3 Die as Heavy Rains Hit Chicago

Officers Think Man Killed Wife Took Own Life

Bodies Found Upright in Chairs With TV Still Operating

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies believe Charles Conlen, 72, of 126 Hemmingway Rd., Lake Orion, murdered his 56-year-old wife Stella with a .22 caliber pump rifle and then took his own life.

The bodies were discovered about 8:45 a.m. by Edward A Burns, of 229 E. Jackson St., owner of the Conlen home, according to deputies.

The shootings apparently happened last night before dark since no lights were found on in the house.

Deputy Carl E. Raymond said the bodies were found approximately seven feet apart, both sitting in chairs, facing a still operating television set.

The gun was found between Conlen's legs.

Neighbors told deputies they heard the couple arguing about 6:30 p.m.

Deputy Lyle R. Gillespie said the couple were also seen before noon yesterday and acted normal. Conlen had just finished painting their house.

No signs of a struggle were found by deputies.

Four empty and two full shells were found scattered about the living room floor.

Conlen was reported to have a son in the Navy and a daughter, by a previous marriage. Mrs. Conlen also had three daughters although the couple lived alone.

Neighbors also reported he had been ill with a bad heart condition.

Beck and Son Charged With Grand Larceny

Teamster Boss Calls Indictment From Jury 'Simply Ridiculous'

SEATTLE (AP)—The King County Grand Jury yesterday indicted Teamster President Dave Beck and his son, Dave Beck Jr., on charges of grand larceny of union funds.

The rotund president of the nation's biggest union quickly surrendered for routine booking, mugging and fingerprinting, posted $3,000 bond and called a press conference to denounce the action as "simply ridiculous."

Dave Junior went through the ritual, too, but didn't attend the conference at which his dad said he spoke for both.

Today, after saying there was not "a chance in a million" he would be convicted, Beck left on a tour of the nation which will take him to a half dozen union meetings around the country.

The elder Beck, the jurors charged, kept for his own use $1,900 received for a union-owned Cadillac. Junior, the jurors declared in two separate indictments, kept $4,650 from the sale of two other Teamster Cadillacs.

"It isn't so," said the father indignantly in a press conference called in his plush offices in a new Western Conference of Teamsters office building, not "by the wildest stretch of the imagination."

Certainly, he said, the money from the sale of the three automobiles had found its way into his own bank account or safe where he keeps "large amounts of cash." His secretary put them there by error, Beck explained.

But, he said emphatically, the money was returned to the union "as soon as I returned from a business trip and found out the error had been made."

Dave Junior, the father said, was "acting only as my agent. He had nothing to do with the final disposal of the money in any way, shape nor form." Besides, the union president said, "Dave turned all of the money over to the union. He didn't keep a cent."

Maximum penalty for grand larceny is 15 years in prison.

Governor Heads Dem Guest List at Sunday Picnic

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will head a list of 19 state Democratic leaders expected at a fund-raising affair tomorrow at the home of Pontiac State Representative Leslie H. Hudson, 361 Galogly Rd., on Lake Angelus.

Tickets for the 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. session are priced at $2.50, with profits to be used in building up the Oakland County Democratic Committee's financial resources for next year's elections.

The governor is expected to be on hand from noon to 3 p.m. State Democrats have named Sunday as Gov. G. Mennen Williams Day for the occasion.

A buffet dinner will be served from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

Included in the guests will be all members of the State Administrative Board, four members of the State Supreme Court and the chairman and vice chairman of the State Central Committee.

U. of M. Reveals Dearborn Plans

New Campus to Have 5 Buildings When Opened in 1959, Regents Told

DEARBORN (AP) — A beautiful new University of Michigan campus will blossom here during the next two years on the well-landscaped estate of the late Henry Ford.

The university's regents met yesterday for the first time at the Fair Lane estate of the automotive baron. They were told what the Dearborn branch would look like in September of 1959 when it is scheduled to open.

The university was presented with 210 acres of the estate and $6,500,000 from the Ford Motor Co. last December to provide for the new campus.

At the outset, it will have four buildings in addition to Fair Lane, the 43-year-old Ford mansion, explained Dr. Harold M. Dorr, U. of M.'s dean of statewide education.

He said 1,685 students would be accommodated on campus while an additional 1,085 would be taking "on-the-job" courses at various nearby business and industrial firms.

The program at Dearborn will be for juniors, seniors and graduate students in engineering, business administration and liberal arts.

The program will be cooperative, Dorr said. The students will take a work-study program. They will intern in business or industry for three months and attend classes for another three months.

Violent Winds, Hail Damaging

Downpour Worst in 72 Years; 50 Are Injured; Many Homes Flooded

CHICAGO (INS) — Chicago, crippled by from six to 10 inches of rain, bailed out today from a torrential downpour — one of its heaviest in 72 years —which left at least three dead, 50 injured and millions of dollars in damage.

And more rain is on the way to add to the troubles of the nation's second largest city which reeled under the impact of violent winds, lightning and hail that accompanied the rain, disrupting traffic and tearing down hundreds of communications and power lines.

The deluge came from a concentrated cloud formation that seemed to hover over the city from 2 p.m. yesterday until early this morning when the rain finally ended. The storm began after the area had safely passed a tornado alert.

The downpour then moved 70

Aga Khan's Grandson Hailed as Successor

GENEVA (AP)—Aga Khan IV, a handsome 20-year-old Harvard University senior, mounted a white satin throne on the lawn of his family's lakeside villa today and received the homage of his kneeling religious followers.

"My religious responsibilities begin as of today," said the new spiritual head of 20 million Ismaili Moslems.

It was the first time such a ceremony had taken place in Western Europe.

The old Aga Kahn bypassed his two sons to name his grandson, Prince Karim, as his successor. The will of Aga Khan III, made public last night, designated handsome 6-foot Karim.

The late Aga's body lay in a room immediately above the lawn where his successor received loyalty pledges. Household sources said the body would lie in state next Thursday and Friday and be flown to Aswan, Egypt, Saturday for burial.

Behind the group, peeking throught a curtain from the window of the room where the old Aga died, was the late ruler's widow, the begum. Tears streamed down her face. When photographers approached she wrapped herself in the folds of the curtain.

The Aga Khan III's sons, Prince Aly and Prince Sadruddin, will share in their father's immense estates. Aly, 46, is the new Aga's father and Sadruddin, 24, his uncle.

Aly Khan appeared pleased at the decision. Sadruddin seemed in a pettish mood, forcing his sports car through a crowd of reporters, blowing his horn violently and driving off at high speed after the selection became known.

The old Aga, 79, died Thursday in his Swiss villa. He had reigned for 71 years, since he was 8. In his will he said he was picking Karim as his successor because he believed a young man brought up during the atomic age should take over the post.

The new Aga is one of Aly Khan's two sons by his first marriage to Joan Barbara Yarde-Buller, daughter of a British baron and ex-wife of a British brewing heir. His half-sister is Princess Yasmin, 7-year-old daughter of Aly and his

City Under 'Attack' as Part of Nationwide CD Test

While the rest of Pontiac hustled to lunch in its usual carefree manner yesterday, key Civil Defense officials huddled and prepared for possible "annihilation" of the city.

This was all part of "Operation Alert 1957" to test the state and nation's preparedness for an enemy air attack.

A call came into Assistant Civil Defense Director Robert A. Stierer's desk at 11:14 declaring "Exercise Checkerboard" in effect.

The 24 assembled represented all city departments, including police, fire, the city hospital, and the American Red Cross.

About three minutes after the initial alert, the State Police Civil Defense network reported "fakers" (enemy bombers) over Canada. They were expected to be over Detroit in two-and-a-half hours.

When would they drop a nuclear bomb on Pontiac? Stierer and CD director Walter K. Willman gathered to make plans.

There was neither blaring of the city's CD sirens, nor public participation. Most people were unaware of the test.

WILLMAN DELIGHTED

Willman expressed delight with the "paper exercise." "I am very encouraged to know that our department heads have put some se-

Fallout Hinders 'Rescue' Work

Mock H-Bomb Alert Called 'Successful' by CD Officials

NEWSPOINT, Operation Alert (INS)—Deadly radioactivity theoretically blanketed vast areas of the U. S. today to hinder recovery work and add to the uncounted millions supposedly killed in make-believe H-bomb raids yesterday on more than 153 key targets.

"Operation Alert 1957" without doubt dealt the nation its severest simulated disaster, but government and Civil Defense officials said it was "too early" to say whether this year's elaborate test of survival measures was a success.

The most optimistic report in the wake of yesterday's assumed rain of death and destruction from "enemy aircraft" was an official claim of "countless lives saved as a result of Civil Defense precautions resulting from many months of long-range planning."

Virtually all major U. S. cities were considered hit, along with at least two atomic energy installations, a number of military bases, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the Panama Canal Zone.

A number of cities were reported "destroyed" but the extent of assumed casualties and damage was undetermined in most areas.

CASUALTIES HIGH

Preliminary casualty estimates indicated 2,339,012 were killed in New York and 2,261,238 injured. Chicago reported 256,100 dead and 232,150 injured.

Supposed "enemy" attacks were reported from 44 states and the District of Columbia. Only Nevada,

RESCUE CRAFT — Oakland County sheriff's deputies are proud of their new life saving equipment. Thomas W. Jackson Jr., deputy skin diving specialist (left), and Donald K. Kratt, assistant deputy boat livery inspector, show off the departments' new rescue boat and oxygen tank. Whenever a drowning or possible drowning is reported, Jackson dons fins, goggles and the tank, which enables him to remain underwater for long periods searching for victims. The sleek, new boat will be of great help in getting men and life saving equipment to the scene of an accident rapidly, according to Kratt. It is sturdy and capable of withstanding the roughest weather conditions, and can be easily transported to accident areas.

Morning's Shower Tops Soggy Week

The weather man added finishing touches to a thoroughly soggy week last night as nearly an inch (.85) of rain pelted the city.

From 4 a.m. Monday morning until 8 a.m. this morning 5.33 inches of rain had fallen in this area. The normal precipitation figure for the entire month of July is 2.57 inches.

Tonight's outlook is clearing and cooler, low 60 to 64.

Tomorrow will be fair and pleasant with a high near 78.

In an extended weather outlook the U. S. Weather Bureau has reported that temperatures will average near or slightly above the normal 84 high and normal 63 low for the next four days.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 68. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 80.

GMC Family Day Well Attended

Picnic Ignores Weather

The picnic is set in a sports theme with a 2 p.m. demonstration by woman professional golfer Patty Berg included in the agenda.

Tooth Decay Drops After Fluoridation

CHICAGO—During 1956 scientific proof of the "effectiveness and safety of fluoridation in reducing tooth decay" was apparent, according to the 1957 Britannica Book of the Year.

About a 60 per cent decline of tooth decay in children was reported in Grand Rapids, Mich., Newburgh, N. Y., and Brantford, Ontario, after putting fluoridation to a 10-year test and in Evanston, Ill., after 8½ years.

By last October some 29,000,000 Americans in 1,300 communities were drinking fluoridated water. Two large cities, Chicago and Cleveland, started fluoridating their municipal water supplies during 1956.

Clinton Valley Boys Busy at Valley Forge

Feathers and Frogs Good Trading Material for Scouts

By JOE HAAS

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. — Here, on this historic sanctuary of American patriotism, the fourth National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America, is under way. It closes next Friday.

In the 1,500 acres of Valley Forge Memorial Park and much added territory are between 50,000 and 60,000 of the youth of our nation. It's the largest such get-together ever held.

This jamboree takes place every four years, the last held on a big ranch near Los Angeles. The one previous to that was also at Valley Forge.

The Clinton Valley contingent, which left home Sunday, arrived here yesterday, after sightseeing stops at Washington, New York City and other points, and soon had their camp set up for the night.

Many of the boys brought along plenty of trading material, including arrow heads and other relics quite common to their own state. Swapping is brisk, but will not reach a high point until next week.

PONTIAC'S OWN

One lad has a collection of brightly-colored feathers which he says came from Chief Pontiac's own headpiece. His first swap was with a South Dakota boy for a feather from the headpiece of Chief Sitting Bull.

Live frogs from Oakland County swamps are offered for horned toads from the Southwest, with plenty of takers from that area.

In the shadow of huts where Washington and his army spent that winter of 1777-78, anybody can tell you where the boys from Clinton Valley Council are tented.

They have such an outstanding entrance that it dominates the camp ground for a mile around. Everyone has heard of Pontiac (the chief, car or city), and the boys and visitors at this Jamboree will never forget it.

MAP OF MICHIGAN

The Clinton Valley gateway is 15x30 feet in size, with a large map of Michigan made of tube steel, with metal screening as its cover. Pictures showing special places of interest and the official painting of Chief Pontiac are a highlight of the area.

No other council camp on the entire grounds attracts more attention. Clinton Valley is a magnet, not only for people from our own area and state, but also from the entire nation. The Pontiac Kiwanis Club had much to do with making this display possible.

And much of the credit for the businesslike manner in which the Clinton Valley boys were booked goes to Mason Case, former council president, and his committee.

They went after the thing last autumn and by February had the council's quota all booked. Each of the boys had then made the initial deposit for the trip and have since completed the payment of the required $175, most of the scouts earning this amount themselves.

The boys are divided into two troops. Jack Bell of Pontiac is in charge of one troop, with Albert Lyon of Pontiac and Floyd L. Cobb Jr. of Rochester his assistants. The other troop is under the guidance of William Genette of Milford, with N. Reid Graham of Pontiac and E. B. Sherrick of Orchard Lake assisting.

Revamping Due on Grid Set-Up

School Board Change Would Abolish League, Widen Participation

A complete revamping of the city's junior high school football program was recommended at Thursday night's Board of Education meeting.

The proposal was made by the principals of the city's five junior highs.

LEAGUE DOOMED

Abolished would be the Junior High League, which consisted of one team representing each school. In its place would be a program allowing general participation in the game by all interested students.

Emphasis would be placed, the principals explained, on "the teaching of skills to everybody."

NEW CLASSIFICATION

Boys would compete with others of an equal development level, and would be classified by age, weight and height. Teams would compete in divisions both with teams from the same school and others in the system.

The principals urged a minimum of two teams in a classification from each school.

Automobile Pioneer Dies in Flint Home

FLINT (INS) — Funeral services will be held Monday in Flint for automotive pioneer Fred A. Aldrich, 95, who rose from a clerk's job to become one of this city's wealthiest men.

In retirement since 1933, Mr. Aldrich died yesterday in his Flint home.

He worked as a printer's assistant at his father's weekly newspaper in Flint and then joined W. C. Durant and J. Dallas Dort in the carriage business.

Mr. Aldrich was credited with suggesting that Durant be hired to reorganize Buick when it moved from Jackson to Flint in 1904, himself staying with Dort as treasurer of the Dort Motor Car Co. until 1924.

He then served on the board of the Genesee County Savings Bank until 1933.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

In this, the hurricane season, it is well to review the history of weather forecasting in past hurricanes. The record shows these monster storms have quite often fooled officials.

Their center cannot be tracked constantly in many areas for several reasons. First, the bureau doesn't get enough barometer readings from a large enough area fast enough. That is still the best way to tell where the center of the storm is at the moment.

Another factor which makes it hard for forecasters to say where the storm center will be hours or days ahead is the tendency of hurricanes to suddenly alter course, or change speed. Several along the east coast in recent years have changed both speed and course while only a short distance off the coast—where they were first expected to strike.

Weather bureau officials sometimes get behind the storm, as in the case of the east coast hurricane which officials were saying was in North Carolina a couple of years ago on the very day the storm was approaching New York. It had veered northward and picked up speed and left the weather bureau trackers far behind.

Visits to Converts Set

Graham Plans Follow-up to New York Crusading

NEW YORK (AP)—Definite plans for an intensive follow-up program to Billy Graham's New York Crusade were announced at the evangelist's Madison Square Garden services last night.

Graham said that from Oct. 20 to 27, regular church members will visit those who have made "decisions for Christ" at the Garden or at one of his outdoor meetings. People who come forward during such services sign special cards which are referred to local churches for immediate follow-up if possible.

Dr. Jesse Bader, formerly head of evangelism for the National Council of Churches, will be the chairman of the visitation program.

The climax of the week will be the return of Graham and his entire evangelism team to New York Oct. 27, for services at the Polo Grounds.

Last night, out of a crowd of 18,000 persons, 805 came forward to show their willingness to accept Christ. It was one of the largest responses since the New York Crusade began May 15.

Graham took his text from the story in Luke 14: 16-24, of the man who prepared a great feast and invited a number of people to it, only to find that "they all with one consent began to make excuse."

The 38-year-old preacher told his audience that the excuses made then have their parallels in modern man's excuses for avoiding God. Some people, he said are too busy and some place some other person before the Lord.

An example of the latter, he said, is the man who claimed he couldn't go to the feast because "I have married a wife."

Graham said to a roar of laughter from his audience that he thought "this man is the only one who really had an excuse."

Shooting Charge Dropped by Police

The attempted murder charge against a 37-year-old housewife, who confessed she had shot her husband four times during an argument April 7, has been dismissed by the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

Detective Sgt. Allen Noble, Pontiac Police, said the assault with intent to murder charge against Mrs. Mattie M. Woods, of 604 Howland Ave., was dropped after her husband, Howard, 43, refused to press charges.

Woods was wounded three times in the foot and once in the abdomen with a .22 rifle, according to Police. He had been on the critical list at Pontiac General Hospital for several days following the shooting.

Senator in Hospital From Too Much Heat

Green, 89-year-old chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, lost consciousness briefly yesterday, but later he walked into the hospital without assistance.

"It was just heat exhaustion," one of Green's aides said. "The doctors say his condition is very satisfactory. He'll be in the hospital for two or three days of rest —if he'll stay that long."

Detroit Sportsman Dies of Tumor

DETROIT (AP)—William T. Fisher, 44, son of a founder of the Fisher Body Corp., died yesterday after being hospitalized since February with a brain tumor.

His father, Charles T. Fisher, was a General Motors Corp. vice president and a director of the National Bank of Detroit.

The younger Fisher was a well-known Detroit sportsman.

He is survived by his widow, Margaret, four daughters and a son.

Await Decision on Newsreels

Judge Studying Films to Determine Eligibility for Clinton Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — U.S. district Judge Robert L. Taylor was studying three newsreel films today, preparatory to deciding whether the government may use them in the trial of the "Clinton 15" and John Kasper, fiery New Jersey Segregationist.

Not all of what the films contain has been disclosed. But it appeared that defense attorneys were fighting hard to keep the all-white jury from seeing them. By agreement, they said, lawyers on both sides declined to discuss this point.

Taylor saw the newsreels in his chambers after yesterday's session of the trial — the last until Monday — ended. Attorneys were closeted with him more than an hour.

When they came out, they said only that the judge would rule on the admissibility of the pictures "at a subsequent date."

Riots flared in Clinton, a pleasant little town near Knoxville, when Negro students were admitted to the high school last autumn. National guardsmen, tanks, and state police were called to restore order.

Whether the newsreels show scenes of this is not known. Some of the pictures were made when Kasper was tried and convicted of contempt of court.

The 15 Tennesseans, including a 19-year-old housewife who is pregnant, are on trial for criminal contempt, charged with knowingly violating Taylor's injunction against interference with the desegregating of the high school in Clinton.

The trial has lasted a full week and the end is nowhere in sight.

Had he asked his grandfather about it?

"No, I haven't—yet," David replied thoughtfully.

A British subject, Karim is of Persian and Italian descent through his father and English through his mother. He has dated French film starlet Anne Marie Mersen, but otherwise has not shown as much interest as his father, uncle and grandfather in fast cars, race horses and beautiful women.

