Carrying of Gun Told by Attorney

Trial of Fenton Man in Fifth Day Before Circuit Judge Adams

Taking the stand for the second day, a former Fenton Village attorney, charged with attempting to murder a tenant farmer Aug. 26, said this morning that "he was seldom without the gun on his person if he thought there was any likelihood of seeing Clark on the farm."

Today is the fifth day of the trial of Clifford B. Dye, 53, charged with attempt to murder William C. Clark, 27.

In testimony this morning before Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, Dye related the days leading up to the non-fatal shooting.

He was expected to resume testimony this afternoon after a noon recess.

Dye related numerous incidents this morning during which he claimed Clark had told him that he (Clark) had been engaged in many fights and arguments with people other than himself (Dye).

SEEK COURT ACTION

The accused said that on the day of the shooting he had come to Pontiac to seek an injunction restraining Clark from feeding chopped corn to the cattle on the farm.

After meeting with Oakland County Judge George B. Hartrick and Clark's attorney, L. Harvey Lodge, it was decided that an injunction was not necessary and the matter could be settled out of court.

He was expected to return the following day to continue talking with Lodge when the shooting took place.

In Tuesday's testimony, Dye said that Clark was the actual assailant in the case. He said that Clark had attempted to twist the gun so as to shoot Dye.

Brothers to Marry Twins With Help of More Twins

When a bride trips down the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, that's cause for celebration anywhere.

But when Cupid aims a double arrow, and twin sisters marry brothers, well . . .

This is what is happening at Rochester, where the John Kinzies of 601 Quarter St. have announced the engagement of their twin daughters, Karen Kay and Rheata Ray to Darrol Lee and Dennis Don Juhl, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Juhl of 840 John R Road.

And that's not all. While the two couples are getting ready to say their "I do's" in a double ceremony at St. John Lutheran Church, March 3, the Juhl boys' twin brothers, Marvin and Melvin, 14, will be on hand to seat the guests.

The twin brides-to-be are young—only 16, but they have the blessing of their parents and the approval of their pastor, the Rev. Walter C. Gerken.

Rheata and Dennis, 19, have been going together longer, though both twins have known Dennis for more than three years.

* * *

Darrol, 20, and Karen have been going together since last May. And both families had been friends for about six years, Mrs. Kinzie recalls.

The bridegrooms-elect are presently in the service, Darrol in the United States Air Force and Dennis in the United States Air Force Reserve.

Their mother, Mrs. Juhl, ill in the hospital at the present time, says she wouldn't miss this wedding for anything, and promises to "be there with bells on."

Ambulance Fleet Moves Patients

Osteopathic Hospital Opens New Quarters in Former Hotel

A fleet of five ambulances transferred 25 Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital patients, including a 25-year-old expectant mother in labor, to the new hospital quarters in the former Hotel Pontiac yesterday in less than two hours.

The woman, Mrs. Janet Kellner, of West Bloomfield, was the first patient to be moved. She was accompanied in the ambulance by three doctors and one nurse.

After examination at the old hospital, 32 Auburn Ave., showed Mrs. Kellner prepared for transfer, a crew of seven men dismantled the delivery room equipment at the Auburn Avenue site and had it moved and set up in 30 minutes.

The delivery table weighs around 600 pounds, Harry Whitlow, hospital administrator, said.

"The transfer went off very successfully with no complications," he said. "Last night we admitted four new patients to our new hospital in 40 minutes."

No critical cases were involved in yesterday's move except for Mrs. Kellner, Whitlow said. A nurse went along with each of the 25 patients in the ambulances.

The 27-year-old hotel was purchased by the hospital in December and the first four floors have been renovated to hospital quarters since Jan. 1.

Detroit Worker Shot to Death

Murder Is Similar to Two Others in City, Police Report

DETROIT (AP)—Gurgen Marik, 40, a factory worker, was found shot to death today and police said the circumstances were similar to two other mysterious killings in Detroit within the past month.

Marik's body was slumped face-down on a sidewalk near his home in the Springwells area of southwestern Detroit. He had been shot in the back.

Like the victims of two previous killings in other parts of Detroit, Marik had just left home to go to work. None of the victims was robbed.

On Jan. 24, Gervious Baker, 28, an employe of Detroit's transit system, was found dead in an alley near his home in the Grand River-Tireman vicinity. He had been shot in the head.

A week ago, Clement Campeau, 48, a railroad warehouse foreman, was found dead beside his garage on Van Dyke St. He had been shot in the chest.

Richard Goodnuff, 16, riding his bicycle to the All Saints Church, where he was to serve as altar boy at 6:15 a. m. Mass, came across the body of Marik. Police said Marik had been shot only a short time before.

Detective Sgt. John Ware of the homicide bureau said the assailant apparently had pushed a large caliber pistol directly against the body.

Marik's lunch box lay under him. His pockets had not been disturbed. Police found $10.47 in his billfold and pocket. He was employed at the Fleetwood Body Plant of the Cadillac Division of General Motors.

A job application form found in the clothing showed Marik had spent four years at a trade school in Armenia.

Hagerty Denies Paper's Report of Ike's Assent

Press Secretary Says President Hasn't Told Anyone About Decision

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) President Eisenhower's press secretary says that as far as he himself knows, the chief executive has passed word to no one on whether he will seek re-election.

James C. Hagerty made that statement to newsmen late yesterday in breaking silence for the first time to discuss some aspects of the big question: Will Eisenhower run again?

Hagerty did not come anywhere close to answering the question. For that matter, a literal interpretation of his own statement—that Eisenhower has passed word to no one—would mean Hagerty doesn't know the answer for sure anyway.

But he did deny a published report that the President's chief aide Sherman Adams had told Republican leaders Eisenhower had decided to bid for re-election and would say so publicly next week.

"I asked Sherman about that and he said he never made any such statement," Hagerty said in reply to newsmen's inquiries.

The Detroit News, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said yesterday that Adams and Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, had informed party leaders the President would announce for re-election next week.

Hagerty said he had not asked Hall about the matter. But Hall said in Washington when asked about the report:

"It's news to me."

To a question whether he still believes Eisenhower will run, Hall did reply, "I certainly do." He has been predicting for weeks the President will bid for another term if he decides he is physically able.

Until yesterday Hagerty had refused to discuss any aspect of the second term question. He had said "no comment" scores of times.

Hagerty said he had checked by telephone with Adams, who was in Washington, and that Adams denied passing any word.

Eisenhower has been vacationing here since Feb. 15 at the plantation home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Aldred Brothers Plunge Through Thin Ice Layer

Recover Bodies of Pair Between Two Lakes in Waterford Township

Two young brothers, described as "inseparable companions," drowned near their home yesterday after plunging through thin, channel ice between Lotus and Lister Lakes.

Dead are Larry 7, and Barry Aldred, 6, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aldred, of 4282 Lotus Dr., Waterford Township.

Their father, 31, employed by a Detroit plumbing and heating firm, said the youths came home at 4 p. m. from classes at Waterford Village School, where they both attended the first grade.

"They changed their clothes and went out to play as they always did," the shocked parent stated. "They always did everything together," he added.

At 4:15 p. m. a neighbor woman called State Police saying the boys had been walking on the ice, then suddenly disappeared.

FIND TRACKS

Police and Waterford Township firemen arrived finding tracks leading to broken ice in about 4 feet of water.

They began dragging the channel, which froze over only two days ago, and found the youths' bodies at 7 p. m.

As friends tried to comfort his grief-stricken wife, Lela, 31, last night, Aldred said the boys had been warned to stay away from thin ice, "but that won't bring them back now."

The Aldreds have two other children, Phyllis, 11, and Robert, 1.

The bodies were taken to Coats Funeral Home in Drayton Plains where arrangements are pending.

Death of the youngsters was the first ice tragedy on Oakland County's 400 lakes this winter.

With the recent cold weather, most lakes have safe thicknesses, except around springs, near shore, and in channels such as the one in which the Aldred boys were playing.

Ike Lifts Ban on Uranium to Firms and Free Nations

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's new program for releasing a billion dollars worth of uranium at home and abroad for peaceful atomic projects presented a challenge to Russia today to follow suit.

The President announced late yesterday that the United States will make available 88,000 pounds of atomic material, uranium 235, to pioneer American firms and to friendly nations in a demonstration of "our faith that the atom can be a powerful instrument for the promotion of world peace."

His announcement came just one day after Soviet Premier Nikola Bulganin had stated that, "We Communists must fully place the greatest discovery of the 20th century — atomic energy — at the service of . . . the cause of building communism."

Bulganin pictured Russia as "ahead of other countries" in the peaceful uses of atomic energy, but did not talk of sharing atomic materials.

REDS, SATELLITES OMITTED

Actually, Eisenhower barred distribution of any of the 88,000 pounds of U.S. U-235 to the Soviet Union and its satellites, as well as to any other nations presently producing the material.

Half of the supply, 44,000 pounds, will be leased in the United States for civilian purposes, "principally for power reactors," Eisenhower said in a statement at his vacation headquarters here.

The other half will be sold or leased abroad for peaceful purposes, mainly research and power reactors.

It's Holiday—for Everybody but Motorists

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Is Washington's Birthday a legal holiday—or isn't it?

Dayton police don't seem to think so. They handed out tickets and towed away cars for overtime parking yesterday. The parking meters specifically exempt motorists from paying on holidays.

* * *

Lt. R. M. Igleburger, the Police Department's traffic chief, said the department does not regard Washington's Birthday as a holiday because it isn't listed as such in the city code.

When motorists went to the office where they usually pay the tickets, they were greeted with a shuttered window and a sign saying:

"Closed, legal holiday."

Dulles Back in Capital

FLIES FROM BAHAMAS—Secretary of State Dulles smiles from an auto at Bolling Air Force Base after flying to the capital from the Bahamas, where he has been vacationing.

To Question Dulles Over Tanks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is expected to tell senators tomorrow that vital security interests in the Middle East dictated the U.S. decision to send 18 light tanks to Saudi Arabia.

Officials indicated this line of argument today as Dulles, just back from a 10-day vacation settled down to a quick review of the situation in preparation for critical questioning by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Informants said one issue at which Dulles will take a new look is Israel's request, pending since last November, for 50 million dollars worth of weapons to counter Egypt's arms purchases from Communist Czechoslovakia.

There is considerable speculation in the State Department that Dulles may soon decide, subject to approval by President Eisenhower, to sell Israel some defensive weapons such as antiaircraft guns or jet fighter planes.

However, informed officials said this question is still open. They said there has been no change in the policy of delaying a decision on the request while seeking by diplomacy to ease Arab-Israel tension.

On his return from the Bahama Islands yesterday, Dulles said he first learned of the uproar over the shipment of tanks to Saudi Arabia when he reached Miami and began to "read the papers."

Officials said the basic line of argument prepared for Dulles covers these main points:

1. The United States must negotiate by next June a renewal of air base rights at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. That base is one of a chain which the U. S. government considers vital to its retaliatory striking power.

2. The Soviet Union has been making overtures to Saudi Arabia and is prepared to sell that nation arms.

3. The United States has in Saudi Arabia important oil rights which might be jeopardized by a worsening of relations with tha country.

4. The government decided when the tank sale was approved last fall that the increase in Saudi Arabian military strength would not materially affect the over-all military balance between Israel and the Arab bloc.

Famed Fashion Designer Hattie Carnegie, 70, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Hattie Carnegie, who left school at 11 to work as a messenger girl and became one of the greats in the fashion world, died yesterday at the age of 70.

Miss Carnegie came to this country from Vienna with her family early in the century. Her father died shortly afterward and she went to work in Macy's department store.

Later she and a seamstress friend, Rose Roth, opened a dress shop on East 10th Street in 1909. When death came at her fashionable Fifth Avenue home she was operating a 6½-million-dollar-a-year business employing more than 1,000 persons.

Her family name was Kanengeiser. She changed it to Carnegie in admiration of the late steel magnate and philanthropist Andrew Carnegie.

She was not only a top designer of women's hats and dresses but controlled wholesale garment business and a cosmetic firm.

A small lady with boundless energy, she pioneered in adapting Parisian custom styles to American ready-to-wear clothing and hats.

GM Sales Smash All Records in '55

Top $12 Billion, Report Discloses

35 Per Cent Decrease in Defense Production Also Revealed

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors' defense business showed a 35 per cent drop last year although total sales smashed all prior records, the annual report disclosed today.

• • •

Sales of defense products manufactured by the world's biggest industrial corporation totaled $897,675,000 in 1955 against $1,371,410,000 in 1954.

Defense items represented 7 per cent of total GM sales last year, against 14 per cent of total sales in 1954 and 19 per cent in 1953.

Sales of civilian products broke all records in 1955, totaling $11,545,602,000. This compared with $8,452,116,000 the year before. Total sales, as previously announced by GM President Harlow H. Curtice, came to a record $12,443,277,000 vs. $9,823,526,000 a year ago.

Much of the statistical matter in the giant company's annual report had already been disclosed by Curtice Feb. 2 during the Miami, Fla., presentation of the GM "Motorama."

EARNINGS SET MARK

Earnings, as previously reported, set a new high of $1,189,477,082, breaking through the billion-dollar mark for the first time in the company's history. After deducting dividends on the preferred stocks, this was equal to $4.30 per common share. GM profits for 1954 had amounted to $805,973,897 or $3.03 a share.

The report noted that in the 10 years after World War II, GM's tax bill totaled $ 2-3 billion dollars.

The 1,353,000,000 provided for U.S. and foreign income taxes last year represents the second time that GM's annual tax provision has excessed one billion dollars. (It was $839,000,000 in 1954 and $1,055,000,000 in 1953).

STATE, LOCAL TAXES

Adding state, local and other taxes, the 1955 total was $1,598,000,000. This was equal to 13 cents for each dollar of sales, 52 cents for each dollar of payrolls, $1.34 for each dollar of net income and $5.84 for each share of common stock. For each dollar GM provided for taxes, stockholders received 38 cents in dividends.

In addition, sales and excise taxes on GM products amounted to $864,000,000 last year, bringing "total ascertainable taxes" for 1955 to $2,562,000,000, the report said. This was equal to $9.37 per share of common stock and more than four times the amount paid out in dividends on the common stock.

The report described 1955 "as the most outstanding year the country has ever enjoyed" from the over-all business and economic viewpoint.

"There was virtually full employment," it said. "Consumer disposable income was at a new high level. With widespread confidence prevailing, consumer spending rose even more substantially."

HIGH-VOLUME YEAR

It reminded stockholders, however, that 1955 was a year "of exceptionally high volume."

"During such a period, profits tend to rise rapidly both in terms of dollars and in relation to sales," commented the report.

Curtice has predicted that the industry will sell fewer cars this year than last.

Sales of cars and trucks from GM factories in the United States and abroad totaled 5,030,994 last year—up 32 per cent from 1954 and 26 per cent above the former record set in 1950. The total included 4,398,590 cars and 632,398 trucks and coaches.

Of the 1955 total, 4,477,000 cars, trucks and coaches were produced in the United States—a gain of 36 per cent over 1954.

Icy Europe Reels—804 Die

LONDON (AP) — Frozen Europe counted at least 804 dead today in the worst winter in living memory. Even colder weather was forecast for the weekend.

Central Europe — one vast expanse of crusted snow — anxiously watched its food and fuel supplies dwindling as the disastrous freeze-up went into its 24th day.

Huge ice packs floated down the North Sea. Temperatures along Germany's Baltic coast dropped to 4 above zero.

Ice floes paralyzed shipping on Dutch canals and threatened the Netherlands with a serious coal shortage.

• • •

A local thaw brought landslides to southern Italy. At Vasto, near Pescara, 50 families fled as their homes collapsed on a crumbling hillside. In northern Italy, more snow was forecast.

50 INCHES OF SNOW

In southern France, snow 50 inches deep cut off villages and tore down phone and power lines. Prices of vegetables and eggs rocketed as farmers and truck gardeners reported crippling losses.

Germany's weather bureau reported a new cold wave from Siberia would strike by the weekend. Already the mercury hovered around zero over most of the country.

Federal Airport Aid Probe Sought by Rep. Meader

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Rep. George Meader (R-Mich) said today he would ask Congress for a full investigation of the Federal Airport Aid Program, citing Willow Run and Wayne Major Airports as prime examples.

• • •

Meader, in a telephone call from Washington, said that last year's appropriation "was an unusual departure from traditional procedure because it provided a quarter of a billion dollars over four years and committed Congress to appropriate the sum."

Meader also struck out at a federal air use panel which suggested that Willow Run, in Meader's district, be developed as a military base while commercial airlines move from Willow to Wayne Major.

He described the air panel as usual authority was granted "military dominated," called the Detroit hearings last June a "sham," and said the panel's report was a "fraud."

The panel, Meader said, knew what recommendations it would make before it came to Detroit.

He said, "The Civil Aeronautics Administration gave tacit approval to the waste of tax money by continually allocating public funds" to Wayne Major Airport.

He said the fact "that this un the CAA makes it even more imperative that Congress maintain its check on how the money is spent."

Since 1946, Meader said, Wayne Major got more than four million dollars in federal funds and 13 million dollars in state and local funds while Willow Run housed seven major commercial airlines and "served faithfully at almost no expense to taxpayers."

"Despite repeated assurances by the commercial airlines that they wouldn't move, Detroit and Wayne County went ahead in frenzied fashion to build another airport at public expense on top of one that already exists," Meader said.

• • •

Six major airlines recently decided to remain at Willow Run while one, American, decided to move to Wayne Major.

Against Hospital Insurance Bill

Michigan Blue Cross Opposes Move to Ban Over-All Coverage

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross says it is not opposed to deductible hospital insurance but does oppose a bill in the Legislature which would ban comprehensive coverage.

The Michigan Hospital Service set forth its position in a statement by William S. McNary, executive vice president and general manager.

McNary also said recent criticisms of Blue Cross by State Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre "are not only unjustified but are a reflection on the character and integrity of the Blue Cross trustees."

A bill introduced in the House by Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston) would force all Blue Cross subscribers to pay the entire cost of the first day of hospitalization and 15 per cent of the cost of hospitalization after the seventh day.

Navarre has expressed support of the bill.

Finns Predict End of Newsprint Pinch by 1959

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Two Finnish newsprint producers predicted here the worldwide newsprint shortage would be licked in three years.

The forecast came from Nulo Nederstrom, resident manager of Mylykoski Paper Mills, Ltd., and Pelka Vurisalo, mill manager.

The optimism of the Finnish manufacturers was based on the present rate of expansion mills in Europe, Canada and the United States.

Capital and installation of more paper making machinery are keys to whipping the shortage, said Nederstrom.

The problem is not a lack of pulp wood—from which paper is made. There is enough of that, they said.

Monaco to Get Jailed Gamblers

3 U.S. Men Suspected of Using Loaded Dice at Monte Carlo Casino

NICE, France (AP)—Three Americans suspected of using loaded dice at the Monte Carlo casino were sent to the jail in Nice today to await extradition to the principality of Monaco — a few miles down the road.

• • •

The three identified themselves to French police as Jason Lee, 58, Los Angeles; Philip Aggi, 37, Los Angeles; and Ralph Shaker, 40, of West Covina, Calif.

They were picked up yesterday, but no formal charge has been filed against them. A Monacan judge, however, sent the French a request for their "provisional arrest," under which they can be here indefinitely, or until their extradition is approved in a process that usually takes several weeks.

THERE FOR DAYS

Lee, Aggi and Shaker had been shooting dice at the Casino for several days. That establishment is one of the few places in Europe where the game can be played legally. It was introduced several years ago to cater to American gambling tastes.

Police said Monacan authorities have informed them that all three were at the table Monday when the croupiers noticed loaded dice. In the flurry of excitement that ensued, the three Americans disappeared. They were found in Nice yesterday. Three pairs of dice were discovered in Shaker's luggage, police said.

• • •

Since Monaco is not part of France, any charge must be made in a Monacan court and, to make it legal, the defendants must be brought to that court.

Conduct Probe Into Death Here

Coroner's Study Reveals Cemetery Employe Died of Natural Causes

Police all but ruled out foul play in the death of a 63-year-old cemetery worker whose body was found in bed shortly before 10 a.m. this morning.

A preliminary examination by Oakland County Corner Dr. John D. Monroe indicated William Jolly died of natural causes "five or six" days ago, said Det. James Bale.

He said there was no signs of violence in the dead man's apartment at 140 Mt. Clemens St. where money and other belongings had not been disturbed.

Jolly was found by his wife, Pauline, 63, who had returned after a two-week absence to investigate reports by disturbed neighbors. She told Bale they telephoned her when they were unable to rouse Jolly, saying delivered milk bottles had not been taken in.

Mrs. Jolly said she had been visiting her daughter and newly-born grandchild at Walnut Lake, and had left her husband alone in the apartment. She last saw him a week ago, according to Bale.

Jolly had been employed several years as a ground attendant at Roseland Park Cemetery in Berkley.

Probe Fails to Trace Missing Flint Man

A two-day investigation here failed to turn up a clue in the mysterious disappearance of a Flint man from his home Sunday, according to Pontiac police.

Inspector Clark M. Wheaton said a report was made yesterday to Flint detectives, who arrived to question several men apparently implicated in a story told by the missing man's wife.

• • •

Mrs. Frank Pilara had claimed that her husband, 30, was in a fight here "four or five" months ago and that his disappearance may involve revenge.

Wheaton said the men questioned denied knowing the missing man. Mrs. Pilara had furnished the last name of one of the men involved in the alleged fight, he said.

Bad Drivers Bill Before House

Senate OKs Measure, but Lower Chamber's Vote to Be Close

LANSING (AP) — The so-called "bad drivers" bill moved to the House today after clearing the Senate handily.

Despite passage 23 to 9 in the Senate Wednesday, the Republican sponsored measure apparently faced tough sledding in the lower chamber where the Republican-Democratic division is closer.

Called a highway safety measure by backers, the bill provides for establishment of drivers training schools on the county level.

The schools, with a 1½ hours sessions weekly for six weeks, would be set up jointly by the State Police commissioner and local law enforcers.

Under the bill, judges could require traffic law offenders and motorists convicted of serious offenses to take the course. They would have discretionary power to suspend sentences for persons sent to the schools.

Opponents said the bill was unworkable and that it would undo the accomplishment of the 1953 Legislature in unifying supervision of driver and vehicle licensing in the secretary of state's office.

Brazilian Rebel Chief Seen Fleeing Battle

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—His air power reduced to one C47, the leader of Brazil's sputtering jungle revolt was reported fleeing today. Word spread that the beleaguered Amazon River town of Santarem was back in loyal hands.

Air force officials said the sudden break came after government planes, in their first blow of the 12-day revolt, strafed the rebel-held airport at Santarem.

The air force announcement said the rebel leader, Maj. Haroldo Veloso, fled to unknown parts and that loyal air and ground troops he had held prisoner retook the city of 15,000 persons.

The government said its planes destroyed on the ground a Beechcraft trainer reportedly loaded with bombs for an attack on a troop ship heading up the Amazon.

FLED IN PLANE

Veloso had fled in this plane from Rio de Janeiro Feb. 11 to launch his revolt. Authorities said the strafing left Veloso with only a C47 transport in his "air force."

Many of Santarem's residents were reported pouring out of the city as government forces advanced. It was not yet known whether Veloso's small rebel band, said to include three dissident air force officers and about 30 men, had fled with him.

The steamer President Vargas meanwhile moved toward Santarem with troops, antiaircraft weapons and small cannon. The troops had orders to take the city without bloodshed if possible, otherwise "at any cost."

2 Admit Complicity in Holdup of Tavern

Two men, one from Pontiac and the other from Lake Orion, admitted to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem this morning that they took part in the armed robbery of the Lake Orion Bo-In bar Feb. 4.

The men, Thomas Bailey, of 468 S. Broadway, Lake Orion, and Donald Smith, of 451 S. Anderson, Pontiac, are expected to be arraigned this afternoon in Lake Orion Justice Court.

Warrants charging the two men with armed robbery were issued this morning.

Smith admitted to Ziem that he drove the car in the holdup which netted $216.60. Bailey admitted that he was a passenger in the automobile.

A warrant was signed Feb. 11 charging Gerald K. Davis, 28, of Rochester, with armed robbery. He confessed holding up the bar.

The Day in Birmingham

To Accept Applications for New City Manager

BIRMINGHAM — Mayor Charles Renfrew and city commissioners are proceeding with plans to fill the city manager's position, which will be vacated when D. C. Egbert resigns April 1, 1957.

"We want a man with a substantial period of service ahead of him," Mayor Renfrew told the Pontiac Press today. "The commission has agreed that applications will be accepted from present city staff as well as others."

"Dana Whitman Jr.," the mayor said of the present assistant city manager, "would definitely be a consideration. He naturally has a more intimate grasp of city problems than an outsider would."

"We don't want to be a training ground for somebody," Renfrew said. Egbert came to the city as building inspector over 25 years ago, and held assessing and engineering posts before becoming manager 20 years ago. He was on leave of absence for U.S. Navy duty from February 1943 to January 1946.

Ads are being placed in several municipal magazines to draw applications from a wide field, according to decision of the commission Monday night. The post is filled by a commission appointment.

No deadline has been set for applications, which should be addressed to the mayor, whom Renfrew points out may be someone else following the election of commissioners on April 2, and thereafter the mayor's election by fellow commissioners. Renfrew is among the candidates for commission posts.

Of tonight's recognition banquet for city employes, when Egbert and eight other 25-year-men will be among 75 honored, Renfrew said, "We are looking to it as a major step in employe relations."

"National surveys show," he said, "that the recognition of service is an important factor in maintaining and building of employe relations. It parallels compensation in satisfying workers."

Sec. Benson to Show Farm Movies on TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson will illustrate his "See It Now" television show tonight with farm movies taken in Iowa recently by that state's Republican Sen. Martin. Martin will appear with Benson.

The show, set for 10:30 p.m. EST on CBS is billed as a reply to one on agriculture by Edward R. Murrow on Jan. 26.

After the Murrow show, Benson contended it gave viewers a "distorted" impression of conditions in agriculture. The secretary requested and got time from the network to reply to Murrow's program.

Water, Sewage Woes Peril State Growth

LANSING (AP)—Water supply and sewage disposal deficiencies threaten to stunt Michigan's growth, a Senate group was told Wednesday night.

• • •

This was the burden of testimony at a State Affairs Committee hearing by a dozen witnesses backing two legislative proposals:

1. A bill to enlarge state water resources commission powers to aid local governments in the water and sewage field.

The measure in addition would provide for creation of water supply and sewage disposal districts to enable neighboring communities to band together in an attack on their problems.

2. A proposed constitutional amendment for a 200 million dollar state bond issue to finance needed water and sewage improvements through loans out of a revolving fund.

There were no opposition witnesses.

The leadoff witness was councilman Edward Connor, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, who said he spoke as well for the boards of Washtenaw and St. Clair Counties.

Connor said a shortgage of water and inadequate sanitary sewage facilities already has retarded industrial and residential growth in the six county area, comprising over half the state's population and 60 per cent of its property value.

The southeastern section was not the only one affected, Connor said. Referring to the leeislative proposals, he said:

"This is a matter of value and concern to every metropolitan section of the state, including Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor, Kalamazoo, Saginaw and Bay City—all areas that are growing rapidly."

Because of the water and sewage problem, Connor said, new factories are locating elsewhere, fire protection is impaired and a crimp has been put in suburban residential development.

Connor said the expansion potential of the southeastern section and the entire state was "almost unlimited" if water and sewage deficiencies could be remedied without undue delay.

He said the St. Lawrence Seaway project points to tremendous industrial growth and a doubling of population within 10 or 15 years.

CEILING ON EXPANSION

But if necessary additional facilities are not provided, requirements local communities are unable to meet without state help, he said, "it means we are placing a ceiling" on expansion.

Spokesmen for the Builders Assn. of Metropolitan Detroit and the Michigan Assn. of Home Builders and of the Detroit and Eastern Michigan divisions of the Federal Housing and Veteran Administrations elaborated Connor's statements on housing.

Wendell L. Edwards, FHA director at Detroit, said his agency has no alternative but to refuse loan guarantees on new housing where inadequate provision has been made for water and sewage disposal.

• • •

Viewing the same problem from another angle, Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the state water resources commission, said that in the past two years court anti-pollution injunctions have been obtained against nearly 30 cities and villages—all because of inadequate sewage disposal or treatment systems.

Speeches Mark Red Army Day

Soviet Military Heads Ask for 'Vigilance' Against Aggression

LONDON (AP) — Soviet military leaders marked Red Army Day with calls today for vigilance against "intrigues of aggressive forces" and assertions that Russia has "reliable means" for delivering atomic and hydrogen bombs to any part of the world.

* * *

Moscow radio broadcast an article in the Communist party newspaper Pravda by Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky concerning Russia's nuclear punch.

Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces, declared the Soviet Union "has at its disposal reliable means for sending atomic and hydrogen bombs to any part of the world." He did not say whether he meant airplanes or intercontinental missiles, but he added that the Soviet army now is equipped with "long-distance rockets and guided missiles."

* * *

"We speak of this," he said, "not because we want to intimidate anyone but because it is sometimes worthwhile to remind those who time and again brandish atomic bombs that in our days one cannot wage war without being subject to retaliation."

Defense Minister Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, in an order of the day, urged the Soviet Union's armed forces to strengthen the nation's defense capacities.

He charged that "aggressive circles of imperialist states continue to pursue a policy of force, of extending aggressive military blocs and accelerating armaments."

No Time to Celebrate Washington's Birthday

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—"Some holiday," fumed Dickie Goodrich, 10, as he stared at George Washington's portrait on the classroom wall.

Like other youngsters in the district, Dickie was in class to make up for two days last month when the schools were closed by floods.

"I'll bet Washington wouldn't like it if he knew," Dickie mumbled.

Flood Damaged City Plans Late Christmas

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP)—Flood-damaged Yuba City hopes for clear skies Saturday so it can—finally—celebrate Christmas.

Youngsters were cheated Dec. 25 when the Feather River broke through a levee. Rains Sunday and yesterday ruined substitute observances.

A commercially sponsored carnival was deserted yesterday because of rains and a parade was called off.

Still scheduled for Saturday are a parade, a stage show and the distribution of gifts to youngsters.

Doctor Asks $50,000 for Queries on Ike

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — Political advice from President Eisenhower's heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White, is getting mighty expensive.

