Turnpike Act Heads for Supreme Court Test

House Heading for New Fight on Dixon-Yates

Funds for Power Line Issue in Dem-GOP Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic and Republican battle lines were drawn drum-tight today as the House headed into another tussle over the controversial Dixon-Yates power project.

At issue is a section of an appropriations bill which would reject an Eisenhower administration request for 6½ million dollars to pay for a transmission line to link the Tennessee Valley Authority system with a private power plant at West Memphis, Ark., on the other side of the Mississippi River.

Ground already has been broken for the 107-million-dollar power plant, which is being built by the Dixon-Yates utility group under a 25-year contract with the Atomic Energy Commission. The Dixon-Yates power would replace energy now furnished AEC by the TVA.

In a renewal of last year's public-vs.-private power fight, the House Appropriations Committee voted to shift the 6½ millions from the proposed transmission line—which would hook up with a Dixon-Yates line in the middle of the river—and to assign it to start construction of a new steam generating plant for TVA at Fulton, Tenn. The steam plant would cost about 90 million dollars.

The 6½-million-dollar transmission line item represented only a tiny fraction of a $1,285,746,242 bill to finance the TVA, the AEC, several federal power programs and the vast Army Engineers navigation and flood control programs during the bookkeeping year starting July 1. But that small item promised to furnish the biggest fight.

The bill was due to reach the voting stage tomorrow. Final action might not come until Friday.

Republican House members huddled last night and agreed to try to eliminate from the bill language that would earmark the 6½ millions for the Fulton steam plant.

Assistant Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana said GOP House members were in "very substantial agreement" that the money should be left in the bill, but without any specific purpose assigned to it. Thus, Halleck said, the way would be open for the TVA to go ahead with the government's half of the trans-Mississippi line.

UAW Stands Firm in Debate With American

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers stood firm today on its demand that the independent auto makers accept the principle of the union wage plan just as Ford and General Motors did.

The union opened priliminary talks on a new contract yesterday with American Motors Corp., which makes Nash and Hudson cars and household appliances.

UAW president Leonard Woodcock, director of the union's American Motors department, said the union will ask the company for a full guarantee of 100 per cent of pay for 52 weeks.

The American Motors negotiations covers some 22,000 employes at eight plants in Michigan, Wisconsin and California.

Grandma Walks 150 Miles; Wins Jackass Contest

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Grandma Walker (Mrs. Tom Court) was home today after an experimental, 150-mile walk down the highway from Kennewick, Wash. The idea was to test the stamina of a jackass, Uranium.

Grandma Walker plans to hitch Uranium to a covered wagon for some pleasure trips to "interesting places." She walked the animal a stretch, tied it up, returned for her car, and repeated the process—for some 10½ days.

Grandma Walker, who admits to being "over 50" came through in fine shape. So did the jackass.

Endorse Adams for Judgeship

Democrats Give Support to Pontiac Attorney for 4th Court Post

The Oakland Democratic Committee has endorsed the appointment of Pontiac attorney Clark J. Adams as the county's fourth circuit judge, according to Chairman Carlos G. Richardson.

The added jurist was approved by the State Legislature May 31 to be appointed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and begin serving Jan. 1 next year.

Adams, of 2755 W. Walton Blvd., Waterford Twp., is a former Michigan Supreme Court justice.

"The governor has given no indication how soon he will move on the appointment," said Richardson. The appointee will serve until November 1956 when an election will be held for the post.

Super Sabres in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Three F100 Super Sabre Jets capable of flying faster than sound arrived this month, the Far East Air Forces said today. U.S. airmen will fly them in "familiarization" flights, FEAF said. The plane has a speed in excess of 700 miles an hour.

Albion President Speaker for PHS Commencement

Dr. W. W. Whitehouse, president of Albion College, will deliver the Commencement address Thursday night before 359 members of the Pontiac High School class of 1955.

He will speak on "Youth Faces Tomorrow."

Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Board of Education, will preside at the ceremony. John Thors Jr., principal of Pontiac High School, will introduce the class.

Diplomas will be presented by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac schools.

David Tarr, president of the class of '55, will deliver a message from the graduates to the faculty, parents and school administration. Other class officers are Robert Johnston, vice president; Karen Hoff, secretary, and Mary Mapley, treasurer.

The Pontiac senior high school band will play the processional and recessional under the baton of Dale C. Harris, band director.

Invocation will be given by Rev. Duncan McColl.

Students selected for special honors at graduation are Karen Barling, Norma Bloodworth, Carol Borsvold, Richard Floyd, Marilyn Goode, Robert Gustavson, Paul Hickman, Walter Hodge and Thomas Jacobson.

Others named to this list include Phyllis Law, Audrey Maki, Jacqueline Powell, Norma Prutow, Harold Richards, Lena Sewell, George Thrasher, Gerald Vallad and Carol Wray.

DR. W. W. WHITEHOUSE

Recipients of other awards are David Tarr, Michigan Honor Trophy; Y-Teen Scholarship, Bernice McLean; History Club Trophy, Phyllis Law and Hi-Y Scholarship to Harold Richards. The P.T.A. Scholarship award was garnered by Virginia Baker.

Washington Hit' by Mock H-Bomb

Eisenhower, Aides Leave for Hideouts

Flint Due for 'Attack' Later; Detroit May Be Among Targets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sirens screaming warning of impending atomic attack sent President Eisenhower and 15,000 other officials scurrying today for hideouts scattered in a 300-mile arc about the capital.

The mock warning touched off a great, three-day test of how the executive branch of the government could function in event an enemy actually did rain death and destruction on Washington and 48 other major cities of the nation.

Congress took no part in the exercise.

"Operation Alert 1955," as it was designated, contemplated that the officials would have three hours and 20 minutes notice in advance of the theoretical attack.

The time schedule:

12:05 p.m.—warning.

3:25 p.m.—Washington hit.

3:25-3:45 p.m.—Major cities hit.

The big question was: Could the President and his Briefcase Brigade, embracing key workers from 31 agencies, get out of town and swiftly take up, through emergency communicatoins, the grim business of reorganizing the TARGETS OF SIMULATED AIR ATTACK — The above map underlines and groups the critical U. S. target cities which will be subjected to a theoretical blasting by nuclear weapons in today's mock attack by "enemy" aircraft (symbols). Named "Operation Alert 1955," the simulated air attack will touch off the biggest, most realistic civil defense test ever attempted. Also on the target list but not shown are cities in Alaska, Hawaii, Canal Zone and Puerto Rico.

Detroit Pushes Olympics Bid

Offers Transportation Free to Participating Athletes

PARIS (AP) — Fred Matthael, speaking for the Detroit Olympic Committee, today offered to make free transportation available to and from Detroit for all world Olympic athletes if the 1960 games are awarded to the city.

The offer, first of its kind ever made, was presented to the surprised members of the International Olympic Committee during deliberations today over where the 1960 summer games will be staged.

Matthael said: "We would make available the vast funds paid by sponsors in the United States for television rights to the 1960 games if Detroit is awarded the game.

"We figure that about $300 on an average would be necessary for transporting each athlete, regardless of whether he comes from Russia or Canada. We know that television payments would be more than enough and this would leave only the $6 per day per athlete housing and food bill to be paid by each of the national organizations."

The IOC will vote on which city gets the Olympics tomorrow.

Weather Outlook 'Fair' for Pontiac

"Fair" is the forecast for tonight and Thursday, with little change in temperature, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Low expected tonight in the Pontiac area is 48 to 52 degrees, with the thermometer reaching a high of 80 in the area Thursday.

The low temperature in downtown Pontiac today before 8 o'clock was 49 degrees. Mercury mounted to 78 by 2 p.m.

Auto Contracts Needn't Spread, Mitchell Feels

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says the unemployment benefit agreements between the CIO United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. need not necessarily set a pattern for other industries.

He predicted that 1955 will be a record year, for employment, wages, income and gross national production.

Commenting on the Supplementary unemployment benefit agreements, he said, "It seems to me that the guaranteed annual wage doesn't exist."

The United Auto Workers sought a guaranteed annual wage—a fixed minimum income over a year despite layoffs — but settled for company payments to supplement unemployment compensation for a maximum of 26 weeks during a layoff.

House Okays Trade Bill Asked by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)— The House voted yesterday to extend the reciprocal trade act three more years and give the President new powers to cut tariffs.

Passed and sent to the Senate, after a final flurry of debate but with few actual opposition votes, was a compromise version of the bill. Earlier in the session it had provoked a stiff House fight and the Senate had attached numerous amendments.

The Senate was expected to act soon on the bill, thus sending it to President Eisenhower for his signature.

The compromise measure — giving Eisenhower in general the new authority he sought — would let the President lower tariffs up to 15 per cent over the next three years in return for similar concessions from other nations. The reductions could be in steps up to 5 per cent a year.

U.S. Approves Agreement to Join in Atom Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—With President Eisenhower taking part, the United States today signed agreements with Great Britain, Canada and Belgium for co-operation in atomic research.

The President issued a statement pledging "unrelenting co-operation of this nation to realize the benefits of atomic energy as a measure to promote lasting peace."

The agreements, which now require approval by this country's Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, provide for mutual co-operation in research leading to the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy, including the generation of power.

Among those taking part in the White House signing ceremony, along with the President, were Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and the other commissioners; Sen. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Joint Committee; Rep. Durham (D-NC), vice chairman; and a number of AEC officials.

The signers for the other countries involved were Sir Roger Makins, British Ambassador; A. D. B. Heeney, Canadian ambassador; and Baron Silvercruys, Belgian ambassador.

Others taking part were W. J. Bennett, president of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. and El Dorado Mining and Refining Ltd., and Robert Murphy, deputy under-secretary of state for the United States.

Eisenhower said in his statement he was happy to accept AEC's recommendation that he approve the bilateral agreements because they are a "logical expression of the previous active partnership between these nations and the United States for the development of atomic energy."

School Aid Bill Nearly Ready

House Subcommittee to Propose $1.6 Billion for Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Education subcommittee was reported today to be nearing the end of its work on a compromise $1,600,000,000 school construction bill containing "as few federal controls as possible."

An outline of the proposed measure was provided by Subcommittee Chairman Kelley (D-Pa) who said he hopes to have the bill ready for the full House Education and Labor Committee in a week or 10 days.

"Our aim," Kelley explained, "is to write a bill as simple as possible with as few federal controls as possible."

But any school construction bill would face rough going in the House. Some members have said privately side issues involving racial segregation and building labor wages would prevent any school aid bill from being enacted at this session.

The compromise would combine features of the administration's proposed program of grants and loans with broader proposals for billions in outright construction grants.

Kelley said the compromise would provide a four-year program of outright grants limited to 400 million dollars a year. The states would be required to match federal funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

ROK Gets Sabre Jets

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's air force will receive its first five U.S. Sabre Jets Monday on a loan basis. Under the U.S. military aid program, one Sabre Jet wing of 75 to 80 planes will be organized this year, South Korean sources said.

Boost Selfridge Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee yesterday upped an Air Force request for funds for Selfridge Field from $5,443,000 to $5,526,000.

Dearborn's Bid to Outlaw Road Is Turned Down

Circuit Bench Ruling Paves Way for Appeal to High Tribunal

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Michigan Turnpike Authority act is ready now for a Supreme Court test, but who will force it there still is in doubt.

The City of Dearborn lost yesterday in its court suit to stop the Michigan Turnpike Authority from building its 115 mile toll road through Dearborn.

Washtenaw Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr. said "no" to three issues of fact and 19 issues of law.

His opinion, dictated orally to the courtroom, would still require some polishing before it becomes official.

But one thing was certain:

The Turnpike Act had passed its first legal test. It can now be tried in the State Supreme Court to determine if it is constitutional and if the turnpike revenue bonds can be sold.

If Dearborn chooses not to appeal, the Michigan Free Highways Protective Assn., which joined Dearborn in pressing the suit, says it will.

As an intervenor, the association apparently has the right.

James Broderick, assistant Dearborn attorney, was not sure what his superiors would decide.

APPROACH SOFTENED

He indicated that one decision by Judge Breakey might have softened the city's approach.

The one item in Judge Breakey's opinion that may affect Dearborn's decision on an appeal was his interpretation of the condemnation sections of the act.

The judge said that in some cases municipalities must give their consent in order for the Turnpike Authority to build its road through the city.

Dearborn objected to the turnpike's route through the city, claiming it would interfere with "reasonable control" of the city's "streets, alleys and public places."

Judge Breakey said:

"The specific type of consent depends on the individual case. For example, consent is not required in widening a trunk line highway."

NO STATE CREDIT

Judge Breakey also held that the revenue bonds needed to finance the toll road would not be backed by the state. He said:

"The intention of the Legislature is very explicit on these two points. (1. That the state is not lending credit, and 2. That this is not a debt to the state."

Judge Breakey concluded: "In-so far as the Turnpike Authority act now reads, it does not violate any of the constitutional provisions contained in (the home rule) article."

Five More GM Plants Back in Operation Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

General Motors Corp. reported today that five more of its plants had been put back into operation after walkouts and resulting parts shortage shutdowns.

This cut 12,100 workers from the idle list, reducing the total to 50,300 at 17 plants around the nation as of midmorning.

Trains Move Again in Britain as Rail Strike Ends

LONDON (AP)—"All right, mate, don't push. Plenty of trains today. Tickets, pliss."

Britain's nationwide railroad strike—the first since 1926—was over after 17 days of street traffic jams, piled-up warehouses and looming shortages of coal and raw materials.

In London's vast terminals, the eerie silence was shattered once more by the scream and roar of trains, the jabber of passengers, the mad crush of humanity.

Suburban trains, packed tight as sardine cans, disgorged happy commuters who had walked, hitchhiked, bicycled or driven cars to work each day.

Last night leaders of the 67,000-member Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen called off their strike on the nationalized railroads and agreed to submit their demand for a wage hike to arbitration.

Officials said it would take at least a few days to restore order to freight yards and goods warehouses. Although nonstriking members of the National Union of Railwaymen kept freight traffic running at a third of normal during the walkout, tens of thousands of loaded coal wagons were waiting at the nation's mines. Tons of raw materials awaited delivery to factories, which in turn had mountains of manufactures.

Much freight traffic also had to be diverted from the hurriedly mobilized fleets of trucks and canal barges which kept Britain's industrial wheels from stopping.

Resumption of normal long-distance passenger service also probably will be delayed slightly.

The strike was estimated to have cost the British Transport Commission, operators of the railways, a million pounds ($2,800,000) a day, and the striking union 300,000 pounds ($840,000) in strike pay.

The walkout also forced many industrial plants to trim their working hours and to lay off 10,000 or more workers. But there was no serious industrial dislocation and no mass unemployment.

The government made no immediate announcement concerning the state of emergency decreed as a result of the strike. But it now is only a technicality and may either be repealed or allowed to run until its automatic end in about three weeks.

The peace pact was pounded out at a series of conferences yesterday between the Transport Commission and the two rail unions.

The commission agreed in principle to the striking union's demand that firemen and engineers be paid more money than less skilled workers. Previous differentias were narrowed by a wage increase given the other union earlier this year. The union agreed to submit the question of the exact amount of the raise to the decision of an impartial arbiter, Lord Morris, 53-year-old appeal judge for the Isle of Man.

Morris' decision will apply also to engineers and firemen who belong to the National Union of Railwaymen, which agreed there would be no "leapfrogging" wage claims by the less skilled men.

Two other strikes still bothered Britain.

A walkout of 20,000 dock workers has partially idled seven ports. A wildcat seamen's walkout, mainly by stewards and catering staffs demanding better living conditions and a shorter work week, has tied up the sailing of six transatlantic liners from Liverpool and Southampton.

New Play Areas Named by City

Sites Will Bear Names of Organizations Aiding to Finance Construction

Parks and Recreation Dept. Director David R. Ewalt today enthusiastically endorsed City Commission action last night naming three new city play areas for the organizations which are helping to finance their construction.

Ewalt, who recommended the naming, said the contributions "show an awakening of community spirit among organizations and individuals in this town."

"It's a happy sign, especially for our department, because it shows many people are thinking about the recreation and park problem," he continued.

"It's the first time anyone has stood up and said, 'You can count me in on this particular park or playground.'

"I hope it will stimulate other interested clubs and individuals who would like to make a substantial contribution to park development in the city."

Named for the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce was a 32-acre park adjacent to the Malkim School on Joslyn avenue. It will be known officially as Jaycee Park.

Contributions by the Optimist and Rotary clubs were recognized by naming playfields in their honor.

The 1-acre Optimist Playground is between Strathmore and Fairmount avenues, near Hollywood avenue. Located at Wessen and Walnut St., Rotary Playground covers approximately 5 acres.

All are in the construction stage. "It will probably take quite some time and money to get them to where we want them," the director said.

He pointed out there is vacant property in other sections of the city which could be developed into playgrounds and parks, "if someone wanted to stand up and be counted."

"We won't accomplish this overnight," he said. "But, by golly, it's a start."

City Action Aids Retiring Employes

Retiring city employes will now be able to continue their group life insurance on a full-coverage basis as a result of City Commission action last night.

Formerly, employes leaving the city staff could continue their group insurance, but only with 50 per cent coverage. Under a new plan approved by the Commission, 100 per cent coverage will be maintained.

Finance Director Oscar Eckman said the plan would cost the city "very little—several hundred dollars a year." It takes effect immediately, he said.

The plan also provides that retired employes may continue group hospitalization coverage. They will have to pay the full premium themselves.

No Unauthorized Strikes at Fisher Body's Plant

Because labor grievances at Fisher Body Division were settled Sunday morning, there were no unauthorized walkouts at the division plant here.

A work stoppage Monday on the body assembly line was caused by a walkout at Pontiac Motor Division which eliminated need for the bodies produced by the Fisher plant.

Gets Mixed Notices

LONDON (AP)—Ethel Barrymore Colt, soprano daughter of actress Ethel Barrymore, made her London debut as a singer at Wigmore Hall last night. She sang music dating from the 13th century to the present. One critic said she charmed her audience but another suggested she would be wise to confine her singing to a "small circle of very dear friends."

MENON IN WASHINGTON — Indian roving ambassador V. K. Krishna Menon, special envoy of Prime Minister Nehru, arrives at National Airport for talks with President Eisenhower. Ike and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles listened for 45 minutes yesterday to Menon's plans for reducing tensions in Asia; and it was revealed the Indian diplomat would return in two or three weeks for additional talks. Newsmen stand behind him.

Firm Agrees to Eliminate Dust and Noise Conditions

Operators of a ready-mix concrete plant on Paddock street have agreed to eliminate dust and noise conditions which have been raising the ire of neighbors.

City Manager Walter K. Willman told the City Commission last night that at a meeting with the owner and manager of the Pontiac branch of Catsman Co., 339 S. Paddock St., the two promised to take immediate steps to alleviate the complaint-causing conditions.

They told him most of the yard would be paved and the rest would be coated with oil to keep down loose dust which neighbors said swirled and sifted into their homes.

Trucks will be canvas covered and water drainage facilities will be constructed, Willman said they promised, and a high fence will be built. The fence is expected to help control noise and dirt.

At another meeting, Willman told the Commission, he received the pledge that Longfellow, Strathmore and Fairmount streets in Buena Vista Subdivision will be laid as soon as weather permits. Two other streets, Cornell and Rutgers, will be put in by Oct. 1.

Based on his report, the Commission agreed to issue building permits to the subdivider on those streets.

Last week, the Commission halted issuance of more building permits in the subdivision until the builder brought streets to city-accepted standards. Residents have complained the streets are impassable following rainfall.

Real Estate Agent Waives Examination

A Pontiac real estate agent waived examination on embezzlement and bad-check-passing charges before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum today and was bound over for arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday.

Francis E. Miller, 41, part owner of the Stone Realty Co. at 919 Joslyn Ave., is free on $2,000 bond.

Miller was accused June 2 of embezzling $2,000 from a Drayton Plains man during negotiations for a home purchase. A count was added June 8 charging Miller issued a $600 rubber check to a Pontiac man as a refund on a property-sale transaction.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said a number of Miller's clients claim they lost sums to the accused totaling about $30,000.

U.S. Steel Will Reply to Union's Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The U. S. Steel Corp. will present to the CIO United Steelworkers Monday the first answer to the union's demands for a "substantial" wage increase from the basic steel industry.

The company and union agreed yesterday to the resumption of bargaining Monday after a recess that began last week when the USW finished presenting its demands to steel's Big Six, who employ 400,000 of the 600,000 basic steelworkers.

U. S. Steel, traditional pacesetter in labor matters for the industry, has given no indication of how much it will offer in its counter-proposal.

At Least One Dead in Train Crackup

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (AP) — A trainman was killed and an undetermined number of persons were injured, at least five seriously, early today when a section of the union Pacific's Los Angeles Challenger was derailed about 6 miles east of here.

The roadbed had been weakened by the swollen South Platte River.

H. J. Peterson, a photographer for the Fort Morgan Evening Times, said the engine was over on its side and about seven cars were derailed. He said three of the cars were in water but it was not deep enough to flood the coaches.

None of the injured was from Michigan except a Mrs. Campbell whose home town was unavailable.

Pontiac Deaths

Harrison R. Carpenter

Harrison R. Carpenter, 51, of 6530 Westphalia Rd., W. Bloomfield Township and a former Pontiac resident, died at 3:15 this morning at Pontiac General Hospital after a five month illness.

Born Feb. 3, 1904 in Lapeer, he was the son of Joseph and Lena Carpenter and was married June 1, 1929 in Ohio to Laura Seymour.

Mr. Carpenter had lived in Pontiac 19 years and had owned and operated a bakery at Oxbow Lake and Keego Harbor. He was a member of the Elks Lodge B.P.O.E. No. 810 here.

Surviving besides his wife and parents of Lapeer are three children, Mrs. Shirley Jones of Waterford, Mrs. Patricia Ratledge of Keego Harbor, Mrs. Donna Baumgartner of Pontiac and seven grandchildren.

One brother, Donald Carpenter of Lapeer, and five sisters, Mrs. Agnes Bernier of Flushing, Mrs. Goldie Carleton of Imlay City, Mrs. Shirley Warren, Mrs. Josephine Farrington and Mrs. Phyllis Houghtling, all of Lapeer, also survive.

Funeral arangements will be announced later by the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

David M. Kesselring

David M. Kesselring, 90, of 69 Poplar St., died last night at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He had been ill one month.

Born Dec. 25, 1864 in Bruce County, Ontario, Canada, he was married to the former Ella J. Youngs Feb. 23, 1892 in Imlay City.

Mr. Kesselring was a retired farmer and came to Pontiac from Lapeer County eight years ago.

Three children survive, Mrs. Beulah Blount of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Arthur Steilberg of Louisville, Ky. and Marton W. Kesselring of Pontiac. Also surviving are nine grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Kesselring will lie in state at the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home until Friday morning. He will then be taken to the United Missionary Church, Brown City, for service. The Rev. Robert Garner of the First General Baptist Church of Pontiac will officiate. Burial will be in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Gerald F. Sawyer

Mrs. Gerald F. (Earla M.) Sawyer, 41, of 3366 Fridham St. died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital after a one day illness.

Born June 5, 1914 in Woodstock, Ontario, Canada, she was the daughter of Joseph and Maude Harper Rooney.

Mrs. Sawyer had lived in Pontiac until moving to Keego Harbor five years ago.

Besides her husband, she is survived by 11 children, Gordon, Karl, James, Joe, Gerald, Janice, Sharon, Raymond, Timothy, Thomas and Georgina, all at home.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. Helen Bledoe, and a brother, Raymond, both of Pontiac.

Service will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home with the Rev. Fred R. Tiffany of the Bethany Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Greg William Upchurch

Baby Greg William Upchurch, infant son of Herman M. and Betty L. Coleman Upchurch of 696 Loundsbury St. was taken from the Pursley Funeral Home Tuesday evening to Benton, Ill. for service and burial Thursday.

The baby was born Sunday and died Monday in Pontiac General Hospital.

Surviving besides his mother and father is a brother, Keith Herman, at home.

UAW Bolts 76 Tool Plants

Union Seeks Pay Boost for Skilled Workers; Walkout Affects 5,800

DETROIT (AP) — Tool and die work in 76 Detroit plants was expected to suffer another jolt today following a walkout of 2,000 night shift men last night.

The 2,000 left their jobs at 11 p.m., an hour before a contract between the CIO United Auto Workers and the Automotive Tool and Die Manufacturers Assn. expired. They were scheduled to work until 4 a.m.

An additional 3,800 day shift workers were expected to walk out to attend a union meeting this afternoon.

Blaine Marrin and Russell Leach, president of the two UAW locals involved, said the night shift men went home early to get some sleep before the meeting.

Negotiations continued through the night and into today. Union leaders said formal strike action would be taken at the meeting if a settlement has not been reached by them.

Chester Cahn, secretary of the association, said a settlement was believed near.

The union is not demanding a guaranteed wage but is seeking a 25-cent hourly pay boost.

shattered nation and striking back at the enemy?

The expectation is that the test will show how efficient is the emergency setup already planned, and perhaps indicate ways it can be improved.

Cabinet officers and key military men were among the 15,000 tabbed to flee the city with Eisenhower at the first alert. But, as probably would be true in event of a real attack, some members of the Cabinet were out of town.

Secretary of State Dulles had an engagement to fly this afternoon to New York for a meeting of foreign ministers. Secretary of Interior McKay is in Europe. Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell were on out-of-town speaking trips.

In theory, the first warning was to catch the capital by surprise. But the planned exercise had been well publicized since March. So the start of the exodus from Washingtoon had sidelights which detracted from the atmosphere of realism.

The government's emergency locations are, of course, secret. The only authorized description of Eisenhower's was that it was "a mountainous, wooded area" within the 30 to 300-mile relocation arc.

Mrs. Eisenhower was not here to join in the flight from the city. She is at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

For the most part, the government officials below Cabinet rank traveled in government or private automobiles.

Flint, and possibly Detroit and Grand Rapids, will be "destroyed" today in the mock-H-Bomb attack on cities across the nation.

Make-believe bombs will rain on Flint and 55 other cities in a test of the nation's defenses against nuclear attack. Numerous other cities, Grand Rapids and Detroit among them, have been notified they'll be possible targets during the 3½ hour alert.

The Day in Birmingham

Officials Seeking Solution to Interceptor Stalemate

BIRMINGHAM — City officials, sandwiched between possible court action by the State Attorney General and uncertainty from the City of Southfield, today mapped plans to expand facilities of the Birmingham sewage treatment plant.

L. R. Gare, city engineer, said consultant engineers were making a study of a program that would possibly stave off court action by the state and still be economical enough to permit going ahead with the Evergreen Interceptor project if Southfield acts on the matter by 1957.

Birmingham, along with parts of Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township, were cited by the Michigan Water Resources Commission for pollution of the Rouge River. Southfield was, too.

The communities joined in the Evergreen Interceptor project which called for construction from Eight Mile road to 14 Mile road of a sewer main. It would connect with the Detroit disposal system at Eight Mile.

CONSTRUCTION DELAYED

Although Birmingham was prepared to proceed immediately with its share of the plan, it wasn't until this spring that Southfield voters agreed to a bond issue to finance construction of Southfield's share.

Phrasing of the proposal in Southfield caused a snag in obtaining necessary funds through the bond issue, which further held up the program.

The Township was then incorporated by a small vote margin this month. Further action on the interceptor by the new city will be held up until a charter is adopted. Under state law, a charter must be adopted within two years after the incorporation vote or the city reverts to a township status.

Faced with this on-again, off-again delay, Birmingham City Manager Donald Egbert received approval from the City Commission this week to proceed with an "improvement program" for the Birmingham treatment plant.

Egbert told the commission such a program might stave off possible court action and still leave the door open for Birmingham to join in the interceptor project should Southfield be ready to start construction by Jan. 1, 1957.

"The possibility of the City of Birmingham stipulating that certain actions would be taken by the city to provide sewage treatment would probably satisfy the court and the Attorney General's office, if such a program had the approval of the State Board of Health and the Water Resources Commission," he said.

Under the program, now being mapped by consulting engineers, plans would be submitted to the health department for approval before Sept. 15 with awarding of a contract sometime the following month for completion in the summer of 1956.

Egbert said he was also advised by the Health Department that the city should schedule further improvements to the plant and that plans be submitted to the State Health Department by June 1, 1956.

STILL COULD JOIN

Under this step-by-step program, the city of Birmingham would retain the right to join with the Evergreen Interceptor Project if "there is a probability of securing construction on this project prior to Jan. 1, 1947," Egbert said.

Elmer Kephart, chairman of the advisory committee for the interceptor project, has called a meeting for 9 a.m. next Tuesday in the commission room in the Birmingham Municipal Building to hear reports on the present status of the project.

Diplomas Ready in Area Schools

Traditional Services Are Scheduled for Five Graduating Classes

School is out. And in five Pontiac area high schools, commencement exercises have been scheduled for tomorrow night.

Diplomas will be awarded at Walled Lake, Rochester, Romeo, Clarenceville and Farmington Township High Schools.

Walled Lake

At Walled Lake Senior High, Stanley Rock of 4346 Forbush Ave. and Lois Wenz of 868 Mandon Dr. will participate in the program as valedictorian and salutatorian respectively.

The exercises will begin at 8 p.m. with the Rev. O. A. Gerken, pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, giving the invocation.

Clifford H. Smart, Walled Lake superintendent of schools, will introduce the speaker, Tom King, dean of students of Michigan State University, will give the dedication address.

High school principal E. V. Ayres will present the class, and Walter Horstman, president of the school board, will award diplomas.

Rochester

The commencement address at the 8 p.m. in Rochester High School will be given by Dr. Clarence M. Loesell of Michigan State Normal College. "Stumbling Blocks or Stepping Stones," will be his topic.

Donald C. Baldwin, Rochester schools superintendent, will make the introduction, and the invocation will be given by the Rev. Walter C. Gerken, of St. John Lutheran Church.

High School principal Harlan Johnson will present the class. Diplomas will be presented by Lewis B. Arscott of the Rochester Board of Education.

