Pulled by fast cars, the planes rising on their whirling rotor blades, attain a height of 70 feet at times.

Explorer Beats Second Sputnik in Top Altitude

Hits Maximum of Over 1,800 Miles Compared to Red Moon's 1,056

WASHINGTON (INS) — New calculations estimate the orbit of America's earth satellite to reach a maximum altitude of more than 1,800 miles.

This is nearly double the apogee, or maximum altitude, of Russia's Sputnik II, which reaches 1,056 miles at the height of its orbit.

Meanwhile, the second confirmed U. S. sighting of the satellite was reported last night in Manhattan, Kan., and scientists forecast Explorer would make more passes over Southern parts of the U. S. late today and tonight, but only expert moonwatchers with high-powered binoculars or telescopes would be able to see it.

The first sighting in the U. S. was made Saturday night by three moonwatchers in New Mexico.

U. S. cities over which Explorer was to pass today, and the times (all EST) are: Between Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, Fla., 5:38 p.m.; Montgomery, Ala., 7:40 p.m.; Savannah, Ga., 7:42 p.m.; San Diego, Calif, 9:34 p.m.; Cape Canaveral, 9:46 p.m.

Pontiac Ice Queen of 1958 Figures as Top Skater, Too

A Bloomfield Hills High School junior proved yesterday she could mix beauty, brains and blades as she captured the title of Pontiac Ice Queen of 1958 at the city's Ice Carnival.

Although judges said contestants for the queen's title need not have to skate—"to encourage more entries and keep it on a level with the state contest" — Phillenore Drummond, 16, of 240 Joyce Ct., Bloomfield Hills, fooled them.

She not only beat out five other contestants for the beauty title in the two-day affair, but also found time to win figure skating and speed - skating awards.

Miss Drummond, an all-A student with hopes for a career in science, first put on the blades when 10. She, along with her mother, father and three younger brothers, often take to the ice as a family at the Detroit Skating Club.

It was the first time in 21 years that skating ability wasn't a prerequisite for the title. "But it didn't have anything to do with the selection of Miss Drummond," declared Leonard T. Buzz, of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept.

The carnival was sponsored by Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. and the Northside Community Club.

The five runner-ups for the beauty contest, selected to serve on the queen's court, include: Sherry Gremore, 16, of 20 W. Brooklyn Ave.; Donna Robinson, 17, of 9096

Paving the Way for Full Merger of State Unions

Two Separate Groups Will Be Dissolved on Meany's Orders

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — The AFL-CIO moved today to oust Teamster President James R. Hoffa from control of the old American Federation of Labor organization in Michigan.

Federation President George Meany is expected to announce cancellation of the charters of the separate AFL and CIO bodies in the state.

This will prepare the way for issuance by the AFL-CIO Executive Council of a charter to merged AFL-CIO groups in Michigan.

Federation officials say that the moves contemplated by Meany are intended to break Hoffa's stranglehold on the AFL machinery in the state.

They explained that Michigan is foremost among the states that have refused to merge AFL and CIO organizations as is required by the merger agreement of December 1955.

Hoffa is blamed for blocking the merger of local organizations in the state.

The move to force a merger of AFL and CIO bodies in Michigan was planned as the federation's Executive Council assembled for its midwinter meeting in Miami Beach.

The federation's governing body is expected to take up a large number of matters ranging from legislation aimed at correcting labor-management abuses to jurisdictional disputes among AFL-CIO unions.

Full Investigation Launched in California

Probe Plane Collision Which Killed 48

NORWALK, Calif (INS) — A full-scale investigation has been launched into the shattering mid-air collision of a huge military transport and a Navy patrol bomber, which killed 48 persons and rained death-dealing flames and debris on the homes of terror-stricken residents Saturday night.

The Air Force announced that all 41 persons aboard the transport, a four-engine C118, were killed, including a crew of six and four servicewomen. A spokesman said all the passengers were armed forces personnel.

The Navy announced that six of the eight crew members aboard the bomber, a twin-engine P2V Neptune, died in the crash. The other two, it said, were catapulted to safety, including one man who rode a spinning piece of wreckage to the ground.

(Editor's note: A Grand Haven, Mich., Navy lieutenant commander killed in the collision of the two military planes was to have been honored this week as Navy Chaplain of the Year.

(Lt. Cmdr. Peter Bol was to have received the Reserve Officers Association's "Four Chaplains Award" at ceremonies in Washington, D. C. Lt. Cmdr. Bol was picked for the award for his part in Operation Deep Freeze, a Navy expedition to Antarctica.)

An innocent victim, Mrs. Edith Hernandez, 21, was killed by a flying piece of debris when she ran outside her home, a mile from the crash, to make sure her two children were safe.

The transport, which was en route from Long Beach Airport to its home field at Maguire Air Force Base, N. J., and the bomber, on a routine training flight from Los Alimitos Naval Station, collided Saturday night about 2,000 feet above Norwalk.

Seconds later, they became twin balls of fire and plummeted to earth three miles apart, showering sparks on nearby homes and causing an immovable traffic jam when panicked motorists tried to speed to their houses to make sure their families were safe.

The transport crashed into Norwalk's busiest intersection, Firestone and Pioneer Blvds. The Neptune plunged into a gravel pit in Los Nietos.

Yesterday, another collision between two private planes near Yorba Linda, in Orange County, southeast of Los Angeles, killed five more persons, for a total of 53 in three days.

Next Red Moon, 1½ Tons

PARIS (INS)—The Hungarian Telegraph agency, MTI, said today it was believed that the next Soviet satellite to be launched would weigh approximately one and a half tons.

Navy May Try to Launch Moon

Vanguard Now in Firing Position, but Officials Keep Mum on Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, beaten into space by the Army's Explorer satellite, was pushing preparations today for another try at getting its Vanguard vehicle aloft.

The 72-foot Vanguard rocket was visible at its launching tower at Cape Canaveral, Fla., pointing to a possible early firing attempt. But the Navy kept mum on its plans.

The Navy's Vanguard project, which had sole responsibility in the U. S. earth satellite program until November, failed in its first launching effort Dec. 6. Its rocket exploded on the launching pad.

A number of technical difficulties prevented another launching try last month. But informed sources at the Cape Canaveral test center said those troubles had been fixed.

These sources said the Vanguard rocket now has been repaired and is fully reassembled at its launching tower. They said the three-stage rocket probably would be ready for firing as soon as final checks have been completed and wind and other conditions permit.

In a launching tower nearby, observers could see a large rocket which they thought could be the first stage of another Jupiter-C, the type used by the Army in its successful launching of the Explorer.

To observers here it is evident that the Vanguard workers, many of them young scientists only a few years out of college, are under heavy strain both because of large work loads and because of worry.

They will not discuss their problems publicly. They have been told that the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington will do the talking.

It Makes a Difference

Tax Men Admit Mistake

NEW YORK (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has announced an error in the 1957 edition of its booklet "Your Federal Income Tax."

Tax officials said the error in the 128 page booklet appeared in the discussion of the $600 exemption for dependents under Example 2 on Page 13.

The announcement said:

"The discussion indicates that a divorced father is entitled to claim exemptions for his two children even though he failed to furnish more than one-half of their support.

"This is erroneous, because the word 'not' was omitted from the discussion.

"The taxpayer must furnish over one-half of the total support of the dependents to obtain the exemption, except in multiple support cases which are also described in the booklet."

Trouble Waking Up? Just Step Outside

Brisk weather is due for the Pontiac area, the U. S. Weather Bureau reports.

Tonight will be fair with a low of 16 degrees. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and continued cold with a high near 28.

The five-day forecast predicts temperatures will average about four degrees below the normal high of 33 and normal low of 19. No decided temperature changes are due, just continued rather cold through Friday.

Snow flurries are expected Tuesday night and Thursday. Lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 14. The reading at 2 p.m. was 26.

2 Official Names for U.S. Satellite: Explorer—Alpha

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first American satellite carries two names, Explorer and Alpha.

The Pentagon announced last night, a few minutes after the Army had launched the satellite that the name is Explorer.

An hour or so later, reporters were told at a news conference of civilian scientists in the program that "the name of this particular satellite is 1958 Alpha."

This, of course, seemed to suggest the scientists might call the second U.S. satellite Beta, the second letter of the Greek alphabet.

The President returned to Washington from a weekend of golf, marred by bad weather.

Standard Cuts 1.2c; Gas War Continues

The gas price war continued to rage today as the Standard Oil Co. announced another cut of 1.2 cents a gallon to its dealers.

It was the third cut since Jan. 15 for the firm, which has been followed by other major companies in the reduction. Industry spokesmen say the decreases are necessary to stay on a competitive level with other retailers.

The total cut of Standard since Jan. 15 has been 4.4 cents.

Other firms again were expected to follow this latest cut, and pass the price cut on to consumers.

To Register Voters in City Till 8 Tonight

The city clerk's office will remain open until 8 o'clock tonight to receive last-minute registrations for the city primary election March 3.

Tonight also is the deadline to renew expired registrations and turn in changes of address, City Clerk Ada R. Evans said.

To Be Used for City Hospital Addition

Medical Staff Donating $25,000

The Pontiac General Hospital medical staff has presented the hospital administration with a $25,000 check, representing the first installment of $125,000 it has pledged towards financing the completion of the hospital addition.

Dr. John J. Marra, hospital chief of staff, handed the check over to Carl I. Flath, hospital director.

"The money is for a major portion of refrigeration equipment to air condition some of the vital new areas, such as surgery and X-ray, that are being finished now," Dr. Marra explained.

"When the rest of the air conditioning system is to be installed, we hope to have the money on hand to pay for it. The total cost should be around $75,000."

FOR SPECIFIC ITEMS

The remaining $50,000 in pledges is also for specific items in the new addition, Dr. Marra said. The staff plans to pay for such things as conference room furnishings, auditorium equipment, library facilities and educational aids for resident physician instruction.

"As these items come up, we plan to collect sufficient money from our pledges to pay for them," Dr. Marra said.

Most of the pledges, he said, have been made by about 100 active members of the 360-member medical staff. "However, we're aiming at 100 per cent participation by the whole staff," Dr. Marra said.

Expressing his appreciation to the staff for the financial aid, Flath said that the contributions would cover expenses not provided for in the $950,000 promised the hospital by the city.

The city expects to have the first $317,000 on hand this month and raise the rest by early next year. The money is to be raised through tax-anticipation notes on 1958-1960 capital improvement funds.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

The staff's building fund committee, which is in charge of raising contributions, is chaired by Dr. Ferdinand Gaensbauer.

Kentucky Woman Killed as Police Hunt Gunman

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—A woman was shot to death at a roadblock near here today as officers spread a new dragnet for an escaped gunman after his companion attempted suicide, and a kidnaped Missouri State Police trooper was freed, unharmed.

CARL BURTON

JEWEL ENGLISH

Miss Jewell English, 24, of Paducah, was shot when a car in which she was riding sped through a roadblock.

Missouri Trooper Vernon Hopkins reported she was shot by a civilian, Forest McAllister of Fulton, Ky., who was sitting in Hopkins' police cruiser.

Hopkins fired and hit a tire when the car, driven by the victim's brother, Claudie English, 27, ran the roadblock.

The officer said McAllister then picked up a rifle and fired. The bullet hit Miss English in the side.

NO CHARGE MADE

No charge was placed against McAllister or English. Officers could learn of no connection between the car's occupants and Burton, who fled on foot last night.

Weekend Traffic Fatal for Eleven

Weather Not a Major Factor in Deaths on Michigan Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven persons were killed in automobile traffic over a Michigan weekend marked by generally cloudy though not severe weather.

Ronald M. Pilla, 25, Detroit, was killed Sunday in a two-car collision at a Detroit intersection.

Robert Frank Nalbach, 22, Buchanan, was killed Saturday night when his car collided head-on with a truck two miles west of Bakerstown.

Lewis Hartman, 43, Flint, was injured fatally Saturday night when hit by a track while crossing a highway near Flint.

Mrs. Ethel Russell, 70, Durand, was killed Saturday in a two-car crash at a Durand intersection.

Chester Rozewicz, 40, Dearborn, was injured fatally Friday night when struck by a car in Dearborn.

Delbert Strickland, 34, Cass City, was killed early Sunday in a two car collision near Caro.

Mrs. Josephine Mickley, 62, Detroit, was killed Sunday when the car in which she was riding blew a tire and crashed into a tree in Livonia.

Fred Lowe, 69, Warren, was fatally injured Friday night when struck by a car while crossing a highway in Warren.

Leo E. Winzer, 51, Linden, was killed Sunday when his car struck a tree northeast of Howell.

FUTURE CONTESTS

Miss Drummond will represent Pontiac in the Grayling Winter Sports Carnival queen contest next weekend. The winner of this contest will compete in the Miss Michigan contest which chooses a contestant for the Miss America finals.

Along with a trophy and a traveling crown, the queen also received a complete ski ensemble and an all-expense trip to Grayling.

She will participate in citywide parades throughout 1958.

Joanne Field, under 10; Karen McAleer, 10 to 11 group; Joy Catogna, 12 to 13; Joni Whittemore, 14 to 15; Miss Drummond, 16 and over.

First place winners of the girls races were Lorraine King, 7 through 9 years, one lap; Peggy Johnson, 10 to 11, two laps; Mick King, 12 to 14, two laps; Miss Drummond, 16 and over, five laps.

BOYS' HONORS

Walking off with top honors in the boys races were Robert Drummond, 7 through 9 years, one lap; Richard Steinhelper, 10 to 11, two laps; Bruce Norton, 12 to 14, five laps; Thomas Crandall, 15 to 18, 10 laps and Jim Kimmel and Lynn Johnson, winners in backward races.

UP Indians Try for Big Payoff in U.S. Courts

ESCANABA (UP) — Three tribes of Michigan and Wisconsin Indians have won a preliminary legal skirmish for payment for land in the western Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin they lost more than a century ago.

The government won't give the land back. But it may have to shell out up to a million pieces of modern-day wampum to get clear title to some of it. That would be a million dollars.

The property includes a triangular piece of land bounded by Iron Mountain, Escanaba and Menominee and a long strip along the shores of Green Bay and Lake Michigan into Milwaukee.

The Indians, members of the Oneida, Stockbridge and Munsee tribes, claim they were cheated out of the territory more than 125 years ago. And the Indian Claims Commission in Washington has supported their claim.

The three tribes only have a half interest in the claim. The Menominee Indians settled with the government long ago.

The three tribes filed suit several years ago. Now, the recent ruling has paved the way on evaluation hearings before the commission. Should the Indians win again, their suit will be aired in court.

Speed on Dixie to Be Discussed

State Asks Waterford to Change the Limit on 5-Mile Portion

A suggestion from the Michigan State Highway Dept. to change the speed limit on a portion of the Dixie Highway will be discussed at the regular Waterford Township Board meeting tonight at 7:30.

According to Supervisor Elmer Johnson, the state department suggests the speed limit on a section of Dixie highway approximately five miles long, from West boulevard to Waterford Hill (the township line), be changed to 40 miles per hour.

At present, this strip of highway is divided into two speed limits. It is 45 m.p.h. from West Boulevard to just past Watkins Lake road, and 35 m.p.h. from that point to the township line.

A survey by the department last year revealed drivers were exceeding the 35 m.p.h. limit.

Other business on tonight's agenda includes the request from Schlonick Dunitz Co., Detroit builders, for a refund of $256.50 for electrical permits obtained in 1955 for the Doyan Subdivision, but never used.

The old township board had refused a similiar request 14 months after the permits were granted. This was based on a policy that no refunds would be given after a year's time.

Clerk James Seeterlin will also ask the board's permission to get quotations on printing 25,000 registration cards for voters.

Seeterlin has reorganized the voting precincts and added six to make a total of 18. He wants to include these new precincts on the cards.

The township auditors are expected to request the establishment of an administrative precedure ordinance for sewer systems, Seeterlin said. The auditors suggest that a code be set up for the issuance of permits, billing residents, and imposing penalties for delinquent bills.

Chrysler Reports Normal Operations

DETROIT (UP)—Chrysler Corp. reported today production operations were back to normal at its plants in the Detroit area.

Nearly 14,000 workers were idled last week by labor disputes in six plants. Some workers walked off the job protesting what they called a "speedup." The company denied a speedup and said other workers had to be sent home because a few failed to keep production lines going.

Meanwhile, the United Auto Workers has threatened to strike the Dodge Main plant where 10,500 workers are employed.

A strike at Dodge Main, where trucks serving other plants are stored, could idle 70,000 workers in the Detroit area.

Negotiations looking to a settlement at Dodge Main were recessed last week without a date being set for resumption. The union also charges a "speedup" at Dodge Main.

Traffic Deaths Down

CHICAGO (INS) — The National Safety Council reported today that the nation's 1957 traffic fatality toll was three per cent—1,128 lives—below the highway death count in 1956.

Youth Reportedly Details Crimes

May Arraign Death Pair

LINCOLN, Neb. (INS) — Charles Starkweather, confessed slayer of 11 persons, and his 14-year-old girl friend, Caril Ann Fugate, may be arraigned on murder charges in Lincoln today.

The 19-year-old Starkweather reportedly has signed a 214-page statement containing a detailed account of his three-day killing foray in Nebraska and Wyoming.

Employing a shotgun, rifle, knife and bludgeon on his murder spree, the cocky, red-haired slayer left 10 persons dead in the Lincoln area and one in Wyoming.

SEIZED IN WYOMING

Starkweather and Miss Fugate finally were seized near Douglas, Wyo., last Wednesday.

The girl has maintained that she was held hostage by her boy friend throughout the slaying rampage.

Starkweather first exonerated Miss Fugate, but later said she was a "willing" companion on the bloody excursion.

Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele questioned the pair yesterday.

He declined to discuss Starkweather's confession and said Miss Fugate did not make a written statement.

by helicopters, continued the manhunt for Burton.

Little radioed for help after Burton had left a house in a remote part of McCracken County near here where he and Harold Davis, 33, held Little and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Shelton for 24 hours.

Davis, an ex-convict, and Burton's brother-in-law, shot himself in the chest and was in critical condition in a Paducah hospital. He had apparently become frightened by a television broadcast concerning the search in which stiff penalties for kidnaping were mentioned.

Little and the Sheltons were unharmed.

Burton left the house armed with Little's service revolver and his own .32-caliber pistol.

Little appeared calm and composed after his release and took part in the search for Burton until Lt. Col. Edmund Hockaday of the Missouri Highway Patrol ordered him brought in.

FEARED FOR LIFE

The trooper said he was afraid during the chase into the Paducah area Saturday night that he might be killed by his captors or in a smashup during the wild chase.

Burton had taken over the wheel of Little's commandeered patrol car, the trooper said, and would lean back occasionally to fire at a pursuing Kentucky State Police car.

Burton drove over curbs, through filling station driveways, and turned corners at reckless speeds, Little said. Efforts to contact the pursuing Kentucky cars by radio and tell them to pull back were futile, Little said, because the radios were on different wave lengths.