The Boston physician, here yesterday for a heart symposium, prefaced a question and answer period with this remark:

"The only way I will answer questions about President Eisenhower running again for the presidency is by the person who asks the question coming up here and donating $50,000 to the Heart Fund."

There were no questions.

Major Raps Weaknesses of Character in POWs

WASHINGTON (INS) — A top Army psychiatrist says that nearly one-third of all American soldiers captured in Korea yielded to Communist efforts to sway their loyalty by brainwashing.

Maj. William E. Mayer declared that the effectiveness of the Red program points up "basic defects" in the American character that "should cause searching self-examination by all Americans."

He said: "... The behavior of too many of our soldiers in prison fell far short of the historical American standards of honor, character, loyalty, courage and personal integrity."

Mayer, a foremost authority on brainwashing, based his views on a four-year study of the experiences of 1,000 POW returnees. His opinions were expressed in a copyrighted interview with the magazine "U.S. News and World Report."

The psychiatrist said that of about 4,000 GI's who returned from Korean captivity, nearly 1,000 admitted becoming "Progressives."

BY DEFINITION

He added: "By the Communists' own definition, this meant that a man was either a Communist sympathizer or a collaborator—or both—during his stay in a prison camp."

Mayer stressed that these soldiers, by their own admission, were not subject to any physical torture.

Many Americans "magnificently" resisted Red attempts to change their beliefs, Mayer said.

He added: "But even granting that two-thirds of the men remained staunchly loyal Americans, still the fact that so many yielded to the degree that they did present a problem of fantastic proportions and should cause searching self-examination by all Americans, both in and out of uniform."

3 BASIC DEFECTS

Mayer said the Red brainwashers exploited three "basic defects" in the captive GIs—faulty "character development," ignorance of "American democracy," and lack of military "toughness."

Many POW's, Mayer asserted, "had not been taught a sense of personal responsibility for the welfare of others" and failed to take care of sick comrades. As a result of this "every man for himself" behavior, he added, some ailing Americans "needlessly" died.

The expert said the Chinese Communists had a "pretty low" estimate of the American soldier, which was borne out "to a certain degree" by the behavior of the soldiers who bowed to Red psychological pressure.

Mayer charged that American schools are "failing miserably" to prepare youths for "survival in a tense and troubled international society."

• • •

The psychiatrist also decried a "lack of toughness" in military training and said that the attitude of the parents of soldiers seems to be responsible.

Amazing Wayne Morse Running True to Form

Wayne Morse is Oregon's Senatorial turncoat.

You may recall that the gallant statesman from the West Coast was elected to the Senate by the Republican Party. After a spell as a Republican, Senator Morse repudiated the GOP and decided he would become a Democrat and at last reports he still classes himself accordingly. Changing canoes going over Niagara Falls would be no feat at all for this dizzy fellow.

★ ★ ★

Within the past few days, Morse made an impassioned oration in defense of the right of the head of Penn-Texas Corporation to acquire stock in Fairbanks-Morse and Company. This, contended The Thinker, was perfectly proper. However, he now demands an investigation of a rumor that reaches his alert and suspicious ears in regard to the International Paper Company. It seems the paper corporation plans on buying a lumber company. Such a procedure would be infamous, contends the Mighty Morse.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the Oregon Senator can't answer the question as to just how silly can one man become, but he might offer himself as Exhibit A until something better comes along.

Outlook Good for Bill to Insure U. S. Road Aid

An encouraging development in Congress is the prospect that no serious partisan disagreement is likely to block a Federal aid highway program as it did last year.

This was the situation as the House Ways and Means Committee began hearings on the Boggs bill to finance the program. Such a favorable climate is the result of agreement by both parties that financing should be on a pay-as-we-build basis.

In his testimony, Treasury Secretary Humphrey criticized the bill on two counts. He thinks the measure should run for 12 instead of 15 years because if the work isn't done quicker than that, the country never would catch up on its highway deficiencies. He also pointed out that the bill would provide less than half of the $21 billion required in Federal expenditures.

★ ★ ★

The big question still to be decided is how the cost of the plan should be apportioned. The American Automobile Association is arguing that heavier trucks should pay a higher proportion of the tax increase. The American Trucking Association believes that truckers and motorists should share the increase on an equal ratio.

★ ★ ★

How these and related issues are to be resolved and what form the bill will take in committee, remains to be seen. The important thing is that both parties are alert to the urgency of the need. They know that highway deaths passed the 38,000 mark in 1955 and that vehicle registrations increased from 58,000,000 to 61,000,000.

We are confident that before very long a sensible Federal aid road bill will be before Congress.

Our principal item for not worrying about this week is the report that Juan Peron has run out of money.

Winter on the Wane

Are you weary of Winter?

Would you like to choke the man who raves about the beauty of snow? Does the very thought of shoveling walks and driveway make your back ache? Do you feel that you just can't face the job of bucking the traffic one more day?

★ ★ ★

But cheer up, friend, things aren't half as bad as they seem. Two-thirds of the astronomical Winter has passed into history. In less than a fortnight daytime temperatures quite likely will remain above freezing most of the time.

★ ★ ★

Already the days are longer and brighter and there is an indefinable something in the clearer air that lifts the spirit. Before long the ice in the lakes will be melting, willows will take on brighter color and robins will be on the wing.

Forget Winter.

Spring is less than a month away.

The Man About Town

Men Are Worse

Are More Anxious Than Women to Conceal Age

Automobile: What supplanted the horse—but without horse sense.

Contrary to the stale old jokes that men pull about women concealing their age, this column has found over an experience of several years that exactly the opposite is true. In the many thousands of verbal orchids that have been printed, the women exceed the men in those which give ages, by a ratio of more than three to one. Many are the times that a man has forbidden us to mention his age, although his family or close friends requested it, but such cases among women are rare. So there goes another old theory that probably never had any foundation.

Get a Horse

David Lawrence Says:

More Publicity and Not Suppression May Force Some Election Law Reforms

WASHINGTON—Every now and then somebody comes up with the idea that the federal government should finance political campaigns. It has bobbed up in Congress again and again in the last half century, but it isn't often exposed for what it really is—a scheme to protect mostly those who are in office as against those out of office.

• • •

Under a government-financed plan, the independent candidate would have little chance, and the political organization bosses would reign supreme. The department or bureau in the government that had the function of interpreting or deciding the rules would have the power of life or death over the candidates. It would inevitably redound to the benefit of the man in office.

Most of the new proposals would provide for a system of allocating money to the parties on the basis of the number of votes they cast in previous elections. Yet a third party or fraction of a party would not have the means of becoming a majority because it would be denied the funds it needed to get there.

Not only would independent candidacies be frustrated, but the whole system of nominating candidates in a primary would be broken down because only party selections could get in the race or obtain the public money to help them win. It might, of course, be provided that candidates in primaries could keep on getting their money from private contributions. It would then be asked why campaign contributions would be allowed to a man who is running in the primaries and yet not to the nominees in the election campaign itself.

LIMIT CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributing large sums of money to candidates for public office by persons with an ax to grind, or with a selfish interest to serve, is a bad system only because of the size of the amounts permitted. The evils would vanish when contributions are by law limited to $50 or $100 for each citizen.

When, however, this reform is accomplished, what shall be said of the method by which candidates for federal office now get themselves elected through sums of public money derived from the taxes of those living not merely in their own districts or states but in other districts and states?

Thus, the Tennessee Valley Authority, for example, which supplies electric power to local areas in the South at relatively low rates, is subsidized by taxpayers in other parts of the country. Many a candidate for public office who helped to get those appropriations passed has been re-elected because he brought material benefits to the people of his own district and state.

• • •

There is nothing unlawful about this or any other method by which a congressman gets what used to be known as "pork barrel" appropriations of direct benefit to contractors and others in the areas where he depends for votes to keep him in office. His campaign contributions in effect, therefore, come from all the taxpayers.

One congressman votes for bills to help the other fellow in Congress. This is known as "log-rolling." It is rumored, for instance, that the natural gas bill, which stirred up all the fuss recently, was given favorable votes by some members of Congress who now expect voting help on their own pet projects later on in this session.

Many reforms in the election laws are sorely needed, but they lie primarily in the direction of more publicity instead of organized suppression. Today, with all the hue and cry about the way the government withholds information the public wants, the interested press groups have not bestirred themselves about the scandalous way the detailed records of campaign contributions are kept from the newspapers that want to print them.

Records are systematically destroyed after a specified period of time. One can't find out, for instance, today the details of the 1952 campaign contributions. They have been ordered destroyed.

• • •

Also, if a newspaperman wants to photostat any records filed in the House of Representatives, he is forbidden to do so. There is nothing in the present law, moreover, which requires that business or professional connections and other identification data be filed along with the names of the contributors. It's a messy way to keep the so-called "records" on how members of Congress get elected.

Doctor Lists Usual Causes of Colon Derangements

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

"Reader" would like to read a piece about irritated colon. Many people seem to have it. The reader asks what causes it and why people just don't seem to get cured of it.

Whatever I may say here about irritated colon, spastic colon and so-called "mucous colitis," will, I hope, be prophylactic and not iatrogenic.

This is a health column, not a symptom emporium or a mail-order clinic.

Everybody knows that prophylaxis or prophylactic means preventing or contributing to the prevention of disease.

Current medical literature has established usage of iatrogenic. It means generated by the physician.

Dorlands Medical Dictionary says, it is "a term applied to disorders induced in the patient by autosuggestion based on the physician's examination, manner or discussion (Sir Arthur Hurst)."

Sir Arthur Hurst appears on page 22 of Volumette 25 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health (for this volumette send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope—it is titled The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene).

I quoted Sir Arthur's opening remark when he discussed treatment of colitis at the Royal Society of Medicine:

"There is no such thing as 'mucous colitis,' so I cannot open a discussion on its treatment."

If any reader who watches his colon too closely thinks he knows better than an ordinary doctor does, let him take it up with Sir Arthur.

I decline to argue with such characters. I say all I have to say about it in No. 25—Causes of Colon Derangement—

Derangement means simply impairment of function. To derange is to put out of order.

These are the usual causes:

1. Over-refined food—cheat-food.
2. Impaired mastication.
3. Vitamin B deficiency.
4. Use of laxatives.
5. Monkeying with enemas and so-called colonic irrigations or bowel washes.
6. The autointoxication obsession.
7. Ignorance of physiology.
8. Introspection.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Advises Residents to Keep Walks Cleared of Ice, Snow

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I think perhaps very few people realize the risk involved in not keeping their sidewalks cleaned of ice and snow.

If someone should slip and fall on an icy walk, and then sue, the person responsible for keeping the walk clean might likely have to pay out quite a bit of money for injuries incurred.

People should realize they are responsible for keeping the sidewalk in front of their property cleaned, even though it may belong to the City.

Pedestrian

Economy of Good Driving Explained by Roy Newton

During the year 1954 a bomb comprised of millions of atoms exploded in the United States. When the causualty statistics were compiled, it was learned that the dead and injured numbered in the thousands. The bomb was called the T-bomb. The T stands for traffic.

To all motorists, take heed. A drinking driver needs a cop for a chaser. A live man pays about 75 cents for a shave; it costs $7.00 to shave a dead man in the morgue.

A woolen overcoat costs about $50; a wooden one costs $500. A taxi to the theater costs about $2.00 for the round trip; one to the cemetery costs $20 one way.

Drive like the devil and you'll catch up with him; stay alive and save your money. It's easy. Just drive carefully.

Hal Boyle Says:

One Man Lives to Recall Bout With 'The 7 Sisters'

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (AP)—On a wintry night two years ago one of "The Seven Sisters" struck Leroy Buckley with a mighty white fist of death — but he escaped alive.

• • •

By doing so the 28-year-old Korean veteran has become something of a living legend in this old mining town near famous Loveland Pass, high in the towering Rocky Mountains.

SNOWSLIDE AREAS

The "Seven Sisters" are seven perilous snowslide areas along the winding road through the pass.

• • •

Few persons caught in a major avalanche survive. Leroy is the second member of his family to accomplish that feat. He is the grandson of famed Alice "Maw" Buckley, a real "first lady" of Colorado's fabulous past. This doughty Irish pioneer mother raised 13 children of her own, befriended hundreds of miners, died triumphantly in 1945 at 85.

In 1915 Raymond Buckley, Leroy's uncle, and two other men were caught in an avalanche while inspecting a mine site. The uncle saved himself by clinging to the limb of a tree that withstood the flooding snow. His companions perished.

Leroy and his father John, own a garage here. Over the years they have rescued hundreds of motorists stranded on the wintry heights.

SEEMED SERENE

At dusk on Nov. 24, 1953 Leroy was returning after towing a stranded car over the pass. The Seven Sisters seemed serene in a luminous peace. Then sister No. 6 reached for him without warning.

• • •

"I saw a sudden white fluffy cloud before me," Leroy recalled. "And then I couldn't see anything. The glass crashed around me, the front of the cab crumpled.

"Snow filled the cab, choking me. How did I feel? There wasn't time to be afraid. I just gripped the wheel and held on. I wasn't even sure what was happening."

In the vast maelstrom of snow, rocks, and splintered trees the light 1½-ton tow truck was as helpless as a peanut in a hurricane. It sailed through the air, turning end over end, and landed upright 200 feet below on the roadway, then skidded another 100 feet before coming to a halt.

JUST WRECKAGE

Buckley blindly pawed clear of the imprisoning snow that had kept him from being thrown out of the cab or banged to death inside the cab. The truck was nothing but wreckage. The radiator had been smashed in, the wheels and fenders ripped away.

• • •

Blood streamed from a deep and terrible gash reaching from young Buckley's cheek around to the back of his neck. He never even noticed it until he climbed back to the highway. A second torrent of snow loosed by another of the Seven Sisters had blocked the road farther down. Leroy had to clamber over it before finding help. A doctor that night took 56 stitches to close his wound.

• • •

A medal of St. Christopher, the patron saint of travelers, had been torn loose from Leroy's throat. Feeling that St. Christopher had intervened to save his son, Leroy's father decided some months later the medal should be retrieved.

PRAYERFUL HUNT

They searched and searched but could not find it.

• • •

"I thought perhaps if I prayed it would help," said the elderly Buckley, who is devout. "So I got to my knees, and as I finished my first 'Hail Mary,' Leroy reached into the snow and said, 'Here it is, Dad.'"

The father, stirred emotionally by his memories, looked affectionately at his son.

• • •

"Whenever he drives by the Seven Sisters now," he said quietly, "he says a silent prayer. Someone saw him up there on the mountain that night and helped him."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

'Worry Forward' Is Test to Separate Efficient Worrier From Mere Fretter

"Worry forward" is the test of efficient worriers vs. the ineffectual fretters. And please notice that Jesus worried almost all night at Gethsemane. But He followed King David's motto and quit worrying when the deadline had passed. Learn how to lay your worries down after they are outdated.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-382: Molly D., aged 31, is the worried housewife mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, your view of worry is different from what I had always thought," she confessed.

"For I had thought the goal of life and the purpose of religion was to eliminate worry."

JESUS WORRIED

No, our aim is to teach people to worry more, but to do it efficiently, without peptic ulcers, high blood pressure, etc.

Jesus worried. In fact, he worried almost all night at Gethsemane wrestling with his destiny. The Bible says he prayed in great anguish, as the following passage from St. Luke will reveal:

"And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and, kneeled down and prayed.

"Saying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done.

"And being in an agony, he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground."

King David also worried intensely for a full week when his first child by Bath-sheba was stricken ill. He fasted and lay upon the earth and besought God to restore the baby to health.

But on the seventh day, the infant died. David's servants were afraid to tell him the bad news because of the serious way in which he had worried.

When David saw them whispering around him, he surmised the dire facts, and queried them. When he learned his child was dead, he quit fasting and stopped worrying further. Instead, he bathed and put on his royal robes, and had a big dinner party.

When his surprised servants expressed their wonder at his behavior, King David gave them what we modern psychologists employ as a cardinal rule of worry.

"While the child was yet alive," David replied, "I fasted and wept: for I said, who can tell whether God will be gracious to me and that the child may live.

"But now that he is dead, wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him but he shall not return to me."

WORRY FORWARD

King David thus enunciated our famous rule of psychology which urges that we "worry forward."

For then our mental efforts to solve our current dilemmas may produce constructive results.

Alas, the folks who worry inefficiently are often inclined to "worry backwards." They cry over spilt milk.

They indulged in Monday morning quarterbacking and fret over the changes that might have occurred if they had acted differently in the yesterdays.

That is usually ineffective worrying. It does little good and often great harm. So learn to worry about problems which you at least have a good chance to solve in the future.

Ask God to help you. Worry your level best until the deadline. But when the curfew sounds, then drop that particular worry. Shrug your shoulders and imitate King David.

"I've done the best I can," you can reassure yourself. "So if I don't win out, then maybe it isn't God's will."

That policy enables you to marshall your mental resources before a crisis, yet lets you rest and relax afterwards. So lay your worries down when they are outmoded.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Upper Michigan Will Get Huge Iron Ore Operation

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Wheeling Steel Corp. has announced it is making its first venture into iron ore concentration with other companies on the Marquette range of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

* * *

President John L. Neudoerfer said Wheeling Steel is joining with other steel companies and Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., in low-grade iron ore benefication project on the Marquette range. Beneficiation involves concentration of ore to prepare it for smelting.

Wheeling Steel will own 10 per cent of the Marquette Iron Mining Co., a firm organized by Cleveland-Cliffs to own and operate the project. Marquette has leases on the Republic Mine near the village of Republic and the Empire Mine at Palmer. They are about 38 and 14 miles, respectively, southwest of Marquette.

Wheeling Steel said open pit mining methods will be used and crushing, grinding and concentrating plants will be located at each mine. A plant now being built by Marquette Iron Mining Co. at Eagle Mills, Mich., will do pelletizing for both mines.

* * *

Each mine is estimated to be capable of an eventual annual output of 1½ million tons of concentrates. However, the pelletizing plant is to be built in units of a half million tons annual capacity, with the first unit scheduled to go into production later this year.

Other half-million-ton units are scheduled to be added in 1958, 1961 and 1964, which would bring the total capacity to two million tons a year.

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor, John Sturm Jr., 39, of Durand was fined $100 and assessed $25 costs by Springfield Justice Emmett J. Leib Tuesday.

Two Stand Mute Upon Arraignment

Two 23-year-old men arrested in the breaking Feb. 20 of a Royal Oak restaurant stood mute at arraignment Tuesday before Justice Fletcher L. Renton.

Pleas of innocent were entered for Jack Hunter, Royal Oak and Carl Coldwell, Highland Park. They were returned to Oakland County Jail under $5,000 bond each pending arraignment in Circuit Court Monday.

Police charged the pair with stealing $5 from a cigar box.

2 Vodka-Heavy Soviet Soldiers 'Desert' to West

BERLIN (AP) — Two carousing Russian soldiers "deserted" with a vodka bottle to Allied-occupied West Berlin last night.

* * *

West Berlin police gave this account:

The Russians veered into the French sector of the city, pounded on the door of a police station and demanded that the cop on duty have a drink with them.

He did, but as soon as the Russians went into the station house bathroom he alerted his superiors, who called French military police.

* * *

The French took the Soviets into custody and tried to take them back to East Berlin. The soldiers refused to go, so the French gave them a chance to sleep it off.

Soviet authorities, meanwhile, noticed two of their men were missing and inquired about them at the East-West border. Told the French had the pair in custody, the Russians withdrew.

Later, after sleeping off hangovers, the soldiers went peacefully back to the Soviet sector.

During Museum Week in Austria this year, 150 museums will have special exhibits.

Meany and NAM Official Confer on Labor Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two men, spokesmen for organized labor and industry, arranged a friendly luncheon meeting today to see whether they can negotiate a labor-management peace plan for the nation.

The meeting brings together George Meany, 61-year-old former Bronx plumber now president of the newly combined AFL-CIO and Charles R. Sligh Jr., 49-year-old former water ski champion, now chairman of the executive committee of the National Assn of Manufacturers.

Their aim was to discuss how labor and management generally can bury the hatchet, work together, and resolve peaceably whatever difficulties they may have.

Both apparently approached their peacemaker roles with good will. They said they had no advance reservations and that there is plenty of room for mutual accord.

A still deep-rooted antagonism in many quarters between boss and worker however kept slim the odds in favor of their accomplishing any lasting or binding agreement.

Arranging the meeting took a bit of doing. Meany initiated the project after successfully maneuvering a merger of his AFL with the rival CIO. That also had been considered virtually an impossibility.

Sligh accepted Meany's proposal that they get together to see what they could work out, but it took two months for them to arrange a mutually acceptable time and place.

A number of prior attempts to arrange labor-management peace agreements have foundered. The latest major effort was one called by then President Truman after World War II. The meeting was a flop and was followed quickly by the worst series of strikes in American history.

However, during the 1942-45 era top union and management leaders quietly held regular secret dinner sessions in Washington and managed to iron out many production problems at a time when their common aim was to win the war.

School Psychologist to Attend Conference

Paul W. Sullivan, Pontiac schools' psychologist, will attend a research conference sponsored by the Michigan Society for Mental Health tomorrow at the Military Inn, earborn.

The statewide meeting will be the first of three all-eay sessions being set up to consider problems immediately in need of study in the mental health field.

The group will outline problems, decide which are subject to research and launch a program aimed at solving them.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Tank Rolls on Auto Crushing Woman, 58

COVINA, Calif. (AP)—A 47-ton National Guard Patton tank went out of control and rolled over a station wagon, killing Mrs. Jeanette Hendricks, 58.

Police said the tank crushed her auto and then jumped a curb, rolled across a lawn and crashed into a brick wall. The four-man tank crew were unhurt.

Tank driver Sgt. Gordon Gray, 25, told officers the vehicle was returning to its unit in nearby Baldwin Park after a day of recruiting in Covina. Officers quoted Gray as saying he was moving too close to the curb and when he tried to straighten out the tank controls jammed.

River Project Victory Seen

Colorado Irrigation Bill Going to House; Count Shows Majority Favors

WASHINGTON (INS) — Proponents of the 860 million dollar Upper Colorado River storage project state they believe enough support has been lined up to squeeze the controversial measure through to victory.

The bill comes before the House next week.

A nose count of house Democrats showed, according to majority whip Carl Albert (D-Okla) that those favoring the bill within his party make up "a good clear majority."

Albert conceded, however, that many Democratic votes still are doubtful.

A less official survey by Republicans showed more GOP congressmen favoring the measure than opposing it. But, Rep. William Dawson (R-Utah), said the balance could be shifted by votes now listed in the "probable" category.

Both Albert and Dawson said they believe the bill, which will provide an extensive irrigation and power network in the Rocky Mountain area, probably will be approved. Neither was willing to make a flat prediction on the final outcome.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said the measure will move to the floor of the House sometime next week.

The Senate already has approved an Upper Colorado bill, which includes two storage units knocked out in the house measure. One was the highly controversial Echo Park Dam, which would have flooded a section of the Dinosaur National Monument.

Many Would Be Flunky Pupils in High Schools

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A Texas professor said today the nation's high schools now have thousands of pupils "who would have flunked out of grade school a few years ago."

* * *

This situation is a result of the great increase in the percentage of youngsters attending high schools, said Dr. J. G. Umstattd, and because society "asks us to serve all children and youth from the moron to the genius."

What's more, said Umstattd, professor of secondary education at the University of Texas:

"Momma and Papa American want Johnnie passed each year and sometimes Papa, or even Momma, is on the school board or a friend of the board president; so Johnnie is passed. . ."

* * *

In a prepared talk on the final day of the annual convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators, Umstattd said educators believe the youngster will get more by passing than if he "became retarded and hopeless."

"The only American solution is to adjust the (secondary school) program to Johnnie's ability," he added.

Too Close to Home

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police huddled in closed session yesterday, hatching plans to stop a wave of burglaries. While they were conferring, someone took $40 in change and several packs of cigarettes from a vending machine in another part of police headquarters.

Sees Dad Crack Up

LUDLOW, Ky. (AP) — Anthony Eades stopped his car when he saw another automobile fail to make a turn and hit a utility pole. He found his 62-year-old father, Thomas W. Eades, dead inside the wrecked car, his body pinned against the steering wheel.

New York Dad Claims Beaten Boy Is Not His

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — The identity of a savagely beaten little boy found abandoned here remained a mystery today after apparent collapse of a theory that he might be a 3-year-old boy kidnaped from a New York City suburb.

The father of Steve Damman, kidnaped four months ago, said last night the boy found here is not his missing son.

Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, head of Nassau County, N. Y., detectives, said today he is "in a great deal of doubt" that the boy found whimpering outside a service station here before dawn Monday is the Damman child.

Pinnell told a newsman that on the basis of present information from here and from the Damman child's father he has no intention of sending any detective here for a further check.

After examining a police photo of the boy, A.1.C. Jerry Damman at his home in East Meadow, N.Y. said, "It is not our child."

He said the unknown child had certain similarities to Steven, who vanished from in front of a supermarket in East Meadow Oct. 31, 1955, but that the child did not appear to be his. He said the boy found had only three teeth, while his son had 22. There were other discrepancies, he said.

* * *

The child found here was taken to Tucumcari General Hospital. There, officers said, they found his nose recently had been broken and badly set, he was covered with bruises from a severe beating around the head and bore a still-unhealed burn on his right palm.

Asked where he got a scar on his arm, he told nurses, "Daddy hit me." But he was still incoherent and didn't know his name. He is to be placed in a foster home in Tucumcari sometime today. Hospital authorities said he is from 3 to 5 years old.

Nears 4th Year of Complete Coma

Youth, 20, Continues 'Living Death'

By IRVING ISRAEL
Written for The AP

DEMING, N. M. (AP) — Jimmy Smith, 20, is nearing the end of his fourth year of "living death."

Once a strapping high school student, he has been in a complete coma since March 30, 1952.

• • •

On that day he suffered a severe brain injury in an auto accident. Except for reflex automatic movements, he has not moved his head, legs or arms since.

Doctors here say he is now in one of the longest complete comas in history.

• • •

His case is also considered one of the strangest. Other people have been in long comas, but their functions have been maintained on higher levels. They can often see or move.

All Jimmy's thoughts and actions have been erased. He is fed water and nourishment just like a plant.

Brain specialists throughout the nation have not been able to offer any hope or suggestion for a cure. No doctor knows how long he can go on.

• • •

The Jimmy Smith story began here when his car turned over on him.

He was taken to the hospital practically dead. For more than 48 hours it was a question whether he would live.

Surgeons found the cerebral cortex shattered, with the brain stem automatically sustaining life.

He is in "excellent health" despite his paralysis, and feels none of the emotions of pleasure, anger or hunger.

• • •

Once an angular, blond youth of 16 at 20 he's a baby-faced brunette with the appearance of a 10-year-old.

Milk is the main part of his diet. In addition, he is fed baby meats, baby vegetables, soft drinks, beer and water.

"Our greatest problem is his temperature control," his doctor says. At first his temperature soared to 107. Now it hovers between 97 and 102. Nurses control it with warm blankets or cool fans, depending on its variations.

He suffers no mental pains. Jabbing him with a medical needle only results in basic reflex actions as commonly seen in experimental animals that have had their brains severed.

• • •

To Jimmy's mother, he is now "just like a baby again."

She feels that everything possible in medical science has been done for him. If he recovers, she says, it would be a "miracle."

It was only a few weeks ago that Jimmy's mother agreed to have him moved to the hospital. For more than 3½ years, she and three special nurses cared for him at the Ben Smith home.

She had crowded everything else out of her life and kept a constant vigil on him. She is still not reconciled to the hospital change. She visits the hospital at all hours of the day and night to see him.

The first hydroelectric plant in the Middle West was built in Grand Rapids in 1881.

Tries to Reopen Study of Mines

Solon Hoffman Fails to Get Lawmaker Group to Act on Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) tried unsuccessfully yesterday to get a Senate-House committee to reopen its study of the Al Sarena Mines case and subpoena Columnist Drew Pearson and Robert Redwine, committee counsel.

Rep. Chudoff (D-Pa), presiding, ruled Hoffman's proposal out of order. Hoffman appealed this but was defeated 8-4 on a roll call vote in which seven proxies were cast against Hoffman's motion.

The joint group had met to hear testimony by Agriculture and Interior Department officials on government timber policies, but the session was highlighted by Hoffman's request and his tilt with Chudoff.

"By his published statements which were widely published in certain sections of the country," said Hoffman, "Drew Pearson asserted that he had knowledge that the President of the country had attempted to influence the decision of the secretary of the Interior in the decision to grant the Al Sarena patents.

"Drew Pearson also published a statement that his information of the above was obtained from a member of the staff of this committee, Robert Redwine."

Al Sarena Mines, Inc., in 1954 got title to 15 timbered mining claims in the Rouge River National Forest in Oregon. Because of the timber, Democrats have called the grants a "give away." Pearson wrote a column saying President Eisenhower in a note to Secretary of the Interior McKay indicated an interest in the case. He since has written an apology, saying he can not prove his assertion.

Principle Is High, Principal Is Low

It Costs Her Plenty to Inspire Youngsters

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Children love to collect things — stamps, box tops, match folders, money, scalps — things like that.

Children are also hero worshippers. They admire Phil Silvers, Dizzy Gillespie, Willie Mays, Sheree North, people like that.

"What youngsters need is something lasting to collect, and someone inspirational to worship. We, all of us, need inspiration, but children require more than adults.

"Their imaginations are free and open, waiting to be caught by an ideal."

* * *

The speaker is Miss Felicity Buranelli, a sweet-faced woman who concedes that Sheree North is a good deal in the movies, but not necessarily ideal for youngsters to worship and collect pictures of. Nor does she entirely approve of Dizzy Gillespie and match folders.

"Have you ever thought," she inquired, "of starting the children collecting bronze medals picturing heroes of true integrity and achievement?"

Miss Buranelli thought of this idea many years ago, because she loves children; and she now has a neat little medal-making business at which she loses only a few hundred dollars a year.

It is called the "Medal-of-the-Month Club," and is probably the only "of-the-month" idea that is operated single-handedly and consistently runs at a deficit.

"But I don't mind," says Miss B., "because I believe in it. When the business gets too expensive, I do other chores to make up the money." She throws off a saintly smile that would turn Molly Goldberg green with envy. "Besides, someday it may even catch on."

