Violent Accidents Mar Thanksgiving

Leading Killer Is Traffic; 4 Die on State Roads

National Holiday Deaths
Traffic	145
Fires	18
Miscellaneous	29
Total	192

By The Associated Press

Snow-slickened highways in the southern part of the state today brought more traffic peril to Michigan which has already recorded four highway deaths at the start of the Thanksgiving Day weekend.

Across the nation, violent accidental deaths marred observance of the Thanksgiving holiday in many homes. Traffic, as usual, was the leading killer.

The traffic toll since the start of the count for the four-day weekend far exceeded the number killed in fires and miscellaneous accidents. However, it appeared to be running near or slightly below the average for a comparable nonholiday period.

The count, which started at 6 p. m. (local time) Wednesday, is to continue to midnight Sunday, covering a period of 102 hours.

Fires claimed the lives of nine children Thursday. Five died in a fire which destroyed a home for retarded and crippled children in Oklahoma City.

Four children and their parents perished in a fire in the suburban area of Little Rock, Ark. Two 12-year-old Chicago boys drowned when they fell through the thin ice in a park lagoon.

In Michigan, three persons died Thursday and one Thanksgiving eve.

Lloyd F. Bionshine, 64, Lowell, was the nation's first reported traffic victim for the period. He was killed Wednesday night when his car skidded on a snow-covered road near Grand Rapids and collided with a truck.

Marvin J. Smith, 25, Flint, was killed Thursday when his car hit a bridge abutment near Coldwater.

John Roelens, 22, Port Huron, was killed Thursday when his car skidded on M21 east of Port Huron and smashed into a tree.

Mrs. Colleen Kay Hoevemery, 20, Monroe, was killed Thursday, in an auto-train collision at a crossing near Petersburg.

Icy Highways, Snow Hazard for Drivers

County roads and highways were reported slippery and driving conditions hazardous as the Pontiac area got its first real taste of winter today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast for the Detroit and Pontiac vicinity predicted snow accumulating to four inches and continued cold with a high today of 30 degrees.

The winds will be variable 8 to 15 m.p.h. today and Saturday with snow tonight gradually diminishing to flurries Saturday. Tonight's low is predicted at 25 degrees with a high of 32 tomorrow.

Snow was forecast throughout lower Michigan with most of it falling in the southern sector. Upper Michigan's outlook was for colder temperatures and little snow today and Saturday.

The state outlook for Sunday was for partly cloudy weather with a few scattered snow flurries near the lakes.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies and State Police at the Pontiac and Redford posts reported few minor accidents, but said all roads were snow-covered and driving was considered "extremely hazardous."

No accidents were reported to sheriff's deputies or Pontiac State troopers from midnight Thursday to 11 a.m. today. The Redford Post

4 More Firms Cut Gasoline Prices

Four more major gasoline companies today announced reductions in wholesale prices, with two of the cuts effective in the Pontiac area.

The latest to follow the example of Sinclair Refinery Co. were Standard Oil, Sun Oil, Shell Oil and Socony-Mobil Oil.

All announced wholesale cuts of 2.9 cents a gallon on regular and premium grades in Detroit. The Shell and Standard cuts were also effective in the Pontiac area.

None of the reductions had yet been passed along by dealers to customers. The Sinclair reduction of 3.2 cents a gallon was announced Wednesday.

Thankful for No Smog

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles had something to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day. The city was free from smog and had its first sunny day of the week after a prolonged attack that was made worse by a heavy fog Monday and Tuesday.

Court Extends Air Strike Ban

Sets American Airlines Hearing for Monday; Chides Firm, Union

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Frederick VanPelt Bryan today extended until Monday an order restraining a strike by pilots against American Airlines.

A hearing which had been set for today was also postponed until Monday. The strike restraining order, issued last Monday night, was to have expired at 11:59 o'clock tonight.

Judge Bryan angrily told off both the airline and the Air Line Pilots Assn. as being "pretty silly" and as "having failed morally."

Operations by Eastern and Trans World airlines have been halted since Monday by strikes involving about 35,000 flight engineers and mechanics.

Eastern Air Lines awaits the outcome of its no-strike plea against its flight engineers scheduled to come up today before Federal Judge E. C. Choate in Miami, Fla.

Even if an injunction is granted, however, Eastern will be unable to operate until a mechanics dispute is settled.

Meanwhile, nonstruck airlines have been filling the gap in air transportation, but not without some delays and confusion. Putting every available aircraft into service Wednesday, these lines handled the holiday crush. Trains and buses were jammed too.

But Thursday there was the usual mid-holiday lull, with most carriers reporting little crowding.

Western Sector Digging In for Cold War Siege

2,200,000 Citizens in Area See Period of Uncertainty Ahead

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Berlin AP Bureau Chief

BERLIN (AP) — West Berliners dug in today for a six-month cold war siege.

Their officials spurned the Soviet proposal to drive the Western Allies back beyond the Iron Curtain by converting West Berlin into a demilitarized "free city."

West Berliners clearly saw the next six months as a period of uncertainty.

A shopgirl gave a typical reaction: "I'm afraid that if the Allies leave, the Communist people's police would come marching in one day. If the Big Four turn West Berlin into a free city, I'll start looking for a job in West Germany. Yes, the exodus to West Germany would start immediately."

"We in West Berlin say no," Mayor Willy Brandt declared in a radio and television broadcast after an emergency meeting of his Cabinet to study Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposals.

All West Berlin parties, newspapers and ordinary citizens seemed to back him up.

The 44-year-old Socialist mayor, appealing for the support of the Western world, promised that West Berlin's 2,200,000 citizens would not panic as the six months proposed by Khrushchev for negotiations run out.

"We are not afraid," he said. "we will not be shaken. We will not get panicky. We will go on reconstructing. We will continue to have faith in our friends."

The Western powers withheld their final word on the Soviet proposals, but the preliminary reaction indicated they would turn thumbs down.

Hydrants Save Day for New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP)—The use of fire hydrants saved hundreds of turkey dinners when a six-inch water main burst in Brooklyn, leaving 1,800 homes without water.

The main break came about 1 p.m., when housewives were readying the holiday meal. With turkeys to be basted and vegetables to be boiled, they were in a panic.

Along came the City Water Department, stationing a man at each fire hydrant in the area. Along came the housewives, pitchers in hand, to stock up on water.

City Vice Crackdown Promised by Eastman

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman today promised a crackdown on vice in Pontiac following reports from the head of the vice squad and other officers that gambling, prostitution and narcotics operations are thriving here.

Eastman made the reports public yesterday.

One of the more detailed reports was submitted by Detective Richard G. Evans, who said that at least three numbers rings — and probably a fourth — are in operation.

Evans also said a horse-bet ring is operating with an annual gross business of from two to five million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Gamblers come from Flint, Saginaw and Detroit to participate in a floating card game called "skin," he said.

"Narcotics are being sold on a large scale in the southern section of the city. The use of marijuana is more widespread," Evans reported.

Houses of prostitution operate almost "without fear of police action" and prostitutes operate on their own in areas where illegal liquor sales are also transacted on a large scale, his report charged.

He called the current vice condition in the city "deplorable."

Called upon to explain enforcement policies on vice, Evans said, "I am unable to explain a policy where there is no policy."

The vice squad head said that in the past officers were appointed to the vice detail for many reasons, "merit not being one of them."

"They have been left to operate on their own without instructions or an understanding as to what they were expected to accomplish," Evans explained.

"No emphasis was placed on narcotics or organized crime. The majority of the vice squad activity was confined to the policing of liquor establishments and the occasional raiding of a gambling game or house of prostitution."

Officers have been placed on the vice detail as "punishment" for displeasing superiors, Evans said.

The municipal courts were criticized in his report. "Unreasonably light fines are ordered upon sentencing, regardless of the culprit's past record, and it is the arresting officer who is on trial," he said.

The reports were ordered by Eastman to help him in formulating a new police policy on vice.

1st Thor Missile in England on Launching Site

FELTWELL, England (AP) — Final checks by civilian contractors were under way today on the American-built Thor — the intermediate-range ballistic missile — launching base on England's east coast.

The Thor—which does not yet contain a nuclear warhead — arrived here in September. It since has been moved to its permanent launching site.

Just when the Thor will reach the operational stage is something the Air Ministry declines to say. The indications are that it may be within a month.

Under a U.S.-British agreement, any decision to launch the IRBM must be a joint one, made in the light of circumstances and under provisions of the North Atlantic Treaty.

The British-American agreement specifically says the United States shall provide the nuclear warhead and this warhead must remain in American custody.

The Thor, in its launching emplacement, stands straight up. Just which way it moves on launching is in the hands of its controllers.

Four State Hunters Die Over Holiday

By The Associated Press

One hunter was shot to death and two others suffered heart attacks over the Thanksgiving Day holiday in Michigan.

The latest accidents brought the number of shooting victims to 10 and those with heart ailments to 17 since the opening of the deer season Nov. 15.

Killed by gunfire Thursday was Edmund Socha, 32, of Cheboygan. Police said he was hunting in the southern part of Cheboygan County with his brothers when he was shot by an unknown person. Socha, a salesman, was the father of two children.

Latest reported heart victims were Neal Frentheway, 62, of Alger, who died while hunting in Alpena County and Victor Savage, 60, of Saginaw, who was hunting in Iosco County.

In addition, a duck hunter drowned in Lake St. Clair Thursday when he was unable to cling to his overturned boat. Two companions were rescued. The victim was James Anglin, 36, of Detroit.

Long Diplomatic Fight Expected Against Ouster

U.S. Won't Abandon People of West Berlin 'to Hostile Domination'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its allies began mapping strategy today for a long diplomatic battle against the Soviet Union's "free city" campaign to oust them from West Berlin.

The State Department gave stern notice Thursday night that the U. S. government does not intend to "enter into any agreement with the Soviet Union which, whatever the form, would have the end result of abandoning the people of West Berlin to hostile domination."

The statement promised careful study of the Soviet proposal to convert West Berlin into a free city protected by some kind of United Nations watchdog operation.

It also promised consultations with Britain, France and West Germany as well as the rest of the NATO Allies.

But officials said privately today that while the statement did not specifically and immediately reject the Soviet proposition, there was no doubt that in the long run, probably late next month, it would be turned down.

Some Western counterproposal calling for a solution of the Berlin problem as part of an all-German settlemen may be put forth at the same time.

Indications were that the consultations will reach a climax at a meeting of foreign ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Allies in Paris Dec. 15.

Officials predicted the Western powers would delay until then their reply to notes sent them Thursday by the Soviet government.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev made clear that for the next six months he does not plan to force a showdown over the Berlin issue.

EASES TENSION

This took most of the tension out of the crisis which has been building up since he announced Nov. 10 that he would turn over to the East German Communist regime the remaining authority exercised by the Soviet government in East Berlin.

Reaction from European capitals concerned paralleled that in Washington: the "free city" formula offered by Khrushchev is but a device to get the Western powers to withdraw from Berlin, and is therefore unacceptable.

The United States statement said, "The Soviets seem to be proposing that while they keep their grip on East Berlin, the three Western Allies abandon their rights in West Berlin and retire in favor of what is called a 'free city.'"

The statement noted that the "free city" would be limited to West Berlin.

Brand New Baby Gilda Whitney Has Two Teeth

An Avon Township woman, Mrs. Gordon Whitney, of 2910 Woodelm St., gave birth to her eighth child Wednesday, teeth and all.

The latest Whitney, Gilda Sue, who tipped the scales at 7 pounds, defied the law of averages by coming into this world minus the usual toothless grin.

She was born with two front teeth, both lowers. Gilda Sue was born at home, as were five of her brothers and sisters. She rounded out the Whitney household at four boys and four girls.

A group of Pontiac dentists estimated that the odds against a baby being born with any teeth would be around 5,000 to 1, but added that it might even run as high as 10,000 to 1.

"In any case, even though we have no exact figures immediately availabe, the birth of a child with teeth is considered quite rare," said Dr. James S. Ladd.

The other Whitney children range in age from 2 to 11 years old. Unlike their new sister with her "flashing" smile, they were all quite toothless at birth, according to Mrs. Whitney.

WINDSHIELD WOES—That old winter chore, cleaning of snow and ice-covered auto windows, delayed most Pontiac area motorists on their way to work this morning. One of them was Harry Motsinger of 6282 Snow Apple Dr., Clarkston. After getting the window cleared, he was slowed up even more by slippery roads. Yes, winter has arrived.

For Letters in Nine-County Area

Post Office Gives 1-Day Delivery

By SYLVIA COLE

New postal improvements, aimed at providing next-day first-class letter service for residents of a nine-county metropolitan area, including Pontiac and Oakland County, are now in effect, Robert C. Miller, Pontiac acting postmaster, announced today.

Barring occasional human errors, letters deposited before 5 p.m. on weekdays will be delivered to their destinations in the first delivery the following weekday under the new Metro Service system, he said.

Besides Oakland, the 7,000-square mile area includes Wayne, Macomb, Lapeer, Genesee, Livingston, St. Clair, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties.

The latest improvements are a result of intensive study and planning, Miller said. The speeded-up delivery of most of the first class mail in the area was made possible due to a closely-integrated timetable which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together, according to Miller.

In addition to the collections made from all boxes in the city shortly after 5 p.m. a final late evening collection trip is being made in the downtown area between 7:45 and 8:45 p.m.

This mail will be dispatched from the Post Office at midnight and is not a part of the Metro Service. A large white star is painted on all boxes where the late collection trip is made, he explained.

The revised service establishes special mail exchanges between Dearborn, Royal Oak and East Detroit and sets up a mail "concentration center" at each of these three post offices. Thus, mail can by-pass the over-loaded Detroit Post Office, he added.

These will assure mail being processed close to origin, held to the shortest line of travel to addressee and by-passing congested large centers. Daily dispatches of mail between county seats and all post offices in each county area also are assured in this manner.

Thirty-three highway mail routes had to be changed to make the new system possible.

The change guarantees that all letters mailed in Pontiac by 5 p.m. will be delivered in the next morning's first mail at any post office in the metropolitan area.

Ask More Cuts in Car Insurance

Rate Schedule Urges Slash Collision Rate, Hike Comprehensive

Further reductions in auto insurance rates were recommended to Pontiac area independent insurance agents today.

The reductions were contained in new rate schedules filed in Lansing by the National Automobile Underwriters Assn. and affect collision policies.

The association recommended trimming collision premiums from $4 to $10, depending on the year and make of the insured auto, reported one independent agent, Charles K. Zamek.

A sister agency, the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, has already recommended trimming premiums on liability insurance by about 10 per cent.

Recommendations of both agencies are adhered to by member companies and their independent agents, who write an estimated one-half of the state's auto policies.

While $50-deductable collision premiums were all trimmed by the association's filings a $2 to $9 boost was recommended for comprehensive plans.

The explanation for the increase was the sharp rise in broken windshields and windows, which are covered in comprehensive plans.

Rate changes were recommended throughout the state, varying in amount from area to area. The Pontiac area is comprised of the city of Pontiac, Troy and seven surrounding townships, Avon, Bloomfield, Commerce, Pontiac, Waterford, West Bloomfield and White Lake.

River Rouge to Pick New Safety Unit

DETROIT (AP) — A new five-man Public Safety Commission will be named next week by suburban River Rouge to replace the previous board vacated by resignations and firings.

Three members of the board resigned a month ago when City Attorney Kirby L. Wilson charged the River Rouge Police Department was riddled with corruption. Two others were dismissed yesterday after a nine-hour hearing before the City Council.

Those fired were Chairman Jack Bewick and Vice Chairman James Dailey. Both were accused of nonperformance of duty. In addition Dailey was charged with association with disreputable persons and intimidation of police officers.

An attorney for the pair said he may appeal the firings to Circuit Court on the grounds that one councilman was on the commission when the alleged misdeeds took place.

2 Pontiac Executives to Attend NAM Meet

Two Pontiac executives plan to attend the 63rd Congress of American Industry sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers in New York Dec. 3-5.

★ ★ ★

They are George M. Watson, personnel director of Pontiac Motor Division, and James F. Spence, secretary-manager of the Pontiac Manufacturers Assn.

★ ★ ★

Heading the list of speakers is Postmaster Gen. Arthur E. Summerfield, who will make the major address at the annual NAM dinner Friday night.

The convention will consider business futures, national legislation, foreign trade and new markets and management techniques.

Cost of Campaigns Varies Widely Here

How much it cost the Oakland County Democratic Committee for its Nov. 4 election campaign was contained in a report filed Wednesday with the County Clerk's Office by Robert L. Fenton, committee treasurer.

The committee said it spent $8,773, and received contributions totaling $8,020.

Mrs. Mabel Child, election clerk for the county, noted that these amounts differed greatly from the figures contained in a similar statement filed by the county's Republican committee.

One of the apparent reasons for the difference, she said, was that the Democrats listed only disbursements and receipts since the August primary, while Republicans showed contributions for the entire year and expenses since the primary.

These were $35,561 for expenses and $76,557 for contributions.

Mrs. Child partially blamed the election law relating to expense accounts for not being more clear on what is required to be listed by the county political committees. This section of the law fails to specify how far the financial statements must go back in listing costs and donations.

In part, section 906 of the laws relating to elections for 1958 says: "Every candidate and every treasurer of a political committee shall . . . . within 20 days after any general election . . . . file a full, true, and detailed account and statement subscribed and sworn to by him . . . . setting forth each and every sum of money received or disbursed by him for nomination or election expenses."

Another reason for the large difference between the two parties' accounts might rest in the fact that Republicans listed all administrative costs, such as salaries for workers and office supplies, while the Democratic statement did not.

Also, Carlos G. Richardson, Democratic committee chairman, said his party does not receive funds from its State Central Committee, while Republicans said they received $9,500 in aid from the Republican State Finance Committee.

Hart Committee Collects $59,610

Donations From Labor in County Total $9,125, as Seen in Report

A "Hart Committee" in Oakland County gave a big push toward the election of Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart to the U.S. Senate Nov. 4 by collecting $59,610 in contributions.

A report filed with County Clerk Florence J. Allen by committee treasurer James C. Allen showed the group spent $57,667 toward the election upset of Republican Senator Charles E. Potter.

Among the contributions to the committee was a $2,500 check from August Scholle, president of the Michigan State AFL-CIO, $1,000 from David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and $1,000 from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

These three donations were included in a total $9,125 given to the Oakland committee by labor organizations.

A spokesman at the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing said his office has not as yet received Hart's state-wide expense account, while Potter's statement listed expenses of $7,122.

In the Oakland statement of Hart's, it listed expenses of $26,694 paid to a Detroit advertising company.

It also declared that the committee repaid a $5,000 loan from Hart's wife, Jane, who also contributed $2,500 to the Oakland committee.

Another contribution was $2,500 from a "Committee for Good Government."

6 in Family Die in House Fire

Only Boy, 11, Escapes Thanksgiving Tragedy in North Little Rock

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A raging Thanksgiving Day house fire took the lives of a 30-year-old taxi driver, his wife, and four of their five children.

The father, George Sanders, leaped through a window, his clothes aflame. He rolled around on the ground trying to put out the flames but died soon after of burns.

The body of Sanders' wife, Dorothy, 27, was found in one bedroom and the bodies of four of the couple's children were found in another.

David Sanders, 11, gave the alarm to a neighbor, Leonard Spradling, and asked him to call a doctor to help his father. David begged to be allowed to go back to the burning house but was restrained.

The roof of the house fell in shortly after the fire was reported.

To Move Youth Held in Hillsdale Murder

HILLSDALE (AP) — Patrick J. Flannery, 18, Hillsdale college football player charged with the bludgeon-murder of his roommate, will be taken to Detroit today for a habeas corpus hearing in Recorder's Court.

Flannery is accused of using a shotgun to beat to death Thomas Neitling, 21, of Tecumseh, in their small room over an off-campus restaurant. After the slaying, he drove to Detroit and surrendered at police headquarters.

He told officers that he hit his sleeping roommate after coming home from a beer-drinking party and finding that his clothes were missing. He indicated he regarded the incident as a prank and went to bed, later awakening about 3 a.m. taking the shotgun from a corner and beating Neitling.

Flannery, a Berkley resident, was charged with first-degree murder.

Tax Notices to Be Mailed Here Starting Next Week

BIRMINGHAM—Treasurer's departments in the area have been busy preparing tax notices for property owners. The Birmingham department will mail approximately 10,000 today and more than 1,000 will go out of the Bloomfield Hills office.

Bloomfield Township Treasurer Homer Case said that 12,000 notices would be mailed by his department early next week.

Taxes are payable without penalty until Jan. 20 when an additional four per cent will be added.

Russell Berger, Birmingham treasurer, explained that office payments cease March 1 when delinquent tax rolls are prepared for the county treasurer. He said property owners may then, however, receive a statement of taxes due and make their payment at the county office.

Birmingham Public Library will continue its holiday help section through Christmas, according to Miss Lee Tuttle, public relations director.

Cookbooks along with books on indoor and outdoor decorating, program planning and Christmas stories are being gathered into one section for quick reference, she said.

Available today will be a number of Christmas records including several new long playing discs.

Yesterday's open skating at Eton Park Rink was well received. Free skating continues today from 5 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m., according to Robert Girardin, recreation director.

Mayor Carl Ingraham, Mayor Pro Tem Harry Denyes and Commissioner William Roberts will attend the 35th annual American Municipal Congress in Boston Sunday through Wednesday.

Police this morning again warned motorists, particularly women drivers, against leaving valuables in unlocked cars. Detective Lt. Merlin Holmquist said that within the past 48 hours, two women have reported purses stolen from parked cars. Holmquist added that during the holiday season, many Christmas plans are ruined by the theft of gifts from automobiles.

Oppose State Use of Veterans Fund

LANSING (AP)—The state commanders of Michigan's veteran's groups say liquidation of the 50-million-dollar Veterans Trust Fund would be unwise fiscal policy.

The commanders' group said in a statement that proponents of liquidation want to use the money to ease state financial problems, and recommended a legislative appropriation of $1,500,000 annually to administer the fund program for needy veterans.

But, commanders contended, the state would lose five million dollars if the government bonds in the fund were cashed in now.

"If it becomes a question of liquidating the fund or borrowing the money, it would be far cheaper for the state to borrow 50 million dollars at current interest rates," they added.

Furthermore, they said, the plan entails paying $1,500,000 a year out of the general fund "to operate a program that doesn't cost the taxpayers one cent at the present time."

There are about 250 religious denominations within the United States.