Scholarships and special awards were presented and delegates to Boys' and Girls' State named at an Honors Conference held Tuesday night. Gwendolyn Rathka gave the valedictory address, and Helen Axford delivered the salutatory speech.

Davis Arscott, president of the National Honor Society gave the message. Principal Harlan Johnson addressed the graduates, and awards were presented by George Stringer.

Romeo

Outdoor commencement exercises for 85 members of Romeo High School's graduation class are scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Memorial Stadium.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Harold E. Sponberg. Dr. Sponberg serves as research and human relations consultant with the 4-H Club Foundation.

In the event of rain, the graduation program will be conducted indoors in the school auditorium.

Clarenceville

The Clarenceville High School auditorium will be the scene of graduation exercises at 8 p.m.

Speaker of the evening will be Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Central Michigan College of Education at Mt. Pleasant. His topic will be "What Are My Chances."

Fred Bailey, president of the school board, will award the diplomas and the Rev. Walter Rutkowski of St. Paul Lutheran Church will give the invocation and benediction.

Farmington Township

Farmington Township High School seniors will have their program at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Paul D. Bagwell, director of the Department of Communicative Skills, Michigan State University, will talk on "The Changing Pace."

Craig Rockafellow will give the salutatory address and the valedictory address will be delivered by Merl Powell. Wendell Brown, president of the school board, will present the diplomas to the graduates.

STANLEY ROCK

LOIS WENZ

WILL SPEAK AT COMMENCEMENT — Top students of the Walled Lake graduating class are Stanley Rock, valedictorian, and Lois Wenz, salutatorian. They will have a part in commencement exercises to be held Thursday night at the High School. Other schools scheduling graduation programs Thursday are Rochester, Romeo, Clarenceville and Farmington Township Schools.

MSC Home Ec Grads Set for Jobs Already

EAST LANSING (UP)—Home economics teachers graduating from Michigan State College this year have had very little trouble landing jobs — especially in the home.

The college said 32 out of 53 home economics graduates will be married by the end of the summer.

Forty-two of the graduates have already found teaching jobs, the college said. Of the 32 married or about to be married, only five will become full-time homemakers.

County Deaths

Mrs. Lena B. Sutton

HOLLY—Service for Mrs. Lena B. Sutton, 74, of 1608 Davisburg Rd., will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday from the Bendle Funeral Home, with burial in Rose Cemetery. She died Monday.

She is survived by a son, Walter B. Arnold of Fenton; two daughters, Edna Huesgen and Josephine Simms, both of Detroit; two stepdaughters, Mrs. A. L. Truesdell of Fenton and Mrs. Raymond Deerborn of Holly, two stepsons, Lawrence Sutton of Dearborn, and Morris Sutton of Davisburg; one brother, Sherden Bush of Holly; one sister, Mrs. Winifred Bryon of Gary, Ind.; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

John G. Wyckoff

HOLLY — Service for John G. Wyckoff, 84, of 214 Lock St., will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Dryer Funeral Home, with burial in Davisburg Cemetery. He died Sunday.

He is survived by two sons, Leo of Cedar Springs, and Stewart of Holly; one daughter, Mrs. Winifred Parks of Flushing, and one sister, Mrs. Harriet Peck.

Mrs. Semner H. Pierson

GOODRICH—Service for Mrs. Semner H. (Eva) Pierson, 96, of 10171 Erie St., will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Atlas Baptist Church, with burial in Goodrich Cemetery. The body will lie in state at the C. F. Sherman Funeral Home, Ortonville, until noon Friday. She died Monday.

Surviving are one son, E. J. Pierson of Goodrich; two daughters, Mrs. Bess M. Enders of Goodrich, Mrs. Kim Sigler of Lansing; 6 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and 1 great-great-grandchild.

Alger D. Weier

UTICA—Service for Alger D. Weier, 49, of 45230 Union Ct., was held at 2 p.m. today from the Schwarzkoff-Milliken Funeral Home, and burial followed in the Utica Cemetery. He died Monday.

He is survived by his widow, Marie; his father, William Weier of Utica; two sisters, Mrs. Violet Tyack of Utica, Mrs. Alice Knight of Escondido, Calif. and one brother, Virgil, of Ferndale.

Singapore Stiffens Police in Big Strike

SINGAPORE (UP)— This city mobilized 1,600 special constables today, reinforcing the 4,500-man police force as a Communist-backed strike wave showed no signs of abating.

The number of strikers remained at about 17,000 despite threats of union chiefs to bring out some 70,000 workers unless the government frees six union leaders arrested Sunday under emergency regulations. The British colony's labor force totals about 150,000.

* * *

With almost all public transport strikebound, however, a general slowdown began hitting factories, stores and offices still open.

Police arrested 16 strikers yesterday, charging 5 with threatening cabbies and the other 11 with interfering in the questioning of union leaders.

Unkown firebugs burned another European-owned automobile last night, the 21st such arson since the labor unrest broke out.

No major violence has been reported, however.

Expresses Peace Hope

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House yesterday passed a resolution sponsored by Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) reaffirming "the deep desire of the people of the United States for an honorable and lasting peace." It expresses "the hope that the people of all nations of the world join with the people of the United States in a renewed effort for peace."

Former Captain Honored

The Pontiac Police Officers Assn. has presented a gold wristwatch to former police captain Edward H. Shigley who resigned last year after 28 years service to take a position as an assistant Oakland County prosecutor.

OUR BIRD FRIENDS—3
The Cardinal

The cardinal is a handsome fellow, all red except for the black patch around his bill. The female has reddish bill, crest, wings and tail but is quite grey elsewhere.

Color the picture and you will see just how striking these birds can be.

Now, would you believe that the bright cardinal is a cousin of the brown sparrows you see around home?

One of the interesting things about birds is the way they can be grouped in families. Of course it is easy to say that a duck belongs to the duck family, or that the big white heron is related rather closely to the great blue heron. But would you think that the blackbirds are cousins of the gay orioles?

One way to tell that the cardinal is related to the sparrow is by the shape and size of his bill. See how heavy it is? The sparrow is shaped that way too, although the sparrow is a smaller bird.

The cardinal, with his clear whistle, is one of the best known bird residents of southern states.

Cobo Tours Detroit's Civil Defense Setup

DETROIT (UP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo said "I fervently hope we never have to use these facilities" after a tour of Detroit's new civil defense headquarters building and a secret defense control center.

"But," the mayor said as an afterthought, "there's nothing like being prepared."

Cobo and Councilwoman Mary V. Beck toured the facilities after receiving a $101,187 check from the federal government as its half of the cost of the control center.

The new $327,000 headquarters building is located in Palmer Park and houses the city's permanent civil defense staff, but the location of the underground control center is classified as secret.

Yields per acre on U.S. crop lands are from 50 to 100 per cent greater for many important crops than in the 20s.

Las Vegas Receives Flood Disaster Aid

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) —Federal aid is on its way to this flood-stricken resort city, Mayor C. D. Baker announced last night.

He said representatives of two federal agencies will reach Las Vegas by this weekend to handle applications for disaster aid from the city, businessmen and home owners.

Estimates of damage caused by Monday night's flash flood run as high as $400,000 to city facilities and a million dollars to stores and homes.

New York Mayor Worried Over Leg Art Photos

PARIS (UP)—New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner says he didn't mind being photographed with two bathing-suited French beauty queens but what will the folks back home think.

He isn't worried about Mrs. Wagner, a beautiful blonde herself. She was in the photograph too, and all four subjects were smiling.

The mayor of Paris, Bernard Lafay, apologized to Wagner yesterday because "Miss Paris" and "Miss France" had turned up at the airport in scanty attire Monday for the Wagners' arrival on their European tour.

* * *

Lafay said he feared such a greeting wasn't dignified and he wanted the visitor to know the City Council hadn't sent the girls. The greeting had been strictly private enterprise.

"Ah, Paris," Wagner said later. "They were charming, you know. But what will my fellow citizens think when they see those photos?"

The captions in the New York Journal-American: "Oo-la-la . . . Si bon! New York was never like this!"

There are twice as many admissions to U.S. hospitals as in 1935.

Britain Will Pay U.S. $15 Million for Smokes

LONDON (UP) — American and British representatives signed a memorandum yesterday providing for the sale in Britain of 15 million dollars worth of American tobacco to be paid for in sterling.

The United States will apply the sterling to military aid for Britain.

Britain in turn will provide rental housing for U. S. military dependents. The housing will remain the property of Britain. It will be rented to the U. S. Air Force at a nominal rate.

Wife Writes Hubby She'll Stay Abroad

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—Donald Starling, an accountant, says he has received word from his wife, who took their 2-year-old son to visit her parents in East Germany last February, that she won't be back.

He has appealed to Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) for help. Ayres has asked the State Department to investigate.

* * *

Starling said he received a letter two weeks ago from his wife Gisela, 25, from Stendar, East Germany, saying:

"It is not as bad here as we have been told, and I am staying of my own free will. I have become attached to my homeland."

Her husband, who met her in 1945 while he was in the Army, said he believed the letter was written under duress. He said he still loves Gisela, whom he married in 1947.

General Crunches In

MANILA (AP)—Brig. Gen. William Lee, U.S. 13th Air Force chief, escaped injury yesterday when his plane skidded off the runway and hit a wire fence while landing.

When the tides reverse in Chesapeake Bay, they often produce underwater storms much like hurricanes in the air, says the National Geographic Society.

Collecting Minister Has Private Museum

COOPERSVILLE (AP)—The Rev. J. Lawrence Ward's hobby is collecting things. He has weed seeds, alligator eggs, rough and polished rocks, Indian relics, birds' eggs, old and new coins, minerals, stamps, butterflies, moths, spiders, beetles, buttons, matchbook covers, milk bottle caps, antique dishes, poster stamps, sea shells, music, and bird feathers. In addition he's a bird bander.

The clergyman recommends weed collecting as a beginning hobby—it's cheap and free government pamphlets are available to help in classifying.

Gas Bill Sent to Floor by Margin of One Vote

By the close vote of 16 to 15 a House Committee has approved a bill to exempt natural gas producers from Federal regulation.

This vote plus the fact that it came after a tie vote in the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, forecasts a close, hard fight on the floor. Approval followed the committee 17 to 14 vote to reconsider the tie which would have shelved the measure. In the past close votes have been the rule as has been the appearance of members of both parties on opposite sides of the regulation issue.

The present measure is a 1955 version of the Kerr bill which was fought by consumer interests and vetoed by former President Truman. Both measures reflect opposition to what for years has been an established principle of government—regulation of utilities.

The issue is of vital financial concern to millions of natural gas consumers who also happen to be voters. Foes of the bill contend that elimination of the Federal Power Commission control approved by the Supreme Court would cost consumers millions of dollars yearly.

★ ★ ★

This newspaper yields to none in its support of free enterprise. But we believe that in the absence of competition and for consumer protection, regulation of utilities is a sound principle of government that should be maintained.

If Congress ignores consumer interest by passing this bill, the President should veto it.

Reds Lose in Sicily

There are two reasons for free world satisfaction in the outcome of semi-autonomous Sicily's election.

One is the fact that the Communists, despite extraordinary effort and unprecedented expenditures, could do no more than hold their 20 seats in the 90 seat assembly. The Left Wing Socialists, who co-operate with the Communists, also held their 10 seats. But the Communists suffered a loss of 17,000 popular votes.

Observers point out that the tide is running against the Communists in Northern Italy. Belief is that if an election were to be held now they wouldn't fare well even in Southern Italy.

The second cause for satisfaction is the showing made by the Christian Democrats. Their 37 seats, a gain of seven, and the nine seats won by the Monarchists who co-operate with them, will enable the Christian Democrats to govern without the aid of the neo-fascists.

★ ★ ★

These results are attributed to the work of successive Christian-Democratic regimes in Rome and undoubtedly bolster the position of Italy's Premier Mario Scelba, a native of Sicily.

Help Keep America Green

With the picnicking and camping season in full swing, it is time again to remind everybody of their obligation to prevent forest fires.

Many a forest holocaust has resulted from the careless disposal of a lighted cigaret or cigar stub or the failure of a camper to make certain that his fire is out.

Statistics over the years have shown that nine out of 10 forest fires are man caused. They also show that organized prevention efforts have paid worthwhile dividends.

The first effective Federal-State forest fire prevention legislation came in 1924 in the Clarke-McNary Act. In 1949 there were 78,649 fires on 357,168,000 acres of protected land. That same year there were 105,533 fires on 81,826,000 acres of unprotected land.

★ ★ ★

Everyone can help prevent forest fires by observing two simple rules. Never discard a match, a cigaret or cigar without knowing it can't start a fire. Never leave a campfire without soaking it well, then soaking it again to be sure.

Do your part to keep America green.

Lamprey Pact Ratified

By a vote of 79 to 0 the Senate has ratified the Convention under which the U. S. and Canada have joined forces to wipe out the lamprey eel scourge in the Great Lakes.

Besides this important aim, the Convention provides for other measures to promote and co-ordinate fishery research. As the Senate vote suggests, the $750,000 a year cost to the U. S. for the first three years is considered a good investment and completely reasonable.

Depredations of the sea lamprey have cost the fishing industries of the United States and Canada enormous sums in loss of trout and whitefish. U. S. losses alone reach $5,000,000 a year.

These figures leave no doubt about the wisdom of joining our good neighbors in an attempt to wipe out the lampreys.

Another dangerous combination is a second-hand car driven by a third-class moron.

Installment Buying Aids U. S. Standard of Living

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

With the Big Four meeting "at the summit" on the agenda for next month, the struggle on an international scale for men's minds and hearts will reach a climax.

* * *

Perhaps the case of the West for a free-choice, high living standard system, as contrasted with the meager fruits of police-state Communist dictatorship, is handicapped by the tendency to over-intellectualize the discussion in academic terms.

A clue to a more realistic approach came recently in the routine request from the new sovereign state of Austria for expert counsel on the U. S. financial and credit setup, including the technique for installment selling. I was discussing this with an eminent authority on the U. S. credit system, Henry H. Heimann, executive Vice President of the National Association of Credit Men.

While an apostle of financial prudence, Mr. Heimann recognizes that consumer credit—installment sales financing—has been a basic prop in lifting American standards of living so far above the international average. As Mr. Heimann pointed out, installment sales financing — the purchase of durable goods on a pay-as-you-go basis out of income—lays the basis for quantity consumption without which the economies of mass production could not be achieved.

OTHERS LAGGING

In view of the impact of the United States as an economic laboratory, it is strange that other nations have not emulated earlier our blueprints for good results. Except for Germany and Great Britain, where only a limited use has been made of installment sales financing, the rest of the world has largely muffed a great opportunity. The Austrian inquiry indicates that a new attitude toward the American success recipe is developing.

Heretofore too many foreigners wanted to achieve the American results without studying the ingredients which went into the pot to create the brew of national prosperity. Too many wanted to achieve the benefits without paying the price in terms of self help and self discipline.

This immature viewpoint toward economic problems was revealed at the International Monetary Conference at Bretton Woods, N. H., during the war in July 1944. Many backward nations wanted to stretch for American living standards, but desired a short cut. The Latin Americans looked to "El Fundo" (the then created International Monetary Fund) as a crutch. Even on tarrifs, the backward nations wanted a double standard. They urged strong countries, such as the U. S. A. to lower or remove tariffs, whereas they intended to retain tariffs to protect their own "infant industries."

SOVIETS LOOKING

Recently the Soviet Union, beset with food production problems, wanted to send a mission to study productive techniques in Iowa. But it is not enough to look at the physical equipment of Iowa farmers. The machinery is part and parcel of a whole way of life, which consists of the systems of rewards and incentives for good work under the constitutional system. You cannot assume the results unless all of the ingredients are correct and in proper relationship to one another.

In saying a good word for installment selling, Mr. Heimann of course was thinking in terms of sound and prudent use of consumer credit. He thinks that the installment plan should be limited to physical things. This would include vacations, and travel for pleasure.

My own view is that three elements should characterize a prudent installment sales contract. First, the item should not only be physical but durable. This makes it feasible for the seller to create a sense of discipline through the right to repossess the item in event of default by the purchaser.

Secondly, the satisfactions derived should endure at least until the series of deferred payments have been completed. It is psychologically bad to ask individuals to pay for dead horses.

Thirdly, deferred payments are economically justified as an alternative to first accumulating the cash through savings, if the item is a tool, which will help the buyer to earn the income with which to liquidate the indebtedness. This quality exists in agricultural machinery, carpenter's tools, and even in an automobile purchased primarily to provide transportation for a salesman or businessman.

Such tests might put some of the current uses of the installment plan to finance vacations and pleasure travel out of bounds. Several seaons ago one of the ex-high hat New York banks advertised vacation loans or credit for any other "sound" purpose.

Experience has shown that personal small loans are uncommonly safe, and this factor springs from the inherent honesty of the average person. Contrary to fears of academic minds, little fellows in depressed times cut off new credit commitments in accordance with their appraisal of their own deteriorating position and outlook.

Many People Have Partly Themselves to Blame for Sex Crimes, 'Heartsick' Says

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Did it ever occur to you that many people who are for capital punishment are the very people who help cause a great deal of sex crimes themselves and don't even realize it?

Take our newspapers. They are up in arms and angered when a sex crime takes place, and at the same time display pictures of half-naked women in Earl Wilson's column, and elsewhere on the movie pages and so on.

These pictures cause lustful thoughts and desires in the old and young alike. Women who wouldn't think of being a party to a child's raped, murdered body might be the very ones who caused the degraded mind of some sex deviate to be set off by the way she displayed her half-naked body.

Parents who say they love their children and try to protect them allow them to watch TV programs that aren't fit for humans and own magazines with women's bodies as the theme of the whole book with lustful pictures splattered on every page. Then they wonder what happens when Junior or some older man goes wrong.

When a sex crime is committed, you had better examine your own self . . . the way you dress, talk and act, for you may be the one to blame. At judgment day you may be found guilty right along with the accused.

David Lawrence Says:

Adlai Favors Bargaining With Moscow Gangsters

WASHINGTON — Is the Democratic party to be characterized as the party of appeasement, and does its leadership still favor the same spirit of surrender which led to the Yalta agreements in 1945.

* * *

This would readily be answered in the negative, because of the fine statements of American purpose recently made by Sens. Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Walter George of Georgia, were it not for the startling speech just delivered by Adlai Stevenson, who is conceded by most observers as likely to lead the Democratic party in the 1956 presidential campaign.

Stevenson unashamedly comes out for "bargaining" and "trading" with the Red gangsters in Moscow and offers the curious disclaimer in advance that, "if things go wrong in the future" in agreements made "at the summit" by the four-power statesmen, there should be no denunciation of the participants. He seems to sense already that the agreements might turn out to be bad.

"To want peace is to want compromise," says Stevenson. But is this truly the attitude of a nation that has been taught morality and idealism? Is there ever a justification for "compromise" with evil men and evil things? Stevenson seems to think that anything is "better than the alternative which is a sharpening and prolonging of ugly, dangerous tensions.

PEACE-AT-ANY-PRICE

This is really peace-at-any-price doctrine, and it is astonishing to find the leader of the Democratic party openly advocating its equivalent.

"We shall have to be prepared to take some chances," argues the presidential nominee of 1952, "to risk something to win more." He adds that America should be willing to "take some reasonable chances."

Does this mean that Stevenson is ready to see all American troops withdrawn from Europe, a distance of 3,000 miles, while the Russians go back just a few hundred miles?

Would Stevenson be willing to accept the Communist idea of "free elections" in East Germany with Soviet-controlled troops coercing the electorate?

* * *

Possibly it means that Stevenson would favor giving up the American stockpile of atomic bombs and agreeing to some kind of disarmament plan in which America takes plenty of chances while the dishonest men in the Kremlin take no chances, because they never would keep the agreements they signed anyway.

Stevenson, as the titular leader of the Democratic party today, will probably be asked to spell out just what he does mean.

But, if not, there are Republicans surely who will want Stevenson to define what he meant in that speech delivered this week at the commencement exercises at Oberlin College.

YALTA APOLOGY

What really requires explanation is Stevenson's clumsy attempt to apologize for what happened at Yalta as just ordinary mistake in diplomacy, which he seems to think wasn't apparent at the time. Is the criticism of Yalta today really "hindsight"?

* * *

The record in the newspapers and elsewhere shows that plenty of speakers and some writers, including this correspondent, called attention before and immediately after Yalta to the plan to sell Poland down the river. Stevenson puts it this way:

"We shall have to learn that diplomacy by hindsight is not good. We shall have to learn not to denounce our representatives as traitors or suspicious characters of anything goes wrong in the future."

Now, nobody has denounced the top participants at the Yalta conference as "traitors" or "suspicious characters," but there is plenty of evidence that Alger Hiss had a hand in planning what went on in American diplomacy before and after Yalta and that the late Harry Dexter White, who held a post high up in the Treasury Department, had a hand in delaying the delivery of American financial aid to the Nationalist government in China at a critical time — a circumstance that was helpful to the Communists in their conquest of the mainland of China.

Does Stevenson wave Hiss and White aside as merely "suspicious characters"?

By asking the government of the United States to engage in "compromise" where basic principle and honor are concerned, is to disregard morality just because the alternative may be a period of ugly tension. This is something new in the appeasement line.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Judge's Wife Finds Solution to Fears of Cancer Through 'Compliment Club'

Miriam was becoming a worry-wart because of her fear of cancer. She was growing prematurely old because she had cut off many social engagements instead of turning her interests to her external environment. Notice how the "Compliment Club" restored her to health, happiness and greater usefulness.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-357: Miriam G., aged 44, is the wife of a prominent judge.

"Dr. Crane, I am a changed personality," she glowingly informed me after an address I had made in Ohio recently.

"And I owe it to your 'Compliment Club' project. Our children were grown and married, so the judge and I had settled down into a comfortable middle-age existence.

"But one day I read about your 'Compliment Club' experiment, and decided to try it out.

"Oh, I'll admit that my primary aim was somewhat selfish, too, for I had degenerated into a typical hypochondriac.

"For example, I had always held a fear of cancer, so I would imagine all sorts of ailments. And I had consulted specialists many times, but they always pronounced me in sound health.

"When I read your advice about positive thinking, I decided maybe the 'Compliment Club' would be good medicine for me.

DAILY COMPLIMENTS

"Well, I started out with great enthusiasm to pay my three honest compliments every day.

"All went well till about the third week. Then at the dinner table one evening, I happened to recall that I had paid only two compliments that day.

"Since I didn't want to break my good record, I put on my coat and strolled out upon the street after dinner, just looking for somebody to whom I could pay a sincere bit of praise.

"Finally, I stopped at our neighboring drugstore and overheard the sales girl give a fine sales talk about a new cosmetic product, so I paid her my third compliment for the day.

"And I kept on till the end of the 30-days. You sent me the signed membership certificate, which I have framed and hanging on my bedroom wall.

"This experiment has been the best insurance for happiness I have ever seen.

SOCIAL DETECTIVE

"It has taken my attention off myself and forced me to become a social detective, observing my companions for their merits and virtues.

"I found, too, that I had begun to involute considerably before I started to pay three compliments daily.

"For I had withdrawn from several organizations and women's clubs. If I hadn't run short of people to compliment on that one day, I would not have realized how aloof I had become from life.

* * *

"In the earlier years of our marriage, I would meet dozens of people every day, but here I found I hadn't seen enough people even to pay my daily quota of three compliments.

BACK IN CIRCULATION

"As a result, I have started back into greater activity in my church and am now teaching a teenage group of girls.

"Meanwhile, my thoughts have turned outward upon people so I am not such a worry-wart over my health. The judge says I really owe you $1,000 for freeing me from my constant dread of cancer."

The "Compliment Club" project is ideal therapy for people who have passed the age of 40 and who tend to grow sorry for themselves or indulge in excessive worry about their health.

* * *

For it turns your attention outward when you look for merits in other folks. And as you win more friends, you become happier.

Happiness actually makes your glands secrete more normally, so you are physically more healthy when you have a happy outlook on life.

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Get your Women's Club or church group to launch upon this delightful experiment as an entire group and compare notes every week.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

You Can Get Rheumatiz Regardless of Weather

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Back in the era of honest medicine — before practice was converted from a profession to a business — medical authorities recognized two kinds of chronic (long lasting) joint trouble, namely, chronic rheumatism and arthritis deformans (sometimes called rheumatic arthritis).

* * *

The foremost medical authority (Osler) opined that "exposure to wet and damp" was a "possible exciting cause" of arthritis deformans, whereas he stated that chronic rheumatism was "most common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day laborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp."

Obviously, if I may say so, the old-time medical authorities didn't know what they were talking about.

If they were flummoxed when there was only chronic rheumatism and rheumatoid arthritis to elucidate, they had only to blame everything on "cold and damp."

JOINT DISEASES

Medical authorities today write learnedly about a dozen or more "joint diseases the etiology" ($1.98 word for cause) "of which is not specifically known" as well as another dozen joint diseases the cause of which is known — such as gonorrheal, pneumococcal or tuberculous arthritis. One authority of the present day lists all these "arthritides" in his book, but doesn't mention the rheumatiz (chronic rheumatism) at all.

* * *

Joint disease caused by invasion of joint tissues by the tubercle bacillus, streptococcus, pneumococcus or brucella (undulant fever germ), is inflammation and may therefore be called arthritis.

Joint disease of unknown cause should not be called "arthritis" unless the purpose is to flummox the patient, keep the poor geek thinking one knows what ails him. The well-flummoxed patient is a good customer for endless "shots," the latest miracle medicines, freak diets, fancy baths, visits to spas, snake oil or gold and sodium chloride treatment.

Joint disability of slow insidious development and long duration (over a year) is in most instances not inflammation (little or no heat, pain, redness, swelling — calor, dolor, rubor, tumor — the classical signs of inflammation), hence not arthritis, but physical degeneration of joint tissues due to malnutrition (nutritional deficiency) through the years from childhood on. This is merely my belief, opinion or notion, remember.

JUST RHEUMATIZ

Physical degeneration of the joint tissues is too cumbersome a name for it, so I propose to call it simply rheumatiz — but please, please, old-timers, don't associate rheumatiz with weather, season, climate, geography or exposure to cold and dampness.

* * *

Furthermore it is my belief, opinion or notion that the degeneration process is reversible if taken in time, and in the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz, available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, I tell you how to have a good try at reversing it — into physical regeneration. I believe that is precisely what happens when victims of rheumatiz make the happy recoveries they tell me about.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Malik Sets the Pace

Informality Is Keynote of New Soviet Diplomacy

LONDON (AP)—Jacob Malik, Russia's ambassador to Britain, is trying hard to prove that Russian diplomats really are the friendly type.

The hulking, square-faced Kremlin trouble shooter, friend and confidant of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, has told his embassy staff to wipe off their cold war look. Malik himself is setting an example.

* * *

British and American diplomats are being invited to lunch parties at the once forbidding Russian Embassy on Kensington's swank "Millionaires' Row."

They find few chinks in the Iron Curtain on information. But the vodka flows freely, the helpings of caviar are generous, and their Russian hosts spill over with good fellowship.

* * *

Malik has been setting some kind of a record for informality in carrying on London negotiations with the Japanese for a World War II peace settlement. He initiated the negotiations by splitting a bottle of dubonnet at the Soviet Embassy with the surprised Japanese envoy, Shunichi Matsumoto.

Next day he strolled leisurely down "Millionaires' Row"—without the usual bevy of secret security police hovering in the background—to the neighboring Japanese Embassy for more talk with Matsumoto.

* * *

Once the Russian Embassy buildings were buttoned up tight and a guard surveyed you through a peephole or a door slightly ajar before letting you in. Inside were bulky characters in ill-fitting dark blue suits with policeman marked all over them. The blue-suited men have been either changed clothes or gone back to Moscow.

Reporters telephoning the embassy get at least a reply from a press spokesman. Until a few weeks ago, they usually got a grunt, sometimes a "I no speak English," or "Nobody is here now."

'All's Forgiven' Dem Leader Tells Ike Supporters

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler held out an olive branch to rank-and-file Texas Democrats who bolted their party in 1952 to vote for Republican Dwight Eisenhower.

"There is no obligation on the part of any party member to vote for every nominee on every occasion so long as a matter of conscience is involved," he told some 400 listeners at a $10-a-plate barbeque last night.

* * *

But, he added, "I do believe that when men and women have been honored by high office in the Democratic party they should not for some flimsy reason give support to the nominee of any other party."

Butler's speech opened his tour to promote harmony among feuding Texas Democrats. He was due to speak at Big Spring today and at a banquet in Dallas tonight. Six other cities are on his schedule.

* * *

The cleavage among Texas Democrats stems from 1952, when Gov. Allen Shivers and other high state officials led a bolt to Eisenhower. Those who stuck to the Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson, contend the bolters do not truly represent the party in their state.

Members of both factions attended Butler's speech, and were told that it was up to them to settle their own differences.

Mothers of Men Lost in Korea to Write Envoys

HONG KONG (AP)—The mothers of two missing American servicemen said today they are sending letters to nine foreign embassies in Peiping "asking them to intercede on our behalf."

The women, Mrs. R. H. Shaddick, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Nannie Wright, of Jacksonville, Fla., have been waiting in Hong Kong for three weeks for Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to reply to their request to visit China in search of their sons. Chou has not replied.

The pair are scheduled to leave for home Friday. They said they will stay "until the last moment, waiting for something to break."

They said they had written the embassies of Burma, India, Denmark, Switzerland, Finland, Pakistan, Norway, Indonesia and "one other," asking them to arrange for them to interview Chou.

Lt. John P. Shaddick III was reported missing after bailing out of a plane over North Korea Jan. 29, 1953, and was later reported seen in prison by repatriated prisoners. Army Sgt. James B. Wright was missing after a battle in the Kumhwa sector of Korea.

The two mothers carry with them 15 letters from other mothers in the United States who have sons missing.

