Orville Calls Firing 'Misunderstanding'

DEARBORN (INS) — Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn has termed his firing of the city's legal staff yesterday "a misunderstanding" and says the attorneys should return to work.

Corporation Counsel Dale H. Fillmore and his three aides were fired yesterday afternoon because they refused to change their opinion on the legality of placing two proposed charter amendments on the April 4 ballot.

Fillmore, informed of the mayor's explanation of the dismissal said:

"For Pete's sake, who does he think he's kidding? When a man says to you you're fired, it means you're fired. I can still understand English."

Meanwhile, Hubbard turned his attention to his own pay and term of office.

The City Council last night approved his recommendation that the city clerk be forced to put on the ballot Hubbard's proposal to hike the mayor's salary to $24,500 annually and to extend the term of office to six years.

Arraign Doctor for 4 Murders

Admits Slaying Wife, Three Children; Setting Fire to Home

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Dr. Ben T. Galbraith, confessed killer of his wife and three young children, calmly read details of his confession in a newspaper after his transfer to jail to await arraignment scheduled today.

The arraignment will be on a murder charge stemming from the bizarre deaths in the family's fire-swept home last Thursday. The 34-year old former president of the Pittsburgh County Medical Society remained under heavy guard last night.

Pittsburgh County Atty. James P. Whyte announced the confession yesterday morning after Galbraith was returned here from Henderson, Tenn., where he was arrested. He was at the Henderson home of his socially prominent mother after attending the burial of his family at Bells, Tenn., his wife's former home.

He constantly professed innocence during the train trip to McAlester but broke down under questioning.

His confession told of hitting his wife over the head with a vermouth bottle and injecting a shot of morphine. It was then, he said, he decided to kill the children by morphine injection.

"They still were breathing and I couldn't set the house afire and wake them up," he related. Then, he said, he gave each a shot of insecticide containing nicotine and set about starting fires throughout the house by using inflammable fluids such as turpentine, kerosene and paint thinner.

He said he then drove to Norman, returned to McAlester and made a hospital call about 9 a.m., feigning surprise when a nurse mentioned the tragedy to him.

After the confession, Whyte asked Galbraith if he wanted anything.

"Yes, I have one favor," he replied. 'I would like to die as quickly and privately as possible."

Whyte said it was the findings of four men which led him to issue a murder warrant. The four were Howard Cowan, editor of the McAlester News-Capital; Fire Chief Ernest Rager; Sheriff Dee Sanders; and Trooper Andy Bidwell.

A broken glass syringe and a bent hypodermic needle were found near the body of Mrs. Galbraith, whose head bore a severe cut. Another syringe with blond hair on it was found near one of the children's beds.

Cowan found a letter which Galbraith said contained his motive. It read, in part: "Despair, frustration, restlessness. All this haunts and tantalizes me. I have sudden yearnings to be alone, away from everything that moves, feels or reacts. . . . I would like to kill myself but I retreat from this. Behind all this trouble I suspect is fear of poverty which I remember having as a child."

Patrolmen Untangle 15-Car Pileup Here

Two Waterford Township patrolmen alternately shivered and scratched their heads as they worked to unsnarl a 15-car pileup on M59 between Crescent Lake and Airport Rds during yesterday's storm.

Officers Merrill Pender and John Forbush drew the unhappy job of unsnarling the cars which were across the road, in the ditch and headed the wrong way.

After an hour of pulling, pushing, grunting and perhaps just a little cussing, traffic was moving. Only one minor injury was reported.

The officers said the first car in line apparently skidded to a halt and following drivers piled into the rear of the cars ahead.

Seeks to Force City to Issue Building Tag

Dr. Joseph I Nosanchuk, of Pontiac, is asking court order forcing the City of Pontiac to issue permits allowing him to bring an apartment he owns at 518 Orchard Lake Ave. up to state housing code standards.

