

OAKLAND UNIVERSITY NEWS

Nonprofit Org.
U.S. Postage
PAID
Rochester, MI
Permit No. 17
Third Class Mail

January 30, 1987

A publication for faculty, staff and friends

Priscilla and Donald Hildum have provided for the education of an Honors College student.

Hildums Turn Gift into Tribute to Friend

An outstanding first-year student, one who might not have attended OU otherwise, will enroll in the Honors College next fall free of tuition worries.

That is the intent of a new scholarship program established by Priscilla Hildum, continuing education, and Donald Hildum, rhetoric, communications and journalism.

The Honors College will select a top first-year student who will have his or her tuition paid by the Hildums each year until graduation. When the student graduates, the college will select another student and the cycle will begin anew.

The award has been named the Robert C. Howes Scholarship to reflect the Hildums' respect for Howes, a retired history professor and former Honors College director.

"The Robert C. Howes Scholarship is, obviously, of tremendous importance to us in the Honors College," says Director Brian Murphy. "In giving us a full tuition scholarship, Don and Priscilla Hildum enable us to attract and keep the kind of honors student who, at present, is lured to other institutions who do what Dean (Brian C.) Copenhaver now intends to do at Oakland — to support and showcase the Honors College as a sort of jewel in the academic crown.

"But more than that, the Hildums, in their unprecedented and unparalleled generosity, reconfirm the value of our university and of education itself. They want to take us back to the palmy days of the 'old,' idealistic Oakland."

The Hildums say the idea for the scholarship came about last spring at an Honors College luncheon for graduating seniors. "I was impressed with the students who were there, with their obvious interest and enthusiasm," Priscilla Hildum recalls. Don Hildum says he had always thought good things about the Honors College and then became a member of the Honors Council. He had the opportunity to work with Howes a bit before he retired. "I was impressed with the way he ran things and with his relationship to the students. Priscilla made the suggestion originally that a scholarship might be a nice thing to do. I was very happy about it right from the start, and it seemed the natural thing to do to name it after Bob Howes."

The intent, Priscilla Hildum says, is to pay on a yearly basis the tuition of a full-time student the Honors College would select. The commitment is for four years or however long it would take.

"I just like the idea of someone who really needs to go here to be able to come, and it could be the person they pick is not going to be financially needy," Priscilla Hildum says. The value to the college in that case might be to influence a top student to come to OU, a student who might have gone elsewhere. The Hildums say it will benefit the university and the Honors College to develop a core of really good students.

The Hildums have helped their three sons through their undergraduate work at private schools, at fees far higher than OU's. Priscilla Hildum claims, "There seems to be such a value here. I think the piece in The New York Times about OU being a best buy is another affirmation that this is a fine institution. We have faculty here as fine as you would find anywhere else."

Don Hildum says their three sons have pretty well taken care of their own graduate studies. "It was kind of a relief to see them all through, and all of the money we would have been spending on that was available and might be put to use."

The Hildums downplay their contribution, claiming theirs is not so outstanding when compared with gifts from some other families. They say this kind of award appeals to them personally, "attaching something to a particular student, not necessarily knowing who it is but just knowing there was somebody around who was getting some benefit." The bottom line, they say, is "just a real belief in the Honors College and in the kind of students that are attracted to it."

Murphy says the Hildums are "as modest as they are generous. How characteristic of them to name the scholarship not after themselves but after the recently retired director of the Honors College. It is impossible to thank them adequately. All we can do is put their generosity to good purpose."

February Events Will Focus on Black Family

Speakers that include Oprah Winfrey and civil rights activists will help promote a better understanding of black family life during Black Awareness Month activities from February 2-19. The annual observance is intended to raise awareness of black life by persons of all races.

This year's theme is The Black Family: Challenge, Community and Crisis. Events have been scheduled by the Black Awareness Month Committee, which is cochaired by students Ellen Jones and Tony Boganey.

Unless noted in the schedule below, all events are free. For details about any event, call 370-2020.

February 2 — Inauguration ceremony from 2:30-4 p.m. in the Oakland Center Crockery. An address will be presented on The State of the Black Family. The Focus and Impact Awards will be presented to persons whose work epitomizes substantial progress in enhancing the black family.

February 3 — Substance abuse in the black family will be discussed from 2:30-4:30 p.m. in the OC Fireside Lounge.

February 4 — Talk-show hostess Oprah Winfrey will speak at 2:30 p.m. in the OC Crockery. Tickets are sold out.

February 4 — The film, Raisin in the Sun, will be shown at 8 p.m. in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission is $1.

