Expect Russia to Block Debate on Release of 11

Diplomats Believe Red Protests Will Hold Up U.N. Discussion Briefly

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The 16 Korean War Allies looked for Russia to throw up procedural roadblocks today in an effort to delay U. N. Assembly debate on Red China's jailing of 11 U. S. fliers as spies.

Most diplomats felt, however, such Soviet tactics could not hold up action for more than a day on the Allies' demand that the U. N. denounce the Chinese action as a violation of the Korean armistice and seek the release of the men.

U.N. observers said Russia could delay things a while by:

1. Arguing the Assembly has no right to handle the case on grounds that it dealt with espionage rather than prisoners of war.

2. Demanding that the case be allocated first to the 60-nation Political Committee instead of going direct to the Assembly as recommended by the Steering Committee.

3. Insisting that Red China be invited here to give her side in the debate.

The Assembly must decide on all such points before turning to discussion of the Allied resolution, which calls on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work for release of the 11 airmen and report back to the Assembly by Dec. 31.

U. S. sources said they anticipated no opposition to the resolution except from the five-nation Soviet bloc and a few Asian states who feel the case should first be placed in the hands of the Korean Military Armistice Commission. The United States hopes for a big vote of approval that might influence Red China to free the prisoners.

U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. yesterday gave Hammarskjold a letter naming four other American airmen that Red Chinese representatives to the Geneva conference admitted were being held by Peiping. Lodge charged that their detention constituted an additional violation of the Korean armistice.

Detective Disarms Bandit

Thugs Advise Officers of Hold-Up Plan; Both Arrive on Schedule at Avon Inn

A Pontiac Police detective was praised for his bravery today after apprehending one of two would-be bandits in an attempted holdup at the Avon Inn in Avon Township last night.

Local police notified the Oakland County Sheriff's Department that the holdup would take place after William McCord, 33, of 2219 Ellery, called police to tell them that he and his partner, Harold Kinser, 37, of the Pontiac Hotel were going to rob the inn.

LaPONSIE

Detective James LaPonsie was among a group of police and sheriff's deputies dispatched to the bar and on the way out he spotted what he thought was the holdup vehicle.

LaPonsie radioed for a taxi and followed the car to the inn in the cab in order not to arouse suspicion. The other officers continued on in the police car.

Meanwhile, other officers, armed with shotguns, arrived at the scene and hid behind curtains.

LaPonsie followed McCord and Kinser into the tavern and sat at the end of the bar. When he saw McCord pull a gun on the owner, Steve Grapsas, LaPonsie got up and coolly said "I want to talk to you Mac."

McCord turned and pointed the gun at LaPonsie exclaiming, "Don't come any closer, copper, if you know what's good for you."

Disregarding the threats, LaPonsie continued walking toward McCord and disarmed and handcuffed him.

Kinser was apprehended by Sheriff's Deputies Steve Hawlick and Ross Miller.

McCord and Kinser, who are being held in Oakland County Jail on a charge of armed robbery, implicated Clyde Scheck, 40, of 122 Lafayette in the attempted holdup. Scheck, arrested at his home, denied any connection with the case.

Chief of Pontiac Police Detectives Capt. Clark M. Wheaton said that he would recommend LaPonsie for a bravery citation. "He's one of the bravest men I've ever seen," wheaton said.

Dems and GOP Deny President 'Weak' on Reds

Let Senator Organize 3rd Party, Eisenhower Tells Newsmen

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy stood virtually alone today in his denunciation of President Eisenhower. Most Republicans and Democrats rallied to the chief executive's defense.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland, National Republican Chairman Leonard F. Hall and even some McCarthy supporters bluntly repudiated the senator's charge that Eisenhower has been "weak" toward communism.

Only Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho) endorsed the 350-word statement in which McCarthy made his final break with the White House and plunged the Republicans into a new crisis expected to be carried all the way to the party's 1956 national convention.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference today that if Sen. McCarthy and his followers want to form a new third party, it is their own business. Formation of a third party, he said, would be very difficult.

As for McCarthy's attack on him yesterday, Eisenhower said he has no intention himself of indulging in personal vituperation or quarrels of any kind with anyone.

McCarthy made his surprise statement yesterday shortly before leaving for a 10-day rest at a secret retreat. He denounced Eisenhower for praising two leaders in his condemnation by the Senate and for a "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism. And he apologized for supporting the President's election in 1952.

It was the final smashup of McCarthy's long - troubled relations with the President. And in the welter of statements and speculation that followed, these general conclusions emerged today:

1. Few Republicans are presently ready to follow McCarthy

AT CIO CONVENTION—Secretary of Labor James Mitchell (left) is congratulated by Walter Reuther, CIO president, after the cabinet member addressed the union's national convention at Los Angeles yesterday. At a later press conference Mitchell described Sen. McCarthy's remarks about President Eisenhower as "unfounded and untrue" and a "deplorable thing to do."

Expect CIO to Adopt Code Protecting Welfare Funds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The CIO convention today was expected to adopt a code designed to safeguard union welfare funds from graft and "make sure that maximum benefits" are paid to beneficiaries.

An ethical practices committee came up with the code after receiving the views of insurance firms and other experts in the field at recent hearings in New York City.

Disclosures that some union officials and insurance brokers had profited handsomely from handling such funds prompted the study.

Among the recommendations slated for convention adoption were:

1. Welfare funds should be audited at least semiannually by independent certified public accountants.

2. Trustees should make public at least once a year "all pertinent facts concerning the administration of welfare funds, fees paid and for what purpose.

3. Company or union officials acting as trustees or administrators should not get extra compensation beyond their regular salaries.

4. Welfare programs carried

Says Dr. Sam's Teeth Chipped

Dentist Who Examined Sheppard After Killing Testifying Today

CLEVELAND (UP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard's dentist testified today Sheppard's teeth were chipped when he examined them 11 days after the murder of Marilyn Sheppard.

A piece of a tooth, so far unidentified, was found beneath the bed where Sheppard's wife was beaten to death July 4. Dr. Sheppard is on trial for his life, accused of killing her.

Sheppard claims that he struggled with an unknown assailant in the bedroom, and that he was knocked unconscious there.

The dentist, Richard E. Cook, said he examined Sheppard's teeth July 15.

"The upper right cuspid and bicuspid were loose and chipped," he said.

Prosecution attorneys, cross-examining, asked him to step down from the witness stand and examine the accused man's teeth in court. He did so, and said they are not loose now.

Preceding this witness, Dr. Clifford C. Foster, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, testified he examined Sheppard on the afternoon of the murder.

Like other witnesses, he described a swollen right cheek, a black eye and a swelling at the back of the neck.

Under cross-examination, Dr. Foster conceded "you could have a mark on the neck from continued pressure there."

Height, Schmite —Michigan Tree Tops New York's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tall, stately and very proud looking, the nation's official Christmas tree—from Michigan—charmed the capitol today.

The 67-foot balsam fir from Michigan State College forests near Rudyard, was all set to take command in the glittering manner to which Christmas trees are accustomed.

For a time, yesterday, however, there had been dark doubt regarding the tree.

If this had been true, the resultant indignity would have been something scandalous.

A skeptic questioned whether the great fir was actually 67 feet in height, or only 58.

The lesser figure would have made the tree shorter than the 65-footer of New York City's Rockefeller Center.

Michigan's tree had been widely described as the higher of the two. With all the pomp and ceremony prepared, to be required now to take a back seat couldn't be tolerated.

The tree is to stand in the ellipse across A street from the White House. President Eisenhower, punching a button, will light it at 5:17 p.m. Dec. 17 to set off a three-week Pageant of Peace.

The doubt over the tree's height—which was hastily dispelled—arose because of somebody who claimed to know all about railroad flat cars' dimensions.

The tree was brought here by train via Chicago on two flat cars.

Flat cars usually are 40 feet long. By that sort of figuring Michigan's tree measured only 58 feet, based on its overlapping of the second car.

En route, the tree picked up added holiday sentiment. There were autographs on its base where the saws had cut smoothly.

One said "Merry Christmas, Ike."

Then it was happily discovered that these flat cars were different. Each was 52 feet 6 inches long. That took care of things nicely. Folks rejoiced once more.

Chou Claims U.S. Is Provoking War

LONDON (UP)— Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai said tonight the United States government committed "a grave warlike provocation" by entering a few days ago into a mutual security treaty with the Chinese Nationalists.

Chou's bristling statement, broad cast by the Peiping radio, threatened that if the United States does not withdraw all its forces from Formosa, the Formosa Strait and Penghu Islands "and persists in interfering in China's internal affairs, it must take upon itself all the grave consequences."

Chou described Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as "the public enemy of the Chinese people."

Warmer Weather Forecast Tomorrow

After several days of cold weather, with a low of 14 recorded last night in the Pontiac area, the forecast for tomorrow is higher temperatures and partly cloudy skies.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says it will be between 25 and 29 degrees tonight, with a high Thursday near 35. Tomorrow night there is a possibility of rain or snow and a low of 30 to 33.

Yesterday's high was 27 degrees with sunny skies most of the day.

Today in downtown Pontiac, the mercury registered 20 degrees at 8 a.m., rising to 30 by 2 p.m.

Cooley Suggests 'Buffer Zones'

Thinks Business Areas Could Separate Industry From Residences

Establishment of "buffer zones" between industrial and residential areas was urged by Commissioner Roy V. Cooley at last night's City Commission meeting.

"If we are going to make Pontiac a good place to live we should set up such zones, preferably business areas," Cooley said.

"We want and need industry, but we should put a commercial ring around it."

Cooley said he believed it was the City Plan Commission's job to set up such zones. "They just approve or deny individual zoning requests," he said.

City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn agreed with Cooley and went on to suggest "a complete re-evaluation of the whole zoning picture in Pontiac."

Cooley said the Board of Education is doing what the city should be doing: Planning ahead and anticipating future needs.

"We can encourage industry to go to certain areas and people to live in certain areas," he said.

Accident War Campaign Gets City-Wide Backing

Pontiac's campaign effort for an "Army of 10,000," in support of the President's S-D Day on Dec. 15, is reaching all four corners of the city today by volunteers who have pledged a battle against one of the nation's top killers—traffic accidents.

Clyle R. Haskill, S-D Day chairman, said the drive for 10,000 also was heightened today by Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body, and GMC Truck and Coach Divisions who are circulating the petition among their thousands of employes.

"With this kind of cooperation from the major industry of General Motors," said Haskill, "our petition we intend to send to President Eisenhower may contain 30,000 signatures."

In the two days of petitioning the police and fire departments, approximately 5,000 have been obtained, said Haskill.

Civic groups, fraternal orders and youth organizations were the latest to subscribe their aid in raising the huge army.

Haskill said the petitions will be placed in all downtown stores starting today through next Tuesday when the scroll will be forwarded to the President.

Some 50 persons are carrying the petition today throughout the residential districts of the city. However, the main enlistment

Ann Arbor Man Named to Court

Talbot Smith Picked to Succeed Bushnell on State Supreme Bench

LANSING (UP) — Talbot Smith, Ann Arbor attorney, was named to the Michigan Supreme Court today by Gov. G. Mennen Williams to succeed Justice George E. Bushnell who will retire Jan. 10.

Smith's appointment followed a decision by Bushnell to move his retirement date from Dec. 31 of this year to Jan. 10 next year. The change means Smith will stand for election in the fall of 1956 instead of next spring.

Williams said Smith, 55, "an outstanding lawyer of unimpeachable character, will be a worthy successor" to Bushnell who served 21 years on the high court.

Smith served on the governor's Board of Inquiry into the Jackson prison riot and is a member of the State Corrections Commission.

He was deputy administrator of OPA during the war and taught law at the universities of California and Missouri.

He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy and the University of Michigan Law School. Smith served in the Navy from 1917 to 1931 and was admitted to the state bar in 1934.

Williams said Smith's appointment was urged by unanimous action of his fellow lawyers in the Washtenaw County Bar Association.

The governor said Bushnell changed his retirement date with the full approval of incumbent Chief Justice Henry M. Butzel and Justice Leland W. Carr, who will assume the office of chief justice Jan. 1, 1955.

U.N. Believes Reds Still Holding 526 GIs

By FRED SPARKS

TOKYO (NEA) — The Chinese Communists still keep several hundred American soldiers, sailors and aviators—captured during the Korean conflict—in primitive, Oriental prisons. They are estimated to number 526.

In the proven tradition of Marx, Malenkov and Mao, wardens are abusing the bodies of these young men—better to wash their brains.

From time to time in the future, Peiping again may slap the United States in the face and announce the "trial" of more servicemen for "spying" and their sentences: More years behind bamboo bars.

These are the facts and calculated opinions of bitter officers in the United Nations command who have followed, so far as humanly possible, every allied soldier captured in Korea.

The recent revelation that 11 fliers and two civilians were convicted of spying has established a pattern for tomorrow that will allow no holiday for heartbreak in countless American homes.

This correspondent, who covered the Panmunjom truce talks and interviewed misty-eyed GIs released from Red compounds, wrote during "Operation Big Switch:"

"As we move from military truce to political parley the ghosts of the missing Americans will tap, tap, tap on the shoulders of U.N. diplomats."

Eighteen months later they are still tapping.

Below I have written their story. It is a story obtained from the United Nations command on Tokyo's "Pershing Heights," where the lights burn late these nights as Asia's peace flickers like a candle on your Christmas tree:

The Command insists 2840 captured men—including 526 Americans—have never been properly accounted for by the Communists.

(General Mark Clark, former commander here, recently said the Reds are holding 100 Yanks as "hostages. . .perhaps to get a seat for Red China in the U.N. . . .")

A competent team of personnel experts reached the 526 figure by these five methods:

(1) Collaborating statements by released GIs who said they saw buddies alive and well at the time of "Big Switch." If one soldier said: "I saw 'Joe Doe' in our camps," that's not sufficient; there must have been several witnesses.

(2) Letters written by missing men to families from POW camps.

(3) Photographs of missing men issued by Communist press agencies—usually showing the POWs, healthy chests exposed, enjoying the "delights" of their residence like Boy Scouts on summer encampment.

(4) Red Radio broadcasts featuring identified voices of still missing men, often "commercials" (obtained under what pressure?) urging the Free World to run and buy a party line.

(5) Missing men whom the Communists once admitted holding, now say they never heard of.

The last futile protest was made at a Panmunjom Armistice Commission meeting in late August by a U.N. spokesman who said: "We Expect New Postal Annex to Cut Holiday Congestion

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — The usual long line of package-laden residents at the local Post Office should be at a minimum this year, according to an announcement made by Acting Postmaster Roland W. Reese yesterday.

"For the first time in its history the Post Office here will have an annex," he said. "Originally planned for incoming mail only, the post office will now operate a branch at the former Wilson-Cadillac salesroom at 275 N. Woodward, through the Christmas season."

Reese said the outlet opened today and will remain open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily through Dec. 18.

All parcel post services will be available and there will be windows for mailing letters and purchasing stamps. Some services, such as registered mail, money orders, and commercial envelope sales will be maintained at the main office only, he reminded.

Starting Friday stamp and parcel post windows at the Martin street office will operate from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. The main station will also be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on two Sundays, Dec. 12 and 19.

President Avoids Any Reply to McCarthy

into an open conflict with a President who is considered necessary to keep the party in power and if possible, somewhat unified.

2. A showdown between pro-Eisenhower and McCarthy supporters is almost sure to come at the GOP's 1956 national convention and the effect on the party's chances in that year's presidential elections could be crucial. The pressure on Eisenhower to run for another term will be intense.

3. In the opinion of many Republicans, McCarthy gave the Democrats a political boost by tagging the administration with the same charges of softness toward communism which Republicans have used against the Democrats.

4. McCarthy's attack on the President was viewed by some observers as a clear indication he was more deeply affected by his Senate condemnation than he wanted people to think.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon declined to comment but in Los Angeles a member of the President's cabinet, Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, said "all my upbringing makes my blood boil that this attack was made on the President . . . the record indicates McCarthy's allegations are unfounded."

Democrats were not exactly broken up by the widening fissure in the GOP. But Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss), a member of the censure committee, said he was "deeply concerned at any attack from whatever source that in any way impugns the loyalty of the President of the United States."

Welker said in Los Angeles that he is backing McCarthy because Eisenhower should not have praised McCarthy's critics. The President praised the first censure speech of Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt) and Saturday lauded the work Sen. Arthur Watkins (R-Utah) did as chairman of the censure committee.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (Mich) head of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, branded McCarthy's statement unjustified. Sen Eugene D. Millikin (Colo), head of the Republican caucus, said "I regret the attack on the President." Millikin opposed McCarthy's condemnation.

Flanders, author of the original censure resolution, said McCarthy had issued a "declaration of war" against Eisenhower and the GOP. Sen. Charles E. Potter (Mich), only Republican member of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee to vote for his condemnation, felt the Senator's "latest outburst should be written off as a reflex irritation."

McCarthy delivered his blast during a hearing of his investigating subcommittee. He called it a kind of "swan song" since he will have to step out as chairman when the Democrats take over in January.

The White House's first reaction was a statement asserting that the administration has convicted, indicted, deported or otherwise moved against 762 persons and 62 subversive organizations in the two years it has been in office.

Want City Hall Site Named After Stephen Mack

At the suggestion of Joe Haas, of the Pontiac Press, Commissioner Harcourt S. Patterson last night recommended to the City Commission that the new City Hall site be named Mack Square in honor of Pontiac's founder.

A Revolutionary War veteran, Col. Stephen Mack organized the Pontiac Co. in Detroit in 1818 and secured government grants on a tract of land where the Saginaw Indian trail forded what is now the Clinton River.

Mack made the first plat of the community, according to Haas. In it, he provided for a public square near the site of the new City Hall.

Nothing of a substantial nature ever has been done to honor the founder's memory here. A street named for him was later re-named.

Unanimous informal support was given the proposal by the six city commissioners present.

Danger of War Less Now: Ike

Tells News Conference Chinese 'Morally Bound' to Release PWs

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that danger of global war has diminished in recent years notwithstanding Red China's imprisonment of American war prisoners.

The President told news conference reporters that the Chinese Communists are morally bound to release Americans imprisoned during the Korean War. He insisted that the men all should have been returned long ago.

The President was asked by a reporter whether he could say the chances for continued peace are brighter now than at any other time since Eisenhower took office. The reporter said he was asking the question "aside" from the issue of the imprisoned airmen.

Eisenhower replied that he believes the free worlds fear of a global war actually has been subsiding ever since he went to Europe as chief of the North Atlantic Treaty defense system.

Michigan Will Draft 1,151 Men in January

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will draft 1,151 men, including 55 from Oakland County, into the armed forces in January, the State Selective Service headquarters announced today.

All men inducted in January will be at least 20 years old, Col. Arthur A. Holmes, State Selective Service director, said.

Col. Holmes said the number of volunteers continues to be high throughout the state. He said local boards report that at least 70 per cent of the January call will be filled by volunteers.

Oxford Citizens Protest on Road

Ask Governor to Have M24 Widened Beyond Lake Orion

Nine prominent Oxford citizens have urged Gov. G. Mennen Williams to extend the planned widening of M24 beyond Lake Orion to eliminate "Slaughter Hill," north of Oxford, where eight people have died this year.

In a telegram sent Monday, the day after five persons were killed in a five-car pile-up on the hill, the citizens declared:

"The State Highway Dept.'s plans on widening M24 to a four-lane highway from Pontiac to Lake Orion . . . stops six miles short of improving the most dangerous section of the entire highway.

"The proposed plan of the highway department will only lead to further accidents and deaths. The results of this short-sighted widening will only channel more traffic into the already congested highway.

"Can the State of Michigan continue to ignore this death stretch? Is the cost of highway construction so high that it overshadows the loss of human lives?"

The message ends by requesting a conference with the governor to discuss the widening beyond the current plans.

Included among the signers were Ted Pearson Jr., village president, and Fred Beardsley, state representative from District 1.

Local Groups Back War on Accidents station is located at Huron and Saginaw Sts., where Pontiac Police are accepting signatures.

Haskill said that other manufacturing plants, regardless of size, will be given petitions for employe signatures.

Haskill said Pontiac's four taxicab companies, Yellow Cab, Pontiac Cab, Veteran's Cab, and Red Top Cab, along with the Pontiac Motorcycle Club and the Pontiac Hot Rod Safety Committee pledge their memberships for the drive's success.

Others pledging are the Fleet Carriers Corp., Contract Cartage Co., Truckaway Corp., Motorcar Transport Co., and the F. J. Boutell Driveaway Co. They have signed more than 500 employes.

Thomas Danker, of Fleet Carriers, said his drivers are carrying the safety message outside the city and "familiarizing other areas with our drive here."

Pontiac's newest radio station, WPON and the Chamber of Commerce, said Haskill, are lending their aid toward completion of the drive.

Haskill said the present drive is intended to show the nation that Pontiac is taking a lead in pledging its loyalty to the S-D Day purpose — not one traffic accident in the entire U. S. on Dec. 15.

Bank Bandits Nabbed Minutes After Robbery

ECORSE (UP) — Two men robbed the Newport State Bank of nearly $3,000 today and were captured a few minutes later by Ecorse police.

The two men escaped from Newport, six miles south of Flat Rock in Monroe County, after locking three bank employes in the vault.

Ecorse police, alerted by State Police radio, intercepted the getaway car a short distance from Detroit. They said the money, estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000, was still in the car.

Reports Morphine Theft

A bag of medical equipment and supplies, including 2½ grains of morphine, were reported stolen last night from the automobile of Dr. Donald E. Fraser, of 55 Niagara street.

Dr. Fraser, an osteopath, told police his car was entered while it was parked around the corner from his office. The stolen property was valued at $300.

Pontiac Deaths

Harvey Beach Sr.

Funeral service will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Pursley Funeral Home for Harvey Beach Sr., 82, of 7120 Andersonville Rd. Dr. H. H. Savage of the First Baptist Church will officiate with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Beach died Monday at his home after a brief illness.

Camille A. DeCeuninck

Camille Arthur DeCeuninck, 77, of 2173 Klingensmith Rd. died this morning at Pontiac General Hospital after a three weeks' illness.

Born in Belgium Feb. 14, 1877, he was the son of Charles and Romanie Bassuyt DeCeuninck. He married Irma Waelkens in Belgium in 1900.

Mr. DeCeuninck came to this country in 1912. Six weeks ago, he came from Roseville to Pontiac to live with his daughter, Mrs. Adolph (Georgina) Carler. He was a member of St. Benedict's Catholic Church and was employed as a plasterer tender.

Besides his daughter, he is survived by two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are three sisters and seven brothers, Mrs. Hector (Maria) Callens of St. Clair Shores, Mrs. John Coussens, Mrs. Albert Van D' Huynslager, Gentiel, Honore, Medard, all of Belgium, Cyriel, O'Dilon, Maurice of France and Leopold of Drayton Plains.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Dudley H. Moore Funeral Home.

Charles Dubensky

Charles Dubensky 67, of 566 E. Columbia Ave. died Saturday at Ford Hospital, Detroit.

He was a veteran of World War I and had retired from Pontiac Motor Division several years ago.

Mr. Dubensky is at the Pursley Funeral Home. Arrangements will be announced later.

Ralph E. Gosset

Ralph E. Gosset, 74, a former resident of Pontiac for 34 years, died Saturday. The funeral was held yesterday at Allen's Funeral Home, Lake Orion at 4 p.m. with the Rev. Walter C. Ballagh of the First Baptist Church officiating. Burial was in Eastlawn Cemetery.

He was born in England April 22, 1880 and had been living in Detroit before his death.

Surviving are a son, Ralph A. of Lansing and a sister, Mrs. Harry G. Reisig of Detroit.

Teachers Fatten Pay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Many school teachers are working at outside jobs to help ends meet. At a recent meeting of the school board approval was given to 133 teachers to hold jobs ranging from meat cutters to clerks in stores and one teacher said he was laying bricks.

Wrong Number Gets Groceries but No Dancing

If it's groceries you want, call FE 3-7173. That's the number of Jacobs' Grocery at 616 W. Huron.

But if it's ballroom dance lessons you are after, try FE 3-7131. That's the city hall phone number and they will connect you with the Parks and Recreation Dept.

Somehow the grocery store's telephone number got into a story in yesterday's Pontiac Press describing an up-coming ballroom dancing class.

This morning, owner Gerald Jacobs could hardly sell groceries for answering the telephone from would-be ballroom experts.

"We've probably had 15 or 20 calls," Jacobs said.

So please, get the Press and Jacobs off the hook. For dance class registration, phone FE 3-7131.

Pair Ask Examination in Robbery Charge

Ronsom Campbell, 22, of 722 Kinney St., and Thomas J. Graham, 35, of 442 Broadway St., both charged with robbery unarmed, demanded examination and were returned to Oakland County Jail in default of $5,000 bonds each after their arraignment yesterday before Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

They are accused of robbing two Hotel Pontiac employes Friday night in the hotel's restroom. Pontiac Police, who arrested the pair over the weekend, said they took $8 from Carl Copenhaver, desk clerk, and $40 from Milton Vasilaskos, the hotel's bartender.

Campbell and Graham are scheduled for the hearing Dec. 15.

Francis Galton, geneticist of 1822-1911, first suggested use of fingerprints for purposes of identification of criminals.

U.N. Believes Reds Hold 526 Americans

present to you a list of UNC personnel who were held by your side preceding the end of hostilities, who were not returned to our side . . . (the 2840—526 Americans, 2264 ROKs, 50 others.)"

The commie spokesman, addressing the allied officer as if he were at a Red Square rally, shrieked: "This openly fabricated roster . . . an attempt to slander our side. . .there are no captured personnel of your side for who our side has to do additional accounting. . ."

This lie was later nailed when the Reds advertised the "trial" of the 11 airmen. Perhaps in future "trials" they'll also deny anyone involved was seized as a simple soldier—but as a super-spy. A scrabble game with human beings.

Allowing for occasional faulty identity in the confusion of prisonship—and for some deaths from disease, accident and maltreatment—it is conservatively assumed that many of the 526 are still alive, waiting to be used when it serves Peiping's fancy.

In order to grant mothers, wives and other kinfolk the small compensation of survivor benefit, the Defense Department now lists all but 24 of the 526 POWs as "presumed dead."

Once again the air-conditioned glass house of Manhattan's East River houses a U.N. debate on how to force Red China's hand. And the ghosts of the missing Americans tap, tap, tap on the shoulders of U.N. diplomats.

Ichiro Hatoyama's Name Sounds Like It Looks

TOKYO (AP) — Ichiro Hatoyama, likely next prime minister of Japan, is pronounced "Ee-chee-ro Hat-o-yah-mah."

All syllables are pronounced evently, no accent.

Announce New Way to Relieve Pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism Without Pills!

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name InfraRUB®. The price of InfraRUB is only 98¢ for a large tube. InfraRUB is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

Hal Boyle Says:

No Actor Should Expect to Leap Into Commercials

NEW YORK (AP)—When you think of the people you meet along life's weary toll road. . . .

Such as Banjo Feet. Now here was a man who had everything it takes to get ahead in this world. Broad feet and, well, this is a kid from our own neighborhood, and anything would get you ahead there.

So Banjo Feet got ahead. He played center on our football team. You probably remember our yell: "south 40 hay, north 40 clover, we can whip anybody, over and over!"

* * *

Banjo Feet wasn't a very good center at the start. Nobody could knock his shoes off the ground, of course. But they did kind of shove him from one side to the other, so that every once in a while, after he had bent over too far, he would snap back and knock the enemy ball carrier back on the next play.

Gradually he learned to get the bo-o-o-o-o wang of it! Then, as he sharpened up—b-o-o-ing!

They would bump him in one direction and old Banjo Feet would immediately give a counter vibration and knock the opposing player head over heels. Boiang! Boing! Boiang! Boiang! Our team's Ball!

* * *

I suppose in the whole history of football there was never a center quite like old Banjo Feet. He could bend into the opposing line from any angle, holding his balance like a salt shaker, sifting out the blockers and then, all of a sudden, go "bo-o-o-o-ing!" — and b a s h the enemy ball carrier back for a 5 yard loss.

You would think that the forward pass would defeat old Banjo Feet. But not him. They never had a chance to throw the ball. Because the moment the other side started calling signals old Banjo Feet would start vibrating and by the time the other side's quarterback got the ball—well, "Bo-o-o-ing!" hed be knocked back off balance.

* * *

There isn't much more to say about Banjo Feet. After he got out of college he was offered a contract in pro football. He and his wife and three kids talked it over—he believed in family decisions—and they agreed that the enlarged opportunity still didn't justify taking a cut in salary.

They turned the offer down.

Instead Banjo Feet went into television, and figures he's got a million-dollar future.

He doesn't know of anyone else who can stand on his own two sturdy feet and go "bo-o-o-ing, bo-o-o-ing, bo-o-o-wang!"

But he feels sure, after watching the other video commercials, that a guy with his talents can't lack a sponsor long. Meanwhile, until he can get a steady commercial he's killing time by taking guest spots on regular programs.

Moral: No actor, no matter how talented, should expect to leap immediately from a Shakespearan role to a product endorsement on television. Responsibility comes gradually in the fine arts.

STOP "COLD STALLING!"

GET PHILLIPS 66 Flite-Fuel

THE ONLY GASOLINE CONTAINING ADDED DI-ISOPROPYL

There's nothing more exasperating than a cold engine that "dies" at the first stop light. Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL offers protection from such "cold stalling" and gives you easy starting . . . better all around performance.

Phillips was the first to make Di-isopropyl and also HF Alkylate. Until recently these valuable components were restricted by government order for use only in aircraft gasoline. But now authorities have removed restrictions and they can be used in motor fuel.

FLITE-FUEL brings you more power, higher anti-knock, and longer mileage. You also benefit from the clean burning qualities of Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL. Get it at your Phillips 66 Dealer's.

And here's the perfect running mate for Flite-Fuel

Phillips 66 TROP-ARTIC is the new All-Weather motor oil, for winter or summer use. Compared to ordinary motor oils it can reduce oil consumption, extend gasoline mileage, and even double the life of an engine.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Children Love to Buy Them

Stock Up Menfolk on Shaving Supplies

There is probably no other gift that fits a child's Christmas budget better than cosmetics for her father or brother or grandfather.