Karim was a member of the freshman soccer team in 1954. He often skiied at Stowe, Vt., and on fair days was frequently seen rowing on the Charles River. One of his professors called him "an intelligent, serious and charming, but rather shy boy." He is working toward a bachelor of arts degree, specializing in Middle East history.

Man Almost Loses Arm in Accident

A Pontiac Motor Company foreman's arm was almost severed this morning when his auto was involved in an accident with a Waterford Township dump truck.

Pontiac Patrolman Thomas Larrison reports the truck driver, Joseph LaBarge, 28, of 1267 Woodlow St., told police he attempted to drive to the shoulder when he saw Lightfoot's auto coming towards him on the wrong side of the road at a high rate of speed.

Lightfoot's auto struck the side of the truck and he was thrown three feet from the auto, Police added.

The accident happened about 8:35 a.m. on Golf Drive near the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course.

LANSING (AP) — John B. Martin of Grand Rapids was elected Republican national committeeman from Michigan today at a special meeting of the Republican State Central Committee.

Martin won by a 52-14 vote over William B. Cudlip, Detroit attorney, after the names of the two candidates were submitted to the full committee by the executive committee.

He succeeds Clifford O'Sullivan of Port Huron, who resigned after being nominated by President Eisenhower for a federal judgeship in the Southeastern Michigan District.

Ludwig to Battle Elvis for Youngsters' Support

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A special concert for the younger set is coming up at famed Robin Hood Dell Wednesday night and the juniors are going to hear music composed by a man who was really the most—Ludwig Von Beethoven.

And as if to make it plain that adulation these days is not all for crooners, rock 'n' roll bands and gyrating guitarists, the sponsors will hand out thousands of free buttons, big ones proclaiming, "I like Ludwig."

Missing Porch Light Leaves Driver Ditched

George W. Biggs, 29, of 2527 Frankson St., Rochester, told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies he drove his auto into a ditch while attempting to enter his driveway last night because his neighbor moved a porch light.

'Fairly Strong' Earth Shock Recorded in East

NEW YORK (AP) — A "fairly strong" earth shock 4,200 miles from here was picked up last night on the Fordham University seismograph.

The first shock was at 9:09:4 and the second at 9:18:18 p. m.

miles southwest and hit Kankakee, Ill. Torrential rains in that city isolated the community and forced more than 1,000 families to leave their homes.

Suburban areas of Chicago also were hard hit, especially Wheeling, where 90 persons were taken by skiffs and boats from 30 flooded homes. A dozen other families from Northlake, Downers Grove and other sections of Aldo had to leave their flooded homes.

The official rainfall in Chicago for the 12 hour period in which the city was "flooded" by rain was 5.49 inches.

But for the 24 hour period ending at midnight it was 6.11 inches, just shy of the all-time record of 6.19 inches that came down during Aug. 2 and 3 in 1885.

Midway Airport was crippled by the storm. Operations ceased at "the world's busiest airport" and some 10,000 travelers were stranded. Some of them waded ankle-deep in waiting rooms of the major airlines seeking air transportation out of the city.

It may be several hours before the field can resume normal operations. At least five inches of rain flooded the airport's communication room, severing a cable and cutting off teletype and radio communications.

Officials foresaw a mammoth mopping-up job.

Most underpasses throughout the city were flooded. At least 10,000 basements were reported inundated. But one major north-south artery, the Outer Drive, has been opened to traffic after being flooded throughout the night. The new Congress St. superhighway, however, still is flooded and will not be usable for some time.

Fifty persons were injured during the storm when high winds collapsed the Drury Lane Summer Theater's canvas tent in Evergreen Park. None of the injured, taken to Little Company of Mary Hospital, was hurt seriously. But 11 were hospitalized.

More than 250 persons were in the tent watching when the tent came crashing down. None of the cast was injured.

The tent, costing $10,000, was a total loss and theater officials, who said it would take six weeks to order another one, said Drury Lane would be discontinued for the summer.

The rainfall posed a flood threat in Chicago's loop that finally was halted early today when the rain stopped.

The sanitary district opened flood gates at Lockport to ease the flood threat to basement's of downtown buildings. The level of the Chicago River rose six feet in places and the sanitary district reversed the flow of the river into Lake Michigan to stem the rising flood tide.

Meanwhile, a tornado struck at Cedar Lake, Ind., just east of the Illinois-Indiana border. The Cedar Lake Airport hangar was demolished and five planes inside it destroyed. Some of the planes were blown from the wrecked hangar onto U. S. 41, blocking traffic. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — The trouble-beset atomic test explosion known as "Diablo" has been postponed 24 hours again because of weather.

Seek Substitute for Rights Bill

Tuesday Vote Scheduled on Motion to Bring Measure Before Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said today he is consulting with Republican and Democratic senators in an effort to devise a substitute for the administration's civil rights bill.

Meanwhile, the Senate was called into an early Saturday session for a sixth day of debate on the hotly-disputed legislation.

Supporters of the House-passed measure cleared a first hurdle late yesterday, however, when no objection was raised to voting Tuesday on a motion to bring the bill up for action in the Senate.

The unanimous consent agreement on the voting date was worked out by Senate GOP Leader Knowland (Calif), Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex), and Sen. Russell (D-Ga), quarterback of the Southern foes of the bill.

The agreement does not foreclose the possibility of a filibuster against the bill. Southerners still can try to talk it to death later.

While the Senate appeared certain to adopt Knowland's motion, Gore said in an interview that "I don't believe there are 10 senators left who want the bill as it stands."

Unlike most Southern senators, who have expressed opposition to any kind of civil rights bill, Gore said he favored a compromise measure guaranteeing voting rights and creating a commission to study civil rights problems.

The administration measure, passed by the House last month, would give the attorney general authority to obtain federal court injunctions to prevent violations or threatened violations of voting and other civil rights. Violators of injunctions could be cited for contempt of court, without a jury trial.

Two Area Golfers Advance in State

It took a two-hole playoff by defending champion Glenn Johnson to eliminate 16-year-old Pete Green of Birmingham from State Amateur Golf tournament yesterday.

Green blew a three foot putt on the 18th which would have won the hole for him.

Lloyd Syron of Pontiac defeated Vic Cuiss of Jackson 2 and 1. He clinched it with a birdie two on the 17th hole.

Another area golfer, Art Olfs Jr. of Birmingham, dumped Ralph Ellstrom from Dearborn 3 and 2 to enter the quarter-final round today.

Automatic Piloting Makes Life Dangerous

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ever wonder about those secretive chats the airline stewardesses have when they meet in the aisle?

Caskie Stinnett, author and Holiday Magazine editor, said today that a high-flying friend finally found out what so engrossed the girls.

His friend told him that by chance he was close enough to hear one stewardess say to another: "Watch yourself if you have to take anything up front. They've got the automatic pilot on."

Detroiters Still Jokers

DETROIT (INS) — West Side Detroit residents, taunted by six weeks of intermittent flooding, have not lost their sense of humor.

The Day in Birmingham

Tells of Expansion Plans for Crowded Post Office

BIRMINGHAM — Although no construction date has been named an announcement this week brightens the future for postal workers at the Birmingham office.

One of the county's largest, the local office serves Birmingham and parts of Troy, along with areas in Southfield, Bloomfield and West Bloomfield Townships. It covers an area of some 70 square miles.

Future plans include a new basement, a driveway extension and more lock boxes. The present building space has been woefully inadequate for some time.

Crowded facilities have made the details of the normal work day inefficient and costly, Congressman William S. Broomfield commented as he announced expansion plans.

Broomfield added that a construction priority number would be assigned the local office and the work "begun as soon as funds are available."

He has described the local need as "urgent."

The current season of the Birmingham Community House draws into its final stages ready for the July 31 to Sept. 3 vacation period.

Mrs. Ettie Schaffer, director, said August will see the customary work program of setting the house in order for its fall and winter activity.

The Mary Griffith Lounge on the second floor started last year will be completed in its renovation. Offices will be redecorated and a number of badly-needed folding chairs will be obtained.

The rains continue to fall and Birmingham continues to patiently mop up.

Ground saturation has reached the point where many residents are experiencing damp basements for the first time. But cases of serious flooding have remained low.

No damage was reported from the severe electrical storm which struck the area early last night.

City Is Attacked in National CD Test

rious thought behind this problem," he said.

Officials were asked to present a written report next week on what steps their personnel theoretically took a waiting the "raid."

Plans were based on the city's new Civil Defense and Natural Disaster Plan, which is nearly ready for final City Commission acceptance.

The speed with which officials responded to the alert resulted from a chain telephone system set up in the plan.

There were many questions aired yesterday in the exercise, the first real one by the city. Another city wide test is called for in the plan.

STAY AT YOUR JOB

How to discourage city personnel from forsaking their jobs to aid their families in an attack, was asked.

A family training program to stress responsibility of the city employes, plus care of women and children left alone, received general approval.

What to do with evacuees from Detroit and other communities to the south was brought up also.

Traffic control and dispersion of city emergency vehicles was not forgotten.

At noon, Willman reported to Michigan Civil Defense headquarters the state of city preparedness in the exercise. Plans were based on no mass evacuation from Pontiac, he reported.

Means of warning the general public besides sirens were discussed.

Answers to many of the questions are expected in evaluation of the Departmental reports and use of the disaster plan.

Ike, Pakistani Chief Jointly Rap Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Suhrawardy of Pakistan said today international communism continues to be a "major threat" to the security of the free world.

In a joint statement, the two leaders expressed determination to support and strengthen collective security systems in Asia and the Middle East.

The statement referred to Pakistan's long-standing dispute with India over Kashmir.

Eisenhower expressed hope that the disagreement would be solved "speedily, equitably and permanently in accordance with the principles of the United Nations."

The statement was issued as the Pakistani Prime Minister made ready to fly West aboard an Air Force plane for a 10-day sightseeing tour. He has conferred with Eisenhower and other U. S. officials the last three days.

MRS. MADELINE SCOTT

Service will be at 3 p.m. Monday from St. James Episcopal Church for Mrs. Madeline Scott, who died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital. Arrangements are being made by Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Mrs. Scott made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Irving B. Babcock of Lone Pine road, Bloomfield Hills.

Two other daughters, Mrs. George S. Salisbury, and Mrs. Warren S. Hillis, both of Illinois, survive. There are also three grandchildren.

CD 'Rescue' Work Hampered by Fallout

Arkansas, Louisiana and Idaho had not reported any bomb strikes by this morning.

At Lansing, state and Federal Civil Defense officials agreed today that Michigan's participation in "Operation Alert, 1957" was "generally successful."

State CD Director Ralph Sheehan said at least 207,000 state residents were "killed" and another 98,000 were "injured" in simulated nuclear bomb attacks on Detroit, Mount Clemens and Bay City.

Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Muskegon, Lansing, Flint and Jackson "escaped enemy planes and were not bombed."

DETROIT HIT

A mock two megation surface hydrogen bomb hit Detroit's west side at 2:03 p.m. EST yesterday theoretically leveling a 17.2 square mile area. Local CD officers said 500,000 Detroiters would have been "killed" if an on-paper evacuation had not occurred.

The mock enemy attack on Detroit destroyed the entire area bounded by Southfield on the West, Van Dyke on the East, the Detroit River on the South and as far North as Eight Mile road. The make-believe bomb exploded at Grand River and Livernois.

Security for You

Social Security Questions, Answers

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From Mrs. N. C. of Washington, D. C.: "I've been working for the U.S. government for nearly 15 years. During the past 18 months, my health has been slipping. Please tell me under what conditions a federal worker may retire for disability."

You must have completed at least five years of civilian employment and you must have become totally disabled for useful and efficient service in your position. You need not be disabled for all kinds of work, however.

From B. B. Lansing, Mich.: "My brother was not divorced, but he was separated from his wife for nearly nine years before he died in April. He did send her money every month. I paid for his burial, but the local Social Security office has paid his wife the lump sum death payment. Shouldn't I have received this money?"

No. The lump sum is paid to the surviving wife—even though she had separated from her husband — if her husband was contributing to her support.

From H. W. of St. Petersburg, Fla.: "About three months ago, I read one of your columns about government pensions for World War I veterans. I applied for one and have just been notified it has been granted. I also was told that the amount would be $66.15 a month. From your column I got the impression I was eligible for $78.75. Am I right? I'm 67."

"You're right. The rates are: $66.15 a month for veterans under 65, unless they've been getting the pension for 10 years; $78.75 a month for veterans who are 65 or over or who have been drawing a pension for more than 10 years. Since you're over 65, you should be receiving $78.75 a month. I suggest you get in touch with the office which notified you that you were eligible for a pension and ask to have the amount corrected.

From T.P.D. of Albany, N.Y.: "I'm nearly 74 and am still working. I began to draw $79.10 a month in Social Security payments at 72. How much Social Security can I draw if I quit work next January?"

Your payments can be increased only if your salary is higher now than when you first filed for Social Security. If your salary is higher, I suggest you get in touch with the local Social Security office.

From H.T.B. of San Bernardino, Calif.: "My wife and I both work. When we retire at 65, does she get her own Social Security if I'm drawing mine or does she only get an amount equal to half of my payments?"

Your wife's benefits will be figured both on her own wage record and on yours. If she waits until she is 65 to retire, her benefits as a wife will be one-half of yours. If her own payments based on her own earnings exceed a wife's payments, she will draw only her own, not both. If her own payments are less than the one-half she would receive as a wife, she'll draw her own payments, plus an amount as your wife, to bring the total up to one-half of your benefit rate.

Public Divided on Rezoning

City Council to Decide Issue on Mooney Street Changes

FARMINGTON—A public hearing on the rezoning of Mooney street filled the Municipal Court room Thursday night and left residents standing in the hall.

After considerable discussion, residents appeared to be almost evenly divided in opinion. Many persons agreed with the planning commission that Mooney, the short street which lies between Grand River and Shiawasee just west of Orchard Lake road would be better suited to commercial than to residential development.

Others thought that commercial building in that area should be limited to the Farmington Plaza Shopping Center, now under construction there.

One resident remarked, following the meeting, "We know we need schools and we know we need stores, but all of us seem to want them somewhere else."

Final decision on the matter will be made by the city council in the near future.

Gloria Heath Marries in Romeo

ROMEO—The Lyle C. Enrights have returned from their wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells and northern Michigan after their recent marriage in the First Baptist Church here. They are now temporarily residing at 158 Turner St.

Mrs. Enright, the former Gloria Magdalene Heath, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman D. Heath, 370 Chandler St. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Enright of Armada.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, the Rev. L. Jerome Heath of Kalamazoo, with local church pastor, the Rev. E. E. Redman also officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin-back crystalete fashioned with Chantilly lace bodice and matching lace panel to the floor in front. Seed pearls and sequins were used to accent the detailing of lace.

A half hat of Chantilly lace frosted with sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. Stephanotis and white roses entwined with ivy formed the floral cross which she carried.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. L. Jerome Heath of Kalamazoo. Bridesmaids were the two sisters of the bridegroom, Sandra Enright of Armada and Mrs. Donald LeFever of Utica.

Assisting his brother as best man was James Enright of Armada. Ushers were Wesley James Stewart of Pontiac, cousin of the bride, and Donald LeFever of Utica, the bridegroom's brother-in-law.

The reception for over 200 guests was held in the church parlors after the ceremony.

Too Small to Be Alone

Dr. Will Mayo, one of the great surgeons of all time, made this statement: "No man is big enough to be independent of others." That man, at the top of his profession, was dependent upon others to maintain his status.

One selfish man can destroy a baseball team. Every soldier is dependent upon the man next to him. Big, big business is dependent upon individuals and each and all of them are dependent upon each other. Our telephones function smoothly; the operator puts through a call quickly; a lineman strung wire, repairmen kept equipment in tip-top condition—it was team work. But a doctor seems remote from dependence upon others. Is he? His training came from other successful doctors. He studies the techniques of other successful surgeons. What could he do without his anathesist, nurses, pharmacist?

ROMEO—A duo-harpsichord concert, scheduled for 4 p.m. Sunday in the Albert O. West home, 261 Church St., will be the second in a series of musical benefit teas, sponsored by the Community Chorus this summer.

It will feature selections played by two talented area musicians, Norman Scheck of Romeo and Phillip Steinhaus of Pontiac.

Parable of Talents to Be Put in Practice

The congregation of First Methodist Church will be putting into practice the parable of the talents given by Jesus years ago, when $1,000 is distributed in $10 bills Sunday morning.

The stewardship and finance committee will offer the money to members with their promise to pay back the amount plus the profits realized by Sept. 8.

The Rev. Paul T. Hart, pastor, will preach on "Invest Your Talents."

The committee members stated the following: "Invest this money in some way in which it will earn more money for the Kingdom of God. Try to invest it in some unusual way. This is one phase of our financial planning in accomplishing the total goal of our building program."

At the close of the period when the grand total is announced, each one will be asked to tell the story of his earnings.

Sets Summer Hours

The Waterford Township library, located in the Community Activities building on Williams Lake road, will be open only on Wednesday evenings from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. during July and August according to librarian Mrs. Kenneth Valentine.

The library will be open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, unofficially, during the two months, as the Cancer Society uses the room, and the same women are active in both projects, Mrs. Valentine said.

More than 5,000 books are registered in the township library, which is operated entirely by volunteer workers.

U.S. Coal Industry Making Comeback

After dropping to 392 million tons in 1953, coal production last year rose to 500 million.

The basic problem of the industry is the mounting competition from oil and natural gas. Through mergers, development of new mines, closing of inefficient ones and research, mining costs have been sharply reduced.

Average daily individual production increased from three to four tons in 1947 to between 10 and 11 tons at the present time. This is due to more highly mechanized mines. As a result labor costs in relation to mine prices dropped and the market price of coal held at 1948 levels.

Since then miner's wages have gone up from $14.05 a day to $21.45. Welfare fund payments have doubled from 20 to 40 cents a ton and vacation pay increased from $100 to $220.

The road ahead is still rough. Foreign markets are uncertain and oil and natural gas continue to gain in the heating field. Atomic development, too, is a serious threat in the power production industry.

But the coal industry deserves credit for the way it has met the threat to its place in our economy.

Our Waving Fields of the Golden Grain

The summer breezes are converting our wheat fields into billowy seas that wave and beckon to you from the countryside.

Nothing in any landscape can be more uniformly beautiful. We still have much of these masterpieces of nature in the Pontiac area.

But you must get off the main highways to see them. They've been driven to the side roads.

Our great growth finds residences, mercantile places or industrial plants now on the sites of where many farmers once tilled the soil.

For instance, Royal Oak once was the leading farming township among the 25 townships in Oakland County. You'll now hardly find a farm in it, as it is at the other end of the line when it comes to agricultural pursuits.

For many years Troy produced more wheat than any of our other townships, and it still grows some, but most of its former fields have been subdivided.

But our county still is a prominent agricultural area, and the waving fields of wheat have only been pushed back.

As they grow scarcer and further out, these pre-harvest fields seem to assume a greater brilliance, especially to our people who rarely have had a chance to see them.

Now is the time to get out and feast your eyes. In a few days the waving grain will begin falling to the combine which separates the grain from the chaff, and leaves the straw on the field, either to be baled later or left to continue the fertilization circle which means more waving fields.

Burma's Problems

In a recent speech on the current four year plan, Burma's Premier U Nu declared that the government would concentrate on restoration of law and order. He proposes better adiminstrative and judicial procedures and an all out fight against lawlessness.

Thump, Dance, Scream —Just Animal Language

WASHINGTON — Animals communicate with each other by gestures and sounds.

Rabbits use a hind leg to thump a warning, beavers employ their broad tails for the same purpose, and a doe flips up her tail like a white flag and bounds away, transmitting a danger signal to her fawn.

