Summerfield Prepares Plans for Mail Slash

Starts Next Saturday Unless Congress Votes $47 Million Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield has tossed the postal service ball back to Congress by ordering the nation's 37,000 post offices to prepare for drastic mail delivery reductions starting next Saturday.

Summerfield said yesterday the cutbacks will get under way at that time unless Congress, meanwhile, gives him 47 million dollars he contends is "necessary" to continue postal service at present levels for the remaining three months of the 1957 fiscal year.

Summerfield issued the instructions only a few hours after Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee told the House the postmaster general was pulling what Cannon called "an unadulterated bluff" in talking about reduced service, and that "they'll deliver the mail."

The Appropriations Committee earlier in the day had voted to give Summerfield 17 millions and to consider the remaining 30 millions next Friday.

But at a news conference Summerfield described as "ridiculous" the committee decision to defer action on the additional allotment for a week.

The postal chief said he had planned to make some cutbacks today, but that it had been physically impossible to circulate the necessary orders through the field in time.

He announced "with great regret" that starting a week from today, all post offices will be closed on Saturday's and Sundays, and that there will be no mail deliveries, city, suburban or rural, on Saturday, except for items bearing special delivery postage. Saturday streetbox pickups will continue on Saturdays, but on limited Sunday schedules, he said.

Starting April 15, he said, post offices will limit window service on week days to a maximum of

UAW Appoints Review Board

7 Prominent Citizens, Outside the Union, Will Serve as 'Watchdog'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The international executive board of the United Auto Workers has chosen six prominent citizens outside the union to serve as members of a proposed public review board to act as a watchdog on union affairs.

A union spokesman said today three churchmen, two college professors and one jurist have agreed to serve on the board.

They are Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington, D. C.; Rabbi Morris Adler of Detroit; Msgr. George Higgins of Washington, D. C.; Dr. Clark Kerr of the University of California; Dr. Edward Witte of the University of Wisconsin, and Circuit Judge Wade H. McCree of Detroit.

The seventh member to complete the board is yet to be chosen.

The board will have a staff paid by the union and board members probably will be paid on a per diem basis by the union.

The UAW convention, which opens here tomorrow, is expected to approve the proposal for the review board.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther announced plans for the board last month at a time when ethical and financial practices of some segments of organized labor were under fire of the U. S. Senate's racket investigators.

In announcing the plan, Reuther said it was not prompted by any scandals or racketeering within the UAW.

'Profits' Under Fire

Local Justice Named to Head Court Probe

The appointment of Donald E. Adams, Drayton Plains justice of the peace, to head a statewide subcommittee investigation of justice courts was announced yesterday by the Michigan State Bar Assn.

The 16-member board set May 10 for an open hearing at which time Adams' committee will make a preliminary report.

The group will invite to the hearing: State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs; the president of the Justices Assn.; the president of the Prosecutors Assn. and the Circuit Court Judges Assn.

Adams was unavailable today for comment on his appointment, but in 1953 he balked at a proposal that justice court "profits" be turned over to Waterford Township's general fund.

The entire matter of using court costs for general county and township operations has been under fire from the state auditor-general, and attorney-general who have had the support of Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

In 1954, the Oakland County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution allowing ticket profits to be sent to the county and then returned to the township.

HAS SURPLUS

Aud. Gen. Frank Szymanski recently said Oakland County, in 1955, had a surplus of $53,665 from justice court costs. This was after the deduction of all actual costs for the trials.

The justices' spokesman, Allen C. Ingle, Farmington Township justice and head of the Oakland County Judicial Assn., has defended the system, saying the state law does not specify how much can be charged for costs.

"We're saving the taxpayers money," he added, "if the violators didn't pay for it, the taxpayers would have to."

He said the "surplus" is actually needed by the county to pay for assistant prosecutors and others who are employed, at least part of the time, on justice court cases.

Power Cut Off as Lines Bow to Wind, Sleet

State's Southern Area to Be Hit by Squalls After Violent Gusts

A windborne snowstorm struck the upper Lake Michigan shores of Michigan today, dumping four to six inches of heavy, wet snow over it and disrupting telephone and power service.

An area stretching from Frankfort to Ludington was raked by high, gusty winds and snow, almost a soggy sleet that stuck to everything.

The storm moved in from the lake around 2 a.m.

Manistee radio station WHTE couldn't get on the air until 10:10 a.m. because of a Consumers Power Co. line failure. It was scheduled to begin broadcasting at 6:30 a.m.

Ludington reported all long distance telephone service to the south out, and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported poles carried down by the weight of snow and winds in the Frankfort-Beulah area.

Squals, meanwhile, were expected in southern counties in the wake of thunderstorms that caused assorted damage over the area yesterday.

Ann Arbor was hit by a freak hurricane-force wind that toppled trees and utility poles, smashed plate glass windows and overturned cars in the downtown district. No one was reported injured.

University of Michigan meteorologists clocked the wind at from 70 to 80 miles an hour. It lasted barely three minutes.

Detroit reported winds up to 50 m.p.h. Friday afternon. Police said one tree and one utility wire were knocked down.

The Monroe and Flat Rock areas were hit with heavy rain, hail and high winds. A house trailer was blown over as it was being pulled on U.S. 24 three miles north of Monroe.

Nationally, rains sent rivers on a rampage and scores of streams were near flood stage. Most seriously threatened with floods appeared to be areas in Missouri, Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Georgia, North Carolina and Oklahoma.

Three persons drowned in floodwaters yesterday, one in Dayton, Ohio, and two in streams in southeast Missouri. Some 75,000 acres of bottomland in southeast Missouri and in nearby counties of Arkansas have been inundated.

Floods threatened areas in southern Illinois, hit by the heaviest rainfall in seven years. In Indiana, the Wabash spilled out of its banks at Wabash, swirling across southwestern sections of the city. Police and fire department boats evacuated 18 families while some 40 families moved out earlier.

3 Persons Die in 2 Accidents

Ferndale Girl Killed Near Brighton; Man Fatally Injured on Turn

A young Ferndale woman and her boyfriend yesterday were killed on their way home from Michigan State University for the weekend, and an Oak Park man died of injuries he received in a two-car collision in Royal Oak, it was reported today.

Police said that Shirley Barber, 18, of 2620 McDowell, and Paul Dunlap, 20, of Ann Arbor, were killed when their car left US-23 and struck a tree near Brighton.

Michigan State Police troopers said that Miss Barber, driving Dunlap's car, attempted to pass another vehicle when she lost control on the slippery road.

Injured fatally in an accident on Kayser Road at 11 Mile Road last night was Ford M. Stoddard, 68, of 23070 Seneca, Oak Park.

Driver of the other car, Ambrose N. Orlando, 32, of Detroit, told police he saw Stoddard turn onto 11 Mile Road, but could not stop in time to avoid the collision.

Stoddard was thrown from his car and dragged 20 feet by his own vehicle. He died shortly afterwards in William Beaumont Hospital.

Senator Offers Plan for Turnpike Bonds

A new approach to the problem of selling bonds for Michigan turnpikes has been offered in the Legislature by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson).

Nichols' bill would authorize pledging for bond retirement of State gasoline taxes derived from sales to turnpike users. The revenue could be applied for this purpose only if tolls failed to meet requirements.

"It should be remembered," Nichols said, "that financing for the Mackincac bridge was turned down at one time and almost abandoned until a new method of making bridge bonds more attractive was enacted by the legislature."

The senator, who is also chairman of the Senate Highway Committee, added: "The proposed legislation will answer a similar need for the Michigan Turnpike Authority."

Spanish Archbishop Asks Extreme Unction

The 76-year-old prelate is suffering from a kidney disorder and blood circulatory ailment. Doctors described his condition as extremely critical and said they had little hope of saving his life.

Route Under Survey

The State Highway Dept. is surveying a possible relocation of M59 (Auburn Road) from Pontiac city limits to Utica, it was disclosed today.

The department is considering a four-lane divided highway paralleling and located between the present route and South boulevard, a spokesman said.

Surveys have been completed from Utica, east to Mound Road, the spokesman said, and plans are in progress to have engineering studies pushed soon to west of Auburn Heights.

Plans for construction, however, are not included in the department's present three-year building program, although this picture may change when a new administration takes over in July, the spokesman said.

The survey includes plans for two strips of 24-foot-wide highway divided by a 94-foot-wide median, the spokesman added.

The present M-59 road would be left in existence, but the divided highway would be capable, if built, of carrying most of the traffic entering and leaving Pontiac to the east, the department figures.

Crossroads would be graded, the spokesman said, with the exception of Rochester road, where a grade separation is being contemplated.

Cloudy, Some Snow, Cold; Sunday Same

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts cloudy to partly cloudy with a few scattered snow flurries, slowly diminishing winds, and colder tonight, low 28 to 32.

Partly cloudy and little change in temperature, high 40 to 44, is the outlook for tomorrow.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 34.

Seaway Power Project

MESSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The 600-million-dollar St. Lawrence River power project will be dedicated Sept. 5, 1958.

Other Makers Also Report Gains

March Pontiac Sales Boom

Pontiac dealers reported new car sales totaling 31 thousand units during March, the best sales month since the 1957 models were introduced.

The division's record was among several encouraging reports made today by auto manufacturers. Gains in retail deliveries were also registered by Cadillac, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard.

James M. Roche, Cadillac general manager, said dealers delivered more cars during the first three months of this year than in any other first quarter in history.

Ford car sales reportedly were up more than 15 per cent over the second 10-day period of March, and 44 per cent above the first 10-day period.

American Motors' sales of the English-built Metropolitan are said to have more than doubled last month, while Studebaker-Packard said March sales of the Clipper models and Studebaker cars and trucks reached the highest point of the 1957 model year.

But Postpones Decision on Artery Route

Group Eyes Long-Range Highway Plans

By PETE LOCHBILER

Plans for the so-called Southfield Expressway-Pontiac Central Artery were left up in air yesterday as the Inter-County Highway Commission announced results of a study involving $1 billion in construction over the next 25-30 years.

Although the controversial road may be actualty "within three or four years," it was agreed, the final route has not been decided upon.

One of the main questions is whether or not it will pass through Pontiac.

So important is the final decision, that committee members did not include even a tentative route on a map of road plans made public yesterday.

The committee is made up of road commission members of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Washenaw, Monroe and St. Clair counties. Their study calls for construction of some new roads, mostly expressways, and for widening of all or parts of existing highways.

Most of the committee's recommendations are based on proposals already made public by other agencies.

The purpose of the study was to unify these proposals into one long-range plan, with the expectation that large sums of money could be saved.

CALLS MEETINGS

Chairman Hiland M. Thatcher, supervisor of West Bloomfield Township, called for further meetings of interested Pontiac groups to help determine the location of the Central Artery route.

The issue was also passed along to a special engineering subcommittee and the Regional Planning Commission at the request of state highway officials, who are ex-officio members of the committee.

Thatcher called for recommendations "as soon as possible," but stressed that the question must be explored "as thoroughly as can be."

Four Pontiac groups have backed a proposal by the Oakland County Planning Commission that the road intersect the city just west of the business district. Backers are the Chamber of Commerce and its affiliates—the Retail Merchants Assoc. and the Downtown Pontiac Assoc.,—and the Pontiac Real Estate Board.

Alternate proposals, however, are that the road bypass Pontiac to the east or west, the committee heard.

The location of the expressway south of Pontiac has been bitterly contested. Areas in Southfield, Lathrup Village, Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills would be affected.

Meanwhile, the committee prepared to take its study to local communities.

Although the committee is empowered to draw up recommendations, each county and its communities involved must pass on the proposed roads.

TO CUT COSTS

Basically, the committee hopes by outlining long-range highway plans to eliminate excessive costs in later years to secure necessary rights-of-way.

The committee's executive secretary, John McKie, pointed out that much of the money involved

MEMO TO CAESAR

Jesus Warns His Followers

(Another in a Lenten Series)

Pontius Pilate to Caesar's Mother . . .

Cherished Livia: Without direct interference, which I shall not use unless a Roman law is violated, I fear there is not much I can do to protect our Nazarene teacher. He goes right ahead with his strong teaching and his enemies increase in numbers daily.

Junius tells me of this latest incident.

It is Jesus' custom to spend his nights on the Mount of Olives. In the daytime he comes into the city and preaches in the temple of his people. There, just yesterday, he watched a widow put two tiny coins into the treasury and praised her as giving more than the wealthy who make really rich contributions.

He claimed that the widow was giving all she had while the wealthy were giving of their excess.

This made him highly popular with the poor, although I am sure that was not his intention in speaking. He was seeking to show it is the spirit of sacrifice behind the gift which counts.

As usual, his enemies took his words literally and twisted them around to make it look as though he was criticizing the gifts of the well-to-do.

Hence, the poor may like the man but the wealthy are beginning to resent him and you need not be told which group wields the most power.

Our agent Junius thinks Jesus senses the situation very clearly. He reports that following the incident of the widow's mite, Jesus told his followers they must expect to be persecuted and imprisoned. He said even their own families might turn upon them and that some of them would be put to death.

That is strong medicine. And surely he cannot hope that it will bring him more followers. We politicians know that to get popular backing it is best to promise pleasant things . . . even if the outcome eventually falls short of the promise! That's what the rabble wants to hear: nice things, not threats of persecution and death.

Junius suspects there are already some desertions among the weaker stomached of the man's disciples.

Postpone Date of Examination

Mrs. Sarduk to Face Court on April 23 for Fatal Shooting

The examination of Mrs Rose Sarduk, 48, of 2435 Texter Rd., Addison Township, charged with second degree murder in the shooting of Martin Wojcinski, 48, has been postponed to April 23.

The examination was originally scheduled for April 9.

Mrs. Sarduk was freed on $7,500 bond at her arraignment before Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback. She admitted to shooting Wojcinski in the neck with a 16-gauge shotgun March 23 as he lay in bed.

In earlier Press acticles concerning the March 22 fatal shooting of Wojcinski, by Mrs. Sarduk, it was said that Beatrice Krug, 14, of 5401 Sherwood Rd., Oxford was asleep in an adjacent bedroom with Mrs. Sarduk's children, Sonia, 15 and Tommy, 16.

The teenagers were in separate bedrooms.

"In Detroit, expressways cost about $11 million a mile, and it is figured $8 million of that is in condemnation costs," he said.

McKie estimated local planning over the next decade might save up to $250 million in condemnation costs.

There are few new Oakland County roads as such on the map that projects the highway picture into the 1980s.

The proposed extension of Northwestern Highway is there, as well as a relocation of M-59 (Auburn road) from Pontiac city limits east to Utica.

NEW ROAD

Another new road to the southwest is the relocation of US-16 (Grand River) as an expressway. Another expressway, projected east and west in the southern part of the county, roughly along 10 Mile road, is not definite enough to be included on the map.

Otherwise, the map shows how existing roads must be widened to bear increased flow of traffic.

Local communities will be asked to approve the study and then take appropriate action governing building along the projected right-of-ways.

Visits 'Community Chest Mother'

Manila Director Studies UF Methods

By ALICE MORGAN

BIRMINGHAM — A recent guest at the home of Mrs. Irene Ellis Murphy, 444 Bonnie Briar, has been Elias L. Blaza, campaign director of the Community Chest of Greater Manila.

"He came here," Mrs. Murphy revealed, "to make a study of operational methods on our United Foundation program. Manila has a great need for such a program since the old Community Chest has outgrown its facilities."

In Manila Mrs. Murphy is known as the "Community Chest Mother." She was sent there seven years ago by the United Nations to establish the relief bureau and put it into operation.

Among her most treasured possessions is a plaque from the Manila group reading: To our friend and co-worker with appreciation and admiration of her skillful leadership in advancing the cooperative plan for social welfare through the establishment of the first Community Chest in the Philippines."

Mrs. Murphy, newly elected University of Michigan regent, operates an import business to further the arts and crafts of this country.

"The people of the Philippines," she said, "give cash. And they give constantly.

"There's no big, concerted drive for money, for the simple reason that most of the people would not have it to give. Instead of our annual projects, they have something going all the time.

"They will hold dances, fashion shows and the like. Their people love color, music and gaiety, and the fashion shows are a great success. By a constant string of these affairs they have kept their Community Chest going and have performed a remarkable service, too.

"It is of great interest to me that they have found it successful enough to want to study our United Foundation plan so their beneficial work may be increased."

Mrs. Murphy revealed that the only similar arrangement known in the Philippines was a relief group which operated there under Japanese occupation. This, ruled by military order, did not enjoy the popularity of their own Chest program.

Police Arrest 4 in Bar Burning

Used Gasoline to Fire Club in Los Angeles; Kill 5 Men, 1 Woman

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Two more suspects were arrested by police today in the investigation of a fiendish fire bombing that turned a Los Angeles bar into an inferno burning to death five men and a woman.

Held on suspicion of murder were Manuel Joseph Chavez, 25, and Manuel J. Hernandez, 18, both of Los Angeles. Arrested earlier as suspects were Clyde Bates, 36, and Oscar S. Brenhaug, 44.

Chaves and Hernandes have been sought by police as suspects since the other two men were arrested four hours after the Club Mecca was set on fire Thursday by two men who threw a bucket of gasoline in the door and ignited it with a book of matches.

Police believe the four men are the suspects who were ejected from the bar in Southwestern Los Angeles after two women complained of their obscene language.

Witnesses said two men came back half an hour later and committed the crime termed the worst mass murder in Los Angeles history.

Bates was identified as a car thief with a long record of arrests and convictions in Ohio and Alabama.

Hector the Pup Gets New Life, Thanks to Law

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) — The case of Hector the pup resulted in a change in Pennsylvania law yesterday.

Hector was given to George Welkoff, a Bulgarian displaced persons, last August. Welkoff unknowingly obtained a license for Hector illegally, since under a 1915 state law, an alien can't own a dog.

Welkoff wound up in jail for two days after neighbors complained about the dog. A. V. Leun, of Wydnor, Pa., has kept the dog for Welkoff.

Canada Sees Amity Between U.S., Britain

HALIFAX, N. S. (UP) — Foreign Secretary Lester Pearson said last night the essential aim of Canada's foreign policy must be to promote goodwill between Britain and the United States.

"The United States and the United Kingdom need each other," Pearson said, "need to count on each other's support in a dangerous world more than anything else — and Canada needs them both."

Gas Violators to Get Warrants

Police to Enforce Law on Mis-Labeling Fuel in Wayne County

A crackdown on gasoline retailers who are selling "off-brand" gasoline under regular brand names was ordered today in Wayne County by Prosecutor Gerald O'Brien.

He ordered police to enforce a 1931 law which makes it illegal to pump anything but what is labeled on the gasoline pump.

The action followed complaints from the striking Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers Union which charged that retailers of the seven struck major oil companies were buying gasoline from "fly-by-night truckers" who get supplies wherever they can.