In the first place, there are few cosmetics that men use: shaving creams, lotions, talcum powders and deodorants. And any one or two or three can make a gift.

It's important, of course, to know what kind of shave the gent likes. If he's an electric shave devotee, forget all about it. The best you can do here is buy an astringent that is used for pre-shaves.

But if he goes for lathers or brushless creams, there are a host of items on the market.

Shulton, for example, has an Old Spice shaving cup—the soap is in a wooden bowl and the brush simply pick up the lather.

Yardley makes a masculine-scented cream that comes out in a ribbon onto the brush. And Sutton has a shaving stick, soap in solid form.

In brushless lather, there are both the wipe-on variety made by most cosmetics houses and foam-on cans that are backed up with air pressure to squirt out great gobs of lather.

In the after-shave lotions department, use your own nose in buying the gift. You an't go far wrong, and most men will use any lotion their women think nice.

The deodorants are another matter. If the man doesn't use one and you'd like him to, Christmas is a good time to start him. Otherwise, stick to the kind he's been using.

For the more elaborate cosmetic gift, look into the selection of traveling cases. YYardley, Shulton and others put out regular supplies of cosmetics in such cases.

FOR DAD—Cosmetics are a good gift for Dad from the youngsters in the family. Sold in sets or as separate items, they fit any piggy-bank budget.

Kentucky Truant Officer Denied Plea to Use Gun

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The state attorney general's office has turned down a request from truant officer E. G. Clemons of Jackson County that he be allowed to carry a concealed weapon.

Clemons wrote that his job of rounding up mountain boys playing hooky takes him into "places where my personal safety is in danger." But he was told by the state that a gun might "get you into a lot of trouble."

Please Train Fancier

While not as spectacular as a new locomotive or car, you would be surprised what a hit you'll make with a toy train owner if you give a large package of extra pieces of track. Be sure of the gauge, however. There are several.

To Sift Waste Paper for Lost Documents

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Two members of the state historian's staff planned to fly to Mont Rolland, Que., today to comb through 15,000 pounds of waste paper.

They'll search for thousands of state historical documents hauled off by mistake last October by a waste collector hired to remove files discarded by the State Department of Audit and Control. They've been traced to a paper mill in Mont Rolland.

* * *

Dr. Albert Corey, state historian, said the papers included a 1795 treaty with the Cayuga Indians, fiscal papers of governors from 1815 to 1830 and early railroad contracts. He said he feared many had already been destroyed in the paper reconversion process.

In 1888 New York City boasted about 10,000 telephones; today it has 3,695,000.

Leaders Barter for Yoshida Job

Conservative - Socialist Coalition Picking New Jap Prime Minister

TOKYO (AP)—Brain trusters of a strange conservative-Socialist coalition that drove Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida from office huddled today to bargain over his successor.

The coalition agreed to call a vote for a new prime minister tomorrow in the lower house. The Diet approved extension of its special session through tomorrow for the balloting.

Ichiro Hatoyama, who favors increased trade with Red China within a framework of friendship with the West, appears to have the inside track.

* * *

But he may have to pay a stiff price to get Socialist backing.

The Socialists are reported demanding that Hatoyama rule only for a month or two and then call new elections which the Socialists think will bring them big gains.

The threat of a comeback by Yoshida's Liberal party probably will help keep the Socialists in line behind Hatoyama.

Mother, Three Children Perish as House Burns

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—An Indianapolis mother and three children died last night in the flames which destroyed their frame duplex home.

Dead were Mrs. Mary Merrifield, 36, and her three sons, Robert 8; John, 3; and Thomas, 4.

A daughter, Juanita, 13, escaped from the blaze.

Pontiac Declares War on Traffic Accidents

Pontiac has jumped into the lead in the fight to make S-D Day accident free.

It has declared war on traffic injuries and deaths. As evidence of this, 10,000 or more pedestrians and motorists are being asked to sign within eight days, a petition to be sent to President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

This pledges each signer to do his utmost on S-D Day, December 15, to help make the 24 hour period free of any auto mishaps as requested by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety.

The idea of such promotion on S-D Day was born at a meeting between local Chairman Clyle R. Haskill and the Press. Already General Motors Truck & Coach Division, Boy Scouts and Pontiac Boys Club have pledged enthusiastic co-operation.

★ ★ ★

There never has been any doubt about the need for action. It is emphasized by Michigan's week-end traffic toll of 20 killed and the 1953 U. S. toll of 38,300 lives lost on our highways.

Do your part. Help win the fight.

Butler Dems' Chairman

Party unity is now the watchword and goal of the Democrats.

This was indicated by the circumstances under which Paul M. Butler of South Bend was elected national chairman to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell, resigned.

The Notre Dame alumnus polled 70 of the 105 votes in the first such Democrat election held in a half century. Usually national chairmen are chosen behind closed doors at national conventions.

★ ★ ★

Another indication of an all out party effort to heal the rift between the South and big city machines in the North came in the support given Butler. That the South was strong for him was shown by the support he got even from South Carolina.

Incidentally, Butler was the unanimous first choice of the Michigan delegation. He was opposed by such big city machine bosses as Col. Jake Arvey of Chicago, Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh and Carmine G. DeSapio of New York's Tammany.

★ ★ ★

Butler's election reportedly is considered by Democrats to be as strong a bid for party unity as the plans being made to bury the divisive party loyalty oath.

Butler, an attorney, has been in politics since 1927. He has held almost every office in the state organization except that of chairman. He is known as a Stevenson supporter.

Michigan Farmers Excel

With agricultural attention centered on Chicago in recent days it is heartening to note that high honors were won by several Michigan farm folk.

Especially noteworthy was the achievement of 17 year old Elson Baur of Unionville. He walked off with the award which makes him the 1954 Wheat King of North America.

★ ★ ★

Clayton Rohles & Sons of Fairgrove won the reserve oats chairmanship in the Larain variety. Field bean honors went to Clarence Diener of Merrill. In livestock competition, sheep division, Michigan State College captured top honors with its Oxford ram.

Farm youngsters achieved distinction when a Michigan team emerged victorious in the national 4-H livestock judging contest. Members of this team are Philip House, 15, of Rosebush; Don Nitz, 16, of Baroda; Nancy Allen, 16, of Ithaca and Donald McCalla, 17, of Whittemore.

★ ★ ★

Like automobiles and the resort industry, agriculture is basic in Michigan's economy. It is good to know that our farmers win high honors in competition with the entire Nation.

New Aid Plan for Asia

In foreign policy at least it isn't quite true that there is nothing new under the sun.

Proof of that is the talk being heard in Government circles about a new and different Marshall Plan for Asiatic countries. The big difference between this proposal and the highly successful Marshall Plan for Europe is the fact that the United States would not be the sole financial backer.

★ ★ ★

The proposal includes the suggestion that European beneficiaries of the Marshall Plan should join us in helping Asiatics achieve higher living standards. There is much to be said for the idea of these countries extending their helping hands to Asia as ours not so long ago was extended to them.

★ ★ ★

Much more important, the new plan has an extremely practical side. With such a broad, co-operative base it undoubtedly would receive more sympathetic consideration from a Congress weary of appropriating foreign aid funds.

This Marshall type proposal may or may not be the answer. But certainly if we are going to make peaceful co-existence work, we can't sit idly by and watch Asian countries flounder.

Only Wanted to Create Public Interest in the Postal System, Says Jesse Young

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

If I gave a false impression regarding our postmaster, I am sorry. That was not my intention. All I was interested in was getting the people interested in the way the postal system operates and why it operates in the red every year.

Very few people understand the system. It was started as a service to the people but now it has become a slave to the large firms. The man who uses a three cent stamp once in a while and pays taxes is paying for these firms to dump tons of this third class junk into the system.

Most people do not want it in their mailboxes to begin with. The American people should open their eyes to this situation and maybe the dead-heads in Washington could see fit to lower taxes and give our postal employees a living wage.

We Are Responsible for Prosperity of U. S.

The prosperity and stability of our United States and the government thereof depends upon the sum total of the actions of the individuals so it comes right back to yourself and myself as to the kind of government we will have and the prosperity of our great country.

If you and I live beyond our means, buy things that we do not need and cannot pay for, waste our time in idle frivolities, we are only breeding trouble for ourselves and we are in trouble and very unhappy.

As a reflection of what the great masses are doing, our government is going through the same process and will eventually end up in the same place and we will be in the midst of the greatest depression ever experienced by mankind.

On the other hand, if you and I and everyone else will curb our desires, buy only what we need and must have and lead careful and frugal lives, depending upon God for guidance, we will be much happier. It will have a salutory effect on our Government and the great threatened catastrophy to our country will be avoided.

The government cannot save us, we can only save ourselves by right living and depending on God and by so doing save our country. Won't you help by giving it a try?

Young Married Couples Shouldn't Live With Parents of Either Wife or Husband

Here is a fine young couple engaged in fighting and quarreling, but who can be turned into a loving pair by use of a few basic psychological laws.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-387: Grace G., aged 29, is the wife of a young physician and mother of a three-year-old son. She is an only child and they have lived with her parents ever since they have been married.

"We simply cannot go on like this any longer," Grace exclaimed. "Pat is rude to my mother and argues and swears at us. He gets drunk and threatens to kill my parents.

"Last week he came home from the office about midnight and we quarreled. Then he began drinking and we quarreled some more. Finally we started to bed, and when I wouldn't kiss him goodnight, he tried to throw me downstairs. I managed to get loose and ran into my parents' room, where I locked the door.

"Pat pounded and cursed and finally struck the door so hard that he broke a bone in his hand. Well, that's just one of our fights. I think we should get a divorce, don't you?

"Pat insisted that I come to see you first, so I promised him I would, but I don't think anything can be done at this late date, do you?"

I've heard both sides of this problem, for Pat had visited me on three previous occasions. Here are the essential facts. Pat was a poor medical graduate when he married Grace, the only child of wealthy parents.

They financed him and were very generous toward helping him get started in practice. But his wife in her quarrels would tell him that the only reason he was succeeding was because of her father's money and influence.

And she kept deferring to her father's opinion in many other matters, so that Pat grew angry at her apparent disregard for his judgment.

He thus became jealous of her father's influence over her. It was a case of the younger man being envious of the added professional success and wealth of the older man.

I have met Grace's parents and they are both intelligent as well as gracious. But no young couple should live with either the wife's or the husband's parents. Despite the best of intentions, each couple will get on the nerves of the other.

This was especially true in Grace's case, since she is a nervous only child. To make matters worse, Pat idolized her and remained true to her despite the fact that they had marital relations only nine times in the previous ten months.

So he was kept nervous and irritable. Had he run around with other women, he might not have cared so much and hence would not have quarreled so violently.

Grace had failed to avail herself of the best nerve sedative in the world—happy marital relations. Instead, she was driving herself and her husband into bitter quarreling. They both nagged at each other.

I told Grace that she owed it to herself and her child, as well as to Pat, to try housekeeping in a little apartment by themselves, even if she had to do her own work and economize greatly. If she wished a divorce, she could certainly get one a year later if after twelve months of sincere effort, she still failed to have a happy home.

She and Pat were not villains. They certainly should be able to live together without biting each other's heads off, at least for one year.

And if she did not try to salvage her marriage now, in years to come when the boy was growing up in a broken home, she would often feel guilty for not having made a real effort to save him from the stigma of divorced parents. They followed my advice, and are now happy.

Send for my medico-psychological bulletin, "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a 3c stamped addressed envelope, plus a dime. It helped Grace salvage her home.

Aunt Het

I reckon I could afford a girl to help me, but the strain of watchin' work done wrong is worse than doin' it yourself.

McCarthy's Attack on Ike Removes a False Front

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's attack on President Eisenhower has peeled back the covers at last for all the nation to see what a good many people have known for a long time.

It's been a well-leaked secret for months hereabouts that Eisenhower didn't have much use for McCarthy, and also that the Wisconsin Republican's esteem for the President could be loaded into an eye dropper with space to spare.

Thus McCarthy's scalding criticism of Eisenhower for an alleged "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism comes with no great shock of surprise in many quarters. In fact, an open collision before this seemingly has been dodged only by some fancy verbal footwork on both sides.

* * *

In his latest bombshell, McCarthy didn't speak out impulsively or in the heat of debate. He read from a statement prepared before he came to a committee hearing. He was well aware of the import of the words he was to speak.

The unusual thing about the statement was that McCarthy assailed Eisenhower personally, and not merely the administration. Several times in past months, McCarthy has sharply criticized the administration. But these assaults have been softened with kind words for the President himself.

* * *

Privately, McCarthy left it be known he didn't think much of Eisenhower and his policies in dealing with the Communists.

On the other side, White House aides deliberately and frequently have advised reporters they wouldn't be wrong if they said the President didn't like either McCarthy or his methods. But the reporter was to let this be known without revealing the source of information.

This sort of veiled situation has existed for months. Eisenhower has referred to McCarthy obliquely in his press conference in critical terms but he always has refrained from "engaging in personalities" with the use of the senator's name. There existed a sort of armed truce in the area of public name calling.

Then Eisenhower gave his congratulations to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for a job well done as chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy. In return, McCarthy blasted Eisenhower by name.

* * *

Some of McCarthy's colleagues think the senator lashes out blindly in his attacks against anyone who gets in his path. They profess to see no pattern of long-range motive in his actions.

There are others who are convinced McCarthy has a definite goal, either that he wants to be president of the United States or else he wants to become a third force in American politics with such power that he can influence the choice of a president.

* * *

McCarthy himself denies any such political ambition and places his motives on the high plateau of patriotism.

But at least this much has become apparent in the situation:

A false front has been removed from the Eisenhower-McCarthy relationship by the senator himself. Now there can be no mistake about it. Everybody knows where the two men stand in relation to each other.

We have been studying this co-existence business. Like nursery building blocks it can spell something accidently.

It means living side by side which is not the fat question. The giant quiz is how many on a side?

We repeat that the lamb has waited many a weary semester for the lion to drop that other shoe. Ever since U.N. started the smaller nations have been ceiling-spotters.

All the time they have been giving us lip service with the brr-rrr-rr-aack for an encore. Thirty years ago this writer described the orchestrated opinion as the Bronx cheer. Our recent apology to Borough President Lyons is only topped by our abject retraction to Bridgeport. Our defense is you have to crack an egg to look the yolk in the eye.

All Moscow suggestions are slanted to low-bridge the Paris synchronized nodding for rearmament of Western Germany. An army of 500,000 Germans will crowd our end of the see-saw. There are certain crises in which we stand for tenement conditions.

The Kremlin side-slips with a co-existional proposition. It's an all-European peace plaster to be cooked up in a Moscow conference. Never did a spite fence have so many peep-holes.

Why?

A retired business man, whose hypochondria had grown with the years, was going over the usual string of aches and pains with his doctor.

"This left arm of mine has been giving me a deuce of a time, doctor," he moaned. "Isn't there something you can do about it?"

"There's nothing really wrong with your arm," replied the doctor. "You'll just have to expect these twinges at your age."

"Oh, is that so?" said the old man tartly. "Then why doesn't my right arm ache? It's just as old as my left arm."

"Have you any cream for restoring the complexion?" asked the faded spinster.

"Restoring, miss? You mean preserving!" said the assistant heartily.

He sold her two dollars worth.

A Few Individuals in Each Community Try to Make Brady Seem Out of Step

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Since I undertook to lead you poor souls, or those of you who are teachable, along the ways of health, God has blessed me 14,780 times. Plus a few more times in answer to prayers of readers who tell me they pray that God will bless me and keep me pounding away here for many a year ahead.

I don't ask God to bless me or keep me teaching health. As I see it, God knows whether I do enough good to be kept on this job or whether you deserve — I mean whether you people get enough benefit . . . Anyway, every night when I lay me down to sleep I thank God for the day, but I do not ask for another. I am content to leave that to God.

I heed the injunction of Hippocrates to his followers, and I think the Father of Medicine did the will of God when he said, in effect, "Do good if you can but do no harm." By this motto I have conducted this column since its inception, and if you have not noticed before I hope you will now understand clearly that this is a health column.

At least a thousand times there has been printed with my regular daily column a paragraph explaining that Dr. Brady answers letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnoses and treatment.

I have been writing this column long enough to know what people like and what they don't like. I know from experience that if or when people like what they read here, O.K. If they don't like it the editors hear about it.

Therefore, three or four individuals in the community, say, leading druggists, dentists, nostrum vendors or trick specialists, sometimes make enough noise about a bit of truth the egregious conductor of this column has presented to make it seem that it is Brady who is out of step—and so, goodbye, for a while if not forever. After all, there was always some question whether Ol' Doc Brady had turned up his toes many years ago, leaving this column to a medical clique or a group of ghost writers or something.

A funny thing happened (as the TV boys say) on my way up here from purgatory. It happened in Louisville. We were sailing along happily there when, out of a clear sky, the column went phtt! It was a long while ago and I can't remember just what caused the abrupt demise, if indeed I knew. But that is not the end of the story. I had hardly erased the name of Louisville from the roster when there came an announcement by the paper that when they had canceled Personal Health Service the editorial office was swamped with letters, telephone calls and personal calls from people demanding . . . so here we go again!

That experience compensated for a score of sudden ends elsewhere. The editor himself commented, up in Hibbing, that Ol' Doc Brady grinds out his stuff although he has been under the sod these many years. In Chicago Brady was resuscitated after a lapse of 7 or 8 years.

Letters, telephone calls and personal calls from people demanding . . .

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Doctor Suggests Cure for Meeting Doldrums

CHICAGO (UP)—A Philadelphia radiologist has a prescription to cure "that virus sometimes contracted by physicians at their many scientific meetings — a disease called the 'doldrums'."

Dr. Robert P. Barden, writing in the journal, Radiology, said the virus is caught from hearing too many long-winded speakers read dry, poorly prepared medical papers. The ingredients in Barden's prescription include:

Finish the paper before the deadline. If allotted 20 minutes, speak for 17.

Never say all you know and retire from the podium while your listeners are hoping for more.

After rehearsing the presentation alone, try it on one of your colleagues—or even your wife.

Fake Repairman Steals Family's Television Set

HONEA PATH, S. C. (UP) — A flim-flam skin game is being worked on TV sets here.

R. L. Beasley Jr. said a man appeared at his home while he and Mrs. Beasley were at work, told neighbors he had come in response to a call from Beasley to get his TV set for repairs, took it away and hasn't been seen since.

Tennessee produced almost five million tons of coal in 1953.

May Save Cather Home

RED CLOUD, Neb. (UP) — A move has been started here to make the girlhood home of the late famous author, Willa Cather, a national shrine. A committee has been named to advance plans for buying the home for a "Willa Cather Shrine."

For St. Nick's Steed

Children in Holland and Belgium are always careful to set out some straw and carrots to accommodate St. Nick's hungry white horse.

Burnt Roast to Blame

BISBEE, Ariz. (UP) — Smoke came from Carl Erickson's home. Carl called his brother, Fire Chief George Erickson. George and the firemen rushed to the house. Cause of the fire? An overdone pot roast.

Winnie Wins OK on Home Program

LONDON (AP) — The Churchill government had a green light from the House of Commons today to push ahead with its planned domestic program for 1955.

Commons last night defeated 298-269 an opposition Laborite move to censure the government for "unwarranted complacency toward social injustice" and "doctrinaire determination to abandon public enterprise and essential controls."

Hospitals Will Release Jap Atom Dust Victims

TOKYO (AP)—The 22 survivors of the Japanese fishing boat Lucky Dragon, which was dusted with radioactive ash from the American hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific, will leave Tokyo hospitals about Dec. 20, hospital authorities said today. A 23rd fisherman died after a long illness.

Panhandle Hearings to Resume Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal power commission hearing on refunds which must be made by Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. will resume on Monday.

The refunds will total an estimated $32 million and will go to 48 utility customers in six states, including Michigan.

The commission ordered the refund last April 15. It said Panhandle was entitled to a 5¾ per cent rate of return instead of the 6½ per cent the company sought.

The hearing was recessed Nov. 16 pending a commission decision on Panhandle's appeal from an examiner's ruling as to what evidence would be admitted. The orser to resume was issued yesterday.

Tax Setup Calls for Good Bookkeeping and Understanding of All Allowances

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK (INS) — Whether you like it or not, government is your silent partner who takes a cut out of all your earnings.

A commissioner of internal revenue, T. Coleman Andrews has repeatedly made clear, while tax evasion is illegal, "tax avoidance" —properly done—is every man's privilege.

That means arranging your business affairs, with the help of a certified public accountant and an attorney if possible, in such a way as to pay no more taxes than necessary.

It should be said at the outset that the present tax setup tends to fall with greatest harshness on workers and salaried persons whose income comes entirely from personal services.

As far as the tax law is concerned, the receipts in the wage and salary envelope are all income, with no allowance for the using up of the reservoir of human energy.

This was not always the case. Prior to the New Deal and the Fair Deal, a differential credit, amounting to a tax reduction, was made for earned income, that is, income procured by human beings from selling the fruits of their own energy.

In another respect, property is treated more generously than human beings. While the top tax rate on human earnings runs up to a 91 per cent bracket, the peak rate on an asset owned more than six months is 26 per cent. This is commonly known as a capital gains tax.

In blunt terms, this means that under our existing tax civilization, the road to riches is through capital gains rather than earned income.

Recognizing this, corporations are trying to find ways and means of holding competent executives through such additions to straight salary as stock options, deferred payments, and participation in bona fide trusts for retirement income.

Unless your income is sweetened by some such tax sheltered arrangement, you are likely to be better off in a capital gain situation than as an employe.

Capital gain possibilities are not limited to corporate business. There are capital gain and loss possibilities in peanut stands, gasoline stations, automobile and household appliance dealerships, small neighborhood stores and other places where the status of ownership is included.

In order to convert paper gains in such situations into cash in your personal checking account, you must figure on some turnover, that is, on selling out a going business at a profit.

Many people go from one place to another, starting businesses which they intend to sell for a capital gain as soon as they are successful.

The hired hands or salaried workers can put themselves in position for a capital gain or loss, too, through purchase of stocks, bonds, real estate and other forms of property.

Another vast sociological change, resulting from the character of our tax civilization, is the boom in the "do it yourself" industry.

It has become fashionable for home owners to do their own painting and decorating, plumbing, plastering and general house repairs.

This vogue springs from many causes, psychological as well as economic. But perhaps the dominating factor is that the depletion of personal and family incomes through taxation makes it more difficult than ever to live within your income.

On top of that is the tendency of every one to think nowadays in the terms of his "take home" pay, that is net income after taxes. Accordingly, if you hire a carpenter by the hour, he is going to charge you enough to leave him with what he wants after he has taken care of his tax liability.

Also, if worker "A" who is the householder does the carpenter work for himself instead of hiring worker "B," he escapes this extra tax cost. "A" toiling for himself, gets no taxable money income.

As individuals prosper and get into higher income brackets, they make still more adjustments. They find that the net return after taxes of the tax exempt bonds or states, municipalities and public authorities is much greater than the after taxes return of investments on which interest and dividends are fully taxable.

Meanwhile, individuals—you and I—must adjust ourselves to the rules of the game as we find them. The tax setup calls for better personal, family and business bookkeeping. This is necessary not only in your own self interest but also to enable your silent partner —the government—to check up.

Keep books on your personal income and outgo, keep an accounting. For accounting constitutes the eyes and ears of business.

Systematic bookkeeping will help you better to visualize your problems and opportunities, and better to direct your personal, family and business affairs.

(Next: Making a will—and why you should).

Mothers Usually Tolerant About Daughters' Spouses

By MARGARET LATROBE

Some fairly astounding replies came in response to this column's recent query — "What kind of man would you like your daughter to marry?"

Not a single woman listed any high-flown qualities which would have outlined a combination Gable and Galahad. The only possible conclusion to draw from these letters, which ranged from warm-hearted to touchingly gentle, is this: There are some wonderful people in this old world.

They spoke of their own husbands, what fine men they were, how they were sure the girls would naturally choose husbands as nearly like Dad as they could. With a kind, understanding, generous, hard working husband as an example — why should they worry about son-in-law material?

A few brand-new mothers said, "Well, this is pretty far in the future but I just hope my little girl is as lucky as I was."

The astounding thing to me was that, out of all these letters, the term "son-in-law" was never used. Instead, they referred to him as "my daughter's husband" or "my son — he is really a son to us, you know . . ."

Neither did a single reply say there would be any interference when the girls approached marriage. Hands off, was the universal policy. One mother of six, from Iowa, said she made only one stipulation when her children married: No divided houses. If her sons and daughters married one of another race or religion, she had taught them to accept the Biblical precept from Ruth — "Thy people shall be my people, thy God my God."

I started to say there were letters from "all kinds of people." There weren't. They came from only one kind — happy people. And from them all it would seem that one group is on its way out — bachelors. So long as mothers feel this way about their daughters' choice in husbands, there is no need for bachelors to believe that "I Do" is the longest sentence in the English language.

Little Boys Enjoy New Cooking Sets

Memo to social scientists: keep your eye on the toy makers if you want to find out what goes on in the young mind.

The traditional role of little girls as little housekeepers is being taken over in large numbers by little boys as well.

New play kits, selling furiously, are junior homemaking sets.

A popular cooking set, for example, is centered around the kitchen arts. The idea: plan and prepare a well-balanced meal. The set includes an aluminum sauce pan, cans of real condensed soup, and all the utensils necessary for the preparaton and serving of a lunch or supper.

Among the toys there's even a scale model stove that works, and the kids can do their own cooking in the kitchen.

There's a cookie-baking set, with all the ingredients in miniature packages. And another how-to-cook set featuring molds and the makings for chocolate animals.

On the cleaning side (the boys don't go for them) are miniature broom closets with mops and scrubbing brushes and cleansers that mother uses, only in small replicas.

Toys for Small Tots

In picking toys for one or two-year-olds, the Toy Guidance Council suggests the following: simple wooden toys, nesting blocks, pull and push action toys, soft dolls and animals, toys on wheels, rockers, children's records and picture books. At this age, imagination is rich and blocks that can become anything are good.

JAMES H. DUDLEY

A veteran of 17 years with the Michigan Employment Security Commission, James H. Dudley, of Detroit, has been appointed manager of the Pontiac office of the MESC. Dudley, 60, is married and the father of a 26-year-old son. He took over the new post Thursday. Transferred to Detroit under the switch which brought Dudley here was Luther Olson.

Erector Set Always Favorite With Boys

One of the most traditional toys for boys is an erector set. Composed of small-scale bars, beams, nuts and bolts, it will grow to any number of structures, depending on the imagination of the boy.

There are, for example, plans for building merry-go-round, ferris wheels, derricks, bridges, airplane rides and windmills. But the erector set is not only a toy in itself. It will supplement a model railroad, a set of scale-model trucks and cars, toy soldiers.

Beginners get the simple elementary sets. Boys of 18 will happily receive the more complicated models.

SEVEN DOWN AND TWO TO GO—The Samuel Wiscombe family completely filled a pew at First Methodist Church when this picture was taken. However, two other sons, William and James (pictured below), were unable to be present. In the picture are Mrs. Wiscombe, Inez, 8; Lois, 9; Samuel, 12; Leslie, 15; Gladys Niemi (Mrs Carl); Mary Emerson (Mrs. Delmar); Lyle and Mr. Wiscombe.

Hastings Plans Yule Program

Community Will Remove Gaudy Christmas Signs in Religious Parade

HASTINGS (UP)—This community of 6,400 will turn off its gaudy Christmas lights Saturday night, put away all the paper Santa Clauses and try to forget how many shopping days remain until Christmas.

Instead everyone will try to remember Bethlehem . . . the Gospel according to St. Luke . . . an old, old message of "peace on earth, good will toward men."

Hastings has come up with a unique community plan to help "put Christ back into Christmas." The plan involves taking the commercialism out.

"This is one night when there will be no place in our town for Santa Claus," said Philip E. Schubert, secretary of the Hastings Chamber of Commerce.

Protestant and Catholic churches are joining to sponsor a citywide Yule program that will try to recapture the original spirit of the celebration of the birth of the Christian savior.

Owners of all shops and markets that normally would be open Saturday night to cash in on the Christmas shopping rush will be closed tight as a Christmas drum.

There will be an hour-long torchlight parade featuring tasteful religious floats by 14 Hastings churches. A different phase of the Biblical Christmas story will be depicted on each float.

Merchants along the parade route have agreed to remove Christmas merchandise and advertising from the show windows and put up religious displays instead.

As the parade moves along the transformed main street the Rev. Russell Houseman, a Baptist minister, will explain the significance of each float.

Toastmasters to Host Pre-Yule Devotional

The Pontiac Y Toastmasters Club will be host for the YMCA Pre-Christmas Devotional, on Tuesday, Dec. 21, at 6:15 p.m.

The pre-Christmas event is sponsored by the YMCA Emphasis Committee. Members of this committee are the Rev. Milton Bank, pastor of Central Methodist church; Larry Schluchter, Waterford Hi-Y; Charles Dugas, president of Y Toastmasters and Ted Slosson, Y secretary.

Clubs cooperating in the devotional are the Waterford Hi Y, Pontiac Senior Hi-Y, Y Phalanx and the Toastmaster group.

Will Elect Officers

Crystal Temple No. 435, Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, will hold election of officers Thursday, at 153 Bagley Street. On Sunday, Dec. 12, at the same address, Sylvan Lake No. 723 and Crystal Temple No. 435 of the order will hold a Memorial service.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Wiscombes Believe Faith Helps Each Face Future

By LULA B. OGDEN

A native of Newfoundland, Samuel Wiscombe came to Michigan in 1925 to claim his bride at Gagetown.

In 1926 they came to Pontiac to live. Since then he has been employed at Pontiac Motor Division, working nights most of the time. He was naturalized in 1931.

They have resided at 251 W. Pike St. for four years, transferring their membership from Oakland Ave. United Presbyterian Church at that time. James joined the church that year, Leslie in 1952 and Samuel on Palm Sunday this year. Lyle, Bill and Gladys still belong to United Presbyterian.

