P.S. Public Safety tells us they've just arrested a student in possession of four grand master core keys - the kind that will open any lock on campus. Sorry we haven't got any details as we go to press. More later.

"To men, a man is but a mind; who cares what face he carries or what he wears? But woman's body is the woman."

- Ambrose Bierce

What is the meaning of female? If anything, advertising will form a glimmering intangible image for you. Femininity has become an obsession. This is especially evidenced as one observes the appropriate trimmings becoming more and more numerous.

It would be impossible to cover every angle used by advertising in their sell in this short article. The important thing to see is that human beings are not in the picture. Objects are presented in perfect feminine form. They embitter the real female, who has attempted to capture the cosmetic glamor promised and found real life not so ideal.

Women know the pleasure of looking into the mirror, before going out, and seeing something beautiful; not the usual plain, and troubled face, but something that HE will surely love. It may require walking very stiffly to keep every hair in place; and keeping yawns repressed so as not to endanger that perfect eye line just traced; and even if a bird flies in your eye - be careful - a hasty tear or rub may cause disaster. A beautiful object is reflected in the glass. Part Cover Girl, part Maybelline, part Revlon, well-known brands; but the best is lost - you!

Some females may be free enough to reject the claims, but the image lingers. If only one could reproduce the glowing lips and the satin face without a pimple or a cold sore cropping up, probably caused by nerves trying. No matter how successful one is, the night wears on, and the magic all wears off. Once again, the plain, harsh face emerges.

The Great Revlon Revelation

Television commercials have a way of keeping the female in the kitchen. On hands and sore knees, some resent the unwrinkled dress and high heels of Mrs. Glo-Coat. Chasing doves into the bedroom, gasping at giants in the washer, and getting a "ring around the collar" chorus everytime a woman opens a dresser drawer is also getting boring. If it isn't the dumb, but neat, housewife presented, it's the sensuous, pulsing sex symbol promoting everything from cigarettes to Firestone tires.

On The Liberation Of Men

Strong revolutionary man,
You have courted me well . . .
Counting on my reticence
To give way to untempered passion
When the full measure of your suffering and humanity
Were revealed.

You have sought me out
To feed on my loneliness
To unleash my desire to believe
That love is possible even in these bitter days.

You have told me that the strongest bond
Between man and woman
Is fired in the heat of battle
Waged out of love for all oppressed people.
We two shall conquer despair and alienation
To pour out our common love on all humanity.

Strong revolutionary man,
I sleep in the smell
Of your outlandish beliefs.

You need my comfort and humor and passion,
And limitless enthusiasm.
You detest my anger and my tears.
You admit my wisdom,
But you will not act on it
Out of fear and shame to be led by a woman.

You hide yourself.
You flee from me
When I insist on candor between us.

Your life is your own to preserve for posterity.
Mine is an open thing
To be used up day by day.

Strong revolutionary man,
You speak glibly of the liberation of women . . .
Yours to dispense with thoughtful care.
You are terrified to learn
That you have less to give of liberation
Than a moaning child who knows its hunger
And who can accept the strength of another without losing its own.

A real anguish lies behind the painted smiles. Human beings find themselves unable to relate honestly to life. It took so long to make it; a smile, a frown, a tear could ruin it all.

Will women be able to liberate themselves from stereotyped roles such as advertising presents? Let us hope so, for the well-being of all.

Some fear the loss of these female formulas promoted by advertising: frills, dresses, heels. The species may not survive, because male and female must look respectively masculine and feminine to continue reproducing. Absurd. If anything, this sharp separation initially contradicts coming together finally.

Only after these false layers are removed, is a true understanding of female possible. It is high time women stopped being a product that the advertising industry can capitalize on. Cosmetics, with their false claims, should not be bought. An individual promise should be made; then women may discover a much happier, more realistic outlook on life.

