Parking shortage? Survey says no.

By Brian Williams

The conflict between parking violators and the Department of Public Safety reached a crucial point last Monday when Chief Richard Leonard said parking policy would be strictly and consistently enforced.

"Twice a year we take a survey of the parking situation," Leonard said, "Our recent survey indicated that between 5 a.m. and 7 p.m. there are between 600 and 1000 parking spaces available at any one time. There are ample places to park, it is just that not everyone will be able to park right in front of their classroom door."

"There are now officially three designated overnight parking lots," Leonard continued. "These are the north half of the Sports and Recreation lot, the Vandenberg lot, and the North lot."

Overnight parking is legal in these lots only from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. "Violations will result in ticketing and possible towing if the same car is ticketed two or three times in a row," he said.

Ticketing for violations in meter parking areas will be reinstated in the Wilson and Northwest lots near North Foundation Hall from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Leonard also said that the lot adjacent to the Barn will soon be designated a "restricted overnight parking" area. "Overnight parking will be allowed by permit under certain circumstances," he said.

The lot is currently shared by the University Motor Pool and actors who reside in the trailer park. Leonard said "special" permits are issued for others using the lot.

Last Tuesday Chief Leonard and Housing Director

Parker Moore held a meeting with students in the Anibal House Lounge at 7 p.m. to discuss ticketing and parking problems.

SAB allocations 70% short of requests

By Dave Ross

The Student Activities Board (SAB) was forced to make severe cuts in the budgets of several student organizations for the fall term.

SAB had nearly $35,000 in requests from 37 student organizations. Only $13,800 was available to the SAB for fall allocations. SAB had to cut over 60% of the total money requested.

Student Activities Board Chairperson Lori Philo said, "I think the basic problem is the big groups are too big for SAB to fund."

Six student organizations asked for allocations of over $2,000. No student organization was allocated more than $1,550.

Philo said she hopes to establish a ceiling of $1,500 for all SAB allocations. This would force the larger student organizations to find alternative means of funding.

The University Congress received $36,156 from student fees this fall. One quarter of the funds were given to the Concert Lecture Board. Half of the total, $17,450, was given to SAB. The remaining $8726 was left available for the Congress' use.

In the past the SAB was allocated 55% of the total student fees used by Congress. This year SAB received on 50% of the total - $1745 less than before.

At least three student organizations plan to make major appeals to the SAB. Appeal hearings will be Oct. 23. SAB Chairperson Lori Philo said any money allocated during the appeals will have to be taken out of the $1,200 reserved for mid-semester allocations.

The Society of Automotive Engineers requested $1,030 for the fall semester. SAB granted them only $330.

David Jeshoron, president of the Society, said he felt the SAB had done a fair job but "I don't feel they were given adequate funds." He said the allocation limited the activities 107 member organiza-

Senate okays new Nursing Constitution

By Dave Ross

The University Senate considered two items of great potential importance to Oakland students at its meeting October 20.

The Senate approved the final draft of the constitution for the School of Nursing. It had made recommendations concerning minor changes in the wording and organization of the document.

Dean of the School of Nursing, Geraldine Felton, said the constitution must now go before the Board of Trustees for final approval before it can become effective. She said she foresees no major obstacles to the Board's approval and hopes to have it passed at the November meeting.

The most immediate impact of the constitution's approval will be to allow the School of Nursing to graduate the approximately 25 students who will have completed requirements for a degree. A student's degree will not be recognized unless it had been received from a school with an officially organized faculty, said Felton.

According to Felton the new constitution would set up a very flexible and responsive administrative structure. It will be headed by coordinators directly responsible to the dean of the school. "We will have a mechanism for making sure important decisions are made by the faculty," said Felton.

Student participation in the decision-making process would come from the student

Comedy amuses viewers

By Brian Williams

Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" is capturing audiences with its wit and charm during its run at Meadow Brook Theatre. It is a comedy in three acts, brought to life through the winning combination of fine acting and a superb script.