According to Little, Burton said he had used the pistol to kill a policeman in San Francisco about three weeks ago.

Little, a calm, six-footer with four years on the Missouri highway patrol, was taken as a hostage Saturday after he stopped Davis and Burton in their California-licensed auto for a routine check.

"There was just something about it that made me do it," he said.

He said he checked the men out and was about to let them go when he noticed the barrel of a gun sticking out of the back seat under a sack. He pulled off the sack and saw a sawed-off shotgun. At this point Burton pulled a pistol.

The men forced Little and Sheriff Snowden Dell, who was with him, to accompany them to a service station next door where they took $45 from the cash register and were about to take a 19-year-old girl, Mrs. Evelyn Foster, as hostage.

Little said, "If you have to take someone, take me." They did, and left the girl behind.

The gunmen subsequently ditched their own auto and drove Little's police cruiser into Paducah, as police from four states, learning of the abduction, converged behind them in one of this area's biggest manhunts in history.

Police lost track of the auto about 10 p.m. Little said Burton, a native of Paducah, drove to the Melber community, a small remote section west of Paducah, saw a car in front of the Shelton house and stopped.

They forced Little to gain entrance, saying he was a police officer, and the three stayed there.

Little said Burton and Davis at no time threatened the Sheltons, and that the four men spent an "enjoyable afternoon" watching television and playing checkers and cribbage while Mrs. Shelton cooked for them.

Officers were considering a house-to-house search in the Paducah area for the trio when Little's voice came over the radio of his cruiser telling them where he was.

Little said they handcuffed him to a chair and later to a bed before Burton left on foot about 5 p.m. Davis was to take Shelton's auto, and apparently planned to take Shelton along as another hostage.

But Little said Davis later watched a television show in which Paducah Police Chief Rulie Elliott mentioned stiff penalties under the federal kidnaping law in making an appeal for community aid in the search. Kidnaping and auto theft charges had been filed against both men.

Apparently frightened, Davis told Little he was going to commit suicide. "He said he couldn't serve any time in prison," Little said.

The trooper said Davis then freed him and took him and Shelton outside at gunpoint, left them and went to the side of the house where he shot himself.

Little said Burton appeared to be the leader in the affair from the start. He quoted Davis as saying, "Some are leaders and some are followers and I'm a follower of a bad leader."

Davis, father of four children, had served five years in San Quentin Prison on a robbery and assault to commit murder conviction. He was a voluntary mental patient at the age of 16.

Need Ingenuity, Eisenhower Says

Talks to 'Brains' at Yale Symposium to Consider 'Soviet Threat'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS) — President Eisenhower warned today that "the security of our nation and the peace of the world require all the ingenuity and energy the American people can muster."

In a message to some of the nation's most brilliant men meeting at Yale University to consider the "Soviet threat," Mr. Eisenhower added:

". . . We need also a broader understanding and knowledge of the natural forces which man seeks to bring under benevolent control."

The President's message set the course for the historic two-day conference called to consider "America's human resources to meet the scientific challenge."

"Russias menacing upsurge in science presents far more than a military threat to the United States."

Dr. Howard L. Bevis, chairman of the President's committee on scientists and engineers, warned that satellites must not be the nation's only concern.

The president of Ohio State University continued:

"We will grossly misinterpret the demands of the age we live in if we raise our sights no higher than to match or surpass the Russians."

Dr. James A. Killian Jr., special science and technology, put the challenge this way:

"We must marshall public opinion to de-emphasize the hot rodders among our youth and to encourage the hot minds.

"Up until now we have actually accomplished little—save in the best schools where science is probably taught as well as anywhere in the world."

Killian called for:

—More attention to needs of those with high talent.

—A search for the "brains" in high school and then, proper foundations for them in mathematics and science.

—More efficient use of liberal arts colleges.

—Strengthening engineering institutions to extend opportunities for graduate study in engineering.

—A wider understanding of science, since science today is part of any education that is thoroughly liberal.

Killian warned that if the shortcomings in American education are not corrected the nation will drop into a position of disadvantage in the great technological competition that lies ahead.

The Army, which launched the Explorer late Friday night at Cape Canaveral with its jupiter-C rocket assembly, jumped into work on another similar satellite which will be more fully instrumented and will contain living matter in the form of yeast.

The Naval Research Laboratory, compiling information sent back to tracking stations by America's 30.8-pound Explorer satellite, now predict the ellipical orbit of the baby moon varies from a low of 214 miles to a high of 1,850 miles as it girdles the globe once every 115 minutes. The previous maximum altitude was thought to be 1,700 miles.

BETTER THAN SPUTNIK

Free world scientists hailed Explorer as of more scientific value than either of the Russian Sputniks because it has better instrumentation and can send cosmic ray and meteorite data from higher altitudes of space.

Some even said it was a comparable rocket feat because of the high altitude reached, although Russia's second Sputnik carrying a dog weighs 400 times as much as Explorer.

Wire grids mounted here and there on the outside of the satellite record any contact with small meteorite particles—literally stardust. Scientists report some of these grids already have been broken but they're not sure yet whether this resulted from contact with meteorites or merely from the jarring the Explorer received in being pushed into space.

Recordings of the coded radio signals are being deciphered by U. S. International Geophysical Year scientists here. After the material is evaluated it will be passed along to IGY information centers for relay to other nations.

AFL-CIO to Break Hoffa Rule in State

Hoffa recently was placed under a court monitor system in running the Teamsters. But Meany and other federation leaders appear to have no confidence that this will be an effective check on Hoffa, who was named as an associate of hoodlums in Senate Rackets Committee hearings.

Meany has emphasized that the main reason for expulsion in December was that Hoffa had been elected union president. Hoffa has been accused of racketeering connections and other corrupt practices.

The bitter feud between Hoffa and President Walter Reuther of the big United Auto Workers Union also was considered another factor in the Michigan action. Both are Detroiters and both are major powers in the labor movement in Michigan.

The move to force a consolidation of the AFL and CIO bodies in Michigan will be the first use by the federation's top officials of their power to compel mergers of local AFL and CIO groups.

Under terms of the AFL-CIO merger agreement of December 1955, these bodies were supposed to merge within two years. However, up to this time mergers have gone forward in 35 states and are lagging in 13.

OTHER LAGGARDS

Besides Michigan, states that have failed to merge local bodies are Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Florida, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, California.

The reported decision to move to force a merger in Michigan indicates that action may be taken quickly in the other states.

Dulles—Sniffing—Still Can Work in Home Office

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State Dulles, kept indoors by a heavy cold, conferred at home today with Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson on how to handle Soviet Premier Bulganin's latest note to President Eisenhower.

The State Department said Dulles came down with the cold after returning from the Baghdad Pact meeting at Ankara, Turkey, last week.

Dulles was able to work at home, and Thompson, back from his Moscow post for consultation, was called there this morning.

Dulles and Thompson are going over the whole range of U.S.-Soviet relations, particularly on the key question of diplomatic talks that could lead to a summit conference later this year. With Bulganin's new letter at hand, they may develop a new U.S. challenge to Russia to undertake serious diplomatic negotiations for a top-level meeting.

Material Defies Radar

LONDON — A British firm reports that it has developed a material for use on missiles and other aerial weapons which cannot be detected by radar. The material is said to absorb radar impulses instead of reflecting them.

The Day in Birmingham

City Commission Will Act on Taxi Owner's Appeal

BIRMINGHAM—Although there are no public hearings scheduled for tonight's City Commission meeting, it does not appear the session will be short.

Commissioners will act on the appeal filed by Maurice Thompson, owner of the AAA Cab Co., on the revocation of his license. The Taxicab Board, headed by J. H. Purkiss Jr., last week recommended the license revocation because of the mechanical condition of Thompson's cabs.

Thompson said that with the exception of one vehicle, all his cabs have been repaired to meet city requirements. He has asked delay on the board's action in order that he may offer his business for sale as a going concern.

Speaking for the board, Purkiss said this may take weeks or months, and in the opinion of the board, no delay should be made.

Commissioners also are being asked to report to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission as to whether a new SDD (liquor) license should be granted to Alban's restaurant and cafeteria, 188 N. Hunter Blvd. the business now has a SDM (beer and wine) license.

T. D. Barr, Oakland County veterinarian, has complimented the city of Birmingham on the fact that 65.2 per cent of its dogs have been licensed and have received immunization against rabies.

He pointed out that the city has approximately one dog for each 10 persons. With the program of vaccination in force here the threat of a rabies epidemic is almost non-existent, he said.

The 15th annual Adams School PTA Frolic is scheduled for 3:30 to 8 p.m. Friday. The only fund-raising activity of the group, it will be held in the gymnasium decorated in a carnival motif.

Games of skill and fun booths will be featured. There will also be booths with baked goods, handicraft and Valentines.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Floyd A. Franklin

Service for Mrs. Floyd (Olive B.) Franklin, 62, of 17880 Dunblaine Rd. will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church, with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery. The Rev. W. Glen Harris will officiate.

Mrs. Franklin died yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital after lengthy illness.

A native of Pennsylvania and former school teacher there, Mrs. Franklin had lived in Birmingham for 32 years.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here, Duquesne Chapter 292, Order of the Eastern Star, in Pennsylvania, and the Birmingham Women's Club.

Mrs. Franklin had been associated with the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. George Stelzer of Urbana, Ohio, and a brother, Albert G. Brown of Pennsylvania.

J. David Heinz

Service for J. David Heinz, 39, of 575 Greenwood Ave. will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Name Church. Officiating will be Msgr. Eugene Paddock, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mr. Heinz died Saturday at William Beaumont Hospital after a long illness.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Bell Chapel of William R. Hamilton Co.

Born in Illinois, Mr. Heinz had been a resident of Birmingham for 10 years.

He was an Army captain during World War II. He was at one time employed by Field Enterprises of Detroit Encyclopedia and later was purchasing agent for the James Vernor Co. of Detroit.

Mr. Heinz was a member of Holy Name Church and the American Legion, and was a committeeman for Boy Scout Troop B-12 in Birmingham.

Surviving are his wife, June; three daughters, Suzanne M., Lynn A. and Barbara K.; a son, Theodore J., all at home; his mother, Mrs. Fred Schnorr of Kohler, Wis., and a brother, Dr. Harold N. of Taylor's Falls, Minn.

Protestants Lead List

WASHINGTON (UP) — A sampling by the Census Bureau indicates that some 79 million adult Americans regard themselves as Protestants and 30,700,000 as Roman Catholics. Another 3,900,000 follow Judaism, about 1,500,000 hold various other beliefs and some 3,200,000 profess no religion.

Twins So Alike Parents Can't Tell Them Apart

CLINTON, Ill. (AP)—The parents of 11-months-old twin sons, who have been unable to identify their infants since they had their hair cut, hope to straighten out their problem.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cray said they plan to take their sons, Tommy and Terry, to the hospital in which they were born for a second set of footprints and reidentification.

Mrs. Cray said she had no trouble identifying the twins before the boys got their first haircuts. Tommy's hair had the most pronounced tendency to curl. Terry's hair was wavy.

Their measurements are the same, their weight identical to the half ounce and they have each cut seven teeth.

Suburban Fire Drill Causes Chief to Blush

DENVER (AP) — Flames flashed through a two-story house on the outskirts of Denver yesterday, setting off an alarm that sent three Denver fire trucks and sheriff's officers to the scene. Fire Chief Dale Wasinger of suburban Cunningham blushed as he explained to all it was only a fire drill for his volunteers.

SMU Neighborhood Hit by 2nd Big Fire in Week

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The second major fire within a week in the Southern Methodist University neighborhood heavily damaged four business firms early yesterday.

Fire Department officials said they had not entirely discounted arson. They estimated each fire's loss at about $100,000.

Washington Lost $30,000 in Revolution

That if you are worried about the fact your dollar buys less, it might console you to know that George Washington had the same kind of trouble. He lost about $30,000 during the Revolutionary War through a depreciation of money.

That the full moon is nine times as bright as the half moon.

That beauty queens are getting taller. Grace Downs, director of a contest to pick Miss New York State, found the entrants averaged 5 feet 7, the height of the average doughboy in World War I.

That it's a good idea to stand on your feet when being measured for a new pair of shoes because your tootsies are larger when the weight of the body is on them.

That the hand that rocks the cradle threatens to rule the ballot box. American women now outvote men, and in India's last election nearly half the votes were cast by women.

That archery as a sport has grown 500 per cent in America in the last five years. The nation's 216,000 bow and arrow huntsmen bagged 7,635 deer in 1957.

That an average of one person a day gets struck by lightning in the United States. If he survives, he never quits bragging.

That the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have fitted red reflectors to their horses' hoofs so that headlights can pick them out at night.

That some Manhattan kids now are insisting their parents buy them two space helmets. The extra one is for their pet dog.

That if your youngster objects to letting you look into his throat, you can quiet him by holding his tongue down with a small lollipop instead of a stick or spoon. "I've tried this; it works."

That it was James M. Barrie who wrote: "Every man who is high up loves to think that he has done it all himself; and the wife smiles, and lets it go at that."

It Costs 10,000 Dollars for Amber's Hot Time

Amber is the family dachschund, accustomed to sleeping in the garage in a cardboard box. The Callihans rigged an electric light bulb in the box for warmth and took off for a weekend visit in St. Joseph, Mo.

Fire Chief C. G. Lipps said the bulb probably touched off the fire which did damage estimated at $10,000 to the Callihan house.

Average life of motor vehicles before scrapping is double that of 1925 and accumulated mileage had quadrupled.

Oakland Officer to Address PTA

Education Board to Aid in Traffic Study Near Schoolcraft School

The Waterford Township PTA Safety Committee will meet at 8 p.m. today at the high school to hear Sgt. Steve Navarre of the Oakland County Sheriff's department explain some of the traffic problems in the area.

Three recommendations made by teachers and approved by the Board of Education, have been released for publication by chairman of the group Frank Rudlaff.

Uniform rules for Safety Patrol boys will be established and consistent conformity to these rules will be adhered to.

A better planning of school drive, and walkways towards an end result of improved traffic flow will be put into effect.

The board of education has approved aiding a traffic study of the Williams Lake Rd. area near the Schoolcraft school. The group has suggested that a blinker light be installed at that point for increased safety for children walking to and from school.

Safety committee chairmen from all 19 of the schools in Waterford Township, make up the PTA Safety Committee, which is trying to help solve the problem of hazardous traffic conditions involving children walking along township highways.

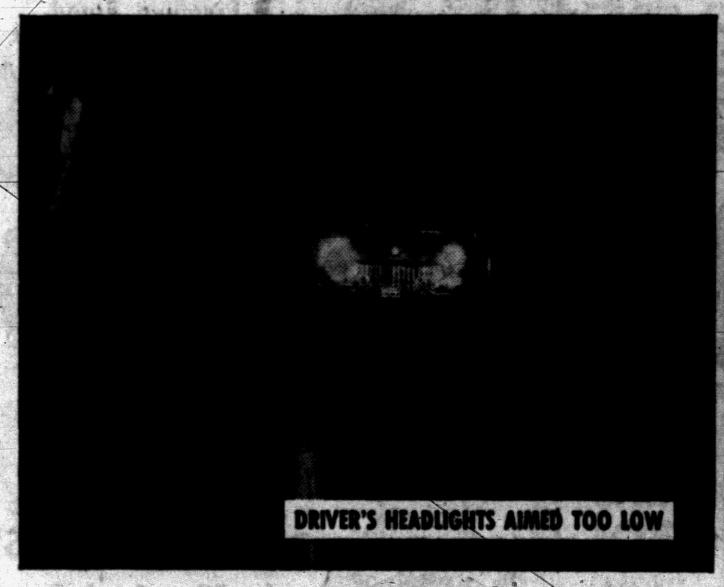
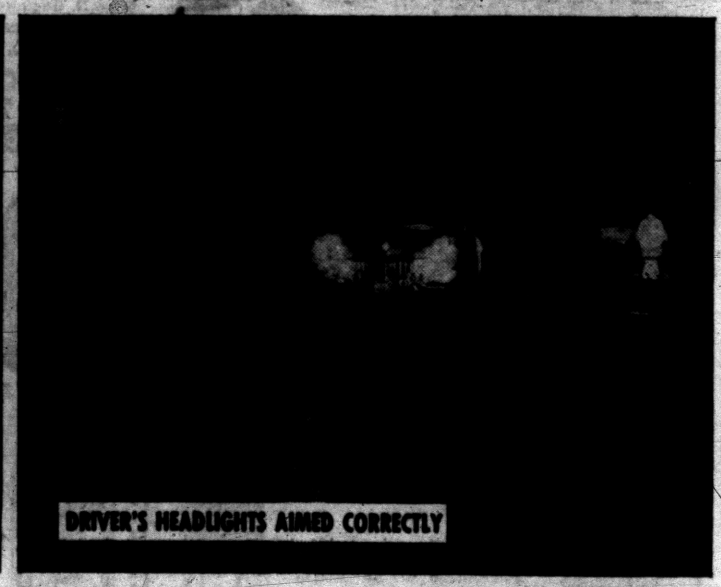
AIM TO LIVE



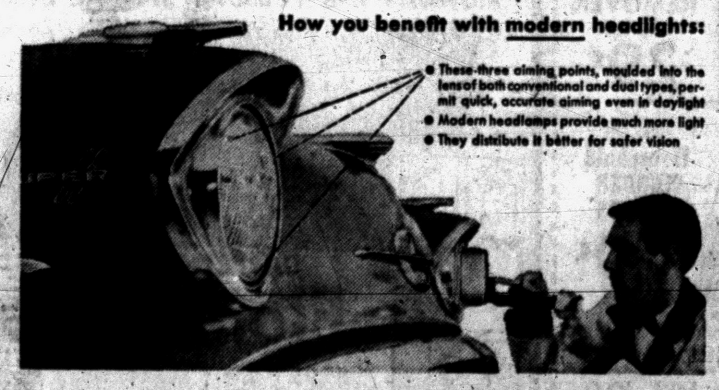


It's vital to AIM your headlights...and to DIM them whenever you meet another car!

WHAT YOU CAN'T SEE CAN HURT YOU—and the photos above show how much more you can see when your headlights are aimed right. Unfortunately, surveys prove that more than 50% of all cars have improperly aimed headlights and are losing as much as 80% of night vision. Today three times as many fatalities, on a mileage basis, happen after dark.

To provide more light aimed right, a revolutionary new headlamp was introduced in the fall of 1955. It is the only kind now made for replacement on all two-headlight cars, and the latest four-headlamp systems use its principles. All these new lamps not only provide much more light in a far better pattern, but the three aiming points moulded into the lens make precision aiming a simple job—even in daylight.

How you benefit with modern headlights:



- These three aiming points, moulded into the lens of both conventional and dual types, permit quick, accurate aiming even in daylight
- Modern headlamps provide much more light
- They distribute it better for safer vision

Accurate aiming is very important because every fraction of an inch of error on your car throws lights many FEET "off the beam" down the road ahead.

