Pro-Italians, Trieste Police Clash

Thousand Riot in Tense City's Central Square

Crowd Demonstrates on Anniversary of War Occupation

TRIESTE (AP)—Pro-Italian demonstrators clashed with police in a stick-swinging, stone-throwing riot in this disputed city today on the anniversary of Italy's entry into Trieste after World War I.

A number of persons were injured by police clubs and many others were taken into custody.

The riot broke out in the city's central Piazza Unita after about 1,000 persons began demonstrating for the return of the Trieste free territory to Italy.

Most of the demonstrators had just returned on a special train from Redipuglia, national military shrine near the Yugoslav border north of Trieste, where Prime Minister Giuseppe Pella commemorated Italy's World War I victory earlier in the day.

Crowds trooped off the train shouting "Viva Trieste" and "Viva Italia" and waving Italian flags. They began immediately to march toward the central square.

Allies, Neutrals Protest Length of Explanations

Only 3 of 205 Chinese Succumb to Communist Threats, Persuasion

PANMUNJOM (AP) — U. N. and neutral observers protested angrily today as Communist persuaders harangued balky Chinese prisoners for as long as four hours.

Only 205 of 403 prisoners scheduled to appear for explanations were interviewed. And of the 205 only three elected to return to communism.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission certified one of the three as mentally incompetent and ordered him to a hospital. An Allied officer said the prisoner spent almost three hours before Red persuaders and was so confused he didn't know what he was doing or saying.

Several Swiss members of a repatriation commission group overseeing the explanations walked out temporarily when their protests over long interviews were overruled by Indian chairmen.

Red persuaders dragged out interviews as long as possible, wheedling and threatening prisoners who have refused to go home.

Allied officers called the Red tactics brainwashing.

There were charges that the Communists were deliberately stalling, perhaps in an attempt to wreck the explanation program which has won them only about 3 per cent of the prisoners interviewed to date.

Angry U. N. observers filed protest after protest because Indian chairmen were reluctant to cut short interviews even when prisoners obviously were anti-Communist.

One angry American observer stalked out of an interview in protest after it had run three hours. The Swiss member of the repatriation commission subcommittee supervising the interviews also protested the length of the session.

Both protests were overruled by the Indian chairman.

In at least two other cases Chinese persuaders, working in relays, hammered at prisoners for 2½ hours.

"It's an awful thing to sit there helpless and watch mental torture like that," said Lt. Col Vaughn F. Meiserling of Oakland, Calif., a U. N. observer. "It's like seeing a man killed before your eyes without doing anything about it."

One prisoner shouted "I want to go to Taiwan (Formosa)" 132 times by actual count and revieled his Communist interviewers with every oath he knew before the Indian chairman called a halt to the interview.

Wrest 2 Posts From the GOP in New Jersey

Win Governorship of Virginia in Close Race; Wagner Takes Gotham

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tuesday's off-year elections, billed as the harbinger of the on-years of 1954 and 1956, wound up today with Republicans out in New Jersey and Democrats still in in New York City and Virginia.

Those were the key contests. Observers from both major parties had pictured them as the means of unlocking the secret of what will happen in next year's voting for members of Congress and the presidential election three years from now.

The New Jersey outcome jolted Republicans and overjoyed Democrats. It put a Democrat in the governor's chair for the first time in 10 years and sent a Democrat to Congress from the 6th District for the first time since it was formed in 1932.

The election of Robert F. Wagner Jr. as mayor of New York City came as no surprise. But the size of it did: 46.3 per cent of the mayoral vote in a four-man race. He won four boroughs handily and, with Republican Harold Riegelman, was a virtual standoff in the fifth.

No surprise, either, was the victory in Virginia of the powerful Democratic organization headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd. Thomas B. Stanley was elected governor, although Republican Ted Dalton ran him Virginia's closest Democrat-Republican race in history.

The New Jersey vote for governor, with 3,707 of the state's 3,964 election districts unofficially tabulated, gave Democrat Robert B. Meyner 906,270 votes to 738,906 for Paul R. Troast, the Republican who had been the betting favorite.

Perhaps more surprising was the victory of Democrat Harrison A. Williams Jr. as New Jersey's 6th District congressman, paring GOP control of the House to 218 Republicans over 215 Democrats. A vacancy is to be filled by California next week. The other House member is an independent.

Marie Dionne Enters Convent

19-Year-Old Quintuplet Joins Roman Catholic Order in Quebec

QUEBEC (AP) — Marie Dionne today spent her first day in silent work and prayer behind the cloistered walls of a Roman Catholic religious order.

Marie, who with her four sisters has been in the public eye ever since their quintuplet birth 19 years ago, turned her back on the world yesterday to enter the order of Les Servantes du Tres Saint-Sacrement (Servants of the Blessed Sacrament) at its convent here.

Emilie, Annette and Cecile are studying household science at a convent in Nicolet near Trois-Rivieres, Que. Yvonne is a fine arts pupil at Montreal.

Marie will be a postulant for six months. Then for two years she will be in the novitiate stage, after which she will have for three years an annual profession of vows — poverty, chastity and obedience. She may then take perpetual vows to devote the rest of her life to the order.

There were tearful goodbyes from Mrs. Dionne and Marie's sisters as they watched her in the severe garb of the postulant step behind a grill to go to chapel for Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the start of her new life.

$175,565 Still to Go

United Fund Collections Climb to $313,635 So Far

Kits carrying $12,190 in cash and pledges poured into Pontiac Area United Fund headquarters Tuesday to push the total raised so far in this fall's campaign to $313,635.

"We're sure many of our people haven't checked their returns in at campaign headquarters in Hotel Pontiac," Frank S. Lyndall, commercial division chairman, said today.

"We hope they'll do it today or tomorrow—or Friday at the latest. Pledges in our teammates' pockets can't be tallied until they're turned in."

Industrial division today had raised $230,380 toward its $322,000 goal. Employes have already given $135,340 and corporations, $95,040.

The geographical division's door-to-door canvassers had reported $7,479. Of this total, $5,499 came from Pontiac; $1,589 from Pontiac

Fire Destroys Mendon Plant

$500,000 Blaze Razes Automotive Ignition Coil Factory

MENDON (AP)—A $500,000 fire razed the Mendon Co., manufacturers of automotive ignition coils, last night sending flames high into the night sky for five hours.

The fire was discovered by two plant supervisors at 10:30 p. m. (EST) and firefighters came from four surrounding communities to help battle the blaze.

Firemen nearly had the flames under control at midnight when the town's two wells suddenly went dry.

By the time that hoses could be run to nearby St. Joseph River, the flames had run wild. It was nearly three hours later before the blaze was again brought under control.

No one was injured but flames were said to have been visible for a dozen miles from this south-central Michigan city.

The estimate of damages was given by R. E. Bruce, company vice president and plant manager. He said that he believed most of the damage was covered by insurance.

The building was constructed only two years ago and firemen were probing its ruins today seeking the cause of the blaze.

Queen Wants Philip as Possible Regent

LONDAON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today asked Parliament to designate her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, as a possible regent in place of her sister, Princess Margaret.

The sovereign made her wishes known in a special message to both the House of Commons and the House of Lords. The necessary legislation is expected to be rushed through Parliament before the Queen and the Duke leave on Nov. 23 for their tour of Australia and New Zealand.

The message brought back echoes of Princess Margaret's friendship with handsome RAF Group Captain Peter Townsend. When the subject first was mentioned in the House of Commons on July 22, it was understood a change in the Regency Act would make it easier for Margaret to marry Townsend if she so desired.

Detroiter Saves His Car, but Loses Son, 2

DETROIT (AP)—James Quick, a laid off factory worker, scraped up $58 Monday to make a payment and keep his car from being repossessed, but he wishes now he had not been able to raise the money.

His two-year-old son, James Jr., was killed yesterday when he fell out of the auto while his father was driving.

The senior Quick mourned, "I wish I had lost the car instead of my son. Now I don't have enough money to take him home to Danville, Va., for burial."

Donald Shirley, 9, of Hazel Park, who was pictured in the Pontiac Press yesterday in connection with the Pontiac Area United Fund campaign, left St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Oct. 3 after being admitted for polio treatment Aug. 24.

The boy is now being cared for through the hospital's crippled children clinic. The clinic is partially supported by the United Fund, but the March of Dimes helped pay the cost of Donald's hospitalization and treatment.

Mother Electrocuted by Vacuum Cleaner

MOUNT CLEMENS (UP)—A 31-year-old mother was electrocuted Tuesday while vacuuming for her son's seventh birthday party.

The body of Mrs. Hugh A. Tate Jr. was found by Mr. and Mrs. James D. Byrnes who ran to the neighboring Tate home after Mrs. Tate's 4-year-old daughter, Carol, came in crying:

"Something's happened to my mommy."

The cleaner still was running. Mrs. Tate was lying dead beside it. There were burns on her right hand, a leg and on the cleaner. Dr. Raymond G. Markle, Macomb County coroner, said he believed an electric shock caused her to fall against the cleaner and cause a continuous short-circuit.

Six Shoot Way Past Reds, Beg Asylum in West Zone

BERLIN (AP) — Three Czech youths and three young Poles sought asylum in West Germany today after running a bloody gantlet in which they fought their way out of Communist police nets. One Pole is a girl.

The Poles, latest to arrive, reached Passau, Germany, early today. The Czechs turned up earlier in West Berlin. Two of the Czechs' comrades and two other Poles were wounded, captured, or lost their lives and failed to make it across the border to freedom.

The escaped Poles were identified only as two 24-year-old men and a 20-year-old girl. Their names were withheld pending questioning by U. S. Intelligence authorities.

The three slipped across the Czech-German border early today and gave themselves up to police.

The Communist press last week reported the shooting of four policemen and announced rewards of 1,000 marks each ($240) had been placed on the heads of the three Cechs as hundreds of police searched for them through the suburbs of East Berlin.

The three who escaped are Zirard Maczin, 22, and his brother, Josef, 20, who were described as sons of a Czech general executed

Cobo Unhappy After Loser Call by Lincoln

Accounts differed on what happened.

However, Cobo made it clear afterwards that he was less than enthusiastic about it.

He said he shook hands with Lincoln but also told him:

"I don't like your nerve coming in like this without an invitation. This is my home, not a political meeting place."

Cobo, who said he was having a late meal when Lincoln arrived, conceded that "someone in the house" had made some sort of remark.

"But I didn't even think a thing like that, Cobo said.

Detroiters Re-Elect Cobo With Eight Councilmen

DETROIT (UP) — Detroit voters returned Mayor Albert E. Cobo and other top city officials to office but one of the nine Council incumbents failed to make the grade, complete unofficial returns showed today.

The 423,696 voters who turned out Tuesday to pick Detroit's first four-year city administration gave Cobo a substantial vote of confidence in his bid for a third term.

With all 1,480 precincts reporting, Cobo had 236,937 votes to 159,072 for James H. Lincoln, a law partner of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Veteran Clerk Thomas D. Leadbetter piled up the biggest vote total in defeating Leonard J. Burke, 295,145 to 69,571. Treasurer Charles N. Williams polled 272,047 votes to 83,046 for 21-year-old Don R. Cavanaugh.

James H. Garlick was the only council member who failed to win re-election. He was replaced by Blanche Parent Wise, who placed ninth in the Council ballot battle. Garlick ran 12th.

Council members re-elected, in order of their vote totals, were Louis C. Miriani, Mary V. Beck, Eugene Van Antwerp, Edward Connor, John A. Kronk, William G. Rogell, Del A. Smith and Charles N. Youngblood.

Miriani automatically repeats as Council president because his vote total topped that of the other candidates'. It marked the fourth election in a row that Miriani and Miss Beck placed first and second, respectively, in the Council race. Miriani collected 261,538 votes to 245,866 for Miss Beck this time.

Voters also approved three charter amendments and a $20,000,000 sewer bond issue. In the only other decision before the voters, Recorder's Judge Martha Griffiths was re-elected for the short term ending Jan. 1.

Spittoons Are Taboo

Legislators Show Quantity but Quality Is Debatable

If you chew tobacco, don't try to force your employer in Massachusetts to provide you with a spittoon.

Failure to heed this advice might land you in jail in those three states.

These laws are some of the strange ones passed recently by state legislatures. They were jotted down by editors of the Commerce Clearing House, Chicago, who have compiled an annual review of a record-breaking flood of legislation this year.

While many legislatures passed more laws, others weeded out antiquated acts. Take Maryland, for example.

Special penalties are no longer provided there for killing a man in a duel, stealing buoys from Chesapeake Bay, exhibiting apparatus for smoking opium, or attending a meeting to promote the state's secession from the Union.

Maryland also repealed a law providing a 25-cent fine for the first profanity uttered before a justice of the peace or a sheriff, and a 50-cent fine for any subsequent bad word.

The legislature there took up a measure that would require beauty shops to close at 5:45 p. m. daily, and authorize the proprietor to "use all reasonable force necessary to eject customers, whether or not any treatment then in process was completed."

California considered making it illega. for a cat to hide in city vacant lots if songbirds frequent them.

And in Tennessee, one legislator, rebelling at all laws, introduced a bill to repeal every law on the books in that state.

Attending residents were to be told they could not participate in the discussion, and that public hearing will be held later on the plans for parking.

Monday the commission called a special meeting for Thursday, which, under the charter, provides notice be sent to all commissioners. As a meeting of the commission, any citizen can seek the floor, Mayor Main said, "but I won't recognize them."

Democrats Sweep Key Off-Year Votes

In New York City, Wagner won the mayoralty by a plurality of 360,078. Final returns from the city's 4,217 election districts showed: 1,021,488 for Wagner; 661,410 for Republican Riegelman; 468,392 for Rudolph Halley, Liberal Party, and 54,372 for Clifford T. McAvoy, American Labor Party.

Virginia, which President Eisenhower carried for the GOP last year, gave Republican Dalton a big vote but not big enough. Nearly complete returns from the state's 1,815 polling places ran: 219,653 for Stanley, 175,505 for Dalton.

The results of these big three and the host of other elections around the country drew such comments as these from party leaders:

Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee — "There is no question about it — as of today we are in trouble politically, despite an excellent showing in Virginia and several municipal races."

Chairman Stephen Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee — "The elections make it plain that there has been a clear change of sentiment since last November. The Democratic Party is on the march from North, South, East and West."

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic 1952 presidential nominee — "Many people in many places have expressed renewed confidence in Democrats and the constructive record of the Democratic Party.

"I am not sure what the returns mean in all cases, but it looks as though the fruit of Republican promises and performance is dissatisfaction, disillusion and defeat."

The farm problem did not figure in yesterday's election, as it had in the special Wisconsin congressional voting last month in which a Democrat upset a Republican.

The issues yesterday were primarily local, not such as to lend themselves to national trend interpretations.

But Eisenhower's statement that he wanted Republicans elected everywhere had brought him into the three big races. Virginia's Dalton had stopped off at the White House for a chat and Eisenhower had posed for a picture with Troast.

Results in mayoral elections were spotty: Democratic gains in some, Republican gains in others and no party turnovers in still others.

Proposals were voted on, too. For example, Tennessee gave an overwhelming majority in favor of amending its 85-year-old constitution for the first time, and New Jersey approved legalization of bingo and raffles.

Meyner's election in New Jersey climaxed a six-month campaign in which he rose from virtual political obscurity. The 45-year-old bachelor country lawyer had pledged a cleanup of crime and corruption.

Williams, 33 and a lawyer, succeeds Republican Clifford B. Case in Congress. Case resigned last summer to head a Ford Foundation project.

New York's new mayor is the son of the late Sen. Robert F. Wagner who wrote the early New son of the late Sen. Robert F. 1935. Young Wagner, 44, had defeated incumbent Vincent R. Impelliteri in the Democratic primary for the $40,000-a-year mayoralty.

Virginia's victorious Stanley, 63, had campaigned largely on the Byrd organization's record. A furniture manufacturer and former congressman, he had run a quiet campaign until Byrd personally took charge two weeks ago.

Editor Outlines Goals for Press

Isaacs Tells Conference Newspaper Fairness Increases Steadily

CHICAGO (AP)—Norman E. Isaacs, president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, said today "newspaper know-how, objectivity, fairness and responsibility have increased steadily."

Isaacs, managing editor of the Louisville Times, made the statement in his report to the organization of editors of Associated Press newspapers.

He recalled that since his election to the APME presidency a year ago he had traveled to various parts of the country and had "pleaded everywhere for a high ethical concept of journalism." He added:

"We all know that newspapering faces new challenges. Radio, television and news magazines, the service magazines—all these are but repeated challenges.

"Newspaper know-how, objectivity, fairness and responsibility have increased steadily through our time. All of us are better newspapermen today than we were ten years ago. APME alone has contributed tremendously to our education.

"But we are not yet good enough."

Isaacs asserted that, for further improvement, newspapering must adopt a "professionalism of the spirit." He explained:

"We have to approach our calling with the devotion of the minister, the skill of the doctor, the thoroughness of the scientist.

"Put them all together. You will have a fine, understanding, objective and responsible public servant.

"None of us can ask for any higher calling. Let us give our newspapers the love, the devoted attention and the high skill they need to flourish and grow.

"Let us all pull together to take newspapering forward."

A woman must be a graduate of an accredited college or university, at least 21 years old at enrollment and not over 27 on July 1 of the year she expects to be commissioned. The deadline for enrollment is Dec. 15.

Women commissioned receive the same pay and allowances as male officers. Jobs open include administration, aerology, communications, public information, special services and supply. Further information is available by contacting the Marine recruiting station in Pontiac's main post office building.

Railroad Conductor Pleads Not Guilty

Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finnegan released Clarence H. Sutton of 136 S. Tilden St. on personal bond, pending trial Nov. 19.

A city ordinance prohibits trains from blocking city vehicle traffic for more than five minutes, according to City Attorney William A. Ewart.

Sentence Due Nov. 20 on Weapons Charge

John L. Shaw, 29, of 374 La Belle St., Highland Park, pleaded guilty today to a charge of carrying concealed weapons before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty. He was released on bond and sentence was set for Nov. 20.

Birmingham Board Meets

BIRMINGHAM — A closed committee meeting was held by Plan Board members last night, to discuss basic goals of Birmingham's planning program, and policies necessary to reach these goals.

Commissioners Hear Complaint

Pontiac Attorney Says He'll Sue City in Case of Man's 'Beating'

Milton R. Henry, a Pontiac attorney, last night asked Pontiac City Commission to dismiss Police Chief Herbert W. Straley for "failure to restrain police, and failure to take any action of suspending officers when adequate complaint was made."

He cited an incident last Saturday when Lester Hardiman, 30, and Evelyn Applewhite, 19, both of 195½ South Blvd., were involved in a scuffle with Pontiac Patrolman Harold Hayden.

Henry charged that Hardiman was beaten while in custody of police. He said the commission would receive notice within 60 days of a suit against Pontiac.

Commissioners informed Henry that the city manager, not the Commission, had power to discharge Straley. They advised Henry to take the complaint against the patrolman before the Police Trial Board which, they said, was instituted to hear such complaints.

Commissioner Paul A. Kern said, "The Commission should not take cognizance of the complaint unless made through proper channels."

Mayor Arthur J. Law said he was against any unnecessary use of force by police, but "they must use as much force as is necessary to make an arrest."

Henry is Oakland County chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Local Man Pleads Guilty to Charge of Forgery

Charles E. Lynch, 29, of 1451 Hendricks St., pleaded guilty today before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty to a charge of forgery. He was released on $500 bond until sentencing Nov. 20.

Lynch had entered a plea of not guilty at his arraignment earlier this year. He pleaded guilty to forging a $75 check July 9.

Marine Exhibit Set for School Thursday Night

"Wonders of the Sea," a marine exhibition, will be presented by A. "Doc" Pilkington at Pontiac High School Thursday at 8 p.m.

Pilkington will show movies and an undersea life exhibit. The program is co-sponsored by the Pontiac Optimist Club and the Parks and Recreation Department. Proceeds will go toward youth work here.

Tickets are available at the Parks and Recreation Department office, 35 Hill St., from Optimist Club members, at Dr. H. A. Miller's office, 7 N. Saginaw, or at the door Thursday night.

Store Window Broken by Air Rifle Pellets

A 16 by 13 foot plate glass window at the Travis Hardware store, 456 Orchard Lake Ave., was broken when several pellets from an air rifle riddled it, according to Pontiac Police.

Company officials, who estimated damage at $250, told police the shots were probably fired over the weekend when employes were away. Police received the report yesterday.

Washington's Dusty Coat Gets Cleaned With Care

WASHINGTON (UP) — The uniform George Washington wore when he resigned his commission at Annapolis has "gone to the cleaners" for the first time in 170 years.

The buff-and-blue uniform coat, breeches, and vest long have been among the most prized possessions of the Smithsonian Institution's historical collection.

When it was decided to move them to a new display the opportunity — and the problem — of cleaning them arose.

The uniform was tailored of the finest domestic material available at the time—so fine, in fact, that it shows almost no deterioration.

Inevitably, however, fine dust particles have worked their way into the fabric — each particle acting as a tiny razor cutting the fine fibers when the cloth is agitated in any way.

The institution considered it unwise to allow the uniform out of the building to be cleaned by professional dry cleaners. The fabric could not be rubbed or sponged because of the risk of damage.

It was finally decided to use an organic solvent into which the garments were raised and lowered gently.

The cleaning process over, the uniform was laid out carefully on white blotting paper to dry. It was not pressed for fear of steam damage or pressure.

The Smithsonian received the uniform 70 years ago from the Patent Office, which had received it in turn as a bequest.