Woman Admits Drowning Tot

Mother Charged With Murder in Slaying of Neighbor's Boy, 3

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — A mother of two children was charged with murder early today in the bathtub drowning death of Michael Baldwin, 3, a neighbor's child.

Police Chief John F. O'Connell Jr. said he booked Mrs. Gertrude F. Riordan, 44, after she admitted the slaying in a statement taken down by a stenographer at police headquarters.

* * *

The fully clothed body of the youngster was found in Mrs. Riordan's bathtub yesterday while police were looking for him on a report from his mother that he disappeared from the front porch.

Mrs. Riordan, mother of two teen - agers, Eleanor, 17, and Joseph, 15, lived in the apartment above that of the victim's family.

Michael was the youngest of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baldwin.

* * *

O'Connell said Mrs. Riordan related in her statement that the child called on her yesterday and said he wanted to play cowboys with her. She said she obliged. She tied a face cloth around his neck to take the place of a neckerchief and together they played cowboys. Later, she said, they went into the bathroom where Mrs. Riordan drew 10 inches of water so the youngster could float clothes pins as small boats.

* * *

Then, the statement continued, "for some unknown reason" Mrs. Riordan picked up the youngster, put him into the bathtub and held his head under water until he went limp.

O'Connell said Mrs. Riordan wrote a note about the body to her sister-in-law Mrs. Leonora McDermott and gave the envelope to a taxi driver for delivery.

O'Connell said that when Mrs. McDermott received the shocking note she immediately called the victim's mother by telephone.

It was then that Mrs. Baldwin came upon the body of her son.

Make Huge Cheeses for Vermont Show

TROY, Vt. (AP)—The Vermont building at the Eastern States Exposition will exhibit two 3700-pound cheeses this summer—to help focus attention on the Green Mountain state's cheddar.

To make such a cheese, the United Farmers of New England says, requires the milk for one day from about 1300 average dairy cows—about 17,000 quarts. Aging time is 15 months. There is enough cheese for 60,000 sandwiches which would require 6,000 loaves of bread.

If you like butter in your sandwiches, the dairy farmers would have to supply about 1200 pounds—made from 12,000 quarts of milk.

One civilian in 13 worked for some unit of government in 1940. Now the average has gone up to one in nine.

Students Off to Germany

MARY ROACH

BILL DUCKWITZ

SHIRLEY WOODEN

WALLED LAKE — After months of hectic planning three Walled Lake High School honor students took off from Willow Run at 5 a.m. today for a summer in Germany.

The trio, Bill Duckwitz, Mary Roach and Shirley Wooden, are part of a group of 30 Michigan students who will spend the summer with German families in a "Youth for Understanding" program, jointly sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches and the Rotary Club.

Sandwiched in with their preparations such as vaccinations, shots for tetanus, diphtheria and typhoid, the three spent a number of hours attempting to learn German by listening to German lessons on a tape recorder.

During the past week their chief concerns have been to reduce luggage to 44 pounds, to complete the work of their junior year in school, and to attend the many farewell parties given for them.

The Rotary Club presented each student with a check covering plane fare from Willow Run to New York and return, and $50 spending money. Their parents are paying the balance of their expenses.

At a picnic in Ann Arbor last night, the Michigan students and their families had an opportunity to get acquainted. Later those who wished it were furnished hospitality in Ann Arbor for the night, prior to departure.

After stops in Gander, Newfoundland; Reykjavik, Iceland; and Prestwick, Scotland, the students will land in Hamburg, Germany. There they will meet their hosts for the summer.

Bill will go to Peine, Mary to Darmstadt, and Shirley to Lubeck.

In August the group will reassemble to spend several days at a ski lodge in the Black Forest near Freiburg, at a reunion with German students who have spent a year in Michigan.

Then the Michigan students will entrain for Switzerland, Paris, and Luxembourg before flying back to New York August 29.

County Deaths

Mrs. Martha J. Arentz

WALLED LAKE—Requiem Mass for Mrs. Henry (Martha J.) Arentz, 53, of 128 Leeds St., will be said at 9 a.m. Friday at St. William Catholic Church, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. She died Tuesday. Rosary will be recited 8:45 p.m. Thursday in the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home.

Besides her husband, Henry, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Helen Ludeman of Troy Township, Mrs. Annie Carlo of Detroit; and seven daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Woglke, Mrs. Rita Sutter, Mrs. Rosemary Donovan, Mrs. Helen Van Meter, Mrs. Margaret Tognetti, and Elsie and Anita Arentz, all of Walled Lake.

Alice Loomis

OXFORD —Service for Alice Loomis, 90, of 25 West Burdick, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday from Flumerfelt Funeral Home, with burial in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Oakwood. She died Wednesday at her home.

She had been a music teacher in the area, and a resident of Oxford for 17 years. There are no known survivors.

William F. Kilcline

GREEN LAKE — Service for William F. Kilcline, 53, of 443 Lockhaven Rd., will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday from the R. G. and G. R. Harris Funeral Home, Detroit, with burial in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Detroit. He died Monday.

He is survived by his widow, Thelma, and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Burnish and Mrs. Jewell Herrmann, both of Detroit.

Troy Rezoning OK'd by Board

104-Acre Parcel Near Vickers Recommended as Light Industrial

TROY TOWNSHIP—The Troy Township Zoning Board approved the rezoning of a 104-acre parcel of land on the north side of 15-Mile road west of Crooks road to light industry for a $2,000,000 office and research building and recommended it to the township board.

The site is almost directly across from the Vickers property, another $2,000,000 construction.

This new construction will have 100,000 square feet of floor area for the office, 50,000 square feet for a research lab, and a parking area for 1,000 cars.

It will have its own sewage disposal system and will get Troy Township water. The residential area nearby will be protected by a green belt.

Paul Moffett, an agent for an architectural firm, made the application for the company.

Says Huron Valley Schools in Black

MILFORD—At the annual meeting of the Huron Valley Board of Education last night, Supt. Harold Hansen told members that the school system is now operating in the black, and will conclude the year with a slight balance.

In his report to the board Hansen also stated that there will be very little turnover in the teaching staff for next year. Four new teachers are being hired, including a qualified speech teacher, who will work in all three schools in the district.

The four teachers leaving the system are John Harmes, Joy Gardner, Don Smatowitch, Denny Boyle.

Romeo Citizens Ask Truck Ban

Petition Village Council to Keep Vehicles Off Croswell Street

ROMEO—Croswell street residents petitioned the Romeo Village Council to keep heavy trucks off their street at a meeting Monday night. The request was brought about by the opening of a building material firm on Sisson street.

The matter was referred to village engineer Fitz Bridges. He will consult with Macomb county road commission and county engineers as to the possibility of making the bridge on South Sisson street safe for heavy traffic, so that Croswell street may be bypassed.

Thompson place, located between the high school and the new vocational agricultural building, will be closed to public traffic according to council plan and sewers will be installed there.

Residents at the east end of the block-long street had complained of flood conditions following heavy rains when the street acted as a "funnel," channeling water into their yards and basements.

A three-man council committee was appointed to seek a new site for the village dump.

The resignation of James Lindsay from the village planning commission was accepted. He is moving to Utica.

The annual request from the Romeo Peach Festival Assn. for the blocking of streets and use of facilities during the Labor Day celebration were granted by the council.

The village also will contribute $750 voted by the people toward the association support.

West Bloomfield Speed Limit Set for Subdivision

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Speed limit on subdivision roads in the township have been set at 25 miles per hour.

The ordinance controlling the speed was passed at a recent meeting by the Township Board.

Action on changes in the building code and electrical code were set aside until a later meeting.

Past Matrons to Meet

METAMORA — Past Matrons Club of the OES has been invited to attend the 25th anniversary celebration of the Lapeer Past Matrons, to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Masonic Temple in Lapeer.

Other past matrons clubs of the county are also invited.

Registering Voters in Troy Township

TROY TOWNSHIP—Troy Township Hall will be opened 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day this week and until 8 p.m. Saturday for registration for the special election on July 18.

The election will be to vote on 1¼ mills to be distributed to police, fire, recreation and parks.

At the annual Troy Township meeting the people asked that the additional 1¼ mills be voted on.

Red Party Line Garbled Over Adenauer 'Titles'

The East German Communists are being every polite to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer these days.

The newspapers in East German cities refer to him as "Herr Konrad Adenauer, Chancellor of the Federal Republic."

Until recently, in the same newspapers, Adenauer was called "puppet," "war monger" and "imperialist lackey."

In fact, the Reds referred to Adenauer by these epithets as late as last Tuesday—on their inside pages, that is. The first pages of the same editions—hastily revised—reported the fact that Adenauer had been invited to Moscow.

DIDN'T SEND WORD

What happened, it developed, was that the Kremlin had failed to notify the East German government and the East German Communist Party in Advance that their arch-enemy's favor was to be courted.

This means that the East German leaders have good reason to be worried.

They undoubtedly have, as companions in misery, the Polish Communists.

It was suggested three weeks before the Kremlin invitation to Moscow that the Polish Reds probably were a worried bunch of people.

They must be more worried today.

There can be no doubt that the Soviet Government would betray both the East German Communists and the Polish Communists if necessary to make a deal with Adenauer.

That betrayal would involve the unification of Germany and the restoration to Germany of the more than 40,000 square miles of its eastern territory which Red Poland now occupies.

Russia has almost got to make some kind of agreement with Adenauer, if only a face-saving one, for its own good.

* * *

It is inconceivable that Adenauer would agree to make Germany a neutral nation, as the Kremlin desires.

Even if Adenauer did agree to such an incredible concept, the facts of life would prove too strong to permit its consummation.

GERMANY WORLD POWER

Germany is a world power, as much of a world power as Russia is. It cannot be relegated to the status of a minor nation.

As long as Adenauer is chancellor, its alignment with the West seems certain.

Wilhelm Pieck, Otto Grotewohl and Walter Ulbricht, the East German big three, must be thinking of these things with some bitterness today, while Adenauer is in Washington.

They are puppets and lackeys of the Kremlin while Adenauer is the head of a sovereign nation and the honored guest of President Eisenhower.

Pieck is the president of the so-called German Democratic Republic. He is a figurehead. Grotewohl, as premier, heads the government. Ulbricht, the most hated man in Germany, is the head of the Communist Party and the real boss.

Berlin advices suggest that all three Red leaders may go to Moscow soon to find just what the outlook is. It seems hardly likely that any news they get will be good.

Memorial Tree Stolen

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A five foot weeping willow tree planted at the Young Men's Park as a memorial to a bishop of the Polish National Church was stolen

Dr. Sturk, 60, Church Administrator, Dies

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Dr. L. W. Sturk, 60, of Owosso, general superintendent of the Pilgrim Holiness Churches of the United States and Canada, died of a heart ailment here Monday night.

Dr. Sturk was addressing a meeting of area Holiness clergymen when he suffered a heart attack. He died as he was being taken into Defiance City Hospital.

The body has been sent to the Jennings Funeral Home at Owosso.

Dr. Sturk was born in Bad Axe. He leaves his widow, Ida Mae; two sons, Lewis of Traverse City and Willard of Mason, Ohio; three daughters, Mrs. Virginia Frederickson, Mrs. Alice Reubelman and Mrs. Georgia Levitski, all of Owosso; two brothers, two sisters and nine grandchildren.

Squirrels Tap Phones by Gnawing on Cables

DES MOINES (AP) — Telephone maintenance men say that for some reason squirrels like to gnaw small holes in the lead sheating of telephone cables.

In Des Moines, the damage is as much as $1,800 a year, not taking into account the disruption in service.

The holes admit air and moisture. Water vapor condensing within the cable can knock out a telephone line.

Speeding caused 12,380 deaths on U. S. streets and highways during 1954.

School Spending Falls Behind Cost of Living

NEW YORK (AP)—Schools in the New York area spend $400 a pupil, compared with the national average of $260.

A survey sponsored by a Columbia University affiliate also showed the average community in the nation in not keeping up with the rise in the cost of living by spending as large a percentage of its income on education than it did 15 years ago.

Bob Considine Says:

Hilton's Life Goes From Shanty to Waldorf

ISTANBUL (INS)—Conrad Hilton is a big, rangy, hard-working, hard-playing man who'll be 68 next Christmas. His infinite range of interest extends from composing a prayer "America on Its Knees," which has had 400,000 reprints in many languages, to putting on a samba exhibition which sorely winded his young dancing partner, Ann Miller.

* * *

Hilton was born in an adobe house in San Antonio, N. M. There were seven children. As they grew older, married and moved out of the family home, Hilton's father began renting rooms to traveling salesmen at a buck a day, American plan.

Conrad Nicholas Hilton met the trains as a steerer. He now heads up a hotel empire without parallel in the annals of innkeeping. His company owns, leases or operates 27 hotels in five countries, with 27,470 guest rooms. Another eight hotels are under construction in the U.S. and abroad and they'll expand his guest rooms by 4,700.

His company employs about 30,000, including ex-President Herbert Hoover, a director of Hilton's Waldorf Astoria who lives only a few doors away from tenants Douglas MacArthur and the Windsors.

Hilton was a boyish representative in the New Mexico Legislature, a second looey in World War I, and hoped to get into banking in Cisco, Tex., when he was mustered out.

* * *

The group that was going to sell him a ramshackle bank suddenly upped the price, so he bought a hotel—the Mobley. Eleven of the 13 banks in that area went bust the next year, but the Mobley prospered with an oil boom.

TEXAS FLEA BAGS

He moved on from there to ownership of assorted flea bags in Texas, then gambled and built in Dallas. He went bust before the doors opened (1925) but hung on as operator and got it back.

With uncanny prescience or luck he moved into California just before the war boom and into New York in time to catch the gold rush which was a part of that war.

Hilton picked up the $30,000,000 Stevens in Chicago (then $20,000,000 in the red) for $7,500,000. The world's largest and for a time certainly the worst hotel netted $1,730,242 in Hilton's first year of management. He bought his first Waldorf-Astoria bonds at 4½ and sold a few years later at 85.

In the trade the big, friendly man is known for picking shrewd aides, paring costs, cutting down on thievery among the help, and utilizing what he calls waste space.

* * *

At his Palmer House in Chicago (which cost his group $19,385,000) he noted that some 4,000 persons passed through the lower arcade every day. There was no bar there. When the lease on a $250-a-month bookstore was up he turned it into a pub which produced $490,000 in its first year.

A $25,000-a-month bar now replaces the broker's office in the Plaza, New York, which once paid $5,000 a year rental.

POINT 4 HOTELS

The wholly owned international wing of his organization is a kind of Point Four, Marshall Plan, FAO and NATO of the hotel business. The money to put up his hotels in Puerto Rico, Madrid, Chihuahua (Mex.) and Istanbul was raised locally.

Most of the construction work and materials were locally gathered. The Hilton organization trained the officials and employes and operates the business for a percentage.

In the case of the newest of the string, the Istanbul Hilton, the Turkish government owns the handsome 300-roomer, will use its profits for a government employes' pension fund and pays Hilton one-third to operate it.

Similar arrangements have been made for the Acapulco Hilton and the Continental Hilton in Mexico, the Havana Hilton, Nile Hilton, Berlin Hilton, Albergo del Cavalieri Hilton (Rome) and the huge Queen Elizabeth, scheduled to open in Montreal next year.

The moral of this story is twofold: Get yourself born in an adobe shanty and never buy a bank in Cisco, Tex.

How to Handle Your Money: 9

Deciding When to Invest Hard Decision to Make

Following is the ninth installment of a ten-part interview with Benjamin Graham, security analyst and Columbia University professor, who answers questions on the how's, why's and when's of investing your money.

Q—For the average man who has never invested in stocks, but who now discovers he has a surplus income and feels that he should start building up some equities—should he not start today at the current level of stock prices?

A—The best suggestion I can make is that if he were sure that he could follow a dollar-averaging program, he could start today. If he has any doubts on that subject, either because of his financial situation or his psychological situation, I'd advise him to hold off. This is not the most satisfactory time to start in stocks.

Q—Might it be better for him to wait anyway, even if he thinks he can keep his program going?

A—Well, waiting is a difficult operation itself. While you're waiting, you're wondering how much you're missing, whether you'll ever have a chance to get back at a better time. When the chance does occur, you wonder when is the right moment to start coming in. All those things are difficult decisions to make. It's easier to do the thing mechanically than it is to do it by these judgments.

Q—From what you say here and what you've written, you do not advise people to speculate—ordinary people, that is. Isn't that right?

A—Well, being against speculation is almost like being against sin. But speculation really is a sin to the untrained member of the public.

Q—So that the ordinary man is not going to get rich by speculating on the market?

A—No, but more apt to get poorer. The main point is that a man can earn some money by taking a sensible attitude toward investment, but I don't see how a man can earn money by being an untrained speculator. He just doesn't put enough into it to justify his hopes of getting something out of it.

Q—Do you have the feeling that we are at a point in history where, again, the market fever is hitting the little people and that speculation with cash savings is possibly going to spread to rather dangerous levels?

A—Yes, I'm quite apprehensive about it.

Q—Do you think a good many issues are too high now?

A—Yes, That is undoubtedly true.

Q—This would indicate that there are a good many well-accepted issues which today would appear to be overpriced?

A—I think that's so. I think they carry with them some dangers.

Q—Do you also feel that there are issues in the market which are underpriced:

A—Yes. I think there are considerable numbers of those issues. Actually, among the thousands of issues that are dealt in, quite a number of them are still selling at considerably under what I would consider to be their true value. However, I should add that nearly all of those securities tend most of the time to sell under their true value.

Q—So that they would later as well as now?

A—Yes. Except at more or less the top of the market.

Q—How does one identify these issues?

A—The simplest test that I've had is the value of the company as a private business. If you can look at a company and say that at this price for the stock the whole enterprise is selling at a figure which is clearly less than it would be worth to me if it were my business, if I owned it—you can divide the figures by 10 or 100 to make them comparable to the kind of business you are familiar with in private practice—if that test shows that the price is quite low, then it's generally a reasonably good guide to your evaluation of the stock itself. In some cases, the very fact that the company is selling considerably under the working capital alone, with no value given to all the fixed assets, is a prima facie indication that the price is too low.

Hottest-Selling Buick in History

No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—capping the popularity that has already moved Buick into the top circle of America's best sellers.

$2267.00* Delivered locally!

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.

THIS is a Buick—a 2-door, 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan.

It packs a walloping 188-hp V8 engine under the hood—is carried on a strapping 122-inch wheelbase—rides with the luxury cushioning of all-coil springing, the solid steadiness of a full-length torque-tube drive, the extra safety and silence of tubeless tires.

It's big and brawny and road-steady and roomy—each seat cushion measures over five feet in width.

Yet this broad beauty—as the price we show here proves—delivers locally for just about the price of the well-known smaller cars—even below some models of those very same cars.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs

That, for sure, is one reason why Buick sales go higher and higher and higher. More and more people are finding that you can buy a Buick for the price of a smaller car, so more and more people are getting this bigger buy for their money.

They want the bigger package of sheer automobile for the money that they get in Buick—bigger in power thrill, in roomy comfort, in riding steadiness, in structural solidity.

They want the added prestige and pleasure of owning Buick styling and size—and the added safety and sureness of Buick roadability and handling ease.

They want, too, the spectacular performance and better gas mileage of Variable Pitch Dynaflow†—easily yours at modest extra cost.

And they certainly want the choice Buick offers of a car in every price range, with each one the buy in its field—the low-price SPECIAL, the supremely-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

Why don't you come in for a visit and see how much real automobile your money can buy here?

†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Washington Sure Adenauer Won't Fall for Smooth Talk in Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington officials say goodby today to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, apparently reassured that Soviet blandishments have had no measurable effect on him.

One official who would not be quoted by name summed up this way the impression Adenauer is leaving as he flies to Boston:

"He's going to Moscow. He's not going until after the Big Four meeting in Geneva. He's not giving an inch to the Soviet push for neutralizing Germany."

Adenauer was asked at a press-radio-television reception yesterday whether he will accept a Soviet invitation to go to Moscow for talks about improving diplomatic and trade relations.

He said he "probably" will go and quickly added, "Such a trip, if it is to serve any purpose, must be prepared for and that takes time."

TIME SHORT

The July 18 opening of the Big Four meeting at the summit obviously will not give Adenauer the amount of time necessary for preparation before that date.

As if to discount fears in some quarters here that he and his fellow countrymen might be swept off their feet by a Russian offer to let Germany reunite if it would became neutral and repudiate the obligations just assumed under the North Atlantic Treaty, Adenauer over and over promised German steadfastness:

1. In a joint statement with President Eisenhower after their meeting yesterday: "It was confirmed that in their combined opinion the concept of neutrality is in no way applicable to Germany and that only in collective security arrangements can Germany assure its independence."

2. In his speech to newsmen: "I can assure you most emphatically—Germany will honor her obligations . . . The neutrality or neutralization of Germany would in a relatively short time permit Soviet Russia to extend her power over all of Western Europe."

3. In reply to a question: "If there were a choice between reunification and NATO and we chose reunification, within a very short time this would lead to Germany becoming a satellite state . . . We want Germany free and reunified."

U. S., BONN AGREE

In their joint statement, Eisenhower and Adenauer said they are "reassured that there is a very broad field of understanding between them."

Adenauer appealed to free world public opinion to "show great discipline" in what he said "may be a long period of negotiations" over East-West differences.

Tomorrow Adenauer will receive an honorary degree from Harvard University.

HIS DISPLAYS RULED BEST—Jim Barnowsky adjusts a flag which he bought two years ago with money earned mowing lawns. The youth, 16, of 132 E. Rundell St., won a savings bond for a flag display judged best in a citywide Flag Day contest conducted by Pontiac Elks Lodge 810. At the center emblem's base is a gilt-framed flag creed, flanked by two smaller banners. A junior at St. Michael's High School, Jim has two younger sisters. His father, Ervin, is a draftsman at General Motors Truck and Coach Division. "All Pontiac should be proud of a young man who will put as much effort into the proper recognition of Flag Day as Jim did," said County Clerk Lynn D. Allen, Elks' Americanism chairman. Runnerup in the contest was John Sluka, of 274 S. Tilden Ave.

AMA Opposes Dem Plan for Salk Shots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Medical Assn. today opposed as "completely unnecessary" a Democratic proposal to pay for the antipolio inoculation of all American youngsters through age 19.

At the same time, the AMA gave only tepid assent to an Eisenhower administration plan to finance Salk vaccine for children whose parents are unable to afford it.

The AMA position was set forth by Dr. Julian P. Price, of Florence, S.C., in testimony prepared for the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. Dr. Price is a trustee of the AMA.

The committee is considering bills to carry out the administration's plan, which would cost about 35 million dollars, and the Democratic proposal, which would cost an estimated 135 millions.

* * *

Reiterating AMA's stand in favor of the least possible federal involvement in the vaccine program, Price said the medical association is "not opposed" to the President's plan. But he said "we are not in sympathy with the purpose or program" as provided under the bill sponsored by Chairman Hill (D-Ala) of the Labor Committee.

"We are convinced," Price said, "that the proposal outlined in S.1247 (the Hill bill) is completely unnecessary and will if enacted result in an unreasonable expenditure of federal funds and the possible impairment of state, local and voluntary programs which are already established or which are now being formulated."

Price told the senators existing laws are adequate to control the safety and potency of the vaccine and that voluntary agreements already in being are sufficient "to insure its distribution as rapidly as it can be produced to those groups whose need is greater."

He renewed a pledge that the medical profession's self-imposed priority plan aimed at getting the scarce vaccine first to the more susceptible 5-9 age group "will be followed voluntarily."

"In accordance with the great traditions of medicine," he said, "no child will be denied a vaccination because of inability to pay a physician's fee."

* * *

In a hearing marked by sporadic Democratic-Republican wrangling, the Labor Committee yesterday heard Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele state that under recently revised manufacturing and testing standards, the Salk vaccine "is a potent material as safe as we know how to make it."

Asking a government statement on the vaccine's safety, Hill said he wanted to determine whether it would be "sound public policy" to continue with inoculations at this time. On this point, Scheele said it is "sound from the Public Health Service viewpoint to achieve mass immunization even though there are things we still don't have the answers to."

* * *

Earlier, Secretary of Welfare Hobby—who has directed the government's activities in the vaccine situation — said the Democratic proposal might lead to "socialized medicine by the back door." She urged instead appropriation of 35 million dollars to make vaccine available to all needy youngsters up to 19. This was an increase of seven millions over previous administration requests.

District Rotary Holds Assembly

Governor-Elect Hartrick Introduced Officially to Delegates

Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick, who is district governor-elect, was introduced officially to the delegates at the 1955 meeting of the 222nd District of Rotary International in Clarkston yesterday.

Hartrick, past president of the Pontiac club, spoke on "Rotary in Our Year," and was introduced by the outgoing district chief, Harold M. Dorr, of Ann Arbor.

The governor-elect also presided over one of the three workshops which highlighted the all-day affair held in Clarkston High School and hosted by the Rotary Club of Clarkston.

Presiding over other workshops were Lloyd C. Megee, assembly chairman and past district governor, and Clarence F. Barck, secretary of the Mt. Clemens club.

Short talks were delivered by James M. Davis, of Ann Arbor; Paul K. Cousino, of Warren; Joseph V. Brady, of Howell; Howard J. McVey, of Walled Lake; Robert Parenti, of Oxford, and Fletcher L. Renton, of Royal Oak.

Roy Cohn Charges 'Blackout' on Joe

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Roy M. Cohn contends the nation's press is engaging in a deliberate "news blackout" on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and others who, he says, "are fighting communism."

"In the past three months the eggheads of the press have practiced silence," Cohn declared yesterday in a Flag Day speech.

The former counsel of the Senate Investigations subcommittee continued:

"You can go up and down the pages of the newspapers and you will find only a small paragraph now and then about McCarthy and the others who are fighting communism."

Cohn said it was "a deliberate policy . . . so that millions of Americans cannot know what is happening."

Most Farmland in State Under Soil Conservation

EAST LANSING (AP)—More than 90 per cent of all farmland in Michigan is now within soil conservation districts, Michigan State College said today.

The newest district is the Arenac County Soil Conservation District, which farmers in the area voted to form recently.

Australian Man Speaker for Rotary's Meeting

Dr. Fred C. Schwartz, noted surgeon and psychiatrist from Sydney, Australia, will be guest speaker on the subject of "Communism" at the Rotary meeting tomorrow at Hotel Waldron.

Dr. Schwartz is now on his fourth world lecture tour. For 18 years he has probed the mind of the communist to find out what he believes and thinks. His new and different approach has made his lectures different and startling.

U.N. to Honor Hammarskjold

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The 10th anniversary celebration of the U.N. in San Francisco next week may be something of a testimonial meeting for its top man.

Speakers can be expected to congratulate Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on Communist China's recent release of four U.S. airmen. Congratulations would turn to eulogy should Peiping free 11 other fliers still held.

Hammarskjold flew to Peiping last January and talked with Premier Chou En-lai to try to win freedom for those 15 Americans and any other U.N. Command Korean War prisoners that the Chinese might still have.

* * *

In deciding to go to Peiping, he gambled with his own prestige. At this stage of the game, he is ahead. And he is still trying.

Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon also visited Chou, in May, and later announced that the four fliers would be released at India's request. Despite this, Hammarskjold has got much of the credit. Secretary of State Dulles messaged thanks to him as well as to Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

Hammarskjold's trip to Peiping was the boldest move of his generally cautious two years as the successor to Trygve Lie of Norway. He came from the Swedish Cabinet, where he was minister without portfolio dealing with foreign relations.

* * *

His first name means "Day." His last, "Hammer-shield," describes the coat of arms that a peasant ancestor took in 1610 on being knighted for bravery in battle.

He went to universities in Uppsala and Stockholm, got a Ph. D. and became an economist. Entering the civil service, he rose to head the Bank of Sweden before joining the Cabinet.

Hammarskjold is a mild-mannered bachelor. He stands 5 feet 10, weighs 161 pounds and has a narrow, ruddy face, blue eyes and yellow hair, combed back. He goes bareheaded the year around, wears loafers, readymade blue and gray lounge suits and bright bow ties. He smokes a pipe and little cigars, eats lightly and takes Manhattans at cocktail parties.

* * *

He has an eight-room duplex apartment on New York's upper Park Avenue and a wooded 80-acre country place with two houses and a nine-acre lake near Brewster, N.Y.

Normally he rises at 7:15 a.m., works from 9 to 7:30 and retires at midnight or later. His invariable breakfast is grapefruit, cornflakes, milk and coffee. He often entertains at lunch or dinner.

He spends Sunday at Brewster, busy with swimmig, canoeing, archery, hiking or taking pictures with a Swedish reflex camera.

As secretary general, he is manager of a 60-nation organization with a 50-million-dollar-a-year budget, boss of its 4,151 employes from 66 countries and secretary of U.N. bodies devoted to the goals of peace, prosperity and self government for all the world's peoples. He is empowered to bring any threat to the peace before the Security Council.

He gets $55,000 a year tax free—$20,000 in salary, $20,000 for miscellaneous expenses and $15,000 for housing.

Death Has Three Lives---a New Michael Shayne Story by Brett Halliday

THE STORY: Frightened by the threats of Jack Bristow, a wounded man hiding in her apartment, Lucy Hamilton, secretary and girl friend of Private Detective Michael Shayne, does not tell her boss about the intruder when he calls. Then a policeman knocks at the door and wants to search the apartment for a fugitive.

III

THE policeman jerked to an astonished halt when he was suddenly confronted by the blazing eyes and jutted jaw of Shayne instead of a shrinking female, and heard a rarsh voice demanding:

"What do you mean by pushing into a private place and insulting a decent woman?"

"Can it, friend." Taken aback and on the defensive, the policeman adopted a blustering tone and made the mistake of reaching for his stick. "Keep your yap shut before I run you in for . . ."

* * *

Balanced lightly on the balls of his feet, Shayne hit him full in the mouth. Lucy moaned faintly and covered her face with her hands as she saw Shayne's fist drive forward and upward with the weight of his body behind it.