CHANCES ARE YOUR HEADLIGHTS NEED AIMING—whatever the age of your car, it's wise to have your headlights checked. They are aimed when a new car is delivered, but bumps, impacts and normal settling of springs often get them out of line. You may think your headlights are perfect, but if they're not, you'll be amazed at how much better you can see after you have them re-aimed.

HAVE YOUR HEADLIGHTS CHECKED THIS WEEK—Drive into your General Motors dealer or any garage or service station displaying the AIM TO LIVE sign. If you have modern headlamps (with the three aiming points spaced around the rim of the lens) they can be aimed in minutes, day or night—whatever the make or model of your car. If you still have old-style headlamps, play it safe. Ask the mechanic to install and aim a modern set which will give you far safer night-driving vision.

REMEMBER, DIMMING IS IMPORTANT, TOO!—Having headlights aimed right is only half of our responsibility as good drivers, because they can still annoy or "blind" fellow motorists if they are not dimmed whenever we meet another car. Dimming is not only required by law in most states; with today's more powerful headlights it is the only safe way to share the highway!

LET'S ALL COOPERATE FOR SAFETY! Words alone won't help. It is time for action! Drive in this week and have your headlights checked, replaced if necessary, and aimed. Then have them rechecked at least twice a year, just as you do your brakes. AIM TO LIVE!

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

"Explorer" Satellite Is Comforting News

So there, now.

We have a Sputnik of our own out there in space swishing all over the place.

The Russians beat us and they deserve all the honor that goes with being first. But when it became established that the pesky Reds actually had whipped us at something, our boys pushed the accelerator down to the floor boards and did a right smart job themselves.

We all can be proud of our Army. Under frenzied pressure and the intense urging of an entire nation it went all out and came up with the answer.

Our honor is upheld.

There's enough glory for both.

The previous failures are no particular disgrace and there's no humiliation in finishing second occasionally. One nation doesn't necessarily have to be first all the time at everything. Have you heard of any other countries that are about to launch a moon of their own?

Our current Jupiter must have a little something on the two Russian balls as this one is expected to whirl about for several years.

The Pontiac PRESS has no desire to detract one whit from the Russian achievement, but there's plenty of satisfaction and solid assurance in our own performance.

Friction in Okinawa

Under the 1951 Treaty of San Francisco, the United States agreed that the Ryukyu Islands eventually should revert to Japan. But we stipulated that in the meantime they should be administered as a military outpost as long as the U.S. thought necessary.

On Okinawa, the main island of the group, we have a vital air base and 40,000 men. These have protected not only Japan but Nationalist China, South Korea and the Philippines.

Another leftist mayor, the main cause of friction, has been elected by the people of Naha, capital of Okinawa. His aim is to oust the Americans at once even though our military spending has brought greater economic benefits than the islands enjoyed as a Japanese prefecture.

Much has been done for the 800,000 Okinawans in the 13 years of American control. However, U. S. military establishments occupy 21 per cent of the very scarce arable land, part if it for three golf courses.

Surely some new agreement with Tokyo can be reached before it is too late. The absurd cry of "colonialism" already is being heard. If sufficient assurances are given by Japan, the United States might then hand over political control to a Japanese civilian administration.

Anti-U.S. Sentiment Is Waning in Iceland

On March 29, 1956 the Icelandic Parliament adopted a resolution asking withdrawal of all NATO forces, that is U.S. Forces, from Iceland.

Negotiations for withdrawal, however, were put off until after the June elections when Communists gained eight of the 52 seats. The Progressives with 17 members and Social Democrats with eight then formed a coalition government with the Communists.

The U.S. built Keflavik air field and installations cover 25,000 acres. We maintain about 4,500 troops there including a Navy patrol squadron and personnel for radar and meteorological equipment. The base is used by transport and ferry planes, is a listening post for the U.S. bases on Greenland and is part of the early warning radar chain.

Despite Communist domination of the biggest labor unions and extreme nationalist feeling, after the 1956 elections, Icelanders began to have some second thoughts. They realized their 162,000 people would be a lot safer under NATO protection than under Russian domination. Our spending there also had bolstered Iceland's meager economy. Many natives are employed at this strategic base.

Last week's municipal elections in Iceland showed a falling away of the other parties' support of the Communists and the coalition government soon may end. There is every likelihood that we'll hear little more about evacuating our bases in Iceland.

Annual C. of C. Dinner to Honor Top GM Executives

Michigan: Where the weather gets out of joint almost as bad as in Texas or Florida.

It comes to me directly from my fellow office worker (we keep him downstairs),

President John A. Riley,

next month is to be a humdinger salute to

General Motors Golden Anniversary,

when it is planned to make it a family reunion of GM top brass.

of GM will be here, just let me know. An old friend of mine,

Mrs. Hugh Wilkinson,

has recently been elevated to his private secretary, and I'll get her to work on him. If you ever saw her, you'd agree that nobody could turn down any request she made. She's come up through similar positions with other GM executives, and is one of the loveliest things ever put together—and just as smart. If she tells Harlow to come, he'll be here.

Hard to Guess How Big an Iceberg Really Is

David Lawrence Says:

'Explorer' a Good Tonic for U.S.

WASHINGTON — What does the successful launching of the American "Sputnik" really mean? What influence will it have on world affairs in general and on American domestic policy in particular?

LAWRENCE

1. Propaganda-wise, throughout the world, as revealed by the short-wave radio stations on both sides of the iron curtain which have been broadcasting news and comments about it almost 72 hours, the event is an unquestioned triumph for America—a plus of tremendous proportions. America now is held to be equal in the race in which only a few months ago it was believed inferior.

2. The Soviet Union's propaganda is still a bit boastful, but, on the whole, the American achievement is welcomed by the Soviet commentators for a strange reason—it might hasten the day of East-West talks at the "summit." It came to be recognized even in Moscow that the West couldn't talk from a position of seemingly inferior strength as long as only a Russian "Sputnik" was spinning around the world. But now, with the score even up so far as technique is concerned, there is a belief abroad that American officials will change their viewpoint and go for the "summit" talks soon on a basis of "equality" of position.

3. Militarily, the episode isn't as important as many people have been led to believe. Satellites are not military weapons. It's the missile that counts. America successfully fired big missiles of long range more than a year ago, and it's the progress of the race in missiles that's important.

4. Questions will be asked as to why the United States didn't launch a satellite a year ago as the experts now say could easily have been done. The answer is that the highest officials of the United States regarded it as a scientific rather than a military project and decided to wait for the International Geophysical Year program in 1958, in which scientists of all countries were to participate. The real reason for putting it off, however, was a fear complex on the propaganda side in the government here—a belief that the United States would be regarded as a "warmonger" and as flaunting her military power.

5. Political effects domestically will inevitably be felt this election year. Just as the Eisenhower administration was severely castigated by criticis inside and outside of Congress who "viewed with alarm" a lag in the development of satellites for travel in outer space, so today the tables have been turned. The Republicans now "point with pride." The administration shows it can do what the Russians did. It's a kind of restoration of "pride." Actually it was an illusion that swept the country—the belief that the launching of the Russian "Sputnik" meant that America was in some military danger and that Congress had better begin pouring out billions to meet the "for-God's-sake-do-something" hysteria.

6. There's no doubt that a psychological lift now will be given to the American military position—present and potential in the opinion of the peoples of the free world. European papers already are applauding the achievement almost as enthusiastically as if each Western country had had a part in it.

7. Psychologically, it may give a lift also to the mood inside the United States. A feeling of discouragement seized the country during the last three months of 1957 after the Russian "Sputnik" hit the headlines. This coincided with a downward trend on the charts of business conditions. Maybe the American "Sputnik" will usher in a new era of optimism. Little things sometimes set off chain reactions that have nothing to do with the point of origin.

Anyway, Americans feel better today than they did in early October, when the Russian "Sputnik" was "beeping" around the earth alone. The "Explorer"—as our "Sputnik" has been named—is a spectacular symbol of American determination as well as capacity to meet any rival in the field of applied science.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Hatred of Alcohol Based on Hard, Sordid Facts

"You need not have acknowledged with such extreme candor that you are a "rabid teetotaler." It is quite apparent in everything you say about alcohol or alcoholism. Why are you so bitter and intolerant towards alcoholism? Isn't alcoholism a disease. . .? (R.W.)"

DR. BRADY

First, I thank you, sir, for your courtesy.

The bitterness I feel is against alcoholic liquor—not against alcoholics. At the beginning of my medical career, as an intern in a large charity hospital, I saw so much misery, disease and unhappiness from the use of the number one narcotic that I still feel sick at the stomach when I think of those derelicts in the county hospital.

When I entered private practice, so many of my patients were hard up because the wage earner of the family had to stop in at the saloon to pay his bill and keep his credit there, before he arrived home with his week's pay.

The squalor, privation and unhappiness of the families of those narcotic addicts seared my soul. No question about that.

And there's no question about alcohol being the number one narcotic.

Untutored, undisciplined youngsters get the cocaine, morphine, heroin, marihuana, alcohol or other narcotic drug habit by "trying" the stuff for what they are persuaded to believe is a harmless thrill, kick or feeling of exaltation. If the after-effects of the first indulgence are not too unpleasant or the individual is not very intelligent, the indulgence is likely to be repeated.

IMPELLED TO REPEAT

Presently the interval between bouts, shots or sniffs becomes so full of the depressing after-effects that the individual is impelled to repeat the dose of his or favorite narcotic immediately — and this is addiction!

Actually the addict's desire is to become less conscious of discomfort, pain, uneasiness, remorse, shame, fear, worry, anxiety; and only a narcotic can dull or for a while abolish his or her wretched feelings.

A young person with good nutritional condition, whose physical education has not been neglected, feels just fine and dandy. He or she enjoys v-i-t-e.

'Bond Issues Would Pass if More Knew the Facts'

You're right in the editorial about folks voting against bond issues for needed schools and hospitals, but there's another side to the problem. Bond issues for sanitary sewers have been rejected in communities, including Pontiac, yet if the voters knew that the health of their families were threatened, they may have approved the expenditure.

In many cases no one takes the trouble to sell voters on the need and the facts. Few voters would disapprove a new sewer, for example, if they knew that flies coming into their homes may have been flitting around a polluted nearby stream a short time before.

No one likes tax increases. But when the facts are known, and the need is certain, many more bond issues will be approved.

'How Does Court Decide Who Pays?'

I'd like to know just what the Friend of the Court is for, I have four children. Their father lives here in Pontiac, yet I can't get any help. Every time I call, the court gives me the excuse he's out of work. He's been out of work for three years now.

How does the court decide who pays and who doesn't? Is it the ones who pay their $5.00 court fee every month that don't pay? No wonder so many are on A.D.C.

Offers an Answer to Hospital Tangle

Taxpayer says we could let General Motors run our city hospital to get it out of the red. We don't need to do that, as any Pontiac businessman could, after one day, learn what's really wrong at the institution. There are too many chiefs and too few Indians. The chiefs find it difficult to keep from falling over each other. I've come to this conclusion after recently spending some time with a member of my family hospitalized there.

'Civil Service Here to Stay'

In reply to More Watchful, I, too, would like to predict that Civil Service is here to stay. This isn't based on any special talent as an omnipotent wizard, but on a strong faith in the intelligence of the majority of the voting public to procure and maintain an honest and efficient government.

It prohibits officials from discriminating against employes in, or applicants for, classified positions because of race or political and religious affiliations and forbids them to coerce any such employe to contribute to or take part in political activities.

If the theory of Civil Service is wrong, then so is the principle of the Civil Rights bill for the Negro, and try to convince the public that it's not here to stay.

If you gandered Rumpelstiltskin last twilight you piped a budget fairy tale from the Hans Andersen portfolio.

He was a Kindly Kobold who went around going good at people.

That's got to be a fairy tale these days.

We could use Rumpelstiltskin in spots where man's inhumanity to man exceeds the bag limit.

It would be a fairy tale of purest ray serene if the atom was used exclusively as a booster for water power, apartment heating and artichoke shucking.

But until that time arrives keep your powder dusty and your skin porous. All the talk about it is the preamble to a sniff in a butcher shop.

We'll know more when our scientists stop looking at the world through rose-colored microphones. Back to the mines, boys.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Before I was afflicted I went astray: but now have I kept my word.—Psalms 119:67.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Teach Children About Constitution

Dr. Rumely is the 20th century John Peter Zenger. And freedom of the press is more vital to the future of your children than freedom from cancer or polio! Churches are constantly teaching our youth the facts about the Bible but our children are growing up untutored concerning our wonderful Constitution. Scrapbook this case.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

For he is the 20th century twin for John Peter Zenger, the patriotic newspaper editor who was imprisoned in the early 1700s in defense of freedom of the press.

Well, Dr. Rumely likewise had to have his case carried clear up to the U. S. Supreme Court in recent years to defend the rights of a publisher to maintain inviolate the names of his subscribers.

His vindication protects our children and the future of this Republic even more than if Dr. Rumely had discovered a sure cure for cancer!

Dr. Rumely has devoted the last 25 years to helping inform Americans about our Constitution and the freedoms granted us in this great Republic.

Through the "Constitution & Free Enterprise Foundation" he has aided in the distribution of over 300,000 copies of T. J. Norton's remarkable book called "The Constitution of the United States."

This book is the most simple and lucid exposition in print. It makes the Constitution understandable to teenagers.

"The best book available on The Constitution," is the way the American Bar Association describes it.

GIVE YOUTH FACTS

About two years ago Admiral Radford stated that the reason some of our GIs were so easily brainwashed in China was because they had never been adequately instructed on the Constitution and our "free enterprise" economic system.

So Dr. Rumely and his group sent Admiral Radford a copy of the Norton book. Soon he asked that 25 more copies be sent key men in the Pentagon.

Later, Admiral Radford asked for 1,068 additional copies, one to go to each library of the Armed Forces here and abroad.

But all the books had to be shipped free, as a gift, because the Pentagon reported it had no money to buy books!

Although it was spending $35 billions to defend this Republic, it couldn't afford the 50 cents per copy (non-profit price), to equip our officers with the best available book explaining and defending our Republic!

"This shows," Dr. Rumely informed me at dinner recently, "how completely we have failed to realize the necessity of educating youth in the fundamentals of our Republic."

BIBLE & CONSTITUTION

Next to the Bible, our Constitution is the dearest literary possession of all Americans.

Churches are constantly teaching youth about the contents of the Bible.

But who teaches our children the sources and applications of our Constitution, which Prime Minister Gladstone of England called the "greatest product ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man?"

Cancer foundations and polio organizations and diabetic groups and a dozen others are trying to improve the health of children.

But it is even more vital to guarantee the healthy state of the very political system on which their entire future happiness depends.

Over 800 colleges, universities and religious groups have given away 500,000 free copies of the Norton book.

Brigham Young University thus has awarded 10,000 copies to its students; St. Joseph's College, 2,000; Tulane University, 2,000, etc.

These books are donated because of the generous foresight of patriotic Americans. In quantity lots, the price is 50 cents per book (non-profit).

So give these books to schools and employes as an ideal form of true insurance for the future of this Republic.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets

Madison Heights Would Pull Out

Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt has filed suit for a declaratory judgment on whether Madison Heights can pull out of the $44 million proposed Twelve Town Storm Relief Drain and build its own system.

The suit was filed in Circuit Court on a "friendly basis," Merritt said. It asks for an injunction preventing Madison Heights from selling $1,500,000 in bonds to finance a combined sanitary-storm sewage project.

Madison Heights voters approved the bond issue in December in the middle of a long drawn-out trial of suits brought against the county drainage board by two other protesting communities in the project.

Southfield Township and Troy asked that plans for the drain be scuttled, on grounds that it had proceeded irregularly and contrary to the state constitution.

Madison Heights, which has long contended that its apportioned share of the total cost was too big, sympathized with Southfield and Troy in the suit.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, who is preparing his decision on the one suit that has already been tried, is expected to hear the new suit whenever it comes to trial.

County Doesn't Plan Discharges

Only Vacant Positions to Be Considered for Possible Slash

Financial "belt tightening" in Oakland County will not mean necessary employe positions will be vacated, according to Personnel Director John Witherup.

"But it will mean that we will scrutinize every new applicant to see if that position he or she seeks still needs filling," he said.

Foreseeing that the 1958 budget might be in the red at the end of the year, the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors put a halt to hiring additional personnel unless "where required by emergencies."

Witherup said he was informed that this meant no new positions should be created.

Appropriated in the current budget were 85 new positions. They will be filled despite the recent ruling as they were budgeted before it was handed down, the personnel director commented.

His office is currently seeking skilled workers such as male child welfare personnel, a court reporter, and a male teacher for the winter program at Camp Oakland.

Traffic Death Toll Down 227 in 1957

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan's 1957 traffic safety record has surprised even police and safety authorities. The final count showed the death toll down 227 from 1956.

The cut of 13 per cent from 1,746 traffic deaths in 1956 to 1,519 last year topped the 10 per cent reduction goal set by safety people at the start of the year.

The final count had to await delayed reports.

Police reported 58,126 persons were injured in 188,896 reported traffic accidents during the year, reductions of two per cent in injuries and four per cent in accidents from the previous year.

The reductions, police noted, were accomplished although there has been an increase in the number of drivers licensed, cars on the road and miles travelled during the year.

Bulganin Sends U.S. New Letter

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson open today a survey of U.S.-Soviet relations and of chances for holding an East-West summit conference later this year.

With a new letter from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin before them for study, they may develop a new U.S. challenge to the Soviets to undertake serious diplomatic negotiations for a top-level meeting.

Bulganin's 17-page letter, the newest in a series he has addressed to President Eisenhower, was delivered to the State Department yesterday. Both the State Department and the White House declined comment until the letter can be translated and studied.

At the same time, the department was informed that the new Soviet ambassador to this country, Mikhail A. Menshikov, is expected here Wednesday or Thursday. He replaces Georgi Zarubin, who left last week for home.

These events, coupled with reports of a relaxation in earlier Soviet demands for a summit meeting before April, gave rise to speculation that Moscow may be ready for advance consultations through diplomatic channels.

How Fast Does a Deer Fly Fly? Science Troubled

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The deer fly once was reported to cruise at 800 miles an hour.

The estimate was made many years ago by a parson-naturalist whose enthusiasm colored his observations. But it was accepted as truth.

A few years ago chemist Irving Langmuir made some tests. The fly's speed turned out to be 70 miles an hour.

Dr. James R. Killian Jr., science adviser to President Eisenhower, told this story today to illustrate the pitfalls of scientific illiteracy.

"Despite this correction, I am told that a recently published table of flying speeds, circulated to an estimated 50 million readers, reported the male deer fly as cruising at 818 miles per hour, while the female struggled along at 800," he said.

