Adopted Daughter Meets New Mother

AP Wirephoto

TIME FOR A CHANGE — Navy Lt. Norman (Moose) Donahoe holds Roni Marie, an adopted Greek daughter, as he and his wife try to quiet her wails in Pennsylvania Station, New York, last night. The 28-year-old fighter pilot from Texas who made the 13,000-mile journey alone to bring the girl home raced a dwindling supply of diapers on the return aerial hitchhike. Donahoe's wife had never seen the baby until she reached New York with her foster father.

Flier and Baby Arrive on Dry Land to Finish Transatlantic Diaper Derby

PATUXENT, Md. (AP)—The Navy has welcomed home its "Diaper Derby" fighter pilot and succumbed to the charms of his newly adopted Greek daughter.

Lt. Norman Moose Donahoe and 17-month-old Roni Marie, arrived at the southern Maryland Naval base about 9 a.m. after a five-day hitchhiking flight from Athens.

Moose had the little girl all dolled up in yellow dress, yellow hat and yellow coat as a Navy transport landed him back on home soil.

The baby's big brown eyes sparkled. She's a cutie.

"She was a perfect little doll all the way," said the 6-foot Texan a decorated veteran of the fighting in Korea.

"She slept through three landings and takeoffs," he said.

Donahoe and Roni Marie arrived here well fixed for diapers, which had been his main concern as he sweated out weather delays and missed connections on the flight home from Athens.

The lieutenant had 48 disposables when he took custody of Roni Marie in Athens five days ago. He was able to pick up 48 more during a layover at the Navy's big Port Lyautey Air Base in Morocco.

He landed here with 32 and the Moose Lodge at nearby Great Mills, Md., had 24 dozen more ready for him.

Donahoe explained he changed Roni Marie about six times a day, using two of the disposables each time.

"You just catch her when she has her feet in the air," he explained his technique.

Donahoe said the long trip "taught me one thing—I learned to respect a woman's position."

He was greeted here by Lt. and Mrs. O. F. Browns, long-time Navy friends of Donahoe and his wife.

The Browns drove them to Washington, where Donahoe hoped to catch a plane for New York and a reunion with his wife. She has been waiting there at her sister's home.

The Donahoes must be back Jan. 18 at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station in Texas, where he is an instructor of attack bomber fliers.

He left for Athens just a month ago today on Christmas leave to pick up Roni Marie from a foundling home. He and his wife, of Greek extraction, had been married five years and were without children when they decided to adopt a baby. They could find none here.

Donahoe was asked how he felt about children after five days of taking care of Roni Marie all by himself.

"My wife has always talked about four," he said. "I think we ought to go out for about six."

'No POW Deals With Commies:' Hammarskjold

Optimistic U.N. Chief Says Chinese Premier Raised Many Questions

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said today that Red China's Chou En-lai raised a number of questions, including a U. N. seat, during their Peiping talks—but that he definitely laid down no conditions for release of the 11 American fliers held there.

The secretary general, in a news conference, declared he had achieved what he was "aiming at" during his visit to Peiping.

He described this as merely the first step in the continuing contact.

Earlier, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the U.N., expressed a measure of optimism for the airmen's release after receiving a full report from Hammarskjold. Lodge said he was confident progress was made and "our fliers will be free."

Lodge left for Omaha, where he and U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and other top U.S. diplomats will attend a "briefing" by the Strategic Air Command. Lodge said he would consult with Dulles on Hammarskjold's report as soon as possible and they would study it with close attention.

Hammarskjold said that in his opinion an improvement in the international climate was directly connected with the question of releasing the American fliers and other U.N. command personnel held by the Chinese Communists.

He stressed, however, that Chou had made no proposals nor laid down any terms.

He said Chou's discussion of other questions was "entirely apart from the question of the prisoners."

"No deals of any kind, nor any link between these other questions and the prisoner question, were suggested by either side," Hammarskjold told reporters.

The secretary general declined to list specifically which questions Chou had brought up, but he said the Chinese leader had raised just about every issue that he has discussed in recent speeches, statements, and other expressions.

Women Firefighters Save Boy's Life

Three Women Firefighters Cited for Saving Boy's Life

Three women, members of the West Bloomfield Township Volunteer Fire Dept., were credited today with saving the life of a 3-year-old boy who was pulled unconscious from a Cass Lake canal near his home.

The boy, Mark Christian Kellner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kellner of 1952 Woodland Dr., West Bloomfield Township, was taken from the icy canal yesterday by his mother, Jeanette, 24.

The three women gave him artificial respiration until the fire department arrived with a respirator.

Mrs. Kellner found her son in the canal in four feet of water. He was missing from the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Locke B. Ward, of 1811 Woodland Dr. where Mrs. Kellner had gone to visit.

Mrs. Kellner sent the grandmother, who had joined the search, for aid.

Mrs. Ward called Mrs. Edna Eroh, a neighbor who is a volunteer fireman, and asked her to call the fire department.

Mrs. Eroh turned in the alarm and notified Mrs. Emma Knapp and Mrs. Ann Stilwell, also volunteer firemen, to proceed to the Ward home.

When the three women arrived to fight what they thought was a fire, Mrs. Ward said, "How about Chris? I think he's dead."

Mrs. Eroh called the fire department for a respirator and the three women took turns giving the boy artificial respiration until the fire department arrived.

The boy was revived five minutes later and taken to Pontiac General Hospital where his condition is reported as fair. He was in an oxygen tent today as a precautionary measure.

Baby Crawls to Safety From Burning Cellar

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—An 18-month old child crawled up a smoke-filled stairway to safety last night as her elders tried to rescue her.

Charlene Giavanni was left in the basement of the family home to play while her mother went upstairs to do some washing. When Mrs. Giavanni tried to return to the cellar, heavy smoke forced her back.

A neighbor, Mrs. C. E. Robinson, tried to get into the cellar by smashing a window but the smoke stopped her also.

The baby's father and Mrs. Robinson were about to wrap wet towels around their faces for the trip downstairs when Charlene crawled up the steps in a cloud of smoke.

City Projects in $6 Million Budget for Area

New Gas and Electric Facilities Are Among Additions Planned

Consumers Power Company will spend more than $6,000,000 this year to expand and improve its natural gas service in its Southeast Division, with headquarters in Pontiac, Division Manager David H. Gerhard announced today.

Gerhard said the company will undertake hundreds of projects to extend and improve gas service in addition to improving electric service within the city.

He stated the company would invest more than $300,000 in Pontiac and the surrounding area.

He said the Southeast Division projects are included in Consumers Power Company's record 1955 construction program, in which the company will invest close to $73,000,000 to expand and improve its electric and gas services in the 64 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula where it operates.

Among important projects he listed the installation of 90 miles of new gas mains at various places in the division gas distribution system, and improvements to 70 miles of older mains, affecting 4,250 existing services.

He said the division expects to add about 19,000 new customers this year as a result of population growth of the area in which Consumers supplies gas. In Pontiac, where the Company also supplies electricity, some 550 new electric customers will be added also.

Pontiac electric system projects include improvements at five underground vaults which supply the bulk of the power in mid-Pontiac, he added.

Also in Pontiac, a present 22,000 volt line connecting the Rundell substation in north Pontiac with the Bloomfield substation will be replaced with a 41,600 volt line, providing a more flexible power supply to the area served from the Rundell station, Gerhard added.

"Three new regulator stations to be erected are centered in rapidly growing residential areas, where demands for gas service are increasing weekly," Mr. Gerhard said. "The new stations will help us provide more efficient service in these areas, and relieve existing facilities serving more established regions," he added.

He also revealed that the familiar Wesson Street gas holder in Pontiac will be retired and torn down. He said improved gas supply facilities for Pontiac now

VIENTIANE, Laos (UP) — The government of Laos charged today that Communist-led forces have attacked and captured two small posts in northern Laos, in direct violation of the Indochina truce.

The International Armistice Control Commission immediately dispatched a mobile investigating team to the spot near Sam Neua, 187 miles northeast of Vientiane.

Weather Costs More to Report Than Forecast

CHICAGO (AP)—Everybody may not talk about the weather, but it still remains a popular topic, says a federal forecaster.

In 1954, he said, persons in a dozen of the nation's major cities, spent more money for telephone calls to get the automatic weather report than was spent by the federal government for the entire weather service. In Chicago alone, there were about 19 million telephone calls.

Forecaster Charles R. Johnson said the Weather Bureau's appropriation last year was approximately 24 million dollars.

Johnson, who spoke at a meeting of the Illinois committee of the Chicago Assn. of Commerce, said forecasters have attained an "accuracy batting average" of 85 to 88 per cent. Because of new techniques and studies, he said, the chances are good forecasters will hit an even higher level of perfection.

Soviet Offers Data on A-Power to U.N.

Foreign Ministry press chief Leonid Ilyichev told a news conference the Soviet Union is "ready to hand over the scientific and technical experience piled up in the Soviet Union."

He said this information would be made public through a report to the United Nations Committee on Atomic Energy.

County May Get 3rd Missile Site

Conservation Dept. OKs Lease at Proud Lake to Army Engineers

Another link in the guided missile defense chain around the metropolitan Detroit industrial area may be constructed in the Proud Lake Recreation Area near Milford.

At its meeting yesterday, the State Conservation Dept. agreed to lease to the Army a 66-acre tract in the Proud Lake region and an 86-acre site in Algonac State Park across Lake St. Clair from Selfridge Air Force Base.

Final authorization on the leases must come from the State Administrative Board.

After that, tests must be made at the sites to determine finally if they are suitable for "Nike" installations, Col. John E. Unverferth of the Detroit District Army Engineer Corps office said.

The two new locations are part of an expanding chain of missile sites extending in a rough circle around Detroit.

The Nike is an antiaircraft guided missile operated electronically.

Two other Nike installations are now under construction in Oakland County. One is at Squirrel and Featherstone roads in Auburn Heights, the other at 11-Mile and Franklin roads in Southfield Township.

Construction on both is "relatively on schedule," Col. Unverferth said.

The Proud Lake Recreation Area is in Commerce Township, southeast of Milford.

Student Found Dead in Swamp

MSC Freshman Died of Fumes or Drowning, Autopsy Shows

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A Michigan State College student whose body was found in a Washtenaw County swamp was reported last night to have died of either carbon monoxide poisoning or drowning.

Edwin C. Ganzhorn, Washtenaw County coroner, said, however, the results of the autopsy on the body of Loren King, 22, were "inconclusive."

Vital organs were sent to the state laboratory at East Lansing for further examination.

King's body was found yesterday in two feet of water in a swamp off Grass road about five miles northwest of Saline. Saline is near Ann Arbor.

King, an Air Force veteran discharged last November, had enrolled at MSC only last week as a freshman in the engineering school. A brother, John Gordon King, also a student at Michigan State, said Loren appeared discouraged about his school work after attending classes for only two days.

John King reported his brother missing when Loren failed to keep a dinner date last Monday.

Loren King's car was found near the swamp Wednesday. Sheriff's deputies returned to the scene Thursday for further investigation and found the body. Only one hand was visible above the water of the swamp when deputies found it.

Grand Rapids Alerted to Downtown Gas Leak

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Police barricaded a four-block section of downtown Grand Rapids today when a gas main leak was reported in the area.

Pedestrian and auto traffic was routed away from the intersection of Fountain St. and Division Ave. Police said gas fumes were reported in the area about 10:40 a. m.

French, German Leaders Tackle Thorny Saar Issue

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met in this resort city today for vital talks on issues still dividing the World War II enemies. At the top of the agenda was the troublesome Saar question.

The dynamic French Premier and the austere, 79-year-old West German leader began their conferences at 10:40 a. m. in a luxury hotel. The talks were expected to last until midnight.

West German officials said the two leaders would cover the whole range of French-German problems.

Adenauer has promised his Parliament to seek from Mendes-France clarification of differing French-German interpretations of the agreement signed between the two nations on the future of the Saar Valley.

The agreement, one of the complex of pacts covering West German rearmament, would put the strategic coal-rich area under the control of the projected Western European Union but continue its close economic ties with France.

The Saar pact has met with widespread opposition in Germany, which ruled the area before both world wars. The French, however, say they will not renegotiate the agreement, and Paris has maintained that all the German rearmament treaties must be accepted as a package.

In addition to the Saar problem,

American States to Discuss Reports of Foreign Planes Striking Costa Rica

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Council of the Organization of American States called an emergency meeting for 4 p.m. today after hearing reports that "planes from abroad illegedly" participated in recent disorders in Costa Rica.

The Council received a report from its investigating commission now in Costa Rica saying there had been plane flights, machine-gun strafing and bombings in Costa Rica after the Council, by resolution, had asked all American states to keep the peace in Central America.

The commission also reported it had found "serious indications that arms and munitions have been supplied from a foregin source to rebel elements in Costa Rican territory."

The commission did not identify the "foreign source."

The five-nation investigating group forwarded its finding to Jose Mora of Uruguay, president of the Council of the Organization of American States. The council sent the commission to the scene to probe Costa Rican charges of aggression by neighboring Nicaragua in connection with the fighting.

Nicaraguan officials have denied Costa Rican accusations that the Managua government armed, trained and equipped the rebels. They say the fighting is internal revolution.

The commission's findings will be used by the OAS Council as a guide in deciding whether action should be taken under the Rio de Janeiro Treaty. This pact provides for joint action by the American states if any of its fellows is invaded. But already the arrival of the OAS mission and the promise of observation flights by U.S. planes appeared to have had a calming effect on the fracas.

The Costa Rican general staff reported that a rebel force of 200 to 300 men apparently was stalled around La Cruz, in the northwest tip of the country just south of the Nicaraguan border. A spokesman said no contact had yet been made with this force, although government troops were developing a movement to defeat it.

The rest of the country was reported quiet with the government in control.

More Dances on Tap

'54 Report Gives Glimpse at City's Recreation Plans

Development of a "more comprehensive" program for teenagers, continued improvement of areas and use of 110-acres of city-owned land as a top soil reservoir head the Parks and Recreation Dept. calendar for 1955.

The look into the immediate future is included in the Parks and Recreation Dept.'s annual report for 1954 just issued by Director David R. Ewalt.

In 1954, the department sponsored 40 dances with live music for junior high school-age boys and girls, plus an uncounted number of record dances in its 17 community centers.

"But we don't have enough programs in enough neighborhoods," Ewalt said. "We want to expand so we can hold at least one dance a week in every neighborhood."

A continuation of the past year's improvement of grounds and equipment at Pontiac parks is foreseen by Ewalt. In addition, he lists:

1. Starting development of plans for the Hawthorne School park area.

2. A rejuvenation of Aaron Perry Park, particularly the area adjacent to the new Adah Shelly Library.

Ewalt describes as "black gold" the rich top soil in the 110 acres of Avon Township land owned by the city.

Although the property has belonged to Pontiac for many years, just recently was it turned over to the parks department. It was originally purchased as a sewage treatment plant site.

Besides its top soil, the land will furnish sand and gravel for municipal park purposes and will be used for establishing a seedling nursery and sod beds for municipal usage, Ewalt said.

For 1955, the department head also sees:

1. Continued development of a program for adult special interest groups.

2. An increase in the number of playgrounds and the type of program offered in the summer.

3. Development of a master plan for shade tree planting to be put into immediate effect.

4. Development of a better plan for eradication of weeds and other nuisance vegetation on city property during the summer months.

5. Enlargement and improvement of the tee-offs, clubhouse area and practice greens at the Municipal Golf Course.

In 1954, special interest group activities included dramatics, choral singing, fashion clubs, a social club for citizens over 60 and a chess and checkers club.

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and the Pontiac and Northwest Detroit Astronomer's Assn. both affiliated with the department during the year, broadening the field of special interests.

The city operated 19 supervised playgrounds for eight weeks during the summer, and offered part-time playground programs at three other locations. Taking part were 41,530 youngsters.

In addition the city's day camp operated at full capacity.

A total of 44 shade trees were planted during the year and preliminary planning and tree work was done at the new branch library.

The forestry division uncovered 30 cases of Dutch Elm disease during the year and Ewalt predicts the number will mount this year despite preventative sprayings.

More than 5,000 elms were sprayed in the 12-month period but the disease increased 10 times over 1953, when it was first discovered here.

To control weeds, department crews sprayed chemicals on 95 miles of land along business, trunkline and residential streets at least once.

At the city golf course, a record 34,505 nine-hole rounds were played. Ewalt attributed the new high to good weather, improved service and course conditions.

At its community centers, the department hosted 40,500 youngsters.

The department's program was carried on at a cost of $3.01 per Pontiac resident, compared to the national rate of $6 per person, the report states.

Baseball Auction Brings in $574 for Bobbie Dunn

Club 99's annual wild game dinner last night turned out to be a benefit for the Bobbie Dunn Fund, owner Louis Michot reported today.

Bob Swift, former Detroit Tiger, produced a baseball signed by the players in last year's All-Star game.

Dizzy Trout, another ex-Tiger, took time out from his guest speaking chores and began auctioning off the ball.

Highest bid came from Frank Holbrook, owner of a Dearborn auto agency, who paid $250 for it.

Two other baseballs were brought out and auctioned for $125 and $100 respectively to H. E. Hurkett, of Franklin Hills and Cleveland Indian pitcher Hal Newhouser.

Trout, with assistance from Joe Ginsburg, of the Chicago White Sox, and Steve Souchock, of the Tigers, passed a cigar box among the 75 diners and collected another $99 for the fund.

Michot said he would turn over the $574 collected to the Rev. E. D. Auchard, one of three local pastors administering the fund for 13-year-old Bobbie, who lost his legs under a train Christmas Day.

Weather Tricks Warm the North, Chill the South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter weather played a few tricks today. It was warmer in northern North Dakota than in parts of the Gulf Coast.

Cold air spread southward across the eastern Gulf states and pushed into Florida early today. Freezing weather extended all the way to the Gulf Coast.

It was 31 at Mobile, Ala., 19 degrees lower than yesterday morning. At the same time it was a comparatively mild 35 in Williston and Minot, N.D. Miami reported an early morning reading of 49.

The mild winter weather extended over the Great Plains from Texas to the Canadian border. Temperatures were up from 5 to 28 degrees compared to yesterday morning. It was 66 in Brownsville, Tex.

In London, melting snow and slush following in the wake of blinding blizzards brought travel chaos.

Drifts up to 12 feet deep blocked major roads in the Midlands and around London. Rapidly melting snow flooded towns and villages in the Tamar Valley between Devon and Cornwall.

Express trains ran up to four hours late.

Veteran Pontiac Policeman Retiring After 33 Years

If you're one of Pontiac's old-timers, you will recall a young patrolman who was as much a part of the Huron-Saginaw intersection in the mid-20's as today's modern traffic signal.

You will recall, too, the many motorists who would stop around at Christmas time, leaving the policeman bundles of presents and good cheer.

That policeman now is 63 and retiring from the police force after 33 years of service to Pontiac.

Lt. Ira E. Herron today walked into Chief Herbert W. Straley's office and announced his resignation with the same smiling manner that meant warmth and friendship to Pontiac residents who used to see him directing traffic with that early American "stoplight signal," the semaphore.

Dressed in the blue, high collar uniform and white gloves, Herron was known for his courtesy and the way he liked people, Capt. Clark M. Wheaton said. Herron's resignation leaves Wheaton senior man in the department with 32 years.

Herron came to Pontiac after his discharge from World War I in 1919. He has lived here ever since. The veteran policeman, who joined the force April 20, 1922, was born in Evergreen Township, near Cass City in Sanilac County. Married, he lives at 535 Auburn Ave.

Since police retirement is compulsory at the age of 62, Herron had received three 6-month extensions in the past, said Straley. His last duties were performed in the department's juvenile bureau with Sgt. Henry Hoyt.

Formerly a desk lieutenant, he also served as a detective and patrolman. He was promoted to his present rank in 1951 by former Director of Public Safety Milton F. Cooney.

Police officials explained that Herron's retirement becomes effective March 1, but that he chose to leave the department immediately to take advantage of accumulated leave days and vacation time.

Judge Dismisses Charge in Hit-Run Case

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was dismissed against Raymond W. Clift, 30, of 3173 Bessie, Auburn Heights, today when he appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

After listening to testimony, McCallum said Clift apparently had parked his car and was walking back to another vehicle which he had just struck on Dec. 31. Police arrested Clift on the charge at the time. Clift had pleaded innocent earlier at his arraignment.

However, Clift is scheduled to return to court Feb. 16 to answer a charge of reckless driving growing out of the same incident, said McCallum.

GOP Hits Governor for Ignoring Taxation

LANSING (AP)—Republican legislative leaders today criticized Gov. Williams for, as they said, proposing expensive programs but ignoring the taxes which must follow.

Top men in the House and Senate agreed that Williams' message to the Legislature yesterday was unsound because he promised better highways and other advances without additional taxes to pay for them.

Williams had contended that a 500 million dollar highway construction bond issue could be paid off without raising the gasoline tax.

Motorist Makes Not Guilty Plea

Denies Recklessness; Is Charged With Engaging in Fatal Road Race

A Pontiac motorist yesterday pleaded not guilty to a reckless driving charge which stemmed from a fatal accident Jan. 4.

Police said Truman Davis, 24, of 431 N. Saginaw St. was racing with Carrol E. Queen, 23, of 6115 Tipsico Lake Rd., when Queen's car went out of control on M59 just east of Elizabeth Lake road and overturned several times, fatally injuring Queen.