The officious cop staggered back and caught his heel on the threshold and went over backwards in the hall with flailing arms. Shayne stalked grimly into the doorway and confronted a sergeant who came running from another room at the sound of the affray. The sergeant stopped with mouth agape when he saw and recognized Shayne. He said sharply, "What's this? Get up from the floor and start talking, Morrison."

Morrison got to his feet slowly, his beefy face as scarlet with rage as the blood trickling from his mouth. "That must be him, Sarge." His hand went to his holster. "Jumped me from behind the door and slugged me with brass knucks or something."

The sergeant snorted contemptuously and lunged forward to grab the half-drawn gun while Shayne lounged against the door frame and watched the tableau, his features stony and controlled.

"Get back, you fool," ordered the sergeant. "That's Mike Shayne. If he had used knucks you wouldn't have any teeth left. Get down the hall with Langley and I'll handle this."

KNOWS NAME

MENTION of Shayne's name change the patrolman's surly attitude to one of abashed deference, for it was commonly known in Miami that the private detective and Chief of Police Gentry were close friends. After he slunk away, the sergeant asked Shane, "What did the big-mouthed ape do to ask for what he got?"

"Barged into my secretary's apartment and insulted her," Shayne told him coldly. "What's this all about?"

"We're hunting a killer. Slightly built young fellow. I didn't know that was Miss Hamilton's apartment," the sergeant went on defensively. "You know how it is when you're trying to work fast. Don't mind if I take a look around, do you?"

* * *

"I mind plenty," Shayne told him coldly. "Miss Hamilton tried to tell your man there was no one here. Now, I'm telling you that she isn't hiding anyone in her bedroom. That good enough or do I have to call Will Gentry?"

"That's plenty good for me," the sergeant assured him hastily. He turned back to the others who were emerging from the other apartments empty-handed, and Shayne stepped back to slam the door shut violently.

Lucy wes huddled back on the divan and she watched Shayne with frightened eyes as he stalked back to pick up his drink.

"Who are they looking for, Michael?"

"Some punk that were tipped off was hiding here." Shayne's voice grated unnaturally. He shook his head and lowered the cognac in his glass before setting it down. "My temper," he muttered disgustedly. "Going to get me in trouble some time." He grinned down at Lucy with an effort and touched the tendrils of brown hair at the nape of her neck with his finger tips. "I guess maybe I do like you a lot, Angel. Something went all over me when that lout said what he did. I'm sorry."

LUCY TELLS

"I'm not," Lucy told him sturdily. "I'm glad. But," she added faintly, "I have to tell you something, Michael."

"Okay. Tell it." He waited quizzically.

"It . . . it all happened so fast," Lucy said faintly. "I hadn't time to think. Ididn't really mean to tell a lie, Michael."

"WHAT are you talking about?" His grin changed to a frown of perplexity.

"The man. He is in my bedroom, Michael."

* * *

It took the space of 20 seconds for her words fully to penetrate into Shayne's consciousness. He got to his feet slowly and Lucy could not meet his gaze.

"Do you mean that, Lucy? You let me lie to the sergeant? Use my reputation and friendship with Gentry to refuse them entry while you were hiding their man all the time?"

Lucy notted without looking up. Tears were streaming from her eyes. She winched as though from a blow with each word Shayne spoke. There was a brief silence and still she did not dare look up. Then the sound of Shayne's heels striking hard on the floor as he strode to the outer door and jerked it open. She sat with bowed head and listened drearily to the sound of him taking the stairs to the bottom three at a time.

Military Needs Atomic Plants

Expansion of Nuclear Production Facilities Is Vital for Services

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) said today secret briefings by the nation's top military leaders have convinced him the United States will have to provide for more atomic production.

Jackson heads the Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee on military applications which yesterday concluded hearings lasting several weeks at which high officers of the armed services have testified.

* * *

Jackson said in an interview the Army, Navy and Air Force all are going to have greatly expanded needs for nuclear materials.

"It is entirely apparent additional production facilities will have to be built," he said.

The government now has a 12-billion-dollar investment in atomic installations. An expansion program of more than three billion dollars is just being completed.

Jackson said all three military services are coming to rely more and more on atomic materials, not only for weapons, but also for motive power.

* * *

Meanwhile, a floor fight appeared to be shaping up over the action of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee in knocking out funds for the "good will" atomic merchant ship proposed by President Eisenhower. Democrats voted against it.

Air Force Will Take Berlin Kids on Trips

BERLIN (AP) — The U. S. Air Force will fly 1,680 children of Soviet Zone refugees in West Berlin to vacations in West Germany this summer in its third annual Operation Kiderlift.

Startig July 6, fourteen twin-engine C47 planes will take 36 children daily to five cities in various parts of West Germany.

Children will be vacation guests of German and American families there for five weeks and then be flown back.

The German Red Cross is supervising the operation.

Store's Liquor License Is Suspended by State

For selling liquor to a minor, William Keehn, owner of Keehn's Thirft Store, 839 Baldwin Ave., was given a 7-day liquor license suspension and assessed a $150 fine, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission said today.

The fine and suspension will go into effect July 5. The firm was accused of the illegal sale last Feb. 25 at a hearing in Lincoln Park May 3.

Building New Offices

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — A $10,000,000 office building is being erected here to erase the state government's growing pains. The structure is located across the street from the state capitol, on a site two blocks long and one block wide.

Pentagon Orders Brass to Give Fair Warnings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has ordered all its host of civilian secretaries, deputies, assistants, directors, generals and admirals to let the State Department know when they are heading out for visits abroad.

The idea isn't just to give American ambassadors and consuls time to bake a cake and lay out a red plush rug.

It is, says Department of Defense Instruction Sheet No. 5030.4, to "avoid conflicts and undesirable political reactions created by trips abroad by key officials in the Department of Defense."

Ambassadors who have just ushered in one visiting official and arranged for him to present an official view are too often surprised to have a second, unexpected arrival from Washington appear on the scene, sometimes with slightly different ideas.

The Defense Department for a number of years has taken care to notify the State Department and diplomats abroad of the intended visits from really top-level Pentagon circles. But overseas travel by dozens and scores of lesser brass has multiplied in recent years. The new instructions include them too.

Man Spends 6 Days in Chilled Rail Car

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Manuel Ramirez, 28, rested in a warm hospital bed today, recuperating from the effects of six days he spent locked inside a pitch-black refrigerated railroad car.

Ramirez jumped into the car in Chicago last Wednesday, hoping to return to his family in Laredo, Tex. A workman sealed the car. The temperature inside was about 50 degrees.

Yesterday the car, carrying sheep hides, arrived at a Philadelphia leather processing plant. Employes found Ramirez, almost too weak to move.

He's being treated for malnutrition and dehydration. And he's still got to get to Texas.

Because baled hay takes less space than hay in mows and modern machinery is more compact than the horses and the equipment they once powered, new barns on American farms often are smaller than the old.

Kefauver Probe Turns to Films

Committee Starts In to Study Violence, Sex in Motion Pictures

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Movie sex and violence, already the cause of a serious industry breach with the Legion of Decency, gets a going-over from the Kefauver Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, which begins a three-day stand here today.

Today's session will be but a curtain raiser for the big Hollywood show expected to steal headlines tomorrow and Friday. Civic leaders have been invited to testify today.

Tomorrow a dozen movie bigwigs will answer charges that a recent loosening of the motion picture production code has had an unhealthy effect on the minds and morals of teen-agers.

Committee investigators previously have subpoenaed press books of "Son of Sinbad" and "Blackboard Jungle," two pictures which have come under much fire from censorship bodies. Press books contain the advertising and publicity campaigns of pictures.

Dore Schary, production boss at MGM, the studio that made "Blackboard Jungle," is slated to take the stand tomorrow.

Kefauver said the subcommittee is "as interested as film makers in learning how their product can be improved."

"Officials of the industry," he said, "will assist us in examining their code with an eye toward evaluating the code in the light of the effect of crime and horror motion pictures on juvenile conduct."

Part of the Friday session will be devoted to the so-called "smut mills" which mail out literature and art to teenagers.

This Is a 'Pet' Tax?

DENVER (AP)—Cat owners had a right to howl today. The City Board of Health is proposing a tax of 1 cent per pound on pet food to help pay for enforcing the city's new leash law. That includes cat food. Yet the law applies only to dogs, which must be kept in yards or on leashes after July 1.

Job-Hunting Is Serious Business

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Year after year, the complaint I hear most frequently from job hunters—men as well as women—is: "If only I had contacts; if only I knew the right people."

Nine times out of ten, this is just an alibi for laziness in looking for a job.

* * *

Occasionally, of course, people do get jobs through personal contacts, but an overwhelming number of people get their jobs through their own efforts.

They register at the right employment agencies, state or private; they answer box number ads in their local newspapers.

They build a list of firms which might have the kind of job they are looking for and they approach the right person in the firm, by "cold" call or letter. And they get a job on their own.

MIXED BLESSING

But the lazy job-hunter doesn't want to be bothered. He'd rather call friends of friends and see if they can get him a job through "pull."

As a rule, it doesn't work; but when it does, it is sometimes a very mixed blessing.

Sometimes, the people who get their jobs on their own will resent someone who gets by on "pull." They may not be willing to cooperate with you, at least in the beginning.

NEW FRIENDS

Actually, it's relatively easy to get a job on your own, if you make up your mind to do it.

If you do a thorough job-hunting campaign, you will meet many interesting people, in addition to the one who hires you.

If the others like you, even though they have no immediate opening, they are good sources for future jobs.

They may be the new friends in your field whom you will get to know well and who may be of great help to you as you go along.

BRUSH UP

If you have trouble in your job-hunting you might like to brush up your technique by reading some good books about how to do it.

If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this paper, I'll be glad to send you a list of helpful books on job-hunting.

Engagements Revealed

RITA JOAN NOE

The engagement of their daughter, Rita Joan, is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Dewey R. Noe of Chipman street. Her fiance is A.1.C. Clarence M. Poteet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mode Poteet of Jonesville, Va. The couple plans a summer wedding.

CARROL ANN WELLS

Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Wells of North Parke street are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Carrol Ann, to Eugene R. Hahn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hahn of Auburn Heights.

WSCS Holds June Meeting

The Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church recently gathered in the church parlors for its June meeting.

New circle chairmen and the president were hosts to 75 members at a noon luncheon. Spring flowers decorated the luncheon tables.

The devotional message, "All One Body We," was presented by Mrs. Frank Coons. For the program Mrs. J. Wendell Green and Mrs. Harry Going brought detailed reports of a meeting of the Detroit Conference WSCS held in Midland Methodist Church.

Mrs. Clayton Rule, president, added highlights from speeches of the principal speakers at the meeting. The society will meet in July for a picnic at the Watkins Lake home of Mrs. Green.

Bloomfield Open Hunt Expands Show Facilities

Newcomers to the annual Detroit Horse Show may not note any great changes in facilities when they visit the largest outdoor horse show in the United States, opening June 23 at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club in Bloomfield Hills.

* * *

But the regulars will — this year's four-day (and night) show has been greatly expanded, according to Roy Pulver, vice chairman in charge of grounds and stabling.

Listing a few changes Mr. Pulver included an expanded seating capacity which incorporates better visibilty, a new outside "schooling" course, a second major show ring and additional "walkie-talkies" for the benefit of spectators.

Mr. Pulver said seating capacity has been increased to approximately 6,000 for each of the four days. This comes from an added 320 grandstand seats. The new show ring makes this a "two-ring" affair, he said.

* * *

The course layout for the new outdoor schooling course measures an eighth of a mile. It covers some 4 acres, complete with nine jumps ranging in height from 2½ to 4 feet.

MADE EVEN BETTER

Already considered one of the largest and best in the country, the regular outside hunter course has seen extensive work in efforts to make it even better.

The course, measuring about one-half mile around, has permanent bank and ditch obstacles and 4-foot jumps. Six different courses can be made up from the basic outside course.

New walkie-talkies operating on a special wave-length will connect the various rings and the announcer's booth.

"This will not speed up the show, but will keep the announcer—and consequently the spectators—right up to the minute," commented Mr. Pulver.

* * *

The club has permanent stalls for 300 horses and 50 more will be set up on the grounds. Some exhibitors spend only a day at the show and keep their horses in trailers.

Bloomfield Open Hunt Club is located on East Long Lake road near the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

Soroptimists Initiate Two

Soroptimist International of Pontiac welcomed two new members, Madeleine Half and Marie Keeper, into the club when installation ceremonies were held Monday evening at Hotel Waldron.

Annual reports of retiring officers and standing committees were read and plans were made for an installation of new officers.

The installation will be held jointly with the Birmingham, Mount Clemens and Rochester clubs on June 30 at Devon Gables.

Letters were read from Pontiac State Hospital and Camp Oakland expressing appreciation for donations made by the club. Pontiac State Hospital received funds for outdoor recreational equipment and Camp Oakland received a donation to help purchase cottage furnishings.

Tiffany of Elizabeth Lake road.

Mrs. Franklin Peck (above) of Silver Lake road is an avid gardener. Recently when she entertained members of the Women's Fellowship of Bethany Baptist Church at a picnic, members spent the hours in her beautiful flower garden. There are pink roses on the trellis and weigela at the side.

Spring Musicale Held at Church

A spring musicale was presented Monday and Tuesday evenings at First Christian Church on West Huron street.

Presenting piano solos on the program were Tamzien Rosegart, Susan Woodman, Patty Roberts, Donald Rosie, Kerry Dougherty, Lana Hester and Susan Pill.

Others were Bruce Van Alstine, Joan Grahek, Anita Simoneau, Barbara Smith, Jane Moss, Mary Moss, Sharon Simoneau, Jackie Kosky, Carol Kratt, Jan Anderson, Heidi Bergemann, Ray Hedding and Jill Anderson.

Still others are Jim Felix, Loretta Waara, Tom Evans, Margaret McCarthar, Michael McInally, Janice O'Neil, Patricia Felix, Karen Bergemann, Kay Christopherson, Priscilla Dawe and Carol Wargelin.

Completing the program participants were Renie Sinclair, Karen Erickson, Karen Bergemann and Mona Richie.

New Citizens Hold Executive Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Langton opened their home on Cherry court for a meeting of the executive board of the New Citizens League of Pontiac.

Final arrangements were made at the recent gathering for the group's participation in the Elks' Flag Day program.

Mrs. C. M. Walter's resignation from the board was accepted. Plans were made for a dinner to be held during July and a Constitution Day picnic to be held in September. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Nylon Curtain Hint

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Nylon curtains that "droop" can be perked up by a bath in permanent starch, Clara Leopold, extension home management specialist, at the University of Nebraska, said the "brand new" look then can be given the curtains by pressing them lightly with a steam iron.

She Ducked Reality, Son Suffered

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 18, Dot went to a noted women's college, attended classes, dated, majored in English literature—and graduated.

Because she wore clothes well and her uncle knew the advertising manager, her city's smartest department store agreed to make her a fashion stylist. By the end of the year, she was earning an excellent salary.

Living at home, she spent it on luxuries instead of on rent, food, cleaning, telephone and other basic bills. Later, moving to an apartment with another girl, she paid half the basic bills.

But a salary raise enabled her to go right on buying loge theater tickets, $125 suits, imported blouses, expensive cosmetics and vacations.

On one of the vacations, she met Fred.

WANTED MARRIAGE

He wanted marriage intensely. Because their doubled income made one immediately possible, he said, "Sure, go on working, we'll do fine." Which they did.

They had a maid four times a week and they had fine parties.

It was morning-after dizziness after their biggest party that first told Dot she was going to have a baby.

A modern girl, she met pregnancy in the modern mode. She bought some good looking smocks and worked to within a week of her confinement.

So she and Fred had the money for the services of a first-rate hospital and a fashionable obstetrician.

Four months later, Dot gave herself her first home permanent. She bought her first pair of service-weight nylons. She had her first quarrel with Fred over the price she'd paid for some wine.

Then young Timothy caught his first cold. It became the kind that doctors visit twice a day. Its cost made his parents' decision to move to a cheaper apartment.

TIMES CHANGED

The sink didn't work well. The closets were small. That spring, finding a moth hole in one of the $125 suits, Dot burst into tears.

The following day, Tim fell into the pail of water with which she was washing windows. When he was back in dry clothes, his mother went to the telephone—and asked for her old job back.

Now all is fine again. Tim is in nursery school. He has a big sunny room with shelves of toys. The only problem is the unreliability of the women Dot hires to look after him.

But as she never fails to keep in telephone touch when he's sick, you couldn't call Tim "neglected."

Not unless you saw him in one of his bedtime tantrums.

There's no sense getting mad at his mother. Her evasion of female reality is inevitable. For years, she's been ducking the economic kind.

For years, other people have been paying her basic bills while she's had fun earning her child's dream of a big allowance. Dot's doing with her biological reality what she's always done with reality—

Get someone else to look after it for her.

Married Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Edward Strine. The bride, the former Dorothy Mae Joyce, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Joyce of Hensman street. Her husband's parents are the Gerald Edward Strines of Arline drive.

MR. and MRS. KEITH E. STRINE

Dorothy M. Joyce Wed in Orchard Lake Church

Honeymooning in northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Edward Strine. The couple exchanged vows in a 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday in the chapel of Orchard Lake Community Presbyterian Church.

* * * *

The bride is the former Dorothy Mae Joyce. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Joyce of Hensman street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Edward Strine of Arline drive.

A traditional ivory satin wedding gown was worn by the bride. She carried a prayerbook topped with gardenias and white satin streamers.

As maid of honor, Joy: Wilson selected a light blue dress with white accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed yellow and blue carnations with yellow streamers.

TWIN ATTENDANTS

Flower girls were the bridegroom's twin sisters, Susan and Diane Strine, who wore yellow dresses and white carnations.

Ronald Strine was best man and Robert Langdon of West Bloomfield Township and William Scott of Keego Harbor were ushers.

Soloist for the bridal recital was Mrs. William Joyce, sister-in-law of the bride.

A white and navy printed dress was worn by the bride's mother as she greeted guests at a reception in Orchard Lake Town Hall. The bridegroom's mother chose pink nylon for her gown. Both mothers wore white accessories and pinned pink carnation corsages at their shoulders.

Strawberry Jam Time Is Here

Mrs. Elizabeth Peck Blanches Berries Before Cooking

BY JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

It's time to put in your supply of strawberry jam. The local berries are ripe, so get some for eating and some for preserving. Remember it is always better to make jam and jelly in small batches. Do try this easy recipe given us by Mrs. Elizabeth Peck.

Mrs. Peck and her daughter have a suburban home with large grounds. An accomplished gardener, Mrs. Peck grows some vegetables, strawberries, and lots of flowers. She tried mushrooms once, but gave up after one season.

STRAWBERRY JAM
By Mrs. Elizabeth Peck

Pour boiling water over 1 quart of hulled strawberries. Cover and let stand 2 minutes. Drain, cover with cold water and drain again immediately.

Put berries into a kettle with 2 cups granulated sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and let boil 5 minutes. Remove from stove and stir in 1 more cup of sugar. Bring to a hard boil again and boil 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Stir again. Let stand in kettle overnight before sealing in glasses. Makes 3 to 4 glasses.

SHORT or LONG

There seems to be quite a bit of discussion at present as to whether or not the short hair trend has reached its peak. In deciding a hair style trend of the future, all we have to go on is the past.

Hair styles usually begin in New York and gradually spread over the entire country. This often takes from two to four years. Often a smaller city in the west or midwest finds that a certain trend is just getting popular when predictions start coming through that a new trend is on the way. Yet experience has proven that a cycle will have its fling even if it gets a late start.

I believe that short hair will be with us in Pontiac for a while yet. When longer hair does return it will be nothing like the long hair of yesterday. However, no matter what is the popular length of hair or what the prevailing style we must only use that portion of it which is becoming to us.

MR. and MRS. NORMAN E. LEWIS

Alyce Joy Myre Wears Heirloom Gloves for Rite

Elbow-length gloves worn by her great-great-grandmother for her wedding were an important part of the bridal costume selected by Alice Joy Myre for her Saturday marriage to Norman E. Lewis of Taylor road.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert E. Myre of Northfield avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas H. Lewis of Mason, Ohio.

The 10 a.m. ceremony was performed before the immediate family at St. Michael Church, with the Rev. Michael O'Reilly officiating.

With the heirloom gloves, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white crystalette with bateau neckline. Knife pleats fell from a bow at the waist in the back. Her shoulder veil was secured by a seed pearl tiara.

White gardenias were centered in her bouquet of white rosebuds and stephanotis carried with a prayerbook.

GOWNED IN MAUVE

As her sister's maid of honor, Jeanne Myra was gowned in mauve crystalette. She carried a colonial cascade arrangement of pink carnations with matching flowers in her hair.

Herman Lewis of Mason, Ohio, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Thomas Myre, the bride's brother, and Jack Beauchamp, her cousin.

A reception followed at Malta Temple. The bride's mother chose a blue crystalete dress with white accessories. In the absence of his mother, the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. D. H. Lewis, greeted guests.

She was dressed in a pink nylon gown with white accessories. Both wore pink carnation and rosebud corsages.

When the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Ohio, the new Mrs. Lewis was wearing a beige and brown coat dress with brown accessories. The couple will live on Opdyke road upon returning.

Season Concluded by Lutheran Guild

Laura Bowmaster, president of the Altar Guild of Grace Lutheran Church, led a discussion on the symbolism of the cross when members gathered at the church Tuesday evening for their final meeting until September 13.

Plans were made for a display case to be located in the hall in connection with a money-making affair. Mrs. Frank Moon is chairman.

Ruth T. Flynn Feted at Shower and Luncheon

A miscellaneous shower feting Ruth Jean Flynn was given at Devon Gables by Mrs. B. W. McKibben of Beach street and her daughters, Mrs. Theodore Stickney of Chippewa road and Mrs. James Dearing of Bloomfield terrace.

* * *

Ruth will become the bride of John W. Falahee Jr., of Detroit in a June 25 ceremony at Sacred Heart Church in Gladwin. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Flynn of Gladwin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Falahee of Jackson.

Guests invited to the luncheon were Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Falahee, Grace McLaughlin, Jane McGuire, Mrs. Norma Carline, Mrs. Paul Kratt, Mrs. Glenn Husted and her daughter, Sharie.

Others were Mrs. Leo Timma of Milford, Mrs. James Godvin, Mrs. Edward Staffnik, Mrs. Edward Grzybowski and Mrs. Wendell Flynn, all of Detroit.

Completing the list for the recent shower-luncheon were Barbara Temple, Mrs. Wally Bonk, Mrs. Walter Lane and Mrs. Louis Pacioni, all of Royal Oak; Mrs. Vetold Melin of Huntington Woods and Margaret Mary Schoell of Saginaw.

Writing Someone You Don't Know is Rough

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

You thought it would be a lot of fun when you started it. You agreed readily enough to write to this boy in the service.

A friend of a friend of mine knew him and gave you his name and address. You took your courage—and your pen—in your hands and wrote that first letter. It brought a response. And the letters have been winging back and forth ever since.

But now yours are getting harder and harder to write. There are times when you can't think of a thing that would interest him. That's what has this girl down.

"Dear Miss Woodward: Can you give me some pointers on making my letters to a boy in the service (Korea) more interesting?

"It just seems as though I can't ever think of anything to write to him. I've never met him; I started corresponding with him through a friend of mine.

"I'd certainly appreciate it if you'd give me some inspiration."

Answer: It is hard to keep up a correspondence with someone you've never seen. Though he may tell you things about him home and his background, you've no mental picture of him. Even a snapshot won't tell you much about his disposition, his reactions, his likes and dislikes.

You get to feeling as though you were writing your autobiography when you sit down to pen a letter to him.

But your autobiography—or your diary—are not what the lad wants to read.

Your letters should help him get acquainted with you by gay recitals of your doings (just the highlights), your comments on the fads an dfoibles of the people who surround you, brief references to what you think about things and how you react to what's going on.

Your current events should amuse him and make him feel he really knows you and is sharing your life.

HELP HIM LAUGH

Funny things that happened to you, your family or your friends might tickle him, too. Clippings and cartoons from the paper that give you a laugh may give him a chuckle, too.

* * *

He can share them with the other boys for more laughs.

Comment big on the things he writes to you. Don't let his current events fall flat. Keep them alive, like so many unfinished chapters. Go back to preceding letters and drag up a tidbit for further hashing over.

Ask questions that will make him feel you want to know how things are turning out. (It gives you more material to comment on.)

VARY THE PACE

Write a long, newsy letter one day and a short, snappy one the next. That will vary the pace and the table of contents.

This letter-writing is to make him feel in touch, to cheer him up, to give him something to look forward to.

Group Enjoys Program

"This Is Your Life, June Groupers" was the theme of a program presented by several members of the June Group of First Presbyterian Church when the group gathered for a recent luncheon at the Josephine avenue home of Mrs. Mahlon Benson Sr.

* * *

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. John Maginnis, Mrs. Martin Lamb, Mrs. Howard Marsh and Mrs. Clark Hagstrom.

Mrs. E. G. Winn acted as emcee for the program. Mrs. Asa Drury played the part of the sponsor and Mrs. Lorenz Vasbinder was page.

Mrs. R. C. Cummings gave the history of the group, which was organized 24 years ago, and Mrs. O. W. Roeser told humorous incidents.

* * *

Mrs. Maginnis read an original poem written by Georgia Bacon, and Mrs. W. Dean Thompson talked on "reminiscences." Mrs. E. M. Orr summed up the aims and accomplishments of the group.

Parents, Daughter Mark Golden, Silver Weddings

WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—There was a double celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Drowne last night.

The Drownes observed their 50th wedding anniversary.

At the same time their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur N. Newton, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

The Newtons were married on the same date and at the same hour as were her parents 25 years earlier.

Americans use 15 per cent less potatoes than before 1941.

In the low-price 3, PLYMOUTH is

FIRST IN STYLE, FIRST IN SIZE, FIRST IN SAFETY FEATURES!

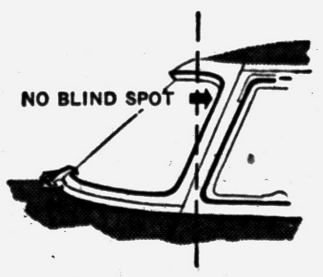
The thrill of pride you feel each time you take the wheel of your new Plymouth has several sources. There's the sleek smartness of its all-new Forward Look styling. The eager power of the thriftiest, smoothest 6, or the most powerful standard V-8 in Plymouth's field. And there's the peace of mind that comes from knowing that you and your family are protected by more safety features than offered by any other low-price car. You'll know what we mean when you drive a big new Plymouth—how about today?

"AMERICA'S MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR"—that's what the nation's foremost artists' group, the Society of Illustrators, say about the 1955 Plymouth!

BIGGEST LONGEST ROOMIEST

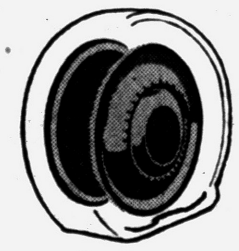
THE BIGGEST CAR OF ALL 3 is naturally the most comfortable inside, and Plymouth gives you the smooth, steady ride only a big car can give.

NO-GLARE FINISH ON INSTRUMENT PANEL prevents annoying light reflections and helps keep you fresh and alert. In the low-price 3, a Plymouth exclusive!



NO EYE-LEVEL "BLIND SPOTS," thanks to this unique swept-back windshield design that gives you the greatest visibility in Plymouth's field.

ELECTRIC WINDSHIELD WIPERS operate at a constant speed; do not slow down when you accelerate. Standard equipment only on Plymouth in its field!



SAFETY-RIM WHEELS have a special retaining ridge to help hold a tire straight on the rim in case of a blowout. Another Plymouth exclusive!

SURER, MORE PREDICTABLE STOPS come from two hydraulic brake cylinders in each Plymouth front wheel, where the other two low-price cars use only one.

Railroad Saves on Car Numbers

Starts Over at One to Reduce Headaches in Tracking System

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago and Northwestern Railway has saved itself a lot of headaches and money by starting all over at No. 1 in numbering its new box cars.

Most of the railroad's rolling stock today bears five and six-digit numbers. The result of accumulation through the years.

So when the road ordered 625 new box cars a couple of years ago, President Paul Feucht specified that they be numbered from 1 to 625.

The use of fewer digits might seem a trival matter. But consider this:

In a single month, the number of each car is written, typewritten, telegraphed, teletyped, recorded, tabulated and even televised hundreds of times.

The more digits, the greater chance for error and delay.

Like other roads, the Northwestern has so many thougands of cars on the move it has numerical nightmares. All the car numbers laid end to end probably would short circuit an electronic brain.

60,000 CARS

Each day the road must keep tabs on about 60,000 freight cars, including its own and those on loan from other railroads. Accurate records must be kept for many reasons, including the "per diem" factor.

It seems one road must pay another $2.40 per day for the use of a freight car on loan. And some cars seem to spend more time on other roads than on their own.

For Example, the Northwestern's car No. 1, delivered by the manufacturer in October, 1953, left the Northwestern's system Aug. 4, 1954, and had not returned by March 21, 1955.

To keep track of such meanderings requires an accounting department with a battery of electronic tabulations consuming about 1,700,000 punch cards per month.

The hub of the Northwestern's freight service is the huge Proviso yards, handling 6,000 to 7,000 or more cars per day.

A separate accounting setup at the yards records the flow, using newly installed business machines which have replaced the old hand ledger system.

But even so, railroad officials will admit it's possible to lose a freight car now and then.

Take the Nose and Tail and You Get 'Humiture'

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—It isn't the heat but the humiture. Osborn Fort Hevener says he coined the word by taking the nose of humidity and the tail of temperature, blending them to describe what makes you suffer in hot weather.

He adds the temperature (in degrees) to the relative humidity (in percentage points) and divides by two. The answer comes out in "humits," the unit for measuring "humiture."

For example if the temperature is 83 and the relative humidity 53 the total is 136 and divided by two the humiture is 68.