February 5 — A panel discussion of educational issues facing black families will be held from noon-1 p.m. in the OC Fireside Lounge.

February 7 — Student models will present a fashion show from 8-11 p.m. in the OC Crockery.

February 8 — Students are invited to bring their parents to campus for a variety of programs from 1-8 p.m. in the Oakland Center. Entertainment will include the Gospel Choir and an African dance troupe.

February 9 — A film, Witness to Apartheid, will be shown from 7-9 p.m. in the Vandenberg Multipurpose Room. A question-and-answer period will follow.

February 10 — Representatives from Alpha Kappa

Alpha Sorority's Grand Chapter will lecture on balancing a professional and family life in this tribute to black professional women. The program will be from noon-2 p.m. in the OC Fireside Lounge.

February 11 — James and Grace Boggs, authors, lecturers and veterans of the labor, civil rights and black power movements, will speak from noon-2 p.m. in 128-130 OC. They will address ideas for communities and the challenges facing the black family in the future.

February 11 — Entries for the Robert L. Donald Literary Contest are due in the CIPO Office. Categories are short story, essay and poetry. Cash prizes will be awarded.

February 11 — A film, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner? will be shown at 8 p.m. in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission is $1.

February 12 — A discussion of work and welfare from noon-1 p.m. in the OC Fireside Lounge.

February 12 — It's Southern Cuisine Night from 4:30-7 p.m. in Vandenberg Cafeteria with a traditional family dinner. Admission to students who do not live in the residence halls.

February 13 — Student performers will entertain from 8-11:30 p.m. in the OC Gold Room with songs and drama.

February 16 — Alvin Poussaint will speak from 2:30-4 p.m. in the OC Crockery. Poussaint is an associate professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School and an expert on black family issues. He is a script consultant for The Cosby Show on NBC-TV.

February 17 — Presentations will be made on various aspects of the black family during the Oratorical Contest from noon-2 p.m. in 128-130 OC. Cash prizes will be awarded; advance registration is required.

February 18 — The Detroit Historical Society's Hardtack and Coffee Company will perform a drama, The Underground Railroad, from noon-2 p.m. in the OC Fireside Lounge. The play concerns Michigan's link in the Underground Railroad during the Civil War.

February 18 — A film, Uptown Saturday Night, will be shown at 8 p.m. in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission is $1.

February 19 — A panel will discuss the dissolving nuclear family from noon-2 p.m. in the OC Fireside Lounge.

February 19 — Bands, singers and other acts will take the stage at the talent show from 6-11 p.m. in the OC Crockery.

Williams to Join Faculty

G. Mennen Williams has been appointed distinguished university professor and special assistant to the president.

Williams retired January 1 as chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. At OU, he will develop an interdisciplinary course in the Honors College to be taught in the fall. He will also work on projects related to institutional development and advancement.

The appointment was approved by the Board of Trustees January 14 and is effective immediately.

President Joseph E. Champagne says, "We are pleased that former Governor Williams has agreed to join our university community. He is a man of unprecedented energy, success and insight. His willingness to share his wisdom with our students is an inspiration to us and a source of great institutional pride."

Williams

Williams has a distinguished career in state and national government, having served as Michigan governor from 1949-60, as U.S. ambassador to the Philippines and as assistant secretary of state for African affairs. He was elected to the Michigan Supreme Court in 1970 and took office in 1971. He received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from OU in 1986.

Williams is now interviewing Honors College students who will help him develop the leadership course for next fall and says that some of those students have been "really extraordinary. We will be working together to develop a course." Williams might also deliver a lecture of seminar series during the spring if the university wishes.

The distinguished professor knew D.B. "Woody" Varner, OU's first chancellor, and Williams says his mother was a friend of university benefactress Matilda R. Wilson. "I have had an interest in the university for a long time," he says. Of his new academic assignment, he says, "I hope to be able to make a contribution."

Search Begins for SHS Dean

A search committee has been established for the vacant position of dean of the School of Health Sciences.

Ads are being placed in national journals — the closing date for applicants will be March 2 — and the committee hopes to have recommendations to Provost Keith R. Kleckner sometime in April.

Vice Provost George Dahlgren chairs the committee which contains the following external members: Joseph Chu, senior staff engineer, General Motors Corp.; Charles Dorando, director of physical therapy, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac; Deanna Klosinski, director of medical technology, William Beaumont Hospital; and Kenneth Urwiller, vice president for medical affairs, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

Committee Consists of Faculty, Community Leaders

University committee members, all from the School of Health Sciences, are Osa Jackson, Philip Singer, Lynne Williams and Fred Stransky.