"It was due to Davis' negligence that George Taylor (chief assistant Oakland County prosecutor) issued a warrant against Davis Wednesday," Waterford Police Chief Frank Van Atta said.

Davis was arrested at his home early yesterday by Patrolmen William Stokes and John Forbush.

Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy, who arraigned Davis yesterday, freed the defendant on $100 bond and set trial for Jan. 27.

Nationalist Planes Pound Red Island

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warplanes last night and early today pounded Red-held Tienao Island for the fifth straight day of mounting action in the Tachen area 200 miles north of Formosa.

Communist shipping was attacked near Yushan Island, 30 miles northeast of the Nationalist-held Tachen islands, and in the vicinity of Chiku Island, 16 miles southwest of the Tachens.

Recreation Board Seeking Artificial Ice Skating Rink

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — A Community-felt need for boosting recreation was climaxed at a special meeting last night when the recreation board passed a formal resolution asked that the city commission put a $110,000 revenue bond issue to a public vote in April.

This would finance construction of an artificial ice skating rink in time for next winter.

Converted to summer time usage, the Eton Park rink, 115x215 feet overall, could be transformed into removable tennis and basketball courts.

Skating and hockey boards, fencing, lighting and sound equipment would all be included in the facility. Construction of a shelter house for Eton Park, has already been approved by the city commission.

A 15 cent charge for children and a higher fee for adults would offset maintenance and supervisory costs.

Board members theorized that 5,000 8 - 19-year-old Birmingham youths alone could benefit from the skating rink, which would operate from mid-November through March.

The board believes such an activity would alleviate the rising juvenile problem, and offer many family-sharing ventures.

Clawson Widow Granted $15,000

Court Rules Sum Due in Woman's Suit Over Husband's Road Death

A Clawson woman, who sued for damages after her husband died from injuries received when hit by a truck, was granted $15,000 in a ruling filed yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Mrs. Myrtle P. Vincent, of 144 Lincoln brought suit against Eldon D. Quigg of Birmingham. She alleged that Quigg was driving a truck which struck her husband, Charles, Feb. 11, 1954, on Woodward avenue near Benjamin street, in Royal Oak Township.

Vincent, an employe of the county road commission, was waving a flag to divert traffic when hit.

Mrs. Vincent charged that Quigg was guilty of negligence.

She said she had lost benefits of money her husband would have earned had he lived, plus incurring heavy expense in hospital and other bills resulting from the accident. Quigg denied that he was driving in a negligent manner.

Druggists estimate that 90 per cent of the prescriptions written by doctors today could not have been filled 20 years ago because the drugs they called for did not exist.

33 Parachute Over Alaska

Troops Hit Silk as 3rd Plane in Arctic Airlift Runs Into Trouble

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)— A planeload of 33 Operation Snowbird paratroopers were forced to hit the silk over Ladd Air Force Base here last night after one of the aircraft's two engines failed.

All landed safely despite darkness and zero weather. The plane was brought undamaged to the ground by its six-man crew.

The jump was the third in the giant Army-Air Force exercise since the more than 100 planes started from Sewart Air Force Base, Tenn., Monday in the 3,000-man exercise.

* * *

Thirty-eight men dropped safely from one of the C119 Flying Boxcars Tuesday near Sewart but two members of the plane crew were killed in a subsequent crash. Thirty-three more jumped safely at Miles City, Mont., the same day. The plane was landed successfully.

Last night's jump was on the last leg of the northward flight, from Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, to Anchorage. One engine conked out 10 minutes after the plane passed Nenana, 50 miles southwest of Fairbanks.

* * *

The pilot, 1st Lt. Robert Bruckner, turned the ship back toward Fairbanks and ordered the men out when over Ladd. Some drifted away from the base but all were accounted for within half an hour.

One member of the paratroop unit, Pvt. Richard C. Welch, said he thought the plane could have landed safely 99 chances out of 100 but the jump was ordered for maximum safety precautions. He said he was pretty scared.

Welch, like the others aboard, was from the 503rd RCT Support Co., Camp Campbell, Ky. The plane and crew were from the 745th Troop Carrier Squadron, Charleston, S.C.

Royal Navy Develops Helicopter Net Rescue

LONDON (AP)—The British Royal Navy has disclosed that it has developed a helicopter rescue system to snatch men from the sea in nets, like fish.

The aerial trawling gear was designed by Lt. Cmdr. John S. Sproule.

The net, trailing a sea-anchor to keep the open side forward, is lowered from the rescuing helicopter by wires. The pilot slowly flies ahead, scooping a survivor into the net. The net is then raised to the helicopter by a winch.

About 100 volunteers have been hauled from the drink by the new system in trials which continued for several months. One helicopter crew became so expert that it netted 12 human fish in 20 minutes.

Kavanagh Rules Out Chiropractic Checkups

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh today upheld his predecessor's opinion that chiropractors may not legally give students the physical examinations required for school athletics.

Kavanagh said state law limits chiropractors to manipulating the spine and that any adequate physical examination would have to invade other fields of medical practice forbidden to the chiropractors.

Recalls Attack by Puerto Ricans

Woman's Unchallenged House Invasion Gives Goose Pimples to Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several members called for tighter security measures in the House today after an unemployed stenographer who says "Nobody tried to stop me" walked up to Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and asked to make a speech.

Turned down by the surprised Rayburn, she was permitted to leave without even giving her name—only the word that she came from New Kensington, Pa. Guards later sought her in vain around the Capitol.

* * *

It was not until hours later that she was found by newsmen at a local hotel. She said she is Mrs. Grace Jackson Clark, 49, of New Kensington, and that she wanted to ask the House to urge the country "to stop long enough to consider what good citizenship is."

Mrs. Clark described herself as "ignorant of the way the country is run."

Her entry into the House and approach to Rayburn on the speaker's rostrum, in violation of all congressional rules, came shortly after the House convened yesterday. A clerk was reading a message from President Eisenhower.

* * *

The incident, innocent enough in itself, gave goose pimples to members who recall vividly last March 1, when four Puerto Rican nationalists in the gallery shot and wounded five members on the floor of the House.

Representatives Bentley (R-Mich) and Roberts (D-Ala), two of the most seriously wounded in that shooting, called today for tighter security measures to protect members against further incidents.

* * *

Rayburn disclosed that he has ordered plainclothes detectives back into the spectators' galleries. He also hinted that House doorkeepers were due for a talking to.

House interest was revived in establishing a professional police force to guard the Capitol. The present force is largely made up of political appointees.

Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts attributed yesterday's incident largely to laxity by doorkeepers who, he said, should have known the woman was a stranger.

* * *

Mrs. Clark told newsmen that if she had been permitted to speak, she would have asked the House "to put me on television for about an hour so I could talk to the country."

"We should take a look at ourselves," she said. "We're running wild and everybody is just concerned with himself. We're too tense and not together."

Mrs. Clark said she is separated from her husband and lives with her parents. She said she has been unable to find a job for the past two years.

* * *

Asked about the House security arrangements, she said only one page boy had tried to talk to her as she crossed the house floor.

"I did notice, though, that several persons looked alerted when I passed them. I was beginning to get nervous by the time I got up to Mr. Rayburn and was relieved when he said I couldn't speak. I had a few things memorized but by that time had forgotten them.

"I asked him what that other man was reading and Mr. Rayburn said it was a message from the President.

"I knew then that I definitely wouldn't get a chance."

Surgery Patient Waits as Doc Goes for Part

DENVER (AP)—A Denver surgeon stopped during an operation on a 7-year-old child yesterday to make a 3½-mile dash to a bone bank.

Then, with the needed piece of bone, he completed the operation. It normally takes an hour, but in this case the patient was on the operating table 2½ hours. The child suffers from tuberculosis of the spine.

The operation was at National Jewish Hospital, but the doctor and patient were not identified. Police provided an escort for the doctor's hurried trip to the bone bank at an Army hospital.

The human liver molds itself gradually to conform to the shape of the neighboring viscera in the body.

National Toll Road System Offered as Substitute Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national toll highway network was proposed today as a substitute for a presidential commission's recommendation that the federal government build strategic roads.

H. E. Bailey, recently resigned as general manager of the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority, said the government financing plan would be used by "forces of reaction . . . to pass the buck to the federal government for responsibility for all classes of highways."

In an address prepared for a national road conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, he said that a 1939 report of the Bureau of Public Roads opposing toll financing had "delayed the development of a national trunk highway system for 15 years."

* * *

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of President Eisenhower's commission, told the conference at its opening session yesterday that "toll roads are here to stay" but that he didn't think very much of toll financing.

Robert T. Jones Jr., president of the Houston Chronicle, said the Clay committee plan would end any need for further toll roads.

The Clay commission called for a total federal-state highway program of 101 billion dollars over the next 10 years. It suggested that the federal government pay 25 billions of the cost of a proposed 27-billion-dollar network of 40,000 miles of interstate highways through revenue bonds floated by a new highway corporation. Clay said gasoline tax revenues over the next 30 years would be more than enough to pay for this program.

* * *

Bailey, instead, called for repeal of the 2-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax. He suggested "that source of revenue be left entirely to the states."

He asked that the federal government set up a national turnpike authority and provide $1,416,000,000 a year for highway work from excise taxes on autos, trucks, oils, tires and parts.

Under Bailey's program, the entire 40,000-mile interstate network would be made up of toll roads financed by joint funds from state and federal turnpike authorities. In sparsely populated areas the federal government would pay the entire construction cost.

A toll fee of 1 to 1½ cents a mile would be charged to automobiles and 2 to 4 cents a mile to trucks. Proceeds would be used for maintenance and the retirement of bonds issued by the states to finance their part of the system.

Sues for Broken Ankle Caused by Jitterbug

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Betty Mayers, 34, has asked for $3,000 damages for a smashed ankle which she says resulted from "a wild and unreasonable form of dancing, sometimes referred to as jitterbugging."

Mrs. Mayers, who lives in suburban Florissant, claimed in a Circuit Court suit filed yesterday a jitterbug broke several bones in her right ankle while she was dancing aboard the Mississippi River excursion boat SS Admiral last June. The suit was filed against the operators of the boat.

Transit Strike Looms in Philly

Workers Plan Citywide Walkout Tonight Over 17-Cent Pay Hike

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Transportation workers made last-minute plans today for a citywide transit strike at midnight.

Negotiators for the CIO Transport Workers Union last night rejected a 6-cent-an-hour wage increase over a two-year period proposed by the Philadelphia Transportation Co. for its 9,000 employes.

* * *

The PTC is the only major public carrier in the city. It provides trolley, bus and subway service to an estimated two million persons daily.

The union rejection of the company offer came in a seven-hour session in the City Hall reception room of Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. The TWU is asking a 17-cent hourly increase over the present average wage of $1.87 an hour. Other benefits are sought but the wage issue is the key one.

* * *

Michael J. Quill, international TWU president, described the company offer as a "wage increase of 3-cents next year in addition to the 3-cents they offered us on Tuesday."

A company spokesman said of the PTC offer, "That's all there is, there isn't any more." He implied the PTC couldn't afford a greater increase.

Further negotiations were scheduled for today.

Panicky Airman Dies; Jumped on Takeoff

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A 24-year-old airman apparently panicked during a B50 simulated takeoff last night and leaped to his death through the bomb bay doors while the craft was still on the ground.

Biggs Air Force Base spokesmen said the takeoffs, under simulated adverse conditions, are used to condition airmen to the nerve-wracking experience of flying in combat.

* * *

"Apparently the program backfired this time," a base spokesman said.

Maj. Robert P. Nelson, Biggs public information officer, said the bomb bay doors were open—a normal procedure in the exercise. The B50, traveling about 60 miles an hour, was one-third down the runway when the airman apparently jumped from the plane, Nelson said. His name was withheld.

Reds Hung Over Again

MOSCOW (AP)—Russians celebrated New Year's Eve all over again last night. This time they set the holiday by the prerevolutionary calendar, which ran two weeks behind the Western calendar now in use.

Eleanor Says U.S. Must Lead in Ideals

DENVER (AP)—Military and economic leadership are not enough for the United States to meet its world challenge, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt declared yesterday.

"There is a challenge in the world today—from Russia, from its satellites and recently from Red China," she said. "That challenge is military and economic, but it also is a challenge of ideals and ideas—and we must meet them with ideals and ideas."

The former First Lady addressed a $17.50-a-plate charity luncheon sponsored by the Denver Hadassah chapter.

She said development of atomic energy for peacetime use "will present us with serious problems," even should the world be spared an atomic war.

Panty-Modeling Monkey Nurses Hangover Today

SOUTHEND, England (AP) — A panty-clad monkey was arrested for drunkenness yesterday, proving that Benedictine is hardly a proper potion for primates.

Jokko found a bottle of the liqueur while prowling around the house in the absence of his owner Mrs. Molly Jones. Several drinks later, he rummaged through a drawer and turned up a pair of pink nylon panties. He donned these and staggered out of the house.

He soon attracted a large audience of homebound schoolchildren. They laughed merrily, never having seen a drunken monkey in nylon panties before.

In due course, the rumpus attracted a policeman, who took the tiny beast to the station house. Upon arrival, Jokko, now in a bad humor, threw papers about and attempted to bite the desk sergeant. Police finally had to lock him in a cell.

Mrs. Jones was found at last and took Jokko home. He meekly closed his bloodshot little eyes and went to bed to nurse a severe hangover.

An Outstanding Trio

Highlight of the Bosses' Night program of Pontiac's Junior Chamber of Commerce was the deserved recognition given three outstanding young men.

Frederick J. Poole, vice president of the F. J. Poole Co., building suppliers, was named the "Outstanding Young Man of 1954." The title of "Outstanding Boss" went to David R. Ewalt, City Parks and Recreation director.

Melvin Eller, home builder and parking lot operator, won "Key Man" award. This signifies the chamber's belief that the recipient has been its outstanding member in the past year.

The chamber's custom of bestowing these annual awards is a happy one. We think it is a splendid way of calling the community's attention to the work of its rising young men.

U. S. Pay Raises Overdue

All signs so far indicate that Congress is in a mood to vote favorable action on President Eisenhower's request for a five per cent wage boost for Federal employes.

The opposite seems to be the case, however, regarding his insistence that postal pay raises be accompanied by increased postal rates.

The raise for 1,500,000 civil service employes would add $400,000,000 a year to the Federal payrolls. This would include $55,000,000 for a contributory system of health insurance.

Mr. Eisenhower wants the pay boost of $129,000,000 for 500,000 postal employes hinged to an increase in postal rates sufficient to put the department on a pay-as-you-go basis.

★ ★ ★

Besides advocating an increase to four cents for letters, he proposed immediate raises in second and third class rates. Later he is expected to ask for a one cent raise, to seven cents, for air mail.

It is on the issue of mail rates that the President's proposal will meet strong opposition. Democrats, almost to a man, oppose any increase, although Congressional sentiment in general favors the five per cent pay boost.

This newspaper believes the wage increase for civil service and postal employes is overdue. We also think the President is on solid ground in demanding postal increases to offset the wage raise.

It doesn't make sense to continue operating this department in the red. Its deficit for 1955 already is estimated at $400,000,000. If it takes four cent letter mail and higher second and third class rates to put this department on a business basis, the issue must be faced squarely.

Just a Matter of Defense

Rumblings in Washington indicate that the last word may not have been said regarding the choice of a site west of Cadillac for a new jet air base.

Reports are that several northern Michigan Representatives and some chambers of commerce are dissatisfied with the location. There even has been talk of a Congressional inquiry into the matter.

★ ★ ★

The trouble began when a location in the hinterlands of Benzie County was chosen. This site was abandoned because it is near the National Music Camp at Interlochen and it was feared noise of the planes would disrupt programs there.

So far, there has been pressure for building the base near Frankfort, Kalkaska, Pellston, Grayling and as far south as Battle Creek. This is wholly understandable. A base such as is proposed for Cadillac could mean considerable economic help for a small community.

★ ★ ★

But despite this, it seems to us the sole determining factor should be our national defense needs and that Air Force Secretary Talbott should make that clear to all concerned.

Traffic Deaths Down

Michigan motorists have made a good start in the New Year.

For the second weekend of 1955 there has been a meaasurable increase in highway safety and a sharp decrease in fatalities.

During the past weekend there were only seven traffic deaths in the State, or just three more than the previous weekend. Both totals represent a highly commendable improvement over the Christmas weekend when 18 lives were lost.

Perhaps the heavy Yuletide toll made drivers more cautious. Favorable weather and driving conditions also may have been factors in the better record.

Whatever the case, drivers deserve credit for this fine showing and for proving that the terrible slaughter on our roads can be reduced.

Percentagewise, more rich people commit suicide than poor ones. It's mighty hard to quit a game when you're losing.

Father of State Park Idea Envisioned No Charge Made

Experience: What we buy on the installment plan, and the payments often are rough.

The proposition to make a small service charge for the use of our state parks would find its strongest opposition from him, if "the father of state parks," the late to do the same. Often in his home on Orchard Lake did he tell me that the parks were to be for the free use of everybody—and he always closed with "for all time."

Dogs Do Not Belong on School Grounds; Don't Let Them Loose, Pleads Reader

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

What can be done to keep the dogs off the school grounds?

Tuesday morning three children were bitten by a dog during recess at Webster school. The most seriously hurt was Tommy Wheaton, a first grade student, Tommy was hanging on the school bars with head down when the dog bit him on the eye lid and cheek. It is a miracle he did not lose his eye.

Christine Emerson, also a first grade student was bitten on the finger. Another student was bitten on the arm but due to the fact that he was wearing a heavy jacket, he was only bruised.

The dog was so vicious that the school janitor could not catch him and the dog warden was called. It will take five days to establish whether the dog has rabies.

Dogs are a nuisance during the mating season. They definitely do not belong on school grounds or running loose.

Let's hear from the parents. Let's hear from the city manager and dog warden.

School Days Too Short for Study, Says Reader

In the five years I have read this column, I have been amazed to see so many letters commenting on the conditions of the public schools, yet have never seen anyone willing or able to do anything about it.

One thing I feel is very detrimental to the mental health of our children is the short school days some of our schools are keeping.

With so many subjects and so little time our children are forced to work under a terrific strain in order to complete the daily assignments, as they are only allowed about 15 minutes per subject with absolutely no study time at all. And the teachers expect them to come up with a completed lesson every time and expect it to be done perfectly, too.

A strain like this is enough to break down the mental constitutions of any adult over a period of the average school term.

If there are any of the parents in the Baldwin District who feel this way and are interested in a better school program, will you please call me at FE 4-2583 and do your part to help make a better school for our children. As there is a group organizing to help fight this thing, your support is needed.

Many People With Less Experience Think Dr. Crane's Articles Are Bunk

"Dr. Crane's the bunk!" husbands often tell their wives. "He doesn't know what he is talking about!" others may exclaim. And then, like Randy, they may place themselves far out on a limb. In such cases, always remember the blind men who met their first elephant!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-323; Randy V., aged 20, is a student at Northwestern University.

"Dr. Crane, you pulled a boner in your Quiz Column last week," he began.

"You had stated that 'Farmers say Haw when they want a horse to stop, start, turn right, turn left.'

"Well, horses don't know about 'Haw' or 'Gee'. Those terms are only used on oxen. Farmers would laugh themselves to death if they heard you say 'Gee' or 'Haw' to a horse."

This isn't the first time readers have pointed out what they thought were errors.

"Oh, Dr. Crane is all the bunk!" many husbands exclaim when they read this column and their wives use it to correct some of their errors.

And maybe you can catch me in error at times, for I don't claim to be infallible. But you better beware!

For I have had a lot of experience in life, and if my experience is larger than yours, you may sincerely think you are 100% right, yet be as much in error as Randy, in today's case.

Randy apparently hasn't lived on a farm. He must have obtained his knowledge of farm terminology from books or from listening to his grandfather.

Which reminds me of the story of the five blind men of Hindustan.

You may recall their first visit to a circus, where they encountered an elephant.

One took hold of the elephant's ear. Another examined his tusk. The third explored his trunk. A fourth got hold of his tail, while the last blind man put his arms around his leg.

Later that night when they had returned home, they got to arguing very violently about what an elephant resembled.

The first insisted he was like a fan. The next denied that and said an elephant was like a spear. The third vehemently argued that an elephant was like a snake.

The fourth said the others were all haywire, for an elephant was like a rope, while the last one laughed scornfully at his companions and said they were all crazy for an elephant was like a tree.

You and I realize that these five blind men simply lacked the total experience with an elephant to give them a true picture.

Quarrels are usually based on similar minute segments of experience which different people have.

They insist in all sincerity that they are right. But they figuratively may have the elephant only by the tail or the tusk and thus possess a very inadequate perspective.

When you have dated one or two people or have been married for a few years, don't think your experience is the "whole elephant."

Thousands of patients have poured out their secret confessions in my office. And I receive 1,000 letters per day from you readers on a nationwide scale, also stating your problems, fears and complexes.

Fortified with a Ph.D. in psychology, as well as an M.D., I have combined a lot of experience regarding human beings.

So just be careful about criticizing this column unless your experience tops the vast amount I have gleaned in the past 30 odd years of professional practice.

