don Murray (on phone above) looks troubled in role created by Allen Drury in the novel of the same name. But moviegoers, too, are troubled by the increasing number of bold films put out by Hollywood and inspired by foreign moviemakers.

(Editor's Note—This is the second in a series of three articles by NEA film reporter Erskine Johnson exploring the rebirth of the movies.)

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Emerging from a dimly lighted world in front of their television set, two parents of our acquaintance went to the movies recently for the first time in years.

They were pleased — and surprised. They had seen a preview of a forthcoming film, "Advise and Consent," based on the best selling novel about "inside" Washington.

"Great movie, as hard-hitting as the novel," the father said.

"But how can the screen do this?" asked the mother. "Now I know what they mean about new movies as a threat to the morals of our children. One of the characters is a homosexual. What happened to Hollywood, anyway? We could always send our children to the movies. They were always so wholesome!"

Both had read the novel, which were daring and frank and as commercial as Hollywood's bland films which tried to please everybody.

Brigitte Bardot, running wild in a towel in sexy French farces, paved the way in U.S. theaters for such of today's films as Italy's "La Dolce Vita," France's "Les Liasons Dangereuses," England's "Room At The Top" and many others.

Thus, the maturing of motion pictures did not begin in Hollywood, where movies were born, but in postwar Europe, where the scars of a second World War left the facts of life and new social trends deeply etched on creative film minds.

Movies became realistic and Hollywood, under its dream world censorship code, could not compete with such frankness. Its first answer—a wave of films aimed directly at children and teen-agers — further alienated Hollywood's lost adult audience.

Hollywood finally saw that the answer was to compete with these foreign imports while still providing family and juvenile entertainment. It is now doing so.

But the change came while a majority of the public was engrossed with television. Now returning to theaters, "shocked" and "surprised" reactions by adults are understandable. Many of them haven't been to the movies since Lassie was a pup and a film censor banned as "racy" a "Do Not Disturb" sign on the stateroom door of a young married couple.

did not shock either of them.

But on the screen!!!

That mother's words, "What happened to Hollywood, anyway?" probably have been echoed all over the land. There is great misunderstanding about just what did happen to the tradition of the wholesome American movie.

What happened didn't happen in Hollywood.

It happened to Hollywood.

BEFORE TRUST BUSTERS

It started even before television competition when Uncle Sam's trust busters divorced theaters from Hollywood film company ownership and control.

Hollywood's big studios once could force theaters to show their films, as the U.S. now is accused of doing with shows on its affiliated stations.

Then television caused a 60 per cent drop in U.S. film attendance and profits. Hollywood's old guard movie makers panicked. They fumbled in meeting television competition.

So foreign movies poured into the United States to theaters desperate for product. These imports

Rare Surgery Sews Boy's Arm On Again

BOSTON (AP) — A team of six surgeons, in a rare operation, worked six hours last night restoring the severed right arm to the body of a 12-year-old boy.

Somerville police said Everett Knowles Jr. had been struck by a Boston and Maine Railroad train yesterday as the boy headed home from school.

Surgeons immediately assembled in the operating room and began joining the bones, blood vessels and flesh of the arm and body.

★ ★ ★

After the laborious operation, Dr. Henry L. Edmunds Jr. in charge of the accident room, reported there was a pulse in the boy's right wrist, indicating a supply of blood was coursing the arm.

Doctors said if the operation proves successful it will be the first time, to their knowledge, that a completely severed limb has been restored to the body.

Kennedy Clears Way for Thousands

Chinese Refugees to Come to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has cleared the way for the admission to the United States of thousands of refugees from Communist China. Their exodus from Hong Kong is expected to start within two weeks.

Kennedy invoked emergency powers Wednesday to lower the normal immigration barrier to Chinese. The move, said U.S. officials, should help ease pressures in the British crown colony and also might encourage other countries to take similar action.

REFUSED 50,000

British authorities have turned back more than 50,000 hungry refugees since May 1. From 4,000 to 5,000 crossed over early today and were detained.

Another estimated 8,000 to 10,000 have slipped by the British, further crowding conditions in the colony, and the British say they cannot absorb any more.

★ ★ ★

There was no sign today that Communist border guards were attempting to stem the flow, although frontier residents reported Wednesday that Chinese guards had fired warning shots after shouting orders to waiting Chinese to return to their homes.

W. L. Harden, an assistant U.S. immigration commissioner, is on his way to Hong Kong to supervise handling of the refugees in cooperation with American consular officers in the city.

Kennedy told a news conference that "there are several thousand refugees in Hong Kong and surrounding areas who have been cleared by our consular people for admission to the United States." The normal quota for Chinese immigration is 105 a year. Thus, some of those who have been cleared have, in effect, been standing in line for years.

★ ★ ★

"We are attempting to expedite their admission to the United States under the power given to the attorney general by the (immigration) legislation, the same legislation which has permitted us to bring in Hungarian refugees (in 1956-57) and Cuban refugees," Kennedy said.

★ ★ ★

The first group to be admitted, according to present plans, will be relatives of Chinese already in the United States.

The President said his action will not "get at the basic problem" of refugees pouring into Hong Kong. He noted that Communist China is a nation of 650 million and that its food supplies are inadequate.

Kennedy said the United States has been providing food for about half a million refugees in Hong Kong for several years.

Italy's Debts to Aid U. S. on 'Payments'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Italy has pledged to help the U.S. balance of payments situation by repaying debts of $178.6 million ahead of time, the Italian embassy said yesterday.

State Department officials confirmed that the pledge was made by Robert Themelioni, Italy's treasury minister, to Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon in Rome, where Dillon attended an international banker's conference earlier this month.

Dillon, in a letter to Tremelloni, said Italy's action is "a reflection of the sound position of the Italian economy in which you must take deep satisfaction."

Of the amount, $35.6 million represents Marshall Plan loans not due for repayment until the end of this decade. The rest is in payment of U.S. surplus food deliveries.

Hell's C. of C. Runs National Slogan Contest

HELL (AP)—Is it really better to live, work and play in Hell?

The residents of this Washtenaw County village think so, and what's more, they intend to prove it to the rest of the nation.

The local chamber of commerce is sponsoring a nationwide contest to find a new slogan glorifying the advantages of living in Hell. A $25 first prize is offered to the best slogan—in 10 words or less—on why it is better to live, work, and play in Hell.

The contest started yesterday and runs through June 11, and anyone needing inspiration is invited to tour Heli, the entire layout, of course—the lone general store, the gas station and the post office.

Kennedy Praises State Selective Service Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy told State Selective Service directors yesterday that they and local draft boards have an extraordinary record of maintaining public confidence in the fairness of the system.

Kennedy spoke to the state directors and other Selective Service officials in the White House rose garden.

The state directors are in Washington for their annual conference with Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director.

'More Politics Needed'

Red Army Training Hit

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet servicemen are gettin gtoo much target practice and not enough political training, Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky complained today.

★ ★ ★

Writing in the army newspaper, Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star), Malinovsky criticized his military commanders for neglecting the political indoctrination of their troops.

The article appeared only two days after a shakeup in the political direction of the Soviet armed forces in which Marshal F. I. Golikov was relieved of his command and replaced by Alexei A. Yepishev, former ambassador to Yugoslavia.

"Unfortunately, in a number of units, group political activity is being conducted on a low level and does not correspond to contemporary demands," Malinovsky said.

STRESSES 'EDUCATION.'

He noted that many commanders give priority to combat exercises in their training schedules at the expense of political education.

"In these plans, an excessive number of tactical and specialized tatical exercises are laid out, including a great deal of practice and firing with all types of weapons, handling of combat vehicles, technical and engineering training, etc." Malinovsky wrote.

"This leads to an overloading of the combat and political training schedules in the unit and the educational significance of the training diminishes."

Dutch Attack Irian Invaders

New Guinea Forces Hit Indonesian Paratroops in Second Straight Day

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (UPI)—Dutch forces with air support have attacked invading Indonesian paratroops in northwestern New Guinea for two successive days, headquarters here announced today.

★ ★ ★

Rear Adm. Leendert Reeser, the Dutch commander, said in a communique that the Indonesians have been attacked south of Teminabuan and near Fakfak and Kaimana, the three points where they landed last week.

Although the communique reported the Indonesians in retreat, it appeared that the Dutch had not yet succeeded in crushing their resistance entirely.

(In the Hague, parliament was meeting for a debate on New Guinea which was expected to last several hours.

(Officials in the Dutch capital were angered by the stand taken by acting U.S. Secretary General Thant, who called yesterday for renewed Dutch-Indonesian negotiations on New Guinea but refused to send observers to the invaded area.

("This amounts to giving the Indonesians the green light," one cabinet minister said.

(From Jakarta, the Soviet agency Tass claimed the Dutch had "resorted to many reprisals" against New Guinea natives, throwing suspected collaborators into concentration camps and burning villages whose residents supported the Indonesians.)

Reeser's communique re-emphasized the Dutch determination to let the Papuans of New Guinea decide their own future—a policy which has been opposed by the Indonesians.

Says Americans Agree on Goal

Chrysler's Townsend Names Aim; Growth Without Inflation

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler President Lynn A. Townsend says most Americans agree that growth without inflation is the "master objective of the national economy."

★ ★ ★

Townsend, in a speech last night, named this as one of three issues fundamental to the nation's future on which he said Americans have come to "remarkable agreement."

The other two he named as the "desirability of a healthy trading relationship with Western Europe and a strong educational system to meet with a period of change."

The automobile company president spoke to the Beta Theta Pi alumni association. The fraternity gave Townsend its Beta Award for Achievement.

On the subject of trade with Western Europe and the Common Market, Townsend said Americans once again are seeing a "phenomenon of national agreement in time of crisis that has occurred at so many times in the past."

"The concept of opinion on the basic objectives of legislation to this end is reminiscent of the pulling together of all forces back in 1947 and 1948 to pass the enabling legislation for the Marshall Plan," Townsend said.

Townsend warned that the countries of the Atlantic community, with their "tremendous combination of economic strength," have the potential to "outpace any other country or combination of countries in the world."

Townsend said most Americans, regardless of their politics or economics, agree that growth without inflation is the way to meet world competition and also to keep the dollar sound, acquire a "consistent balance" in international payments, and check the outflow of gold.

Industry-Labor Fights Invite Interference

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It would be nice to think a bunch of labor and business leaders, meeting in an auditorium, could work out their problems amicably by the use of intelligence and sweet reasonableness.

That isn't the history of American labor-management relations.

So it was no surprise when President Kennedy called together 200 labor and management representatives this week to find answers for keeping the economy sound, that after two days they left without solving anything.

There's no reason to think that if they meet again they'll do any better. Nevertheless, Kennedy said he thought there was value in this first one and will be others.

TOO BIG?

It's possible a far smaller meeting might have accomplished more. Kennedy's permanent 21-man advisory committee—seven each from labor, management and the public—has made progress.

But this committee was confronted with specific problems, like automation and collective bargaining, and came up with recommendations. The 200-man meeting was supposed to discuss everything in the book.

While the very number of them foredoomed them to no agreement so did the fact that they had to deal with generalities instead of specifics.

Perhaps if they had been called in the midst of crisis, like war, when they had no time for the luxury of old-fashioned labor-management bickering, they would have done better.

CALLED IN WAR

The only two labor-management conferences in history which really reached important, basic agreements were called in wartime, in World Wars I and II.

The overwhelming lesson of labor - management relations in American history shows this:

The one way for these ancient rivals to keep the government out of interfering with their business long ago, and repeatedly, would have been to reach compromise agreements beneficial to both, with both yielding something.

But they didn't. They had to be hit on the head with a government club.

For instance, employers through most of American history fought the attempts of their workers to organize into unions which could bargain for all of them.

It was to the benefit of the employers to keep the employes weak by keeping them divided. Finally, the government had to step in and, through the 1935 Wagner Act, force them to bargain with unions.

STEPPED IN AGAIN

Then, when Congress thought unions in turn were getting too powerful, it stepped in again and through the 1947 Taft-Harley Act imposed new restrictions on both unions and employers.

It may seem astonishing to future generations that men of this time —in labor and business— couldn't get together and, for their own sake, by being reasonable do for themselves what government had to do for them.

If the time comes when labor and management do by themselves reach reasonable understandings it probably will not be so much the result of a new intelligence as fear that they had better be sensible or watch the government step in.

Wants to Study Appointees to Hospital Unit

LANSING (AP) — Sen. John P. Smeekens, R-Coldwater, has asked for creation of a one-man committee to study appointees to the Michigan Hospital Advisory Council.

The resolution was aimed at Paul Silver, president of Detroit UAW Local 351 and a member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Smeekens blocked confirmation of Gov. Swainson's appointment of Silver to the council when he protested the labor leader had a police record dating back to 1938.

Smeekens had incorrectly charged Silver served a term in the state prison of Southern Michigan. The record showed Silver was sentenced in 1940 to six months to five years in prison for negligent homicide after being charged with involuntary manslaughter.

He won a new trial and was given five years probation with no driving privileges.

Supermarkets Capture Share of Toy Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Supermarkets, of all places, are capturing larger and larger chunks of the nation's toy business.

Of the $1.7 billion worth of toys purchased in 1961, $73 million were sold in supermarkets, according to a weekly digest of retail forecasts.

BIG DAY DAWNS — Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter rubs sleep from his eyes shortly after he was awakened this morning at 1:15 by flight surgeon and Air Force Capt. Dr. Howard A. Minners.

LAST-MINUTE CONFERENCE — Astronauts Carpenter and John Glenn go over some final details before Carpenter left Hangar S at 3:42 this morning. Doctors reported he was in excellent physical condition and felt his attitude was perfect for the flight.

Predicted Three-Orbit Flight in 1959

Scott 'Saved' From Grueling Carrier Duty

LEAVES FOR PAD — American's second orbital astronaut Scott Carpenter leaves Hangar S to board the van which took him to the launching pad at 4 this morning.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —When Malcolm Scott Carpenter was selected in 1959 as one of the seven Mercury astronauts, he was thankful to be rescued from what he considered a grueling assignment—a two-year tour of duty on an aircraft carrier.

★ ★ ★

On the carrier, he would face long periods away from his family and the disappointing prospect of a nonflying job. The Mercury orders arrived just two days before the ship was to depart San Diego.

★ ★ ★

When the carrier commander asked him what he was going to do, Carpenter replied: "Ride the nose cone of an Atlas three times around the earth."

"I remember being a little amazed at my own words," Carpenter said recently. "I knew little about the program then. By now, I know a good deal more, but the whole idea fills me with awe."

Carpenter, 37, a Navy lieutenant commander, was thrust suddenly into the pilot role for the second U.S. manned orbit flight last March 15 when it was disclosed that the chosen astronaut, Air Force Maj. Donald K. Slayton, had minor heart trouble. Carpenter had been backup pilot for Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.'s orbital flight on Feb. 20.

WAS A "DRIFTER"

The handsome, crew-cut Carpenter has been a vital member of the astronaut team. His speciality is navigation and communications and he has worked extensively with engineers and technicians to develop a foolproof communications system for the Mercury capsule.

Carpenter is an exemplary citizen now, but it took him a little time to find himself. He said recently that in his youth he was a drifter and "sort of a no-good" in his home town of Boulder, Colo., where he was born May 1, 1925.

"I didn't study hard and I had to quit high school football because I couldn't devote myself to learning the plays," he said. "I stole things from stores and I was just drifting through, sort of no-good."

After high school graduation in 1943, he enlisted in the Navy and got a start on his flying career in the Navy V5 flight training program.

★ ★ ★

After World War II, he entered the University of Colorado but had trouble adjusting and twice was flunked out of school.

CHANGED HIS LIFE

He became a laborer in Boulder. But not long afterward, when he was 20, he had an auto accident, which changed his whole life. He was unconscious for four days, and during a two-week convalescence in the hospital he decided to return to college.

He came within three credit hours of earning a degree in aeronautical engineering from Colorado in 1949 but encountered difficulty with a course in heat transfer. Before he could pick up the credits, he courted and married his wife Rene also a Colorado student, and rejoined the Navy.

After graduation from the Navy test pilot school in 1954, Carpenter began the dangerous job of working the kinks out of some of the nation's newest, fastest fighting planes.

Rene, a pretty blonde, recalls some anxious moments when he was a test pilot at Patuxent River, Md. She said she was nervous every time he didn't show up at 6 o'clock sharp for dinner.

But she says they have discussed the dangers of his job and have learned to live with them. They spend little time worrying—even about the hazards of space flight.

ARE VERY CLOSE

Carpenter and Rene, who also is from Boulder, are very close and write lengthy letters to one another when separated. He writes in detail about his Project Mercury work and once penned 17 pages.

★ ★ ★

Soon after he had gone to Washington for one of his first briefings as an astronaut, Rene wrote him: "I think you were born for this and God knows I'd rather have you in space than at sea. I'm so darn happy and proud of you."

★ ★ ★

With four children, they have the largest family of any of the astronauts. The youngsters are Mark Scott, 12, Robyn Jay, 10, Kristine Elaine, 6, and Candace Noxon, 5. A fifth child, a 6-month-old son, died in 1951.

★ ★ ★

Green-eyed Rene, fulfilling a long-time desire, came to live by Cocoa Beach with the children to be close when Carpenter is rocketed toward space. This is the first astronaut family to be in the Cape area at launch time.

★ ★ ★

"There's nothing at all like it," Rene says, "to stand on the beach and see it going up—and the prayerful attitude of the crowd."

