Fight Snarls Up State Program for Retarded

Oakland TB San and Farmington Institution Are Focal Points

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Legislature is tangled in the most fantastic snarl in its history over the purchase of two local hospitals for mentally retarded children.

Rep. Ed Carey of Detroit, the Democratic floor leader, summed it up: "We've been stopped on dead center for a week and can't seem to get off."

For the third successive day, the House and Senate staggered until midnight last night trying to solve a bitter inter-chamber fight and failed in a 13-hour session that got more fantastic as it went along.

The fight was simple: Shall the state buy the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium for about two million dollars and the Farmington Children's Hospital for $750,000?

The Senate says no by a heavy majority and the House, backed by Gov. Williams, says yea by the narrow margin of three votes on a bipartisan split.

Last night's session witnessed the unprecedented sight of a governor going on the Senate floor to argue with Republican leaders and try to pin them down to a commitment to buy the two institutions if an appraisal showed they were good values.

The session also presented the unique sight of the House taking one vote which lasted six hours — from 5 p.m. until 11 p.m.

It saw the Senate overrule its president, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, in a seldom-used appeal from the chair's decision and it saw the Senate majority ram through a rule change under gag rule to prevent the Democratic minority from forcing a session if the majority decided to recess instead of adjourning and thus prevent Gov. Williams from calling a third special session this month.

Both houses have agreed on a program which would pro-

Plan Spring Vote on Pay Increase for Commission

Preparation of an amendment calling for a pay boost for city commissioners was authorized by the City Commission last night.

The amendment will be presented to voters next spring. It follows the recommendations of a special study committee of former commissioners.

Commissioners, including the mayor, currently are paid $5 for each regular meeting. It is proposed that commissioners receive $25 a session and the mayor $2,000 a year.

3 Airmen Killed in Plane Blowup

Biggs Air Force Base Says 'Mystery' Shrouds Mid-Air Explosion

MARLIN, Tex. (AP) — Three captains were killed last night when their B47B jet from Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, Tex., exploded and crashed only five minutes after making a routine radio report.

Biggs authorities identified the dead as:

Capt. E. O. Tilton, 30, plane commander, Brady, Tex., survived by a widow and three children.

Capt. A. G. Sterling, 29, pilot, Eagle Grove, Iowa, survived by a widow and three children.

Capt. H. T. Courcier, 38, Wichita Falls, Tex., survived by a widow and two children.

BODIES LOCATED

The bodies were located today, one with his parachute still strapped to his back, the others some distance from the wreckage.

Biggs said the plane left El Paso at 5:55 p.m. yesterday on a routine navigational flight. It reported to Midland by radio at 6:20 p.m. and to Waco at 7:24, just five minutes before the craft exploded in the air.

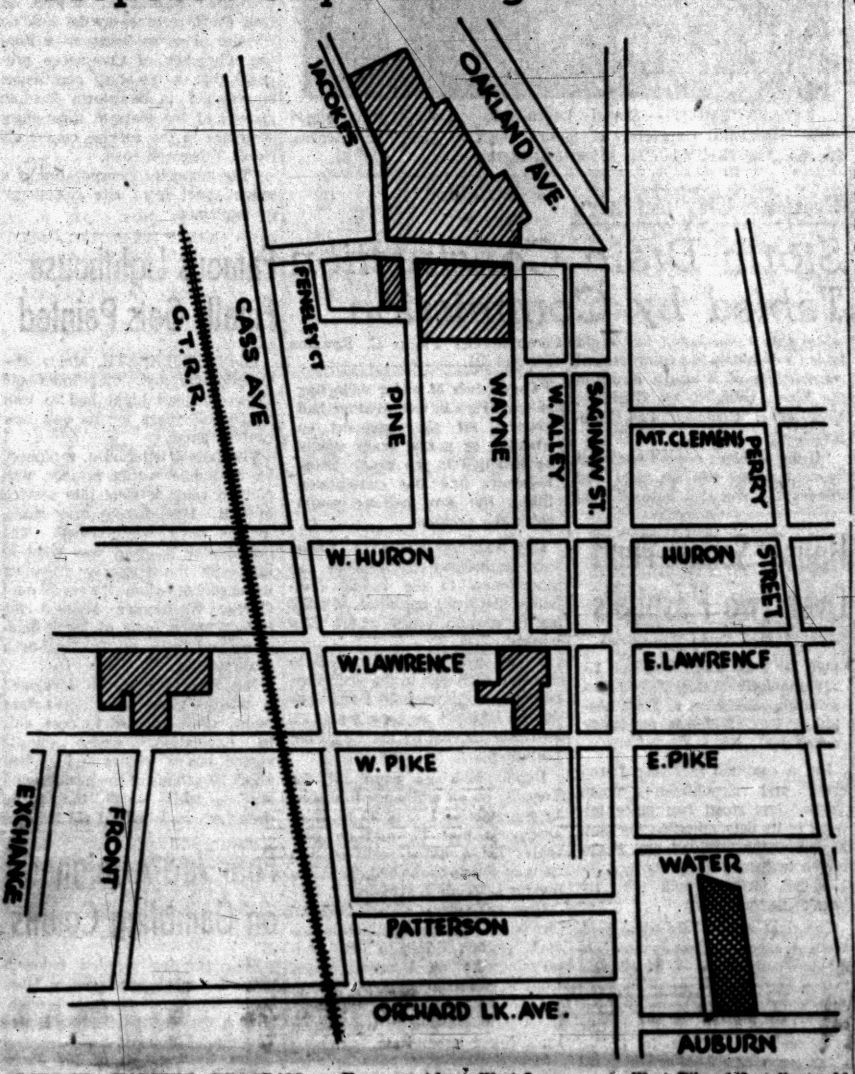
The plane and the three victims were attached to the 341st Bomber Sqdn., 97th Bombing Wing.

There was no official explanation of some reported mysterious circumstances in connection with the crash.

Proposed City Parking Lots Shown



REVISED PARKING PROGRAM — Four new proposed municipal parking lots will supply 624 spaces in addition to the 332 now available. Some 328 spaces would be available in the three-part lot in the Wayne-Pine-Jacokes area lot which is divided by Lafayette street. At the lot west of Cass, running from West Lawrence to West Pike, 148 stalls would be furnished. Eighty-one cars would be parked on the lot on Lawrence at the foot of Wayne, and there would be space for 67 autos on the lot at Auburn, east of South Saginaw.

Propose 4 Lots With 624 Spaces for Downtown

$633,447 Cost Outlined in Preliminary Report by City Manager

A preliminary report on a program for 624 additional municipal parking spaces was presented to the City Commission last night by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Cost of the program will be $633,447, of which $600,000 will be underwritten by revenue bonds, Willman said.

The plan and the bonding proposal are now under study by a bond expert in Detroit. His report is due next Tuesday.

Under the program, which supplants a plan presented a month ago, the major facility will be a three-part 328-car lot serving the busy north end of the downtown shopping district.

It will be in the Lafayette-Wayne-Pine-Jacokes area, handy to North Saginaw street and Oakland avenue stores.

A 148-auto unit on West Lawrence street, between Lawrence and West Pike, will be the second largest lot. A lot on West Lawrence at the foot of Wayne will furnish spaces for 81 vehicles.

Lot number 4, at Auburn avenue east of Saginaw, will be handled separately. It is state-owned and will be leased at $120 a month until the state decides how much of it is needed to straighten the Auburn jog, Willman said.

After that, the remaining property will be purchased. Plans call for it to serve 67 autos.

The timetable set up by the bond expert calls for presentation of the bond-authorizing ordinance next week.

If approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, the bonds can be sold by mid-January and the city can have the cash by Feb. 15.

Willman said construction would begin as soon after that as is possible.

The city now provides 332 spaces in two lots at 5 cents per hour.

Union's Layoff Pay Plan Rejected by Ohio Voters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio voters in Tuesday's election decisively rejected a CIO plea for supplemental layoff pay and bigger unemployment benefits.

Unofficial returns to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown from 11,500 of the state's 11,626 polling places showed the double-barreled union proposal lost by 63 per cent.

The count was: Yes, 857,067; no, 1,436,099.

Union officials expressed belief their Ohio defeat would delay but not prevent the simultaneous payment plan from going into effect on the June 1, 1956, deadline under General Motors and Ford guaranteed layoff pay pacts.

Such labor contracts, designed to give jobless workers 60 to 65 per cent of their take-home pay, are conditioned on approval of dual payments by states in which two-thirds of a company's employes work.

The intensive union campaign played up in television broadcasts and newspapers adds a proposed boost in Ohio jobless compensation from a maximum $33 a week for 26 weeks to $50 for 39 weeks. The proposal also called for an increase in minimum benefits from $10 to $15 a week and from $6 to $9 a week in dependency allowances.

Dingell Wins Dem Nomination

Two-to-One Majority Seats Hubbard for 8th Term in Dearborn

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John D. Dingell Jr. won the Democratic nomination yesterday for the 15th Congressional District seat, held by his late father since its creation 22 years ago.

The 29-year-old Detroit lawyer topped 11 opponents in the special election called after John D. Dingell Sr., died two months ago of a heart attack.

Final unofficial returns from the 322 precincts which make up the heavily Democratic district gave Dingell 12,179 votes to 7,624 for Charles A. Hill, his nearest rival. Dingell polled almost as many votes as the combined Democratic field.

Republicans nominated Thomas E. Brennan, 26, also an attorney, to oppose Dingell in the special election Dec. 13 to fill the vacant House seat.

BRENNAN LEADS GOP

Brennan polled 1,940 votes to outdistance a field of eight Republican candidates. His closest opponent was Gregory M. Pillon with 1,597 votes. Pillon was the Republican nominee in the district's preceeding two elections.

Both CIO and AFL units backed Dingell.

The unofficial count put the turnout at 34,419 of the 182,000 qualified voters in the district. The turnout was approximately 23 per cent higher than some forecasts.

The combined Democratic vote was 85 per cent of the total. In the 1954 election the Democratic margin was 72 per cent.

Dearborn re-elected Mayor Orville Hubbard to his eighth straight

UF Commercial Division Tops Quota for First Time

This year's Pontiac Area United Fund drive chalked up another first yesterday.

Late returns pushed the Commercial Division over its quota for the initial time in the local UF's history.

The drive reached its $562,175 goal on its final day last Thursday, marking the first year a time extension was not necessary.

The Commercial Division's total is now $148,597, or 102.1 per cent of quota.

H. Wayne Gabert, the division's chairman, termed the success "really the climax of several years of groundwork by Pontiac business leaders.

"This year we had an outstanding volunteer team," he stated. "Their enthusiasm and hard work, along with the exceptional generosity shown by everyone in the Pontiac-Waterford business world, brought about this record-breaking total."

Gabert gave special credit to his co-chairmen: Addison K. Oakley, Harry J. Woodman, B. Ralph Eastridge, Dr. George N. Petroff, E. J. Novak and Robert A. Sutton.

Employes of Pontiac hospitals exceeded their 1954 contributions, late figures show. Workers at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital gave $2,075; Pontiac General, $1,808 and Pontiac State, $2,953.

Big 3 Will Quit Geneva Meeting

Allies Agree Russian Stand Stifles Progress on German Unity

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

GENEVA — The Big Three Western Allies decided today to quit the Big Four foreign ministers' conference by the middle of next week because of the deadlocked German unity problem.

An authoritative source said they made this decision at a morning meeting before resuming their talks at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EST) with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

The Western ministers had the full support of West German Foreign Minister Dr. Heinrich Von Brentano as a result of what relenting strategy aimed at Communizing all Germany.

Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay met at Pinay's residence this morning to compare their evaluations and prepare their counter-attack for this afternoon's session with Molotov.

Waterford Fails in Effort to Win Drain Connection

A proposed shopping center at the northwest corner of Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads in Waterford Township will not be allowed to connect with the Pontiac sewage system, Port Huron Circuit Judge Eugene Black ruled today.

But Waterford Township Attorney John W. Bell said the decision would be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Judge Black heard the case here as a visiting judge Oct. 24 through 26.

Pontiac filed the suit Aug. 31 contending Waterford's attempt to link the center with the city system violated a 1935 agreement setting up an area in the township which could send sewage through the city's treatment plant.

The city claimed all plans constituting an enlargement, expansion or addition to the system must be approved by the City Commission and said approval was not given in the disputed instance.

Waterford alleged the line was not an enlargement, but a connection legal under the contract.

Judge Black ruled that the Pontiac Shopping Center connection "constitutes an enlargement or addition within meaning and purpose of the 1935 contract and . . . such extension and connection . . requires a new and yet unreached agreement on 'the amount of charge,' . . ."

The jurist cited a clause in the

FBI Now Probing Crash in Colorado

DENVER (AP) — The FBI is believed to have started a systematic check into the lives of each of the 44 victims of a United Air Lines crash at Longmont, Colo.

The Civil Aeronautics Board asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation for full-fledged assistance yesterday in probing whether sabotage was to blame for the Nov. 1 disaster.

Meanwhile, a postal inspector released a report which supported a government investigator's disclosure that a "bomb-type explosion" appeared to have caused the crash.

R. B. Dunbar, Denver postal inspector, reported some of the mail carried by the plane was fragmented and torn "as though by some violent force."

He said 400 pounds of mail was recovered from an area stretching 8½ miles north and south and 4 miles east and west, indicating the mail was blown out of the airliner high in the air.

Pinay Claims Big 3 Will Maintain Policy

BALTIMORE (INS) — French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay said today the Western Big Three foreign ministers would accept no compromise solution in their determination to convert the "Geneva Spirit" from a state of mind into a test of deeds.

He outlined his views on what he called the "second phase" of the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers conference in a personal cable to Kingsbury Smith, general manager of International News Service.

Smith read Pinay's special message during a speech to the Baltimore Advertising Club at the Hotel Belvedere.

It was the first time that a top official of a major power has made such an interim public report on such a high-level conference.

He said the Western Big Three were still hopeful of positive results at Geneva. Above all, he declared, the Western foreign ministrs never would accept false or ambiguous solutions.

"We have the will not to bypass obstacles in order to avoid them," Pinay said.

Citizens Use Sarcasm to Bring Out the Voters

MAPLEWOOD, N. J. (AP) — A group of Maplewood citizens tried sarcasm to bring out the voters yesterday.

A folder left on the community's doorsteps last night read:

"Be a typical suburbanite. Stay away from the polls on election day.

"Eighty per cent of your neighbors never vote in an off-year election — so why should you? Russia gets by with only 3 per cent of the population voting; maybe we can do it here with your help."

Democrats Show Gains in Municipal - State Elections

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats cemented the foundation for a 1956 challenge to the Republicans in critical Midwest and Atlantic Coast areas with some upset victories in municipal and state elections yesterday.

* * *

In Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut the Democrats rolled to telling victories in local balloting that would give them organization strength in former GOP strongholds for next year's congressional and presidential elections.

(See stories on pages 10 and 12)

They placed A. B. (Happy) Chandler back in the governor's chair in Kentucky by a surprisingly solid margin after the Democratic split over his nomination. Chandler's thumping defeat of his Republican opponent in a state that President Eisenhower lost by only 700 votes in 1952 gave Republicans there little comfort.

A slashing Democratic raid on Republican mayoralty strongholds in Indiana seemed to substantiate to some extent the Democrats' contention there is discontent in the farm belt, even in predominantly GOP states.

Republicans could attribute to local issues their losses of such cities as Indianapolis, South Bend, Hammond, Muncie, Michigan City, Marion, New Castle, Bloomington and even Elwood, birthplace of the late Wendell L. Willkie. But Democrats contended the small town and even big city reaction to falling farm prices contributed to their victories.

In Pennsylvania, the Democrats retained the Philadelphia mayor's office, electing Richardson Dilworth by a wide margin. Dilworth succeeds Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., who didn't seek reelection but is primed to run next year against Republican Sen. James H. Duff.

Their failure to beat their way back into power in Philadelphia, where they had held sway for 67 years before Clark arrived on the scene, disappointed Republicans who hoped to make the city a rallying point of support in next year's campaigns.

In New York, a potential 1956 battleground, the Democrats picked up a net gain of one mayor's post. They took two away from the Republicans over all but lost one to an independent.

Democratic National Committeeman Carmine DeSapio of New York said yesterday's results spelled election of a Democratic president next year."

"It is evident that the successive Democratic victories since 1952 will continue throughout the country in 1956," he said.

In Connecticut the trend which elected Democratic Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff in 1954 after Eisenhower carried the state by 130,000 in 1952 continued in the local elections. Democrats ousted a Republican mayor in Waterbury and an independent in Norwalk, and tightened their hold on New Haven.

* * *

Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey said the returns spelled out a "Democratic trend that will continue to grow and will result in a Democratic victory in state and national elections in 1956."

American Buys Jet Transports

Airlines Order 30 New Passenger Planes for Transcontinental Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Airlines announced last night it has ordered 30 Boeing 707 jet transports for about 135 million dollars.

The first of the 4½-million-dollar planes will be delivered in March, 1959, and American will inaugurate the nation's first domestic transcontinental jet service June 15 that year, American's President C. R. Smith said.

The big jets, carrying 104 to 125 passengers depending upon the seating arrangements, will start operating on the heavily travelled New York - Chicago - Los Angeles and New York - Los Angeles nonstop routes, Smith said.

Cruising at 575 miles an hour, they will cut some flight times almost in half. For example, the flight from Los Angeles to New York will take 4½ hours, three hours less than now required for American's DC7s, and the flight from Chicago to New York will take an hour and 25 minutes, slicing a full hour off the DC7's time.

American has been a major user of Douglas Aircraft equipment, and its choice of the Boeing over the Douglas DC8 came as something of a surprise to the aviation industry.

Storm Drain Construction Tabled by Commission

The City Commission last night tabled indefinitely the controversial construction of a storm drain in the block bounded by Glendale, Menominee, Genessee and Telegraph.

"If the problem doesn't work out by next spring we can meet and discuss the situation again," said Commissioner Philip E. Rowston (District 2).

Complaints of water collecting in low areas in wet weather had touched off an argument on whether or not a drain should be installed in the area. Some residents told the commission filling the low regions would solve the problem.

City Attorney William A. Ewart was authorized to prepare an amendment to the zoning ordinance to permit operation of dairies in certain zones where now banned.

Ewart was also authorized to draw up a change in the ordinance rezoning to commercial 1 and residential 1 Lot 38, assessor's plat 13, as recommended by the City Plan Commission.

Public hearings were set for Tuesday on an ordinance to rezone to commercial 1 Lots 39 to 47 of assessor's plat 13, and on estimates for a water main in portions of South boulevard, Tex avenue and Meadow avenue.

Hearings were also scheduled for next week on estimates for curb, gutter, drainage and sanitary sewers on Pearsall street from Franklin to Motor.

Approved was a lot arrangement for a proposed plat in Washington Park No. 1 Subdivision.

Special assessment rolls for sidewalks on portions of South Johnson avenue and Paddock street were confirmed.

Confirmation was deferred on assessment rolls for the following, after public hearings were held:

Dellwood avenue from trunk drain west of Earlmoor to Howland.
Howland avenue from Dellwood to Luther.
Pildew avenue west and east of Bagley.
Bagley street from Alton to Pildew.
Pearsall avenue from Bagley to Franklin.
Alton avenue from Bagley to Franklin.
Motor street from Alton to Pearsall.

A communication regarding damage to property at 53 N. Paddock St. was referred to the city attorney.

House, Senate Feud Over Two Hospitals

vide for 1,750 more beds for 1,221 mentally retarded children awaiting admission to state hospitals. Gov. Williams originally asked for 1,450.

But a coalition of House Democrats and Republican "Young Turks" has stood fast since last week in its determination the state shall buy the Oakland and Farmington hospitals. They contend the 1,750-bed program will take too long to get going.

The fight reached its tense peak when a second House-Senate conference committee — in addition to two last week — finally agreed on a compromise which eliminated purchase of the two hospitals but provided $100,000 to obtain plans for a new 2,500-bed hospital for southeastern Michigan.

The Senate accepted the compromise but only after the chamber on a strict partisan vote had overridden Hart's ruling that the $100,000 grant could not be included because it was not part of the original dispute.

In the House, the Republican leaders suspected, with the roll call almost completed, that they did not have enough votes to beat the coalition.

They stalled, with the voting machine lit up like a Christmas tree, until 11 p.m. and finally conceded defeat. During that time they recalled Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg from Kalamazoo and other lawmakers from as far away as Dearborn.

The leadership was beaten 53-54, with 56 votes needed to solve the fight.

At this point, Van Valkenburg and Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) asked Williams to help arrange a compromise.

They said that Williams, in a closed conference, agreed to let the session recess until Nov. 29 while the Legislature obtained independent appraisals of the worth of the two hospitals.

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), chairman of the Republican caucus, said, "We don't like this delay, and we don't understand it, but I guess we'll have to go along to save the program. The governor can have 1,750 new beds tonight. Why won't he take them?

"Why does he want to delay this by supporting five Republicans (Young Turks) in the House? It looks like the governor is trying to put the Republicans on the rack by this division."

At this point, Williams appeared on the House floor, surrounded by his advisers, and apparently was urged by Carey to demand a definite commitment from the Senate before accepting a recess.

Williams strode over to the Senate, trailing newsmen and aides and legislators like a comet, and engaged in debate in the Senate aisle with Republican leaders.

He said there was no sense to obtaining an appraisal unless the Senate would agree to act favorably on it.

It appeared likely that either house might start new bills through the voting process in an attempt to obtain a compromise, many members saying they would not quit without an agreement.

Bond Authority to Be Presented

County Supervisors Set to Discuss Finance Plan for Courthouse

Articles to incorporate an authority to issue revenue bonds and supervise construction of a new courthouse and office building are slated for presentation to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

The Board will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the office building at 1 Lafayette St.

The county would pay rental for the building to the authority which would use the money to retire the bonds. When the bonds were retired building would revert to the county.

Special Building Committee Chairman Harold K. Schone, of Oak Park, said today he has no definite plans to bring up a Pontiac Chamber of Commerce proposal that a ten-story courthouse be erected in downtown Pontiac instead of the planned three-story structure in the service center off North Telegraph road.

"The authority incorporation is a move apart from site selection," he explained.

Famous Lighthouse Finally Gets Painted

CAPE ELIZABETH, Maine (AP)—Oft-photographed, oft-painted old Portland Head Light had to wait nearly 165 years for its own new coat of paint.

The famed lighthouse, a pioneer U. S. public works project, was painted when it went into service in 1791. Periodically ever since, it has been whitewashed. The inexpensive process was right in line with the frugality attending its erection, when President George Washington ordered the 80-foot tower built of local fieldstone and brick by Portland-area stonemasons.

Not long ago science developed a plastic vinyl weather-resistant paint, since adopted to coat aids to navigation. Coast guards rigged bos'ns' chairs and applied about 30 gallons of the new-fangled stuff — white — to the spray drenched, rock-bedded old beacon.

Four Are Arraigned on Gambling Counts

Four persons pleaded innocent yesterday when arraigned in Municipal Court on charges brought after a raid by the Pontiac Police Vice Squad Monday.

Sam Guthrie, 54, of 100 Jackson St., was charged with possession of an unregistered gun. He was also charged with occupying a house for gambling, as was his wife, Lillian, 46.

Wesley Williams, 59, of 110 Jackson St., was charged with possession of policy slips, and Jessie Tiller, 50, of 106 Jackson St., was charged with loitering in a gambling place.

All were released on bond after Judge Cecil McCallum scheduled Tiller to be tried on Dec. 1 and the others to be examined Nov. 30.

Sylvan Lake Resident Injured in Explosion

Injured in a water tank explosion in his Sylvan Lake home last night, Roland Lathrop of 1471 Benvenue St. was treated for torn ligaments and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Sylvan Lake police said the explosion occurred when the automatic cut-off on Lathrop's water pumping system failed to operate. Accumulated pressure first blew off the safety valve of the hot water tank, at which point Lathrop descended into the basement to investigate, and then ripped out the end of the cold water tank.

Five Member History Group Named by City

Pontiac's first Historical Commission was named by the City Commission last night.

Named to the five-man board were Harry Going, five years; Mrs. N. H. Balz, four years; Richard Poole, three years; Mrs. Donald E. Adams, two years, and the Rev. S. D. Govinis, one year.

The new commission will collect and preserve material relating to the history of Pontiac and is empowered "to procure and preserve narratives of the early pioneers, their exploits, perils, privations and achievements."

Terms for the new commission members will begin Jan. 1.

Troy Racetrack Talks Postponed

Delay Will Allow Time for Transcript Study, Inglis Says

State Racing Commission hearings on a track franchise in Troy Township, scheduled to resume tomorrow, have been postponed until Monday.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Wilbur DeYoung said Commissioner James H. Inglis ordered the delay to give his staff more time to review the transcript of previous hearings.

The current hearings, which were adjourned Oct. 31, have centered around the part two Troy officials had in obtaining options on the track site at 14-Mile Rd. and John R.

One of the officials has since been fired by the township.

DeYoung said he has been assured by Michigan Thoroughbred Turf Club attorney Joseph J. Marshall that three club officials will appear Monday to tell their knowledge of the land acquisition deals.

The men are Edward Rosenberg, treasurer; Sidney Berman and Dr. Jack I. Winshall, all of Detroit.

Court Turns Down Sewer Tie-Up Plan

contract setting up rates Waterford pays the city for certain types of construction and cited a contract clause stating, "For the connection of any classification not mentioned above, the amount of charge to be agreed upon by the city and township before connecting."

Neither party claimed a shopping center was included in any of the rate classifications, Judge Black stated. He held that the contract was violated because no rate was agreed on before the connection was made.

"Pontiac . . . is possessed of lawful right, regardless of . . . amount of sewage flowing from the shopping center, to maintain that it will not receive and treat the (center's) sewage unless and until due agreement is reached on the 'amount of charge' for connection."

In deciding the line would constitute an enlargement, Judge Black said Waterford had alleged a new line laid in a public street would be an enlargement, but not one in private property as the center's is.

