Daughter Kills Lana Turner's Gangland Suitor

'Why Can't I Bring My Baby Home?'

Star Weeps as Child, 14, Booked

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why wouldn't they let me bring my baby home with me?" a sad Lana Turner sobbed over and over again early today.

"They promised they would take good care of her, but why couldn't they let her come home with me."

The statement was repeated several times by the actress as she wept because her 14-year-old daughter was held by police for killing the actress's boy friend.

Lana, calmed somewhat by sedatives, slipped out of her rented Beverly Hills house where daughter Cheryl Crane last night stabbed Johnny Stompanato.

I helped her to the car which whisked her to an undisclosed place. Her mother, Mrs. John Turner, and Del Armstrong, an associate in Lana's movie production company drove off with her.

WALKS UNSTEADILY

Lana said she couldn't spend another day in the house. She walked unsteadily across the lawn to the car, turned around, and took a glance at the two-story house.

"Just think I only lived in it three days," she said sadly.

Earlier, after returning home from the police station, Lana had paced back and forth in the living room grieving, not for Stompanato but for her jailed daughter, a close friend said.

HAPPENS FAST

A doctor gave the 38-year-old movie star heavy sedation but it didn't knock her out immediately.

"The whole thing happened so fast that Lana is having trouble trying to piece it together herself," the friend said.

Lana wanted to spend the night in jail with her daughter as did cafe owner Steve Crane, Miss Turner's second husband and father of Cheryl. Jail rules forbid it.

The friend, who asked anonymity, said Lana had no intention of marrying Johnny Stompanato. He added that fact touched off the argument during which Cheryl rammed a butcher knife into Stompanato's abdomen.

Stompanato, 42, had been Miss Turner's steady romance for much of the past year. He was with her in London when she made a picture there.

They went together to Paris and then directly to Lana's home in Acapulco, Mex., where they sunned for two months.

Daughter Cheryl met the couple when they returned on March 19.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Clinton Anderson said Lana told him "she was fearful of Stompanato. He had beaten her several times when they were abroad."

Back at her home, her loud sobbing could be heard outside.

Parked across the street was Stompanato's sports car.

DAUGHTER, FATHER — Cheryl Crane, 14-year-old daughter of actress Lana Turner walks down a hallway of the Beverly Hills police station with her father, Stephen Crane. The girl was given sedation and held overnight in the jail after being booked on suspicion of murder in the stabbing of 42-year-old Johnny Stompanato in the bedroom of her mother's home. Crane and Miss Turner were divorced in 1944.

TEARFUL ACTRESS — Sobbing loudly, actress Lana Turner hurries to her car early this morning after her daughter Cheryl, 14, had been booked on suspicion of murder in the slaying of Johnny Stompanato, a former associate of Mickey Cohen. Police said the girl stabbed Stompanato, a recent companion of the actress, when he threatened Miss Turner.

President Ends VA Home Loan Down Payment

Move Expected to Spur Building of 10,000 More Detroit Area Houses

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower announced yesterday the Veterans' Administration is removing immediately the 2 per cent down payment requirement on VA-guaranteed home loans.

The down payment elimination restores the situation to what it was in 1954. In 1955 the 2 per cent down payment requirement was put into effect.

Under the new program, veterans will continue to have to pay in cash the expenses of closing a home loan.

These settlement costs, which include title searching fees, filing fees and similar expenses, often run into hundrds of dollars.

In Detroit, mortgage banker Benjamin Levinson said: "This will mean the building of at least an additional 10,000 homes in the Detroit area.

"Elimination of the down payment and permission for the Federal National Mortgage Association to buy GI mortgages at par will put builders back on the same basis as 1954 when 40,000 homes were built in the area.

"Last year with crippling restrictions, by contrast, less than 20,000 homes were built in the three-county Detroit district.

"This year, estimating conservatively, at least 30,000 homes will be built."

ANOTHER ACTION

Elimination of the down payment was one of two administrative actions announced by the President.

Five other steps were taken to carry out provisions of the $1,850,000,000 housing bill which Eisenhower signed Tuesday.

The other administrative action, not provided for in that bill and requiring no legislation, is the release of an additional 325 million dollars to the Federal National Mortgage Associa-

Williams OKs Pipeline Bonds

Legislation Amended to Permit Way to Finance Local Water Project

Gov. G. Mennen Williams signed into law yesterday a bill allowing revenue bonds financing of a $181 million pipeline to Lake Huron to bring water to Oakland County.

Oakland County Republican Senator L. Harvey Lodge introduced the measure Feb. 5, and it cleared the Senate 32-0 and the House 94-4.

It amended 1955 legislation permitting an authority of governmental units to unite to carry out the project, financed by general obligation bonds.

Other counties which may be served by the project are Genesee, Macomb, St. Clair and Wayne.

General obligation bonds would put a burden on the communities in the proposed project, in some cases, Lodge pointed out, by curtailing their borrowing power for other projects.

Lodge and 11 other senators backed the bill after an engineering report for the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority showed the project was feasible.

Chevrolet Trucks to Be Built Here

General Motors Truck & Coach Division and three other GM plants will take over the production of heavy-duty Chevrolet trucks during modernization of the Willow Run plant.

Production of the trucks will begin about June 1, a Truck & Coach spokesman said. Production volume will be low, however, and the temporary change will mean only a few additional personnel, it was reported.

Gasoline-driven trucks in the Chevrolet 7000, 8000, 9000 and 10,000 class will be completely built here, and at plants at Flint, Norwood, Ohio, and Janesville, Wis. Transfer of the operations will begin in May.

April Showers May Dampen Easter Bonnets

Easter bonnets may get a little damp tomorrow and the gals may not like it, but dad will love the occasional showers for his parched lawn.

The weatherman said showers will start today and continue at least through tomorrow night. The rain, over all the southern portion of the lower peninsula, will be accompanied by a slight drop in temperature.

A high near 52 is predicted for Sunday.

The outlook for Monday is partly cloudy and rather cool, with a chance of a few showers.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 41. The thermometer registered 54 at 1 p.m.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

JERUSALEM—It was dark, and the stars were clear and large. I went to the tomb of Christ in the Holy Sepulchre. There was an aura of majesty in the shadowy church. Then I came to a garden with an ancient, empty tomb, hewn out of rock. It was still and quiet. The air was fresh. Palm and pine trees, dotted with cones, were silhouetted against the lightening sky. Stars disappeared. A cock crowed. A donkey brayed. Blue rosemary came into sight, and yellow jasmin with its sweet fragrance. A pigeon cooed from a cleft of rock. The grass was wet with dew. Clouds turned to churning yellow. Birds called. The rising sun radiated into shafts. A soft yellow shaft touched the face of the tomb. It was as if someone had said, 'He is Risen." (Mark 16-6).

Easter Spreads Message of Peace in Armed World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The resurrection of Christ—man of peace—will be commemorated in Easter services tomorrow in a world troubled by a nuclear age cold war.

Millions of Christians, across the United States, in Old Jerusalem, in many lands overseas and even far north of the Arctic Circle, will find comfort and reassurance in the message that "The Lord is risen."

(Local Easter Story Pages 5, 7)

Holy Saturday dawned clear and springlike today on the largest number of pilgrims to Jerusalem in years.

About 5,000 Christian pilgrims from a dozen nations traveled to the city where Christ was crucified nearly 2,000 years ago to celebrate his resurrection.

They shouldered heavy crosses yesterday to retrace Christ's walk to Calvary, stopping at each of the 14 stations for hymns and sermons.

And in the new city across the armistice line dividing Jordan from Israel, Jews marked the beginning of Passover last night with the traditional feasts.

Thousands of visitors already have arrived in Rome for Easter services.

Many were to gather in St. Peter's Square to hear the annual Easter message of Pope Pius XII.

The Pope's address will be carried to millions by radio and by "Eurovision," a television hookup in several countries. The Vatican radio will rebroadcast the address in 24 languages.

Radio Free Europe yesterday began broadcasting Easter messages by American clergymen to people behind the Iron Curtain.

What is expected to be the world's northernmost Easter sunrise service will be conducted near the old Eskimo village of Thule, Greenland, 660 miles north of the Arctic Circle, by Army Chaplain Capt. Ian M. MacDonald.

In the United States, the settings for services will range from Protestant and Catholic cathedrals in the heart of New York City to mountain tops and to the deck of the historic frigate USS Constitution—"Old Ironsides"— at Boston.

An Easter dawn service will be conducted in the Radio City Music Hall in New York by the Protestant Council of the city. The combined choirs of Springfield College of Massachusetts and Virginia Union University of Richmond, Va. will sing.

Director Foresees Havoc

Dreads Cuts at State Hospital

Appropriation cuts for the State Mental Health Dept. under consideration in the Legislature will wreak havoc with state hospitals, causing a layoff of 70 persons at Pontiac State Hospital alone, Charles F. Wagg, director, disclosed today.

Wagg, in a letter to Sen. Elmer R. Porter, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, pointed out that the bill reported out by the committee alone would mean the firing of 576 employes.

Added to the cuts proposed in a House bill, it would bring the total fired to 750.

Wagg said that current money shortages had forced the closing of wards in Pontiac State Hospital and at Northville Hospital.

The new cuts would close even more wards, Wagg said, although there is a waiting list of 357 mentally ill persons, 95 epileptics, and 861 mentally retarded.

Wagg wrote to Porter that the department needs $2,500,000 just to keep from cutting services further.

Wagg stated, "Under current appropriations we are struggling for enough nursing manpower to change children's diapers often enough to prevent rash, to feed helpless youngsters and old people . . . give baths, assist in personal hygiene, and carry on basic nursing chores . . ."

"We have a . . . grave responsibility not to take sick people into our care unless we can give at least minimal adequate service."

Hardest hit by the cuts, Wagg said, will be the mentally-ill children who require the most nursing care. The waiting list of such youngster will just grow longer, he said.

Admits Knifing Him for Raving at Her Mother

Actress Had Been Seen Often With Henchman of Mickey Cohen

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Police planned to seek a murder complaint today against the daughter of Lana Turner in the fatal stabbing of her mother's husky underworld suitor, Johnny Stompanato.

Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson said he would file a petition with juvenile court immediately for a murder complaint despite protests by Miss Turner's attorney, Jerry Giesler, that the killing was "justifiable homicide."

Police said brown-haired Cheryl Crane plunged a knife into the abdomen of husky Johnny Stompanato, 42, in a pink-carpeted bedroom of Miss Turner's home.

Stompanato died instantly.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Clinton Anderson said he was told that Cheryl stabbed Stompanato after he threatened her 38-year-old mother in a stormy scene in the glamorous blonde movie star's bedroom.

Cheryl heard the argument and went into the bedroom.

"I'll get you if it takes a year, a week or a day," Stompanato raged at Miss Turner. "I'll cut you up. I'll stomp you and if I can't do it myself I'll find someone who can."

Cheryl went to the kitchen, picked up a 10-inch butcherknife and returned to the bedroom.

"You don't have to take that, Mama," Cheryl said.

Then she stabbed Stompanato,

Bulletin

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force launched its seventh Atlas ICBM at noon EST Saturday.

It rose majestically, slowly at first and then swiftly, into heavy scattered clouds about 10,000 feet above the launching site.

The missile, trailed by bright yellow flame, disappeared into the clouds 30 seconds after launching. It reappeared five seconds later, still climbing vertically, and thereafter was visible once or twice momentarily.

However, the roar of its powerful engines could be heard in the launching area for two minutes.

The steady sound of the power upward indicated that the missile was performing satisfactorily.

The Air Force did not indicate the nature of the test. It was believed to involve testing of propulsion and guidance equipment.

War of Nerves Envelops Cuba

Castro's Opening Push Reportedly Postponed Until After Easter

HAVANA (UP) — Fidel Castro's "total, implacable war" against Cuban President Fulgencio Batista began today as a war of nerves.

The nation was tense but relatively calm. The big push "to be free or to perish"—as Castro put it in his declaration of war against the strongman President — may not come until after Easter holidays end Monday morning.

There was also no sign of Castro's long-threatened call for a general strike. Rumors in Havana said the bearded insurgent leader would issue the call from his mountain hideout on Tuesday.

Castro claims 50,000 supporters would then pour into the streets, halt all commerce and do battle with the police and the army.

But the government, with the backing of the powerful Cuban Confederation of Labor, has vowed there will be no strike. Workers have been authorized to kill anyone who urges them to walk off their jobs. Those who strike will lose their jobs permanently. Employers have been threatened with jail if they close down their businesses.

Castro's declaration of war went into effect at one minute past midnight — but not a shot was heard in downtown Havana at that time and there were no reports of stepped-up rebel activity from anywhere in Cuba.

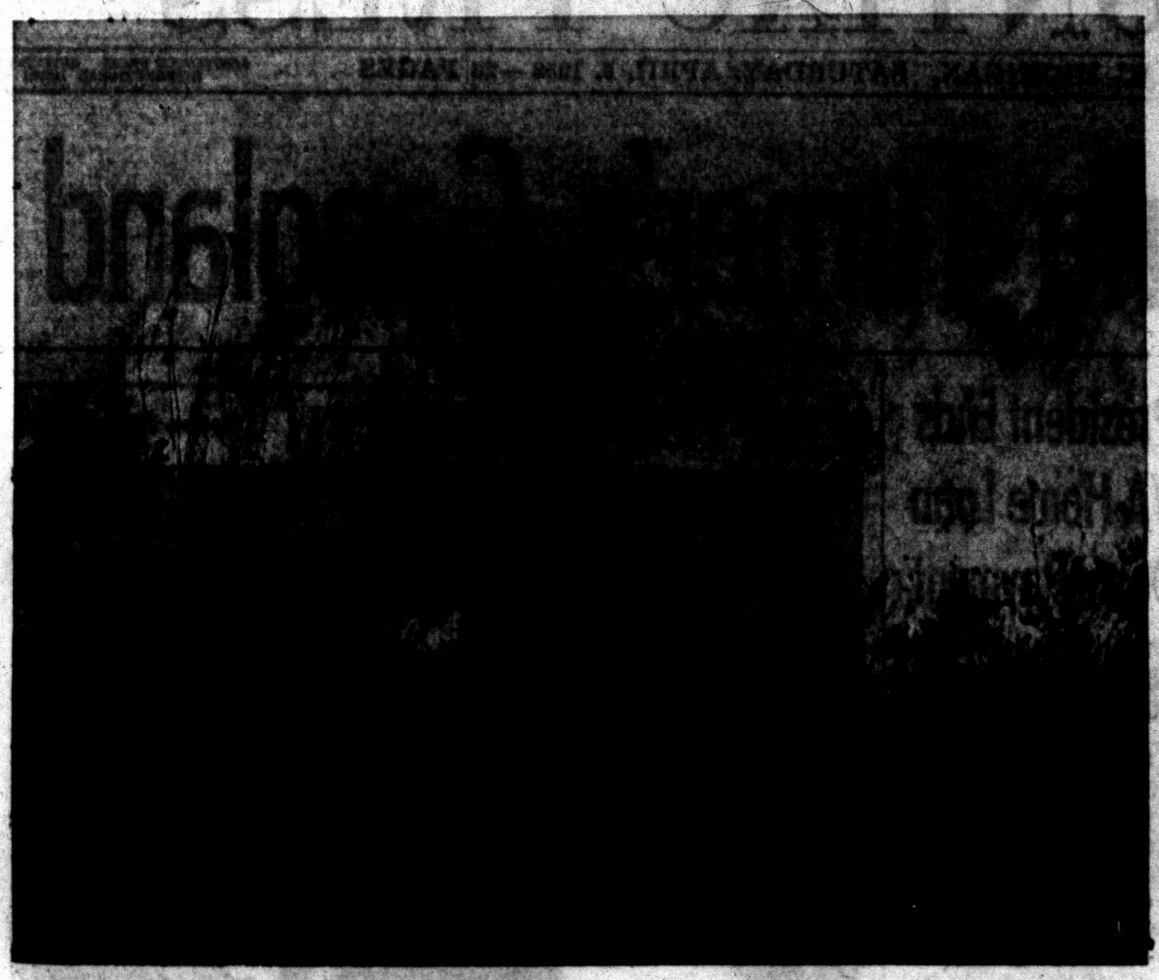
Havana abandoned its traditionally gay mood. Streets, nightspots and hotels were almost deserted. Rebel sympathizers, who claimed they had arms stashed away in buildings on almost every street in this capital, awaited orders from Castro's stronghold in the Sierra Maestra of Oriente province on Cuba's eastern tip. Batista sent out beefed-up police patrols to keep the peace.



BLAZING AWAY — A typical grass fire is shown burning out of control in Pontiac. Hundreds of such fires have been reported to Pontiac and other Oakland County fire departments during the past three weeks. Sometimes started by children, most of them result from property owners who try to burn down weeds without realizing how fast the blaze can spread. Often fences, garages or even barns are burned by the fires before they can be put out.

Our weather, or cloud level, varies from 30,000 to 45,000 feet in most parts of the country. Modern airliners — most of them at least — cannot fly above the weather at all times.

It is true, however, that many of them can often fly above it, because much of the time the highest clouds, or turbulence is only 16,000 feet, or 18,000, etc.