WILLIAM

Because of working nights, outside activities at the church are out so far as attendance is concerned, but the family are interested in the total church program though unable to participate. They are regular in church attendance and for many years the family "sitting together" was noticed with pleasure by many.

JAMES

"Our religion has meant a closer relationship to us and all the children," the parents said. They look forward to church activities.

"It has given us a brighter outlook on life in general. Church activities help to keep idle young hands busy.

"We feel that religious work and faith in God helps all of of us face the future with more self-confidence," they said.

Proof Positive on Size of One That Got Away

MASON CITY, Iowa (UP) — The "big one" got away from H. W. Swanson of Mason City but he has a receipt to prove just how big it was.

Swanson had a good strike while fishing in Clear Lake but the fish broke away. On his line, remained a small metal jaw tag. It had been placed on a spawning walleye in April, 1953, by Iowa State College biologists, who say the fish is now a little over 20 inches long and weighs about three pounds.

Student Fighting to Stay in U.S.

Iranian Now at U. of M. Says Return to Country Would Mean Death

DETROIT (UP)—A University of Michigan law student who claims a clique of Iranian army officers are plotting his death was scheduled to appear before an immigration board today (at 2:30 p.m.) to fight deportation to his native Iran.

The student, Buick Navidzadeh, 30, has asked for a stay of his deportation orders on grounds that returning to Iran would mean "certain death."

The Iranian government canceled Navidzadeh's passport on grounds he was a Communist. U. S. immigration officials served him with a deportation warrant Nov. 30 but fellow Michigan students raised a $1,000 bond to allow him his freedom to prepare an appeal.

Navidzadeh, whose wife and two children still are in Iran, based his request for asylum on the claim that he was "framed" by fellow Iranian army officers who wanted him killed because he once accused one of them of stealing.

In his petition for asylum filed today, he pointed out that he would not receive a "fair trial if returned" and that charges that he was a Communist were "not true."

Summer Visitors May Prove Boon for Small Towns

BRETTON WOODS, N. H. (UP) —Summer residents and retired businessmen may be the key to new successful enterprises in small towns.

Vincent Dahlfred, industrial agent of New Hampshire's planning and development commission, says a surprising number of key men in successful small town businesses are those from out-of-state who have left the big city life for the quiet countryside.

Usually, they are summer residents, retired businessmen or successful men contemplating retirement.

"The determining factor in a successful business is not the place but the key man with the knowledge of markets and production methods," Dahlfred said.

Some of the retired officials bring contracts with them to establish businesses in places where they have spent pleasant summers.

City Commissioners OK Telegraph Road Blacktop

Approve Plan Over Protests

Resurfacing Will Cost Property Owners About $60 Per 40 Foot Lot

The City Commission stood solidly behind the city's special assessment system last night and the six commissioners present voted unanimously to access Telegraph road residents for their share of a blacktopping project.

Four residents of Telegraph road, between Huron and Elizabeth Lake, were present to protest the assessment, maintaining that as residents of a trunk highway they were being assessed too often for street upkeep.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles pointed out, however, that even with the $60 assessed per 40-foot lot for this project, the property-owners will have paid a total of only $148 for street maintenance in the last 25 years.

Several of the owners said they believe the state or the city should pay the entire cost of the project. (As it was, the state paid more than $20,000 of the total cost. The amount to be raised by the assessment is about $2,200.)

City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn said the blacktopping job should last at least 10 years.

Mayor pro tem John A. Dugan, serving for the absent Mayor William W. Donaldson, told the residents:

"We would have to change our whole tax system. If we pay for this trunk line, we will have to do the same for every trunk highway in the city."

The commission postponed for two weeks action on an ordinance to rezone from residential to manufacturing classification large plots in the Joslyn-Grace-Fuller-Peacock area.

The postponement came on the proposal of Commissioner Harry W. Lutz after George A. Cram, attorney for the property owners opposing the rezoning, challenged the petitions requesting the change.

Cram's letter to the commission stated in part:

". . . We wish to challenge the ownership of the lots affected, particularly inasmuch as we believe that the petition is signed on behalf of Roy Annett, Inc., as to a large majority of the total lots involved."

Cram said his search showed that much less than 50 per cent of the lots were owned by the real estate firm.

On the original rezoning petitions filed with the city clerk, an official check of the assessment rolls showed 70 per cent of the property-owners involved favored the change.

City Attorney William A. Ewart was ordered to review the laws and determine if a person or firm had the right to petition for a rezoning change if he held only options on the property involved.

Commissioner Harcourt S. Patterson, an attorney, said a title search would not reveal land contracts or options on property.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION — This is an artist's conception of the USS Forrestal, America's newest carrier. The huge floating air base took about three years to build and cost $218 million. It is 1,040 feet long, 252 feet wide and will accommodate some 3,000 crew members. The flight deck is made of 3½ acres of steel. Experts say it would take a 140-acre airfield to handle planes of the number, size and characteristics which a carrier must handle. She will be christened Saturday.

SUPER CARRIER—The USS Forrestal's canted deck necessitates a giant extension over the side of the ship. Construction of the overhang, called a sponson, was one of the big problems facing the designers.

Ike's Atoms-for-Peace Plan Taking Hold

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace proposal has taken hold despite the uncertain future seen for it when unveiled at the United Nations exactly one year ago today.

Eisenhower's proposal electrified the U.N. General Assembly then and captured the imagination of the free world. Four days ago a rare unanimous vote stamped U.N. aproval on the program in somewhat modified form.

* * *

Such acceptance could hardly have been seen a year ago by the men who helped Eisenhower rejuggle his speech to include the atoms-for-peace proposal, then furiously cranked out texts aboard the presidential plane Columbine taking the President from Bermuda to New York.

Eisenhower agreed to make the speech in response to mounting pressure to give the public more information about the horrors of atomic war. He told the U.N. the U.S. atomic stockpile had more explosive power than all the bombs and all the shells dropped and fired throughout World War II.

* * *

Then he made his appeal: (1) pool atomic materials and know-how among the nations principally involved, necessarily including Russia; (2) work out details in "private conversation" undertaken in good faith.

* * *

The immediate Russian reaction was an outburst of derision. The Soviets, however, reconsidered and came out with a more sober statement after the rest of the world applauded Eisenhower.

The Soviets said Eisenhower's idea was good but did not go far enough. They said it should prohibit atomic weapons by a pledge not to use them. The United States repeated that such a pledge was fine but any disarmament must include a system of inspection to make sure nobody cheated. The Russians said no to this.

* * *

Even so, negotiations began privately on ways and means of getting Eisenhower's program under way. In private exchanges, American and Soviet leaders talked over details. Then, along about midsummer, the talks foundered.

* * *

In the meantime, the United States dealt Russia out and got together with several allies on a revised version of the plan. Instead of a pool which would hold materials as well as data, they discussed a clearing house through which information and nuclear goods would flow among those nations which have and those which have not.

Eisenhower's original proposal was aimed also at inspiring some sort of break in the disarmament deadlock. It was thought that by diverting attention to peaceful uses some progress migh be possible on barring wartime uses. This disarmament feature was jettisoned in the feeling it would be unwise to strip Western Allies of defensive power if Russia were untouched by any such pledge.

* * *

Congress, meanwhile, approved modernization of the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. The effect was to permit private development of atomic power plants and to allow a fuller exchange of nuclear secrets with friendlier nations.

Last September, when the U.N. got under way again, Secretary of State Dulles apeared before the delegates to press again for the President's proposal.

Then the shift from pool to clearing house was publicly revealed. The United States announced it was putting up nuclear materials for fuel in experimental atomic power plants to be built abroad.

In the end, despite bitter words, Russia went along. About that time the stalled U.S.-Russian conversations had moved into a new phase. Eisenhower, announcing this early last month, voiced the hope these talks — also secret — would "be more fruitful" than the first phase.

U.S. 7th Fleet Has China Reds Guessing

TAIPEH (UP) — Red China would love dearly to know the answer to this question:

Will the U.S. 7th Fleet join the battle if the Communists try to capture any of Chiang Kai-shek's offshore islands?

The Reds will have to learn the answer the hard way.

* * *

The officially avowed U.S. policy is to say nothing and keep the Reds guessing.

Possibly Chiang and a few other persons on Formosa know the answer. But everyone else here has been left guessing too.

If the United States has decided what island outposts must be retained by the Nationalists as protection for Formosa itself, Washington is keeping quiet about it.

The string of island bases controlled by the Nationalists dot some 350 miles of water from Quemoy in the south to the Tachens in the north.

Some of these—such as Quemoy, Matsu, White Dog and the Tachen group—might be considered worth holding. But many others are negligible.

* * *

One subject of constant speculation is this:

Would the Reds, in the face of possible U.S. intervention, dare risk an amphibious assault on any of the more important offshore islands?

Dem Chairman Names Williams as Contender for '56 Nomination

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The Democratic party has "many men who are presidential timber" and Adlai Stevenson must seek the 1956 presidential nomination "vigorously" if he wants it, says Paul Butler, the party's new national chairman.

Butler, also told a television panel of South Bend newsmen last night that "he (Stevenson) and other candidates must let the party and the nation know their intentions by the latter part of 1955."

* * *

The South Bend lawyer, pressed by the newsmen to name possible candidates, mentioned Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Gov.-elect George M. Leader of Pennsylvania and Gov.-elect Averell Harriman of New York.

"All I know is what I read in the papers and most papers consider him (Stevenson) the leader right now," Butler said. "But the Democratic party is fortunate in having many men who are presidential timber for 1956."

* * *

"I have no reason to think that Stevenson will or will not seek the nomination. However, he won't obtain it the same way he did in '52. There will be no draft. If Stevenson seeks the nomination, he must seek it vigorously."

Text of Sen. McCarthy's Blast Against President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The text of a statement today by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) which he called a temporary swan song follows:

"I am deeply grateful to Sens. Mundt and Potter and to Sen. Dirksen's administrative assistant for carrying on with these all-important hearings which, because of difficulty with my arm, I could not handle.

* * *

"The exposure of Communists in defense plants handling the secret weapons which may determine whether the sons of American mothers may live or die is, in my opinion, important beyond words.

"In view of the fact this may be my temporary swan song as chairman of the Investigating Committee, I think it important to comment briefly upon certain facts.

"Our committee has been held up now for approximately ten months. The President of the United States has taken it upon himself to congratulate Sens. Flanders and Watkins who have been instrumental in holding up our work.

"There has been considerable talk about an apology to the Senate for my fight against communism. I feel rather that I should apologize to the American people for what was an unintentional deception upon them. During the Eisenhower campaign I spoke from coast to coast promising the American people that if they would elect the Eisenhower administration that they could be assured of a vigorous, forceful fight against Communists in government. Unfortunately in this I was mistaken. I find that the President on one hand congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons.

"Anyone who knows the ABCs of the Communist war against free civilization knows that weakness will not free a single American uniformed man.

"If any senator in the future can justify a vote to draft the sons of American mothers, then he must repudiate this shrinking show of weakness and must tell those mothers that each young man who wears the American uniform carries the entire power of this nation with him when he goes to a foreign land.

* * *

"Unfortunately, the President sees fit to congratulate those who hold up the exposure of Communists in one breath and in the next breath urges patience, tolerance and niceties to those who are torturing American uniformed men."

Job of Army Chief Offered to Gen. Ty

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today offered the top post in South Viet Nam's army, chief of the general staff, to his personal choice for the job, newly promoted Brig. Gen. Le Van Ty.

The Premier asked the other leading candidate for the job, Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, to become inspector general of the 200,000-man Vietnamese force.

The United States and France were known to have supported Vy for the top job as a younger, more energetic commander than Ty. Vy also was for a long time an aide to ex-Emperor Bao Dai, Viet Nam chief of state.

Students in Jordan Protest Hanging of 6

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A thousand secondary school students paraded to the Egyptian Embassy today, protesting Egypt's hanging of six Moslem Brotherhood members charged with trying to overthrow Egypt's military government.

There was no violence as soldiers and police surrounded the embassy and guarded the marchers' route through Amman. Communist influence was indicated.

The six brotherhood members were hanged in Cairo yesterday after being convicted Saturday of plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and unseat his government.

Pope Preparing for Broadcast

Pontiff Plans Blessing to World Today at End of Marian Year

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Ailing Pope Pius XII made last-minute preparations today to close the Marian Year with a blessing broadcast to the world from his sick bed. A television set was installed in his bedroom so that he could watch the final ceremonies honoring the Virgin Mary.

Thunderstorms disturbed the Pope's rest during the night but the skies over Rome and Vatican City were bright and sunny today.

* * *

A Vatican spokesman said except for the storm's disturbances the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church passed a "relatively good night."

Today was an important one for the pontiff, who inaugurated the Marian Year just a year ago to honor the Virgin and commemorate the centenary of the dogma of her immaculate conception. The dogma established as Roman Catholic faith the belief that Mary alone of mankind was born without the stain of Adam and Eve's original sin.

* * *

The Pope approved from his bed yesterday a decree for the causes of beatification and canonization of Pope Pius IX, who proclaimed the dogma 100 years ago.

The Pope had desired keenly to participate in the final ceremony of the year-long observance today at Rome's Basilica of St. Mary Major. His collapse last Thursday, following a recurrence of acute gastritis and hiceups, made that impossible.

Soviet Bloc Nonexistent, Red U.N. Debater Says

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Delegate Georgi F. Saksin objected yesterday when U.S. Delegate Ade M. Johnson, of Tacoma, Wash., used the term "Soviet bloc" in debate yesterday.

Saksin said the term might be used by "your so-called press and your senators" but it was not fit for U.N. debate.

"There is no such thing as a Soviet bloc," he said.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

AP Newsfeatures

SYNOPSIS: Granny, the witch, shows Tom how to make a broom. That night Tom drinks witches' brew before riding off with the other witches into the sky. Suddenly two flying saucers appear and head for Tom. . . .

Coloring suggestions: Sky grey, flying saucer and broom yellow. Earth blue and green. Boy's jeans blue, hair orange.

Chapter Five

TOM GETS LOST

Just as the lights seemed about to strike Tom they swerved and passed him by. Tom relaxed. But then the lights turned and spun down upon him again.

Tom looked frantically around. The witches had scattered all over the sky. Most of them were only faraway specks fading into the darker night.

But Granny still flew at Tom's side.

"Here it comes!" she suddenly screamed.

Tom threw himself forward over his broomstick. As he did so one of the lights swept over him. For an instant he was bathed in a bright glare.

Tom looked over his shoulder at the whirring disk. "How does it fly?" he wondered. "What makes it work? What is it trying to do?"

All these questions were swept from his mind as the saucer turned around and began to play tag with him. Faster than the wind, boy and saucer hurtled through the sky. Tom zigged this way and that way trying to escape. The saucer also zigged and zagged.

So intent was he on evading the saucer Tom never noticed he had left Granny far behind. When finally he looked around she was gone from the sky.

Now Tom was alone.

"This will surely be the end of me," he moaned. "I am tired and cannot escape these lights much longer."

* * *

Almost at that very moment, as if the saucer could read Tom's mind, it, and all the other saucers vanished as mysteriously as they had come. Tom looked about in amazement but the sky was black and he could see no light anywhere.

Now he had other worries.

Where was he? How would he get back to the witches' field?

The cold wind blew through Tom's thin clothes and he thought longingly of his own warm bed in his far away home.

"But," he said aloud, "I'll not go home until I find out what those flying saucers are. I wish I were in Santa Land. I'm sure Santa would know!"

No sooner had he spoken than he was swept up in a blizzard that carried him faster than ever through the sky. He could not tell whether the broom was carrying him or the storm. He was wrapped in a blanket of snow in a black night and for all he knew he might be traveling upside down.

But suddenly he was not traveling at all. He was buried in a snow drift!

When he dug his way out he found the storm had ended and daylight had come. He was at the bottom of a little hill in some strange and deserted land.

He hunted in the snow until he found his broom.

"I must get away from here," he thought, "for surely there are no people in this cold and faraway place."

But when he got on his broom nothing happened at all. Then he remembered what Granny had told him:

"Witches' brooms can fly only once and each night must be made anew."

* * *

With a sinking heart Tom looked at the snow covered land. He knew he would find no straw to make a new broom.

"Granny should have told me how to get back to the witches' field," he said tearfully. They shouldn't have left me alone in the sky."

But then he remembered the second thing Granny had told him:

"Our brooms are wonderful. Wish to be in a place and you will be there."

Tom tried to remember. "I did wish to be some place!" he cried. "I wished I were in Santa Land."

He laughed with glee and clapped his hands in excitement. "Why, I bet this is Santa Land!"

And he ran madly up the snow covered hill.

Trio Will Map Dem Strategy

Truman and Harriman Are Meeting With New Party Chairman

KANSAS CITY (INS) — Democratic strategy for the 1956 presidential campaign will be discussed in Kansas City today when former President Harry S. Truman confers with the party's new chairman Paul M. Butler, and New York Governor-Elect W. Averell Harriman.

The three Democratic bigwigs will have a private luncheon at the Hotel Muehlenbach and later will attend a Jackson County victory dinner at which Harriman will be principal speaker.

The first meeting between Truman and Butler since the election of the South Bend, Ind., attorney as the Democratic national chairman, is expected to settle any differences that may have existed between the two men.

Early reports had Truman favoring Michael V. DiSalle, former price administrator and Toledo mayor, to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell.

However, Turman declined to comment on reports that he disapproved of Butler and before the New Orleans convention elected Butler, he said:

"I am taking no active part in the choice of a new Democratic national chairman. I do not have any candidates. I hope that the committee will elect a chairman who will take the party to victory in 1956."

Thomas J. Gavin, chairman of the dinner arrangements committee, invited Butler who telephoned his acceptance to the former president.

More than 600 Democrats are expected to attend the $7.50-a-plate dinner which celebrates the party's November victory in Missouri. Truman will introduce Harriman at the dinner.

Human Danger From Radiation Said Controllable

LOS ANGELES (INS)—An atomic energy expert says radiation hazards during the next 10 years resulting from peaceful use of the atom are controllable on any foreseeable scale.

This assurance comes from Herbert M. Parker, General Electric Company's radiological director at the Hanford, Wash., atomic energy plant.

He said in a news release issued at the Radiological Society of North America convention in Los Angeles:

"People working in power plants or factories using radioactive materials can be easily protected from external radiation.

"Harm from radioactive materials deposited in bodies of humans can also be prevented to some extent. But this may involve very high safety standards until several unknowns have been solved.

"It is fortunate that we started safely at the expense of considerable investments in radiation protection."

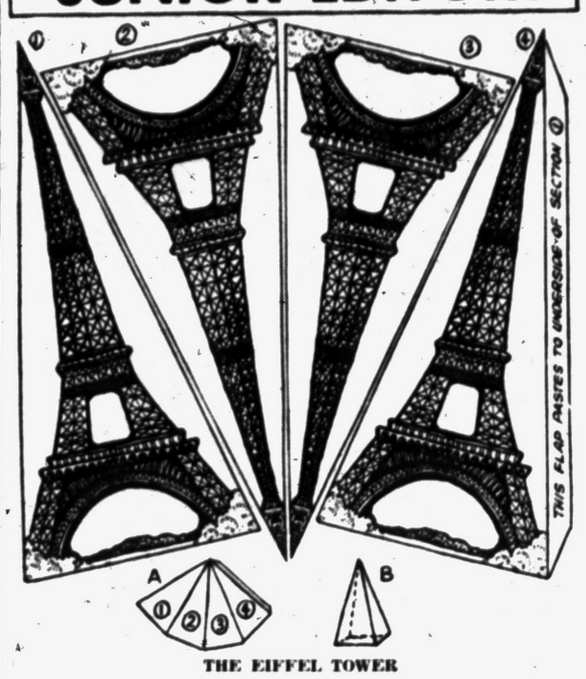
JUNIOR EDITORS



THE EIFFEL TOWER

When Junior Editors arrive in Paris, the capital of France, the first sight they will see is the Eiffel Tower. This famous landmark, built by a French engineer, E. G. Eiffel, to commemorate the 1889 Paris Exposition, is a 984-foot-high structure of steel beams.

It is popular with tourists as an observation tower to view the city, and on a clear day it is possible to see from it a distance of 85 miles. At the very top of the tower the French government has a radio station and weather observatory.

Here is a small model of the Eiffel Tower you can make.

1. Color sky back of tower light blue and trees at base bright green.

2. Cut out four separate sections above and paste them down with tips together on strong wrapping paper as shown in small drawing (A). Cut out this new shape, being sure that you leave flap attached to Section 4.

3. To form four-sided tower, fold so the base forms a square as in small drawing (B).

4. When folded, paste outer edge of Section 1 over flap on outer edge of Section 4 and you will have your own Eiffel Tower. You can cut a square of cardboard for the tower to stand on.

GI Who Turned Red Reported Homesick

ALDEN, Minn. (INS) — The mother of Pfc. Richard Tenneson, 21, one of the 21 Americans who refused repatriation to remain with the Chinese Communists after the Korean fighting, said today her son is "very homesick."

Mrs. Portion Howe of Alden, Minn., based her theory on a letter she received yesterday from her son in which he requested sheet music for three Christmas songs.

She said the songs have special sentimental family significance and "indicate to me that he's very lonely and homesick."

Tenneson asked for the music to "White Christmas," "Winter Wonderland" and "Dear Hearts and Gentle People." His letter came from somewhere near Peiping, according to Mrs. Howe.

Begin Working on New Drain

Installation Will Service 435 Acres in South End of County

Work was expected to start today on the $311,000 "Murray Drain" to run on the north side of 10 Mile road from Coolidge highway west to within 1,320 feet of Southfield road, according to Oakland County Drain Commssioner Ralph A. Main.

Some 435 acres of land will be drained by the 9,100 foot-long facility, including 195 acres in Southfield Township, 25 in Royal Oak Township and 215 in Oak Park, Main explained.

The Murray project will be the fifth large sewer constructed within the Oak Park limits in the last three years.

Oakland County, Oak Park plus Royal Oak and Southfield Townships will pay about 20 per cent of the cost, with the remaining 80 per cent coming from special assessments against owners of the land benefitting.

The new sewer will range from 18 to 78 inches in diameter, said Main.

Completion of the project is expected to be followed by rapid residential development in the area. Plans have been submitted for subdividing 160 of the 246 acres in he Murray district not already platted for housing, Main stated.

The sewer's completion will extend drainage to all of Oak Park except a small area in the southwest corner which will be serviced by a drain now being planned

Screen Writer Sues DSR for $250,000

DETROIT (UP) — A Hollywood script writer has filed a $250,000, damage suit against the Detroit Street Railways Commission, one of the largest damage suits in the city's history.

Irwin Gielgud filed the suit in federal court yesterday for damages suffered in a street car-auto mishap Aug. 21, 1953.

Gielgud said he suffered broken ankles and legs when struck by a streetcar as he attempted a left turn. He said he has been unable to work since the accident.

Judge Frees Youth, 19, in Shooting of Father

MT. PLEASANT (UP) — Ervin Riggle, 19-year-old youth who shot and killed his father to protect his mother, was free of prosecution today.

Municipal Judge James Ryan ruled yesterday that the slaying of Archie Riggle, 55, was justifiable homicide.

Young Ervin testified that his father, an ex-convict, has threatened the mother with a .22 rifle.

Long Memory Serves Officer in Making Arrest

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Traffic officer James Morrison is a man with a memory.

Four months ago he saw a picture of Charles A. Parker, 24, in a police circular. Parker was wanted here as a probation violator and in Douglas, Ga., as an escapee from the Coffee Branch Prison.

Yesterday, officer Morrison spotted Parker while directing traffic at a busy downtown intersection. Parker, picked up, will be prosecuted here first, then will be turned over to Georgia authorities.

THIS pedal does more than just feed gas to an eager and high-powered V8 engine.

When you give it the extra nudge that moves it beyond the full throttle position, something happens that never happened before in an automobile.

You hear a businesslike purr, which tells you that twenty power vanes, deep inside the 1955 Dynaflow Drive,* have changed their pitch—just like the variable pitch propellers on a modern air liner.

And with the same result in the way you get-up-and-go, with a safety-surge of power for pulling out of a tight spot on the highway.

Words just can't describe it. It's a new and thrilling sensation—something you simply must try for yourself.

There's nothing like it on the 1955 new-car horizon.

Fact is, there's a whale of a lot to see at your Buick dealer's showroom.

There's fresh new styling. There's higher horsepower in every Buick V8 engine. There's a new Airpower carburetor. And beneath it all there's good old-fashioned integrity in every nut, bolt and rivet.

But, this year, don't simply make a visit to the showroom where these trim and thrilling new beauties are on display.

The smart thing to do—if you want to know what's what in new automobiles—is to get behind the wheel of a 1955 Buick and drive it. How about doing that soon?

Nationalist Chinese Take 14 Reds in Island Raid

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist commandos caught 14 Communist soldiers asleep during a predawn raid yesterday on a small island and brought all back as prisoners, the Defense Ministry said today.

The commandos raided Tapo, close to the Red China coast opposite Formosa.

Knife-Hurler Routs Frightened Gunman

DENVER (AP)—Louis Fiffles reached for one of the knives on his butcher's block yesterday when a masked holdup man commanded him to "put your hands up or I'll shoot".

"Go ahead," said Fiffles, about 70, as he let fly the knife.

It missed. The bandit retreated a step, still holding a pistol.

Fiffles flung a second knife. It missed too.

Fiffles reached for another knife. The gunman was gone.

First Seaway Bids to Be Opened Dec. 16

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first bids on excavation of the great St. Lawrence Seaway will be opened Dec. 16 in Buffalo.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., announcing this today, said digging of the Atlantic-to-Great Lakes channel will begin next spring in the long Sault Canal at Massena, N. Y.

Administrator Lewis G. Castle announced appointment of a board of engineering consultants to the corporation, which is directing American phases of the project being undertaken jointly with Canada.

The committee members include C. E. Blee, veteran of numerous power projects on both sides of the border; F. W. Edwards of Muscatine, Iowa; E. M. Fucik, Chicago, and C. M. Wellons, Pittsburgh.

State School Needs Scheduled for Study

LANSING (AP) —Civic and state officials met yesterday to lay plans for an 11-month investigation of Michigan's school needs.

The survey is aimed at answering questions of the federal government about the nation's educational program in preparation for the 1955 White House Conference on Education.

The educators will conduct local educational surveys in 14 regions in the state, then report back to a state conference next year. The state conference will name 27 delegates to attend the White House conference Nov. 28 to Dec. 1, 1955.

Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction, said Michigan needs 2,000 new classrooms a year for the next five years.

He said it was too early to tell whether the Supreme Court's recent decision requiring local governments to use state equalized valuations in levying taxes would solve the school's financial problems.

Yule Package Reveals Violator's Hiding Place

CHICAGO (AP) — Policemen who went to arrest William Penn for 21 traffic offenses were told by his wife he wasn't in. Then the officers heard a crash.

They opened a closet door and there was Penn, beneath a Christmas box that had fallen on his head. He won't find out what's in it. He's serving out a $210 fine at the rate of $1.50 a day.

Marian Year Rites Banned in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Plans for a huge Roman Catholic ceremony to mark the end of the church's Marian year appeared doomed today in the wake of a police ban on the annual procession of clergy and laymen honoring the Virgin Mary.

Church authorities said police, at the last moment, refused permission for the scheduled procession through downtown Buenos Aires last night. No official reasons were given but President Juan Peron and the Argentine Catholic hierarchy have been at odds publicly for several weeks.

Winnie's Union Wants His Help in Labor Row

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill was invited today to intervene in a strike involving his labor union.

Bricklayer Churchill carries a card in the Amalgamated Union of Building Trade Workers. It spiked some grumbling about unorganized labor when he built a wall at Chartwell, his country home.

Now the union is involved in a strike against the George Wimpey construction firm at Crawley, south of London. Union leaders sent this telegram to the Prime Minister:

"Worthy brother—request your urgent intervention into the serious dispute between Wimpeys and your fellow trade unionists."

The affair has not yet reached Cabinet level.

Japs Say America Shares War Blame

TOKYO (AP)—Right-wing members of the Japanese Diet today verbally attacked former U.S. Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman and told a new veterans group "Both the United States and Japan are to blame for the war on a 50-50 basis."

Assembly man Yosuhiro Nakasone made the "50-50" statement at the Pearl Harbor Day inaugural meeting of the All-Japan Veterans Assn., attended by aged ex-generals and admirals, politicians and the governor of Tokyo.

He said he referred to a book by Adm. Robert A. Theobold blaming the Pearl Harbor attack on a conspiracy participated in by the late President Roosevelt.

Sheppard, Loomis Cases Show Striking Similarity

DETROIT (AP) — The dramatic murder trial of Dr. Sam Sheppard in Cleveland has stirred memories of another murder trial in Detroit 27 years ago—and the parallels between the two are little short of amazing.

Detroit's Loomis case began on Feb. 22, 1927, when the body of 34 - year - old Grace Loomis was found brutally beaten in her home in Detroit. Her husband Dr. Frank R. Loomis immediately was charged with murder.

Like Sam Sheppard, Loomis was handsome and successful. And like the 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard, Grace Loomis was attractive and popular. Both women were killed by savage blows to the head. Neither murder weapon has been found.

* * *

Sheppard has been described at his trial as an even-tempered husband and father, devoted to his family. Loomis also was called a mild man who was devoted to his wife and two children.

Sheppard has admitted an extramarital romance with pretty Susan Hayes, 24, a former technician at his osteopathic hospital. Loomis had romantic ties with the attractive divorced daughter of a former mayor of a town near Detroit.

Police have been unable to find a T-shirt worn by Sheppard just before his wife was killed. Police found Loomis wearing a white shirt, spotlessly clean, although the rest of his clothing was spattered with blood. Later, shirt buttons were found in the furnace ashes.

* * *

Chip Sheppard, 7, slept quietly in a bedroom while his mother was killed nearby. Loomis' 8-year-old daughter and 6-year-old son were sleeping upstairs when their mother was slain.

