Knowland Holds Hope of Revision on Civil Rights

Tells Ike Congress Still May Agree on Effective Voting Measure

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland told President Eisenhower today he hopes Congress still will find a "middle ground" and agree on an effective voting rights bill at this session.

The California senator reported to newsmen after a breakfast conference with the President that there is "at least a possibility" of Congress adjourning for the year by Aug. 24.

Meanwhile, Sen. Richard B. Russell D-Ga said after a strategy meeting of 13 Southern Democrats that "no filibuster is planned" against the Civil Rights Bill.

Russell said he wants every Senator to have a chance to speak on the measure but would be "very much surprised" if they spoke at length. He said he is still opposed to the bill but considers it "greatly improved by Senate-adopted amendments.

Knowland's feeling that House-Senate conferees on the civil rights Bill might work out a compromise sharply contrasted with his earlier warning that the Senate's approval of a jury trial amendment had killed the measure.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) said: "It would be much better if those of us for the bill would not shout about its pending death. We should be attempting to breathe life into it."

Knowland said there is "no doubt" in his mind that Eisenhower is "disappointed" that the Senate wrote into the bill a guarantee of jury trial for violators of voting rights in criminal contempt cases.

The republican leader said the revision is especially bad because the trial proviso extends to all other types of criminal contempt cases, affecting anti-trust and other government suits.

The GOP leader threw cold water on speculation that the President's denunciation Friday of the Senate jury trial amendment spelled a probable veto of such a bill.

"I did not read that into the President's statement," Knowland said.

But he emphasized that he and Eisenhower did not discuss the

Join Builders in Challenging Big Federation

Action Seen as Attempt by Hoffa to Boost Self or Else Splinter Labor

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Teamsters Union, apparently threatening to lead building trade unions out of the AFL-CIO, has endorsed a Detroit labor group's position challenging the big labor federation.

The Teamsters' action was regarded as an early step by James R. Hoffa, a rising power in the union, to try to get his own way in the AFL-CIO, or else pull the Teamsters and possibly other unions out of the labor organization.

But in San Francisco last night, Hoffa said the reported threat "isn't really serious." He added: "We'll be able to work everything out all right."

Building and construction trades unions have about three million members. The Teamsters have about 1½ millions.

The Teamsters' move was made yesterday. In a statement, the union expressed support for the Building and Construction Trades Council concerning jurisdictional disputes.

★ ★ ★

The council adopted a resolution saying it favored the merger of the CIO and AFL, but that "we are not prepared to pay the high price tag that the ultimate product apparently now carries."

CIO ACCUSED

The resolution added that the former CIO industrial unions have been discouraging use of outside contractors employing members of former AFL building trades unions.

★ ★ ★

Several weeks ago, AFL-CIO President George Meany announced a trial plan to submit jurisdictional disputes to a regional arbitration system, with final Building and Construction Trades Executive Council.

Meany has been trying to find a formula to settle jurisdictional disputes created by construction work. Building trades unions feel their craftsmen should get certain jobs while the industrial unions claim the work for their members.

★ ★ ★

HAROLD S. COHEN

"When people don't want to know the whole truth, it is easy for them to criticize." So said John McDonald, chairman of the Oakland County Social Welfare Board, in commenting on charges in a Detroit morning newspaper that his department is maintaining slum housing for welfare families.

"There is no doubt that the nine families in question are living in substandard dwellings, without inside toilets or water, but there are good reasons why this is so," he added.

"I would rather give these people substandard housing, than no housing at all," he added.

TELLS HISTORY

McDonald recounted the entire history of the situation beginning 17 years ago. At that time, during the Depression, hundreds of welfare families were living in tents, without the most elementary sanitary facilities and in danger of fire from the coal stoves in use, he said.

"I got the idea of picking up acreage in the county from the state on tax sale and trying to erect some kind of more permanent housing for some of the families.

"So I went to Lansing and they liked my idea. Then I went ahead, getting houses and CCC Barracks and moving them to the vacant land we had bought."

★ ★ ★

McDonald went on to point out that the land now has considerable value. The county has sold some of it on West boulevard and has offers on the rest.

WASTE OF MONEY

"To put sewer and water in would really be a waste of taxpayers' money," he stressed. What would the people say if we spent $10,000 to bring sewer and water to the two families on Stanley street and build on bathrooms. The old barracks aren't worth $10,000 and we wouldn't get any more for the property when it is sold."

As to moving the families to other dwellings, McDonald stated bluntly, "If anyone knows where we can move them, I would ap-

Gulping Pills for That Bulge? Warning Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—An expert told Congress today that many advertised weight reducing preparations are inefficient, useless and a waste of time, while others represent a real menace to public health.

Dr. S. William Kalb said a medically prescribed diet is still the only sure way to reduce, with drugs serving only as a crutch to assist individuals in cutting down on eating.

Dr. Kalb, an authority on obesity, testified before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating government regulation of advertised claims for weight reducing preparations.

Dr. Kalb told the subcommittee that many of the drugs are harmless, but to individuals with particular sensitivity or a form of illness they could be harmful or even fatal.

"The important thing is that all these drugs, for weight reduction or any other purpose, should be sold on prescription only," he said.

Dr. Kalb said users of weight reducing preparations are "just a dollar sign" to manufacturers "who don't know you and whose only interest is in selling their product."

Golfing Squirrel Goes It Alone and Sinks 174

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Maine, (AP)—Mark Leeman and Ken Rice, country club greenskeeper, spotted a grey squirrel snatching a ball as it bounded onto the eighth green yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The keepers turned them in to the club pro, who paid them $10 and suggested they purchase some peanuts for the rodent.

11 County Girls to Vie Tuesday for Title of 1957 4-H Fair Queen

Eleven county girls today await the judges' Tuesday night decision on which one of them will reign at the 17th Annual Oakland County 4-H Club Fair next week.

The entrees were announced today by the 1956 Queen, Judy Crawford of Milford, who is in charge of the contest.

The girls, chosen to represent their own county 4-H clubs, are Sharon Brodie, 275 Harrow Circle, Birmingham, Bloomfield Club; Karen Bush, 456 Parkdale St., Rochester, Rochester Craft Club; Marjorie Crawford, 2535 S. Hill Rd., Milford, Milford Club; Judy Cudnohufski, 1940 S. Lapeer Rd., Lake Orion, East Orion Club; Dawn Eckler, 20 N. Rochester Rd., Oxford, East Orion Club.

Others are Janet Long, 2875 Fleeth Rd., Milford, Milford Club; Beverly Sanders, 1625 W. Hamlin Rd., Rochester, Clinton Valley Club; Carole Schultz, 3300 Dutton Rd., Lake Orion, East Orion Club; Diane Terry, 2860 Noble Rd., Oxford, East Oxford Club; Jackie Terry, 2615 Featherstone Rd., Pontiac, Galloway Lake Club and Grace Williamson, 3590 Pontiac Lake Rd., Pontiac, Waterford Club.

A queen and two court members will be named following the contest at 8 o'clock Tuesday, the first night of the fair. The 1957 choice will be presented with the 4-H Fair Queen traveling trophy by Miss Crawford, will reign throughout the week and will lead the parade of floats Wednesday night.

Judges for the contest will be John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; John Overton, Macomb County 4-H agent, and Mrs. Overton.

Entrees in the queen contest must be between 15 and 21 years old, active in a 4-H Club and have one summer project.

The five-day fair, which closes next Saturday, will be held at the fairgrounds at N. Perry St. and Walton Blvd.

More than 1,500 county girls and boys have entered the exhibits, projects and animals in the fair.

Most Model Changeovers Scheduled in September

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are scheduling their auto model changeover shutdowns almost wholly for September. Unlike last year, they expect to maintain steady employment throughout August.

Reporting this today, Ward's Automotive Reports said Ford and Chrysler will close down for model changeovers several weeks later than in 1956.

The agency also reported that Chevrolet out-produced Ford in July, cutting Ford's year-to-date lead to about two per cent compared with six per cent at the end of March.

Ward's said domestic output this week will consist of 118,252 cars and 21,134 trucks; compared with 119,857 cars and 21,798 trucks last week and 111,157 cars and 20,764 trucks in the like 1956 week.

Canadian factories were closed this week for vacation. Last week they built 7,701 cars and 1,250 trucks. In the like 1956 week 7,103 cars and 1,970 trucks were built in Canadian factories.

Cooling Winds, Showers Will Bring Some Relief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooling winds pushed into the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes today, but the weather still sizzled in the Southeast, along the Atlantic Coast and in parts of the West.

The Weather Bureau said scattered thunderstorms and showers will accompany the cooling air, spreading eastward from the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes into parts of the north and mid-Atlantic States.

Scattered thunderstorms also were forecast from the south Atlantic States westward to the southern plateau and Rockies and North into the central Plains and Rockies.

A series of violent thunderstorms, described by the public weather office as a fast-moving cold front, swept across the north shore of Lake Huron from Sault Ste. Marie to Sudbury today, uprooting trees and knocking out telephone and telegraph lines.

Winds estimated at 80 miles an hour were reported in a thunderstorm at Walford, 60 miles west of Sudbury, cutting off all telegraph communication to Sault Ste. Marie from the east.

Chicago was hit by rain, hail and winds up to 65 m.p.h. which tore down some trees and power lines and whipped up Lake Michigan. Several small boats were reported battered by the storm, but there were no injuries.

Nearby Whiting, Ind., was without water temporarily when a tree fell across power lines leading to the city's filtration plant. Emergency pumps were pressed into use.

★ ★ ★

Thunderstorms and gusts of wind clocked at nearly 60 m.p.h. tore into La Junta, Colo., last night, and dusty winds of 50 m.p.h. roared through El Paso. No serious damage was reported.

Walter George's Heart Is Failing

Not Expected to Live for Many More Hours, Family Physician Says

VIENNA, Ga. (AP)—Former Sen. Walter F. George's heart is giving out and he is not expected to live many more hours.

Dr. M. L. Malloy, the George family physician, made the statement late last night.

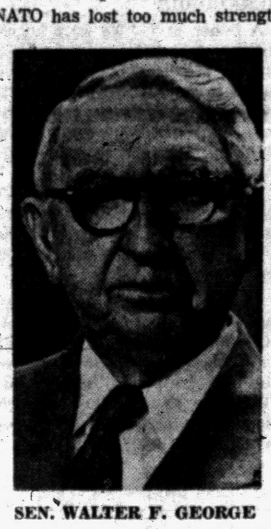
The doctor said the 79-year-old statesman "is running a high fever. His pulse is becoming more rapid and weaker. His heart is giving out."

Malloy said that President Eisenhower's special ambassador to NATO has lost too much strength



SEN. WALTER F. GEORGE

"We no longer have any hope that he will rally," he said, "and it's very difficult to give up hope. His condition is deteriorating rapidly."

★ ★ ★

Relatives said that George's son, Heard George, had accepted the fact the diplomat's death is imminent. George's wife, known to her friends as "Miss Lucy" has not given up hope, however.

The man who represented Georgia in the U. S. Senate for 34 years and twice headed the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee has been gravely ill since Sunday.

London Talks Appear Saved

New Western Proposals on Disarmament Will Keep Conference Alive

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

LONDON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appeared today to have saved the London disarmament talks from complete collapse with new Western proposals for air-ground inspection.

★ ★ ★

Dulles called on the Soviet Union yesterday to agree to a vast inspection system covering nearly half the globe as a first step to disarmament and a prevention against a surprise attack.

The five-power disarmament conference reconvenes Tuesday and it is hoped that Russia's delegate, Valerian Zorin will have the Kremlin's answer to the proposals.

Zorin's first reaction was critical but the general feeling was that the Soviet reply was as good as could be expected at this time, and not nearly as bad as it was feared it might be.

★ ★ ★

Dulles, on behalf of Britain, France, Canada and the U.S. told the Soviets they could have a European inspection zone, extending from the Urals to the Atlantic.

Plenty of Rain and 95-Degree Heat Marked July

The weatherman vied with gypsies, starlings and an alligator for headlines during July, but even so got plenty of attention.

Heavy rains, much above normal, and 90-degree-plus heat were highlights of the month.

From July 1 through July 7 warm temperatures and isolated showers prevailed—just usually July weather.

But on July 8 a heavy downpour early in the morning, followed by additional showers in the forenoon, added up to 2.5 inches of rain on the city within a short period.

Baldwin avenue was blocked off because of flooding at Rundell street, while nearly 25 Pontiac homes, located mostly along Pontiac Creek and the Clinton River near Paddock St., reported flooded basements.

Numerous trees fell, some blocking traffic, as lightning and steady winds up to 50 miles an hour struck this area.

On Brooklyn, Stanley, and Oakland avenues firemen were busy as Detroit Edison wires were downed. About 500 homes suffered damage to telephone and power lines.

Traffic was snarled as rain waters caused flooding at Pine, Perry, and Dwight streets; Howard and Johnson avenues; and Ottawa drive.

Occasional rain continued to harass the city throughout the week, and by Friday, July 12, rain for the week exceeded normal rainfall for the entire month of July. Average for the month is 2.57 inches.

Pontiac got 5.33 inches in one-fourth that time.

The delightful five days, however, were followed by sizzling temperatures on July 19, when summer really cracked down on Pontiac.

Open collared shirts, sport shirts, and Bermuda shorts abounded, as the mercury rose to 93 degrees on the Friday scorcher.

On July 21 the month's highest temperature, 95 degrees, was recorded, as the heat drove thousands of local residents to beaches and lakes.

Joseph W. Gable, water department superintendent, said, water pumpage in Pontiac for the 20 and 21 was about 2,000,000 gallons above previous July weekends.

The state's drowning and accident toll caused by the heat brought grim headlines on Monday, July 22. Twenty-one persons drowned, and the full toll of weekend dead was 36.

The muggy weather held a firm grip on local residents until July 23, when cooler temperatures were ushered into the vicinity.

From that date until July 27, daily highs hovered in the tolerable 70 and 80 degree range.

By July 29, however, the mercury was riding high again and into the 90s.

Temperatures in the hot and humid zone lingered through the remainder of July and into August.

Dio to Quit Jail to Answer Quiz

Senate Labor Probers to Question Racketeer on Tieup With Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) —Labor racketeer Johnny Dio is coming out of jail long enough to face questioning by senators on charges that he had a big hand in victimizing many New York workers.

★ ★ ★

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee said Dio will be placed on the witness stand Thursday or Friday.

★ ★ ★

McClellan said Dio can invoke the Fifth Amendment if he chooses, but that in any event "the public can judge" the racketeer on the witness stand.

★ ★ ★

The committee is exploring charges that Dio and Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa formed a corrupt alliance that ultimately could subject more than a million New York workers to "crooked" labor contracts and "economic slavery," chaining them to less than decent wages.

★ ★ ★

That was the testimony yesterday of John McNiff, executive secretary of the Assn. of Catholic Trade Unionists. McNiff spoke of "collusion between crooked management and crooked unionism."

★ ★ ★

McClellan has told the committee Dio and his New York underworld henchmen have "fattened their pockets" by extorting from employers and dipping deeply into the funds of union members for whom they negotiated union contracts that allegedly provided few, if any benefits.

★ ★ ★

McClellan says the evidence will show that Hoffa helped Dio to get charters for Teamster locals and that through this alleged alliance, Hoffa sought a "stranglehold" over New York and the Eastern Seaboard.

As the committee was listening to charges of labor exploitation, a New York judge ordered Dio and three other convicted labor racketeers paroled just long enough to testify in the hearings.

4-H FAIR TENTS UP EARLY — Preparations for the 17th Annual Oakland County 4-H Club Fair which opens Tuesday are two days ahead of last year's schedule according to Walter Goodrich, fair manager. County boys and girls started a three day clean up program at 7 a. m. today. Six main tents, which will house sheep, beef, poultry, vegetables, rabbits and horses, were up by 10 a. m. at the fairgrounds at N. Perry street and Walton boulevard.

New Pumping Machine Solves Sylvan Shores Sewer Problem

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

The Sylvan Shores sewer which caved in last week is as "dry as a bone" and the welcome words of Pontiac Inspector A. C. Rodenbough were, "We've got this sewer problem whipped."

For more than a year, residents in the subdivision, located near M59 and Voorheis road, have been troubled with flooding, construction problems and inability to have access to their homes due to the ditching process.

Considered the No. 1 headache of township officials, the sewer construction work was brought to a halt last week when the workmen struck a large area of quicksand.

It was virtually impossible to find dry ground to lay the pipe as the sides of the ditch repeatedly collapsed.

Then new type pumping equipment was brought in and the water was sucked out of the sand, leaving it dry.

'IT'S AMAZING'

Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson said, "It's absolutely amazing how that big hole was dried up in less than a week."

Residents on Woodbine all have sump pumps installed in their homes and these have been operating continuously since the July flood, according to Johnson.

Since the pumping machines have been working, every one of the sump pumps in the 3-block area has stopped. The machines not only dried up the troublesome ditch, but also solved the water drainage problem of the entire area.

The pipe is now laid on dry ground, 11 feet down, and the newly completed line runs some 800 feet along narrow, winding Woodbine street.

There will be 21 standard manholes when the project is completed with a total of 4,592 feet of 8-inch double strength pipe installed.

PLAN PUMPING STATION

An underground pumping station will be laid at the intersection of Sylvan Drive and Shore Drive, sending the water to a manhole on Woodbine. From there it will run by gravity into an existing sewer line, Rodenbough said.

Next week, the Seymour Weissman Construction Company, contractor for the work, anticipates more headaches when work begins on Sylvan drive.

The sub-grade is lower and closer to the lake and the pipe will have to be laid five feet below the water level, Rodenbough explained.

★ ★ ★

"Steel sheeting will probably be used, along with this new equipment, which will certainly be put to a real test," he concluded.

Welfare Board Head Defends Situation

preciate them telling me and we'll do it."

"Can you think of any neighborhood which would like us to move in a welfare family with 10 children."

★ ★ ★

A check with several of the families in the substandard buildings by Pontiac Press reporters showed they were content with the situation as is.

"I LIKE IT"

One woman said, "The welfare people have been urging me for years to find a place to rent, but I like it here. The places I have been offered for me and my kids are worse than this one."

Another mother of a large family said, "When I was out on the street with my kids, I was sure happy to get a roof over my head. I have no kicks at all."

BURNED OUT

A father said, "We were burned out one night and were actually out on the street without a stick of furniture or any hope for a roof over our heads. I can't work because I'm sick, so I couldn't rent anything. I was sure glad to get this place."

"The big problem we face," McDonald said, "is where to put these families when the property is sold. I just don't know what we will do."

Asked about four new houses on Kennett road built by the welfare board, he said, "We haven't used those because they have to be moved when the land is sold. We have five lots in the south end of Pontiac and we will put the houses there."

McDonald pointed out the Social Welfare Board owned nearly 100 homes for welfare families, and only 20 lack indoor sanitary facilities.

★ ★ ★

"We have no desire whatever to be in the housing business, but lacking federal or city projects, and with rentals hard to find, we just have to do the best we can with what we have," he said.

2 Youths Reap Praise for Honesty With Purse

Two Pontiac youths have been commended for their honesty by Inspector Clark Wheaton of the Pontiac Police Department.

Jimmy Peterson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Peterson, 89 Moreland Ave., and his pal, J. B. Nelson, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben G. Nelson, 75 Moreland Ave., found a change purse containing more than $7 on their way to a movie Thursday.

FIND PURSE

The purse was found at Perry and Mt. Clemens streets. The boys immediately took it to the Pontiac Police Station and, if it is not claimed within 90 days, will be able to split the money between them.

★ ★ ★

Upon being asked why they turned the purse in so quickly, Jimmy told his mother, "We just wanted to get rid of that thing."

As for J. B., he has already decided what he'll do with his share if it is not claimed. "All I want is a catcher's mask so I can be on the ball team," he said.

★ ★ ★

Inspector Wheaton was impressed by the boys' honesty. "These youngsters," he said, "are to be highly commended. If more kids, and adults, displayed honesty like this, the country would be much better for it."

★ ★ ★

Moscow Lists Talks by Khrushchev-Tito

Large delegations of Russians and Yugoslavs assisted their leaders, the broadcast said.

★ ★ ★

The broadcast did not immediately say where Khrushchev and Tito met.

★ ★ ★

"During the talks the two sides confirmed their agreement to work for a further all-round development of relations and for the removal of obstacles hindering this development," it said. "They also confirmed their agreement on the main problems of the present world situation."

Ask New Bids on Dam Repair

Drain Board to Seek Estimates Next Week on Pontiac Lake Job

Bids for repairing the Pontiac Lake dam in Waterford Township will be asked by the Oakland County Drain Commission early next week, according to commissioner Dan Barry.

★ ★ ★

This is the second time that bids will have been accepted for construction work on the structure. On June 14 only one bid was submitted, by Lee Turzillo of Cleveland, and the commission board accepted his bid of $73,585.

★ ★ ★

Turzillo could not negotiate the sale of drain orders to pay for the construction work, and this automatically invalidated his bid.

Engineers and inspectors have conducted surveys on the 29-year-old dam, and agree that it is the number one repair job in the township, Barry said.

Drain commission officials have now revised the bid contracts by asking for estimates in three different sections, rather than one. This should attract more contractors to submit their bids, Barry said.

A team of American Legion officials will tour Michigan during August to promote Legion membership.

"Our goal," he said, "will be to invite and encourage every one of the one million eligible veterans in the state to join the American Legion."

Ted Husing to Return to Sports Announcing

NEW YORK (AP)—Veteran sports announcer Ted Husing will have a chance to make a comeback. The Columbia Broadcasting System announced yesterday it has signed him to a new contract, effective Monday.

★ ★ ★

Husing, suffering from a brain tumor since 1954, had dropped out after 30 years in radio. But in Pasadena, Calif., he said he's improving now and his eyesight is better.

CBS said the 56-year-old announcer will do color on football and horseracing at the outset. Husing first joined CBS in 1927.

Marilyn in Good Spirits: Still Can Have Babies

NEW YORK (INS) — Marilyn Monroe, though still feeling pain from the emergency operation in which she lost her baby, showed good spirits today and looked forward to leaving her hospital bed.