Jet airliners, beginning service in June, will be able to fly above the weather ninety per cent of the time, because of their high ceiling and improved cabins.

Easter Bunny Loves Humans — Eats Like One

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UP) — This Easter bunny loves humans—and eats like one.

The William Boones bought him as a tiny, white bunny on Good Friday, 1957, for daughters Barbara, 12 and Linda, 9.

Almost immediately he began to beat his way into their affections —despite some annoying forays among Mrs. Boone's potted plants indoors and choice flowers in the garden.

He loves cookies, pop corn, crackers, french bread — almost any starch. He'll leap into an oven if he sees a cracker there. He'll sit and beg—must as a dog does—for food. He doesn't care much for vegetables. He doesn't even like carrots much, but will eat one if Barbara holds it in her mouth.

The bunny likes to go with the girls for a walk. So Boone made him a dog-type harness and leash. That served well, until bunny outgrew it — overeating. Then he walked—or hopped along—free of straps.

He seems to enjoy television and will watch it for several minutes at a time.

He divides his time among the house, yard and garage. He hates pens; learned to free himself from one. But he doesn't dig under the fence and is content to stay home.

He'll scratch on a door if he wants in the house. He seems to enjoy an automobile ride, snuggled in someone's lap. Seldom shows any interest in passing scenery.

His appetite has made Mr. Rabbit large for his size—13 pounds.

Says Boone:

"Bunny eats only one meal a day—but it lasts 24 hours!"

PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, England (INS) — Favored Cambridge won an easy victory over Oxford today in their 104th annual boat race. Official time for the winning crew was 18 minutes, 15 seconds.

Chrysler Awarded $17 Million Contract

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army has announced the award of contracts totaling $17,605,582 to Chrysler Motors Corp. for 4,333 trucks.

Work on both contracts will be done at the Dodge truck plant at Warren, Mich.

The Army said yesterday the vehicles are required for the current year's supply program.

The contracts will provide for continued employment of 200 persons at Warren, which has been designated a labor surplus area.

One contract calls for construction of 3,260 three-quarter ton trucks at a cost of $14,293,892. The other provides for construction of 1,073 one-ton cargo trucks at a cost of $3,111,900.

Ann Arbor Sees Drought Threat by Summer

ANN ARBOR (UP) — The Huron River, which meanders some 30 miles through Washtenaw County, could be a mere trickle by summer.

The river supplies Ann Arbor, and its University of Michigan swelled population of 60,000, with its water.

County Drain Commissioner John H. Flook said the Huron will practically dry up by summer unless abundant rain falls in the next few weeks.

The weather bureau at Willow Run Airport reported a measurable amount of precipitation hasn't fallen on the county since March 25.

City water officials here said, however, only a prolonged drought would diminish the water supply severely.

Flook said this has been the driest year in the county since 1934.

Ike Makes Disaster Funds Available

California Braces for More Rain, Snow

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Storm-wracked California, its flooded lowlands declared a major disaster area by President Eisenhower and its mountain peaks capped by history's heaviest recorded snow pack, braced today for yet another assault by the elements.

Moderate to heavy rains of a storm spawned in the Aleutians were expected to move southeastward across the state today, turning to snow in the higher elevations.

But the weatherman, seemingly answering the prayers of those who stood anxious guard at brimming dams and rivers, predicted the new storm front should bring lesser amounts of rainfall and should be of shorter duration than the successive storms that have wreaked damage in the untold millions during the past week.

President Eisenhower made federal funds available for the repair of levees and roads. The specific amounts of federal funds, which will supplement state and local outlays, will be decided later.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who will fly over the flooded lands tomorrow, has estimated damage to physical installations such as roads and levees at $12,000,000. But the damage to householders flooded out of homes, and to farmers, in crops and livestock was in the added millions.

$150,000 FOR HOUSES

Edward J. Gully, Red Cross director of disaster services for the Pacific region, estimated that some $150,000 will be needed to repair homes damaged by floodwaters.

He said some 4,304 families were forced to leave their homes in the face of rising waters. Seven homes were destroyed and some 2,171 damaged, he reported, and 239 small businesses were damaged.

New flood danger in the San Joaquin Valley was reported by the Department of Water Resources, with an increase in water releases from Friant Dam which are expected to cause a heavy push in the San Joaquin River for some 80 miles downstream.

The flood threat along Mormon Channel, running through the city of Stockton, temporarily subsided. But Bear Creek was flowing over both banks five miles north of the city and water was covering streets in the Colonial Heights residential area.

Thousands of tons of earth and rock cascaded onto California Highway 1, some 35 miles south of Monterey, blocking the thoroughfare. Engineers said it was one of the worst slides in the history of the route and would take some 10 days to clear.

In the Sierra Nevada, the snow pack was the highest ever recorded. The snow measured 216 inches along roads in the Donner summit area and 270 inches on ski slopes.

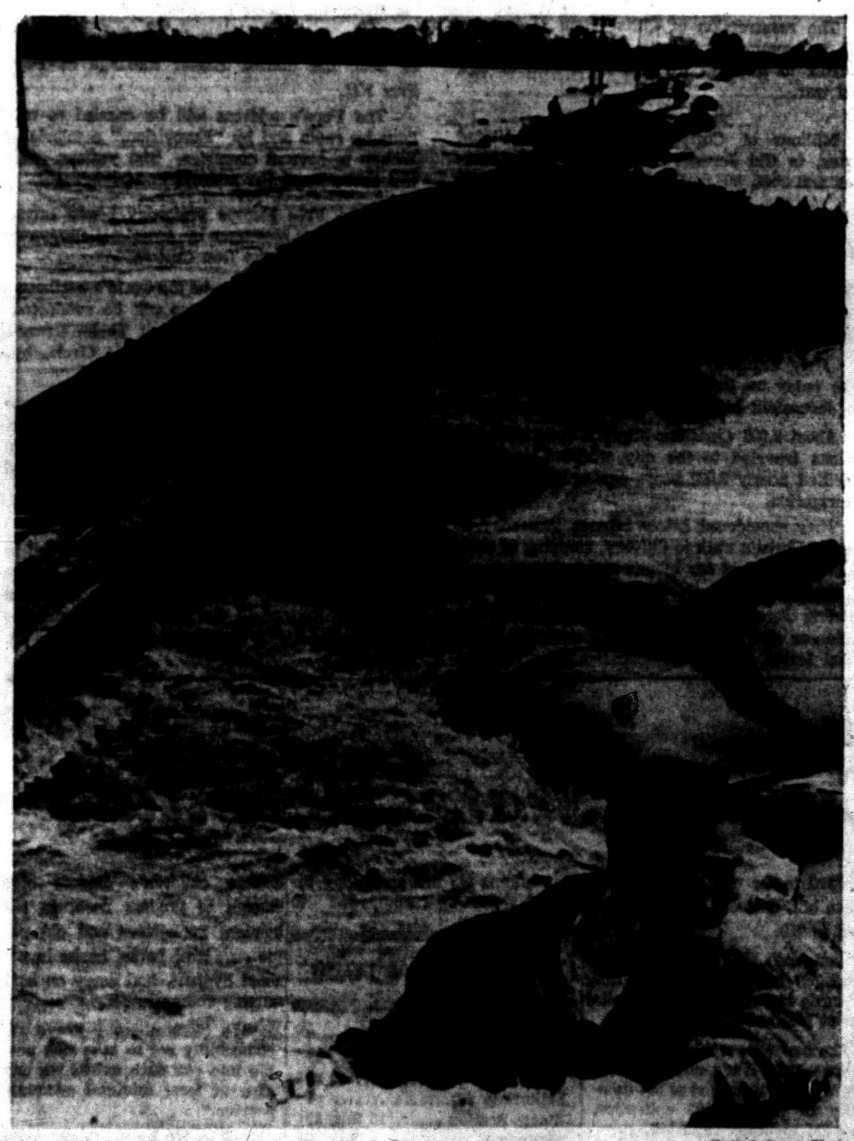
Snowplows cleared an escape route yesterday for more than 800 motorists and skiers marooned in the Sierra along U. S. 40 by the week's storms, but only about half of the marooned group decided to leave. The others, bolstered by fresh food supplies, decided to stick it out over the weekend.



TRAINS BEWARE — Southern Pacific Railroad trains are using alternate routes crossing the San Joaquin River as this bridge near Stockton, Calif. buckles from the current and debris passing beneath it. Only the rails are holding the bridge in place and it may have to be blasted away to relieve the congestion of debris. Lana's Girl Slays Underworld Figure

FALLS DEAD

Miss Turner telephoned her mother, Mrs. John Turner, and asked her to send a doctor. Cheryl telephoned her father.

Chief Anderson said:

"It seems that Stompanato had been unwelcome in the Turner home and resisted every effort of Miss Turner to discourage his attentions and to leave the house."

The five-times married actress has been seen in Hollywood night spots many times with Stompanato, but on their return from Acapulco she insisted there was nothing to reports of romance between them.

Cheryl came home from Happy Valley School at Ojai, Calif., Monday for Easter vacation.

Anderson said on Monday night Cheryl heard her mother and Stompanato in bitter argument. The next day, Anderson said, Cheryl asked for an explanation and her mother told her she was unhappy with Stompanato and afraid of him.

Anderson said that after Cheryl stabbed Stompanato her mother tried to stop his bleeding with a towel.

Reporters asked how Cheryl could stab the angry Stompanato without harm to herself.

ATTACK SURPRISE

"It was just a hell of a surprise to him," the police chief replied. "He was standing up at the time."

Anderson said that on one occasion Stompanato beat Miss Turner.

Their return from Acapulco was in time for Miss Turner to attend last week's Academy Award dinner at which Miss Turner was a nominee for an Oscar as best actress. Joanne Woodward won the honor.

Hollywood's famed attorney, Jerry Giesler, quickly joined Miss Turner, Cheryl and Crane at the police station.

"This is justifiable homicide," he said. "There, of course, can be no trial because of the girl's age. It will be handled by Juvenile Court."

But Cheryl was booked on suspicion of murder for the purpose of holding her overnight. A petition will be filed to determine whether the case will be handled by Juvenile Court or adult court, Anderson said.

After her daughter was taken away Miss Turner, still sobbing, and Giesler went in a chauffeur-driven limousine to her two-story colonial style home. Reporters were refused admittance.

Cheryl was in the news in 1956 when she ran away from an exclusive girl's school near Hollywood. Several days later she was found wandering on Los Angeles' skid row.

Her mother's life has been filled with glamor and romance. She has been married five times, twice to Crane. Her first husband was bandleader Artie Shaw. Her third husband was millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping. Her last marriage was to actor Lex Barker. They were divorced last July 22.

Stompanato, a dark-haired fashion plate, has been well known in Hollywood since 1948. He was an associate of Mickey Cohen, who used to be a big-time Los Angeles gambler. Stompanato's only actual brushes with the law were two arrests for vagrancy. He formerly was married to actress Helen Gilbert. Their marriage ended in divorce.

Little is known of Stompanato before his arrival in Hollywood except that he ran a string of night clubs in China after serving in the Marine Corps in World War II.

Cohen showed up at the police station and yelled:

"Who did it, who did it?"

Told that Stompanato had been slain by Miss Turner's daughter, Cohen said:

"I can't understand it. She and us (Cohen and Stompanato) used to go horseback riding together. She seemed to like Johnny very much."

Cohen said he understood Miss Turner and Stompanato "had a picture deal going."

He said he wanted to claim the body.

Smooth Talkers Bilk City Visitor of $3,000 in Cash

A Metamora man, on business in Pontiac, was fleeced of $3,000 in cash by two smooth-talking strangers last night.

L. M. Nave, 55, told Pontiac detectives the men struck up an acquaintance with him last night in the street in front of a bar at 18 N. Perry St., at 6:30 p.m.

They went into the bar and talked further. One of the men accused Nave of being shabbily dressed and Nave pulled out his wallet and showed them the money to prove that he was not "broke."

One of the strangers took the money to look at it and then wrapped it in a white handkerchief and placed it in Nave's shirt pocket.

The men left the bar shortly thereafter and when Nave opened the handkerchief to put the money back in his wallet, he found only two packs of cigarettes.

Nave told the police he borrowed the money from a Metamora bank and came to Pontiac to buy a truck.

VA Loans Freed of Down Payment

tion for special assistance programs.

Of that total, 250 million is for purchase of FHA-insured mortgages in slum clearance or urban renewal programs, 50 million is for purchase of FHA-insured mortgages on dwelling units for elderly persons and 25 million is for purchase of FHA-insured military housing mortgages.

These other actions carrying out provisions of the new housing act were announced:

1. The Federal Housing Administration has put into effect, beginning April 1, the lower down payments permitted. This means the required 3 per cent now applies to the first $13,500 of the mortgage, instead of to only the first $10,000. Higher rates apply above $13,500. FHA already has announced this provision applies to loan applications pending or in process, as well as to new ones.

2. Controls on fees, charges and discounts on mortgages which have been in effect since Aug. 5, 1957, have been eliminated by VA and FHA.

3. The VA has put into effect a new maximum interest rate of 4¾ per cent on its guaranteed home loans. The previous maximum was 4½ per cent.

4. FHA has set the maximum interest rate on FHA-insured military housing mortgages at 4½ per cent, up from 4 per cent. The new law permits as high as 4½ per cent.

Building Running 3 Pct. Over 1957

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Labor and Commerce Departments report that the value of new construction in the first quarter of 1958 was $9,742,000,000, a three per cent increase over the same period last year.

Meanwhile, the new $1,850,000,000 Housing Bill is expected to give the nation's economy a spurt, but officials differed on the number of dwellings that will be started this year.

Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole predicted that 180,000 new homes will be built and placed the overall total at 1,062,000, a gain of more than eight per cent over last year.

The National Assn. of Home Builders forecast an extra 100,000 homes. This is half the number foreseen by Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), sponsor of the bill.

Airmen Walk on Clouds as KP Flies Away

WASHINGTON (INS) — Enlisted men at Bolling Air Force Base won't have to worry about "dishpan hands" any more because KP duty is being abolished.

This means that airmen will no longer have to straggle out of bed for 3 a.m. duty, wrestling with milk cans and garbage pails, scraping plates, cleaning pots and pans and other hated kitchen police chores.

By the end of next week, civilian waiters and waitresses will be dishing up the chow for the enlisted men who can now turn their full attention to regular duty.

Authorizes New Bridge to U. S. 16 by Kent Lake

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has authorized a new highway bridge to reconnect U.S. 16 which was served near Kent Lake by the Brighton-Farmington Expressway.

The new expressway uses a bridge formerly part of U. S. 16, leaving the latter road cut off.

The bridge is over the Kent Lake outlet into the Huron River, north of New Hudson.

Scientists Searching for Place to Dump "Hot Ashes"

Lethal Problem of Radioactive Waste Nears Deadline

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
New Bedford Standard-Times
Written for The AP
Last in a Series

The "ashes" of the atomic age — radioactive waste materials which may remain "hot" and lethal for hundreds or thousands of years—will begin piling up soon.

Ocean scientists, well aware of the importance of their task and the rapidly approaching deadline demanding a solution, are working to find some safe place to dump the deadly discards.

A recent report of the National Academy of Sciences and the National Research Council concludes: "Unlike the disposal of any other type of waste, the hazard related to radioactive waste is so great that no element of doubt should be allowed to exist regarding safety.

"Stringent rules must be set up and a system of inspection and monitoring instituted. Safe disposal means that the waste shall not come in contact with any living thing."

BIOLOGISTS WARN

Biologists have warned that if atomic wastes get into the water, they might be absorbed by marine plants and ultimately find their way into food fish. The threat is all the more important in view of the anticipated rise in man's dependence on the sea to supplement the diet of a multiplying world population.

The wastes are radioactive by-products of nuclear reactors. They must be kept from living organisms until radioactivity disappears with the passage of time.

In the United States, where there's plenty of land, there are probably disposal areas ashore sufficient to take care of the nation's atomic waste for 20 years. The Soviet Union likewise has huge land areas, and might use the Black Sea, which would probably be safe enough.

DUMPED OFF COAST

It is possible that other nations could cast their radioactive waste in concrete and dump it into the ocean; this is now being done in New England, where small quantities from Boston are being tossed into the Gulf of Maine each week.

However, atomic plants are expected to operate on so narrow a profit margin that this might prove too expensive. And then, the problem will multiply as more nuclear reactors are being built.

Recently, a group of prominent oceanographers gathered at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution to establish a long-range, international planning group in this field.

Greater knowledge is required of the rate and character of the exchange ibetween the sea's deep and surface waters.

A radioactive agent called tritium—a form of hydrogen—is furnishing important preliminary clues.

ENTERS NORTH ATLANTIC

In 1954, atomic tests in the Pacific introduced artificially into the earth's atmosphere an amount of tritium equal to the quantity present before. Most of it eventually entered the North Atlantic.

Now oceanographers are watching the tritium, using it as a tracer device to learn about the North Atlantic's movements, including the rate at which ocean currents can "smooth out" this lump of radioactive waste by carrying it deeper, or to other waters. By monitoring the tritium, they are discovering how rapid will be its introduction to the South Atlantic.