Hevener says a 60 to 79 humiture is ideal. Over 70 it is stuffy, hot and uncomfortable. Under 60 it is chilly and likewise uncomfortable.

Sabotaged Republican Lists Campaign Costs

MASON (AP)—Glenn S. Webster, defeated Democratic nominee for trustee of LeRoy Township, noted his campaign expenses thus: "I hereby certify that all the expenses I have to report is the postage stamp used in returning this document to the county clerk's office."

Webster, a Republican, also noted he was nominated on the Democratic slate without his knowledge and has voted straight Republican for more than 25 years.

What's the Name Again? 32 Versions Are Wrong

AMERICAN FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Mrs. Martha Rinear has compiled a list of names that appear on letters she's received in the past few months.

The letters came addressed to Mrs. Martha: Renair, Rienair, Reinair, Rhiner, Rainer, Rhyneer, Rhyner, Rinnear, Rainier, Rheinier, Rainear, Reinhear, Rineer, Rheineer, Rinneer, Risneer, Ranier, Riener, Rhinear, Rinaer, Raineer, Rheiner, Reinier, Raneir, Rhineir, Riner, Raineir, Reinert, Renier, Rienear, Reineir and Reneir.

None of the spellings, Mrs. Rinear reports sadly, is right.

More than 35 million American workers take a coffee "break" some time during their working day.

Plane 32 Times Safer Than Car

Airline Executive Tells Engineers of Higher Fatality Rate in Autos

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—An airlines executive has said a traveler was 32 times safer in a passenger plane last year than he was in his own automobile.

Harold E. Gray of New York said airlines in the United States had one fatality for every 1,250,000,000 passenger miles flown in 1954. The automobile rate, he said, was 2.6 deaths for every 100 million passenger miles, 32.4 times greater.

Gray, executive vice president of Pan American World Airways, spoke as part of a panel discussion at the annual summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Earlier, a symposium on jet aircraft fuels heard a report on the development of a fuel designed for greater stability at high temperatures.

Donald P. Heath of Socony Mobil Laboratories, Paulsboro, said fuel acts as a cooling agent in supersonic jet planes and carries off heat from the engine lubricating oil and other sources.

FUELS UNSTABLE

In the past, he said, jet fuels have turned unstable at high temperatures and plugged engines with gum and sediment. He told of developing a fuel that "retains its stability for relatively long periods at temperatures in the range of 400 to 500 degrees."

The society presented its Horning Memorial to Sir Harry Ricardo for his work in improving automobile engine efficiency.

Sir Harry, chairman of Ricardo and Co. Engineers Ltd., Shoreham-by-the-Sea, England, received the medal at the opening of the society's annual summer meeting Monday. Carl G. A. Rosen of Peoria, Ill., SAE president, made the presentation.

Rosen introduced Sir Harry as "Mr. Internal-Combustion Engine" and said "The careers of the two have coincided."

Royal Oak Man Top Pick for VFW Post

Don M. Draher, Royal Oak government machinist and engineer, is considered the ilkely choice as the new Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars commander when more than 5,000 VFW delegates meet at Traverse City Thursday for their 36th annual convention.

Draher, 46, a veteran of two years with the Seabees in World War II, currently is state senior vice commander and a member of the Indian River Post.

Considered the top choice by VFW officials and delegates, Draher will succeed Leon V. Buer, of Grand Rapids, if elected.

The convention, which is being held to elect top VFW officials, will run four days.

Farm Animals Need That Personal Touch

KALAMAZOO (UP) — A livestock authority warned the City Farmers Club that lack of "love, care and attention" would result in "neurotic, inefficient, irritable and frightened" farm animals.

Dr. W. N. McMillen of Decatur, Ill., director of livestock nutrition research for a feed company, said pigs, turkeys, cattle and chickens need more than antibiotics, vitamins and prepared feeds.

He said animals can tell whether they are liked and accused many farmers of substituting automatic waterers and self-feeders for the art of herdmanship.

Washtenaw Walkout Idles 1,200 Workers

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Twelve hundred workers were idled on Washtenaw County's multi-million dollar expansion program as a result of a strike by 377 laborers and hod carriers.

The workers walked off the job yesterday and established picket lines on most of the job sites.

They were seeking an 11-cent hourly pay increase along with three cents in fringe benefits. The Washtenaw County General Contractors Association has offered eight cents an hour plus three cents in fringe benefits.

GEORGE'S NEWPORT'S

Turtle Chomps Driver

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A turtle bit his ankle, said Daniel Stamm, and that's why he ran into a Main Street safety island with his car. Stamm said the turtle, of the snapping spieces, got into his car somehow and latched onto his ankle just as he was turning a corner. He lost control and wound up with a dented fender and a ticket for reckless driving.

St. Clair River Sniper Convicted for Shooting

PORT HURON (AP) — A Circuit Court jury yesterday convicted Floyd Warwick, 45, of firing three shots from a rifle at a freighter on the St. Clair River.

The offense carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $500 fine.

The bullets ricocheted off the freighter John E. F. Meisener May 12 without injuring any of the crew.

Warwick, a boat livery operator, testified he was angered by speeding freighters that kicked up waves and damaged his property but he would not admit firing the shots.

Dear Emily Post You Can't Leave Us Now!

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — At the risk of starting nationwide panic in the parlors of the nation, it must be reported here that Emily Post, 81, may retire soon and leave us all to paddle — as politely as possible — our own canoes.

* * *

How frightfully awkward this could be! Especially since Mrs. Post has not really cleared up the matter of canoe etiquette: e. g., must the man do the paddling? Is it appropriate for a girl to strum a uke while bucking the rapids? When a vessel overturns, is it mandatory for the man to rescue his wife before he rescues his portable radio even though he knows that she can float and it cannot?

These are only a few of the little proprieties of life which the octogenarian director of gracious living has not yet prepared the way for.

All right, so she has just released the 82nd printing of her book on etiquette—has she, things being how they are, the right to retire to her tea, truffles and ennui in elegant Edgarton, Mass.?

* * *

Surely not. This is a year of fast movement and great decision, and who but Mrs. Post can answer such questions-of-the-day as:

Is it necessary for small children to remove their Davy Crockett hats, which are dusty, upon entering church? With no E. Post dictum to refer to, mothers are letting this issue slide and congregations are beginning to glare. Also sneeze.

* * *

Is there a proper response to the question, "Hot enough for you?" This beloved old query, now at least 188 years old, is growing in popularity to the point where certain irritable people are telling anyone who asks it just where he can go to put the question more appropriately.

This is not polite, Mrs Post, and something should be done to abolish the question or clear up the answer. Quick.

New etiquette issues are constantly arising in television.

For example, how does a person who has been hauled to the stage by Ralph Edwards of "This Is Your Life" tell the man, diplomatically, that he wants none of it. Many men and women feel — out of modesty, painful memories, bad creditors and so on — that their lives are not for public consumption. But what is the genteel way of saying no to Ralph Edwards? And can you sue, in a refined way, for invasion of privacy?

There are many other questions . . .

When you know the parents of a wild child (a potential delinquent) do you commiserate with them or congratulate them for being, so to speak, "in the swing"?

* * *

Is it proper for a man to whistle at a homely girl, when he knows it will boost her morale?

You have taught us, Aunt Emily, what to do with ushers at weddings, which fork to use for the Brains au Beurre Noir, how to tip sparsely and smile, and who introduces whose whom at which parties. But there is still much protocol to be prognosticated.

So please, madame, do not retire and leave us to butter our own rum.

Or, as you would so delightfully put it — never say decease.

Beaver Now Making Trouble in Vermont

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Beaver, once almost extinct in Vermont, are now getting so numerous they are giving town highway crews trouble.

The legislature has authorized trapping of the animals outside the regular trapping season if they are causing damage to highways and bridges.

The animals throw up dams in rural areas and the impounded waters often flood roads, making them impassable.

Motorist Seeks Spot to Hide Car at Night

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Denzill Proffitt parked his car in front of his home. The next morning he found a hit-run driver had smashed the left front door and front fender.

That night Proffitt parked the car on the other side of the street. Along came another hit-run driver, smashing the back door and back fender. Now, Proffitt is looking for a place to hide his car.

U. S. Joins Film Scramble

Russia Is Biding Time on 'War and Peace'

MOSCOW (INS)—Russian movie-makers sat calmly on the sidelines today and watched U.S. and foreign film companies in a race to produce the Russian classic, "War and Peace."

* * *

The Russians would seem to have an edge on Michael Todd and an Italian company, which already have started rival versions, and on David O. Selznick and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who are talking about one.

Several Soviet movie moguls have read the tome—all the way through.

But there's no early prospect of a Soviet film version of Count Leo Tolstoy's monumental epic on Napoleon's invasion of Muscovy.

The problem isn't that not enough Russians have read the book, a Soviet film executive told this reporter. Too many have.

RUSSIANS WARY

"Our people are wary of tackling 'War and Peace'," Sergei Utkevich says, "because everyone in the USSR is an authority on the subject."

* * *

Utkevich is a top director of Russia's No. 1 movie studio, Mosfilm.

A Russian doing "War and Peace," Utkevich contends, would have to dodge the same slings and arrows that an American or English producer faces in doing "Hamlet."

Even more so, perhaps, Soviet spectators demand painstaking realism in their movies. Every samovar must be in place.

Utkevich grinned:

"It's a lot easier to produce life in other countries."

STARTING OTHELLO

Just back from the Cannes film festival, Utkevich is starting to shoot a five-million-rubble version ($1,250,000 at the official exchange rate) of Shakespeare's "Othello."

* * *

The Riviera-tanned director recalled trade gossip about "War and Peace" at Cannes:

"Three, or maybe it's four, Hollywood producers are talking about doing it."

He suggests Soviet movie men will get around to their home-grown classic eventually, though he isn't predicting a date:

"I think the fifth will be done in Moscow. And I'd venture to say it would be able to compete (with the Hollywood versions)."

He added, "Using an old poker expression, we hold better cards."

Another star director at Mosfilm, Alexander Ptushko, also indicated a feeling that Hollywood was rushing in where Soviets feared to tread.

Ptushko's preference for big-budget films with thousands of spear-carrying extras won him the title "the C. B. DeMille of Russia" from Western reporters at the last Venice festival.

Viewing Hollywood's "War and Peace" through wide-screen glasses, the Soviet epic-maker acknowledged "Hollywood will do it on a big scale, no doubt."

* * *

But, he added, "I wonder how much of Tolstoy will be left."

No less, perhaps, than in another Hollywood production of a Tolstoy masterwork, "Anna Karenina," which starred Greta Garbo. The "Russian DeMille" had a pleasant recollection of that one.

Hal Boyle Says:

Youth Found Again Amid Cellar Souvenirs

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—What does a man find if he comes back years later to his old home town, and tries to dig back into his boyhood?

Well, the surprises he discovers may rather in a small way reconcile him to the guy he has become.

* * *

He may find, for example, that dumb and lonely as he felt himself to be then, he wasn't altogether as dumb as he thought he was. He may even be sobered into a thoughtful new responsibility by the realization that a new calendar hasn't made him a new man.

Do people improve with time? Do they get worse?

* * *

It's a great adventure to go back and try to decide. The opportunity to revisit myself when young fell to me during a stopover here on the way back from the Southwest to New York, where I work.

My mother had just sold the old home that had been the center of our family for 34 years.

* * *

The job I had to do was a basement job. It was my own job. Since I was a small child I had early grown the habit of collecting small souvenirs of my adventures on this earth, and now the probem was that the storage place at home was gone.

The old family home was gone, too. What did I want to hold on to? What to let go of?

* * *

Throwing away the mementos of your life is rather hard. These old memories have hands in them that grip you from old times.

The first day, when Mama was there and said, "you can't live ahead while you're still trying to live behind you," I was stubborn and threw little away.

The next day I came back without her and threw away my youth all alone with both hands. I feel now I threw too much away. But it's a personal handicap. Anything in life. . .If it is life. . .I don't like to see go.

* * *

As I said before, excavating the souvenirs of youth—only from your own living — is a surprising experience. I don't hesitate to use the word amazing. I am amazed to discover that, at the age of 44, except for the weapon of experience—and this is dull but useful and sometimes a momentarily effective weapon—I face life with no brighter sword than the hope and courage and intelligence I had when I was 19. All you can acquire is the information of caution.

What was there in the basement showed that.

Digging back through the dusty debris of childhood, put away originally neither with no more nor no less self - consciousness than I recall it now, I find small change.

Then, after finishing my high school classes and riding a bike for pay for the drug store six days a week at 15 cents an hour from 6 in the evening until 11 o'clock I would go home and draw cartoons, because I wanted to be a cartoonist.

* * *

I gave it up because I didn't have what it takes—talent, ability. So I turned to words, and earn this living.

I wrote poems then, but poems in that time, as in this time, were the cake of the spirit and bought no bread for the body.

Digging there all alone in the basement, I found the poor sad practice cartoons. They weren't as bad as I thought then. They looked rather good to me, after these years. It isn't the pencil, it's the idea. I found the poems. I read them and felt them again. What is a poem but the lyric reach of a heart grasping beyond the imprisoned mind?

Of course, there all alone in this rubble of remembrance in the basement, there were many things that needed to be thrown away, and many of them I did and miss already. There were old school pictures, faded photos of girls then pined for and later half-forgotten, friends dead and remembered by the force of their passing, and relatives revived.

But the main discovery in the basement was that, coming back after these many years, I was in no real way superior to the dreaming boy who had tried long ago to preserve these souvenirs I was discarding.

* * *

I didn't think in my lifetime I later shaved a better man than that boy. It was really a voyage in self-discovery to go back into the basement and see him again. Don't know whether I feel good or bad.

Anybody you know live in your cellar?

Thawed Steaks Tender, MSC Experts Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Frozen steaks cooked without thawing are less tender than those thawed before cooking. That's the word today from two Michigan State College researchers.

Pauline C. Paul and L. J. Bratzler, the researchers, also told the 15th annual convention of the Institute of Food Technologists that stretching out the time of cold storage will help make steaks and roasts more tender.

The two added that stretched cold storage was almost as effective as freezing and thawing in increasing tenderness.

Fish Hit by Auto

HAWESVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two motorists reported they ran over a fish recently.

They were driving on a road covered by floodwaters when bump, bumpety, bump! The car bucked as if it were running over a log. The men looked around and saw a 4-foot fish—probably a carp—floating away, his tummy skyward.

Williams Signs Fifteen New Bills

False Advertising Law Stiffened to Include 'Bait' Type Plugs

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams signed 15 legislative bills yesterday, including one stiffening laws against false advertising.

This measure brings television within a statute now banning false advertising by newspapers and radio and broadens the law to forbid so-called "bait" advertising—the practice of advertising a product which the merchant does not intend to sell.

Williams signed appropriations of $13,225,000 for the prison system and $14,932,191 for public safety departments.

Other bills signed:

Require all cars manufactured after next Jan. 1 to have windshield washers and require commercial vehicles operated between Dec. 15 and March 15 to have windshield defrosters.

Order the state employment security commission to establish at each branch office a division to seek jobs for persons over 65 years of age.

Permit the State Public Service Commission to allow fuel adjustment clauses to be included in utility rate schedules for commercial service.

Make it a misdemeanor to furnish false documentary evidence to anyone under 21 to be used to obtain alcoholic liquor.

Legalize the use of "yield right-of-way" traffic signs.

Raise the license fee for grain, bean and potato warehouses from $2 to $10 a year and eliminate the 25-cent warehouse receipt inspection fee.

Allow state-chartered commercial and industrial banks to make industrial loans for 36 months rather than 24.

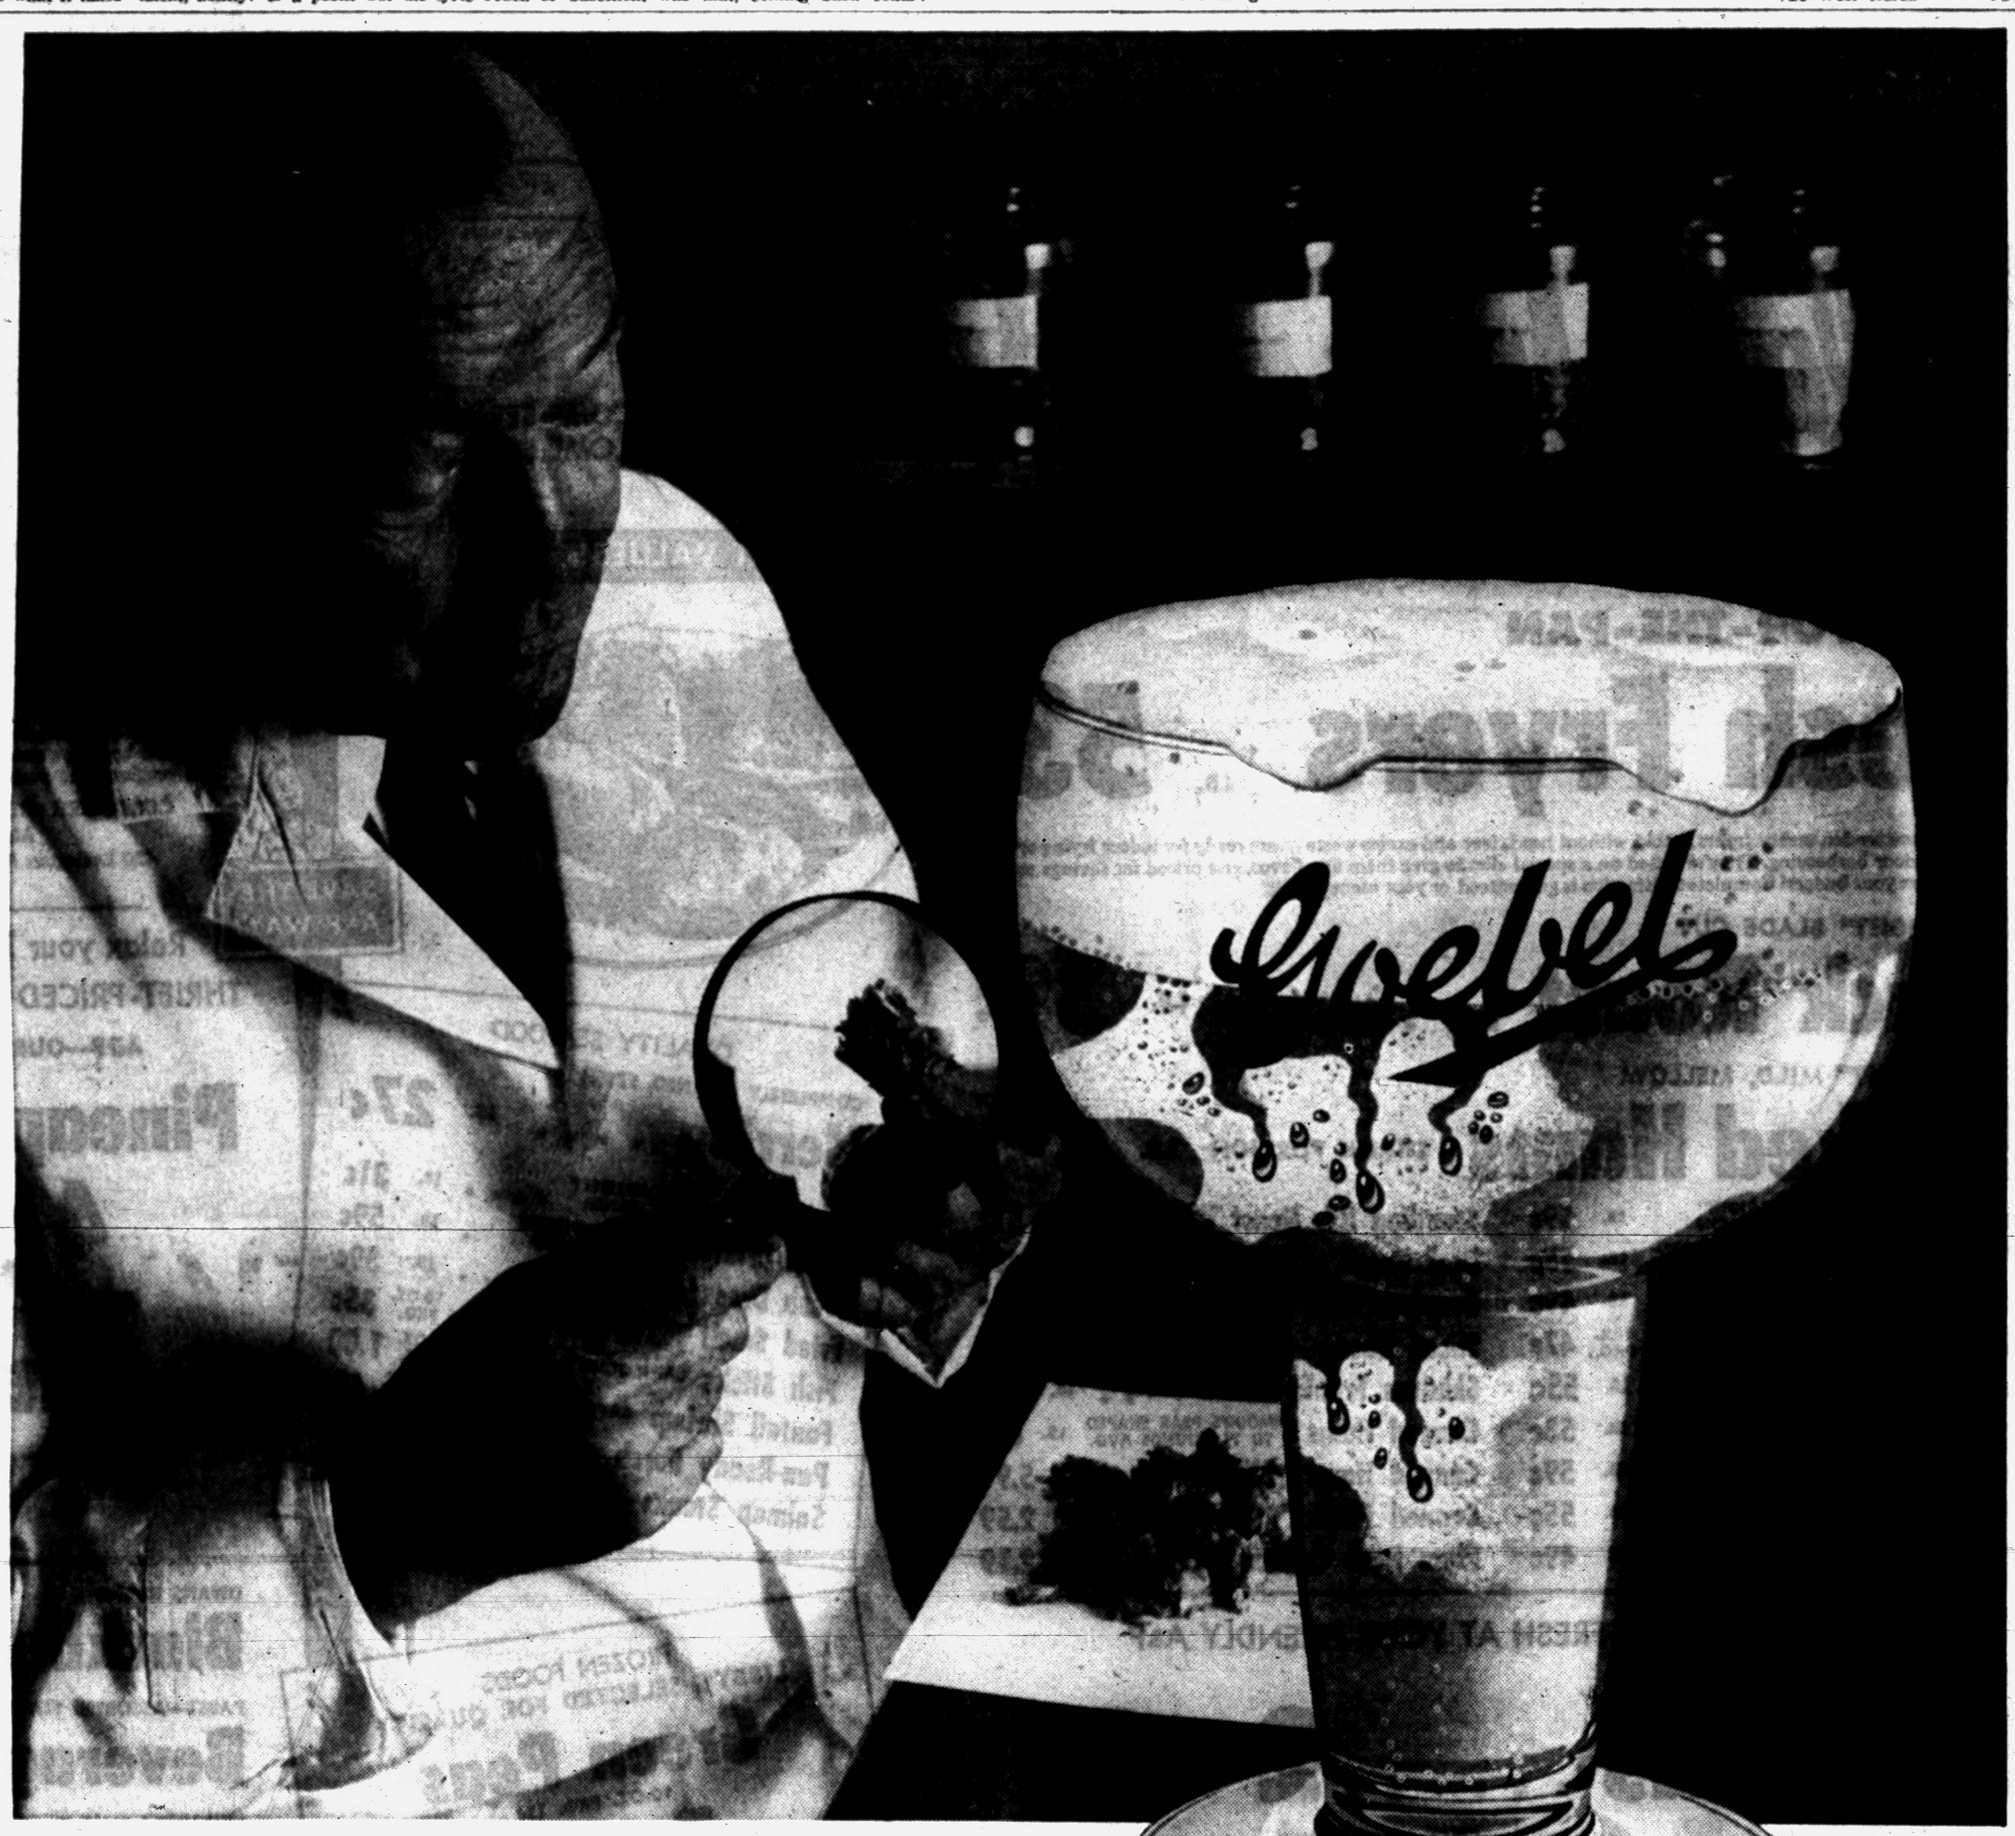
Increase the term of township trustees from two to four years.

Allow mutual fire insurance companies to issue non-assessable policies if they have surpluses of at least $200,000.

Raise attorney fees taxable as costs in contested cases in the Detroit Common Pleas Court from $5 to a minimum of $35.

Allow the State Public Service Commission to regulate vehicles in foreign commerce.

Allow the State Administrative Board to sell two acres of the Upper Peninsula state fair grounds at Escanaba for industrial expansion.



Every brewer knows that the best hops are "female" hops not yet germinated. But it's where they come from, and how they're raised that account for the difference in Goebel.

Even sex is considered in Goebel hops

Yes, There Are "Male" and "Female" Hops—and Many Other Differences, Too. It's the Difference in Hops That Accounts for the New Live Taste of Goebel!

Of course there's a difference in beers.

And the big difference is in the live taste of Goebel.

Goebel hops make the difference . . . the choice, expensive hops that bring flavor to life in every refreshing glass of Goebel you bring to your lips.

The best hops are "female" hops not yet germinated. (The male and female plants are quite different, the male having a yellower flower.) But that's only one of the considerations in the selection of Goebel hops. The place where they are raised is of vital importance, and the way they are blended.

The expensive, hand-tended, hand-picked imported hops used in Goebel are of the famous Tettnang family of hops from Bavaria. Goebel uses them in the most generous proportions. They contribute the evanescent qualities of delicacy and aroma.

On the fertile slopes of the Yakima valley the Goebel brewmeister discovered an improved strain of the famous Golding hop from Europe. This is the hop he chose to give buoyant character to Goebel. It is essential to the individuality of Goebel.

Pilsen-type hops, mild as Bohemia in June, complete the sprightly trio of specially selected Goebel hops that create the great live, light taste.

Yes, there is a difference in beers today—and you're sure to find the difference in the live taste of Goebel. We invite you to try it today! Happy thought! . . . Try it now!

Go for the new live taste... GO GOEBEL!

Judge Suggests Woman Let Husband Do Cooking

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)—Mrs. Robert C. Bell complained to Judge Howard Brooks that if he fined her $20 on a speeding charge her husband wouldn't let her drive the car for 20 days.

"Make him do his own cooking for 20 days," the judge said, and imposed the fine.

I HIGHLY RECOMMEND O-JIB-WA BITTERS FOR RHEUMATISM AND A SPRING TONIC

"I have suffered much during the past 25 years, and O-JIB-WA BITTERS is the best medicine I have ever used," says Mrs. Louise Hemming, Mariette, Michigan.

"Since 1930, rheumatism and arthritis in my feet, legs and shoulders has made life miserable as the pains were quite constant. My hands and feet were often so swollen and sore that I couldn't get around to do my housework. When I tried to do a little work around the home, I suffered more than ever, and the pain kept me awake at night.

Mrs. Hemming

Liniments and other medicines would sometimes help a little, but usually just gave me relief for a short time. I tried one medicine and then another, before I finally hit upon O-JIB-WA BITTERS. Well . . . the pains left me on the first bottle and before long, I was able to get around fine. O-JIB-WA BITTERS also gave me more pep and strength. It seems that every year, I feel better when I take some kind of tonic to pep me up, and O-JIB-WA BITTERS does more for me than anything I have ever tried."