The union spokesman, B. E. Hanson, said that despite the month-long strike the flow of gasoline has not been cut off in the metropolitan area due to the independent truckers.

NO COMPLAINTS

In Oakland County, no complaints of law violation have been received, according to Sheriff Frank Irons and the Pontiac Police.

Detroit police say they do not have the men to watch every gas station, but Inspector Thomas Maxon, of the Special Investigation Bureau, added "we'll ask warrants against everyone we suspect of violating the law and will depend on the union's findings and complaints."

Despite union picketing of refineries and storage depots as far off as Toledo, an uninterrupted supply of gas has been reaching area motorists.

Deep Sea Diver Held in Chamber

Confined With Body of Pal Killed by Bends; Awaits Decompression

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP) — A deep sea diver sits today in the lonely confines of a decompression chamber with the lifeless body of a buddy he tried to nurse through a siege of the "bends."

William Biller, 33, cannot be released until later today, when air pressure in the chamber is gradually brought to normal.

He was being brought up and was within 30 feet of the surface when he began screaming in his helmet. The bends had hit. They result from nitrogen bubbles forming in the bloodstream during a too rapid decompression of the diver.

Smith, with Biller attending him, was locked in the chamber, which looks like a large iron lung. Smith recovered consciousness and seemed to be recovering when he died early yesterday.

Search Three States for Top-Secret Jet

BURBANK, Calif. (UP)—A search covering three states is under way for a top secret Lockheed jet plane, missing since Thursday night on an experimental flight over Nevada.

The plane, designated the U2, took off Thursday from an airstrip near Mercury, Nev. A Lockheed spokesman said the jet was on a high altitude test flight to determine its adaptability for extended weather reconnaissance. Robert L. Sieker, a Lockheed test pilot, was at the controls.

Lockheed said Nevada, California and parts of Utah are being scoured in an air search for the missing craft.

Latter Day Saints to Start Woodward Church Edifice

BIRMINGHAM — Construction will start shortly on the new edifice of the Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints (Mormon) at the corner of Woodward and Chesterfield.

It will be the first formal home of this group in the immediate area.

George W. Romney of Bloomfield Hills, president of American Motors, and head of the Detroit Stake, said the area covered reaches from Toledo to Lansing and a small section of Canada.

The building, on a seven-and-a-half-acre site, is expected to be completed by next spring.

The sanctuary will seat about 350 persons with the recreational section accommodating an additional 1,200.

The building will be patterned somewhat after the architectural style of Cranbrook.

It has been designed by Douglas W. and Harold W. Barton, Los Angeles architects who came here to study the Cranbrook plan, according to Jonathan Snow, building committee spokesman.

To accommodate the 300 area members and follow the teachings of Latter Day Saints, mental, emotional and physical development, as well as spiritual, will be provided for.

Space will be given for 15 educational classrooms; rooms for Boy Scouts and a Women's Relief Society; a large stage and full-sized basketball court.

Autoferry Plans Shuttle Service

To Clear Traffic Jam Caused by Boat Tieup in Thursday Storm

MACKINAW CITY (UP) — The autoferry Vacationland planned to shuttle service across the Straits of Mackinac today to clear up a backlog of cars and passengers.

The jam developed during the 22 hours the 320-foot vessel was ice-locked and aground on a mud bank in the storm-tossed Straits.

Sixty-six passengers and 24 crewmen spent an anxious night aboard the vessel when ice floes stopped her dead Thursday about a mile from her slip. Later, ice pushed her aground just 100 yards from her dock.

"It was the worst night I can remember in the Straits," said Capt. Evor Kerr, commander of the rescue ship, the icebreaker Mackinaw.

Kerr said 70-mile-an-hour winds, ice floes, high seas and fog hindered the rescue operations.

Most of the passengers were taken off the Vacationland yesterday morning after she ran aground.

Kerr said the storm had cleared the Straits of ice floes after jamming them Thursday.

This is the last season ferries will operate on the six-mile run across the Straits. The million dollar Mackinac Straits Bridge, now under construction, is scheduled to open in November.

Orders Probe of Palace Staff

To Hold Investigation on Rumors Circulated About Queen, Duke

LONDON (INS) — Queen Elizabeth II ordered a full-scale probe today into leakages of information about the royal family's private affairs.

Informed palace sources said the Queen's personal detective chief, Supt. Albert Perkins, was named to head the investigation.

The Queen's order was issued on the complaint that information about the royal family's private affairs had "reached foreign sources," causing embarrassment.

Detectives were believed to have traced down the person responsible for the leaks, but they did not immediately obtain enough evidence to take action.

Among the latest rumors to come from the palace were those of a "rift" between the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The rumors were circulated widely in the American press. The palace denied them.

Other rumors have seeped out of the palace over the past two years. One of the most sensational concerned a romance last year between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower took it easy at his farm today after the slowest paced trip he ever made by automobile from Washington.

The President and his wife traveled the 84 miles from the White House yesterday in two hours and 15 minutes, moving at a speed which never exceeded the posted legal limits.

That was quite a contrast to the pace a week earlier. On March 29 Eisenhower zipped along at speeds up to 75 miles an hour along a route where the maximum permitted is 55 miles. He made it to his farm that day in one hour and 45 minutes.

Newsmen traveling behind him then were flagged down by police who said the newsmen had been going 60 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Last Wednesday Eisenhower told a news conference he had ordered his Secret Service driver to be "particularly careful not to exceed the speed limit at any place" from then on.

Summerfield Readies Plans to Cut Service

8½ hours, and that on the same day business district deliveries will be limited to two a day.

The program calls further for discontinuing issuance of money orders entirely at first and second class post ofices — those serving larger communities. This would become effective April 29, and on that same date postal authorities would start suspension of third class mail service, except for shipments of medical supplies.

Asked if he would resign if Congress turns down his money requests, Summerfield reported:

Man Leaves Hospital, Overcome by Smoke

A 65-year-old roomer at the Beiter Apartments, 86 Cottage St., was released from Pontiac General Hospital today after he was overcome by smoke from a fire in his room.

Pontiac firemen used an inhallator before taking William McCarther to the hospital. They said the fire which started about 4 a.m. was caused by smoking in bed. A $100 content damage and a $50 building damage was estimated.

Dubinsky Announces Crackdown on 'Gifts'

NEW YORK (UP) — President David Dubinsky of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union has announced a crackdown on any members of his staff who take gifts from employers.

He said yesterday officers and employes of the union will have 10 days to confess accepting such gifts. Those who admit having been "victims of so-called employer generosity" will not be punished, he added.

But those who do not come forward during the 10-day period, Dubinsky said, and are later found to have been involved in "unethical conduct" will face "the severest punitive measures."

The ILGWU has about 900 officers and technicians, and 700 other employes.

Dubinsky said a "small but vulnerable group" in the union has been tempted by employer gifts ranging from $100 to $500 in cash or bonds.

Romantic Rumors Link Bulganin and Ballerina

PARIS (INS)—Rumors leaking out of Moscow have tied Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin to a romance with an unnamed Bolshoi theater ballerina.

The rumors reached Paris in diplomatic advices. They were listed among gossip current in the Soviet capital.

However, qualified experts on Soviet affairs are inclined to dismiss the rumors as "buffoonery."

Tougher Law Asked for Driver's License

LANSING (UP) — The legislature has been asked to tighten restrictions on drivers licenses for persons who have experienced a long list of physical ailments.

A bill with this aim was filed yesterday by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) and four other solons.

An applicant who had suffered one of the ailments would have to present a physician's certificate that he was competent to drive in a manner so as not to jeopardize the safety of others or of property.

These were the ills enumerated:

Epilepsy, stroke, excessively high blood pressure, diabetes, Bright's disease, fainting spells, any heart ailment, defective hearing, a mental illness which required hospitalization, drug addiction, alcoholism, a physical deformity or the loss of either leg, arm, hand or foot.

Makarios Ends Exile, Madagascar Bound

MAHE, Seychelles (UP) — Archbishop Makarios ended his 13-month-long exile on this Indian Ocean isle today as he boarded a Greek vessel and headed for Athens.

The tanker Olympic Thunder interrupted a voyage to the United States to pick up the Cypriot religious leader.

British authorities lifted Makarios' exile last week on condition he stay away from Cyprus where he was accused of backing an underground movement for union with Greece.

The Olympic Thunder was to take Makarios to Madagascar. A French plane will take him to Athens.

Jailed for Molesting

John W. Jones, 35, of 154 N. Paddock St., paid $50 and was ordered to spend three days in jail on a charge of molesting a 23-year-old woman March 27.

He appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum Thursday.

Car Collision Due to 2 Green Lights — None Injured

A defective traffic light at Auburn Avenue and East Boulvard caused a two-car collision yesterday. Pontiac Police reported.

Drivers of the autos involved were Ethel Patterson, 21, of 279 Seward St. and William Roger Bannnow, 24, of 3786 Alida St., Rochester.

No one was injured.

Woman Unlocks Car; Man Grabs Purse

A Sylvan Village woman was robbed last night as she was about to enter her auto in a parking lot at the rear of the Congregational Church, N. Mill and Mt. Clemens Sts.

Mrs. Carrol Watson, 1875 Warwick St., said she was unlocking her auto when a man suddenly walked in front of her and started to pull at the purse and parcel she was carrying.

The Michigan Bell Telephone employe, who was returning from work, said the man left without speaking after she released the purse.

Hoffa Denies Plans to Live in Canada

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa denied a report today that he would go to Canada as a "landed immigrant."

The 44-year-old Teamsters vice president, who is under indictment by the federal government on conspiracy charges, told International News Service:

"I have absolutely no intention to enter Canada except as a visitor to hunt and fish and visit our unions there.

"I don't know where the story originated and cannot even dream how the rumor got started. All I know is that a newspaper in Toronto called me up and asked me about it."

A Canadian parliament member asked Immigration Minister Pickersgill earlier today whether the department had received an application from Hoffa for entry into Canada as a landed immigrant.

U. S. Ship Enters Eilat

EILAT, Israel (UP)—A 16,000-ton American tanker sailed into Eilat today with the first cargo of crude oil ever to be brought to this Israeli port on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Day of Reckoning Draws Near!

That day that all of us wish we could forget—April 15—is creeping up again.

All individual 1956 income tax returns must be mailed to the Director of Internal Revenue, Federal Building, Detroit 31, to be postmarked no later than midnight that day.

With the deadline but 9 days away, the Pontiac office of the Internal Revenue Service, 83½ W. Huron st., is braced for a week's rush of last-minute filers.

Charles E. Coddington, supervisor of the office, warned taxpayers that personnel will assist in the preparation of, but not the filling out of returns. "Shortage of personnel prevents us from filling out forms," Coddington said.

The office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 4. Telephone service is available through 4:30 each weekday.

Coddington asked that persons with lengthy technical questions visit the office. Other questions may be answered over the phone.

He warned taxpayers filing joint returns to make sure names of both are at the top of the return and that both husband and wife must sign at the bottom.

Returns must be submitted each year by any person earning $600 or more in gross income. Persons 65 years or older do not have to file unless they have earned $1,200 or more in gross income.

Persons are reminded not to forget to attach W-2 forms to returns and to list names as well as number of dependents for which exemptions are being claimed.

Coddington said indications are that a great percentage of taxpayers have filed returns in advance of the deadline. "But we expect that last-minute rush," he added.

He issued a further reminder that the declaration of 1957 estimated tax (Form 1040 ES), along with the first quarter payment, must accompany the 1956 return due April 15.

Leader of Death March Tries to Be 'Good Marine'

(Just one year ago Matthew McKeon was a Marine staff sergeant and proud of it. Then came the Parris Island "death march." Now he's a private. What has happened to this Marine who became a storm center? The following article, first of two, is written by a reporter who covered the McKeon court-martial.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS)—"I'm sticking it out. I'm trying to be as good a Marine private as I can be."

So says Matthew C. McKeon, the 32-year-old former drill instructor who was stripped of his staff sergeant's stripes for leading six young recruits to their deaths in a disciplinary march a year ago at the Marine training station at Parris Island, S. C.

Pvt. McKeon, now stationed at the Marine air wing at Camp Lejeune, N. C., is taking his reduction in rank philosophically and declared on an interview he is giving the Marine Corps "all I have."

On a moonless Sunday night last April 8, combat veteran McKeon, who was dedicated to the job of making "fighting Marines" out of the green recruits in his charge, routed his "laggard" 74-man platoon out of its barracks to "teach them discipline." Unfortunately for McKeon, he had done some drinking that day.

MARCHED TO CREEK

McKeon marched the platoon out to the boondocks and marshes and into the tidal waters of Ribbon Creek. His intent was to show them conditions they might have to surmount in actual warfare. Panic broke out in the creek and as the platoon scrambled back to safety it was found that six of the recruits had drowned.

On Aug. 4, 1956, McKeon was found guilty by a military court of negligent homicide in the drowning of the recruits. He was sentenced to a bad conduct discharge, nine months at hard labor, a fine of $270 and forfeiture of $30 a month pay during confinement.

The severity of the sentence by the seven-man tribunal stunned McKeon. Only the day before the court had found him not guilty of manslaughter, oppression of troops and conduct to discredit the Marines.

CASE REVIEWED

His case was reviewed by Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas and on Oct. 5 Thomas revised McKeon's sentence and overruled the bad conduct charge. Thomas cut the jail sentence from nine months to three and set aside the $270 fine. McKeon was reduced to the rank of private. Thomas noted that McKeon's reduction in rank would cost him much more than the fine.

McKeon was in the brig thereafter for less than one month because he had been "in the status of arrest" since his conviction. Even before the court-martial he spent weeks in the brig. On Oct. 21 McKeon stepped from the brig as a private after trading his fatigues for the uniform of the day.

In a telephone interview, Pvt. McKeon told International News Service that he is satisfied he was given a square deal at his court-martial and in the subsequent moderation of his sentence.

NO HARD FEELINGS

"I have no hard feelings toward anybody, and I'm grateful to the many friends who stood by me," said McKeon.

He said that he is now going to school at Camp Lejeune as part of engineering training. He handles correspondence — typing and filing—in an office. He says he likes the work because it is "something new" and finds it "very interesting."

He said he thought the things he is learning in the field of aviation may pay off in the future. But when asked if he wants always to be a Marine, he quickly replied: "Yes, sir! I'm all for the Marines."

WIFE, 3 CHILDREN

McKeon's wife, Betty, 29, is living with their three children at their home town of Worcester, Mass. They now have two girls and a boy: Rebecca, 6 years old; John, almost 2, and Bridget, who was born seven months ago.

Ever since McKeon marched his platoon to Ribbon Creek, the training methods at Parris Island have been a controversial subject. One of the big questions has been: "Are the training methods of the drill instructors too severe?"

Other D.I's have been called on the mat at Parris Island since the McKeon court-martial. About 13 drill instructors and several enlisted men have been tried for mistreating recruits at this boot training camp in recent months.

Drainage Plight Points Up Growing County Dilemma

By HAROLD COHEN

Oakland County's growing nightmare of sanitation problems bubbled up in West Bloomfield Township this week as workmen completed a temporary sanitary system in the Pine Center Subdivision on West Long Lake road near Middlebelt road.

One of the residents who is refusing to tap into the new system, Mrs. Hugo L. Lovett, of 3950 S. Pine Center Dr., unfolded a tale of septic tank woe which shocked even care-hardened public health officials.

In essential facts, it is a story confirmed by township, county and state officials and the subdivision developers themselves.

Mrs. Lovett's story begins in the fall of 1954 six weeks after she moved into her new home, in the $30,000 price class, at Pine Center.

FIRMLY TOLD

But the story really begins when the developers, a syndicate of six companies, first platted the development. At that time they were firmly told by engineers that the land was mainly clay and absolutely unsuitable for septic tank installation.

However, according to Charles B. O'Neil a Detroit realty company executive who is representing some of the syndicate's principals, the West Bloomfield Township Board, eager for the development, urged the developers to go ahead using septic tanks and dry wells.

O'Neil said a start was made on 23 homes before it became apparent that the dry wells were not taking care of the septic tank effluent properly.

Hiland M. Thatcher, township supervisor, denies the township board encouraged the development.

"It conformed to our zoning laws and was approved by the county highway commission, so we went along, with the understanding proper sanitary facilities would be installed," Thatcher said.

"When we saw there was trouble, we stopped issuing building permits. We had no way of knowing in advance whether dry wells would work or not," he added.

Mrs. Lovett found her septic tank was not working shortly after moving in and complained to the developers. The result — a workman came out and unhooked her sewer line from the tank, allowing the raw sewage to flow into her backyard.

DIDN'T REALIZE

"Being city folks, we didn't realize what was going on," Mrs. Lovett said, "until the stench became unbearable."

In all, 17 of the 23 homes in the subdivision had dry wells and all had septic tank trouble. Three of the remaining six with drainage fields also had difficulty.

Complaints mounted, and the syndicate finally sent out men to pump out the septic tanks at regular intervals. Some were pumped out several times a week into roadside ditches.

This practice continued until the summer of 1955 when one resident, unable to bear the smell from the ditches, called the police, who stopped the practice.

Meantime, complaints to the Oakland County and Michigan Health Depts. brought action against the developer who tried to correct the situation by deepening the "dry" wells into gravel bearing and water bearing strata.

This was done in several cases before the State Health Dept. ordered it stopped on the ground it could contaminate the community well which supplied the water used in the subdivision. They ordered a chlorinator added to the water system.

At the same time, the County Health Dept. issued citations ordering residents to halt the flow of sewage from their septic tanks to the surface of the ground.

The developers, in conference with the health officials, cast about for means to correct the situation legally and were unable to come up with anything despite geological surveys of the whole subdivision.

Finally, the State Health Dept. turned the whole matter over to the state Attorney - General's office for legal action on Nov. 29, 1956.

After conferring with the parties, the attorney - general gave the developers until Jan. 7, 1957 to come up with a solution.

This they finally did with a system of filter beds near the south shore of Pine Lake and sewer lines to bring the sewage from all the homes to the bed.

This solution won the approval of health authorities out of desperation and with the understanding that it would be temporary. The sewers will be hooked into the proposed Middlebelt interceptor from Detroit which may come that way in a few years.

ASKED TO PAY

The Pine Center residents were asked to pay $471 each to tap this system and all have agreed except the Lovetts and several others across the road.

Mrs. Lovett contends she was sold a house that supposedly had proper sanitary facilities and she sees no reason to pay for those facilities now.

O'Neil says the residents are only being asked to pay for taps which they will have to put in anyway when the Middlebelt interceptor arrives and they are getting a bargain at $471.

"We deserve a medal, not blame, for sticking with this thing and finding a solution," O'Neil said.

"We are being coerced into paying for something that is the fault of the developer," retorts Mrs. Lovett, "and if we don't tap in we are by-passed by the sewer and have to start paying for having our faulty septic tanks pumped out every week.

