FIVE OU STUDENTS GET INTERNSHIP JOBS

Five Oakland University students have been selected as student interns at the institution for 1974-75. The unusual program gives undergraduates a look at the administrative side of higher education.

The students were selected by the Office of Student Affairs and will work in various assignments within the office, Patricia Houtz, vice president for Student Affairs, said.

Participants will receive specific staff assignments and attend appropriate faculty and administrative meetings. The students will attend their regular classes and work an average of 20 hours a week, Miss Houtz said.

The new interns are: Carol Swantek, a junior from Farmington who will work in commuter services; Nikki Mooreland, a junior from Flint who will intern in the residence halls program; Grant Battle, a Detroit senior who will work in judicial systems; Kim R. Rust, a Rochester senior working in advising and orientation; and Mary Sellner, a senior from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, who is working with the Village Project.

Four students will work during the spring and summer sessions and the fall and winter terms. Miss Mooreland will begin her duties during the summer session.

OU PROFESSOR RECEIVES FULBRIGHT-HAYS AWARD

Parbury P. Schmidt, chemistry, is the recipient of a Fulbright-Hays award for study in the United Kingdom. He is conducting his research in the field of chemical physics while at the University of Southampton. Schmidt will return to OU in the fall of 1975.

The award was announced by the Committee on International Exchange of Scholars (senior Fulbright-Hays Program) in Washington, D. C.

SCIENCE LIBRARIAN WINS NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP

Eileen E. Hitchingham, Kresge Library science librarian, is one of twenty-five recipients of a prestigious Council on Library Resources fellowship for 1974-75.

The council, through support of the Ford Foundation, provides fellows with funds for travel, supplies and services.

Ms. Hitchingham will investigate the use of terminal access to commercial on-line services for retrospective literature searching by college and university libraries as an adjunct to more traditional reference services. She will identify user institutions; assess costs incurred; and evaluate effectiveness of such systems.

She is conducting her research from May through July while on a career development leave granted by the university.

ALUMNI RELATIONS SPONSORS GARDEN PARTY, GOLF OUTING

The University Community is reminded of two special forthcoming events sponsored by the Office of Alumni Relations.

One is the Saturday, May 11, Alumnae Luncheon at Meadow Brook Hall and the other is the Saturday, June 22, Alumni Golf Outing.

The luncheon program includes a guided tour of Meadow Brook Hall, the luncheon and fashion show, and a talk by Elizabeth Orion of Meadow Brook Theatre on "The Theatre." Non alumni guests are welcome.

The golf outing at the Wolverine Golf Club includes 18 holes of golf, prizes, and a buffet dinner. The program is designed to bring alumni, faculty, and staff together for a day of golf and fun.

Ticket information on both the above programs may be obtained by calling 377-2158.

BOOK ORDER
DEADLINE IS MAY 15

Bookcenter personnel announces that the deadline date for fall book orders from the faculty is Wednesday, May 15. The processing and used book request will be completed by Saturday, June 1 and final ordering will be on Saturday, June 15.

This will give the necessary 10 weeks for delivery.

BEARDMAN HAS ONE-MAN SHOW IN ATHENS, GREECE

John Beardman, Department of Art and Art History, will be honored June 1 through July 15 with a one-man show at the Hellenic American Union in Athens, Greece.

The union is a branch of the United States Information Service. Beardman was introduced to the Hellenic American Union by a former member of the Greek University of Culture who was familiar with his work.

Beardman will exhibit 17 new paintings. They are acrylics on canvas or on paper.

OU GRADUATE HONORED FOR HEART RESEARCH

Paul T. Elder, an OU graduate from Mt. Clemens, has been selected by the Scholarship and Awards Committee of Wayne State University as the outstanding Michigan Heart Association Research Fellow of the 1973 group.

Elder majored in biology at OU and he is completing his second year at the WSU Medical School. He was honored Thursday, May 2, at the Heart Association's annual meeting in Detroit. Elder received a plaque.

He was selected on the strength of research done last summer under the direction of Moon J. Pak, Department of Biological Sciences. Elder had obtained a Heart Association research fellowship for his research on the "Effect of Emetine on the Electromechanical Property of Heart Muscle."

SCHOLARSHIP COFFEE DRAWS ITS LARGEST TURNOUT

The Oakland University Women's Club has an additional $1,600 toward its scholarship fund. The amount represents the proceeds from the Fifth International Scholarship Coffee held Friday, April 26, in Meadow Brook Hall. There were 488 people, the largest crowd ever, at the annual event.

