"Tribal arts" opens

The Meadow Brook Art Gallery opened its second exhibition of the season, "Tribal Arts" from the Oakland University Permanent Art Collection, on December 4.

The exhibit will continue through January 29, 1978.

This is the first time a major portion of the collection will be seen by the public since 1968. At that time, part of the collection was exhibited as "African Art collected by G. Mennen Williams."

A number of Oceanic and pre-Columbian art works have since been added through contributions made by Professor Harry Bober of New York University and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anspach of New York.

Approximately 100 pieces from the 300-piece collection will be on display. There is no admission charge.

Gallery hours are 1-5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 2-6:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The gallery is open from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on evenings when there is a Meadow Brook Theatre performance. The gallery, located in Wilson Hall, will be closed December 24 through January 3 for the Christmas holidays.

The Miser

The Miser, Moliere's famous comedy about a man obsessed with hoarding money, will be performed by the Theatre Arts Program of Oakland University, Thursday through Sunday, December 8-11.

Performances will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Studio Theatre on the university's campus in Rochester. General admission is $3.00. Tickets are available at the door or may be reserved by calling 377-2025.

The comedy centers around the problems of Harpagon, a doddering old man with a consuming passion for wealth and the notion to marry a very young girl who is secretly engaged to his son.

The old man's daughter is also secretly engaged, to Harpagon's steward, an aristocrat disguised as a servant. Both the children must keep their marriage plans secret because their father won't stand for alliances made without a fortune attached.

Complications are added by a sharp-witted marriage broker, a coachman, and a cook, but are eventually straightened out, with each of the principals united in love—the son and daughter to their respective sweethearts and the tightwad to his gold.

David Stevens assistant professor of communication arts, will direct the all student cast that includes Kristopher Powell (East Detroit) as the title character, Lori Philo and Tom Dunn (Detroit) as his children, and David Marshall (Rochester) and Judi Williams (Tawas) as their respective romantic partners. Others in the cast include Jane Schulte (Holly) as the scheming matchmaker, John Stosio (Rochester) as the doltish coachman-cook, David Henry (Rochester) as the larcenous valet, James Ballantyne (Soughfield) as a magistrate, Stepen Mitchell (East Detroit) as the long-lost aristocrat who resolves the problems of the play, and Cindy Loughrige (Melvindale) as a servant in the household.

ARTICLES BOOKS

- Sid Mittra, economics and management, published Central Bank versus Treasury: An International Study by the University Press of America. Mittra was the first co-recipient of the OU Faculty Fellowship Award in 1972-73. The award made possible the publication of the book.

- Dolores Burdick, modern languages and literatures, has had two poems accepted for publication in The Poet, a national semi-annual anthology. The poems are entitled: "Musee des Arts Decoratifs," and "Maybe I'd Better Not."

Three of Burdick's poems will appear in a forthcoming national anthology of student and faculty poets, published by Jay Elliot of San Francisco. In addition to "Musee," this latter collection will include her poem "Impotence," and one poem, written in French, entitled "Plainte Blanche."

- Jean Mohan, adjunct instructor in the School of Nursing and research associate for the Community Mental Health Grant, published an article entitled "Theory to Research to Practice" in the November/December, 1977, issue of The American Journal of Maternal Child Nursing.

- The university alcohol policy has been reprinted here at the request of Kenneth Coffman, vice president for campus and student affairs.

Alcoholic beverages may be consumed on the Oakland University campus, but only in compliance with the Michigan Liquor Control Act and university ordinances.

Meadow Brook Hall is the only facility licensed for the sale of alcoholic beverages. It is illegal to sell alcoholic drinks at any other location, or even to serve them if there is any charge for admission, for use of the facility, for set ups, for drink tickets, or for any other service associated with the event.

For example, if an afterglow or wine and cheese reception is planned for persons who purchased a ticket to see a play or attend an event, this is an extension of the program, consequently a fee or consideration was paid and thus the serving of an alcoholic beverage is illegal.

Under the restrictions described above, the university ordinances permit the lawful and moderate consumption of alcoholic beverages at specified locations on campus, which include the following:

1. Private areas of university housing facilities including rooms, suites, apartments and private homes.
2. Residence hall lounges for approved functions.
3. Oakland Center: Abstinence Room, Crockery (formerly South Cafeteria), Gold Room, Faculty Lounge, Oakland Room, Meadow Brook Room and Pumpernickel Place (formerly Sunset Cafeteria) during approved events.
4. Meadow Brook Festival grounds.
5. Meadow Brook Club House.
6. Meadow Brook Art Gallery.
7. Lower level of the Barn Theatre.

The use of alcoholic beverages shall not be deemed to be moderate if it causes material impairment of the senses, judgment, or physical abilities of the user, or if it is used in association with a disturbance of the peace or other disorderly conduct. Consumption of alcoholic beverages by minors is prohibited.

When in doubt, please refer to the Oakland University Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual, Chapter II, Campus Regulations, Section 2.02, or Oakland University ordinance No. 8 under Alcoholic Beverages.

SPORTS

The men's basketball team opened its 1977-78 season November 21 with a 91-70 win over the University of Western Ontario. In their second home game, the Pioneers defeated the University of Windsor, 89-65. The team lost two road games, to the University of Toledo, 98-43, and the University of South Alabama, 101-78. They play at home on December 10 against Northern Kentucky.

The women's basketball team opened its season with a three-game road trip last weekend. They will play their first home game on December 8 against Western Michigan.

The wrestling team started its season with fifth place finishes in the Wildcat Open at Marquette and the Ohio Open. The wrestlers will be at home against Lake Superior on January 14.

Both men's and women's swim teams started regular dual meets the weekend of December 2. The women will be at home against Kent State on December 9 and the men face Ferris State at home on January 9.
