Juno II Soars Up But Lacks Speed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Space scientists predicted today the Army's space probe will reach a height of 64,830 miles, then fall back and burn up in the earth's atmosphere Sunday afternoon.

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — A gold-plated Army robot soared thousands of miles into space today but was too slow and wide of the mark to reach the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that all four stages of the 76-foot Juno II fired successfully after it blasted off its Cape Canaveral, Fla. launching pad at 12:45 a.m. EST.

But the rocket did not attain the velocity needed to reach the vicinity of the moon and it was aimed "three and one-half degrees low" of the necessary angle.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, head of the Army's missile ordnance command, said the failure of the probe—called Pioneer III—to achieve the planned peak velocity was due primarily to the fact that the booster engine of the Jupiter first stage cut off three seconds too soon.

STILL MOVING UP

Nonetheless, NASA announced that at 7:40 a.m. E.S.T., the robot had reached an altitude of 39,100 miles and was still moving upward at a speed of 4,152 miles an hour.

There also were indications that Pioneer III might surpass the 79,000-mile altitude achieved in October by its Air Force predecessor, Pioneer I.

The aim of the Army experiment was to send the cone-shaped instrument package near the moon in just under 34 hours and put it into orbit around the sun.

Dr. Wernher Von Braun, chief Army missile scientist, said that because of the poor aim, the robot will not reach the vicinity of the moon, and "it is more than doubtful if it will even reach the vicinity of the moon's orbit."

90 PCT. SUCCESSFUL

Half way to the vicinity of the orbit would be more than 100,000 miles.

Von Braun said, "We are denied a full success, but I would say the experiment is 90 per cent successful."

Dr. William H. Pickering, head of the Army's jet propulsion laboratory, said the Army will try a second shot at the moon "soon," but declined to give an approximate date. He would not say whether the second shot will be this month or next.

★ ★ ★

Pickering said that Pioneer II will fall back into the earth's atmosphere and burn up. He said the robot could not go into an orbit around the earth.

He also presented figures showing that the robot was below the minimum velocity required to reach the moon, as well as below the minimum velocity to escape the earth's gravity.

One experiment in the Army robot was a camera triggering device designed to be set off by reflected light from the moon. The robot contained no camera but scientists had hoped to determine whether this device would work.

Pickering said there was no chance for success of this experiment. He said the robot would have had to come within about 20,000 miles of the moon for the triggering device to work.

Hold U.S. Flier as Pawn in West Berlin Situation

BERLIN (AP) — An American flier who parachuted into East Germany was held today as a pawn in the Berlin situation.

An East German official indicated Lt. Richard Mackin would be returned to the U.S. Army only through direct negotiations with the East German satellite regime. Mackin became lost and bailed out behind the Iron Curtain Wednesday.

The Communists accused West Germany of trying to prevent German unification.

The Western Big Three who occupy West Berlin refuse to recognize the East German regime or have any negotiations with it.

This affects both the Mackin case and Soviet efforts to make the United States, Britain and France deal with East Germany for access to Berlin.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has threatened to turn over to East Germany in six months the Soviet controls over transportation from West Germany to the isolated city 110 miles inside East Germany.

The Soviet boss wants the West to get out, leaving West Berlin a demilitarized, free city at the mercy of surrounding Soviet and satellite troops.

Mackin, 27, was flying a small Army liaison plane when he became lost, crossed the East German border, ran out of gasoline and had to jump feet first into the Berlin situation.

The pilot, from Washington, D. C., was held for two days before the East Germans admitted they had him. Then a Communist district official said, "The Americans will have to talk to us about the pilot."

★ ★ ★

The Allies contend that under World War II agreements the Soviet Union is responsible for East Germany, so the West deals only with the Soviets. But some foreign diplomats in Moscow predicted that the Kremlin would insist it had nothing to do with Mackin and tell the United States to talk to the East Germans

State Budget May Approach $500,000,000

Williams and Conlin Go Into Huddle Over State Tax Study Plan

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—Hints that the 1959-60 state general fund budget might approach 500 million dollars developed in a huddle between Gov. Williams and Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton).

Such a figure, compared with 341 million dollars voted by the Legislature for the fiscal year ending next June 30, would be based on enactment of the Conlin Tax Study Citizens Advisory Committee tax package, or something like it. This is by no means assured.

Williams, without committing himself on the tax overhaul program, said yesterday that in evaluating it he was accepting its proposed net revenue gain of 140 million dollars as a "starting point."

"The committee must have chosen the 140 millions for some good reason—what, I don't know. We're not changing it one way or the other right now," the Governor said.

Last February the Governor's budget called for expenditures of 361 millions but the Legislature actually appropriated about 20 millions less.

As expressed by the committee itself, one of the objectives of its study was to provide revenue for:

Gradual liquidation of the state's mounting deficit, financing present and even expanded services and, "if the Legislature should so desire, increased aid to hard-pressed school districts and municipalities."

Conlin told newsmen his earlier estimate of a fiscal year-end deficit of 65 million dollars now appeared to be conservative.

Advisory committee staff analysts have estimated it at 80 millions or more.

Williams said he will take no position on the tax package until experts in the State Department of Administrations, the Governor's budget-making agency, have studied the recommendations carefully.

Michigan today was in the grip of the season's second pre-winter cold snap.

A blast of cold air moving down from western Canada dropped temperatures over the entire state to near-zero mark with colder temperatures forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

The mercury in downtown Pontiac hit 7 above this morning, the lowest here since 1885.

Temperatures will tumble again in the Pontiac area with the low expected to dip to 3 above, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Partly cloudy, and continued cold with occasional snow flurries is the outlook for Sunday and Monday. Tomorrow's high will be near 20.

Blustery winds ranging up to 30 miles an hour are in the area forecast.

State Police at the Pontiac Post reported main highways slippery only in spots this morning. Dixie Highway was clear after salting operations had succeeded in melting snow and ice, troopers said.

Side roads, however, were described as slippery and most of them were considered hazardous.

Highways were reported treacherous in southwestern Michigan with snow squalls that started last night still continuing, and causing drifting on some roads.

At Houghton, fresh snowfall of two feet was reported. Petoskey, near the top of the Lower Peninsula, has recorded 28 inches up to now this season, giving it more than half the 54-inch total it got all last winter, and winter still two weeks away.

Very slippery sections and poor visibility in the North-Central Upper Peninsula also was reported.

Straley Doubts Raid Claims

Says He Had Big Part in Laying Groundwork for the Roundup

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, recently stripped of his powers by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, scoffed at estimates by police officers that yesterday's raid smashed a $2¼ million gambling ring in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

"I'd be a little more conservative," he said late yesterday afternoon in his office as police were still rounding up alleged numbers ring operators.

"I wasn't even permitted to engage in the raid," said Straley who said he had a big part in laying the groundwork for a series of raids.

Straley said he was aware the big raid was coming off, and that he "made up the raiding instructions" and got legal advice from the prosecutor's office.

★ ★ ★

When 35 vice squad detectives and city police patrolmen began their roundups beginning at 3 p.m., Straley was visiting the police chief of Birmingham on coming graduation exercises of the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of

City Police Bust $2¼ Million Operation Here

Act Friday Following 8-Month Investigation by Vice Squad

By MAX E. SIMON

Pontiac police yesterday smashed a $2¼ million numbers ring in the biggest raid ever held in Pontiac.

Sixty-five persons were arrested and charged with investigation of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

The raid climaxed an eight-month investigation of the alleged syndicate by vice squad officers.

Detective Richard G. Evans, head of the vice squad, disclosed that the target date for closing in on the ring was originally Nov. 7. The raid was called off at that time due to a tipoff, he said.

Extra police had been called in then, presumably for a civil defense meeting.

The raids yesterday began at 3 p.m.

Only the 30 men on duty were used as the vice squad sprang its trap.

"Every available man—from captains down to rookies—participated," Evans said. "We had everybody out we could lay our hands on."

Piles of mutuels tickets were carted into the station by arresting officers.

Police confiscated $2,500 in cash and 3,000 mutuel bet slips.

Five of the 65 persons arrested were white men.

Called the ringleader of the syndicate by Evans was Charles Banks, 59, of 154 Wessen St. Banks was arrested at the Big Six Republican Club, alleged syndicate headquarters.

Seized with Banks was John Taylor, 55, of 40 Harris St., who police said was third in command.

Banks' chief aide was Mrs. Martha Campbell, 48, police said. She was arrested at her home, 440 S. Saginaw St.

Hers was one of the first homes hit. Police found her home alone except for her 10-year-old granddaughter.

In her second-floor bedroom was a two by one-foot floor safe.

"Open it up. It's not locked, nothing in it.

A search inside it showed she was telling the truth.

But further investigation of the premises turned up money "all over the place," Patrolman Earl W. Skrobeck of the vice squad said.

"Everywhere in her bedroom bureau, closets, boxes, and on her

Will Use Funds to Fill Baskets

Men Brave Bitter Cold to Give Underprivileged Children a Happy Yule

More than 200 Goodfellows in nine Oakland County area communities are braving the cold today, selling Pontiac Press Goodfellow editions to raise money to make this a happier Christmas for underprivileged children and needy families.

They're stationed at busy street corners in Avondale, Gingellville, Oxford, Romeo, West Bloomfield, Addison, Waterford, White Lake and Pontiac townships.

Proceeds will be used for such projects as filling Christmas baskets, providing clothes, shoes and even fuel for hard-pressed families, not only for Christmas but during the entire year.

★ ★ ★

Many children, who otherwise would go without during this festive season, will be treated to gifts, treats and at parties with funds realized from the sales conducted by civic organizations, police and fire departments.

Look for the Goodfellows. They'll be at their posts until they're sold out.

Girls Still Say to Santa: 'Please, I Want a Doll'

By JANET ODELL

Little girls still put dolls at the head of their Christmas wish lists. Since The Pontiac Press is on the direct mail route to Santa's workshop at the North Pole, we have had a chance to peek at what Pontiac children want.

Dolls take precedence, but some little girls ask for atomic cannons and pom-pom guns. One little boy requested a doll. Toy animals are favorites with both sexes. Older girls will be enchanted with a Swiss musical doll dressed in a nubby sweater and tapered pants. She has hair made of mink.

Skates, skis, sleds and bikes appear on many lists. One boy wants a tire pump. Several asked for wagons. A few years ago no one would have requested a skating rink, but now you can wrap one up and put it under the Christmas tree, all ready for installing.

Guns, trucks, cars of all kinds, army vehicles, trains and planes will please 50 per cent of the youngsters. They want kits of all kinds. One mentioned a satellite explorer, another a dinosaur to put together.

Little girls are anxious to play house. They want all sorts of homemaking equipment. Have you seen the delightful copper-bottom cooking utensils in toy size?

Doll clothes and play pens, buggies and cribs are asked for almost as much as dolls. One store is showing pink metal wardrobe trunks to keep dolly's clothes safe. The same store has sets of jewelry just for dolls.

Children still like blackboards. But they also ask for toy typewriters in large numbers. They want crayons and color books. Drop a compass that is also a pencil and crayon sharpener in the small fry's stocking.

Watches and musical instruments appear as their hearts' desire.

Clothing, books, games and — strangely enough — candy come way at the end of most lists.

But the one we're sure will intrigue Santa most is the letter that requested insulated underwear.

Equipment Fails Juno Tracking

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — The world's biggest radio telescope tracking equipment broke down today while trying to trace the U.S. Army's Juno II moon shoot.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Alfred Lovell, the astronomer who runs the huge telescope said the trouble was in a special amplifying device on its radio antenna.

The telescope got a brief fix on a signal from space at 6 a.m. (1 a.m., EST), 15 minutes after the launching of the rocket at Cape Canaveral, Fla., but there was no confirmation that the signal was from Juno.

Special equipment for tracking the Army moon shoot arrived at Jodrell Bank from the United States only this week. Scientists and technicians worked day and night to install it and completed the task only about five hours before the launching. They had no opportunity to test the apparatus.

The telescope's saucer-shaped reflecter 250 feet in diameter, began searching the sky 10 minutes after the launching. It got only one faint signal, but continued efforts to track the rocket.

At 8:30 the scientists called off the search to recheck the hurriedly installed equipment which was intended to modify the receiver to a considerably higher frequency.

Post Office Service Expands for Holiday

Pontiac's post office will be ready to take on the holiday rush of mail beginning Monday, according to Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster.

One service window will be open until 7 p.m. at the main office, 735 W. Huron St., Monday through Thursday.

Beginning Friday, service windows at the main office and Federal Station on E. Huron will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday. Dec. 13 and 20, both offices will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

information is going to come out of this exercise."

24,037 MILES PER

One of the chief functions of Pioneer III was to measure the intensity of deadly radiation through which man must travel if he is to reach the moon and the planets.

The actual speed attained by Pioneer II was 24,037 miles an hour against the target speed of 24,897 miles an hour.

★ ★ ★

Pioneer III was launched aboard a Juno II combination rocket 76 feet tall.

The Jupiter missile, topped by 15 scaled down Sergeant rockets and the small payload — was launched in dazzling fashion.

The Jupiter provided the brute strength to lift Pioneer up through the clutching grasp of the earth's gravity and the earth's thick atmosphere.

The power of the missile at liftoff was so tremendous that the earth shuddered. A mile and a half away, observers who failed to shield their eyes found themselves blinded momentarily.

★ ★ ★

Flame belched from the base of the rocket so violently and in such volume that some watchers thought the rocket was being blasted to bits:

"She's blowing up — she's gone," one man yelled.

VISIBLE 3 MINUTES

But then the missile rose ponderously, throwing off sheets of the frost that had blanketed its liquid-oxygen chilled walls.

The rocket climbed majestically, accelerating swiftly through layers of haze into a moonless but starry sky. It was visible for more than three minutes as it streaked northeastward.

Today's Army moon shot marked the fourth U. S. attempt to fire a space probe to or beyond the moon.

All four fell short. But three of them including today's shot, got off to spectacular starts.

The first three shots were handled by the Air Force.

The first moon rocket exploded 77 seconds after it had taken off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Aug. 17. This shot was never named.

The second—first in the Pioneer series — was the most successful. It roared 79,120 miles into space before falling back.

A deviation in the trajectory got the chief blame for the failure of Pioneer I.

★ ★ ★

Pioneer II, the third Air Force moon rocket, crashed back to earth after traveling 7,500 miles from its Cape Canaveral launching pad Nov. 8. A third stage rocket had failed to fire.

Pearl Harbor Anniversary

CD Sirens to Be Tested in Pontiac Area Sunday

Civil Defense officials hope that Sunday—the 17th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor disaster—will be the last National Civil Defense Day observed without state-wide emergency plans.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization in Battle Creek is expected to come up with a state plan early next year, said Robert A. Stierer, deputy Pontiac civil defense director.

"When Pontiac gets the state plan, it can tie its disaster and civil defense plans into it," Stierer explained.

One of the big questions that may be answered then is whether Pontiac residents are expected to evacuate the city in case of a civil defense crisis.

There may also be a recommendation on whether the populous communities to the south are expected to evacuate in this direction or not.

At present, civil defense precautions consist mainly of a series of warnings which officials want everyone to recognize; a plan under which CD trained personnel will function if disaster strikes; and a host of publications and pamphlets distributed widely throughout the Pontiac area.

Public attention this weekend is being called mainly to the warning systems.

In Waterford and West Bloomfield townships, the sirens will be tested at 2 p.m. Sunday. There will be an alert signal, followed by a one-minute pause, then a take cover signal.

One of the things civil defense officials say people should do when they hear the alert signal is turn on the radio and dial Conelrad (on 640 and 1240 AM frequencies). It is over these airways that civil defense instructions and information will be broadcast.

A take-cover signal, which could signify the approach of a natural disaster such as a tornado, means exactly that: Get to the best available shelter as soon as possible.

Recently, thousands of civil defense pamphlets, entitled "A Handbook for Emergencies," were distributed throughout the area by Boy Scouts.

About 900 wallet-size cards on preparedness were distributed to Waterford Township school children by members of Girl Scout Troop 161.

Stierer listed these facts about Pontiac's civil defense preparedness, organized under the city's civil defense and disaster plan of 1957.

The plan makes full use of city employes and facilities, the Red Cross, Police Reserves and mutual aid fire department pacts.

About 1,250 city and hospital employes all have definite jobs to do in case of emergency, with the help of an additional 50 members of the police reserves and about 150 Red Cross staff members and volunteers.

In addition, 16 city employes have been especially trained in radiological monitoring and 34 in rescue work.

Besides the city's three sirens—located on top of the Pontiac State Bank Building, Owen School and Madison Junior High School — 32 schools, four factories and 14 public buildings are tied into the telephone company's bell and light warning system.

The city has 96 radio-equipped vehicles and 27 amateur radio operators have volunteered to do what they can to help in a disaster.

Equipment such as rescue trucks were purchased with the help of federal funds, which amounted to $27,666 this year. Additional equipment has been purchased from federal surpluses at far less than market value.

Special Paints Needed

Asbestos cement products require specially prepared paints. They must be alkali-resistant. Included are solvent-thinned resin-coatings and emulsion or latex coatings. Oil-vehicle masonry paint is also satisfactory.

Swedish King Returns Citizenship to Bergman

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Actress Ingrid Bergman yesterday regained the Swedish citizenship she forfeited eight years ago when she was married to Italian movie producer Roberto Rossellini.

A cabinet meeting presided over by King Gustav Adolf VI granted without discussion Miss Bergman's appeal to become a legal citizen of her native land.

Miss Bergman, whose marriage to Rossellini is in the process of annulment by Italian courts, was entitled to reinstatement under a 1951 law stating that Swedish women no longer would lose their citizenship by marrying foreigners.

Ike May Push for Higher Tax

President's Tight Budget Could Force Congress to Balance or Pay

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Administration's top budget official hinted today that President Eisenhower may ask for higher taxes if the new Congress thwarts his efforts to hold down federal spending.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans said the President will send the heavily-Democratic new Congress a budget for fiscal year 1960 as tight as the law allows.

Then, Stans said, the choice was up to the American people. If they demand — and Congress votes, more spending that tax revenues can cover, thereby unbalancing the budget, "The government should spell out what new taxes must be raised."

In a speech prepared for Dean's Day ceremonies at New York University, Stans said "it is time for realism in government finances — in the Federal Budget."

Even with retrenchment, fiscal experts give the Administration virtually no chance to balance the budget in fiscal 1960. But the deficit might be as low as two or three billion dollars, depending on tax receipts and spending levels, as against the expected fiscal 1959 red ink bulge of 12 billion dollars.

Nab 65 in Bet Ring Raid

— we found money or slips," he said.

Skrobeck said that she tried to swallow some bet slips, but he removed them from her mouth.

Downstairs, police confiscated a tabulating machine and a pinball machine in which dice are shaken.

Of the pinball machine, Mrs. Campbell said, "I've had it a long time and used it in my restaurant before it became illegal." Scotchtaped on the pinball machine is a small strip of paper, reading: "For recreation only."

Two shotguns, a rifle and two pistols were also carried from the home. She said they belonged to her husband who died in 1949.

Police Lt. George T. Scott said, after examining them, that they had not been fired in a long time.

Most of the arrests came in the first half hour of the crackdown.

Evans and Public Safety Director George D. Eastman rushed from place to place checking on the progress of the raid.

"Phones were ringing like mad everywhere we went," Eastman said. "I answered one time and the voice at the other end of the line told me: 'Close up.'

"Then the guy hung up fast."

Plant protection officers at Pontiac Motor Division cooperated in making arrests. Eight persons were seized at the plant.

Police carried search warrants for 31 establishments. Hit were 22 places in the southwest part of the city. These included homes, drug stores, restaurants, dry cleaning establishments, shops and gas stations.

Criminal warrants for the arrest of 65 alleged gambling ring operators were also in the hands of the raiders.

Police believe the ring apparently operated in connection with an out-of-town syndicate. Cars had been followed leaving Pontiac headed for Detroit with the day's tickets, Evans said.

Police today are in the process of impounding 45 cars they believed were used by numbers operators.

There was no violence, Evans said, but police smashed doors or windows at five spots to enter.

Twelve women were among the 65 persons taken in by police. All were released on $25 personal bond by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and ordered to return at 10 a. m. Monday.

★ ★ ★

All three of the accused ringleaders have past police records.

Banks' record stretches back to 1926, and includes 14 convictions.

Mrs. Campbell was sentenced in 1939 for soliciting.

Taylor has 10 convictions to his name.

Both Eastman and Evans said some of the numbers houses were tipped off on the raid.

When raiders burst into some places, they found them bare.

"That won't happen again," Eastman said. "They knew we were investigating them all along."

He praised the raiders' work "in the face of insurmountable odds."

"The men were great," he said.

Evans singled out Sgt. John A. De Pauw and Vice Squad patrolmen Marvin T. Blum, August R. Martinez and Earl W. Skrobeck for their outstanding investigation of ring activities. "Without them the raid wouldn't have been possible," Evans said.

The vice squad head said that two—and possibly three—numbers rings are still operating in the city.

Those arrested for investigation of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws are:

Williams, 34, of 412 N. Cass Ave.; John James, 44, of 541 Montana St.; and Fred Harper, 27, of 635 E. Beverly St.

One woman, arrested for investigation of conspiracy, was charged with possession of an unregistered gun. She was Ann Jones, 41, of 411 Franklin Rd.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Residents Air Tax Hike Complaints

BIRMINGHAM — About 75 persons attended a meeting in the Bloomfield Township Hall last night to hear the facts against the proposed tax increase and bond issue of the Bloomfield Hills school district.

Arthur J. Picotte, 4019 Quarton Rd., chairman of the group opposing the increase, said the discussion closely followed the letter distributed by the committee earlier this week. He added that letters are still available. If anyone wants one they should contact him.

Fred W. Graupner, 6388 Dakota Circle, principal speaker, explained again his charges that the tax increase will actually be greater than what the board of education claims.

Arthur Frantson will be installed high priest of Birmingham Chapter 93, Royal Arch Masons, at the Birmingham Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. Monday.

The Ruth Shain Class will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Community House to hear Mrs. Evelyn May speak on her recent trip through the Far East.

This will be the final meeting of the year with the next scheduled for Jan. 13.

Birmingham Stamp Club will hold an auction at 8:30 p.m. Monday in the Community House. E. E. Pulf, president, said there will be 60 lots of U. S. and foreign stamps and covers.

Birmingham YMCA began its annual sale of Christmas trees today. The sale, conducted from the lot at the rear of the Y building on Lincoln avenue, will continue until Christmas Eve.

Franklin Wallin will be the main speaker tomorrow at the meeting of the Birmingham Friends at 3:30 p.m. at the Birmingham Community House.

The assistant professor of history and assistant to the president at Wayne State University will discuss the historical background of Quakerism.

Mrs. William E. Rigley

Service for Mrs. William E. (Matilda) Rigley, 57, of 18856 Bedford Rd., Westwood Village, will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Tapp Funeral Home, Henderson, Ky. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery there. A prayer service will be held at 8 p.m. tonight at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Mrs. Rigley died Friday at Woman's Hospital, Detroit, following a stort illness.

She was a charter member of the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

Surviving are her husband, William; a sister and three brothers.

The family requests memorial tributes to the American Cancer Society in lieu of flowers.

Arthur Follows

Service for Arthur Follows, 56, of 4475 Burnley Dr., was held at 1 p.m. today in the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Funeral Home with burial to be at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Follows, who was a plant training supervisor for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., died Wednesday in William Beaumont Hospital.

He is survived by his wife Olive, and a son Pfc. Arthur G. Follows.

Crowd Cheers German Leader

Adenauer at Odds With West on Timing Berlin Problem Talks

BERLIN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has indicated that his government is at odds with its Western Allies on means of settling the Berlin crisis.