Physicians attending the actress emphasized that she was "definitely out of danger," and held it likely she would be released from New York's Doctors Hospital within a week.

Marilyn was buoyed up against the loss of the child she wanted so much by the solicitude of her playwright husband Arthur Miller and by the doctors' assurances that "she can still have babies."

"That's the best news in the world," the actress exclaimed when she learned that the miscarriage would not thwart her hopes for a family.

Marilyn and her husband reportedly plan to return to Amagansett, L.I., where they had been summering, when she is well enough to leave her $26-a-day hospital room.

Until then Miller also will continue to occupy a room at the hospital.

Physicians operated on Marilyn Thursday night "to save her life." Marilyn took the loss of the child bravely. "I'll be all right," she told her mother-in-law, Mrs. Isidore Miller by phone. Mrs. Miller proudly said of her daughter-in-law, "She didn't cry."

A close friend of the playwright and his wife said both of them were bearing up well.

"Arthur and Marilyn are sort of leaning on each other," the friend reported. "When the doctor said she could still have babies, they were happy. She's taking the whole thing very well."

Hungary Arrests Staff of New Party

The Budapest newspaper Nepszbadsag said that the arrests were made as part of a drive against socalled "Fascist elements."

Nepszbadsag charged that a number of those arrested had been in contact with Catholic Cardinal Mindszenty, who has been living in the U.S. Embassy in Budapest ever since the freedom revolt of last fall.

Prison Inmates Seize 14 Women

Members of Orchestra Held Hostage in Utah, Released Unharmed

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — Fourteen frightened women were held hostage for one hour last night by a group of 15 prison inmates who seized control of the auditorium at the Utah State Prison.

But all the women, members of a novelty orchestra group known as the Kitchen Rhythmettes from Price, Utah, were released unharmed.

The girls had been assured protection by other prisoners who did not take part in the flareup which briefly held taut this compound 20 miles south of Salt Lake City. On Feb. 6 all 500 inmates rioted and took control for 12 hours.

Last night's outbreak was short. It was preceded by a scuffle in the corridor near the auditorium when one guard was accosted by some prisoners. But he was rescued by another guard and the prisoners went to the auditorium for a special show.

At the end of the show, featuring the Rhythmettes, about 7:10 p.m., the agitators jumped on stage, grabbed three prison personnel and took control of the auditorium.

A boy friend of one of the women and a husband of another were also with the group.

When the prisoners took over, another group armed itself with baseball bats obtained from the nearby recreation office. Deputy Warden John W. Turner said some tried to lock the main corridor to keep guards out but were unsuccessful.

Turner said he and about 15 other armed officers then entered the corridor, ordered all inmates back to their cells and advanced to the auditorium. There were 15 prisoners and the hostages inside, he said. He ordered the door opened and hostages released. They were.

Turner said a shakedown of the cells later disclosed three knives and several baseball bats. He said he put the agitating inmates into segregation.

Temporary 4th Lane Opens on U.S. 16

LANSING (AP)—A fourth lane of 13 miles on U.S. 16 from Farmington to Kensington Park was opened to passenger car traffic today.

The new lane, laid along the south edge of the existing pavement, is designed to provide temporary relief from the weekend traffic rush over the stretch, said Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The commissioner said the project will not solve the traffic problem — merely alleviate conditions pending completion of the 19-million dollar Brighton-Farmington Expressway, expected in December.

Trucks will be barred from the new lane, which will be for use by eastbound vehicles.

NAACP Wants Ike to Go to People on Rights

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People demanded today that President Eisenhower appeal to the American people for an effective civil rights bill.

The group adopted a resolution urging the President to "take to the air" for an effective bill. Another resolution was adopted, asking Michigan members of the House to stand firm on the original bill when it goes to the conference committee.

Wealthy Socialist Dies

LONDON (AP) — Richard R. Stokes, 60, wealthy Socialist who was minister of works in 1950 and 1951, died last night. He was injured in an automobile accident last month. Stokes was one of the richest men in the British Labor Party.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Hills District Opens Sealed Bids Soon

BIRMINGHAM—Bloomfield Hills School District No. 2 will open sealed bids at an 8 p.m. meeting in the board offices Tuesday. The opening will be public.

★ ★ ★

Architects Smith, Tarapata and MacMahon said bids are for the completion of the new junior high school. Base bids have been sought on the following basis: (a) general construction (b) mechanical work (c) electrical work (d) kitchen equipment (e) metal lockers and shelving (f) special classroom equipment (g) food labatory equipment.

★ ★ ★

Douglas Joclyn, board secretary stressed that performance, labor and material bonds will be expected from bidders. All proposals will remain firm for 30 days after bids are opened.

South Oakland County Girl Scouts will instigate a new program in international friendship through a pen pal project to America Girl Scouts living in France.

Mrs. Robert L. Garrison, Birmingham District Chairman said she had learned there are nearly 14,000 American Girl Scouts living in the North Atlantic Council, mainly in Germany, England and France.

Among those already taking over their new pen pals are Wendy Westrate, Susan Monroe, and Sally Garrison. They will write to Wendy Evans, Katie Kane, Connie Cooper and Jean Harvey, whose fathers are attached to our military services abroad.

Mrs. Garrison learned of the American Scouts in foreign countries when she accompanied her husband in a business trip to Paris last month.

Birmingham Unitarian Church officials this week announced that Minoru Yamasaki, local architect has been engaged to prepare plans for their new building. The group has purchased a 4.5 acre site at Woodward avenue and Lone Pine road in Bloomfield Hills. Present plans indicate that it will be two years before starting construction.

Although no water consumption records were broken last month the Birmingham Fire Department reports a total of 92,891,069 gallons of water flowed through the city's mains.

★ ★ ★

The high day was July 31 when 5,185,896 gallons were pumped all through the southeast Oakland County Water Authority facilities. In spite of little rain during the latter part of the month and excessive heat, city authorities have given no indications that restriction measures are under immediate consideration.

Hopes for Revision on Civil Rights Bill

veto question during their breakfast meeting at the White House.

Knowland said much will depend upon which senators are named to the conference committee which will work out a compromise, assuming the House does not accept the Senate bill intact.

PICK CONFEREES

He said the Senate itself will pick the conferees and that seniority on the judiciary committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss), a foe of civil rights legislation, will not necessarily apply.

He indicated the Senate conferees probably will be chosen to represent fairly the Senate's conflicting views on the issue.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), original sponsor of the jury trial proposal, indicated he would be willing to see its application restricted to just voting rights. In fact, he said he would be "glad to ask the conferees" to consider this.

But O'Mahoney hit back at the President's denunciation of the amendment. He said: "The President is a general, not a lawyer. He does not understand this."

The Senate, in a burst of speed, concluded its amending process Friday and brought the bill to the point of a final vote, except for closing speeches.

Final passage was postponed until next week and both Knowland and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said they hoped the vote would be reached by Wednesday.

Knowland told newsmen he would be prepared to "stay as long as necessary to pass a conference report" on the bill. He pointed out that any southern filibuster against a compromise would be "severely limited" because the measure must be voted up or down without amendment.

Senate sources expect Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) to use their influence to have the House accept the Senate bill without going to conference or, failing this, to have the conferees agree on a modification acceptable to most members and to the President.

Democrats frankly concede that if there is no bill the political advantage will go to the Republicans because the civil rights issue will be kept alive in the drive to win Negro votes in the 1958 congressional and 1960 presidential elections.

'Youth Gangsterism' Said Great Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says "youth gangsterism" is one of the greatest problems facing New York City.

A sure solution to the problem, he said last night, is conversion to the Christian life.

Graham spoke to 14,000 persons in another of his New York crusade meetings in Madison Square Garden.

"We have converted about 10,000 teen-agers during the meetings held here since the crusade started," Graham said. "We hope there will be many more."

At Graham's call 325 persons stepped up at the close of the meeting to make "decisions for Christ."

U.S. May Reduce Foreign Air Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, has hinted there may be a major withdrawal of tactical air units stationed overseas.

He also indicated yesterday that new cutbacks may be made in such units in the United States.

In a speech to the Air Force Assn., White said the nation will rely more in the future, in nonatomic fields, upon the air strength of allies, particularly those in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Proposals Keep London Talks Alive

TWO ZONES

The first of these two zones would cover North America and all of the Soviet Union. The second would cover the Arctic Circle and Alaska, part of Siberia, Greenland, Norway and Canada.

Before leaving for Bermuda, on his way back to Washington, Dulles said that the Russians would accept the Western plan unless "they had something to conceal."

Zorin's immediate objection was that important allied bases in Japan, Pakistan and North Africa would be excluded from inspection and asserted the possibility of surprise attack had to be prevented from every side.

U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen will has to present and defend Western proposals for a cut-off of nuclear weapons production and the collection of conventional weapons at internatiinally controlled depots.

NO FULL PLAN YET

The West is not expected to present its full plan for another ten days because of repored divergencies among the allies on some of the points.

Also, the four Western powers will have to consult countries not belonging to the Atlantic Pact but whose territories are included in the proposed European inspection zone, such as Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Ireland, Sweden and Finland.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What factor releases the moisture of the air, acquired by evaporation, over the various areas of the earth, producing life and vegetation?

As noted in an earlier column, millions of tons of water are absorbed by the air through evaporation every second. This gives the layer of gases above the surface of the earth (our weather) its moisture.

As this air rises, usually because of heating from the earth, which is, in turn, heated by the sun, it ascends into colder temperatures. In the colder weather the air condenses and its water capacity decreases.

★ ★ ★

When the dewpoint is reached, or when the moisture content become the absolute maximum, precipitation follows. Since air travels hundreds of miles a day usually, to the east in this hemisphere, absorbed moisture can be carried great distances before precipitation is finally triggered by a combination of altitude and low temperature.

Off to Slow Start

Confidential's Trial Opens

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The much-ballyhooed criminal libel case against Confidential Magazine had its premiere yesterday — complete with Hollywood stars, cameras and adoring fans.

The case got off to a slow start, however, because of legal technicalities and a courtroom mixup. When the session ended the selection of the jury had started, but apparently it will be well into next week before 12 jurors are chosen.

Eager fans jammed the courtroom and corridors to catch a glimpse of witnesses such as actors Tab Hunter, Buddy Baer and Alan Nixon, the former husband of actress Marie Wilson; Mrs. Josephine Dillon, Clark Gable's former wife, and screen extra Stella Shouel.

Defendants are Confidential, its sister publication, Whisper; Robert Harrison, publisher; Fred and Marjorie Meade, operators of Hollywood Research, Inc., Confidential's West Coast office; four other individuals and four corporations involved in the production and sales of the magazines.

Lawsuits Seem to Be Inevitable for March

By EARL WILSON

Hal March will be back on the air Tuesday (Aug. 6) on "Sixty-Four" and he should be feeling as fresh and cocky as an Irish cop on St. Patty's Day.

Who wouldn't? He's become a father, a movie star and the m. c. of a new TV show all in a couple of months.

"I think they may try to sue me about the new TV show, which is about par for the course—I have at least one suit a year," Hal told me.

WILSON

With his wife Candy, we were riding out to Paramount Pictures in Hollywood after he'd finished his movie, "Hear Me Good?" We talked about the new TV show—Saturday nights, in the George Gobel spot—which was tentatively titled "What's It For?" or "What's the Use?"

"Anyway, they would not sue me, but Entertainment Productions, Inc., which I work for—I hope," Hal said.

Suits about exclusive contracts, about houses they wanted to buy, about plays they wanted to do, fill their lives.

Their big problem, after moving out of Manhattan, was finding a place for the two older children to play—and also finding companions for them.

"One day," said Candy, "I saw some neighbor children who looked like they might want to play.

MARCH FAMILY

"Well, their gardener chased me, thinking I was trying to kidnap them."

Hal said he and Candy had to get out of town to have any kind of honeymoon. The two older children, while fond of Hal, are the kind that are jealous of their mother. As soon as Hal and Candy get at all smoochy, one of the children breaks in and says, "You quit kissing my Mommy!"

It makes romance quite a challenge.

Retirement and Pensions

Social Security Questions, Answers

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From E. E. of Hibbing, Minn.: "I'm 59 and still working. About three years ago, I lost my left eye. My good eye is getting worse and I can no longer work my old job. I have been offered other work which pays less money. Do you think I'm eligible for Social Security disability payments under the circumstances?"

Probably not. Social Security disability requirements are very strict. You can meet them only if you're so disabled that you're not able to engage in any substantial work. As you are still working, it's very doubtful that you could qualify.

From Mrs. T. D. of Oakland, Calif.: "I will retire from federal government work in about two months. How will my monthly retirement benefits be paid?"

The Civil Service Commission authorizes the payment of all benefits; the checks are issued by the Treasury Department. The checks are dated the first business day of the month after the month the benefits were earned. The government tries to deliver them to recipients on that date.

★ ★ ★

From R. G. P. of Sterling, Va.: "I have been told that if I should pass on before my wife reached 62 years of age she would not be entitled to Social Security benefits based on my work — unless there were children under 18. I have been paying Social Security tax ever since it started. Do I have the correct information?"

★ ★ ★

No. Your wife will be eligible at age 62 to Social Security payments if you should die. The general rule for a widow to be eligible for payments is that her husband must have worked under Social Security an amount of time equal to half of the time between Jan. 1, 1951 and the time of his death or a total of 10 years under Social Security.

★ ★ ★

From A. C. of New York City: "Could you tell me how many names the Social Security Administration has on its records?"

About 158 million.

From E. E. W. of Ventura, Calif.: "My father receives Social Security. My brother is 25 and totally disabled due to a childhood illness. My mother is 56. Is there any way my brother and mother could qualify for Social Security?"

Yes. Your brother and mother may both be eligible for payments. Your father should immediately get in touch with the nearest Social Security office.

From A. W. of Phoenix, Ariz.: "I worked under Social Security from 1938 to 1945 and on the railroad from 1945 to 1954. I've worked under Social Security since 1954. How do I stand on the possibility of collecting retirement payments?"

To be eligible for Railroad Retirement payments you must have worked on the railroad for at least 10 years. Otherwise, your time on the railroad is credited to you just as if you had been working under Social Security. Since you didn't work ten years on the railroad, that's what happens to your record.

China's Armed Forces May Be Shrinking in Size

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Communist China yesterday observed with parades and speeches the 30th anniversary of the creation of its powerful Red arm. But there are signs the army's size is shrinking amid domestic troubles.

The Chinese Peoples Liberation Army, or PLA, is dated from the 1927 uprising at Nanchang in Kiangsi province in eastern China. The Red force was founded on units which mutinied against the Kuomintang after Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek repudiated his alliance with the Reds.

The Reds have been in action almost continuously in the last three decades. The army first fought the Kuomintang regulars, then the Japanese invaders, and then turned again to rout Chiang's forces from the mainland and drive Nationalist remnants onto the Island of Formosa, or Taiwan.

Chinese Red troops also subjugated Tibet, although that mountainous plateau still is not fully under Red control and is the scene of anti-Communist guerrilla warfare.

★ ★ ★

Chinese Red regulars, under the guise of "volunteers," fought a long war in Korea and entered the jungles of northern Indochina to aid native Reds against the French. Both Korea and Vietnam are divided, the Reds controlling the northern half of each state.

SPORADIC EVEN TODAY

Even today the Chinese Red army is in sporadic action, confined mostly to artillery duels, with the Chinese Nationalists defending Formosa.

Of those who led the Nanchang uprising, Marshal Chu Teh is now vice chairman, or vice president, of the Peiping regime. Three others—Ho Lung, Lin Piao and Liu Po-cheng — also are members of the top political bureau of the Red party. Of the 17 Politburo members under Red leader Mao Tse-tung, 13 have been military commanders.

Hence, the army is the very core of the entire Chinese Communist movement. Its grizzled veterans suffered together in the "long march" in the early 1930s, when Mao led them for more than 8,000 fighting miles from Kiangsi to their base in Shensi Province.

The size of the army is estimated from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 men, but it is believed that by 1958 the force will decrease to a figure lower than at any time since the Reds won power in 1949.

Increased mechanization and the absence of any large-scale war on the horizon suggest partial demobilization.

NEED SKILLED WORKERS

There also is need of army men to cope with domestic problems, such as reconstruction. Manpower is no problem in China, with an estimated population of 600 million, but there is need of skilled workers.

Although budgetary items can be concealed, defense spending has been decreasing. This year's defense expenditure is estimated at approximately $2,240,000,000, or about six per cent of the gross national product. That compares with about 14 per cent in the Soviet Union and nearly ten per cent in the United States.

Civilian Employes in Government Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—A net increase of 16,869 civilian government employes was reported today by Sen. Byrd (D-Va) for the year ended June 30.

Byrd said total civilian employment by the government was 2,401,292 June 30 compared with 2,384,423 at the end of the previous fiscal year.

Regular civilian employment in June showed a net increase of 8,000 over May, Byrd reported as chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

During the year, the report said, there was an increase of 35,795 in employment by the civilian agencies, to 1,240,288, and a decrease of 18,926 in civilian employment by the military to 1,161,004.

Prison Inmate Dies From Stab Wounds

JACKSON (AP) — A 30-year-old Southern Michigan Prison inmate was fatally stabbed in the heart and back yesterday by another convict in an argument over some cigarettes.

Richard Obenour, who was serving 10-14 years for forgery, died of his wounds in the prison hospital.

Warden William H. Bannan identified Obenour's assailant as Louis Rowell, 22. Bannan said Rowell stabbed Obenour during a recreation period in the prison yard.

Obenour was sentenced from Calhoun County in 1956.

Rowell, serving six months to 10 years for larceny from a person, was sentenced from Detroit in 1953. He was paroled in 1955 but returned to the prison last year as a parole violator.

Area Advertising Agency Continues Expansion

McManus, John and Adams, Inc., has taken another step in its expansion with the acquisition of the accounts and personnel of the Ralph Yambert Organization, Los Angeles.

Teenager Killed in New York Crime Flareup

NEW YORK (AP)—One youth was killed and another was injured last night in a flareup of juvenile crime in the city.

The latest killing, in the Bronx, came in the midst of a special weekend police drive against juvenile delinquency as additional detective squads patrolled the boroughs.

A few hours after the slaying, police picked up two youths for questioning.

Fatally attacked at 161st St. and Prospect Ave., the Bronx was a youth tentatively identified as George Marshall, 18, Negro. The boy had been stabbed in the neck several times.

His companion, Richard Vaughan, 17, Negro, escaped serious injury. He told police he and his friend were assaulted by a group of Negro youths and that the attack was unprovoked.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday night a 15-year-old white boy was stabbed to death in Washington Heights and a second white boy was seriously hurt in the same gang episode.

Convicted Rapist Flees in Airplane

ENID, Okla. (AP)—A convicted rapist disappeared in an airplane yesterday after escaping from a Texas Air Force base and terrorizing the family of his former wife.

★ ★ ★

Milton J. Martin, 27, described as dangerous by authorities at Bergstrom Air Force Base, was the object of a manhunt today in Oklahoma and surrounding states. Bergstrom officials said he had vowed "not to be taken alive."

He escaped from the stockade Thursday, authorities said, stole an airplane at nearby Austin, Tex., and made his way to Enid.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Mason Hart said Martin was divorced by his wife last month and had threatened to kill her. The sheriff placed her in hiding after hearing her husband had escaped.

To Appeal Ike Decision Barring Disaster Aid

BOSTON (AP)—Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo planned today to ask the governors of Connecticut and Rhode Island to join with him in appealing to President Eisenhower a decision barring "disaster" funds for the three drought-stricken states.

★ ★ ★

Furcolo said he will request the President to review personally the findings that the drought situation in the three states, while distressing, is not "of sufficient severity and magnitude, and prolonged duration" to warrant them being declared major disaster areas.

Railroad Doesn't Hide Breakdown —for a Reason

NEW YORK (AP)—Railroads usually are a bit shy about ballyhooing a breakdown in service. But the New York Central broke precedent—with a reason.

The railroad announced yesterday that on Thursday it had to call a taxicab to take home all three passengers aboard a broken-down Putnam division train. The train stalled at the Kingsbridge station in the Bronx.

The trio of passengers occupied two air-conditioned cars with seats for 80 persons each, and has the services of four crew members.

Why the publicity? The Central has applied to the Public Service commission to discontinue service on the Putnam division because of too few passengers and high cost of operation.

Mohandas Gandhi's Son Dies of Attack

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Devadas Gandhi, 57, journalist son of Mohandas K. Gandhi, died last night after a heart attack.

Gandhi, managing editor of the big circulation Hindustan Times, was reported stricken late yesterday as he was preparing to go out with a friend for tea. He showed temporary improvement until his condition worsened.

Young Gandhi, the son of the venerated leader of India's independence movement, was educated in South Africa and India and served twice as president of the all-India newspapers editors conference. His father was assassinated in January 1948.

Lawyer Selected as King of Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Rulers of Malaya's nine states and two settlements today elected a 62-year-old bilingual lawyer to become their king when Malaya becomes independent Aug. 31.

★ ★ ★

By secret vote the ruler of Negri Sembilan state, Tuanku Sir Abdul Rahman, was named constitutional monarch for a five-year term.

Sir Abdul will have the title of paramount ruler of Malaya, be addressed as your majesty and be paid $5,000 a year. He suffered a heart attack and stroke two years ago and his movements since have been restricted.

Sen. Potter on Automation Displacement

Seeks Jobless Training

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) has proposed to President Eisenhower a program to train workers losing their jobs because of automation how to do other work.

As a first step to undertaking such a program, Potter suggested the Labor Department send a pilot study group to Michigan to look over automation and unemployment in the heart of the nation's auto industry.

"The President thought it was a good idea and said he would talk to Secretary of Labor Mitchell," Potter told newsmen after a 15-minute White House conference.

The senator also said the President may order lower minimum down payments on housing insured by the Federal Housing Administration. That step was recommended by a vote of the Michigan Republican Congressional Delegation earlier this week.

Describing the unemployment situation in Michigan's auto industry as chronic, Potter said the proposed training program could be guided by a government commission that would be set up following the report of the Michigan pilot study group.

The senator said he told Eisenhower automation has created a surplus of unskilled labor in Michigan, making a new training program necessary.