"What can we do? We can't sell our house, we can't stay in it and we can't get our money back. The people next door sold their home and the buyers took one look and sued. They had to refund the buyer's money and move back in themselves," she said.

"If we don't get any results from state authorities, we'll have to go to court," she concluded.

Olympic athletes will need no passports — just identity cards—to enter Australia this year, Melbourne reports.

The French Government has denied reports that the corporate income tax rate will be raised from 38 per cent to 50 per cent.

WHAT IS AGE?

J. L. VOORHEES

We have a friend whose face is lined with creases, hair as white as driven snow but whose mind is as full of tomorrow as a calendar. He looks at his tomorrows as new horizons to explore, new experiences to live, and time to finish work he started today. He is 83, the same age as Edison when he pioneered the studies of synthetic rubber.

M. E. SIPLE

Age! Consider Paderewski: he was giving concerts at 79; Alfred Tennyson was 83 when he published Crossing the Bar; Benjamin Franklin was sent to France when he was 78; many of our Senators are in their seventies. Years are not a barrier to accomplishment; through those years we store up experience and how properly to evaluate it. Age is a huge bin from which we may draw necessary ingredients to make Today glow with purpose, and accomplishment.

David Beck Discovers World's No Longer His

David Beck is slowly discovering that the red carpet has been rolled up and put away.

The world's his no longer.

He's like other people.

When he first faced his inquisitors, Mr. Beck was loud in his asserverations and he issued statements with as much ease as he invoked the Fifth Amendment.

Then he announced that he proposed to spend one million dollars of union funds to defend himself. That's a right, tidy sum for one man's defense. Personally, we think the man next door could defend himself against graft charges for about $4.80.

You see, he isn't guilty.

It's perfectly possible that defense fund needs increase proportionately with the personal fear of conviction.

We note a change in Beck's union. The executive board held a meeting in Washington with Beck present. At the conclusion, it was announced that there would be no million dollars of union dues for Mr. Beck's defense. The board is finally growing weary of Mr. Beck. In fact, it is rumored that the board is ready to hand over some new tips to the McClellan committee which will do Beck a lot of no good.

The days of swagger and boast seem to have concluded. The dizzy pomp and glory of spending union dues right and left without accounting is at an end. It is exceedingly doubtful whether Mr. Beck will be able to "talk his way out" this time. The nation, unions in general, people of all ranks, his own union members and his official associates are through.

The AFL-CIO has suspended him as a vice president and in a few weeks it will try him on charges of "malfeasance for invoking the Fifth Amendment in answer to charges made before the Senate committee."

The end of the trail is in sight. Beck has surmounted great obstacles before, but now he faces a grim and unyielding society that is all out of forgiveness and compassion.

Panama Wants U.S. to Implement '55 Pact

Recent rumors had it that Panama's President Ernesto de la Guardia was sounding out American officials about nationalizing the Canal.

Such doesn't seem to be the case. In an interview with a staff correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, President de la Guardia said that relations between the U.S. and the Republic of Panama never were better. A recent round table discussion at the University of Panama with regard to canal problems and similarities between Panama and Suez he considered "healthy."

Panama, he said, "has outgrown the canal. We are less dependent on it than we once were and should become even less dependent than we are."

A Dartmouth graduate with an understanding of the slowness of democratic processes, President de la Guardia was frank in saying, however, that if the 1955 U.S. treaty with Panama were not soon put into effect his people would begin to think it was not signed in good faith.

Pending in Congress is legislation to implement the treaty which would equalize wages between Panamanians and Americans employed in the Canal Zone. Some Panamanian employes of the U. S. would be put under civil service and certain unneeded real estate would be returned to Panama.

Another provision of the treaty would authorize a start on a $20 million bridge across the canal at Balboa. Panama's President pointed out that 14 years ago the U.S. authorized the bridge and added "sometimes our people are impatient."

With such expressions of goodwill and understanding on the part of Panama, there is no reason why cordial relations with that country should not continue.

India's New Currency

In making a change to the metric system, India goes back to zeros and numerals which, says Premier Nehru, originally was a product of Indian genius.

The rupee still will be the unit money. Now it will be divided into 100 new coins instead of the 16 annas of 12 pieces each. This commendable change means new coins, new postage stamps, new adding machines and a whole new and better method of computing.

With the decimal system, India will be more in tune with the modern world. However it's a tremendous undertaking to make the new system understandable in several hundred thousand villages where the old system is regarded as almost sacred.

Suez Canal Traffic

Egypt Sets Rate

Thinks France, Britain Must Agree to terms

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Egypt figures that it will get Suez Canal traffic payments on its own terms because of the economic difficulties encountered by its foes, Britain and France.

British and French shipowners certainly are at a disadvantage unless their governments agree to pay on Egyptian terms for transit through the canal.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser has accused the United States and her western allies of using psychological and economic pressure against his country.

It is true that the U.S., Britain and France have frozen Egyptian assets after last summer's Egyptian seizure of the canal. But Nasser also thus far has been able to put pressure on West European nations in the squabble over the canal.

Shippers who refuse to pay on Egyptian terms have been forced since last summer to take the long route around Africa.

In the matter of vital oil supplies from the Middle East it will be years before routes are opened. It also will cost billions to build supertankers and to erect pipelines such as projected through Turkey and across Israel.

The projected pipeline from the southern Israeli port of Elath across Israel to the Haifa refinery area on the Mediterranean, and the only one that would skirt Syria and go through Turkey would help.

But such lines could not carry all the oil needed. West European demands increase rather than diminish.

Western wishes to avoid dependence on the Suez route spur the trend for supertankers. But these cost much more and also will take years to construct.

Some shipping experts say that it seems strange that construction of the mammoth tankers up to 100,000 tons did not begin earlier because their economic advantages are obvious.

The Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers of New York as far back as 1948 demonstrated in a report the advantages.

If the cost a ton-mile of carrying oil in a 12,000-ton tanker at 12 knots is taken as 100, the report said the cost of carriage in a 50,000-tonner at 17 knots would be only 60.

Four of the smaller ships would be needed to carry the cargo of the larger, with four crews, four sets of repair bills and so forth.

This holds good today but with the passing years building costs have jumped and stress must be put on the capital savings such as the cost of machinery, the costliest part of a tanker.

Days of All Faiths

Begin Observance of Passiontide

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday is the fifth Sunday in Lent, popularly called Passion Sunday because it is on this day the attention of the worshipers begins to be directed toward the Lord's Passion — that is, His trial, suffering and death. The last two weeks of Lent are sometimes known as Passiontide.

In South and Central America, and in some of the southern states of the U. S., there is a flower which blooms at this time of year. It was named the passion flower by the deeply religious Spanish explorers who found it when they came to this hemisphere four centuries ago.

Their active imaginations saw in this flower, many symbols of the Crucifixion. The flower's ten petals they interpreted as standing for the ten Apostles who remained unswervingly loyal while Judas betrayed the Lord and Peter denied Him.

In the pistil they saw three nails, one for each hand and one for the feet. The five stamens were the five wounds. The seed pod represented the sponge in which the soldiers offered Jesus vinegar while He hung on the Cross. The flower has 72 filaments, the traditional number of thorns in Jesus' crown.

The Spaniards were quite serious about all this. They wrote home about it, saying this flower had been "designed by the Creator that it might in due time assist in the conversion of the heathen among whom it grows."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WEEK

Beginning Monday and continuing through next Sunday will be the 13th annual observance of National Sunday School Week, sponsored each year by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc.

This committee, with headquarters in New York City, is a non-sectarian corporation, founded in 1940 for the purpose of reawakening religious thinking in every possible aspect of American life. And of course their aim for National Sunday School Week is to stimulate attendance and interest in all Sunday schools throughout the country.

This year's theme for the week is "Sunday School — Source of Spiritual Strength." Promotional materials issued by the committee state that "good seeds cannot be planted too early." Given a chance, they say, the Sunday school will replace juvenile delinquency with juvenile decency.

SALVATION ARMY

Wednesday is the anniversary of the birth, in 1829, of William Booth, who founded and directed the Salvation Army. In so doing, he brought into the world a brand-new concept of Christianity's ministry to the poor, the underprivileged, the down-and-out.

Booth first startled London in 1849, when he arrived there from his hometown of Nottingham and began to preach on street corners in the slums. At that time he was a Wesleyan Methodist, and Wesleyans were full of evangelistic zeal. But Booth's new approach was too sensational even for them, and as a result of their criticism he left them and went on by himself.

The now-familiar Salvation Army pattern took some time to evolve. It was 1878 before the outdoor meetings, brass bands, and slum-district missions had developed into a definite movement, organized along military lines and known by its present name.

Booth realized that the physical and social environment of the people to whom he was trying to minister made it difficult, if not impossible, for them really to hear and understand the Christian message. Accordingly, he developed a program of social service — overnight shelters, free breakfasts, etc. Out of this small beginning has grown the Army's present vast number of slum missions, summer camps, hostels, old people's homes, and similar institutions in nearly every corner of the world.

The Army, at first violently opposed from all sides, has now achieved an enormous respect and popularity. Extended to America in 1880 and Australia in 1881, the Salvation Army is now active in almost every Christian country.

"Mom sure knows how to keep her waxed floors from getting tramped on."

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Neighbors Shocked but Kids Happy

"Our whole family in debt to you boys often scandalize the neighbors by running races barefoot through the snow. . . . (O.D.H.)'

DR. BRADY

Answer — Oh, dear, now if the kids ever come down with pneumonia or the rheumatiz the neighbors will be pleased.

"I have been trying to pass a Civil service typing test but seem to tighten up the minute that I start. At home I can get through it easily. I am 35 and very nervous. I perspire a good deal; and, at the typing test, my fingers and hands perspire so much that my fingers slip off the keys . . . (Mrs. C. W.)"

From the experience of readers I gather that the method of preventing examination jitters or stage fright, which I describe in detail in the pamphlet "Stage Fright and Examination Jitters' is generally satisfactory. Copy available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Have been on the iodin ration for over a year now and it has done me a world of good. Kindly send pamphlet on Hives for my husband who is constantly bothered with them. (Mrs. L. M.)"

Answer — Pamphlet on Hives available on request — send stamped, self-addressed envelope. One subject to hives—ordinary or "giant' hives, otherwise called "angio-neurotic edema,'—should follow a high calcium diet. For booklet, the Calcium Shortage, inclose 35 cents in addition.

"Had stones removed from bladder. Now a doctor tells me these stones come from wrong eating. What should I eat or not eat? (R. S. M.)'

Answer—To the best of my knowledge diet has little if anything to do with the occurrence of stones (calculi) in bladder or kidney.

Generally, stones form as a result of infection or, as some physicians believe, because of prolonged vitamin A deficiency. To correct such deficiency follow a high vitamin A diet, as described in Little Lesson 15, Nerves and Nutrition, (chapter on multiple sclerosis), for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I enclose 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for your little Lesson 23, Training for Diabetes. I never miss your column, even if I read nothing else in the paper. I owe my good health to your advice . . . (A. M. I.)'

Answer—Thank you. My constant aim is to follow the injunction of Hippocrates: "Do Good If You Can, but Do No Harm."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Must Be Sly With Reluctant Groom

Lola needs to employ the "minor decision" technique, for old bachelors are addicted to the habit of putting off major decisions. Even though Randolph loved Lola, he would probably have stalled another 20 years if she hadn't used the strategy outlined below. It has won wedding rings for thousands of girls.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-348: Lola G., aged 29, is a nurse who has been dating an eligible bachelor for three years.

"Dr. Crane Randolph is 34, and a very talented engineer," she began.

CRANE

"He is gallant and I enjoy my dates with him. But he seems to stall about marriage.

"Oh, he admits he loves me. He says there is no other girl for him except me. And he vows we shall get married.

"But he avoids setting the day. He loves me, I feel certain, but is a victim of procrastination.

"His widowed mother lives with him and keeps house. She seems to like me fairly well. But Randolph evades the issue. What can I do?"

MINOR DECISION

In salesmanship we stress the "minor decision" method of getting the prospect's signature on the dotted line.

We don't ask the bald question: "Well, what do you say? Take it or leave it:"

No, indeed: That would shock the prospect out of the buying mood by making him realize he had to make a major decision.

So we employ the "minor decision" whereby we tactfully get him to assent to minor questions.

Would you want delivery of the vacuum cleaner in time for Saturday's housecleaning or would Monday be O. K.?" asks the salesman when he sees the housewife is wavering.

With her major attention on the shiny new cleaner, she may assent to Monday.

"Would you prefer to pay by the installment plan or in full at the time of delivery?" is another example of minor decisions.

By this ingenious method, the salesman gets the prospect in an agreeing frame of mind and has already taught her the habit of assenting, so he concludes with a casual:

"If you'll just O. K. this along the dotted line, we'll have a brand new vacuum sweeper here, by Monday morning."

Well, girls, you can employ the same "minor decision" technique on bachelors.

"Do you prefer a June wedding to an autumn wedding?" Lola can ask.

Randolph will probably select the date that is farther away, so he will doubtless prefer the autumn date.

"I like that season of the year, too," Lola can gayly agree, "but would you prefer September or October?"

Of course, he'll pick October, for that's farther off. Lola should set the stage so some witnesses can casually enter the room at this moment, and then she can announce:

"Randolph says we are to be married in October. Isn't that wonderful? And, Mary, will you be my bridesmaid?"

He's hooked: The "minor decision" did it.

Keep pushing him farther out on the limb by deft measures. And if he gets nervous at the thought of an elaborate wedding, which such gun-shy bachelors usually do, then suggest:

"Let's surprise everybody and elope. Let's run off now and get married:"

Bachelors are addicted to the bad habit of procrastination. They are just as much a victim to such indecision as a chronic drunk is a slave to liquor.

So have no hesitation in pushing such a vacillator into marriage if you know the couple are well suited to each other in all other respects.

A lot of girls now have wedding rings because they employed the "minor decision" technique outlined above. It is deft sales psychology. Use it!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, inclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Playing Pot-O-Gold Game Is Good Brain Exercise'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

If only I had the will power to ignore the Pot-O-Gold game! It's a most fascinating exercise for the brain, but not for other parts. I've gained 10 pounds sitting, pondering over the dictionary looking for clues.

Trying to outwit the answer man is like flying without wings. I've never won yet, but I won't give up. I'm so happy when someone does win to know that it can be done.

Another Wants Stop Sign Back

There was a fourth accident Saturday at the corner of First and Barkell, the results of the new Yield Right of Way signs. We've tried without results to have the stop signs put back. LeBaron School is on this corner and it's hard telling how many children might be hurt. Two accidents were so bad the cars were thrown up on the sidewalk.. When a child isn't safe on the sidewalk, then what?

The City paved these streets, enabling cars to travel at a faster clip, and then removed the stop signs. If policemen or City officials lived here, I'm sure the stop signs would go back.

Once more we will patch our lawn, sweep up the glass and pray someone at the City Hall will come to his senses before we have to patch up an innocent child.

Wants City's Help to Clear Swamp

We hear a lot of talk about the City wanting people to keep their homes up, but what about some cooperation when we petition and ask a little help?

There are many swamp areas in our location. A petition was started last year and a group went to City Hall about it, but nothing is done yet. The areas are dangerous to small children, they are unsanitary, with rats and mosquitos. Why must the City wait until something happens before taking action?

We who live here invite fellow taxpayers to visit our streets and see the conditions. The City doesn't seem to want to give us much help in improving our neighborhood and making it a good, sound place to raise children.

Man Requests Death Penalty

Have you forgotten the people in Michigan have no capital punishment? We can't feel sure our own children will come home safe without some so-called social maniac attacking them. Then they plead insanity. If we vote for capital punishment, we won't have so much murder. We spend large sums of money to find these maniacs and when they're caught, they get food, clothing and a place to sleep. I am in favor of capital punishment.

Teenager Asks of Police Duty

I've been reading your column for a long time. I think it's very good and adds a lot to your paper. Now I have something to add.

I am a 17-year-old boy, a student at Waterford High, but my story happened in Pontiac. I was driving down Woodward and received a speeding ticket. I didn't mind this, for I was over the limit. I drove a little farther and saw another teenager stopped and he also got a ticket. This also is probably just and right.

But my friend who lives only two blocks from the police station called a police car to investigate a prowler at her door and it took them 15 minutes to get there. Is it right to put all the attention on traffic and teenagers or to protect the people from peeping toms?

UAW Petitions Review by Court

Union Lawyers Request Rehearing on Decision on TV Broadcasts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Automobile Workers yesterday asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its action in reinstating a indictment accusing the union of violating federal law on political activity.

The question involves the spending of union funds on political TV broadcasts.

Attys. Harold A. Cranefield of Detroit and Joseph L. Raun Jr. of Washington said in their petition for rehearing that the court "should have decided both the statutory and constitutional questions or neither."

Dividing 5-3, the court on March 11 held the law involved was broad enough to cover the facts alleged in the indictment. This sent the case back to federal district court in Detroit for trial, but left constitutional issues unresolved.

OUTSIDE MEANING

The indictment had been dismissed by District Judge Frank A. Picard. He said the union's payments for television time were not within the meaning of the word "expenditures" as used in the law.

A ban on use of union dues for political purposes was written into the Taft-Hartley Labor Act as an amendment to the Corrupt Practices Act which also prohibits the use of corporation funds for political purposes.

Justice Frankfurter in the Supreme Court's majority opinion took the view constitutional issues should not be passed on until and unless the case came back after trial.

Justice Douglas, speaking for the dissenters, said the court's action "abolishes First Amendment rights on a wholesale basis."

Police Nab Man for Bomb Scare on Ontario Train

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Canadian Pacific Railroad officials said a wide-eyed telegrapher at Toronto was given this message last night to send to Buffalo:

"Am boarding train arriving Buffalo 10:55 p.m. Am going to set off a bomb. (signed) "Jim."

The telegrapher alerted police. They boarded the train at Hamilton, Ont., and took the startled telegram sender to headquarters for questioning.

They found nothing.

Later, the word came from Hamilton. Jim had told police: "I just meant I was going to have a booming good time in Buffalo. That's all."

Police said he had been released. They declined to identify him.

Bill Would Assure Free Polio Vaccine

LANSING (AP)—Continued distribution of free polio vaccine by the state would be assured in a bill introduced in the legislature yesterday.

The bill, submitted by Rep. John T. Bowman (R-Roseville), would allocate $660,000 already appropriated for the free vaccine program but not yet released.

The proposal follows the recommendations of Gov. Williams, who urged the legislature to release the money on learning that available funds for the vaccine had been exhausted.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said earlier this week that 1,235,615 more doses of vaccine would be needed to continue the state program through June 30. The vaccine is made available to physicians and local health officers for immunizing pregnant women and children from 1 to 14.