"Here we have a sanitary sewer designed to carry a disposal burden far in excess of that imposed by an ordinary subdivision or residences . . . No expert is required to perceive that it would take quite a subdivision . . . to provide an equal treatment burden."

NEED CITY CONSENT

Yet, he points out, a street line serving a subdivision admittedly requires city consent. "Whereas the Pontiac Shopping Center connection, simply because it is constructed in private property, does not (require consent) according to defendants . . ."

If Waterford were right, said the judge, Pontiac would have to receive "an unlimited quantity of township sewage discharged from the private property of any business or industry . . . constructed and carried on . . ."

The judge added that fraud on Waterford's part "was neither pleaded, properly at least, nor proved" and it was not established that the center's sewage would actually overburden the city's plant.

The planned center's building would be 975 by 150 feet. The cost of the whole project is estimated at $2,500,000.

"The Pontiac Shopping Center Inc. has decided to take an appeal to the State Supreme Court immediately following formal filing of the decree," said Waterford Township Attorney John W. Bell.

The township will consider joining in the appeal at a board meeting Nov. 21, Bell stated.

2 Gain Election in Sylvan Ballot

Menees, McRae Win City Council Positions; Incumbent Evans Out

Two new members were elected to the Sylvan Lake City Council yesterday.

Robert S. Menees, of 1535 Maplewood, received 377 votes to head the list of four candidates.

Capturing the second seat on the five-man council was Willard L. McRae, of 1668 Inverness, with 360 votes.

Incumbent Robert L. Evans, of 1786 Lakeland, who is just completing his first term, failed in a bid for re-election. He received 113 votes. Alan Cady, of 1729 Beverly, got 100 votes.

Menees and McRae will serve three-year terms.

The official canvass of the election will be held by the council Monday night, said City Manager Ernest L. Ethier. A total of 481 votes were cast, he reported.

A mayor and mayor pro-tem will be selected by the council at an organizational meeting Wednesday night.

Utica Hires Lawyer to Study Water Fee

UTICA (AP) — The Utica Council voted last night to employ an attorney to investigate a $500 fee collected by Councilman George Albrecht in connection with Utica's recent water pollution emergency.

Albrecht walked out of the meeting when a proposal was brought up to have special counsel determine whether he violated the city charter by accepting the fee.

The five remaining councilmen and Mayor Donald R. Havel then supported the proposal.

Albrecht accepted the fee for extra duties performed during the emergency. City Attorney George Roberts advised the council he could find no grounds for legal action against Albrecht since the fee was not drawn from city money.

The Day in Birmingham

Municipal Building Heads to Control Civil Defense

BIRMINGHAM—The shaky foundation on which Birmingham's civil defense program has found itself resting for several years may this week have found the verbal mortar it needed to right itself again.

On Monday the City Commission passed a civil defense ordinance, placing the greater part of disaster control responsibility on the shoulders of Municipal Building department heads, who will call on volunteer help only when the need arises.

This differs from past methods where volunteers were relied on heavily but where interest, because of inactivity, waned noticeably.

"Civil defense is certainly nothing we're going to see the end of and there is only so much training a volunteer can go through," explained Assistant City Manager Dana Whitman, hence the nucleus of CD organization can be maintained through municipal personnel and a few key volunteers.

MAYOR'S DUTY

Whitman, who is also director of civil defense, said a disaster control plan, when approved by the commission, will be distributed to those responsible for carrying out standard operating procedure in time of man-made or natural disaster.

It will be the mayor's duty to see that the over-all plan is carried out, with other officials specifically named to order the plan into effect in his absence.

In outlining future plans, Whitman said municipal personnel will be supplemented with volunteers as necessary, a control post will be established in the Municipal Building and consideration will be given to a warning system, additional radio equipment and the distribution of brochures to residents.

A word of warning to residents comes from Charles Mortensen, Chamber of Commerce manager, who asks that householders:

"Use caution in dealing with door to door salesmen and solicitors.

"Examine credentials, don't sign anything until you have read it carefully and understand it, avoid 'secret hurry-up' deals, avoid goods offered on sympathy appeals and don't pay for anything until you get it and are satisfied with it."

Birmingham Travel Service will open its winter film series at 8 p.m. tomorrow, following the weekly semi-buffet dinner at the Community House. Open to the public, the first film showing will be, "High Road to the Orient." Literature on the Orient will also be distributed.

Reservations for the dinner served between 6 and 8 p.m., must be made by noon tomorrow.

Although Book Week doesn't begin until next week, a two-week book fair is being held at Baldwin Library. Starting Monday, Children's Librarian Kathleen Piket and Mrs. Charles Burch, assistant, have been serving as hostesses to youngsters in five elementary school classrooms daily.

First, the children hear a short talk on Book Week and brief reviews of the 1954 Caldecott and Newbery book award winners.

Following this, they may browse through the new books on display. A free reserve is placed on any book a child is particularly interested in, and Miss Piket said they will begin sending notices out in two weeks so that pupils will know when their book is to be available.

Study on GMC Continues Today

Firm's Dominant Spot in Locomotive Field to Be Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate antitrust subcommittee plans to explore today operations of General Motors Corp. in fields other than automobiles.

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said one facet of the giant corporation's activities to be covered would be its "dominant position in the manufacture of locomotives." He commented that many persons were unaware of the full extent of GM's far-flung production.

T. K. Quinn, New York businessman and author who is a sharp critic of big corporations, will complete his testimony as the subcommittee begins its second day of the GM study.

* * *

A subcommittee aid explained it had been decided not to release names of future witnesses in advance. That was done, he said, because most of them either deal with GM in some way, or are competitors.

SOME SUBPOENAED

"Some of them are reluctant to come at all," the aide said, adding that a number had to be subpoenaed.

The subcommittee yesterday heard Quinn assail GM as "entirely too big" and took testimony from economists on the concentration of production in the automobile industry.

Donald A. Moore, professor of economics at Michigan State University, said the number of companies had dwindled from 88 in 1921 to six at present. General Motors now produces about half of all the cars turned out by the six.

Moore said the franchises under which most retail car dealers operate are "peculiarly one-sided" documents with all the advantages accruing to the manufacturer.

He said many dealers complain of being forced to take too high quotas of cars, but added there is "nothing to stop" this practice.

Open Houses in Schools Mark Education Week

Open House and PTA programs will be held today in four Pontiac schools, with six other schools continuing all-week open house, as Pontiac and the nation mark the fourth day of American Education Week.

Focal point of the week came last night when about 500 educators, civic leaders, industrialists and parents got together for the Pontiac White House Conference on Education, held at Pontiac High School, (see story on Page 16).

Theme for today is "Your Investment in Learning," and programs will aim to show parents what they are getting in return for the money they spend on schools.

Owen School PTA meeting at 2:30 this afternoon had Dr. Dana Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of schools, as guest speaker. Evening open house programs will be held from 7-9 p.m. at Eastern Junior High and at 7:30 p.m. at both Whittier and Daniel Whitfield Schools.

At Eastern, the program will include the presentation of a flag to the school by Mrs. Roland Dennis on behalf of the Marine Corps League. Music will be by the Girls' Ensemble. Open house at Daniel Whitfield will include inspection of the new primary classroom.

Schools holding week-long open house are Emerson, Central, Webster, Linda Vista, McCarroll and Malkim.

Tomorrow afternoon, Bethune School will have room visitation at 2 p.m., followed by the PTA meeting. Evening programs tomorrow will be held at Jefferson Junior High, Baldwin, Crofoot, Hawthorne, Wisner, Willis, LeBaron, Bagley, Wilson and McConnell Schools.

Salk Polio Vaccine Ready for 7-10 Year Old Children

Salk polio vaccine is now available to inoculate second, third, fourth and fifth grade students in the 7 through 10 year age bracket, Dr. John D. Monroe, medical director of Pontiac and Oakland County Health Departments, announced today.

Eligibility cards are being prepared for distribution through the schools this week. Parents are advised to take these blue cards to their private physician and arrange an appointment for the child.

If the parents do not wish the vaccine to be given by a private physician, the card should be returned to school by Nov. 18. Clinics for these children will be established as soon as possible, Dr. Monroe said.

Previously 30,000 cards were distributed to kindergarten and first grade students in the schools, and the health department has been releasing vaccine to private physicians as the cards come in.

With the release of vaccine for second through fifth grade students, children who previously have received one injection may now receive the second.

Eligibility cards for youngsters who are due for third or booster injections will be retained by the health department or doctors, if parents return them to the school. These injections will be given next spring before the onset of the polio season. Parents will be contacted at that time.

The health department hopes to start distributing cards for vaccine to the 11 through 14 year age group about Dec. 1, if sufficient serum is available, officials said.

The Polio Vaccine Center has its headquarters on the ground floor of the City Hall. Persons wishing information on the polio program are asked to use the center's direct phone number, FEderal 5-5730.

Port Huron Police Upend 'Shine Stillers

PORT HURON (AP)—Three men were held for federal authorities yesterday following their arrest late Monday night in a raid on a moonshine still near the south city limits of Port Huron.

Jailed for investigation of violating the liquor laws were Charles Lee, 43, and his brother Pate, 45, and Eugene B. Huery, 24, all of Port Huron.

Sheriff's deputies and city police staged the raid. They destroyed nine barrels of mash and confiscated three and a half gallons of moonshine. Police Chief Daniel L. O'Leary estimated the capacity of the still at 24 gallons a day.

Police said they found the still in a chicken coop at the rear of Charles Lee's home.

Bavarian Scientist Took First Step Into Atomic Age

X-ray Discovered Only 60 Years Ago This Month

NEW YORK (INS)—Sixty years ago this month an obscure Bavarian scientist took man's first step into the atomic age.

On Nov. 8, 1895, Konrad Wilhelm Roentgen discovered the X-ray.

Today the X-ray can cure disease. It has pointed the way to a bomb capable of destroying cities and impregnating the heavens with radioactive ash. It has also been used to test soda pop.

And the 60-year-old baby is just beginning to flex its muscles.

Some of the newer X-ray machines are 70-million-volt models. Deep-rooted cancers, sure killers a few years ago, can be discovered and destroyed with this cyclo synchrotron.

Yet a mere 60 years ago, Roentgen's discovery was considered only a Peeping Tom's delight.

The first news announcements pinpointed the issue:

"There will no longer be any privacy in a man's home as anyone armed with a vacuum tube outfit can obtain a full view of any interior through a brick wall."

Word spread rapidly. An outraged citizenry in major cities throughout the world took action.

In London, a clothing firm sought to protect its customers. It advertised "X-ray-proof clothing."

In New Jersey, a distressed Assemblyman tried to shield the lovelies of the American theater. He introduced a bill "prohibiting X-rays in opera glasses in theaters."

But back at the University of Wurzburg, Professor Roentgen paid little heed. He was concerned only with improving his initial discovery.

That first X-ray machine had been a small pear-shaped bottle with several wires protruding. Roentgen had covered the bottle with black paper and then coated the paper with a fluorescent chemical.

While electrifying the tube, he noticed a light coming from the table beside him. The paper glowed although the cathode rays were covered.

The professor held up a book. The rays penetrated the volume.

"In a few minutes there was no doubt," Roentgen later said. "Rays were coming from the tube which had a luminescent effect upon the paper. It was clearly something new."

Something new, and something not easily explained. In naming the mysterious rays, Roentgen chose the letter "X"—the algebraic symbol for an unknown quantity.

Refusing to commercialize on his "genie in a bottle," he gave the discovery freely to the world.

The world—to put it mildly—was unappreciative. By 1896 it was apparent "X-ray vision" would be confined to comic strips.

"We are sick of the Roentgen rays," snarled London's Pall Mall Gazette. "Perhaps the best thing would be for all civilized nations to combine to burn all the Roentgen rays, to execute the discoverers, and to corner all the equipment in the world and to whelm it into the ocean."

But scientists gleefully accepted and improved upon Roentgen's discovery. Today, 60 years later, the unknown quantity is becoming well-known.

Medicine has found many uses for the X-ray. Doctors are able to peer into the human body. The mysterious rays erase many skin diseases and dig deep for illness concealed inside the body.

More recently, industry has recognized the value of the X-ray. Flaws in metal casting can be discovered before being put into mass production—thus saving manufacturers millions of dollars.

Food is purer today, thanks to Roentgen's discovery. For example, every box of blueberries shipped from Newfoundland's fields is fluoroscoped. Mud, stones, all foreign objects are seen and eliminated.

For these reasons, the 60-year-old baby has grown almost 50 per cent in the last five years—rising from $101,300,000 in 1950 to an estimated $150,000,000 business this year.

Reds Mark Anniversary With Lavish Dance Party

MOSCOW (INS) — The survivors and heirs of the "ten days that shook the world" kicked up their heels in a lively fashion last night to mark the 38th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The setting was most unproletarian—the glittering and gilted St. Vladimir Hall of the great Kremlin Palace.

The palace was built by the Czars and old Moscow hands said the revelry last night was the gayest to be seen, by foreigners at any rate, since the Romanoffs departed.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin, President Kliment Voroshilov and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov all whirled around the dance floor to waltzes, polkas and gavottes.

One of the most popular partners was attractive Katerina Furtseva, first secretary of the Moscow Communist Party.

The top Soviet Communist, Nikita Khrushchev, was the only reluctant dancer, He ventured out once but retired shyly until former Premier Georgi Malenkov tugged at his sleeve and persuaded him to have a go at a gavotte.

Malenkov proved light on his feet and the aging Marshal Voroshilov showed none of his years on the dance floor.

'HOT' MUSIC

The "hot" music for the evening was provided by a military band.

The dancing was preceded by the usual lavishly prepared buffet in the cavernous St. George's Hall.

The top Soviet leaders of government and party mingled with the dress-suited diplomatic corps while all chomped caviar, gulped vodka and sipped champagne.

The Western diplomats said the conversation was friendly, but inconsequential with the Soviet elite expressing its interest in better East-West relations.

Scottish Cow Dies in Zoo After Swallowing Hatpin

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Scottish highland cow died at the Baltimore Zoo yesterday, stabbed by a 3-inch hatpin she apparently had eaten. The pin punctured the animal's heart.

Zoo Director Arthur Watson said the pin must have been thrown into the cage. He asked park police to see if the hatpin's owner could be traced.

The cow was one of three of the breed at the zoo and was going to have a calf.

Highland Voters Reject Zoning

Ordinance Is Defeated by Close Margin in Election

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — For the second time in two years Highland Township residents have turned down a zoning ordinance for the community by a close margin of 36 votes.

At a special election held yesterday at the township hall and at 3538 Duck Lake Rd., electors voted 258 Yes and 294 No on the proposed zoning ordinance previously adopted by the Highland Township Board.

In the meantime the township is operating under an interim zoning law which must be renewed each year. This ordinance provides that individuals must get permission from the board before they may operate a motel or have more than two trailers on one lot. Louis Oldenberg is chairman of the board.

Of the 1,735 registered voters who live in the 36 square mile area, only 552 votes were cast at yesterday's election. In a report from the Detroit Edison Co. there are approximately 3600 dwellers in Highland Township.

After last night's returns were counted, Lewis Sanderson, chairman of the Zoning Board had this to say, "Basically, it is a very good ordinance, but because of some parts that were objectionable to some people, it was defeated."

County Entries Head for Chicago to Compete for Honors

CHICAGO — Oakland county stockmen will be represented in the competitions of the 56th annual International Live Stock Exposition to be held here Nov. 25 through Dec. 3, show officials announced.

John A. Brown and Echo Valley Stock Farm, both of Birmingham; Maplecrest Farms, at Oxford; and Knobby Hills Farms, near Clyde, have all listed entries in the purebred Aberdeen-Angus classes to compete for top honors in this popular breed of beef cattle at the country's largest livestock show.

Record entries are predicted by Exposition officials in many divisions by the time a final tally of all exhibits is made. It will fill to capacity the 10-acre International Amphitheater, now the country's largest exhibition building.

Polled Herefords will be seen in competition for the first time at the International this year—the showing of this breed having been designated the national show of the American Polled Hereford Association.

Thanksgiving Operetta Is Tonight at Colerain

TROY TOWNSHIP — Colerain school students here have been working earnestly for weeks in preparation for a Thanksgiving operetta, "The Thanksgiving Story Book," to be presented at 7:45 p.m. tonight, in the school multipurpose room.

Though the operetta is to be a presentation of Mrs. Alice Keller's third - grade room, many of the other students and teachers at Colerain have been in on the "behind-the-scenes act."

Among preparations participated in by others were the making of costumes and scenery and coaching for chorus and dances.

Included in those helping to put on the production are Lawrence Hamilton, principal and teacher who, with his sixth graders produced the handmade scenery.

Mrs. Alice Perkins, Troy Township elementary music instructor, directed third graders in dance scenes. Mrs. Floretta Mitchell and a group of her fourth graders were costume makers for the operetta.

Bride Wears Blue Lace for Saturday Ceremony

ROMEO—Before an altar banked with white snapdragons and chrysanthemums Ruth Marie Dupont became the bride of Kenneth Paul Adams Saturday evening in the First Congregational Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules C. Dupont of Romeo Plank road. The bridegroom is the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lawson of Armada.

Attired in a street length gown of blue lace with scalloped neckline and matching jacket, the bride carried a white rose bouquet atop a white Bible. A small white hat completed her ensemble.

Mary Jane Dupont was her sister's only attendant.

Best man was Robert James Conger of Armada. Robert Herkum of Richmond and John Streeter seated the guests.

A reception for the family and close friends was held at the Veterans' Hall following the ceremony with about 150 guests present.

The newlyweds are now making their home in Washington.

Voters also boosted the pay of Mayor Kelly from $400 to $2,000 yearly and commissioners salaries were increased from $300 to $1,200 annually.

Huron Valley Fund Lacks $5,000 of Goal

An extension date was set for Nov. 17 according to chairman of the drive, Mrs. George Hubbell. By that time all the factories and most of the residents in the area will have been contacted.

Over 150 volunteer workers have canvassed the 100 square mile district. However, there are still some territories in the White Lake area that have not been covered according to Mrs. Hubbell. As of last night the United Fund here has collected $7,689.78.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1955

Greater Highway Safety Approved by Legislature

In the first four days of its special session, Michigan's Legislature has enacted laws for the long needed improvement of our highway safety.

Backbone of this program is the new statewide 65-55 mile speed limit, expansion of high school driver training courses and addition of 200 State Troopers.

In one of its wisest actions, the Legislature ordered expansion of the high school driver training. First effect of this will be felt next semester when high schools will be given $25 per pupil for this purpose. The new law requires 30 hours of classroom instruction plus six hours behind the wheel.

It enables all teen-agers, including those in private and parochial schools and those who dropped out at 16, to obtain free driver training through the public school system. Michigan automobile dealers, the Inter-Industry Committee and the AAA have assured lawmakers that the necessary training cars will be available.

A potent safety promoting provision of the law is that after February 1, 1957, all youths under 18 must complete such a course before getting a driver's license.

Another important step forward was the decision to add 200 men to the State Police to increase highway patrol service. This is expected to add 66 patrol cars and put 700 of the 987 troopers on highway duty by Memorial Day.

There is strong public support for this safety program. The people recognize the need and not only want action to reduce the terrible toll of highway deaths and injuries, but are willing to pay for it.

Lake Carriers' Birthday

In the excitement of celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Soo Locks, another important Great Lakes birthday was almost overlooked.

It is the 75th, or Diamond Jubilee anniversary of the Lake Carriers' Association. This organization works constantly for the elimination of navigational hazards and protection of vessel owners. As a result, the lake shipping industry has enjoyed steady growth into one of the world's most smoothly running transportation systems.

The association had its origin in Cleveland on September 1, 1880, when the Cleveland Vessel Owners' Association was organized. Its first president was Alva Bradley, a widely known vessel owner.

Five years later another organization with similar aims was launched in Buffalo under the name of Lake Carriers' Association, with S. D. Caldwell, manager of the Western Transit Co., as president.

Because both bodies had the same goals, it was decided in 1892 to merge under the name of the Buffalo group with M. A. Bradley, son of Alva, as its first president. Since then the LCA has had 15 presidents. Among them was William Livingstone, Detroit banker and civic leader, who served in 1895 and from 1902 through 1925, a total of 24 years.

The Detroit River's Livingstone Channel, in the building of which he took an active part, and Livingstone Lighthouse were named for him. The Lighthouse, a memorial to him, was paid for by the LCA and the City of Detroit.

If we were in Penon's shoes, we'd try to swap them for seven-league boots.

Greatness on the Mound

Baseball has produced a goodly number of great pitchers but none greater than Denton True Young, better known as Cy Young.

Death gently summoned Young in his 89th year as he sat in a rocking chair at his Peoli, Ohio, farm home. But time never can erase the brilliance of the pitching records he set.

Between 1890 and 1911 Young pitched 906 games, more than any other pitcher. Of these the record book shows he won 511 (Cy claimed 512) and lost 315. In each of five different years he chalked up 30 victories and in 16 seasons he won 20. Three of his victories were no hitters, one of them a perfect game in which no batter reached first base.

His nickname "Cy" is a contraction of Cyclone, which he earned as he warmed up to pitch his first professional game for the Canton, Ohio, club. Legend has it that his speed was so terrific that it knocked the glove off his catcher's hand and splintered a board fence behind.

During his 21-year career Young pitched for the Cleveland Nationals, St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Red Sox, Cleveland Indians and Boston Braves. Long a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, Old Cy Young now has joined and forever will dwell among the immortals of our national game.

The 1955 Turkey

Selling Around 1954 Prices; Figures From Large Growers

Kitchen: Last place where some mothers look for their daughter.

To the consumer the 1955 turkey costs about the same price per pound as last year, according to

Charles Coe and Sons,

Oakland County's largest raisers of the bird. On their Lyon Township farm they have raised 5,000 turkeys this year, somewhat more than in 1954. This year none of the birds are dressed on the premises. In recent years assuming a year round place on the menu, the turkey no longer has the Thanksgiving significance it held previously, but still is the symbol of that holiday.

Wednesday and Thursday of this week are not desirable days to be sick, as a great many of our doctors are attending the sessions of the in Detroit, to discuss new techniques in their profession.

When he won that $300 prize in the 1955 MAT Football Contest,

George Nesterick

was one of the few members of his sex to do so in recent years. Last year it was divided between two women, and ever since the contest started several years ago, the members of the fair sex have done about 90 per cent of the winning.

The Detroit Lions evidently needed the inspiration of the

Waterford High School Band,

who played at their game Saturday night. Under the leadership of the band surely now is going places.

Oakland County deer are getting reckless. According to

of Kent Lake Park, a number from the large herd there have straggled out on the main highways and have been killed by cars.

Just to settle several newspaper and radio contradictory stories,

Willis M. Brewer,

manager of the local office, tells me that the 1956 auto license plates will probably not go on sale until Dec. 1.

A letter from that former Pontiac sportsman, says that his home town of Gaylord is putting on a big celebration Saturday night for the benefit of the northbound deer hunters. He urges our local hunters to time themselves accordingly.

Winston Robertson,

On the End of the Whip

David Lawrence Says:

Soviet Reaffirms Its Declaration of War Against West in Anniversary Statement

WASHINGTON—Soviet Russia's declaration of war against the Western world has been reaffirmed by Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich.

Disregarding entirely the "Geneva Spirit" and virtually expressing contempt for the arguments of Western statesmen, the Soviet spokesman in a public speech on the anniversary of the Red Revolution says:

"Under the banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin we have triumphed and will continue to triumph to full victory under Communism."

This isn't just "political Communism which the vice premier is talking about, but the Communism of an aggressor nation. It infiltrates the governments of neighboring territory, or else puts the troops of Communist armies of occupation into such areas to terrorize the people and prevent free elections.

CONSPIRACY CONTINUES

The Soviet regime for ten years, since the close of World War II, has been carrying on its conspiracy to overthrow governments from within and these "triumphs" now stretch from Eastern Europe to Eastern and Southeast Asia with notable acquisitions of strength in the Middle East.

The western world, which has been anious to negotiate a "compromise" or a "modus vivendi" or some sort of agreement to permit "peaceful coexistence," is being tol dnow that in effect only unconditional surrender will be accepted by the Communist regime in Moscow.

The latest news from the Geneva Conference underlines the uncompromising attitude of the Kremlin. Reunification of Germany has been brushed aside by Foreign Minister Molotov as "premature." Actually he has denounced the idea of "free elections" and brazenly contends that the "All-German" state he has in mind must be a coalition dictated by the Kremlin. It's the story all over again of Poland after Yalta.

CRAVEN WEAKNESS

The allied statesmen have been trying to make the best of a bad situation. They have endeavored to appear optimistic. They have exercised a sort of self-restraint in public expression so as not to offend the Russians or aggravate the situation generally. But it is all in vain. The Soviet has misconstrued the Western attitude as one of craven weakness.

The diplomatic way out of such an impasse is to propose another conference. When the whole world was propagandized on the issue of a "conference at the summit" public expectation of a success was so pronounced that the failure to agree on anything substantial led to a formula of postponement or deferred action —the plan for a meeting of the Big Four ministers. This meeting was described by the President last summer as "The Acid Test."

Now the "Acid Test" has come and the Russians are intransigent. The Geneva spirit has been considerably changed and the negotiations are back where they have been for the last ten years—with an adamant, unyielding Russia seeking world domination and repeatedly saying "No" to the West.

WISHFUL THINKING

The foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States fortunately, are united in rejecting the Molotov proposals. They show their displeasure publicly.

This may bring about some slight modification by the Russians which can be hailed as a "concession" and then a plan will be announced for another four-power conference to be held in the spring.

SAME WORLD STRUGGLE

There are, on the other hand, some on the Western side who are preaching defeatism and appeasement. As long as the Soviets think public opinion in the Western countries is willing to buy peace at any price there is less likely to be any yielding on anything essential by the Russians.