David Lawrence Says:

Need Uniform Treatment in Security Risk Probes

WASHINGTON — Uniformity of treatment for every citizen who is the subject of examination by the government to determine whether, as a present or future employe, he may be a security risk is generally accepted here as desirable.

Yet it is becoming evident that the procedures are not uniform and that the rules are not standardized and that many pressure groups really don't want everybody treated alike.

Thus, when a government board finds that a man has been lying and that he misled the intelligence officers of the government, his supporters cry out that he is being punished just for telling what one of them described as a few "whimsical lies."

Despite the fact that the employe under investigation was proved a liar to his own government, there is insistence that he be cleared because he is valuable or may be valuable in government work.

In another instance, an employe is cleared by one department but not by another, and the criterion in each case should have been the same. It is well known that one of the factors in determining a security risk is whether he has members of his family behind the Iron Curtain and thus could be subjected to blackmail here by Soviet agents. If that's the rule in one case, it is only fair to apply it in all cases or rescind it for everybody.

President Eisenhower concedes that the present security program can be improved and that it is under constant study. Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, Democrat, has suggested that a national commission — composed of legislators, officials of the executive branch and private citizens — be apointed to study the subject.

Eisenhower at his press conference was asked about using a commission of private citizens, but he got the impression that what was meant by the question was a board such as President Truman appointed. It was called the President's Loyalty Review Board. Eisenhower said he didn't think much of taking up the idea again.

Actually, there is more than meets the eye in both kinds — the board appointed by the President to review what the departmental boards do and a national commission to study the problem, which is what the Minnesota senator had in mind. They are two separate things, and it is unfortunate that the diffgrence wasn't made clear at Wednesday's press conference.

Early in the present administration, former Senator Bingham of Connecticut, Republican, who was chairman of the Loyalty Review Board under the Truman administration, counseled the Department of Justice against abolishing that board, together with the trained staff it had assembled and the panel of lawyers it had utilized in handling appeals. But the board was abolished because the present administration felt that the category of "loyalty" should be merged and all cases considered under the "security risk" class.

Under the Truman administration, the Loyalty Review Board had no jurisdiction over security cases and each department's judgment was final. Obviously there was and still is as great a need for a review board for security cases as there was for loyalty cases.

It is also an advantage to have a panel of lawyers not connected with any department of the government to help review the appeals and the auditing of or checking up on departmental decisions.

The whole problem of handling security risks as to persons who have at one time or another had Communist sympathies or affiliations is difficult from an administrative viewpoint. There is no easy answer.

It is interesting, for example, now after several months delay, to read the Army's report on the case of Major Peress, against whom Senator McCarthy directed his fire in an attempt to prevent an honorable discharge being given to a man about whom there was testimony that he was a Communist and who had failed to answer questions about it on his Army papers.

Now, when the facts come out about the case, few of the critics of the Wisconsin Senator are willing to say he was right in his original quest. The Washington Post—which has been one of the most severe critics of Senator McCarthy for the last several years—however, is very outspoken. The Post says editorially, after a review of the report:

"Thus there appears to have been a good deal of justification for Senator McCarthy's ire at the Army's handling of the Peress case—though the confusion did not by any means justify McCarthy's abuse of General Zwicker or the other indignities perpetrated by the senator.

"Nevertheless, the Army's long delay in making the Peress chronology public has served only to compound the senatorial feeling that its (the Army's) whole attitude was uncooperative and evasive."

Provocation to anger arises under such circumstances, as an executive department fails to make prompt disclosure of the facts. Through all such cases, however, the public is aroused to the importance of finding a solution, and congressional committees can give invaluable help through constant investigation of the defects in the security system.

French National Assembly doesn't object to 500,000 loaded Germans in Germany. What they fear is elbows outside parallels.

The U. S. is not the only nation that has the habit of paying visits to Lafayette.

In the last two wars the Germans got there before we did.

They also used the welcome mat for a scatter rug in 1870.

We have pointed out at stately intermissions it is downhill from Berlin to Paris.

The Chamber of Deputies gave Mendes-France a 287-to-260 plaster of confidence. That isn't exactly scalding. But it synchronized the tottering. And insures the Premier's job until the next crop of pate-de-foie-gras.

The East Germans have an army of 500,000 too. There will be no trouble if we can stop them from using the same picnic grounds.

Best Way to Prevent Frostbite, Chilblain: Wear Just Enough to Keep Comfortable

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Giving instructions for the prevention of chilblain, I let myself go far enough to say that a great many people wear excessive foot covering in the winter, for the same reason they wear too much clothing, not because they need it for comfort but simply because it is winter — and right there the mollycoddles started clucking at me and I hurriedly changed the subject.

I am reminded of the January day a medical student, name of Brady, boldly walked into a Main Street shoestore in Buffalo and asked the salesman for oxfords. Remember, that was the year of high shoes, or, as the Canuchs over the river called 'em, "boots." The salesman told me that low shoes were not worn in the winter time.

In the past half century there has been a perceptible change in the popular belief about "exposure," as evinced by the availability of low shoes even in the winter months, and, in communities where youth is served, perennial availability of clothing as light as you wish.

About twenty years ago I guffawed here about the warning given young women about wearing decollete—the warning given by a distinguished tuberculosis specialist. My snide comment hurt the feelings of the good doctor and he wrote me a letter about it, which hurt my feelings—I mean the doctor was so so courteous and so gentle that I wanted to crawl back into the woodwork.

Just the same, the notion that very light or scanty clothing or none, if the wearer is comfortable that way, has any effect one way or another on the wearer's immunity or susceptibility to any known disease or illness, is ridiculous—or I'm whatever you poor geeks care to call me.

Take frostbite or chilblain, for example. Universal experience, and not just theory, has shown that the best way to prevent it is, wear the least, the lightest clothing or foot cover you find comfortable. Excessive clothing or foot cover causes sweating and moisture in the body covering favors rapid loss of heat and consequent chilblain or frostbite.

The reason woolen socks or undergarments are better than silk or cotton or nylon of like weight is that wool holds air in its meshes and so insulates against loss of body heat, and at the same time it is porous enough to permit free evaporation of water vapor and thus keep the skin surface comfortably dry. A recent technical advance gave us socks and stockings with a weave or texture which might be superfine woolen for all I can tell. These socks are the most comfortable I've ever worn—but then, I wouldn't know much about socks, for I wear them only on Sunday or when company comes and I have to sit in the parlor.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Fred Allen Makes America Laugh While Riding Treadmill to Oblivion

By EDDIE CANTOR

I'm wondering what my teacher at Public School No. 1, Catherine Luddy, would think if she knew I read two books in two days. Even though she predicted a very black future for me, I was crazy about Miss Luddy.

I would have married her except for the difference in our ages. I was older than my teacher. Teacher? I was older than the principal!

To get back to the books: One of them was "Treadmill To Oblivion" by Fred Allen. In it you get a lot of "Allen's Alley" and "Allen's allergy." He simply cannot stand the human race—particularly those comedians who are too busy being successful in the various medium of show business to stop and analyze them.

As a contemporary of Fred, I've often noticed that he gets analytical when he should be just comical.

I've been an Allen fan for 25 years. I still laugh out loud every time I think of his description of an American in Paris. Here is an excerpt: "The American arrives in Paris with a few French phrases he has culled from a conversational guide, or picked up from a friend who owns a beret.

"He speaks the sort of French that is readily understood by another American who, also, has just arrived in Paris. The minute, however, the American attempts to make linguistic contact with a native, verbal bedlam ensues. The Frenchman talks as though his nouns and verbs are red hot and he has to get the words out of his mouth before they blister his tongue.

"As the American gains confidence, he will occasionally risk a cluster of French consonants and vowels in public. This often proves embarrassing. One American who had planned to buy a set of andirons found, when he left the antique shop, that he had bought two old ladies, one of whom was in poor condition.

"Another tourist, speaking import French, rattled off something to a waiter at Maxim's. When translated, he found that he had said, 'Who is playing the trombone under my potato salad?'

"As the American 'ouis' and 'mercis' his way in and out of shops and cafes, he finds that to get what he wants, he invariably has to point. The 'American in Paris' finally learns that to speak French, he doesn't require a tongue—all he needs is a finger." This is good Fred Allen.

In his book, "Treadmill To Oblivion," Fred would like to believe that all comedians merely pass through on the way to the "big nowhere." It may be true, but let's face it—while on that treadmill, the comics, including Fred Allen, not only pick up a million or more dollars, but experience and soul-satisfying knowledge that millions of people who enjoy their particular brand of humor have been made happier.

Cadillac

A Great Discovery Is About to Be Made!

The hand you see here is about to turn the ignition key in a new 1955 Cadillac.

It is the hand of a man who has never driven a Cadillac before—but who finally decided to see for himself if all the wonderful things he's heard about the car are true.

Well, he's about to make an important and significant discovery! He's about to learn that, in 1955, Cadillac actually surpasses its own great reputation!

He'll sense it the instant he makes the turn of the key—and hears the deep, rich, eager answer of that 250-horsepower Cadillac engine.

He'll sense it again when he touches his foot to the accelerator—and brings that dynamic engine into action. It will set him instantly in motion—and will carry him forward with a surge of power that is a revelation all in itself.

And then the full proof of Cadillac's greatness will begin to unfold itself!

He'll discover its incredible ease of steering and handling—so marvelous that the car seems almost to read his mind.

He'll discover its amazing smoothness and levelness of ride—so great that even the road's roughest spots are difficult to perceive.

He'll discover its marvelous balance on the curves and corners—its incredible quietness of operation—its extraordinary agility in the traffic lanes—and the reassuring action of its big, powerful brakes.

And so it will go—mile after mile—and revelation after revelation—until the discovery is complete . . . and the drive is ended.

And even then, one final, confirming fact will await him. For he will find his travel has scarcely moved the fuel indicator!

Yes, the evidence will be abundant—and the verdict without question: This is the greatest motor car performance of all time!

* * *

If you haven't as yet taken a drive in a 1955 Cadillac, you ought to do so soon.

It's really an education in all the things a motor car should be and do—and we think you owe it to yourself to get the report firsthand.

Stop in soon, won't you? We'll be most happy to give you the keys—any time!

Recluse Found Dead After 20 Years Alone

AGUILAR, Colo. (AP)—An elderly bachelor who barricaded his home to visitors for more than 20 years was founded dead yesterday, apparently of natural causes.

Officers discovered vast amounts of canned food, soap, furniture, boxes, books and other articles in the house, plus more than $1,500 in cash hidden in boxes and tobacco sacks.

Neighbors said Arthur Minter Pritchard, 72, became a hermit in this southern Colorado community of 1,038 after the death of his parents in the early 1930s.

A neighbor who had not seen Pritchard in more than a week called officers when he failed to get any response from knocking on the door.

Plan Hop in Light Plane Across South Atlantic

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (INS)—The Piper Aircraft Corp. has announced that two vice presidents will try for the first time to fly a light airplane over the South Atlantic.

William and Howard Piper will attempt the flight in a twin-engine Apache from Natal to Dakar, a distance of more than 1,900 miles. No date was announced for the attempt.

Claims Curbs Hurt Housing

Solon Says Restrictions May Limit 35,000 Unit Plan to Only 1,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking Committee said today restrictions imposed by Congress last year are threatening to limit to 1,000 units the government's 35,000-unit low-rent public housing program for the year.

Administration housing officials, it was reported, have called a closed-door conference late today with leaders of both parties on the Senate and House banking committees to seek quick removal of the restrictions.

* * *

President Eisenhower asked Congress last year to authorize 35,000 new units each year for four years under the program, which calls for the federal government to assist local government authorities in providing housing for rent to low-income groups.

After a series of bitter battles, Congress approved only 35,000 new units, to be contracted for by next June 30. In addition, construction could go ahead on about 31,000 units already contracted for under previous laws.

Spence said he has been advised that only two communities have qualified since July 1 for public housing under the restrictions in the new law. He said 42 units actually have been approved for Somerville, Mass. Clarksville, Tenn., also has qualified and is expected to get 100 units, although final action has not been taken, he said.

Other sources said New Orleans and Chicago are about ready to qualify. Spence said apparently "very few" communities can meet requirements set out in the new law.

* * *

The restrictions require that new public housing contracts be authorized only in communities where officials certify the units are needed for persons displaced by government slum clearance projects.

Spence said most big cities already had taken steps toward slum clearance projects months or years ago. To qualify for these steps, he said, they had to have a workable plan for housing persons displaced by their slum clearance.

So these officials hardly can certify now that new public housing is needed for the same persons, he said.

GOP Publication Plugs Ike Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee has begun a selling job on President Eisenhower's State of the Union message.

Without mention of Democratic challenges of some of the President's assertions and recommendations, the committee told 300,000 party workers on its mailing list that "optimism and confidence" were his underlying themes as he examined foreign and domestic problems.

* * *

The party's own abstract of the message was contained in Straight From the Shoulder, committee publication.

It said the President presented "a broadside legislative program" challenging the Democratic-controlled 84th Congress, and quoted his declaration that the general good must be "our yardstick on every great issue."

Another article in the publication said public works projects proposed by the administration or already authorized by the last Congress, if carried forward at present schedules, will provide the equivalent of new year-long jobs for 9,174,000 American workers.

The U.S. Department of Labor says the number of mechanics and repairmen has doubled in the past 10 years.

Paroled Feline Back in Custody After Day Outside

BOSTON (AP)—A convict's cat, paroled with his master yesterday, was back in custody today.

The 18-month-old Sir Walter Raleigh was presented the regulation prison discharge papers at state prison, where he was born. He was fitted out in a neat wooden traveling case.

Soon after their release, his owner Frank Peraski was picked up for New Jersey authorities. He was taken to Suffolk County Jail.

Since the law does not allow cats in the jail, Sir Walter was placed in custody of Atty. Arthur Brogna of the Back Bay.

At the Brogna home, the black and white Sir Walter promptly bolted into a dark closet and refused to come out.

The situation may be untangled by a Boston Municipal Court judge Tuesday when New Jersey authorities are expected here.

NAACP Attacking Levittown Barrier

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, charging Negroes have been denied the right to buy homes in Levittown, Pa., has sued to force the sale of houses in the huge housing development to Negroes.

The action, filed yesterday in U.S. District Court, seeks an injunction restraining Levitt and Son, builders of the community, from discriminating against Negroes so long as Levitt uses the credit, guarantee, insurance, approval and assistance of the federal government.

The suit also seeks an injunction restraining Levitt from refusing to sell on grounds that Levittown, in adjoining Bucks County, is a town, and its builder's policy is tantamount to a city ordinance barring Negroes. It was not known if Levitt had ever started such a policy.

Boxer Dog Sets Record With Litter of 14 Pups

SHARON HILL, Pa. (INS)—The doggonest thing happened to Heidi Von Scharenburg.

The boxer — canine variety—set what is believed to be a record for her breed when she gave birth to a litter of 14 puppies. The average boxer litter runs from six to eight pups. Owner John K. Brown said mother, her 10 sons and four daughters are doing fine.

Takes 3 Months, but Cop Tracks Radio Jammer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—It took three months of tracking, but Police Lt. Wilford Young has finally found what's been causing interference on the Police Department's short-wave communications system.

Armed with an interference detector, Young had narrowed his quarry to one building—half a block from police headquarters. Finally, after more checking, he knocked on the door of an apartment in the building. To the lady who responded to his knock, he said:

"You went out Sunday." Yes, she had.

"You came home Saturday about 8 p.m." That was right too.

Then Young turned on the television set in the apartment. He called headquarters and learned that the radio was jamming again. He turned it off. The communications room reported all clear.

Young said the set was reflecting radio waves onto the frequency used by police. He said the set's owner has promised to stop watching TV until the set is fixed.

Refloated Submarine Gets Inspection Today

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—An inspection was on tap here today for the Navy submarine Tench, which ran aground off Cape Henry last night and then refloated herself with the aid of high winds and heavy seas.

A spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet said it was not known how the sub, which carried a crew of eight officers and 64 men, ran aground. She was stranded from 9 to 10:30 p.m.

Heading the sophomore class are Betty Jo Fitzpatrick, Eleanor Arno, Ed Cast and William Price. Freshmen boast Julia Ann Siowik, Ellen Schachern, Brian Payette and Dick Powe as their representatives.

Basketball captain Jean McHugh's Lambs came home defeated Sunday from St. Mary's of Mount Clemens, but the girls hope for a victory this week as they face their cross-town rivals, St. Michael, who have yet to beat the Lambs in three years.

Senior English students are not hard to distinguish these days, as some walk down the halls with their noses deep in the novel, "The Scarlet Letter," while others are keeping busy with research on term papers.

Many chemistry students were seen coming out of the lab with bloody noses this week. No brawl, but the class were making hydrochloric acid, better known as HCL, which causes the nose to bleed when inhaled into the nostrils.

Seniors are brushing up on facts and figures in order to apply for the Edison Scholarship. This would give the students $200 to apply to any college of their choice.

One thing is certain, what the senior girls can't think of the senior boys will. When the girls came to school wearing knee length argyles, the boys retaliated by showing up in red cowboy hats decorated with white tassels, and the next day shocked everyone by wearing suits, smart sport jackets, and white shirts. (Just to start a fad, say the boys.)

Pontiac High

Seniors this week completed plans for their prom which will be held tomorrow night. They also picked up senior announcements. Juniors are awaiting the arrival of class rings and pins.

Radio Workshop will begin broadcasting again next Monday with the show, "More Wonderful Than Magic."

Wednesday 13 Future Teachers with club advisor, Mrs. Ann Morrow, went to the Future Teachers Conference at Wayne University.

This weekend the band and vocal students will represent Pontiac High at the Midwest Music Conference. Harold Jones, Joel Thome James Erwin, Kurt Lauckner and Roland Williams will play in the All-State band, and students Greta Phipps, Jackie Spratt, Raymond Freebury, James Stevens and Philip Twitchel of the Acapella Choir will sing in the All-State Chorus concert.

Movies and slides highlighted meetings of two PHS clubs at recent meetings. The Camera Club viewed slides entitled "Filters and Their Use."

Members of the Chem-Physics Club witnessed the movie "The First One Hundred Years," the story of a young student who falls asleep in 1854 and wakes up 100 years later.

St. Michael

Everyone at St. Mike's this week was anticipating the annual St. Mike's St. Fred's basketball game tomorrow night in the PHS gym. As Coach Bob Mineweaser would say, "This is ulcer week."

Girls' basketball team played their first game Sunday, beating St. James 34 to 17.

With quarterly exams drawing near, students really began to hit the books this week. Also on the scholastic horizon is news that senior English class is digging into the Shakespearian tragedies to study "Macbeth."

Announcement that Sister M. Callista has returned to the staff came as a pleasant surprise to students.

Extra-curricular activities stole the scene this week as field trips were on the agenda for many students. The Future Nurses Club traveled to a Flint hospital to get an inside slant on what their future profession is really like.

The social side of the ledger was well-rounded this week. Fr. Immel announced the first post-Christmas CYO activity, a sock-hop tonight in the hall. The Crock-a-dolls held a meeting at Fran Hayes' home and accepted new members Gloria Vizza, Pat Schertzer and Jeanette Gangi. The Throbs enjoyed a skating party after which Marcia Kramer was hostess at a Coke and chip session.

When water is cooled its volume contracts until it reaches a temperature of four degrees Centigrade above freezing, then it stops contracting.

More GI Rights Get Ike's Nod

President Said Warm to Letting Men Now in Service Accrue Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that President Eisenhower is "very much in favor" of legislation to let service men continue to build up GI education rights if they are in service by the end of this month.

On Jan. 1 the President signed an executive order which terminated all such rights as of the end of this month. Under that order, men already in the service by that date are entitled to schooling rights accrued before that time, but are not permitted to build up additional rights.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was asked today whether the President would support pending bills to let servicemen continue to build up school rights if they are in service before Feb. 1.

"We would be very much in favor of it," Hagerty said.

"The President believes it would be unfair to take that (schooling accrual rights) away from men already in service."

Hagerty added that the President had no alternative but to terminate such accrual rights in his executive order. He said continuation of the rights would require legislation.

A bill to continue schooling rights for men already in service by the end of January appears ticketed as one of the first items to be passed by the new Congress.

Dr. Schweitzer Reaches Eighty

Noted Jungle Physician Still Hard at Work With His 4th Career

PARIS (INS) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer, one of the world's most celebrated but least known men, will spend his 80th birthday tomorrow in his African jungle hospital, far from the great cities where homage will be paid to his dedicated life.

His hospital is in the village of Lambarene on the Ogowe River, 40 miles south of the Equator in French Equatorial Africa.

Schweitzer, who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1952, has had four different careers during his life. They were in philosophy, theology, music and medicine.

He has written learned books on Jesus, Bach and the history of civilization. He is the world's foremost authority on the architecture of organs, as well as one of the most renowned living organists.

He has been placed among such men as Leonardo da Vinci and Goethe. But Schweitzer's fundamental greatness lies in his selflessnes, his invincible will and strict sense of duty. These characteristics have played essential roles in his life.

Schweitzer was born in Alsace, January 14, 1875. He was a sickly child and a poor student, slow in reading and writing. But he was a musical genius.

Schweitzer was introduced to music when his father, a pastor, took him to church for the first time when Albert was 3 years old.

The boy composed a hymn when he was 7 and began to play the organ a year later.