The $660,000 was earmarked by the legislature as matching funds for federal money allocated for purchase of the vaccine.

But She Won't Answer 'Yes' or 'No'

Marilyn Hoping for Baby

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS)—"I want to have a baby," Marilyn Monroe confided today — but there's no evidence she is pregnant now.

I talked with Marilyn for two hours in her New York home. She would not, in response to the direct question as to whether she is expecting a child, as has been widely reported, give a direct "yes" of "no" answer.

My guess, after a good look at the famed Monroe chassis, in skin-tight black skirt and thick cotton T-shirt, is that she is not now expectant.

"We definitely want a baby and when we have something to say we'll say it," Marilyn explained. "But right now, 'No comment.' Our private life is private and we want to keep it so."

The 30-year-old blonde screen star, in her first interview since her return from England last December, chatted freely on most other subjects during the interview in her eight-room East Side apartment.

Her husband of 10 months, Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Arthur Miller, kept a typewriter busy in an adjoining room while Marilyn sighed:

"I'm mad about him!

STILL ON HONEYMOON

"In a way we're still on our honeymoon—and I hope it keeps lasting and lasting."

Marilyn explained: "I didn't really get to be with my husband in England," because both were working during their five-month stay abroad.

"Now that we have time together, I just enjoy sitting home.

"All these reports about my staying home for odd reasons are funny," she laughed. "I've been resting after five months' hard work, that's all. I have to see my doctor about my sore throat again—I keep coughing."

Only the indictment of Miller on contempt of Congress charges clouds Marilyn's obvious happiness. Miller was indicted Feb. 18 for having refused to tell the House Un-American Activities Committee the names of persons he had seen at Communist meetings 10 years ago.

At the mention of this, Marilyn shivered.

"It's not possible not to care—or think about it," she said seriously. "But I have the highest hopes and expectations for the future.

PLACE IN THE COUNTRY

"We want to live in New York permanently, but also get a place in the country. We're both dreaming of going to the seashore this summer."

The actress, always prettier off-screen, even with no makeup and rain-dampened hair, glowed as she talked about the future.

Beaming at her lanky husband, who wandered in for his pipe tobacco, Marilyn blushed as she said:

"I want to have a family of my own—at least one baby and I hope many more.

Miller has two children, Jane and Bobby, by a previous marriage.

The playwright made no comment during the interview with Marilyn, except about the new play he is writing. It hasn't a title yet, he said, but "I've got 2,000 pages done . . . and I only need 120."

Marilyn giggled:

"I read it—when he lets me."

BOSS OF THE HOUSE

She made it clear that Miller is the boss of the house and that's how she likes it. Although Marilyn has a full-time maid, when Miller said he'd like a glass of sherry, the world's most famous blonde leaped like a bunny to get him the glass.

She's even learning chess, because Miller is a chess player who keeps a board always set up.

Marilyn has no intention of giving up movies, much as she loves staying home.

"I've started my acting lessons again—four a week, two at Actors Studio and two private lessons with Lee Strasburg. Please make it clear, though, that I'm not giving up comedies or musicals. I just want to do good ones."

Prepare Work Resume as 'Teaser'

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Most of us have a hard time writing a resume.

"Why," asks one reader, "do they want one in the first place? Don't they have an application blank you fill in? Why the resume? And how do you make one u?"

First, the resume is more of a teaser. It gives the highlights of your experience, not just the chronological, exhausirg details of every breath you've ever, vocationally speaking, drawn.

You put into the resume only such qualifications as you believe will apply to a particular kind of job.

For example, if your experience has been both secretarial and editorial, and you're applying for an editorial job, you don't lie and leave out the secretarial experience. You soft-pedal it and stress the editorial.

MORE DETAILS

If you've had sales jobs in both food and hardware, and the job you're going after is in hardware, you give more details about that aspect of your experience than you do about the food experience.

Second, don't put too many details in your resume. Don't give the salary you want or the salaries you've made.

Don't give references. Even if they tell you to, don't. Psychologically, it's a mistake to tell people too much until you've learned a lot about them.

They might call your references and check, without really considering you — which is a nuisance and an embarrassment.

They might turn you down, sight unseen, if your salary is too large or, as is more often the case, too small! It is better to discuss those two things with a prospective employer personally.

TYPED, CONCISE

Third, be sure your resume is neatly typed and not too long. Don't feel you have to stick to one page. It can run to two or even three if the material in it is up the alley of the job you're going after.

Fourth, keep a copy of it yourself, so the right hand will know what the left hand is doing!

Fifth, don't give resumes around too lavishly. Lots of people, in brushing you off, will say, "Leave a few of your resumes with me."

It is not a good idea, because people can only get a limited view of you from a piece of paper, no matter how well written. It is better to see the people first, then give them the resume.

Sixth, don't pay too much attention to the criticisms your resume receives. Some people, when they have no job for you, take that opportunity to let you have it on your resume, just for conversation.

Don't pay any attention to it. No two people in the world will agree on what makes a good resume. Criticism will only shatter your self-confidence.

There is nothing like long gowns for the tall bride who needs more sophistication, more dignity than the short sleep-wear gives.

Designed to flatter small bustlines, and minimize that stretched-leg look, tall girls should choose the long gowns. Long gowns are glamorous and it is wise to leave the "cute" look of short sleep-wear to the tiny girl bride.

Bethany Baptist Pastor Arrives

Dr. Joseph I. Chapman to Preach First Sermon Sunday Morning

Dr. Joseph I. Chapman, new pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, arrived in Pontiac with his family this week. His sermon subject tomorrow morning will be "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Following the sermon, the board of deacons will assist with the Communion Service.

Dr. Chapman came here from Minnesota where, for the past 10 years, he has held executive positions of administration in the Twin City Union, Minnesota Convention of American Baptists and the American Baptist Convention.

His formal installation as pastor will be held at the evening service on May 5th.

Complete reports of all officers, communities and boards will be given at the quarterly business meeting Wednesday evening. The session will follow the family night dinner when members and friends of Bethany Baptist will gather informally to meet the Chapmans.

Missionary Sisters to Speak at Services

Mrs. John D. Ellison and Mrs. Ivan Lay, sisters, will be guest speakers in all the services Sunday at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

The congregation is meeting temporarily in the Isaac Crary Junior High School, 501 Cass Lake Rd. near M59.

Mrs. Ellison has been a missionary to Thailand since 1951 and her sister, Mrs. Lay, has served as missionary to Indonesia since 1952.

With their families they will return late this summer to the missionary field. Both women received training at the Nyack Missionary College in Nyack, N. Y.

Worship services are held each Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday School is scheduled for 9:45 a.m. The Rev. G. J. Bersche is the pastor.

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virture, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

If ye love me, keep my commandments.

Confident Living

To Be Popular Be Kindly, Sincere; Think of Others

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

We are hearing much about teenagers these days, pro and con. Since my son and older daughter have only just passed through that stage of their lives, and my younger daughter is still a teenager, I have had some experience with this age group. Also, as a result of writing and lecturing, I get thousands of letters from young people telling me about their problems and asking for advice.

DR. PEALE

Personally, I think teenagers are wonderful human beings. The great majority are honest, idealistic, fine-living youngsters. Only a few compose the mixed-up and erratic fringe. I do not believe there is basically a bad boy or girl. Those who act that way are, actually, not being themselves.

One question I am asked quite often is expressed by a fifteen year old: "All the boys in my class like the popular girls. Could you give me some advice on how to be popular?"

I answered: "To be popular, practice being friendly and kindly to everyone. Be happy and outgoing. Get a lot of fun out of everything. Always act so that everybody will have a good opinion of you. Think of others first, especially those who are shy and lonely.

"Don't try too hard to be liked, for then you may do foolish things that would cause people to think you are insincere, and that would make you less popular. Be an inspiring personality. Help other people to like themselves, and they will like you very much indeed."

MUST I PET?

On this same subject of popularity, one of the questions that often arises relates to the problem of petting. "Do I have to pet to be popular?" girls often ask. Of course, one way to avoid that issue is to stay in groups, to have fun in crowds, to keep out of parked cars, and to avoid going out alone with anyone you're not sure of. But there is a more positive answer.

Young people should realize that a girl who does not pet can be sufficiently good company to have boy friends. No smart boy is going to by-pass a girl of charm and character simply because she is not free with her kisses. Actually it seems conceivable that the girl with the greatest resistance may eventually get the best boy. Psychologically that which is hard to get is more desirable.

One of the best ways for a teenager to resolve such problems is to develop the kind of personality that is really alive and vital. Personality force that has irresistible attractiveness develops out of an inner life that is filled with joy and enthusiasm. And how do you get that?

I often think of Tolstoi's statement, "To know God is to live." And this won't make you seem "queer" or separate you from the crowd. On the contrary, it can make you the life of the group, for when you get real religion you become so happy, so vital, so alive that you interest and fascinate everybody. Such a youngster really has something on the ball.

How can a teenager learn those spiritual skills that add that something to his life? One of the best ways is to enroll in a good church school and youth group where you'll meet youngsters who have found real answers to real problems and are getting a big kick out of life. You'll be amazed at the fun they have.

The Laymen's National Committee, representing all faiths, is just now observing National Sunday School Week. Its theme is: "Sunday School — source of spiritual strength." I firmly believe that church school attendance can give a teenager spiritual joy and strength and teach him how to be young and enjoy it.

Incidentally, I have just published a little pocket-sized booklet called "How to Be Young and Enjoy It," which takes up teenage problems in more detail than I have space for here. If you write me a postcard, care of this newspaper, I will be happy to send you one without charge. If some of my readers would like to help distribute this booklet to youth everywhere, I'd be glad to hear from you.

Pontiac Church Changes Name

Congregation Becomes St. Luke's Methodist at Quarterly Meeting

At a recently Quarterly Conference, the congregation of the Galloway Lake Methodist Church voted to change the name of the church to St. Luke's Methodist Church.

A special committee, previously appointed by the Board of Trustees to study the name change, reported their findings to the congregation, with the suggestion that the name be changed. The committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fred Feekart, suggested several reasons for the change.

Some of these were: the present name has no spiritual meaning; there has never been an incorporated Galloway Lake Community; and most people are not familiar with the location of Galloway Lake, which cannot even be seen from the church.

"The congregation feels that the selection of St. Luke's for a name is fitting," said the Rev. Kenneth Stephens, pastor. "Since Luke was a physician by profession before he became a follower of Christ, it is only natural that he be thought of as a healer of souls after becoming a disciple of Christ.

"Members of the church located on Pontiac road at Commonwealth are proud to announce the new name, St. Luke's Methodist Church."

Elected by a special Quarterly Conference to serve on an expansion and building committee were Beecher Roosman, Mrs. Ray Warren, Frank Garvey, Robert Cartier, Russell Poole and Fred Feekart.

The group met recently for an organizational meeting and to discuss preliminary plans for a proposed addition.

The technicolor film, "I Beheld His Glory" will be shown in the church following the dinner at 6:30 Wednesday evening. The Rev. Mr. Stephens stated the public is invited.

Central Methodist Choir to Sing 'The Redeemer'

The Senior Choir of Central Methodist Church will sing "The Redeemer" by Martin Shaw at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

The oratorio is divided into three sections, "The Conflict of Good and Evil," "The Agony and the Betrayal" and "The Cruxifision." A tea will follow in the church parlor.

Soloists will be Mrs. Morgan Jorgenson, Mrs. George H. Putnam, Joseph Davis and Freeman Williams.

The group of 40 voices will be directed by George H. Putnam with Mrs. W. H. Sink at the organ.

CHAPLAIN TO SPEAK

The School of Christian Living Dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday with Russell Curtis, the evening soloist.

The Rev. John V. Beams, chaplain of Harper Hospital, Detroit, will speak on "The Christian Approach to Ill Health."

Prior to entering his present work, the Rev. Mr. Beams served pastorates in the Presbyterian churches of Indiana for 12 years. A graduate of Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville, Ill., he also did graduate work at the University of Michigan to prepare for his chaplain's duties.

Church in China Active, Even Minus Place to Meet

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A Lutheran mission executive just back from a four-month tour of Asian church outposts said today that he has received "definite assurances that the church in China is still active."

Rev. Herman H. Koppelmann, assistant secretary of foreign missions for the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod at its world headquarters here, said that while he was in Hong Kong he saw a letter from a Lutheran Christian in Hankow, in Hupeh province in East China.

The writer said that while the Lutheran congregation in Hankow no longer has a church in which to worship, it is still meeting regularly and is carrying on its church life. The writer indicated that Lutheran congregations in other areas are also still active.

An elderly woman in Formosa also assured the mission leader that the church is alive in Red China. Another Formosa resident, a man who had emigrated from the China mainland, assured Mr. Koppelmann that he has contact with church members, and that the church in Red China is still in existence.

The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod began work on the China mainland in 1913. Peak membership in its 19 centers of operation was 2948, in 1936. By 1948, after the wars, membership had dwindled to 1321.

Missionaries who left the mainland in 1948 and 1949 were reassigned, and work in the British crown colony of Hong Kong was begun in 1950, on the Portuguese island of Macao in 1951, and on Formosa in 1952. Membership in the three Chinese-speaking areas now totals about 3500, Mr. Koppelmann said.

Eleven of the 25 missionaries wh had served in Missouri Synod missions on the China mainland are now at work in Japan, Formosa, or Hong Kong.

Security for You

He Works for Wife, Not Covered by SS

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From Y. Y. of New York City: "I married a widow in 1954 and have been working for her in a small grocery store. She's been paying me a salary. She's been making Social Security tax deductions from my wages and sending them to Social Security. Some one now tells me that I'm not covered by Social Security and shouldn't be paying this tax. Is this right?"

Yes. The law exempts the following people from Social Security coverage: A child who works for his parents; a wife who works for her husband; a husband for his wife or parents for a son or daughter.

From A.O.M. of Washington, D. C.: "Are congressmen and senators covered by any sort of government retirement system?"

They have the option of belonging to the Civil Service Retirement system.

From R. J. of Minot, N. D.: "I'm 74 and drawing Social Security monthly payments. My wife is 50. When is the earliest she can draw Social Security payments?"

62.

NAME PERSON?

From Mrs. H.F. of San Bernardino, Calif.: "A neighbor tells me that it's possible to name the person I want to receive my Social Security, if I should die. Is this true?"

No. Social Security benefits are paid to your survivors according to their relationship and dependency.

From L. C. of Columbia, Mo.: "Last year I held two jobs and paid Social Security tax on both. I paid tax on $3,300 on my first job and $3,400 on my second job. I know I should be paying Social Security tax on a total of $4,200 of my last year's wages. How can I get a refund of the overpayment?"

From O. H. G. of International Falls, Minn.: "Ever since World War I, I've been receiving compensation from the Veterans Administration for an injury I received in France. It's for a 10 per cent disability. Now, I've reached the age where I believe I'm eligible for a higher amount of compensation. I'm 64. How much should I be receiving?"

AGE UNRELATED

Your age has nothing to do with your eligibility to compensation for a service-connected disability. The size of the payment depends solely on the degree to which your disability interferes with your ability to make a living. If you feel that the disability should be rated more than 10 per cent, you may ask the VA to reexamine you to determine whether it should be higher.

From W. W. of Mason City, Iowa: "Are minor children eligible for Social Security payments if their mother who has been working dies, even if their father is still alive and supports them?"

Sometimes. Children are elegible provided their mother worked at least 1½ years of the three years before her death, even if the father is living and supporting them.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Columnist Reveals Ideas for Zippy Award Shows

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The awards season is over at last — thank heavens!

No longer will the TV viewer be subjected to an endless procession of excited and grateful winners—who are not too excited to express their gratitude to everyone from their kindergarten teachers on up. No longer will critics be forced to point out the lack of entertainment values of such shows.

Not until next year, anyway.

That's the trouble with critics — always carping and never offering constructive advice. I shall reverse the trend. Awards shows CAN be entertaining. Here are some helpful suggestions on how to make them so:

1. How about a ballet number? Marge Champion could be painted gold to symbolize Emmy and Gower could portray a golden Oscar. The gimmick is that they are in conflict through most of the number, but end in each other's arms at the finish.

2. Put the awards on a competitive basis. Make the stars fight each other on an intellectual level, answering such questions as, "Who shot Lincoln?" (Questions may have to be easier than this.) The quiz winner gets the award, "his' and "her" swimming pools and Art Linkletter.

3. Make the winners take a lie-detector test when they receive the statuettes. If they flunk, they lose the award. Thus they won't be able to thank everyone in sight but will be forced to say, "I must confess I played this role against the advice of my agent, with a no-talent director and a fat-headed costar."

4. How about an Academy Award losers show? The four losers in each category would be given equal time with the winner to expose their feelings in the matter. I can imagine such lively comments as: "It was big studio politics that licked me," "Who wants to win an award and become a has-been?" and "We was robbed."

Perhaps the motion picture and TV academies will disregard these suggestions as undignified. Academies are great ones for dignity, as many a bored TV viewer can tell you.

Anyway, I tried.

Plan Huge 'Umbrella' for Idlewild Airport

NEW YORK (AP)—Pan American World Airways plans to build a huge "umbrella" to protect passengers boarding its planes in bad weather at New York International Airport at Idlewild, Queens.

The "umbrella", supported by 32 piers, will be an extension of the roof of the new terminal and built over the aircraft parking space. Planes will be boarded from the terminal's second-floor passenger lounge.

The roof extension will accommodate six huge jet airliners. In addition to providing cover, the extension, with its raised gangway will eliminate the necessity of passengers dodging maintenance carts.

She's a Mother Now; No Nudes for Mamie

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"I'm about the only blonde in Hollywood who hasn't posed without her clothes on," giggled Mamie Van Doren as she sat combing her platinum locks in her hotel suite.

"And now that I'm a mother"—she flung out her chest proudly—"I'm glad. Do you realize I've got a baby boy a year old last Monday? And is he a stinker!"

"Are you against nude posing?" I asked.

"I'm neutral," she shrugged. "I don't think there's any future in it . . . for me. Now that I'm a STAR—!" And Mamie laughed.

MAMIE

It's not easy for the former Joan Olander, of Rowena, S.D. (pop. 69), who used to be a Broadway chorus girl, to believe that she really is a star, although they keep telling her she attained it in "Untamed Youth," which'll be out momentarily.

"You've never done any nudes?" I inquired . . . because You Know Who and You Know Who Else evidently did in the years before.

"Well, I did some semi-nudes for Vargas for my own personal file—but I destroyed them. Because what if they got out of my hands?"

Mamie in the pinch had answered the question frankly because fundamentally she seems to be an honest non-phony gal. It was the same when I asked her about her marriage to band leader and TV star Ray Anthony.

"So far, so good." She went on combing, making big arcs as she combed the hair out in front of her.