Modest 'Trucker of Year' Refuses Testimonial Fete

LANSING (AP)—Michigan truckers are prouder now of their "national driver of the year" than they were when they discovered he had helped save the lives of two women motorists and then gone quietly about his business.

The truck driver, Floyd J. Pemberton of Detroit's Redford Township, has refused to attend a banquet in his honor, suggesting that he has had enough honors and that the cost of the banquet be donated to charity.

Sec. of State James M. Hare tells the story:

State traffic and safety figures and big shots in the trucking industry were invited to a testimonial dinner June 28 at a Detroit hotel to present Pemberton with a television set, a trophy and an earful of compliments for his courage and coolness.

He had been chosen Michigan and national "driver of the year" for giving prompt first aid to two seriously injured women motorists—and then going home without telling anyone of his feat. It was uncovered by police checking details of the accident.

But Pemberton wrote the Michigan Trucking Assn. that he and his wife, Bonnie, already had enjoyed a trip to Washington, D. C., and New York City as the nation's best truck driver.

That was enough, he said.

Maybe others ought to share in these nice things, he said. So he suggested that the money which would have been spent on the dinner be given to charity—"my church and my Boy Scout troop" if it were all right with the sponsors.

William W. Johnston, manager of the association, called off the banquet and said Pemberton's action "indicates a more modest, unassuming gentleman could not have been chosen as symbolic of the nation's trucking industry."

The Trailmobile Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, reported it had set aside $500 toward the cost of the dinner and would Pemberton please give it the name of his church and scout troop.

Pemberton will get the television set anyway—and the trophy will be presented at the association's fall convention.

Chinese Reds Claim Borers From Within

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio today reported a counter-revolutionary clique connected with the Chinese Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek had been exposed in Red China.

The broadcast gave no details of arrests.

It said members had "even won their way into the Chinese Communist party to steal documents and intelligence information so as to work against the revolution from within and without."

The report apparently heralded a new purge.

* * *

Three men were named as members of the clique. The leader was identified as Hu Feng, a writer. Others named were A. Lung, a former major in the Nationalist army, and Li Yuan.

The broadcast said they "hid themselves within the ranks of the progressive people and used art and literary work as a camouflage for their criminal deeds."

Hu Feng was identified as a member of the National People's Congress, the "parliament" of Red China.

First diagnostic cancer clinic in the U. S. was opened in 1921.

Tigers Fail in Bid for Eddie Robinson

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers acknowledged today that all efforts to obtain first baseman Eddie Robinson from New York had failed and laid the blame on the doorstep of Yankee General Manager George Weiss.

"All our discussions with the Yankees revolved around Robinson," Harris admitted, "but Weiss was demanding such a trade it put Ruel (Detroit General Manager Muddy Ruel) on the spot. It wasn't a fair deal. His idea of a fair deal is giving up a toothpick for a pile of lumber."

Harris declined to mention names, but it has been reported the Tigers demanded Robinson and second baseman Gil McDougald in exchange for pitcher Ned Garver. The Tigers also were rumored to be willing to accept Robinson even up for Steve Gromek, their other veteran righthander. It was not learned whom the Yankees offered for either pitcher.

* * *

Although Detroit is badly in need of a healthy first baseman (both Ferris Fain and Jack Phillips are hobbled by knee injuries), Harris said he saw no prospect of a deal in sight before the trading deadline midnight tonight.

"We'll just have to struggle it out and hope the knees hold up," Harris said ruefully.

Despite their injuries, Harris has been alternating Fain and Phillips at first. It was the crippled Fain's inability to come up with a couple of balls last night that cost the Tigers a 7-6 decision in 10 innings to New York.

* * *

Considering the injuries, the young Tiger team which includes no fewer than five bonus boys and averages under 25 years of age is fairing remarkably well. Despite last night's loss, Detroit has a firm hold on fourth place, only seven games behind the pace-setting Yankees.

The big reason has been the spectacular hitting of right fielder Al Kaline and shortstop Kuenn, the fine defensive work of center-fielder Bill Tuttle and the surprisingly fine pitching of rookies Frank Lary and Duke Maas to go along with veterans Garver, Billy Hoeft and Gromek.

Errors Hand Yankees 'Gift' 7-6 Victory

Trade Prospects Grow Dimmer as Deadline Nears

Dodgers Get Borkowski in Lone Deal so Far; Yankees Want Garver

By UNITED PRESS

Big league bigwigs sat hopefully by the telephone today, but there appeared to be little chance that any major player deals would be made before the trading deadline strikes at midnight tonight.

The Yankees would like Detroit general manager Muddy Ruel to ring that telephone bell and say "okay" on a deal for pitcher Ned Garver; the Indians were hoping the Orioles would part with Gene Woodling and Billy Cox; and the Giants still were looking for a catcher.

But the odds were that none of these things would come to pass.

The runaway Brooklyn Dodgers, who seem to need help less than anybody, were the only ones to pick up a new player as the deadline approached.

They obtained reserve outfielder Bob Borkowski from Cincinnati, but that was merely the completion of last week's deal that sent pitcher Joe Black to the Redlegs.

Righthander Garver, with a 5-7 record, seems beyond the Yankees' grasp right now.

"I don't think we can make a deal with the Yankees," said Tiger manager Bucky Harris with a slight smile.

Indications were the Yankee offer for Garver included only sub outfielder Bob Cerv and a seldom-used pitcher.

Victor on Only 1 Hit

Birmingham's American Legion baseball team notched its 2nd win of the 18th District League season Tuesday by blanking Rochester, 8-0, a make-up of a rained out game.

Birmingham made full use of Rochester throwing errors since only one hit (an infield single) was made off Rochester's Billy Henderson. Don Picman gave the losers 2 hits in posting the shutout.

A STEAL OF HOME — Bill Barnes of Wake Forest tripled with the bases loaded and then stole home on this play as his team beat Western Michigan, 10-7, in an NCAA College World Series baseball game last night at Omaha. The catcher is Wayne LeNeave, shown spearing the wide throw from which batter Bob Waggoner ducked away as Barnes came sliding in.

Broncos Gird for Finals After Losing in NCAA

OMAHA (AP)—Western Michigan, Wake Forest and Oklahoma A. and M. were set today for a dog-fight over the NCAA College World Series pennant.

* * *

All three teams have a 3-1 record in play thus far. Tonight either Wake Forest or the Oklahoma Aggies will bow out when they meet at 9 p.m. (EST) to see who tangles with Western Michigan Thursday night in the title game.

Yesterday the Aggies, top-rated going into the tourney, sent Arizona to the sidelines in a 5-4 thriller that went 12 innings.

Then Wake Forest handed Western Michigan a first defeat, 10-7, in a free hitting game that saw Wake Forest's Bill Barnes triple with the bases loaded and then steal home, and pinch hitter Fritz Messner hit a bases loaded homer for Western Michigan.

Western Michigan went into the game owning a 3-0 record after having beaten both the Aggies and Wake Forest in previous meetings. Suffering a first loss, the Michigan team got a bye today.

The tourney is a double elimination affair.

The victory of the Aggies over Arizona was the 2nd in extra innings for the Aggies over the same team in consecutive tourneys. Last year Arizona bowed by the same 5-4 score and to the same pitcher—Tom Borland.

Jenkins' Hit Wins for GMC

Two extra-inning games, one a pitchers duel and the other a run-scoring marathon, highlighted action Tuesday night in men's city league softball.

* * *

GMC chased a run across the plate in the last of the 12th inning to nose out Ashland Flying Octane, 4-3, at Northside Park.

A single by outfielder J. C. Jenkins scored Ron Geiger from 2nd with the winning run. Lynus Grant got credit for the victory.

Chuck & Louie's Market staged a four-run uprising in the bottom half of the 9th to edge Mike's Used Cars team, 14-13, at Beaudette. The contest featured a total of 24 hits and 19 errors by the two squads.

* * *

In the nightcap at Beaudette, Louie's Tavern blew a 5-run lead to drop a 9-8 decision to Northside Service. The Northside club utilized five bases on balls, a hit batsman, and 2 singles to bring home 6 runs in the 7th.

* * *

Northside's finale found Shaw's Jewelers nine rolling to an 8-1 victory over Bicmar Inn. Glenn (Wimpy) Johnson hurled for Shaw's, limiting Bicmar to two hits. The winners banged out 10 hits, led by Stan Hester's home run in the 5th frame with two mates aboard.

Coachers Win Class A Tilt

Don Nicholie 9 Bows, 6-2; Bishop Is Victor in Relief

GMC's baseball team racked up another victory Tuesday night at Wisner Field in the Class A city league, trimming Don Nicholie's Real Estate club, 6-2.

Don Nicholie's 9 led only once, holding a 2-1 advantage after 4½ innings. But the Coachers put together two hits, two walks, and a sacrifice fly for a pair of runs in the 5th to take a permanent lead.

Three safeties and two walks tallied three more in the 6th to wrap it up.

Three Don Nicholie hurlers, Albie Roman, Dick Lewis, and Dick Womack, tried to throttle GMC's attack. Starting pitcher Roman was charged with the loss. Bob Johnson started on the hill for GMC, giving way to Herman Bishop in the 5th inning. Bishop was the winner.

Qualifying Set Thursday for Pine Lake Test

Top District Players Clash in Scotch 4-Ball Tournament

Qualifying rounds for the 6th annual Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament will be played Thursday with the low 16 2-man teams beginning match play in the championship flight on Friday.

The tourney is scotch 4-ball, a selective drive and alternate shot affair. A field of 112 teams will compete in 6 flights along with the championship group.

Defending champions are Tony Skover and Dick Whiting, but Whiting may be unable to participate because of an ailing back. In such case, Skover will team with Dick's brother, Bob Whiting.

Runnersup Bill Nettle and Bill Pettibone of the host club are returning. They were beaten, 1-up, on the 18th hole in last year's finals by the Skover-Whiting team.

James Cornell and Bruce Wright are co-chairmen of the event. Pairings will be set up Thursday night following the completion of the qualifying rounds. First match play eliminations are Friday, with quarter-final matches Saturday.

Semi-finals and finals are listed Sunday. Many top-flight district golfers are teaming up in the event including Tom Sheehan and Bud Gould, and Randall Ahearn and John Driver.

Ken Hammer Winner of Bout in Chicago

CHICAGO (UP) — Kenny Hammer, an 185-pound Detroit heavyweight, won a split decision over Chicago's Benny Thomas last night in a slugfest at Marigold Gardens.

Thomas, 179, appeared to have Hammer ready for the kill during the eight-round battle, but the Detroiter hung on to win the nod from both judges. Referee Frank Sikora called it even. There were no knockdowns.

Two Bobbles in Ninth Cost Bengals Game

Fain and Aber Miscues Open Door for Bronx Bombers' Rally

NEW YORK (UP)—The Detroit Tigers today vowed to beat the New York Yankees, or at least make them work for a victory, after handing the New Yorkers a 7-6, 10-inning "gift" last night.

The Tigers committed four errors to give the Yankees three unearned runs. Two of the errors came in the 9th inning and permitted the Yanks to send the game into extra innings with a 6-6 tie after the Tigers had been leading 7-6.

Mickey Mantle singled home Joe Collins with two out in the 10th inning to give the Yankees the run they needed to break the deadlock.

Mantle's single off George Zuverink came after Collins had walked and moved to 2nd on Irv Noren's single. It enabled Tom Morgan, the 4th Yankee pitcher, to gain credit for his 4th victory and also snapped New York's three-game losing streak.

It was a bitter loss for the Tigers who entered the last of the 9th with a 6-3 lead only to have errors by first baseman Ferris Fain and pitcher Al Aber permit the Yankees to tie the score.

Noren had led off the inning with his 2nd homer of the game to cut the Tigers' margin to 6-4.

Fain then let Mantle's grounder go through him for a 2-base error. Aber retired Yogi Berra and Ed Robinson and seemed to have the victory when Andy Carey hit a slow dribbler in front of the plate. Aber, however, threw the ball into right field, Mantle scoring from third and Carey going all the way around on the 4-base error.

Until the 9th, Ned Garver seemed en route to his 2nd victory over the Yankees in 8 days. The Tigers had scored 4 runs in the 5th inning on 3 walks and 4 hits and added 2 in the 9th on pinch-hitter Jim Delsing's 2-run double.

The Yankees tallied an unearned run in the second inning and two more in the third when Noren hit his first homer of the game after Collins' double. Thereafter Garver pitched out of numerous jams until the 9th when the Tigers' defense gave way.

Stanky's Future With Cardinals Still in Doubt

Rejects Scouting Job; Redbirds OK Freedom to Look Elsewhere

ST.LOUIS (AP)—When Eddie Stanky got the gate as manager of the St.Louis Cardinals his future status with the club — if any — was clouded. Today, more than two weeks later, it still is.

General Manager Dick Meyer of the Cardinals, before he left for New York yesterday, said he and Stanky had reached a "complete agreement" on a scouting assignment for the former pilot.

But Stanky, at his Fairhope, Ala., home, said he had turned down a scouting offer by the club, at least for the present.

The two did agree that Eddie had been given permission to negotiate with any other major league club. Meyer announced at the same time that Stanky had been given an assignment to scout players in the top minor leagues for the Redbirds.

"I have received permission to negotiate with any other major league club that I wish," Stanky said. "I was offered a scouting assignment in the St.Louis Cardinals organization which I did not take at this time. I wanted a job in the majors."

When Stanky was fired May 28 and replaced by Harry (The Hat) Walker, brought up from managing the Cards' Rochester farm club, President August A. Busch Jr., said he would be given another assignment in the organization.

Stanky's contract with the Cards, at about $40,000 a year, runs through next year and Busch said it would be fulfilled. Club officials said no consideration has been given to paying off the fiery ex-pilot in full in a lump sum. They said he will receive his salary in regular payments as before.

Zaharias Fails to Respond to Back Treatment

GALVESTON, Tex. (INS) — Attending physicians report that Babe Zaharias "is not responding satisfactorily" to treatment for pains in her back and legs.

The all-time great woman athlete entered St. Mary's infirmary at Galveston a week ago when the pains became severe and attendants said physical therapy has failed to relieve the soreness.

Tests showed, however, that the pains are not related to cancer, for which Mrs. Zaharias underwent surgery on April 17, 1953. It is believed to be caused by a ruptured disc in her spine.

Robinson-Castellani Bout Slated July 15

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson of New York and Rocky Castellani of Cleveland will fight a 10-round main event here July 15, promotor Bennie Ford said today.

Ford said the winner would meet middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson. Ford said he closed the Robinson-Castellani match this morning with Jim Norris president of the International Boxing Club.

Rome Still 'Leading'

4-Way Battle Shapes Up for '60 Olympics

PARIS (AP)—A lively four-way battle was unexpectedly building up today over sites for the 1960 summer and winter Olympic Games.

Instead of Rome being a cinch for selection tomorrow by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) to stage the Games, the Romans are expected to have terrific competition from Lausanne, Switzerland.

Innsbruck, Austria, appeared a sure thing to win the vote of the IOC a week ago as the site for the Winter Games.

* * *

But a strong movement reportedly has been growing among IOC members to award the games instead to Squaw Valley, Calif.

Five IOC members who asked that their names not be used, told today of growing support for Lausanne and Squaw Valley.

One of them said:

"In my opinion part of the drop in interest among some IOC men comes from the recent awarding of the 1958 world ski championships in alpine events to Austria.

"What do the Austrians want — everything?"

Another IOC man said he and several other IOC members had been impressed with the case of Squaw Valley and the way it has been presented by Alexander Cushing, president of the California Winter Olympic Committee, and George Weller, a committee member who lives in Rome.

* * *

"I think Rome still leading candidate for summer games," said a delegate. However there is much sentimental feeling among IOC members for Lausanne because it is where the Olympics have a home.

Other cities asking for the summer games are Detroit, Mexico City, Brussels, Tokyo, and Budapest.

Other localities asking for the winter games are St.Moritz, Switzerland, and Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

Deadline Friday for Swim Clinic

YMCA, Rotary Sponsor Free Swimming Lessons for Area Youngsters

Deadline for registration in the "Learn to Swim Campaign" jointly sponsored by the Rotary Club and the YMCA is 10 p. m. Friday, according to Rotarian George Heenan, campaign chairman.

Applications to date total about 200 and parents are urged to register their youngsters at the YMCA office as soon as possible as swim instructions begin Saturday, Heenan said.

Registration offices will be open during the week from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Any child nine years old or over, who cannot swim, is eligible. Three lessons a week, given by Floyd Wainscott, physical director, will be taught for both boys and girls.

Swimming instructions are free and end July 1.

8-Run Inning Helps Gidley to Victory

Gidley Electric exploded for 8 runs in the 5th inning to score an 11-1 rout of Sylvan Center Tuesday night in Waterford Township Softball League play at Drayton Plains.

Moore Has Hard Time Reaching Weight Limit

175 Pounds Not Easy; Gate Predictions Are Over-Optimistic

NEW YORK (AP)—With the light heavyweight championship fight pitting titlist Archie Moore against challenger Carl (Bobo) Olson just a week away, two admissions came to light today:

* * *

1. Moore is having a tough time getting down to the 175-pound limit.

2. Predictions of a $350,000 gate were slightly optimistic. The gate will be closer to $250,000.

Taking them in order:

Moore, a secretive fellow, has refused to tell anyone his weight. He was listed as weighing 196½ when he licked Nino Valdes in Las Vegas May 2. That means he'll have to shed 21½ pounds in seven weeks, a mighty tough task.

* * *

"I've never had such a rough time taking off weight," he admitted. "I've always had more time to take it off. Anyway, I just can't shake the idea that I should be fighting Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight championship and not Olson."

Right now, Moore is reported to weight in the neighborhood of 180 pounds, which means he still has five to go. He also admitted that he certainly wouldn't be as strong at 175 pounds as he usually is. But then, he added, he didn't think he'd have to be so strong against a little fellow like Olson.

Actually, there is a rumor in boxing circles that Moore might not have weighed the announced 196½ in the Valdes fight, that he might have been 10 pounds under that figure. But no one is admitting anything.

As to the cash register, Jim Norris, International Boxing Club president, sounds a doleful note.

* * *

"When we made the match I thought surely it would do $350,000 at least," he said. "Right now I'd say that we won't do more than $250,000. There will have to be some terrific action in the next few days if we're going to get over $250,000. The ringside tickets are going fine, but the lower priced tickets aren't moving."

Cards Vindicate Stanky, Drop 12 of 17 Since He Left; Dodgers Stretch Big Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No wonder Eddie Stanky says he doesn't hold a grudge against the St. Louis Cardinals for giving him a boot as manager. Why should he? They've been vindicating the little guy ever since he left.

In three years as manager, Stanky had been accused of overmanaging, taking the game home at night, upsetting clubhouse tranquillity and other odds and ends in an effort to explain why the Cards looked good on paper but not in the National League standings.

* * *

Hoping a change "might make things better," the beer barons who own the club dispensed with Stanky and called in Harry (The Hat) Walker, a nice, easy going fellow.

So what happens? The Cardinals lose 12 of 17 under mild-mannered Harry, slip into seventh place and fall 20 games behind the front-running Brooklyns.

When Stanky left May 27, the Cards were fifth, 10 games back.

Neither Stanky nor Walker can take the rap, apparently. Walker's received just five complete games, losing three of them, from his mound staff.

That was the story last night. Pittsburgh, only 4½ games behind St. Louis, belted starter Larry Jackson and Brooks Lawrence for eight runs in the fourth and won 10-5.

The run-away Dodgers, meanwhile, stretched their fantastic lead to 11½ games, whipping Cincinnati 9-0 after the runnerup Chicago Cubs had lost to New York's Giants 5-0 in a day game. Milwaukee beat Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 4-2 in the other National League game.

* * *

In the American, the New York Yankees held on to their slim lead by beating Detroit 7-6 in 10 innings. Second-place Chicago beat Baltimore 1-0 and third-place Cleveland took two from Washington, 6-4 in 11 innings and 3-1 on rookie Herb Score's two-hitter. Boston belted Kansas City 12-4.

After losing seven of eight, Cleveland won its fifth straight in the nightcap at Washington as Score outlasted his wildness. The fire-ball lefty walked 11 and hit a batter while striking out six.

Norb Zauchin and Ted Williams batted in seven of the Red Sox' runs in the slugfest at Boston. Zauchin homered in an eight-run third. Williams hit his fifth home run and doubled twice, hiking his average to .378.

'100' Features NCAA Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — America's answer to any Russian claim of athletic supremacy will be shown in the 34th NCAA track and field championships Friday and Saturday at Memorial Coliseum, site of the 1932 Olympic Games.

* * *

Actually, the nation's finest college athletes, 338 strong from 90 schools, will present a preview of America's 1956 Oympic power.

Jim Kelly of Minnesota, chairman of the United States Olympic Track Committee, declared: "Russia isn't going to beat us in track and field at Melbourne.

"I believe we could pick a team from the state of California that could beat Russia in a dual meet in Olympic events."

* * *

One highlight of what is being billed as the finest NCAA meet on record is the 100-yard dash. Coach Kelly's Harry Nash and Northwestern's Jim Golliday are expected to make it a battle of the century.

Golliday has tied the 9.3 world mark of USC's Mel Patton, but has been beaten this year by Nash in 9.4. Dean Smith of Texas and John Haines of Pennsylvania, both 9.5 dash men, will give Golliday and Nash plenty of competition.

The NCAA record is 9.4, held jointly by George Simpson of Ohio State, Frank Wykoff of USC, Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette and Jesse Owens of Ohio State. Simpson set it in 1929 and Owens was the last one to equal it—19 years ago.

* * *

Although Kelly predicts Saturday's finals will be won in 9.4, USC's coach Jesse Mortensen doesn't think anyone wil sprint it faster than 9.5 in the Coliseum. The stadium record is 9.5, shared jointly by Charley Paddock, Wykoff, Patton, all of USC, and Andy Stanfield of Seton Hall, N. J.

The Coliseum track, although fast, is not noted for its resiliency which sometimes provides that added bounce needed to nick a record.

* * *

Because of its brief duration, the start is more important to the 100 than to any other race. The Coliseum is trying a new wrinkle to discourage false starts and attempts to jump the gun.

* * *

The starter, William Greim of Denver, will carry a microphone. His starting commands will be broadcast to the crowd. Also his remarks to any athlete who might try to break ahead of the gun.

AAU Asked to Investigate Santee

PARIS (AP)—The Wes Santee "excessive expenses" case exploded again today with the announcement from International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage that he had asked the American AAU to investigate the charges.

* * *

Brundage offered no opinion on the case. He said he merely had studied the charges that Santee had accepted more than the allowed expenses for three meets in California made in a San Francisco newspaper.

"I sent the story and a letter to Dan Ferris (AAU chieftain) and suggested the matter be looked into," said Brundage. "I have not yet heard from Ferris.

* * *

"No action has been taken against Santee yet and I don't know that any will. However, the charges are certainly too serious to let them stand."

Santee, on duty as a second lieutenant with the Marines at Camp Pendleton, Calif., reiterated his denial of the charges as he did when they first were made a week ago.

"It's simply a newspaper story," he commented. "It's Brundage's duty to check into any charges made against amateur athletes."

Ferris, in New York, said the matter would have to be taken up by the Missouri Valley District of the AAU and that it wasn't in his hands.

Marion Miller, Missouri Valley secretary, has taken no action yet because he hasn't seen the itemized expense list which the runner is required to turn in.

"Santee has not yet turned in his travel permits showing the amounts he received for expenses in the meets in question," Miller said. "These are now about two weeks overdue. Until we get these permits signed by the meet managers and check the exact amounts he received, the case is still open."

Brundage said that there wasn't much the Olympic committee could do about Santee right now "even if he were guilty which I don't know that he is."

Kuenn Also Sets Pace in Bid for Starting Job on AL All-Stars

CHICAGO (UP)—Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was leading a list of "new faces" today in the race for starting births for the 1955 all-star baseball game at Milwaukee July 12.

Leading hitter of the American League, Kaline currently has 6,295 ballots and leads veteran Hank Bauer of New York by 1,477 for the choice at right field.

Shortstop Harvey Kuenn is on top in his department, leading Chico Carrasquel of Chicago by 303 votes.

Three other Detroit Tiger players are in the running after the latest tabulation of fan's ballots. Ferris Fain and Bill Tuttle are in 4th place at the first base and center field positions, respectively, while Fred Hatfield is 5th in the third base race.

Patty Berg Leading Women's Golf Test

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Patty Berg of Chicago held a solid lead of plus 23 today going into the second round of the third annual Round Robin golf tournament at the Grossinger Country Club.

She shot a par 72 in the opening round yesterday. Second, with a plus 14, was 21-year-old Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., while tied for third, with plus 10's, were Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C.

McIntire, Cross Lead Collegians Into Match Play

LAKE BLUFF, Ill. (AP)—Barbara McIntire of Rollins College and Charlene Cross, University of Kentucky, open match play today in the 11th annual Women's Collegiate golf tournament.

Miss McIntire yesterday led 16 qualifiers with a medal score of 38-38—76 over the tough Shoreacres course which has a 73 par.

Miss Cross finished ninth in a field of 48 coeds with a 41-41—82. Tied for second were Anne Richardson of Rollins and Pat Lesser of Seattle. Each had identical scores of 38-41—79.

Miss Lesser, 1953 champion, meets Berridge Long of Sophie Newcomb College in match play and Miss Richardson faces Marlene Gesell of Minnesota. Miss Long had a 42-42—84 and Miss Gesell shot a 41-42—83.

McKenna Canada Bound

WALTHAM, Mass. — William McKenna, Little All-America choice as end for Brandeis University last year, will play professional football with the Calgary Stampeders in the Canadian League.

Attendance Going Up in Texas League

DALLAS (AP) — Things are looking up in the Texas League if the attendance figures are any indication.

League drew 297,299 for the first quarter. This is an increase of 23,883 over last season, claims Dick Butler, league president.

Dallas and Houston, the two largest cities in the loop, showed the biggest gains.

Races at Gay-Day

Gay-Day Speedway will have its 1st mid-week racing card tonight with time trials at 6:30 p.m. and the 1st race at 8 o'clock. Nine events are on the program. The Miss Gay-Day contest will begin tonight.

Lake Problems, Water Safety Are Discussed

By JACK PATTERSON

Got rained out of a skeet shoot the other day and stopped in at Louie Dorman's oasis. Maybe because it was so wet outside the conversation got around to Oakland County's lakes and what is wrong with them. We agreed there's plenty.

PATTERSON

Pollution, a big problem in many lakes, appe. to constitute a roadblock which public authorities seem unable or unwilling to surmount. But this is nothing new. It's been going on for thirty - odd years that we can personally remember.

A more recent threat to peaceable use of the county's lakes is the ever-increasing influx of out of county motorboats on those lakes, particularly on weekends. As things now stand, a yoot who may never have set foot in a motorboat, is perfectly within his rights in hitching up a boat and trailer and dumping the former, at a public or commercial access spot, into the lake of his choice.

From there on anything goes. He is at liberty to zoom around and imperil swimmers and fishermen at his own pleasure. The fact that he and his kind constitute a considerable nuisance to permanent lakefront residents, who may collectively have an investment of several million dollars in their properties, is unimportant. The right of the yoot to enjoy his version of life is inalienable.

With schools letting out and the long summer holiday at hand many a child is going to face the most dangerous days of his life. For water (swimming water) is not only God's greatest gift to childhood; it constitutes childhood's greatest danger.

Parents in this gently rolling section of the country would certainly keep an eye on a child suddenly transported to a land of cliffs and vertical canyons. Far too many realize that the lakes here constitutes exactly the same kind and degree of peril.

There are two things that can be done to assure a child's safety in or near the water. First, he can be taught to swim, a ridiculously easy task, although kids being what they are will often take instruction more gracefully from someone other than a parent.

The second sure way to ward off disaster is to be certain that the non-swimming child is constantly attended by a competent swimmer when in or near the water.

This sounds so simple that it's hard to believe anyone could overlook it. But keep an eye on the front page as the summer progresses and the toll mounts.

The kids should know something about boats, too, particularly to hang on when one capsizes rather than striking out for shore.

The above remarks apply to non-swimming grown-ups too, but we've long recognized the right of anyone who's reached the age of reason to commit suicide in a manner of his own choosing.

It's the children who by accident of relationship are forced to put their trust in the thoughtless that we're concerned about.

There's nothing new in this water safety stuff. It may be boring in repetition. But if, as a result of this word of warning, one child rejoins his classmates in September, we'll cheerfully accept the risk of being considered a bore.

Fishing Contest Starts Saturday

Kensington Park Event Lists Awards for Bass and Northern Pike

The 2nd annual fishing contest, sponsored by Kensington Metropolitan Parks, begins Saturday the opening day of bass season. The park is located on US-16 near New Hudson.

Tackle prizes will be awarded each month during June, July, and August for the heaviest largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, and panfish. Twenty-four trophies will be presented as grand prizes at the contest's conclusion on September 11, for the same three groups, plus northern pike. Competition will be in two divisions — adults, and juniors, age 16 and under.

Catches are to be weighed, measured, and registered on the day they are caught at the Kent Lake boat rental dock. The dock is open daily from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Both 1200-acre Kent Lake and smaller Wildwing Lake are eligible for fishing.

Awards will be made by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, the five-county park and parkway agency of which Kensington is a unit.

Contest is open to shore-fishermen, boat-renters, and anglers launching private boats at the free launching ramp. HCMA employes and their families are excluded.

Bass Fishing Season Starts This Saturday

Conservation People Expect Many Anglers to Participate

LANSING — The 1955 bass fishing season opens Saturday, the last major game fish to be removed from the closed list this year.

Conservation Department fisheries workers expect a large number of anglers to take part in the opening.

Largemouth and smallmouth black bass are common in lower peninsula lakes while upper peninsula lakes have few largemouths but a fair proportion of smallmouths.