Ocean scientists must find out at what rate this material will mix with sea water. For example, if something happened to an atom-powered ship — sinking or collision, in peace or war — what would happen if the accident spewed atomic wastes into the shipping lanes?

How much of an area would have to be "roped off" and for how long would it remain dangerous? And what would happen to the food fish in the area?

GUINEA PIG

Tritium, relatively harmless to man, is the guinea pig for the extremely dangerous strontium 90, an ingredient of H-bomb fallout. Sea waters at present have only a very low content of this latter, long-lived atomic product.

But if tritium helps ocean scientists to learn how the waters move, how fast they mingle, dilute, and transfer radioactive wastes, it means an important step forward in solving a crucial problem — and could save thousands, even millions, of lives someday.

Head-on Crash Kills 4 Texas Teenagers

State Highway Patrolman Jack Christian said two racing northbound autos passed a line of traffic on the wrong side of the road and one smashed headon into a third vehicle. He said the other car, leading in the race, got back safely to its side of the road.

The crash, about 25 miles northeast of Dallas also injured three youths.

The dead were listed as Arthur Mulkey, 19, Ray Allison, 19, and Matricia Tanner, 18, all of Dallas, and James Bailey, 19, of Garland.

The officer said Bailey and Mulkey were in the racing auto.

Joins Communities Across Nation in Celebration

City Marks Boys' Club Week

Pontiac will join hundreds of other communities across the country beginning Monday in the celebration of National Boys' Club Week (April 7-13).

The event is designed primarily to focus the nation's attention upon the boy guidance organizations of each city.

These clubs boast over 50 years of service to their members and communities.

"From the beginning in 1906 when there were only 53 clubs in the nation," said Michael L. Fiorillo, executive director of Boys' Club of Pontiac, Inc., "the organization has helped to prevent juvenile delinquency by promoting juvenile decency."

He added that "now with more than 500 member clubs and 600,000 members, the goal — keeping good boys good — remains the same."

The week will be highlighted by several special events which will take place at the United Fund supported Pontiac Boys' Club, 530 E. Pike St.

Celebrations will get off to a flying start Monday night with a father and son banquet. Fordy Anderson, Michigan State University basketball coach, will be the guest speaker and plans have been made to have representatives of the Detroit Pistons and golf pro Jack Fleck on hand.

Tuesday, a pet show at the club will be judged by members of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club, who will present awards to boys with winning entries.

Wednesday's big boxing and wrestling exhibition is expected to be a high spot of the week.

Featured guests will be Chuck Davey, Gene Linscott, and Chuck Speiser. A competitive weight lifting exhibition will follow.

Thursday will see the crowning of Miss Boys' Club of 1958. Friday is cartoon and movie day at the club, with shows starting at 6:30 p.m.

The week of special events will close Saturday with a gigantic carnival. The public has been invited to attend.

It Seems to Me...

Inter-American Press Group Waging 'Good-Will Campaign'

I just spent five days in Montego Bay, in Jamaica, at a meeting of the Directors of the Inter American Press Association.

It was a challenging meeting.

The group was inspiring.

International tension is apparent all over the globe, and the newspapers of North, South and Central America are waging an intensive campaign of good-will in the Western Hemisphere. Furthermore, we seek to drive out censorship, for many nations in our own global sphere have dictatorships which clamp the iron fist of suppression over the newspapers of their countries.

Obviously we can't raise armies and purchase B-58's to fight our cause, but the dictators would be a lot happier and a lot more secure if we "piped down." It's definitely damaging to their cause when we fight against censorship without letdown and without cessation.

They can't stand publicity.

They don't like our activity.

Remember, you can never reconcile free newspapers and an autocracy. Forever, the newspaper must tell what the ruling powers are doing. This is the greatest safeguard the people have.

At times, our profession even gets in the hair of harassed public officials in wide open democracies, especially when we make annoying disclosures of "well hidden facts." But we're necessary for liberty. We represent "the right of the people to know." This privilege isn't sacred to newspapers. Rather, it's the prized possession of the populace.

Also, this organization seeks to spread brotherhood and an understanding among all of the peoples of the Americas. It's infinitely harder to dislike someone you know pretty well. Hence, a wide circle of friendships between continents promotes an appreciation of each other, each other's nations and each other's problems.

I was very favorably impressed with our Latin American colleagues. All North Americans can be very proud of these cultured, well educated gentlemen who are motivated by the highest principles. Europeans and Asiatics have squabbled interminably among themselves for centuries. We are cultivating peace, mutual trust and freedom in our own hemisphere.

The I.A.P.A. is financing scholarships between the two continents. We give a dozen boys and girls graduating from college $2,500 for a year's education. A Latin American gets a full year anywhere in the United States, while the U. S. students go south. The recipients must be able to converse in the reverse language.

JAMES CANEL, our secretary, speaks Spanish and English fluently and in the meetings he acts as interpreter. It's an interesting and provocative organization.

Extra-Curricular Notes From Montego Bay

I saw Althea Gibson play in the Bahama tennis championships. She's a powerful girl with a flowing grace that's beautiful to behold. When she strokes a tennis ball, it stays stroked. Her service is a big, booming power house that catapults across the net like a flash of white lightning.

Althea played a Mexican girl named Martha Hernandez and Martha fought bravely to lose 6-3, 6-4. I met Martha later and congratulated her on her fine showing against the greatest feminine tennis player of this era. And one word about Martha: she'll never have to worry over dates.

ANDREW HEISKELL, publisher of Life magazine, is one of the I.A.P.A. board and he loves this deep sea diving, complete with oxygen tanks and flippers. They tell me he's terrific, but I didn't venture down to see.

Roger Ferger, publisher of the Cincinnati Inquirer, one of the best known newspapers in the United States, agreed that our two states furnished the top pair of U. S. Senators during the past several decades: namely, Taft and Vandenberg. The entire nation can cheer them.

I had several informal conferences with ALBERTO GAINZA PAZ, the great South American newspaper publisher from Buenos Aires. It was his newspaper, La Prensa, that PERON seized and held for years because this distinguished Argentine citizen refused to bow before PERON's edicts. He's a great force for good in this hemisphere.

The temperature in Montego Bay ranged from a maximum of 84 to a minimum of 72 during the six days. Probably the climate there is about as equitable with as little variation as any place in the world.

The Batista situation provoked considerable talk. The year our organization met in Cuba, James G. Stahlman was president and Batista insisted on providing him with a personal bodyguard. A few personal dignitaries were shot while we were there but the distinguished Nashville publisher would have been a tough man to snatch or attack.

We can bow to our southern brothers in the matter of language. It seems to me that many more of them speak English (and remarkably good English) than we do Spanish. Citizens of the United States are a trifle too complacent with their own language. Most other countries encourage students to master another tongue. President JOHN T. O'ROURKE, of Washington did close the last meeting with a brave and cautious paragraph in Spanish that elicited a round of applause from everyone.

Most of the British West Indies has had a big winter. The Montego Bay hotel filled up to capacity the first week in November and ran 100 per cent right through March. Jamaica is six hundred miles south of Florida and you're too near the equator to be bothered by arctic blasts from the north. The water is always warm and the nights are comfortably cool.

And just before I sign off until next Saturday, may I timidly observe that many of those Latin American girls and women are very pleasant to behold.

Days of All Faiths

Some Call Easter Pagan Festival

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Easter, the great festival commemorating the resurrection of Jesus, is mentioned only once in the New Testament, and that one reference is so casual that we learn nothing from it.

Acts 12:4 states that Herod intended to bring St. Peter out of prison after Easter and turn him over to the people. It tells us nothing about the observance of any festival, and indeed it is most unlikely that there was any such observance at this time. The word here translated "Easter" would better have been translated "Passover." The passage is only saying that Herod was waiting until after the Jewish Passover before dealing with his prisoner.

Occasionally we receive booklet and tracts condemning the celebration of Easter on the ground that it is a pagan festival. One can see how it might seem so, superficially, for the whole occasion is still filled with customs and symbols carried over from the ancient heathen spring rites.

The rabbit, for example, has always meant fertility, and the egg has always meant rebirth. The egg, however, is particularly adaptable to the Resurrection theme, with its vital principal that has lain dormant, seemingly extinct, and yet finally rises out of its tomb.

Pagan, too, are the superstitions about the need to wear new clothes on Easter, and about the sun dancing as it rises today. And certainly the name Easter itself is pagan, having been originally the name of the Teutonic goddess of spring.

But, with all its heathen outer trappings, Easter is nevertheless the greatest of all Christian festivals, the memorial of the greatest of all Christian facts.

OBSCURE FACTS

Here are some little - known items about Easter:

It is good luck if on first looking out your window this morning you should see a lamb. And if the lamb is at the same time looking at you — well, that means special good luck.

In the Middle Ages people used to look at the sun through smoked glasses on Easter morning, in the hope of seeing at the sun's center the lamb and flag, one of the symbols of Christ.

Rain on Easter means good grass but poor hay.

Easter can fall on any Sunday from March 22 to April 25, but it seldom falls on either of these outside dates. For example, the last time it was on March 22 was in 1818 and it will not come on that date again until 2285.

In mediaeval times it was thought that everyone should smile on Easter Day — the "risus called. To be sure their parish-Paschalis" (Easter smile) it was leaders complied with this requirment, priests used to tell funny stories from the pulpit and the service became more like a vaudeville show than a solemn commemoration of the Lord's victory over death. Naturally, Church authorities finally put a stop to the custom.

One Roman emperor, Valentinian, threw open all prison doors on Easter morning, thus granting a general pardon to everyone who happened to be in jail at the time.

There are said to be still places in England where a man may lift off her feet any woman he meets on Easter. If he can lift her three times he may demand from her the forfeit of either a kiss or a sixpence.

Answer — You mean your sister carps about it? Assure her my intentions are honorable.

"Having low blood count trouble. Please put in paper the foods that will bring up blood count. (E. L. R.)"

Answer — Odd way to say anemia. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35c for booklet Blood and Health.

"We have been using your Fool Proof Cough Medicine for several years and we think it's the best cough medicine we ever used. . . (Mrs. K. C.)"

Answer — Thank you. Instruction for preparing and using the medicine are given in booklet Call it CRI, for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Can a person drink too much water? I'm 65, drink 8 glasses a day in addition to liquids such as coffee and milk with meals. I thought it good for digestion and carrying off poisons by flushing kidneys and promoting bowel action . . . (D. E.)"

Answer — That's not too much, if you don't mind drinking so much water. If it takes that much (half gallon) or more to quench thirst, you had better consult your physician — you may have diabetes.

"I had coronary thrombosis a year ago and was in oxygen tent 30 hours, in hospital 16 days. Since have had to walk slowly — if I walk too fast I get tight in chest and have to take a nitroglycerin tablet . . . (H. S.)"

Answer — In your place I'd take a nitroglycerin tablet several times a day — not wait for distress to demand it. Ask your doctor about this. Send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet C V D, about heart and artery troubles.

"Teenage daughter has a miserable time the first two days of her menstrual period . . . (Mrs. E. S. M.)"

Answer — Painful cramps? With rare exceptions it means the girl's education has been sadly neglected — her physical education, which too many parents, themselves poorly educated, actually encourage or help the girl to evade. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women. For a normal young woman, menstruation is a function, not an illness or a "curse." The late great Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, for many years medical adviser to women in Stanford University, proved that proper physical education even at university age, relieves and cures many menstrual difficulties.

I love children, even though I can think of some that make me pull the drapes and hide when their mommies bring them to visit. But some of these opponents of birth control should remember the story of the bride who didn't believe in it, and besides, she and her husband wanted 10 children. At the age of 30 after having 10 children and with many more productive years ahead, when asked about planned families, said, as I do, "Birth control? Who needs it? Me!"

'We Need More Women Doctors'

Today 75 per cent of Russian doctors are women. That's exactly what we need in America.

We need two or three times as many doctors as we have now so we mothers with our babies and little children won't have to sit for hours and hours in offices "waiting our turn."

The supply is wholly insufficient and the addition of many thousand women doctors would be a blessing from heaven. Women would be much better handling all cases involving babies and young children, anyway.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tells of Widespread Petty Thefts

Notice the "butter thief" mentioned below. Then multiply this case by at least 1,000,000 and you can realize why retail merchants have a hard time making even a modest profit. When thousands of school teachers cheat on their own graduate course exams, what can we expect? "If the blind lead the blind, they both fall into the pit," says the Bible.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-372: Bob H., aged 50, is a neighbor of mine here in Chicago.

"Dr. Crane, yesterday I was shopping at the big super market," he began, "and saw one reason why stores fail to make their proper profit.

"For an attractive looking woman ahead of me deftly opened her big purse and dropped two sticks of butter therein.

DR. CRANE "She thus got away with a half pound of butter, for when she checked out at the cashier's counter, she simply let her other packages be rung up on the cash register, but said nothing about the butter in her purse.

"I suppose this sort of petty thievery goes on widely, don't you think?"

CHEATING AMERICANS

Yes, it is shocking how many supposedly respectable Americans have logic - tight compartments within their consciences.

They may be very honorable in many respects, yet violate other laws without any sense of shame.

And I am not referring to pathological thieves like the kleptomaniac.

When my father was a grocer at Ft. Wayne, Indiana, the wife of one of the leading judges would come into the store.

She would furtively hide small cans of costly imported items in the various pockets of her coat or slip them into her purse.

The clerks knew about her case, so they simply watched her like a hawk and then billed her husband for the stolen goods.

He was aware of the situation and had asked them simply to charge the pilfered cans to his account and he would gladly pay the bill.

But literally millions of Americans who are not kleptomaniacs, still take merchandise from grocery stores, drug stores and the counters of department stores.

These people are adults and often well educated. They are even members of churches and in good standing in the PTA, as well as other civic organizations.

AS TWIG IS BENT

Their thievery often starts in the schools where they are allowed to cheat on examinations by the sins of omission of teachers who ignore the pupils during exams.

I have even had teachers argue with me that cheating students should not be reprimanded lest it injure the developing personality of said crooks.

Earlier this week I showed that experiments even at the university level, proved that over 20 per cent of college students deliberately cheated when put on the so-called "honor" system.

We need to realize the vital necessity of teaching every child a strict moral code so that he will be his own policeman thereafter.

We cannot legislate morality nor hire enough policemen to force people into lawful behavior.

For when morality is only maintained by a policeman, the people feel free to rob and steal whenever that policeman is not on duty.

Instead, we must implant an inexorable conscience in every child's brain so that he will then have his own enforcement officer with him at all times.

This requires specific "case method" treatment of moral problems both in public schools as well as Sunday schools.

And ALL children should be in Sunday schools, the Scouts, Camp Fire Girls groups and other moral agencies.

Parents, too, must set a POSITIVE example regarding moral behavior and quit boasting of their own deceit. They can't tell white lies or serve liquor at home and expect their youngsters to honor the truth or be sober auto drivers.

"Character," said Dwight L. Moody, "is what you are in the dark."

I inserted that comment as one of the 200 moral gems at the bottom of one of the pages of my college textbook "Psychology Applied."

The churches thus are the greatest hope for teaching children to be honest and unselfish. So support your churches as the best protectors of our Republic, for governments decay when their citizens are rotten.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Koreans Given Historic School

70-Year-Old Chai High for Boys Donated by Methodist Missions

In line with long-standing policy, the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church has turned over to its Korean board of trustees the legal title and all properties of the 70-year-old Pai Chai Boys' High School in Seoul.

In so doing, the board was praised in a public ceremony by South Korean President Syngman Rhee, a Pai Chai alumnus. The president also urged that the school be raised to university status.

The transfer of Pai Chai's land and five buildings, estimated by board authorities to be worth about $300,000, is in accordance with a Methodist missionary policy of many years—to turn over to duly authorized national Christian bodies overseas schools and other church-related board holdings at a mutually agreed-upon time.

Pai Chai developed from the first educational work done in Seoul in 1885 by Dr. Appenzeller and now has an enrollment of 2,500 boys.

Evacuated to Pusan in 1950, the school reopened one section in Seoul in 1952, while continuing to operate the other in Pusan.

The buildings were occupied by the Korean army but were returned, and since 1953 the activities of the school have been centered in Seoul. At present there are four classroom buildings and a chapel.

Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

How to Explain?

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Southern Baptist missionary, the Rev. W. O. Harper, back from Africa, told a seminary conference here: "It is embarrassing when we have to tell our Nigerian youth who plan to visit America that they will not be welcome in the churches that send missionaries to them."

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits.

I know that my redeemer lives.
What comfort this sweet sentence gives
He lives, He lives, who once was dead,
He lives my everliving head.
He lives triumphant from the grave.
He lives eternally to save,
He lives all-glorious in the sky!
He lives exalted there on high
He lives to bless me with His love,
He lives to plead for me above
He lives my hungry soul to feed,
He lives to help in time of need.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for He is risen, as he said, Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

Surrounded by six of his women designers is Harley J. Earl, dean of automotive stylists and General Motors vice president in charge of styling. They are the designers responsible for the novel spring fashion festival of women-designed cars which goes on display Sunday in the GM Building, Detroit. All graduate designers, the girls are (left to right) Sue Vanderbilt, Ruth Glennie, Marjorie Ford, Sandra Longyear, Jeanette Linder and Peggy Sauer. Note the clay models (in the foreground) of future car ideas.