"But it gets rough sometimes. Wow, does it get rough!

"His hours are late as an orchestra leader, mine are early going to the studio. We say we'll probably be married 25 years."

"How do you get along with the other gals who've seen you come up," I asked. "Like Jayne Mansfield?"

"I only know her to say hello to except we don't say hello. I don't think she digs me too much." Mamie considered that reply for a second, then said, "Oh, yes, we did say hello when she saw me with my husband. They were in a picture together."

Mamie is a refreshing addition to the entertainment scene, one who is justifiably amazed that she has come this far. The fact that "they're going to put my name above the title," overwhelms her.

Mamie perhaps summed it up herself when she said she's not envious or jealous of anybody.

"Anybody that can make it has something on the ball," Mamie said. "These blondes ain't so dumb."

Lacy Dainties More Resilient Than British 'Droopers'

Drab 'Clutch Action' No Threat to Wacs

By ALVIN SPIVAK

Namely, stale elastic on their undies.

According to reports from London, the Women's Royal Army Corps bought enough ladies underthings to last 20 years, but the elastic couldn't be depended on after seven.

This threatened to bring about the biggest holding action since the Battle of Hastings, so the WRAC authorized its members to buy theeir own new panties and bras.

BUY THEIR OWN

America's WACS, WAVES and WAFS have been buying their own for years. Or as a WAC spokesman at the Pentagon put it:

"They are issued no GI underwear at all."

Enlisted women are given $30 underwear allowance as soon as they join, she said, and they can buy the same frilly stuff they wear in civilian life if they desire and if they can afford it.

Was this system adopted through foresight? Did the Army believe it could not stretch its elastic past seven years?

STRICTLY FOR MORALE

"No," the WAC officer replied. "It was done for morale. Early in World War II we were issued khaki rayon panties and things but it got to where no one would wear them so the Army stopped issuing them. What I mean, is, the girls were wearing their own."

How could they get away with this breach of discipline?

"Well," the lady officer replied "they didn't have inspection to see if you were wearing a GI issue."

The only inspection problem she said was to have the Army issued underwear neatly on display when officers came by to check clothing and equipment. Now, it's possible for a girl to have her lacy panties next to her field shoes.

This has made for a marked change in the scenery at military installations where WACS are quartered.

Where wash lines used to be solid rows of khaki or olive darb depending on the season, they have taken the rainbow hues of pink, blue, yellow and other gay tones of panties.

Anyway, that is what we're told.

U. of M., Wayne Start Institute

Hatcher, Hilberry Join to Provide Training in Industrial Relations

DETROIT (INS)—The presidents of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University announced the schools will join forces in operating an Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations.

U of M President Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher and Wayne State President Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry said the two universities will co-operate in providing staff and physical facilities—still to be selected—for the institute.

The two presidents, in a joint statement, said the institute should "provide a program of training and education which should be of great value in the years ahead in the advancement of Michigan."

The U of M Board of Regents has formally approved the plan and Wayne's Board of Governors is expected to take normal action at its April meeting.

The main functions of the institute will be:

1. Improve instruction in the field of labor and industrial relations.

2. Undertake research and publications in the field.

3. Organize community educational programs and services in the field.

4. Encourage courses and other education activities designed to serve workers, management and the public.

Seek Applicants for Town Crier at $600 a Year

PROVINCETOWN, R. I. (AP) — Wanted: A man with leather lungs and a first-class knowledge of local history for one of the most exclusive professions in the country. Salary: $600.

For years Arthur Snader was a familiar figure as he roamed the streets dressed in his pilgrim tunic, stove-pipe hat and brass buckled shoes, ringing his bell and calling out the news during the summer season.

But Snader quit last September saying the pay was too low. Last month a town meeting rejected a proposed hike in the $600 salary.

Thief Ransacks Room of Helpless Blind Man

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A new low in thievery cost a blind and deaf news vendor an open braille watch last night as the sightless victim sat in his room while a burglar ransacked it.

William Heath, 77, of Portland said he felt the intruder brush against him. He said the thief was a woman or girl.

Heath is the same man who last summer collapsed of a heart attack at his news stand but refused to leave in a police ambulance until after his papers were delivered.

"Cautious optimism" for India's tea industry marks the attitude of H. K. Stringfellow, chairman of the India Tea Association, he said in Calcutta.

Says U. S. Aid Harmful to Private Universities

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, the President's youngest brother, says private universities would lose their independence if they accepted federal help for their general operation.

Dr. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, spoke last night to about 400 alumni from New York, New Jersey and Connecitcut who honored him at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria.

He said independence from government control has been a great factor in enabling private colleges to pioneer. "Without freedom, there is no education — it's merly indoctrination," he said.

Plans to convert the Bengal Provincial Railway — a money-loser — into a highway transport service are under discussion in Calcutta, India.

Snead Is "Man to Beat" in Masters

Sam Fires 68 for 2-Stroke Halfway Lead

Demaret With 142 Is Close Behind as Old Pros Lead Pack

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Sam Snead is front-running again. He has a new putting stroke and he's completely relaxed. That makes him the "man to beat" today as the 21st Masters golf tournament swings into the third round.

Another point in Sam's favor: He won't have to worry about two long-time nemeses, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Ben Hogan, surprisingly eliminated yesterday in the "top forty" cutoff.

"If I play super and nobody else goes crazy I figure I got a good chance," Snead said after shooting a four-under-par 68 which at 140 gave him a two-stroke halfway lead toward his fourth Masters crown.

Two strokes back at 142 came another three-time winner, Jimmy Demaret, followed by defending champion Jack Burke Jr., still a threat to repeat at 143; Ed Furgol and National Amateur champion Harvie Ward Jr., tied at 144; Australia's Peter Thomson and Doug Ford, sharing 145, and a cluster of five pros, including semi-retired oldtimers Byron Nelson and England's Henry Cotton, at 146. The others at 146 are Canada's Al Balding and two young pros, Arnold Palmer and Jay Hebert.

Most experts figure the champion will come from these ranks but those around the picturesque Augusta National Golf Course are girding for a two-man battle between Snead and Demaret.

Demaret shot a sub-par 70 yesterday with a fantastic putting exhibition ironically punctuated when he three-putted the 18th green from 18 feet.

Jack Fleck of Rochester, Mich., was the only Michigan entry to qualify yesterday for the final 36 holes of the tournament. Fleck carded a 76-74—150. Par for the 6,980-yard Augusta national course is 36-36—72. A score of 150 or under was necessary to be eligible for the final two rounds today and tomorrow.

Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills and Chick Harbert of Northville were eliminated. Each had a 79-75—154.

The 40 qualifiers:

Sam Snead	72-68—140
Jimmy Demaret	72-70—142
Jack Burke, Jr.	71-72—143
Ed Furgol	73-71—144
*Harvie Ward	73-71—144
Doug Ford	72-73—145
Peter Thomson	72-73—145
Henry Cotton	73-73—146

LEAVES DODGERS—Brooklyn Dodger shortstop Chico Fernandez will take over the position for the Philadelphia Phillies this season. He was traded to the Phillies for outfielder Elmer Valo in a deal involving four other players and cash.

Hogan Is Among Stars Sitting on Sidelines

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — There'll be no Texas hawk swooping down on the leaders in this 21st Masters golf classic. Ben Hogan is a spectator, not a spectre, for the final 36 holes.

One of the most feared golfers in the world, particularly on this exacting, 6,980-yard Augusta National Course, Hogan found himself on the sidelines today. He was a victim of his own poor putting and a new rule which cut the field to the 40 low scorers at the midway point.

And Hogan was not alone. Other stars who found themselves on the outside looking in included Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Bob Toski, Gene Littler, Art Wall Jr., Mike Souchak and Lew Worsham.

Hogan, a two-time Masters champion, failed to qualify by one stroke with his 151. Middlecoff, who only year before last won this tournament, missed by two. Thus two of the top pre-tourney favorites, who own six National Open crowns between them, joined the gallerites who once hung on their every swing.

Middlecoff, who also had putter troubles, said he was heartsick at not qualifying. He also said the number permitted to play the last two rounds should be raised to 50 or 60.

Hogan took his elimination in good spirits. He couldn't remember the last time he failed to qualify but most observers agreed it was at the National Open in Philadelphia in 1939.

Former Masters champion Gene Sarazen was critical of the cutoff.

"It wasn't a wise move," he said, adding it would never have been instituted if tournament officials "had consulted the Masters champions."

The cutoff also ended a string of 82 rounds of Masters competition for Horton Smith, who won here in 1934 and 1936. He was the only man who had played every round of every Masters — an enviable record which ended with today's third round.

Moore Next After Kayoing Spieser

Anthony Now in Title Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Young Tony Anthony found punching power that surprised everyone — including himself — and used it quickly and effectively last night to smash his way into a light heavyweight title fight with Archie Moore.

"Man, I didn't know I could hit a fella that hard," said the 22-year-old New Yorker after his dramatic third round knockout of Chuck Spieser, the top-ranked challenger to Moore's title.

The third-ranked Anthony will meet Moore June 7 in Detroit in a 15-round title match.

A 13-5 underdog despite 22 previous knockouts, Anthony was masterful in victory. He outboxed the home town favorite in the first round, pecking away at Spieser's face with sharp jabs. Anthony never let his foe get set for the punishing in-fighting for which he is noted.

Staggered early in the third round, Spieser rallied momentarily and tried desperately to land a "big punch." Anthony floored Spieser for keeps at the 2:12 mark with a straight right and a left hook. The 27-year-old Spieser, who was Anthony's teammate on the 1952 Olympic boxing team, said he picked up the count at eight but lacked the strength to get to his feet.

It capped a tremendous comeback for Anthony, who less than two years ago was considered washed up when he was knocked out by middleweights Bobby Boyd and Willie Troy.

"I just grew up," said the jubilant Anthony, who weighed 173 to Spieser's 174¼. "Maybe I had growing pains, but I feel a lot stronger in this division."

Anthony said in his dressing room he had no idea about his fight strategy until five minutes before the nationally televised bout at Detroit's Olympic Stadium.

It marked the first time Spieser has been counted out, although he had been stopped twice because of cuts. His handlers, stunned by the setback just when the Detroit fighter was expected to challenge Moore's title rights, said Anthony's strong work with his left hand kept Spieser off balance and prevented him from fighting "this kind of fight."

The crowd of 8651 paid $20,144 to witness the match that was scheduled for 12 rounds.

Tigers Have 8 Games to Aid Pitching Woes

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe has 11 days and eight exhibition games to whip his Detroit Tigers into a contending team in this season's pennant race.

One of his big problems is his pitching staff.

Tighe already has had to give up his plan to have at least six hurlers pitch a full nine innings before leaving Florida. Although Detroit is carrying 11 pitchers, minor injuries have depleted the staff.

Lee, who suffered a gashed knee Monday when he collided with Red Wilson in the outfield, is walking somewhat stiff-legged. Five stitches taken in the knee are to be removed today. Lee has been working out, however, and says he feels no pain.

Hoeft, who has been out of action with a sore shoulder, pitched batting practice a few days ago and reported no after-effects.

Foytack and Aber both have sore arms.

Jim Bunning and Frank Lary won't be available for weekend games. Bunning has been called to Carrolton, Ky., by his wife's illness. Frank Lary is at home in Northport, Ala., also on personal business.

The absence of Bunning and Lary, plus the injuries, pinched Tighe Thursday. He had to use three of his bullpenners against the St. Louis Cardinals. The only other able-bodied hurler around was Duke Maas and Tighe planned to send him against the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg today.

Tighe, however, says he isn't worried. He points out that Hoeft, Foytack and Lee are mending and that Bunning and Lary will be back next week.

There are three Florida games remaining before the Tigers join the Pittsburgh Pirates in Atlanta Wednesday for a five-game trip north.

Detroit opens April 16 at Kansas City against the Athletics.

Flint Northern Wins Title

Pontiac Thinclads 2nd at Chip Relays

MT. PLEASANT — Flint Northern's well-balanced track squad came through according to pre-meet predictions last night at Central Michigan College invitational prep indoor meet. Vikings dethroned Pontiac's surprisingly strong aggregation, as meet champions with a 54.9 point total. Coach Dean Wilson's crew collected 40 points, as runnerup. Lansing Eastern with 22.7 points was third, edging Bay City by 7-tenths of a point.

Pontiac's brilliant All-Valley, All-County cager and state champion high jumper, Hudson Ray, set a new meet mark with a prodigious leap of 6 feet 5⅛ inches. Only other mark to go was that for the 65-yard low hurdles. Little Namon Smith of Bay City Central scampered to a 7.3 mark, erasing a mark set in 1953 by Leon Burton of Northern and equalled by Pontiac's Willie Wilson in 1955. Smith also tied the old mark of 6.3 (Burton and Pontiac's Alonzo Harris, 1953-'55) for the 60-yard dash.

Vikings took three 1sts, tied for another. Chiefs won three events, were 2nd in three others, 3rd in three more and 4th in two.

Several developments made Coach Wilson happy over the meet results. One was the continued fine work of Ray, Jim Hawkins' effort in the high sticks (2nd to Jim Moore of Northern), Rog Coates' mile victory (set a new school indoor mark of 4:45) and the surprising half-mile win by Larry Beamer. Larry hit 2:06 for a school indoor record and showed possibilities for even better time. Mike Hardiman's 50-foot 7½-inch shot toss was good for 2nd and a school record.

Pontiac's 4-lap relay team was 4th. Alex Barge, Joe Hill, Dave Payne and Arch Moore were the runners.

Ray's leap beat the 6-1½ mark he and Hayes Jones shared last spring. A newcomer, Fred Brooks, younger brother of Archie, was a surprising 2nd, edging Barge for the place. Chiefs collected 12 points in this event. Brooks cleared 6-3¼, Barge 6-1¼.

Pontiac was shut out in the low sticks, the 60-yard dash, medley relay and pole vault.

Team results:

Flint Northern, 54.9; Pontiac, 40.. Lansing Eastern, 22.7; Bay City Central, 22; Flint Central, 10.2; Traverse City, 9; Saginaw Arthur Hill, 8.5; Muskegon, 6.2; Midland, 5; Saginaw, 3.5; Alpena and Bay City Handy, no points.

Namon Smith's 15 points topped individual efforts.

Michigan State Fails to Qualify Man for Boxing Finals

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Powerful Idaho State College, with the team title already under its belt, sent eight men into the finals tonight in the National Collegiate boxing championships.

One—165-pound Roger Rouse—is a defending champion. Rouse also was a member of the 1956 U.S. Olympic team.

The other defending titlist entered in the 20th annual championships — 132-pound Dick Rall of Washington State—also is in the finals, outpointing Harvard Lancour of Michigan State last night in the semifinals.

Michigan State, which won the championships here two years ago, didn't qualify a single boxer for the finals.

The team scoring after last night's semifinal bouts: Idaho State 24, San Jose State 8, Washington State 7, Syracuse 5, Sacramento and Nevada 4, College of Idaho, Wisconsin and Michigan State 3 and Cal Poly 1.

Celtics, Hawks in 3rd Playoff

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fired-up St. Louis Hawks and powerful Boston Celtics, involved in seven hairline decisions in 11 meetings, battle for the lead in the National Basketball Assn. title play-off tonight amid rough play charges by rival coaches.

The Eastern and Western Division champs split their first two games at Boston, and the third and fourth games of their best-of-seven series for a $10,000 prize will be played in St. Louis.

A sell-out crowd of 10,000 will be on hand.

Boston started the series as a heavy favorite because of seven victories in nine regular season game with St. Louis and a 44-28 record to the Hawks' 34-38.

Chicago Kegler Ninth in ABC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Joe Rajacic of Chicago, Ill., took ninth place in the all-events standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament here last night with a total of 1910 for the nine-game route.

Last Friday Rajacic rolled up scores of 656 and 618 in the doubles and singles. He came back tonight in the team event to cap his performance with a 636 series. This is a reverse of the usual ABC procedure in which bowlers follow up their team effort the following day with the doubles and singles.

Moore to Germany

NEW YORK (AP) — Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore left today by plane for Germany where he expects to have a couple of tuneup bouts in preparation for a title defense at Detroit, June 7. He will meet Tony Anthony, winner last night over Chuck Spieser.

Delvecchio and Pronovost Sign

DETROIT (AP) — Veterans Alex Delvecchio and Marcel Pronovost signed 1957-58 contracts with the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League yesterday.

The Wings usually wait until fall for contract business.

The Detroit season ended Thursday night when the Wings were eliminated from the Stanley Cup playoffs by Boston.

'Cinderella' Bruins Meet Favored Montreal Tonight

MONTREAL (AP) — The Boston Bruins, a "Cinderella" team that was relegated to the National Hockey League basement in preseason forecasts, meet the proud Montreal Canadiens tonight in the first of the final best-of-seven series for the coveted Stanely Cup.

The Bruins roared into Montreal early today and to a man, they said they thought they'd lick the Canadiens, a team that has become a fixture in the Cup finals.

"My team won't quit at this stage of the game," said Boston coach Milt Schmidt defiantly. "It's a championship team. It has come back all year, but we felt all along we could do it. I'd say we fooled everyone but ourselves."

While the Canadiens will enter the series favored by as much as 2 to 1, Coach Toe Blake was not quite so optimistic.

"We've got to play more inspired hockey against the Bruins than we did against the New York Rangers (in the semifinal) if we hope to win. But we're ready and I think we can win. If we lose, I'll have no alibis."

Actually, the Bruins, who play positional hockey, have been a source of frustration to the Canadiens all season. The teams broke even in Montreal, each winning three, losing three and tieing one. In Boston, the Bruins won four tmes, lost only once and played two ties.

The first two games will be played here at the Forum. The next three will be played in Boston and the final two back here like the baseball World Series.

Boston's big problem will be to stop Montreal's Big Three of Jean Beliveau, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Maurice (Rocket) Richard, who at 35 scored the overtime goal that won the semifinal for Montreal over the Rangers.

History, however, is strictly with the Canadiens. The teams have met three times in the Cup final, and Montreal has won it each time. All told, the Bruins have won the Cup three times and the Canadiens six.

Michigan State Nine Whips Rollins, 8-3

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP) — Michigan State University backed up the five-hit pitching of Norman (Hank) Creamer with two three-run homers to take an easy 8-3 baseball victory over Rollins College yesterday.

Buckeye Double Winner at AAU Swim

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Three collegians—Donald Harper, Timothy Jecko and George Breen—will seek tonight to join Albert Wiggins as double winners in the National AAU men's indoor swimming and diving championships.

Wiggins, an Ohio State University student who lives in Pittsburgh, and is competing for the Swim Club of Cincinnati, became the first two-time champion of the meet last night when he successfully defended his 100-yard butterfly title. He won the 100-yard freestyle Thursday.