On state occasions, Britain's Queen Elizabeth rides in a royal coach that is magnificantly uncomfortable. Since George III bought "Old Rattlebones" two centuries ago, monarch have complained of the unpleasant swaying and jolting of the four-ton, elaborately carved conveyance. Rubber tires and fluorescent lighting—but little comfort—were added for the Coronation ceremonies in 1953.

Arkansas Day Picnic Held Here Tomorrow

All Arkansans are invited to attend. Gov. Williams and members of the State Administrative Board will be present.

A "mile long" picnic table will be set up, with everyone responsible for bringing their own food.

Dinner will be served at 2 p.m., with a ball game scheduled for 4 p.m.

Leopold Parole

The perpetrator of one of the most brutal and wanton murders on this continent has just been denied a parole in Illinois.

What's wrong with that?

Shouldn't he be?

★ ★ ★

Just because the man's family happens to be immensely wealthy is no reason the prison doors should swing open meekly and let him walk to freedom. More than 30 years ago, NATHAN LEOPOLD and a pal named LOEB deliberately murdered a 14-year-old boy named BOBBY FRANKS "for the thrill of it." Both were convicted. The crime shocked an entire nation.

★ ★ ★

LEOPOLD's accomplice was also part of a wealthy family in Chicago but he has long since departed this scene, dying in a prison row.

LEOPOLD says he has had "12,000 days to carry his guilt in his soul and 12,000 nights to be bitterly remorseful."

★ ★ ★

Well, how about Bobby Franks?

He hasn't had ANY days or nights to be ANYTHING.

Let's think about Bobby Franks who did no earthly wrong and who was just a fine little 14-year-old boy when he was killed in cold blood. Let's think about Bobby Franks' family which spends the rest of its years mourning an unforgiveable, a wanton and a bestial act.

★ ★ ★

LEOPOLD's wealth has let him ask for a parole three separate times.

The Governor says "no."

City Hospital

Pontiac's City Hospital Board is searching for a new boss for the institution. This is never an easy job. Already the committee has studied half a hundred references from promising candidates.

Some are always better than others "on paper." Some are always better "in person." This makes the job more difficult.

★ ★ ★

A few days ago I was talking to WILLIS BREWER, the new chairman, and he says that the type and caliber of man they are seeking is commanding a stiff salary. I think the City must be prepared to pay, and pay rather liberally, as we are presenting our new man with a mess. He inherits an unfinished wing, disagreement in the community as to what should be done plus some clashes of personalities.

★ ★ ★

His own staff
A host of doctors
His directing board
A few hundred patients
The public
Plus incidentals

★ ★ ★

This is a big job. It takes a Chief with long experience and one who can join the competitive factions that seem to be engendered in so many hospitals. Miss Lauretta Paul had many strong characteristics and admirable qualities, but she failed to "get along" with enough of the factors listed above.

★ ★ ★

If the new man were a reasonably capable public speaker it would probably help him. Also, from things I have gathered, I have the feeling that a new head may effect some economies in operation and save his increase in salary several times over.

Fight Fiasco

The boys agree that "Hurricane" (and the term is purely complimentary) was about the most futile challenger that has ever been beaten to a pulp.

★ ★ ★

Floyd Patterson will have to rank in the powder puff division for the nonce. When a journeyman box-fighter belabors a fellow card-carrier for 30 straight minutes and the recipient is still among those present, it suggests he lacks weapons that great champions take to the wars.

★ ★ ★

In fact, just a few minutes before the referee stopped the fracas, "Hurricane" was assiduously doing some extra calisthenics "to loosen up" and to "unlazy his knees" for the planned assaults that always died aborning. PATTERSON couldn't have been very damaging.

★ ★ ★

Ex-Red Wing Lindsay at 165 pounds ringside could lick 'em both — and wear skates in the process.

★ ★ ★

The televising was as bad as the melee. Early they whipped the cameras away from a man on the floor to exploit a neighboring automobile. And when the thing ended, they didn't wait for an announcement but whirled the outraged lookers back to the glories of the same sisterly product.

Edward T. Ragsdale, General Manager of the sponsor behind the offending telecast, did the most gracious thing we've seen done in many a day. He issued a general statement subsequently, deploring the blunders and assuring the public it "won't happen again." Thus Ragsdale wins more glory than either Patterson or Jackson.

★ ★ ★

Column Comments

The announcement of this experimental and tentative column has been quite well received. Old ROBERT D. Cox, now in the nineties, writes me a friendly letter from Oxford that is couched in sweetness and neighborly good will.

★ ★ ★

At the opposite extreme is a letter from an agitated and ebullient citizen from Birmingham who lives on Maywood Road. Apparently he looks with contempt and scorn on me, General Motors, The Pontiac Press, the GOP (state and national, by the way), school teachers (it isn't plain whether he hates the teachers or the equipment), inflation, high taxes, housing, high interest rates, "the mess in Washington," John Foster Dulles, and especially General Motors and me.

★ ★ ★

P. S. This one man supreme court says "Soapy WILLIAMS is all right and the people of Michigan believe in him," and not in me . . . or General Motors.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The power of faith has been exemplified for all ages by Jesus Christ. And it was Jesus who said: "Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for of such is the kingdom of heaven." And he laid hands on them . . . "Whosoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me; and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me."

Days of All Faiths:

St. Dominic Honored on Sunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday the Roman Catholic church remembers one of its favorite sons, St. Dominic, who founded the monastic order of preachers popularly called the Dominicans.

The great work of Dominic's life came about almost by accident. He lived in Spain the first part of the 13th century, a time when a strange idea known as the Albigensian heresy was luring many people away from the orthodox faith. The Albigenses had the notion that everything material is evil, which, of course, meant the body is evil.

And if the body is evil, then the Incarnation of Jesus in human flesh becomes a repugnant thing and so does the sacrament of the Body and Blood of Christ. Such doctrine undermines the very foundations of the Christian faith.

Dominic, on a trip with his bishop, happened to lodge one night in the home of a man who was steeped in the Albigensian belief, and after sitting up all night arguing with his host (successfully) he saw that his work was cut out for him. He must devote his full time to the conversion of the Albigenses back to orthodoxy.

At first the Pope assigned Dominic to work with the Cistercian monks in combatting the heresy, but it was not long before Dominic was thinking about organizing his own group, under his own rule.

The Pope, so legend tells, did not want any more monastic orders in the church, and was on the point of vetoing the new organization, when he had a dream in which he saw Dominic supporting with his shoulders the Church of St. John's Lateran, the central church of Roman Catholicism. On the strength of the dream, permission for the new group was granted, and the result was the Dominican Order, a new kind of monasticism at the time.

Where other orders had separated themselves from the secular world and lived withdrawn in devotion and meditation, the Dominicans were active in the world. These preaching friars did not remove themselves from the routine of life—instead they spent their time on the very battlefront itself, fighting for the purity of orthodox doctrine and protecting the people against the threat of heresy that would have taken the heart out of the Christian faith.

DAY FOR MISFORTUNES

The ninth day of the month of AB is, for Jews, the "Black Fast," the saddest day of the year, for it commemorates the two occasions—656 years apart—when their beloved Temple was destroyed. It is called Tisha b'Ab, which means the ninth of AB.

Even before the destruction of the Temple this particular day was "a day set for misfortunes." According to a story in the Talmud (the main body of Jewish literature) it was on this ninth day of AB.

The Country Parson

"You don't have to have any money to share your love . . . but you do have to have love to share your money."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Child's Fears Can Be Eliminated

Penny was only three years old, but she had already developed an abnormal terror. It even caused her to faint from fright. But this dread was not a wholesome one, so read how we "unconditioned" Penny to this childish fear. You can employ a similar technique in banishing other common phobias of toddlers. Scrapbook this crucial case.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"But she is deathly afraid of our vacuum sweeper," her daddy informed me.

DR. CRANE

"She screams and fights like a madman to get away. I don't know where she first developed this terror.

"One of her young cousins recently learned of her dread and deliberately started the vacuum sweeper when Penny was not looking.

"Then he held her while she screamed. In a minute or two she had fainted, and my wife was panicky lest she had died.

"CONDITIONED" FEARS

Yes, this dread of the vacuum sweeper is a "conditioned" fear. It is not an inborn or native terror.

She learned it somewhere along the line, even though her parents don't remember how or exactly when.

Dr. John B. Watson found that babies are not afraid of snakes or any furry animals or feathers or spiders or the dark or the other usual dreads that complicate the lives of many older children.

Loud noises and falling through space, were the two native fears that Dr. Watson listed as inborn.

Many toddlers develop a terror of dogs because these creatures may rush up to them and bark loudly when the child first contacts the puppy.

Maybe Carolyn was unduly startled by somebody who plugged in the vacuum sweeper when Carolyn was sitting on the machine.

The combined sudden noise and vibration may have launched her terror.

"UNCONDITION" PENNY

So our job, as practical psychologists, is to "uncondition" Penny to the fear now linked with the sweeper. But how?

Well, we must teach her to associate fun and laughter and happiness with that household gadget.

As she grows hilarious and laughs with glee during their games, she will subconsciously begin to associate such gayety with the sweeper.

By gradual degrees she can become accustomed not only to the idle sweeper, but they can ultimately work that gadget into their games.

★ ★ ★

For example, without turning it on, her parents can push it around like a baby carriage. Place her favorite dolly on the metal housing of the vacuum sweeper and then let Penny push the silent machine all around the living room.

Her daddy can even call the sweeper an automobile and thus let Penny take dolly for a ride.

Keep up the process for several days.

FUN MASKS FEAR

As Penny grows more accustomed to the machine and from personally pushing it around, her fear will diminish.

Later her daddy may ask her to toot the horn of the auto while she is giving dolly a ride thereon. This can be done by quickly turning the motor on and then instantly shutting it off.

Let Penny manipulate the machine meanwhile, for when toddlers make the noise, they are not nearly as frightened about it as when somebody else causes the clamor.

Her daddy would stick his foot in the way, and then Penny would toot the horn to warn him that he'd be run over if he didn't get out of the road.

And in a month, she was helping Mother sweep, by operating that vacuum cleaner!

Man Asks About Legality of Gypsy 'Escort' in State

Is the forced drive of a gypsy caravan across Michigan last Friday really something to treat with amusement? Sometimes popular opinion leads to action that over-rules the very principles and traditions of democracy on which our own security and freedom rest.

If the gypsies are travelers in legal status in this country, a police escort and compulsory exit from our state, without due process of law, should raise a few eyebrows and questions amongst us. Personally I would rather lose a few chickens or my thin wallet than to condemn without proof or trial. It is disturbing to wonder what has happened to formal procedures of law.

Now for the curiosity of all of us who read your paper, may I suggest you publish some authoritative articles about gypsies and their life? Having taught the gypsies how to steer their caravan, can we learn something in return?

Cigarette Findings Bring Comment

I'm glad to see some doctors are finally getting a litte sense about the cigarette "danger." This is just another example of how figures and statistics can be made to say anything, depending on what you want them to say.

There are so many flaws in the procedure by which they arrived at the present conclusions, it's a wonder any doctor was willing to put his name to the statements.

And the silly part of the whole thing is that even if it were proven beyond doubt that cigarettes are a factor in lung cancer, very few persons would stop smoking anyway. It's just human nature to feel "it won't happen to me."

Junior Editors BIBLE QUIZ

QUESTION:-Why was Moses hidden in the bullrushes?

ANSWER: When Moses was born, the Israelites had been living in Egypt many years. But the Egyptians, friendly at first, had begun to oppress them and finally the king ordered all baby boys born to the Jews put to death.

Moses' mother decided to save her son's life. She wove a basket-boat for him, made it water-tight, and set it afloat among the bull-rushes or reeds on the banks of the Nile. It floated downstream, watched by Moses' sister Miriam.

Soon, when the daughter of the Pharaoh went to the river bank to bathe, the basket was discovered and the baby brought to the princess. As the baby cried and the Pharaoh's daughter wondered what to do, a little girl ran up and offered to find a nurse.

"Yes, do," said the Princess. "I will gladly pay for his care." So Miriam fetched her mother, and soon little Moses returned to his own home under the care of his mother — and under the protection of the king's daughter.

Acting Mayor Snubs Convention in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Acting Mayor Louis C. Miriani snubbed the International Convention of the Federation of Islamic Associations here yesterday, bringing a charge of an "affront to the entire Moslem world."

Miriani, president of Detroit's Common Council and a leading candidate for mayor in the nonpartisan election this fall, said:

"I have no objection to the local groups but I understand they are bringing in some questionable people from the outside, particularly Washington. These people are anti-Eisenhower, anti-foreign aid and anti-American and therefore I will have nothing to do with the meeting."

He named no specific persons as the cause of his refusal to deliver a welcoming address to the convention.

No Asiatic Flu Found in State

Diagnose Cases Now; Chance for Outbreak Best This Fall, Winter

LANSING (AP) — No confirmed cases of Asiastic influenza have been reported yet in Michigan, the State Health Department said today.

★ ★ ★

The department added that diagnosis of several suspected cases is now underway but results probably won't be known for several days.

Chances for an outbreak of the Asiastic flu in Michigan probably will be greatest next fall and winter, according to Dr. George Agate, chief of the department's acute communicable disease section.

Dr. Agate said many Michigan people probably will become ill if they are exposed to the disease.

★ ★ ★

He said the department has been informed that a new preventive vaccine probably will be available commercially this fall but the amounts to be made available are not known.

The Asiatic flu, Dr. Agate said, apparently is a mild disease lasting from three to five days.

It causes about one death per thousand cases and strikes hardest among the elderly, infants and those seriously ill from other causes.

Near Burial of Sheriff Halts Hunt for Body

SUMMUM, Ill. (AP) — Sheriff Virgil Ball of Fulton County was nearly buried yesterday in a cave-in that halted the search for the body of wealthy Fay Rawley.

Tons of earth fell into the strip coal mine where authorities believe Rawley's auto may be buried. The cave-in occurred after a giant power shovel had dug into a bank of soil.

Ball said he was walking in the bottom of the pit to inspect a piece of metal that had been uncovered when onlookers at the top shouted to him. Ball raced out the other end of the excavation, ahead of tons of earth that cascaded.

The cave-in covered the metal, which authorities described as about 10 inches in diameter, shiny and chrome-like in appearance.

The search will resume Monday.

A big drag-line coal shovel had dug 65-feet into the mine tailings and the trickle of water increased with each scoop of the bucket.

★ ★ ★

Ball said evidence indicates Rawley, former Woodland Township supervisor from Astoria, Ill., was robbed and his body and car pushed into the pit. A drag-line shovel similar to the one now scooping for his remains probably covered the evidence, Ball said.

Night Club Owner Sues Eartha Kitt for 'Riot Act'

NEW YORK (INS) — A New York night club owner has brought a $200,637 suit against singer Eartha Kitt for allegedly staging a one-woman riot in his club, the African Room.

In his suit, filed yesterday in New York Supreme Court, Harold Kanter, co-owner of the African Room, charged that the sultry Eartha broke champagne glasses, dumped drinks on people's heads, punched him and then topped off the incident by climbing to the stage and performing an "offensive, lewd" dance.

She also refused to pay the bill for the evening, Kanter said, which amounted to $137.

All this tended to drive patrons from the club, he contended. Eartha replied out of court:

"If I got up on the stage and did what they said, you can be sure the patrons would not have left."

Girl Pulled From Lake Revives After 3 Hours

PORT HURON (AP) — Joy C. Muter, 15, finally regained consciousness yesterday three hours after she was found floating face down in Lake Huron off Lakeside Park.

Lifeguards began artificial respiration before firemen arrived with a resuscitator. Joy showed signs of life 30 minutes after being taken from the lake. But she did not regain consciousness until after she was removed to Port Huron Hospital.

Her mother, Mrs. Elmer Muter, said she thinks her daughter was wading and was pushed into deep water by other children.

State Guardsmen Open 2-Week Camp

LANSING (AP) — About 10,000 Michigan National Guardsmen, most of them from the 46th Infantry Division, take to the field for two weeks of training at Camp Grayling starting Aug. 10.

The encampment will be the fifth, final and largest of the summer outdoor training season.

Training with the 46th Division, which has units in 46 communities, will be four attached organizations.

They are the state headquarters and headquarters detachment, Lansing; the 107th Ordnance Co. (direct support), Pontiac; 139th army band, Detroit, and the 1437th Engineer Co. (float bridge), Sault Ste. Marie.

Gadgets Take Watchmen Jobs

New Equipment Saves $100,000 in Wages, Never Tires, Sleeps

NEW YORK — Photoelectric and ultrasonic plant protective equipment can save $100,000 a year in watchman's wages, and it never sleeps, never tires, and pays for itself in less than a month, reports Factory Management and Maintenance publication.

Both systems are tamper-proof. Any effort to sabotage them or turn them off will also sound the alarm.

When a company in Syracuse N. Y. leased new space for offices and warehouses, they found the cost for 18 additional watchmen came to almost $100,000 a year. But photoelectric and ultrasonic equipment installed in the plant paid for itself in the first month.

Photoelectric systems are best for large open areas (several hundred feet in extent) that an intruder would cross. At one end of such an expanse is a cone-shaped transmitter that projects modulated infrared "black" light at specified cycles per second. The transmitter is aimed at a receiver at the other end of the expanse. As an intruder moves about, he is bound to cross the beam and interrupt the reception. Broken reception excites an alarm.

Ultrasonic systems are better for smaller, broken-up areas. Equipment includes a transmitter and a receiver, both about the size and shape of half a grapefruit. A transmitter floods the area with sound at 19,200 cycles per second — too high for the human ear to detect. An intruder moving through the area disturbs the sound frequency and the receiver reacts by signaling an alarm. The system even detects fire.

The robot guard is not confined to signaling only the building in which it is located. It can flash the alarm by wire to a police station or to any place a main guard station is set up, the magazine reports.

Overland Route Finally Joins State's Peninsulas

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Steel now bridges the Straits of Mackinac, shore to shore.

Michigan's two peninsulas now are joined by an overland route for the first time—but automobiles still won't be whipping across the 100-million-dollar Straits of Mackinac Bridge until November.

The Mackinac Bridge Authority said today steel now reached all the way across. The last suspension span was hung July 22 and two 240-foot gaps left between the towers and cable supporting piers now have been filled in.

A roadway, however, is among other things still missing from the bridge's suspended section. There still are many pieces of steel to be fitted here and there, too.

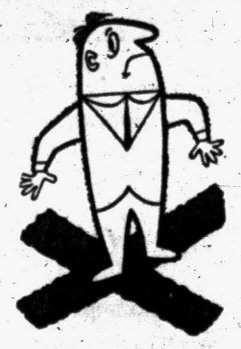
"We're Recommended by the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce"



Reports continue to come to our attention that both door-to-door salesmen and telephone solicitors claim to be approved or endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce. Beware of such claims!

PERSISTANCE IS THE KEY

J. L. VOORHEES

If Alexander Graham Bell had stopped when his failures mounted to a hundred we would have continued to use Pony Express for fast communication. If DeForest had taken defeat easily none of us would spend an enjoyable evening watching television. If Burbank had allowed thousands of disappointing experiments to dull his quest for sweet apples, huge big and smooth potatoes we would be content with sour apples and scrubby tubers.

M. E. SIPLE

Trainmen last winter brought their trains through snow and flood; those men took failure by the nose as they brought their passengers, freight and mail to safety. A mother was told, "Your son will never speak again." She accepted that challenge, worked with that boy until he uttered a sound, then words; today that man is a successful lawyer with a big practice.

It's easy to quit when the going is tough. It takes a man to batter his way past unpleasant situations, difficulty, accept the challenge, persist to the realm of achievement.

Two wriggly souvenirs of the 40-day jaunt are the horned toads that Phillip White (left) of Wagner street and James Livingstone of Oneida road are surveying. These specimens were picked up somewhere en route from Arizona to Pontiac. They are being kept in a large aquarium filled with sand.

Looking very native in their Mexican serapes, Jerry Powers (seated) and Robert Tenny, both of Cherokee road look over a huge cactus that they hauled back to Pontiac.

12,000-Mile Trip --All for Science

By GRETTA PORTER

Looking slightly weary and a little disheveled, six travelers pulled into Pontiac last week. They had just completed a 12,000 mile auto trip in some 40 days.

Sound impossible? Well, five high school students and a biology teacher did it.

Last fall, John M. Youngpeter and four students—James Livingstone of Oneida road, Jerry Powers of Cherokee road, Phillip White of Wagner street, and Robert Tenny of Cherokee road—began planning and mapping out a route through Mexico and the western United States. Stephen Fairbanks of Niagara avenue, a student at Cranbrook, became interested in the project and was soon a part of the group.

A SCIENCE PROJECT

The students were interested in this trip not as tourists but rather from the scientific viewpoint. They were anxious to visit the biological areas that would be of educational interest.

★ ★ ★

The jaunt began June 15 when Youngpeter's station wagon and camping trailer, laden with supplies and the travelers, left Pontiac. The six camped out as much as possible to keep expenses at a minimum.

They drove to St. Louis and from there to Laredo, Texas, crossing the Rio Grande and passing through customs at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. The travelers proceeded to Monterrey and then on to Tampico, all the while gathering plants, minerals or bugs, according to each boy's special interest.

DAY IN JUNGLE

In Tamazunchale the group spent a day in the jungle with a Mexican guide. He spoke no English and they spoke no Spanish, but with gestures and a few words gleaned from a Spanish-English dictionary they got along nicely. In the jungle they collected some butterfly specimens.

In Mexico City they stepped into the role of tourists and took in spots of interest around the city. After a visit to the silver city of Taxco it was time to start back up the West Coast of the Mexican State.

BACK IN U. S.

They crossed back into the United States at Nogales, Ariz., and traveled on to Tucson, spending some time in the Petrified Forest and Painted Desert.

After a visit to Grand Canyon and Hoover Dam, they spent a day in Death Valley, Calif. Despite warnings from friends and natives, the group visited the valley when it was 120 degrees. They said, however, that it was "not unpleasant, since the humidity was almost zero."