Liquor Sales Recover

LANSING (AP)—The State Liquor Commission reports sales of liquor in the first 10 months of 1958 totaled $129,299,444—a drop of 7.79 per cent from sales of $119,229,850 for the same period last year. However, sales for the month of October totaled $14,792,377—a jump of 14.3 per cent over the $12,944,079 reported for October, 1957.

700 Houseboats in '57

NEW YORK — About 700 houseboats were produced in the United States during 1957. Retail sales totaled more than $4,000,000.

Cat Burglar Meows

BROADSTONE, Eng. (UPI)—The cat burglar in this village turned out to be a cat. Mrs. Katherine Carter discovered Marco Polo, her pet cat, had brought home gloves, knitted ties and sweaters. Mrs. Carter posted a sign on her gate saying missing items probably could be found in her house.

Saginaw River Drops 5 Feet, Halts Shipping

BAY CITY (AP)—Shipping traffic on the Saginaw River was halted today by a five-foot drop in the river's water level.

The water level drop was caused by powerful winds and it was not immediately known when the level would rise enough to permit traffic using the river to pass through.

Football Family Has Big Saturday Choice

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lyons found it hard to decide where to go on Saturday afternoons last fall.

Son Tom plays tackle on the Northeastern University football team; son Terry plays guard for Brandeis University; son Jim plays guard for Swampscott High School, and son Dave plays tackle for Swampscitt High Freshmen.

Bob Considine Says:

A-Expert Sees Limited War as Top Threat

NEW YORK—People . . . places . . . things. . .

Thomas E. Murray, the most articulate voice in the realm of atomic energy, opposes the President's order to suspend all nuclear tests for a year without a foolproof system of determining that Russia would do the same thing. He discounts the probability of the Big War but feels we must be prepared for little wars which will test, in due time, whether we or the enemy survive.

"War has become a sort of nightmare," he said recently. "This is so chiefly because the public, when it thinks of war at all, always thinks of the Big War, the war of survival that no one can survive.

"For several years I have been endeavoring to spread my conviction that limited war is the real danger, and that a small-weapons program is the real need. But my efforts have been without wide success. To the popular imagination the word 'war' summons up only one image, a vision of total catastrophe.

"Like a nightmare, it evokes one of two reactions. Some people forget it, as too horrible to think about; others become obsessed by it, as so horrible that they can think of nothing else. The flight is either to panic or to apathy.

"And the wild irrationality of the popular mood about war is shown in a most striking contradiction. On the one hand, Cape Canaveral is regarded as a symbol of security. On the other hand, the Nevada nuclear test site is regarded as a symbol of menace.

"The people are largely 'for' the ICBM. They are not even troubled by the fact that the technology of space flight is being perverted to the use of militarism. On the other hand an immense amount of popular fear and antipathy has come to center on nuclear tests. Because the fear is unreasoning, it makes no distinctions between various kinds of tests and between various ways of conducting them."

Murray feels we must continue our little tests, underground, underwater or in space, to reduce the radioactivity to nothingness, or fall into the decay of a day when all we'll have available to throw at an enemy in a limited war will be something that turns a million people to cinders and damns us through eternity.

A well-known national magazine editor, whose hobby is studying politics and the practitioners of same, is quietly investing in Adlai Stevenson's chances of (1) getting the 1960 Democratic nomination and (2) winning after getting it. He's sure the price (up to 10-to-1 against) is the biggest overlay of the era.

American Airlines sends along an arresting primer on the jet age. One hundred years ago a coast-to-coast trip by train and stagecoach required 600 hours, and, among other things, 75 meals en route. Fifty years ago, the train alone could do it in 100 hours. The first air-train trips took three days. Then, in 1936, the DC3 lowered the time to 16 hours. The DC7 cut it to seven and one-half hours.

The Boeing 707 will make it in four and one-half hours. Between meals.

Kid of ours grew a foot taller last week, I think it was. Staring up at him in mingled wonder and despair as he returned home from upstate New York's Cardinal Farley Military Academy for the Thanksgiving holidays, I asked him how things were up there. Meaning up there where he was standing.

"Had a blind date the other night at the dance," he said.

We asked him how such star-crossed meetings were arranged.

"Well," he said, "they line us up according to height before taking us to the dance. Works out fine. We've got a kid who is 6 feet 9. They had a girl 6 feet 8 waiting for him.

I think the opening of the Berlin Hilton this weekend will have more effect on settling the Berlin question than any thing that will be said by Messrs. Dulles, Khrushchev or Ulbrecht.

Entire World Mourns Death of Great Citizen Charles Kettering

One of the world's greatest citizens is gone.

The death of CHARLES F. KETTERING is a loss to all mankind as he contributed to the personal enjoyment of people everywhere.

Some 30 years ago, he spoke in Pontiac to the Engineers' Club at the Washington Junior High and he was just as dramatic and entertaining then as he was later; and Mr. KETTERING was one of the nation's most fascinating speakers, irrespective of age, creed or calling. On this particular night, a candle was burning squarely in front of him and as he started speaking, he pointed towards it and said:

Then he talked for 60 minutes to a spellbound group and when he concluded, almost as an afterthought, he pointed to the candle and blew it out, remarking:

"But in all these centuries, the engineers only know THAT it burns. Even now — they don't know why."

And he sat down.

Once when the engineering staff of GM was struggling with an especially baffling problem, Kettering said: "I want everyone in this room to write on a slip of paper the thing he thinks would do this specialized engine the most harm and make it work its worst."

Later, he tabulated the replies and ether led the list by a wide margin.

"So," said Mr. Kettering, "I promptly got some class-A ether and used it liberally. To my amazement, but even more to the rest of the group, the engine ran better than it ever had under all our previous studies."

★ ★ ★

Mr. KETTERING often remarked that one of his lifetime struggles was to teach men that something wasn't necessarily so just because it was written in a book or completely endorsed by a very learned man. "You can challenge almost every statement there is about life and science," he declared. "Maybe they're right—but very often they aren't."

★ ★ ★

Originally, as many people in this locality will remember, it took 30 days to paint an automobile body, as the successive coats had to dry. Once, after Mr. Kettering had been through a Fisher Body Plant, he called a meeting and said: "I want to paint bodies faster. Instead of 30 days, I want to paint them in one hour." Later he explained. "'If I had merely asked for improvements we would have gotten some and the time would have been cut from 30 days to 26½. But by asking for cutting the job to an hour, it absolutely required entirely new methods instead of improvements on those in use."

Of course, the result was Duco, and they tell me if you hold the brush too far from the body now, the paint dries before it even gets there.

The story goes that when old Mr. LEELAND (of Cadillac) had his arm broken cranking a car, it started KETTERING on the elimination of that abomination and the result was the self-starter.

One of the objectives Mr. KETTERING set for himself in that meeting at Washington Junior High 30 years ago never quite came to pass. "I want to know," said he, "why the grass is green. When I find that out, we'll short cut and change many, many operations."

At a luncheon in New York a year ago, I asked him whether he had ever found out why the grass was green and he replied: "Noo-o-o. But I've got the answer confined to the corner of a rather large room."

One of America's most picturesque citizens of all time departs from the scenes that he labored so hard to improve. More than a hundred patents stand in his name. Mankind the world around profits by his lifetime here. A great and glorious soldier in the army of human betterment lays down his arms to sleep peacefully on into an eternity that claims one of this globe's most assertive, inquisitive and compelling souls.

Assert that Deer Hunting Isn't What It Used to Be

The day after: When some of us decide we should have celebrated the holiday in a saner way.

Many returning deer hunters "have had enough." Phone calls, letters and personal contacts reveal their feelings. The sport has changed with the years. To many, its glamor is gone or badly faded.

Some say that most of those making the northern trek "just go along for the ride." Many don't even take a gun, but merely want the congeniality—and what goes with it. They could get the same when the woods were not so crowded and when the outdoors is more congenial and displays Michigan at its best.

Others talk about "planted deer," where no sportsmanship, energy or even a good aim is required to get your buck. They claim the sport is too commercialized, that in some respects it has become a racket.

One veteran of 30 years in going to the northwoods says that in the future he will live with his memories, collected when every hunter had the same chance, when life in the woods was not a case of "bullet dodging," and travel not so hazardous. He adds, "Next year I'll get my buck nearer home."

Still the Low Man

David Lawrence Says:

Dulles Boosts Nations' Morality

WASHINGTON—Morality is back in the news—the morality of nations and the importance of maintaining moral principles in the conduct of the foreign policy of the United States.

LAWRENCE

Secretary of State Dulles gave morality a headline the other day when he spoke at Cleveland before the National Council of Churches at a meeting described as a "World Order Study Conference."

Dulles is himself a prominent Christian layman whose basic fidelity to moral principles in world affairs has at times brought down on his head the criticism of those intellectuals of today who rationalize expediency as practical.

By this is meant, of course, that the end justifies the means.

Dulles rather wistfully lamented the decline of morals in international society. He said:

"Today when despotism again rides high, our society is closely observed. Many find us lacking.

"In terms of faith, we seem unable to articulate a basic philosophy for our times which carries deep conviction and strong appeal.

"In terms of works, we seem to be treating freedom as an opportunity for moral license and our productive power often seems to be dedicated to frivolities rather than fulfilling vital human needs.

"In some respects, we seem to be as materialistic as the Communists, but without their supporting philosophy and efficiency.

"Surely, when we concern ourselves with 'change,' we must not ignore the need to change ourselves."

The word "we," as used here by Secretary Dulles, includes the many political leaders in Western countries and particularly those spokesmen of modernism who want peace at any price and therefore do not wish to articulate or accept any moral philosophy in international relations.

They are willing to make any concession to the Communists—if it will only eliminate the annoying intrusions of armament expense into their otherwise profitable and pleasurable existence. The Communists are betting on this abandonment of moral principle.

Even the very meeting which Dulles addressed found some of the Protestant clergymen ready to take unto their bosoms the murderers in Red China and ready to forget the sins and crimes committed by the Communists in Korea.

How can there be morality in the world if aggressors are to be rewarded—as Vice President Nixon asked a London audience this week—and how can there be security if the aggressor knows that there will be no resistance to his acts as he continues to reach out into smaller countries and one by one conquers them by subversion?

There is no need to accuse Dulles or the President of surrounding their policies with an atmosphere of high morality or selfrighteousness. These two dedicated men would in all humbleness be the first to concede their mistakes as they have tried to steer the ship of state through the waters made rough and often impassable by Communist schemes and plots.

But the President and the secretary of state have tried to hold aloft the banner of decency and morality in the relations of states. The American republic has not sought a square foot of any other country's territory nor robbed any nation of its sovereignty.

Dulles rightly deplores the philosophy of those who believe in "power politics" and in the counsel of those exponents of a foreign policy shifty in characterf that would yield to expediency.

Morality among states is not any more difficult to understand than it is among individuals. Simple honesty and trustworthiness and fair treatment are still the basic principles which America seeks to establish in the relations of governments.

This is the Dulles-Eisenhower policy shifty in character that only where there is unwillingness to accept its stern morality.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensemble unto you to follow us.—II Thess 3:9.

★ ★ ★

Dr. William Brady Says:

Heavy Smokers Pack Air With Lethal Carbon Gas

Air containing one or two parts of carbon monoxide (CO) may cause headache, dizziness, sense of constriction across forehead, weakness, nausea, even loss of consciousness. In every puff of cigarette smoke there is a wee bit of carbon monoxide.

DR. BRADY

The CO in tobacco smoke accounts for the fact that some persons who do not smoke nevertheless suffer the ill effects of smoking if they are confined in a poorly ventilated room where one or more persons are smoking.

Young children and frail women are particularly susceptible to such poisoning. Stimulants and pain-killers are dangerous. The first aid treatment is either carry the victim out into the open air or open wide doors and windows to give the victim a good draft of fresh cold air.

I'm a moderate smoker and a rabid teetotaler. I say a moderate smoker, meaning that when I'm at work I don't smoke at all nor want to, until after the day's work is done. Then, after dinner in the evening, I enjoy my pipe more than any tobacco hog can enjoy excessive indulgence.

On play days I have my first smoke after lunch or lunch time, when I arrive at the bowling green. All forenoon when I'm working, I have no particular desire or craving for a smoke.

Nowadays we hear a good deal about the alarming increase in cancer of the throat, larynx, bronchi, or lungs of smokers. Heavy smokers. Tobacco hogs. People who can't be temperate or moderate, they let themselves go and smoke to excess.

The experts seem confident that "tars" in tobacco smoke account for the irritation of the throat, larynx (voice box), bronchial tubes, and lungs. Nicotine doesn't figure any more in investigations of the nature and cause of cancer.

★ ★ ★

What the role of "tars" may be is difficult to estimate. But from the information I have garnered from current medical literature, I infer that the harmful potentiality of tobacco is greatest in cigarette smoking, cigar smoking is less harmful, pipe smoking still less harmful, tobacco chewing and snuff taking least harmful.

Furthermore, I am convinced remember, I'm just an ordinary doctor—that the injurious factor of tobacco smoke is not "tars," not nicotine, but carbon monoxide (CO).

'It's Inexcusable to Allow Boy to Perform That Job'

While driving the other day I saw a school bus come to a full stop, open the door and let off a safety patrol boy carrying a miniature stop sign.

★ ★ ★

He walked to the front of the bus and proceeded to stop oncoming traffic. Why should such a small boy have to perform such a hazardous duty? Isn't it true that the recently passed law says all drivers, both approaching and behind a school bus, must come to a full stop when the bus stops?

'Hard to Say No but It's Necessary'

I can understand that it gets pretty hard to say "no" to children sometimes when you can't give them all the nice things other kids have. We've had to do it plenty of times. But that doesn't excuse parents for taking money that should be used for food.

★ ★ ★

I know they say your kids get complexes if they have to do without things others have, but they get worse complexes if they grow up to be sickly and in poor health all the time.

★ ★ ★

You can usually make up for material things with love and kindness at home, but nothing you can do will bring health back to someone that grows up without enough good food to make him strong.

'Jail Only Answer for Drunk Driving'

★ ★ ★

First, that removes the menace from the highways. Seondly, others are aware of what the state is doing and they will be more cautious. There are times when forgiving isn't a virtue and is a handicap to orderly progress.

★ ★ ★

Some accidents are truly unavoidable in part and are bad breaks. But when a drunken idiot is allowed to put his foot on the accelerator of a modern car, we're begging for death and destruction.

Reds' Plan for Berlin May Delay Showdown

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet proposal to convert West Berlin into a free city took U.S. officials by surprise today. However, the first reaction seemed to be that it puts off a showdown over Berlin for six months.

The free city concept also appeared initially here to be a Soviet cover, possibly with considerable appeal over the world, for the basic Moscow aim of pressuring the United States, Britain, and France into giving up their occupation status and withdrawing their military forces from West Berlin.

The proposal, therefore, seemed likely to be rejected by the Western powers in the light of their own frequent assertions that they would not abandon the city.

The State Department had no immediate comment on the plan. It was certain to get prompt and careful attention from officials here despite the Thanksgiving Day holiday in the government. How quickly it would get a formal response was another question.

Full consultation with the Western Allies was assured before a reply goes to Moscow. The United States, Britain, France, and West Germany have been conferring on how they would meet an expected move by Moscow to give the East Germans control over Allied traffic to West Berlin. This had been foreseen as the trigger which would set off a full-blown new Berlin crisis. Tensions had been building up in the west in expectations of the event.

The Soviet call for six months of negotiations on the free city idea relieved that pressure for the time being at least.

The Soviet plan obviously went beyond what had been anticipated by Washington officials. Secretary of State Dulles suggested Wednesday at a news conference that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had talked himself out on a legal limb Nov. 10 by proposing to turn controls in Berlin over to the East German Communist regime. He said Khrushchev had failed to consult his lawyers.

The United States and its Allies have repeatedly declared in the last two weeks—as indeed over the past 13 years—that they will accept no change in their status of occupying and protecting powers in West Berlin unless and until the whole problem of the division of Germany is solved by reunification.

However, the Allies appear badly split over how tough to get in countering the Soviet threat to their position in Berlin.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Husband Tells a Different Story

Irene is a twin of 10,000,000 wives in America. Because she has been satisfied with her marriage, she claims her husband was equally content. But that is an illogical deduction, so scrapbook this case and learn to insure your marriage now. Don't wait till the horse is stolen to take out burglar insurance on him.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-383: Irene W., aged 42, is an attractive wife who came to my office in tears.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, we have been happily married for 21 years," she began, "but now I find that my husband has developed an affair with one of the girls in his office.

DR. CRANE

"What can I do? This is the most terrible thing that ever happened to me! Should I get a divorce?

"We have two wonderful children now in high school and they think the world of their Daddy.

★ ★ ★

"And I had always thought our love would survive all difficulties. I never dreamed such a thing could happen to me. What should I do?"

LOVE INSURANCE

Thousands of houses burn down every year.

"I never dreamed my house would catch fire," those occupants would also state, if you queried them.

Many of you wives, however, despite the fact you follow this column most faithfully, seem to think the true office cases I present here are just remotely related to your own sphere.

You must wake up! From the moment you plight your troth in the wedding ceremony, you enter a permanent love contest.

Remember, we human beings cannot promise emotions for future delivery with any guarantee of such delivery thereof, although that pledge of undying love is a sentimental though unrealistic inclusion in the wedding vows.

Insure your love affair and make it a permanently happy marriage by using the sound medico-psychology which this newspaper offers you.

I've counseled millions of you readers by mail and thousands of private patients in my Chicago offices, so I am not giving you fanciful formulae or impractical theories.

Irene said she and her husband had been happily married for 21 years.

But Irene is like millions of wives who think, because they are satisfied, that their husbands must likewise be content.

That is not a logical attitude to take, for wives can be satisfied on 2,500 calories per day whereas their mates may require at least 3,500 at the dinner table.

Wouldn't it be foolish for a wife to feed her husband only 2,500 calories and then claim that he was fully satisfied just because that was her own quota?

In the gastric realm, you wives will nod assent and agree that such a wife would be illogical.

Then why not get hep to male psychology and realize that a husband also has a far greater erotic appetite than does the average wife.

Because a woman is satisfied in the physical side of marriage doesn't mean her husband is equally content. Yet thousands of wives like Irene, say:

"I am emotionally satisfied so my husband must be, too."

Send for my booklet, "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Study it so you can really insure your marriage, for the odds favor wives who play their cards seductively.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

British Doctor Devotes Life to Africans

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Dr. Michael Wood is a mountain of a man who lives on the side of Mount Kilimanjaro. He has a quartet of children and almost a continentful of crippled and diseased patients. He offers them his services free.

There are differences, however, between Dr. Mike Wood and his friend Albert Schweitzer, whom he calls "The Conscience of Africa." . . . Schweitzer can wait for the world to come to him; Wood is too impatient.

"The continent of Africa is poised between the east and west," he said. "The battle of ideologies is being fought out in Africa.

"I can't tell you how strong the Communist influence is at the moment, but I know there's a big continental plan to conquer my continent — and I know we're never going to defeat Communism by sitting around saying 'which hole in the fence are we going to plug up?'

"What we need to do is set up such a big electric current along the fence that the people will jump off—on our side."

And how does the west make them jump?

Call him prejudiced if you will, said the doctor, but he believes the best way to win the African is to give him health. "The mental level of the African, as with anyone else, depends largely on the physical condition."

Dr. Wood, a British surgeon, went to Kenya for his health in 1947. He intended to conduct a normal, profit-making practice. But he discovered that the people who needed constructive surgery most were the penniless (rather, shillingless) ones.

"There is the same incidence of all civilized diseases in Africa as in the United States, and a great many more specialized tropical diseases—yaws, leprosy, elephantitis — which eat the body away.

"Burned faces and figures are more common than in civilized communities. The people sleep and wake around central fires in huts. Children are constantly rolling into the fire. Huts are constantly burning down.

And the need for surgery becomes even greater because these people are too far away from help to report their accidents, and too ignorant of disease to realize they have it until very late.

"The central slab of Africa is as large in area as the United States, and has just as great an incidence of cancer. Yet there is not one hospital in the entire area to treat it."

Dr. Wood paused, lit a cigarette, smiled. He had come, quite obviously, to the point.

"Dr. Schweitzer," he said, "is the most humble person. People come to see him and donate to him. I—" he shrugged "—go to people."

He is in the U. S., he went on to explain, as a member of the non-profit "African Research Foundation" and, frankly, is trying to raise interest (and money) for radio-therapy, research and surgery hospital to be built in Nairobi, Kenya.

The foundation is also beginning a long-term project of research exchange fellowships, which will enable American doctors to study Africa's peculiar health problems, and African doctors to study in the U. S.

"Once again the United States —such a healthy country—is being asked to help a poor and not so healthy one. You may say this is an old story," he said.

★ ★ ★

"But this time it may be different. The basic problem of this half of the century has been a problem of race relations. And as I said, the battle of ideologies is at its height in Africa."

Proposed Michigan Tax Plan Faces Crucial Hurdle

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—A crucial hurdle lies just ahead for a proposed complete overhaul of Michigan taxation keyed to a novel income tax plan and moulded to net 140 million dollars in new revenues.

These or any other proposals endorsed by the tax study group would have to run the gauntlet of Conlin's legislative committee and then both legislative chambers. The new Legislature convenes in January but spadework on the 1959-60 state budget already is under way.

A striking feature of the tax package is an attempt to rebate state sales tax paid on food by low income families through a $9 a person annual tax credit.

The sum is estimated to be the yearly equivalent of tax each housewife pays the grocer in pennies for each mouth she has to feed.

Said Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the Michigan Tax Study Group which evolved the proposal:

"While it sounds awfully unique, the same thing is being done now on gasoline taxes in both agriculture and industry."

Disclosure over the holiday of the extremely complex pattern of tax revision being considered by a 28-man citizens advisory committee to the Conlin legislative group struck like a bombshell.

Overall, it would put on 350 million dollars in new or increased taxes and subtract about 210 millions from present revenue sources.

The committee had hoped to finish its work next Tuesday in secret before making any revelations.

Conlin said he was apprehensive that repercussions from the newsbreak might upset last stage deliberations. He stressed that nothing has been finally settled.

"The result may turn out to be sabotage whether that was the intent or not," he said.

In Grand Rapids, Frank Seidman, accounting firm executive and head of the blue ribbon advisory panel, said he was "shocked."

The graduated income tax under discussion would provide a flat $1,000 exemption, rates graduated—mainly by $2,000 steps—from 3 to 8 per cent and a $40 a person tax credit (subtraction from computed tax) in addition to the $9 sales tax rebate.

★ ★ ★

A family head with $6,000 annual income, a wife and four children would virtually escape income tax under the plan but get no rebate. The same man with $5,000 income could collect $54 in rebates.