OU STUDENT WINS U OF M AWARD FOR GRADUATE STUDY

One Oakland University graduate has been awarded a Michigan College Fellowship for graduate study at the University of Michigan. Twenty-two such awards are made each year by the U of M to help state students do their graduate work at that institution.

The winner is Miss Susan L. Jarchow, an English language and literature major from Battle Creek. A second OU student, Miss Maureen Flannery, was named an alternate. Miss Flannery majored in Chinese. She is a resident of Troy.

DEVORE, SHARPLEY SPEAK AT INTERNATIONAL MEETING

Ronald DeVore and Robert Sharpley, mathematics, recently returned from a week-long international conference on "Linear Operators and Approximation" which was held at the German Mathematical Institute in Oberwolfach, Germany.

Leading world experts lectured on topics related to Operator Theory and Approximation Theory. Professor DeVore's lecture was entitled, "The Degree of Monotone Approximation" while Professor Sharpley spoke on "Intermediate Spaces and Interpolation Theory."

EDUCATION FACULTY ON PROGRAM AT ANNUAL MEETING

Three elementary education faculty in the School of Education directed laboratories or presented papers at the recent annual meeting of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development held in Anaheim, Calif.

The theme for the 1974 Annual Meeting was "Creating Curricula for Human Futures." As a part of this theme a series of action/training laboratories were held to provide mini courses of instruction for participants. Several Oakland faculty members played a crucial role in this training session. Roderic E. Righter developed and directed the laboratory around the theme, "Practical Ways of Implementing Ecology in the Elementary Classroom and the Community."

As a part of this laboratory, Anita Bozardt delivered a paper titled, "Practical Ways Of Implementing Environmental Education In The Elementary Classroom," and in addition instructed the participants in just how ecology can be offered in various school and classroom settings. Her procedures included multimedia and "hands on" approaches.

In addition, James Hughes delivered a paper titled, "Cross Cultural Dimensions of the Teaching of Ecology: The African Nations." Hughes also involved the participants via small group discussions in a thorough exposition of the problems of ecology in the Nations of Africa.

JESSE PITTS IS DISCUSSANT AT SOCIOLOGICAL MEETING

Jesse R. Pitts, sociology, was recently the discussant at the Midwest Sociological Meetings in Omaha on the section devoted to "Community Based Corrections Programs."

In addition, he has a review in the March 1974 issue of Administrative Science

Quarterly of a book by Roland Guillon et al: Marches Internes et Carrierisations des Cadres D'Entrepise, and he has been invited to participate in an international colloquium on "The problem of inequality in the contemporary world-system." The program is organized by Professor Immanuel Wallerstein and it will be held at McGill University in Montreal on May 15-18.

READING AREA FACULTY
ACTIVE IN AREA CONFERENCES

Six members of the reading area faculty in the School of Education were active in recent conferences and workshops. The participants and their activities are listed below.

Richard Barron taught a workshop for the staff of Austin Community College in Austin, Texas.

Harold Cafone taught a course for the University of Alaska in Anchorage, Alaska.

Robert Christina provided a test-taking workshop for Grosse Pointe middle school teachers and reviewed the Master's level reading curriculum of Glassboro State College of New Jersey.

George Coon continued his on-going consultantship with Region 6 of the Detroit, Michigan public schools conducting workshops and other consulting activities through the regional board office.

Ronald Cramer presented a paper on gifted children in Harlan, Illinois and later he did a workshop on Creative Writing in Berkley.

Harry Hahn did a planning conference for young authors at Hope College and assisted in the young author's conferences at Wooster College, Ohio and the Baltimore County Public Schools in addition to other activities.

WU IS PANEL MEMBER AT MATH CONFERENCE

Y.C. Wu, mathematics, was invited to participate in a panel discussion on the effect of categorical language on the undergraduate curriculum in mathematics held recently in New York City.

The discussion focused on whether the language helps to formulate the problems and whether the categorical reasoning brings deeper understandings in the subject matter.

The group also discussed the application of the language in other disciplines. The discussion will be summarized and reported to the NSF.

KLEIN'S ARTICLES CARRIED IN PROFESSIONAL JOURNALS

Gary A. Klein, psychology, is the author of two recent publications, one written with his wife, Helen Altman Klein, and the other written with his wife and May Bertino, a 1972 OU psychology graduate. The first article is entitled "Word identification as a function of contextual information," American Journal of Psychology, 1973, Vol. 86, No. 2, pp 399-406, and the second is "Utilization of context for word identification decisions in children," Journal of Experimental Child Psychology 17, (1974), 79-86.