★ ★ ★

Next point of scientific interest was the lowest point in the Western Hemisphere, Bad Water. Steve, who is interested in mineralogy, collected over 100 rock specimens on the trip, and found some interesting formations at Bad Water.

They camped in Yosemite, visited Sequoia National Park and stopped in Salt Lake City to visit the city's famous Mormon temple and swim in the salt water.

SAW GEYSERS

In Western Yellowstone Park, Grand Geyser performed for the traveling scientists. Grand Geyser only erupts a few times a week, and the group was fortunate to see the natural phenomenon at work.

★ ★ ★

Next on the agenda was a visit to the Montana Biological Station at Flathead Lake. Next stop was Hungry Horse Dam and Glacier National Park, and then back to Eastern Yellowstone Park.

It was here that a bear one night tore the door off the camping trailer in attempt to get food. Despite all the excitement several pictures of the bear and his debris were taken.

The students proceeded rapidly to the Black Hills and stopped in Rapid City to see the Dinosaur Park.

STOP AT CHICAGO

Back in the Midwest they traveled to Chicago where a friend of Mr. Youngpeter's guided them through the University of Chicago. After a visit to Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry they started on the last leg of their journey—the longest one—the last lap home.

Now the experience is over and there is nothing left but some souvenirs, pictures and a few tales—but to these young scientists the knowledge they gained in their travels is an enriching experience they'll never forget.

Ex-City Man Married at Bryn Mawr

Joanne Lee Smedley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thomas Smedley, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Robert John Ridgeway, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Ridgeway of Dearborn, formerly of Pontiac, were married at 3:30 p.m., today in the chapel of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Rex Stowers Clements officiated.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. John Philip Yohn of Devon, Pa., the bride's sister, of Devon, Pa., served as matron of honor and Mrs. Ronald Dale Ridgway of St. Clair Shores, was her bridesmaid.

Lieutenant Ronald Dale Ridgeway, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Frank Lynch and John Wright, both of Philadelphia, ushered.

A reception at Haverford Hotel was to follow the ceremoney. Following a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, the newlyweds will make their home in Bala-Cynwyd, Pa.

Ways to Check Your Interests

By ANNE HEYWOOD

What can you do if you have too many interests, if you are always chasing after one or another hobby, always switching jobs or enthusiasms?

That's Dorothy's problem.

"I don't know what to do," she writes. "Everybody I know seems to have a job they like, but I just drift from one to another. I never seem to find one that is sufficiently interesting.

"I have about a dozen hobbies, too. It seems to me that everything is interesting, so how in the world do you narrow it down to one or two?

MANY APTITUDES

"Vocational tests indicate that I'm a many-aptitude type and can do anything I want. My problem is, I don't know what I want."

There are a few ways to narrow down the choice.

In the first place, all the interests are not genuine, so eliminate the false ones. Of the remaining interests, some will be much stronger than others, so eliminate the weaker ones. That leaves just a few and that's easier to handle.

LIST YOUR INTERESTS

The first step is to list all the things you think are interests.

Make a long comprehensive list — gardening, entertaining, typing, sketching, ironing, writing, playing with children, reading about medicine. Make the list as long as you possibly can.

Then go through it and eliminate, quickly, each one that you have never done a thing about.

If "writing" is on your list, and you haven't ever found the time then eliminate it. If "playing with children" is on the list, but you haven't done it since your own children were little—ten years ago, say—then that is not a real interest.

Be ruthless with yourself. We all give of lip service to certain interests which we think are glamorous, noble, feminine or masculine. But what we never find time for is not a real interest.

Here's a good way:

Pretend that the doctor has told you that you must cut down exactly half of your activities. Take the list and scratch out the ones you would eliminate.

The interests that are left are apt to be the real ones. And there won't be more than a few!

Next time you hear yourself saying, "I'm interested in just everything," realize you're kidding yourself just as much as the person who says, "I love everybody."

Doesn't Smoke or Drink

Ginger Rogers at 46 Slim as a Teenager

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

NEW YORK (INS)—Want to stay slim and shapely like Ginger Rogers?

Then try exercise, lots of sleep, hearty breakfasts, and "work at being a woman."

These are the rules that keep Ginger as youthful-looking today as when she was dancing the carioca 24 years ago.

Ginger, 46, looked so good on TV recently the critics reviewed her figure instead of the show. She's the same size as she was winning an academy award in 1940.

AVOID, CIGARETTES, ALCOHOL

"I eat anything I like and I exercise when I feel like it," Ginger said. "But I believe in lots of fresh air, nine hours sleep, some exercising and no smoking or drinking."

The golden-haired movie star bases her rules for fitness on her own likes and dislikes. She explained:

"I love tennis, even though I'm a weekend player. If you're going to be in sports, you have to keep in good shape. That means no smoking."

As for drinking, Ginger gets more kick from food than from alcohol; so she sticks to ginger ale.

★ ★ ★

"The Texas in me shows when I eat," she smiled. "I adore fried chicken with cowboy gravy (chicken cracklings mixed with flour and milk in the pan), any kind of meat, salads and big breakfasts.

BREAKFAST A 'MUST'

"Breakfast is a must," she added. "I don't see how anybody can get through the day without breakfast."

A typical breakfast for Ginger was the one she downed with this reporter: Double orange juice, cold cereal with milk, two eggs, Danish pastry with custard filling and coffee with cream.

Meals like that leave no bulges in Ginger's 21-inch waistline. She does not "overeat" and when she feels an ounce creeping onto her 118-pound, 5-foot-5 figure, she exercises.

★ ★ ★

"Correct posture is the most important exercise, but I also like the 'reach the ceiling' routine—where you keep stretching with your arms and your body.

"When I've been sitting a long time, I like another exercise. I touch my toes—right arm to left toe, left arm to right toes, swinging my arms back as far as I can over my head each time."

FEMININE

Ginger thinks "working at being a woman" also helps retain good looks. She explained:

"Being a woman is a job you can't take lightly.

"To be attractive, you have to be healthy. For me that means nine hours sleep nightly, in the fresh air on my patio if possible. It also means taking care of hair, nails, wardrobe and all that. In my profession, that's a full-time job, but even the woman who tends house can find time to take care of herself."

Paris Accents Sophistication

Teen Styles Grow Up

PARIS (INS) — Fashionable Paris teenagers will take on a grown-up look come fall.

Autumn and winter clothes for the young miss reveal styles and accessories smuggled in from the world of sophisticated ladies. Albert Lempereur, top Paris junior fashion expert, has even shown a slim-styled pink and gold brocade dance dress worn by an 18-year-old model carrying a cigarette in an eight-inch long holder.

★ ★ ★

Also meant for the "grown-up look" are gold metal chains used as shoulder straps on low-cut party dresses, as well as long strands of beads worn high up to the throat in front and tossed into a dangling loop at the back.

★ ★ ★

Even the silhouette of the young mademoiselle will take on a new shape for fall. She will look slimmer by wearing full skirts "limp," that is without a petticoat.

What Hides Dull Decor? Screens Do

NEW YORK (INS) — You can hid a multitude of decorating sins behind a dressy-looking screen.

The screens these days come in a variety of sizes, from the everyday two panel screens that measure 60 inches high and 42 inches wide to the large economy size that boasts six panels, stands 84 inches high and measures 126 inches across.

Once you've settled on the size screen you want to section off a part of a room, or act as a room divider, the next step is to find one that not only blends in with but adds to the decor.

Fiberglas is one of the favorite fabrics for screens these days, and to be really in style the pattern you pick, should be printed on both sides of the cloth.

Musical motifs are now available which blend in well with most period settings. Persian patterns are another, exotic possibility.

For more modern rooms, there are smart woven striped fabrics in a variety of colors. If you want solid colors, you have a choice of some 20 shades to work with.

Frames are hardwood with a choice of satin black or natural wood finishes. Hinges are brass for a golden glow look.

Coming Up: Carryall for Career Girl

NEW YORK (INS) — Girls who have to carry briefcases need no longer look like relief cases.

There's a chic new substitute for the battered manila envelope, shopping bag or overpacked tote that most gals use for briefcases.

It's a feminine briefcase called a "career-case," and it's designed not only to carry your lunch or papers, but to match your fall outfit.

Handbag maker Thomas J. Rolfs is offering "career-cases" in red, brown or green corduroy trimmed with black patent. The envelope-design cases, about 12 by 10 inches, tuck under the arm easily — yet are big enough to act as combined case and purse if you want to skip carrying a handbag too.

Rolfs says his cases will hold the equivalent of three heavy magazines worth of paper, or a pair of flat shoes, your lunch, an extra blouse or whatever you want to sneak past the boss while looking business-like.

The "career-cases" will cost $5.95 when they appear in stores at the end of this month.

Colors, Gems in Stockings News for Fall

It's a dazzling, colorful fall in all ready-to-wear — from corsets to coats — from chapeaux to shoes — and the all-one-color costume is THE fashionable way to look. Hosiery strides in — in deeper, stronger, richer costume colors to meet the challenge of this year's one-color from tip-to-toe look.

Legs will now be "costumed" in excitement — in new nylon colors inspired by precious gems — by the glow of lavish fabrics — by exciting fur shades — and they will blend with or match the outfit. So important is the stocking as part of the costume, this season, that some dress houses are even showing their collections, with nylons matched or blended in color.

Say Correct Title

A man shouldn't refer to his secretary as "my girl." Her job should be given its proper title. "I'll have my secretary look that up" is correct.

Karen Lackey Feted on 15th Birthday

Robert William Bradley Weds Ann C. Humphreys

Ann Christine Humphreys and Robert William Bradley of Lapeer were married this afternoon at Grand Rapids. Rev. William J. McKeefery performed the ceremony, held in Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Humphreys of Grand Rapids. The A. B. Bradleys of Bloomfield Hills are the bridegroom's parents.

IN SILK AND LACE

The bride was dressed in a formal gown of antique silk fashioned with a scoop neckline outlined in Venice lace, sprinkled with seed pearls. The gown's side fullness was caught in a bustle effect by a self bow, and swept into a chapel length train.

The bride's fingertip silk illusion veil was held by a caplet of lace trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink roses, white stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

As matron of honor, Mrs. William J. McKeefery wore a floor-length gown of mint green crystallette with net overskirt trimmed in bands of crystallette and featuring a matching jacket. She wore a cluster caplet sprinkled with rhinestones and carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations and ivy.

SISTERS TAKE PART

Elizabeth Humphreys was her sister's junior bridesmaid and another sister, Margaret Jean Humphreys, was the flower maid. They wore identical gowns, similar to that of the matron of honor, and carried pink carnation nosegays.

★ ★ ★

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Humphreys chose a street length gown of beige silk shantung with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. Mrs. Bradley wore a deep beige lace dress with matching accessories and a yellow sweetheart rose corsage

For a northern wedding trip the new Mrs. Bradley changed to a gray silk and cotton sheath with black accessories accented by a pink rose corsage from her gridal bouquet. The couple will live in Lapeer.

This dress, which buttons all the way down the side and laps over, can live the life of your fabric choice. In black broadcloth outlined with silk braid and buttoned with jet, it is ideal for an important little dinner.

In red flannel, it can go to a hi-fi party at a fraternity house with as much equanimity as it attends an evening lecture.

Whatever you make it in, you'll make it in fast time because the exclusive designer-sized pattern eliminates alterations, precise perforations assure accurate matching and the step-by-step instruction sheet guides you to professional results.

Eating Habits Must Be Good in Any Season

Eating habits change with summer weather. But you still have to eat for beauty, so keep in mind the basic and all-important seven; leafy green and yellow vegetables; citrus fruits or tomatoes; potatoes, vegetables, other fruit; milk, cheese and ice cream; meat, poultry, fish, eggs; bread, flour, cereals and butter or fortified margarine.

★ ★ ★

Don't decide that because it's hot and you haven't got much appetite that you can nibble your way through the summer on a lettuce leaf. And remember, too, that you need some hot food every single day.

So if you have a salad and a cold drink at noon, have a hot meal and hot coffee or tea at night.

Missionary Honored at Stork Shower

Three missionary groups of Memorial Baptist Church on Prospect street met in the church basement for business meeting and pink-and-blue shower honoring Mrs. William Garfield. Mrs. Garfield, a returned missionary from Korea, spoke on the "Needs of Korea."

Mrs. Kyle Wharff, Mrs. Jack Anderson, and Mrs. Frank Bartley served refreshments to 30 members and guests, at the recent shower.

Try This Exercise

Bulging Waist Hints of Middle Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The woman who has a slim waist and a well-rounded bustline usually has an attractive figure. Even if her hips are a little out of line her silhouette will appear youthful.

The protruding abdomen and the thickening of the waist are the two most common evidences of middle age.

This is a good one: Stand tall with the feet comfortably separated. Raise the arms overhead. Bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips to the left toe or go as far in that direction as possible. Raise the trunk and arms and twist to the right, looking back over the right shoulder. Bend trunk to the right, touch fingertips to toe, raise trunk and twist to the left. Continue, alternating.

Another: This is an old timer but still good. Stand tall with the feet separated, arms raised sideways, shoulder height. Keep the arms in this same relation to the body. Bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips of the right hand to the left toe. Raise the trunk (all the way up and lift the rib cage).

This time bend the trunk and try to touch the fingertips of the left hand to the right toe. Raise trunk and continue, alternating. Do this smoothly and slowly, giving plenty of time for the stretch and pull of the muscles.

Even when you are not overweight, fatty deposits have a tendency to settle at the waistline and over the abdomen. Exercise will decrease these measurements. Many women find it becoming to the face and neck to be just a little heavier than they were in early youth but dislike thickening through the middle. Exercise is the answer!

If this is your problem and you would like to have my waist-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 "Don't Lowman in care of this newspaper. Go To Waist." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Name Types Reflect Era When Born

Formal 'Elizabeth' Replaces Passe 'Rubys', 'Blossoms'

Names frequently reflect the eras of their origin. The current one seems to reflect titles of historic novels, television characters and maybe even short story heroines that run in cycles.

Back in the gay nineties, the era of the stage door Johnny, girls were "Rose," "Daisy," "Blossom" and even "Peony." More scintillating showgirl types reflected the sugar daddy era with names such as Jewel, Opal, Pearl, Ruby, Sapphire. Then there were the romanticists who tied up with the tinpan alley era when April, May and June were likely to precede the names on a mailbox.

The most noticeable name switch to formality is Elizabeth. Itused to be that an Elizabeth felt lucky because she could choose from a wide selection of nicknames one that fitted her personality when she grew up.

As a tiny tot she'd be Lillibeth perhaps. Witty, fun-to-be with types became Betty. Clinging vines were tabbed Betsy or Beth. 'Liz was the gay, party type. Elizabeth was only used for the Sunday-go-meeting prim types.

But not so any more. Credit the Queen of England, Elizabeth Taylor or the girl down the road. But today the trend is to wear Elizabeth if that's your name, and it's a popular one.

Boys names — Peter, William, George, Charles, Joseph, Edward, Mark, Luke and Francis — are to be heard on any sand lot these days. One parent says he named his boy Mark because "it'll be difficult to find a diminutive for it," besides the fact he likes the name.

Carlos Thompson Recalls Hollywood Beset by Fear

ROME (INS) — Latin-American heart-throb Carlos Thompson calls Lili Palmer "the most wonderful woman I ever met" and says they will be married in Munich "some time in August."

★ ★ ★

Thompson, who swooshed out of Hollywood three years ago like an escapee from Sing Sing, said he and Lili, former wife of actor Rex Harrison, bought most of their furniture in Verona, Italy.

"It's all antiques," he said proudly, "and I think very beautiful."

His romance with the British actress began 2½ years ago in Germany when they appeared together in a film called "Between Time and Eternity."

AGE DIFFERENCE

The fact that Lili is 43 and he is only 34 doesn't bother Carlos at all. He said:

"She seemed to be the answer to all my problems. Not only is she beautiful, but she has great polish and a fine mind."

★ ★ ★

Thompson, appearing in his first American film in over three years (with Esther Williams in "Raw Wind in Eden"), had a few frank words to say about Hollywood and why he departed the glitter city.

★ ★ ★

From a picturesque cliff outside Rome where U-I was shooting "Eden," Carlos, bare from the waist up, reflected on his movietown sojourn with a complete lack of bitterness, but with understandable chagrin.

★ ★ ★

"They thought I was a Latin lover," he commented, "but the fact is, I'm not. They tried to type me and miscast me to the point where I finally got fed up and left."

FREED BY STUDIO

Carlos, an Yvonne de Carlo discovery, was under contract to MGM, but eventually got a release from that studio to free-lance in Europe.

★ ★ ★

"There is so much fear in Hollywood," the actor said, "that it is unbelievable. The movie industry has become, in a sense, almost a dictator — a thing that eats you up faster and faster; a grindstone that never releases you."

Carlos said he found Hollywood "hospitable and friendly."

"But you disappear for a year," he added, "and people don't remember you. More important, they don't know what to say to you.

"I remember running into someone I considered an 'old friend' one day and all he could say was, 'Hi kid. You know it's for grownups these days!' — Whatever that meant!"

★ ★ ★

The less-than-perfect figure should conceal in draped chiffon instead of the figure-revealing satin formal.

It is largely a fabric story for fall, with chiffon and satin the favorites of many designers. Shiny fabric highlights figure defects and makes the wearer seem larger, but matt chiffon can be draped so as to minimize size.

For hot weather travel comfort, face as often as you can get to a wash your hands, forearms, and wash basin and soap.

Confident Living

A. J. Cronin Uses Faith to Conquer Death, Defeat

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

For two summers I lived in the same community in Switzerland as the famous noveltist, A. J. Cronin. He had long been one of my favorite authors, and I was delighted to have the opportunity to know this great man.

★ ★ ★

"I notice you always emphasize in your writing the misery people suffer from feelings of inferiority," he told me, "and I've been interested in your solutions of this malady of personality."

DR. PEALE

As he said this, I realized from the expression on his face that it was something from which he, too, had suffered but had gained release.

★ ★ ★

As his readers know, A. J. Cronin started out as a doctor of medicine. While in medical school, he had assisted one of the most brilliant surgeons in London.

The surgeon was a nervous and impatient man; the young intern perhaps a bit slow. "You will never be a surgeon," this doctor told Cronin with contempt. "You're too inept, too clumsy."

He began practice in the western highlands of Scotland. But when a patient needed even the most simple surgery, he sent him to Perth or Edinburgh. He could "peddle pills," but he was afraid to do that which he had been trained to do — use the surgeon's knife.

★ ★ ★

Then came the winter snows, and with them a serious accident. The son of the local minister had been crushed by a falling tree.

SKILL WAS NEEDED

Dr. Cronin was called and found that the case called for one of the most delicate operations known to surgery. He tried to call Perth, Edinburgh, Glawgow, but all the lines were down. Even the railroad was blocked with snow. No surgeon could get through to the boy.

Finally he said to the family: "I can't do anything for you. I can't get a surgeon."

"Doctor," the father said, "under those circumstances, you will have to operate yourself. God will help you."

"You must do it," the minister repeated. "God will help you."

RELIED ON GOD

Cronin sent the family from the room and prepared to operate. As he took the scalpel in his trembling hand, he heard the teacher's voice, "You will never be a surgeon!" Then, suddenly, something welled up in him — maybe it was anger, maybe a flickering spark of faith. The voice of the preacher replaced that of the teacher and it said, "God will help you."

★ ★ ★

"All of a sudden," Cronin told me, "my hand grew steady, my mind grew cool. I felt confidence in myself. I made the incision and, for an hour, I worked with only the sense of touch, putting together the crushed vertebrae, knowing that the boy's life was in my hands.

At the end of that hour I saw the boy's lower limbs move feebly. The operation was finished, the healing begun. I sat by that boy's bed with deep thanksgiving, for at last I was set free from the misery of inferiority.

"The greatest experience of my life was when I walked into the living room and said to the family, in the Scotch way of understatement, 'I think he'll do'."

That is what God can do for all of us. He can help us and He can set us free from every weakness.

THIRTY-FIVE AWARDS — Mrs. William Nicholai, 43, of Waterford Township checks over her 35 gold bar awards. Each one represents one year of perfect attendance of Sunday Bible school. She is in charge of the Youth Temperance Education program at the Central Christian Church of Pontiac.

Holds Thirty-Five Awards for Perfect Attendance

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

It pays to be good, and Helen Nicholai of Waterford Township is one of the best, with a perfect Sunday School attendance record of 35 years to her credit.

She was carried to Sunday school in a blanket when she was only 14 days old, and it has become a habit ever since then.

Helen's official record started at the First Christian Church of Pontiac when she was six years old, and by the time she was eleven, Helen was playing the piano for the hymn-singing, and teaching classes one year later.

At the age of 16, she was superintendent of the Primary department and that's where she has been working most of her life. She is 43 years old.

Helen and her husband, Bill, live at 4045 Sashabaw Rd., and have no children of their own, however they have hopes of adopting a child in the near future.

"Maybe that's one of the reasons why Bill and I are so interested in teaching youngsters in the church," she said.

Bill hasn't missed a Sunday service in 17 consecutive years.

ONCE IN 35 YEARS

Only once in all the 35 years of church-going, was it necessary for Helen to miss. It was during the 13th year, in 1933 when she was in the University hospital.

Church officials told her then, that she could take time out, but she said "no" and when she was released, started that year all over again in order to make it a perfect year.

On Sunday, October 13, she will have completed another perfect attendance year, and already her 36th year Bar award has been specially ordered—because of the unusually high number.

★ ★ ★

"They did not preach their religion," she said. "They lived it—and that kind of set the pattern," she concluded.

Rev. A. J. Baughey Begins 18th Year in Pastorate

The 34th annual conference of the Evangelistic Missions Inc., held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Camp Meeting Tabernacle, 2800 Watkins Lake Rd., was presided over by the Rev. A. J. Baughey, general superintendent.

The conference board returned the Rev. Mr. Baughey to the Pontiac pastorate to begin his 18th year of ministry here.

Services of the Pontiac Evangelistic Mission will be held in the tabernacle until Sept. 1. The public has been invited.

The local church board recently agreed to sell the property at 60 Tilden Ave. and move out permanently to the Watkins Lake Rd. location.