The husky 6-4 swimmer passed up a chance at a triple crown, defaulting the 100-yard backstroke title he won a year ago to concentrate on the butterfly.

This strategy won him the butterfly and spoiled Jecko's hopes of winning three titles as he did in the National Collegiate meet last week at Chapel Hill, N.C. Jecko was second to Wiggins, whose winning time in a rainstorm was 55 seconds.

Jecko, a 19-year-old Yale University sophomore from Bethesda, Md., competing for the New Haven, Conn., Swim Club, tries for the 220-yard butterfly title tonight. He won the 400-yard individual medley Thursday.

Harper, an Ohio State University student who lives in Palo Alto, Calif., and is competing unattached from Columbus, Ohio, is expected to retain his 3-meter diving title and add it to the 1-meter crown he took Thursday.

Breen, a graduate student at Cortland, N.Y., State Teachers College and representing the Buffalo Athletic Club, goes for his double in the 440-yard freestyle. He is defending champion in that and won the 1,500-meter freestyle Wednesday.

Breen's hopes of a triple evaporated with his second place finish to defending champion Richard Hanley in the 220-yard freestyle. Hanley, a University of Michigan student, lives in Evanston, Ill., and is competing unattached from Ann Arbor, Mich. He led all the way in winning the 220 in 2 minutes, 5.1 seconds.

Perch Runs Get Started

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (INS)—Fisherman get set — some perch runs have started.

Perch are coming into the shallows along Saginaw Bay with some excellent catches being made in Sebewaing Bay cuts. Perch are also starting their runs at the mouth of the Clinton River on Lake St. Clair and the Black River at Metropolitan Beach.

Depending on the weather, smelt runs are expected to reach their peak in a few weeks. The conservation department said there are scattered reports from successful smelt dippers.

There were several good smelt runs in the Traverse City area around Cold Creek and Crystal Lake, but cold weather has halted activity there.

George Pfeiffer, a well-known Michigan sportsman, said "really big perch' are being taken off the docks at Grand Haven and Ludington when an east wind prevails.

He said, although an east wind is good for the western part of the state, it roils the water on the eastern shore along Lake Huron and prevents good catches.

Fernandez Will Start for Phils

Infielder Traded by Dodgers for Valo, 4 Minor Leaguers

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Chico Fernandez, the 25-year-old Cuban acquired yesterday from the Dodgers has the Phillies' shortstop post "until he shows us he can't do the job" says Manager Mayo Smith.

Mayo says he has no doubt the slick-fielding Fernandez can play his position with the best. Only his failure to hit major league pitching would result in his being benched, Smith says.

The Phils surrendered veteran outfielder Elmer Valo to the Dodgers where he is slated for pinch hitting duty and sent pitcher Ron Negray and three minor leaguers along in the deal. First baseman Tim Harkness and shortstop Mel Geho, both on the roster of Miami, in the International League, and another farm hand to be named later, were included together with a bundle of cash estimated at $75,000.

Bowlerama Action Starts at 3 Sites

The big Pontiac Press Bowlerama got underway at three local alleys today with 264 weekend qualifiers beginning the action.

Although all entry returns were not in at Press time, over 450 keglers from every part of Oakland County are expected to participate in the singles handicap tournament before the champions and other top finishers are determined April 20.

Entries closed this morning for the event. All women, Elks going to their national tourney, and any others who entered the meet this week will qualify next Saturday.

Keen competition is expected in both the men's and women's divisions with the handicap factor giving every bowler an equal opportunity to take home some of the $2,500 in prize money. Champions will receive $400 and $200 respectively plus handsome table set awards.

Qualifying will be held both week ends at Land-O-Lakes, Auburn Lanes and Dixie Recreation with the finals set for Huron Bowl.

All qualifiers, the highest 10 per cent of the scorers at each qualifying location, will be assured of finishing in the money. The six leading qualifiers will also be given Press trophies.

A total of 12 prizes are guaranteed in each division in addition to the qualifying awards. The qualifying pairings were made in a drawing conducted by manager Les Rothbarth.

Three games will be bowled on the same alleys by all qualifiers. Three games across six alleys will be the requirement in the finals. Opening round scores serve only to determine the finalists and have no bearing on the championship race.

Scoring is on the 70 per cent handicap 200 scratch basis. The times and locations for all persons bowling next week will be printed in the Press sports section April 11. Those eligible to advance to the finals will be determined following the completion of qualifying.

Some of this area's outstanding keglers and many other leaders from elsewhere in the county will be taking part. Walt "300" Rennhack, Lou Koprince, Eleanor Baxter, Martha Foster, Lyle Redman, Bill O'Brien, Joe Foster, Anna Weimer, Ann Carlson, Paul George, Ray Oliver, Ron Rothbarth, Bette Reid, Gen Bradley, Mr. Evelyn Prosser, Ben Maguire, Lee Miller and many other well-known stars will be taking part.

Sees First Game

Aussie Thrills to Hockey

By DENIS N. HAWKER
Visiting Australian Journalist

Ice hockey as a great spectator sport has everything. It is the type of thrilling, rough, fast, tension packed game that would pack 'em in in tens of thousands in sports-loving Australia.

But Australians don't have ice hockey for one very good reason —no ice.

After seeing the Detroit Red Wings go down fighting to the Boston Bruins Thursday night—my first glimpse of big - time hockey—I am prepared to agree with the keen fans who told me before the game that the sport has no equal in the world for speed and excitement.

Main appeal for me was the perfect balance and poise of players moving at more than a mile a minute, their fearlessness in physical clashes, and their uncanny puck control.

In no other sport have I seen big men move with such grace and speed. Another highlight was the precision passing, particularly of the Bruins, who began two of their scoring moves in defense and carried the puck down the ice with a team understanding that to me was little short of miraculous.

The crowd was more subdued than I had expected—no doubt overcome by the importance of their team's do-or-die game. By comparison the 100,000 people who jam Melbourne's Olympic Stadium for the grand final of an Australian Rules football season would seem like an army of howling Dervishes.

Interest in sports in America and Australia differ little, a main exception being that proportionately more Australians take part in outdoor sports and play for more years.

Professional sports are not as highly developed in Australia as in this country and elsewhere. Main professional game outside racing, which is very popular, is football, but even then players are only part-time professionals.

Needles Florida Favorite Today

HALLANDALE, Fla. (INS) — Needles, last year's Kentucky Derby winner, was a 6 to 5 favorite to win today's running of the $25,000 added Fort Lauderdale Handicap at Gulfstream Park.

Young Fullmer Wins

DETROIT (AP) — Jay Fullmer, brother of middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, scored a third round knockout over Detroit's Jimmy Sparks last night for his second victory in as many professional starts.

The champion was on hand to witness the battle, a scheduled six-round preliminary to the Tony Anthony-Chuck Spieser bout.

Mrs. Hagge Leads Zaharias Tourney

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge of Del Ray Beach, Fla., fired a one-under-par 72 yesterday to take a first round lead in the fifth annual Babe Zaharias Open golf tournament.

Second round play started today and the tournament ends tomorrow.

Mrs. Hagge, the defending champion who fired a 69 on the same tree-bordered Beaumont Country Club Course last year, had three birdies and a pair of bogies on the 18-hole course.

Ruth Jessen, the distance clouter from Seattle, Wash., is in second place with an even par 73. Two shots back of Mrs. Hagge was Betty Dodd, the Texas veteran now playing out of Louisville, Ky., with a 74.

Dodgers High on Hit-Ace Aaron

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ask Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney if he expects Hank Aaron to repeat as National League batting champ and he answers "Why not?" Aaron, himself, shrugs his shoulders and says "Maybe.' But ask the Brooklyn Dodgers and they snap back "Who else?"

The Brooks aren't kidding. The 23-year-old kid from Mobile kills 'em with his bat. They can't get him out. They don't know how to pitch to him. He hit's 'em all. And he's one of those guys who tags a curve like a fast ball.

Aaron, who took the bat crown with .328 last season, was at it again against the Dodgers yesterday, swatting a two-run homer—his 10th in 17 exhibition games this spring and fourth off Brooklyn pitching—that backed up an earlier three-run shot by pitcher Lew Burdette for a 5-1 victory.

In six games against the Brooks —of which the Braves have won three, lost two and tied one —Aaron has 10 hits in 24 at bats. In addition to the four homers he's also driven in 11 runs against the defending NL champs.

In other games, Cincinnati nipped Washington 1-0 on Don Hoak's sixth inning home run, righthander Bob Rush went all the way for the first time this spring as his Chicago Cubs beat Baltimore 6-4, the Philadelphia Phillies scored all their runs on an unearned basis to beat the New York Yankees 6-4, Kansas City rallied to beat Boston's Red Sox 4-1, and the Cleveland Indians breezed past the New York Giants 12-9.

Johnny Klippstein, Russ Meyer and Art Fowler combined for an eight-hitter to beat Washington and give the Redlegs their first spring shutout.

Rush set down the Orioles on eight hits, but gave up three home runs—to rookie Carl Powis, Dick Williams and Tito Francona, who belted his third in three days. The Cubs scored off lefty Bill Wight.

Four hits, one a double by Bob Bowman, and two Yankee errors brought the Phillies their six runs in the seventh inning after being held to three hits over the first six frames by Bob Turley, who struck out seven. Curt Simmons won it.

Prescribe Rest for Exhausted New York Coach

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Bill Dickey, the onetime indestructible New York Yankee Hall of Fame catcher now a coach with the world champions, has been ordered by physicians to take a "good rest" after bowing to "mental and physical exhaustion."

The rest was prescribed following a series of tests to determine the cause of severe headaches which have troubled the 49-year-old veteran.

Physicians said they had uncovered no serious ailment, but added that Dickey would remain in a hospital here for four or five days for further tests. Dickey, who entered the hospital Wednesday after five days of headaches.

Girard Signs 10th Pro Pact

Lion Vet Ends Rumor of Retirement; Two Others in Fold

DETROIT — Ending rumors that he plans to retire from pro football, halfback-end Jug Girard has signed his 10th NFL contract and sixth with the Detroit Lions, Nick Kerbawy, Lions general manager announced today.

Kerbawy also revealed that a pair of pass-catching ends, Ken Wind of Houston and Lamoine Holland of Rice, have agreed to contracts for the forthcoming season. Wind was a draft choice in 1956 as a junior while Holland was a selection in 1955.

Girard was the Green Bay Packers first choice in 1948 and came to the Lions in 1952 in a trade. He took over for the injured Doak Walker and was a key performer in the Lions first title bid in 17 years. Last year he was used sparingly, carrying the ball 17 times for 67 yards and catching three passes for 33 yards.

Girard suffered a couple of fractured ribs against Green Bay on Thanksgiving Day and was placed on the injured reserve list and missed the final two games of the season.

COMING UP — Steve Bilko gets into the Brooklyn spirit at the Los Angeles ball club's camp by decking out as a bum. Southern California reports have the Dodgers playing out of there as early as next year.

Owen Wins in Texas

Sailer Alpine Ski Favorite

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—If there is a secret to Toni Sailer's skiing, the Austrian winner of three Olympic gold medals says he doesn't know about it.

"I really don't know just how I ski,' he said. "I cannot see myself.

"It is just what I'm feeling. That way I know whether to go faster or slower. I cannot watch my style."

Sailer, the personable 21-year-old star from Kitzbuhel, is a favorite as competition starts today in the two-day North American Alpine championships at this site of the 1960 winter Olympic games.

Like other Europeans, Sailer found the artifically-built hazards on the 1.9 mile course different from conditions on downhill runs in Europe. But he said: "The best man who races will win."

Hal Boyle Says:

No. 1 Public Eye Reads With Speed

NEW YORK (AP)—You've heard a lot about private eyes.

But Ed Haupt probably has America's swiftest public eyes. A sort of prose detective and big name hunter, he is perhaps the nation's fastest reader.

"I can scan up to 20,000 words a minute," admitted Haupt who gallops through the pages of scores of publications daily for the Luce Clipping Bureau.

After 30 years in the business, Haupt, a mild-mannered, slow-talking family man who lives in Yonkers, is the acknowledged kingpin. Most of the 400 professional newspaper readers who work for the 30 U.S. press clipping services are women.

As he reads, Haupt marks any mention of the names of some 8,000 people, products and companies. The list of clients, of course, has daily changes.

"The idea seems general that only vanity leads people to subscribe to a clipping service," he said. "Actually, most of the subscribers are hard-headed business men looking for information."

The clipping service, of course, gets many odd requests. One client subscribed because he wanted a check made to be sure his name wasn't appearing in the newspapers.

"For a time we had a client who wanted all photos of drum majorettes appearing in skirts," Haupt recalled. "We couldn't figure why. It turned out he was a young lad trying to build his own collection of pinup pictures. His mother stopped the service."

The clipping bureau cooperates with the FBI to see that the requests of clients from behind the Iron Curtain are checked for security clearance.

He looks for key words, names or phrases, underlining them as he goes. The stories are clipped later by other workers.

The biggest occupational dangers for professional readers such as Haupt are daydreaming and getting too interested in a subject.

"You can't let that happen," he said. "But no matter how fast I skip over the pages, some of the information sticks in my mind. You get so you know a little bit about practically everything."

His terrific reading has had no bad effect on his eyes. He still wears the same lenses in his glasses he did 10 years ago.

His hobby?

Your Neighbor's House:

Valades Build Home Halfway Between Jobs

background for LIVING

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Ed Valade is an art teacher who likes to design houses. His wife, Bette, a bookkeeper, likes to live in custom-built houses. After only seven months in their present house, they are planning the next one they hope to build this summer.

Because Ed teaches in Warren and Bette works in Pontiac, they chose a halfway point in which to live. Their brick, redwood and cedar shakes house is located on Livernois road, just south of South boulevard. It sets on a 115 x 240-foot lot.

A short louvered fence shields the front door. A half wall on the north side of the carport protects both the car and the house from north winds. Saber, the collie, keeps guard in this area.

Built over a partial basement, the house has asphalt tile floors in the kitchen, dining room and bedrooms; carpeting in the living room and rubber tile in the bathroom.

We went in the back door because it was more convenient to the carport. We stepped into the utility room. Stairs on the left go down to the basement.

The utility room, housing the laundry equipment, is separated from the kitchen by a snack bar. Both areas have the same color scheme, pink and turquoise. One wall of the utility room is the rear wall of the fireplace. The Valades painted these bricks pink.

All the built-in cupboards—and there are dozens of them—are framed in turquoise. The doors are made of peg board, painted white, with black and brass handles. Walls are pink, except behind the stove and sink counters. There, plastic bricks add a note of contrast.

Range and oven are coppertone which blends with the pink of the walls. Above the stove cupboards there is a long narrow window that lets in late afternoon sun. The ceiling light shines through a square of pink peg board.

Counter tops are white Formica with pink and brown lines swirling around. The Valades were fortunate to find a linoleum with the same colors they had already chosen for their kitchen. It combines pink and black stripes with spatters of turquoise and white.

In the small dining room three walls are sand colored, one is papered. A short wall shields the front door. The table is birch. Chairs have yellow plastic seats and backs and black metal legs. The light fixture is a brass drop light.

Beside the front door is the usual coat closet. It is, however, of unusual construction. Made of brick, except for the paneled door, it has a planter on top. A small window lets in sunlight for the plants.

Butterscotch walls and a striated plywood ceiling with a center beam make the living room a warm and friendly room. Set in one corner, the ledgerock fireplace has redwood paneling above the fire opening. Mr. Valade created the striking "picture" which is the only decoration on the paneling.

Carpeting is light brown. The draperies are full length, with bright fish on a grayed background. Light fixtures are modern. Mr. Valade made all the tables in the room, as well as one of the chairs, an upholstered one with blonde legs. It's covered in a nubby fabric.

Across the room, near the sliding doors to the patio, is a black butterfly chair. The sectional sofa is pale green with a gold thread in the upholstery. A third chair is dark green.

The television set is mounted on a long low table. Above one end of this table is a black sunburst clock. The hi-fi is blonde. Driftwood is used as conversational pieces.

One of the three bedrooms is used as Mr. Valade's studio. It has two turquoise walls and two greige walls. The guest room has pale green walls. Pink curtains, pink scatter rugs and a pink and white striped spread contrast nicely.

The Valades' room has an east exposure. On the three-section window they have used curtains that match the living room ones. The wall behind the bed is blonde Roman brick. Other walls are painted redwood color. Carpeting is soft green.

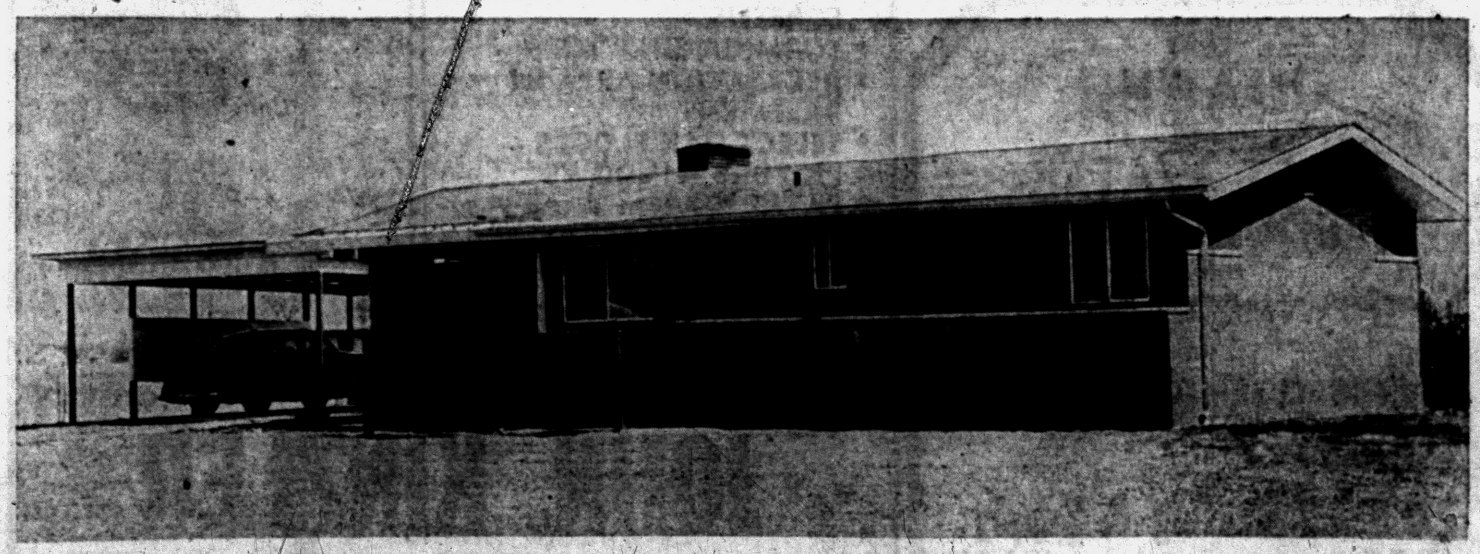
IT SUITS A BRUNETTE — This bright kitchen is a fitting background for a brunette like Mrs. Valade. Pegboard cupboards are painted white. All framing is deep turquoise. Walls are pink. The Valades managed to find linoleum with colors exactly matching the ones they had already decided upon for their kitchen. The convenient U-shape of the kitchen work area means fewer steps for Mrs. Valade.