Little by little the world is being educated painfully on the subject of Russian belligerency and rigidity of purpose. The Kremlin announces openly it is embarked on a world struggle to secure the triumph of Communism which, of course, means Communist imperialism and Community tyranny.

Perennially Chilly Folks May Suffer Lack of Iodin

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

I am one of those people who feel cold unless the temperature is up to 85 degrees, writes Alice T. . .

In the pamphlet The Iodin Ration, available on written signed request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, I say:

Anyone with iodine deficiency is likely to have a subnormal body temperature and to desire more clothing and greater indoor warmth than normal persons find comfortable. Their hands and feet feel clammy. They often complain that their knees are weak . . . persistent lassitude . . . tendency to drop off in a doze . . . melancholic outlook . . .

and let me tell you right here that if you take iodine or iodides in even the smallest medicinal doses you do so at your own peril, for I do not recommend it.

Mrs. M. Z. H. . . . . declares that "there is no doubt about the iodin ration bringing back the color and giving new life to my hair," and K. M. H. . . . . says:

MORE ENERGY

"I have supplemented my diet with 6 . . . . . tablets a day for over a year" (tablets containing the three minerals and three vitamins in which the diet of most people is deficient) "I have much more energy and my sister accuses me of touching up my hair, as the gray streaks are regaining natural color."

* * *

Mrs. C. C. D. . . . . , who has taken the iodin ration for four years, says her friends marvel at the wonderful growth and blackness of her hair, while they mostly have scanty gray hair.

I have received scores of similar reports and I can only repeat what I have said here before, that I don't know whether the iodin ration or anything else actually restores the natural color to hair that has turned gray.

I'm inclined to think that improved nutrition makes the individual look better in every way—skin, nails, eyes, hair, and feel better too, and in such circumstances one is easily persuaded that his or her hair has regained natural color. I do not mean to question anybody's veracity, but on the other hand nobody can show me his or her hair to prove anything.

NO PROOF

In order to reach a positive conclusion about it I'd have to observe the individual or individuals closely both before and after the correction of nutritional deficiency.

As for the individual's comfort there's no question about the importance of an adequate daily intake of iodine.

Since a suitable daily ration of iodine can do no harm in any conceivable circumstance, I urge everyone who feels cold or chilly when normal persons round about him or her are comfortable, supplement his or her regular diet with a wee, wee bit of iodine or iodide, far less than a medicinal dose, daily.

Especially if his or her hair is becoming prematurely gray. For further information send me 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet The Hair and Scalp and the pamphlet The Iodin Ration.

Sign 3 letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Ex-Patient Would Regret Sale of TB Sanatorium

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

As an ex-patient of the Oakland County TB San, I am very sorry to see this fine institution up for sale.

I am quite aware of the plight of the mentally retarded and want to see these unfortunate housed. But why wasn't the state san at Howell considered? The suggestion was turned down last year . . . why?

This state san is being operated while only partially occupied also. Since it is already state property, why can't the funds be used to remodel and enlarge facilities?

As a member of the Patient's Benefit Association, a group of ex-patients, I think our members and the present patients' welfare should be considered above the profit of such a sale. Inadequate quarters and a vague future are not conducive to the return to good health.

Oakland County Sanatorium is a beautiful, clean, cheerful hospital. Compared to other sans, it is far superior. No wonder Mr. Wagg and the committee found it so desirable. The state should keep their san in the same condition.

Then perhaps they would be willing to use it for the retarded children.

Giveaway Shows Expose Real Yearning for Money

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

The popularity of the giveaway programs on the air shows the trace of original economic sin in most of us in hoping the lightning will strike us and give us something outside the tedious area of accumulation through working and saving.

There are other tangible evidences of the deep human appeal of money. For example, during the bull market, it has become fashionable to form investment clubs around the country.

Members contribute to a financial pool which trades in stocks. The members of affiliates of the National Association of Investment Clubs invest $2.5 million a year, and the New York Exchange believes there are 10,000 clubs with more than 100,000 members.

The clubs follow the principle of dollar-averaging, that is, investing a fixed sum each month in common shares irrespective of market trends.

The National Association of Investment Clubs also preaches diversification, and specialization in growth securities, that is, those whose sales are increasing at the rate of 10 per cent or more a year.

The association also adds the principle of compound interest through advising the immediate reinvestment of dividends and capital gains.

MAY MISEDUCATE

It may be that the fact that so many of these clubs were launched during a one-way bull market will miseducate members, and get them to expect too much in the way of results.

But whatever the negative points may be, the club idea is attractive in that it brings the human interest of group action into the lonely act of working, saving and investing.

One benefit may be in continuity, whereas the lone operator can too easily get discouraged, impatient, or for other reason decide to quit and "eat, drink and be merry" on his immediate gains.

Anything which dramatizes for the "common man" the advantages of systematic saving, investment and reinvestment can be constructive.

For alone and untutored, the money earner, subject to a thousand temptations to spend, tends to err in underestimating his future financial needs.

Social security and private corporation pension schemes tend to promote the impulse to spend now, rather than save some for later. But usually, these ready-made retirement plans mean a drastic stepdown in the standard of living unless supplemented by private savings, investment and insurance.

EXPLOIT SUCKERS

Most of the schemes for giving away money exploit the sucker tendencies in human beings.

In the Latin countries, this yearning for something for nothing is a serious matter, reflected in national lotteries.

The real curse of the lottery is that it corrupts the economic effects of rewards and incentives. Too many in countries where there are lotteries ignore good workmanship and productivity as a passport to financial affluence, and keep hoping that the lottery will come to their undeserved rescue.

Reliance on the lottery and on giveaway schemes is hostile to the philosophy of a merit system, where men are encouraged to work more productively through expectation of rewards for actual accomplishments.

In light of the high rating of money giveaway shows, the intellectual pose of looking down the nose at money becomes exposed.

The intelligentsia purport to despise money, but it has been my observation that this refers only to the other fellow's money and not their own. When the radicals and free thinkers own stocks and bonds, they are insistent that the letter of their property rights be respected. This may be paradoxical, but it's unmistakably true.

In these days when so many are on the hook for installment debt and mortgage payments, it should be obvious that there is no substitute for money in meeting their needs.

One of the maladjustments of the time has been the theoretical disparagement of money as materialistic, whereas people want the better living standards that money buys. For consistency, the despiser of money ought to plan a life of "sack cloth and ashes."

Case Records of a Psychologist

Don't Expect to Ignore All the Rules and Still Maintain a Happy Marriage

Lazarus should be of interest to all people planning to get married. If you know any such folks, mail them this Case Record at once. For brides and grooms make their own happiness. Or they also cause their own divorces, either by sins of omission (often due to ignorance) or to their sins of actual commission.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-381: Lazarus was a very honest and religious man.

But the Bible tells us he was so poor he had to beg. After his death, he went to Heaven, where Abraham received him gladly.

Across a flaming abyss, however, lay Hades. And a rich man who had recently arrived at this hot spot, called across the chasm, imploring Lazarus to bring him even one drop of water for his parched tongue.

Abraham replied that it was impossible to bridge the flaming abyss. Then the broiling rich man implored Abraham to send Lazarus back to earth to warn his business partners, who were his brothers.

For he said that if his brothers actually saw a man returned from the grave, they would believe and change their evil ways.

But Abraham replied that those rich brothers had ample access to the writing of Moses and the prophets. They could also listen to the priests every Sabbath. But they were not doing so.

Hence, added Abraham, even a miracle from Heaven would not budge them.

MIRACLE MAD

Millions of Americans are also obsessed with the desire for miracles to make them healthy or famous or rich.

They ask us physicians to employ some magical potion which will dramatically reverse all the ill effects of their previous lifelong bad habits.

Why, I have seen announcers on TV ask Americans to support the cancer drive by liberal donations, yet those very TV speakers were holding cigarettes in their hands meanwhile.

And medical experts have shown that cigarettes are one of the chief causes of cancer!

Indeed, our American Medical

Journal refuses to accept cigarette ads for this very reason.

* * *

So if we deliberately and consciously violate the known rules of physical health, why should we impose on God's generosity by then asking Him to protect us from cancer?

PRODIGAL SONS

Other people will overeat, then want us physicians to slenderize them in 24 hours, though they took 20 years to get so well upholstered around their equator with gobs of dangerous fat.

Young couples will also rush into marriage with less analysis of their mutual personalities, than they would spend in selecting a new auto.

Yet they sign what is supposed to be a lifelong contract. And the husband is supposed to give his new mate 50 per cent of his total earnings the entire rest of his life.

But they elope while half drunk and rush to a Justice of the Peace. They ignore the church even at the outset.

They may then squander their money like a Prodigal Son. After which they try to sponge off their in-laws.

And when divorce threatens, they may suddenly rush to a Marriage Adviser expecting some last minute miracle that will save their home.

Marriage is a complicated career. And nobody else can make it succeed except the two partners thereto.

So don't cry out, like the rich man in Hell, for some miraculous panacea for your marital ailments, when you have violated all the known laws for happy marriage.

If you have run into alcoholism to evade your duty or have gambled in the juvenile hope of winning success, or have cheated and refused to play the game of marriage according to the rules thereof, you've weighed as a husband or wife.

God may often forgive the truly penitent, but He expects us to use our brains before death and divorce threaten us.

So listen to God and your clergy and us scientific Marriage Advisers at the start:

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane, in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Sanction Given Employes' Vote on New Benefits

The city last night received official sanction for an employe's referendum on whether they wish to have Social Security benefits.

A letter from Gov. G. Mennen Williams granting the city pension board permission to conduct such an election was presented at the City Commission meeting.

Under federal law, the governor's permission is necessary for such balloting. The ruling covers all municipal employes but police and firemen.

"It's almost like having a doctor in the house!

"We wouldn't be without Ben-Gay in our house," says Mrs. Ralph McGory of Prattsburg, New York.

"Through the years, Ben-Gay has relieved an awful lot of aches and pains for our family — from strained muscles to tired, aching feet. It's comforting to know that such a marvelous pain-reliever is right there in the cabinet when it's needed."

Millions of people agree with Mrs. McGory. They rely on BEN-GAY for fast, welcome relief from sore, aching muscles. You may have tried other pain-relieving products, but here's how BEN-GAY is different . . . why it's so amazingly effective! It contains up to two and one half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than any of five other widely offered rub-ins. Here's how Ben-Gay's two-way, pain-relieving action works: First, extra blood is brought coursing up through the affected area. Second, a pain-deadening action starts at once. Yes, for fast, blessed relief, get BEN-GAY! Rub in BEN-GAY . . . rub pain away!

Ann Arbor Police to Quit Individually

ANN ARBOR (INS) — The 38 Ann Arbor police officers who submitted resignations last Friday, then withheld them at the request of the police commissioner, now have decided to submit them on an individual basis.

Detective Harry Gensler, president of the newly-formed Ann Arbor Police Officers Association, said after a meeting of the group last night:

"We have decided that any resignations will be submitted on an individual basis. We don't want anyone to feel that a minority is being pressured by other officers."

The officers submitted their resignations when the city budget committee voted them a pay raise which was far less than what the policemen had requested.

The resignations would have been effective Nov. 18, the eve of the Michigan-Ohio State football game which is expected to bring a crowd of 97,000 persons to Ann Arbor.

Kalamazoo Gets Bigger

KALAMAZOO — (UP) Three suburbs of Kalamazoo voted to annex to the city. The three are Milwood, the Henderson Park Terrace area, and South Westnedge. Annexations are to take effect at midnight Dec. 31. The action increases the city population, based on 1950 census figures, from 57,000 to 71,000.

Good Polishing Job Causes Injury to Man

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—Leroy Henderson, a new janitor at the Wyoming statehouse, can really polish windows.

A short time after cleaning one of the capitol building windows, Henderson noted some boys running through the yard. He stuck his head out to yell to them — forgetting the window was still shut.

He was cut around the forehead, but not seriously.

5 Kentucky Children Die in House Fire

HAZARD, Ky. (UP)—Five children, their ages ranging from four to 14, were burned to death when fire swept their home in this mountain town just before last midnight.

Ellen Kay Begley, 14; Phyllis Begley, 9; Susan Begley, 7; Yvonne Ritchie, 6, and Vicki Ritchie, 4.

A neighbor detected the blaze but was unable to arouse anyone inside the building before issuing an alarm.

The Begleys were watching Kentucky election results in the downtown area.

Firemen were having trouble putting out the blaze because of low water pressure.

It was believed the fire started from a heating stove.

Ike to Welcome Armas in Denver

Washington Prepares Friday Receptions for Returning President

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower set up a program of welcome today for the president of Guatemala as his last official visitor before he leaves Fitzsimons Army Hospital Friday.

He sent his personal plane, the Columbine III, to St. Louis to fly Carlos Castillo Armas to Denver along with acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., for a 30-minute conference.

The 65-year-old Eisenhower, already pronounced fit enough to walk to the plane Friday, will make two brief talks to the American people on that day, one just before he takes off from Lowry Airfield, the other when he arrives at the Military Air Transport Terminal in Washington.

There will be a warm sendoff from Denver, where the President has been a visitor since Aug. 14 and a hospital patient since Sept. 24 when he suffered a "moderate" heart attack.

In Washington, District of Columbia and federal officials laid plans today for an all-out welcome for the President when he returns.

Over a hundred thousand people are expected to line the streets to greet him as he rides to the White House in a convertible after being greeted at the terminal by the cabinet, diplomatic dignitaries and members of Congress.

Eisenhower will spend the weekend in Washington before journeying to his farm near Gettysburg, Pa. He plans to remain at the farm until January, resting up for a full-time return to his official duties.

U.S. May Seek Arms Embargo

Prohibition by Security Council Could Alleviate Middle East Tensions

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt charges Washington's "postponement and promises" on requests for arms forced her to buy weapons from the Communists.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The New York Herald Tribune said the United States was giving top-level consideration to asking the U. N. Security Council to embargo all arms shipments to the Middle East.

This was said to be one reason why Washington is reluctant to sell arms quickly to Israel to match Egyptian purchases from Czechoslovakia.

The embargo plan was said to have been worked out in consultation with Britain and France in Geneva and the three Western capitals.

Cundiff had stopped at his son's home on his way to Mayfield, Mich., to visit other relatives.

Flint to Offer $90,000 to Late Mayor's Heirs

FLINT (AP)—The City Commission has offered $90,000 to 19 heirs of Flint's fourth mayor to settle their claims to a site on which the present city hall now stands.

The site was given in 1859 by Mayor William M. Fenton with the stipulation it be used for a city hall. At that time the land was valued at between $1,000 and 2,000.

City Attorney William J. Kane recommended the settlement with Fenton's five grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren to clear the title on the property.

DSR to Give Free Rides to 18 in New Test Plan

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's city-owned transit system is taking applications for free rides to and from work.

Detroit Street Railway officials announced yesterday 18 persons will be selected from the applicants. They will drive their cars for the first month and ride the DSR the next. The DSR will pay the entire two-month bill.

Officials said the purpose is "to provide the public with specific proof that it is much cheaper and probably faster to ride the DSR rather than drive."

Agency Claims Inherent Power

Civil Service Unit Says Constitution Gives Right to Withhold News

WASHINGTON (AP) — A claim by the federal Civil Service Commission to "inherent power" under the Constitution to withhold public information was labeled "fantastic" today by Rep. Moss (D-Calif).

"There is no inherent power to withhold information, and certainly not on the broad basis claimed by the Civil Service Commission," he contended in talking with news men.

Moss is chairman of a House government operations subcommittee investigating information practices by federal agencies and complaints that officials are overworking their "confidential" stamps.

After hearing testimony from the CSC yesterday, the committee transferred its attention today to the Post Office and Treasury Departments.

The claim to "inherent power" by an executive agency, under the broad constitutional grant of authority given the president, was quickly questioned by committee members.

Moss termed the contention, made by CSC Counsel Lawrence V. Meloy and backed by Chairman Philip Young, "the broadest claim of authority" to be asserted by any federal agency.

In dealing public information practices of the CSC, Young said his directive to information officials was to make all information possible available. But the committee produced a regulation from the CSC handbook stating that all information was government property and must be guarded by employes.

Moss said this dual instruction created an unreconciled conflict—"one says to employes they must cooperate, and the other says you're fired if you do."

Young conceded "it may be this needs some clarification. We'll be glad to review it and see if we can't improve it in the light of our stated position."

Prices of Crackers Crumble in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Cracker prices were crumbling in Louisville today.

Pound boxes of premium soda crackers which have been selling for 25 cents went on many grocery shelves for 13 cents.

Cut-rate crackers coming in from New Orleans were blamed for the price crack.

Time Tells if Unfit Officials Were Elected

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

A good many American communities have just gone through a dilemma from which Russian Foreign Minister Molotov would have spared them if he'd been the boss over here.

People in these communities had to digest a bunch of personal records, solemn or farcial election campaign statements, and try to select some employes, commonly called officials, to look after public affairs.

The names of those selected are known today. The real results, in many cases, will not be known for some time, and may never be clearly and publicly defined.

Some newly elected or reconfirmed officials will prove to be dedicated men, and of this group some will succeed and some will fail in their jobs. Some, probably very few, may read the election results as a license to steal the public blind. Some will be just ordinary Joes, fumbling along honestly but unfruitfully in jobs sought because they didn't have much else to do.

But they will be the chosen representatives of their communities in the fields assigned to them.

The secure these representatives, the people have "choosed up" sides, and in some cases they have gotten pretty bitter about it.

Secretary Dulles admitted at Geneva the other day that there is a risk in such elections that the people will choose wrongly. But otherwise, under the Communist single-ballot system where people vote only for the nominees of one party, it's no choice at all, he pointed out.

SOVIET ELECTIVE SYSTEM

Molotov was pained. In Russia, he said, "we conduct elections by single lists and we are not sorry about that at all." It builds up unity, he added. He certainly wasn't going to stand by and see reunification of Germany through an election which did not build up unity. Before that, he'd let Germany stay dismembered forever.

He might have added that the Russian governments could not sponsor an election system in Germany which it wouldn't dare extend to the peoples it rules.

He wouldn't understand, either, how the United States was founded in such disunity that many of the original colonies refused to join it for a long time, nor how so many people came from Europe to practice the disunity which they were not allowed at home.

He might sneer at the lack of "efficiency" of the American way, and wonder how such people as those elected yesterday could actually be members of a system which has produced more good for more people in a shorter length of time than any other political system in history.

Although lobar pneumonia used to kill one in five patients who contracted it, the use of antibiotics has drastically reduced pneumonia death rates.

Yank Laundry Dampens Europe's Spirits

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

FRANKFURT (INS) — Europe is facing many distressing problems in this troubled time. Not the least of these is the mass invasion of European bathrooms by American-made, easy-wash, drip-dry under garments.

These unmentionables are mentioned quite frequently here. In hurt, angry tones.

"Ven it vus just stockings madame vashed, it vos not so bad," mourned a Frankfurt hotel official. "But now it iss shirts, skirts, coats, hats, sleepink clothes and everytink."

He hovered tragically over an antique oak dresser. "Iss no goot now, from being hungover with wet tings."

This particular hostelry keeper is not the most horrified specimen in Europe by a long shot. The word "nylon" has chilled sensitive hotel men clean across Europe for five years, and "dacron" and "orlon" are beginning to be said with the curled lip, as well.

But the reason this particular man is so particularly miffed is that his bathrooms are among the continent's most magnificent. And if there is anything more magificent than even a rather modest European bath, one would be far too busy ogling it to get one's teeth brushed.

WATERY WRITING

Take the one in which I am now writing, for instance. I am seated at a delightful marble-topped table (many European columnists claim they write in the bathtub itself, but the lapping of water seems to distract me.)

Approximately 20 yards to my right is the bathtub, which is large enough to be swum in by persons up to age 10; and within easy reaching distance is the white telephone, for tub-time calls.

There is no open fireplace in this bathroom — a European feature I'm most taken to — but there are heated holders, of course, to keep the 8x10 - foot Turkish towels warm.

In height, the room is an unspectacular 15 feet, but in diameter it is plenty big enough for a 12-man poker game or three tables of bridge.

Two spacious wash basins, for "him" and "her" or for "face and "hands" if your're traveling alone, are conventently located next to the dainty powder table for cotton balls and cologne.

"You can see all zis heaped up wis wet tings?" clucked the man as he showed me in. "Please, madam, beg zem to stop."

The greatest insult of all is bestowed upon his hotel when gentlemen do their own dainties in his sublime bathrooms. Men are new at this home laundry game and it seems they not only splash water and soap flakes on walls and floors, but they tend also to hang their shirts and shorts in the bedroom—thus carrying the tragedy over a far broader area.

'TOO EMBARRASS'

To add to his despair, the housekeepers would not dare suggest to a man that he send his laundry out, or at least confine it to the bathroom. "Even I," he says, "would be too embarrass to mention a ting like zis."

So the thing goes on and on, and hotel help grieves. I might say, at some of those prices they can afford to.

But on the other hand, I don't want us to carry this nylon nonsense too far, for they might get irritated enough to redesign their bathrooms to American scale.

And then tourists could never have the thrill of simultaneously phoning their friends and doing a dead man's float.

Ethiopia currently is expanding its airfields with a 24 million dollar loan from the Export-Import Bank of Washington.

Best 'Friends' Are Books and Men, Says Marilyn

By EARL WILSON

Q. Does lack of privacy bother or amuse you. A. It can have both effects. The times you need to have privacy, you can find an excuse. Sometimes I kid the fans. They said, "Oh, you're Marilyn Monroe!" I say, "Oh, no, I'm Mamie Van Doren," or "I'm Sheree North," if I'm in a real hurry.

* * *

Q. Is it true you only wear one thing to bed—chanel No. 5. A. I like to wear something different once in a while. Now and then I switch to Arpege.

Q. How do you feel about dressing up. A. For openings I've never gone in jeans and I don't think I've ever gone to school in a pair of slacks.

Q. You don't always wear make-up in New York. A. I do as a rule but if I'm in a hurry maybe I don't have time to put makeup on. If I'm working or walking or going to museums or running late, I don't.

Q. Do you have any love interests now. A. No serious interests . . . but I'm always interested.

* * *

Q. There are always rumors about your attractions driving this or that famous man, sometimes married, to distraction. What do you say about those tales. A. Oh, first of all, it just isn't so. I like men and I guess my friendship for them is sometimes misunderstood. Some of my best friends are men.

SETS NO RULES

Q. In view of today's changing morals, do you think it's all right for a single girl to encourage the attentions of married men. A. I think everybody ought to do what they feel. Who am I to set any kind of rules.

Q. Have you ever thought of playing the life story of Jean Harlow. A. I would like to providing everything is right for it. It could be a classic Hollywood story because of what she stood for. It should be done at the highest level. She should be done humanly . . . I've talked to people and friends who have told me such wonderful things about her—human, sympathetic, warm things. I like her human quality.

Q. Are you interested in the business routine of Marilyn Monroe Productions. A. I leave that up to Milton and I'm learning. We have pictures to do. Most of them aren't for me, but some are. We're working on a lot of TV packages and also films.

Q. Is it true that you "know your way around" a contract. A. I'm learning through experience which has been kind of rough at times. I've learned through Frank Delaney, our lawyer; Joe Carr, our accountant; Milton Green, and also another lawyer, Irving Stein—they're very patient with me.

Q. Are your friends in New York more stimulating than in Hollywood. A. Life here is more stimulating and alive and hopeful. Hollywood—it'll be a nice place to visit while I make pictures but I'll be coming back here because this'll be home. I'll live here.

LIKES TO READ

We'd been talking a long time and Marilyn still wasn't exhausted. I only had a couple more to go. She seemed willing to continue indefinitely and anybody who feels she isn't cooperative with the press is very wrong. The problem with her is just finding the time.

* * *

"How much do you study each week?" I asked.

"I go to Lee Strasberg's classes to participate twice a week—four hours a week—and I go to class to observe every day," she said.

"Do you still feel you'd like to do "The Brothers Karamzov"?

"Yes. I guess they were laughing at me because they thought I would like to play one of the brothers. Michael Chekov, who was one of my coaches on the coast, and one of the leading authorities on Dostoievsky, thought it would be a wonderful part for me to play and I'm sure he knows more about it than some of those who laughed."

"Is your hair still champagne color?"

"It was dust white, but now it's just a pale gold."

"Do you get more sleep here than in Hollywood?"

"Oh, sure, I don't have those long hours."

"Would you say that interest in sex is less predominant here than in Hollywood?"

"I haven't taken a sexus—I mean a census—but sex is sex, and that's good, isn't it?"

Offer 5 Ideas About Religion in U.S. Schools

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A group of Protestant churchmen and educators have suggested five basic principles as a guide to public schools in dealing with religion.

The principles are:

1. As to the nature of the child—he is a creature of God; he is loved by God, and he is responsible to God for all of his acts.

2. The right of the child, by virtue of his divine creation, to the fullest development of his faculties and capacities. This places a joint responsibility on home, church and community to see to it that adequate facilities are provided for educating every child according to his capacities.

3. Respect for the individual conscience and faith of each child's allegiance! not forcing upon him beliefs and teachings which are offensive to his parents if in the minority, but at the same time giving due regard to the faith of both the majority and minority.

4. Belief in the community, not only in the sense of our common loyalties as citizens, but as being brothers, children of God, and as such, having equal rights and responsibilities.

5. Since religious truth is a part of our heritage, it should be included in the child's education wherever relevant to the subject matter of public education.

Predicts Easier Credit on Home

Fast Construction Pace, Record Earning Levels Will Support Boom

NEW YORK (INS)—The president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards gave an optimistic forecast yesterday for the nation's economy in 1956.

Opening the general sessions of the association's 48th annual convention, Henry G. Waltemade of New York predicted the coming year would bring:

1. Greater availability of home buying credit.

2. A high level of home construction and home buying.

"Since the early postwar years," he said, "our economy has moved to stability at high levels of production and employment. This is the best guide to appraising the year ahead of us."

Waltemade cited four basic developments to reinforce his economic forecast.