★ ★ ★

1. In effect, convert the present corporation franchise tax into a 5 per cent income or profits levy, fixing a 4½ mill franchise tax as a floor.

2. Do away with the existing personal property tax on business equipment and machinery, a major revenue source to local governments and long a thorn in industry's side. Local units would receive an offset by increased state grants and in part recoup lost revenues through new local taxing powers.

3. Grant cities the right to levy an occupation tax, and give cities and school districts the right to ride piggy back on the state income tax to the extent of one half of one per cent apiece.

4. Repeal the 23 million dollars a year state tax on stocks, bonds and other intangible property, substituting state treasury grants for sums now derived by local governments from this source.

5. Retain the business activities tax but wipe out deductions now allowed for rent, depreciation and interest.

6. Repeal the state chain store tax.

7. Retain the five cents a pack cigarette tax but channel proceeds into the state's general kitty instead of partly into the school aid fund, and extend it to reach cigar and pipe smokers.

★ ★ ★

8. Double the $1.25 a barrel tax on beer, steeply increase the tax rate on utilities and rework the existing tax provisions applying to insurance companies to more evenly spread the burden and boost yields.

9. Open the way for possible new taxes on hotels, motels, theater admissions and use of radio and television sets.

Of new revenues contemplated, an estimated 225 million dollars would be realized from the individual income tax and another 110 millions from the corporate income proposal.

★ ★ ★

Of existing revenues lost, the personal property tax change would account for about 120 millions, reduced revenues from the franchise part of the corporation tax about 45 millions and intangibles tax repeal about 23 millions.

Truck Drops High Tower

DETROIT (AP) — Damage estimated at $25,000 was caused Thursday when a haulaway truck carrying four Cadillacs knocked over a 75-foot high tension tower. The truck driver, Ellsworth O. Burke, 42, of Coldwater, suffered

Surprise Attack Parley Failing

Soviet Envoy Rejects 3 Papers Submitted by Western Side

GENEVA (AP) — Deepening East-West differences today virtually killed all hope of practical accomplishment by the 10-nation conference on ways to prevent surprise attack.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetsov turned thumbs down on three technical papers submitted by the Western side, describing them as elementary, meaningless, and unacceptable.

He accompanied this with a denunciation of Western—and particularly American—foreign policy, which he blamed for the world's fear of surprise attack.

The five Western countries — the United States, Britain, France, Italy, and Canada—have stopped introducing technical papers, at least for the time being. Western spokesmen said submission of any more seemed useless in view of Soviet refusal to discuss the technical problems for which the West contends the conference was called.

Western experts still are drafting additional papers, but there was no indication that these ever would be brought into the conference.

The Eastern side—the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Albania — has brought in only one document. This seeks to prohibit the flights of nuclear-armed planes over the territory of other countries or over the sea. It obviously is aimed at preventing the constant readiness flights of the U.S. Strategic Air Command. The West objected that this Eastern paper was political in nature and outside the scope of the conference.

Algeria Begins Strict Elections

Choice Being Limited to Candidates Backing Rule by French

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria today began its first legislative elections since 1951 with the choice limited to candidates supporting continued French rule.

Balloting for 67 members in the French National Assembly will continue through Sunday, the day European France completes the choice of its deputies. The new election law requires that two thirds of the Algerians elected must be Moslem.

Premier de Gaulle had hoped Algeria would elect representatives of all factions including the nationalist rebels. But the rebels boycotted, and all the candidates are colonialist Europeans or Moslems dedicated to preservation of complete French control.

De Gaulle probably will fly here next Wednesday for a five-day visit, a Paris announcement said. There was no indication what he hoped to achieve.

Rural voting is being spread over three days to permit French troops to protect ballot boxes from rebels as different villages are called to vote. Cities will vote Sunday.

Nomadic tribes of the Sahara will elect four deputies. The 10 deputies from French overseas territories in the last Assembly will retain their seats without running again.

★ ★ ★

In France itself the election of 465 deputies is being held in two rounds. Only 41 candidates won majorities—and seats—last Sunday. Runoffs are being held this coming Sunday for the other 424 seats.

Tabors Love Children: They Get Big Reward

After raising six of their own and 16 others for working couples, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Tabor, now in their 70s, are still at it.

The couple spent Thanksgiving Day with them after making their first trip together in 53 years of marriage.

Chandler read about the couple taking an interest in the children and sent them round-trip tickets.

When they got to the home, they were greeted by a big sign reading: "Welcome Grandma and Grandpa Tabor." There were shy smiles on small faces, hugs, and a tear or two.

While Mrs. Tabor read to some of the youngsters, Grandpa, a 75-year-old retired carpenter, put on overalls and went to the dairy barn to see if he could help out.

Mrs. Tabor said they learned about the home from a daughter and "decided to adopt the youngsters.

"I just plain wanted something to do. All my youngsters were grown and gone."

The couple has sent the home food they canned and clothing they made for four years. In return they joined in a big turkey dinner.

T. S. Eliot Play Flops in London Within 11 Weeks

LONDON (AP) — T. S. Eliot's latest play, "The Elder Statesman," has proved a box-office flop. It will end its London run Dec. 13 after 11 weeks. Next year it goes to New York.

Said impresario Henry Sherek: "The trouble is audiences can understand it."

Eliot's two other postwar plays, "The Cocktail Party" and "The Confidential Clerk," were obscure in places. But they drew the crowds.

★ ★ ★

"The Elder Statesman," which opened on the eve of Eliot's 70th birthday, was the poet's first play since his marriage last year to 30-year-old Valerie Fletcher, then his private secretary. It was praised by some critics for the new warmth marriage seemed to have brought to Eliot's love scenes.

'Tristan and Isolde Too Much'

Impresario Rodzinski Is Dead

BOSTON (AP) — Artur Rodzinski, one of the world's great symphony conductors—and one of the most temperamental—died Thursday night at Massachusetts General Hospital of a heart ailment.

Although references gave his age as 64, his widow, Halina, his second wife, said he was 66.

Rodzinski's final performance was in Chicago, where 10 days ago he presented Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" with the Lyric Opera Company in a triumphant return to the podium in the city where he was abruptly dismissed 10 years ago as conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Rodzinski was born in the small town of Spalato in Dalmatia, of Polish parents. He spent his boyhood in Lvov in southern Poland, now part of the Soviet Union. His father was a surgeon with the Russian army.

He first came to the United States in 1925 and became a naturalized citizen in 1933.

Rodzinski was playing the piano at 6 and pursued his musical career with fanatical devotion all his life.

In 1924 in Warsaw he met Leopold Stokowski, who a year later invited him to come to the United States as assistant conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Rodzinski was a great builder of orchestras. Time and again during his career he took over rundown orchestras and built them into fine artistic groups.

After his stint in Philadelphia he took over the Los Angeles Orchestra. It built a reputation under his baton, but he quarreled with the management and left after four years.

He was in Cleveland for several years and then took over the New York Philharmonic. He quit here too after four years.

Arturo Toscanini recommended Rodzinski to direct the Salzburg Music Fesitival in Austria in 1937 after hearing a broadcast of the Cleveland Orchestra.

In the last 10 years, Rodzinski had conducted all over the world on a free-lance basis.

He suffered a heart attack in Rome two years ago. The Boston heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White flew to Rome to treat him, and it was Dr. White who advised him to enter the Boston hospital when he completed his conducting chore in Chicago last week.

Rodzinski's wife said of that performance: "Artur did a tremendous job with 'Tristan and Isolde. He gavé everything he had to it, but it was too much and it finished him."

Flint to Dedicate School

FLINT (AP) — Flint will dedicate a new school for physically handicapped next Wednesday. The structure, built with a $500,000 grant from a philanthropist, includes a gymnasium, community room and special swimming pool.

Atom Exhibit to Tour

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit-area high school students will view a traveling atomic-age educational exhibit from the Atomic Energy Commission beginning Dec. 1. The exhibit is from the museum division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies and the American Museum of Atomic Energy in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Alabama Hunts Escaped Killer

3 Kidnaped Boys Say He Hailed Passing Car After Freeing Them

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Escaped killer Spence Edwards flicked an arm at a passing motorist here, and the search for him moved into Alabama.

Three teen-age youths, latest of a series of kidnaping victims as Edwards touched four states in his flight from a Dalton, Ga., labor gang, told police they saw him flag a passing car as he left them Thursday.

Officers said they didn't believe he was holding another captive but that they thought he picked up another ride here by prearrangement.

The boys said they saw him flag a motorist when he left their car, and that the brake lights of the car went on as Edwards, on foot, and the car rounded a corner out of sight.

"He told us to get going, gave us $22 for gasoline and to get the car fixed, and walked off," said Simon Warner Jr., 16, Shelbyville, Tenn.

The 35-year-old Edwards, fleeing a life sentence for killing a Georgia state policeman 11 years ago, had entered their lives just as suddenly Wednesday night.

Driving a Tennessee highway patrol car, he stopped Warner and two friends, Dalvin D. Throneberry, 17, and Enos Carter Jr., 18. Warner said he forced them at gunpoint to drive him to Birmingham.

Shortly after Edwards left the labor gang, he had kidnaped Hubert Turner from his home near Dalton, Ga. Later, he also kidnaped a Tennessee highway patrolman, Tom Moore, 28, who had stopped him for a routine check. Turner and Moore were freed, and Edwards went on in Moore's patrol car.

Edwards was believed trying to get to Murfreesboro, Tnn., to attempt to free a brother, Harry, charged with killing is father-in-law.

Harry broadcast a radio appeal to his brother, begging him to turn himself in, and vowing he wouldn't leave the jail with him.

Beats Pretty Robber to Draw—She Cries

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A shapely brunette was beaten to the draw Thursday night by an oft-robbed liquor store owner. She couldn't move him with tears.

Louis Muery, 63, who has been robbed five times, said he reached for his automatic when the 23-year-old woman, dressed in toreador pants, deerskin Indian boots and a sweater, entered the store.

"I had my automatic leveled on her before she could get her pistol pointed at me," he said.

"She begged and cried trying to get me not to call police. She told me this was the first time she had ever tried anything like this. That's when I told her she was a liar. I knew her from the last time."

The woman and her male companion—whom police arrested outside the liquor store—were identified by Muery as the pair who robbed him of $159 at gunpoint Nov. 15.

Pincus Shapiro Fetes Holiday on 3 Counts

NEW YORK (AP)—Pincus Shapiro, 76, who has been kept alive 96 days by an electrical stinger plugged into his heart, had a triple celebration Thursday.

It was Thanksgiving, the 50th wedding anniversary for Shapiro and his wife Estelle, and it marked Shapiro's return from Montefiore Hospital.

Shapiro's was the first human heart into which a tube had been inserted and left for a long period of time. Each time his heart beat died, an electric shock jolted it back to life again. Now his heart beats without the shock treatment.

Shapiro has suffered with heart trouble for 20 years. Last summer his condition became critical. Dr. Seymour Furman devised the new method of electric shock treatment.

With his 5 sons, daughter, 11 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren gathered about him, Shapiro declared: "I feel fine."

Austria's exports and imports both fell during the first half of 1958. The value of imports amounted to 528, 700,000, a decline of 4.7 per cent compared with the same 1957 period, and the value of exports skidded 6.5 per cent, to $446,200,000.

Integration Plea in Federal Court

10 Negro Children Ask Admittance to a White Virginia Grade School

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The case of 10 Negro children who seek admittance to a white elementary school here comes before Judge Walter E. Hoffman in U.S. District Court today.

The hearing on a desegregation petition filed by parents of the 10 marks the second effort to knock down school racial barriers in this shipbuilding community.

The parents claim their children should be admitted to the Walter Reed Elementary School because it is closer to their homes than the Negro school they now attend.

Newport News probably would have been the fourth Virginia community hit with school closings under the state anti-integration laws but for a legal snarl stemming from the consolidation of old Newport News and Warwick as one municipality.

Judge Hoffman issued a desegregation order affecting Newport News in February 1957. The order was upheld by higher courts and last summer attorneys for both sides agreed it was final and in full effect.

However, with the July 1 merger the case became bogged down on the question of whether Hoffman's original order could apply to the Greater Newport News. Defense attorneys argued it could not.

The next move came from the Negro plaintiffs. They filed a new suit Sept. 3, the day before schools opened, asking a temporary injunction forbidding the School board from denying them admittance to the white school.

Hoffman turned down the plea for an immediate injunction, chiding the plaintiff attorneys for not acting earlier in the summer.

The School Board seeks dismissal of the suit on the grounds it has no power to assign the pupils.

★ ★ ★

Desegregation orders by Judge Hoffman in Norfolk and Judge John Paul in the Charlottesville and Warren County cases earlier this year subsequently brought the closing of the nine white schools under the state laws forbidding racial mixing.

Cardinal's Guest Disappointed by Failure to Dance

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing disappointed at least one of the guests at his annual Thanksgiving Day party for the elderly and aging.

He carved the first turkey. He distributed medals to the staff of the restaurant entertaining his 1,200 guests. He went from table to table shaking hands and saying hello.

He even joined three young priests and the audience in singing "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

Everybody had a high old time. But the new cardinal neglected one detail.

Said one elderly woman guest, remembering the clog the archbishop did at the same party last year: "I'm disappointed that the cardinal didn't dance. He's such a beautiful dancer."

But What's Left to See?

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (UPI)—Pakhar Singh, 21, told army recruiters he hitchhiked 12,000 miles from Malaya through India, Afghanistan, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, Switzerland and France to join the British army because he wanted "to see the world."

Dad Takes Life as Girl Pleads

Teenage Daughter and Policeman Appeal 20 Minutes; He Kills Self

GUTTENBERG, N.J. (AP)—For 20 minutes Arthur Eisen, 45, sat looking into the muzzle of the rifle he was holding while his daughter and a policeman tried to talk him out of committing suicide. Then he pulled the trigger.

He died instantly.

Patrolman Daniel Dandorf told this story:

One of Eisen's teenage daughters, Audrey, ran into police headquarters and cried that her father had a rifle and might hurt someone.

Dandorf rushed to the home and found Eisen's family downstairs. Eisen was in his second-floor flat alone.

When Dandorf reached the second floor he heard Eisen shout through the door, "The first cop that comes in here I'll kill him."

Dandorf started talking—fast. It did no good. "If you open that door I'll kill you," was the only reply he got.

He went downstairs and told the family to stay put.

"I talked to him about 20 minutes," he said later. "I had just about talked him into giving up the idea. Suddenly he put his head down on the muzzle of the rifle and pulled the trigger. He died instantly."

Eisen leaves his widow, three daughters and a son.

Boy With Loose Teeth Must Settle for Stuffing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Thanksgiving Day wasn't as toothsome as it might have been for little Robert Gillar, but he had much to be thankful for anyway.

Because his teeth were jarred loose when he was hit by an automobile earlier this week, the 6-year-old boy couldn't eat the turkey offered at the hospital.

But he was recovering from his injuries and, as he noted himself, "I like the stuffing better."

About 25 per cent of wives in the U.S. have jobs outside the home.

This Man Insists His Drinks Take Delayed Action

RANDERS, Denmark (AP) — A local businessman contends that alcoholic drinks always hit him with a "bolo punch" when he drinks too much because of a stomach operation — definitely a delayed action, he maintains.

"When I drink I'm like a time bomb," he told a Randers court today. "Since doctors removed the greater part of my stomach, I don't get drunk like other people. I am sober when others in the party are loading up, and I get drunk while the others have hangovers."

A sobriety test taken hours after the man was involved in a traffic accident showed a high percentage of alcohol in his blood. He said he felt intxicated at the time of the test but that he was sober when he drove his car — because of the reduced stomach.

Doctors said he may have a point. The judge postponed court action until next week.

West Berlin Digs In for Cold War Siege

every suggestion that aims at making Berlin defenseless and endangers its freedom."

Adenauer and French Premier Charles de Gaulle had already announced Wednesday that the West's promises to maintain the occupation must be kept.

Khrushchev proposed that West Berlin be turned into a "demilitarized free city" with U.N. observers keeping watch over its neutrality after Western troops pull out.

He gave the West six months to negotiate the switch but said if it turned down the proposal, the Soviet would go ahead and transfer to East Germany the control of Allied supply lines to the isolated city.

Bell Pays Taxes, State Anticipates, Pays Universities

Out Wednesday went long deferred checks for $5,600,000 to the three major state universities. In today came $6,248,781 in a property tax payment from the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

★ ★ ★

The Bell money represented the second half installment of its largest annual tax payment to the state. It was earmarked for the state school primary interest fund.

★ ★ ★

The cash for the universities came due the first of October. Disbursement was held up until precarious treasury balances improved, and threatened the schools with a need to borrow money from banks to meet payrolls — which now can be avoided temporarily, at least at MSU.

Warrants were mailed in these amounts: University of Michigan, $2,700,000; Michigan State University, $2,110,000 and Wayne State University, $810,000.

Vice Crackdown in City Promised by Eastman

formed policemen and vice detail officers apparently haven't been cooperating, said he has set three goals for his department: (1) No syndicated or controlled vice; (2) enforcement to the point where there is no serious harm to the community, and (3) no collusion between vice interests and the police.

★ ★ ★

Eastman said he plans to increase pressure gradually on vice activities "through proper enforcement until we achieve our goal."

★ ★ ★

He said that the major share of responsibility in cracking down on vice must be placed on the shoulders of bureaus and units other than the vice squad.

★ ★ ★

"A steady level of effective enforcement must be maintained rather than sporadic drives," he said.

"I think there can be no deviation of a policy of strict repression in the area of liquor because there are sufficient laws regulating its sale and consumption.

"There can be no deviation from a policy of repression in prostitution because of the health problem and the problems of the associated crime conditions.

"There can also be no deviation of strict enforcement involving the use of narcotics."

Several officers asked by Eastman why vice has been allowed to run openly, told him that "they got tired of reporting violations and having nothing happen."

One Pontiac patrolman, Jess W. Quick was arrested Sept. 4 on a charge of bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Chief Straley has been asked to turn in a report on vice, Eastman said, but so far has not done so. The chief is attending a funeral out of town and will not return until Monday.

"I am not naive enough to think we can completely eradicate vice but presently it is far too active for a city of this size," the public safety director observed.

The last major vice raid in Pontiac on Aug. 29 was handled by State Police. Five persons were arrested on charges of operating a horse betting ring.

★ ★ ★

A deputy city treasurer and his wife, LaRue and Gladys Gullett, were among them.

★ ★ ★

Basil Burke was called the alleged head of the ring. A former numbers operator, he was assisted in obtaining a parole in 1952 by Chief Straley.

Vast Snowstorm Sweeps Across U.S. Midsection

By United Press International

A vast snowstorm swept the nation's midsection from Texas into the Ohio Valley Friday and weathermen issued heavy snow warnings for much of the area.

A special bulletin issued by the Chicago Weather Bureau warned of snow accumulations of four or more inches from central Missouri through southern Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and into Pennsylvania.

Freezing rains and snow during the night made driving hazardous from Oklahoma and Kansas through the central Mississippi and lower Ohio Valleys.

More than 200 traffic accidents were reported on slippery Kansas City, Mo., streets. At least 30 persons were hospitalized during the early hours of the storm.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported roads over two-thirds of the state were glazed with a solid sheet of ice up to one inch thick. The icy roads extended southwest to Dallas, Tex.

Roads were reported almost impassable northward from the Fort Smith, Okla., area, and authorities discouraged traffic west of the Clinton, Okla., vicinity.

Nixon Treats Queen to Real 'Pilgrim' Dinner

LONDON (UPI) — Vice President Richard Nixon and his guest, Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, had a real American Thanksgiving dinner at the U.S. Embassy residence last night.

Driving Is Hazardous; Area Roads Slippery

SLOWS TRAFFIC

A spokesman at the Pontiac Post said, "roads are so slippery that motorists are hardly able to attain enough speed to cause an accident."

The trooper warned, however, that slippery roads are often the cause of numerous rear-end collisions and that all drivers should be extremely wary of the car ahead, keeping far enough behind to assure enough distance in which to stop suddenly.

Rush hour traffic in Pontiac and Detroit was slowed to a crawl this morning, especially on the John Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways.

★ ★ ★

In Detroit, a big traffic jam developed on the southbound John Lodge expressway because of the snow and a chain-reaction accident. Traffic was backed up more than one mile north of Calvert. A rash of minor accidents also was reported.

SPREADING SALT

Main streets in Pontiac were very slippery, although heavily traveled. Trucks were busy salting down all main roads in an attempt to create less hazardous driving conditions by nightfall.

Twenty-two was the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 23 at 2 p.m.

Shotgun Kills Youth

THIS IS THE ONE FOR WAGONS! 1959 CHEVY

Chevrolet's five stunning new station wagons for '59 are shaped to the new American taste with fresh, fine Slimline design. And they're beautifully practical — with roomier, quieter Bodies by Fisher, an even smoother ride, new ease of handling!

Wagons were never more beautiful or dutiful. From low-set headlights to wing-shaped tailgate, these '59 Chevrolets are as sweet looking as anything on wheels. They're just about the handiest things on wheels, too—from their overhead-curving windshield to their longer, wider load platform. Besides additional cargo space (a full 10-foot span with the tailgate down), you also get added seating room (4 inches more in front, over 3 inches in back). And you'll find such other practical advantages as new easy-ratio steering, Safety Plate Glass all around, tougher Tyrex cord tires, bigger, safer brakes, smoother-than-ever Full Coil suspension and a roll-down rear window (electrically operated as standard equipment on the 9-passenger Kingswood). Your dealer's waiting now with all the details on why this year—more than ever—Chevy's the one for wagons.

They're Carefully Screened

Extras in New York Are Skilled Actors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Movie-magazine lives of Hollywood stars are so well known that no self-respecting quiz show would dare ask what toothpaste an actress uses.

Yet few of us know anything about the men, women, and children who appear on screen for an instant, billed only — if at all — as "a cast of thousands." These persons are the "extras."

"In Hollywood, being an extra is a stigma for a serious actor," said Melvin Gold, of the Central Casting Corp. in New York. It supplies actors and actresses for all types of parts in movies, television, the stage and nightclubs.

NEW YORK DIFFERENT

"There you're typed, and no one wants you, for better parts. But it's different here," Gold added. "We use 'atmosphere' people who are real actors. They are selected as carefully for extra or bit parts as for starring roles."

Gold's firm has about 5,000 persons on file. The basic placement fee is 10 per cent, but extras are not required to pay. Instead, producers settle their bills.