Parish Plans Picnic at John Ivory Estate

St. Michael's Parish Picnic will be held from 1 to 7 p.m. Sunday on the John F. Ivory grounds, 9960 Cooley Lake Rd.

During the course of the day, there will be saddle ponies for children, wagons to haul children and parents over private, scenic roads, prizes and refreshments.

At 3 p.m., the Ivory Rangers have scheduled a polo game and Mr. Ivory will furnish stunt riders for the pre-game attraction.

Boys of Oakland Ave. United Presbyterian Attending Camp

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, will preach on "How to Become a Christian."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Glora Luck, former youth director, will sing two solos, "I Am Not Worthy" and "It May Be Today."

At 7:30 Sunday evening, the regular Youth Night service will be observed.

Other boys are Doug Hummell, Don McLean, Gary Newingham, Gary Ogles, Arnie Osta, Bill Sapelak, Ronnie Strebe, Jim Tatu, Bill Thomas and Chris Verway.

Donald Barnett Attending Annual Camp Institute

Donald Barnett of 240 Cherokee Rd., has been selected to represent the National Federation Temple Youth from Temple Beth Jacob at the 10th annual camp leadership institute in Oconomowoc, Wis.

During the 12-day meeting, the teenagers are applying themselves to community life by practicing and living the ethical principles that govern their lives.

The group, headed by Rabbi Samuel Cook, is an affiliate of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations prent body of 542 Reform temples in the United States and Canada.

Camp Pictures Slated Sunday

Rev. James E. Taulbee, Drayton Plains Pastor, Forest Haven Director

Pictures of campers at the Forest Haven Bible Camp at Ocqueoc Lake will be shown at 7:15 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church 3714 Sashabaw Rd., Drayton Plains.

The camp was organized nearly 15 years ago to provide an inexpensive youth camp for local churches in the northern part of the state. The leaders, a group of pastors, had in mind the goal of building good citizens with a Biblical background.

Forest Haven Bible Camp, nine miles north of Rogers City, is a non profit corporation whose officers are elected by member-participating churches.

The following are now serving: Rev. James E. Taulbee, camp director and pastor of First Baptist Church, Drayton Plains; Rev. William Richards, camp co-director and pastor of First Baptist Church, North Branch; Rev. Jack Richard, secretary and pastor of the Hale Baptist Church and the Rev. John Brubaker, treasurer and pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Evart.

Rev. David Mortensen to Give Graham Report

"I Heard God in the Garden" will be the sermon theme of the Rev. David Mortensen at the 7:30 evening hour Sunday in Marimont Baptist Church, Walton boulevard at Hollywood.

The sermon will include a report of the Billy Graham meeting which the pastor and his two sons, Calvin and Philip, attended Tuesday evening in Madison Square Garden.

The public has been invited.

Anniversary to Be Observed

Steel Work Completed for 50x100 Ft. Building Under Construction

Dixie Baptist Church, 8585 Dixie Highway, will observe its third anniversary Sunday with special recognition given to babies and parents.

A white Bible will be presented to the parents of the youngest baby present. The Gospel String Quartet of Rochester will provide music for all services.

Following the morning preaching at 11, dinner will be served on the church grounds. Services will begin with Sunday School at 10 a.m., worship hour 11, young people's meeting, 5:45 p.m. and preaching again at 7 p.m.

Dixie Baptist Church began with 39 persons attending the first Sunday School service. During the last four months, the attendance has averaged 205. The morning preaching hour has an average attendance of 212.

On the congregation's eight acres of ground, a new church is under construction. The basement walls and steel work have been completed for the 50 by 100 foot building.

VISITING CONGRESSMAN — The Rev. and Mrs. Edward D. Auchard with daughter, Joanne, were visiting Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) in his Washington office. The Rev. Mr. Auchard is pastor of Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, 5171 Commerce Rd.

Visiting at St. Vincent's Is Priest From Rome

Born in Rome in 1914, Father Bosca was ordained in 1938 to the Roman Catholic Priesthood.

For 17 years he worked in Rome and the surrounding cities.

In 1935, he volunteered to accompany Bishop James McManus to Puerto Rico where he taught Italian, philosophy and Scripture history at the Catholic University.

While working in the United States, Father Bosca hopes to contact those interested in volunteering their time and efforts to teach in the university and do social work.

COMES TO ST. VINCENT

Ordained to the priesthood on June 1 was the Rev. Jerome Fraser who has assumed his duties as assistant pastor of St. Vincent's.

★ ★ ★

Born in Detroit in 1931, he received his training at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit and St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth.

Interested in the work of the United Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and the International Refugee Organization, Father Fraser traveled to Europe in 1955 to study the refugee problem.

Realizing the United States had a similiar problem with migrant workers, he spent two months in the summer of 1956 in Mexico to increase his knowledge and background of the Mexican people.

★ ★ ★

His future work will be concerned with the Spanish-speaking people of Southeastern Michigan.

Walter Brown Guest Minister

Youth of First Christian to Attend Crystal Lake Camp Near Frankfort

While the Rev. D. D. McColl is on vacation from the First Christian Church, guest ministers will occupy the pulpit.

Speaking Sunday will be Walter Brown who is attending Johnson Bible College, Kimberlin Heights, Tenn. Having completed two years in preparation for the ministry, he has preached in a prison camp and in nearby churches.

Mr. Brown, who grew up in Pontiac and attended First Christian will preach on "Triumphant Faith."

Next week Mrs. McColl and daughter, Janet, will be teaching at Chirko Camp on Crystal Lake near Frankfort.

Attending from Pontiac will be the following boys and girls from 12 to 14 years of age: Sandra Beal, Carol Lock, Constance Clark, Charlotte DeRousse, Allen and Dennis Akerley, John Taylor, Mary Alice Kissic, Cathy and Gary Cummings.

From Aug. 12-18, the Rev. Mr. McColl will be a teacher at the camp of Christian Youth Fellowship at Crystal Lake.

Those registering for the camp from 15 to 20 years of age are Roger Reynolds, Don and Ronald Morgan, Carolyn Kunse, Wanda Sue and Ruth Ann Vaughn, Bill and Don McColl, Judy Storm, Peggy Strickland, Carolyn and Reita Stanley.

Others are John Fowers, Larry Dunn, Virginia Taylor, Chris Cucksey, Wayne Evon and Nathan Underwood.

Associate Pastor to Speak at Both Services Sunday

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey who has just returned from his vacation will preach at the First Presbyterian Church at the two morning services at 9:30 and 11. His subject will be, "How to Lose Your Religion."

At the 9:30 service, Mrs. Gene Crockett will sing Harker's "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain." Lyndie Salathiel will sing, "Trusting in Thee" by Fichthorn at 11 o'clock.

The women's prayer group will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday with Vera Bassett. 227 Cherokee Rd.

Edward Rightmire, president of the Presbyterian Men's Club, has announced the first Men's Club Dinner will be held on Sept. 18.

Mrs. Jorna O. Sarto Arranging Services

The deacons of Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, 5171 Commerce Rd., will have charge of both worship services Sunday with Mrs. Jorna O. Sarto making arrangements.

The following will be taking part, Mrs. Robert Stanger, Mrs. Wendell Strait, Mrs. Clarence Brown, Mrs. Wayne Helfrich, Mrs. Charles Woodbridge, Mrs. Shields Dierkes, Mrs. John Emmert and Mrs. Dalbert Fear.

Cary Believes Real Stars Limit Screen Movements

By BOB THOMAS

★ ★ ★

Cary Grant himself offers some help on this question. It came up when I asked him what he thought of the new "dirty-shirt" school of acting.

"It's the same thing I did when I was a young actor," Grant replied. "I did it and got it out of my system. These young fellows will do the same — if they're smart.

"That has happened to Marlon Brando already. He went through the itching and scratching stage in 'A Streetcar Named Desire'; I know, because I was one of the backers and I was close to it.

"But then he came to 'Guys and Dolls' and he realized that he couldn't get by with scatching and slouching. He had to hold an audience by remaining still. He found out he could do it, and this was a great realization to him. . . .

"Actually, it isn't natural acting at all. It's a result of an inferiority complex. The actor wants to hide his real self, so he rubs his nose and scratches his backside—anything to distract the audience from seeing him as he is.

"The real stars in films — the ones who last a long time—are the ones who do an absolute minimum on the screen. They don't scratch and rub to prevent you from seeing what they are; they expose their real selves. Their own personalities are strong enough to command attention, even though they do nothing on the screen."

Some take years to develop this faculty, he remarked. Examples: Bing Crosby, Gary Cooper and especially Spencer Tracy. Others learn it early, like his costars Grace Kelly and Sophia Loren. He also said his new leading lady in "Kiss Them For Me," Suzy Parker, may acquire the knack fast.

"She has great economy of movement," Grant observed. "I guess that comes from her model training."

SATURDAY IS CIRCUS DAY

Late Friday the circus trucks of the Benson Bros. circus will start arriving. The first of the fleet will be the cook house. After serving the evening meal to the working men and performers, the cook house is immediately taken down and goes on ahead to the next city where it will have breakfast ready as the fleet arrives.

The public will see a free show by going to the lot early Saturday morning to watch the scores of men transform a vacant lot into a tented city and covered with acres of canvas, truly a city of many a boyish dream of the sawdust and spangleland world of the circus.

One will see the daily chore of the elephants in helping raise the big top. Watch the young boys working carrying water and doing other chores to earn that free pass to the big show.

The circus will come here and exhibit at Franklin Rd. Show Grounds under the auspices of Bemis-Olsen Amvet, Post 113. Many children will attend the matinee as guests of the local merchants.

At 1:30 P. M. the doors will open and at 2:00 P. M. the great American institution of the entertainment world, the circus, will begin. The evening performance will begin at 8:00 P. M., and will feature a large menagerie of animals from every continent in the world as well as beautiful horses, acrobats, clowns, wire walkers, and many other features.

GOLD BURIED FOR HALF A CENTURY

Pirates Fire Bragan, Name Murtaugh Manager

CHICAGO (AP) — Brash Bobby Bragan today was fired as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Coach Danny Murtaugh was named to carry on for the balance of the season.

★ ★ ★

Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown said Bragan, in his second season, was dismissed for the "general welfare" of the club. He did not elaborate.

A club spokesman said Clyde Sukeforth, veteran Pirate coach, was first offerel the job but turned it down in Murtaugh's favor.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said Murtaugh accepted the post with the "full understanding" that it was only to be temporary.

Bragan said he was neither surprised nor shocked at the news.

"When you're losing things like that don't come as a shock or surprise. That's the way the ball bounces."

The fiery manager blamed the loss of his job on several things, but primarily on the poor showing of the seventh-place Pirates.

★ ★ ★

"It's been a series of things, primarily losing, and Brown felt it was time to make a change," he told a newsman over the telephone.

He said he didn't want to go into the other "things."

Bragan said the Pirates will "be all right with several changes of players" and added that Brown "couldn't have made a finer choice" in the selection of Murtaugh as his replacement.

Bragan said he has accepted a job to manage the Havana Almendaries in the Cuban Winter League beginning Oct. 1, a job he held from 1952-54.

Murtaugh, 39, became a Pirate coach in 1956 after four years of managing in the minor leagues. He broke into the major leagues as an infielder with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1941, spent part of the 1947 season with the Boston Braves and then was traded to the Pirates.

He began his managerial tour in 1952, piloting and playing for the Pirates' New Orleans team in the Southern Assn. After three seasons there, he became manager of the Charleston, W. Va., club in the American Assn. in 1955 and then went with the Pirates.

Murtaugh lives in Chester, Pa., during the off season. He started his baseball career in 1937 with Cambridge, Md., in the Eastern Shore League and made stops at Rochester, Columbus and Houston before breaking into the big leagues.

Brown said Bragan's dismissal was "by far the most difficult decision" he ever had to make. And he said Bragan accepted it gracefully, in a manner that showed he was a "big man."

The Post-Gazette said Brown "reportedly had Bragan's firing in mind for more than a week." The newspaper said it was believed the dismissal came about for two reasons:

"1. The Pirates' failure to improve over their 1956 showing. (They finished seventh in 1956 and currently are in the same spot with a six-game losing streak.)

★ ★ ★

Bragan's clashes with umpires this season "are not believed to have anything to do with the club's decision to let him go," the newspaper said.

National League President Warren C. Giles fined Bragan $100 Thursday and told him he faced indefinite suspension if he repeated his clowning of Wednesday night in Milwaukee.

★ ★ ★

In that incident Bragan, who had been banished from the game, walked onto the field sipping an orange drink and offered some to the umpires.

Brown named Bragan manager in November, 1955, just after he himself became general manager succeeding Branch Rickey Sr. Last November Bragan was hired for another season.

Bragan came to Pittsburgh from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League to take over from Fred Haney, now manager of Milwaukee.

In his first year the Pirates got off to a sensational start, leading the league as late as June 17. Then they slumped badly. However, the grand breakaway resulted in the best attendance mark since 1949 and the Pirates were confident of better things this year.

At Bragan's signing for 1957 Brown said:

"I am confident Bobby will manage the Pittsburgh club for many seasons in which he will bring Pittsburgh fans a championship."

HIRED-FIRED — Bobby Bragan (top) was fired today as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and coach Danny Murtaugh (bottom) was named to succeed him by general manager Joe Brown.

From The PRESS BOX

North Pontiac Auto Sales of the Class F city junior baseball league came up with 13 runs in a recent game and Dave Evertt's double was the only hit the team made. Twenty walks, three errors and other assorted gifts made it possible. But even with all that help the Auto Sales gang still failed to gain a victory because the Boys' Club No. 2 nine had 15 runs.

Wolverines Invite 71 for 1957 Grid Drills

ANN ARBOR—Seventy-one candidates for Michigan's 1957 football squad have been invited to report for the official opening of fall practice, Sunday, Sept. 1, by Head Coach Bennie G. Oosterbaan.

★ ★ ★

Starting his tenth season as Wolverine head coach, Oosterbaan asked candidates to be on hand for the annual news photographers' picture taking session on Saturday, Aug. 31st, in full uniform with a meeting and light drills set for Sunday.

Regular heavy two-a-day sessions will begin Monday and continue until shortly before the opening game with Southern California at Los Angeles, Sept. 28.

The invitation list contained the names of 25 lettermen, 24 from last season, plus one from the 1955 squad who missed last season because of injuries suffered in an accident.

Outburst in 3rd Wins for Mites

Eight Runs Nail Win Over All-Stars; BC's Playoffs Monday

Boys' Club "Mighty Mites" were just that yesterday in the annual game with the league All-Stars on the club field. Mites turned on the pressure in the third with a terrific 8-run blast that iced the contest. They went on to win 14-4.

Late Homers Nip Cleveland, 3-2

It's Typical Yankee Win

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Leave it up to the Yankees to break up a game with the long ball late in the game, expecially after going through six hitless innings.

★ ★ ★

Gill McDougald and Mickey Mantle broke up Don Mossi's no-hitter with back-to-back home runs in the seventh inning and New York went on to defeat Cleveland, 3 to 2.

In other games, Kansas City was pushed into the American League cellar for the first time by losing a doubleheader to the Baltimore Orioles, 5-4 and 10-2, and Boston won a 10th inning game from the White Sox, 5-4.

McDougald's 10th homer of the year and Mantle's 29th tied the score and Harry Simpson's pinch single off reliever Cal McLish in the eight drove in the run which fattened New York's American League lead to five full games over Chicago.

★ ★ ★

A Yankee Stadium crowd of 36,599 watched Mossi pitch a perfect game until Yogi Berra walked with one down in the fifth. He was erased, however, when Elston Howard grounded into a double play. Before McDougald's homer, the Indian lefthander faced the minimum of 19 batters for 6-⅓ innings.

★ ★ ★

The defeat was Mossi's seventh in 14 decisions.

Tenth-inning singles by Frank Malzone, Gene Stephens and Jackie Jensen off Bill Fischer gave Boston a 5-to-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox before a crowd of 31,007, largest crowd of the Boston season.

Thanks to a three-run homer by Ted Williams, his 30th of the year, off Jim Wilson in the fifth frame, Frank Sullivan enjoyed a 4-2 lead after eight innings.

★ ★ ★

Connie Johnson, who won his ninth game in 15 decisions in the nightcap, and reliever Ken Lehman held the A's to seven hits while the Orioles were battering five Kansas City hurlers for 11 hits.

Win 3rd Straight

Redlegs Still in Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just when some folks were about ready to scratch Cincinnati from that squirrel cage race in the National League, the Redlegs suddenly look robust again, complete with late-inning home runs for a three-game winning streak.

After slipping from first to fifth with a terrible July run (13-14), the Redlegs are on the way back, winning 'em late—but winning.

Ted Kluszewski and Wally Post, two of last season's big guns, and Smoky Burgess, the squat swatter, were back in business last night for a 9-6 victory over the New York Giants. Klu belted a two-run homer for a first-inning lead, Burgess smacked a two-run shot to regain the edge in the eighth, and Post pickled a three-run drive to win it in the ninth.

The victory put the fourth-place Redlegs within one game of Brooklyn, after Gene Conley fourhit the Dodgers and lined the run-scoring single in a 1-0 Milwaukee victory that kept the second-place Braves just two points shy of St. Louis. Brooklyn is 2½ games behind.

The Cardinals won their seventh in a row, nailing fifth-place Philadelphia 5-4 in 10 innings as Stan Musial doubled home the clincher. The Man had three hits, all for extra bases, in five trips to regain the batting lead at .339 from Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, who was 0-for-3 and slipped to .337.

Chicago's Cubs, without one earned run, defeated Pittsburgh 6-4 in the other NL game. It was the sixth straight loss for the seventh-place Pirates, leading to Manager Bobby Bragan's dismissal early today. Coach Danny Murtaugh took his place.

The Redlegs, who used late rallies in each of their last three victories, are well behind last season's record-matching home run pace (they have 125 for 101 games compared to 144 last year). But they're just a bit off last season's standing in the race. A year ago today they were 59-41, in second place one game behind Milwaukee. After last night's victory, they're 57-44, 3½ back.

Collegians Meet for Publinx Title

Towry, a former pro who regained his amateur status after a tour of duty with the U.S. Navy in World War II, made the final round yesterday by beating J. Paul Popovic of San Francisco, 7 and 6, in their 36-hole semi-final match on the Hershey Park golf course.

Young Essig, who jumped into the limelight Thursday by upsetting defending champion Junie Buxbaum of Memphis, Tenn., defeated Don Sckrabulis, 26-year-old boilermaker from Kewanee, Ill., 4 and 3.

Fortino Excelled at Holly

Remember the Sports Stars of Yore?

(This is the 15th of a series of articles about former outstanding athletes from Pontiac and Oakland County and what they are doing today. We feature today former Holly High three-sport ace Al Fortino. The series will continue next week.)

Little Holly High School in northern Oakland County has turned out its share of outstanding athletic teams over the years. It took some topflight ballplayers to make this possible and Holly has had them. Among the most notable was Al Fortino.

He was a standout performer in baseball, basketball and football for three successive years with the grid teams going unbeaten all the time he was there.

Fortino was good enough to gain All-State honorable mention and also made the All-Genessee County team in football. Holly was the only non-county school in the loop.

Those were the days of 1931-34 when Holly could hold its own with almost any school. Les Howe, now Milford Athletic Director, was coaching all three sports. He had such talented boys as Vin Valek and Mel Taylor as well as Fortino.

Holly won the league in basketball twice during Fortino's time and whipped such diamond powers as Flint Northern.

Ambitious Al was expected to go on to greater things in sports and he did. The Alma native enrolled at Central Michigan College in the fall of '34 and became a Chippewa sparkplug until his graduation in 1938. He excelled in football and basketball with the grid team his senior year compiling a 6-1 record under Ron Finch, now head of the Physical Education Dept. at CMC.

Coaching was next for the ex-Holly great and he was a success in that field also. Fortino was given the difficult task of starting the 1st athletic teams at the then brand new Marion High School.

"We went from no wins the 1st year to a 7-1 season in football at Marion. My 1st and 2nd teams won only two and lost 26 the first season in basketball there but that was changed to 21-9 the next," said Al looking back on the many long hours he spent teaching youngsters how to play.

His 4th and final year of coaching was at Davision which just had football as a varsity sport. All he did was win the Genessee County crown that season while also handling the junior high team.

A three-year stint in the service during World War II interrupted Al's coaching career and he never returned. He went back to Davison after being discharged but quit as a teacher to take a position as a counselor for the Veterans Administration.

"I had married before going into the service and we were raising two daughters when I came out so I decided to try to get into something where I could make more money. I was transferred to Central Michigan College by the VA and in 1946 my brother and I went into business in Mt. Pleasant," commented Fortino bringing the latter part of his life up to date.

His business, known as the Fortino Food Market, is among the best known in the central part of the state and it is growing all the time.

Al puts in six busy days a week at the store but has no complaints. He still has a chance to follow sports closely and is an especially eager Little League fan now that his son is playing.

Records, Upsets Mark AAU Tests

Unsung Texan Victor in Diving, Coast Boy Beats Veteran

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—If the first two days of the 1957 National AAU Senior Swimming and Diving Championships are any criterion, upsets and records appear to be the order of the meet.

Only three of the 15 titles scheduled for this four-day affair at John B. Kelly Pool have been decided and already, two records have been smashed and two upsets produced by comparative unknowns.

Smith piled up 538.4 points to capture the 3-meter springboard diving crown, while Heinrich left the experts bug-eyed with a 10-meter win over Bill Yorzyk, Springfield, Mass., in the 400-meter individual medley. Time beat the U. S. record for the event.

George Breen of Buffalo was clocked in the 1,500 meter freestyle in a meet record time of 18:17.9,

Mrs. Todd Captures WMGA Match Crown

New handicap match-play champion for the Women's Metropolitan Golf association is Mrs. George Todd. Mrs. Todd yesterday used nine of her 10 handicap strokes to end the two-year possession of the title for Mrs. Midge Cova. Match ended on the 15th hole at Pontiac Country club, with Mrs. Todd 4-up.

After trailing for the first three holes, the new champ won four in a row, and thereafter was ahead.