First, he said, the demand for home ownership and for superior housing standards continues high throughout the nation.

Second, employment and earnings are at record levels.

Third, vacancies and foreclosures are low.

And fourth, the rate of non-farm family formation has been averaging about one million per year.

NO LADEN MARKET

"There is nothing in the overall picture to show an over-supplied home market," he added.

Waltemade said there was evidence that the present administration in Washington would relax further those measures used to tighten credit for home buyers. He noted some steps in that direction already have been taken.

The New Yorker scored the governmental restrictions for having had what he called "a depressing effect" on the market by creating a scarcity of money for insured and guaranteed mortgages in many communities, shorter amortization periods, higher down payments on homes and higher interest rates on conventional loans.

CHAMPION TWIRLER — A jubilant Jackie Rae Voorhees, of 255 Dick Ave., poses proudly with her baton shortly after learning that the Michigan AAU had appointed her national and state chairman of twirling. The petite majorette also received national recognition recently when she was named "all-American judge" in the activity.

Advantages to Community Cited by Project Leader

Perhaps "community-service buildings" would be a better name for the activity centers planned for construction at eight Pontiac elementary schools next year, local planners suggested. Besides meeting a vital need at the schools themselves, the structures will provide facilities to meet requirements of the surrounding residential areas.

A "first" in school building design, the circular, dome-roofed structures are slated for completion by next fall at Central, Crofoot, Emerson, Hawthorne, LeBaron, Malkim, McCarroll and Willis schools. They will cost about $105,000 apiece.

"We expect the activity centers to considerably enrich the elementary programs," said Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, building program coordinator.

"They afford opportunity for pupils to learn to work, play and associate together cooperatively. Pent-up emotions can be released at noon and during the day when bad weather prevents outdoor play.

"Youngsters of elementary age have short attention spans. You just can't coop them up in a classroom all day when the weather is too bad for outside activities. Unless there's some outlet, emotional problems will result.

NEED MUSIC FACILITIES

"There's a need for a good music program. Musical instruction can't be conducted in a classroom without annoying everyone in the building."

Other school uses will include physical education classes, hot lunch programs, after-school recreation, assemblies, programs by pupils, dramatics, speech and craft instruction.

Community activities will also focus around the centers. Parents and families plus youth organizations are expected to hold meetings in them. Adult recreation activities, such as basketball, volleyball, badminton and square dancing will probably be scheduled.

"The buildings should help in the fight against juvenile delinquency by providing year-round activities for community youth," Hufzinger pointed out.

The circular design is expected to effect several economies in construction. Some 13 per cent less material will be needed to put up the walls than would be necessary in a square building of similar design.

DOMED FOR STRENGTH

The dome roof will be built by constructing a wire-mesh framework, then spraying on concrete at high pressure. "A flat roof has steel beams, which are very strong, but tend to sag in a fire," said Hufziger.

"By spraying on concrete we get away from expense of building wooden forms needed when the material is poured."

At three of the schools, classrooms will be added at the same time the activity centers are erected to replace rooms now located in small, temporary buildings.

Four classrooms will be built at Crofoot, two kindergartens at LeBaron and five classrooms plus a library at McCarroll.

Some persons have noted that the circular design will contrast with design of the existing buildings beside them, said Hufziger. "The present buildings are old," the administrator explained, "for example Central was built in 1893 and it would be almost impossible to match it and still meet modern educational standards.

Hutchins Willing to Employ Red

Fund for Republic Chief Would Hire 'Qualified' Worker to Do Right Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic, says "the Communist party is a danger to the United States" but he still would give a Communist a job.

"I wouldn't hesitate to hire a Communist for a job he was qualified to do, provided I was in a position to see that he did it," Hutchins said yesterday at a news conference.

The 15-million-dollar fund has been criticized by the American Legion for having what it called a left-wing bias. The Fund was also criticized for interviewing and paying a fee to Earl Browder, former secretary of the Communist party, in preparing a study on communism in the United States.

Hutchins said Browder had no part in writing the study and was paid only for information he provided.

The Fund was set up by the Ford Foundation but is an independent organization. Its stated purpose is to foster and preserve civil liberties and the Constitution.

Hutchins said the Fund has no intention of withdrawing a bibliography, or list of books, which it issued on the subject of communism.

Hutchins defended the Fund's hiring a temporary press officer even though he had pleaded the Fifth Amendment when questioned by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee about Communist party membership.

The press officer, Amos Landman, was hired last July, three weeks after appearing before the subcommittee. Hutchins said he left the Fund Nov. 1.

Asked if it was not "an affront to the American people" to hire Landman, Hutchins replied:

"Not at all. The Fifth Amendment is part of the Bill of Rights." Hutchins said Landman had left the party in 1939.

U.S. General Lauds Viet Nam Soldiers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam's chances of surviving any Communist aggression are 7 to 1 in its favor—that's the opinion of Gen. John W. O'Daniel, comander of the U.S. Military Aid Mission here.

A year ago there were long odds against the young nation.

The potential of its new national army has changed the situation.

"Iron Mike" O'Daniel is leaving his post here this month and will be repaced by Lt. Gen. Samuel Williams. He said in an interview that man for man the national army would give an outstanding account of itself should the Communist Vietminh in the North launch a military attack against the South. But he pointed out that the Vietminh army outnumbers the Southern force of 170,000 men 2 to 1.

The high morale and combativeness of the Viet Nam army have been credited in large measure to the joint French-American training mission which O'Daniel has headed since February.

Flint Pledges $1,185,548

FLINT (AP) — The Red Feather Campaign today reported pledges and collections totaling 84 per cent of its goal of $1,417,851 with a week remaining of the drive. The total so far was given as $1,185,548.

Local Majorette Wins National Twirling Title

A willowy Pontiac miss joined the ranks of the elite among the nation's drum majorettes recently when the title of "All-America Judge of Baton Twirling" was conferred upon her by the American Association of Contest Judges.

For Jackie Rae Voorhees, of 255 Dick Ave., the honor climaxed a series of grueling written and oral examinations conducted by the nation's top twirling critics.

The classification is regarded as the highest a majorette can attain, and is awarded annually by the All-American Drug & Bugle Corps and Band Association.

A local dancing instructor, Miss Voorhees currently holds the Michigan senior championship in "strutting," a phase of the field which also won honors for her in the All-America exhibitions.

In her spare time, she teaches a class of majorettes and is official majorette for the Thomas A. Edison Drug & Bugle Corps of Detroit.

She has also served as guest majorette and judge in various competitive meets in the U.S. and Canada.

Her state honors include the chairmanship of baton twirling for the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union.

Happy Chandler Takes Election

Baseball Commissioner Wins Governor's Chair in Kentucky Vote

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A. B. "Happy" Chandler, who quit politics 10 years ago to become U.S. baseball commissioner, has regained Kentucky's political throne.

Kentucky Democrats yesterday elected him to another four-year term as governor by landslide proportions.

Headquarters of the 57-year-old Chandler, who served as governor in 1935-39 and later as U.S. Senator, predicted his plurality would reach 150,000 votes.

While his supporters sang 'Happy Days are Here Again," Chandler prepared triumphantly to take office Dec. 13, succeeding Democratic Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby, who could not succeed himself.

Chandler's smashing victory over Edwin R. Denney, the Republican candidate, climaxed a political comeback which he started in 1951 after losing his $65,000 a year job as high commissioner of professional baseball.

Returns from 2,336 of Kentucky's 4,032 precincts gave:

Chandler 305,346; Denney 204,629.

It was the first statewide race for the 51-year-old Denney, former U.S. district Attorney by President Eisenhower's appointment.

Chandler led in all other seven districts.

The entire Democratic state ticket, covering eight other top offices, was assured of victory. And the Democrats retained their traditional control of the legislature, which convenes in January.

Detroit Murder-Suicide

DETROIT (AP)—Police have listed as an apparent murder and suicide the deaths of Felix Dinkin, 53, and his wife, Mattie, 47, who were found shot to death in their apartment Tuesday. Dinkin apparently shot his wife during an argument and then turned the revolver on himself, police said.

Three-Month Delay Seen in President's 'Run' Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A possible three-month delay in President Eisenhower's decision on a second term may force other potential GOP aspirants to mark time in a critical preprimary period.

If the President decides to wait for 90 days before disclosing his plans, his action might foreclose the entry of other possible GOP aspirants into the nation's first presidential primary in New Hampshire, March 13.

Petitions on their behalf must be signed by 50 Republican voters from each of two congressional districts and filed with the secretary of state between Jan. 13 and Feb. 2 to make them eligible. They can't withdraw their names after Feb. 2.

Says Reds Lead U.S. in Training Scientists

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A member of the joint committee on atomic energy says Russia leads America in training new engineers and physicists.

Otherwise, he said, this country leads Russia by two years in applying atomic energy to peacetime uses.

* * *

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa) told the Knoxville Sales Executives Club last night that "our only deficit is in graduating young men and woman as engineers and physicists. Future indications point to 400,000 less persons in this field than Russia will produce."

Reporting on the recent international peacetime atomic exhibition at Geneva, Switzerland, Van Zandt said atomic energy is advancing rapidly "not only in the field of power, but in agriculture, medicine, and numerous other fields."

* * *

He added that the U.S. atomic submarines, Nautilus and Seawolf, already are outdated by new advances.

Shoppers Uninjured From Falling Masonry

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two 30-pound chunks of masonry fell six stories yesterday and crashed through the roof of an apparel shop.

No one was in the section of the store where the chunks landed. A gas heater and some dresses were damaged.

Henry Hornung, whose firm is wrecking the old Strand Theatre, said the cement and cinder blocks "got away from us."

Red Chinese Break Secrecy Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic officials made it clear today the United States will reject Red China's offer to join in a declaration swearing off the use of force in international disputes.

They regard the offer as loaded with a gimmick that makes it meaningless.

They said the United States also will strongly protest Red China's leaking of the news of the offer, reported Monday in the London Daily Worker, a Communist paper, even though U.S.-Red Chinese talks at Geneva are supposed to be private and secret.

It was because of this secrecy pledge that American officials in Washington refused to say what the United States will do about the Red Chinese call for a declaration. For that matter, they would not publicly confirm it even if it had been made.

However, it was noted that Secretary of State Dulles, who originated the idea of a joint no-force declaration last summer, stipulated it should specifically cover Formosa, Korea and Indochina.

Therein lies the rub. The Red Chinese offer at Geneva was to swear off force in "international disputes." But Red Chinese propagandists have said over and over that the question of Formosa — which the Nationalists hold and the Communists want — is a domestic affair.

Westbrook Pegler's Wife Dies in Italy

ROME (AP) — Mrs. Westbrook Pegler, 61, wife of the American columnist, died here early today after a heart attack.

Mrs. Pegler came to Rome with her husband several days ago. He had planned to leave today for a visit to Moscow.

Pegler said his wife had been ill some time and had suffered another heart attack while they were in Germany.

* * *

Mrs. Pegler's maiden name was Julia Harpman. She was a native of Memphis, Tenn. She was a well known newspaper woman, having served on the Memphis Commercial Appeal and later on the New York Daily News. Among the stories which she covered was the kidnaping of the Charles Lindberg's baby.

* * *

Arrangements have not been completed for the funeral services, which Pegler said will be held in the United States.

Babs, in Black, Takes Sixth

Heiress Weds Tennis Ace; Goes Home With Bronchitis

PARIS (INS)—Heiress Barbara Hutton again wore black yesterday when she took her sixth husband in a hurried ceremony which omitted the customary recommendations about the virtues of a lasting marriage and large family.

Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, 45-year-old former German tennis ace who now runs a cotton export-import business, is the new husband of the 42-year-old Woolworth heiress. He has been married once before.

The two were married in a brief quiet ceremony by Mayor Andre Mignot of Versailles, outside Paris.

Von Cramm and his bride, whom he has known since 1937, returned to the Ritz Hotel in Paris soon after the ceremony and Von Cramm said Miss Hutton was ill with bronchitis.

He said they plan to remain in Paris a few days or even weeks, then go to Mexico for a honeymoon.

"I want to get her into the sun as quickly as possible," he said. "She is not feeling well."

Von Cramm said he had no visa for travel in the United States and added: "We have no plans for visiting the United States."

A reporter reminded Von Cramm that "your wife supposedly said she should have married you 15 years ago."

"Yes," he said, "I think she said that and I agree with her."

Barbara's last husband was Porfirio Rubirosa, the Dominican diplomatic playboy. She wore black and carried a scotch and soda at her marriage to Rubirosa, a union that lasted less than three months.

Fall Is the Best Time for Planting Trees

Late autumn, despite its icy blasts and early snows, is the best time of the year to plant trees, according to City Forester Donald E. Nagel.

The official cites three reasons for his observation: (1) the presence of sufficient moisture in the soil. (2) roots grow during fall and are ready to grow in the spring, and (3) the other planting season, spring, usually finds nurseries busy and short on specimens.

Nagel points out that, although Pontiac's climate allows growth of all trees native to North America, city ordinances prohibit the planting on city property of such varieties as the box elder, Chinese elm, cottonwood, soft maple, willow and poplar.

The forester explains that the trees cited are vulnerable to insects, suffer heavily from storm damage, will "heave" sidewalks and curbs, and will grow into sewer lines.

The Parks and Recreation Department suggests as desirable varieties the little leaf linden, the Moraine honey locust, the Japanese Keaki, the ginkgo and the Serbian spruce, the latter because it is hardy and slow-growing.

Nagel suggests that roots be kept moist and out of the wind and sun until they are ready to plant. Damaged or broken roots should first be removed with pruning shears and branches trimmed back.

Holes should be large and well-filled with water. After planting, the area should be covered with a mulch to retain the moisture.

The forester added that the department will plant trees on city property at the request of property-owners who must pay a nominal cost. All other planting on city property requires a permit, Nagel concluded.

Wife of Clergyman Leaves Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—Mrs. Laura Lau, of Broughton, Pa., the wife of a Chinese minister, crossed the border from Red China today, border guards reported.

Peiping Radio announced on Oct. 26 that she was being given an exit permit.

Mrs. Lau, the former Laura Louis Auenstein of Broughton, was arrested March 2, 1951 and imprisoned until some time in the Spring of 1954 when the Reds released her. She has since lived at Canton with her husband and three children. Her mother is Mrs. Ida Augenstein of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. Lau, of the Church of Christ, had worked with lepers in Lienhsien, Kwantung Province, until her arrest.

Boney False Alarms

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Firemen have been kept bone tired answering false alarms. Firemen report they've answered false alarms, and found fire boxes from which bones were dangling on a string. Apparently, pranksters had tied the bones, just off the ground, to the boxes and then waited for a hungry dog to set off the alarm.

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — City Council has repealed an old law requiring the town marshal to meet each incoming train. This doesn't lighten the marshal's chores, however, as Jacksonville Beach hasnt been on a railroad for 20 years.

'Dead-Eye-Dot' First Lady to Collect Bounty

WELEETKA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Hendrix, deputy treasurer of Okfuskee County, has a new name today.

"It's "dead-eye Dot" in recognition for her pistol-shooting ability. Mrs. Hendrix found a wolf prowling in her back yard, grabbed her .22 caliber pistol and plugged the critter five times.

She snipped off its ears, took them to the courthouse and collected $2.50 — the first woman in the county's history to receive a bounty payment.

Medical Costs Hit Peak

Hal Boyle Says:

New Yorkers Point With Pride to Viruses

NEW YORK (AP)—Everytime an Eskimo visits Manhattan and opens his mouth to comment, the first thing he says is:

"Katchoo-o-o-o-o!"

This isn't a form of polar greeting. It is just a sign—sure as sneezing!—the fellow is coming down with a virus.

Happens with every touring Eskimo. Let him take one look at the subway and before he can even brag they got better looking igloos above ground back home, down he comes with the sniffles.

The people who come here to admire the skyscrapers in our town remain to enjoy our viruses. As a matter of fact the residents here no longer boast about the skyscrapers. That is taken as rather early century talk.

Your real true-blue New Yorker, full of civic pride, woud rather dwell on less well known virtues of our spreading cosmopolitan community.

We particularly excel in civilized diseases and uncivilized weather.

In the size of ulcers we don't claim we outmatch Hollywood. All we say is that we've got more of them. And we can prove statistically that for every two-ulcer man you see at Hollywood and Vine we can produce four three-ulcer men along Broadway. We have fellows who even go on a diet themselves but continue to feed their ulcers three square meals a day.

Other cities now and then call attention to an epidemic virus, but here we've got so many viruses we name them after the month. A showoff right now is a fellow who claims he's got an April virus in November.

Take a virus away from a New Yorker this time of year and what have you got left? Only a guy with a lonesome feeling. A virus is more than a form of social prestige here. It's a social necessity.

The common cold is highly uncommon in New York. A gent who isn't fast enough to latch on to a virus is expected to stay healthy.

Now about our uncivilised weather. Other cities enjoy a climate. We don't really have a climate. We have a series of used up and discarded weathers from other areas.

It is possible to find seven different kinds of weather in San Francisco on an average day. But what weathers when it is through with them? It stirs a wind and blows them here.

So does Canada. So does the Middle West. So does Florida. So does Europe. This is the world's melting ground of weathers.

Maybe Tucson, Ariz., can fry an egg on the pavement during a heat wave. We can't do that. The humidity won't allow it. But we can bust an egg on the sidewalk and soft boil it. Can any other city honestly make this claim?

Smog? We mail our surplus to Los Angeles.

If you come here from out of town and get homesick for your favorite virus or favorite weather, don't complain. Wet your finger and hold it up. Good or bad, a wind will blow it this way soon. Everything blows to New York City.

DON'T SUFFER FROM ARTHRITIS—

Read What O-Jib-Wa Bitters Did For Me, And Can Do For You

Mr. Glen R. Church
1404 S. 17th Avenue
Saginaw, Michigan

Mr. G. Church holding the evening paper up to read, caused vicious plain. My feet would swell up when I walked too, and I had to take my shoes off for relief. Many times I thought I would have to quit working because of all this, but somehow, I managed to keep going. I took treatments, but they didn't seem to help any, so I was becoming quite discoouraged. I often heard men at work tell how O-JIB-WA BITTERS had helped them, but I never got around to trying it myself, until one night, I read a testimonial in the newspaper that convinced me that I should give it a try. Right then and there, I decided to see if O-JIB-WA BITTERS would help me. I was half way through my second bottle, when I knew it was really bringing results. The pains stopped and the stiffness started to leave. It made me feel about 10 years younger. I am no longer bothered with arthritis in my neck, shoulders or arms, and my feet haven't swollen up since I began taking this great medicine. I have several friends that used to miss a day or two of work about every week, because of arthritis, but the ones who have taken O-JIB-WA BITTERS haven't been missing a day since. My son was laid up with arthritis in his legs. He took two bottles of your Bitters and before he had the first one finished, he was up, back to work, and hasn't complained since. My mother in laws used it also, with the same success. When I find something like this wonderful product, I like to tell other people about it. So, why suffer . . . Look at what O-JIB-WA BITTERS did for me. I'm sure it will help anyone who is willing to give it a fair trial."

The Beautiful Clouds

Did you ever sit on a sunny hilltop and watch the big white clouds moving across the sky? Sometimes the clouds look like a flock of sheep. Other times they look like a floating castle.

That's because clouds are always changing shape. Big, white, high clouds often mean fair weather. Those with varying shades of gray and hanging low are rain clouds. The darker they are the sooner the rain is apt to come.

There are four main cloud forms: cirrus — curled or tufted bunches that look like a mare's tail or witches' broom; cumulus — soft, white masses looking like wool packs; stratus — low and flat layers covering the sky like a dark blanket; nimbus — very dark and threatening rain clouds. See if you can identify the clouds in the sky today.

Would you like to join the girl in the picture watching the clouds? Just paste it down on thin cardboard and color with paints or crayons. Make the clouds white and the sky blue. By folding the base forward and the side panel back, your picture will stand up.

Junior Editors pays $10 for any reader's idea that is used. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper; it cannot be acknowledged or returned.

Ann Marie French of East Tennyson avenue is reflecting on the mountains of work before the Pontiac Camp Fire Girls in selling 15,000 cans of candy in the next few weeks. Ann Marie is a Blue Bird from LeBaron School. Their goal is paying off the indebtedness of their camp site located near Clarkston. Sales of the peanut butter candy will begin Monday.

Perfecting their sales talk for the sale of Camp Fire Girls candy are (left) Sharon Tyrell of South Anderson street and Kathleen Thebo of South Shirley avenue. Mrs. H. L. McLaughlin of Dick avenue is giving them helpful hints for "customer approach." The girls, members of Tekakwitha Camp Fire Girls group from St. Frederick School, will begin their real selling Monday.

Camp Fire Hopes to Pay Off Mortgage on Camping Site Through Candy Sales

The annual Camp Fire Girls' candy sale begins Monday. If it is a success, the girls themselves, through their four sales since 1951, will have paid off a 10-year mortgage on the Camp Fire camp site in four years.

The first candy sale for the camp site fund held in the fall of 1951 saw 5,000 cans of candies sold for a gross profit of $1,500.

The following June, a $1,000 payment was made on 120 acres of land one-half mile east of Clarkston. This land includes an entire lake and the surrounding hills and woodlands.

Prophetically, the lake was already called Gulick Lake—Gulick is the name of the founder of the International Camp Fire Girls organization.

Now that the balance has been lowered to $3,000, the girls are inspired to sell 15,000 cans of candy so that hope for a resident camp may be brightened by a midwinter mortgage burning ceremony.

BUSINESS HONOR

One of the honor earning divisions of Camp Fire is business. The girls receive beads for their ceremonial jackets in the business craft by receiving, selling and paying for the candy.

Part of the Camp Fire law is "Be Trustworthy." The sale is a very practical lesson in this rule. As further reward for their efforts, the following prizes are offered by the local Camp Fire Council:

First prize, Camp Fire skirt, blouse, bolero, tie and beanie. Second prize, Camp Fire skirt, bolero, tie and beanie. Third prize, Camp Fire skirt, tie and bolero.

Blue Birds (junior Camp Fire organization): First prize, Blue Bird skirt, jacket, blouse and cap. Second prize, Blue Bird skirt, jacket and cap. Third prize, Blue Bird skirt and jacket.

All the above winners will also get the honorable mention awards. Given for the sale of 48 cans of candy, the award is a registration fee for day camp next summer or a gift certificate for Camp Fire Girl merchandise of equal value.

For selling 24 cans of candy, girls will receive a Camp Fire song book. Also, each group will receive three cents for every can sold by its group members.

The Pontiac White House Conference on Education, held Tuesday night in Pontiac High School auditorium, was an exploration into some of the educational problems most pertinent to this community.

Mrs. William Wright, president of the Pontiac PTA Council, welcomed the 500 attending, a cross-section of Pontiac people representing business, industry and labor as well as civic groups, PTA locals, teachers, school administrators and civic-minded parents.

She stated that education is a community problem, and that this conference could be the beginning of something bigger and better in Pontiac.

Louis Schimmel, president of Pontiac Board of Education and Pontiac's representative to the National White House Conference to be held in Washington, D.C., Nov. 28, extended his greetings, stating that the whole concept of the White House Conference is sound and serves to crystalize opinion on education.

"We are fortunate here in comparison with other localities, and our concern is to solve our problems in a thorough and intelligent manner," said Schimmel.

WHITMER SPEAKS

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac Public Schools, spoke briefly, stating that active interest and participation of citizens will bring a more widespread understanding and appreciation of the problems of education.

* * *

Mrs. Charles Neldrett, vice president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, was also introduced.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Carl Nelson, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church.

Seven general discussion topics were chosen, with each group having a local group leader and consultant to answer questions and furnish information.

PTA presidents and recording secretaries were hostesses and recorders for each group.

Meetings were held in separate rooms, and the participants divided into smaller sessions preliminary to the general discussion. At the close of the discussion period, the groups again met in the auditorium for an evaluation report.

YANSEN REPORTS

Mrs. William Mihalek, vice president of Pontiac PTA Council and its program chairman, introduced George Yansen, principal of Wever Junior High School, who reported on "Meeting the Needs of Mentally and Physically Handicapped."

In the group of mentally handicapped, the children are placed in self-contained classrooms, not to exceed 15 pupils to a room. This program is operated to classify and meet the needs of the individual.

To meet the needs of the physically handicapped, four services are offered. They are the orthopedic, hard of hearing, sight-saving and speech correction. For these children, special rooms at different schools, special teachers and therapists are furnished.

The visiting teacher program works with emotionally disturbed children in all elementary schools, while speech therapy teachers serve all elementary, junior and senior high schools.

Mrs. Donald North, Pontiac High School PTA president, reported on the "Needs of Youth—Programs and Problems."

PROGRAMS OK'D

Recreational facilities now available to the young people, such as furnished by the Department of Parks and Recreation, Boys' Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, with good adult supervision and leadership, were recommended.

Questions raised concerned high school drop-outs, and what education is doing to prepare young men for military service. It was recommended that there be more counselors and that the visiting teacher program be enlarged.

Mrs. Paul Gorman reported on "Citizen Participation and Public Relations." It was recommended that better cooperation in all civic, religious and educational groups be established, that all groups participate in public and school activities.

Greater cooperation in the censorship of movies and literature sold on bookstands was recommended.

School board meetings are open to the public, to individuals as well as committees, it was pointed out.

Attention was drawn to the recently organized Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council which enlists the support of all organizations and individuals to bring out and try to solve the problems of our community, both educational and civic.

Henry Elling, vocal instructor at Eastern Junior High School, evaluated the reports on "Staffing Classrooms With Sufficient Well-Qualified Teachers."

SHORTAGE EXPLAINED

Reasons for the present lack of teachers, this group felt, may be answered by the fact that college-trained women can make more money in other fields, and that the present group about to graduate from college was born during depression years when the birth rate was at an all-time low.

Future Teachers Clubs encourage the young graduate to enter the teaching profession, and scholarships such as the PTA Teacher Scholarship stimulate interest. Raising requirements for qualification of teachers and higher salaries would make teaching a more attractive profession, the group concluded.