The play is set in the late 18th century in the English countryside. It's the story of a gentleman's journey to meet his future betrothed and his mistaking her home for an inn.

"She Stoops to Conquer" has universal appeal. An undated work, it has relevance even today. The characters are very real and warm.

Eric Tavaris turns in a splendid performance as the thoroughly confused Marlow who has mistaken his potential lover's home for an inn, her father for an innkeeper, and his future wife for a barmaid, Lynn Ann Leveridge is charming as Kate Hardcastle, the feisty, cunning woman who cons Marlow into her arms.

Larry Gates marks his 39th year in the theatre with an excellent portrayal of Kate's baffled father who doesn't know what to think of his guest's antics. Performances by a solid cast aids in the comedy's success with Jeanne Arnold as Mrs. Hardcastle, Elizabeth Horowitz as Constance Neville, and Thomas C. Spackman as Hastings.

"She Stoops to Conquer" is directed by John Ulmer and is his 166th professional production.

The antics of the players in "She Stoops to Conquer" are lively and bold the dilemmas that the lovers stumble into are hilarious yet typical. Sit back, relax and enjoy.

"She Stoops to Conquer" runs until October 23.

Students go United Way

Oakland students are being exposed to an "old-new" organization: old in the sense that it has been a part of the surrounding community for years; new because for the first time, students are allowed to participate. The organization is the United Way and this is the first year students are being included in the campaign that started September 21 and will last through the end of October.

The United Way, is a "local citizen's organization which exists to raise funds in one campaign for local, state and national agencies which serve the community." It is also "the nation's most efficient and economical fundraising organization." Over 40 agencies benefit from the United Way and campaign costs total only 5 cents per dollar.

According to Harvey Hohouser, chairman of the educational division, "90% of the money raised is used for local programs. The United Way is a symbol of a community," he continued. "A successful United Way indicates a successful community."

Because most people donate through payroll deductions, the problem of money collection from students faced Joe Euculano, coordinator for student organizations and advisor to Katie Royce, chairperson of the United Way student organization.

"We did not want to actively solicit money if we could avoid it," said Euculano. "Students are being constantly asked for money and financing college is hard enough."

As a solution, some "low-budget type programs have been started, things where people will get something for money contributed," he continued.

The first annual United Way dance was held Oct. 8 and WOUX donated all proceeds to the organization. Future plans include a contest to guess the number of acorns in a container, first prize being a passbook worth over $40, and a pumpkin sale. Also planned is a "Throw a Pie at your RA Day" to be held Sunday, October 30, in the Vandenberg multi-purposed room.

Publicity and information were vital to this year's program and a table has been set up across from Charlie Brown's to distribute literature on the United Way and a chance to give. Pledge cards were tried as a means of donating but according to Royce, "students found them too much of a hassle to fill out and mail back. Most would rather give on the spot."

"We have learned a lot this first time around," she went on. "Next year's campaign will profit from our experience."

Congress sends two to Conference

by Dave Ross

The University Congress met for a brief meeting on October 19.

Under Executive Staff Reports, Concert Lecture Board Chairman Al Watson presented the new proposed CLB guidelines. He also reported CLB was sending six people to the National Entertainment Conference in Pittsburg, November 17-20.

Watson estimated the conference would cost $800. He said the selection of two seniors to attend the conference did not mean it was a reward for their work. He said both people were experienced programmers and will help CLB greatly before they graduate.

In a memorandum presented to Congress, Watson explained the circumstances surrounding the expulsion of Congressman Paul Grossman from a CLB meeting on October 18. The memorandum said Grossman became disruptive after the board made a decision he disagreed with. Grossman accused Watson of failing to follow proper parliamentary procedure. Watson told Grossman the CLB operated with a very informal democratic procedure and not with formal parliamentary procedure. Grossman continued to argue and Watson ejected him from the meeting. Watson said he had to threaten Grossman with physical removal before he would leave the meeting.