"Fishing in Michigan," a state publication, points out that the usual method of angling for largemouths is to cast plugs, spinners and live bait into areas of lily pads and other aquatic plants in shallow lake waters.

Smallmouths are also often taken in this way, or by trolling with spinners and live bait in moderately deep water. Both species are often caught during the late evening or at night.

The Michigan record largemouth weighed 11 pounds, 15 ounces and the record smallmouth tipped the scales at 9¼ pounds.

Public Auctions Will Put State Lands on Block

LANSING—Land in 26 southern Michigan counties will be sold in state Conservation Department auctions slated July 11-18.

Most land to be offered in the sales consists of platted lots, but a few acreage parcels are included.

Lands in Allegan, Barry, Bay, Berrien, Calhoun, Cass, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gratlot, Ingham, Ionia, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Kent, Livingston, Macomb, Montcalm, Oakland, Saginaw, St. Clair, St. Joseph, Van Buren, Washtenaw and Wayne counties will be offered.

Further information about the sales may be obtained from the lands division of the Conservation Department at Lansing.

Annual OCBC Regatta Set This Weekend

Pontiac Press Photo

SKIS ON HEELS — Doug Leversha, from Melbourne, Australia, displays one of his feet that will perform the dangerous feat of barefoot water skiing this Sunday in the Oakland County Boat Club's 39th annual Power Boat Regatta at Sylvan Lake. Looking on are Kevin Marchant, also from Melbourne, who will drive the boat for his buddy's act, and Mrs. J. A. Runge, member of the Regatta committee.

Five Classes of Boats Run in Sunday Tests

Club Trophies at Stake Saturday; Water Skiing Exhibition Set

The Oakland County Boat Club, headed by Commodore Lloyd Maddock, will hold its 39th annual Power Boat Regatta Saturday and Sunday at Sylvan Lake. Art Hickson is chairman of the Regatta, sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association.

G. Mennen Williams, governor of Michigan, will be present at Sunday's races, according to Stan Roat, Oakland County Boat Club publicity chairman.

Many of the nation's fastest boats in every class, piloted by outstanding drivers from all over the United States, will compete for trophies and prizes. Sunday's races will get under way at 1:30 p.m.

Five classes of hydro power boats will vie for honors Sunday. The hydros will compete in 48, 135, 136, 225, and 266 horsepower divisions. All groups will run two heats, the 48's leading off.

Saturday's races are restricted to club members only. OCBC pilots will set their sights on the MacDonald, Kalbfleisch, Widrig, and Hickson club trophies, and participate in the club outboards free-for-all. All events are double heats, the 1st race starting at 1 p.m. The public is welcome.

A parade through downtown Pontiac is scheduled Saturday at 11 a.m., displaying the numerous types of boats that will take part in the Regatta.

The Regatta Ball will be held in the clubhouse Saturday night, beginning at 9 p.m. The public may attend by reservation.

A feature of Sunday's program will be the water-skiing show by a pair of Australians. Doug Leversha and Kevin Marchant, from Melbourne, will give an exhibition here en route to Cypress Gardens, Florida. Leversha is the skier while Marchant skippers the boat.

Their water-skiing performance includes the top-side tandem, back swan, clown act, and the climactic act of barefoot skiing, a rare and dangerous routine.

Outstanding area water skiers will also perform at the Regatta. With army approval, Selfridge Field jet planes will fly over the racing course, club officials said.

'Youngster,' 56, Tops Seniors' Golf Tourney

RYE, N. Y. (AP)—John W. Roberts of Columbus, Ohio, a "youngster" of 56, held the lead today in the United States Seniors Golf Assn's 51st annual tournament.

He shot a 36-37—73, one-over-par yesterday to lead defending champion J. Ellis Knowes of Rye, N. Y. by one stroke.

State Anglers Unaware

Michigan Inland Lakes Yield True Whitefish

BY MORT NEFF

Not enough Michigan anglers know that some of our large inland lakes abound in the true species of whitefish — one of the most valued of our food fishes.

NEFF

In some areas these fish are mistakenly called "ciscoes," or lake herring — and while it is true that ciscoes are common to a number of southern Michigan lakes, these fish are readily distinguishable from whitefish in size and form.

There is no closed season on the whitefish in our inland lakes, and it is entirely possible to take them on hook and line using caution in playing the fish.

An extremely tender mouth characterizes the whitefish — and this fact, combined with their tendency to take their food in more or less of a "nibbling" style creates a problem for the fisherman!

If you want a chance at hooking a whitefish use light tackle—a flyrod or spinning rod with a very light monnfilament leader of about a three or four pound test. Use a number 10 or 12 long shank hook on the end of the leader, with a single buck shot about two feet above it.

The bait should be a very small minnow not over an inch and a half long woven on the shank of the hook with a barb of the hook concealed in the minnow head. Whitefish are easily "spooked," so casting will only result in putting the fish down.

While it is possible to still fish if you happen to be in a school of whitefish, the best method is to drift-fish very slowly, allowing the bait to work through eight to ten feet of water.

Solunar Tables Show the Best Fishing Times

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT

Schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Use Eastern Standard time.

Weather May Be Key Factor in U.S. Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—How you gonna figure the winner of the 1955 U.S. Open?

The human element is risky enough to assess in a cast of golfers of comparable skill and temperaments—particularly when they range from a stolid Gene Littler to a tempestuous Tommy Bolt.

Coupled with these deep uncertainties is the weather. And native San Franciscans, borrowing a familiar word from the weather bureau, admit that it may be extremely variable during the course of the three day, 72-hole tournament that starts tomorrow.

* * *

Everyone concedes that this 55th annual money battle is a wide open proposition, involving such interesting angles as the young fellows against the old pappy guys, the established players versus the dark horses and all aiming at the crown worn by one of the darkest horses of all, plucky Ed Furgol of St. Louis.

The setting is the Olympic Country Club Lake Course, an up-and-down plot of green land, heavily bordered by cedars, fir and eucalyptus, stretching some 6,700 yards inland a half mile from the Pacific Ocean.

* * *

It can be foggy, particularly in the early morning and late afternoon. It can be somewhat windy. It can be damp or downright squishy from either the fog, drizzle or rain. And it can get bitter cold.

* * *

All the possible factors — fog, rain, wind, cold — are here, more so by far than at the usual sites of the national Opens. Baltusrol may have its rain, which it did last year; Texas could have its heat, as it did in 1952, but rarely does the U.S. Open offer such a variable prospect as this one.

* * *

Experts, looking over the entry list of 132 professionals and 30 amateurs, have come up with no less than 25 contestants who cannot be ignored in pre-tournament selections.

Included is the defending champion despite the obvious odds against a man scoring a repeat victory in the Open. Furgol's stock and confidence rose with his play in the rich International tournament at Washington, D.C. last week.

Cary Middlecoff, the Masters champion; Gene Littler, perhaps the brightest of the younger crop, with big Mike Souchak striding close behind; Julius Boros, the 1952 winner at Dallas; slender Dick Mayer, the Florida stylist; the famed slammer, Sam Snead, still seeking his first U.S. Open title —these and many more are mentioned as distinct possibilities.

* * *

And never to be forgotten is that man of golf himself, Ben Hogan.

Hogan, still a threatening figure, although not as fearsome in the past year, has won this tournament four times. There is no doubt that Fort Worth's favorite golfing son wants to become the only man to be a five-time champion.

UNTRAPPED — No one executes an explosion shot better than Sam Snead, but the greatest natural golfer aimed to keep out of the sand and all other traps in the United States Open championship. The Lake Course of the Olympic Club of San Francisco is the site of the Virginian's 15th crack at the only major title he hasn't won.

Wind Hampers Qualifiers in Southern Test

Kentucky Golfer Is Only Amateur Matching Par on 1st Day

LINVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A second 18-hole round of qualifying play was run off today in the 49th annual amateur tournament of the Southern Golf Assn. to reduce the championship field to 32 for the start of match play tomorrow.

Yesterday the initial qualifying round found the players at the mercy of the elements and a rugged 6,634-yard Linville Golf Club course, which was aptly renamed "Windville."

* * *

It took 13 hours for the 222-man entry list, second highest in the association's history, to complete the long day and only Phil Wiechman of Harlan, Ky., was able to match par 71.

When the long day was over, several well known players found themselves in the position of having to shoot much closer to par today if they are to continue in the race toward the championship taken the last two years by Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex.

Conrad, who earlier this month won the British Amateur tournament and was a semifinalist in the French Amateur, automatically qualified for match play.

Weichman, former Wake Forest college player, held a one-stroke lead over Charles Harrison, winner of the Atlanta City championship the last three years.

Knoted at 73 were last year's National Collegiate champion, Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn.; Ed Gravely, Rocky Mout, N.C.; and Keely Grice, Charlotte, N.C.

Billy Joe Patton of nearby Morganton, Walker Cup player and British Amateur quarterfinalist, was in contention with 75.

Ramazetti Wins 15th Straight

Unbeaten Detroiter Is KO Victor Over Murphy at Motor City

DETROIT (AP) — Young Dick Ramazetti, 131½, of Detroit, pounded out his 15th straight professional victory last night with a 6th round knockout of Dick Murphy, St. Paul, at Motor City Arena.

Murphy was counted out with two seconds left in their scheduled six round bout.

Ramazetti, unbeaten in his pro career, was in charge of the battle all the way. He decked Murphy for a nine-count in the first round and floored him again in the second.

Murphy came back strong and the Detroit lightweight was unable to send him to the canvas again until he caught him with a right to the jaw just before the final bell.

The bout, before 1,-80 fans, was locally televised.

In a scheduled six round co-feature Yuma Bahama, 151½, of Bimini, Bahamas, stopped rugged Abe Cruz, 157, of Chicago in 1:49 of the fourth.

Fall Hunting Licenses Ordered by State CC

LANSING — The Conservation Department is ordering 1,700,000 hunting licenses in anticipation of the coming fall seasons. The order this year is about the same as last year.

About 1,200,000 of the licenses were sold last year and state workers anticipate little change from that total this year.

Caswell Moves

Pitcher Marv Caswell, former Pontiac High School 3-sport athlete, has been optioned by the Jamestown club of the Pony league to the Valdosta, Ga., team of the Class D Georgia-Florida League. Both teams are Detroit Tiger farm teams.

Macias Favored Over Peacock in Bout on TV

LOS ANGELES (AP)—NBA bantamweight champion Raul (Mighty Mouse) Macias makes his first Los Angeles appearance tonight as a 2½ to 1 favorite to defeat Billy (Sweetpea) Peacock in a 10-round non-title fight.

Neither Macias, of Mexico City, nor Peacock, once of Philadelphia and now of Los Angeles, should have any trouble making the contract weight of 122 pounds.

The bout will be televised nationally (10 p.m. EST). Each fighter will receive $4,000 for television rights. In addition Macias gets 40 per cent of the gate, Peacock 20 per cent.

Two Triple Killings Fail to Win Games

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP) — Aberdeen Pheasants of the Northern League executed two triple plays within five days—and yet lost both games.

Gosper Nears End of American Track Career

EAST LANSING (AP) — Kevan Gosper, star Michigan State College quarter-miler, will make his last American appearances this month before returning to his native Australia.

* * *

Gosper will run in the Big Ten-Pacific Coast Conference dual meet June 22 in Berkeley, Calif.

The strong-striding Aussie will face J. W. Mashburn of Oklahoma A. and M. in the NCAA quarter mile. The race is expected to be one of the year's classics.

* * *

Gosper has won three Big Ten conference titles, one Central Collegiates crown, the Coliseum Relays and the British Empire Games 440 yard titles, all within the last year.

The runner graduated from MSC with honors earlier this month.

Jackson Starts Title Defense

DES MOINES (AP) — Handsome Jimmy Jackson, the Walker Cup player from St. Louis, opened defense of his Trans-Mississippi golf championship today.

Jackson, exempt from qualifying play which resulted in a three-way tie for medalist honors, had a first round date with Glen Oatman of Kansas City, a 153 shooter for the 36-hole preliminaries.

The big interest was a race for low spot among the qualifiers. It ended in a three-way tie between Walter Peek, 28-year-old New Rochelle, N.Y. salesman; Rodney Bliss, 42-year-old Wakonda Club member, and George Clark, 21-year-old Ottumwa, Iowa, collegian. They deadlocked at 146.

Mrs. LeClair Upsets Wiffi at Bloomfield

Mrs. Keith (Susie) LeClair, a young housewife from Ann Arbor, upset the dope sheet Tuesday afternoon when she nipped Wiffi Smith by one stroke in the Women's District weekly medal-play meet at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Susie came in with a dazzling sub-par finish to edge Wiffi. She fired a 41-37—78 to equal par for the 6,247-yard layout. Wiffi's 79 showed rounds of 40-39. It was Mrs. LeClair's 2nd triumph in five years.

How to Enjoy Old Age—3

Choose Your Retirement 'Rut' With Care

(This is the third of four articles giving you expert advice on how to achieve a long, happy life and how to prepare for our later years.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND

CHICAGO (INS)—"Choose your rut carefully, you'll be in it for the next 10 miles."

* * *

That somewhat whimsical road sign contains pertinent advice for all of us. Some day we will have to make retirement plans.

One of the most important practical decisions the senior citizen must face is where to live and enjoy his leisure.

No doctor or sociologist would argue that the chance for a happy useful 100 years can be fully realized in the county poor farm or an institution-like "home for the aged."

3 GENERATION HOME

They agree with Dr. Martin Gumpert, old-age specialist and author of "Anatomy of Happiness," that living arrangements are closely bound up with being "happy."

* * *

One possible arrangement is for elderly parents or grandparents to live in the homes of their sons or daughters.

Although some experts are against it, a "three generation household"—composed of grandparents, parents and children living together—can be beneficial to all concerned. Dr. Mabel Ross, a mental health consultant to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, suggests these positive advantages to such an arrangement:

To the child—the grandparent can be a source of "undemanding affection"—a person whose love and approval is not associated with discipline.

OLD FOLKS HELPFUL

To the parent—the grandparent can be a support, not just a baby-sitter, offering wisdom and practical experience to help the father and mother in their role as parents.

* * *

To the grandparent—the child and the parent can offer them "assurances of interest and affection" at a period in life when the older person is being relegated to less activity outside the home.

Some experts have recommended a compromise way, a small self-contained apartment for the older people connected but apart from the family home. With these separate bathroom, dining and sleeping facilities, the older adults would not have to be thrown too closely together with the family.

In England, these arrangements are called "granny-plus" apartments.

These may not always be practical, however, and other arrangements have to be made.

3 ALTERNATIVES

Dr. Robert Havighurst, chairman of the Committee on Human Development at the University of Chicago, offers three other possible alternatives to institution-like homes for the aged or hospitals. They are co-operative or special housing projects; retirement "colonies," usually in the sunshine states, and "homemaker services."

As a good example of a special housing project he singles out Tompkins Square House in New York City—an elevator apartment for older persons of limited income with shared kitchens and baths, a "day" room, cafeteria, roof garden and laundry. A registered nurse is resident director.

Also in New York City, the Jewish Family Service has a visiting homemaker service—a trained nurse or housekeeper calls on the older person each day and helps with the cooking, cleaning up and shopping. The older person is thus able to maintain independence while receiving help with the chores.

Retirement "colonies" have sprung up most prominently in California and Florida, although the Methodist church has cottage-type colonies in Marionville, Mo., Elyria, Ohio, and Charlotte, N.C.

NO ACCIDENT

The presence of so many of these colonies in the sunshine states of Florida and California is no accident. Because of climate and generally low living costs away from the big tourist centers, thousands of oldsters have flocked to the Southeast, Southwest and Far West.

Dr. Clarence A. Mills, professor of experimetal medicine at the University of Cincinnati, reports that weather changes—particularly sudden or extreme variations—effect health.

For those over 50 years of age, he says, there is a greater chance for long life in a warm climate with few sudden shifts of temperature.

If you decide on resettling in retirement, here are some of Dr. Mack's capsule guides:

FLORIDA BENEFITS

Florida—Plenty of sunshine; low-priced housing, low taxes: St. Petersburg — Retirement capital of U.S. with good recreation; leisure city, a 6,000-unit housing project going up under private auspices 15 miles from Miami.

* * *

California—Sunshine; stable and dry climate in central valley good for arthritis and rheumatism sufers; San Diego, a harbor city with attractions for older people preferring urban life; Santa Barbara, pleasant; San Francisco, scenic and cosmopolitan with mild winters and cool summers; national parks

Southwest—Plenty of sunshine and scenery; climate good for sinus and asthma sufferers; Pleasant and leisurely pace to life.

Atlantic Coast from Cape Cod to Norfolk, Va.—While really a northern climate, has advantage of being near to metropolitan areas where families may be located.

GOOD HOME BUYS

Northern New England—Climate cold in the winter but many good buys in old homes and farms.

Ozarks (Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma) — Low living costs but television fare somewhat limited.

* * *

Texas (especially Dallas and Houston) — Pleasant weather and opportunities for employment in the mushrooming, booming cities.

Northwestern states (Oregon and Washington) — Climate mild, recreation and scenery excellent.

For the really adventurous, Mexico, the West Indies and Puerto Rico offer attractive weather, inexpensive living and new stimulation.

Despite these inducements, the great majority of persons do not migrate from north to south as they grow older.

More frequently, they move from one house to another within their own home town or county. Usually the move is to smaller, more-easy-to-care-for-quarters. An older couple, for example, will give up their house when their children are grown up and take an apartment in an elevator building.

* * *

Whether or not you decide to stay put or travel, Prof. Havighurst offers this checklist of values the older person should look for in choosing a place to live:

Privacy and quiet, independence of movement — the freedom to come and go as one pleases; nearness to relatives or friends; cheapness; closeness to transportation, shoping, churches, recreation facilities; residence among "one's own kind of people"—a similarity of background and interests; employment opportunities for light work; health facilities nearby.

Footloose Turkish Men Are Gasping Their Last

By EARL WILSON

ISTANBUL—So here you are in Turkey . . . let's enjoy it.

I've been investigating the Turkish women and the Turkish coffee since us Broadwayites and Hollywoodians arrived in this land where the fez is no longer familiar, and find that the women and the coffee have something in common—they both keep you awake . . .

Worrying about them, I mean.

★ ★ ★ ★

They're mysteriously beautiful, but their husbands still prowl through the coffee houses, or drop into the "Eestanbool" Odd Fellows down at Main and Market, alone . . . and us American husbands gravely wonder about this.

NEJLA ATES

We wonder how they can do it . . . when we can't.

Back home, we think of Turkish girls—if we think of them—as Nejla Ates, the slithery belly dancer in "Fanny," or Julia Darvas, the fearless but beautiful nymph of "Darvas and Julia," probably the world's most expensive dance act.

Stay home nights! Hey, they lure men out nights!

But on our arrival for the premiere of what's been called "one of the most badly needed hotels in the world," in a boom city where you could get a hotel as easy as you could elect Tom Dewey president we found . . . uh . . . certain problems.

The Turkish wives—though no longer veiled—seldom go out with their husbands.

Thus one of the feasts for the Hollywood and Broadway stars who flew here for the Hilton Istanbul Hotel opening had to be rearranged—boys at one lunch, gals at another.

Now out in Ohio we like it better the other way.

Perhaps the Turkish women will in time henpeck the husbands as the American wives have done. The Turkish husband is gasping his last, but the poor slob doesn't know it.

"Men don't take their wives out when they go out . . . the wife has to stay home and be a good wife," a Turkish woman explained.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Does the husband have to be a good husband?" I naturally inquired in the interest of good journalism exclusively.

"She doesn't ask. He's the boss," she said.

That's what he thinks, but he'll find out . . . poor soul.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Peter Lind Hayes cracked two ribs doing a Peter Pan "flying" bit in his act at the Sands hotel in Las Vegas. Frank Sinatra and Humphrey Bogart offered to stand in for him, but Pete was able to finish . . . Pianist Artur Rubinstein's daughter will be a chorus girl in the Paris company of "Oklahoma!"

Gloria de Haven's doctor ordered her to rest, except for her "Seventh Heaven" appearances . . . John Huston and Gregory Peck will expand their two-horse racing stable . . . Red Buttons, who has Las Vegas offers, may tour Europe this summer instead . . . Gloria Grahame's due here soon, to attend the "Not As a Stranger" premiere.

GLORIA GRAHAME

Sloan Simpson will do summer stock at Somerset, Mass. . . . Ted Lewis bought 80 acres in Las Vegas two years ago; it's zoomed 400 per cent in value.

★ ★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Lou Nelson reports he just moved to the suburbs: "It's 16 minutes from downtown—by telephone." That's earl, brother.

Mrs. Annie C. Ross, 116, Heard Lincoln Address

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Annie Camphor Ross, Negro woman born in slavery 16 years ago who remembered hearing Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, died yesterday at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Mrs. Ross told an interviewer two years ago how she journeyed to Gettysburg with her husband, a Methodist preacher, to attend the battlefield ceremonies in 1863.

Mrs. Emma K. Jones, a great-niece with whom Mrs. Ross lived, said the aged woman attributed her long life to a "little gin now and then."

Hollywood Headlines

'What Makes Sammy Run' to Be Filmed in December

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Budd Schulberg's sensational novel about Hollywood, "What Makes Sammy Run" (a hit years before his Oscar-winning "On the Waterfront"), has been bought by Freddie Finklehoffe who'll start the picture in Hollywood in December.

* * *

Humphrey Bogart's got the biggest fan he'll ever have in Aldo Ray, who has been a Bogey addict ever since they made "We're No Angels" at Paramount.

Now Aldo comes up with the same type of role his idol might play, a snarling, sarcastic heavy in "Jubal Troop" with Glenn Ford at Columbia.

"It's the first time I've ever played a heavy and the first Western I've ever made," Aldo told me. "We're doing most of the shooting in the desert in the middle of July so I guess some snarling will come easy."

GENE STILL SHY

Gene Tierney, still allergic to the spotlight and interviews, slipped into town as quietly as possible today and checked into the Bel Air Hotel.

She'll be here two weeks on retakes and added scenes for "The Left Hand of God" with Humphrey Bogart at 20th.

None of her former close friends have heard from Gene, who is becoming as much of a lady of mystery as Garbo ever was. All she seems to want to do is to get her work done and get out of Hollywood.

GARY APPLAUDS

Gary Cooper, looking happy, healthy and almost chubby with the added weight he's put on, couldn't stop applauding Marlon Brando, Vivian Blaine, Stubby Kaye and B. S. Pully at the simply tops party hosted by the Sam Goldwyns for the wind up of "Guys and Dolls."

Two-hundred guests showed up on the huge stage to partake of the fine food and wonderful entertainment Sam put out celebrating the completion of his $5,000,000 musical.

No, Marlon didn't sing. (That surprise is still being held for the picture.) But he played the bongo drums real crazy, man.

* * *

It's a little ironical that David Niven, in dutch with the clergy when "The Moon Is Blue" was banned by churches, is now the fair-haired boy since his TV appearance in "The Collar."

There has been such church and school acclaim for the religious program it will be repeated Thursday night.

With the network receiving over an astounding 20,000 letters on this show, there's a big chance it will be made into a feature picture.

First, David plays Phineas Fogg in Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days."

JUDY WILL PROFIT

Hollywood in shorts: Judy Garland can't pick up less than $10,000 per night on her one-night stand PA tour. That's her guarantee at all houses starting July 8 at Russ Auditorium in San Diego.

Hear that Eddie Fisher is putting up most of the dough, re, mi backing the new Romo Vincent TV series, "Mr. Dumb Bunny."

Elizabeth Montgomery (Robert's TV star daughter) arrives July 1 for her role in Otto Preminger's "Billy Mitchell Court Martial."

Williams Signs Bill for Bridge at Soo

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams yesterday signed legislation clearing the way for construction of an international auto bridge between Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The measure, which becomes law next fall, clearly separates American and Canadian ownership of the bridge at the international boundary line, removes an earlier provision which erroneously would have required abandonment of the international railroad bridge and clarifies the status of existing ferry service.

Smoke on Roof Sends Firemen to Basement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Express elevators shot firemen to the roof of the 17-story Federal Building after several persons saw smoke billowing from the top yesterday.

The firemen came right down again, however, and proceeded to the basement. There they found a maintenance man mistakely had tossed into the incinerator a quantity of heavily varnished wood scraps.

Pretty much the same thing happened there a few weeks ago. That time a janitor had heaved some cartons of old rubber bands into the furnace.

Formosan Criticizes Menon's Attitudes

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Foreign Minister George Yeh left for San Francisco today to represent Nationalist China at the anniversary session of the United Nations next week.

At the airport he spoke resentfully of India's V. K. Krishna Menon, who conferred yesterday with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in Washington on the Formosa situation.

* * *

"I hope Mr. Menon knows what he talks and thinks about," Yeh told newsmen.

His remark underlined the conviction in Taipei that the Nationalist government will reject any settlement Menon might suggest.

Yeh left as a full week has passed without any reported action in the vest pocket war front off the coast of Red China.

Maj. Gen. George Smythe, new deputy commander of the American Military Advisory Assistance Group yesterday visited Quemoy.

Official quarters today dismissed as untrue press reports that Smythe would succeed Maj. Gen. William C. Chase as head of MAAG and that Chase would return home shortly for good.

Tardy Visitor Finds 'Place Has Changed'

RUSSELL SPRINGS, Ky. (AP)—Jeff Baker visited Russell Springs for the first time in 48 years, although he lives only 11 miles away.

The last time he saw his county seat was in 1907, when he attended a dance. He got married shortly afterward and really settled down.

Jeff, now in his 70s, hitched a ride to town in the mailman's horseless carriage. He observed the newfangled electric lights, the moving picture houses, paved streets and bustling traffic and remarked:

"This place certainly has changed quite a bit."

Then he returned to his country home. Didn't say when he'd return.

Finds Hot Courthouse

Police Using Moonshine to Clean Off Old Ink

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal agents have discovered a use for a five-gallon jug of "real moonshine whisky strong enough to blow your head off" that was confiscated long ago in some forgotten raid.

Deputy marshal Guy Hixon said his office uses it for cleaning the fingerprint board. "You ought to see how it eats that old ink off. Best cleaning fluid we ever had around this office."

Grains Retreat Holding Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices retreated just a bit on the Board of Trade today. Then—except for rye—most contracts held their ground at the lower line.

Rye frequently was set back more than a cent on further favorable crop news. Soybeans and lard eased as soy oil and meal evidenced hesitancy in pursuing their higher trend and the hog market turned steady.

Helping to hold the line on wheat and corn were new reports envisioning future exports.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ¼ to ½ lower, July $1.99⅝, corn was off ½ to ¾, July $1.41¾; oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, July 65⅝, and rye was ¾ to 1¼ lower, July $1.04¾. Soybeans were unchanged to ½ cent lower, July $2.42¾, and lard was unchanged to 5 cents a hundredweight lower, July $12.50.

BY-LAWS OF THE WATERFORD TOWNSHIP BOARD OF HEALTH

Whereas, the Township of Waterford has upwards of forty thousand (40,000) inhabitants, an increase of sixteen thousand (16,000) from the year of 1950, and

Whereas, new homes and dwellings are constantly being constructed within the confines of the Township at an ever increasing rate, and

Whereas, such construction and increased population bring forth tremendous problems of health and safety not heretofore present.

Now therefore, be it resolved, that the Township Board of Health for the Township of Waterford does hereby enact the following By-Laws and Regulations:

1. No person shall use as a dwelling any building or structure containing less than four hundred eighty (480) square feet of inhabitable floor space.

2. No person shall use as a dwelling any building or structure not containing separate sanitary facilities for each such dwelling conforming to the requirements of this Board and Waterford Township Ordinance No. 24.

3. No person shall use as a dwelling a basement or cellar unless same shall have two (2) entrances or exits located opposite to each other and unless same shall be at least fifty (50%) per cent above average grade.

4. No person shall use as a dwelling any building or structure not having two (2) entrances or exits.

5. No person, firm or corporation shall rent, lease or sublet any building or structure that violates the provisions of these By-Laws and Regulations or in any manner allow property under or subject to their control to be used in violation of these By-Laws and Regulations.

6. The Township Board of Health expressly declares any building or structure violating the above provisions to be a nuisance, source of filth and cause of sickness and instructs the Township Health Officer to forthwith institute appropriate action to rid the Township of same.

7. Any person violating these By-Laws and Regulations shall be punished as provided by Section 3 of the Revised Statutes of 1846, Chapter 35 (C.L. 327.13).

Passed this 6th day of June, A.D. 1955.
Ayes: Anderson, Barry, Tibbals, Loomis, Johnson
Nays: None.
Above By-Laws effective immediately.

LOUIS G. BARRY,
Waterford Township Clerk.

Wholesale Prices Up; Still Below Last Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by Dun & Bradstreet climbed this week to their highest point since April 19 but were still a good 10 per cent below the levels of a year ago.

At $6.51, the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index was up 2 per cent from last week's $6.39. It compared with an index figure of $7.23 for the same week of 1954.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in common use.

Higher this week were wheat, corn, rye, oats, beef, hams, bellies, lard, coffee, cottonseed oil, cocoa, eggs, beans, hogs and lambs. Lower were flour, barley, sugar, raisins and steers.

Gives Skin for Girl

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An anonymous white man donated almost two square feet of skin grafted yesterday on the body of Margaret Rose Thomas, a 5-year-old Negro girl critically burned by a stove March 2.

Market Higher; Range Narrow

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices were narrowly higher today in the stock market in early dealings.

Most changes were quite narrow but some gains went to between 1 and 2 points.

Trading was brisk at the opening with a number of blocks on the tape. Among them were U.S. Steel 1,000 off ⅛ at 49⅝, Kennecott Copper 1,200 up ¾ at 116¼, Ashland Oil blocks of 7,000 and 5,400 shares up ⅛ at 15, and Boeing 2,000 up ½ at 63⅜.