Robber Nets $4.25 Loss in Attempted Holdup

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A would-be robber who tried to hold up taxicab driver Ross G. Graham with a cap pistol took a net loss of $4.85 on the deal.

Graham said the man gave him a $10 bill for the $1.15 fare and drew the gun as Graham took out his money to make change.

"I'll take that," the rider told Graham. But Graham, looking at the toy gun, said, "Not with that." The man left his $10; grabbed four $1 bills and fled.

Winter Vacationers Find It Hard to Return

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Returning to one's office after a winter vacation is one of life's most trying adventures. Especially if one has acquired an attitude of health and well-being.

The air is abrasive. Muffled sneers scratch across it. Watch closely the actions of the winter internees (those who vacation by summer), and behold nature in the raw.

LAND OF BRAVE

"Welcome back," says one, forcing a smile, "to the land of the brave."

"What happened," remarks another, "you lost your tan already?"

Well, well, well," from the nearest secretary, "vacations sure are good for what ails. Picked up weight, didn't you?"

"I trust you're rested," the boss says, "and ready to pitch in."

Someone inevitably remembers, wistfully, "Gee, it's 12 months to your next vacation. Where you plan to go?"

FIXED UP

Then, on the phone, someone else asks where you spent this one. You say, maybe, Florida. He says that's a lousy shame, why didn't you let him know? He could have fixed you up with a h-l-uva swell time in Cuba. Safe, too. His friends know Batista like a brother.

The desk is bearing up bravely under 14 inches of mail, a respectable portion of it bills. The box on the floor looks promising . . . it is a gift you mailed 32 days ago to a friend. Insufficiently postaged.

In your head there is a pounding noise, as of surf lately departed from earshot; it is typewriters.

You hear again the whispering palms? It is people, not trees, wafting once more the rumors—succulent and spicy — that bring zest to office life.

It is traditional, among summer vacationers, that the first day back at work is a short day. Just halloo to your friends and speed away to rest up from the ordeal.

Generally, the summer vacationer, besides having the solid backing of other summer people, has poison ivy. Or hives. Or a sunburn, to make a two-hour back-to-work day plausible.

The winter vacationer has none of this. He glows among the pallid people like a sore thumb. The folks to whom he did not send postcards are hurt. The folks to whom he did have a sneaking suspicion he was rubbing it in, the bum: wishing they were there, indeed!

Forced to feel both belligerent and guilty, the winter man must dive into his stack of work. His faded fellows, feeling green with underprivilege and psychosomatic nausea, are the ones who pack up early and leave for home.

After five years of sweltering through the city summer for the privilege of taking a dose of sunshine in January, I have concluded that there's only one way to make friends on your first day back at work.

Look glum. Say you had a miserable time in the tropics. Gripe about the high cost of winter resorts. And then offer the prevarication de resistance: Never again. From now on you'll take your palms potted.

Not only will they appreciate you, the boss may send you home early to avoid possibly catching malaria.

'Eyewitness to Death' . . . by Agatha Christie

Copyright 1957..

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. After several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route, Miss Carple figures that the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, rich manufacturer. She asks Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic—to get herself employed at Rutherford Hall. Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, engages her. In a barn, Lucy pries open a sarcophagus and finds the body of a murdered woman. Mrs. McGillicuddy identifies the picture of the murdered woman as that of the woman she saw in the train. Just before Christmas, Martine, the girl Lt. Edmund Crackenthorpe, who was killed in the war, was going to marry, wrote Emma asking if she might visit them but later canceled the visit. If Edmund had a son he'll inherit Rutherford Hall and share in the trust. Harold and Alfred Crackenthorpe are hard up financially. Was Alfred mixed up in some shady deals and unable to come up with an alibi? Lucy reports the family was furious with Emma for going to the police about Martine. Dr. Quimper, the family physician, encouraged her to do so.

CHAPTER 28

Craddock looked at her thoughtfully. "You're not prepared to believe, are you, Miss Marple, that it's a case of an unknown woman murdered by an unknown man? You tie it up definitely with Rutherford Hall?"

"I think there's a definite connection, yes."

"All we know about the murder is that he's a tall dark man. That's what your friend says and all she can say. There are three tall dark men at Rutherford Hall. On the day of the inquest, you know, I came out to see the three brothers standing waiting on the pavement for the car to draw up. They had their backs to me and it was astonishing how, in their heavy overcoats, they looked all alike. Three tall dark men. And yet, actually, they're all three quite different types." He sighed. "It makes it very difficult."

"I wonder," murmured Miss Marple. "I have been wondering whether it might perhaps be all much simpler than we suppose. Murders so often are quite simple—with an obvious rather sordid motive . . ."

"Do you believe in the mysterious Martine, Miss Marple"

"I'm quite ready to believe that Edmund Crackenthorpe either married, or meant to marry, a girl called Martine. Emma Crackenthorpe showed you his letter, I understand, and from what I've seen of her and from what Lucy tells me, I should say Emma Crackenthorpe is quite incapable of making up a thing of that kind—indeed, why should she?"

"So granted Martine," said Craddock thoughtfully, "there is a motive of a kind. Martine's reappearance with a son would diminish the Crackenthorpe inheritance—though hardly to a point, one would think, to activate murder. They're all very hard up—"

"Even Harold?" Lucy demanded incredulously.

"Even the prosperous looking Harold Crackenthorpe is not the sober and conservative financier he appears to be. He's been plunging heavily and mixing himself up in some rather undesirable ventures. A large sum of money, soon, might avoid a crash."

"But, if so . . . " said Lucy and stopped.

"Yes, Miss Eyelesbarrow . . . "

"I know, dear," said Miss Marple. "The wrong murder, that's what you mean."

"Yes, Martine's death wouldn't do Harold—or any of the others—any good. Not until . . . "

"Not until Luther Crackenthorpe died. Exactly. That occurred to me. And Mr. Crackenthorpe senior, I gather from his doctor, is a much better life than any outsider would imagine."

"He'll last for years," said Lucy. Then she frowned.

"Yes?" Craddock spoke encouragingly.

"He was rather ill at Christmas time," said Lucy. "He said the doctor made a lot of fuss about it—'Anyone would have thought I'd been poisoned by the fuss he made.' That's what he said."

She looked inquiringly at Craddock.

"Yes," said Craddock. "That's really what I want to ask Dr. Quimper about.

"Well, I must go," said Lucy. "Heavens, it's late."

Miss Marple put down her knitting and picked up the Times with a half done crossword puzzle.

"I wish I had a dictionary here," she murmured. "Tontine and Tokay—I always mix those two words up. One, I believe, is a Hungarian wine."

"That's Tokey," said Lucy looking back from the door. "But one's a five letter word and one's a seven. What's the clue?"

"Oh, it wasn't in the crossword," said Miss Marple vaguely. "It was in my head."

Inspector Craddock looked at her very hard. Then he said goodby and went.

Craddock had to wait a few minutes whilst Quimper finished his evening surgery and then the doctor came to him. He looked tired and depressed.

He offered Craddock a drink and when the latter accepted he mixed one for himself as well.

"Poor devils," he said as he sank down in a worn easy chair. "So scared and so stupid — no sense. Had a painful case this evening. Woman who ought to have come to me a year ago. If she'd come then, she might have been operated on successfully. Now it's too late. Makes me mad. The truth is people are an extraordinary mixture of heroism and cowardice. She's been suffering agony, and borne it without a word, just because she was too scared to come and find out that what she feared might be true."

"At the other end of the scale are the people who come and waste my time because they've got a dangerous swelling causing them agony on their little finger which they think may be cancer and which turns out to be a common or garden chilblain! Well, don't mind me. I've blown off steam now. What did you want to see me about?"

"First, I've got you to thank, I believe, for advising Miss Crackenthorpe to come to me with the letter that purported to be from her brother's widow."

"Oh, that? Anything in it? I didn't exacly advise her to come. She wanted to. She was worried. All the dear little brothers were trying to hold her back, of course."

"Why should they"

The doctor shrugged his shoulders.

"Afraid the lady might be proved genuine, I suppose."

"Do you think the letter was genuine?"

"No idea. Never actually saw it. I should say it was someone who knew the facts, just trying to make a touch. Hoping to work on Emma's feelings. They were dead wrong there. Emma's no fool. She wouldn't take an unknown sister-in-law to her bosom without asking a few practical questions first."

He added with some curiosity.

"But why ask my views? I've got nothing to do with it?"

"I really came to ask you something quite different—but I don't quite know how to put it."

Dr. Quimper looked interested.

"I understand that not long ago —at Christmas time I think it was —Mr. Crackenthorpe had rather a bad turn of illness."

He saw a change at once in the doctor's face. It hardened.

"Yes."

"I gather a gastric disturbance of some kind"

"Yes."

"This is difficult . . . Mr. Crackenthorpe was boasting of his health, saying he intended to outlive most of his family. He referred to you — you'll excuse me, doctor —"

"Oh, don't mind me—I'm not sensitive as to what my patients say about me!"

"He spoke of you as an old fusspot." Quimper smiled. "He said you had asked him all sorts of questions, not only as to what he had eaten, but as to who prepared it and served it."

"Go on."

"He used some phrase as — 'talked as though he believed someone had poisoned me.'"

There was a pause.

"Had you—any suspicion of that kind?"

Quimper did not answer at once. He got up and walked up and down. Finally he wheeled round on Craddock.

"What the devil do you expect me to say? Do you think a doctor can go about flinging accusations of poisoning here and there without any real evidence?"

"I'd just like to know, off the record, if—that idea — did enter your head?"

Dr. Quimper said evasively:

"Old Crackenthorpe leads a fairly frugal life. When the family comes down, Emma steps up the food. Result — a nasty attack of gastro enteritis. The symptoms were consistent with that diagnosis."

Festivities to Be Held Monday and Tuesday

U. of M. Gaily Prepares for 81st Junior Hop

By ROSE PERLBERG

ANN ARBOR — Eighty-one years ago, some 20 men and coeds danced to the music of two violins and a piano in an Ann Arbor general store called "Hank's." So began the oldest organized University of Michigan social affair, Junior Hop, which celebrates its anniversary Tuesday.

More than 500 couples are expected to fill Michigan's huge Intramural Sports Building for the year's biggest social event. Music for the junior class project will be provided by New Orleans jazz masters, Dukes of Dixieland, and by trumpeter Ralph Marterie and his band.

2-DAY CELEBRATION

A number of Pontiac area young people are pressing formal attire and brushing up on dance steps for the gala, two-day party which gives women the latest permission of the hool year: 2:30 a.m. for Monday night's fraternity parties and 4 a.m. for Tuesday night's big dance.

Participating in the festivities will be Jacqueline L. Holda of Marion avenue, whose escort will be William H. French of Livonia. Escorting Altha DeCavitte, a resident of Grosse Pointe., will be John Wargelin of Voorheis road, while Melvin White of Avondale avenue plans to share the evening's fun with Marguerite L. Patterson of North Hammond Lake drive.

Also decked out in formal wear will be James A. Lowery of Flagstaff avenue, who has invited Karla Stoddard of Waterford to be his J-Hop partner; and Bruce Serwin of Oneida road, who has asked Karen Purnell of North Berkshire Road to be his guest.

Another Pontiac J-Hopper will be Peggy A. Fagen of West Huron street, with Lawrence D. Elliot of Owosso.

HOP PLANNERS

From Birmingham come two members of the J-Hop central planning committee: Jo Anne Beechler, finance chairman, and Beverly J. Nebri who will attend the dance with Robert Stahl of Birmingham, building and grounds chairman.

Also J-Hop bound from Birmingham are Robert Horner, who will have Sally J. Hanson as his date for the evening; Sarah Hogan, whose escort will be Douglas Lowery, a resident of Mendham, N. J., and Thomas Hogan, who will have Ann Klanghorn of Fremont, Ohio, as his date.

Charles A. Matthews plans to share J-Hop fun with Meg A. Yeamans of Royal Oak, while Douglas Green has invited Gertrude McKewen to be his guest. Dancing with Martha Fletcher will be Charles Lynch of Detroit. Jo Ann Westermeier has accepted a J-Hop invitation from Michael Warren.

Escort of Nancy Clark will Be William H. Tyus Jr., who makes his home in Grosse Pointe Park. Richard Thombs has also made plans to attend the formal.

OTHER TWOSOMES

Other J-Hop twosomes include Genevieve V. Leland and Lawrence Jurst of Norfolk, Va., and Boyd A. Knowlson, who has asked Patricia Smith.

Some Bloomfield Hills young folks will also be swinging and swaying on the J-Hop floor. Headed for the big dance are Nicholas Redfield, who will escort Ellen A. Pearson of San Diego, Calif., and William VanderKloot, whose guest for the affair will be Theresa Jelacsity of Wyandotte.

A nine-man central committee, aided by more than 50 sub-committee members, has been working since last April to produce the J-Hop. At its disposal was a $7,200 budget, largest amount spent for any all-campus social affair.

Theme for J-Hop is "Ports of Call," and its planners have seen to it that couples will dance around the world and visit renowned spots of interest once they set foot inside the Intramural Building Tuesday night.

NATIVE SPLENDOR

Decoration committee ideas, backed by the skill of professional artists and designers, have transformed the barnlike building into a kaleidoscope of color and shapes. The "Cook's tour" of countries around the globe shows each decked out in native splendor.

"Sailing" into these foreign ports will be the musicians, who plan to alternate throughout the evening to provide nimble-footed couples with a continuous beat. Their "transportation": A bandstand in the form of a giant ocean liner.

To get couples "in shape" for the long Tuesday evening, the J-Hop crew has planned a busy Monday. Afternoon agenda includes a splash party in the new women's pool from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Evening is reserved for the fraternities. Men have not only planned entertainment for their dates, but have made arrangements to move out of their house to let women follow the tradition of "fraternity overnights," sanctioned at J-Hop time by the dean of women.

Married Saturday evening in Martha-Mary Chapel of Greenfield Village, Dearborn, were Patricia A. Johnston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson Johnston, and Ens. Richard E. Souslin, son of Mrs. Floyd S. Souslin and the late Mr. Souslin.

MRS. RICHARD E. SOUSLIN

Couple Exchanges Vows in Greenfield Village Rite

One hundred guests witnessed the Saturday evening double-ring service performed by the Rev. Wilfred E. Simpson of First Presbyterian Church, Monroe.

Parents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson Johnston of Monroe, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Floyd Stanley Souslin of Savoy drive and the late Mr. Souslin.

GOWNED IN SATIN

The bride was gowned in ivory parchment satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. A wide round neckline was edged in Alencon lace and traced with tiny pearls. Deep scallops of appliqued lace began over the hips and dropped in back to a point which fell into a chapel train.

As the bride's only attendant was Mrs. John Bibb Hickman of Ann Arbor, a former University of Michigan roommate. Mrs. Hickman was gowned in a sheath of Wedgwood blue velveteen fashioned with bracelet-length sleeves and accented by a full floor-length overskirt of matching taffeta. She carried a colonial cascade bouquet of white pompon chrysanthemums, carnations and stephanotis.

CHOOSES SHEATH

To receive guests at a Clinton Inn reception Mrs. Johnston chose a jacketed sheath of Dior blue Italian silk with a matching hat and a corsage of white camellias. Mrs. Souslin's choice was a costume suit of navy silk with a matching feather hat and a white camellia corsage.

For traveling, the bride changed to a winter white sheath dress with a black and white tweed coat, a feathered blue straw cloche and black accessories. The couple will live in Athens, Ga.

The new Mrs. Souslin was graduated from the University of Michigan as was the bridegroom. He was affiliated with Tau Beta Pi and Pi Tau Sigma, national engineering honoraries, and Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary.

City Couple Buys Home in Florida

Matt D. Sheltons Join Sun-Lovers in Southland

Folk Music Workshop Conducted

The workshop included facts and folk music of early America, with Jim Talbot representing the Indian in costume and Jacquilyn Morris, the colonial period. The songs of the Kentucky mountains and the Southwest and Negro music were also a part of the study.

The program was given by James Forman playing the baritone horn, with piano selections by Pam Griffin, Darlene Rose, Dolores Tapp, Susan Brodie, Bonnie MacDuff, Carolyn Sharton, Martha Kurzweil and Joan Grahek. Ann Snell sang two numbers.

Tribute was paid to Anton Dvorak as composer of the month.

Mrs. James Forman and Diane Peters were guests and Mrs. Millard Schram, Mrs. Wayne Rose and Mrs. C. B. Payne were assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Wint Feted

The West Iroquois road home of Mrs. Dale Moats and Nancy Moats was the setting for a pink and blue shower Saturday afternoon honoring Mrs. Lewis Wint. Sixteen guests were present.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM H. MARTIN

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Martin of Chippewa road will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house from 2 until 5 p.m. at their home. The couple was married Feb. 5, 1908. The Martins have three children, Mrs. Ina Sisko of Chippewa road, Leland H. Martin of Watkins Lake and Earl W. Martin of Bay City. There are four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Quillian of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ellen, to Dave Sime, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sime of Fairlawn, N. J. Both students at Duke University, they are planning a June 27 wedding.

Dear Abby....

Cigar Smoke Sets Her Afire

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am no crackpot. I am a law student and would like your opinion. I am going with a girl who has all the qualities a man could ask for but she is odd in one respect.

ABBY

She says the smell of cigar smoke makes her romantic. She buys me cigars and asks me to smoke them.

I am crazy over this girl and can't figure out what cigar smoke has to do with romance. Have you any ideas on the subject?

R.M.U.C.

DEAR R.M.U.C.: The aroma of cigar smoke apparently awakens pleasant memories (probably of her father—don't worry!) but if that's all it takes to make her romantic—light one up, put it on the ashtray and let it burn.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live upstairs from my mother. My husband doesn't talk to my mother because of some argument about our three dogs.

My mother is 70 and she gets very mad when our dogs walk on her grass or break up a few of her flowers. I try to tell my mother they don't mean any harm, but she doesn't understand.

I try to tell my husband to please forgive my mother because she is getting old. She used to invite us downstairs for Sunday dinner, but since my husband won't talk to her she stopped that. Please help us.

NEEDING HELP

DEAR NEEDING: Your husband should realize that an aging person is sometimes short of patience. Try to patch it up . . . and it would help if you kept your dogs tied up and off her property.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and have been married for two years. My husband is 22 and we have a darling 5-month-old baby. My husband has a friend who plays the guitar in a bar and he likes to go hear him.

I don't mind him going in bars because he can take a few drinks and stop. My problem is that I am not old enough to go to bars with him and won't be for three years yet. I hate to tell him he can't go without me. How should we solve this?

TOO YOUNG

DEAR TOO: Your husband knew how old you were when he married you. He should confine his entertainment to places he can take his wife. P.S.: Check your state law. Maybe you can go with him and order tomato juice.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I should let the boys get fresh with me and then they won't ruin my reputation? I am 16 years old and everyone at school is saying I am fast. My best girl friend just told me she couldn't associate with me anymore because of my fast reputation.