It was in 1937 that the gentle Felicity first dreamed up the idea to commission famous sculptors to make plaques of men of achievement, which could be reproduced in 1¼-inch medallions for American children to collect.

The first was a plaque of the Wright brothers, and she followed with other aviation leaders: Capt. Edwin Musick, Amelia Earhart, Capt. Frank Hawks, Glenn Curtiss.

FOR EVERY CHILD

She tried to hold the price down so "every child in the country who wanted one could have one," but the lowest she could go — without going into personal bankruptcy — was $3.50 a medal.

There was no money to advertise, of course, so Miss Buranelli wrote letters. She received wholehearted support from famed educators, and many civic clubs and schools bought up her medals to award to outstanding students.

But as she points out, "It isn't easy to sell culture."

Miss Buranelli comes from a small town in Texas and never collected anything, not even an "add-a-pearl" necklace, because there was nothing available. "That's why when I came to New York and discovered sculpture it sort of went to my head.

"I realized then that children can be fed and clothed and housed but it's not enough. They need inspiration, from people and from beauty."

Felicity tried to give them worthwhile idols and small samples of fine art at the same time, and is still dedicating her life to it. But as one of her devoted admirers summed it up:

"The principle is high, but the principal is very low indeed."

Although Hitler had to wear glasses to read ordinary print, he refused to wear them in public.

Bob Considine Says:

Dr. White Doesn't Let Age Slow Him Down

NEW YORK (INS) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, aged 73, lives at a pace which would dismay most people of his age who are worried about their hearts. This slim, kindly, animated, three-button suit New Englander would not share the concern of these worry-warts.

• • •

"I've got a friend in Boston who is 105 years old," young Dr. White was telling us at Molly and Charlie Berns' heart fund party at "21" the other day. "He's not my patient, he's my friend," Dr. White continued, sipping his Planter's Punch through a straw.

"I asked him recently what he attributed his long life and robust health to and he answered, 'Nervous indigestion.' How do you like that? I think he's right, at least about the nerves. Nerves never gave anybody heart trouble unless the person involved let the nerves affect him or her mentally."

Dr. White is nerveless. He had addressed a breakfast group in Boston, then flown to New York where he spoke at luncheon to the Commerce and Industry Association, at which he suggested that the main causes of heart attacks were lack of exercise and over-rich diets.

• • •

Some young friends of his in the 60's suggested that he take a two or three-hour nap after luncheon in view of the fact that he had to face a lot of people at the "21" party.

Instead, he dictated replies to letters for three hours in the office of the manager of the University Club, where he had made his luncheon talk.

STANDS FOR HOUR

At "21" the lively heart specialist who has been raising money for the heart found stood for an hour meeting people, finally sat down at a small table.

• • •

But he was up and down like a metronome is back and forth as newcomers to the party were brought to his table to be introduced. In between ups and downs he managed to answer a few questions. And to say things like:

"A thousand years ago they knew more about health than disease. Today we know more about disease than health. Sure it's all right for the President to play golf. That's what he has been doing for a long time, and it has kept him in fine shape."

"Personally, I shoveled snow for three hours last Sunday in Boston. Good exercise. I've always shoveled snow. Why stop now?

"The letters I answered today? Well, they were about the usual. Lot of pople have written to me since I came on the case, offering prayers, suggesting that they pray in the next room while I'm attending to the President, volunteering to massage him and so forth.

"A lady in Sao Paulo said give him holley and iron. I've gotten a lot of mail from astrologists and people like that, saying don't do this or don't do that on a certain day of the month.

CALLED A HOAX

"And a small percentage of the letters say that the whole thing is a hoax, that the President was never sick in the first place and that we're all a part of a big fake.

• • •

"But most of the letters have been kind. People start them with 'I know you're doing all you can, but here's my idea . . .' And they often give you a diet or what he should eat."

Dr. White, who is, among other things, president of the International Society of Cardiologists, never had such publicity in his life as he is now getting. We asked him how he felt about it.

"I look down from way up there where the publicity has put me and I ask, 'Who's that insignificant little fellow named White down there?' " he laughed. "Actually, it has been a strain. I wake up sometimes at night. But it has been interesting, and the patient is a wonderful man.

"I don't know whether you know it or not but I have a solid gold stethoscope which I don't use very often. Not many people know I have it.

"One day, right after the attack, when he was still under the oxygen tent, I shouted through the cellophane that I was going to take a stethoscope reading on him. He instantly shouted back, 'With the gold one, I presume.' How do you like that?"

Dr. White presented Ike with a golf ball with his, Dr. White's name stenciled on it. The President plans to frame it, he said. Dr. White has no immediate plans of returning to the White House to check up on his famed patient. Instead, he's going back to the Pacific to try to take a cardiogram of a whale — by means of shooting harpoons into one, here and there, with electrified lines reaching back to recording instruments.

Somebody at the party finally asked him the 64 trillion dollar question: "Will he run again?"

Dr. White never even blinked. "Anybody with a recovery like that can go right ahead working," he said.

The keeping of "secret" school record cards, not available to parents, was attacked in Belfast, Northern Ireland, by Alderman Mrs. H. F. Wilson.

Coyotes Like Farmers Suffer From Drought

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Kansas' protracted drought is proving a bane not only for the Wheat State's farmers, but also for the farmers' foes, the coyotes.

H. T. Gier, Kansas State College zoologist, reports the state's coyote population has dropped from 70,000 to less than 40,000 in the past five year. Gier says dry summers have reduced cover, thereby making coyotes more vulnerable to hunters.

New Device Cushions Rail Car Couplers' Jolt

SAN FRANCISCO—A device to cushion the impact of coupling freight cars is being tested here by a railroad.

The device includes a friction brake put into motion by a hydraulic mechanism and a car-length still that "floats" inside the car underframe.

Couplers are attached to the sills and when they join each other the shock of the bump by the sill to the friction brake, which softens the shock in direct proportion to the force of impact.

Clutch Keeps Tail Wheel Lined With Plane Rudder

BELOIT, Wis.—A company in Beloit is producing an electric clutch device that it says keeps movements of aircraft tail wheels synchronized with rudders in mud or snow on unimproved airstrips.

In mud or snow, the tail wheel often gets clogged and becomes out of phase with the rudder, throwing the craft off course.

The new clutch employs a driver motor to keep the wheel and rudder synchronized.

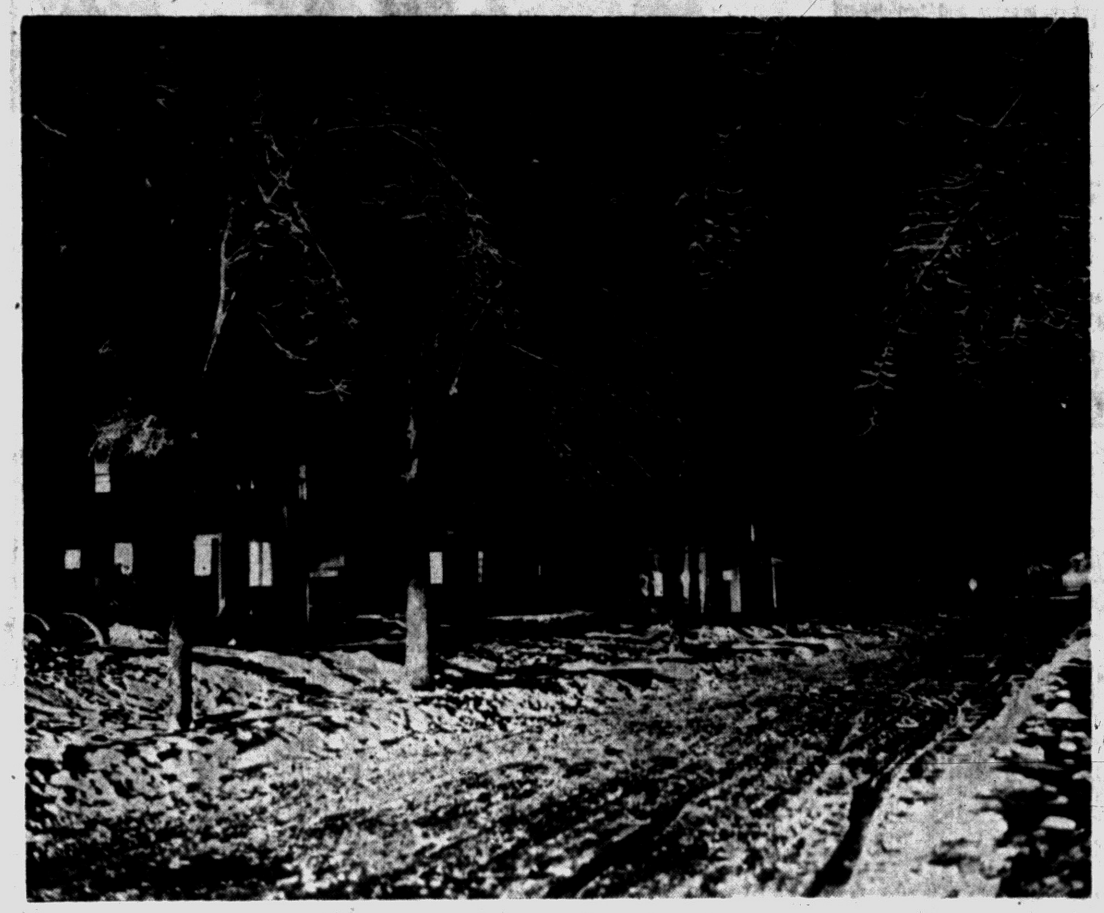
Two Win Awards for Typical American Scenes



'LIGHTS BURN BRIGHT' — A typical residential street scene at night brought Cornelius E. Westveer of Pleasant Ridge his fourth Freedoms Foundation award. Entitled "Lights Burn Bright in American Homes," the photograph was adjudged among the most outstanding of thousands submitted for the seventh annual awards. Westveer is a photographic supervisor for the Detroit Edison Co.

REPEAT WINNERS — Cornelius E. Westveer (left) of Pleasant Ridge, and Edward T. Smith of Farmington discuss their prize-winning photographs behind the bronze medals awarded them by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. The two were among 923 individuals, organizations and schools honored by the foundation for outstanding presentation of the American Way of life.

Area Residents Receive Medals

National Group Selects Photographs in Annual Valley Forge Event

The artistry and imagination of two Oakland County men has won for them national honor and awards in the seventh annual Freedoms Foundation Awards Program.

The men, Edward T. Smith, 39, of 24399 Springbrook Dr., Farmington, and Cornelius E. Westveer, 42, of 63 Amherst Rd., Pleasant Ridge, took second place awards for accomplishments in 1955 "to maintain the American Way of Life."

The Pleasant Ridge man is being honored for the fourth time by the foundation for his photography depicting "the American way."

Westveer receives a bronze medal and $50 for the photograph "Lights Burn Bright in American Homes," in the contest.

A photographer-supervisor for the Detroit Edison Co., Westveer sent his first entry to the world-wide photographic contest sponsored by Popular Mechanics Magazine in 1952, for which he won $1,000 in cash.

A third-time winner in the Foundation's contest, Smith took second place, a medal and $50 in cash, this time for the photo of his small son Frank, entitled, "Keep It Always, Son."

In 1954 Smith won a George Washington honor medal for a picture story submitted in the name of the City of Farmington, winning his second honor medal in his own name in 1955.

Married and the father of two children, Kathie, 9, and Frank, 4½, Smith is employed in the photographic department of the Detroit Edison Co., where he started as a clerk 16 years ago.

He has won prizes for his work from photographic magazines and has taken several awards offered by his company for outstanding work. In 1951 he won a contest sponsored by the City of Detroit.

Located at Valley Forge, the Foundation's object is to honor citizens, "regardless of race, creed, or economic status for their outstanding efforts to improve public understanding and appreciation of our basic constitutional rights and freedoms inherent in the American Way of Life through things they write, do or say."

Deadline Looms for Auto Plates

Expect 13,000 to Flock to Area Office Within Next Six Days

Local drivers will cause a traffic jam trying to get 1956 license plates before the Feb. 29 deadline.

During six sales days left, an estimated 13,000 customers will pack the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Secretary of State's office at 53-55 N. Parke St.

Plates may be purchased weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., said manager Willis M. Brewer, and this Saturday from noon to 5 p. m. The office will be closed Sunday but will remain open Feb. 29 "as long as we've got a customer," he announced.

Brewer figured some 33,277 plates have been sold so far, but he expects the total to reach last year's figure of 55,000.

About 1,300 plates were sold Monday and 1,150 yesterday, he said, leaving an average 2,160 sales to be made daily before March 1.

'KEEP IT ALWAYS, SON' — Edward T. Smith's photograph of his son sleeping won its creator a second-place award from the Freedom Foundation for excellence in portraying a facet of the American Way of Life. The medal accompanying the prize was the third Smith has received. The Detroit Edison employe is a resident of Farmington.

Cooking No Longer Strictly Feminine Art

Boys Enter Mom's Domain

By WILMA GREENWAY

Some of the rugged young members of Pontiac Boys' Club are deserting the gym, the game room, the woodworking and machine shop in favor of an exciting new art.

They're learning to cook.

"This even beats basketball," said one of 85 chefs-in-the-making, stuffing half a muffin into his mouth and following it up with a substantial section of chocolate fudge. "Men mouuk th' best cooks, ouuunooway!"

The cooking classes, started as an experiment by the Mothers Club unit of the Boys Club, made an unexpected hit. Boys jammed the first session, and Mothers Club members Mrs. Paul Carry, who teaches the course, had to close the door on a tide of eager applicants.

More classes were quickly set up. Currently there are 14 groups, six to a class, that have now progressed three weeks in the six-week course. Sessions, held 1½ hours once a week, give the boys instruction in cooking utensils and their use, meal planning and preparation of food.

The young chefs start out making hot beverages, progress to muffins and fudge, then to cake baking, and on to the grand climax of roasting a chicken.

There's one big difference between boy and girl cooks, Club Director William Coulacos says.

"Boys devour what they've cooked as quickly as possible, regardless of how it turns out. Girls invariably take the stuff home to show their parents, I've heard."

While the boys are progressing well in their new art, Coulacos himself is faced with a problem.

"I'm getting fat," he said ruefully.

"Every day I have to taste what the boys make. Muffins and fudge—fudge and muffins! Now we're on cake, and next comes chicken!

"And then I have to keep on the good side of my wife, too. She doesn't like it if she cooks a fine meal, and I'm not hungry."

Cooking represents just one of the activities that the 1,740 members of Pontiac Boys Club enjoy daily. The club, located at 530 E. Pike St., offers woodworking, arts and crafts, painting, physical and recreational activities, photography, printihg and a number of other activities for boys between the ages of 7 and 19. Dues are $1 a year, and the club is supported by the Pontiac United Fund and private donations.

"We encourage any activity which lends itself to the development of a boy's natural desire to learn skills and be creative," Coulacos said.

Law enforcement officers, too, have pronounced the club a "tremendous asset" in Pontiac's fight against juvenile delinquency.

Williams 45 Today; Flies to Conference

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams, 45 years old today, had to celebrate his birthday on the run.

The governor was scheduled to get up at 5:30 a.m. to catch a National Guard plane that was to fly him to a meeting of the executive committee of the annual governor's conference at Chandler, Ariz. Friday.

"I was able to steal a little time from Washington's birthday to spend with my family last night," Williams said.

The governor said the executive committee conference was to include discussions of highway and education bills now before Congress, proposals to cover the extent of state control of atomic energy and planning for the agenda of the annual governor's conference at Atlantic City, N. J.

Taxes Bothering You? Then Pity the Poor Assessors

By GEORGE TRUMBULL

Pontiac taxpayers shudder when they hear the word "assessment."

Webster defines "assessment" as "to set a value on, to appraise, specifically so as to make a valuation or official estimate on property for the purpose of taxation."

This job of appraising in Pontiac on each of the 32,000 pieces of real estate is done yearly by City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom and his assistant Edward C. Bloe.

To arrive at the total tax spread or property valuation of the city, they must appraise each year all real estate and personal property.

State law directs Ransom to use his own judgment as to the amount or cash value of real or personal property assessable to any person or corporation.

A standard form enables the assessor to arrive at three basic factors that determine the assessed value of a home. They are: the complete building details of the house; the cost of building the home and its selling price; and the land value based on its location and public improvements available.

"Our judgment is faulty sometimes and we make mistakes," Ransom said. "But we constantly strive to treat the homes all alike so as to get a similar value for similar properties."

After an initial assessment for property is set, this land and home must be studied each year to determine what adjustments must be made. Beginning around September, the pair make these adjustments to get the total valuation of the city which is then presented to the Board of Tax Review.

In assessing, a classification is determined first. Is it a ranch style home, a bungalow, an apartment, an office building, hotel, store, or factory?

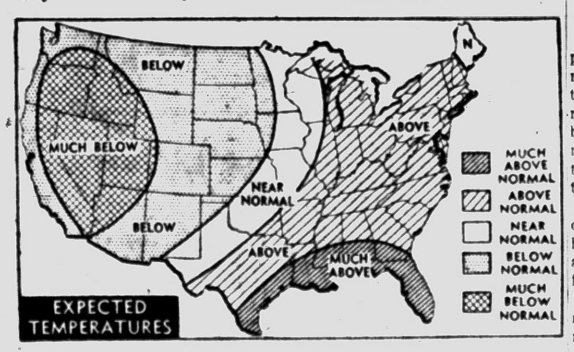
The following analysis determines the foundation, type of basement if there is one, construction, exterior walls, type of roof and roofing material, floor type and material, interior finish, lighting, plumbing, heating, tiling and miscellaneous.

The building permit estimate and talks with the builder determine the cost of the home while its selling price is often determined from listings in newspapers. What the newer homes include often comes from these ads, Ransom added.

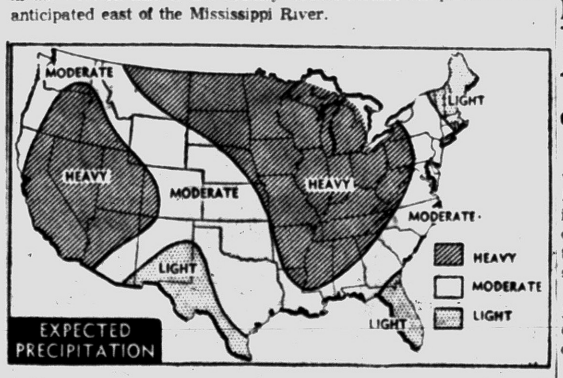
He uses cubic foot measurements in the building appraisal over the alterior method of square footage.

Land value is estimated as to the condition of the lot, whether it is level, low, high, rocky, or swampy, and to the amount of acreage. It also varies according to what zoning is employed in the area where the property is situated.

The facilities made available by the city such as type of street paving, presence of sidewalks, curb and gutter, sanitary, storm or combined sewers, and the availability of gas and electricity go towards figuring the improvements that affect assessments.



TEMPERATURES until mid-March will average below normal in the western half of the country. Above-normal temperatures are anticipated east of the Mississippi River.



PRECIPITATION until mid-March is expected to be subnormal in New England, the South Atlantic states and the Southern Plains. Above-normal amounts are expected in the rest of the country.

Missent Mail on Increase

Postmaster Issues Appeal as Dead Letter Pile Rises

Greater care in addressing mail was urged this week by Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr. in the face of a growing volume of missent letters caused by mistakes and poor handwritihg by senders.

The appeal was issued in conjunction with a current national campaign to make mailers aware of the need for legibility.

Much of the trouble, Dean said, is due to duplication and similarity of the names of destinations. "For example there are four cities in the United States with the name of Pontiac," he said.

Abbreviations for states sometimes create difficulties when writing is poor, Dean pointed out. Examples of "look alikes" are Mass., Miss., Minn., and Mich.

"These problems," Dean states, "explain graphically why more than 20 million letters and a half-million parcels are declared 'dead' each year, representing a loss of money amounting to about $100,000."

Use $100 Million Yearly for Grocery Research

NEW YORK—America's grocery manufacturers are spending about $100,000,000 a year on product and market research to bring the homemaker new and better groceries.

About one third of today's grocery-department sales are items that did not exist 10 years ago or were there only in token quantities.

A Fishy Story

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Detective Joe Garcia caught an 8-pound redfish in downtown San Antonio. Suspicious about the conduct of a man who hurried into a cafe with the fish under his arm, Garcia checked with a nearby fish and poultry market. Sure enough, they were short a fish, and Garcia got his man—and fish.

NARY A CRACK — Christmas tree ornaments — the most fragile of commodities to haul — are examined in Miami, Fla., by GM and trucking executives following a trip from Detroit aboard a GMC truck equipped with air ride suspension. The ornaments had previously come from Germany with 5 per cent breakage en route. Not a single one was broken in the Detroit-Miami trip. Left to right, examining the ornaments, are J. D. Atkinson, of Pontiac's GMC Truck & Coach Div.; A. C. Luck, R. W. Anderson and James A. Ryder of the Ryder Truck Rental System; and E. R. Siddal, of the Overseas Transportation Co.

Armed Syrians Fire on Israeli

Incident Breaks Calm as Fishermen Attacked on Sea of Galilee

JERUSALEM (AP) — Syrian riflemen opened fire on Israeli fishermen on the Sea of Galilee early today—breaking 10 weeks of calm in the area, an Israeli spokesman reported.

• • •

The announcement said the fishermen cut their nets, returned the fire and made off without casualties.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U. N. truce supervision organization, continued his efforts to implement the Security Council decisions of Jan. 19 in order to reduce tension between Syria and Israel.

During this week's meetings some progress was reported made concerning the planned exchange of Israel and Syrian war prisoners. Each side presented a list of prisoners and the lists are being studies, it was understood.

Israeli troops raided Syrian posts on the northeastern bank of the Sea of Galilee Dec. 11. By U. N. count, 56 Syrians and 6 Israelis were killed in the raid. Israel claimed Syrian shelling of Israeli fishing boats and a police boat on the lake was the reason for that action.

• • •

Ex-Mayor, 87, Dies

MIDLAND (AP)—Dr. LaFayette Swanton, 87, mayor of Traverse City for two terms while a surgeon on the state hospital staff there, died Wednesday at his home in Edenville in northern Midland County. Dr. Swanton retired from practice five years ago and returned to Edenville.

RECRUITING WEAPON — One glimpse at this live Air Force recruiting poster makes it hard to resist joining up. She's shapely Claire Weeks, posing as a mannequin in a Van Nuys, Calif., store window during a week-long "Salute to the Air Force." In her right hand she holds a pilot's helmet, and in her left hand she holds a model Air Force jet.

Japanese Volcano Erupts Thirty Times

TOKYO (AP) — Mt. Sakurajima, Japan's second largest volcano, erupted more than 30 times yesterday and early today, Kyodo news service reported.

• • •

The eruptions came at about 30-minute intervals and sent tons of lava and yellowish-tinted gases spewing into the air. No one was reported injured and nearby villages escaped damage.

• • •

Sakurajima, 3,668 feet high, is on the southern tip of Kyushu, southernmost main Japanese island.

The Buerau of Public Roads estimates that motor-vehicle travel in the United States during 1955 increased 4.6 per cent over 1954.

Quads to Give Birthday Party to Class of 3

LEITCHFIELD, Ky. (AP) —The Lashley quadruplets will take a little longer for lunch today.

It's their 15th birthday, and the youngsters are treating their eighth-grade classmates to an ice cream party.

• • •

But the hosts will outnumber the guests. There are only seven pupils in the class — the Lashleys and three non-Lashleys.

The quads, Martine, Beulah, Mildred and John, sit one behind the other in a room which also houses the fifth, sixth and seventh grades of the Catholic school here.

Martine and Beulah, who like English best of all, say they want to "be private secretaries, just like Ann Sothern." She is the star of their favorite television show. Mildred is thinking about a singing career.

• • •

As for John, he wants to be a farmer, "following in the footsteps of my dad. But there must be some time left for coon hunting."

John gets up at 6 a.m. each morning to feed the cows on the family's 131-acre farm near here. His father Porter helps but is handicapped by an old leg injury.

The quads are displaying a growing interest in the opposite sex. And that's grounds for a real quadrangle.

• • •

Martine, Mildred and Beulah all have an eye on the same boy.

The boy's sister has her eye on John.

Lake Skipper Dies

Ethyl Plant Output Reduced by Strike

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The giant Ethyl Corp. Plant, a pioneer in Baton Rouge's growing industry, geared production down to a trickle as 2,300 union members went on strike today.

Fringe benefits and job classification were the center of the dispute between the company and local 12,900 of the United Mine Workers. Wages seemed to be a minor issue. Negotiators were only pennies apart on an hourly wage hike when the contract expired at midnight and the strike began.

Both union and company officials said they were ready to discuss the situation, but neither side indicated if or when negotiations would be resumed.

During its first six months of operation over 14,000 guests stayed at the New Istanbul Hilton Hotel in Turkey. Of these over 8,000 were Americans.

Grace Kelly Has Stock in Eastern Racetrack

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I checked a fascinating rumor that Grace Kelly owns $1,000,000 worth of Atlantic City racetrack stock which she'll sell before the wedding. Actually, her father, president of the track, originally bought $125,000 worth of stock, now worth may be $800,000; Grace and brothers and sisters each have a small slice which they're not selling. Lucky Prince—to land Grace, a beauty and a star. All that and rich, too!

1956 Mortgage Factors Easing

Official Predicts Good Building Year; Dims Credit Inflation Danger

CHICAGO (AP)—The president of the Mortgage Bankers Assn. of America said today mortgage money conditions are easing and predicted a good building year.

Lindell Pearson of Chicago, in a prepared address, told the association's midwestern mortgage conference:

"What we may have in the making is a year in which housebuilding activity is patterned a good deal along the lines of 1954—a slow start and a strong finish."

He said some decline is to be expected from 1955, during which more than 1,300,000 private building units were started, but he added: "It will relieve the pressure on the materials supply and materials prices. It will relieve any remaining danger of credit inflation."

Pearson said "a change in taking place" in the mortgage market. "The worst of the congestion that characterized the market last fall appears to be over. There is plainly less tendency to drop loans in the hands of the discount seekers . . . there is a gratifying increase in the flow of savings in savings associations, mutual savings banks and life insurance companies."

New Soviet 5-Year Plan Shows U. S. Output Lead

WASHINGTON (INS) — Production goals just announced in Moscow for Russia's next five-year plan showed just how far the Soviets are behind the United States in output of luxury consumer goods.

Of the items for which production figures were given, the Soviet Union plans a bigger output than American industry in only one — sewing machines.

However, home use of sewing machines in the U.S. has been declining for years as more and more persons have become able to buy ready-made clothes.

The Soviet production goals for the next five years were outlined by Premier Nikolai Bulganin before the Soviet Communist Party Congress. The sixth Russian five-year plan begins this spring.

Bulganin set the annual production of sewing machines at four million.

But in luxury items, which reflect the standard of living, the U.S. exceeds Russia in production by four fold. Food consumption also is considerably higher per capita in the U.S.

Although the Soviet Union has a population of about 215 million compared to 165 million persons in the U. S., its luxury goods production generally doesn't even come close to this country's output.

* * *

Here are the annual production figures given by Bulganin for various items compared with the 1955 output in the United States:

Shoes: U. S. — 576,973,000 pairs; Russia — 91,000,000 pairs.

Radio and television: U. S. — 7,905,000 TV sets and 7,800,000 radios; Russia — 2-040,000 radio and TV sets.

Bicycles: U.S. — 1,725,000; Russia — 846,000.

Movies: U. S. — 305 feature length films; Russia — 120 feature length.

Appliances: U. S. — 4,025,000 electric refrigerators and 4,387,400 washing machines; Russia — 635,000 electric refrigerators and 528,000 washing machines.

* * *

Food: U. S. — 3,355,000 tons of sugar, 54,000,000 tons of meat and 69,000,000 tons of butter; Russia — 6,000,000 tons of sugar, 4,000,000 tons of meat and 25,000,000 tons of butter.

French Aircraft Designer Unveils Supersonic Plane

PARIS (AP)—French aircraft designer Marcel Dassault has partially unveiled an experimental light jet fighter with booster rockets to give it tremendous bursts of supersonic speed.

* * *

The new delta-wing craft is still on the secret list. But Dassault said it could speed 1½ times the speed of sound — or more than 1,100 miles an hour — and operate from almost all kinds of airfields.

It weighs only five tons

The U. S. Air Force has a heavy fighter, the McDonnell F101 Voodoo, which informed sources say has flown faster than 1,100 miles an hour at least once, and has exceeded 1,050 miles an hour perhaps a half dozen times.

822 M.P.H. IS RECORD

The only official world supersonic speed record is the 822 miles an hour set last Aug. 20 by U. S. Air Force Col. Horace A. Hanes in a North American F100C Super-Sabre.

The French plane is called the "Mirage," a company spokesman said, because "it will be almost impossible for enemy planes to catch it."

* * *

Only prototypes have been constructed so far. The craft is still in the experimental stages.

It weighs only half as much as conventional interceptors, the spokesman said, and because of low pressure tires can operate from fields that would wreck other jets. Its sleek lines, small size and low weight make it easily transportable on the ground, he added.

The plane is powered by turbo-reactors in normal flight but can cut in a rocket propulsion system to increase its speed sharply.

Stevens Heads Group Buying Big Building

CLEVELAND (AP)—Roger L. Stevens, Ann Arbor-Detroit investment banker, heads a syndicate which has taken over ownership of Cleveland's 52-story Terminal Tower, tallest skyscraper outside of New York City. The sale price was in excess of 12 million dollars.

* * *

Stevens' local group is known as the Cleveland Terminal Properties Co. Sixty Trust of Boston, a pension trust of Textron American Co., had controlled the property previously through the Terminal Tower Co.

* * *

The sale price indicated on the deed was $5,309,000, but the new company assumes mortgages and bonds to bring the total price to more than 12 million.

* * *

Stevens and his associates at various times have owned the Empire State Building in New York, the Penobscot Building in Detroit and other huge properties.

MSU Fraternity on Probation

Hazing Stunt Results in $100 Fine, 1 Year Warning to Group

EAST LANSING (AP) — Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at Michigan State University was placed on one year's probation and fined $100 Tuesday night for leaving a Muskegon freshman stranded on a lonely country road as part of a hazing stunt.

• • •

The action was taken by the MSU Inter-Fraternity Council.