Mendel L. Peterson, the institution's curator of history, reports that although the material is the finest produced in America at the time, the uniform is not up to the quality of those worn by British generals who fought in the Revolution.

The British wore beautifully tailored scarlet regalia which, in comparison, makes the blue coat and buff breeches and vest of Washington's uniform look almost plain.

The coat is of woolen broadcloth with buff trimming for the lapel and coat tail. The lining is woolen with mohair stiffening, except for the sleeves, which are lined with linen.

In its new setting the uniform is now displayed as a unit together with Washington's mess chest and sword.

The chest, supposedly used by the general in the field, contains tin plates, a meat plater, knives, forks, spice and condiment containers, and bottles.

In one of the bottles is a little crude salt — perhaps evaporated sea salt for the crystals are irregularly shaped—remnants of that actually used by Washington.

The sword was Washington's favorite. Known as a "hanger" because it was designed to hang from the belt, the short sword is silver-mounted and has an ivory grip. Stamped on the scabbard is the name of the manufacturer, J. Bailey, Fishkill, N. Y.

Near 6 Million Planning to Buy New Cars in '54

The figures, based on a survey taken last June 1, show that 5,673,000 persons at that time planned to buy new cars in 1954. The total is somewhat higher than most estimates of production for next year. The latter estimates run between 5¼ and 5½ million units.

The Connecticut Lakes region in northern New Hampshire was independent from 1832 to 1835, spurning allegiance to either the United States or Canada until the New Hampshire militia forced inhabitants to acknowledge state sovereignty.

Meeting Called on School Tax

Farmington Educators, Civic Groups to Discuss 8.5 Millage Increase

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A special meeting with the Citizen's School Committee, representing civic groups, has been called by the Board of Education for Nov. 23 to discuss a proposed millage increase to meet school district needs.

The board has proposed that an 8.5 millage increase vote be put before the people before spring.

The increase would raise an estimated $1,313,400, and the average homeowner would pay $4 more in taxes in 1954 and 1955 and $6 less each following year than he paid in 1953.

Tentative plans call for 13 additional classrooms at William Grace School in that area; a new 10-room structure south of the Grand River cut-off; and four additional classrooms and a gymnasium at the new high school.

The building program is expected to meet a 1955 shortage of 29 elementary classrooms, but fail to meet an expected shortage of ten classrooms by Sept. 1956, according to O. E. Dunckel, superintendent of schools.

Dunckel also said the program is within the borrowing limits set by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

Under the proposed plan the net increase on the total 1953 levy of 26.5 mills would be 1.0 mills in 1954-55 and 1955-56. In 1957 and later years the plan calls for a net decrease of 1.5 mills from the present levy and a net decrease of 2.5 mills from the 1954-55-56 levies.

Also, using present valuation figures beginning with 1956, it would be possible to reduce the tax levy from 12.5 mills to approximately 7.0 mills, according to Dunckel.

Mark Rehbine, school board secretary is negotiating with southeast property owners to secure land for a one-story school building the board said. He said the site would offer good possibilities for future junior high school additions.

Southfield 10 School is located at Berg and Ten Mile Roads.

Sylvan Returns Kreps as Mayor; Kelley Takes Royal Oak Race

Light balloting marked elections yesterday in two Pontiac area communities and three in South Oakland County, but winning candidates were swept into office by substantial margins.

At Orchard Lake council incumbents Arthur J. Underwood and Harold A. Cousins each polled 139 votes to defeat John Quirk, 108, and Milner Thom, 105.

Mayor Anthony W. Kreps, Sylvan Lake incumbent, and Joseph Gilson, councilman, easily won re-election. Kreps polled 141 votes and Gilson 102. Opposing candidate Allan Cady drew 84.

Meanwhile Royal Oak voters overwhelmingly elected Howard K. Kelley, 34, an attorney, its new mayor over Franklin Lashmet, 5,583 to 826.

Three candidates out of 16 were named for four-year terms on the city commission. They were James G. Hartrick, Oakland County assistant prosecuting attorney, 2,481 votes; Grant J. Maudlin, 2,350; and Lewis A. Demute, 1,876.

Losers were, John B. Osgood, 1,582; Wallace F. Gabler, 1,370; Joseph M. Seibert, 1,258; Robert B. Parsons, 1,223; John H. Hegel, 1,087; Charles F. Stone, 1,080; William B. Calverly, 882; George A. Jones, 845; John C. Donovan, 661; John L. King, 534; Samuel R. Molinare, 385; Lewis E. Worthen, 239; and Robert C. Sharrard, 206.

For one three-year commission term, residents chose Ellery Laidlaw, 2,923. Defeated were Elizabeth Pike, 1,949, and Lawrence B. Copley, 985.

Voters also approved annexation of a land strip bounded by Twelve and Fourteen Mile roads, Stevenson and Campbell highways, 3,424 to 2,253. The vote was nullified however when Royal Oak Township voters turned down the action by a 20 to 4 vote.

Three charter amendments also were approved by Royal Oak voters.

City Clerk Richard Bannister and Treasurer Harold Musselman were unopposed.

Franklin village voters approved an incorporation proposal by a 434 to 165 vote. Five persons were also chosen for the charter commission. They were Edward J. Green, Bert D. Wood, Mrs. Marguerite Fisher, Clifford H. Harrison and Stanley S. Krentel.

Barter Makes Everyone but Middleman Happy

CRESCENT BEACH, S. C. (AP)—Dennis Beam of Shelby, N. C., had a cottage at Crescent Beach. Zeb Grigg of Kings Mountain, N. C., had a 280-pound hog.

Beam wanted meat. Grigg wanted a week at the beach. The two got together. After the swap, Grigg had his week at the beach, Beam had his pork.

Everybody was happy—except the hog and a real estate man handling Beam's beach property. He's still figuring how to collect 10 per cent of the hog for rental commission.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Police Probe 4 Local Breakins

Similar Pattern Seen in 2 Gas Stations, Coal Firm, Trailer Entries

A series of four breakins is being investigated today by Pontiac Police who believe the same persons responsible for last night's entries.

Thieves broke into a filling station at 208 N. Paddock St. and stole an unestimated amount of money from a cigarette machine and a cash drawer. Another filling station at Auburn and Sanford avenues was ransacked, but police say nothing is missing.

Police said the thieves were unable to get past a drivers' room, separated from the rest of the offices by a partition.

by the Nazis in 1942, and Milan Baumer, 21, who had been a student at the Prague Military Academy.

Baumer was still in serious condition in the hospital after an operation for removal of bullets received in another scrape with East Zone police.

They gave this account of their flight:

After crossing the Czech border on foot, they walked to the East German town of Riesa, living on raw potatoes and apples. There they sold a cigarette case and watch to buy railway tickets.

It was during this train ride that East German police stopped them and the youths, armed with three pistols they had saved since World War II, shot it out. During the battle they lost sight of a companion and believe he was taken. After that clash, they hid in woods during daylight and walked only at night.

* * *

During this night hiking, a Communist patrol detected them and poured machinegun bullets into the wood where they were hiding. Another companion was hit. Bleeding badly, he urged the others to go on and leave him behind.

The three later arrived at Zossen, 20 miles south of Berlin, and bumped into police patrols.

Once again bullets whizzed, and Baumer was hit in the stomach.

* * *

The three staggered to an elevated railway line leading to Berlin. And even at this last leg of the journey they had another close brush with death. They jumped from the train too soon and found themselves in a Soviet sector station swarming with Communist police who apparently were looking for them.

Under a hail of shots, they fled the station and managed to sneak across the border into the U.S. sector, where American authorities took them in custody.

Governors Split on States Rights

Heads Disagree on How to Get U.S. Government Out of Gas Tax Affairs

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Western governors are split over a fundamental states rights issue, one of the first such controversies to be raised on the nation's frontier.

There is no disagreement on the principle. The chief executives—all Republicans—agree the federal government should get out of the business of gasoline taxes and leave highway financing to the states.

* * *

But just how it should be done touched off yesterday the most controversial session of the three-day meeting of the Western Governors' Conference.

The meeting ended yesterday. Gov. Charles Russell of Nevada was elected chairman of the group for the next year, succeeding Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona.

"Either we must believe in the fundamental of states rights," said Utah's Gov. J. Bracken Lee "or we must agree to more and more federal control. I believe there is too much federal control, regardless of who is running the show—Republicans or Democrats. I think it is highly important for us to get the federal government out of the gas tax business and permit the states to build their own highways."

* * *

Colorado's Dan Thornton inclined to the view of the majority in removal of the gasoline tax but declared, "removal of the federal gasoline tax isn't a simple matter. There is a shift in services to be considered. A hoax is being pulled on the American people" in that the amount of taxes collected for gasoline and automobile accessories is not going back into highways, and "our problem is to convince Congress of this situation."

In resolutions, the conference called for immediate action by Congress on the pending Hawaiian statehood bill; asked steps to use surplus seeds to replant Western lands to inaugurate "better conservation practices and enrich the productive capacity" of Western lands, and demanded congressional action to stop the "excessive flow" of foreign imports flooding the domestic market.

The hearing was previoulsy set for today. The postponement was requested by Harrelson's attorney.

A warrant against Harrelson was issued last month after Harrelson's auto struck Mrs. Veda N. Coon, 37, of 49 Dwight Ave., according to Pontiac Police. Mrs. Coon died in Pontiac General Hospital.

Where Old Cars Never Die

Our guess is most residents of this bustling automotive center will be surprised to learn of the important place old cars hold in Australian life.

In a dispatch to the Los Angeles Times, Richard C. Miller tells why the land "down under" is known as the place where old cars never die.

Prices he quotes from the used car ads tell part of the story. Among offerings were a 1929 Whippet for $280, a 1928 Willys-Knight for $210 and a 1926 Bean tourer for $185.

It is a common thing in Australia, Miller writes, to see cars on the road as old as 1915 models and one in every seven is of predepression manufacture. Indication that the Aussies take excellent care of their cars lies in Miller's report that "many of them look as well as on the day they left the factory."

Chief reason why the Aussies drive their cars so long is financial. They can't afford to pay $800 for a 1937 model, $1,600 for a 1948 or more than $3,000 for a new American car.

It is interesting to note, however, that most popular of the new cars there is the Australian built General Motors' Holden. Designed especially for Australian conditions, and about the size of a Henry J., the Holden retails for $2,500.

Nonetheless the Australians are as interested in automobiles as are the people of the United States. That was demonstrated when 250,000 people, one-fortieth of the country's population, turned out in Sydney to see the finish of the Redex stock car endurance race. During the 6,500 mile circuit of Australia, drivers encountered such hazards as herds of kangaroos and wild horses.

Imports Gain on Exports

If preliminary figures are an accurate clue, U. S. merchandise imports during 1953 may come close to equalling nonmilitary exports for the same period.

During the first seven months the total of our commercial exports exceeded the value of imports by only $540,000,000, according to word from Washington. For the same period of 1952 the export surplus was $1.9 billion.

★ ★ ★

This means that U. S. exports up to July 31 had declined 13 per cent from the same period of 1952, with farm products bearing the brunt of the decline. Import increases so far this year point to the probability that the total for 1953 may set a new high record.

★ ★ ★

As a result, countries doing business with us, including the Sterling Bloc, are finding it easier to earn needed dollars and bolster their gold reserves.

Some observers see in this development signs that steps taken to implement the Eisenhower trade-not-aid policy already are exerting beneficial effects.

An Overdue Reform

Hope has been revived for action in the next Legislature to end the long criticized fee system of paying justices of the peace and put them on straight salaries.

Initial momentum for this revived crusade came from John M. Westphal, a Grandville justice of the peace, who says he will resign to lead the fight for the overdue reform. His statement brought quick support from several members of the Legislature, including T. Creighton Coleman.

The Battle Creek lawmaker who in 1952 helped abolish the fee system of paying probate judges, is convinced that system is all wrong for justices of the peace. He said he would join other legislators in introducing the necessary bill if local governments would pay the salaries adjusted for part time and full time justices.

That abuses, such as speed traps, have grown out of the fee system, is a matter of common knowledge. State Elections Director Montgomery, a justice of the peace for 18 years, said it accounts "for more convictions than acquittals."

For years lawmakers have tried in vain to rid Michigan of this holdover from a bygone era. A few years ago proposals for a system of county courts in populous counties, with salaried judges, won support of several legislators and this and other newspapers.

There is urgent need for basic improvement in the administration of justice in the lowest court. Westphal, Coleman, Montgomery and all who share their views deserve public and official support in their effort to bring that about.

A man is a dumb person who never knows what a woman will do, but when she does it, he says, "Now, ain't that just like a woman!"

It has long been our opinion that the most common cause of "that tired feeling" is work.

Asks Support for Ground Observer Corps; It Is Pleasant Interlude From Daily Routine

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

As a member of the Ground Observer Corps I can add a hearty "amen" to Mr. Flanary's recent letter.

I donate as an observer my most precious commodity . . . my time. I am a mother who must not only care for a home and children, but work to support them as well.

Anyone who denies the moral danger of ignorance among our young people is blind and anyone who denies the immediate physical danger to our country is equally blind.

Those who recognize the danger and say that they feel safer because the nation-wide sky watch goes on, but refuse to take part, are self-acknowledged shirkers.

I find my weekly tour of duty a pleasant interlude of detachment from the daily routine. I wonder as I watch the glory of the sunrise and the beauty of a star filled sky where the ministers, priests and teachers are who might be serving their country while enjoying a real opportunity to meditate on their teaching missions.

No special skill is required. We don't get paid in money, but we know we are doing in a small way what our soldiers and sailors are doing in a great way.

We need your help desperately, for just two hours each week.

Believes Certain Movies Bad Influence on Young

Why are there sex crimes in the United States. Well, for one very good answer, just notice the one theater ad which appeared in the Press Oct. 27. I am thoruoghly disgusted with the pictures this theater puts on its screen and above all in the daily newspaper.

There are a few good people who are trying to fight sex crimes, but how can our country be anything but damned when such things are shown before one's eyes.

I do not attend the movies but those that do, especially our young people, are certainly enticed to go when such pictures are shown.

The only reason I can think of why these pictures are shown is that television is giving the theaters pretty much competition and something a little stronger in the way of sex has to be shown to entice the public.

I hope this theater is proud of this picture and is satisfied it is doing its part in making our young people sex deviates.

Says Parents' Religious Attitude Infiuences Young

What kind of parents and adults do we want our children to be when they grow up? Do we want them to be like we are (spiritually speaking)? Do we want them to go to church as often then as we do now and [illegible] the Lord the same place in their hearts and homes as we are giving him today?

I'm afraid many parents will have to say, God forbid. I want my children to be more spiritual than I am. If this is your answer, now is the time to do something about it. When they have grown up, it might be too late.

Your attitude toward church and its services are being written on their minds. If you go occasionally they will probably do the same or not at all. As a Christian I have dedicated my life to help the church of Jesus Christ win these lives for Him.

Start coming to church regularly and let your children see that you are giving Christ and the things of God first place in your lives. Then with God's help we will give the world a generation of God-fearing, Christ-honoring men and women.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—One year from now the political issues will be far different from what they are today.

Looking ahead in the next 12 months, the real problem which the Republican administration will face is whether or not a recession or depression will have arisen to bring unemployment.

If relatively prosperous conditions prevail throughout the country, the Republican Party could conceivably make gains. But an adverse economic situation would hurt the party in power.

The Republican administration here has not been in office long enough to get the feel of the political situation. It has hardly gotten acquainted with the basic questions of government policy, yet attacks have come from the Democrats, particularly on the farm front.

They sense that economic disaffection is showing up in the agricultural regions, most of it due either to drought conditions or to a drop in cattle prices or both.

Everyone knows that no cure that can be devised now can recoup the losses due to such a turn of fate.

But in politics they don't reason out whether the administration in power is responsible — the voters remember only the age-old slogans that under one kind of administration they have had good times and that under another kind they have had bad times.

It doesn't matter which party has suffered from this kind of criticism in the past — both have experienced the same hostility from the electorate.

Thus, in the period from 1896 to 1912, the Democrats were in the political doghouse because of the panic of 1893. Every Republican stump speaker year after year reminded the voters about it on every occasion.

It was a long time before the Democrats got back into power — and then only when an economic issue arose in 1910 as the high cost of living became acute and was blamed on tariff policies of the Republicans.

The same thing happened to the Republicans in 1932 when the depression struck hard, and the voters thereafter only remembered that times got bad under a Republican administration.

In the next 20 years there were minor recessions but a war boom kept the Democrats in power. Only in 1946, when government controls upset the housewife and caused a meat shortage, did the Republicans win Congress.

The prosperity of the country in 1948 gave Truman and the Democratic Congress another lease on life.

Then in 1950 the outbreak of the Korean War, with its consequent inflation and soaring wage levels, developed a political boon for the Democrats.

Economic issues are controlling, however, only if there are no countervailing factors. In 1952, with the nation still in its most prosperous condition, there were emotional issues which superceded all else.

Thus, the resentment about the Korean War, communism in government, and corruption in government operations, especially with respect to tax-fixing, all added up to the negative verdict which was rendered against the party in power — the Democrats.

Will November 1954 show a substantial change in the economic pictures. If so, the party out of power will gain and the Republicans will lose.

If, on the other hand, cattle prices rebound upward and the agricultural situation as a whole improves, the Republicans will be the beneficiaries.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Parents Must Help Child Make Correct Decisions

Should Billy be permitted to stay away from Sunday school? You parents should face this common problem early. For it is the job of all good parents to see that their youngsters are well equipped to meet the crises of later adult life. Children aren't competent to judge what is best.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-333: Billy M., aged 9, has a sister who is 7.

"Dr. Crane," Billy objects to going to Sunday school," his mother began.

"He says he'd rather stay home and play. And now his daddy thinks maybe it would be better to wait till Billy is of high school age and can decide for himself.

"But if Billy stays home, then his sister Jane will want to do the same thing. So what do you psychologists advise?"

Does Bill's daddy also think it would be well for Billy to stay out of public school till he reaches the age of 15, when he might be old enough to decide for himself whether school is desirable?

Or do we let children wait till the middle teens to decide whether it is best for them to use a toothbrush regularly?

Certainly not! One of the jobs of being a good parent is to employ our superior adult intelligence so that our children are equipped for ultimate happiness and health.

Naturally, children will shun soap and water and toothpaste and school and work of all sorts.

For such things are regarded as chores. "They are all so boring" many a youngster will state.

But life consists largely of chores. Such things fall under the heading "Duty." For life is not just an easy "ice cream & cake" type of existence.

And children are supposed to be prepared fo rthe practical situations of everyday living. Sunday school helps them adjust more happily to these.

Obviously, a child prefers freedom to restraint, and so do we adults. But parents know that restriction of their free time is what makes children learn to play the piano or violin.

It is also what keeps them in grammar school till they learn arithmetic and history and English composition.

The Sunday School doesn't coerce its pupils with a truant officer who will call on all children and force them to attend.

So parents should tactfully use all proper pressure to get their youngsters into church on Sunday morning.

That one-hour session on ethics is about all the formal teaching most of them will ever receive during the entire week.

You parents should get up and go to Sunday school with your children, thus setting them a strong positive example.

And occasionally make a gala event out of the rest of the day. For instance, after church, have a picnic lunch in the park or out in the country.

Mrs. Crane and I used to take our children to the Lincoln Park zoo here in Chicago. So Sunday school became linked with a holiday mood instead of a stodgy classroom.

The teachers, too, in Sunday school should try to use every tactful method to dramatize the lessons and inflate the ego of the children so they will want to come back the following Sabbath.

But all good parents should see that their children are in Sunday school. Otherwise, you are cheating your youngsters out of vital spiritual training which will be stabilizing ballast for their later years.

Send for my bulletin "How to Pep Up Sunday School," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. Give it to Sunday school teachers.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

Straws show which way the political soda water goes. Yesterday's results proved that coincidences can be ordered by catalogue number.

The Republicans still hold a skintight majority in the house. It's a photo-finish in the senate with Veepee Nixon holding the situation in the palm of his office.

Cities, counties and states balloted themselves into an off-year landslide in a playgrounds sandpile. The old rascals handed the mace of emoluments to the young rascals.

You cannot fool all the people all of the time but you don't have to. You can sub-lease the contract to your district leaders.

The reform element is firmly entrenched at the microphones and in the quiz panels. It seems to have promised more omelets than there are eggs.

The results mean the bunk examiners have balanced the books. The stockpile of promises has been converted into the slagheap of excuses.

The man I voted for was defeated with all on board. He had promised to put the pin-ball machines back in the day nurseries.

The voting was over at nine officially. But when the saloons opened at ten it started up again.

So we will not know who's elected until tomorrow. Same as the Kentucky hills.

Don't be discouraged over the prospects because the reform element copped the duke. Next election they will be ousted by a reform movement.

Plain Whole Wheat Best Natural Source of Vitamin B Complex for Family Health

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

The father of a nine-year-old boy complained that the boy is undersize, bites his finger nails and wets the bed. The boy goes for cake and pie, candy, ice cream and pop but "has not eaten a good substantial meal in a long time."

In school the boy hasn't a high IQ but gets medium and good grades.

The boy is typical of 10 million "underprivileged" children — children who are not privileged to have adequate food and would have little or no interest in it if it were offered, because they are constantly gorged and surfeited with cheat-food—items such as those made mainly of refined white sugar and/or refined white flour.

Pure refined white sugar or refined white flour or cornstarch is highly nourishing (over 100 calories in the ounce), easily digested, quickly convertible into energy.