The tone of a dog's bark can indicate joy, pain, fear, or anger. Bees communicate by means of intricate dances. Most birds, when threatened, have a scream that alerts the entire feathered family.

U.S. Coal Industry Making Comeback

After dropping to 392 million tons in 1953, coal production last year rose to 500 million.

The basic problem of the industry is the mounting competition from oil and natural gas. Through mergers, development of new mines, closing of inefficient ones and research, mining costs have been sharply reduced.

Average daily individual production increased from three to four tons in 1947 to between 10 and 11 tons at the present time. This is due to more highly mechanized mines. As a result labor costs in relation to mine prices dropped and the market price of coal held at 1948 levels.

Since then miner's wages have gone up from $14.05 a day to $21.45. Welfare fund payments have doubled from 20 to 40 cents a ton and vacation pay increased from $100 to $220.

The road ahead is still rough. Foreign markets are uncertain and oil and natural gas continue to gain in the heating field. Atomic development, too, is a serious threat in the power production industry.

But the coal industry deserves credit for the way it has met the threat to its place in our economy.

Our Waving Fields of the Golden Grain

The summer breezes are converting our wheat fields into billowy seas that wave and beckon to you from the countryside.

Nothing in any landscape can be more uniformly beautiful. We still have much of these masterpieces of nature in the Pontiac area.

But you must get off the main highways to see them. They've been driven to the side roads.

Our great growth finds residences, mercantile places or industrial plants now on the sites of where many farmers once tilled the soil.

For instance, Royal Oak once was the leading farming township among the 25 townships in Oakland County. You'll now hardly find a farm in it, as it is at the other end of the line when it comes to agricultural pursuits.

For many years Troy produced more wheat than any of our other townships, and it still grows some, but most of its former fields have been subdivided.

But our county still is a prominent agricultural area, and the waving fields of wheat have only been pushed back.

As they grow scarcer and further out, these pre-harvest fields seem to assume a greater brilliance, especially to our people who rarely have had a chance to see them.

Now is the time to get out and feast your eyes. In a few days the waving grain will begin falling to the combine which separates the grain from the chaff, and leaves the straw on the field, either to be baled later or left to continue the fertilization circle which means more waving fields.

Burma's Problems

In a recent speech on the current four year plan, Burma's Premier U Nu declared that the government would concentrate on restoration of law and order. He proposes better adiminstrative and judicial procedures and an all out fight against lawlessness.

Not only are two quite different Communist groups causing the usual trouble, but the Karens of North Burma want autonomy and sometimes are violent about it. Red Chinese penetration on the northern border is an ever present threat and banditry is common.

Considering the enormous difficulties, Burma has made excellent political progress during the past few years. The country has a wealth of natural resources and the manpower to exploit it. What Burma needs is a period of peaceful progress to raise the standard of living and thereby strengthen the nation.

Outraged, Moses smashed the sacred tablets.

On another Tammuz 17, daily sacrifices in the Temple had to be stopped. This was during the long siege of 587 and 586 B.C., when animals became so scarce that the necessary two could not be provided each day. On this day in about the 50th year of the Christian era, a Roman soldier seized a scroll of the Torah and publicly burned it—a horrible sacrilege. The soldier was beheaded.

And it was on a Tammuz 17 that a statue of Zeus was set up by the heathen in the sanctuary of the Temple.

In memory of all these sad events this day is kept as a strict fast. Moreover, it is the beginning of a three-week period of mourning leading up to that worst of all days, the Ninth of Ab.

Lake Residents' Objections Expressed by Mrs. Powell

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I recently wrote a letter to the Governor telling him about a situation at Walter's Lake. The zoning board of Independence Township has a petition for approval of a private club permit. The board gave the interested property owners of surrounding land the understanding that it couldn't disapprove the petitioners' request without possibility of a losing law suit on their hands.

We property owners objected to the permit because we bought our land and built homes with the understanding that it was residential and private. Use of the lake is involved. We don't want to see our homes and lake turned into an undesirable place, as we have many children and their welfare is our uppermost concern.

Why can a Township board of appeal ignore definite objections of property owners and render a decision in favor of those who would exploit something fine for just monetary consideration?

Two Dislike Rule at Local Hospital

We would like to question the rules at one of our local hospitals. Why are there visiting hours all day on all floors except pediatrics, where they are from 7 to 8 p.m. and then just for parents? We can understand rules like that for smaller children, but is it fair to a 15-year-old teenager, who may be there for the first time and may be scared, to be deprived of seeing friends? Is this a Democracy? We say keep teenagers out of pediatrics or adjust the rules.

High Court Did Not Rule on Merits of Girard Case

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled only that the government had the right — and not on whether it was right — to let the Japanese try GI William S. Girard for shooting a woman to death.

The court reached its decision in four steps. Some background is necessary to understand them:

Every foreign country, being a sovereign power, has the right to try an American, civilian or serviceman, for a crime committed within its borders unless, by agreement with the United States, it willingly gives up its right to do so in certain cases.

The United States worked out the following agreement with a number of countries where it has troops stationed, including Japan:

1. If an American, civilian or serviceman, commits a crime while not on official duty, as in the case of Japan, the Japanese are free to try him.

2. But the United States has first claim — or primary right — to try him for a crime committed in performance of duty or in certain other circumstances.

3. In cases where the United States has the primary right to try — but Japan insists on bringing him to trial — this country will give "sympathetic consideration" to the Japanese claim.

In short, in such a case this country could turn a serviceman over to Japan even though the crime he committed was "in performance of duty."

The Japanese did not deny that Girard was on duty when he killed the woman while she was picking up empty shells on a maneuver area. Girard had been assigned to the area by his commanding officer to guard a machine gun.

But the Japanese did argue his shooting the woman was not "in performance of duty." They asked to try Girard on a charge equivalent to manslaughter. Eventually, this country agreed to turn Girard over to the Japanese.

"Dr. Crane, I'm sure you'll enjoy hearing my report," he began, after a month had passed.

"I didn't tell you in our last conversation that I had lost two secretaries because they reported I was brusque and scared them half to death.

"Our personnel director tactfully brought that to my attention the day before I had my first visit with you.

"So it wasn't just my wife's criticism of my untalkative nature that made me wake up, but also this office situation.

VERBAL BOUQUETS

"Well, the first day I paid my three compliments but I was very self-conscious during the process.

"It was almost as nerve-wracking to me as to get up and make a speech in public, for I never

"In fact, as I look back at myself, I guess I used to walk around with a negative attitude, looking for faults so I could bark a criticism at my employees.

"Anyway, I found that this act of paying compliments made a person think POSITIVELY.

"For I had to start out with the aim of finding something nice in my associates so I could give them an honest bit of praise.

SOCIAL DIVIDENDS

"But it really began to pay dividends sooner than I expected. In fact, it made me ashamed of myself.

"For the second day I went out off my way to give a compliment to an old employee who was soon to retire.

"He operated our freight elevator. I told him he always leveled off at the proper floor without the slightest unevenness.

"What I said wasn't much, I admit, in the way of praise. Until I started on your 'Compliment Club' project, Dr. Crane, I would have though it silly to deal in such a petty statement to a co-worker.

"But this old gentleman turned to me and he had tears in his eyes, as he said, 'Boss, that's the first compliment anybody ever gave me and I've worked here 40 years.'

"Well, I began to realize how many golden opportunities we have in life to buoy up our companions by a little word of honest praise.

"Dr. Crane, even before the end of the first week, I realized what a powerful influence this positive outlook can be.

"And now, at the end of the 30-day period, I find that I am beginning to look for nice things about people as a matter of habit. I don't even have to think about it, for it comes to me as second nature.

"My wife thinks I am wonderful, and I am afraid she hasn't had good reason to think that for several years past.

"Our personnel manager is now starting little units of the 'Compliment Club' all over the plant, and it is not only great fun but very productive of happier working conditions for everybody."

Well, you can all join the "Compliment Club" anywhere. It makes an ideal project for churches, Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Hi-Y or Tri-Hi-Y clubs, for it gives you a chance to apply the Golden Rule at least three times every day.

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (Non-profit).

It is an ideal way to spread joy around you and offer your companions verbal bouquets long before the funeral.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

In an Atomic War

New Medical Approach

OMAHA (INS)—An Army medical expert says the prospect of vast numbers of casualties in an atomic war is going to mean an entirely different approach to medicine.

The gravely injured and the less seriously hurt will have to be passed over for emergency treatment immediately after an atomic attack so doctors may concentrate on the intermediate casualties.

"We are going to have to face up to the fact that we can't save them all, Brig. Gen. S. F. Steeley told a "Trauma Day,, seminar at the University of Nebraska Medical College in Omaha.

"No matter how hard it may sound, we will have to forego the niceties of human consideration. It will be the only choice."

General Seeley, chief of professional services in the office of the Surgeon General of the Army, said in the event a nuclear bomb was dropped, the wounded would be sorted into three categories:

1 Those who have 0-20 per cent body burns, whose wounds do not indicate immediate surgery, or whose wounds are fractures or "soft tissue" wounds.

2 Those with 20-50 per cent body burns, or whose wounds are so serious that only immediate surgery can save their lives.

3 Those with 50-100 per cent body burns, or whose injuries are so serious that death will be inevitable.

Those in the first group would have to care for their own wounds or depend on relatives, friends or volunteers for first aid, General Seeley said.

The skilled medical personnel would concentrate on the second group, General Seeley said, "to do the greatest good for the largest number." Prompt action in this group, he said, would save five lives to one in the third group.

Those in the third group would have to be laid aside. General Seeley said, until the doctors could get to them to try to save them.

The general recently conferred with medical men from all NATO countries on setting uniform policies for treating mass casualties and compiled a handbook on the subject.

De Gaulle Writes His War Memoirs to Aid Hospital

PARIS — General Charles de Gaulle, France's wartime resistance leader, is said to be speeding up his third volume of war memoirs, for a special reason. The general, now 66, has assumed the task of caring for 30 young physically and mentally handicapped girls in a chateau outside Paris. He founded this hospital in memory of his second daughter, Anne, who died when 18.

He gave the royalties of his first two volumes — over $100,000 — to the hospital, but with rising costs has difficulty in keeping it going. Only his family and a few close friends know of this interest and he refuses gifts for it. At Colombey - les - Deux - Eglises, eastern France, where he is writing the third volume, his life has become more and more frugal. But he is represented as determined to fulfill his vow.

Thump, Dance, Scream —Just Animal Language

WASHINGTON — Animals communicate with each other by gestures and sounds.

Rabbits use a hind leg to thump a warning, beavers employ their broad tails for the same purpose, and a doe flips up her tail like a white flag and bounds away, transmitting a danger signal to her fawn.

The tone of a dog's bark can indicate joy, pain, fear, or anger. Bees communicate by means of intricate dances. Most birds, when threatened, have a scream that alerts the entire feathered family.

Adele Simpson creates a black brocatelle cocktail costume which is elegant in its simplicity. The narrow sleeveless dress with back panel has scooped neck and wraps to a deep V in back. The little bolero jacket buttons up to the neckline filled with white mink.

Karen Stark is the designer of this French sailor's overblouse costume called the marin silhouette by Harvey Berin. The overblouse is semi-fitted with high pockets and knit turtle-neck sweater. The skirt, made on a fitted underbody, is slim with walking pleats from the seams in back. The dress is made of slate blue French chiffon tweed.

Varying Style Collections All Add Up to One Theme

Simpson, Parnis and Stark Introduce Eased Sheath With More Top Width

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

NEW YORK (INS) — Take three top fashion designers like Adele Simpson, Mollie Parnis and Karen Stark of Harvey Berin, turn them loose on new fall clothes, and you get everything from "astronomical" to "nautical" designs

Mrs. Simpson is the designer who's gone to the planets for inspiration. She offers "telescope," "comet," and "dipper" skirts, "cosmic" colors and "constellation" costumes.

Translated, the "telescope" skirt is a three-tier job that tapers in width from waistline to hemline; the "comet" skirt has a train in back, and the "dipper" skirts are lower at back hemline than in front.

A "constellation" costume is Mrs. Simpson's usual neat ensemble, with the Eisenhower jacket revived in an easy-blousèd feminine version. Blouses in these costumes don't tuck in; they're all made to fit the waistline with buckles and belt-bands.

ACCENTS OF FUR

At the same time, this designer continues the full-skirted silhouette so popular with Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and other Parnis customers. The fullness of the skirts this fall is controlled by pleats of various kinds, and little pinch pleats also provide freedom of motion on the hiplines of "sylph" sheaths.

JACKET AND DRESS

Miss Parnis' collection is particularly noteworthy for jacket-and-dress costumes which could be worn effectively both day and night. She makes jackets loose and curved toward the back for day; short and fitted for dressier occasions.

Sailor collars, middy overblouses and dickey necklines are features of the new Berin day dresses. The silhouette is mostly an easy sheath, sometimes with slim-looking skirts that actually have back pleating, inset side panels or extra fullness above narrow hems.

The embroidered laces and pretty trims for which this firm is famous are prettier than ever in new evening clothes.

There are glamorous evening sheaths with floating back panels, lace-appliqued short satin gowns with intricately pleated or pear-shaped skirts and sequinned, pearl-studded lace dance dresses.

Adorn Table With Fruit and Flowers

CHICAGO (INS)—Fruits and flowers are in season now, so use both in table centerpieces.

A clever arrangement of fresh fruits can be a space-saver, doubling for dessert. Try a combination of bananas, purple grapes, oranges or red plums on a large serving platter. Pad a basket with leaves and fill with red plums, blue plums and cherries.

If you are planning on plump berries and cream for dessert, serve the cream on the side and the berries in a centerpiece combined with flowers. Use a vegetable dish or any low bowl.

Put a goblet upright in the center. Cover the stem with berries and fill the goblet with flowers fresh from the garden.

On a patio brunch table, try a fresh pineapple set in the middle of a salad bowl and bank it with easy-to-eat oranges on a bed of cracked ice. Prepare the oranges by cutting the peel in six sections, peel down part of the way and tuck petal fashion against the sections.

For children's parties, fill a basket with green leaves, tuck in daisies or other petaled flowers, interspersed with large lollipops or various flavors.

Hula Shimmy Will Highlight Fall Jewelry

NEW YORK (INS)—Stylish jewelry this fall is supposed to shimmy and shake like the grass on a hula dancer's hip.

Clanging pendants and swinging drop pearls, bouncing on your throat, are the new fashion. The long, long rope that ricocheted off your stomach is no longer chic.

The new necklaces are far more sparkly than those of past seasons. For instance, a string of pearls now has a rhinestone pendant. A plain gold chain drips tear-shaped pearls with every link.

Even earrings are going dangly. The little gold clips most women like for daytime now have pendant pearls attached, and chandelier rhinestone earrings are the thing for evening.

Only bracelets are non-dangly for fall. But the bracelets are bigger, almost cuff-size, and especially stylish in a new brushed gold finish.

C. E. Wilsons Are Partying —but It's Not to Say Goodby

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson would like it distinctly understood that, just because he's about to inaugurate a splurge of social hosting, this is not to be interpreted as his swan song to official Washington.

As a matter of fact, it simply means that he is getting his frank-spoken wife, Jessie, back to the capital long enough to do some bread-and-butter feasting.

The white-maned secretary celebrates his 67th birthday come Thursday, and on that date the Wilsons are staging a black-tie dinner in his Pentagon suite for all the top civilian brass of the Defense Department.

If even a few of the 50-odd guests come bearing gifts, the multimillionaire secretary can safely conclude that what's good for a party is doubly good if you can get some return on your investment.

INVESTMENT RETURN

Two days before that wingding, the Wilsons will play host at the same time, same station, to President and Mrs. Eisenhower, all members of the cabinet, and such assorted other dignitaries as "assistant president" Sherman Adams, atomic energy chief Lewis Strauss, and chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Arthur W. Radford.

All of these illustrious gentlemen will be accompanied by their ballgown-clad spouses.

Carefully screened from the watchful eye of economy-minded congressmen and the avid stare of John Q. Public, the officials will dine sumptuously in the defense secretary's suite, from food prepared in his private Pentagon kitchen.

CARTOON COLLECTION

For hilarious diversion, they can feast their orbs on Wilson's framed collection of original newspaper cartoons—all poking fun at his foot-in-mouth sallies —which completely line four walls of the room outside his private elevator.

Just by the way of further proving that government facilities are not too austere or prosaic for dazzling entertainment, Postmaster General and Mrs. Arthur Summerfield recently tossed an even more imaginative party as a farewell for Treasury Secretary and Mrs. George Humphrey.

The locale for their soiree was the Navy yacht, the Sequoia, which was the scene of many a gay shindig for Navy secretaries during the Truman era.

Centerpiece for the festive board at the Summerfield party, as the Cabinet breezed down the Potomac, was a 4-foot yacht complete with recognizable figures of all the Cabinet guests aboard.

A tiny doll with a face startlingly resembling Mrs. Humphrey's rocked on the deck, making needlepoint. Humphrey himself was depicted on the gangplank with golf bags in hand.

Commerce Secretary and Mrs. Sinclair Weeks also tossed a party on the waters recently, but for their entertainment of Cabinet colleagues they actually rented their own boat.

Some millionaires might have called it slumming, but such gay ones as Wilson, Humphrey, Summerfield and Attorney General Herbert Brownell seem to have a whale of a time floating down the historic old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal on a mule-towed barge.

The same barge, for which visiting tourists can buy a ticket any day in the week, was transformed by the Weeks into an Oriental fantasy with Japanese lanterns and a caterer-prepared buffet supper.

It just goes to show that you don't have to be poor and insignificant to enjoy the simpler things of life.

THANKS TO SENATORS

Even those downtrodden generals and admirals for whom prexy Eisenhower has rejected a pay raise manage to hold up their heads these days, thanks to our doting senators.

The hard-hearted House, more responsible to the so-called will of the people, had recently slashed $2,500,000 from Ike's $34,500,000 defense budget.

But despite Sen. Paul Douglas' fervent plea to eliminate such entrancing features as a half-million dollar officers' mess and swimming pool in Florida, $12,000 for "ash receiver, tobacco," putting greens at Elgin Air Force base, a golf pro's hop at Ft. Meade and a diaper laundry at Ft. Bragg, the sweet-natured senators voted most of it back again.

Hospital Ordeal Alters Tot's Whole Personality

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Jean was 2 when she became very sick and had to be rushed to the hospital. Both her parents took her to the hospital, but Jean was unconscious when they had to leave her. She didn't know anything about that frantic drive and she couldn't say goodby when her parents left.

Jean had meningitis, a serious and very communicable disease. She was put in strict isolation in the hospital and her parents were not allowed to visit her.

In the hospital a staff of doctors and nurses worked over the limp little body. They stuck needles into her, poked a tube down her throat, did all sorts of most unpleasant things.

At first Jean didn't know what was happening but after a while she began to get a little better and regained consciousness. Then she found herself in a completely strange place, with strange white-coated creatures hurting her.

There wasn't a soul around whom she had ever seen before. The nurses were kind, they tried to talk to the little girl, they picked her up and loved and cuddled her, but no one was Mommy.

She was utterly lost and lonely. In her baby mind she had been abandoned by everyone and everything that had meant life and comfort and security in the world.

Poor little Jean, had she only been aware of the many, many phone calls that kept her desperately worried parents posted on every change in her condition, she would have known that she hadn't been abandoned.

But Jean was too young to know about this. All she knew was she had been left, that she hurt, that all the joy was gone from life.

BATTLE WON

Her body got better. Through the miracle of modern medicine, the battle with the germs was won.