Everything from Adenosine Analogs to Yang-Mills in Awards

Seventeen faculty members have won fellowship awards of $4,200 each for 1986-87. The winners are required to spend no less than 15 weeks of full-time work on the respective research projects.

Mary Otto, director of the Office of Research and Academic Development, While students in Vandenberg Hall ate lunch January 22, air samples were gathered to determine if asbestos fibers are present. Results were expected earlier this week.

announced the winners. They are:

Frank Butterworth, biological sciences, Role of the Basement Membrane in Protein Uptake; Thaddeus A. Grudzien, biological sciences, Genetic Structure of Insular Snake Populations on the Beaver Islands, North-eastern Lake Michigan; Paul Ketchum, biological sciences, Characterization of Nitrate Reductases from 'Xanthomonas maltophilia'; J. Christopher Maloney, philosophy, The Frame Problem; Kathleen Healy Moore, chemistry, Cardiac Uptake and Metabolism of Valproic Acid; Asish Nag, biological sciences, Regulatory Factors For Expression of Myosin Isoforms in Adult Cardiac Muscle Cells in Culture; Paul Pappalardo, chemistry, A New Strategy for the Synthesis of Adenosine Analogs; Alan Reinstein, business administration, An Analysis of How The Profession and the Courts View Generally Accepted Accounting Principles; Helen Schwartz, English, Computer Aids in Writing.

Also, Robert Schwartz, SHES, Learning to Learn Vocabulary: Instruction in the Concept of Definition; John Stevenson, health sciences, A Psychobiological Investigation of High School Runners; Taruvia Subramaniam, mathematics, Ricci Curvature and Yang-Mills Equations; S. Bernard Thomas, history, Full-length Biography of Edgar Snow (1906-1972), the Noted and Influential American Journalist-Author on China; Stuart Wang, mathematics, A Nonlinear Generalization of Cramer's Rule; Mark Workman, English, Folklore and Literature: From Text to Context; Jon Yates, biological sciences, Brugia malayi Larval Vaccine: Immunogen Identification; Qiuming Zhu, engineering and computer science, A Fast Algorithm For Obstacle Avoidance.

University Honors 71 for Lengthy Service

The annual Employee Recognition Program on February 12 will honor 71 employees who have a cumulative total of 1,130 years of service to the university.

A ceremony in the Oakland Center with a reception to follow will be held. President Joseph E. Champagne and Willard C. Kendall, Jr., director of the Employee Relations Department, will open the program. David Handelman, chairperson of the Board of Trustees, will offer remarks.

The honored employees will be recognized by Robert W. Swanson, vice president for developmental affairs; David H. Rodwell, vice president for external affairs and director of development; Robert J. McGarry, vice president for finance and administration; Robert A. Dearth, director of cultural affairs; Keith R. Kleckner, senior vice president for university affairs and provost; and Wilma Ray-Bledsoe, vice president for student affairs.

Honorees are:

•Twenty years — Charles W. Akers, Eleftherios N. Botsas, Louis R. Bragg, David C. Bricker, Francis M. Butterworth, Harold C. Cafone, Thomas Casstevens, Gerald R. Christopherson, F. James Clatworthy, Constance L. Cummings, Joseph W. Dement, John N. Doyaras, William S. Gardner, Renate Gerulaitis, Richard E. Haskell, Keith R. Kleckner, Angeline M. Lipka, Ronald M. Maierle, Mary J. McDaniel, John M. McKinley, Patrick D. McNeill, Sid Mittra, E. Joyce Parrish, Manuel H. Pierson, Lewis N. Pino, Franklyn E. Rice, Joel W. Russell, Ralph J. Schillace, John C. Schiff, Wallace P. Strauss, Nellie Thompson, Irving H. Torgoff, Richard P. Tucker, Nalin J. Unakar, Kiichi Usui and Gilbert L. Wedekind.

•Ten years — Lee D. Anderson, Louise Andrews, Janice M. Baker, Robert W. Brown, Gary L. Cauchon, Bela Chopp, Michael Chopp, Virginia Cloutier, Anne A. Cotcher, Indra M. David, Suzanne L. Day, Thomas C. Evans, Anne Federlein, Will C. Franklin, Wilma R. Garcia, Robert J. Gold-

stein, William C. Haga, Mildred O. Hammerle, Stanley W. Hollingsworth, Marilyn D. Jereau, Mildred Kiefer, Emil R. Knoska Carol J. Lally, Paul E. Marshall, Rosemary L. Mitchell, Herman D. Montville, Virinder K. Moudgil, Subbaiah Perla, Margaret I. Peters, Pauline M. Poage, Corinne E. Rosewall, Laura A. Schartman, Janice G. Schimmelman, Gary Shepherd, Lee M. Steigmeyer, Nanette J. Trzaskoma, David L. Vaughn, Micheline M. Walter, Elizabeth A. Watchpocket, Jean Willsey and Virginia F. Yapo.