Mountain climbers, marathon runners or soldiers on a long forced march get refreshment, stave off fatigue and get new strength to carry on, from candy, sweetened tea or other sweetened beverage, milk chocolate.

In precisely the same way one of the 10 million cheated children perks up and continues to play for a short spurt after indulging in another swig of pop or a candy bar or a cookie, but soon tires again.

If any of you can take my persiflage without getting stuffy about it, I have a pamphlet which will do you no harm and may bring real health benefits to your family.

Please send me a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask in writing (a clipping will bring no reply) for the pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

Plain wheat—cracked or ground to meal or flour in your own hand or power mill, as described in the pamphlet — is the natural source of vitamin B complex in our everyday diet.

But how many of you get the amount of vitamin B complex required to maintain good nutrition, promote functional efficiency (for instance of the heart muscle and the muscle of the stomach and intestine) and build vite?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed. Etc.

Columbus Elects Democratic Mayor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus elected a Democratic mayor for the first time since 1935 in a race decided early this morning by less than 300 votes.

A political unknown, Maynard E. Sensenbrenner, former chief clerk of the Ohio Civil Service Commission, achieved one of the biggest political upsets in Columbus history by defeating Republican incumbent Robert T. Oestreicher, owner of an automobile agency.

The vote was 40,708 for Sensenbrenner and 40,224 for Oestreicher, according to unofficial tabulations released by the Franklin County Election Board.

Freed POW Re-enlists

SAN PEDRO, Calif., (AP) — Cpl. Raymond Arias, 22, was released recently by the Korean Reds, who held him prisoner for 28 months. At Ft. MacArthur yesterday he re-enlisted in the Army.

Republican Keeps Post as Mayor of Dem Capitol

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Republican Pratt Remmel won his second term as mayor of this Democratic state's capitol city yesterday by a 3,000 vote margin over the Democratic candidate, Alderman Aubry Kerr.

The mayor's mother, Mrs. Augustus H. Remmel—GOP national Republican committeewoman—said the victory was "wonderful encouragement for the Republicans in the South."

The vote was the highest in a municipal election in Little Rock's history. Remmel received 9,724 votes to Kerr's 6,693 in an unofficial count.

Thief Robs State Resort of Large Linen Supply

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP)—A thief who robbed the closed Torch Tip resort near Eastport, 40 miles south of here, must be figuring on going into the business himself.

He took 161 bed sheets, 122 pillow cases, 91 bath towels, 96 hand towels, 26 bath mats, 70 dish towels, 54 wash clothes, 40 dish clothes, 2 quilts, 2 bed spreads, and other linens.

Because cats were associated with witches, several attempts were made to wipe them out during the Middle Ages and some authorities think outbreaks of the plague were brought about because of the resulting increase in the number of rats.

Gal Musicians Travel Experts

Phil Spitalny Girls Say Small Wardrobe Is Best Bet on Road

CHICAGO (INS) — The attractive lassies who comprise Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra can be rated as experts — not only in music but in travel.

In their cross-country trips they have learned how to make packing easier.

For instance, Rose Marie, the featured soprano from Canton, Ohio, rule is to travel "light." Whenever possible, she tries to get all her clothes into one case so she can manage it herself if there aren't any strong men around.

Rose Marie also has an eye for economy and safety; she always manages to sandwich in a traveling iron and an emergency kit with bandages and other first aid items.

Dottie, who plays the saxaphone also believes in taking a limited amount of clothes along — a suit and a basic dress.

This pretty brunette musician from New Holland, Pa., transfers all her cosmetics into plastic containers to avoid messy spillage. And she brings only one hat which she carts around by wearing it.

She also packs with meticulous care with reams of tissue paper This New Yorker says she finds that "the more tissue paper you use, the less wrinkles your clothes will have."

Maria a dimpled brunette from Ithaca, N. Y., who plays the violin, eliminates dresses from her traveling wardrobe in favor of separates — skirts, sweaters and blouses — which give her a myriad of outfits.

That holds true, too, for Georgette, about as dainty a southern gal as ever played the trumpet.

Georgette, whose name fits her home state of Georgia also likes separates, but manages to bring a suit along as well. She says that "a lightweight suit of conservative cut can be worn everywhere and does not become tiresome."

All of these feminine musicians agreed wholeheartedly on "unmentionables" made of nylon for easy and quick laundering.

Made to Break Down

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Unlike almost any other product manufactured, a grinding wheel is made to break down in use. That's because as the abrasive grits dull, the bond that holds them together must break down to present new cutting surfaces, say researchers of Electro Refractories & Abrasive Corp. The wheel that doesn't wear down becomes glazed and smooth on the face. Then it doesn't cut.

French Recipes Inspire Miller

Trade Agreement Calls for Gallic Bread Idea in Every Sack of Flour

By GAYNOR MADDOX

PARIS (NEA) — When a hard-headed midwestern American industrialist looks to France for inspiration on how to sell more flour for home baking, and spends thousands of dollars in France on the experiment, that's mutual assistance news.

Paul S. Gerot, president of a large milling concern, a homespun Horatio Alger success, swung a top hat dinner at the Ritz Hotel on the Place Vendome in Paris, complete with rare wines, superb food and cancan dancers. Then he announced that his company, world's second largest millers, had adopted a new foreign policy—"loaves of French bread across the sea."

Recipe Service were American rate the company's Foreign Recipe Service were American and foreign diplomats, international socialites, and 40 members of the American press. Gerot's company chartered a TWA Constellation to fly the expedition over and back.

* * *

"Six months ago we decided that many of the great traditional recipes of France and other Continental countries would be welcomed by American homes if presented in American cooking terms and without the usual snobbery that goes with reference to foreign culinary skill," Gerot told me.

"We sent a corps of cooking experts to Europe to select the best for American use and had them adjust the recipes for our American flour, which has more gluten in it than French flour."

He explained that they had first cleared the plan with the State Department. They next got in touch with our ambassador to France, C. Douglas Dillon, and he recognized the importance, in both money and good will, the service could have for the French people as well as the American.

"Between now and next year we shall distribute French recipes and travel plugs for France in more than 100 milion sacks of flour," Gerot added.

He stressed that although this wide-flung free advertising and the Foreign Recipe Service office they are opening in Paris would be of material aid to France, it was also good merchandising for American flour.

* * *

"That's what mutual assistance should mean — a two way street instead of a free handout and reluctant thanks," he said.

Gerot, whose company does just under half a billion dollars worth of business a year, admitted to being a little puzzled by French business methods.

"They seem to me to be smoky, soft, too cluttered with protocol, too quick to say 'impossible' when a new and better way of things is proposed," he confessed, looking out from his apartment to the statue of Napoleon atop the Vendome column.

"I'd sum it up this way," he said with a half smile, "French businessmen have too many habits."

Milwaukee Gets an Ancient Urn From Greece

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — An urn that lay in the wreckage of a Greek cargo vessel for 2,100 years was given to the Milwaukee Museum recently.

The urn was one of the more than 1,000 brought up from the floor of the Mediterranean Sea by a French archeological expedition. It is the only one brought to the United States.

The urn has two curved handles attached to a long, slender neck and an oval or egg-shaped body.

The correct name for it is amphora. It stands about four inches high and is 12 inches in diameter at its widest point. The amphora has a flared lip that tops an 18-inch neck.

The body tapers to a sharp point which the ancient Greeks pushed into the ground to place the vase in a standing position.

The Milwaukee urn is made of red clay, but during its many years under water it became covered with various deposits of sea animals. Now it has the appearance of old marble.

Hal Boyle Says:

Is an Adult's Imagination as Good as a Youngster's?

NEW YORK (AP) — Some grownups always feel that anything a child can do they can do better.

But can they? Particularly in the field of the imagination —the gift that separates the living from the living dead.

Well, let's put it to the test. First, we'll see how one child met a classroom problem — and then see how well you can do with a similar problem.

Ten-year-old Carolyn ("Sandy") Blakeslee is in the fifth grade. Her teacher, as an exercise in imagination, asked the class to make up stories about anything, just so they include a dozen simple words, such as dentist, wedding, weight, hotel.

Here is the story little "Sandy" wrote without help of any kind:

The Bow-Legged Kitten

Once upon a time there was a two-week-old kitten and she was bow-legged and all of her brothers and sisters just laughed at her.

Her name was Munchy and she was all black except for a white tip on the end of her tail and a white star under her chin. She was very lonely and unhappy.

One day after she had finished lapping up her milk and stuffing herself full of cat food and being teased — as usual — she said to herself, "Why should I stay here and be teased the rest of my life? I'll run away! That's what I'll do!"

So, the next day she was on her way.

On her way she stopped to take her weight in a drug-store. And she stopped to go to the dentist and the dentist had to use the drill on one of her teeth.

Soon she came to a meadow and she saw something coming up slowly through the weeds and grass. It was a puppy, a cross-eyed puppy. And soon they were friends, and what a pair they were!

That night they had to rent a room in the Statler Hotel.

The next morning Munchy put on a plaid skirt and yellow blouse and was she a sight. The sleeves were brown.

Rover, who was Munchy's friend, was a poet, and had a very good brain.

One day while they were very far from home Rover and Munchy started to get lonely and homesick but they just went on.

That day late in the afternoon Munchy and Rover saw a cave so Rover started to investigate and Munchy did not want Rover to go to the cave, so she went in too.

All of a sudden a wolf came in from the entrance and they were trapped. And Munchy got so scared that she straightened out her legs and she was not bow-legged any more, and Rover was not cross-eyed either.

But the wolf was a friendly wolf, and said, "Hi-ya, kitten, whatcha doin' tonight?" and with that Munchy fainted.

Just then the wolf's wife came in and said, "Well! Henry, I'm surprised at you. What do you mean about a date tonight? Just for that you can't watch the football game tonight."

A week later Munchy and Rover were sure they were in love. So on June 27th they were on a hotel terrace and Rover said to Munchy, "Will you marry me?" "Why, yes," said Munchy.

On July 24th it was their wedding and the floor was made from solid marble. And the curtains were red velvet and it was a beautiful wedding.

"Sandy" received a grade of A-plus and a gold star for her tale.

Now for that test of your grownup imagination. Naturally, you're too proud to want to use fifth grade words.

So, get out your pencil, and write any kind of a story using the following dozen simple adult words: Astraphobia, yin, malahack, posology, malagma, corvine, smaik, supinator, vair, wap, yang and zoster.

Ready? Go! We'll just tiptoe quietly away—you let us know when the story is done. Take all the time you want.

Peggy Lee Takes Name of Former Husband

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singer Peggy Lee's legal name has been changed from Norma Dexter to Norma Barbour through the expedient of a divorce.

She was granted a decree yesterday from Brad Dexter, whose real name is Boris Mitchell. They were married last Jan. 4. She alleged cruelty.

Miss Lee formerly was married to guitarist Dave Barbour and has a daughter, Nicki, by him. She asked for restoration of the name Barbour.

New Town Elects First Set of Officers

PERRYOPOLIS, Pa. (AP)—This newly-formed Southwestern Pennsylvania borough that became heir to 1½ million dollars a few years ago has brand new officials today —one Republican and 11 Democrats. They're the first ever elected by the community.

The little town, chartered as a borough last year, held its first election yesterday and named mortician Russell Blair, a Republican, burgess. He won by 45 votes over the Democratic candidate, Dr. William Vernon. The borough elected seven councilmen, three school directors and a tax collector —all Democrats.

Botany "Brand 500" Suits and Coats

America's Foremost Independent Research Organization

No Finer Clothing Value at

$65

Here's The Score Card

- FABRICS Overall Rating EXCELLENT
- TRIMMING Overall Rating GOOD
- TAILORING Rated EXCELLENT

Thorough cold-water shrinkage. Excellent matching of plaids and stripes. Good off-pressing and under-pressing. Well-cut trousers with crotch not pieced.

There's more to a suit of clothes than meets the eye. In the case of Botany "Brand 500" clothing, tailored by Daroff, it's reassuring to know that the quality you see on the surface extends right down through the fabrics, the interior construction, and the linings. A nationally known, independent research organization, after extensive tests, recently rated Botany "Brand 500" clothing tops in its price field and one of the best buys in men's clothing at any price! As noted in the score card above, famous Botany woolens come off with top honors. (They're woven right in Botany's own woolen mills at Passaic, N. J.). The high figures for fineness and count indicate tightly twisted fibers, closely woven. 2x2 ply shows that double threads are used in both warp and weft of the fabrics. 14½ to 15 oz per running yard of cloth is evidence of full bodied heft. They're facts that prove the rich beauty you see and feel in the fabrics of Botany "Brand 500" suits and coats for men at Osmun's.

Man Shoots Self as Police Pull In to Serve Warrant

BRUNSWICK, Md. (AP) — A 28-year-old man shot himself to death in his car last night as a pair of troopers were driving up to serve a peace warrant on him, state police reported.

Officers said they were entering the driveway where Garland Lee Bayles' brother-in-law resided when they heard a rifle crack. In the car they found Bayles with a bullet hole in the head and a 22 caliber rifle beside him. The victim died shortly after being brought to Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Relatives said there had been family troubles.

'Brown Fox,' All 'Good Men' Are Now Dead

And now is no longer the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.

But "a quick movement of the enemy would jeopardize six gunboats.

Irma Wright, five-time winner of the Canadian speed typing championship, said yesterday the athletic fox and good men have been superceded by the battle maneuver, for purposes of typing practice.

The quick movement etc. contains all the letters of the alphabet and gives a good workout for supple fingers.

Too Hot to Handle, Still They Do It

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP)—The nation's hottest digits aren't owned oy any be-bop pianist. They belong to the "Hot Hand Charlies," who handle with their bare hands optical lenses heated to a temperature well above the boiling point of water.

The men called blockers, place the heated lenses in pitch beds on metal blocks for grinding and polishing at the Shuron Optical Co. plant here. The pitch, a derivative of tar, holds the glass for precision processing. Temperature of the lenses is above 300 degrees F., enough to blister the normal hand if held for longer than a split second.

Blockers, who develop protective callouses, can hold the sizzling-hot optical glass for long periods without discomfort.

Woman Is the Victim of Technological Change

CARTHAGE, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Sara Hussey, 73, charged her grandson-in-law, Ray Raby, 26, with trespassing when he installed an electric pump in the well serving both their homes.

The case was dismissed when testimony showed that the well was on Raby's property. But Mrs. Hussey, who has used the well 42 years, told the judge: I've drawed and toted water all my life, and I aim to keep right on doing it."

Yo-Yo Artist Yo-Yos While Awaiting Fish

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (UP) — A youth walked up the pier extending into Lake Michigan at Grand Haven recently with two fishing lines and a yo-yo.

As several bewildered anglers looked on, the youth kept up his yo-yo practice and tied a fishing line, first to one foot and then the other. Then he sat down and waited for the fis hto bite—still practicing his yo-yo swinging.

In a letter to a friend in France in 1774, George Washington predicted that some day men would fly from Paris to America, instead of sailing the ocean.

IT'S NO SECRET THAT O-JIB-WA BITTERS IS BEST FOR ARTHRITIS

During the past 38 years, nearly two million people right here in Michigan have found relief with O-JIB-WA BITTERS. Typical of O-JIB-WA boosters is Mrs. Myrtle Lamphere, 144 W. Coulter Road, Lapeer, who has this to say:

"I suffered with neuritis and arthritis so badly I felt like bawling, but knew that wouldn't help. For over 10 years the muscles in my back and shoulders caused me such suffering that I worked in misery, and often my son had to rub my back when it hurt real bad. Besides this, I had arthritis in my hands and wrist which was so painful I couldn't lift the tea kettle. Land of living, many times it was so terrible that I wished I could turn myself inside out so I could get to the pains. In the years I suffered, I tried many things, but nothing helped me. I was introduced to O-JIB-WA BITTERS by a friend who gave me some to start on. When trying it, be sure you use it long enough. I took a large bottle before it helped me much and I advise everybody to get a large bottle, and give it a fair trial if they want good results. I am so glad, for I am all better now, and besides being free of neuritis and arthritis, my stomach, liver and kidneys seem to be in better condition. I know that herb medicines are the best. O-JIB-WA BITTERS gave me such excellent results, that I highly recommend it to all sufferers from neuritis, rheumatism or arthritis."

Roaring of Lions Keeps Phoenix Woman Awake

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A frantic call was received by the night police sergeant.

The lions are with a show at the nearby Arizona State Fairgrounds.

Bob Considine Says:

Briefing of Civilians Helps Explain High Defense Cost

NEW YORK (INS) — Picked units of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force this week gave eye-popping demonstrations of modern warfare to a group of 80 carefully screened U. S. business and professional men.

Most of these civilian leaders, chosen from all sections of the country as well as industries and callings, will take the word back to their immediate circles and their associates that will help the country at large understand a bit better why we must spend so much to arm ourselves. And stay armed.

Continuing an interrupted interim report on the tour, our day-long briefing at the pentagon on the first day was featured in the afternoon by fine talks from James H. Douglas, undersecretary of air, and Gen. Thomas D. White, vice chief of staff of the USAF.

They agreed that the first and most vital battle of any World War III would be the battle for air supremacy. If we are deprived of it, our enemy will be able to destroy our cities at his leisure. The loser of the air battle will not be able to remobilize.

One branch of thinking in Washington is that we must presume the Russians have just about everything we've got, if not more. But our final Pentagon briefers do not belong to that branch. What they had to say was not for the public, including the American public.

After one official described the effect of an atomic-type bomb capable of destroying all life in the city of Washington and for many, many, many square miles around it, I asked him if we (or the other side) had such a bomb.

His longish reply was a masterpiece of triple-talk. But I don't remember that he ever said en oh, no.

On two autumn painted battlegrounds in the Virginia woods near Quantico, the next day, Marines under the command of Lt. Gen. Clifton B. Cates put on a superb and inspiring show.

In the early morning they demonstrated their justly renowned close air-support technique (with screaming jets working on a theoretical enemy within seemingly yards of front-line Marines) and their remarkably expanded use of the helicopter as a troop transport, from simulated carrier decks.

The timing of this portion of the show was so superb that a Marine colonel, speaking to us from a memorized script, would gesture to his left (for instance) and say (without looking) "here is the new Chance Vought Cutlass," at which precise second the villainous-looking jet streaked past us very low at about 600 m.p.h.

Before lunch in the field the conferees were 'coptered to another portion of the huge Marine reserve, put back in bleachers, and watched Marines storm an "enemy" beach and take it most realistically.

They took it with rifles, demolition "blankets," flame throwers, 40-ton amphibious troop-carriers, tanks, and recoilless cannon.

But mainly as a tall and intensely-proud-of-the-Marines instructor told us, they took it because they were Marines, and Marines win — come Hell or high civilian brass.

City Detective Won't Get New Seat for His Pants

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—City Detective D. M. Fults won't get the $15 he asked from the city for the loss of the seat of his pants.

Fults was thrown from a police car in a June 19 accident, striking the pavement with the rear, lower portion of his body.

In ruling on the request for the $15 reimbursement, City Atty. Will Sears yesterday said "the city does not insure the clothing of its detectives against accident, even those portions where more than ordinary wear and tear can be expected."

Inspectors Will Test Liquor on Premises

DENVER (AP)—When you walk into a bar and order a drink, you're going to get what you pay for, says the State of Colorado.

All state liquor inspectors are being equipped with special pocket size sets for testing liquors, Secretary of State Homer F. Bruce disclosed yesterday.

An inspector can enter a tavern and test all the liquor on the bar. The simple test, on the premises in front of the proprietor, will show whether the liquor is straight whisky, a blend of straight whiskies, blended whisky or bootleg which has been colored artificially.

"We're starting the tests to protect the public," Bruce said.

Dulles and Wilson Deny Atomic Plans for Spain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two top administration officials have denied the United States plans to store atomic weapons in Spain, and Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott contends he didn't say it did.

The denials came yesterday in quick succession, and in the wake of widely published stories quoting Talbott as saying in Madrid on Monday there were such plans.

President Eisenhower had an opportunity to give his views at a news conference this afternoon.

Until Talbott comes home about mid-month and gives his official version, the government apparently intends to ride along on the basis of:

1. The pronouncement of Secretary of State Dulles, concurred in by Secretary of Defense Wilson, that "we have no plans for storing atomic weapons in Spain" and that if and when such plans materialize "we shall not announce them publicly to the world and to our potential enemy." Wilson is Talbott's immediate superior.

2. Talbott's insistence on arriving yesterday in Athens, Greece, that he had said nothing about storing bombs in Spain "nor will I ever make statements about atomic weapons." He had been quoted by various correspondents for American and British newspapers and news services as saying there were such plans, subject to approval by Spain.

* * *

Up to last night, no official word from Talbott to the Pentagon had arrived, and a spokesman said the matter apparently would be held in abeyance until the secretary's return.

In the Pentagon they have word for it: "Flaps." A flap in military lingo is something that tangles up policy.

This was the third major flap involving the Pentagon in recent weeks.

* * *

The first came when Secretary Wilson commented at a news conference that he didn't think the Russians had enough planes or atomic bombs to wage a sustained war.

It was unhappy timing. Eisenhower had warned in an address only a little before the ominous menace from Soviet atomic development. The President shortly ordered his subordinates to clear statements on atomic matters with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Flap No. 2 came when Wilson at a later news conference talked about troop strength in Europe and new weapons. Some subsequent stories connected the two, saying that with more new weapons in Europe the United States could cut troop strength there. Some Europeans expressed alarm. The President took the first opportunity to insist there are no plans for reducing American combat strength anywhere.