When Schweitzer was 26, he held degrees as a doctor of philosophy, theology and music. During this period of study, he started writing books, and has not stopped.

At 30, Schweitzer quit his three careers to become a medical doctor with the aim of devoting his life to medical missionary work in sweltering Lambarene.

Schweitzer is said to have declared he chose medicine because he wanted action in his life. He picked Lambarene for the same reason — it had no doctor, and it was a primitive, almost inaccessible spot, surrounded by jungle, wild animals, poisonous snakes and insects.

He married a daughter of a noted Jewish Strasbourg historian in 1912, the year he finished medical school. Before they left France for Lambarene, Mrs. Schweitzer learned nursing in order to be of help to him in his work.

Dr. Schweitzer built his first jungle hospital virtually with his bare hands in 1913, on arriving at Lambarene. Not long afterward, he was forced to rebuild the group of hospital huts to accommodate increasing numbers of patients.

Schweitzer has fought not only dread diseases, such as leprosy and elephantiasis, but native superstition as well. And today, at 80, Albert Schweitzer is constructing a new leper colony near his hospital.

'Possum Plays Flier

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Earl E. Jameson Jr., 30, Kansas City, couldn't raise the flaps on his light plane after landing here yesterday. An investigation traced the trouble to a homesteading opossum which was comfortably settled inside the fuselage. The animal had chewed through an electrical wire connected to the hydraulic flaps.

Report to Citizens League

Over 1,200 Children Here Need Special Education

The Oakland County Citizens League has obtained a report from Superintendent of County Schools William J. Emerson on progress in the program for educating special and handicapped children made law last year.

Tentative figures indicate 1,289 county children require special services, said Emerson, "with figures on mentally or emotionally handicapped children not yet available."

Of these, 89 are deaf, 286 hard of hearing, 43 blind, 192 partially sighted, 571 deformed in some manner and 108 confined to their homes.

The program will be financed by a half mill (50 cents per $1,000 of property valuation) tax which will produce about $480,000 during 1955, said Emerson.

The Board of Supervisors has advanced $10,000. This has been used to equip an office for the staff of the special education program.

Three persons have been hired to plan for beginning the program next school year.

"A system of reporting has been designed and instituted in all county schools which will provide a day to day . . . census of all children requiring special education service. Until the system went into effect, there was no way in which current requirements for special education could be defined."

A standard method of handling special education funds and an accounting code for them has been designed.

Job descriptions, titles and pay rates for employes of the program are being worked out. The various school districts are working with the County Board of Education in setting up policies to govern the program.

"It is apparent . . . all ground work has been laid for the efficient operation of the program as soon as the target date, Sept. 1, 1955, is reached," the citizens league stated.

The program will make it possible for handicapped and special-needs children to get more schooling than in previous years, the league said.

Funds will have to be used both to support the present porgram and work off the backlog "that has developed over the past 20 or 30 years," it added.

Indifference Caused Girl Frustration

She Didn't Consider He May Have Been Busy, Broke, Lazy

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

There's nothing larger, grimmer and more total to a girl than her boy friend's indifference. When she wants awareness—action and attention—he goes unconscious. At least as far as she is concerned.

He doesn't call. He doesn't come over. She doesn't bump into him on the street. She wonders what's wrong. She rehashes every word and deed of their last date together, and worries if something she said or did has thrown him off.

She churns with impatience and frustration. And finally comes up with the mighty resolution to ask someone close to him what's wrong. A best friend would know, surely. He'd have some explanation.

That's what this girl has decided to do. Two weeks of silence have her down completely. I claim the best way to break into noise and music is to go straight to headquarters. Call up the boy friend is what I'd do. But here's her tangle, as she wrote it:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 15 and I've been going with a boy 19 for about seven weeks. The last time I saw him we had a nice time. It's been two weeks since that date and he hasn't even called me! What do you think can be the matter?

We didn't have a fight, and he seemed to be enjoying our last date as much as I did. I see his best friend in school every day—do you think I could ask him why my boy friend is acting this way? Or should I try to forget him?"

Your last date was fine and dandy. There was no fight on which you can blame his silence. You fear that he has stopped liking you. That's a very disturbing thought.

But it's highly possible that he's been busy and just plain hasn't had time for dates. He might be very broke after the holidays, and financially unable to have dates.

He may have become very much involved with his boy friends in bowling, ice skating, or whatever they like to do, so there hasn't been room on his free-time schedule for a girl. He may not be in the mood for a girl either. A terrific laziness can descend and stifle all his eagerness.

The laziness can keep him from going to the phone to chat with you. He may feel that he can't very well call you up without asking you for a date. So he doesn't bother.

But you could call him. You could invite him over and make a slight party of it by having another couple or two. You could, with an invitation to him, act as though you assume that there's nothing wrong. It certainly raises a girl's spirits to assume that!

Sight Versus Smell Fight for Top Nostalgic Honor

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

For about a year now, the readers of this column have been carrying on a desultory argument about which most quickly brings back memories—smells or sounds. And I have been standing on the sidelines, trying to be a good, neutral umpire.

But yesterday when I awakened here in the mountains to cold that seemed to freeze the marrow of my bones right through the heavy blankets, I realized that sensation can evoke vivid memories as quickly as any sound or smell — in this case the sensation of intense cold.

For suddenly I could smell the winter scent (quite different from summer) of the straw matting that covered the floor of my room when I was a little girl, and I began to shiver, thinking how cold it would feel when I stepped out of my warm bed onto it and how my breath would freeze into icycles before my eyes.

It was on such mornings that I stamped my foot and said I hated the farm, and the winter, and being a country jake — which was what town people called us when they wanted to be mean. It seems so odd that now I make a proud boast of what I used to find so painful — my country origin.

On the stroke of four, when the rooster crowed, I would rouse up just enough to hear Mama go downstairs and begin to build a fire in the kitchen stove. That was the first thing she did, crossing the kindling from the woodbox just so and pouring on coal oil before she struck a big purple-tipped match from the tin matchholder under the mantel. Our kitchen smelled always of coal oil and sulphur and burning apple wood.

On one of those bitterly cold days Cousin Bina Blanton came out from town with Papa in a wagon loaded with corn, and froze her feet, which she had thrust down into the corn to keep warm.

It stormed too that night and we got snowed in, so she had to stay for five days. At first my brother Tommy and I enjoyed the warm coziness of being housebound with plenty of nuts to crack and corn to pop, but the novelty wore off quickly and our restless energy turned us into a pair of mischievous, quarrelsome scamps.

We had a fight over whose turn it was to lick the cake bowl and I bit Tommy, he pinched me. We broke the cut glass bowl on the sideboard that was one of our few heirlooms. We made such a mess with some flour paste and paper we were cutting up that nobody could get from the kitchen to the dining room.

Cousin Bina, who didn't have any children of her own then, bore up under the ordeal pretty well, but finally exploded.

"Walker," she said to my father, "those are the worst children I ever saw."

"Oh, no, Bina," said Papa just when Tommy and I thought he'd surely whip us, "they're just healthy."

So there I was on a winter's day in the Catskills, carried (by the sensation of cold) through all the years to a Missouri farm. Then the electric water pump outside groaned into action, a second later I heard the motor of the automatic furnace rumble, and I was back in the present again.

Probably the only thing more misleading than women's facts are their figures.

Invitation to Husband Hurts Wife

Better to Ignore Strange Practice of Mother-in-Law

By EMILY POST

A woman writes me as follows: "I would like to know if you think I am justified in feeling hurt over the following situation: Whenever a family dinner comes up, my mother-in-law always calls my husband and extends the invitation to him.

I am always included in the invitation of course, but she has never once called and invited me directly. I always thought the wife was the one to be consulted about such matters. My husband says I am petty. Am I?"

Under most circumstances, the invitation is given to the wife, but it is not unheard of to give it to the husband on occasion. In other words, whoever answers the telephone would be given the message.

Of course, if you answered the telephone and she asked to speak to your husband in order to give him the invitation then I think she is very rude to you. Even so, if I were you I would try to ignore it and just consider it a strange idiosyncrasy of hers.

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother is to be married soon. Our family consists of mother, father, three unmarried sisters living at home and two married brothers.

Each of my married brothers was sent separate invitations to the wedding and one came addressed to our house to Mr. and Mrs. but nothing at all came for the sisters living at home. Shouldn't they have received an invitation too?

I agree that the sisters should have received a separate invitation, or at least have been included on their parents' invitation.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and whenever I have guests in to dinner I usually ask one of the men present to say grace. I have always felt that the blessing should be asked by a man when one is present. Is this right, or should I ask the blessing at my own table?

Unless a clergyman is present, you should ask the blessing at your own table.

Refinishing Slat Blinds Not Hard

By HUBBARD COBB

We've dreamed up a real fine little project for you today and while it may take a little more time than you had planned—it's worth it. At least it is if you have some Venetian blinds that have seen better days and need a little picking up.

The job starts with taking down the blinds and removing the slats from the cords and tapes. You'll have to pull out a few tacks to get the slats free. If the cords and tapes are beyond hope, you will need new ones. If they are just soiled or faded, wash them and then renew the color by tossing them into some dye.

As far as the slats go, they should be washed clean and then sanded so they are smooth. If there are any spots where the old finish has chipped, sand around the edges of these areas and then apply a couple of coats of paint to build the area up level with the rest of the finish.

About the best finish for the blinds is enamel and this should be with care to avoid any chance of runs or sags. For our money the way to paint the blinds is to hang them from one end before you start to paint. This allows you to coat the two sides and edges without much trouble and then they can be left hanging until the enamel is dry.

Try Back Door When Front Is Closed

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The law of supply and demand works vocationally as well as in other areas, and it is a good law to obey.

For example, the young person who wants to get into television, always thinks in terms of being a production assistant on a big show, getting costumes and props organized, and meeting all the interesting guests.

Such jobs exist, it's true, but for each such job opening, there are thousands and thousands of applicants, and the girl who really means business can get into television through much less crowded doors.

She can, for instance, apply as a secretary in the business department. Nobody wants the business end of television nearly as much as they want the so-called "creative" end.

Once in, if she does an excellent job and meets everybody in the station, and keeps her patience, her chances of moving over into the "creative" end are a hundred per cent better than if she held out for it as a starter.

The same is true in the editorial field. The girls who want to be editorial assistants usually set their sights for the big popular general or fashion magazines, and the chances of getting in there are about one in a thousand.

It is much better to aim at a trade magazine—a magazine in the laundry field, or the baking field or any kind of good trade magazine. Not so many people apply there, proportionately, and you have a much better chance.

You will be doing editorial work and learning your business, and if you want to apply it elsewhere later on, you will stand a much better chance. Or, you might fall in love with the trade magazine field, which has many advantages not shared by the so-called "glamorous" magazines.

If the personnel field interests you, the same applies. If you go after a job as secretary to the personnel director of a big firm, your competition is terrific.

Better to go after a job as secretary to the office manager of a smaller firm, who handles purchasing, administration, and personnel.

You'll get a chance to learn a good deal about personnel procedures, and the job is far easier to get than one in the personnel department of a big organization.

If you know the field you want then spend a good deal of time in your public library, reading up on it, so to speak, because for each person going in through the back door, there will be several thousand scrambling at the front door!

Small Furniture Design Mocks True Efficiency

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Small furniture behaves more and more as if it were big furniture in the new showings for spring. Chairs particularly—designers have become very knowing in the ways of building the comfort of much larger chairs into small chairs. Even in a bridge chair, designer Belle Kogan felt that an idea for folding a set of four into space a mere nine inches wide wasn't advantage enough. She gave the seats of the chairs a contoured shape and extra width and depth, and swivelled the backs so they tilt to any angle as they're leaned against. The table and chairs as a group have a solidly comfortable look, but they're made of aluminum and weigh very little. The aluminum is black with a satiny finish, and legs — including the hairpin legs on the table are so new for a bridge table — have gold anodized tips. One mechanism controls the folding of all four table legs.

Can of Meat in Casserole Serves Six

Mrs. Langerman's Dish Has Cheese Noodles, Corn Beef

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When I talked recently to a Home Extension club, I collected a number of recipes from the young homemakers present. Our discussion was on meat, so it is appropriate to start this group of recipes with one for a meat dish. Mrs. Rolland Langerman of Walled Lake recommends this Corned Beef Dinner.

We know Mrs. Langerman enjoys her Extension work. As her all-absorbing interest she lists working on the house she and her husband are building.

CORNED BEEF DINNER
By Mrs. Rolland J. Langerman

1 package narrow noodles (8-6 ounces)
1 can corned beef (12 ounces), cut in small cubes
¼ pound American cheese, cubed
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped onion
¾ cup buttered crumbs

Cook noodles in boiling salted water; drain and rinse. Combine remaining ingredients except crumbs. Add noodles and toss lightly. Place in 2-quart casserole and top with crumbs. Bake 1 hour at 375 degrees. Makes 6 servings.

If you think you might stop by a friend's house, but aren't certain, it is better not to telephone ahead. In such a case, it is better for you to take a chance on finding the friend out than for the friend to have to stay home, on the chance that you might visit.

It is always courteous to put another's convenience ahead of your own.

Panel Discusses Benefits of NASW

Oakland County Chapter American Association of Social Workers heard school social workers discuss ways in which they could benefit from a merger of their group into a national organization Thursday.

The discussion was the outgrowth of previous discussions to combine the seven professional groups in the field of social work.

The merging of these groups into the (NASW) National Association of Social Workers will pull together and raise professional standards of social workers, spokesmen say.

Further, it is felt, the organization will gain strength and thus will be more productive in serving the community and the nation.

Vice chairman Oliva Viola relates, "Our focus this year has been to make known to the members themselves the structure, goals and problems of these groups that will comprise NASW. We are hoping that the new organization will come into being by October of 1955."

The panel Thursday was conducted by members of the National Association of School Social Workers who presented the structure of the organization, the problems on a community and national basis and their expectations from joining such an organization.

This is the first step taken by the Oakland County Chapter to make more thoroughly known the specific functions and problems of the group.

Panel members were Frieda Huggett, Visiting Teacher from Waterford Township Schools; Allen Copley, Mrs. Fern Perrin and Frances Priest, all members of the Visiting Teachers' Staff of the Pontiac School system.

Composing the new corporation will be The American Association of Group Workers, American Association of Medical Social Workers, American Association of Psychiatric Social Workers, American Association of Social Workers, Association for the Study of Community Organization, National Association of School Social Workers and Social Work Research Group.

Officers of the Oakland County Chapter AASW are Chairman William MacDonough, director of the Ferndale-Pleasant Ridge Community Center; Vice Chairman Oliva Viola, psychiatric social worker for the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic; Secretary Jeanne Walter, case worker for the Michigan Children's Aid Society, and Treasurer Mrs. Clementine Henderson, supervisor of the State Department of Social Welfare.

Teachers Hold Program

Teachers Exchange Club entertained members and guests at the International Institute in Detroit Thursday evening. A French dinner was held in the Old World Room.

A representative of the institute told of its history and purposes. It was explained that volunteers call on immigrants who come to Detroit and invite them to the institute where they are given assistance in getting adjusted to the American way of life.

Immigrants are taught the English language and are given aid toward becoming citizens of the United States. They can meet at the institute for a variety of social functions in an informal atmosphere, the spokesman said.

A tour of the exhibit room was taken. Guests of the group were Elmer Thorpe, Ralph Gardner, Floyd Walker, Grady Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Roback, Mrs. Quintin L. Kennaday, Mrs. W. Mather Robertson and Mrs. Hazel Gessinger.

Other guests were Mrs. Mart Carlson, Mrs. Marie Roberts, Dorothy Virtues, Faye Donelson, Helen Mercer, Mrs. Larned Goodrich and Mrs. Willaim Lewis. A Valentine party will be held in February.

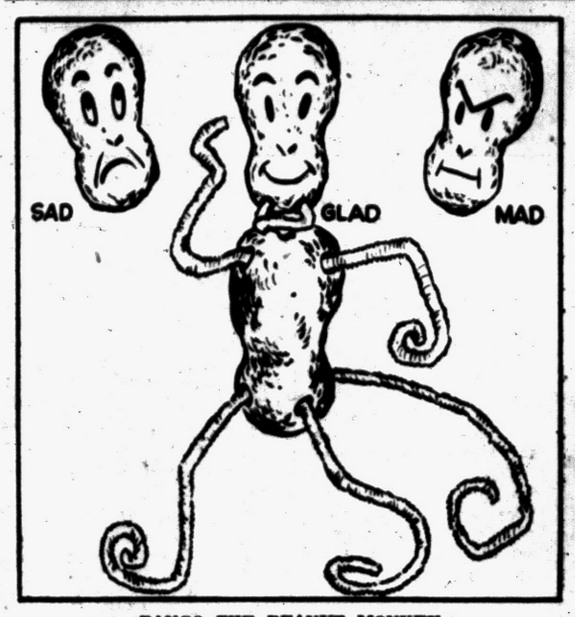
TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS



PANGO THE PEANUT MONKEY

Today you'll learn how to make Pango, a peanut monkey. He's made out of four pipe cleaners and two peanuts, with just a touch of water color paint on the fun face. Here's how:

1. Choose a fairly small peanut for the head. Paint a face on the peanut. Then take a hat pin and gently make a hole through one side of the "chin" and out the other. Push a pipe cleaner through the hole, bending down one end so it doesn't slide out. Then cut it off so it's about two inches long.

2. Pick a big, long peanut for the body. Punch a hole in one side and out the other near one end. Loop the end of the pipe cleaner from the head through this. The pipe cleaner that sticks through should be wrapped around to form a neck.

3. A little farther down punch another hole clear through the peanut. Slip another pipe cleaner through this for arms, and bend the ends into hands—as shown in today's picture.

4. At the lower end of the peanut make another hole all the way through. Push a pipe cleaner through and bend it down on each side to make legs. Bend the ends into feet, as shown.

5. Stick another pipe cleaner through the same hole for a tail. Put just enough of it through so you can wrap it around to hold it in place. Let the rest stick out behind to support Pango when he stands.

German Arms Defy Geneva, Reds Claim

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union charged today that West German rearmament would violate the Geneva Convention barring mass destruction weapons.

The charge was contained in notes handed last night to the representatives here of Britain, Italy, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, signers with West Germany of the Paris treaties to join their governments in an armed alliance.

Under the Paris agreements, West German rearmament would be subject to controls established by the seven-nation Western European Union. Production of atomic weapons by the Germans is specifically prohibited, the treaties allowing them to produce atomic energy only for peaceful purposes and then only in limited quantities.

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Legislative Yuan today unanimously ratified the mutual defense pact with the United States.

Offer Plan to Ease Crowded County Office Conditions

Probation Office Report Shows Rehabilitation Increase

Adults on probation in Oakland County for law violations at end of 1954 totaled 481, compared with 428 in December 1953, according to Chief Probation Officer Arthur P. McKenna.

A total of 241 were placed on probation last year, contrasted with 205 in 1953. Some 188 were discharged from probation in 1954 and 137 in 1953.

The percentage of probationers who failed to meet requirements dropped from 10.7 two years ago to 10.3 last year. Of those on probation at year's end, 448 were men and 33 women.

Pre-sentence investigation reports and recommendations for the three circuit judges totaled 449. Of these, 403 involved felonies and 46, misdemeanors.

Short terms in Oakland County Jail were imposed on 40 persons as part of their probation.

Periods of probation ranged from one to five years. Of persons placed in McKenna's care, 104 were under 21 years old. Some 115 of those restricted were single persons, compared with 85 in 1953. Married persons totaled 89, contrasted with 96 two years ago.

Money collected by McKenna in dependants and probation fees amounted to $30,555.

While new probationers totaled 241, persons sentenced to prison and jail by the three judges totaled 168.

McKenna said he has one assistant probation officer, a secretary and typist to help in handling the 481 probationers and complete about 30 pre-sentence reports per month.

"The fact that probation saves people from degradation of a prison sentence and possibly a crime career would be more than enough to justify its existence," he stated.

"In addition, it saves thousands of dollars every year for taxpayers." In the county last year, the cost of supervising a probationer averaged about $35, compared with $489.51 for keeping a person in jail.

"The cost of confinement is merely the first cost to the taxpayer as in many instances the prisoner's wife and children are left without funds and welfare agencies have to . . . take care of them."

Probationers, he pointed out, continue to work in the community and earned a combined income of over $560,000 "through productive work" last year.

"All too often probation officers are expected to keep track of several hundred people in addition to completing investigations and administrative details. . . . He can do little more than check on his probationers and complete the mechanics of his job."

The recommended case load is not more than 70 probationers per man "to accomplish the best results," said McKenna. All 481 probationers in the county are under his personal supervision, he stated, the one assistant being kept busy with pre-sentence investigations for circuit court.

"When probation services are well organized and properly staffed, the results in human adjustment and rehabilitation have demonstrated their effectiveness in protecting the community and preserving human dignity," McKenna concluded.

'Voice' Will Air Noble Message

Detroiter Freed by Reds Will Broadcast Truth Over Iron Curtain

BERLIN (UP) — John H. Noble, 31, of Detroit, who was held as a captive by the Russians for nearly 10 years, will broadcast a description of life in freedom to an Iron Curtain audience today, U. S. officials said.

The officials said Noble will make a recording in Russian for the Voice of America and the program will be beamed to the Soviet Union.