'999' for Repairs

Campus Facilities and Operations now has a 24-hour number for emergency repair services. For emergencies with electrical, plumbing, structural, mechanical and elevator services, dial 999. Routine, non-emergency calls should continue to be made through regular department numbers.

Our People

Put your missives in the mail to 109 NFH. Items are published on a space-available basis.

•Ronald Sudol, rhetoric, was a reader for the Educational Testing Service's English Composition Essay in Princeton, N.J. The readers scored over 90,000 essays written by high school seniors for university admissions and placement.

•Keith Stanovich, psychology, wrote Matthew Effects in Reading: Some Consequences of Individual Differences in the Acquisition of Literacy for a recent issue of the journal, Reading Research Quarterly.

•Paul Tomboulia, chemistry, presented invited lectures at the Michigan Environmental Health Association Conferences in Kalamazoo and at Higgins Lake. The theme of the conferences was Investigating Groundwater Contamination Sites. Tomboulia spoke about the chemistry related to groundwater pollution.

•Carl F. Barnes, Jr., Center for the Arts, has been commissioned to write three articles for the Dictionary of Art, the art history counterpart to the New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians. Barnes will prepare entries on the Cult of Carts, Soissons Cathedral and Villard de Honnecourt. The 32-volume Dictionary of Art will be published in London beginning in 1989.

•Amir M. Hormozi, management information systems, presented a paper, An Efficient Algorithm for the Multi-period, Multi-stage Capacitated Facility Location Problem, at the national meeting of the Decision Sciences Institute in Honolulu. The paper was coauthored by Basheer M. Khumawala of the University of Houston. The paper was also published in the proceedings.

•Charles Akers, history, reviewed William H. Goetzman's New Lands, New Men for the Book World section of the Wash- ington Post.

•Daniel Braunstein, management and marketing, presented a seminar on Behavioral Requirements for Decision Support Systems at the Navy Personnel Research and Development Center in San Diego.

•Sherman Pollard, business administration, wrote Advertising by Physicians: Behavior and Attitudes for the April issue of Medical Care.

•Gerald V. Post, economics, presented a paper at the International Interdisciplinary Consortium for Information Systems in San Diego. The paper was Teaching, Research, Service, and Academic Power Users.

•An article coauthored by Alan Reinstein, accounting, was abstracted in the fall issue of The Auditor's Report, a publication of the American Accounting Association. The original article was Audit Committees for Governmental Units — How To and was published in the June 1986 issue of The CPA Journal.

Another article coauthored by Reinstein, A CPA Statement that Challenges the MAI Appraisal, was reprinted in the fourth-quarter issue of Appraisal Assignment, published by the Arizona Chapter of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. The article originally appeared in the fall issue of Real Estate Review.

Reinstein has been appointed to the Celebrity Breakfast Subcommittee of the Members of Industry, Government and Education Committee of the Michigan Association of CPAs.

•A monograph coauthored by Miron Stano, economics and management, The Impact of Physical Supply and Regulation on Physician Fees and Utilization of Services, was abstracted in the August Health Care Financing Review. It is also available from the U.S. Department of Commerce, National Technical Information Service.

•Andrea R. Lindell, nursing, conducted a workshop on Suicide, the Cry for Help: Therapeutic Nursing Intervention. The conference was sponsored by the School of Nursing and the Division of Continuing Education.

The 1986-87 United Way pledges from 295 persons were $24,338 (81 percent of the $30,000 goal) but below the $28,284 from 328 who gave in 1985-86.

In the News

Recent appearances in the media by OU faculty and staff members have included the following:

•President Joseph E. Champagne was the subject of a Metro Times cover story about his role in developing the Oakland Technology Park.

•Donald Morse, English, was interviewed on WDIV-TV about his experience in the civil rights movement during the 1960s. The interview aired on Martin Luther King, Jr., Day. He was also interviewed by the Eccentric newspapers on the same topic.

•The retirement of G. Mennen Williams from the Michigan Supreme Court and his appointment to the faculty received attention throughout the state.

•Coach Greg Kampe, men's basketball, was interviewed by WDIV-TV. The team is off to its best start ever in conference play and has made the national NCAA Division II rankings.