★ ★ ★

She said her husband wanted the sons, Scott and Jay, to witness the launching first-hand. Although daughters are not as space conscious, he wanted them to be nearby also.

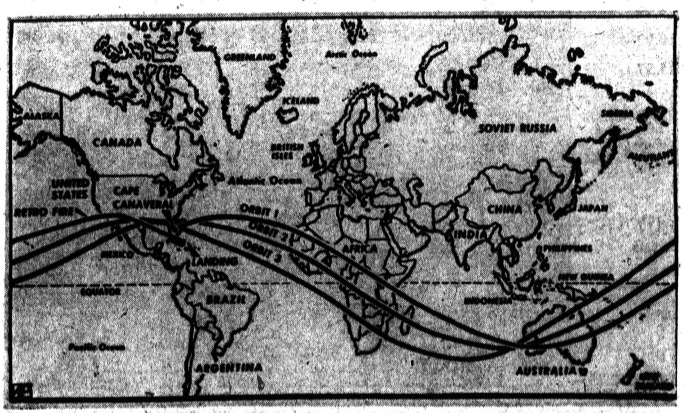
★ ★ ★

Carpenter is devoted to the children and spends as much of his free time as possible with them at their home at Langley Air Force Base, Va. His hobbies are skin-diving, archery and water skiing.

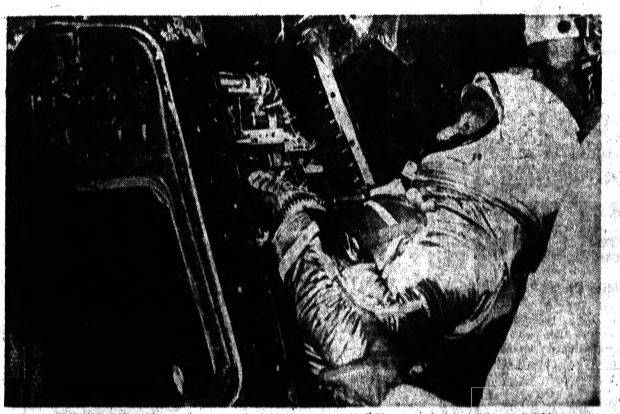
★ ★ ★

He is an Episcopalian who has "an abiding faith which sustains me at all times."

READY ATLAS — Searchlights illuminate the launch pad as Scott Carpenter's Aurora 7 is readied for today's space flight. The gantry surrounding the capsule and its Atlas booster were rolled back early this morning during the late stages of the countdown.



CARPENTER'S ORBITAL PATHS — This map shows the flight paths followed by Scott Carpenter's three orbit mission in space. During the flight he was in contact with a number of tracking stations located around the globe near the path of the orbit.



ENTERS CAPSULE — Astronaut Carpenter slips into his Aurora 7 capsule this morning at 4:41. At 5:27 technicians began bolting the hatch cover. At 5:56 one workman, putting a finishing touch on the job, wiped his windshield.

Chinese Exiles 'Real Refugees'

British Decide Crowds Pouring Into Hong Kong Are Genuine

LONDON (UPI) — The British government believes the refugees pouring into Hong Kong are genuine and not a Chinese dragon version of the Trojan Horse, authoritative sources said today.

★ ★ ★

The best assessment of the situation here is that there is a definite fear of famine in Kwantung Province, which adjoins Hong Kong, and that in addition there are indications that resettlement of forced labor is going on in the province.

For these reasons it is felt that the crowds knocking at the gates of the British crown colony are real refugees.

"There is nothing sinister," said one official.

The British cabinet, the sources said, is hopeful that the flood of refugees is ebbing. Reports reaching here from Hong Kong indicate Communist border guards are trying to stem the flow.

In the opinion of British officials the refugees do not comprise a political threat to Hong Kong.

WANTED TO BLAME

The sources said the Chinese Communists apparently were reluctant in the beginning to stop the refugees because they did not want to bear the onus of blocking those seeking freedom from hunger.

Kwantung, where most of the refugees live is far removed from Peiping and has a reputation for being fairly independent.

Officials here see no reason why Red China would want to disrupt Hong Kong at this particular time because the Chinese transact a great deal of business with the outside world through the British colony.

★ ★ ★

British officials estimate that about 50,000 refugees have been turned back in the past month because of lack of facilities.

Philippines Try to Send Chiang Chinese Convicts

MANILA (AP)— The Philippine government is telling Nationalist China that if it can admit refugees from Communist China to Formosa, it should also accept 70 Chinese the Philippines is trying to deport.

A foreign office spokesman said today a note was being sent to the Chinese embassy demanding immediate acceptance of the deportees.

Deportation of the 70 was ordered after they were convicted of various crimes. Chiang Kai-shek's government refused to accept them.

Development Plan OK'd for Roscommon County

LANSING (AP) — The Area Redevelopment Administration has given final approval to an over-all economic development program for Roscommon County, Gov. Swainson's office said yesterday.

This will make communities and industries in the county eligible for federal loans.

Among the proposed projects are a sanitary sewer system for Houghton Lake, a hospital for the Houghton Lake area and a nursing home for the Village of Roscommon.

The human eyes reach their full growth at about the age of nine years.

E. E. Minskoff, chief of the department's foreign assets division, said there won't be any charges filed against Hunter.

The actor formerly was part owner of a Beverly Hills import firm. Minskoff, after examining invoices and other papers, said Hunter bought the questioned items legally in Japan. Several small paintings and a large one were of Red Chinese origin.

Dealers Want 'Just Enough' Old Models on Oct. 1

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—A major concern in the sales departments of the automobile manufacturers at the moment is, "Will we have enough cars?"

This may seem a little ridiculous to the average bystander who has heard that almost one million unsold new cars are in stock and that assembly lines are running at or near their fastest pace in more than a year.

But the concern is for a few months hence — late summer when these lines will be idle and dealers will be selling cars strictly from stocks on hand.

The problem is whether the supply of 1962 models now on hand or scheduled to be built soon will be sufficient to supply demand until 1963 models go on sale around Oct. 1.

Even with the most careful planning there will be a few left over. Dealers actually prefer to have a small selection of previous models still on hand when the new ones go on display because the old ones can be used to attract the bargain hunters.

ON LEFTOVERS

Balance is the important factor. The ideal balance calls for an adequate supply of the new cars on the introduction date plus just enough of the left overs to be a help and not a burden.

Ward's Reports said this week the manufacturers are aiming at a supply of 250,000 to 300,000 of the 1962 models on Sept. 30. Last year the carryover was 260,000.

So far this year the companies have been extremely accurate in balancing production against sales demand—so much so that the total inventories have risen just over 120,000 since Jan. 1.

Projections currently call for May to be the peak sales month—roughly 655,000 cars — with June just about as strong.

Traditionally July will show a drop, possibly as much as 20 per cent from June. The real guessing has to be done about August and September.

* * *

There is still genuine optimism, most especially at General Motors, over total sales of some seven million cars this year, second only to 1955. In 1955 the sales pattern was broken because summer selling boomed to unprecedented levels.

Current sales are at or above 1955 figures. If the summer should follow 1955, instead of the more usual downward curve, the inventories could prove too small to meet the demand. However, if the sales momentum should slacken the supply well could be burdensome.

So far the auto industry has shown no inclination to follow the apparent slight softening in the general economy. Sales and profits are excellent, both for the manufacturers and the dealers.

The National Auto Dealers Association just announced that dealers fared better financially in the first quarter of 1962 than in any quarter since the second quarter of 1955.

Their average over-all operating profit, before federal taxes, averaged 2.5 per cent of total sales, the NADA said, or $121 per new unit sold. In the same period a year ago dealers reported an average loss of 0.2 per cent.

Mr. Wilson died April 6. His will names Mrs. Wilson as primary beneficiary of $100,000 and all personal property.

State Plants Get $3-Million Contracts

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Ordnance District announced yesterday the award of contracts totaling $3,050,543 to defense industries in Michigan.

Continental Motors Corp. of Muskegon was awarded a $1,843,928 contract for production of 125 engines to be used in the Army's 1,000 horsepower M88 tank recovery vehicle.

Two contracts totaling $1,215,615 were awarded Chrysler Corp.'s Defense Operations Division for 800 kits to be used in the modernization program for M48A2 series tanks now in use by the armed services.

Volkswagen Co. Refuses to Drop Price Increases

WOLFSBURG, Germany (AP)—The Volkswagen Co. said yesterday the lowering of tariffs on cars imported into Germany will not bring a price reduction for Volkswagens.

The Bundestag (parliament) Monday cut tariffs by about 50 per cent in retaliation against recent domestic auto price increases touched off by Volkswagen on April 1.

Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and the West German government have tried without success to get the price increases rescinded, claiming they contribute to the threat of inflation.

* * *

Volkswagen issued a short statement calling the tariff cuts punishment and added they will have no influence on Volkswagen prices.

Body Missing in Plane Crash

UNIONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—One body was still missing today in the fatal crash of a Continental Airlines jet plane. The other 44 bodies were in an improvised morgue here.

Search for the missing, unidentified victim and for the cause of the accident that tore the big plane apart in the air over southern Iowa continued with teams of federal investigators on hand.

The plane had been advised of thunderstorm turbulence as it neared Kansas City on its flight from Chicago.

Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb Halaby said there was not a shred of evidence that the airliner had collided with a small plane or had been ripped apart by a bomb. He also said there was nothing to show that it may have been caught in a tornado.

The only person who might have been able to tell what had happened died in a hospital soon after he was removed alive. He was one of the 37 passengers, a Japanese-born engineer. All eight crew members, including four hostesses, died in the crash.

Official Strikes Gold in Parking Receipts

OGDENBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Someone fed a sparking meter a $5 gold piece minted in 1880, City Treasurer S. Erno Moore says.

He said the coin, the same size as a nickel, was valued at $9 by collectors. Moore said the gold piece was discovered among parking-meter receipts.

Many Conditions Must Be Present

Researcher Says Nuclear Fire Storm Not Inevitable

By JOHN L. WALTERS
Battle Creek Enquirer and News
Written For The AP

BATTLE CREEK — What are the chances of a fire storm developing following a nuclear attack?

He addressed top fire fighters from throughout the nation who recently attended a two-week fire staff and command seminar at the office of Civil Defense Staff College here.

A fire storm, he explained, is a phenomenon that develops in a major conflagration when fuel, fire pattern and weather conditions are "right."

There is a cyclonic wind (counterclockwise in the northern hemisphere). Updrafts develop that suck combustionable materials into the air and into the heat core along with oxygen. Surface winds flowing into the center can knock down buildings.

Dr. Arnold, who is director of the Pacific Southwest Forest and Range Experiment Station of the U.S. Forest Service at Berkeley, Calif., said that if any one of the necessary conditions is absent, a fire storm could not develop.

Dr. Arnold said there were measures that could be taken to prevent a fire storm from developing. A continuing precaution would be the elimination of places where small fires could start — small fires that could run together and cause a major conflagration and possibly a fire storm.

Immediately following a nuclear blast, persons in the area adjacent to but not covered by the blast, could extinguish small fires which might be started in dry grass, leaves, rotted wood in fences and buildings and rubbish piles.

There would be perhaps 20 minutes to half an hour before a person in this zone would have to seek shelter from fallout, according to Dr. Arnold. This would help stop small fires before they became big fires.

The concern, according to Dr. Arnold, is that a burnout area would cover 10 to 15 times the area devastated by a blast.

The individual faced with a fire storm would not be in as much peril from the fire as he would be from suffocation created by the drawing of oxygen into the heat core and from possible carbon monoxide generated by the fire.

A person in a fallout shelter would probably be safe from heat effects of a fire storm, but wouldn't be safe from the lack of oxygen or the presence of carbon monoxide.

Aside from the possibility of a fire storm after a nuclear attack, Dr. Arnold and other researchers are concerned with the growing fire danger during peacetime in the eastern part of the United States.

Dr. Arnold explained that timber is growing back and suburban areas are moving into what researchers term "wild lands." These situations increase fire hazard.

Each major fire in recent years has been a laboratory for fire behavior researchers. Most of these major fires have been in Southern California such as the devastating Bel Air-Brentwood fire near Los Angeles last November that was accompanied by a fire storm and destroyed an estimated $23 million in property and cost more than $3 million to fight.

★ ★ ★

But there have been some fires in the East too such as the Harbor fire in Florida a few years ago. This also was accompanied by a fire storm.

Salan Prison Verdict Victory for the OAS

PARIS (AP) — A special tribunal's sentence of life imprisonment for ex-Gen. Raoul Salan was interpreted by many Frenchmen today as a victory for the terrorist Secret Army.

★ ★ ★

The mixed judicial-military-civilian court Wednesday night found the head of the Secret Army guilty of treason but spared his life because of extenuating circumstances. It did not explain the extenuating circumstances.

★ ★ ★

The same court earlier had given a death sentence to Salan's chief deputy in the Secret Army, Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud. Many Frenchmen felt President Charles de Gaulle's only choice now was to commute Jouhaud's sentence to life imprisonment.

★ ★ ★

The independent newspaper Combat commented: "No matter how scrupulous the judges were in analyzing Salan's case, the verdict will be interpreted as a victory by the Secret Army, as an insult by its enemies."

INCREDIBLE

From the extreme left came cries of incredible and stupefying. The extreme right, surprised as well by the sentence, called it a gesture of appeasement and hopefully looked for an easing of tensions in terror-torn Algeria.

Hospitalized Teacher Arraigned in Murder

SOUTHGATE (AP)—A critically injured schoolteacher was arraigned on charges of murder yesterday in the May 16 shooting death of his next-door neighbor.

Southgate Municipal Judge Donald C. Neltzel entered a plea of innocent and set no bond for Richard Andrews, 36, who stood mute. Andrews is hospitalized.

Andrews is accused of killing Nick M. Regets, 41, allegedly because Regets offended Andrews in some greeting which neighbors described as harmless and well-meaning.

Andrews then opened fire on four investigating police officers, police said, and was subdued on his front porch only after sustaining four bullet wounds in a shoot-out with police.

Teen Saves Boater After Fatal Accident

BIG BAY (AP) — One man died, a second was lost and a third was rescued by a teen-age youth after a boat capsized on the rough waters of Lake Independence yesterday.

Alone in an aluminum boat, he pulled Jack Ward, 28, Marquette city fireman, from the water and brought him ashore. Ward had spent about three hours in the water hanging onto a gasoline can which he used as a life preserver.

Ward and two companions, Lawrence Johnson, 31, also a Marquette fireman, and Flory Pompo, 42, Marquette tavern owner, were flung into the water when their 12-foot outboard motorboat capsized.

Long Rehabilitation Ahead

Mario Wallendo Learning, Trying to Stand

DETROIT (AP)—Mario Wallenda, whose spinal cord was severed in a fall from a circus high wire here last Jan. 30, is learning to "take the future a step at a time."

Wallenda, 22, has been paralyzed from the waist down ever since the tragic fall which took the lives of two members of the Great Wallendas high wire act.

While the Wallendas continue their death-defying act on the circus high wire, Mario Wallenda has begun a training program more rigorous than any he endured since learning to walk a tightrope at the age of four.

Wallenda, a patient at the rehabilitation institute, has an innate sense of balance in his favor. But, says Dr. Joseph N. Schaefler, who heads the institute, there are trying days ahead.

The first step in the rahabilitation process came when Wallenda was strapped to a board that was pivoted into a standing position. It put Wallenda on his feet for the first time since the accident.

MADE HIM DIZZY

"It made me dizzy," Wallenda recalled. "It is like the first time a youngster tries to walk a fence or a tightrope and looks down."

From the standing board, Wallenda moved to parallel bars—two rails of steel on which a paraplegic supports himself when he tries to learn the locomotion possible under his handicap.

Last week, Wallenda was wheeled into this walking track, and—whitefaced and with muscles bulging—he made his first attempt to pull himself onto his feet.

Three feet along the parallel bars, he called for the wheelchair. "I've had it for now," he said.

But, the former acrobat apparently isn't giving up as easily as that. He now is lifting 5-pound barbells, which he says "feel like a ton. When I walked the high wire my balancing pole weighed about 30 pounds. It got heavy too, after five or 10 minutes. But not so heavy as this," he said.

★ ★ ★

Before Wallenda finishes his three-month rehabilitation course, he will be lifting heavier weights and, eventually, he will learn even to dress himself again.

★ ★ ★

Whatever is in store for Wallenda—including the first tortuous attempts to walk again—the former acrobat is ready. "I've made it this far," he said.

Downs to Follow Chancellor on 'Today' Show

NEW YORK (AP)— Announcer Hugh Downs will succeed John Chancellor in September as host of the National Broadcasting Company's television "Today" program, the network said Wednesday.

However, he will leave the "Tonight" show, with which he has been associated since 1957.

Lawyer Awaits Verdict on Eichmann Appeal

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Dr. Robert Servatius, Adolf Eichmann's West German lawyer, returned to Israel Wednesday night to hear the verdict on the former Nazi officer's appeal from the death sentence.

The Israeli Supreme Court will hand down its ruling Tuesday in the same court in Jerusalem where Eichmann was convicted last year for his role in the Nazi mass murder of Jews.

N-Sub Thomas Edison Fires Polaris Twice

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The nuclear submarine Thomas Edison fired two Polaris missiles from below the Atlantic surface Wednesday. Both traveled more than 1,500 miles and both shots were declared successful.