Warren Abbott, assistant principal of Washington Junior High School, made the evaluation on "Securing the Necessary Finances." Sources of income are local, state and federal, and in Pontiac the federal government contributes little to education, and the state and local each furnishes about half of the total. Increased federal aid is not encouraged.

More revenue may be raised by correcting inequalities in tax assessments. This must be done in a systematic and businesslike manner. The aid and assistance of people in business and industry in the community, who know more about financing, should be encouraged.

Robert Lake reported on "Adult Education." Pontiac has established adult education in the city, through the YWCA, the General Motors Institute, City Health Department and night schools, as well as PTA study groups.

MEET THE NEEDS

Courses are available to meet the needs of the community, he said, and if there are demands for others, arrangements could be made to meet the changing needs.

Otis Lawrence made the evaluation on the topic "Shortage of Classrooms and Other School Facilities." This group asked the date for completion of a new high school, and what was the responsibility of the school board in furnishing equipment for buildings and playgrounds.

A 10-year program of building is planned by the Board of Education as funds become available.

These reports and recommendations will be studied and put in form for the Board of Education to study.

This conference can help create a growing concern among citizens to face their responsibilities toward education in their community, and with greater knowledge of the city's problems comes better understanding, promoting the theme of this Pontiac White House Conference — "When Citizens Understand—Children Always Win."

Two Attend Girl Scout Convention

Mrs. Edwin J. Lally Jr., president of the Northern Oakland County Council of Girl Scouts, and Mrs. Jay Bendall, official delegate, attended the National Convention of Girl Scouts of U. S. in San Francisco Nov. 1 to 4.

Six thousand leaders attending the convention from all parts of the country heard Mrs. Roy F. Layton of Washington, D. C., national president, in her keynote speech.

She stressed the importance of Girl Scouting as a major force in the life of one out of every eight girls of scout age in the United States. She pointed out that Girl Scouting with its code of ethics offers girls a way of life rather than merely a leisure time diversion.

An all-time high membership of 2,642,616 girls and adults, reached on Sept. 30, 1955, was cited as further indication of the growing influence of Girl Scouting. The new figure represents a 14 per cent increase over that of last year.

Lady Baden Powell was guest speaker. She is the world chief guide and widow of Lord Baden Powell of Gillwell, founder of the world scout movement for girls and boys.

Why Risk Steady Deal for Someone New?

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boy I'm in love with has gone away to boarding school. We've been going steady for almost a year.

"But I find I like a boy in school real well. He doesn't know I'm going steady. I'd like to go out with him and not tell him, and not tell my steady, either.

"I haven't the heart to break up with him. I'd lose him for sure if I wrote him I wanted to date someone else.

"I don't like this local boy nearly as well, but I don't know him as well, either. You can see I'm plenty mixed up. What shall I do?"

Answer: You're lonely and restless and envious of your girl friends who are going out and having dating fun. You're tempted to have some for yourself, even though your heart tells you that you love the boy you're going steady with, and your mind tells you that you can't be disloyal to that deal.

It's the usual fix of a girl who is bound by a steady-going promise to a boy who is away. While he's around the deal works beautifully, and it's the only thing that matters. But when distance makes him inaccessible, the deal seems like handcuffs.

But you can't have your cake and eat it, too. You can't have a date with anyone else without disturbing your steady arrangement. He's the important one in your life. He'll be coming home on vacations. He'll expect you to be ready and waiting for him.

So, why upset your equilibrium by having an unimportant date with a boy you know slightly and only like medium rare?

"Dear Miss Woodward: I go out with him a lot and he calls me up just about every day. Sometimes he'll tell me that I shouldn't go out with anybody else, then other times he'll say, 'We're not going steady, so why should I care?'

"He tells me that he likes me, and he gets mad when he finds out that some other boy brought me home or called me up. Then he fools around with other girls! I like him, but I don't like the way he treats me!"

Answer: He's treating you just about the same way you're treating him. Though perhaps he says more about it.

He'd like to think that you liked him well enough to stop bothering with other boys, and pay all of your attention to him. You'd like to think that his interest in you could keep him from fooling around with other girls.

He gets mad when you're with other boys. You get mad when he's with other girls. It's similar medicine.

Why not talk it over and get things straight with him? Tell him it's either one way or the other. It's either free-lance with mutual blessings, or go steady in peace.

See if you can't decide between you which it's to be.

Functional Fabrics Serve to Control Heat, Noises

Once merely decorative, fabrics today are functional too.

Decorators have discovered that well-placed cottons can control heat, light and noise and hide architectural defects.

Often it is possible to "remodel" a house with fabrics alone, changing the shape, size and —through the use of fabric room dividers — even the number of rooms.

Unsightly walls can be camouflaged with wall-width curtains that stretch from floor to ceiling.

Sub-standard radiators and other fixtures can be blocked off into a separate alcove by draw draperies. Sliding panels of fabric can make an extra closet or hide bunk beds in a playroom.

Sheer cotton stretched across a framework like a Japanese panel can screen off a cluttered view without shutting out the light from a window.

Either a sheer or an opaque cotton canvas screen makes a decorative room divider to space off a dining foyer, or separate a living room into sitting and study sections.

DRAPES MASK

Draperies can be used to mask radio and TV sets, being drawn in front of this equipment when it is not in use.

Fabrics also can help to deaden unwanted sound. Along with noise-absorbing cotton carpets on the floor, heavy draperies along a wall can soak up sound from a piano, television set or hi-Fi system.

Recording engineers recommend covering the wall directly opposite a loud speaker with a closely woven cotton drapery material.

This absorbs sound, whereas a plain wall would make the sounds bounce back into the room.

Wall-to-wall cotton carpeting is recommended for its insulation qualities, which prevent base tones from being carried through bare floors into rooms below.

Decorators also prescribe cotton fabrics for controlling room temperature, blocking out sunlight in summer and drafts in winter.

The gold that glitters extends to corduroy this year. You'll find it in a pretty hostess robe in pale colors that's trimmed with shining ribbon.

Be Willing to Compromise in Work

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Most of us learn, as we move through life, the value of compromise—at least, in little things.

For instance, we may dislike our autumn wardrobe and wish we could burn every rag of it and start from scratch. Instead, just add a few things, doll up some old basic dresses and emerge with a perfectly satisfactory wardrobe.

Yet, vocationally speaking, we may be unwilling to compromise; we may insist on the rash move. And it's usually a mistake.

For example, Miriam is a girl who has worked for the same company for nine years. She began as a clerk in the bookkeeping department and is now an assistant bookkeeper.

However, she hates bookkeeping and has her heart set on some kind of writing. She has taken many evening courses in writing, mostly business and non-fiction articles and correspondence. She does well in it and is increasingly unhappy at the bookkeeping.

THEY SAID "NO"

She once requested, very tentatively and as if she were just toying with the idea, a chance at a writing job with her company. They said no, so she never brought the subject up again.

Miriam told me yesterday that she was going to resign and go elsewhere in search of a writing job. But it will be a big mistake.

In the first place, with nine years of straight bookeeping experience behind her, she will find it next to impossible to get a writing job.

And in the second place, it is entirely possible that she can work out some kind of compromise where she is.

The firm evidently knows and likes her work and she does have a good knowledge of the company and its products. But, like anyone else, the personnel director is not anxious to be inconvenienced.

He does not want to exchange a perfectly good bookkeeper for a raw writer, untrained and pretty much a pig in a poke.

So Miriam's course, it seems to me, is a compromise.

THE FIRST STEP

Her first step would be to make it really clear to the personnel department that she will not remain forever in straight bookkeeping, but that she would infinitely prefer to stay with this company rather than leave.

If they know how seriously she feels about the work, but at the same time are convinced of her loyalty to the firm, they will take her request more seriously and not write it off as a temporary whim.

Then, she must offer to do some writing on the side for them—credit letters, perhaps or a new form letter for slow payers, or some kind of writing which is tied in with her bookkeeping.

She must be willing to do it on the side, on her own time, to prove that she means business.

If she does it well, the chances are she will be given more of it to do, until half her time is spent on bookkeeping and the rest in writing.

After that, the sky is the limit. She may even be transferred eventually to a straight writing job.

Get Radiator Out of Way if Decorating

The best way to paint or paper a wall in back of a radiator or to refinish the section of floor under the radiator is to get the radiator out of the way.

The best way to do this is to disconnect the radiator and then move it.

The best time to disconnect a radiator is when the boiler is off and you won't be needing heat for a few hours.

If you have a hot water system, draw enough water from the boiler to get the water out of the radiator. Now turn the radiator shutoff valve closed and loosen the coupling next to the radiator that connects it to the steam or hot water pipe.

For this job you'll need a pretty fair size monkey wrench—a Stilson wrench is not so good because it will scar the union nut.

After this union has been disconnected, jar the radiator loose. Slip a piece of old rug or cloth under each leg and then slide the radiator out of the way.

Connecting the radiator back into the system is quite simple. Move it back into position and use small wedges under the legs, if necessary, so that the union lines up perfectly with the pipe coming out of the floor.

Run the nut up as tight as you can by hand and then give it a few turns with the wrench.

While you have the radiator out of the way it's a good idea to flush it out to remove any sediment from the inside.

This will prevent it giving off odors when the radiator is hot. If you plan to paint the radiator this is the time to do it because it's never as easy to paint a radiator as when you can get at from every side.

Pumps Varying Style Design

Time was when pumps had a lot in common with the Model-T Ford. They came in black, and the same shoe had to do for all occasions. Today pumps are still with us—more than ever as a matter of fact—but with a difference. They're tailored pumps, casual pumps and ultra-feminine formal pumps.

Each one is designed for a specific occasion in new, exciting leathers, constructed with a light, airy feeling, soft as the barest sandal.

Sharon Redenius Speaks Wedding Vows Before 150

Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church was the scene of the wedding ceremony uniting Sharon Raye Redenius and Richard Patrick Manning Saturday evening. The Rev. T. R. Allebach performed the service in the presence of 150 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Blanquart of Inglewood are the parents of the bride. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Manning of Oakland avenue.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin for her wedding. A beaded headpiece secured her fingertip veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias and carnations.

Mrs. James Jones wore an orchid ballerina-length dress of nylon tulle over satin wih a crystallette jacket for her duties as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids Marida Henderson and Lorraine Linebaugh wore gowns similar to the matron of honor's in shades of yellow. They carried bouquets of orchids and carnations.

James Manning was best man. Charles Redenius and James Jones seated the guests.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the VFW Hall on Walton boulevard.

The bride changed to a green crystallette dress with brown accessories for their honeymoon trip to northern Michigan.

IF jutting elbows, bony neckline—

The new longer sleeves, higher necklines, necklaces that frame the throat, should conceal any bony spots.

Soft wool or crepe street dresses with fitted three-quarter or full-length sleeves, and cocktail dresses too with long fitted sleeve, typify the slim and easy silhouette. Necklaces sit at base of throat to cover thinness.

Announce Dire Supply Shortage of Good Antiques

NEW YORK (UP) — Gloomy news for collectors of antiques:

One leading woman dealer says there soon will be a shortage of worthwhile old furniture and accessories from western Europe.

Mrs. Jay W. Saylor, who shops through Europe twice a year for her outlets in New York and Los Angeles, explained that there are three major reasons a shortage is developing.

1. American tourists and dealers already have bought most of the valuable items from estates and run-down castles. "Most of the good stuff is in the shops right on 57th Street and Third Avenue," said Mrs. Saylor. (The two streets have a monopoly on New York antique shops.)

2. Many valuables were destroyed in the bombings of World War II.

3. The western Europeans also now can afford to collect.

"We get a lot of European customers in our shop," said Mrs. Saylor. "It's like carrying coals to Newcastle.

"I think American collectors will feel the shortage acutely in a year or two."

Mrs. Saylor, a small, chic woman of Italian birth, has been running the business since her husband, an architect, interior decorator and collector, died in January, 1954.

As the shortage of old English, French and Italian furnishings develops, she said, prices are bound to go up. Some already have.

"I was amazed the other day to hear that a Queen Anne chair brought around $6,000," she said.

Her advice to anyone owning antiques:

"Hang onto them; they are growing increasingly valuable."

Here Are Tips for Making New Slipcovers

If you're planning to make a new set of slipcovers, take a tip from a lady professor and do it the easy way.

Prof. Marion Fry of the University of Rhode Island advises that zippers first should be placed in a single strip of cloth and then attached to the rest of the boxing.

She says since you are working with one flat piece, rather than a number of attached pieces of material, it is a much easier process. Here's how:

After determining the width of boxing (strip of cloth that fastens the top and bottom pieces of the cushion together) cut a strip of material as long as the zipper tape, and two inches wider than the boxing.

Cut the strip of material in two, lengthwise, and make a one inch seam lengthwise, combining the two pieces of material. Use the largest stitch possible on your sewing machine—making a basting stitch which can be pulled out easily later.

Press the seam open. Place the zipper right side up, to the underside of the seam, with the center of the zipper matching the center of the seam.

Pin the zipper in place. Stitch (from the right side) one-half inch from the center of the seam on both sides of the zipper—about 12 stitches to the inch. It may be well to stitch from top to bottom to avoid any uneven tension of the fabric.

Remove machine basting by pulling on underthread. Test the zipper to see that it works smoothly. Fastern one end of boxing (containing zipper) to the main piece of boxing, and then fasten the whole strip to the top and bottom cushion pieces.

ZANA LYNN ROUSE

The engagement of their daughter, Zana Lynn, to Wayne N. Jaycox, has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Purma Rouse of Balboa place and Ernest Rouse of Telegraph road. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jaycox of Rochester, and is attending General Motors institute of Technology in Flint.

Classroom Is No Place for Primping

Rudeness Shown by Students Who Chew Gum

By EMILY POST

The following letter comes from a high school teacher: "What is your opinion, Mrs. Post, of girls chewing gum in the classroom? Also, most of the girls powder their noses and comb their hair before the classes start. Is this not very bad form?

"I would like a reply from you so that I may put it up on the bulletin board for the class to see, and perhaps put an end to these bad habits."

Answer: I agree with you decidedly. All persons of good taste know that a classroom is not a dressing room! And while on the subject of classroom manners, let me add that courtesy to a teacher is not shown by letting her (or him) sit facing a gum-chewing class.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How can I serve approximately 40 guests at a wedding reception which I am giving in my house for a young relative. We have no servants and will probably not be able to engage any for this occasion. What also is the typical decoration of the table?"

Answer: You should not find it at all necessary to have anyone help you at a simple buffet. Put cakes and sandwiches and punch on the dining table with glasses grouped around the punchbowl, and the guests will very readily help themselves.

They would do this even if you had half a dozen caterer's men waiting on them. For typical table decoration—as much white as possible. White flowers, white wedding cake, white ice cakes, white and green, or white and gold china on a white damask tablecloth.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it considered good manners to solicit membership in bridge clubs, or must one wait for a bid?"

Answer: Certainly one waits for a bid.

Be cure you rinse your nylon stockings free of suds. This adds to their life.

Joan Prefers New Farm Roof to Diamonds

This is the ninth of ten articles on the professional and private lives by a noted INS reporter about America's top models.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

The fine art of being a mannequin is nowhere better demonstrated than in New York, the "style center of the universe." Not even in Paris.

Mannequins, sometimes crudely referred to as "clothes horses," utilize their skill and beauty to sell wearing apparel direct to the buyer. They are just as important in salesmanship as the highly-paid and glamorous photographic models who accomplish their selling job by posing for pictures to be used in advertisements.

Joan Pederson, one of America's top mannequins, is currently the rage in New York. She is the favorite model of Norman Norell, the famous dress designer whose clothes are worn by women from coast to coast. Miss Pederson rates the title of "Queen of the Mannequins."

On the runways at fashion shows, the slim, blonde Joan "comes alive" in the presence of an audience. She doesn't walk. To use her own expression, she "floats." In appearance she's sort of a combination of Garbo and Dietrich—a bit aloof and devastatingly alluring.

Another star among the hundreds of New York mannequins is Leonora Leiss, employed by Designer Ceil Chapman for the last eleven years. She works in a sumptuous showroom and occasionally does outside shows, displaying only Ceil Chapman clothes.

Leonora thinks so well of her remunerative profession that she is grooming her daughter, Lorell, 16, to follow in her footsteps. Lorell, who is now attending the University of Miami, did modeling with her mother in New York this past summer.

$30-$35 AN HOUR

Joan Pederson's fee as a mannequin is $30 to $35 an hour. She has no trouble getting it. For she is the pride of New York's garment district. In the trade they know she can "sell" clothes; they also know that American women spend about nine and one-half billion dollars a year on wearing apparel.

"I'm very pleased with $35 an hour," said Miss Pederson. "I know some of the top photographic models get $40 to $60 an hour, but I'm satisfied. I've reached the point where I can pick my spots."

Joan is a slender 5 feet 8 in her stocking feet, and weighs 114 pounds. Although she is Garboish-looking she does not have Garbo's high cheek bones or that inscrutable look. Joan has a narrow, refined set of features and a small mole on her right cheek.

She deprecated her own admitted beauty when I interviewed her. She said that in her opinion Garbo (pure beauty), Dietrich (beauty and charm), Lisa Fonsagrieves (the model with the elegant, aristocratic demeanor), and her own mother, Elsa Pederson, (just a housewife), are the most beautiful women she has ever seen.

With a straight face, Joan told me she'd "rather have a new roof on the farmhouse at Morris Plains, N.J. than a mink coat or diamonds." She lives on a farm with her mother and father, Henry Pederson, and her 4 and a half year old daughter, Lissa. She is divorced but admits she hopes to marry again.

She is 29 years old and was born in Morristown, N.J., where her dad is a watchmaker. Her mother came to America from Sweden, her father from Norway.

MODEL 10 YEARS

"I love the life of a mannequin," said Miss Pederson. "I've been a fashion model for ten years, since 1945. I was born and raised in Morristown and as a young girl I studied ballet dancing in New York. While studying I was advised to try modeling. I did, and I had so many appointments I didn't have any time for ballet.

"I have gotten a big 'kick' out of modeling. It has enabled me to travel. During World War II, I went to Europe for the USO with five Powers and five Conover models and visited France and Germany.

"Since the war I've been in many other places doing style shows. I went to Paris in 1949 for Vogue magazine and afterwards visited relatives in the Scandinavian countries."

She described modeling as hard work. There was a press week in New York which kept her extremely busy. Because she has TV commitments she sometimes started to work as early as 5 a.m. and worked as late as 11 p.m.

"I wonder how many miles a day I walk as a mannequin?" she soliloquized. "I'd say at least fifteen."

Occasionally Joan does television shows. Dave Galloway had her give the fashion touch to one of his programs and she has appeared on Arlene Francis' "Home" show, a woman's program. She made $160 on the Garroway show, rehearsing and working from 5 a.m. to 10 a.m.

"I love TV," said Joan. "All models do. Television is a show case. It spells opportunity for some of us models."

Miss Pederson remarked that she was afraid she isn't much of a story because she had no scandal to impart.

NO TIME FOR PLAY

"We read of so-called models going wrong," she continued. "We wonder. Remember that Jelke vice trial in New York? Well, we don't think any of those girls ever were established models. This business of ours is too exciting to leave any time for playing around."

Joan smokes an occasional cigarette but doesn't go in for night life.

"I'm satisfied with the quiet life," she explained. "I am happy that may daughter has security and all the love in the world."

In her appearances before the public as a mannequin, Joan is never nervous. She has a "creative" feeling for any garment she wears and the presence of an audience has an inspirational effect upon her.

"Maybe there's a bit of ham in me," she says.

Ribbons in Hair May Be Newest European Vogue

If the next hair fashions to be heralded from Europe feature hair ribbons, don't be surprised, but don't think it's a too, too foreign idea either. It may be the rebound of the excitement caused by New York hair stylist Lura de Gez during her first European tour.

Lura's big, ever-present hair bow, worn in place of a hat, is well-known in New York, but it caused almost as much of a furore as Gina Lollabrigida on the via Veneto or Champs Elysees. "I had to have my hair done—and besides, I wanted to see what was new in Rome and Paris," said effervescent Miss de Gez.

"But every hairdresser I went to kept borrowing my hair bow to try on his favorite clients. I must say, it doesn't go with the Italian boy cut."

Open Face Sandwich Has Sauce

Mrs. W. W. Parris Pours Creamy Soup on Bacon 'n' Tomato

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Here's a brand new version of a bacon and tomato sandwich, one that will be especially good in cold weather. Mrs. Worden Parris of Birmingham served it for luncheon recently and found it a huge success.

Mrs. Parris lives quietly, having few interests outside her home. She is, however, an expert gardener and spends many hours working on her lawn and flower beds.

Hot Bacon and Tomato Sandwich
By Mrs. Worden Parris

2 tomatoes
¼ pound bacon
4 slices white bread
2 cans condensed mushroom soup
¼ pound sharp cheese
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce

Cook bacon and break into bits when crisp. Slice tomatoes. Toast bread. Add cheese and worcestershire sauce to soup and heat until cheese is melted. Cover toast with tomato slices and bacon. Pour over hot soup and serve at once. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Some jobs have so many fringe benefits that workers almost forget to ask if there's any salary.

"Bright girl, my Betsy!"

I just can't get over the marvelous way my Betsy outsmarts her housework. Take wood floors for instance. I hear other wives complain about all the scrubbing and waxing they have to do. But not my Betsy! She cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. Why, she's through in half the time and fresh as a daisy! And our beautiful wood floors are always getting compliments. My Betsy and her Bruce Cleaning Wax sure make small work of a big job. I'm mighty proud of both of them.

P.S. For lighter waxing on linoleum and wood, Betsy uses Bruce Floor Cleaner.

Mom's Forgiveness Is Not Enough

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Should we punish a child who has confessed wrongdoing — and declared his remorse?

The mother of an 11-year-old boy wants to know. Early this month, he twice played hooky from school. Now he's confessed and protested his remorse.

His mother thinks that his conscience has punished him enough; his father doesn't. For two weeks, he's banned all use of the new bicycle Edward took on his truancies. Both the boy and his mother resent this punishment as too drastic. She asks, "What do you think?"

I think Edward's remorse can't be too real if he resents the atonement asked by his father.

And that his mother would do well to register the reality that Edward has incurred debt to other people. It can't be discharged by the phrase "I'm sorry." Like other debts, moral ones can only be paid by sacrificing action.

DUCKED DUTIES

Early this month, Edward decided to behave like a special person, didn't he? He helped himself twice to privileges which other children have to deny themselves. By allowing his parents to believe him in school when he wasn't, he ducked his responsibility to them.

By this unfair treatment of his group and his family, he's incurred moral debt to them. The fact that we say, "We forgive you, Edward," does not change his position as our debtor. All it does is pile more obligation to us on Edward.

If we care about his self-respect, that's not what we want at all. We want him free of obligation. And we want him to free himself from it.

That's exactly what his father is trying to help him do. He's trying to arrange things so Edward can look us straight in the eye again.

I suggest that this loving purpose be explained to his son—and that his wife support it.

MANY TRICKS

We mothers have many tricks to keep children irresponsible.

One is substituting our "forgiveness" for their own atonement for wrongdoing. Any prison warden can tell us about this maternal trick of depriving children of the chance to pay their own penalties by saying, "Mommy understands. Mommy forgives you, dear."

So let's not kid ourselves that keeping Edward dependent on our personal pardon is a loving trick. It is not. It just makes personal domination of him easy as pie.

By taking over the job of exonerating him ourselves, we can keep him our baby forever so that he never grows up, and never learns how to exonerate himself.

Cotton Rugs Cited Ideal for Homes

Decorators Report Carpets Should Be First Selection

With the stress today on function as well as decoration in home furnishings, more and more of the nation's interior decorators are leaning toward cotton carpets and rugs as the ideal floor covering.

Decorators advise that the carpet should be the first item selected in redecorating a room, since it covers the widest area and serves to unify the furniture and fabrics throughout the room.

New color and texture effects in cotton carpets this season offer a tremendous range of redecorating possibilities.

Besides these style advantages, carpets provide the psychological benefits summed up in the slogan of the Carpet Institute, "Home Means More With Carpet on the Floor."

Carpets provide more quiet, more wear, more ease of care, more comfort, more warmth, more safety, more beauty, and more value than other floor materials, leading decorators reported in a recent survey.

The sound-deadening quality of wall-to-wall cotton carpet and room-size cotton rugs was high on the decorators' lists because of the practically universal use of television in today's homes and the recent popularity of Hi-Fi phonograph players, which have made noise abatement a must.

REDUCES NOISE

Carpet reduces household noise, especially on stairways and in hallways which serve as "highways for sound."

For families with youngsters romping across the floors, carpets were recommended not only for the anti-noise factor, but for safety reasons also.

The non-skid surface of the texture prevents slips and cushions falls when they do occur, substantially reducing the danger of injuries.

Not to be ignored, the decorators added, is the fact that nowadays less housekeeping help is available, and that carpets and rugs make the housewives' cleaning work lighter, since they are easier to keep clean than uncarpeted floors.

A daily going-over with a carpet sweeper, plus weekly vacuuming usually suffices to keep the carpet clean and attractive.

Also noted was that carpets give both "psychological" warmth—as much as a "fireplace" according to one decorator — and physical warmth.

Floor draughts and chills are substantially reduced and the warmth of the entire room is greatly improved by the insulating effect.

SIGNE CAROL BLOMBERG

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Blomberg of Grant street announce the engagement of their daughter, Signe Carol, to Richard C. Wilcox. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wilcox of Auburn road. No date has been set for the wedding.

Oriental Design Slated for Shoes

CHICAGO (INS) — Watch for the Oriental influence in women's shoes next spring.

That doesn't mean women will be wearing two-strap clogs like a Geisha girl or pointed slippers like an Indian prince.

Where navy has been basic for years, shoe manufacturers now expect that in 1956 it will take a side-seat to beige—in tones dubbed bamboo, pongee, burnt almond, amber.