Adenauer told a wildly-cheering crowd at a mass meeting here last night that:

"My government and I are against the proposal that the Berlin question should be discussed within the framework of the whole German problem. The difficult and dangerous Berlin problem should be settled first of all."

Sources close to the West Berlin city government said the chancellor stressed the same theme at a closed meeting with Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt and other city leaders.

The chancellor's argument that the Berlin problem should be dealt with separately from the whole German question appeared to be diametrically opposed to the attitudes expressed in Washington, London and Paris.

According to various declarations by statesmen in the three Western capitals, the West intends to tell Russia that the Berlin problem was inseparable from the overall German problem.

Straley Comments on Vice Raid

Police, for which Straley served as president this year.

"This is just like the Burke raid," he said. "Just because I wasn't in my office at the time, some said Straley was in cohoots with criminals."

He had reference to an August vice raid which resulted in arrest of ex-convict Basil W. Burke, alleged king-pin of a Pontiac horse-bet ring, and led to criticism from some sides that the chief wasn't even aware a raid was going on.

Even though he said he was aware of yesterday's pending raids, Straley expressed the wish that they had told him of the precise time. "After all I'm still chief of police here and would like to have gone along," he remarked.

Yesterday's arrests resulted from the first raid since Eastman announced a stepped-up crusade against what Vice Squad Chief Richard G. Evans described as "deplorable" vice conditions in the city.

The police chief said he knew such a ring was operating, but explained he had not pushed his vice detail after it because he was still in hopes "the little guys would lead us to the big ones."

He said he had maintained a two-way communication with Evans during the eight months or so detectives had the alleged ring under surveillance.

When asked what his reactions were to the raids, Straley threw up his arms and said, "It's about time."

"It is one of those cases which we worked on in the past but never had the opportunity to finish it up," he elaborated.

"This one just happened to work a little bit better."

He continued his insistence that vice is no greater in Pontiac than in any industrial town of its kind. Although he said the raids would probably "serve as a damper" on those playing the numbers, which he preferred to call a "disease," he expressed doubt how much it would sweep gambling of its kind from the city.

"Get some good convictions and some long-time sentences and take them out of circulation by employing the full extent of the law," was Straley's recommendation.

Swanson Fights Fairground Sale

Manager Pours Cold Water on Councilman's Sports Center Plan

"Major State Fair buildings are in almost constant use," said Donald L. Swanson, State Fair general manager, yesterday.

He was pouring cold water on a proposal by Councilman Ed Carey of Detroit that the City of Detroit buy the fairgrounds and convert it into a sports and an athletic center.

Swanson went on to say: "I doubt if the council realizes the extent to which the fairgrounds is used on a year-round basis."

However, the common council concurred with Carey's resolution to set up a committee to study possibilities of buying the fairgrounds and turning it over to the Department of Parks and Recreation for development.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Fair is among the five biggest in the United States in attendance and receipts. It made a profit of $20,000 in 1958.

The Commission has no intention of moving the Fair out of the Detroit metropolitan area, Swanson said.

It needs to be there to be self-sustaining, he added, and a suggestion made several years ago that a new State Fair site be set up on or adjacent to the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing is no longer considered.

Benton Harbor Tourist Dies After Heart Attack

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — A Benton Harbor, Mich. man died of an apparent heart attack yesterday, a short time after his car skidded off a snow-covered highway into a ditch south of Mount Vernon.

He was Luther B. Cook, 50. Cook, an employe of a Benton Harbor cannery, was accompanied by his wife, Geneva, two sons and a daughter. No one was injured in the mishap.

Mrs. Cook told authorities her husband collapsed after getting out of the car which had veered off Highway 37. The family was enroute to Malden, Mo., to visit Cook's parents, she said.

Chanel No. 5 (?) for $2 Gets Man in Trouble

NEW YORK (UPI) — Carl (Cueball Kelly) Zingale was caught behind the eight-ball in McGirr's billiard academy yesterday, selling what was labeled "Chanel No. 5" perfume for $2 a bottle.

Police said Zingale sold 2,160 bottles of the phony scent, all of it to men who thought they were getting bargain Christmas presents for their wives. They said any woman could have smelled the stuff and known instantly Zingale made it in his bathtub out of water, a little scent and alcohol.

Is Critical Today

Rare Serum Fails to Aid 2-Year-Old in Illinois

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A 2-year-old boy was still reported critically ill today after doctors administered a rare serum seeking to combat a flareup of his sickness.

★ ★ ★

A batch of serum was rushed Tuesday by an Air Force jet from New York to this north Chicago suburb to help Mark Sroge of suburban Morton Grove. When the youth responded to other medical treatment, the serum, called anti-hemophilus Type B, was held in reserve.

★ ★ ★

An Evanston Hospital spokesman said there was a flareup Friday of his affliction, influenza meningitis, causing a high fever and a bleeding in the gastro-intestinal tract.

★ ★ ★

As Sroge was given the drug, which is no longer manufactured, more serum was flown to Chicago on a commercial airliner.

The hospital spokesman said "There was no change in the condition" of the critically ill boy.

A nationwide search for the serum was touched off earlier in the week when Mark did not respond to antibiotics.

★ ★ ★

The serum was found in storage at a New Jersey laboratory. New York and New Jersey state police rushed the serum to Mitchel Air Force Base on Long Island for the flight.

Winter Holds Most of U. S. in Icy Grip

By The Associated Press

A bulging cold air mass capped a two-day eastward movement today by clutching its chilling hand over the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf states.

★ ★ ★

Only Florida and the well-warmed Southwest escaped the cold surge.

While the core of the storm frigidly locked an area from Montana to Minnesota, considerably colder weather also was to rule most of the nation during the day.

Overnight and early morning readings slid to zero and 10 below in many parts of Montana through the Dakotas to Minnesota.

★ ★ ★

Friday, fresh snows piled up at Houghton, Mich., now measuring two feet. Another snowfall of eight inches covered Old Forge, N.Y., and a seven-inch layer blanketed Lake Placid in New York State.

Michigan Farm Prices Same in November

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan farm products as of mid-November were on an unchanged price index from the previous month but were four per cent below November of last year, the Michigan Price Report said yesterday.

Prices of wholesale milk increased from October but decreases for hogs, beef cattle and lambs offset this hike.

PLEASANT SCENERY — The fish may not be biting, but the scenery looked good to fishermen Kennard and Ronald Nelson, busy performing "eyes left" at this beach near San Francisco. Taking their minds off fishing is June Brown. Yesterday was the second day of a heat wave there, which broke the previous record of 68 by soaring to 71.

Dog Told 'Sit' Stays Put for 14 Hours

WHERSETAD, England (AP)—Somebody told Spot, Britain's most obedient dog, to "sit" and he did—for 14 hours.

Officials of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were investigating the case.

★ ★ ★

A cyclist reported the dog was sitting beside the road at 6 p.m. Thursday, and was still sitting there when he rode to work Friday morning.

An RSPCA inspector had to slip a collar around the dog's neck to get him to move.

Said the inspector: "I could tell from the dog's reluctance to move that it was obeying a command. I am treating this as a case of a dog abandoned."

He Will Hang On to Vote Records

Judge in Alabama Won't Let Commission Impound Papers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge George Wallace has challenged the Civil Rights Commission to try to force him to surrender voting records in his custody.

★ ★ ★

The judge threatened to jail any commission agent who tries to take over impounded voter records.

The registration records of Barbour and Bullock counties were impounded for grand jury investigations.

★ ★ ★

"They are not going to get the records," Wallace declared, "And if any agent of the Civil Rights Commission comes down here to get them, they will be locked up."

The voting records were ordered impounded by Wallace several weeks ago after taxpayer groups in the two counties filed petitions charging fraud in the registration of voters and attempt to register voters.

★ ★ ★

The commission has subpoenaed voting records in six Alabama counties including the two in Wallace's circuit. The others are Dallas, Macon, Lowndes and Wilcox.

Cullinan Stone World's Biggest

Diamond Found in 1905 in Transuaal Mine Was Named for Owner

WASHINGTON—The biggest gem diamond ever found was unearthed in 1905 at the same Transvaal mine that yielded the Niarchos, the world's costliest gem. Named for the mine's discoverer, Thomas Cullinan, it weighed 3,106 metric carats.

The Cullinan was presented to Britain's Edward VII, who chose noted cutter J. Asscher for the agonizing task of cleaving the stone into smaller gems.

Another storied diamond is the Kohinoor, which also is among the British crown jewels. Hindu tradition says it was worn thousands of years ago by a hero of the Hindu epic, the Mahabharata.

In Russian's diamond treasury is a tsarist memento—the 200-carat diamond known as the Orloff. From its size and shape some believe it may be the lost Great Mogul. This legendary gem is said to have weighed 787 carats when found. It disappeared after 1665, when it, or part of it, was seen in an Indian rajah's court as a cut jewel of 280 carats.

The Orloff story follows the best tradition of gem adventures. A French soldier is said to have stolen it from the eye of a Hindu god in a Mysore temple. After various plots and acts of violence, it reached Amsterdam. There, in 1774, an exiled Russian courtier, Prince Orloff, bought it to regain favor with Empress Catherine II.

University Coed Expert Mechanic

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Joanne Neff, 18, a freshman at John Carroll University here, is handy to have along on a date if car trouble develops.

Joanne is an expert mechanic and a frequent entrant in drag strip, hot-rod and stock car races. She has been driving and repairing her own automobiles for three years.

"I can install a crankshaft, change spark plugs and fix a muffler without any trouble," she said. "I guess I'm just mechanically inclined.

Chicago's School Fire Adds One More Death

CHICAGO (UPI)—The death toll in Chicago's school fire climbed to 91 last night, hours after 70 of the victims, from Our Lady of the Angels School were buried in crisp, cold December weather.

Services for 12 more of the children were to be held today. Three Roman Catholic nuns who died with their charges in Monday's blaze and five other children were buried Thursday.

Attention of the heartsick city shifted to the city's hospitals where 12 youngsters and one nun remained on the critical list, and prayers were offered that the delayed death last night of Victor Jacabellis, 9, might be the last in the overwhelming tragedy.

A Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Chicago's Archbishop Albert G. Meyer at a National Guard Armory where 18 girls and nine boys rested in white and gold coffins. Separate funeral services were sung at numerous parish churches throughout the city for many of the remaining children.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York assisted at the Mass held in the temporary "cathedral," chosen because no church in the city was large enough to hold the victims, their relatives and mourners.

About 7,000 persons were at the Armory, and another 2,000 gathered later at the Holy Innocents Shrine of Queen of Heaven Cemetery where 21 of the victims were brought for final burial.

There, as gusty winds blew bitterly, Bishop Raymond P. Hillinger offered a final prayer over the coffins and weeping relatives huddled together for comfort.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for a fund set up for the bereaved parents said contributions exceeded $125,000 dollars and that first payments of $500 or more had been given to each of the stricken families. The checks were delivered by detectives, and plans were underway to provide candy and presents for surviving children still hospitalized.

J. L. Littlefield Heads State Foods Division

LANSING (AP) — J. L. Littlefield, 42, assistant dairy division chief in the State Agriculture Department, has been appointed chief of the Foods and Standards Division, effective Dec. 31.

That is the date set for retirement of Miles A. Nelson, longtime foods and standards head. Littlefield, a graduate of Michigan State University, has been with the Agriculture Department since 1940.

For Social Security Tax

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From Mrs. K.C. of New Orleans: "I've just hired a maid to help me with the housework. She'll be working for me two days a week. Must I pay Social Security tax for her? If so, how do I do it?"

If you pay your maid $50 or more cash wages (including carfare) every three months, you must pay Social Security tax on her wages and file a quarterly tax return with the Internal Revenue Service. You can get instructions and the appropriate forms by writing to the nearest IRS office.

★ ★ ★

From W.T. of Boston: "I'm 62 and receiving a pension from the Veterans Administration for a non-service-connected disability. I get this because I'm a World War I veteran. I can't work because of a heart condition. Even though I get the pension, the Social Security Administration has refused to give me disability payments. I don't understand why I'm not eligible to Social Security disability payments if I'm disabled enough to get a vet's pension?"

Probably you don't meet the requirements for Social Security disability payments. The requirements are a good deal more strict than the VA pension requirements. If you wish you can appeal the decision of the Social Securty Administration as to your eligibility. Talk with your local office about this.

★ ★ ★

From A.W. of Denver: "I own two houses and rent one of them. Is this rental income counted as self-employment income under the Social Security law? If it is, I'd like to pay tax on it and thereby increase my future Social Security retirement payments."

Unless real estate rentals are received by you as a real estate dealer, they're not considered self-employment income.

★ ★ ★

From G.S. of Tampa, Fla.: "I'll be 65 and eligible for Social Security payments next March. My wife is already 65 but won't be eligible for payments until I retire. When we apply for payments what kinds of documents do we need to take with us?"

You both will need some proof of your age and your marriage certificate or other proof of your marriage.

★ ★ ★

From Mrs. J.B.H. of Oakland, Calif.: "I accidentally burned my Social Security check with some trash. How can I get another? I need the money badly."

You should immediately go into your Social Security office, describe the situation involving the burning of the check and fill out a form to have the check replaced. It probably will take a month or so for another check to be issued.

★ ★ ★

From R.P. of Phoenix, Ariz.: "In a column several months ago you mentioned that employes would have to pay more Social Security tax next year. How much more?

On Jan 1, the Social Security tax rate will go to 2½ per cent of your wages up to $4,800 a year.

To Hold Services for Lost Scouts

TUCSON (UPI) — Funeral services are pending for three Boy Scouts who perished when they became separated from hiking companions during a raging snow storm in the mountains Nov. 15.

The bady decomposed bodies of the Tucson youths were found Wednesday high on a slope of Mt. Baldy in the Santa Rita Mountains about 35 miles south of here where deep snows recently melted.

Mike Early, 16, David Greenberg, 12, and Michael LaNoue, 13, had gone to the mountain resort area with three companions and Early's father when the six boys decided to try hiking up Mt. Baldy, more than 9,000 feet high.

A heavy snow storm that dumped up to 20 inches of snow in several hours hit the area while they were out. Search parties numbering up to 1,000 men combed the mountain for weeks after the other boys returned to safety and reported their companions missing.

Hope Diamond Believed Part of Larger Gem

WASHINGTON — The famous Hope diamond is believed to have been originally part of the larger French Blue worn by Louis XIV. Stolen during the French Revolution's Reign of Terror, it reappeared in England cut to its present 44½-carat oval form. It was named for the banker Henry Thomas Hope, who acquired it in the mid-1800's.

Later, Sultan Abdul-Hamid II of Turkey bought the jewel to adorn a favorite wife. He lost his throne, as had a still more unfortunate previous owner, Louis XVI of France, who also lost his head.

In time, Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of Washington took on the Hope with its burden of bad-luck superstition. At her death, many years after, it went to Harry Winston, whose exhibits of it for charity cast a brighter light on its dark history.

Reflections

THREE TIMES ONE:

J. L. VOORHEES

Affection, Indulgence and Humor are three worlds we create.

Affection is the seed of life: a child seeks both food, and affection—both are essential. A mother lives for the affection of husband and family. All great men in history reached the pinnacle of their greatness with affection as their motivating force, affection for someone, or something was greater than themselves.

M. E. SIPLE

Indulgence is a bridge over the canyon of frustration; grant a favor to one in distress and watch the seams of life spring apart to show all the goodness within:

So often a minor traffic accident brings rancor and anger; humor, in a smile or softly spoken word brings understanding and amicable settlement.

These three worlds are the ones we create and keep in orbit; Affection is the gravitational influence, and Humor, is the sunshine.

Young Mother Facing Death Shows Limitless Courage

Norman Vincent Peale takes over today's column:

There was a story in the Reader's Digest about a woman named LUCILE FRAY, 33 years old, who had ten children. They lived in a three room house, had very little money and her husband was sick. But she was one of those great Americans who believe that you can fight your way through with the help of God. She became ill and her doctor told her she had only a year to live.

She knelt down and prayed. The next day she had a sense of a luminous Presence. It was so real that her heart melted. The Lord was by her side. She said to Him, "Here are my ten children, most of them little. What shall I do?"

The Lord seemed to say to her, "Have no fear, I will help you." Then a thought came to her. She decided that as a final act of motherhood she should put her ten children out for adoption and find ten homes before she died. So she called her family together.

Children," she said without a tear in her eyes, "your mother is going away. I am going to be with Jesus. And I want to find a home for each of you before I go."

★ ★ ★

The story got into the newspapers and people came to her house, for there are many childless people who want children. She and her husband had set up five standards for adoption: 1. The children must be allowed to keep in touch with their brothers and sisters. 2. The father must earn a steady living. 3. The couple must be happy. 4. They must believe in education. 5. They must attend church regularly.

★ ★ ★

The first child they had to part with was the baby. When the new, kindly mother looked into the face of Lucile Fray, she thought it the most beautiful woman's face she had ever seen, and she resolved to rear the baby to be that kind of person.

★ ★ ★

The little family, only nine now, formed a team to try and make Mother happy. She played with them and they had glorious evenings together. Then the next one left, and the next.

★ ★ ★

They let the children live with the families for a few days. If the child liked the family she thought it was a good indication, because children have deep instincts. One child she would not give to a certain family because they were so precise. The little child said, "Mommy, they won't let me holler or yell."

And she said, "Oh, you've got to have a mother who will let you yell." And she wouldn't let her go to that family.

★ ★ ★

Finally they were all gone except one. This child had epileptic seizures. She, herself, said, "I think this child should be in an institution."

The ninth child had been adopted by an Iowa school superintendent and his wife. When they had taken his brother, the small epileptic had said, "Good-by, WARREN. I wish I had a new mommy and daddy like you have."

★ ★ ★

When the school superintendent and his wife sat down to dinner that night with their new little child, they could not help seeing with him that other small boy left behind.

"If he had been our own child and was an epileptic," the father said, "we would have loved him. God has brought his brother so we will get him, too."

★ ★ ★

Now all ten children were gone.

And LUCILE FRAY, suffering greatly, went to each home to see her children before she should die. One mother said, "I thought it would be difficult, but she was like a visiting aunt; kind, happy and gay."

★ ★ ★

Then Lucille Fray went back to that small house, now empty of children, and one night was borne on angel wings to that Other Country. I am sure that high up in the place of honor of Almighty God is this young mother whose heart was wrung ten times, but who stood up to her difficulties with the indomitable grace and dignity that Almighty God puts into human beings.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

O.K. Here's another official pronouncement: the coming winter will be colder than usual as the perch in Lake Huron have gone out to deep water . . . . . Overheard at the Men's Club: "When I asked for a raise my job wasn't very important; but when I asked for two extra days off, it seems the business can't get along without me." . . . . . NBC now claims it broadcasts color every night.

★ ★ ★

Milton Berle offered Maria Callas $20,000 for one appearance on his TV show with a "no-firing-for-any-cause" clause. Maria just looked out the window. . . . . President Anderson tells me the Lions got Jim Gibbons for their fifth draft choice. "He's worth first," says Andy. . . . . Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young woman: Isabelle Buckner. . . . . Defeated Senator Charles Potter may end up with the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. . . . . Your Thanksgiving dinner cost you $6.04 last week, against $6.32 last year, and $8.63 in 1951.

Fortune Magazine says phones will ultimately use hi-fi, have push buttons instead of dials and a screen so the talkers can see each other . . . . . In the English church at Monte Carlo no hymn under number 37 is ever sung. They're afraid the gamblers will use it as a hunch at roulette . . . . . HARRY J. KLINGLER SR., who has lived on the St. Clair River for half a century says the Great Lakes are the lowest in his memory. He attributes it to a lack of rain and snow in the whole general area.

WERNHER VON BRAUN is probably the top missile expert in the world today; and Oakland County's "BOB" MCMATH is one of the ranking boys . . . . . After all that ballyhoo, TV's "Wonderful Town" was something of a letdown . . . . . .

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

IF YOU tell lies, people won't trust you; if you always tell the truth regardless, they won't like you.

IN A published letter to Santa Claus, a little girl writes: "I've been as good as a 6-year-old girl can be." That isn't very good, but under the circumstances it will have to do.

IN PRODUCING the 1959 cars, the manufacturers succeeded to a considerable extent in making obsolete prior models, even the 1958 models.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

"And thou Oh Bethlehem, in the land of Juda are not the least among the princes of Juda, for out of thee shall come a king that shall rule my people." MATTHEW 2:6.

Bethlehem today is still not the least among the princes of Juda. Gnarled olive trees frame the approach to the little town, which sits on the slopes of a hill terraced with olive groves. From a distance, the town seems to cluster around the steeples of the Church of the Nativity.

At dusk, the slopes turn gray-green and Bethlehem is silhouetted against the sky. Perhaps it was on a still, clear night like this that Phillips Brooks looked out over the ancient city imagined it as Mary and Joseph must have known it, and wrote the immortal:

"Oh little town of Bethlehem
How still we see thee lie
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight"

Strike Pooling Gains Adherents

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — In increasing numbers, both labor and management groups are establishing some sort of arrangement to cushion the money loss entailed in a strike.

★ ★ ★

Unions do it by saving up huge strike funds. Companies are starting to do it by agreements providing that a group of firms will pool the strike loss of any one of them.

The most publicized is a recent agreement among six major airlines to share with a struck airline the extra revenues the others get because the one is out of operation.

Capital Airlines recently experienced a 38-day strike. But airline industry sources say Capital emerged without much out-of-pocket loss because of the pooling agreement.

★ ★ ★

The Civil Aeronautics Board, incidentally, announced it was going to take a long look at this novel plan and set a full hearing for Jan. 14. Meantime, it let the pact stand.

Trans World Airlines and Eastern Air Lines, both now shut down by strikes, are due strike benefits under the plan. Other participating airlines are American, United and Pan American World Airways.

On the other side of the picture, the International Assn of Machinists, which struck Capital, TWA and Eastern, pays strike benefits to strike-idled workers. Out of a fund exceeding two million dollars the union pays strikers $35 a week starting the second week of a walkout. The figure was raised last month from $10 a week.

It is reported that other industries have strike-aid plans although none are known to divide profits on the pattern of the airline plan. Some newspapers carry strike insurance that provides indemnity benefits when their workers walk out.

Labor Department officials say that well over half, perhaps 60 per cent, of all the nation's 18 million union members are backed up by strike benefits of some sort.

The United Auto Workers, for example, have set up a 50-million-dollar strike fund — now cut in half due to a rash of UAW strikes this year. It's rumored the UAW plans to boost its strike fund to 100 million.

UAW pays benefits after two weeks of a strike. Benefits vary according to family status up to $30 weekly. They get higher as the strike gets longer.

Airline pilots have the richest plan, with benefits ranging from a low of $350 to a high of $650 a month.

The International Typographical Union — the typesetters — provides a minimum $36 weekly strike benefit, with provisions for 60 per cent of regular pay for the worker with dependents, 40 per cent for the single worker.

Smiles

Some people always are seeking more happiness when they really use only a small part of what they have.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Washing Walls Is Great for Gal With Lots of Pep

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

(Copyright 1958)

"For the first time in years I am doing all my own housework, including washing walls, ceilings and windows. Can't figure anything else to which to attribute my increased energy. Started the iodin ration about 6 months ago. Now I am feeling in fine fettle all the time. Thanks to you. (Mrs. P. B. S.)"

DR. BRADY

Answer. — It's possible. You live in the Great Lakes Basin where food and water are deficient in iodine. For instructions for taking The Iodine Ration, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

★ ★ ★

"I'd like to thank you for sending me the pamphlet on Acne—Blackheads and Pimples. I had the white lotion made up by our druggist. The change in my complexion was so marvelous that I passed it on to some of my friends. (C. O.)"

Answer — The pamphlet is FREE to any one who asks for it and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address me care of this paper.