The firings, about two hours apart, were the first for the Edison.

Capsule Cuisine: Compressed Cereal

She Whips Up Space Specialties for Astronauts

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

CAPE CANAVERAL — If someone offered to buy you dinner, and ordered compressed cereal followed by pellets of shiny fruits, you would be perfectly in order to inquire "How on earth do you expect me to eat that!"

Fortunately for you, on earth it is not expected.

In space, it is considered just the thing.

Scott Carpenter has been taste-testing the above "capsule cuisine" for days now and according to the lady who hands him his compressed-cereal cubes and his candied citron, Scotty thinks they're grand.

Well, she didn't say "grand" exactly. What she said was: "He looked at these things and, like the other astronauts, he said, 'What's this!' and then finally they all got so they liked the space food so much that now I have to lock it up."

This seems an unlikely statement, but then I suppose if astronauts were gourments, they'd have gravitated to another line of work.

Rita Rapp is the physiologist who gives taste-tests to spacemen and helps decide what they shall attempt to dine on, while orbiting the globe.

She is the one who prepared Lt. Col. John Glenn's diet of tubes full of applesauce and beef and vegetables (he forgot to eat the beef and vegetables which didn't hurt Rita's feelings—"he got very busy.")

'NEW' FOODS

Now she is trying all new foods on Carpenter.

"We decided this time we would try solid foods. Non-crumbly and not-too-chewy type foods, compressed into bite size and coated with some palatable substance which we hope will keep the foods inside from being adversely affected by environmental conditions inside the capsule."

"We are going to develop new techniques in the future. Our foods are still in the developmental stage. They're not all very tasty.

"The astronauts have tasted about 30 kinds, and they've turned down some of them (no, I'm sorry I can't tell you which ones at this time).

"And some of them they liked best, well, we just don't have them available yet. But I don't suppose it really matters, what they taste like, as much as what the tests prove.

What we want to know now is whether the astronaut can chew food in a weightless condition, and whether the foods remain palatable."

A fancier diet will come later, said Rita, on many orbit flights.

Until those days come along, Scott Carpenter is dining on:

Three-quarter-inch chunks of high-protein cereal pressed with raisins or nuts, bite size ovals of the kind of fruit tidbits found in fruitcake and chocolate.

All the little pellets have a protective coating, the taste of which Miss Rapp claimed she was unable to describe. Which doesn't sound good. Altogether they add up to 300 calories.

Carpenter is expected to take about one dainty dose during each orbit. If he has a sudden spurt of appetite, tough. "You remember Glenn said he wished he had a ham sandwich," said Rita. But the mood passed quickly. When he was safely aboard ship after his mission, he accepted only a glass of iced tea, and was satisfied.

It was suggested to Miss Rapp that Scott Carpenter would probably be in a peculiar position if he opened his mouth while chewing. But Miss Rapp is a lady who has never observed a lip-smacking type of eater, because she was amazed at the idea.

"I mean, everybody chews with their mouth closed, don't they?" she said. "I don't see how they could chew otherwise."

Medicare Debate Being Echoed in Michigan Senate

LANSING (AP) — Echoes of the national debate over medical care programs for the aged have been heard in the State Senate.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, introduced a resolution yesterday asking for creation of a special committee to investigate operations of the Kerr-Mills plan now providing medical care for the aged in Michigan.

The current program has been functioning well in Michigan except in Wayne County, Morris said and provided some $14 million in medical care for the aged in the state during its first year of operation.

★ ★ ★

Polish Girl Gains in Spanish, English

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A little Polish girl enrolled in a Dade County school was placed in a "special" English class with Cuban refugee youngsters, also non-English speaking.

★ ★ ★

The child's English is progressing slowly, but now she jumps rops and counts, "Uno, dos, tres, cuatro," a teacher reported.

Prices on Mink Reach Highest in History

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're planning on buying your wife a mink coat in the near future you can expect to pay more than ever.

★ ★ ★

Taxed Lawmakers Meeting to Solve Nuisance Levies

LANSING (UPI)—State legislators, chafing with impatience to get their jobs done and go home, got set today for another trial run of a nuisance tax solution to the state's money troubles.

Republicans and Democrats were to meet in closed-door caucuses to decide where to turn next in their so-far futile efforts to find more money for the state treasury.

The newest proposal, calling for six sweepstakes a year, emerged yesterday from the House Rules and Resolutions Committee and went to the floor for debate. Rep. Edwin A. FitzPatrick, D-Detroit, the sponsor, estimated it would produce $180 million a year for the State Treasury.

The proposal, offered as an amendment to the state constitution, would require two-thirds approval in the House and Senate to go before the voters in November.

The resolution also would permit lotteries, bingo and other legalized gambling to raise money for charity or public projects.

"This would solve the financial problem of the state for all time," said FitzPatrick, who has tried many times to get favorable consideration of his sweepstakes plan.

Over Democratic objections, majority Republicans once more postponed a vote on their $89 million package of nuisance taxes on beer, liquor, cigarettes and telephone and telegraph service. For good measure, they brought to the floor a bill to add a mill to the four-mill corporation franchise fee, which would raise $13 million.

FAILED IN TRIAL

The first bill in the five-bill package failed on a trial run last week.

"We've got to pass taxes that will have a chance of passing through the Senate, and I think the nuisance taxes stand the best chance," said Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, House GOP floor leader.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, Democratic floor leader, said his party appeared to be warming up to a proposed one per cent tax on items as they pass from wholesalers to retailers. It would raise nearly $100 million a year.

★ ★ ★

"It's really a consumer tax, since the consumer would pay for it in the long run," former State Sen. George N. Higgins, Ferndale auto dealer, told the House Taxation Committee. Higgins tried unsuccessfully to win approval of the tax nearly 10 years ago when he was in the legislature.

Senate Republicans talked over taxes and spending for an hour and a half but made no decisions.

Honeymoons in Chicago

The bride is the daughter of the Ralph Hills of Gage Street and the bridegroom's parents are the Norris V. Smiths of Auburn Road, who were hosts at the reception.

For the small informal ceremony, the bride chose ballerina-length white Chantilly lace over taffeta and bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and lilies of the valley.

For a Chicago honeymoon, the new Mrs. Smith chose an ensemble of orange silk. The couple will reside on Henry Clay Avenue during the bridegroom's senior year at Michigan State University Oakland.

Mrs. Hill chose a champagne silk shantung jacket dress for her daughter's wedding. Her flowers were pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore pink polished cotton with lace jacket and a corsage of clipped blue carnations.

MRS. ROBERT L. SMITH

Winter vows are planned by Joyce Marie Steiner, daughter of the Benjamin J. Steiners, Lake Orion, to Gary W. Fangboner of West Rutgers Avenue, son of the Harold F. Fangboners, East Lansing. They are alumni of Eastern Michigan University and Michigan State University respectively.

Mosquitoes demand the amount of carbon dioxide given off by a person's breathing. In an experiment, 300 mosquitoes could not tell the difference between three dummies and a man whose breath was drawn outside the room through a hose.

Hold Reception for Newlyweds

A reception Saturday evening in the Stowell Street home of the William D. Ratliffs honored their son Lance Cpl. William D. Ratliff and his bride, the former Susan Maurice Ferguson of Lemon Grove, Calif.

The couple are presently in northern Michigan before leaving for Cherry Point, N. C., where the bridegroom will be stationed.

For the semimilitary wedding ceremony performed by Rev. E. Walter Smith, May 5 in the First Congregational Church, Lemon Grove, the bride chose floor-length brocaded white silk taffeta styled with long organza sleeves. Her short veil was caught by a jeweled tiara and she carried white camellias.

Attending the couple were Laurine Thompson, San Diego and James W. Woodcock of the U.S. Marine Corps, San Diego.

At Marimont Baptist Church

Speak Vows in Double Ceremony

Marimont Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight vows of Marilyn Louise Scarborough to Alexander W. Lucier spoken before Rev. Robert Gavette. In the same ceremony, Janet Louise Parsons became the bride of Pvt. Wilbur F. Parrish, with Rev. Phillip W. Somers officiating.

MRS. ALEXANDER W. LUCIER

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Parsons of East Hopkins Street are parents of Janet who appeared in white silk organza and Chantilly lace over taffeta. Her veil of illusion fell from a pearl caplet. She carried white carnations and a white feathered carnation atop a small Bible.

★ ★ ★

Honor maid Sandra Kay Stewart, wearing pink silk organza over taffeta and bridesmaids Marilyn Drumm and Lucy Morris in blue organza attended both brides. The attendants carried pink and blue carnations.

Mr. Lucier, son of the Ernest N. Luciers of Gingellville, had Norman Schultz for his best man. Chester Hensley and John Flowers were ushers.

Pvt. Charles L. Parrish of Ft. Knox, Ky., stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ruie F. Parrish of Gingellville. Charles L. Lanstrom and Kenneth V. Geeck seated guests.

For the wedding and church reception following the May 12 ceremony, Mrs. Scarborough chose turquoise and green silk print and corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Lucier, attired in a blue silk sheath dress, wore blue carnations. Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Parrish wore powder blue silk dresses.

MRS. WILBUR F. PARRISH

Both couples chose Northern Michigan for their honeymoons. The new Mrs. Parrish will complete practical nurse's training at Pontiac General Hospital, later joining her husband at Ft. Knox. The Luciers will live on Thorpe Street.

You Finish Raising Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married three years and I am still picking up after my husband. He leaves a trail of clothes from the kitchen to the bathroom.

ABBY

He never puts the cap on a tube of toothpaste or shaving cream. He never hangs up anything or puts his soiled clothes in the hamper. Honestly, you would think he was a little boy. Why are men so lazy and what can a wife do about this?

EXHAUSTED

DEAR EXHAUSTED: Your husband's sloppiness has nothing to do with laziness. His mother never finished "raising" him. Finish the job.

DEAR ABBY: I am a daughter-in-law who is stuck with my husband's mother 24 hours a day. She has three daughters, all of them married, and much better off financially than we are. But they refuse to keep her or give us a penny toward her expenses.

She is 66 and in poor health. Her mind is going, too, and I can't trust her alone in the house. I didn't marry my husband to be a 24-hour nurse for his mother, yet I can't put her out on the street.

I told my daughters what I thought of them and now they aren't speaking to me. I am 37 and look like 50. What should I do?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: You are addressing your complaint to the wrong department. Your husband should take the matter up with his sisters. If they don't want to keep their mother, they should each contribute toward her care in a good nursing home. The squeaking wheel gets the grease. Squeak!

DEAR ABBY: Our only son (22) is marrying a girl who is not speaking to us. A few months ago she found out something about us that happened years ago, which is nobody's bunsiness but ours.

The wedding will be a big affair. Isn't her mother supposed to ask me for a guest list? And aren't we automatically invited to the wedding or must we have an invitation, too? This is very embarrassing.

MOTHER OF THE GROOM

DEAR MOTHER: Although the bride isn't speaking to you, I presume the groom is. Ask him about the wedding plans and straighten it out with the parents of the bride immediately.

Pontiac area youngsters enjoy some 500 dolls that are dressed and distributed at holiday time: the Leader Dog League, the Leukemia Foundation and such civic organizations as the Pontiac Symphony are also supported by the club.

DEAF MAN PERFECTS SMALLEST HEARING AID

A remarkable midget Hearing Aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a most unusual idea and design in a product for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear but not understand. This new Hearing Instrument provides "Ear Level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech sounds, television and radio at his ear rather than at a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of new type transistors, the cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately ¼ ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

Call FE 5-0728 or write "Audivox," 1105 Pontiac State Bank Bldg., Pontiac, Mich. You will receive full information without any obligation whatever.

'Sylvan Shores' Meets

Mrs. Byron Cole will serve as president for the coming year with Mrs. W. O. Noll, vice president; Mrs. Eldred Mathes, secretary; and Mrs. Lloyd Wagner, treasurer, assisting.

Cancer dressings were completed during the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Douglas Squires, Mrs. Leon Sirlin and Mrs. Floyd Oswald.

Saugatuck Teen Pleads Guilty

Admits Killing Mother, Awaits Allegan Court Date of June 13

ALLEGAN (AP) — William Warner, 18 has pleaded guilty to homicide in the shooting death of his mother, whose body was stuffed into a steamer trunk and dumped in the Kalamazoo River.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Harry Smith brought Warner to court yesterday for the pleading and returned him to jail afterward. Judge Raymond L. Smith set June 13 for deciding the degree of homicide.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Marie E. Warner, 46, was shot twice through the head April 26. Her body was recovered by skin divers not far from the East Saugatuck home she had shared with her son for a year. She was divorced.

Warner helped state police find the body. He at first covered her disappearance by saying she had eloped, but authorities determined that her alleged farewell note to her son was a forgery by him.

Warner, who won prizes in science competitions in high school, was returned to jail to await the June 13 hearing. He has completed polygraph examinations he requested.

★ ★ ★

The youth's latest statement, quoted by state police, says he became incensed at being locked out of the house after a quarrel and shot his mother as she returned home from work.

Labor Dispute Halts the Cruise of Luxury Liner

NEW YORK (AP) — A dispute between rival seamen's unions has halted the cruise of the luxury liner Argentina, scheduled to depart today for the West Indies.

★ ★ ★

Clashing at a Hudson River pier Wednesday were members of the National Maritime Union and the Seafarers International Union. More than 100 policemen intervened in the 20-minute, fist-swinging melee. Seven members of the maritime union were arrested.

★ ★ ★

Both unions contend they hold bargaining rights with the Moore-McCormack Lines, operator of the Argentina and 27 other passenger ships. The issue is before the National Labor Relations Board.

Avon Unit Backs Zoning Board

Stymie Building of Mushroom Houses

AVON TOWNSHIP — A zoning board refusal of a permit for construction of new mushroom houses on a 30-acre site on Hamlin Road near Dequindre Road received support last night from the Township Board here.

★ ★ ★

The zoning board's report listed three reasons for its action — improper location, nuisance to nearby residents and incompatibility with township development plans.

Residents of Makary Subdivision in the area had protested expansion of the mushroom industry from the two houses now existing.

The zoning board is considering a rezoning of the area to forestall moving of the mushroom industry from adjacent Shelby Township where officials also are restricting expansion.

Township Clerk Mrs. Thelma Spencer reported that construction of a 30- by 30-foot addition to the township hall has begun with the township acting as general contractor to keep the cost down.

ELIMINATE PLANS

Plans for a basement in the addition also have been eliminated to bring the cost within the township's ability to pay. A $7,500 amount had been budgeted, but the lone bid received two weeks ago was for $14,000.

A letter from neighboring Pontiac Township informed trustees that their invitation to Pontiac Township to join the Avon-Rochester Regional Planning Commission had been accepted. Rochester also had issued an invitation.

The Township Board also joined six other Oakland County townships in adoption of a uniform ordinance regulating boat activity on lakes at its meeting here last night.

White Lake Township also adopted the ordinance last night. Five townships had approved it earlier.

Recommended by the Township Supervisors Association, the ordinance sets times for water skiing, limits boat speeds near bathing areas and restricts boat operation by persons under 14 years of age.

Dryden Area Group Elects '62-63 Officers

DRYDEN — Roswell Reynolds Jr. has been elected president of the Dryden Area Development Association for 1962-63.

★ ★ ★

Other officers elected were Nathan Valentine, vice president; Jay Dittman, secretary; and Norman Muir, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

In planning for its annual Boom Day on July 4, the Association has urged that any organization wishing to conduct a money-making project for the event contact E. J. Millikin Jr., concessions chairman.

White Lake Twp. Board Adopts Uniform Lake Law

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night adopted a water craft ordinance that will regulate activities on the township's 27 lakes.

The code, supported by the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association in order to enforce a uniform set of regulations, has been adopted by six other townships.

Major provisions of the ordinance restricts water skiing to certain hours and prohibits children under 14 years of age from operating a power boat with motor exceeding 7½ horsepower unless accompanied by an adult.

★ ★ ★

Other townships that have already approved the ordinance are Avon, West Bloomfield, Commerce, Oxford, Addison and Highland.

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Paper Co. has offered a $250 scholarship to the 1962 graduate of Rochester Senior High School who will major in package engineering or paper technology, according to a letter received in the school's counseling offices.

The letter referred specifically to a packaging engineering course at Michigan State University and to paper technology courses at Western Michigan University.

Counseling director, George Stringer, said boys whose major interest is in chemistry and mathematics would be given consideration for the scholarship.

Troy Schools to Appeal After Cut in Millage

AREA NEWS

TROY — The Board of Education has voted to appeal to the County Tax Allocation Board for restoration of .15 mills cut from 1962-63 school taxes, depriving the school system here of an estimated $6,300.

Supt. Rex M. Smith said today that loss of the tax revenue would hit the school system especially hard because of the April 2 defeat by voters of a three-mill operating tax increase proposal.

The allocation board had set the school tax rate at 9.6 mills, .15 lower than last year. Smith had expressed hope for an increase.

Interest in renting all or part of the Colerain Elementary School at John R and East Long Lake roads next year has been expressed by the Birmingham YMCA in a letter to the school board.

The board decided May 8 to close the school next year as part of a cutback program begun after the failure of the millage proposal. The Birmingham YMCA would use it for its Troy branch.

The school board has also voted to contribute $189.15 toward expenses of the Oakland County Community College Study until a vote by county residents either approves a special tax for establishment of a community college district or defeats the plan.