•The Chronicle of Higher Education reported on the university capital campaign that was announced in November. In another issue, Robert Williamson, physics, was quoted about his involvement with a cooperative program between OU and secondary schools.

•The newsletter of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities covered the agreement between OU and Detroit schools that concerns minority enrollment.

New Faces

Additions to the university staff in recent weeks have included the following persons, the Employee Relations Department announces.

•Tammy Gregorich of Pontiac, a secretary II in the News Service.

•Steven Holmstrand of Auburn Hills, an office automation analyst in Computer and Information Systems.

•Kathryn Ray of Troy, a clerk II in the Office of the Registrar.

•Patricia Rottenberk of Pontiac, a clerk III in the Gift Accounting Office.

News Notes

OU Gets Funds

OU has received $693,700 from the Michigan Department of Management and Budget in capital-outlay funds.

Robert J. McGarry, vice president for finance and administration, said $429,700 was appropriated to replace a deteriorating high-temperature, hot-water line between Dodge Hall and Kresge Library.

The remaining $264,000 was allocated specifically for modification of electrical and mechanical systems for energy management.

Jobs

Additional information about job listings is available from the Employee Relations Department, 140 NFH, or by calling 370-3480.

•Assistant to director of community relations and group sales, AP-5, Meadow Brook Theatre and Music Festival.

•Laboratory research technician II, C-9, Department of Biological Sciences.

•Coordinator of architectural services,

AP-5, Campus Facilities and Operations, architectural services.

•Public safety officer, POAM, Department of Public Safety.

•Director, Department of Special Programs, AP-12, Office of Student Affairs.

•Assistant vice president for administration and risk management, AP-18, Office of Finance and Administration.

The Oakland University News is published every other Friday during the fall and winter semesters and monthly from June-August. Editorial offices are at the News Service, 109 North Foundation Hall, Oakland University, Rochester, MI 48063. The telephone is 370-3180. Copy deadline is noon Friday of the week preceding the publication date.

•James Llewellyn, senior editor and news director.

•Jay Jackson, staff writer.

•Rick Smith, photographer.

Hallelujah

Matching Music to Bible Verses Becomes Simple

You could almost say that John Dovaras is an intimate friend of 2,000 composers, now that he has catalogued over 5,000 of their selections.

What Dovaras has in common with these composers — from the Renaissance to the present — is an intense interest in choral music, especially as it applies to churches. Music directors will be glad to hear that Dovaras has made it easier for them to select appropriate musical accompaniment for church services.

The associate professor in the Department of Music, Theatre and Dance has completed a manuscript that carefully matches composers and their choral music to Biblical selections. If, for example, you need something related to Psalm 100, Dovaras has the answer: more than two dozen, actually.

"I always had a concern about selecting proper music for services," explains Dovaras, who is also music director of Kirk in the Hills in Bloomfield Hills, a Presbyterian church with over 2,000 members. "We've all been taught that what we should be doing is selecting music that will fit the Scriptures, the readings and the church calendar. That's not always been the case across the country."

Dovaras estimates that 90 percent of church music directors work part time, and many may in fact have little formal training. For these directors, Dovaras' work will be a blessing.

"They don't have the background. Too many choir directors either don't have the time or don't know how to go about selecting proper music. In 1978 I began a project, more for myself, of trying to find appropriate choral settings of the Scriptures with English texts. So many of our churches would prefer to have the music sung and presented in English, rather than in the original language, which could be Latin or French or German."

Although Dovaras started the project as a reference tool for himself, it quickly became apparent that others could benefit, too. The work includes 240 pages of information. The first section follows the order of the Bible, with passages listed with composers, their works and the music publisher. He has also compiled a list of music by composer for those who wish to find something by a favorite. In addition, Dovaras provides alphabetical and numerical listings of the Psalms in Latin, and English translations of popular Latin texts.

Although Dovaras knows he has an audience for his work, it will be awhile before a book is available. A publisher is interested, and he hopes a book may reach the market later this year or early next.

"I included the masters, from the Renaissance to the present time, and also made an effort to select composers of church music of yesteryear and today, principally from England and the United States," he says.

In conducting his research, Dovaras found some discrepancies between numbering in the Bible, as published today, and the numbering system used by composers.

"Within the past 40-50 years, I'm happy to say, the numbering of the Psalms in both the Protestant and Catholic Bibles has become identical. It wasn't back when the Roman Church used the Vulgate Bible. I've had to make some adjustments." In such cases, Dovaras has listed both the old and new numbers.