"I shall not allure you
with dangling ornaments
Nor entice you
with painted face
Nor dazzle you with natty garments
I shall not please you with a veneer belying my thoughts
No, I shall not come to you cloaked in false beauty
only to disillusion you later
I shall come bald."

Introduction

Guerilla Theater

Group discussion of women in society - led by Dr. Carol Andreas and Florynce Kennedy.

12 to 1:00 Lunch

1 to 3:00 Workshops

3 to 5:00 Workshops

These workshops include topics such as An Alternative Society: Communal Living; Men's Liberation; Radical Lesbians (women only); Child Care; Women Workers; Abortion and Birth Control; Revolutionary Women: Sisters Rising; Socialism and Women's Lib; and Legalistic Aspects of the Oppression of Women.

For those under the illusion that the university is apart from the "outside world," some facts about Oakland's discrimination against women will clarify its position as a sexist institution. Out of a total faculty of 301 members, only 49 or 16% are women. Of the 16%, 22% are employed part time versus the male 7%. This is a convenient employment practice which helps keep the number of tenured women faculty at a low 10% compared to the 39% men faculty tenured. To assure the male domination in the sciences and prohibit identification for women students with women professors, there are no women faculty in the majors of biology, chemistry, math, political science, and engineering. The highest number of women in any department is 50% - the classics, with modern languages 42% and English 34%. It is not uncommon for husband-wife teams to be recruited; if the husband refuses the appointment, the woman's chance is lessened appreciably.

In all the professions women are the last to be hired. After four years of college, one-fifth of the working women are in non-professional jobs: clerical, sales, etc. The bulk of marginal campus groups such as domestics and clerical employees are women. However, the university here at Oakland is NOT enforcing an equal pay for equal work standard for those women working the same job as the man.

As if the employment scene wasn't bad enough for women, most university curriculum does not attempt to introduce courses relevant for women in terms of equality. The curriculum deliberately functions to channel women into subordinate or inequitable roles. Freudian psychology taught in an unrevised state and sociology both usually describe the existing institutions of male and female structure reinforcing or justifying assumptions that oppress women. Courses pertaining to social inequality omit sex, maintaining bias against women. Literature is another immense area used as a means to extend sexual stereotypes. The fact that women were allowed into colleges at the turn of the century primarily because there was a need for public school teachers is also the reason why colleges for women were founded at all. Everyone has heard that teaching is a good thing for women to do because it's good security, something to fall back on. The needs of children for both men and women in teaching capacities and the potential of women not being utilized in other areas never occurs to the educators. Next time you're in the classroom, listen to the jokes about women the professor makes; pay attention to the innuendoes slanted toward the inferiority of women; or hear the remarks about housewives, who are the only group in this country doing work and not getting paid for it, although other work in this country = value = a price on it. I have listened to all of these and the sexism IS there in hundreds of examples. Women: It is up to you to challenge these wherever they occur or else with your myriad of degrees, the employer will still be asking you if you can type.

In other jobs women are also the first to be fired or let go because of discriminatory practices. Only women have to answer personal questions about their plans for marriage or children; not so for men. And although two-fifths of women are workers, the unemployment rate is considerably higher; 4.8% to men's 2.9%. For full-time year round work, her median income is twice below the man's. Less than 1% of women earn $10,000 or more while twenty times that number of men do. Black women fare the worst of all - with proportionately more black women working as sole support to their families, their yearly income is far below white women. With women composing half the population and over a third of the labor force, and blacks one-tenth of the population and labor force (black women workers, 45% to the black men's 34%), they still earn less than black men. According to the National Policy Commission, the most hardhit and numerous victims of poverty are families headed by women. When child-care facilities are not available in nearby areas at a fee according to income or subsidized by the state, supporting a family is a miserable task for a woman. When the government used women as part-time or scab labor in times of need, it made child-care facilities available. During W.W. II, the government did provide day and night long centers on the wide-spread basis. But after the war, when women were no longer needed to work the factories, most of the centers closed. Ignoring the fact that today in nearly one-half million families with children under six, women are sole supporters, that 8% of the children receive no care at all, and with 13% to 22% of children getting some care away from home, the government must begin to provide centers or admit that the care children receive is of no consequence to them.