Bell Aircraft had a block of 3,200 shares up 1⅞ at 28¼ and Lockheed traded 2,000 shares up ⅞ at 47⅛. Those two were strong yesterday on continued merger rumors. Lockheed also got a contract for 97 million dollars in combat transport planes from the Air Force.

Other aircrafts were higher, and also up were the coppers and major motors. Otherwise the list was steady to mixed.

Burroughs Corp. was up 1¼ at 31⅞ on a block of 3,600 shares. The company is introducing a new electronics device that reads and classifies travelers' checks at high speed.

Also higher were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, United Aircraft, Distillers Corp., Philco, Anaconda, and Texas Co.

Lower were Studebaker-Packard, International Harvester, National Distillers, Union Carbide, and Baltimore & Ohio.

The market yesterday was slightly lower with the railroads down and aircrafts up. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 60 cents at $169.60.

Russ Carlyle Orchestra at Casino Ballroom

Russ Carlyle and his orchestra, featuring vocalist Fran Clarke, will play for dancing at the Walled Lake Casino Ballroom on Friday and Saturday.

Carlyle, also a composer, sang with the Blue Barron's band for six years, embarking on his own orchestral career at Barron's suggestion.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commissioners Honor City Hall Architect

Architect Leo J. Heenan, who designed the recently dedicated City Hall, was honored for his work by the City Commission last night.

The Commission passed a resolution commending him for his work on the $1,200,000 building.

City Attorney William A. Ewart was instructed to prepare another resolution for the general contractor, J. A. Fredman Co., and the main sub-contractors for their "excellent workmanship and strict adherance to detail."

Final action was taken on a swap of city-owned land in Murphy Park for a section of Detroit Edison Co. property adjacent to the park. The land acquired by the city is slightly larger than that traded to Edison, which wanted it for right-of-way.

A report from the City Plan Commission regarding use of an alley by Baldwin Rubber Co. was referred to the city attorney.

LET CONTRACT

Leonard Terry, of Pontiac, was awarded a $15,000 contract for excavation and related work on a parking lot to the east of the new City Hall. A $145,000 contract for concrete pavement on various city streets was awarded to Oak Construction Co.

Public hearings were set for next Tuesday on an ordinance to amend the 1955 appropriation ordinance and an ordinance to amend the building zone map to rezone to residential 2 classification the west portion of Herrington Hills Subdivision.

Tabled were two other ordinances calling for zoning shifts. Two others, concerning licensing auto dismantling and used auto parts sales, were referred to the informal Commission meeting of June 30.

Adopted was an ordinance changing the boundries of voting precincts 3, 4 and 34. Effected residents will be notified.

A new ordinance "putting teeth" in the food peddling ordinance was tabled for a week at the request of Commissioner John E. Carry (District 6) to make it "tougher."

Also tabled one week was a request to purchase a city-owned lot on Legrand avenue. A communication requesting a package liquor license for a drugstore at 37-39 S. Saginaw St. was received and filed.

Pontiac State Hospital officials were given permission to use fireworks on July 4th.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans was given authority to advertise for bids for a water main in Durant street from Inglewood to Pershing. A public hearing on the matter will be held next Tuesday.

Deferred two weeks was a public hearing on a special assessment roll for curb, gutter and drainage on Carlisle avenue from Walton to New York, and a proposal to construct curb, gutter and drainage on Jefferson avenue from Blaine to Summitt was deleted from the 1955 improvement program.

City Manager Walter K. Willman was authorized to purchase two lots for extension of Harriett street.

Public necessity was declared for a water main in Cloverlawn, Cherrylawn and Meadowlawn from Kennett to West Columbia, and in Stanley from the end of the existing line to Kennett.

City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom was authorized to prepare assessment rolls for a curb, gutter and drainage project on Blaine avenue from Oakland to Montcalm.

Confirmed were assessment rolls for two-inch blacktop pavement on the following streets:

Willard street from Center to Paddock
Hovey street from Cottage to Osmun
Irwin avenue from Going to East boulevard
Going street from Osmun to Whittemore
Hazel Bend avenue from Belmont to Jessie
Fiddis avenue from Jessie to east end of street
Francis street from Pike to Chandler
Markle avenue from Joslyn to east end of street
Wolfe street from Edison to Glenwood.

Legal Opinion Given in Annexation Case

LANSING (AP) — An attorney general's opinion held today that a part of a newly incorporated city may be annexed to another city even though the new city had not yet adopted a charter.

Replying to a question by Rep. Walter T. McMahon (D-Hazel Park), the opinion said annexation petitions may be filed either before or after a new city charter is adopted. It said annexation of a whole new city is not necessary under the law.

In another opinion, the Attorney General's office upheld the constitutionality of a 1948 law permitting the County Board of Supervisors to abolish the Office of Drain Commissioner and transfer his duties to the county road commissioners.

This issue was raised by Pros. Atty. Gerald A. Mason of Lake City.

Detroit Times Names New Managing Editor

DETROIT (INS) — William E. Anderman, publisher of the Detroit Times, today announced the appointment of John Maclellan as managing editor of the Times.

Maclellan succeeds Wiliam S. Lampe, who becomes editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Lampe was appointed managing editor of the Times in 1942 and has served in that capacity since that time.

Maclelan is 52 years old. He will complete 30 years of service on the Times next month. He was born in Ingersoll, Ontario, and his first newspaper experience came as a reporter for the former London, Ont., Advertiser.

Saw Salk, Screamed, Squirmed, Submitted

SOMERVILLE, N.J. (AP)—Eight-year-old Rose Simon wasn't too keen on receiving her Salk polio vaccine inoculation yesterday.

She began whimpering, and just as a health officer was about to give her the shot she shouted:

"I personally didn't sign a consent slip."

Rose got the inoculation anyway, plus a lollipop for consolation.

New Car Sales Break Record

30,000-Unit Daily Rate for End of May Kicks Down Inventories

DETROIT (AP) — Ward's Automotive Reports says in its current issue:

"New car sales during May 21-31 blossomed into an all-time record 30,000-unit daily rate, kicking dealer inventories down to a 25 days' supply as of May 31, against 31.6 days' a year ago.

"The nation's dealers retailed 695,000 new cars in May against a peak of 702,400 during April; but the daily rate of sales increased to 27,800 form 27,016 over the two months because of the different number of selling days in each period.

"Thus, despite the fact new car stocks currently are at a new all-time record of 705,000 units it would take the dealers only 25 days to dispose of them at May's average sales rate and only 23.5 days at the pace noted during the closing 10 days of the month.

"So tremendous is the 1955 new car market that even the industry's expanded production capacity cannot cope with the situation. As one important facet Chevrolet 1955 dealer sales, virtually tied with Ford at the end of April, pulled ahead by 4.5 per cent at the close of May, blistering Ford factory production apparently unable to maintain dealer inventories at levels needed to meet the challenge.

MILLION UNIT LEVEL

"Pointing up the tremendous sales efforts, Ford-Chevrolet-Plymouth retail deliveries combined are currently running at the 1,000,000-unit quarterly level for the first time in history. March-April-May netted 1,115,500 for the producers, pointing to at least that volume for April-June.

"For most producers, with their 1955 model cars currently entering the last two and three months of production, the 1955 model year can be labele dan overwhelming success at this time."

Molotov Greets All Americans Favoring Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov arrived here today with greetings to all Americans "in favor of lasting peace."

The stocky diplomat, en route to San Francisco for the 10th anniversary session of the United Nations, declined to say anything further, however, or answer questions as he left the liner Queen Elizabeth.

His translated greeting:

"On behalf of the delegation of the Soviet Union, I bring greetings to the people of the world-famous city of New York and with them to all in the United States who are in favor of a lasting peace, international cooperation among nations and consolidation of friendship."

The Queen Elizabeth docked at 1:05 a.m. Molotov and a party of 46 Russians left the liner shortly before 7 a.m.

Dow Chemical Retires Company Indebtedness

MIDLAND (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. today retired 62½ million dollars in long term loans.

Treasurer Carl A. Gerstacker said this was half of the 125 million dollars borrowed in 1947, 1951 and 1952 to help finance the company's postwar expansion program.

The retirement included 45 million dollars of 3.25 per cent notes due in 1977 and 17½ million dollars of 2.7 per cent notes due in 1972.

Gerstacker said Dow's long term indebtedness now includes 61 million dollars in similar notes and 100 million dollars in 3 per cent convertible debentures due in 1982.

Clarkston Man Fined

Charged with operating an unsanitary slaughterhouse, Joseph Flanigan, 47, of Clarkston, paid a $100 fine and $15 costs Tuesday after he pleaded guilty before Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback.

Flanigan, arrested on complaint of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, had been cited on the same charge in 1949 and 1950, according to recordds at the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept.

GM Names Scholarship Winners in Huge Program

DETROIT—One hundred of the nation's most talented secondary school seniors today were declared college scholarship winners in a General Motors-sponsored program considered by many outstanding educators as "historic in higher education."

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, disclosed the findings of an independent committee of 16 outstanding educators appointed to select the recipients of the 100 awards from more than 14,000 applicants.

The national program is one phase of a $2,000,000 annual program of aid to higher education being sponsored by General Motors. The extended program, when in full operation, will bring to $4,500,000 General Motor's total annual contributions to higher education.

Each of the scholarships will be continued from year to year for four years, if a student's progress toward completion of degree requirements is satisfactory to his college or university.

The committee of educators, comprised of college presidents and others prominent in the education field, selected the winners from among 1,421 semifinalists who finished highest in a competitive examination offered earlier this year. Scholastic achievements, student activities and leadership potential were prime factors in the selection.

New York, which had 2,457 applicants, led other states with 23 winners. Michigan's only scholarship was awarded to James Carl Owens of Grosse Pointe High School.

Edison Plans Two More Atom Plants

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Edison Co. plans to start building its second and third atomic power plants within the next decade.

Edison, together with a group of associate utilities, currently is pioneering a 45-million-dollar nuclear power plant.

"We should be able to produce power at a profit with the second installation," said Robert W. Hartwell, director of Edison's nuclear power development.

Hartwell told members of the Special Libraries Assn. yesterday that the second nuclear plant is scheduled for a start in five years and the third in ten. The first is scheduled to be in operation by 1960.

"The first reactor will not make a penny for us," he said. "We will have to charge it off to research and development."

But Hartwell said the company should be able to produce power at a profit with the second installation.

Court-Appointed Defense Lawyers Doing Job Ably

Two Pontiac criminal attorneys, questioned by the Oakland Citizens League, have concluded that lawyers named by the courts to defend persons financially unable to hire counsel are doing the job "ably and well."

Robert P. Sauer and Bernard Girard were asked to discuss merits of the public defender system as against thee present program of having a private attorney appointed to defend money-lacking persons charged with criminal offenses.

The public defender setup would see a salaried state employe retained to defend all such individuals.

"His functions would be comparable to that of the prosecuting attorney, except that his efforts would be to defend rather than prosecute," the attorneys explain.

'FAR FROM FACT'

"Most of those who favor the public defender system agree that a defense lawyer is a necessary part of our administration of criminal justice, but they believe that a public defender and a private lawyer serve the same purpose. Nothing could be further from the fact."

If there is any merit in the saying "the poor go to jail and the rich go free" it is not because the less wealthy aren't provided legal counsel when criminally charged, the two contend.

Before a person is asked to plead guilty or innocent he is told a lawyer will be named to represent him if he can't hire one himself.

The appointee "will have a public duty to see that the necessary safeguards are not frittered away Under our system—and it is the finest that man could conceive—everyone is entitled to his day in court . . .

"Abuses . . . cannot be corrected by substituting a public official for the lawyer." Most persons will be able to hire "a lawyer of more value than a public defender can be—one who will take the necessary time to listen and confer, and who will do a little leg work."

SUPPORTERS ARGUE

Supporters of the public defender system usually argue that appointed attorneys generally are young and inexperienced, the twp explain.

But courts "can be trusted to appoint attorneys who are qualified. What the younger lawyer lacks in trial court practice he makes up in zeal" and will probably consult with a more experienced attorney.

A public defender may know no other duty than that imposed by a judge, "a real lawyer for the defense knows no matter but his client."

A defender might hesitate to attack the conduct of police or prosecutor, where a private attorney would consider it his duty, they state. The public official might also hesitate in obtaining a writ of habeas corpus to prevent third-degree-type questioning, the two assert.

"Every law student knows each case requires careful and painstaking preparation. Can, and will, the public defender give the case the preparation that it" requires, they ask?

APPOINTED BY JUDGE

Locally, appointments are made by the circuit judge, with assent from the prosecuting attorney, they explain. The Oakland County Bar Assn. refers such cases to its members on a rotation basis.

No member has refused a case "when a genuine need for legal assistance without ability to pay was demonstrated."

The league said it has a letter from Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick stating in his opinion a public defender is not needed here. The league takes no stand on the matter itself.

Predicts Senate to Extend Draft

Ike Reserve Program Will Not Be Added to Present Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee voiced hope today that the Senate will approve extension of the draft act this week.

If the administration insists that the Senate try to rescue its reserve manpower program, Russell made it clear that must be handled as a separate bill rather than a rider to the measure to extend Selective Service for four years.

The reserve program, designed to provide a trained force of nearly three million men who could be called up in a hurry to augment the regular armed services of about the same size, bogged down in the House when an amendment was attached to ban racial segregation.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and other top Pentagon officials made a special pilgrimage to Russell's office yesterday, armed with papers aimed at tacking the reserve program onto the draft extension. Sen. Saltonstall (Mass), top GOP member of Russell's committee, sat in.

Russell said all parties had agreed "it might be dangerous" and jeopardize draft act extension to try to attach the reserve bill to it.

Both the regular draft of youths 18 to 26 years old and the separate doctor draft act for medical specialists expire at the end of this month. The doctor draft would be extended for two years in the Senate bill.

Order U.S. Servicemen to Avoid Arab Section

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — U. S. airmen were ordered today to keep out of the Arab quarters in North African cities as the French tightened security measures against militant Nationalists.

The French Press Agency said the off - limits order applies to the U. S. Navy, too.

About 39 per cent of the deaths and 35 per cent of the injuries from motor vehicle accidents in 1954 occurred on Saturdays and Sundays.

Lebanon Premier Says Country to Be Neutral

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — On the eve of a state visit by Turkish President Celal Bayar, Premier Sami Solh told newsmen today Lebanon's policy of neutrality is unchanged regarding Middle East defese pacts.

The composition of Bayar's official entourage which is arriving tomorrow has convinced many observers, however, the Turks intend to talk seriously regarding Lebanese adherence to the Turkish-Iraqi alliance.

16,600 Youths at GOP Confab

'Draft Ike' Movement May Be High Point of Detroit Convention

DETROIT (AP) — Some 16,600 Young Republicans from 48 states converged on Detroit today for the opening of their annual convention.

Attendance of party bigwigs and a number of Republican congressmen will add luster to the parley, which will continue through Saturday.

High point of the floor sessions may be a fight over a "Draft Ike" movement. Young Republican leaders have indicated they will attempt to gain unanimous support from delegates for a move to persuade President Eisenhower to seek re-election in 1956.

* * *

But John Strickler, chairman of the Texas delegation, has said his group is opposed to any draft movement. Strickler said he will support Eisenhower if he decides to run.

"It is our viewpoint that candidates should announce if they want the office and not have to be drafted," he said.

Registration of delegates and meetings of various committees will consume most of today.

Two live elephants will greet delegates at the main entrance of convention headquarters in a downtown hotel.

7-Year Hiccups Thin His Frame, Crush His Hope

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Seven straight years of hiccuping every second has worn Jack O'Leary down to 78 pounds and his hope to the breaking point.

His spasms began after an appendix rupture June 13, 1948, and O'Leary, now 29, is afraid he can't hold out much longer.

"All my boy talks about is dying," his mother Mrs. Margaret O'Leary said yesterday. "He seems to have lost all hope."

* * *

Besides the hiccups, he has diabetes and has had three heart attacks. He once weighed 135 pounds.

The hiccups have persisted despite efforts of more than 200 doctors and helpful hints from thousands of well-wishers throughout the nation. He is able to retain only a small amount of food.

Mrs. O'Leary is a hospital aide and her husband, a clerk in a department store. They have poured most of their earnings into medical treatment for their son.

"It seems," the mother said, "like everything we have built for and hoped for is going to pieces."

Mobster Gets Year at Prison in Milan

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Albert Anastasia will be taken by plane today to Milan, Mich. federal prison to begin serving his one-year term for income tax evasion, federal officials said.

The reputed former "lord high executioner" of the Murder, Inc. mob, will be accompanied by U.S. Marshal Joseph Job.

* * *

He was sentenced after entering a surprise plea of guilty to the charges in federal court at Camden last month. For the past week Anastasia has been held at the federal House of Detention in New York.

Anastasia, 50, who owns a plush home in Fort Lee, had been scheduled to stand trial a second time for evading $11,743 in taxes during 1947-48 before he pleaded guilty. His first trial on the charges ended in a hung jury.

New Delhi Fair to Include U.S.

America Will Occupy 100,000 Square Feet at Industries Exposition

NEW DELHI (AP) — The United States is treating the Indian industries fair in October as its most important venture into the field of international expositions. The Department of Commerce has set up a special fair office here.

This will be the first time the United States has entered an Indian trade fair. Previously this field has produced dividends for Communist countries in boosting their commercial position in India.

Indian architects have draw up blueprints for the American exhibition. Covering 100,000 square feet, it will be the biggest foreign exhibit. About three fifths of this will be taken over by the U.S. government for its official display, featuring atomic energy and its peacetime uses. The Radio Corp. of America plans to produce television shows for a closed circuit hookup. India has no television.

Requests for a chance to show their wares at the six-week fair have come from Pan American World Airways, Standard Vacuum Oil Co., International Harvester Co. and Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Russia's 40,000 square feet of space are just across a walk from the American space. Communist China leads the Red bloc with 52,500 square feet.

Prison Escape Ends; Sewer Has Bars, Too

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Three long-term convicts at Southern Michigan Prison seized a stamping plant foreman as hostage last night and tried to escape through a sewer tunnel which had been used by 13 convicts who broke out last December. Since then bars had been installed across the exit. After four hours the convicts, Mike Gisondi, George Patskan and Edward Robinson, came out and meekly surrendered. The foreman, George Clark, was unharmed.

Uttering and Publishing Charge Faces Detroiter

William Bierer, 32, of Detroit, was bound over for Circuit Court arraignment yesterday after he waived examination of an uttering and publishing charge before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy.

Arrested in Detroit Monday by State Police, Bierer is charged with forging a $67 check last July 9. He was released on $500 bond pending appearance Monday in Circuit Court.

Detectives Probing Breakins in Highland

Oakland County Sheriff's detectives today are investigating two breakins reported last night at a Highland Township filling station and an oil products company.

The filling station, located at 10501 Highland Rd., was entered by thieves who forced a rear door and took coins from a soft drink vending machine and a box of cigars.

Offices at the Teggerdine-Highland Petroleum Products Corp. were ransacked and a small desk safe was broken open. Officials said the safe contained no money.

Detroiter Waives Exam on Charge of Breakin

Joseph Lovett, 35, of Detroit, charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime, waived examination when he was arraigned before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle yesterday.

Lovett was bound over for arraignment Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court. He was being held in the county jail on $1,000 bond.

The suspect was arrested by Undersheriff Elmer McQuern for an alleged June 13 breakin at a Commerce Township furniture store.

Red Lumber for Japs

TOKYO (AP)—Japan will get 39,600,000 board feet of Siberian lumber in return for a $1,090,000 repair job on a Soviet freighter. The Shinten Jitsugyo trading firm of Tokyo said today it would pay for the repairs on the 10,000 ship Tyrianian at Hakodate in return for the lumber.

Peron's Police Quiz 2 Bishops

Prelates Ousted From Their Church Posts by Government Decree

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Police questioned two Roman Catholic bishops for hours last night after a government decree ordered them discharged from their church posts.

Early today there was still no word that they had been released.

The two prelates are the Rt. Rev. Manuel Tato, vicar general and auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and the Rt. Rev. Roman Pablo Novoa, canon deacon.

A high Catholic source said it could be presumed they were "detained" but there was no official announcement that they had been arrested.

The decree against them, signed by President Juan Peron and members of his Cabinet, accused the bishops of instigating the disorders which swept the city over the weekend. At least 29 persons were injured in clashes between church supporters and pro-Peron crowds.

The order cited an old Spanish law, dating back to Argentine colonial times, as authorizing the government to oust church authorities held to have violated their duties. Under an agreement with the Vatican, the Argentine government nominates the clergymen from whom the Pope appoints bishops for the country's dioceses.

A high church source said, however, the bishops might be continued in office even though the government has withdrawn its recognition.

Catholicism is the state religion in Argentina but the Peron government is trying to end its privileged position.

Grenade Misses Mark

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam police decided today that a hand grenade which landed on the lawn of a U. S. aid program official actually was intended for the nearby home of a South Viet Nam Cabinet minister.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press June 24.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 15 is published Friday, June 24. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 15

S. T. Bright, an old Harvard and Boston Blue Sox pitching great, and currently a major league scout in the Boston field organization, had spent three weeks in the South scouting a young, converted infielder. The Sox desperately needed another starting pitcher, and if he happened to be the unusual combination of pitcher plus 300 batting average, so much the better. Therefore, the success of Bright's mission was of the utmost importance. He had observed the boy carefully, both on the field and off, and had arrived at an opinion. The lad was attracting attention, so Bright decided that action was imperative and wired the front office. With opposition scouts hanging around the telegraph office, he found it necessary to use a code that he and the club's owner had worked out for such occasions. This involved omitting letters from certain pre-arranged key words. As an enemy scout, can you decipher the message in order to report to your own front office how the Blue Sox scout rated the young prospect?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, June 21. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, June 21 for Bonanzagram No. 15. Address "Bonanzagram, % Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly Bonanzagram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Musical Star Convicted of Trying to Pass for 27

SARZANA, Italy (AP) — Italian musical star Elena Quirici was given a three - month suspended sentence yesterday because she tried to pass for 27.

A local court found her guilty of having changed her identity card to show 1928 as her year of birth.

The original date? The court gallantly didn't say.

Austrian Blind Stage Protest for Benefits

VIENNA (AP) — More than 2,000 blind men and a women staged a silent demonstration in Vienna yesterday asking a monthly pension of 200 Austrian schillings — $7.60—from the government.

Austria pays blind pensions only for persons who lost their eyesight as soldiers or who are unable to work.

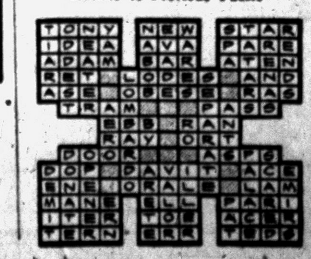
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Versatile Gal Has 7 'Lines'

Fellow Panelists Fail to Recognize Her on 'Masquerade Party'

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Ilka Chase is a panelist on ABC-TV's Masquerade Party, but she'd make a baffling guest for What's My Line on CBS-TV.

The panelists on What's My Line would recognize Miss Chase instantly but they'd have difficulty describing her occupation. Ilka is so versatile she's not even sure herself what definition would be appropriate.

* * *

The saucy, provocative Miss Chase not only is a TV regular, but also is an author of note, a motion picture actress, lecturer and a veteran of stage and radio. And she's a housewife as well—the wife of Dr. Norton Brown, New York physician.

Miss Chase did baffle her own fellow panelists recently. She took a leave of absence to go to Hollywood to appear in the feature film "The Big Knife." When she finished ahead of schedule she was booked on Masquerade Party as a mystery guest.

* * *

Although panelists Ogden Nash, Buff Cobb and Bobby Sherwood sit next to her each week, and Nash lives in the same building and Miss Cobb nearby, they failed to solve her masquerade.

"I wore a long nightgown and nightcap to give them the clue, 'In Bed We Cry,' the title to one of my books," she recalls. "But they were baffled completely and I got the full $300 for my charity."

Heifer Horns In on Quiet Session of TV Viewing

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Douglas Hooper had an uncomfortable feeling that he was being spied upon as he watched a TV show in the supposed privacy of his own living room.

He turned around to be greeted by two big, soulful brown eyes. A calf just happened to be passing in the neighborhood and stopped for a look at the strange goings-on in the lighted box.

* * *

Hooper rushed to his garage, got a length of clothesline for what he thought would be a short calf-roping stunt. It turned out to be a half-mile chase in which he was joined by two policemen. They helped corner the frisky calf in the patio of George Melchoir's home, and it was carted off to the animal shelter to wait for the owner to claim it.

Finds 4-Yolked Egg —One in 28 Million

CHICAGO (AP)—Edward R. England, an egg candler at a poultry products store, stared in amazement at the outlines of an egg he held over the light yesterday. He called the owners of the store.

"I just can't believe it," England said. "I have been dreaming about this all my life."

The owners looked at the egg and saw the shadows of four yolks, the first four-yolk egg England had discovered in candling an estimated 28 million eggs in 26 years. The four yolks were put in the freezer to be used as an exhibit.

The egg was unusually heavy but only slightly larger than normal.

Bob Hope, Gov. Shivers Raise $2,500 for Palsied

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—They got in only 13 holes because of the heat but comedian Bob Hope, Texas Gov. Allan Shivers and a couple of other fellows raised $2,500 for cerebral palsy yesterday.

Hope and his publicist, Bob Bixler, teamed up to play Gov. Shivers and Jimmy Connolly, former Texas amateur champion.

They skipped holes 11 through 16 and ended up all even. Connolly had a 50 for 13 holes, Bixler 55, Hope 57 and the governor 60.

A crowd of 2,500 donated a dollar each.

Judith Anderson Makes Hit in Paris Show

PARIS (AP) — Enthusiastic applause greeted American actress Judith Anderson last night in the first of five performances here on Robinson Jeffers' play "Medea," a New York success after World War II.

The play was another presentation in the American "Salute to France" festival.

A detailed summary in French is furnished those who don't speak English.

Things Getting Crowded as 13th Baby Is Born

HOVE, England (AP)—Things are getting crowded at the home of Mrs. Rachel Dumbrell, a 42-year-old grandmother who gave birth today to her 13th child—a girl.

Mrs. Dumbrell and her husband, Richard, a 49-year-old coal truck driver, live in a four - bedroom house. With them are eight daughters, four sons, a son-in-law and one grandson.

Indonesia Raps Dutch Charges

Denies Torturing Group Arrested in 1953, Claim Subversion

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— The Indonesian government today angrily refuted Dutch charges it has tortured 23 Dutchmen arrested 18 months ago.

A Foreign Ministry statement countered that the Jakarta government would issue its own "white paper" on alleged Dutch subversive activities in Indonesia, until the end of 1949 the Netherlands' biggest and richest possession.

* * *

The Indonesian statement said the Dutch charges made in The Hague Monday "will have no other effect but to increase the bitterness of the Indonesian people and deepen the present ravine between the Netherlands and Indonesia."

The Dutch statement accused Indonesian police of maltreating prisoners and using them as witnesses against others. It said the men were arrested in December 1953 after the extremist Darul Islam movement began agitating in Indonesia for an autonomous Moslem state.

Beekeeper Killed by Dozens of Stings

LOUISVILE, Ky. (AP)—Walter C. Crenshaw, an amateur beekeeper most of his life, was stung to death yesterday.

The 47-year-old service station operator was stung three or four dozen times and died in less than 10 minutes.

* * *

He and his brother-in-law Max Crenshaw, 26, were transferring a swarm from one hive to another when the insects attacked.

Max finally gave up and ran for the house. Walter followed, walking in with bees clinging to him.

* * *

Then, with the help of Walter's wife, the men began killing the bees by smacking them between their hands.

The elder Crenshaw, after telling his wife he couldn't feel the stings, sat down on a bed and collapsed.

Raab Will Head Army

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Chancellor Julius Raab will head the future Austrian army, the cabinet decided today. The army probably will be patterned after those of neutral Sweden and Switzerland.

East Germans Say U.S. Soldier Defected to Reds

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany said today it has granted political asylum to Horst Spanier, identified as a U. S. soldier.

East Berlin newspapers said Spanier was a member of the 12th Infantry Battalion of the 2nd Armored Division. His serial number was listed as RA15 528 280, but his rank and home address were not given.

The newspapers quoted Spanier as saying he left his Army post because he did not want to be a fighter for "American imperialism," and also that he hoped to begin a new life in East Germany.

U. S. Army officials here said a soldier named Horst Spanier has been missing from the 12th Infantry Battalion at Worms, West Germany, since May 8.

Extend Student Pact

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The United States and Norway announced today they have extended their Fulbright Act student Exchange arrangement for another five years.

West Virginia, leading U. S. producer of bituminous coal, accounted for about 30 per cent of the 1954 total production which was 392 million tons.

California Peaches Bring $37.50 Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Residents of this area with a taste for peaches are going to find it an expensive one.

The Federal - State Market News Service today reported first peach crops from California selling for $37.50 a bushel.

The usual price for peaches, the service reported, is $3.50 to $4.50 a bushel for first crops from Georgia and the Carolinas.

The service explained the increase was due to freezing weather which wiped out most peach crops except those in California.

Louisville produce dealer Julius Yetter said the $37.50 price was the highest in his memory.

Okinawans Pay Bills Thanks to U.S. Buying

FT. BUCKNER, Okinawa (AP) — American spending in Okinawa last year enabled the Ryukyuans to pay for 77.4 per cent of their food and other imports, the U.S.-sponsored Ryukyuan government said today.

The report said the Ryukyu economy's largest single income in the year ended March 31 was the $48,454,000 "derived as a direct result of U. S. forces being here."

Honey Helps Hangover Troubles Disappear

NEW YORK (AP) — Honey helps overcome hang-over and sober up the alcoholic, a medical report said today.

Honey contains a form of sugar, Fructose, which promotes metabolism or burning-up of alcohol in the body.

It has a sobering up and sedative effect, corresponding to the effect of vitamin B-6, and the combination of both honey and vitamin has proved helpful in treating alcoholics, Dr. Martha Brunner-Orne writes in the Journal of the American Medical Women's Association.