* * *

Flap No. 3 found Dulles and Wilson in accord. Wilson told newsmen, who asked about the remarks attributed to Talbott, that "I think Secretary Dulles covered that pretty well" in the latter's denial.

Wilson replied cautiously when asked if he could say flatly whether the United States had any atom bombs outside this country. Wilson said he couldn't say that flatly and "I wouldn't say it if I could."

That, of course, left the question open, except for the denial that there now are plans for storing the bombs in Spain at some future time when U. S. bases there are ready for bombers.

Missing Ransom Money May Be Tax Deductible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert C. Greenlease may be able to deduct on his income tax return the approximately $300,000 still missing from the ransom money he paid to his son's kidnap-murderers.

That seems to be the outlook if the lost money does not turn up by Dec. 31.

Tax technicians at Interna, Revenue Bureau headquarters emphasized, in reply to a quety last night, that an official decision on the case has not been determined.

These informants said the circumstances would decide how the Tax Bureau would rule. If, for example, Greenlease had insurance covering his loss, the missing money would not be deductible for tax purposes.

Informants said it appeared from published reports of the Kansas City kidnap case that a section of the revenue code providing for losses by casualty or theft would cover the lost Greenlease ransom money.

* * *

The tax saving to Greenlease, if the money is not recovered and is ruled deductible, would depend on the amount of his income and his other deductions.

If Greenlease's income, after making all family allowances (including a joint return with Mrs. Greenlease), and after deductions for expenses, was $300,000 he would save about $252,000 in taxes by deducting the lost ransom money. This is on the basis of standard tax tables.

If all, or any part, of the lost money is recovered in the future, Greenlease would be required then to pay taxes on the amount recovered.

Bicycling Provides All-Around Exercise

NEW YORK — Bicycling is a good recipe to all-around good health, according to a noted doctor who is also known as a great conditioner of athletes. It is his theory that 50 per cent of the the body is composed of muscles and when muscles are not exercised, all other organs of the body are idling.

A routine of riding an American bicycle in the fresh air for 15 minutes a day provides the needed exercise for most body muscles with consequent benefit to the lungs, kidneys, heart and other organs.

Boy, 8, Is Critical After Sex Assault

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Eight-year-old Bruce Strandhagen fought for his life in Broward General Hospital today while police held a Massachusetts man as his assailant.

The boy had been held prisoner for two hours by a sadistic torturer who stabbed him 17 times with long needles, choked and sexually attacked him in an apartment a block from his home.

Police Chief Roland R. Kelley said the alleged attacker was Winston Hackett Morse, 34, of Salem, Mass., who admitted attacks on four boys in his home state.

Kelley said Morse would be charged with committing a sex assault on a minor child and that other charges may follow after the outcome of the boy's injuries are determined.

Vegetarian Cat Snubs Ham, Chicken and Beef

EAU CLAIRE, S. C. (AP)—There's a vegetarian cat here with a yen for ripe, red tomatoes and juicy cantaloupes. The tabby is a lean specimen of the alley variety, and won't touch table scraps of ham, chicken and beef.

Cooked butter beans, fresh green peppers, and popcorn are other diet favorites for the cat.

Aviation Workers, Firm Still Confer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Joint negotiations between officials of strike-bound North American Aviation Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers will be resumed tonight for the first time since the workers walked out over wage demands Oct. 23.

The union, representing more than 30,000 employes in the Los Angeles, Columbus, Ohio, and Fresno, Calif. plants, has been asking a wage boost of 26 cents an hour. The company offered a flat 4 per cent boost with additional increases for top graded workers, plus fringe benefits. Wages range from $1.42 to $2.32 hourly.

Separate conferences have been held by both company and union representatives with U.S. Mediator John Fenton.

Mrs. King, John Thors Keynote Fund Discussion

Meeting Conducted Tuesday Afternoon at McConnell School

Mrs. Harry E. King, president of the Michigan Congress of PTA, and John Thors Jr., principal of the Pontiac High School, spoke before the Pontiac PTA Council Tuesday afternoon at McConnell School.

The council at this meeting voted to sponsor a teacher scholarship fund to encourage a student to become a teacher.

"Scholarship funds have been suggested by the State Congress of PTA to focus attention on the shortage of teachers," stated Mrs. King.

"The present shortage of about 7,000 teachers in the state of Michigan alone was caused by the vast increase of school enrollment, also by the tightening of the teachers' code which now requires four years of college before issuance of a provisional certificate, and at least three years of teaching experience in a five-year period before applying for a life certificate.

"The low salaries, together with the need of the communities to provide funds for their board of education to supply an adequate teaching staff, are part of this problem. An increase in high school enrollment, encouraged by the broadened curriculum, also has drawn on the available supply of teachers."

Mr. Thors spoke on scholarships to help would-be teachers. He stated that Michigan is one of the foremost states in education, and that four state universities have sponsored scholarships.

His experience as administrator of student loan funds has shown that any group considering a scholarship should not only provide the tuition fee for the first year, but should not then forget that student, but follow through until completion of his education.

Such students must be from the upper third of their class and be able to qualify for college upon recommendation of the high school principal. A little better than average student who is interested in and will work willingly with children will make a fine teacher.

Thirty to 40 students interested in becoming teachers are now members of the Future Teachers Club at Pontiac High School. Service to the community in which they live and helping students to become the right kind of teachers are the aims of this club.

Mr. Thors recommended that a committee be appointed to interview the students and to pay the four-year tuition fees, with the chosen student to report back to the sponsoring organization.

The nominating committee named by the council includes Mrs. Welton Sherman, chairman, and Mrs. Russell French, Mrs. William Hilderly, Thomas Temple and William Wright.

Refreshments were served by the McConnell PTA with Mrs. Earl Luchenbach and Mrs. Sarkis Schnorklan presiding at the lace-covered tea table, assisted by Mrs. Lila Harrington and Mrs. Oscar Johnson.

Don't Try to Learn Alien Skill; You'll Earn Neither Love Nor Money

Some Girls, for Instance, Can't Cope With Shorthand, Other Clerical Duties

By ANNE HEYWOOD

We make a mistake when we assume that every woman is potentially a good private secretary. Lots of girls simply lack the clerical ability. It isn't that they don't try, but they just simply have not got what it takes.

Shorthand is sheer torture to some girls, and to force them to learn is a mistake. It is just like assuming that every man is a born engineer or a born mechanic. Many are, but many are not.

However, most people, women included, take it for granted that any girl who sets her mind to it can learn shorthand and typing and filing and business arithmetic and accounting.

That was Carlotta's mistake.

"I intended to learn it," she announced firmly. "Anybody can!"

Carlotta was a very outgoing person, imaginative, creative, and with no head for details at all. She wrote fashion copy for a chic shop, and they gave her an assistant to check all her facts and figures, because she was as apt to have the price wrong as right.

But her fashion copy was so good, and so effective and successful, that they put up with her. It was just the right job and just the right setup — as I tried to tell Carlotta.

But Carlotta was in love.

"He's wonderful," she told me, "and he's a struggling architect with his own little office. We're engaged, and I think it would be wonderful if I could work as his secretary. It would help him so, and then we'd really be partners at his job!"

She was dewey-eyed, and, of course, she wouldn't listen to me.

Carlotta struggled through a business course, doing miserably and frazzling her nerves and her temper. She gave up her wonderful copy job and went to work for her beau.

Moral: Don't try to learn a skill that is alien—not for love, not for money. If you try, you'll lose the love — and you won't make any money.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Memory of Texas Guinan Rates a Great Big Hand

Flipping almanac pages the other day to check the date of the Scopes evolution trial (1925, would you believe it?) I came on a list of deaths for the year 1933: Calvin Coolidge, John Galsworthy, Fatty Arbuckle—and Texas Guinan.

Texas Guinan! Instantly I could see her—hearty, blonde and bolsterous, crying "Hello, Sucker!" as she greeted customers in her nightclub, the first I'd ever seen in all my life.

MISS McBRIDE

I suppose I stared at her with wide astonished eyes for I was fresh from Missouri and in a state of continual amazement as a cub reporter on the old New York Evening Mail.

Texas was a legend even then. She had invented the phrase "butter-and-egg man" as a title for the out-of-town male visitor with money and a longing to hit the high spots in the big city.

Sometimes as he entered her door she greeted him with his own name, causing him to glow with pride as his friends looked impressed at his importance. Most often, though, she shouted Hello, Sucker!" to one and all and made them love it.

I have to admit that I felt both wicked and uneasy in the Guinan environs, for these were Prohibition days and I had taken the temperance pledge at the age of 9.

Only what I assumed to be my duty as a reporter kept me sitting embarrassedly in my seat even when Texas singled me out for unwelcome notice as "that little girl from the country." Luckily she was quickly diverted for there were plenty of celebrities at the party that night—Will Irwin who had written many books and Inez Haynes Irwin, his wife, who had a book out that very day.

Then there was actually a title, Lady Moria Bathurst, who was probably almost as impressed with her first experience in an American nightclub as I was at meeting my first peeress.

Texas introduced them all and the crowd good-naturedly applauded. If they didn't, Texas urged them on with "Give this fellow (or that little girl) a great big hand," a phrase she had also originated.

She usually stood on a chair to shout greeting and orders, but later in the evening she moved about among the tables and even sat down for awhile with us to drink black coffee which was all she ever touched.

The other guests had lighter colored liquids in tea cups and I was nervously sipping gingerale. Texas knew I was frightened and good naturedly tried to buck me up.

"Don't let 'em scare you, girlie," I clearly remember her cautioning me. "I get scared, too, sometimes, and all of them do. But just don't let anybody know."

Texas Guinan, astute showman, was one of the exciting personalities of those eye-opening days of a young reporter. If I'd only known then what I was seeing!

When the Master Players pull the curtains on their play, "Present Laughter," the part of the Swedish housekeeper will be taken by a Swedish-American housekeeper, Mrs. L. Harold Person.

And the cookies eaten in the play will be Swedish sand tarts or Sand Bakkels, baked by Mrs. Person. We're printing her recipe for these luscious treats.

With several of her children participating in amateur theatricals for years, Mrs. Person says she just didn't have a chance to turn down her present role. Even her husband urged her to take it.

SAND BAKKELS (SAND TARTS)
By Mrs. L. Harold Person

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2½ cups flour
2 egg yolks or 1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and sugar together, add egg yolks and vanilla, beating well. Gradually stir in flour and work dough until well mixed.

Bake in sand bakkels pans (or tart pans), spreading dough as thin as possible. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees about 15 minutes. Cool and remove from pans.

'Mrs.' Can Never Be 'Miss' Again

Divorcee Can't Use Unmarried Title in Social Life

By EMILY POST

Today a woman tells me: "A friend of mine recently has been divorced and given the right to use her maiden name. When writing to her, do I address her as Mrs. Maidenname or Miss Maidenname.

"I have been told that I should address her as Miss, but in my opinion this would be wrong as she has two children. Will you please tell me what is proper?"

Answer: In the social world no detail is more improper than addressing a woman who is—or ever has been — married as "Miss." In the theater or the office or anywhere outside of her personal life she can be known by any name she fancies, but in the social world no "Mrs." can turn herself into a "Miss."

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you think it fair that the girls coming early to a school play keep best seats next to themselves for their particular friends who come later?

We feel that those who come first have a right to these best seats and we wish you would express your opinion so that we may bring up the matter for discussion at our next class meeting.

Answer: Deliberately late or in appreciable numbers, definitely, no! A single seat here or there, for one who was prevented from getting there, would be excusable.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is correct, when writing a long letter and using several sheets of notepaper, to number the pages?

Also would you include the numeral one on the first sheet? There is a difference of opinion about this among my classmates and we would appreciate getting the correct answer from you.

Answer: The first page is definitely the first page, you do not put a number on it, but start numbering with page 2, etc.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be in good taste for a girl to have a photograph taken of herself to give to her fiance for a birthday present?

Answer: Certainly!

Tack Trouble?

To fasten thumb tacks in hard-to-reach place, first wrap forefinger with tape, sticky slide out, and then stick head of tack on tape and press into place.

Strains Paint

You can strain paint lump-free and ready for use by bending a small piece of window screen over the top of the can. Thus folded, the screen can be tied on with a string or held with fingers as you pour into another container. The same piece of screening can be used to strain several cans, since only a portion of it is clogged with paint.

Boy Falls in Love With Tall Brunette, Asks If He Should Return Her Smile

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm in love with a tall brunette who gives me a cute little smile every time we meet. Should I smile back? I think she likes me, but I have a bad inferiority complex.

"And one of her old boy friends says he will beat me up if I ask her for a date. Should I take a chance, or should I wait for her to give me more evidence that she likes me?"

She's already smiling—do you want her to throw her arms around your neck, when you won't even smile back? If you want a date with her, you'd better give her a bit of evidence.

Faint heart never won tall brunette. You're going to have to ge up your courage—first of all with her. Respond to her signal that she wants to be friends—move in and get acquainted with her.

Talk to her and be where she is as much and you can, then you'll be able to judge how she'd react to a date invitation from you. If she's interested, she'll make the asking easy.

With some encouragement from her in your pocket, get set to take care of the old boy friend. If she's not going with him any more, his threats to you are utterly wild. Any dates you might have with her are none of his business.

Stride out bravely, one step at a time. Progress from timid smile to date bid. With that achieved, you'll have your beauteous brunette's help in handling any trouble from her old beaux.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've known Kate for the past six years and have gone on countless dates with her. We're the best of friends and enjoy each other's company very much.

"We've both started in different colleges; she's started a pre-med course and is intent on becoming a doctor, while I'm out to be a dentist. Kate has excluded all thought of love from her mind, and love is equally out of the question for me.

"But here's my problem: Though I've known her all this time, whenever I take her home she refuses my request for a goodnight kiss, saying it's improper. What's so improper about it, if I may ask?"

Maybe improper is the easiest word she could think of to replace some of the others she might use. Inappropriate might have been a better choice . . . on the theory that a girl with a serious intention does not want to clutter up a relationship with folderol. Since love is out of the question, so are demonstrations of affection.

But maybe immodest would come closer to the point. Immodest to agree with words when you request a goodnight kiss. So why keep on asking? Why not just do it sometime when she's looking particularly pretty, being particularly sweet, and you're feeling particularly comfy and close?

CURL or COLOR

For the most part, hair tinting is no longer tabooed. But a few still feel it is not a legitimate part of good grooming.

A woman will appear before her friends one day with straight hair and the next with a new permanent which she hopes will be admired. The same woman feels quite different about changing the color of her hair . . . why?

Of the two a permanent wave is more artificial, for some hair is naturally straight but none is naturally grey or faded.

Of course, the difficulty comes from associating grey hair with old age. Really old people look better with some silver threads among the gold. But many women acquire grey hair long before old age is reached . . . when their appearance otherwise, is still youthful.

There are several hair coloring programs for these women who are still too young to look old. May we help you decide on the color treatment best for your hair?

City Future Discussed Before Club

Panhellenic Hears C. of C. Speaker at Benson Home

"Now is the time to decide if we want our town to forge ahead and become a better place in which to live and work with pride," said John W. Herlinger of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce when he spoke to members of Pontiac Panhellenic Monday evening.

Speaking on "Pontiac at the Crossroads," Mr. Herlinger continued, "In a few months Pontiac will be completely out of debt with an unlimited future."

Mr. Herlinger believes that with the city's capital improvement fund and with the aid of the Pontiac Foundation which is set up to receive gifts from individuals and corporations alike, the city will soon have what is needed to make desired improvements.

He cited the main needs of the community, which include a civic auditorium, public safety building, expanded hospital and library facilities and additional parks and recreation areas.

Mrs. Mahlon Benson Jr. opened her home on Old Orchard drive for this meeting and the hostesses were Mrs. Charles Allen and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds.

Clean and Roll Up Summer Rugs

Before storing those summer rugs, give them a good vacuum cleaner treatment, making sure to clean both sides. The fabric often is porous and grit sifts through to the underside.

Roll them on a clothespole or similar stick, tie them, then cover with good wrapping paper, being sure to tuck in the ends. Store in a dry place.

One Is French, Other Is Iowan

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—After one television dramatic appearance, Michele Morgan finds TV thrilling. After hundreds of television dramatic appearances, Georgiann Johnson feels likewise.

The two actresses form an interesting contrast. Both are blonde and beautiful, but there the resemblance ceases.

Miss Johnson does it for a living. Miss Morgan started off with a bang. Miss Johnson had to work up to it.

Both find that TV presents certain problems, but different problems, reflecting the differences in acting regularly on TV and only once in a while.

The once-in-a-while gal, Miss Morgan, is concerned about memorizing lines. "I've never been on the stage," she says, with only the barest trace of accent, "and you don't have to memorize much for the films.

"But TV—I had to learn 60 pages of dialog. It was a good memory exercise."

Another physical problem that confronted her was the quick costume changes. "Once I just made it in front of the camera after buttoning the last button," she says. "A few seconds more and I would be in trouble."

Miss Johnson, on the other hand, takes these details in stride after all her experience. She's played dozens of different types—from the sweet young wife on "Mr. Peepers" to a polished psycopath on "TV Soundstage," with a grand gamut of in-betweens. Her biggest problem stems from that very variety.

"It's getting to be tough," she says, "remembering what kind of a girl I'm supposed to be this week."

As a "big name," Miss Morgan was given a lead on her first show, on TV's "Studio One," and she'll do another in November when she plays the Big Cough in "Camille."

" 'Studio One' was the first good thing I've had a chance to do in the U. S.," she says. "I spent a few years in Hollywood and made five pictures, but one was worse than the other."

Owner of Freighter Faces 17 Law Suits

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — Seventeen law suits totaling $1,765,000 were on file in federal court today against the owner of the Henry Steinbrenner, an ore carrier which sank in Lake Superior last May with a loss of 17 lives.

Court officials said the largest suit was filed by Mrs. Josephine Wiseman, of Oakland, Wis., whose husband was among those who died. Compensation for injuries and money for lost property were asked in other claims.

The owner of the Steinbrenner, the Kinsman Transit Co. has asked the court to limit the amount of liability as was done after 120 persons burned to death aboard the pleasure boat Noronic in 1949.

Man Dies After Shot in Family Argument

DETROIT (UP) — A mother of three children fatally wounded her husband in their suburban Roseville home early today when he started to beat her during a family argument, police reported.

Mrs. Esther Papp, 25, told police her husband, Louis, 40, had been drinking before he returned home late Tuesday night. She telephoned police and told them her husband had threatened her.

After she completed the call, Mrs. Papp said her husband struck her and she went to a closet to get a foreign-made revolver. Police quoted her as saying she fired "two or three" times.

Papp, who suffered a shoulder wound, ran from the house and drove away in his car. A service station attendant later noticed the wound and drove him to police headquarters. Police rushed Papp to Saratoga General Hospital, where he died shortly after being admitted.

Man Unhurt in Collision

TRAVERSE CITY (UP) — Rex Williams, 35, was thrown from his truck but was reportedly uninjured when it was struck by a Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad train Tuesday, two miles north of Alden near Traverse City. He told police that he tried to stop his truck but slid into the freight train.

All Schools Jammed, but This One Closes

WATERVILLE, Pa. (AP)—With schools all over the nation jammed packed with a bumper crop of pupils, the one-room school house in this Central Pennsylvania community is closed this year. Reason: no pupils.

At one time the community of 150 persons had 60 pupils enrolled in the elementary school. That figure dropped continually until at the beginning of the present term there were only eight eligible children.

So, the school board decided that it would be much cheaper to send the eight remaining pupils by bus to Jersey Shore, eight miles away, rather than keep the 60-year-old building open.

For a real bargain—get a real truck!

SURE, you can save a few dollars now on a truck price-tagged slightly less than a GMC. But if you want a bargain that will still be a bargain after years of hard truck-work, ask these questions before you buy:

Does the truck give you a GMC's 105 H.P.? That's up to 19% more power than comparable sixes. It hustles a GMC's top loads up tough pulls—without engine strain.

Does it have a GMC's 8.0 to 1 super-high-compression? That gives you quicker getaways—more drive—better mileage. All on regular gas.

Does it offer a GMC's engine- and driver-sparing Truck Hydra-Matic*? With it, you say good-bye to gearshift wrestling. No more clutch repairs. Maintenance costs shrink.

Does it have the extra protection of a GMC's self-energizing brakes? The extra comfort of a GMC's "Six-Footer" cab? The handling ease of a GMC's ball-bearing steering action?

If all the answers are "yes," you have a real bargain—a GMC. And there are 19 handsome ½- to 1-ton models to choose from. How can you lose?

Added Uses Found for Rice Leaf Spray

DAVIS, Calif. (UP)—One of the accidental discoveries that consistently has marked scientific progress occured here recently in spraying operations to control rice field leaf miner.

W. Harry Lange, associate professor of entomology on the Davis campus of the University of California, was conducting Dieldrin spray operations to control leaf miner.

However, rice growers reported the spray, in addition to aiding the control of the leaf blight, also killed gnats, mosquitoes and flies. Many of the mosquitoes were of the species that transmit encephalitis and malaria.

Lange said the Dieldrin spray may replace DDT in some areas where the insects have built up a resistance to that insecticide.

Ancient Remedies Have Contemporary Value

WASHINGTON (UP) — Medicine is a dynamic modern science, yet magic, primitive superstition and hand-me-down drug lore from ages past make up one of its more important branches — pharmacognosy.

Pharmacognosy deals with the history, collection, identification, and use of drug plants. The science, besides putting to modern use drugs known to Hippocrates, Galen, Paracelsus and the early physicians, incorporates techniques used by witch doctors and shamans of uncivilized peoples.