Sheppard said his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who ransacked the house. He said some narcotics were missing from his bag. Loomis said $100 he had given his wife was missing and suggested she had been robbed.

Detectives from Cleveland have said that someone tried to make it appear that a burglar had ransacked drawers in the Sheppard home. In the Loomis home, the window was broken in the sun parlor and police said the glass fell outside, indicating it had been broken from within.

* * *

There the similarity ends, for the Loomis trial, of course, is over, while Sheppard still awaits a verdict.

Judge John V. Brennan told the Loomis jury: "If there is a reasonable doubt in your minds, you cannot convict this man." Thirty-five minutes later the jury returned with a verdict of acquittal.

One year later Loomis was dead. He committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. A note he left behind said: "I am not guilty of murder. My conscience is clear."

French Children Given Milk Now Instead of Wine

CHATELET - EN - BRIE, France (UP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France revolutionizes the habits of a hundred generations of French school children here today. He's making them drink milk.

They're not expected to like it, but the milk-loving Preimer has added cookies and fruit in hopes the children will find milk more palatable than the wine they have drunk almost since birth.

Mendes-France, known throughout France now as "a man of milk and iron," chose this village of 864 to launch a school milk program he hopes to extend to every primary school in France.

It was the latest step in his campaign against alcohol in this wine-loving country where small children take wine to school with them and where 15,678 persons died last year of alcoholism and cirrhosis of the liver.

The Premier announced his program to make France like milk a month ago when he returned from a tour of the Belgian border. France regarded his campaign with good natured humor and went on drinking as much wine as ever.

Then he began his program of get-'em-young and the school children campaign was born. Every morning from today on each school child here will receive half a pint of milk, slightly sugared to kill the taste.

Chapter 3 — — 'Suspect'

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Entrance to Carlson Estate Locked . . . Key Is Missing

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn has been retained by Mrs. Kit Carlson "to get something" on her mother-in-law. It develops that there was a sudden death at Mrs. Carlson's home on the West Coast and that Mrs. Carlson is suspected by the family of murder. Dunn and Nancy, his wife, are to pose as caretakers on the Carlson summer estate in the Colorado Rockies.

Jim stopped in the patch of light before the Creek Junction Hotel and Bar, one of the four buildings in the side-road town. "Won't be a minute, Nancy."

He pushed open the bar's door, stepped into an atmosphere lit by the red neon of the huge jukebox.

"Looking for Toby Argyle," Jim told the bartender.

The baldheaded, squat man, whose wrinkles appeared to be doing their best to hide seven warts, said, "I'm Toby. What do you want?"

Dunn wondered if the facial contortions were supposed to be a smile. "Keys to a place called The Spires. I understand it's out of town a couple miles."

"What do you want them keys for?"

"Do some work on the place before tomorrow." Jim hoped he was striking a right note.

Argyle appeared more genial. "Guess there's plenty to be done still. The old lady finally take it over from the boy?"

"You talking about Mrs. Oswald Carlson?"

"Sure. Mrs. Oswald, we call her around here. The old lady. She's a card."

"I'm glad to hear it," Jim said. "However, I'm not working for her."

The cordiality dropped away from the folds of Argyle's face. "No?" He made another effort. "The younger one then? Mrs. Hilton, though you don't look like her type to me."

Dunn took the order from the Denver real estate company from his pocket, put it on the bar. "Maybe this'll help."

Toby Argyle's eyes moved quickly down the typewritten page. They returned to the top line and began a slower reading. He dropped the paper at last, pushed it back toward Jim. "Mrs. Oswald ain't going to like this."

"Look, Mr. Argyle," Jim said. "All I know is I was hired to come up and get this place ready for my boss who'll arrive tomorrow."

Toby Argyle nodded slowly. "Shouldn't think a city fellow like you'd take such a job though. Lonely place — The Spires."

"A job's a job," Jim said.

"Sure. But they're lots of jobs. Hope you get paid plenty for coming up here."

Jim Dunn thought he knew what was coming and played along. "You bet. These California people don't know the value of money."

"California eh? See from the paper her name's Mrs. Gelstrap. Funny sort of name, but I guess that cuts no ice. Now look son. Mostly local people work for the Carlsons."

Jim hesitated, then decided there was no particular point in pushing Argyle into a definite offer for desertion. "I can always leave if I don't like it," he said lightly. "Meantime, the rest of the staff outside'll be getting tired waiting. Could I have the keys?"

"More outside, huh? All right, young man. Maybe you know what you're doing. I'll get the keys out of the safe."

Toby Argyle came back at last with a bunch of keys on a length of wire. He twisted the ends of the wire more securely, tossed the keys on the bar. "There you are, young fellow. Sure you and the others won't spend the night? Could get an early start in the morning."

"Thanks, but I guess I'd better obey orders."

He found the side road, cut the jeep's wheels to the left, crossed the main highway and started down a steep incline. A well-made bridge spanned a rushing creek at the bottom and the ascent was equally steep, with the road narrowing. It wound around huge boulders the size of five-room houses.

He slammed on the brakes as he rounded a sharp turn. The headlights of the jeep stopped a scant three feet from a high iron gate, whose ponderous double doors blocked the road.

Dunn got out, walked closer to read the rather faded sign, "No admittance without key." And just to leave no doubt as to the seriousness of the prohibition there were added smaller words. "Authority of The Carlson Estate." A slim chain was looped around the two center bars of the gate sections and fastened with a padlock.

Dunn fingered through the keys Toby Argyle had given him. None of them bore the same brand name as that on the padlock. Just to be certain, however, he tried every one that would go in at all. None worked. He looked at the wire which held the keys together, remembered Toby Argyle's twisting together of the ends. He whistled softly through his teeth, got a firm grip on each section of the gate and managed a really worthwhile rattle. The chain tightened and loosened, clattered dismally in the still night air.

The light in the cabin went out. "Hey!" Jim called. "Hello the house!"

His voice sounded unnatural.

A young man stepped into the light.

Little Hoover Group to Suggest Own End

LANSING (UP) — Michigan's "Little Hoover" committee on streamlining state government will recommend its own death to the 1955 Legislature.

However, the group also will recommend that another committee on "promotion and review" of Little Hoover proposals be created to carry on the work of urging economy and efficiency in state government.

The Little Hoover group, a joint legislative interim committee established in 1949, completed its work yesterday.

Claims He Saw Phenix Slaying

Check Story of Alleged Eye Witness to Murder of Patterson

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (INS)—Investigators were checking today into the story of a man who claims he was an eye witness to the June 18 slaying of Alabama Attorney General-Elect Albert L. Patterson in Phenix City.

The witness' claim, which came to light as a Russell County grand jury neared completion of its long probe into the slaying of the anti-crime crusader, was not commented upon by top crime investigators.

Sources close to the probe were skeptical that the story of the unidentified witness could be verified. One said:

"I would not be inclined to put much stock in the story."

The alleged witness to the slaying was picked up by Columbus, Ga., police on a drunk charge and told officers he saw the gangland shooting of Patterson.

Only last week, a grand jury witness believed to have been present when Patterson was slain, was fatally stabbed in an altercation with a 16-year-old boy. Authorities said the incident was not connected with the murder probe.

Revelation that another witness might exist came as the grand jury prepared to hear testimony from the one-time gambling czar of Phenix City, Hoyt Shephard.

He and his business associate, Jimmy Mathews, have been serving 90-day jail sentences after pleading guilty to a charge of leasing property for gambling purposes.

Judge Bushnell Sets Retirement Jan. 10

LANSING (AP)—A change in the retirement date of Supreme Court Justice George E. Bushnell was seen today as strengthening any bid for election by his successor, to be appointed by Gov. Williams.

The switch in retirement dates was announced through Gov. Williams' office, Bushnell, leaving to accept a high Masonic post, will retire from the bench Jan. 10, 1955, instead of Dec. 31, as previously announced.

This means his successor will stand for election in the fall of 1956 rather than in the spring of 1955. This would give the Williams appointee the prestige of more than a year and a half in office rather than just a few months, if he decided to run for election.

27 New State Police Now Taking Courses

EAST LANSING (AP) — State Police have opened a second 10-week training school to bring the force to the full strength authorized by the last session of the Legislature.

The last training school graduated 37 troopers Nov. 12. The 27 recruits now in attendance will make up the total of 50 additional troopers authorized and fill vacancies in the police force.

Requests Record Budget

DETROIT (AP) — A record budget of $13,945,848 has been asked by the Detroit Water Commission for $952,600 increase over the current budget is needed to cover operating costs of a new pumping station in the northeastern part of the city.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Show Business

Many Entertainers Make Millions Bringing Millions More Happiness

By EDDIE CANTOR

Bringing happiness to millions has made millions for many an entertainer. Maurice Chevalier has his francs piled higher than an elephant's eye. In England, Gracie Fields is weighed down by hundreds of thousands of pounds—and I don't mean avoirdupois.

In this country, in the millionaire class you will find Arthur Godfrey, Danny Kaye, Red Skelton, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Mary Pickford, Lucy and Desi Arnaz, Fred MacMurray, Harold Lloyd, Sophie Tucker, Ethel Merman and dozens of others.

Ethel is one of the shrewdest gals in show business. She can see the small print in a contract from 20 paces, and I believe she knows where to get the lowest price on anything from sardines to sables.

Ida met her in a supermarket recently and got a big kick out of Ethel's comment when she paid her bill. "Ida," she said, "one thing you can say about the price of food these days—it speeds up shopping. No matter what you buy, you don't have to wait for change."

I don't think Jack Benny got his money just from saving pennies. Of course that helped. I'll never forget a party at his house a few years ago. Several of us were kidding around singing each other's theme songs. Rudy Vallee sang "Love in Bloom"; I sang "My Time Is Your Time:" Jack Benny sang "I Love to Spend—." That's as far as he got—he had to be put to bed, hysterical!

As the MC's say, "Seriously, Folks," it's surprising that Jack Benny can remain a millionaire, what with all the contributions he makes to worth-while causes. You can take it from Cantor, the old "schnorrer" (beggar, to you). No one in show business, but no one, gives more than Mary Livingston's husband. I know. That's the "jack" in Benny you never hear about.

In show business, or any other business for that matter, Crosby stands for currency in capital letters, and I do mean capital. He is interested in music publishing, real estate, ranches, a motion picture company, he's part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, active in a frozen orange juice concern, as well as an invention company called "Bing's Things," plus the fact that most of Bing's things are in cash.

The genial, lovable Irishman, Crosby, is not only a wearer of the green, but a collector of it.

When someone remarked to his millionaire buddy, Bob Hope, "I see where the government's deficit in 1953 was five hundred fifty-three billion dollars," Hope cracked, "Oh, Crosby hasn't paid his tax yet, huh?"

Despite high taxes Danny Kaye has hit the million mark, so has Sophie Tucker, so has Ted Lewis, who keeps asking from one end of the country to the other, "Is everybody happy?" He can afford to be. Ted was one of our early millionaires, thanks to his charming, very brilliant wife, Adah.

Now if I were a millionaire, I could tell you—wait a minute—I am a millionaire. Now what was I going to say?—Oh, yes, "I'm glad."

Governor's Dog Returned Home, Again and Again

DENVER (AP)—There's only one Zip, Gov. Dan Thornton wants the nice people of Denver to know, and he's been found.

Zip, a golden retriever, strayed from the governor's quarters last week but was recovered a few days later after stories about him appeared in the papers.

Trouble is, there are more dog-gone dogs that look like Zip in Denver than anyone knew. And most of them have been brought to Thornton's door by well-meaning citizens the last few days.

One gent called with a golden retriever under his arm yesterday. Told the real Zip had returned, the caller told Thornton he'd taken a taxi all the way across town to return the pup. The governor dug into his pocket and paid the cab fare.

Parked Horse Ticketed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A horse hired to pull a buggy as a TV program publicity stunt was left tied to a parking meter yesterday. A policeman came along, put a ticket on the horse's nose, and took horse and buggy to headquarters. The horse's driver had neglected to put a coin in the meter.

Elderly Texas Pilot Flies Air Force Jet

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Elderly S. H. (Slats) Rogers flew a jet airplane for 30 minutes yesterday, just as he wished.

* * *

Rogers claims he built Texas' first airplane back in 1911 and flew it in 1912. He said he has flown almost everything since then except a jet.

He went up in a jet for 45 minutes with Col. W. T. Samways of the Laredo Air Force Base at the controls for 15 minutes of the time.

POW Freed Last Year Re-enlists for Army Duty

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tommy G. Romero, 23, discharged a year ago November after 34 months as a Korean War prisoner of the Chinese Communists, yesterday signed up for another three-year hitch with the Army.

"I like the Army," he said at the recruiting station in Salt Lake City. "It's just like home to me."

Ship Building Booms

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese shipbuilders have received foreign orders for 37 ships worth 85 million dollars since April, the Transportation Ministry said today.

Toy Merchant Shoots Ex-Wife

Las Vegas Man Slays Divorced Mate, Friend as Children Watch

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A well-to-do toy shop operator who police said shot his recently divorced wife and another woman to death last night while children watched gave himself up to posse members today.

Held following a five-hour manhunt that included a house-to-house search was Fred Fowler, 54.

Killed in the Fowler home last night were Mrs. Dorothy Fowler, 32, who divorced her husband three months ago, and her friend Mrs. Emma Lou Cotner, 35.

* * *

Police said the Fowlers' children Frances, 14, William, 7, and Freda, 6, and Mrs. Cotner's 4-year-old son Dayid were in the house. Young Divid, they said, witnessed the shooting. So did Frances, who called police and said:

"My daddy just shot my mommy."

Police said Fowler had been drinking heavily since the divorce. At that time his wife was given the family home and also the toy store with the stipulation that Fowler be allowed to work there and live in an apartment at the rear.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL By Charles Dickens

Before a tiny house, the Ghost of Christmas Present stopped to bestow a blessing. It was the home of Bob Cratchit, Scrooge's fifteen-shilling-a-week clerk.

The Spirit took Scrooge inside. Above all others, the Cratchits had the true spirit of Christmas.

They saw Bob and Tiny Tim return from church to the love of their family. It dawned on Scrooge that this was what Christmas really meant—to love one another.

Drowned Boy's Father Seeks $50,000 Damages

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — A father is asking $50,000 damages from the Huron-Clinton Authority, charging it with negligence in the drowning of his five-year-old son last June at Metropolitan Beach.

Charles P. VanDecar, of Clinton Township filed suit in Macomb County Circuit Court yesterday. He said his boy, Charles J., fell into the water and drowned near a public runway because the dangerous area was not fenced off.

Deaths Last Night

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—Anthony Thieme, 66, noted artist whose paintings of "Motif No. 1" helped make the Rockport, Mass., summer art colony widely known, and whose paintings were exhibited in museums throughout the country.

BARCELONA, Spain—Ernesto Vilches, 76, Spanish screen and stage actor.

PHILADELPHIA—George A. Reach, 86, president of George A. Reach Co., Inc., sporting goods manufacturers, and credited with introducing the cork center in baseballs in 1910.

Child's Disease Upswing Noted for State in '54

LANSING (AP) — As most parents must have suspected, the common children's diseases were on the upswing in Michigan during the past year.

Most of the increases were expected seasonal ones and did not indicate a dangerous trend, Dr. F. S. Leeder, head of the Health Department's bureau of disease control, reported.

There were 37,931 cases of measles reported to the Health Department through the end of November this year. This compared with 27,311 cases last year and 31,987 two years ago.

Whooping cough also showed an increase with 5,002 cases reported during the past year against 2,571 cases in 1953 and 1,802 two years ago.

Scarlet fever was an exception with 4,824 cases this year against 5,503 last year and 7,712 two years ago.

Diptheria, one of the more serious children's diseases, showed a marked increase, however. There were 50 cases reported through the end of November against only 12 reported during a 12-month period a year ago.

Admits Sheppard Hoax

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police have freed Henry W. Fuehrer, 52, who admitted his story of accompanying a "bushy-haired" burglar to the house where Marilyn Sheppard was killed July 4 was a hoax. Officers said Fuehrer was in jail in Knoxville, Tenn., the night of the slaying.

Mayor Cobo Urges Overall Parking Job

DETROIT (INS) — In the wake of common council approval of Detroit's 15½-million-dollar municipal parking program, Mayor Cobo today urged that the four proposed downtown garages be planned and constructed simultaneously.

Immediately after council unanimously approved the program, city engineers ordered final blueprints for the $4,100,000 Grand Circus Park underground parking garage.

The plans should be ready in a maximum of 120 days and, if approved by council, construction can start in July, according to Parking Authority Director John D. McGillis.

Cobo alerted city officials to be ready on immediate notice to condemn land and prepare blueprints for three other downtown parking garages costing $4,499,000.

There have been as many as 74 dense fogs a year in London.

Miss Cobb Speaks to Alumnae Club

A musical program and stories of Christmas entertained members of University of Michigan Alumnae Club who gathered Monday evening in the W. Iroquois road home of Mrs. T. E. Wiersema.

Musicians included Mrs. Martin Wager, cellist, and Mrs. Rebecca Gould accompanied by Mrs. Donald B. Hogue. Laura Cobb of Pontiac Storyteller's Club told two Christmas tales.

Serving on the committee for the evening were Iama Hook, Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. Cyril Miller, Marian Bruder and Mrs. L. L. Dunlap.

Symphony, Chorus Thrill Audience

By FLORA WAGER

It was a happy occasion Tuesday evening when two of Pontiac's outstanding musical groups, the Pontiac Symphony and the MacDowell chorus with their directors, Francesco Di Blasi and George Putnam, combined efforts and presented a concert of merit.

The concert opened with the beautiful orchestral "Overture to Hansel and Gretel," composed by Humperdinck. Mr. Di Blasi and the orchestra gave this an exquisite interpretation with an almost perfect blend of strings, woodwinds and brass.

This was followed by Beethoven's "Symphony No. 8, in F Major." This symphony is not heard as much a some of Beethoven's other works but is charming and witty. This is a technically difficult opus and was played very efficiently with crispness and clarity of tone.

The MacDowell Chorus as guest artists, making their first appearance with full symphony accompaniment, was enthusiastically received in a group of four numbers.

The "Hallelujah Amen from Judas Maccabaeus" by Handel, with its intricate contrapuntal construction was sung magnificently.

This was followed by Bach's "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" with a thrilling climax of powerful voices. An exceptionally lovely arrangement for both voices and orchestra of "Three Songs for Christmas" by Clare Grundman captivated the audience with its delicacy and charm.

Irving Berlin's ever popular and seasonal "White Christmas" closed the group. The perfect intonation, the balance of parts and pleasing quality of voices together with the sympathetic accompaniment of Mr. Di Blasi and the orchestra was one of Pontiac's best musical moments.

MacDowell Chorus with its fine performance showed the capable instruction of its present director, George Putnam.

Following intermission, "Adagio for Strings, Opus 2" by Samuel Barber with its haunting melody and extraordinary beauty of tone by members of the string section made this one of the highlights of the evening.

The program closed with the "Prelude to Tannhauser," one of Richard Wagner's master achievements. This is a dramatic work which calls for the utmost effort of the parts of director and players. It's technical requirements and tremendous climaxes made it a fitting close for a wonderful evening.

Mr. Di Blasi conducts almost entirely without a score, giving his full attention to symphony members, who are enthusiastically attending rehearsals every week. They realize it is an invaluable experience to play in the Pontiac Symphony under his direction.

Chairmen Named by Niblick Club

Twenty members of the Niblick Club gathered Tuesday afternoon at the Elks Temple for the first business meeting of the year and an afternoon of bridge. Mrs. Harold Slankster, president, announced her committee chairmen for the coming year during the meeting. Mrs. Ben Bowman is chairman of the golf committee; Mrs. John Meddaugh, social chairman; Mrs. Harold King, publicity; Merle Games, flowers; and Mrs. Ray Kingsbury, telephone committee.

A Christmas party, with exchange of gifts, will be held Dec. 14 at the Motorway drive home of Mrs. Meddaugh.

Try New Hangers

For lighter pictures and paintings, there are now lick-'em and stick-'em hangers for the wall. These are landlord proof, as they peel off with hardly a mark.

The Curious Savage is the title of a three-act comedy which will be presented by the Circle Players Friday and Saturday evenings at the Elks Temple, beginning at 8:15. Appearing to have mixed emotions are (left to right) Kenneth Stephens of Lanette street, Joseph Medrano of South Anderson street, Pan Trent of Bellevue avenue and Pat Stites of Clarkston. The players are sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Panhellenic Hears Story Teller

The Cherokee road home of Mrs. George N. Petroff was the setting for a Christmas party Monday evening for members of Pontiac City Panhellenic. Hostess for the occasion was Mrs. William Donnelly, assisted by Carol Charles and Joyce Schmidt.

Mrs. Cecil Davidson and Mrs. E. L. McRae of the Walled Lake Story Tellers League presented interesting Christmas stories and Rosamond Haeberle played several Christmas carols.

Mrs. Edmund Rogers will be hostess for the Jan. 10 meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Howerth.

OES to Hold Yule Party

Plans for a Christmas party were made when members of Areme Chapter 503, OES met Monday evening at Roosevelt Temple. Mrs. Edward Alward, grand committee woman on youth, gave a talk on the worthy grand matron's projects for the year.

The Christmas party will be held Dec. 20 with Mrs. Willard McRae, Caroline Muecke, Mrs. Dean Olds, Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. George Trask and Mabel Tharp taking charge of the cooperative dinner.

Decorations will be taken care of by Mrs. Lyman Rieck and Jean Rieck. An exchange of gifts and a program will follow the dinner.

Guests at Monday's meeting besides Mrs. Alward, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paavola of Rochester and Mrs. Francis Melosh of Rochester.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Waring, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Jasper Price and Florence Wallace.

Attends Reception

Members of Birmingham Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta sorority will attend a reception Sunday afternoon at Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti. The reception will honor the newly installed Gamma Zeta Chapter of the sorority.

Mrs. Baker Elected to Third Term

Elected to a third term of office as president of the ladies' auxiliary to Metropolitan Club Spirit Six was Mrs. Reuel Baker. She was elected at a meeting held Tuesday evening in Mrs. Davy Gilpin's Neome drive home.

Her officers for the coming year include Mrs. Ray Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Dean, recording secretary; Mrs. Merfell Petrie, financial secretary; Mrs. James DeFlorio, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Isenberg, sergeant at arms and Mrs. Cliff Hickmott, parliamentarian.

Serving on the board of trustees will be Mrs. Joseph Koren, Mrs. Park Nique and Mrs. Harold Wright.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Howard Fairman, Mrs. John Ott and Mrs. Reuben Ellison. Plans have been completed for the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 14 in Iraq Grotto on West Pike street.

The group's next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 18 in Dames of Malta Hall on Perkins street. A joint installation of officers will be held Jan. 22 in Chieftain Hall.

Serving on the committee will be Mrs. Reuel Baker, Mrs. Harry Isenberg, Mrs. Park Nique, Mrs. John Morse and Mrs. Ralph Dean.

Plans were made to give Christmas toys to eleven needy boys and girls. Mrs. Spencer Bernhardt was a visitor at the Tuesday meeting.

Gifts Presented to Hospital

At a recent meeting of Tipacon Chapter of American Business Women's Association, members collected Christmas cards, stamps and many gifts to be given to patients of Pontiac State Hospital.

Marguerite Parrish, director of social service for the hospital accepted the gifts on behalf of the staff and expressed her thanks to the chapter for carrying out this project.

Miss Parrish pointed out how much this project will mean in brightening the holiday season for the patients. Chapter members have voted to carry out this practice by sending cards to the patients on holiday occasions throughout the year.

Measurements Supplied as Hints to Glove Size

Have you ever stepped up to a glove counter all set to buy a fine pair of leather gloves for that man on your Christmas shopping list only to realize that you didn't know his size?

This happens to millions of distracted Christmas shoppers every year.

The proportions of the male hand are determined by his height and weight. These are innocent statistics that you probably know, or can secure from any man without arousing his suspicions and spoiling the surprise element of your gift.

This is how you then go about determining his glove size:

(1) If he weights from 120 to 140 pounds and measures from 5 feet-4 inches to 5 feet-8 inches, he'll take a size 7½ glove.

(2) If he tips the scales at from 131 to 150 pounds and measures from 5 feet-5 inches, to 6 feet his glove size should be 8.

(3) If his height is 5 feet-9 inches or over, and his weight from 160 to 190 pounds, a size 8½ glove ought to do the trick.

(4) Should his weight be 200 to 225 pounds and his height up to 6 feet-2 inches, a size 9 to 9½ gloves ought to be a perfect fit.

If he is any bigger than that buy him a book on dieting, plus a gift certificate for the gloves.

Incidentally, you'll find the men's counters well-stocked with the best leather glove selection and variety in years. There are gloves in all weights, in a variety of leather textures, in a rich assortment of colors, lined or unlined.

The new pig leathers, with their distinctively marked grain and new butter-soft finish that makes them as crushable as a handkerchief, are particularly suited for all-around winter wear. They can be worn at spectator sports, on country weekends and are equally suitable for wear with tweeds and the semi-casual type of attire many men wear to business.

For dressier wear, during business hours or afterwards, there are luxurious cape leathers light as a feather and with fine, polished surfaces. Many of these are beautifully tailored with hand-stitching and come in deep lustrous browns and smart tawny tones as well as greys. Lined in warm featherweight nylons or cashmeres, they show practically no bulk and are weather-proof on the coldest day.

RALPH MONROE

Serving as president of the Hoedowners Square Dance Club is Ralph Monroe. Assisting the president are Cecil Elsholz, vice president and Mr. and Mrs. Merton Brummett, secretary and treasurer. Serving on the board of governors are Robert Grosjean, Robert Crites, Howard Hatfield, Mrs. Lester Christenson and Mrs. Gus Ruiz.

Seven Holiday Hairdos Listed for the New Year

Give yourself a new hairdo for Christmas to start the New Year right.

That's the beauty advice for the season. Here are seven holiday hairdos to help you choose one for you! All were developed by leading New York hairstylists.

High Brow. To show off a pretty forehead and hairline, hair is swept back smoothly without a part and then is turned under sleekly.

Peter Pan. A pert elfin-look is becoming to small features. Hair swirls out from part into feathery curls in front, head-fitting shape in back.

Classic Pageboy. This tailored medium-long style with flattering top height camouflages irregular hairline, minimizes square jaw.

Chanel Cut. Head-fitting and in step with the new soft lines of Paris fashion, this tapered cloche-like style is at home with bulky knits or bouffants.

Modern Victorian. Youthful yet sophisticated, this is a feminine, medium-length do. Featured are piecrust bangs and back softness.

Baby Flapper. This is a neat practical style for growing out a short hairdo. Lift at crown adds height, side dips peep out from new deep-crowned hats.

Party Pony Tail. The dressed-up pony tail is softly curled and head-fitting. Tail is worn at an angle so hair contours the face flatteringly on one side.

Initiation Held by Auxiliary

Four new members were initiated into the Huron Gardens Eagles Auxiliary 2887 when the group held a joint initiation with the lodge Sunday at the hall on Highland road.

New members are Mrs. Odin Johnson, Mrs. Marvin Kuschinsky, Mrs. Levi Morris and Mrs. Billie Stratton. Dancing followed the dinner, which was served to members and guests of the East Detroit and Pontiac Lodges.

Final plans were completed for a dance to be held Dec. 11 in honor of Philip H. Hart. Proceeds will benefit the Waterford Township Fire Department Goodfellows.

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Richard Pfeffer are Mrs. Robert Harger of West Howard street, and R. H. Sutton of Union Lake road. He is the son of the Joseph Pfeffers of Elizabeth Lake road. A Feb. 12 wedding is planned.

For Outdoor Girl

Weekend Cover-all New

By NORA W. MARTIN

PARIS (INS) — The "weekend cover-all" is the latest Parisian cover-up style for the sporty outdoor girl.

These cover-alls fit like sheaths and are made of wind and watertight fabrics. Paris fashion designer Andre Ledoux, trend-setter for sports clothes, shows them for hunting, chalet wear and as 'round-the-clock outfits for Autumn weekends in the country.

Ledoux thinks a sports woman shouldn't fiddle around with skirts when she goes for a weekend trip. She should look sleek and chic. She should feel comfortable, warm and free to move.

He proposes the sports coveralls as the answer. Using hard wearing fabrics, Ledoux makes pants and tops of his new sport togs with seams and darts so they look extra sleek, but still are comfortable.

One weekend coverall is made of dark green, red and blue pinstriped worsted wool worn with a brown leather belt. For another Ledoux uses grey and black striped jersey.

Here the pants are cut in one with a sleeveless, high-necked top for indoor wear to be covered up by a black sweater for out of doors. A chic and warm weekend coverall is made of brown herring-bone-patterned Shetland wool, while still another model of grey and white striped wool has a lemon colored knitted yoke.

For the modern huntress, a Paris designed suit is an all-in-one outfit of hazel-nut colored gabardine trimmed with collar and belt of brown and white calf skin. Padding protects the right shoulder from the recoil of the gun. The streamlined pants end in gaiters to cover the shoes.

For "dianas" who don't go in for pants, Ledoux has a more feminine hunting outfit. It is an outfit of pine - green gabardine with a straight skirt showing a deep box-pleat at the back and worn with a matching wind-breaker front-buttoned by a leather tab.

A sleeveless decollete top of the same fabric is hidden under the blouse. Ledoux suggests adding a corsage of pine-cones or pheasant plumes.

For after-ski wear there is a black and white pinchecked overall with the straps fastened by metal buckles in front. It can be either worn over a sweater or on bare shoulders as a decollete outfit.

And for cold Winter days, Ledoux suggests short man-styled top-coats of camel-hair or Loden to be worn over the new weekend coveralls.

Hair Can Achieve Thick Appearance

To give your hair a thicker appearance, choose a fairly short style, on the full side. It will look even fuller than the style allows if you first brush it back and upward. Then, with your comb, pick up just the top layer and comb it smoothly over the roughed-up underneath section.