THE HALFWAY HOUSE — Half way between his work and hers the Ed Valades built this house on Livernois road. The right end of the house is yellow brick with redwood above. The opposite end near the carport is made of green cedar shakes.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp

COZY CORNER—Bette Valade enjoys a magazine beside the ledgerock and redwood paneled fireplace. The raised hearth is capped with slate. A two-sided screen prevents sparks from flying. The rather grotesque picture has an olive green plaster native mounted on gold burlap.

PINK AND CHARCOAL KITCHEN — Dream kitchens do materialize, but it takes hours and hours of hard work like that done by Anthony Zielony of Royal boulevard. Where the photographer stood, a wall was knocked out, a door pushed back so that the refrigerator could set flush against the wall. All the birch cabinets with chrome hardware took more hours. The small table at the right folds against the wall. Mrs. Zielony chose wallpaper and curtains to match in a pink and charcoal print. Walls are painted pink and the inlaid linoleum is mottled pink and charcoal. Counters are covered with soft green Formica.

FHA Inspectors Fussy About Work

Federal Housing Adminstration inspectors have many ways of determining the quality of work done by home builders. Some of them are much too technical to be used with any advantage by the average prospective house purchaser. But others have a definite value in an over-all appraisal of a new home.

If an FHA inspector notes, for instance, that there are hammer marks, chipped edges and unset nails on the trim, he regards it as evidence of careless workmanship.

If the hardware is neatly and accurately installed, the wallpaper carefully butted and matched, the paint with no brush marks or drips, he knows that the job has been done with care and pride.

These are seemingly small matters in construction work. And they would be useless without the more precise tests necessary for judging quality. Yet it is surprising how often the impression gained from observation of these little things is borne out by the kind of work done in the more important construction features of the same house.

When using a plunger, or "plumber's friend," to unclog a sink drain, there must be enough water in the sink to cover the bottom part of the suction cup and form a complete seal.

DO . . . sand with the grain, leaving diagonal sanding for the professional, since it involves a different technique.

DO . . . always keep the sanding machine in motion when the drum is in contact with the floor, since halting it in one spot may take off too much wood at that point.

DON'T . . . make all the cuts with the large machine and then all the cuts with the edger around the baseboards; etc. The proper way is to do the first sanding, then use the edger; do the second sanding, then the edger; and so on.

DON'T . . . allow dust to remain in the bag overnight and don't burn the dust in a furnace or incinerator; keep it in a metal container until it is thrown away.

TRAIL VIEW SUBDIVISION — This is what a new subdivision looks like after the houses are done, the people settled and the community is in a growing process. Trail View subdivision, off Pontiac Trail, was started about two years ago. There are still some outside lots left in this community of curving streets. All the brick houses have three bedrooms; all are basement models. Lawns are spacious. Streets are paved and cement drives go over the ditches and culverts. Robell Building Company of Walled Lake were the builders.

Textured Tweed Rugs New

NEW YORK, N.Y. — An integral facet of the growing trend toward the informal and casual in home furnishings, modern carpet styling is playing a key role in creating new expressions of comfort and warmth for the home. Tweed carpet, restricted to West Coast homes until a few years ago, has almost "captured" the decorating tastes of the entire nation, according to Arthur O. Ernst, a styling director.

The practical housekeeping aspects of this style carpet, its inherent beauty and simplicity and its universality in decorating situations have been largely responsible for the increasing acceptance it is enjoying.

"The tweed carpet," Ernst said, "no longer represents merely a trend. Its national popularity has already made it a classic styling effect. In the East, and other metropolitan portions of the country which traditionally have been strongholds of solid-color carpet, this style has become almost as widely accepted as it has elsewhere."

In addition, Ernst pointed out, a new styling concept in tweed carpet is gradually emerging. "We are experiencing a transition," he said, "from strict 'pepper and salt' styling to larger scale tweed variations which include both pattern and texture.

Though the addition of texture to tweed styling is still a comparatively recent innovation, it represented a logical variation from the basic tweed concept.

The development of tweed carpets that exhibit a marked pattern or figured aspect represents a much greater deviation from what has become 'classic' in tweeds.

Tweed patterns generally are abstract and lack the rigidity of well defined "figures." Texture added to this style usually complements the abstract nature of the figures.

"In patterned carpet itself," he added, "there is a broadening trend toward more subtle figures and colors with the dramatic tones reserved for accents or highlights. This style thus adds interest to a room's decor without dominating it.

"Most of the designs used in modern figured carpet tend to be in smaller scale. New carpet patterns, therefore, are generally more 'livable' and aid in creating the atmosphere of decorating warmth that makes a home comfortable."

Spray-Paint Furniture With Vacuum Cleaner

It is not too early to start getting ready for spring. If you have fiber rugs which you use on your porch or patio, and they are dingy and faded, vacuum-clean them thoroughly, then spray-paint them, using the vacuum cleaner sprayer for the purpose. If you have an old worn-out rug which has seen much better days, try turning it, spray-painting it, for a porch.

You can rejuvenate porch furniture by giving it a lively coat of paint, and if you use window boxes or a number of flower pots, paint them now, too, and be all ready for the first warm spell. While you are doing all this, see how your screens look. Possibly a new coat of paint is indicated. It's short and easy work, using the vacuum cleaner.

Painting Relaxes Tension

Doctors strongly recommend hobbies for relaxation from worry and tension. If you plan your home painting projects well in advance and then work at them in your off-duty or sparetime hours, you'll find that painting is a relaxing hobby and your home will have that well-cared for look. You will thus be contributing to the maintenance of your own property and the neighborhood in general—and enjoying it.

Home owners frequently find it helpful to identify the various household pipes with specific paint-colors so that they are easy to trace and identify.

Building Home? Check Contract

1. Agreement (between owner and contractor).
2. The general conditions (list of duties of contractor and obligations of owner and statement of relations between contractor and architect if one is involved).
3. Plans and specifications (drawings and descriptions of material and quality and description of work to be done and trades employed).

The third item should receive close attention, because the specifications should include every item of material wanted. Anything not included in the specs eventually will turn up as an extra. In other words an extra charge will be made over and above the contract.

Besides itemizing materials the specs enumerate all building operations under major classifications. Typical operations include excavating and grading, carpentry and millwork, ceramic tile setting, roofing and sheet metal, painting, etc.

AVOID MISUNDERSTANDING

Jurisdiction of the various trades may vary from place to place and misunderstandings arise owing to lack of familiarity with trade practices.

Electrical work usually includes installations, such as outlets, and, if specified, kitchen fan, furnace and range connections and doorbell. Lighting fixtures can be bought by the owner, who either pays for installation or proyides a lump sum for this purpose.

Another source of misunderstanding is the changing of plans and specifications. All changes by either owner or contractor, whether additions or delections, should be in writing and include the cost of the change. The owner should check to assure payment can be made from his cash or be included in the loan.

Women Want Color

The great desire of the American housewife for still more beautiful kitchens is seeing new fulfillment with the colorful new appliances now on the market. Major appliances—ranges, refrigerators, dishwashers, washer-dryer combinations—are available in delightful hues of pink, yellow, green, blue and other colors. Paints and enamels in matching or beautifully contrasting shades are easy to select for kitchen walls, ceilings, cabinets and furniture.

Steel Hatchways Come in Assorted Sizes

Engineers have developed many specail techniques to make steel basement hatchways suitable for special conditions. The hatchways come in three standard sizes to fit over the stairs leading from the basement. The all-steel units can be raised to any required height by cutting the sides, or giving additional length by means of brick or masonry extensions. They also can be installed in corners or where the stairs run parallel to the foundation.

Air Conditioning? Let Nature Do It With Greenery

Shrubs, trees and vines can help keep your home cooler this summer, says the American Association of Nurserymen. It urges these methods to prevent the sun's rays from striking the walls of your house:

Plant tall-growing shade trees on the south or west sides. They will knock off the sun and may grow high enough in time to shade the roof, eliminating attic heat that causes so much summer-time discomfort in homes.

Plant grass around the house instead of paving large areas. Grass and shrubs absorb the sun's heat instead of reflecting it.

Plant quick-growing vines on south and west walls exposed to the sun. They will shade the walls and keep them cooler.

Your local nurserymen can recommend shrubs and trees to meet your specific "air conditioning" requirements.

Tornadoes Need Not Blow the House Down

ANN ARBOR — For only a few hundred dollars extra, features can be built into houses and business establishments which make them virtually "tornado-proof," a University of Michigan meteorologist believes.

This is the conclusion of George W. Reynolds, research associate in the Engineering Research Institute, who has closely studied the destructive storms since 1949. After touring the scenes of nine tornadoes and reading technical reports on hundreds of them, Reynolds is convinced houses can be built to survive most, if not all, such storms.

The increase in cost would range from $50 to $350, he estimates, and properly built structures might eliminate as much as 90 per cent of tornado deaths and injuries, he says.

Reynolds has found that the great majority of structures destroyed in tornadoes suffered from one or more of three major shortcomings: Improper anchorage, insufficient internal bracing, or lack of proper air vents.

Improper anchorage of a house to its foundation, or of a roof to the building, can result in its being tipped over or the roof being peeled off, Reynolds notes.

"In my personal investigation of tornadoes, I have yet to see a single case in which a house bolted to its foundation was destroyed. This is not conclusive proof, of course, but it is certainly suggestive."

The "suction" from fast-moving winds in the lee of a building and the change in atmospheric pressure during a tornado also can cause poorly braced walls to fall outward, Reynolds says.

"All the wind has to do is pull a few nails, and the wall is gone, just as you knock the sides off a box," he points out. Reynolds suggests inexpensive ties to hold each wall securely to its neighbor.

At the same time, simple vents in attics and basements could equalize the pressure inside and outside a house, he says. "More research is needed before anyone can say for sure, but it looks like an air escape area on the order of one or two feet square for each 1000 feet of floor space might be enough to keep houses from exploding during all but the forst part of the most severe tornadoes."

Reynolds reported on this aspect of the subject recently at the national meeting of the American Meteorological Society at the University of Chicago.

His studies have led him to doubt that tornado winds are as strong, or the drop in air pressure as great, as popularly thought.

Although maximum wind speeds in a few tornadoes may reach 200 or 300 miles an hour, Reynolds suspects the maximum speeds in most tornadoes are between 100 and 200 miles an hour. Then, too, Reynolds notes, there is no great "vacuum" in the center of a tornado. The pressure on the inside of most tornadoes appears to be about 75 per cent of the pressure on the outside and is probably closer to 90 to 90 per cent," he said.

Color of Fire Hydrant Shows Size of Main

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. — Different colors of paint on five hydrants throughout the city indicate connected water main size. Red means a four-inch main; white, six-inch; and blue, an eight-inch main. Yellow hydrants are connected to 10-inch mains and green ones to 12-inch mains. The color system was devised to tell firemen at a glance the amount of water to be obtained from the connection.

Brighten up the paper lamp shades you will be using this spring and summer by painting bright bands of color at top or bottom — or both.

HOUSE AND YARD PLAN — This plan includes not only the rooms of the house, but also the yard with its pool. Even though the house has only 1,735 square feet of space, it includes such features as a master bedroom with its own bath, adequate living and play space and an attached two-car garage. Omitting the garage and family room will permit more economical building. They can be added later.

Private Pool Possible for Middle Class Home

Ever dream of living in luxury, with a swimming pool and all that?

Here is a home, Design HW-45 in The House of The Week series, that may help your dreams come true on a budget. And high time, too, now that summer is fast approaching.

While it incorporates in its layout such high style features as an outdoor pool and three bathrooms, the home fundamentally is an economy plan. Even as it stands, the floor space totals only 1735 square feet. Not a square foot is wasted, but this can be trimmed drastically by building the basic house now and adding more later.

Architect Sam Paul had in mind the budget of a middle-class income family before he set pencil to paper.

While the pool is a logical component of the layout, it definitely does not dominate the planning nor does it overshadow the modern thinking that went into project.

FOUR PRIMARY AREAS

There are four primary areas in the plan:

1. Informal living and play center.
2. Formal living area.
3. Sleeping rooms.
4. Service area.

The kitchen is the control point from which a watchful eye can be kept on children playing either in the family room or the pool. There is room for light dining without the necessity of going through the formal part of the house.

The kitchen is complete with counter top range, sink, dishwasher, built-in oven, refrigerator, freezer and a built-in unit for sewing. There is ample counter space and cabinets in natural wood or plastic.

Beside the kitchen is the dining room, separated from it only by the counter and cabinets. On the other side is the family room two steps below the kitchen. Although the two rooms merge, there is a division created by the difference in levels, a decorative railing and a planter.

Off the family room is a complete bath, equipped with a stall shower. Since it has access directly from the outside, it can serve as a dressing room in conjunction with the pool. Next to the bath is the laundry, which can be closed off by a folding partition.

Other features in the family room are the closet for muddy clothes and boots, a window wall at the rear and a cathedral-type ceiling. Two plastic domes in the ceiling give plenty of natural light, adding to the over-all effect of complete integration with the out-of-doors.

POOL FOCAL POINT

The pool is, of course, the focal point for the play center. It is surrounded by a large paved area for casual lounging and playing. The pool itself is 26 feet by 12 feet, but can be made larger if desired.

The bedroom area is off to one side, away from the activities section. There we find three bedrooms, each with generous closet space, and two full baths. The hall bath has double basins built into a long, counter-top vanity.

A crawl space is under the kitchen and the two rear bedrooms. And the family room is on a concrete slab at the same level as the garage.

NEWS VIEWS

By Realtor Partridge

It seems like most of the news that makes the front pages of the papers is as about as cheerful as a cry for help. That's why it's interesting to flip over a few pages and find that in spite of the front page ballyhoo the world is still doing pretty well. The swallows came back to Capistrano on schedule, the Loch Ness monster has been sighted in its first appearance of the year, and the early robin of Spring managed to wing north with the new sesaon.

It's kind of nice to know that in a world that sometimes gets dizzier than a runaway merry-go-round nature continues to operate as it has for centuries. It makes a fellow stop and wonder if maybe we don't get too excited over passing events.

No matter how you look at it, I guess there's nothing that depreciates a car quicker than having your next door neighbor buy a brand new one.

Well, factors like depreciation and fluctuating costs can make it difficult these days for a man to know just what his holdings are worth. Through daily dealings, we're naturally equipped to know the truth about property and real estate values. So, whether you're buying or selling, see

Don't Give Wet Basement to the Fish — Dry It Up!

If you have a wet basement, it isn't necessary to resign yourself to it and start stocking it with fish. Corrective steps can be taken with success, but before you spring into action make sure that you know the exact source of your trouble.

This is the advice of the Institute of Real Estate Management to its members who, as Certified Property Managers, frequently are called on to help client property owners with this and scores of other problems concerning property maintenance and repair.

As one of its services to help members keep abreast of the new solutions for property maintenance problems, the Institute publishes a series of technical bulletins, of which "Keeping Basements Dry" is one.

"Since treatments to prevent dampness in basements may be expensive," the Institute bulletin warns, "the cause of the dampness should always be determined before treatment is made.

"Of course, when two or three inches of water are found in the basement after a heavy rain, the cause is no mystery," the publication adds dryly. In that case, you are contending with the penetration of water through leaks in the foundation, walls, or floor.

In many cases, improved drainage will provide the solution. This is particularly likely if the slope of the ground around the building causes surface water to accumulate near the basement walls and find its way through faults or weak spots. Regrading in such cases should slope surfaces away from the walls at least one-quarter inch per foot for a distance of from 8 to 10 feet.

Severe cases of penetration, as might be expected, call for more thorough-going counter measures.

INSTALL DRAIN

If the building is located on a hillside, the installation of an underground tile drain along the high side only may be sufficient. The drain should be sloped gently to a sewer or some other outlet, and the drain tile should be surrounded by coarse gravel or crushed stone. The joints of the tile should be covered with strips of tar paper, wire mesh, or burlap to keep the drain from becoming clogged when the excavated soil is backfilled.

However, when the structure experiencing the severe penetration is not located on a hillside, it may be necessary to place drain tile around the entire foundation. In addition, a thick coating of 1:2½ portland cement mortar is applied to the outside surface of the foundation wall in two coats, each ⅜ inches thick. Before application, the walls should be cleaned thoroughly. After cleaning, moisten the walls and several hours later scrub them vigorously with a grout of cement and water using a stiff brush.

The first coat of mortar should be applied while the grout is still soft, and scratched to provide a roughened surface for the second coat. Any cracks should be sealed by cutting a 1 inch by 1 inch groove along them and scrubbing a cement grout into the grooves which should then be packed with a cement mortar of stiff consistency.

In some instances it is possible to stop basement leaks by inside treatment—preferable because of greater convenience and less cost. The wall should be cut out around the leak to a depth of 2 inches, and a concrete plug of the following mixture pressed into the cut out space: 1 part portland cement, 1 part sand, and an amount of calsium chloride equal in weight to 5 per cent of the weight of the cement.

CURE LEAKY FLOOR

A leaky floor can often be cured by cleaning and moistening it, scrubbing with cement grout, and laying a rich mixture of concrete three-fourths of an inch thick while the grout is still damp. The entire floor can be covered in one operation, and the mixture used should be as dry as can be handled conveniently.

The two other sources of basement dampness are condensation and capillary transmission. To find out the source of your trouble, use this test: place a rubber mat about three feet square over a portion of the floor that is damp. Lift the mat after several days. If the floor under it is dry, you have condensation; if damp, capillary transmission.

Condensation frequently can be checked by a thorough airing out, although in humid weather this simply brings in more moisture and intensifies the problem. Heat from water heating devices during the summer months may do the job. If neither of these methods is successful, it may be necessary to dehumidify the air by chemicals (calcium Chloride or lithium chloride) or by the use of electrical dehumidifying machines.

In instances in which the amount of moisture present through capillary transmission is not great, ventilation is frequently all that is necessary. When this is ineffective, drainage may be improved by regrading as in the case of water resulting from penetration.

Protect Foundations With Spring Repairs

In all probability, they're no longer small. And, if you don't repair them soon, heavy spring rains will do further damage.

Cement and mortar weather in any climate, but if you live in the north, here's what happened:

Rain, snow and ice, through alternate freezing and thawing, caused expansion and contraction which broke down the concrete or mortar.