Here's the special picnic compartment Sandra Longyear (above) designed into her starfire blue Pontiac "Polaris" Bonneville convertible. It includes a matching colored thermos and has an all-aluminum roll top. Sides of the compartment are covered with smooth black leather as are the seats which also have a woven fabric with stripes of blue, aqua and jet black.

Autos to Please Fair Sex Go on Display Sunday

GM's 'Damsels of Design' Make Sure New Cars Have All Comforts of Home

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

Ten automobiles specially tailored to feminine tastes by women designers of General Motors styling have the automobile industry taking a good look at the importance of the fair sex in this once "for men only" field.

These automobiles will be on display Sunday through April 20 in the main exhibit hall of the General Motors Building, Detroit, week days 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 1:30 until 10 p.m.

They are automobiles with special features dreamed up by the "damsels of design," a name given to the feminine invaders of the styling field by Harley J. Earl, vice president in charge of the GM styling staff, who hired the first woman designer in 1943.

Mr. Earl, recognized dean of automotive designers, said in a recent interview, that he was pleased these graduate designers could be persuaded to turn their talents to automobiles. They were instrumental in developing the six-way power seat, in creating more tasteful color combinations and in securing better placement of windshield wipers, knobs and other controls, he pointed out.

JUST REMEMBER

If you'll remember when a car was designed only to get you where you had to go, without any of the comforts of today's cars, then you'll appreciate even more the added comforts these women stylists have come up with.

Take for instance the idea Sandra Longyear had for her starfire blue Pontiac Bonneville convertible, "Polaris." Between the seats there's an all-aluminum roll top container for the picnic you plan or for those football games. Inside is a matching colored thermos and plenty of room for containers of food.

Also there are large pockets on the back of the seats to hold maps, papers and other items securely.

All one-color exterior, the interior combines two types of black leather. One type is satin-smooth, the other pebble-rough. Accents are of deep blue fabric, and a lustrous black carpet covers the floor and door kick panels.

'SPORTABLE' RADIO

There's a "sportable" radio located in the dashboard that can be lifted out and taken along as a portable radio for the picnic.

In the "Bordeaux," a 1958 Pontiac Star Chief four-door hardtop, Miss Longyear offers a smart all-purpose car with the parcel-carrying convenience of a station wagon by using special straps in the trunk to hold groceries upright. That not-so-attractive spare tire is hidden by a covering of fabric matching the car's heather green interior.

Special features of the Chevrolet Corvette by Ruth Glennie include the newly designed seat belts which are retractable and self-adjusting, the specially contoured seats with built-up sides and pinched waist, and the snap-on vinyl and cloth covering for the spare tire and the underside of the trunk lid.

Peggy Sauer planned the Oldsmobile Super 88 station wagon with the safety of the family in mind. Doors and windows are released from the instrument panel only. The interior is designed for rugged use, with doors covered in vinyl and the kick strip of linoleum.

BLAZING ORANGE

"Tampico" is the name of the Buick Special convertible. The interior is done in blazing orange leather and the exterior color is alabaster with blazing orange on the rear-quarter panel.

Marjorie Ford designed the interior of this car, along with the Buick four-door hardtop "Shalimar." Special feminine features of this car include a long-handled umbrella, cosmetic case and space for complete makeup needs in the front seat armrest, and a lap robe.

Sue Vanderbilt placed a dictaphone that records one hour of dictation in the center of the armrest in her Cadillac convertible. This could be used for a running commentary on a trip. Large pockets for gloves and other items are on the back of the front seats, and there is an umbrella in the right door armrest and a fully carpeted trunk.

Black mouton carpets the floor of "The Baroness" — the Cadillac Eldorado Seville two-door hardtop. The folding center armrest has telephone, notepad and pen, and a lap robe has its matching pillow for special luxury.

WOMEN'S INFLUENCE

At a recent press preview at the GM Technical Center, we were able to ask Mr. Earl about these cars and the woman's influence in color and design. Mr. Earl explained that women have great influence — in fact, he said, "The two-tone paint is being taken out because of the ladies."

S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division and a vice president of the corporation, agreed with Mr. Earl, saying:

"We at Pontiac are quick to recognize the importance of the woman's influence in the American family's selection of a new car. Many of her preferences as to colors, fabrics, exterior and interior styling, automatic controls, safety features and greater all-around comfort are already incorporated in today's 1958 Pontiac automobiles.

"With suburban living resulting in an ever-increasing amount of two-car families, and with government statistics showing that women now comprise one-third of the nation's work force, we will continue to cast more than just a casual eye toward the woman as a car customer in her own right.

"Thus we welcome the initiative of the General Motors "damsels of design," realizing that their labors today may mean a larger segment of the market for us tomorrow."

So, the real good news, gals, is that the styling staff is designing cars for YOU.

If you think today's cars are too long, too short, have too much chrome or not enough chrome, are too high or too low, then by all means write to the styling center — they want to hear from you. YOU are going to play an important role in the future GM car!

Dear Abby....

And Avoid Death Valley, Too

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have asked my girl to marry me and she said yes. Our problem is that she is very superstitious and does not want to be married in Tombstone, Ariz.

ABBY

She says she does not want that name on her marriage certificate. I know it is silly, but what can I do about it?

FROM TOMBSTONE

DEAR FROM: Take her to Phoenix to get married . . . but for heaven's sake, if she's superstitious, don't take her to Death Valley for a honeymoon.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old and a junior in college. I have a pretty face (people tell me) but I have trouble getting dates because I have prematurely gray hair.

When I am out with a boy I feel that people think he is out with his mother. Some friends tell me to dye my hair and others say leave it alone. I would like your advice.

GRAYGIRL

DEAR GRAY: Most people like "natural" hair . . . but if YOU think your gray hair is a handicap, why not dye it? If you don't like the results, it's not forever, you know.

DEAR ABBY: The other day I read your column and a cat owner said she owned a "thoroughbred Siamese cat."

"Abby, I am sorry to say but my father says there is no such thing as a thoroughbred cat and he is a vet and he ought to know. It is just like saying a Holstein horse. A thoroughbred is a breed of horse. Thank you.

VET'S DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: I have nine children and work very hard raising them with no hot water in the house. I chop my own wood and can all my own vegetables and fruits and also run some of the seasonal farm equipment.

We have 200 layers and four milkers which I care for. I have fed as many as 14 farm hands at once. My problem is that my husband will go out and stay all night. He says no other woman could take my place. Should I believe him?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: He could never find another woman GOOD enough to take your place. Believe him!

DEAR ABBY: We have a canasta club and this one woman appoints herself to keep score and count the cards after every deal. We don't like to say anything to her because once something was mentioned and if dirty looks could kill, we all would have dropped dead.

How can we get this lady out of the position she is now in without breaking up the club? It's no fun anymore.

CANASTA PLAYERS

DEAR PLAYERS: If the club is no fun anymore, maybe you ought to break it up and form one that is. You will all be pushed around as long as you permit it.

May She Let Beau Buy Gas?

By EMIY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I own my own car and when I have a date with a young man who doesn't have a car, I always take mine because of the convenience. Sometimes it is necessary to stop at the garage for gasoline before starting out. When this happens, would it be improper to allow him to pay for the gasoline, or must I pay for this myself?"

Answer: You must pay for it yourself; in fact, you should keep the tank of your car full so as not to embarrass the young man by buying gasoline in his presence.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Not long ago a friend of mine invited me to spend the weekend at her house. Before showing me to my room, we sat downstairs and talked awhile.

"When I went upstairs to my room, I discovered my luggage was unpacked and everything put away. This surprised me as I think permission should have been asked by the maid before going through my luggage. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: In my opinion, she was a well-trained maid who did exactly what was expected of her. A guest who does not like this service should have an unopenable lock on her (or his) luggage and then when asked by the maid for the keys, explain that she (or he) prefers to unpack for herself (or himself).

"Dear Mrs. Post: When my parents died they left their possessions to my brother and me. Both of us had married. Now he has died. Don't you think his wife should offer these family things to me?"

Answer: Unless your brother had stipulated otherwise in his will, these possessions are legally hers. She might perhaps be willing to give you some one thing which you cared about very much because it belonged to your parents, but it is hardly fair to expect her to give up things which are associated with all of her married life.

'Springtime Is Symbol Justifying Our Faith'

Mrs. Clayton Rule Addresses 200 at First Congregational Breakfast

"Good Friday points up the need for stillness in the world today, stillness that brings healing for strain and tension. Christ's rising from the dead burst the bond of superstition and fear and gave the promise of eternal life to everyone."

Fight Wrinkles With Massage

Cherish a lovely, youthful complexion by massaging thoroughly with your creams.

When you apply your night cream, smooth a small additional amount of the cream over areas where lines are apt to form; around the mouth, at the sides of the eyes, and over the forehead.

MASSAGE SKIN

Then, with the fingertips or a soft silk sponge that has been dampened in water and squeezed dry, gently massage the skin with a circular motion at these trouble spots, and the lines will seem less apparent.

Also guard against grimaces and frowns that are line-producing, and your skin will retain the look of smooth beauty.

Care for Yourself as You Work

Housewives Have Time for Beauty

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women who do their own work, and especially those who have young children, may feel that they do not have time to spend on beauty care.

However, this is far from true. They, of all women, have the best opportunity since they are in their homes most of each day and can work beauty care in along with their housework.

Many women who work outside the home would give a lot for the opportunity for skin care which the woman in the home has. Dry skin is an almost universal problem sooner or later in a woman's life.

The complexion dries as one grows older. This naturally leads to lines. So long as the face and neck are well oiled, lines are slower to appear.

Why not cleanse your face and apply a lubricating cream as soon as your husband leaves in the morning? Leave this on all morning. You can do your work just as efficiently with it on. You may give the laundry man and a few salesmen a shock but they will live through it. The woman in the home has a superb opportunity for skin lubrication!

REST PERIODS

Of course she also has a chance for short rest periods. I know what you are thinking. "When do I have time to lie down?" If you will just take time for two or three 10 or 15-minute rest periods during the day, you will find that you accomplish just as much or more and certainly arrive at the end of the day with less fatigue. It is a question of your attitude. Take the time!

I used to entertain my young children by doing my exercises. It simply made them wild watching me and of course they tried to do the same things. If fact this became a highlight in their day.

It seemed to them to be our playtime and it certainly improved my figure. The only problem was that they nagged me all morning with the question, "Mother, when are you going to do your exercises?"

While the homemaker's duties are myriad and unending, she CAN carry out a health and beauty routine if she really is interested in doing so.

Governor Signs Thirteen Bills

Amendment Made to Commercial Forest Act After 33 Years

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams yesterday put his signature on 13 bills, including one amending the Commercial Forest Reserve Act for the first time in 33 years.

Designed chiefly to benefit northern Michigan counties, the bill increases the specific tax of five cents an acre paid by the owners of commercial forest land to a graduated amount ranging from five to 10 cents. The amount is determined by the millage rate of the township in which the property is situated.

Local governments in the state's forested areas, including school districts, will benefit from the higher tax yields.

The bill was the product of an interim legislative study and an agreement between state and local government officials and timbermen on adjusting the rates upwards.

In addition to raising revenue yields, the bill would provide a new basis for distribution among townships, counties and school districts.

Some of the bills enacted:

Increase the amount a candidate seeking nomination for political office may spend from $20 to $40 per 1,000 votes cast for governor in his district at the last presidential election.

Prohibit motorists from hanging suspended objects in their cars if they in any way obstruct vision.

Authorize city and county clerks on their own initiative to check nominating petitions for forgers and unregistered signers or circulators.

Raise from two to four dollars the service fee for justices of the peace in cases involving damage to livestock or poultry by dogs. Mileage rates were increased from five to 10 cents.

Authorize a county welfare department to operate a children's emergency receiving facility.

Require a driver who knows or has reason to believe he has been involved in an accident to stop and make a report.

Permit township attorneys to countersign certificates of jurors and witnesses.

In Spite of Glamor and Fame

Lana's Life Marred by Tragedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Glamor and fame have been the prizes of Lana Turner's professional career.

But tragedy and domestic unhappiness have marked her personal life.

When Johnny Stompanato was slain in her home Friday night it was not the first time death had struck close to her. In 1930, when she was 10 years old, Lana's father John Turner was killed by robbers in San Francisco.

Lana married five times. Each marriage ended in divorce.

Her daughter Cheryl, 14, has been booked on suspicion of murder in the Stompanato slaying and is in the custody of juvenile authorities.

In 1956 Cheryl ran away from an exclusive girls' school and showed up hours later wandering alone in a Los Angeles slum area. The girl told police she was tired of school.

The beautiful blonde Lana—who was known as The Sweater Girl in the late 1930s and early 1940s—was born Julia Jean Mildred Frances Turner on Feb. 8, 1920, in Wallace, Idaho.

Her father was a roving man, and the family moved all over the West until he was cut down by bullets on Dec. 15, 1930. Her mother, a beauty operator, finally brought Lana to Hollywood.

CLASSIC DISCOVERY

Miss Turner's discovery by the movies is a classic one—one that still lures young girls to Hollywood.

She was sitting in a drug store when Billy Wilkerson, publisher of a Hollywood trade paper, saw her, liked her good looks and her well-filled sweater.

Wilkerson turned the 15-year-old girl over to agent Zeppo Marx, one of the Marx Brothers. The rest is history.

Under her new name—given to her by director Mervyn LeRoy—Lana Turner became a household name, depicting glamor and sex.

At 19 she married band leader Artie Shaw. Divorce ended the marriage several months later. Shaw was too austere and sophisticated for the young actress.

More pictures came. She liked night life and took up where she left off before marrying Shaw.

In 1943 she eloped to Las Vegas with a young stock broker, Stephen Crane. Cheryl is the child of this marriage. But Lana had the union annulled when she learned Crane's divorce from his previous wife was not final. Because she was expecting, Lana remarried him. After Cheryl was born they were divorced.

SEX SYMBOL

Determined to become a real actress and not just a sex symbol, Lana plunged into her work. Her performances in "The Postman Always Rings Twice," "Marriage Is a Private Affair," "Green Dolphin Street" and "Cass Timberlane" drew good notices, but it wasn't until last year's "Peyton Place" that she won an Academy Award nomination for best actress. Joanne Woodward won the Oscar however.

Her next marriage was to the tin fortune heir and sportsmen, Henry J. (Bob) Topping. They were divorced in 1952 after four years of marriage.

In 1953 she married screen Tarzan Lex Barker in Turin, Italy. And for a while it appeared that the marriage would succeed.

It didn't. They were divorced last July.

Stompanato was her most recent romantic interest. But this association likewise brought her unhappiness and—Friday night—tragedy.

Shortage of Beer Threatens Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A beer shortage threatened the Detroit area today as a strike of 5,000 workers against five breweries entered its fourth day without indication of settlement.

Dealers yesterday reported a run on both bottle and keg supplies. Retail stores estimated there was enough beer on hand to meet normal demands through Tuesday. Taverns reported sufficient beer on hand to last through Sunday.

Representatives of the five breweries, Stroh, E&B, National, Pfeiffer and Goebel, and locals 3 and 38 of the Brewery Workers Union, and local 181 of the Bottlers have made no attempts to resume negotiations.

For Upturn in Retail Sales

Auto Firms Watch Closely

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry now is at the point where it should feel the efects of a spring upturn in retail demand—if there is to be such an upturn this year.

Retail deliveries during this year's January - March quarter were disappointing. Sales moved up and then suddenly dropped off. Some industry spokesmen attributed the decline to the mid-March blizzards in the East, the industry's major market area.

INVENTORIES MOUNT

The industry has seen inventories mount from 449,000 units on Nov. 1, the start of the 1958 model year, to 869,000 on March 1 of this year. If there has been any further accumulation of unsold new cars at the dealer level the increase has not been of major size.

The manufacturers are trying to avoid another pile-up like the record total of 904,000 units on March 1, 1956.

The slowing down of inventory accumulation, of course, results from the drastic output cuts made so far during the model year. The extent of the production slash is emphasized in the monthly production figures so far.

In November, first full month of the 1958 model year, the industry built 578,601 cars; December brought 543,698; January 489,357; February 393,039 and March 362,177. Thus the decline has been constant since the industry introduced its current models.

April output may not match that of last month, even if a spring boom should develop. Inventories have been leveled off, but they still are too high. They represent a stock greater than the retailers need for two months' business.

A month's supply generally has been considered normal.

Figures on retail sales for this year's January-March quarter have not yet been tabulated. However, they are certain to be substantially below the 1,448,962 unit deliveries made in the first quarter of 1957.

Sales in last year's April-June quarter numbered about 1,622,000; in July-September 1,530,000 and in the final quarter 1,381,195 units. The figures for the final quarter includes about 464,000 deliveries in October. That was the period in which extra efforts were being made to liquidate outgoing models.

VIEWS DIFFER

Different sources have interpreted the figures differently. Some have said the decline in new car demand began in midyear. Yet the figures show the sales total during the second half of 1957 was only slightly below that of the January-June period.

