FALL ENROLLMENT REACHES 9,600

Fall term headcount enrollment as of Oct. 4 is 9,600 students compared with 8,169 for fall, 1972, Registrar Lowell Ruggles reports. The totals will change somewhat over the term due to special late registering courses and some drops, Ruggles explained. The full-time equivalent student data will not be available for some time yet, he said.

The fall figures include 1,250 freshmen and 1,024 transfer students and total figures include 7,027 undergraduates and 2,573 graduate students. There are 1,968 persons taking some credit courses in the evening (the figure includes some daytime students also taking evening courses). In fall, 1972, OU had 1,274 freshmen, 926 transfers, and a total of 6,278 undergraduates and 1,891 graduates. There were 582 persons taking at least one course in the evening.

BOARD APPROVES NEW FACULTY

Nine new faculty appointments for 1973-74 have been announced by Frederick W. Obear, academic vice president and provost. The positions were approved by the Board of Trustees Sept. 24.

New members of the School of Education follow: John W. Atlas (assistant professor), B.S., Grambling, M. Ed. and Ph. D., Wayne State University; Eileen P. Blumenthal (visiting instructor), B.A. University of California at Berkeley, M.A., Rutgers, and study for the Ph. D. in progress at the University of Michigan; and Vera Evelyn Muthleb, (visiting assistant professor), B.A., M.A., and Ph. D. degrees from Wayne State University.

New to the Department of Psychology are: Raymond P. Briggs (visiting assistant professor), B.A. Oakland University, and Ph. D. from Cornell University; Helen A. Klein (visiting assistant professor), B.S. Michigan State University, M.S. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Pittsburgh; and Lawrence G. Lilliston (assistant professor), B.S. College of William and Mary, M.A. Xavier University, and Ph. D. Temple University.

Two faculty have been added to the Department of Biological Sciences. They are Mary Etta Hight (visiting assistant professor), who received a B.S. from Concord College and from Morris Harvey College, and the M.S. and Ph. D. degrees from Wayne State University, and Charlotte M. Patterson-Morgan (visiting assistant professor). Professor Morgan received her B.S., M.S. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Michigan.

Alfred Ruscio, who holds a B.A. from Staley College and a certificate from the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York City, has been named visiting associate professor of theatre arts and artistic director of the Academy of Dramatic Art in the School of Performing Arts.

Two administrative professionals have accepted special faculty appointments in the School of Education for 1973-74. They are William Jorns, an adjunct assistant professor, and Geraldine M. Palmer, also named adjunct assistant professor. Jorns continues to hold his AP position as administrative assistant to the dean, School of Education, and Palmer her AP position as administrative assistant to Professor Harry Hahn, School of Education.

MEADOW BROOK OPENS WITH "THE MEMBER OF THE WEDDING"

Carson McCullers' prize-winning play, "The Member of the Wedding" will open Meadow Brook Theatre's eighth season on Thursday, October 11, at 8:30 p.m.

The play about the poignant loneliness of adolescence, and the bond of affection between the motherless girl, Frankie, and their Black housekeeper, Berenice Sadie Brown. Terence Kilburn, artistic director of Meadow Brook Theatre, will direct the opening production.

The role of Frankie will be played by Mary Wright of San Francisco, who was seen most recently with the Roundabout Theatre in New York as Ophelia in "Hamlet." The featured role of Berenice Sadie Brown, now one of classic scale in the American theatre, will be played by a distinguished Detroit actress and playwright, Burniece Avery. Ten-year-old Johnny Doran, who plays Frankie's cousin, John Henry, makes his Meadow Brook debut direct from the opening of his first film in New York, "The Secret Files of Mrs. Basil E. Frankweiler," in which he plays the leading role opposite Ingrid Bergman.

Performances for opening week are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.; matinee on Saturday at 2 p.m.; and Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m.

In the June 1973 issue of Current Anthropology, a review was carried on A Handbook of Method in Cultural Anthropology. The work is edited by Raoul Naroll and Ronald Cohen.

In addition, she has had the following papers accepted for publication: "The Subsistence Activities of Women and the Socialization of Children," by Ethos.

"Leisure, Busywork and Housekeeping: A Note on the Unequal Division of Labor by Sex," by Anthropos.

"Adolescent Initiation Rites: Recent Interpretations" to be published in the third edition of Studies in Adolescence, edited by Robert Grinder and to appear in 1975.

"A Note on the Division of Labor by Sex," originally published in American Anthropologist is to be reprinted in the second edition of Family in Transition, edited by Arlene and Jerome Skolnick and to appear in 1974.

OU FACULTY TO WRITE FOR OAKLAND PRESS

Approximately 20 OU faculty members will have the opportunity to publish short articles in the Oakland Press in 1973-74 as part of a course by newspaper program offered by the evening program and the newspaper.

The major "lessons" on a variety of subjects have been prepared in California and will be published in the Oakland Press, and OU faculty will be given chances to respond to the commentary in these "lessons." Carmine Linsalata, modern languages, is teaching the course for the evening program extension in Pontiac and is soliciting written faculty opinions for the course.

MATHEMATICS FACULTY OFFER CONSULTING SERVICE

The Department of Mathematics has announced the formation of statistical consulting service available to the faculty, staff, and students of Oakland University. This service is available free of charge by making an appointment with either Harvey J. Arnold, 377-4033 or Robert Casady, 377-4030.

This service will include advice on all phases of statistical problems including sampling procedures, experimental designs, randomization techniques, data analysis and interpretation, including some specialized computer programming.

One aim of this service is to improve the quality of the statistical reporting in research studies undertaken by members of the Oakland University community.

SINGER ARTICLE ACCEPTED FOR PUBLICATION

An article by Dr. Philip Singer, Allport College, titled "Suicide and Role Strain Among Physicians" has been selected for inclusion in a volume of articles related to the occupational hazards of being a physician. The readings are directed primarily to medical students. The volume is being edited by M. R. Lipp, M.D., Psychiatry; and Randall Weingarten.

HOVANESIAN TO SPEAK AT INTERNATIONAL MEETING

Joseph D. Hovanesian, engineering, will deliver a key lecture at the XIIIth International Conference on Thermal Conductivity to be held Nov. 6 in Lake Ozark, Missouri. The conference will feature contributed papers from experts throughout the world. Hovanesian's topic will be "Application of Coherent Optics & Hologram Interferometry to Thermal Measurements."

BAROQUE ENSEMBLE PERFORMS OCT. 12 IN VARNER HALL

The Baroque Ensemble will open the Department of Music's 1973-74 concert season with a Friday, Oct. 12, free program at 8:00 p.m. in Varner Recital Hall.

"Music of the French Baroque" will be played on original instruments of the period.

Included will be a 17th Century musical satire of a gall bladder operation. The work was written by Marin Marais. Works by Couperin, Danican-Philidor, and Loeillet will also be featured. The Baroque Ensemble is composed of students and faculty members in the Department of Music. The director is Lyle Nordstrom.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE MAILING LABELS AVAILABLE TO FACULTY

William Jones, assistant to the president for community college relations, has compiled a personalized mailing list for every academic and administrative area in the community colleges in southeastern Michigan.

Faculty and staff interested in contacting specific departments in the community colleges can obtain mailing labels from his office at a slight fee, Jones said. Inquiries should be made at 377-2197.