Before the meeting, rumors were circulated about possible impeachment of either Grossman or Watson. However, no attempt was made at the meeting.

Student Activities Board Chairperson, Lori Philo, reported SAB had completed the fall allocations. She said SAB received $35,000 in requests from 37 student organizations but only had $13,000 to allocate.

Chris Van Meter, freshman, was elected by unanimous consent to fill the Congressional seat vacated by Steve Quick. Quick is now Executive Assistant to Congress.

Anne Loridas, freshman, was chosen to fill a vacancy on SAB. Elections Commissioner Greg Flynn recommended Congressional approval of Carla Neubauer, Kurt Cox, and Fred Jensen as election commission members.

Dem. makes short visit

Phillip T.A. Foley

The candidate and his wife were there, the punch and cookies were there, the president of OU Democrats was there. There was only one thing missing. An audience.

At 4 p.m. there was only a handful of OU Democrats and members of Republik, a nonpartisan political organization, to listen to former Grand Rapids Congressman Richard VanderVeen speak on congressional reform.

So, an hour after the Michigan Democrat's talk had supposedly begun, OU Democrat President David Nederlander took off in search of an audience with VanderVeen in tow.

The first stop was Varner Hall but the instructor of a political science course being held there didn't want to interrupt a film he was showing. Nederlander appeared uncomfortable but Vander-Veen took the confusion with an easy-going smile.

Nederlander's second effort was a little more successful. At Vandenberg Hall Thomas Casstevens agreed to let VanderVeen talk to his Political Science 331 class. So at about 4:20 p.m. VanderVeen began fielding questions on the relationship of Congress to the U.S. Civil Service from Casstevens and questions on Michigan politics from the OU Democrats. None of the "British and Canadian Politics" students had any questions.

On the way back to the Oakland Center Nederlander apologized for the sparse turn-out but VanderVeen shrugged it off saying he wasn't "at all surprised by the lack of large numbers." He also suggested that the OU Democrats schedule their future events earlier in the day.

By 5 p.m. the VanderVeens were headed for dinner.

Senate continued

representatives on the senate committees. Any changes in the school's policies must be considered by the appropriate senate committees, said Felton.

The senate also considered a motion that would stop the adding of any class after the fourth week of the semester. The motion was presented by Jack Moeller, Chairperson of the Academic Policy and Planning Committee.

Moeller said the purpose of the motion was to prevent students from auditing a class until late in the semester and then, when they were sure they could pass the class, adding it to their curriculum.

Another important consideration in the motion is that the university does not receive state aid for the credits added after the fourth week. University President Donald O'Dowd said the late adds cost the university about $1500 per "full time equated student."

The state of Michigan computes "full time equated students" as the total number of credits being taken in the university divided by 31. The state counts one full time equated student for every 31 credit hours.

According to the Registrar, Lawrence Bartalucci, 1405 credits were added after the fourth week of classes last fall. During that same time period over 4000 credits were transacted through adds and drops. The new proposal would allow the dropping of credits but would not allow a student to add a class for equal credit.

The motion was discussed by the University Congress at its meeting October 19. It was brought before Congress by Senator Ray Totongeau wanted to hear Congress' opinion before the motion came before the Senate.

Congress felt the motion would severely limit the freedom of students to choose their curriculum. They said the financial benefit to the university would be small compared to the potential harm to students.

The Senate decided to refer the motion back to committee after hearing the strong arguments for both sides. The Senators recommended the motion be reworded to take into consideration the special needs of students.

Faces in the crowd

The Pryale Pitts intramural football team scored an upset victory over the Bad Muffs in football yesterday, 15-14. The Bad Muffs were undefeated in four years of play. Pictured are the captains of the Pitts, Al Benedict (left) and Russ Craze. Benedict tossed a 45 yard TD pass to Craze on the first play of the game.