The figures for the final quarter have been interpreted as showing that the pressure to liquidate outgoing models cut into the market for the incoming 1958 cars. But they also show that new models—on which the industry reportedly spent 1½ billion dollars—did not win the reaction the car makers hoped for.

The new cars did carry higher price tags and this undoubtedly was a factor in the slower sales tempo that greeted the new models. But such sales resistance usually is short-lived. It usually is overcome not so much by sales talk as by the styling and handling appeal of the newer cars.

The 1958 model cars have both these qualities, but they still are not being bought in the volume that will make 1958 another six million unit year.

Officers Complete Driver Education

Police officers from Pontiac and Birmingham are among 18 from Michigan who today completed a one-week course in driver instruction at Michigan State University.

Sgt. Lawrence LeBair, from Pontiac, and Delyle Service of Birmingham, attended the course designed to train them in driving methods and techniques they can teach police personnel.

Pontiac Girl Wins Pony in Local Easter Contest

Winner of the grand prize in a Easter coloring contest held by the Miracle Mile Shopping Center Businessmen's Assn. yesterday was Earlene Pleasant, 10, of 319 N. Saginaw St.

She received a Shetland pony, with saddle and bridle. Second and third prizes of bicycles went to Joan Thompson, 10, of 2320 Oaknoll St., and Danny Wall, 9, of 1511 Rotsel St. Fifteen other prizes were awarded.

Veterinarians Issuing Dog Licenses in Area

Dog owners who have not as yet secured 1958 dog licenses can do so from any veterinarian in the county, who will also vaccinate the dog for rabies, a spokesman for the Oakland County Veterinary Medical Assn. announced.

The spokesman warned that owners will have to pay double the price for licenses as the March 1 deadline has passed. This is $4 for females and $2 for males.

Peter, Mary Say Goodby to Their Rusticating Days

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes have thrust their rusticating behind them.

As Peter says, they used to have it made — when they weren't pinch-hitting for Arthur Godfrey, they'd sit up in New Rochelle and do a nice nothing.

But then two things happened. First, they were offered a Broadway play, something they'd been wanting to do for years.

"Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" is the rather lengthy name hereinafter referred to as WWTLISYW. Anyhow, WWTLISYW is a comedy by Norman Krasna which recently opened on Broadway.

Then they signed to do a daily 10-minute radio show for CBS, called "Peter and Mary." This is fairly simple — unrehearsed, unless there's music, and completely spontaneous. They do it from their home.

LIFE AS USUAL

"If the dog barks," says Peter, "he barks. If the phone rings, we go ahead and answer it. If the mailman or laundryman comes in, fine, we'll chat with him."

"Our son," says Mary, "thinks this is the greatest thing that's ever happened. He's practically fallen in love with the engineer — he loves gadgets.

"He's the kind of a boy who's scared of boats, but if he had a chance to go to the moon tomorrow, he wouldn't hesitate—he'd go."

As if those two things weren't enough forcefully to prevent rusticating, there's a third, which shows you what kind of a guy Peter Lind Hayes is.

"We're sort of preparing a new act for Las Vegas," he says. "In case the play flops, we can always go out there."

Chevrolet Sets Expansion at Willow Run Plant

Leave Service Station Just Before Landslide

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bert Jones, Orville Johnson and Ronald Weaver probably owe their lives to a motorist who pulled into their filling station for gas.

The three had just stepped from the concrete block station house to service the man's car when a landslide demolished the structure.

Four tons of rock and dirt from a hill behind the station crashed onto the building due to a slide caused by recent heavy rains.

The motorist? "He never stopped moving."

Calling All Golfers—Tee Off Time

CHIP, CHIP, CHIP — State Publinx champion Mike Andonian warms up his game at Pontiac Municipal where golf activity got underway a week ago. Andonian does some work on his short irons as the weather all week brought many links enthusiasts outdoors.

By BILL CORNWELL

Hold your head still . . . don't start your downswing too soon . . . keep your eye on the ball . . . don't try to kill it, just meet it squarely . . . follow through.

If you're a golfer, those helpful hints sound familiar, don't they? They're among the many suggestions you receive from your friendly club professional as you diligently seek to improve your game.

It's that time of year when all those words of advice start buzzing in the ears of every one of us weekend duffers as we toss the clubs into the car and head for the nearest course to lift the lid on another golf season.

If you're among the ones who haven't yet taken a healthy swat at the innocent little white pellet, you probably belong to a minority group. An early spring survey of Oakland County golf courses indicates that you do.

Golfing activity has been heavy at virtually all area links, the heaviest in quite a spell for this time of year, according to several pros and course managers. Unseasonably good weather is without doubt the No. 1 reason for such an early invasion of the fairways by so many.

The only complaint of area pros is a strange one indeed—at least it certainly is in the state of Michigan at this period of the year.

They are bemoaning the lack of rain, an odd cry right now. The absence of rain has made numerous links almost "bone dry" and a few course operators have already watered the greens, not a common practice in the early spring.

Professionals and their assistants are usually fighting to keep the course dry when the month of April rolls around. Now they're asking for rain.

Most county links are officially open at this time. The majority opened for business last weekend and a couple of "eager beavers" hung out the welcome sign while the state high school basketball tournament was still in progress.

Bald Mountain Golf Club looks like the prize-winner for staging the earliest opening. Pro Ken Wilson set up shop on March 19, three days ahead of Highland Golf and Country Club which takes 2nd place.

Although a number of players have been touring the Rochester Golf and Country Club layout, the ex-Brooklands course will not officially open its doors until a week from today.

Former National Open champion as head pro at Rochester, which has become a private club. Assisting Fleck is Bill Martin, who was previously an aide to Bob Gajda at Forest Lake.

The Rochester clubhouse has been undergoing a face-lifting and club officials hope to have it operating by opening day.

Only minor changes are reported as far as course layouts are concerned and personnel at county courses is practically the same. Holes have been lengthened slightly in some cases while clubhouse improvements and drainage work are announced by others.

Directions have been altered a bit in the interior section of the Stonycroft layout, which has also turned into a private club. Two holes at Bald Mountain and one at Highland will be a few yards longer this season.

A new drainage system has been installed on the 1st and 9th holes at Orchard Lake Country Club where water has been a problem because of low ground. Clubhouse remodeling has taken top billing at Sylvan Glen and Glen Oaks.

Charles Matlack, former pro at Cadillac Country Club, enters his 2nd year as boss of Glen Oaks. Veteran Craig McCoy returns to Hickory Hills for the 22nd consecutive season.

Owner-pro Frank Syron held an April 1 opening at his Pontiac Country Club, which will be host to the Michigan Publinx Championship June 13-16. Twin Lakes also began operations on April 1 while Silver Lake Golf Club and Pontiac Municipal course made it official last Sunday.

Plan Tam Replacements

LEMONT, Ill. (INS) — John McNulty was scheduled to open talks in Augusta, Ga., today with the Professional Golfers Association on a proposed $50,000 tourney at his Gleneagles Country Club near Chicago.

The proposed tournament was one of two planned to replace the cancelled All-American and "World" championship golf events at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter club.

McNulty has offered to stage a tourney at his club in Lemont, Ill., July 31 through Aug. 3. PGA president Harold Sargent said yesterday that plans for the event are "pretty well along the way."

Sargent also said that the Eastern Open at Baltimore which was dropped from this year's tour, will be rescheduled July 24-27 — dates for the cancelled All-American.

Amateur Closes In on Masters Lead

Venturi Leads Patton, Maxwell by One Stroke

Harbert, Fleck Only Golfers From Michigan to Qualify

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Joe Patton, the ebullient amateur, says he has no illusions about winning the Masters Golf Tournament although he is just one stroke back of leader Ken Venturi going into today's third round.

"Four years ago when I nearly won, I was in a fog," the 36-year-old Morgantown, N. C., lumberman added. "I was all charged up. This time, I just feel peaceful-like I have no idea of shooting any more rounds like I did yesterday."

No amateur ever has won this rugged 72-hole test of the golfing elite but Patton shook the equilibrium of the proud pros in 1954 and Venturi, then an amateur, gave them nervous jitters again two years later.

Now this pair — Venturi, a mature pro of 26, and Patton, still the wise-cracking, scrambling amateur —are fighting neck-and-neck for one of the sport's most coveted prizes.

Venturi, the first day leader at 68, had to score birdies on the three finishing holes to maintain his one-stroke edge at 140. Patton shot a 69 to move into a tie with Billy Maxwell, a florid-faced young Texas pro, at 141.

Two other players were just another stroke off the pace at 142. Stan Leonard, perennial Canadian pro champion, and silver-haired Bo Wininger, tournament tourist from Odessa, Tex.—were ready to move into the lead. A half dozen others were bunched at 143.

The latter group includes Sam Snead, a three-time winner; Cary Middlecoff, an ex-Masters and two-time National Open king; former PGA champion Chick Harbert; Dow Finsterwald and Arnold Palmer, two of the leading money winners, and Art Wall Jr., whose chief claim to fame has been 34 holes-in-one.

Only two Michigan golfers made the qualifying list. Chick Harbert of Northville stayed close behind with a 143 total while Jack Fleck of Rochester made the cut with 147.

Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills had a bad day by adding an 80 to his 74. He failed to make the qualifying list with 154, as did amateur Chuck Kocsis who fired a 151.

Among the top non-qualifiers were Dick Mayer, Lew Worsham, Gene Sarazen, Mike Fetchik, Ed Furgol, Lloyd Mangrum, Frank Stranahan and Jackie Burke.

Middlecoff Praises Youthful Pro Leader

Hats Off to Venturi--Cary

By CARY MIDDLECOFF
Special to The Pontiac Press

AUGUSTA NATIONAL GOLF CLUB, April 4—You have to give Ken Venturi a world of credit. At the end of nine holes here at the Masters Friday, things looked as cold and bleak for the young San Franciscan as the day itself was cold and bleak.

Ken was out in 40 blows, and he must have known that a lot of folks in the gallery were making reference to his last-round 80 in 1956 here, which cost him the tournament. No doubt he could almost hear them saying, "Aha, the kid just can't take it."

But his 32 on the last nine under the conditions that prevailed here Friday surely must have made him the happiest man in golf.

My own thought about this 1958 Masters is that if I can play three holes as stupidly as I played 14, 15 and 16 and still be in contention —well, I ought to win the tournament. I was one under par through the 13th and was congratulating myself for having got past the toughest part of the golf course in good shape.

That was when the blow struck. Three putts at 14, a spoon shot hit fat and into the creek at 16, I missed short putt on 16, and there were three straight bogies. The three-under-par position I had worked so hard to get for 31 holes was wiped out in three holes.

There is a lesson in this for all golfers. It is this: never start congratulating yourself before the round is over. Complacency on the golf course is fatal. You must keep working and thinking—most especially on a golf course like this one.

This Masters now shapes up as a real scramble. You have only to look at Venturi's 40-32 score to realize that strange things can happen in this tournament.

And adding to the uncertainty of the situation is the fact that Billy Joe Patton will be right in the middle of it. That was a great 69 of his, because the Augusta National played very tough indeed.

The duel of Morrow, Abilene Christian College's sprint king of the Olympics, and Sime, the pounding blond from Duke, headlines the American Business Club Relays. The two are due to fight it out in their third meeting — each has beaten the other once. A crowd of 10,000 is expected.

'Keed' Eyes Title Again

Gavilan Outpoints Jones

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Kid Gavilan may not be fooling when he talks about winning back his welterweight championship.

The inclination is to scoff at Gavilan's contention he has the stamina and the tools to cope with the younger welters. But some of the experts who describe the Kid's comeback as a fill-the-piggy-bank venture might do some soul searching after the Cuban's impressive win last night over Ralph "Tiger" Jones.

True, the decision was split. But most of the very small Good Friday night crowd — the gate and attendance were not disclosed — was disposed to feel Referee Joe Sweeney must have been watching another fight when he scored the 155½ pound Jones the winner 46-44.

Gavilan, weighing 155, appeared in superb physical condition. He moved lively for 10 rounds and some of his smashing bolo punches to Jones' body and face were reminiscent of the Gavilan of the early 1950s, when he was one of the classiest fighters in the ring.

Gavilan's defense was excellent as he put to use the experience gained in 142 fights. He tied up the rugged Jones inside and took most of the Yonkers, N.Y., Negro's best blows on his gloves and arms.

AAU Swimming Records Being Erased in Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Australian and American swimmers have rewritten the National AAU indoor swimming meet record book.

Seven of last year's champions were dethroned last night in a series of sensational races. The meet continues today.

In all, six meet and three American records were set. Some of them were automatic, however, inasmuch as they featured a new surface breaststroke. Dick Hanley of Michigan was among those dethroned.

Australia's brilliant Murray Rose starred again. He captured the 220-yard freestyle for his second National AAU title.

Expect New Records in Arkansas Relays

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Meet sponsors are looking for record performances from two individuals and a relay team today in the University of Arkansas Relays.

The highly touted performers are Weightman Al Oerter and broadjumper Ernie Shelby of the crack Kansas University team. The baton exchangers are the Oklahoma State 880-yard combine which boasts a clocking only two-tenths of a second over the world mark.

Oerter will compete in the discus, which he won in the 1956 Olympics, and shot. He has a 188-foot throw with the platter, within range of the world record of 196-6.

Yanks Unshaken Over White Sox '58 Boasts

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Casey Stengel sat on a bench listening to Al Lopez relate the wonders of his Chicago White Sox.

"It sounds to me like we're going to be minus 22 against your team," said the New York Yankee manager with a straight face. "I guess we've got to concentrate on beating those other fellas."

"We'd be happy with 14-8," said Lopez with a grin.

It was 14-8 in the 1957 season series between the two clubs with the Yankees on the long end. That was the pennant, in a nutshell.

Stengel, however, expects to win his ninth pennant in 10 years. He feels he has an old score to settle with Milwaukee next October.

Despite a staggering start, the celebrated night club incident and numerous injuries, the Yanks pulled themselves together for a 10-game winning streak last June. They fought off another Chicago challenge and rolled home eight games in front.

Norm Siebern, the new left fielder, is the most important addition since the world series. Sjebern, a 24-year-old graduate of the Denver farm where he batted .349, hit 24 homers and knocked in 118 runs, has been rolling along at a .300 pace in the exhibition games.

The big question of the Yanks' training season has been the shortstop-second base situation involving Gil McDougald and Tony Kubek.

It probably would be McDougald on short and Bobby Richardson on second to open with Kubek eventually taking over at short and McDougald moving to second later in the year. Kubek lost vital time, learning the tricks of his latest position, when he was out with a pulled shoulder muscle.

Bill Skowron (.304) has had a great spring, hitting over .400. With Joe Collins retired, Marv Throneberry (.250 at Denver with 40 homers and 124 RBIs) probably will be his first relief. Kubek (.297), the 1957 rookie of the year in the American, and McDougald (.289) both will play regularly. Richardson (.255) must improve his hitting to hold second base. It appears that Stengel will platoon Jerry Lumpe (.340), a lefthanded hitter, and Andy Carey (.255), a righthander, at third base.

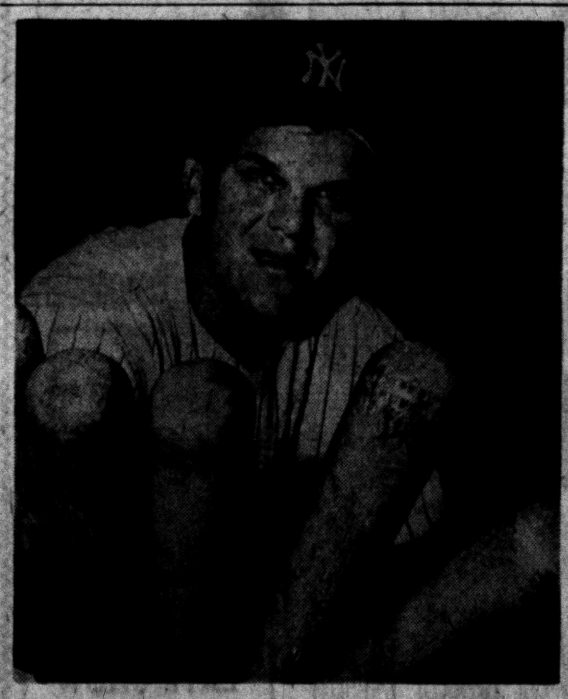
Mickey Mantle (.365) is the big man of the club, of course. Mickey smashed 34 homers and batted in 94 runs despite a series of injuries last year. He has been thumping all pitching this spring.



AP Wirephoto

A BOMBER — New York Yankee first baseman Bill Skowron has been on a batting spree during the exhibition baseball season. He has hit two grand slam homers in the past three days and three during the spring with a total of 20 runs batted in for all games. He is hitting .415 in the Grapefruit Circuit.

Kaline, Boone and Shaw Called Chief Problems

Al Gets Reprimanded for Failure to Run Out Fly in Game

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe is convinced everything is going to be all right with the Detroit Tigers this year after a few things are fixed up.

Tighe, unhappy over a split in two exhibition games with minor league teams yesterday, says there are "just a few things to fix up and we will be okay."