Dovaras' intent was not to cover every piece of choral music written for the church. "This was written to allow a choir director to choose from a broad spectrum of composers and styles. What is important is that there be an English text, palatable to most congregations in this country."

Dovaras, who also directs the OU and community choruses, says his work could help restore tradition to churches. "Back in the old days, you had to select music that was appropriate to the Scriptures and the church calendar. Too many times, and I've been guilty of it, we choose something we know well and we know will be OK, but it doesn't strengthen or complement the Scriptures or the reading of the Gospel or the sermon itself. If we can pull that back into a clearer focus, I think we as musicians have done a lot, not only for our profession, but for the believers."

Other books now on the market, Choral Music in Print and Catalogue of Choral Music Arranged in Biblical Order, differ from his manuscript in that they are not as tailored to the needs of the church music director, Dovaras says. The others, he notes, may not specify whether the work is a Latin or English text.

Dovaras' own interest in choral music is of long standing. He has been a church music director in the East and Midwest for 31 years, and has spent the past 28 years teaching at the secondary and university level. He is now in his 21st year of teaching at OU.

He has works with Festivals Abroad to lead the Michigan Festival Chorale and Orchestra on European concert tours. His 17th concert tour is planned for July, and will include performances in many of the great cathedrals that were home to many composers.

John Dovaras of the Department of Music, Theatre and Dance has matched 5,000 church choral music selections to the books of the Bible. He says music directors will be able to quickly find the appropriate selection to play for church services.

Fund Drive Surpasses Goal

Contributions to the All-University Fund Drive have exceeded the $50,000 goal.

David Bricker, chairperson of the fund-drive committee, reports that contributions and pledges as of January 15 reached $53,254.77. The campaign was announced in December.

"As you know, one of our committee's pleasant tasks is to decide how all undesignated gifts and pledges will be dedicated. With such money from last year's fund drive we were able to pay for three special opportunity scholarships. The awards helped students who otherwise would have had to interrupt their education here because of financial hardship," Bricker wrote in a letter distributed to the university community.

Anyone who has not yet decided on the amount or designation of his or her fund-drive commitment may still do so. Pledge cards may be returned to the Gift Accounting Office, 104J NFH. Additional pledge cards and envelopes are available by calling 370-4247.

Clarke to Return for Lecture

Former OU classics Professor Howard Clarke, who was listed as one of the top 10 college teachers in the United States by The New York Times, will return for a lecture on the problems of teaching at a liberal arts college in an age of professionalism.

Clarke's topic is Education for What? He will examine the way in which the career strategies of both students and teachers blunt their ability to pursue knowledge for its own sake, wherever it may lead.

Clarke will address the university community at noon February 16 in the Oakland Center Gold Rooms. His visit to OU is privately sponsored by a group of faculty members in honor of the late William Hammerle and Peter Evarts.

"Professor Clarke, who last taught at Oakland University in 1967, represents the educational values that were central to both of the deceased professors," say sponsors of the lecture.

One reason for Clarke's success as a teacher is his ability to express his ideas in a straightforward, no-nonsense fashion. He is also noted for his devotion to student expression and routinely makes pertinent comments on over 300 papers in his popular introductory classes.

Clarke is a faculty member at the University of California at Santa Barbara. Most recently Clarke served on a California blue-ribbon commission studying reform of liberal education in the nation's largest college system.

Keeping Us Warm

James Boucard and others in the central heating plant have been busy tending the four steam generators during the recent cold snap. Don't worry, however, there's enough heat to go around. The generators, fueled with natural gas, have a total capacity of 270 million BTUs. A computer system monitors heating needs and helps cut energy costs.

Three to Enter Hall of Honor

Three former athletes will be inducted into the Hall of Honor on February 7 at Meadow Brook Hall.

Basketball rebounding record-holder Kevin Williams, seven-time national swimming champion Mark Doyle and early women's swimming great Shannon O'Connell Krogsrud will be inducted.

Detroit Pistons General Manager Jack McCloskey and long-time university supporter, coach and lecturer George Wibby will receive service awards.

For details, call the Department of Athletics at 370-3190.

Award Cites Hammerle's Work

Millie Hammerle, a CIPO office assistant II, has earned the Employee Recognition Award for January.

She has been an OU employee since October 1975 when she was hired as a temporary, full-time secretary for the evening program. She has been with CIPO since March 1977.

The award review committee chose Hammerle on the basis of testimonials, which included:

• "When CIPO experienced a seven-month reduction in staff a couple of years ago, it was Millie Hammerle with her background, insight and skill that helped keep the CIPO team together."

Hammerle

• "In her role at CIPO, Millie has assisted thousands of often angry and frustrated individuals, thereby providing a positive image of the university."