"In giving the gasoline treatment for ringworm (foot itch, athlete's foot, dermatophytosis)—and we have found the treatment most effective — you seemed uncertain what 'white gasoline' is. It differs from other gasoline in that it is not leaded. (J. M. F.)"

Answer—Thank you. The treatment is simple: Soak the affected skin in gasoline for 30 seconds daily for two or three days. Do this out of doors, well away from any flame, and use only plain, unleaded or "white" gasoline, not ethyl gas.

★ ★ ★

Answer—It might be instructive if you can get one of the civilian doctors to state in writing what he thinks is the matter with your tonsils or why you should have them removed.

Paper Helps Build Happy Home

Della's case proves that newspapers actually build happy homes and send people to church. This is no rare exception, for I can cite thousands of similar examples from my own experience. Be sure you test yourself on the 4-point plan below as regards the proper spiritual food you are offering your children!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 396: Della G., aged 34, has two youngsters.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I came up in a Godless type of home," she began. "My parents never belonged to any church nor did they send us children to Sunday School.

DR. CRANE

"But my oldest boy has begun to follow your quiz column in our newspaper.

"On Sunday you always include some Bible problems, and then list the specific references in the Bible where the stories are given in more detail.

"Well, Junior wanted to look up some of those stories. But we didn't have a Bible in the house.

"So I finally bought him one. And that is the first Bible in my family for at least two generations.

"Since then, however, Junior has begun to attend Sunday school. Now he has started me going, too, as well as the rest of our children.

"But I thought you'd like to know that our newspaper is responsible for getting my family into a church."

TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

Mother's Day is not the only calendar date when we should pay tribute to good mothers.

You will notice that Della's interest in her son's welfare caused her to purchase a Bible for her home.

And I am glad that the newspaper can claim credit for this desirable action. I have many other examples along the same line, for I am not exaggerating when I say the newspaper is a tremendous force for sound education.

Della began to feel her duty as a good mother and to her credit, she did something tangible to fulfill her obligation.

★ ★ ★

You other parents generally wish to do likewise. None of us is as perfect as he'd like to be, but we can all increase our batting average by the following:

(1) Get your children into a neighboring Sunday school EVERY Sabbath.

For there they receive at least 20 minutes per week of moral emphasis and learn good music. They are motivated to be unselfish and to try to follow the Golden Rule, plus the 10 Commandments.

Unless you are a saint in your own home, you better take advantage of the freely donated time of other good folks who volunteer to teach your kids a little morality.

(2) Stress some religious behavior at home, as by teaching your youngsters to say grace at meal time. This helps remind them that God is our Heavenly Father, as well as our Landlord on this Earth.

Religion widens the vision of children and makes them less selfish.

(3) Encourage some church music, as the standard hymns, so your children will not be mentally starved for inspiring music as adults.

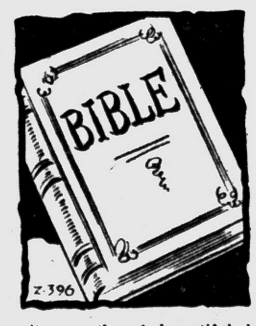
Many mothers become neurotic trying to feed their first baby the proper vitamins and baby foods, but forget his spiritual hunger.

★ ★ ★

What shall it profit you to have an athletic, healthy child if he is spiritually starved and spends his final years in the state prison?

Good music also includes uplifting children's tunes and Christmas music that keeps the Christmas theme in Christmas, as does "Little Sandy Sleighfoot."

Alas, "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "White Christmas," even though beautiful, have no religious core whatever. They never even mention the Bethlehem Story or any basic Christian principles.



★ ★ ★

Be sure, therefore, your Christmas story books and music keeps the moral theme in Christmas and are not pagan or secular tunes.

(4) Encourage your child to read the Bible, as one chapter per day. Pick out Genesis, Joshua and Judges in the Old Testament, and the Four Gospels, plus Acts, in the New Testament.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'Wishful Thinker' Suggests Sure Way to Win Election

Maybe it's just wishful thinking but I wonder what people would say if taxes, food and other items were lowered without paychecks going down also. Of all the raises in prices on everything, I'd like to see it take a turn in the other direction.

★ ★ ★

The first governor or president who has that in his campaign will soon get a 100 per cent turnout at the polls. That would be the first one of its kind in the U. S. Find one who would be for the working man instead of his friends and his pocketbook.

★ ★ ★

Wouldn't it be wonderful getting a backache from carrying that load around in your hip pocket, instead of a headache from not enough in it? Oh well, just wishful thinking.

Wishful Thinker

'At Least They Aren't Duped'

While many are ready to jump on John Dulles at every chance, let's consider that we are not in war in Lebanon, Jordan, Quemoy, Berlin or anywhere else.

The Democrats would have fumbled all these situations so badly we'd be shooting in half a dozen locations and the hot war would be well on the way. Let's praise heaven for a Republican administration and some cool heads and world experience.

No GOP leaders have ever been taken for fast, one-way rides like Roosevelt and Truman.

Kefauver Editorial Disgusts Reader

In reading your editorial, I was certainly surprised to think you would write something like that about Senator Kefauver. I think the Senator is right from some of the views printed in your paper. Naturally you're going to stick up for General Motors and big business.

Did it ever occur to you that if all the hourly-rated people in this area would boycott your paper, your subscriptions would be very small. You would be looking for new jobs or standing in the employment line.

Disgusted

Two Disagree on Milk Strike

How much do you really know about the milkman's situation? How many stores sell milk at 35-39 cents a half gallon all the time? If you can trot around just to pay less, you're probably spending more on gas than you're saving.

★ ★ ★

Stores undersell themselves on milk for a weekend special to attract the public, but their other prices are probably slightly higher. If all housewives stopped home deliveries and bought through the stores, how long do you think these stores would continue taking that loss?

★ ★ ★

No one gets mad at the factory worker when he votes for a strike. There's no big fuss when cigarettes or beer goes up a nickel, but heaven help the poor milkman when all he's asking is fair competition. Milkmen have children, too, and get no discount on milk. They put in long hours and take a lot of guff from some customers, but they're still polite and considerate. Why don't you start throwing your TV set in the car and run it down to the repair shop — maybe you'll save a dime. Happy bottle toting.

Very Disgusted Milkman's Wife

The milk strike was a strike on our children — no milk. I used to deliver milk for 11 cents a quart and made a good living, no union dues to pay, no strikes and everybody was happy.

Now when Christmas is coming up they needed a strike to make more Christmas money. We need milk for our children. Let Santa, like me, with no union, pay all the expenses.

'Women Think for Themselves'

I'd like to reply to 69's letter concerning a woman's right to vote. Women are as free as men. Voting is one of our most highly treasured rights, duties and privileges. We don't go along with men's ideas always. We can vote freely. We have our own minds.

★ ★ ★

Often you can find a wife who votes when her husband is too lazy. It's only human nature to allow us to say what we think through out vote.

I don't think the men in the House of Representatives or Senate were wrong to allow us to vote. Let's hear from some more women on this point.

Christmas Thought Amuses Writer

I was listening to a TV program. The man was saying to remember that Christmas is Christ's birthday. All at once I started laughing and my family looked at me, wondering what was so funny. I was just thinking what would happen if Christ came back to earth, this time as a Negro.

Hope Fades on Space Plan

Peace Program Pushed by U. S. Threatened by Soviet Boycott

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Hope faded today for East-West agreement on outer space. Diplomats reluctantly prepared to push through the General Assembly a U.S. plan to set up a U.N. study commission despite Soviet boycott threats.

★ ★ ★

A number of small nations have tried to get the United States and Russia together on the hotly disputed space issue before the Assembly takes final action authorizing establishment of the new committee.

Informants said the mediators ran into a stone wall when they attempted to persuade Russia to relax its demands on makeup of the group. Nor would the United States give any more ground.

The Assembly, which delayed action as long as it could in hopes some accord would be reached, will have to act this coming week — last round in the current session. The Western proposal was expected to pass over Soviet opposition.

The plan would create an 18-nation committee to do the groundwork for a permanent U.N. body to steer international cooperation in utilization of outer space for peaceful purposes.

It nominates Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia to the space committee. The Russians, who insisted on having three satellites besides themselves as members, served notice they would boycott the group.

Jewish Festival (8-Day Holiday) Starting Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanukkah, the Jewish Festival of Lights, begins at sundown today. It is an eight-day holiday.

Hanukkah, which means dedication, marks the victory more than 2,000 years ago of the ancient Judeans over a much larger army led by the Syrian King Antiochus IV.

The triumph, according to the books of the Maccabees, led to the cleansing of the temple in Jerusalem of idols and a rededication to the ideal of monotheism.

An additional candle is lighted in Jewish homes each night of the festival. Prayers of thanksgiving to God are recited. Some gifts are exchanged and others earmarked for the poor.

Fine Pharmacists for 'Cheapness'

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Long Island pharmacists have been fined $1,500 each and placed on three years' probation for using penny tablets instead of expensive antibiotics in preparing prescriptions.

Brought in for sentencing Friday in Brooklyn federal court were Charles P. Greenberg, 30, Plainview, N.Y., and Marvin W. Goldstein, 29, East Meadow, N.Y. The pair operated a pharmacy in Bethpage, N.Y.

Judge Leo F. Rayfiel sentenced each man to one-year prison terms, then fined them and put them on probation.

Greenberg and Goldstein pleaded guilty last Nov. 10 to using "cold tablets" costing them one cent apiece to fill a prescription by a physician for antibiotic tablets costing 41 cents each.

Diet for Teenagers

Scientific Snacks Cut Calories

By RUTH WEST

Science is just discovering what teenagers have known all along: snacking is A Good Thing. Now it's called Scientific Nibbling.

Experience in nutrition laboratories and clinics indicates that with these between-meal meals you want less food at the next meal. Even more important, they keep your energy and morale high during slump times.

★ ★ ★

So, eat often. Something that's fun to eat—and filling! Try low-calorie hot chocolate and a plateful of thin cookies—orange or lemon thins, or vanilla wafers (20 calories each). Or an apple and cheese with waferettes and coffee. Or a big dish of Sucaryl-sweetened canned fruit, with toasted coconut or "whipped cream" on top, and coffee.

CHEW GUM

Also, chew a lot. Privately. Yes, I'll say it: chew gum to get slim and stay slim.

Nothing you put in your mouth is as useful in helping you lose weight as gum.

Laboratory-proved fact: A stick of gum can temporarily "kid" your stomach into thinking it has had a small meal. And you get a quick lift out of the minuscule amount of sugar in a stick of gum (no flavor contains more than 7 calories).

Whatever makes you suddenly want to eat like crazy, can often be diverted or lessened by a stick of your favorite flavor.

★ ★ ★

There isn't a great deal of talk about chewing gum—but an awful lot of people do chew gum. President Roosevelt did it. Truman and Eisenhower do it. Herbert Hoover does it. J. Edgar Hoover does it. Movie stars do it.

So if anyone ever raises an eyebrow at you, just drop a name at them. Say "Yes . . . Eisenhower and I!" And then offer them a stick.

★ ★ ★

The next time you feel eager to sit down and stuff, play a trick on yourself. Drink lots of something that's low-calorie and pleasant-tasting. It will nip your budding appetite.

Suppose you've been working on sets for the school play all afternoon, and at 5 o'clock you leave school pleasantly tired, and aware that dinner's at least an hour away.

You say to yourself, "Oh, boy! Me for an ice cream soda. Now!"

NOT HUNGER

Is this hunger? Not necessarily. Chances are you're bonedry all the way down your gullet. All your stomach knows is that it's unhappy.

But what your body may really want most is a flood of pleasant-tasting wet stuff to refresh your mouth, to fill you up and wet you down, restore your juices. Plus some relaxation and rest.

★ ★ ★

Once at the soda fountain, you probably ask for a big glass of water along with the soda. Then you quickly proceed to suck up 450 calories in no time flat because they taste sweet. Wouldn't it be wiser to have the water, then a lemonade and skip 375 calories?

★ ★ ★

Here are some home-ground rules to make it easy for you to hit the liquids and cut calories.

Rule 1: Make it fun. If possible, have a soft-drink "bar" in the corner of the kitchen, complete with your mother's electric mixer and all the fixings on display. Have a bowl of fruit, cinnamon sticks, bottles of liquid sweetener, jars of crystal-sweeteners, garnishes. Also have tall glasses, mugs, a tray.

Rule 2: Keep the pantry full of sugarless carbonated beverages, flavored straws, assorted fruit flavors and fruit juices, sweetened without sugar. Also the low-calorie fruit concentrates, and dips of low-calorie ice cream for an ice cream soda.

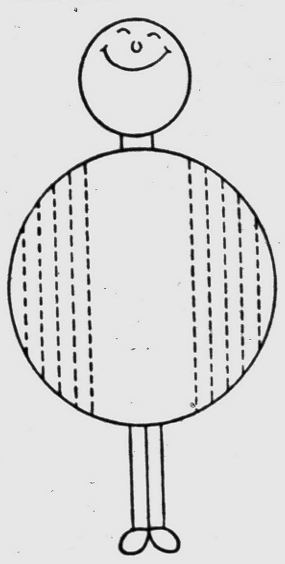
Rule 3: Keep saccharin in forms which dissolve in cold liquids as well as hot.

Rule 4: Don't forget sugarless chocolate syrup and low-calorie prepared cocoa mix.

Rule 5: For milk shakes, chocolate milk, and such, make a fractionated skim milk with only one tablespoon of fat-free instant dry milk to 8 ounces of water. This amounts to only 25 calories.

(Condensed from "The Teenage Diet Book." Copyright 1958 by Ruth West, published by Julian Messner, Inc.)

Tomorrow: Tricks versus treats.



Draw a circle about four inches in diameter. Make 5 vertical dotted lines ¼ inch from each side, add head and legs. And then, every time you shed a pound, clip off one vertical strip. When you have clipped off 10 pounds see how much taller and slimmer you look!

Glamor and Business Do Go Together

Pieces of Bacon Add Flavor to Salmon Dish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

This recipe for salmon loaf is unusual because it includes potatoes. It is really more of a casserole. Mrs. W. C. Robertson who gave it to us says she got it in a seventh grade cooking class.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robertson is the mother of two young children. Painting and gardening are her hobbies.

FINNISH SALMON LOAF
By Mrs. W. C. Robertson

8 medium potatoes
1-2 cups salmon
¼ teaspoon parsley or onion
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup milk
¼ cup bread crumbs
1 egg
¼ cup bacon

Peel and slice potatoes thin. Layer in a casserole with the salmon and the bacon. Fill with second layer. Add seasonings.

Mix egg and milk and pour over casserole. Top with bread crumbs. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Liz Taylor Only Part of Trouble

What Jinxed Debbie's Marriage

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Just how "ideal" was the so-called "ideal marriage" of Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher?

Obviously, any marriage that lasts only 2 years, 11 months and 15 days could hardly have been built on as solid a foundation as the public thought.

Yet it seems difficult to believe that Elizabeth Taylor was entirely right when she said: "Eddie's not in love with Debbie and never has been."

The truth probably lies somewhere in between. But the one fact that stands out is that the marriage was never as ideal as it was cracked up to be—except, perhaps, in the minds of fans.

Debbie and Eddie Fisher had many of the same problems that plague other young couples—and they couldn't overcome them.

DIFFERENT TASTES

There was, for instance, the problem of home life. Debbie liked it. She liked to cook and sew. Eddie preferred the high life. He told friends he didn't understand why Debbie had to make her own clothes.

Insiders know that Eddie made many a trip to Las Vegas during his marriage while Debbie stayed home.

"We've been having problems for a long time," said Eddie. "Our marriage would have come to an end even if I had never known Elizabeth Taylor."

There was the problem of different backgrounds.

Eddie, son of a poor Philadelphia vegetable peddler, came up through show business' school of hard knocks. Debbie came from a comfortable family in Burbank, Calif. She was voted "Miss Burbank" and easily landed a movie contract.

RELIGIOUS PROBLEM

There was the problem of religion. Eddie is Jewish. Debbie is a Protestant.

And, of course, there was Liz. Although she certainly cannot be considered the only factor in the divorce action—and although Debbie did not mention her in the divorce suit—her beauty is irresistible to most men.

With all these problems then—even before Liz came along—why was the marriage considered "ideal" by so many people?

One look at Eddie and Debbie provides the answer. They look like the cute boy and girl next door, and that's how millions of persons felt about them when they tied the knot in 1955.

★ ★ ★

The wedding was the American equivalent of the fairy tale come true. It took place at Grossinger's Hotel in the Catskill Mountains of New York, where Eddie had his first success and was discovered by Eddie Cantor.

It seemed perfect. Here were two fine looking young people, both talented and rich and famous. What could go wrong?

Insiders say it had to be wrong from the beginning.

"Eddie never was sure he wanted to get married," said one of his friends. "Debbie was always certain about it."

Eddie's statement at the time of the couple's estrangement supports this.

"Debbie especially has done everything possible to make our marriage succeed," he said. "I alone accept full responsibility for its failure."

SUCCESS FOR DEBBIE

After they were wed, a new problem was added. Eddie, although still a big star, was not as spectacularly successful with his records as in the past. Debbie's stock, meanwhile, was on the rise.

Then Debbie made the record "Tammy," which shot to the No. 1 place on the nation's popular song list. Eddie was reported flabbergasted at his wife's success as a singer—the only field of entertainment in which he had an edge on her. Debbie, however, told an interviewer:

"Eddie is the record man of the family."

★ ★ ★

Throughout their marital troubles, Debbie has refused to be bitter publicly about Eddie.

"I'm still very much in love with my husband," she said shortly before Eddie announced he was leaving her.

★ ★ ★

A few days ago, she said that she and her two children by Eddie "will have Christmas dinner at home. Naturally, Eddie will be welcome."

Public Invited to Dec. 14 Event

All-City Concert Slated

The annual Community Christmas concert will be presented by musical organizations in Pontiac at 3 p.m. Dec. 14 in Pontiac Central High School gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

Taking part in the festival of Christmas music will be music departments of Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern High schools, the Pontiac Women's Chorus and the MacDowell Male Chorus.

CHORUS NUMBERS

The Women's Chorus, under the direction of George Scott with Dorothy McKibben as accompanist, will sing "Sleep Holy Babe" (Snow), "The Caventry Carol," (Arranged by Scott) and "Hodie Christus Natus Est" (Sweelinck).

★ ★ ★

Melvin Larimer, vocal director at Pontiac Northern High School, directs the MacDowell Male Chorus, and Jerry Libby of the vocal music staff of Washington Junior High School is accompanist.

This group will present "Lo, How A Rose" (Praetorius), "Ave Maria" (Arcadelt), "O Holy Night" (Adam), and "Beautiful Savior" (Christiansen). Kenneth Young will be bass soloist.

★ ★ ★

The massed chorus, composed of some 900 high school singers will join the two adult choruses in singing two chorales from Johann Sebastian Bach's Christmas Oratorio, and the Hallelujah, Chorus from Handel's Messiah.

FORMER STUDENTS SING

Former students of the vocal department are once again invited to take part in the tradition of singing final numbers. Leonard Griffin will lead the audience in singing familiar carols.

The remainder of the program will feature ensembles, choirs and glee clubs from both city high schools. Directors for these selections will include Mr. Larimer, Doreen Voltmann, A. Michael Dempsey and George H. Putnam.

★ ★ ★

The program is open to the public and tickets are not required.

Mrs. Bert Anselmy, program chairman, introduced member Mrs. Donald Moore, who gave an illustrated talk on holiday decorations.

Accordion Recital Given in Pontiac

An accordion recital was presented Friday evening at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

The county Stancato Accordion Band also gave several selections under the direction of David VanKuren.

Mr. Mort's "Dandy Dress" of rabbit's hair and wool, has the feeling of the Directoire period. A saucy self-bow nestles in between a double collar. A matching self-band is set above the waistline. May be purchased locally.

The holiday party dress should be elegant but understated. This dress by Mr. Mort is of nylon lace and taffeta. The gathered skirt is cinched in with a wide, high Empire belt of matching taffeta. May be purchased locally.

Posture Important

Best Exercises for Face and Neck

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women have written to me lately asking me to give them a couple of the best exercises for the face and neck.

First let me say that posture, especially the way you hold your head, has a great influence on the chinline. If you habitually duck your head or stick it forward, you cannot possibly keep an attractive contour.

★ ★ ★

Remember, too, that your disposition and attitude toward life affect your facial contour. If you are grim and tense, the corners of your mouth will droop and you will likely develop a strong mouth-to-chin line. In fact your entire facial contour will droop more than it will if you are happy and relaxed.

Now for the exercises! For facial contour. Purse your lips. Draw the corners of your mouth back and up as far as you can. Continue pursing and drawing back. Do this very slowly.

★ ★ ★

Now add the following. While you do the exercise as described, move the lower jaw up and down in a quick chopping motion. Do not let this change the rhythm of the pursing and drawing back of the lips.

★ ★ ★

You probably will have to practice this. It is something like trying to pat your head and rub your tummy at the same time, but you can get the swing with a little practice. Apply a lubricating cream before beginning the exercise.

For the chin. Lower your head backward as far as comfortable or until you feel the muscles pull. Then lower head and touch it to the chest. Continue, slowly.

If you have a double chin, chew in vigorous and exaggerated way when your head is backward.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my exercises for the face and neck, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

It's Race Against Chilling

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a friend is having lunch with me and she is called to the telephone, is it proper for me to continue eating or should I wait until she is finished talking?"

Answer: For the sake of politeness, perhaps it would be better to wait until your friend returns to the table. But as no one can very well like cold food, I would suggest that you continue eating slowly. If she is kept very long, it would be best to have both your plates sent out to the kitchen and have them reheated.

"Dear Mrs. Post: After only two months of marriage, my wife died very suddenly. We had been living with her parents at the time waiting for an apartment, and therefore did not use any of the wedding presents but had them packed away until we were ready to use them.

"My problem is what shall I do with all the presents? I expect to continue to live at home with my parents. Should I return these presents, or should I keep them and divide them with my mother-in-law? Will you please help me?"

Answer: It is entirely proper that you keep them and put them away in the hope that you may again find domestic happiness.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have been having a difference of opinion about whether or not it is proper for a bride to display gifts of money — such as checks or bonds — with her other wedding presents. The bride in question did not and the donors were hurt. I always thought it was in very bad taste to display gifts of money. Will you please tell me if she was wrong not to display them?"

Answer: Gifts of money are not displayed, but checks are properly displayed under glass so arranged that the signatures may be read but not the amounts of the checks.

Zontians Hear Talk on County Youth Home

Mrs. Rebecca Gould of the Oakland County Youth Home discussed the program of the Home when Zonta Club met Thursday for a luncheon at Hotel Waldron. Mrs. Florence Doty was program chairman.

★ ★ ★

The speaker pointed out different categories of children with which the Home's program deals: dependents, neglected children, and delinquents. She described the various centers—the Children's Center, Franklin Home, Boys Ranch, and Camp Oakland—and explained the program of life, recreational facilities, and guidance offered by each.

Mrs. Gould sang the numbers, "They Sang That Night in Bethlehem," by Schubert, and "No Candle was There," by Lehmann.

Announcement was made of the Club's Christmas party to be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at Hotel Waldron.

Parents' Obligations Jefferson PTA Topic

Tom Massey of the Pontiac Urban League will speak when members of the Jefferson Junior High School PTA meet at 7 p.m. Thursday. "Parents' Obligation to the School" will be Mr. Massey's subject.

Members of the junior high band will furnish music at the gathering. David Simmons is serving as president of the Association.

WSCS Meets for Program

"Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas" was the theme of the program given when the General Women's Society of Christian Service at Central Methodist Church met Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Songs of many lands were sung by Mrs. George Putnam, Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks, and Mrs. Rose Jorgenson with narrations given by Mrs. Wesley Johnson, Mrs. Garth Sayer, and Mrs. Merle Smith. Mrs. Cecil Choate also assisted with the meeting.