Parking continued

Many residents of Anibal, Fitzgerald, and Pryal houses voiced complaints about access to overnight parking. Pryale resident Wayne Sommers said, "The Sports and Rec lot only holds about 50 cars so many of us have to park in the Vandenberg lot. This means we have to walk some distance back to our dorms, many times late at night, or in the rain and snow."

Many students feel that walking late at night from the Vandenberg and North lots is dangerous. Chief Leonard responded, "We are aware of this problem and have made sure that there is good lighting in the lots and along the route back to the dorms."

Leonard added that Public Safety would be willing to "escort" anyone who felt that they needed it. Public Safety has two cars patrolling the campus at night.

Moore said the struggle between the three dorms and Sports and Recreation is not a new problem. "The battle has been going on since I came here. It is a matter of competing interests."

He said conflict arises between commuter access to the Sports and Rec building, service access to the Central Heating Plant, and resident proximity to overnight parking.

Athletic Director Cory Van Fleet said, "There would be no problem if people who are going to leave their cars for an extended period of time would store them in the Vandenberg lot."

According to Ken Buback, head of the University Transportation Committee, the issue of overnight parking in the Sports and Rec lot is being studied.

"Right now we have insufficient data available on the subject. We are waiting for the results of a parking study currently underway," said Buback.

"It has yet to be proven that additional spaces are needed. There has already been parking expansion in the opening of the North lot," he added.

Requests continued

tion could offer. He definitely plans to appeal the decision.

The Chess Club requested $900 but received only $25. President Danny Williams says he definitely plans to appeal the allocation. He said his club needs the full amount in order to purchase equipment like chess boards and timers.

The Association of Black Students requested $2,510 and received $705. President Robert Thornton said he plans to appeal the SAB's decision, though "considering the money they had to work with they did a fair job."

What to tell your folks when you decide to change your major.

Dear Mom and Dad—
 No one was ever very successful at something he didn't believe in.
 I'm no different.
 For some time now, I've been plugging away at my major. My grades aren't bad. My teachers aren't bad. Everything's not bad. But for me, that's not good enough.
 So I'm changing. I'm starting from scratch in a field that does excite me. I believe in it. And I know deep down, I'll be better at it. And happier at it.
 I hope you're not disappointed in me. I rather hope you're proud of me. I believe in it. Let's talk about it when I get home.

Kickers rolling to tournament berth

By John Schroder

The OU booters continue to kick up a storm in hopes of reaching the NCAA Division 11 national tournament.

The Pioneers upped their record to 9-1, with four games remaining, by blanking Kalamazoo, 4-0, and defeating Buffalo State, 3-1, at Buffalo.

Rebounding from their only loss to Michigan State the Pioneers got sweet revenge against Buffalo State, the hottest Division 11 team in the east.

Freshman Tony Hermiz netted his tenth goal of the campaign scoring at 8:11 of the first half assisted by Andy Lock.

OU raised its 1-0 halftime lead when Mark Christiansen scored his first goal of the season at 3:14 of the second half.

Buffalo State got on the scoreboard, but senior Gary Weber countered with a goal on a penalty kick at 29:00 and that was how it ended.

"We needed this game badly, and these guys just played their hearts out," said coach John Motzer after the Buffalo State game.

After ripping Kazoo, 4-0, Motzer said, "I think we have to be picked for the tournament because of our record," added Motzer. "I feel the worst we'll end up is 12-2, but we've got to play them one at a time."

Lock opened the scoring against Kazoo with an assist from Frenchy Hammoul at 19:43 of the first half.

Freshman Simon Little scored his first goal of the year five minutes later with an assist from Hermiz.

Hermiz made it 3-0 at the half when he took a pass from Weber at 40:40 of the first half.

Weber scored the lone goal of the second half on a penalty kick during the 25th minute of play.

The Pioneers travel to Spring Arbor on Wednesday for a game that will decide the mythical state soccer championship among colleges in Michigan.