Clean, fresh hair is fluffier and doesn't cling to the head, so shampoo frequently. Massage scalp and brush hair thoroughly but gently every day.

Parisian Housewives Laud Services

By NORA W. MARTIN

PARIS (INS)—Housewives in Paris are getting a real break these days from a new service called "Practical Life."

All the housewife has to do is make a morning telephone call and she can:

Plan her shopping.

Make up her menu for the day, and even

Check the recipes.

She can do it in the space of three minutes. It's the kind of snappy service that will bring a glint of envy to the eyes of housewives from New York to San Francisco.

An enterprising firm, called "S. V. P." ("S'il Vos Plait," meaning in French: "If You Please") gives by telephone information on food market prices, suggests the menu of the day and even gives the recipes for proposed dishes to anybody dialing "S.V.P." on the telephone.

Apart from the price of the telephone call, this new public service is free. The information recorded on tape, with each item lasting three minutes and available simultaneously to 90 people through a switchboard with 90 channels worked by 12 operators.

The new service has for the moment two sections: one called the "Culinary Guide," and the other "Shopping." The shopping service, run with the cooperation of a large Paris department store, will announce daily bargains and sales and quote prices of seasonal items, children's holiday outfits, gift items.

A third service, "Where to spend the evening," is being considered. It will inform people about the latest shows, plays, movies, restaurants and cabarets.

The "SVP" service is not new to Parisians. But since it started in 1935 it has been restricted to subscribers. It answers individual questions in any field ranging from advice in law-matters to the color of Marlene Dietrich's hair.

While the new "Practical Life" service is automatic, the answers at the regular "SVP" telephone service are handled individually. A staff of 180 people includes specialists in practically every field. With a documentation service of several thousand books, newspapers and periodicals and important files on all subjects, the staffers are ready to answer the questions of their subscribers.

"SVP" statistics show an average of 4,500 answers per day. The subscription prices vary according to the number of fields involved in the service. A general subscription entitled clients to any number of questions in any field including research work. A special service to arrange transportation, including cars, trucks and moving vans, is also connected with "SVP."

The new automatic public service, not necessitating a subscription, was first tried out for special events such as the presidential elections and the popular bicycle race throughout France. It gave the latest news developments registered on tape and available by simple telephone dialing.

The expenses for the new public "SVP" services are subsidized by advertising firms mentioned in the information.

Dullness Gone, Fabrics Take On Opulent Look

In everything from negligees to raincoats, there's a new look of opulence this year . . . an opulence that is achieved through the use of gorgeous fabrics.

Until Celanese acetate was available, such rich materials could have been made up only in a few very expensive fashions.

But now you'll find satins, taffetas, peau de soles, brocades, failles, laces and jerseys in heavenly colors and exquisite textures, plain or printed or embroidered . . . in all price ranges and for all occasions.

This season, the trend is away from the stultifying dullness of one costume to wear all the time and toward the excitement of elegant fashions for special occasions.

Fabrics made of Celanese acetate yarn have what is known as a "hand" of unbelievable versatility. They can be soft as a baby's cheek, crisp as a saltstick, or fluid as water. You'll find the fashions and fabrics that fit best into today's lovely picture are tagged with "The Opulent Look."

Problem Solved by New Design

Christmas means parties and parties mean fetching cocktail dresses with off-the-shoulder necklines to reveal your neck and shoulders. Bra straps have been the big problem, often popping up to mar the line of the dress or slipping shamelessly down on the arm, an equally unpleasant sight.

This year the problem is solved. Available now for the first time is an off-the-shoulder bra. Delicately fashioned of embroidered nylon lace over nylon net, it features a petal-shaped pad of thin foam rubber in the underbust section.

The upper bust is dainty enough to peek out of your holiday frock. It is edged with lace and has a small white satin bow. The straps anchor securely at the edge of the shoulders.

Liners Are Handy

There are liners for bushel baskets that make them into perfect laundry baskets, mending boxes or storage spaces for the kids' toys. You could make one in a plastic fabric to match a room, if you like.

Same Exercise Double for Two

For slimming or building up the ankles, the same exercise: Take off your shoes and stand barefooted. Plac ea thick telephone book or dictionary in a doorway, so you will have some support for your hands and won't fall over.

Standing on the book with the balls of your feet, rise up on your toes. Then do a deep knee bend, still on the toes, and then rock back with your heels on the floor. Do it six or seven times a day to begin with and work up to 25.

It will take you one year before you will notice any difference. But it does work!

Exciting Perfume Adds Importance on Holiday

Perfume, always an exciting accessory, seems to reach its peak of importance at Christmastime. The happy, festive season with its merry round of parties would be woefully incomplete without the glitter, mystery and warmth of fragrance.

To enhance your holiday happenings a famous French perfumer whose history dates back to long before the French Revolution, offers a new fragrance.

This new perfume, unlike most, cannot be typed as oriental, aldehyde, fruity, floral or mossy. It is a blend of many notes, some quite exotic, with warm undercurrents. It is meant to flatter the wearer and to inspire compliments.

Knowing how to wear perfume to get the most out of it is just as important as choosing the right scent. Using too little, for example, is a waste because you won't be aware of it, yet you don't want to reek, either.

Here are some suggestions to help you reach a happy fragrant medium.

Henry S. Booths Write Party Invitations in Italian

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Booth have given their friends something to think about! They have sent out invitations for a dinner party Dec. 17 and written them entirely in Italian!

Mrs. Saunders

This is not surprising when it is remembered they recently returned from a trip abroad and spent several weeks touring Italy.

The newly redecorated Forest Lake Country Club will give its ladies' Christmas luncheon Friday.

Mrs. Arthur L. Foltz Jr. is chairman of social activities assisted by Mrs. Raymond E. Cahill, Mrs. Roland D. Benscoter, Mrs. Frederick N. Canning, Mrs. Spencer Gates, Mrs. William Hoover, Mrs. Roy N. Potvin and Mrs. Carl R. Lundblad.

Members are asked to bring grab bag gifts and there will be group singing of Christmas songs with Mrs. Ford C. Ritner at the piano.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blythin and Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Teel have invited a large group of friends for cocktails Friday at the Blythin home in Cranbrook road.

Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. James J. Nance, Mrs. Carl J. Whirl, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bragaw, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Tisdale, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Monaghan, Mr. and Mrs. William Macke, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shine and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Darragh.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Tod Reed, Washburne Wright, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swan, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Underhill are others.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley M. Brown Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coward, Mr. and Mrs. Philip de Beaubien, Mrs. Phyllis Manypenny, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hazard, Howard Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. Rocco deMarco, Mr. and Mrs. William Klenke, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Raeder, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Edmonds and the Carl Fischers complete the list.

* * *

St. Dunstan's Guild will give its usual singing party next Wednesday evening in Christ Church Cranbrook. Dr. William Lloyd Kemp will play the organ and Henry S. Booth will read the Christmas story.

There will be a Wassail Bowl at the Cranbrook Pavilion after the wining with Winston T. Kellogg in charge and hosts will be members of the board of directors and officers of the Guild.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Booth have invited friends to a late supper party in their home in Glenhurst drive.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard B. Barker will have "Open House" Dec. 19 in their home on Martel drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Booth will fly to Washington D.C. Friday morning to attend a dinner party there that night. On Saturday Mr. Booth will attend the Gridiron dinner at the Statler Hotel and Mrs. Booth has been invited to the gridiron widow's dinner the same evening at the Mayflower Hotel.

They will attend a reception on Sunday before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Denton Anderson will entertain at a Christmas cocktail party Dec. 19.

* * *

Suzanne Anderson is honor guest at a tea and shower this afternoon given by Mrs. Armin Rickell of Grosse Pointe.

On Tuesday evening with Clara Gordon, she will be honored at a dinner party given by Mrs. Roger W. Aten. Both Miss Anderson and Miss Gordon will be married in February.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gray Muzzy are expecting Mr. and Mrs. Homer Robertson of Washington, D.C., to spend the weekend of Dec. 18 with them.

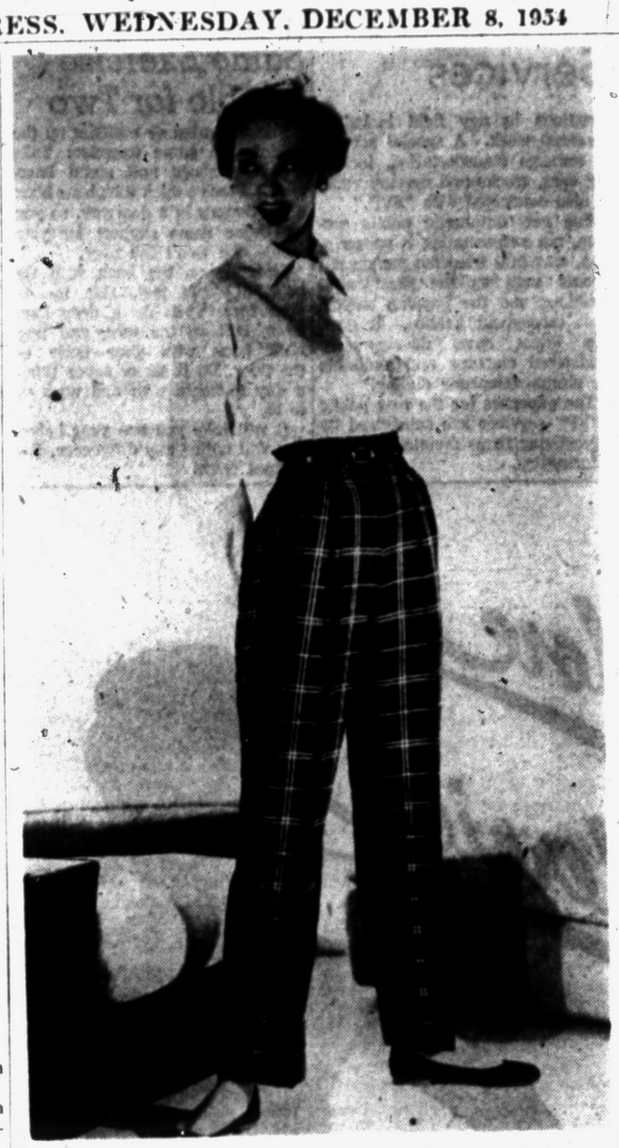
They will attend the wedding in Ann Arbor Dec. 18 of Sarah Angell and Donald Parsons of Devon, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks (Mary Lois Foley) of Lahser road announce the birth of a daughter, Anne Gerard, Nov. 26.

Mrs. A. S. McEvoy will open her home in Goodhue road Dec. 14 for a Christmas dinner party given by the North Suburban Chapter of Alpha Phi alumnae.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Richard W. Brown, Mrs. Russell Post and Mrs. Charles McClain.

Gifts will be brought for patients at Lapeer State Home and Training School.



This tartan taper slack will be at home with the carriage trade. The fly-front pleated slack fairly shouts comfort with fashion in a Scotch accent. Continuous waistband and belt loops give it a finished air and there are two pockets for coins, keys and cigarettes.

Pioneer your way to casual comfort—to a classic look of simplicity that fits your income and your mood in this modern frontier calfskinner. Light-weight, washable corduroy, it is accented with contrasting stitching and bright-as-a-penny flat top nickel buttons. Just adjust the buttons at the bottom of the leg to wear at knicker-length.

Musicale Will Have Annual Program

Birmingham Musicale will hold its traditional annual Christmas program on Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Birmingham Community House.

Featured on the program will be the group's choral ensemble and double quartette under the direction of Gertrude Heinze Greer accompanied by Margaret Clifton and Fern Patterson.

As guest artist, John Cataldo, violinist, will play three Fritz Kreisler numbers and will accompany Dorothy Gillon, a chorus member.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Carl W. Meyer, Mrs. Arnold O. Brown, Mrs. Samuel H. Trude, Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell and Mrs. Harold S. McFarland. Staging for the program will be handled by Mrs. Clifford A. Nelson, Mrs. Harold Warner, and Mrs. Webster Schiefele.

Chairman of the day will be Mrs. Gerald J. McMechan. Handling tea arrangements will be Mrs. John D. Maynard assisted by Mrs. John Martz, Mrs. Ralph Battenhouse, Mrs. Karl Bronson, Mrs. Luther Heacock, Mrs. Simeon Janes, Mrs. Robert Hutchison and Mrs. Charles Adams.

Presiding at the tea services will be Mrs. J. L. Tate, Mrs. Herbert Gardner, Mrs. John Abbott, Mrs. Lewis B. Sappington, Mrs. Donald Stanton, Mrs. Earl Bartholomew and Mrs. Howard Hallas.

3 MOMS Attend Detroit Conference

Attending the presidents' discussion meeting of MOMS of American Inc. at the YWCA in Detroit Monday were Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Harry Luxon and Mrs. S. Edgar Thomas of Unit two.

An annual Christmas dinner party will be held by Unit Two at the Baldwin road home of Mrs. Emery Clark, Friday evening.

Madeleine Fauth's casual classic is shown here in printed silk shantung. This dress to be worn with wonderful ease, either buttons high to the small collar, or it is opened low, and filled in with ropes of color.

Sorority Plans Children's Party

Plans were completed for the annual children's Christmas party to be given Dec. 18 in YWCA when members of Gamma Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met Tuesday in Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Harry Bell reported on the Thanksgiving basket that was given to a needy family by the chapter. A cooking demonstration will be given Jan. 19 in Consumers' Power Company auditorium.

The program for the evening was a talk on residential architecture given by Robert C. Smitha. Guests at the meeting included Betty Giddings, Mrs. Richard Benham, Mrs. William Cheal and Bonnie Cox.

Arrival Is on Time

His Feelings for 'Steady' Have Faded

Girl Should Start Looking Around, She's Free Now

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Matt and I have been going steady for two months. At first he acted as though he really liked me a lot, but lately his attitude has changed, and he acts as though he is just going with me because he feels he should.

He asked me to give his ring back the other night; he said he still liked me and always would, but he just didn't want to go steady with me any longer. Can I believe what he tells me?"

You mean, can you believe that he still likes you and always will? Or that he doesn't want to go steady with you any more?

The first statement is usually the gentling lead up to the blow that crushes. So I think it's quite wise of you to believe only that he's no longer wild about little you.

You've seen this thing coming, after all. The first blush of your new romance faded soon after you started going steady with Matt. Not that your affection and interest lessened. But Matt's attitude seemed lukewarm. His restlessness showed very clearly. So the end of the steady part didn't come exactly as a surprise, did it?

You probably won't be seeing much of Matt any more. He wants to be free to make new conquests. He shouldn't expect you to be waiting around twiddling your thumbs either.

So take him at his word—and start percolating around.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm brand-new in this town. One of the first things the girls told me was to watch out for Chuck. He's beautiful, the girls all like him—but they've all been the victims of his "line." It's very high-pressure.

The very first date he has with a girl it's love at first sight for him. The real thing. Aks her to go steady right away. Rushes the life out of her for a week, then it's all over.

"I was warned—but I'm his newest victim. He sounds so convincing! And he's so attractive. What am I to do? Fall for his line, as I'm tempted to do, or what?"

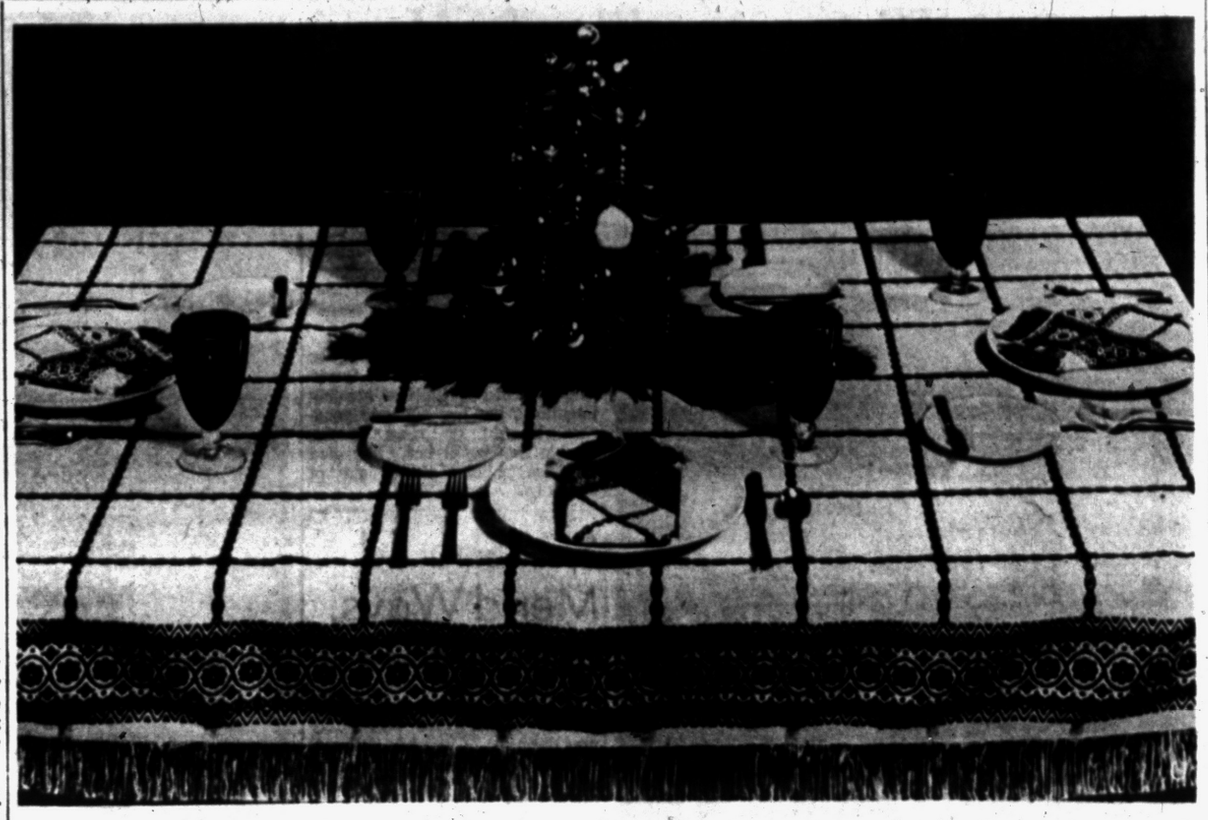
As a brand-new girl in town you're in a perfect position to string a mean line of your own before you fall for Chuck's. Let him bump into something new—a girl who won't agree to go steady with him after one date.

It would be social suicide for you to settle down with him before you'd had time to look around, even! Besides, you make it a point not to fall on your face! You like to know a boy a while before you put your life in his hands. Of course, he has terribly nice hands, and you like the tone of his voice and the pretty things he says. So if he'll stick around a spell, you'll see what you can do for him. If he sticks for several weeks it might mean he's fallen for his own line!

Separates Hint Not

For party wear, separates give no hint of their ever parting. They're all of a fabric, smooth and tightly joined. Often, the joint is concealed further with a fringed sash of a self slim as an icicle. Try one in brocade.

The green gold, sometimes used in modern jewelry is about the same composition as ancient electrum—75 per cent gold and 25 per cent silver.



A bright, red feathered Christmas tree, trimmed with small ornaments creates a centerpiece for an informal table-setting. This cloth of natural homespun with the red glassware complement the centerpiece. It's a perfect setting for informal dining.

Red Roses Disagreed With Pink

Woman Advised to Tell Her Nephew of Corsage Error

By EMILY POST

An embarrassing situation is described in the following letter: "My nephew is going to be married shortly. Last week he called to tell me that he had ordered a corsage for me to wear at the wedding. I happened to find out, quite by accident, that the corsage is of red roses. My dress is in the pink family and red roses just won't go with it. I had planned to wear white camellias. Will you please tell me what, if anything, I can do about this without hurting his feelings?"

Tell him frankly that quite by accident you found out from the florist that the corsage he ordered for you was of red roses, and that beautiful as they are they won't go with the color of your dress, and ask him if he would mind very much changing the order from red to white because white is the only color that will look well with your dress.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am faced with the problem of having to write a letter of resignation to a club of which I have been a member of the past five years. Will you please tell me to whom the letter should be written and how it is worded.

A letter of resignation is written to the secretary of the club and follows this general pattern: "My dear Mrs. Blank, It is with regret that I must ask you to present my resignation at the next meeting of the Board of Governors, since I am moving to Fartown shortly after the first of next month." (It is more polite to give the reason if possible). You sign the note, "Very sincerely, Mary Jones."

Dear Mrs. Post: In attending a church other than one's own, is it proper to conform as closely as possible to the ritual of that church, or just sit without participating in the service?

You conform to the extent of standing when they stand, and sitting when they sit.

Understand Youth by Remembering

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Joe is nine.

Today, after school, he went to the cellar—and discovered his little brother using his hammer to drive nails into a piece of plywood. As he'd been saving the wood for airplane construction, the sight of it, split and useless filled him with dismay.

Angrily he snatched it from Buddy, who kicked him and then fled crying to find his mother.

Several minutes later, rebuking her older son, his mother said to him, "Don't tell me what he did to your wood! You tease him skates yesterday. You tease him continually. I'm sick and tired of the squabbling between you two boys . . ."

This is a typical response to a "teasing" child's request for justice. It is an immoral response based upon the principle of retaliation by which we justify Buddy's current imposition on Joe by Joe's past impositions on Buddy.

Because the "teaser" is always judged by what he did yesterday, he learns to despiar of justice today.

That is why he "teases."

I personally have great sympathy for the "teaser." I think it must be dreadful to have to live under continual condemnation for past action to which we cannot return to correct. So I can quite understand the sense of helplessness which is the "teaser's" problem—and how it drives him to greater and greater dependence upon sneaky attack by which he hopes to balance the injustices done him.

I think it sad, but inevitable, that instead of trusting our justice he should have to trust pleasure in making Buddy experience the helplessness he feels himself.

So to parents of "teasers" I want to say, "Do you have any recollection at all of your own helplessness as a child unjustly accused? If not, then it is such a painful recollection that you've made a point for forgetting it. The truth is, you know exactly what it was to try and assemble your frightened wits against attack by your accusing adult."

So far as I'm concerned, childhood offers no experience so harsh as the experence of injustice from the ones childhood has to trust.

We dispense it because we don't want to remember how harsh it was.

In a new book, "The Early Years of Life," psychoanalyst Alice Balint writes, "Understanding upbringing is nothing but the recollection of what we all knew as children."

Try It

Card Is a Real Surprise

Yesterday we had one Christmas card idea, here is another one for today. This idea will take lots of time, but it will surprise the person who receives it, so it will be worth all of the time that it takes.

How about making this newspaper headline card for some of your best friends? They will like it I am sure. Take the front page of this newspaper, after the family has finished reading it, and cut it away from the rest of the paper. Now use the balance of the paper for letters which you paste to the front page.

Find large letters throughout the paper to change the headlines on one of the news stories, and make it about your friend. You can tell about something that he or she has done lately. You may want to change two or more stories into headlines about him. Try It. Suggested by Philip Arne of Milwaukee.

This can be used for a party idea, too, for it would be fun to pass around in a group telling about one of the people taking a trip to the moon, flying in a rocket ship, or taking a dip in cold winter weather.

Clean Drain Board

When you've finished the dishes and they've dried, use the soapy dish cloth to sponge off the rubber drain board. It will stay clean and odor free this way. Left to spring cleaning, it may accumulate stains that won't come off.

Astronomers say that many meteors are formed from the condensed gasses of comets.

Fluffy Skirt Highlights Datewear

Christmas datewear displays billowy skirts coupled with scooped halter and square throated necklines.

Destined for success is a bewitching white taffeta princesse, embroidered with white butterflies (a subtle white-on-white effect). Bodice is carved closely through the midriff, then belled out into a fabulous crinolined skirt.

For the full flourish of winter parties, there is a skirt-and-blouse ensemble in light and deep blue. Sleeveless evening blouse looks like a halter, buttons in back. Skirt glides easily over a bouffant crinoline. Both are light blue taffeta, embroidered with deeper blue dots or white with red-dot embroidery.

Another holiday version of the beloved daytime separates is an outfit combining an off-shoulder blouse in brilliant blue velveteen with a white wool felt skirt splashed with blue carnations. Skirt is belted with the velveteen.

A rayon party dress is shown printed in varying intensities of deep blue. The bodice is square-throated and glows with rhinestones. Skirt is gathered only at the sides and crinolined to emphasize further this new, gentler fullness.

Save $1.3 Billion

Queen Goes Down in History as 'Bloody Mary'

Due to the religious persecutions prevailing during her reign, Mary I, Queen of England, has been enrolled on the pages of history under the gruesome title "Bloody Mary."

She was born at Greenwich in 1516 before her father started on his philandering campaign that led to his becoming the much married King of England. Catherine of Argon, her mother, was the first spouse and the only one of the eight so-called "Merry Wives of Windsor" who escaped being beheaded.

From the very beginning of her life, her prospects were made a matter of sordid bargainings. She was little more than two when she was proposed in marriage to the heir to the French throne.

Three years later, this engagement was broken off, and in 1522, she was affianced to her cousin, the young Emperor of Spain, Charles V. About four years later, she was proposed as a wife to Francis I. He was the father of the youngster to whom she was engaged at two.

While these negotiations were going on, her father, Henry VIII, in order to rid himself of her mother so that he could marry Ann Boleyn, proclaimed that his marriage to Catherine of Aragon, the widow of his brother, was illegal.

During the next nine years, Mary's life as well as the life of her mother, was rendered miserable by the conduct of her father. Removed from court, and treated as illegitimate, she was compelled by his orders, to publicly acknowledge this.

When she became ill, he declined to permit visits from her mother, and when the Queen was dying, she was prevented from being at the bedside.

As a child, she had been a precocious one. She was able to converse in Latin, Spanish, Italian and French. A great part of the credit for her early education was due to her mother, who was Mary's first instructor in Latin.

She was a high-spirited girl, popular with the people, and all Europe looked upon her at the time as the only legitimate child of Henry VIII. He himself, later in her life compelled her to disown the title and to pass an unjust stigma on her own birth and the good name of her mother.

MARY I of ENGLAND

Her first act on ascending the throne was to show mercy to those who had taken up arms against her. Although he was eleven years her junior, she was determined to marry Philip, the son of Charles V.

When she showed she was about to restore the old religion, in the midst of the strongest opposition to this act, and the threat of rebellion, she showed great intrepidity.

The rebellion in the making was quelled. Her conduct as Queen was governed by the best possible intentions, and her zeal and goodness brought on most of the trouble that befell her. She died childless in 1558 at the age of forty-two.

Mrs. Parshall Is Speaker

Mrs. Ruth Parshall of the Pontiac Polio Center spoke for Monday's social service night of Women of the Moose. "Functions of the National Foundation of March of Dimes" was the topic of her talk.

Mrs. Parshall, in explaining the functions, told the part that Oakland County takes in this work.

Four co-workers were initiated into Pontiac Chapter 360 in honor of Mrs. Richard Rohrer, the junior regent of the chapter. New members initiated into the chapter were Mrs. Seymor Jones, Mrs. Percy Murphy, Mrs. Glen Fischer.

A report was given on the Christmas party to be held Dec. 18 in cooperation with Loyal Order of Moose. Children from he Oakland County Children's Home will join members' children at this party. A dinner and special entertainment is planned by the chapter for Sunday.

Word has been received that Pontiac Chapter will be hostess for the Mid-winter confernece to be held in Moose Temple on Jan. 30. The date is College of Regents Day and several chapters will be represented. Reports on publicity, Moosehaven, social service and membership will be due at the Dec. 20 meeting.

She Should Mend Ways, Fix Clothes

A married woman who keeps her clothing together with safety pins deserves to lose her husband. A woman who has no husband to lose and does the same will eventually lose something else — a job, a beau, a friend, or, worst of all, her own pride in her looks.

Mending is a dreary task at best, but it must be done, unless you can afford to throw out clothes the minute they develop a fault. Buttons should be secured before they fall off. Zippers that have parted ways should be taken to the repair shop. Seams are, by nature, meant to be closed. Holes must be darned.

If you're shy on time and a little longer on money, some of these duties may be assigned to someone else. But if you're like most of us, you have a mending basket heaped with work long put off.

Assign a night. Go through your closet and drawers and collect everything else that could use a touch of the needle. Set up your machine, if you have one. Hand your husband, if he's around, a good book or magazine and indicate to him the proper place to start reading. Or turn on the radio. Get a good light. Get comfortable. And mend.

You will find that one night like this every now and then will make your wardrobe quite adequate rather than large and useless. Then put the safety pins in diapers or pincushions, where they belong.

When sending Christmas cookies through the mail, wrap flat drop cookies in pairs (back to back with waxed paper between them) in moisture vapor proof material. Wrap other cookies individually.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. O'Brien of Otsego drive recently flew to Bermuda where they enjoyed a stay at the Elbow Beach Surf Club.

Committees Chosen for 2 New Year's Eve Dances

New Year's Eve is a time for merriment and, of course, this includes dancing. In order to make this possible some civic minded people have arranged two dances for students attending high school and young adults through 20 years of age.

Serving on the procurement committee are Lyle Lampert and Wayne Pyke. The post dance committee consists of Tom Chester, Jack Nelson and Ramona Dumbrigue.

Tickets are being distributed under the direction of Jack Nelson, Sandy Johns, Maureen Edwards, Mr. Lampert, Bruce Oakley and Chuck Koches.

James North, Walt Poe, Paul Kampner and Jim Cartier are on the program committee and decorations are being handled by Bill Hefferman and Jerry Coon.

Music is being obtained by John Benson and George Balch with Mrs. Donald North in charge of inviting patrons; John Moreau serving as treasurer and Mary Mount, Carol Young and Mr. Hefferman on the publicity committee.

The dance will be held at two places to accommodate the huge crowds which are expected. The YMCA and the Pontiac Senior High School will both be open to those who wish to "set their feet a dancing" from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

"Let's Keep It Simple" will be the theme for Thursday's meeting of Fashion Your Figure Club to be held in Pontiac High School. Edythe McCulloch will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Stanley Wojciechowski won the trophy and monthly award at a recent meeting of the group. The club announces that it is now open for membership.