All Saints Auxiliary Plans 'White Gifts'

Mrs. Russell Cowan, director of religious education at All Saints Episcopal Church, participated in the program when the Woman's Auxiliary met Thursday in the Rose Kneale Room of Stevens Hall.

★ ★ ★

The director outlined plans for presenting Christmas "White Gifts" to Williams House and St. Peter's Home, diocesan homes for girls and boys respectively. The project will be handled for the current year by members of the Church School and their families.

Howells to Celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. George Howell of Gillespie street will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house Friday evening at the Wilson street home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Howell. Mr. and Mrs. Howell have five other children.

For the girl who takes her vacation under the palm trees in the winter, a washable striped cotton knit is indispensable.

Stitch this arrow-slim skirt in less than a day—wear it for city, country, travel from now through next spring! Hip-tabs, front detail add to its smart air. Tomorrow's pattern: Misses' chemise dress.

Printed pattern 4854: Misses' maist sizes 24, 25, 26, 28, 30, 32. Size 28 takes 1¼ yards 54-inch.

Printed directions on each pattern part. Easier, accurate.

Send thirty five cents in coins for this pattern—add 16 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing. Send to Anne Adams, care of The Pontiac Press, 137 Pattern Dept., 243 West 17th St., New York 11, N.Y. Print plainly name, address with zone, size and style number.

Bazaar Slated by Methodists for December

Plans for a Christmas bazaar were completed when the Women's Society of Christian Service of St. Paul Methodist Church met Thursday.

The affair will be held Tuesday from 4 p.m. through 8 p.m. at the church. A snack bar will be open from 5 until 7 p.m.

Mrs. Dean Toles has been named general chairman for the bazaar. Other chairmen are Mrs. B. B. Johnson, Mrs. Allen Young, Mrs. Elmer Ritter, Mrs. William Gregory, and Mrs. Charles Butler.

Mrs. Adrian Thompson, spiritual secretary, presented a program entitled, "I Would Celebrate, My Lord," assisted by Mrs. William Gregory, Mrs. Ritter, Mrs. Robert Reynolds, Mrs. Easton Hazard, and and Mrs. Johnson.

Baptist Group Hears Address by Missionary

Mrs. William Hakes and the Rev. James William, missionary from Brazil, spoke when the Wayside Gleaners of First Baptist Church met Thursday.

Kay Underwood sang the Christmas carols, "Dear Little Stranger" and "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks." Mrs. Nellie Monroe was hostess.

Also assisting with the meeting were Mrs. I. J. Davis and Mrs. Kenneth Skrine, refreshments chairman.

Psi Chapter Fetes Mrs. Eddie O'Brien

A surprise birthday was given for Mrs. Eddie O'Brien at the Thursday evening meeting of Psi Chapter of Sigma Beta Sorority, held at the North Perry street home of Mrs. Morgan Siple Jr.

The Christmas party will be held Dec. 18 at the home of Mrs. Wallace Williams of Voorheis road.

Spadea's american designer pattern

If you're a petite size, you're in luck because you can whip up this Sylvan Rich party model (with only 5 basic pattern pieces!) in no time at all. The cummerbund, which is sitched into the sides, crisscrossed in front and hooked in back, is draped so as not to cut height.

★ ★ ★

The wide boat neckline reveals enough of your neck and shoulders to make you seem taller. The circular skirt gracefully camouflages a full hip.

Choose satin, faille, brocade, taffeta, peau de soie, surah or novelty cotton.

From this chart select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
10	34	25	35	16
12	35	26	36	16¼
14	36½	27½	37½	16½
16	38	29	39	16¾
18	40	31	41	17

Size 12 requires 5⅛ yards of 39 inch material for dress. To order Pattern 1289, state size, send $1.00.

For Martini Diminutive label, send 25 cents. For new 96 page Pattern Book 15, send $1.00. Address Spadea, Box 535, G.P.O. Dept. P-6, New York 1, N. Y.

If paid by check, bank requires 4 cents handling charge.

Oakland Avenue Church Group Elects Officers

An election of officers was held by the Ladies Aid Society of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church Thursday. The group met at the Wisner street home of Mrs. Lottie Waldon.

Mrs. Edna Matheny was named president of the Society. Others elected were Mrs. Ralph Osborn, vice president; Mrs. Foster Berdan, recording secretary; Mrs. Iva Vanderkooy, treasurer; and Mrs. Clarence Failing, corresponding secretary.

Cohostesses for the dessert luncheon served were Mrs. Elmer Stockwell and Mrs. Vanderkooy.

YWCA Announces Yule Party Events

The second annual Pontiac YWCA "Christmas Calendar," announcing the schedule of all parties for the various YWCA groups during the holiday season, has been sent to members.

The first event of the season is "The Hanging of the Greens," a traditional event in every YWCA around the world. It will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Friday.

After the Y building has been decorated, there will be Christmas story-telling and carol-singing.

PARTIES PLANNED

On Dec. 10 and 11, the Y will feature parties for nursery children. Mothers and other members of the morning classes will celebrate the end of the term with cooperative luncheons.

★ ★ ★

On Dec. 10, the YWCA sponsored USO Hostess Corps will hold its third annual holiday dance for men from the four bases in the area. The dance will be held in the National Guard Armory.

Annual Christmas Observance for members of the YWCA, their families and friends will be held during the afternoon of Dec. 14. The Rev. Francois Jochmans will speak, and there will be a gift exchange.

Golden Age groups will have their Christmas parties on Dec. 16 and 18. Mrs. Robert C. Anderson will give a Christmas talk for each group following their desert luncheons.

EVENTS FOR PATIENTS

Pontiac State Hospital YWCA group will have its annual Christmas party Dec. 17 with Y members as hostesses. YWCA board members will join convalescent patients following the board meeting, for refreshments and carol singing.

★ ★ ★

On Dec. 22, Junior High Canteen boys and girls will have their party and present the "Mitten Tree," the teenagers' service project for the Salvation Army. The mittens are for their distribution.

YW staff members and their families will hold their annual cooperative supper Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Activities during the week between Christmas and New Year will be mostly pajama parties for the various Y-Teen clubs.

Perk Up That Gloomy Kitchen

Drab kitchen cabinets, work counters and furnishings make a kitchen a depressing place in which to work.

Perking it up needn't be expensive. Plastic coverings, contact paper or a coat of paint will do wonders for a dismal room.

Tired of Writing Thanks Notes for Bouquets of Wilted Roses

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Every Thanksgiving my husband's boss, who lives out of state, sends me a huge bouquet of roses. They come from a local florist and do not have to be shipped any great distance.

ABBY

The roses they have sent me every year are the sorriest looking bunch I have ever seen. They are not worth arranging in a vase.

"I would be ashamed to have anyone see them, so I throw them into the garbage when I open the box. I write a nice note thanking this man for his 'lovely' flowers. I say we should write this man and tell him the truth about his flowers and my husband says we should skip it and say they are beautiful. What do you say?" DEAD FLOWERS

DEAR DEAD: I say a rose by any other name would smell—and so would the deal your husband's boss is getting from the local florist. Thanksgiving is an ideal time to talk "turkey." Tell him by all means.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. He is a bartender. He stands for eight hours behind the bar, then he takes his apron off and stands for another four hours on the other side. He never calls to tell me whether he's coming home for supper and our children never see him.

"He says I'm the best wife and mother a man could want and I get boiling mad at him, but don't like to show it in front of the children. He says he would like to improve, but he always gets 'tied up' with people after work. Can you help me." BARTENDER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You can help him by "calling for him" immediately after work, like a mother who goes to school to see her child safely home.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is not another woman, but a pipe! My boy friend is forever sucking that bloomin' pipe of his and it is driving me out of my mind. The noise it makes clicking against his teeth goes through me like a knife. He is either busy knocking the old tobacco out, or packing the new tobacco in or looking for matches. The aroma (once he gets it going) smells like a rubber boot burning. Am I extra fussy or do you think I have a real problem here?" ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: A young man could have worse habits. If you have designs on this man—don't complain, or your dream could go up in smoke.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I want your advice. I go once a week to visit a friend (lady) in a certain hotel. I sit in the lobby a few hours. There is a gentleman living in that hotel who doesn't take his eyes off me when I come in. He follows me and sits where he can look at me. Should I speak to him or should I wait until he speaks to me? I asked he girl at the cigar counter about him and she said he was 'loaded.'" ANXIOUS

DEAR ANXIOUS: Loaded? With money or whisky? If you can't arrange a proper introductions, do not speak to him.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO NATALIE: Your boy friend is suffering from "bone" trouble. Too much in the head and not enough in the spine.

Confident Living

Respect Opponents Also as Made in God's Image

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

DR. PEALE

When Pope Pius XII died the whole world — Catholics, Protestants, Jews and those of other faiths—mourned his passing. Many people felt as though they had lost a personal friend and, indeed, so many had. For one of the most remarkable facts about this great religious leader was his genuine interest in persons whether Roman Catholic or not.

The late Pope was an accomplished linguist and he talked to visitors in their native languages, asking about their homes and families.

All of us want to be liked. And one of the surest ways of having the regard of others is to develop a sincere esteem for the other fellow.

Many times people ask me why they are unpopular and not received warmly into their community or group. On the surface they seem attractive enough and there is no apparent reason for such rejection.

But time and again deeper probing into their minds will reveal a lack of respect for other people. They simply do not regard others as important or have any interest in them. There is no outgoing appreciation of persons with whom they have contact.

But study those who are liked in any community or organization and you will find they are people who demonstrate regard for others, who are kind and courteous.

A friend of mine was personnel manager of a firm in Connecticut. He was a huge man physically, a sort of easy-going likeable fellow. He got along with everyone, even with so-called "difficult personalities."

★ ★ ★

Part of his job was negotiating with the plant union officials. He was regarded as fair and honest in this capacity. Even in disagreements he was respected and genuinely liked.

★ ★ ★

One time the president of his company said, "Jack, I can't figure you out. In many ways you are just an ordinary fellow with a brain no better than average. But you've got something that other men in your line haven't got. You are one of the best men with human beings I have ever worked with. How come?"

Jack was rather nonplused. "I wouldn't know, Boss," he replied. "I guess maybe it's because I like 'em and I respect 'em too. I try to see every man at his best. They all have a best, you know, and that's what you've got to look for. Look for it and you'll usually find it."

Then his real secret came out. "I've got one little trick, only it isn't a trick, for I really mean it. When conflict begins to develop or I start feeling annoyed, I stop and say, 'This man is a child of God—this man is God's own, created in His image.' When I do that I can keep on respecting and liking the man, and we're usually able to work things out."

★ ★ ★

This may sound theoretical and fanciful, but I assure you that this gentleman was an extremely practical man. In fact, he was so practical that he had found and used the most basic principle in good human relations: simple and sincere esteem of the other fellow.

Young People to Present Drama at Vesper Hour

"Changed Into His Likeness," a dramatic presentation, will be given at the 7:45 vesper service Sunday in Bethany Baptist Church. Sponsored by the Bethany Youth Fellowship, the service is a part of the youth drama program.

Dr. Joseph I. Chapman will speak on "This, Above All Else" at the 8:45 and 11 a.m. services tomorrow when the Lord's Supper is observed. Youth assistants will be Mary Foren and Ralph Bergemann.

Pastors of the Detroit Assn. of American Baptist Churches will meet at 10 a.m. Monday in Bethany Baptist.

★ ★ ★

Friday, Dr. Chapman will represent the local church in Lansing where plans will be made for the 1959 summer camping program of the Michigan Baptist Convention.

★ ★ ★

Next summer he again will serve as director of the Senior High Camp at Lake Louise.

Pastor to Preach Series of Sermons

The Rev. Gerald W. Gibson, pastor of Central Christian Church, will preach a series of Christmas messages. His subject at the 11 a.m. service tomorrow will be "Preparation for a King."

On Dec. 14 his sermon will be on "Lineage for a King."

"The Birth of a King" will be the theme on Dec. 21, and the following Sunday he will preach on "Reign of the Kind."

Advises Wider Interest

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Catholics, if they want to convert Negroes to the faith, should be interested in their physical as well as spiritual needs, says th Rev. Patrick C. Mulloy, a St. Louis priest. "We cannot be interested only in the soul of the Negro and ignore his body."

A graduate of Detroit Bible Institute, the speaker is active in the field of evangelism and youth activities throughout the state. Before coming to Napoleon as pastor five years ago, he served pastorates in Florida.

Peek Behind Iron Curtain

CHICAGO (AP)—Back from a survey of Protestant church life behind the Iron Curtain, Dr. T. Otto Nall, editor of the Methodist Church's "New Christian Advocate," reports the churches there are carrying on "Timidly, tentatively, but tenaciously." He said there is less pressure on the churches in Russia than in Red-ruled East Germany.

World Harvest of Souls Sought

New York Group Plans Evangelistic 'Blitz' on Global Scale

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a phenomenon of these troubled times that more evangelists probably are drawing larger crowds than ever before.

And not the least of these evangelistic endeavors is being put forth by the year-old World Harvest Evangelism, Inc., whose ambitious goal is a united search for souls throughout the world.

World Harvest was founded last January in a New York hotel room. It was the brainchild of Francis Nelson, a department store executive and a Presbyterian. Nelson is president.

Right now, World Harvest teams are working among the half-million Spanish-speaking peoples of New York City, many of them recent arrivals from Puerto Rico.

A key figure in the current campaign is the Rev. Raymond Jimenez, a 22-year-old Puerto Rican who, less than seven years ago, was banned from his church in Brooklyn as an incorrigible juvenile gang leader.

Converted by his elder brother, Eugene, 24, young Jimenez studied for the ministry in Puerto Rico and recently gained stature as an evangelist during a crusade tour of Mexico.

Communion at Orchard Lake

Creche to Be Dedicated, Lighted Next Saturday Following Program

The Rev. Charles House, area representative for Alma College, will be the guest of Senior High Fellowship at 6 p.m. Sunday in Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services tomorrow. The Rev. Edward D. Auchard, pastor, will preach on "I Was a Stranger."

William Duckwitz, Noland Brown, Daniel Geisler, and Ivan Hulliberger will meet Tuesday evening to complete arrangements of the evangelism committee.

"Holiday House," a short play, will be presented following the 5 p.m. supper of the Junior High Fellowship Thursday. The theme will be Christmas.

The annual lighting of the Creche on the church lawn, sponsored by the Mariners group, will take place Saturday evening. Families will gather for a potluck dinner at 6 p.m. After a program of Christmas carols, the Creche will be lighted and dedicated.

Officers recently elected to lead the Mariners are Larry and Lucile Richards, skippers; George and Beverly Thalman, first mates; Bill and Marcia McHattie, pursers; Walt and Pat Johnson, log-keepers; Edward and Elma Auchard, chaplains.

According to Mrs. Alice Smith, organist and choir director, the annual Choir Festival will be at 7 p.m. on Dec. 14.

Dr. Heller Gets Alaska College Appointment

The Alaska Methodist University at Anchorage now has its second full-time staff member, an academic dean. He is Dr. Herbert L. Heller, associate professor of education at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

Dr. Heller's appointment was announced by Dr. Donald F. Ebright, Alaska Methodist University president. The new dean is expected to begin his duties in June, 1959, when he will move to Alaska. Dr. Heller, working with the trustees will have charge of the academic development of the university, including planning of curriculum and setting scholastic standards.

The Alaska Methodist University is being established under the auspices of the Division of National Missions of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Methodist churches across the country have, contributed more than $1,000,000 to the founding of the school, wihch will be the first four-year, church-related arts university in the new state of Alaska.

THE ADVENT WREATH — Lighting the first candle in the wreath which he made for the family observance of Advent is William B. Heaton of 6300 Anslow Rd., Bloomfield Hills. With him are Mrs. Heaton and the children (from left) Alice, Lucinda and Whit. A creche centers the wreath made of huckleberry leaves and evergreen. The candles are white. The family attends St. Stephan's Episcopal Church services held each Sunday in the Eastover School on West View drive.

Advent to Be Observed in Homes and Churches

Many churches which formerly paid little heed to the liturgical calendar have in recent years been emphazing the observance of the Advent season in the home as well as in church.

They are suggesting ways families can keep the real meaning of Christmas from being lost in the hectic round of shopping and parties.

One suggestion is to use Advent wreaths, a very old custom, for simple family worship services. The wreath can be any circular piece of greenery holding five candles and must be homemade. It may be used for a centerpiece for the table.

Each night when the family sits down to dinner, a candlelighting ceremony is held.

The first week of Advent, one candle is lit. The next week, two candles are lighted and so on. The fifth candle, usually larger than the others and in the center of the wreath, is lit on Christmas Eve.

With the candlelighting, prayers may be offered, verses read from the Bible or carols may be sung. Another thought is to have one of the children memorize and recite a Christmas poem.

The important thing is that the family pause for a few moments to think together about what the coming of Christmas means.

'Stones,' Sunday Theme

"Stones That Speak" will be the sermon subject of Dr. Harold C. DeWindt, pastor, when he preaches at the 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. services Sunday at Kirk in the Hills.

The Rev. Barton M. Lloyd, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Bloomfield Hills, said he is trying to plan Advent and Christmas observances so that all may take part. Directions have been mailed to members on how to make the Advent wreath and plans told for the special family Christmas Service on Dec. 21.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's is offering the congregation a chance to share Christmas with older patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

A box will be in the church tomorrow and Dec. 14 for men, women and children to drop their gifts. The packages should be wrapped in Christmas paper with a label telling the contents.

Suggested gifts are warm bed jackets, stretchy slippers, pocket combs, hose, head scarves, soap, jewelry, men's stretchy socks, ball point pens, bath powder, writing paper and coin purses with a clasp.

Moderator Elected by Japanese Church

The Rev. Keikichi Shirai has been elected Moderator of the United Church of Christ in Japan at the Tenth General Assembly of that body in Tokyo. He succeeds Dr. Takeshi Muto who has held the office for four years.

The new moderator is a graduate of Tokyo Theological Seminary and has studied at McCormack and Princeton theological seminaries in the United States.

He served as pastor of the Presbyterian-Reformed Church in Darien, Manchuria, for thirty years; was repatriated after the war and opened a church at Chiyoda, in Tokyo, where he is now minister.

The election of Moderator Shirai has recognized the third of the large denominational groups which united to form the Nihon Kiristo Kyodan — which then embraced almost all Protestant churches and organizations in Japan.

God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death.

Church Session to Receive New Members

The Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church will receive new members at 7:30 tonight.

The Rev. E. I. Watkins, pastor, will conduct a service of baptism at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, with the congregation welcoming the new members into the fellowship of the church.

Westminster Youth Fellowship is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Sunday followed by evening worship at 7:30.

A youth choir has been organized and the pastor is asking more young people to join. Practice is at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Missionaries to Egypt Speaking at City Church

Speaking at 7:30 tonight in the Beulah Holiness Church, 390 Osmun St., will be the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Cromer, home on furlough from their mission field in Egypt.

The Cromers will also be heard at the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services Sunday. The Rev. J. A. Burgess, pastor, said the public has been invited.

REV. HAROLD SECHRIST

Missionary to Speak at Alliance Church

The Rev. Harold Sechrist, returned missionary to Cambodia, will speak in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church at the 11 a.m., 6 and 7 p.m. services.

At the service at 6, he will show pictures of his work in the mission field.

A missionary for 21 years, he assisted in printing the Cambodian Bible in the native language.

During part of his term on the field, the Rev. Sechrist served as field chairman and helped to set up a new program for self-support, self-government and self-propagation within the national church.

Presbyterians to Observe Advent With Communion

Advent Communion services will be observed at First Presbyterian Church at 9:30 a.m. Sunday with the Rev. Galen E. Hershey giving the meditation, and at 11 a.m. with Dr. William H. Marbach leading the service.

The choir will sing "Did Not Our Hearts Burn Within Us?" an anthem written by Lyndon Salathiel, organist and choir director of the church.

"The Eighth Sea," a technicolor movie, will be shown at the monthly dinner of the Men's Club Wednesday evening. The picture is of the St. Lawrence Seaway with Walter Cronkite narrating the sound section.

George A. Dondero, former U. S. congressman of this district, will be guest speaker.

Official board meetings for the week include the Session on Monday evening and the Board of Trustees on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Cramer Smith will open her home to the Women's Prayer Group Tuesday morning.

The Women's Bible Class will have a Christmas luncheon at noon Thursday and in the evening Mrs. Earl Van Dyke will be hostess to the Yomar Group.

"How We Got Our Christmas Carols" will be the theme of the Pioneer Society Sunday night. Participating in the program will be John Huntzinger, Edward Bradley, Brenda James and Carol McFarland.

Roger Johnson will show slides on Africa to young people of the Tuxis Society Sunday evening. Taking part in the program will be Ronald Newman, Mary Wood, Judy Morse and David Ladd.

★ ★ ★

Christmas parties for children of the kindergarten and primary departments will be held Saturday afternoon.

Barge Hits 29 Points to Pace Romp for PCH

Pontiac Central Adds Second Win of Season in Easy Fashion

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It isn't often that a Detroit Catholic Central basketball team takes a beating as it was handed by Pontiac Central last night on the PCH court.

The Chiefs got off to a 11-1 lead and then strolled to a 69-49 decision with all-Saginaw Valley guard Charley Barge hitting for 29 points. It was the second win for PCH.

The 5-8 senior put on a fantastic shooting display in hitting for 12 field goals in 19 attempts including five straight as the Chiefs enjoyed a 27-point margin at one time in the third period.

Except for last night, every game in the series for the past four years has been a nip and tuck affair.

Ten Chiefs broke into the scoring column with junior Amos Bailey collecting 14 points behind Barge.

Catholic Central got the first point of the game on a free throw but did not score a field goal until nine seconds left in the first quarter which ended 13-3.

With a predominately sophomore-junior squad, Catholic Central had a cold first half hitting on only 16 per cent. The Shamrocks finished with 15 for 61 or a 24 per cent.

The Chiefs connected 27 times from the field in 67 tries for 40 per cent.

Playing without John Bandy, who is out with an infected foot, the Chiefs received good backboard support from sophomores Bill Pritchett and George Fed.

Forward Bill Hayward, who sat out much of the game with four fouls, scored only five points but grabbed nine rebounds to help the cause.

Barge, a mid-term graduate, had one of the best nights of his career. His spree of field goals came in the second period when he collected four straight and then hit on his first try in the third quarter.

Pontiac Central showed good speed and rebounding balance with Harrison Munson taking 11 off the boards. Munson has not yet been able to hit his form. He connected on three field goals in 11 tries and had nine points.

Next Friday night, PCH travels to Saginaw Arthur Hill to open Saginaw Valley competition. In league play last night Flint Central bombed Lansing Eastern, 72-42; Flint Northern defeated Port Huron 69-58 and Arthur Hill lost to Ann Arbor, 62-54. Bay City Central defeated Midland, 48-41.

Utica Defeats Romeo, 50-42

Utica's basketball team spoiled the dedication of the new Romeo High School gymnasium last night with a 50-42 triumph over the Bulldogs.

It was the 2nd setback in as many starts for Romeo and the 1958-59 season opener for the Chieftains from Utica.

A 3rd quarter slump actually spelled the difference for Romeo. The Bulldogs were behind by only one point at halftime, 25-24, but they managed just four points in the 3rd period while Utica was scoring 11.

Romeo cut the deficit to one point early in the 4th stanza, 37-36, then Utica pulled away for keeps. Reed Bannow and Bob Kleinow each scored 12 points for the Chieftains while Dave Watterson and Reid Olszak had 10 apiece for Romeo.

Waterford Bows, 42-29; Walled Lake Beats Milford

Skippers Tumble at Wayne

Waterford was good at the start and good at the finish, but a collapse in between times was enough to sink the Skippers in their 1958-59 basketball opener at Wayne last night.