MOST APPROVED

A five-cent-per school-child donation had been requested by the Citizen's Steering Committee of the study from all county school districts. Committee chairman Malcolm Lovell said today that most school districts have approved the contribution.

Board members also passed a resolution saying they "would be proud to have the college located in Troy as has been rumored."

A report on whether such a college is recommended and what sites would be feasible is expected from the committee shortly.

In other action, the school board has lengthened the school day of junior high school students by 20 minutes in order to accommodate a reduction of one in the teaching staff, a move that was part of the cutback program.

Routing of Detroit Water by Dequindre Main OK'd

UTICA — Routing Detroit water to Utica via a 24-inch main from Dequindre Road has been approved by the Detroit Board of Water Commissions.

Formal approval by the Detroit Common Council is expected within a week to 10 days.

The Utica City Council has already given its okay to the plan, which will give residents better water service and access to it for less money than a previous plan for a 16-inch main along Van Dyke Road from 17-Mile Road.

If all goes well, residents here will have Detroit water by next May.

The new plan is the natural one, according to Lloyd J. Ouellette, administrative assistant in the Detroit Water Department, who said it has been in his department's long range plans for some time.

'AN EXPEDIENCY'

He said the Van Dyke main, for which agreements had been signed and construction planned, was an expediency that was made unnecessary when plans were completed to bring the city's huge 54-inch Dequindre Road main to 20-Mile Road.

The main will turn west toward Pontiac at that point, and east to Utica.

Detroit will own and be responsible for the main under the new plan, whereas Utica was to finance and build the Van Dyke main in an agreement with Sterling Township that would have reimbursed Utica 80 per cent of the cost over a period of years.

* * *

Utica is thus saved an outlay of $250,000, plus $30,000 for renovation of its water plant into a booster station required by the Van Dyke main but not by the east-west main from Dequindre Road.

Vegetable Fritters Use Up Leftovers

Reluctant to toss out those dabs of leftover vegetables? Making fritters is a novel way to put bits of leftover vegetables into company dress. Delicious Cheese-Corn-Fritters are a good example. You'll think of other ways to vary the recipe.

To make Cheese-Corn Fritters, combine 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and 1½ cups shredded sharp Cheddar Cheese. Stir together until well blended 2 beaten eggs, 1 cup drained whole kernel corn, ½ cup milk and 1½ tablespoons melted shortening or oil. Add liquid mixture to flour mixture stirring only until flour is well moistened.

Drop by tablespoonfuls into deep hot fat (375 degrees) and fry until browned (about 3 or 5 minutes), turning frequently. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with maple syrup or tomato sauce, if desired. Makes about six servings of 4 fritters each.

Michigan Foods Provide a Meal

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Michigan's agricultural products were valued at $775 million in 1961. That is big business in any language.

Do you realize that it is possible to serve an entire meal using only food grown in Michigan, if you exclude coffee?

For appetizers you can choose apple, grape or tomato juice. Almost everything on a relish plate is grown in the state.

Your main course might be beef, ham, pork, lamb, turkey, chicken or fresh water fish. Vegetables include potatoes, beets, beans, corn, tomatoes, mushrooms, asparagus and peas.

Salads and desserts made with Michigan peaches, apples, rhubarb, pears or berries are all home grown products.

Milk, butter, cereals, honey and maple syrup are extras.

We have picked out a few new recipes for you calling for Michigan foods. They are all for fruit.

Cottage pudding is a pleasant dessert. It's an old-fashioned one, but one that should be used more often. Serve it to conclude a not-too-hearty dinner, for evening refreshment, or when the neighbors drop in for coffee.

De Luxe Cherry Cottage Pudding

2½ cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1¼ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
1 egg
2-3 cup evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon almond extract
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1-3 cup cherry juice
Confectioners sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Drain cherries; save juice. Sift together dry ingredients; set aside. In mixing bowl combine butter, egg, evaporated milk, almond extract and lemon juice. Add ½ cup cherry juice to butter mixture along with the dry ingredients. Beat 3 minutes using electric mixer at medium speed or 450 strokes by hand.

Pour into pan; bake 50-55 minutes. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool cake slightly; dust top with confectioners sugar.

Meanwhile combine remaining cherry juice with cornstarch; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add cherries; cook a few minutes more. Serve hot sauce over slices of warm cake. Makes 9 servings.

It won't be long before we can buy fresh blueberries again. In the meantime we have to be satisfied with canned or, preferably, frozen ones. Michigan ranks second in the nation in blueberry production.

Blueberry Pizza is a dessert to eat out of hand. If you don't own a pizza pan, press the dough into round, square or oblong shape on a large cookie sheet.

Blueberry Pizza

¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup margarine or butter
¾ cup warm, not hot, water
1 package or cake Fleischmann's Yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
1¾ cups sifted flour
1 pint blueberries (2 cups)
½ cup brown sugar, lightly packed
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup margarine or butter

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt, and ¼ cup margarine or butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure water into large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg and flour, and beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Brush the top of the dough with soft margarine or butter; cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Meanwhile, rinse and drain blueberries on paper towel. Combine remaining ingredients. When dough has doubled in bulk, punch down and turn out into greased pizza pans; press with floured hands to fit; or press out on large cookie sheet to make 2 rounds or 1 square or oblong; make edges slightly thicker than center dough. Spread blueberries over dough almost to edge; dot with brown sugar mixture.

Bake at 375 degrees F. 35 minutes, or until done. Cut while warm into 8 to 10 wedges. Eat out of hand; or serve on dessert plates topped with whipped cream, sour cream, or ice cream. Makes one 11 or 12-inch pizza.

Rhubarb Crisp features not one, but two important Michigan products — rhubarb and cereal. The state is better known for its hothouse rhubarb than the fresh variety, but the latter is appearing in quantity now. Corn flakes, of course, are but one of the cereals processed locally.

Rhubarb Crisp

½ cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1½ cups toasted small bread cubes
2 cups corn flakes
4 cups cut fresh rhubarb

Blend butter and ½ cup sugar thoroughly; add eggs and beat well. Stir in nutmeg, vanilla, bread cubes and corn flakes. Place half of mixture in buttered 1½-quart baking dish; spread rhubarb evenly over top and sprinkle with remaining ½ cup sugar; cover with remaining corn flake mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 35 minutes or until rhubarb is done. Yield: 6 servings.

Almonds in Slaw

Use half the shredded cabbage your best slaw recipe calls for and substitute grated carrot for the other half. Toss with dressing and ½ cup slivered toasted almonds for a crunchy salad.

Special Iced Coffee Crowned in White

You can make iced coffee that's as glamorous as a coffee house "special" with this easy evaporated milk topping. Measure ⅔ cup evaporated milk into an ice cube tray and chill until partially frozen. Turn into a bowl and whip until stiff, then add 1 teaspoon cinnamon and whip to blend.

Pour chilled, strong coffee into a glass with several ice cubes and spoon on about 2 tablespoons of the pretty whipped topping. Makes 6 delightfully refreshing servings.

Corn and Mushrooms

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion (cut in thin strips)
1 can (3 ounces) broiled mushrooms
1 can (12 ounces) whole-kernel corn.

Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan; add onion. Drain mushrooms; add butter from broth and drained mushrooms to saucepan. Cook gently, stirring occasionally, until onion is wilted and lightly browned. Add drained corn; stir and reheat. Makes 4 servings.

Note: To use leftover cooked fresh corn, cut kernels from cobs so as to make 1¼ cups. Salt and pepper may be added to taste in both versions.

Butterscotch Morsels Make Delicious Sauce

Everyone loves butterscotch flavor—and children love it especially. Warm butterscotch topping adds a saucy note to puddings, cakes, ice cream. This delectable sauce has an incomparably mellow flavor and velvety texture, thanks to handy butterscotch morsels.

★ ★ ★

Bring ¼ cup light corn syrup and ⅓ cup evaporated milk just to a boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Stir in one 6-ounce package butterscotch morsels.

Pork, Eggs Are Better Buys Than Scarce Vegetables

As food shoppers begin to plan for the coming holiday, smoked and canned hams lead the value-list this week. Lack of demand has also resulted in generally lower prices on fresh pork cuts, but there are few changes in supply or price of other red meats. Some markets continue to spotlight frying chickens and eggs are still one of the best protein buys due to their low-low prices.

Fresh fruit values are increasing at a more rapid rate than vegetables. Greatest interest should be in strawberries, watermelon, Michigan McIntosh apples, oranges, bananas and Mexican cantaloupe and pineapple. Except for featured items, prices on fresh vegetables are either steady or higher due to the effect of weather in many growing areas.

PORK: Wholesale price declines resulting from a drop in demand due to the recent high temperatures are being reflected in some lower pork retails. Loin roasts and chops are being featured and holiday specials are placed on spareribs though demand has caused wholesale prices to advance. A wide array of smoked and canned hams are also in the spotlight in anticipation of the coming holiday. Bacon and luncheon meats are other good values.

This is certainly the time to take advantage of the unusually fine values on eggs for high production and seasoned storage demand is continually to hold retail at budget levels.

FRUITS: California is in its peak strawberry season as a result of heavy production from Salinas, which has the largest acreage of any district. These berries are in pint units. Some berries are also available in fair quality in quart units from Kentucky and Illinois. Though watermelon volume is picking up, the early weather conditions in Florida made it necessary to replant and the yields are not sufficient to satisfy demand.

More pineapple has also made its appearance. But remember that no more pineapple is accepted from Cuba. The fruit in the market is primarily from Mexico where the variety which is green-tinged when ripe is grown. Do not attempt to keep this fruit until the skin is yellow—it will be over-ripe. Oranges continue to be in good supply from both California and Florida.

Head lettuce has been extremely short in supply as the high temperatures in the Detroit-area have increased demand for supply which is already low.

High temperatures at shipping point are holding prices of green beans up. Dry onions and mushrooms are still good values and harvest of home grown radishes is increasing.

You Can Buy Livers Frozen for Broiling

Chicken Liver En Brochette

1 pound (12) chicken livers
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon olive oil
½ to ⅔ cup fine fresh bread crumbs
4 slices bacon
4 thin slices hot toast (buttered and cut into 8 triangles)

Wash and dry livers; cut each in half. Mix salt, pepper and olive oil. Roll livers in seasoned oil, then in bread crumbs. Cut each slice of bacon into 4 crosswise pieces.

Alternate livers and bacon (leaving a tiny space for bacon to crisp) on 4 long skewers. Broil rapidly, turning to brown both sides. Remove liver and bacon to toast. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Pep Up Sauce With Pop

An easy sauce for fried hamburger patties can be made with a 7-ounce bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Thicken the drippings in the pan with flour, stir in the beverage and season to taste with pickle relish, salt and pepper.

Canning of food by the hermetic sealing process was invented in France in the 18th century, primarily as a move to preserve the food needed to feed Napoleon's armies.

Mathematician Speaks

'Science Needed for Fuller Life'

Mathematician Warren Weaver is hoping to turn about the cynical phrase by the ancient Roman teacher Seneca that, "We learn our lessons not for life, but for the lecture room."

Since 1959 vice president of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Dr. Weaver this morning was the first scheduled speaker to present a paper in a conference at Michigan State University Oakland to find ways of teaching science both to the future scientist and to the collegian who doesn't plan to go into science as life work.

"It is my own deep and considered conviction that no young man or woman in our modern world can be a good parent, a good citizen, or a well-rounded and well-poised individual unless that man or woman has some knowledge about science," he told the National Science Foundation-supported workshop in his prepared text.

Next to giving a student vocational training, he said, a college science program must serve a developmental or cultural purpose. An effective modern parent, Weaver contends, must add some scientific knowledge to "the still more basic duty to furnish a home atmosphere, characterized by love, morality, discipline and unselfishness, and a home in which literature, art and music are honored and enjoyed.

"A modern parent certainly ought to have some understanding of health and sickness, some insight into the behavioral problems of children, some knowledge of, and concern for, the education of their youngsters, including an awareness of the need for science education," he said.

He then added that, as a modern citizen in the free world, man cannot effectively take part in "the democratic decision process" unless he understands the scientific aspects for "a large number of the most serious and the most costly decisions of local, state and national government."

LISTS ISSUES

He cited as some of these issues pollution of air, water, soil and plants; the debate over lung cancer and smoking; the need of a national support for basic research; the problem of atomic fallout; and the debate about racial superiority and its relation to segregation.

The need to know science in order to understand himself, Weaver said, is felt even in an every-day contact with nature, "when a person is going for a walk in the woods, or is building a stone wall, or is looking at the night sky, or is working in his shop or his garden—when a person is thinking—thinking about nature and about man and about man's destiny."

Accepting the limitations of time imposed on science teaching, Weaver proposed a two-course science curriculum for every college student.

The first year would be devoted to "general science" and roughly divided into four parts: The Universe, Man, the Cell and the Molecule, given in the sophomore year.

The second course would provide a minimum one semester (for five credit hours) in a science laboratory (one lecture, two quiz sections, and a laboratory each week).

Weaver explained: "It could be in physics, or chemistry or biology —perhaps in geology."

Weaver added he would like to increase the science requirement to 16 or 17 credit hours, "adding one semester course of mathematics."

"If this is out of the question," he noted wistfully, "then some mathematical ideas have to be woven into the eight-credit course and the five-credit course."

Concluded Weaver:

"I suppose it is too much to hope that students could be convinced that they had to take these courses, not to meet graduation requirements but to meet the requirements of rich and responsible living after graduation.

"But clearly these courses should not be a preparation for final examinations, but a preparation for life."

Opening lead—♣J

BY OSWALD JACOBY

In today's hand, sent me by my old correspondent, Mr. J. P. Guertin of Montreal, I have shown only 12 cards in the East and West hands. The reason is that I want you readers to be faced with the same problem that Mr. Guertin and his partner presented South.

South won the opening club with his king and led the deuce of hearts. West played the jack. This play marked him with the king.

South cashed dummy's ace of clubs and ran the diamond suit. His own discards were four spades and the queen of hearts so that he was left with the ace, king and jack of spades.

East discarded five clubs so that he was left with two small spades and one mystery card, which South knew would have to be either the seven of hearts or the queen of spades. West discarded the four-eight-nine and five of hearts and three of spades in that exact order.

If West's mystery card were the queen of spades South could make the rest of the tricks by dropping it. If it were the seven of hearts a spade finesse would be the winning play.

Actually, West's mystery card was the queen of spades and South tried the finesse and went down two tricks.

What would you have done?

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
3♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠3 ♥AQ5 ♦KJ43 ♣AJ108

What do you do?

A—In spite of the singleton spade you should realize that there may be a slam. Bid four clubs to see what your partner will do next.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Dies in New York at 83

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) —Mrs. Edith Root Grant, 83, daughter of former secretary of state Elihu Root, died Wednesday after a long illness. She was the wife of Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III, a grandson of the 18th president of the United States. She was born in New York City.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Friday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Key word is responsibility. Pressure could be brought to bear in connection with past promises. Where money is concerned, even friends could be irritable. Live up to obligations.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): See situation as it exists, not as you wish it could be. Hard work indicated today. But also a great deal of satisfaction. Give your best, and there will be rewards.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Older member of family or person in authority commands your attention. Choice of following advice or ignoring it is left to you. Better rely on experience.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Some of the more practical aspects of life must be faced today. Running away from reality accomplishes very little. Today examine money questions carefully.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Tremendous challenge could become yours. Your own strength and love for the drama of "coming from behind" could make this exciting, constructive time for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Trying to "push" your way could boomerang. Best to be diplomatic. Let opportunities, persons come to you. Take it "slow and easy," but keep moving.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You know that an emotional rut is as real as actual one. What you do about it today could affect your life for some time to come. Play with thought.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Conservative view best. Hold back on impulsive action which could cause embarrassment. Take time to make decisions, especially when they affect security, family, future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): All through the day you have the opportunity, the urge to expand. Don't hold back, but give of yourself. Be generous and helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Practical matters could "weigh" you down. But apply natural intelligence and you will see the light. Avoid being depressed over minor problems. Have faith.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Cycle up, but with opportunity comes responsibility. Don't try to shirk duties. Draw on experience, knowledge. Results and success will follow.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Do not misinterpret the signs. There's no room for superstition in your activities. Really nothing to fear. So make this day a productive one.

★ ★ ★

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . this is one of most important periods of year for you. Invest in your own ambition. You are versatile, but you often go off "track" when you insist on perfection. Take others as they are, and you will be happier.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Persons born in February apt to be in news headlines. Special word for Leo: Be diplomatic and control tendency to insist on spotlight.

How Is Britain's Socialized Medicine Doing?

By BOB CONSIDINE

Let's take time out from our own Great Debate to examine the score as it now stands, in England and Wales.

No one is forced to make use of the National Health Service but 97 per cent of the population has flocked to it.

Only 600 doctors out of a total of more than 23,000 remain outside the service.

A number of doctors have left Britain for the U. S. and other countries whose medical care is still under private enterprise, but the Rt. Hon. Enoch Powell, minister of health, maintained in a recent speech before the Royal College of Surgeons that it was nonsense to think of this emigration as a "latter day exodus." There are more doctors and more services than ever, he declared.

SERVICE FREE

The program in England and Wales is run by about 500,000 physicians, dentists, opticians, nurses, technicians, specialists, midwives, clerks, administrators, domestics and 10,000 assorted volunteers.

The service is free, with a few exceptions.