Who's a Bra Burner?!

This article is to explain the character and organization of Women's Liberation in reality and not as told to you by some chauvinist pig or unconscious sister. If all you have done is burn your bra - you've got a long way to go, baby!

Women's Liberation has been and will always be dealing with women on many different levels. Every woman is at a different level of consciousness in recognizing her oppression, its subtly and magnitude. She must be attracted to the movement on that level. That every woman is an individual with her own talents and abilities in something we understand thoroughly. But we are sisters and have been united through the fact of common oppression as women - no matter what economic background, educational level color, religion or ability.

There are many Women's Liberation Organizations. N.O.W. The Feminists, The Radical Feminists, Radical Lesbians, WITCH, SCUM, Bread and Roses, many groups that merely call themselves Women's Liberation and hundreds of today's women leaders that have encouraged and participated in spirit with the whole movement.

Women do not organize these groups with bureaucrats and hierarchy. Women's liberation is the art of collectivism and unanimity within a group of people.

One cannot say how many women's liberationists there are - only that there are hundreds, even thousands of small groups scattered all over this country and other countries. They differ as to method and consciousness - but all recognize that women are commonly oppressed and must commonly off the oppressor.

Every woman has the potential of seeing her oppression and offing it when she recognizes that the divisions the oppressor has thrown up before her eyes are illusions.

"A woman's place is in the home/Housewives are such dull people/Woman's talk is all chatter/ Intelligent women are emasculating/If you're so smart, why aren't you married?/If you want to make decisions in this family, go out and earn a paycheck yourself/Can you type?/Working women are unfeminine/A smart woman never shows her brains/It is a woman's duty to make herself attractive/All women think about are clothes/Women are always playing hard to get/ No man likes an easy woman/Women should be struck regularly, like gongs/Women like to be raped/Women are always crying about something/Women don't understand the value of a dollar/Women executives are castrating bitches/Don't worry your pretty little head about it/Dumb broad/It is glorious to be the mother of all mankind/A woman's work is never done/All you do is cook and clean and sit around all day/Women are only interested in trapping some man/A woman who can't hold a man isn't much of a woman/Women hate to be with other women/Women are always off chattering with each other/Some of my best friends are women . . ."

Sisterhood is Powerful, Robin Morgan

PREDESTINATION

Oooh, Aaaah! What do we have here? A fine baby boy! Oh, how lucky! He looks just like his father. He will make you both proud and he'll carry on the family name.

I wonder what he will be? We'll have to start saving for his education right away. I want him to go to the finest schools. We may have to do some sacrificing, but he should have all the chances I did not have. I guess the most important thing is that we help him to be happy - that he does what he really wants to do.

Ooohh! What a beautiful baby girl. She is so cute - she looks just like her mother. She'll make some man a wonderful wife!

Think About It

The sign of the greatest oppression is the extent to which the oppressed love their oppressor.

Man - no matter how much she tells you she loves her role - do you believe it? What sane person loves being considered less than another?

Man - you know you don't consider women or anything they do as important as what YOU are or do.

Man - would you change places with a "typical female?"

Man - when you see a woman who is trying to break out of the mold - what do you feel? Are you angry? Why? Do you admire her? Why? Do you fear her? Why?

Woman - are you thoroughly pleased with your role as ego-builder, servant and a second-class citizen sex object?

Woman - do you fully appreciate the potential of your own sex? Or are men the only ones who can do anything "important?"

Woman - would you change places with a "typical male?"

Woman - when you see a woman who is trying to break out of the mold - what do you feel? Are you angry? Why? Do you admire her? Why? Do you fear her? Why?