Noble, recovering in an Army hospital here, learned to speak Russian during the 9½ years he spent in Soviet labor camps.

He and his father were arrested while in Dresden, Germany, in July, 1945. Noble's father, who was released in 1953, owned a camera factory in Dresden. The factory was confiscated when he and his son were arrested.

Noble and Pvt. William T. Marchuk, 38, of Norristown, Pa., were released by the Russians last Saturday.

Marchuk disappeared while in Berlin in February, 1949, and presently is in custody in the local Army guardhouse on charges of being absent without leave. Authorities said they were awaiting instructions from Washington before taking further action.

Pontiac High Driver Education Classes Moulding Students Into Good Motorists

"If you consider education important to the community, then driver education is as important as courses in English or mathematics."

This statement was made recently by a man who some believe handles one of the most important positions in connection with training our youth today — Arthur Tyrrell, who is in charge of driver education at Pontiac High School.

As he was explaining the course, a late model yellow convertible sped past several times with a load of high school-aged boys driving aimlessing to nowhere.

"There goes a kid that can handle a car, but he's not a good driver," Tyrrell said. "Attitude is more important than driving skill."

Tyrrell went on to explain that a conscientious driver will obey the traffic laws as well as his ability will permit, but the driver with ability—who is without regard for laws or other's driving rights—is the one which more often brings accidental injury or death to others.

The driver training program is in its fourth year at Pontiac High and apparently is the answer to juvenile "hot rodding," although there are no statistics available yet to back up this belief.

"Most of the students never sat behind the wheel of a car before," said Tyrrell, "but each year we do get one or two with driver's licenses who want to improve their ability."

No credit is given to students for the class, but about 50 per cent are rewarded with a driver's license at the end of their semester's training, after a thorough check by local police.

Two weeks are spent at the beginning of each new class to explain the auto's instruments, traffic laws, and driving techniques.

During this time the student is checked for vision, depth perception, field of vision, glare resistance, and reaction time.

"We have the best equipment available," Tyrrell said. One of these is a brake reaction detonator, a device which measures the time and distance it takes a driver to recognize an emergency, apply brakes and halt the car.

Each student receives about an hour's driving time each week. Classes of four spend four hours in practical work and one hour in class.

Because of time all students who apply for training can not be given instruction, so those nearest graduation are selected.

"Most trouble my students have is in distance judgment, knowing where their fenders are and in making wide turns," Tyrrell commented.

The car used in training students has two rear view mirrors and two brakes, but only one steering wheel.

"One wheel puts the responsibility right where it should be—upon the driver," said Tyrrell. "In an emergency I can push the gear shift into neutral range and step on my foot brake, but I always wait until the last possible moment."

Parents, for the most part, heartily approve of this training for their youngsters, but each term one or two students are not allowed to take examination for licenses by parents who fear their offspring are not up to modern-day traffic, according to Tyrell.

One procedure that Tyrrell insists his students follow is that they start and stop the car in exactly the same way each time they drive the car.

"Driving is a social responsibility," according to Tyrrell. "If we can get the students to see this social responsibility when we train them, then we have a firm foundation on which to work."

Cadillac Loses Tilt With Tree; Gets Low Look

And lots of it—fell on a 1955 Cadillac with less than 200 miles on its speedometer yesterday, when Oakland County Road Commission workmen felled a 15-inch oak tree, near Rose Center.

The car's owner, Mrs. Kathryn S. Yost, 47, of 8065 Milford Rd., Rose Township, was traveling south on Milford road, two miles south of Rose Center when the freak accident occurred.

The felled tree, which came within inches of Mrs. Yost's head, caved in the top of the car, buckled the auto's sides, and blocked the entire road.

Edwin J. Bristol, of 3203 Eastwood, Avon Township, foreman on the job, told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Harry Jones that workmen with red flags were posted 500 feet on each side of the work area, and signs reading "Danger—Men working in trees" were also posted, but that Mrs. Yost ignored the warnings.

Tito Getting Elephants as Gift From Burma

RANGOON, Burma (UP)—The Burmese army announced today it is giving two elephants called Mr. Love and Miss Faithful to Yugoslavia's President Tito, who is now making a state visit to Burma.

The announcement said a Burmese mahout, or elephant attendant, would accompany the two beasts to Yugoslavia. The elephants will be put aboard the Yugoslav training ship Galeb, which brought Tito to Burma and is returning him home.

Auditors Suggest Possible Shifts

But Ultimate Solution Lies in New Structure, Reports States

It may not be true, as some contend, that adding one more typewriter to the Oakland County courthouse or office building would burst them wide open, but their jammed conditions are easily seen.

Suggested moves to provide more space for Oakland County governmental offices have been presented to the supervisor's Building and Grounds Committee by the Board of Auditors.

The present suggestions involve little or no new construction, but the auditors still feel the ultimate solution rests in construction of a new office building.

(A half-mill added tax to support a $4,500,000 bond issue for building a new office structure was twice rejected by voters last year.)

The report to the building committee "dealing with the problem of furnishing additional office space to. . . county departments and the possibility of making such expansions without renting outside quarters," was released by Robert Y. Moore, auditor's chairman.

"The county clerk, prosecuting attorney and juvenile division of the Probate Court urgently need additional office space," said the report.

More space is also needed in the Probate Court itself and "we must face the possibility in the near future of a fourth Circuit Court judge and the increasing county records," the report continues. "The jury room situation is very bad.

"The Health Dept., recently housed in the old jail building (behind the courthouse), is desperately in need of both additional office and clinical space."

Cramped conditions in the county office building at 1 Lafayette St. are not as critical as the courthouse situation, the report explains, but are "becoming increasingly so."

In the office building, the register of deeds office and board of education need enlarged quarters to house present employes, plus added personnel authorized for this year. The equalization department and civil defense director "merit consideration for larger quarters."

Possible solutions, the report states, include converting to office space 5,000 square feet in the Welfare Building in the county service center on North Telegraph road now used as a storehouse. The stores could be kept in the basement of the building.

The juvenile division of Probate Court now in the courthouse, might then be moved into the vacated welfare building space. The switch would be subject to aproval by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, the report stated.

The juvenile division "is the one larger department which could be moved . . . with the least amount of disruption in respect to its operation with any other county departments located in the courthouse."

The switch would bring the juvenile department within walking distance of the children's home which is closely associated with it, the auditors point out.

Moving the juvenile court from the courthouse would leave room to expand the prosecutor's and county clerk's offices.

"In addition, a portion of this space could be converted to jury rooms." The present jury rooms, adjacent to Probate Court, could be used to expand the court.

The report recommended that the Board of Education be moved into the nurses' homes at the contagious hospital on North Telegraph road. The home presently quarters only three persons.

The equalization department on the office building's second floor could be moved into the present board of education quarters, with the civil defense director moving from his fifth floor "cubby hole" into the present equalization department.

Minor alterations in the basement of the office building could provide an "attractive office and file space" for the register of deeds.

If the county is granted a fourth circuit judge, the auditors feel he could be housed in the fifth floor committee room in the office building. This, they realize, would place the judge about two blocks from the courthouse at Saginaw and Huron streets.

If the Health Dept. has new quarters by the time a judge is appointed, some present courthouse offices might be moved into the health building allowing room in the courthouse for the judge.

The auditors found "considerable merit" in a suggestion that an underground vault might be constructed at the service center to store inactive records now using valuable space. But the plan needs more study before being acted on, they stated.

13 Election Error Factors Listed by UM

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Thirteen major factors relating to election error have been discovered by two University of Michigan political scientists in a study of Michigan elections in 1950 and 1952.

University political scientists Samuel J. Eldersveld and Albert A. Applegate today reported their major findings were:

1. The total error was sizable enough to warrant concern, whether in terms of the actual number of votes involved, the percentage of the vote in error, or the victory margin of the winning candidate.

2. The error was statewide, found in 86 per cent of the precincts and in practically every county.

3. Nearly two-thirds of the errors were "conspicuous" official mistakes, or errors which were avoidable and not understandable.

4. The majority of the errors were traceable to official incompetence or laxity, not ineptitude on the part of the voter.

5. The mistakes varied significantly in different regions of the state.

6. A definite "partisan bias" was found in election errors and administration. In both recounts (in the governor's race) the original count favored the Republicans.

7. The recount strategy of both parties indicated they were basing their recount efforts according to regional variations of error. Republicans concentrated in Wayne county; Democrats challenged heavily outstate.

8. There were four major types of voting error: use of check marks, distinguishing marks, questionable crosses, and double straight ticket balloting, in that order.

9. During both recounts, ballot and ballot-box security violations were discovered, although they had not been reported previously.

10. A pattern of voter and official incompetence seems to exist. Where officials make a high number of errors, so do voters.

11. The 1952 recount revealed some improvement over that in 1950.

12. The recount cost was estimated at $250,000.

13. The two recounts were conducted efficiently and impartially under the supervision of attorneys appointed by the State Board of Canvassers.

Gives Innocent Plea on Stabbing Charge

A 17 -year - old Ferndale boy pleaded innocent to a charge of attempted murder yesterday when arraigned before Ferndale Justice Earl N. Nash.

The accused, Arthur L. Kelly of 21388 Crandall Lane, Royal Oak Township, failed to produce $5,000 bond set by Nash and is being held in Oakland County Jail to await his arraignment Jan. 20.

Kelly is accused of stabbing Alfred Gray, 18, of 21432 Garden Lane, Ferndale, four times when Gray came to the Lincoln High School to meet a girl friend, according to Ferndale Police Detectives Glenn Silverthorn and Elmer Jubelt.

Gray is in fair condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Fresh Water on Rinks Is Slight Improvement

Parks and Recreation Dept. crews worked all night spraying fresh water on the city's ice skating rinsk after the mercury skidded yesterday.

"But the weatherman fooled us and didn't let it get cold enough for really good ice," said Raymond E. Keller, parks supervisor. "The skating is only fair, but the kids can still have fun today," he added.

Printing Week Slated

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams today declared the week of Jan. 16 through Jan. 22 as Printing Week in Michigan, declaring the printing industry "is of great importance to the education of our people."

Charge Air Force Ignored Benzie Data

TRAVERSE CITY (UP) — The Air Force was accused yesterday of ignoring pertinent data on the Benzie County Homestead site considered for the jet fighter base scheduled to go to Cadillac.

A committee, representing Traverse City and Kalkaska, charged this data apparently lay buried in Air Force files. William G. Milliken, committee spokesman and president of the Traverse City Chamber of Commerce, said he would demand the data be given full consideration.

Milliken said that an announcement from the Air Force made last summer said the Air Force staff favored the Homestead site in Benzie County as first choice, the Kalkaska site on the Grand Traverse-Kalkaska County Line as second choice and the Cadillac site as third choice.

Seeks Extra Aid for Hardship Schools

School districts which have done the most to help themselves, but still face financial hardships because of their rapid growth, would receive additional state aid if a proposal being made by William Shunck, superintendent of Waterford Township Schools, becomes a law.

Appearing in Detroit today before the Metropolitan Area Superintendents' Association from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, Shunck said nine Oakland County districts and 140 state areas would benefit.

County districts eligible under his proposal include Avondale, Brandon Township, Clarenceville, Clarkston, Farmington, Ferndale, Madison, Troy and Waterford. Each has experienced tremendous growth and exerted maximum effort according to its ability to help itself, he pointed out.

Shunck proposed that a special appropriation from the state aid fund be given to districts eligible under a hardship definition. These would be districts which:

1—Levy over 20 mills on the state equalized valuation for all school purposes in the current school year.

2—Have an average increase in enrollment for the past three years 10 per cent higher than the average increase throughout the state.

3—Have a long - range school financing program with increased for building, site and debt which have been approved by ballot for periods of at least five years.

4—Levy at least eight mills on state equalized valuation for operating expense. This can be either wholly or partly within the 15-mill limitation.

According to Shunck's proposal, monies from the special appropriation could be used for operating, building, or both.

"However, this program is aimed chiefly at helping the district with teachers' salaries, supplies, equipment and the maintenance of existing buildings," he said.

Shunck indicated extra aid would be $3 a child for each mill of tax levy made by the district above the basic 20 mills, on state equalized values. He estimated Waterford schools would receive an additional $140,00.

Administration of the appropriation, he said, would be under the direction of the state superintendent of public instruction.

He estimates the total program would cost about 2½ million per year. It would in no way, he said, affect the $150 and $170 per elementary and secondary child now paid to school districts.

Of the 140 hardship districts in the state of Michigan, practically all of them exist in this area of the state, he said.

It accepted today by the association, the proposal will be presented to the state meeting of the Michigan Association of School Administrators next week and then to the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, before the Legislature receives it.

'Suspect'--Chapter 34

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Miss Wister and Mrs. Hilton helped old Mrs. Oswald into the drawing room, fussed around her for a moment until she was settled, Mrs. Kit and Mrs. Gelstrap sat side by side, a combination of forces against hostile elements. Agnes Argyle, more comfortable in her usual clothes, sat beside a rather subdued Phillip Stoneman.

"It is all right for everyone to leave your wife?" Miss Wister asked.

Jim nodded. "She'll be all right alone." He stressed the last word.

Mrs. Oswald said, "have you progress to report?"

"Yes," Jim Dunn said. He added bluntly, "I have found that Angelica Jones was murdered. One of you in this room killed her."

There was silence broken by the sibilant sound of indrawn breath.

Mrs. Oswald said, "Nonsense. Angelica was killed by the fall of the elevator. Your own secretary vouches for that."

"What Miss Wister told you," Jim went on, "was that she moved Angelica from beneath the weight of the elevator. She didn't tell you that Angelica was killed with repeated blows of a handy pitch chunk."

Sheriff Agnes interruped, "There wasn't such a chunk. I looked. There was no chunk with blood or hair on it."

"Did you look in the furnace?" Jim asked.

Her silence was all the answer he needed. He could try his bluff.

"Miss Wister put the lethal piece of pitch in the cold furnace for safekeeping."

Mrs. Oswald said, "I do not think Miss Wister had better say anything more until she has an attorney."

Jim ignored her, went on. "When Miss Wister came out of the basement, her car was being moved, being driven down the road from the wide place where the creek comes out of the cliff. It was being moved for two reasons. One, the killer did not want to call attention to the creek exit. Two, the killer was in a hurry to get back and retrieve the lethal piece of pitch. It couldn't be found, because Miss Wister had hidden it. And there wasn't time. Breakfast was to be at 7."

Jim waited then for objections, and it was Mrs. Oswald who put them into words. "You're insinuating it was one of the three of us here who killed Angelica. Philip Stoneman, Mrs. Hilton or myself. And that's silly. The time element."

"I've broken that alibi," Jim said. "With my wife's help. Help which almost killed her, because someone recently had moved three stones which partially closed the way, the short cut to The Spires."

It was obvious Mrs. Oswald had known of that short cut when she deserted the subject. "Who poisoned me?"

Jim smiled grimly. "You're sure you want the answer?"

"But I didn't take—" the old woman stopped abruptly. Her eyelids dropped down over her fierce eyes. She said, "But Miss Wister, Mrs. Kit and Mrs. Gelstrap?"

Jim realized suddenly that the old woman was fighting against certain knowledge. She knew who had been in a position to add a booster shot to the small amount of poison she had taken.

"In the first place," Jim went on, "there was a lot of groundwork to do. And, for the clear picture, it was necessary to have a grasp of many elements. The Carlson Conscience, Angelica's apparent giving up of her husband, and the California death of Gregory Stoneman, Philip's brother."

Mrs. Hilton interrupted. "Why don't you come out and call that death murder? We all know it was. That knowledge won't go farther than this room." She glared at Mrs. Kit. "And we all know who killed Gregory. You did that! You weren't even satisfied on your own honeymoon. Had to have another man. My leavings. You filled in, didn't you, Mrs. Kit, when I had to go to Santa Barbara?"

Mrs. Kit had found some remains of her strength in the shelter of the Carlson Castle. "You know better than that. Who would know better. You, with your alibi! An alibi you doubtless paid for handsomely. Maybe it fooled the San Francisco police, but it didn't fool me."

Jim looked at the women's faces, saw they held doubt, realized how completely true Stoneman had been in his belief that the Carlson women still believed Gregory Stoneman's death was unpunished murder.

Jim said, "A firm belief in an unpunished murder makes an actual killing much simpler. Particularly since you Carlson women are spoiled to the point where you believe ordinary laws do not apply to you. Particularly when you have the Carlson Conscience. A convenient thing, a cover for out-and-out selfishness which has reached the peak."

Mrs. Oswald chuckled. "I've heard similar opinions of the Carlsons expressed much better. Why don't you go on to develop the theme that the temper of the Carlson women is just a lack of self-control?"

"I was coming to that," Jim admitted. "But since it's known, I won't bother. You mind telling me, Mrs. Oswald, just who you suspected of killing Gregory Stoneman?"

Mrs. Oswald looked around the circle of faces. "I don't mind. It won't go farther than this room. I know who killed Gregory, Angelica, of course."

Ike Reveals High Costs of Training Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP)—It costs the U.S. military forces $120,000 to train a jet pilot.

Just putting an Army recruit through basic training costs about $3,200. By the time he has attained technical skills used in modern warfare, the Army has spent another $2,000 to $5,000 on his training.

President Eisenhower gave these figures to Congress today in explaining why he thinks military pay should be raised as an inducement to trained men to remain in the service.

Dior Needs the Flat Look Somewhere Around Nose

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—I have just about lost all my patience with Christian Dior.

I'm fed up to here with this French fashion designer. If I could be sure I wouldn't get air sick and he wouldn't fight back, I'd fly over to Paris and give him a new flat look, somewhere around the nose.

Just when the French Chamber of Deputies quiets down and the rest of the world begins to think France may be getting some stability, Dior opens up. Why? Who anointed him the patron saint of fashion? By what authority? Was he elected or did he pick up the franchise in a smoke-filled room? Wherever he got it, we ought to take it back.

* * *

Dior has de-emphasized the bosom, eliminated the waist, flattened the hips, hidden the knees and elbows and given men a consistent pain in the neck. Where will he strike next? When he's done, what will there be left to look at—a woman's knuckles?

Not content with hiding them, he has to get nasy about a woman's knees and elbows. Her knee, he said, is the "ugliest spot in a woman's anatomy" and her elbow isn't much better. Both, he said, should be covered up.

* * *

Baloney, monsieur.

Some men like a woman's ears best; others, the back of the neck or the wrists or the instep. I'm strictly a knee and elbow man myself.

A woman's knee can be beautiful, a work of art unto itself. It can be round and soft and dimpled. Have you seen anything nicer than a woman crossing her knees? A knee can reflect character. Have you ever seen a woman of character without knees?

Anatomically, a knee serves as a joint. It helps hold a woman together. And, more than ever, it seems to me, the world needs visible evidence of whatever it is that holds a woman together.

* * *

Same with elbows. Elbows hold them together. At the elbow, a woman finally comes to a point. Why take that away from them? They come to the point so seldom you know. A woman carries her funny bone in her elbow and in these times of stress and strain it ought to be more visible, not less. Besides a woman is best guided—when she can be guided at all—by a man's thumb and index finger being pressed gently but firmly under her elbow. Clothes only get in the way.

Dior said that before creating a new design he broods about women for a long time. Many men brood about women but how many conclude that they ought to be covered up?

* * *

First Dior lowers dresses six inches and women not only find their dresses obsolete but also their skirts and suits and coats. Then somebody comes along and raises the hems. Again a new wardrobe.

Reminds me of a game of high-low. You poker players will understand. The man on your right is sure of winning high and bets like crazy. The man on the left bets equally heavy; he's sure of low. You're in the middle, completely boxed; either way it costs you money.

Prompt Police Action Solves Case of Soup

WEBSTER, N.Y. (AP)—The telephone jangled at the sheriff's office last night. There was a scream for help at the Masline home. Then a crash and the line went dead.

Deputies John Erbland and Albert Underhill raced to the home, crouched outside to draw guns and went in. Robert Masline, 7 and in tears, explained that he had wanted their help in the case of the turkey giblet soup.

His mother Mrs. Allen Masline thought he should eat the soup. He refused, and ran out on a scolding to summon reinforcements. The crash came when his mother caught him in the middle of the call.

The law—no help—lined up solidly behind Mrs. Masline. Robert ate the soup.

Actress Files Divorce Suit Against Producer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former film and television actress Barbara Brier, 29, filed suit yesterday for divorce against Arthur Dreyfuss, 46, television film producer.

The complaint charges cruelty. Miss Brier requests for support for herself and two children, Arthur Jr., 3, and Dennis, 10 months.

The couple married in Virginia City, Nev., in 1949.

BOTH PRAISE O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"Ten days was all that it took O-JIB-WA BITTERS to bring me the results that I sought for so long," says Mr. Walter Kleimola, R No. 2, Ironwood, Michigan.

"My wife is the one who first introduced me to O-JIB-WA BITTERS. She began taking it about a year and a half ago, because her arms were swollen and very painful. Her blood circulation was very poor and brown spots began to appear on her skin. She had tried many medicines, but nothing helped very much until she used O-JIB-WA. The pains left and the spots went away, so she has been recommending it to others ever since. I read on the folder packed with the bottle, that it was good for stomach ailments, and as I have been suffering for a long time with my stomach I decided to give it a trial. About all I had been able to eat was like baby food, and of course anything fried would about kill me. O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me right away and in 10 days I wasn't bothered at all. Because of the excellent results we have both received from your medicine, we are glad to tell all who suffer about the merits of O-JIB-WA BITTERS."