One pays his chemist 28 cents to fill as otherwise free prescription; $1.75 per lens, plus the cost of the frames, for new spectacles; $8.40 for dental treatment (or the actual cost of less than a $8.40 job), about half the actual cost of dentures—but not beyond $14—and certain body appliances.

The British are touchy about the words "socialized medicine" and resent the general impression through the world that it was the work of the Labor party no longer in power.

The plan first was presented by a Liberal, Sir William (later Lord) Beveridge, in 1942 ". . . to ensure that for every citizen there is available whatever medical treatment he requires in whatever form he requires it, domiciliary or institutional, general, specialist or consultant, and will ensure also the provision of dental, ophthalmic and surgical appliances, nursing and midwifery, and rehabilitation after accidents."

Winston Churchill, Conservative, issued a white paper in 1944 calling for adoption of the Beveridge plan, and the government of Clement Attlee, Labor, passed it.

ALL IS IN ORDER

But the Macmillan government coolly announces from time to time that all is in order — except perhaps the inrigant lady who mails her dentures to the prime minister every now and then to complain that they don't fit.

Doctors' incomes, and those of other professionals, are now under the control of the Royal Commission on physicians and dentists' remuneration, and are quite modest by American standards.

They work a six-day week, reside on night-day assignments, get in some outside work and study on the side, and are given four-week or six-week annual vacations, according to their status.

Australian Ford Eyes Worker Layoff June 1-11

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The Australian Ford Motor Co. notified half its 6,000 employes that they will be laid off between June 1-11 unless a waterfront ban on handling incoming Ford cargo is lifted.

The company said the ban had caused a critical shortage of imported parts and dislocated production.

A visitor to Britain who becomes ill is entitled to free medical care, but if he goes there for that specific purpose he must pay.

It is not known how this applies in the case of certain services of National Health Services.

For example, it provided 11,156 artificial legs in England and Wales in 1960, and 9,453 artificial eyes, 59,000 hearing aids and 9,521 wigs. The service picked up the tab for 782,637 registered births.

* * *

It entitles a person to consult a private diagnostician, pay to find out what's wrong, then enter an service hospital and have the matter taken care of "free."

* * *

It isn't free, of course. Beveridge spoke of it as ". . . a new public responsibility . . . to see that all medical facilities are available to all people."

The heavy costs are defrayed by national and local taxation, payroll deductions and, to a small degree (1/20th) from certain less-than-cost charges.

From education to business and from politics to sports, Michigan can point with pride to many great names, native or adopted.

This is Michigan Week and one of the annual highlights of this period is Sports Hall of Fame dinner such as held yesterday in the plush surroundings of the Roostertail in Detroit.

The master of ceremonies Nick Kerbawy certainly wasn't intent on exaggeration when he pointed out that under one roof it was probably the most outstanding assemblance of great sports names ever known in a Michigan gathering.

One by one the lives and achievemetns of four living and two deceased inductees for the 1962 Hall of Fame were eulogized. Many of the 36 others inducted in the past eight years took their bows as dinner guests. Al Watrous, Hal Newhouser, Tom Harmon and Whizzer White along with George Mullin and Ralph Young joined the likes of Gus Dorais, Dutch Clark, Ty Cobb, Mickey Cochrane, Lloyd Brazil, Charlie Gehringer, George Gipp, Walter Hagen, Willie Heston, Adolph Schultz, Fielding Yost and many others in the Michigan Hall for great names in sports.

One of the most interesting tales of his rise to stardom belonged to Harmon, who as a youngster can credit his love for bubble gum with an assist on the gridiron.

Varsity Meat

As a scrawny little sophomore football candidate at Horace Mann High School in Gary, Indiana, Harmon interrupted his coach's chalk-talk several times with the pop of the bubble.

The coach didn't even know his name, but he turned and pointed a strong finger at him saying, "One more pop of that bubble gum and I'll feed you to the varsity."

A moment later without thinking Harmon let go with another bubble burst. The coach called an end to his discussion and threw a red jersey at Harmon, and proceeded to tell the varsity to give this smart alec kid a going over.

Before the scrimmage session ended, Harmon had three long touchdown runs against the varsity to his credit and he had his coach on the verge of cooling his nerves with some bubble gum himself.

After two all-state years as a prep, his fabled career at the University of Michigan was one which many Wolverine football fans will never forget.

The jersey "98" has been enshrined at Ann Arbor since his graduation in 1941. Yesterday, nearly 22 years later, the wearer of that jersey himself witnessed his permanent enshrinement in Michigan's Sports Hall of Fame.

ROOKIE BOMBERS — New York Yankee manager Ralph Houk poses with two rookies who figured in the Yanks' 13-7 win over Kansas City yesterday. Joe Pepitone (left) slammed two home runs in one inning and Phil Linz holds the ball he hit for his first major league safety, a homer.

Donovan Extends Mark to 8-0

Improved Phillies Keep 'Frisco Losing

By The Associated Press

Philadelphia's flip-flop Phillies, rejoining the National League's more respected members for the 1962 campaign, have continued San Francisco's skid and trimmed another length off the Giants' bulge in that quickly tightening pennant race.

Playing solid ball after shaking off the effects of last year's disastrous 23-game losing streak and a last-place finish 46 games back, the Phillies further emphasized their regained stature by thumping the league-leading Giants 10-7 Wednesday night.

It was the third consecutive loss for the Giants and the sixth in eight games for the slipping San Franciscans, who up until a week ago were pulverizing the opposition with 17 victories in 20 games.

EYE FIRST DIVISION

Now the Phils, striving to climb into the first divison of the expanded 10-club circuit have cut the Giants edge to 1½ games while moving into a virtual tie for sixth place.

The Los Angeles Dodgers moved into second place with a 3-1 triumph over the New York Mets behind Don Drysdale's four-hitter. St. Louis, its six-game victory string ended by a 6-3 loss to Pittsburgh, dropped into third, 2½ back.

★ ★ ★

Houston blanked fourth-place Cincinnati 2-0 on Ken Johnson's five-hitter and Milwaukee beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2 as Warren Spahn posted the 314th triumph of his career with a five-hitter.

13-HIT ATTACK

Tony Taylor and rookie Ted Savage each stroked a double and two singles scoring three runs apiece to pace the Phillies' 13-hit outburst against Mike McCormick and four successors. Art Mahaffey started for the Phils, allowed only four hits through six innings, but had to leave when his arm stiffened.

The Dodgers cracked a 1-1 tie in the eighth when singles by Jim Gilliam and Willie Davis plus an intentional walk to Tommy Davis loaded them up against Mets' starter Roger Craig. Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly knocked in the winner before Frank Howard's grounder added an insurance run.

The Pirates jumped on Larry Jackson for four first inning runs when Bob Skinner tripled with two on and scored on a bad throw before Don Hoak and Howie Goss provided the other run with doubles. Ken Boyer homered for the Cards and Bill White went 4-for-4 but it wasn't enough.

Two Circuits in Inning by Rookie Triggers Big Yank Comeback

By The Associated Press

Remember the hard-luck Dick Donovan of just a year ago, with that disheartening string of five successive one-run losses? His luck is a little better this season, and so's his record. It's 8-0.

The big right-hander became the first eight-game winner in the majors Wednesday night when the Cleveland Indians cut loose with another eleventh-hour home run attack and overpowered the Chicago White Sox 5-4. Pinch hitting rookie Al Luplow and Chuck Essegian connected back-to-back in the ninth inning as the Tribe won for the third time in a week with ninth inning homers.

The victory enabled the admittedly pennant-conscious Indians to keep pace with New York in the American League race and gave another boost to the dogged Donovan, who survived that 0-5 start with Washington last season and finished 10-10 with the AL's leading earned run mark.

HALF GAME BEHIND

By winning the squeaker, Cleveland remained a half game behind the top-place Yankees, who buried Kansas City 13-7 with a nine-run eighth inning triggered and capped by rookie Joe Pepitone's two home run blasts. Boston ended a string of eight losses, beating Minnesota 6-1 and dropping the Twins to third, one game back. Washington whipped Los Angeles 7-2, Detroit and the Orioles were rained out at Baltimore.

Donovan was tagged for 10 hits, one a two-run homer by Al Smith in the first, but singled in one run himself, Dom Zanni, who had pitched strongly in relief of Juan Pizarro, was the victim of Cleveland's uprising in the ninth. Luplow led off with his score-tying homer into Comiskey Park's lower left field deck and Essegian zeroed in on the same sector with his 11th of the season.

YANK ROOKIES STAR

Pepitone and fellow rookie Phil Linz, both fill-ins for the injury-hobbled Yankees, produced handsomely in the explosive rout of the A's. Held to four hits by Dan Pfister and trailing 7-4 going into the last of the eighth, the Yanks sent a parade of 12 men to the plate, with the first eight reaching base and five scoring before a man was retired.

Pepitone kicked off the rally with a homer and climaxed it with another with two aboard, becoming the 15th major leaguer to homer twice in one inning. Linz took over at third after Clete Boyer was hit on the wrist by a pitch in the third, homered in the seventh with one on for his first hit in the majors, and sent the Yanks ahead with a two-run single in the big ninth.

The Red Sox put a halt to their skid behind the seven-hit pitching of a pair of big strong-armers, Earl Wilson and Dick Radatz. Gary Geiger had a homer and double in Boston's 13-hit offensive.

Pete Burnside pitched a nine-hitter for the last-place Senators, who broke away from the Angels in the first three innings with seven runs—four of them unearned.

Rainout Aids Tiger Plans

Slate Starters for Yank Series Starting Friday

Lary Still in Detroit; Bunning vs. Orioles Tonight

Scheffing faced today the dismal prospect of a disabled Frank Lary for at least another week. Lary did not make the road swing here and remained in Detroit for treatment of a sore shoulder.

The Tigers were scheduled to meet the Baltimore Orioles last night in the first of a two-game series but the game was postponed by rain.

The rain is about the only good thing that Scheffing can talk about because it now gives him one of his big three in the weekend series with the New York Yankees.

In fact, he said, "I feel a little better about things now."

Jim Bunning was slated for mound action against the Orioles tonight. Jack Fisher, who was scheduled for last night, will pitch for Baltimore.

ONLY NEEDS TWO

Don Mossi will start against the Yanks Friday and now Scheffing will only have to come up with two pitchers for the series, probably Hank Aguirre and Jerry Casale, with Phil Regan as another possibility.

Mossi was to have opened the series here.

Lary was taking X-ray treatments for his sore shoulder. Trainer Jack Homel said that Lary was suffering from an inflamed muscle. Homel said that it was not the same injury that had sidelined the hurler previously this season and that the tendon trouble that caused grief before was apparently over.

Homel said Lary probably threw differently when he came back to action after his previous ailment and that might have inflamed and irritated his pitching shoulder.

The Baltimore squad is not without injuries either, as catcher Gus Triandos was out with a broken finger, rookie John Powell has an injured wrist and Whitey Herzog was on the sidelines with a sprained ankle.

Chicago Seems Set for Big Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Ig you've been wondering, or even worrying, where the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight will be held, you can relax now. Chicago is the spot, on either Sept. 17 or 24. Ninety-nine per cent sure says Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Inc., appointed promoters by the champion himself, Floyd Patterson.

"Unless something comes up, Chicago is the place," said Patterson at a press conference Wednesday evening. Patterson has the right to be skeptical since the night before he thought it was all set for Detroit.

"But at the last minute I discovered that the people in Detroit were figuring on having local promoters to help stage the fight.

SOLE PROMOTERS

"I immediately said that was impossible because Championship Sports Inc., will be the sole promoters," said Patterson.

The only hitch that has to be overcome in Chicago, according to both Patterson and Bolan, is to get a "reasonable rental" for either Soldier Field or Comiskey Park.

If they should ask us for a rental of $200,000 or $300,000 for either of those fields then it's something else again," said the champion.

The poised champion, who was on hand to promote the sale of his autobiography as well as the fight, said a Chicago man, whose name he couldn't remember, will help Championship Sports but only on a salary basis.

It most likely will be Irving Schoenwald, associated with Chicago boxing for many years.

Joe Triner, a member of the Illinois Athletic Commission which has okayed Liston as a challenger, pointed out that under Illinois law a promoter must be licensed in the state for three years. That's apparently where Schotnwald comes in.

Al Bolan, brother of Tom and vice-president of CSI, is in Chicago where he has conferred with Mayor Richard Daley, Triner and Ed Short, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, who own Comiskey Park.

Patterson is partial to Chicago. It's the city where he won the then vacant heavyweight crown by knocking out Archie Moore in 1956 and it's the site of boxing's richest gate—the $2,658,660 pulled in by Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for the famous "long count" battle in 1927.

Pontiac duos finished 1-2 in Elks Lodge 810 Mixed Doubles tournament with B. Wallace and B. McLaughlin easy winners at 1,380. A 639 actual by the latter led the way.

M. Young hit 581, E. Serrell 245 for women's high scores. H. Fields fired 680 and J. VanLaan 254 to pace the men. VanLaan is from Bay City, the others from Pontiac.

Student Kris Verwey and teacher John Blake won the 1st Madison Junior High student-teacher meet with 1,208 at 300 Bowl. Blake's 245 and 600 scores topped 80 keglers. Tom Keeley and Don Paterra followed at 1,175. Jim Bronson-Judy Packard 1,166, Mary DeClute-Thor Peterson, Bill Pointer-Bob Vackaro and Teri Cole-Betty Fournier.

Trophies were awarded at a banquet after the bowling. Student Keeley was honored as originator of the tourney climaxing the Madison Bowling Club season.

HOT AT LAKEWOOD

The trios at Lakewood will have to go some through the summer to match opening night. Bernie Greenwood, who has progressed through the junior ranks there, led the siege with 259-633. Jerry Sloat hit 669, Bill Bull 267-660 and John Casper 267. There were several other 600 series.

PNH Netters Lose, 4-1

Pontiac Northern closes its tennis season today facing Pontiac Central for the second time. The teams opened the season and PCH scored a 4-3 decision.

Yesterday, the Huskies lost an Inter-Lakes dual match to Farmington, 4-1, getting the only victory in the first singles match. Fred Kern bested Wes Orr, 6-3 and 6-1.

Top Baron Award Won by Schweppe

Jon Schweppe was honored as the outstanding athlete of the year heading the awards presented last night at the annual Bloomfield Hills High School all-sports banquet.

He was given his award by guest speaker Dick Mills of the Detroit Lions football team. It is based on participation, athletic value, scholastic, and other factors.

The Dad's Club award for the top scholar among lettermen went to Ralph Hesler. Brian O'Neil got the Scott trophy for showing the best spirit and inspiration.

Most valuable player prizes went to Fritz Stressen-Reuter (football), Bob Smith (cross country), Art Tyegenza (basketball), Dave Noyes (track), Bill Petitbone (baseball) and John Gerhard (tennis). Golf is still undecided. Skiers, fencers and cheerleaders were also honored.

Walled Lake Golf Team Threatens Hills' Reign

By BILL CORNWELL

★ ★ ★

"Which team in The Pontiac Press tournament do you think will be your toughest rival?" Amell inquired.

"Walled Lake, definitely," was Dennis' quick reply. "Based on their performance in the regionals last week, we'll have to say Walled Lake."

Not considered too much of a threat when the season began, the Vikings of Leo Folsom earned respect with their 3rd place finish in the Class A regional tourney last Friday at Brighton.

★ ★ ★

That position gained them a spot in Saturday's state meet at Saginaw Country Club and also stamped them as threats to Bloomfield Hills' reign in the 11th annual Press Prep Invitational.

★ ★ ★

A field of 20 five-man teams from the Oakland County area, largest in tournament history, will compete in the Press Invitational nest Monday at Pontiac C.C.

Defending champion Bloomfield Hills, runnerup in the Brighton regional, is undefeated in 39 consecutive regular season meets and a strong choice to win the Press event again.

But Walled Lake's showing at Burroughs made it clear to Dennis and his squad that the Vikings must be considered contenders for the title the Barons won a year ago by a whopping 16 strokes.

Spearheading the Walled Lake challenge will be Briane Keen, who qualified for the National Jaycee golf tournament last summer at Denver and a consistent shooter in the mid and upper 70s.

The balance of the Walled Lake outfit averages close to 80 and this kind of balance is required to bid for top honors in a five-man event.

Folsom's other four starters next Monday are expected to be Tom Kretzschman, Jerry MacCormick, Ed Sabbaugh and John Streckling.

Walled Lake surprised a lot of people two years ago by taking the Press championsjip in a year when six-time champion Birmingham Seaholm was heavily favored.

In Dennis' eyes, the Vikings could be plenty of trouble this time.

SCORING SKIPPER — Sian Grant crosses home plate at Wisner Field with Waterford run as Skippers blanked Pontiac Central 3-0 yesterday. Chief pitcher John Marcoux (16) and catcher Jim Persinger (2) watch play in outfield.

Local Golfer Scores an Ace —So to Speak

There's only one thing wrong—he made it on the wrong green.

Carnahan, who lives at 1323 Nancywood Court, was playing with John Edwards, Jim Barriault and Bob Burley at Pontiac Municipal golf course in the Oakland County Service Building League.

Detroit was rated eleventh in the standings made public yesterday, and Michigan was ranked fourteenth in the nation.

Waterford Teams Post Big Wins; PHN Bows

Falcons Track Champions

Track and baseball were in the area prep sports spotlight yesterday afternoon.