Iodine, common as anything around the average house, has an ancient history. Priest-doctors of Assyria treated wounds with sea kelp, and goiter with burnt sponge both are rich in iodine and are used for the same purposes today.

To the present day, centuries-old supersitions about the medical properties of certain herbs have been common. With the progress of science, many of these remedies were found to be worthless, yet others have been found to contain solid substance.

Thirteenth-century Welshmen used the foxglove plant, which contains digitalis, for heart disorders. Ancient Egypt was acquainted with opium, henbane, peppermint, and castor oil. Ephedrine, a drug used for treating colds, asthma, and hay fever, comes from a plant used in China for nearly 5,000 years.

Aborigines have made many contributions to medicine still in use. The American Indian discovered the use of cascara, and recognized the healing properties in wild parsnip, later discovered to contain a drug active against pneumonia and meningitis. South American Indians gave science quinine and curare, a muscle relaxer.

Pharmacognocists seriously regard reports of strange or primitive cures. They could lead to important medical discoveries, no matter how fantastic they seem.

Gabbie Cabbie Gets Fare and Dividend

MEMPHIS, Ten. (UP)—A taxi driver, E. T. Gabbert picked up a passenger for the Taystee Bakery and during the drive told him that 30 years before he had worked for the firm.

"They had me on the wrapping machine," said Gabbert. "Hottest place in the world. After six hours I sneaked out a washroom widow and never did go back—not even for my pay."

A month later Gabbert received a check from the bakery. His passenger had been D. W. Elliott of Chicago, executive vice president of the bakery. The check, including the amount owed and adding semi-annual compound interest for 30 years, was for $50.

Announce Port Plans

LONDON (INS)—Plans to make London Airport "the finest international airport in the world" by 1960 have been officially announced. Alan Lennox-Boyd, Civil Aviation minister said the government will spend $70,800,000 on developing and modernizing London Airport, on the southwest outskirts of the city within the next seven years.

Elderly Brothers Like Bikes Better

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Elza Barrett, 72, and his brother Sam, 70, retired Chesapeake & Ohio railroaders, are unusual sights in this modern city of 85,000. They ride bicycles all the time—for business as well as pleasure.

Both used to drive cars but neither does any more.

Sam explained that he had an automobile more than 25 years ago but just "got tired of it" and switched to the bicycle.

Elza switched last year when an insurance company refused to write a liability policy on his car because he is over 70.

NEW YORK (AP)—So many tenants have complained against landlords since the state allowed a 15 per cent boost in rents last May 1 that this city had to buy four new automatic typewriters to answer them.

The department of housing and buildings reported it now receives 700 to 800 complaints daily, compared to an average of 550 a day last year.

Pontiac Press Photo

'WHERE CAN I GO?'—In the course of any week, Pontiac looms as a dead end for some man or woman—someone without money, without friends, who could get just this far. The warm arm of Pontiac Citadel, Salvation Army, goes out to these people with a hot meal, a bed for the night, and perhaps a little cash to help them reach their homes. You can help keep this work going by donating to Pontiac Area United Fund's 1953 campaign.

Centerline Firm Given Contract

Commission Agrees to Keeping C-1 Zoning for Cass Property

Pontiac City Commission Tuesday night approved a low bid of $43,489 from the E. C. Nolan Co. of Centerline for construction of the Gillespie street bridge.

The firm will begin work 10 days after signing the contract. The bridge is scheduled for completion by April 30, 1954.

The Commission agreed with a report from City Manager Walter K. Willman that property owned by the Pontiac Electric Motor Works at 124 N. Cass Ave. should not be rezoned from C-1 to C-2.

Action was deferred on a request from the Tel-Huron Shopping Center, Inc. that its contract with the city on alley accommodation be terminated. City Attorney William Ewart asked for more time to gather information on the matter.

A communication from the Michigan Public Service Commission was received and filed. It stated the Grand Trunk Western Railroad was preparing to make changes asked by the city in traffic signal control and operation at railroad crossings on Sanderson, Florence and Johnson.

Two public hearings were held, and the following action taken:

The city assessor was instructed to prepare a special assessment roll, for presentation Nov. 16, on construction of sidewalk on the north side of Parkdale from Kennett to the northwest line of lot 87, Lakeside Park subdivision.

Confirmation was deferred on a special assessment roll for sanitary sewer, pumping station and related work on Brooklyn from Stanley to the PO&N Railroad and on Chicago from Carlisle to the PO&N.

A request from Lewis C. Hatcher asking for rezoning of lots 503, 504 and 505 of Dupont Heights subdivision was referred to the City Plan Commission.

A letter from Chauncey H. Hutchins advocating extension of Cass avenue to Franklin road was referred to the city manager for presentation to the Michigan Highway Commission.

A request from Ora B. Lewis asking rezoning to C-1 of the south side of West Huron from an alley west of Franklin boulevard to Palmer was submitted to the planning commission.

In other action the Commission:

Approved a resolution to receive a special assessment roll prepared by the city assessor for sidewalk on the west side of Joslyn from Columbia to Walton.

Confirmed a special assessment roll for curb, gutter and related work on Center from Osmun to Cottage.

A resolution to the family of the late Robert L. Poe, honoring his memory, was unanimously approved by the Commission.

Commissioner Paul A. Kern called attention to the "fine manner" in which the 7th annual informal fall 'clinic' of the Pontiac High School Vocal Department was conducted Monday night.

Kern also commended the City Parks and Recreation Department for the scope and quality of its Halloween program.

STAGE CREW READIES SET—Busy stagehands prepare props for the Pontiac Master Players' production, "Present Laughter," scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the Orpheum Theater here. Plying hammers are Charles J. Nasstrom, 50 E. Hopkins Ave., and Val Walter, Clarkston, on stairs, and Midge Baker, Sylvan City, and Delmont Walter, Clarkston, below. Tickets are available at the Waterford Community Activities Center, the Calbi Music Store, 119 N. Saginaw St., or from cast members.

100 Red Bombs Possible Here

Two Leading Scientists Warn Nation but Say Defense Gets Better

BOSTON (UP) — Russia could drop 100 atomic bombs on selected United States targets any time in the next year, two leading scientists reported today.

President James R. Killian Jr. of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and MIT physicist A. G. Hill said such an attack would "kill and injure . . . millions of people."

"If there should be a surprise air attack . . . next week, next month, or even within a year, our defending forces would be able to intercept and destroy only a small percentage of the invading planes," the scientists said in an article in a late magazine.

"This leads to the conclusion that America might not survive this kind of attack even though we were able in the meantime to destroy our enemy," they said.

They also warned the nation against possible "delivery of intercontinental missiles" in the not-too-distant future and the possibility of clandestine importation of atomic bombs."

Hiss is director of the Lincoln Laboratory operated at MIT for the armed services and devoted to technical aspects of air defense.

"The estimated percentage of the improvements now under development is secret information," the authors said.

"It is not 100 per cent or even 95 per cent, but it is a great gain over our existing powers of attrition."

They said there was "great apprehension" that even the Strategic Air Command—the nation's main retaliatory weapon—"is now vulnerable to severe damage by an air attack on its bases."

Spaghetti Sauce Makes Charlie Sick; or Did It?

By BILLY ROSE

"Begin at the beginning and take it easy," I said. . . .

"Last week," said Aunt Frieda, "your uncle is taking me to Alfredo's Florentine Grotto, and the special on the menu is spaghetti with marinara sauce, sixty cents. Charlie, on account of the doctor, is telling the waiter to bring the spaghetti without sauce.

BILLY ROSE

"'With or without,' says the waiter, 'it costs sixty cents.'

"'Don't talk, bring,' says your uncle. 'And tell Alfredo I'm donating the marinara he should paint the wall with it.'

"When Charlie is finished, he is paying the check like a man. He is figuring, of course, that without sauce he is entitled to a rebate, but a agreement is a agreement.

"Last night we are again going to the Grotto, and this time the special is spaghetti with meat sauce, eighty-five cents.

"'Last time for spaghetti plain you are charging sixty cents,' says Charlie. 'Is the price still identical?'

"'It's not the same dish,' says the waiter. 'Last time you had it without marinara sauce. Today, if you want it plain, it'll be without meat sauce.'

"'What is more expensive, meat or marinara sauce?' your uncle asks.

"'Meat sauce.'

"'Yet, when I am giving back the meat sauce, instead of charging me less you are charging me more. Where's the logic?'

"'I have to charge what's on the menu,' says the waiter.

"'I am desiring conversation with Alfredo,' says your uncle.

"Alfredo is listening politely to Charlie but he is backing up the waiter. 'It's like this,' he explains. 'Today we ain't got marinara, so we can't serve spaghetti without it. However, if you don't want it without meat sauce, why don't you take it without lobster sauce? That we got, and it's the specialty of the house.'

"So your uncle is ordering the spaghetti without lobster sauce, but when the waiter is handing him a check for a dollar-fifty, Charlie is again sending for Alfredo.

"'When I am not eating the lobster,' he says, 'I am saving you double. Yet, instead of telling me thank you, you are charging me double. This, Alfie, shows a absolutely unfriendly attitude. I am not paying.'

"'In which case I am calling a cop,' says the manager."

"So that's how Charlie got arrested," I said.

"No," said Frieda. "When your uncle is seeing the cop's billy-club, he is paying the check. But first he is making Alfredo bring him the lobster sauce in a paper cup."

"So it was the sauce that made him sick," I said.

"No," said my aunt. "The sauce is making the cat sick."

"What cat?"

"Alfredo's cat. So the sauce don't go to waste, Charlie is taking the cat outside and feeding it. The kitty is drinking the whole cup lobster and then is climbing a telephone pole and making noises like six cats. When Alfredo sees this, he is telephoning the Society for the Prevention, and your uncle is getting arrested.

"Well, the Judge, by name Antonio Mariatti, when he hears how Charlie is wasting good lobster sauce is fining him ten dollars. Charlie is paying, but first he is stating to His Honorable that this is the beginning of fascism in America.

"Such talk His Honorable is not liking, so he is throwing the book at your uncle and fining him twenty-five dollars."

"With that kind of aggravation," I said, "no wonder it's biting Charlie in the belly."

"The biting is not from aggravation," explained Frieda patiently. "When we are coming home from the court, your uncle is asking for a glass tea and a piece herring. Well, the herring — it could happen to a Vanderbilt — was a little old."

Depends on United Fund

Salvation Army Extends Helping Hand If Needed

Some persons may think of the Salvation Army as an organization that collects old clothes or stations workers at coin kettles during the Christmas shopping season.

But the folks who know the 'Army' best are the ones it helps — strangers stranded without friends or money, needy families facing Christmas with empty cupboards, alcoholics stumbling from hangover to hangover wanting to stop drinking, but just not quite making the grade.

Last year, Pontiac Citadel, Salvation Army — which shares in Pontiac Area United Fund campaigns — "took in" some 580 stranded people. It found lodging for them overnight, gave them 1,757 meals, and some were issued shoes and clothes.

Some of these people were heavy drinkers seeking permanent help — others just folks who ran out of money on the way through.

Last Christmas, about 250 families grasped the helping hand of the Salvation Army. Twenty-seven Christmas baskets, 226 food orders, 1,500 toys and 493 pieces of clothing went into needy homes.

But the Army's story is the story of individuals.

Typical was the frightened, bruised mother who entered the office one day, tagged by three scared children.

Almost in tears, she said her husband had forced her to leave their home, giving her just $20. The four had boarded a bus for Pontiac — no friends here, no family.

The Salvation Army gave her food lodging, and money for the trip back home, where she was referred to local officials and finally won a financial settlement from her husband.

A worker relates a Christmas basket story:

"We heard that a family needed help, so we packed a Christmas basket with food, candy and nuts and went to the address about 7 o'clock on Christmas Eve. We found the family didn't need it . . . so we started to leave.

"But we noticed a little boy with his nose pressed against the window in the apartment below, just crying his eyes out. We saw just one electric light bulb working in the whole apartment.

"We knocked and asked the mother what was wrong. She told us that there was no Christmas for her seven children—that she had been working, trying to get money, but there was no money left.

"The house was cold and dark; and the only food they had was a little oatmeal.

"We left the basket; and we went back later that night with toys for the children. We told her not to worry, that we would get help. She's getting welfare aid now, and is doing fine."

And the story of a drinker who found the way back:

"A man came into the office — he'd fallen face down in the mud, but you could tell he had some pride left even yet. He'd been drinking. He said he couldn't go it alone any more; he had to have help; and started to cry.

"We gave him clean clothes, and lodging, and medical care; and sent him down to our men's social center in Detroit.

"He became a good citizen, held a good job with us for a while, and finally reunited with his family and went back to work in the engineer-architect's office where he had been in the beginning."

That's the story of the Salvation Army — the helping hand in time of trouble, the "Santa Claus" of need; families, the family away from home for the stranger passing through.

City Improves Cemeteries

Beautification Program Progresses at Oak Hill and Ottawa Park

A long-term beautification program is progressing at Oak Hill and Ottawa Park Cemeteries, according to Kenneth P. Anthony, city superintendent of cemeteries.

The chapel building at Oak Hill has been redecorated, he said, and painting of the cemetery fence will be completed next year.

Planting and relocating trees and shrubs is being done at both places, he added.

Plans soon will be completed for construction of a permanent cemetery water system, Anthony said.

About 10,000 yards of dirt have been put into a section of Oak Hill east of N. Paddock street, and about 6,000 more will be added to make the area suitable for use, the superintendent remarked.

Extensive pruning of trees and relocation of urns is continuing, he added.

Camera-Eyed Policeman

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—John T. Heard is now known as the policeman with "a camera eye." He got the title in city court from Prosecutor Aaron E. Elfenbein after he recognized and arrested in one day three motorists whose licenses he knew were under suspension. In one case, the suspension was four years old, but Heard remembered that the man had lost his driving permit.

Hospital Gets Pathologist

Dr. John Marra Is New Laboratory Director at Pontiac General

DR. JOHN J. MARRA

Dr. John J. Marra, 40, has taken over duties as director of the pathology laboratory at Pontiac General Hospital.

The new staff member's duties include handling most hospital diagnostic procedures, acting as consultant to the staff in laboratory methods and instructing interns and residents.

Dr. Marra graduated from Fordham University in 1933 and received his Master's Degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1934.

He received his medical degree from Georgetown University in 1938 and took his rotating internship at the Albany Medical College and Hospital in Albany, N. Y. He was associate director of the pathology laboratory and then resident pathologist there until 1948.

Since 1948 he has been in group diagnostic work in Albany and attached to the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology. He began work at Pontiac General Sept. 16.

'For the Record'

Our Sugar-coated Training of Kids May Develop Flabby Personalities

(Maurice Zolotow, author of "No People Like Show People" and "It Takes All Kinds," tells how today's sugar-coated teaching methods are undermining the personalities of the nation's children.)

By MAURICE ZOLOTOW

I am worried about my son Stephen, a boisterous brown-eyed 8-year-old lad. In September he returned to school.

This is what has upset me. He loves school! He drools at the thought of the 9 o'clock bell.

ZOLOTOW

I got worried because I don't want my kid to be some kind of freak. Thirty years ago when I went to public school, any kid who liked it was considered a little queer.

Come vacation, we would all race out of the schoolhouse prison, yelling, "No more lessons, no more books, no more teachers with dirty looks."

Now children feel miserable when school ends. They are just crazy about their teachers and their books. Far from giving them "dirty looks" or making them write 5,000 times, "I will not talk in class," the public school pedagogues now treat their charges as tenderly as a bride on the honeymoon.

Everything is made sweet and delightful, everything is taught by means of fun and games.

Public school has certainly changed a lot in the last 20 years. Nowadays there aren't even inkwells in desks because there are no desks in the most advanced schools, it being considered damaging to morale to tie down a pupil to a desk.

And there is no need for inkwells because all the children are equipped with ballpoint pens!

Then, my son was telling about a popular subject, Social Studies, where they are contrasting the Indian way of life with the 20th Century American.

The teacher wrote down on the blackboard (they still have blackboards, I am happy to report) a list of items. She then explained that the class could contrast the Indian and the American category by category or study each as a whole.

She said the class would first take a vote on whether the teacher or pupils should make the choice. Take a vote! I recoiled in horror.

I can still remember when it was considered strange for women to vote! Now they have the children voting.

Naturally, my boy and his classmates voted in favor of the pupils making the choice. Then they voted on the method of studying the Indian.

Somebody made a motion in favor of studying Indian culture as a whole before comparing Indian life with American life. It was carried by an overwhelming majority except for a few southern states. In my public school days, the only choice we ever had was whether to behave ourselves, or be kept after school.

Whether these sugar-coated methods will instill in the minds of our children, a deeper knowledge of mathematics, literature, geography and history only time will tell.

Making everything easy and bland for our children cannot be good for their personality. The muscles of the personality can grow flabby — if the personality is not compelled to meet painful challenges.

It isn't just the school that makes it easy. Conditions in the average American home also lend themselves to this flabbiness.

There is that monster television — with our young sitting passively before a screen sucking pleasure by the hour.

We don't force our children to eat food they don't like. Might injure their little personalities, you know.

Where no emphasis is placed on coping with difficult situations, I feel we are giving our children a poor preparation for life. Without outer discipline, one cannot develop inner discipline, the spiritual resources, and the strength, necessary to overcome the adversities and frustrations that are inevitable in living.

And we can't wait for the school to change either. It is up to us, the parents, to provide a balance for the unbalanced diet of pleasure a child is surfeited with today.

We must give them discipline and high standards. We must force them to do things they do not like to do. Many of the things a human being must perform later on are monotonous and painful.

My son will hate to do them and so he must learn, as soon as possible, the importance of duty.

New Car Gadget Is Road Sander

NEW YORK (UP)—A new device aimed at making your winter driving safer is a road sander for automobiles to give protection against skidding on icy roads, as well as aid in starting.

You simply flip a switch on the steering post and a layer of processed grit flows down in the path of the car's rear wheels. The electronically-operated system is hidden from view.

Valves controlling the deposit of grit are concealed in the luggage compartment and non-clogging discharge tubes are hidden by the car fenders.

The system, which is named "Grip-King," even has an indicator light on the dashboard to signal the driver when the grit material is running low.

No Such Animal

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—The telephone operator at the State Game and Fish Commission reported that a trapper called the other day and asked if the commission had a "fur-bearing biologist."

BRAND FOR SAFETY?—Special license plates, to brand dangerous drivers is Martha Berglund's idea for reducing traffic fatalities. A worker in the governor's office in Minneapolis, Minn., she is shown examining a display poster of the red and white plates which would serve as a warning to safe drivers and, perhaps, make convicted dangerous drivers toe the mark.

Chemical in Plastic to Feed House Plants

NEW YORK (UP) — Plants adorning the office and house are in for a chemical assist.

It will come in small squeeze bottles of plastic, similar to those used for hand lotions and deodorants. You remove the cap, puncture the plug and then spray the plants.

The motto is "One Squeeze to feed."

Potato Sprouting Thing of the Past

NEW YORK (UP) — Potato sprouting—an old headache for both farmers and dealers—may be on the way out, thanks to a chemical compound.

This special dusting compound is called Fusarex."

It is designed for treating stored potatoes, since the spuds which are brought to market immediately do not have a chance to grow sprouts.

Fusarex is said to be effective for as long as six months. It is also expected to be of value to makers of potato chips and other processors who can't use potatoes on which sprouts abound.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that the 1952 potato crop amounted to 347,504,000 bushels, of which about one-fourth was placed in storage for varying periods.

Goat Hairs Prove Best to Use in Paint Rollers

Hardy pig bristles, for years the chief material in fine paint brushes, began to go out of style as more and more home decorators turned to paint rollers.

In this type of paint applicator, other animal fibers were used as the basis for cover fabrics.

Now a paint roller manufacturer reports that mohair, which is made of goat's hair, provides the best cover fabric for paint rollers.

Powder-Type Rubber to Use Up Old Tires

NEW YORK (UP)—Rubber that pours like sugar may be turning up in the soles of your shoes one of these days.

"Flo-mix" is rubber in powdered form which has been reclaimed from worn-out auto tires and other products, then processed by a new method.

It may be shipped either in bags or in tank cars. Up to now, reclaimed rubber has been "cooked" for shipping in slabs.

Official Seeks Law to Slash His Own Budget

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—A state official says he is going to seek legislation to get his budget cut by $1,000.

Edward C. Hayes Jr., administrator of the State Division of Fish and Game, said the law forces him to take the money—and he doesn't want it.

Hayes told a budget hearing yesterday:

"We have a law on the books that says we have to pay for egg bearing lobsters if they are presented to us. So I have to have money to pay for them. The trouble is we don't have a lobster hatchery any more."

He said he will ask for repeal of the law.

Mails to Aid Pollution Fight

Plastic Envelopes Will Be Dropped at Sea to Indicate Oil Flow

LONDON (AP)—Britain is turning to the mails in its campaign against oil-polluted beaches, scourge of the nation's oceanside resorts.

The oil comes from tankers, which discharge it at sea. It not only ruins beaches when washed ashore, it also kills thousands of birds and fish.

The government plans to drop 10,000 plastic envelopes in the Atlantic in a rough semicircle within a 500-mile radius from the Bay of Biscay to a point halfway between the Hebrides and Iceland.

Each envelope will contain a franked addressed postcard. The finder will be asked to write on the card his name and address, the date and place it was found, and return it to the National Institute of Oceanography.

The institute will be able to estimate the speeds and directions of the currents from the date and position on each card. Thus, if a large percentage of the envelopes are recovered from any one area it follows that oil jettison in that area is likely to drift ashore.