But Jean was a different child. Before the sudden illness Jean had been a lively talkative happy child, full of cute remarks and adorable tricks. Now not only was she thin and wan, but she was completely withdrawn.

She didn't talk at all, she wouldn't even walk (though she was physically able), she didn't play, she didn't laugh, she wouldn't even smile.

Jean had regressed to the level of a small infant in her behavior. No one knows exactly what goes on in the mind of such a little child, but it seemed as though she was trying to get back and back and act as she did in early infancy, hoping perhaps that at some place she could make life be what it once had been.

If she acted as she used to act maybe the world would be as it used to be too.

CURE FOR MIND

We had cured Jean's body, could we now cure her mind? There were long talks with Jean's parents. Jean had to be reassured that life could be good again, that she would not be again abandoned.

Jean's mother did a wonderful job. No words could really prepare her for that pale weak sad-faced little girl she took home from the hospital.

For weeks Jean's mother never left the child. Night and day, mother was there, warm, tender and loving, and it wasn't easy because as Jean did begin to respond she was very demanding and irritable.

As time went on Jean again smiled, laughed and ran about. Eventually she could stand short separations from her mother without the ghastly fear that she'd never come back.

Jean ultimately made a complete recovery, not only physically but mentally and emotionally as well.

The story of Jean makes one wonder if the hospital regulation of complete isolation even for dangerously communicable disease is worth the risk of such dangerous hospitalitis as Jean contracted.

But Exercises Will Stretch, Strengthen Them

Poor Posture Weakens Muscles

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If we could see what happens to our poor muscles when we have bad posture, we would be more serious about the manner in which we carry ourselves.

Actually, some muscles become shortened while others actually are stretched and weakened. This makes it impossible for them to do their work of keeping us in line. We must stretch shortened muscles and strengthen weak ones before we can assume correct posture.

Round shoulders and a Dowager's Hump often are the results of poor carriage. Today I would like to give you a few exercises which are splendid for strengthening weak back muscles and correcting round shoulders and Dowager's Hump.

1. Lie on the floor on your stomach, with your arms and head resting on the floor. Arch your back, lifting your legs, head and arms as far from the floor as possible. Keep your legs straight. Return to the floor. You may not be able to get very far from the floor at first but practice will improve the situation.

2. Take the same starting position. Ask someone to hold your feet down to the floor. Raise your arms, head and trunk as far up as you can, keeping the feet on the floor. Lower trunk, arms and head to the floor. Continue.

3. This exercise is difficult and should not be used until you have become expert at the other two. Lie across a chair, with your abdomen on the seat of the chair. Raise your arms, head, trunk and legs upward, until your body is in a straight line. Relax and repeat several times. Ask someone to hold the chair while doing this one.

These exercises would be fun for your teenagers to try and would also promote improvement in their posture. Teenage is a crucial time so far as posture is concerned.

Young folks are growing so rapidly at this age that they have a tendency to slump. It is much easier to correct posture faults at this age than later on in life.

If you would like to have my exercises for the back, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet "Back Talk" No. 16. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Girl Feels Uncertain About Date

She Doesn't Want to Buy New Dress and Then Not Go

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been seeing a certain boy on and off for the past six months. Quite a while back he asked me to go with him to the country club dance, which is to be in two weeks. However, he has not said anything further to me about it and I am wondering whether he still intends to take me.

"I would like to know definitely because if I go I will need an evening dress but I don't want to go to the expense of buying one if I am not going. I don't know what to do as he may have changed his mind about going and I don't want to force him into taking me. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: Especially because of the dress I think you will have to ask him if he still wishes to go to the dance with you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When the bride and bridegroom come back from their honeymoon they are coming here to live. Inasmuch as the wedding was in a distant city, many of the bridegroom's relatives and his friends could not go, so his family now wants to give the young couple a reception.

"It is believed that many of these guests will bring belated wedding presents to this. Should the bride and bridegroom open the packages right then and there, or put them aside for opening later?"

Answer: They could hardly hold up the receiving line to open presents. But later, when people have all come, they might perhaps be opened exactly as at a shower.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter has a steady boy friend. I've never met his mother, but have talked with her on the telephone several times when she has called here to speak to her son.

"The last time she said, 'You must come over sometime to see us.' No date was set. I'd like to meet her, but am I to take this invitation seriously? Would it seem too eager since I'm the girl's mother?"

Answer: I would advise you to wait until she again suggests that you come to see her. If this second time she fails to mention a date you could answer, "I'd love to—when would you like me to come?"

Dimension Added to Shower Curtain

One such turquoise curtain, for example, has a widely scattered fishbowl print. But for a change the fish are outside the bowls, appliqued on at one contact point so that they stand away in a depth dimension. They also sport real beady eyes—a cluster of flashy brilliants.

Teenagers Urged to Care for Skin

A teenager often lets blackheads and other juvenile skin problems control her. Actually, she should be in control, for good skin health, as she grows older, depends on it.

Plenty of lather and often a coarse face cloth or a soft scrubbing brush helps reduce oiliness of the skin. In severe skin cases, a teenager should get a doctor's advice.

Trash Basket Gains Glamor

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—The lowly trash basket has gotten a Hollywood-type glamor treatment this year, taking its place beside the mink can opener and rhinestone-studded fly swatter of previous years.

The 27th National Housewares Exhibit has updated and dressed up the trash can to the point where it can become the top conversation piece of a room.

One such item, for instance, has a mama poodle and baby poodle with glued-on pink bows in their pompons and flashy rhinestone collars around their necks.

Barbara Corkery Weds

BIRMINGHAM — St. James Episcopal Church was the setting for the marriage today of Barbara Corkery and Ernest Stanton Clark. The Rev. Fletcher Plant read the 4 o'clock ceremony in the presence of 300 guests.

Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard John Corkery of Birmingham, chose an empire-style gown of Venice lace for her wedding. The waltz length gown was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, short sleeves and a full tulle skirt.

Other bridal attendants included Sue Reason, Nancy Walser and Penny Nelson. Their gowns were of powder blue chiffon. Matching hats and bouquets of pink fuji chrysanthemums completed their costumes.

Ernest, son of Mrs. Ernest S. Clark of Quincy, Mass., and the late Mr. Clark, asked James E. Bligh to perform the duties of best man. James Murray, Donald Man and Thomas Girvin seated the guests. Richard William Corkery served as ringbearer.

Mrs. Clark chose a sheath dress of white lace over blue taffeta. Her cymbidium orchid corsage was pinned to her purse.

Confident Living

Quiet Thoughts, Words Aids to Life of Calmness

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Some time ago, I visited one of our naval air training schools. "A most important lesson we have to teach our pilots," the officer in charge told me, "is how to live with relaxed power. In this business of combat flying, a pilot can never know when he may have to meet a crisis, and he must be relaxed and ready at all times."

DR. PEALE

Then he gave me an example. Admiral Duncan once commanded that great aircraft carrier, the Essex. One day he was navigating the vessel out to sea from the base at Pearl Harbor, and it was carrying the maximum possible quota of aviation gasoline. Suddenly, a freighter broke loose from its mooring and bore down menacingly upon the Essex.

On the bridge, the Admiral was giving the commands necessary to avoid a collision when an aide ran to him and excitedly announced, "Sir, there is a fire on the hangar deck!"

My guide explained that a fire on the hangar deck of a carrier is extremely dangerous because of the proximity of the gas tanks. Then the disturbed and worried aide asked the Admiral, "What shall we do? The fire is getting dangerously near the tanks — what shall we do?"

The Admiral didn't even turn his eyes from the approaching freighter. "What shall you do?" he said simply. "Why, go back and put out the fire!"

SEASONED LEADER

The aide, now perceptibly calmed down, responded meekly, "Yes, sir," and went and did as he had been told. His Admiral, a seasoned leader of men, was able to apply relaxed power in a crisis.

How may you develop this relaxed power? Simply by practicing — by the practice of taking relaxed attitudes in all situations. When something of a crisis nature arises, instead of stiffening up, practice relaxing muscle tensions, hold quiet thoughts, verbalize quiet words, be deliberate in action.

A man who gives rubdowns in a New York health club once told me about a technique he uses with tense businessmen: "I teach them to relax their muscle tensions. First, I have them actually create tension in their arms and then relax the arms, letting them go limp. This process is to be repeated several times.

I tell them to pull down their brows, screw up their faces, and then relax those same facial muscles.

"Muscle tension is closely related to mental tension, and by tensing and relaxing the muscles, the effect is to shake the kinks out of the thoughts," said the athletic director, adding, "I then suggest that every day, for five minutes, they think about some of the most beautiful things they ever saw — some ocean they have sailed or mountain climbed or stream fished.

"Finally, I urge them to spend a minute on the following affirmation: 'God is in me. God is never tense, God is always relaxed. God is in my muscles. God is in my nerves. God is in my mind. God is in my whole being.'

WALK OUT RELAXED

"You should see these tense business men," he concluded. "They come rushing in here, excited and tied up; they walk out easy-like and quiet, able to meet crises with relaxed power."

There is indeed power in relaxation and you can acquire it by using some such method as that which is described above. It has been my experience that the people who really get things done in the world have learned how to find and use this relaxed power.

Religious Drama to Be Presented at Church of God

The Christian Thespians of Anderson, Ind. will present Charles Rann Kennedy's religious drama, "The Terrible Meek," at 8 p.m. Sunday in the First Church of God, 25 S. East Blvd.

The play points out that any approach to permanent peace begins with a consideration of Jesus Christ as He alone, is our example of supreme meekness in the face of trouble.

Dr. James Lennon, professor of speech at Wisconsin State College, stated "The Christian Thespians constitute a theater for Christ."

Following the play, the young people will serve refreshments.

New Dining Hall Built by Young People, Ready for Use Next Week

The new dining hall, a part of the building program of the Evangelistic Tabernacle at 2800 Watkins Lake Rd., will be used for the Pontiac Holiness Camp Meeting from July 18-28 with the Rev. A. J. Baughey in charge.

Speaking at the assemblies will be the Rev. W. T. Stone of Ashland, Ky., and the Rev. C. A. Gaines of Santa Ana, Calif.

A quartet, the Musical Messengers of Winchester, Ind., will provide special music.

God's Bible School Day will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. L. R. Day bringing the message. Three services are scheduled daily, 10 a.m., 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The tabernacle, seating about 1,250 people, was built a year ago by laymen of the church and young people.

Started in April, the dining hall was built mostly by the young people with finishing touches by the men of the congregation.

Constructed of cement blocks, the 50 x 50 dining hall will accommodate about 250 persons for meals.

It is a separate building with kitchen, dining room and rest rooms. Furniture, including tables, chairs and kitchen cupboards, were all a part of the youth work.

Built on a pay-as-you-go plan, the hall is estimated by the pastor to have cost around $4,500.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is Thy name in all the earth!- Who hast set Thy glory above the heavens.

Begin Collection of Instruments

COVINA, Calif. (AP)— The Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church recently started a drive to collect musical instruments for the isolated inhabitants of tiny Pitcairn Island in the Pacific.

This is the island made famous when part of the crew of the ship HMS Bounty mutinied and settled there. The present day inhabitants include descendants of these crewmen.

Recently the church here received a message by short-wave radio from Pastor Lester Hawks of the Seventh-day Adventist Church on Pitcairn Island, Pastor John M. Reeves, minister of the Covina church, said the message asked for used band instruments to accompany religious services and other special occasions.

The pastor said he and Irvin Johnson, master of the sailing ship Yankee, recently recovered the old anchor of the historic ship Bounty from the waters near Pitcairn Island.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Find the strength for your life . . . Worship together this week." That is the new slogan for the 1957-58 Religion in American Life campaign, sponsored by the advertising industry. The words will be displayed on posters throughout the country during the year.

U.S. Airliner Lands With Engine Burning

LONDON (AP) —A U.S. airliner landed at an airport 35 miles from London last night with one of its four engines on fire. The 30 passengers and the crew scrambled to safety down a canvas escape chute.

For a time it was feared the Trans World Airlines Super Constellation would be destroyed by flames. It was en route from Frankfurt to London and made the emergency landing at Southend-On-Sea.

Harley Jones, a 25-year-old school teacher from Seattle, Wash. said: "We had to walk about on the stubble at Southend Airport while they smothered the aircraft with foam. It was pretty hard on the feet.

Hollywood Headlines

Filmland Bosom Worship Showing Signs of Bust-up

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood's longtime worship of the bosom is showing signs of a bust-up. And that's no pun.

One studio topper sums it up this way:

"Like every other cycle in this town, this one's on the way out. . . . "Sex appeal always has come from concealing, not revealing."

"Hollywood has too long been serving bosom on the half-shell. Even the men are tiring of it."

Miss Head and the Paramount publicity department recently were asked by producer Hal Wallis to come up with a new way to exploit French ballerina Liliane Montevecchi, who co-stars with Jerry Lewis in "Sad Sack."

Two years ago, the amply endowed Miss Montevecchi would have been given the cleavage buildup.

However, Miss Head designed a costume that features a dress slit on the side.

Since Miss Montevecchi does some strenuous dancing in "Sad Sack," Miss Head said the costume, which features as much of the actress' leg as the censors will allow, took more engineering skill than designing.

"The problems of stress and strain were basically the same as those used in building the Golden Gate Bridge," the designer quips.

James Cagney, making his debut as a director in "Short Cut To Hell," had to fill a role that would have cried — two years ago — for an Anita Ekberg or a Mansfield. Instead, Cagney chose Yvette Vickers, a tiny dancer.

Cagney said Yvette got the nod over the buxom blondes because she knew how to put sex appeal into her walk. She used no cleavage — she just walked.

At the first preview of the movie, the censors ordered a good chunk of her role deleted. It was just too sexy.

Court Suspends Fine on Alice Lon's Mate

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The estranged husband of singer Alice Lon, featured with Lawrence Welk, has been given a suspended $50 fine for resisting arrest May 22 outside the home of a teen-aged girl.

Officers said Robert Waterman, 33, resisted them when the girl called them to her home to ask Waterman to leave.

The court suspended the sentence yesterday on condition that Waterman stay out of trouble for a year. He pleaded guilty.

Automobile tire wear on curves is said to be about 1200 per cent greater than the wear on the straightaways.

Steere Offers Property Tour

Special Trip Planned for Waterford Leaders on Wednesday

Invitations to inspect the Frank Steere property in Waterford Township, has been extended to leaders of various organizations and churches throughout the township.

Purpose of the meeting, to be held at 12:30 Wednesday, is to discuss the offer made by Steere for the construction of a $200,000 library on an 18-acre plot of ground on M-59 and Pontiac Lake road.

IDEAL SETTING

The property is now used as a bird sanctuary and is heavily wooded with about 3 acres cleared, making it an ideal setting for the proposed cultural center.

The Steere family has offered the land to the township providing it be used for a library. However, no official steps have been taken for actual presentation to Waterford Township residents. Steere is making "test" surveys to see if the people are interested in such a project.

The Waterford Township Business and Professional Women's club has sparked an interest in learning more about the offer and will promote the idea of a community cultural center, according to Mrs. John B. Landon, president.

The present library is located in one corner of the Community Activities Building, on Williams Lake road, and is supervised by librarian Mrs. Kenneth Valentine.

Old Planes Downed by 'Watered' Gas

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Mechanical troubles marred the first day's flight of two vintage airplanes flying across the nation in easy stages. They started yesterday from Van Nuys, Calif.

Frank Tallman of Glenview, Ill., owner of the World War I German Fokker and French Nieuport, planned to get the ships underway again today.

The Fokker had to put down about 50 miles short of Tucson at Eloy last night. Tallman said he thinks there was water in the gasoline.

The two pilots are making the flight in connection with the Ricks memorial hop from Fresno, Calif., to Andrews AFB, near Washington, D. C., July 28.

Wilson Repeats a Few of Year's Better Quips

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The first six months of '57 were pretty funny and this year may go down as one of the most hilarious—due to TV personalities like Perry Como, Khrushchev and Elvis the Pelvis.

Perry Como was so relaxed, Comedian Jack Carter said, that one night on TV he accidentally fell awake.

"I went on a reducing diet — quit drinking and eating," reported Comic Joe E. Lewis, "and in only 14 days, I lost almost two weeks."

Danny Thomas said his daughter had been voted "Miss Charge Account of 1957" and Phil Harris claimed that when Bing Crosby was touring "and couldn't sing because of the union," a Texan in one cafe yelled, "You go ahead and sing, Bing. I'll buy that union!"

ANITA

Anita Ekberg's husband Tony Steele made a big boo-boo on "Tonight" when he said marrying Anita on his birthday "was the best ---- ---- birthday present anybody ever got!"

George Burns said you now tell Jack Benny jokes instead of Scotch jokes: "Here's a guy who did away with a whole country." Groucho Marx, answering a questionnaire, came to the word "Weight." He filled in: "Till the Sun Shines, Nellie."

Delicatessen king Max Asnas, discussing an enemy explained, "I couldn't warm up to him if I was cremated with him."

After Khrushchev was on TV, Slugger said, "Daddy, did you know those Yul Brynner haircuts have gone all the way to Russia?" Night club comedians decided that Russia's real secret weapon is vodka and there were those who remembered that back home when you got dressed for evening, you put on a night shirt. Billy Graham's visit to Madison Square Garden was another highlight of the year so far and so was Ethel Waters' singing there. When she was asked how she was doing there, Miss Waters replied, "God has no flops."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Celeste Holm's pleased at subbing for Hal March on the 64G quiz. She says, "I hope I have a winner—I can't think of anything more enjoyable than giving away someone else's money" . . . Meade Alcorn, the GOP national chairman, advised the White House to drop the "modern Republicanism" tag fast . . . This Is Show Business?: Victor Borge will make personal appearances at the mid-west supermarkets selling his Rock Cornish hens.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There are only two ages at which a man should think of marrying — at 20 when he doesn't know what's going to happen to him, and at 80, when he doesn't care.

A local playboy sighs, "They say the first ten years of marriage are the hardest — but try sneaking up the stairs at 4 a.m. when you're past 50!" . . . That's earl, brother.

Cancels Parking Plan

DETROIT (AP)—Because of parking facilities in the new Greyhound bus terminal to be built here, the Municipal Parking Authority withdrew plans for construction of a $1,500,000 garage for 560 cars in downtown Detroit (at Randolph and Congress). The bus terminal garage, due to be opened in late 1958, will have facilities for 600 cars.

Refugee Makes Good

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A 21-year-old Polish refugee who came to this country eight years ago has won appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He is John A. Dubowik, who was named as an alternate last year by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich).

Band Leaders to Confer

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The ninth annual National Band Conductors Conference will be held Wednesday through Friday of next week at the University of Michigan. More than 450 school band maestros from all parts of the nation are expected to attend for a series of concerts and discussions.

Shelley Asked to Run for Teamsters' Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif) says he has been asked to run for president of the Teamsters Union, and is "receptive" to the idea.

The California congressman, a Teamsters Union member since 1929, said he is not now a candidate, but would take the job if a genuine effort is made to "clean up the union."

Teamsters President Dave Beck has announced he will not seek re-election at the Teamsters Miami convention in October. Beck currently is under fire for alleged misuse of union funds.

Shelley said a delegation approached him about trying for the job nearly two months ago. He would not identify members of the group, but it was reported it included 5 of the 13 Teamsters executive board members.

The time to save money is when you've got some . . . Middle age has arrived when you step on the scale and the balance is no longer in your favor . . . Some recent college graduates have so many qualifications for the job it's hard to get them to do any work. — Earl Wilson.

Except in Skating Meets

They're Buddies -- Often

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

A couple of ten year olds, who are the best of friends yet the biggest of rivals, have gained the reputation as the comedy team on skates at the Pontiac Rolladium.