CURL or COLOR

For the most part, hair tinting is no longer tabooed. But a few still feel it is not a legitimate part of good grooming.

A woman will appear before her friends one day with straight hair and the next with a new permanent which she hopes will be admired. The same woman feels quite different about changing the color of her hair . . . why?

Of the two a permanent wave is more artificial, for some hair is naturally straight but none is naturally grey or faded.

Of course, the difficulty comes from associating grey hair with old age. Really old people look better with some silver threads among the gold! But many women acquire grey hair long before old age is reached . . . when their appearance otherwise, is still youthful.

There are several hair coloring programs for these women who are still too young to look old. May we help you decide on the color treatment best for your hair?

Christmas Brings Back Memories

Enhancing Qualities for Mature Women Should Be Studied

One child (now grown) recalls a high point of the holidays was a wonderful grandmother's visit. She came in the door in a rush of winter-cold fur. Her hug meant the smooth cold feel of the fur, the crunch of exciting packages and a deep breath of rich perfume, always the same scent.

These pleasures of the senses—the smooth coolness of fur, the wonderful smell — are things that a mature woman should use as enhancing qualities. She's nice to look at, of course, but nice to feel and smell, too. Children, who enjoy their senses without restraint, recall these things,

It is not necessary for a woman to be able to own a fur coat to woo the tactile sense. Soft rich fabrics that give real pleasure to the touch are as easy to find in good colors as are the harsh fabrics.

Nor must a woman wear youthful perfumes to compete for noses. A fine, identifying scent will do the trick just as well. One mature woman relied on a lavender sachet in her pocket

Strong Fashion, Bright Velvet Will Dry-Clean

Bright colored velvets are a strong fashion promotion in coats and suits — a favorite for the coming holiday season. Short velvet boleros with dyed-to-match fox cuffs are popular too.

Velvet is truly a drycleanable fabric. Your drycleaner has special types of equipment for improving the appearance of velvets after wear and cleaning. However, new velvets treated with water repellents and stain resistant finishes need to be retreated after drycleaning.

Many of these garments do not carry a permanent label telling your cleaner that the fabric has been given a special finish. Therefore, it is important for you to give him this information when you send your garment for cleaning. Your cleaner will then be able to give you better service.

Some of the promotional material on this class of fabrics may be misleading. For example, some promoters state that these treatments are an exclusive process that forever seals the fiber from water.

Because of this they say water just rolls right off; or oily or oil-borne staining substances do not penetrate the fabric so easily; or many stains can be removed with a clean cloth dampened with any standard drycleaning fluid; or the finish will never lose its effectiveness even after prolonged wear and numerous cleanings.

Tests made on this type of treated fabric show some of these claims to be slightly exaggerated

Rosy Salad Good for Holidays

Mrs. M. A. Calbi Adds Cream Cheese to Fruited Mixture

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Here's a beautiful salad to use during the holiday season. If you are giving a luncheon, this would be a fine main course. The recipe comes from Mrs. M. A. Calbi.

Many of Mrs. Calbi's hours are spent helping her husband in his business. She is also an enthusiastic member of Zonta Club. As for hobbies—she says working out-of-doors is what she likes best to do.

CRANBERRY SALAD
By Mrs. M. A. Calbi

1 can whole cranberry sauce, or 1½ cups fresh cranberries, ground very fine
2 cups sugar (for fresh berries only)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ envelopes unflavored gelatine, or (2 packages for fresh berries)
2 packages cream cheese, mashed
1 can crushed pineapple
1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup cream, whipped

Let sugar, salt and cranberries stand until sugar is dissolved. Dissolve gelatine in cold water, heat over hot water and add to cranberry mixture. Add other ingredients, folding in the whipped cream last. Pour into mold and chill before serving.

Send twenty-five cents in coins for this pattern—add 5 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing. Send to 124 Pontiac Press, Needlecraft Department, P.O. Box 164, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, New York. Print plainly pattern number, your name, address and zone.

Most folks don't miss much by living in the suburbs—except the last train home.

Boss and beau are both in the cheering section for the career girl with her trim, crisp look, thanks to today's miracle finishes. One designer has fashioned new wrinkle-resistant cotton into the season's most delicious blouses. They're designed to take you from desk to dinner date looking bandbox fresh.

Inanimate Objects Plot Attacks on Human Race

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Not to be an alarmist, I'd still like to call attention to the fact that lately inanimate objects are getting in some mighty vicious licks against the human race.

Just the other day, in London, a famous old clock which had been patiently striking the hours and ticking off the minutes for 72 years caught hold of its winder's coat and ended by strangling the man.

For years I've been carrying on a duel with my shower and since I heard about the clock I'm beginning to be afraid the shower will actually drown me or scald me to death. The trouble between us began five years ago when the contraption started wetting the ceiling of the room below.

The plumber, the tile expert, the carpenter and others have made many attempts to locate that sneaky leak. They've ripped up the floor, plugged here and there and looked benevolent when they turn on the water full-stream and all is as it should be. The morning after when I confidently step into my shower—boom, the demon in the water pipes is at work again, and the mark on the living room ceiling below spreads wider.

(I am informed by car-owners that automobiles have the same infuriating tricks. They squeak, balk, chug, explode and otherwise misbehave until the moment they are driven into a garage where the motor immediately purrs like a kitten over a dish of room-temperature cream.)

For day in, day out perversity, however, I doubt if anything can match my reading glasses. I have always known that a dropped piece of bread will invariably land butterside up; that coins, collar-buttons and lipsticks will deliberately roll into the most inaccessible spots far under divans and bed.

It has been my experience that pieces of paper hide at the bottom of drawers and deliberately leap into wastepaper baskets. I am aware that books on shelves work themselves into new locations in the dead of night and only come out when the need to refer to them has passed.

But all these are angels of behavior compared with my reading glasses. I have only to put them down for a second and they are gone. Sometimes I don't catch up with them until six or seven days later, when they turn up in the dressing gown that I am certain I haven't worn for a month.

The other morning they even surpassed themselves by managing to slip down behind a clothes hamper just before a dire emergency required their use. We had a real hare-and-hound, which they probably enjoyed to the hilt. The entire household was enlisted in the search which resulted in turning up other lost objects. But the spectacles only emerged after I had found my extra pair — the ones that hurt my nose — and reconciled myself to using them.

I'm thinking of handling the water leak the same way I now keep my reading glasses in line. The glasses haven't played any tricks since they've learned that I'm set with the uncomfortable pair, and I'm prepared to accept the leak as a permanent part of my life and see if I can't get the entire living room ceiling covered with an interesting mottled moldy effect. Probably when that's understood the stubborn shower won't leak another drop.

I don't know how my alarm clock feels about me, but one thing sure, I don't intend to antagonize it by winding it for a good long time.

Use Perfume to Assure Economy

Like all alcoholic products, perfumes biggest customer is the air. Left in bottles, perfumes evaporate and change color.

In some cases, they disapear entirely, leaving the disgruntled owner with a fancy bottle and not even a whiff of that lovely smell.

For this reason, use the perfume rather than admire the bottle. Yes, perfume can be overdone. But a wise woman has a wardrobe of perfume that she uses with discretion. She beats evaporation to the bottom of the bottle.

For everyday use, most women prefer a perfume or even a cologne that's light and clear. It doesn't knock one out in a closed room, but leaves a nice who's-been-here aroma.

For evenings out or entertaining, a woman should have a perfume for each sort of costume. For nights when she's being exotic, she has one scent.

For more formal affairs, she has another — cool but certain. She would no more wear the same scent to a harvest party that she wears to a dance than she would wear the same dress to both.

For maximum efficiency, perfume should be worn in pulse spots, wrists and crooks of arms, the temples and the sides of the neck. Nice too, on the hairline and upper lip.

Holiday List Has Leather in Top Spot

Leather—in a wide variety of articles—shows up on practically everybody's Christmas list. To help ease the pain of Christmas shopping, here's a quick rundown on what is in the stores to suit the lady who loves glamor—as well as her down-to-earth sister.

These gifts are grouped in various price categories—and you should find a few good ideas, whether you want to spend $3 or $100.

There are gifts in leather for the home as well as in all personal categories. Today, leathers come in a myriad of colors, and the many new tannages make leather gifts easy to care for, easy to clean and enduring as the spirit of St. Nick himself.

Firstly, no woman ever has enough handbags and gloves. It's an open season for fashion in leather handbags and you'll find a variety for every time of day or occasion. Envelopes, tote bags, clutches, boxes, pouches, in luscious suede leathers, calf, kid, cowhide, reptile and glove leathers. Many are made with contrasting textures of leathers, others trimmed in jewels, fur, and various metals.

Many of the new evening bags in stardust kids and lustre calf leathers have complete inner fittings in matching leathers which include slim wallet, key case and compact.

And while we're on the subject of personal leather accessories how about combination sets consisting of wallet, cigarette case, eyeglass case and key case. They come in beautiful shades of scarlet, green, blue, yellow, charcoal as well as pastel shades in smooth aniline calf leathers, suedes, snakeskin and alligator.

For Mother, sister or Aunt Susie, there's a wonderful array of leisure shoes in all types of leather. For the very fashionable—wonderful suede, lustre calf, and stardust kid mules with varying heel heights, are trimmed in rhinestones, sequins, ermine or mink. These range in price from $10.95 to $50.00.

Other types of leisure slippers in glove soft elk and calf leathers in wonderful high-fashion colors or pastels, some in their own traveling cases, start at $3.00 per pair.

New Bottle Handy

Most women have realized the catsup bottle is a curse. Too tall to stand in the bottom of the refrigerator, it goes bad out in the open. Now here's a squeeze-type plastic bottle that's properly short and holds a bull bottle of catsup, to solve the problem.

Fur Coats Fluid

Fur coats are more fluid than ever. They're cut like cloth, often come with trim of another fur. An example this winter: Alaska fur seal collared in mink. The same idea is available in the less costly furs.

If you're ironing a large piece of fabric, turn your ironing board around so that the iron rests on the narrow end. That way, you get the maximum working space. Don't balance the iron too far out, however, if your board is the tippy kind.

She Opened the Door to Better Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Maryanne G. was receptionist in a big company. She got the job right out of high school. It involved regular reception work, and the office had many callers—salesmen, customers, and all the applicants for jobs, since the personnel department was on her floor.

Maryanne was an ambitious girl, and she loved working with people. She took courses at night, in personnel, and kept telling the personnel manager that she sure would like the next opening in that department.

But two years went by, and nothing happened. Maryanne's friends said she should leave, that a reception job never did have a future, and she would probably be a receptionist to the end of her days.

But Maryanne didn't give up. She studied typing, in addition to her personnel courses. One day, she asked if it might not simplify matters if she kept the application blanks at her desk, and let the applicants fill them out in the reception room, thus giving the small personnel room less crowding. They thought that was a fine idea, and she took the duty on.

By this time, Maryanne had learned a lot about people, from watching them come and go in the reception room. She could pretty much spot a good customer from a bad one, could tell in advance whether an applicant would be hardworking or not, cooperative or not.

"There's a lot you can tell just by the way they treat the receptionist," she told me, "and whether they're irritated when they have to wait, or nervous, or what not. And how they sit in the chair, and what they do while they're waiting."

So, as soon as an applicant had filled out the application blank, instead of just taking it in to the personnel department, Maryanne made it a point to attach a little note, telling her observations of him while he filled out the blank, her judgment frequently exactly her judgement frequently exactly right. Inside of six months, Maryanne was promoted to a job in the personnel department.

Promotions mostly aren't handed to us on a silver platter, nor given to us as a kindness — we have to promote ourselves.

IF not five foot—

You must keep bodice short to emphasize the legs. Horizontal lines below the waistline make you look too short legged.

Mrs. F. F. — Instead of design lines leading upward, which is what the short figure definitely wants, most fashions now bring the eye down. This you, under five foot, should avoid. Bypass the long torso silhouette.

Don't Wash Pot

The inside of an automatic coffee pot gets a brown stain easily. A homemaker feels frustrated because she can't dump it in the sink and scrub. She may be tempted to use a gritty cleanser. She shouldn't. There are special products that will clean these appliances without taking off the finish.

New Furniture-Fashion Mixes Walnut, Rattan

The interesting combination of materials has certainly become a definite furniture fashion trend. The teaming of two woods is often seen, wood and metal combine and the most idea-full groupings in either wood or metal take on variety with the inclusion of areas in leather, plastic, marble, ceramic tile, and mosaic.

And one news-making combination that's soon to be seen as so-called summer furniture comes into the stores is especially unusual in walnut and rattan. Here's a preview glimpse of it which shows how skillfully designer John Wisner has combined these two major materials, and also how he adds two secondary materials, leather tile for one table top and plastic with decorative ferny leaves in it for the other.

The somewhat dark natural finish of the walnut contrasts with the natural light color of the rattan. New dining chairs in rattan by the same designer and maker have leather seats and backs. (Ficks Reed furniture.)

Repair Leak From Perch in Attic

By HUBBARD COBB

They say that the easiest way to repair a roof leak is from the outside but this is only easy if you are the type of person who enjoys working up on roofs. We aren't too fond of roofs since we jumped off of one with an old beach umbrella back when we were seven, and so when it comes to repairing leaks, we prefer to do the work from the attic.

The first thing you have to do is locate the leak, and this can easily be done by sitting in the attic during a heavy rain or examining the roof boards for signs of water stains.

Once you've found the stains, coat the area with a nice heavy coating of roofing compound. Now take a piece of 2x4 inches or 2x6 inches and cut it so that it just fits between the two roof rafters on each side of the leak. Give this a coat of the roofing compound and then slip it in between the rafters so that it completely covers the leaky area.

The board can be fastened into place by running nails at angles through it and onto the joists or by screwing it onto the roof boards, the only hazard involved with the latter method is that if the screws are too long they will go up through the roof and cause trouble. Toe-nailing into the rafters is probably the best, and as the nails are run in at angles they tend to pull the patch tightly against the leak.

The roofing compound you use for this job should not be too thin—just plastic enough so that it can be easily smeared with a broad putty knife.

Allied Artists Go Big Time With McCrea

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — You can no longer call Allied Artists the "little studio." It's become a big big studio, and Monogram (the original name of Allied Artists) as Steve Broidy told the press at the Panhandle dinner, no longer exists.

The latest name to be signed by Allied Artists is Joel McCrea, popular western star, who made a deal with Walter Mirisch. It's a multiple deal, and the first picture is "Wichita," set in the early days of Kansas when Wyatt Earp, with gun in hand, roamed the prairies. Dan Ulman has written the script, and Walter — Mirisch, that is—is going to try his hand at producing the McCrea epic.

One of the happiest persons at Maureen and John Farrow's party was Mrs. Charles Boyer. Charles came home from Europe after being away from home with his stage play for a long time.

"He is so wonderful," said Pat. "The Queen Mary was 48 hours late because of a bad storm, and Charles, who is a wonderful sailor, was about the only one on deck. In fact, he stood with the captain and watched the mountainous waves.

"He didn't say one word about his bad trip but telephoned me the moment he landed and asked if Michael and I were all right and if the smog is as bad as newspapers all over the world reported."

If 20th had hoped to cash in on Richard Todd's British-made film "Dambusters" before it releases its "A Man Called Peter," also with Todd in the lead, it's in for an unpleasant surprise.

"Dambusters" is tied up by a lawsuit in England brought by the widow of the late RAF pilot Guy Gibson, whose exploits make up most of the film.

Mrs. Gibson claims that some of the material was lifted from a book written by her husband without authorization — or payment. She's out to see that these matters are corrected before release of the picture.

The fastest story purchase ever made in the history of Hollywood was turned by Bill Perlberg and George Seaton, who bought "Protection for a Tough Racket" by Cordelia Baird Gross within four days after Seaton read it in a magazine. Here's how it happened:

Seaton, thumbing through a current magazine, was attracted by the strange title and read the four page story, which tells of a girl teacher in a school for problem boys. He called Bill in the middle of the night and read the story to him, and now they own it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Marty Kimmel, Gloria De Haven's ex, is forgetting his troubles in New York with Sandra Scott, a very pretty girl.

Have Abigail Adams and George Jessel really reached the end of the road? She was stepping out at Charley Foy's with valley druggist, Max Marks.

Keenan Wynn stopped by the Encore for a few minutes to greet pals and was asked when he expects his baby. "I gave up bicycle riding last Sunday and haven't missed that in years, so you know it's pretty close," quipped Keenan.

Maureen O'Sullivan's mother is so pretty and looks so young that she delighted everyone at the tea Maureen and John Farrow gave for her. Johnny found some pictures of Mrs. O'Sullivan taken with Maureen and her sister many years ago—she really was a beauty, and still is.

Merle Oberon, Norma Shearer, Lillian Gish, Mrs. Hal Roach, Mrs. Jack Bolton and many others were charmed by Mary O'Sullivan's wit and charm.

Sunday dinner at La Rue resulted in a lot of news. Cleo Moore came in with Travis Kleefeld. She certainly has taken off weight and looks so different.

Eva Gabor, radiant over the success of her stage play "Sailor's Delight," was with Arthur Loew Jr. and Kurt Kaszner. Later they were Mocamboing.

Sweaters Always Popular Presents for Girls on List

Be she six, 16 or 60, the average American female has become aware of a fact—that Christmas would not be Christmas if she didn't receive at least one sweater.

But the annual repetition distresses her not a bit. No matter how many sweaters she has, she always can use another. For no outer clothing garment adapts so well to her overall wardrobe, teaming with skirts, shorts and dresses fo dozens of new combinations.

The sweater shopper in '54 will have an extensive choice. In the women's sportswear field, for instance, one side of the scale of fashion offers classic slipon and pullover garments in yarns of the finest gauges.

Off at the other extreme are the popular bulky knits. And making news at the midpoint are several novelty items, featuring bead and embroidery work and finer collar detail.

Fabrics range from butter-soft Orlon and nylon-Vicara to cashmere, lamb's wool and zephyr wool. Stripes have come into prominence, as have big "artist" collars, nautical themes and border treatments of soft angora.

According to a stylists, many ladies' sweaters exactly match those worn by men, but are sized down for better fit. There also are short-waisted barrel jackets, in white, navy, red or brown, and full-length, bulky-knit coats. These go along with the trend for reviving the old-time "Tilden sweater" look.

Says CIO Has Sights on Control at Lansing

MOUNT PLEASANT (UP) — Auditor General John Martin told a young Republican club meeting at Central Michigan College last night that Michigan "is marked by the CIO for political conquest."

Thank You PONTIAC

Just one year ago today we introduced CinemaScope to the people of the Pontiac area. This revolutionary motion picture device of wide-angle photography with stereophonic sound, has revitalized the whole motion picture industry.

We have tried by virtue of this new medium and outstanding attractions, to make our theater the leader in fine screen entertainment. That we have succeeded is attested by your generous patronage.

Now, as we go into the second year and the march of CinemaScope continues ever to go forward . . . to make our theater even more worthy of your support, your friendship and good wishes is the goal toward which we shall strive.

Residents of Walled Lake Approve City's Charter

Cast 4-1 Margin for Changeover

Small Voter Turnout Elects 7 Councilmen, Justice of Peace

WALLED LAKE — By a 4-1 margin yesterday, Walled Lake voters approved a city charter and incorporation.

The count was 233 yes, and 53 against the move. Only an approximate quarter of the 800 estimated registered voters turned out at the polls.

Seven city councilmen were named to the lawmaking body of the new city, when they received the top number of votes of 12 candidates.

Winners were Charles Fisher, 276; Dan McVety, 222; Charles Riffenburg, 220; Marshall E. Taylow, 197; Joseph Wiltse, 196; Gerald Hazen, 192, and Harry W. Thomas, 181.

Charles S. Rose took the position of justice of the peach over George E. Feldman, Sr., 185-143.

Other councilmen candidates and their votes were Mrs. Eve Kohlets, 178; David Martens, 133; Norman H. Smith, 127; Chester Budd, 80; and Clements Philipski, 46.

The voters cast ballots on a city charter prepared by an 11 member charter commission elected in June.

The area to be incorporated, along with Walled Lake, includes three square miles of Commerce Township bounded by Commerce, Decker, and 14 Mile roads, and a line slightly beyond Ladd road to the west.

A census prior to the June election showed 2,569 residents in the area.

Installation of the new council has been slated for 8 p.m. Monday, at the town hall, with the former charter commission acting as the installing body.

The mayor and other council officers will be elected by the council at a later date.

Yesterday's trip to the voting place was the second in a little more than a week for many. Residents of the school district approved a $825,000 school bond issure and millage increase at the polls Nov. 29.

SIGNING THE PLEDGE—Pledging 4-H support of national S-D (Safe Driving) day Dec. 15 are these young safety champs in Chicago. They're sending telegrams to President Eisenhower and Harlow H. Royal Oak Man Dies After Crash

Crossed Center Line, Witnesses Disclose; Oak Park Man Hurt

OAK PARK — A 29-year-old Royal Oak resident died in Mt. Carmel Hospital this morning of injuries received in an accident at Ten Mile road near Sherman street at 6:55 p.m. yesterday.

The victim is George R. Schneller, of 415 S. Campbell.

According to witnesses, police say, Schneller swerved his car into the oncoming traffic as he was eastbound on Ten Mile.

He struck the car of Joseph Chonkich, 39, of 14071 Nadine, Oak Park. Chonkich is in serious condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital, but has been removed from the critical list.

Both drivers were alone, and their cars demolished. Schneller's was thrown against a wall of the Detroit Zoo, where it caught fire.

The 4-H club contestants from 30 Michigan counties are shooting for high stakes. Last year's champion steer was auctioned off for $5,000.

A favored contestant this year is slight 15-year-old Philip House who comes from a 500-acre farm outside Mt. Pleasant. He says his steer Prince is the best he ever raised.

That bodes ill for his competition because already this year Philip has picked up $2,020 at the Michigan State Fair and $880 at the Ionia Stock Show for prize winning beef.

Philip was one of the three-man Michigan team that won national honors from 4-H club members representing 29 other states at the recent 4-H Club competition in Chicago.

Following today's judging the contestants will be guests at a banquet given by the Junior Livestock Society, made up of the Detroit stockyards and various meat packing houses.

The auction will be held tomorrow.

Goodfellows Set Highland Drive

To Sell Pontiac Press on Corners Saturday in Annual Fund Drive

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP —Starting at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, local Goodfellows will be stationed at most corners in the township to sell the Pontiac Press in their annual Christmas fund drive.

Last year they sold 500 copies quickly, according to chairman George A. Volkert and president Edgar Metting. They hope 750 will go as fast this year.

Funds received go for Christmas baskets, and year round welfare work by the Goodfellows group, which is composed mainly of volunteer firemen.

The group has also purchased wheel chairs, crutches, and hospital beds for use of citizens of the area.

Receptacles for canned goods donations will also be distributed.

Club Unanimously Adopts Constitution

The newly organized Orion-Oxford Township Senior Democratic Club has unanimously adopted a constitution prepared by its officers.

The avowed purpose of the club is to simulate ipterest in government and secure registration for regular voting of citizens who have failed to register and vote in the past.

Also included in the constitution is a provision that the club will not support any person for public office prior to nomination, but will thereafter support the platform and nominees of the Democratic party.

Commissioners Consider Reports, Public Hearings

Action on reports from the City Plan Commission, public hearings on special assessments and confirmation of other special assessment rolls featured the routine aspect of last night's City Commission meeting.

Commissioners concurred with two plan commission reports denying requests for rezoning lots on Franklin road and on North Perry and School Sts. to commercial classification.

Deferred for one week at the request of Commissioner Roy V. Cooley was action on a report denying another request for commercial re-classification of property at 56-58 Bagley St.

Cooley said he could prove, by way of the city directory, that the block was used primarily for commerce and not residence as the plan commission report stated.

Referred back to the plan group was another report denying a request to rezone from manufacturing to residential lots in the Glenwood Estates subdivision.

Public hearings on special assessment rolls were held and confirmation deferred on the following projects:

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Whitfield from Saginaw to Edison and Tennyson from Baldwin to Hollywood.

Sanitary sewer on Oakland from Northview to Kinney, Kinney from Oakland to Stanley and Stanley from the trunk sewer to Kinney.

Combined sewer on Stanley from Dearborn to Kinney.

Confirmation of special assessment rolls for the following were made:

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on St. Clair from Montcalm to Kennett, Wing from Montcalm to Kennett, Young from Montcalm to Kennett, and Edith from Osmun to the Michigan Air Line Railroad.

The commission accepted a deed for a portion of Lot 29, Homestead Park for use as an alley, then rezoned the lot to commercial 1 classification.

Approval was given a lease with the Michigan Animal Rescue League, Inc. for part of lot 12, Assessor's plat 147.

Turned over to the city attorney for further study was a maintenance bond by Sherwood Home Builders, Inc. for improvements in Canterbury drive and Roland road.

The commission was officially notified of an injunction against the city filed by Jack Habel Chevrolet Co. to block payment of personal taxes.

Referred to the city engineer were communications from Antonio Grimaldi asking for improvements on High street and Corwin avenue in the Baldwin-Dixie Hills subdivision.

The commission decided to turn down a request from the purchaser of the former Robert Herndon property for an extension of time on the restriction describing when construction should begin.

The property was sold by the city for use as site for new homes, with the stipulation that construction start within a year. Construction has not yet started and the purchasers asked a time extension.

Cassady, Ameche, Gugliemi Midwest's All-America Choices

AP All-America

Here's the 1954 AP ALL-America football eleven:

ENDS—Ron Beagle (Navy), junior, Covington, Ky., Frank McDonald (Miami), senior, Nutley, N.J.

TACKLES—Jack Ellena (UCLA), senior, Susanville, Calif., Rex Boggan, (Miss) senior, Memphis, Tenn.;

GUARDS—Bud Brooks (Ark) senior, Wynne, Ark., Ralph Chesnauskas (Army), junior, Brockton, Mass.

CENTER—Kurt Burris (Okla), senior, Muskogee, Okla.

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—A widely diversified eleven led by the best balanced backfield of recent years has been chosen as the 1954 Associated Press All-America football team.

In the backfield announced today are Ralph Guglielmi, crafty Notre Dame quarterback, Howard Cassady of Ohio State and Dicky Moegle of Rice, halfbacks, and Alan Ameche, powerful Wisconsin fullback.

The team was chosen on the recommendations of 11 AP regional All-America boards plus individual recommendations received from more than 500 AP member newspapers and radio stations, and is based on full reports for the entire season.

On the line are Ron Beagle, Navy, and Frank McDonald, Miami (Fla.), ends; Jack Ellena, UCLA, and Rex Boggan, Mississippi, tackles; Bud Brooks, Arkansas, and Ralph Chesnauskas, Army, guards; and Kurt Burris, Oklahoma, center.

The 1954 All-America averages 207 pounds in the line and 188½ in the backfield.

The bigness of the team reflects the return to strong, durable players in the 2nd year after elimination of the two platoon system with its unlimited substitutions.

Trend of play in 1954 appeared to be away from passing and back to the running game. Despite the curtailment on substitutions, the better teams were characterized by machine-like perfections, the individual .

Geographically the 1st team is divided as follows: one easterner (Army), one from the Mid-Atlantic states (Navy), two from the South (Mississippi and Miami), two from the Southwest (Rice and Arkansas) three from the Midwest (Notre Dame, Ohio State and Wisconsin), one from the Midlands (Oklahoma) and one from the West (UCLA).

All of the 1st team selections are appearing at the top for the first time. Of last year's 1st team, only Larry Morris, was handicapped by injuries.

Ohio State, nation's No. 1 team in the AP poll and winner of the O'Donnell trophy emblematic of the national championship, placed Cassady on the 1st team and Dick Hilinski at tackle on the 3rd.

UCLA, also undefeated and a close runner-up to Ohio State, has Ellena on the 1st team, Bob Davenport in the 2nd team backfield, and Jim Salsbury at guard on the 3rd.

Undefeated Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, has Burris on the 1st team, and Max Boydston at end on the 2nd.

Notre Dame, playing its 1st year under young Terry Brennan, placed Guglielmi on the 1st team and Frank Varrichione at tackle on the 3rd.

The 1954 backfield represents the best diversification of recent years. Guglielmi, completed 68 out of 127 passes for 1,160 yards and six touchdowns with but six intereceptions. He carried only 78 times for 95 yards, but scored five touchdowns and intercepted five passes for 51 yards.

Cassady of Ohio State's powerhouse, carried 102 times for 609 yards and an average of 5.97. He scored eight touchdowns. He made the play that probably was the turning point of Ohio State's season when he intercepted a Wisconsin pass and ran 88 yards for a touchdown to break Wisconsin's back and inspire a 21-point final quarter for Ohio State.

Moegle of Rice led the Southwest conference in scoring, ball carrying, and punt returning.

Ameche, known as "The Horse" because of his great power, carried 146 times for Wisconsin, making 637 yards, and scoring nine touchdowns.

As is always the case, many backs clamored for attention this year. In addition to men honored on the 2nd and 3rd teams there were such fine ball carriers as Freddy Wyant of West Virginia, Dickie Beard of Virginia Tech, Pete Vann of Army, Joe Gatuso of Navy, Dick Bielski of Maryland, Bob Hardy of Kentucky and Lee Riley of Detroit.

Tom Tracy (Birmingham, Mich.) of Tennessee, and many others.

SECOND TEAM: Ends Max Boydston, Oklahoma, and Bill Walker, Maryland. Tackles Sid Fournet, LSU, and James Ray Smith, Baylor. Guards Calvin Jones, Iowa, and William Meigs, Harvard. Center Hal Easterwood, Mississippi State. Backs: Bob McNamara, Minnesota, Bob Davenport, UCLA, Paul Larson, California, and Frank Bernardi, Colorado.

THIRD TEAM: Ends RON KRAMER, MICHIGAN, and Jim Fyburn, Auburn. Tackles Frank Varrichione, Noter Dame, and Dick Hilinski, Ohio State. Guards Jim Salsbury, UCLA, and Gene Lamone, West Virginia. Center Leon Cunningham, South Carolina. Backs George Shaw, Oregon, Leo Dawson, Purdue, Leonard Moore, Penn State, and Bob Pascal, Duke.