The Skippers of Gerry Wallace mustered only eight points in the 2nd and 3rd quarters and the slump sent them down to a 42-29 defeat at the hands of the Zebras.

Walled Lake wrote another success story yesterday on its home floor as the Vikings came from behind to conquer Milford 52-47 for their 2nd victory of the season in the same number of efforts.

Waterford got off to an excellent beginning, scoring the first six points and holding an 11-8 lead going into the 2nd quarter. Then the Skippers mysteriously folded up for the next two periods.

The Skippers couldn't find the basket and didn't do anything else right either. They scored just two points in the 2nd period, a field goal by Dale Mahrle, and managed to collect only six in the 3rd stanza.

Wayne controlled the backboards during that stretch, scoring 15 points in the 2nd session for a 23-13 halftime bulge and adding 13 in the 3rd quarter to up its lead to 36-19.

★ ★ ★

The Skippers snapped out of their slump in the final period and outscored the Zebras, but it was too late to help.

Balanced scoring featured Wayne's attack with Chuck Thomas taking game honors on 11 points. Mahrle tallied 10 to pace Waterford.

Walled Lake really staged a first class rally to down Milford. The Redskins shot into a 22-7 1st quarter lead and still held the upper hand at halftime, 26-21.

The Vikings narrowed the deficit to 39-35 at the end of the 3rd period and evened the count at 41-41 early in the finale.

Bob Smith meshed a two-pointer to keep the Vikings square at 43-43, then Smith quickly netted two more fielders and Bill Allen bagged four foul shots to climax Walled Lake's long, uphill struggle.

Milford's cause was seriously damaged when Terry Anderson fouled out early in the 4th quarter. Anderson, John Sheffler and Terry Hoy each tallied 13 points for the Redskins. Walled Lake's Kirk Evans took game honors with 22 points and Smith caged 13.

★ ★ ★

It was the 2nd loss of the season in as many games for Milford under new head coach Denny Boyle.

Southfield Beats Ferndale, 49-42

OL St. Mary, Cranes, Bloomfield Winners

Orchard Lake St. Mary began competition in the Suburban Catholic League last night by whipping Royal Oak St. Mary, 53-33.

It was Chet Wlodkowski with 19 and Glenn Hass with 12 as the Eaglet top scorers. Bill Crawford had 12 for the Royal Oak team.

Orchard Lake had a 34-14 lead before Royal Oak scored 10 straight points to make it 34-24 but that was the closest margin.

Cranbrook and Bloomfield Hills scored their first victories of the season while Southfield was upending Ferndale, 49-42 in another area game.

★ ★ ★

The Cranes led at halftime 28-23 and fell behind 36-35 after three periods, but a last quarter surge gave Cranbrook a 52-44 verdict over Hazel Park.

Perry Williams hit 20 points to lead Cranbrook with Jim Zelter getting 11 for Hazel Park.

Bloomfield Hills trimmed Lamphere 45-30 with Bob Barrett collecting 15 points. It was 28-21 at halftime as Lamphere managed only two points in the first quarter and 19 in the second period.

★ ★ ★

Southfield was behind 18-9 after one period and 26-21 at halftime, but Ferndale's shooting became cold in the second half.

The Dales got only four points in the third quarter while the Jays were hitting for 14. Cliff Solberg led Southfield with 15 with Bruce Rogers getting 12 for Ferndale.

In another Suburban Catholic game, St. James nipped St. Rita, 40-39 with a field goal in the last five seconds. St. Rita led most of the way behind John Edion's 11 points.

Dryden Wins 27-26

Cold? 'Twas at Memphis

The lids seemed to be over the baskets at Memphis last night where Dryden took a 27-26 decision. Memphis hit on only 11 of 71 shots while Dryden connected on 10 of 50.

Memphis led at halftime by 9-7 and Dryden led 15-11 going into the 4th quarter. Gary Huard had 13 points for Memphis.

In other Southern Thumb games, Almont surged ahead in the second half to beat Armada, 46-37, and Brown City took a double overtime win over Capac, 39-37. Anchor Bay whipped New Haven, 51-44.

★ ★ ★

Dave Bishop and Jim Ostrander had 13 and 14 for Almont while Terry Wills got 12 for Armada.

★ ★ ★

Two free throws in the second overtime by Bob Fisher in the final 7 seconds won for Brown City. It was 37-37 after regular time, but neither team scored in first overtime. Snider had 14 for the winners, and Abraham 16 for Capac.

Holly, Northville Lose 1st Games

Annual Wayne-Oakland League powers Holly and Northville went down to defeat in their 1st start of the new hoop season last night.

Holly bowed at Fenton 59-55 in a nip-and-tuck struggle as Fenton overcame a three-point halftime deficit with some amazing 1st half shooting.

Sophomore Ron Moreland tallied 16, and George McDaniels 15 to pace Holly.

Northville was blasted by Willow Run, 71-49. The victors featured little sharpshooter Toby Scott, who hit 28 points. Jeff Goodrich canned 20 for Northville.

Cranbrook Wrestling, Hockey Teams Beaten

Cranbrook's wrestling and hockey teams finished on the losing end in season openers last night.

The matmen bowed to strong Hazel Park 32-16 despite pins by 165-pound captain Lee MacBride and Scott Romney, 145. Bill Black, Tom Vickers and Tom Mitchell had pins for Hazel Park.

Chatham Collegiate bombed the Crane hockey sextet 11-1 after starting out with a 3-0 advantage. Andy Billesdon scored the only goal for the losers assisted by John Waters.

Huskies Drop 53-46 Verdict to Rochester

Falcons Hand Scrappy Northern Cagers 2nd Loss of Season

By BILL CORNWELL

New Pontiac Northern still hasn't won a basketball game, but nobody can say the Huskies aren't trying.

What the northsiders lack in polish, they really make up for with determination and Rochester coach Gene Konley would be the first one to admit it.

Konley watched his Falcons turn on the pressure in the 2nd half for a 53-46 victory over the spirited Huskies last night on the Rochester court as Northern went down to its 2nd defeat in as many tries.

Northern coach Dick Hall was pleased despite the loss. He noted that his team's performance was better than Tuesday night when the Huskies bowed to Lake Orion 48-42 in their season opener.

Two of the sophomores praised by Hall, forward Mike Fedynik and guard Bruce Norton, sparkled from start to finish and Fedynik took individual scoring honors in the contest with 20 points. Norton bagged 13.

Three Falcons broke into double figures in the scoring column, headed by Eugene Hohf with 17 points. Lanky Gene Lothery netted 13 and Bruce Ennis made 10.

There was plenty of floor action but very little finesse. Both teams were guilty of sloppy play and a shooting performance by Rochester that was as cold as the Arctic helped the scrappy Huskies stay within range until the 3rd quarter.

The Falcons held a slim 11-9 lead entering the 2nd quarter and boosted their advantage to 23-15 at halftime.

Following intermission, Rochester's superiority asserted itself as the taller Falcons gained control of the boards. They had a 41-28 3rd period edge and increased their margin to 49-32 late in the finale.

Cage Faces Show Up! 3 Recognize Selves

Three basketball fans who had the shock of seeing their faces on the Sports page of The Press last Wednesday are now holders of tickets for pro or college basketball games.

After Tuesday night's basketball action, three Cage Faces were pictured in Wednesday's Press. Each of the three brought the photo of their face into The Press sports department before Friday noon and received a pair of basketball tickets.

"It was a shock to see my face on the sports page," said 15-year-old Mary Lou Schumacher of Lake Orion. Mary Lou's face was taken from the crowd and her expression indicated she was cheering wildly.

Another Cage Face was John Novak a 17-year-old Lake Orion senior. The third face showed up for her tickets with her picture but in the excitement walked off with the slip listing her name. She was from near Lake Orion.

Look at today's Cage Ace and Cage Face taken from games played last night.

Is it your picture? If so, clip and bring your face into The Press sports department and you can get two tickets available for any college or pro game. You must come in for your tickets by Tuesday at noon.

Scoreless 4th Quarter Dooms Brighton, 31-30

Brighton failed to score a single point in the 4th quarter, enabling underdog South Lyon to come from behind and nose out the Bulldogs, 31-30, in a non-conference high school basketball game last night at Brighton.

South Lyon trailed entering the 4th period, 30-23, but made an eight-point rally stand up as the cold Brighton team went scoreless while missing half a dozen easy layup shots.

Dondero Nips Kimball

Royal Oak Dondero won out over city rival Kimball 45-40 in a hard-fought contest last night which opened play for both schools.

Clarkston, Lake Orion Down SCC Opponents

By CHUCK ABAIR

Clarkston's 1958-59 hoop aggregation was unveiled in impressive style and Lake Orion posted a hard-earned 2nd victory in two of the feature games on the local hoop front last night.

The Wolves, with only two experienced hands back, walloped Ortonville 64-45 while Orion had to rally in the last quarter to nip Oxford 46-44.

Don Mauti, one of Oakland County's outstanding coaches, may have a team to be reckoned with at Clarkston before the season is too far along.

He admitted such newcomers as sophomore Bill Powell and fellow Jayvee graduates Larry Landon and Dick Caverly "had the jitters" in the opener but he was pleased with their performance.

Powell, an alert rebounder, poured in 13 points in the last half as the Wolves pulled away to match Ortonville's Ted Follis for scoring honors with 20. Landon and Caverly worked well on the boards and combined for 10 more.

Ortonville kept it close for the 1st half paced by Follis and Earl Richardson, who finished with 12. The Blackhawks led 13-12 at the 1st period but fell behind 29-22 at the intermission. Clarkston romped from then on.

Veteran guards John Parks and Bob Porritt kept the Wolves moving on offense and defense with Parks 2nd in scoring with 13.

Clarkston peppered the hoop for 98 shots making 26 for a 26.5 percentage.. Ortonville hit 19-for-59 for 32.2.

Bob Shuler's hook shot with eight seconds left pulled out the Orion triumph as the neighboring rivals staged a ding-dong duel.

The lead changed hands 12 times during the four quarters of action —four of the occasions in the final eight minutes.

Oxford had led 14-11 at the opening stanza, was tied 24-24 at halftime and went back ahead again 35-34 starting the final session.

Barry Sill caged 19 and Dean Callison 11 to lead the victors. Jeff Brady rung up 15, Doug Stott 14 and Norm Williams 10 for Oxford.

'NOW HEAR THIS' — New head basketball coach Jim Niebauer (kneeling at left) holds a "skull session" for his St. Michael club (most first stringers). Shamrocks were interested spectators at Tuesday's St. Frederick opener against St. Elizabeth, and the Mike mentor had plenty to say, in view of the fact his team opens its season tonight, with the Rams as opponents. Game takes place in Pontiac Central gymnasium. Time is 7 p. m. (preliminary) and 8:15, varsity. Players from left, are — Joe Heitjan, Tom Dabbs, Chuck Steinhelper, George Drake, Art Robak, Paul Harding and Pat Campbell.

Rams, Shamrocks Clash Tonight

Open Suburban Loop Campaign on PCH Court

Crosstown Rivals to Pit Veteran Quintets; First Tilt for Mikes

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac's two parochial cage rivals are at it again. Only this time they're getting off to a quick start in the business of determining who's the leader in the Suburban Catholic League title race between them.

St. Frederick, 3rd place finisher last year, is rated a slight edge over its north side rivals, St. Michaels, in tonight's curtain-raiser for both in league play. Shamrocks will be parading their 1958-59 team for the first time this winter, while Rams have already been tested, coming through with a 42-32 victory over Detroit St. Elizabeth.

However, this venerable cross-town rivalry, which also takes in football, is always unpredictable. While the St. Frederick teams hold a 20-15 edge in victories, they have run up against upsets on several occasions. This could be one of those times, as coach Jim Niebauer's club is quietly confident, they're ready to go all out on the big Pontiac Central hardwoods. A preliminary at 7 p.m. pits junior varsity teams of the two schools, with the varsity tilt set for 8:15.

Rams won both last year's games, 48-39 and 54-25.

Both squads have practically all of last year's starters back again.

Tonight's game will be Shamrock coach Niebauer's first as head mentor of the north siders. He has been an assistant until this winter, after taking over as football mentor this year. He succeeded the veteran Bob Mineweaser, resigned.

★ ★ ★

Shamrocks were interested spectators at Tuesday's Rams-St. Elizabeth game, and Niebauer said today, "We think we can make it interesting all the way. Freds are a good, fast squad and can be very tough." Rams' mentor, Gene Wright, reported his squad in top shape, "rar'n to go."

Both clubs were rated highly in pre-season prospects as potential title contenders, along with Orchard Lake St. Mary, which won its opener last night over RO St. Mary.

Here are the starting lineups:

St. Michael — Art Robak and Chuck Steinhelper, forwards; George Drake, center; Pat Campbell and Tom Dabbs, guards. Don Mountain is alternate.

St. Frederick — Phil Bieri and Joe Keller, forwards; Tom Derocher, center (captain); Steve Pocs and Jim Kennedy, guards.

Process of Elimination for Pan-Am. Games

CHICAGO (AP)—The process of elimination will be used to select athletes for the 1959 Pan-American Games to be held in Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

★ ★ ★

This announcement was made yesterday by Pincus Sober, chairman of the U.S. Olympic track and field committee.

The National AAU track and field meet in Boulder, Colo., will serve as the U.S. trials for the Pan-American Games and the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. track meet will serve as a stepping stone to the AAU meet.

The Olympic group met in connection with the current National AAU convention which will end tonight with a banquet.

It was also announced that the Pan-American team picked on the basis of the National AAU meet will be the same team which will face a Russian squad in Philadelphia, July 10-11.

Charles Werner of Penn State was named head track coach for the Pan-American Games by the Olympic committee. Werner will be assisted by Percy Beard of Florida, Bill Bowerman of Oregon and Ed Hurt of Morgan State.

Both men and women volleyball teams for the Pan-American Games will be selected on the basis of an open tournament in Des Moines, Iowa, May 6-9.

The 1959 National AAU senior weightlifting championship in Philadelphia next July will serve as trials for the Pan-American squad.

Jaycees Hope to Start Hockey at Walled Lake

The Walled Lake Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin a drive to start a hockey program in that sector with an organizational meeting Monday at 7 p.m. at the Junior High gym.

Plans call for the formation of a league for boys between the ages of 11 and 15. Two loops will be formed according to ages if enough interest is shown.

Anyone in the Walled Lake area interested in such a program is invited to attend the meeting. Al Ivy is chairman of the Jaycee drive.

Match Game Tourney Close

CHICAGO (AP) — A scant two pins separates the top three men bowlers after 12 games in the World's Invitational Match Game Championships in the Chicago Coliseum.

★ ★ ★

Lou Campi, the 52-year-old mason contractor from Dumont, N.J. had a slim one-pin lead over J. B. Solomon of Dallas, Tex., and two pins over former All-Star champion Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio.

Campi, a native of Italy who learned his bowling in the unorthodox "bocci" style, added a 1,286 yesterday to his first round 1,287 for a 12-game score of 2,573.

Solomon, a Texas bowling supply store operator, had 2,572, while the portly Hoover finished with 2,571.

★ ★ ★

Trailing this trio was defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis, who is seeded into the finals but most bowl through a 36-game qualifying round. Carter had 2,553 pins.

In the women's division, Jere Price, a 26-year-old bowling instructor, moved into the lead with 1,705 pins for eight games.

Two Americans Left in Victorian Net Tournament

MELBOURNE (AP)—Hampered by a pull thigh muscle, young Earl Buchholz of St. Louis was eliminated today from the Victorian tennis championships by Australia's Neale Fraser 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

★ ★ ★

Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., also was put out in the third round. He was beaten by top-seeded Ashley Cooper 3-6, 6-0, 6-1, 6-3.

Barry MacKay and Alex Olmedo, however, salvaged some American prestige by battling their way into the quarter-finals.

HOPALONG OUT WITH LEG INJURY

Lions Lose Cassady

Detroit Loses 4th Player in Past 12 Days

New York Giants Now Rated Favorites for Sunday's Game

DETROIT (AP) — An injured ankle will keep Howard ((Hopalong) Cassady out of the Detroit Lions' game with the New York Giants tomorrow.

The great little halfback sprained his ankle in a practice session yesterday.

"He went up in the air to catch a pass and he landed on Jimmy David's leg," said coach George Wilson. "We knew it was bad — a bad sprain if not a break — because he got sick right away."

Dr. Richard Thompson, team physician, said X-rays disclosed the ankle wasn't fractured. Thompson said there's an outside chance Cassady will be able to play in the Lions' season finale against the Chicago Bears Dec. 14.

★ ★ ★

Cassady is the fourth key player lost by the Lions in the last 12 days.

End Jim Doran has returned to his Iowa farm, limping on an injured leg. Tackle Gil Mains is recovering in a hospital from a knee operation. Tackle Bob Miller has a back injury and has to wear a shoulder-to-hip harness that restricts his movements.

Cassady's injury was a blow to Wilson. "I've never seen anything like this," he said.

Wilson already has had to resort to make-shift combinations to beef up the defensive line, owing to the loss of Mains and Miller. Now the offense had to be hurriedly adjusted.

Dave Middleton, who has been hampered some by sore leg muscles in recent weeks, will be pulled from end to take over Cassady's position. Perry Richards, a free agent signed by the Lions when Doran was hurt, will fill Middleton's spot.

Cassady and Middleton were the Lions two leading pass receivers, each with 23 catches. Cassady's seven touchdowns is high for the team.

New York, still contending for the Eastern Division championship was an early 2½ point favorite over the Lions. With Cassady out of action the odds should swell.

Upsets Akins in Battle of Welters

Jordan New Champ

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Youthful, unheralded Don Jordan of Los Angeles today reigned as the new welterweight champion of the world.

Jordan won a stunning upset Friday night over Virgil Akins of St. Louis, a veteran many astute boxing people felt would give the Californian a horrible beating.

But it was the other way around as the two clashed at the Olympic Auditorium before 7,344 fans and a national television audience in Akins' first defense of the crown won last June. The decision was unanimous, by a substantial margin.

★ ★ ★

Jordan, 24, a 3-1 underdog, got off to an early lead and never relinquished it. He never was in serious trouble and wound up giving the 30-year-old champ a bad beating.

Referee Lee Grossman under California's 10-point per round system gave it to Jordan 145-138; Judge Mushy Callahan had it 145-132 and Judge Tommy Hart 146-136.

There were no knockdowns but Akins survived a hectic bombardment in the 10th round.

Jordan, the boxer, also proved to be Jordan the hitter, and equal to Akins in rough-housing and brawling, which was the main offense of the Honey-Bear last night.

Jordan came up with a bad cut over the left eye — he said it was from a butt —and Akins' right eye was slashed and eventually reduced to a swollen mess in the 10th round.

★ ★ ★

Akins has a contract for a rematch within 60 days. The rematch may be delayed while both fighters' wounds heal.

Akins weighed 145½ and Jordan 145.

Jordan was lightly regarded despite his ranking as the No. 1 contender. He gained it by whipping Isaac Logart and Gasper Ortega.

Akins was the solid choice off his smashing knockouts over Tony De Marco and Vince Martinez the past year in his remarkable climb to the heights of the 147-pound division.

Pistons Defeated, 110-108

By The Associated Press

Frank Selvy, the Furman flash who couldn't make the grade with the St. Louis Hawks in the National Basketball Assn., is starting to pay dividends for the New York Knickerbockers.

★ ★ ★

Selvy, a former collegiate scoring champion and All-America selection, tossed in a 15-foot jump shot with two minutes to play to give the Knicks an uphill 110-108 victory over the Detroit Pistons last night. No other games were scheduled.

★ ★ ★

The triumph moved New York back into a first-place tie with the idle Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division race, each with 12-6 records. The Pistons remained second in the Western section, but dropped five games behind the pacesetting Hawks.

Selvy returned from the armed service last season and never could regain his scoring touch. He rejoined St. Louis this year, but the Hawks finally gave up on him and sold him to New York early in the season.

★ ★ ★

The Knicks overcame a 20-point deficit as they snapped a three-game losing streak. Detroit had built up a 55-35 lead before New York rallied and closed the deficit to 58-54 halftime.

★ ★ ★

The New Yorkers entered the final period trailing 82-79. With Ken Sears, Willie Naulls and Selvy finding the range, the Knicks opened up a seven-point margin. But the Pistons fought back and gained a 108-all tie with 25 seconds left on ex-Knick Phil Jordon's hook.

Selvy missed a shot with 15 seconds remaining, but New York grabbed the rebound and this time he didn't miss as he connecte the tie-breaker with a desperation leap.

★ ★ ★

Detroit's George Yardley, the defending league scoring champion, was high man with 24 points while Sears topped the Knicks with 23.

Central Wins, Huskies Lose

Both Pontiac Class A high school swim squads broke the ice on their 1958-59 campaigns yesterday, one winning and the other dropping its first test.

★ ★ ★

Central's Chiefs won at Ypsilanti Central 48-44. The new Husky squad bowed to Ann Arbor University High 50-36, in Ann Arbor.

Chiefs had five winners (including the 200-yard medley relay team). Top performer was Bruce Norvell, in his first varsity meet setting a new PCH record for the 100-yard orthodox breaststroke (1:13.1). He also swam on the winning relay team with John Blamy, Jerry Powers and Doug Roeser, who turned 1:59.1 for the event.

Other Pontiac winners were Dennis Roberts, 100-yard freestyle (60.4); Ted Gaensbauer, 200-yard freestyle (2:17) and Jim Gibbs, 150-yard indiv. medley (1:47.5).

★ ★ ★

Huskies had five wins; Tom Eley, 50-yard freestyle (27.9); Bill Ratliff in diving, 100-yard breaststroke (1:21.6); Gary Ross, 100-yard butterfly (1:11.8) and 150-indiv. medley (1:50.9). Northern led to the relays, but lacked depth in these events.

Jacobs Pace-Setter in Dorado Tourney

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP)—Tommy Jacobs, who forsakes the pro tourney here Sunday to hurry to California for his wedding, marched through the steaming jungles of the Dorado Beach Golf Club Friday in 68 strokes for a one stroke lead in the $30,000 Invitation Golf Tournament. He had a 139 total (71-68).

★ ★ ★

Second round scores for Michigan players included Walter Burkemo of Franklin, 75-74—149 and Chick Harbert of Northville, 79-71—150.

Italian Netters Lead Philippines

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Italy took a 2-0 lead over the Philippines in their Davis Cup interzone competition Saturday as Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli came through with straight set victories.

★ ★ ★

Sirola first turned back Raymundo Deyro 8-6, 6-3, 6-4. Then Pietrangeli, who only a few hours before the game was suffering from a back muscle sprain, whipped little Felicisimo Ampon 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

★ ★ ★

The Italians, winner of the European Zone need only a victory in the doubles Sunday or one of the two concluding singles matches Monday to qualify to meet the United States at Perth Dec. 19-21.

Tennessee Defeats Michigan in Meet

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Tennessee scored 14 points in the last four minutes and defeated Michigan 80-66 in the opening game of the Midwestern Invitational Basketball tournament last night.

Underdog Michigan used a fast break and deft passing in building up leads of seven points three times during the game. Tennessee, displaying a well balanced attack, offset the Wolverine attack with repeated scoring bursts.

Sophomore ace John Tidwell scored 24 points for Michigan and George Lee had 23. Tidwell fouled out with Michigan trailing by four points.

Gene Tormohlen paced Tennessee with 22 points.

Millington Falls, 62-61

Ed Gross let go at the buzzer and scored the field goal which gave Maple Grove a 62-61 victory over Millington last night.

Millington led all the way until Gross took his shot. Bill Sawyer had 22, Mike Zink 17 and Lyall Kirkey 12 for Millington. The Birkmeier boys, Mike and Wayne led the winners with 17 and 12 respectively.

Losing Spartans Drew 2nd Best Attendance

EAST LANSING (AP)—Despite a losing season, Michigan State's home football attendance this year was the second best ever recorded at Spartan Stadium.