Conversely, oil dumped in any large area from which no envelopes are recovered is unlikely to do shore damage.

The cards will be printed in five languages and two shillings and sixpence (35 cents)—or its foreign equivalent—will be paid to each finder.

The Admiralty move follows the recommendations of a government committee on the prevention of pollution of the sea by oil which reported to the ministry of transport in July.

Bow and Arrow Explorer

NEW YORK (AP)—An American explorer, Dr. Harold E. Anthony, recently penetrated to remote and dangerous jungles of Central Brazil armed with nothing but a bow and arrow. He talked with fierce, primitive tribes never before visited by anyone and took pictures and made tape recordings of their stone age dances, ceremonials and completely naked existence. He had a tough job explaining what was to them the supernatural mystery of a compass.

Muscle Machine Aid to Patients

Ann Arbor Hospital Has Device Which Permits Vision of Trouble

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A machine through which muscle movements can be seen and heard is helping polio patients at University Hospital.

The device, known as a myograph, actually "broadcasts" the sound of muscle movement and reproduces it in the form of a wave on a special screen.

"Since the patient can hear through a loudspeaker and see them on the screen, he is often encouraged to use those muscles which appeared to him to be hopelessly impaired," reported Dr. George H. Koepke.

Use of the machine is still in the experimental stage, according to Dr. Koepke of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation.

However, it is being tested on polio patients in the hospital respiratory center and has raised the hope that it may have definite therapeutic value.

Dr. Koepke described as a great challenge the restoration of the polio patient who has suffered weakness of respiratory muscles.

"Whenever we find a device or technique which promises to be a useful method of treatment, we are a step closer to recovery," he said.

In addition to indicating where therapy should be applied, still pictures may be taken of the varying wave patterns of the muscles.

The machine actuated by small lead contact points pasted to the patient's chest or limbs through which muscles spasms are picked up electronically.

Italian-American GI a Veteran Warrior

WITH U. S. 45TH DIVISION, Korea (AP)—A young Italian-American who just has joined the 45th Division in Korea can hold his own with the "old hands" when it come to describing battle adventures.

PFC. Gasper Demeio, 26, of Philadelphia, went to war at 13 as an Italian guerrilla fighting the Nazis. In 1940, he joined the Garibaldi Guerrilla Resistance Army, named after the early 19th Century Italian patriot. It harassed German detachments in northeastern Italy and threatened homeland collaborators.

Two years later at 15, Demeio had risen to a rank compared to the American Army's company executive officer. After surviving the Nazi occupation and four years of war, Demeio came to the United States in 1950. He lived in Philadelphia and worked as a tile setter before he was drafted this year.

Authorize Taking Bids

JACKSON (AP)—The city commission has authorized the taking of bids for the construction of an elevated water storage system at an estimated cost of $637,280. The project will include two tanks, capable of holding a million and a half gallons each.

'KITTEN' HUNGRY—The hungry-looking feline belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hamilton, of Pittsfield, Mass., shows no respect for age and very little humility. Little does it know that the goldfish has reason to be smug, for it has outlived six of the Hamiltons' cats. Now a senile 21, the fish is 150 years old by human standards. It once survived being clawed out of the tank by a cat.

2 Youths Hold Up Cafe Near Flint, Flee With $40

FLINT (UP)—Two youths wearing black gloves, white T-shirts and blue jeans held up a restaurant near here Tuesday and escaped with $40.

Police said the youths pulled a knife on two women employes and forced them to hand over the money from the cash register. The women were ordered to "lie on the floor for five minutes" while the youths made their getaway.

32,000 Nurses in State

Negligent Homicide Charges Dropped

Charges of negligent homicide against Percy B. Vincent, 31, of 571½ Division St., Grand Rapids, were dropped by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty yesterday when a material witness failed to appear in court.

Vincent had been charged with the death of Mrs. June Pratt, 27, of 45800 Grand River Rd., Novi, in an automobile accident March 28.

Vincent's jury trial was started in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday and was stopped when the prosecutor's office said it would not be able to present its case without testimony from the witness.

Call Ex-Convict in Radar Probe

Sen. McCarthy Believes Man Jailed in Spy Case Works in Key Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy believes to be Abraham Brothman, who served a prison term in the Rosenberg atom spy case, was summoned today before the U.S. Senate investigations subcommittee in its probe of alleged radar espionage.

McCarthy (R-Wis), subcommittee chairman, said yesterday the man is now working in a radar plant.

However, an official of the factory involved said later it is not a radar plant, but makes a "machine shop line" and nothing having to do with radar, and never makes "some government material but nothing of any importance."

* * *

McCarthy said yesterday that "the moment we heard that Brothman was free and working in a radar plant, we called the plant, the Techni-flex Co. in Port Jervis, N.Y." The Senator added:

"One of his superiors there said that the Brothman employed in the plant was the same Brothman who had served a sentence on a conspiracy charge. We immediately issued a subpoena ordering Brothman to appear in closed session before us. . . ."

An official reached at the Techni-flex plant, who asked that his name not be used, said last night he spoke for all who knew Brothman at the plant and had complete confidence in him.

McCarthy's subcommittee has been probing alleged radar espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. It has been holding closed hearings here.

The group's investigators say they have been given statements by atom spy Harry Gold in which Abraham Brothman was portrayed as a member of a Soviet spy ring of a decade ago.

* * *

Brothman, 31, served a two-year sentence after his 1951 conviction on charges of obstructing justice by getting Gold to tie to a 1947 federal grand jury investigating espionage.

Gold is serving 30 years as a confessed member of the same atom spy conspiracy for which Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, died in the electric chair last June.

Oldsters Take Stage in Reno Courtroom

RENO, Nev. (AP)—It was quite a day for the older generation in Reno's court house.

George A. Sagendorph, 74, a socialite manufacturer from Boston, Mass., divorced his wife, Jane, on grounds of three years separation. They had been married for 54 years.

And Intha Whitely, 73, of Cove, Ark., was married to Arthur Lockwood, 26, of Del Rio, Tex.

Officiating at both the divorce and the marriage was District Judge A. J. Maestretti—who is 79.

Somebody's in Plenty . . .

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A name indicating possible trouble meant nothing to Hamilton County officers on the prowl for illicit moonshine stills. They went right ahead and destroyed a 100-gallon setup found near Hot Water Road.

Korean Parley Still Deadlocked

Reds Reject Dean's Plan as Useless; 10th Session Scheduled Today

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists today bluntly told American envoy Arthur Dean they feel he has failed to "advance anything useful" in efforts to get the Korean peace conference underway.

The diplomats got nowhere in their meeting. They will meet for the 10th time at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. EST Wednesday).

• • •

Dean told newsmen he felt the time, place and composition of the peace parley could be handed out to subcommitees for simultaneous discussions. But he has not given this plan to the Communists.

The Communists Wednesday angrily accused the United States of violating the Korean armistice by signing a defense pact with South Korea.

The preliminary peace talks are stalled by Red demands that neutrals be invited to the peace conference.

• • •

Dean, sent to Korea to speak for the countries which fought under the United Nations flag in Korea, is bound by a U. N. resolution providing that belligerents should work out the peace. But Dean has told the Reds he is willing to talk over the neutral dispute if they will first agree on a time and place for the conference.

Despite the continued deadlock, Dean said he noted "a more reasonable tone" in Communist statements Wednesday and said he still is hopeful the two sides can arrange the already-delayed conference.

• • •

North Korea's foreign ministry councillor, Ki Sok Bok, chief spokesman for the Communist side, declared in a long statement Wednesday that South Korean President Syngman Rhee "has openly threatened and is still threatening to launch attacks" against North Korea at the end of six months after the truce signing last July 27.

Dean replied by declaring Rhee "and the great Republic of Korea have every intention to observe the armistice agreement, to further the cause of world peace and to observe the commitments given to the United States" in the Rhee-Dulles communique Aug. 7.

Housewife Aids FBI in Finding Fugitive

DETROIT (UP)—Edwin Sanford Garrison, 53-year-old mathematical genius, burglar and murderer who made the FBI's "most wanted" list, was captured Tuesday night by agents and Detroit Police.

Garrison, often referred to as a human adding machine, had been sought by the FBI since his escape from the Atmore Prison Farm at Atmore, Ala., Aug. 27, 1952. He was placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives Oct. 26.

The FBI said Garrison's capture resulted from the alertness of a Detroit housewife who spotted his picture in a newspaper and reported it to police. The police department notified the FBI and both agencies collaborated in the arrest.

Best Bike Collection

WASHINGTON — One of the best collections of American bikes is to be found in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington. Oddest bicycle in the group is a steam-propelled two-wheeler which was dreamed up by a New England inventor. The operator sat directly over the boiler and the smokestack was an inch, or so from his back. It was a popular attraction at fairs and circuses for years.

The age of this firm, and the reputation of this firm, are your assurances of satisfaction and fair prices.

Unbeaten Illini Eleven Earns 'Miracle Team' Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—What has made Illinois—overlooked by all the experts—football's miracle team of the season?

Illinois, only unbeaten outfit in the Big Ten, can start glancing West to the Rose Bowl if it defeats Michigan Saturday in a gigantic homecoming classic at Champaign, Ill.

After Michigan, comes Wisconsin and Northwestern—both dangerous, but not regarded as strongly as Illinois' bitter rivals, the once-defeated Wolverines.

Before the season started, Illinois was relegated to the Big Ten's second division by football critics. After a 21-21 opening tie with Nebraska, it bowled over Stanford, Ohio State, Minnesota, Syracuse and Purdue. Now it is ranked No. 4 nationally.

Illinois' success is a classic example of a team jelling all at once and staying that way. Everything is clicking.

Coach Ray Eliot knew he had several promising sophomores last spring. But you can't build a season on players untested in actual games.

His remnants of the two-platoon system included such defense men as Herb Borman, Bob Lenzini, Don Ernst, Jan Smid and Cliff Waldbeser; and such offense players as Rocky Ryan and John Bauer.

He had to teach each to play both ways. Shifts were made, like moving captain Lenzini and Ernst from guard to tackle.

Stan Wallace, a defensive fullback in 1952, responded brilliantly as a double-duty performer. Eiry Falkenstein, a senior quarterback on the third string, budded into a reliable signal-caller with a tantalizing pass to supplement the ground game.

Injuries to key men have been minor, although fullback Wallace will be sidelined for Michigan. But Ken Miller, nearly as effective, is ready to replace him.

By keeping his first string fairly well intact, Eliot has developed a powerful one-platoon group out of a jigsaw of pieces. Although a rabid disciple of the two-platoon system, Eliot actually has benefited greatly by the new rule. His ranks would have been too thin this season, otherwise, and effectiveness would have been sacrificed trying to maintain two teams for offense and defense.

Performances of Caroline, who has rushed 891 yards for a modern Illinois record, and Bates, who has scored nine touchdowns, have given the entire team a tremendous lift.

The amazing ability of this pair has provided Falkenstein with confidence as a signal-caller and has stirred the linemen for all-out efforts in opening holes and blocking.

Andrews Gets Big Chance in Davey TV Bout

Ex-Army Champ Is Still Slight Underdog for Tonight's Scrap

DETROIT (AP) — Newcomer Al Andrews gets his crack at the gold and glory strung across the national television cable tonight when he meets Chuck Davey in Olympia stadium.

The 10-rounder, starting at 10 p.m. (EST), will be televised around the country. It also will be broadcast.

Andrews, former Fifth Army champion from Superior, Wis., earned this shot at the big time, and money, by outpointing Davey in a one-sided 10-rounder in Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 14. He floored Davey for an eight-count in winning unanimously.

Fast on his feet but light with his punches, the 23-year-old Andrews started his pro career in July, 1952. He picked up $50 for his first effort. Tonight his purse may hit $9,000.

Davey, of course, is a familiar figure to millions of TV viewers. He was the original "Golden Boy" of 10-inch television. His rating, however, plunged like a lead ball in a well after he was battered by Kid Gavilan last February in a welterweight title bout.

Since then, the East Lansing, Mich., southpaw has fought three times but has been far from brilliant. He stopped Sammy Giuliani, outpointed Sammy Mastrean and then lost to Andrews.

Davey was a 3 to 1 favorite in his first fight against Andrews, a busy small club fighter. This time Davey will be favored again but only by the slimmest of margins.

Andrews, whose record is 22-4-1, says "I licked him before, and I can do it again." Davey's only pre-fight comment was: "I'm ready."

Davey has worked hard for this fight. He's boxed over 60 rounds, compared to only 20 in the first Andrews match. Davey's record is 38-2-2.

Connell Re-elected

DETROIT (UP)—Hazel Park's nine-man board of directors met Monday for the first time since the end of the track's 1953 meeting to re-elect last year's officers and approve plans for about $250,000 worth of grandstand and barn improvements. Among those re-elected was track President Richard A. Connell.

BATBOYS' WINTER SEASON—Ever wonder what batboys do when the ball players go off to hunt and fish or run hardware stores? Gene Sultan, of the New York Giants, has an interesting winter season occupation. He acts on TV. His most recent chore was on TV Soundstage, and here he shows fellow player Patricia Jenkins how to handle a bat.

Sacrifice Fly Returns

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP) — The sacrifice fly, which should help long ball hitters improve their batting averages, will be back in the baseball rule book in 1954.

* * *

Except for 1939 it's been missing for 22 seasons.

The revived rule says that any fly ball which permits a runner to score after the catch will not count as a time at bat against the hitter.

Some experts figure this can add as much as seven to 10 points to the batting averages of power hitters. The overall figures for the major leagues in 1939 when the rule was in effect didn't show any marked change.

* * *

The commitee, meeting for the first time in more than two years, tightened a number of other rules and wrote a new one requiring players to bring their gloves to the dugout at the end of each inning.

Among the changes were:

Official recognition of suspended games—games halted by curfew or light failure. These games may be completed at a later date.

* * *

Addition of a footnote to the rule on "tagging up" after a fly. The note says the base runner must start from a standing position in contact with the bag. Some players including Bob Thompson and Al Dark of the New York Giants had been taking a running start from short left field.

Insertion of the word "fair" in rule 7.08F, which says a runner is out if hit by a batted ball.

Removal of the madatory 90-day suspension against a manager who orders his team off the field and forfeits a game. Dixie Walker did this several years ago while managing Atlanta. The punishment now will be up to the league president.

Ruled it unsportsmanlike conduct for a fielder to take a position in the line of vision of the batter and purposely attempt to distract the batter. This was an old trick of Eddie Stanky, now manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Colorful Trotters Coming Here for Benefit Contest

World-famous Harlem Globetrotters will appear in Pontiac Nov. 22 in a benefit baseball exhibition. Trotters will meet Pontiac Shaw's Jewelers in the feature tilt of a 2-game card in Pontiac High School's gymnasium.

* * *

Exhibition is being sponsored by the Muses Club of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church.

Comprising the Harlem lineup will be forwards Sam Wheeler, a veteran of eight seasons with the team, and Charles Holton, a 1st-year man; center Orris Hill, towering 6-foot 7-inch performer; and guards Boid Buie, one-armed sensation, and William "Pop" Gates, another seasoned veteran.

Jewelers' team will include Garland Townes, Cecil and Mike Hanes, former St. Frederick star Bob McManus, Skeeter Laidlaw, ex-PHS standout Bill Tyrns, Bob Seay, Sam Menard, Tom Bolton, and former Ortonville High cager Pete Palshan.

St. George's team, made up of Eugene Ryeson, Sam Cosma, Tony Kazakos, Socrates Rallis and Sam Gabriel, will oppose a group of University of Michigan students in a preliminary game at 7 p.m.

Tickets for the show are now on sale at Calbi's Music Store and several other downtown establishments.

Army-Navy Classic Set for Radio, TV

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced Tuesday it will sponsor a nationwide radio broadcast of the Army-Navy football game Nov. 28 in addition to its telecast of the game.

GM said it was adding the radio broadcast because of the public's "high interest." Radio and telecasts will be separate. The game is TV's "football game of the week."

Broadcast will be on NBC, telecast on NBC-TV. GM said the broadcast will be over 200 NBC affiliate stations and the telecast on 190 NBC-TV affiliates.

Army-Navy game will be played at Franklin Field in Philadelphia starting at 1:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Irish to Seek Sixth Straight Win at Penn

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—An unbeaten Notre Dame bowls into Pennsylvania Saturday seeking its sixth straight victory for a recuperating coach who earlier decried football's return to one-platoon play.

Coach Frank Leahy, stricken midway in Notre Dame's prized 27-14 victory over Georgia Tech 10 days ago, saw no good in the abolishment of free substitution.

Yet, his fighting Irish, No. 1 in the Associated Press National poll must be credited with a marvelous survival of the late, widely-mourned two-platoon system.

Leahy's complaint was that more boys played football better under the old setup. That with only 20 days of spring football allowed by the NCAA, two-way football couldn't be taught to former offensive or defensive specialists.

One Shot, Two Geese

Arnold Leach, Lake Orion, brought down two Canada geese with a single shot recently while hunting in a cornfield four miles west of Lake Orion. Each bird weighed about nine pounds. Leach was using a 12-gauge double-barreled shotgun.

Large Tax Bite by State Keeps Conditions Poor at New York Tracks, So Race Fans Travel to Jersey

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—Blame for racing conditions in New York, outside of Belmont, can be placed on many people or their connections. Belmont is OK, although there are many who don't care for so much steeplechasing and hurdle races.

* * *

There are even more who don't care for the chute, which is hard to see and follow. There are times when the horses are a mile-and-a-half away from the customers. But in the main, Belmont is OK.

* * *

Jamaica and Aqueduct are not. They are far below the average for a town of 1,500,000, much less 8,000,000. But it must be admitted that the blame for this can be widely scattered. No small part of this blame falls on the state, which persists in socking the race goer 15 per cent.

With breakage, the horse player is soaked 16.6 per cent—a perfect steal. It is thievery on a million-dollar scale.

And the state is beginning to find it can't get away with this highway robbery. In the main, the New York horse player has to stand up at the track—or give up racing.

But there is New Jersey. New Jersey has three fine tracks—Garden State, Monmouth and Atlantic City. These are not too far away. They are modern tracks, run in a modern way, where the interests of the horse player come first.

So the New York track fans have been leaving New York tracks and attending the New Jersey tracks by the thousands. There are any number of days when these New Jersey tracks outdraw Jamaica and Aqueduct heavily.

* * *

The state of New York has suddenly found it can't have its cake and eat it at the same time.

Port Huron Still Tops 'A' Rating in UP Balloting

By LLOYD NORTHARD

DETROIT (UP) — Port Huron, Mt. Pleasant and Flint Dye retained top spots today in the weekly United Press high school football ratings.

Coach Bob Hayes directed his powerful Port Huron team to its 26th straight victory at the expense of Birmingham last Friday night to keep first place in Class A. Port Huron winning streak is the longest in the state.

Mt. Pleasant, winner of seven straight starts this season, led the Class B pack for the fifth week in a row. There were no changes at all in that class. Mt. Morris, state's only unbeaten, untied and unscored upon team, was second, followed by Sparta, Warren, Caro, Algonac, Ironwood, North Muskegon, River Rouge Lourdes and Kalamazoo State.

Anderson Resigns After Meetings of Players and School Officials

ALBION (AP)— Albion has a new football coach today at least for the final two weeks of the season. Backfield coach Elkin Isaac took over the team yesterday afternoon.

Isaac was appointed to the position after head coach Delmar Anderson resigned at the climax of a stormy 48 hours of campus meetings involving Anderson, football squad members and administration officials.

Anderson during his 4½ years as coach produced football teams that won 27, lost 19 and tied two. His baseball record was 58 wins against 23 losses.

Both teams in 1952 were MIAA champs and he is currently president of the league's coaches association.

MSC Wins AAU Test

DETROIT (UP) — John Cook negotiated the four-mile Warren Valley course in 20 minutes, 7 seconds Tuesday to pace Michigan State to the state AAU cross-country title.

Spartans took team honors with 19 points. Michigan Normal was second with 41 points, followed by Western Michigan with 66 and Western Michigan freshmen with 83.

Eight-Count Mandatory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national Boxing Association decreed Monday that all fighters who are knocked down must take a count of eight. There can be no exceptions, the NBA said.

Many states have put the mandatory eight count rule into effect before now, but it has been waived on occasion, particularly in championship bouts.

When Lefty Grove started in the IL in 1923, he set a loop mark of 330 strikeouts in 303 innings.

It's Time Out!

"Tell us again, Uncle Bill, how you won the basketball championship for Gridley U back in your college days!"

Illinois' Tough Defensive Play Worries U of M

Oosterbaan Working to Sharpen Aerial Attack for Saturday Test

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan isn't devoting all its attention to Illinois' offensive performance in preparing for Saturday's invasion of the Illini stadium. Illinois' tough defensive play has Michigan worried.

For Wallace, a 193-pound senior, was the leader of an alert band of ball-hawking players through several great defensive performances so far this year. Against Purdue Saturday the Illini stole the ball seven times.

That kind of play rated high as an anti-Michigan weapon.

In six games this season Michigan players have had their passes intercepted on 15 occasions. Eight times the Wolverines have lost the ball on fumbles.

Michigan players have surmounted enough of these misplays to win five of the six games. But Michigan has yet to face a defense as strong as Illinois.

Not much can be done about fumbles. But elimination of inaccurate passing can cut down on interceptions. And that was one of Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's goals as he readied the squad for the trip.

Halfback Ted Kress and quarterbacks Lou Baldacci and Duncan McDonald are the chief throwers in Michigan's offensive scheme. Opponents have picked off one of McDonald's passes, two of Kress' and three of Baldacci's.