The council protested, however, that the report on the incident by the Ingham County Sheriff's office was inaccurate.

The report to Dean of Students Tom King said that Gordon E. Huttenga, the pledge, was left bound and blindfolded and that he suffered from exposure.

The council was told that the student was not bound or blindfolded when he was released near Stockbridge on Feb. 10 and that he was well clothed against 12 degree weather.

"Hazing is definitely contrary to the modern and progressive concept of fraternities," said George Snyder, Grand Rapids senior and council president.

• • •

The MSU action was taken after a Massachusetts college youth drowned while trying to find his way back to his campus following a similar hazing stunt.

The population of the United States is increasing rapidly enough to produce another city the size of Madison, Wis. every 10 days.

Berserk Woman Saved by the Hair of Her Head

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A man grabbed his wife by her hair as she slipped over a 300-foot cliff today and held on for five minutes until police arrived to help pull her to safety.

The husband told the officers the 35-year-old woman, yelling hysterically, dashed from their home and tried to jump over the cliff at the entrance to Sydney Harbor.

A lunacy court ordered the woman held for observation. Police withheld names.

Peruvian Troops Set to Attack on Rebels

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Government troops were reported poised today at an unnamed Amazon River port within striking distance of the rebel-held city of Iquitos.

Sources close to President Manuel Odria said a military airlift has been massing troops and supplies at the port.

Units of the Army's 2nd Division led by Brig. Gen. Marcial Merino rebelled a week ago and seized Iquitos, 1,200 miles northwest of Lima.

A number of American citizens who had asked to be evacuated from Iquitos arrived here yesterday aboard a U. S. Air Force plane.

• • •

The government had clamped a naval blockade on Iquitos in an attempt to starve the rebels out. Government spokesmen said the first shots in the revolt were fired yesterday when air force reconnaissance planes flew over the area and "were met with rifle and automatic weapons fire." No damage was reported.

India has 4,700 daily passenger trains.

Fort Wayne Newspaper Columnist

The boy had taken his father's automatic pistol without permission and, while playing with it, accidentally killed a 9-year-old girl. Residents were grief stricken, most of all the boy.

MILNOR

He was 13, old enough to realize the extent of the catastrophe. He had committed a crime — a reckless act, for which there is seldom forgiveness.

The boy had taken the pistol and joined several children playing in the barn behind his home. He chose a target on the opposite wall and emptied the pistol's clip into it. Teasingly, he decided to frighten the smaller girls who had watched him. He whirled on young Marie Mills—and fired.

Two hours later she died in a Fort Wayne Hospital. The boy had forgotten the one shell still in the chamber.

HAUNTING FEAR

In the past, he had often eyed the pistol and he had been admonished to let it alone. Now his disobedience would haunt him forever.

The boy had dreaded returning to classes, the censure and accusations of his friends. Therefore, he was stunned when, early one morning, he saw Marie's mother and brother stop at his house to drive him to school.

Arriving, the boy went to his classroom. The Rev. Mr. Mills, Marie's brother, went to the school principal. In a few moments, the student body was summoned to the gymnasium.

"You all know the details," the clergyman said. "There's no need to go into them further. All we can hope is that my sister's death will be a lesson to all of us to be careful in the future, whatever we're doing. I have asked you here," he continued, "to tell you that my mother and the rest of our family have forgiven this boy for what happened. And we have asked God to forgive him, too.

"Furthermore, we want all of you to forgive him, and I ask you never to discuss this incident, either with him or among yourselves. His deed was not intentional, and anyone of us could have been guilty of it."

The minister waited, then spoke the boy's name and asked him to come forward. The youngster stood hesitantly. All eyes were upon him. His face was pale. Nervously, he wet his lips. When he stepped into the aisle, his gaze went straight forward to the clergyman. Everyone present must have walked with him as he slowly moved to the platform.

When the youngster reached his side, the Reverend Mills warmly put his arm around the boy's shoulders.

"Last night," the minister said, "my family and this boy's family gathered together for Holy Communion. We prayed that God would put charity and understanding in our hearts, so that we might love this boy during this most lonely and desperate hour of his life. Our prayer has been answered. I ask all of you to join me now in the same prayer."

His arm still around the boy, the minister whispered a plea for Divine Guidance for the students, as it had been granted to him.

Then the students rose and silently filed from the room. The young faces were solemn with an understanding of this majestic experience where they had learned what it meant to forgive.

Morelock was supporting the admiral when a rescue boat picked them up.

Farm Prices Row Goes to Senate

Flexible Versus Rigid Supports Bill Receives Debate in Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The battle over flexible vs. rigid farm price supports shifted from committee rooms to the Senate floor today.

* * *

Sen. Ellender (D-La) called for a return to higher supports levels as the only means to "put more dollars into the farmers' pockets without delay." But even as he opened debate on the election year farm bill late yesterday, an amendment was offered to continue the present flexible scale.

Voting on this and other controversial provisions of the measure will not start before next week at the earliest.

Ellender pleaded for a final vote early next week, saying passage by both the Senate and the House should be completed by March 15 "if this bill is to do any good at all during the 1956 crop year."

But Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said in an interview, "We'll be lucky to get a final (Senate) vote by next Thursday or Friday."

* * *

Ellender is chairman and Aiken the senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, which by an 8-7 vote included a return to high, rigid price supports on basic crops in an omnibus farm bill which also would establish a soil bank and acreage reserve system of crop reduction asked by President Eisenhower.

Kefauver Campaigns for Alabama Support

CULLMAN, Ala. (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination, made a bid for Alabama support last night in this rural area of north Alabama.

He addressed a Chamber of Commerce banquet in Cullman, the home town of Gov. James E. Folsom.

Many of the state's leaders supported Kefauver for the Democratic nomination four years ago, when he received 9½ of Alabama's 22 convention votes.

Most of last night's address was aimed at the administration's farm policy, but he also was critical of other public service programs.

Job Seekers Can Do Well by Settling in Small Cities

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—During these cold winter months, I get many letters asking where to locate to get an easy living. Frankly, I do not know of any such locations.

* * *

Every one of our 48 states and 3 territories has its advantages and disadvantages. The South is very attractive during the winter season; but its summers do not encourage ambition and progress. The Pacific Coast has a wonderful climate; but is becoming overpopulated by job seekers. New England leads in educational facilities; but it is handicapped by high-cost power and by its distance from both raw materials and markets.

The Central West appears to be the surest place to make a living; but it holds few speculative opportunities,—not so many as does the Southwest, such as Texas. Two hardy young people with self-control could probably save money easiest in Alaska; while Washington, D.C. would be the most difficult place to lay up savings. Unfortunately, the saying "easy come—easy go" applies to every part of our great country.

I advise young people not to settle in our biggest cities. This advice applies especially to large seaboard cities such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Los Angeles, and even San Francisco. Because of the automobile and the trek to the suburbs, these cities are going through changes which are difficult to forecast. Frankly, I believe young people make a mistake in settling therein.

Very few companies are now building new factories in these large seaport cities; instead, many of them are building new factories in interior cities. The most desired locations are in centers with a population of less than 75,000, and even in cities and towns of 10,000 or less. All the above makes me bullish on the small cities and towns of our country. They will get new industries and larger populations, and will enjoy lower living costs. They have all the advantages of the big city, with none of the disadvantages.

There are about 14,000 wild mountain goats in the United States.

Boeing Probed by House Group

Committee Looking Into Financial Background of Jet Bomber, B52

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee is studying the financial history of the B52, the Air Force's all-jet intercontinental atomic bomber.

Recalled by the House armed services investigations subcommittee (10 a.m. EST) were officials of the Boeing Airplane Co. manufacturers of the big plane.

The subcommittee is looking into performance and profits of all suppliers of U.S. fighting aircraft.

Boeing controller Clyde Skeen has declined, on security grounds, to say whether production of the B52 could be "doubled or trebled." But he said "it could be stepped up."

Touching briefly on the B52's history since the first drawings in 1947, he said many design changes were made—some because of the advent of the hydrogen bomb. He said the plane "had to be revised to provide the capacity and characteristics to carry it."

EXPENSE DISALLOWED

Skeen testified the Air Force under a regulation made last year, has disallowed as a production expense $3,250,000 for "incentive payments" to 5,282 Boeing officers and supervisory employes. The total included $95,885 to be distributed among 12 top officers.

Company spokesmen said the payments would be made; the matter to be negotiated is whether they will come out of expenses or company profits. All but a small fraction of Boeing's work is done for the government.

Boeing president William M. Allen testified his company spent 16 milloin dollars of its own money to develop the KC135 jet transport-tanker, now beginning to be supplied in quantity to the Air Force.

Boeing went ahead when Air Force development money was not available, Allen said, because it felt "it was time some American manufacturer . . . got a jet transport off of paper and into the air."

* * *

Testimony on company finances included an estimate that it is using more than 150 million dollars worth of government plant in addition to $53,125,662 of its own.

Skeen said the government still is paying for more facilities, but that the trend is toward encouraging contractors to provide their own.

Austria has selected 19 athletes thus far to take part in Melbourne's Olympic Games.

TIME OUT FROM MISFORTUNE — Youngsters gaily play on huge blocks of drift ice on the short of the Elbe River at Hamburg, Germany. The happy scene contrasts sharply with the critical situation as Europe is engulfed in its worst cold wave of the century. Death toll has neared 700. And after the cold, it is feared, thaw will produce floods as ice-choked rivers begin to back up.

Beaten Kidnaper Carried $2 Bill as Good Luck Piece

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Eugene C. Hurst, 28, had less than $4 in his pockets when he abducted a pretty housewife in a plot to ransom her, Dist. Atty. Wesley C. Kettelkamp said today.

Of two bills in his possession, one was a $2 bill which he apparently kept as a good luck piece, Kettelkamp said.

Three hours after the husky Grand Junction, Colo., gunman kidnaped Mrs. Nancy Jackson, 27, Tuesday night, he was captured and beaten by the woman's husband and two other men on a prairie 27 miles west of here. Hurst also was wounded in the leg by a wild shot during the melee. He remained under armed guard at St. Mary's Hospital today.

$300 IN DEBT

The district attorney said no charges had been filed.

"We are still gathering statements and evidence to compile in form for filing of a kidnaping charge, probably later this afternoon or Friday," Kettelkamp said.

He said Police Chief Roy Harper obtained a signed confession from Hurst yesterday.

"Hurst realized he'd made a very foolish mistake," Kettelkamp said. "He evidenced confusion, but was quite talkative and volunteered information quite freely."

The district attorney described the dark-haired Hurst, married and the father of two sons, as "fairly intelligent, with an unusual command of English."

"All in all," said Kettelkamp, he seemed like a pretty decent chap.

Kettelkamp said Hurst told him he lost his job as surveyor for a Grand Junction mining firm on Jan. 14, and the weekend of Feb. 4 drove his wife and children to Colorado Springs, where Mrs. Hurst's parents live.

In debt for $300 on his automobile, Hurst drove here late Tuesday and made fruitless attempts to collect debts from unnamed friends and to borrow money.

Then, said Kettelkamp, he drove past the home of Robert A. Jackson, 28-year-old owner of an automobile agency and a former classmate at Pueblo Centennial High School. The district attorney said Hurst apparently decided then to try to get money from Jackson.

Penguins in Action

WASHINGTON — Ten thousand penguins inhabit South Georgia Island, 1,200 miles east of Cape Horn.

In strange family life, mothers and fathers take turns balancing an egg on the insteps, covering it with a feathered flap. Unmated king penguins steal eggs and brood them, the National Geographic Society says.

Russia Orders U.S. Products

Agriculture Equipment, Seeds Asked by Reds, States Newspaper

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said Wednesday that orders for $1,500,000 worth of farm machinery and equipment and for $1,700,000 worth of hybrid seed corn have been placed in this country by the Soviet Union in the past two months.

A Washington dispatch to the Times said part of the farm machinery is slated for shipment to Romania, according to trade sources, but the bulk of the machinery and all the seed corn are destined for use by the Soviet Union.

The story noted that neither the corn nor the farm equipment is on the list of items embargoed for export from this country to Eastern Europe.

It added that licenses for $500,000 worth of machinery and for $250,000 worth of the seed corn already have been issued by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce of the Department of Commerce. Applications for the rest were said to be under processing at the bureau. The orders were said to be a direct result of the American tour made last summer by a delegation of Soviet agricultural specialists.

Displays in Red China Vetoed by Jap Heads

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government today rejected a plan of Japanese businessmen to display strategic goods at trade fairs in Communist China.

The International Trade Promotion Assn. was told it could not show, at fairs in Peiping and Shanghai, items which the free world embargo prohibits shipping to the Chinese Reds.

Press reports said government officials decided to continue working for gradual relaxation of the embargo rather than risk irritating U.S. backers of the trade ban.

The Magician

Did you ever see a magician perform his mystifying tricks? With a twist of the wrist he can make a number of steel rings form a chain without opening any of them. He can cover a flower pot with a cloth, whisk it off and display a fine plant in full bloom.

His best, and most famous, trick is pulling a live rabbit from an empty high silk hat.

You can do these tricks, too, if you follow instructions. Color the picture with crayons and paste down on cereal box cardboard.

Cut out the parts carefully. Fold the left end back and bring the table flap forward. Then the picture will stand up. If you set it up on the back edge of a table you can stand behind and make magic.

Cut the dotted slit in the hat and insert the rabbit, drawing it down almost out of sight. Bend the tip of the bottom tab so the rabbit won't drop out.

When you push the tab upward, up comes the little rabbit!

Spanking of Pupils OK'd by Detroit PTA Leaders

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit School Superintendent Arthur Dondineau's policy of allowing teachers to spank unruly pupils has the approval of top leaders of the Detroit Parent-Teacher Assn.

But the question is to be submitted to a membership meeting March 6 of the Detroit PTA Council.

The council's executive board Tuesday adopted a resolution in support of spanking. At the same time, the council recommended that steps be taken to relieve overcrowded classrooms and tensions which might make discipline by force necessary.

The spanking policy was opposed in a resolution offered by David Wineman, vice president of the PTA at the Hally School.

Mrs. A. R. Vanderberg, council president, said both Wineman's and the executive board's resolutions will be submitted to the council membership meeting.

"Although individually PTA members may be against the use of physical force on a child," Mrs. Vanderberg said, "many realize that the teacher's problems of discipline differ from those of a parent.

"Other measures may be used in dealing with one or two children in the home, but teachers with classes of 40 or more pupils need a stronger means of keeping order in the classroom."

Educator Gives Talk at Lincoln

Junior High PTA Names Officers for Coming Year

A talk by Dr. Guy Hill of Michigan State University and the announcement of new officers were the highlights of the Tuesday evening meeting of the Lincoln Junior High School PTA.

* * *

"The big things in school life are not just the three R's. They are means to an end and are only the tools for good citizenship." This was the opening remark of Dr. Hill's talk on "Curriculum Building."

"Parents," he continued, "should be concerned that from the student's classroom experiences better individuals are molded as children attain maturity. Teachers, on the other hand, should be especially interested in encouraging among pupils the ability to think."

In concluding, Dr. Hill suggested categories that report cards could possibly come to incorporate. Among these were a student's work habits, measurement of values, personality traits and self-discipline. For such things, standard letter grades often prove inadequate, he noted.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Morris Cucksey, president; Mrs. Cyril Davis, vice president; R. C. Lake, father vice president; Mrs. Ralph Main, secretary, and John Buchanan, treasurer.

Eighth grade receptions were announced for March 13 and 17.

Winners in the recent membership campaign are the homerooms of Mrs. Theodore Wiersema, Lucille Abder and Mrs. Ronald Mountain. The result of the campaign is a total of current enrollment of 532 in the PTA.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Charles Sanft, Mrs. Orrin Huntoon Jr., Mrs. Robert O'Connor, Mrs. Ross Walls and Mrs. Phillip Rowston.

In conducting the clinic, Mr. Kohler enlisted the help of five members. One member was asked to view a picture and report the basic facts observed to a second member.

After each had heard an interpretation of the findings, the last version was compared with the original story, to demonstrate how facts are changed to suit tellers' environment and conditioning.

* * *

The speaker told how facts unimportant to a story teller are deleted, and how the accuracy of a story depends on the number of people repeating it.

Four questions to remember in repeating a story, according to the speaker, are: How reliable is the person telling the story? How long ago did it take place? When was it heard? If it appears to be true, is it worth repeating?

Boys Seldom Deliberately 'Lead Girls On'

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Does he really love me, or is he leading me on? How can I tell?"

As though the average teenage boy had imagination and lenergy enough to entertain ulterior motives! As though boys with malice in their hearts delighted in twisting girls' noses!

Boys are as sensitive as girls are. They have feelings that are easily hurt. They have their pride, too—and their big and little vanities.

They want people (mostly girls) to like them. They're open and sincere. They're generous to the limit of their abilities. They don't intentionally play mean tricks on girls they like.

Just what is this "leading me on" business, anyhow? Is it attracting you by being utterly charming, considerate, thoughtful? Is it being fascinating so that you respond to his wit, his good humor, his sparkle?

Is it being captivating by telling you how sweet and how pretty and how adorable you are? And is all this bewitchment just to beckon you to the edge of the cliff where you'll be only too happy to jump off?

ALL THAT TROUBLE

Frankly, I don't think boys go to all that trouble just to hurt a girl.

* * *

A boy will be sweet to a girl because he wants to be. He wants her to like him. He'll be gay, sparkling company because he wants her to enjoy being with him. He'll tell her the pretty things she wants to hear because he really thinks them and he knows it will give her pleasure.

He'll call her up often because he wants to touch base with her, he wants to hear her voice. And he'll see her as often as he can to satisfy his longing to be with her.

He'll do all these things because he's fond of the girl. He wants her to be fond of him. It's terribly important to him — this "being in love" with a pretty girl.

* * *

The hurt comes in the changeability of some boys—in their apparent fickleness. When the engaging appeal the girl held loses its excitement. When he stops coming around, stops calling, doesn't bother to speak any more.

GIRL WONDERS

Then the girl begins to wonder—"was he just leading me on, after all?"

* * *

I still say no, he couldn't be bothered. He was in it up to his ears while it lasted.

He was perfectly sincere while the attraction was riding him hard. He meant every word he said while he was feeling as he did.

And he's probably sorry he can't go on feeling the same way. But that's the way he is. Not malicious. Just growing up.

Receptionist Criticized for Question

It's Proper to Ask Stranger Why He Is Calling

By EMILY POST

A young woman writes me: "My friend and I are both switchboard operators and receptionists and we have a difference of opinion on a certain matter which we would like you to settle for us.

"When someone comes into the office and asks to see my employer I always ask, 'What would you like to see him about?' My friend thinks that this is very impertinent on my part as it isn't any of my business what he wants to see my employer about."

Answer: To ask this question of someone who comes into the office regularly would be very impertinent. But to a stranger coming into the office and asking to see Mr. Jones, it is entirely correct to ask this question.

A busy person can't be interrupted by everyone who comes into the office. Someone must take the responsibility of deciding whom he must see, whom he might want to see and whom he hasn't time to see.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is giving a tea for a friend who is soon to be a bride. Should the two mothers be invited, and if so, should they be given any special recognition, such as being asked to sit at the tea table and pour? Or perhaps, if not this, would you suggest that they be asked to receive with my daughter and the guest of honor?"

Answer: They are invited but not given any more recognition than is given any of your other guests.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's wife is quite seriously ill in the hospital. I would like very much to send her some flowers if you don't think I will give an impression of forwardness."

Answer: Unless you have been in his employ for only a very short time, it would be entirely proper to send his wife a few flowers or a plant with your wish for a speedy recovery.

Kitchen in Limelight

The trend in kitchens today is to the all-purpose room, including kitchen-dining area with sewing-laundry unit all planned in good taste for comfortable family living. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. reports that with bigger families and no-servant houses, it is imperative that the kitchen be the "heart" of the home.

Learn How to Write Job Resume

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Many times we are asked to present a resume—a sheet giving detailed information about our background and experience.

* * *

This can happen when we're applying for a new job, or when we want the right kind of volunteer work, or when we're being considered for a better job in our own company, or, fresh out of school, when we're looking for our first job.

Because this resume presents problems, and people ask a lot of questions about it, I'd like to give a summary of pointers.

1. Begin your resume with your name, address and telephone number. If you are in a job, give both your daytime office number and your home number.

* * *

2. Next, indicate the kind of job you want. Put "Position Wanted: Secretary in an advertising agency," or "Salesgirl in a dress shop" or whatever.

DON'T BE VAGUE

If you don't know what kind of job you want, don't do a resume and don't apply for a job. A vague "Here's what I've done but I don't know what I want" approach will get you nowhere. Figure out what you want, and aim your resume at it.

* * *

3. Name the companies where you have worked, beginning with the job you now have. Most employers-to-be are ethical, and will not check on your references until they've interviewed you and asked your permission.

It may seem safer not to name the companies but just to put "Large corporation in the oil field," or whatnot, but it makes your whole resume seem made up.

In short, if you are so frightened that you don't want to name the places where you have worked, better not do a resume in the first place.

* * *

4. Under the name of the company, indicate the dates you were there and the kind of work you did. Select for this such duties as will be of interest to an employer who has the kind of job for which you're applying.

Don't put down everything you ever did; just those duties which add up to the job you're going after.

PERSONAL DATA

5. End up with Personal Data, which should include age, education and any hobbies or volunteer work which are relavent to the job.

* * *

6. Don't put in salary, since that would depend on what the job was like and what opportunity it offered. Also, you might put it so low, or so high, that you are disqualified before they meet you.

Again, don't add references until after you've met the prospective employer, since that is like telling too much about yourself in advance.

You have to keep a nice balance between being too "cagey" and too lacking in reserve.

* * *

7. Don't worry about how long you make the resume. Some people insist on just one page, but if it is clear, easy to read and makes sense, it can be as long as you feel is necessary.

Book Review:

An Exciting Tale of High Adventure

(Editor's Note: Accompanying this review of Nila, was a personal note from the reviewer to the publisher. It gives such an informal spontaneous and glowing account of the book we are deviating from normal channels and running the note, too):

(Harold: I spent a delightful Sunday afternoon reading this book. It really is terrific. I think I shall buy one for my own little library. Here is the review I wrote, as short as I could make it and do justice to the book at all. Thank you for letting me do it—Gemma).

By GEMMA STRIFFLER

If there was no place to go, Nila would get right up and go there. And who is Nila?

Nila is the Russian girl-heroine in Willie Snow Ethridge's book "Nila," just published by Simon and Schuster.

Mrs. Ethridge, a popular lecturer, writer of magazine articles and seven other books, is the wife of Mark Ethridge, distinguished publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal, and Times.

Wisely she chose to tell the story of her friend Nila Magidoff in Nila's own fractured, delightful English.

In this book, the reader finds pathos and tragedy buried deep, but with humor and philosophy running rampant over the surface.

Again, who is Nila? Nila was a Russian Oppositionist (against Stalin). She was arrested and exiled to Northern Siberia, which, incidentally, she loved because it "brings you such a stillness in your soul." It took her and 125 "man" (men) many, many weeks to walk to Tabury and she thanked God she had such big feet.

As a child, she had begged, and had made and sold fabric shoes (just like in Vogue Magazine now, she says). But life polished her eventually by "coincidence with people."

After being freed from Tabury, she married an American correspondent for AP and NBC, Robert Magidoff, working in Moscow. During the time Russia and the U.S. were friends and working together during the war, her energy, her verve, her talent, her honesty, bring her to America where she lectures and sells war bonds.

One incident in her Moscow life with Robert: He brings her an electric pop-up toaster and she throws a "pumping bread" party. What a gadget!

In America, where she presently lives in New Hampshire, she gave and gave of herself in her lectures. Her voice . . . it was a big voice . . . it was "going all places." She so exhausted herself that her back became a "hard nut of tense."

And when she felt she had made a real friend, she observes "I do believe when you do the efforts yourself to receive your friends, that makes the times to remember." Also: "To make friends, you must eat a lot of salt and bread together."

And how Nila exulted over being able to ask people, here, there, everywhere, Are you a Republican or a Democrat? This was a two-party country! Such a freedom!

When she spoke, she liked people who listened with "double attention."

To read the book 'Nila' is about six hours of high adventure . . . adventure taking one into concentration camps, prisons and finally seeing one's own country through new, exciting eyes.

Group Entertained by Mrs. Roy Lyn

Mrs. Roy Lyn of Shaker street was hostess to the Community Homemakers Club Tuesday evening. Mrs. Walter Edwards assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Paul Hagen and Mrs. William Armstrong gave the lesson on landscape planning. Mrs. Edwards will entertain at the next meeting in her home on Athens street.

Baby Needs It

Although, because it is so quiet and constant, you probably never give it a second thought, your automatic water heater is important to your baby's health and well-being. Latest study of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. indicates that the average family of four requires 50 gallons of hot water a day. Does your equipment meet this need?

Keeping the weekly wash white is a major laundry problem. In addition to plenty of hot water, plus the correct washing compounds, the gas clothes dryer and other equipment, there is another little-thought-of factor. Spotlessly clean sorting centers of tile that may be wiped immaculate in seconds.

Mrs. George Cram Hostess to Group

The January-March Group of First Presbyterian Church met Tuesday with Mrs. George Cram on Miami road for luncheon. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Chester Sloan and Mrs. M. A. Benson Jr.

Mrs. W. J. Baumgartner used the Third Book of the Ephesians for the devotions. The missionary study was given by Mrs. William Thomas on the "American Indian."

The group will meet with Mrs. T. C. McFetridge in March.

Laundries All Over

The living-room type of kitchen found in most of the new homes today, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn., also features a laundry area containing the washer and gas clothes dryer, depending upon the space and budget. Surveys show that homemakers prefer a main floor laundry and in older homes the owners are converting back porches, pantries and even breakfast rooms to laundries.

Chapter AW Meets With Mrs. Miller

Chapter AW of PEO Sisterhood met with Mrs. Elna Miller of Canterbury drive Monday evening.

The program, "Government in PEO," was carried out by Mrs. Joseph Bara, who read the Michigan Chapter bylaws, and by Mrs. John L. Wilson, who conducted a constitutional quiz.

The group will meet with Mrs. John L. Little of Franklin road March 5.

Rinse, Rinse, Rinse

Spare the rinse and you may spoil the wash. It is very important to make sure that your water is at the proper temperature for washing. The first rinse should be just as hot as the washing water. Why? Because cooler water is said to harden the soap, thus causing it to cling to the fibers which makes them yellow and weak prematurely.

Don't put bookshelves near radiators or bright sunlight—heat and light will fade book covers, and sometimes warp bindings.

Girls Win Homemakers Contest

Three Pontiac area girls have earned the honor of representing their high schools in statewide judging for $1500 and $500 scholarships.

General Mils, sponsor of the Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow contest, announced recenty that Carolyn Hawn of Pontiac High School, Marcia Kramer of St. Michaels High School and Sylvia Clarke of Waterford High School are local winners.

Each demonstrated her homemaking knowledge and attitude by receiving the highest score for her school in a written examination given graduating senior girls in over 10,000 of the nation's high schools. Her test paper will be entered in competition with 361 other Michigan winners to determine the state winner.

In April the state winners will take a trip to Washington, Williamsburg and Philadelphia where the national winner will be selected. She will receive a $5000 college scholarship.

Each of this area's winners has her own special field of interest. Caroyn is interested in the mechanics of keeping house. Since her graduation from high school in January she has been working full time. Next fall will see her in college. She likes sports and reading, but dancing is her favorite leisure time activity.

Marcia who is 17 and a senior at St. Mikes also hopes to go to college. She loves to sew and makes some of her own clothes. When she has time beyond that needed for school and a part-time job, she likes to skate or swim.

Sylvia, the Waterford winner, is also 17 and a graduating senior, come June. She has already made her choice of a college. In September she will enroll in Valparaiso College in Indiana. Her main homemaking interest lies in cooking.

The written test these girls took covered 10 major areas of homemaking—family relationship, spiritual and moral values, child development and care, health and safety, utilization and conservation of human physical resources, money management, recreation, home care, community participation and continuing education.

CAROLYN HAWN — Carolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hawn of Chippewa road, wrote her winning paper for the Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow contest before her recent graduation from Pontiac High School. Carolyn likes the mechanics of homemaking, wields a purposeful dustcloth here.

MARCIA KRAMER — Marcia, daughter of the Frederick Kramers of Long Lake, represents St. Michaels High School in the state contest for Homemakers of Tomorrow. Marcia is a June graduate. She makes a number of her own clothes, as sewing is one of her hobbies.

SYLVIA CLARKE — Sylvia, daughter of the Thurman Clarkes of Gateway drive, loves to cook. She's Waterford High School's winner for the Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow contest.

Follow 6 Tips to Carve Roast

The man of almost every house stands in the spotlight when it comes time to carve a roast. Whether it's guests or just the family, all eyes are on the host.

Reba Staggs, home economist, suggests the hostess give a helping hand while the man in your house is executing the art of carving.

How — quite simple. Just follow these six easy tips.

1. If a large roast is to be served, allow it to stand 20 to 30 minutes before carving. The host will find that it carves more easily.
2. Give the carver plenty of platter room and plenty of elbow room. The platter should be large enough to accommodate slices; if not, an additional warm platter should be furnished.
3. When garnishing the carving platter, don't be over-generous; leave space for the work to be done.
4. Servings cool quickly so plates and platter must be heated.
5. An inexperienced carver will appreciate a hostess who keeps the guests' attention diverted from his carving.
6. The most important preparation for carving is proper cooking of the meat. The roast should be neither over nor underdone.

The Presbyterian Church in the Gold Coast may start a girls' college at Auburi.

To Store Sandwiches

Making sandwiches ahead? Wrap them tightly in waxed paper and then cover them with a damp towel; store in the refrigerator. The sandwiches have a good chance of tasting fresh this way.

Upside-Down Cake Made With Pears

A Pear Upside-Down Cake will win praises for you and it's easy to make. One thing about canned pears—they go with all flavors of cake mixes.

• • •

For a glaze that is ever so good, spread a 9-inch square pan with 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, then sprinkle one-half cup packed brown sugar over bottom of pan. Drain pear halves and place, cut side down, over sugar. Prepare cake batter and pour over pears.

