Budget Increased By $300 Thousand

This week Michigan's Governor George Romney added $300 thousand to his proposed 1968-69 budget appropriation for Oakland. While the increase is well below the minimum projected costs of the university, it is still possible for the State Legislature to increase Oakland's appropriation.

Romney's addition will bring the University's total appropriation to $5.2 million, for an in-

S.E.T. "JB" Cast Chosen

On Monday, February 5, Tom Aston announced the cast for JB; the forthcoming Student Enterprise Theatre play. Norm Harper plays JB, Martha Michalski, his wife Sarah, Randall Miller and Larry Margolis play Mr. Nickles and Mr. Zuss. The two Roustabouts are to be played by David Bass and Ted Hollis.

The play's premiere is set for March 22. There will be three more performances, March 23, 29 and 30. Ushers will again be needed. Those interested are to call Andy Bryant at the theatre, ext. 2120.

crease of 6.2%. The governor's original appropriation decreased per student support by $65, with the additional $300 thousand, Oakland will still be four dollars per student below last year's appropriation.

The new appropriation implies that the policy decision concerning Oakland's future will not be made until after next year's budget is approved. Yet, in terms of per-student support, the Governor's latest proposal does not equal this year's appropriation and makes no allowance for inflationary costs which cannot be avoided. At this time there has been no official comment from the university administration. The following list gives per-student appropriations:

Galbraith To Speak On Foreign Policy

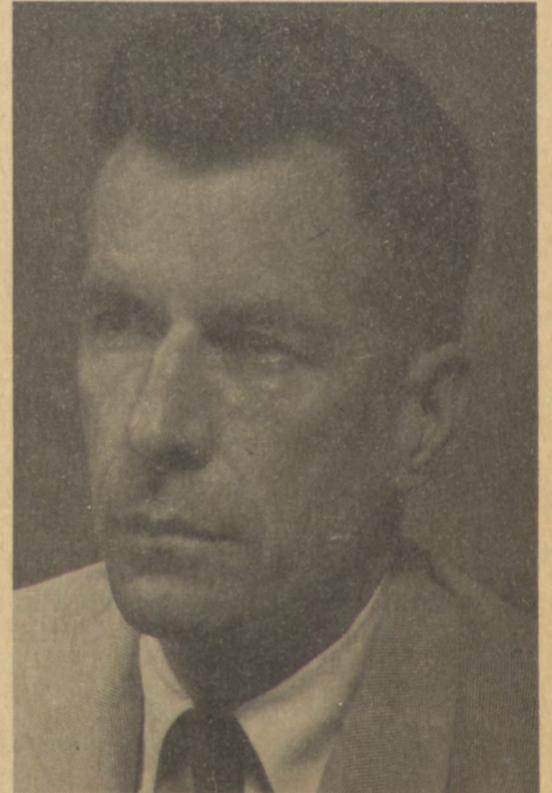

John Kenneth Galbraith, noted economist, author, statesman, government adviser and politician, will be the next lecturer in Oakland University's Speakers Series. Galbraith will lecture on "Foreign Policy: A Modern Critique", at 11:15 am, Friday, February 16, in the Sports and Recreation Building. There will be an open discussion with Mr. Galbraith at 2:00 p.m. in the Gold Room.

Galbraith is the author of many books, including "The Great Crash, 1929," "The Affluent Society," and his recent best-seller "The New Industrial State." He is currently Paul M. Warburg Professor of Economics at Harvard, and is vice-chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Galbraith was a member of the campaign staff of Adlai Stevenson in both the 1952 and 1956 presidential campaigns and was an early and active supporter of John F. Kennedy. From 1961 to 1963, he served as U.S. Ambassador to India and has been a frequent spokesman for American liberals on both foreign and domestic policy.

One of the most sought-after lecturers in the country, Galbraith recently has given talks both in Europe and over national television. His academic laurels have similarly spanned the globe and he has received honorary degrees from more than a dozen universities in the United States, Canada and India.

Galbraith's opposition to President Johnson's foreign policies is a matter of public record and a large part of his speech will deal with the war in Viet Nam.

Opportunity For Overseas Studies

By Joe Davidson

Numerous opportunities await the student who is interested in studying or working in a foreign country. The trips vary in costs, but they are comparatively low priced when the traveler goes with a group. The time to apply is now.