OPEN LETTER

Women in the Movement:

So, you've finally made it to the university - a place where you'll be appreciated for your true worth. You will be treated as an equal . . . people will listen to you, accept your criticisms and you will work with them, not for them. One of the first things you're confronted with at this wonderful institution of learning is the movement. What movement? Any movement - lower grill prices, black demands, anti-racism, peace groups, educational reform, students against terrorism, student power . . . the list grows longer each day. Wow - an opportunity to become active in your favorite cause and work with really cool people.

The guys in these groups are out-of-sight. Some have long hair, beards, and bells. They're out of the materialism hang-up of their parents, they're against the capitalistic rip-offs, they're free, and they don't make any security demands on you.

At last you can be as uninhibited and free as in your wildest dreams. You become one of those people your parents warned you about. You spend hours listening to one of the guys rap about repression, oppression, the cold war, the crisis in the mid-East, Biafra, the price of tea in China -- whatever he's interested in. This is inbred into your behavior: to listen, agree, interject, be attentive, but most of all, make him feel important. You've met the leader of the revolution, and he is yours.

If he's the typical leader (male egotist) a barrage of questions is fired at you. Are you on the pill? Can you type? How many hours can you spend leaf-letting? Do you have a place where he can crash; Comments such as "It might go over better if we had a good-looking chick presenting that rap," or "I know more about women's lib than you do" seep into meetings.

Do men really need women in their movements? They call for women when they are horny, need a leaf-let typed, need some material researched, or need some shit-work done. If you saw

"Getting Straight," you realized what part women play in the movement. Jerry Rubin summed it up pretty well in DO IT, by saying that it was time to split from a demonstration when all the free dope and free sex and cute chicks were gone.

Here are what some of the youth-cult movement leaders have said about women:

Stokely Carmichael, 1966:

"The only position for women in SNCC is prone." Abbie Hoffman:

"The only alliance I would make with the Women's Liberation Movement is in bed."

Eldridge Cleaver, 1968:

"Women? I guess they ought to exercise Pussy Power."

Benjamin Spock

"Women are usually more patient in working at unexciting, repetitive tasks . . . women on the average have more passivity in the inborn core of their personality . . . I believe women are designed in their deeper instincts to get more pleasure out of life - not only sexually, but socially, occupationally, maternally - when they are not aggressive. To put it another way, I think that when women are encouraged to be competitive, too many of them become disagreeable."

So, where do you go from here if you're in the movement - and you happen to be a woman? If you are working with a group, make sure your position, and your sisters', is not an oppressed one. If you have leadership ability, take a leadership role. Voice your opinion, spread the shit-work around to everyone, make sure they know you and your sisters exist as people, not as objects. Call attention to chauvinist remarks and actions, work with other women in the group, form consciousness-raising sessions, get YOUR head together.

child care et alia

Last April, three demands were stated to the administration on this campus concerning women students, faculty and staff. These three included: 1) that a full-time gynecologist, working at the Health Center, be made available to all Oakland women at a minimal cost for at least 3 half-day sessions per week; 2) that a free or low-cost child-care center be established for the ease of all women on campus who have children; and 3) equal pay for equal work regardless of sex. Six months have passed, yet a relatively small amount of progress has been made.

Oakland women do have the services of a gynecologist: it is not because the administration met this demand, but it was because of an action that the Women's Lib caucus took against the Health Center. By having twenty women go in at once to see the gynecologist and having all of our names on the sign-in sheet blocking many people who wanted to see the doctor, we were able to talk to Dr. Bingham, who is the head of the Health Center. Our discussion was very productive as we have earned two days for women to see the gynecologist with no necessary referrals from other doctors in the Health Center, and that pills are being dispensed. One victory for us.