I know how I got it, too. One boy got fresh with me after the basketball game and I slapped him so he went around telling everyone I was an easy make and practically immoral.

My clothes don't fit any tighter than they should and I act the way I would act in the presence of Our Lord and yet they spread lies about me. What should I do?

SHUNNED

DEAR SHUNNED: Just continue to live the kind of life that will make those who say you are "immoral" look foolish. Good luck!

"DEAR ABBY: Everybody thinks just because I have a brother two years older than me I am very lucky but it is just the opposite. I like two certain boys who are his boy friends and they are over here all the time.

"My brother knows I like them but he won't lift a finger to help me. I am 13 years old and whenever I try to be friendly, my brother tells me to 'Get lost!' How can I get my brother to act like a real brother?" SHIELA

DEAR SHIELA: He is not only acting like a real brother, he is typical! Wait a year or two . . . There may be some changes made!

"DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law has two little girls and I have two little boys about the same age. She says that girls are easier to raise than boys because they do not get into so much mischief as boys and are not so sassy. She says boys should be spanked and girls should not because girls are more sensitive.

"I say kids are kids and that the same yardstick should be applied in the case of boys as girls. What do you say?" BUNNY

DEAR BUNNY: I say the same yardstick should be applied—and in the case of sassy ones—I hope you know where to apply it.

Teenage Marriages Stir Up Controversy

(In cities and towns across the nation, there's a new and growing group in the American community—the teenaged married couple. Weddings among girls as young as 14 and boys as young as 16 have increased sharply in the past decade. What's the reason for the increase? What the the peculiar problems the young couple faces? What are their chances for a happy marriage? This is the first of four articles giving expert opinion and advice on these questions.)

By VIRGINIA KACHAN
INS Staff Writer

If Romeo and his 14-year-old Juliet were living in the United States today, they would probably be married and cuddling their first-born child.

Thousands of youngsters not much older than history's classic pair of young lovers are getting married and having babies. For example, a child ushered into the world recently as metropolitan Washington's 2,000,000th resident is being fed, bathed and hugged by a 16-year-old mother and an 18-year-old father.

"Youngsters are falling in love and marrying while in high school," says University of California sociologist Judson Landis, who found marriages "common" among the bobby sox set in a survey of Golden State schools.

And nationwide statistics back him up. The U.S. Census Bureau estimates that the number of students married in high school now ranges between 100,000 and 200,000 a year.

And, although the government agency gives no age breakdown in high school marriages, independent researchers are finding girls as young as 14, and boys as young as 16 exchanging marriage vows.

ONE-THIRD INCREASE

Former University of Louisville Dean of Women Hilda Threlkeld puts it this way:

"Marriages for girls 14 to 17 have increased by one-third over 1940 and now 30 per cent of the mothers of first babies are 19 or younger."

Educators, religious leaders, sociologists and family life experts are now voicing the same alarm about high school marriages that they did about college weddings in the 1940s.

"Romance is in the air and the only inhibition (against marriage) seems to be whether they can support themselves," says Dr. Norman B. Ryder, University of Wisconsin professor of sociology.

Generally, family researchers agree that abundant jobs and the social acceptance of working wives is spurring couples into marriage at younger ages than ever before.

But many also say that modern fathers are "subsidizing" their children's marriages in contrast to past generations when potential husbands were expected to prove they could support wives and had promising futures.

HIGHER INCOMES

The switch is parental attitudes is attributed to higher family incomes. But, Dr. Frieda Kehm, a psychologist and head of Chicago's Association for Family Living, asserts that parents today "are more conscious of biological urges among their children."

She explains:

"Parents became alarmed about the Kinsey reports of premarital sex experiences. Many, especially those with daughters, are viewing early marriage as a way to maintain their children's moral standards."

Dr. Margaret Mead of New York City, world-famous anthropologist, says there is "no question that early marriages need parental help and that parents are supporting one or both of them through school, with the babies, buying a house or new car."

Dr. Mead adopts a "wait and see" attitude about the outcome of these early marriages. "It is too soon to tell what will happen to the couples in the long run," she says.

And Professor Ryder of Wisconsin, who is specializing in young marriage research, is one of the few sociologists who agrees with her.

OUTDATED STATISTICS

Ryder says:

"Many opinions are voiced against the stability of younger marriages but they are based on research done 15 or 20 years ago. At that time, young marriages were not typical of the nation as a whole and were generally prevalent in the lower income, poorly educated classes.

"Today's young marriages are different. They are among members of the middle income class with average educations."

Most authorities echo Dr. Philip Hauser, University of Chicago population expert, who says the trend toward younger marriages is responsible for the record number of births each year in the U.S. since 1950.

In 1957, babies increased the nation's population by a howling 4,318,000—a new record for the seventh straight year, according to estimates of the U.S. Public Health Service. Dr. Hauser declares:

"Younger brides—half of them now are under 20—have more babies sooner and spaced closer together. Families with three or four children are popular now where, a generation ago, two children were considered 'ideal'."

Would Gift of Negligee Be Proper?

Fellow Workers of Bride Include Both Men and Women

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: One of the girls in our office is going to be married soon and it is customary to take up an office collection and buy the bride-to-be a present. The girl who is taking up the collection is very friendly with the bride-to-be and has suggested that we buy her a negligee, which she admired in one of the stores, for the wedding present.

"I think such a present is much too personal to give from an office group consisting of both men and women and that something for her future house would be in far better taste. We are awaiting your decision on this matter."

Answer: I definitely agree with you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My boss and his wife are having open house, a week from Sunday for all his employes. One of the girls in our office thinks that we should take a small gift, such as a box of candy or a bouquet of flowers, to his wife.

"I do not think we should take anything to the party and that the proper way to show our appreciation would be to send a thank-you card with some flowers the next day. Will you please tell us what is the correct thing to do in this situation?"

Answer: No gift will be expected and all that you need do is to express you thanks when leaving and say how much you enjoyed the party. To send some flowers the next day would be a nice thing for you to do, but it is certainly not necessary.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are giving a large cocktail party shortly for friends and acquaintances. Many of the guests will be strangers to each other and it will be impossible to introduce everyone.

"Would it be in good taste to have all the guests wear name tags, and if so, will you please tell me how this is handled? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: No, please don't! It would make your party seem like a business convention.

Only Families Are Present

Rita Weds James Hill

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Titian-haired Rita Hayworth was married to James Hill Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in her Beverly Hills home.

Only her immediate family and his were present at the ceremony, which was performed by Judge Harry J. Borde.

Rita's brother, Vernon Cansino, gave her in marriage, while David Hill, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hill Sr., were present, as were Rita's daughters, Rebecca Welles and Princess Yasmin.

SMALL RECEPTION

Immediately after the marriage, a small reception was held at the bride's house at which the bridegroom's partners, Harold Hecht and Burt Lancaster, were present.

The new Mrs. Hill is currently working on "Separate Tables" for Hecht-Hill-Lancaster. They have not finished the picture yet, so the honeymoon has been postponed until the completion, when they will go to Europe.

FIRST MARRIAGE

This is the first marriage for the bridegroom, and there will be a lot of wagers lost in this town today because few believed the longtime bachelor James Hill would ever marry anyone.

It is the fifth for Rita, who was married to Ed Judson, then to Orson welles, Prince Aly Khan and Dick Haymes.

I covered her glamorous wedding to Prince Aly near Cannes, and only two other Americans were invited.

Exercise During Pregnancy Recommended

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

"Nothing is sure except death and taxes," the old saying goes. I add, nothing but babies. Wars, hot or cold, fail to slow down the increasing birth rate. As a matter of fact, they increase it.

Most women have babies with the greatest of ease whereas others may require highly skilled medical care. All women should put themselves in the hands of a physician for prenatal care as well as for delivery.

There are many things which can go wrong during pregnancy and delivery which a good doctor can minimize or avoid altogether. Heart weakness, kidney trouble, anemia and structural faults are some of the conditions they watch for.

Any woman who has had children knows that it is not child's play, not until later on anyway, but it is nothing to be alarmed about or worry about if you place youself under the constant supervision of a competent physician as soon as you know that you are pregnant.

Never at any other time will exercise do more for you than during pregnancy. However, the kind and amount you take must be prescribed by your physician.

Usually he will want you to take a daily walk. You will have to start out with short ones unless you are accustomed to daily walking.

LAYERS OF FAT

During pregnancy it is a temptation to put on layers of fat. Women console themselves with the thought, "I am eating for two." Often they look as though they are eating for six!

It is true that a woman should have a carefully planned and adequate diet and a few more calories than usual, but whenever she herself begins accumulating rolls of fat, she is not doing either the baby or herself any good.

Overweight increases the strain and dangers of pregnancy and adds to its discomforts. It also leaves you with a big job to do after your baby arrives.

Your physician will advise you concerning your diet during pregnancy. As a rule this is just a well-balanced diet with more emphasis on your calcium intake and a reasonable avoidance of those weight-building goodies.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Care During Pregnancy," which gives you special advice about care of the figure and garments, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 21 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

PREGNANCY BLAMED

After you have had your baby it is a temptation to blame overweight or a thick waist or fatigue on your pregnancy. In fact some women hold their pregnancies responsible for all sorts of strange conditions.

I once received a letter from a woman who wrote, "Please tell me what could cause this buzzing I have in my ears. Doctors can't find anything wrong but I feel sure it is due to my pregnancy. My son is 20 months old."

If you gained a lot of excess weight during that important nine months, now is the time to start getting your figure back—that is, as soon as your physician gives his consent to diet and exercise. Both are important. Diet in order to drop the extra pounds and exercise to snap those stretched abdominal muscles back into shape.

Women today are impressed with the knowledge that loss of figure due to pregnancy is not necessary. They want to emerge from pregnancy not only safely but beautifully. I guess we have spoiled our men until they expect us to go right on being youthful and attractive in spite of babies and years. Nice they do, though!

The woman who expects to have more than one child is wise if she reconditions in between children. Consecutive stretchings of the abdominal muscles, without reconditioning exercises in between, make it much more difficult to keep your figure as you wish.

TWO EXERCISES

Here are a couple for reconditioning after childbirth, when your doctor says you can exercise:

Lie on the floor on your back. Bend your left knee up close to the abdomen. Return to place. Bend your right knee up close to your tummy. Return to place. After practicing this for a week or so, bend both knees up and return to place.

Another—Lie on the floor on your back. Lift the left leg about 8 inches off the floor. As you lower the left leg, lift the right leg up the same distance. Continue. One leg moves up as the other moves down, but only 8 inches from the floor.

Do this a few times and rest. Then continue and rest, and so on. This strengthens the lower abdominal wall.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Reconditioning At Home" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 49 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Farm Girl's Cookies Go Two Ways

By JANET ODELL

There were runners-up in the recent Cherry Pie Contest. We contacted Janet Long of Milford who placed second and asked her for a pet recipe. She decided a cookie that can be dropped or made into an ice box roll was her favorite.

Janet, who is 16 considers 4-H work her hobby. She owns and cares for a cow. At school she is active in the Future Teachers and the Future Homemakers clubs.

TWO WAY COOKIES
By Janet Long

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup soft shortening
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, soda and salt. Add rest of ingredients and beat smooth. Fold in:

1 cup uncooked oats
½ cup chopped nuts

Using half the dough, drop by teaspoonfuls on an ungreased baking sheet, leaving two inches between cookies. Bake 12-15 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Form the remaining dough into a roll and chill in the refrigerator. Cut in thin slices and bake as needed.

Oakland Personnel to Study at WSU

Eighteen county officials and employes will begin a three-months Inter-County Executive Development program beginning Wednesday at Wayne State University.

"The Wednesday night classes will bring out the latest developments in county operations and show the place of the administrator in inter-county problems," explained John Witherup, Oakland County personnel director.

Officials from Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair and Washtenaw Counties also will attend the sessions.

A unique building entirely enclosed with plate glass and encompassing 52,000 square feet of column-free space, is the home of the Institute of Design of Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

SHINY INSPECTION—Herman W. Schroeder, a material control supervisor at Pontiac Motor Division's factory parts warehouse, has grown with the auto industry, and will retire during GM's golden anniversary celebration in November with 49½ years behind him.

48 Years at GM, to Retire

The year of General Motor's Golden Milestone will mark the end of a colorful career for a man who began his labors when the automotive industry was still in its infancy.

Automotive parts expert Herman W. Schroeder, material control supervisor of Pontiac Motor Division's Factory Parts Warehouse is scheduled for retirement in November 1958.

Schroeder, a General Motors employe for more than 48 years and a Pontiac Motor Division member since 1934, began his career in 1909 as a member of Buick Motor's Buffalo, N. Y., zone office.

The automobile industry was just beginning, but even at that early date, the manufacturer knew that an efficient parts program would be necessary, if the business was to succeed.

Earning $3.50 a week, Schroeder served in every capacity from elevator operator to salesman and buyer.

He and the two other employes with whom he worked were enough to handle the several hundred items and parts in service. (Today Pontiac has approximately 20,000 in service.)

Tires were the largest selling item. Traveling on cobblestone and dirt roads, drivers were lucky to get 5,000 miles out of a tire. Windshields and car tops were carried as optional equipment.

The volume of business was naturally lower while model changes and multiple models of the same automobile were a thing of the future.

Still problems faced day by day were tremendous. Because, says Schroeder, they were meeting these problems for the first time in history.

Despite the increase in business, model changes, availability of multiple body types and the establishment of the territorial warehouses, problems are still essentially the same as they were in 1909.

The customer must still be satisfied and he still wants his parts pronto.

Schroeder's retirement will end a colorful career. He has seen service in almost every phase of the parts and accessories business with Pontiac, Buick and Oldsmobile.

He lives at 111 Oneida St.

Five in Family at Oakland Sanitorium

Waterford Tot, Blind 3 Months, Can See

by REBA HEINTZELMAN

Little Johnnie Holland can see again.

There were the welcome words that Mrs. William Holland of Waterford Township received this week from the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitorium, where five members of her family are confined.

Just before Christmas, Holland, 34, along with his four children, Bobby 5, Janet 8, Edward 3 and 18-months old John, were all stricken with tuberculosis and admitted to the hospital for an indefinite period.

At that time, Johnnie had lost the use of his eyes, from tubercular meningitis and for six weeks he was in isolation as doctors fought to restore his vision.

Now that the baby can see, and is out of isolation confinement, the attending doctors still do not predict any release-date for the child or any other member of the family.

VISIT ONCE WEEKLY

Bill Holland is able to visit his children in the sanitorium only once a week, for a short time, however, his greatest worry is that he may have to lose everything that he has worked for during his ten years of married life.

Since her family was taken from her, Mrs. (Anne) Holland, 28, has continued to work as a receptionist in a Drayton Plains automobile establishment, attempting to keep her home, "For when the children come home."

NEIGHBORS CAMPAIGN

There is only $1,000 remaining to be paid on the Holland home mortage and friends and neighbors have started a campaign to wipe off the balance.

So far, $156 has been collected for the fund, according to Mrs. Claud Barnett of 354 N. Saginaw St. who is promoting the project.

CAN SEE AGAIN — Johnnie Holland, 18 months old, can now see his nurse Esther Smith, after losing his eyesight last October when he contacted tubercular meningitis. His father William, two brothers, Edward and Bobby, and sister Janet are all confined at the Tuberculosis Sanitorium for an indefinite period.

'Explorer' Brings Joy and Relief to West Europe

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe greeted with pleasure and a sigh of relief the successful launching of America's first artificial earth satellite.

The Soviet people were told of the launching by Moscow Radio. The report was brief, factual, and without comment.

Two Soviet officials congratulated the United States on its achievement. One was a spokesman for the State Committee on Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries. The other was Vitaly Bronsten, a member of the staff of the Moscow Year Committee.

Incongruous Collection Kept in City's Archives of Crime

By HAROLD S. COHEN

About the nearest thing to an old-style general store in Pontiac today can be found, strangely enough, in the basement of the new Public Safety Building.

There the "genial proprietor" turns out to be a veteran police officer, Sgt. Claude Hodges, and his groaning shelves are jammed with "hot" merchandise.

Sgt. Hodges, 30-year department veteran, operates the Pontiac Police Dept's. property room—the temporary home of stolen, confiscated and impounded items collected by police officers in the course of their work.

You name it, Sgt. Hodges has it. And it is all carefully tagged and indexed for easy reference.

CLOTHES TO NARCOTICS

During the past year alone, the sergeant has had "in stock" such items as clothing, auto accessories, alcholic beverages, weapons, gambling paraphanalia, luggage, musical instruments, sporting equipment, tools, office equipment and narcotics totaling many thousands of dollars in value.

In addition, some $2,335 in cash, taken from prisoners during their confinements, has passed through his hands for the year.

Under the inadequate heading of "miscellaneous," Sgt. Hodges took possession of such items as parking meters, movie projectors, electric hairclippers, obscene pictures, telephones and power lawn mowers.

Most of the items figure as evidence in some case or other, but some are simply things found on prisoners or in their cars, and held for safekeeping.

Stolen items eventually find their way back to their rightful owners, but the alcholic beverages and the collection of new and antique weapons are disposed of by state law.

COLLECTORS ITEMS

"I've got some old guns, pepper boxes and such, that collectors would give a lot of money for," the sergeant said sadly, "but I've got to junk them all by law."

The liquor, he noted, is poured down a sewer if the bottles are opened, or returned to the state Liquor Commission if untouched. The beer, regardless of condition, is poured away, all under liquor commission inspection.

"The rest of the unclaimed stuff, I sell at auction once a year," Sgt. Hodges said.

He is the first property custodian the police have had, since the office was just created in 1951. Prior to that, he recalled, the property was left piled around in the detective bureau where it could easily get lost.

MAINTAINS FILE

"We have done away with the old method of entering the items in a big ledger book and forgetting about them," he said.

"Today, I tag each item and make out cards with tag numbers on them which are cross-indexed by the name of the owner and the number. If we don't know the owner, it is filed by the location where it was found."

Hodges, 62-year-old, is past retirement age, but hopes to keep working for a while. His retirement is postponed by the department every six months as provided by law and, if Sgt. Hodges has his way, there will be a lot more postponements.

TENDING THE STORE—Sgt. Claude Hodges, Pontiac police property custodian, examines a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle held as evidence against a youth charged with carrying concealed weapons. Guns are but a small part of the hundreds of items the sergeant keeps track of in the course of a year's police work.

Many Area Drivers Use Expired Permits

More than half of the people that come into the Oakland County Driver's License Bureau in the County Jail should be looking over their shoulder, apprehensively.

According to Miss Amelia Sach, supervisor of the department, about 50 per cent of those people who come in to renew their license are driving on expired permits.

NOT WALKING

And the chances are pretty good that they don't walk to the jail, either.

If a police officer or deputy had stopped them on the way, it would have cost them $1.50, in addition to the $1.50 cost of the new license.

An extreme case of this potentially-costly forgetfulness was that of a traveling salesman, who appeared recently for a new license.