Takes 100-Lap Feature

Fair Triumphs at Toronto

Fair took the lead with 25 laps to go after Mickey Katlin of Howell, Mich., was jammed between the fence and two other cars in a minor pile-up.

No one was hurt and Katlin managed to finish second, half a lap behind the winner. Ted Hogan of Toronto was third, almost a lap — one-third of a mile — behind Fair.

Fair collected the $1,100 prize for winning and another $100 for the fastest time in pre-race trials. His 20.5 seconds was three-tenths of a second faster than Jim Howard of Hamilton.

Pitched Ball Breaks Helmet, Hurts Rookie

BALTIMORE (INS) — Baltimore rookie third-baseman Brooks Robinson remained in Union Memorial Hospital overnight for observation after he was beaned by pitcher Ned Garver in last night's second game with Kansas City.

Robinson, who was out earlier this season for a knee operation, was struck by a pitched ball in the fourth inning which broke his plastic helmet in half.

He never lost consciousness but bled profusely as he was carried off the field and required ten stitches to close a cut on the left side of his forehead.

Speedboat King Delays New Test at World Mark

LAKE CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (INS) — British speed boat king Donald Campbell has decided to postpone until after Aug. 15 any further attempts to break his world record.

Campbell announced his decision after failing again yesterday to push his Bluebird II over the 225.63 mile-per-hour record which he holds.

He averaged an extremely slow 131 miles per hour over the kilometer course at Lake Canandaigua in his latest abortive attempt, making the south run in 142.8 miles per hour and the return trip in 121.2 m.p.h.

Pascual Tops Paul Foytack in Mound Duel

Julio Becquer's Pinch Single Ruins 6-Hitter for Bengal Hurler

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paul Foytack had better luck the last time he found himself caught up in a tight pitchers' duel.

In last night's 2-1 loss to the Washington Senators, the 26-year-old righthander gave up only six hits—but one of them was Roy Sievers' 29th home run of the season and two others were doubles.

The Tigers got even less from Camilo Pascual, and were unable to make a run out of one prize opportunity. Pascual gave the Tigers five hits. A triple by Bill Tuttle was the only extra base blow, and he died on third while Frank Bolling lined out and Al Kaline fouled out.

Foytack's last encounter was just as close but happier. He beat the New York Yankees 6-5 Sunday. The loss to Washington was his 10th against 12 victories.

Despite the loss the Tigers clung to a share of fourth place in the American League. Cleveland's Indians dropped a 3-2 decision to New York and remained in a tie with Detroit for fourth.

The Tigers got their first chance—but not a run—in the first inning. With one out Tuttle socked a triple to rightfield and then died there.

In the second the Tigers got their lone run with the help of an error. With one out, Frank House singled to right and took second when Jim Lemon let the ball get away from him. Dave Philley punched a single through the box, scoring House. Jim Finigan lived on an error and Philley took third on the play. Then Foytack struck out and Harvey Kuenn was called out on strikes.

Sievers led off the second inning with a home run into the left field stands.

In the ninth Lou Berberet smashed a ground rule double into the centerfield bullpen. Pete Ramos went in to run for him. With two out, Julio Becquer rapped a single to leftfield, scoring Ramos with the winning run.

DeVicenzo Leads With 133

Tam's Par Wrecked

CHICAGO (AP) — Roberto De Vicenzo was the man to catch today as he sought to become the first foreign winner of the All American golf tournament since Bobby Locke's invasion 10 years ago.

De Vicenzo, a strapping 220-pound South American pro, who works out of Mexico City, had a two-stroke lead entering the third round of the $25,000 All American after wrecking Tam O'Shanter's par yesterday with a 64.

This sparkling performance that missed a course record by only one stroke gave the 34-year-old power-hitter an 11-under-par 133 for 36 holes.

But De Vicenzo could not breathe too easily, two younger pros were hot on his trail. Bill Casper of Bonita, Calif., 26, fourth leading money winner of the season, carved a 68 for 135 and 28-year-old Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., medalist in the All American qualifying round, fashioned a 67 for 136.

In the women's pro ranks, Jackie Pung of San Francisco and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, were tied for the lead at 147, one stroke ahead of Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif.

Miss Pung fired a three-under-women's-par 73 and Miss Crocker a 76.

Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., was in a two-way tie for 20th place at the end of the second round. She had 82-79—161.

Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., was in five-way tie for 12th place. Burkemo had 71-70—141.

Three Michigan golfers were among 13 tied for 24th place. Tom Talkington of Ypsilanti had 71-72—143, Jack Fleck of Rochester, 71-72—143, and Mike Dietz of Lake Orion, 74-69—143.

Rally Nips Shaw's, 3-2

CIO Moves Into 1st Place

CIO Local 594 climaxed a long, uphill climb Friday night at Wisner Field by rallying for a 3-2 victory over Shaw's Jewelers to move into 1st place in the City Baseball League.

The Union team had been playing 2nd fiddle to league-leading Shaw's all season long. The Jewelers never enjoyed a very comfortable lead, but they were always ahead.

Shaw's now finds itself in 2nd place with a 14-5 record, 28 percentage points behind the Union.

The CIO, boasting a 13-4 mark, can win the league title by taking all three of its remaining games. Shaw's has only one game left to play.

Art Hearns' CIO club spotted Shaw's a 2-0 advantage, then scored single runs in the 3rd, 6th and 7th innings to win the "big one." Four Jeweler errors proved costly in the Union rally.

Dave Sebring's single and two errors tallied the CIO's 1st run and a three-base miscue followed by Leroy Baines' single tied the count in the 6th. John Fleser's sacrifice fly scored Roger Johnson with the winning run after Johnson got a life on another error.

Southpaw Les Stone hurled the distance for Shaw's and gave up only five hits, three by Baines. Sam Picman, who relieved starter Sam Walwork in the 6th, was the winning pitcher.

In yesterday's other City League contest, Ron Falkenhagen pitched a sparkling two-hit shutout as the Pontiac Jets defeated Thomas Die & Stamping, 6-0, at Jaycee Park.

Ex-Amateur Champs Added to Fight Card

An array of former amateur boxing champions who are now some of the bright prospects in the professional ranks will make their appearance on the all-star fight card slated for August 13th at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

Matchmaker Julius Piazza promises that the Pontiac matches would be one of the best overall cards to be presented in the current Michigan outdoor boxing season.

★ ★ ★

Both Sammy Rodgers and Mickey Crawford turned in spectacular amateur records before turning pro.

Crawford was Michigan welterweight Golden Gloves champion several times and also the winner of the Pan-American and Army welter crown.

Rodgers had a sensational amateur record including 112 knockouts in 144 fights in which he won 140. He was also National AAU champion, 5th Army Champion, All-Army champ, State Golden Gloves champ among others.

Rodgers, who early this year lost a 10-round decision to Kenny Lane, current top challenger for world's lightweight title, has scored 21 pro victories in two years.

On the card lineup, in a five-rounder, Piazza has signed John Powell, the 1956 AAU and Golden Gloves welterweight champion from Detroit, to meet Bill McCoy, the 1956 AAU lightweight champ from Benton Harbor.

On the same program in four-rounds, Edgar Gregory, the 1957 Golden Gloves lightweight champ will meet Johnny Palmer, the unbeaten Dayton, Ohio scrapper who recently upset Chuck Taylor of Detroit.

Last week, heavyweight Osee Groom, who went to the national Golden Gloves finals in Chicago earlier in the year, was signed to meet the New York heavyweight prospect Bill Pickett.

RUGGED—Sam Rodgers, who as an amateur won 140 of 144 fights, including 112 knockouts, will be rugged competition for Michigan welterweight sensation Mickey Crawford when they meet August 13th at Wisner Stadium in Pontiac. Rodgers, a lightweight, has won 21 pro fights. He hails from Benton Harbor but is now fighting out of Chicago.

Two other fighters Piazza is attempting to put on the card are Ducky Dietz, colorful Detroit light heavyweight and Jimmy Wright, a newcomer who was impressive in first start in Saginaw three weeks ago.

The Rodgers battle could be the stiffest test for Crawford who has moved up the ladder in 17 pro wins of 18 starts. From Pontiac, Crawford will head for New York and a possible crack at one of the leading welterweight contenders in a TV appearance.

Pontiac Junior Loop Playoffs Begin Monday

Tournaments will be conducted in classes D, E, F, Midgets and Widgets. The top four teams in each class will take part and competition is double elimination.

In Class E action yesterday, Harold Ledsinger hit a tworun homer in defeat as Lytell-Calgrove walloped the Sluggers, 16-3, and 8-1. Tel-Huron trimmed Clarkston, 6-1, in Class F.

August Fishing Gets Better in Michigan

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (INS)—August, traditionally a poor month for fishing, is not holding to tradition.

Deep waters get the nod during these days of 85-plus temperatures. This type of fishing is paying off in the Detroit River, Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River—best spots this weekend.

Walleyes continue their odd, but welcomed, run in the upper stretch of the Detroit River and lower Lake St. Clair. From buoy No. 2 on down.

The lake is also hot for smallmouth bass between the outer Clinton River channel buoy and the No. 1 black can marking on the entrance to the middle channel. Best catches are made in the early morning just before sunrise.

Smallmouth fishing is also improving in Lake Huron along the Huron County shoreline from Port Austin east around to Port Hope.

Largemouth bass are cooperating southeastern Michigan. Excelling on most inland lakes in lent catches were made recently in the Saginaw Bay along the Tuscola County shore to near Rose Island.

Spotlighting inland lakes: Try bass lakes like Loon in Genesee County and Lakeville in Oakland County. Panfishing is improving as waters clear up. Good time for crickets now. Fly fishing is also improving on bluegills and crappies.

You must fish 25 to 35 feet for rainbow trout in cool lakes during the day for best results. Bob Gregg of Union Lake in Oakland County suggests nightcrawlers and salmon eggs.

OLD TIMES — Tom Tracy, former Birmingham High School star now in his second season with the Detroit Lions had a short chat at Cranbrook with Jim Manilla, now Royal Oak athletic director, who conquered the Maples during his coaching days from 1952 to 1956. The last win for Birmingham against Royal Oak was in Tracy's senior year in 1951.

'The Bomb' Feels at Home at Cranbrook Grid Camp

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

If anyone should feel at home at the Detroit Lions' training camp at Cranbrook, it should be Tom "The Bomb" Tracy.

It was just a couple miles from here at Birmingham High School where Tracy tore up the gridiron to become one of Oakland County's most sought-after prep players.

He decided on Tennessee where as a junior he chalked up 794 yards for a 6.8 average per carry, but before starting his senior year, he skipped across the border to play Canadian pro ball.

His dream however was to get "back home" to play for the Lions. And the Lions wanted him. A battle followed between Detroit and Ottawa for his services and after a misunderstanding with the Roughriders, Tracy signed with Detroit.

When he reported last year however, Tracy was not in the best of shape, and subsequently found himself bench warming except for 12 carries for 32 yards.

Now residing in Pontiac, "The Bomb" didn't wait for training season to get in shape. He reported to camp early and is now making a bid for the fullback's job at 208 pounds, about 16 pounds lighter than when he started last year.

"I'm in my best shape in three years," said Tracy, "all I want is a chance."

★ ★ ★

At 208 pounds it surprises many to know that Tracy can outrun backs like Gene Gedman or Hopalong Cassady. With John Henry Johnson on the squad, the ex-Maple ace will be running a close second at the fullback post.

Fullback Leon Hart is not on the squad, therefore Lew Carpenter may be used at end when he gets out of the service in September.

Meanwhile, another rookie, halfback Phil Smith was released yesterday. Twice-daily sessions continue as Cranbrook with the first full scrimmage slated next Thursday.

City Playoffs Begin Sunday

It's playoff time again in the City Softball League and the annual tourney gets under way Sunday with a six-game card at Beaudette at 8:30 p.m. and Bicmar Inn meets Elks No. 810 on the North Side diamond at the same hour dette and North Side parks.

Stadium Inn battles Birmingham at Beaudette at 8:30 p.m., and Bicmar Inn meets Elks No. 810 on the North Side diamond at the same hour in 1st round Class A games.

In opening Class B games, Richard's Tavern and CIO Local 653 square off on the Beaudette field at 7 o'clock while Eddie's Bar tangles with Louie's Tavern at the same time at North Side.

Class C action matches Pontiac State Hospital and Deni's Corner at Beaudette and the Pontiac Police and Franklin Products at North Side. Both are afternoon contests starting at 4:30.

Troy Exchange Club to Hold Annual Show

Plans have been completed for the 2nd annual horse show sponsored by the Troy Exchange club. Event takes place Aug. 18 at the Jason Scott estate on Livernois, between 18-19 Mile roads.

A "Miss Troy" queen contest and many classes for the more than 200 horses expected will be featured. George Littleson and Clarence Long are handling show arrangements. Littleson will also serve as ringmaster.

Hardtops Run Again Sunday at Speedway

Modified hardtops will grab the spotlight in Sunday night's auto racing show at Pontiac Speedway.

A 30-lap feature race will climax the eight-event program on M-59 quarter-mile asphalt track.

Qualifiers get under way at 7 o'clock, with the 1st race at 8:30.

Sedgman Keeps Lead in 'Robin'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Australian Frank Sedgman retained the lead in the Masters round robin professional tennis tournament last night by whipping his fellow countryman, Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 6-8, 10-8.

The win gave Sedgman a 4-0 record in the tournament. Pancho Gonzales has a 3-1 record and Rosewall dropped to 3-2.

In the first match Pancho Segura beat Tony Trabert 6-1, 3-6, 6-4 to break a tie for fourth place in the tourney standings.

The injured were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

British Troops Move to Assist Arabian Sultan

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—British ground troops and armored cars today moved by sea and air into revolt-hit Muscat and Oman to aid the pro-British sultan.

Reports from London said a detachment of Scottish Highland troops already had entered the sultan's restive Arabian Peninsula domain. A foreign office spokesman said the troops were being used "in support of the sultan's forces."

★ ★ ★

Reports reaching the British capital said seasoned Cameronian troops had reached Ibri, a fort inside Oman still loyal to the sultan. The rebels have claimed the fort, manned by British-led Trucial Oman scouts, had been surrounded.

★ ★ ★

Air Vice Marshal L. F. Sinclair, commander of British forces in the Persian Gulf, disclosed in this Persian Gulf center that a small number of British armor and foot troops would support the sultan's forces in their attempt to regain rebel-held territory.

38 Geese in Oklahoma Make Run for Dry Land

The fowl were accustomed to the drought-stricken lake-bed which had been dry. When it began to fill up with rainwater, the geese didn't know what was happening and ran for the dry bank.

Italians Fishing for Trout

ROME (INS) — "California fish, she's a good boy!"

That's the call today along the banks of Rome's ancient Tiber River. Thousands of Italian anglers are hurrying here on their lunch hours. Others after work. Some rush down to provide themselves a fish breakfast—a la California.

The Italians are fond of fish—good fish—and are always ready to try something new.

Word has spread along the Tiber that there are some 50,000 new citizens in the river—California rainbow trout.

Italy's government officials are sensitive to the fact that, although Italy is a peninsula, the adjacent seas as well as inland rivers and streams are comparatively devoid of fish.

MEAT IS EXPENSIVE

Meat is very expensive for the ordinary family budget, so the anglers are always looking for new and better types of fish.

★ ★ ★

In the past few years, more than six million freshwater fish have been poured into the Tiber—including carps, eels and pikes. But the words "California rainbow trout" have literally brought out legions of fishermen.

In Italy, few people fish for fun. They fish to fry the little fellows and give mama and the relatives a special treat.

Doctors will drop their shutters all afternoon for a taste of California cuisine. Attorneys will turn sealawyers.

Even the padres are said to be saying a few more prayers along the Tiber these days. After all, said a Tiber troutman, fish wasn't meant only for Fridays.

Deaths Elsewhere

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — Police said Mrs. Miyo Hase, 29, despondent over her polio-stricken daughter's future, strapped the 4-year-old child on her back last night and leaped in front of a train.

The train killed Mrs. Hase but the child was not hurt.

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — Clem A. Cherry, 52, brother of former Arkansas Gov. Francis Cherry, died yesterday. He was born in Dallas.

★ ★ ★

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Harold E. Cassill, 60, general manager of the Spokane Daily Chronicle and the Spokesman Review, died yesterday. He was born in Des Moines, Iowa.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Devadas Ghandhi, 56, son of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi and managing editor of the Hindustan Times, died today.

Collision on Oakland Injures Drayton Woman

A two-car collision, allegedly caused by a third car, sent a Drayton Plains woman to the hospital yesterday evening.

Glenda Waterman, 22, of 2228 Crane, Drayton Plains, told police she was driving along Oakland when a car driven by Samuel Funderburk, 3280 Sashabaw, Drayton Plains, made a right turn from Monticello onto Oakland in front of her. She said she swerved to avoid the car and ran into a car alongside.

The Pontiac Fire Dept. treated her with an inhahlator for 10 minutes, then took her to Pontiac General Hospital, where she was treated for shock and released.

This Tot Had Sniffles in Dangerous Way

A 2½-year-old Pontiac girl was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital last night after swallowing — or actually "snuffing up" — a safety pin.

★ ★ ★

Paul Chapdelaine of 48 Chamberlain St., a member of the Pontiac Fire Department, rushed his daughter, Joan, to the hospital after she had put the small pin in her nose.

★ ★ ★

She then "snuffed" it back to her throat and swallowed it. Doctors located the pin with X-rays and then sent little Joan back home. Her parents are to keep an eye on her for a few days, but doctors feel there is no danger.

Luckily, the pin was closed.

A firm in The Hague, Holland, has developed a new-type steel-tube-furniture with legs and backrest of seamless stailess steel tubes, bake-enamelled and designed in various colors. Seats are of rushes plaited on a wooden frame and table tops are of glass.

Your Neighbor's House

New Homestead Built on Old Farm

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In 1825 the United States government deeded land to Henry W. Axford's ancestors. That land lay north of Gunn road and west of Rochester road. Today the same land, plus enough more to make 700 acres, is still in the Axford family. Mr. Axford was born in Flint but has lived in and around Rochester most of his life.

The present generation includes a college age daughter and a son who runs the family farm. Where once the old homestead stood (not the original house on the first grant) is a new Axford homestead. It is located about five miles north of Rochester.

Fifteen years ago Mr. Axford started his plan for the new family home. He began with the gardens and the landscaping. Today, there are wide expanses of lawn, several formal flower gardens and a rock garden. This rock garden borders a free-form pool into which water from a small fountain runs continuously. The fountain is both visible and audible from the house.

In these days of one ranch home after another and split levels all over the place, the Axford home is a refreshing change. Planned in the southern Colonial style, the home is a spacious nine-room model with a separate apartment upstairs for the Axford son who is to be married this month.

The exterior is white clapboard with green shutters. Tall pillars support the roof over the front and provide a covered porch. A covered walk connects the side door with the four-car garage which looks like a little house.

There are numerous entrances to this house. The front one opens directly into the living room. The side one, available from the covered drive, opens into a large hallway. There is a second side entrance that provides a private doorway for the apartment residents, but connects with the kitchen. There is a fourth door from the kitchen out to the side yard.

The house has a complete basement. In addition to the utilities, this portion contains a large recreation room, complete with its own miniature kitchen. Mr. Axford has an office and a reading room down here also.

The Axfords love antique furniture and have collected and inherited a great deal of it. The visitor is aware of this as soon as he steps through the side entrance. To the right there is an antique folding card table with an old mirror above it. On the table there are two exquisite candlesticks. Each has a metal butterfly attached to serve as a candle shield.

ELECTRIFIED FIXTURES

The lighting fixtures are unusual. Many were old kerosene lamps. In the entrance way the ceiling fixture has a cranberry glass shade to soften the light; it is, of course electrified.

From the entrance way one steps into a center hall. In contrast to the slate floor of the former this hallway is carpeted. This same carpeting runs throughout the downstairs and up the stairs. It is a textured beige pattern.

The walls, both in the hall and on the stairway, have a white paneled wainscoting, above which is wallpaper. In the entrance and hall this is a satin stripe pattern. On the stairway it is an allover pattern in soft gold on cream.

The living room extends across most of the front of the house. On the south there is a curved bay window with small panes of glass. A curved sofa fits into this window recess. The sofa itself is less interesting than the beautiful Victorian afghan, made by Mrs. Axford in various shades of blue and rose.

Woodwork in the living room is all white. Around the black marble of the fireplace is a white frame and a narrow mantel. The bookcases on either side are white. The hearth is also black marble.

Walls are a sandalwood shade. The draperies have a self pattern of deeper tone on lighter sandalwood. The valance boards are covered with plain material in the same shade, then festooned with draped scallops of the material.

There are two pianos in this room, one a modern baby grand, the other a square antique concert grand. This latter instrument is rosewood. It is in perfect tune and can be played with the newer model.