Because the Continuum Center closed down over the summer, a new child-care center on campus was established which is located on Adams Rd. north of Butler. Since the current day-care center is located on campus and belongs to the university, no rent is paid as was in the case of the Continum Center. Also, President O'Dowd dipped into his discretionary fund to furnish the new center with tables, chairs, and supplies. Therefore, the fee that the women pay for using the center goes only to pay for the two professional women's salaries. Yet, with up to 30 children who are in the center daily, the university has the audacity to charge 63 cents an hour per child (most children stay much longer than one hour) and since the center is open eight hours a day for five days a week, it is quite clear that the university pockets the great amount of money that is left over after pay day. So, while the administration profits, many women suffer because they can't afford to pay the price for child-care and are therefore unable to come to school. University women must ally with one another to fight this exploitation on the part of the university.

Last year, women workers, (maids) who worked in the dorms were told by the university that they could not receive the same pay as the men (whose classification is janitor) although they do practically the same work, because they didn't have the strength to move the buffers and were therefore not worth as much. This year, personnel hypocritically hired three women students to run the buffers. Since these three women have now proven that they do in fact have the strength it seems as though these statements about women's lack of strength is untrue. There is no reason for this double standard to operate, and since it does, it is just another example of how this university profits off of women.

It seems quite evident to one that the only way for us to obtain equal rights in this university is to fight for them, the way that we did for the gynecologist in the Health Center. Sisterhood is powerful, and we intend to make it so at Oakland.

THREE REALIZATIONS

No. 1

Funny, that after twenty years I should be so ignorant about love, having so much difficulty distinguishing it from all other commodities, that are bought, sold, bribed, or stolen. And funny that I didn't laugh disbelievingly at all the candy appled, America the Beautiful, equality for all Bullshit. It's funny that I didn't respond by lashing out at my sisters - scorning, scowling, mocking them that I might win some respect as a human. Funnier still is the feeling of being born again - realizing the beauty of being a woman, the absurdity of being a slave. And funny, how funny the whole game is . . .

No. 2

Pulsing . . . urging, gently but insistently, always Woman. The life force . . . desire, need, promises of warmth, giving. Warm ovens of orgasms, tender hugs, passionate embracings. So much love, so much life. So much me they'll never take. My secret is born and will die with me. No more conditioning, no more lies. No more looking at me through others' eyes.

No. 3

T.V. blaring the late show - some Doris Day, Rock Hudson flick. Young girl pondering over "True Confessions," surrounded by nail polish, hair rollers, acne medicine, hair remover, bra, girdle. Picks up gun - fires . . . and dreams about love.

Q. What's the oldest brewery in Milwaukee?

A. Last year Pabst Brewing Company, the oldest in Milwaukee, celebrated 126 years of brewing great beer. And that's older than your father's, father's, father's, father's moustache. Which brings us to our point: if you believe that practice makes perfect, then you can't find a more perfect beer than a Pabst.

2. Q. What should I serve when the boys drop over?

A. The perfect beverage for moments of celebration and good fellowship like this is Pabst Blue Ribbon beer. Its good old-time flavor helps break the ice and get the party rolling.

3. Q. Who are these guys?

A. This is a group photo of our bowling team. It was taken in 1893, the year Pabst won the Blue Ribbon as America's best beer. We still brew our beer the old-time premium way. Our bowling team hasn't changed much either.

Everything You've Always Wanted to Know About Beer

...But Were Afraid to Ask

4. Q. What are these horses trying to pull?

A. They're pulling one day's production of Pabst beer. This often caused traffic jams outside the brewery. These tieups were the results of efforts to supply the increasing demand for Pabst. A demand that has remained unquenched to the present day.

Q. How is Pabst brewed?

A. 1. Choice hops are gathered and placed here. 86. Then we mix in only the best grains. 22. Then the beer is allowed to brew slowly and naturally. 64. Look closely. This is a secret process that gives Pabst its good old-time flavor.

Q. What'll you have?

A. Pabst Blue Ribbon, because it has something no other beer has . . . good old-time flavor. And if perchance we have not covered everything you've always wanted to know about beer but were afraid to ask . . . quell those fears. You'll find the answers to all your questions inside an ice-cold bottle or can of Pabst. On second thought, why not buy a 6-pack? It's our "refresher" course.