To help students plan trips a clearing house has been set up. The clearing house, which is directed by Mr. Thomas Zarle, Foreign Student Adviser and Assistant for Student Affairs, receives information on the many programs in which a student can take part. There is a "vast amount of possibilities that students can take advantage of" according to Mr. Zarle, yet many students are not aware of this. One job of the clearing house will be to publicize the many chances available to students.

The length of the trip and where one goes affect the price. Prices range from 500 dollars to more than 1,600 dollars. Financial assistance is available.

Some programs allow the student to take classes at foreign universities. The credits earned may be transferable to Oakland. In another type of trip the student gets a first hand knowledge of the country he is visiting by living with a host family. In yet another type of program the traveler works while touring. The idea behind all the trips is to give people a more involved look at another country in the hopes of increasing "international understanding."

Mr. Zarle pointed out that the establishment of a clearing house for foreign trips in no way interferes with the foreign study programs of the departments, such as the trip to Mexico by the Spanish department. He also noted that Michigan State University has agreed to include any Oakland student in any of their foreign programs.

One such MSU program allows students to earn up to 9 term hours while studying abroad. This program also offers graduate classes. One trip in this program, to Madrid, Spain, cost 631 dollars and permits a student to earn 9 term hours. An enrollment fee, tuition, an overseas credit fee, room and board, and a New York-Paris round trip ticket is included. The Paris-Madrid transportation cost is extra.

The Experiment in International Living provides students with a chance to live with a family in a foreign country. The experiment can place students in one of 40 countries. In most cases the student is Open Housing: Question!

The University of Michigan's Board of Regents recently passed a resolution allowing each university housing unit to "determine by a democratic process, the hours of visitation by members of the opposite sex." After taking a phone survey of dormitory student's opinion of open house policy at Oakland, we believe this issue must be brought before the individual House Councils. Each student questioned had a different opinion about open house policy. Their reasons on a more liberal policy ranged from wanting privacy for study with the opposite sex to the fact that without transportation, a dorm student has nowhere to go except lounges or the library. Some students opposed the idea of more liberal hours saying it would be distracting and bothersome.

Oakland dormitory open house policy at present allows members of the opposite sex to visit rooms from one to five p.m. each Sunday, with additional special open houses determined by each House

Council with the agreement of the Head Resident. It is clear that the decision on open house policy should be a student concern and they should take the initiative and act. The question more liberal open house hours has been a controversy for years, but students have done nothing constructive to make this issue heard. There is no excuse for thinking the administration will not listen. The issue should be probed and various problems examined. What do students feel about the open house policy? Should the policy be decided on a total University scale, or through the individual dormitories? What are the arguments for or against more liberal open house hours, and why? How does the administration view the problem? These questions should be discussed by the House Councils, and brought before the Committee on Housing and Resident Hall Life of the Student Life Commission. The administration will not take action on this issue unless the students take the initiative.

An 'O-1 pilot was flying over the river when a VC shell pierced the bottom of the plane. The shell continued up through the floor of the cockpit, passed through a quarter-inch armor plate in the pilot's seat, (put there for just such an occasion) entered his flight suit, and came to rest gently against his ass.

A Vietnamese Major, his wife and two children climb into a Jeep for a Sunday outing. The drivers seat is booby trapped. The bomb blows them to pieces. I can hear the screams.

An O-2 aircraft hits a down-draft on landing and is pushed into the earth. Both fuel tanks explode. The pilot is carried away wearing one boot and the elastic band from his underwear. He lives all the way to the dispensary.

A 57mm, recoilless rifle shell hits an Air Police station in Can The. One dead, seven wounded. The GI's in the Hotel across the street watch a Bobby Darin movie.

The best looking maid in the hotel is ruining my room-mate's mind. So he claims. She works on our floor, is 21, and the GI's have nicknamed her simply-Jey. Jey never wears a bra. My roommate has been here seven months. Today he swore he would rape her. Yesterday he said the same thing. Tomorrow he'll say it once again. Every day he asks her when she'll get a bra and every day she replies, "Sing lei" or "Socmow you" You can translate!

Personal Comments

To the editor:

It was pointed out in last week's Observer that "the reduced appropriation...will change what has been the philosophy at Oakland during the last eight years." This implies concern over such a change in philosophy. It may be recalled that a major part of that so-called philosophy was originally to keep Oakland primarily an educational and not a sports-oriented school.