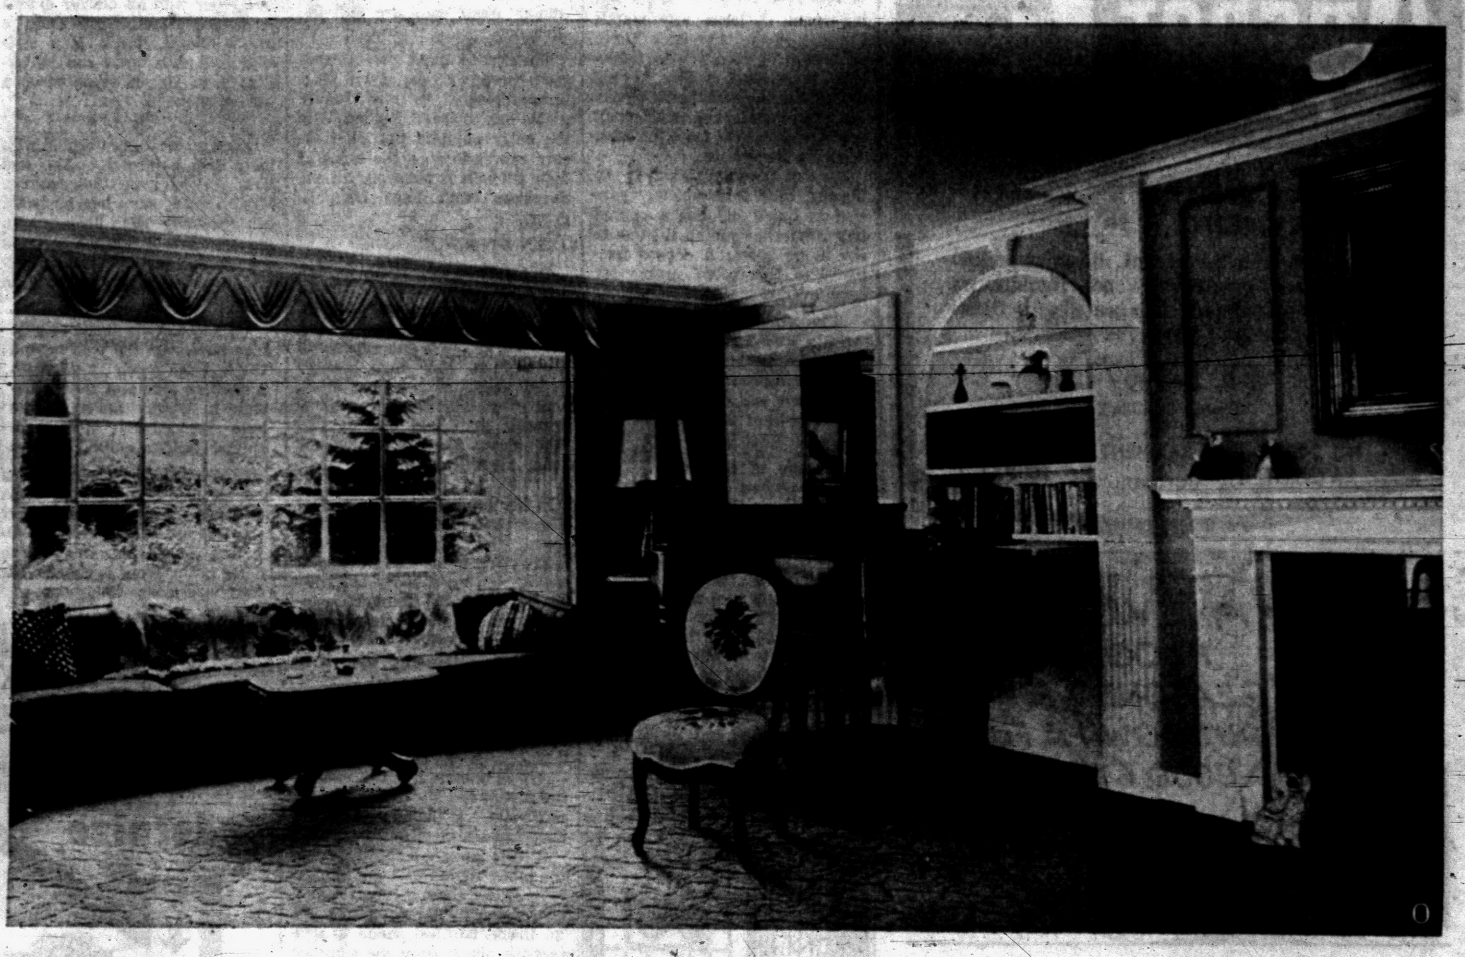
Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwarp

SOUTHERN COLONIAL — Finished only two months ago, the Henry W. Axford home on North Rochester road is a classic example of Southern Colonial architecture. The white house with its green shutters is set in the midst of spacious lawns, far back from the road. The Axfords planned their own home, then let Edward E. Bissell AIA of Birmingham put the plans on paper. Frank Rewold and Son of Rochester were the contractors.

A RELAXING VIEW — Mr. Axford likes to read his paper in the library where he can both see and hear the little fountain outside the bay window. The water flows through a rock garden, down into a free form pool. This room is paneled in birch.



THE FURNISHINGS ARE ANTIQUE — Rosewood and mahogany and walnut are used extensively in the antique furniture that makes the living room a homey place. Note the beautiful afghan on the sofa in the window recess. Walls in this room are sandalwood; the ceiling and woodwork are white. The scallops on the valances are made of draped material that matches the lighter sandalwood draperies. At the rear the door opens into the library.

CENTRAL HALL — In the central hallway a grandfather's clock has a prominent place. Next to it is a Victorian chair covered in red velvet. White paneled wainscoting covers the lower portion of the walls, both in the hall and up the graceful curving stairway. The light fixture is an antique that has been electrified.

Axfords Like Colonial Style Architecture

There are several other pieces of rosewood furniture in the living room. A large sofa stands in front of the old piano. There is a pair of chairs with horsehair seats and backs. In addition, there are several Victorian chairs that have needlepoint seats and backs, more of Mrs. Axford's handiwork.

Back of the living room is the library. This is completely paneled in birch and has a curved bay window to match the one in the living room. A second fireplace in this room makes for cozy evenings.

INTERESTING SERVER

All the furniture is antique in either mahogany or walnut. On the wall opposite the windows there are twin mahogany buffets with closed storage space below. On another wall there is an old walnut desk that is both china cupboard and serving table. This desk belonged to Mr. Axford's grandfather, who was the first surveyor of Oakland township and prominent in township affairs.

There are a number of pictures sitting around the house. So far, the family has not agreed on which ones to hang. In the living room several are already in place with lights mounted over them. But the dining room ones are still in question.

Whether to hang great-grandmother up to gaze down most disapprovingly on the family meals has not been decided. Why the early painters put such severe expressions on the faces of their subjects is puzzling. All our ancestors can't have been so grim.

LINEN STORAGE

Mrs. Axford has both a pantry and a wonderfully efficient kitchen. In her pantry she has a small sink for washing up and dozens of drawers and cupboards for storage. Her linen storage would make most women green with envy. She has long shallow drawers that hold one or two table cloths. Each is marked for quick identification.

In her kitchen she has almost a complete square of working space. One convenient feature many of us would like to copy is a table on big casters that rolls out from a cupboard into the center of the room. It can be used for food preparation, then rolled back out of the way until it is needed again.

One end of the kitchen is the breakfast room. In this room Mrs. Axford has her planning desk. Made of natural finished birch to match the cabinets in the rest of the kitchen, this piece of furniture is built in. It is both decorative and practical.

Off the back hall that connects the living rooms with the kitchen Mr. Axford has a small sunny conservatory. The glass roof has an inside bamboo shade to protect the plants from the summer sun.

The guest room with its private bath is in a front corner of the house, next to the living room, but accessible only from the center hall. This is a completely Victorian room. The floor is highly polished oak with small Oriental rugs used around the bed.

This bed and matching dresser belonged to one of Mr. Axford's grandfathers. High, as were many of the nineteenth century beds, this walnut piece is massive looking. The dresser also touches the ceiling and has marble tops on the drawers and below the mirror.

The wallpaper has a deep crimson and gray-blue design on a creamy background. The decorator used the same deep crimson to make draperies edged with ball fringe. The curtains are sheer white. On the bed there is a hand crocheted spread.

Upstairs there are four bedrooms, opening off a large central hall. Also opening from this hall is the door to the younger Axfords' apartment. The hall, incidentally, is big enough to have two sofas and a drop leaf table in it and still look uncrowded.

Bonnie and the Axfords' maid each have a bedroom on one side of the house. The bathroom they share is green. Instead of wallpaper with an allover design on it, the paper in this room is like a mural. There is a stylized tree with birds and butterflies in it. This is repeated on a second wall.

Down a short corridor and with their own bathroom, Mr. and Mrs. Axford have their rooms. Mrs. Axford, says her husband, has the only new furniture in the house. It is French style in pale blue. The floor is bare polished oak with scatter rugs in blue.

On three walls there is pale blue paper. On the wall behind the bed the paper is silk with a trailing leaf and flower design in deeper blues on the pale background. The bedspread is blue quilted taffeta.

In Mr. Axford's room he has a walnut bed that belonged to his other grandfather. For his night table he uses an interesting little drop leaf table. One of the chests in the room is cherry. His room overlooks the pool and fountain.

The Axfords have lived in this gracious home only a couple of months. They assured us that there were numerous things yet to be done (all homeowners say that!). Despite that, they have an interesting house.

The Axfords did their own designing, then took their plans to a specialist in Colonial architecture, Edward E. Bissell AIA of Birmingham, for revision and final drawings. Frank Rewold and Son of Rochester did the building.

Safe Home Can Be Engineered!

Falls are the cause of at least one-half of all home-accident deaths, and account for an estimated two-thirds of other home injuries. Principal locations where falls occur are bathrooms, stairs and slippery floors.

Following more than a year's intensive study of data supplied by the National Safety Council, scores of ideas have been developed which are now being used or recommended by architects and builders.

Short flights of stairs, as found in split-level houses, and elimination of stairs by placing all rooms on one level, as is the case in ranch-style houses, has done much to reduce the hazard of falls.

All staircases with more than two steps should have firm handrails, be well-lighted and covered with anti-slip material. Stair-treads should not be narrower than 9½ inches and the ceiling at no point should be less than 6 feet, 8 inches, above any tread.

For greater floor safety the National Bureau of Standard tests show asphalt tile has greater anti-slip properties than any other type of smooth surfaced resilient flooring.

Other recommendations are that bathrooms be equipped with secure grab-bars above the tub and in the shower stall, and be provided with non-slip flooring. Doors should swing back against a wall, not project into the room when open.

Sliding-door closets are excellent accident-preventers. Swinging door closets should have inside handles and a one-inch air space at the bottom, in case a child shuts himself in. The same is true of bathroom doors which should have the type of knob which automatically unlocks when turned from inside.

Room layout should be planned with sufficient wall space so furniture can be grouped without obstructing traffic.

Cool Hues Enlarge

UNUSUAL OFFICE — The new branch office of H. P. Holmes, Inc., Realtors, at 2531 South Lapeer road in Perry Acres subdivision is an unusual building. It looks more like an ordinary house than a commercial structure. Painted brick red with white trim, the building is 20x36 feet and consists of three offices, a lavatory, a kitchen, furnace room and closets. Green and white striped awnings decorate the front. The foundation is of rock-face field stone and was built more than 100 years ago for the foundation of the farm barn that originally occupied this spot. One of the offices has three picture windows overlooking Bald Mountain State Park. This same office also has a natural fireplace. Roland H. Adams was the contractor.

Run-Down Homes Harder to Finance

Sub-par houses cost more to mortgage than homes with up-to-date facilities, reports the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

A study was conducted in 255 representative communities. Each area had homes needing paint, a new roof or the addition of sanitary plumbing facilities. Six per cent interest rates are charged in more than half these communities. One-third report interest rates above six per cent.

Building Permits in County Decline, but Top Neighbors

Although residential building permits issued in Oakland County in the first half of 1957 were down 20.5 per cent from the same period last year, the decline was less than that experienced by Macomb and Wayne Counties.

The areas in the southeast portion of the county lead the home building communities. Royal Oak City topped the list with 760 permits, fourth highest total in the tri-county area.

Other communities with more than 200 permits issued in the six months were Southfield Township, 290; Waterford Township, 285, and Farmington Township, 210.

April was the top month for the county total, with 1,111 permits issued that month.

Now's the Time to Mend Fences

Now, when it's too hot for hard work in the garden, is the time to repair and paint your fences.

Look for loose nails and weak joints. When ordinary nails are used on garden structures, they often work loose. If the heads pop off, pull the nails and replace with rust-resistant nails. Tighten up bolts and lag screws in benches and gates at the same time.

Before you paint the fence, scrub off loose, powdery flakes with a wire brush so the paint will stick better. Remove rain-splashed dirt and dust with a whisk broom or dry brush. For renewal painting, thin the paint only enough to get smooth brushing qualities.

Use Water to Save Paint

Repainting woodwork can be postponed for a long time if the woodwork is kept clean. Two pails, one filled with soapy wash water and the other with clear rinse water, and three soft cloths are all the equipment needed. A light, circular motion with a sudsy cloth on the surface of the woodwork will loosen the dirt. Rinse quickly with a second cloth wrung out in clear water and dry immediately.

Waxing Saves Cleaning

Patio and yard furniture faces rugged weathering from sun, showers and dust. To save cleaning bills on clothing and to keep furniture in good condition, it should be washed, and perhaps waxed at least once during the season. A protective coating of shellac keeps rattan furniture (which is not exposed to rain) cleaner.

Easier Wiring Possible

A new type of steel joist for supporting concrete slab floors of buildings is designed so that telephone, signal and other electrical wiring can be quickly connected at new locations when desired. A hollow chord at the top of the joist serves both as an underfloor electrical distribution duct and as a structural member. The joists were developed by Ceco Steel Products Corp., Chicago.

Move on Paper First

If you're tired of shifting pieces of furniture to see how they will look, an interior decorator has a simple solution.

Make all trial-and-error moves with pencil on paper. Then pick up the furniture.

House Plans Now on File

Home Builders, here's news for you! Many of you have asked to see books of house plans at the Pontiac Press office. We now have such a book. At present it contains 10 unpublished House of the Week plans, plus some we have already published. From now on we will add each week's plans. So if you've missed one, or want to look at a number of plans leisurely, come in to the Press office and ask in the Editorial Department for the book of house plans.

How Much Will It Cost for an Extra Bathroom?

The single bathroom is probably the most serious bottleneck in many of today's homes. If this is a problem at your house, here's what it would cost you to add an extra bath, according to a recent magazine article.

First off, remember that a bathroom is least expensive to install at the time you build. And even if you don't plan to equip it immediately, it's economical to have the pipes put in while the house is under construction. The basic bath, consisting of the lowest-priced fixtures, materials and installation, breaks down this way.

Lavatory, toilet and tub, the three basic fixtures which are most economically priced as a unit, will cost about $400. However, a prefabricated metal shower stall substituted for a tub will save you about $25.

Rubber or vinyl tile on the floor (provided the subfloor is sound) and plastic-tile on walls up to a height of 54 or 60 inches, both installed professionally, about $200. Of course, they are somewhat cheaper if you install them yourself.

Wiring and light fixtures will cost about $55. And accessories, including medicine cabinet, towel bats, soap dish, etc., about $40, bringing the approximate total cost to $695.

Remember, this is for installing a bath in an existing house, located back-to-back with an existing bathroom. For installing in a different location, say directly above an existing bath, add about $200 for extending water and waste lines, plastering and carpentry.

★ ★ ★

Finally, before you install an extra bath, especially in an older house, have an expert check the adequacy of the water supply and the adequacy of the sewer or septic tank. Also, check the adequacy of the water pressure. And remember that an extra bathroom will probably entail a little extra use of water, so a larger water heater may be required.

Scrub Your Deck Chairs

The canvas on "sling" deck and lawn chairs can be washed in hot soapsuds to remove stains and restore bright colors. Do the job right out in the yard with a pail or tub filled with hot, soapy water. When the canvas has been rinsed in a second pail of clear water, put it right on the metal or wood frame while is is still wet so that it may shape itself properly and dry in the sun. Wipe off the metal or wood frame with a damp cloth.

Don't use a nailset to drive nails below the surface of the wallboard. Allow the hammer head to make dimples in the board, which can be smoothed level with the cement.

NEWS VIEWS

The fellows down at the bank and the lads packing Uncle Sam's mail say that our writing on checks and envelopes is getting harder and harder to read.

It used to be that fancy handwriting was as much a social talent as ordering from a French menu. Then came typewriters, and the only place penmanship was valued was in skywriting. Pilots, with their planes trailing smoke, would loop and roll across the sky . . . writing the names of cure-alls, soft drinks and tooth powder. But now a machine controls smoke from the ground . . . and the letters come out in square blocks. It's called sky-typing. Looks like the only thing we can ever count on is change.

A Louisiana railroad engineer piloted switch engines about 200,000 miles in 40 years . . . but never got more than 15 miles from home. Who says travel's broadening?

You might find it's a broadening experience to work out details of a complicated real estate transaction by yourself . . . but more likely you'll find it's an expensive one. You can save time and money — and avoid possible legal difficulties in the future — by consulting a competent real estate broker.

Old Tub Is on Last Legs

As an important step in its modernization campaign, the plumbing industry has declared war on the old-style bathtub on legs.

Thousands of these fixtures are still in use in American homes, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out. Most of them were sold and installed 25 or more years ago.

One of the chief disadvantages of the bathtub on legs is the fact that it is difficult if not impossible to clean under this type of fixture. With household help scarce, the homemaker herself has to get down on her knees to clean the floor under the bathtub. Thus replacement of this old style bathtub is amply justified as a "wife saver," the Bureau points out.

Another serious disadvantage of the bathtub on legs is the safety factor. It is difficult to get in or out of this type of a fixture. For older folks especially it is a hazard.

The fact that it "dates" the house, and the reluctance of buyers to show any interest in a house with a bathtub on legs are other reasons mentioned by the Bureau for a thorough-going modernization of bathrooms with vintage fixtures.

Modern bathtubs are made low so it is easy to step in and out of them, they hug the floor and have no hard to clean areas, and many have a wide rim which serves as a convenient seat. They are made with a flat bottom which is a safe feature because the bather can stand in the bath without danger of falling.

PLANNING DESK — Mrs. Henry W. Axford of Rochester has this handsome desk in her kitchen. It is built into the room at the same end where the breakfast table is. Made of natural finished oak, it is a practical and useful piece of furniture. The chair used with this new desk is an antique cane-seated one.

Louver Doors Help Home Air Conditioner

Louver doors, between rooms and on closets, make home air-conditioning systems work more efficiently. They also add interest to any decorating scheme with their "textured" appearance.

The tilted slats in louver doors of ponderosa pine permit cooled air to circulate more readily from room to room while still maintaining privacy. On closets, the air moving through the slats prevents musty odors and deters moths.

Cut gypsum wallboard by placing it on a horizontal surface, scribing a line with a sharp knife, then snapping down the overhanging part much as you do when breaking glass along a scored mark.

24-Inch Range Does All Cooking Jobs

If space is a problem in your kitchen you can get a range that requires only 24 inches of space in width and will eliminate the need for a clock, a timer and expensive coffee maker and heat-controlled cooking devices. One thermostatically-controlled surface burner will take on all cooking assignments that are dependent upon an even, steady temperature. The broiler may be used simultaneously with the oven—and the oven has extra-large capacity.

★ ★ ★

Although a range of this size will have no storage space, you can buy an inexpensive sliding pot rack in the housewares department of almost any large store and use this to conceal pans, colanders and similar utensils. Heat-proof surface over the pot rack can be used as "setting down" space for ingredients to be cooked or for serving dishes. The installation of peg board around the range can be used for easy-to-see storage for the most constantly used items.

★ ★ ★

The additional space gained by the installation of a small range can be used for counters providing larger working areas. You will find, says Miss Spader, that generous working areas will speed up the time required for meal preparation. You can assemble all of the items necessary for your recipe and still have space to work.

John Astor Property Taken by Law Firm

NEW YORK (AP)—A Park Avenue law firm has obtained permission to attach $107,000 worth of John Jacob Astor's property in New York in its suit for payment of legal fees incurred during his court battles with two wives.

★ ★ ★

For many months Astor has been involved in suits to determine which of his last two wives —Gertrude Gretsch Astor or Dolores Fullman Astor—is the legal one.

New Camera on Fishpole Probes A-Storage Tank

RICHLAND, Wash. — Photographers and machinists at the Hanford atomic plant have developed a camera-on-a-fishpole to photograph the interior of an underground iron tank in which radioactive wastes are stored.

The device was designed to permit routine examination of one of the huge tanks used to store millions of gallons of radioactive waste at the plant. The tank has a top entrance only 9 inches in diameter.

Joint U.S.-Canadian Air Command Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—A joint U.S.-Canadian high command soon will be in operation, directing measures for defending North America from possible air attack.

The two countries have been cooperating in air defense efforts for several years. The new joint command is expected to mesh those efforts even more closely.

An announcement yesterday here and in Ottawa said the new headquarters will be located at Colorado Springs, Colo., command post for U. S. air defenses.

Commander of the joint operation will be Gen. Earle E. Partridge, chief of the U. S. Continental Air Defense Command. Named deputy commander was Air Marshal C. Roy Slemon, chief of staff of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Oxford Stores Locally Owned

Young Adults Manage Half Town's Business in All Fields

BY VIRGINIA KAMM
(Oxford Correspondent)

Whether it is food and recreation, ready-to-wear, house furnishings, novelties or professional services, these men and women are ready to serve and boost the community.

Most of the owners are under 35 years old and their enthusiasm has sparked the Chamber of Commerce and indirectly the local governmental and school authorities into further progress.

Other youthful business and professional people have been attracted to the friendliness and advantages of this small town and have adopted it wholeheartedly.

Competition in business is amicable with coffee-breaks an important feature of every morning and the Thursday afternoon golf league game a "must" for those so inclined.

Dairy Farmers May Strike

RICHMOND — The Dairy Farmers Cooperative Association of Michigan held a meeting last night in the Civic Auditorium here to take a strike vote and set a date for proceedings to begin.

Of the approximate 500 persons in attendance, a unanimous vote was cast to strike. The tentative date is Aug. 20, according to Homer Martin, chairman and organizational director of the association.

★ ★ ★

Several members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association were present and also backed the plan, offering to assist in any way, Martin said.

★ ★ ★

If the group does not receive $5.50 per 100 pounds for Class 1 milk and up to $4.00 for Grade B milk, the strike will begin as scheduled, spokesmen said. The DFCA membership includes about 75 per cent of the Michigan dairy farmers, according to Detroit creamery officials.

Water Commission Gives Marlette Time Extension

MARLETTE — A time extension permitting Marlette Village a second opportunity to secure an $87,600 Federal Aid grant on a sewage disposal system was allowed by Michigan Water Resources Commission at a special hearing this week in Lansing.

The commission said Marlette can have up to September 12 to let construction contracts on the $475,000 sewage disposal system and still be eligible for the Federal aid money.

The extension will allow time for a referendum vote September 10 when the Village's registered voters will ballot on a sewer tax ordinance.

Because the sewer usage taxes would repay a $315,000 revenue bonds issue, financing of the whole sewage disposal system project is dependent on approval of the sewer ordinance.