Honorable mention included ends Dan Shannon, Notre Dame; Dean Dugger, Ohio State; John Kerr, Purdue; and Frank Gilliam, Iowa. Tackles Francis Machinsky, Ohio State; Nate Borden, Indiana; and Tom Jones, Miami of Ohio. Guards JOE BELLUSO, DETROIT; Tom Bettis, Purdue; Jan Smid, Illinois; Jim Reichenbach, Ohio State; and Ray Lemek, Notre Dame. Centers Gary Messner, Wisconsin; and Chuck Stamschror, Minnesota. Backs LEE RILEY, DETROIT; Dave Leggett, Hubert Bobo, and Bobby Watkins, Ohio State; Eddie Vincent, Iowa; TOM TRACY, TENNESSEE; Joe Heap, Notre Dame; Joe Miller, Cincinnati; and Ron Drzwiecki, Marquette.

Arkansas '11' Biggest Surprise

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — Looking back at their own pre-season forecasts, the nations's football experts decided Wednesday that the Arkansas team was the biggest surprise of the campaign.

Arkansas was picked to finish no better than sixth in the Southwest Conference. It was a team loaded with sophomores and even Coach Bowden Wyatt thought it was at last a year away from winning anything important.

* * *

But the Porkers just couldn't lose for winning. They plugged along with their single-wing formation, an unfamiliar style in their part of the country, squeaking past Baylor by a point and three other rivals by a touchdown. First thing they knew, they were listed right up with the big boys.

What's more, they stayed there. Even though they lost two games, Arkansas finished as conference champions and Cotton Bowl entry and took 10th place in the final Associated Press ranking poll.

This was listed as the season's biggest surprise by 54 of 99 sports writers and broadcasters who returned replies to this questionnaire. Three others split their votes between Arkansas and other teams and four listed the Porkers second.

* * *

Three teams made it almost a photo finish for second place in the voting, two winners and one loser.

Ten writers thought it most surprising that Ohio State, disregarded in the pre-season national ratings and given little thought in the Big Ten selections, finished unbeaten to earn the conference championship and the Rose Bowl bid. One divided his ballot among Ohio State, Arkansas and Navy.

Ten others put the flop of the Illinois team at the top of the raised eyebrow department. The Illini, co-champions of the Big Ten a year ago failed to come up with a line to clear the way for J. C. Caroline and the other backs who had been 1953 sensations. As a result, Illinois won only one of its nine games. This also was mentioned on four other ballots.

* * *

Minnesota's change from a team with a .500 record in 1953, when it had one great star in Paul Giel, to an exciting outfit that won seven and lost only two without Giel in 1954 drew 9½ votes and one honorable mention.

The losers who surprised the experts were Alabama, Michigan State, Iowa, Texas and Pennsylvania.

Majors Reject Most Critical Player Requests

Demand for Pay Boost Turned Down Tuesday at Winter Session

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league owners rejected the most important requests of the player representatives at their joint meeting and at the same time gave the minor leagues the expected brushoff.

* * *

The majors slammed the door on all but a couple of minor requests of the players, such as approving mailing of contracts Jan. 15 instead of Feb. 1 and uniform payment of expenses in spring training.

* * *

In explaining why the owners turned thumbs down on the players' demand for a boost in minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200, Commissioner Ford Frick, who presided at the joint session, said:

"Such an increase would be a pretty expensive item, because in the case of players sent down to the minors, the major league club would have to continue to pay the minimum salary."

Also vetoed was the request that present restrictions on winter ball participation be lifted.

The majors rejected an amendment by the minors restricting broadcasts and telecasts of big league games within a radius of 5 miles of each home city. The owners, however, made an effort to help the minors financially by agreeing to pay minimum fees for players brought up from class B, C and D leagues. They also agreed to pay part of the manager's salary and the spring training expenses for clubs with which they have a working agreement.

* * *

The fees to be paid for working agreements are: $5,000 to class B club, $4,000 to Class C and $3,000 to class D. Formerly, the majors had to pay only an arbitrary fee of $100 for the right to call up players from the three lower leagues.

* * *

The major leagues voted against cutting the player limit from 25 to 23 players but adopted an amendment that would bar a major league club from signing a collegian once he begins his sophomore year until he either graduates or reaches the age of 21.

The majors also passed legislation barring anyone connected with one club from owning stock or a proprietary interest in another one.

Unnamed PCC School Draws Loop Reprimand

Erring Coach Rumored to be Lynn Waldorf of California

PASADENA, Calif. (INS) — Pacific Coast Conference announced last night that one of its members has drawn an official reprimand for "illegal activity of a coach" but a veil of secrecy was thrown around the school and the coach.

However, Professor H. P. Everest of the University of Washington told newsmen that he would make a formal recommendation today that the members depart from their policy of silence and release the name of the school.

Speculation ran wild concerning the school involved and it was rumored that it may have been the University of California involving the case of Ronnie and Harvey Knox.

Harvey Knox, father of Ronnie, a sensational prep quarterback, pulled his son out of California and charged that coach Pappy Waldorf engaged in illegal recruiting practices. Ronnie has since gone to UCLA.

Festoon Evades American Buyer

English Thoroughbreds Command Top Prices in Tattersall Sales

NEWMARKET, England (AP) — The sensational Tattersall's December sales went into the third Wednesday with record prices being paid for some of the finest thoroughbred stock in Britain.

* * *

Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham of the Maine Chance Farm, New York, failed Tuesday in an attempt to obtain Festoon, winner of this year's 1,000 Guineas, as the 3-year-old filly sold for a record $105,840.

* * *

Anthony B. Askew, nephew of British film magnate J. Arthur Rank, was the successful bidder, topping Mrs. Graham's final offer of $102,900. The old record for a mare sold at auction was $105,000 for Masaka, sold by the Aga Khan at the Keeneland, Ky., sales Nov. 1 to Miss Eleanora Sears.

A total of 192 lots, including nine private sales, brought $1,106,932 Tuesday, making it a record one-day in Britain horse sales.

IL's Most Valuable Star 4th to Sign for Yanks

NEW YORK (INS) — New York Yankees have announced that Elston Howard, the International League's most valuable player last season, is the 4th Yankee to sign his 1955 contract.

The 25-year-old Negro backstop, who was the league's 2nd most proficient hitter last year with a .331 average, left St. Louis by plane last night for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he will play winter ball with teammate Bob Cerv.

'Tough Blow'

Mumps Cost Aussies Services of Hartwig

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australian tennis officials, alarmed over growing unfavorable publicity, received a new jolt Wednesday when a doctor said that Rex Hartwig apparently had the mumps and would probably have to skip the Davis Cup challenge round.

* * *

"He will be confined at least for a couple of weeks and definitely will not be able to train for tennis," said the confused doctor who examined Hartwig. The doctor said there was every indication the young court star had the mumps, but said Hartwig told him he had them previously.

If he is unable to train, Hartwig will not be able to join Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Mervyn Rose and others in the challenge round at Sydney Dec. 27-29.

When word came of Hartwig, alarm spread to the American, Australian and Swedish tennis camps, but a check showed the others had been previously exposed.

"Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas both had them, thank goodness," said Bill Talbert, captain of the U. S. team.

Talbert said he himself had not had mumps but had taken shots for immunity.

* * *

"Hartwig was with the boys all last week and at the hotel to see us off for Brisbane yesterday and in fact was in our hotel room," Talbert said.

Harry Hopman, Aussie captain whose woes increase, said his players had mumps before and he thought there was little chance of them being stricken again.

"But losing Hartwig will be a very tough blow," Hopman said.

Graham Says This Is Final Pro Grid Year

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I just don't feel up to another season of it," said Otto Graham Monday on his 33rd birthday.

He's the Cleveland Browns quarterback who completed 13 of 18 passes against the Washington Redskins last Sunday. He also made 41 yards in the six times he ran with the ball.

Graham told a reporter:

"I'm not trying to kid anybody that I'm as fast as I was at one time, but I'm sure my throwing is as good as ever."

He said he will call it quits after this season, although he hasn't discussed it with coach Paul Brown. He plans to devote full time to his insurance business and his partnership with the Indians' Jim Hegan in a firm of manufacturers representatives.

All his plans, however, hinge on the Browns being well fixed for passers. Otto has promised Brown he won't be left short.

Rolling in Prizes

OLD FORGE, Pa. (AP)—George Billick, one of the nation's top bowlers, has won a flock of prizes in ABC tournaments the last 15 years. Billick has received seven diamond rings, three diamond wrist watches, a clock and medal. Last season he rolled three perfect games of 300, thus making his lifetime total 12.

United Press Names Ameche 'Back of Year'

NEW YORK (UP) — Alan Ameche, Wisconsin's All-America fullback, today was selected as college football's 1954 back of the year in the annual United Press poll of sports writer and broadcasters.

Ameche, Heisman Trophy winner who already has received two offers to play professional football with Canadian teams, nosed out Howard Cassady, Ohio State's All-America halfback, by three votes, 86-83 to win the honor. A total of 336 cast ballots in the annual poll.

Following Cassady in the balloting was Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame quarterback with 32 points; Paul Larson of California with 30 and Dick Moegle of Rice with 21.

Snead Favored to Win Sixth Miami Tourney

Sammy Finishes First in Pro-Member-Guest Preliminary Test

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sam Snead, the old slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., is a hot favorite to win his sixth Miami Open Golf Championship.

* * *

While 195 little known pros and amateurs were shooting for 80 qualifying places over the 6,700-yard par-71 Miami Springs layout Tuesday, Snead and other top professionals were competing in the La Gorce pro-member-guest tournament.

* * *

Snead copped first prize of $500 with a 66, fashioned from a pair of 33s over the 6,824-yard course, and finished four strokes in front of his nearest rival, Bob Roseburg of San Francisco.

National Open champion Ed Furgol of St Louis and Leonard Ott of Coral Gables, Fla., posted 71s. Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y., Dave Douglas of Grossingers, N.Y., Pete Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., tied with 73.

Waterford Basketball Loops Start Saturday

Waterford Recreation basketball leagues for high school and junior high school boys will get under way Saturday morning. Leagues are restricted to non-varsity players.

Boys in grades 6-8 will play at Crary Junior High, while high school boys will play at Waterford High. Byron Merritt and Jack Hackett, WHS coaches, will supervise league play.

49er Ace Eyes Record

San Francisco's Joe Perry Can Break Van Buren's 5-Year-Old Rushing Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joltin' Joe Perry, the battering ram of the San Francisco 49ers' offense, can break Steve Van Buren's five-year-old National Football League ball carrying record by gaining 140 yards Saturday against Baltimore.

Van Buren, former Philadelphia Eagles' star, set the record in 1949.

Perry, who had only junior college experience prior to joining the NFL six years ago, has picked up 1,007 yards in 155 attempts for an average gain of 6.5 yards in statistics released today by the league. He gained 137 yards last week, the fifth time this year he has gone over the 100 mark.

Perry already has assured himself of repeating as NFL ground gaining champion.

Norm Van Brocklin, Los Angeles, also has a wide lead in the passing department over defending champion Otto Graham of Cleveland. Van Brocklin has a 9.89 average gain in yards on 252 attempts with 134 completions good for 2,493 yards and 12 touchdowns. Graham has an average of 8.62. He has thrown 225, completing 134 for 1,940 yards and 11 touchdowns.

* * *

Edmund Bratkowski of the Chicago Bears moved into third place with an 8.36 yard average of 108 attempts, 52 completions for 906 yards and 6 touchdowns. Tom Dublinski, Detroit, is fourth with a 7.93 average. Detroit's Bobby Layne is fifth with 7.79.

* * *

The Philadelphia Eagles' veteran end Pete Pihos, the defending champion is tied with Billy Wilson of San Francisco for the pass receiving leadership. Both have 52 receptions.

* * *

Bobby Walston, Philadelphia, leads Detroit's Doak Walker in the scoring race with 105 to 98 points but the Lions' back has an extra game to play over the Eagles' end.

* * *

Horace Gillom, Cleveland, maintains his edge over Pat Brady, Pittsburgh, in the punting department. Gillom has averaged 43.7 yards to Brady's 43.2.

* * *

Herb Johnson, New York, holds the punt-return leadership, with a 13.2 yard average. Jack Christiansen, Detroit, is second with 12.6.

Braddock, Ryff and Olson to Receive Ring Awards

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — James J. Braddock, boxing's "Cinderella man" and former heavyweight champion, undefeated Frankie Ryff of New York and Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson today were named to receive the Boxing Writers Assn.'s three main awards.

* * *

Braddock, who celebrated his 49th birthday on Monday, was voted the James J. Walker Memorial Plaque for long and meritorious service to boxing. Ryff, 22-year-old lightweight contender who has won all 16 of his pro fights, was selected as "The Rookie of the year."

Olson, who defends his crown for the third time this year on Dec. 15, was chosen as the "Fighter of the Year" and will receive the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque. The three trophies will be presented at the association's annual dinner, Jan. 13 at the Hotel New Yorker.

Ever since his final retirement from boxing in 1938, Braddock, of North Bergen, N. J., has kept up his interest in the sport, particularly in the activities of amateur boxers. He makes many appearances at amateur boxing tournaments and is a frequent speaker at youth affairs.

* * *

Ryff clinched "Rookie" honors and stamped himself as a top contender for Jimmy Carter's lightweight championship when he whiped Cuba's Orlando Zulueta in Madison Square Garden, Dec. 3, for his 16th victory.

* * *

Olson was acclaimed for being a "fighting champion." He won the title vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson when he drubbed Englands' Randy Turpin in New York, Oct. 21, 1953.

St. Mary (OL) Opens Schedule With 52-48 Victory

Orchard Lake St. Mary opened its 1954-55 basketball season last night with a 52-48 non-league victory over Detroit St. Stanislaus.

Eaglets were outscored in each of the last three periods, but never lost their lead after jumping into a 17-7 advantage in the 1st quarter.

Forward Vince Pernicki pumped in 12 field goals and two free throws to lead scoring with 26 points. Bill Adamczyk was high for St. Stan with 23 points.

Renewed Stand for Regional Football TV in 1955 to Feature 4-Day Western Conference Session

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

DETROIT (AP)—The Big Ten today opens what Conference Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson has described as "an important meeting"—with emphasis on a renewed stand for regional football television for 1955.

* * *

Touching off the four-day parley will be a session of the Big Ten TV Committee, which is expected to study next year's NCAA nationally controlled program "as it has been formulated to date" and map further plans for the conference's campaign for regional television.

* * *

The Big Ten's regional plan—which has gained support of its basic concept from the Pacific Coast Conference and perhaps to a lesser degree from several other major conferences—is this:

Permission for a team to appear twice regionally, once at home and once away, or once nationally, whichever it desires.

* * *

This is in direct conflict with the NCAA restricted policy that as been in effect for four years.

The Big Ten is against unrestricted television, favored by Notre Dame, but prefers a regional pattern controlled at a national level. Notre Dame would go along with this for the time being as "a step in the right direction."

What can the Big Ten do to get regional football TV?

* * *

The least it can do at its winter meetings is to reaffirm its stand.

The most it can do is to defy the NCAA "going out on its own and peddling a regional "package" to a sponsor willing to pick up a tab of a million dollars or more.

* * *

Defiance of the NCAA, or a bolt from that organization, is considered remote at this time, although last March it was a possibility.

A probability is that the Big Ten formally will petition the NCAA for regional football television in 1955 on an experimental basis.

Milford, WL, Southfield Win 2nd Straight

By JACK SAYLOR

Milford, Walled Lake and Southfield each marked up their second cage success of the infant season Tuesday night, while Birmingham, Holly and Ortonville opened their schedules on the winning side.

Clarkston downed Waterford, Utica defeated Rochester, Oxford bowed to Imlay City and Lake Orion nipped Fitzgerald in other games.

Milford's high-scoring Redskins got a 35-point performance from Jim Davidson as they wrapped up the game in the final period, 74-55. Davidson's mark breaks his own school record of 30 points set last season.

Walled Lake held only a slim lead in the 4th period, but Myrel Taulbee stole the ball to score on three occasions, and Mike Tierney did it once to turn the tide and give the Vikings a 47-38 triumph.

Taulbee's 19 points were high. Bob Evans had 21 points in Southfield's surprisingly easy 65-42 win over South Lake. John Fawcett's 19 points took honors as Farmington held on for a 50-48 edge on Wayne.

A small, but speedy Clarkston learned its first game lesson well. After losing their opener at the foul line, Dom Mauti's Wolves bagged 23 from the free throw line, which combined with an effective fast break to give Clarkston a 59-54 decision over Waterford.

Balanced scoring highlighted Clarkston's win, but Dick Johnston and Lanny Leak played exceptionally fine ball. Leak led the Wolves with 15 points, Bob Yahnke had 13, Johnston, 12 and Gordon Campbell 10. Waterford's Jerry Kruskie hit well from outside for 19 points.

Oxford held a one-point halftime lead and was in the ball game until the final three minutes, when Imlay City pulled away for a 55-42 victory, the Spartans' 3rd straight. Leon Gibbard had 18 and Owen Whitkopf, 17, for Imlay, while Larry Spencer's 13 points led the Wildcats.

Lake Orion nearly let a victory slip from its grasp in the last quarter. Fitzgerald pulled within one point, but Nick Niera sank a free throw, and Lynn Hazlett tipped in a basket for a 48-44 edge.

Rochester coach Gene Konley expressed pleasure over his team's performance, despite a 56-49 loss at Utica. The young Falcons had a tie after three periods, but fell, primarily on free throws, in the final quarter.

Sophomore Lou Haase and junior Dick Cole each had 17 points for the Chieftans, while Dave Peters, also a sophomore, was high for Rochester with 15.

Shrine won its opener, a wild, foul-filled 47-28 decision at Troy. Hugh Kirtek and Ron Troy had 14 and 13 points, respectively, while Jim Murdock's 10 paced Troy.

Jack Feich, Skip Conklin and Jerry Hunter sparked a 2nd half offensive that brought Holly a 59-32 triumph over Hartland. Bronco tallied 21 points in both 3rd and 4th quarters. Feich was tops with 15 points.

Ortonville eked out a 44-41 win over Goodrich in the last 40 seconds. A pair of charity tosses by Duane Porter gave the Hawks a 42-41 lead and Bob Hutchings basket iced the verdict.

Dick Sheldon sparked Birmingham's convincing 51-38 victory over Royal Oak with 13 points. Bob Goldsmith also turned in a stellar performance and added 8 points. Bob Grundeman had 17 for the Acorns.

MSC Cagers Find Role of Guests More Profitable

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State has decided its more profitable to be a guest rather than a host as far as holiday basketball play is concerned.

For several seasons, Michigan State conducted its own holiday basketball attraction. Some of the top teams in the country were booked for two nights of double-header play just before the holidays.

But although there was good action for the fans, the "holiday classic" was a financial flop. The students, backbone of any college affair, were home for the holidays. Other prospective customers just had too many Christmas counter-attractions to take up their times.

Last year, Michigan State made a trip to the West Coast for two basketball games in conjunction with the Rose Bowl football play. This season, the Spartans will team with Iowa to play Princeton and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Dec. 17 and 18.

MSC has decided to let someone else have the headache of counting the house as far as holiday basketball is concerned.

Despite the losing season, Michigan State will have eight players in football bowl games. Six of them are from the state of Michigan. In addition, coach Duffy Daugherty has been named as an assistant for the Blue-Grey game at Montgomery, Ala.

Cardinals Plan Profit Sharing Program in '55

Players and Coaches to Get 50 Per Cent of Net Revenue

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals, a team which has finished in the red the last four years, plans a share-the-profits program next season.

* * *

Managing Director Walter Wolfner said Tuesday "the Cardinals will set aside 50 per cent of net profits from all football operations, and television, which will be distributed as follows—33 per cent to the players and 17 per cent to the coaching staff."

* * *

Comment throughout the league ranged from "very courageous" to "he should double each player's salary immediately."

Wolfner said the "incentive program" will in no way affect the players' or coaches' salaries, "as it is in addition to their contract figures."

He added that for the first time in five years the Cardinals will finish "in the black' this season. The Cardinals lost money from 1950 through 1953.

"We haven't made much money since the 1948 championship team," said Wolfner, "and even then the team cleared only $7,500. The reason for such a small sum was that most of the money was given away in bonuses at the end of the season."

* * *

"We'll definitely have bigger profits to show next year because of an increase in the exhibition schedule and more television and radio profits.

"Each player will get an equal share," said Wolfner, "in order that this will be a 100 per cent team effort."

* * *

Cardinal Coach Joe Stydahar called it "a tremendous thing for professional sports."

* * *

Veteran Charlie Trippi said "this move on the part of the Cardinals merely is additional proof that the owners are always trying to give a player a break."

Horton, Knauf, Pacer Win Press' Deer Contests

Pontiac Press Photos

CHAMPIONS—Here are the 1954 Pontiac Press deer contest champions. Above is Robert Mnauff, whose entry won the best rack division. Above (right) is Richard Pacer, who entered the winning rack and to the right is George Horton, whose 230-pounder won the heavy deer division. All will receive U. S. Savings bonds as their rewards.

$300 in U.S. Savings Bonds Reward for Lucky Hunters

This is "payoff" day for the Oakland County deer-hunting champions who have emerged at the top of the Pontiac Press annual 3-way fall contest.

Consideration of the entries has resulted in naming the following winners:

Big deer (weight) division—George Horton, 3070 Churchill road, Pontiac.

Best rack—Robert Knauf, 760 Saunders road, Oxford.

Best head—Richard Pacer, 10380 Gibbs road, Holly.

Each "champion" will receive, within a few days, a $100 U. S. Savings Bond.

All deer in this contest were taken in Michigan during the regular gun season. The contest is restricted to full-time Oakland County residents, and has always produced some fine specimens over a span of many years.

This year's biggest deer was a fine, heavily racked 230-pounder, taken near the city of Marquette in the Upper Peninsula, on Nov. 20. A close-range shot brought down the buck for Horton, a veteran Pontiac hunter.

Knauf, one of few youngsters to ever win one of these big contests, entered the winning rack, on a 170-pounder. Bob, a 15-year-old 9th grader in Oxford H.S. got his prize on family property north of Osceola. A slug from a 20-gauge shotgun did the trick. The rack has 8-points and is unusually well balanced.

Pacer, who entered the winning head, bagged his buck in Schoolcraft county, using a rifle. The head is nicely formed, well-dimensioned and carried a 10-point rack.

Last year's winners included Cleve Raymond of Orion, with a 219-pounder; Arnold Strandell of Pontiac (best head) and Durwood Nelson of Pontiac (best rack).

Announcement of the deer contest winners concludes the Pontiac Press' 1954 hunting and fishing awards. Each season, for many years, The Pontiac Press has conducted a summer-long fishing contest; a fall pheasant contest and the annual deer contest.

OCSC SPEAKER — Oakland County Sportsmen's Club will hear an interesting story of big game hunting in Germany and Austria, at tonight's meeting at Waterford headquarters. Speaker is Pete Petoskey, game manager at the Pte. Mouillee and St. Clair Flats duck marshes. Annual deer antler contest is another feature for tonight's program.

Oakland Area Dogs Win in Ingham Show

Several Oakland County dogs were among group winners in the Ingham County Kennel Club's all-breed show Sunday, at Boys Vocational School, Lansing.

Among them was F. A. Porter's German Shepherd, Cr. Tor von Liebestraum, which went best of breed. The dog also was 3rd in working group. He has won other top places in recent shows and has just reached his 3rd birthday.

Other winners included Frank Grant's Doberman in working group; Mill Lake Kennel's best of winners in German Shepherds, handled by Stuart Ryan; reserve winner (Dytra of Eldergrove) for bitches by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brenner, Southfield, and winner of sporting dog group, by William Sears' (Birmingham) English Setter.

First Ice Fishing

LANSING (UP) — The first reported ice fishing of the 1954-55 season got under way on Houghton Lake yesterday, Conservation officials said today.

State Body in for Some Heavy Firing Solon Says

LANSING (UP)—State conservation officials, peppered with hunter complaints since the deer season, are in for some heavy fire during the 1955 session of the legislature.

That's the prediction from a man who can make it come true, Rep. Walter Nakkula (R-Gladwin), member of the house conservation committee.

"There's room for improvement," Nakkula said.

The Gladwin Republican holds a key spot in the conservation commission's bid for an extension of its discretionary power over the state's deer herd. The power expires this year.

"I won't say right now I'm opposed to an extension, but I can't help but hear the complaints," he said.

Conservation authorities contend game management should be conducted by game experts.

Nakkula said he agrees — to a degree.

"We (legislators) are the ones closest to the people, and can often better tell from year to year what is needed."

Nakkula said the commission's decision for an "any deer" season this year was made with "good intent—but unfortunate results."

Hunters in some areas claimed the special kill "wiped out what deer were left," while game experts said the season was necessary to prevent overpopulation and starvation.

Maryland Dog Wins Cocker Spaniel Title

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP) — Shawfield Glenfire, owned by Andrew W. Porter of Oxford, Md., won the second annual National Cocker Spaniel Field Trial at nearby Crab Orchard Refuge Tuesday.

Swans Frozen in Ice in Boyne City Pond

BOYNE CITY (UP) — Two mute swans who long have made a local mill pond their home, were "locked" in the first of the week.

Apparently caught by a surprise cold wave, both were frozen into the ice. One swan finally squirmed loose with the aid of warm sun and a police and conservation department rescue party. The other wiggled out 10 minutes later.

Both lay down on the ice to rest after the ordeal.

An average major league baseball player's career lasts about 10 years.

In the past 15 years Allie Reynolds, Virgil Trucks and Johnny Vander Meer have pitched two no-hit games within a single major league season, the records reveal.

Sport Goods Pioneer Dies at Age of 86

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Funeral service was scheduled for Friday for George A. Reach, 86, the man who put the "rabbit" in the baseball.

The sporting goods manufacturer died Monday at Methodist Hospital in Philadelphia.

As an executive of the old A. J. Reach Co., founded by his father, he introduced baseballs with cork centers to the big leagues in 1910. He also developed the 1st boxing glove.

East Sprint Regatta Slated for May 14

NEW YORK (UP)—The 1955 Eastern Sprint Championship regatta will be held on the Potomac River at Washington, D.C. May 14, the same day the lightweight or 150 pounds regatta is raced on the Charles River at Cambridge, Mass.

Dates and sites were confirmed Tuesday by the Eastern Assn. of Rowing Colleges, whose athletic directors vetoed a recommendation that the sprint championships be shifted from Washington to Lake Carnegie, Princeton, N.J. It was pointed out that Princeton housing accommodations would be crowded May 14 because of the Heptagonal track and field meet.

Hedges Sweep Honors in 2nd Archery Test

A husband-and-wife team swept individual honors at the Pontiac Archers' 2nd outdoor shoot of the winter last weekend.

Harold Hedges fired a 257 score to win the men's division, while his wife, Hannah, place 1st in the women's class with a 252. Dick Argue won 1st place among junior boys.

451 Persons Arrested in Conservation Cases

LANSING (UP) — The conservation department said Tuesday 451 persons were arrested last week for violation of Michigan conservation laws.

This was the greatest number of violators this year, the department said. Most of the cases were pre-deer season infractions.

Brothers Are Foes

CLEVELAND (UP) — The Blair brothers are stellar performers in the American Hockey League. However, they are on different teams. Charlie Blair is a veteran with Cleveland. Brother George is a rookie with Buffalo.

Any-Deer Season Hit

By JACK PATTERSON

Pontiac realtor Floyd Kent, bitter critic of the any-deer season, believes that relatively few does and fawns were killed Dec. 1 because real sportsmen simply won't shoot them. No man of feeling who has had these creatures come up to him—and what experienced hunter hasn't — could in any conscience kill one, though the law permits him to do so, Kent feels.

PATTERSON

We'll go along with that. Particularly in the case of fawns, both does and bucks, which make up much of the any deer bag. When a wild animal reaches maturity its days are numbered and the hand of man turned against it is but one of many daily perils it must meet. When it's a baby it deserves a better break.

One of modern man's finer characteristics, it seems to us, is his compassion toward the young of his own species. The term "taking candy from babies" is universally used to describe baseness of spirit. Applied to wild creatures, the offense is more serious. The only possession a wild creature has is its life. It deserves man's protection until it grows up.

We can find no more hair-raising thrill in shooting half-grown deer, than in shooting baby bears from a tree where a frantic mother has put them for safe keeping. If one aim of the conservation Commission in permitting an any deer season is to make more deer available to sportsmen, then this aim has failed. If Floyd Kent is right, as we believe he is, and sportsmen aren't having any of it, then the any deer season largely has become a carnival for hooligans, and this cure for the deer problem is worse than the ailment.

Do wildcats prey on deer? Well they try, anyway, according to John Powe, son of local restrateur "T" Powe. John shot a 35 pound bobcat in the act of pursuing a half-grown doe during the recent deer season.

Drove to Birmingham the other day in our underwear, not to prove, as we were accused of doing, that there's just a few of us left, but in continuation of a test we're running on some new-fangled long johns known as "under-alls." They are two-piece quilted jobs, light in weight and not bulky, and require no heavy outer clothing at all. Tried them out in the north the last few days of deer season and they worked fine. Don't steam you up inside the cabin, either.

* * *

The makers claim protection to 30 below without additional clothing, but we wouldn't know about that. Might be a good thought for Christmas for that deer hunter or ice fisherman. Priced at just under $40 they're worth every penny of it when the going gets cold.

* * *

While we're on Christmas shopping don't overlook the binoculars with which Japan with her back to the economic wall, is flooding this country. In the $35 to $50 class glasses are available which appear to be the equal of German-American "name" glasses of triple the price.

Major Confab Over, but Trader Lane Lingers On

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual major league meetings are ended but that trading man Frank Lane was still in town today—which means there may still be some more player deals.

In fact, the energetic Chicago White Sox general manager has a couple of near-swaps up his sleeve—ready to pull off at the drop of a name—like Finigan or Portocarrero.