★ ★ ★

Extras belong to two unions — the Screen Actors Guild (SAG) on the East Coast, and the Screen Extras Guild (SEG) on the West Coast. Wages are $22.05 a day. If meals are not provided, extras receive $2 for lunch and-or dinner, plus one-third of a day's pay for lunch or dinner "penalties" — periods when a director requires them to work through the union's prescribed mealtimes.

If called to a set, even though they do not appear on camera, extras must receive full wages.

"It's tough to get into the extras' guild," said Director Mervyn Leroy, interviewed while filming a picture, "The FBI Story," (Warner Bros.) in New York.

A TOUGH JOB

"Once in, it's still tough. They sit by the phone, waiting for a call. When they are called for work, they stand around — and get pushed around. I admire them," Leroy said.

★ ★ ★

Extras range in age from 2 to 90 ("Everybody likes to act"), but 30 to 50 is considered the most workable age. Extras include all types of persons, from mothers working for pin money to whole families. Some have been in the business 30 years.

"A lot have worked for me so long that I look at them and know how old I'm getting," LeRoy said.

People try to get their children, dogs, and cats into the act, he added. Cats make $12.50 a day, dogs belong to a separate guild and earn $25 a day, plus a salary for a handler.

"Even Lassie has a valet," said the director.

Whether for relaxing in front of the fireplace or working industriously at college courses, these long lean corduroy slacks by Levi (of blue jean fame) promise to be both suitable and comfortable for the occasion. The wide, wide wale, washable pants come in gold, red, beige, black or rust.

Buying 'Latest' Not Sure Sign of Good Taste

Good taste is not a matter of being "in fashion" if the fashion is poor.

Women who wore the chemise even though it did not become them did not display good taste. They simply showed uncertainty.

Good taste can be developed only by observance followed by trial and error. But it can turn a plain woman into a woman with a flair.

MARIA ROUMELL

Soprano Slated

The guest artist for the Dec. 2 Pontiac Symphony concert will be Maria Roumell, noted soprano.

Musical highlights in her career have included appearances at New York's Carnegie Hall and Orchestra Hall in Chicago, singing for the King and Queen of Greece, and a performance for the International Music Festival in Athens, Greece.

For her Pontiac appearance, Miss Roumell will sing "Visci d'Arte" from Tosca, by Puccini, "Ah, Je Veux" from Romeo and Juliet, "Romance" from The Desert Song by Romberg and "Italian Street Song" from Naughty Marietta by Herbert.

Fill In Holes in Your Head—Abby

Friendship Can Go Too Far, Pal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I know I'm a darned fool but I am so much in love I can't see straight. Bruce knows I'd do anything in the world for him, but he just uses me to get filled in on other girls. He gets interested in a new girl about every two weeks, and asks me to 'fill him in' on who she is, where she works and how she likes him.

ABBY

"Bruce knows I have been in love with him ever since we were kids, but so far he treats me like a pal. I keep hoping that one day he will return my love. Please, Abby, how can I get Bruce to treat me like a sweetheart instead of a pal?"

ONLY A PAL

DEAR ONLY: If anything gets "filled in" it should be the holes in your head. A smart girl does not "fill in" a man with whom she is in love on details concerning the competition. Drop this helpful routine or you'll remain on the bench forever.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: The woman who signed herself 'INSULTED' because every doctor, dentist and eye doctor tries to take advantage of her is typical of the neurotic, frustrated female who runs from doctor to doctor seeking attention other than medical. My husband is a doctor and he wouldn't touch a female patient unless his office nurse was standing beside him as a witness to his ethical behavior. He's worked too hard to risk his professional reputation on one of these 'Everybody-is-mad-about-me' types of woman. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest, Abby."

DOCTOR'S WIFE

"DEAR ABBY: Thanks for setting 'INSULTED' straight. Every doctor has had to treat women patients who imagine his interest in them is more than professional. What wishful thinking! Those women ought to take a man along—to protect the doctor!"

DOCTOR'S NURSE

"DEAR ABBY: What do you do when you find out your husband has been going with another woman and when he thought he was in trouble comes to you and asks for your help? Crazy as it sounds, I stood by him and saw him through the whole mess. Am I out of my mind for forgiving him and helping him? We have four children and I want to know if you think they are good enough reason for swallowing my pride?"

FORGIVING

DEAR FORGIVING: I do not know of four better reasons.

"DEAR ABBY: My brother met a girl four years ago. After courtship, he married her and now they have a son a year old. Before my brother met this girl she had a son out of wedlock. I never asked any questions because I felt it was their personal affair. My brother adopted this child and treats him with the same love as his own.

"My problem is: What to say to relatives and friends? Should the older boy be introduced as my brother's son, or just his wife's son? When I'm asked "How many children has your brother?" should I say one or two?"

SIS

DEAR SIS: Your brother has two sons. One adopted and one born to his wife and himself. Any other comments are unnecessary.

Son Not Obligated to Girl

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our local bank had a drawing for a cash prize. Each depositor was given the opportunity of writing his (or her) name on a blank and dropping it into a large box which was placed in the lobby of the bank. The drawing was last week and my son's name was picked as the winner of the prize. The name was drawn by a young girl.

"My husband thinks that our son should give the girl a small sum of money for having drawn his name. He says that it is the customary thing to do. I have never heard of it and see no reason for giving her anything. Will you please tell us if this is expected of our son? Also, is it necessary for him to write a note of thanks to the bank for this money?"

Answer: It seems to me that if he were to give the girl any money at all it would be as a reward for doing something for him instead of being absolutely impartial in drawing the lucky number. If the money is mailed to him he must acknowledge its receipt with thanks, but if the money was handed to him at the drawing, his verbal "thank you" at that time is all that is required.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I belong to a bridge club and also to a woman's club. Many of the women who belong to these clubs are strangers to my husband, although friends of mine. I would like to know, when sending Christmas cards to them, do I include my husband's name along with mine when signing the cards, or do I sign them with my name alone?"

Answer: Properly you would sign your name alone.

General Good Health Helps Hair

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Please tell me what to do with my hair problem. It is dry and brittle and has broken ends and is falling out. I have worn metal curlers for years. Could this have an effect? I wash my hair every other week. I guess I should tell you that I have had a lot of trouble the last few years, lots of strain and worry."

A. There is no doubt that times of strain can affect both the hair and the skin. Try very hard not to worry and try to build up your health. It might also be a good idea to take vitamin B complex daily.

Massage your scalp each night and use one of the tonics planned especially for a dry scalp. You also can purchase a cream for dry ends. I do not think that the curlers would cause the hair to fall out but they might cause the ends to split.

Q. "I want to lose inches from my waist without losing elsewhere. How can I do this?"

A. If you are not overweight generally, you can decrease your waist measurement by taking waist-slimming exercises. Exercise can redistribute weight.

Q. "I am asking you to help me help my daughter. She is an attractive girl but very tiny for her age. She is 20 years old. Her height has become such an obsession that she refuses to go out at all. She is not a dwarf but just a small person.

When someone calls her "Halfpint" or "Shorty" there is trouble. All of our nerves are on edge because of this. I am thinking of asking a doctor if there is anything I can do but I hesitate."

A. I once knew a girl who was ruining her life because she was unusually tall — more than six feet. She said she could not forget her height because people were always reminding her of it. This may be your daughter's trouble and perhaps she will respond as my tall pupil did. I asked the latter if she thinks that people are mean and she said, "Oh, no!"

Then I reminded her that if they are not mean, then the fact that they speak freely about her height shows that they do not consider it a handicap or to be unattractive. I would like to remind your daughter that people only tease those they like and that the "Halfpint" and so forth are really affectionate terms rather than insulting ones.

I believe it to be downright sinful to measure happiness in terms of how many inches tall one is. If your daughter cannot snap out of this, I would get some psychiatric help for her.

Q. I thought I had heard everything! A reader asks, "How can I reduce the left side of my waist only!"

A. Do the trunk bending, waist-slimming exercises, but bend to the right only.

Only Feminine Mind Can Understand This

By RUTH MILETT

Don't expect a mere man to understand:

How two teenage girls can spend 45 minutes on the telephone discussing what to wear to a party.

Why a woman can't entertain her club without giving the whole house a thorough cleaning.

A woman's willingness to shop for weeks to find just the right hat to go with her new suit.

Why another woman's apparent compliment actually can be a slap in the face. For example: "My dear, I love your hair short. You look simply years younger."

Why "a good cry" can make a woman feel better and leave her with a new determination to straighten out the matter she was crying about.

Why a woman doesn't turn down an invitation for an evening she knows will be boring but instead will accept it and then say, "We have to entertain them because they entertained us," setting up an exchange of hospitality that gets more and more difficult to break off.

Why a woman tends to be less charitable toward a pretty woman than toward a plain one.

Why a woman likes to pretend that her husband selected a gift for her that she chose for herself.

How a woman can be so easily fooled about a man's character — if he has perfect manners.

Why a woman acts annoyed with her husband if he tells her that she has a run in her stocking or that her slip is showing.

Junior High PTSA Has 1st Meeting

Eastern Junior High School PTSA held its first meeting of the season Tuesday with Mrs. Cebert Jeffries, presiding.

The ninth grade chorus, under the direction of Leonard Griffin, opened the meeting with a medley of four songs, "Calm at Night," "Ours is the World," "Somebody's Knocking," and "Autumn Leaves."

Following the business meeting, Theodore Wiersema, principal, introduced Mrs. Ellsworth Sturdy, who explained teaching mathematics in the seventh and eighth grades. Margaret Scott spoke on "Language Arts."

American Women Are 'Most Modest'

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — American girls are the most modest in the world, says John A. Zehntbauer, who has been studying this subject for half a century.

"French girls and German girls think nothing of wearing bikini bathing suits," says the man who supplies most of the world with swimwear. "In Australia and South Africa, Hong Kong and South America, the girls aren't worried about exposure. But in America we can't even get a model to pose in a bikini."

Zehntbauer, with his brother Roy and their late partner, Carl Jantzen, has turned out swim suits for most of the bathing beauties of history, from Gloria Swanson and the Mack Sennett girls to Gina Lollobrigida. Since 1910, when he bought out a little knitting mill in Portland and knitted a suit for a local rowing team, he has made water-wear his chief concern.

The company has factories or licenses in 18 countries, studies the swim whims of every nation, and collects design ideas from every corner of the world.

LOOKS BACK

"The first women's bathing suits we made had sleeves, sailor collars, knee-length pants and skirts," says the tall, graying Zehntbauer, who looks 20 years younger than his announced 74.

"Then after the first World War, things changed abruptly. As girls took to short skirts and rolled stockings, they began cutting down on their bathing suits, too. When we found that women were cutting off our suits at the bottom and cutting the necklines down in back, we decided to make them the way they wanted them.

"That's been our procedure ever since. I don't think we've ever tried to force a new, brief style in swim suits. The public calls the turn, and we give them what they want."

John and Roy Zehntbauer were born in a log cabin near Chillicothe, Mo., went through the eighth grade in a one-room schoolhouse and set out for the West to seek their fortunes.

When they established their first knitwear business in Portland, they were joined by their sister, Minerva, who has been a sales executive with the company most of the years since.

"The children are all regular ducks," says grandfather John. "They start swimming almost before they can walk. Give us some good ideas, too, all of 'em, especially my wife.

"I've always said a fellow needs a good wife, or he doesn't amount to hardly anything, all by himself."

Property Rights Must Be Taught Early

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Neil was nearing 3, he had a mechanical lion, dubbed Growly, which growled and switched its tail.

Its winding key was hard to turn. So one rainy afternoon when his Aunt Lou was visiting he asked his mother to turn it for him.

She did so. Aunt Kitty, bored by shelling peas for supper, was diverted by Growly's performance.

Exclaiming, "How darling!" she grabbed Growly the moment his clockwork ran down and asked her sister-in-law, "How many times do I turn the key to make it growl again?"

Neil's mother said, "Four times. However, it's not my lion; it's Neil's. So please ask him if he wants you to make it growl again."

Neil didn't. When Aunt Kitty asked his permission to rewind Growly, he stared at her. Then carefully removing her fingers from his lion, he and Growly departed the kitchen.

Now at nursery school, he finds it quite easy to defend his blocks, finger paints and construction paper from the forays of other children. His teacher has not found it necessary to say to his mother, "Neil must learn to assert himself with other children."

Always it is parents' respect for children's property that identifies it as their property — and enables them to assert ownership of it.

So if we have a child who lets other youngsters dominate his play, take his toys and otherwise bully him, we'd do well to stop fussing at him and look at our own attitude toward his possessions.

If we've been showing off his toys, his clothes, his newly papered bedroom and his crayon pictures as though they were our belongings instead of his, we really can't complain when the neighbor's boy appropriates his tricycle.

To a child who has not received respect for his property, it's futile to say, "Why did you let Tommy play with your missile shooter all morning? Why didn't you tell him you wanted to play with it too?"

His long experience of uncertain ownership makes it impossible for him to assert it. His past has failed to assure him of his title to his things.

Apple Dessert Topped With Nutty Oat Mixture

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There have been dozens of recipes for making Apple Crisp dessert, but the one below is the first one we've ever seen that calls for oatmeal. This should make a good after-Thanksgiving dessert.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wallace Weiberg is the cook who shares this recipe with us. She has three children to care for. Bridge and reading are her hobbies.

APPLE CRUNCH
By Mrs. Wallace Weiberg

4 cups sliced apples
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Arrange in greased baking dish. Cover with the following topping and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve hot or cold. Serves six.

Topping

½ cup oatmeal
½ cup flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup butter or margarine

Playing 'Grown-up' Helps Child Understand Adults

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

"I'm the mommie," she said to Tess, "and you're the baby. I'm going to tuck you into bed all nice and comfy."

A minute later: "It's getting up time now. Did you have a nice nap?"

Tess pops up and says: "I'll be mommie now and you be baby and we will go for a walk in the park."

Little children love dramatic play and it's good for them. They need the opportunity to play out what they see going on around them. It helps them understand themselves and their relations with their grownups. To act like mommie makes mommie more real and more understandable.

Sometimes mommies get quite an eye-opener to listen to what a small daughter may say and do as she is playing at being mommie.

Children's play is sometimes just a mirror of the life they lead. Sometimes it reflects the way they wish it were.

And again children through dramatic play can act out hostile aggressive feelings they dare not bring to the surface without hiding behind some role.

Give your children the opportunity to play out all sorts of roles.

A big box of dress up materials will be a most welcome and used present for any little pre-school age girl.

Put in the box an old skirt of yours, some scarfs, a hat or two, some jewelry, gloves, a pocketbook, maybe an old window curtain. Anything the child can drape around herself and feel like a grown-up. Shoes are often a great success.

There has recently come on the market a whole line of adult clothes made small enough for little children to wear for dress up play. If your budget is unlimited go buy some.

However, your child will get just as much joy out of discarded pieces of clothing and other accessories of adult life as she will from expensive new ones.

Consider Upkeep

Gloves should be spanking fresh to look well. Remember this when you buy white or pastel gloves. If you feel you can't afford the dry cleaning upkeep, choose dark colors instead.

Hal Boyle Says:

David Niven Resents Brevity of This Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—David Niven resents life. Not the weary length of it, but the brevity of it.

"I want to live another 150 years," he said. "I want to go on and on, doing what I'm doing. I can't visualize myself retiring and sitting in a little house by the seashore watching seagulls.

"I resent deeply the fact I can't read all the books I want to, know all the people, see all the places."

As debonaire in real life as he is on the screen, Niven believes in meeting the problems of living with a mixture of granite and quicksilver.

After 6½ years of service in the British army during World War II (he emerged a colonel), he quickly resumed his star status. He was one of the first Hollywood figures to venture into television, despite a film mogul's stern warning: "If you do, you'll never work in my studio again."

"That's all right," Niven assured him, "I haven't worked in it for the last 10 years anyway."

Since then he has been busier than ever. As vice president of the Four Star Playhouse, he has helped supervise the production of nearly 1,200 TV dramas. He makes a dozen or so TV appearances a year, acts in two or three films.

In his latest, "Separate Tables," he portrays a lonely, seedy, scandal-haunted major, a role his fans may find somewhat surprising.

"I try to look for something different every time," Niven said. "My theory is that if you are lucky enough to make a good living acting, it's better to keep working than to sit around a year waiting for the perfect script.

"You learn something every day you work."

Lucky is a word Niven uses often. He thinks it applies to him. He comes from an army family, and he lost ancestors at Waterloo, in the Crimea, in the Boer War, and his own father was killed in action in the Dardenelles campaign in World War I.

★ ★ ★

So it was that he went into World War II with a sense of family fatalism.

"Most soldiers have the feeling that verybody around them may be killed, but death won't touch them," he said soberly. "I had just the opposite feeling."

"I think we all eventually evolve our own faith. I am convinced that heaven and hell are right where we are now—on this earth.

"Life is an enormous Grand National Steeplechase. We are given certain hurdles to get over, and certain opportunities. And if you don't spot the opportunities, you miss them.

"It really doesn't matter who is the winner; it's getting around the course that counts.

"I have another theory: If we aren't truly grateful when we are lucky, we are very apt to ask for trouble, and then it's too late.

★ ★ ★

"Life is like having a garden full of lovely flowers. If we don't look after them, a horrible little wind comes up and blows a seed of unhappiness into the garden, and some foul weed springs up and ruins the whole thing."

Girl Sees Source of Saving Blood

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Little Linda Forbes of Waterford Township watched in amazement as hundreds of people filed in and out of the West Bloomfield Township hall this week to donate blood to the American Red Cross.

In July, 7-year-old Linda was in Ford Hospital, Detroit, undergoing a delicate heart operation. Doctors had warned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forbes of 3834 Island Park Dr., that many pints of blood would be needed during the scheduled four-hour operation if the child were to survive.

Through efforts of the Waterford Township Ministerial Assn., a special bloodmobile was set up in the Elk's Temple in Pontiac and volunteers streamed to the building to donate blood for Linda.

For more than an hour Linda lived with a mechanical machine while a team of six surgeons mended two holes in her enlarged heart. Before the operation was completed, 27 pints of whole blood had been pumped into the child.

Today, Linda, eight pounds heavier than when she entered the hospital, plays normally with her second grade friends at McVittie school. Occasionally she becomes tired but doctors say that by the end of next year the little girl will be well.

Area residents will have an opportunity to participate in the Waterford Township Blood Bank, at the bloodmobile from 2 to 8 p. m. Monday at the Community Activities Center.

Sponsored by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's club for the second year, members stress the fact that too few people know that an individual can build up a "private" blood bank for free use by any member of their family when donating blood.

Chairman of the local blood bank, Mrs. Homer Tinney, pointed out that blood received at a hospital is expensive and added, "with this new blood bank system, it is clear that the smart family should create its own supply of blood in advance."

PATIENCE THAYER

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thayer of 15 Miller Rd., Clarkston, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patience Angela, to James C. Lowry, son of Mrs. Charles Beck of 4800 Harding St., Waterford. The bride-elect is a sophomore at Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti. The wedding date hasn't been set.

Accused of Having Deer Meat Illegally

WALLED LAKE—A Detroit man is being charged today with illegal possession of venison after picking up a deer killed when it ran into the side of a car driven by a Walled Lake woman.

* * *

According to Brighton State Police, Mrs. Ilene Monroe of 1667 Meadowlane Rd., was driving on U.S.16 east of Brighton yesterday morning when the accident occurred.

Officers maintain that Edward Ostin, 20, of Detroit, who was duck hunting, saw the incident and offered to take the 200 pound 10-point buck deer from the bewildered woman, and that she agreed and later stopped to report the incident to Brighton State Police.

Meanwhile, they say, Ostin had driven to Brighton, bought a deer-hunting license and tags for $5, drove into the woods, shot the deer and dressed it.

* * *

When he was stopped by police near Detroit, he claimed he had shot the buck. The State Conservation Department officer charged him with illegal possession of venison.

He was to be arraigned before Justice Eric Singer in Brighton today. The venison will be given to some state or county institution.

JANET GRAHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Graham of 4724 Sylvester St., Drayton Plains, announced the engagement of their daughter, Janet Carol, to Marine Pvt. Thomas Matthew Blezinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Blezinski of 4935 Thirza Ct., Drayton Plains. No date has been set.

Lapeer Man Dies on Hunting Trip

LAPEER — Service for Neil Frentheway, a former industrial caterer of the Dodge and Plymouth plants in Detroit, who died of a heart attack while hunting near Alpena this week will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Baird Funeral Home. Burial will be in Rochester Cemetery, Rochester.

Mr. Frentheway, 68, of 3651 Merwin Rd., Lapeer, who retired in May after being in his business since 1927, was found when his son, Neil Jr., searched the woods late Wednesday evening after his father had been missing for several hours. Frentheway and his son were staying at the Le Roy Hunting Club near Alpena.

* * *

Mr. Frentheway was a veteran of World War I and had served as a fireman in the U.S. Navy.

Surviving are his wife, Carolyn; a son, Neil Jr. of Lapeer, three brothers, Abram of Oxford, Jacob of Eugene, Ore. and William of Sinclair, Wyo.; three sisters and one grandson.

Groundbreaking Set Sunday for College

ROCHESTER — Groundbreaking ceremonies for the first new building of the North Central Christian College located on W. Avon road near Rochester road are slated for Sunday at 3 p.m.

* * *

Wheeler Utley of Royal Oak, chairman of the board of the North Central Christian College Foundation will turn over the first spade of ground for the multi-purpose building.

The proposed building, to be completed by spring, will provide classrooms, offices, a cafeteria and a dormitory for approximately 60 girls.

The liberal arts junior college which will be operated by members of the Church of Christ, is expected to open next September with an enrollment of 200.

Board member Dr. George Ford of Berkley and James Vaughn, chairman of the building committee, will speak at the ceremonies.

NANCY DAVIS

Nancy Davis of 10121 Mill St., Milford is engaged to Glenn W. Colby II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Colby of 400 Crystal St., Milford. The announcement was made by Miss Davis' parents, Mrs. John La Pearl of Milford and George Davis of Knoxville, Tenn. No wedding date has been st.

GLORIA SANDERS

WALTER CUDNOHUFSKY

County 4-H Girl, Youth Off to Chicago Congress

A Rochester senior girl in high school who wants to become a draftsman and a Lake Orion boy who is a freshman at Michigan State University studying landscape architecture left for Chicago today to attend the 37th National 4-H Club Congress.

The couple were awarded the free eight-day trip because they had been selected to have the outstanding Michigan 4-H projects in specified fields.

Gloria Sanders, 17, of 1625 W. Hamlin Rd., Rochester, won the state project honor in the safety division. Walter Cudnohufsky, 18, of 1940 S. Lapeer Rd., Lake Orion, was selected the top 4-H member in Michigan in soil and water conservation.