A time extension was in doubt by Commission until the meeting Tuesday, or if the Federal grant was lost.

★ ★ ★

Already some $40,000 in Village money has been committed to the planning stage of the project in the form of engineers, bonds attorneys', financial consultants' and local attorneys' fees and a thousand dollar option on the site.

★ ★ ★

Contracts have been let with the approval of the ordinance of September 10. Marlette is under a court order to have a sewage disposal in operation by September 11.

500 Little Leaguers to See Tiger Game

ROCHESTER — Attending the Detroit Tiger baseball game at Briggs Stadium Wednesday will be about 500 Little Leaguers, under the sponsorship of the Metropolitan Club.

Managers Move in Penney Shift

Eastridge Is Transferred to Miracle Mile Branch Managership

A shift in managers has been announced by the J. C. Penney Company to prepare for opening the company's newest store, in the Miracle Mile Town and Country Shoppers City at Telegraph and Square Lake roads.

★ ★ ★

Robert Goff, formerly of South Bend, Ind., has been named to manage the downtown Penney store, succeeding Ralph Eastridge, who moves to the Miracle Mile store.

Eastridge, 43, lives at 2680 Garland, Sylvan Lke. He has been manager of the downtown store since 1953. He is a native of Oregon, where he joined the Penney organization in 1933 at a stock boy.

Goff, 36, began his Penney career as a salesman in Bloomington, Ill., in 1941 after attending Illinois Wesleyan University. He has been assistant manager in South Bend since 1954.

TB and Bangs Test Program to Begin Soon

LAPEER — A full time veterinarian, Richard Clark, is being employed by Lapeer County now to administer the federal-state bangs and TB testing programs.

★ ★ ★

Clark may be reached through the Lapeer County Agent's office and plans to be at the office on Tuesday afternoons.

This program is costing about a million dollars a year, but once the disease is eradicated there will be a great savings to farmers, according to the county agent.

2 Freed on Charge, One Bound Over

One man was bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of felonious assault and two others were freed following their examination in Municipal Court Thursday.

Facing arraignment Aug. 9 is Anthony F. Schneider, 22, of 1257 Cherrylawn St. He is accused of beating Darwin Butler, 882 Emerson St. and Frank Frier, 1028 Arlene St., on June 26.

The pair were beaten on the street after Frier broke a glass in a bar when he was refused a drink.

Judge Cecil McCallum dismissed the charges against Marlin J. Doran Jr., 21, of 16 Euclid St., and Robert C. Bridson, 23, of 161 Oliver St.

It was shown in court that Doran's arrest was a mistake since he had only stopped to give assistance to the injured men.

Rebellion Grows in Eastern Cuba

Resistance to Batista Regime Threatens to Spread Across Area

HAVANA (AP) — Resistance to President Fulgencio Batista's regime stiffened in eastern Cuba today as antigovernment strikes and rebel flareups threatened to spread throughout the area.

★ ★ ★

Reports said insurgent forces of Fidel Castro had come down from their mountain hideouts and engaged elements of Batista's army.

A military headquarters spokesman said army units encountered a rebel band near Uberos on the south coast of Oriente Province yesterday, killing 10 insurgents and capturing several others.

Censorship was in effect on local and incoming foreign newspapers and radio stations and on outgoing news dispatches details were limited. Local newspapers refrained from giving any news about the political situation.

In the pro-Rebel center of Santiago De Cuba, a group of armed men forced attendants at a service station to turn on their gasoline pumps last night, then set the place on fire and fled.

In another incident to Santiago, a woman bus driver was killed by a bomb hurled at her as she was about to board a bus for duty.

Sketchy reports from the trouble spots indicated the strike which has gripped Santiago may spread to Manzanillo, Bayamo and Palma Soriano De Holquin in Oriente Province and to Camaguey Province west of Oriente.

Will Year End in Frenzied Race?

New Car Sales Lagging; Output Cutback Possible

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—New car sales are lagging behind earlier expectations; dealer inventories moved up instead of down during July; an orderly cleanup of outgoing model cars is not as probable as it appeared to be a few weeks ago.

The complete count of new car sales for July will not be available for a couple of weeks or so, but estimates place the total at around 460,000 units.

Dealer inventories, which stood at about 744,000 units on July 1 probably will total 775,000 when the Aug. 1 count is completed. Ahead for the retailer lies some strenuous sales activity if deliveries for the year are to approach earlier estimates of approximately six million.

Unless sales drives step up the total during August there may be a cut back in assembly line output even before the model changeover shutdowns.

SOME BLITZ SALES

Industry surveys indicate there already have been some so-called blitz sales, with special inducements offered to clinch new car sales. These have been in the form of offers of free air conditioners, cameras or other merchandise with each new car purchase.

This type of merchandise has not been as general as it was in the final days of the fabulous 1955 model year, but it gives evidence of growing in volume. And many car manufacturers, advertising delivered prices for their different models, are advising would-be purchasers to see their dealers for his prices.

The blitz type of merchandising is not especially profitable for the car retailer. Not infrequently it consists of broad promotion of a plan to sell a specific number of cars in a given number of hours, regardless of price tags.

There still is a great deal of debate in industry circles as to whether this form of selling borrows sales volume from the future. Certainly it had that effect in 1955-56.

The tremendous pressure exerted in the retailing division pushed 1955 retail deliveries to more than 7¼ million units. In 1956 the volume declined to less than six million.

ALTER EARLIER FORECASTS

However, none of the veteran industry analysts will say positively that the cleanup of outgoing 1957 model cars will be as frenzied as was that of the 1955 model windup. Most of these authorities have seen sudden changes in the industry's over-all picture that alter earlier forecasts.

Forthcoming 1958 models will boost numerous styling and engineering advances. But they also will have substantially higher price tags.

Area Man Named to Socony Oil Position

George H. Priggen Jr., of Echo Road, Bloomfield Hills, has been named automotive sales manager of the White Star division of Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc.

The White Star division covers eight marketing districts in Michigan and Ohio.

Priggen graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1934 and went to work for a company service station as an attendant.

He moved up through the positions of staff assistant, salesman, marketing clerk and district manager to his new job.

Seek 'Fowl' Disease End

WASHINGTON (INS)—Research scientists have taken a dreaded parasite of turkeys and put it to work to find out ways of preventing blackhead disease.

★ ★ ★

The scientists, members of the Agriculture Research Service Staff, have produced a strain blackhead - causing parasite that is completely harmless. They can study its effect on turkeys without injuring the birds.

Blackhead often kills turkeys. Even when it does not, it slows their growth and causes carcass downgrading.

It will also attack chickens, but with less serious effect. The chickens may harbor the parasite, however, and be dangerous to turkeys when both types of poultry are raised on the same farm.

★ ★ ★

The present treatment is aimed at keeping cecal worms—common in poultry—from maturing and laying eggs. The eggs serve as a host for the blackhead parasite.

But this method is not effective enough. The cecal worm eggs can live in soil for two to three years and still transmit blackhead parasite.

The cecal worm eggs are apt to turn up in anything that turkeys eat, or in the soil or water on the farm.

What the scientists are attempting to find out is the proper time in the life cycle of the cecal worm or the blackhead parasite to apply treatment. Specifically, they want to know just when and how the blackhead parasite enters the cecal worm eggs.

Commerce Girl Wed in White Lake Rite

COMMERCE — Mr. and Mrs. Marvin T. Ostrander Sr. announce the marriage of their daughter, Maxine Leah, to Victor Anthony Scram, son of Mr and Mrs. Andrew C. Scram of Ecorse.

★ ★ ★

The wedding took place at the Mandon Lake Community Church of White Lake Township with Rev. Dorr W. Fockler officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Clements assisted the couple as matron of honor and best man.

★ ★ ★

May Do New Show for Ethel Merman

Berlin Always in Tune With Public

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Writer

Irving Berlin as a songwriter has always been in tune with the American public.

That's why, at 69, he is seriously thinking of doing a new show for Ethel Merman. He plans to begin work on it in the fall.

Berlin's enthusiasm is as keen today as it was in 1911, when he first became famous as the composer of the smash hit, "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

He was always a hard worker. As the sales of this song were multiplying, he repeated with three more hits in the same year —"That Mysterious Rag," "The Ragtime Violin," and "Everybody's doin' it." His talent startled the music publishing world.

He was only 23 at the time and was sitting on top of the world. He had become a celebrated personality in popular music.

Then, in 1912, tragedy stalked his life. With youth, success and fortune, he met and fell in love with Dorothy Goetz, sister of songwriter E. Ray Goetz. They married that year and took a brief tropical honeymoon. She contracted typhoid fever and died within five months of the wedding.

For months Berlin was inconsolable.

But after a long vacation from songwriting, Berlin re-established himself and turned out five hits in rapid succession—"When I Lost You," "When That Midnight Choo Choo Leaves for Alabam," "In My Harem," "Snooky Ookums" and "At the Devil's Ball."

"My average for hits have been pretty good," says Berlin. "But luckily the public didn't get to hear a lot of bad songs I have written because they never saw daylight."

After World War I, Irving Berlin, Inc., was organized as a new publishing house and Berlin forged ahead in the triple capacity of composer, author and publisher.

SENSE OF POPULAR TASTE

He wrote the songs for the Ziegfeld Follies of 1919, including "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody."

He was instrumental along with Sam Harris in the construction of a unique New York theater called "The Music Box" which opened in 1921. The Music Box Revues of 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1925 were smash hits and the Music Box became a treasure chest for its owners.

SUCCESSFUL YEARS FOLLOW

He wrote the songs for such motion picture hits as "Holiday Inn," "Blue Skies," "Easter Parade," "White Christmas" and "There's No Business Like Show Business;" and for the musical shows "Annie Get Your Gun," "Miss Liberty" and "Call Me Madam."

While World War II was in progress he wrote such numbers as "Any Bonds Today?" "Angels of Mercy" and "When This Crazy World Is Sane Again."

Now, with all that behind him, Berlin is looking forward to doing the songs for an Ethel Merman show.

LIKES MERMAN WORK

"It's something to do a Merman show," said Berlin the other day. "I like writing shows for her—she's a real trouper. She gave me a real chance in 'Annie, Get Your Gun.' My last show with her was 'Call Me Madam.'

"I can get excited about writing for her. Age (mine) has nothing to do with it. I feel equal to the challenge."

COMPLETES ISOTOPE COURSE — Robert A. Bailey, GMC Truck & Coach Division, receives his Isotope School diploma from Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad (right), General Motors vice president in charge of Research Staff, on completion of a 10-week course at GM Institute. Bailey, a Metamora resident, was specially trained in handling radioactive materials. The course is believed to be the first of its kind sponsored by private industry to train its own men in use of radioisotopes.

WATCHING AND WAITING — Here is one of a series of radar stations located somewhere in Canada. Called the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line, it will alert the United States in case of enemy attack. The Air Force announced that the 3,000-mile line has been completed and is now operative. The main search antenna of the station, standing high on a snowy peak in the Arctic wilderness, is in the dome-shaped building, center, from which warnings can be sent to Defense Command centers in the United States and Canada within seconds of radar contact.

Railroad Holds New York Pot of Gold

★ ★ ★

Robert R. Young, its chairman, thinks it does. He sees the vast real estate holding of the line, particularly in New York City, as a mine of undeveloped wealth.

First, the Grand Central Park Avenue district; second, freight yards at 30th Street near the Hudson River; third, freight yards at 60th Street near the Hudson; and fourth, a "cut" or railroad right-of-way connecting the 30th and 60th Street yards.

The Grand Central Park Avenue area is best known. Around the turn of the century the road's tracks were on the surface along Park Avenue. They branched out to cover a three block area in width and eight blocks in length.

With that accomplished, the area blossomed. Fabulous Park Avenue grew out of a slum.

What has happened is this: The Central has leased its land and the tenant has erected the buildings. In several cases the Central — in addition to the three hotels it owns—also has an investment in the buildings.

Total assessed valuation of the Central's investment in the Grand Central-Park Avenue area is 205 million dollars, but its actual market value, of course, is much higher.

MAGNIFICENT STATION

But it costs 24 million dollars a year to operate and the revenue it produces fall short of that. Plans to build a giant, income producing office building over Grand Central have not yet jelled.

But there is another railroad —the New York, New Haven and Hartford — in the picture. This road also uses Grand Central. Both the Central and the New Haven share the Grand Central's deficit. And the New Haven disputes the Central's real estate ownership.

The 30th Street freight yards extend about seven city blocks and are serveral blocks in width. On this area—close by the Lincoln Tunnel to New Jersey—the road is developing plans for constructing "a city within a city."

This project envisions office buildings, a television station, a "monumental mall," the largest urban parking facility in the country, a permanent "world's fair" type merchandise mart, a moving belt connecting with the city's transit system and a TV-antenna observation tower which would be the tallest structure in the city.

Vestpocket War in Arabia Causing Worry in Britain

By JOHN H. MARTIN,
INS Foreign Director

That vestpocket war in the sands of Arabia is causing uneasiness in the British Defense Ministry as well as the London Foreign Office.

The British military hoped to end the rebel uprising on Oman in a few days, but RAF jet planes, first with leaflets then with rockets, have been in action for more than two weeks.

Foreign Office jitters were understandable, fearing the conflict would have wide repercussions among Arab states, especially Saudi Arabia, which has been accused of arming the rebels.

In the case of the military, the British press now is grumbling and also raising some questions.

Among some, the fighting in Oman against rebels defying the British-backed Sultan of Muscat and Oman reinforces doubts about British policy of basing defense on the nuclear bomb deterrent at the expense of conventional forces needed for minor outbreaks. Minor violence can lead to major war and must be dealt with by highly-mobile combat forces.

HAVEN'T LEARNED MUCH

The Conservatives London Daily Mail implies that British planners have not learned much since last fall's Suez fiasco.

"Last year," it commented, "an expedition to Port Said traveled at the same rate as Nelson's fleet. This year, what should have been a short sharp blow in Oman is dragging out into a series of desultory raids."

In other words, both the British political and military leaders, who were accused of moving too gently and too slowly in the Suez Canal zone, once more are being criticized on the same grounds.

The circumstances in the two actions are different, of course. The British were not invited into Egypt last fall but the Arab Sultan of Muscat and Oman has "requested" them to put down the rebels in the mountainous interior. Radio Cairo broadcasts, of course, ignore the distinction.

British regular ground troops are not involved, but the officers of the Sultan's forces are British. The British have used the RAF, but first dropped leaflets urging the rebels to desert their leaders and swear loyalty to the Sultan.

NAMED REBELS

The first leaflet dropped in the mountains—not too far from where British are drilling for oil—named the rebel leaders as Ghalib, the Imam, or spiritual leader, his brother, Talib, and Suleiman Bin Hamyar. The latter is a formidable old warrior who is undisputed ruler of the Jebel Akhdar, or "green mountain" fastness virtually unknown to outsiders.

Even highly mobile units would have tough going in the mountains ruled by Suleiman Bin Hamyar, who was involved in the brief, one-shot revolt against the Sultan in December, 1955.

It's said that only one organized army ever penetrated the mountains. The Persians stormed the heights, with great losses, in the tenth century.

McElroy in Line for Wilson Post?

Sources Say President of Procter & Gamble Co. Under Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP) — High Administration sources indicated today Neil H. McElroy, president of Procter & Gamble Co., is among those under consideration to succeed Charles E. Wilson when he resigns as secretary of defense.

Wilson, former president of General Motors, has been planning to quit for some time, but he told reporters this week no date has been set. He said, however, he had talked with President Eisenhower about possible successors.

★ ★ ★

While some officials were saying McElroy was very much in the picture for Wilson's post, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty when questioned about the soap company executive as a prospect, said:

"There is no vacancy and I haven't anything before me."

★ ★ ★

He was asked about a story by the Cincinnati Enquirer that McElroy was coming to Washington Monday for conferences about the appointment. Hagerty said he did not know of any White House conference on the subject. This, however, did not rule out a conference elsewhere, possibly the Pentagon.

The Enquirer said flatly McElroy has been offered the Cabinet post. McElroy was quoted in Cincinnati as confirming that "something is under consideration," but nothing is settled.

Kovacs Claims Harrison Is Spoiling Musical Plans

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rex Harrison may be Broadway's hottest star but TV comic Ernie Kovacs says he is finding him an ole spoilsport.

KOVACS

Ernie, one of the most inventive of TV personalities, will produce several big shows for NBC this fall. One of them is "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which the network brass wants Harrison to do.

But Ernie claims the star of "My Fair Lady" wants to play it straight, as a hundred other actors have done through the years.

"It's too familiar in the regular version," says Kovacs, "I have always thought it would make a great musical. I have even written some songs for it."

It's a play and movie that has challenged every great actor in much the same way as "Hamlet." And that, says Kovacs, is why Harrison won't go for the musical version.

"As Harrison changes from the gentle doctor to the mad monster, I thought it would be nice if he sang: 'I've Grown Accustomed to This Face.'"

He said another possibility for the same scene would be "There'll Be Some Changes Made," probably sung by a chorus of monstors.

Shirley Temple Slated for TV

But Family's Still 1st With Former Child Star of Moving Pictures

NEW YORK (INS) — Shirley Temple, 29, is returning to show business next January in a series of NBC spectaculars based on fairy tales and legends.

The blonde darling of the 30's retired from movies seven years ago, vowing she'd "never have a career that would interfere with a career as wife and mother."

"I did promise that I'd never come back if it encroached on my time with my family," Shirley said over the phone from Atherton, Calif., where she lives with her businessman husband, Charles A. Black and their three children.

"But I never said I had anything against show business. I love it."

MOVIE IN ONE DAY?

"I'd go back to making movies in a minute," Shirley chuckled. "Only the movies would have to be made in one day. That's the maximum time. I'm willing to spend away from my family."

"Of course, she continued, "I've been tempted occasionally. There was a part on 'Producer's Showcase' I was very interested in, but it involved coming to New York for a week."

Her contract with NBC calls for her to act as hostess and narrator of 16 shows starting Jan. 12. Her show will appear from time to time as a "special" production.

TWICE A MONTH

"I'll only have to go to Hollywood twice every month," said Shirley. "My home is near San Francisco, and producer Fred Coe has arranged the schedule so I can film my portions as hostess in a single day."

All the programs will not be filmed, however. The first show will be live, and Shirley hopes that "several more" will also be live.

Truck Driver Shot as Escaped Prisoner

DETROIT (AP)—A young truck driver was seriously wounded last night by a holdup bureau detective who said he had mistaken him for an escaped prisoner whom police were seeking.

Shot was Millard L. Williams, 24, the father of three children. Williams was hit in the back. The bullet emerged from his chest just below the heart.

E. Newell Degurse, Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor, said Detective William Vatalaro admitted firing the shot that wounded Williams.

Degurse said Vatalaro told him Williams was running at the time of the shooting and ignored a shouted order to halt and two warning shots.

Grocery Store Clerk Finds Watch in Sausage

LONDON (INS) — A grocery store counter clerk literally struck gold today when she cut into a half-pound breakfast sausage she was serving a customer and found a tiny watch.

Doris Blasby, who served the customer, said she could hardly believe her eyes when her knife struck a tiny gold chain. She said, "I pulled and out came a watch."

She said she cleaned off the meat from the watch, wound it up and it started ticking as if nothing had happened. She said, "We all were thrilled."

Fire Warning Systems Sold Illegally in City

★ ★ ★

Metz noted that a number of salesmen have been active recently in the city although they do not have a license to peddle.

"In order to get a license here," he said, "they must prove to me that their alarm systems have been Underwriters tested and approved."

Many of these salesmen, he added, use scare tactics and make false claims. They show pictures of disastrous fires which come from all parts of the country and intimate these are local occurrences.

Metz said some salesmen have implied that their systems have official sanction from the Pontiac Fire Dept., or that the sale of home systems is on behalf of the city.

Unemployment Lowered in July

Jobless Rolls in Area Have 3,100 Less Than in Same Month of '56

Unemployment in the Pontiac area last month was 3,100 less than those out of work during July, 1956, the Pontiac Branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission has reported.

Those unemployed at mid-July were estimated at 5,700, unchanged from June. This accounted for 7 per cent of the total labor force of 81,000. In July 1956, the unemployed made up 10.6 per cent of the total labor force.

Paul P. Kimball, branch manager, said employment during the 30-day period preceding July 15 decreased only 100. This was a result of a drop in manufacturing employment of 600, and an increase in non-manufacturing work of 500.

In the manufacturing group, there was a 50-job decrease in motor vehicle plants plus a 100-job decline in miscellaneous manufacturing jobs. Construction jobs added 200, service 200, and government 100, to make up the 500 upward trend in non-manufacturing.

"However," he added, "compared with July of 1955 the employment situation is not as favorable. In the past two years, manufacturing employment dropped 9,300 while the non-industry work force increased by 400. The net 8,900 loss was centered in the area's largest industry, motor vehicles."

Claims for unemployment insurance dropped from 13,943 worth $485,874 in June to 13,415 worth $461,094 last month, the Pontiac MESC office reported.

2 Federal Agencies Have Money Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense and Agriculture Departments — which had been without authority to spend any money since Wednesday midnight — had funds again today.

President Eisenhower signed bills yesterday to operate the two departments for the 12 months which began July 1. Both had been operating on temporary spending authority from July 1 to July 31 because of their regular appropriations bills were stalled by civil rights debate in the Senate.

The Defense Department got $33,759,850,000. The Agriculture Department and the Farm Credit Administration were given $3,666,543,757.

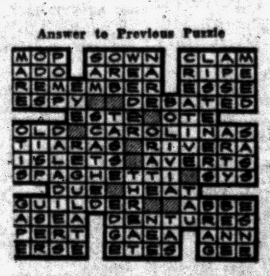
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Death Ruled Accident Despite Forceps Issue

CHICAGO (AP)—A coroner's jury has returned a verdict of "accidental" in the death of Joseph Olson, 59, in whose body a doctor found a pair of surgical scissors.

The jury ruled yesterday that Olson died July 24 from arteriosclerotic heart disease "and a foreign body in the abdomen."

The jury failed to determine "how, when, where or under what circumstances" the foreign body got there and said any evidence concerning the forceps was "hearsay."