• "At countless meetings, Millie's name has been mentioned as a great resource for information and assistance."

• "When Millie was involved with the grievance committee of the UAW, it was quite apparent that she was a resource for historical background and the voice of reason to which both the union and administration members looked to."

Employee Recognition Award nomination forms are available in all departments, from CIPO and at the Employee Relations Department. For details, call Larry Sanders at 370-3476.

Meadow Brook Theatre is up to its ears in mysteries. Mystery No. 1: Will the cast of 'A Flea in Her Ear' prevent a murder that was plotted due to miscommunication? Mystery No. 2: How does Wil Love play two parts in one play so effectively? Mystery No. 3: How did Love pose as two people for this photo? The plot thickens. Call the box office at 377-3300 about showtimes and tickets.

Assembly Seeks Award Nominees

The AP Assembly asks for nominations for its annual Outstanding Administrative-Professional Award.

The award is presented to an AP who has demonstrated outstanding achievement in his or her professional role. A $1,000 stipend, donated by the university community, is also given.

Everyone may submit nominations. Selection criteria are spirit of cooperation, extraordinary effort, support of institutional mission, and university service.

Nominations must be submitted to Joan Stinson, Alumni Relations Office, 104 NFH, by February 10. Forms are available from her or from CIPO, 49 Oakland Center. For details, call 370-2158.

Students May Apply for Internships

The Internship Office within the Office of Placement and Career Services has accepted its 11th grant of the fiscal year to provide full-time students with a paid para-professional work experience.

The internship staff screens all applicants and provides them with information about jobs, placement sites, pay rates and contact persons for job interviews.

Full-time students (junior, senior or graduate level) in good academic standing are eligible to participate in the internship program.

"We accept applications from all majors and encourage you to send students in need of experience in their field of study," says

Joyce Esterberg, program manager. "This shared learning/work experience has proved to be a very successful technique for students to network and find employment after graduation."

Esterberg adds, "We hope you will encourage your students to take advantage of this valuable opportunity for employment in their field of study."

Popular Tax Seminar Returns

The Credit Union has scheduled another seminar on the 1986 tax law changes. Tim Corbett of Plante & Moran, an accounting firm, will discuss the law.

Continuum Center in Auto Industry First

The Continuum Center and UAW-Chrysler are in the midst of a three-week training program for the first on-site education and training counselors in the auto industry.

The six men and six women will be auto industry pioneers when they return to Chrysler plants in Detroit, Toledo, Newark, Kokomo, Ind., St. Louis, Mo., and Belvidere, Ill. Their long-term goal is to promote learning opportunities for UAW-represented workers and to build a more highly skilled workforce for Chrysler.

The education and training counselors, working with the local joint union-management education committees already in place at each Chrysler plant, will promote educational programs ranging from literacy to graduate-level academic training. Funding comes from the so-called "nickel-an-hour fund" from workers' salaries now being set aside for education.

Depending on workers' needs, the education and training counselors may arrange on-site programs for groups with common interests; work with individuals to find specialized vocational training or retraining; or explore with workers what additional training would help them reach their personal and vocational goals.

Continuum Center trainers who have been contracted to recruit, screen and prepare applicants for the education and training counselor positions will also provide ongoing instruction and technical support to them. The Continuum Center personnel will offer training in communication skills, group leadership, vocational counseling and educational brokering.

All Students May Use Apple Lab

All students have access to six Apple Macintosh personal computers that were a gift of Apple Computers, Inc., in Farmington Hills.

The computers have been added to a lab in 242 Dodge Hall, bringing the total in the lab to 20 Apples. Along with the six computers came two printers, says David Boddy of the School of Engineering and Computer Science. The gift was made by Robert T. Zacharko.

The Apple lab is open to all students. For details about lab hours and other computer labs in Dodge Hall, see the coordinator in 243 Dodge.

GRANTLAND™

Events

CULTURAL

February 6 — Mitchell Rose and Diane Epstein (Dance, Comedy, Theatre), 3 p.m., Varner Recital Hall. Call 370-3013. At 1 p.m. February 11, the dancers will perform in the Concert-for-Youth Series.

February 6-22 — Gemini at Varner Studio Theatre, 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays. Call 370-3013.

February 10 — New American Chamber Orchestra, 8 p.m., Varner Recital Hall. Call 62-MUSIC.

February 14-15 — Love Concert X with the Renaissance Ensemble and the Chorale, 8 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday in Varner Recital Hall. Admission. Call 370-3013.