Rochester beat out Kettering in a two-team battle for the Tri-County championship. Waterford ripped Southfield by one point and Pontiac Northern was beaten by Farmington featuring the track doings.

Headlining in baseball was a 5-0 upset of Pontiac Central by Waterford and a rare forfeit at Northville.

Rochester, with Pete Long getting three 1sts and a tie for 2nd, scored 69 5-6 points, Kettering 53 5-6, Romeo 24 1-3, L'Anse Creuse 22 and Lapeer 13.

Long won the broad jump, high hurdles and 220. Another big factor was a sweep of the low hurdles led by Ted Swoboda in 21.6.

CAPTAINS SET 4 RECORDS

Kettering set four league records in bowing. They were by John Popovich with a 4:37.3 mile, Orval Mullens with 10.2 in the 100 preliminaries, a 3:39.2 mile relay and a 10-9 pole vault by Gary Buchanan. Long equalled the standard in the highs in 15.3.

A victory at 11-6 by Gary Rieves gave the Skippers a 65-54 track verdict. The pole vault was the last event with the score 59-59. Chuck Cole had 15.9 in the highs and 21.1 in the lows, Rick LaBair took the 100 in 11 seconds and the 220 in 23.8 as Waterford double victors. Jim Mercer won the mile in 4:36.6 and Ron Liles the high jump in 5-7.

Southfield won both relays and got 1sts from Craig, Diehl, Crawford and Andrews. Crawford also two 2nds.

A disqualification in the 880 relay in a handoff violation and the absence of Ernie Stroseski due to the death of his father hurt PNH considerably in a 61-48 setback.

John Harris took the broad jump in 19-1½ and the high jump in 5-6 while Ed Perry ran the 220 in 23.6 and the 100 in 10.7 to account for four Huskies triumphs. Rick Fisher won the 440 in 54.5. Larry Bister won the pole vault at 11-6. Farmington took both relays. Pepper's 42-6 shot out, wins in both hurdles by Patterson and 1sts in the 880 and mile were other Falcon features.

Titans Outlast MSU for 22nd Victory

EAST LANSING (AP) — All-victorious University of Detroit pitcher Pete Craig outlasted five Michigan State hurlers 16-11 yesterday to give U. of D. its 22nd win in 24 starts this season.

A 12-run explosion in the eighth inning catapulted Detroit from a deficit of 9-4 to a decisive lead. Craig allowed 12 hits and his teammates tagged opposition pitchers for 17.

Glen Goode racked up four RBI's, three of them in the eighth on a home run. Teammate Fred Bowen had three RBI's.

Ortonville's thinclads walloped Flint Hamady 71 1-3 to 37 2-3 posting 10 1sts. Bill Atkins scored 7¼ points topped by a 220 triumph. The mile relay team of Randy Krug, Mike Moore, John Meyers and Jerry Cleveland set a school record in 3:49.9. Ron Kansuba also helped spark the 4th straight dual victory with a 43-9 3-4 shot put for a new OHS high.

ABEL FIRES GEM

Dave Abel two-hit Central getting out of two jams. Loser John Marcoux gave up just four safeties. One was a bad-hop double by Dick Toles which scored two runs. Dave Tinkus singled in the other. Waterford is now 4-9.

Northville had a 1-0 lead in the 1st inning when a balk called on the South Lyon pitcher caused a dispute. The result was Lion coach Fred Gerhard took his team off the field and forfeited.

Royal Oak Kimball, another entry in the Oakland County Invitational tournament next week, scored the winning run in the bottom of the 7th to defeat Cranbrook, 6-5.

Chuck Meagher's double drove in the winning run. Meagher led the hitting attack with two singles, and a double, scoring two runs and driving in the big one.

Kim Hillston, who relieved starter Russ Maynard in the third, was the winner. Maynard however did not leave the game. He donned the catcher's mitt and worked behind the plate for the final four innings. The seven Cranbrook hits were scattered among seven different hitters including Tom Bennett's homer in the 6th. Crane pitchers John Billeadon and John Jacoby gave Kimball only five hits, but seven Cranbrook errors spelled the difference.

Former AL Star Rip Radcliff Has Fatal Attack

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Former major league baseball player Raymond Allen (Rip) Radcliff died of an apparent heart attack Wednesday night at his home here. He was 55.

Radcliff, a first baseman and outfielder, who batted over .300 in five of the 10 seasons he played for major league teams, had been ill for some time.

He started out in the majors in 1934 with the Chicago White Sox, and later played with the St. Louis Browns and Detroit until 1943.

Hornung Has Surgery

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cpl. Paul Hornung, the Green Bay Packer football star, probably will be out of the hospital in five or six days and back to full duty in the army in two or three weeks.

He was operated on for appendicitis yesterday. The attack developed Monday night when he stopped here on his way back to Ft. Riley, Kan., from weekend leave.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Charlie Barker never has been known to be the bashful type so it's hard to understand why he waited this long to reveal his classic double eagle deuce at Pontiac Country Club.

Quite some time ago—yours truly refuses to say exactly when—the veteran Pontiac golfer deuced the 495-yard par five third hole at P.C.C. in a very unusual way.

Barker, an active public links player who climbs two rungs on a stepladder for a chin-to-chin visit with most mortals, disclosed the famour shot during one of his more talkative moods.

Rather "sky and retiring" by nature, Barker broke down under pressure and recounted the incident.

BARKER

Barker was part of a foursome that included Al Drake, Bill Abare and Danny Odneal. The story is verified by Drake, who occasionally puts aside his paint brush to play a round or two of golf.

A poor tee shot convinced Barker that he needed a No. 3 wood for his 2nd blow. Another foursome was on the green when the mighty mite of the fairways cut loose.

The ball landed on the putting surface, rolled toward the hole, spun around the cup, then sat on the lip.

Someone on the green religiously marked the ball. After putting out, Barker's ball was again spotted on the edge of the cup and the group headed for the 4th tee.

Barker, Drake, Abare and Odneal strode toward the green. Then, by golly, it happened! Barker's ball fell into the hole.

SHORT PUTTS

Chuck Menefee, Ann Arbor High School junior, putted with a 2-iron for the first three holes of the Class A prep regionals last Friday at Brighton's Burroughs golf course because he had left his putter in the clubhouse. He putted with the 2-iron while an errand boy retrieved the missing club. Menefee was medalist with a one-over-par 72.

Gene Wright, St. Frederick coach, has returned to Warwick Hills as caddiemaster for head pro Gene Bone . . . Sal Pomante, former Michigan Publinx golf star, has turned pro and is operating the new Swing-Rite Driving Range on the corner of 13-Mile Road and Northwestern.

The Golf Association of Michigan's ever-expanding membership has increased to 68 clubs with the addition of Grand Rapids' Cascade Hills and Frankfort's Crystal Downs.

★ ★ ★

A Pleasant Ridge man, D.S. Johnstone, fired a hole-in-one at Sylvan Glen. Johnstone used his wedge to ace the 120-yard 17th hole . . . Pete Green of Orchard Lake passed local 36-hole U.S. Open qualifying trials Monday at Burlington, N.C., and touring pro Dave Hill, formerly of Jackson, did the same at Hot Springs, Ark.

WSU Runners Unbeaten

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne State defeated Eastern Michigan in track yesterday for the first time since 1946, winning 84 1-3 to 45 2-3.

Wayne men took ten first places to Eastern Michigan's five and finished in one-two-three order in the mile, high jump and javelin. Wayne ended its season with six wins, no losses and the President's Conference championship.

Double winners for Wayne State were Dale Barrack in the mile and 880 and John Kocher in the 120 high and 220 low hurdles.

Noted Net Pro to Hold Clinic in Birmingham

George Jennings, noted tennis professional who was a member of 1931 U.S. Davis Cup squad, will give a tennis clinic Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Birmingham's Eton Park.

Jennings, presently the tennis coach at Lake Forest College in Illinois, won the National Public Parks championship four straight years starting in 1928 and after his year with the U.S. Davis Cup team he turned pro in 1933.

A commander in the U.S. Navy reserve, Jennings holds a degree in electrical engineering and he conducts his own tennis school for six weeks each summer in the Chicago area.

The clinic, sponsored by the Birmingham recreation department, is open to the public. Jennings will follow the clinic with an exhibition.

Palmer Tests 'Open' Course

OAKMONT, Pa., (AP) — "She's a monster," Arnold Palmer said after coming to friendly grips with his next major golf antagonist—the Oakmont Country Club.

This piece of real estate nestling in the western Pennsylvania hills is the site of the 62nd National Open Championship June 14-16. Palmer, the game's greatest player, drove the 42 miles from his home in Latrobe, Pa., to play the course for the first time in four years.

"She's going to be awfully tough," golf's leading money winner and prime tournament favorite said after a scrambling 38 holes Wednesday. "I'm having to revise my estimates. Originally, I said 275 would win the Open here. Now I believe it'll be nearer 280."

FATHER AND SON

Palmer toured the 6,916-yard, par 71 layout with his professional father, Milfred (Pap) Palmer and two Latrobe neighbors, Harry Saxman and Ken Bowman.

"I didn't keep a score but I must have shot an 80," he said afterward, perspiration rolling off his deeply-tanned face. "I'll play it again later this week more seriously. I should get a better idea then."

Palmer's first practice whack at the championship course was full of distractions. He had to stop between shots to pose for magazine and newspaper camermen. One of the most obliging champions in sports, he never balked and never showed impatience.

Playing the back nine first on the par 36-37 course, Palmer started bogey-double bogey-bogey. He three-putted the 10th, slammed his drive into a deep ditch and three-putted the 11th and took three from the edge on the 12th.

He complained to Frank Hannegan, a member of the U.S. Golf Association staff and one of the spectators, about the hour-glass cut of the fairways on some holes —particularly the 10th, 11th and 12th and the first and second on the outgoing nine.

The fairways offer a large target to the short hitters but taper to as little as 30 yards in the area where the game's longer drivers, such as Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Sam Snead might hit the ball.

Pontiac Entries Compete

State Skate Meet in Flint

Roller skaters from Pontiac will have a large representative at the Michigan State Amateur Roller Skating championships which start Saturday at the Rollhaven in Flint.

The meet will continue through Wednesday, May 30th, with nearly 400 skaters participating.

The top three winners in each division will be eligible to enter the Great Lakes Regional Championships at Euclid, Ohio, June 27-July 1 and from there to the 1962 National Amateur championships July 29-August 8 in Lincoln, Nebraska.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Senior Fours Champions, Louis Parker, Sylvia Ritchie, Sue Welch and Dave Schafer have split, but Schafer and Welch will return to defend the crown with new partners.

Cecilia Dartmont, runnerup in the senior ladies figures last year, will attempt to take top honors this year as will Jim Bell and Carol White, intermediate dance runners-up.

Mauls Way to Win

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Tommy Schaefer, 140, of Miami Beach mauled his way to a decision over Jackie Kelly, 141½, of New York City Wednesday night in 10 rounds at Miami Beach Auditorium.

There were no knockdowns. The card drew 1,658 spectators who paid $2,238.

73 Runs Scored in City Softball

Huron-Airway Forfeits to Talbott in Class A Baseball Duel

Runs were a dime-a-dozen in City League softball program at Beaudette and Northside parks. A total of 73 runs crossed the plate.

First Presbyterian routed St. Joseph Hospital, 17-5, with Chuck Young going 3-for-3 to pace a 13-hit assault.

Jim Cluk's two-run homer was a highlight of Motorcar Transport's 11-8 victory over G & M Construction and Ernie Virgil also socked a homer with a mate aboard as State Hospital drubbed Harry's Hideaway, 12-3.

Langdon's Boat Livery outscored Dixie Tool & Machine, 11-8, in an International loop game. Dixie's John Fowler and Langdon's Tom Boucher each made three hits.

Yesterday's other three games were National division affairs.

Talbott Lumber was a forfeit winner over Huron-Airway last night in a scheduled Class A City League baseball game at Jaycee Park. Huron had only eight eligible players ready to go at the 7:45 starting time.

Top Amateurs on Tee in State Medal Play

The Michigan Medal Play Golf Championship, also known as the Chuck Kocsis "benefit," begins a three-day 72-hole stand Friday at Birmingham Country Club.

This annual classic has jestingly assumed the Kocsis "benefit" label for an obvious reason — the peerless Royal Oak amateur has won five of the seven previous events.

Kocsis will be gunning for his 6th crown and 5th in succession this weekend at Birmingham's par 36-35—71 course and don't bet too heavily against him.

The Kocsis "benefit" has become anything but a joke for the state's finest amateur golfers who have tried in vain to stop this incomparable golfing machine.

Kocsis failed to win two of the past seven tourneys and those championships were annexed by Bob Babbish, who has entered the 1962 tournament after a two-year absence.

Babbish, whose activity on the links has been limited in recent years due to business responsibilities, has never been called a stylist, but he's still one of the state's best amateurs.

Kocsis, six-time Michigan Amateur champion, will be challenged by 36 top-flight players, including brother Sam, Bud and Don Stevens, Tom Draper, Glenn Johnson, defending State Publinx champ Doug Wilson and Pontiac's Mike Antonian.

The Michigan Medal Play tournament is an exclusive invitational event. Invitations are extended only to those golfers who have made outstanding tourney records over the years.

Thirty-six holes are scheduled tomorrow, followed by 18-hole rounds Saturday and Sunday. The field will be cut after the first 36 holes to the low 24 shooters or anyone within 10 strokes of the leader.

Originally scheduled during the month of May, the tournament was moved to September, then returned to May.

Pairings and starting times:

9 a.m.-1:30 p.m.—Bill Pellibone, Perry Brant, Jack Elton.
9:07-1:37—Orlyn Cook, Don Cochran, Keith LeClair.

YOUR BOAT

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

An aviator's check list is not necessary in a small boat, but there are things that should be checked before you get under way.

★ ★ ★

Knowing what weather is in store is important, especially before taking off for a long trip. You should have one-third more fuel than you need to take you where you plan to go and back.

If your motor is enclosed, it should be ventilated and the bilge pumped before taking off.

Most of the serious fires and explosions on inboard boats are caused by heavier-than-air gasoline fumes which sink to the bottom of an enclosure, fumes which are so highly volatile that a tiny spark will set them off.

★ ★ ★

Make sure you have one life-saving device for each person and charts if you're going into strange or tricky waters. Check your lights if there is a chance you'll stay out after dark.

Warm up your engine well.

BILGE should be pumped.

HTA on Friday at Hazel Park

Mighty Tide Favored After 2 Straight Wins in Pace Series

Mighty Tide will be the horse to beat when the Harness Tracks of America Pace makes its annual visit to Hazel Park Harness Raceway Friday night.

The HTA Pace, a series of eight races for the nation's top four year old pacers, will be making its third stop and Mighty Tide will be after his third straight win.

The New York owned pacer won the HTA opener at Rosecroft Raceway in Maryland with a track mark of 2:00 2-5. Last Friday night he repeated by breezing to a 2:01 4-5 victory at Chicago's Maywood Park.

The HTA will be visiting Hazel Park for the 6th season this Friday and all but two of those have seen the event go in record time. Sampson Direct was the 2:01 1-5 winner last year.

The $50,000 finale will be held July 5 at Yonkers Raceway in New York.

Four No-Hit Innings Then Crash for A & W

All went well for A & W pitcher Jerry Caldwell for four no-hit innings, but then he lost the range and Haskin's Chevy romped over A & W, 11-1, in Waterford's class C softball league last night.

Haskin's collected 8 runs in the bottom of the 6th on only two hits, eight walks and seven errors, and the game was called due to the 10-run rule.

It was the first loss for A & W, the last unbeaten in the league. Winning pitcher Matt Jarrett gave up three hits.

In another class C game, Ron Kasher drove in three runs to lead Dixie Bar to a 6-3 win over Rockcote. Norm Tick the winner gave up five hits, and it prevented Rockcote from going into a three way tie for the lead with A & W and Larry's Bar.

Americas Cup Preview

Newsmen See U.S. Yacht

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — The mystery America's Cup contender was seen by newsmen for the first time Wednesday and if the yacht is as fast as she is beautiful she will be a hard boat to beat.

Twenty workmen are finishing painting of the sleek mahogany hull of the yet unnamed yacht. It is scheduled now for launching Saturday at midnight.

The concept of the new craft is one of a wider, lighter design. It was discussed at Massachusetts Institute of Technology Tuesday night by co-skipper Don McNamara at a seminar of the Yacht Racing Union of Massachusetts.

The yacht, built in secrecy, has a 13-foot beam, a foot wider than Australian challenger Gretel and more than 15 inches wider than the other existing American yachts which will compete in the America's Cup trials.

Her displacement will be roughly 57,500 pounds compared to Columbia's 59,200 and Gretel's 60,480.

★ ★ ★

The America's Cup races are scheduled to start off Newport, R.I., Sept. 15.

Jacob Sher's Sherluck paid the highest mutuel in the history of the Belmont Stakes in 1961. The return for $2 was $132.10.

War Declared by Cage Loops

Shift of Warriors to Bring Law Suit; ABL Foe After Wilt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Open warfare flared on the professional basketball front today following the announcement that the Philadelphia Warriors would be moved to San Francisco for the 1962-63 season to campaign against the Saints of the American Basketball League.

Along with the announcement from the National Basketball Association of the move, came a flat statement from the owners of the Saints that they would be ready to do battle.

"We already are negotiating to get Chamberlain away from them," said Kevin O'Shea, general manager of the Saints. "He has his 1962-63 contract to play out, but we hope to get him for the following season."