* * *

Cleveland's Hank Greenberg, Cincinnati's Gabe Paul, Philadelphia's Roy Hamey and St. Louis' Dick Meyer also stayed behind after the meetings ended.

Following is a list of possible deals that have advanced past the plain "feeling out" stage and may be consummated within the next few days or few weeks.

1. The Brooklyn-Cincinnati five player swap involving outfielder Wally Post, pitcher Fred Baczewski and Hobie Landrith of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and pitcher Bob Milliken of the Dodgers is not dead although it has cooled ff considerably.

* * *

2. The White Sox, rebuffed in their efforts to snag third baseman Jim Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero from Kansas City, are prepared to renew their bid with a better and bigger proposition.

* * *

3. Lane also has been closeted with General Manager Greenberg of the Indians and may soon announce a trade that would send outfielder Dale Mitchell to Chicago for catcher Carl Sawatski and a utility infielder.

* * *

4. The Cards and Reds, unable to come to an agreement after a four-hour session yesterday, may yet swing a deal that could be bigger than the original one that would have exchanged a St. Louis infielder for relief pitcher Frank Smith of the Reds.

* * *

The Dodger-Reds deal didn't come off as expected. E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger vice president, said he called it off.

* * *

"The more I thought of it," he said, "the less I liked it." Walter (manager Alston) wanted to make it but I feel I would be giving up too much. Sure, I would like to have Post in left field but I decided I would be better off with Gilliam, who can play left field as well as second base. The deal is off but we may be able to do something yet."

* * *

The last-minute reversal left Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds somewhat bitter.

"If Bavasi still wants to deal, it will have to be without Post. I plan to keep him," Tebbetts said.

Lane, busiest of the traders, found resistence in his bid to Kansas City for Finigan and Portocarreo. The curley-haired dynamo figured in two deals Monday that involved 13 players.

Parke Carroll, business manager of the Athletics, said he had not been offered the men he wanted.

"We can't let Finigan and Portocarreo go unless we get four players of major league ability," he said. "What Chicago has offered were guys who have only a year or two left."

Pacific Coast Urges Regional TV Grid Plan

PCC Officials Would Cancel NCAA's 'Game of Week' Idea

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Officials of the Pacific Coast conference moved today to give the nation's football television fans a better choice in 1955, and they debated a recommendation that the public be let in on some of the conference secrets.

The conference said it will urge the national Collegiate athletic association at its meeting in New York Jan. 7 to adopt a regional plan of football TV next fall.

The proposed TV proposition would eliminate the "game of the week" idea—one game per week across the nation. Instead, the country would be divided into sections—not necessarily the present eight NCAA districts—and each region could program its college gridiron attractions.

The regional plan would permit no crossing of lines during the regular season, and colleges would be permitted only one game at home and one away to be televised on Saturday afternoons.

There would be no restriction on Friday and Saturday night dates, nor after Thanksgiving Day. The latter would permit such late season games as Army-Navy, Notre Dame-Southern California and other attractions to be viewed coast to coast.

The proposal, exponents said, would be more elastic than a somewhat similar plan advanced for regional control by the Big Ten recently.

Webb Changes Mind About Move to West

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, admitted Wednesday that he had changed his mind about the big leagues moving to the West Coast in the immediate future.

* * *

"I was for transferring the Browns to Los Angeles," he said. "But the city had no park and wasn't prepared to accommodate a major league club. I can see no prospect of a definite nature in sight for going to California. They don't have the parks and insist on a franchise before they start stadium construction."

* * *

Bill Veeck, the fiery ex-Cleveland and St. Louis Browns owner, who has been spending a lot of time on the coast for the Chicago Cubs, had other ideas.

* * *

"Transportation offers no problem," he said. "It's just as far from Kansas City to New York and Boston as it is to the Coast. Both San Francisco and Los Angeles have set aside money to build stadiums once they get franchises. As for stocking the new teams they could buy up the Pacific Coast League franchises. Each should be able to get 20 players of major league caliber from the league.

* * *

National League will pick player representative to take Ralph Kiner's place at a one-day meeting on Dec. 18 . . . He's now with Cleveland . . . American League may have to find a man to replace Allie Reynolds if the Chief decides to retire.

* * *

Commissioner Ford Frick said the new rule requiring the major league clubs to reach deep down in their pockets when recalling a player from the minors was the most important piece of legislation passed at the meetings . . . "It will cost Brooklyn around $30,000," said Dodger Vice President Fresco Thompson. "But it will be money well spent."

Steeler Coach Gets New Pact

Kiesling Is Rewarded for Job With Pittsburgh Pros This Season

PITTSBURGH (UP) — With a vote of confidence in the form of a new two-year coaching contract stuffed in his ample pockets, big Walter Kiesling primed his Pittsburgh Steelers for their final game against Cleveland Sunday hoping to repeat an earlier 55-27 defeat of the Browns.

Big Kies, termed a miracle man after he took over from former coach Joe Bach last August, inked a new two-year contract with Steeler owner Art Rooney Tuesday at a reported $12,000 per year.

Bach resigned as head coach after the Steelers absorbed their third straight exhibition defeat.

The likeable Kiesling, a giant of a man, performed miracles from the fan's point of view when the Steelers swept to victory in four games out of their first five.

But a series of injuries to key defensive personnel weakened the team and they dropped four straight games, won one and then lost two more. They close out the season at Municipal Stadium against the Browns.

Muller Meets Micelli in Saturday TV Bout

BOSTON (INS) — Former German middleweight champion Peter Muller will meet New York welterweight Joe Miceli in a nationally-televised (ABC) ten-rounder at the Boston Garden Saturday. Muller replaces Tony Demarco, who bowed out because of a training injury.

Scoring Champion Luppino Also Sweeps Rushing Title

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1954 major-college individual rushing championship, like the scoring title, belongs to Arizona sophomore Art Luppino.

* * *

The LaJolla, Calif., sensation, who scored 166 points to become the fourth highest scorer in major college history, ran 1,359 yards in 10 games, final NCA Service Bureau Statistics showed Wednesday.

* * *

Behind him were three Easterners, Penn State's Lenny Moore, Army's Tom Bell and Boston University's Sam Pino. They were the only other players to average better than 100 yards a game, Moore gaining 1,082, Bell 1,020 and Pino 933 in nine games apiece.

But Luppino, winning by a comfortable 277-yard margin, piled up enough distinctions to make the rushing race a mild imitation of his scoring outburst.

He posted the biggest yardage total ever accumulated by a sophomore, surpassing the 1,342 yards Bobby Reynolds made for Nebraska in 1950.

He set an all-time record of 38 yards a try in the first game of the season, gaining 228 yards on six attempts. Four of these runs went for touchdowns, and he added a punt runback for a touchdown and two extra points.

Bell had the best gain per play among the leaders, 10.62 yards on 96 carries. Montana's Dick Imer had the best average for over 100 tries, 8.01.

* * *

Wisconsin's Alan Ameche set two career records in mid-season and kept adding to them, until he wound up with 673 times carried and 3,212 yards gained in four years. The old marks were 563 plays in four years by Lindy Berry of Texas Christian and 3,166 yards in three years by Ollie Matson of San Francisco.

Al Andrews Plans More Woe for Vince Martinez

NEW YORK (AP) — Vince Martinez has been having all sorts of trouble outside the ring. Fight fixers tried to bribe him to dump a fight and he and his family are on the outs with Manager Billy Daly.

Now along comes Al Andrews with plans to make things even rougher inside the ring for the stylish, Paterson, N. J., welterweight contender.

* * *

"I've seen him on television," said Andrews Wednesday, "and I think he's the one for me. I like his style. That kind I think I can beat. He likes to lay back and call his shots.

* * *

"But I don't intend to let it go that way," Andrews added. "I'm not going to give him any time to rest and he's not going to get any punching room if I can help it.

"The way to beat Martinez," said Al, "is to throw punches and keep the pressure on him. That I promise to do. He can hit good but I'll beat him."

Despite Andrews' optimism, Martinez, with all his woes, is a 2-1 favorite to win the 10-rounder in Madison Square Garden Friday night. It looks like a spot for another of the many upsets that have been occurring lately.

Summerlin Winner Over Chicago Man

DETROIT (AP) — Johnny Summerlin, 196, of Detroit, pounded out a unanimous eight-round decision last night over Toxie Hall, 196¾, of Chicago, at the Motor City Arena.

The fight was action-packed but there were no knockdowns.

Summerlin had lost three straight fights since he won the Michigan heavyweight championship last summer.

In another heavyweight go, Al Adams, 189 of Detroit, won a unanimous five round decision over Syl Wagner, 198, of Bay City.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals has hit 510 two-base hits during his major league career. He his 42 doubles in 1954.

Bob Considine Says:

7-Year-Old Chip Sheppard Aged So Fast by Violence

CLEVELAND (INS)—I feel sorry for a kid I never met. Kid named Chip Sheppard, age 7, a member of the second grade of grammar school in a town which I had never heard of, until recently, Bay Village, O.

If you've ever been or had a 7-year old boy you know that he has his own world. He populates it with real and imaginary citizens, heroes, villains. He resists as best he can the intrusion of other worlds into his own. That's why he cried the first day he was dragged to school. That's why he hates spinach. That's why he becomes an implacable enemy of everything which jaded, saddened elders attempt to force upon him for his "good."

Here are some of the invasions of little Chip's world:

He is by massive violence motherless. Wherever he goes in life, among people who know, he'll be pointed out as the boy, teenager, man, father and old gaffer whose mother was murdered in one of the most bizarre cases of its time.

The testimony has drawn a sad picture of the little fellow.

Mrs. Esther Houk, wife of the mayor of Bay Village, tells of her concern for him when she and her husband were summoned to the murder home by Dr. Sam Sheppard on the early morning of the tragedy.

She told of looking in on his room as he slept soundly, just across the tiny hall from where his mother had been beaten to death and where she still lay.

Mrs. Houk testified that when it finally became imperative to awaken him on the murder morning she called on Dr. Richard Sheppard to do the job. They had trouble getting the chin-straightening device unwrapped from his jaw. Mrs. Houk arranged to have the door of his mother's room closed before she led the child down the hall, stairs and out of the house.

According to the testimony of two witnesses, Chip was in a daze. "He was awake enough to walk," said another aunt who was on hand "but that's about all." But he was awake enough to see his father leaving the house without saying good-bye to him or, it has been testified, ever asking about him.

He was told his father had hurt himself, and that everything would be okay.

Another witness in this case has sworn that he saw Dr. Sam beat Chip in an insane rage one night when the lad was 5, because Chip had tapped him on the arm while playing cowboys and Indians. Later, this cousin of Marilyn Sheppard testified, he noticed Chip (who had been ordered to bed without his supper) peeking around the upper staircase at the people having dinner downstairs. Marilyn the witness continued, filled a plate, took it halfway upstairs, tried unsuccessfully to coax Chip to come down, then left it for him on a step.

He has had his school changed because of the murder of his mother. When an aunt from "Marilyn's side of the family" called up Dr. Steve Sheppard (who is keeping Chip) and asked to take the lad to downtown Cleveland to see Santa Claus, she was told that this could happen only if Chip were accompanied by somebody from "Sam's side of the family."

Chip has lost his dog, Koko. Many of his toys are still under police guard in the murder house. Police have questioned him by the hour.

When he asked Dr. Steve where his mother was, the answer he got was:

"She's gone to take care of Pamela (a child of Dr. and Mrs. Steve Sheppard who died last spring) so we'll take care of you."

Chip hasn't seen his father since August 17. He sends Dr. Sam a crayon drawing now and then.

Seven years old . . . so very old, now.

Seven-Up Game Gave Arizona Town Its Name

WHITERIVER, Ariz. (AP) — Corydon Carleton Cooley, 63, son of Col. Corydon E. Cooley who took part in the card game that gave the town of Show Low its name, is dead.

Cooley was for many years an Indian trader at Cibecue on the Ft. Apache Indian Reservation. His mother was Mollie, daughter of Chief Pedro of the White Mountain Apache Indian tribe.

Col. Cooley settled near Ft. Apache in 1875 with a partner, Marion Clark. They decided there was room for only one ranch and played a game of seven-up to determine who would stay. Cooley won when his last hand showed low.

Grains Ease in Quiet Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains eased in quiet dealings on the Board of Trade today. Losses were fractional for the most part, although they ran to a couple of cents at one time in soybeans.

The market got off to a steady start, except in soybeans. Some additional export business overnight was a help. Buying was not aggressive, however, and it wasn't long before other cereals dipped a little in sympathy with beans.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ¾ lower, December $2.26½; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, December $1.55; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 81⅝; rye ¾ to 1⅛ lower, December $1.20; soybeans 1¼ to 2¼ lower, January $2.76; lard 15 lower to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher; December $14.72.

Market Trend Down Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market developed a slightly lower tendency today in early dealings.

The opening found prices steady, but within a short time evidence accumulated that the market was slipping.

Gains and losses spread over a fractional range. Many leading issues were quite active at unchanged prices.

Trading was brisk. The tape fell behind as much as four minutes in reporting floor transactions, but it caught up quickly.

Steels were mostly lower, motors steady, rubbers mixed, merchandising shares mixed, aircrafts steady, distillers steady, radio-televisions steady, utilities mixed, coppers higher, chemicals lower, railroads mixed, oils unchanged to lower, and airlines higher.

Honor Workers at Fisher Body

72 Employes With 25 Years Service to Receive Engraved Watches

Seventy-two local Fisher Body Division employes with 25 years of service will be honored Dec. 16 at an awards dinner at Devon Gables.

The 71 men and one woman will be part of 978 employes similarly honored in ceremonies throughout the country on that date. All will be presented an engraved watch as a token of their service.

Rocky Ryan, son of Mrs. Eva Miller, 44 W. Strathmore St., has been accepted by Northrup Aeronautical Institute for enrollment in their 50-week course in aircraft and engine mechanics. A World War II veteran, Ryan is a graduate of Max High School, Max, North Dakota.

About 300 Pontiac employes of the S. S. Kreege Co. will be among 45,000 throughout the country to receive Christmas remembrance checks, according to Harry D. Stayton, manager of the local store.

Gerity Broadcasting to Get Bay City TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gerity Broadcasting Co. has been authorized by the Federal Communications Commission to acquire sole control of television station WNEM at Bay City.

Gerity now holds two-thirds of the stock in the Bay City TV outlet. It will purchase the remaining one-third interest from Saginaw Broadcasting Co. for $155,000.

Gerity also owns radio stations WPON at Pontiac and WODJ at Adrian, while Saginaw operates radio stations WSAM and WSAM-FM at Saginaw.

5 Miners Killed as Wall Collapses in Deep Shaft

SPRINGHILL, Nova Scotia (UP)—Five miners were killed early today when a wall collapsed on them 12,000 feet underground here.

Three of the victims were brought to the surface almost immediately by fellow miners working nearby, but a rescue crew had to dig for hours before recovering the other two bodies.

Mozart, Beethoven, Naumann and Hasse composed music for the harmonica, an instrument composed of glass bells, not a mouth organ.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK ALL OUR friends, neighbors and GMC Truck & Coach, Dr. Tom Malone and the Kirkby Funeral Home and all who sent flowers, for their kindness during the sickness and death of Mrs. Florence Davis. Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Davis.

I WISH TO EXTEND MY HEARTfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness during my recent bereavement in the loss of my beloved husband. Especial thanks to Reverend William Marbach for his comforting words, to Mr. and Mrs. J. Tortis, and friends of the Trailer city. Also the wonderful nurses of St. Joseph Hospital, Sparks-Griffin funeral home and the pallbearers from GMTC and employees Mr. Elmer May.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR beloved mother, Sophia Zumbrunnen, who died Dec. 10, 1953.
A wonderful mother, woman and friend
One who was better, God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true.
One in a million that mother was you.
Just in your judgment, always right
Honest and liberal, ever upright
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.
Our wonderful mother, that mother was you
Lois, Helen, Lena, Carol

IN MEMORY OF OUR SON, brother husband and daddy Tyrus M. Weldon, who passed away December 9, 1952
Some day sometime our eyes shall see,
The face we keep in memory.
And God will link the broken chain
Still closer when we meet again.
Sadly missed by his mother, father, sisters, wife and children.

Stanwyck Can Laugh at 25 Years in Films

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Barbara Stanwyck—one of Hollywood's best sports—took it with a smile when RKO put out a story that this is her 25th year in films.

"What — 25 years!" she exclaimed incredulously over the phone. "Well . . . I started in 1930. I guess it is my 25th—but I won't complete 25 till next year!"

"They say 'Cattle Queen of Montana' is your 77th picture and that you've made more films than any living Hollywood actress."

"Who says I'm living? Besides, it's not my 77th. It's only my 75th."

I congratulated her on winning the Modern Screen popularity poll.

"Thanks," she said. "In my 25th year, I finally won my first award!"

★ ★ ★

Texas' little darlin', Hedy Lamarr, just got a medical checkup at Doctors Hospital and was found to be in "perfect shape." . . . an understatement if I ever heard one. Her husband, Howard Lee, of Houston, gave her a diamond bracelet for her birthday. They'll celebrate their first wedding anniversary—December 21—back in Texas, so oil's well.

BARBARA STANWYCK

Director George Abbott has given singer Fran Warren specific orders to have her baby by Dec. 23. She takes the Janis Paige role in the road company of "Pajama Game" and Abbott wants her to get the motherhood bit over quickly so she can start rehearsing for a January opening in Pittsburgh. Fran replied, "Yessir."

★ ★ ★ ★

I just discovered the gag-writing, song-writing cab driver, David Gale of 1815 Davidson Av., the Bronx. When the weather changes sharply, Dave says, "It's not lovely weather for ducks—it's lovely weather for docs." A woman passenger was amazed at drivers' failing to use hand signals. "Lady," he told her, "the only time you'll see a hand out is when somebody wants one."

Tiny Juliet Lewis has a tall job. As co-producer of the "Great Moments in Sports" TV show m. c.'d by Walter Kiernan, she acts as hostesses to special guests—such as skyscraperish George Mikan. Jackie Robinson recently phoned her for some film showing him playing football at U.C.L.A. His youngster didn't believe his famous baseball-playing dad had also played football.

LEWIS & MIKAN

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The All-American football players here for the Look Awards were looking for agents to handle their deals with the pros . . . Faye Emerson's postponing her B'way show, "Running Mate" . . . Jan Murray has that comedians' disease—ulcers.

Denise Lor — of the Garry Moore TV show—just won a bra company's award for her form on records, for her hit disc, "Every Day of My Life" and "One to Grow On."

DENISE LOR

Denise, the wife of TV director Jay Martin, has two sons, Ronnie, 7, and Denis, 2, and after the show gets their dinner at their home in Jamaica, L. I., every night, even as thousands and thousands of other wives.

Earl's Pearls . . .

TV is supposed to have reduced home conversation 50 per cent. That's tough on Pop who loves to tell sonny what he went through as a boy.—Ima Washout.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "When a man suggests a drive-in movie, the girl usually knows what he's driving at."—George Dubrow.

IT'S MARY McCOY'S DESCRIPTION of a heel: "He's the kind of a guy you call by the first name — that pops into your mind." That's earl, brother.

Celeste Deserts TV Show Flop

Liberace Says Break With Fiance Caused by Fans' Disapproval

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Jack Paar's early morning opus has clobbered Garroway, says Trendex.

Celeste Holm made a cruel but wise personal decision last night—to quit TV after only eight shows, all bad.

Martha Wright also sank on TV Sunday night.

Gleason may add a half-hour weekly "Honeymooners" series for Berle's sponsor.

Max Liebman's "Spectacular" was a delight all the way, his first entirely successful 90-minute show this season.

The sketches bubbled, the dances bounced, the stars shone magnificently and age didn't halt anyone (Jack Buchanan, 63; Jimmy Durante, 61; Sonja Henie, 41) and Jeannie Carson, the British youngster, remains the most endearing light comic lading lady to hit the public's fancy since Mary Martin. She has a lot of Mary's sunny charm.

Pat Carroll, whose bright fun hadn't been utilized properly lately, made her amusing mark nicely and all four complemented each other as is too seldom possible in the world of ham.

Jack Buchanan may be the world's classiest human, or close to a tie for the award with Fred Astaire.

Hey! Uncle Miltie does too make $30,000 a week now! He took home a piddling $25,000 only for the first six weeks of this season, then got the raise.

Goodson-Todman's latest panel "What's Going On?" has the perfect title: No one sees to know. It's nervous, frazzled and not very diverting.

Survey of shows dropped from TV says the public most wants "Show of Shows" to return; with The Web and the summertime Dorsey Brothers' Gleason-sub, 2nd and 3rd.

"Lucy," Groucho and Toast of the Town are 1-2-3 in the new ARB listings.

Jack Benny's General Electric film production cost $70,000, a veritable "spectacular" by TV's skimpy celluloid budgets. ("Lucy" costs half that).

Liberace says he broke the engagement because his fans didn't like his choice of Joanne Rio as the proper future Mrs. Candelabrum.

The proposed Patsy Kelly TV series is supposed to be funnier'n anything.

General Electric gets Barry Fitzgerald as star the night after Christmas . . . Phil Silvers' new CBS-TV series is scheduled opposite Berle Jan. 28 . . . CBS-TV's belated answer to "Victory at Sea" will be "Conquest of the Air," a 26-week U.S. Air Force documentary history to start in the fall of '55.

"Red Barber's Corner" starts Dec. 15 right after the Wednesday night fights.

Dorothy Kilgallen came mighty close to that Santa Claus school teacher, a very good seasonal suspicion indeed.

To Argue Acquittal in Sedition Charge

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (INS)—Lawyers for both sides will argue today a defense motion that Louisville newspaperman Carl Braden be acquitted of charges of teaching and advocating sedition.

Braden, 40-year-old copyreader for the Louisville Courier-Journal, is the first of five defendants to go on trial for sedition under a 1920 Kentucky statute.

He is accused of conspiring to sell his home to Andrew Wade IV, a Negro, in an all-white section of Louisville and then bombing it in a Communist-inspired plot to foment racial friction.

Merchants Get Assist in Financing Parking

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The city commission here Tuesday set a new policy of assisting merchants wishing to provide public off-street parking for their customers.

Under the policy, the city will finance development of a $106,000 public parking lot to serve the Madison Square area in southeast Grand Rapids. Merchants in other areas are expected to seek similar help.

Legionnaires in Film

JACKSON (AP) — Jackson's famed American Legion Zouave drill team is in Hollywood to take part in a new Paramount movie, "The Court Jester." For their roles, the precision marchers will carry battle axes instead of rifles. The picture starring Danny Kaye, has a medieval setting.

Bankers Meet at UM

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Bankers will discuss changing conditions tomorrow and Friday in the annual Michigan Bankers Assn. study conference at the University of Michigan. Says Ike Will Name Rockefeller to Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today that President Eisenhower will appoint Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as a White House administrative assistant on foreign policy.

"Secretary of State Dulles will, of course, remain the President's principal adviser on foreign affairs," a Washington dispatch to the Times said, "but Mr. Rockefeller will work with him and with the other departments and agencies on the coordination of the administration's 'cold-war' strategy."

Rockefeller, 46, one of the five sons of John D. Rockefeller Jr., is now undersecretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Among government posts he formerly held was that of assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs.

Man Admits Beating Two Young Children

DETROIT (INS)—Robert Kuhn, a 28-year-old Nankin Township factory worker, was held on a charge of cruelty to children today after admitting he beat his two sons for taking cookies.

Robert Jr., 6, appeared the most seriously hurt with his face a mass of multi-colored welts and badly swollen. Khun said the other boy, Kenneth, 4, was only struck "once or twice."

The beatings were discovered by Kuhn's estranged wife, Mary, 22, when she went to the Kuhn house to visit with the children.

Jane Wyman Divorces Husband Number Three

SANTA MONICA (INS)—Actress Jane Wyman, with a sprinkle of tears, has shed her third husband.

She testified yesterday in her mental cruelty charge that her husband Fred Karger, an orchestra leader, "had a bad temper and sometimes overturned furniture." She said that Karger persisted in quarreling far into the night and told her "he was sorry he ever married her."

She was previously married to actor Ronald Reagan and Myron Futerman, a New Orleans dress manufacturer.

UM Prof Heads Group

ANN ARBOR (AP)—John C. Kuhl, associate professor of civil engineering and director of the University of Michigan's transportation institute, has been elected president of the Michigan Chapter, American Society of Civil Engineers. He will be installed at Farmington Jan. 6.

The cause of muscular dystrophy is still undetermined.

Spice Shelf Is Attractive, Easy-to-Make Family Gift

Almost every family that likes good cooking has a small collection of spices in its kitchen. Most would like a larger, fancier group to put in a more accessible location.

A most welcome gift for such a family is a starter collection of spices. The fine, matched collections can be bought at many food speciality stores, but for a gift longer on the personal touch and shorter on cost, you can make your own.

The American Spice Trade Association suggests putting your grocery store spices—the whole, unground kind that come in cardboard packages—in chemistry bottles. They have ground stoppers and are just the right size. You can hand-letter labels for the bottles.

Even more economical and not often thought of are the little jars baby foods come in. With the plastic snap-on tops that can be bought at the five-and-ten, these make excellent spice bottles.

You can deliver your selection from a cookbook list ni a decorated basket, but the George Pacific Plywood Company offers an idea for father to get in on the act. He can make a special shelf.

Materials needed: 1 ripplewood square, 16x16 inches, 1 ripplewood square, 12x12 inches, enough ⅜-inch plywood for three 12x5-inch shelves, 8 small angle irons, finishing nails, wood screws, glue and paint.

Saw or have sawed the plywood into these pieces: 14x15-inch from the larger square for the back, two 5 5-16 x 12-inch pieces from the smaller square for the sides. From the ⅜-inch piece, three shelves, 15x5 inches.

To assemble, measure, mark and glue the shelves to the back piece, each shelf 4½ inches from the other, the bottom shelf ½ inch from the base. Put a small angle iron under each end of each shelf, about 3 inches in.

Put sides in place, using glue and small finishing nails or wood screws. Sand and paint or lacquer.

Attach two angle irons to back of wall board near top for hanging or use special hanging rings.

Believe Death a Suicide Despite Lack of Proof

BATTLECREEG (AP) — Police say they still believe Mrs. Ruth Kellogg, 36, killed herself Sunday although a paraffin test disclosed no traces of gunshot powder on her hands.

A 20-gauge shotgun was found near Mrs. Kellogg's body. Police said a daughter, Donna, 14, told them her mother had threatened suicide several times. The husband, Jesse, said he was asleep downstairs at the time and knew nothing of the shooting.

Capt. Ross Reppert, chief of detectives, said Mrs. Kellogg may have pulled the trigger with a toe rather than a finger. No tests were made of her feet.

Sues Juke Box Group

DETROIT (AP) — Harry S. Toy, former Detroit police commissioner, has sued the Michigan Automatic Phonograph Owners Assn. and nine of its officers and directors for $10,500. Toy, an attorney, says the money is due him for representing the juke box group at a congressional committee hearing here in 1953.

Catchy Title Not Important in Producing Best Seller

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS) — "It's a catchy title," people sometimes say of a book or movie or hit tune. "That's what put it across."

I've heard those words a thousand times and the most recent rash of them has been about "I'll Cry Tomorrow," Lillian Roth's best-seller about the singer's 16 terrible years in the hell of alcoholism and her inch-by-inch climb back from degradation and despair.

Titles of books are certainly important, but it always gripes me when anybody acts as if a three or four word title was more important than the 100,000 words of manuscript that followed it.

As if, in other words, any title ever dreamed up could turn into a slingshot with a pebble and shoot the book right up into best-sellerdom.

"I'll Cry Tomorrow," has had a fabulous success, true. Written in collaboration with two skilled newspaper men, Mike Connolly and Gerold Frank, it came out last June at $3.95, so far has sold over 100,000 copies, won the Christopher Award for "inspirational value" and is still going strong. Translations into 14 different languages are contracted for, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has bought it for $100,000, with Susan Hayward to be the star, and smash receipts practically ringing in the till already.

"I'll Cry Tomorrow" is a wonderful title, of course, but my point is that this strange book, with its incredible frankness, with its often unbearable vividness about a woman alcoholic, with its message of hope for other self-wrecked people — this book would have become a huge success if it had been called by any other name at all.

The title is a phrase from the manuscript itself, and to make my point clearer, practically at random I picked out from its pages a whole flock of possible rival titles.

"A Nightmare World" on page 10, for instance, is a phrase I can easily imagine as a grand name for this special book of horror and hope. "The Long Hours" on page 73 is another; "Return to Living" on page 342 another; "One Day at a Time" on page 346 still another, and definitely, Lillian's mother's own words, "Don't Cry Tonight" on Page 335.

Now "I'll Cry Tomorrow" is so famous, of course, not one of the others can possibly strike our ears with just the same rightness and impact — but that's partly a matter of timing.

Ask any editor, if you don't believe me. Or ask anybody on Tin Pan Alley if no title but "White Christmas" would have put across the Irving Berlin smash song. With Bing Crosby plugging it, five will get you ten it would have been just as huge a hit if it had been called "I'm Dreaming," "All Your Christmases" or anything else.

"The Solid Gold Cadillac" struck me as a 200 horsepower title when the comedy hit opened on Broadway, but on the other hand I never suspected any box-office appeal whatever in play titles like "Teahouse of the August Moon," "The Seven Year Itch," "The Voice of the Turtle," or a little geographical monicker, "Oklahoma."

And now, if I may give myself away by pointing to the moral I find in this assorted theatrical, literary and musical chit-chat, it's the same one we forget so often as we go through life searching for happiness or success.

What's on the outside of the book or the top of the song or up there in bright lights — none of that is what really counts. It's the innards that make the real story . . . the meaning, the courage, the warmth, the truth.

Don't you agree, Miss Roth?

Extracts Manganese

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—A refugee scientist, Dr. Ernest S. Nossen, has perfected a new process for extracting high grade manganese from low grade ore. Manganese is used in making steel. In the Nossen process, manganese is dissolved out of ore with the use of nitric acid. The acid can be recovered and used again.
