October 2nd? What happened to September? One knows we are well into the semester when there is a line in the ERL for Blue Books at 7:55am! If you haven't stopped by the ERL this semester, please do. We have many fun and exciting additions to show off:

- two collaboration tables in the main area with 32" monitors - VGA/HDMI capable
- a cart of Chromebooks - U.S. schools are buying more Chromebooks than iPads, and now our students can practice with them
- tripod mounts for smartphones and tablets
- presentation remotes, wireless keyboards, portable projectors and more

Also, our 360C classroom is getting a 'collaborative' makeover. Students and faculty are already utilizing new features of the room:

- floor to ceiling white boards
- furniture that can be EASILY rearranged for flexible grouping
- apple TV for collaborative sharing from Apple devices
- sample sets of Chromebooks, Surface tablets and iPads
- K-5 classroom microphone/sound system
- interactive projector with multiple software platforms

Over the summer, the University added many of the educational apps that our students are experiencing in their field placements to our Google Suite. We now have access to Google Classroom, Hangouts and Blogger, with more to come.

Coming soon we will be releasing a video and announcing an open house for our 360C classroom. Until then, stop by to see us, and take advantage of the wonderful resources the ERL has to offer.