David Marchewka and Gary Perkins both started their interest on the ball-bearings when they were five, and they never really got to know each other until two years ago.

Since then however they have learned to do some mighty tricky things on roller skates.

David speaks with a slight lisp but it certainly doesn't detract from the youngster's tremendous personality. In Juvenile Boys' division of skating, David won the state and regional speed skating championship, took first in singles competition and third in pair-skating.

Gary on other hand had to settle for second place in singles, but he was first in the state in pair-skating and in figure skating.

"They're a wonderful pair," said Burt Anselmy, skating pro at Rolladium, "and they really battle it out in competition and usually finish one-two."

Both boys come from roller skating families. David's dad and mom, two brothers and a sister are all polished skaters, and Gary also has a couple brothers whom he has followed to the rinks.

Next week, the young pair get an early thrill when they leave Monday to participate in the National Roller Skating competition in Oakland, California.

"This is my first trip there," said David, "and we're going to stay a couple weeks." The entire Marchewka family, six in a car, will head for the coast.

Gary's mother will accompany him and his two brothers and when they all get there, Gary and David will battle it out again to capture national honors.

How do David and Gary expect to finish in the meet? Spoken like a true sport David said, "Even if we both lose we'll be good sports about it," And Gary agreed.

Pontiac Skaters Ready for Long Coast Journey

A car caravan of 32 Pontiac area roller skaters will begin the journey next week to Oakland, California, to participate in the National Rolling Skating Championships.

Along with the participants, friends and families, the long trip should bring the area total to nearly 100.

The skaters, all of whom qualified in state and regional meets, will make up the largest single club entry in the five day championship.

Burt Anselmy, skating pro at the Rolladium, said, "all of them are making the trip at their own expense." "We had 32 eligible to participate, and it's amazing, all 32 are going."

The events, which include competition in speed and art skating, will have nearly 1,000 contestants taking part in the 20th annual affair, July 22-28.

75 Yachts Set for Long Race

Thunderstorms Hamper Start of 235-Mile Run on Lake Huron

PORT HURON (AP) —Seventy-five yachts, drenched from a downpour last night, readied today to start the 235-mile Port Huron-to-Mackinac yacht race in the midst of thunderstorms and winds up to 25 miles an hour on turbulent Lake Huron.

The weatherman forecast a spinaker start for the boats on the heels of southwest winds 15-25 m.p.h. and thunderqualls.

The scratch boat, which must give corrected time to every other yacht in the fleet, was Dyna, a 58-foot, brand new aluminum yawl skippered by Clayt Ewing out of Green Bay, Wis.

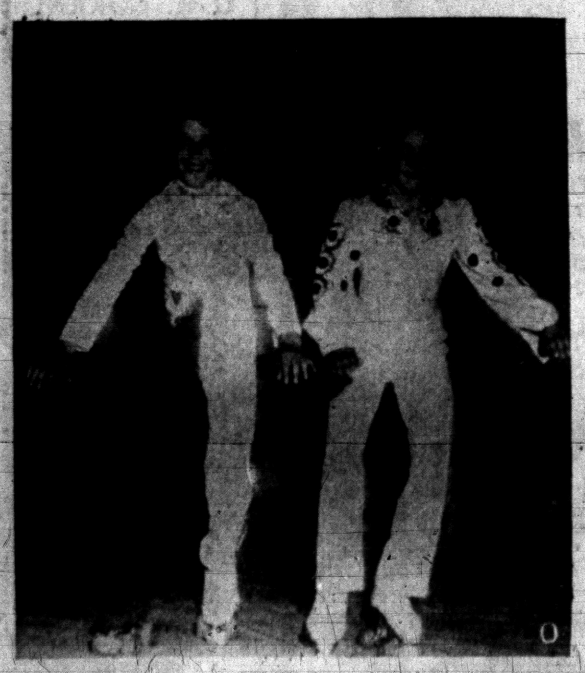
Dyna, which tied up Friday while admirers looked her over, will have 10 challengers in the cruising A (large boat) class which gets off at 2:30 p.m. Class A boats will thrive on their huge spinaker sails to gain hull speed if the southwest wind holds.

The 23-boat cruising D class leaves at 1 p.m. followed at 1:30 p.m. by cruising C, 2 p.m. by cruising B, 2:15 p.m. by Sabre, the only boat in the racing class, and cruising A boats at 2:30.

Jewelers' 9 Opposes Flint League Leaders

Shaw's Jewelers, pacesetters of the Pontiac Class A softball league, will travel to Flint Sunday night to meet the strong Shively team of that city in an exhibition game. Shively's is surrently tied for 1st place in Flint's major loop.

The Jewelers had scheduled an exhibition with Dearborn Heating for Wisner Stadium today but it has been cancelled.



ON YOUR MARK!—Gary Perkins (left) and David Marchewka, both 10 years old, put a temporary end to friendship when they have to compete against each other for some skating title. Here they get ready to race each other in some speed skating.

Second Attempt for Qualifying in Public Links

Tournament Postponed From Last Week Set for Two Courses

Public Links golfers will make a second attempt to gain 10 berths for their national tournament when they play the state qualifying rounds Monday at Birmingham and Plum Hollow.

The publinx players will play 18-holes at each course starting at 6:30 a.m. and the ten low scorers will win the right to enter the national Public Links tournament at Hershey Country Club in Hershey, Pa., July 29-Aug. 3.

Five alternates will be selected also, and playoffs, if necessary, will take place at Plum Hollow immediately following the 36th hole.

Pontiac area golfers will again lead the field headed by two-time state publinx champion Mike Andonian. Last year Andonian made the trip to the national tournament in San Francisco and was defeated in the third round of match play.

Other Pontiac contenders are Roy Iceberg, who lost to Andonian in the state meet and Ron Rothbarth the city champion.

Other area entries include Joe Kocsis, Don Nelson, Ed Guiseppe, Tex Ellison, Roy Cullenbine, Tim Baldwin, Joe Burgdorf, Jay Law, Stan Sabat, Tony Ostafyczuk, and many others.

The 10 winning golfers will join a field of 140 at the nationals and after the first round of qualifying at Hershey, 64 will remain for match play.

Those completing their first round Monday morning at Birmingham will then start at 11:00 a.m. in the same order of pairings in the second 18 holes at Plum Hollow.

The same will apply for early Plum Hollow qualifiers who play the second round at Birmingham.

Rothbarth will take the tee at 7:26 and in his threesome will be Tim Baldwin, former Birmingham High ace. Andonian is scheduled to go out at 8:15, Iceberg at 8:22 and Burgdorf at 8:29 a.m. Monday at Birmingham.

Friday Tilts Off; 4 Set for Sunday

All city league softball games scheduled for Friday at North Side and Beaudette Park were rained out and will be reset for some future dates.

There will be four games on Sunday's regular schedule, as follows:

North Side—(7 p.m.) CIO No. 653 vs Eddie's Bar; (8:30 p.m.) Richard's Tavern vs Oxbow Pavillion.

Beaudette — (7 p.m.) Pontiac Police vs Pontiac State Hospital; (8:30 p.m.) Buettners Cleaners vs Pontiac Select-A-Drink.

Bayer Fires 64 in Canada Meet

California Golfer Has Three Stroke Lead in Kitchener, Ont.

KITCHENER, Ont. (AP) — Mammoth George Bayer, who has kicked away a handful of tournament victories by such last minute blunders as driving into spectators and missing close-up putts, carried a three-stroke lead today into the final stages of the $25,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament.

"If I'm not careful," said the heavy swinger from Los Angeles, "I'm going to develop a second-place complex."

Bayer shot a sizzling 64—breaking the old record by one stroke—in yesterday's third round at Westmount Golf and Country Club and held a three-stroke margin over Bill Casper Jr. of Bonita, Calif.

Bayer's three-day total was 202, better than par by 11 strokes over the 6,544-yard course.

A total of 63 players — including five amateurs — qualified for the final round of this 72-hole event.

Hahn at Rochester GC

Paul Hahn, golf trick shot artist, is scheduled to appear for an exhibition tomorrow at the Rochester Golf and Country Club. He will start at 2:30 and there is no admission fee to watch the program.

METRIC MILE MARK—Stanislav Jungwirth of Czeckoslovakia was reported running the 1,500 meter in a time of 3:38.1 in Prague yesterday. This is a world record.

Aussie Swimmer Sets World Mark

HONOLULU (AP)—Australia's Lorraine Crapp broke her own world 800-meter freestyle record last night as she stroked her way to a 10:24.3 clocking in the annual Keo Nakama swim meet.

Earlier, Nancy Ramey of Seattle bettered the world record in the 100-meter butterfly with a narrow win over Shelley Mann of Washington, D.C., Olympic champion for this distance.

Miss Crapp's mark was more than six seconds faster than her old mark of 10:30.9 set last year.

Orchard Lake Is Site of 41st Annual State Tournament

The 41st annual Closed State Women's Championship, with defending champion Sally Sharp of Birmingham leading the field will get started Monday at Orchard Lake Country Club and continue through Friday.

A total of 87 women from Michigan's private clubs will start teeing off at 8:30 in Monday's qualifying round and then move into match play for the remainder of the tournament.

Miss Sharp, 20-year-old Michigan State student, was off the golf circuit for the entire school year, however, she has been warming up for the tourney and claims she is now "playing some good golf."

Yesterday Miss Sharp tried out the Orchard Lake course and came through with a one-under women's par 37 for nine holes.

Many of the outstanding local women are entered in the meet including Mrs. S. E. Gawne, of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. J. G. Isreal of Knollwood, Mrs. S. F. Leahy of Orchard Lake, Mrs. C. P. Mehas, Pine Lake, Mrs. Robert Vinton, Mrs. James Riddell, Mrs. Fred Sheldon, Mrs. G. R. Angle, Miss Helen Hanley, Mrs. James Gunn, Mrs. C. A. Cahn and Mrs. E. H. Wilcox all of Oakland Hills.

Leading contenders should be Mrs. Don Weiss of Flint, Mrs. C. U. Wilson of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Rylma Marquardt and Mrs. Jack Scripsema of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Scripsema was beaten 2 and 1 by Miss Sharp in the finals at Muskegon last year.

NL Battle Now Turning Into Back Alley Brawl

NEW YORK (INS)—The National League battle for first place has turned into a real back alley brawl, with everybody either throwing dusters or punches and the fans throwing bottles.

Barely 24 hours after the Brooklyn Dodgers swapped punches with the Cincinnati Redlegs in an Ebbets Field brawl resulting in the fining of four players, the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants exchanged knockdown pitches last night before 11,617 witnesses in the Polo Grounds.

Before the Cardinals won, 5 to 1, to preserve their two-game lead over Milwaukee, Ruben Gomez and the Cards' Sam Jones were ordered by the umpires to quit low-bridging the batters, Giants manager Bill Rigney was ejected for protesting a put-out call and the rightfield section was warned to stop throwing bottles at the players.

Jones had a no-hitter until Whitey Lockman slashed a single in the sixth. Willie Mays broke up the shutout with a two-out homerun in the bottom of the ninth.

Stan Musial (21), Alvin Dark and Don Blasingame hit homers to help Jones to his seventh win in 10 decisions and pin defeat No. 8 on 10-game winner Gomez.

The Braves took over second place when they beat off Pittsburgh 5 to 4 after Chicago had defeated Philadelphia 5 to 2. And Don Newcombe pitched a five-hitter for his fifth straight win as Brooklyn sent Cincinnati into the second division 3 to 1 at Jersey City.

Warren Spahn won his ninth for Milwaukee although he needed help in the ninth when the Pirates scored two runs. Hank Aaron and Johnny Logan homered for the Braves and the 28th blast for Aaron was his personal high for a season.

Shutout Marks Juniors' Action

A shutout, one close contest and a pair of forfeits marked city junior leagues' action this week, with Gary Armstrong's bases-loaded single in the 2nd frame driving in the winning runs for Clarkston Merchants in a Class "E" battle Friday night as one feature. Merchants dumped 5th place Lytell-Colgrove 8-2 in a rain-halted game.

Pontiac Boys Club blanked Clarkston 10-0, Pontiac lost to Keego Boys Club 5-4 in a Friday game halted in the top of the sixth by rain. Two runs in the 3rd added to a 3-run opener, did the trick for the Class "D" club.

Results:

Class D — KH Boys Club 5, Police 4
Class E — Clarkston Merchants 8, Lytell-Colgrove 2
Class F — Pontiac Boys Club 10, Clarkston Merchants 0

Johnson Eliminates Pete Green

Ex-Champs Lead State Meet

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Two former champions and the current defending titlist today were among 16 players starting the third round of match play in the Michigan Amateur golf championship at belvedere G. C. in Charlevoix.

Schedule first off the tee in a match with Bill Albright of Detroit was Glenn Johnson, 34-year-old Grosse Ile insurance man who has won the title three straight years.

Bob Babbish of Detroit, 1935 champion, successfully passed his first two match play tests and meets Cliff Taylor of Spring Lake in the third round.

Taylor yesterday upset Harold Brink of Grand Rapids 2 and 1 in their second round match. Brink has been an annual state amateur entry since 1931.

Tom Draper, of Detroit, won the title in 1949. He faced John Kurach of Detroit in the third round today.

Art Olfs, 33, of Birmingham, who has entered the event five times but surivived a first round of match play for the first time this year, teed up against Jack Zin, 27, of Red Run.

Harold Ware of Mason and Leo Daigle of Detroit met in the third round pairings and Walt Van Sickel was matched with Jim Funston of Plum Hollow.

Randall Ahern of Meadowbrook faced Bill Turner, 19, of Saginaw, a Northwestern University junior next year. Turner gained a match play berth this year for the first time in three tries. He failed to qualify in 1955 and 1956.

Johnson was pfessed into an overtime match yesterday by 16-year old Pete Green of Birmingham who bowed 1-up after 20 holes.

It was the 20th straight match play victory for Johnson in his three year reign as state amateur champion. Missed putts on the eighth, 12th and 18th holes cost Green his chance to topple Johnson in regulation.

Exchange Bean Balls

Pitchers Dust Each Other

NEW YORK (AP) — A couple of winter baseball buddies were chums again today after they had tried to take each other's head off last night in the Polo Grounds.

The brawling craze baseball is undergoing infected Sad Sam Jones of the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals and Ruben Gomes of the New York Giants. They exchanged bean balls three times during a game won by the Cardinals 5-1. Jones allowed two hits in his best performance of the season.

Gomez shaved Jones high and inside in the third inning. Jones grazed Ruben's chin when the Cardinal fanned him in the bottom half of the same inning.

The pitchers glared at each other until the fifth when Gomez hurled the ball over Jones' head. Plate umpire Tom Gorman ordered Managers Fred Hutchinson of the Cardinals and Bill Rigney of the Giants to a home plate conference and cautioned both pitchers against further wildness.

Rigney trotted to the mound, put his hands on Gomez' shoulders. After a brief heart-to-heart talk, the game continued without further high pitching.

"When he (Gomez) throws me a little high, I throw him a little high," Jones said softly after the game. "We played winter ball together. I don't hold any grudges against him."

"I got a little angry when he high pitched me," explained Gomez, 30. "We're good friends."

Gomes Hands Perez TKO Licking on TV

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Boy, did he surprise me with that right in the second round," said Lulu Perez last night, as he sat in a factory club room holding an ice pack to a thick bandage over his left eye.

In an adjacent cafeteria, Perez had just been the victim of a technical knockout by Harold Gomes in 1:10 of the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round lightweight boxing match.

IBC to Appeal for New Trial

NEW YORK (INS) — The International Boxing Club of New York has filed a motion for a new trial in the anti-trust action which ordered it dissolved.

The motion by the IBC, Madison Square Garden and co-defendants James Norris and Arthur Wirtz is based on new evidence and upon alleged errors in the previous court proceedings and in interpretations of points of law by Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan.

The motion was filed yesterday in the federal district court of Judge Ryan, who returned the original decree against the IBC and ordered Norris and Wirtz to dispose of their controlling interest in the garden.

Should the judge deny the motion, the next step presumably would be an appeal to the Supreme Court.

'Midgets' Turn in Scoring Extremes

Widely separated extremes in scoring marked the week's action in the City Midget Baseball Leagues. The two American division games played last night were close, but both were high-scoring. The biggest score was the 20-1 win for Nicholie Realty over Yankees in the National Division.

Tigers (A) won their 6th straight over Auburn BC last night with a 7-run rally in the 3rd and 4th frames. Two runs in the top of the 7th gave Little Eagles a 13-11 win over White Sox (A), after the count was tied 11-11 in the 5th. Athletics beat Orioles on a 4-run 6th inning blast in the other National tilt.

LeBaron's Widgets won their 2nd game to take the loop lead.

Results:

American—Tigers 8, Auburn BC 6; Little Eagles 13, White Sox 11.

Boone's Bat Still Hot, Tigers Win, 5-3

Victory Moves Detroit Back Into 1st Division Tie With Tribe

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers fears that Ray Boone was washed up in big league baseball appeared blasted today by the big infielder's second four-hit performance in two days.

The Tiger first baseman had a perfect four-for-four last night and drove in three of Detroit's runs in a 5-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. His production matched his Thursday output when he drove in three other Detroit runs on four hits.

"I felt my timing was still a little off after Thursday's game," the 34-year-old Boone explained. "But last night everything seemed to feel better."

The resurgence of Boone was heartwarming to Jack Tighe who has sorely missed the batting punch Boone provided in posting a .308 average last year.

"With Ray hitting again," Tighe said, "it means we've got just that much more chance for a first division finish."

Boone has been in and out of the Detroit lineup since early June with recurring knee trouble. Just after June 27 after he had missed 10 games, he said he was afraid he was done as a regular starter.

Boone's ailing knees have had the 6-foot, 185-pound infielder out of action before this year and he has always come back.

Last night he drove in two runs with a first inning double and brought home Charley Maxwell with a triple off the left field screen in the fifth inning.

Two other singles boosted his batting average from .242 to .256 in two days. His RBI jumped from 24 to 30.

Boone's performance last night matched the production of Ted Williams who drove in all three Boston runs with two consecutive home runs in the first and third innings.

Detroit added its other two runs in the third inning when Al Kaline drove his sixth home run of the season into the lower left center stands, and Charley Maxwell scored on a fielder's choice.

The victory lifted Detroit into a fourth-place tie with the Cleveland Indians who beat Baltimore 8-6.

One Big Frame Brings Victory

In what is described as the wildest ball game of the season in Pontiac Class A baseball, Shaw's Jewelers last night at Wisner Field came up with an 8-run rash in one frame to beat Jets 8-4. Every run was unearned, many errors doing practically all the damage. Two were down when the big rally blew the game wide open.

Jets counted two in the first, two in the second inning for all their tallies, had the Jewelers going down in order until the fatal 8th frame. Then the rains descended and the game was called in the top of the sixth.

Giants had shut off Griff's in the other "A" game of the night, 3-0, but the game was called in the bottom of the fourth because of rain. Giants got one in the first, two in the fourth for their counters.

Double for Alabama

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Alabama University's touring baseball team won a doubleheader today to run its won-lost record to 6-3 on its tour. The Crimson Tide beat Kansai in the first game 4-1 and blanked the Itami Airbase team 4-0 in the afterpiece.

First in 20 Years

First women's ace at Bloomfield Hils Country Club in at least 20 years was fired yesterday when Mrs. Florence Knudsen dropped the ball into the cup, on the 158-yard 11th hole with a number two iron shot. Pro Bill Graham said he could not recall any recent aces by a woman at the club.

No Imagination

Yanks Follow Old Pattern

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unimaginative bunch these New York Yankees. They change a few names in the cast every now and then, even get into a bit of a scramble for the American League lead once in awhile—but day by day, year by hear, it's the same old stuff.