Perhaps the proposed $550-thousand athletic-improvement funds should be diverted to academic matters (Charter College, Freshman Exploratories, etc.). This would alleviate the impending financial strain while returning Oakland to its original academic-centered philosophy -- although it is doubtful that anyone is seriously concerned over both matters.

Stuart J. Goldberg

To the editor:

I feel that this story is just as important as any other in this newspaper.

Howard Bell hit for 38 points to lead VB#2 to an overtime victory over the 7th floor bombers, 89-80. Regulation time ended with a 7th floor player popping a shot from midcourt only to have it called to late to count. VB#2 and the Southwest commuters remain the only unbeaten teams in IM play.

Oakland Observer

To the editor:

I think that the Observer showed good judgement in refusing to allow a personal feud to gain impetus through the columns of the newspaper.

I would take issue with those that feel that a newspaper must print every letter that comes into its office. The newspaper is indirectly responsible for any action that results from an article or editorial or letter it prints. If any one doubts this, let me remind them that a newspaper may be sued for any libelous material printed in any letter it prints.

Once again, good show.

Choice '68 Board Sets Slate

Student leaders from throughout the United States will meet in Washington D.C. February 10-13 to make final preparations for the first National Collegiate Presidential Primary. To date, nearly 1000 colleges with enrollments numbering over five million students and representing 75% of the total student electorate, have decided to participate in the CHOICE 68 election.

In the Washington meeting, the program's Board of Directors will draw up the CHOICE 68 ballot, thereby deciding which candidates and which referenda will be placed before the voters. The students have already indicated that not only self-declared candidates will be included on the ballot, but also many whom the Board feels students would like to see considered for the Presidency.

During their Washington conference, the students expect intense debate to arise over the phrasing of the various referenda that will undoubtedly center on those areas of greatest student concern - the Vietnam war, urban problems, civil rights, and the draft. They are insistent, for example, that CHOICE 68 not fall into the same semantic difficulties that blunted the San Francisco and Cambridge referenda last fall.

Strobe Talbott, past Chairman of the Yale Daily News and a member of the Board, feels that the Vietnam referendum must be "properly phrased towards alternative solutions," and indicated that a simple "yes or no vote" would fail to register accurately the profundity of pro and anti-war sentiments on the campus. To aid them in ensuring that the various questions are properly pointed towards achieving maximum impact and clearest interpretation, the Board has arranged to meet with several top poll and survey experts.

The Board of Directors will announce the CHOICE 68 ballot at a national news conference on February 13, which will formally close the four day meeting.

Bill Swor, CHOICE 68 coordinator for the Oakland Campus, has said that a meeting will be held Tuesday, February 13, in the Activities Center to discuss the referendum issues and the work of CHOICE 68 on campus. The meeting will be held at 3:00 p.m.

Oakland's Sneaker Squad Axed by Alma and Aquinas

By Steve Gaynor
The Oakland basketball team week 97 to 95 to Alma College on Wednesday, and 101 to 88 to dropped two close games last Aquinas College on Saturday.

The Pioneers jumped to a 16-1 lead thanks to the shooting of Jon Blocher and Ozzie Carlson. When Oz went out for a substitute, Alma charged back to trail by only 50-48 at half. Alma jumped to a ten point lead in the second half, which they kept until six minutes were left in the game, the score was 91-80 in favor of Alma. Thanks to some good defense and terrific offense, Oakland tied it up 91-91, with 1:56 left in the game. Play was fast and furious but Alma had a 97-95 lead and the ball with six seconds to go. A foul gave Alma two shots, but both were missed, Tom Allan grabbed the rebound and Oakland was given one more chance. Four seconds remained as the final play began. Oakland could not complete the play before the buzzer rang and an upset was barely averted. Gordie Kutnick hit 24 for the Alma Scots. Alma JV won 91-78.

Keep the Faith

"Why Keep the Faith, Baby?" is the topic of a discussion to be presented by the Inter-Religious Council on February 15th at 8:00 p.m. in Vandenberg Lounge.

The council hopes this meeting will not be just a simple reinforcement for those who already believe (something), but an experience for those who question the relevance of religion in the present time. Moderator for the discussion will be Mr. William Brewster representing the University Christian Federation. Also featured will be Mrs. Joy Earl of Ann Arbor, representing the Baha's, Mr. Earl Holt of Selfridge A.F.B. representing the Christian Christianity, and Mr. Stan Stefanski from the Birmingham Unitarian Church.