Until February 15 — Daniel Rhodes: The California Years, at Meadow Brook Art Gallery. Exhibition is part one of the three-part Spirit in Clay series.

February 20 — Century Brass Ensemble, 8 p.m., Varner Recital Hall. This is the first concert in the Distinguished Faculty Recital Series. Call 370-3013.

Every Tuesday — Arts-at-Noon recitals in Varner Recital Hall. Free. Call 370-3013.

COURSES

The Division of Continuing Education offers winter classes. Call 370-3120.

The Continuum Center offers workshops and seminars. Call 370-3033 for brochures.

ETCETERA

February 4 — ACE-NIP/Women of Oakland University luncheon, noon-1 p.m., Oakland Center Gold Rooms. Gloria Lopez McKnight will speak on The Superwoman Syndrome.

February 12 — Seminar on the tax reform act of 1986, 7-8:30 p.m. in Oakland Center Gold Rooms B-C. Tim Corbett of Plante & Moran will speak. Everyone welcome. Sponsored by the Credit Union. Call 370-3545.

February 16 — Lecture with former OU Professor

Howard Clarke, noon, Oakland Center Gold Rooms.

February 18 — Women of Oakland University, noon-1 p.m., 128-130 Oakland Center. Presentation about the Meridian Center, an arts center in Detroit that focuses on black and Third World women.

February 28 — Mardi Gras Masked Ball at Meadow Brook Hall. Call 370-3140 for details.

ATHLETICS

January 30 — Men's swimming with Kenyon College, 4 p.m., Lepley Sports Center.

February 5 — Fourth annual Faculty and Staff Night women's and men's basketball games with Grand Valley State College, 5:30 p.m. for women and 7:30 for men, Lepley Sports Center.

February 5 — Women's swimming with Michigan State University, 7 p.m., Lepley Sports Center.

February 7 — Women's and men's basketball with Saginaw Valley State College. Women's game at 1 p.m. and men's at 3, Lepley Sports Center.

February 10 — Women's basketball with Spring Arbor College, 7 p.m., Lepley Sports Center.

TOURS

Anytime — Meadow Brook Hall is open for browsers. Admission. Call 370-3140.

SPB FILMS

January 30-31 — Ruthless People, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday and 3 p.m. Saturday in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission.

February 6-7 — Back to School, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday and 3 p.m. Saturday in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission.

February 11 — Guess Who's Coming to Dinner? 8 p.m. in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission.

February 13-14 — Nothing in Common, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday and 3 p.m. Saturday in 201 Dodge Hall. Admission.

'Gemini' Explores Family Relationships

Gemini, an adult comedy with a painfully humorous story of a young man and his relationships, is being presented by the Center for the Arts from Feb. 6-22.

Albert Innaurato's play focuses on Francis, a Harvard student who lives with his father in a South Philadelphia duplex. The other half of the duplex is occupied by Bunny, a boisterous, earthy divorcee, and her fat, asthmatic son, Herschel. It is the eve of Francis' 21st birthday. Suddenly he is paid a visit by two friends from college: a brother and sister who set up a tent in the backyard. Randy and Judith Hastings are wealthy, attractive and from an elevated social background which contrasts painfully with Francis' own humble circumstances. Francis and Judith had developed a love interest during the school year, and their relationship contrasts to his father's affair with Lucille, a next-door neighbor.

Throughout Gemini, conflicts revolve around Francis through a series of lively, funny, touching and revealing incidents but come to a joyous conclusion.

Gemini is directed by Blair Vaughn Anderson of the Department of Music, Theatre and Dance.

Performances will be at 8 p.m. February 6-7, 13-14 and 20-21, and at 2 p.m. February 8, 15 and 22 in the Varner Studio Theatre. Tickets are $7 general admission, $4 for senior citizens and children under 12, and $3 for OU students.

Student Group Receives Charter

The campus chapter of the American Production and Inventory Control Society will soon receive its charter.

The group, which organized on October 30, will receive the charter at ceremonies at 6:30 p.m. February 4 in the Oakland Center Gold Room.

Amir Hormozi of the School of Business Administration is the faculty adviser to the student organization. Also on hand will be Christine Kohler, president; Ronald Horwitz, dean of the school; Lynne Van Acker, regional APICS director; and William Fertig, Detroit chapter president.

Hormozi says students from all disciplines are welcome to join APICS. Benefits include career information, seminars and plant tours; meeting with people in the field; access to literature, educational and chapter programs at reduced cost; work experiences through cooperative education, internships and special projects; monetary rewards through competitions, scholarships and work experiences; and skills developed through certification.

For information, call Hormozi at 370-4093.