Nosanchuk alleges that City Building Inspector Carl F. Alt and Plumbing Inspector Peter Hickey have refused him the permits and also a chance to appeal their decision. No hearing date has been set in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Injured in Accident

Elmer Odden, 51, of 876 Stanley Ave., driver, and his wife Anna, were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for minor injuries yesterday after their auto was struck in the rear on Oakland Ave. at Montcalm St., Pontiac Police reported.

William M. Bishop, 32, of 736 Monticello Ave., was quoted by police as saying he was unable to avoid the accident when his auto skidded into the Odden car.

Three Indicted in Credit Probe

Federal Jury Rules on Irregularities at Ford Rouge Institution.

DETROIT (AP)—Three men arrested in a government investigation of the four-million-dollar Ford Rouge Employes Federal Credit Union were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury.

Named in the indictment were Robert Vezzosi, 38, office manager and treasurer of the credit union; Charles H. Thompson, 22, former chief cashier of the credit union; and Edmour Bertrand, 53, a Detroit bar owner.

Vezzosi, who also is a councilman in suburban Dearborn, was charged with making a false financial statement to the Bureau of Federal Credit Unions, which seized control of the credit union March 11.

Thompson was charged with embezzling $53,000 of credit union funds and Bertrand was charged with aiding and abetting Thompson in the embezzlement. Vezzosi and Bertrand have been free on $50,000 personal bonds each and Thompson on $10,000 personal bond.

The federal agency charged that the total of delinquent loans by the credit union has risen from $71,000 to $543,000. Three of the violations, it said, involved loans for construction projects totaling $83,424 on which payments totaling only $874 have been made.

The credit union reopened last Friday after federal agents closed it down during their investigation.

Diamonds Pave Scotland Airport as Search Ends

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)—A big pile of dirt studded with tiny diamond chips was dumped back onto Prestwick Airport today. Some estimates of the value ranged up to $280,000.

Eight tons of dirt were scooped up and sifted after a British Overseas Airways Corp. Stratocruiser crashed Christmas Day, killing 28 persons and littering the ground with a $2,800,000 diamond shipment consigned to U.S. buyers.

About 90 per cent of the diamonds were recovered during a three-month salvage operation. But the diamond chips and a quantity of diamond dust could not be recovered economically so the search was called off.

Airport officials said they would keep an eye peeled for any prospectors.

Survey Shows Newspaper Advertising Top Medium

Monday 22 newspaper representatives gathered at Maxon, Inc.'s to hear Arthur E. Wible, Pfeiffer account executive, review Pfeiffer's 1955 advertising campaign and the start of a large newspaper schedule in 74 Michigan, Ohio and northern Indiana newspapers, including the Pontiac Press.

On hand, also, were Ward Schultz, assistant to the President, and Herb Epstein, advertising manager of Pfeiffer's. Epstein told the gathering that Pfeiffer's is launching a strong newspaper advertising campaign as the result of a survey which showed that newspaper advertising produced more impact per dollar of cost than any other medium.

Dr. Everitt Seymor of St. Mark Methodist Church, Detroit, will speak on "The Church in Latin America" at 7:30 p.m.

Baruch Gives Market Views

Cites Inflation, Industry Expansion as Causes for Stock Boom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch said today the main causes of the stock price boom are a vast expansion of industry and "the cumulative effects of the inflationary policies which have been followed over the past decade and a half."

"If any economic danger threatens today, it will be found not in the stock market itself but in the effects of this inflationary heritage," the 84-year-old retired financier and adviser to presidents told the Senate Banking Committee.

• • •

Baruch, the final witness in three weeks of public hearings on the state of the market, came out strongly against any tax cuts now. Just as strongly he urged a bigger defense buildup.

Stressing a need for a "sound government policy covering all the interrelated problems of economics, finance and national defense," Baruch made three general recommendations in his prepared testimony:

"1. Determine just what our national security requires, both what we and allies must do—and then do it.