• • •

Bake according to directions on package, about 35 to 40 minutes or until it tests done. Cool for five minutes, then turn out of pan. A garnish of maraschino cherries or a bit of red jelly in the pear centers adds to the attractiveness of Pear Upside-Down Cake.

Use Herbed Butter

Add a little grated onion and a mixture of your favorite herbs to a half cup (one stick) of butter or margarine. Spread the herbed butter over 16 slices of white bread. Toast in the oven, cut in strips and serve at a buffet supper party. Good with sliced turkey and ham.

America's increasing desire for silk is helping Japanese exporters.

Crappies Are Best in the Wintertime

Crappies coming from cold winter waters are at a flavor peak in contrast to the muggy taste which they often have in the summer. Broiling with wine is a very fine way of preparing these tasty beauties. Small ones can be broiled whole, larger ones are best split.

Brush the fish with lemon juice (inside and out in the case of whole fish), season with salt and pepper, and place under the broiler. Baste frequently with sauterne sauce, which is also served with the fish at the table.

To make sauterne sauce, mix one-half cup melted butter, one-fourth cup sauterne wine, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

A little currant jelly leftover? Mix it with salad oil, lemon juice and a dash of salt; use it as a dressing over a salad of romaine and fresh pear.

Bake Pork Butt in Fruit Sauce

One to four pounds of flavorful meat is yours when you buy a boneless smoked shoulder butt. Sometimes called a "cottage roll," the smoked butt is actually a nugget of ham-like meat carved out of the pork shoulder.

Cured and smoked like ham or bacon, the boneless butt is an excellent buy for small families, since it is available in sizes ranging in weight from 1 to 4 pounds.

Simmering is the best method of cooking the smoked shoulder butt, unless the meat is labeled "cooked, ready-to-eat" when you buy it.

To simmer, cover the meat with hot water and add one medium onion, sliced, and a bay leaf. Cover and cook over low heat until meat is fork-tender, about 45 minutes per pound.

Sliced Smoked Pork Butt With Fruit Sauce

12 slices cooked smoked pork butt, ½ inch thick
6 slices canned pineapple
1 cup raisins
1 cup pineapple juice
1 cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Place six slices of meat in shallow baking dish. Arrange pineapple slices over meat and top with remaining cooked smoked pork butt slices.

Simmer raisins in pineapple juice and water 10 minutes. Mix cornstarch with 2 tablespoons cold water, and stir into fruit juice. Continue cooking, stirring, until mixture is thickened and smooth.

Pour sauce over meat and bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve each "sandwich" with sauce spooned over top. Six servings.

SMOKED PORK BUTT—Thick slices of cooked smoked pork butt are sandwiched with pineapple for this luncheon or supper entree. Raisin sauce is baked with the "sandwiches," then spooned over individual servings. Serve with green beans in lemon twists, if you like.

Sweetbreads Supreme Are Gourmet Fare

Sweetbreads have long been regarded as a party fare. They are often creamed with veal or chicken but are equally good when served alone.

Sweetbreads Supreme are highly prized by the epicure and homemakers can profit by his example and use them more frequently in their menus.

Sweetbreads Supreme

1 pound sweetbreads
1 4-ounce can mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
2 cups liquid from mushrooms and milk
Salt and pepper
1 cup cooked or canned peas
8 slices toast

Simmer sweetbreads 20 minutes in 1 quart water to which 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon vinegar have been added.

Drain and detach any membrane. Break into small pieces.

Brown mushrooms in melted liquid and seasonings. Cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Fix Cocktail Sausages for Your Next Party

Tangy cocktail sausages are perfect for your next informal party. A 6-ounce can contains about 25 tiny sausages. Drain and brown them in butter; remove and drain again.

For each can of sausages used, add to the butter one-half cup tomato sauce, one-fourth cup pineapple juice, and a dash of garlic salt. Simmer the sauce about five minutes and place in a warm chafing dish.

Stick toothpicks in the sausages and stand them in the sauce. A basket of little baking powder biscuits or wiener rolls cut in crosswise slices makes a nice accompaniment.

Local Retail Meat Prices Remain at Current Level

Retail meat prices average about the same as last week even though there have been some increases and decreases from the previous week. At current prices, meats are about ten per cent lower than they were last year at this time. According to Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent of Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, there are economical values in pork, beef, and frozen fish again this week.

• • •

Pork cuts offered at very reasonable cost include the loin, Boston Butt, picnic, roll or bulk sausage, and bacon. Shoppers will find about a 12 to 20 cent per pound difference in the rib end of the loin and the leaner loin end. With the leaner pork trim being practised today, consumers will find the pork loin averaging about 66 per cent lean meat compared to the picnic averaging about 61 per cent lean, and the Boston Butt averaging about 84 per cent lean.

There is a good selection of beef cuts at the meat counter, with versatile ground beef always a budget-stretcher. For more flavor, ground round steak at about twice the cost of regular ground beef may be the choice for ground meat steak, meat balls, casseroles, or goulash.

There has been a strong demand for chuck roasts from the front quarter of the beef animal. As a result, some stores will feature steaks this week. For a tempting swiss steak, round steak is priced at about 70 to 85 cents per pound depending upon quality. Short ribs for as little as 30 or 40 cents a pound can be a complete meal when a variety of favorite vegetables are added.

Frozen cod, haddock or perch fillets are available for less than 50 cents a pound in many markets. Since fillets will serve three people per pound, and since there is little or no bone in fillets, this style is one of the best fish choices. Fish sticks, neatly oblong in shape and uniform in size, are almost as much the product of the factory as of the fisherman's net. Consumer acceptance of fish sticks helped raise the per capita use of fish in the U.S. in 1954 from 10.8 to 11.1 pounds per year, according to trade sources.

Only about two-thirds of an ounce of cod, haddock, or ocean perch fillet is hidden beneath the golden brown coating of bread crumbs that covers each stick; one-third to one-half of the net weight is breading and the cooking oil it absorbs. Fish sticks are commonly sold in either 8 ounce or 10 ounce packages. Although this represents a 20 per cent difference in net weight there is little apparent difference in the size of the two packages when displayed side by side in the store's freezer cabinet.

CABBAGE TOPS

Topping the list of vegetable values this week is fresh, crisp green cabbage at about 10 cents per pound. Heavy supplies are being harvested in Texas and Florida this month. Now that citrus fruits are slightly more expensive than they were in January, cabbage will provide the day's need of Vitamin C at little cost.

• • •

One cup of raw cabbage contains about two-thirds of the daily need of Vitamin C. Crisp Waldorf salad made with cabbage and Michigan Delicious apples can be a health treat. Other vegetables most reasonably priced for the salad bowl include carrots, celery, radishes, and lettuce.

Michigan hothouse rhubarb can be found at most fruit counters. About 85 per cent of the hothouse rhubarb grown in the United States comes from Macomb county and the surrounding area.

Rhubarb adds a rosy red color to perk appetites when made into pie, sauce, and other desserts. Michigan's canned tart red cherries are plentiful and offer a real value in most stores. Buy one No. 303 can for a 6-inch pie, or two No. 303 cans for a generous 9-inch pie. The No. 2 can of cherry pie filling will make an 8-inch pie.

• • •

There are plenty of large size high quality eggs to add to Lenten meals. With an evidence of about a 10 cent difference in large and extra large sizes in some stores, the wise shopper will use an Egg Buyer's Guide to decide the best egg value. Free copies of the Egg Buyer's Guide are available at the Cooperative Extension Office, 1260 West Boulevard, Pontiac.

Team Pork, Potatoes

Cook bits of salt pork until crisp and add to a package of frozen whipped potatoes that have been prepared according to package directions. Serve with fish — baked, pan-fried or broiled.

Ground Beef Requires Tight Freezer Wrap

Buy several pounds of ground beef at once, wrap some of it for freezing, and some for refrigerator storage. To store fresh ground beef, wrap the meat loosely in wax paper and keep in refrigerator; use within two days.

Storing it in a freezer requires more careful packaging. Wrap the meat tightly in a moisture-vapor-proof wrap, such as aluminum foil, laminated paper, or any of the special freezer papers. Frozen ground beef can be kept for three or four months in the home freezer.

Tunafish Goes Fancy

Tunafish goes fancy when you put it in a cream sauce thickened with egg yolks and add mushrooms, green pepper and pimiento to it. This way you can call it Tuna a la King!

Someone's Watching You While You Shop for Food

Pssst! Don't look now, but you're being tested. Tested on the things that make you buy more foods, including some things that possibly you didn't plan to buy.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is engaging in a series of tests, in cooperation with food store operators, to learn what methods of displaying and selling result in the most sales of a given kind of food.

One of the things they've learned so far is that more homemakers will buy tomatoes in plastic "tubes" than when the tomatoes are offered in bulk or in cardboard tubes, even if the price for the tubed tomatoes is higher. They learned, too, that there is more spoilage of tomatoes in bulk displays, because of extra handling by shoppers.

More housewives will buy apples if the apples are displayed in cellophane bags than if they're displayed in bulk. And if the customer has a choice of weights, from 2 to 6 pounds, she's more likely to buy appless than if all the packages are the same weight.

Head lettuce is one product where it doesn't seem to make much difference whether the lettuce is packaged or in bulk. One trick that seems to attract more buyers, however, is to offer "two heads for X cents" rather than a price for a single head.

And for some reason or other, when lettuce is displayed with a band around it, it's less attractive to shoppers than when the heads are in plastic bags or completely unwrapped.

Right Off Pantry Shelf

Pantry-shelf special: With a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup, one of boned chicken and one of pimiento, you can make chicken a la king. If there's any celery in the refrigerator, dice some of it and add for crunchy texture.

Potato Surprise Imitates Ribbon

This main dish is truly intriguing, for sandwiched in between the fluffy potato layers is a flavorful meat layer, giving a ribbonlike look when cut and served.

* * *

The potato layers are similar to Duchess potatoes, for mashed potatoes are beaten light and fluffy with eggs. For the meat, either leftover cooked ham, or canned corned beef or luncheon meat serves admirably.

* * *

The meat is ground and seasoned with onion, then mixed with an extra good white sauce — made richly creamy and nutritious with undiluted evaporated milk.

Potato Surprise

1 quart peeled and quartered potatoes
2 cups ground cooked ham, or canned corned beef or luncheon meat
½ cup ground onion
1 tablespoon butter
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup evaporated milk
2 eggs
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Cover and cook potatoes in water to cover until tender, about 25 minutes. Meanwhile, grind meat and onions using coarse blade of food chopper. Melt the 1 tablespoon butter in saucepan. Blend in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring to keep smooth.

Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add meat and onion, and blend well. Drain potatoes and mash. Beat in eggs slowly, and continue beating until potatoes are light.

Spread a layer of about half of the potato mixture in a well buttered baking pan, 8 x 8 x 2 inches. Spread meat mixture evenly over potato. Cover with remaining potato mixture.

Blend crumbs with melted butter; sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (375) until potato is puffy, about 40 minutes. Makes six servings.

Taffytwist Party Sure to Please Boys and Girls

A sure-fire party for boys and girls is a vanilla taffytwist, new turn on the good old taffy pull.

Even 6-year-olds can participate, and since this is a kitchen party, joy can be more or less unconfined. It's a perfect answer to a stormy afternoon, too.

The vanilla taffytwist is an easy way to make striped candy canes, bow ties or just tempting chunks of colored and natural taffy "ropes" twisted together.

Our recipe suggests red or green stripes but with a color kit any combination is possible.

Vanilla Taffytwist

2 cups sugar
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup light corn syrup
2-3 cup water
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon red or green pure food coloring

Combine sugar, cream of tartar, corn syrup and water in a 1 quart saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sugar dissolves.

Continue cooking without stirring to soft-crack stage (280 on candy thermometer) or until small amount of mixture will thread when dropped into cold water. Quickly stir in pure vanilla extract.

Pour half into buttered dinner plate. Into remaining half in pan stir red or green coloring and pour into another buttered plate.

When cool enough to handle, lightly butter hands, pull each taffy batch separately, make into ropes and twist colored rope around white. Wrap finished or cut pieces in wax paper. Makes about 1 pound.

Blue Cheese Adds Zip to Pear Salad

Pear and Cheese Salad

1 package (3 ounces) blue cheese food
¼ cup shaved filberts
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 ripe pears
Salad greens
Salad dressing

Grate cheese; mix with filberts and mayonnaise. Peel pears, cut in half and remove core and stem structure.

Place the pear halves (two for each portion) on salad greens; spoon cheese mixture over core cavities. Serve with salad dressing. Makes four servings.

CHEESE POTATOES — If your menu needs a little sparkle, try Cheese Potatoes. They're a fine way to use leftover potatoes. Crush 1 cup cornflakes into fine crumbs; combine with one-half cup grated American cheese, one-half teaspoon salt and paprika. Cut four boiled potatoes in one-half-inch slices. Place cut side down, close together in heavily greased pan. Brush with one to two tablespoons melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cornflake mixture. Bake at 425 degrees about 15 minutes.

Sea Foods Are Excellent Basis for Lenten Dishes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

As the Lenten recipes have been coming to my desk in the last few weeks, I have thought once again how new food processes have changed our eating habits.

Time was when the only crabmeat, lobster or shrimp we in the Midwest ever saw came out of a can. Any one of these sea foods are now available daily at the fish counter or in the deep-freeze section of the grocery store.

This is a welcome change during the current time when fish is an important article of diet for many people.

Have you ever served a hot salad? It's a change from a creamed dish and supplies the needed warmth on a cold day. This one uses canned crab meat.

Hot Crab Salad

½ bar margarine
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 6½-ounce cans crab meat, boned and flaked
½ cup chopped celery
1-3 cup diced green pepper
1 teaspoon chopped pimiento
¾ cup crushed potato chips

Melt margarine in saucepan, add flour and seasonings and blend. Stir in milk gradually and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly.

Pour lemon juice over crab meat. Add crab meat, celery, green pepper, and pimiento to sauce and heat thoroughly. Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole. Top with crushed potato chips. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

We've given you shrimp recipes by the score. This week, however, we think you're getting a truly unusual one.

As a canape or late-evening snack, pickled shrimp is becoming increasingly popular. It's easy to make and keeps well in the refrigerator. Serve with thin slices of pumpernickel bread.

Pickled Shrimp

1 pound shrimp
1-3 cup wine vinegar
1-3 cup oil
2-3 cup Burgundy wine
2-3 cup water
1 medium onion, cut in pieces
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
2 cloves
1 teaspoon pickling spices
1 clove garlic, cut in half
½ teaspoon salt

You may shell and devein the shrimp either before or after cooking. If you cook it before shelling and deveining, be sure to wash the shrimp thoroughly.

Combine the remaining ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil, simmer for 15 minutes. Add shrimp, let come to boil again and cook for another 5 minutes. Chill shrimp in broth.

If you wish to keep it for a day or so, store it in the broth in the refrigerator. This recipe will make three or four servings.

Oysters are still on display in refrigerated cases. For a Friday dinner you might serve them in the following manner:

Creamed Oysters in Toasted Rolls

2 cups celery, cut small
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 pint oysters
Salt and pepper to taste

Simmer celery in milk until tender. Melt butter, blend with flour, and add to milk; cook with constant stirring until thickened. Blend in oyster liquor; then add drained oysters (from which any bits of shell have been removed) and heat just until the edges begin to curl.

Serve in baskets made by scooping out long baker's rolls and browning in moderate oven. Makes 6 servings.

Fish processing plants are turning out an increasing number of fish sticks. These rate high among "convenient foods." Serve them often if your family likes them. But vary the seasonings and the sauces.

For example, a Lobster Newburg sauce makes two packages of fish sticks into a company meal for six to eight diners. This sauce, incidentally, can be served on toast points or biscuits too.

Lobster Newburg Sauce

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in top part of a double boiler. Remove from heat and blend in 1 tablespoon flour. Gradually add 1 cup light cream and return to heat. Cook, stirring until sauce is thick and smooth, but do not boil. Add 1 5-ounce can lobster meat broken into small pieces. Add salt and cayenne pepper to taste.

To 2 well-beaten egg yolks add a little of the hot sauce, then stir the mixture into the sauce. Cook over boiling water for 3 minutes, stirring well. Add 2 tablespoons dry Sherry (or 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon water). Makes six to eight servings.

Two pounds of short ribs will make four servings. The ribs will have to be braised a couple of hours.

Spiced Canned Pears Are Easy to Prepare

Whether you use them for a salad base or as a meat accompaniment, you will like Spiced Canned Pears. It's so simple to do, yet adds that special touch that you want.

Drain the juice from a No. 2½ can of pears and add to it, one-fourth cup wine vinegar, one stick cinnamon and 8 to 10 whole cloves. Bring liquid to boil and simmer three minutes. Pour hot liquid back over pears and chill in refrigerator.

Ground Beef Dish Cooked in Skillet

Easy main dish using ground beef and cooked in a skillet.

Scrambled Beef

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion (cut in thin strips)
1 medium-sized green pepper (cut in thin strips)
1 pound ground beef chuck
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt, pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1½ teaspoons cider vinegar
Grated cheese

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over low heat. Add onion and green pepper; cook until wilted, stirring occasionally.

Add beef; mash with fork to break up; cook until red color disappears. Add tomato sauce, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and vinegar.

Simmer until flavors are blended and thoroughly hot. Serve over rice or noodles with grated cheese. Makes four servings.

Serve Noodles, Veal

Nice to serve with a veal roast: Egg noodles tossed, after cooking, with poppy seeds, blanched almonds and melted butter. Sprinkle the noodles with paprika before serving.

Spread hamburgers with prepared yellow mustard before boiling.

Brighten Wintertime With Fig Conserve

Fine conserve for winter!

Roslyn's Fig Conserve

1 cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and chopped)
1 cup coarsely broken walnut meats

Wash figs and clip off stems; cut in small pieces. Cover figs with sugar and let stand several hours. Add water, orange peel, cloves and cinnamon.

Simmer until figs are tender. Add raisins and simmer until very thick, stirring often.

Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Georgia, now owned by the Girl Scouts of the United States of America

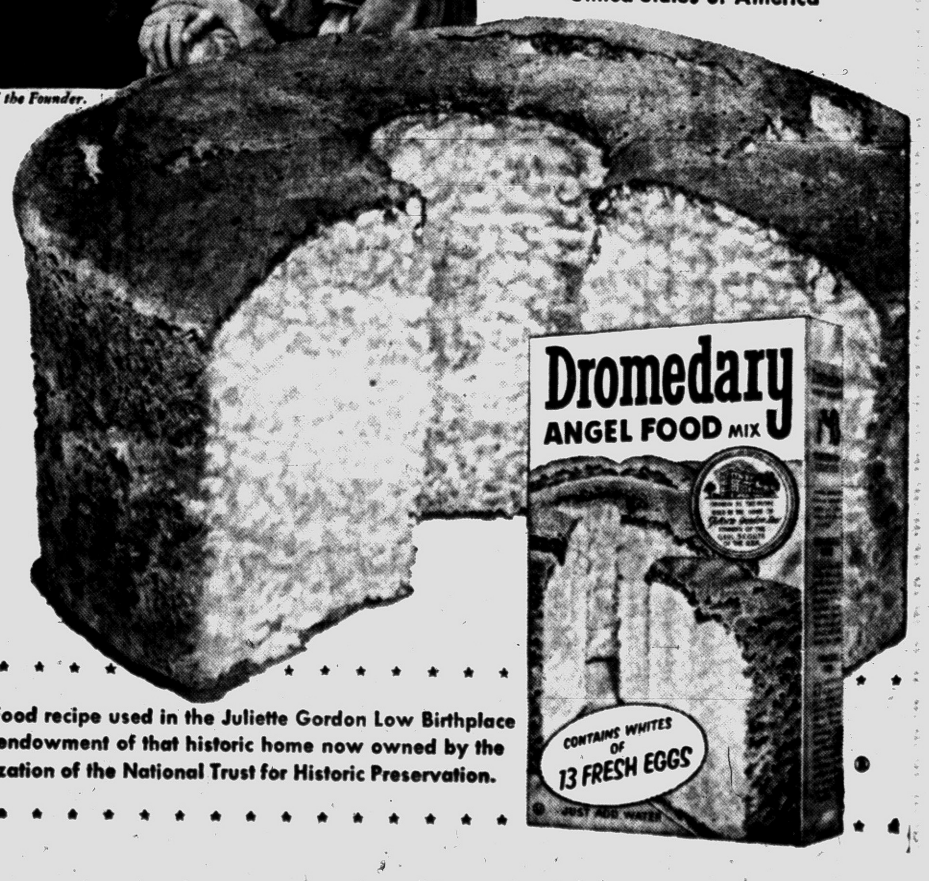
Dromedary turns to a treasured recipe to create its new Angel Food Mix!

Angel Food, indeed! Light as a moonbeam, fluffy as a summer cloud, white and moist as a fresh snowfall—that's the kind of Angel Food Cake you'll bake with Dromedary Angel Food Mix.

As any good cook knows, the secret is in the recipe. In the development of its new Angel Food Mix, Dromedary turned to a favorite recipe used in the Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts. The inspiration for this new mix—a veritable masterpiece of the baking art—was found in an old family cookbook. Result: an Angel Food Cake that always bakes higher and lighter and with a yummy crust and flavor all its own.

Dromedary is the only Angel Food Mix wrapped in Glittering Gold Foil to keep it mixing-bowl fresh.

Once again, Dromedary makes baking history with another treasured recipe. You, too, can make history at your own table if you bake a Dromedary Angel Food Cake—soon!



DROMEDARY received the rights to the Angel Food recipe used in the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace in return for its support of the restoration and endowment of that historic home now owned by the GIRL SCOUTS of the U. S. A., a member organization of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Glaze Highlights Economy Chops

ECONOMY LAMB CHOPS — Don't be misled into thinking all lamb chops are expensive. Shoulder lamb chops are an economical buy and make a delicious meal. The recipe calls for an orange sauce to glaze the meat while it is baking.

To tease your appetite and please your purse, do try Orange-Glazed Lamb Shoulder Chops. Despite their modest cost, lamb chops cut from the shoulder are meaty, tender, full of flavor.

Identified by a blade bone or a round bone, they're usually cut about three-fourths inch thick and are large enough to make a remembered serving.

All too often pan-fried, these chops are different, for they're bathed and glazed in a tantalizing sauce that's a treat for the nose as they cook, and with every bite as good as the fragrance promises.

Orange-Glazed Lamb Chops

4 blade or round bone shoulder lamb chops
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind, if desired
4 teaspoons cornstarch
1½ cups water

Heat butter in heavy frying pan or automatic electric skillet. Add chops and brown slowly on both sides. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Remove chops to a plate.

To the drippings in the skillet, add the parsley, seasonings, orange juice and grated peel, and 1 cup water. Bring to the boiling point. Add remaining water mixed with the cornstarch.

Boil and stir until thick and clear. Return chops to skillet. Cover tightly and cook until fork-tender, about 45 minutes for three-fourths-inch thick chops.

White wine may be used in place of the orange juice or to replace one-half cup of the water.

Interesting Garnish

Bacon curls make an interesting food garnish that may be served hot or cold. To make: Pan fry bacon; before thoroughly cooked, roll each slice around the tines of a fork and stand on end to crisp. Drain before serving.

Because Japanese experts say pink is invisible to fish, a Scot tish trawler is testing a bright pink herring net, Glasgow reports.

Supplies of Meat to Stay Abundant

Meat will continue in abundant supply this year. Demand for meat by consumers should continue strong.

Retail prices are likely to average about the same as in 1955. Lower pork prices will offset slight increases for other meats.

Consumers will eat more pork, but a little less beef and lamb. There will be some decrease in supplies of beef and veal; an increase in pork, and a small decrease in lamb and mutton supplies.

Now's the Best Season to Enjoy Fresh Pear Salads

Fresh pear salads are the piece de resistance for many a luncheon plate, adding the needed freshness for interest and appetite appeal. Anjou pears are available in good supply and are at their very peak of goodness.

Be certain the pears are ripe for salads, then chill them thoroughly for your choice of salad treats during this peak of the season for pears.

• • •

Pear Jackstraw Salad

3 fresh Anjou pears
1 red-skinned apple
1 orange
6 maraschino cherries, halved
Lettuce

Wash, halve and core pears. Slice into eights. Peel orange, slice and cut slices in half. Wash apples, halve, core and slice thinly.

Add cherries, toss fruit together lightly and serve on lettuce cup. A sweet French dressing is nice for this salad. Makes six salads.

Crab Cutlets

3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1 cup milk
1½ cups flaked crab meat
½ cup soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon grated onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Cracker or cereal crumbs
1 egg
1 tablespoon water

Make white sauce of butter, flour and milk. Add remaining ingredients, except egg and crumbs, cook five minutes. Spread on plate to cool; shape in small cutlets. Roll in fine cracker crumbs or crushed cereal crumbs, then in beaten egg mixed with water and again in crumbs. Brown in hot fat. Serve with lemon slice. Serves six.

Golden State Pear Salad

3 fresh Anjou pears
1 grapefruit
12 dried prunes, stewed
1 can tangerine sections
1 pound red grapes
Salad greens
Mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts

Wash, halve and core ripe fresh pears. Place pear half on salad greens. Garnish center with mayonnaise and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Pit chilled prunes and stuff each with a section of tangerine. Place beside pear half on plate. Tuck two grapefruit sections along side of pear half and garnish with cluster of grapes. Serve with Cheese Fondue and Minted Peas.

Pears With Nippy Cranberries

12 fresh Anjou pears
1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
1 tablespoon horseradish
¼ cup mayonnaise
Endive or other salad greens

Select ripe pears. Wash, halve and core them. Fill center of each with one tablespoon mayonnaise. Top with Nippy Cranberries, made as follows: To one pound can whole cranberry sauce, add 1 tablespoon fresh horseradish. Combine well and top mayonnaise-filled pears. Serve on endive. Makes 12 salads.

Buffet Chicken and Limas

1 pound large dry limas
1 (5-pound) fricassee chicken
¼ cup cooking oil
2 teaspoons salt
1 diced onion
1 diced green sweet pepper
1 minced clove garlic
2 cans whole kernel corn
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 cups grated cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Dash cayenne pepper
¾ cup ripe olives

Pour 5 cups boiling water over limas and let soak while cooking chicken. Disjoint chicken, brown lightly. Simmer until tender, about two to three hours. Remove chicken and fat from broth.

To 6 cups boiling broth, slowly stir in drained soaked limas. Cover and simmer one hour. In two tablespoons chicken fat, fry onion, green pepper and garlic until soft. Stir in corn, tomatoes, drained limas and cheese.

Remove chicken from bones in large pieces. Add to mixture with parsley. Season with additional one-half teaspoon salt and cayenne. Cut olives in large pieces and mix lightly.

Heat thoroughly. Serve in large shallow dish. Top with additional ripe olives. Serves about 12.

PEAR LUNCHEON TRIO — Here's a trio of winter pear salads. On the plate to the left we have Pear Jackstraw Salad, Crab Cutlets with lemon slice and Rice Pilaf. At the right there are Golden State Pear Salad, Cheese Fondue with Mushroom Sauce and Minted Peas. The plate at the upper right holds Pears With Nippy Cranberries. Buffet Chicken and Limas and a whole wheat muffin with butter.

Apricot Brandy Sauce Glamorizes Plain Cake

You just pour on the glamour when you serve Brandied Apricot-Topped Cake. Start with an unfrosted 8 or 9-inch cake layer purchased from bakery or food shop.

To make the sauce: Combine 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, three-fourth cup apricot nectar and one-half cup brown sugar in a sauce pan. Bring to a boil over low heat and stir constantly.

Simmer 15 minutes, then blend in one-third cup apricot brandy and one-half cup caramel sauce. Top cake wedges with ice cream and pour brandied apricot sauce over all.

Vanilla Sharpens Flavor of Sweet Foods and Fruit

Many people think of the pure vanilla extract only as a flavor in itself. They do not realize that it can do for sweet-flavored foods what salt does for other foods. It will accent and underline the original flavor.

Used sparingly, as in the recipes which follow, the vanilla flavor is not discernable in itself. The fruits just taste better. It would take a very educated palate to be able to analyze the reason.

Vanilla Apples and Rice Custard

3 cups milk
8-ounce package precooked rice
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
½ cup sliced glace cherries
Vanilla poached apples
¼ cup sliced blanched almonds

Heat milk just to boiling point. Add rice. Mix just enough to moisten. Cover. Remove from heat. Let stand 13 minutes.

Beat salt, eggs and sugar together. Add a little of the hot mixture to the eggs and then stir this into the remaining hot mixture. Cook over very low heat 10 minutes or until thickened, stirring frequently.

Remove from heat and blend in pure vanilla extract. Turn into a buttered 9x5x2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with sliced cherries over which arrange Vanilla Poached Apples.

Baste with 2 tablespoons of syrup in which the apples were cooked. Scatter sliced almonds over the top. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350) for 30 minutes. Serve warm. Yield: Eight servings.

Vanilla Poached Apples

4 large tart, cooking apples
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
½ cup cold water
1 cup sugar
1 cup hot water
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

Peel, quarter and core apples. Dip in a mixture of fresh lemon juice and water to prevent discoloration.

In the meantime, mix the last 4 ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to boiling point. Add quartered apples. Cover. Boil gently until apples are tender when pierced with a fork.

Lift out carefully and arrange over custard.

Yield: Sufficient apples to arrange over the top of a 9x5-inch custard.

Try Salmon Salad in Western Style

Canned salmon and lemon go together like cheese and crackers — and in this salmon salad, the whole lemon is used — the pulp and the juice.

Combine the salmon and lemon with shredded lettuce, celery and chopped olives and a salad is produced that is as refreshing as spring.

Salmon Salad, Western Style

½ pound can salmon
2 cups shredded lettuce
¾ cup chopped celery
¼ cup ripe olives, chopped
1 lemon, pulp and juice
1 hard cooked egg, chopped
French dressing

Drain and break up salmon. Combine with remaining ingredients, tossing lightly with French dressing.

To prepare lemon pulp, peel lemon and cut pulp into small pieces with scissors or sharp knife. Serves four to six.

Scald that metal lunchbox often! Be sure it is outfitted with a wide-mouthed vacuum bottle so you can send along a good supply of nourishing hot foods.

To Avoid Mishaps

To avoid spill-overs: Seal fruit pies to lock in juices. (Cut both crusts 1 inch larger than pan. Fold under and crimp as usual.) Fill casseroles only two-thirds full, to leave boiling room.