He'd driven some 400,000 miles since his license expired in 1952.

EXPIRES ON BIRTHDAY

Under a recent state law, the license expires on the driver's birthday every three years, which is supposed to help people remember the expiration date.

This would account for the large sales of greeting cards which bleat, "Forgot your birthday, but . . . " If people let their birthdays slip by as often as their license renewal, the birthday cake business would really be in a slump.

In addition to renewing licenses to keep Oakland County drivers on the highway legally, Miss Sach's department also issues new licenses, which also produces its share of oddities.

FAKE ON TESTS

"Many people try to obtain a license by faking their way through one test or another," according to the vigilant Miss Sach. "Its pretty hard to get away with it, in any case," she added triumphantly.

Some people with revoked or suspended licenses say they've never had a license, or lie about their name or address.

Youngsters will sometimes try to fake their age. Those with faulty eyesight will often copy the eye chart surreptitiously, and then come in and rattle off the letters glibly.

A random question or two trips them up, according to Miss Sach.

Road tests of course produce some of the most humerous incidents for law enforcement officers—and potentially more dangerous incidents than facing the guns of bandits.

One test ended when a deputy strolled back into the office with a parking meter rifle-fashion over his shoulder. The woman driver had collected it on her bumper.

Nab 3 City Youths After Bar Break-In

Three youths were arrested inside a bar early Sunday morning when two patrolmen noticed a broken window.

Officers Wilbur Carrier and John Jones on routine patrol, spotted the window broken out of a side door at Tony's Bar, 928 Mt. Clemens St.

The officers called for reinforcements and three more men joined them in a search of the building. Found inside were:

Harold P. Kester, 19, of 748 Young St.; Thomas R. Black, 17, of 759 Young; and Kenneth J. Brandt, 17, of 723 Portland St.

More Visas Issued

WASHINGTON — The United States issued 500,926 passports during the first nine months of 1957, an increase of 20,000, or 4.3 per cent, over the like period of 1956.

Aussies See Peril From Immigration

BELFAST — Control of immigrants is a pressing problem now facing Australia, because of the great numbers of foreigners coming in, an Australian said in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

He is Sidney Gay, a businessman of Sydney. "Unless we start to understand this problem we will be submerged, politically and economically, by other nations," said Gay. "These hordes of immigrants threaten to undermine Australia's traditional bonds with United Kingdom people.

We fear that the traditions binding us to Britian will be pushed aside by the new influx — from Italy, Yugoslavia and other parts of Europe—which already is exercising a tremendous influence on our lives."

He also said that permitting American goods to flow into Australia "threatens to make Australia the 49th State of the U. S."

Passenger Is Injured as Two Cars Collide

Judith Gale William, 17, of 338 S. East Blvd., a passenger in Miss Bendig's car, suffered a broken right ankle. She was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

New-Born Babies Get 'Breath of Life'

BELFAST — Premature and new-born babies too weak to breathe at birth will get their first lungful of life from a newly invented machine ordered by the Northern Ireland Hospitals Authority in Belfast.

The electronically-controlled resuscitator is called the pneumotron. It can "coax" a baby to breathe and revive an adult too ill to breathe unaided, it is claimed. The apparatus, invented by a Glasgow obstetrician, costs about $1,100. It provides completely automatic forced breathing and can operate over long periods without attention.

And, on a "demand circuit," the machine responds to the slightest attempt at breathing on the part of the patient. The pneumotron is said to represent an advance on the technique of the iron lung.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE

QUESTION: Are there any flying saucers?

QUESTION: Are there any flying saucers?

ANSWER: For the past few years now reports of flying saucers have cropped up in various parts of the country. The Air Force has kept track of these various accounts and so far has been able to identify almost every one as some recognizable object, such as a piece of a meteor, a whather balloon, even a wing light from an airplane. Until science proves otherwise, we must assume that flying saucers are compounded of heavy bits of imagination and day dreaming with a touch of science fiction.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is your own flying saucer ready to launch. Cut out the saucer and the pie-shaped section. Push the paste-under flap to the back and paste the other edge over it firmly. Fold up the outer edge at the dotted line to make object saucer shaped as shown in the inset pictures. Attach a weight about the size of a dime to the center top and hold it in place with gummed tape. Your saucer is now ready for take off. Scale it into the air with a long swinging motion, but first be sure to give yourself plenty of outdoor room for a target range. Happy flying.

Red Wings Rally to Beat Toronto, 3-1

Detroit Skaters Score 3 Times in 3rd Period

Delvecchio's Breakaway Wraps It Up as Wings Tie for 2nd Place

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — The Detroit Red Wings are still minus the services of Gordie Howe, but he may have been the engineer of last night's 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

With 11,171 Olympia Stadium patrons cheering wildly, the peerless Howe received Sport magazine's "Hockey Man of the Year" award in a presentation at mid-ice just before the start of the 3rd period.

Detroit was on the short end of a 1-0 score at the time, a deficit caused by Ron Stewart's 65-foot screen shot for Toronto in the 3rd minute of the 2nd period.

Whether or not Howe's appearance spurred the Wings to greater effort is difficult to say, but the fact remains that before the final 20 minutes had elapsed, Toronto goalie Ed Chadwick was the victim of three goals.

Forbes Kennedy tied the score in the 4th minute of play, Red Kelly put the Wings ahead at the 17:10 mark and Alex Delvecchio furnished the clincher in the last minute and a half while Detroit was shorthanded.

The scoring dash by Delvecchio, the Wings' outstanding performer in this game, was accomplished in Howe-like fashion at 18:21 while Bob Bailey was sitting out a hooking penalty.

With the Maple Leafs playing up-rink in a desperate effort to tally the tying goal, Delvecchio took Marcel Pronovost's pass near the Toronto blue line, outsped Stewart and beat Chadwick after faking him out of position.

Kelly's goal, which gave Detroit a 2-1 lead, came with Tim Horton of the Leafs sidelined for interference. Kelly steered the puck from behind the net and slipped it past Chadwick into the left corner.

Kennedy countered from a goalmouth scramble following a hard shot by Pronovost. The puck lay free at the left corner and Chadwick had no chance to head it off.

Despite allowing only one goal, a skidder by Stewart from the right wing just inside the blue line, Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk was the busier of the two netminders. He made a total of 32 saves compared to Chadwick's 23.

Only seven penalties were assessed in the slam-bang affair, four against the Leafs, but none figured in the scoring column until Kelly's goal and the brilliant solo rush by Delvecchio.

The well-deserved victory sent the Red Wings into a three-way tie for 2nd place with the New York Rangers and the Boston Bruins. Boston downed the Rangers last night, 4-3, and the league-leading Montreal Canadiens defeated the Chicago Black Hawks, 3-1.

Sees Stronger Bench Because of Trade

Tighe Evaluates '58 Chances

By JACK TIGHE

SPRING LAKE, Mich. (AP) — I think the Tigers have strengthened some over last season but as for winning a pennant . . . that's always a tough thing to do. However, there is always a chance.

For one thing, our bench will be better and another thing, I am a year smarter in big league ways and may not do some of the things I did last summer.

Our trade with Kansas City gave us some reserve strength, a couple of experienced pitchers and a catcher who may be a sleeper. Billy Martin, the big man in the deal, is an asset to any club and can help in so many ways. Gus Zernial, if he doesn't play every day, certainly isn't bad as a replacement. And so is Lou Skizas.

They certainly are improvements over what we had last season.

Our biggest weakness last season was second line pitching and infield defense. We were fourth in the league in fielding but were next to last in chances accepted.

Defensive speed is so important and we lacked it. We believe we've helped our speed over the winter. Martin is bound to help. So many people say he can't play shortstop. Where they form this opinion, I don't know. He has played so little shortstop no one can say he can or cannot play that spot.

We at least are saying we hope he can do it. There is no reason to think he can't. He played it against us the last three games of the season and did very well.

Martin will help us in more ways than just with the bat and glove. Reno Bertoia needs help and so does Frank Bolling. This fellow Martin, whether anyone likes him or not, certainly is a leader in that infield.

I would like to add an experienced catcher but they are hard to find. We need a good defensive first baseman to back up Ray Boone so we can rest Boonie a bit more. Pitching will be one of our strongest points but another fairly solid relief man would be most welcome.

Frank Lary and Billy Hoeft should certainly improve on their 1957 record. I think everyone will agree that Jim Bunning is no flash in the pan. He is a real fine pitcher and may do even better than his 20 victories of last year. Paul Foytack has as much potential as anyone.

Tom Morgan, whom we got from Kansas City, should help. I think he should do better than Duke Maas, whom we gave up to the Athletics. Maury McDermott, the other pitcher we got from Kansas City, can still throw well and can swing a bat. We needed another lefthanded pitcher badly last season. We have a young kid named Bob Shaw who looks like a real comer.

Red Wilson and Tim Thimpson, from Kansas City, will do most of the catching. With a chance to play regularly, Thompson should do as well as did Frank House, who went to the A's. Bill Taylor, acquired from Minneapolis, will help our bench as a pinch hitter.

We have some pinch hitters now who can at least cause a pitcher to take a second look at them when they walk up there.

Boston Celtics Continue Hold on Pistons, 119-115

BOSTON (AP)—If the Detroit Pistons have a nemesis in the National Basketball Assn., it might well be the Boston Celtics.

The world champion Celtics, led by Frank Ramsey, worked their magic over the Pistons for the sixth straight time yesterday, grinding out a 119-115 victory on a 40-point scoring splurge in the third period.

With scrappy Ramsey showing the way, the Celtics came back after trailing 61-54 at halftime with a rally that found them leading 94-83 going into the finale.

The Pistons narrowed Boston's lead to 117-115 with 20 seconds to play before Ramsey rammed in a field goal to seal the victory. It was the second defeat in a row for Detroit, which wound up a four-game road tour.

The Philadelphia Warriors are on a rampage in the Eastern Division.

The Warriors, twice winner over the pacesetting Celtics last week, ran their victory skein to four straight yesterday with a 131-120 decision over the slumping New York Knickerbockers.

As a result of the four straight the Warriors today held a 2½ game lead over the Knicks in their batle for third place. They trailed Syracuse by 3½ and the Celtics by 9½.

Syracuse kept pace over the weekend by downing Minneapolis 97-91 Saturday and St. Louis 102-100 Sunday.

Eight straight points late in the final period broke a 105 tie yesterday as the Knicks lost their ninth straight on the Philadelphia court. It also was the Knicks' fourth straight setback.

Spieser Wins but Fight With Moore Is Unlikely

DETROIT (AP)—From the Chuck Spieser camp today came that old familiar cry "bring on Archie Moore," but chances were better that the Detroit light heavyweight—if he keeps on fighting—will have to settle for a lesser opponent.

Satisfied with the way he won a unanimous 10-round decision from oversized middleweight Bobby Lane of Miami, Fla., on Saturday night at Detroit's new Light Guard Armory, Spieser and his handlers pronounced themselves once again ready to take on the light heavyweight champion.

Officially, there was just one authoritative voice that dissented. It was that of Lane, a journeyman boxer who gave away six pounds to the stubby-armed local favorite and lost the fight by a sizable margin.

"Old Archie would cree-mate Spieser, and I mean cree-mate," the diplomatic Southerner ventured. "I worked out with Archie once—just once, but that was enough. Spieser's got about as much business fighting Moore as I have—and man, I ain't begging for that fight."

Rusty from a 10-month layoff that came after his third-round knockout at the hands of young Tony Anthony, Spieser nevertheless carried the fight to his taller opponent but could not put him down. He had Lane glassy-eyed and reeling all over the ring from a terrific sixth - round battering, and Lane was practically defenseless against the ropes as the former Michigan State boxer rained dozens of punches without a return.

But Lane recuperated well and Spieser lacked authority in his punches after that. Lane chose to slug it out with Spieser in the final round and both boys, wild and arm-weary, took some solid punches.

"I'd like to fight him again," said Lane. "My trainer changed my style for this one. Next time I'd box him all the way."

Spieser, who "retired" a couple of weeks ago because he was "fed up" with the game, had said the Lane fight would determine his future. After the victory he said:

"My desire, my mental attitude was good. I want to keep on fighting. I was tired and Lane's style made it difficult for me, but I'm pleased with the way things went."

Entries for Men Closed; Women Have One Week

Entries for men in the 2nd annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama closed last night.

Women, however, have until midnight Monday February 10th, to submit their entries.

The men will start their qualifying rounds Saturday at Howes Lanes and at Montcalm Centre and continue on Sunday at the same sites.

The women will enter qualifying rounds at Motor Inn on February 15th and both divisions will battle for the championship at Huron Bowl, February 22nd.

Total number of men entries has not been determined as yet. Qualifying times and sites will be printed in The Press on Wednesday and Thursday this week.

Ryff Resumes Strange Boxing Story Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The strange story of the career of Frankie Ryff, lightweight boxer, continues tonight when he faces Tony DeCola, another New Yorker, at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Ryff, always susceptible to cuts around the eyes, won 29 of his first 21 fights and was high ranked in the division before he was knocked out by Larry Boardman. When eye cuts contributed to later technical knockouts by Kenney Lane and Gene Butler, Ryff appeared to be finished.

Hockey Champs Dump All-Stars

Dean's Hardware, city junior hockey champion, showed its class Saturday afternoon by conquering the All-Stars, 4-1, in an exhibition game at the North Side ice skating rink.

The game was a part of the proceedings at the annual city ice carnival, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Paced by Gary Mellema's two goals, Dean's was more than a match for the All-Stars, comprised of outstanding players from the other teams that played in the recent junior hockey tournament.

Mellema opened the scoring in the 1st minute of the game, then Glen Nichols of the All-Stars tied the count four minutes later. Jim Preston tallied in the 2nd period and Mellema and Jim Lowry scored the final goals in the 3rd session.

Jim Smith was a standout in the nets for Dean's. All-Star goalies were Dave Diehm, Jim Russell and Bob Leist.

Ex-Chiefs Perform Well in AAU Meet

Former Pontiac Central High track athletes did all right in last weekend's Michigan AAU meet at Ann Arbor, including one first place by Jimmy Shorter in the novice 300. Jim cut the distance in 32.8. In another heat of the same race, Charley Robinson was jostled on a turn while leading the pack and went out of contention, says Dean Wilson, PCH track coach.

State champion high jumper Hud Ray and little Alex Barge tied for third in the leap at 6-2 after missing at 6-4, behind the two who tied for first at 6-5¾.

Freeman Watkins, running the 60-yard dash in a semi-final heat led Ima Murchison of Western Michigan most of the way, but was caught at the tape in a record—equaling 6-1 seconds. Freeman was timed at 6.2.

Rolladium Eliminations

Girls: Class A—Judy Baldwin, Class B—Sandra Scarbet, Class C—Joan Allen
Diapers division race won by Jenny Moore.

So Is Individual Scoring Duel

College Hoop Races Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College basketball league races are as scrambled as the individual scoring race between Elgin Baylor, Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson.

Baylor has a 32.43-point average. Chamberlain has 32.42, Robertson has 32.35.

Baylor, who hit the season high with 60 points against Portland Thursday and scored 43 against the same club Friday, is idle until a Friday - Saturday date against Gonzaga.

Robertson scored only 27 against Duquesne Saturday in a 72-61 Cincinnati victory.

The victory gave Cincinnati, ranked third behind West Virginia and Kansas in the latest Associated Press poll (both were idle Saturday), a 15-2 record. The Bearcats play next at Philadelphia Saturday against St. Joseph's.

Tonight Kansas and Kansas State meet in the second match of their three-game showdown for Big Eight Conference honors. Wilt counted 37 when Kansas beat K-State 72-61 for the Big Eight tournament title at Christmas time.

That's the only game fourth-ranked Kansas State has lost. The Wildcats won No. 14 Saturday with an 83-54 warmup against Colorado for a 4-0 conference record. Kansas is 2-1 in conference play.

With the exception of idle Kentucky, the rest of the top 10 were busy winning Saturday. San Francisco (15-1), an easy leader in the West Coast Athletic Assn., defeated Pepperdine 105-59. Oklahoma State (13-2), an "at-large" postseason tournament bet, whipped St. Louis 65-34. North Carolina (13-3), tied its record high with an 115-88 job on South Carolina. Maryland (11-3) defeated Navy 64-51. And North Carolina State (12-3), keeping pace with North Carolina atop the Atlantic Coast Conference race, avenged an earlier defeat by beating Clemson 56-54.

The other conference races shape up like this:

BIG TEN — Favored Michigan State regained the top spot, beating Minnesota 88-64 while Purdue disposed of Michigan 72-66. Indiana, now tied with Michigan for second, is the only "leader" in action tonight, playing at Minnesota.

SEC — Kentucky was idle, but took a firm hold on another title when Alabama spilled Georgia Tech 74-71 in double overtime.

SOUTHWEST — At the moment it's Arkansas. But the Razorbacks lost their first in the conference Saturday, 49-46 at Southern Methodist. SMU has won 42 straight at home. Arkansas is at Texas Christian tonight, goes home to play Rice Saturday.

MISSOURI VALLEY—Cincinnati is No. 1 at 8-1 with Bradley second at 7-1. Neither has a conference game this week.

PACIFIC COAST—It's UCLA and California in first. They meet Saturday at Los Angeles.

IVY—Dartmouth so far is unbeaten. The next three—Princeton, Penn and Brown—have lost two each.

Walter Hyry Edges Brother

Pontiac Skier Is Winner

MESICK (AP) — Jackie Bietila of Ishpeming soared 141 and 142 feet in taking Class A honors in the ninth annual Michigan Ski Jumping Championships at Briar Hill Ski Club over the weekend.

Bietila, 21-year-old University of Michigan student, collected 145 points to 138 for his closest competitor, veteran Per Staavi of Chicago. Eighty-four skiers competed in the two-day event.

Tom Erickson of Iron Mountain led Class B finishers with 126.6 points while Walter Hyry of Pontiac accumulated 135.8 in the veterans class in edging his brother Aldon, also of Pontiac, who had 133.

Allan Devold of Ishpeming captured top honors in the Junior Class with 119.5 points to 117.3 for runnerup Byron Grenfell, also of Ishpeming.

Staavi won the meet's Cross-Country Nordic Combined at the Caberfae Ski Club Saturday. George Hovland of Duluth, Minn., a member of the 1952 U. S. Olympic ski team, was second in a field of 15.

Officials said frequent snowfalls made the hill slow and resulted in generally shorter leaps than in previous years. The hill record of 158 feet is held by Art Tokle.

CLASS A:

CLASS B:

VETERANS CLASS:

JUNIOR CLASS:
Allen Devold, Ishpeming, 119.5; Byron Grenfell, Ishpeming, 117.3; Leonard Haroldsen, Iola, Wis., 116.5; Walter Cherry, Houghton, 114.1.

NORDIC COMBINED:

Cranbrook Loses Loop Cage, Mat Openers

The basketball and wrestling teams of Cranbrook opened play in the Inter-State League on the losing side at Pittsburgh, Pa., Saturday.