320-Pound Solon Will Party in Style

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Rep. T. James Tumulty (D-NJ) will be able to go to the President's annual congressional ball tonight after all.

The 320-pound congressman had feared he'd have to miss it after tailors in Washington told him there wasn't a ready-made size 56-stout full-dress suit in the country. And that was his size.

* * *

In desperation, Tumulty called his tailor Louis Liberatore here. "I've got a surprise for you," Liberatore said.

Tumulty returned here to find a size 56 suit all set for him.

Liberatore said he had figured after Tumulty was elected he'd be banqueting and outgrow the size 52 he used to wear. So the tailor was prepared.

3 From Waring Band Injured in Smashup

BOULDER CITY, Nev. (AP)—The musical director and two other musicians of Fred Waring's orchestra were injured in an auto accident near here yesterday.

Fred Culley, 58, of Forest Hills, N.Y., violinist and musical director broke a leg and suffered internal injuries.

Drummer James McClintock, 54, and trumpet player Tom Cullan, 44, suffered minor injuries. Both were back on the bandstand last night at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, where the orchestra is appearing.

Officers said the musicians' car, driven by Cullan, collided with one driven by Penny Wilmoth, 17, of Boise, Idaho. Miss Wilmoth broke a leg.

College Paper Publishes School Photos of Faculty

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Students are passing out candy and cigars to faculty members at Idaho State College, and the student newspaper The Bengal devotes a full page to faculty pictures—all taken when the faculty members were of college age themselves.

Although the shenanigans come just before the week of Jan. 22-28—that's examination week—students look with disfavor at intimations they might be polishing the scholastic apple.

They explain it's all part of "Be Kind to Faculty Week," which started Tuesday on campus.

Sen. Neuberger Finds Life Hard

Freshman Lawmaker Lists Difficulties of His New Assignment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten days on the job as a United States senator has convinced Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) this is his toughest assignment.

"I've never worked as hard in my life," said Neuberger, who is 42 and says he started work at 18. "I start work at 8 o'clock in the morning and I'm still going past 11 at night."

* * *

Neuberger listed among his difficulties—some of them obviously not shared by his colleagues:

1. "Dozens and dozens of invitations — perhaps hundreds — to cocktail parties."

2. "Inability to use the product of ghost writers or even other research workers."

3. The job of caring for his pet cat Muffet because his wife Maurine is back in Oregon on her job of state legislator. She plans to return here later to serve as an unpaid office assistant to her husband.

4. Being mistaken for another freshman lawmaker, Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif), son of the late President.

* * *

Neuberger has attracted attention because of his outspokenness and because it was his victory over former Sen. Guy Cordon in the last race to be decided after the November elections, which assured Democratic control of the Senate.

Neuberger said the Washington social whirl has astounded him and he expects to stay out of it, although he has accepted a few invitations from old friends and a women's press group.

"I don't smoke or drink," he said. "I'm not a prohibitionist but I am a teetotaler."

Neuberger said he may have to revise his present system of writing every speech, letter and press release himself.

Dick Haymes 4 Years Older Than Stepfather

NEW YORK (AP)—The mother of crooner Dick Haymes has been married for 11 years to a singer who is 4 years younger than 36-year-old Dick.

Mrs. Fred Haymes-Waters disclosed yesterday that she married Waters, a 6-foot-3 baritone, in 1943.

A voice teacher, she said Waters enrolled in a course in 1941, two years after she had been widowed.

* * *

"He proposed to me shortly after he became my pupil," Mrs. Haymes-Waters said. She added that they were married two years later when she "grew to love him."

She said her son Dick, married to actress Rita Hayworth, was pleased by the marriage and told her:

"You were never meant to live with somebody old."

Having Ulcer May Mean You're Overly Ambitious

By MARGARET LATROBE

The man of distinction used to rely heavily on an ulcer to make his distinction authentic. But from an American Medical Association publication comes disturbing news which takes all prestige from having ulcers.

So from here on, don't mention your bland diet and milk martini, expecting to create awe among the less-endowed. Your ulcer may mean that you are just a greedy kid who is trying to press ahead too fast.

"Overly ambitious" is the unhappy tag doctors apply to many of the irritable-inner set. We bottle up our frustrations, they say, and first thing we know our tummies are in revolt.

The answer? Well, there are a number of choices, none of which sounds too plausible to me. It is suggested that a junior executive (who is studying up how to nix the "junior" and just be the boss) should get sassy at the office. Speak right up. Tell the chief he don't know from Sunday. And then get fired—or what?

Blow off steam when somebody lands on your favorite sore toe? But you can also find lengthy expositions on the virtues of keeping the lips sealed in such moments. Blab about your business, and pretty soon the news races right back to home base. Fired agai, eh?

Don't let the top brass palm off a lot of vexing chores on our boy, either. Let them know who is vice president and who isn't going to make like a hired hand. The stakes are high, the ulcers are howling — so which way will a fellow turn? To comfortable gastric juices—or unemployment?

As usual, the men figure they have the ulcer market cornered. But let me tell you that a good number of women have bigger and better reasons to line up in the row of distinction. Our one safety valve is the fact of being the boss at home. When things don't go right (and when do they?) we have the children, the butcher, the baker and the long-suffering laundry man to lambaste.

It helps, but it is no guarantee against a year of custard pudding. We can't get rid of all the frustrations. About the only hope is to keep the ulcer area from hearing about them. But I do wish that, in diagnosing the malady, the medical men didn't call us names like over-ambitious, tense and frustrated.

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Persons wishing to contribute to the March of Dimes here will be able to do so simly by dropping dimes in parking meters. The contributions can easily be separated from parking fees because the meters operate only on nickels and pennies.

Painful Thank You

DETROIT (AP)—When the home where Mrs. Genevieve Green, 53, rooms caught on fire yesterday, Mrs. Green took time to scoop up her landlady's dog before fleeing. She escaped injury—except for a bite on the hand by an ungrateful dog.

Operation Leadpants Dragging for Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Pravda said today the government drive to get bureaucrats out of their desk jobs and into heavy industry is not going fast enough.

An editorial in the Communist party organ said displaced desk jockeys were ending up in other soft jobs.

Pravda cited as an example the Ministry of Oil Industry, which it said got rid of 670 office employes but sent only 66 of those to oil wells or similar works. The majority remained in offices in other enterprises, the newspaper said.

Mario Lanza Paid Before Starting Work

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Since he's been a part of the motion picture business Mario Lanza has earned big money, but I doubt if he was ever as excited in his life as when his first salary check came in from Warner Brothers a few days ago.

Mario was due to go on the payroll Feb. 1, the day he begins preparations for his picture "Serenade." But Jack Warner decided to show the studio's faith in the singer by putting him on salary almost a month in advance.

Psychologically, Jack was wise because he has given Mario a faith and an assurance he has not had in a long time. Mario's taken off weight, looks like a different person, and he's happy.

The impulsive Anna Magnani has completed "Rose Tattoo" and leaves for Italy next week. She'll be gone but not forgotten. She has to return to Italy to do an independent picture called "Grace," but she is coming back in October.

Her return to Hollywood is not because she is so interested in living here or in making motion pictures. She wants to bring her 12-year-old son, Luca, back with her for therapy to overcome the last effects of the little boy's polio. She'll enroll him in school here, and, of course, will make another picture. She's a wonderful mother and has been on the telephone constantly with Luca since she's been away.

Walt Disney's 1956 plans for his TV show are as important as those now being completed for 1955. Walt will bring the stories of Big Bill Williams, who pioneered the Santa Fe Trail, and John Coulter, who first explored the Yellowstone region, to television. Fess Parker, who is now playing the role of Davey Crockett for Disney, is the most likely actor for the Williams project.

TV is now flourishing at most of our studios. Darryl Zanuck, as announced last week, plans to make TV subjects much as Columbia has done for a long time. These men have the know-how, and there's no reason why they shouldn't get on the gravy train.

After the stories about Robert Mitchum's withdrawal from "Blood Alley" by mutual agreement, he telephoned me from San Rafael. He was like a little boy, saying that he thought the story was good. He likes Billy Wellman, the director, and he was only looking out for the underdog (meaning the crew), which he felt wasn't getting a break. That's what started the ruckus with George Coleman.

He said he and Dorothy will get in a car and go to Mexico with the children. "I could use a vacation, although I'd rather go back in the picture if that's possible.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Natasha Lytess, Marilyn Monroe's coach for years, will remain at 20th and work with Virginia Leith, whose option has been taken up.

Photographer Len Weissman, who hasn't done any publicity since he was a publicity agent for my Hollywood Hotel show 20 years ago, has signed with Al Gottesman's new, five million dollar Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas, which opens April 1.

Mickey Rooney was bitten on the thumb by a chimp working in his picture, and here's the switch—the chimp got sick!

Nice honor for Danny Thomas. He's been chosen to MC the White House correspondents dinner in Washington on Feb. 5.

Julie Harris returns to Hollywood Feb. 11, bringing her bridegroom, Manning Gurian. She'll do added scenes for "East of Eden."

Judge Separates Son, Daughter Between Parents

CLEVELAND (AP)—Judge Daniel H. Wasserman has separated a young boy and his little sister, giving the custody of each to a divorced parent.

The judge said he so ruled yesterday because of the desires of the children and the fact their mother reared them under the Roman Catholic faith against the wishes of their Jewish father.

While the mother wept in the courtroom, 10-year-old Suzanne Wolk was put in the custody of her father, physician Harry Wolk. The girl's brother Harry Jr., 13, was left in the custody of his mother.

* * *

The judge told the parents that "your children apparently talked this situation over before coming here. The boy is definitely set on staying with his mother, but the girl wants to go with her daddy."

Married in 1937, the couple was divorced in 1950 after a separation of more than a year. The mother, now Mrs. Ann Leak, won a $60,000 settlement and custody of the children. The mother said she had agreed to raise the children in the Jewish faith, but changed her mind because she had broken up with her husband.

Officer Catches Woman Policy Writer Napping

BALTIMORE (AP) — "I'm sleeping," Mrs. Marie Hewletty, 54, said when a policeman told her to get up off a couch.

Then a pencil rolled from the couch to the floor. "Get up," the officer repeated.

When Mrs. Hewletty finally did arise, it was testified yesterday in Eastern Police Court, vice squad members found a numbers book under a cushion. She was held in $2,500 bail.

19 Years of Marriage Celebrated in Arizona

Being a Buckeye who became a Broadwayite and married a St. Louis woman, I wish to tell younger husbands my secret.

"Go 50-50 with your wife," the experts say. And they're right. I'm not referring to "$50 for her, 50c for me," and such corny jokes. I'm serious.

I always let her talk, and in return she's nice to me. She lets me listen. She loves to eat at strange hours. I allow her to eat whenever she wants to, and, in turn, she allows me to allow her to. Fifty-fifty again; share-and-share alike.

MURIEL HEINLEIN

"I want some Mexican food," she murmured the other day about 5 p. m.

We'd come out on the TWA Quickie Vacation Trip. There was a banquet at 8. I drove her 15 miles to eat Mexican food from 6 to 6:30, but she was just as nice to me . . . she let me spoil my dinner.

On our trip, a pretty TWA stewardess, Muriel Heinlein, turned out to be Rockaway Playland's Sweater Queen of 1949.

Hauling out my Rollei, Voigtlander, Polaroid and Mighty Light, I took a few pictures of Miss Heinlein in her TWA sweater.

Bigger Fund Eyed for Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration was reported today to have decided to recommend a 100-million-dollar revolving fund instead of 25 million dollars for its proposed health reinsurance proram.

The program woud be designed to bring about better and expanded voluntary health insurance coverage.

Informed sources outside the government said also the revised proposal to be sent to Congress in a special message Jan. 24 contains new safeguards which would require participating health insurers to expand coverage, to pioneer in new types of coverage and to avoid advertising practices recently criticized

Congress last year bottled up the proposal for a 25-million-dollar health reinsurance fund. The American Medical Assn. objected that the program might provide an entering wedge toward socialized medicine.

Individual Duel Sidelight to PHS-Saginaw Game

By BILL MARTIN

A scoring duel between the two top point-makers in the Saginaw Valley Conference will provide an interesting sidelight in tonight's Pontiac High-Saginaw basketball clash here.

Leading their respective teams into the contest will be Pontiac's Dick Blacklaw, currently the SVC's top scorer, and Saginaw's J. T. Landrum, No. 2 in Valley scoring.

Each has played two games in league competition. Blacklaw has a 21.5-point average for the two starts, while Landrum is close behind with 19.5.

The Trojan star leads in overall scoring with a 22.5 mark, due largely to a 31-point performance against Lansing Eastern, while the 6-foot 4-inch Pontiac center is 4th with 15.75.

Blacklaw probably has the leagues top field goal accuracy mark, having dunked 22 of 46 shots for a .478 percentage.

Chiefs, going after their 4th victory in five starts, will be favored over the Trojans, who have lost three of their four games to date. Pontiac's starting lineup of John James (6-3) and Walter King (5-11) at forwards, Blacklaw (6-4) at center and Bob Johnston (6) and Walt Poe (5-10) at guards will hold a slight height advantage.

* * *

Trojan coach Larry Laeding probably will go with Landrum (6-12) and Gerry Armstrong (5-9) at forwards. Bernie Thompson (6-5) at center and Jerry Hamling (5-9) and Chuck Lyon (6-1) at guards.

Game is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the PHS gymnasium.

Current leaders in the SVC individual scoring race:

BLACKLAW, PHS	2	43	21.5

Scoring Aces Give Defenses Big Test

Defenses of Northville and Birmingham face the toughest job in county prep basketball circles tonight as coaches Dick Kay and John Petrakis must devise methods for stopping or slowing up the county's top point-makers.

Kay's task is doubly-hard for his Northville club, currently tied with Clarkston for the Wayne-Oakland League lead, bumps into Milford and its potent 1-2 scoring punch of Jim Davidson and Tom Gould.

Birmingham's Maples, fighting to stay in Eastern Michigan League contention, meets Hazel Park, sparked by high-scoring Larry Chaney.

Milford's twosome are providing the Redskins with over 40 points a game between them to date. Inside man Tom Gould works the pivot and rebounds for a point average of 18.4, while Davidson, a roving forward, is hitting 24 per game, currently the county's top mark.

Chaney has only played three games (he missed one through illness), but has bagged 65 points for a 21.3 average.

Another Wayne-Oakland Leaguer—Frank Rogers of Keego Harbor, has taken over 3rd place behind the Milford tandem. The Keego sharp-shooter is averaging 17.5. Following are Jim Simer of Madison High, and a rangy pair from Shrine's unbeaten club, Ron Troy and Hugh Kirtek.

Bob Evans of Southfield is 7th followed by Pontiac's Dick Blacklaw and Jim Hock of South Lyon. Rounding out the top 10 (for those playing four games or more) are two Suburban Catholic League aces, Vince Pernicki of Orchard Lake and Chuck Dixon of RO St. Mary.

Tie-breaking contests are listed tonight for the Inter-Lakes, Wayne-Oakland and Oakland-B Conferences, and key tests are slated in the Bi-County and Southern Thumb

The leading scorers:

	G	Pts.	Avg.
Jim Davidson, Milford	5	120	24.0
Tom Gould, Milford	5	92	18.4
Frank Rogers, Keego Hbr.	4	70	17.5

Busy Bobo Plans Heavy Schedule for This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobo Olson knows he won the Edward J. Neil award as "Fighter of the Year" for 1954 because he was a busy champion so he plans a full schedule for '55.

* * *

Olson, who admits frankly he fights only for money, said Thursday night at the Boxing Writers' dinner, he planned to keep busy this year. Three successful defenses of his middleweight title won him recognition from the writers.

* * *

Joey Giardello, the Philadelphia battler who bounces from suspensions to reinstatements every other week, probably will be the next opponent if he shows to advantage against Al Andrews in Norfolk, Jan. 26.

Charles Humez of France is another possibility as is Rocky Castellani, whose victory over Holly Mims Wednesday night at Cleveland, supposedly assured him of another crack at the title. "It's all set within 90 days," said Al Naiman, Rocky's manager. "Maybe," said Olson's boss, Sid Flaherty. Then there is the proposed Archie Moore match for the light heavyweight title that promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club hopes to stage at a New York ball park in June.

Starting Date Set for PWBA 22nd Pin Meet

Area's Biggest Test for Women Keglers Begins March 5

Pontiac Women's Bowling Assn. will hold its 22nd annual city tournament starting March 5 at the Colonial Lanes in Utica.

Entries will be accepted until midnight, Jan. 29. Tourney is sanctioned by the Women's International Bowling Congress and will be on a handicap basis.

Last year's winners included Howe's Lanes of Clarkston in team event, Florence Van Gordon and Beverly Kuschel in doubles, Faye Sibert in singles and Shirley Pointer in all-events.

Entry blanks may be obtained from league officers or at city bowling establishments.

This tourney for many years has been the biggest in the area for women bowlers, and always produces some of the season's finest scoring efforts.

Argentine Leads in Panama Open

PANAMA, Panama (AP) — Argentine's long-hitting Roberto de Vicenzo posted a phenomenal 10-under-par 62 to take a 3-stroke lead in the first round of the $7,500 Panama Open Golf Tournament here Thursday.

Playing in a steady tropical rain, the Argentine professional registered 10 birdies in putting together identical rounds of 31-31 to shatter the Panama course record by three strokes.

Tied for second, at 65, were Arnold Palmer of Columbus, Ga., and de Vicenzo's countryman, Antonio Cerda.

Mexico already has announced it will have teams in each of the 18 sports. Over 2,000 athletes from North and South America are expected to take part.

Once-Beaten PHS Team Seeks 5th Victory in Upstate Pool Tonight

Pontiac High's swimming team, winner in four of its first five starts, goes after victory No. 5 tonight at Saginaw High.

The two teams currently are tied for 2nd place in Saginaw Valley Conference standings with 1-1 records.

Both squads defeated Flint Central, their only common foe to date. Saginaw downed the Indians, 44-40, while Pontiac won by a similar 43-41 count.

Bob Lamson, Pontiac's senior free-styler who has not been beaten at 100 yards this season, will be seeking his 6th consecutive individual victory tonight. His best clocking thus far was a 55.8-second effort against Arthur Hill last week.

Meet is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. in the Trojans' pool.

Miss Suggs Favored in Sea Island Open

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Defending champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta will again be the favorite when the $3,500 Sea Island Open Golf Tournament begins Saturday.

Babe Zaharias notified tournament officials that she won't be able to participate. She is the only major touring woman pro not in the lineup.

Red-haired Patty Berg, the proven veteran, and 19-year-old Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif. are considered good bets to pull through ahead of Miss Suggs.

Steve O'Neill Back With Tribe Outfit

CELVELAND (INS)—The Cleveland Indians Thursday hired much-traveled former manager Steve O'Neill as an administrative assistant and signed star pitcher Mike Garcia to his 1955 contract.

In a busy afternoon, general manager Hank Greenberg announced the signing of O'Neill and then huddled with Garcia, who had a 2.64 earned run average last season — lowest in the American League.

Garcia led the Tribe pitching staff which set an all-time league era record of 2.78.

Easy for Tartars

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne University took an early 1st half lead and coasted to a 73-56 basketball victory over Brandeis last night.

Guard Ron Porter dropped in eight field goals and five free throws to lead the Wayne scoring with 21 points. Center Jim Houston scored half of Brandeis' 20 field goals to take scoring honors for the visitors with 20 points.

MIAA a Year Ahead

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. (MIAA), a league of eight small schools, was one year ahead of the NCAA football rules committee in modifying the rigid substitution rule.

The MIAA defied the NCAA last year to adopt a more liberal rule as now recommended by the national rules committee in New York.

Party Slated for Stock Car Owners, Drivers

Auto racing enthusiasts will hold an off-season get together Saturday night at a "Pit Party," scheduled at the Danish Hall, 12th and Forest, Detroit, at 8 p. m.

Movies of the Pan-American road race and last year's Indianapolis 500-mile race will be shown. Refreshments and dancing round out the program.

Loi Debuts for U.S. Ring Fans

European Lightweight Champ Meets Flanagan in TV Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Duilio Loi, European lightweight champion in pursuit of Jimmy Carter's world title, makes his American ring debut tonight and is a 2-1 favorite to defeat rough, aggressive Glen Flanagan of St. Paul.

The 10-round fight will be televised nationally (NBC) from the Miami Beach Auditorium, starting at 10 p.m. (EST).

The handsome Loi, rated as the No. 2 lightweight contender behind Paddy DeMarco, has an impressive record of 59 victories, three draws and only one defeat in European competition. He has been made a 2-1 favorite over Flanagan.

Loi, in full accord with the oddsmakers, predicted he would finish Flanagan in five rounds. Although the 24-year-old Italian is not a knockout hitter, he has stopped some of his opponents by cutting them up.

Al Pollard Defends Canadian Football

VANCOUVER (AP)—Football players in the United States are "continually handed derogatory propaganda" about Canadian football, star halfback Al Pollard of the British Columbia Lions, said Friday.

Pollard, back from a visit to his wife's home in Philadelphia, said in an interview, players in the United States are being told Canadian teams often fail to pay their players and are guilty of other "calumnies." He did not elaborate.