Gloria, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sanders, received the trip from General Motors Corporation. Firestone Fire and Rubber Company awarded Walter the trip. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cudnohufsky.

Both students have been active in county 4-H work.

Gloria, who has been the only girl in the Rochester high school's drafting classes for the past two years, hopes to work in drafting after she completes her formal education.

The many awards in 4-H she received include first place in the 1958 county mistress of ceremonies contest, second in this year's county fair queen contest; county, district and state winner of safety 4-H awards; 1957 winner of the county speaking contest; and recognition for her safety conservation and freezing projects at the Michigan 4-H Show.

Her goat, Lovina, also received a first in the county fair, and Gloria also won first in showmanship with the pet.

Gloria is president of the Clinton Valley 4-H Club and also a member of the Avon Stitch and Sew 4-H Club.

Walter is a six-year member of the East Orion 4-H Club. At present, he is attending MSU on a 4-H scholarship.

During his 4-H career, the youth, who was the 1958 4-H county fair king, has received award trips to Detroit, Traverse City, New York and Boston, all for his outstanding conservation work.

He was the winner of the county achievement booth contest this year.

Orion Students Attend Meeting of School Board

ORION TOWNSHIP—Fifty Lake Orion Community High School government class students attended this week's Lake Orion Board of Education meeting at the school.

* * *

The board decided to have Proper and Webber elementary schools used for the overflow of pupils moving into the crowded Carpenter school area.

Eighteen new homes have been built in this area and 36 more are under construction.

The board also reported that sidewalks from Flint street to Blanche Sims School on Florence street have been completed.

Famed Cedars Alive

BEIRUT—Famous since Biblical days, about 400 "cedars of Lebanon" still exist in Lebanon and are under Government protection. Several of the remaining trees in this eastern Mediterranean country are believed more than 1,000 years old.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

FIVE ACES: Tops in the battle for first place this week is "To Know Him Is To Love Him" (The Teddy Bears). Second best on the Pontiac area sales charts is "It's Only Make Believe" (Conway Twitty).

Elvis is selling on both sides as his disc of "I Got Stung." Backed by "One Night," it has hit third spot. Fourth is "Whole Lot Of Lovin" (Fats Domino) of tuxedo and saddle-shoe fame. "Lonesome Town" (Ricky Nelson) is still selling well enough to rank fifth.

I do not consider myself square, or even a tilted cubist, but I cannot agree with most that "Poetry and Jazz" (World Pacific (WP-1244) is "a great recorded innovation of our times."

Things just don't fit. The readings are for the most part excellent, as is the music. But they're somewhat like the recent Columbia waxing of "Black, Brown and Beige" throwing Mahalia Jackson together with Duke Ellington on the 23rd Psalm and coming up with complete incongruity.

John Carradine is superb at reading poetry. He appears on two selections and does well. All in all, this album has some fine moments but also some weak ones. It lacks consistency and I am left with an empty stomach in the face of much ballyhoo. One can't live on food for thought alone.

Rather exciting in a better way are a few other November releases on World Pacific.

"Beauties Of 1918" (WP-1245) by the Charlie Mariano-Jerry Dodgion Sextet is cool and comfortable. It's an interesting and stimulating set of arrangements twisting old World War I tunes into swinging modern patterns.

An outstanding album is "New Bottle Old Wine" (WP-1246) by Gil Evans and his Orchestra. This rivals just about any other big band set of arrangements I can think of in the past year. Modern ideas put to jazz standards with plenty of understanding in between, make this a great buy for any jazz fan.

* * *

For percussion fans, excitement of high caliber is to be had on another World Pacific LP, "Drums On Fire" (WP-1247), featuring the likes of Chico Hamilton, Art Blakey, Benny Barth and Chatur Lal. The material herein was pulled from what one might call the "past performance file" at WP, and good performances they are.

HIGH-FLYING LION — End Max McGee (85) of the Green Bay Packers has his arms outstretched to receive a pass in the 2nd quarter of yesterday's holiday contest with the Detroit Lions at Briggs Stadium, but halfback Dave Whitsell (23) makes a flying leap at the ball which he grabs for an interception. McGee got behind Detroit defender Terry Barr (41) and was headed for the goal line when Whitsell leaped into the picture.

Green Bay Carves Turkey, Lions Eat It

Gambles Fail, Detroit Takes 24-14 Victory

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — Thursday's Turkey Day grid feast between the Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers can be neatly summed up like this:

Green Bay did most of the carving and Detroit did most of the eating.

The Packers, now positively doomed to last place in the Western Division of the National Football League, ordinarily lose both the statistics and the game.

Yesterday, before 50,971 chilled spectators in Briggs Stadium, Green Bay improved a little bit by winning the battle of the statistics, but the results were still the same — another loss on the scoreboard.

The Lions alertly capitalized on Green Bay miscues and twice came from behind for a 24-14 victory over the Packers in their 8th annual Thanksgiving Day feud in crisp, cold and sometimes snowy weather.

It was Detroit's 4th win of the season against five losses and an earlier 13-13 tie with the Packers at Green Bay. For the Packers, it was defeat No. 8 compared to only one victory plus the tie.

In the long run yesterday, it was Green Bay gambles on 4th down from punt formation that proved to be the downfall of the Packers.

Two different times end Max McGee elected to run or pass from deep in Packer territory rather than kick and both gambles failed and backfired into Detroit scores.

McGee's 1st failure came late in the 1st quarter and set up a 32-yard field goal by Jim Martin, which gave the Lions a 10-7 lead at halftime. The 2nd mistake happened late in the 4th period with the Lions holding a slim 17-14 edge and paved the way for Detroit's insurance touchdown.

The Lions halted a Green Bay drive which started from the opening kickoff and McGee punted from his own 40-yard stripe. Yale Lary called for a fair catch, then dropped the pigskin and Jim Salsbury recovered on the Detroit 26.

Green Bay hit pay dirt in three plays. After Paul Hornung lost three and a pass fell incomplete, quarterback Bart Starr passed to McGee who swivelhipped his way through the Lion secondary for a touchdown play covering 29 yards. The conversion by Hornung made it 7-0 for the Packers.

The Lions tied the score in two plays following a Packer fumble. Lary booted and Green Bay took possession on its own 13. On the 2nd play, Starr's aerial was complete to Al Carmichael who bobbled the ball on the 12 with big Alex Karras picking it up and lumbering to the five-yard line.

Tobin Rote swept right end for four yards to the one, then Ken Webb crashed across for the touchdown. Martin's placekick knotted the count at 7-7.

McGee's 1st error followed the ensuing kickoff. Instead of kicking on 4th down, McGee chose to run and he was dumped on the Packer 28 with the Lions taking possession. Martin's field goal with 1:28 left in the half handed Detroit a 10-7 advantage.

Green Bay marched 75 yards in eight plays in the 3rd quarter to go ahead, 14-10. A 25-yard aerial from Starr to McGee put the Packers in business on the Detroit one from where Don McIlhenny slashed through guard for the TD. Hornung converted.

The Lions immediately bounced back, driving 87 yards in 12 plays to take command for keeps. Key passes from Rote to Perry Richards and Tom Rychlec kept the push going and a defensive holding penalty gave the Lions a 1st down on the Packer four.

Gene Gedman plowed three three yards to the one, then Rote sneaked over standing up and Martin converted to make it 17-14 at the end of the 3rd period.

McGee took his 2nd gamble with four minutes remaining in the game, trying to pass and throwing into the ground incomplete with Detroit seizing control on the Packer 24. The Lions went the distance in six plays with Gedman plunging four yards for the TD. Martin kicked the 24th point.

Richards, former University of Detroit end, enjoyed a successful day in his debut with the Lions as a replacement for veteran Jim Doran who has been retired for the 1958 season because of injury. Richards was Detroit's top pass receiver, catching four Rote aerials for 71 yards.

Settle Four Bowl Berths Saturday

Collegians Fire Final Blast

By The Associated Press

Four major bowl berths will be filled and Phiadelphia's Municipal Stadium will be packed for the Army-Navy game tomorrow as college football fires its last blast of the regular season.

Army, shunning bowls, takes a 7-0-1 record against Navy. It was Pitt, knocked out of the major bowl picture by Penn State's 25-21 upset yesterday, that marred the Cadets' record 14-14. Tulane and Notre Dame rapped Navy, with the Irish laying it on 40-20.

Notre Dame, which closes at Southern California tomorrow, was the only common foe on the Army and Navy schedules, and the Cadets beat the Irish 14-2.

This is the 59th game in the service series and a capacity crowd of 102,000 is expected. Army has a 29-24 edge over the Middies in the classic, which has seen five ties.

While Army and Navy battle on national TV over NBC, at 1:15 p.m., EST, a half dozen or so games will decide who will be on TV in the year-end bowl games.

★ ★ ★

Only two of the five major bowls are filled. Iowa and California will play in the Rose Bowl, and Oklahoma and Syracuse fill the Orange Bowl. But the Cotton Bowl needs a team to face Texas Christian, the Sugar Bowl needs an opponent for Louisiana State and the Gator Bowl has two berths to fill.

Iowa, California, Syracuse and LSU have completed their regular seasons. Oklahoma shuts down shop against Oklahoma State. TCU calls it quits against Southern Methodist.

Of the top 10 teams in the latest Associated Press poll, five already have been picked for bowls (LSU, No. 1; Oklahoma, No. 3; Iowa, No. 4; TCU, No. 7, and Syracuse, No. 10). Three are ineligible (Auburn, No. 2; Wisconsin, No. 6, and Ohio State, No. 9) and one (Army, No. 5) turns its back on such doings.

That leaves Air Force (No. 8) as the only top 10 team still to be had. And the Cotton Bowl likely will get the Falcons (8-0-1), if they whip Colorado tomorrow.

The Sugar Bowl reportedly is set to tap Clemson (7-2) to face unbeaten, untied LSU New Year's Day if the Atlantic Coast Conference champion beats Furman tomorrow.

That leaves SMU, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Florida, South Carolina, Vanderbilt and Rice on the prowl for the Gator Bowl bid—or the Sugar and Cotton Berths should Air Force and Clemson slip up.

SMU needs an upset over TCU to make it. Mississippi plays Mississippi State, Tech takes on Georgia, Florida finishes against Miami, Vanderbilt meets Tennessee and Rice plays Baylor.

South Carolina (7-3) wrapped up its regular season yesterday by whipping Wake Forest 24-7. Mississippi Southern, also a bowl prospect, locked up a perfect (9-0) season in the Thanksgiving Day action, defeating Chattanooga 20-13.

Texas (7-3) took itself out of possible bowl consideration after rapping Texas A&M 27-0. Rutgers (8-1), which finished last weekend, got tired of waiting and also withdrew from the list of post-season prospects although under serious consideration by the Blue Grass Bowl committee.

★ ★ ★

The Blue Grass, with Alabama a top choice, will name its pairing Monday. Pitt's still alive for this one, along with Tulsa and Florida State in addition to the clubs already listed by the major bowl groups. Alabama (5-3-1) closes tomorrow against Auburn (8-0-1), which is looking for its second straight unbeaten season but is banned from bowl play by NCAA probation.

★ ★ ★

Tulsa (7-3) finished with a 25-6 victory over Wichita yesterday. Virginia Tech eliminated Virginia Military from the post-season hopefuls 21-16. Cincinnati defeated Miami, Ohio 18-7 in a battle of minor bowl prospects.

Cornell gained a second place tie with Princeton in the Ivy League behind champ Dartmouth by defeating Penn 19-7. Brown defeated Colgate 28-6, Utah beat Utah State 12-7, Colorado State U. beat Denver 9-8 and William & Mary surprised Richmond 18-13.

Wings Rally to Nip Leafs

Game Decided by Howe's Two Clutch Goals

Gordie Now Has 398; Victory Keeps Detroit Tied for Lead

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe rapidly is approaching the 400-goal milestone in a National Hockey League career studded with brilliance — and because the big fellow is doing so well, the Detroit Red Wings might win the NHL title.

At least, general manager Jack Adams expressed that opinion last night after Howe's 397th and 398th NHL goals brought the Wings from behind for a 3-2 victory over Toronto.

"We've done a wonderful job this month," said Adams. "By Sunday night, we will have played 15 games in 30 days — and 10 of them on the road. And we're tied for first place."

The measuring stick for a championship hockey team is this: "win 75 per cent of your games at home and break even on the road. Over the last month, the Detroit club has done better than that, and the reward is a first place tie with the Montreal Canadiens.

The battle for first place comes this weekend — the Wings and the Canadiens tangling Saturday night in Montreal and Sunday night in Detroit. Both games are sellouts.

The Wings' success has fooled even Adams. When the season started, he said the Detroit club was as good as four other teams — meaning Boston, New York, Chicago and Toronto.

Now, he is trying to work a trade or purchase to bring an experienced player or two to Detroit. With a little extra help at a couple of key spots, he believes Detroit can reassert itself in NHL prominence.

Last night's game was scoreless for two periods. Norm Ullman finally scored for Detroit at the 1:31 mark of the final period when his 35-footer slammed off the Toronto post and into the nets behind goalie Johnny Bower.

Frank Mahovlich tied it for the hapless Leafs two minutes later, and Barry Cullen's first goal of the season put Toronto in front 2-1 at the 9:03 mark.

Howe got No. 397 just past the 13-minute mark, digging the puck from behind the Leaf goal and slipping a backhander through Bower. The clincher was a picture — Howe taking a long pass from Alex Delvecchio, skating in for a personal duel with Bower, the Toronto goalie coming out of the cage to meet Howe, then the Detroit all-star firing a screaming 30-footer right past the Leaf netminder.

Howe might have pulled the hat trick for goal No. 399, but missed an open net in the final seconds. The Leafs pulled Bower for an extra attacker in an effort to tie the score, and Detroit intercepted a pass.

★ ★ ★

Injured Toe Can't Stop Him

COP's Bass Wins 3 National Grid Titles

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—College of the Pacific's Dick Bass, playing on a badly swollen big toe, hobbled off with three national football titles yesterday as the Tigers shattered Fresno State 52-6.

His teammates carried Bass from the field after he completed a season that hadn't been matched in 21 years.

The 189-pound, 5-foot 11-inch halfback from Vallejo, Calif., gained 130 yards in 30 carries, bucked for two touchdowns and caught a pass for a two-point conversion.

The performance gave him a 10-game total of 1,361 yards rushed in 205 carries; 1,440 yards in total offense in 217 plays, and 116 points scored — all three marks the best in the country.

Not since Byron "Whizzer" White of Colorado in 1937 has one player won all three titles in a single year.

"I really wasn't sure that I had won all those championships until the fellows picked me up after the game," said Bass. "I guess I was lucky to even get a chance to play.

"I hurt the toe in the second quarter against San Diego State and for a while we thought it was broken. I didn't run all week because I wanted to play against Fresno."

Bass grimaced as he eased his left foot into a street shoe. "They gave me a shot of novocaine and that helped," he said, "but even though I had good blocking, I couldn't get good footing. That big toe really hurt."

Bass has been plagued by leg injuries throughout his collegiate career. He broke a leg in Fresno in 1956 and was out for the remainder of the year.

Last year he missed the entire season with another leg injury. Thus he has a year of eligibility remaining. He plans to come back to COP and use it.

"I want to take advantage of my scholarship," he said, "and besides, I don't think I'm ready for professional football yet. I'm interested in radio and television work and I changed my major from general education to speech this year. I need another year to finish my new courses."

2 More Lions on Injury List

Defensive Stalwarts Miller and Mains Are Ailing

DETROIT — The Detroit Lions' injury problem is even more serious today.

Tackles Bob Miller and Gil Mains of the defensive unit may miss one, or both of the final games. They were hurt yesterday in the 24-14 victory over Green Bay.

Mains suffered a knee injury and had to use crutches. He was taken to a Detroit hospital for further examination of what early reports indicated were damaged ligaments.

Miller suffered a recurrence of an old back ailment and there is no telling how long he will be sidelined.

Alex Karras, rookie tackle for Detroit, was ejected from the game in the final minutes. He claimed he did not hit a Green Bay player as officials charged.

Rangers Blow Hectic Tilt

By The Associated Press

Sometimes it takes the New York Rangers time to get fired up. But it doesn't take long for their coach, Phil Watson, to lose his temper.

Last night, the fiery Watson blew his top and his Rangers blew an important 3-1 decision to the Boston Bruins.

The hectic game was one of three played on the Thanksgiving night National Hockey League slate. In others, the Detroit Red Wings defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 and the Montreal Canadiens edged the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1.

Lou Fontinato, the rugged New York defenseman, was one of the principals in the scuffle. He and teammate Red Sullivan are scheduled to appear in court today to face charges arising from a battle with Boston fans in a nationally-televised game last spring.

The uproar started just after Norm Johnson scored the clinching goal with only 25 seconds left in the game. Vic Stasiuk and Toppazzini scored the other Boston goals. Andy Bathgate got the Rangers' only score early in the third period. It was Bathgate's 15th of the season, the league high.

★ ★ ★

Jacques Plante, three-time Vezina Trophy winner, turned in an outstanding game in goal to preserve the Canadiens' victory. Plante had 33 saves, stopping a tough screened shot seconds before the final buzzer. Boom Boom Geoffrion got the deciding tally with one second remaining in the second period.

Boston and St. Louis NBA Victors

By The Associated Press

Al Cervi may not have known when he was well off.

Two months ago, Cervi grabbed at the chance to coach the Philadelphia Warriors. He was on the sidelines all of last season following his resignation as coach of the Syracuse Nationals in November 1956.

Then came the first piece of bad news. Neil Johnston, one of National Basketball Assn.'s leading scorers, was hurt in an exhibition game. He was operated on three weeks ago for removal of loose cartilage from his left knee. Johnston is not expected back until mid-December.

Now the Warriors may have to get along without the services of Tom Gola, the former All-America from LaSalle, who has been doing a bangup job for Philadelphia.

The Celtics streaked past the Warriors with a second period drive that carried them to a 59-46 lead at halftime. Philadelphia never came closer than six points after that. Bill Sharman took game scoring honors with 31 points. Woody Sauldsberry had 25 for the Warriors.

Pettit scored 42 points and Lovellette had eight baskets in eight fourth quarter attempts as the Hawks won their fourth in five games under new coach Ed Macauley.

H. G. Salsinger Dies

'The Umpire' Bids Goodby

DETROIT (AP)—H. G. Salsinger, 73, who retired in January after 48 years as sports editor of the Detroit News, died Thursday at Henry Ford Hospital after a long illness.

Long one of the nation's best known sports writers, Salsinger write a much quoted daily column, "The Umpire" for many years.

He was particularly interested in the Detroit Tigers through the years and his advice was sought by Tiger owners on many occasions.

Salsinger was not only an expert in baseball. He delved into all sports, and became an authority on many of them.

He also had deep interest in art, paintings and etchings, rare books and flowers.

The crowd of over 50,000 at the Lions - Packers game yesterday paid silent tribute to long-time Detroit News sports editor H. G. Salsinger who passed away during the morning.

Among the many bands performing at halftime was the West Bloomfield High group. The hard-earned Detroit victory served as a wedding anniversary present for coach George Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Iowa State announced Thursday it wants Clay Stapleton to stay on as head football coach another five years although he lost every conference game this season.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Rutgers University Thursday withdrew its bid to the Blue Grass Bowl game to be played Dec. 13 in Louisville, Ky. School officials were unwilling to leave the matter open any longer because of winter scheduling and interference with studies.

Halfback Joe Bellino of Winchester, Mass., and fullback Joe Matalavage from Mahaney City, Pa., spearhead the Middies' sophomore delegation primed for an assault on the veteran Cadet quad.

From Coach Eddie Erdelatz down, the word at Navy is that quarterback Joe Tranchini must click on his passes if the Middies are to pull their biggest surprise since their 1950 shocker which snapped a 28-game Cadet unbeaten string.

★ ★ ★

But without Bellino's breakaway threat and speed as a pass receiver and without the rugged Matalavage to share the line-busting chores with Ray Wellborn, Army could strangle the Navy aerial game by concentrating on it.

Army is a one touchdown favorite for this 59th meeting which will unfold before the usual capacity crowd of 102,000 plus a national television audience, beginning at 1:15 p.m. EST over NBC-TV.

The Cadets have perhaps the finest halfback tandem in the nation in Capt. Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson. They have their celebrated "lonesome end" offense with the defensive problems it creates and a quick, hard-hitting line.

In addition to the goal of the first undefeated Army season since 1949, seven Cadet senior starters have added incentive. They are eager to square matters with a Navy club they've never beaten as varsity performers. It was a 7-7 tie in 1956 and Navy won 14-0 last year.

For a team which traditionally counted on methodical infantry assaults on the opposition, Army finds itself in the unusual position of leading the nation in forward pass offense with an average of 175.6 yards per game.

Navy is fifth. The Middies averaged 167.6 aerial yards per contest.

The kicker is that neither of them rank in forward pass defense.

Navy's two losses were the direct result of the passing of Tulane's Richie Petitbon (14-6) and Notre Dame's George Izo (40-20). Army's only blemish was a 14-14 tie with Pitt fashioned on a touchdown pitch and deadlock-making two point pass by Ivan Toncic of the Panthers.

★ ★ ★

But don't forget those sophomores.

Navy also has Ron Erchul from West Allis, Wisc., who has done much to bolster the tackle squad since the pre-season injury cost the Middies the services of Bob Reifsnyder.

Five Schools Dominate All-Big Ten Grid Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten champion Iowa and four other schools—Ohio State, Wisconsin, Purdue and Northwestern — each placed two players on the 1958 All-Western Conference football team selected today by the Associated Press.

In the aftermath of one of the league's most mixed-up campaigns in years, AP sports writers in the Big Ten area could agree wholeheartedly on only two players — quarterback Rany Duncan of Iowa and fullback Bob White of Ohio State.

Yet, both Duncan and White missed unanimous choice by one first-team vote among the 12 balloting writers. Illinois' phenomenal pass-grabbing end, Rich Kreitling, missed a sweep by only two first-team votes.

Iowa also placed a slick sophomore, halfback Willie Fleming, while Ohio State's other AP first team choice was end Jim Houston, rated the finest wingman in Buckeye history. The honor team had only four seniors as five juniors and two sophomores made the grade.

It is quite possible that this year's second All-Big Ten team could play the first team on even terms any day of the week. Michigan State's great end, Sammy Williams, just missed the No. 1 club, as did Purdue's ace flanker, Tom Franckhauser.