The Saints had announced earlier they would file a $3 million dollar suit against the NBA on an anti-trust basis.

Negotiations to bring the Warriors to San Francisco had been going on for more than three months. NBA owners turned down the proposal less than three weeks ago but reconsidered and voted for the move, 7-2, at a New York meeting yesterday.

NFL Leader Given Bonus, $10,000 Raise

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League has extended another solid vote of confidence in Commissioner Pete Rozelle by voting him a $10,000 bonus and boosting his salary $10,000 to $60,000 a year for five years.

In less than two years, the successor to the late Bert Bell has led the league to a clear cut court victory over the rival American Football League and helped clear the way for a new $9.3 million two-year single network (CBS) television deal.

As a result of the court victory the league no longer lives under the shadow of a huge damage action. Under the new TV contract each club is expected to get $320,000 a year from the TV rights.

"We have no further expansion moves in mind until our two newest clubs (Minnesota and Dallas) are soundly well off the ground," said Rozelle, when asked about the future.

Technical Recovery Ups Stocks

The list was up from the start and the ticker tape ran as much as three minutes late as traders jumped in to profit by the upswing. First-hour volume was a heavy 990,000 shares compared with 1.05 million Wednesday.

MOSTLY HIGHER

Steels, motors, oils, chemicals, tobaccos, electrical equipments and mail order - retails were mostly higher. Building materials were off and drugs mixed.

International Business Machine was a prime example of a quick turnabout. In early trading it advanced 10¾ from Wednesday's low to 426 but as the market upswing began to falter it fell to a new low for the year of 408 showing a net loss of 9¼.

Beckman Instruments was up more than 5, Litton Industries and Polaroid sharply cut gains of about 3 each. Xerox erased a gain of about 2 and showed a net loss of more than a point.

DIPS 2 POINTS

Some sizable blocks were traded. Boeing dropped 2 to 40 on 5,000 shares. Champlin Oil advanced ¼ to 27½ on 19,700 shares. Goodyear was up ⅝ at 36 on successive blocks of 10,000 shares apiece.

Prices were generally higher in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up around 3 points were Anken Chemical, Paddington "A", and Sherwin-Williams. Atlantic sea.hrce.ft Syntex, Aerojet-General and Liberty Fabrics rose about a apiece.

Treasury Issues Climbing

An over-the-counter dealer in governments quoted distant maturities up 4/32 and intermediates up somewhat less. Bills were firm and steady. Trading was moderate.

Among the larger losses was a drop of 2⅞ at 84½ by the Southern Bell Telephone 2s. AT&T 2¾s rose ⅞ at 86.

The New York Stock Exchange

Due to technical problems beyond our control, a number of stocks in the C through H listing were omitted. The Press regrets this and will do all in its power to correct the difficulty.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO EXPRESS OUR thanks and appreciation to the many friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness, gifts of flowers and expressions of sympathy during the loss of our beloved husband and father, Earl F. Hampton. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Paul T. Hart, also the Fisher Body Division and the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.
—The family of Earl F. Hampton.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF BERtha O. Sprague, who passed away March 24, 1961.
We often talk of our memories;
We loved her so tenderly.
Life doesn't hear us so sad,
Not the fun we used to have;
But she was ready to meet Him there.
In His beautiful Garden of Prayer.

House Unit Gives Okay for Proposed Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Public Works subcommittee yesterday approved General Services Administration proposals for a new federal building at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., estimated to cost $339,000.

Approval of the project, a new border station, by the subcommittee sent it to the full committee for consideration. The Senate Public Works Committee already has approved.

Michigan Chiefs Advised to Build State Brainpower

"You must exploit the fact that the Midwest, with its great university resources and heavy annual production of Ph. D's and other professionals, has an opportunity . . . to participate in military research," Morris told a Michigan Week luncheon yesterday.

He said military procurement patterns in the next decade "may well be foreshadowed by the extent to which each community invests its resources today in the new research frontiers of tomorrow."

Baby Dies in Accident

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — A 15-month-old baby, run over by a tractor being backed out of a garage by the baby's grandfather, died yesterday. State police said the grandfather, Otis Tripp, ran over Francis Scott Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carey.

The MacMillan Arctic Expedition of 1925, sponsored by the National Geographic Society, marked the first extensive use of aircraft in polar exploration.

Lashes Out at Doctors

JFK Heatedly Pushing Medicare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has made his no-compromise stand on medical care for the aged more emphatic than ever. He insists on weaving it into the Social Security system. He says the public wants it that way.

Firing another broadside at the American Medical Association Wednesday, Kennedy repeated his prediction that Congress will adopt his plan this year if it reaches the House and Senate floors. And he contended that despite AMA opposition, "more and more doctors are supporting it."

Kennedy heatedly attacked the AMA and Republican critics of his medical care program at his news conference—a conference dominated by his strong views on the big legislative controversy of 1962. The questioning elicited these comments and charges:

UNDER 65

Kennedy said he does not plan to follow up his current proposal for payment of hospital, nursing home and outpatient bills with a plan to cover doctors' bills. He accused critics of talking through both sides of the mouth. They criticized it one day, he said, for "going too far in limiting the relationship between doctors and their patients, and on another day attacked it for not including doctors."

★ ★ ★

AMA spokesmen have denounced the plan as "a cruel hoax." Kennedy said the association used the same words in unsuccessfully opposing Social Security in the 1930s. The AMA may not support this bill, he said, "but I think the American people will, and I think more and more doctors are supporting it."

Would he accept a compromise that omitted Social Security financing?

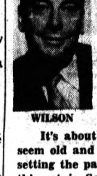
No, he replied. Social Security is the heart of the bill.

"That isn't a compromise. That would be just giving up on the bill and we don't plan to do that."

'New Youth' of Europe Will Produce Statesmen

By EARL WILSON

MONTE CARLO — Some French sailors were sitting on a dangerous curve on a highway along the Mediterranean at 1 o'clock in the morning—on chairs.



WILSON

Not far from Grace Kelly's palace, they were playing their own version of "Chicken," or Russian Roulette. There in the dark, they were betting their lives that the sports cars screeching around the cornice would stop suddenly a few feet from them and not grind them to bits. And they were winning! They had dragged their chairs onto the highway from a nearby cafe . . . and they were alive, and laughing, and a little high.

This is the "new youth" that we see all over Europe today.

It's about the same as our own. It makes Paul Anka seem old and Bobby Darin positively antiquated. Rome is setting the pace now, more than Paris, and the goddess of this set is Sophia Loren — or, to take somebody their own age, Susan Strassberg. They are pretty interesting kids. They don't drink too much . . . nor get too promiscuous . . . and if they lean heavily on each other while dancing, it may only be that they're tired.

Strangely, their morals are on the upgrade.

They go to the "Whisky-A-Gogo" spots hereabouts, dance to records on just a couple of drinks, and have a pretty respectable time. They may act shock-proof, because with the parents they've had, and the wars they've been through, and the scandal magazines and newspaper columns they've read, there's nothing much that'll raise their eyebrows any more.

In 20 or 30 years one of these youngsters will be the new JFK and another probably the new DeGaulle and maybe another one the new Mr. K. We hope we get the one that's the sharpie for our side.

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK . . .

Liz Taylor, who caused Spyros Skouras a headache or two, sent him a get-well wire after his surgery at St. Luke's Hosp. . . . Nancy Sinatra's record, "Like I Do," is a big hit in Rome. . . . Broderick Crawford bought his bride two fur coats at (13Gs worth)—and she immediately exchanged 'em for a stole.

EARL'S PEARLS: This month marks the 25th anniversary of Lindbergh's flight to Paris in 33 hours. Considering the trip to the airport today, that's still pretty good time.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local husband confided to friends, "I've tiptoed into my house so often at 4 a.m. that my neighbors think I'm a ballet dancer."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The hardest relative to borrow money from is a wife. . . . That's earl, brother.

Decide on 3rd Orbit Despite Trouble

AP Photofax

GOOD LUCK WISH FROM GLENN — Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter gets a farewell handshake from John Glenn, the man who preceded him into orbit around the earth. They parted company on the 11th deck of the gantry surrounding the Aurora 7 and its Atlas booster early today as Carpenter prepared to enter his capsule.

Too Much Fuel Used in Early Flight Stages

Carpenter Ordered to Limit Consumption of Hydrogen Peroxide

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In a masterful display of cool courage, Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter completed his second orbit of the globe today and prepared to come back to earth after one more circuit.

Rapid fuel consumption in his Aurora 7 spaceship caused great concern during his second orbit. But after careful consultation with the pilot, the Mercury control center reported:

"We see no reason why he shouldn't continue into the third orbit; but we emphasize that he limit his automatic fuel consumption."

More Pictures, Story on Page 17

If a decision had been made to bring him down after two orbits, his reverse rockets would have been fired over Point Arguello and he would have descended gradually over the United States to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean 800 miles south of Bermuda.

Officials detected fast consumption of the fuel shortly after the second orbit began and told Carpenter to begin using his manual control system at that time to conserve the valuable hydrogen peroxide.

This is used to control the attitude of the craft.

Should Carpenter use up all his fuel, he would have no way of controlling the attitude.

There might be danger that the heat shield would not be in a forward position to protect the craft from the 3,000-degree re-entry heat, and it would burn up, killing the astronaut.

Apparently he did not hear the original order, which came from the Canary Island tracking station, and it had to be repeated by two posts in Australia, Muchea and Woomera.

ENOUGH FOR 3

He reported there was enough to complete a three orbit mission and the order was given to proceed.

As he passed over Point Arguello, Carpenter told astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. who is stationed there, that he again noted "snowflakes."

He first reported seeing them in small numbers on the first orbit at about the same relative time — during sunrise.

★ ★ ★

"There are more of those white particles," Carpenter told Shepard. "They appear to be traveling exactly my speed. There's one drifting off and it appears to be going even faster.

"They look exactly like snowflakes to me."

He said he did not see them in the great numbers that John H. Glenn Jr., America's first man in orbit, saw his famous fireflies. Carpenter said his snowflakes were "in a sort of rambling pattern."

WATER TASTES 'GOOD'

Carpenter said he also had been getting a little warm and drank some water over Canton Island in the Pacific. He said it tasted "very good."

As he passed over Cape Canaveral just before entering the third orbit, he attempted to jettison a balloon which he had

FBI Arrests Topp on Chicago Street

Sheldry W. Topp, arrested yesterday by FBI agents in Chicago, will be returned to Pontiac within three days to face a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of Oakland County's chief assistant corporation counsel.

Topp, 17-year-old Pontiac State Hospital escapee, was scheduled to be arraigned today before the U.S. commissioner in Chicago on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the murder.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons said he would send detectives to pick up Topp today, tomorrow or whenever federal authorities are ready to transfer the youth. The commissioner's office in Chicago indicated it may take three days to process the case there.

Irons said he received information yesterday afternoon that Topp was in Chicago. The sheriff said he notified the FBI office here and the information was relayed to Chicago. Irons said he could not reveal the source of his information.

DIDN'T RESIST

The five-day search for Topp ended about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when agents spotted Topp walking along a street on Chicago's North Side. He was unarmed and put up no resistance, agents reported.

Ironically, Topp was residing in Chicago under the assumed name of Chester Davis. The initials and last name of Topp's alias were the same as those of the man he is accused of killing — Charles A. Davis.

Davis, 50, was found dead before noon last Thursday in his isolated Pontiac Township home at 6665 South Blvd. He had been stabbed four times and struck over the head with a flashlight in the early morning hours of the previous day.

Sheriff's detectives later discovered Topp had escaped from the Pontiac hospital hours before the murder. Topp's fingerprints were found in the kitchen of the victim's home and on Davis' car.

The car was found abandoned following a hit run accident last Thursday morning in Milwaukee, Wis. The search for the missing youth centered in Milwaukee until he was found yesterday.

Pontiac Sales Top '61 Model

Retail Deliveries on New Cars Already Better Than Last Year

★ ★ ★

Retail deliveries of 1962 models since they first went on sale last September total 350,851, about 5,000 more than the 1961 model year total, said Frank W. Bridge, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

During the second 10-day sales period in May, a total of 14,817 new Pontiacs and Tempests were delivered to customers.

This represents a 52 per cent increase over the same period a year ago, Bridge said. This year's figure represents deliveries of 10,823 Pontiacs and 3,994 Tempests.

TREND CONTINUED

Last year's total for the period was 9,732.

★ ★ ★

The record-breaking trend continued throughout the auto industry with Chevrolet, Ford and Rambler all setting records for the second 10-day period of May.

Ford said its car-selling rate in the second 10-day period of May was the highest for any midmonth period since last November.

Rambler reported sales for the first 20 days of May up 18.5 per cent over the 20,260 sold in the comparable period of 1961. Sales of 24,010 in the first 10 days of May set a record for Rambler.

Chevrolet said car sales during the second 10 days of May were 20 per cent higher than the previous record for the period, 56,809 cars set in 1960.

Chevrolet said combined car and truck sales also established a new company record for the period. Sales were 24 per cent better than 1961 comparative figures and 17 per cent better than a 1960 comparison.

Ford said car sales for the second 10 days of May totaled 41,360, equal to a daily rate of 5,170. This was 160 cars a day—15 per cent—faster than Ford sold cars in the same period of 1961.

Ford said its greatest increase over the previous record was registered by the Fairlane, the industry's sixth best-selling car line, which showed a 17 per cent increase.

Oldsmobile said it sold 13,283 cars in the period and that its sales for the first 20 days of the month were the best since 1955.

Scott Breezes Through His Preflight Routine

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, a stand-in whom fate made a star, stepped onto the floodlit stage of America's newest space spectacular at 3:42 a.m. Eastern Standard Time today.

His predawn entrance, from the doorway of Hangar S where he had been preparing for weeks, was witnessed by a small knot of newsmen, technicians and security officers.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, the spokesman for the astronauts, said that flight surgeons found Carpenter in "excellent physical condition and felt his attitude was perfect for the flight."

For his own part, Powers said Carpenter seemed very self confident, very optimistic, and that the astronaut looked very, very good.

Carpenter was tapped for this second orbital expedition only after Air Force Maj. Donald K. Slayton was disqualified last March because of a minor heart condition.

Today, Slayton was in Muchea, Australia, helping man a key station on the worldwide network set to track Carpenter on each 90-minute orbit.

★ ★ ★

Disappearing inside the van, Carpenter rode the four miles to the launch pad where helmeted technicians had been swarming for hours about the tall, silver Atlas rocket and the squat, black spacecraft atop it.

Early birds among the thousands camped out on the beaches flanking the Cape could see the rocket and its tower standing stark against the night sky.

CHECKED AGAIN

Four delays had stood between Carpenter and this moment when he at last reached the pad—delays caused by a variety of technical bugs which Project Mercury officials now said were all ironed out.

Before starting down the stairs from the second deck of Hangar S, Carpenter had undergone a final physical examination, just in case he might have contracted some last-minute infection or ailment.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Howard A. Minners, an Air Force captain taking over as flight surgeon for the astronauts, checked Carpenter's eyes, ears, nose and throat and attached to Carpenter's body sensor devices whose job is to tell other doctors on earth how Carpenter's heart, blood pressure and respiration stand up during his nearly five hour flight.

Winding up the predeparture ritual, Carpenter donned his 20-pound space suit and white helmet, checked it for pressure leaks, and picked up a portable air conditioner.

Then he was ready to go.

The astronaut's day went this way (Pontiac Time) 1:15 a.m.—Awakened by Dr. Minner in his aqua-walled quarters.

More Than 1,000 Quizzed in Senate Probe of Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators disclosed today their agents have questioned more than 1,000 persons in the widening Billie Sol Estes case.

And, said the informant, many, many more will be questioned before the Senate Investigations subcommittee is ready to start its hearing into whether Washington influence helped Estes build his rickety business empire.

The report came after President Kennedy related at a news conference Wednesday that the FBI has moved into the investigation of the mysterious death of Henry Marshall, a Texas farm official, shot to death a year ago while checking into Estes' dealings under the government cotton program.

The FBI declined to comment on the unusual circumstance of its entry into what normally would be a local police case.

Last June, when Marshall was found dead, shot five times, his death was written off as suicide. But under the pressure of the Estes investigation, his body was exhumed Tuesday for an autopsy in Franklin, Tex. Later the county medical examiner told county grand jurors his preliminary finding was murder.

The examiner, Dr. J. A. Jachimczyk, was expected to make his final report today.

The FBI also had no comment on the case of Howard Pratt, 31, Chicago office manager of Commercial Solvents Corp., found dead in his car Wednesday of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The company's financial relations with Estes, who bought great quantities of liquid fertilizer from the chemical firm, are under investigation.

The Senate subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said it had no evidence of any link between Estes and Pratt, but would look into the death because of a cryptic note found in Pratt's car which said in part "the burden of guilt is on my shoulders."

Armada Line-Up Minus Three

Glenn's and Shepard's Proud Pickup Ships on Duty Elsewhere

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An armada including almost everything from outboards to aircraft carriers was spread down the Atlantic Missile Range today to wait for one Navy lieutenant commander to return from space. But three proud ships were missing.

The Mercury recovery force assigned to pick up astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter from the Atlantic included 20 ships, more than 70 aircraft, and several small boats for operations close to shore.