The Spartans drew 295,938 fans to five home games. This compared with the high of 358,563 for six home games in 1957.

Home and away, Michigan State played before 484,864 fans in nine games, an average of 53,874 per game. The best average for a nine-game season was in 1956 with 61,336 per game.

A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted— When He Takes Part in Christmas Schemes!

With the advent of the Christmas Season, both business men and members of the public will be solicited on every hand both directly and by mail to help the "unfortunate" have a happy Christmas. Those of us who are able, would be derelict in our duty if we did not donate to help the needy have at least one day of happiness during the year.

But, let's don't be a Santa Claus to the promoters. They are master psychologists and always attempt to prey on the "milk" of human kindness and our generosity during the Christmas season.

Based on past performances the following are some of the Christmas schemes you may expect:

1. Solicitations by mail to help some underprivileged charitable or patriotic group in which the promoter gets the "lion's share" of the proceeds.
2. The same kind of scheme, based on the shipment of unordered merchandise, such as greeting cards, neckties, handkerchiefs, aprons, pencils, etc.
3. Attempts to sell advertising space in holiday issues of publications that have no established circulation and which is sold on the basis of helping some cause.
4. Sale by sidewalk hawkers of gift merchandise which can be purchased at local stores at much lower prices.
5. Solicitations for donations and prizes for bazaars by unknown religious groups to help the needy.

4 Satellites Circling Earth

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The apparent plunge to earth Wednesday of the Sputnik III rocket carrier today left four man-made satellites still circling the globe.

★ ★ ★

Three of them are American and one is Russian.

The lone Russian satellite still in orbit is Sputnik III, launched May 15. It is expected to remain aloft until January, 1960. It is in the conical shape of a nose cone and weighs an estimated 2,900 pounds.

One of the American satellites still in orbit is Explorer I, a tubelike object about four feet long. It is expected to remain in orbit for several years. It was launched Jan. 31.

Another is Vanguard, launched March 17. It is about the size of a grapefruit and equipped with solar batteries which have kept its radio functioning.

However, its signals are now weak. Smithsonan Astrophysical Observatory scientists explain that may be due to chipped windows designed to admit sunshine to keep its solar batteries charged. The chipping, they said, might have been caused by meteors.

That little satellite is expected to orbit probably a century. The final stage rocket which tossed Vanguard into outer space also is flying in orbit. This rocket tube is expected to stay up for several years.

★ ★ ★

The third American satellite in the sky is Explorer IV, launched July 26. It is expected to orbit for several years.

Shoots Wrong Man, Says 'Pardon Me'

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A stranger walked up to Guillermo Diaz Lopez as he left a neighborhood store, said: "Now I'm going to pay you for everything!" and started shooting.

Then the gunman realized he had the wrong target.

"Pardon me, I made a mistake," he said an ran off.

Diaz was in a serious condition.

London Smog May Be Killer

Britain Afraid Peasoup Following 1952 Pattern When 10,000 Died

LONDON (UPI)—A British scientist warns that the peasoup fog that has blanketed Britain for 25 days is turning into a killer smog.

The scientist was Dr. B. T. Cummings of the London's Bartholomew's Hospital which treated hundreds of victims in 1952 when a killer smog took the lives of 10,000 persons.

The disastrous smog followed the same pattern. London and the surrounding counties were blanketed for weeks by a crippling fog until coal and other fumes turned it into a death blanket.

Yesterday the heavy blanket covered 30 counties extending over an area of 28,000 square miles. Cummings said smoke pollution in the air over London had passed the safe limit.

"It could be the start of the same kind of smog we had in 1952," he said.

During those days Britons bought or were issued special smog masks to keep out the fumes floating in the yellowish smog but thousands of persons died of lung ailments caused by or worsened by the polluted atmosphere.

The Royal Automobile Club reported yesterday that motoring conditions were "chaotic" in the 28,000 square miles covered by fog. Abandoned cars lined murky roadsides, and the RAC said hundreds of motorists in London alone abandoned their cars rather than try to crawl home.

The fog also disrupted rail services, caused huge jams in the subways, delayed bus timetables and wrecked airline schedules.

London Airport was fogged in again and the gray murk closed the city's new alternate airport at Gatwick. Continental and overseas airliners were diverted to Manchester in the north of England and to Prestwick in Scotland.

British railways organized emergency "train lifts" to ferry air passengers back to London.

In a public opinion oll in Sweden, about 30 per cent of those questioned said the United States is the country they would most like to visit.

Couple Uses Cat Motif in Their New Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Jim and Pat Lobdell are a young couple who have used imagination to make their home interesting. They live in a new brick ranch house in Wolverine Lake Heights, a house that is just like all the others in the subdivision. By putting their own stamp of individuality on their home, they have made it outstanding.

We musn't forget Monotonous, the gray cat, who is very much a part of the Lobdell family. Not only are the Lobdells fond of their pet, but they like cats in general and have used them as a decorative motif in some instances.

As you approach the entrance you notice a ceramic tile mounted on the corner of the house. The figure on it is a huge cat. This is the first indication of how much Mrs. Lobdell who is an art teacher has been responsible for the home decorating.

Inside the door is a tiny vestibule with a coat closet built into the chimney wall. All the homes in this area have fireplaces that open in two rooms. The chimney makes the dividing wall.

The living room has a cathedral-type ceiling with the front windows marching right up to the peak. These windows are curtained in semi-sheer white textured material. There is a fourth window on the side wall.

CONTRASTING WALLS

This side wall is painted white, then stippled in gold. (P.S. A sponge was used for stippling). Two other walls, the ceiling and the ceiling beam are green. On either side of the fireplace paper in a wood design has been used. The carpeting is a gray-green tweed.

Shelves are mounted on the end wall. Narrow ones hold books, while a wide one below has both the television set and a record player. On the other end wall there are a number of Mrs. Lobdell's paintings.

Furniture includes a rust and black tweed sectional sofa in front of the big windows; next to it is a spinet piano. On one side of the fireplace is a blond arm chair with green upholstery. One other chair has a wooden frame and black cushions.

The glass topped table has a planter underneath. The bench near the front door is tiled in mosaic. Light comes from an Oriental lantern fixture suspended near the TV.

While the chimney in the living room is the original red brick, in the dining room it has been painted white. The wall opposite the fireplace looks like a second brick wall—until you get right up to it.

Then you see that the "bricks" are short pieces of lath mounted on the wall in regulation brick pattern and painted white. Above Mrs. Lobdell has a gorgeous array of green plants—all painted on the wall. Other walls are green. Below is a plastic brick planter with real plants on it.

Natural color draperies cover the floor length windows in this room. In the corner there is a pole lamp.

The round table is walnut and the walnut chairs have white plastic seats. In the glass topped buffet there are white dishes displayed.

The kitchen has a corktone tile floor. Three walls are creamy color while the ceiling is green. The wall next to the dining room is papered in a bamboo print. Suspended from the ceiling near the door is a bird cage hanging planter.

ANOTHER CAT

The curtains at the one window are green with a black cat design in one corner. Monotonous has his basket in the adjoining room.

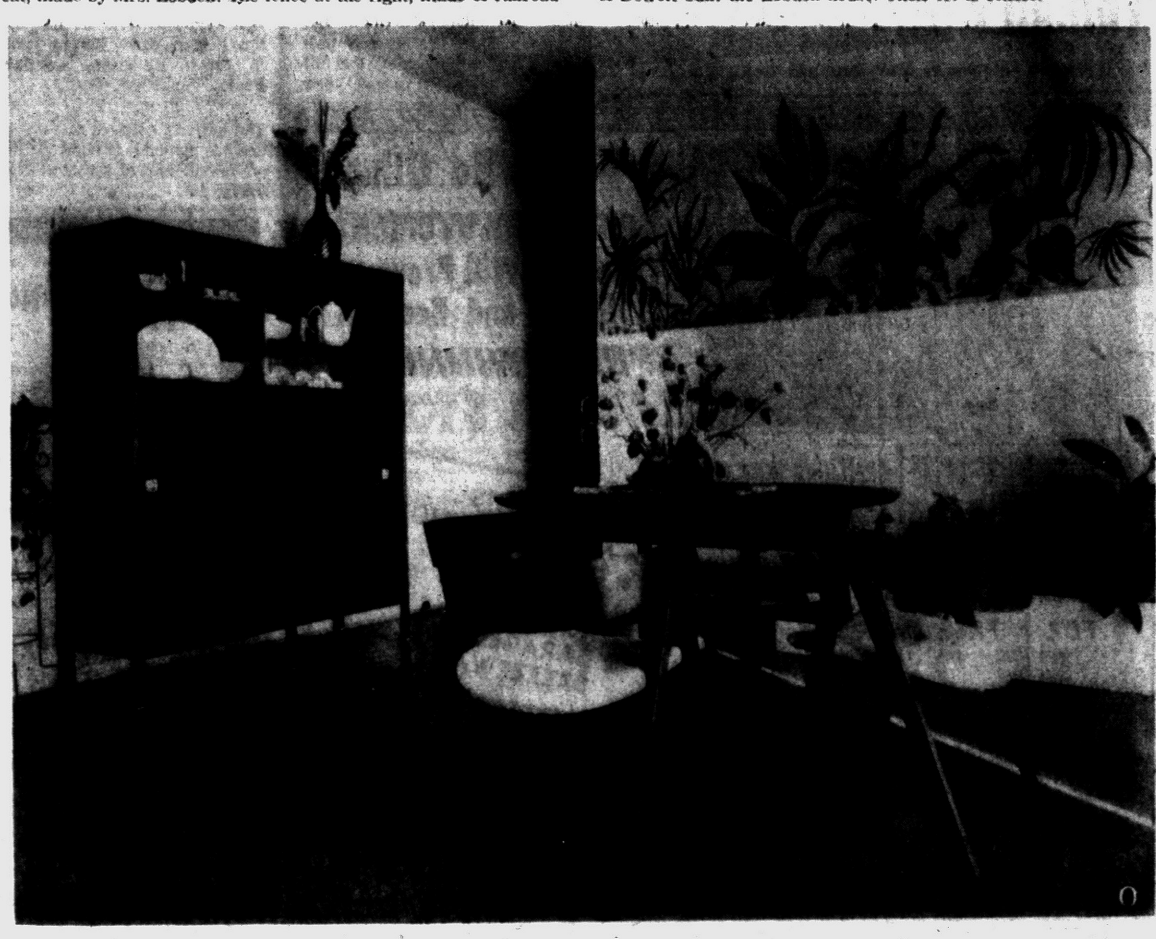
IN WOLVERINE LAKE HEIGHTS — The James Lobdells have lived in this brick ranch home for a year and a half. Their house is red with white trim. On the corner near the front is a large tile cat, made by Mrs. Lobdell. The fence at the right, made of railroad ties, was put up by the neighbors after Jim Lobdell was in a serious accident and not able to do the work himself. Tilchen-Aaron of Detroit built the Lobdell house. Their lot is 90x135.

HER WORKROOM — One of the bedrooms is Patricia Lobdell's studio. She chose the room with north light, then painted the walls pale blue. Curtains are blue and black striped denim with a black valance. Her work bench is a blue board, with black curtains below. Like the cook who's efficient, Mrs. Lobdell keeps all her supplies in apple pie order and right at hand.



THEY LOOK REAL — The greenery Mrs. Lobdell painted on one of the dining room walls certainly looks real. That wall below them looks real too, doesn't it? Mr. Lobdell did a good job of mounting the lath in brick pattern to simulate bricks. All the dining room furniture is walnut. Chair seats are white plastic. Not seen in this picture is the white fireplace wall. The bedrooms are down the hall at the left.

PASS-THROUGH WINDOW — This part of the working counter is open at the back, making a pass-through to the living room. The Lobdells use the counter as a breakfast bar. The rush topped stools fit easily underneath. Cabinets are natural finish birch. That's coffee-perking for everyone, with the cups all set out. In the distance at the left you can see the sun streaming in through the big living room windows. This is a bright cheerful house.

THE MAN OF THE HOUSE — Relaxing in his easy chair beside the fireplace is young Jim Lobdell. He's a record collector and spends hours listening to his jazz records. This view of the living room was taken from musical end of the room. Piano, hi-fi set and television are grouped at one end. Mrs. Lobdell painted the pictures on the wall and made the tile top of the bench below. Notice how the wood design wallpaper contrasts with both the painted walls and the brick chimney. That's the front door in the background.

ANYTIME SLED — In a way this could be called a year-round sled, or a sled for any climate. In the summertime when there isn't any snow, you simply put on the wheels and you have a sidewalk coaster. If and when snow comes along just take off the wheels and you're ready for business. It's a convertible — you get two things for the price of one. It's an easy project. You simply trace the full size patterns on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. The pattern, which is designed to be used by inexperienced amateurs, lists the required materials and gives easy to understand directions. It's a sturdy design and will last for years. The front runners are on a swivel, which makes it easy to steer and safe to operate. To obtain the full size sled-wagon pattern No. 168 pictured here send 75c in coin to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

The nation's colleges and universities are planning to build 172 new physics buildings at a cost of $240,000,000.

Sound Proofing Home Means More Quiet

Most families just don't stop to consider the problem of noise when they look at a new home. They'll measure for closet space, room size, water pressure, traffic flow, and the like, but they will ignore the fact that a house can be a very noisy place, especially with a few youngsters around.

What can be done about it? In the current issue of a home magazine, there's an article that outlines a number of steps that can be taken to silence the din.

Since much of the noise stems from activities outside the house, the windows can help noise in or help to keep it out. In the summer, of course, the windows are open, unless you have air-conditioning, but in winter when most are closed, a double-glazed window will keep out exterior noise. Surrounding the house with thick hedges or building a wall close to the house or to the lot line will also prove helpful.

In today's lightly constructed houses, it's the noise that's transmitted from one room to another that usually causes the greatest annoyance. One type of inside noise is air-borne sound. Another is impact sound, which is transmitted through the floor and wall when a blow is struck.

When building, the best way to stop noise transmission through walls is to build them of heavy insert materials and, if possible, provide complete separation between exterior surfaces. In older houses, the best way to soundproof is to simply add to the thickness of the walls by applying sound deadening material.

Floors in older houses can be treated the same way . . . by adding to the thickness of the ceiling under the floor. And doors, which leak more sound than one might suspect can be treated by weatherstripping them to make sure they are tight.

Controlling noise within a room is mostly a matter of eliminating excess hard surfaced wall, floor or ceiling area. This is the type of bedlam that's most irritating, and, fortunately, it is easy to cope with. The article recommends installing some porous surfaces that will absorb the sound . . . acoustical ceiling and wall tile, extra draperies, a rug on the floor are all effective when it comes to absorbing sound.

all yellow. Counter tops are gray Formica in the linen wave pattern.

The wall between kitchen and living has an open counter. This is handy for serving refreshments to guests and as a breakfast bar. Two high, rush-topped stools fit underneath the counter.

The bathroom has sandalwood walls and a beige rug. There's a pair of basins in the gray topped vanity. Instead of curtains Mrs. Lobdell put up a matchstick bamboo shade.

One bedroom is Patricia Lobdell's studio. The windows face north. Blue and black striped denim curtains hang at them. Walls are blue.

There is a long work bench on one wall. Painted blue, it has black curtains attached to it to conceal underneath storage space. Above are more shelves for supplies. Mrs. Lobdell has her own kiln in this room.

Their bedroom has brown walls and a beige rug on the floor. Spread and curtains are a brilliant tangerine. The furniture is walnut in a pewter finish.

Tilchen-Aaron built the house. The Lobdells have been residents since April of last year.

Winter's a Good Time to Apply New Roof

In most parts of the country a new roof of asphalt shingles can be applied in winter as well as in other seasons, says Andrew C. Lang, author of the book, "Home Repairs."

One advantage of reroofing in winter, says Lang, is that work schedules of roofing contractors are not as heavy in cold weather as they are during the warmer months.

No Mortgage Mystery

There should be no mystery about mortgage loans. Current F.H.A. rules, for example, allow for a minimum down payment of 3 per cent of the first $13,500 of the home's price, plus 15 per cent of the next $2,500 and 30 per cent of the remainder to a maximum of $20,000. On an $18,000 home, explain mortgage experts of Allied Chemical's Barrett Building Materials Division, this would mean a minimum down payment of $1,380.

Wood Allows Individuality

When using wood, there is a great deal of opportunity for the home-owner to express individuality. For instance, any of the 10 species from the western pine region is available in knotty or clear grades. Each species has its own characteristic grain and tone and, in knotty grades, a distinctive knot pattern.

In the natural state, the woods range from the very white of Idaho white pine and the bright white of Englishmann spruce through the pale straw of ponderosa pine. On the darker side there are larch, incense cedar, and inland red cedar. Other species that may be stocked by the lumber dealer include white fir, Douglas fir, sugar pine, and lodgeploe pine.

However, the natural tone is of lesser importance if the paneling is to be stained. Brush-on-wipe-off finishes are attracting a great deal of attention because they permit paneling to be stained to any desired color and still show its grain and knot pattern.

Width of the paneling, methods of installation, and patterns at the joint provide additional means of giving distinctive touches.

Paneling from the western pine region is available in widths of 6, 8, 10, and 12 inches and sometimes narrower or wider. A more sophisticated effect is achieved with wide pieces installed in uniform fashion. On the more informal side are combinations of two or more of the narrower widths.

Widths may be alternated regularly in progression—6, 8, 10, 12; 6, 8, 10, 12—or in a step-up, step-down pattern—6, 8, 10, 12, 10, 8, 6. For maximum informality, there is a catch-as-catch-can random width, taking the boards as they are picked up.

Another opportunity for expressing individuality is offered in the choices of patterns at the joint. Among the most popular patterns, V-joint and bull-nose express simplicity; the butterfly and double butterfly are more ornate.

★ ★ ★

With the advice of any lumber dealer, attractive walls to suit any taste can be created in any home.

A good rule in painting is to paint a side of the house just after the sun has passed over it.

MOSAIC TABLE — The mosaic coffee table pictured here with NBC's television actress pretty Yvonne Lime was made with tile. It's probably the most fun and easiest project that we have ever shown. To make it you merely trace the full size pattern on plywood. This gives you the outline for sawing out the table top. Once you have the designs traced on the plywood, placing the different colored tile in them is no trick at all. The colors used on this table are orange and green with a yellow background. Of course, when you build it yourself, you may use any combination of colors that you like. We used the do-it-yourself type of legs on the table because they're good looking, cost very little, are easy to install, and can be purchased anywhere. The full size pattern gives complete step by step directions for building the table, laying the tile and installing the legs. A series of pictures is included which illustrate the different steps. And, of course, a list of required materials comes with each pattern. To obtain the full size mosaic coffee table pattern No. 190, send $1 by currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

How You Can Build Target for Snowballs

Boy plus snow equals snowballs. That bit of wintertime algebra will soon be in evidence.

The youngsters will save wear and tear on windows — and each other — if they have a target away from the house for snowball marksmanship practice.

You or the youngsters can build a sawhorse-shaped wood frame against which you can lean a sheet of ¼-inch-thick tempered hardboard. Paint a bullseye target on this weather-resistant hardboard and give each ring on the target a value so that scores can be kept.

Saw out the center of the bullseye if you like, and let the "winter league" pitchers try to throw their snowballs through the opening without touching the sides.

Don't throw it away when spring comes. Save it as a target for slingshots.

Test Paint on Paper; You May Not Like It

To paint over wallpaper successfully, first make a test application on a square yare or two, of the papered wall area. This will determine for you if the coloring matter in the paper bleeds into the paint, if embossed patterns show through, or if the paint loosens the paper.

If any of these things happen, you'd better remove the wallpaper with a steamer, then wash off any remaining paste with water. Fill all cracks with plaster or putty before painting.

Proper Roof Drains May Dry Basement

One possible cause of wet basements is the lack of roof draining products or improper installation of these products.

On houses not equipped with gutters and downspouts there is a good chance that the foundation is not properly tiled either. This condition can lead to excessive moisture around the foundation and water seepage into the basement.

Properly installed roof drainage products carry water from the roof to the storm sewer or away from the house and thereby insure elimination of pools of water at the foundation which can cause trouble.

If downspouts and gutters can be installed now, it will eliminate the water puddle problem on the lawn below the eaves of the roof when the Spring rains arrive.

An inexpensive way to prevent unpaved walks from becoming muddy during wet spells is to cover these paths with roll roofing or sheathing.

Imagination – and Ceiling Soar in New Home

By DAVID L. BOWEN

A cathedral ceiling and graceful second floor balcony overlooking the mansion-like dining and living rooms are two of the spectacular features of this back-to-front split-level.

When you add a study (or playroom) with its own fireplace and a two-room-and-bath master bedroom suite you begin to get an idea of the luxury built into this moderate sized home.

Designing "up instead of out" enabled Architect Herbert W. Neumann to crowd a great amount of well-utilized space into a house that looks and sounds more expensive than it actually is.

Even if you don't think you can afford it now, a family with a breadwinner on the way up might keep this plan in mind. Only 35 cents will bring you a "baby blueprint" detailed enough for a cost estimate and easily filed away for future use.

The two-story front gives the house an air of dignity and prestige. But it stands low enough to fit in well in a modern suburb where surrounding homes are low and sprawling.

The plan is X-35 in the House of the Week series of custom architect-designed homes and offers 10 rooms plus spacious foyer and 2½ baths.

Here are the details, area by attractive area:

ENTERTAINING ZONE

Almost the entire length at the rear is given over to a striking combined living and dining room, with a dramatic fireplace wall climbing 17 feet up to the sloping cathedral ceiling. Adjoining the fireplace, a wall of glass also stretches from near the floor all the way to the ceiling.

The room is further dramatized by a balcony hallway running half its length at the bedroom level. A graceful stairway leads from this balcony down into the living room.

Opposite these features of the interior wall, two large glass openings let in the outdoors. One wide window is at the dining end, and sliding glass doors open on the rear terrace at the other end.

A spacious flagstoned foyer provides access from the front entrance to the breath-taking entertainment area. Three wide steps lead up from the foyer, bounded on the right by a brick planter extending from the fireplace wall. A powder room opens onto the foyer just inside the front door.

The principal informal room is the cozy study or playroom to the right of the foyer. If there are teenagers in your family, this room — which has its own fireplace — is bound to be popular. It can just as easily double as a card room, library or rumpus room.

The breakfast room at the rear of the house is filled with light from the corner windows and separated from the kitchen by only the range counter, conveniently located for ease in serving and clearing.

SLEEPING AREA

Architect Neuman realized that one of the major drawbacks of the bedroom balcony in many homes employing this dramatic detail is the fact bedroom traffic is visible from the downstairs. He overcame this fault by placing the bath and bedrooms in such a way that once the children have retired, they can visit between rooms or use the bath without coming into view from below.

The master bedroom not only has its own private bath, but a dressing room beside. The dressing room is a luxury feature that costs little extra since it occupies space above the kitchen that would otherwise be dead storage.

A 16-foot laundry area, with a hobby bench and ample storage space, is located to the left of the foyer. A dutch door leads outside, and another door to the garage. The stairway to the basement is handy both to the kitchen and the laundry area.

Four large closets make it easy to keep cleaning tools out of sight at one end of the foyer.

★ ★ ★

All told, there are 12 closets in the house.

EXTERIOR DETAIL

Stone veneer is used all around on the main level. Contrasts of vertical siding with battens are employed on the upper level and garage. It has an asphalt shingle roof. An added feature is a pleastic "skydome" set in the roof, shedding light over the stairway to the bedroom level.

★ ★ ★

The house measures 49'6" by 45'6" over-all, including garage. Square foot area of the first floor is 1,594. There are 878 more square feet on the bedroom level. Garage covers 440 square feet. The house requires a plot at least 60 feet wide, more in some areas.