The Tigers, split into two teams, lost to Charleston 7-4 and defeated Augusta 4-2.

Following the games, Tighe listed three problems.

Shaw, he said, will have to show a lot more pitching ability to become the fifth starter for Detroit.

Al Kaline, suffering a batting slump, will have to sharpen up. Tighe reprimanded Kaline for his failure to run out a fly ball during the Charleston game. The Tigers had two men on base at the time.

And Tighe is concerned over Ray Boone, already reported to be trading bait, because of the first baseman's slowness in rounding into form this spring.

He blamed Kaline's failure to run hard on a left field fly on the young slugger's recent troubles at the plate.

"It's not that Al is loafing," Tighe said, "but he gets so mad at himself when he isn't hitting that he does things like that."

"I'm beginning to get concerned about Boone because he isn't getting around on the ball, grounding out to the infield too much."

The Tigers end the Grapefruit season today and tomorrow against Boston Red Sox. Frank Lary and Billy Hoeft are scheduled to hurl for Detroit.

Cinci Problem Solved

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The repair job on the Cincinnati pitching staff which started at the close of last season is paying off in victories this spring. And it may enable the Redlegs to nail down a top position in the National League pennant race.

Atrocious pitching threw a wrench into Cincinnati's hopes last year. As a unit, the club finished last in almost every department. It had the poorest record in earned runs (4.52), gave up the most runs (781), the most hits (1,486), most homers (179), compiled the fewest shutouts (5) and even hit the most batsmen (51).

So, General Manager Gabe Paul and Manager Birdie Tebbetts put their heads together last October and went into the trading mart with gusto.

Bob Purkey, obtained from Pittsburgh, has perked up the pitching staff. So has Harvey Haddix, from Philadelphia. Some other new men are also likely to help. They include Willard Schmidt, Ted Wieand and Marv Kutyna from St Louis and Bill Wight from Baltimore

Last night, Purkey gave up only two hits in a scoreless six inning stint as Cincinnati defeated Washington 6-3.

In their last 10 games of which they've won seven and tied one, Redleg pitchers have given up a total of only 30 runs.

Schmidt followed Purkey to the mound and gave up all of Washington's runs but Wieand relieved to put out the fire. Frank Robinson hit a two-run homer for the winners.

Most of the teams were busy breaking camp, so only four other games were played.

Ralph Terry ran his scoreless pitching skein to 20 innings as Kansas City beat Pittsburgh 5-1. An error prevented Terry from registering his second straight shutout.

The Chicago White Sox nipped St. Louis 6-5 in a night game on Sherm Lollar's two-out single in the ninth. The blow scored Tito Francona who had singled and moved to third on a stolen base and an infield out.

Tighe Threatens to Fine Loafers

LAKELAND (AP)—Manager Jack Tighe today threatened to fine Detroit Tiger players who are guilty of laziness or mental lapses during the regular season.

"I'm tired of being a nice guy. The time has come to let everybody know this is a serious business. If we go all out in the ennant race we've got a chance.

"Anybody dogging it will hear from me. I don't like to fine any player, but I will if that's what it takes to get results," said Tighe today.

Little Grappler Wins Top Honors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Speedy little Tsurukisa Torikura, the 114½ pound champion, was named the outstanding grappler of the National AAU wrestling matches that ended early this morning at the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Torikura, a Senshu University (Japan) student, won his title by outpointing Dick Delgado of the Tulsa, Okla., YMCA. Torikura jumped ahead in the match and successfully stopped a fierce comeback attempt by Delgado.

Celts Need Win Tonight

Fans Attitude Big Issue

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The spotlight will be on the behavior of partisan fans and coaches when Boston's crippled Celtics meet the St. Louis Hawks tonight in the fourth game of the bruising world series of pro basketball.

A sellout crowd of 10,148 all but got out of hand at Kiel Auditorium Wednesday night when the fired-up Hawks took the lead, two games to one. The National Basketball Assn. championship goes to the first team to win four contests in the rough-and-tumble playoffs.

The defending champion Celtics, needing this one badly, are expected to get little real help from Bill Russell, their great defensive standout. He sprained an ankle in the last game and has been on crutches.

Playmaker Bob Cousy also was limping with a bone bruise in his right foot but was expected to be in Boston's starting line-up.

A big issue is what should be done about the excitable St. Louis fans. They hurled bits of paper and other debris on the floor — and at Boston players trying for free throws — Wednesday night, and got away with it.

1954 World Series Star Sent to Minors

PHOENIX, Ariz. — A World Series hero in 1954, James "Dusty" Rhodes today found himself back in the minors.

"But I'll be back before June 15," a glum but determined Rhodes said yesterday after learning the San Francisco Giants optioned him to their class AAA Phoenix club of the Pacific Coast League.

The move came as no surprise to the 30-year-old lefthanded hitting outfielder from Alabama. In his last two seasons, he hit .217 and .205 and has had only two singles in 11 times at bat during the current spring training.

Bruins Seek Clincher

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins need a victory over New York tonight to wrap up their semifinal Stanley Cup hockey playoff series and move on to Montreal.

The Rangers, second-place finishers in the regular season compared to Boston's fourth spot, have their backs to the wall.

The Bruins lead the best-of-seven series 3-2 and the Broadway Blues face the rugged task of winning two straight.

Added to the New York woes is the fact that all games after the first two have been on Boston Garden ice because a circus has taken over at New York's Madison Square Garden.

If the Bruins triumph they will leave for Montreal and the final series against the defending Stanley Cup champion Canadiens.

Reorganization Bill Given OK

Broad Powers Granted Governor to Reshape State Government

LANSING (INS) — Passage of a bill late Thursday has given Governor Williams the power to undertake reorganization of the state government.

According to the bill, Williams will have broad powers denied him previously by the Republican-controlled legislature.

The bill, introduced by Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman), authorizes the governor to make reorganizations and consolidations by executive order. But his orders will not be effective until approved by the Legislature.

Williams lauded the bill as "one of the most important legislative achievements in our generation."

"Although the bill does not become effective for three months, I will begin within a few weeks some preliminary studies to lay the groundwork for a reorganization program," he said.

"It is my intention to establish an advisory committee which will include academic experts, citizens, government executives and members of the Legislature from both parties."

To Continue March Protesting H-Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Some 4,000 Britons mobilized today for the second leg of their four-day protest march against the H-bomb as calls for a halt in nuclear tests came from both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The marchers, who clocked off 11 miles of their 50-mile trek Friday night to the accompaniment of a Dixieland band, set out from suburban Hounslow for Aldermaston, Britain's nuclear weapons research center.

Three Laborite members of Parliament and several clergymen led the procession which already has touched off one London counter-demonstration by about 40 veterans who say the government needs to make and test nuclear weapons for protection.

Meanwhile, opponents of the tests demonstrated in other lands as East and West continued their verbal duel over the nuclear issue.

Growth Rings in Bones

WASHINGTON — According to zoologists, the bones of living creatures, especially those of snakes, may show "growth rings" for dry and wet seasons in much the same manner as trees.

Science may be making tremendous strides, but it still hasn't figured out how to make a pair of paints last as long as a jacket . . . We are now in the third stage of American history. First there was the passing of the Indian, then the passing of the buffalo, and now the passing of the buck. —Earl Wilson.

PROVINCIAL KITCHEN — The Al Staeger home in Bloomfield Village has red cedar paneling and cupboards in the kitchen. Provincial type wallpaper is cream, brown and turquoise. A counter with stove inset divides the work and eating areas. All counters are covered with Formica in a brown and tan mosaic type design. The breakfast set is maple. Curtains are white muslin, trimmed with material that matches the wallpaper.

Pontiac Press Photo

FRAMING THE VIEW — This picture was taken from the kitchen through the louvered opening into the family room. Mrs. Staeger and her younger son, Tony, enjoy the blaze in the fireplace. In the cement of the raised hearth there are dozens of colorful tiles and trivets laid. Like the rest of the furniture in this informal room, the long low coffee table is maple. Just below this pass-through is a maple harvest table.

Staegers Build Home in Bloomfield Village

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Planning the decorations of a home during the building stage is the dream of most women. For Mrs. A. T. Staeger of Bloomfield Village it was a dream come true. When the Staeger family moved into their new home on Covington Place last September, they had the color schemes they wanted and most of the furniture and draperies.

Their choice of a home was a nine-room two-story house of red brick. Their furniture is Provincial. T. W. Hay of Birmingham built the home that Robert Calder, a Detroit architect, designed. The Staegers are former Huntington Woods residents. They have two young sons: Tony is four and Steve is seven and a half.

The Staeger lot is an odd shaped one with 95 feet on the street side. The depth of one side is nearly 200 feet. The house, constructed of common red brick, has a white board and batten porch and white trim on the upper part of the front. The living room end of the house is fieldstone. Shutters upstairs are gray; downstairs they are white. Behind the attached garage is another porch.

From the vestibule one enters a foyer that leads to all parts of the first floor. The walls are papered in a gold and white Williamsburg reproduction, a stencil design. This paper extends up the stairs and into the upper hall. Against the stair wall is a low walnut chest.

At one end of this foyer is Mr. Staeger's study. One wall is covered with built-in bookcases with closed cupboards below. The other walls are paneled in cherry. He has a white leather lounge chair and a knotty pine desk. Draperies are deep red with globes and ships printed in white.

At the opposite end of the foyer is the living room. This room, the dining room, foyer and stairs are all carpeted in tweed that combines shades of brown, aqua and yellow. The living room is truly a golden room.

Below the white coved ceiling the walls are painted gold. Draperies are the same shade. The valances are figured in a lace pattern that matches the wallpaper in the dining room.

TWIN CHAIRS

Twin wing chairs with tapestry covers in a small red and green leaf print on beige stand before the fireplace. Between them is a round coffee table. On either side of the mantel, behind the chairs, are large square lamp tables with drawers under the bottom shelf. Lamps are white.

Across the room is a turquoise sofa and one brown chair. In front of the sofa are twin coffee tables. The wood in all the furniture is cherry.

Folding louvered doors close off the dining room. In the corner of the living room nearest these doors is a large bird cage filled with green plants.

Gold paneled wainscoting forms the lower part of the dining room walls, with gold lace paper above. Draperies and valances match those in the living room. On one wall is an antiqued white candle sconce with six branches. The fixture over the table has hurricane type lamps. The dining room set is blonde wood with turquoise seats and backs on the chairs.

In the kitchen the stove counter separates the work and eating spaces. Cupboards are red birch with a natural finish and copper hardware. The wain-

THE GOLDEN ROOM — Gold walls, gold in the tweed carpeting, gold in the draperies and valances make this living room a true golden room. The upholstered furniture is plain or has small subdued designs. The Italian Provincial tables are cherry. Around the opening of the classic white fireplace there is a frame of white marble. The narrow hearth is also marble.

BLUE AND WHITE ROOM — The Staeger's bedroom is one with clear, clean colors. The rug is turquoise while the walls are white. Curtains and chair covering repeat these two colors, adding two shades of blue. Furniture is provincial pine. The adjoining bath has identical curtains and matching wallpaper.

IN BLOOMFIELD VILLAGE — The A. T. Staegers live in this two-story, nine-room home on Covington Place. Made of common red brick, the house has a white board and batten porch and a white clapboard second story. Trim on the living room end of the front is fieldstone. Behind the attached garage is a smaller porch. Shutters upstairs are gray; downstairs they are white. T. W. Hay of Birmingham built the house from plans drawn by Robert Calder of Detroit. The Staegers have lived here since September.

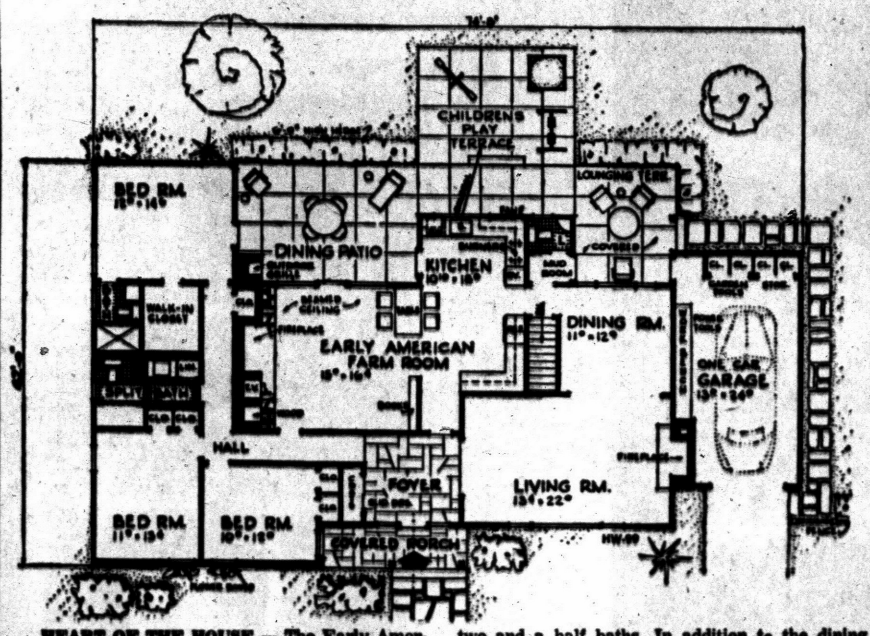
SEVEN ROOMS — This seven-room house is designed specifically to meet today's trend toward centering family living activities around the kitchen. It is the work of a prize-winning American architect.



HEART OF THE HOUSE — The Early American farm room is the center of the house. Connected with the kitchen, it opens out onto a dining patio. This house includes three bedrooms and two and a half baths. In addition to the dining patio, there is a children's play terrace and a lounging terrace.

Family Activities Center in Early American Room

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

The American family, taking a cue from Colonial days, is centering more and more of its activities around the kitchen — and here is a house specially designed to encourage this happy trend.

Called House of The Week HW-99, it was designed by a prize-winning American architect. Its chief feature is an early American farm room, which captures the feeling of Colonial days and should prove a favorite with Mom and Dad, and the children, too.

The work of architect Herman H. York, the early American farm room is 15 feet by 16 feet 4 inches, with a brick fireplace extending from pegged wood floor to beamed ceiling.

Connecting with the early American farm room is a modern kitchen, in which no 20th century convenience is neglected.

York, who has won many awards for outstanding residential designs, has overlooked no detail in his arrangement of the early American farm room. A dining table sits in one corner half way between the kitchen proper and the farm room.

The fireplace is ample in proportions, suitable for large logs. There is a spinning wheel, a lantern-type light fixture dropping from the ceiling and doors to the outside from both the kitchen and the farm room.

PEGGED WOOD FLOOR

The architect suggests the use of pegged wood as flooring for both the kitchen and the farm room but rubber, vinyl, asphalt or ceramic tile can be used instead at the option of the owner.

A built-in television, built-in book cases and a wood storage area are other features of the farm room. And just outside, on a dining patio adjoining the farm room, there is an outdoor grille.

The kitchen proper is arranged ideally for the comfort and convenience of Mother. She has complete control from this "nerve center" over all informal family living areas, both inside and outside.

The kitchen is 18 feet by 10 feet 10 inches and has a large window directly over the sink for supervision of a large children's play terrace in the back of the house. Kitchen appliances extend along three sides and there are ample wall and base cabinets.

An 11 by 12 foot dining room is only a few steps from the kitchen. The lounging terrace, which is covered, is just outside the dining room, and adjoins the children's play terrace.

A six-foot-high hedge provides privacy for both the dining patio and the lounging terrace.

FLAGSTONED FOYER

At the front of the house, just inside a flagstoned foyer, there is a large coat closet with sliding doors. Diamond panes are used for the entrance, itself, which is under a covered porch.

There are two closets each in the two front bedrooms which share a split bath and linen closet. The master bedroom, 12 feet by 14 feet 6 inches, has a private bath and a huge walk-in closet. There is a direct connection between the owner's bedroom and the outside dining patio.

In the living room there is a second fireplace. The brick chimney of this fireplace, as well as the brick chimney of the farm room fireplace, add to the exterior charm of the house.

Other exterior details include full length shutters for all windows and flagstones — in random rectangular pattern — for all walks. Scored cement, which can be colored if desired, is used for the dining patio, the children's play terrace and the lounging terrace.

Asphalt shingles are recommended for the roof. Brick and hand split shingles and random vertical boards are used for the outside walls.

There is a 13 by 24 foot garage and it has a long work bench and four storage closets for tools and other household equipment.

If you are interested in seeing a study plan of this house, send 35 cents in coin (no stamps accepted) to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac 31, Michigan, and ask for House of the Week Plan HW-99.

Statistics

The overall dimensions of House of The Week HW-99 are 42 feet by 74 feet 8 inches. A minimum plot 90 by 100 feet is suggested by the architect. The house has seven rooms, including three bedrooms, and two and half baths. There are 1,979 square feet in the habitable areas. In figuring cost estimates, add 338 square feet for the garage and 133 square feet for the two covered porches.

New Shutters Improve House

Real estate salesmen report that exterior shutters are an extremely desirable decorative touch that often "sells" a house or adds extra dollars to the final price. A handyman can build and install attractive shutters quickly and at low cost.