They also have revised their fashion colors to place yellow at the top for the first time in years. Others are kumquat corals, mandarin reds (which have more of a bluish cast than reds of previous seasons) and greyish-greens imilar to jade.

Ornamented heels for late day and party shoes reflect the Far Eastern influence even more. Heels come encrusted with fake pearls, rhinestones or tiny feathers.

A lot of these stiletto-like shafts are either lucite or metal. The lucite ones have embedded crystal-like patterns or shells or outward trimmings of spangles or rhinestones. Aluminum heels will be available in golden as well as silvery hues.

HAIR COLORING

The holiday season is just a few weeks away and with it comes extra social activities. It is the time of year that we do like to look our best.

Perhaps your hair needs to be brightened up a bit or perhaps there are a few grey ones that weren't there last year.

Perhaps you have hesitated doing anything to the color of your hair because of the streaked artificial job on the lady next door.

For that one person you see . . . there are perhaps a dozen among your friends who passed by unsuspected, secure in the knowledge that their hair has been artificially tinted to give a lovely and natural effect.

There are many treatments for faded, streaked to greying hair and all are attractive when properly done. Hair tinting may be discontinued at any time without going through that ugly growing out period.

Let us help you with your hair coloring problem.

Insurance Firm Lowers Women Premium Rates

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—Proof that women live longer than men is offered by a major life insurance company.

Under provisions of a new policy offered by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company women for the first time pay smaller rates than men of the same age. For example, a woman of 35 pays the same rate as a man of 32.

Consideration of the fact that women have longer life spans than men applies, however, only on a straight life insurance policies with a minimum coverage of $25,000.

Hunter Returns Empty, Takes It Out on Auto

CHICAGO (AP)—When police found a car on the North Side with more than 300 bullet holes in it they started looking for the owner.

Through its license plates they found him yesterday.

Herbert Schmidt, 22, a photostatic company employe and owner of the car, said he put the bullet holes in the car himself one day last year when he returned from a hunting trip empty-handed.

Storing Insulin in Case of War

Big Drug Firm Saving Two-Year Supply for Nation's Diabetics

WASHINGTON (AP) — One major producer has stockpiled enough insulin to supply many of the nation's diabetics for two years should atomic warfare disrupt production of the medicine.

This has been reported to the 62nd annual convention of the Assn. of Military Surgeons of the United States by Dr. Raymond M. Rice of Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis.

He suggested that the government also build up a stockpile of drugs.

"During the last war," Rice said, "disruption of normal meatpacking operations resulted in a critical shortage of pancreas glands, the basic material from which insulin is made. It was fortunate that substantial reserve supplies had been retained to meet just such an emergency."

At present, insulin for 24 months of normal use "is stockpiled at all times but it is not allowed to 'out date.' As older lots are released into trade channels they are replaced with fresh material and the two-year supply is maintained without loss."

As an additional precaution, Rice said, this reserve stock is not stored in one place.

Referring to penicillin products, he said his company — and presumably most of the other 9 or 10 basic antibiotic manufacturers — normally keeps an eight or nine months supply in stock.

New Twist at School

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — E. E. Barnett, principal of a school here, has a new twist to the "make yourself at home" routine. He greets new pupils with "come in and make yourself at school."

Probe of Inland Waterway Toll Levies Begins in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators move to Cincinnati, Ohio, today to look into a Hoover Commission proposal that operators of vessels plying inland waterways pay tolls for the privilege.

A special Water Resources Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Robert E. Jones Jr. (D-Ala), plans a 2-day hearing there.

One of the principal advocates of tolls on American waterways has been the railroad industry, which contends that it is being forced to compete with a subsidized transportation.

But Congress itself has displayed only slight interest in water tolls, and the Army Engineers have opposed them as vioating historical precedent and as too difficult and expensive to enforce.

In recommending tolls, the Hoover Commission said taxpayers would be relieved of the "cost of providing special privilege mostly to large shippers of bulk commodities and to large size pleasure craft."

COSTS GOVERNMENT

It figured that it costs the government 74 cents per 1,000 on miles to maintain inland waterways and that the cost of shipping on these waterways, including the Great Lakes, is about 29 cents per 1,000 ton miles.

"The railway freight rates would be upward of $17.50 for 1,000 ton miles," the Commission said.

Tolls it went on, also "would quickly demonstrate which waterways have now become an obsolete service and thus indicate those where the cost of maintenance and operation could be eliminated.

A strong dissent to these opinions, however, was written by one commission member, Rep. Holifield (D-Calif).

It was Holifield's view that the majority recommendation "can be used as one jaw of pincers to put many waterways out of business regardless of basic soundness."

The other "jaw," Holifield wrote, would be a proposal by the President's advisory committee on transport policy and organization to permit the Interstate Commerce Commission to set minimum and maximum rates for railroads.

If both of these recommendations should become law, he said, railroads could "reduce rates for hauls paralleling waterways to their bare, out-of-pocket cost," then force water shipping out of business.

Elections Give Dems Slight Gains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here is a state-by-state rundown on yesterday's off-year elections:

KENTUCKY

A. B. "Happy" Chandler, veteran Democratic campaigner making a comeback after 10 years out of politics, was elected governor. He defeated Republican Edwin R. Denney by landslide proportions.

All other Democratic candidates on the state ticket were assured of victory.

A state constitutional amendment to lower the minimum voting age from 21 to 18 was virtually certain to be approved.

PENNSYLVANIA

Democrats retained control of Philadelphia's city government. Former Dist. Atty. Richardson was elected mayor by a 132,000-vote margin over Republican W. Thacher Longstreth, who had the endorsement of President Eisenhower. The entire Democratic ticket, except one City Council candidate, was swept into office.

Incomplete returns from other cities indicated a net gain of several mayoralties for the Democrats. In Allegheny County (Pittsburgh), Republican Dist. Atty. James F. Malone was trailing his Democratic opponent. Malone has been mentioned as a possible candidate for senator or governor. Democrats were leading Republicans in Bucks County for the first time in 50 years.

OHIO

Voters defeated a referendum proposal that would have sanctioned the layoff pay program negotiated by some auto manufacturers and the CIO United Auto Workers Union. Had the proposal been approved, the program would have gone into effect next June. CIO officials predicted enough other states will approve to put the plan into effect on schedule. In Ohio, the issue was tied to a hotly contested proposal to raise state unemployment benefits.

INDIANA

Democrats ousted Republican mayors in half a dozen major cities — including Indianapolis — and in many small farm communities. Democratic victories in the normally Republican state were a reversal of 1951 results and came in such cities as South Bend, Hammond, Evansville, Muncie and Richmond.

NEW YORK

Republican mayors were overturned in eight cities — including Troy and Schenectady — but the GOP wrested six cities from Democratic administrations. Demo seat as they lost one other city to an independent candidate.

CONNECTICUT

Democrats defeated incumbent mayors in Waterbury and Norwalk, ousting them after eight years in office. Republican Raymond E. Snyder lost in Waterbury and independent Irving S. Freese in Norwalk. Democrats tightened their hold on New Haven and Socialist Jasper McLevy, 77, won his 12th term as mayor of Bridgeport.

NEW JERSEY

The State Legislature remained in Republican control, though the GOP lost three Senate seats — one of them for the first time since 1908. Democrat Edward J. O'Byrne was elected mayor of Paterson, the state's third largest city, defeating the Republican incumbent.

MASSACHUSETTS

Mayor John B. Hynes won reelection in nonpartisan voting in Boston. He defeated a fellow Democrat to win his third term. In partisan races, the Democratic mayor of Brockton lost to a Republican and Democratic incumbent in Springfield topped a Republican to win his sixth term.

MISSISSIPPI

Running without Republican opposition, Democratic Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman was elected governor.

MICHIGAN

John D. Dingell, 29, won the Democratic nomination for the 15th Congressional District (Detroit) seat made vacant by the death of his father last September. The GOP nomination in the special primary was won by Thomas E. Brennan, a 26-year-old attorney. The normally Democratic district will choose between the two in a special election Dec. 13.

VIRGINIA

Democrats held their lopsided margins in the State Legislature. However, they were unable to prevent the reelection of State Sen. Ted Dalton, the GOP's top vote getter in the state and possible candidate for governor in 1957.

WYOMING

In one of seven nonpartisan municipal elections, all incumbents were reelected in Cheyenne. Riverton elected its first woman mayor, Mrs. Willa Wales, a former schoolteacher.

UTAH

In an upset, Salt Lake City's Mayor Earl J. Glade was defeated after 12 years in office. Democrat Glade was beaten by Republican Adiel F. Stewart in nonpartisan balloting.

California

In a nonpartisan election for mayor of San Francisco, George Christopher, president of the city's board of supervisors, defeated George Reilly, a member of the California Board of Equalization.

Area Scout Committee Meeting Scheduled

Pontiac District Boy Scout Committee will meet at 7:30 tonight at Grace Lutheran Church, according to John Ostrander, general chairman.

Committee chairmen for the district, which includes over 1,400 Boy, Cub and Expoorer Scouts and 401 adult leaders, were announced today.

Donald O. Newman will head the organization and extension committee; D. B. Eames, finance; Gilbert Pierce, camping and activities; Ovis Gidcumb, leadership; Charles Pettit, health and safety.

The Department of Interior has set aside $16,537,600 for the development of sport fishery and wild life resources in fiscal 1956.

Brother Defeats Brother in Mayoralty Election

NETTLETON, Ark. (AP) — Two brothers were among the four candidates yesterday for mayor of this northeast Arkansas town, and one of them was elected.

The winner was Ben H. Flowers. He polled 158 votes, defeating incumbent J. T. Roberson, who got 143 votes; his brother, E. C. Flowers, who received 32 votes, and John M. Belcher who got 22 votes.

In 1624, the value of the Mayflower, the ship which took the Pilgrims from England to America, was set at $750 because she was then in poor condition.

The Biblical Beersheba is now the entrance to Israel's Negev territory where the Israelis are developing a desert region.

Hollywood Headlines:

Colman Returns to Films for 'Around the World' Bit

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Ronald Colman comes out of five years' retirement as a motion picture actor, although he has his own television show, to join the select group in Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days."

This means one day's work for Ronnie, and he likes the idea, just as Noel Coward, Marlene Dietrich, Sir John Gielgud, Frank Sinatra, Bea Lillie and other headliners like the brief engagement.

Ronnie's stint calls for him to play an official on a railroad in India, and he does his acting with David Niven and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

ARLENE'S HAPPY

A happy Arlene Dahl told me that she makes her first picture, "Portrait in Smoke," in Europe for Mike Frankovich.

"Fernando goes with me," she said (Fernando being her husband Fernando Lamas). "We stop first in Milan to see his daughter who's there with her mother. Then I go on to London and Fernando will talk business with several producers who have written him about pictures.

"We'll make our backgrounds for 'Portrait in Smoke' in Paris, and since we start Dec. 20th we're leaving here Nov. 17th. I'm trying to get Christmas shopping done and my clothes ready, and I'm really busy, as you can imagine."

Alvy Moore, who had polio just after his smash hit in "Susan Slept here,' is now completely well and has himself a very important picture. Hell co-star with Tom Tyron (Hal Wallis' new discovery) in "Screaming Eagles," to be produced by Bischoff and Diamond Productions.

Alvy has been under contract to Walt Disney and has been very happy with his Disney engagements.

"Screaming eagles" is the story of the famous paratrooper outfit of the 101st Airborne Division. This should be a natural for Alvy, who was in the paratrooper division of the Marine Corps in 1943.

BELLS FOR DIANA

Snaps: Look for wedding bells for Diana Lynn and John Rae, British naval commander.

The seven Russian newspapermen had so much fun at Disneyland that it was difficult to pry them loose to keep other engagements.

Kathy Grant was Big Crosby's date at the Blue Skies" trailer opening in Palm Springs. Bing, slouch hat, pipe and all, was very much present.

Bing's youngest son, Linny, came with Frank Sinatra's attractive daughter, Nancy.

The Jack Bennys and William Peribergs, owners, helped greet the guests.

Dinah Shore's been hearing regularly long distance from George Montgomery, who's making a picture on location. He's been gone seven weeks and she'll never understand how husbands and wives want to be separated.

Johnny Weissmuller will be an official American representative for the U. S. Olympic team when it goes to Australia for the games next summer.

Greer Garson telephoned to say she's off to New York for the Overseas Press Club program. She's been at her New Mexico ranch all summer.

Man Belabors Deputy; Then Marries 'Her'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The charge against John Ernest Thompson, 27—feloniously assaulting a deputy sheriff — was dismissed. He testified he had married the deputy.

The comely officer, Miss Lawanda Deakin, 28, had accused him of fracturing her right ankle, hitting her in the eye and dousing her with a water hose after a lovers' quarrel.

Yesterday she testified she had forgiven Thompson and they were married in Tijuana, Mexico, last week.

About 14 million tons of U.S. hay, one-eighth of the crop, was sold in 1954.

Public to Pick Best Picture

Audience Award Vote Will Be Nov. 17-27 at 8,000 Theaters

At last the people who pay their money at the boxoffices are going to have a chance to pick the best picture, the best performances and the most promising new personalities.

Their choice will be expressed Nov. 17-27 when the Audience Awards election will be held in an estimated 8,000 theaters throughout the country, announces Arthur H. Sanford, city manager for Butterfield Theaters.

At this election the American people will vote on the best picture of the year, the best performances and an actor and actress and the most promising new male and female personalities that appeared in motion pictures in the year ended Sept. 30.

Elmer C. Rhoden, president of National Theaters of Los Angeles, who is national chairman of the Audience Awards Committee, estimates that at least 35,000,000 ballots will be cast. All movie patrons, regardless of age, will be allowed to vote.

Twenty nominations have been made in each of five categories to be voted upon by the public. The nominations were made by the exhibitors of the nation from a list of all pictures released in this country between Oct. 1, 1954 and Sept. 30, 1955. A blank space is provided in each category in the event the voter prefers some picture or player not nominated by the exhibitors.

All ballots must be deposited in the ballot boxes placed in the lobbies of participating theaters during the voting period.

Prize contests in connection with the poll are being held in several sections of the country and the aggregate value of the prizes runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars. These prizes include completely furnished homes in fine residential neighborhoods, automobiles, clothing, furniture, food supplies, free trips around the world and theater passes.

Gold statuettes will be awarded to the winners of each category at a dinner to be held for the press in Holllywood early in December.

Although plans have not yet been perfected, it is expected the dinner guests will include the entire Hollywood press corps, representatives of the trade press, outstanding Hollywood personalities and competitors for the awards, and some of the nation's most prominent journalists.

Each theater will tabulate its own votes.

Wade Asks Review on Fraud Sentence

DETROIT (AP)—Morrison T. Wade, convicted and sentenced to prison four years ago in a $750,000 charity fraud, has filed a petition with the U.S. Supreme Court for a rehearing of his appeal, his attorney, Larry S. Davidow, states.

The Supreme Court recently upheld the constitutionality of the Michigan one-man grand jury statute under which Wade and his wife, Bessie Lou, were convicted.

Wade, who was given a 4 to 10 year prison term, has been free under $5,000 bond pending appeal. His wife was given a $5,000 fine and five years probation.

Wade's attorney said, "We must exhaust all remedies open to Mr. Wade before surrendering to the prison authorities."

3 Ex-Officials Join Byrnes to Deny Truman Memoirs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four former government officials have challenged statements about them in former President Harry S. Truman's memoirs.

They are Francis Biddle, former attorney general; James Byrnes, former secretary of state; Henry Wallace, former secretary of commerce; and Leo Crowley, former foreign economic administrator.

Their statements were made public by Life Magazine, which has published excerpts from Truman's memoirs. The magazine plans to carry these statements in this week's edition.

As Truman told it, Biddle resigned on May 23, 1945 because "I do not believe that he was as well satisfied with me as a liberal president as he had been with my predecessor."

In rebuttal, Biddle, now practicing law here, said he didn't quit but was fired. Biddle quoted Truman as saying he "wished to appoint someone with whom he would be more intimate . . ."

Truman's assertion that Biddle suggested Tom Clark to succeed him as head of the Justice Department also drew a denial from Biddle who said he told Truman he was "not pleased" with Clark's selection and that "I would not have recommended him." Clark, now a Supreme Court justice, was an assistant attorney general at the time.

CUTS LEND-LEASE

Truman mentioned Crowley in telling of negotiations which led to the trimming of lend-lease at the end of World War II. According to Truman, Crowley and acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew laid before him in May 1945 an order to cut back lend-lease. Truman said he signed the order "without reading" it and that American Allies raised a hue and cry "almost at once."

This happened, Truman wrote, mainly because Crowley "interpreted the order literally and placed an embargo on all shipments . . ." As a result, Truman said, "I rescinded the order."

Crowley, now chairman of the Milwaukee Railroad, said in Chicago that Truman "is in error . . . in stating that the meeting in his office on May 8 had to do with discontinuance of lend-lease."

Crowley contended the meeting was held to review procedure to be used in "continuance of lend-lease to our allies in the prosecution of the second phase of the war . . ."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass
Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Player Deals Mark Bosox Aims for AL '56 Flag

BOSTON (AP)—An all-out bid for the 1956 American League pennant was signalled by the Boston Red Sox today as a four-year youth movement ended with acquisition of veterans Bob Porterfield and Mickey Vernon.

Red Sox officials were in a happy—and optimistic — mood yesterday after obtaining Porterfield, Vernon and two others for five young players in a big trade with the Washington Senators.

"We didn't miss the 1955 flag by much and I think Porterfield and Vernon could provide us what we need to win the '56 race," said Boston general manager Joe Cronin.

In addition to Porterfield, a 31-year-old righthanded hurler, and Vernon, a top first baseman despite his 37 years, the Red Sox also received southpaw Johnny Schmitz, a 35-year-old veteran, and outfielder Tommy Umphlett, traded to Washington two years ago after a fine rookie season with Boston.

To swing the deal, the Red Sox gave up three pitchers and two outfielders, all out of the Boston farm system. They are righthanders Dick Brodowski, 23, Al Curtis, 25, and Truman Clevenger, 23, and outfielders Karl Olson, 25, and Neil Chrisley, 22.

The Red Sox obviously were prompted in making a bid for the 1956 pennant by the strong showing of this year's team, which after a slow start climbed into contention and remained there until fading in the closing weeks. The team wound up fourth, 12 games behind the first place New York Yankees.

"One more experienced pitcher of talent and an additional sound hitter and we might have won it," Cronin said.

Manager Mike Higgins, at his home in Dallas, Tex., said he was "very pleased" by the trade.

Cronin admitted that the trade ended, at least temporarily, a Boston youth movement begun in 1952 after several years of frustration with experienced "name" players in the lineup.

Porterfield, the key player in the nine-player swap, is considered one of the top righthanders in the American League. A 22-game winner in 1953, he fell off to a 13-15 mark in 1954 and to 10-17 this past season. He was at odds continually with Washington Manager Chuck Dressen.

While pitching for Washington, a second division team which finished last this year, Porterfield hurled three one-hitters and won 58 games against 56 losses.

Vernon, who will be 38 in April, is an all-star first baseman who twice won the American League batting championship — in 1946 with .353 and in 1953 with .337.

A former Villanova College student, Vernon always has kept himself in shape. Last season he posted a .301 average and 85 runs batted in.

The Boston-Washington deal was the second major one since the close of the 1955 campain. In the other, Cleveland sent Larry Doby to Chicago for Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby.

World Series Losers Make Many Friends

Yanks Are Good Will Ambassadors in Tour Through Japan

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Although the New York Yankees lost the world Series they are making thousands of friends for the United States while touring Japan, Co-Owner Del Webb says.

Webb is back after watching the Yanks on most of their post-season exhibition trip through the Orient.

"We were wonderfully received everywhere," Webb said yesterday. "I never saw such big and enthusiastic crowds. All games were sellouts, up to 75,000. The newspapers are crammed with pictures and stories.

"Japanese and American people share a common interest when it comes to baseball. It is a perfect bridge for promoting better understanding and closer friendship. The Commies have nothing to match it."

Webb said a Japanese player may wind up in a Yankee uniform. He says the Japanese have several pitchers who might qualify.

Nats New Prexy Seeks Dressen's Kind of Player

Calvin Griffith Tries Dealing With Yankees, Tribe and Bosox

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calvin Griffith, the Washington Senators' new president, promised today to keep on dealing until he has Chuck Dressen's kind of ball cub—young, swift and eager.

Griffith made his first move yesterday, a 4-for-5 player swap with the Boston Red Sox. Right now, he's in the midst of negotiations with the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees.

Nobody on the Washington club was willing to talk about what possible trades may be cooking, but it was considered likely that the two key players being offered by Washington are infielder Pete Runnels and pitcher Mickey McDermott.

* * *

Dressen, who took over as Washington's manager last season, likes a team that can field well, bang out singles and run. He won't turn down a long ball hitter, but he'd prefer the other sort.

* * *

The Senators figure the acquisition of Karl Olson and Neil Chrisley from Boston could give them a potentially speedy, sharp-hitting outfied, along with Carlos Paula, a Cuban Negro who impressed the Washington management last season.

Thus, the club's big problem now is in the infield.

Dressen and his aides are enthusiastic about young Jose Valdivielso, who played well as a rookie shortstop last season. They're satisfied with Roy Sievers at first and Eddie Yost at third.

That leaves second base, a position filled capably last season by Runnels. But Pete is a bit slow and has some difficulties making the double play pivot. The Senators, therefore, reportedly are eyeing the Yankees' Gil McDougald and the Indians' Bobby Avila.

McDermott is considered likely to go because he and Dressen reportedly don't get along very well. That was understood to be one of the reasons why the Senators were willing to send pitchers Bob Porterfield and Johnny Schmitz to Boston as part of yesterday's deal.

* * *

But if Washington gives up McDermott—its leading hurler in 1955 with a 10-10 record—it will have only two left-handed pitchers, Chuck Stobbs and Dean Stone. Thus the Senators could be bidding, possibly for Cleveland's Don Mossi (4-3) or New York's Bob Wiesler (0-2).

Nation's No. 1 Ground-Gaining Team Faces Pitt

Unbeaten Mountaineers Aim for Clean Record, New Year's Day Bowl

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

West Virginia, who will be looking to clinch a bowl berth and keep its unbeaten record clean, takes the nation's top point-making and ground-gaining major college football machine against the University of Pittsburgh this Saturday.

The Mountaineers, who face the season's stiffest challenge in Pittsburgh, were held to 358 yards and 13 points last Saturday by George Washington to continue as total offense leader with a 436.9 average on 3,058 yards gained. Their point making lead fell from 37.5 to 34.0.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, held down second place and maintained their lead in rushing and No. 3 in scoring. Denver, a newcomer, moved up to third place in total offense and scoring.

The Sooners picked up 376 yards and 20 points against Missouri, to close in on West Virginia with a 389.7 average and 2,728 yards. In the rushing department, Oklahoma has a total of 2,181 yards for a 311.6 average.

Denver, who was romping all over Colorado College for 579 yards and 60 points, thereby abruptly became a contender for the NCAA offense crown.

Hardin-Simmons took over the passing department as West Virginia fell to third place with only 5 of 13 passes for 60 yards against George Washington's tough defense last Saturday. The Cowboys lead in attempts with 189, and completions with 100, as well as in yards, averaging 159 per game.

Navy is in second place with 156.3-yard average and has compounded the fewer throws, 134. West Virginia in third place has an average of 154.3 while Denver is in fourth place with a 153.8 per cent.

Following West Virginia in point-making is Denver with 33.1, Oklahoma 31.3, UCLA 31.1, Army 28.9 and Texas Christian 27.3.

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP)—Centre College's unbeaten Prayin' Colonels set the total offense pace among small colleges for the third straight week with a 420.8-yard average.

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics said today the Kentucky school also was tops in rushing with 373.3 yards.

The College of Emporia (Kan.), undefeated and untied in 8 games, took over as the NAIA's best defensive team. The Presbies have allowed opponents 106.2 yards per game. Carthage (Ill.) is second in this department, limiting 8 foes to a 125 average.

Stuffed Bear Stolen From Taxidermy Shop

Someone got the jump on the bear season yesterday and "bagged" a 4-foot 365 pound brown bear, and not a shot was fired.

The "hunters," or culprits, needed only a pair of wire clippers and plenty of muscle to haul away the stuffed creature that sat atop the sign at Al Hilde's taxidermy shop at 1920 S. Telegraph Rd.

Hilde has offered a $1 reward for the return of the animal that had hung eight feet above his shop for more than 5½ years after it was presented to him by a customer in 1949.

The bear was missed Tuesday when a woman came in to report that the landmark she had used so often was no longer there.

Mister Gus May Go in Pimlico Special

BALTIMORE (AP) — Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus, winner of the William P. Kyne Handicap at Bay Meadows last month, today was added to the list of probable starters for the Pimlico Special Nov. 26.

Mrs. Richard Lunn, owner of Mister Gus, one of four United States entries in Laurel's International Friday, notified Pimlico officials today the invitation will be accepted and Mister Gus will start in the Special providing no mishaps occur prior to the race.

Attendance Increases

Cubs in 1955 draw a total of 875,800 home fans for an increase of 127,617 over the turnstile mark which was set for the playing season of 1954.

LA Rams Go Secret to Prep for Bears

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Behind locked and guarded gates at Gilmore Field the Los Angeles Rams are revamping their offense and defense for next Sunday's big game in Chicago against the Bears.

Ordinarily the Rams get Mondays and Tuesdays off after winning a game, as they did last Sunday against San Francisco, but Coach Sid Gillman figures there is a lot to do to correct the mistakes the Rams made against the Bears here.

Rich Colt Breaks Foot; Will Be Destroyed

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) —Joeph Leone's Rockcastle, a consistent 3-year-old colt with earnings of $59,600 this year, will be destroyed because of a broken bone in his left front foot.

Leone, a retired Massachusetts businessman, said yesterday Rockcastle suffered the injury while finishing fourth in a handicap last Saturday at New York.