Need for more accurate throwing was drummed into Michigan during yesterday's long practice session. All three passers worked out, throwing to the ends and backs.

During a dummy scrimmage they hit their targets fairly consistently on both long and short passes.

However, Oosterbaan pointed out repeatedly that the Illinois defenders were no dummies and would present a keyed-up defense. Live opposition was to be substituted for the dummies here today in an effort to improve further the Michigan pass game.

It's a Women's World

Canadian Girl Top Star in National Horse Show

By ED CORRIGAN

Cookie...er, Shirley, is doing her best to show this is a woman's world after all, and the crowds at Madison Square Garden where the National Horse Show enters its second day today are solidly behind her.

* * *

After drawing a very large zero in the big Harrisburg show last week, Shirley already has one personal triumph to her credit in the international jumping competition, in fact, the Canadians won both yesterday's international tests. Bob Ballard took the other.

So the United States, Ireland and Britain have some catching up to do.

* * *

The crowd certainly took Shirley to heart and when she whisked around the difficult course in 39 seconds on a jumpoff she received a mighty ovation.

At the end of the regulation session, she was tied with England's Pat Smythe, up on Prince Hal. Neither had a fault. Miss Smythe, too, went around the jumpoff without knocking down a barrier. But she was clocked in 40 seconds.

There was a three-way tie for third among Lt. Col. R. M. Lewellyn of Britain, Ballard and Lt. Col. Charles Baker of Canada. Lewellyn was up on Foxhunter, his Olympic-winning mount. In the afternoon session, Miss Thomas and Arthur McCashin of the United States were tied for second.

Jack O'Lantern, Atomic and Little David are in a three-way tie for first in the open jumping competition, each with five points and nine events to go. In the conformation hunter class, Angel, with a first and a third, leads with six points and eight tests ahead.

Wings Register 'Beef' With NHL

Detroit Is Aroused Over Richard's Goal-Mouth Procedure

DETROIT (UP) — Detroit Red Wings have asked the National Hockey League to act against players — namely Maurice (Rocket) Richard — who ignore the sanctity of the crease.

Detroit manager Jack Adams demanded in a letter to NHL presient Clarence Campbell that rules be strengthened to keep players from invading the crease, that area in front of the net occupied by the goalie.

Quarterback Is Key to Spartan Hopes Saturday

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—The quarterback situation could hold the key to Michigan State's success or failure against Ohio State at Columbus Saturday.

If the Spartans can field three healthy quarterbacks, they may have a good chance of directing the assortment of talent at other backfield positions to success against the Buckeyes.

Johnny Matsock of Detroit, given a real workout for the first time against outclassed Oregon State, showed himself a comer. But there's a question of whether he's ready for heavy duty against a talent-loaded outfit like Ohio State.

Matsock hit with three of six pass tries and netted 33 yards in eight carries against Oregon State. Its unusual for a quarterback to show a gain in his running game but Matsock, a converted halfback, can run with the best of the MSC backfield.

The player the coaches are still worried about is quarterback Earl Morrall of Muskegon, who gave the squad a much-needed lift several times this season when the first team bogged down.

"This is the biggest assignment since we faced Notre Dame last fall," Munn said. "Ohio State has people who can do everything in football—and do it superbly."

"We haven't faced a squad with such magnificent personnel in some time," Edwards said. "They are enough to make you bug-eyed just to see them run out on the field.

"They have size, height, skill, speed, excellent passing—and there are a lot of them."

City Grid Season Ends This Weekend

Players Make All-Loop Bids

By JACK SAYLOR

In addition to watching the outcome of league championships not yet settled, much of the late season prep football interest will focus upon individual performance this weekend.

Many players will be striving for recognition on various all-conference teams, while some could win state-wide mention.

Both starred in last Friday's 25-0 win over St. Fred's.

There were a number of vital contributions to Avondale's 12-0 victory over Fitzgerald. Al Hill, 185-pound junior tackle, and end-guard Joe Schwerin were standouts in the line. Both are All-Oakland B possibilities.

Troy's Norm Norton, one of the county's top punters, also did some excellent running as Clawson was beaten, 20-12, in another Oak-B contest. Norton scored twice, once on a 70-yard run. Fred Burnard and Jim Murdock also played well for the Colts.

In the Wildcats' 13-6 win over Clarkston, he was credited with 19 tackles, besides assisting on many others. Spencer stole the ball from a Clarkston back to set up the winning touchdown.

Jim Lister rushed for 83 yards in the 2nd half and scored Oxford's 13 points. Ed Leach and Joe Mendoza ran well despite Lake Orion's 26-13 loss to Ionia.

Earl Garner's fine quarterbacking led Holly back to the win column after three straight losses. He also scored the Broncs' touchdown in the 7-6 victory over Northville. Ends Duane Edick and Jack Felch and tackle Ralph Wells stood out on defense.

When Jerry O'Shaunghnessy gets touchdowns, he gets them in wholesale lots. "Bucky" has nine TDs to date. Thre were scored against Walled Lake and four came last Friday at Milford.

Guard Jerry Larsen's blocking helped pave the way and he starred defensively as did John Webber and tackle Herman Kuhn.

Furthering all-state hopes were Royal Oak's backfield tandem of Dick Nash and Jack Drawbaugh, fullback Steve Zervas (three TDs) and tackle Wally Cleaver of Hazel Park, and Van Dyke's John Malone. Malone tallied two more touchdowns and passed for another.

Dave Juhnke spearheaded Southfield's 54-13 rout of Belleville with three touchdowns. Tackles Jim Simmons and Phil Lahner and end Fred Courville were tops up front.

Simmons, a 210-pounder, picked up a fumble and rumbled 27 yards for the Jays' 1st score and booted six of eight extra points.

3 County Gridders Gain, but Shindorf Keeps Lead

By JACK SAYLOR

Shindorf accounted for three of the Shamrocks' four touchdowns against St. Fred's Friday to boost his output to 13, giving him 78 points. He holds a four-point edge over Suburban Catholic League rival, Joe Ruhlman of St. James.

Ruhlman also scored three touchdowns Sunday and added an extra point. He has 74 points. Shindorf still has two games to play (OL St. Mary and Oxford), while Ruhlman has only Sunday's game with league-leading St. Rita.

Biggest gains of the week were recorded by Steve Zervas of Hazel Park, Jerry O'Shaunghnessy of Keego Harbor and South Lyon's Bob Gouin.

Zervas tallied three times against Ferndale before being expelled from the game for fighting. He has 55 points, which jumped him from 7th to 3rd. O'Shaunghnessy moved from 10th to 4th by marking up all four of Keego's touchdowns at Milford.

Gouin joined the leaders, taking 9th place as he scored all 13 of South Lyon's points in a 13-7 win over Pinckney. Kerry Keating, whose Waterford team was idle, dropped from 3rd to 8th, but others held close to last week's positions.

Pontiac Squads Appear in Final Home Contests

Chiefs Entertain Flint Northern; Freds, Mikes Play Saturday, Sunday

By BILL MARTIN

Football season comes to an end in Pontiac this weekend, when all three city high school squads make their final home appearances in Wisner Memorial Stadium.

Pontiac High entertains Flint Northern on Friday night, St. Frederick is host to Royal Oak St. Mary on Saturday night, and St. Michael entertains Orchard Lake St. Mary on Sunday afternoon. The three teams conclude their season in road games the following Friday.

Chiefs, burdened by a 4-game losing streak, face the toughest foe in once-beaten Flint Northern, Vikings, who have bowed only to undefeated Ann Arbor in six starts, last week dumped powerful Bay City Central from the unbeaten ranks, 13-12.

Northern currently is tied with Flint Central for 1st place in the Saginaw Valley Conference with a 2-0 league mark. Other Valley games Friday send Bay City to Arthur Hill and Saginaw to Flint Central.

St. Michael's Shamrocks, top-heavy favorites over St. Mary of Orchard Lake, will be eagerly awaiting the outcome of the all-important St. Rita-St. James contest at Ferndale Sunday. Dales, already out of contention for the Suburban Catholic League title, can give St. Michael a championship tie with idle St. Benedict by upsetting the Hazel Park parochials.

St Rita, St. Benedict and the Mikes have lost only one game each, but the Bens and Shamrocks have a tie on their records. St. James is given a good chance to topple St. Rita. Dales have won their last three starts (including a 27-0 upset of St. Michael) after dropping its 1st two games to Royal Oak St. Mary (6-0) and St. Benedict (7-6).

St Frederick will be seeking its 1st SCL victory of the season against the St. Mary (RO) Irish Saturday night. Rams won their non-league opener, 18-0, over Marine City Holy Cross but have since dropped five consecutive conference losses.

SC May Allow West Virginia to Play in Bowl

Rule Barring Members From Post-Season Tilts Up for Revision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Conference may change its rule which bars members from post-season football games, and thus clear West Virginia for a near-certain bowl bid, perhaps to the Sugar Bowl.

Max Farrington, conference commissioner, said last night a five-man committee now is trying to decide whether the ban on post-season games should be dropped.

The conference doesn't have a meeting scheduled until the second week in December. That means if the rule is to be changed in time for this year's games, it would have to be done by a poll of the 10 colleges or by a special meeting.

"There is a possibility of this," Farrington said. "If not, the committee wouldn't be in existence. There certainly is support in the conference for playing in bowl games."

West Virginia, rated seventh in the country, is one of the nation's four major unbeaten and untied teams. It has cleared its biggest hurdles, Pitt and Penn State.

Irwin Poche, president of the sponsors of the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, said yesterday West Virginia is under consideration for that Jan. 1 game. Cotton Bowl in Dallas also is known to be considering the Mountaineers.

Farrington said, however, that West Virginia officials have made no representation to the conference about the ban of post-season games.

Detroiter Knocked Out in London Bout

Some 8,000 fans at Harringay Arena loudly booed the affair, which saw the 161-pound Barnes circling around the ring and often seeking refuge in the ropes. This went on through most of the first three rounds—Pompee the pursuer and Barnes the pursued.

Barnes tilted slowly sideways after the "one-two" flurry in the 4th round. Then he slumped to the canvas and was counted out by referee Andre Smythe.

Ultrasonic Ray Machine 'Soups Up' Terrapins

Apparatus Being Used to Speed Healing of Damaged Tissues

By GEORGE BOWEN

The apparatus is the latest addition to the Maryland athletic clinic of trainer Duke Wyre. He believes he is the first college trainer in the United States to use the machine to keep athletes in shape.

Its theory that electric energy fed into a quartz crystal will emit mechanical energy in the form of vibrations has many applications. The one applied to medicine is a new science known as piezo-therapy, explains the erudite Wyre.

These vibrations are transmitted to the human skin by holding a cup-like attachment against it. The molecules in the tissues then start jumping around as they are agitated from 20,000 to one million times a second.

The vibrations occur so rapidly they can't be heard by the human ear, hence the ultrasonic description of the machine which technically is called "medi-sonar."

Industry has found use of the same theory to detect flaws in equipment. The Navy uses the same idea to track down submarines.

Duke just wants it to speed up the healing of damaged tissues. He's had an enviable record in that respect during his seven years of training Maryland football players.

No regular has ever had to miss a game because of injury.

Ferrick Aids Tebbetts

CINCINNATI, O. (UP) — Birdie Tebbets, who was named manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs a month ago to succeed Rogers Hornsby, appointed his first aide here today in selecting former major league pitcher Tom Ferrick as a coach.

Reese Studying Offer to Manage Brooklyn

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Pee Wee Reese admitted Tuesday he had been "felt out" on the job of managing the Brooklyn Dodgers.

He said he wanted to discuss the "indirect" offer with his wife before making a final decision.

"I don't want to do anything that will jeopardize my standing with the Dodgers," he told Tommy Fitzgerald of the Courier-Journal, "but, on the other hand, I don't want to make a move that might disrupt the happiness of our life."

The NCAA swimming championships will be held next March 25-27 in Syracuse University's new pool.

Young Jockey Tony DeSpirito on Honeymoon

Weds Chef's Daughter in Church Rites on Sunday

BOSTON (AP) — Jockey Tony De Spirito—who rose from stable boy to $75,000-a-year riding star in two short years—was honeymooning with pretty Doris De Christoforo today at Niagara Falls.

De Spirito, who set a national riding record with 390 winners in 1952 only to see Willie Shoemaker shatter that mark this year, drove off Monday night with his bride in a new $4,000 automobile for a two weeks trip.

The youngsters—he won't be 18 until Dec. 28 and she is just 18—were married in St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church in nearby Revere.

A reception said to have cost $7,000 was given to 500 guests at the Latin Quarter Night club, where the bride's father, Raymond, is the chef.

Oil Capitol Retired

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP) — Oil Capitol, who was purchased as a yearling for $15,000 and went on to become the turf's sixth leading money winner, is headed for stud duty in Kentucky's Blue Grass country.

Owners of the colorful gray horse, who amassed earnings of $580,756 during five years of racing, announced Monday that Oil Capitol had run his last race.

'Gills Traded Between Lakes

Overpopulation Threat in Big Star Solved by Removing Fish

LANSING (UP)—One Lake County lake was found to have too many bluegills and another too few, so conservation department fisheries workers worked out a trade.

In the course of a seining and netting study program on 12 lakes in the county, 2,900 small bluegills, some stunted from lack of food, were removed from Big Star lake. They were dumped in Wolf Lake where only a small population was found.

Other lakes studied were Loon, Orchard and Long (Oakland County), Little Bass, Big Bass, Idlewild, Paradise, Sauble, Coil and Putnam Lakes.

A preliminary summary of the project said that "certain of the lakes have excellent fish populations and are providing, or should provide, better than average fishing."

Free Plantings Now Available to Aid Wildlife

LANSING (UP)—Southern Michigan farmers who want free plantings to aid wildlife on their land were urged today to send a postcard to the conservation department game division offices here.

Applications are being accepted for spring deliveries of trees for windbreaks, tough rose bushes for living fences and other plantings. The department will plan the plantings, and the farmer will do the actual planting.

Purpose of the program is to prevent erosion of waste lands and to develop green edge lands for the benefit of game.

Thirteen-Year-Old Duck Shot by State Hunter

LANSING (UP)—The state conservation department today reported a duck was shot this year that was more than 13 years old.

The unusually long-lived male black duck was shot in the Manuscong marshes in the eastern Upper Peninsual by Alphonse Le Lievre of Sault Ste. Marie.

It bore a federal leg band that was attached in the same marshes in 1940.

Fishing 'Overregulation' Is Rapidly Disappearing

By MORT NEFF

At a recent meeting of top-drawer conservation experts in the east, a number of interesting papers were presented revealing the thinking of all states in the U. S. A. relative to fish and game management — and some highly significant trends were in evidence. For instance, 40 of the 48 states have trout fishing, and Michigan is one of only seven with a relatively short season! Yes, with a little more than four months of legalized trout fishing, Michigan is definitely on the short side of the calendar!

NEFF

Another somewhat startling revelation is that 23 states permit the taking of bass at any time of the year in most waters! Furthermore, 37 states allow the taking of various pan fish species the whole year 'round.

Eighteen states have NO SIZE LIMIT on trout. Nineteen have NO SIZE LIMIT on bass. Forty-three have NO SIZE LIMIT on pan fish.

Most of the experts on hand at these meetings agreed that the day of "over-regulation" in sports fishing is fast disappearing despite some misguided pressure from certain sportsmen's groups. At last the biologists are having their day — getting some of the things they've always wanted in the way of vastly liberalized fish laws.

Had the size and creel limits on pan fish been removed years ago, they tell us, we would not now be facing the problem of stunted fish in thousands of our lakes, where food supplies are inadequate for such populations. And we may well believe that statement here in Michigan.

Deer Study Pen Not Open to Sportsmen

ROSCOMMON (UP) — Conservation department officials reminded sportsmen today it is illegal to hunt deer on an 80-acre deer study pen at the Houghton Lake Wildlife Station near here.

The warning was issued after an arrow was found in the pen, indicating archers had been in the area.

Football Lures Bull

EAST LANSING (UP)—Freshman football practice was interrupted Tuesday when a bull broke out of a Michigan State College barn and ambled over to the practice field. The bull was captured by the gridders on a nearby tennis court.

'Any-Deer' Day Scheduled Dec. 1 North of M-55

Special Season Hunting Area Reduced by Third This Year

LANSING — Does, fawns and buck deer will be legal game for hunters north of route M-55 in the northern Lower Peninsula on Dec. 1 this year, the conservation department notes.

That special "any deer" season of one day follows the regular 16-day statewide deer season of Nov. 15-30, inclusive, with both wedged between the Oct. 1-Nov. 5 archery season and the special Allegan county deer season, Dec. 1-7.

But game men pooh-pooh that notion strongly. They say the deer herd is definitely smaller this year because of the heavy kill last year, but this is as it should be for the future welfare of the herd. And they point out that hunting seasons this year are designed to keep the herd down in size without in any way damaging its future.

First, the 1952 special season lasted three days and included a weekend.

Also the 1952 special season included all the Lower Peninsula north of M-20; this year that area is reduced in size by about a third.

49ers Depend on Joe Perry

Ground Attack Might Bring Frisco Victory Over LA Rams

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Nobody stops the aerial attack in professional football these days, so it is probable that the big war between the San Francisco Forty Niners and the Los Angeles Rams on Sunday may be decided on the ground.

Though the Rams may have the edge in the air with the fine Norman Van Brocklin, the Forty Niners have a ground ace in the hole named Joe (Jet) Perry.

Perry is the leading ground-gainer in the National League with 532 yards picked up in six games in 104 tries. That's an average of a little better than five yards every time he put the ball under his arm.

Chicago Bears put the bottle on him pretty good last Sunday when they limited him to 45 yards in 17 tries—but that's the first time this season anyone has come even close to such a performance.

TEN YEARS AGO—Dixie Walker signed for 1944 with the Dodgers.

Even Areas of Relative Depletion Now Beginning to Produce Some Fantails

By JACK PATTERSON

Anyone who thinks there's more than the usual number of hunters afield this fall is one hundred per cent right. For the first time in the history of the department, conservation officials advise, the demand for licenses exceeds the supply. Although the usual number was on hand before season opening the sellout was complete in some areas (this was one of them) and the department has been asking dealers in areas where the demand hasn't been so great to turn unissued licenses back in so that they may be redistributed.

PATTERSON

As the bird season goes into the final week some rather interesting conditions are developing. Up in the pat country shooting is improving steadily. Even areas which earlier were apparently almost barren of birds are now producing.

There is no doubt but what a cyclical decline is in progress in many areas which have been full of birds the past few seasons. But, even in areas of relative depletion birds are beginning to show up in places where one expects to see them. From now until the end of the season should see the year's best hunting for the fantails.

Pheasant hunting has been holding up somewhat better than expected. Still plenty of roosters even in most heavily-gunned territories.

In most cases it takes a good dog at this stage of the game to get them up, but by now most people recognize the necessity of a dog for pheasant hunting at any time.

Thumb hunters should be particularly careful about permission to hunt clover fields. Many contain seed clover and tramping through them can cost the farmer a pretty piece of change, what with the present price of clover seed.

Just because we've had a little nippy weather doesn't mean that the poison ivy has crawled under a rock, or whatever it does, for the winter. We know from first hand, foot and elsewhere experience.

How much effect weather has on principal wildfowl migrations has long been a debatable matter. There are some species, however, that hit certain checkpoints with almost clocklike regularity. Thus it's rather unusual to see blue geese, which are usually out of Michigan by the 20th of October or so, still lallygagging around the north country.

Saw a flock of 50 or so a couple of days ago, looking for a place to light along the McGinn creek. They came in very low, approaching nicely until they caught a sight of our upturned face peering out through a small spruce.

We admit the sight was frightening but one would hardly think it enough to cause the panic that ensued. Those geese probably didn't stop until they hit Louisiana's Vermilion Bay.

Agents at the straits report another annual migration already beginning. Deer hunters on the move—rifle hunters, that is. Nothing like an early start and it behooves anyone planning to go after deer to make his arrangements now, if he hasn't already done so.

NCAA Prexy Hits Football Hypocrisy, Cheating

NEW YORK, (AP)—College football officials agreed today for the most part that there are certain abuses in the gridiron sport but none went so far as the NCAA president who would abolish the game "unless it is cleansed of hypocrisy, skullduggery and cheating."

* * *

Dr. A. B. Moore, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and faculty chairman of athletics at Alabama, said the blame for current evils in the sport is shared by alumni, parents of athletes, coaches and college officials. He made the charge in a speech at Talladega, Ala.

Matty Bell, veteran Southern Methodist University athletic director, agreed that there are some evils in some places in college football.

* * *

"And we should have the courage to admit it, and make every effort to eliminate it," he said. "But I don't know of any violations now in the Southwest Conference. In my 23 years in the conference I've never known of less suspicion and criticism among the schools."

"I expect there always will be some abuses in intercollegiate athletics because of its highly competitive nature," said Ike Armstrong, Minnesota's athletic director. "Colleges and universities should promote only the type of intercollegiate programs that administrators, faculties and governing boards feel to be honest, constructive and worthwhile."

* * *

"We are 100 per cent behind any movement that will help athletics," commented Ed Krause, Notre Dame's athletic director.

From Dr. J. Hills Miller, president of the University of Florida and president of the Southeastern Conference, came this reaction:

"I suspect if you looked far enough you would find some of that in certain quarters. But I am a little surprised to hear Dr. Moore said that. He is a fine, responsible person and must have some basis for it."