Take today, July 13. They've played 79 -games, stand 53-26, have won six in a row, lead by four games and have lost four of their last 28 games.

On July 13, 1956 they had played 79 games, stood 53-26, had won six in a row, led by 7½ and had lost six of their last 28.

This is progress?

On July 13, 1955, they had played 84 games, stood 58-26, and led by 11½. After 79 games that year, they were 52-27, led by 5½.

Casey Stengel's AL chillers made it 14 in a row (13 this year) over Kansas City last night with a 4-2 victory on a three-run homer by Harry Simpson, late of the A's. That gave the Yankees their largest lead of the season, what with Chicago's second place White Sox idled by rain.

Baltimore dipped back to sixth place, losing 8-6 at Cleveland as the Injuns gained a share of fourth place with Detroit.

Simpson, who had singled to gain the Yanks a ninth-inning tie in Thursday's 3-2 success at Kansas City, delivered his payoff sock last night against Ralph Terry—young righthander who went from the Yanks to the A's in the June 15 deal that shifted Simpson to New York.

Mickey Mantle's 24th homer and Vic Power's ninth had left it tied 1-all for Simpson's blast, his first as a Yankee. Woody Held, also in on that June trade, homered in the ninth for the A's while Stengel made like a harried manager—using three relievers to protect Don Larsen's fifth victory.

Rookie Dick Brown, Rocky Colavito and Gene Woodling hammered two-run homers for the Indians, who had lost seven in a row. Woodling's was the one that bagged it, coming off losing reliever Ray Moore in the ninth. Mike Garcia won it in relief after the Orioles blew a 6-0 lead to end their one-day stay in the first division.

BUNNING'S 11th WIN — Young Tiger ace, Jim Bunning, (center) got an assist in winning his 11th victory of the season from Ray Boone (left) who had four hits and three RBIs, and Al Kaline who homered to help the cause. Detroit won the game, 5-3, at Briggs Stadium.

Rain-Delayed Western Event Speeds Action

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Western Open tennis tournament swung into the quarter and semifinal rounds today to make up for time lost yesterday when all matches were rained out.

The men and women's singles quarter-finals were scheduled for this morning, with semifinals set for the afternoon. The doubles were slated to wind up the day's action and complete the lineup for tomorrow's finals.

Top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia was matched against Roger Werksman of Los Angeles in the quarter-finals. Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., top seeded woman, drew Judy Hagan of Middletown, Ohio as her quarter-final foe.

Sets 1,500 Record; Aims at Mile Mark

VIENNA (AP) — Stanislav Jungwirth, who smashed the world record in the 1,500 meters with a 3:38.1 yesterday, is expected to go after the mile record of 3:58 next Friday night in London's White City Stadium. Track experts considered his 3:38.1 in the 1,500 meters equivalent to 3:55.1.

Jungwirth, a Czech, turned in his tremendous 1,500 on the Houstka track near Prague. The Czechoslovak News Agency CTK reported his partial times, as :54.9 for the 400 meters, 1:54.2 for 800 meters, 2:24.5 for 1,000 meters and 2:43.4 for 1,200 meters.

The listed world record for the 1,500 meters is 3:40.6 by Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary. Only Thursday in Finland, Oavi Salsola did 3:40.2.

Langerman Top Athlete and Coach

Remember the Sport Stars of Yore?

(This is the sixth of a series of articles about outstanding athletes from Pontiac and Oakland area and what they are doing today. Today we feature Rolland Langerman, basketball and track ace at Birmingham High and now assistant superintendent at Walled Lake High School. Next Thursday we will continue the series.)

A fellow who made quite a name for himself as a star athlete at one area school and then went on to become an outstanding coach at another school is Rolland Langerman now of Walled Lake.

A Birmingham native, the present assistant superintendent of schools for the Walled Lake district excelled as a basketball and track performer at BHS and Michigan Normal College. He joined the Walled Lake school system after three years in the service and has been there ever since.

Langerman's track teams won the Inter-Lakes League crown in each of his sixyears at the helm, took regional honors three times and won a Class B relay meet at Toledo one year. He coached cross country for eight seasons winning four loop titles and won the regionals twice in three tries.

LANGERMAN AS COACH

As a player, he is ranked with Birmingham's all-time greats by no less an authority than his former coach Frank Whitney, now Maple athletic director. Rolland won hoop letters three straight years and was the track pole vault specialist.

The 1939 graduate calls the 1937-38 BHS cage team the best he played on. That group lost only once during the regular season and was beaten in the state quarterfinals by one point. He played a key role by setting what was then a school record by averaging 10 points per game.

"The game has changed a lot since then and that record has likely been broken often," commented the ex-forecourt ace.

Since leaving the service, where he actually got started in coaching while a member of security intelligence, he not only has been extremely successful as a coach but also as a track and cross country official authority.

Langerman has had five articles published in the Coach's Journal and several in other magazines. He serves as a starter and official at various area college and high school track meets.

Besides the outdoor sports he used to coach reserve basketball at WLHS before other duties made it impossible. He moved on from a teacher-coach to assistant principal at the junior high school before taking on his latest position.

"I retired from coaching after last season due to my new duties but I still follow the team, I was very pleased to have coached at Walled Lake and was blessed with good material," said the modest holder of a master's degree at Michigan.

He can certainly look back on some fine years in sports. Viking track teams had four unbeaten seasons and lost only three dual meets in his six seasons. The cross country contingent had different winning streaks of 15 and 20 straight and were state runnerups in 1955. Need we say more.

Pancho Changes Mind

Tennis Feud Cools a Little

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Kramer's feud-racked tournament of champions opened at the lush West Side Tennis Club today with professional king Pancho Gonzales an unwilling and unwelcome participant.

Gonzales, feuding with Kramer over money, capitulated last night after he was persuaded by his attorneys to hop a plane from his Los Angeles home. Kramer already had announced that negotiations had fallen through and that the tourney would go on without Pancho.

"I took a poll of the players, anyhow, and they were unanimous in voting to have him play. I polled everyone except Frank Sedgman. I couldn't find him last night," said Kramer.

Kramer said Gonzales told him that he was going to stay in Los Angeles and be a movie star.

"The entire argument was over five per cent, or about $20,000 over an 18-month period," said Kramer. "I was not going to budge from my offer. Nor have I budged. Nor will I budge.

Before leaving Los Angeles Gonzales pouted that "I can't beat down my attorney and everyone else, so I'm going back." He added he'd forget about the money argument until the troupe returned to Los Angeles for another tournament starting July 29.

Ken Rosewall vs. Tony Trabert
Sedgman vs. Lew Hoad
Gonzales and Rosewall vs. Pancho Segura and Dinny Pails

Pails is the only one on today's program who will not play in the singles competition. He was Gonzales' replacement in case Pancho didn't show.

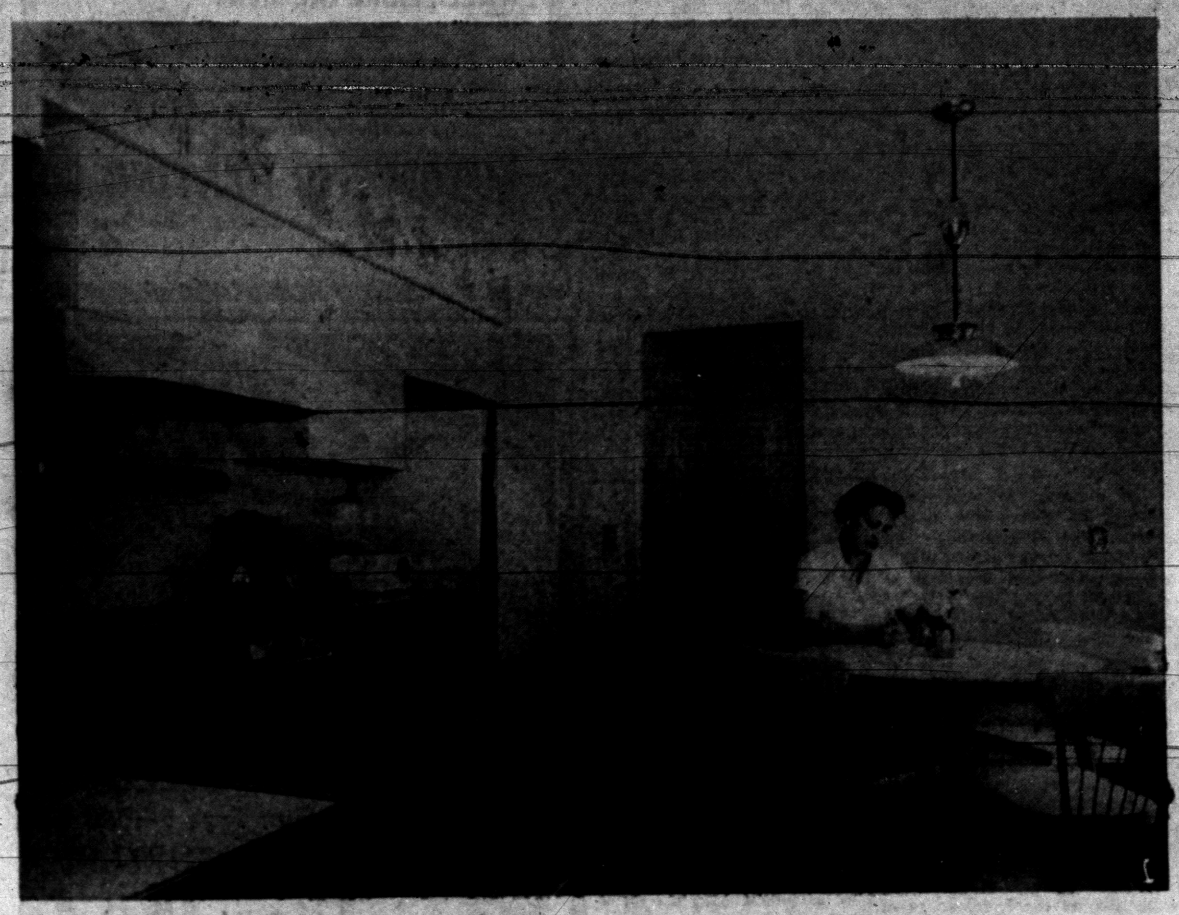
background for LIVING



AQUA KITCHEN — Mrs. Kohler had an aqua and pink kitchen in her last house. In this one it's aqua and yellow with copper tone for accent. The wallpaper on the soffit shows a gay French village scene. Walls behind the breakfast table are aqua. The metal of the table and the spindle back chairs is brown, rather than black, which blends with the room's other colors. Counter tops are brown and beige.

Your Neighbor's House

Carl Kohlers Buy First House Built on Waterford Hill

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

You've heard of people who buy presents for someone, then like the presents so well they keep them themselves! Builder Carl Kohler fell in love with the first house he built on Waterford Hill and bought it for his family. Now he's busy building more houses for his future neighbors.

Waterford Hill Manor is the name of the subdivision now in the process of construction on Waterford Hill. Mr. Kohler has been working on the houses for over a year. Although the one he now occupies with his family is a design they planned, it was not originally meant for them.

Living in Birmingham, the Kohler family was perfectly satisfied with their home and had no intention of moving so far out into the country. Daughter Charlene has a bank job in a Detroit suburb and teenager Carl Jr., was settled in school. Mrs. Kohler was against any move northward. That is, all these things were true until the house began to take shape.

"The more we came out here the closer the distance to Detroita seemed," Mrs. Kohler says. "Pretty soon it didn't seem any ways at all." That did it; they bought the house and finished it for themselves.

Now Charlene doesn't mind the daily drive at all. Carl is delighted with all the attractions country living has. And the senior Kohlers are more than pleased with their move.

On a 190x250 foot lot the Kohler home takes up 91 feet in length, 34 feet 8 inches in width. It is made of Norman brick in a new coral red shade. The roof is concrete tile, a product manufactured in Detroit but not used a great deal in this area yet. The original tile roofs of this kind came from New Zealand. They never need replacing and are self ventilating. The only part of the exterior that needs any upkeep is the white trim.

One of the chief virtues of the Kohler house plan is that any room except the den may be entered without going through another room. The sleeping and living areas are separated.

In the hall, the living room, dining room and den the carpeting is the new shaggy type. All except the last mentioned have beige color underfoot. Walls, and draperies are also beige. The drop cove ceiling is white. There is a gold thread running through the semi-sheer material of the draperies.

The contemporary fireplace is faced with white marble, set in a frame painted to match the walls. The wall between the living room and the vestibule is ribbed glass with shelves built on the living room side.

Against one wall and around the corner where there are two tall windows there is a sectional sofa. This is covered in an aqua nubby fabric. Lamp tables are all walnut.

At the opposite end of the room there is a pair of gold satin damask arm chairs with a table between. Mr. Kohler's brown arm chair is beside the window nearest the fireplace. The only wall decorations to date are oriental flower panels with gilt flowers and leaves in a gilded frame.

The dining room has contemporary Widdicomb furniture in mahogany and cherry. The chairs set around the oval table are upholstered in several shades of blue. Above the long buffet there is a mirror.

The turf style rug in the den is brown and beige. Here the walls are paneled in oak. The room has a door to the two-car garage as well as to the back yard. Draperies are white with an occasional copper thread showing through and a diamond design of rust and brown.

Four contemporary chairs with wood frames and brilliant rust cushions are placed around a low circular coffee table. There are four wedge shaped individual tables that fit under the circular table. All have white Formica tops. Above the table hangs a white bubble lamp.

Curtains are white with

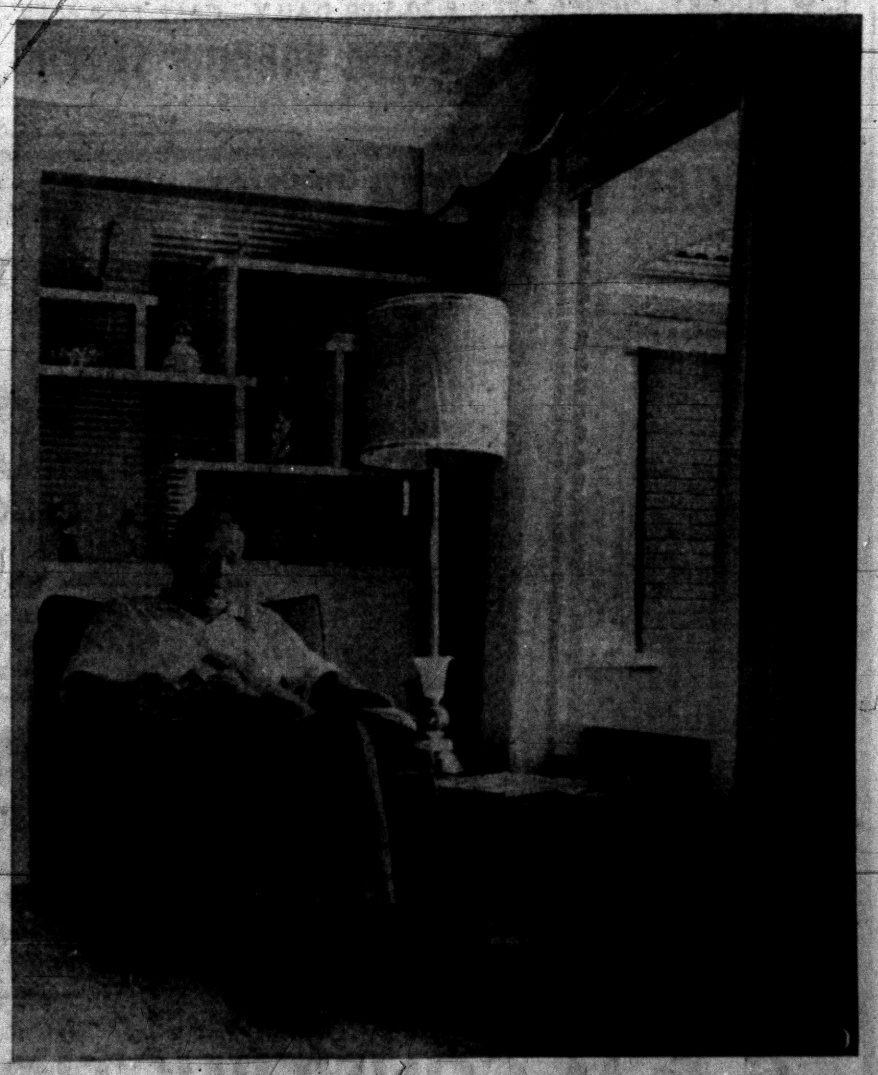
ON WATERFORD HILL — This picture of the Carl Kohler home was taken in apple blossom time. We wanted it then, even though the rest of the house wasn't ready for pictures. This 91 foot house has an attached two-car garage on one end. The right side of the house has part of the basement exposed. This lower level is 69 feet in length. The exterior is coral color Norman brick. Berkshire Villa Homes did the building; the Kohlers did the planning.

IT TAKES A LONG ONE — The Kohlers needed a very long sectional sofa to fit into the space they had planned for it. Against the beige of walls, draperies and carpeting, the aqua sofa stands out in bold contrast. Planters can be used as room decoration; note how well the one above looks in the window corner. The lamp on the right is just one of the unusual ones in this living room.



A CORNER FOR READING — Mr. Kohler has his own deep armchair right next to the window. A tall lamp with an aqua shade promises night time light. The divider wall behind the chair has ribbed glass as a backing for the little shelves. All the living room and dining room windows are tall like the one shown here.

The "Peynter's Guild" in England, way back in the years 1200 and 1300, worked closely with the Saddlers, as much of their time was spent in painting and decorating saddles.

Mark All Pipes and Valves

Householders usually find it helpful to identify the various pipes and valves in the basement or utility room. Particularly in an emergency, when it is necessary to shut off the water, it is quite an advantage to know which pipe leads where and which valve controls the water supply to a certain fixture or group of fixtures.

There are three general ways of identifying valves and pipe, the National Association of Plumbing Contractors explains.

Identification may be made by tags, plates, or by painted color designation.

Many plumbing contractors regularly carry in stock a supply of tags made especially for marking valves and pipe. The next time a plumbing contractor is in your home, it is suggested that you ask him to identify the valves and pipe for you and attach tags to them.

It is, of course, particularly important to know the location of the main shut off valve which controls the supply of water for the entire house. This should not only be properly marked, but all members of the family should be instructed where it is.

Identification is also important for the sewer pipe under the lawn. When a new house is being built, the plumbing contractor will gladly supply a diagram of the location of buried pipe. This should be carefully framed and posted in the basement or utility room. If it is ever necessary to service the buried pipe, it will be a great convenience to know where it is located.

TIP-DOWN DESK—Every executive needs an office, and Mother is no exception. Here, in her kitchen domain, the head of the household department has a compact installation including a tip-down desk, telephone, and filing space for recipes and menus. This executive suite was built right into a space under the counter of a divider section and was made of elegant champagne colored west coast hemlock to match the rest of the kitchen cabinets.

Check House, Then Leave!

Invest an extra few minutes at departure time and save worry later, advises an automobile travel authority, who urges vacationers to see that their homes are in good order before driving off to their favorite resorts.

"It's very discouraging, in the middle of a swimming party, tennis game or canoe trip, to start wondering whether you left a gas jet open at home," says Leonard M. van Noppen, senior vice president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporation, the nation's largest independent automobile and truck financing company.

Pre-vacation check - ups for cars and homes are almost equally important for peace of mind and safety while traveling, according to van Noppen, who supervises the C.I.T. fleet of 1100 company-owned cars. Here are a few of his reminders for the home check-up.