Improve Bowl Hopes

By The Associated Press

South Carolina, Tulsa and Cincinnati boosted their bowl hopes in major college football's traditional Thanksgiving Day games while Pitt, Virginia Military, Miami of Ohio and Wichita came off with the short end of the wish bones.

South Carolina locked up a 7-3 season by whipping Wake Forest in a 24-7 breeze fanned by Alex Hawkins' three touchdown passes. The Gamecocks, who mauled their way through and over the Deacons on drives of 68, 97, 42 and 50 yards, have their hopes set on a bid to the Gator Bowl—the only major bowl with both berths open.

Tulsa and Cincinnati, also on the prowl for a bowl call, packed the regular season away with ease. Tulsa junked Wichita's hopes or the Missouri Valley Conference title by beating the Shockers 25-6. Cincinnati beat bowl-hopeful Miami 18-7.

Tulsa, the Missouri Valley runner-up, has a 7-3 record and hopes of a bid to the Blue Grass Bowl. Cincinnati, with a 6-2-2 record, also has been listed among prospects by the Blue Grass group.

Rutgers, which closed its season last week end with an 8-1 record, withdrew from bowl consideration Thursday "in fairness to squad members participating in winter sports." The "adverse effect" of a bowl engagement on studies also was mentioned by the university.

Pitt, one of the prides of the East a few short weeks ago, also turned to winter sports after blowing a 14-0 halftime lead in a 25-21 defeat by Penn State. Pitt, the team that tied Army, finished with a 5-4-1 record. Penn State, suddenly optimistic about bowl chances, wound up with a 6-3-1 record.

Virginia Tech removed VMI from post-season consideration with a 21-16 victory that nailed second place in the Southern Conference. Billy Holsclaw again was the big gun for Tech, completing eight of 14 passes and scoring the clinching TD.

College of Pacific walloped Fresno State 52-6 as halfback Dick Bass became the first triple crown winner (rushing, total offense, scoring) in major college play since Colorado's Whizzer White in 1937. Bass scored 14 points and gained 130 yards in 30 carries, finishing with 116 points, 1,361 yards rushing and a 1,440-yard total offense total.

Cornell defeated Penn 19-7 for a second place tie with Princeton in the Ivy League and its first six-victory season since 1951. Penn (4-5) still hasn't had a winning season since '51.

Brown smacked Colgate 28-6 with Frank Finney once more doing the big job. He ran for two TDs, passed for two and ran for a two-point conversion.

Texas, also self-removed from bowl consideration, rapped Texas A&M 27-0 in the nationally televised game.

Flint Central 51-0 Holiday Winner

FLINT (AP) — Flint Central scored a double victory in walloping Flint Northern, 51-0, yesterday in the annual Thanksgiving game, capturing the city football championship and a share of the Saginaw Valley Conference title. It was Northern's worst defeat in history.

The win for Central gave the team an 8-0-1 season record, and a tie with Bay City in the conference standings. In an earlier encounter this year, the schools played to a 13-13 tie.

Ptacek Will Perform in 2 All-Star Games

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Bob Ptacek, Michigan's quarterback and most valuable player, has accepted invitations to play in two all-star games over Christmas vacation.

Ptacek will play for the East in the annual East-West all-star game Dec. 27 at San Francisco. He'll also play in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu, Hawaii, before returning to his studies.

New Big Ten Records

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1958 Big Ten football season produced two team and three individual conference records.

Final official statistics certify Iowa's 416.7 yards a game and an average of 22 first downs as new marks.

The former total offense record was 415.5 by Wisconsin in 1952 and the previous high in first downs was 19.3 by Wisconsin in 1951.

Fullback Bob White of Ohio State set a record with 178 carries, compared to the 163 by Minnesota's Paul Giel that had stood since 1953.

Iowa's Willie Fleming averaged 8.8 yards in 41 carries, a top average for 40-50 attempts. The old mark was 8.37 in 48 hauls by Jim Strausbaugh of Ohio State in 1939. However, the 8.8 just matched the over-all record set by Illinois' Bob Mitchell in 1955 on 53 carries.

Michigan State's Dean Look set a punt-return mark with an average runback of 32.5 yards. This includes a record-matching 92-yard punt return against Michigan. The old mark was an average of 25.1 by Gene Derricotte of Michigan in 1947.

AL Plans Earliest Start in History

1959 Schedule Begins April 9 at Washington

More Night Games Than Ever on Tap Next Summer

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1959 American League baseball season will have its earliest start in history and have more night games crammed into its schedule than ever before — 264.

★ ★ ★

The schedule, released today by league president Will Harridge, kicks off next year's campaign with Baltimore in the traditional Presidential opener at Washington on April 9, a Thursday. This gives the season a weekend start instead of the usual Monday or Tuesday launching.

The full opener on April 10 is the earliest since 1913, when President Wilson tossed out the first ball to the late Clark Griffith, then Washington manager, and touched off the starting round for all clubs.

Harridge said the early start makes way for more open dates and gives the schedule more flexibility for traveling and weather enforced make-up games.

The opening round will send Cleveland to Kansas City, Chicago to Detroit and Boston to New York. These three-game series will end with single contests Sunday, April 12. After the April 9 opener, Baltimore remains at Washington but skips the next day and concludes the series with a Sunday doubleheader.

The 264 night engagements top the previous high of 1958 by 15. Of the 249 on tap this year, a record 241 actually were played. Weather forced out the others.

Kansas City scheduled 47 and played 46, the most floodlight contests ever played in one season by an American League club. For 1959, Kansas City again has the most planned, 52, followed by Baltimore with 46, Washington 42, Cleveland 35, Boston 24, Chicago 23, Detroit 21 and New York 21

★ ★ ★

The 1959 holiday doubleheader schedule includes:

Wash. State Flooded With Calls, Wires

More Veto Protests

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — A stream of telephone calls and telegrams from angry alumni came in Thursday in the wake of the UCLA-Southern California veto that killed Washington State's hopes for a football bowl game.

WSC made no attempt to hide the bitterness felt here and the school's athletic news office made public seven of the choicest wires, most of them suggesting that the Cougars ignore the Pacific Coast Conference and "go it alone" in search of a post-season date.

Athletic Director Stan Bates said earlier, however, there was no chance of that. WSC agreed in advance to accept any conference ruling. Besides, the lame duck conference is still alive until next July 1, has tie-ups with the National Collegate Athletic Assn., and the NCAA sanctions all bowl games.

★ ★ ★

The two Los Angeles schools blocked the WSC request Wednesday for a waiver of the PCC rule prohibiting member schools from playing in any post-season game except the Rose Bowl.

★ ★ ★

USC and UCLA invoked a clause in the PCC rules that requires the unanimous approval of all nine schools before a telegraphic vote can be taken on petitions such as WSC presented. They held that the vote should only come up at a regular PCC meeting.

WSC asked for the telegraphic vote Monday and said conference members stood 7-2 in favor of the Cougar request. Only a simple majority was required but the USC-UCLA veto killed the petition.

Wilbur Johns, UCLA athletic director, said, "We feel a ruleis a rule" and added that UCLA was encouraged by the Los Angeles City Council in 1954 to play Oklahoma in an "outside" bowl game. UCLA was ineligible for the Rose Bowl that year because of the no-repeat clause.

"I felt we had a rule, and automatically turned down the outside game," he said.

Jess Hill, USC athletic director, said he feels the same way, regardless of which school is involved. He said this includes USC. The UCLA and USC faculty representatives said that the Rose Bowl only rule was passed and should be enforced for protecton of all parties to the bowl contract —the Big Ten, the PCC, the Tournament of Roses and the National Broadcasting Co.

★ ★ ★

NBC televises the Rose Bowl and also the Sugar Bowl, a game the Cougars have been considered for along with the Gator Bowl. Sources here said the Sugar Bowl wants an intersectional game and that WSC could have had the bid.

Orin E. "Babe" Hollingbery, football coach here for 17 years before his retirement in 1942, called the USC and UCLA action "a shame and sour grapes—they are the very schools that broke up the conference."

"If I had anything to say about it, I'd say nuts to them and go play somebody anyway," he added. Hollingbery has been outspoken in criticism of UCLA and USC, blaming them for the feud that kills the PCC next Juy.

★ ★ ★

Among the telegrams the WSC Athletic News Office released Thursday was this one:

Victim of Federal Regulation

Early Death Faces Boat Registry

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new boat registration system is due for an early death, victim of a federal registration system which will replace it.

This means the more than 231,000 boat owners who registered their craft with the state last spring and summer must scrap the numerals they painted or attached to either side of the bow.

It also means the $2 registration fee won't be good for the life of the boat, as the registration law provided when it was enacted last year.

In accordance with new federal regulations, a bill drafted by the governor's water safety commission proposes to set a $2 fee every three years.

There's no great rush to make the switch. States have until April 1, 1960, to put the federal registration system into effect. But the sooner the job is started, the smoother the transition.

Under the federal boating act of 1958, all boats equipped with a motor of any size or type must be registered.

All Michigan registrations will start with the letters M C, followed by three numbers and two other letters assigned in alphabetical sequence. Thus the first boat registered will carry this number "MC 001 AA."

Letters and numbers must be at least four inches high, an inch more than the current state minimum, and must appear on either side of the bow.

Boat owners also will be assigned a "certificate of number," much like an auto registration certificate, which they must be able to produce any time the boat is running.

The state must require reports of all accidents and owners must tell the Michigan secretary of state about any transfer of ownership, change of address or destruction or abandonment of the boat.

In brief, the boat owner is about to take on many of the responsibilities already assigned to the car owner.

The Coast Guard is considering a $5 registration charge and $3 for renewal every three years, all money, of course, going to the federal government.

If there's a villain to be blamed for the inconvenience the new system means for Michigan boatsmen, it's the legislature. Lawmakers ignored the water safety commission's suggestion that it wait until the new federal numbering system was established before setting up one of its own.

The fee system was unrealistic in the first place. The $2 "one and only" charge produced something over $462,000 this year for enforcement of boating laws. A maximum of $2,250 a year can be allocated to any one county on a matching basis for paying up to three special sheriff's deputies to enforce the laws.

With no other fees in sight, the fund eventually would run out and lawmakers would have no choice but to cast around for more.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

My, times have changed, haven't they? Do you remember not too many years ago when high school basketball teams played their home games in a cracker-box gymnasium with maybe a pot-bellied stove stuck off in the corner.

You still might be able to find a gym like that somewhere in the state of Michigan, but you'd have to hunt mighty hard. Believe me, folks, it's rapidly becoming a relic of the past. We say thank goodness for that.

As an example of how the younger generation is blessed with all the latest in prep recreational facilities and enjoyment, consider the case of the new Ferndale High School on Pinecrest.

The Ferndale student body moved into the brand-spanking new surroundings last Monday and after one day set aside for the purpose of getting used to the place, classes got under way on Tuesday.

Now, let's take a look at the gymnasium, or should I say gymnasiums. There's no cracker-box here. Spacious is the most fitting word — lots of room to move and plenty of free air to breathe.

The big gym is a court of college standard dimensions, 94 by 50 feet. This gym in turn can be divided into three separate basketball playing floors, a 90 by 50 court in the middle for the varsity squad and a 50-footer at each end for girls, freshmen, reserves and intramural activity. There are four glass backboards.

Electrically operated folding doors made of aluminum will form partitions when all three courts are in use. During high school games on the huge floor, one side will be open for game officials with seating at both ends and on the opposite side in one long balcony. The seating capacity will total 3,100.

In addition, the new athletic plant houses two full-sized swimming pools for both boys and girls. The pools measure 75 by 42 feet with white tile and underwater lights. Each pool will accommodate 500 spectators.

Ferndale's new ultra-modern school was built to accommodate 2,500 students at a cost of $6½ million. Grades 9 through 12 will attend there and the old Ferndale school now becomes a junior high for 7th and 8th graders only.

The name of Lincoln is being dropped and so will the school's nickname of the Railsplitters. A new nickname has not yet been decided.

Ferndale, along with the equally modern Pontiac Northern, leads some of us older people to think we went to high school about 10 to 20 years too soon. Who said, "give me the good olds days." Whoever it was—he can have 'em.

ODDS AND ENDS

Morley Fraser, head football coach at Albion College, and a couple of his prize gridders were guests at Clarkston High's 7th annual father-and-son football banquet early this week. The prize gridders, by the way, were Clarkston alumni

Lanny Leak, All-MIAA guard at Albion this fall, and center Rich Johnston were the illustrious visitors to their prep alma mater. Leak and Johnston were 1955 graduates and members of Clarkston's 1954 Wayne-Oakland championship team.

Coach Ed Hintz announced at the banquet that Johnny Tisch had been voted Clarkston's "most valuable player" by his teammates and also announced the election of Bob Porritt and John Parks as co-captains of the Wolves for next year.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

Did you know your bowling ball can fit too well! It might sound a bit silly, but I believe a ball can fit a bowler so well it can hurt his game. This generally happens only to big, husky bowlers, however.

A ball that fits a husky bowler too well allows him to generate a great deal of extra speed. This extra speed means his ball will skid further before it begins rolling and hooking. If it skids further, it will have less room to roll and hook. Less rolling and hooking means less pin action.

Many times the bowler isn't even aware of what's causing his ball to lose its effectiveness. He experiments with more wrist turn or finger lift.

He could solve his troubles if he loosened up his thumb and finger holes just a bit as indicated in the drawing. This would make him cut down somewhat on his natural speed, and roll the ball better.

Pete Dawkins Given Coveted Maxwell Trophy

The versabile Dawkins, who also is Corps Commander and an honor student, is the third Army man to receive the honor in the club's 22-year history. Glenn Davis and Felix (Doc) Blanchard were previous winners.

Presentation of the trophy to the 20-year-old Cadet will be made here Jan. 19, according to National Football League president Bert Bell. Maxwell Club president who announced Dawkins' selection yesterday.

But Ferndale Cagers Will Make a Run for It

E. Detroit Favored in EML

East Detroit and Ferndale, basketball co-champions of the Eastern Michigan League last season, are again expected to wage a nip-and-tuck fight for the crown.

The title nod goes slightly in the direction of Fred Lee and his East Detroit cagers because of heavier graduation losses to Roy Burkhardt at Ferndale.

Port Huron, with veteran coach Reed Laughlin once more at the helm, should have plenty to say about the outcome of the race and Birmingham under new head mentor Lew Parry may be troublesome before the campaign is over.

The outlook is only fair at Mt. Clemens where Bob Lockwood will rely strongly on the sharp-shooting of Dave Mial to carry the Bathers. Hazel Park and Royal Oak Kimball appear destined to battle for the basement.

Lee has four letter-winning Shamrocks returning from a squad which won 15 of 18 games in 1957-58. Heading the roster is Don Petroff, 6-foot-3 center who was one of East Detroit's top scorers last season. Other lettermen on hand are Dick Ickes, Carl Richter and Bob Maier, all with varsity experience.

Burkhardt has his problems at Ferndale where the toll of graduation took All-Stater Earl McNeal and big Gordon Rodwan. Marvin Gallup, also a regular last season, increased his problems by transferring to Birmingham.

The Ferndale mentor has the makings of another winner, however. The lone returning starter is veteran Toy Palmer, a 6-foot-3 scoring artist who may move from forward to center. The Dales will have excellent height.

Ferndale's student body moved into its new $6½ million school early this week and the inspiration of a magnificent new gymnasium plus Palmer and several other returning letter winners should make the Dales a title contender.

Four varsity lettermen are coming back at Port Huron and their caliber should put the Big Reds into championship contention. Returnees are Paul Sheehy, Dick Smith, Dick Riddle and Wilbert Swift. Moving up from the JV team is Ron Vernocke, a capable point-maker last year. Riddle is a 6-foot-6 center.

Gallup, Ferndale's blessing to Birmingham, should help the Maples to be a troublesome quintet for all league rivals. Gallup, a 6-1 forward, will be supported by two other lettermen, guard Jeff Boucher and forward Phil Russell.

Injuries to key personnel have dimmed the outlook for Tom Purdy at Hazel Park. Ron White, a regular last season, may not play this season due to a leg fracture suffered on the football field, Chet Grant had a goiter operation and will be sidelined for a month and Bill Polly faces an operation for calcium deposits in his arm.

Here is how the Eastern Michigan League basketball teams are expected to finish this season.

Eaglets Get Early Start

By H. GUY MOATS

First of the Pontiac area's prep cage squads to get into action for the anticipated hectic season ahead is Orchard Lake St. Mary. The Polish Eaglets take on a respectable opponent in Detroit St. Stanislaus on the Orchard Lake floor, Monday night. St. Mary was runnerup last year in the SCL.

TOP SCORER — Slim (5-10) Chet Wlodkowski, OL St. Mary's senior cage captain, takes a sight on the hoops for benefit of the camera. Chet scored 210 points in last winter's SCL campaign, and is the Eaglets top scoring threat for the Orchard Lakers' opener at home, Dec. 1, against Detroit St. Stanislaus. Eaglets were SCL runnersup, last year, have most of their starters back.

Another early starter is Gene Wright's St. Frederick five. The Rams oppose Detroit St. Elizabeth Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on the St. Fred court. Rams were 3rd place finishers last year. First SCL club, however, to go into action is St. Benedict, host Sunday to Lourdes.

The Stans have been the first "testing" opponents for the Eaglets over the last five years. St. Mary has been victor in all five encounters, some of which were sizzling affairs. In the 1957 opener, the clubs were tied, 42-42, a second before time ran out. Just as the gun sounded to end the game, Stan Moniuszkio was graduated last spring.

★ ★ ★

"St. Stanislaus' club always is a big, capable outfit," says Rev. John Rakoczy, Eaglet coach, "It has always given us good, interesting opposition."

Rev. Rakoczy figures the coming Suburban Catholic League race will be "a very interesting affair. It looks like we'll be faster than last year, and more experienced. I think St. Frederick may be the top threat. However, we'll make a run for it, too."

Rochester Picked to Win Tri-County Cage Crown

The Tri-County League conducts its first official basketball title race this season with Rochester in the favorite's role and Lapeer and Romeo offering the stiffest competition.

L'Anse Creuse, which this year has its first senior class in history, hopes to give a good account of itself, but the Mt. Clemens area school seems destined to wind up in the cellar.

The Tri-County just completed its second official football campaign, but did not hold a cage race last season due to previous schedule obigations by L'Anse Creuse.

Coach Gene Konley has seven letter winners at Rochester and the rotund Falcon mentor can look forward to a prosperous season if he can find a spark-plug among them for his key performer.

Center Gene Lothery and forward Chuck Ebersole, both with two numerals, head the list of returning veterans. Others lettermen on hand are forwards Larry Hummel, Bruce Ennis and Howard Hinkle and guards Bill Mason and Gene Hohf.

Konley's No. 1 task will be to replace the graduated Carl (Peanuts) Montros, last year's top scorer and the kingpin of the Falcon attack. Lothery has shown the best shooting eye among the returnees.

Whereas Rochester enjoyed a successful campaign last season with a 14-6 record, neither Lapeer nor Romeo fared very well. Lapeer won seven of 19 games while the Bulldogs won six of 17. Each school could be rugged this time, however.

Lapeer has a new head coach named Gene Hepinstall, who replaces Burt Jackson, and a corps of 10 lettermen. The Panthers lack height, but returning vets like John McKillen, Jerry Bennington and Ed Marshall give them good scoring power.

Coach Bud Brotebeck has a pair of 6-foot-3 letter winners at Romeo in center Dave Watterson and forward Jim Black plus three other lettermen paced by guard Ray Ritter, one of Romeo's leading point-makers last season.

L'Anse coach Carlo Muzi hopefully comments, "we should be able to hold our own," as his cagers enter their 2nd year of varsity competition. Guard Don Stivers, a jump-shot specialist who scored 265 points last season as L'Anse posted a 7-7 record, returns to camp, along with four other regulars.

1. Rochester
2. Lapeer
3. Romeo

Minor League Changes Loom

Sale of Houston May Result in Realignment Project

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Minor league coordinator Bill DeWitt says the chances are better than 50-50 for an extensive realignment of the minors, now that the deal to sell the Houston franchise has cleared the air.

DeWitt, who controls the purse strings of a half-million-dollar fund to aid the minors, was a leading figure in last month's talks at Memphis.

"Since the news of the (Houston) sale broke," DeWitt said, "everyone I have talked to has been optimistic." The realignment will be discussed next week at the major-minor baseball meetings in Washington.

Marty Marion and his business partner, Milton Fischmann made a deal this week to buy the Houston franchise from the St. Louis Cardinals, providing that Houston is elevated to triple-A status in the new lineup. Otherwise, the Cardinals retain the franchise.

In DeWitt's view, the road is now open for the Texas League to give up Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas to the triple-A American Assn., in exchange for demands of its own, including tie-ups with major league clubs.

Abandoned Baby Found by Nuns, Named for Pope

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Baby John had a lot to be thankful for today—a bassinet at Philadelphia General Hospital, a pair of warm snug-fitting pajamas and the love and attention of a whole staff of nurses.

But so far, he had no one to call his very own.

A group of Catholic nuns found the tyke when they returned from mass early Thanksgiving morning. He was wrapped in a sheet and a pair of oversize pajamas, and lying in a cardboard box on the rear doorstep of the convent.

The sisters had the baby baptized in honor of the new Pope, John XXIII. Later he was taken to the hospital where physicians said young John was just about a day old and in good health.

Grace Can't See Earl, Even With Her Glasses

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Grace Kelly and I aren't speaking. To be quite truthful, I'm speaking. Grace isn't.

★ ★ ★

I'd been to Miami, Nashville, Natchez and New Orleans and I was feeling proud. All the commoners had been so kind.

WILSON

Then the Princess iced me when we got caught in a doorway backstage at the 46th St. Theater. What will Swifty Morgan, Cheesecake Ike, Society Kid Hogan and Evelyn West of the Treasure Chest think of me now?

Her Highness and Prince Rainier were coming from Jose Ferrer's dressing room after a preview of "Edwin Booth" — and as there wasn't room to curtsy, I just breathed a quick "Hi."

Even with her glasses on, Her Serene Highness didn't know me. I love her pappy so much I'll give her six more chances. I asked Joe Ferrer and Rosemary Clooney why Grace'd come (with actresses Abbey Lewis and Ann Seymour)—and Producer Roger Stevens replied, "Because it's the best show in town." It was also the only one that night (it was Sunday).

Anna Maria Alberghetti, whom they now call "the Sarah Bernhardt of the night clubs" (because she sometimes bawls out a table of noisy customers), called on Johnnie Ray to sub for her at the Latin Quarter. To prove she had laryngitis, she came on stage with Johnnie and hoarsely whispered, "I can't talk."