Plain shutters of hardboard applied over simple 1x2-inch framing can be painted to contrast with the color of the house. Those handymen who operate power tools can either cut out a section of the shutter or attach an animal or similar decorative overlay of a contrasting color with waterproof glue for added effect.

Two other distinctive hardboards can also be used for decorative shutters to provide "personality plus" features for any home. Panelgroove, whose square-cut grooves are ⅛" wide and 4" on center, will take and hold any surface finish. Ridgeline, with a striated surface design, can lend a rustic charm to an older house if stained.

These hardboards are recommended by professional carpenters for exterior applications because they will not warp and lose their shape like ordinary lumber.

Cost of Heating Can Be Figured

You can easily decide which is the most economical fuel for you to use in your house if you know its heat loss in BTUs (a figure you can get from your builder or architect) and the heat content of the fuels available in your community. Most fuels are measured in "therms," and a therm equals 100,000 BTU.

According to "Today's Home" Magazine, a tone of "rice" anthracite contains about 250 therms of heat, and sells for between $14 and $20 a ton in the Northeast. At those prices, a therm of heat will cost between 5.6 cents and eight cents.

Oil contains roughly 1.4 therms per gallon and a gallon sells for from 14 cents to 16 cents. At 14 cents a therm costs 10 cents, and at 16 cents it costs 11.5 cents.

Natural gas contains approximately 1,000 Btu per cubic foot; and 1,000 cubic feet, which is the way gas usually is priced, contains 10 therms. Natural gas costs from 70 cents to $1.40 per thousand cubic feet. If the gas costs $1 a thousand cubic feet, the cost per therm is 10 cents; if the cost is $1.25, the therm cost is 12.5 cents.

Offer Quick Method of Measuring Roof

Wondering how to determine the square foot area of your attic ceiling without hanging from the rafters with a tape measure?

Engineers of Barrett Division of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., simply take the square footage of the attic floor and multiply by 1⅛. This will give you approximate area of the sloping parts of the roof.

With this information the do-it-yourselfer can determine from his local lumber dealer the amount of insulating board products or gypsum board needed to convert an attic into a playroom or extra bedroom.

Two-Story Home Has Nine Large Rooms

Floor linoleum is sandalwood with pink, cream and beige dots. The wallpaper has a small design in cream, brown and turquoise. Matching material trims the white muslin curtains and makes valances.

ONE PAINTED WALL

On the wall opposite the windows there is a planning desk. Counter tops are a brown and tan mosaic type Formica. One wall is turquoise.

A louvered opening in this latter wall permits a full view of the family room. It serves also as a pass-through when the family eats there.

This family room is colonial rather than provincial. The floor is pegged oak. Above the clear cedar wainscoting is paper in a colonial town design. The fireplace is red brick with a raised hearth and no mantel. The rug is braided. Draperies are plain beige.

Near the fireplace is a rust sofa. Three matching arm chairs are placed in other parts of the room. A windsor chair, the harvest table and a long low coffee table are all maple.

A room size turquoise rug covers the floor in the master bedroom. Walls are white. Curtains here and in the adjoining bathroom, as well as the upholstery on the two slipper chairs, are pale blue with deeper blue, turquoise and white flowers. Furniture is knotty pine.

Steve has a sandalwood room. One wall is papered in sailing ship designs. His furniture is limed oak. He has his own desk in an alcove and a comfortable chair for reading.

TURKEY RED RUG

Tony has the reddest rug you can imagine. His Ethan Allan furniture is maple. Spreads on the twin beds and curtains are brown, tan and beige plaid. The walls are light beige. Tony also has the largest closet you can imagine. We've seen bathrooms that were smaller.

Mrs. Staeger says the color of the towels, rug and curtains in the bathroom is "mouse" gray. Sounds unpleasant, but looks nice with the green walls and butterfly paper.

The guest room isn't completed. It's a sunny room with yellow woodwork and yellow shag rugs. The paper has flowers and birds on it, yellow predominating. Furniture is blond.

In the basement which we don't have room to show there's a recreation room, complete with fireplace. There is also another bath on this level.

* * *

Mrs. Staeger just bubbles with enthusiasm as she shows her house. She's had lots of fun working with the decorator and carrying out the plans. She and the rest of the family like living in their pretty new home in Bloomfield Village.

Right Tool Important

Always use a properly-sized screwdriver when working on a water faucet. Scratches on plumbing fixtures caused by improper tools are good places for bacteria to breed.

Buyers Avoid Costly Mistakes With Expert Help

The impulsive or unwary home buyer doesn't have to go near a beehive to get stung. Prospective home buyers can avoid costly mistakes, particularly if they are shopping for an older home, by seeking competent advice. And one way to avoid greeting stung is to engage an experienced appraiser.

The average couple may shop cautiously for a $100 table, making all sorts of comparisons, but purchase a $30,000 home without seeking an evaluation from a competent authority.

Actually, there are only a few items that need expert scrutiny —the heating system, the roof, termite protection, the cellar, storage space and the use of such quality building materials as water and stain-proof ceramic tile in the kitchen and bathrooms.

Other factors that should be evaluated are neighborhood characteristics, such as possible future condemnation proceedings and assessments, soil drainage, convenient shopping facilities and schools.

It's not hard to select a competent appraiser in a given locality. There are various local appraiser groups that make the names of their members available. Often a simple inquiry at the local bank will turn up the names of a reputable and experienced appraiser.

It's a good idea to avoid purchasing a home with the idea of making extensive alterations. They, too, can prove costly without competent advice.

Attic Dormers Solve Light, Space Problem

One of the first considerations in planning a finished attic should be the availability of ventilation and daylight. For this reason, dormers should be built if they do not already exist..

Before you add dormers you should be careful not to ruin the exterior contour of the house, especially the roofline At the same time, plan carefully the division of the attic space, so that new windows will be well centered in the new rooms and will not take away valuable wall space for furniture.

New Eastern Arena Has Equivalent of 40 Roofs

Enough asphalt shingles to roof approximately 40 homes — 770 squares of roofing — were applied on the new Island Garden Arena, West Hempstead, L. I., N.Y.

A wind resistant application of asphalt shingles was used to roof the huge, quonset-shaped sports structure because Long Island is frequently subject to winds of gale force.

Western Woods Good for Fences

With the spread of the do-it-yourself movement, a fence is a popular project for the novice. It doesn't require the precision work of building something like a cabinet, and deviations do not show up as readily. A fence project can be started as soon as the weather gets mild, and it can be enjoyable because it provides a reason for getting outdoors.

Any of the 10 species of woods from the western pine region is well - suited for fence material. They all stand up well in contact with the ground when treated properly with one of the pentachlorophenol preservatives.

Inland red cedar and incense cedar have an even greater natural resistance to decay and weathering than the other species — white fir, Englemann spruce, larch, lodgepole pine, ponderosa pine, Idaho white pine, sugar pine, and Douglas fir—all are popular and will perform satisfactorily when properly treated.

Of course, all the western pine woods accept any type of finish and can be stained or painted to achieve the desired color.

For details about how to design and build a fence, with full color pictures of some attractive examples, write to Western Pine Association, Yeon Building, Portland 4, Oregon. Ask for the free folder called "Fence Folio."

New Low-Cost Heating

A new, low-cost "radiant ribbon" hot water heating system has been developed, using nothing but ¾ inch iron pipe concealed by a neat metal baseboard around the whole perimeter of the house, reports "Today's Home" Magazine. There are no radiators, convectors, or risers of any sort. The new system is expected to become a low cost alternative to forced warm air-heat.

WEBBING CHAIR — It only takes four hours to build the chair pictured here with NBC's television actress Kaye Elhardt of the Matinee Theater show. And when you finish it, you'll find it's a very comfortable piece of furniture. It's made of regular fir plywood available at any lumber dealer's. It may be finished with upholstery webbing as shown here for indoors. For outdoors, if you like, you may use wooden slats rather than the webbing. All you need do is trace the pattern on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. A list of materials and easy to read directions come with the pattern. To obtain the full size pattern No. 106 for the chair pictured here send 50 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

Posts, Beams Cut Construction Cost

Post-and-beam construction saves money on the addition of a room, porch, garage or carport to a house because it eliminates the cost of 2x4 supports and the labor of installing them.

In post-and-beam construction, the weight of the roof and walls is supported by beams held up by 4x4 or 4x6 posts. A further savings is achieved with economical truss roof construction.

This gabled roof can be roofed with asphalt shingles which are economical yet offer the advantages of color, dependability, and long-lasting protection.

A gabled roof is preferred for additions to houses whose main roof is gabled. This avoids an "added-on" appearance.

Survey Shows How Insulation Lowers Costs

Proof that thick insulation sharply reduces the cost of heating and air conditioning homes in all sections of the country has been announced in the results of a new engineering survey published in the current issue of Today's Home magazine.

Research engineers covered 127 cities in all climate zones of the country basing their calculations on a 1,040-square-foot sample house, figuring costs of heating and cooling without insulation, and with 4 inches of mineral wool in the ceiling and 3 inches in walls. More recent recommendations call for at least 6 inches in ceiling and 3 inches in walls.

Results were startling. The study showed that in virtually every city mineral wool saved at least $100—twice that in some—in the combined costs of heating and air conditioning.

Here are examples in three climate "zones":

Kansas City, central. Total annual heating-cooling costs without insulation — $316.12. Total cost with mineral wool—$114.26. Total saving per year—$201.86.

Minneapolis, north. Costs without insulation — $303.60. With mineral wool — $116.24. Total saving on heating and cooling per year — $187.36.

New Orleans, south. Heating-cooling without insulation — $369.49. With mineral wool $130.80. Total saving — $265.69.

Today's Home lists detailed cost breakdowns for heating and cooling in each city, comparing costs with and without insulation.

A temporary repair for a leaky pipe can be made by covering the leak with a piece of split garden hose. Tighten the hose with a hose clamp.

Synthetic Resin Proved Tougher

WASHINGTON, D. C. — What does the modern housewife consider an ideal finish for such home appliances as ranges, washing machines and refrigerators?

"First of all," she would say, "It must be easy to clean and should retain its gloss for the lifetime of the appliannce. It should be resistant to food acids, hot grease, caustic or abrasive cleaners and alkalies." She might also add that such finish must be flexible and tough enough to take a lot of punishment without chipping.

Not many years ago, such a blanket requirement for a finish would have been considered a challenge practically impossible to meet. The assignment of providing a finish with good chemical and heat resistance was in opposition to that of providing resistance to chipping. Coatings which fulfilled the former requirement were brittle and unrepairable.

Not until the chemists of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry developed the modern synthetic resins did the appliance manufacturers'—and the housewife's — dream come true. The necessity for compromising desirable features has been reduced to such a degree that it is hardly a factor in many cass.

These resins, used as a raw material in the manufacture of these specific chemical coatings, combine qualities which cannot be obtained by any other types of finishes. Among these qualities are excellent gloss retention, chemical resistance, flexibility, corrosion inhibition, adhesion, sheer toughness —and colorful beauty.

The chemical coatings industry continually engages in research for such new and better products as modern America may demand. The modern synthetic resin is just one example of many revolutionary advances made in this field — advances which protect your investment in countless articles of everyday use.

Paint Industry Offers Variety of Careers

The paint industry offers a wide variety of careers to ambitious young men and women. Decide whether you want a desk or a field job. You might want to be in the field of production and material control. Some of these positions require preparation in chemistry or chemical engineering. For others high school or vocational school training may be enough.

A person with a college degree and a good background of experience can go far in the field of purchasing. The industry leans heavily on the chemical technologist in making formulas and experiments with raw materials. Top positions are available for chemists and chemical engineers. Research, SALES, Traffic, Advertising and Publicity all offer opportunities for advancement for career minded energetic people.

'Open-End Mortgage' May Solve Finances

If you plan extensive improvements to your home, it will pay you to determine whether you can add the cost of the improvements to your mortgage.

If you have an "open-end mortgage," it may give you the privilege of borrowing up to its original amount for home improvements. For instance, if it was originally $15,000 at 5 per cent and you've paid off $5,000, you can re-borrow that $5,000 at the 5 per cent rate if the bank holding your mortgage thinks the improvements are worth it. Payments are spread out over the life of the mortgage.

Surface to Be Painted Must Be Really Clean

One thing all ambitious amateurs soon learn is that the surface to be painted must be clean, smooth and dry. Dirt and grease can be removed by washing with an all-purpose detergent.

If the surface has been waxed, it should be wiped down with a turpentine-moistened cloth. Paint won't cling to a waxed surface. Scaling or blistered paint should be taken off by scraping or sanding.

Rules Listed for Windows

How much window space should be planned for each room in building or remodeling a home?

Windows can affect the comfort of a family both physically and psychologically, says the University of Illinois Small Homes Council. Most homes need at least twice as much glass area as they have.

Here is a set of new rules worked out by the Council for ideal windows in the home:

1. Each room needs glass areas in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area in each room. Much more is desirable on cloudy days.

2. In cool climates, the principal window areas should be placed toward the south, since this direction has the brightest sky. In warmer climates, a northeast orientation will limit heat from the sun.

3. Windows in more than one wall give more effective daylighting than windows in just one wall. One large window, however, gives a better distribution of light than the same amount of glass space distributed around the room.

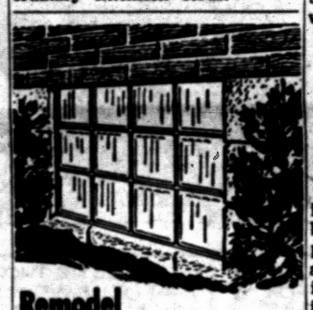
4. Windows placed as close to the ceiling as possible lengthen the depth of light penetration into a room.

5. At least 10 per cent of the floor area in a room should be matched with windows that open. Popular windows of ponderosa pine are available in many styles that open, including the familiar double-hung style that gives effective ventilation by opening at top and bottom. A further advantage of wood windows is that they can be painted or stained to match color schemes inside and out.

6. Draperies that cover a portion of the window when open can reduce daylight by as much as 75 per cent. Drapery hardware should be installed to keep the material off to the sides of the window.

Try Surface Wiring

An easy way to add electrical outlets, lights and switches in your home is to use "surface wiring." Special electrical ducts, in plastic or metal, come in convenient lengths and can be mounted just above the baseboard or wherever else required. This system is simpler to install and also less expensive than the replacement of existing cables and is safer than ordinary extension cords.



Remodel Basement Windows with PC GLASS BLOCKS

Here's a practical remodeling idea for cellar windows . . . install PC Glass Blocks. Glass Blocks will keep out water, let in light, insure privacy—they're the mark of a modern home. Glass Blocks are easy to clean, too, and don't need replacement or repair. Call or phone today.

THWARTS PEEPERS—Lovers of outdoor living will appreciate this privacy screen. It's made of louver shutters of ponderosa pine to let air in, and translucent plastic panels for light.

Louvered Pine Fence Shuts Out Peepers

One of the problems of outdoor living is privacy. Too many backyard barbecues and siestas on the patio have been spoiled by gawking neighbors or curious children.

The best answer is to build a fence that will let in both light and air, yet keep out unwanted stares. The drawing shows an example — a fence built of stock louver shutters of ponderosa pine combined with translucent plastic panels.

The shutters let air in and act as a windbreak. The plastic panels admit light, but keep curious gazes out.

Shutters of ponderosa pine are available from building material dealers in many widths and lengths. Plastic panels can be obtained from the same dealers in shelves which can be cut to size.

The fence — it's really a decorative outdoor screen — can be built by a home handyman with an average amount of skill. The shutters and panels can be arranged as shown, or in any number of attractive ways.

Louver shutters of ponderosa pine can be painted or stained in natural wood tones. They'll weather well, since they were designed to be hung on the outside and have been chemically treated to resist moisture.

Plan Storage to Be Flexible

Three fundamental principles should be remmebered when building storage space in the home. They are: Objects should be stored as close as possible to the point of their most frequent use, they should be free of the weight of other objects, and they should be both visible and accessible when needed.

To accomplish these aims, storage space must be designed for efficiency and flexibility. An excellent example is the use of dividers made of thin hardboard strips in drawers and cabinets. By having a space for everything, you keep each item free of interference from other articles in the drawer and easily accessible when it is needed.

When the dividers are put together in egg-crate type construction they also provide flexibility, for the size of the various compartments can easily be changed by removing one or more strips.

Panels of "Peg-Board" erected in closets, stairways or on kitchen, basement or garage walls also provide storage space that fulfills all three aims. Each item hangs in full view and is supported by its own hanger on such a "working wall." Also, by putting the walls to work, perforated hardboard panels often can more than double storage space in a room.

Prefab Easy to Install

The quickest and most economical way to get a fireplace is to buy a prefabricated unit. Most products of this type can be installed in a day. Some can be put into place and functioning within a few hours.

A COLONIAL MANSION for martins has 18 rooms and removable sides for easy cleaning. Pattern 324, which shows every cutting and construction step and gives mounting directions, is 25c. This pattern also is included in packet No. 31 which contains actual-size cutting guides and directions for nine bird houses and feeders all for $1. Orders under $1 add 10c service charge.