Leave a copy of your itinerary and your car license number with a neighbor for use in emergencies. Advise local police of your absence and expected date of return, and they'll be glad to check your house and property.

Securely lock windows and doors. Turn off hot water and other gas appliances, and be sure to turn off the outside water faucet.

Then pull the main electric switch and remove perishable foods from the refrigerator. Mr. van Noppen reminds vacation-bound home owners to store lawn furniture and tools in a safe place.

Arrange for proper care of your pets and notify the milkman and newspaper boy to stop deliveries during the period you plan to be away. Don't invite local thieves by advertising your absence.

Have your mail picked up and forwarded. Regarding insurance policies, van Noppen cautions, make sure premiums have been paid and won't lapse during the time of your vacation trip.

Plan Shade on West

The western exposure of a home is always the warmest, because it is subjected to the most intense heat for a longer part of the day. Therefore, for summer comfort, it's a good idea to plan a carport or garage on that side; shade trees, or a trellis with vines, also are effective methods for keeping that side cooler.

Discoloration of Paint on Eastern Homes Solved

RUTHERFORD, N. J. — Technicians representing the New Jersey State Department of Health and the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association of Washington, D. C. visited the Rutherford area to examine homes on which a mysterious discoloration had occurred recently.

One of the houses with greatest discoloration is owned by Peter Malarkey at 62 Elycroft Parkway. He has lived there for 17 years and this is the first time his beautiful white house has been subject to such a gas attack.

Mr. George G. Sward, Director of the Scientific Section of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association stated that the discoloration was due to the reaction of hydrogen gas forming lead sulfide on the surface of the paint. He has made similar studies in previous years and found that such gas from dry or stagnant streams or marsh areas was the major source of the type of discoloration which occurred in Rutherford.

In examing Mr. Malarkey's house, Mr. Sward said, he believes the discoloration will disappear through normal weathering. This has happened in other areas, but the period of time for this to occur varies according to weather conditions.

Mr. Sward washed some boards on Mr. Malarkey's house with a solution of laundry bleach and then rinsed with clear water. Mr. Malarkey examined the washed boards and said, "The boards look satisfactory to me. That's the way I would like to see the whole house."

Mr. Lester A. Barrer, Senior Public Health Engineer, agreed that the discoloration was probably due to the hydrogen gases formed in a nearby swamp area which due to peculiar weather conditions enveloped the homes in a high concentration in a very short period of time. One of the reasons some houses were affected more than others is because gas is not of equal concentration in the air.

Examination of the area around Rutherford by the technicians showed that while a large number of homes were affected, only a very few showed serious staining. To remove this type of discoloration, Mr. Sward recommends washing with a solution of one part laundry bleach to four parts of water. Then rinse carefully with clear water and the discoloration should disappear.

Wood Prevents Fogging

The case of the foggy windows has been solved. It was due to metal sash and window frames. The reason: metal is a conductor of heat and cold. Moisture inside and outside a room forms on the metal sash, runs down over the windows, sometimes freezes, and almost always fogs up windows. Cure: use wooden sash, like durable Douglas fir, for moisture won't condense on wood, which is a non-conductor of heat and cold.

More than 500 pounds of aluminum are now used in the average mobile home, creating a market in excess of 500 million pounds a year.

The foot of a ladder should be placed as far out from the house as one-quarter the length of the ladder.

SOLID COMFORT — Comfortable chairs, a pleasant view (day or night) and a nearby table for food or drink — all add up to comfort in this den. The walls are paneled in oak. The shaggy turf rug is beige and brown. Bright rust cushions and a rust design in the draperies add some color to the room. This room has an outside door to the backyard, also one to the garage.

They Never Meant to Buy the House!

bands of aqua trimming. The round breakfast table has a plastic top resembling wood on the outside rim and white marble in the center. Legs are brown. Chair seats and paddedbacks have fine brown lines on white.

Between the kitchen and the master bedroom is a lavatory. This is done in tan and white with quaint colonial paper above the tan tile. Curtains are tan and white striped.

The bedspread is cream colored with copper threads woven through it. This same material is used for the draperies except that it has a beige, brown and pink design scattered on it. One pink and one brown pillow on the bed bring out the same colors in the draperies. The double-doored closet is louvered.

The bathroom is pink with three shades of pink tile making up the floor pattern. Fixtures are pink. Aqua wallpaper has pink flowers. A long vanity with two basins has a pink and gray marbelized top.

Charlene's room is quiet and lovely and feminine. Her rug is a cream one with a deep pile. Walls and draperies are pink. Her furniture is bleached mahogany. The bookcase headboard of the bed has cane panels. Dust ruffle and bedspread are American beauty shade.

A lamp on the dresser is interesting. The base is a Venetian glass vase in many colors. The shade is covered with a tiny plaid in pinks and greens. Each line of the plaid is only one thread wide.

Carl Junior's room opens into both the front hall and the bedroom hall. His walls are pale green and his carpeting brown, beige and green tweed. Panels depicting fish and game are irregularly spaced on the green draperies. The bedspread is rust colored corduroy.

Their view of the lake, their back garden, their spacious home all please the Kohlers. A dividend of living on Waterford Hill is the occasional appearance of a buck and a doe on their way down to the lake to drink.

It's OK to Cut Some Corners

If this means gaining more space, fine, say contractors, but if it means compromising on the quality of materials it my result in higher and more frequent repair bills.

The room should be designed to exploit durable materials such as ceramic tile, glass and steel. These can be employed in harmony with knotty pine, for example, and will stand the gaff of constant wear and tear.

1. Ceiling. Drop ceiling to hide pipes and added wiring.

2. Walls. Old partitions can be knocked out and new knotty pine walls built dividing auciliary rooms such as those housing furnace and lavatory. Steel posts supporting the floors above can be boxed in simulating beams

3. Floor. Quarry tile is ideal for floors. Crackproof and stainproof, it will stand anything from a jam session to a shuffle board game.

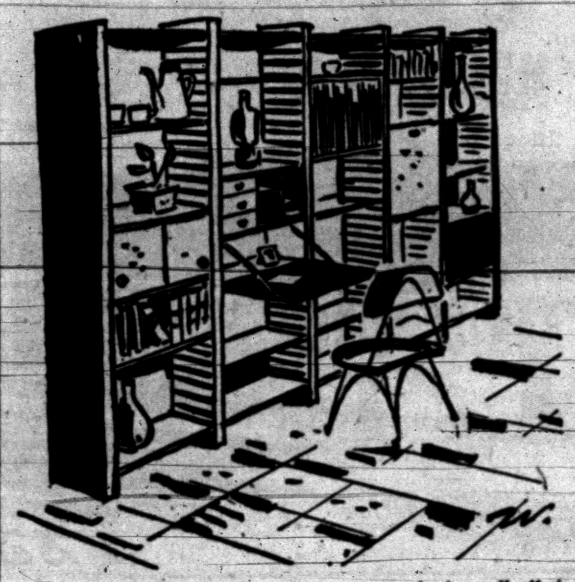
5. Bar. Knotty pine fits well again here and a back-bar of glass recessed into the wall not only serves its purpose, but provides a neat contrast to the wood.

6. Television set. This also can be recessed neatly in a wall which actually may be nothing more than a false front to hide water and gas meters.

7. Doors. Give some thought to doors of flush birch in panel design. Of course, if a fire door is advisable, then steel is the best material.



TREASURE WALL — Have you ever seen a busier wall offering so much actual use for every member of the family? Built of one-by-twelve inch finish Douglas fir, it is attractive and functional, and occupies only a foot along this wall. Desk tips up when not in use. Some shelves are adjustable. Each unit can be built to fit varied family needs. Finish it in clear varnish for beauty.

Easy to Make Cutting Board for Sewing Fan

A good-looking and functional cutting board can be fashioned by bonding a piece of predecorated hardboard to a sheet of plain hardboard. The predecorated paneling's baked plastic finish is easy to keep clean and it cannot snag threads. Pastel colors available, such as a green, are restful to the eyes.

To make it really worthwhile, the cutting board should be of a size that the biggest piece of a pattern can be spread out on it.

The cutting board might be hinged to a wall so that it swings down to rest on a table or other solid base when needed. Or it might be hinged to a table in the manner of a drop leaf. Or it can be portable.

If located in the same room where the laundry is done, the cutting board can double as a clothes sorting board.

Here's a new instant cleaner for car upholstery, said to be the first to be equally efficient at cleaning leather, vinyl, nylon and all woven fabrics. Called "Easy Glamur," it's made by Glamur Products Inc., Syracuse, N. Y.

Metal Venetian Blinds Need Flexible Coating

Metal Venetian blinds are coated in continuous strips literally miles long. Both sides are covered simultaneously — sometimes in two colors at the same time. The coating is then baked at a high temperature for about one minute.

The strips are cooled and stored in coils, sometimes for two or three months, until blinds are fabricated from the strips. Meanwhile, the coating must remain flexible to withstand cutting to length, puching holes for tapes, and other assembly line operations to produce the finished blinds.

DRESS UP ATTIC — Least expensive floor space in your home for conversion to living is your attic. Here is a prime example of an attic that has been made into a boy's room at very little cost. It works as well for a guest room. Walls were paneled in tongue-and-groove Douglas fir boards and desk and bunk bed with lower storage compartments were made of the same material. All wood was finished in clear varnish to make the room light and cheerful.

Strip Lights Add to Decor

Just about any room in your home can take on new decorative and illuminating dimensions through imaginative use of strip lighting.

Strip lighting is created with fluorescent tube lamps covered with baffles in the nature of valances, cornices and the like. Tube lamps can be ranged end to end to make whatever length of lighting fixture is desired.

Baffle structures can be made and outfitted by the home handyman. The lighting strips can be designed for general illumination, direct illumination, or both. Besides improving lighting they can afford such decorative effects as dramatic contrast of light and shadow, seeming enlargement of a room, or emphasis of pattern or texture of room features.

A favorable location for lighting strips is valances over windows, duplicating the source of natural daytime light. Lighted valances can also show the pattern of drapes. The lighting tubes should be mounted far enough out from the wall so that the drapery does not block downward light.

Lighting strips can also be installed on wall areas. If the light casts both up to the ceiling and down on the walls, the room seems bigger and light is brighter.

While the living room or den might come to mind first in plans for strip lighting, there are other spots where it can be effective. A strip above the head of the bed, for example, can serve both for reading and general light. Strips under cabinets and shelves can provide direct illumination for kitchen and laundry work.

Radar Protects Home

Premises can be protected from intruders with a new device called "Radar-Eye" which uses the same principles of radar protection employed in national defense. The compact unit made by Radar-Eye Corp., Natick, Mass., detects by radar any movement within a radius of 25 feet, turns on flood lights and sets off a screaming siren.

Do's and Don't on Care of Rugs

The National Institute of Rug Cleaners has issued some important "don'ts" on rug care.

Don't use ammonia or ammonia compounds or other strong alkalies such as wall cleaners on rugs or carpets. These may cause bleeding of dyes and can even damage the rug fibers.

Don't ever use soap on rugs. Soap leaves a film which attracts fresh dirt. For quick treatment of spills in the home, use a neutral detergent.

Don't beat rugs, the backing may break. shaking or snapping small rugs may have the same effect. Clean daily with a carpet sweeper which is well adapted to frequent light pickups.

Vacuum carefully once or twice a week depending on the traffic. A careful vacuuming may require up to seven strokes over each area.

Thorough professional cleaning at least once a year to take out adhesive atmospheric soil or prevent soil from getting into the nap.

Don't Use Newspaper to Wrap Lamp Shades

One of the prime "don'ts" in packing household goods for moving, according to a moving company, is not to wrap light-colored lamp shades with newspaper.

Although newsprint normally is used in great quantities when you're readying your household goods for a move, this is one instance when it's best to use something else. The print is apt to rub off on the shade and ruin it.

Use the Proper Paint

Exterior enamel is the type of nonchalking finish to use for both metal and wood porch and garden furniture. Be sure to use a proper primer o both metal and wood surfaces before the finishing coat is applied.

IN NORTHOVER FARMS — A model home, the "Balmoral," is now open in Northover Farms, west of Adams road, just north of East Long Lake road. The face brick bi-level home with white trim has three bedrooms and two and a half baths. There are two fireplaces, one in the living room, the other in the family room. A covered patio in the rear provides for comfortable outdoor living. This model sells for $38,575 plus the lot. Viewing hours are 1-9 daily. The homes are built by Clifford A. Ross of Royal Oak.

Luxury Homes Planned in New Subdivision

The Clifford A. Ross Company of Royal Oak are just opening a new development of better homes in the highest requirement area of Bloomfield Township on the west side of Adams road between Eighteen and Eighteen and a half Mile road. They have taken over the remainder of the Vernon L. Patch property which lays between Eastover Farms and Kentmoor.

This marks the passing of another of the old original family farms of Oakland County Mr. Vernon L. Patch who died last fall at the age of 97 was born in the home now standing on this property. His widow and son still occupy the old homestead.

This is the latest of a series of developments by Mr. Ross over the past several years. Mr. Ross comes from a long line of builders. He is a second generation of Scotch people who were builders in Scotland as well as builders and farmers in the United States.

Northover Farms sweeps up westward from Adams road rising to curved streets, lots with nice trees, through an orchard, with a new grade school immediately across the road from the west end of the property. The area is centrally located with respect to Birmingham, Pontiac, Rochester, the industrial corridor growing out Mound Road. It is conveniently located to schools or has school buses, convenient to commuter; also will be convenient to the new college development taking place in this area in the near future.

The type of development that Mr. Ross specializes in is neither conventional or contemporary on the whole. He tries to adapt that which is best from both. He feels that one should hang on to that which is good until you find something better; but always be alert to the possibility of that something better coming along and when it does, to use it.

Lots average just under an acre in size, with 34 homesites planned for the 30 acres. Black top roads and driveways are put in by the builder.

The homes which are basementless and of face brick are bi-level and tri-level. All have two and a half ceramic tiled baths and one to three fireplaces. The kitchens feature built-in ranges, ovens, dishwashers, fans and waste disposers. Each house has a family room.

Buyers have a choice of seven elevations from which to choose. All have two-car attached garages. Prices start at $33,975, plus lot. The model home is now open on Northover Drive, just west of Adams road. Sales are handled by Wolcott Real Estate of Royal Oak.

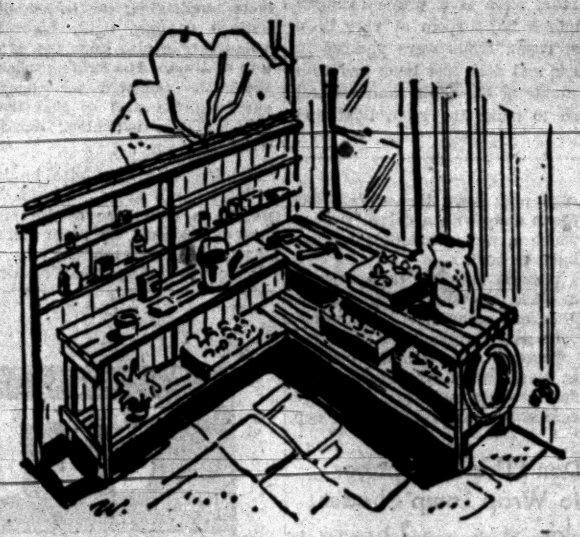
The superbly illustrated 36-page booklet explains many methods of finishing plywoods such as bleaching, staining, painting, color toning, etc. Sample topics are: Preparing the Surface; Method of Application; Interior and Exterior Finishes; Suggested Uses for Plywood, and How and When to Apply Finishes. The booklet contains 36 pages and 68 full-color illustrations showing how the various plywoods look after they are finished, plus full-color decorating ideas and suggestions for use of plywood in the home.

About 1,000,000 homes in the U.S. will be heated electrically by 1960, according to industry predictions.



GARDENER'S HIDEAWAY — Here's a gardener's hideaway designed to utilize an odd corner of the back yard. This intriguing installation was fitted into the corner formed by one side of the home and a screening fence. The gardener is sheltered by fence and house from prevailing winds, and passers-by are spared the unsightly clutter of gardening apparatus. Shelves built along one side of the fence and a double-decker work bench provide storage space for tools, seeds, and baby plants. The screening fence matches the western red cedar siding of the home, and the work bench was made of sturdy Douglas fir.

Realties Merge With New Idea

Offer 'Build-It-Yourself' Prefabricated Homes in Pontiac Area

Two area real estate agencies have merged with a new idea in "build-it-yourself" pre-fabricated homes.

The newly-formed Smith-Crawford Inc. has two offices in Rochester, at 1598 E. Auburn Rd. and 3390 S. Rochester Rd.

One member of the new team is Ernest R. Crawford, veteran Pontiac real estate broker who has run the Crawford Agency at 53½ W. Huron St. the past six years. The other is P. T. Smith, who has headed an agency at the Auburn road address.

The new company is offering Smith-Crawford Easybilt Homes, a new product engineered by Place Homes Inc. in South Bend, Ind.

The product is described as a low-cost, VA and FHA-approved ranch-type house, which can be assembled easily by the purchaser under company supervision.

With three bedrooms, living room, kitchen, dining area and carport, a special feature is the inclusion of pre-fabricated plumbing, heating, wiring and tile. The purchaser provides the foundation himself.

The company is offering the homes within a 25-mile radius of Pontiac. A model is on display at 1598 E. Auburn Rd.

Simple Entry Is Friendly

For instance, have you noticed the contemporary homes being built today, how lovely they look, yet how simple they are in design and style?

Probably no place or no feature of the modern home more typifies this simplicity to do the entrance areas, once notably decorative and overdone with gingerbread.

Today, the architect depends upon line and form, upon the simple strength of an exposed timber, rafter or post and the subtle texture of wood siding and framing lumber for his effect and his beauty.

Designers and architects are finding that they have another medium with which to try for impact and attention besides line, form and texture and this is color. Wood can be finished so many different ways. It can be stained, varnished, painted. Combinations of color can be used to emphasize vertical and horizontal sections of walls.

Getting back to the use of line and form, some architects extend the rafters of the home to form an overhang over the entrance. A facia board along the end of the rafters makes a neat and attractive overhead area which combines structural and decorative properties. The combination of lines with texture in these exposed overhang sections creates a simple and friendly entrance offering shelter from the elements.

Converging lines of overhead rafters and vertically installed support posts serve to call attention to the entry way itself, which generally is the center of this greatly simplified spider web of exposed wood posts and rafters.

As a general rule, the most simple entrances are the most friendly.

Plan Porch Carefully for Maximum Use

Porches should be arranged to afford the most enjoyment by the family. If late afternoon lounging is desired, then a porch on the south or west side of the house is ideal, unless of course you live in an extra hot climate, when the shadiest side of the house should be selected.

Planners should be sure that there is ready access to the porch from the house. A porch used as an entrance will naturally open into the hall or living room. However, porches placed otherwise should have access to both the living room and the kitchen.

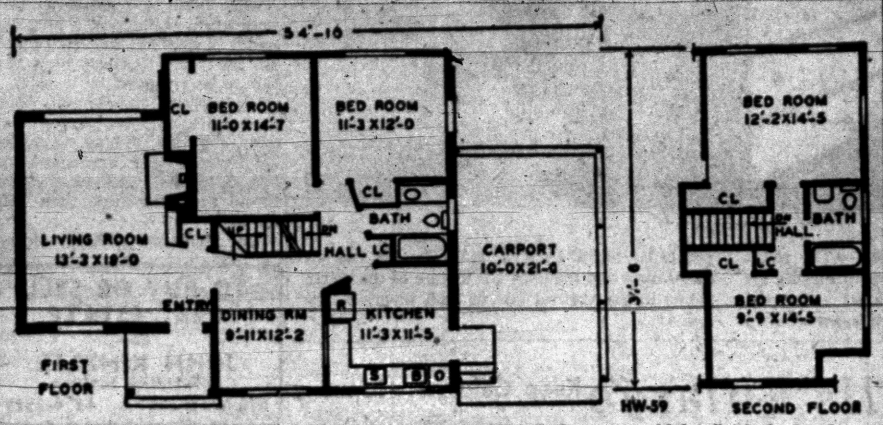
HOMEY LOOKING — The exterior has a homey traditional look. In this version of the house the double above-ground windows of the English basement are in the rear of the house. There's a carport at one side of this frame home with a covered front entrance.