Your flying reporter then caught the Country Music Disc Jockeys' convention in Nashville where Hank Williams' widow, pretty blonde Audrey Williams, told me Tony Perkins'll play her husband in the movie, "Your Cheatin' Heart."

'He'd be out with a band all night and they'd drop him off at school. He'd drink all day from miniature whisky bottles stuffed in his clothes," she said. Naturally, he died young (at 29). Wealthy widow Williams confirmed that she and Hank once had three Cadillacs and a Buick for their governess.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Steve Allen says of effort to get him to do 90 minutes: "We're dickering not to. We already work 7 days a week and then we'd work 9" . . . Dick Haymes' bride Fran Jeffreys, whom he met in Phoenix, is headed for stardom. Beautiful, and sings like Lena Horne . . . Ex-showgal Rosemary Ridgewell, "discoverer" of the novel "Lolita," scoffs at the report that Putnam's directors are mad at her for bringing such a book to a staid firm. Her commission's already nearing $40,000.

ROSEMARY

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A man complained: "I don't know where my next dollar's coming from—but my wife knows already where it's going."

Even Children Agree:

Holiday in England Lacks Certain Quality

By HAL R. COOPER

LONDON (AP)—As an American domiciled in England, we feel we should celebrate the British holidays and let it go at that. But our wife is the sentimental type.

With two small children, she claims we should celebrate Thanksgiving.

We argue that the kids couldn't care less, we are personally against it and our English neighbors will think we are nuts. In due course, we found ourselves dickering for a turkey.

According to the poultry man, there has been a severe outbreak of pip on the British turkey ranches. The price was about 98 cents a pound.

According to us, the poultry man whould be told what to do with turkeys at 98 cents a pound, but our wife was firm. She said a 15-pounder was about right. This means we will still be getting the eyes, ears, nose and throat in hash a fortnight later.

So we spent $14.70 for a turkey. The kind of turkey we got, if there were any justice the pip would have got him first.

We buy cranberry sauce, from Sweden, at 84 cents a small can. And mixed nuts in the shell at 63 cents a pound. And a pumpkin big enough to make one pumpkin pie which we despise for $1.12.

Comes the day.

The kids have never heard of Thanksgiving. Our efforts to explain about the Pilgrims fall on deaf ears. They don't like turkey. They don't like pumpkin pie either.

★ ★ ★

"Why do we do this?" we ask. "What does Thanksgiving mean to Jeffrey at 2½ or Nick at 15 months?"

"Nick loved the cranberry sauce," says our wife.

"He loved the cranberry sauce? All he did with the cranberry sauce was run his dear little hands through it and strew it around the floor. This joint looks like the garage where they had the St. Valentine's Day massacre."

★ ★ ★

"Well, maybe he wasn't mad about the taste, but you could tell he loved the texture."

"Okay, he loved the texture. We spent $20 or $25 so the kid can love the texture of cranberry sauce?"

★ ★ ★

Kiss Punctures Hubby

Knutsons Together but for How Long?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The family of Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) got together for Thanksgiving dinner, but neither she nor her husband Andy would say whether they had settled their differences.

The dinner, at which they were joined by their adopted son Terry, 18, came a day after Knutson had withdrawn a $200,000 suit charging slander and alienation of his wife's affections.

Asked the meaning of the get-together, Knutson told newsmen that since it was a family dinner, there would be no comment, Mrs. Knutson agreed.

Knutson publicly urged his wife last summer to quit politics and return to their Minnesota home. She refused and won renomination to a third term in the House, but was beaten in the November election.

The following day, Knutson filed suit against William Kjeldahl, Mrs. Knutson's executive secretary. Kjeldahl denied the charges on which it was based, and Knutson, in withdrawing the action, said, "It was not my idea in the first place." He said it was prompted by others who wanted his wife defeated.

Mrs. Knutson said she had no idea now whether she will seek another congressional term in 1960.

Patrice Wymore Restarts Career

Wife of Errol Flynn Surprised He Claims Marriage Slipping

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

On Monday, she starts her first film in several years, "The Sad Horse," for 20th Century-Fox release. And next Thursday, she opens her new night club act at the Coconut Grove.

She has asked Flynn to fly from New York for her night club opening and expects him to be here. Whether or not he'll make it is an entirely different matter. He is notably unpredictable and has told reporters that their marriage is "coming apart at the seams."

It's news to her.

"I don't know a thing about it," says the third Mrs. Flynn. "As far as I know, nothing has changed. I have no idea what is going to happen."

"I've been out of the business for 6½ years," said Pat. "I had to come back and start all over again. It's a lot easier now that Arnella is in school. I'm willing to work hard."

She'll be working hard these next two weeks. Because of the uncertainty of the sun these days, she'll have to rise at 5 for the film locations. Then she'll be doing her strenuous song and dance act at the Grove nightly.

"I had been dancing since I was 8," she said. "It was good for me to divorce myself completely from my career.

"We had a glorious time, living on our yacht and traveling to all parts of the world. You'd think we'd get bored, but we never did. There were always so many things to do that you craved time to be able to do just nothing."

The yacht is still based at Majorca, off the coast of Spain — "The only place we could afford to keep it; the food ration for a Spanish sailor is $1 a day, and he eats like a king." There is a big new night club at Majorca and Pat plans to play her act there next spring and visit all her friends.

Spiegel Wants to Team Vivien Leigh, Liz Taylor

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—That busy brain of Sam Spiegel's (Academy Award winner for "Bridge On The River Kwai" last year, and "On The Waterfront" a few years ago) is capable of changing Tennessee Williams' downbeat, unhappy story of "Suddenly Last Summer" into something less sordid.

Sam is still working on it, and while working he has come up with one of his great ideas. He'd like to co-star Vivien Leigh with Elizabeth Taylor. That would cost a pretty penny!, Sam hasn't yet approached Miss Leigh, but he wants her to play the older woman. Remember Vivien won an Academy Award for Tennesee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire." Probably by the time this is in print he will have asked her to play this important role.

Although all of us who know Lily Pons well knew that she and her conductor-composer husband, Andre Kostelanetz, had not been seeing eye to eye for many a day, we were surprised at the suddenness of her divorce in Mexico.

Now we are wondering what happened to the three-quarter of a million dollar art collection Lily and Andre have in their 10 Gracie Square house in New York. She has two of the best Renoirs and two of the best Degas in existence, and numerous other valuable paintings. She also has her home in Palm Springs, which I believe is her own since Andre was never there.

There have been rumors for several years that Lily has matrimonial plans. She not only sings like a bird but she's a very beautiful woman.

I spent hours tracking down Raquel Torres Ames and Jon Hall after one of their friends telephoned me to say they were getting married. Raquel, who is an old friend of mine, said she saw Jon often and that he was a close friend of her husband, the late Stephen Ames, but marriage had never entered their minds.

Jon said he was very attracted to Raquel, and was always glad to be in her company. "But I am not getting married," he said. He and Linda Danson have definitely pfttt.

Mounties Stop Douks on Trek to New Denver

KRESTOVA, B.C. (AP) — Four hundred demonstrating Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were dispersed by tear gas bombs Thursday night as they started what was to be a 53-mile march to New Denver.

The Doukhobors, many of them elderly and all wearing their best clothes, were stopped by 15 Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers and told to disperse.

They held their ground as the mounties fired one tear gas shell to the edge of their group. Finally, after three more shells were fired, they dispersed and filed slowly back to their homes here.

"They can walk to New Denver any time they feel like it," one RCMP officer said, "But not in a group that covers the highway."

The defiant Sons of Freedom have long been a headache to the British Columbia and Canadian governments. They have been blamed generally for many acts of violence to show their scorn of the law, including the bombing of bridges, railroad tracks and public buildings.

'Other Measures' Demanded by Reds

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet bloc offered today to negotiate an elaborate international inspection system to prevent surprise attack provided the West agreed to other disarmament measures.

It seemed likely the Western delegations would refuse to discuss the Communist disarmament proposals, whatever they were. The Western delegations have refused to discuss disarmament at this conference, contending it is another political question for which the technical conference was not called.

Crash Cuts Rock Hudson

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A traffic collision gave actor Rock Hudson minor cuts on the face Thursday. He was riding in a taxicab that was turning into the driveway of his home. The cab and an automobile collided. Cab driver John Henry Brown, 53, and the other driver were unhurt. Hudson declined medical attention.

Todd's Brother Dies

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The late showman Mike Todd's elder brother John Goldin, 69, is dead after an apparent heart attack at his home here. He succumbed Wednesday in a hospital. European-born Goldin had lived here about 20 years and was in the investment business.

'Price Tag' Depends on Supply and Demand

Money Can Be Bought and Sold

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Money — like fish, cotton or stocks — is bought and sold. It has a price tag or interest rate subject to the law of supply and demand. When demand exceeds the supply the interest rates rises. When demand falls, the interest rate falls.

But unlike the stock, cotton or fish markets, there's no organized money market to house the buyers and sellers.

Broadly speaking if you try to get a loan, you're dealing in the money market. But the big buyers and sellers of money are banks, corporation and the Federal government.

The price you pay for your loan generally hinges on the price these big fellows pay or charge for funds. The money market they deal in is an over-the-telephone market. A borrower there can get $10 million faster than you can buy $10 worth of groceries.

These days, the money market usually is referred to as the market for short-term funds — needed for less than a year — against the capital market for funds needed longer than a year.

Holding the rein over the money market is the super bank or Federal Reserve System, which has a lot to say about how much money there is in the first place.

Through its powers to increase or decrease the supply of money the Federal Reserve can influence the amount people and business can borrow and what it costs them.

It uses its powers to offset excessive borrowing during booms and too little borrowing during recessions. In so doing it tries to keep the dollar worth a dollar.

Ordinary funds for the money market come largely from banks and corporations. Some of these always have loose money hanging around a short time that they'd like to put to money-earning use.

At the same time other banks and corporations may be short and need these funds.

Other money for the money market comes from investing institutions like insurance companies, state and local governments and even foreign governments.

Probably the most important user of money market money is the Federal government. In 1929 the Treasury started the practice of selling interest-bearing securities that mature in 91 days.

Funds from the sale of these Treasury Bills are used to take care of the day-to-day housekeeping chores of the Federal government between quarterly tax periods.

The rate on these bills is one of the best indications of the "tone" of the money market. For example, during the recession when the cost of money fell sharply these bills yielded well below one per cent interest. Now they yield well above two per cent.

Corporations also borrow short-term funds by issuing notes called commercial paper, sold to banks and other corporations with extra funds.

Shippers of goods, usually staple commodities like cotton, borrow funds through the use of bills called bankers' acceptances which represent the obligation not only of the shipper but shipper's bank.

Large city banks deal in the money market when they make loans to each other. These are called dealings in "Federal funds" because payments are made through the transfer of reserve balances on the books of the Federal Reserve bank from the account of the lending bank to that of the borrowing bank.

Corn, Soybeans Attract Buying

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn and soybeans attracted moderate buying today in early transactions on the board of trade, but other grains were narrowly mixed.

All corn and soybean futures moved ahead in very slow dealings. Some contracts were up major fractions of a cent a bushel within the first several minutes on limited offerings.

Traders said one bullish influence in soybeans was the decision by the Department of Agriculture to include government stocks in the export barter program effective Dec. 1. The feeling was that it may prevent rather heavy government selling on domestic markets later. They said that practice was a bearish influence at times this year.

Near the end of the first hour, the market was mostly firm. Wheat was 1/8 to 1/2 cent a bushel higher, December $1.94⅜; corn ½ to 1 cent higher, December old type contract $1.13⅜; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 64¼; rye ¼ to ⅜ higher, December $1.31; soybeans ⅝ to ⅝ higher, January $2.15¼.

S-P Workers Back on Jobs

OK Return Without Waiting for Ratification of New Contract

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)— Studebaker-Packard's 9,000 employes went back to work today and the company scheduled an overtime shift for Saturday to try to make up production time lost in a brief strike.

★ ★ ★

Members of the United Auto Workers Union agreed on Thanksgiving Day to return to work without waiting for ratification of a new contract. The ratification meeting was set for Sunday.

Terms of the agreement were withheld pending ratification, but both union and management indicated they yielded something from their previous demands.

The strike, which started Monday, was the first authorized walkout in the history of the firm.

The agreement came 18 hours after Chester Ralston, a federal labor conciliator and a former Studebaker worker, brought negotiators together in a hotel here.

The union had demanded an hourly pay increase of six to eight cents, retroactive to Sept. 1, to match other new contracts in the automobile industry.

It had rejected a company offer pegged to sales, under which workers would have received a two-cent hourly increase for each calendar quarter-year in which the firm sold 30,000 units or more. The old wage scales were not disclosed.

Boy Heads for N.Y., Ends Up in Vermont

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (UPI) — William Passineau, 11, set out recently for the Plattsburgh Air Force base right in his own hometown. He thumbed a ride and aked the driver to take him to the "Air Force base."

"Sure," said the motorist, but when William got out of the car, he found himself at the gates to the Ethan Allen Air Force base in Winooski, Vt.

47 Smiths Eat Turkey

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP) — The American Legion hall in this Los Angeles suburb was occupied by Smiths Thursday — 47 of them. There were Fred Smith, 75, and his wife, who celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary next month; 5 sons, partners in a tire firm; 2 daughters; 26 grandchildren; 3 great-grandchildren and assorted wives, husbands and in-laws. They made short work of several huge turkeys.

Army Drug May Aid in Treating Epilepsy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Chemical Corps scientists have developed a drug primarily designed to control convulsions resulting from nerve gas poisoning but which may also prove helpful in decreasing epileptic seizures.

Another chemical compound, called DFP, which is similar to the nerve gas drug, has been found to relieve pressure on the eyeballs caused by glaucoma.

DFP is also effective in overcoming a partial paralysis of the bladder and intestines that can afflict patients after an operation or during a lengthy illness.

Had Wrong Reference for Police Force Job

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Donald D. Bolland, 22, applied for a job with the Tucson police force and listed his friend, Pat Daily, as a character reference.

Map Used 1,000 Years

LONDON — Nearly 2,000 years ago Ptolemy, the astronomer, made the first map of Britain, drawing on information given him by the Roman legions. The map he visualized and drew was in use for a thousand years, and even today the coast ine and estuaries as shown on his map do not differ essentially from those drawn by modern cartographers.

Has Lofty Turkey Meal

Has 3rd 'Holiday' Baby

HARLAN, Iowa (UPI) —Mrs. Kenneth Blum gave birth to her third child on Thanksgiving Day. Her first was born on New Year's Day and her second on Christmas.

Stocks Rebound in Brisk Trade

Pivotal stocks advanced fractions to well over a point. Some selected issues were ahead 2 points or so. There were scattered losers.

In a heavy wave of opening transactions the ticker tape was as much as 2 minutes behind floor trading for a period of 13 minutes.

Good gains were made among rubbers, electronics, chemicals and utilities as well as some steels and rails.

Up around 2 points were General Tire, Raytheon, Du Pont and Eversharp.

American Telephone advanced more than a point. Gains of about a point were made by Jones & Laughlin, General Dynamics, Southern Pacific, Phelps Dodge and Pfizer.

American Motors, which has risen even during recent sharp declines of the market, was clipped for a loss of around a point. General Motors, Allied Chemical and Texas Co. were easy. International Paper was down about a point.

The general business news was quite good, but the touchy Berlin situation continued to afford some grounds for uncertainty.

Moderate gains were made by U.S. Steel, Studebaker-Packard, Goodrich, United Aircraft, Philco, Commonwealth Edison, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, New York Central, Royal Dutch, Lorillard and Merck.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Northern California fog led to a 30-car pileup near San Francisco Thursday, injuring 32 persons in the most spectacular of the traffic accidents which marred the Thanksgiving holiday scene.

New Automatic Equipment Gives Impetus to Industry

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

Despite the much advertised slowdown in business spending for new production capacity, industry today boasts many new processes perfected in the last year and new shortcuts in methods of doing old jobs.

The recession itself has given impetus to much of the gains and sparked much of the new automatic equipment placed on the market.

The first noticeable result has been that we are able today to produce more things with fewer men. This, on the one hand, keeps the problem of unemployment to the fore. But, on the other, it has helped hold back the tide of inflation.

The new wonders run all the way from a vending machine that can make change for a dollar bill to a block of cattle salt in which is automatically imbedded a precisely measured ration of nutrients, hormones and other essentials for the well-being of old bossy.

The currency changing machine is made by National Rejectors, Inc., of St. Louis, and boasts of being able to detect and reject a counterfeit bill as well as make change for a good one.

The automatic batching device is a product of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. It mixes and weighs chemicals or other ingredients to formula and can be controlled, if desired, from an office a mile away.

Rockwell Manufacturing Co. makes a machine used in retail outlets of A. C. Horn Co., a subsidiary of Sun Chemical Corp., which lets a customer order up any desired color or tint from among 1,152 possible choices, mixing it by spinning a dial.

Pullman-Standard has a heavy duty, highly automated seam welding machine. Sometimes weighing as much as 1,000 tons, these giants (developed shortly before the recession) can cradle a 30-ton freight car, turn it around in their huge arms and seam weld everything that formerly used to be riveted.

Republic Steel has highly automated equipment for enameling sheet metal. It uses an electrostatic method which draws the finishing material to the metal. It claims a more uniform, more durable, more economical and less messy process than the old one.

The Square D Co., manufacturer of electrical control and distribution equipment, has installed elaborate devices in its own plants. Highly automated air-conditioning equipment, for example, keeps a constant level of heat and humidity surrounding benches where circuit breakers are calibrated.

Carrier Corp. has a 163-ton horizontal boring machine designed to sculpture simultaneously the two halves of a giant compressor shell. The process takes 80 hours and must be held to thousandth-of-an-inch tolerances.

Lehigh Structural Steel Co. has a giant drilling unit that can spin 18 holes at a time into steel plates up to 3½ inches thick, tripling the drilling rate of its predecessor, and remotely controlled by push buttons from a central switchboard.

Toys Amuse Tots at License Bureau

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A chest full of toys has solved the problem of what to do with children while their parents take 30 to 45-minute drivers license examinations at the Kent County Sheriff's Office.

Mrs. Walter Sack, license examiner, bought a large supply of children's books, stuffed animals, pull toys and other items and a large chest in which to store them.

With Sheriff Arnold O. Pigorsh's permission, Mrs. Sack purchased the toys and turned the expansive lobby of the new county jail into a playroom.

"The response was wonderful," she said. "The kids find the toy box right away and sometimes become so interested they don't want to leave when their parents are finished."

Bullseye Rings Buzzer for Sightless Archer

DICKINSON, N. D. (UPI) — Among the freshmen at Dickinson State Teachers College is an archer who learned to shoot an arrow with the aid of a buzzer set in the bulleye of his target.

He is George Isyler, who became totally blind after a dynamite cap exploded and destroyed his eyesight when he was five years old.

More Couples Working

WASHINGTON — Since the end of World War II the number of working couples in the United States has reached a record 10,800,000, or 28 per cent of the estimated 39,000,000 married couples in the country. The proportion was only 20 per cent at the end of World War II.

Borrowing Against State Aid

School District Loans Face Exhausted Credit

LANSING (AP)—A barrier of exhausted credit looms on the horizon for many school districts borrowing heavily against anticipated state aid to make ends meet.

State officials in two agencies have reported that banks, the source of such loans, have begun to adopt a questioning attitude about advancing more money to districts that already have borrowed a lot.

As far as could be learned, none has actually refused to write a school loan.

E. Boomie Mikrut, director of the State Municipal Finance Commission, said some bankers have flatly said they won't lend more than 75 per cent of a district's expected aid for 1958-59.

★ ★ ★

Harold R. Brown, finance chief of the Department of Public Instruction, said some schoolmen have advised him to the same effect.

In the background is a steadily growing state delinquency in aid disbursements, now standing at 18 million dollars and expected to go to 36 millions or beyond in mid-January.

State aid was distributed at 75 per cent of formula amounts in both the Aug. 15 and Oct. 15 installments, with similar cutbacks in prospect for Dec. 15 and Jan. 15 installments of 34 million dollars each.

Brown said scattered districts already have borrowed from 50 to 60 per cent of their anticipated shares in the big fund, and undoubtedly will seek further loans.

Mikrut, whose agency approves borrowing applications, said the commission staff informally has turned back attempts by as many as a dozen school districts to borrow up to their entire 1958-59 state aid allowance.

Probe Cause of Thanksgiving Tragedy

5 Handicapped Children Die in Blaze

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A full report was promised today by state arson investigators on the blaze which destroyed a convalescent home for retarded and crippled children.

Chester Stringer, head of the State Crime Bureau arson department, said the blaze may have been started by a youngster's clothing catching fire. An investigator, Kyle Morehead, said he believed one of the children was playing with matches and his clothing caught fire but Stringer said that is still being checked.

The fire was discovered about 7:30 a.m. by Mrs. Mary Flake, 54, who operates the home with her sister Mrs. Margaret Prince, 60.

RUSHED TO HELP

★ ★ ★

Three city children's homes took in the survivors temporarily. A social worker said the destroyed home was the only one of its kind in the city area. Most of the children are invalids requiring full-time care.

★ ★ ★

All of the dead were from Oklahoma except Mike Engler, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Engler, of Houston, Tex., and Mary K. Pratt, 2, daughter of June Pratt, Amarillo, Tex.

Units of Measure Based on Hands, Feet and Fingers

WASHINGTON — Many measures still used by English-speaking nations grew out of Egyptian, Roman, and Greek gauges based on the human hand, finger, or foot.

The Egyptian cubit was the distance between the elbow and middle finger tip. The Roman mile, brought to Britain, was 1,000 paces — a pace being five Roman feet. King Henry I, in medieval England, made the legal "cloth yard" the span between his royal nose and royal thumb. A 16th century rod, says legend, was determined by measuring the left feet of a group of men as they left church one Sunday morning.

Now Englishmen and Americans mean different things when they speak of tons, and gallons. A British ton is 2,240 pounds. The common American ton is the short ton of 2,000 pounds. The British gallon and bushel are larger than American counterparts. Yet the British fluid ounce is smaller because there are more such ounces in the British quart than in the American quart.

Moulin Rouge Offers 'American' Cafeteria

PARIS — The Moulin Rouge, home of the can-can in Montmartre, has installed an American-style cafeteria. The French, by the way, use the British expression, "self-service," to describe a cafeteria. There are 28 self-service restaurants now operating in Paris.

★ ★ ★

The Moulin Rouge Self-Service is a big, well lighted room with Toulouse-Lautrec-type murals. Appetizing dishes, mostly French, are displayed on a long counter behind plate glass.