Campbell Plans Test Run Today

Britisher Might Shoot for Record if Good Conditions Exist

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Briton Donald Campbell planned another test run on Lake Mead today in preparation for a new assault on his world speedboat record of 202.32 m.p.h.

His jet-driven Bluebird averaged an unofficial 198 m.p.h. for a mile run yesterday but only 170 m.p.h. on the return leg. Campbell said further carburetor adjustment was necessary.

Today's run probably would be just to determine whether to try tomorrow or Friday to beat the mark he set last July on Lake Ullswater, in England. But an associate said timers would be on hand and if weather and water were right Campbell might make the all-out effort today. This possibility was considered remote.

Lincoln Defeats Wever in Junior High Tilt, 34-0

Lincoln's Railsplitters rolled to an easy 34-0 victory over Wever in the final Pontiac Junior High League football game of the season Tuesday afternoon at Wisner Stadium.

Larry Sherwood's charges raced up five touchdowns in recording their 2nd win against one loss and a tie. It was Wever's 4th loss in as many starts. Yesterday's contest was re-scheduled after being originally slated Oct. 5.

Lincoln's TD's were evenly distributed. Jim Garrison romped 12 yards and Mike Iverson ran 22 for 1st-quarter tallies and Derris Nickles raced 25 yards for a six-pointer in the 2nd period.

Bill Davis passed for touchdowns in the 3rd and 4th quarters, the 1st going to Tom Obrien for 65 yards and the other hitting Gary Hart for 45. Three plunges by Davis plus another aerial to O'Brien accounted for four extra points.

Skipper JV's Tie Detroit Team, 6-6

Waterford Skipper JV's closed out their 1955 football campaign yesterday at Waterford when they settled for a 6-6 tie with Jayvees from Catholic Central of Detroit.

Leroy Vogt recorded his 7th touchdown when he scampered 20 yards for the marker in the 1st period. Visitors didn't take long to deadlock the count. In the 2nd period, Pete Teely passed to Bill Stiennets for 18 yards and the tying score.

Little Skippers finished the season with a 3-1-2 record and kept alive a five game unbeaten skein.

Eaglets Aim for Perfect Year

SUBURBAN CATHOLIC LEAGUE FINAL STANDINGS

OL St. Mary	7	0	St. Benedict	3	4
St. Clement	6	1	St. Rita	2	5
St. James	5	2	*St. Frederick	0	6
St. Michael	4	3	*RO St. Mary	0	6

*Played 18-18 tie.

Last Saturday's Results—OL St. Mary 44, St. Frederick 0; St. Michael 26, St. Benedict 13; St. Rita 12, RO St. Mary 0; St. Clement 7, St. James 0.

Win or lose — and don't bet against them — the result of Sunday's traditional season finale at Hamtramck between St. Florian and Orchard Lake St. Mary will be strictly anti-climactic for the jubilant Eaglets.

The 1955 Suburban Catholic League football race is over and Rev. John Rakoczy's newly-crowned gridders are whooping it up after winning their 1st loop title in St. Mary's history.

The undefeated, untied Eaglets annexed the SCL championship with surprising ease. Fielding a star-studded backfield and a speedy, aggressive line, St. Mary rolled through, over and afound every league opponent it faced without too much difficulty.

Even in its mid-season showdown with strong St. Clement, which finished in the runner-up position, St. Mary erupted with three touchdowns in four minutes during a wild and hectic 2nd period to win by two TD's.

Constantly an alert team which capitalized on every opportunity or enemy mistake, the Eaglets also developed a high-geared offense of their own and became a potent scoring machine. In seven league games they amassed 243 points, an average of nearly 35 points per contest, while yielding only 38.

St. Mary's "four horsemen" backfield — Ted Kopacki, Gerry Leszczynski, Paul Franckowiak, and Len Mallat—ground out yardage on land and overhead almost at will. Kopacki and Leszczynski were particularly brilliant.

Eaglets were not without standouts in the forward wall either. Ends Pete Madelans and Stan Majewski were outstanding in each game and stout performances were always given by tackle Tom Gardocki, guard Stan Smolinski, and center Clem Otolski.

Aside from St. Mary's Sunday date at Hamtramck, only St. Michael and St. Frederick have remaining gridiron activity. All other SCL schools have finished their schedules.

St. Mike's Shamrocks, who captured 4th place with Sunday's win over the Bens and assured themselves of a winning season, complete their card Friday night at Oxford. The Rams, suffering another disastrous year, close out their slate at Clarkston, also on Friday night.

FILLING THEIR CUP — Gen. Humberto Mariles, left, captain of the Mexican team, pours water from perpetual challenge trophy into individual cups held by Miss Eva Valdez and Lt. Roberto Vinals at Madison Square Garden last night. They had just won trophy after clinching the International Jumping Event and the Championship of the 1955 National Horse Show. Mexican team edged out the U. S. team, 6-5, in international competition.

Mexico Wins Jump Event; Dodge Horses Get 12 Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — If the U. S. Olympic equestrian team doesn't get busy, one of the best jumping horses in the world is going to represent Canada in the Olympics next year.

The mount's name is Copacabana, and he is owned by Bernie Mann, of Port Washington, N. Y. His Riviera Wonder captured the coveted open jumping championship at the National Horse Show which concluded an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden last night.

The U. S. team could have used Copa in the international jumping competition. Mexico won the final of the 13 tests last night in a jump-off with Ireland, and with it won the over all team trophy.

In the final standings, Mexico won six tests, the United States 5, Ireland 1 and Canada 1.

The Dode Stables of Lexington, Ky., and the Delaine Farm of Morton Gove, Ill., had a monopoly on the harness and saddle divisions. Each had 12 winners.

The Dodge Stables of Lexington, with 5 triumphs, while Native Dancer took 5 for Delaine. So it was a standoff all around.

But getting back to Copa. "He already has beaten the best in Europe in London's White City Stadium," said Mann today, "and I know he will win in the Olympics.

"The only trouble is no one from the American team has asked me for him. Bob Ballard of Canada wants him and I told Bob if Copa didn't go for the Americans I'd lend him to Canada."

Riviera Wonder finished with 22 points to 17 for Diamant, owned by E. R. Sears, of Prides Crossing, Mass.

Other important winners were Jazz Session, of Cobham, Va., in the Conformation Hunter division, and Duke of Paemian of Middleburg, Va., among the Green Hunters.

Kramer Given One Consolation

Tennis Promoter Fails to Get Rosewall, Hoad, but Signs Rex Hartwig

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Professional tennis Promoter Jack Kramer didn't succeed in signing up two Australian net stars, but the big Californian had one consolation today — Aussie doubles standout Rex Hartwig.

Kramer failed Down Under to land Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall for his winter tour. But he announced here yesterday that Hartwig, the Wimbledon doubles champ for the past two years, has turned pro and is securely in the Kramer camp.

Hartwig, who slammed his way to last year's Wimbledon title with compatriot Hoad, will get a flat $30,000 for his U.S. appearances, Kramer said. The rawboned Aussie also gets a percentage of gate receipts during a foreign tour in July.

* * *

Kramer said he plans to have Hartwig meet Pancho Segura of Ecuador in singles matches while Kramer tangles with Tony Trabert.

Milwaukee Ready to Make Deal With 'Frisco Club

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Coast League directors, who decided four years ago they wanted no further part of major league baseball, get a chance tomorrow to change their minds.

The Miwaukee Braves, one of the most prosperous clubs in big time baseball, are ready to make an offer for the debt-ridded franchise in San Francisco. The move would take the league off the financial hook, but would require a change in the loop constitution.

Joseph F. Cairnes, executive vice president of the Braves, has said flatly that his organization is interested. Equally bluntly, he has said the Braves are unwilling to make an offer until they find out what the Coast League wants of them.

That places the matter squarely in the hands of the PCL directors who meet tomorrow at Vancouver for the express purpose of deciding the fate of the San Francisco franchise.

The franchise is owned, at least in name, by the Little Cor., but the group, a handful of preferred stockholders and host of common stock owners, is on its last financial legs. Bills total in the neighborhood of $200,000 and there's no money in the bank to pay them. There are no players, either.

Ameche, Graham Set Pace in NFL Offensive Ranks

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The unpredictable National Football League has been predictable in one phase this crazy-quilt 1955 season—in statistics.

Almost from the very start of the season, Baltimore's Alan Ameche and Cleveland's Otto Graham have topped the league's ground gainers and passers respectively. The two pro aces are tops again this week in their specialties.

Ameche, former Wisconsin great, slowed up somewhat as the Colts lost to the Lions Saturday night. He gained only 32 yards to make his top ground gaining total 667 yards on 129 attempts. Howard Ferguson of Green Bay, third a week ago, jumped back into second place with a 564-yard total. Joe Perry, the 1955 ground-gaining king fell from second to third as he added 20 yards to make his total 486.

* * *

Graham was bottled up a bit by the hard-charging New York Giants but he completed 5 of 10 passes before he sat down for the day. His average is a gaudy 9.20 yards per pass on 51 completions for 91 attempts good for 837 yards and 4 touchdowns. San Francisco's Y. A. Tittle held on to the No. 2 spot with 79 for 158, 1,277 yards gained and 10 TDs. Tittle is averaging 8.08 per pass. Ed Brown of the surging Chicago Bears moved into third on a 7.95 average. Brown has completed 53 of 99 for 787 yards and three TDs.

Oosterbaan Cracks Down on Michigan Gridders in Effort to Save Precarious Big 10 Chances

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Easy going Bennie Oosterbaan cracked down on his faltering Michigan team this week to save a Big 10 title chance from a wrecked Wolverine victory streak.

But the way is narrow for Oosterbaan's seventh-ranked Michigan.

One misstep against either Indiana this Saturday or league-leading Ohio State the weekend after, could send Michigan plummeting into the no-one-remembers land of also-rans.

Oosterbaan can thank the narrow road to Ray Eliot and his fired-up Illinois squad who devoured Michigan, riding six straight victories, with the first Wolverine defeat of the season.

The 25-6 disaster saw Michigan's proudest weapon, its passing, reduced to a drive-stalling waste of time. Michigan made only 17 yard in the air and dropped from its third place slot in The Associated Press poll.

After the game, Oosterbaan concluded, "Illinois was great. We were flat."

To correct this dangerous morale condition, Oosterbaan began the week with fundamental drills, replacing the usual Monday horseplay designed to help the team relax.

Yesterday Oosterbaan put his injury-heavy squad through its first scrimmage since the opening victory over Missouri. Said Oosterbaan, "We needed it."

Oosterbaan admitted he's thinking of Indiana's heavy, mobile line and flashing, persistent backs like Milt Campbell and John Bartkiewicz.

The Hoosiers have lost to Michigan State, Notre Dame, Iowa and Ohio State.

But both Michigan State and Ohio State, the teams that rival Michigan for the conference title, squeaked by the Hoosiers with a 1-touchdown margin.

"Indiana's a tough team," said Oosterbaan. "I wish I coud have our boys together and uninjured just once this season."

Oosterbaan finally has his ends Tom Maentz and Ron Kramer expected to reach full capacity. But he has serious injury trouble in the backfield.

Oosterbaan may be forced to start a young, fast sophomore, Jim Pace, at the sensative left halfback position of Michigan's single wing. And Pace has a bad ankle.

But Pace may not be a bad gamble. Playing irregularly, he has gained 144 yards for a 5-yard average.

Despite his injury problems, Oosterbaan's big worry now is morale. If it takes hard work to shake defeat out of a team, Michigan can count on a lot of hard work this week.

Only Two Attendants

Three-Year-Old Colt Receives Strange Lack of Attention for Race at Laurel

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The foreign ways of handling horses are strange indeed to Americans and none more unusual than that of Panaslipper, the hope of the entire country of Ireland, in the International race Friday.

The 3-year-old colt is being given his final preparations by a 20-year-old—jockey Thomas M. Burns — and a 19-year-old—Brian Enright, a groom.

They have been the sole hands attending the Irish Derby winner since his arrival a week ago for the $65,000 race. Trainer Paddy Prendergast isn't due until today.

Americans would no more think of entrusting a high class race horse to such lack of attention than having him swim the Atlantic Ocean. This year's 3-year-old star, Nashua, had five attendants and his own mineral water from Arkansas for drinking when he came to Maryland from New York.

Burns will be riding Panaslipper in the race against 12 other hand-picked horses for the first time. He got the jockey job after Irishmen protested that a Scotsman, Tommy Gosling, was picked to ride their horse.

The Irish people literally own Panaslipper because he is the property of their National Stud. In fact, if he doesn't make a creditable showing there may be political repercussions.

The Fianna Fail, a political group in Ireland, bought Tulyar in 1953 for $700,000. The Fianna Fail was succeeded by a coalition group in which "labor" was represented widely. It recently sold Tulyar for $672,000 to an American syndicate.

In return, the new government bought Panaslipper and Vimy in France. Vimy has been hurt and is through racing. Some quarters view it as a "must" for the present Irish government to bring Panaslipper home a winner in the International.

Harry Gilmer still holds Alabama's passing record. He tossed 69 passes for completions for 960 yards in 1946.

Four Veterans Form Vikings' Mainstays

By H. GUY MOATS

Flint Northern High's football coach, former Central Michigan College ace and national small-college luminary, Andy McDonald, today exuded a bit of optimism over Friday's encounter here, against the Chiefs.

Reason for Andy's hope was the fact that he would have all four of his only 1954 lettermen in action at the same time for only the 2nd time since early in the season.

Hit by injuries of key personnel all fall, the Vikings have suffered their worst season in years. Bruce Campbell, fine quarterback, Jim Moore, center, Wally Van Alstine, guard and Ed Stokes, tackle are the only veterans, the bulwarks of the club. Campbell was out until the Arthur Hill game of last week, when he spearheaded the Northerners to a 7-7 tie. 'Jacks blasted Chiefs here two weeks ago, 24-13.

Loss of Arden Relerford, halfback, also hit the Vikings hard. But he's back and will work at right halfback, Andy said. Along with Campbell and Relerford will be speedy John Sharp, a track man, at left half, and Larry Arnold at fullback. Only Campbell went against Pontiac a year ago when Northern won 28-6 at Atwood stadium.

McDonald figured his other starters would include; at ends, Al Miller and Ron Warren; tackles, LaVerne Nichols and Stokes; guards, Tom Lambertson and Van Alstine; center, Moore; backs (qb) Campbell, halfbacks Sharp and Relerford and Larson at fullback.

"We've got a young team here", Andy reports. "It'll be coming along pretty good, and should be okeh another year. We'll have 29 of the 39 squadmen back in '56."

McDonald pointed out that Pontiac has great potential, and was "just afraid that Ed Graybiel's club will get its speed, ability and desire to play ball all together, Friday night. If it does, we're in for a tough evening."

Fans were reminded that this is the season's finale, and that it is the windup for Wisner Field's activities until next fall. Also that this traditional battle always comes up as one of the best of the year. Tickets are available at the stadium ticket windows, prior to game time.

RUNNING THREAT — Indiana, hoping to upset Michigan for a 2nd straight season this Saturday, banks heavily on the running of halfback Milt Campbell (above). A decathalon star, Campbell has scored four touchdowns for the Hoosiers this season.

Texas-TCU Tilt to Determine Cotton Bowl 11

Duel for All-America Honors Between Swink, Fondren Seen

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas-Texas Christian game at Austin Saturday will probably decide who's to play in the Cotton Bowl but it also has other important aspects—the top All-America prospects from the league will be dueling among other things.

The No. 1 battle will be between Jim Swink, Texas Christian's mighty runner, and Walter Fondren, the all-around back of the Longhorns.

Swink is rated the leading prospect from the conference for All-America by the Regional Board of The Associated Press, but as Lorin McMullen of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, a member of the board, said today: "The increased respect for Walter Fondren and Herb Gray of Texas is the newest trend in Southwestern football."

Gray is the brilliant Longhorn guard who has been playing like his life depended upon it in recent games.

Swink leads the conference in ball-carrying with 851 yards on 103 runs—an average of 8.3 yards per try. He also tops the scorers with 81 points, is a talented punt and kickoff returner, an able pass-receiver and a good hand on defense.

Foneren does everything. He has rolled up 450 yards rushing, kicked for an average of 37.7 yards on 35 boots, caught 13 passes for 151 yards, passed for 90 yards and 2 touchdowns, scored 39 points, taken 14 punts back 167 yards and 12 kickoffs back 250. Fondren personally won over Southern Methodist by passing for one score and catching a pass for another, and last week beat Baylor with three extra points after touchdown although he never had place-kicked for Texas before.

Ted Atkinson, Doug Dodson, Hedley Woodhouse and Johnny Chouquette are natives of Canada.

Ducks Hold Spotlight

By JACK PATTERSON

Pheasant season has all but run its course and last minute hunters can count it luck rather than skill if, and when, they uncover a rooster. To a big legal kill add about the same number of unrecovered cripples and it's no great wonder that birds are mighty few and far between at season's end. In some spots, though, birds remain fairly plentiful. As late as Monday, Ben Jerome, Jr. and John Hammond kicked up about 50 near Sebewaing.

PATTERSON

With a month of shooting left, duck hunting pretty much dominates the picture now, at least, until next Tuesday when a few hundred-thousand hunters seek to do mischief to the state's deer herd.

The duck hunting has got to improve a bit to satisfy everyone. It's been rather an odd season to date. More ducks than in recent years but shooting hasn't been all it should be.

Some hunters have hit it right and enjoyed splendid shooting, but on the other hand, many regulars like Ralph Austin and Noyce Strait have found things very spotty. A preponderance of south and southwest winds is blamed for much of the thin activity at Wildfowl Bay.

Houghton Lake has been rather consistently good most of the season and, barring extreme cold weather, should continue so.

State-bound duck hunters might take comfort from the fact that the situation is very much the same elsewhere. Recently returned from Manitoba, Howard Fitzgerald reports only fair success in that duck-haunted region.

Late season hunters who wonder why Bay ducks are so blindly shy might take into consideration an often overlooked fact that is quite important, at least to ducks.

Divers now arriving are quite apt to be decked out in full winter pelage and on the water show off a good deal of white. The old, drab decoys which worked so well earlier haven't much appeal for the brightly attired late arrivals.

Which reminds us of a thought. Watching a group of cans or redheads feeding, at any one time, you'll note that about a third to half of them are tipped up. The result is that the bunch of ducks appears to be liberally interspersed with white conical objects.

The thought: Why not fashion a few roughly cone-shaped decoys, paint' em white and plant 'em among a diving duck stool? Couldn't do much harm and just might make a difference.

A word to sky-shooters: The new "standard magnum" shells were designed to enhance the probability of clean kills within normal ranges, not to encourage attempts to stretch the range of a shotgun out to that of a .270.

Locally there is still some good pothole shooting, but ducks are very, very wary and their successful pursuit calls for considerably more patience than the average hunter of today can call upon.

Ditto with local goose hunting, which isn't being helped by mushrooming housing projects around the county.

Local rabbit hunting won't draw much interest until there's some snow. Partridge are legal hereabouts until the 19th, but if you don't know where to go, don't ask. There's just a few of us left who know and we ain't sayin'.

Annual 3-Way 'Derby' Offers $300 in Prizes

Heaviest Buck, Best Rack, Head Entries to Get Bonds

Last of the 1955 Pontiac Press sports department outdoors contests in which sportsmen can win U. S. Savings bonds, is near at hand.

The "Big Fish Derby" and the annual "Pheasant Derby" are — or will be — matters of history after Thursday evening. The biggest of the three contests, however, will get under way next week, with the start of the Michigan deer season (regular gun season, Nov. 15-30.)

As in other years this will be a three-way event, in which the winner of each division will receive a $100 U. S. Savings Bond.

The divisions are:

Heaviest deer (dressed-out) weight only considered. No deer that has not been dressed out will be received as an entry.

Best rack (best balanced, not necessarily the widest, or biggest).

Finest head (best all-around characteristics).

The rules:

1 — All contestants must be FULL TIME, bonafide residents of Oakland county, and deer must be taken in Michigan.

2 — An entry can win only one award.

3 — All entries must be filed not late rthan 12 o'clock noon, on the 3rd day after close of the season (Dec. 3). Extra days permit hunters to return from northern trips.

4 — Certified weight slips must accompany all entries in the weight division. They must be signed by the weigher, the hunter and a disinterested witness. Addresses must accompany the signatures. Slips must state weights are dressed-out figures.

5 — Complete information must accompany each entry. Clear photographs must be provided when entries are not brought to The Press for photographing. Entries may be brought in only between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. except that none will be taken after 12 noon, Saturdays, on Sundays or holidays.

All decisions are final and The Press reserves the right to rule on the eligibility of any entry.

Thieving Foxes Fall Victims to Greedy Appetites

Lewis Jones, who manages a hardware store in Drayton Plains, has been confronted with a mystery of late. But now the mystery is solved — permanently, he hopes.

A number of pheasants and rabbits, which Jones owns and maintains on his property at 5400 Hatchery Rd., in Drayton Plains, kept disappearing. The hardware dealer discovered that a thieving band of foxes was responsible.

The pesky culprits were killing and eating his valuable stock, so Jones went to work and set out traps. Monday night his efforts were rewarded when the traps yielded eight of the prowling creatures.

There may be more foxes around to make future raids. But at least Jones got rid of eight—with one blow.

Two Go Route for Bums

Billy Loes and Carl Erskine were the only Dodger pitchers to go the distance in games against the Giants in 1955. Loes won his complete game on April 15 and Erskine on April 23.

Joe Perry of the San Francisco 49ers has led the National Football League ball carriers for the last two seasons. His total — 2,067 yards.

National Title

Oregon Dog Champion in 4-Day Pointer Test

Gerl von Fabien, a handsome German short-hair, was crowned open champion of the National Pointing Bird Dog Trials that ended Tuesday at the Highland Recreation Area west of Pontiac.

A total of 69 regional champion dogs from all parts of the nation competed in four classifications at the trials, sponsored by the Weimaraner Club of America. The event started last Saturday morning and wound up yesterday at noon.

The championship dog is owned by Adelaide Frazer from Oregon. In addition to his trophy, Gerri collected $388.80 in cash. Fritz von Wehmann, owned by Gilbert Wehmann of New York City, was Open runner-up.

Amateur winner was Palladian Perseus, owned by O. W. Ogilvie of Boston. O'Connor's Michael von Zuppenhawser won the amateur derby division to garner his 2nd prize.

A group of 35 horseback riders followed the dogs during their trial runs and quails and pheasants were provided to test their abilities. Champion dogs at the Weimaraner show are automatically rated top studs in their breed.

Judges at the trials, were Dr. George Oehler of Springfield, Ill., Norman Ellis of Birmingham, John Hadaway of Flint, and Ray Dahl of Pontiac. George Hidgon of Detroit was Field Marshal.

Robert E. Hoover of Birmingham was chairman of the show. Haven Hill Lodge served at headquarters for the four-day event.

Danes Top Entries for Specialty Show

The Motor City Dog Show, sponsored by the Motor City Specialty Clubs, will be held this Sunday at the Detroit Artillery Armory in Oak Park, 15000 W. Eight Mile Rd.

Great Danes represent the largest entry with 110 of the giant animals entered in the show. Eight breed clubs and one obedience club are cooperating to present one of the biggest specialty dog programs in Michigan.

Among the other breeds competing for $10,000 in trophies are Collies, Boxers, Doberman Pinschers, German Shepherds, Chihuahuas, Boston Terriers, and Toy Manchesters. An all-breed obedience trial is also planned.

Show hours are from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Plenty of free parking will be provided.

Bags 15-Pound Fox

There's one less fox in the Oakland County area, thanks to Archie Acha, who lives at 4750 Norway in Waterford.

Acha, hunting in a party of five on state land near Ortonville, bagged the red-hued female with a 12-gauge shotgun Monday morning.

The 35-year-old hunter felled the animal with his 1st shot. Acha's dog then killed the fox, which weighed about 15 pounds.

State Eyes Upsets, Preps for Gophers

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State, eying upsets all around the Big Ten, won't be taking any chances against Minnesota.

It's another must game for the Spartans if they want to keep their hopes alive for the 2nd Rose Bowl ride since their recent debut in the Western Conference.

It MSU can manhandle Minnesota, it'll be a business of sweating out Michigan and hoping that either Indiana or Ohio State can do a hatchet job on the Wolverines to put the surprising Spartans in the bowl again.

Coach Ruffy Daugherty discounts the Minnesota's 26-0 loss to Iowa last week.

"One was up and one was down," he said. "I'm becoming more and more sold on that saying that any Big Ten team can beat any other Big Ten team any given Saturday."

Bill Yeoman, who directs the scouting team that is running Minnesota plays against the varsity this week, had a long look at Saturday's opponent.

"We need everything we've got to beat them," he said.

Yeoman pointed out that regular halfbacks Dick McNamara and Bob Schultz weren't able to operate against Iowa but will be recovered from their injuries for this one.

Once again, Michigan State will be going against a big line—similar to the Purdue giants faced last week. The Minnesota line averages 216 pounds from end to end compared with a 204 pound average for the Spartans.

Developments in practice this week prove the MSU doesn't consider this just a game to waltz through with an ear cocked for the word from Michigan.

The State strategists have armed Earl Morrall, MSU candidate for All-America quarterback, with a collection of saucy new plays.

Line coaches Burt Smith on the offense and Lou Agase on the defense have been schooling their charges on the Minnesota lineup variations—including the split shift.

Because the turf was slippery from a recent snow and because darkness falls so early now on the unlit practice field, yesterday's workout was a half and half indoor and outdoor affair.

Coaches shuttled team between the fieldhouse and the adjoining practice field with the last half of the session indoors under lights.

Herman Still Champ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger Coach Billy Herman still is in championship form.

Playing at his home course, Valley View Golf Club in nearby New Albany, Ind., the Dodger veteran fired a hole-in-one Sunday. He hit a No. 5 iron on the 155-yard No. 3 hole. The ball landed on the green, took one big hop and trickled into the cup.