• • •

"2. Forego all tax reductions until our defenses are made secure and the budget is balanced. Nothing could inspire more confidence in the soundness of our economy than some reduction in the national debt (now over 276 billion dollars).

"3. Discipline ourselves to whatever is required to win the cold war and real peace."

Baruch aimed some plainly implied criticisms at the Republicans now in power as well as at Democratic administrations of the past.

The tall, white-haired financier, who made millions in Wall Street, said the stock market is largely a mirror of the whole economy and the economy now is dominated by the cold war.

• • •

"If our general economic and security policies are sound," he said, "the stock market will adjust to them and we will not need to worry about a possible collapse of the market. If we do not pursue our national security and our national credit, then nothing can have lasting value.

"Much of our weakness in foreign policy has come about because some people believed that the economy could not stand what is necessary for defense. With this view I am in total disagreement."

He said there is evidence of a sound economy in the expansion of American business. And yet, he said, the national debt has continued to rise while taxes were reduced.

• • •

"The burden of our national debt," he said, "would be hardly one half of what it is now if effective measures to prevent inflation had been taken at the outset of both World War II and the Korean War. Our whole economy would be in a healthier state if taxes had not been reduced so hastily after each of these two wars."

He said there is no way of telling whether stock prices have gone too high. "If inflation is to persist, many stocks may be underpriced today," he said.

Baruch cautioned the committee against trying to give the investor too much protection. He said you can't legislate "against human folly or against the adventurous spirit which helped make America great."

Lake Orion Youths Face Arraignment

Two 17-year-old Lake Orion youths were bound over for arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court Tuesday after they waived examination on breaking and entering charges.

The pair, Ralph Parker, 99 Shadbolt, and Thomas Beaudoin, 468 Broadway, are charged with entering two cottages on Long Lake near Lake Orion March 12. Both were released on $300 bond and ordered to appear in court Monday by Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback.

Sheriff's Detectives Jack Davis and Don Francis said Beaudoin admitted taking four outboard motors, a set of golf clubs, fishing tackle, a camera and other sporting equipment. The loot was valued at about $900.

Business Notes

Hayward F. York, associated with the Chrysler Detroit Tank Plant in management capacities since 1952, has been named operating manager of the Chrysler jet engine plant. His appointment was announced today by Thomas F. Morrow, general manager of Chrysler Corporation's defense operations division.

Dismisses Suit Against GMC

U.S. Court Tosses Out Civil Antitrust Action Dating to 1941

CHICAGO (AP)—An antitrust suit against General Motors Corp. was dismissed yesterday after kicking around in the courts for 13½ years. However, the plaintiff's attorney announced he would appeal the decision.

On Oct. 16, 1941, Fred F. Emich, then Illinois state superintendent of transportation and from 1932 to 1936 a Chevrolet dealer in Chicago, sued GM and its financing subsidiary, General Motors Acceptance Corp., for damages of $2,517,000.

He claimed GM forced him out of his dealership because he refused to finance the cars he sold though GMAC.

His suit was the first civil suit filed after the federal government won an antitrust conviction of GM in a South Bend, Ind., case.

On Feb. 26, 1948, a federal court jury awarded Emich $1,236,000. GM appealed and on March 3, 1950, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the judgments on grounds Emich should not have used the government conviction of GM in his own case.

Emich carried the reversal to the Supreme Court which, in September 1951, overruled the Circuit Court and remanded the case to Federal District Court for retrial.

The Supreme Court ruled the Circuit Court had erred and that the government conviction of GM could be used under a section of the Clayton Antitrust Act.

That section provides a private individual may cite a federal conviction in support of a treble damage action.

GM filed a motion for dismissal of the case. In granting it today, Federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that Emich's case had been filed after the period permitted by the statute of limitations.

Emich's attorney, A. Bradley Eben, announced he will appeal the decision.

Emich, now 56 and retired, lives in suburban River Forest.