★ ★ ★

Nixon Poses for Shutterbugs at Oxford

OXFORD, England (AP)—Richard M. Nixon came to see Oxford today and made sure all the undergraduate camera fans got a good chance to snap him.

The vice president of the United States drove out from London on the last day of his four-day visit to Britain. His first stop was Magdalen College, part of ancient Oxford University.

School authorities and students immediately surrounded Nixon. There was friendly jostling as the students took pictures and Nixon tried to accommodate everyone with poses.

The vice president, accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. John Hay Whitney, was greeted on a damp green lawn by Tom Boase, vice chancellor of the university, and A. J. P. Taylor, vice president of Magdalen.

From Magdalen the vice president went to other colleges and then to Rhodes House to answer questions from a group of the Oxford Assn. of American Students, whose president is Robert Rot-

Find Old Soviet Bomb

BERLIN (UPI) — As if West Berliners weren't jumpy enough a 220-pound Soviet bomb was uncovered last night at a construction site on the glittering Kurfuerstendamm. It was an old one left over from World War II. Berlin chief explosives expert Gerhard Raebiger was called to remove the fuse.

The selection of Johnson, who has been vice president and general manager of the company since 1954, was made during the annual meeting of the board of directors at the company's offices in Pontiac.

Report Ice Forming on St. Mary's River

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)— Near-zero weather brought reports of ice forming on the lower St. Mary's River near here today.

The Coast Guard dispatched the cutter Mesquite to Lake Superior to begin the task of removing navigation buoys in icing areas. It also will take keepers off some northern lighthouses.

High winds and rough water grounded the freighter Thomas Wilson of Cleveland on a Detroit River shoal Wednesday night, but the ship was pulled free later undamaged.

Gale winds were reported to have reached 67 miles an hour on Lake Superior Wednesday, forcing 40 lake freighters to seek shelter. The winds subsided Thanksgiving Day, but the mercury plunged to around the zero mark.

Survives Long Ordeal on Frosty Lake Superior

TWO HARBORS, Minn. (AP)—"No fisherman should have gone out on a terrible day like that," said Helmar Aakvik on his hospital bed.

Coastguardsmen found the Norwegian-born sailor in his tiny skiff five miles offshore Thursday after he had withstood the fury and cold of a Lake Superior storm for nearly 24 hours.

But they found no trace of the man for whom Aakvik braved 25-foot-high seas and gales that loosed a freezing spray on his little boat, creating ice chunks he had to chop away.

Hammer went out at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday to gather his catch of herring. A friend told Aakvik later Hammer could not be seen.

"I know what happened, that he was blown out into the lake," said Hammer. I had to go look for him."

Aakvik was five miles out when his motor failed. A heavy sea hit and filled the boat a quarter full with water. Aakvik bailed and emptied the 16-foot craft.

"The wind blew like a demon," said Aakvik. "Ice chunks formed all over the boat and I had to keep chopping with my ax. I got sleepy after a while. It was a great temptation to go to sleep. Just one little nap, I kept telling myself.

"Then I forgot about those thoughts because I knew I was finished if I went to sleep."

Aakvik got the motor going at night, came to within five miles of shore, drifted back and came in again Thursday morning. He was within five miles of land when he ran out of gas. The Coast Guard found him there.

"I have been in some pretty tough spots in storms on the ocean and here," Aakvik said. "I was grateful but I think I could have made it."

Resume Count of Alaska Vote

Expect New Ballots Will Add More Weight to Dem Landslide

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The counting of votes from Tuesday's Alaska general election resumed today after a Thanksgiving recess. The new ballots were expected to add more weight to the Democratic landslide.

The new state's two Senate seats, one House seat and the Alaska governorship went to Democrats and Democrats took absolute control of the 60-member, bicameral Legislature.

The other Senate seat went to Ernest Gruening, a former territorial governor who beat back another former governor of Alaska, Mike Stepovich, by a vote of 19,017 to 17,084 with 213 precincts counted.

William Egan, a Valdez merchant, won the governorship over the GOP's John Butrovich Jr., 21,565 votes to 12,553.

Bartlett was elected to Senate term A and Gruening to Senate term B. The lengths of the two terms will be set by the Senate when it convenes in January.

Fears Pressure on Foreign Aid

Congressman Warns of a Concentrated Push for 'Fantastic Amounts'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La) told new members of Congress today to look out for heavy pressure from supporters of what he called "fantastic amounts" for foreign aid.

Backers of the overseas assistance program were talking, meanwhile, in terms of a billion-dollar increase in aid funds. They contended a vigorous foreign aid funds. They contended a vigorous foreign aid program is particularly important at this time to offset the expanding Soviet program of help to underdeveloped nations.

Passman is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign aid, and has opposed much of the assistance program. In recent years his subcommittee has made sharp cuts in President Eisenhower's money requests, but Congress has refused to go along with the full cuts.

He sent letters to all new members of the 86th Congress, saying they probably will find that "the propaganda for fantastic amounts for foreign aid may equal all the pressures you will be subjected to on all other issues combined."

The tentative plans call for between $4,200,000,000 and $4,300,000,000 of new foreign aid funds for the year starting next July 1. Congress this year appropriated $3,300,000,000 after cutting 600 millions from the amount Eisenhower requested.

Passman told the new congressmen that when the foreign aid program was begun in 1948 it was to have been completed in five years at a cost not to exceed 15 billion dollars. But now, he said, the program is 11 years old "and becoming more uncontrollable each year." He estimated the cost to date at 82 billion dollars.

New Hampshire Has Its Own Unknown Soldier

SOUTH STODDARD, N. H. — (UPI) — New Hampshire has an "Unknwn Soldier" all its own.

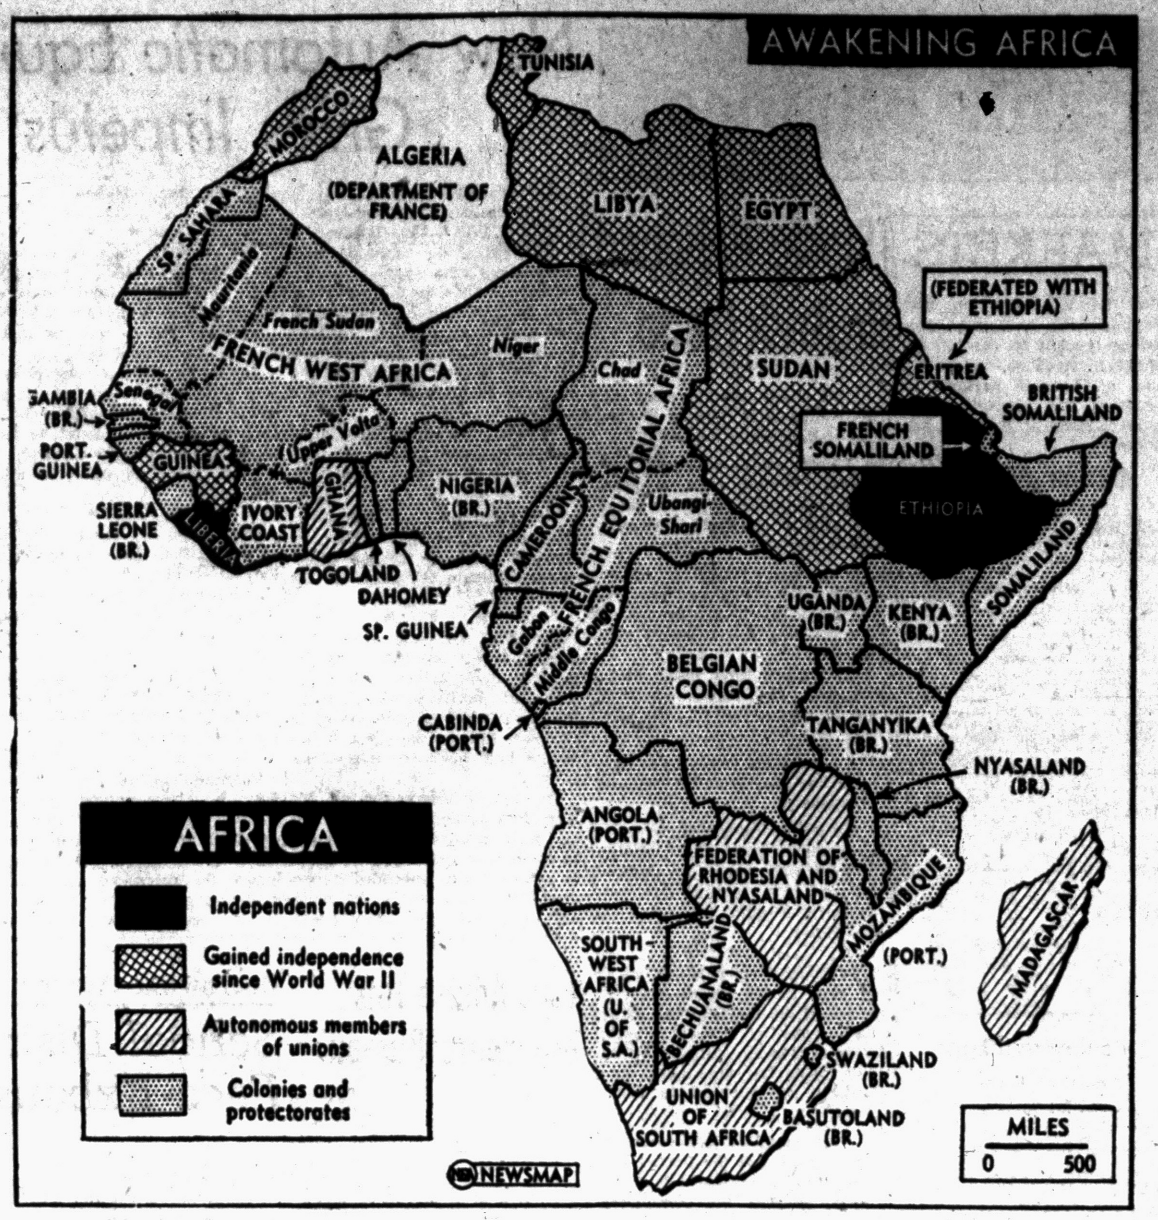
The young Union soldier of the Civil War rests in the Stevens family lot in the South Stoddard village graveyard where he was buried more than 90 years ago.

There is no official recognition of his grave other than the regulation Army marker of the Civil War period—an upright slab with "U.S. Soldier" inscribed in a medallion.

In 1864, a young man from this village, Henry H. Stevens, enlisted in the Union Army. Three weeks later he died of illness at Ft. Schuyler Military Hospital in New York.

The body was returned here, but just before burial a second coffin bearing Stevens' name arrived at the local railroad station. Both coffins were opened. The second contained the body of Stevens. The occupant of the first coffin never wes identified. This body also was buried in the family lot.

The only West Virginian who served as Postmaster General of the United States was William L. Wilson, who originated the system of rural free delivery.



THE COMING CONTINENT — The dramatic military coup which seized control of the Sudan forcefully illustrates the changing political face of Africa. The young nation (third birthday next Jan. 1) was formerly ruled jointly by Britain and Egypt. The Sudanese junta apparently believes the country's bitter differences with Egypt over the distribution of the Nile River's life-giving waters can best be solved by closer relations with President Nasser. Elsewhere, however, the Dark Continent seethes with an awakening nationalism among its diverse peoples. Many African nations have achieved self-government, mostly since World War II. Some are single nations — Morocco, Ethiopia. Others — Union of South Africa, Ghana, etc. — are independent countries in the British Commonwealth. Some states remain colonies or U. N. mandates. Others are semi-independent territories, such as those in French West and Equatorial Africa. These latter have voted approval of the new French Fifth Republic and are moving toward the status of either completely independent Guinea, or Madagascar, which has declared itself a free member of the French Union. Britain has announced that Nigeria will become independent within the Commonwealth in 1960.

Faint Aircraft Noises Heard by Pheasants

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — The pheasant has saved countless lives with its natural "advance warning" system, according to pheasant fanciers here.

During World War I, the pheasants were said to give advance notice of Zeppelin attacks on England. It seems the birds are especially sensitive to vibrations and could hear the aircraft approaching long before anyone else. The cocks would then crow in alarm.

Cases Increase in City and County

Chicken Pox, Measles Continue to Rise

Ten more cases of chicken pox in the city and in the county were reported last week compared to one the previous week. The number of measles cases increased by 20 in the county and seven in the city, over the week before, Monroe said.

Two more cases of polio, one in Pontiac, the other in Holly, also were reported. The total to date increased to 61 compared with 27 during the same time last year.

★ ★ ★

Life May Depend on Them

Germs Best Garbagemen

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Germs, the world's best garbagemen, use flecks of dust for their trucks and without them there would be no beer, or bread.

"We couldn't live without germs, or microbes as we call them." He said. "Imagine the earth if dead animals didn't rot or decompose or if dead plants didn't rot. Why, we'd be living in a world of garbage. It's germs that cause decomposition.

"Louis Pasteur found through study of the effect of exposure to air on spoilage that microbes are responsible for the development of yeast. And without yeast, of course, where would we get beer, and bread. Germs are important to man."

"Look at dust particles in a beam of sunlight as it shines through a window," he said. "The dust itself is inorganic—has never lived. But riding on the dust are thousands of microbes.

"We have a partnership with germs in our intestines. These bacteria help in digestion, and manufacture vitamins for us.

"It would be foolish not to say that germs can also be bad for you because whole groups of diseases are caused by them. But, on the other hand, germs are also good for you and the whole future of our race may depend upon them."

Navy Station Building Town for Children

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI) — The Naval Auxiliary Air Station here is building a miniature town for children, believed to be the first of its kind in the country, and hopes to have it ready for a Christmas opening.

Called "Tiny Town," the model of a small American city is being constructed on a 100 by 50-foot lot on the base. It is being financed by stock sold at $1 a share to civilians and military personnel throughout the area.

The town is for the children of Navy personnel in the Imperial Valley. It is designed "to teach them to get along with each other, to respect authority and to practice good citizenship."

It will be equipped with a post office, garage, barber shop, bank, police station, fire house, theater, church, school, drug store, a candy bar and a cafe.

Aussie Camels to U.S.

ADELAIDE, Australia—Twenty-six camels from a cattle ranch near the border of South Australia and New South Wales were shipped recently to zoos in the United States. The Australian camels were chosen for the zoos because Australia is free of foot-and-mouth disease.

Tuesday in Port Huron

Area Township Officials to Speak at Conference

Three Oakland County township officials will be members of discussion panels when the annual Township Officers Conference convenes in Port Huron Tuesday.

Oakland officials taking part will be Springfield Township Supervisor John L. Carey, Mrs. Fannie Adams, Southfield Township clerk; and Homer Case, Bloomfield Township treasurer.

The conference for District 7 will be held under the sponsorship of the Michigan Institute of Local Government and the Michigan State Association of Supervisors. The meeting will be held in the YMCA building in Port Huron.

The morning session will be devoted to a discussion of 1958 legislation affecting townships and counties, which is of keen interest to Oakland County as its supervisors draft a similar program for the coming year.

Leading this discussion will be James R. Middaugh, president of the association, and William E. Dennison, secretary-treasurer.

Carey will take part in a panel to discuss the problems of the county board of supervisors, while Mrs. Adams and Case sit on panels which will talk over problems relating to their duties as township clerk and treasurer.

Carey is chairman of the Oakland Special County Government Study Committee, which recently voted to propose to supervisors the principal of home rule government.

But Family Enjoys Thanksgiving

Bird Nearly Throws Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—It was a grand Thanksgiving Day for the Eisenhowers — even though the President had a bit of trouble carving a 35-pound turkey.

Dinner was served on the sun porch of the President's vacation residence at the Augusta National Golf Club. It was a gay table with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums and yellow gladiolas.

The golden brown turkey was stuffed with a dressing of oysters and corn bread.

There also were heaping dishes of mashed potatoes and gravy, green peas, squash and cranberry sauce. For dessert—to the children's delight — there was ice cream.

Only one reporter, representing all the others, was permitted to be on hand as the family started dinner. He gave this account:

The President, in a cheery mood and a bright green jacket the Augusta National members wear, pitched into the carving job with zest and a show of expertness — at first.

But he quickly ran into difficulty in trying to slice the meat from a big drumstick. Finally son John came to his help and held the joint while the President pared off the meat.

When he got around to serving he asked the children whether they wanted light or dark meat. They all said light.

"Well, you just don't know what's good—or maybe I don't," he said.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR beloved wife, mother & grandmother Mrs. Elizabeth T. Beane, who passed away 7 yrs. ago today, Nov. 28th, 1951.
Not dead to us who loved her,
Not lost, but gone before.
She lives with us in memory,
And shall forever more.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR father & grandfather Samuel W. McLain who passed away November 28th, 1956.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.

Comedy, Music Highlight Show

Guest Stars to Include Alicia Markova, Ballet Star of World Fame

NEW YORK — Victor Borge, the famed pianist-comedian will star in an all new production of his hilarious "Comedy and Music" program being sponsored by the Pontiac Motor Division on CBS television network from 9 to 10 p.m. tomorrow.

The hour-long program, which Borge calls the fourth half of his Broadway comedy hit, marks the second show in the season's "Pontiac Star Parade" of specials.

Originating live in New York, it will present the irrepressible comedian in a new series of capers with his piano, with guest performers, and with the audience.

Borge, who has been on tour throughout the United States and Europe since his last one-hour show on TV, running true to form, promises another collection of "surprises" tomorrow night. He did, however, agree to answer a few questions about the show.

How will this Thanksgiving Week special differ from those he has done in previous seasons?

"It will be seen in November 1958. No other show of mine can make that statement," says the comedian-pianist.

How much of it will be new?

"Every bit of it will be new. It will contain nothing that I have ever before done on television or on my tours. Of course, I will sit at the piano part of the time —that part will be old."

Who will be the guest stars?

"What is all this excitement about guest stars? Everybody has to have guest stars. I'll have guests, some of them will be stars, but it's the show that counts—not the names. And if I tell you in advance who's going to be on it, you'll make up your mind in advance what the show's going to be like. Isn't it more fun to be surprised?"

★ ★ ★

(Actually, Victor Borge has revealed the name of one of his guests: Alicia Markova, the world-famous ballet star, who will perform a special number, accompanied by Borge and the orchestra.)

★ ★ ★

In his "Comedy and Music" special last season Borge introduced a young piano prodigy. Will he turn over the stage to a new protege in tomorrow's show?

"I might. Yes, he might be a pianist. No, he might not be quite as young as little Abbott Lee Ruskin (last year's discovery). Yes, he probably will be a he, not a she."

Does he have a name?

"I think so."

Will there be any serious numbers?

"There will be light music, popular music, good music, classical music. I hate the phrase 'serious music.' I'm serious about it all, the music and the comedy. I'm serious about putting on a program that is full of fun and laughs and entertainment — and surprises. The audience may take it seriously. I hope they don't."

Defense Chiefs Meet With Ike

They'll Tackle Budget for Military in Face of Cuts in Spending

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower and the nation's defense chiefs today tackle the problem of how many billion dollars to allot for military might at a time the President is seeking to cut federal spending.

Scheduled to confer with the President at this vacation office at the Augusta National Golf Club are Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gordon Gray, presidential aide on national security affairs.

Also flying from Washington are Budget Director Maurice H. Stans and Donald A. Quarles, deputy secretary of defense.

Out of the conference may come a final decision on how much to earmark for military spending in the fiscal year starting July 1. Eisenhower's budget for that year will go to Congress early in January.

The administration is estimating defense outlay in the current year will run about $40,800,000,000, slightly more than half of calculated over-all federal expenditures —$79,200,000,000. A deficit of about $12,200,000,000 is anticipated.

There is no doubt about the armed forces seeking more money for next year.

PONTIAC'S HOST OF THE WEEK — The week's television spotlight will turn to the truly inimitable Victor Borge in an all-new, hour-long special, "Victor Borge's Comedy and Music," second program in the "Pontiac Star Parade" series, tomorrow night on the CBS network. Borge will present a number of guest performers between his comic antics at the piano and stellar renditions with the orchestra.

Conlin Assails MMA Lobbyist

Charges Bulletin Had 'Irresponsible' Report on State Fund Plan

LANSING (AP) — A leading legislative fiscal expert has assailed the state manufacturers' lobbyist for alleged misrepresentation about the state's financial situation.

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), House taxation chairman, teed off on Joseph H. Creighton, a spokesman for the Michigan Manufacturers Assn., in words that for Conlin — a mild mannered man — were strong.

In a bulletin circulated to MMA members, Creighton in effect said a device originated by Conlin for maintaining the state's solvency through the last fiscal year failed to live up to expectations.

"The complexities of state finance and the present financial crisis are confusing enough to the public without the added hazard of misrepresentation," Conlin said.

Scare Campaign Against Dems Flops

Nixon Picks Wrong Way to Win Votes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

He conducted a scare campaign against the Democrats in the 1958 election drive and urged all Republican candidates for Congress to do the same. It didn't work. The Republicans suffered disaster.

This week it was disclosed that Nixon, two weeks before the November elections, sent a telegram to all the Republican candidates, giving them advice on how to win and urging them to fight along the lines he suggested.

But, as the elections showed, he had poor insight on how the vote would go and he was wrong in his guess on how to win.

"As far as our opponents are concerned, they offer again nothing new but a return to the radical policies that in 20 years failed to produce prosperity except in war or as a result of war. . . .

"By electing more Democrats the voters are taking a grave risk that their taxes will be raised, prices will skyrocket and unemployment will increase because of the stifling effect of the anti-private enterprise policies of the radical wing of the Democratic party."

Nixon used rock-'em-sock-'em tactics when he won election to the Senate in 1950 and again when he and President Eisenhower won in 1952 together with their fellow Republicans who that year got control of Congress.

In all the elections since 1954 — including 1956 when Eisenhower and Nixon won a second term — the voters turned their backs on the Republicans as a party and gave control of Congress to the Democrats.

Perhaps now Nixon, after some self-examination and examination of the results of three elections in a row, may decide to change his tactics when he seeks the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, as he almost certainly will.

U.S. Resumes Aid for Egypt's Roads

CAIRO (UPI) — More American road-building and repair equipment has arrived in Egypt in a resumption of aid under a 1955 agreement.

Six diesel road rollers, a sign painting workshop and miscellaneous tools and spare parts made up the most recent shipment, the value of which was estimated at $170,000.

The 1955 agreement was for $40,000,000 in American aid for road building, water systems and public health. More than $30,000,000 of this already had been turned over to Egypt before the Suez crisis of 1956.