★ ★ ★

In command was Rear Adm. John L. Chew, commander of the Navy's Destroyer Flotilla Four. He was assigned to supervise the recovery from a room in the Mercury Control Center at Cape Canaveral.

Unavailable to the force because of other duties were:

USS Noa, the destroyer which fitted Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and his Friendship 7 spacecraft out of the Atlantic 800 miles southeast of the Cape last Feb. 20 at the end of his three-orbit ride.

USS Randolph, the carrier that dispatched helicopters to pluck Air Force Capt. Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom to safety last July 21 after his suborbital ride. His capsule sank when a side hatch blew open prematurely.

USS Lake Champlain, the carrier which sent helicopters to pick up Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. at the end of the nation's first manned space flight on May 5, 1961.

All Americans Thrilled at Successful Launching

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

All America rejoiced at the successful Cape Canaveral launching of Carpenter's space capsule, the Aurora 7, but probably no one was happier than the astronaut's brave wife, first of the spacemen's wives to watch the blast-off at close range.

Friends said Mrs. Carpenter was "in orbit herself—probably the happiest woman alive today."

Television and radio kept Americans informed of the progress of Carpenter's three-orbit journey around the earth. Many newspapers rushed out first editions with large headlines. Subway riders deep beneath New York streets were posted with up-to-the-minute announcements on the public address system.

Americans were jubilant but many said they felt Col. John Glenn's flight Feb. 20 was more exciting.

"People are taking this more like an ordinary every-day happening," said Dallas insurance salesman James Kays.

Carpenter's mother, Mrs. Florence Carpenter, and three friends watched television coverage of the historic event on a set in her compact trailer in a Boulder, Colo., trailer camp. She was described as "elated — you bet!"

Carpenter's chemist father, Dr. Marion Scott Carpenter stuck close to his television set at his rustic home in Palmer Lake, Colo. He admitted he was nervous but said he tried not show it.

"It's fantastic, unbelievable," he said.

Carpenter, 37, a Navy lieutenant commander, smiled through the open face plate of his helmet as he walked briskly past about 50 spectators who watched him silently.

Orbit Flight Is Hailed in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter's orbital flight was hailed in Congress today as another step forward in the American space program.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, joined in lauding the achievement.

★ ★ ★

Speaking after Carpenter completed his first orbit, Humphrey called it "a spectacular achievement" and said all America prayed to God the flight would be completely successful.

"Every American feels a little better, a little stronger, a little more confident," Dirksen added.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Military Applications subcommittee, said "this second great achievement establishes the United States in a strong, firm position in the space race."

About midnight, Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra, Carpenter's backup pilot, had gone to the launch pad and got into the capsule to help in the final checkout of its systems.

2 a.m. — Carpenter underwent the final physical checkup.

2:40 — The biological sensors were attached to various places on Carpenter's body.

3:40—Carpenter put on his space suit, with the aid of a technician, and checked it over for possible pressure leaks.

"Welcome to Complex 14, launch site of free world's first ICBM, free world's first man-in-orbit," it said.

'WELCOME ABOARD'

There was a patter of applause from about 100 pad workers as Carpenter came down the four steps from the transfer van.

He paused to shake hands with two men who reached out to him.

One of these was a veteran of many missile launchings, B. G. MacNabb, the NASA space manager. MacNabb told reporters later that he said to Carpenter: "Welcome aboard, commander. The crew on 14 wishes you a successful flight and a happy landing."

He said Carpenter made no reply.

4:41—Carpenter entered the capsule.

5:27—The hatch cover was applied and technicians began bolting it on.

6:35—Project Mercury ground control center announced: "As of this time all elements are go."

Powers said Carpenter "most certainly is go."

The NASA spokesman reaffirmed that the effort will be made to send Carpenter on a full three-orbit mission.

If for any reason the mission should have to be cut to one orbit, he said, this single circuit around the earth would represent an important contribution to U.S. space research efforts.

Patiently, Carpenter waited out several holds that pushed the blast-off time 45 minutes beyond the target hour. The holds were necessary because of a haze enveloping the rocket base.

Then, at 7:45 EST., the rocket lifted him heavenward and he was off on his cosmic venture.

Committee Acts on Equalization

Oakland Group Going to Lansing; Hope to Get High Figures Changed

The equalization committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors will go to Lansing Monday to learn what the county's equalized valuation for tax purposes will be this year.

At odds with the State Tax Commission over what the valuation should be, the committee met with two commission members yesterday in Detroit in an effort to solve their differences.

After field appraisals were conducted by local tax assessors here, the committee recommended a county equalized valuation of $2,112,408,200. The recommendation was approved by the Board of Supervisors.

However, the State Tax Commission set the value here at $2,149,908,200, which would broaden the tax base by $37.5 million.

★ ★ ★

Reason for the difference, according to county equalization director, William Grabendike, is that the the committee took an economic factor into consideration and the tax commission didn't.

ALLOWED FOR DROP

"We allowed for a 10 per cent drop in market values on property here," Grabendike said.

The subsequent drop in valuations, as reflected in the committee's recommendation, would result in lower taxes here, Grabendike stated.

At yesterday's meeting tax commission chairman, Robert Eckhardt, said the commission failed to consider the economic factor here for the sake of uniformity throughout the state. No economic factor was recognized in the other counties of the state, he told the committee.

Eckhardt said the commission would weigh the possibilities of changing the county's equalized valuation and reach a decision Monday before making its recommendation to the State Board of Equalization.

The equalization board sets the final equalized valutaions for counties throughout the state each year. The three members of the tax commission also sit on the five-member equalization board.

Area Service Clubs Hear State Challenge

Amid a week set aside for praising Michigan, a Milford executive has challenged Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Produce an environment to attract the "truly creative mind," Herbert D. (Ted) Doan urged in Birmingham yesterday, and change the opinion of the intellectual who "regards Michigan as part of a cultural desert."

Doan, executive vice president of Dow Chemical Co., told a Michigan Week gathering of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills service club members that "many of the highly trained, creative scientific minds in this country view the Midwest as a cultural desert."

"The work goes where the creative mind wants to go," he said as he asked business leaders to help make Michigan a place where these creative minds will want to "go."

★ ★ ★

Doan said an environment attractive to intellectuals is based on colleges and universities. He called on Michigan to give greater attention to higher education and strengthen cultural resources.

"Culture," he said, "will thrive only in the academic atmosphere or where the intellectual is respected and emulated."

Doan pointed out that "Michigan is not barren" in higher education and culture but he said the state must keep stepping forward.

"The next step is to see what we can do to foster the development of that atmosphere of the academic and cultural development," he said. "More difficult will be the next step . . . that of developing a living cultural pattern that is free of the artificial."

FOR SERVICE GROUPS

Doan's address was the feature of a Livelihood Day luncheon meeting at the Birmingham Community House. Members of 11 different community service groups were on hand.

Before issuing his challenge, Doan emphasized Michigan's strong points — good soil, abundant rainfall, a large work force, raw materials and four seasons, among other factors.

The creative person the state should try to attract, he said, is the individual who "leads into new ground . . . who sparks off ideas . . . who opens new paths.

Doan said the trend in today's industry is to apply more brains per pound of product.

★ ★ ★

Decide on 3rd Orbit Despite Trouble

However, he reported the jettison switch failed to operate and he was unable to release the 30-inch

Ground technicians assured him that the tension of the balloon would in no way affect the mission and that it would burn up on re-entry into the earth's atmosphere after the third orbit.

The balloon surface is divided into five equal sections of different colors. The idea is to enable Carpenter to determine which color man can best perceive in space.

FOR FUTURE FLIGHTS

The experiment could help decide what color to paint future space vehicles which man may have to approach and rendezvous with in space.

Performing as if he were right at home in the strange world of weightlessness, Carpenter told Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom on the ground at Cape Canaveral that everything was fine and he was in excellent condition as he sailed overhead at the end of two orbits.

Carpenter had ended his first orbit at 9:10 a.m. (Pontiac time) flashing over Cape Canaveral 99 miles high.

The hydrogen peroxide is squirted out in jet forces from small holes around the surface of the capsule. If the capsule shifts off its planned attitude for some reason, jets fire to push it back on the proper attitude (its angle of relation to the horizon).

The astronaut can control the roll, pitch and yaw of his capsule by using his manual control stick to trigger these jet streams.

As he entered the second orbit, Carpenter was told to assume more manual control of Aurora 7 to conserve the fuel, which is used up more rapidly when the automatic system is operating. By (aking manual control, Carpenter could hold a steadier course and thus eliminate some need for firing the jets.

But this would limit the time he had available to perform some of his assigned tasks, just as it did on Glenn's flight Feb. 20.

Glenn had to assume manual control for most of his last two orbits when two of the small jet openings became clogged and upset the yaw control axis in the automatic control system. (Yaw is a side to side movement.)

As the capsule passed over the Muchea and Woomera tracking posts in Australia on its second orbit, there had been no indication from the Mercury control center that any thought was being given to terminating the flight early.

MOVED HEAD, ARMS

Carpenter reported that he was able to change the attitude of his spacecraft slightly merely by moving his head and arms vigorously. He again reported seeing the lights of a western Australian city, presumably Perth, just as he did on the first orbit.

As he swung into the second orbit, Carpenter released a balloon and plastic confetti from his capsule.

With the world following progress of his daring flight—just as it did when Glenn became the first American to orbit the earth three months ago—Carpenter's Aurora 7 spaceship passed over Cape Canaveral at 9:19 a.m. to complete one circuit.

Just 94 minutes earlier, at 7:45 am., a powerful Atlas missile had blasted off from this space port to fling Carpenter into the heavens at 17,532 miles an hour in an orbital path ranging from 99 to 164 miles above the earth.

Plans were to bring the 37-year-old Navy lieutenant commander down after three orbits for a parachute landing in the Atlantic at approximately 12:35 p.m. (Pontiac time).

Scientists Go 15,744 Feet Down Off Japan Coast

ONAGAWA, Japan (AP) — The French navy's bathyscaphe "Archimede" descended to a depth of 15,744 feet Tuesday in the Pacific Ocean off Japan's Honshu Island, a record plunge in those virtually unexplored depths.

The dive was the first in a series by a French-Japanese exploration team in the Japan Deep, or trench, where depths of more than 34,000 feet have been recorded in soundings.

Man's deepest descent was made Jan. 23, 1960, by the U.S. Navy's bathyscaphe "Tyrieste," which dived 35,000 feet in the Marianas Trench of the Pacific.

Would Abolish Anti-Red Probe

Two Speakers Deliver Quiet Talks on U. of M. Campus Last Night

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Carl Braden and Frank Wilkinson, the two speakers whose Michigan tour touched off protests this week, delivered quiet lectures last night at the University of Michigan.

Braden, Louisville, and Wilkinson, of Los Angeles, are dedicated to the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which had them jailed for contempt.

"Whenever you answer the questions of the committee," said Braden, "you lend your support to it." He and Wilkinson served nine months. The convictions were upheld by the Supreme Court.

The two spoke to 300 students in a multipurpose room on campus. They were barred from Wayne State University in Detroit earlier and a legislative resolution was aimed against their appearing here.

In their appearances last night, they said little they had not said in previous appearances. Questions often sounded antagonistic, but there was no heckling or other disturbance.

He said the congressional group has made serious inroads on the first amendment to the Constitution.

SUPPORTED CHARITIES

Pontiac area youngsters enjoy some 500 dolls that are dressed and distributed at holiday time; the Leader Dog League, the Leukemia Foundation and such civic organizations as the Pontiac Symphony are also supported by the club.

General chairman of the banquet was Mrs. Ivan Schram, assisted by cochairmen Mrs. Ernest Smith and Mrs. Jack Howard.

DEAF MAN PERFECTS SMALLEST HEARING AID

A remarkable midget Hearing Aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a most unusual idea and design in a product for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear, but not understand. This new Hearing Instrument provides "Ear Level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech sounds, television and radio at his ear rather than at a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of new type transistors, the cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately ¼ ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

Call FE 8-0728 or write "Audivox," 1105 Pontiac State Bank Bldg., Pontiac, Mich. You will receive full information without any obligation, whatever.

'Sylvan Shores' Meets

Mrs. Byron Cole will serve as president for the coming year with Mrs. W. O. Noll, vice president; Mrs. Eldred Mathes, secretary; and Mrs. Lloyd Wagner, treasurer, assisting.

Cancer dressings were completed during the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Douglas Squires, Mrs. Leon Sirlin and Mrs. Floyd Oswald.

YOUR BOAT

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

An aviator's check list is not necessary in a small boat, but there are things that should be checked before you get under way.

★ ★ ★

Knowing what weather is in store is important, especially before taking off for a long trip. You should have one-third more fuel than you need to take you where you plan to go and back.

If your motor is enclosed, it should be ventilated and the bilge pumped before taking off.

Most of the serious fires and explosions on inboard boats are caused by heavier-than-air gasoline fumes which sink to the bottom of an enclosure, fumes which are so highly volatile that a tiny spark will set them off.

★ ★ ★

Make sure you have one life-saving device for each person and charts if you're going into strange or tricky waters. Check your lights if there is a chance you'll stay out after dark.

Warm up your engine well.

BILGE should be pumped.

HTA on Friday at Hazel Park

Mighty Tide Favored After 2 Straight Wins in Pace Series

Mighty Tide will be the horse to beat when the Harness Tracks of America Pace makes its annual visit to Hazel Park Harness Raceway Friday night.

The HTA Pace, a series of eight races for the nation's top four year old pacers, will be making its third stop and Mighty Tide will be after his third straight win.

The New York owned pacer won the HTA opener at Rosecroft Raceway in Maryland with a track mark of 2:00 2-5. Last Friday night he repeated by breezing to a 2:01 4-5 victory at Chicago's Maywood Park.

The HTA will be visiting Hazel Park for the 6th season this Friday and all but two of those have seen the event go in record time. Sampson Direct was the 2:01 1-5 winner last year.

The $50,000 finale will be held July 5 at Yonkers Raceway in New York.

Four No-Hit Innings Then Crash for A&W

All went well for A & W pitcher Jerry Caldwell for four no-hit innings, but then he lost the range and Haskin's Chevy romped over A & W, 11-1, in Waterford's class C softball league last night.

Haskin's collected 8 runs in the bottom of the 6th on only two hits, eight walks and seven errors, and the game was called due to the 10-run rule.

It was the first loss for A. & W. the last unbeaten in the league. Winning pitcher Matt Jarrett gave up three hits.

In another class C game, Ron Kasher drove in three runs to lead Dixie Bar to a 6-3 win over Rockcote. Norm Tick the winner gave up five hits, and it prevented Rockcote from going into a three way tie for the lead with A & W and Larry's Bar.

Americas Cup Preview

Newsmen See U.S. Yacht

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — The mystery America's Cup contender was seen by newsmen for the first time Wednesday and if the yacht is as fast as she is beautiful she will be a hard boat to beat.

Twenty workmen are finishing painting of the sleek mahogany hull of the yet unnamed yacht. It is scheduled now for launching Saturday at midnight.

The 12-meter sloop has white topsides and a bronze bottom with a royal blue stripe at the waterline. The deck is being finished in gray blue with a gold line painted around the hull top.

The concept of the new craft is one of a wider, lighter design. It was discussed at Massachusetts Institute of Technology Tuesday night by co-skipper Don McNamara at a seminar of the Yacht Racing Union of Massachusetts.

The yacht, built in secrecy, has a 13-foot beam, a foot wider than Australian challenger Gretel and more than 15 inches wider than the other existing American yachts which will compete in the America's Cup trials.

Her displacement will be roughly 57,500 pounds compared to Columbia's 59,200 and Gretel's 60,480.

The America's Cup races are scheduled to start off Newport, R.I., Sept. 15.

Jacob Sher's Sherluck paid the highest mutuel in the history of the Belmont Stakes in 1961. The return for $2 was $132.10.

Shift of Warriors to Bring Law Suit; ABL Foe After Wilt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Open warfare flared on the professional basketball front today following the announcement that the Philadelphia Warriors would be moved to San Francisco for the 1962-63 season to campaign against the Saints of the American Basketball League.

A syndicate composed mostly of San Francisco men put up $850,000 to purchase the Warriors, including the fabulous Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, and the team will open here in the fall.

Along with the announcement from the National Basketball Association of the move, came a flat statement from the owners of the Saints that they would be ready to do battle.

"We already are negotiating to get Chamberlain away from them," said Kevin O'Shea, general manager of the Saints. "He has his 1962-63 contract to play out, but we hope to get him for the following season."

The Saints had announced earlier they would file a $3 million dollar suit against the NBA on an anti-trust basis.

Negotiations to bring the Warriors to San Francisco had been going on for more than three months. NBA owners turned down the proposal less than three weeks ago but reconsidered and voted for the move, 7-2, at a New York meeting yesterday.

NFL Leader Given Bonus, $10,000 Raise

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League has extended another solid vote of confidence in Commissioner Pete Rozelle by voting him a $10,000 bonus and boosting his salary $10,000 to $60,000 a year for five years.

In less than two years, the successor to the late Bert Bell has led the league to a clear cut court victory over the rival American Football League and helped clear the way for a new $9.3 million two-year single network (CBS) television deal.

As a result of the court victory the league no longer lives under the shadow of a huge damage action. Under the new TV contract each club is expected to get $320,000 a year from the TV rights.

"We have no further expansion moves in mind until our two newest clubs (Minnesota and Dallas) are soundly well off the ground," said Rozelle, when asked about the future.