Lemon is fine to use on a low-sodium diet because it contains practically no sodium.

Strained Beets Used in Recipes for Grownups

This is a timely reminder to go to the baby foods shelf and use strained beets as a ready-prepared base.

They are smoothly uniform in a colorful, low-calories Ruby Dressing or in molded gelatin.

Lemon Jellied Beets obligingly double as salad or as a tempting companion to meat dishes. Best of all, both recipes are suitable for all age groups.

Lemon Jellied Beets

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup strained beets
¼ teaspoon salt

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add strained beets and salt. Pour into lightly oiled molds or custard cups.

Chill until firm. Makes 1 pint or four to six servings.

Ruby Dressing

¼ cup strained beets
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon sugar

Mix ingredients well. Serve on cottage cheese or any jellied vegetable salad. Makes about one-half cup.

Shirred Eggs, Ham Topped by Cheese

Eggs taste hearty this way!

Shirred Eggs With Ham and Cheese

¼ cup cream
1 cup thin strips cooked ham
8 eggs
½ cup grated cheddar cheese (firmly packed)

Butter four shirred-egg dishes. Pour 1 tablespoon of cream into each. Arrange ham strips over bottom of dishes.

Break two eggs over ham in each dish: Sprinkle with grated cheese — 2 tablespoons for each portion.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes or until as firm as desired. Serve from baking dishes at once. Makes four servings.

Swiss Cheese Flavors Sauce

Cheese adds to the flavor and texture of many tempting sauces. Although most homemakers are more familiar with white sauces that require American or cheddar cheese, there are endless possibilities for distinctive sauces which make use of the wide variety of cheeses available.

This delicious sauce made with Swiss cheese is excellent for hot cooked vegetables or served on toast with crisp bacon.

Swiss Cheese Sauce

3 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1-16 teaspoon ground cayenne pepper
¾ cup finely chopped Swiss cheese
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

Melt margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk. Cook until medium thickness. Add seasonings and Swiss cheese. Mix well and cook over low heat until cheese is almost melted.

Stir in lemon juice. Serve over hot cooked vegetables or on toast with crisp bacon. This makes 1¾ cups.

Bake Tuna, Corn in Pastry Squares

Everyone likes main-dish pastries!

Tuna Corn Pastries

1 can (7 ounces) solid-pack tuna (drained)
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn drained)
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1½ tablespoons chili sauce
1½ tablespoons chili sauce
1 egg
Salt and pepper
1 recipe pastry
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
Dash of thyme

Break tuna into pieces. Mix tuna, one-half cup corn, 2 tablespoons onion, chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, slightly beaten egg, and salt and pepper to taste.

Roll pastry out on lightly floured surface to one-eighth-inch thickness. Cut into 16 squares. Place some of tuna mixture on eight squares.

Top with remaining pastry squares; seal edges. Prick tops. Place pastries on baking sheet and bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Meanwhile, melt butter; add one-fourth cup onion and cook until onion is lightly browned. Add remaining corn, tomato sauce, and thyme and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve sauce with pastries.

Put Pineapple Glaze on Cream Pie Filling

Cream pie is even better eating when a pineapple glaze serves as a fancy topping: Pour your favorite cream pie filling (or you may use vanilla pudding mix) into a 9-inch baked pie shell.

Drain the syrup from a No. 2 can of pineapple tidbits. Measure syrup and add enough water to make 1 cup. Combine one-fourth cup of brown sugar with 1½ tablespoons cornstarch and add to syrup.

Cook over low heat until thickened and clear. Stir in pineapple tidbits and cool. Spread evenly over cream filling. Top with whipped cream if desired. Serves six.

An avocado that is ripe should be refrigerated; a banana ripe or unripe) should not be kept under refrigeration.

Flavored Crust Featured in Choco-Mint Cream Pie

Midwinter entertaining will be made exciting with this new pie suggestion featuring choco-mint crust, just developed in the Lever test kitchens.

Guests will appreciate the full, rich deliciousness of the mint-flavored chocolate pie shell, filled with creamy choco-mint filling. A "roll-in" of chopped chocolate gives added interest and flavor to the delicate crust.

This novel pastry is a special version of newly introduced flavored pie crust; based on the "water-whip" method. The shortening is whipped with a chosen liquid to give new color, flavor and eating quality.

Choco-Mint Cream Pie

1 baked choco-mint pie shell
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon peppermint extract
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
⅔ cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup chopped mint-flavored semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Make and bake the pie shell. Soften gelatin in cold water. Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks slightly in mixing bowl; add sugar and salt and mix well. Stir in scalded milk.

Return to double boiler and cook over hot water 15 minutes, or until mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring constantly. Remove from hot water. Add gelatin and stir until thoroughly dissolved.

Cool, stirring occasionally. Add flavoring extracts. Fold in beaten egg whites, then whipped cream. Turn into baked pie shell.

Choco-Mint Pie Shell

⅓ cup less 1 tablespoon homogenized shortening
2 teaspoons instant cocoa dissolved in 3 tablespoons boiling water
1 teaspoon milk
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons mint-flavored semi-sweet chocolate pieces, chopped rather fine

Put shortening in mixing bowl. Add hot dissolved cocoa and milk. Whip with fork until all liquid is absorbed and a thick, smooth mixture is formed.

Sift flour and salt together onto shortening whip and stir quickly into a dough. Pick up and work into a smooth dough; shape into a flat round. Roll between two 12-inch squares of waxed paper into a circle one-eighth inch thick and about size of paper.

Peel off top paper, sprinkle chopped chocolate over pastry, leaving about 1-inch border plain. Recover with paper and gently roll chocolate into dough.

Turn paper and pastry over, peel off top paper, and place pastry in 9-inch pie pan, chocolate side up. Remove paper, fit pastry into pan, trim one-half inch beyond pan, turn back even with edge of pan, flute rim.

Prick shell all over with fork. Bake in very hot oven (450) 14-19 minutes.

CHOCO-MINT CREAM PIE — This luscious, creamy-rich pie is the newest recipe developed in the Lever test kitchens. The flavors of mint and bittersweet chocolate are delightfully blended in both delicate pie shell and creamy filling.

NEW NOTES FOR BREAKFAST—What's your very favorite morning food — eggs, cornbread, pancakes, muffins? You can make your choice really sing if you include zesty deviled ham in the making. In the upper left are eggs in deviled rice nests. The board on the right has cornbread with a filling of deviled ham. Muffins and omelet are in the lower half of the picture.

Deviled Ham Lends Appeal, Variety to Dishes Usually on Breakfast Menu

Do your breakfasts always follow the same pattern — fruit or juice, cereal, eggs maybe, pancakes or waffles occasionally, breadstuff and coffee?

* * *

If they do, fine! You're heeding the advice of nutritionists who tell us that breakfast is an important meal, perhaps the most important one of the day.

But, just for fun, why not add an extra fillip now and then to vary what may have become morning monotony at your house. One easy way to do this is by taking full advantage of tangy deviled ham. For this sandwich standby has fast come into its own as a delicious and economical ingredient.

When pancakes are on the breakfast agenda, try spreading them with deviled ham, then roll them up and garnish with jelly. Or if it's waffles, top them with spoonfuls of zestfully seasoned deviled ham, and don't forget the syrup!

* * *

Again, you could serve the hotcakes with butter and syrup and, as a change from sausages, make a deviled fruit garnish. Lightly grill pineapple slices, spread with deviled ham and grill again until they're heated through.

Sunday breakfast or brunch is the time for homemade breads, and here, too, deviled ham can contribute an intriguing note. For instance, Deviled Muffins. Simply stir a 2¼-ounce can of deviled ham into your favorite one-egg muffin recipe. Bake as usual, and serve hot with extra deviled ham and lots of butter.

If your brood hankers after some cornbread for breakfast, surprise them with Deviled Corn Strips. Use a ready-mix to prepare corn muffin batter, but bake it in a square pan, following directions on package.

Split the baked square, and spread with a family-size can of deviled ham. Put squares together, cut into diagonal squares, and rush to the table while it's still nice and warm.

Now for the egg department. Mixed right in with scrambled eggs or spread on an omelet, deviled ham adds its own unique flavor. And here's a cheery idea—a Deviled Egg 'n' Rice Bake.

Deviled Egg 'n' Rice Bake

Fill individual baking dishes with lightly seasoned and buttered hot rice. Make a hollow in the middle of rice and drop in an egg. Surround each egg with spoonfuls of deviled ham. Bake in moderate oven (350) for a few minutes until egg is set to desired consistency.

* * *

(Incidentally, this would be a fine way to use up that leftover rice. Did you know that rice can be quickly fluffed by heating it in a saucepan with a few tablespoons of water over low heat?)

Blend Two Cake Flavors

This whopping double-sized and doubly delicious cake for a big party, a church supper or other gathering, is made from two packages of cake mix.

One package of a new instant butterscotch cake mix and one package of instant devil's food mix — good flavor blends — are combined in a marbled effect.

Bake this cake in a greased and floured 10-inch tube pan and glaze the top with chocolate. It makes about 24 servings.

Butterscotch Marble Cake

1 package instant butterscotch cake mix
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup water
1 package instant devil's food mix
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons water
*Chocolate glaze

Empty butterscotch cake mix into bowl. Add 2 eggs and 1 cup water. Beat three minutes until smooth and creamy. In another bowl, mix the devil's food mix in the same way, using remaining eggs and water.

Spoon batters alternately into a greased and floured 10-inch tube pan. With a spatula cut through the batter in a zigzag fashion to give marbled effect.

Bake in moderate oven (350) 60 to 65 minutes. Allow cake to cool in pan 15 minutes; then turn out on rack to finish cooling.

Prepare Chocolate Glaze. Pour over cake and spread evenly. If additional glaze is desired on sides of cake, recipe for glaze may be doubled

*Chocolate Glaze

Melt 1 tablespoon butter with 1 square unsweetened chocolate. Combine in small bowl: one-half cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1½ tablespoons hot milk, and dash of salt. Blend in chocolate mixture gradually.

Cherry Sauce Has Many Good Uses

Versatile Cherry Sauce has so many uses it should not be overlooked in making interesting dishes.

Use it for topping for ice cream-filled cream puffs; for a topping on angel food cake; fillings for cupcakes; over pancakes, hot from the griddle; as a sundae sauce; or garnished with sour cream over waffles.

Versatile Cherry Sauce

1 cup canned sweet cherries
1 cup cherry syrup
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1-3 cup honey
½ teaspoon red food coloring
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Pit cherries and set aside. Mix cornstarch with a little cold syrup and combine with other ingredients in a saucepan.

Bring to boil and cook and stir for two minutes. Add cherries and flavoring and serve either hot or cold.

Add a bit of tarragon seasoning powder to the flour, salt and pepper in which you dip fish fillets before frying.

Marinate Peaches

Marinate canned peach halves and serve with baked ham. For the marinade mix a little of the peach juice with light corn syrup, cider vinegar and mixed whole spices. Simmer before adding the peach halves. Let the peaches stand in the marinade in the refrigerator for several hours at least before serving.

Slice, Fill Cupcakes

Slice cupcakes in half crosswise and fill with chocolate fudge frosting. (Use packaged mixes for both the cake and the frosting, if you want to save time.) Top the filled cakes with whipped cream and dot with bits of semi-sweet chocolate. Serve this double-chocolate dessert with plates and forks!

Add drained canned lobster chunks to a medium white sauce; serve over sliced hard-cooked eggs for lunch or supper. Accompany with triangles of buttered toast.

Brownies Boast Dates, Almonds

No ordinary brownies these — but special occasion beauties, created to be served with pride at your most important spring dinners, teas and parties.

The batter, rich with premium unsweetened chocolate, is laden with bits of plump dates and flavorsome crunchy almonds.

Decorated with date halves and whole almonds, baked and then cut in rectangles (or squares if you prefer), these brownies come to the table as the perfect accompaniment to refreshing orange sherbet.

But they'll also stand on their own when served with tea, coffee or afternoon cocoa, for each one is a gem of tempting chocolate goodness that will bring applause from your guests — and great satisfaction to you as the party chef of your crowd.

SPECIAL OCCASION BROWNIES — Perfect party partners for orange sherbet, these Date and Almond Brownies are just as delicious when served with tea, coffee or afternoon cocoa. Try them the next time you want a different chewy cookie.

Date and Almond Brownies

⅔ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or other shortening
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup cut dates
½ cup chopped blanched almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Melt shortening and chocolate over hot water. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating thoroughly.

Add chocolate mixture and blend. Add flour and mix well. Add dates, almonds, and vanilla.

Spread in greased 8x8x2-inch pan. Decorate with date halves and whole almonds, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (350) 25 minutes, or until done.

Cool in pan; then cut into squares or rectangles. Makes about 20 brownies.

Canned Beef Gravy Lends Flavor to Hash

Hash, at its best, tastes worthy of a celebration. One secret of experts in the hash department is to use the canned beef gravy, a rich brown "smoothie" of a sauce with real roasting-pan flavor.

Mix 1 can of this gravy (1¼ cups) with 2 cups ground cooked beef, 1 cup coarsely ground potato, one-half cup ground onion, one-fourth teaspoon salt and dash of pepper.

Put in a casserole; cover, and bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes. Remove cover; bake 15 minutes longer. Dish up for a hungry foursome. Pass the chili sauce if your like.

Chocolate Chip Frosting Can Be Saved for Future

So delicate in flavor, so creamy-soft in texture, is this frosting to freeze that you can use it as a filling as well as a topper for cakes. It's delicious on cake layers whether made by your own recipe, from a cake mix, or bought from the store.

• • •

Semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the very same that make the famous Chocolate Chip Cookies that originated at the Toll House Inn in Whitman, Mass., are the flavor secret of this wonderful frosting.

You can use it at once, or you can freeze it for the future when you want a luscious cake topper in a hurry. As you see, this is the type of frosting that takes to debonair swirling for decorative effect, and it's easy to vary with nuts or coconut.

Even if you don't freeze this frosting, it will keep soft and creamy on cake for three days, and if you do freeze it, it will keep indefinitely to crown a cake when you want it.

Creamy Semi-Sweet Frosting

Buy or prepare from standard recipe or cake mix, two 8 inch or 9 inch cake layers, or 24 medium cupcakes.

Combine and melt over hot (not boiling) water: One 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, one-fourth cup butter or shortening, dash salt. Remove from heat. Add gradually and stir till smooth: one-half cup evaporated milk.

Let cool approximately 10 minutes. Add and beat till smooth: One 7½-ounce jar marshmallow cream.

Fills and frosts two 8 inch or 9 inch layers, frosts 24 medium cupcakes. For filling, vary by adding nuts, fruits, coconut.

To freeze: Pour into freezer container. Wrap properly for freezing. When ready to use, let frosting stand at room temperature till soft enough to spread, approximately one hour.

Cook Pork and Beans With Ham, Pineapple

You don't know what a bean bonanza you're missing until you taste pork and beans cooked with ham and pineapple. Brown strips of ham (1 cup) in a tablespoon of butter in a skillet. Stir in a big can of the beans (2½ cups) and one-half cup of pineapple chunks.

For seasoning, you can add 1 teaspoon of thyme if you're so inclined. Let the meaty mixture simmer several minutes. It's ample for four. Offer it with a crisp-cold salad of lettuce and spinach.

Ham and Cabbage Offer New Flavor

Everyone has heard of corned beef and cabbage, but have you ever tried substituting ham for the corned beef? Even if you're partial to the old standby, you may find that ham provides a flavor and texture that are interesting.

Panned Ham and Cabbage

Melt fat in a frying pan, add a quart of shredded cabbage and 2 cups of chopped, cooked ham. Cover and cook until cabbage is tender, 5 to 10 minutes. Season with salt, pepper and vinegar.

Mix Shrimp, Oysters and Clams in Cocktail

Want a wonderful seafood cocktail for company? Line sherbet glasses with lettuce; add two or three cooked cleaned shrimp, a couple of fresh or thawed frozen raw oysters and a couple of hard-shell raw clams.

Top with a spicy cocktail sauce made from catsup, chili sauce, prepared horseradish, lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce.

Dish Features 'Buttons, Bows'

Noodle bows and button mushrooms give outstanding personality to the dried beef casserole. Cream of asparagus soup flavors the mixture skillfully.

The name, appearance and flavor should score a hit with the younger set.

"Buttons 'n' Bows" Casserole

4 ounces egg noodle bows
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup button mushrooms (4-ounce can)
Liquid drained from mushrooms plus milk to make ⅔ cup
1 cup dried beef (2½ ounces, in bite-size pieces)
1½ cups condensed cream of asparagus soup (10½ ounce can)
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
½ tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Add noodles and 2 teaspoons salt to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for two minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add drained mushrooms and cook gently, stirring occasionally, about five minutes or until lightly browned. Add beef and cook two minutes. Stir in soup, then mushroom liquid and milk.

Remove from heat. Drain and rinse noodles. Turn into greased 1-quart casserole. Pour beef and mushroom mixture over noodles and mix lightly. Blend crumbs with butter or margarine and sprinkle over top.

Bake in moderate oven (375) until mixture is bubbly and crumbs are lightly browned (about 20 minutes). Makes four servings.

MKT BSKT FILLERS

Thin rings, cut from both red and white onions, make a pretty garnish for salads. They add good taste, too!

Serve Corned Beef for Saturday Supper

Corned beef (home cooked) is good to serve for a Saturday night supper when the gang's coming over. Buy a piece of the corned beef that weighs around 5 pounds.

Cover it with cold water, in a large kettle, and add some extra seasonings: Pepper-corns, a bay leaf or two, celery seeds, a garlic clove, a half dozen whole cloves, some celery tops and a sliced carrot.

Bring the water to a boil, then simmer the beef — covered — until very tender. The simmering will take four hours or more so leave plenty of time for this preparation. Slice the corned beef and serve warm with potato salad and cole slaw, hot rolls, lots of pickles.

TUNA LOAVES — You've made tunafish croquettes and tuna loaf. Now make little individual tuna loaves. Bake them in the oven and serve them with a celery sauce made with condensed milk. Garnish with egg slices and watercress.

Crackers Flavor Little Tuna Loaves

A hot, nutritious meal is the order of the day in cold winter weather. "Hi Ho Tuna Loaves," a new recipe straight from one of the nation's largest bakeries, will make a hit with hungry school children and delight budget-conscious mothers.

Lots of good hearty flavor is supplied by rich, buttery cracker crumbs combined with tuna, minced onion and green peppers. Here's the easy way to make these new individual loaves.

Hi Ho Tuna Loaves

1½ cups crushed butter crackers
2 7-ounce cans tuna, flaked
½ cup minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup minced green peppers
1 egg, beaten lightly
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1 10½-ounce can condensed cream of celery soup
2 sliced or diced hard cooked eggs

Heat oven to 375 degrees (moderately hot). Crush crackers coarsely between the palms of the hands; measure 1½ cups of crushed crumbs into a large bowl. Add tuna, onion, salt, pepper, green pepper, egg and milk. Blend well and form into four individual loaves.

Place loaves in greased, shallow baking dish. Brush them with melted butter or margarine. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes, or until loaves are lightly browned and firm to the touch.

Meanwhile, cook eggs in the bottom of a double boiler. Empty soup into double boiler top. Set double boiler top in place and heat soup while eggs cook. When eggs are done, peel and slice them. Add sliced eggs to soup.

Arrange loaves on heated platter. Pour some of celery soup and egg slices over top of loaves. Make four generous servings.

Pear-Lime Ring Salad Is Nutritious, Delicious

Pear-Lime Ring Salad is nutritious and satisfying. Mold the canned Bartlett pear quarters in a ring mold with lime gelatin, using hot pear syrup and water for the liquid. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Fill center with cottage cheese garnished with coarsely chopped nuts.

Serve with dressing made by folding one-half cup whipped cream into one-half cup salad dressing. One or two chopped maraschino cherries and a few sliced green grapes added to the dressing make an especially pretty topping for this salad.

Snap Beans Baked

If snap beans, finely shredded, are put in a baking dish, dotted generously with butter and covered tightly, they may be baked in a 350-degree oven for about half an hour. The resultant product preserves all the natural goodness of the fresh beans.

'X' Marks Spot in Tea Biscuits

"X" marks the spot in Tropical Tea Biscuits—a "spot" of good eating rolled up with chopped coconut and topped with a sprinkling of sugar.

Before you bake the biscuits, cut an "X" through the top of each. These sweet biscuits will soon become favorites, served with tea to mid-afternoon guests or anytime.

Tropical Tea Biscuits

2 cups sifted enriched flour (if self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt)
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup shotrening
⅔ to ¾ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup shredded coconut, finely chopped

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds.

Roll out to rectangle about 8x12 inches and one-fourth-inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with sugar and coconut. Roll up like jelly roll, beginning at the long side. Seal.

Cut into 1-inch slices. Place cut-side down on ungreased baking sheet. Brush tops with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with sugar.

With scissors, cut an "X" through the top of each biscuit. Bake in hot oven (425) until lightly browned, about 15 minutes. Makes 12 biscuits.

Try Preparing Duck in Electric Rotisserie

Does your kitchen boast an electric rotisserie? Then do try roasting a duck on it! You'll find this method of cooking duckling gives wonderful crisp skin.

But make sure you have an extra dripping pan that fits under the heating element of the rotisserie. About a cup of fat will drip out from the duck and the regular tray will have to be emptied of the fat several times during the cooking; here's where the auxiliary pan will come in handy.

Almost Everyone Enjoys Tender, Tasty Scallops

It's a rare person indeed who doesn't love to sit down to a meal of tender, plump scallops, that shellfish with the nutty true sea-flavor.

* * *

Folks who ordinarily pass over seafood items on the menu find their taste buds have a certain affinity for this distinctively flavored bivalve.

Most of the country's scallops come from the old whaling port of New Bedford, Mass. Hardy fishermen, whose ancestors once hunted whales all over the globe, ply the cold Atlantic waters of Georges Bank for these succulent mollusks.

Only the firm, white adductor muscle of the scallop is saved. The meats are refrigerated at sea for a U.S. market that grows bigger each year.

Cooking scallops can be as simple or as fussy as you want it to be. Recipes run the range from quick and easy pan sauteeing to the gourmet's Coquilles St. Jacques.

And don't overlook the popular pre-cooked heat 'n' eat variety when time is short and appetites are big.

Here's a scallop recipe that should go over big at your next luncheon party.

Scallop Ramekins

1½ cups sea scallops (diced)
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup coarse bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
Salt and pepper
Butter and paprika

Beat egg, add milk and diced or coarsely broken bread. Add scallops, onion and green pepper, salt and pepper to taste.

* * *

Place mixture in scallop shells or ramekins and dot with butter. Dust lightly with paprika. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves four.

Aviation Strike Mediation Seen

Plan Court Hearings on Corporation Move for Injunction

FARMINGDALE, N.Y., (AP)—The strike impasse at the Republic Aviation Corp. today headed into a mediation session and into a court hearing on a company move for an injunction to curb pickets.

* * *

Meanwhile, Gov. Averell Harriman withheld action on a Long Island police chief's plea for National Guardsmen, state troopers "or anything so we can maintain order here."

Skirmishing on picket lines since Monday has led to arrest of 91 persons—practically all pickets—on charges of assault or disorderly conduct. All were released on bail. Thirty people have been injured outside the company's main plant here.

* * *

The International Assn. of Machinists called out 12,000 workers Saturday midnight at the company's four Long Island plants in a wage dispute, halting production of jet planes and guided missiles for the U.S. government.

The plea to Harriman for state aid was made Tuesday night by Police Chief Percy K. Hempstead of Babylon, whose 30-man force has borne the brunt of keeping order at the main Republic plant. Sheriff's deputies also have aided.

The situation at the plant was relatively calm yesterday, with three arrests and one person injured. Picket lines were thin because Washington's Birthday is a plant holiday.

The Beginning . . .

The U. S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine traces its lineage back to 1918 when Army medical officers opened a ramshackle laboratory in Mineola, Long Island. FHA's New Endeavor House Trailer Courts

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Federal Housing Administration is now in the trailer court business for the first time.

Under legislation adopted by Congress, FHA has now issued rules which would permit the agency to insure loans up to $300,000 for the construction of new trailer courts.

But FHA cautions that it is not participating in the purchase of trailers; it is merely backing the construction of new courts.

Hints Show Strong Points in GOP Election Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania gave a detailed hint today on what Republicans probably will stress in campaign speepches this election year.

Simpson is chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, whose job is to work for the election of GOP candidates for the house. And his declaration, in a statement to his constituents, was based on material prepared in the White House.

Simpson did not label his views as an election-year blueprint. But he devoted considerable space to what he called "a very informative compilation of the major accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration since it came into office in January of 1953."

The listing, Simpson said, was prepared by Dr. Garbriel Hauge, an administrative assistant to President Eisenhower. Here it is:

1. "American working men and women are enjoying the unprecedeted cambination of higher wages, lower taxes and a stable cost of living—all at the same time."

2. Inflation has been checked.

3. "The largest tax reduction in ou rhistory has been enacted and of its $7,400,000,000 in benefits nearly two out of every three dollars went directly to individuals."

4. Scandal and corruption in the Bureau of Internal Revenue have been put to an end and integrity has again been restored to the collection of federal taxes."

5. Department of health, education and welfare established.

6. Ten Million more persons brought under social security.

7. Unemployment insurance coverage extended to four million additional workers.

8. Minimum wage increased.

9. Program proposed to help unemployed areas.

10. Programs presented to help solve the classroom shortage and "the high cost of medical care."

11. "The inherited farm program, on the verge of total collapse from the weight of over seven billion dollars of unmarketable surpluses which it helped generate, is being vigorously and conscientiously rebuilt."

Greeks Devised Plan Against Pesky Centaurs

WASHINGTON — Greek peasants in the region of Mount Pilion, home of the legendary centaurs, once worked out a foolproof protection against the half-horse, half-man creatures, says the National Geographic Society. At night, so the peasants believed, a centaur might pound on the door of a farmhouse and demand a daughter of the family for a wife.

But centaurs are notoriously curious. So the peasants left a sieve outside the door. The centaur, overcome with curiosity as to the number of holes in the sieve, would spend the entire night counting them. As any Mount Pilionite knows, centaurs disappear at dawn.

Town Ready for Biggest Boom

Milford to Build 2,000 Homes

Work on Manor Heights Subdivision to Begin Monday

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD — Never before in the history of this rural town has there been such a real estate boom. If present plans continue, there will be close to 2,000 new homes under construction here this spring, Bart Smith, president of this village said yesterday.

* * *

Two more square mile plats of land for new homes have been approved by the Milford Council. This brings the total real estate development in Milford to seven within the last year. An additional two plats are under consideration of the council.

Smith said there are now only about 100 acres within the village limits available for real estate development. In addition to this there are approximately 100 acres of vacant land on the west side of town which is owned by the Huron . Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

So far the company has made no promise of releasing this tract.

Recently accepted by the council is the development to be known as Manor Heights and recorded by Willard Smith of Detroit. There will be 80 brick veneer three bedroom homes in the $14,500 bracket and will be situated along east Commerce just inside the village limits. Work will begin on this project Monday.

Two hundred new homes will be constructed on the Apex Company's 51 acres which formerly belonged to the McDaniels family on North Highland Road. These too will be brick and be in the same price bracket as the Manor subdivision.

Most all of the new developments feature circular paved streets and will have sewer, water, sidewalks and curbing.

Don't Even Try Counting Total of National Debt

EAST LANSING (AP)—Ever stayed awake nights thinking about the size of the national debt?

* * *

A Michigan State University mathematician says a man would be dead before he could count as many sheep as there are dollrs in the debt, which is roughly figured at $279,000,000,000.

Dr. J. S. Frame, head of the MSU mathematics department, said to count up to 279 billion, a man would have had to start before the pyramids were built.

Put another way, if you earned $1 a second 24 hours a day, with no time off for Sundays or holidays, it would take 8,841 years to earn the debt amount.

A string of $100 bills totaling that much would reach from the Treasury Building in Washington to the moon.

Stacked on top of each other, 279,000,000,000 new $1 bills would climb almost 25,000 miles high.

"Every man, woman and child in the United States owes about $1,691," Frame said.

* * *

And because the debt is pretty close to the amount of the national income, Frame figures it could be paid off if everyone turned over all 1956 wages and other income to the government.

That, he adds, isn't likely to happen.

House Probers Call Alleged Red

Victor Perlo Named in '48 Testimony to Appear Before Commie Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Victor Perlo, named in previous testimony as a leader of a Communist spy group in the government in the 1940s, was summoned before the House Committee on Un-American Activities today.

Perlo was named by Elizabeth Bentley in 1948 testimony as leader of an underground group within the government.

At the time Perlo called the spy charges "inventions of irresponsible sensation seekers" and said he was a loyal American citizen.

The committee is holding a series of hearings with the announced purpose of gathering evidence about Communist activity in the government in past years.

* * *

Called before the committee in 1948 and identified by Miss Bentley, a self-acknowledged former spy ring courier, Perlo invoked the Fifth Amendment and declined to say whether he knew her. He declined to say whether he had given Miss Bentley any secret or confidential government information, as she testified. He also declined to say whether he was then or ever had been a Communist.

* * *

Perlo listed his occupation in 1948 as an economist.

The committee also summoned a Ruth Weyand to today's session.

Testifying before the committee last December, Herbert Fuchs said a National Labor Relations Baord (NLRB) attorney named Ruth Weyand belonged to a Communist cell of which he was a leader. Fuchs said he quit the Communist party in 1946.

Fuchs also listed Victor Perlo as the person he contacted when he needed advice or instructions from the Communist party.

Attorney Suggests GM May Be Too Big

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A federal attorney suggested yesterday that General Motors Corp. may be too big.

Joseph W. Burns, chief counsel for the U. S. Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, told the National Standard Parts Assn. convention:

"The big issue presented by the concentration in the automobile industry is not whether the Big Three are competing, but whether they should have such economic control over the entire industry. It would seem that a corporation might be permitted to grow and expand until it reaches the point where its activities are detrimental to the public interest.

"Some people believe that in the automobile industry and with General Motors Corp. in particular, this point may have been reached."

