IN THE NEWS

My Two Scents* — by Leigh Dzwik

It has come to our attention that some people in our building have serious reactions to artificially scented products. Perfumes, room deodorizers and other scents can cause sniffing, dizziness, headaches, nausea and breathing problems. Some reactions, like shortness of breath, are particularly severe for people with preexisting respiratory conditions, such as asthma and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. We request that you be mindful of our colleagues with such issues so that we can work in a happy and healthy environment.

Preparing for Dr. Temple Grandin's Visit to OU

Dr. Temple Grandin, a world renowned expert and educator in autism and animal psychology and prominent autism spokesperson, will be presenting at an upcoming workshop on OU's campus.

If you are attending the workshop or if you would like to know more about Temple Grandin, the ERL has a number of books which feature her life and work.

One of the ERL's most recent additions to the collection is a picture book called How to Build a Hug, written by Amy Guglielmo and illustrated by Giselle Potter, published by Atheneum. The book presents the story of Grandin's "squeeze machine," describing her childhood love of building and design, as well as her sensitivities. Happy Reading!