Washington Sells Terwilliger, Tipton

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Washington Senators announced the outright sale of 2nd baseman Wayne Terwilliger and catcher Joe Tipton today to the Minneapolis club of the American Association for an undisclosed price.

Terwilliger was claimed by the Nats at the end of the 1952 season on waivers from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Tipton came to the Senators last winter from the Cleveland Indians in a trade for catcher Mickey Grasso.

Top Unbeaten Prep Quintets Battle Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two unbeaten Class A giants—Muskegon Heights and Grand Rapids Christian—collide tonight in one of the most important games of the high school basketball season.

Both enter the game owning gaudy winning streaks. Muskegon Heights, defending Class A champion, has won its last 17 games, including six straight this season. Christian owns an 8-0 record.

The game will be played in Grand Rapids Burton High School. It could develop into a two-player battle between M. C. Burton, the outstanding Muskegon Heights center, and Paul Benes, Christian's 6-foot-10 center.

Promise Held Out for Weekend Skiing

Area skiing enthusiasts may have an opportunity to pursue their sport this weekend if the weatherman's forecast of snow today or tomorrow is realized.

Pontiac Ski Club officials said today that there is an excellent base at their Teeple Hill layout and that the light snowfall of the past few days affords fair skiing. Additional snow today or Saturday would make conditions ideal.

Any one interested may attend the instruction groups Tuesdays at 7-8 p.m. League shoots begin at 8:15 p.m. same night. Spectators are invited.

Redlegs' Hopes Resting With Pitching Staff

Cincinnati Pleased With Rookies Minarcin, Ross, Lane, Acker

NEW YORK (AP) — Sophomore Manager Birdie Tebbetts, who did such an outstanding job with the Cincinnati Reds in his freshman season last year, regards his main job for the coming season is to improve the club's pitching.

* * *

"And we may have it," advised Gabe Paul, the popular general manager of the Redlegs. "Our hope for 1955, as I see it at this time, is in the hands of our pitchers. Especially some of our young hurlers who may make the coming season their first full one with the Reds.

* * *

"I believe we have truly fine pitching prospects in southpaw Cliff Ross and righthanders Jim Pearce, Jerry Lane, Rudy Minarcin and Tom Acker. Pearce, Lane and Ross showed us enough in fall trials with the Reds to make Birdie and me believe they can help our club quite a bit next season.

* * *

"Acker and Minarcin have size, speed and the proper mental outlook to go with a fine assortment of equipment. Both were handicapped by lame knees last season but Minarcin is physically sound now and Acker is making progress too."

Ten of the 15 newcomers are pitchers.

Boxer Asks Treatment for Narcotics Habit

CINCINNATI (AP)—Featherweight boxer Eddie Burgin was arrested again Thursday and Sgt. Russell Jones and detective William Whitworth said he signed a statement admitting he is a narcotic addict.

Officers said the 25-year-old Burgin, who once was rated among the first 10 in the featherweight division, asked in the statement that he be sent to the government hospital at Lexington, Ky., in the hope he can be cured.

Wings Narrow Gap in Fight for NHL Lead

Face Canucks in Big Test Saturday After Blanking Bruins

DETROIT (AP) — A new-found "hustle line" composed of three sophomores has revived hopes of the Detroit Red Wings for an unprecedented 7th straight National Hockey League championship.

Red Wings, who seemed out of the running only two weeks ago, today were within two points of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, and the surge is credited to the sparkling play of sophomores Dutch Reibel, Bill Dineen and Marcel Bonin.

This hard-working trio has led the Red Wings to three consecutive victories, including a 4-0 decision over the Boston Bruins last night. Dineen scored twice and Bonin once as the Wings handed the Bruins their 1st setback in eight games.

The victory gave the Red Wings 55 points in the standings, compared to 57 for the Canadiens. The two teams meet in a showdown game Saturday night at Montreal.

"That's the big one," said general manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings. "If we win that one we'll probably go all the way. We'll have a psychological edge on the Canadiens."

Detroit has lost only twice in its last 18 games. Strangely, it was an injury to captain Ted Lindsay which started the Red Wings' comeback.

Lindsay suffered a shoulder injury Dec. 11 and missed 14 games. He returned to part time duty last night. While he was out of action, the Red Wings were forced to shuffle their lines, and coach Jimmy Skinner came up with the "hustle line" of Reibel, Dineen and Bonin.

Reibel has scored 12 goals this season; Dineen and Bonin seven apiece. Their hustling tactics have kept the opposition off balance in recent games.

EXPERTS—All set for a flight at the targets in the indoor range at Pontiac Municipal Airport are (l) Al Tang, 46 North Telegraph road, and Paul Baldwin, 6360 Harriett. Both are experienced and capable archers, members of the Pontiac Archery Club.

Wolverines, Spartans in 66th Cage Contest

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan and Michigan State, intense basketball rivals since 1909, will stage their 66th meeting at East Lansing Saturday night.

Both teams feature the fast break and high scoring. Michigan, winning seven out of its 1st 10 games, has topped 100 points twice this season.

Michigan State twice has set new local scoring marks, 1st with 91 points against Marquette and then with 94 against Wisconsin.

In conference competition, Michigan has won two and lost one while MSC has one win and two losses.

There were 13 seniors and 13 sophomores on the 1954 North Carolina football squad.

Citation's Offspring to Make Racing Debuts Soon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sons and daughters of Citation—only thoroughbred to earn more than a million dollars on the race track—will make their first appearance at Hialeah Race Course within the next six weeks.

It is fitting that they start at Hialeah, for it was at the fabulous Florida track that "Big Cy," owned by Calumet Farm, received his first juvenile training and was undefeated in four starts there before he went on to win racing's triple crown in 1948.

* * *

Before he retired from racing on July 19, 1951 at the age of six, Citation had earned $1,085,760. He finished out of the money only once in 45 starts and made 32 appearances in the winner's circle.

Seven of his first crop were sold at public auction in 1954—four colts and two fillies at Keeneland and one colt at Saratoga. They averaged $26,928, topped only by the offspring of two celebrated imported stallions, Nasrullah and Royal Charger.

* * *

One of Citation's chestnut colts, from the Man O' War mare, Boat, sold for $50,000 to a syndicate which includes W. Arnold Hanger. Some of Hanger's horses are now at Hialeah, in training under Horatio Luro, and the $50,000 "baby" is expected to join them soon.

Birmingham Student Is Hockey Captain

Patrick Baldwin, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Baldwin, 788 Harmon road, Birmingham, is captain of the hockey team at St. Michael's College School in Toronto, Ont.

The only American player on the team, Baldwin gained hockey experience in the Detroit junior recreation league at Olympia.

St. Mikes is the school (prep and college) that sent such puck stars as Red Wings Leonard (Red) Kelly, Ted Lindsay and Bill Dineen into professional hockey.

12-Year-Old Gets Big Pike on Middle Straits

Twelve-year-old Arthur E. Silverthorn has pretty good proof of how fishing is going on Middle Straits Lake.

A 6th grader at Twin Beach elementary school, young Silverthorn hooked a 30-inch pike on a tip-up Wednesday about 5 p.m. The 6 and a half-pounder is the largest of six pike he has taken from the lake this season.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Silverthorn, 7111 State Park Blvd., Middle Straits Lake.

Battle Illini in Television Game Saturday; Tilt Rated Close One

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State and Robin Freeman try their talents tomorrow against Illinois, battling to stay atop the Big Ten basketball race.

Freeman's 35.1 point average for nine games, tops in the country, is expected to weigh heavily in the Big Ten's weekly televised game (CBS—3 p.m., EST).

In what looks like a close game, Ohio State aims to improve its 1-1 conference record, while the Illini share top conference marks with Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan. Illinois has a 2-1 conference record.

Illinois' top scorer Bill Ridley Bruce Brothers is runnerup with has a season average of 15.6; 14.1.

Say Need Continues for 'Any Deer' Season

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Commission said again today that it will ask the Legislature to continue its unqualified discretionary power over the deer herd in the Lower Peninsula.

Opposition to such a policy has come chiefly from those against the one-day "any deer" season that the commission has said is needed to cut down the deer surplus.

Harry D. Ruhl, game division head, told the commission that although the deer estimate is not complete yet, all facts point to the need for some kind of an "any deer" season again this year.

Ruhl said it is apparent that there still is a deer surplus in areas where there are many private clubs, in the fruit-growing area and in other scattered pockets, chiefly in the northern tip of the Lower Peninsula.

Is He Still Amateur?

AAU Probing Car Received by Bob Richards After Television Appearance

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Richards, one of the United States' sure-fire winners in the 1956 Olympic games, was under investigation by the Amateur Athletic Union today but he said he would abide by any decision the AAU made to preserve his amateur status.

* * *

Richards, the country's No. 1 pole vaulter, got in difficulty after the This Is Your Life television program Wednesday night. At the end of the program, he was given several gifts, including a dummy set of keys to an automobile.

AAU officials immediately became alarmed, and Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the organization, said he wired Larry Houston, chairman of the Rules Committee of the Southern Pacific AAU:

"Attention has been called to a TV program in which Bobby Richards received an automobile. Assume you are looking into it."

The surprised Richards, pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Long Beach, Calif., was caught right in the middle.

"Whatever the AAU says I'll be happy to comply," he said. "I certainly want to compete in the 1956 Olympic Games."

* * *

Richards, when he apeared at the program, did not know it would be the story of his life. At the end, the first question he asked was: Would his gift endanger his amateur standings?

He was assured that his apearance had been okayed by an official of the Southern Pacific AAU. Apparently this was a misunderstanding. The AAU said he could appear on the program but made no mention of accepting gifts, and at the end of the show, Ralph Edwards, who made the presentation, observed that if the AAU ruled that Richards could not accept the car, perhaps it could be donated to his church.

"However," said Ferris, "if Richards received the award because of his prominence as an athlete and not because of his preaching, he'll have to return the car."

Matson Biggest Worry for West Pros

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"How can anyone really set up a defense to stop Ollie Matson?"

* * *

The inquiry comes from Buck Shaw, coach of the Western Division All-Stars. They will have the job of stopping Matson in Sunday's Pro Bowl game.

Big Ollie, who performs with the Chicago Cardinals during the regular season, is expected to carry a lot of the rushing load for the East in the battle. But with him in the backfield are two other great runners, Kyle Rote and Eddie Price of the New York Giants.

Added to that the fact that quarterbacking for the East will be a couple of great passers, Otto Graham of the champion Cleveland Browns and Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Despite this opposition, Shaw complained: "I'm afraid the West squad is getting too confident. Yes, that's it."

Whether his words were factual or psychological couldn't be determined.

Shaw has plenty of offensive power in his own camp to throw against the East, coached by Jim Trimble. Shaw's quarterbacks are Norman Van Brocklin and Y. A. Tittle, who can throw for the distance on any given occasion. The rest of his backfield corps contains such aces as Doak Walker of Detroit, John Henry Johnson and Joe Perry of San Francisco's 49ers, Skeet Quinlan of the Los Angeles Rams and Buddy Young of the Baltimore Colts.

The weatherman promises sunny skies. Kickoff time is 4 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Prior to the game, track fans will see Wes Santee, America's foremost miler, make another attempt to better four minutes for a mile run. His opposition includes Bob McMillen and Bob Terrill. Both have run the mile in less than 4:10. Santee, in his last outing on a heavy track at the Sugar Bowl ran 4:14, far off his best time of 4:00.6.

* * *

The DuMont television network said it has been decided not to televise the game. A week ago DuMont announced it had purchased the TV rights.

"Too many complications developed over stations and cables," said Jimmy Dolan, director of sports events for the network. "We couldn't clear them soon enough."

Maple Tankers Win 3rd Meet

Jay Lewis bettered the Birmingham High School record for the 200-yard free style Thursday as the Maples won a 64-20 swimming meet from Mt.Clemens in Birmingham's Barnum pool.

Lewis churned the distance in 2 minutes, 11.6 seconds. The old mark, set last season by Russ Hibbard, was 2:12.8.

Capt. Doug Lewis and Wayne Geggie also were double winners for the Maples. Lewis took the 50 and 100-yard free style events, while Geggie won the 100-yard back stroke and 150-yard individual medley.

Birmingham has won 3 of 5 meets, all victories coming in Eastern Michigan League contests.

Texas fielded 43 college football teams in the 1954 playing season.

Unbeaten Shrine Cagers Romp to 5th Victory

Undefeated Shrine High School rolled merrily along to its 5th straight success of the current cage season Thursday night by drubbing Mount Carmel, 68-50, in Wyandotte.

The veteran Royal Oak five grabbed a 20-5 lead in the first quarter and never led by less than 10 points. A rangy crew, the Knights' starting five have been playing as a unit since they were 7th grades.

Now in their senior year, the club is given a good chance not only of winning the Catholic League 1st Division title, but possibly stirring up some statewide attention.

The team's top two scorers, Hugh Kirtek and Ron Troy, both 6-4, took a back seat Thursday night as guard John Burkhart stole honors with 22 points. Kirtek added 19 and Troy 14.

Michigan State's 1954 football team won the toss only once in its nine games, maybe or maybe not a pre-game omen.

Rams, Shamrocks Collide 29th Time Saturday at PHS

First intra-city basketball clash of the year between Pontiac's two parochial high school teams, originally scheduled for tonight, has been moved to Saturday night.

Schedule change was made in order that the game could be played in Pontiac High School's big gymnasium. Chiefs play Saginaw tonight on the PHS floor.

Saturday's contest will be the 29th meeting between the cross-town rivals since St. Michael started participating in the sport in 1942.

Rams, who won the 1st nine games, held a 17-11 edge in the series. Mikes have begun to close the gap in the past few seasons, however, and have taken six of the last nine games.

Shamrocks, whose defense has limited four opponents to 33.75 points per game, will have the tough job Saturday of stopping St. Fred's potent 1-2 punch of Dick Doyon and Lionel Bradley. Bradley is carrying a 13.6-point average and Doyon isn't far behind with 11.8.

St. Michael's top scorer to date has been forward John Keller, the only underclassman in Coach Bob Mineweaser's starting lineup. Keller has scored 49 points in four games.

Varsity game will be preceded by a jayvee game starting at 7 p.m.

Union Fives in Action

Two games were played last night in the Oakland County UAW-CIO basketball League. Officers collected 10 points to lead Local 596 to a 49-24 victory over Local 898. Fisher's 19 points helped Local 594 dump Local 653, 46-36, in the 2nd game.

Ladewig, Carter Top Pin Lists

CHICAGO (AP)—Bowling's rugged national individual match game championships open Saturday with Don Carter of St. Louis, seeking an unprecedented third straight title, and queen Marion Ladewig topping a field of 224 stars.

Mrs. Ladewig, 40, of Grand Rapids, Mich., never has been beaten in the tournament, winning each of the previous five years since the women's division was added. She again is a top-heavy favorite in her bracket of 64 bowlers.

* * *

The competition proper will extend through nine days, ending Sunday night, Jan. 23. A special team competition, including the entire field of 160 men and 64 women, will be held tonight as a prelude to the championship marathon. The meet is at the Coliseum, where an $80,000 set of new alleys has been installed.

* * *

In all, a total of nearly $14,000 in cash prizes will be distributed with $2,000 going to the men's champion and $600 to the feminine titlist.

The first five days will be an elimination series slicing the field to 14 in each division. These top-scoring survivors then will join Carter, Mrs. Ladewig and the two 1954 runners-up, Bill Lillard of Detroit and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia, in four days of match game play.

* * *

The foursome of Carter, Lillard, Ladewig and Wene are exempt from the preliminary rounds but will bowl in special matches. In the match-game action, each man will bowl each other man a four-game match, and each woman will face each other woman in a two-game match. A position round will be rolled in Sunday night's finale.

* * *

The 28-year-old Carter, who once was a pitcher in the Philadelphia Athletics farm system, is the second bowler in the tourney's history to have a chance for a third straight crown. The veteran trick-shot artist, Andy Varipapa of Hempstead, N. Y., won in 1946 and 1947 but was dethroned the next year by Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis.

Spartans, Badgers Boxing Teams Only Ones in Big 10

EAST LANSING (AP) — As far as this section of the Midwest is concerned, Michigan State will be going it alone in the collegiate fight game again this season.

The manly art of self defense, so popular professionally and on television — strangely — hasn't much support among the colleges.

Michigan State and Wisconsin are the only Big Ten schools to support boxing teams.

The attitude at a lot of schools is that the sport is "too rough" for their undergraduates. This is despite the fact that the collegian fighters wear football-type helmets, fight under the strictest supervision and that there never yet has been a death or a serious injury in the college ring.

MSC boxing coach George Makris, a former collegiate champion, has done well for the Spartans since taking over at Michigan State.

He had the NCAA championship team in 1951, was 2nd in the national competition three times, 3rd once and 4th last year — his poorest season.

Advance reports indicate that Makris should have another NCAA title-contender in his sparring Spartans this season. He has a lot of seasoned fighters returning, no apparent weakness at any weight, good depth and some highly-rated sophomores.

The only serious loss is Tom Hickey, the NCAA 165-pound champion last year. MSC's other national titlist, 147-pounder Herb Odom of Flint is back again.

6-Point Victory Moves Capitol Ahead of Drug in PTTL Play

A 6-point sweep over Pontiac Varnish returned Capital Barbers' table tennis team to first place in the Pontiac T.T. League Thursday night.

Furtney managed only a 4-2 victory over Pontiac Cigarette Service and fell to second place, one point behind the Barbers.

In other matches, Fleet Carrier defeated Huron Market, 5-1, and Short's Variety and China City played a 3-3 tie. Jerry Saunders was knocked out of the undefeated ranks, individually, as Dick Kuhn won an 18-21, 21-19, 21-18 match. Marty Kabcenell downed LeRoy Nicholas, 21-17, 23-25, 21-18, in another outstanding match.

Weaver Turns Down Razorbacks' Offer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Texas Tech football Coach DeWitt Weaver has closed the door on an offer from the University of Arkansas, and the Razorbacks find themselves with the same problem Bowden Wyatt gave them Saturday when he resigned.

John Barnhill, Arkansas athletic director, said Thursday night "we have no definite prospects in mind now," when he learned Weaver had decided not to break his five-year contract with the Border Conference team.

Minnesota's basketball court can seat almost 19,000.

Littler, Harrison Rated Highly in Crosby Test

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Monterey Peninsula's spectacular golf courses reveled in almost perfect weather today as pro and amateur contestants started shooting for fun and cash in the 14th playing of Bing Crosby's famed charity show.

* * *

Crisp, cool weather, with a trivial scattering of light clouds overhead gave promise of fine playing conditions holding, at least through Saturday.

* * *

A lot of the fine players took advantage of the fine weather to tune up in final practice rounds Thursday while followers of the $15,000 event speculated on this year's likely favorite. The name of Gene Littler, 24-year-old Palm Springs, Calif., star, who took the big Los Angeles Open only last week, was prominent, while nobody was overlooking the possibility that E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Arkansas veteran who walked off with first-place money last year, might repeat.

* * *

But they are only two in a field of pros which includes all but a very few of the leading money winners. Jimmy Demaret, second last year and winner of the year before; Jack Burke Jr.; Ed Furgol, National Open champion and the winner here in 1947; Ted Kroll, generally right up with the leaders; Peter Thomson, the British Open champion from Australia, and Lloyd Mangrum were among the name stars frequently mentioned.

With the fine pro field was a coterie of famed names from the screen and sports world plus other notables including retired Gen. Omar Bradley and Edgar Eisenhower, Tacoma attorney and brother of another well known golfer. Hoagy Carmichael, Phil Harris, Frankie Albert, Red Sanders and Peter DePaola were among the well known amateurs.

With the weatherman continuing to smile on Crosby's Clambake as Bing calls it, all indications are that this year's event will net more than any previous tournament for the crooner's various charities. His golf shows, attracting fans by the thousands' already have netted more than $200,000 for boys' clubs, old folks' homes, hospitals and the like. Bing picks up all the expense bills, leaving the admission fee take largely intact for the charity fund.

* * *

Play started at 7:30 o'clock this morning over Cypress Point (6,317 yards, par 37-35—72) and Monterey Peninsula Country Club (6,246 yards, par 35-37—72). The field of pro-amateur teams is split, half playing each course. Tomorrow they switch courses and, on Sunday, with the contestants cut to 60 teams, plus any ties, the survivors battle it out over treacherous Pebble Beach, with its rugged coastal hazards and woods.

Bob Considine Says:

Orville Wright Not Happy Over Invention of Airplane

NEW YORK (INS) — Secretary for Air Harold E. Talbott was as meant for his job as MacArthur for his, or Cobb for his. He's from Dayton, Ohio, for instance, where the whole thing took shape in the minds of two young men Talbott's father helped—the Wrights.

Young Talbott flew with Orville Wright the last time the pioneer ventured up at the controls.

Orville was not too happy about what he had helped to bright into the world. He didn't fly for years, was enraged by Washington's preference for the work of Prof. Langley, and, according to the column of a dazzling relation of mine named Millie, in the current Diplomat magazine, left all his money in the stock of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

"Last time I saw him he didn't even want to talk airplanes," Secretary Talbott told a seminar at Columbia University. "He had a new auto brake in mind and wanted to talk about that."