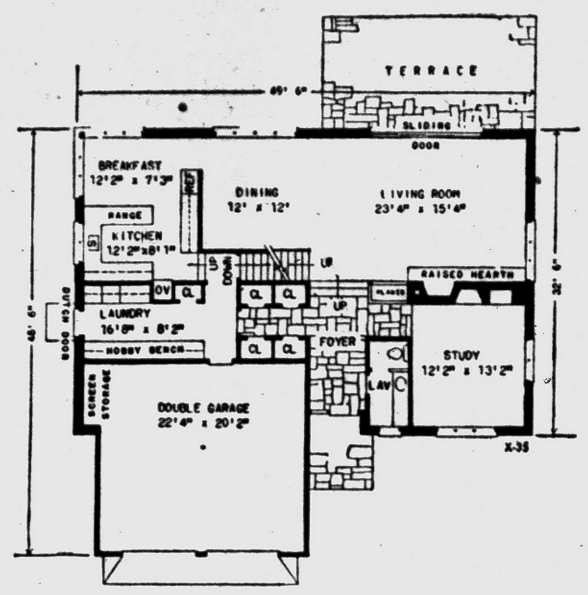
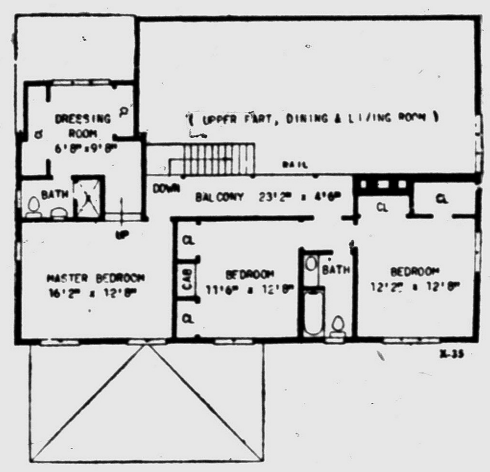
CITY..... STATE.....

LUXURY LOADED — This unpretentious house packs a whale of a lot of spacious elegance into a modest-appearing exterior. It's a back-to-front split, with a cathedral ceiling and over 35 feet of dining and living room space.



LOWER FLOOR PLAN — This shows the spacious entrance foyer leading to the tremendous dining room-living room area. Note that the study as well as the living room has a fireplace.



SECOND FLOOR PLAN — The destruction of bedroom privacy often occurring in homes with this type of cathedral ceiling was avoided in this plan by clever positioning of bedrooms and bath. The master bedroom suite occupies one end of the house.

Peg-Board Displays Intrigue Children

Children will enjoy a display center in their bedroom for pictures, newspaper and magazine clippings and other paraphernalia that accumulate through the years.

A versatile and attractive area can be built by installing a panel of Peg-Board, a predecorated hardboard that is available in plain colors, woodgrains or marble patterns. This paneling can be used to match or contrast with the rest of the room. Its smooth plastic finish can take plenty of hard wear, and it can be kept clean with a damp wiping.

To gain a rich copper color, mix a chrome yellow paint or enamel with a small quantity of burnt sienna color-in-oil.

Hardboard Suits Need of Bathroom Decor

A wainscot of hardboard paneling in a distinctive marble pattern will establish a dominant and attractive decor in a compartmented bathroom. The upper walls can be paneled with soft pastel colors to establish a pleasant contrast in the bathroom.

Predecorated hardboard has a smooth plastic finish that resists water, mercurochrome stains and other things that would mar other wall surfaces.

Top-Rated TV Program Ignored Skeptic's Advice

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "Don't do it, Chuck. Westerns are going to be glut on the market. You'd be crazy to do your own TV Western."

This earnest advice was given to ex-baseballer Chuck Connors early this year, and he studiously ignored it. Good thing too. His show has turned up a winner.

The Rifleman is one of the few new shows of the season to break into the golden circle of top-rated programs. In just a few weeks, it has mounted to the top 10 in many of the ratings and shows signs of staying power.

Chuck is just as amazed as anyone.

"We are opposite stars like George Burns, Garry Moore and Arthur Godfrey in different parts of the country," he said. "These performers are real pros, yet we are beating them on the ratings.

★ ★ ★

"What's the answer? I think we have a high-quality show, but it isn't as good as all that. The answer must be that the audience really likes Westerns, no matter how many of them are on the air."

Lanky, self-assured Connors admitted that he took a chance in accepting the series. He had been averaging $35,000 a year in film and TV work and had just finished the best role of his career in "The Big Country." When the producers came to him with the Rifleman deal, he told what his terms would be. They were high.

★ ★ ★

"The most I ever made for the Cubs was $6,500 one season," he said. "Baseball's highest - paid player is Ted Williams, who earns maybe $150,000 a year in salary and his outside interests. I should be able to make more than that with the series over a three-year period."

And he could last longer too.

Civil Rights Plan Liked by Truman

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says he liked the 1956 Democratic party civil rights program and hopes a similar one will be adopted at the 1960 Democratic convention.

Truman told a news conference Friday before heading by train for Washington:

"I think the civil rights plank we had in 1956 was a good one. The South stayed with it and it will again. It will be a strong plank. You can be sure of that."

Truman also reiterated a prediction that the South will not desert the party as a result of turmoil over school integration.

People are doing their Christmas shopping so early these days, the next thing you know Santa will be tossing out the first ball of the baseball season . . . Censorship in movies is just a case of stop, look, and less sin. —Earl Wilson.

Holds Grudge, Starts Fire in Teacher's Desk

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — An old fashioned tack in her seat wouldn't do for an 11-year-old elementary school pupil with a grudge against his teacher.

The youth, whom the Belle Morris School declined to identify, set a fire in the teacher's desk drawer which resulted in an evacuation of the building.

The 700 pupils were cleared from the school in two minutes yesterday after the blaze was discovered in a second floor classroom. No one was hurt.

The blaze was set in the bottom drawer of a wooden desk. The only damage was the scorched desk.

Earl Treks Off to See Mansion in Memphis

By EARL WILSON

MEMPHIS — There were two men in light uniforms at the gate of the driveway leading up to the Elvis Presley mansion—and on their shirts were the big letters, "E.P."

WILSON

"No, suh, you can't come in," they told the wife and me.

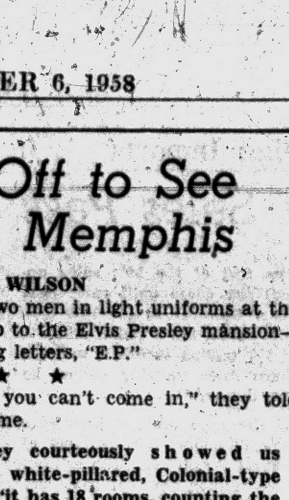
But they courteously showed us through the white-pillared, Colonial-type showplace ("it has 18 rooms, counting the bathrooms," they said) when Col. Tom Parker, Elvis' manager, phoned over from Nashville that we were friends of his and Elvis' daddy.

First we saw a Cadillac in front of the house—but we didn't think much about it . . . till later . . .

"Elvis's got his gold records in this playroom," one of the "security officers"—who turned out to be Elvis' uncle, Trevis Smith — said as he showed us into kind of a musicians' Fort Knox.

★ ★ ★

"Twenty-three gold records," he said, counting them, "and two more that ain't up yet. And some more comin'."



ELVIS

They lined the walls—in another room with the Cash Box plaques — and between was a small bar.

"I thought Elvis didn't drink," my B.W. said.

"No, ma'am, he don't," Trevis Smith said. "He don't use hard liquor and he don't keep none in his house. This is a soda fountain bar. You can get about any kind of ice cream soda you want at this bar."

It was when we drove away with a cab driver named Roy Harper, whose daughter went to school with Elvis, that we learned more.

★ ★ ★

"You see that Cadillac in front?" he said. "That's where Elvis' mother, Mizz Presley, stepped outa the car the last time she was out of the house before she died.

"That car's not been moved since and it never will be, either, so Elvis says."

"Anyways," he said, "did you ever hear how he bought his first Cadillac?

"Well, he just went into this Cadillac place here in Memphis wearin' his blue jeans and shirt, 'thout saying' who he was. He looked at this big white Cadillac and he rubbed it. He says to the salesman, 'Can I drive it?'

"The salesman says, 'No, sir, boy, you can't drive it!'

"Elvis walks right straight to the back of the garage where there's a little old boy washin' a car. He says 'Boy, what do you make a week?' The boy says 'Thirty dollars.'

"Elvis says 'Come with me!' The boy didn't want to.

"Elvis takes that boy into the manager's office and he says to the manager 'Mister, I'm gonna buy that white Cadillac and I'm gonna pay cash for it but first you got to make out a check for the commission to this boy here.'

"The manager did, too," the cab driver said. "Elvis invited my daughter to the two parties he had here before he went into service. Elvis sure did make quite a name for himself," he added, "here in Memphis."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Comic Davy Karr, a New Jerseyite, says his state may secede: "And you New Yorkers'll look pretty foolish with two tunnels and a bridge just dangling there." . . . That's earl, brother.

Quit 88 Styles of GI Drawers

Defense Dept. Catalog Cost $162 Million; Stop Service Duplication

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department told Congress today it is steadily piling up savings by such achievements as eliminating 88 kinds of men's drawers.

Making the visors of Marine and Army field caps out of the same material, a House Armed Service subcommittee was told, should save $50,000 a year.

The WACs and other fighting women may not know it yet, but they will have fewer dress shoes from which to choose—about 600 instead of 800 catalogue items, George Ritter, head of the department's catalogue and standardization division, told the subcommittee.

The congressional group has long pressed the armed services to set up a standard catalogue—now completed at a cost of 162 million dollars—and then to cut down on the variety of similar things bought by the different services.

Ritter brought a quantity of hardware into the hearing room and displayed such items as the eight new thermostats that fit all military engines. Formerly, he said, there were 350.

Ritter conceded that reductions were made here and there in the catalogue by "discovering goofs," like the listing of a three-gallon can under one number and a 12-quart can under another.

★ ★ ★

He said a $320,000 annual saving will result from a decision that bacon for shipment overseas should be smoked for 24 hours—the way the Navy likes it—instead of 42, as the Army had specified.

Accused Teamster Re-Elected to Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Raymond Cohen and Joseph E. Grace, accused by the Senate Rackets Committee of misappropriating about a quarter of a million dollars of Teamsters Union funds, have been re-elected to office in the 14,000-member Local 107.

★ ★ ★

Cohen, secretary-treasurer and actual boss of the local, was re-elected to his second five-year term.

Grace has been president of the local since 1933.

Before the committee this summer, Cohen pleaded the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer questions concerning his handling of the local's finances.

In the Senate investigation, probers charged that Cohen used more than $58,000 in union funds to finance his successful campaign for office in 1954.

The result was announced by the union.

World Steak Capital Faces Meatless Day

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Buenos Aires, steak capital of the world, faces a meatless Monday. The city's butchers reaffirmed their intention to close then because the prices they have to charge are too high.

The butchers accused slaughter houses of profiteering. The butchers said the high prices they were forced to pay the wholesalers made it necessary for them to charge exhorbitant amounts, causing a boycott by housewives and subjecting the butchers to unnecessary abuse.

'Ugly American' Book Gets Official Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some copies of a novel critical of the U.S. foreign service will be sold abroad under government subsdy.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the U.S. Information Agency said Friday night that despite the criticisms, the over-all efect of the book — entitled "The Ugly American" — is to present American intentions toward other countries in a good light.

★ ★ ★

The final decision to subsidize the sales was made by USIA Director George V. Allen, they said.

About 500 copies of the book, by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick, will be sold in about 13 nations under contract between USIA and the book's publisher, W. W. Norton & Co. Inc., New York.

Hard Pressed by Foreign Imports

Auto Industry Sales Pass 4 Million

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's new car sales have passed the four million mark for 1958. By the year's end total retail deliveries should amount to approximately 4½ million units.

In the years immediately preceding and immediately following World War II that would have been considered a good year for the car industry. But for the present year it adds up to what many industry sources are calling a flop.

A major factor in that appraisal is the inclusion in the total of nearly 375,000 imported vehicles. Immediately before and following World War II imported car sales were wholly negligible.

Last year slightly more than 5,900,000 new cars were sold in the United States. Only 206,000 of that total were foreign-built vehicles.

It is no secret that new car sales in the new model year so far have fallen below anticipation. Industry sources generally attribute this to depleted inventories and the inability, because of work stoppages, of the industry to get production into full swing.

★ ★ ★

But dealer stocks are being built up. Most dealers now have on hand all the competitive models that were lacking in the first five or six weeks of the new model year. If the demand for new cars really exists it should make itself felt before the year-end.

Automotive News, commenting on the new car market, said recently:

"Some observers believe no true test of the 59's sales appeal can come until early next year. However, if the 1959 total is to attain the popular estimate of 5½ million domestic units, a sharp sales upswing cannot be long delayed."

If the auto makers themselves share this view they are not expressing it publicly. The estimate of 5½ million new car sales next year still is being heard throughout industry quarters.

Of sales so far in the 1959 model year it is being said that while a few makers had full dealer inventories others had actual shortages. Many potential buyers held off, it is added, until they could see the cars they wanted to buy.

★ ★ ★

For many motorists, particularly those who favored General Motors or Chrysler cars, this time has now arrived. Dealers handling these makes experienced shortages in many instances comparable to those of the early postwar period.

Some retailers, lacking the particular models customers desired, were swapping cars among themselves in an effort to hold sales. Others report they lost sales to retailers handling other makes.

How many sales General Motors and Chrysler may have lost to Ford and American Motors in the early weeks of the new model year cannot be determined. But the sales activity of the weeks immediately ahead will give a good indication of whether shortages were a factor in the retail volume of the industry during October and November.

Births Decline in U. S.

WASHINGTON — The number of births in the United States dropped by 7,000 during the first quarter of 1958 compared with the first three months of 1957. The Population Reference Bureau attributes the decline to the recession.

Drain Bid Called too High

Single Estimate on Dam Rebuilding Refused by County Board

Oakland County Drain commissioners have run into another snag in the reconstruction of a lake level control dam between Oakland and Woodhull lakes in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

The only bid submitted, that for $12,175 by the Buschma Construction Co. of Berkley, was called "much too high," and rejected by the Drain Commission. This was the second time bids had been opened for the project.

The original estimates for the project by county engineers was $7,800, according to Commissioner Robert Evans.

The old control dam has been a bone of contention to the drain commissioners for some 20 years, and area residents last year petitioned that it be rebuilt, fearing it might give way and flood people living in the lower lake area.

★ ★ ★

There is no definite plan at this time whether new bids will be asked, but officials are working on a solution, Evans said.

Wife Returns Husband's Gifts

Bookkeeper Vanishes After Buying Presents With Stolen $20,000

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — A 23-year-old bookkeeper who allegedly embezzled nearly $20,000 from his employer was thinking of his wife and three children before he vanished a week ago.

But the Christmas gifts Leo A. Bechtel bought for his family before he apparently left town will not be under the Bechtel tree

★ ★ ★

The gifts were delivered to the Bechtel home in suburban Standale last Monday — three days after he vanished. He had purchased them the day after Thanksgiving with money he allegedly took from the Grand Rapids Asphalt Paving Co. that day.

There were toys for the children —about $50 worth in all—and a $100 gift certificate for his wife.

But the day they arrived, Bechtel's employer obtained a warrant charging him with larceny by conversion of $7,890 from the firm.

J. E. McDermott, secretary of the firm, said Mrs. Bechtel returned the gifts to the stores where her husband had purchased them and gave the money to the company. Then she found $380 in the attic and she turned it over to McDermott. In all, she made restitution totaling $500.

★ ★ ★

"The tragic part of it was that she didn't know how much her husband had taken and she thought she could repay it herself," he said. "I didn't have the heart to tell her. She even asked for her husband's job so she could repay the money from her salary.

"But it would take her 102 years to do it," he said.

★ ★ ★

Actually, no one knew the exact amount of money missing until yesterday when an auditor reported that $19,290 was missing. About $17,000 of the money was taken during a two-week period in November, the rest over a two-year period.

Breaks Out of Jail to Sweet-Talk Wife

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Greene County Sheriff Russell Bradshaw is looking for a courteous jailbreaker who left this note behind after escaping from the county jail:

★ ★ ★

"Sheriff, I'm sorry to take the step I'm taking, but my wife has filed suit for divorce and it's important to me that I see her immediately. I hope you understand."

★ ★ ★

The escapee, John Siekles, 31, Columbus, Ohio, was being held on a contempt of court charge for nonsupport.

Duke Quits Club After Faux Pas

LONDON (AP) — A dignified English hunt club has accepted the resignation of the Duke of Roxburghe as chairman of the hunt committee. The duke did a fox in several weeks ago with a rifle.

He explained he received complaints from neighbors that some of their lambs had been killed in fox raids.

In England, one doesn't finish off a fox with a gun. Hounds do it with teeth.

Deny Pressure to Pack House

Teamsters Discredit Fine for Members Not Going to Hoffa Speech

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Teamster officials have denied a report that pressure has been put on members of the union here to pack a house Dec. 16 for a speech by James R. Hoffa, president of the union.

Only about 250 Teamsters showed up Monday for an appearance by Hoffa in Kiel auditorium's 3,500-seat opera house, and union officials were frankly disappointed.

Chief of Detectives James E. Chapman of St. Louis said yesterday copies of a letter had been sent to 15,000 St. Louis area Teamsters ordering the mto appear for a second Hoffa appearance or face a fine of $5 or possibly more severe measures.

"An outright lie," said Pete Saffo, an official of Teamsters Local 610, which sponsored the Monday meeting. He said he had checked all St. Louis area Teamster units and "none of them have sent such a letter."

In Washington Hoffa's office said he had no speaking engagement in St. Louis Dec. 16 and did not expect to be here.

Dems to Quell Party Revolt

Segregationists Demand Gravel Resign as Head of Executive Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee was primed today to crush a revolt by Southern segregationists against its civil rights policies.

And to nail down its stand on this volatile issue, the committee was expected to vote commendation of National Chairman Paul M. Butler who has said that Southerners can accept a strong civil rights plank in 1960 or go their own way.

★ ★ ★

The immediate issue before the party governing group was a home state attempt to oust Camille M. Gravel Jr. as Louisiana national committeeman because he had said segregation was morally wrong and because he had praised a civil rights bill passed by Congress last year.

Despairing of making any headway in the ouster attempt, Southern committee members voted 14-5 at a caucus Friday night to demand Gravel's resignation from the party's executive committee.

★ ★ ★

Gravel, who had been elected as a Dixie representative on that policy-making group after the 1956 presidential nominating convention, said he would not resign any party post. He added that the only charges against him were that he supported the national party's principles and its nominees.

Week's Production Also a Record

Car Sales Hit Year's Peak

DETROIT (AP)—Auto dealers averaged 18,400 new car deliveries a day Nov. 21-30 and manufacturers scheduled the highest production this week since November of 1957, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

The statistical service said daily car sales Nov. 21-30 topped the previous 1958 high of 17,775 recorded at the end of June.

Ward's said manufacturer schedules indicated production of 147,490 cars and 23,375 trucks this week, highest since the week ended Nov. 23, 1957, when car production was 151,846 units. Truck figures for that week were not included in the report.

This week's auto output would be 20 per cent and truck 13 per cent ahead of last week's 123,088 cars and 20,619 trucks.

Ward's described the Nov. 21-30 sales pace "blistering show of strength" and said November sales totaling 368,000 promised an upturn to 450,000 or more during December. Such for December would be a 1958 high.

★ ★ ★

Inventory availability is steadily improving, Ward's said, with a November stock gain of 130,000 units giving dealers some 500,000 on hand. Dealers had some 700,000 on hand a year ago.

The year's best production week was accomplished, Ward's said, despite a 14 per cent fall-off in Chrysler production due to work stoppages caused by labor disputes.

It said General Motors Corp. scheduled a 25 per cent increase, Ford Motor Co. a 21 per cent gain, American Motors Corp. a 27 per cent boost, and Studebaker-Packard, which operated only two days last week, a 200 per cent increase. Individual figures were nont given.

Compared with this week's 147,490 cars and 23,375 trucks, U. S. factories turned out 139,597 cars and 22,636 trucks in the same 1957 week.

★ ★ ★

To date in 1958, the U.S. auto industry has built 3,797,564 cars and 798,643 trucks for a total of 4,596,207 units, compared with 5,720,343 cars and 1,021,465 trucks for a 1957 total of 6,741,808 units to the same date.

Alert Goes Out to Arab Troops

Action Follows Report of Israeli Buildup on National Border

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Arab troops on the Syrian and Lebanese borders of Israel have been alerted following reports of a buildup of Israeli troop concentrations in the frontier area, informed sources said.

Lebanese Prime Minister Rashid Karami conferred at length yesterday with Army staff officers at the defense ministry. The sources said they discussed the disposition of Israeli troops along the border.

A foreign ministry official said that after the meeting the army sent word to Arab commanders in the field to exercise special watchfulness. He said no formal alert order was issued, but rather an informal warning.

Reports conveyed through the Lebanese and United Arab Republic foreign ministries said Israel moved an unusually large number of troops to the northeastern part of Israel in the 48 hours after the Syrian-Israeli artilley duel Wednesday.

Israel also asked for an urgent meeting of the United Nations Security Council. A meeting was scheduled for Monday afternoon.

Taylor to Speak at Chippewa Dinner

MILFORD—Guest speaker at tonight's annual dinner-meeting of the Chippewa Lodge No. 29, Order of the Arrow, will be George F. Taylor, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, according to J. Edward Stoughton of Pettibone Lake, program chairman.

The smorgasbord dinner, scheduled for 7 p.m. will be followed by an election of officers, with Lodge Chief Frank Breza of Utica, retiring from office. He has passed the 21-years-of-age limit for lodge officers.

A review of the year's activities, an Indian Pageant and songs are among other events scheduled for the evening.

★ ★ ★

The Order of the Arrow is a national honor society of Boy Scout campers and leaders. Tonight's meeting will honor the leadership provided to the local lodge of the Clinton Valley Council by Milford Explorer Scouts Paul and Fred Heil, Tom Stringer, John Smith and Lyle See, and adult adviser William Genette.

Noah Webster's "Elementary Spelling Book," or "Blue-backed Speller," was so popular that in one year, 1850, a million copies were sold.

Voting on Board at Little Rock

All 13 Candidates Are Opposed to Integration of Public Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock voters selected a new school board today to cope with the problem of meeting local demands for segregation in the face of federal court orders to integrate.

They chose between a slate which carried the tacit backing of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and a group the governor labeled as integrationist.

Polls opened at 8 a.m. and were scheduled to close at 6:30 p.m. A moderate turnout was predicted.

The new board members will fill the posts of five members who resigned because of the integration impasse and a sixth who was elected to Congress.

All 13 candidates have announced their opposition to integration. Campaigning was keyed largely to the question of who was against it the strongest.

The candidates Faubus labeled integrationist are W. F. Rector, a real estate and insurance executive; Everett Tucker, an industrialist; Ted Lamb, an advertising executive; Russell H. Matson Jr., a building contractor, and Mrs. Charles W. Stephens, a clubwoman.

Members of the opposing slate, which has pledged itself to support Faubus, are Traffic Court Judge R. W. Laster; C. C. Railey, a union business manager; Ben D. Rowland, attorney and former school administrator; Mrs. Pauline Woodson, a real estate executive, and Mrs. Margaret Morrison, a housewife.

New Yorkers Win in Bridge Tourney

DETROIT (UPI)—New Yorkers did everything but run away with all the honors in the open team championship of the National Bridge Tournament yesterday, capturing the first and second place crowns and tallying high scores for the other top-ranked teams.

Four New Yorkers and a Washingtonian teamed to a final score of 56 points to land first place.