Coach Bob Kenny's hoop aggregation bowed to Shady Side 69-47 while the wrestlers bowed 20-16 to the same school despite pins by Gary Grikschedit and Lou O'Connor.

'Y' Swimmers Break Even

Pontiac's YMCA prep and junior swimming teams broke even with Bay City Saturday in a dual meet in the Pontiac "Y" pool. The junior tankers took a 42-37 decision while the preps bowed, 45-42.

Two victories by Bill Borum featured the junior triumph. Borum won the 100-yard freestyle and was awarded 1st place in the 40-yard butterfly after he and John Daenzer finished in a dead heat.

Other junior victories were scored by Bruce Norvell in the 40-yard breaststroke, Tom Eley in the 40-yard freestyle, Jim Velxy in the 60-yard individual medley and the 160-yard medley relay team of Phil Cashin, Norvell, Velxy and Eley.

The preps won three events as a pool record fell. Tom McKinnon won the 20-yard backstroke, Chuck Ries was 1st in diving and the 80-yard medley relay team of Bruce Weber, Stuart Sivy, Robbie Powers and Ted Hope was victorious.

Bay City's Bill Kelly set a new record in the 60-yard individual medley with a time of 44.3, breaking the mark of 46.7 set earlier this year by McKinnon. McKinnon finished 2nd in 44.6, which also beat his own previous time.

Ragland Survives Eliminations

One Local Boy Wins on Gloves Card Here

Bob Ragland was the only Pontiac boxer to advance in state Golden Glove ranks as he hammered out a close victory in the opening fight of a 15-bout elimination card held at Pontiac Central High School Saturday night.

The summary:

Open Heavyweight: Morris Neeley decisioned Stan Wofford.

Chief Tankers Will Be Hosts to SVC Leaders

Although PCH's swimming Chiefs will be busy in two Saginaw Valley Conference meets this week, the big highlighted event is the visit here Friday at 4 p.m. of the league-leading Arthur Hill club.

Pontiac goes to Saginaw Tuesday for an afternoon test against the Trojans, and the meet will mark the start of the 2nd round of league action. It will also be the first time Bill Ratliff has started as the No. 1 PCH diver, since John LaMotte's graduation.

Arthur Hill is at Flint Central, seeking its 6th straight SVC win, Tuesday. Other Tuesday tank activities include the Ferndale at Mt. Clemens EML dual and Royal Oak Kimball at Hazel Park.

Friday's schedule also has Southfield at Birmingham, when Maples seek their 11th straight win, and Hazel Park at Mt. Clemens in a EML event.

Delany Eyes '60 Olympics

Flying Irishman Wins 18th Straight Indoor Mile at Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Irish Ron Delany, the turkey-trotting marvel of track is looking ahead to the 1960 Olympics while adding to his victory string at the expense of all challengers on the indoor circuit.

"I want to win the 1,500-meter championship in the Olympics again in 1960," the determined Villanova senior from Dublin said.

Unlike some gold medal winners who complained of a letdown after their victories at Melbourne in 1956, Delany said he thinks his triumph served to better his competitive desire.

The Flying Irishman with his funny running style posted his 18th straight indoor mile triumph Saturday night with a 4:05.3 effort in the Boston AA games.

2 More Tilts Scheduled for Shamrock Five

St. Michael High's basketball schedule has been expanded to 13 games, with the addition of two new encounters, both with Lamphere, Bob Mineweaser, Shamrock coach announced today.

First game will be at Pontiac Central High on Feb. 11. A return contest at Lamphere (Madison High), has been set for Feb. 28.

Mineweaser also was working with Coach Gene Wright of St. Frederick on a 2nd (non-loop) game between the city rivals, probably on Sunday, Feb. 23. St. Michael is also talking of a return (non-loop) game with Orchard Lake St. Mary, for a date around Feb. 17. If all are completed, they will round out a 15-game season for the Shamrocks who got away to a late season's start.

MSU Back on Top of Big Ten

Spartans Whip Minnesota as Michigan Falls

Wolverines Drop Out of Lead by Losing to Purdue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State is in front in the Big Ten's competition-scared basketball race but if the Spartans hope to stay on top they had better keep Larry Hedden's shooting eye in focus.

Hedden, who hits an occasional slump, tossed in 22 points Saturday night as Michigan State pushed Minnesota deeper into the cellar 88-64.

The Spartans (4-2) went hurtling past Michigan which lost to Purdue 72-66 at Ann Arbor. The defeat dropped the Wolverines into a second-place tie with Indiana (3-2) which was busy beating Depaul 76-66 in non-conference activity.

In other games Saturday Iowa dumped Ohio State 66-64 at Iowa City and Illinois needed an overtime period to beat Northwestern 102-98 at Champaign.

Iowa (4-3) is now tied for fourth place with Ohio State and Purdue (3-3) pulled into a sixth place tie with idle Wisconsin. Northwestern (3-4) dropped to eighth and Illinois (2-3) another lap ahead of Minnesota (1-5).

Indiana has an opportunity tonight of moving into a tie with Michigan State. The Hoosiers invade Minnesota while Ohio State entertains Illinois and Northwestern goes against Purdue.

Minnesota is expected to be tougher at home tonight than it was in its East Lansing showing Saturday night.

Hedden has compiled 213 points in 14 games for a 15.2 average. In MSU's only non-conference loss, he was held to 11 points at Washington. When the Spartans lost to Ohio State, 70-56, he was limited to two points. In the 66-52 loss to Wisconsin, he was held to five points.

Michigan State returns to action Saturday when the Spartans invade Indiana for what could be one of the big conference games of the season. In other games Saturday Illinois is at Michigan, Minnesota at Wisconsin in a regionally televised matinee, Ohio State at Purdue and Miami of Ohio at Iowa.

FIVE AFTER ONE — Five prep cagers, including four St. Michael boys and one from Orchard Lake, go after the ball during yesterday's SCL game in PCH gymnasium. George Drake, left (11) and Ed Danokowski (11, dark suit) watch as Tom Dabbs (16, St. Michael), Bob Mineweaser (10, St. Michael), Ron Call (5, St. Michael, Jerry Mineweaser (9, St. Michael) and Chet Wlodkowski (21, St. Mary), go after the ball. Eaglets won, 47-38.

Eaglets Crush Mikes

By H. GUY MOATS

When St. Michael's Shamrocks got off to a chilled start yesterday afternoon, against a steady-going Orchard Lake St. Mary basketball crew, the Pontiac five never caught up and suffered a 47-38 defeat.

Eaglets' victory in Pontiac Central High's gymnasium, before a small audience had little bearing on the status of either club in the Suburban Catholic League, except to solidify the 2nd place position for St. Mary. Win was the 7th in the league for Rev. John Rakoczy's squad, against two defeats (9-2 overall).

Eaglets, led by Stan Moniuszko and Chet Wlodkowski, barged out to a 10-2 first period advantage, boosted the margin to 29-10 at halftime. After that Coach Rakoczy sent in his reserves for some experience. Regulars had about half a game time of action, returning during the 3rd period for a brief time. Reserves performed almost entirely, in the finale during which Shamrocks outscored the Eaglets 14-10.

Shamrocks' Bob Mineweaser again was unable to shake off a scoring slump that has persisted for several games. The speedy forward turned in only one field goal, but collected four charity tosses for six points. Pat Campbell filled in as top scorer for St. Michael's with six buckets. Mineweaser had many shots but the good ones eluded him, while Pat was hitting at a terrific rate from the outside on two-handers.

For St. Mary Moniuszko compiled 13 points, Art Goisdzinski 9 to pace the Eaglets, who get their 2nd crack at the SCL champion St. Benedict squad, at Orchard Lake, on Friday night. Ravens clinched the loop title in last Friday's 74-28 win over St. Michael's club. St. Benedict won the first game, 30-28 in a thriller.

The SCL will be idle Tuesday, except for the Detroit Mt. Carmel visit to the Shrine.

Milwaukee Ace Wins Western Squash Crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Stuckert of Milwaukee upset top-seeded Ed Hahn of Detroit in the semifinals and then defeated Paul Steele of Pittsburgh to win the singles championship of the Western Squash Racquets Assn. tournament yesterday.

Stuckert, seeded No. 3 defeated Hahn, the defending champion 15-9, 15-9, 13-13, 15-10, and then came from behind to defeat Steele, 7-15, 15-5, 14-15, 15-7, and 15-12.

John Hahn of Detroit won the veterans' title by defeating John Reindel, 8-15, 15-5, 15-11, 16-17, and 15-12.

Michigan Skier Loses

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Rodney Soyka of Ironwood, Mich., turned in jumps of 181 and 174 feet yesterday in senior class competition in the 53rd annual Invitational Duluth Ski Club meet. But the senior class title was won by Billy Olson of Eau Claire, Wis. with jumps of 216 and 210 feet.

Elks Keglers Have Big Weekend in Tournaments

Pontiac Elks bowlers completed a weekend of outstanding performances by gaining several high positions in the Ladies National tournament being held here and the Men's State event at Muskegon.

The taking over of the 1st five places and seven of the top nine slots in team play by local keglers highlighted the ladies meet which goes into its final session this weekend.

He took the all-events lead with 1,869, teamed with Don O'Dea to form the 1st-place doubles duo with 1,212 and gained 3rd place in singles action.

Burkemo Fires Closing 65

Venturi Champ at Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Ken Venturi, San Francisco's Golden Gate of Golf, sank a 3-foot putt on the 18th green yesterday to win the $15,000 Phoenix Open and then admitted, "I've never been as nervous."

The smiling, 26-year-old professional of little more than a year's experience, walked to the edge of the green and said, "I've won four major tournaments, but I've never been as keyed up."

Seconds before, after dropping that putt worth $2,000 in first money, he sailed his white cap into the madly screaming gallery of 7,000 — the largest in the history of the Phoenix tournament.

Venturi won this 72-hole tournament the hard way. He started the final round with a 1-stroke lead over Jay Hebert, the you-all Southerner from Louisiana now registered out of Sanford, Fla.

He saw that lead melt after the first 9 under the heat of a sub-par round by Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mich., and the pressure of Hebert.

Burkemo climaxed the finest round of the tournament as he dropped a birdie putt on No. 18 for a day's total of 65 — six under par for the 6,585-yard Phoenix Country Club course.

That gave him a total of 275—nine under par. He started the round six strokes behind the leading Venturi, but continued to whittle that margin as he dropped birdie putts on hole after hole. But the one that eventually broke his back was the par-4 17th. He missed a dinky putt to go one over on that hole.

Tied for fourth at 279 were young John McMullin of Alameda, Calif., playing in only his seventh professional tournament, and Bill Colins of Grossinger, N.Y., with a 67. Each pocketed $950.

All alone at 280, with $800, was Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass. Next in line at 282 were eight golfers, including defending champion Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., the tour's leading money winner; Wes Ellis Jr. of Ridgewood, N. J., yesterday's third place golfer, and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., co-leader the first day.

Crocker Winner on Extra Hole

HAVANA (AP) — A birdie on the first extra hole gave Fay Crocker, former U.S. Open champion from golf tournament title after Jackie Pung of San Francisco blew herself to an 80 in the final 18 holes.

Miss Pung went into the final round yesterday leading by three stokes but her eight-over-par allowed Miss Crocker to tie at the end of the 54 holes with a 222. The South American pro had a 74 final.

Detroiter Sentenced on Gambling Charge

Samuel K. Higginbottom, 30, of Detroit, was arrested early Sunday morning by Pontiac Vice Squad detectives on a charge of possession of gambling paraphernalia

He pleaded guilty at his arraignment today and was fined $25 and 5 days in jail, or 10 days, by Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Fear... Then Triumph: 'U.S. Satellite in Orbit'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Eyewitnesses disclosed in gripping detail today how the creators of America's first satellite spent seven "horrifying" minutes fearful that their bullet-shaped moon was plunging into empty space never to orbit the earth.

Their ordeal took place in the closely guarded teleconference room on the third floor of the Pentagon some 100 minutes after the "Explorer" blasted free from the sandy wastes at Cape Canaveral Friday night.

For hours the men who directed the project had kept their eyes glued to the communications printers as count-down information flashed from the blockhouse at the Florida launching site.

Then for an instant the chattering machines stopped. It was 10:48 EST:

"Firing command"—the letters almost leaped into place.

"Lift off" — army hearts were pounding.

Then in sequence, these words:

"Starting
"Still going
"Still going

As it was for the men at Cape Canaveral, it was also a moment of triumph for these men at the Pentagon — among them, Dr. Wernher Von Braun, the Army's German-born missile genius, Dr. William H. Pickering, director of the jet propulsion laboratory, Dr. James Van Allen, who designed the satellite's instrumentation, and Army Secretary Wilber Brucker, who had convinced the Defense Department that his men should be in the satellite business

Minutes later the machines flashed the word that the second stage of the 70-foot Jupiter C had been ignited. Then this:

"Although it is too early to determine whether satellite is in orbit the launching was successful."

"No!" Von Braun exclaimed. "Not until we know how the third and fourth stages fired. Ask them."

WAIT IT OUT

Back came the reply: "We do not know yet. Will let you know as soon as possible" Then a P. S. from Gen. John Medaris, Army missiles chief in the blockhouse: "Have a cup of coffee, smoke a cigarette and sweat it out with us."

At X-firing rime plus 100 minutes, the coffee and cigarettes had been forgotten. Word was expected any second that Explorer had been tracked coming in over the Pacific coast in first orbit around the earth.

"It ought to be coming in now," Pickering thought aloud.

Two minutes later, and still no word. The fear grew that the man-made moon was rifling off into space, that by some miscalculation or mishap, it was not being pulled by gravity into an orbit.

At "X plus 104 minutes" Pickering fairly shouted over the phone to his tracking experts in California: "Have your got anything yet? Have you got anything yet?"

At "X plus 106 minutes" there was still no word. A "horrifying" feeling crept across the waiting roomful.

X plus 107 minutes: "They have a faint signal!"

X plus 108 minutes: Von Braun: "They must have heard an electric razor."

X plus 109 minutes: Pickering shouts into the phone: "Why the hell don't you have anything?"

X plus 110 minutes: Pickering: "Yes? Yes?" Then:

GOT SIGNAL

"Got one!"

The first tracking site had reported in.

"Give me another!"

Seconds flashed by.

"Ok! Two! Give me another one!"

The experts had decided in advance that three stations would have to report before they could be sure of an orbit.

The phones were ringing all over the room now. The naval research laboratory reported its stations had confirmed an orbit.

Then Pickering: "San Diego!

"It's in. It's in."

"You can go with it," he told the men who had telephone lines up to Defense Secretary Neil McElroy in Cincinnati, to the White House, and to a waiting throng of newsmen.

"U. S. satellite in orbit" flashed the news wires. And the Explorer, which caused the seven minutes of tension by surging further into space than has been expected, purred above.

3 Escape, 8 Killed in Arkansas Fire

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Fire raced through a small cardboard-lined frame house near Guy yesterday, killing eight persons trapped inside.

The dead included three children. Three adults escaped.

Sheriff Joe Castleberry identified the dead as Fred Wiedower, 51; his son, Fred Mack, 10; Dan Henderson and his wife, Cora, each 64; their son-in-law and daughter, C. B. Marsh Jr., 37, and Albadeen Marsh, 21; and the two Marsh daughters, Deborah Dianne, 4, and Martha Jane, 2.

Those who escaped were Mrs. Bronnie Wiedower, 44, who was hospitalized here with serious burns; her son, Dallas, 21; and John C. Gover, about 50, who lived with the Wiedowers. The Hendersons and Marshes, residents of Pangburn, were visiting.

The Wiedowers and Glover had converted a small smoke house and garage into temporary quarters while building a new house, the sheriff said. The old house had been torn down.

Castleberry said the fire apparently was touched off by a wood stove.

Bad Checks Bounce Him Back to Pontiac

A bad check artist was brought back from San Diego, Calif., over the weekend by Pontiac Det. Robert Wachal to face charges of issuing a check without an account.

Richard D. Brown was arrested by San Diego police on a Pontiac warrant.

According to Det. Lt. John DePauw, Brown, 26, of 422 Steadfield, Milford, 'flooded" Pontiac and other Oakland County communities with phony checks.

According to Det. Wachal, Brown admitted on the flight home that he had passed a number of bad checks in Seattle, Wash., and San Diego before his arrest, but they had not cleared the banks and were unknown to the San Diego police.

Waterford House Fire Blamed on Television

A short in a television set was blamed as the cause of a $1,000 house fire in Waterford Township Saturday. According to firemen the fire started about 1:30 a.m. at the home of Roy Lawrason, of 3970 Athens Rd.

Building and contents damage were each estimated at $500.

Airliner Crash Kills 5

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A huge Brazilian airliner with 67 passengers aboard burst into flames and crashed into rocks on the takeoff at the Rio de Janeiro airport Saturday night. Five persons were killed and 23 injured, none seriously. No U. S. passengers were aboard.

Maine became the first state to vote dry, approving prohibition in 1846.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID, possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablets, today! Introductory size, only 98c, at all druggists.

Scientists Work Hard to Improve Vegetables

More potatoes than ever before are coming to market under controls on size, grade and maturity imposed under marketing agreements. This means that consumers get better quality potatoes, while lower grades are diverted automatically to starch and livestock feed.

To get better spinach, scientists are experimenting with determining and changing the sex of spinach plants. They also have developed spinach of sufficient height so it can be harvested by machine. It is now common practice to wash spinach in a shower of ice water immediately after harvest to cool to shipping temperature.

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID, possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablets, today! Introductory size, only 98c, at all druggists.

Scientists Work Hard to Improve Vegetables

More potatoes than ever before are coming to market under controls on size, grade and maturity imposed under marketing agreements. This means that consumers get better quality potatoes, while lower grades are diverted automatically to starch and livestock feed.

To get better spinach, scientists are experimenting with determining and changing the sex of spinach plants. They also have developed spinach of sufficient height so it can be harvested by machine. It is now common practice to wash spinach in a shower of ice water immediately after harvest to cool to shipping temperature.

'Explorer' Spurs Stock Trading

Launching of the first American earth satellite spurred interest in missile-related stocks.

The ticker tape was late for a period of three minutes during the opening rush when a succession of big blocks changed hands. After the first wave of buying, trading moderated.

Leading stocks went ahead fractions to a point or better.

Chrysler, prime contractor for the Jupiter-C which launched the "Explorer" satellite was heavily traded and up well beyond a point.

North American Aviation, maker of the first-stage rocket engine for the "Explorer," rose ⅝ at 31⅞ on a huge block of 20,000 shares. Reynolds Metals, also involved in the satellite project, was steady.

Martin Co., prime contractor for the Vanguard project, was ahead a point or better. General Tire and Olin-Mathieson, each with rocket subsidiaries, advanced big fractions.

Steels, motors, coppers, oils, utilities and building materials also were higher, but their gains were moderate.