* * *

Larry (Moon) Mullins, Kansas State athletic director, said Moore "is in a position to know what he is talking about" in cleaning up football but he differs with the NCAA head in this respect:

* * *

"I don't blame the alumni or parents of boys. The great majority of the alumni want the highest ideals to prevail. But too often, a disproportionate influence by a very few (usually self-appointed) is condoned."

Carroll Widdoes, former Ohio State coach and now coach and athletic director at Ohio University, admitted there are some abuses.

* * *

"But I believe the good things outweigh the bad," he said. In such a competitive thing, abuses and evils are certain to crop up. But it is up to people in athletics, those close to athletics, to keep abuses to a minimum and get the good things out in front."

"These evils can be controlled if the university administration wants to control them," Faurot said.

Loss to Purdue Changed Casual Spartan Attitude

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Purdue defeat has resulted in one very noticeable change in the Michigan State football team.

* * *

There was no great show of elation. There was no jumping for joy. And generally no teammates came up to swarm around shake his hand and pound him on the back.

The players, after 28 straight wins, took scoring just as if it was all in a day's work.

* * *

Those following the team remarked on it. And it was remarkable because even pro baseball players make it a point to step up to the plate to welcome in the fellow who hits a home run.

This was all changed in the defeat of Oregon State Saturday.

* * *

Coach Quits Over Policy Agreement

ALBION (AP) — Delmar Anderson has resigned as head football coach at Albion College in the wake of Albion's 20-7 defeat against Hope College last Saturday.

Academic dean Emil Leffler of Albion made the announcement Tuesday, saying

"This has come as a complete surprise to me as I have always found Mr. Anderson to be energetic, hard working and enthusiastic in the conduct of his work."

The college declined further comment except to say "the intercollegiate program will go forward as scheduled."

However, it was known that a series of indignation meeings, involving upper class members of the football team, took place on the campus over the weekend, and that further conferences took place involving the college administrative staff, Coach Anderson and the players. These lasted until Monday midnight.

Wyoming's Ace Offense Leader

Mastrogiovanni Faces Threat in McHan; J. C. Caroline Top Rusher

NEW YORK (UP) — Joe Mastrogiovanni, Wyoming's sensational sophomore from Brooklyn, retained his season-long leadership in the individual offense standings among the nation's major-college football players today, but faced a stern threat from a new direction.

NCAA Service Bureau Statistics released today show that Mastrogiovanni, with 1075 yards, enjoys almost twice as big a lead as he has ever had over the runner-up, California's Paul Larsen, with 956 yards.

But in third place is a newcomer, Lamar McHan of Arkansas, who has 937 yards and has played only six games while the other two have played seven.

So McHan has gained 156.2 yards a game and Mastrogiovanni 153.6.

There is no race to speak of in rushing, however, where J. C. Caroline, Illinois sophomore, is running off by himself. He has 891 yards, 211 more than runner-up Ken Cardella, of Arizona, who has 680.

In fact, Caroline's ground yardage is so great that he is seventh, right behind Paul Giel (Minnesota) in the total offense list where all the men above him have made at least half their yardage through the air.

The fish, measuring six feet two inches in length, fought two hours and 10 minutes before being subdued. Alligator gar are sometimes called "fresh water wolves." Due to the savage disposition of the fish it must be shot before it gets too close to the boat.

Billy Talbert Captain

Davis Cup Team, Headed by Vic Seixas, Tony Trabert, Head for Land of Aussies

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—In a few days now the vanguard of our Davis Cup tennis team—the part that really counts—will wing its way off across the Pacific to challenge the Australians for the third straight year on their own soil.

* * *

The first planeload of challengers will include Billy Talbert, the new team captain, and Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, the last accompanied by his recent bride. The Traberts have been honeymooning at Honolulu. Several other team members will trail along later in the month, but only to gain experience.

* * *

Seixas and Trabert, who will do all the playing both against Belgium in the interzone final at Brisbane and against Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad in the challenge round at Melbourne, providing they survive the first test, should profit by having a veteran of Talbert's intelligence to advise them on tactics each time they change courts.

Billy, who was chosen tennis' man of the year, is among the world's ranking doubles experts, having won four national titles partnered by Gardnar Mulloy. He also reached the singles final twice. Now 35, he may be presumed to know most of the answers, a quality which has not been conspicuous in all our cup leaders.

The selection committee thought a long time before giving Talbert the assignment, despite his personal popularity. Several of them, frankly were afraid he might get over there and begin hankering to play some doubles, himself.

Evidently this has been straightened out and Billy has promised to devote himself to matching brain waves against his rival captains.

Local Kiwanians Honor Pontiac Education Unit at Tuesday Luncheon

Members of the Pontiac Board of Education were honored by the Pontiac Kiwanis Club at Hotel Waldron Tuesday noon with a "Flowers to the Living" program.

Members of the board sat at a special head table and Edward A. Maier, lieutenant governor of the Michigan District and a past president of the Pontiac club, praised them and the work they have done in directing the city's public schools during the past few years.

He quoted figures showing the tremendous increase in enrollment, with resulting problems in providing buildings, and financing their construction, as well as meeting increased operating costs.

He showed how the district's debt has been reduced from 4⅓ million dollars to less than half a million today, in spite of this rapid growth in school population.

He then introduced the members of the board. They are Glenn H. Griffin, president; Maurice Croteau, vice president; Mrs. Lola B. King, secretary; Monroe M. Osmun, Louis H. Schimmel, Robert B. Oliver and Ferd N. Thiede.

Brush Fire Flames Now Under Control

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Flames from a brush fire that threatened 12 homes in Albee Township were brought under control late yesterday by conservation officers and 100 volunteers who fought flames for nine hours.

They swept half of a 640 acre section, covered with second and third growth timber, 12 miles south of Saginaw. Fire engines from five villages answered the call, and farmers manned their tractors to cut fire lanes.

Director Names Five Actresses With 'Appeal'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Next March 1 director Robert Leonard comes to the end of a 30-year association with one studio. That's something of a record in this business.

I had a chat with Pop, as he is affectionately called. I even managed to get him to name the actresses with the most sex appeal of all those he has directed. They are:

Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Lana Turner, Elizabeth Taylor and Greer Garson.

He went on to explain: "I directed Garbo's first test when she came here from Sweden and couldn't even speak the language. I also directed her in 'The Rise and Fall of Susan Lennox' with Clark Gable. She had an appeal that was unmistakable. She was a great gal with the crew, too; that shyness was strictly for publicity then.

"Joan Crawford certainly had sex appeal and still has it. I directed her in 'Dancing Lady,' which had a couple of bit players named Fred Astaire and Nelson Eddy.

"Lana, whom I directed in 'Ziegfeld Girl,' has plenty of sex on the screen and so does Elizabeth Taylor. Liz had it even as a young girl when she did a picture called 'Cynthia' with me.

"Some may be surprised that I put Greer Garson on the list, but I think she definitely exudes sex. But then sex appeal, like movies, is largely a matter of opinion. What appeals to one man may not appeal to another. I even met a serviceman the other day who said he didn't go for Marilyn Monroe!"

Pop just wound up "Her 12 Men" with Greer and may do one or two more films before checking off the lot. The March 1 date marks the maturity of the MGM pension plan, and he obviously qualifies for its benefits.

"I could stay on longer," said Pop, a big friendly bear of a man. "But I think it would be fun to make my own pictures for a change and perhaps even get into TV.

"I've been with MGM since it started in 1924. In fact, I started even before the company was formed. I was shooting on the Culver City lot in 1922, directing my former wife, Mae Murray, for our own company."

Pop goes back even further than that. He came to Los Angeles from Denver in the early 1900s and went to work in a clothing store. One day he ran into his former voice teacher, who insisted that he resume lessons. That led to an operetta troupe, which led to a stock company. This got him into the movies. He started in 1908.

Is Awarded $187,000 After Brawl in Hotel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Superior Court jury has awarded a Statler Hotel detective $187,000 damages for injuries he suffered during a melee which he said started when two wealthy wholesale grocers tossed ice cubes at band leader Xavier Cugat.

The judgment was won yesterday by William Howard Tobin Sr., 58, from Alfonso and Victor De Cassus, brothers. Tobin's suit charged the brawl climaxed a football game celebration in one of the hotel's dining rooms. Tobin says he is still partly paralyzed from a kick in the groin.

Judge Backed Kidnaping Law

Jurist in Greenlease Case Was Co-Sponsor of Missouri Statute

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The judge who will hear the Greenlease kidnapers' trial was instrumental more than half a century ago in pushing through a state law that provides the death penalty for abductors.

The trial of Carl Austin Hall, 34, and his woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, was set yesterday for Nov. 16. Both pleaded guilty at their arraignment.

* * *

As a young state representative back in 1901, Reeves was co-sponsor of legislation providing the death penalty for kidnapers in Missouri.

The action came shortly after the nation was shocked by the abduction of 16-year-old Edward A. Cudahy Jr., son of an Omaha, Neb., packing company executive. Cudahy, held two days, was released after payment of a ransom of $25,000 in gold.

* * *

The law, of course, applies only to state charges. The jury trial before Reeves will be held under the federal kidnaping law.

Only a jury can recommend the maximum penalty of death under the federal statute. If the jury rejects the death penalty, Judge Reeves will determine the prison sentences to be given.

During yesterday's arraignment, U.S. Dist. Atty. Edward L. Scheufler, who has said he will seek the death penalty for the pair, called the slaying "brutal and cold blooded."

* * *

The child was taken from his private school in Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 28 and driven across the state line into Kansas where he was slain. Crossing of the state line permitted federal authorities to enter the case.

The boy's body was found in a lime-covered grave in the yard of Mrs. Heady's St. Joseph, Mo., home Oct. 7, the day after she and Hall were arrested in St. Louis. Of the record $600,000 ransom paid, approximately $380,000 was recovered.

Seek Insurance Settlement on Live Race Horse

BALTIMORE (AP)—An insurance company is being asked to pay for a dead horse.

The race horse isn't dead yet. But its owner, Ann H. Uhlar, says it should be destroyed to relieve it of pain brought on by a leg fracture. And her suit in Superior Court also asks that an insurance firm be required to pay a $20,000 life insurance policy on the three-year-old colt, Ann's Love.

The suit filed yesterday said a veterinarian termed the horse's condition hopeless. The suit also alleges an insurance company vet prescribed treatment but that the horse didn't improve.

Motors Lower, Others Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market moved irregularly today with a narrow mixture of gains and losses.

Changes either way were held within a one point range in key areas as trading was resumed after yesterday's recess for the New York state election holiday.

Early dealings on the stock exchange gave no indication of Wall Street's reaction, if any, to election results around the country.

Motors were mostly lower while aircrafts and radio-television issues were higher. The rest of the market presented a mixed appearance.

Heyden Chemical was a little lower and American Cynamid was a shade higher. An agreement has been completed for Heyden to sell its antibiotic division to Cynamid.

Grains Showing Narrow Action

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains held within a narrow price range on the Board of Trade today. They righted themselves after yesterday's rugged drubbing but weren't able to put on much of a rally.

In early dealings the tendency was for wheat and corn to show a slightly easier undertone while soybeans and oats firmed. But there wasn't enough movement in any pit to take prices very far from the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ cent lower to ¼ higher, December $1.94⅞; corn was unchanged to ⅜ higher, December $1.47⅜, and oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 77⅜. Soybeans were ¼ to ½ cent higher, November $2.76, and lard was 7 to 17 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $14.35.

DeSoto Unveils 1954 Models

Increased Horsepower, Automatic Transmission Are Featured

Increased power in V-engine models, adaptation of fully automatic transmissions as optional extra-cost equipment, exterior styling designed to emphasize length and breadth and road-hugging appearance and new interior styling are among features of the new models.

DeSoto is presenting the V-8 line in six body styles and the six-cylinder line in four body styles. Both lines include an eight-passenger sedan and an all-steel body station wagon.

Nash President Admits Merger Being Debated

DETROIT (AP) — George W. Mason, Nash Motors president, disagrees flatly with the view the future of the smaller automobile companies depends upon mergers.

"I don't say a merger would not be advisable," he told a news conference yesterday, "but we don't have to get together."

At the same time Mason, who besides being president and board chairman of Nash-Kelvinator Corp., is also president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, tacitly admitted merger negotiations were under way between Nash and Hudson Motor Car Co.

"I am not denying I have talked with Mr. Barit (A. E. Barit, president of Hudson), but no conclusions have been reached," he said. Then, in reply to another question, he said: "Certainly if the talks were all off I would tell you so."

Mason commented on the fact four of the so-called "independents" among the car makers have been in business for half a century. "The automobile business, he said, has been a tough race, with no room at all for those who couldn't compete, but plenty of room for those who could."

Net profit of Distillers Corp.-Seagrams Ltd. and its subsidiaries for the fiscal year ended July 31 was $37,890,561, compared with $37,283,535 for the previous year.

Briggs Workers Reassured on Job Status

DETROIT (AP) — Briggs Manufacturing Co. employes had assurances from Chrysler Corp. today that the transfer of Briggs to Chrysler ownership would have little effect on their jobs.

The company mailed 39,000 letters to Detroit workers and 5,000 to workers in Evansville, Ind., and Youngstown, Ohio, to calm their fears that the change in management would bring drastic changes in policy.

Chrysler's letter said:

"When these facilities (12 plants) are turned over to us we aim to have the production you are working on go on without missing a beat."

Job status, Chrysler said, would be as little changed as possible. Insurance and pension plans would continue as they had under Briggs, but with Chrysler making the payments, the letter said.

The $35,000,000 sale of the Briggs facilities, announced Oct. 23, requires the approval of Briggs stockholders before it becomes effective. There was no comment from the representing union, United Auto Workers (CIO).

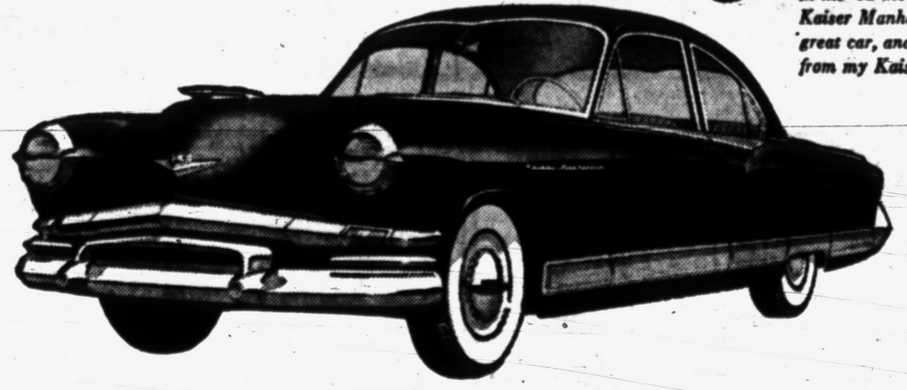
"Cost me only $550" says John E. Lillard, of Long Beach, Calif., who traded in his '52 model for a new Kaiser Manhattan. "I got a great car, and a great deal from my Kaiser dealer."



"Only $39.34 a month!"

reports Leo H. O'Neil, of Alexandria, Virginia. "That, plus my old car, got me a smart, new Kaiser Manhattan. My Kaiser dealer's trade-in was the best in town by $250.

"Terrific!"

That's how Helen Buff, of Sun Valley, Calif., describes it. "My 1950 car and $65 per month put me in a new Kaiser Manhattan," she writes.

Despite its record growth in seven years, Kaiser is still a relative newcomer to the automotive field. So it's important to get more Kaisers on the road—acquaint more car owners with Kaiser's great value! That's why Kaiser dealers are reported to be not only meeting—but exceeding—top prices offered by other dealers!

Kaiser offers you more room and luxury than three of the most expensive cars—plus—the largest glass area of any standard sedan, as well.

More economy than many so-called "low-price" cars, too! Its 28.8 miles per gallon record reported by Motor Trend Magazine proves it!

Vision of a United Europe Takes On Shadowy Form

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

It comes from such men as Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, from Paul Henri Spaak, former premier of Belgium, and from former French Premier Antoine Pinay.

It is a vision of Western Europe as a "third force"—a force aligned neither with Russia nor with the United States but a force which would fill the power vacuum left by World War II.

It would be a democratic force and therefore its sympathies would remain with the United States.

But economically and militarily it would stand on its own and would be the "balance" between the United States and Russia, the two great powers now locked in a better struggle for supremacy—in fields as far apart as the soldier and the philosopher.

Spaak has called it a United States of Europe.

Adenauer has given it no name but says the same thing in essence when he proposes a pact guaranteeing security against attack—in other words, a "third" force whose main objective would be to prevent war through strength.

Pinay, a strong supporter of the European army plan, sees the third force in a series of economic agreements and in the removal of unnatural barriers which eventually would make it as easy to go from Hamburg to Paris by bus as it is now to go from New York to Cleveland or Chicago.

The growing awareness of Western Europe's own strength arises from the early success of the Schuman plan pooling coal and steel resources and from Europe's generally improved economy.

But there are, of course, many obstacles in the path of a United States of Europe and to the development of any European "third force."

One is the ultra-nationalistic attitude of elements within the West European nations involved, whose membership presumably would be the same as that proposed for the European army, namely, Germany, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Another is the Russian attitude, which, whether based on Communist plans for world domination or on Russian fear of attack, makes any agreement almost impossible to reach.

One is Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella's thinly disguised threat that unless the United States supports his claim to Trieste, Italy will not approve the European army plan, a "must" in any united Europe.

Another is the threat used repeatedly by both Italy and France that their voters will go Communist if the United States withdraws financial support or even questions government policies.

Basically, the argument between France and Germany over the Saar is as ridiculous as if Pennsylvania and West Virginia were to rise in arms over coal and steel.

But before the United States of America became a reality, there had to be a dream. Maybe the same is true of Western Europe.

Color TV Will Bring Doubled-Up Programs

NEW YORK (UP)—Once color television arrives, you'll be able to watch a black-and-white program in one room of the house while the same set produces a color program in another room.

The color program will come in on a "slave unit," so called because it works off a master black-and-white receiver—the sets in use today.

The slave units, which will offer a 14-inch screen for color TV, may be placed anywhere in the house.

If you have a flair for the unique, you even can use a large-screen monochrome receiver and the converted color unit side by side in the same room.

According to the Rev. Waldo Hunt, pastor, the kitchen is located in what was formerly the lobby of the building. The building, which the church acquired about a year ago, was formerly the Drayton Theater.

Rev. Hunt also announced that an activity room adjacent to the kitchen is being planned, and a new entrance on the north side will be open soon.

Labor Leader Lauds President

Railway Union Official Says Administration Is Doing 'Fine Job'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A railway labor union leader told President Eisenhower yesterday he is doing "a very fine job" and that the administration is neither anti-labor nor pro-capital.

Guy Brown of Cleveland, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, called on the President at the White House and talked to newsmen afterwards.

Brown said he discussed with Eisenhower "things in which our brotherhood is vitally interested," but he declined to be specific.

In reply to a question, Brown said the Taft-Hartley labor law was not discussed.

"As far as we are concerned, our people think the President is doing a very fine job, considering conditions he is confronted with," Brown said.

Baby Republic of Panama Has 50th Birthday

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Happy birthday, Panama!

Not the isthmus, not the canal, not the city, but the republic of.

Panama, the baby republic of Latin America, is 50 years old. From the start the United States has had close ties with this skinny land connecting two continents.

This nation had a hand in Panama's birth. How much of a hand is something historians still argue about.

But the irrepressible man who was president at the time went so far as to remark that he, Teddy Roosevelt, was practically the midwife.

Few presidential remarks have been more costly. The price tag on this one: 25 million dollars, paid out to Colombia, from which Panama declared its independence on Nov. 3, 1903.

So let's drop around for a visit with the Panamanian ambassador, Roberto M. Heurtematte.

How about this Roosevelt business?

"His mistake," Heurtematte said, "was that he said in a speech, 'I took Panama.' That slip of the tongue cost his country 25 million bucks in conscience money."

This isn't the usual diplomatic talk, but Heurtematte is no usual diplomat. A vigorous quick moving man, in a blue striped suit, blue shirt and blue and red tie, he looks like a fellow who may have gone to Yale on his way toward becoming a successful business man.

"In fact," he said, "I spent 12 years in school in Connecticut."

Heurtematte said Panama had been itching for independence all along. It was particularly itchy in 1903 because Colombia had failed to ratify a treaty with the United States which would permit the building of the canal.

Under a previous agreement, the United States had guaranteed to keep the isthmus open. So when the Coluombians came over to put down the rebellion, whom should they run into but the U. S. Marines?

Officially, this nation never admitted it did anything wrong. But when, in 1923, it paid Colombia the 25 million for the use of Colombian property, many persons, including Heurtematte, put it down as a guilty conscience.

"People always ask me how our situation compares with Suez," Heurtematte said. "The answer is that it doesn't compare at all. We are an independent nation in a partnership with the United States."

Okay, Heurtematte said. Sure, there are a few things he'd like changed. Better pay for Panamanian workers. Dock charges he objects to.

This country pays Panama $420,000 a year, but Heurtematte says that's for the railroad, not the canal. He thinks the Panama Canal Co. should pay rent, too.

"How much? Oh, anything that's fair. What percentage does Saks Fifth Avenue pay in rent? Or Gimbles?"

The baby, born at Washington Sanitarium yesterday, will be named Don Eugene.

Like his 18-year-old mother, the former Barbara Borm of Takoma Park, Md., he was reported doing fine.

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) —Tots are the target of a section of the general statutes. They face speeding charges and a $10 fine if they exceed 10 miles per hour on their tricycles. An additional $20 fine is provided if the vehicle has no horn or bell.