Frank McGuire, University of North Carolina basketball coach, served as basketball and baseball captain while attending St. John's University in Brooklyn.

Elmer Valo of the Kansas City Athletics hit .363 in his 1st 179 trips to the plate. In his next 90 appearances he moved his mark to .368.

Ed Mathews of Milwaukee has 153 home runs in four seasons in the National League. It took Mel Ott six seasons to reach that figure.

Panthers Fear Mountaineers

But Hope to Spoil Perfect Mark for W. Virginia

PITTSBURGH (AP)—West Virginia moves into Pitt Stadium Saturday bent on keeping its perfect season intact but the Panthers, who wrecked Duke, hope to sidetrack the Mountaineers' bowl express.

This is the 48th renewal of the series between them, and a sellout crowd of 60,000 is assured for the 1:30 p.m. (EST) kickoff.

Asst. Pitt Coach Jack Wiley, who scouted the Mountaineers, calls them "the biggest college squad I've ever seen all around. They're a lot better club than last year.

"Look at their statistics," laments Wiley. "They've averaged 437 yards per game and 34 points to the opponents' 7.

"What is their weakness? I might lose a lot of sleep dreaming up a weakness, but I don't know of any.

Yale Captain Is Selected for AP Lineman of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Phil Tarasovic, Yale's football captain and left tackle, said last week: "We'd rather beat Army than win the Ivy League championship." The Elis, of course, did upset the Cadets, and it was Tarasovic's great line play that helped get the job done.

Off that performance, Tarasovic today was named The Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

The Yale line gave Army no end of trouble last Saturday in the Yale Bowl, chopping down Army backs with such force that the Cadets fumbled five times. Twice it was Tarasovic, a 21-year-old senior from Bridgeport, Conn., who flopped on the loose balls.

One of the recoveries set up Yale's first touchdown. The other choked off an Army drive late in the third quarter as the Elis pulled it off 14-12.

In the second quarter, the 6-4, 215-pound tackle smothered a fumble by Army's Pat Uebel on the Cadet's 10. Two plays later, Yale scored and took a 7-6 lead.

In the third period, as Army started a march, Uebel again fumbled and again it was Tarasovic who recovered. This time on the Army 38.

Tiger Jones Faces Dupas in TV Bout

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, an old favorite for armchair boxing fans, meets Johnny Saxton in a scheduled 10-round bout tonight at the Oakland Auditorium.

Although the fight is not being billed as a rematch, it'll be the second meeting between the two. If it's as close as the first one, television viewers (ABC-TV) are in for a pretty fair evening.

* * *

Saxton, who since then has won and lost the welterweight championship, got the decision in the initial meeting on a verdict as close as you could make it — 1 point. The 10-rounder was fought at St.Nicholas Arena in New York, with one judge calling it each way in rounds and the referee scoring a draw but giving Saxton 6 points to Jones' 5.

Quaker's 108-Yard Gallop Brings AP Top Back Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —"I was clear on our 35 and had only 65 yards to go. But they were the longest 65 yards ever measured. And I know a football field is at least a mile long."

Young Frank Riepl was talking about his fabulous 108-yard runback of the opening kickoff Saturday for Penn against Notre Dame. Riepl, a sophomore back on a winless team, has been honored as The Associated Press Back of the Week for his performance in a 46-14 losing cause.

How can you select a player as Back of the Week whose team loses by 32 points, Riepl, a 93.5 student when he graduated from South River, N.J., High School, wanted to know.

* * *

He was as aware as anybody of the great performances last Saturday by Bob Mitchell, in Illinois' stunning upset of Michigan, the superlative play of UCLA's Ronnie Knox, the fancy running of Lenny Moore in Penn State's win over Syracuse and others, all winners.

"Why me?" asked Riepl. "After all, we lost."

Riepl is Back of the Week because he performed like a champion against overwhelming odds. This 168-pound halfback, inspired his team to performance beyond their capabilities. The final score can't erase that accomplishment. It's easy to star for a winner, not so for a loser.

TURNING THE KNOB—Women, especially, are likely to profit from the use of a bit of imagination in imparting spin to the ball. The spinning action is applied by the fingers; never by a sudden twist of the wrist. So, imagine you are turning a doorknob—to the left for a hook, to the right for a reverse or backup. The important thing is not to rush the turn. Make it gradual, all through the downswing. Don't overdo it at the last minute. Concentrate on the follow-through and there will be less danger of a jerky, twisting wrist motion at ball release.

It is advisable to shoot pins on the right side of the head pin with a reverse on spares. The proper form is shown in the sketch. Body position is at the left of alley center. Feet are turned to the right to face the target. The doorknob action is reversed, to the right.

Bob Considine Says:

Satchmo and Loco Could Defrost Cold War

NEW YORK (INS)—People . . . places . . . things . . .

If Satchmo Armstrong is sent to the Soviet Union to round out those Muscovite squares, it just won't be enough. If we were bombing them we'd go back a second time. If Satch goes, he's got to be followed up, and the man for the job is unquestionably Joe Loco, the Typhoid Mary of the mambo.

What a one-two punch! If Satch can't drive those Red cats loco, Loco will.

"They ain't so cold but what we couldn't bruise 'em with happy music," Armstrong said in Geneva the other day with an expansive wave of his expensive trumpet.

Loco has his own secret weapon. This man who can play slide-horn, fiddle, git-tar, straight and curve-horns has put all these talents together and they don't spell Mother. They spell mambo.

This handsome, 34-year-old Air Force veteran had his apprenticeship arranging for Xavier Cugat, Vincent Lopez, Pupi Campo and others.

He put together his own group four or five years ago and came up with a mambo tempo for "Tenderly." Sold a million platters and began an epidemic of old tunes transformed into mambo time, including "Did Your Mambo Come From Ireland?"

MOBBED BY FANS

Loco now generally needs police protection for his vibe and drum man Pete Terrace, his bongo fellow Bobby Flash, his drummer-vocalist Luis Kant, his bull-fiddle fellow Julio Andino, and himself during and after a concert. The quintet has been mobbed from Harlem to Carnegie Hall.

Not bad for a fellow born Joseph Esteves and reared in an area of town that produces more than its quota of juvenile delinquents.

Loco got his stage start in high school, gave his music lessons a real college try, settled down early domestically, has two sons, 13 and 8, and a daughter, 4, and makes $200,000 a year beating out what he calls "the jazz of the jungle."

He and Satch are hot enough to defrost the cold war. Send 'em in, coach. They're ready.

Classiest husband I know is Bernard Shor, who is called "Toots" by Charles E. Wilson, Swifty Morgan, Broadway Rose and other celebrities. It came to pass that the wedding anniversary of the Shors found Mrs. Shor still recuperating in the hospital after the birth of their fourth child.

Anniversaries in the past have meant a lot to the couple, and Toots found a way to make this one unusual, too, considering the circumstances. He dressed in his best dinner jacket, took her a hatbox of white orchids, and sat talking with her in the hospital room until closing hour.

CALENDAR NOTES

Frank Saunders, the Irish thrush turned businessman, was telling me at the Tete-a-tete that Julius Caesar and Pope Gregory XIII would turn over in their graves if they were alive today and saw what was happening in the calendar business.

Saunders' firm alone, Brown and Bigelow, now supplies 200,000 organizations with calendars of all sizes, shapes and pictorial appeal. It's a big and important multi-multi-million dollar business.

The ancient Babylonians were the first to comprehend the calendar of the sky. Before that, Egyptians had used the ebb and flow of the Nile to mark the passage of time.

There was chaos until Caesar in 46 B.C. proclaimed the Julian Calendar based on solar calculation and enforced it with the sword. In 1,500 years it was off by must 10 days. Gregory XIII corrected this in 1582.

* * *

"The Gregorian Calendar will show no appreciable error until the year 4000," Frank said, toying with a chop. "Then a slight correction will set it straight for another 20,000 years."

Augusta Caesar was the first calendar distributor. During his 40-year reign he spread stone calendars at crossroads all over the empire.

The printed calendar intrigued Johann Gutenberg as much as did the Bible. Foremost calendar man of the 18th Century in this country was Ben Franklin, with his "Poor Richard's Almanack."

* * *

Saunders and I made a pact to meet again at the Tete-a-Tete for lunch when they change our calendar in 4000.

New Mexico, Texas Show Oil Increase

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Big increases in New Mexico and Texas helped boost daily average domestic production of crude oil and condensate by 82,375 barrels to 6,825,450 barrels during the week ended Nov. 5, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey shows.

New Mexico's gain was 52,575 barrels to 281,075 and Texas' 43,125 to 2,854,725. The biggest loss was in Kansas down 17,100 barrels to 317,900.

The week's output advanced the journal's estimate of 1955 production to 2,082,006,500 barrels compared to 1,959,476,950 a year ago.

Other increases included: Michigan, up 2,850 to 32,000.

Friday morning argument with the boss

Sounds bad, but it's good.

The man on the end of this argument is Don Ruff, director of brewing at Blatz. He's getting a fiery pitch from the shirt sleeved representative of one of our suppliers . . . all about an expensive suggestion that has to do with "packaging" the beer.

Is Don Ruff annoyed? No. Because the idea could well safeguard the quality of Blatz Beer's wonderful "Golden Flavor."

This kind of arguing goes on all the time at Blatz. And the net result is the flavor you enjoy in every glass, can and bottle of Blatz. "Golden Flavor" . . . crisp, clean, refreshing. Always the same.

And that's something worth arguing for! See for yourself! Make your next call for wonderful Milwaukee Blatz.

Ike's Farm Lawn Gets Presidential Putting Green

DENVER (INS)—President Eisenhower will have a new green to practice on when he begins exercising with his golf clubs at his Gettysburg farm.

A putting green was laid out on the spacious lawn of the President's remodeled farm home recently as a gift from the Professional Golfers Association.

Eisenhower, due to arrive at the farm next Monday, will begin "pitching and putting" there as part of a program of exercise recommended by his doctors.

Area Man Accepts Pontiac Dealership

The new dealer will have his headquarters at 51 N. Broadway. Facilities will include tire repair, and service and parts departments staffed by five mechanics.

The dealership is the only Pontiac sales agency in the Lake Orion area.

A veteran of service in Korea, Johnson is married and the father of five children. He is a member of the American Legion and the Lions Club.

Pair Captured During Area Burglary Attempt

Two Detroit men caught last night while attempting a breakin at a Telegraph Road hardware store are being held in Oakland County Jail, State Police said today.

The two, Blaine Roberts, 21, and John E. Montgomery, 24, allegedly were driving a stolen car when State Police Troopers Henry DeLoof and Gerald Tafel saw them turning into the store's driveway.

In the car was evidence linking the two with at least four recent Oakland County robberies, police said.

Grain Market Activity Mild

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains firmed slightly after an irregular opening on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were moderately active.

While there was some carry over of the presistent ilquidation of the previous session, demand was a good deal better. Apparently some buying was attracted into the market from those who believe price declines have gone for enough.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to 1 cent higher, December $2.03⅞; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.27⅞; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 64⅝; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, December $1.10; soybeans ⅛ to ¾ higher, November $3.32¾, and lard 10 to 17 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $11.72.

Steel Users Ferret Out Raw Materials

NEW YORK (INS)—The magazine Iron Age reported today that steel consumers are turning to the ancient system of barter in a desperation move to keep production lines going.

According to the publication, many companies have assigned special task forces to ferret out odd lots of steel that another consumer is willing to trade. The deals involve steel-for-steel, or steel for any other commodity that happens to fit the picture.

Meantime, the publication noted that despite the fact that new business is exceeding current record output, there is a question as to how long producers can maintain present levels.

It explained that with steelmaking furnaces and rolling mills being pushed to the hilt, the ever-present possibility of maintenance shutdowns, wildcat strikes, and other unforeseen emergencies assume more significance than they normally would.

M. R. (Med) Smith, former national used truck manager for General Motors, recently purchased the GMC truck dealership in Joplin, Mo., company officials announced yesterday.

SMITH

Smith will assume his new duties immediately. He and his family will reside in Joplin.

Four Firms Buy 213 GM Trucks

Hydra - Matic Drives in Majority, Division Manager Says

Four major trucking firms have ordered a total of 213 GMC "Blue Chip" trucks, a majority of them with Hydra-Matic transmissions, from GMC Truck and Coach Division, Fleet Division Manager A. S. McEvoy announced today.

He said Hancock Trucking Co., of Evansville, Ind., is purchasing 100 vehicles; Jack Cole Co., of Birmingham, Ala., 43; Southern Pacific Transport Co., of Houston, Texas, 37; and Interstate Motor Freight System of Grand Rapids, Mich., 33.

McEvoy said one of the most significant aspects of the orders is that 150 of the 213 trucks are equipped with GMC's Hydra-Matic transmissions.

"One of the orders, that of Hancock, is the second largest Hydra-Matic truck order ever placed with GMC. It ranks second only to the 1954 Railway Express Agency order for 1,000 Hydra-Matic GMCs."

Interstate specified in its order that all 33 of its trucks be equipped with Twin Hydra-Matic transmissions; Southern Pacific split its order, with 20 being conventional and the remaining 17 Hydra-Matic transmissions.

Jack Cole Co., ordered heavy-duty model DF-862 tractors equipped with sleeper cabs and powered by 6-cylinder GM diesel engines developing 175 horsepower.

Group to Revise Insurance Test

Plans to establish a written examination for insurance agents who apply for a state license will be studied in Lansing today by a special committee of the Michigan State Association of Life Underwriters.

A spokesman for the nine-member group said today that the association expects to determine the type of questions in the test by April 1 when recent insurance law changes adopted by the Legislature will go into effect.

Among delegates invited to participate in the conferences was Louis Pohl, Pontiac district manager of the Life Insurance Co. of Virginia. Pohl is a former state president of the association, and is currently a member of the national group's Commission on Education.

New Court Ruling Frees Three Turncoat Soldiers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three turncoat former U. S. soldiers who once renounced "the land of McCarthyism and McCarranism" for life with their Communist Chinese captors were free today — but their future was uncertain.

The Army, acting on orders of a federal judge, yesterday released Otho G. Bell, William A. Cowart and Lewie W. Griggs from Ft. Baker Stockade.

As photographers and reporters crowded around, Coward, 22 of Dalton, Ga., said as spokesman for the three:

* * *

"We feel now about American justice the same as always. We're in the most democratic country in the world."

SAID NOTHING

Griggs, 23, of Neches, Tex., typically said nothing.

Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., declared in an emotion-charged voice "I'm going to do everything in my power to prove myself a good American citizen by doing everything in my power to destroy communism."

How long they remain free is a question.

The U. S. Supreme Court ruled Monday that civilians cannot be tried in military courts for offenses allegedly committed while they were in service.

And the turncoats are civilians, dishonorably discharged after they refused repatriation at Panmunjom, Korea, in January, 1954.

However, the federal government may still enter the case and try them for treason.

Packard to Accent '56 'Luxury' Models

Establishment of a Packard-Clipper division fleet sales department has been announced by Robert P. Laughna, division general manager and vice-president of Studebaker-Packard Corporation.

The new fleet sales department, of which S. E. White becomes manager, will concentrate on marketing the division's luxury line of Packard models to industrial organizations, for-hire limousine operators, state highway patrols and turnpike authorities.

Laughna said establishment of the fleet sales department was dictated by a "sharp increase in demand for Packard models among fleet users during the 1955 model year." A substantial volume of business, he said, "literally came to us over the transom."

On the basis of contacts already made by the newly established fleet sales department, Laughna forecast that fleet purchases will account for about three per cent of Packard-Clipper division sales volume during 1956.

Dr. Small Given Divorce; Sons Awarded to Wife

DETROIT (AP) — The marriage of Dr. Kenneth B. Small, who killed for his wife's love 18 months ago, ended quietly yesterday in circuit court.

The Detroit dentist, who shot to death his wife Edith's suitor at a Lake Michigan cottage rendevous May 29, 1954, was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Small, now living in Los Angeles with the couple's three sons, was not present at the proceedings.

Brought to trial for the slaying of New Yorker Jules Lack, Dr. Small, 32, was acquitted of murder by reason of insanity. He was committed to a state mental hospital and less than two months later was found sane and released.

The tall, quiet dentist, once again taking the witness stand recalled some of the testimony from his murder trial.

"When my wife returned from a 1954" he testified "she said she no longer loved me and didn't want anything to do with me."

MET LACK IN FLORIDA

It was in Florida that pretty dark-haired Mrs. Small met Lack and began the ill-starred affair which ended in tragedy near Allegan.

"It came as a complete shock" Dr. Small continued, "I always thought we had been happy. I was driven temporarily insane."

Mrs. Small 31 who stood by her husband during the trial was granted custody of the three boys and $25 a week support for each of them. She also was awarded a $10,000 trust fund to be held for the children.

Mrs. Small already receives $880 monthly from a trust fund set up by her parents.

Dr. Small also asked for a waiver of a six-month interlocutory decree. This would permit either to marry again immediately. Judge Frank B. Ferguson said he would take the request under advisement.

In asking for the waiver Dr. Small said "it would be better for all parties concerned and would give her a chance to start over again and we can all start living a new life."

More Car Windows Broken During Night

Five more cases of car windows broken at night were reported by residents of the southeastern part of the city Tuesday.

"Evidently there are some juveniles on a rampage," Insp. Clark M. Wheaton of the Pontiac Police said.

He said that a police car is assigned to cruise the area at night. "We'll get whoever it is," he warned.

Wheaton pointed out that the marauders prefer to damage one particular make car. Four of the five cars damaged Monday night were Oldsmobiles, as well as two of the four cars damaged Sunday.

'Make Your Own Prices,' Official Tells Dairymen

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Federal Trade Commissioner Lowell B. Mason has bluntly advised the nation's dairy farmers to get a "do it yourself" kit and quit depending on the government for price support.

More aggressive merchandising as an answer to the surplus problem was outlined by Mason before the National Milk Producers Federation convention in Los Angeles.

He said the industry has "missed the boat" in failing to whet the public appetite for products whose perishability has been overcome by high-speed distribution.

The senior FTC member described himself as a "bureaucrat dedicated to fighting concentration of power in Washington."

He said: "The welfare of our nation depends not so much on the permanent solution of the milk surplus problem by the government as it does on the Democratic method of merchandising and promotion by the industry itself."

He added: "Start worrying about how much stale butter is being sold. Start playing up the freshness of your milk. Delicacy is what people want in a rising economy. I think dairymen spend too much time fighting milk substitutes and not enough time pushing the advantages of new milk styles, buttermilk, non-fat milk and all the new ways that this most healthful of all life-giving liquids can be served."

Martin, Lewis to Spoof Shows

Perry Como Program May Go to Hollywood in February

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Judy Garland's husband, Sid Luft, tells us he's in negotiation with CBS for two giant telecasts a year for three years at a giant fee . . .

U.S. Steel's drama "The Freighter" was bought by H'wood producer Jack Deitz, who will turn it into a Warner Bros. big production . . .

Harry Joe Brown, the veteran director, took over "Crossroads" to help perk up that ecclesiastical whodunit series . . .

Martin & Lewis will spoof late-evening TV shows Sunday, which was supposed to have been a "secret" satire.

Betty Blythe is the latest silent film star to make a comeback via TV on Thursday's "Bedtime Story" on Climax . . .

Pat Benoit, erstwhile Mrs. Peepers, will portray gal reporter Maggie Higgins on "Dateline," Overseas Press club spectacular next Monday . . .

'WESKIT' TO STAR

Tony Randall, Harvey Weskit of the former Peeperscast, stars with Eva Gabor on Nov. 20's Goodyear Playhouse.

Now that Gino Prato and his daughter have appeared with Perry Como, Mrs. Gino will make it a clean sweep for the family Saturday when she also appears with pal Pierino . . .

Perry might do a month of Saturdays from H'wood in February to take advantage of all those big names out there, none as big or nice as Perry.

Art Carney has been signed to play a fantasy football coach on "Omnibus."

NBC is trying to coax the Vienna Opera for a spectacular.

Jackie Gleason edged back up a few rating points Saturday in "The Honeymooners" but his full TV hour still lags behind Perry Como's NBC musicale . . .

"$64,000" vicariously bribed its way into the public's affections again in the latest survey of the American Research Bureau; "Lucy" is second, "Hit Parade" and Gobel runners-up . . .

The latest Nielsen nose-count gives NBC six out of the top 10 sponsored shows.

Ken Murray tries a comeback Saturday night via "Stage Show" . . . with Lu Ann Simms and Billy Daniels to bolster that sagging opus . . .

Mickey Mouse Club not only is the highest rated daytimer, it even won nine of the top 10 daytime Nielsen ratings (Mickey is sliced into quarter-hours for sponsor separation), led only by the World Series. Couldn't happen to a nicer rat.

NBC is delivering the best available acting talent for its afternoon drama series "Matinee," Geraldine Page, for instance, who'll star Thursday in "An Apple for Miss Myrtle," about a small town school marm . . .

James Daly, whose Foreign Intrigue now has been abandoned for better-paying domestic dramatic intrigue, stars Friday in "The Man Without a Country" in honor of Veterans' Day . . . Good supporting casts, too . . .

The "Matinee" plays have been sort of soap-operatic in flavor—but very good suds.

"Capt. Kangaroo" has been on the CBS screens long enough to establish it as one of the most intelligent kiddies' programs. Bob Keeshan has fine instinct for the precisely proper, and still amusing, kid-size psychology.

She also asked for furniture and household effects from her husband, Edward.

PORT OF SPAIN—I was just catching a plane at "Robinson Crusoe's Island"—as they call Tobago—when I saw a familiar kisser and heard its owner heckling me.

It was Pres. Eisenhower's speechwriter and general utility man, Dr. Kevin McCann, lately of Defiance, O., and he was saying to me, "You're pretty far from Holgate, O."

★ ★ ★ ★

It's Joe E. Brown who comes from Holgate. My little town was Rockford, O.

But anyway, Kevin McCann—there on the cocoanut island—told me he was astonished how well Ike looked when he visited him a few days ago in Denver.

"He's only lost four pounds—all around the middle—and if I hadn't known he was sick I could hardly guess it from his appearance," Mrs. McCann said.

McCann, who was president of Defiance College when Ike snatched him to Washington, is himself resting—by very strict doctors' orders. "He had headaches, popping eyes and all that—we were afraid something serious would happen to him unless he got a vacation," Mrs. McCann said.

So nowadays when a columnist goes from name-dropping to island-dropping he runs into chitchat in the strangest countries.

VIRGINIA

Virginia Warren, for example, wasn't sure until she read in the Trinidad papers that her sister, Honey Bear, had just got married. It was on "Robinson Crusoe's Island" that Virginia told me about that.

"Ann Miller'd phoned her mother in Los Angeles and her mother'd told her to tell me," Virginia related.

"But I said it couldn't be. They were just going to announce their engagement. Still, there it was in the paper."

"Well, if you ever hear about your dad deciding to run for President, will you mention it to me?" I asked. "You'll have to tell me," answered Virginia.

Housewife Flunks Test—Loses $8,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A 59-year-old housewife — egged on by her husband to try the $16,000 question—has flunked in her literature category on the CBS radio and television show "The $64,000 Question.

Mrs. Polly Culbertson, of Pottstown, Pa., failed last night on a five-part question on the authors of books about a better world. She received an expensive automobile as a consolation prize.

Mrs. Culbertson said she had told her husband, a retired Navy man, that she would "take my $8,000 and run," but he replied: "You'll do nothing of the sort. That's like leaving a poker game when you're winning."

She won the $8,000 a week ago and could have quit with it.

"I don't know" was her reply last night when she was asked to name of authors of five books: "The Republic" (Plato); "Erewhon" (Samuel Butler); "Looking Backward" (Edward Bellamy); "Brave New World" (Aldous Huxley); and "Utopia" (Sir Thomas More).

Grizzled Kansas Farmer Offers Plan to Agriculture Committee to End Woes

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (INS) — A grizzled Kansas farmer told Senators yesterday that "thousands and thousands of laws on the books ain't worth a cuss so we could add one more good one."

* * *

J. O. Snyder, a mustached resident of Peck, Kas.—a man with a mission—had his own plan for solving farm problems and laid it before the Senate Agriculture Committee at Hutchinson in no uncertain terms.

Basically, Snyder's proposals have been heard many times by the Senators. They consisted of guaranteeing the small farmer an income on all crops up to a fixed maximum.

Committee Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La) asked the witness how he would write such a program into law.

Snapped the elder farmer: "That's your business."

Snyder was summoned to the stand by Ellender after clamoring several times to be heard. From there on it was his show.

With his hat jammed on his head and his eyes blazing, he told the five senators on the dais at one point:

"Ignorance is forgiveable, but knowing something and being stupid about it—that's something else."

This followed a passage in which Snyder wondered out loud whether the legislators were "sensible enough to recognize a sensible farm program" when they saw one.

Over the stifled guffaws, Sen. Edward J. Thye (R-Minn), cut in:

"We question our own judgment, and that's why we have come up here."

POINTS UP WAGES

At this point, Snyder—referring to the senatoral salary scale—leveled a gnarled finger at the five individuals, and intoned:

"There's $25,000 there, and $25,000 there, and there, and there and there."

His implication was plain that he thought anyone drawing that kind of money ought to come up with a good farm bill.

Thye interposed that the latest salary boost had brought a senator's pay to only $22,500—not $25,000.

Snyder brushed that off with: "What's $2,500!"

At the outset, Snyder declared "I want to apologize to Ellender for what I used to say about his party. I used to curse and damn Wallace for ploughing under little pigs.

"But now my party is ploughing under little farmers."

Ellender was the lone Democrat on the panel, but none of the four Republicans present offered any objection.

Democrats in Congress Bombarded by Hall

WASHINGTON (INS)—GOP National Committee Chairman Leonard W. Hall has branded the 84th Congress under Democratic control "a miserable failure thus far."

Hall referred to the present Congress as a "Roadblock Congress" and sharply assailed Democrats for bottling up domestic legislation requested by the administration.