Entering the concluding round of the three-session tourney with a one-point lead, the winners—Leonard B. Harmon, Alfred Sheinwold, Ralph Hirschberg and Edgar Kaplan, all of New York City, and Ivar Stakgold, Washington, D. C.—finished two points ahead of the second place team.

MSU Teachers File Complaint

Engineering Group Criticises New Courses in Letter to AAUP

EAST LANSING (AP) — A group of dissatisfied professors have complained about changes in courses and "arbitrary action" by the administration at Michigan State University.

A copy of the complaint, reportedly sent to the American Assn. of University Professors, was also sent to the two Michigan legislators, one a Democrat, the other a Republican. About a dozen professors in the College of Engineering and the Department of Communication Skills reportedly are involved.

★ ★ ★

There was no address on the copies and the letter was unsigned.

Dr. Louis Joghlin of the National Association in Washington said he had received information indirectly that there was some unrest among the MSU faculty.

"We are not taking any action," he said, "because we have not received from any faculty member at Michigan State any complaint or statement. We have a chapter at East Lansing and they can write us if they desire."

★ ★ ★

Dr. James H. Platt, formerly of MSU and now with Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, said he acted as intermediary in forwarding the complaint to "preserve the anonymity of the writers."

Donald A. Hart, chairman of the MSU chapter of the AAUP, said there was no protest by that group but individual members might have sent such a letter.

★ ★ ★

The letter from the College of Engineering group said, in part, that "suddenly a new and different curriculum appeared with no discussion by the Department Faculty and without their consideration." It said the new curriculum "was seemingly drawn up in secret meetings."

★ ★ ★

It complained that some of the older faculty members have been assigned to teach courses for which they had not specialized.

"This apparently is a move to cause these older faculty members to become dissatisfied and resign," the letter said.

★ ★ ★

"These conditions," the letter said, "have resulted in poor calibre of instruction and low morale and fear among the Electrical Engineering Faculty and among the general faculty of said College of Engineering."

The letter from the Department of Communication Skills complained that unpopular changes were made in courses. It said Dr. Edward Blackman, named recently to head the department, was "using dictatorial methods" and "forcing new courses into a well-established department."

★ ★ ★

"The situation generally, it said, "has resulted in antagonism on the part of some staff members toward the new department head as well as low morale."

James H. Denison, Assistant to the President at MSU, said he thought it was significant no complaint had been received from the local unit of the professors' organization.

★ ★ ★

He said any changes in curricula must go through six faculty bodies and that the procedure in these matters "is as democratic as it can be made."

★ ★ ★

Denison added:

"You'll find a few dissenters on any campus — those who feel their specialties are being hurt by any curriculum changes. It wouldn't be healthy otherwise."

Police Report Break-In at Great Lakes Gravel

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Romeo State Police today reported a break-in Thursday night at the Great Lakes Gravel Co. office, 2900 Auburn Rd., Shelby Township.

Thieves, who knocked the lock off the door to gain entry, took several automobile batteries, some antifreeze and an antifreeze tester, a battery charger and three pairs of coveralls, police said.

Auto Pioneer Dies, Age 77

Earl Holley, Famous for Carburetors, Was Henry Ford's Friend

DETROIT (AP) — Earl Holley, an automotive pioneer and carburetor designer-manufacturer, died at his home in Grosse Pointe Farms last night. He was 77.

Earl Holley and his brother, George, came to Detroit from Bradford, Pa., in 1903 at the invitation of Henry Ford to design a carburetor for his cars. They had been making cars under their own name.

The carburetor they built for Ford was an immediate success and the brothers founded the Holley Carburetor Co., which became one of Ford's biggest suppliers. Earl Holley was president for 25 years, becoming vice chairman of directors in 1953. George Holley is chairman. Their firm still is a giant in its field.

The Holleys became close friends of Ford and other inventive pioneers. They often accompanied Ford, Thomas A. Edison and Harvey Firestone on camping trips.

Earl Holley had been in declining health for two years. With him when he died were his wife, Elizabeth, and his two sons, Earl Jr. and Dan.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Guard Rioters in Welded Cells

Arizona Warden Asking Criminal Charges Be Filed Against Group

FLORENCE, Ariz. (UPI) — The 46 rebellious participants in Thursday's riot at Arizona State Prison were ordered kept behind massive welded-shut cell doors today until they return keys taken from a guard.

The rioters were placed into their maximum security cells after the riot was broken.

Highway patrolmen and National Guard troops remained at the prison today to help guards maintain order.

Warden Frank Eyman said the rioters would be kept in their cells until order has been fully restored. He asked that criminal charges be filed against the gang of maximum security inmates.

The prisoners made a desperate bid for freedom Thursday night after they lured two guards into their cells block on the pretext that one of the inmates needed medical attention.

After they had released other prisoners with keys taken from the guard, the gang marched to the infirmary where they called Eyman and demanded that he open the prison gates.

The 38-year-old veteran lawman, however, refused the demands and led detachments of guards who subdued the riot with tear gas and machine gun fire.

Served as Las Vegas Shill

Casino Working Minister Stripped of His Robes

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Maurice D. Tulloch, who gave up the life of a Baptist minister to become a shill in a Las Vegas gambling casino, was stripped of his ministerial standing Friday.

The action was taken by the executive committee of the Kansas Baptist Convention.

In a resolution the committee said:

"The circumstances associated with Maurice D. Tulloch have been carefully reviewed . . . in order that the Christian ministry not be lightly regarded or held in disrepute, we are led with a profound sense of sorrow to this resolution. Maurice D. Tulloch can no longer be recognized as a minister in good standing in the Kansas Baptist Convention.

Tulloch who looks closer to 40 than his 50 years, was pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sabetha, Kan., a community near the Nebraska line 80 miles northwest of Kansas City.

★ ★ ★

For 18 years he had been a church troubleshooter — a pastor assigned to churches in financial or morale trouble in communities of 1,500 to 2,000.

Then last Sept. 29, he walked out of a meeting of Baptist pastors in Hutchinson, Kan., and disappeared.

On Nov. 26 he was located in Las Vegas, working as a shill—a gambling casino employe who poses as a customer to drum up trade.

★ ★ ★

Tulloch said he went to Las Vegas to get a divorce because he was tired of his wife, Nellie, after 25 years. He added, referring to his wife and church, "I left because I felt the walls closing in . . . I've never been happier. For the first time in my life I have peace of mind."

The former minister has two children, a son, 25, and a daughter, 19.

Bomb Trial Goes to Jury

Bright Awaits Decision on Charge He Planned Temple Dynamiting

ATLANTA (AP) — The trial of George Bright, 31, Atlanta engineer charged in the bombing of a Jewish temple, was expected to go to the jury today.

★ ★ ★

Bright is the first of five men to be tried on charges of dynamiting the temple Oct. 12.

A state witness Friday quoted Bright as saying he served as a lookout for the bombings which tore holes in the temple on fashionable Peachtree Road.

James Devore, 33, an automobile plant employe, said Bright told him about the bombing when they were cellmates.

★ ★ ★

Devore said Bright told him that "he drew plans and led the plans for the bombing. He said he did not do the actual bombing but was a lookout."

After Devore completed testifying, the state rested and the defense, led by James R. Vanable, began presenting its case.

Incoming marshal is Harry J. Woodley and tiler, Otto S. Knotts.

Dr. Morgan J. Snead of Rochester, Past Grand Master, will be the installing officer.

Two officers of the lodge were recently named to serve three-year terms as trustees of the Orion Masonic Building Temple Assn. They are Vern A. Miller and Otto S. Knotts.

'Points' for Drivers No Good, Says Hare

DETROIT (AP) — Secretary of State James Hare severely criticized Michigans new point system for control of bad drivers.

Pending cases, yesterday he told the Southeastern Michigan Chiefs of Police Assn., make legal mincemeat of the point system law. He explained:

The system contains no consideration for "degree of exposure," because a youth who accumulates 12 points while driving 500 miles a year and a salesman with 12 demerits in 100,000 miles are treated equally.

It does not take into account the frequency of accidents. A 71-year-old man with seven accidents in three months got no violation tickets, "so all I could do was write him suggesting that he have his driving ability checked."

It contains no means for control of crazy drivers. A driver could go 120 miles an hour through a schoolyard full of kids and the charge against him would be reckless driving, just six points—not enough for license suspension or revocation.

Albania Tells Officials to Get Out, Dig Ditches

LONDON (UPI) — The Albanian National Assembly has passed a law ordering all government officials and military men to do manual labor, the Communist New China News Agency reported yesterday.

It said the law was passed at the insistence of the Albanian Labor e(Communist) party, which demanded that "all party members and cadres throughout the country take part in voluntary labor for a month every year."

Will Pay For Itself in 50 Years

Seaway Brings Big Shipping Changes

MONTREAL (AP) — Shipping patterns of the last 50 years face drastic changes upon opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway next spring.

★ ★ ★

Marine experts warn that about a third of Canada's 190-ship canal fleet—perhaps 60 vessels employing 1,200 men—may be scrapped in the face of the seaway's effect on ocean and upper lake traffic.

They expect other repercussions, too, as ocean freighters and upper lake carriers compete on inland shipping lanes for seaway-bound business. The traffic of railways and truckers may be altered sharply.

Much hinges on the economic climate ahead, world demands for ships, the market for major commodities that stand to gain most from the seaway, such as grain and iron ore.

The seaway is a 135-mile corridor in the 2,400-mile water highway from the Atlantic to the lakehead, part of a big stairway from ocean to inland ports.

The seaway is costing 475 million dollars. It will take an estimated 50 years to repay the cost through tolls.

Big ocean ships have been forced to unload their cargoes at Montreal, to be trans-shipped by rail, road or canal boats to their inland destinations. Eastbound cargoes, chiefly wheat, came east in big lake boats but then had to be trans-shipped past shallow lock.

The bottleneck vanishes with the opening of the seaway. Ten-thousand-ton freighters will be able to sail directly to inland destinations.

The big lake boats, with capacity for 25,000 tons of iron ore or 800,000 bushels of grain, will be able to sail via the seaway to the upper St. Lawrence, to Montreal, Quebec and other posts.

★ ★ ★

The seaway is expected to mean a saving of five to seven cents a bushel on the cost of moving grain to ocean-loading terminals.

Seaway planners say grain and iron ore will form the largest part of the 25 million tons expected to move annually through the seaway in the first few years of operation.

By 1968, they predict, the seaway should reach its economic capacity—about 50 million tons a year.

7 From Oakland Join Marines in November

The Pontiac Marine Recruiting Substation announced that seven men from the Oakland County area were among the 11 recruited for the Corps during the month of November at the local station.

The county men were Carl L. Koyl of Pontiac Township; Alan D. Jackson, Rochester; Robert L. Allen, Auburn Heights; Harry W. Councell Jr., Northville; James Booth, Orchard Lake; and Harvey C. Swift Jr. and Michael J. Arnold, both of Birmingham.

The men were flown immediately to San Diego, Calif. for 12 weeks of recruit training.

Upon completion of recruit training the enlistees will be transferred to Camp Joseph H. Pendelton, Oceanside, Calif., for five weeks combat training.

Russia Hints to Iran of Pact Consequence

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union hinted to Iran today that signing a defense agreement with the United States would give the Soviet Union the right to send troops into Iran.

Iranian officials deny that this right from a 1921 treaty still exists.

The Soviet warning was published in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, and signed "Observer." This signature is used on important but unofficial statements of Soviet foreign policy.

Except for the additional hint of sending troops, the warning was similar to earlier Soviet attacks on a U.S.-Iranian agreement. On Nov. 8 Iran rejected a Moscow note warning it not to sign.

Construction Record

LANSING (AP) — The nation's construction industry is headed for an all-time record in 1958, despite recession effects earlier in the year, and the outlook for 1959 is even brighter Dr. George Cline Smith, vice president of the F. Building Permits Issued

Lutherans to Get Church

A new church and two commercial buildings are scheduled for construction in Waterford Township, according to building department reports.

St. Stephen's Lutheran Church will be constructed on Sashabaw road and Kempf. It will cost approximately $70,000. The church holds services in the VFW Hall on Walton boulevard.

The new 40 by 90-foot church will be located on a 180 by 350-foot strip of land, and will set back some 60 feet from Sashabaw road, with plenty of parking space provided for in the plans.

The church will be constructed of cement blocks, brick and wood and will have a full basement. Frank Stewart and Sons, Inc., of Pontiac, has been contracted for the project.

★ ★ ★

A $14,000 building with space for a store and several offices will be built at Elizabeth Lake road, near M59. Owner Lloyd Smith of Bloomfield Hills has been issued the building permit.

Another commercial permit was issued to Mrs. Florine Matakas for construction of a $20,000 retail store to be built on Dixie highway near Walton boulevard.

★ ★ ★

There were 77 building permits issued in Waterford Township in November for construction valued at $613,496. This was about the same number and total building costs recorded for the previous month, according to the reports.

Lawyers Make Easy Million

Art Dabblers Pick Up $1,500,000 in Paintings for Just $2,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Two attorneys who dabble in art sleuthing and collecting have picked themselves 1½ million dollars in masterpieces, says a Vatican art expert.

★ ★ ★

The lawyers' outlay for the three paintings? Just $2,200.

"Extraordinary luck," says the Chicago artist who advised them to take a chance on their purchases, "just like findings diamonds in the street."

Prof. Amadore Porcella, cataloglst for the Vatican Gallery of Art, pronounced the 16th century paintings authentic Friday. He described them as:

"Christ Carrying the Cross," by Giorgione; "Sacred Conversation," by Giovanni Bellini; and "The Massacre of the Innocents," by Raphael Sanzio.

The lucky barristers are Rudolph Vasalle and Paul Delaney.

Delaney told a newsman he bought the 17 by 15 inch Giorgione for about $1,000 from a Chicago dealer who apparently knew little of its history.

Shooting Stars Once Thought to Be Local

WASHINGTON — Centuries ago sky watchers believed the "shooting stars" were a local phenomenon like lightning, the National Geographic Society says. But in 1798 two Germans observing the sky simultaneously from different points on earth realized that meteors could not be either very close, like lightning, or very far, like the moon.

Using the triangulation method of surveyors, they estimated that meteors occur about 50 miles up.

Five years later after a great shower in France, the French Academy acknowledged that stones fall to earth from space. That decision was a turning point in celestial science.

That was a mistake. Martin was fined $42 for careless driving when it turned out he overtook a three-car convoy loaded with government driving examiners and police returning from a road block.

NEW HUDSON — The Square Dance Club will hold a party tonight in the gymnasium of the New Hudson Elementary School at 9 p.m. The public is invited.

Oxford Lad Saves Dog, Forgets Self

OXFORD — A young boy and his dog are seldom parted as a general rule. The rule was broken for a short time Thursday by an Oxford lad in his attempt to keep the rule intact.

Marion E. Bocksch, 33, of 297 Spezia Drive, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies the following story.

"While driving south on Hillberg street in Oxford Township, I noticed a young boy and girl and a dog standing alongside the road."

★ ★ ★

"As I approached, the dog suddenly left the boy's side and trotted across my path. The boy ran out into the street after his dog directly in front of me."

★ ★ ★

Deputies identified the lad as Curtis A. May, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul May, of 834 Kieth Rd. Mrs. Bocksch was not able to stop on icy pavement in time to avoid hitting Curtis.

★ ★ ★

The result was not totally sad, however. Curtis was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released. His pet pup was unharmed, deputies said.

Bufalino Gets Subpoena

DETROIT (AP) — William E. Bufalino, president of Teamsters Union Jukebox Local 984 in Detroit, said Friday he had been subpoenaed to appear Dec. 15 before the Senate Labor-Management Rackets Committee.

Goodland Youth, 17, Released on Bond

LAPEER — Charged with the murder of his stepfather, Adon Robledo, 17-year-old Goodland Township youth, was released from Lapeer County jail on $5,000 bond after he appeared in Circuit Court here yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Bond was set by Judge Timothy Quinn pending a jury trial. No date has been set.

According to Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies, Robeldo's stepfather, Juan Altamira, 43, was killed instantly Nov. 23 when he was shot in the heart by the youth.

Altamira was allegedly beating his wife Victoria when the woman's son shot him.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK ALL WHOSE kindness and sympathy offered comfort during the illness and recent death of our beloved husband and father. We are especially grateful to those responsible for the many lovely floral tributes and the priests, friends, neighbors, Huntoon Funeral Home, and all in the hospital. Mrs. Louis Faust and family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JAY Olsen, who died December 7th, 1957.
We mourned for him in silence
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep
Sadly missed by wife Doris, and son Jerry.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ANNA Harbin who passed away Dec. 7, 1953 dear mother you are not forgotten — Though on earth you are no more Still in memory you are with us. As you always were before Sadly missed by daughter Florence, Mary & granddaughters grandson and great grandson, Dale

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MOTHER Mary E. McCormick Who passed away December 7th, 1957.
You bade us not a last farewell,
You said goodby to none.
Your loving heart had ceased to beat before we knew that you were gone.
God saw that you were suffering and the hills were hard to climb and so he closed your weary eyes and whispered, peace be thine.
Sadly emissed by daughter Betty & family.

Peter Ustinov Stars in Own Play Sunday

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Shortly after the fall of a theater curtain in New Haven, Conn. Saturday night, Peter Ustinov will be shorn of the beard that has helped identify him to millions of Americans. TV viewers will have to look twice to recognize him when they tune in "Omnibus" on NBC at 5 p.m. Sunday.

"I have had this beard for about three years now," said the British star and dramatist, "and I must say that parting with it will be a bit of a wrench. It is just as well that my children are not here.

"When I first came home with it after several weeks away, during which I first grew the beard, my little daughter was frightened. My wife even went to the extreme of putting on a false beard to show her that a beard was the most natural thing in the world.

Fortunately my daughter and our even younger son are presently with their grandparents in Switzerland, so they will be spared the ordeal of suddenly seeing me clean-shaven. Lord knows what sort of therapy that would call for!"

Ustinov grew the beard for the original London production of his own hit play, "Romanoff and Juliet," and brought it and the play to this country last fall for a successful full-season run. He went on tour in the play in September and it's been doing fabulous business.

"The 'Omnibus' people wanted to do a TV adaptation of my own play, 'The Empty Chair,' with me in it as Danton, and I could not turn them down," Ustinov said.

"They give me my big television chance here last season in the 'Samuel Johnson' play (in which incidentally, because of the aged Johnson's jowly countenance, it was possible to hide Ustinov's beard with a plastic contraption).

The "Romanoff and Juliet" tour resumes next Monday with a week in Cleveland, to be followed by a longer Chicago stand, and Ustinov will start immediately after the telecast to let his beard grow again. Until it is sturdy enough to go it alone, he will use upper lip and chin pieces now being prepared here for him.

"The Empty Chair" originally was a Ustinov stage play completed about the same time as "Romanoff and Juliet"—"I like to keep two types of writing going at the same time."

Ustinov has made the TV adaptation and is co-director of it for "Omnibus." In terms of the French Revolution, it comments on revolutions, their leaders and their aftermaths—and survivors—in general.

Gunaca Freed on $7,500 Bond

Ex-Union Man, Involved in Kohler Clash, Will Return to Michigan

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — John Gunaca, former United Auto Workers Union employe, was free on $7,500 bond today pending a preliminary hearing here Dec. 18 on charges involving an early Kohler Co. strike clash.

Gunaca, sought by Wisconsin authorities for four years, appeared in Municipal Court yesterday for arraignment of two counts of assault with intent to do great bodily harm in the beating of Kohler non-strikers William Bersch Sr. and William Jr. at Sheboygan Falls July 6, 1954.

Municipal Judge Clarence Whiffen rejected Dist. Atty. David Weber's motion for a bond of $50,000, and set bond at $7,500. He ordered a preliminary hearing on the charges Dec. 18.

The court said that bond of $50,000 "would lend color to contentions" that Gunaca couldn't get a fair trial in the area where tensions still are felt in connection with the 4½ year old strike by the United Auto Workers at the big plumbing ware plant. Weber asked the high bond "to assure that Gunaca would be available for trial."

Gunaca, now a Mount Clemens bartender and no longer a member of the Union, was sent to Sheboygan to help Local 833 shortly after the strike started April 5, 1954.

After the Bersch fight, he returned to Michigan, where Gov. G. Mennen Williams steadfastly refused to permit extradition.

However, Williams announced Wednesday that he would permit extradition because what he called independent inquiries convinced him Gunaca now could get a fair trial in Wisconsin. Gunaca was turned over to Wisconsin officers yesterday and arrived at Sheboygan early today by auto.

After the arraignment, he told newsmen he and his attorney, D. Charles Marston of Detroit, would return to Michigan immediately.

Rebel Radio Tells of Women Fighters

HAVANA, Cuba. (AP) — An army communique said today Cuban rebels used women as a shield during fighting near Guisa in eastern Cuba.

The rebel radio reported Thursday night a platoon of women fighters participated in a 10-day battle that resulted in the capture of the town of about 1,500 in Oriente province. The army denied loss of the town, a dairy center.

Execute 4 Romanians

VIENNA (UPI) — Four Romanians convicted by a Bucharest Military Court have been executed, Bucharest Radio reported yesterday. It said five other defendants received life prison terms. Neither names of the prisoners nor the charges against them were revealed.

Let Go After Tragedy Advises Psychiatrist

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — If tragedy strikes, forget all about keeping a stiff upper lip and let your grief gush out, a Mayo Clinic psychiatrist advised today.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Robert L. Faucett said the person who is brave and holds up well when a loved one dies wins praise from society but is headed for possible mental trouble in later years.

He told family doctors attending the annual clinic conference of the American Medical Assn. that the physician is in a position to administer psychiatric first aid in such situations that could guard against later mental trouble.

The important period, Dr. Faucett said, comes a few hours after the first stunning impact of the catastrophe has passed and there is a gradual return of semiconsciousness.

"This is the crucial phase in the grief reaction and its proper working through is necessary for future emotional health," he said. "There is a great need to talk and ventilate feelings about the dead one in this phase. This need to ventilate—to cry, to be angry, to talk about the past must be encouraged."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Faucett said the bereaved person should not be removed from his situation geographically, socially or emotionally and that sedation or tranquilizers should be used sparingly if at all.

Even at this point, he said, the doctor should encourage the person to reconstruct the past in relation to the present and begin to realistically contemplate the future.

The closing session of the 1958 clinical conference was featured by a transatlantic symposium on chest diseases with a group of doctors in Great Britain.

20-Hour Work Week Close, Says Physicist

NEW YORK (AP) — A 20-hour work week will be here sooner than most people think, says a noted physicist.

Automation and cheap nuclear energy open up such prospects. But, says Dr. Boris Pregel, there is going to be quite a little problem too. What will people find to do with their spare time?

Dr. Pregel, the retiring president of the New York Academy of Sciences, says they will have to be re-educated in ways of using up their individual energy in leisure time pursuits.

His views on the future were presented at the academy's annual meeting Thursday night.

Japan to Help the Philippines

Will Finance 2 Costly Public Works Projects in Friendly Move

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan agreed today to help its World War II enemy, The Philippines, to finance two multi-million dollar public works projects.

Philippines President Carlos P. Garcia said his five-day official visit to Japan was a successful one that may have done more to bring the wartime foes closer together than years of effort in some other direction.

The Philippine statesman, who was acclaimed by millions of Japanese on his "forgive and forget" mission, took off for home, leaving International Airport aboard a chartered Philippines Airlines Viscount.

A joint communique announced Japan had agreed to facilitate the supply of the required credits for the Marikina River Multi-purpose project and the tele-communications expansion and improvement project. The credits will be supplied within the framework of reparations agreements. Details will be worked out later.

Teachers Save Children

POITIERS, France (UPI) — Fire ravaged the Roman Catholic school at nearby Liguge yesterday, but five women teachers led the 36 children to safety. No one was injured.