Talbott's relieved that the site of the Air Force Academy has been chosen and work has begun upon it. The site committee—which included Merrill Meigs of the Chicago American, who, pressing 70, flies his Bonanza about the country at the drop of a weather report, and included also Gen. Lindbergh — finally agreed on Colorado Springs. Before that split verdict the committee flew 18,000 miles examining 67 of the 580 touted sites in 27 states.

One place near St. Louis offered to build a $5,000,000 stadium for the Air Force Academy football team, if chosen by the committee and Talbott as the site. A New Mexico bidder could hardly offer a road to the remote area concerned. But when Talbott told the delegate over the phone, "Your bid doesn't have a Chinaman's chance" he (Talbott) was blasted on Capitol Hill by a member of Congress from that state.

Everything is now shipshape, except the problem of how the Air Force Academy football team is going to muscle into the Army-Navy game.

When the Overseas Press Club of America formally opened the doors of the Memorial Press Center last month, Editor and Publisher, the bible of our business, ran a fine piece concerning the origin of the society. It mentioned that "the late Charles Ferlin" was among the founders.

This prompted a letter from my friend J. Alex. Zehner, assistant managing editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Ferlin once worked for Alex, who is a close friend of Mrs. Ferlin and the Ferlin daughter, both of them in newspaper work in Pittsburgh.

Seems that the beautiful daughter was born after Charlie Ferlin sought other pastures. He worked for a time in Russia. On trips to New York with girl friends the daughter sometimes searched for her father's name in the current phone books or directory. She just wanted to tell him that she was in newspaper work, too. But no dice.

The other day a man walked into the American Airlines office in San Francisco, identified himself as Ferlin and asked to speak to Rex Smith, the crack newspaperman who is now vice president in charge of public relations for that company. They worked together, once upon a time. Told that Smith's office is in New York, the man blended back into the crowd. But it appears his daughter may still be able to tell her dad that she made it.

The New Year's card of the Turkish Information Office contains this quotation from the Koran:

"Surely those who believe, and those who are Jews, and the Christians and the Sabians, whoever believe in God and the last day and do good, they shall have their reward from their Lord and there is no fear for them, nor shall they grieve."

Grains Listless in Quiet Trade

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP) — Grains hardly budged from the previous session's closing prices in a dull, listless trade on the Board of Trade today.

The market's distinguishing feature was lethargy. There wasn't anything in the overnight news to cause any excitement among traders. As a result the market drifted along on an even keel.

January soybeans, which acted weak yesterday, staged a small recovery in early dealings, gaining a cent, but then fell back.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March $2.31; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, March $1.55⅛; oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March 76¾; rye unchanged to ½ higher, Mar. $1.21¼; soybeans ⅝ lower to ½ higher, January $2.81; and lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $12.87.

Detroit Youths Jailed Pending Examination

Two Detroit youths yesterday demanded examination on breaking and entering charges when arraigned before Farmington Township Justice Allen C. Ingle.

Fank Zoltowski, 17, of 8787 Traverse, and Ronald Kimmell, 19, of 2257 E. Forest, the accused, were unable to furnish $1,000 bond each, and are being held in Oakland County Jail until their examination Jan. 21.

Michigan State Police of the Redford Post arrested the pair this week. The home which police say they broke into is located in Southfield Township and is being built by Clayton J. Ramseyer of 26705 13 Mile Rd., Franklin.

Man Pleads Innocent to Weapons Charge

Chester Sawicki, 45, of 17311 Griggs, Detroit, pleaded innocent and demanded examination on a charge of carrying concealed weapons when arraigned yesterday before Oak Park Justice William F. Nern.

Oak Park Police said Mount Carmel Hospital attendants found a .32-caliber automatic in Sawicki's possession Nov. 23, after the Detroiter was brought there with injuries received in an auto accident.

Released from the hospital yesterday, Sawicki was taken to court but failed to produce $5,000 bond set by Nern. Sawicki is being held in Oakland County Jail until his examination Jan. 19.

Teamsters to Buy $1 Million More of Ward Shares

CHICAGO (AP)—James R. Hoffa, an international vice president of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said yesterday the brotherhood is buying another million dollars worth of Montgomery Ward & Co. common stock.

Hoffa said the order for the stock has already been given to a broker and that he expects it will be available in the "next several days."

He explained that the money will come from various health and welfare funds of the Central States Conference of Teamsters.

Hoffa, 45, of Detroit, is chairman of the central states group, composed of more than 400,000 teamsters in Illinois and 11 other Midwest states.

"We're buying the stock strictly as an investment," he said. "It has nothing to do with the teamsters' unionization drive at Ward's."

The health and welfare funds are administered jointly by the employer and union trustees and both groups must approve investments.

Hoffa said money from health-welfare funds of the Michigan Conference of Teamsters, composed of 50,000 members in this state, and the automobile transporters, composed of 12,000 car-hauling drivers, recently was used to purchase a million dollars of Ward stock. He said 3,500 shares were acquired at that time.

Engineers Predict Bus Device Will Be Adapted to Passenger Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Air springs, already developed for buses, eventually will appear on passenger cars, it was predicted at the closing session today of the Society of Automotive Engineers meeting.

The prediction came from Roy W. Brown of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., A. S. Krotz and J. H. Kramer of B. F. Goodrich Co., and R. E. Houser of the Flexible Co. Efficiency of the air springs has been established, they said, in tests already made.

A self-leveling device which holds vehicle suspension at designed level regardless of load changes was described by Krotz, Houser and Kramer. The system involves an oil-hydraulic system which acts to adjust the air volume in the springs.

Other speakers reported on the development of processes to extend the life of car engine exhaust valves and a new cast nickel-base super alloy for gas turbine engines.

General Motors engineers described results achieved in coating valves with aluminum, and the greater life expectancy of gas turbine engines equiped with turbine blades made of the new alloy.

Wolfson to Answer Avery on Jan. 20

CHICAGO (AP) — The next major round in the battle for control of Montgomery Ward & Co. is set for Jan. 20 in Circuit Court.

The courtroom door was open today for the filing of another preliminary brief — Louis E. Wolfson's rejoinder to the company's reply to Wolfson's suit.

The hearing is scheduled for next Thursday before Judge Harry M. Fisher.

Wolfson, 42-year-old financier from Florida, is seeking to wrest control of the huge merchandising firm from Sewell Avery, 81-year-old Ward chairman.

The showdown will be on April 22 at the annual meeting of Ward shareholders. Three of the nine directors — one of them Avery — will be up for re-election.

Carver Official Gets Threat Note

Destruction of Petitions for Recall Demanded of Mrs. Loretta Baker

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—Mrs. Loretta Baker, secretary of the Carver school board, says a threatening note was pinned to the door of her home in Oakdale Gardens yesterday.

Mrs. Baker turned the note over to George Taylor, chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor. Taylor said the note stated:

"If you want to live, you'd better destroy Harrison's recall petitions."

James E. Harrison is one of a two-member reform minority on the five man Carver school board. The majority has initiated recall action against him.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Chester Carter, a board member, refused yesterday to submit to a lie detector test in the investigation of last Friday's assault on Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. Baker was beaten by three hooded assailants who she said demanded the Harrison recall petitions.

Taylor quoted the Rev. Mr. Carter as saying he refused to take the lie test because it "would tend to publicize the Carver school dispute."

Board Changes Date for Romeo School Election

ROMEO—Members of the Romeo Board of Education decided last night to hold the annual school election and annual meeting on Monday, Jan. 13. Previously the school electorate went to the polls the second Monday in July.

School officials explained one of the reasons for the change was that the fiscal year ends June 30, and it is easier to begin the new year with the new board. Another advantage is that election would take place during the last week of school before parents began leaving town on their summer vacations.

Joseph Jelsch's board of education term of office will expire this year, and, after serving two 3-year terms and a portion of a third, he indicated last night he will not seek re-election.

The Board unanimously voted to rehire Supt. T. C. Filppula for an additional two years at a salary of $9,250. His contract will cover from July 1, 1955 to June 30, 1957 inclusive.

Move to Incorporate Area Civic Groups

BERKLEY — Representatives of several south Oakland County organizations and residents met last night, and voted to incorporate an Oakland County Association of Citizens Leagues.

Acting on a detailed outline of precinct - by - precinct organization of the country created by Frank Nievelt, president of the Berkley Citizen's League, those present voted to set up a fact-finding committee on the Gov. G. Mennen William's $500,000,000 highway program.

Nievelt said the planned organization was his own work, and has not been approved by the Berkley Citizen's League yet.

The group also favored a committee to study recent rate increase request by Consumers Power Co., and the Supreme Court decision that taxes should be based on state equalized figures, instead of county figures.

Grange Charges 8 Factors Help Cause Milk Surplus

WASHINGTON (INS) — The National Grange jumped with both feet today right into the middle of the complicated dairy price situation and blamed the industry's lack of leadership for most of its troubles.

The farm organization's views were expressed in a 124-page report on "Barriers to Increased Consumption of Fluid Milk" — the result of 18 months of field research by Grange expert Gordon Zimmerman.

Zimmerman told a news conference flatly that no federal legislation can effectively solve the milk producers' problems and that this is a matter which can be handled only at the state level.

He said that existing sanitary codes in a number of states are too restrictive but that legislation at the Washington level to bring about a national uniform code at one swoop would be too precipitous.

Copies of the Grange study have been sent to Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, farm leaders in Congress and to local Grange leaders throughout the country, as well as to dairy industry executives.

Last week, Benson made a detailed report on the dairy situation in which he claimed that the current federal program, with supports at 75 per cent of parity, seems to be working pretty well.

The secretary discussed a number of alternative ways for supporting prices but did not specifically recommend any of them.

National Grange Master Herschel Newton prefaced today's study with a statement that "increased consumption, especially of fluid milk, is far and away the most desirable of the possible remedies to the current dairy problem.

"Certainly it is much to be preferred over regulated production."

The Grange study charged that at least eight major factors are blocking increased milk consumption.

It listed these as excessively detailed sanitary regulations, weak merchandizing, lack of industry cooperation, restrictive labor practices, wholesale and retail price controls, shortcomings in federal milk marketing orders, increasing calorie concern on the part of consumers, and just plain complacency.

Farmers Faced by 2 Tax Dates

Alternatives of Jan. 31 or Tomorrow Made on Income Figures

WASHINGTON (INS)—For most farmers, there are two income tax filing deadlines in January, one of which comes up next Saturday.

These dates affect persons whose farm business year begins Jan. 1 and who get at least two-thirds of their gross income from farming.

Actually, a choice of filing dates is involved. The farmer can elect to file an estimate of his tax and pay that amount by Jan. 15 and then file a complete return and pay up any balance over and above the estimate by April 15.

Or, he can prepare a complete return now and pay up in full on or before Jan. 31. Farmers whose business years do not begin Jan. 1 have entirely different filing dates and should seek help, if needed, from local Internal Revenue offices.

Any farmer who reaches the age 65 during the taxable year does not have to file unless his gross income for the year amounted to more than $1,200. Those under 65 must file for gross incomes of $600 or more, even if no tax is due.

Fruit Farmers to Meet Monday

Series Opens Monday in Pontiac With Talk on Fertilization

The first of a series of five meetings of the new Oakland County Fruit School will be held at the Social Welfare Building at 1260 West Blvd., Pontiac, at 8 p.m. Monday.

All tree and small fruit farmers and parttime farmers have been invited to attend. Karl D. Bailey, district horticultural agent, will be the specialist conducting the meeting.

According to John K. Bray, assistant county agricultural agent, this meeting will largely be given over to the discussion of fertilization of fruit trees. It will cover mulching and conditioning the soil, minor element deficiency, soil testing, leaf analysis, and fertilizer requirements.

Mr. Bray points out that the growing of small fruits should be on the increase in this area, due to the large population and nearness of a good market. The work is especially adapted to the part time farmer, as a good small fruit program can be carried out on two or three acres of land, he said.

Other coming meetings will be on general orchard problems, fruit insects, diseases, spraying and marketing. Specialists from Michigan State College will conduct the meetings.

Dragnet Heads Popularity Poll

Disney to Do Daytime, Lorre Mocks Gleason, Now a Tubeless Radio

NEW YORK (INS)—Johnnie Ray will be paid a fat acting fee to plug a song he's written: "Paths of Paradise," Jan. 30 on the General Electric Theater . . .

The script concerns an aspiring young singer whose managers and advisers try to change him drastically from what called him to their attention in the first place . . .

Many of Johnnie's personal characteristics will be integrated —such as his partial deafness . . .

Originally entitled "The Big Shot," the title was changed to "Paths of Paradise" after the producer discovered Johnnie had fashioned precisely the sort of inspirational song (both words and music, as he did in his earliest record hits) called for in the plot . . .

New Videodex ratings have Dragnet, Lucy and Groucho running 1-2-3.

Game of the Day starts its 6th season March 2 and to make sure of action on days when the major leagues won't provide it, outstanding minor league games will be aired . . .

Looks pretty certain that Walt Disney will provide a daily children's program for TV . . .

Walt is plainly the ABC network's secret weapon . . .

Collegiate football strategists have five different plans ready for televising next fall's games—none of them aimed at satisfying anyone or anything but their own delaying action as they wait for the terrific grosses of subscription TV . . .

Horace Heidt will show films of the late Will Rogers Saturday, as well as Will Jr. in person.

Ilona Massey's Dumont show shifts to Wednesday.

Peter Lorre will burlesque James Gleason a week from tonight on the Red Skelton Show.

Raytheon Company has a new tubeless radio, using transistors instead of vacuum tubes for the first time.

Fake Hams Fool Yegg

BALTIMORE (AP) — Some yegg swiped two "hams" from Ben Arkesman's store here yesterday after smashing a window. But he'd better not try to cook up a dish of ham and eggs. The hams were dummies, filled with sawdust.

FDR Secretary Returns to Politics as Solon's Aide

WASHINGTON (INS) — The dependable "right hand" of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt is back in the political arena but the scene now is the capitol rather than the White House.

Miss Grace Tully, FDR's personal secretary while governor of New York and throughout his 12 crisis-ridden years as president, has gone to work as executive asant to Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson.

Miss Tully, whom the late president called "my child" when not using her first name, told an interviewer that it is "very interesting" seeing political life as it exists on the other end of Pennsylvania avenue from the White House.

But she said: "I guess politics is politics whether in the executive or legislative end of the avenue."

Asked if she believes the present leaders of the Democratic party are carrying out the ideals and principles of the man about whom she wrote a book entitled, "FDR, My Boss," Miss Tully replied with frankness:

"There are times when I don't think so."

However, she instantly added: "But on the whole I think we have been moving forward along the same general lines. Certainly the Democratic party is the Liberal party.

"Mr. Roosevelt used to say he couldn't understand why, after a president had been dead a number of years, people would say he would have done this or that had he been alive. He said that times would have changed so that had he been aliv. He said that you couldn't tell what a former president would have done under the circumstances."

Miss Tully, a pleasant and obviously sharp-minded woman of 54 with gray hair and blue eyes, occupies a desk in the Democratic leader's office off the Senate gallery. She handles correspondence, a heavy problem in any leader's office.

Those who work with her say that although she has been on the job only since Monday, she already has lightened Johnson's work load.

After Roosevelt's death, Miss Tully was custodian of the FDR papers until they went to the Roosevelt Memorial Library at Hyde Park, N. Y. Since June she had been field director of the Democratic Digest, a national committee publication.

But for a woman whose heart is in active politics, Miss Tully must feel pretty much that she is now really "home again."

Special MSC Stamps Will Go on Sale Feb. 12

EAST LANSING (AP) — The land grant college commemorative stamp honoring the 100th anniversaries of Michigan State College and Pennsylvania State University will be placed on sale for the first time at East Lansing Feb. 12.

MSC authorities said the Post Office Department has designated East Lansing as the official site for "first day" cancellation marks.

More than two million copies of the stamp are expected to be sold the first day in sales to collectors and to fill previous orders. MSC has ordered 1½ million stamps for use throughout the year on college mail.

Reports Super Iceberg

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy icebreaker Atka, heading in toward the antarctic continent, has reported encountering a supersize iceberg, estimated to be over a mile long and 800 feet wide.

The Navy reported the Atka sighted the giant berg Wednesday as the ship began heading into Ross Sea bordering the frozen antarctic in the one-ship expedition making a survey preliminary to a future large South Polar expedition.

Cure for Hard Starts —Put Gasoline in Tank

GOLDFIELD, Nev. (AP)—That 10-below-zero weather had Sheriff E. N. Kitchen fooled when he went out to start his car yesterday.

He stepped on the starter until the battery was almost dead, without even getting a peep. He blamed the cold until he checked again and found thieves had drained his gasoline tank.

Say Resources Must Be Saved

Michigan Conference Urges Immediate Action for Conservation

LANSING (AP)— Michigan must act immediately to plan for the future if the state's outdoors and natural resources are to be conserved.

That was the theme for more than 430 delegates attending a two-day Michigan resources conference.

Main problems were seen as the press of a growing population, the spill-over of Michigan cities into the suburbs and such swindling natural resources as minerals, water, trees and even animals.

Conferees were unanimous in declaring the meeting should be an annual affair.

They also were unanimous in holding that the state should move to acquire more land to hold in trust for the outdoor enthusiasts and should not give up any of its present acreage.

Several groups urged the charging of fees for the use of parks and recreation areas.

As somewhat of a surprise, the group approved continuation of the State Conservation Department control over the deer herd.

The controversial question didn't come up until the last few minutes of the meeting of the wildlife discussion group. The group gave the motion unanimous approval although some members, opposed to the one-day any-deer season, did some private grumbling.

The Tennessee Valley authority has constructed 26 dams across the Tennessee river and the adjacent network of its major tributaries.

Marilyn Monroe Needs Briefing on Good Manners

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — It is time someone with a kind voice and a reading knowledge of Emily Post sat down and had a serious talk with the late — detained, of course, not deceased — Marilyn Monroe.

Miss Monroe was introduced at a party last week as a "new woman."

After an absence from the public ogle, she turned up with lighter hair, healthier curves and a more stable attitude toward her professional future. But her manners weren't a whit different:

She arrived at her own "coming out" party one hour and three minutes late — which is about 18 minutes over the old Monroe par.

"Ooh, what a nice party," she said as she swayed in and saw dozens of impatient reporters, photographers and friends.

"Ooh, what a lousy hostess," remarked one of them.

Marilyn, if she heard it, ignored it. Without thought of apology she wriggled picturesquely out of her ermine and got on with the business at hand, which was, as always, trying to charm the waiting sufferers out of their dark mood.

Miss Monroe has a pair of dewy eyes which make her look in need of sympathy or glasses. She also has other physical attributes which might basically atone for occasional slips in good manners. But the trouble is that the lady-explosive is not an occasional slipper; she is the original late-comer and the consistent no-apology kid.

"So why were you late?" asked a tired reporter who had just canceled his dinner plans because the news conference was, by now, running two hours behind schedule.

La M. stoed her eyes at him. Probably she thought he was kidding, because she isn't often bothered with such silly questions.

"I was detained," she explained. Like that.

This procedure was reminiscent of my first interview with Marilyn, about three years ago, in her New York hotel suite. She was panting for publicity in those days, caught in her surge up as the nation's No. 1 cheese cookie. But still, she kept me waiting in the parlor while she slept late, then arose, then bathed, then had her hair shampooed.

Forty-five minutes after our appointed interview time, her despairing press agent called through the parlor door. "Marilyn honey," he dripped, "Miss Battelle is going to have to leave if you don't see her pretty soon."

There was a pause, lasting about the length of time it takes you to reflect on the matter, shrug your shoulders, put on your hat and say the heck with it. Then out came Marilyn's voice . . . "Well," it said, "she can come in — but you (to the male agent) stay out there."

Behind the secret door, Miss Monroe was wrapped in a bath-towel, lazily drying her hair. "Hello," she said casually. That was all.

In those days, I thought she was probaly one of these girls who doesn't enjoy the company of other women and therefore feels no qualms of conscience at keeping them waiting, seething at the seams. Now I think I know better. She is neither a woman-hater nor a ham actress who likes to stage late entrances.

I would guess, instead, that she is simply a girl who received too much devotion too late.

There was no one to teach her how to say "thank you" and "I'm sorry" when she was an orphan kid, coming of age. And now that she has not only come of age but come of success, there is apparently no one in her circle of motley promoters who thinks the amenities are necessary.

Barnum's Jumbo Needs Facelifting, College Says

MEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—Tufts College is considering a face-lifting for one of the nation's most famous elephants.

The stuffed elephant, Jumbo, has been the Tufts' mascot since P. T. Barnum, the famous show-man, presented the animal to the school. Jumbo was billed by Barnum as the largest elephant in captivity.

Tufts called in taxidermist-sculptor Louis Paul Jonas of Lake Mahopac, N. Y., when it apeared that Jumbo was starting to "waste away." Jonas advised reconstruction that might cost thousands of dollars.

Armored cars were used by the marine corps as far back as 1916. Even those early types were reported to attain speeds of 60 miles an hour, amazing for that test periods.

Phone Booth Indian

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) —Trapped in a drug store for an hour and one-half because he was so intent upon a telephone argument with a girl friend that he didn't notice the lights go out at closing time, Maurice J. Moriarty vowed: "No more night calls for me. People will just have to wait until daytime if anything important comes up."

There are 4½ million tractors on U. S. farms.