Burns said his comments represented his personal views, not those of any member of the subcommittee.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bids were asked today for initial channel enlargement work in the Thousand Islands section of the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the St. Lawrence Development Corp., the agency that is constructing the U.S. phase of the international project, said the bids will be received until March 27 at which time they will be opened in Buffalo, N. Y.

The bidders will be required to excavate and remove and aggregate of about 204,000 cubic yards of rock and about 9,000 yards of earth to a minimum depth of 29½ feet.

The work area extends about 12 miles from Clayton N.Y., to a point downstream from Alexandria Bay, N. Y.

Chapters 101 and 16, of the Disabled American Veterans, will hold a joint meeting Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at 570 Oakland Ave. to discuss veterans' benefits, according to Floyd E. Cremer, deputy director of county veterans' affairs.

Camp Site Found by Corrections Group

LANSING (AP)—After a near year-long hunt, the State Corrections and Conservation Departments finally have found a location for the prison camp authorized by the last regular session of the Legislature.

The two departments announced that the new corrections-conservation camp will be located in Baraga County. The county board of supervisors recently approved the proposal to move 100 trustee prisoners into the area to work on conservation projects.

The exact location of the new camp is yet to be decided, depending on an on-the-spot survey by the two departments.

* * *

Several previous locations were proposed but had to be given up because of local objections to prisoners in the areas.

Dr. Merker to Retire

Claims Groups Use Courts for Lobbying

EAST LANSING (AP)—Pressure groups use the courts for lobbying as well as the halls of Congress and the state Legislatures, a Michigan State University political scientist said today.

Dr. Nathan Hakman of MSU reported on some of the findings gathered in preliminary tabulation of questionnaires sent to some 1,500 national organizations.

Business, professional, welfare, civil rights and labor groups are the most active in promoting litigation and test cases in the courts, providing free attorneys, furnishing expert witnesses and intervening as friends of the court, the MSU professor said.

"The organizations included in our study were mostly bona fide groups, desirous of promoting some cause," he said.

The study showed that the efforts of organizations in the civil rights area have been the most intense and attracted the most attention.

Leo Leavitt Has Trotter Tales Galore

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Actually no one has to publicize the name "Harlem Globetrotters," but Leo Leavitt, the advance man who travels with the speed of night and day from one city to another, always has some fresh yarn to tell about the "clown princes" and their widespread travels.

Leavitt, who claims he has carried the snow and cold with him on the latest Trotter trip, stopped in Pontiac recently after a week in Florida.

With him was a familiar name to basketball fans, Newt Oliver. You will remember him as the coach at Rio Grande, which before Bevo Francis, most people thought was somewhere in the pan-handle of Texas.

The pair came to Pontiac in conjunction with the Globetrotter game against the House of David at Pontiac High School Sunday night.

With his hoarse throat, contacted in 29 degree temperature in Florida where he had his bathing suit and no topcoat, Leavitt shook his head saying, "it seems to be getting colder with every town we hit."

FIRST START IN BASKETBALL PROMOTION

As Abe Saperstein's frontrunner, Leavitt got started in Trotter promotion several years back while promoting the fight game in Hawaii. Saperstein called Leo and told him he was sending the Trotters to Hawaii and he wanted Leavitt to promote the stand.

★ ★ ★ ★

"You're crazy, Abe," said Leavitt, "good basketball teams from the States are lucky to draw 400 free tickets here," he told the Trotter boss in a phone conversation.

"Just start working on it, I'm coming out," returned Saperstein, and he hung up.

Al Karasuick, manager of Honolulu's Civic Auditorium, didn't go for the percentage offer made him by Leavitt. He was sure the Trotter appearance would be a flop so he settled for $1,250 for a five-day rental.

★ ★ ★ ★

Seven days before the Trotters were due not a 75 cent ticket was sold. Leavitt called Saperstein in Frisco and begged him to call it off, but to no avail.

Saperstein told Leavitt to give all the newspapers the story that the Trotter opposition for the game would be a team made up of All-American football players including Glenn Davis, Marion Motley, Herman Wedemeyher and others.

When the five-day stand ended a total of $92,330 was picked up, with Al Karasuick the auditorium manager fretting over his own agreement of $1,250 instead of a cut of the gate.

This was the start of Leavitt's wide tour ahead of the Trotters with promotion material.

ANNUAL STOP IN HONG KONG

During one of the annual trips to Hong Kong, Leavitt got into "state-side" conversation with a Catholic priest who was head of a mission in the city.

"There are about 600 youngsters who have saved their pennies who would like to see the Globetrotters," said the priest, "but they can't go at night."

Leavitt called Saperstein and told him the story. The game was scheduled for 10:00 in the morning. "It was 105 degrees that morning," said Leavitt, "and do you know we didn't have those 600 kids, we had 17,000. "And all kids," he added.

The mission never figured this would be a promotion for its work, but Saperstein said he counted on only 600 kids, so everything made over 600 admissions was given to the religious outpost.

★ ★ ★ ★

Newt Oliver, now helping the Globetrotters in publicity, was on leave from his coaching job with the Boston Whirlwinds. "Bevo is making $17,000 with the touring Whirlwinds," said Newt who bargained with Saperstein to get $30,000 for both of them. "Where would I get $13,000?" "Not at Rio Grande," he finished.

U.S. Needs 'Old Days' in Sports Says Olympic Head

CHICAGO (AP)—Give the United States back its "good, old days" of athletics and this country need not worry about Russia's Olympic training technique.

So said Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympics Committee today, as he minimized the importance of so-called Russian training camps.

* * *

In an interview, Brundage said Russia is "50 years behind us" in living modes and that "no roads, no cars and no entertainment" formed the nucleus of the Soviet nation's superb conditioning program.

Brundage said the idea of a training camp, such as Russia purportedly uses for Olympic training, "is all right for the kindergarten type of athlete, but for the trained athlete, it would be the last place he'd want to be."

"Speaking as a former athlete, I'd say confinement in a camp would soon make me sick of my specialty," said Brundage, who competed in the 1912 Olympic Games and won the U. S. all-around track title three times, in 1914, 1916 and 1918.

As he has done often before, Brundage credited recent Russian athletic success, including domination of the 1956 Winter Games, to a special value placed on the athletic hero in that country.

"They have made winning a championship a great honor," said Brundage. "Champion athletes are rated with theatrical stars and other public heroes. On top of that the thousands of aspiring athletes work, work and work to reach the top."

* * *

And that made Brundage nostalgic.

"Fifty years ago—Good Lord, was it that long ago—when I was competing in track," said Brundage, "every neighborhood in Chicago had an athletic club. Now they're worrying about teen-age gangs everywhere.

"There were track meets at every park and outlying picnic ground every Saturday and Sunday. By bike or streetcar, I'd travel 10 or 12 miles every weekend to compete.

* * *

"So did every other athletic-minded boy in those days. We kept in shape during the week by walking—not riding—to school, to the store, to wherever we had to go.

"That's the way it is in Russia now. A good athlete doesn't get trained, he trains himself."

* * *

As a clincher in his argument, Brundage produced a letter from a mother in Kansas, who complained that intramural sports have pushed aside competitive sports and made youngsters in her county mainly docile athletic spectators.

"Where once we had competitive athletics for junior and senior high school boys," the woman wrote, "they now are thrown back on movies, TV and dancing."

Brundage said Russians answer criticism of their so-called training camps with the rebuttal that U.S. collegiate athletes are in similar training for football, basketball and other sports.

The Olympic boss declined comment on the AAU's life suspension of star miler Wes Santee, other than to say the IOC's only concern with Olympic athletes is that they be certified by their national committees.

Chiefs, Skippers Go Against Tough Foes in Regional Test

Pontiac's basketball Chiefs face Port Huron in the second day of action in the Flint MHSAA regional tournament, March 14.

Waterford's Skippers, only other Oakland County Class A club in this event, drew the tourney's biggest threat, Flint Northern. Skippers play the 2nd 'A' game opening night, March 13 in the big IMA hall. Art Van Ryzin's five is placed in the lower bracket, playing at 8 p.m. in the first game, March 14.

Draw was made Wednesday at Flint Central, whose Nap LaJoie is the tournament manager, assisted by Northern's Gene Rossell. Athletic director Tom Dodson and Coach Van Ryzin represented Pontiac at the drawing.

Pairings for the Class A teams:

Upper bracket—8 p.m. March 13—Owosso vs Lansing Eastern; 9:30 p.m. Waterford vs Flint Northern.

Lower bracket—8 p.m. March 14—Pontiac vs Port Huron; at 9:30 p.m. Lansing Sexton vs Flint Central.

Second round — (March 16)—8 p.m. winners of Pontiac, Port Huron and Sexton, Central games; at 9:30 p.m. winner of Waterford and Northern, Owosso and Lansing Eastern games.

Final "A" championship tilt is Saturday, March 17 at 9:30 p.m.

No Class A games will be played Thursday March 15.

Opinion expressed at yesterday's drawing, indicated that the two Flint schools, hot rivals in the sizzling Saginaw Valley title race and Lansing's two schools were considered about the most dangerous clubs. Others, however, figure the Chiefs as another prospect in this category.

Port Huron, Chiefs' 1st opponent, only recently annexed the 1956 Eastern Michigan League crown, and is regarded by Van Ryzin as a really difficult foe.

* * *

"The Big Reds have a lot of height," says Van Ryzin. "They can't be taken lightly. Their good size and fast-breaking style play make them dangerous to any opponent. In this tourney you have to go all the way—just being runner-up, or winning the 1st game isn't enough."

Archie Moore Fights Dunlap Next Monday

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Athletic Commission agreed today with Archie Moore . . . the light-heavy champion will meet Bob Dunlap in a non-title 10-round fight in San Diego Monday night.

Commission Secretary John Genshlea said the scrapper it had tried to sub into the match, Frank Daniels, suddenly declined the opportunity. Genshlea previously said Daniels had wanted a Moore fight for a year.

GLOBETROTTER FIND — Making his appearance Sunday night with the Harlem Globetrotters against the House of David at Pontiac High School is Meadow Lemon who is considered the top Trotter find in 29 years. As a prep star in Wilmington, N. C., Meadow had a fabulous scoring total of 2,200 points. He is 22 years old and touted as the one replacement for Goose Tatum. The game is a benefit match sponsored by the Lions.

NO TIME TO WASTE — Andy Seminick, left, Phillies' catcher, teams with Coach Benny Bengough to give Mack Burk, $40,000 worth of bonus rookie from the University of Texas, some receiving tips. Burk reported to the Phillies' rookie camp at Clearwater, Fla.

First Round of Houston Open Gets Under Way

Cary Middlecoff Rated Edge Over Defending Champ Souchak

HOUSTON (AP)—After three practice rounds of sub-par golf, Cary Middlecoff was a strong favorite today as a field of 161 began the first round in the $30,000 Houston Open.

Mike Souchak, the defending champion, was rated second but his odds were 5-1 compared to a surprising 3-1 for the former Memphis dentist.

Middlecoff, seeking his third victory of the winter tour, has showered the 7,122-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course with birdies the past three days. Never before has the 9-year-old tournament gotten under way with such a prohibitive favorite.

Souchak last year scored a final-round 65 to come from behind by four strokes and take $6,000 in top money with a tournament record 273. Middlecoff won the 1953 Open at Memorial but did so in a playoff after finishing 72 holes in a tie with four others at 283. He had a 279 in 1954 to finish second, two strokes behind Dave Douglas.

Other favorites: Gene Littler, 6-1; Tommy Bolt, 8-1; Lloyd Mangrum, 10-1, and Jimmy Demaret, Jackie Burke Jr., and Doug Ford, 12-1.

Bolt, Demaret and Burke are Houston products but only Burke has won before home town galleries. Burke grabbed the 1952 tournament, also at Memorial, with a 277.

Middlecoff returned to the winter tour this week after a rest following early victories in the Bing Crosby Invitational and at Phoenix.

19 Listed for $100,000 Race

Trainers See Weather as Factor Saturday in Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Owners and trainers began thinking about the weather today and how it might affect their chances in the $100,000-added Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah on Saturday.

Present forecasts indicate good weather and a dry, fast track.

Some of the 19 possible starters —Mrs. Anson A. Bigelow's Nail, Brookmeade Stable's Lawless, D & H Stable's Needles and Calumet Farm's Liberty Sun—go well in mud but others prefer a dry running strip.

All will carry equal weight of 122 pounds except Needles, who gets into the mile and an eighth feature under 117. Needles was foaled at the Dickey Stables near Ocala and a rule adopted several years ago by the Florida State Racing Commission allows a thoroughbred foaled in this state 5 pounds less than his competitors in a stakes race.

Machen's Status Gets Big Boost

Coast 'Heavy' Makes Impressive TV Debut in Beating Mederos

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The heavyweight boxing ranks boasted a bright new prospect today in young Eddie Machen, who handles his fists and his feet with the speed of a middleweight.

* * *

The 22-year-old Redding, Calif., Negro made an impressive national television debut last night, completely befuddling Cuban Julio Mederos in earning a unanimous 10-round decision before a near-capacity crowd at the grand opening of San Francisco Garden. The gross gate was $5,757.

* * *

As impressed as anyone with the showing of the youngster, who racked up his 12th victory without a loss, was Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the International Boxing Club. He watched from a ringside seat.

"He looks ready for bigger game," commented Gibson to Sid Flaherty, Machen's manager. "He showed a lot more than I expected from a kid with that little experience."

* * *

Gibson and Flaherty expected to confer on a bout between Machen and Nino Valdes, world's third-ranking heavyweight, currently recovering from a nasal operation. Valdes had been scheduled to face Machen last night, but cancelled out because of the nose injury.

Love of the Game!

Semi-Pro Gridder Trains for Tryout With Lions

DETROIT (AP) — In college, theoretically, men of brawn play football for love of the game. Main attraction in professional football is a cash salary.

In semi-professional ball, the "sandlot" phase of the game, glory is slim and the pay is far slimmer.

To rise from semi-pro football to the National Football League is a rarity, but Dave Mapes, a husky young man from Dearborn, is training like a ranking heavyweight in hopes he can make the grade.

Mapes, 24-year-old railroad car inspector, played fullback the last three years with the Dearborn All-Stars of the Intercities Football Conference. In that time he scored 49 touchdowns, nearly half on runs of more than 30 yards.

Two weeks ago, the Detroit Lions, impressed with his record, agreed to give him a tryout at their Ypsilanti training camp next summer.

It was the break Mapes and his coach, Val Valero, had been hoping for.

"I'm really excited about this deal," said Mapes happily. "I've wanted to play pro football for a long time. It sure would be great to put in two or three years with the Lions."

It's Hot Stove League Time and—

You're the Manager

(Fifteenth of a Series)

When a ball game hangs in the balance in the late innings there are several things the manager of the offensive team can do.

In a bases loaded situation, he can order a squeeze bunt or a steal home He can be less daring and let the scheduled batter take his swings. Or he can put in a pinch-hitter.

In the following instance, Manager Paul Richards of Baltimore made the right move.

Would you have done the same thing?

(R) stands for a righthanded batter or pitcher, (L) for a left-handed batter or pitcher and (S) for a switch hitter.

It's the last of the eighth at Baltimore and the Orioles and Washington are tied 2-2. Chuck Stobbs (L) is pitching for the Senators. Hank Majeski leads off with a single. Dave Pope hits into a force out. But Hal Smith's single and an error by shortstop Bob Kline on Chuck Diering's grounder fill the bases. Willie Miranda (S) is the next scheduled batter with pitcher Ray Moore (R) to follow.

Would you:

A. Let Miranda siwng away?

B. Order Miranda to try a squeeze bunt?

C. Put in a pinch-hitter for Miranda?

D. Gamble on a steal of home?

Result: A—Miranda swung away and doubled to left, driving in two runs. Baltimore added two more runs and won 6-2 (July 4)

Kuenn Still Unsigned

House Inks Contract

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — With catcher Frank House in the fold, Detroit Tiger officials concentrated their contract signing efforts on four other regulars today.

Still unsigned are shortstop Harvey Kuenn, pitcher Billy Hoeft, first baseman Earl Torgeson and outfielder Jim Delsing.

* * *

Three rookies also are on the unsigned list — Pete Wojey, Bob Tiefenauer and Babe Birrer.

Both Kuenn and Hoeft have been offered pay raises this year but both feel they deserve even more.

* * *

House signed yesterday after another conference with general manager Muddy Ruel. Ruel reportedly convinced him that the first raise offered House was sufficient.

* * *

Ruel and manager Bucky Harris meanwhile took issue with a proposal by baseball commissioner Ford Frick that intentional walks be accomplished by waving the batter to first base.

* * *

"I've had no official bulletin on it," said Harris, "and unless we are specifically ordered to try the experiment, we're not going to."

* * *

Both Harris and Ruel pointed out that there are only one or two intentional passes in an average game. To throw four quick outside pitches takes only about 30 seconds, they said, so the time saving element is negligible.

* * *

In yesterday's practice game at Tigertown, the Stripe Sox defeated the Black Sox 4-3 to even the series at two games apiece. The game's standout pitcher was Larry Donovan, a rangy rookie from Ionia, Mich. He gave up no hits and two walks in a three-inning stint.

Rangers Drop 3rd Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I've been telling them we didn't have those playoffs locked up. Now they can see it themselves."

Phil Watson, coach of the New York Rangers by trade and pessimist by nature, uttered those words last night following his club's 4-2 defeat by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

* * *

The Rangers are in a slump, it's true. They've lost three in a row. But it'll take something akin to the Brooklyn Dodger demise in 1951 to keep them from qualifying for the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup competition.

They're still 1 point behind the second-place Detroit Red Wings, 13 in front of fourth-place Toronto and 15 ahead of fifth-place Boston.

* * *

The Leafs' victory, which moved them into sole possession of the No. 4 spot, largely was gained on strength of two goals by George Armstrong. He notched the clinching tally at 8:09 of the third period after putting his club in front in the opening session. Tod Sloan and Gordie Hannigan got the other Toronto markers while Dave Creighton and Harry Howell scored for New York.

Yale Beaten

Strategy Backfires in 5th Overtime Period

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale Basketball Coach Howard Hobson, who has been hounding rules committees for a 24-second rule in college play, figures he now has a pretty good example to present when he hounds them again.

Hobson, himself, used the delaying tactics against Princeton last night and the likes of it hasn't been seen for some time.

Four overtime periods of scoreless basketball with the score tied 71-71.

* * *

But the strategy backfired in the fifth overtime when Princeton took down the tap and put the ball in play after the Elis stood around with it on their hips for the four previous 5-minute overtimes. Princeton got in a shot just before the buzzer to come up with an Ivy League squeaker, 79-77.

* * *

The five overtimes set no collegiate record. Purdue and Minnesota were added last year to a list of several teams which have played six overtimes. Black Hills (S.D.) and Yankton (S.D.) hold the minor college record with seven overtimes.

But four scoreless overtimes certainly are rare.

The Ellis pulled a boner in the second overtime, and it cost them a 73-71 victory.

* * *

They fed to Johnny Lee who drove in for a shot with a few seconds left. But the officials ruled Yale had called time just before Lee's shot went in.

Decide Sullivan's Ring Future Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The boxing fate of Promoter Tex Sullivan is expected to be decided today by the State Athletic Commission following a reopening of the hearing to discuss "new evidence" discovered by the commission.

From all indications, the examination and cross-examination of Sullivan won't take long. Then Commission Chairman Julius Helfand and Commissioner Robert Christenberry probably will announce a decision on the nine charges made by the commission against Sullivan and his expartner, Willie Gilzenberg.

Lafayette Still Looking

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—It's been 13 years since Lehigh has beaten Lafayette in basketball. Lafayette nicked the Engineers last night 80-67 for the 27th straight time.

Scots Beat Hillsdale

ALMA (AP) — Collecting 27 points from the foul line, Alma overcame a field goal deficit to defeat Hillsdale, 76-67, in an MIAA basketball game last night.

Tasty Pancake May Help Pay Olympians Way

Coast AAU Declares 'Cake Festivals' Sure Cash Producers

TULARE, Calif. (AP) — If Si Tyler's plan works, pancakes may help send U.S. athletes to the Olympic Games in Melbourne next fall.

* * *

Tyler, president of the Central California Assn. of the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), says Olympic pancake festivals are a sure way of raising cash for the team's travel expenses.

* * *

He and friends in 18 San Joaquin Valley communities have lined up that many festivals starting March 3 in Bakersfield and ending here April 20.

Tyler and his aides hope to raise $50,000. That's a minimum of 150,000 pancakes for the 3-to-a-plate servings which with a side order of meat and a cup of coffee, will sell for $1.

State Represented at Great Lakes Meet

LANSING — Great Lakes Commission, with representatives from Michigan and four other states, will hold its first general meeting on May 1, probably in Chicago.

The new commission is designed to solve Great Lakes problems through cooperation and exchange of information. It has no authority to pass laws or enforce its opinions.

Coaches Quit

Two Resign — at Request

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Two veteran assistant football coaches resigned at the University of California—apparently on request — last night.

* * *

They are Zeb Chaney, assistant varsity coach since 1946, and Hal Grant, freshman football and track coach since 1947.

Head Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf said:

"Every once in a while a change helps. This is no reflection on the two men involved. I deeply appreciate their fine services in the past. No hard feelings or dissension is involved. It's merely that I feel a change is advisable."

* * *

Chaney attended Louisiana State. Grant came to California from Redondo Beach, Calif. High School after coaching at Oklahoma Baptist and Missouri School of Mines.

ROOKIES GET THE WORD — Spike Briggs, president of the Detroit Tigers, has a few words to say to the rookies working out at the Tiger camp in Lakeland, Florida. Johnny McHale (23) director of the Detroit farm system stands in the foreground.

Redhot Tilt Looms for PHS, Vikings

By H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Special Writer

With promises of the season's biggest crowd on hand, and with the Saginaw Valley basketball race drawing down to its final dash, Friday's Pontiac High, Flint Northern tilt here may produce the hottest tilt of the year.

For the Vikings this encounter is important. Jack Marlette's club has already clinched at least a share of first place with its 7-1 record in the conference, but it could be all alone on top, if it could win over Chiefs and then add a final victory over Bay City Central in the March 2 windup.

For Chiefs a win is a "must." Pontiac now shares a three-way tie for the runnerup spot, and the Art Van Ryzin club hopes to go on to close its year successfully against Saginaw's Trojans in the finale, a week from Friday night.

Both Marlette and Van Ryzin look for a redhot battle.

Vikings' coach said he was a little afraid of a "psychological letdown" after the bitter engagement last weekend with hometown rival Central.

Van Ryzin figures Northern will be just as tough as at any time this year. But, he is also confident his club has all the ability necessary to give the invaders a scorching battle, all the way.

"We hope to win," Art declared. "We stopped Northern up there after giving away a 13-point lead early in the game, then made it up later. We were in front near the end but lost in the final few seconds."

Says Marlette "I wouldn't even wager a guess at the outcome. It could be awfully tough. There's no doubt about Pontiac's ability to make us go all out. I have a great deal of respect for Coach Van Ryzin, and I know that if Willie Dewalt and Hudson Ray are 'on', we will be up against a very difficult situation."

Incidentally it will be Marlette's first visit to Pontiac in the role of head coach. He handled Northern Jayvees, however, in last year's 1st game here.

For Northern Marlette will start Al Miller (6-4) and Henry Clarke (6-3) at forwards, with Clarence Elliott (6-5) at the pivot. His "little men," Tom Ryan (5-11) and Jerry Radenbaugh (5-9) will be at the guards. Northern lost four regulars at midterm, including Bill Basilius, Gary Morris, Ed Willingham and Melton Wright, all regulars.

Chiefs' starters will be the usual five—Dewalt, Rod Treals at forwards, Ray at center and Dave Diehm and Larry Peet, guards.

Game time is 8 p.m. following a preliminary between junior varsities of the two schools.

Ravens Bow to Flyers in Parochial Tourney

Despite a 24-point effort by Larry Gacki the Ravens of Highland Park St. Benedict were defeated by Detroit St. Andrew, 60-47, in the semi-finals of the parochial tournament Wednesday night at Servite High.

The SCL representatives gave the Flyers a stiff battle, but the tourney favorites carried too many guns. Larry Skora paced the Flyers with 19 points.

At Santa Anita

Outcast to Test Swaps

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The two horses are 3,000 miles apart, but it apparently is impossible to mention Swaps in California without ringing in Nashua in Florida.

Swaps makes his first major move for possible 1956 national honors in the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap Saturday. He will run against as tough a field as can be lined up out here, including Social Outcast.

• • •

It follows that Social Outcast, in addition to being a distinct threat in the Santa Anita, will also serve as an innocent measuring unit to compare the current greatness of Swaps and Nashua. For it was just last Saturday that Alfred Vanderbilt's Outcast gave Nashua a terrific struggle and lost by only a head.

The race, the Widener Handicap, was at a mile and one-quarter, the same as the Santa Anita attraction. Nashua carried 127, Social Outcast 122.

• • •

Swaps will pack 129 and the Outcast 124.

Eddie Arcaro, the nation's top stakes rider, who was aboard Nashua, was asked how he thought the Vanderbilt 6-year-old will fare here. The handsome gelding was flown here Monday from Hialeah.

"He's a tough old horse," replied Arcaro. "I haven't seen any who were much tougher in the country. He holds up well under a lot of travel.

• • •

"He'll take a lot of beating in the handicap. But you asked for my opinion and I'll give it to you—I don't think he can beat Swaps."

Arcaro will ride Clifford Mooers' Traffic Judge, the No. 3 colt last year behind Nashua and Swaps.

Jewelers Stay Undefeated, Coachers Drop 59-58 Tilt

Shaw's Jewelers continued their blistering pace and Stone Front nudged General Motors in adult city league basketball games Wednesday night at the Pontiac High gym.

League-leading Shaw's remains unchallenged in the American division. Five Jewelers scored in double figures, topped by Bill Smith's 14 points, as they romped over the Lakeside Royals, 72-51, for their 12th straight victory. Walt King tallied 15 points for the Royals.

Stone Front fought off a last-quarter surge by GMC to edge the Coachers, 59-58. Jerry Taylor sparked the winners with 20 points while Jerry Mofield was high for GMC with 16. The triumph lifted Stone's into 3rd place, a half game in front of the Coachers.

In National loop play the Hot Shots routed the Blue Devils, 66-28, behind Bud Hayward's 26 points. Victory gave the Hot Shots a tie for 2nd spot with the Aces, half a game off the pace.

Third-positioned Oliver Buick trampled the Lakers, 83-44, in an American division contest. All five starters for Oliver's netted two figures, Perry Williams leading the parade on 18 points.

Four games tonight wind up this week's activity. The Lakeside Royals meet Sun Life and Stadium Inn faces Booth Homes in adult action at PHS. Class D play at Eastern matches Slaybaugh's-Meteors and Wolverines-Spartans.

PHS Ends Dual Schedule at BC

Boyce Expects Close Contest for Friday's Tank Finale

Pontiac High School's swimming team today was primed and ready for its final dual test of the season. Coach Bob (Des) Boyce's club travels to Bay City Central Friday afternoon for what the Chiefs' mentor expects will be a close contest.

"Bay City is very strong," Boyce reported. "It has been coming strong all season. Wolves have lost only to PHS and Arthur Hill in Valley events. Tom Cody's squad is a well-balanced outfit, and is really pointing for us.

"I will be happy if we can win by a couple of points."

Boyce plans to take 28 swimmers, including the reserves who meet Wolfcubs in a reserve meet.

Fox Hunt on Sunday Over Holly Rec. Area

Cliff Dreyer of Holly's Gun and Sports Center today announced plans for a Sunday fox-hunting roundup over the big Holly Recreational Area.

"Last weekend we had a preliminary hunt, when Carl McConnaughey got one fox. This weekend we expect a big turnout and hope to bag a number of foxes.

"The Holly area is a big one. Not many realize there is an area of 6,016 acres to hunt over, consisting of excellent terrain for the sport."

Dogs will be used, but hunters will be restricted to shotguns using No. 2 shot loads only. Hunt will start at the gunshop at 7 a. m. where free coffee and doughnuts will be provided.

Cagey Clem Sez...

Ole Cagey isn't too popular around Lahser road these days. Last week this ole buckaroo picked Berkley to upset Southfield and guess what? That's right, it happened, even though a lot of folks thought it wouldn't.

Don't know, but it must have been a clear day for the crystal ball. Last week's record showed 18 out of 24 to bring the season total to 108 right and 38 wrong. How about that?

And note, the two point difference of the Ferndale-Mt. Clemens score. That's just what ole Clem figured.

★ ★ ★ ★

This should be a tough week with all the big league games. Don't tell any one but the Chiefs of Pontiac might just bump off that Flint Northern team tomorrow, and Walled Lake might even do it again to Southfield. (P.S. Avondale over Fitzgerald.)

Setters to Try

Four Pointers Flub Trials

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. (AP)—A couple of setters hustled out today to try to outhunt the shorthairs in the National Bird Dog Championship.

The shaggy entries were Turnto, owned by George R. Feltman of Union City, Ind., and Wampanoag Inspector, owned by Anthony Ambesi of Philadelphia.

* * *

The afternoon brace switches back to pointers: Time Supply, owned by Ralph V. Easley of San Antonio, and Hall's Stonecroft Babe, owned by Mrs. A. Acton Hall of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Four highly trained pointers were sent looking for quail yesterday but performed like puppies, getting out of hand, flubbing points and misbehaving in general.

* * *

Bill's Gypsy Bird struck out for unknown parts at the very start of her three-hour trial, ignoring the whoops and whistles of Owner-Handler Homer Pittman of Tyler, Tex.

Fast Delivery Boy, paired with Gypsy, also got out of hand after showing some lukewarm birdwork. He returned 40 minutes later, but owner H. A. Crane of Washington, D.C., who flew in to watch the hunt, glumly ordered him picked up.

* * *

The day's hex also extended to Homestake, owned by W. A. Howell of Carbondale, Ill., and Billy Hope, owned by Bethea McCall of Birmingham, Ala.

Homestake went to point four times and managed one bird. Billy pointed six times, had two bevies. And on those two he handed his handler a stiff shock by flushing the birds himself.

The trial, the "World Series" of the formal quail hunt circuit, drew 37 entries—all champions of lesser stakes. The winner will be named March 1.

State Seeking Report Cards From Hunters

LANSING—Small game hunters are urged to mail their season report cards to the Conservation Department's Lansing offices. The green report cards were issued to hunters when they purchased licenses.