Returning home for a Saturday afternoon game with John Wesley at 1:30 p.m., the Pioneers will then close out their regular schedule at home with the University of Michigan on November 2 at 3:30 p.m.

Women netters edge GV

The Pioneer women continue to play tough against their Great Lakes Conference foes as they proved by edging the Grand Valley State netters, 5-4, on October 17 at OU.

Getting a firm grip on third place in the conference with a 5-3 mark and two matches left on the schedule, the women will most likely finish the season in the third spot.

However, outside the conference the netters are 0-4 and overall their record stands 5-7.

Against Grand Valley the Pioneer lineup was shuffled in preparation for the conference meet at Midland on October 28-29.

Leading off in the first seed was Sue Bertolino losing to Laker Debbie Goldstein in three sets, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Grand Valley's Linda Franklin took number two singles by dumping Gayleen Leonard, 6-4 and 6-3.

Audrey Hewelt captured OU's first win in singles by whipping third seeded Julie Guerera, 6-3, 6-2.

Jody Woloszynski kept a good thing going by defeating Erin Garner in three sets, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5.

The only non-freshmen on the OU roster, Kathy Gustafson won in straight sets over Nancy Grotz, 7-6, 6-2, in number five singles.

Judy Hansen wrapped up the single's competition drubbing Mickey Byers in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4.

Grand Valley's Goldstein and Guerera combined to defeat Bertolino and Leonard, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0.

The Lakers continued to win in doubles with Franklin and Karen Soules taking Woloszynski and Hansen, 7-5, 6-3.

OU won in number three doubles with Hewelt and Gustafson defeating Grotz and Debbie Marcusse, 6-4, 6-1.

The Pioneers close out their regular schedule at Eastern Michigan on October 25 before the conference meet at Midland.

IM playoffs to start

IM touch football and women's basketball seasons are drawing to a close. Four teams remain in the women's basketball two-game elimination playoffs with the championship game slated for Thursday at the Sports and Rec. Facility. In basketball the Heartbreakers edged Area Hall Council 19-15 in playoff action. The Psychos nailed down Crazy Eights 20-8 in other action.

The Bad Muffs remained atop the men's touch football standings as they ran over House of Lords, 40-0, on October 18.

Playoffs will begin on Tuesday with the second place team at 4:00 p.m. The first place team will take on the fourth place finishers at 5:15 p.m.

The championship game will take place on Thursday or Friday. Check with Jim Valliere at Sports and Rec. (377-3190) for further playoff information.

Spikers run streak to 11-5

OU women's volleyball continued their winning ways in their conference meets as they boosted their GLIAC record to 3-1. The team is 11-5 overall.

OU invaded Eastern Michigan's Bowen Fieldhouse on October 15 to turn back Lake Superior State 15-10 and 15-3 in a GLIAC meet.

The volleyballers lost their first game to Spring Arbor 15-13, but turned the nets around in game two and three to edge SA 15-7 and 15-13.

The Pioneers were shut down by perennial volleyball powers EMU 15-12 and 15-5 and University of Michigan 8-15 15-9, and 15-9.

On Thursday, the Pioneers travel to Calvin to take on Western Michigan, Kellogg, and host-Calvin.

Weber: penalty shot ace

|------------|----------------------------|---------------------|

If the Pioneer booters are going to make a serious challenge to reach the nationals at Miami, Florida, then the defense will have to get them there.

Senior co-captain Gary Weber has been the field leader heads the defense and for his efforts during the week is the Oakland Sail's Pioneer of the week.

Against Kazoo, Weber scored his fourth goal on a penalty kick his seventh of the year. Last year Gary netted only three goals during the entire season.

His aggressiveness typifies the Pioneer defense that has been outstanding yet nearly unnoticed because of the scoring proficiency of the forwards.

Four of his goals have been scored from the 12 foot penalty circle and he also scored the lone goal against Michigan State on a 20 foot free kick.

With continued success as the OU penalty kicker and leadership in the midfield, Weber and teammates should land a berth in the national tournament.