Profit-Takers Wipe Out Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans scored gains ranging up to a cent a bushel in early dealings on the board of trade today, but profit-takers lost no time moving in and within minutes about half the advance had been wiped out.

The demand which boosted prices at the outset was related, traders said, to a considerably stronger vegetable oil market.

A moderate demand started corn off with fractional gains, but that grain was not better than barely steady at times. Wheat was lower in a light trade.

After about an hour of trading wheat was ½ to 1 cent lower, March $2.15⅞; corn ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, March $1.08⅜; oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March 62¼; rye ¼ to ⅜ lower, March $1.25¼; soybeans ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower, March $2.20⅜; lard 2 to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $11.35.

California Whistler Sounds Alarm Here

It seems that when they hit the right note down in Paso Robles they set off fire alarms in Lapeer County.

The other day, Paso Robles police car 9 was having trouble reaching headquarters. An officer whistled into the mike and alarms in Hadley and Imlay Townships were sounded.

Through arrangement with the fire department, the city and sheriff's offices in Lapeer have a five-button radio-controlled system which sounds alarms in outlying county areas by hitting a certain sound frequency.

This has happened before, Dougherty said, so when alarms were sounded mysteriously in Haddey and Imlay Townships, it didn't take police too long to figure out the guilty party.

Dougherty said he called Paso Robles and police there have agreed not to whistle into the mikes anymore.

Body of Lost Scout Found in Icy Forest

WILLOWS, Calif. (AP)—The body of Dennis Wurschmidt, 12, was found yesterday less than two miles from the rugged spot in Mendocino National Forest where he disappeared Jan. 25.

About 1,000 men fanned out in the final mass search. The body was found in a blizzard-swept defile, lying in a thicket of fir trees. The slightly-built boy had died of exhaustion and exposure.

Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gervis Wurschmidt, was on an outing with 11 other Boy Scouts when he vanished. A blizzard struck shortly afterward.

The search developed into Northern California's biggest search.

National Steel Reports Second Highest Sales

PITTSBURGH (AP)—National Steel Corp. reported today it operated at 86 per cent of capacity in 1957 and produced 5,326,425 tons of ingot steel.

The firm's earnings report showed net profit of $45,518,884, equal to $6.13 a share for 1957, compared to 1956 net profit of $52,502,422 equal to $7.09 a share.

National sales last year were the second highest in history at $640,967,342, compared to $664,251,090 in 1956, the record year.

Ford January Output: 159,022 Cars, Trucks

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. reported today its factories built 159,022 cars and trucks last month, compared with 219,909 units in January a year ago.

The January 1958 total included 118,261 Ford Division units and 1,733 Edsel models. The January 1957 total, which was a record for the month, included 153,425 Ford Division cars. The Edsel was not then in production.

Survey Shows Drop Among Car Dealers

DETROIT (AP) — Automotive news said today a survey just completed discloses dealerships handling U.S. passenger cars dropped to a postwar low of 38,091 at the end of 1957.

The total compares with a year earlier figure of 38,367. It was the sixth numerical decline in the last seven years.

'Explorer' Roams Its Beat

Urgent Data Radioed In by U. S. Earth Satellite

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
A.P. Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)— Like an excited reporter, the U.S. earth satellite is pouring home stories on its first assignment—datelined SPACE.

Through two radio voices, it files 24 hours a day in code on the nature of cosmic rays, temperatures of its outer skin and its instrument core and meteorites.

Twice every 115 minutes, it cuts across the path of Sputnik II, a reporter from another country.

On the ground, the fresh dispatches are tape recorded, timed, measured. Finally scientists will draw them all together to tell the story of space and what man can expect to find there.

Will the cosmic ray be so intense that man can never hope to live in space? Will the constant wearing of meteoritic dust and the larger meteors destroy any long-term space satellite? What are the temperatures that instruments and man must be expected to face? What are the blazing fury of the sun and the complete cold of spatial darkness?

On miniature devices, the earth satellite digests this information. Its radio signals, varying bass and tenor hums, send it back to earth on 108 megacyle and 108.3 megacycle.

Like the good reporter it is, the U.S. satellite files reams of material and statistics on what it finds in space.

In Vanguard headquarters at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, the reports of the U.S. Explorer and the Russian Sputniks are received side by side.

Here the radio noises are analyzed and broken down to figures. This material, translated into computer-language, is fed onto magnetic tape. Then the vast accumulation of material is fed into electronic computers and the sum total answer will come out.

But it is no easy task. It takes time, a good deal of time.

Although some early information is available—for instance pinning down Explorer's orbit— it may be five months before the Explorer story is written and sent on to other nations.

Then Explorer's knowledge will be put together with the word from the Russian Sputniks and together will produce a big picture of space for scientists of the International Geophysical Year.

2 FCC Men Admit Accepting Favors

WASHINGTON (INS) — Two Federal Communications Commission members admitted today they received gifts and traveling expenses from TV-radio industry groups but denied it influenced their judgment.

The two, Rosel H. Hyde and Robert T. Bartley, explained their positions to a House subcommittee which is investigating allegations of personal misconduct on the part of FCC members.

Meanwhile, the subcommittee made public documentary evidence that FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer collected expenses from both the government and an Oklahoma City television station on a 1954 business trip.

Doerfer, who is to testify later, has called allegations against him "inaccurate and misleading."

'Explorer' Evading Pontiac Area 'Hams'

The Explorer — America's first satellite—is in an orbit around the earth at too great a distance for most Pontiac area "hams" to pick up its signal.

Mitchell L. Bacow, president of the Oakland County Radio Club, said, although he has a set to reach the necessary 108 megacycles, the orbiting satellite does not pass close enough to this area for reception.

Business Notes

Gay L. Herrington of Pontiac was one of 200 regional and branch managers who attended an annual meeting of Associates Investment Company and its major subsidiary, this weekend in Chicago.

Herrington is branch manager of the Associates' office at 125 N. Saginaw St. The investment firm and its subsidiary branches currently operate in 30 states and Canada, with a business volume last year of more than $1,600,000,000.

Greyhound Corp. Sells Detroit Suburban Lines

CHICAGO (AP) — Greyhound Corp. said today it has sold its Detroit suburban transit operation, Greyhound Suburban Bus Lines, to American Transit Corp. of St. Louis.

Edgar A. Jones, assistant to the president of Greyhound Corp., said the sale, effective last Saturday, was in line with the big inter-city carrier's policy of holding down localized transit operations.

Pontiac Credit Union Elects New Directors

The Pontiac Co-op Federal Credit Union held its ninth annual meeting at Central School and elected the following directors:

John Leacher, president; William Belaney, vice president; Winifred Bartles, treasurer-manager; Gene Lowery, clerk.

Others elected directors were Ronald Wilde, Joseph Fritch, William Maneck, Lewis Levitt and Abe Zamek.

The credit union announced that its assets for 1957 reached the all-time high of more than $90,000 and the membership declared a four per cent dividend on savings accounts and a five per cent interest rebate to borrowers.

Former Cadillac Director Joins GM Public Relations

DETROIT (AP) — Appointment of Warren R. Jollymore to the General Motors central office public relations staff was announced today by Anthony G. DeLorenzo, GM public relations vice president.

Jollymore had been director of public relations at GM's Cadillac division since June 1956.

After Royal Oak Area Gang Fight

Youth Held in Knife-Killing

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Police are holding a 16-year-old boy who admitted knifing another youth who was stabbed to death Saturday night after a teenage dance at the Royal Oak Township Community Building, 21075 Wyoming.

Fifteen other boys involved in the general knife fight were questioned Sunday afternoon without success and released, police said.

Robert Burnside of 10441 Fanwood, Royal Oak Township, admitted yesterday to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Le Roy McIntee that he stabbed William C. Johnson once.

Johnson, 17, of 8112 Cloverdale, Ferndale, was dead on arrival at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Detroit. He had three stab wounds in the back, three in the chest and one in the abdomen.

Burnside said, however, that he knifed Johnson only once, and that others in the battle also stabbed him. He was arrested early Sunday at the home of friends in Detroit.

Detective Sam Whitfield of the Township Police said the coroner's report today is expected to show which wounds were fatal. Burnside is being held in Oakland County Jail.

Whitfield said a conference was scheduled today to determine if the Oakland County prosecuting attorney will seek a waiver from Probate Court to try Brunside as an adult on a murder charge.

Two other Royal Oak Township youths also were knifed in the battle. They are Archie Cook, 17, of 21055 Mendota, and Leonard Spencer, 15, of 21350 Conover Lane.

Cook is in police custody at Pontiac General Hospital where his condition was described as good. Spencer is at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital, with multiple knife wounds.

Two juveniles were arrested Sunday afternoon when they came to visit Cook at the hospital. Whitfield said while he was questioning Cook four boys came to see him. They were searched and a gun was found on one and a butcher knife on another, he said.

About 60 boys were involved in the fight, police said today. They were described as members of two gangs — the Grouchos from the North Eight Mile side of Oakdale Gardens, and the Auto Boys from the south side.

Accident Fatal for Troy Youth

Witnesses Say He Ran Into Path of Car After Leaving Bus

TROY — A 14-year-old Troy boy was injured fatally Saturday at 6:45 p.m. when he was struck by a car on Livernois road near Biltmore street.

Timothy W. Anderson of 71 Regents St. was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Witnesses told Troy Police that the boy got out of a bus and ran into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Betty June Judge, 25, of 2839 Woodson St., Troy.

Mrs. Judge was released after making a preliminary statement to the Oakland County Prosecutor's office Saturday night. She was to be called to make a complete statement today.

Estimate Drops for Orion Center

Possible $115,000 Cost for Enclosure Reported to OCC Group

ORION TOWNSHIP — Architect Thomas Shearer told members and directors of the Orion Community Center, Inc. that the proposed center building could be enclosed for $115,000. This is about $35,000 less than the previous esitmate.

Meeting Thursday, the organization unanimously approved slides with tape recorder narration, prepared by Richard McNeil and Charles Starrs, for presentation to various organizations in the township which may use the building.

The pictures show building plans, point out the versatility of the rooms, present the needs of the OCC, and tell the accomplishments to date.

Certificates were approved for donors of $100 to $1,000 or more, with special designations that the patron have an individual bronze plaque in the OCC when it is completed.

Endowment benefactors would be honored with a black and white individual texolite plaque and the life and family members with a tablet inscribed with their names.

Family memberships will be limited to 400. These donors will be entitled to life membership benefits.

A picture of the building or the entrance was approved for use on the above certificates, which will be framed before presentation and for future stationary.

The topographical map for use in planning the building, driveways and landscaping also was presented to directors.

The finance chairman announced that 38 sample letters were mailed to prospective lifetime members. Follow-up calls by directors have met with unanimous approval. Not a single person was against becoming a member, but several are studying the various classifications offered.

Announcement was made of a dance sponsored by the Merry Makers Square Dance Club March 15, at Al Hanoute's.

A queen contest, style show and coronation ball is being planned by the OCC for a weekend early in the spring, it was announced.

Denies Offering Ike Presidency

Truman Tells Murrow He Warned Eisenhower to Stay Out of Politics

NEW YORK (INS) — Former President Harry S. Truman says he did not offer in 1945 to help Dwight D. Eisenhower win the presidency the way Mr. Eisenhower said he did in the book "Crusade in Europe."

As the present Chief Executive recorded the Potsdam Conference incident, Truman told him:

"There is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That . . . includes the Presidency in 1948."

But the Truman version, related during a filmed CBS-TV interview with Edward R. Murrow and televised yesterday, was that the Missourian warned the general he could only lose reputation by moving into the political game.

Truman said he told Mr. Eisenhower politics was "entirely different" from military life.

Truman added he later received a copy of a letter written by Mr. Eisenhower to a "newspaperman in New Hampshire." It was "the best letter on why a military man shouldn't be President of the United States that's ever been stated," Truman said.

The hour-long interview touched a great many highlights of the Truman career, but concentrated mainly on the Democratic leader's eventful occupation of the presidency.

On his hardest presidential decision:

The ex-president deemed the order to intervene in Korea, which he gave after military advice that the Red Chinese would not join the fight, was his toughest decision. But he said he had "no regrets" on bringing the U. S. into that conflict.

On the use of the atomic bomb: Surprisingly, a choice which might be considered as hard to make as any during Truman's eight years in the White House, gave him "no qualms."

He told Murrow that he had to use the bomb in 1945 because the alternative of invading Japan was expected to cost the U. S. an estimated 500,000 casualties.

Switching to a lighter mood, Murrow asked him about music and elicited the following: "It (the Missouri Waltz) is a ragtime song and if you let me say what I think, I don't give a damn about it, but I can't say it out loud because it's the song of Missouri."

Praise by Bill Holden Denies Chivalry's Dead

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—William Holden said that while he was making a film in London with Sophia Loren, his wife went to the Cordon Bleu to learn cooking and informed him he could have cheese souffle for breakfast any old time.

WILSON

"I got into my robe and came downstairs," he said. "I was ready. I found the house was empty. My wife had gone to the market for the cheese. I had about 18 cups of coffee waiting. Four hours later, I had the cheese souffle—for lunch."

He added, chivalrously, "But it was delicious!"

With one sponsor out and another wavering, "The Big Record" TV show is battling for survival; so if you love Patti Page and the song gimmick, write a letter to CBS urging it to have faith (for another 13 weeks, anyway) . . . Somebody said Sid Caesar looks too skinny now and Groucho Marx snorted, "Since when do we judge comedians by their weight?"

Dave Rubinoff, flying back home to Detroit, told me he'll do a Carnegie Hall concert shortly . . . President Eisenhower wrote Opera Star Robert Merrill a personal letter saying he regretted missing his appearance in Washington. "How do you like that?" exclaimed Merrill. "A personal letter!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . . . .

George DeWitt thinks Linda Christian'll give up that billionaire and marry him. Sir Laurence Olivier's "The Entertainer" showed a nude onstage—and in Boston, too! . . . Busty Betty George, denying a story she'll wed, says, "Oh, I make that up whenever I'm bored . . . Ann Walker of the Latin quarter chorus is a spare-time hatcheck gal for laughs. Rocky Marciano's Coral Gables home is a $62,000 shack . . . A Show Plane to Israel is planned, with Dublin's ex-Mayor Briscoe as host . . . Count Basie may undergo gall bladder surgery . . . Rossellini may direct Sophia Loren's next film; they discussed it before she left Rome.

Four Die, Five Injured in Apartment Blaze

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Four persons died and five were injured in an apartment house fire yesterday.

The dead were identified by deputy Fire Chief D. C. Lester as Al Routh, Edward Lee Kouns and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Courin, all about 45.

Lester estimated the loss to the 16-unit brick apartment house at $40,000. Cause of the fire had not been determined.

The Pentagon building here has a cubic volume of 90,746,000 feet and it occupies a square mile of land. It is said to contain about 16½ miles of halls and corridors.

Bad Beginning Doomed Show

Columnist Also Blames Demise of Program on Copying 'Omnibus'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Seven Lively Arts" is dying and will be officially interred by CBS-TV this month.

It's a topic of some discussion among television programmers — busy gentlemen who are forever officiating at funerals, dabbling in midwifery, feeding the young, fanning the old.

One sentiment expressed about the commercially unsponsored Sunday afternoon show is substantially this:

"It's almost impossible to make a go of an intellectually potent TV program. Sponsors are shy of them. Better to play safe with the established entertainment formulas — Westerns and variety shows. It's too bad, but that's the way it is."

Let's raise a dissenting voice. First of all, before writing the obituary of "The Seven Lively Arts," let's report that some of its works probably will return next year though probably not under the title of "Arts."

SAD COMMENTARY

It's a sad commentary on the minds of some citizens that the very work "art" of "arts" repels them.

CBS has put about 1¼ million dollars in the program, which has been unable to attract a sponsor. Time and money have been invested in several shows which will not be seen before "The Seven Lively Arts" bows out on Feb. 16. Almost certainly they'll be seen later.

Unfortunately, the program as now constituted never did recover from the numerous negative reviews its first show received.

The majority of negative reviews of that first show on "The Changing Ways of Love" were based on the performances of two excellent professional writers, John Crosby and S. J. Perelman, who were rank amateurs as public performers.

Besides its first fumbling step, the chief fault of "The Seven Lively Arts" is that it often seems to copy too assiduously the format of "Omnibus" on NBC-TV.

West Germany Still Refusing

Won't Pay the Bills for Support of Foreign Troops Stationed There

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany stood adamant today in her refusal to pay in the future for support of Allied troops in this country.

Bonn officials turned a cold shoulder to an appeal by NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, who flew here to try to mediate the bitter dispute with Britain, the United States and France.

The main bone of contention is Britain's demand for 588 million marks (140 million dollars) to help support British troops in Germany in the next fiscal year.

The Germans contend further payments to the Allies will endanger the buildup of the new West German defense establishment. The Allies claim West Germany should help pay for the foreign troops helping to protect Germany since the Bonn regime has failed to bring its armed forces to anywhere near the strength promised NATO.

West Germany pledged a 500,000-man force to the alliance but so far has less than 150,000 men under arms. Bonn's 1957-58 defense budget totaled nine billion marks ($2,200,000,000) as opposed to 1,420,000,000 pounds ($3,976,000,000) for Britain. And West German government opposition leaders now are busy pushing through Parliament a bill cutting income taxes 45 million dollars a year.

In the fiscal year ending March 31, Bonn is paying 588 million marks (140 million dollars) for the British troops and 278 million marks (66 million dollars) to France.

She has paid the United States 325 million marks (77 million dollars). The Americans have demanded a second installment amounting to the same figure.

Army Shows A-Cannon in Korea for First Time

CAMP RED CLOUD, Korea (AP)—The U.S. Army displayed two giant 280 mm atomic cannon to South Korean officials and newsmen for the first time today.

Two Honest John guided missiles were also shown at the headquarters here of the Army's 1st Corps, 30 miles south of the truce line. The displays were part of a farewell review for Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, corps commander who leaves tomorrow to become chief of U.S. Amy research and development in Washington.

Prisoners Want Judge to Be the Next Governor

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—Dist. Judge Sam Sullivan said he had been informed he was the popular choice of inmates of the state penitentiary at McAlester for the next governor of Oklahoma.

Sullivan, who hasn't announced any candidacy, said: "I think it is a compliment to have been chosen by these men, many of whom culd have had reasons to hate me since I put them behind bars."

Hearst's Estate Slated to Be Opened in May

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The San Simeon castle and estate, where the late newspaper publisher William Randolph Hearst once lived in palatial splendor, probably will be opened to the public in mid-May. The expected fee—$2 for adults, $1 for children up to 12.

Recommendations for operating the state's newly acquired historical site will be presented next month to the Park Commission.

Trump Means Triumph

NEW YORK—The word, "trump" used in card games, is actually a corruption of "triumph," which means to conquer. Trumps are therefore conquering cards, rating over non-trumps because of special powers given to them in the play of the game.