This year, report cards were not issued with deer hunting licenses. Instead, special post cards have been mailed out to more than 10,000 deer hunters who are asked to take part in a hunting information survey.

Special survey cards also are being mailed this month to obtain other information, including 4,500 on the small game season, 2,300 on archery deer, 200 on camp deer and 1,200 in a special opinion poll.

Flint JC Cagers Win

FLINT (AP) — Flint solidified its lead in the Michigan Junior College basketball race with a 108-69 victory last night over Alpena.

Anglers Warned Against Causing Summer Mishaps

LANSING—Ice fishermen were cautioned this week against causing summertime accidents.

The warning may be confusing at first glance, but winter carelessness often leads to injuries on bathing beaches later in the year.

Bottles, cans and other refuse left on ice-covered lakes now can create hazards during the summer months. Ice movements and water action deposit debris at or near lake shorelines.

Bottles which sink into deep water are moved along the lake bottom by water action and find their way to beach areas after the ice has melted.

"Litterbug" activities can be costly for the guilty person. One such offender recently was assessed $14.80 in fines and costs in a Kalamazoo justice court for leaving broken bottles on an ice-covered lake.

Ferndale Gridder Signs With Canadian Pro Team

HAMILTON (AP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League have announced the signing of American end Jack Crittenden, a native of Ferndale, Mich.

Crittenden was an offensive end and defensive halfback with Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League for 1½ seasons. He is 25, stands six feet, one inch and weighs 189 pounds.

A carp may live to an age of 50 years, a pike as much as 70 years.

Pointmakers in Final Splurge

Unless he fumbles in complete collapse in the remaining two games, Milford's Jim Davidson has virtually clinched the scoring title in Oakland area cage circles.

The 6-3 Redskin with a 28.7 average is 35 points ahead of Madison's Jim Simer. Each has played in 14 games with two to go.

Simer has Troy and Thurston ahead. It was against Thurston that Simer bucketed his record breaking 53 points earlier in season.

Rapidly moving up and now among the big three is Avondale's Jerry Paul who also has a couple more games, both on the home court.

• • •

Paul's recent splurge of 40-point outputs gives him a 25.7 average with 361 points in 14 games.

There was little change in the list of leading scorers except for a few rises among the 17 point per game players.

Bruce Gentile, Berkley's rugged center, took over the scoring lead in the Inter-Lakes just two-tenths of a point ahead of Walled Lake's Larry Hughes.

Larry Kersten of Almont, Larry Dorow of Imlay City, Frank Rogers of West Bloomfield and Darrell Ridling of Clarenceville all moved up a notch, with Roseville's Len Martyniak and Capac's Jim Chernenko dropping a couple points.

Tomorrow night's cage action is the last big Friday of games for most teams. The schedule slows down for Tuesday and Friday nights next week as teams prepare for district and regional playoffs.

(These are the leading point-makers in Oakland County and in leagues involving Oakland area schools.)

Power and Speed at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Increased power of U. S. built sports and passenger cars is apparent in speed records they set on the beach yesterday.

Tim Flock of Atlanta, Ga., drove a 1956 Chrysler 300B faster than any American stock car had ever been clocked in a two-way run over the measured mile on the ocean sand—139.91 miles an hour.

The National Assn. for stock car automobile racing which conducts the annual speed trials, set up a new classification of unlimited piston displacement for the new powerful cars. Flock's mark automatically became a record in that division.

The fastest previous time for an American strictly stock car in these trials was 127.58 m.p.h. set last year by Warren Koechling of Miami in a 1955 Chrysler 300.

This became a record in the middle bracket class, based on piston displacement, and immediately was erased yesterday by Danny Eames of Detroit. He drove a Dodge 500D at an average of 130.57 m.p.h.

Last year Don MacDonald of Franklin, Mich. set the old record of 112.29 in a 1955 DeSoto.

Zora Arkus-Duntov, Detroit test driver, set a new high for modified American sports cars, driving a modified 1956 Chevrolet Corvette 147.29 m.p.h. The old record of 127.38 was set a year ago by Bob Osiecki of Daytona Beach in an Osiecki Special.

The record for U. S. production sports cars went up to 146.08 m.p.h. on a run by John Fitch of Stamford, Conn. in a 1956 Chevrolet Corvette. The previous high was 124.63 by Joe Ferguson of College Point, N. Y. in a 1955 Ford Thunderbird last year.

The fastest European sports car bettered all the times of American cars but was far short of the record 174.33 m.p.h. by Bob Said of Greenwich, Conn. in a 1954 4.5 litre Ferrari last year.

Bill Holland of Indianapolis, former winner of the Indianapolis 500, drove a similr type car 148.087 m.p.h. for the best foreign car time yesterday.

Carolina Setter Sets Trials Pace

Greenville, S. C. Dog Best Worker in U.S. Event, Wednesday

UNION SPRINGS, Ala. (AP)—Sixteen dogs will be tested over some of the finest quail country in the nation today during the second day of qualifying runs at the National Shooting Dog Championship.

• • •

The pups running in the first eight braces yesterday turned up 40 coveys in the good hunting weather that greeted the opening of the field trials.

• • •

An eager setter, Hillsbright Spot looked to be the best performer yesterday with three covey finds and two stops to flush. He is owned by M.C. Dudley of Greenville, S.C., and was handled by John O'Neall of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mountain Creek Sam, owned by E. B. Chancey of Union Springs and handled by Wayne Attaway of Chattanooga, also proved to be a pacesetter with four covey finds, although a little erratic in handling them.

Hope Upset by Adrian

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP)—Hope College, hoping for a title in the MIAA basketball conference, was dropped into a tie for second last night by an 89-82 defeat at the hands of Adrian.

SMU Changes Vote

SWC May Approve Texas Tech Entry

DALLAS (AP)—If Texas Tech is voted into the Southwest Conference in May, as now indicated, it won't be able to play a round-robin football schedule before 1961. It will be 1958 before it can play a majority of the members.

A survey showed today that Texas Christian can't put Tech permanently on its schedule before 1958, Texas and Rice before 1960 and Southern Methodist before 1961. Arkansas can schedule the Red Raiders next year. Baylor and Texas A&M already have Tech on their schedules.

• • •

That the big West Texas College is to become a member of the conference appeared a foregone conclusion this week when Southern Methodist announced it was changing its vote and would be for Texas Tech in the future. Tech needed only one vote at the last meetirig of the conference.

SMU also indicated it would be ready to consider further expansion. Dr. Willis Tate, president of Southern Methodist, said his school had opposed enlarging the conference because of schedule problems but that since it was apparent that most people favored Tech becoming a member, SMU had decided it wanted to go along with public sentiment.

"With seven members as now constituted, it meant each school could play three conference games at home and three away," Dr. Tate pointed out. "With eight, it will mean that an even number of games can not be played at home and away."

Thus, SMU may favor inviting another school into the conference, so the schedule can be balanced.

The SMU president also advanced the idea of the conference being large enough that it could have two divisions, with the champions of each clashing in the Cotton Bowl.

Summerlin Fights on Coast Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Johnny Summerlin of Detroit and young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles, a pair of big young boxers, meet tonight at the Olympic Auditorium in a fight that may alter the heavyweight picture.

The winner might get a shot at Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn and Summerlin is a slight favorite to win this dangerous assignment in the event Patterson is agreeable.

The 10-rounder is a rematch of a fast fight the two staged here last May 12, when Summerlin earned a split decision.

Summerlin has scored three victories in the Olympic Arena and has built up a succession of wins in Detroit in the past few months.

New York City is the home town of all 12 of the St. John's University basketball squad for 1955-1956.

Wildlife Killed by Auto Is Conservation Problem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Look out when you pass that traffic ahead, brother: Moose don't have any turn signals.

The automobile versus wildlife is becoming an increasingly important problem to conservation officials. When big game animals are involved, the problem becomes of considerable interest to highway safety officials as well.

* * *

Not many moose are involved, of course. There aren't enough moose scattered around. But just about everything else that provides good hunting at one time or another can wind up as a traffic hazard.

It's not a small problem, either for drivers or conservationists. Some states with good deer hunting, for instance, kill nearly as many deer with autos as their hunters do with guns.

* * *

Some states without any deer hunting seasons rack up a substantial annual score of deer by the bumper method alone, and at the considerable peril of the motorists involved.

Illinois, for instance, with no hunting season in modern times, finds the so-called Rock River Deer Herd pushing hundreds of individual whitetails into the densly populated and auto-congested Chicago suburbs.

* * *

In Michigan, a major deer hunting state, wardens counted 2,368 deer killed on the highways last year, with the sharpest increases noted in the industrialed southern part of the state.

That seems to be a pattern. Where motorists expect to see deer, they may be more careful.

But in Pennsylvania, the number of deer killed accidentally last year reached 7,306. The game commission's northeast division did a breakdown study of 1,464 animals killed by all causes in 13 counties with these results:

Autos accounted for 1,232; trains for 68; dogs for 40 and miscellaneous hazards the remaining 124.

* * *

Deer, to be sure, are not the chief sufferers among wildlife, they just get better statistical attention because of the mutual dangers to man and beast.

Such common small game as rabbits and squirrels provide the victims for a highway toll that probably would be enormous if catalogued, and game birds up to the size of quail and pheasants contribute their share.

* * *

A Wisconsin biologist who became curious about the road kill kept a personal notebook during 27,000 miles of travel during one summer and fall, and found more than 700 birds and animals killed and visible during those travels.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

STRIDE OR SWING — Stars today employ two contrasting methods of regulating speed: 1. Lengthening the stride (footwork), and speeding it up a bit, as former world match king Jimmy Smith did, or (2) increasing the push-away of the ball to create a larger swinging arc. The latter system is used by such hot scorers as Steve Nagy, Connie Schwoegler, Ned Day and Bud Bomar.

With push-away you lengthen only the push-away, not the stride. The stance (starting position) is the same, but you concentrate especially on going into stride with a very slow first step so that swing and footwork are readily co-ordinated. I recommend this as the steadier, more workable method.

However, the Smith way could be what you need. It's quite simple. As sketch shows, Smith lengthened his footwork as much as two feet to generate speed on alleys that hooked sharply. "Rummers" is the name for such alleys. This is important: As the stride is lengthened, the get-away (first step) must be quicker to effect timing and to finish in good balance at the foul line with a slide for a very necessary reaching follow-through.

I suggest also that if you stop too abruptly at the line, jerkily and without any slide, lengthen your footwork six inches or more.

Hollywood Headlines:

Vaughn Monroe Creates New Career Minus Band

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vaughn Monroe, the singer and TV salesman, tells us what happened to the band business.

* * *

Traveling bands were an institution in the '30s and '40s when nearly any sizable town in the United States could be visited by the purveyors of popular music. One of the best-liked bands was Vaughn Monroe's. Now his and many other aggregations have disappeared from the American scene.

THE SWEET ONES

"The band business now consists largely of Lawrence Welk —and Guy Lombardo and Sammy Kaye," Monroe remarked candidly.

* * *

Significantly, they are sweet bands. Some of the hotter organizations, like Les Brown, Harry James and the Dorseys, make occasional tours, but largely limit their appearances to playing around Los Angeles and New York.

* * *

Monroe, who disbanded his orchestra three years ago, told why:

"I was in the band business 13 years, starting in 1940. During the '40s, things were good. Then business started getting rough.

ONE-NIGHT STANDS

"From 1935 to 1948, there were a lot of what we call fly-by-night promoters. They were men who did nothing else but promote one-night stands in their towns. By 1948, a lot of them got wiped out.

* * *

"We used to count on 12 dates in Ohio. But eight of the promoters went out of business. That meant we couldn't count on a couple of weeks of small jumps in Ohio. We might play one date there, another in Michigan, another in Illinois, etc. Instead of easy 150-mile jumps, we would be traveling 300 and 400 miles between dates."

* * *

There was a personal consideration in his quitting the band: "Last year I was home for four months. When I had the band, I was lucky to get three weeks."

BOOMING CAREER

Monroe's career has been booming since he blossomed out as a single. He plays a number of theater and night club dates each year, his current one being at the Hotel Sahara in Las Vegas.

* * *

(He flew here for a day to appear on Art Linkletter's TV show.) He has been recording for RCA-Victor for 13 years and now is the company's ace salesman on TV.

He said he had no qualms about taking the assignment.

* * *

"It has worked out beautifully," he remarked. "They figure the first telecast of 'Peter Pan' had an audience of 60 million, the biggest of all time. I did the commercials on the show, and you couldn't ask for a better exposure."

Monroe said he also acts as a good will ambassador for the company, attending conventions and store openings. He combines this with his own appearance tours in different parts of the country.

Desegregation Move Against Aid Opposed

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Assn. of School Administrators has gone on record against any desegregation amendment to federal school aid on the grounds such a clause might lead to defeat of the legislation.

* * *

The association's annual convention, which winds up today, took its stand on the school aid question in resolutions adopted without objection.

It asked that federal school buildings funds be channeled through state departments of education. Local school districts should receive them, the AASA said, "on the basis of demonstrated need and effort."

* * *

In another resolution dealing with integration, the 18,000 school officials urged "that all citizens approach this matter with the spirit of fair play and good will."

They expressed conviction . . . that all problems of integration in our schools are capable of solution at the state and local levels."

Bank-Wary Woman Leaves $1,430 Behind

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Mary Piekarz made a purchase and walked out of a Northwest Side drygoods store, leaving her purse containing $1,430 on a counter.

The store owner, Isadore Hossman, turned the purse and money over to police.

Later, when Mrs. Piekarz appeared at police headquarters, she explained she always carried large sums of money because "I don't trust banks."

Killers Prefer Hanging to Life Spent in Prison

LONDON (INS) — Murderers prefer execution to imprisonment because of the glamor and notoriety it gives them, the International Congress on Criminology was told recently by a leading British psychiatrist.

* * *

Dr. J. A. Hobson, head of the psychiatric department of Middlesex hospital, said he had had cases where notoriety and glamor had led murderers not only to prefer hanging, but had also been instrumental in their surrendering to the police.

"Probably in some murder cases it had been a prominent motivation for their crime," he said. "They cannot bear the ignominy of still being unknown."

Dr. Hobson, who has examined many murderers, said several of them had been of varied personality types and suffered from different forms of mental illness, such as depression schizophrenia, organic brain disease and mental backwardness.

NO ANXIETY

"Apart from the fact that each had killed someone they had little in common other than their absence of anxiety. Two or three had said spontaneously that they had never known such calm and peace of mind as when in prison."

He said the majority of murderers for whom he had given evidence rather resented the slur cast upon them. They did not like the idea of going to a mental home and felt strongly insulted by suggestions they were insane.

Dr. Hobson said he had discovered from records kept at Brixton Prison, London, that the average amount of sleep the last fifty murderers had had was seven and three-quarter hours a night of an allowed maximum of eight hours.

THEY GAIN WEIGHT

Five of the fifty had lost weight, two men gained eighteen pounds and three men gained nineteen pounds. The average gain was eight and three-quarters pounds.

Dr. G. Rylander, a leading Swedish psychiatrist, said every person who threatened the life of another should be examined by a specialist.

"It is a precaution that should be taken for the sake of public safety."

He said that although capital punishment has not been applied in Sweden fon nearly fifty years there were few murders.

* * *

Strong emotions were aroused by murder and punishment was not likely to produce the desired effect on others — that of preventing crime.

Stocks Feature Rising Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising prices predominated in the stock Market today in the early afternoon.

* * *

Many major divisions showed gains of 1 to around 3 points at the best. Losses usually were no larger than major fractions.

Trading was fast. In the first few minutes after the market opening, the tape was late in reporting on the progeress of trading. The pace slackened after that, but it still was in the neighborhood of 2,500,000 shares.

* * *

Buying preferences were widely distributed. Special attention was given to the steels, coppers, and the motors together with individual issues affected by corporate news.

At noon, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 80 cents at $178.40. It was ahead 10 cents Tuesday in a rather slow and mixed market. The financial community recessed yesterday in honor of George Washington.

Ford Motor traded over the counter at highes prices in sympathy with its counterparts on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock closed Tuesday at 61⅝ bid and 61⅞ offered. Today it was quoted as much as a major fraction higher.

The stock market for the past week has been advancing, a move that has put it into a position to challenge the old record high marks established last September. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks Tuesday closed at $177.60. That compares with the record high of $181.50 touched Sept. 23.

Heavy Buying Boosts Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy commission house buying sent grains higher in active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

* * *

Much of the demand was concentrated in soybeans and, rather surprisingly, in rye. Soybeans jumped around five cents at one time while rye had gains extending to around three cents before retracting a little.

Wheat and feed grains were mostly a little easier at the start, but demand soon took hold of wheat and pushed it ahead. New crop futures were in most demand. Feed grains lagged.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hours was ½ to 1⅝ higher, March $2.20; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, March $1.31½; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, March 63¾; rye 2 to 2¾ higher, March $1.30⅜; soybeans 1½ to 4 cents higher, March $2.61½, and lard 15 to 17 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $12.20.

Medical Schooling Cost $50 a Year—in 1756

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The classroom notebook of the first graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine shows the cost of medical schooling 200 years ago was about $50 a year. The cost exceeds $2,000 a year today.

The notebook belonged to Dr. John Archer, who entered the school when it opened in 1765. The book has been purchased by members of the class of 1916, which included Archer's great-great grandson, for presentation to the school. The great-great grandson also is named Dr. John Archer.

Lonely Ascension

Lonely Ascension Island, roughly halfway between Brazil and the west coast of Africa, was first garrisoned by the British at the time of Napoleon's exile (1815). A rock-strewn cluster of craters, it was named for its discovery by the Portuguese on Ascension Day, 1501, says the National Geographic Society. A strategic airport was built there by United States forces during World War II.

Diaper Averts Crash

FLINT (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Haywood, 47, lost control of her car. It plunged across a ditch and landed astride a double track railroad crossing. With two trains bearing down on the car, Mrs. Haywood grabbed a diaper and waved down the slowly moving trains.

New Car Sales Surge Forward

Demand Boosts Receipts to Near-Record Totals During February

DETROIT (AP)—A sharp upturn in new car sales this month with indications of a first quarter second only to last year's record high, was reported yesterday by Ward's Automotive reports.

The statistical authority said: "The turn in automobile sales, after a slow January, came during the first 10 days of February when U.S. dealers chalked up new car sales that were next to the highest for the similar period in automotive history.

"A rising demand for the low-priced models ($1,900 to $2,300) spurred the advance."

By units, Ward's said, Feb. 1-10 sales reached 172,000. This compares with 192,500 in the comparable period of 1955. The agency continued:

"This upsurge in sales indicates that February prospects are for 500,000-plus new car sales. This will have been exceeded only by February of last year when industry chalked up 559,000 units.

"It also means a halt in the upward movement of dealer stocks.

"For example, the gap between production and sales is being narrowed down from 11 per cent in January to eight per cent this month."

Retail deliveries for this year's January-March quarter are indicated at from 1,560,000 to 1,600,000, Ward's said. Last year's first quarter record total was 1,770,500.

C. of C. Would Prefer Only the More Promising

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—Ocala has two weather bureau stations, one north of town and one downtown and in recent weeks the latter has been as much as 12 degrees warmer than the northern on.

But the temperature from the one on the outskirts is the one the bureau sends out on its wires and the chamber of commerce wants it to change and use the warmer, downtown temperatures. Anyway, it wants the downtown station used during the winter months. No comment on what should be done in the summer.

Nile Drawing Closer

The waters of the Nile are drawing closer to the base of Egypt's magnificent colossi of Rameses II. Originally this temple at Abu Simbil stood high above the river, says the National Geographic Society. If more dams are built, adding to the water already backed up by the Aswan Dam, Rameses' monuments may be flooded.

The Vereeniging, South Africa, School Board announced it will prosecute employers who hire youngsters of compulsory school attendance age.

The office will serve Pontiac, Brimingham, Clarkston, Lake Orion, Oxford-Leonard, Rochester and Walled Lake.

Wholesale Coffee Price Goes Up to 99 Cents

The wholesale price of coffee climbed to 99 cents a pound this week following a hike of 4 cents last Tuesday, according to Pontiac wholesalers Whitfield, Walter & Dawson.

Stuart Whitfield of the local firm reports that the wholesale price has risen by 9 cents a pound in the last four weeks.

Business Failures Reach Near-Record in January

NEW YORK (INS) — Dun & Bradstreet reported today business failures in January totaled 1,048, the second highest monthly total in the post-war period.

The failure rate rose to 46 per 10,000 enterprises in the firm's reference book, compared with a rate of 42 in December and 41 in January, 1955. The largest number of failures were in the retail trade.

$250,000 Blaze Hits Giant Fuel Oil Tanks

DETROIT (AP)—Loss was estimated at $250,000 today in a spectacular fire that roared through five 100,000-gallon fuel oil tanks near Flat Rock.

The blaze broke out in an oil separator pit at the Petroleum Specialties, Inc., plant in mid-afternoon yesterday. It raged out of control for three hours and for a time threatened 25 other huge gasoline and oil tanks.

As the fire spread, the tanks burst, spewing flaming oil over a wide area. About 100 employes of the firm and of the neighboring Socony-Mobil Oil Co. plant joined firemen from three departments to confine the fire.

The plant is the northern terminus of the Buckeye Pipeline Co. pipeline from Texas. Edward Fleischman, secretary-treasurer of Petroleum Specialties, estimated the damage.

A Date to Remember

MARSALA, Sicily — People here still remember with awe the day in 1943 when Allied planes dropped more than 100 bombs on the town's wine works. Deep gold Marsala wine burst from tremendous casks and literally ran in the gutters. Wine lovers forgot thir fear and came running with pans and bottles, says the National Georgaphic Society.

In Selling Used Cars: This Is the Question We Hear:

"What do you know about the way this car was treated by its previous owner?"

Naturally, there are many cars which we sell about which we know little of their previous history. On the other hand, many of our Used Cars were sold new and serviced by us. It is a fact, however, that experienced Auto-men can tell by inspecting a car just how it has been treated. Even in cases where previous usage of the car is not accurately known, we can tell whether or not the car has useful mileage left in it. Cars that are not good enough are not offered to our customers, and are immediately wholesaled to other dealers. Even if we can't tell you all about the car's history, your purchase is protected by our Guarantee.

Crosby Musical Slated March 10

Six New Melodies for Spectacular Composed by Arthur Schwartz

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Maxwell Anderson's $60,000 for CBS-TV's musical spectacular of "High Tor" starring Bing Crosby (March 10) includes six new lyrics to melodies by Arthur Schwartz ("Dancing in the Dark," etc.) including "One Day at a Time," "A Little Love, a Little While," "John Barleycorn," "Once Upon A Long Ago," "Sad Is the Life of a Sailor's Wife" and "When You're in Love" . . .

Anderson wrote "September Song" and other unusually literate and lovely lyrics.

NBC is shaving Shaw's "Ceasar and Cleopatra" down to 90-minute size (less more time out for commercials) a feat impossible when Shaw was alive.

The Theater Guild once asked the bearded bard's okay to shorten a Shaw play so commuters could catch trains. G.B.S.' cryptic cablegram advised: "run later trains" . . .

Bert Lahr will warm up for a Max Liebman spec March 24 by warming over "Schneider's Miracle" from "Two on the Aisle" March 4 on the Comedy Hour . . .

PLUM FOR STERLING

Bob Sterling gets the plum performed by Bing Crosby in the original movie March 1 when Lux Video essays "Here Comes the Groom" . . . Pat Crowley and Steve Dunne repeat the original Jane Wyman and Franchot Tone roles.

Perry Como's artillery this Saturday will be Jane Russell, Andy Devine, Lilli Palmer, Bobby Van and Buddy Hackett . . .

Jackie Gleason's switch to 8 p.m. gave him two-fifths of a point edge on Como . . . Perry stayed more than 20 Trendex points ahead of "Stage 'show," for a full hour edge of 31.1 to 21.1.

Virginia Graham gets Margaret Truman's NBC radio job. Her appearance on "This Is Your Life" did it . . .

Robert Q. Lewis' talent for selecting nice singing stars continues with the employment of Jill Corey to succeed Judy Johnson, off to meet the stork . . .

WIN OR ELSE

If "Love and Marriage" from "Our Town" doesn't win the TV Emmy award for songs, the fix is in . . .

We're informed Janette Davis' income has been vastly under-estimated generally, and that she now gets $200,000 a year . . .

Goodyear Playhouse Sunday will be a joy to the old Irish who remember "The Trouble," with a serious drama of the rebellion, "The Terrorists."

Ginger Rogers and Gene Autry have joined the "Louella Parsons Story" on "Climax" March 8 and still no Louella has been cast.

Actress Margo Lee is being shipped all the way from Australia to perform in an imminent Lux Video Theater program . . . Miss Lee won the opportunity in an Australian elimination contest for ambitious actresses.

The premiere of "I Spy" established it as a conventionally tepid cloak-and-dagger drama whose excitement isn't nearly so dazzling as our front pages in this thrill-chilly generation. . .

Dorothy Collins is considered one of TV's real veterans, but she was unknown only about five years ago . . .

GOP Debating Governor Race

Either Bentley or Ford Seem Likely to Seek Top State Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Feikens, Michigan Republican chairman, has wound up his three-day Washington visit with the picture still not clear as to who will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

Feikens emphasized one point, however: either Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., or Rep. Alvin M. Bentley would get the "active support" of the state's entire Republican Congressional Delegation.

Ford and Bentley are the most discussed possibilities among the Michigan delegation. Ford has indicated he would rather run for re-election to Congress but has not ruled out his candidacy. Bentley has indicated he will run if Ford doesn't.

Feikens joined Ford in denying thta Ford had refused "without qualification" to run for governor. He said he did not come here to pick the party candidate.

"Party unity will continue to be the keynote," Feikens said. An agreement between Bentley and Ford not to run against each other, he said, contains the "ingredients" for avoiding "a bitter primary fight."

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams is expected to bid for a fifth two-year term.

Seeks Rule to Check Lobbyists in Senate

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fenneville) says he is tired of being tied up at his desk by lobbyists before the start of daily Senate sessions, and wants more time to study bills.

Accordingly, he announced Wednesday, he plans to ask the Senate to amend its rules and require lobbyists to make an exit from the chamber at least 30 minutes in advance of starting time, instead of 10 minutes before as now provided.

'Red Production Facilities May Top U. S. in 15 Years'

DETROIT (AP) — Russia's production facilities may top those of the United States within 15 years says a Ford Motor Co. engineer who recently returned from the Soviet Union.

• • •

"The Soviet government apparently aims to equal or better any process we have now," Nevin L. Bean, technical assistant in Ford's Automatic Transmission Division, told a special meeting of the Detroit chapter of the National Society of Professional Engineers last night.

"They (the Russians) no longer are building manual production machines if automatic lines can be made," he said. "In 10 years many of their production facilities will be comparable to ours and within 15 years theirs may be superior."

Bean was one of a party of American engineers who visited Russia in December.

POORLY ORGANIZED

He said most industrial plants in Russia are poorly organized and contain much old machinery. But he added he was impressed with two plants, one making machine tools and one ball bearing plant.

"New automatic production machines are being designed and built there," he said, "and the engineering on some of these lines would be a credit to any engineering group anywhere."

"Overall," Bean said, "the interest in automation appeared to be greater in Russia than it is in the United States."

$55,000 Fire Hits Home

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Fire Wednesday destroyed the Gull Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pettus with damage estimated at $55,000. The newly married couple was preparing to leave for Florida. Mrs. Pettus is the former Mrs. Sheldon P. Steers, widow of the one-time Michigan CAA director.

U.S. Schedules Nuclear Blasts

Eniwetok-Bikini Area Slated for Detonations in Late March

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that more than a dozen nuclear and thermonuclear detonations are scheduled to be set off over a period of two to three months at the mid-Pacific proving ground in the Eniwetok-Bikini area.

A story by Hanson W. Baldwin said:

• • •

The detonations are scheduled to start late in March if weather permits. They will be the most extensive series of atomic tests yet held by the United States.

These tests will include ground or tower "shots" of test devices, air drops and missile firings of operational weapons, and the firing of prototypes of production models.

• • •

The explosive force of the devices and weapons tested is expected to range in power from small kiloton explosions to megaton bursts.

A so-called kiloton weapon is one, the last power of which is measured in thousands of tons of TNT equivalent; a megaton weapon's power is measured in millions of tons.

• • •

On Jan. 12, a joint announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department told without detail of the forthcoming tests. The announcement said they would be with weapons "substantially" less powerful than the so-called hydrogen, or thermonuclear, weapon detonated at Eniwetok two years ago.

CHICAGO (AP) — Seymour Fishman, Chicago stock broker, has been appointed financial chairman of the Kefauver for President Committee in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota.

Odd Revolt Under Way in Brazil

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—One of the world's strangest rebellions is under way in Brazil.

* * *

Four air force officers and 30 men have seized the city of Santarem, cutting all air and river traffic through the Amazon Valley. Not a shot has been fired. No one is sure why the men are in revolt. The government angrily denies the revolt leader is short in his accounts.

NOTHING ELSE

No other disorders have been reported over the country. Telephone service between Rio de Janerio and Sao Paulo was cut last night but the telephone company said the difficulty was due to an accident on its lines. There was no report of troop movements or other unusual occurrences at Sao Paulo Brazil's second city of more than two million persons 220 miles southwest of Rio de Janerio.

* * *

Santarem, the revolt site, is a commercial center of some 15,000 persons 1,500 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro and about 350 miles up the Amazon. The uprising has political overtones.

Maj. Haroldo Veloso fled from Rio de Janeiro in a training plane Feb. 11 and enlisted the river town's small garrison behind him. They blocked the airfield with gasoline drums and have been holding out ever since.

* * *

His action cut air traffic between Belem, near the mouth of the Amazon, and Manaus, the chief upriver port. Commerical planes need the Santarem field as a refueling stop.

NO RAILROADS

River boats have not tried to run past Santarem. There are no railroads along the Amazon.

* * *

The government has concentrated troops in Belem and has occupied emergency landing fields around the Santarem redoubt. But any plans of further action are "a military secret."

One reason for the government inactivity may be widespread disaffection reported in the air force. An attack resulting in the death of Veloso could make him a martyr. But if the government can wait for him to surrender, it might by kid - glove handling appease the reported air force feeling.

Chile's first paper mill will open soon.
