APPOINTMENT TO RANK OF DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR

Introduction Oakland establishes the following criteria and policies for the appointment of distinguished professors. The rank is to be awarded by the Board of Trustees upon the recommendation of the Provost and President and based on the criteria presented below. Criteria The appointment of individuals to distinguished professorships will be based on the criteria for professorships set forth in the document Oakland University Tenure and Promotion Statement, May 1984, and, in addition, the rigorous application of one or more of the following criteria:

1. Preeminence in Scholarship.

Distinction as a scholar, a researcher, an artist, a performer or in some other role that advances learning or enriches the arts. Pertinent evidence will include: publications, performances or exhibitions; evaluations by leaders in the field; awards conferred by or office in professional organizations; lectureships or visiting professorships; participation in professional symposia and meetings; memberships in honorary academic and professional organizations.

2. Preeminence in Teaching.

Outstanding performance in the classroom; exceptional contributions to the advancement of teaching through such activities as the writing of texts and monographs; the development of courses, laboratories, short courses or other formats of instruction; and the development of innovative approaches to the teaching/learning process; continual concern for the intellectual growth of students by setting high standards, promoting academic excellence, and maintaining thorough and rigorous systems of evaluation. Evidence of accomplishment shall include: published materials; evaluations by recognized leaders in the field; teaching excellence awards; widespread adoption of published instructional materials by other institutions; office in academic and professional organizations dedicated to the advancement of teaching.

3. Preeminence in Public or Professional Service.

Prominence in public or professional service supportive of university programs and missions; accomplishments which have had a substantial and positive effect on external perceptions of the university. Pertinent evidence will include evaluations by recognized civic, corporate, academic or other leaders in the field(s) in which service is performed; elective or appointive offices held; contributions to the organizational work of academic professional associations and societies at all levels and to activities which extend the university's scholarly and instructional capabilities into external agencies and communities; honors and awards received for meritorious service.

The policy governing the awarding of the title distinguished professor includes the following provisions:

1. The term "distinguished" shall be used only in conjunction with the rank of professor and standard professorial titles (e.g. Distinguished Professor of Economics, Distinguished Visiting Professor of Accounting, etc.) or, in special cases, with the title University Professor (i.e.

Distinguished University Professor).

2. Consideration of candidates shall be based on the criteria described above.
3. Length of service at Oakland shall not be a factor in determining nominees or recipients.
4. The title shall not be used to increase the initial salary of any appointee.
5. The term of appointment is for the duration of active service at Oakland University except for removal for cause. If the faculty member retires from the university and meets the criteria established for emeritus status, the title distinguished emeritus(a) professor will automatically be assumed and will carry emeritus benefits with it. (See emeritus policy for listing of criteria and benefits.)
6. The university may, for a specified length of time, elect to compensate distinguished professors above and beyond regular salary or other considerations.

Procedure

Nominations may be made to the Provost by an academic unit or dean. During the review process additional recommendations will be solicited from the academic unit or dean and from the Faculty Re-employment and Promotion Committee (FRPC). Appointments are effective when approved by the Board of Trustees, upon the recommendation of the President.