BASIC FLOOR PLAN — This basic floor plan of first and second floor remains the same regardless of basement layout desired. The two upstairs bedrooms could be finished at a later date.

Adaptable Plan Ideal for Sloping Lot

By ANDREW C. LANG

Whatever the lay of your land, here is a house to take advantage of it.

It's an unusually attractive and livable four-bedroom, two-bath house that can be put up on property that often is passed by. It's ideal for those sloping city or suburb lots often convenient to schools and commuting, and has been designated as HW-59 in The House of The Week Series.

Architect Herbert W. Neumann has achieved adaptability through the use of alternate plans without a single change in the basic design. He gives a modern touch to an old device—the English basement, with its outside entrance and double above-ground windows.

By having the basement, as a playroom, at the rear in one version, the house nestles snugly on land which is lower at the back than at the front.

In the alternate plan, with the basement-playroom at the front, the house is perfectly suited to a plot which slopes the other way. In either case, the basement can be entered from the outside or from a stairway in the center of the first floor.

That outside entrance will come in mighty handy when the kids can't make up their mind from one hour to the next whether they want to stay indoors or outdoors.

The versatility of this plan is an "extra" in a house with basically sound features for good living. There are two bedrooms, a bath, a living room, a dining room and a kitchen on the first floor; two bedrooms and a bath on the second.

This living area of 1,530 square feet — set on a plot 41 feet, 2 inches wide without the carport and 30 feet deep — is another example of the old saying that the real budget house goes up rather than spreads out.

The covered front entrance leads to a living room which has both a front and rear exposure, built-in book shelves and a fireplace.

An open stair gives a feeling of spaciousness to an already generously-sized dining room. The other side of the stair section leads down to the basementplay-room.

The modern kitchen has a wall oven, a counter range, a corner space for eating and a pass-through to the dining room. There's cupboard and storage space aplenty. A kitchen entrance from the carport is convenient in wet weather for the whole family, and at all times for the children.

A carport is shown for economy, by any builder could wall it in for a garage — a two-car garage if space permits. Of course, it could be eliminated entirely if desired.

The stairs, a hall, a large bathroom and a linen closet effectively separate the dining room-kitchen area from the two bedrooms in the rear. The bathroom is easily accessible to both bedrooms, as well as to the kitchen and living area.

If the two upstairs bedrooms are not needed by you at the present time, the first cost of constructing Design HW-59 can be cut by leaving them unfinished when the house is built. They can be built at a later date to your specifications or as a do-it-yourself project.

The stair leading to the upper bedrooms is centrally located, so that a turn in either direction at the top leads to one of the rooms. Both upper bedrooms and the bathroom are generous in size. And there's storage space under the dormers which can be reached through the back bedroom.

There's a comfortable, traditional look about the outside of this house. It has a "homey" appearance, both in the regular and alternate designs.

Efficient but Dangerous

Many buyers of old Colonial farm houses in New England states have discovered during remodeling that the walls were insulated with dried seaweed. The seaweed did a good job, too, in keeping the Colonial houses warmer in winter and cooler in summer, plus helping to save fuel. But unlike modern mineral wool, the seaweed attracted vermin and was a serious fire hazard.

Wood Natural Insulator

The greatest heat loss in winter and heat infiltration in summer is through the walls, heating experts claim. Homes built with wood sheathing and wood siding placed on stud walls have the highest insulating value, because wood is a natural insulator and stud walls give added air pocket.

Why it pays to use
Kiln-dried LUMBER
Kiln-drying is the modern method which, through controlled seasoning, prepares lumber for the best results in its many final uses. Weyerhaeuser 4-Square kiln-dried lumber offers these important advantages:
1. Dimensional Stability. Kiln-drying pre-conditions lumber, reduces natural moisture, prepares it to better resist dimensional changes.
2. Finish and Workability. This factory seasoned lumber is easy to work, holds nails better, takes finishes beautifully.
3. Strength and Durability. Kiln-drying both lightens and strengthens lumber, contributes to structural durability.

Gals, Throw Away Your Clothespins!

NEW YORK (AP) — The classic picture of a doughty housewife hanging out the wash on a windy day with clothespins clutched between her teeth is getting dimmer every day.

Among new products this week is a new type of clothesline which is said to hold the wash secuely even in winds of 100 miles per hour — and without clothespins.

Called "Pin-O-Matic," it consists of two solid steel lines coated with white bakelite, twisted together to form a strong spring grip. A device called a "Spreader" separates the two lines so a corner of the wash can be held between the lines. The maker is Dennan Manufacturing Co., Providence, R. I.

Revive Rugs With Paint

Are your fiber porch rugs faded and drak-looking? Give them new life, new color with regular house paint thinned considerably. Be sure to use the type of thinner recommended by the manufacturer on the label. Otherwise you may run into trouble. Do the painting on a flat area on the lawn, or you can work right on the porch. Make sure, though, that several layers of newspaper are under the rug before you begin to paint it.

NEWS VIEWS

Sometimes it seems as though everything goes in circles. The newest discoveries often prove that old ways weren't so bad. Some modern doctors now admit that primitive witch doctors who visit their patients in oversized Halloween masks and spend their time beating gourds and cooking up charms may have something besides a racket.

Civilized M.D.'s know that a lot of sickness is mental as well as physical . . . so when a voodoo Doc jigs around like a hen on a hot rock and babbles a batch of backwoods double-talk, he's working on the patient's mind and making him think he'll get well as sure as ducks quack. So don't be surprised if your family Doc shows up in a mask and grass skirt, beating a goatskin drum. He's willing to learn.

A Chicago thief broke into a candy company and stole a set of keys that will unlock 15 candy stores. There's a fellow who's planning on a sweet future.

The sweetest part of most people's future is the thought of that "home, sweet home" they've been dreaming about and working toward. Remember, the way to begin making that dream come true is to choose the lot to build it on . . . and remember, for a fine choice of lots in excellent locations,

TEXTURE IS THE ANSWER — The rough texture of natural wood has a warm affinity for all growing things, since it is itself a material of nature. This planter of rough sawn western red cedar forms an ideal mate for the flowers and shrubs and matches the texture of the cedar siding in the vertical boards with inverted battens.

Partial Walls Enlarge Usefulness of Rooms

Open floor plans, where areas for different activities blend into one another, give a house a sense of spaciousness and friendly informality. But without sacrificing these advantages, one can enhance the looks and function of an interior by adding a "partial wall."

Most ofte, the partial wall helps define areas, but does not completely block off adjacent areas. Even when a view-screening effect is desired, some openings may be provided at top or bottom to permit light to pass through and to keep some visual contact between areas.

A low partial wall probably would be wanted between kitchen and family room, allowing Mother to watch youngsters and to keep in touch with everyone as she prepares the meal. The top of this wall can act as a serving counter.

A high barrier is indicated between the kitchen and a more formal dining room. This arrangement spares guests and the family from seeing kitchen mealtime clutter. Still, the wall need not go all the way to the ceiling.

The token separation of a low wall is appropriate between dining and living areas, if a divider is wanted. A relatively low wall may also do well next to some stairways, where it doubles as a protective rail.

In the typical living room of newer houses where there is no entrance vestibule, a high wall can make up for the lack. Such a divider can screen both the view and drafts.

Variations in design can qualify divider walls for such extra duties as storage cabinets or planters.

New Patterns for Walls

A new "do-it-yourself" line of wall treatments in rigid vinyl in a variety of fresh decorative schemes, some of them three-dimensional is offered by Decro-Wall Corp., Yonkers, N. Y. easily applied, the line includes bamboo, Aztec stone and contemporary grid, as well as the familiar brick and stone motifs. They're washable, fire and stain resistant.

Keep Colors in Harmony

Harmony of color within your home is always desirablee, but it is particularly important in new homes where one room seems to blend into another—as they do, for instance, in modern split-level and ramblers. If your dining room opens directly from your living room and is plainly visible from it, you would be wise to pick up the predominant dining room color from one of the secondary colors used in your living room.

High humidity from cooking and washing can damage paint on the exterior of a house. This excess moisture can be removed by installing a ventilating fan in the kitchen and laundry room.

Right Wiring, Good Care Are Essential

Don't use wiring for purposes for which it is not intended. A lamp cord is perfectly safe when used as a lamp cord, dangerous when used as an appliance cord.

Extension cords are useful, but are not to be used as permanent replacements for additional receptacle outlets.

In doing any outdoor wiring, be sure to use weatherproof wiring and outlets. Don't immerse electric toasters or other appliances with heating elements in water.

Power tools, washing machines and similar heavy-duty apparatus must be grounded. Prompt attention to frayed electrical cords will avoid short circuits.

When there is a possibility of a small child pulling out a plug and poking something into the outlet, use the type of safety plug that cannot be removed by a child.

The average house circuit, which carries a 15-amp fuse, has a maximum capacity of 1,650 watts. All the fixtures and appliances attached to that particular circuit should not total more than 1,650 watts.

Any appliance with an Underwriters Laboratory label on it has the wattage stamped on the name plate, so you can figure out yourself whether the line is overloaded.

Keeping electricity under control may be a little trouble, but it's a small price to pay for safety.

Avoid house painting in the direct rays of the hot sun. You'll keep cooler and obtain better results if you follow the shade around the house.

How to Halt Inflation, Many Have Solutions

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, (AP) — Inflation is damned by almost everyone today. But what to do about it, if anything, splits American thinking wide open.

The nation's money managers say tightening the screws on credit and making money costly to borrow is about to do the trick. But home builders and small businessmen say this threatens to ruin them and could trigger a recession. Some others hold that expensive borrowing just pushes up business costs and helps inflate prices.

Many economists say a natural correction of inflation is already in sight. Let 'em alone, they say, and soaring prices will cure themselves because consumer resistance will shrink demand. That will cut back work in the factories and service trades and take a lot of steam out of labor's wage demands.

The business expansion boom also means that in time there will be even more capacity to produce—maybe too much for awhile—and that will increase competition and check price rises.

Statesmanship on the part of management and labor could end inflation, President Eisenhower says. But others ask: Who is going to start this? And if there are unstatesmanlike holdouts, how can the conformists meet this competition?

The President reminds industry and labor now and then that another solution would be to reinstate direct wage and price controls. Many economists, however, challenge the effectiveness of these in practice, and Congress is definitely hostile to any such unpopular move in peacetime.

A few insist that a cut in taxes could help halt inflation. They argue that it would produce more risk capital, leading to more production of consumer and capital goods to match the amount of money and credit now in circulation—which they say is higher than ever, no matter how tight money may seem. It's the swollen demand for credit they blame now. More risk capital would take some of this pressure off the credit supply.

There is a sizable and vocal group who believe that the creeping variety of inflation won't hurt us—so long as it doesn't stand up and run.

They argue that if prices and wages rise only 2 or 3 per cent each year, the effect will be slight, and preferable to running the risk of a business slowdown and unemployment which deflation might bring.

At the opposite extreme are the economists who think the money managers should make money much tigher than it is now and drain off a sizable amount of the money and credit that has built up since 1940. They argue this would not only halt inflation but even restore some of the purchasing power of your dollar.

Waterford Gets Help for Law Enforcement

Between 40 and 50 Waterford Township men have volunteered to help with police work in cooperation with the Civil Defense program now under way in the area, according to supervisor Elmer Johnson.

At 8 p.m. Tuesday, State Trooper Gerald Tafel will be in the Township hall to begin instruction regarding the project, and all men who have filled out applications have been urged to be present.

Almost four-fifths of all Canada's population is native-born.

Malenkov Leaves Soon to Accept New Post

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet government spokesman says former Premier Georgi Malenkov will leave for his new post as manager of a hydroelectric station at UST Kamenogorsk "in a few days."

The spokesman also said V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich, ousted from their Kremlin jobs along with Malenkov, have accepted "positions offered them." He did not say what posts they had been given.

Can You Blame Him for Being Suspicious?

Introducing Gov. Goodwin Knight to a Republican meeting the night before, Mayor Olson affably told the assemblage:

A fuse blew, the public address microphone went dead and the hall was plunged into darkness.

AC Sparkplug Division Gets $38 Million Pact

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Air Force has awarded a 38 million dollar defense contract to the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors Corp.

W. B. Milner, AC manager of operations here, said the order covers research, development and production of inertial guidance systems for ballistic missiles.

Discuss Laws of Transportation to Area Schools

ROCHESTER — The Board of Education of Rochester Community Schools, at its regular meeting discussed the new transportation regulations established by the legislature during the 1956-57 session.

A clause in the state aid bill changes the reimbursement for the transportation of pupils from a mile limit to a mile and a half. This means that children transported within a mile and a half of the school which they attend will be done so at the cost of the local district.

Statistics furnished by Assistant Supt. Richard F. Hutzenga who directs the transportation program, indicate that the district will lose approximately $30,000 per year because of the new regulations.

Henry L. Purdy, Board Secretary, stated that he feels one-and-a-half miles along some of our roads and highways is too much to expect of a small child.

After considerable discussion, a motion was made and passed that for the 1957-58 school year, all elementary children (Grades kindergarten to 6) living outside of one mile limit from the school they attend will be transported. All secondary children (Grades 7-12) living outside of one and a half miles from either the junior or senior high school will be transported.

Ike Granddaughter Takes Up Golf, Too

Barbara Anne practiced approach shots for a while, then joined her nine-year-old brother, David—an old hand at the game—on the putting green.

Her husband, Harry, 40, a passenger in the auto, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for mouth lacerations and released.

Gordon W. Brinkman, 18, of 73 N. Francis St., told police his auto was stopped for a traffic light on S. Saginaw street near Whittemore street when the Krause auto struck his in the rear.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear husband and father, Ernie S. France, Who passed away July 11, 1956.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who lose can tell,
The grief we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
Someday, sometime our eyes shall see,
The face we keep in memory,
And God will link the broken chain
Still closer when we meet again
Sadly missed by wife & family.

Scanner Rejects Pits

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. — Electronic sorters may take over a food-inspectors job considered hard to automate. Halves of cling peaches retaining whole pits or fragments are rejected by a new photoelectric scanner.

So delicately balanced are some modern scales that they will register the weight of one human hair.

How Long Will It Remain Intact?

LONDON (AP)—For more than 200 years the No. 10 house on Downing Street has been the home of British prime ministers.

Decay and dry rot are causing concern for its stability today. Prime Minister Macmillan has asked for the appointment of a committee to inspect the building and decide what should be done to save it.

In the House of Lords this week Viscount Esher asked if there was any truth to rumors that the houses at 10, 11 and 12 Downing Street were to be pulled down.

Lord Mancroft replied that a 1954 survey "gave rise to some concern about the stability" of the houses. Poor subsoil and decay of the timber supports were contributing to the trouble.

Occupants of No. 10 have been complaining about it for a long time, said Sir Winston Churchill: "It was shaky and lightly built."

Youngman to Brave TV on Julius LaRosa Show

BY JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Henny Youngman, who spoke his critical mind on the subject of all TV comedians, will expose his talents to their counter attacks July 27 on the Julius La Rosa Show . . .

The same show will have two of the most talented of the younger TV set: Edye Gorme and Steve Lawrence.

Met star Patrice Munsel's ABC-TV show starting Oct. 18 will shrug off operatics and lean heavily on Broadway show and pop songs, comedy, dancing and big-name guests . . .

Elena Verdugo and Marvin Kaplan, starred on "Meet Millie" for 4½ years, are teaming up for a nightclub act. Elena also signed to star in an independent film, "Panama Sal" . . .

Jim Elward, who wrote the very good Patti Page script for the Steel Hour, sold another TV play, "Victim," to the steel show for Wednesday showing. Elward's written only four TV plays and has sold them all.

NO 'FAIR LADY'

Don't get any high hopes for "My Fair Lady" as a TV spectacular — One fairly dependable authority assured us it will run on Broadway long enough for it to be used as one of the big early attractions on subscription TV, with a possible pay-TV gross of $15,000,000.

Sounds like a lot of money, but CBS' 40 per cent of "My Fair Lady" (CBS put up $400,000 cash to produce it) is reported returning $100,000 a month to CBS from its New York and road troupes . . .

Eastman Kodak's purchase of the Sullivan show doesn't mean Kodak is dropping the fine "Ozzie and Harriet" show. They recently were renewed for '57-58. . .

Arlene Dahl said if MGM-TV wants her to star in "The Feminine Touch" it's news to her. What she does have under her millinery are four annual "beauty and fashion color spectaculars in which I would be hostess as well as produce, 'live,' from New York. My agents are at work on this now."

Dunes World's Largest

GLEN HAVEN, Mich. —Sleeping Bear Dunes, on the Lake Michigan shore near Glen Haven, are the world's largest shifting sand dunes. They are on western Michigan's Leelanau peninsula.

Gaskets Nearly Perfect

FALL RIVER, Mass. — The rubber gaskets for sealing jars of baby food are as nearly perfect as man and machine can make them. A Fall River plant manufactures them to tolerances within one two thousandths of an inch.

France's Answer to Presley—Priest

PARIS—Father Aime Duval, 38-year-old Jesuit priest, has become France's answer to Elvis Presley. Recently, on his first Paris appearance, the mild priest, who strums a guitar, was mobbed by 5,000 yelling teenagers outside a theater after he had sung spirituals, religious songs he composed, and a few simple popular songs.

Father Duval, now one of France's top popular singers, started playing a guitar six years ago. His first record, "Seigneur, Mon Ami" (Lord, My Friend), sold 45,000 copies. Some of his songs subsequently were broadcast by Vatican Radio. Today he could be a millionaire, but every franc he earns goes to his Order. He believes that swing, blues and ballads can help him lead others closer to God, he says.

There are 4,792,000 farms in the U. S. today compared with a total of 6,812,000 farm operations in 1935.

Fires on Farms Could Be Cut to Almost Nothing

EAST LANSING (INS) — More than 43 per cent of all fires on farms in the Midwest are caused by heating equipment, gas, oil, wiring and electricity and matches and smoking.

This, according to Richard G. Pfister, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University, could be reduced to practically zero.

The way to reduce these fire hazards on your farm," said Pfister, "is by an annual clean-up and inspection."

Pfister said with this in mind you will soon be able to see that repairs of potential fire hazards in heating equipment, combustible storage, or electrical sources will help reduce the risk.

Lake Orion Youth Wins 4-H Selection

An Oakland County youth, William Middleton, of Lake Orion, has been selected as one of the two representatives from eastern Michigan to appear in the Michigan 4-H show next month in East Lansing.

He was chosen at the conclusion of 4-H club week activities yesterday in East Lansing.

Six boys and six girls will vie in the state contest, where two boys and two girls will be chosen to attend the national 4-H show in Washington, the highest honor a 4-H club member can attain.

Another 4-H club member, Beverly Sanders, of Rochester, has been awarded a farm and garden scholarship of $250 by the Michigan Division of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association. She was one of eight to receive scholarships in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Storm, of Lake Orion; Virginia Waid, of New Hudson, and Kenneth Smith of South Lyon have been elected members of the state 4-H service club because of outstanding 4-H work.