CHECK JOINTS

A patio, walk or drive that butts against the house foundation offers a prime spot at which winter can get in its worst licks.

Check the joint to see that it hasn't opened, and that the old sealer has not worn away.

If the gap is a small one, fill it with caulking material or asphalt cement. If a larger gap is present, fill with concrete patching material.

Cracks in the foundation proper, or in drives, walks or steps, also require filling with concrete patching material.

Most building supply outlets and many hardware stores now offer for sale one or more bonding agents or compounds.

These are substances which help new concrete adhere to old, and use of one of them often eliminates the need for roughing the surface to be repaired.

All you need to do is clean the affected area with a wire brush, brush on the bonding agent and apply the patching material.

If you prefer to follow the traditional method of making repairs of this nature, roughen edges of the crack with a cold or stone chisel. Enlarge the opening so that it is wider at the bottom than at the top (see illustration). Clean out all loose particles. A wire brush does a good job of it.

Wet the spot so that the entire area is damp, and apply the patching cement.

COMMERCIAL MIX EASIEST

Easiest to prepare is commercially mixed concrete, which requires the addition of water only before use. If you prefer to mix your own, use three parts of sand, one part of cement, and water.

Fill the opening completely, leaving filler a fraction of an inch higher than the surrounding area. After a few hours, level off the patched surface.

Level with a wooden board if the surrounding surface is rough; use a metal trowel on smooth-surfaced material. Dampen patched spot daily for several days.

Check brickwork, especially brick steps and risers, where loose and crumbling mortar might set up conditions for a bad fall.

Repairing mortar in brickwork is known as "pointing." Do it for appearance sake or to replace loose bricks, but take care of potential hazards before trouble develops.

Clean out all crumbled mortar from joint. Chip with cold or stone chisel or use some other sharp tool to scrape the surfaces.

When clean, moisten brickwork on side of the cracks. Use ready-mix mortar for small jobs. Force it between bricks with a pointing trowel, then finish to match the rest of the masonry.

If yours is a black-top drive, patch cracks and holes with gravel and asphalt. Either build up the spot with alternate layers of fine gravel and asphalt, or make a mixture of the two.

The final layer should be slightly above grade. Sprinkle a light layer of sand on top of patch. Roll area to pack patch in place, or drive over it several times, first laying a small board over the area to avoid leaving tire marks.

Chests Made for Dowry

Pennsylvania Dutch farmers used to make wooden chests for their daughters to hold dowry, hand-woven linens and quilted bedspreads. Every county had its special design of tulips, turtle doves, hearts and other motifs. The initials of the bride and groom and the date of marriage were sometimes carved or painted on the chests.

Spruce Up — It's Spring

Blue sky, green trees, bright flowers. Nature is spreading out the colors of spring. Shabby houses have no place in this picture. Besides looking drab, shabby houses are worth less, harder to sell, poorer security and costlier for upkeep than well painted ones. So, spruce up—it's spring!

Colonial Design Unusual

For your ultra-modern kitchen boasting a fireplace, no less, select a hardwood floor in the Colonial design pattern. With this pattern, face widths of 2¼" and 3¼" maple are laid in alternate courses. The effect is charming and different.

Due to its living cellular composition, Northern Hard Maple has a natural "spring" or resilience when used for flooring. This feature retards foot and leg fatigue and consequent nerve strain.

ORDINANCE NO. 1335
Adopted: April 4, 1957.
Effective: April 14, 1957.

An Ordinance adopting a fire prevention code prescribing regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion, and establishing a bureau of fire prevention and providing officers therefor and defining their powers and duties.

The City of Pontiac Ordains:

Adoption of Fire Prevention Code:
There is hereby adopted by the City of Pontiac for the purpose of prescribing regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion, that certain code known as the Fire Prevention Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, being particularly the 1956 edition thereof, save and except sections 13.04, 13.05 and 13.06 of Article 13 and Article 19 of such code, of which code not less than three (3) copies shall be filed and maintained in the office of the Clerk of the City of Pontiac and said code is hereby adopted and incorporated as fully as if set out at length herein and from the date of which this ordinance shall take effect the provisions thereof shall be controlling within the limits of the City of Pontiac.

Section 2:
Establishment and Duties of Bureau of Fire Prevention:
a. The Fire Prevention Code shall be enforced by the Bureau of Fire Prevention in the Fire Department of the City of Pontiac which is hereby established and which shall be operated under the supervision of the Chief of the Fire Department.

b. The Bureau of Fire Prevention shall consist of the Chief of the Fire Department, the Fire Marshall and such other members of the Fire Department who shall be assigned to fire prevention work in the City of Pontiac.

c. A report of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be made annually and transmitted to the City Manager. It shall contain all proceedings under this Code with such statistics as the Chief of the Fire Department may wish to include therein. The Chief of the Fire Department shall also recommend any amendments to the Code which, in his judgment, shall be desirable.

Section 3:
It shall be the duty of the officers of the Bureau of Fire Prevention to enforce all laws and ordinance of the State and City covering the following:
1. The prevention of fires;
2. The storage and use of explosives and flammables;
3. The installation and maintenance of automatic and other fire alarm systems, and fire extinguishing equipment;
4. The maintenance and regulation of fire escapes;
5. The means and adequacy of exit in case of fire—from factories, schools, hotels, lodging house, asylums, hospitals, churches, halls, theaters, ampitheaters, multiple dwellings, and all other places in which numbers of persons work, live, or congregate, from time to time, for any purpose.

6. The investigation of the cause, origin, and circumstances of fires.

They shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as are set forth in other sections of this ordinance, and as may be conferred and imposed from time to time by law. The Chief of the Fire Department may delegate any of his powers or duties under this ordinance to the Fire Marshal.

Section 4:
Establishment of Limits of Districts in which Storage of Flammable Liquids in outside aboveground tanks is to be prohibited:
a. The limits referred to in Section 15.201 of the Fire Prevention Code in which storage of flammable liquids in outside aboveground tanks is prohibited is specified in the City Fire Limits ordinance No. 319.

Section 5:
Modifications:
The Fire Chief and The Fire Marshal acting jointly shall have power to modify any of the provisions of the Fire Prevention Code upon application in writing by the owner or lessee, or his duly authorized agent, when there are practical difficulties in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the code, provided that the spirit of the code shall be observed, public safety secured, and substantial justice done. The particulars of such modification when granted or allowed and the decision of the Fire Marshal thereon shall be entered upon the records of the department and a signed copy shall be furnished the applicant.

Section 6:
Appeals:
Whenever the Chief of the Fire Department shall disapprove an application or refuse to grant a permit applied for, or when it is claimed that the provisions of the code do not apply or that the true intent and meaning of the code have been misconstrued or wrongly interpreted, the applicant may appeal from the decision of the Chief of the Fire Department to the City Commission within 30 days from the date of the decision of the appeal.

Section 7:
New Materials, processes or occupancies which may require permits:

File Petition for June OK

Asking for New City Boundaries Excluding Beverly Hills

SOUTHFIELD — For the third time Southfield will try to become a city, this time asking for new boundary lines, excluding the controversial Beverly Hills section.

"This is the section that gave the balance of power to the no-charter group in Monday's election," Supervisor Eugene Swem said this morning.

A petition asking for the new city boundaries has been filed with the county clerk and will go before the county board of supervisors for approval after June 7, when Southfield reverts back to township status.

Residents of the north end of the township, of which Beverly Hills is a part, plan to petition for their own village, to be known as "Westwood."

Five of the nine members on the present charter commission elected by voters Monday, are from the Beverly Hills section. They are pledged to delay a third vote on a city charter until after the June 7 deadline has been reached.

Therefore, Southfield plans to incorporate without the seven square miles of the Beverly Hills area, Swem said.

1,250 Retakes Necessitated by Camera Slip

LAKE ORION — Because of a once-in-ten-years miss, residents here will be given second TB chest X-rays this month.

Dr. A. R. Musson, executive secretary of Oakland TB Assn., said today that all persons over 15 in the township, may obtain X-rays on April 13 and 20, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Detroit Edison office, 195 South Broadway St.

Area Players Re-elect Six for One Year

WEST BLOOMFIELD — In the recent election held by the Township Players of West Bloomfield six members were re-elected for a one-year term.

James Beall of Birmingham, elected to serve on the Board of Control, was the only new member added to the present regime. Officers re-elected to their posts were George Curran, president; Mrs. John Batts, secretary; Mrs. Neil McArthur, treasurer. Robert Thompson, Frank Donegan and Mogens Klopp will again serve on the Board of Control.

Mrs. Gerald Cohen, John Batts and James Beall were appointed by the Board of Control as a committee to review the constitution and by-laws. Inasmuch as the Player are now one year old, it was felt that some changes might be necessary to fit the needs of the rapidly increasing membership. Any changes will be put before the group at their next business meeting the last Thursday of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McArthur were appointed to represent the club at the Community Theater Association of Michigan conference to be held in Saginaw today. Mr. and Mrs. George Heck will also attend the conference.

Americans Answer Each Letter Carefully

French 'Tell It to Embassy'

PARIS (INS)—Every week about 300 Frenchmen get wrought up enough to write the American Embassy what they think of the United States.

On the average there are four letters of blame for each one of praise.

And when a French correspondent gets really angry he usually jumps on John Foster Dulles. Sometimes there are detailed attacks on the policy of the Secretary of State.

Other times there are mere verbal sideswipes, as in the case of the correspondent who closed his letter by saying: "Despite John Dulles, please accept my most sincere greetings."

The embassy answers 30 to 50 of the letters each week personally and in full. The remainder are answered with a copy of a magazine or newspaper and a note that the point raised is covered on such and such a page.

The main complaints include:

1. The U. S. is taking advantage of the anti-colonial fire in the world to "steal" empires from Britain, France and Holland.

2. U. S. foreign policy is so "innocent" as to be appalling; America may be rich but is stupid.

3. Washington is courting the Arabs at the expense of its traditional friends in Europe.

4. Powerful oil interests control U. S. foreign policy.

NOT CRANK LETTERS

The letters that get answers are not crank notes. They are serious thoughts from serious people.

Patiently, week in and week out, the embassy explains in personal letters that much of the root of the criticism is false assumption and rumor.

The most outstanding concrete example is the persistent rumor that the Arabian-American Oil Co. helped finance the Algerian rebels. The rumor started after a report that damning documentary evidence was found with the arrest of five Algerian rebel leaders caught in an airplane last fall.

The French government gave the U. S. government written assurance that such evidence did not exist. It is a simple matter, therefore, for the embassy to cite the French government to disprove the charge.

The job of answering charges that U. S. foreign policy in the Middle East is "stupid" is more delicate. Here the embassy assures the critic that American aims in the Middle East are identical with those of France, and pleads for patience.

The banjo was invented in the mid-19th Century in Banjoemas, Java, and received its name from the first two syllables of that village.

U. S. and Egypt Continue Talks

High-Level Meetings Mark Effort to Achieve Solution on Canal

CAIRO (AP) —The United States and Egypt are continuing to press their high level diplomatic exchanges in an effort to reach agreement on the Egyptian plan for operating the Suez Canal.

U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi have held four closed-door parleys in the past four days on the vital canal issue.

The exchange began soon after U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold returned to New York from talks in Cairo. He had reportedly sought to get President Nasser to agree on a canal plan more palatable to the West.

Observers said Egypt — which originally had vowed to deal only through the U. N. — now is actually bargaining through the United States with the Americans reporting their findings to the Suez Canal Users' Assn. (SCUA) in London.

Indiana Divorcee, 31, Indicted for Murder

The Wayne County Grand Jury indicted Miss Ethel Wise, a bottle cap factory worker, for the rifle shooting of the 64-year-old photographer on the street in front of his studio March 25.

Miss Anne McFarland, 41, Hirshburg's receptionist, witnessed the shooting. Prosecutor Bert Keller Jr. said Miss McFarland stated that Miss Wise was jealous of her and had threatened to kill both her and Hirshburg.

Keller said the women had lived together in nearby Centerville.

Wife Wins Divorce; 'Too Much Prayer'

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Edna S. Massey, 31, of Lyme, won a divorce in Superior Court because, she told the judge, her husband "prayed too much."

Mrs. Massey, who asked the decree on grounds of intolerable cruelty, told Judge Abraham S. Borden yesterday that her husband, Joseph, 40, was a religious fanatic, who forced her and her two children to "Pray all the time."

Judge Borden said this was "the first time I've ever heard of praying as a grounds for cruelty," but granted the decree after asking Griswold G. Morgan, Mrs. Massey's counsel if he thought that it constituted cruelty.

"Yes sir," was the lawyer's reply.

SPRING IS HERE

6. The Robin Says So

The robin is a sign of spring in northern states and everyone is glad to see him because he is such a busy, cheerful, friendly bird.

The robin belongs to the thrush family and is known all over North America. He is about 10 inches long, has a bright yellow beak, black head with a bit of white on it, a dark gray back and tail and a fine red breast.

The robin helps keep our lawns free of insects. One brood of robins will eat half a million insects and larvae in one summer.

Robins build nests of twigs, leaves, string and shreds of cloth, neatly held together with mud cement. Two or three times each summer each nest will hold three to five light blue eggs.

Here's a robin for you to cut out and color. Fold the left panel forward and the easel support back on the dotted lines. Then your friend the robin will stand.

COUNTRY STYLE — Jimmy Dean, a performer in the country music field who sings, plays piano, accordion and guitar, headlines "The Jimmy Dean Show" which premieres over CBS-TV Monday at 7 a. m. Dean's daily 45-minute program is replacing "Good Morning," starring Will Rogers Jr.

Country Style Melodies to Awaken TV Viewers

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) —Extraordinary as it may seem to many citizens, there are many other citizens who turn on their television sets first thing in the morning.

What do you want to see and hear in the sleepy household hubbub of early morning: Don't ask me, because I just want to see the newspaper and hear my wife getting breakfast. But if you ask CBS-TV they'll tell you that you want to see — or at least hear — "country style" music.

"There is no such thing as country music any more," Dean said. "There's only 'country style,' which is a matter of instrumentation. It's original American music, such as grew up with the country."

Dean was selected by CBS to launch a new early morning program on its television network beginning Monday. The 45-minute program will take the place of the Will Rogers Jr. morning show.

Dean, 28, has already made a name for himself as a country style music entertainer over WMAL-TV in Washington, D. C.

Dean, who grew up in Plainview, Tex., sang in the Baptist choir and learned to play the piano and served a hitch in the Merchant Marine. After three years in the Air Force he and two other young men formed a trio and began playing local engagements around Washington.

His band, including himself, now numbers six. His program will be composed of music and a little chit-chat. "There won't be any script," he says. "Having a script and being overproduced has ruined a lot of country shows.

Pontiac Motor Local Sends 17 to U. S. Parley

Seventeen delegates and two alternates of Pontiac Motor Local 653 UAW are in Atlantic City to attend the 16th Constitution Convention of the United Auto Workers, April 7-12.

Yule Tree Growers to Form Association

The formation of a Christmas Tree Growers Assn. will be discussed at a meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m., in the Ferndale Library.

Meeting will be growers from Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties. They will hear a report from a steering committee chosen March 19 to consider methods of organizing.

Any Christmas tree grown in the county may attend.

Seaway Rates Next Problem

Basic Issue Involves Ratio of Tolls, Traffic; Project Must Pay Way

CLEVELAND (AP) — The amount of money the St. Lawrence Seaway will be required to produce annually from tolls has gone up 75 per cent over what was estimated three years ago, an expert said today.

The fixing of those tolls will be the next big development in the seaway project and "it must be settled within the year," N. R. Danielian of Washington told the 12th World Trade Assn. convention here yesterday.

Danielian, a promoter of the seaway for 17 years and president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Assn., made no secret of his concern over the coming decision on tolls. He explained:

"The basic issue, of course, is whether there will be high tolls and low volume of traffic, or low tolls and high volume of traffic. In either case, the revenues may not be too far apart, but the effect on Canadian and U. S. Great Lakes development will be radically different."

He said that before the governments of Canada and the United States fix tolls, he hopes fervently that they "will give sympathetic hearing to the views" of a users committee formed two years ago and representing "nearly 80 per cent of the users and most of the shipping interests involved."

By laws of both countries, the seaway is a self-liquidating project that is to pay for its capital cost, interest charges and operation and maintenance expense over a 50-year period, using revenue from toll charges on cargoes, Danielian pointed out.

State Dentists to Convene April 8 in Detroit

Dentists from every part of Michigan will gather in Detroit April 8-10 for the annual meeting of the Michigan Dental Assn.

More than 20 nationally known dental authorities will present clinics and study courses for the more than 3,000 dentists expected.

Among officers attending will be two members of the association's board of trustees, Drs. N. W. Burkman and S. P. Jesson of Birmingham.

In connection with the convention, allied groups will also meet, including the association's women's auxiliary, the Michigan Dental Hygienists Assn. and the Michigan Dental Assistants Assn.

Sinatra Sings for His Supper at Mocambo

Frankie Helps Old Friend After Husband's Death

By JAMES BACON

The thin singer, who gets $25,000 a week at Las Vegas Sands Hotel, where he's an owner, is working the Mocambo nine days for exactly nothing.

Charlie Morrison, owner of the Mocambo and an old friend of Sinatra, died a few weeks ago after a two year illness.

Last week the unpredictable Sinatra called up Morrison's widow, Mary, and casually offered to work in the club free.

"He just said he would do it because he wanted to, no other reason," Mrs. Morrison said.

If last night's performance was any criterion, Frankie should never sing for money again. Veteran Sinatra fans all agreed he never sung better.

He was on for 1 hour and 14 minutes and even then had to beg off from the cheering packed house.

It was a black tie, mink coat opening, but some of Hollywood's most glamorous femmes squealed like bobby soxers when Sinatra dipped low into the sexy registers.

Defends Charge in Norman Case

Senator Says Official OK'd Release of Report of Red Activity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) says a Senate subcommittee report describing Canadian diplomat Herbert Norman as a onetime Communist was published with the approval of a State Department security officer.

But State Department officials said yesterday the worker who gave a go-ahead acted without consulting his policy-making superiors. The charge against Norman, made public last month, were disowned by the department and protested by the Canadian government.

Norman, Canada's ambassador to Egypt, leaped to his death from a Cairo building Thursday. Associates said he was depressed by a report of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Watkins is a member of this group, which is headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss).

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) called for a special Senate investigation into the circumstances of the publication. Neuberger's suggestion was made before Watkins disclosed the subcommittee had obtained State Department approval.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert Morris said in a recent hearing that the group had evidence Norman had been a communist at one time. In protesting, the Canadian government said the diplomat had been cleared by its own security services.

Watkins said he had had misgivings about releasing the record of the closed hearings at which Norman's name was mentioned. But he said he finally joined other subcommittee members in approving the release after the State Department cleared the first of two records for publication.