Wise Owner Checks Roof

A wise motorist checks his car regularly to make sure that his brakes or some other safety feature won't fail in an emergency.

For similar reasons, a wise home-owner inspects his roof periodically. He wants to make sure it protects the house as it should.

Just as brake failure could cause a fatal accident, roof leaks can cause water to short out electrical circuits.

Leaks also can weaken ceilings and damage interior walls. Rafters and roof decking as well as floor joists may warp if roof leaks are not found and stopped.

Here are four areas of potential trouble to inspect in order to prevent damage from roof leaks:

1. On a bright day go into the attic and look for tiny pin holes of light in the roof.

2. On a rainy day, use a flashlight to check under the roof for darkened, damp areas on rafters or roof decking. Damp spots sometimes indicate roof leaks.

3. Look carefully at flashing, sheet metal or roll roofing sealing off exposed areas between roofing and chimney vent stacks, and valleys. If flashing has become loose, water can get inside and cause damage.

4. Make sure roof gutters are clean and free of snow, leaves, and other debris. Water concentration from clogged roof gutters may cause leaks. To insure proper drainage, check roof gutters at least twice yearly.

Do not walk on an old weathered roof. This can start roof leaks. If the roof is old, new asphalt shingles probably can be installed over the existing roof material. Asphalt shingles are available in a wide variety of colors and help make a house more comfortable as well as distinctively attractive.

March Pleasant, Sunny

That proverbial March lamb took the bite right out of his lion counterpart and left the Pontiac area wrapped in a pleasant early spring last month.

The month of March was ushered in rather silently with a steady drizzle and temperatures several degrees over the freezing mark.

But the lamb took care of that and came on the scene with beautiful, sunny and clear skies and pushed the mercury 20 degrees higher during the latter days of March.

With this welcomed arrival came the threat to area farmers that rain was sadly needed to go along with these warm temperatures.

A meager half-inch of precipitation during March fell here.

This compares to a usual three inches during this month, according to Lyle B. Abel, county agriculture agent.

There was only one day during March's 31 in which the high for that day hovered under the freezing mark. This occurred on March 9. The high that day was 28.

During the last five days of the month the mercury climbed into the 50's. Highs of 56 were reached March 29 and 30.

The average temperature for the month was 36.3 degrees.

The lowest reading recorded during the third month of the year was 22, which was reached on March 9—the coldest day of the 31.

The heaviest snowfalls fell on the Pontiac area on March 2 and 5 when one inch and slightly over an inch, respectively, covered the ground. Snow flurries fell on eight other March days.

No high temperature records were set, as one year ago when on March 13 the thermometer shot up to an all-time high for that date of 69 degrees.

The following day that year a tornado warning was issued for this area. Such a warning was escaped this past month.

Spring this year—by the calendar—made its debut on the 20th accompanied by overcast skies and traces of snow.

But residents in the area didn't have to wait long until more spring-like conditions came in with the lamb shortly thereafter.

8 Cities, 1 Village Will Vote Monday

To Decide Bond at Walled Lake

Residents in Oakland to Elect Community Government

Annual spring elections will be held Monday in eight Oakland County cities and one village.

Voting in the south end of the county will be the City of Lathrup Village, Pleasant Ridge, Huntington Woods, Madison Heights, Hazel Park and Birmingham.

In the northern sections elections will be held in Walled Lake, Keego Harbor and at Wolverine Lake Village.

Special propositions will appear on ballots in Walled Lake, Pleasant Ridge, Madison Heights and Wolverine Lake Village.

Walled Lake voters will be asked to approve a general obligation bond issue, not to exceed $75,000, for a new city hall. They'll also elect four councilmen.

Wolverine Lake, besides electing four members to the Village Council, will decide on a tax levy proposal to help defray the cost of weed control at Wolverine Lake.

Charter amendment proposals will be placed before the electorates in Madison Heights and Pleasant Ridge.

The Heights amendment would permit the city to levy taxes not to exceed one per cent of the assessed value of taxable property in the city.

Lloyd H. Ferguson, incumbent Madison Heights mayor, is being opposed by George S. Horkey and Dewey L. Outen. Six councilmen also will be elected from a field of 20 candidates, while six persons are running for three Board of Review posts and six are seeking two constable openings.

Pleasant Ridge amendments would change two charter sections. The first would provide that on March 1 collection of unpaid real property taxes be turned over to the county treasurer for collection. The other amendment would require that moneys collected by the county treasurer or received from the sale of lands for delinquent taxes be paid to the city treasurer as provided by law.

Voters in Pleasant Ridge also will elect two city commissioners to full terms. Three are seeking the posts. Another commissioner will be elected to fill an unexpired term.

Opposing Hazel Park Mayor Louis Elias' bid for re-election is Charles D. Arnold. Four candidates are running for two council seats, and two are seeking election as constable.

The only contest in Huntington Woods involves the race for two two-year City Commission posts. There are four candidates.

In the City of Lathrup Village, three councilmen will be elected from a field of six candidates.

Incumbent Birmingham City Commissioner Harry Denyes Jr. is in a race with John O'Gorman Jr. and William Merrill for two seats on the commission.

O'Gorman is a former commissioner who was forced to retire due to illness while Merrill is a member of the City's Planning Board.

SPACE PLANE — This is the first official artist's conception of the X-15, a plane designed to penetrate outer space. North American Aviation, its developer, says the X-15 will be able to fly a mile a second at altitudes above 100 miles. The plane is scheduled to be test flown sometime next year. The unusually heavy vertical stabilizer is used because drag is no problem in the upper atmosphere. Engineers expect the stainless steel fuselage of the X-15 to glow cherry red when the aircraft enters the earth's atmosphere.

Wolverine Lake to Elect Four

Big Turnout Expected to Cast Ballots on Weed Control Proposal

WOLVERINE LAKE — A heavy turnout is anticipated Monday at the polls in the annual spring election at Wolverine Lake Village. At stake are a weed control proposal and the election of four members to the village council.

Voters will decide whether the village will levy a tax of 4 mills per each $1,000 of assessed valuation on all land in the village for two years to defray the cost of weed control at Wolverine Lake. If approved the tax would become effective July 1.

Eight candidates, including two incumbents, are seeking four council seats. They are Walter Dawes and Clifford K. Cottrell, both incumbents; Mrs. Gertrude Hess, LeRoy D. Winkler, Richard Melvin, Edgar Ketchum, Norman C. Schimman and James Brown. All terms are for four years.

Present Village President George Belprez and Councilman Edmund Sim, whose terms also expire, have declined to seek re-election.

Village Clerk John C. Finlayson expects nearly all of the village's 787 registered voters to cast ballots. The polls will be at the Village Hall, 297 Glengary. They'll be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Plan Ten Rest Areas on Xway to Chicago

LANSING (AP) — Ten safety rest areas, each three to five acres in size, are planned for the U.S. 12 Chicago to Detroit expressway, now under contract or design, the State Highway Dept. said.

John C. Mackie, highway commissioner, said the rest areas for the route, planned to be entirely under contract by 1959, were recommended by the National Bureau of Public Roads.

"The rest areas will provide rest rooms, suitable for year-around usage, parking areas for cars and trucks and lanes to move vehicles on and off the speedway," Mackie said. "We also will have telephones, picnic areas and tables and are studying the use of maps and directories."

Mackie said the rest area plan will be followed on the remaining 700 miles of controlled area routes in the mapping stage, including the Detroit to Muskegon and Ohio line to Sault Ste. Marie expressways.

Brings Theft Suspects Back From Florida

They are accused of the burglary of Popeneo's Market, 582 Mt. Clemens St., on January 19.

Warning to Weekend Athletes:

Tennis Spells Trouble if You're Not in Shape

NEW YORK (INS) — Chasing a ball around a tennis court can mean trouble for the weekend athlete who isn't in condition.

The same applies to other strenuous activity you may plan for spring weekends, according to a joint warning from the American Medical Association and the American Association for Health Physical Education and Recreation in the current AMA Journal.

HOW TO TELL

Here's how you can tell if the sporting good time is too rough on your physical equipment:

If breathlessness and pounding of the heart continue for more than ten minutes after you collapse into an easy chair.

If there's marked weakness and fatigue after a two-hour rest period.

If you can't sleep the night after.

If you drag more than usual the next day.

Age, in itself, is not a good way of judging fitness for exercise. The experts say most healthy persons cannot be harmed by "rational physical activity." This, of course, excludes accidental harm.

The joint statement explains:

"A child or youth requires more exercise than an adult because of growth needs. If an individual has been active throughout childhood and youth, maximum fitness is achieved earlier, and, in adulthood, decline of fitness is postponed."

Other points made by the experts:

Usually an individual reduces or stops his exercise long before physiological limits are reached — when feelings of breathlessness, general weakness or muscular discomfort occur. Ordinarily, these "feelings" are more psychological than physiological.

Athletes who learn to carry their activity beyond the "so-called psychological quitting time" sometimes experience a second wind — a physiological adjustment to continuing exercise.

Hard, fast, sustained or highly competitive games and sports should not be played by persons beyond the age of 30 unless they have maintained or can attain by systematic training an appropriate state of fitness.

Persons who are out of training should not attempt to keep pace in any vigorous sport with persons who are properly conditioned and accustomed to regular participation in that sport.

Being in condition for one sport does not always mean being in condition for another.

Show Spotlights Foreign Autos

International Exhibit in New York's Coliseum Opens Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Foreign cars—both sports and family types ranging from pint-sized economy runabouts to long limousines—predominate at the International Automobile Show opening today at the Coliseum.

More than 275 new makes and models are on display, featuring automotive products of seven nations—the United States, England, France, Italy, Sweden, West Germany, and Czechoslovakia.

The cars cost from $888 for a Messerschmitt "Tiger" to $22,950 for a Rolls Royce "Silver Wraith" complete with electric coffee maker, butane gas burner, wash basin and water supply.

American cars being shown include Ford, Buick, Chrysler and models by American Motors and Studebaker - Packard. The latter company also features the Mercedes-Benz, made in West Germany.

General Motors also is displaying its import models—the German made Opel and British-made Vauxhall. The Ford Motor Co. has its full line of British-built Fords such as the Consul, Zodiac, and Anglia, and a new one, the German-made Taunus.

The imports by U. S. companies are mainly four-cylinder jobs and are aimed at capturing some of the small car market in this country. Last year the sales of smaller foreign cars went over the 200,000 mark, double the 1956 sales.

American Motors has models its 100-inch wheelbase Rambler-American.

Volkswagen, which topped foreign car sales in this country last year in the economy car class, is displaying a new model called "th camper" — with a delivery truck body which can be transformed into living and sleeping space for two.

Campaigning Starts in French Elections

PARIS (AP)—One week of political campaigning begins throughout France Sunday for local elections that may prove a gauge of sentiment in this troubled nation.

At stake in balloting next Sunday, April 13, are 1,574 seats on the departmental general councils, which are roughly equivalent to county councils.

Not since the present National Assembly was picked on Jan. 2, 1956, have so many French voters had a chance to express their feelings at the polls.

The local balloting also may have an effect on the makeup of the Senate, Parliament's upper house. The general councils help elect the senators, half of whom face re-election this June.

Catches Bass Swimming Down California Road

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Ray Dolden has a 9-inch black bass he caught in the middle of a highway—two miles from the nearest stream where bass are normally found.

Golden, sports director of Radio Station KSTN, says he was going to work through a flooded section of the road to the station south of here and found himself following a fish down the middle of the road. He chased it and caught it with his hands.

He announced his catch over the air and promptly was deluged with telephone calls informing him it was under the legal limit.

He's keeping it in a pan of water.

Sentence for Kidnaping Tougher Than for Killing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man got a tougher sentence for kidnaping than he did for murder.

Police reported Harris Foster, 26, shot Paul Ermandy Nov. 2 in a Los Angeles cafe, then with Carolina Alcala, 20, kidnaped a South Gate man and forced him to drive them to Needles, Calif.

A Superior Court judge sentenced Foster to life imprisonment for kidnaping. On the murder charge he drew only five years to life. The court ruled the killing was unpremeditated and therefore second-degree.

Junior Editors Quiz on EASTER

QUESTION: Why doesn't Easter come on the same day every year?

ANSWER: Unlike Christmas or George Washington's birthday, Easter always falls on the same day of the week but not on the same date. In this respect, it is more like Thanksgiving, which always falls on an appointed Thursday in November. Easter is always observed on a Sunday. It does not, however, always fall in the same month, since it can come in either March or April.

On religious calenders, Easter is known as a moveable feast, meaning its observance is dictated by seasons rather than dates. The method of fixing Easter observance was decreed more than 1,500 years ago. The first Nicene Council, a meeting of leaders of the early Christian church, fixed Easter as the first Sunday after the first full moon or after March 21. The earliest possible date that Easter Sunday can fall is March 22. The latest is April 25. The date of Easter determines the start of Lent, the 40 days of fasting that precede it, and also Palm Sunday, Pentecost, Good Friday and several other religious observances connected with Christ's death.

Foreign Cars to Fill Gap?

Makers Are Counting on Recession to Boost Import Sales

NEW YORK (AP)— Makers of foreign cars are counting on the American business recession to help boost imports above the 300,000 mark this year.

With economizing becoming either a fashion or a necessity for many families, the lower original cost and the lower operating costs of little cars take on more weight as a sales talking point.

But Detroit has never quite bought the theory that economy was the main reason for the striking growth in popularity of the invaders. Many American auto officials insist that the real motive agitating the driver of a foregn car is the prestige he feels it gives him with his neighbors.

Whatever the reason, sales of foreign makes jumped from 45,000 in 1955 to nearly 200,000 in 1957. Once largely confined to the Eastern and Western seaboard states, the newcomers are now found all through the nation.

Small as 300,000 sales would be in comparison with total auto sales even in this off year for the industry, Detroit isn't ignoring the foreign competition any more. Ford and General Motors are bringing over the smaller cars they make in Europe. And American Motors is pushing the sale if its Detroit designed British made metropolitan. Ford expects to sell 35,000 of its English model and 5,000 of the Taunus made in Germany. GM is pushing its British built Vauxhall and German built Opel.

These are being put on view along with a host of cars made by French, British, Italian, German, Swedish and Czechoslovakian manufacturers at the International Automobile Show opening here tomorrow.

Reflections

J. L. VOORHEES

WE ARE ADULTS WHEN —

We are adult when we realize we are mortal, obtain a true perspective of ourselves in relation to the cosmos. To recognize the brevity of our existence is to have little patience with arrogance, procrastination or sham.

We are adult when we've acquired the ability to compromise, not ideals but material concepts and things. We may be a superior cook, why be unhappy, if we are not an excellent spell-binding orator.

M. E. SIPLE

To acknowledge our ignorance is to wear the mantle of adulthood. We are inclined to sneer at the Mystics; we are realists, or so we think. There are many things that have escaped our minds. Be tolerant, accept the unknown as a place in the mind now occupied with ignorance.

And lastly we are adults when we learn that contentment lies in the simple things. What could be more wonderful than a wild flower? Implicite trust and confidence of a friend? A baby's smile? What could be simplier than a sincere, "God bless you."

Shirley Reminisces About Her Early Life

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Shirley Temple turned back 20 years of yesterdays when we had lunch recently and remembered when some people thought she was a midget.

"When I was about 10," she said, "a British reporter with little beady eyes spent three days with me in Hollywood.

"He not only wrote that I was a midget but was 35 years old and had a seven-year-old child," Shirley laughed. "We sued, and won that one easily.

"I have another favorite suit, too," added the very beautiful Miss Temple. "A traveling carnival had a male elephant which it named 'Shirley Temple.' It used to put up signs in each town, 'Shirley Temple will be here today.' It was a mean elephant, and once it wrapped its trunk around a little boy and slammed him to the ground.

"We sued—but we could never find the carnival to serve the papers."

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

Shirley, now Mrs. Charles Black of Atherton, Cal., mentioned this when I asked if she'd be in favor of daughters Lorie, 4, and Linda Susan, 10, or son Charlie, 6, becoming actors:

"I'd have no objection—but my feeling is that the timing isn't right for a child star now. I was the first little girl in pictures. Perhaps there are too many good ones now to have any more."

She'd recently met Patty McCormack, who was criss-crossing the continent by plane making a movie and visiting a sick mother.

"My mother'd never have allowed me to travel alone!" she said. "And the studio would never let me fly at all."

Shirley came out of a 13-year retirement to begin TV and is now in the middle of a very succesful comeback.

Shirley is a feet-on-the-ground gal now, as lovely and personable as anybody'll meet. She remembered back to when somebody on the Dies Committee thought she was a Communist because she autographed a picture to a Commie abroad.

"One time when I was a child I pinned a Landon or Dewey button on Jim Farley—because somebody told me to.

"I took orders then—I don't now!" she said . . . and you knew she meant it.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Peter Ustinov of "Romanoff and Juliet" tells how his slipped disc was cured: "A Roumanian lady chiropractor walked up and down on my back" . . . Author Max Lerner's son Stephen presented a copy of "America As A Civilization" to the Dalton School library with the inscription, "From the author's son." Lerner signed it, too: "From the donor's father." There'll be a $3,000-a-week ceiling to stars' salaries in the summer theaters . . .
